FACTS about the

Great Majestic Range

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron.

It has beyond any question of doubt, the largest and best reservoir.

It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges, and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickled Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection; not only for a few months but for all time to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it don't cost three times as much.

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory where the Majestic Ranges are made will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

TEACHER SUICIDES

END LIFE WITH A BULLET AT UNCLE'S HOME.

HAPPENINGS OVER THE STATE

What is Going on Here and There That is of Interest to the Readers Throughout Nebraska and Vicinity.

Hebron, Neb.—Miss Nellie McCarty, a teacher in district No. 55, five miles west of here, committed suicide by shooting herself with a revolver Tuesday morning at the home of her uncle, south of Byron. She died instantly.

There was no aparent cause for the deed. She had been teaching school only about a week when she asked the board to grant her a short vacation. She had become nervous in her work and, it is now believed, had become despondent.

The school board granted her request and advised her to take at least a week's rest. She went to the home of her parents, west of Byron. From there she went to visit her uncle. Without giving any evidence of any premeditated act she shot herself shortly after arising Tuesday morning.

The funeral was held from the home of her parents Wednesday evening. The body was taken to Republic, Kansas, for burial.

The Midwest Life.

It costs for life insurance just as it does for other things, for groceries or clothing. Because a man is not dead at the end of the first, third or tenth year does not signify that the company is ahead the premiums paid it. Some have died during these years and it has taken a part of the premiums paid by those still living to pay the death claims. No one who dies in the first few years his policy is in force has paid the company anything like the amount it pays his beneficiaries. That will be apparent to all on reflection. Life insurance companies are great equalizers. They collect small sums from many and pay large sums to the beneficiaries of the dead, or to the policyholders themselves in case of endowment policies. The Midwest Life issues all the standard forms of life and endowment policies at reasonable rates. The Midwest Life is an old line Nebraska company. Home Office 1007 "O" street, Lincoln. Write for an agency.

Big Apple Crop at Howe.

Howe, Neb.—The apple crop in this vicinity seems to be much better than was expected. Several foreign buyers are in town and are shipping four and five cars a day. George Sutton has a large force of men picking in the Howe orchard, and expects to double the force ths week. Most of these apples are being boxed for export trade, and are being shipped to cold storage.

The orchards in this county will in many cases pay the value of the land in apples this year. The Howe orchard will yield fully 20,000 bushels from fifty acres, and at 60 cents per bushel is a fortune in itself. Many farmers are increasing the size of their orchards and in a few years this country will rank with the east in the production of apples.

Wedded Fifty-two Years.

York, Neb.—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ezekial Evans celebrated their fifty-second wedding anniversary here Wednesday. They were united in marriage in Liberty, Adams county, Illinois, in 1857, and came to this county in 1872 an diocated on a homestead two miles north of Waco. Mr. Evans was one of the pioneer preachers of this county and the first to hold services in Waco. He traveled about from house to house on horseback in this, Seward, Polk and Howard counties.

Eight years ago he sold the old homestead and removed to Delaware, his birthplace, remaining there six years, when he again removed to this county and now resides in this city. Mr. Evans is over eighty years old and Mrs. Evans is seventy-five.

Large Price for Farm.

Cedar Bluffs, Neb.—Patrick Malloy has sold eighty acres eight miles southwest of here for $150 per acre to Frank Wesley. There were no buildings on the farm.

Claus Bosholm sold his homestead Thursday of 160 acres to William Breckman for $130 per acre. This land is located five miles south of here.

May Close the Schools.

Fremont, Neb.—Physicians held a meeting at the call of City Physician Smith for the purpose of discussing the situation with regard to the prevalence of spinal disease in Fremont. There are at present about fifteen cases in the city. Two have proven fatal. They may conclude to advise the school board to dismiss the sessions of the public schools for a time.

Horse's Kick Kills Man.

Greeley, Neb.—Charles Johnson was killed Wednesday night while returning home from Spaulding. He fell from a load of well tubing under the team he was driving. One of the horses became frightened and kicked him in the head.

The team then ran into a wire fence and became entangled in the wire. The body of the dead man was found there a few hours later by neighbors.

Mr. Johnson leaves a wife and several children.

Message By Motor Cars.

Kearney, Neb.—J. A. Mimgard drove the Philadelphia relay car between Kearney and North Platte Tuesday night, a distance of 114.2 miles in five hours and fifty minutes. He was accompanied by G. M. Campbell of this city and C. C. Burns of Omaha. Poor roads were encountered all the way although the car stood the trip well. The car arrived in North Platte at 3:17, central time, and was met by another car which took the president's message and left for the relay to Sidney at 2:25, mountain time.

A young woman in the W. C. T. U. hospital at Kearney poured coal oil on the kindling to start the fire Sunday evening. Gas formed and an explosion occurred that sounded like the discharge of a cannon. The chimney fell down, the stove pipe and lids were scattered all over the kitchen, but the young woman escaped unharmed. No other damage was done.

Conductor James W. Finnegan, mayor of Chadron as well as the oldest conductor in the services of the Black Hills division of the Chicago & Northwestern, has received an invitation from the mayor of St. Lous, Mo., to be present at the centennial celebration of the incorporation of that city, October 3-9. Mr. Finnegan is one of three thousand American mayors to be thus honored. He intends to accept the invitation.

Word received from Manhattan, Kan., states that one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hammond died from diphtheria, and that Mrs. Hammond and another of the children are ill with a severe attack of the disease. The Hammond family is well known throughout southeastern Nebraska, Mr. Hammond having been engaged in the newspaper business at several points for many years. They moved to Manhattan a little less than a year ago, going from Pawnee City.

The American Beet Sugar company will offer farmers a much better contract next year than has been the case in the past. It will pay five dollars per ton flat for beets, regardless of the percentage of sugar in the beet. The farmer thus runs no risk. The books of the company are also thrown open to contractors three months earlier, this being necessitated because farmers have in recent years been sowing their better lands for winter wheat. It is expected that next year's run at the factory will be for 100 days instead of the sixty days.

Henry Storey, aged fifty, who admits that he has been tramping around the country, is in the Dodge county pail as a result of the complaint of several women at North Bend to the town marshal. Storey coaxed several little girls into a patch of tall weeds and gathered them around him to tell them stories while they ate some candy he had bought. Mothers of the girls inaugurated a search for their daughters, and two women passing the weed patch saw the children gathered around Storey. Storey was taken into custody. There were some threats of violence made by indignant citizens, but Storey was not molested. Sheriff Bauman brought him to Fremont last night. He disclaims any evil intent.

Douglas county has already sustained an expense in excess of $2,000 in dealing with the strike situation. Tuesday the number of special deputies employed was sixty-three, while Wednesday it had dropped to fifty-five. During the past twelve days an average of fifty special deputies have been on the pay roll at $3 a day, making a daily cost of $150, amounting to $1,800 for the twelve days. For use in emergency work one auto has been hired the entire twelve days, and an additional one for six days, each machine costing $25 a day. The total expense for auto hire has reached $450. Incidental expenses in addition to the $2,250 for officers and autos has already brought the county's expenditure to a considerably larger figure.

Mrs. Harriet Alyworth died at the home of her son, C. D. Alyworth, two miles south of Bradshaw, Thursday night. She was a pioneer settler of York county, coming here in 1872. The body was sent to Winnebago, Ill., for burial. At the time of death she was past ninety years of age.

John Gillinghan, for many years at the head of the Gillighan Bridge company of Falls City, has disposed of his interests in the Richardson county town and will locate elsewhere. He is undecided as to the place, but will probably not leave the state.

The big new flour mill, built by Robert Hood at Chadron, to replace the one burned down last spring began turning out flour this week. It is finely equipped with the latest mill machinery and has a running capacity of two hundred barrels of flour per day. The entire exterior of the building is asbestos-coated.

Albert Meyers, a jockey, fell from his horse and was killed in a race at the county fair at Bladen. The youth was nineteen years old. The accident was witnessed by a large number of persons. He has a mother and a sister living in Chicago.

PINCHOT HAS RETREATED NOT A STEP IN POSITION.

TRUSTS GOBBLE WATER SITES

Argues That Congress Must Deal With Remedial Legislation—Will Continue Conservation Agitation.

Washington.—Unequivocally asserting that a monopoly now is in process of formation whose object is to get possession of the water power sites of the country, Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry, who returned Friday from an extended inspection in the west, declared that remedial legislation must be enacted at the coming session of congress if this great natural resource is to be preserved to the people.

The problem of how best to prevent the nation's water power sites from being gobbled up by such combinations, Mr. Pinchot predicted, will be one of the biggest issues before the next session of congress. The alleged trust is now in the formative stage, Mr. Pinchot declared, and quick action on the part of congress is necessary to throttle it.

Another big program which will confront congress will be the disposition of the vast areas of coal lands in the west, principally in Alaska. It is important that congress should take prompt action on this important matter, Mr. Pinchot said, for the protection of the country's fuel supply and also to prevent a monopoly in that product.

Any doubt that may have existed as to whether Mr. Pinchot would continue to advocate the policies for which he has fought so hard, was set at rest by him Friday. As a result of his western tour he is as fully determined as ever to continue his policies regarding the conservation of the country's natural resources and the great natural forest reserves.

He asserted that President Taft is thoroughly imbued with the conservation movement, and declared that the people are now more completely aroused over the matter than ever. President Taft, Mr. Pinchot said, has expressed himself in favor of a conservation commission and added that he (Pinchot) was also in accord with that suggestion.

A score or more newspaper men interviewed Mr. Pinchot at his office Friday. He had just returned from a two months' tour of inspection of the natural forest reserves, with which condition he was immensely pleased. He said he had "a corking good time."

One issue only did Mr. Pinchot decline to discuss. That related to the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy over the conservation question. That he had no intention of relinquishing his position as chief forester as the result of that incident was reiterated when he declared emphatically, "I am not going to resign."

After declaring that "there is a water power trust certainly in the process of formation," Mr. Pinchot added:

"In my judgment the tendency to consolidation which is now running through all industrial enterprises will necessarily, in the end, lead to the consolidation of the water power exactly as it has to the consolidation of steel and oil interests. There has got to be legislation on this water power business. President Taft has indicated his intention of asking congress for legislation governing, as I understand, the disposal of water power sites on the public domain, so that the whole water power question will naturally be taken up before congress. The question is, are we going to give these power sites in perpetuity? That is a question with which congress will have to deal."

"Is it possible to head off this so-called trust?" Mr. Pinchot was asked.

"The government can not probably prevent formation of such a monopoly," he replied, "but it can control it. I regard this matter as one of the most important questions with which congress will have to deal."

Mexico Faces Corn Famine.

Mexico City.—Mexico faces a corn famine which will require the lifting of the import duty on that cereal, according to Louis Batestrier, secretary of the sociodad agricola Mexicana. The recent frost, which worked injury to the crop estimated at millions, is the culmination of a series of disasters to farmers of the republic, included in the list being copious rains in some places and dry seasons in others and cyclones, which swept away a great portion of the crop in the central district. In former famines the government has been forced to lift the duty on imported corn.

Their Silver Anniversary.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mr. and Mrs. Bryan celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Friday afternoon and evening at their home at Fairview. In the afternoon their home was thrown open to their neighbors in the vicinity of Normal and College View. Early in the evening they received employes of the Commoner office, and later several hundred people from the city enjoyed their hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan, Jr., of Tucson, Arizona, were here to assist in the celebration, and many guests from out of town were in attendance.

Checks a Growing Deficit.

Washington.—A cut of practically eight and one-half million dollars in excess of ordinary disbursements over ordinary receipts so far this fiscal year as compared with the corresponding period of last year—a million dollars a month gain in internal revenue, and an increase of almost $19,000,000 in customs for July, August and September as compared with the same period a year ago, are shown in the monthly treasury reports issued Friday. Treasury officials expressed gratification at the figures.

ITEMS OF INTEREST AROUND THE STATE HOUSE.

Dundy County Resurvey Delayed.

State Land Commissioner Cowles will not proceed with the proposed legislative resurvey of a line north and south through Dundy county even though a man named Dustin of Lincoln has obtained from settlers a petition asking that the state work be no longer delayed. The state land commissioner is willing to wait awhile on the government to act under an act of congress introduced by Congressman Norris of McCook. The act of congress calls for a resurvey of this disputed line and also a resurvey of several townships in Dundy county. Congressman Norris thought he was doing a favor to the people of Dundy county when he got this act passed and he is much surprised now to find that many residents of the townships interested have signed a petition to proceed with the proposed state resurvey of the north and south line. He thinks the people interested do not fully understand the situation or they would not have signed the petition to proceed with the proposed state resurvey of only one line. The legislature appropriated $525 to resurvey one line. This amount will not be sufficient to pay for the work. The act of congress contemplates a resurvey of several townships and would be of more benefit to the interested parties. Congressman Norris says Mr. Sweitzer, an expert employed by the general land office at Washington, is now at work in another part of Nebraska and as soon as he is at liberty he will make an investigation of the Dundy county situation and announce what the government is willing to do. He asks that the state await this investigation which can be made this fall. If the government resurveys several townships the work cannot be done this fall, but the congressman is certain the government work will be more astisfactory than the state resurvey of one line.

It is said the records will show that the government survey of the lost or disputed north and south line through Dundy county started from the north. When the surveyor reached the southern line of the county, which is the boundary line between Nebraska and Kansas, he found his north and south line ran many rods west of the cornerpost on the state line. He then started a line from the corner on the state line and angled it westward until it intersected the north and south line six or eight miles from the Kansas line. If this original north and south line can be found it will stand as the original government survey, even if it is incorrect.

Claim Right to the Office.

Arthur F. Mullen, state oil inspector and attorney for the newly appointed board of secretaries of the state board of health has filed an answer in the supreme court to the suit in the nature of quo warranto which was filed by Attorney Roe of Lincoln. The petition is filed on behalf of W. T. Johnson, Ernest J. C. Sward and Sherman F. Ashby of the old board of secretaries who allege that the governor's appointees, C. P. Fall, Herschel B. Cummins and E. Arthur Carr, are usurping the offices of secretaries of the board of health. The respondents named allege that they with A. L. Muirhead constitute the legally appointed board of secretaries. They allege that they were appointed under the provisions of H. R. No. 499, legally passed, and that they were appointed July 2 by Governor Shallenberger. They admit that they have and claim the offices and deny all other allegations in the petition. They ask the supreme court to dismiss the case against them. Attorney General Thompson declined to file the petition in quo warranto and it was filed in the name of three of the old board of secretaries. Dr. Muirhead of Omaha was reappointed by Governor Shallenberger and his name does not appear either among the names of the relators or of the respondents.

The law under which Governor Shallenberger appointed a new board of secretaries amended two sections of the statutes. The amendment to the section of the statute relating to the appointment of secretaries of the board of health appears to be valid, but the other portion of the bill seeking to amend the law so as to give the governor additional spoils in the way of appointing an inspector of the state board of health appears to be invalid because it leaves unrepealed another section directly in conflict with it, one that gives the board of health power to appoint an inspector. The amendment giving the governor power to appoint an inspector is admittedly invalid and has been ignored by the governir and the board of health. Because one portion of the act is invalid, it is alleged that the entire bill is invalid on the ground that the insertion of the matter giving the governor power to appoint an inspector for the board of health was the inducement to the passage of the act.

State Treasurer's Report.

The monthly report of State Treasurer Brian shows that the cash on hand is $62,000 less than it was one month ago and in addition he has gotten rid of $178,000 in cash and cash items carried because the state depositories were full. He has on hand enough permanent funds and general funds to care for state warrants that may be presented. He will not be obliged to do as he did last year at this time, refuse university warrants and cause these securities to be hawked about at a discount.

Deputy State Surveyors.

Under an act passed by the last legislature Land Commissioner Cowles has appointed three deputy state surveyirs to assist State Surveyor Harvey. He has chosen men of experience who will be able to help the state surveyor do the large amount of work which he is called upon now to do. The new apointees receive pay in the form of fees of office. They are: J. L. Paul, St. Paul, Neb.; H. D. Patterson, Papillion; George C. Reed, Alma.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavour. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

FACTS

about the

Great Majestic Range

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron.

It has beyond any question of doubt, the largest and best reservoir.

It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges, and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickled Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material there is practically no expense for repairing the Majestic.

As for baking, it is perfection; not only for a few months but for all time to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it don't cost three times as much.

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory where the Majestic Ranges are made will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

Washington.

When the long-heralded meeting between President Taft and Diaz of Mexico at El Paso and Juarez, Mex., takes place in October, the intervening territory between these two cities, which is in dispute, will be for this occasion regarded as neutral territory, and the flags of neither nation will be displayed therein. This understanding has been reached on the part of the two nations concerned as the result of correspondence.

TEACHER SUICIDES

END LIFE WITH A BULLET AT UNCLE'S HOME.

HAPPENINGS OVER THE STATE

What Is Going on Here and There That Is of Interest to the Readers Throughout Nebraska and Vicinity.

Hebron, Neb.—Miss Nellie McCarty, a teacher in district No. 55, five miles west of here, committed suicide by shooting herself with a revolver Tuesday morning at the home of her uncle, south of Byron. She died instantly.

There was no aparent cause for the deed. She had been teaching school only about a week when she asked the board to grant her a short vacation. She had become nervous in her work and, it is now believed, had become despondent.

The school board granted her request and advised her to take at least a week's rest. She went to the home of her parents, west of Byron. From there she went to visit her uncle. Without giving any evidence of any premeditated act she shot herself shortly after arising Tuesday morning.

The funeral was held from the home of her parents Wednesday evening. The body was taken to Republic, Kansas, for burial.

The Midwest Life.

It costs for life insurance just as it does for other things, for groceries or clothing. Because a man is not dead at the end of the first, third or tenth year does not signify that the company is ahead the premiums paid it. Some have died during these years and it has taken a part of the premiums paid by those still living to pay the death claims. No one who dies in the first few years his policy is in force has paid the company anything like the amount it pays his beneficiaries. That will be apparent to all on reflection. Life insurance companies are great equalizers. They collect small sums from many and pay large sums to the beneficiaries of the dead, or to the policyholders themselves in case of endowment policies.

The Midwest Life issues all the standard forms of life and endowment policies at reasonable rates. The Midwest Life is an old line Nebraska company. Home Office 1007 "O" street, Lincoln. Write for an agency.

Big Apple Crop at Howe.

Howe, Neb.—The apple crop in this vicinity seems to be much better than was expected. Several foreign buyers are in town and are shipping four and five cars a day. George Sutton has a large force of men picking in the Howe orchard, and expects to double the force ths week. Most of these apples are being boxed for export trade, and are being shipped to cold storage.

The orchards in this county will in many cases pay the value of the land in apples this year. The Howe orchard will yield fully 20,000 bushels from fifty acres, and at 60 cents per bushel is a fortune in itself. Many farmers are increasing the size of their orchards and in a few years this country will rank with the east in the production of apples.

Wedded Fifty-two Years.

York, Neb.—Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Ezekial Evans celebrated their fifty-second wedding anniversary here Wednesday. They were united in marriage in Liberty, Adams county, Illinois, in 1857, and came to this county in 1872 an dlocated on a homestead two miles north of Waco. Mr. Evans was one of the pioneer preachers of this county and the first to hold services in Waco. He traveled about from house to house on horseback in this, Seward, Polk and Howard counties.

Eight years ago he sold the old homestead and removed to Delaware, his birthplace, remaining there six years, when he again removed to this county and now resides in this city. Mr. Evans is over eighty years old and Mrs. Evans is seventy-five.

Large Price for Farm.

Cedar Bluffs, Neb.—Patrick Malloy has sold eighty acres eight miles southwest of here for $150 per acre to Frank Wesley. There were no buildings on the farm.

Claus Bosholm sold his homestead Thursday of 160 acres to William Breckman for $130 per acre. This land is located five miles south of here.

May Close the Schools.

Fremont, Neb.—Physicians held a meeting at the call of City Physician Smith for the purpose of discussing the situation with regard to the prevalence of spinal disease in Fremont. There are at present about fifteen cases in the city. Two have proven fatal. They may conclude to advise the school board to dismiss the sessions of the public schools for a time.

Horse's Kick Kills Man.

Greeley, Neb.—Charles Johnson was killed Wednesday night while returning home from Spaulding. He fell from a load of well tubing under the team he was driving. One of the horses became frightened and kicked him in the head.

The team then ran into a wire fence and became entangled in the wire. The body of the dead man was found there a few hours later by neighbors.

Mr. Johnson leaves a wife and several children.

Message By Motor Cars.

Kearney, Neb.—J. A. Mimgard drove the Philadelphia relay car between Kearney and North Platte Tuesday night, a distance of 114.2 miles in five hours and fifty minutes. He was accompanied by G. M. Campbell of this city and C. C. Burns of Omaha. Poor roads were encountered all the way although the car stood the trip well. The car arrived in North Platte at 3:17, central time, and was met by another car which took the president's message and left for the relay to Sidney at 2:25, mountain time.

A young woman in the W. C. T. U. hospital at Kearney poured coal oil on the kindling to start the fire Sunday evening. Gas formed and an explosion occurred that sounded like the discharge of a cannon. The chimney fell down, the stove pipe and lids were scattered all over the kitchen, but the young woman escaped unharmed. No other damage was done.

Conductor James W. Finnegan, mayor of Chadron as well as the oldest conductor in the services of the Black Hills division of the Chicago & Northwestern, has received an invitation from the mayor of St. Lous, Mo., to be present at the centennial celebration of the incorporation of that city, October 3-9. Mr. Finnegan is one of three thousand American mayors to be thus honored. He intends to accept the invitation.

Word received from Manhattan, Kan., states that one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hammond died from diphtheria, and that Mrs. Hammond and another of the children are ill with a severe attack of the disease. The Hammond family is well known throughout southeastern Nebraska, Mr. Hammond having been engaged in the newspaper business at several points for many years. They moved to Manhattan a little less than a year ago, going from Pawnee City.

The American Beet Sugar company will offer farmers a much better contract next year than has been the case in the past. It will pay five dollars per ton flat for beets, regardless of the percentage of sugar in the beet. The farmer thus runs no risk. The books of the company are also thrown open to contractors three months earlier, this being necessitated because farmers have in recent years been sowing their better lands for winter wheat. It is expected that next year's run at the factory will be for 100 days instead of the sixty days.

Henry Storey, aged fifty, who admits that he has been tramping around the country, is in the Dodge county pail as a result of the complaint of several women at North Bend to the town marshal. Storey coaxed several little girls into a patch of tall weeds and gathered them around him to tell them stories while they ate some candy he had bought. Mothers of the girls inaugurated a search for their daughters, and two women passing the weed patch saw the children gathered around Storey. Storey was taken into custody. There were some threats of violence made by indignant citizens, but Storey was not molested. Sheriff Bauman brought him to Fremont last night. He disclaims any evil intent.

Douglas county has already sustained an expense in excess of $2,000 in dealing with the strike situation. Tuesday the number of special deputies employed was sixty-three, while Wednesday it had dropped to fifty-five. During the past twelve days an average of fifty special deputies have been on the pay roll at $3 a day, making a daily cost of $150, amounting to $1,800 for the twelve days. For use in emergency work one auto has been hired the entire twelve days, and an aditional one for six days, each machine costing $25 a day. The total expense for auto hire has reached $450. Incidental expenses in addition to the $2,250 for officers and autos has already brought the county's expenditure to a considerably larger figure.

Mrs. Harriet Alyworth died at the home of her son, C. D. Alyworth, two miles south of Bradshaw, Thursday night. She was a pioneer settler of York county, coming here in 1872. The body was sent to, Winnebago, Ill., for burial. At the time of death she was past ninety years of age.

Albert Meyers, a jockey, fell from his horse and was killed in a race at the county fair at Bladen. The youth was nineteen years old. The accident was witnessed by a large number of persons. He has a mother and a sister living in Chicago.

AIRS CHARGES ANEW

PINCHOT HAS RETREATED NOT A STEP IN POSITION.

TRUSTS GOBBLE WATER SITES

Argues That Congress Must Deal With Remedial Legislation—Will Continue Conservation Agitation.

Washington.—Unequivocally asserting that a monopoly now is in process of formation whose object is to get possession of the water power sites of the country, Gifford Pinchot, chief of the bureau of forestry, who returned Friday from an extended inspection in the west, declared that remedial legislation must be enacted at the coming session of congress if this great natural resource is to be preserved to the people.

The problem of how best to prevent the nation's water power sites from being gobbled up by such combinations, Mr. Pinchot predicted, will be one of the biggest issues before the next session of congress. The alleged trust is now in the formative stage, Mr. Pinchot declared, and quick action on the part of congress is necessary to throttle it.

Another big program which will confront congress will be the disposition of the vast areas of coal lands in the west, principally in Alaska. It is important that congress should take prompt action on this important matter, Mr. Pinchot said, for the protection of the country's fuel supply and also to prevent a monopoly in that product.

Any doubt that may have existed as to whether Mr. Pinchot would continue to advocate the policies for which he has fought so hard, was set at rest by him Friday. As a result of his western tour he is as fully determined as ever to continue his policies regarding the conservation of the country's natural resources and the great natural forest reserves.

He asserted that President Taft is thoroughly imbued with the conservation movement, and declared that the people are now more completely aroused over the matter than ever. President Taft, Mr. Pinchot said, has expressed himself in favor of a conservation commission and added that he (Pinchot) was also in accord with that suggestion.

A score or more newspaper men interviewed Mr. Pinchot at his office Friday. He had just returned from a two months' tour of inspection of the natural forest reserves, with which condition he was immensely pleased. He said he had "a corking good time."

One issue only did Mr. Pinchot decline to discuss. That related to the so-called Ballinger-Pinchot controversy over the conservation question. That he had no intention of relinquishing his position as chief forester as the result of that incident was reiterated when he declared emphatically, "I am not going to resign."

After declaring that "there is a water power trust certainly in the process of formation," Mr. Pinchot added:

"In my judgment the tendency to consolidation which is now running through all industrial enterprises will necessarily, in the end, lead to the consolidation of the water power exactly as it has to the consolidation of steel and oil interests. There has got to be legislation on this water power business. President Taft has indicated his intention of asking congress for legislation governing, as I understand, the disposal of water power sites on the public domain, so that the whole water power question will naturally be taken up before congress. The question is, are we going to give these power sites in perpetuity? That is a question with which congress will have to deal."

"Is it possible to head off this so-called trust?" Mr. Pinchot was asked.

"The government can not probably prevent formation of such a monopoly," he replied, "but it can control it. I regard this matter as one of the most important questions with which congress will have to deal."

Mexico Faces Corn Famine.

Mexico City.—Mexico faces a corn famine which will require the lifting of the import duty on that cereal, according to Louis Batestrier, secretary of the sociedad agricola Mexicana. The recent frost, which worked injury to the crop estimated at millions, is the culmination of a series of disasters to farmers of the republic, included in the list being copious rains in some places and dry seasons in others and cyclones, which swept away a great portion of the crop in the central district. In former famines the government has been forced to lift the duty on imported corn.

Their Silver Anniversary.

Lincoln, Neb.—Mr. and Mrs. Bryan celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Friday afternoon and evening at their home at Fairview. In the afternoon their home was thrown open to their neighbors in the vicinity of Normal and College View. Early in the evening they received employes of the Commoner office, and later several hundred people from the city enjoyed their hospitality. Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan, Jr., of Tucson, Arizona, were here to assist in the celebration, and many guests from out of town were in attendance.

Checks a Growing Deficit.

Washington.—A cut of practically eight and one-half million dollars in excess of ordinary disbursements over ordinary receipts so far this fiscal year as compared with the corresponding period of last year—a million dollars a month gain in internal revenue, and an increase of almost $19,000,000 in customs for July, August and September as compared with the same period a year ago, are shown in the monthly treasury reports issued Friday. Treasury officials expressed gratification at the figures.

ITEMS OF INTEREST AROUND THE STATE HOUSE.

Dundy County Resurvey Delayed.

State Land Commissioner Cowles will not proceed with the proposed legislative resurvey of a line north and south through Dundy county even though a man named Dustin of Lincoln has obtained from settlers a petition asking that the state work be no longer delayed. The state land commissioner is willing to wait awhile on the government to act under an act of congress introduced by Congressman Norris of McCook. The act of congress calls for a resurvey of this disputed line and also a resurvey of several townships in Dundy county. Congressman Norris thought he was doing a favor to the people of Dundy county when he got this act passed and he is much surprised now to find that many residents of the townships interested have signed a petition to proceed with the proposed state resurvey of the north and south line. He thinks the people interested do not fully understand the situation or they would not have signed the petition to proceed with the proposed state resurvey of only one line. The legislature appropriated $525 to resurvey one line. This amount will not be sufficient to pay for the work. The act of congress contemplates a resurvey of several townships and would be of more benefit to the interested parties. Congressman Norris says Mr. Sweitzer, an expert employed by the general land office at Washington, is now at work in another part of Nebraska and as soon as he is at liberty he will make an investigation of the Dundy county situation and announce what the government is willing to do. He asks that the state await this investigation which can be made this fall. If the government resurveys several townships the work cannot be done this fall, but the congressman is certain the government work will be more astisfactory than the state resurvey of one line.

It is said the records will show that the government survey of the lost or disputed north and south line through Dundy county started from the north. When the surveyor reached the southern line of the county, which is the boundary line between Nebraska and Kansas, he found his north and south line ran many rods west of the cornerpost on the state line. He then started a line from the corner on the state line and angled it westward until it intersected the north and south line six or eight miles from the Kansas line. If this original north and south line can be found it will stand as the original government survey, even if it is incorrect.

Claim Right to the Office.

Arthur F. Mullen, state oil inspector and attorney for the newly appointed board of secretaries of the state board of health has filed an answer in the supreme court to the suit in the nature of quo warranto which was filed by Attorney Roe of Lincoln. The petition is filed on behalf of W. T. Johnson, Ernest J. C. Sward and Sherman F. Ashby of the old board of secretaries who allege that the governor's appointees, C. P. Fall, Herschel B. Cummins and E. Arthur Carr, are usurping the offices of secretaries of the board of health. The respondents named allege that they with A. L. Muirhead constitute the legally appointed board of secretaries. They allege that they were appointed under the provisions of H. R. No. 499, legally passed, and that they were appointed July 2 by Governor Shallenberger. They admit that they have and claim the offices and deny all other allegations in the petition. They ask the supreme court to dismiss the case against them. Attorney General Thompson declined to file the petition in quo warranto and it was filed in the name of three of the old board of secretaries. Dr. Muirhead of Omaha was reappointed by Governor Shallenberger and his name does not appear either among the names of the relators or of the respondents.

The law under which Governor Shallenberger appointed a new board of secretaries amended two sections of the statutes. The amendment to the section of the statute relating to the appointment of secretaries of the board of health appears to be valid, but the other portion of the bill seeking to amend the law so as to give the governor additional spoils in the way of appointing an inspector of the state board of health appears to be invalid because it leaves unrepealed another section directly in conflict with it, one that gives the board of health power to appoint an inspector. The amendment giving the governor power to appoint an inspector is admittedly invalid and has been ignored by the governir and the board of health. Because one portion of the act is invalid, it is alleged that the entire bill is invalid on the ground that the insertion of the matter giving the governor power to appoint an inspector for the board of health was the inducement to the passage of the act.

State Treasurer's Report.

The monthly report of State Treasurer Brian shows that the cash on hand is $62,000 less than it was one month ago and in addition he has gotten rid of $178,000 in cash and cash items carried because the state depositories were full. He has on hand enough permanent funds and general funds to care for state warrants that may be presented. He will not be obliged to do as he did last year at this time, refuse university warrants and cause these securities to be hawked about at a discount.

Deputy State Surveyors.

Under an act passed by the last legislature Land Commissioner Cowles has appointed three deputy state surveyirs to assist State Surveyor Harvey. He has chosen men of experience who will be able to help the state surveyor do the large amount of work which he is called upon now to do. The new apointees receive pay in the form of fees of office. They are: J. L. Paul, St. Paul, Neb.; H. D. Patterson, Papillion; George C. Reed, Alma.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT

Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.

A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.

"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum, and it is such a comfort to have something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'

"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.

"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavour. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

We fear that the division question in Custer county will never stop till something tragic happens like killing a politician or stopping somebody's paper.

John Carson is one of our sanest and soundest men. His election for supervisor ought to be by a unanimous vote, and it looks as though it would be pretty nearly that.

Is there anyone who wishes the democrats were in power in the nation? Would it not be like taking a plunge in a polar sea during a tropical afternoon to be plunged from these prosperous times into a typical state of democratic business stagnation?

That public sentiment through the east is in favor of Cook being the real pole discoverer is shown by a poll taken by a Pittsburg paper which resulted in the follcwing: Cook discovered the North Pole in 1908, 73,238; Peary discovered the North Pole in 1909, 2,814; Peary reached the North Pole in 1909, 18,043; Cook did not reach the North Pole, 2,814; Peary did not reach the North Pole, 58,009. It is also worth noting that the scientists of Denmark are the only ones to whom Dr. Cook has given any definite particulars and they fully credit his story.

The affairs of the county are in a most excellent condition due to the wise and conservative management by the republican county board. If you want to have this excellent condition of things to continue vote for Frank Krahulik, John H. Carson or John Ward for the supervisor.

The business men of Lincoln have just completed raising $105,000 for the improvment of their Y. M. C. A. Why is it that a city the size of Ord, situated in the most fertile agricultural land of the state, cannot donate the small sum of $10,000 to get the good work started in our city?

About every law the late lamented democratic legislature passed has failed to stand the test of the courts through the fool way of passing them. Against the last remaining one of any note Judge Sullivan, the democratic nominee for supreme judge is making fight in the interest of the corporation. What do you think of sending him to the supreme court? Would that not be a bright thing to do?

Ordinarily the nationality of a candidate for public office ought not to be considered. If he is a good man he is entitled to your vote no matter where he was born. But in the case of supervisor for a district peopled mostly by our Bohemian friends the nationality of the nominee is a matter of some concern. The supervisor is the one officer who comes nearest the people of all out officers. It is he who has to do with your roads, your bridges, your taxes and other very vital things. One would think that our Bohemian citizens would prefer one of their own nationality, who lives in their midst rather than a man living within a stone's throw of the Custer county line, and a man who is also planning to leave the district and go to town. Mr. Krahulik is a well educated man, a man of large affairs and one who would make an ideal supervisor. Surely he will be elected to represent the second district.

This was popcorn show week at North Loup. Tuesday and Wednesday were devoted to it and a good many people from Ord were there to enjoy the occasion. These days are well worth taking advantage of.

On Mount Blanca

Blanca, Colo., Sept. 28, 1909.

Editor Quiz:—I am writing to tell you of our first trip up Mt. Blanca, which is the second highest mountain in the United States.

Those who have traversed Pikes Peak say that the big hill at the Springs does not compare in any manner with Blanca hill. Those who have scaled the Alps are free to say that for rugged beauty Mount Blanca in Colorado surpasses the highest peak in Switzerland. 50,000 tourists go to Switzerland each year and camp on or near the Alps. It is reasonable to suppose that not half this number even know of the existence of Mount Blanca in the San Luis valley of Colorado. But here she stands, the grandest, proudest, most rugged pile on the American continent.

There were fourteen in our crowd and we started from Blanca about 8 o'clock in the morning and reached the transfer cabin about one p. m.; this cabin is about a mile up into the pinions, and when we reached this we all felt as if we had walked far enough for one day; the road is something terrible, and as the horses all had a heavy load we had to walk after we got up into the timber line.

The only excitement of our first evening in the mountains was, when a "Bob-cat" started to visit our cabin, but as luck would have it, we had gathered some pretty rocks during the afternoon and they laid on the floor right at our heads so between our yelling and throwing of rocks we scared the poor thing nearly to death even if we didn't kill it, for the best we could do was to make the sparks fly.

The next morning the contents of the wagon and buggy were transferred to the backs of the three horses, one cow, and—ourselves, for we each had a pack, and when we reached our camping place we felt as if we carried two or three of them.

I led the cow and carried a big pack besides.

Then began a climb of six miles, mostly up.

We took a camera along and shot some views in and above the clouds, but they are tame affairs compared with the original, as it is impossible to reproduce this trail with either pen or picture—or with both.

After the Yermo sawmill is reached you mount a hill and then descend to the Big Bear canyon, at the bottom of which rushes and roars the creek that has its source in the banks of snow at the top of the mountain. This stream is followed during the rest of the climb and both end together.

About half way up the hill is the old Commodore camp, containing some thirty abandoned cabins, this is where we camped. The story goes that when the Commodore Mine was in operation this camp, away up in the canyon, with walls extending 1,000 feet up on either side, contained a population of 300 souls.

Evidences of the calling of the occupants of the different cabins are still there. In one is a stove and a table, in another chairs and green tables and still another is a pile of bottles, quarts, all empty, that speaks of well spent nights and the old oaken bucket in the morning. This camp took out some very rich ore several years ago, but for some reason it was abandoned and the inhabitants drifted.

During the week that we camped there we explored everything around us. Everybody picked berries and maybe you think raspberries and cream aren't good when you're way up in the mountains.

The morning before we came home, mama, papa, Roy, Acel, two otlier young people and myself all went to the peak, we started about seven in the morning and got back about eight in the evening and I never care to go again, at least up Bear Creek.

Two miles above Commodore is Reichburg, over as rough a trail as anyone would care to travel. As you gain the mesa where this camp is located you enter a grove of pines and the next minute there bursts upon your vision as beautiful a sight as can well be imagined—a lake of pure, sparkling cold water, surrounded by pines and butted on two sides by crags that reach a thousand feet straight into the air. This lake is about a half mile across and the length is probably a third more. Big Bear creek runs into this lake and then it runs out, keeping the water as pure as crystal. This was one of eight lakes which we passed on our climb to the peak.

Riechburg is hardly larger than its name, there being but three buildings—all log. Two miles above Reichburg is the famous Beckwith tunnel and which they are now working on.

The highest lake is frozen over the year round. It lies at the foot of the highest peak of Blanca. From the base of Huerfans peak there stretches a plain a mile across, broken here and there by piles of rock that have loosened from the peaks from time to time in the ages gone by and came tearing down an almost perpendicular face. Here at the top of this vast granite pile is the Beckwith tunnel and shaft. But it is not the top, for another thousand feet above the tunnel towers the topmost peaks of Blanca and Huerfans and the trip is not complete until you scale these peaks.

And this last thousand feet is the most scarey business I ever saw. It is nothing but slide rock and if you should happen to slide once—well,—I don't want to try it. We had to crawl on our hands and knees and try every rock before we stepped on it. About a hundred feet from the top there is a place just inches across and on one side it is 2,000 feet straight down and on the other it is the 1,000 feet of slide rock. When you get to the top, almost 14,500 feet above the sea, you have to stand on the highest pinnacle in Colorado with a flat surface of not more than three feet. It is appalling, and your only desire is to look quick and lie down. You can see Pikes Peak from this elevation and almost everything else in Colorado.

We took a camera to the top with us and it is the first picture taken of the Peak, so of course it went into the San Luis News and I will send you a picture.

Hoping this finds everybody in the best of health I will close and write again and tell about our town, Blanca.

Yours Truly,
Allie B. Curry.

A Corporation Candidate

Judge J. J. Sullivan, candidate for justice of the supreme court on the democratic ticket, has been employed to attack the corporation-tax law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

Evidently feeling the embarrassment of standing as a candidate on his party ticket while thus undertaking to nullify about the only remaining law of importance placed on the books by his party he sought to cover his blushes by indulgence in a bit of pleasantry. He said "there are only two laws passed by the last legislature not yet declared unconstitutional. These are the corporation tax law and the nine-foot bed-sheet law. I therefore had only two from which to select to make attack and I chose the corporation tax law."

In this facetious reference the judge brought a keen indictment against his party. In it he gave emphasis to the objectionable record of the legislature which, in its effort to manipulate the laws so as to leave no spoils in any but democratic hands bungled nearly all it's work.

Also it will be observed that Judge Sullivan appears in behalf of the corporations. Whatever genius he possesses in the law is at their service. That they feel kindly toward him is evident, and has for years. It is probable that in the campaign now on he will be heralded as a Simon-pure progressive and anti-monop, so let us observe some things in passing.—Fremont Tribune.

The people of the south part of town are complaining that chicken thieves have been making a raid on their hen roosts during the past couple weeks, and in a number of places the owners have been quite heavy loosers. If there is anything that will roil a woman's temper it is to tend a nice brood of chickens during the summer until they are just nice for the frying pan and then have other persons enjoy them. Traps have been set at a number of places and these together with some bird shot will probably land one or more of the thieves before many nights pass.

Band Resolution

We, the Members of the Ord take this opportunity to thank citizens of Ord for their able support during our summer concert work. We have done our best to give you value received and only hope we have in a measure succeeded. Not only do we wish to express our gratitude for the encouragement which has been given us but would particularly express our thanks to the following citizens who realized it took financial support as well as encouragement. The following is a list of those who supported the band this summer:

The Grand Army aid society will take dinner at the home of Mrs. Kaiser, in the east part of town, Friday, October 11th. A general invitation is extended.

Robt. Nay and son George were taking in the sights of the Ak-Sar-Ben at the Nebraska metropolis last week. They also stopped off at Columbus for a visit with the William Nay family.

Rev. Geo. Shaw of North Loup will preach at the Baptist church Sunday morning and Rev. Shuman will perform like service in the evening. This arrangement is made because of the absence of the pastor to Lincoln in attendance upon the state convention.

...home hastily yesterday afternoon Mrs. Robbins came in contact with a line strung by the men engaged in digging the sewer ditch. The line was strung across the walk and was a few inches off the walk. But being near sighted Mrs. Robbins did not see it and the result was a bad fall. She was tripped so quick that she had no time to protect herself and so came down to the cement crossing with her full weight, her head striking with full force, raising a great lump on her forehead and lacerating her nose. She was dazed for a few minutes but assistance was quickly on hand. She was soon around again all right, but her face will show the result of the accident for a few days. It was indeed fortunate that the accident did not come to some women. Conditions might have been such as cause fatal cosequences. Now the question arises, is it right to allow such obstructions to the walk? The line did not nessarily have to be strung across the walk, or if it was done they might be easily staked down so as to cause no danger.

Yesterday afternoon the fire department had another job, but this was a small one. Mrs. John Reed was heating oil for use on her floor, using the gasoline stove. The oil got too hot and a blaze started. She took the burning dish and ran to the door with it, but the blaze was communicated to some paper where the water pipes come into the house and a fire was started in the wall. This demanded the services of the fire department who came quickly to the rescue and were not long stopping the fire. The wall of the house had to be dug into to get at the blaze, which was the chief damage. Mrs. Reed was fortunate enough to escape with a slight burn on her arm.

Jake Hoffman and Orin Mutter returned last Friday evening from a month's sojourn through the west. Among the different places they visited was the Seattle Exposition and down the coast as far as Los Angeles. While they enjoyed the trip very much they are glad their home is in Valley county.

Mrs. Kingston of Omaha was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ed. Holloway, for several days last week. She retunred home Tuesday morning.

Miss Grace Tollen was called to Scotia this week to nurse a typhoid case in the Bredthauer family. Miss Tollen is a graduate trained nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Misko went to Omaha Monday to see the sights there this week. We presume that Mr. Misko had his eye to business too while there.

J. B. Nay, William Stanton, H. D. Stowell and J. B. Coleman went to South Dakota Monday to look over the prospects there for planting some money in real estate.

M. Fuller, a cousin of Royal Bailey, arrived in the city Tuesday evening for a few days visit. Mr. Fuller used to live here but is now located at Stewart, Nebraska.

You are cordially invited to attend our exhibit any day this week. Come in and have a cup of coffee and hot biscuits whether you intend to buy or not. Bailey & Detweiler.

Mrs. Maude Hewitt Collins and Miss Helen Collins arrived in the city from their western homes and are visiting with relatives and friends. Ernest Gifford is also here on a visit.

The bricklayers began work on the Cernik building last Friday and already quite a showing is made toward laying the wall for the basement. It promises to be ready for occupancy in short order.

Harry Bailey expect to ship two cars of fat yearlings next Monday. The animals have been on feed for about nine months and are good enough to go to the Chicago market, and that is where they are going.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers departed Tuesday morning for Enid, Oklahoma, where their home will be. While wishing these good people success in their new home we are hoping that they will not quit Valley county altogether.

Mr. W. A. Poore of Mt. Ayr, Iowa, who had been visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. E. Rassett, for some time, returned home Tuesday. Mrs. Rassett accompanied him as far as Omaha and together they took in the sights.

Clayton Burke returned from the west Tuesday night. He was forced to come home sooner than planned on account of Miss Clements quitting the lumber yard. The rest of the boys are still wrestling with the fruit problem on the Clements farm in Colorado.

A. A. Tenapier of Saline county, a recent gradute from the law department of the State University, was in the city and vicinity recently for several days. He went away Tuesday morning with his mind about made up to locate here. He seems to be a very bright young man and as he speaks the Bohemian tongue will be able to come in handy for these people.

Last week a deal was closed whereby Jonah Level took charge of the restaurant part of the Bill Timm confectionary which will hereafter be run under his management. A new dining room is being built at the back and the whole thing overhauled in general, and when completed will be a neat and up-to-date eating place. Jonah is an old timer with the people of these parts and there is no doubt that he will make a success in his new venture, and having been in this business for a number of years he is thoroughly familiar with it.

Last evening Fred Clement had a very serious experience. He was driving home to his place a mile or so northwest of Ord and in descending the little hill this side of the old Waters place the tongue came down and the horses ran away. Of course the tongue caught in the ground and Mr. Clement was hurled high in the air and came down by the fence, striking his head and shoulders. He was rendered unconscious. Fortunately Allen, the oil man, and Hall Barnes were close at hand and came to his rescue. Dr. Haldeman was called and came out immediatly. An examination showded that a collar bone and rib were broken and other internal injuries sustained. The injured man suffered greatly last night but is easier this moning. The team landed though the wire fence and were not much scratched by the experience.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Kull returned home Tuesday night. For the past three months they have been traveling over the west making a great circle from Seattle to Los Angles and around by way of Texas. They took plenty of time for they had no reason to hurry and stopped to enjoy themselves while they were about it. A trip of that kind will show a fellow whose eyes are open a good deal of country and many phrases of life. Mr. Kull brought home with him an armadilla, the strange animal being a great curiosity to people on the train, but it passed in its checks when as near home as Palmer. Kull skinned it and was looking for some one to stuff the animal.

Contractor Goodhand has been having more trouble wth the supplies for the new school building. This time it is the windows, which, when they arrived, were found to be several inches too narrow. However everything else is now going along satisfactorily and the painters are getting in their work on the upstairs. But at the best they can do it will still be possibly several months before the building will be completed and ready for occupancy.

The new Electric Theatre under the management of Mr. J. C. Boyd is now in excellent shape. After two emergency exits and other improvements the management has now raised the rear of the room so that anywhere in the house you have a clear view of the curtain. A nice crowd of people are patronizing the place on every show night.

Services as usual Sunday at Baptist Church. Sunday School at 10:00; at 11:00 preaching by Rev. Geo. Shaw of North Loup. Junior service in afternoon at 3:00. B. Y. P. U. in evening at 6:30 and preaching by Rev. Shuman at 7:30. Everybody invited to meet with us.

Special meetings will begin at the Elyria Baptist church Monday evening, October 11, 1909, at 8 p. m. Rev. E. L. Field of Chapman, Nebraska will assist the pastor in these meetings. Let everybody come. Pray much for these meetings.

Sam Dumond took a party of land seekers to Canada Monday morning. The party consisted of Henry Geweke, Ed Kipling, Theo. Nelson, Charles Rich, and Mr. East, of North Loup.

Brown, the popcorn man, went to North Loup Monday noon to do the corn popping for the good people who attend the "Popcorn Festival" at that place Tuesday and Wednesday.

On another page of the Quiz we published a short story entitled "Delinquent Tax List." Take a look over it and see if your property is included in this.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a mother's meeting at the home of Mrs. Leslie Mason Thursday afternoon, Oct. 14th. Meeting begins at 2:30. Secretary.

Read Bailey & Detweiler's add in this paper and you will not wonder why they have such crowds every day.

FALL DIPPING

Makes You Money

YOU can't make your full profit from live stock unless you use a good dip. If your hogs and cattle are afflicted with lice and mites, it is impossible for them to get the full benefit of their grain. If you are feeding lice and mites it isn't difficult to figure where a good share of your profits is going.

The remedy is easy: Use Great Western Dip. It will keep stock free from parasites; cure skin diseases; disinfect and purify pens, yards and outbuildings. It will put stock in condition to get the full benefit of all the grain you feed them.

Great Western is a perfectly made dip. That's why when mixed with water ready for use, it forms a perfect milky white emulsion. No deposit at top or bottom of solution, even after long standing. No danger of burning the animal when dip is prepared according to directions.

Do not figure Great Western Dip as an expense. It is a profit producer and a loss preventer.

John V. Johnson and Miss Hattie Dworak were married Monday morning at 6:00 o'clock, Dr. M. Bamford officiating. After an early breakfast they took the U. P. train for Omaha to wander about for a few days. Mr. Johnson has fitted up a fine home for his bride near the B. & M. depot where they will be at home to their many friends soon.

That the czar still rules the Russian empire with an iron hand is shown by statistics lately published stating that 2,566 death sentences were executed in that country during 1908, and that Nicholas has ignored Premier Stolypin's request for the abandonment of the court martial and have the trial by civil court in most cases, Premier's idea being to stop the wholesale infliction of the death penality.

Biscuit are more than mere soda crackers. They are a distinct, individual food article made from special materials, by special methods, in specially constructed bakeries.

They are sealed in a special way which gives them crispness, cleanliness and freshness which "crackers" from the paper bag always lack. They are the Nation's accepted soda

The fish weighed eight and one quarter pounds. The guests at the hotel are hoping they will go fishing again.

"A Prince of Sweden"

Play goers who like to keep abreast of the times in getting familiar with the latest and most popular song hits, could not overlook the first visit to this city of "A Prince of Sweden," which is due at the Ord Opera House, Friday, October 8th.

But the songs are only a minor feature of the performances, which reveals one of the most entertaining and humorous comedies seen in many a day, there is not a single lull in the merriment from the rise of the curtain until the time for home going.

It is a scream from start to finish and the best Scandinavian American Comedy today before the public.

A year ago Nels Jorgensen bought the old Mogensen quarter of land in Garfield county for $25 an acre, the owner wishing to go back to Denmark for a visit. The other day Jorgensen was offered $35 an acre and refused to sell, knowing the land is worth more than that to hold. This land is close to the Q-Z stock farm which may still be had for $26. If you want to buy land that will advance in price at a greater per cent than any other here is a chance for you. None of the land in that vicinity can be bought now for the prices they demanded a year ago.

The work on the Misko pond and ice house is progressing at a satifactory rate and everything points to the completion before cold weather sets in in earnest. The pond will be large enough to supply this and other towns with all the good and pure ice that is needed. Besides this Mr. Misko intends to stock the pond with fish for the amusement of those who care to indulge in this kind of sport in the summer time, and allow the young people to use it for a skating pond in the winter time.

The brigade of fishermen who have lined the river bank almost daily as well as nightly is gradually giving way to a skirmish line of hunters who take a few chance shots at ducks as they continue their southward flight. Time was when duck hunting in this locality was good both spring and fall, but it is getting slimmer every year owing to their changing their course a little more westward until they are now traveling close to the mountains.

If you are wondering some day why the rural carriers no longer delivers mail at your place it might be well to read the following ruling of the post office department at Washington in regards to your dog which insists on quarreling with the carrier every day: "Carriers are not required to deliver mail to residences where vicious dogs are permitted to run at large. Persons keeping such dogs must call at the post office for their mail."

The old building which was pulled out from the north side of the square still occupies a position in the street, south-east of the Hotel Ord. It was the intention of Jas. Wisda to replace the old laundry building by this one, but as the location is within the fire limits it was found impossible to do this except by a fire proof building, which this is not. Just what disposition will be made of it we have not learned.

The Quiz is very pleased to print today a most excellent description of a trip up Mount Blanca in Colorado, written by Miss Allie Curry. Our young correspondent shows great skill and ability in the way she handles the subject. We are hoping that she will carry out her threat to write again. Her letters will find ready place in these columns.

W. T. Draper has invested some more money in the Ord Mercantile Company and will also come back to Ord and help in running the store. He liked Hastings all right, but Ord looks better to him than ever and he was not long in deciding to come back when the opportunity was presented.

The school authorities have made arrangements to connect with the sewer and work of extending the line from the Milford corner to the new building was commenced Monday. Ray Gass has the contract and will get $458.40 for the job. The extention is figured at 1140 feet.

Anthony Rogers has sold his interest in the bank at Severence, Colorado, and will try his fortunes in some other field. You may be sure that Anthony will be hustling into something right away and pushing it when he gets at it.

The painters have been at work on the buildings at the Tully home recently. This adds much to the appearance of things down that way.

Mr. Fred Clement is improving very slowly. We were all very sorry to hear of his accident and hope his recovery will be as speedy as possible.

The new home of our Director, Fred Dowhower, is rapidly nearing completion. They moved in about the first of the month. It is a cozy looking place indeed.

The elder members of the Jorgen Moller family paid their last sad respects at the bier of Grant Foght. We all join these good people in their sorrow losing a life long friend.

The cold wind and rain kept several of our little folks at home last Friday. Helen and Edwin Bartunek, Bernice and Myrtice Tully, and Charlie Clocon were recorded absent.

J. K. Gray has just shipped the horses which he has been feeding for the last six weeks. They are exceptionally fine looking animals and they will certainly take the eyes of prospective buyers.

Our ninth grade now boasts of four members, Florence Gray, Bessie Gray, Rolf and Harold Moller. We have been handicapped somewhat by lack of books but that trouble is past for our books came this week.

Friends and patrons please bear in mind the fact that you are all most cordially invited to come and see us a[...]y time and as many times as y[...]an possibly spare the time. We w[...] you to come because you will he[...]s, one and all, by your presen[...].

We a[...]appy to state that last month [...] had four little folks who neither missed a day nor came tardy. They were Bertha Knudsen, Stella Knudsen, Helen Bartunek and Edwin Bartunek. Let the good work go on and may the number for next month increase.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stacy returned last Tuesday noon from an extended trip in the east. They had a splended visit with friends and relatives. Some of the places they visited were Carbon Hill, Ohio, Chicago, and eastern Iowa. They received an exceptionally hearty welcome at home because Ord and Jim had been living on "store dinners" and batching.

Mr. Whiting's men have started to husk their corn. They say some parts of it will make seventy-five or eighty bushels. This is surely a record breaker corn crop for a dry year. Our only regret is this bountiful crop has called John and Bert Whiting from our ranks. We hope they will slaughter it quickly and get back with us again so their work in school won't suffer.

A Sensible View of the Tariff

Our friend, C. O. Whedon is not satisfied with this new tarriff schedule, and he does not hesitate to say so in the Times and elsewhere, wherever his voice can be heard. But he is not the only one in the United States of America, who is dissatisfied. In fact everyone is more or less so. It is not built exactly according to the particular ideas and opinions of any one. Aldrich and Speaker Cannon are roundly scored for the provisions of the bill, but we venture they are no better pleased with the schedule than is Mr. Whedon. Indeed. the dissatisfaction with the revenue law is not confined to the United States of America, but is world wide. Wherever there is traffic, wherever produce is raised for human consumption, where the wheels of industry hum their mon otonous song, there is kicking on some part of the schedule. There are things about it we do not like and other things we deeply deplore, and we said so as loudly as we could when the schedule was under discussion in congress and when there was ample time and opportunity to adopt our particular views. But congress did not pay any attention, at least that we could notice, and President Taft said it was the best that could be done, and signed it. Now it is the law of the land and we have the infinite consolation of knowing it is not noly a republican law but an American tariff. It carries out her broad, bold and generous policy of protection to American labor and American products. The price of wheat has not decline on account of it, nor has the price of corn, nor beef no pork, and the Nebraska farmer has the same lively home market for his products, and the same well-fed and prosperous people to buy and consume them that he had before. That may not be enough for some, but it is as good as we expected, and we are satisfied. We thougt the duty ought to be retained on hides, for the benefit of the western farmer and stockgrower, but the president was opposed to us and did not even design to apologize. We read that our Congressman was busy making a supreme effort to have the duty on imported silk hose reduced, and we did not want it reduced. We were so selfish we did not care a rap if the ladies and gentlemen of the Vanderbilt and Gould and Harriman families had to pay a good round price for the hose they exhibited in the spacious ball-rooms of their palatial homes. But the Payne law has the interests of the American producer in view and is good for him and that is the protective idea. We consume a lot, but after all we are a nation of producers and if we get the price for what we produce we can afford to pay the price for what we consume. Protection is for the producer, always was and always must be, and the republican duties are based on that idea. If we had time we could make a table showing what Nebraska produces and what it consumes, and patent as o r broad fields of waving crops are, wide as our pastures and busy as our growing factories are, you would be surprised at the magnitude of our products and the comparatively insignificant amout we consume. Good prices mean everything to our people. They mean the difference actually between affluence and poverty. And we cannot have good prices unless the people in America enjoy them. If a successful manufacturer makes good money we are glad of it. He helps our market, and no manufcturer can be mentioned who has made a larger per cent of gain than have some of the farmers of Nebraska. Why not think about the good we enjoy and not get ourselves all worked up over the prosperity of some one else. whose success means more money for us. Perhaps we will have a better schedule sometime, but we will never have one that is not the result of compromise and yielding on all sides, for the tariff is a national, and not local issue, and all portions of the country must be considered.—York Times.

Good Roads or No Free Delivery

The fourth assistant postmaster general has issued an order permitting local postmasters to suspend rural free mail delivery thirty days when the carriers report habitual neglect of roads by any patron, overseer or trustee. If the road is not made good within thirty days the local postmaster is requested to recommend that the badly kept portion be permanently withdrawn from the route.

On reciept of this order the postmaster of a typical country town in the grain belt paid this tribune to the value of rural free mail delivery: "A rural route is held to enhance the value of a farm more than $1,000 and it is worth $100 or more a yaer to any farmer to have his mail delivered, so it is hardly probable there will be any neglect of the roads where this order applies." The postmaster's conclusion is all the more tenable in view of the fact that while he estimates the value of mail delivery to be $100 a year, Kansas farmers have demonstrated that it is possible to have good roads at cost of only $50 a mile. At this ratio rural mail delivery enhances the value of a farm sufficiently each year to pay for two miles of good roads.—Iowa Homestead.

Reading Circle Notes

The first meeting of the Ord division of the Valley County Reading Circle began last Saturday afternoon, October 8th, at 3:00 p. m. The number of those present was small on account of the inclemency of the weather and it was decided to hold the meeting in the county superintendents office where it was more comfortable. The subject under discussion was teaching patriotism in school. Those present showed much interest in the subject and almost all joined heartily in the discussion. H. L. Cushing, the newly appointed president, opened the meeting by giving a short but very interesting discourse, after which each one present showed their loyalty, by assisting in the discussion. Mr. Cushing spoke principally on (1) Using devices in school work and using flags in connection either as reward's of merit or otherwise.

(2) The interest that could be around among the children by having an old soldier tell them stories of the flag in war and tell of heroic deeds by comrades in battle.

Miss Mate Moore spoke on the importance of having a good flag in the room before the children.

Associating the flag with what it stands for, whenever an opportunity offers in school work, was also mentioned.

On the advise of the county Superintendent a committee was appointed by the president composed of Misses Lena Nay and Mate Moore who were instructed to look up different flag offers and report at the meeting.

The first meeting of the Circle was a pronounced success and much vim and enthuiasm in the work was manifested by those present.

Our next meeting will occur on October 30, at 2:30 p. m. sharp. Those not present at that time will be marked tardy.

The subject for discussion next time will be Creating an interest in Reading, and the lesson is six chapters of the professional book on "The Theory and Art of Teaching",. The teachers of the Ord division, will all be expected to be present unless excused by the county superintendent,

Come prepared to take part in the discussion if possiable, but in case you think it is utterly impossible then come anyway. Come by all means. Come.

SUNSET CLUB MEETS

NINTH ANNUAL SOCIAL OF AGED RESIDENTS OF YORK.

HAPPENINGS OVER THE STATE

What Is Going on Here and There That Is of Interest to the Readers Throughout Nebraska and Vicinity.

York, Neb.—The ninth annual sunset social was held Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the Methodist church. The attendance was 114. This was the largest number that has ever attended the social. The guests of honor were those persons who had passed the age of seventy. Upon entering the church the guests were given a yellow bow of ribbon, which signified the sunset, or the aproaching end of this natural life. When all had assembled a picture was taken, after which Judge A. B. Taylor took charge as master of ceremonies. Rev. A. G. Bennett, pastor of the church, delivered an address of welcome. A vocal duet was given by Aaron Bissel, aged seventy-two, and Mrs. Aaron Bissel, aged seventy-seven. Mrs. Priscilla Pierce, aged seventy-seven, gave several violin selections. Others gave short talks, after which dinner was served. The oldest person present was Mrs. Elizabeth Sherman. She is ninety-six years old. Seven gave their birthplace as England and Scotland; seven Germany, seven Sweden, seven New England, fifteen New York, thirteen Pennsylvania, twenty-four Ohio, six Indiana, three Illinois, six Canada, five Virginia, one Maryland, two Delaware, one Wisconsin.

Explosion Ends in Death.

Aurora, Neb.—At the stationery store of his father Monday evening, Millard C. Evans received burns that resulted in his death near midnight. It is said that the young man after filling the generator of the gasoline lighting system from a can of wood alcohol neglected to close the can and held it in his hand while lighting the geneartor. The can exploded and Evans' clothes were saturated with the burning fluid. He ran from the rear door of the building to an auto garage near by where the flames were extinguished.

The young man was frightfully burned about the arms, face and breast and died in a few hours from the result of the burns and the inhaling of the flames. He was about twenty-nine years of age. C. S. Evans, the father, who was standing near was severely burned about the face, but the results will not be serious. The damage to the stationery stock was slight.

Richard Sneath, aged eighteen years, son of a prosperous farmer living west of Pender, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. Young Sneath was at the home of Peter Closson, just across the line in Wayne county, and was preparing to clean the gun. He was looking into the muzzle and pounding on the barrel when the discharge exploded, tearing off the top of his head. The coroner of Wayne county, after viewing the body, decided that an inquest was not necessary.

CRUSHED IN WRECK

LIFE CRUSHED OUT OF SEVENTEEN AT TOPEKA, KAS.

MOST OF VICTIMS MEXICANS

Crash Comes at a Curve, With No Warning Given—Ten Injured, and Further Fatalities May Result.

Topeka, Kas.—Seventeen persons were killed and ten severely injured in a collision between a freight train and a construction train on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad here Friday. Among the dead are eleven Mexicans. The dead:

Charles Gray, section foreman, North Topeka, Kas.; Stephen Barnes, section hand, North Topeka; Jesse Trip, section foreman, Valley Falls, Kas.; Thomas Laird, section foreman, Nortonville, Kas.; E. L. Bolte, brakeman, Argentine, Kas.; Ira Clemons, brakeman, Emporia, Kas. The Mexicans: Andrus Alteria, Juan Romero, Juadel Aquillo, Tonias Ynugias, Margerito Mare, Cruz Luniga, Ysabel Aquada, four unidentified Mexicans.

The injured are all Mexicans and are at the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe hospitals. It is believed some of them are fatally hurt.

The work train was backing into Topeka with fifty Mexicans riding on the flat cars. As the train was rounding a curve the northbound freight crashed into it. Engineer Edward Ash and Fireman Joseph Corrilon of the of the freight train jumped as soon as the airbrakes could be set. The Mexicans were not aware of the danger until the enginemen and trainmen jumped, and then it was too late for many of them to do so. The engine on the freight train ran over the four flat cars comprising the work train and almost a score of men were pinned down, and it was several hours before they were extricated.

It is said the wreck was caused by the crew of the work train disregarding orders.

The bodies of the dead were horribly mangled.

The wreck occurred about one mile east of Topeka. Wrecking and relief trains were rushed to the scene and the dead and injured were hurried to Topeka. The tracks have been repaired and traffic is running as usual

Seems to Bar Out Turks.

Minneapolis.—An unexpected official communication from Washington Friday, sent from the acting chief of the department of naturalization to A. E. Allen, clerk of the district court, not only specifically bars Turks from American citizenship, but indirectly raises the point whether any native of Asia is entitled under the law to such privilege. If the order be taken literally, in connection with the federal naturalization laws, it apparently would bar not only Turks, but Palestine Jews, Persians, Syrians, natives of the Indian empire and those of Russia in Asia as well.

The point is raised in connection with the would-be naturalization of George Jordan Jorlanides and three others said to be Minneapolis Turks who desire citizenship papers.

Sure Cook Reached Pole.

Copenhagen.—Captain de Gerlache, who commanded the Duke of Orleans yacht Belgica, in the Antarctic expedition of 1907, has arrived here. He says he does not doubt one word of Dr. Cook's story that he reached the north pole, and claims he cannot understand how anyone who knows Cook can doubt his story. He is absolutely confident that the American explorer, with the instruments he carried would be able to determine within one-sixtieth of a degree where the pole was located.

Moody Is Growing Worse.

Washington.—The condition of Associate Justice William H. Moody of the supreme court of the United States, who is ill in his home at Haverhill, Mass., is critical.

Justice Moody was seized with rheumatism just before the close of the term of court last May. For some time thereafter he was at Hot Springs, Va., and then in a New York sanitarium, which he left for his old home at Haverhill, Mass.

Return More Indictments.

Omaha.—The federal grand jury which convened here two weks ago Friday reported indictments against J. C. Mabray and eighty-four others, alleged to have been his confederates in the promotion of fake races, prize fights and other sporting events. The indictments are practically identical with those returned September 23 at Council Bluffs against the same persons. Quite a number of men named have not yet been arrested, and for that reason the list is not made public at this time.

First One Easy.

Pittsburg.—The National league champions won the first game of the world's championship series by the score of 4 to 1 at Forbes field Friday. After the early innings Detroit was outclassed in every department of the game. In the first three innings Detroit outplayed Pittsburg. An immense crowd, 29,265 paid admissions, a new record for attendance in a world's series game, witnessed the exciting game. Every seat in the immense amphitheater was filled when Umpire Johnstone called "play ball."

Useless Bother.

"Pa," said little Henry, who was being led gingerly through the ruins of Pompeii, "I don't see why they've got the streets all dug up here. What's the use of puttin' in gas or water pipes when they ain't hardly anybody lives in the town?"

Telegraph Poles in Bloom.

Over 1,000 miles of telegraph poles in full blossom are to be seen in Uganda, Africa. The wires are strung from a species of fig tree which has extraordinary powers of germination.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL CITY

ITEMS OF INTEREST AROUND THE STATE HOUSE.

Complaints Satisfied.

Several complaints filed with the railway commission have been adjusted satisfactorily to the complainants and has been dismissed. The complaints include one by Jerry McUgh, who asked that the Rock Island road be required to put in a telephone in its depot at South Bend. The company has complied, as most of the railroad companies do when complaints are filed relating to telephone service under the Bartos law.

J. S. McFall, of Armour, is satisfied with the repairs made by the Missouri Pacific road on its right of way fence and his complaint has been dismissed.

J. T. Tillman of Ragan has succeeded in getting the Burlington to install a helper at Ragan and at Huntley so that the stations will be open when the westbound evening train arrives.

The Kearney Steam Laundry which complained that the Pacific Express company had rotten delivery service at Kearney, has reported that the service is satisfactory. James Jensen has received back the amount of an overcharge from the Burlington and Rock Island for a shipment from Brunswick, Neb., to Stratton, Colo., and his complaint has been dismissed.

The railway commission has accepted an invication to attend a conference in Lincoln October 22 relative to a union depot project.

Made a Mistake.

Recently the Nebraska Telephone company reported to the state railway commission and the report was published that the company showed a deficit of $711,000 for the year ending June 30, 1909. It is not recorded anywhere that this report of loss caused any considerable number of stockholders to sell their stock at a loss, but it is said that Auditor Pixley of the company said he first saw the report of a deficit when it was published in the newspapers. He said the railway commission was in a hurry to get a report and he told some of his hired men to make out one and when it was finished he did not look at it. Later he began to delve into the report. In company with L. F. Wettling, expert accountant, employed by Attorny General Thompson, Mr. Pixley went over the report. He explains now that the man who made it out duplicated over $200,000 of dividends and about the same amount for deprication and brought the amazing result of a $711,000 deficit for the year. The company is now willing to modify its original report so that it now shows gross receipts of $604,067 from opeartion and a net profit of $105,906 to be added to surplus after paying $274,968 in dividends, $14,193 interest and allowing $209.000 for depreciation. No such remarkable change in a report filed with the railway commission has ever been made. The company reports that its 47,833 telephones represent an investment of $95.85 per phone and of course it will claim the right to earn dividends upon that investment. The independent telephone company at Omaha alleges that it has invested $1,300 in each phone it owns. Whether or not this is correct will be investigated by the railway commission.

Election Proclamation.

Governor Shallenberger has issued an election proclamation. The governor's proclamation is dated October 1, but pending the receipt of printed copies, it was not announced. The proclamation is very brief, as follows:

"Under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the provisions of section eleven (11) of chapter twenty-six (26) of the compiled statutes of Nebraska for the year 1909, entitled 'Elections,' I, Ashton C. Shallenberger, governor of the state of Nebraska, do hereby issue my proclamation declaring that on Tuesday, the second day of November, A. D. 1909, there will be an election held at the usual places of voting in said state for the election of the following officers, to-wit: Three judges of the supreme court, two regnts of the state university, one regent of the state university to fill vacancy."

If there are any vacancies in the legislature, the governor has not been apprised of the fact, so he knows of none that have been caused either by removal from the district, resignation or death.

A prize of $60 is offered by ex-Governor George L. Sheldon to the six students manifesting excellence in debate by their selection to represent Nebraska in the intercollegiate contests December 10, 1909. Mr. Sheldon ascribes his donation to his interest in the intellectual process of the university students as evidenced by their work in debating and public speaking. Nebraska has for several years ranked first of the western colleges in debate and the ex-governor wishes to show his appreciation of the work done by her teams. Six men are annually chosen to represent Nebraska in two contests under the schedule of the central debating league, which includes Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. Each of these six men will this year receive $10 from the Sheldon prize fund.

Normal School Decision Expected.

An opinion is looked for soon in the suit started by Attorney General Thompson to test the validity of the new normal school act, a bill passed last winter that resulted in the appointment of a new board to control normal and junior normal schools and making some changes in the duties of the board. Principal Crabtree of the Peru normal when in Lincoln last Saturday told friends that the decision would be in favor of the new law and added that a member of the court told him "It will be all right."

Deputy State Surveyors.

Under an act passed by the last legislature Land Commissioner Cowles has appointed three deputy state surveyirs to assist State Surveyor Harvey. He has chosen men of experience who will be able to help the state surveyor do the large amount of work which he is called upon now to do. The new apointees receive pay in the form of fees of office. They are: J. L. Paul, St. Paul, Neb.; H. D Patterson, Papillion; George C. Reed Alma.

The Kid—Aw, I ain't smoking. I'm only keeping dis pill lit fer a fellow wots gone on an errand.

FREED AT LAST

From the Awful Tortures of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Rachel Ivie, Henrietta, Texas, says: "I would be ungrateful if I did not tell what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. Fifteen years kidney trouble clung to me, my existence was one of misery and for two whole years I was unable to go out of the house. My back ached all the time and I was utterly weak, unable at times to walk without assistance. The kidney secretions were very irregular, Doan's Kidney Pills restored me to good health, and I am able to do as much work as the average woman, though nearly eighty years old."

Demoralization.

"What makes the parrot so profane?"

"Well, mum," answered the sailor man, "I s-pose it's part my fault. Every time I hear him speak a bad word it makes me so mad that he gets a chance to learn a lot of new ones."

Republican Ticket

For County Clerk,
Otto H. Hagemeier.

For County Treasurer,
Lafe Paist.

For County Judge,
H. Gudmundsen.

For Sheriff,
A. Sutton.

For County Superintendent,
Eva B. Shuman.

For Coronor,
Dr. C. C. Shepard.

For Supervisors,
Frank Krahulik,
J. H. Carson,

There seems to be no serious doubt of the election of Lafe Paist for county treasurer, though his opponent is spending a great deal of valuable time canvassing over the county. But what argument anyone could possibly put up against Paist's election we can not imagine. He knows the office like a book and will make the best sort of a treasurer. Sure, elect him.

By an overwhelming vote the republicans of this county said that they wanted A. Sutton for their candidate for sheriff and there is no reason to suppose that they will not now elect him. He has made a most excellent officer, always attending to his business and keeping his mouth closed. Then he stands for the enforcement of law and that is the thing to be looked after in the choosing of sheriffs.

You are not really thinking of voting for F. C. Cummins for county judge are you? We hardly thought so, but if you know of anyone who does so purpose ask him to look at Cummins's record while he was in office years ago. Frank may, by smooth talk, cover up some of his record, but this is a case where his records cannot be covered up so easily. Several of the marriages are not recorded and his entire record is in a very defective condition. If there is anything an officer ought to do it is to make the record of his work intelligible and complete. This Cummins did not do. If he did not or was not in condition to do it when he was younger it is fair to presume that he will do no better now. On the other hand the records of Judge Gudmnndsen are always kept up to the minute, complete and accurate.

Supervisors' Proceedings

Ord, Nebraska, September 21., 1909.

The county Board met at its office in regular adjourned session.

Roll call, all members present.

The following report made by the chairman was read and on motion same was adopted.

To The Honorable Board of Supervisors, Valley County.

Gentlemen:

I hereby report the sale of old bridge lumber as follows:

Enterprise Township	$20 00
Davis Creek Township.	2 50
Independent Township.	12 00
Total	34 50

I have turned the above amount into the County Treasury.

J. G. Bremer.

Mr. Albert Russell, made report, as instructed in the last meeting, on the practicability of laying what is known as the Krajnik road. His report being as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Valley County, Nebraska.

Gentlemen:

I have viewed the within mentioned location for a road and find that it would make a reasonably good road, with some work and one large and one small culvert. This road connects two main roads and is also a section line, and as this would be used for travel between Ord and Arcadia more or less I would respectfully recommend the establishment of said road as prayed for.

Respectfully, Albert Russell

On motion the report of Mr. Russell was adopted. It was moved and carried that the Adolf Krajnik road be laid as prayed for and damages allowed as follows:

John W. Mason	$44 00
Heirs of H. R. Royerston, Jessie M. Sidney Adm.	48 00
W. G. Byington.	40 00
M. E. Blakeslee	48 00
Adolf Krajnik	40 00

On motion the board adjourned until o'clock p. m.

1 o'clock p. m.

Roll call, all members present.

C. L. Kokes, a member of Michigan Township Board, appeared in behalf of said township and asked that the Township Board be allowed an amount of money to work and repair the two main roads leading through said township to Ord. It was moved and carried that Michigan Township be allowed $250.00 for repairing these two roads on condition, however, that the citizens donate an equal amount, namely $250.00 on these two roads. When that amount has been donated and expended then the township board will be allowed this additional $250.00 also to be applied on these two roads.

On motion Frank Johnson was instructed to have the cave on the Shower poor farm repaired.

The report of the committee on claims was read and on motion same was adopted and warrants ordered drawn for the several amounts.

On motion the claim of the Canton bridge Co. was allowed for the sum of $1820.00.

On motion the claims of York Blank Co. by H. M. Davis for $2.00 was allowed in the sum of $1.00.

On motion the claim of Dr. E. J. Smith for $15. was rejected.

The following request was read and on motion the same was laid on the table.

To the Honorable Board of County Supervisors:

The undersigned, A. J. Firkins, the commissioner, duly appointed and qualified to view and report upon the action of the following described road, petitioned to be vacated by J. J. Smith and others towit: on the half section line running north and south through sections 29 and 32, 17-13 Valley County, Nebraska, do request the board for authority to withdraw the report heretofore made and filed by me for further consideration. A. J. Firkins.

The bids for bridges were opened and carefully examined. On motion a contract was entered into for the building of certain bridges by the Canton Bridge Co. The Chairman and the Clerk was instructed to sign the contract as approved by the board.

On motion Mr. McNutt was instructed to have the coal bin in the basement of the Court House repired as he deems best.

Wooden Water Pipes.

Wood pipes are better than iron pipes for carrying water supply, according to a report issued by the United States forestry bureau. It says that timber saturated with water and protected from outside influences is practically everlasting. There is a line of two miles of wood pipe at Fayetteville, N. C., laid in 1829, which is sound and in constant use at the present time. Wood pipes cost only one-quarter as much as cast iron and one-half as much as steel, they have greater discharging capacity, they are not affected by electrolysis and they are poor conductors of heat, thus keeping the water cooler in summer and warmer in winter.—Chicago News.

Disillusioned.

I was once at a ball where a lady to whom I had just been presented said: "Oh, Mr. Barrington, my daughter has fallen madly in love with you! May I introduce you?" I murmured an embarrassed "Certainly," and she turned to a very pretty girl who was standing near, saying, "Marjorie, this is Mr. Rutland Barrington." The girl's face lit up with excitement and pleasure. She took a good look at me and turned away, with a long and disappointed "Oh!" That mother knew something. — From "Rutland Barrington," by Himself.

What He Caught.

"When I was a boy," said a railroad official, "I was awful fond of fishing. My father had a rule of letting us go fishing Saturday afternoon, provided we split up enough cord wood to do over Sunday. I shall always remember one particular Saturday afternoon, when the sport was the finest I ever had. The water was blue under the June skies, and you could look into the limpid depths and see the big bass moving about, just aching for a hook to strike them. I never knew fish to bite better in my life. Why, they actually"—

"But what did you catch?" asked a listener impatiently.

"Who, me? Oh, I caught a licking. You see, I had failed to chop the wood."—Indianapolis Star.

LORE OF THE METEOR.

Divine Honors Have Been Paid the Wanderers of the Sky.

It is only within the last hundred years that science has taken up the study of the meteor seriously, but in all ages its fitful gleam has captured the imagination of men.

In Asia in early times a fragment was picked up which probably bore a very rude resemblance to a human figure. It was looked upon as an image of Diana, sent down from Jupiter. A great temple was built at Ephesus in its honor—the Temple of Diana of the Ephesians. There from all parts of Asia people flocked to worship a meteorite.

The Romans, too, at certain epochs of their history, fell under the spirit of the meteorite. Aeneas, the mythic founder of the race, is said to have carried one with him to Italy, and one of the strangest pictures in the wonderful gallery of Roman history is that of the Emperor Heliogabalus paying divine honors to his meteoric god, for the head of the imperial city was high priest in a temple whose god was a rude fragment of meteoric stone.

A magnificent temple was built for it in Rome. Every morning hecatombs of bulls and sheep were offered, firkins of the richest wines were poured out and much costly incense was burned. Every year the meteoric god was carried with gorgeous ceremony to another temple in the suburbs. The chariot in which it rode glittered with gold and precious stones and was drawn by six white horses in golden trappings. The emperor himself held the reins, walking backward, so as to keep his eyes fixed on his god. On either side the people ran, bearing torches and throwing garlands of flowers as they passed.

On another occasion a meteoric stone played an important part in Roman history. It fell in ancient times in Phrygia and was worshiped at Pessinus by the Phrygians and Phoenicians as Cybele, "the mother of the gods." To it had been ascribed the victory of the Romans over Hannibal in the first Punic war. So when in later years the Carthagenian general had crossed the Alps and maintained his place in Italy for twelve years the troubled Romans wished for the wonderful stone.

They had learned from the Sybilline books that an enemy might be expelled from Italy if the stone were brought to Rome. So they went to King Attalus, asking that it might be sent. It was carried with much ceremony to the Temple of Victory on the Palatine hill, and, sure enough, Hannibal was presently compelled to return to Africa. Having surmounted incredible difficulties, he was yet forced to yield to a meteorite.—London Globe.

Little Helps For Awning Makers.

"Our greatest benefactor," said a local manufacturer of awnings, "is the office man who sits and smokes and throws his cigar stubs out of the window. If it's at the time of year when awnings are up on the big office buildings it is not improbable that the cigar will fall on an awning and burn a good sized hole. Possibly it will fall against a roll of the canvas and burn through several folds. Look at some of the awnings over the stores on the ground floor of buildings and notice the little round holes that have been caused by the falling cigar stubs. These holes, of course, greatly hasten the time when the awning must be replaced. Nearly every office building in town has suffered this same damage." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

What They Were Doing.

There is a government official in Washington to whom an unnecessary or inane question is as a red rag to a bull.

Last summer he made his usual trip to Europe. On the first day out from New York he was strolling on the promenade deck when suddenly there appeared before him a man whom he had not seen for years.

"Why, professor!" exclaimed the man. "To meet you, of all men! Are you going across?"

"Yes!" growled the professor. "Are you?"—Harper's Weekly.

THREE PAINTERS.

The Story of a Murder Committed In the Name of Art.

Three painters, Andrea Castagno, Alessio Baldovinetti and Domenico Veneziano, received commissions from Folco Portinari, the father of Dante's Beatrice, to decorate the refectory and chapel of the Church of Santa Maria Nuova. Baldovinetti, seeing that the young foreigner, Domenico, had brought to his work a new medium, watched him closely, and, nothing daunted, he, too, concocted a formula which he thought the same as Domenico's, and, forsaking the classic tempera, with which up to that time all Florentines had painted, he covered his allotment with figures done so that they were most beautiful for a short time, but soon faded away. This departure caused the jealous and intollerant Andrea Castagno to ridicule poor Baldovinetti, but in his heart he was sore over the triumph of the young boy Venetian, and he determined to find out the secret of his medium. To this end he made friends with Domenico and suggested that, since they were engaged upon the same work, they might conveniently share a lodging. Castagno, who was known to be of a morose and surly disposition, astonished people by his change of manner. He learned to play the lute, in which art Domenico was also an expert, and, donning the jaunty habit of a Florentine dandy, the two went about serenading and taking part in the gay pranks Domenico had learned in Venice. But the secret of the medium remained unknown, and Andrea was only able to discover that Domenico ground his colors in oils.

As Domenico's pictures neared completion they attracted more and more notice for their brilliant luster, which seemed to make the flesh of men and women throb and pulsate. His draperies, too, were painted in colors which the tempera painters could not produce. All Florence went mad over Domenico, and Andrea was forced to listen to the praise and admiration poured out for Domenico while he worked unnoticed upon his "Last Supper" on an adjoining scaffolding. Andrea was much the greater artist. This was conceded. His drawing was more perfect, but for the moment no lines could make up for the brilliant color which Domenico produced.

Andrea grew more gay, more affectionate in his treatment of Domenico, and the latter, suspecting nothing, opened his heart to the older man. One evening when, as usual, Domenico took down his lute and threw his long cloak across his shoulder preparatory to a stroll he called to Andrea in vain. An excuse that a commission of some moment had to be completed and the lateness of the hour finally satisfied Domenico, who went off alone. He had scarcely left the door when Andrea dashed out and, slinking along a dark alley, met Domenico at a street corner. Crashing into him and shattering the lute, he brained him with a plummet which he had snatched from his designing table. —Helen Zimmern in Metropolitan.

Her Correction.

"Father, I wish I knew why they laughed at my corrected sentence in English class today," exclaimed a high school girl recently. Her father looked up from his evening paper and asked what the sentence was.

"Well, Miss West gave us each a sentence to correct, and mine was, 'I went to the tonsorial parlors to get a hair cut.'"

"And how did you correct it?" asked the father.

"Why, I corrected it the only way you could correct it, of course, and Miss West just doubled up laughing when she read it, and then she read it aloud, and every one in the class shouted. They didn't know it was my sentence, but I did."

"But what did you write?"

"Why, father! What would any one write? I wrote, 'I went to the tonsorial parlors to get my tonsils cut,' of course!"—Youth's Companion.

Cruelty.

"Are you Mr. Briefleigh?"

"Yes, sir. What can I do for you?"

"I wish to retain you as my counsel. I am going to begin suit for a divorce."

"Ah! I'm sorry to hear that you find it necessary to take such action. What are the grounds on which you wish to apply for your freedom?"

"Cruelty."

"Yes? What form has your wife's cruelty taken?"

"She insists on living up to the salary I have been trying to make our friends believe I get."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Trouble In Store For John.

Mrs. Newwedde—Well, you know John is away from home for a week on business.

"Yes."

"He writes that he gets out my photo and k-k-kisses it every day."

"Well, that's surely nothing for you to cry about."

"Yes; it was just for a joke I took my picture out of his bag before he started and put one of m-m-mother's in its place."—London Scraps.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 6

If It Fits You Wear This Cap

By Herbert Kaufman

Advertising isn't a crucible with which lazy, bigoted and incapable merchants can turn incompetency into success—but one into which brains and tenacity and courage can be poured and changed into dollars. It is only a short cut across the fields—not a moving platform. You can't "get there" without "going some."

It's a game in which the worker—not the shirker—gets rich.

By its measurement every man stands for what he is and for what he does, not for what he was and what he did.

Every day in the advertising world is another day and has to be taken care of with the same energy as it's yesterday.

The quitter can't survive where the plugger has a ghost of a chance.

Advertising doesn't take the place of business talent or business management. It simply tells what the business is and how it is managed. The snob whose father created and who is content to live on what was handed to him can't stand up against the man who knows he must build for himself.

What makes you think that you are entitled to prosper as well as a competitor who works twice as hard for his prosperity?

Why should as many people come to your store as patronize a shop that makes an endeavor to get their trade and shows them that it is worth while to come to its doors?

Why should a newspaper send as many customers to you in half the time it took to fill an establishment which advertised twice as long and paid twice as much for its publicity?

This is the day when the best man wins—after he proves that he is the best man—when the best store wins, when it has shown that it is the best store—when the best goods win, after they've been demonstrated to be the best goods.

If you want the plum you can't get it by lying under the tree with your mouth open waiting for it to drop—too many other men are willing to climb out on the limb and risk their necks in their eagerness to get it away from you.

It is a man's game—this advertising—just hanging on and tugging and straining all the time to get and keep ahead. It is the finite expression of the law of competition which sits in blind-folded justice over the markets of the world.

The Color of Flames.

Many people have noticed with much interest the many tinted bars and bands that rise in the shape of "forked tongues of flame" from wood burning in a fire. These varied hues are the result of combustion from the different elements of the fuel. The light blue is from the hydrogen and the white from the carbon. The violet is from the manganese, the red from the magnesia and the yellow from the soda, which are constituent parts of the wood.

No Wonder.

"You love long rambles in the country?" asked the girl in the white sweater.

"Yes, indeed," responded the young man in the green hat with the purple band and buckled shoes. "When I go out in the country all nature seems to smile."

"Gracious! I don't blame her. It is a wonder she doesn't laugh outright."—Kansas City Independent.

Dr. Taylor had a brief but very pleasant visit from his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bosserman of Laporte, Ind. The visiting people went on their way this morning. They are visiting Nebraka where they used to live years ago.

Mrs. J. E. Wilmoth went to Omaha this morning.

The New Model No. 24 Marlin

Repeating Shotgun

This new 6-shot model is the simplest, surest, and fastest 12-gauge repeater made.

It has the solid top, side ejection and double extractors—special Marlin features of comfort and convenience. The closed-in breech keeps the action clean and the shells dry—keeps out rain, snow, dirt, leaves twigs and sand.

The new take-down construction allows you to take gun apart in ten seconds for cleaning or packing, yet the joint is always as firm and rigid as in a solid frame, non-take-down gun. The fat forearm fits your hand and helps quick operation.

The full choked guns are guaranteed close-shooting, hard-hitting guns, and are unequalled for ducks, geese, foxes and all long-range work.

A circular giving large illustration, with full description of this handsome new gun, sent free on request or with complete 136-page catalog for 3 stamps.

Miss Bessie Clements went to Linconl last Friday for a visit with relaties.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallock were up from Scotia over Sunday returning home Monday morning.

R. C. Nelson went to Omaha Monday to buy a lot of goods for the Will Nelson implement house.

The meeting of the grand Army aid society will be at the home of Mrs. H. B. Kaiser in the east part of town tomorrow.

Dr. Hendrick of Omaha will visit Ord Friday Oct. 15th, at hotel one day only. Chronic Diseases a specialty. Consultation Free.

Albert Jones left for Ohio Tuesday for a visit with relatives and an opportunity to see something of the world outside of Valley County.

B. G. Russell sent us a postcard with a partial view of the main office of the Henry Field Seed Co. of Shenandoah, Iowa. He reports cold stormy weather in that section.

Alexander Brown of Stockham, Neb., was here for a few days as the guest of the I. C. Clark family. His mission was to buy land, but he did not invest for some reason or other.

If you used to live here years ago you remember Aaron Russ. We had lost all trace of him, but yesterday a letter came from him ordering the Quiz sent him at Roosevelt, Arizona, Box 1057.

Mrs. Mary Loomis the lady typo of the Quiz office departed for Wisconsin Monday morning to look after estate matters. She has helped the Quiz do business for some months and proved to be very efficient help.

That was a rain to rejoice over that fell commencing last week Thursday night. It was not copious but it was continuous and did the right thing to the wheat and alfalfa crops and helped put the gound in fine condition for the winter freeze up

Mrs. Cloughtman of Atchison, Kan., who had been the guest of the E. C. Loomis family for some three weeks, returned to her home yesterday morning. At a former visit to Ord this lady favored the audience at the Methodist church with a very fine solo.

George Stover returned from his trip east last week and is a little better in health, but not wholly well yet. He says that Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wolf are still enjoying life to the limit at Freeport and that they are thinking of coming out this way for a brief visit with relatives and friends.

Right away F. J. Bell contemplates commencing the erection of a new building on the cite of his present garage. The old building will be turned around to face west and placed on the rear of his lot, then all south will be covered with a fine brick building. The old building will be remodeled to make it suitable for photograph work.

Mr. J. M. Watt, Sr., father of Mrs. Oscar Enger and his granddaughter Miss Ethel Watt were up this way all last week on a visit at the Enger home. They returned to their home in Schuyler Monday morning. Mrs. Enger's sickness was the occasion of their visit. The sick woman, we regret to say, is not much if any improved in health. She has been sick for several months.

Last Thursday when about to say his prayers and go to bed Dr. Taylor's sportsman instinct told him that the morrow morning would be a good one for ducks, so he set the alarm clock to rouse him up at an unseemly hour—for him. The anticipation of the fun of bagging the birds lulled him to sleep and he snored right on through the darkness and was just really enjoying the best of the sleep when the cruel alarm went off with unnecessary villainy and doctor got up and looked out. It was dark and gloomy and looked like rain and it is a long way down to the river and mabe there would not be any ducks and the bed looked so warm and inviting and he was not hungry for duck meat anyway. You can complete this story as well as we can for the doctor was snoring again in five minutes.

Ross Hammond was in the city Tuesday night. It is not often that so noted and able an editor comes to our little city. Indeed he would not have come had he not been ordered to do so by a subpoena as witness in the Bower whiskey case. Mr. Hammond is revenue collector for Nebraska and the prosecution subpoenaed him to come and tell whether or no Mr. Bower had a government license. He had no chance to enlighten the court and jury on that subject, however, for before he asrived the defendant pleaded guilty and there was no further need of witnesses. Hammond departed by the B. & M. yesterday morning.

Tomorrow Miss Monna Trindle will depart for Azusa, California, where her home will be and where she will engage in the practice of her profession as a music teacher. For some time Miss Trindle has been casting about for a wider field for her special training in this line and has finally decided upon this southern California city. Surely with her skill and training she will do well in her far western home.

The McNutt and Gadd sale on Elm Creek Tuesday was a success all around. The horses started off a little slow and some of them sold a little cheap, but everything else went at good figures. This was a clean up and everything went as offered. The purpose was to close up the joint affairs of Mr. Gadd and Mr. McNutt, as the place will be in charge of another man from next spring on.

Frank Frank went to South Dakota some weeks ago to look around for more elbow room. He did not buy, but the more he thought about it the more he wished he had. He would better invest his money in this section of country, but then he knows what he is about.

Miss Emma Schoenich of York was at the Emil Foth home for a couple of weeks to help take care of the new daughter there. She returned home this morning. The daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Foth September 21.

E. C. Loomis and wife went to Red Oak, Iowa, yesterday. The former was called there by the news of the death of a friend. From that place Mrs. Loomis will go on further east to visit her folks, but Loomis will come back presently.

Charles Smith, the apple man.

Dr. M. Bamford has been sick all the week with tensilitis. He is much improved today and expects to preach Sunday again. He had to call on Rev. Maynard to preach for him Sunday night, which that preacher did in good form.

The case of Stewart against Lancaster, growing out of trouble between the two women, in which a dead chicken figured very prominently was given to the jury last evening and it took till 1:00 this morning for the jury to agree to a verdict, which was that the defendant was not guilty.

Last Sunday evening at the home of the bride's father Mr. Charles Geil and Miss Farra Mae Chinn were joined in marriage, Rev. E. L. Kechley officiating. The next morning the couple departed for a little trip to the west. The bride was one of our highly esteemed young ladies and groom is deputy treasurer of Howard conty.

A number of our teacher friends have commenced sending in the news from their district to the Quiz, for which we are much pleased. But there are others that ought to be doing so. Most of the teachers are enlisting their pupils in the work of either writing or telling the news that each happens to know about. This is good disciplin for the pupils and adds interest to the work.

A company of friends of Frank Nay met at the young man's home last Friday night by surprise to help him celebrate his birthday. The friends met by appointment at the Oscar Nay home and from that rendezvous they marched upon the victim. Mrs. Nay provided a fine feed for the party and guests supplied the victim with a watch fob to allay his lacerated feelings.

Thirty-one years ago and just a month after the W. H. H. Ramsey family came to Nebraska, the baby of the household, little Eliza, died of a disease which swept over the country and took most of the infants. The child was buried on the homestead in the Michigan settlement, only a few feet from where the house now stands. Recently Mr. Ramsey sold his farm to Mike Novotny and so the child's body was taken up and reburied in a new lot in the Ord cemetary. The coffin was made by H. Westover and the child was laid out by Mrs. Selver. The outer box was of red cedar and was only partially decayed but the coffin was in fine shape. The little coffin was kept in the Ramsey home Tuesday night and reburied yesterday.

Government Farms For All

A golden opportunity awaits the homeseekers sections of the West where large engineering works of the Government are now ready to supply water for irrigation.

The prospective homeseeker will no tbe compelled to take a chance in a lottery, and if he acts with promptness will find a home on his arrival.

Some of the best opportunites will be found in the projects in the North west where the soil, crops, and climate are alike attractive to farmers who are accustomed to the conditions of the upper Mississippi Valley and New England. Although these projects are located in what may be termed new country, the settler will not have to put up with isolation, nor will he be remote from excellent transportation or educational facilities.

So rapid is the development of the irrigated regions that the country has more of a suburban than rural appearance. The farms are 40 to 80 acres, and are so laid out that from 8 to 16 farm houses line each mile of the main highways, giving plenty of neighbors and creating social conditions which today are unknown in many older settled sections of the East and Middle West. The healthfulness and charm of these valleys, the abundant and certain crops, the nearly ideal condition of social life, and the assurance of an independent living should cause a marked decline in the undesirable efflux of our good citizens to Canada. The Reclamation Service at Washington, D. C., the bureau which is promoting the work, is endevoring to acquaint the public with the manifold advantages of our irrigated West. In quiries addressed to the Statistician will receive prompt attenion.

Corn Growing and Cooking Contest

The first annual Valley county boys and girls corn-growing and cooking contest will be held in the court house on Wednesday Nov. 10, 1909.

The contest is open only to children in the rural schools. The corn exhibits will be divided into two classes, an exhibit of twelve ears grown by the exhibitor. Second, an exhibit of twelve ears selected from a field in which the exhibitor has worked during the summer to show merely ability in the selection of seed corn.

In the cooking contest, skill in bread, biscuit and cookie making will be tested. An apron may be entered in the sewing contest The best exhibit will be sent to the state contest which will be held soon after the local one.

Numerous prizes hve been solicited and it is safe to say that the lucky ones will have good cause to congratulate themselves

This is the initial attempt of this nature and the encourgement of the general public will be appreciated.

This is one of the greatest corn growing states and there is certainly no cause more worthy of support.

Let's all pull together and make this a success.

Take Notice

We understand and have been informed that there are Parties representing themselves to be in a scheme with the merchants of Ord to solicit trade that if the customers will pay the solicitor $6.00 the merchant will give them 5 per cent discount on $145. of their purchases. We have never had an opportunity to make such representations and believe it only to be a plan to rob the customer. G. W. Milford & Son

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parsons of Everett, Wash., were here the first of the week on a brief stay at the J. M. Vanskike home. The young lady is a niece of Mr. Vanskike and the twain were on their wedding trip. Their visit was a very pleasant one to the Vanskikes, and doubtless to them also.

TRICK SHOOTING.

The Way Some of the Stage Feats Are Accomplished.

When a champion rifle shot fires blindfolded at a wedding ring or a penny held between his wife's thumb and finger or seated back to her shoots, by means of a mirror, at an apple upon her head or on a fork held in her teeth, the danger of using a bullet is obvious. None, of course, is needed. The explosion is enough. The apple is already prepared, having been cut into pieces and stuck together with an adhesive substance, and a thread with a knot at the end, pulled through it from the "wings," so that it flies to bits when the gun is fired, is "how it is done."

Generally the more dangerous a feat appears the more carefully is all danger guarded against. In the "William Tell" act the thread is often tied to the assistant's foot. When, again, the ash is shot off a cigar which the assistant is smoking a piece of wire is pushed by his tongue through a hollow passage in the cigar, thus thrusting off the ash at the moment of firing.

A favorite but simple trick is the shooting from some distance at an orange held in a lady's hand. Great applause is invariably forthcoming when the bullet drops out on her cutting open the fruit. It is inserted by hand earlier in the evening.

Another popular trick is that of snuffing out lighted candles. Half a dozen are placed in front of a screen, in which as many small holes are bored, one against each candle wick. At the moment of firing a confederate behind the screen sharply blows out each candle with a pair of bellows.

In most instances where a ball or other object has to be broken on a living person's head blank cartridge is used and the effect produced by other means. A special wig with a spring concealed in it worked by a wire under the clothes is generally used, the confederate manipulating the spring simultaneously with the firing of the rifle. As the ball is of extremely thin glass, a mere touch suffices to shatter it.

In these exhibitions some of the rifle "experts" invite gentlemen from the audience to testify that the weapon is indeed loaded. The cartridge shown looks very well, but it is a shell of thin wax blackened to resemble a leaden bullet. It would not hurt a fly.—London Tit-Bits.

Didn't Suit Washington.

Until the early part of the last century Milford, Conn., had a house in which Washington was said to have spent a night. It was in 1789, when Washington made a tour of New England. Tradition says that there were certain things about his stay at the Milford tavern which he did not enjoy. The supper set before him consisted of boiled meat and potatoes. He was not pleased with the meal and asked for a bowl of bread and milk. The landlord brought the new order and a broken pewter spoon with which to eat it.

"Have you no better spoons than this?" asked General Washington.

"It's the best I have in the house, sir," replied the host.

"Send me the servant," said his excellency. "Here's 2 shillings. Go to the minister's and borrow a silver spoon."

Tradition does not add whether he got the spoon or not.—Exchange.

Caught.

In Philadelphia they tell a story of a man whose wife had arranged an "authors' evening" and persuaded her reluctant husband to remain at home and help her receive the fifty guests who were asked to participate in this intellectual feast.

The first author was dull enough, but the second was worse. Moreover, the rooms were intolerably warm. So, on pretense of letting in some cool air, the unfortunate host escaped to the hall, where he found a servant comfortably asleep on the settee.

"Wake up!" sternly commanded the Philadelphian in the man's ear. "Wake up, I say! You must have been listening at the keyhole!"—Harper's Magazine.

How Seminoles Bury Their Dead.

Seminoles bury their dead on top of the ground after wrapping them in blankets, but always leave the top of the head exposed. They build a pen over the body and usually chink it with earth. When his squaw dies the husband wears his shirt until it rots off, which is not strikingly distinctive. When the husband dies the squaw doesn't comb her hair for three months. Little reverence is shown for the dead. When Tom Tiger's grave was robbed and his bones taken for exhibition the outcry over the desecration was almost wholly a newspaper affair. The nearest settlers were unalarmed and the Indians indifferent. — Collier's Weekly.

A Peculiar Couple.

Conversation had turned to the subject of two men, utterly dissimilar, who nevertheless roomed together. One of these men was generally conceded to be a "freak." His name was John.

"John and Jim are certainly a queer pair," opined somebody.

"John and anybody are a queer pair," opined somebody else.

Poor John!—Exchange.

John Kociemba went to Kearney this morning.

But she managed it all right with the help of the railroad men and the train went out on time. Doubtless Mr. Frick's conditon is largely due to his overwork and worry. Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of an order of sale directed to me from the District Court of Valley County, Nebraska, on a judgment obtained in said court on the 11th day of November, 1908, in favor of Agnes M. Pratt, Plaintiff, and against Pearl A. Shirley, Defendants, for the sum of $880.74, interest, costs, accruing costs, I have levied upon the following real estate taken as the property of said Defendants, to satisfy said judgment, to-with: Lot 4 in Block 2 in Haskell's Addition to Ord, Nebraska.

And will offer the same for sale to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, on November 1st, A. D. 1909, at the south front door of the Valley County Court House, in Ord, Nebraska, that being the building wherein the last term of Court was held, at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. of said day.

Dated September, 29, 1909.

A. Sutton,
Sheriff of said County. 27-5.

The Quiz office has a large line of sample calendars and if you are thinking of ordering some you'd better come in and look our samples over, as we can give you better prices than the eastern houses who have to pay their traveling salesmen a commission.

ELECTRICITY.

Why It Is Difficult For the Layman to Understand What It Is.

"What is electricity?" is a favorite query with people who desire to "get a rise" out of a scientific man. And when he fails to answer it in the same simple fashion that he might treat the question "What is a biscuit?" the questioner cries out: "Aha! You profess to know all about electricity. Why, you can't even tell what it is!"

Now, to "tell what a thing is"—that is, to define it—is to state its relations with something more familiar. The particular familiar thing that the questioner is thinking of in this case is ordinary matter. Heat has been explained to him as a vibration of material particles. Light, he has been told, is a wave motion in the ether, and he understands the ether to be a kind of matter or a substance resembling matter in some particulars.

It is not to be denied that no such simple general relationship can be stated between electricity and matter. But, this being so, it would be just as correct to say that we do not know what matter is as that we do not know what electricity is. As a matter of fact, we do not know what matter is, and the latest plausible theory of it builds it up on an electric basis, so that on this theory the idea of electricity is more fundamental than that of matter. Unfortunately our senses have been evolved by contact with matter and are trained to detect only matter. Electricity they know only secondarily, through its action upon matter—the light or heat that it causes matter to give out, the attraction that it causes certain substances to exert, and so on. To the man in the street, therefore, matter is familiar, and he demands a statement of the latter in terms of the former, illogical though this may be. After the scientist has stated all this the reply comes back, "Yes, I understand all that, and it is most clear, I am sure, but tell me, then, what is electricity anyway?"

Another source of confusion to the lay mind is that scientific men do not always use the word "electricity" to mean the same thing. The engineer often employs it to express the thing that the theoretical electrician calls "electric energy."

To find the energy of electricity—that is, its ability to do work—the electrician multiplies the quantity of electricity by the potential or tension under which it exists. But to the engineer this product itself measures the thing that he calls "electricity."

The work that a pound of water may do by falling a foot is one foot pound. The water is the same after falling as before, though its energy is less. So to the electrician a quantity of electricity at 100 volts is precisely the same as at one volt, though the former is able to do a hundred times as much work.

This difference in meaning causes thousands of disputes among students. "Electricity is a form of energy," says one, "just like light or heat." "Oh, no!" is the reply. "It is not energy at all, though it may possess or convey energy." One disputant is talking about the electricity of the physical and the other about that of the engineer; hence their dispute is merely a matter of definition, though they do not know it. What wonder that some people are still content to regard the whole subject as a civilized Mumbo Jumbo?—St. Louis Republic.

A DIAMOND STORY.

The Way a Russian Princess Disposes of Her Jewels.

A few years ago Ludwig Nissen, a well known wholesale dealer of the Maiden lane district, was in the office of a diamond merchant in London when a stranger came in and offered an unusually beautiful stone for sale. The Englishman did not care to buy. But Nissen thought he saw a bargain. But he was not willing to buy until he learned who owned the stone and where it had come from. The man said he represented a friend, a woman, who did not care to have her name disclosed. The American was firm. If he could not learn the owner's name he would not buy. The stranger said he would see the woman and talk the matter over with her.

The next day he came back and took Mr. Nissen to the woman's home. She lived in a handsome apartment in one of the most fashionable quarters of the city. It turned out that she was a Russian princess who, with her husband and her daughter, had been driven from Russia for having taken part in a nihilist movement. Of all their large property they had saved only their jewels. She opened a little safe and showed the American one of the finest collections of diamonds he had ever seen. They were worth $200,000 or $300,000.

"We sell them a few at a time," she explained, "just enough of them each year to give us a living. Perhaps you will wonder why we don't sell them all and live on the interest of the money? But my husband has the gambler's spirit. The money would not last a year. So we part from them piecemeal. I estimate that there are enough of them to keep us twenty years, and I don't expect to live longer than that."

One of those diamonds forms the centerpiece of one of the most valuable necklaces in New York. A few others are sent to this country every year. In the "diamond horseshoe" at the opera there is never a night when there are not some of the jewels of the exiled princess on view.—New York Tribune.

Time, Not Space.

Mrs. Frink was a trusting soul and rarely questioned the opinions of others about matters concerning which they were supposed to be informed. One day she came home with a new pair of shoes under her arm. "Got them at Bride's," she explained, "and they're the best I ever bought you."

"What is so very good about them?" inquired her son, for whom the shoes were intended.

"Why, the salesman said that you could walk farther in them than in any others without getting tired, and I said that you couldn't walk very far just now on account of your knee, you know, and he said that he meant farther for the same distance. So I bought them, and here they are. Save the string, please."

She did not notice the smile on her son's face as he undid the package, and he was spared the trouble of explaining.—Youth's Companion.

A Disciplinarian.

Miss Hobson was most popular with the two young and unmarried members of Centerville's school board. They did not propose to have any change of teachers in district No. 3.

"Do you think Miss Hobson pays quite enough attention to discipline?" suggested one of the elderly married school committeemen one day.

"Discipline! Why, of course she pays a great deal of attention to it," asserted Ed Porter hastily.

"We never had anybody else begin to pay as much," said Henry Lane. "Why, one afternoon I was in there at No. 3, and Miss Hobson spent the whole time—every minute of it—preserving order in that schoolroom."—Youth's Companion.

Buttermilk a Life Saver.

A French medical man advises people to drink buttermilk for long life. He says that the lactic acid dissolves every sort of earthy deposit in the blood vessels, keeping the veins and arteries so supple and free running that there can be no clogging up, and hence there is no deposit of chalky matter around the joints or of poisonous waste in the muscles. It is the stiffening and hardening of the blood vessels which bring on old age. Buttermilk is likely to postpone it ten or twenty years if freely drunk. A quart a day should be the minimum, the maximum according to taste and opportunity.

The Disturbing Telephone.

"The telephone has destroyed all the privacy of society," said the society girl. "It breaks in on everything. Nothing is sacred to it. You may be saying your prayers. The telephone. Or in the midst of your bath. The telephone. Or doing up your back hair or, worse of all, a delightful man may be making love to you, when k-ling, k-ling, k-ling! The telephone breaks off the thread of his theme and he fails to resume it."—

JUDGE JOHN B. BARNES

Member of Nebraska Supreme Court and Republican Candidate for Re-election.

Judge John B. Barnes, of Norfolk, judge of the Supreme Court of Nebraska, and present acting chief justice of the court, has been selected by the republican voters of the state as one of the candidates of the republican party for re-election to the place on the supreme bench which he has so ably and honorably filled for the past term of six years.

Judge John B. Barnes is a native of Ohio a veteran of the Civil War and a citizen of Nebraska since 1871, when he located in Dixon county and was admitted to the bar in 1873, engaging in the practice of law, to which he has since given his entire attention.

In 1875 Judge Barnes was elected district attorney of the Sixth judicial district, was re-elected and served until appointed judge of the district to fill a vacancy caused by the election of Judge Valentine to Congress, was re-elected for a full term and later declined renomination to enter upon the practice of his profession. Judge Barnes was appointed Supreme Court Commissioner in January, 1903, serving as commissioner until his election as a member of the court in 1903, since which date his service as a member of the court has been continuous. He is now approaching the completion of the six-year term to which he was elected in 1903, and holds the honorable position of acting chief justice of Nebraska in the absence of Judge M. B. Reese.

Judge Barnes' splendid record as lawyer and jurist has gained for him the confidence and approval of the people of the state. This is well evidenced by the general support given Judge Barnes' candidacy for supreme judge at the recent state-wide primary election.

JUDGE JACOB FAWCETT.

Member of Nebraska Supreme Court and Republican Candidate for Re-election.

Judge Jacob Fawcett, of Omaha, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Nebraska, and Republican candidate for re-election, is a native of Wisconsin, a veteran of the Civil War, and was admitted to the bar at Galena, Illinois, in 1873. Judge Fawcett was appointed county judge of Jo Davies county, Illinois, by Governor Oglesby, and was elected to the office at the expiration of the term for which he was appointed. He resigned the office the following year and removed to Omaha and was selected as one of the lecturers in the College of Law in the Nebraska State University. In 1895 Judge Fawcett was elected a judge of the district court of the Omaha district and was re-elected in 1899, serving eight years on the district bench of Douglas county. He returned to the practice of law in Omaha in the spring of 1904, continuing in practice until appointed supreme court commissioner in October, 1907. Judge Fawcett continued on the supreme court commission until the adoption of the constitutional amendment enlarging the supreme court at the last general election, when he was appointed a judge of the supreme court, to serve until the general election of this year. He is now completing the term of one year for which he was appointed.

Judge Fawcett's long period of service on the bench, eight years as judge of the district court of Douglas county, more than a year as a Commissioner of the Supreme Court and the past year as a member of that court, has eminently fitted him for the distinguished service of a full term on the supreme bench for which he is the nominee of the Republican party.

JUDGE SAMUEL H. SEDGWICK.

Former Chief Justice Nebraska Supreme Court and Republican Candidate for Election.

Judge Samuel H. Sedgwick of York, Neb., former chief justice of the Supreme Court of Nebraska and republican candidate for election as judge of the supreme court, is a native of Illinois, in which state he spent his youth on the farm and in the district school, graduating later from Wheaton college. He studied law at the Michigan State University and in a law office, and was admitted to the bar at Green Bay, Wis., in 1874, since which time he has given his entire attention to his profession.

Judge Sedgwick removed to York, Neb., in 1878, and entered at once into active practice in which he was eminently successful. Serving one term as judge on the district bench, he was later supreme court commissioner and was subsequently elected a justice of the supreme court at the general election in 1901, serving as chief justice in the closing two years of his term.

At the close of his first term Judge Sedgwick was a candidate for renomination, but was defeated in the primaries by Judge M. B. Reese, who had been denied a re-nomination some years previously, the republican voters of the state seeming to desire to right without delay the wrong done Judge Reese at the previous period. In this decision no one acquiesced more cheerfully than Judge Sedgwick, although feeling that patient, faithful work fairly entitled him to a second term.

Since the expiration of his term, Judge Sedgwick has successfully continued the practise of law at York. The splendid vote cast for him at the recent primaries evidences the desire of his fellow citizens of Nebraska to return him to the supreme court, upon which he rendered such distinguished and meritorious service.

FOR regents of the State University the republican party has nominated three of the prominent citizens of the state best equipped to perform the duties that fall to the board in charge of the state's most important institution of learning.

Charles S. Allen of Lincoln, William G. Whitmore of Valley and Frank L. Haller of Omaha, the republican candidates for regents, constitute a trio of citizens who will bring to the work they undertake almost ideal qualifications for its performance. Neither of these men were or are candidates in the sense of personally seeking for the honor conferred by membership on the directing board of the University. Each is a candidate in response alone to the insistent demands of many who know well their exceptional fitness for the duties involved and who have close at heart the best and broadest interests of the University.

Messrs. Allen and Whitmore are both completing a term of six years' service on the Board of Regents, a term of service which has redounded to their personal honor and credit in the same full degree that it has been of exceptional value to the growth and prosperity of the University. Those who know best the present and future needs of the University are the most insistent that their service be not interrupted, but be continued to the great and lasting benefit of the institution. In this lies the highest praise, the highest of personal compliments.

Mr. Frank L. Haller, a leading business man of the state, a man of large experience, broad culture and great executive ability, completes the trio of candidates on the republican ticket.

For fourteen years Mr. Haller has been a member of the board of directors of the Omaha public library and is at present the president of the board. Mr. Haller is also president of the Nebraska public library commission, a position which he has held since the resignation of Chancellor Andrews from the commission in 1906. He is a member of the executive committee of the Omaha Commercial Club and a moving spirit among the directors of the National Corn Association.

A graduate of the Iowa State University, he has long taken a particular interest in the Agricultural College of the Nebraska University and will bring to the Board of Regents a ripe experience in business affairs and a broad general knowledge that will be of the utmost value to the continued progress of the University.

Mr. Haller is of German descent and has spoken the language from childhood. In addition to university training, he has broadened his education by extensive travel in this country and Europe.

THERE is one overwhelming reason why the Republican party can successfully appeal to all the people for support at the ballot-box for the candidates of the Republican party. It is this—The Republican party has given the state Responsible, Effective, Economical and Intelligent Government in every department, Executive, Legislative and Judicial, whenever entrusted with authority by the people. The record is before the people and it is a good record. You can trust the Party which has proven true and responsible in every test. On that record the party asks the support of the voters of Nebraska for its candidates for the Supreme Court, Judges Barnes, Fawcett and Sedgwick, all of whom have served on the Supreme bench with ability, honor and fidelity to the interests of the people and asks also for the approval of its candidates for Regents of the University, Messrs. Chas. S. Allen, W. G. Whitmore and F. L. Haller, the first two of whom have served with distinguished ability and usefulness on the Board of Regents for nearly six years past, the last named an able, prominent and self-made business man of the state who has long given much attention to the University School of Agriculture. The candidates of the republican party have responded to every test of citizenship every test of official duty. The party they represent as candidates in the coming election has proven true to the people in every emergency. On this broad foundation of performance of duty well discharged, the republican party asks for its candidates the confidence and support of the voters of Nebraska.

A recommendation that the navy yards be divided into four departments, each in charge of a general manager, is said to be the most important result of the investigation by a special board of naval officers, headed by Rear Admiral Swift, whose report reached Washington. It is understood that there is a supplementary report signed by a minority of the board.

Organized labor, representing many parts of this country, Canada and Cuba, paid a notable tribute to the homecoming from Europe of Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, who arrived from New York. The celebration in honor of his return, after an absence of several months, was probably the most enthusiastic demonstration ever accorded an American labor leader. There was a monster parade, followed by a big mass meeting at convention hall.

Nebraska, and Kansas millers are pressing for early action in the prospective litigation on the flour bleaching question. The department of justice and agriculture last spring agreed that a shipment of Nebraska bleached flour should be seized and a case made up and taken to the courts just as soon as possible for test of the whole question and decision whether the bleaching is injurious or amounts to adulteration in the view of the law. The months have rolled along and no case has been started. Now it is explained that the agricultural people are doing all they can.

Brigadier General Amos S. Kimball, U. S. A. (retired), who saw forty years' service in the army, and was retired at his own request in 1902, having been made a brigadier general several days beofre his retirement, died at his home here at the age of 69.

Goat Waiting for Taft.

San Antonio, Tex.—President Taft is to arrive at San Antonio two hours ahead of his original schedule, according to the plans of the Southern Pacific. The change provides for the arrival of the president's train at 5:30 Sunday evening next instead of 7:30. "Admiral Togo," the Angora goat from whose wool the trousers were made which were presented to President Taft before his inauguration, has been brought to San Antonio by his owner, Frank R. Landrum.

RANCHES AT AUCTION

DISPOSE OF BIG TRACTS IN BANNER COUNTY.

HAPPENINGS OVER THE STATE

What Is Going on Here and There That Is of Interest to the Readers Throughout Nebraska and Vicinity.

Scotts Bluff, Neb.—The Wright and Heard ranches in Banner county, comprising 8,360 acres of land, have been sold at auction for $101,400, or an average price per acre of $12.13. The land was divided into thirty-four different tracts and each tract sold separately to the highest bidder.

A special train was run to the North Platte valley, bringing more than a hundred land seekers from different parts of the state.

Banner county is one of the few counties remaining in Nebraska without a railroad and this summer a line has been surveyed through the county which is variously supposed to be the Union Pacific and the Burlington.

Beds of Silica Valuable.

Beaver City, Neb.—The beds of silica sand near Beaver City, comprising several hundred acres, have been opened and the sand is being shipped to Cambridge, Mass., where it will be used by a large manufacturing concern, but for what purpose has not been disclosed.

These beds of silica have been known for years. In 1892 options were secured upon them by a Cleveland concern. Several carloads were shipped to that city; it was said to polish plate glass. This scheme was abandoned, and later the mortgage on the lands was foreclosed.

Later some of the silica was sent to Denver, where a soap company used it as an ingredient for its product.

The beds in the eastern part of this county were purchased by a packing company of South Omaha and a spur track was run to them. Train loads are now shipped to South Omaha to be converted into a cleanser.

If the product is as valuable as it now appears to be, Furnas county can supply the world.

Cornerstone Is Laid.

Crete, Neb.—Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 occurred the laying of the cornerstone of the Crete Congregational church, now under construction. It will be a handsome structure and will cost when completed about $20,000. C. B. Anderson of this place, as chairman of the financial committee, performed the laying of the stone. Rev. H. Bross of Wahoo gave the main address of the day. He was a former pastor the church here, holding that position for ten years. A. B. Fairchild read a paper on the laying of the first cornerstone, which occurred in 1876. A main feature of the program was the part taken by the children of the Sunday school, who donated the stove. Rev. Mr. Cowan, the present pastor, had charge of the services, after which the ladies of the church gave a free supper.

Great Day for Shriners.

McCook, Neb.—Thursday marked an epoch in southwestern Nebraska Masonry by the presence in this city of about 200 Shriners and the initiation into the mystic shrine of some thirty candidates by the officers of Lincoln, headed by their famous loving cup winning patrol of twenty members. A great parade and drill were among the features of the afternoon and a banquet with 200 plates was the concluding act of the great gathering at night.

McCook gave the Shriners a hospitable welcome. There were both day and night decorations, the new $6,000 temple being specially featured.

Found Dead in Hotel.

Indianola, Neb.—John McClung of this city was found dead in bed at the Palmer house in McCook about 2 o'clock Tuesday. He had gone to the room for a nap, leaving a call for 1 o'clock. When they went to call him no response was received.

On forcing entrance to the room his dead body was found lying on the bed apparently having died without a struggle. He leaves a wife.

Nebraska Is Awarded Prizes.

Auburn, Neb.—O. P. Dovel returned from Kansas City, where he had been attending the Missouri valley exhibition. Mr. Dovel was feeling elated over the fact that the exhibit from this state under his supervision had been awarded a pocketful of ribbons. For county collections this state carried off both first and second prizes. Mr. Odell of Lincoln had carried off all the prizes offered for bees and honey.

Papers Almost Destroyed.

Beaver City, Neb.—When the cornerstone of the burned Presbyterian church was opened Sunday in the presence of the congregation, it was found that the receptacle prepared in 1879 contained a number of papers, but that the same had been soaked and mildewed until it was with difficulty that a few words could be deciphered. The church people will erect a modern edifice upon the old site and contributions are coming in satisfactorily. C. W. Malone of Lincoln was the first who wired $100 before the ruins had ceased smoking.

Hold Agricultural Fair.

Thedford, Neb.—The third annual county agricultural fair held last week was a surprise to visitors. This has been a prosperous season for the sand hills and all kinds of agricultural products were on exhibition. Apples, plums and cherries and other fruits were also on exhibition. There was a notable advancement in the exhibit. It was a success financially and the society feels greatly encouraged. The society now owns its grounds and have good, substantial buildings and the venture is no longer an experiment.

NEBRASKA HAPPENINGS.

Another monument marking the memory of Count John A. Creighton, Omaha's great benefactor, is rapidly nearing completion. The inscription on this monument will be "Laboratory Building—John A. Creighton." The structure will adjoin the Creighton college of pharmacy, Fourteenth and Davenport streets.

B. F. Hanks has commenced suit in district court for $1,000 damages against the Alfalfa Products company claiming that it is responsible for injuries he sustained a few month ago. Hanks was night watchman at the company's plant in Fremont and while on duty fell off a platform with the result that his ankle was fractured.

Without a relative in the world, M. Gregorian of Norfolk, an Armenian, who came to this county twenty-six years ago and, who by day labor saved $4,000 has just died and willed his money to three hospitals, two in New York City and one in Omaha. They are the Methodist hospital at Omaha and the Presbyterian hospital and Society hospital at New York City. Gregorian lived alone. He was paralyzed three weeks ago and expired Thursday evening.

What proved to be a tooth from the fossil remains of a prehistoric horse was found in a deposit of gravel, thirty-five feet under ground, while driving one of the test wells for Beatrice in the north part of town recently. The tooth was sent to Geologist Barbour, who pronounced it the mastic eating implement of an animal which held forth in these parts long before the first settlers wrested it from the Indians. The animal lived several thousand years ago and according to the size of the tooth was a huge and formidible beast.

George L. Campen, assistant city engineer of Omaha, has just received a medal in acknowledgement of his services as superintendent of public works in the canal zone during 1905 to 1907. The medal is one which President Roosevelt, on his trip to Panama promised the government representatives in the canal zone who served the government for two or more years. The disk, which is of beautiful design, is made from the brass taken from the old engines abandoned by the French company and found on the zone when the United States took possession.

FIND THE LOST TOTS

KIDNAPPED ST. LOUIS CHILDREN RECOVERED AT CHICAGO.

ARE WANDERING THE STREETS

Little Girl Sobbing Bitterly and Elder Boy Cousin Apparently In a Dazed Condition—Identified by Photographs.

Chicago.—Two Italian children, identified from photographs as Tomasso and Grace Viviano, who were kidnapped from St. Louis August 2, last, and who have been sought since by the police of many cities, were found early Friday wandering aimlessly on the north side of the city by Detective Stephen Parodi, of the Chicago Avenue police station. The children when found were sitting on a curbstone at North Halstead and Rees streets. Both were weeping, the little girl, who is less than four years old, sobbing bitterly and Tomasso, her cousin, who is seven years old, trying to comfort her.

Detective Parodi took the children in his arms and asked them where they lived. Tomasso said he did not know. Remembering the Viviano case, he asked Tomasso if his name was Viviano.

The boy nodded his head as if to confirm his identity.

The detective hurried the children to the Hudson avenue station, and later they were taken to the north side headquarters station at Chicago avenue, and Police Inspector O'Brien took charge of the case. Photographs of the missing St. Louis children were procured from the central detective bureau, and Inspector O'Brien was convinced on comparing them with the homeless foundlings that the recovered children were the long-sought victims of the St. Louis kidnapping, which had taxed the ingenuity of the detectives in many cities for many weeks.

Tomasso, the elder of the children, was asked by the inspector and Captain Rehm where he and Grace, his cousin had been since they were taken from their home in St. Louis. The child could give no intelligent answer. He said he did not know where he lived and could give no account of his abandonment.

At the Chicago avenue police station it was stated that the boy appeared to be in a dazed condition and the little girl was too young to give any comprehensive statement concerning herself.

Inspector O'Brien notified the St. Louis police of the recovery of the children and their parents in St. Louis also were notified, and are expected to arrive here Saturday morning to reclaim them. Meanwhile detectives are searching Italian sections of the city in an endeavor to learn who abandoned the children and where they have been since their mysterious disappearance from St. Louis last summer.

The police believe that the kidnapers had the children secreted in a secluded section of the city and turned them loose when efforts to extort ransom had failed.

Captain J. M. Schoppe and Sergeant Adraveno, of the St. Louis police department, arrived here and made positive the identification of the boy and the girl found. The children were taken to a hospital to await the arrival of relatives from St. Louis.

St. Louis.—Grace and Tomasso Viviano, cousins, who were found in Chicago Friday, were kidnapped from their home here August 2. They were last seen with Samuel Turissi, and since then he has been sought by the police. The girl is three, and the boy five years old. Four hours after the children disappeared a special delivery letter signed "Mouth Shut," and written in Italian, was received at the Viviano home. The letter demanded a ransom of $25,000.

The parents were overjoyed when they learnedy their children were alive and made arrangements to leave for Chicago.

Identification Made Sure.

Chicago—The body of the Highland Park bank robber was positively identified by Miss Minnie Harrington, an actress, as that of Lamar Harris, the Los Angeles lawyer and orator. Miss Harrington and Harris were much together at Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Odgen and Chicago. Miss Harrington who had been Mr. Harris' companion on automobile rides and other festive occasions, betrayed no nervousness as she viewed the body at Pryor's undertaking rooms.

Chief of Police Sheehan of Highland Park Friday received the following telegram from Philadelphia:

"Hold Body for identification. Am on my way. "BETTY STEWART."

Who "Betty Stewart" may be is not known here, but it is believed that she may be the same woman who made inquiries over the long distance telephone from New York Thursday.

To Prosecute Damage Suit.

Norfolk, Va.—R. T. Thorp, receiver in voluntary bankruptcy proceedings against the Ware-Kramer Tobacco company, an independent concern which operated here since 1906, will continue the prosecution of the $1,000,000 damage suit brought by the bankrupt concern against the American Tobacco company and the Wells-Whitehead Tobacco company for alleged acts damaging to its business. These alleged acts by the defendants are assigned as the cause of the Ware-Kramer company's present embarrassment.

Makes Gift to Harvard.

Boston.—The Harvard university corporation has received from Mrs. Edith F. Perkins of Burlington, Ia., for many years president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, a gift of $30,000, to be held in trust for the establishment of scholarships at the institution in memory of her husband. The scholarships are to be given only to the graduates of schools and colleges in Iowa. The gift, it is understood, will be accepted.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL CITY

ITEMS OF INTEREST AROUND THE STATE HOUSE.

Next Meeting to Tecumseh.

The Thursday session of the state federation of women's clubs was the last. The convention was given over principally to business of the federation. Reports were received from clubs throughout the state. Many of the reports were continued to the afternoon session, and were perhaps the most interesting part of the convention.

The nominating committee reported early in the morning session, and their report was accepted by the convention with but few changes. It is customary with the federation to re-elect its state officers for the second term, and this year a number were entitled to this consideration. The list of officers elected follows:

Mrs. F. H. Cole, Omaha, president.

Mrs. Max Hostetler, Shelton, vice president.

Mrs. Corbett, Atkinson, recording secretary.

Mrs. Schindell, South Omaha, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. C. A. Yoeman, Elwood, treasurer.

Mrs. J. E. L. Carey, Bancroft, auditor.

Mrs. H. M. Bushnell, Lincoln, general federation secretary.

Captain Beltzer, Left Half, Nebraska Football Game.

Mrs. H. C. Lindsay, Lincoln, vice-president First District.

Mrs. W. H. Davidson, Springfield, vice-president Second district.

Mrs. O. M. Needham, Albion, vice-president Third District.

Mrs. L. I. Cowan, Ashland, vice-president Fourth district.

Mrs. James I. Rhea, Holdrege, vice-president Fifth district.

Mrs. L. C. Simon, Sidney, vice-president Sixth district.

Those chosen to attend the biennial meeting which will be held in Cincinnati next June are: Mrs. F. H. Cole, Omaha; Mrs. L. D. Simon, Sidney; Mrs. T. J. Gist, Falls City; Mrs. J. N. Paul, St. Paul; Mrs. W. D. Mead, York; Mrs. O. M. Stonebraker, Lincoln; Mrs. Langworthy, Seward; Mrs. Max Hostetler, Shelton.

The alternates chosen are: Mrs. W. H. Davidson, Springfield; Mrs. A. O. Thomas, Kearney; Mrs. C. B. Letton, Lincoln; Mrs. Pile, Wayne; Mrs. James I. Rhea, Holdrege; Mrs. L. I. Cowan, Ashland, and Mrs. O. H. Needham, Albion.

Mrs. Apperson of Tecumseh extended the invitation from the Tecumseh women for the next meeting of the federation, and the invitation was unanimously accepted. There were no invitation from other cities given.

Cheap State Lands to Lease.

The state board of educational lands and funds met Wednesday to revoke leases and sale contracts for state land that are on the delinquent list. The holders of such contracts will have three weeks in which to pay up before the land is placed on the auction list subject to lease by the highest bidder. Only the poorer of the sand hill land is found on the delinquent list nowadays. Sale contracts are there only by accident or neglect of the holders. The cheap lands of the sand hill and grazing country, such as may be found in Cherry and a few other counties, are leased at an appraised value as low as 25 cents an acre. The state gets as rental 6 per cent of the appraised value, which in the case of 25 cent land would be one and one-half cents an acre.

The Bakers Will Meet.

The master bakers of Nebraska, meaning the proprietors of bakeries, have formed an organization and will meet for the first time in annual session at Omaha, October 19 to 21. The members of the association will discuss the price of flour and other trade subjects. Food Commissioner S. L. Mains will deliver an address and tell the bakers what the state law means in regard to bakery sanitation. Some of the addresses will be by men prominent in commercial and professional life in Nebraska.

Governor Shallenberger will join President Taft and his party at St. Louis, Monday, October 25, for a river trip to New Orleans. The president and his party, the governors of many states and congressmen, will assemble at St. Louis during the forenoon of October 25 for the journey. At 11 o'clock in the morning President Taft will deliver an address in the coliseum and the governors and congressmen are expected to sit on the platform and listen. The governors will go aboard the steamship St. Paul, which will leave with the presidential fleet at 5 o'clock, October 25.

What can harm us if we act true to ourselves and to what we think is right?—Black.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. Williams, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

The Non-Partisan Humbug

When the democratic politician comes buzzing around as a "non partisan" and implores the republican voter to support democratic candidates it might be well for the voter thus implored to lay off a minute and consider what the republican party in the state has accomplished in the recent past for the benefit of the people of Nebraska and also what, if anything, the democratic party which is seeking his vote has done for the general good.

The republican party gave to the state a direct primary law which while perhaps not perfect, had in it the sound principles for the safeguarding of popular goverment in the hands of the people. The party gave to the state the railway commission law, the 2-cent passenger fare law, the anti-pass law, the commodity rate law, the express rate law and the best revenue law under which the state has ever rested. Republican administration paid off without burden to the people a states debt aggregating nearly two millions, through economy and business management of public interests.

What has the democratic party done to deserve public approval over and above the republican record? Nothing—added to which its mistakes and failures have been widespread and phenomenal. The democratic party garbled the primiary law out of all semblance to its original intent and meaning and has rendered it a by-word instead of a powerful instrument for good. The democratic party amended out of the revenue law its vital features for securing equity and uniformity in the valuation of all property whether private or corporate. In constructive legislation the democratic party failed utterly and let only a record of legislation creating places for democrats on the public pay-roll and abortive attempts to further extend the list of office holders by the attempted creation of a board of "beer inspectors" whose combined salaries would "touch" the public treasury for the neat sum of $11,000 per year.

This is but a passing glance at the comparison that may be truthfully made at the records of two parties in Nebraska.

When the democratic politician goes out this year with his "non-partisan" gun to bag a few republican votes for the democratic candidates put his party record up to him for a target and his score card will show "no hits."

High School Notes

Roy Sleverson has entered school again after several days absence.

Two new pupils, Gertrude Gifford and Leo Long, entered the Eighth grade this week.

The debating in the High School beagn this week the first debaters being Minnie Hawkins and Elsie Malottke.

The Misses Fern and Alice Hather, also Mary and Agnes Beran, made the school a pleasant call one day last week.

The ninth grade literature class have an editor in their midst, and with the aid of the other members of the class, a very interesting paper called, The Freshmen's Local, was written.

A Glee Club was organized last Monday night by High school girls, which will be fine practice for them, and is an organization which should be given encouragement in every High School.

District No. 36

Geo. Houtby and family spent several weeks on the old home place this fall, putting in wheat with a view to living here after Nov. 1.

One day early in Oct. they went to North Loup to stay for a while, and soon the word came "a fine, healthy baby has come to live with us!" All seemed well, but a few days later the mother was dangerously ill, and Sunday she passed away, leaving husband, three little ones and a host of loving relatives and friends to mourn their sudden and sore bereavement. All that is mortal of this greatly beloved sister rests in the North Loup cemetary to night, Monday, Oct. 18.

Fire at the Schultz Farm.

C. C. and W. A. Schultz met with quite a loss by fire Thursday. Clint had been burning some rubbish in his hog yards, and supposing the fire was all out he went to some other work. The fire was not entirely extinguished, however, and some of the cinders were blown under the cow barn and soon the building was in flames. They spread to a corn crib and a hog house. Through the efforts of neighbors the other buildings were saved. The strong south wind blew some of the burning boards to Will Schultz's place nearly a half mile away and set fire to one of his corn cribs. Fortunately all the buildings were empty, so no loss was entailed except that of the buildings. This, however, will amount to several hundred dollars. —Loyalist.

Prof. Iliff is a finished orator and Mr. Lyman is a singer of note.

These men are highly recommended. We bespeak for them a hearing by the Lord people in Ord, who enjoy instructive address and sweet singing. We welcome the public.

The fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Drake was celebrated at the Drake home Monday night. The friends and relatives assembled at the Collison place and took the old folks by surprise. The friends brought a mantle clock and the relatives a cane and parasol and a $5 gold piece for each of them. L. D. Bailey gave them a brooch and chain. These good people are 73 and 65 years old.

While driving along the road running north from town Monday, near the Miner farm, a telephone wire that had come down across the road from some cause, caught the top of Jackson Dye's buggy and made a wreck of it. His team started to run but being a good horseman Mr. Dye soon had them under control. It was lucky for Mr. Dye that the wire did not strike, otherwise he might have been severely injured.—Comstock News.

G. H. Kinsey and wife and A. E. Haywood and wife arrived home about ten o'clock yesterday evening from Omaha, where they had been for the past two weeks. They made the return trip in Mr. Kinsey's new Cadilac four cylinder touring car and report a very nice ride with the exception of the first part of the run out of Omaha Tuesday, the roads being frozen and rough so that progress was slow. They came from Fullerton yesterday afternoon, coming by the way of Ord, making a distance of about eighty miles for the afternoon.—Arcadia Champion.

Mary Jane Earnest was born February 15th, 1845, in Miama county, Ohio. After a number of months of suffering, she departed from this life October 17th, 1909, age 64 years, 9 months, 2 days. She was married to Mr. Joesph, Trump March 4, 1861. To this union were born eleven children, 4 of whom died in their infancy, and one daughter in 42nd year. She leaves to mourn her death a husband, 2 daughters, 3 sons, 16 grandchildren, and 5 great grand-children. Mrs. Trump became a christian early in life and spent a long life in her Master's service. She was a good and faithful mother. To her death was no dread, for she died in the triumph of a christian, leaving the testimony with her daughter Anna that she was prepared to meet her God in peace. Thus one by one the saints of God are being gathered home, where the weary cease from labor to enjoy the bliss on an eternal Sabbath.

The Lincoln State Journal is certainly going after new business when it offers to send that big daily paper without Sunday from now until January 1, 1909, for only 50 cents, or with Sunday for 75 cents. Almost every family in the state will want to take advantage of this cut in price in order compare the Journal with any other daily that they know of. This is just what the Journal folks want and why it makes such a cheap price. Its publishers feel that if a family gets the Journal habit no other paper will ever fill the bill after that. The Journal is not only a great newspaper in a strict sense, but stands for many of the principles that are being fought for by Nebraska. It is in the forefront of the battle against the saloon and refuses to print liquor or nasty medical advertisements. Send in a half dollar and see what a lot you get for your money. They guarantee to stop the paper when the time is up.

Farmer Boys' and Girls' Contest

A contest will be held at the Valley county court house in Ord Nebraska.

Three judges from Lincoln will be present to judge in the different departments of the contest.

The first department will be corn grown in Valley county by boys of school age.

Class A —That grown from seed furnished by County Superintendent.

Class B—That grown in any field in which the child, who presents it, worked.

The second department is for the girls bringing the best corn bread, best wheat bread, best cookies.

The third department is for the girls bringing the best made aprons; washed, and unwashed

These judges are sent here by our State Superintendent of Public Instruction and also by the Burlington railroad to not only judge in the contest, but to bring us a message on raising corn. They will each give a lecture at the court room to which each and every one interested is cordially invited. A splended program is being prepared and the Auble orchestra will welcome us with music.

The purpose of this contest is to arouse more interest among the younger generation of agricultural ists in the selection of seed corn and cultivation of soil in growing it.

This is no experiment because it has proven very successful in many counties of our state.

The soliciting committee has reported the names of a goodly number of wide-awake merchants and business men of our town who never fail to take advantage of a good opportunity to help us fill out premium lists and thus establish more friendly relations between themselves and the Valley county farmers.

They are up to date,

All the district school boards are asked to give their respective schools a holiday so all may attend the contest on November, 10.

Come one and all. Come large and small, and help us celebrate it in a way that will be long remembered.

Don't bring any money because admission is free. Bring searching eyes and listening ears and partake of the treat to your heart's content.

Coming Home

El Dorado Springs, Mo., Oct. 16, 09

Dear Quiz:

We are having delightful weather here in Missouri and enjoying ourselves to the full, but our thoughts turn to the North in spite of all we can do, so we, that is Mrs. Harold and I, will start for Ord the coming week.

The crowd has gone from the Springs, the Band has ceased to play, the leaves and nuts litter the park, to remind one winter is coming. Every day some people leave for home and a few new ones come. Among the new ones is Mr. and Mrs. Lute Hoyt formerly of Burwell, Neb., but now near Ft. Scott. They are here to drink spring water, for Mr. Hoyt's health. They are having a good time and Mr. Hoyt says the water does him good. They have a fine 200 acre farm near Arcadia, Missouri, and report a splended crop on the farm. They bought a jug and a drinking cup as soon as they could get to a store, and have joined the crowd of drinkers. Every morning they can be found at the fountain drinking, and filling their jug.

The apple crop is near a failure here, the peach crop is an entire failure, persimmons and walnuts are plenty, hickory and hazle nuts are scarce. I was able to get a few.

We had a street fair, or rather an affair on the streets, lately and you ought to have seen the jacks, mules, horses, and colts. Something fine. Also the display of corn, grain, hay, potatoes, etc, were fine.

Well, I must go and fill my jug. So long till we meet in Ord.

J. D. Tedro.

The city is full of people this afternoon, attending the funeral of Fred Clement. This most excellent man died suddenly Tuesday afternoon, a few hours after he was supposed to be getting along ifinely. His injuries were sustained on Otcober 6, resulting from a runaway. Several doctors had his case he was getting along well Tuesday he was feeling specialy well, when suddenly after a spell of coughing he died. He was born in Denmark on Dec. 17, 1859, and lived long in this county. His death is a great shock to the community.

The work of laying the sewer to the new school building is progressing finely.

Wonder Working

Washington, October 18, 1909.

Special to The Quiz:

The project engineer on the North Platte project, in Nebraska, reports a most successful irrigation season for 1909. Notwithstanding the newness and extreme length of the main canal and lateral system, the delivery of water was made in ample quantity to each settler without single disastrous break.

It is a pleasure to travel over the newly reclaimed lands to view the bountiful harvests. The crops are all made, potatoes are being dug, the corn has ripened and wheat and oats are in the stack awaiting the thresher. On the whole the yields have been satisfactory, and an atmosphere of optimism pervades the valley. The wonder working miracle of mixing water with the desert soil has been wrought here. A settled, prosperous and contented community has been established which from this time on will take its place among the best of the newly developed sections of the west. To the Reclamation Service, the most cheering feature is the complete harmony which prevails in the relations of the local engineers and the farmers. The mutuality of interests is recognized and all are working together for the success of the valley. The Service regards the North Platte project as one of the best examples of the wisdom of the Reclamation Act.

The Mondell Homestead Lands

We are receiving thousands of inquiries about the 320-acre free homestead lands available for settlers under the Mondell act. These lands are located in eastern Colorado and Wyoming along the Burlington. The great advantagh of this new homestead law is that the settler is permitted to take up free, 320 acres instead of 160 acres, the larger tract being required under the new dry farming methods; northeastern Wyoming has from 16 to 21 inches of moister, and has produced some of the finest crops of small grains ever seen in the west.

I personally conduct excursions on the first and third Tuesdays of each moth to these lands. Write me for special descriptive folders, literature, etc.

Irrigated Lands in the Big Horn Basin. These goverment irrigated lands are being fast taken up by settlers who realize the coming value of the Big Horn Basin lands in view of the railroad development in central Wyoming.

The United Statea Land and Irrigation Exposition at Chicago, Nov. 20th to Dec. 4th, will be of vital interest to the farmer.

ORD, VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA.

Mrs. Charles Marshall went to Grand Island last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Capron went to Lincoln and Omaha Monday.

Mrs. Kellogg went to David City Monday for a visit with relatives.

John Meese sent out a fine Poland China from his herd to Burke, S. D. Monday.

S. B. Knudsen of St. Paul was up to Ord last week as the guesst of Mr. Mickelsen.

J. D. Tedro writes to send his Quiz to Ord again, so we presume he will be back to a good country soon.

Heating and Plumbing a specially. Call and let us figure on your job. We can save you money. Ord Mercnatile Co.

Last Friday morning Miss Alice Lickly went to Portland, Orgeon, for a visit anyway and possibly to make her stay a prolonged one.

Mrs. Kaohn of Sargent will visit her relatives here for some time, then she will go to Lincoln and visit relatives and friends there.

Mrs. H. McEachran returned last Saturday to Dallas, S. D., where her home is. She had been here for a few weeks looking after business.

Prof. J. F. Nicoson of Loup City was up to Burwell over Sunday, returning to Loup City Monday. Mr. Nicoson is not teaching this year.

P. P. Strandgaard and those of his company started on their return trip to America on the 14th. So we may look for their showing up in Ord very soon.

Mrs. Hanzel of Crete wished to visit her folks at Scotia so she came up to Ord last week Thursday evening and spent the night with her friend, Mrs. Wencel Adamek.

We have a limited number of meat roasters which we will place on sale next Saturday, only, 30 cents each while they last. Watch our windows.
Ord Mercantile Co.

Ed Skolil has thrown up his job with Milford's and gone to Comstock to clerk in the Comstock State Bank. Ed is a mighty good boy and will make good all right in his new place.

N. P. Christensin of Turtle Creek, disires to thank the friends who assisted in the purchase of the artifical limb by means of which he is now much better able to attend to his duties.

Roadmaster A. Ibsen of Central City was in these parts last week and began erecting a siding at Sumter. Yards will be put in so that the farmers of that section will be able to ship their hogs from there if they wish to.

Martin Pederson was in the city a few days this week. On account of sickness of Mr. Boydson some help from the main line had to be sent up this way and of course Pederson was glad of the opportunity to come and see old friends again. He is sill running on the line.

Things are changing around rapidly in the stations of some of our young men. John McAnulty, who has been an employe of the First National Bank for several years and of course had good schooling there in the banking business, has been elected cashier of the Comstock State Bank and went there this week to assume his new responsibilities.

time and had set dates ... something had entervened and the visit had to be abandoned. This time he found himself in Omaha with a fortunate condition of his work and he slipped off and ran up to Ord and took his people by surprise. Rollin is now traveling manager of the great Shubert Company which is now putting on the famous comedy, "Going Some." The Shuberts are the new power which is fighting the Theatre Trust and are backed by the Goulds, Morgan and other New York financiers. Of coures the company hits only the high places, for it is a very expensive aggregation. Mr. Bond says he is still pushing his musical composition work as much as his strenuous labors will permit, but he is getting a stand-in at his present work, which will give him a way to get his work recognized by the powers that be. Folks who know Bond intimately, as here, know that he has the stuff in him and being now lined up with the great one it is safe to say that his productions will soon be commonly before the orchestras of the great cities. He was married a few years ago to a woman of great talent, she is not only a musical composer but a playwriter of ability, and take it all around Rollin is as happy and hopeful as a man can be. After a night's rest he went to Grand Island Tuesday morning so as to get in close touch with his company, expecting to be back in the evening if some urgent demand did not take him further away.

Mrs. A. M. Daniels returned home Monday night from her trip to Lincoln as a delegate from the Woman's Club of Ord. She was the guest of Mrs. Barstow while in the city and Mrs. Lloyd at York where she spent Sunday. She enthusiastically declares that her attendance upon the Federation meeting as well as a visit with these ladies made up a most delightful trip. To add to her delights she accidentally met on the train her sister, Mrs. Reinert of Denver, who was on her way to Ord for a visit and they journeyed the rest of the way home together.

Miss Hazel Severson went to Kearney to have her arm treated radically. For about six weeks she has been suffering with a tubercular affection of that member, causing it to be paralized and useless. It is feared that unless an opertion is had the arm will be lost. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herb Severson.

Frank Kipling's sale Tuesday was a good one. Everything brought good prices and the purchasers are happy. Some of his machinery may have gone a little too cheap, but the cattle, hogs and horses brought all they were worth. Frank is getting ready to go to Canada.

One party of hunters who had been on the lakes for some time in quest of ducks returned last Sunday evening. That they had great sport was evidenced by the number of the feathery tribe which they brought back.

For six weeks Mrs. Wasley Smith had been enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. J. B. Sommers, of Bentonville, Arkansas. The latter departed for her home Monday morning.

Joe Stara has commenced working in the First National Bank in the place of John McAnulty, who has gone to Comstock to become cashier in the bank there.

Mr. Hans Bossen and Thurvald Sorenson went to Aberensen, S. D., Monday to look after land propositions.

Mrs. Paul Seeley returned yesterday from a two weeks visit at Red Oak, Iowa, and now Paul wears a happy smile again.

John Allen came down from Burwell Saturday for a visit with his many friends, returning home Sunday evening.

Last Friday morning Miss Monna Trindle departed for California, where she will make her home with the M. J. Coffin family.

The big road case of Oliver Olson against the county was thrown out of court at the expense of Olson. The county had offered to pay him a certain sum, but he wanted more and so far he gets nothing.

Mrs. L. J. Auble writes us that she and Bud like South Dakota well and that they are feeling fine. Of course she misses her Ord friends and she would like to see some Ord friends up that way.

The World-Herald the 17th has a large picture of Miss Virgilia S. Bogue of San Francisco. She was chosen as the most beautiful woman of the west, which is an interesting fact since she is a niece of Dr. H. C. Perry of Ord.

J. N. Fletcher and his son-in-law Otis Palst are jointly building a fine double home on Washington St. in Linclon, and the structure is now about done. When completed the Fletchers will move to Lincoln and establish their permanent home.

Monday the old Cernick building which had been occupying the street for some weeks, was moved to the lot whereon the old opera house used to stand. Mr. Wentworth will fix the building up in good shape and will no doubt have a tennant for it pretty soon.

Last week Thursday evening G. H. Kinsley passed through the city on his way from Omaha to Arcadia with a fine new Cadilac car, which he was much pleased with. Monday he came over again with George Hastings, E. Smallwood, Otto Hagemeier and some one else.

Mr. Tedrow commenced this week putting the curbing aronud the west half of the court yard. It will not only be a curb but there will be a 3-foot gutter along the side to take the rain water as it sweeps over the street. If this proves successful the rest of the square will probably be treated the same way.

Miss Margery Nicholson of St. Paul coame up to Ord Saturday evening and spent a few days at the home of her uncle, Chess Chinn. She returned to St. Paul Tuesday morning. That evening Mr. and Mrs. Geil came back to the Chinn home and will return to St. Paul in a day or so taking their effects with him to set up house-keeping there. This will leave the Chinn home a desolate place.

The chain, which has done service for many years as a place or hitching teams, has been removed from the west half of the court yard and will now be found along the street eas tof the Bachelor Store. There is some protest from the farmers, who have tied to this fence for so many years but we think that when they get used to the new places for hitching they will like it just as well. Of course there should be additional chain procured for the purpose for thischain never was adequate for the purpose when the usual Saterday crowds were in town.

The electric light went wrong again for a few minutes Monday evening and those dependent upon this means of light were in pitch darkness for a little while. Since the new gas plant was put in two years ago there has not been a minute when you could not have a light at any time of night. To say nothing of the delights and the economy and convenience of a gas stove you are missing it if you are not equipped with gas lights in your house. Every user is talking for the use of gas, so if you are prejudiced better look into the matter of light and fuel as now furnished by the gas company.

Last Saturday O. A. Hager brought through Ord for placing upon his Elm Creek ranch 105 head of fine Aberdeen cattle, all ages. This is one of the finest bunches of these cattle to be seen in these parts. He bought the bunch from a Cotesfield breeder taking all he had. Hager has had his eye open for something of this sort for some months and has been on the lookout as he traveled over the state. This was the best he had seen and as they were about the right sized bunch and could get them at the right price he took them. Several are registered and all of them are about fullblood cattle. Next to a bunch of Herefords a bunch of blacks are about the best lookers.

Mrs. Daniels at ...

Aside from the re... from the state federation meeting by Mrs. Daniels, who was delegate there from the Ord Woman's Club, an informal report comes from Mrs. Ada Munn telling of the applause which followed Mrs. A. M. Daniel's paper and the ovation given the reader. Her theme was "The Merit System in Civil Service Reform." As Mrs. Daniels spoke without notes we are unable to give the address in full, but are able to give the poem with which she closed the address, which we are glad to do.

The question that agitates us now,
That dims our eyes and puckers our brow;
The one we all must take by storm
Is the question of Civil Service Reform.

The question mus carry, it surely must.
Think of the spoils, think of the trust;
Think of the good it will do one and all;
The question must win, it cannot fall.

Think of the employes all over the land
Who work with a willing heart and hand.
And if their work is thoroughly done
Promotion shopld reward each one.

But promotion does not follow you see,
For mighty heads say, it shall not be.
Party and power shall rule the day,
And might will conquer right each day.

The merit system is the only chance
For a deserving man to make advance;
And the Women's Clubs all over the land
Should give it a strong and helping hand.

Give it both hands, push it along;
Help the helpless, right the wrong.
For if thousands of women wish it done
The cause is just the same as won.

A Remarkable Opportunity

Have you seen one of the Twentieth Century Farmer maps of Valley county? If not call at the Quiz office and see them. This is a fine and accurate map of Valley county showing the owners of every tract of land corrected up to now. In one respect it is better than the atlas we put out several years ago in that it shows all the county with the owners' name on one page. You will want to get one and we are pleased to tell you that you have the opportunity and it will cost you nothing. We have a contract with the Bee Publishing Co. to take the whole edition of these maps as needed and will furnish the map, the Twentieth Century Farmer and the Quiz all for $2.25. Thus giving you the two papers for 25 cents less than their combined prices and map goes in free. It is a rare opportunity and should be embraced at once.

This offer is to subscribers, old or new, paying for the Quiz one year in advance. Hereafter this is the only way you can get these maps and surely you will be pleased to be able to get them so cheaply.

Reception For Visiting Ladies

From 3:00 to 6:00 Friday afternoon Mrs. Peter Mortensen and Mrs. A. M. Daniels will be at home informally at the Mortensen residence in honor of Mrs. H. M. Grimes of North Platte and Mrs. B. F. Reinert of Denver. No other form of invitation than this will be extended, so please consider yourself invited.

Mrs. E. M. Foster is still very low and is slowly failing. It is three months now since Mrs. Sowers' went there to care for her and the condition of the sick woman is now so serious that Mrs. Sowers will have to get another nurse to look after the other cases she has.

Mrs. Frank Cushing. Mrs. Sarah A. Mason and Mrs. Easterbrook went to Lincoln Monday to represent Valley county at the W. C. T. U. meeting. From there they went to Omaha to attend the National W. C. T. U. convention.

A Sick Room Necessity

IN the sick room there is scarcely one one article of greater utility than the hot water bottle. But a leaky hot water bottle may do damage at any time and in any place.

We carry at all times a large variety of good hot water bags, the kind that we warrant not to leak.

There is probably nothing sold in a drug store you have to take more on trust than an article made of rubber. You can't tell by looking at it whether it will leak or not. But when we warrant a hot water bottle, we mean that if it leaks from any cause except a hole punched in it, we will replace it. You are fully protected

G. M. Harris, living in the hills six miles west of Burwell was aboard the passenger Tuesday morning bound for Lincoln. We happened to hear him telling how he was turning hills, which people used to say were worthless, into very profitable ground. His land is slightly sandy, which of course, made the work of regenerating them more complicated. This was how he did it. He broke the hills out early in the breaking season, let the land lie then till after corn planting and then disced the seed up well and sowed to alfalfa. He says that he got a most excellent stand in every instance and the alfalfa contiued to thrive while alfalfa sewed on old ground would begin to thin out after a few years. We are glad of the opinion that thousands of acres of Valley county hills, which are now of little use, might be made worth $35 to $50 a acre by this simple process. Try it on some of your hills.

Farm Loans

We have plenty of money to loan on farms in this and adjoining counties, at low rates. See us if you need money. Ord State Bank.

Last Saturday Mr. J. J. Cox went to North Platte on business.

Walker Bros. have now gone and done it. Last week they bought 21 head of double standard polled Durhams and have received them on their ranch. The bunch comprise calves, heifers, cows and bulls and will make the Walker Bros. stock farm well lined up for this breed of catttle. With a boost like this the boys will be ready to do business on a large scale much sooner than they would had they had to wait for the herd to grow from the small beginning. They now have 40 head of these registered cattle of all ages.

Farm Loans

Plenty of money to loan on good farm security at lowest rates.

The Taste of the Nation has actually been changed and cultivated by Uneeda Biscuit.

No longer are people satisfied with crackers taken from the grocer's box or barrel—exposed to dust, moisture, handling.

They have learned that the only crackers that are crisp, tender, always fresh and really good are those protected by a moisture proof package. These are the kind they get—as if just from the oven—when they ask for Guy Cochran is suffering with the distemper. So he says.

Archie and Henry Geweke were absent from school this week.

Mr. Drew Thompson left for South Dakota Saturday to look at the country.

Revival meetings are going to be continued another week. Let the good work go on.

E. Vancleve returned from his Dakota trip last Friday, well pleased with the country.

Henry Prien arrived from South Dakota Saturday evening. He is going to husk corn in this locality.

Monday evening Mrs. Bell Thompson and Mrs. Mary Harrison were at Drew Thompson's visiting. Mrs. Thompson is sick.

Misses Myrtle Rogers and Isabel Stevenson spent Sunday afternoon at John Bell's. Some of our youngsters were climbing Pikes Peak Saturday afternoon.

One month of school gone, the only pupil that received a perfect certificate was Archie Bell. Those tardy but not, absent are, Bessie Thompson, and Ellsworth Leonard.

Last Sunday night Mrs. Thompson had quite a mix up with her team. Just the little children were in the wagon and they said get up, and the team started to go. Elmer had his buggy out to the gate of the yard and the team ran in and tripped themselves and that is the way they got the team stopped. It smashed the buggy so it could not be used. But one good thing nobody was hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Breckbill attended the first number of the lecture course at Burwell last Friday night.

District No. 55

Corn husking begins in earnest this week.

All the pupils in school are making rapid progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold visited at Chas. Stichler's Sunday.

Misses Minnie and Bessie Wigent visited at Arthur Mensing's, up in Plain Valley Sunday.

Judging from the amount of lumber hauled there are a great many buildings going up. Perhaps the large corn crops have something to do withi it.

The attendance and punctuality in this school certainly merits favorable comment. There has been no case of tardiness this year and few absences. This makes a fine looking record.

Characterization

(By Dora M. Jones)

It is a bright summer morning, just a little after sun-up, in a little village on the banks of a river. A man is mowing a lawn around a cottage, where everything looked so prim, and precise, that one longs to jostle something out of place, for a little relief. His wife is looking, and carrying on a conversation, which is more of a monologue.

"Mr. So-and-so always mows his lawn before breakfast, just before breakfast, always then, and he never mows it any other time. Isn't that funny?"

"Why, I thought—"

"Now, Ezekiel, dear, mow over on this side of the bushes, you missed that yesterday."

"Well if I—"

"Pick up those two leaves that missed the grass-catcher. Maggie-e-e, get a tin bucket and go and pick up these leaves that, (keep on mowing Zeky, darling), that blew into the yard from the road. Ezekiel that little boy with a straw hat and brown eyes, who lives across the fence came over yesterday afternoon and pulled two of the stakes out of my flower bed and threw them at the hen I had tied to the grape vine. I tried to catch him but he got away. Now you brush the pieces of grass off of the lawn-mower and run right over and tell his pa. Go around the back way and let our chickens out, and give them a start over towards them folkses garden.

"We don't have to feed the chickens hardly a bit, nowadays. A pint of corn has done them a week. They only come home to roost. Run right along, and while you are doing that I'll go in and get breakfast."

Every Little Bit Helps.

(By Sarah J. Aldrich)

The little village could not afford to maintain a fire department. When a fire broke out, it was the custom for every able bodied man to drop everything and hasten to the assistance to his unfortunate neighbor. A line of men—and not infrequently women, too—was formed from the nearest pump or spring to the burning building, and buckets of water were passed continuously along the line to the men who were stationed nearest the flames. Thus the fire was fought until either it was extinguished or consumed the building.

It was about midnight when angry flames were seen leaping from the rear of an old man's house. "Fire! Fire!" penetrated the stillness of the night. Everywhere windows were raised. Men, women and children poked their heads out and heard again the cry "Fire! Fire!" The next moment the men jumped into their clothes as the horses of modern fire engine houses jump into their harness at the fire alarm.

Men ran at breakneck speed though the village to the scene of the fire.

"The buckets! The buckets! To the pump! Form a line!" Men excitedly cried; and before many minutes the work of saving the burning structure was in progress.

One man who heard the alarm turned over in his warm bed and said to himself, "Oh, I guess it's not much of a fire."

He tried to go to sleep, but the noise outside was too great, and then he soliloquized, "Well, if it does make any headway, guess there'll be enough men to check it. One more won't do much good."

After awhile he could see the effect of the flames upon the sky, even without getting out of his bed, and then becoming alarmed, he jumped out of bed and looked out the window.

"My, My!" he exclaimed, "it is a big fire; but as long as it has gone so far, I guess it'll be to a finish! Poor fellow, he'll be without a home; I'm sorry."

Then he leisurely dressed and reached the scene of the fire when all that could be done had been accomplished.

"If we'd only had one more man here to dash water on the flames, we'd have saved the east extension of the house." he heard one of the fire fighters remark.

"Yes" said another; "you know every little bit helps in a matter like this."

The man slunk away without being seen, but people soon began to comment on his absence, and today, because of his unneighborliness, he is disliked more than any man in the village.

District No. 66

Frank Trump returned from a hunting trip last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuss visited at the home of their relatives., Mr. and Mrs. E. Fuss, lats Sunday.

Mr Anna Sm aug er of oseph Trump, came to North Loup to visit relatives and friends, last week. Her home is in the state of Washington.

The record last week shows perfect attendance to all ten pupils who were enrolled at school. Let this good work go on. Mr. and Mrs. Will Lukesh and children visited with relatives in the vicinity of Ord last Saturday and Sunday.

We are informed of the death of Mrs. Joseph Trump who has been quite sick for several months. She died at ten o'clock Sunday night. Funeral services were held at the house at Monday afternoon. More About the Corn Contest

Come to the contest. It will be at Ord, in the Court House, Novemer 10th, 1909. Have that boy who has perspired those hot summer days, hoeing his corn or cutting the weeds out of your corn, come and bring corn. If he didn't get seed from the County Superintendent or failed to get it in the ground, have him bring some of the best ears in that field he helped in. If you have good corn let us see it. This is what the contest is for.

Then come yourself and watch the look of joy on his face when he pockets that bright and shining new five dollar gold piece, or gets that silver medal, or carries away a fine new saddle as a pemium, for his labor.

You, ladies, come and see the look of pride on your daughter's face or your neighbor's daughter's face when she beholds the blue ribbon on her bread or cookies, or sewed work.

If it isn't your boy or girl it's the one you are interested in. It will give you much pleasure to watch them get their presents.

Then again you are missing a rare treat if you stay at home. Three famous speakers from our capital will be here. They will judge the corn and give us three lectures on agriculture and domestic science, the very pursuits we are morst interested in. They will tell us also what some of the other counties have done and are doing and how they have been uplifted and benefited by these contests. They are arousing much interest and friendly rivalry among the rural school children and we older folks are becoming more enthusiastic in the movement year after year.

The report of the soliciting committee, to date, shows an increase in names as well as money. Below is the list of business men who have given cash or merchandise to assist in getting worthy premiums for our little farmers friends. By this we know that their hearts are in the right place and that they are in sympathy with the work They are all splendid men and deserve our loyal support at all times.

It will be two years yet before the old Scott corner can be sold or otherwise permanently disposed of. It fell by inheritance to the youngest member of the household and she will not be of age for two years yet. For that period or time Dr. Ludington has secured a lease on the premises and will move the old building now standing in the street by the new Firkins building onto that corner and fit it up for a horse hospital.

Austria's Great Navy

A weak wing, I hear you say. Austria has no navy. There, my friends, you are mistaken. Because Austria has not been a sea power in the past is no sign that she is not going to be one in the future. You are not aware that within two years Austria will have available thirteen of the most powerful battleships in the world? And do you appreciate that these thirteen battleships will be at the service of Germany? And do you appreciate what such an Austrian fleet can do in the Mediteranean, with no force to hold it in check? It would have Malta, Cyprus and Egypt at its mercy. Austria would not find the slightest difficulty in despatching an expeditionary force o any of these points, and once in con rol of Egypt and dominating the Suez Canal she could despatch her smaller ships to attack commerce, proceeding by the Cape route to India. Thus it is clear that in case of war a powerful British fleet must be stationed in the Mediterranean, unless the British people are prepared to see their commerce destroyed, their communications with the East interrupted, their fortresses in the Mediterranean one by one attacked and captured, and staggering blows struck in every quarter against their Empire. With a navy which will certainly be the most efficient in the Mediterranean in the near future, Austria may reasonably entertain daring ambitions.—November Everybody's.

You may be sure that Russell Mann will be in the race for debating honors. In the first bout for debating he won out and so is in what they call the squad. There are 16 in this bunch and soon another debate will occur to decide which six of them will be the ones to actually represent the State University in the intercollegiate debates. No freshman, we believe, ever won such a place, but we are looking for Russell to blaze a new trail for the freshies. Speaking of the squad, the Nebrskan has this to say of Mr. Mann:

George Russell Mann, 1913, comes from Ord. He won the Central Nebraska Teachers' Association's debate contest in 1904, and repesented the Ord high school in the inter-scholastic debate at Lincoln in 1904 and again in 1905. In 1905 he won the inter-scholastic contest. He has taken part in twelve high school debtes, and has been teaching school the last four years.

HAPPENINGS OVER THE STATE

What is Going on Here and There That is of Interest to the Readers Throughout Nebraska and Vicinity.

Stella, Neb.—The vault of the Farmers' state bank at Shubert was blown open by burglars at an early hour on Wednesday morning. The vault was completely wrecked and the small safe containing the money was thrown by the force of the explosion into the middle of the room.

The safe with the money was lying face down, and it is thought that the robbers were afraid to try a third shot for fear of being caught.

One of the citizens heard a report at 2 o'clock but as there were some large galvanized water tanks stored near the bank he supposed some one in passing had thrown a stone at a tank. A second report was heard but at that distance he still supposed it was the same thing.

An expert has been sent for to get the safe open. Two days ago a team and buggy were stolen at Verdon, the next town south. An effort will be made to catch the burglars.

The Midwest Life.

The Midwest Life is just issuing a new list of its Lincoln policyholders. They now number 278 and the amount of insurance they have in this company aggregates $539,200. In this list none are included who do not live in Lincoln. No company doing business in Nebraska has any stronger home endorsement than The Midwest Life.

The agency force of The Midwest Life has recently been increased by the addition of Mr. W. P. Hancock, formerly with the Northwestern Mutual, who will work in Lincoln; Mr. A. L. Pope, who takes charge of the agency at York; Mr. W. N. Peterson, who will make North Platte his headquarters, and Mr. G. S. Southworth, who will aid Mr. C. L. Williams in the development of the Norfolk agency. There are plenty of good openings left for men who are producers or who are capable of becoming producers. Write the company for an agency.

Hunter Accidentally Shot.

Columbus, Neb.—While out hunting Wednesday afternoon Louis Weinborger of this city was accidentally shot and may die from the wound. He and some companions were out of town in the sandhills. Weinborger started to get out of the buggy, placing his gun on the ground first. In some manner it was discharged, the load entering his right breast. As soon as possible an automobile was telephoned for, but before it arrived, another one came along and he was rushed to a hospital. A book in his pocket broke the force of the shot and probably saved him from instant death.

Suits to Test the Law.

Beaver City, Neb.—The fall term of district court convened here Tuesday, Judge R. C. Orr presiding. Of the ninety cases on the docket nine are for divorces. The most important cases are the suits of the county against the former county treasurer for interest on county money deposited in excess of the bonds of depository bonds. The suits are not criminal and were brought more to test the law than for any other reason. Court will continue during the week.

Boy Killed Near Ashland.

Ashland, Neb.—As his brother was handing him a shotgun, Robert Young, eighteen years old and the son of a farmer living east of here was accidentally killed Wednesday. In some manner the gun was discharged and the young man died almost instantly. At the time of the accident the boys were gathering driftwood along the Platte river. The coroner decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Fire Destroys Large Barn.

Beatrice, Neb.—A large barn on the farm of Frank Marsh, seven miles north of Beatrice, was destroyed by fire Sunday night about midnight. Six head of valuable horses, a large quantity of harness, machinery, five hundred bushels of oats and eight hundred bushels of corn were consumed by the flames. The loss is $2,500 with $1,700 insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

Wells-Fargo Report.

The Wells-Fargo company has filed its annual report with the state railway commission. It indicates a modest amount of prosperity, with a 10 per cent dividend paid last year and with the profit account showing more than four millions to the good on a capitalization of $8,000,000.

Select Judges for Show.

Plattsmouth, Neb.—Work on the new steel bridge of the Missouri Pacific over the Platte river north of this city has been started, a large bridge gang occupying some ten cars being stationed at La Platte. There are about twenty-four cars of bridge material in the yards at this city and about eight cars to come. At La Platte there are about eight or ten carloads of material. The work on the bridge will require a large force all winter. It is to be a steel deck girder structure on concrete piers and will be capable of carrying the heaviest trains

Hangs Self to Apple Tree.

Sutton, Neb.—The father of Mrs. Schinzel, living northeast of town, committed suicide Tuesday by hanging himself to a tree in his orchard. He was more than seventy years old and for some time his health had been failing. Tuesday he appeared to be feeling better and went into the yard for a walk after dark.

A member of the family had prepared his supper, and on going to his room he found he was not there.

A search was made and he was ound hanging to a tree. The only eason given for his act is ill health.

NEBRASKA HAPPENINGS.

State News and Notes in Condensed Form.

Mrs. Frank Spear, a resident of Diller, Jefferson county, was thrown from an automobile and killed near Pickerell Thursday morning about 7:30 o'clock.

James Keenan, age ninety-two years, residing on his farm one mile east of Broken Bow, died Tuesday night of blood poisoning resulting from a scratch caused by a sand burr.

F. L. Keran, who resides on the east side of the river east of Nebraska City, sold 9,000 water melons from eight acres of ground and received $925 for them. He has something like two carloads left which he will keep for seed. This is the most profitable crop he has ever raised.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Security state bank of Broken Bow, a new board of directors was elected. The board in turn elected the following officers: W. A. George, president; Jules Haumont, vice president; L. H. Jewett, cashier; Ross Pickett, assistant cashier.

The Kearney city council met Monday evening and accepted the bid of Troupe & Cruit for the erection of the soldiers and sailors' monument at the intersection of Twenty-fifth and Central avenue in that city. The monument is to be built along elaborate lines, and is to cost the city $4,300.

During the progress of threshing at the Wake farm, two miles north of Seward, occupied by F. E. Wood, a spark from the engine set fire to the grain sacks and before the flames could be extinguished, three stacks of wheat had been burned. The crop was insured, so it will not be a total loss to the owner.

John O. Pearce, a pioneer resident of Jefferson county and father of Frank T. Pearce, editor of the Diller Record, died Sunday at the home of his son. The deceased was a native of Cayuga, N. Y. He was in his ninety-first year. He located in Jefferson county in 1876, where he resided up to the time of his death.

Robbers made an unsuccessful attempt to raid the bank of Manley early Thursday. Although their explosions were heard by citizens for two hours and a half no one appeared to have suspected what was going on. The building and safe of the bank were wrecked, but the interfor cash box defied their efforts to open it. There is no clue to the robbers.

Trinity Lutheran church of Fremont celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding Sunday. The principal address on the occasion was made by the Rev. J. Hillendorf, who, in the capacity of pastor of the Brown Creek church near Fremont, was instrumental in the establishment of Trinity church. A large number of Lutherans came from Hooper, Blair, Scribner, Arlington and other points.

The Aurora Electric company has asked the state's permission to issue additional stock in the sum of $28,000 for improvement of the plant. This company, a local corporation, already has a capital of $32,000, all of which is represented in the lighting plant for the city. It now seeks to branch out and install a heating system and for this purpose, as well as new equipment in the electric part of the plant, seeks additional capital.

Prosperity seems to have struck the Burlington shops in Plattsmouth. Many more men have been placed on the rolls in the last few weeks and the company is advertising for more. In addition the company is wiring the shops for electric lights and making other preparations to run the plant on long hours during the winter. Work in the planing mill is considerably behind and this shop runs until until far into the night, the men making big overtime.

Directors of the Omaha Saengerfest association, which was originated to boost the Northwest Saengerbund convention to be held in Omaha in 1910, were guests at a dinner tendered them Monday evening by the Omaha Maennerchor at the Maennerchor club rooms, 1320 Farnam street. Otto W. Roland of St. Paul, Minn., and George H. Kieck of Milwaukee, president and secretary, respectively, of the Saengerbund of the northwest, were present at the dinner by special invitation and brought words of cheer regarding the coming convention.

The Commercial club of Plattsmouth has just concluded arrangements with a company of Omaha for the putting in of a shirt and overall factory there, the contract for the plant having been signed up and work on remodeling the Pearlman building, where the plant will be located started. It is the intention to have the factory running in full blast by the first of November. Fifty employes will be used at the start. The factory movement is preliminary to the erection of a large plant here, conditions governing the trade being considered. This plant is the first fruits of the work of the Commercial club and is hailed with delight by property owners and citizens.

Elmer Miller, the boy who escaped from the reform school in Kearney and made his get-away on a stolen horse, was found at his old home north of Minden and brought back to the school by an officer of the institution Monday.

The work of surveying the Nemaha river territory through Johnson county for the proposed drainage ditch was commenced by the government engineering force Tuesday. The crew includes three surveyors and four helpers and the work was commenced on the county line, northwest of Sterling.

For the purpose of securing data of interest to the German government on agricultural and allied conditions in Nebraska, Consul Alfred Geissler and Nikola Kaummanns, imperial German special commission for agriculture in the United States, spent Tuesday in Omaha and then went west westward to inspect the irrigation works around Scotts Bluff. Mr. Kaumanns is just now completing a special report to his government on agriculture in Nebraska, and this trip has for a partial object the securing of information on the watered farms of the western part of the state.

OPEN UP THE RIVERS

PRESIDENT TAFT SAYS THEY ARE A SAFETY VALVE.

IS BELIEVER IN WATERWAYS

Not An Enemy of the Roads, and Urges a Square Deal For All—Concludes His Visit On the Ranch.

Corpus Christi, Texas.—Announcing himself as an enthusiastic advocate of deep waterways when such projects can be shown to be practicable and necessary, and declaring that the piecemeal procession by "jerks" policy by congress in the past with reference to such improvements should be replaced with a definite plan for opening great avenues of commerce, President Taft aroused the delegates to the convention of the interstate inland waterways league in session here to an enthusiastic emonstration of approval. The president said that in addition to extending commerce deep inland waterways would be the best means to control railroad rates. In the meantime he urged the amendment of the interstate commerce laws to make their provisions more effective.

Mr. Taft added, however, that he did not favor radical legislation; that his purpose merely was to keep railroad companies within the bounds of law and down to reasonable rates. He said the railroads should be encouraged.

He said that in some localities there is a proposition to do injustice to the railroads and to drive them to a system of economy which prevents the development of the country through which they pass.

The president said that citizens of a county would go to any extent to get a railroad to come into the county, but once there not a friend of the railroad could be found anywhere except, perhaps, the local counsel. The president urged a "square deal" for the railroads, that they might not be deprived of reasonable profits through popular prejudice.

Charging that the halting and sporadic system of river and harbor improvements in the past was the work of committees in congress, who had responded to the clamor from home and to party considerations, the president said the time had come for a change in this system. A nine-foot intercostal canal was one of the projects to which the president referred as part of a definite system of waterways improvement.

President Taft arrived here at 11 a. m., and was taken to a grandstand placed at the foot of a natural terrace where the delegates to the waterways convention and the general public had gathered.

Crusade Will Be National.

Washington.—Co-operation of governors of all states and territories in a nation-wide campaign for safe and sane celebration of independence day in every hamlet, town and city throughout the country is the object of a movement now inaugurated. The plan contemplates the formation of a national committee on the promotion of the safe and sane celebration of the Fourth, the appointment as honorary chairman of President Taft in view of his endorcement of Washington's "Accidentless Fourth," the appointment of the governors of all states and territories in the union as members and an active campaign by that committee all over the nation for diverting independence day from its annual toll of accidents.

The endorsement by President Taft of the safe and sane plan for the celebration of the country's birthday anniversary has led those back of the movement to believe that he will accept the honorary chairmanship of the convention. His position is expected to have a big influence in bringing success to the movement.

Life Sentence for Three.

Des Moines, Ia.—Three men convicted of murder in the first degree were sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Fort Madison by Judge Jesse Miller at Friday's session of criminal court. It is said this has never before occurred. The convicted men were John Smeltzer, who shot Detective Frank Delmege; James Watkins, who shot John Weaver, and William Webster, who shot George Talbot.

Damages for Tom Dennison.

Omaha, Neb.—After being out for more than thirty-six hours, at 11 o'clock Friday night the jury in the case of Tom Dennison against the Omaha Daily News returned a verdict for the plaintiff fixing his damages at $2,000. The published matter concerning Dennison alleged that he was a gambler and a crook. He brought a $50,000 libel suit alleging that his reputation had been damaged to that extent.

Plead Guilty to Bribery.

Youngstown, O.—Six of the fifteen county officeholders, contractors and a salesman, under indictment for accepting and giving bribes, have pleaded guilty to the charges against them. John Hannie, former county commissioner; James Price, Samuel Brunstetter and North Newton, former good roads commissioners, waived trial Friday and pleaded guilty to accepting bribes. O. C. Starr, a salesman of Columbus, O., also waived a trial and pleaded guilty to bribing the good roads commissioners.

Council Bluffs Wins Case.

Council Bluffs, Ia.—The city of Council Bluffs wins a complete victory in what is known as the "water works bond case" in a decision Judge Smith McPherson of the United States district court made known Friday. The question involved in the case, which was brought by property holders of the city, was whether the issuance of $600.000 in bonds for the purchase or construction of a municipal water works plant would raise the city's indebtedness above the constitutional limit. Judge McPherson holds that it would not.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL CITY

Items of Interest Around the State House.

Can They Scratch Ballot.

Will voters be able to scratch the name of any candidate for judge and vote for an opposition candidate without being forced to mark his ballot from top to bottom for each person for whom he is voting, or at least without marking all his preferences of judge? This is the question that is put up to the attorney general by Secretary of State Junkin. In his query the secretary supposes that a republican voter should desire to vote his ticket straight except for one judge, and here he should want to vote for a democrat. Can said voter place a cross in the party circle, then another cross opposite the name of the democratic candidate for judge he prefers and have his ballot counted by the judges. If the judges agree to count the ballot they must, according to law, count it as a straight vote except for the one cross. But this latter cross presupposes that one republican judge has been left off the list. Which one? Can the judges even make an assumption? And if not, do they only count the vote for the one judge who is marked or do they throw out the vote on judges entirely?

This question has been put to the secretary of state and he passes it up to the attorney general. It is considered of some importance because of the present campaign for places on the supreme bench. The democrats are making the entire fight on the theory that non-partisanship should reign on the supreme bench and some democrats should sit thereon. This battle cry is a modest one, inasmuch as only one democrat now sits on that tribunal. If enough of the people give heed to the slogan and vote for a mixed court, election boards will have to answer the question on the method of counting fairly often.

Meningitis Is Contagious.

Dr. W. H. Wilson, state health inspector, says the impression may have gained some foothold that the disease of spinal meningitis is not contagious. Some published articles recently have rather conveyed that idea. Competent authorities have held that the disease is not only epidemic, but contagious, and that is the stand taken by the state board of health. It insists that every case shall be strictly quarantined, and this action of the board has resulted in checking the spread of the disease very materially.

In support of the contention that the disease is not actually contagious some physicians have pointed out that in Lincoln only one member of the family has had the disease in each case. Dr. Wilson admits that this seems to be true of the disease in Lincoln, but declares that in other parts of the state, particularly where it has raged hardest, two, three, and even four members of the family have been stricken with the malady.

Just how widespread the disease has been and is now is hard to determine. Although the law requires that every case of a contagious disease must be reported to the office of the state board, physicians do not always obey it. About 200 cases have been reported in the past few months, although it is said on good authority that fully 600 cases have been found in the two counties of York and Polk alone. Only six or eight cases have been reported from Lincoln, although possibly more than that number have occurred.

The chief counties in which spinal meningitis has been reported this summer and fall are Polk, York, Seward, Hamilton, Saline, Valley, Custer, Hall and Lancaster.

Seeks to Save Neck.

John Masourides, through his attorneys, has appealed from the sentence of the Douglas county district court, in an effort to save his neck. Masourides was sentenced to be hanged for having on February 19, last murdered a policeman of South Omaha, Edward Lowry, and the date for the execution was set for January 10, 1910. The appeal is based on sixty-eight exceptions to the instructions of the court to the jury and to motions which had been overruled by the court during the progress of the case. Among the exceptions it is stated that the witness for the state were intimidated by the South Omaha police and compelled to testify. Masourides was being taken to jail last winter by Policeman Lowry, in company with a girl with whom he had been found. On the road to the lock-up the Greek shot the officer and then stabbed himself in the abdomen.

State Is Loading Guns.

Attorney General Thompson, Assistant Attorney General Martin, the three railway commissioners, Experts U. G. Powell and L. E. Wettling, have been closeted for days reviewing the testimony offered by the railroads in the Omaha hearing where they are attempting to knock out the 2-cent fare law and the Aldrich maximum freight rate law. The railroads' inning was before Special Master in Chancery Chas. Pearsall, and the state's turn comes on November 10, before the same official of the federal court.

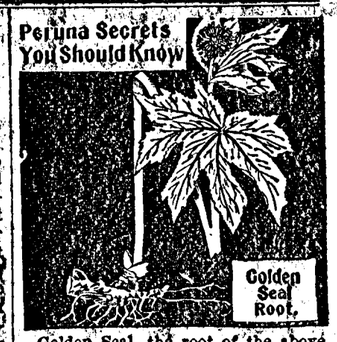
Want to Issue Stock.

The Harvard Electric company has applied to the railway commission for permission to sell $12,000 in stock to secure an electric lighting system for that city. The city has no system at present, but has made all the necessary contracts for the construction, the items of which are set forth in the petition. Permission is asked for under a law passed by the last legislature which gives authority to the railway commission to control the issuance of stock and bonds of public service corporations.

I. W. Dye Appointed.

On the recommendation of E. C. Hurd, engineer in charge of the physical valuation of public service corporations, the railway commission appointed I. W. Dye of Lincoln, as assistant and office engineer in the roadway, bridges and building department of the valuation force. Mr. Dye is to be paid at the rate of $112.50 a month with traveling expenses and hotel bills in addition to this. The appointment, under the law, must be approved by the governor, to whom it has already been sent.

Peruna Secrets You Should Know



Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people gather it in our rich woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is in dyspepsia, catarrh, and as a general tonic.

Many thousand pounds of this root are used each year in the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. This fact explains why everybody uses Peruna for catarrh.

For Lame Back

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates —without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Here's the Proof.

Mr. JAMES C. LEE, of 1100 9th St., S.E., Washington, D.C., writes: "Thirty years ago I fell from a scaffold and seriously injured my back. I suffered terribly at times; from the small of my back all around my stomach was just as if I had been beaten with a club. I used every plaster I could get with no relief. Sloan's Liniment took the pain right out, and I can now do as much ladder work as any man in the shop, thanks to

Sloan's Liniment

Mr. J. P. EVANS, of Mt. Airy, Ga., says: "After being afflicted for three years with rheumatism, I used Sloan's Liniment, and was cured sound and well, and am glad to say I haven't been troubled with rheumatism since. My leg was badly swollen from my hip to my knee. One-half a bottle took the pain and swelling out."

Sloan's Liniment has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints. Prices, 25c., 50c. and $1.00

Republican Ticket

For County Clerk,
Otto H. Hagemeier.

For County Treasurer,
Lafe Paist.

For County Judge,
H. Gudmundsen.

For Sheriff,
A. Sutton.

For County Superintendent,
Eva B. Shuman.

For Coronor,
Dr. C. U. Shepard.

For Supervisors,
Frank Krahulik,
J. H. Carson,
John L. Ward.

Remember that next Tuesday is election day.

Look out for the democratic campaign lie. You can tell it for it is usually sprung in the last days of the campaign.

If there is anyone who thinks that Judge Gudmundsen will be defeated he is surely uninformed. He will get the straight republican vote and many of the opposition.

If people will get out and vote there is no qustion in our mind as to the result of the election next Tuesday. The republicans will sweep the platter clean, and they ought to.

Otto Murschel, having no executive ability (according to the Ord Journal) ought to be elected county clerk, the Journal says. Now that is all right, but we are not electing that kind of men to office this year.

The man who habitually fails to vote ought to be deprived of the right to do so. A privilege of this kind for which men have fought and died is too sacred a right to be held by a man who esteems it so lightly that he will use it only as his convenience dictates.

If a man tells you a campaign story against his political opponent few days before election you might as well set him down in your mind a liar, but of course you do not need to think it out loud unless you want to. A campaign yarn that cannot be told early in the campaign to invite an answer is usually untrue.

The Ord Journal argues in its last issue that the office of county clerk is a purely clerical job and one that a man of no executiv eability can handle and so the people ought to elect Otto Murschel. But they prefer a man of executive as well as clerical ability and they will elect Otto Hagemeier all right.

There are those who are whispering "third term" against Sheriff Sutton. Well, the way he got the votes at the primary election ought to show that he is too popular with the people to be defeated on that score. The people said at the primaries that they wanted him for sheriff and they have not changed their minds since.

People have been trying to find weak places in the republican ticket, but so far no such place has been found. The republican ticket is good all the way through, the nominees being the right men in every case, and popular withal. Now the only thing is for you voters to get out to the polls and help elect them.

The supreme court has killed the bank guaranty law on the grounds of its being unconstitutional in two points. The court held that it is unconstitutional for the law to prohibit a private citizen going into the state banking business and that it was also unconstitutional for the law to compel honest bankers to put up the money for the shortcomings of dishonest or incompetent bankers. How could the court make any other decision? This leaves the work of the late lamented democratic legislature cut down to the 9-foot sheet law passed and still our sheets are no longer than ever.

Early in the campaign Otto Murschel started an assault on the ability of O. H. Hagemeier to fill the office of county clerk acceptibly. It proved to be such boomerang that he dropped the subject very suddenly. It may be that he will have someone try that dodge in these last days of the campaign in the hope of turning a few votes to himself But such talk will have to be made to people who do not know Hagemeier And he is a well known man all over the county. For several years he was a member of the county board and did his work in a most acceptible manner. True he has never petered out in the barber trade or bakery business, but he has been a decided success as a farmer and was never afraid of doing the work he found to do. We are guessing that Boss Murschel will have a hard time showing that he is the only competent county clerk stick in the wood pile.

The Mondell Homestead Lands

We are receiving thousands of inquiries about the 320-acre free homestead lands available for settlers under the Mondell act. These lands are located in eastern Colorado and Wyoming along the Burlington. The great advantagh of this new homestead law is that the settler is permitted to take up free, 320 acres instead of 160 acres, the larger tract being required under the new dry farming methods; northeastern Wyoming has from 16 to 21 inches of moister, and has produced some of the finest crops of small grains ever seen in the west.

I personally conduct excursions on the first and third Tuesdays of each moth to these lands. Write me for special descriptive folders, literature, etc.

Irrigated Lands in the Big Horn Basin. These goverment irrigated lands are being fast taken up by settlers who realize the coming value of the Big Horn Basin lands in view of the railroad development in central Wyoming.

The United Statea Land and Irrigation Exposition at Chicago, Nov. 20th to Dec. 4th, will be of vital interest to the farmer.

A Wildcat Measure.

The Nebraska copy of the Oklahoma populist banking law has been declared unconstitutional by a federal court, the banks of that state will not be compelled to pay the losses of banks that fail. The court held that the compulsory guarantee plan was violative of the principle that money cannot be taken from one person to pay the debts of another "without due process of law." The Oklahoma heresy, which also is to be tested in courts, has appealed strongly to the chief spokesman. But for his advocacy of this plan of confiscation, the people of Nebraska would not have adopted it. It was heralded as the cure-all for banking evils, as a far better thing than the national bank. Indeed, its advocates predicted that it would supplant the old system; but the treasury officials at Washington pointed out its vulnerable angles and advised national banks to have none of it. —Washington Post.

The sheriff of Dodge county is doing the right thing. He is keeping an eye on the beggars that strike that locality. Recently he arrested one of these and found that she was lying about the purpose of her begging and made her return all the money she had taken except the amount he had himself given her.

A Remarkable Opportunity

Have you seen one of the Twentieth Century Farmer maps of Valley county? If not call at the Quiz office and see them. This is a fine and accurate map of Valley county showing the owners of every tract of land corrected up to now. In one respect it is better than the atlas we put out several years ago in that it shows all the county with the owners' name on one page. You will want to get one and we are pleased to tell you that you have the opportunity and it will cost you nothing. We have a contract with the Bee Publishing Co. to take the whole edition of these maps as needed and will furnish the map, the Twentieth Century Farmer and the Quiz all for $2.25. Thus giving you the two papers for 25 cents less than their combined prices and map goes in free. It is a rare opportunity and should be embraced at once.

This offer is to subscribers, old or new, paying for the Quiz one year in advance. Hereafter this is the only way you can get these maps and surely you will be pleased to be able to get them so cheaply.

The G. & C. Merriam Company of Springfied, Mass., have just issued Webster's New International Dictionary, based on the International of 1890 and 1900. The revision has been so radical and complete as to constitute a new book. The work has been in active preparation for many years, by a large staff of experts, assisted by the contributions of eminent specilists, under the general supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, recent U. S. Commissioner of Education. Number of words and phrases defined has been greatly increased, mainly from the fresh coinage of recent years both in popular speech and in the various arts and sciences. The revival of early English studies is recognized by such an inclusion of obsolete words as to give a key to English literture from its earliest period. The title-words in the vocbulary are more than doubled in comparison with the old International, now exceeding 400,000. The number of illustrations is increased to over 6000. The book contains more than 2700 pages. But the publishers desire to emphasize the quality rather than the quantity of the work, calling attenrtion especially to the thorough scholarship in all departments and the fullness of information under important titles. By ingenious methods of typograhpy and arragement, the increased amount of matter is contained within a single volume, not perceptibly larger than its predecessor and no less convenient for the hand and eye.

Last Wednsday Cornell Bros. closed a contrat with the Studebaker people for the exclusive sale of their line of automobiles, which includes the celebrated E. M. F. 30 car. In adding this line of automobies to their already large implement and hardware establishment they are more than ever in a position to meet the wants of the most exacting buyer. They unloaded a car of the E. M. F. 30s the first of this week.

They wish also to thank the Ben Hur lodge for the assistance rendered.

They tell a thrilling tale from Kalsertown. The other day the little two-year-old of the Rev. E. H. Mainard family came quietly into the house, where his mother and some lady friends were having a social talk. At first the presence of the little fellow was of no particular moment, but presently he became a center of great attraction, for he held in his hand, closely gripped by the neck a blueracer snake about as long as the boy. Of course the women ran out door, but the mother instinct brought her back intantly to save her son from being swallowed by the horrid snake. By some means not fully reported a separation was effected between the snake's neck and the child's grip and presently all that was left of the incident was a terrifying but laughable remembrance. How the little fellow managed to catch the active reptile is not a thing to be found out, for the youth will not give the snap away.

The Lincoln State Journal is certainly going after new business when it offers to send that big daily paper without Sunday from now until January 1, 1909, for only 50 cents, or with Sunday for 75 cents. Almost every family in the state will want to take advantage of this cut in price in order compare the Journal with any other daily that they know of. This is just what the Journal folks want and why it makes such a cheap price. Its publishers feel that if a family gets the Journal habit no other paper will ever fill the bill after that. The Journal is not only a great newspaper in a strict sense, but stands for many of the principles that are being fought for by Nebraska. It is in the forefront of the battle against the saloon and refuses to print liquor or nasty medical advertisements. Send in a half dollar and see what a lot you get for your money. They guarantee to stop the paper when the time is up.

A BUDDING GENIUS.

Ambitions and Hard Work of the Boy Saint Gaudens.

Immediately on being apprenticed to Avet I applied for admission to the drawing school of the Cooper institute, and every evening after my return from work at 6 o'clock and a hasty tea I went down there, where my artistic education began.

I can recall there the kindly impression produced on me by Abram S. Hewitt as he glanced at me during some function. Father at that time was making shoes for the Cooper family, and I suppose that that is why he looked at me. The feeling of profound gratitude for the help which I have had from that institution abides with me to this day.

It was during the next two or three years that my first aspirations and ambitions made themselves felt. I became a terrific worker, toiling every night until 11 o'clock after the Cooper institute was over, in the conviction that in me another heaven born genius had been given to the world.

I can recall thinking in public conveyances that if the men standing on the platform around me could realize how great a genius was rubbing elbows with them in the quiet looking boy by their side they would be profoundly impressed. As a result, I was so exhausted by the confining work of cameo cutting by day and by drawing at night that in the morning I was literally dragged out of bed by mother, pushed over to the washstand, where I gave myself a cat's lick somehow or other, driven to the seat at the table, administered my breakfast, which consisted of tea and large quantities of the long French loaves of bread with butter, and tumbled downstairs, out into the street, where I awoke.—"Reminiscences of Augustus Saint Gaudens" in Century.

The Old Constitution.

The Constitution originally carried forty-four guns. A particularly interesting history is connected with this ship. During the war with the Barbary powers in 1803 she was Commodore Preble's flagship in the Mediterranean and played a conspicuous part during the whole war. Lieutenant Wadsworth, who was blown up before Tripoli in the ill fated Intrepid, was one of the officers of the Constitution. In the course of the war with England in 1812 the English papers laughed at the Constitution and spoke of her as "a bundle of pine boards sailing under a bit of striped bunting." But when under Captain Hull she captured the English frigate Guerriere, a vessel of nearly equal force, the people who had before ridiculed her called her "one of the stanchest vessels afloat." A few months after this victory the Constitution, then commanded by Captain Bainbridge, compelled one of the finest frigates in the British navy, the Java, to strike its colors.

Glass Polishing.

Glass grinding is effected by the use of emery powder of various degrees of fineness. But it has been shown that this grinding cannot be carried beyond a certain point, however fine a powder may be used. In fact, a continuation of it undoes the work and breaks the surface up again. The most finely ground plate, if largely magnified, is shown to be covered with tiny bits which no grinding will remove. The work is therefore continued with rouge carried on a pad of rosin, which gradually smooths down the elevations between the pits. Hydrofluoric acid gas corrodes glass very rapidly, but a weak solution of it melts away the roughened surface and leaves a fine polish underneath. This method is used where very fine adjustments of the surface are requires—as, for instance, in lenses for telescopes and microscopes.

Yesterday at the Catholic church in Elyria occured the marriage of John G. Zulkowski and Miss Vanda Zablounski of Ord. The ceremony was an elaborate one and very impressive. Many Ord friends were there to witness it.

Mrs. Olra Goodrich was the guest of Mrs. Geo. A. Parkins for several days lately. Last Friday Olra came up this way and together the twain went to North Loup Saturday noon for a brief visit. Orla reports good business in the company's lines.

Tony Cerny came up to Ord Monday and has been shaking hands with friends. Next week he will come up to fix his residence here permanently. You know that he and Joe Adamek have bought the Schwaner Bros. jewelry store and will take possession the first of the month.

Bud Shirley will soon have his old mare trained so that she will make the trip beteen the postoffice and the depots without his assistance and guidance. She made the run from the B. & M. deport to the Uncle Sam's this mornig all right. It will be pretty handy these coming cold winter mornings to have the good mare out carrying the mails while Budky is snugly slumbering in his little bed.

Some months ago County Attorney Davis set about collecting from Douglas conuty Valley county's share of inheritance tax on the estate of the late Mr. Bent. Douglas couty had collected the whole thing and at first refused to give up any of it, but was finally persuaded that it would have to divy if the matter went to court, so it has sent us our share, amounting to some $238. It is not often that we get anything of this sort Valley county.

Last Sunday a big bunch of fellows swiped a keg of beer from the gang who had been working on the Misko pond and loading it in a wagon went down across the Coombs bridge to enjoy it. The keg was emptied and on the way back Pat Crow conceived that it would be a bright thing to throw the keg into Dane creek, which he did with the result that the team was scared and ran off the bridge and dumped the whole load of fellows into the water. It was a very laughable affair, but it took some good work to keep from being a tragedy.

Auto Takes Big Tumble

The first really serious automobile accident that has befallen the autoists of this community happened to a party last Thursday as they were attempting to cross the bridge over Dane creek east of Elyria.

The party consisted of D. B. Huff, chauffeur, J. C. Boyd, owner, and Ed. Timm and Mr. Roseburrow, a traveling man. They had been to Burwell and in coming up to the bridge they encountered a depression in the approach just at the edge of the bridge. The jolt was sufficient to break the steering apparatus and of course the machine was beyond control instantly. The bridge stands diagonally to the course of the road and the momentum of the car landed it off the left side of the bridge and into the stream below.

The occupants had little time to jump so all went down with the car. The only one to make any effort to get out was Roseburrow, who stepped onto the car door and jumped, but his foot caught in the rail of the bridge and he went down with the rest.

The car landed on the lower edge of the bank, about twelve feet down and rolled into the stream a few feet lower. This fact probably saved the occupants from death as it let all of them free from the car.

The most seriously hurt was Boyd, who had his leg broken above the knee. Roseburrow had an ankle broken and Timm a damaged shoulder. Huff was simply badly shaken up.

Three of them were rendered unconscious by the fall, Boyd, the worst hurt of them all, was the only one to keep his senses. He says that it was about five minutes before Huff came to. As soon as Huff got up he rolled Timm over and straightened him out and noted that he began to gasp. A little later Roseburrow came to, but was unable to walk on account of his injured foot.

Huff and Timm then went back to the old Gregory place and there phoned into town for help.

F. J. Bell responded and brought the people in, medical aid meanwhile coming.

By the means of block and tackle the machine was extracted from its pit without much trouble, and was found to be not much the worse for the tumble.

Mr. Boyd had but a day or two before traded his Electric Theatre for his machine and this was one of his first ride in his new possession. A rather bad beginning.

Charlie Bower and family with the exception of Miss Sidney, departed Tuesday for San Diego, California, where they will spend the winter. This is the first real relaxation they have had and they propose to make the most of the opportunity, which is the wise thing to do.

Mrs. Geo. Knecht went to Chenoa, Ill., Monday to see her old father. The old gentleman is 89 years old and has recently suffered a second stroke of parlysis and it is to be feared that he cannot stand the shock.

A Sick Room Necessity

IN the sick room there is scarcely one one article of greater utility than the hot water bottle. But a leaky hot water bottle may do damage at any time and in any place.

We carry at all times a large variety of good hot water bags, the kind that we warrant not to leak.

There is probably nothing sold in a drug store you have to take more on trust than an article made of rubber. You can't tell by looking at it whether it will leak or not. But when we warrant a hot water bottle, we mean that if it leaks from any cause except a hole punched in it, we will replace it. You are fully protected

Hot water bottles, the kind we warrant, $1.00 and up

Combination hot water bowls and founttin syringes $1.50 and up.

The New Model No. 24 Marlin

Repeating Shotgun

This new 6-shot model is the simplest, surest, and fastest 12-gauge repeater made.

It has the solid top, side ejection and double extractors—special Marlin features of comfort and convenience. The closed-in breech keeps the action clean and the shells dry—keeps out rain, snow, dirt, leaves twigs and sand.

The new take-down construction allows you to take gun apart in ten seconds for cleaning or packing, yet the joint is always as firm and rigid as in a solid frame, non-take-down gun. The fat forearm fits your hand and helps quick operation.

The full choked guns are guaranteed close-shooting, hard-hitting guns, and are unequalled for ducks, geese, foxes and all long-range work.

THE SIGN OF A Marlin

Loose-Wiles Vassar Chocolates

None have their Flavor, their Quality, their Popularity

Fresh, mellow, and full of flavor. You will be delighted with them wherever you buy them.

Rich with moist filling—deeply coated with the most expensive chocolate—Vassar Chocolates have a taste, a quality—give a satisfaction not obtainable in other chocolates.

There is no secret about the goodness of Vassar Chocolates—their popularity comes from the use of the purest ingredients—the care in their making and the protection of their packing.

Each Vassar Chocolate is protected like the kernel of a nut, for each is individually wrapped in moisture-proof parchment; the layers are separated to prevent crushing of their own richness, and the elegant box is then encased in dainty parchment and sealed with the Loose-Wiles guarantee of quality and freshness. The flavor is permanently retained; there are no dried-out Vassar Chocolates.

Loose-Wiles Vassar Chocolates and the other dainties from their sunlit confectioner's kitchens are obtainable everywhere.

Get Vassar Chocolates Today

We are making it easy for you to get the very best chocolate creams in case your dealer doesn't keep them. We have prepared a handsome sample package of Vassar Chocolates of generous size.

Write us your name and that of your dealer today, enclose 15 cents in stamps and we will send you this sample package by return mail. Or send us 80 cents and we will express (prepaid) a full one-pound box of Vassar Chocolates to any point in the United States.

Prairie Fire in Loup County

The prairie fire last Saturday afternoon, over north was quite serious to some of the victims and if it could be proven, it would be a hot time for certain parties who were seen in that locality just at the time the fire was first discovered. One of the Lewis boys was driving along the road and met two men going north. As Mr. Lewis passed these men one of them remarked that there was a fire back there. Mr. Lewis hurried his team up but when he got to the fire it was beyond the control of one man. Quite a few were on hand shortly, but the fire had reached the tall grass and went flying. Elmer Lewis lost 15 tons of hay and about 100 acres of range swept clean. Wesley Mansfield lost all of his winter's hay, and Charls Campbell a stack of straw, some hay and range.—Taylor Clarion.

The Ord division of the Reading Circle meets next Saturday, Oct. 30. The lesson is chapter VII, VIII, and IX advance and the first six chapters in review. The subject of discussion is, Creating Interest in Reading. All rural teachers are urged to be present and to be there promptly at 2:30 P. M.

Order for Hearing of Final Account

In the matter of the estate of Mary Hinish deceased.

In the county court of Valley county. Now on the 27th day of October, 1909, came Vincent Kokes administrator, of said estate, and prays for leave to render an account as such and also files petition for distribution. It is therefore ordered that the 20th day of November, 1909, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. at my office in Ord, Nebraska, be fixed as the time and place for examining and allowing such account and hearing said petition, and all persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at the time and place so designated, and show cause why said account should not be allowed and petition granted. It is further ordered that notice to all persons be given by publication for 3 weeks prior to the day set for said hearing.

Datd this 27th day of October, 1909. Clements Bros., attorneys for estate.
H. Gudmundsen, County Judge.

Sheriff's Sale

By virtue of an order of sale directed to me from the District Court of Valley County, Nebraska, on a judgment obtained in said court on the 11th day of November, 1908, in favor of Agnes M. Pratt, Plaintiff, and against Pearl A. Shirley, and Rutherford B. Shirley, Defendants, for the sum of $880.74, interest, costs, accruing costs, I have levied upon the following real estate taken as the property of said Defendants, to satisfy said judgment, to-with: Lot 4 in Block 2 in Haskell's Addition to Ord, Nebraska.

And will offer the same for sale to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, on November 1st, A. D. 1909, at the south front door of the Valley County Court House, in Ord, Nebraska, that being the building wherein the last term of Court was held, at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. of said day.

Dated September, 29, 1909.
A. Sutton,
Sheriff of said County. 27-5.
