

FOUR DAY TRIP TO GET A SACK OF WHEAT FLOUR

Pioneers Traveled to Grand Island, Now Get Flour From Ord Mills.

It is more than a far cry, or even more than a loud, lusty shout from the days of pioneer milling to the Ord Milling company's modern plant and methods.

In the first lean years, our pioneering ancestors used to take their corn to grind in the old corn cracker grinder owned by D. C. Bailey, father of Roy Gaisley. In an hour or so it was possible to grind out about a bushel of coarse corn meal and the Bailey grinder was kept in almost constant motion by one neighbor or another. When the weather was so stormy that even short distances were impassable for travelers, the family coffee grinder was sometimes utilized. W. A. Anderson recalls a period of three weeks during which cornmeal made by this method was used altogether in his family.

Pioneers Liked Corn Bread. Mr. Anderson says also "sometimes it was very difficult to get flour as it took money to buy flour and money was one of the very hardest things to get. Very many people depended on corn bread for food of the bread variety." That the pioneers did not consider cornbread so bad, even for an every day article of food, Mr. Anderson also tells us: "However cornbread and venison with gravy and a few potatoes was not such bad feed for a hungry man."

In order to get white flour it was necessary to go to Grand Island, seventy miles away. This trip took four days. The only alternative was to go to Cedar Rapids, a three-day journey.

LARGE NUMBER JOIN NEW ODD FELLOW ORDER

Samaritans Initiate Eighteen by Riding Bear; Banquet at Methodist Church.

Last Wednesday evening at the Bohemian hall eighteen Odd Fellows from Ord, North Loup, Arcadia and Ericson were initiated into the Ancient and Mystic Order of Samaritans, the play-ground order of the lodge, by Grand Monarchus Will M. Dunn, Sutherlandland, and a drill team from North Platte. A "bear hunt" was the feature of the ceremony.

A real, live black bear is used by the order in the initiatory ceremony. It is the property of the lodge and is taken everywhere by the drill team. "Riding the bear" is the popular pastime at Samaritan ceremonies.

A banquet was served to the eighteen prospective active and two honorary members, with the drill team, by Rebekahs. It was held at the Methodist church at 6 p. m. At 8 o'clock the Odd Fellows reconvened at the Bohemian hall for the initiation, after which a lunch was served at the church.

Plainview Creamery Paid 6 Cent Dividend

After being in business a month, the Plainview, Neb., co-operative creamery, completed in August by the Hastings Industrial company, paid a dividend of six cents on every pound of butter fat sold to them.

The Plainview company started operating August 28, 1920. On September 29 it paid the six cent premium, the total dividend divided amounting to over a thousand dollars.

During the first month of operation the company churned and sold 17,464 pounds of butter, all sold at 40 cents except 6 tubs which went at 38c and seventy-nine tubs at 40 1/2c.

Plainview co-operative stock holders are loudly enthusiastic about their creamery and its success. The first dividend of six cents sufficed to show cream-producers of that section that they could not afford to sell their cream to any other station, and cream receipts increased after the first month's report was made. Future cream dividends will be paid quarterly at Plainview instead of monthly to save mailing and book-keeping expense.

Many instances in Nebraska where co-operative creameries have been successful from the start are pointed out, and Ord's venture starts under the most favorable of auspices on December 11.

Methodist to Meet at Wolbach, Dec. 10

In co-operation with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, District Superintendent A. V. Hunter has arranged a series of group meetings covering the entire Hastings district. The local sub-district group will meet at Wolbach on Friday, December 10. Regular sessions will be held at 9:30 a. m., 1:00 p. m. and 7:00 p. m. A supper meeting has also been arranged. It is expected that the churches of Wolbach, Fairview, Palmer, Cushing, Greeley, Ord, Burwell, Ericson and Bartlett will be represented at the meeting by delegates from all the local church organizations. All individuals interested are invited and urged to attend the sessions. Speakers of national reputation will be present and speak, including Rev. G. B. Dean, Rev. C. J. Hewitt and Rev. E. D. Kohlstedt. The meetings are for educational and inspirational purposes and not for financial solicitation. The discussions and addresses will deal with the work of the local church and the nation-wide program of the denomination. The evening speaker is Rev. E. D. Kohlstedt. A day of information, inspiration and Christian fellowship is assured those who attend the meetings.

LOWE WRITES FINE LETTER

San Francisco Is a Charming City, Volstead Law a Farce, He Says.

2612 Webster St., San Francisco, November 19, 1920.

Dear Quiz:
Yours of the 15th inst. at hand and in reply beg to state that I am indeed glad to comply with your request and the only reason that I haven't done so before is that I have intended to write a more or less interesting account of the doings in San Francisco. I owe several letters as it is to Nebraska friends.

Well this Sunday the 21st and it looks a little like rain so will stay in, take my coat off and go to it.

As most Nebraskans seem to migrate to Southern California, particularly Long Beach, I want to let you know that San Francisco is the most beautiful city that I have seen in my good fortune to visit. Of course one has to get used to the all-year-around mildness of its climate, an average temperature of 68, and coming here as I did from Texas through Arizona and the Imperial Valley, I felt the chill in the air in November, but its strange to hear people who have come back from their vacations, some of them from only a twenty mile radius, say how glad they are to get back as the heat was too much for them.

San Francisco Beautiful.

As to the beauty of San Francisco, as I said before, there is no city to compare with it. Some people complain of its hills but that to my mind is one of its greatest charms. We can go from the house about seven blocks to the Marina, where the yachting harbor is, past where the old exhibition used to be and where the palace of Fine Arts still stands like an old ruin, through the Presidio where the army has its quarters, up a gradual incline to Lincoln Park where the Legion of Honor memorial stands dedicated to the fallen soldiers of the great war. This building is an exact replica of the French war memorial in Paris and on its walls are hung works of art donated and loaned by the French government, as well as other people. A wonderful panorama is entailed to the gaze from this commanding position, overlooking the golden gate entrance to the bay of San Francisco on one side and the Pacific ocean on another and a view of the city backed by the wooded hills on the other side.

From there we coast down to the beach and along the ocean shore and turn back into the Golden Gate park unless we decide to go up Twin Peaks where we can get a still better idea of the layout of the city and surroundings. The park is about three miles long and one can spend a week there and yet not exhaust the wonderful attractions.

The industrial situation is marred by the carpenters strike which has been going on since spring and which is being conducted with a great deal of violence on both sides, in spite of which there is a great deal of building going on and plenty of work for those who want it had enough.

Oh You Volstead!

Those of you who like to take your exhilaration out of bottles will smack their lips over the fact that the prohibition law here is a farce. It is a very common sight to see workmen on the sidewalk outside buildings in the course of construction eating their lunch and drinking their wine. You don't have to have extra good eyesight to see trucks of grapes delivered to residences all around and a couple of fat Italians pushing a wine press from one customer's house to another, also the papers carry advertisements of fresh crushed grape juice delivered to your door with instructions not to let ferment as if that event it would turn into wine. This is sold at from 35c to 75c per gallon.

TURKEY DAY CLASH ENDS IN 6 TO 6 TIE

Ord and Loup City Eleven Battle to Deadlocked Score in Last Game of Season.

BY AL PERLINSKI

Chicago may have its Army-Navy game and Los Angeles its "Tournament of Roses," but Loup City last Thursday was the scene of a battle which possessed the epic qualities of all the great gridiron conflicts of history. Coach Rex Reed's Ord high school eleven and the undefeated Loup City team battled to a 6-6 tie in the hardest struggle ever fought on Sherman county turf.

Balked by penalty after penalty and by breaks which consistently favored the Loup City team, the Reed-coached squad was still strong enough to hold the score at a deadlock and gain whatever glory there is in stopping the strongest team Loup City has boasted in years.

Loup City Outplayed.

Statistics of the struggle show that Ord men outplayed their opponents at every turn of the game. One hundred and forty-eight yards in the total rolled up from scrimmage by the Ord aggregation with 75 yards gained by Loup City. Ord earned six first downs carrying the ball and one by forward passing. Loup City earned but four. Three Ord punts averaged 34 yards, four for Loup but 25 yards. Only in penalties inflicted is disparity in the two teams' records made apparent.

Ord's team was set back forty-five yards by the penalty rule. Referee Wilson inflicted but one penalty, five yards for off-side, on the Loup City team. This may or may not be explained by the fact that Wilson, a Grand Island man, once coached the Loup City high school team.

Lashmet Makes Big Return.

Ord's touchdown came in the first quarter after Loup City had kicked off to Ord, Lashmet returning the ball thirty-eight yards through the entire Loup team and placing the ball in enemy territory. After a few short gains through the line Al Furtak circled the end for twelve yards and placed the ball on the Loup City seven yard line where Mason carried it across in two attempts. The place kick was low.

Again in the second quarter Ord threatened to score after a pass, Round to Anderson, was good for twenty yards, but Round's place kick was wide.

Falls Over Line.

Aided by two fifteen yard penalties, Loup City scored their touchdown in the third quarter. The penalties and a few meager gains through the Ord

MEN'S PLAY GETS TWO BIG CROWDS

Some Real Talent and Lots of Fun Revealed in Play "The Womanless Wedding."

Two capacity houses greeted "The Womanless Wedding," play given last Wednesday and Thursday evenings by the business men of Ord and vicinity under the auspices of the P. E. O. Every available seat was taken both nights.

A great deal of fun and much unsuspected talent was revealed when the business men trod the boards last week. The play centered about a wedding, Carl Dale playing the part of the bride with Herschel McGrew as groom Wednesday night and Wilbur Taylor taking the part Thursday.

H. B. Van Decar acted as butler, announcing each of the long list of guests as they arrived. The cast of the play, given in the Quiz last week was an "all-star" affair and it would be difficult to choose any one who did better in his part than did the rest.

Many Fine Solos.

James Aagaard appeared in two roles, as the old maid aunt and as John McCormick. In the latter part he sang a tenor solo which revealed his wonderful voice. Preston Loomis as Mary Pickford and John Allen as Harry Lauder, as well as others, sang splendidly.

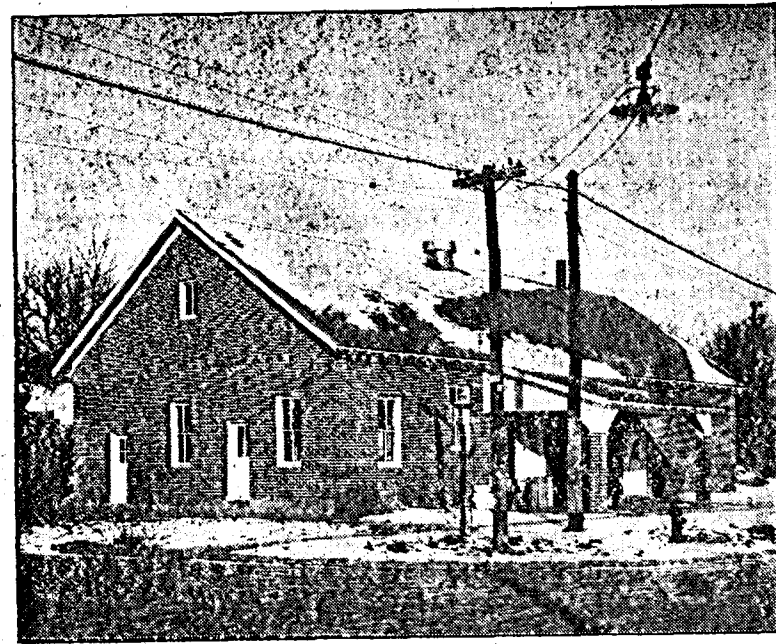

Charles Arnold as the country cousin was the instigator of much merriment while Bill Heck and Mark Tolen misbehaved delightfully as the two bad boys. They kept the house convulsed with laughter at their antics a good share of the time. Lyle Milliken as President Coolidge, Charles Goodhand as Charley Bryan, Clarence Davis as the bishop, Art Capron as Theda Bara and Paul Robinson as a Spanish dancer are a few of the other characters who drew heavy applause. Bert Boquet as the weeping mother was a "scream."

Proceeds to Library

Miss Ruth Scoutt, representative of the Symphon-Lewis Co., owners of the play, directed the Ord production. It has been given in several other towns near here and is to be given in Arcadia in the near future.

Proceeds of the play above expenses will be turned over to the Ord library fund by the P. E. O.

The refrigerating facilities were installed in Ord's new creamery and butter factory this week and everything is in readiness for the opening day, Dec. 11. N. F. Wells, construction manager, has been busy this week in getting the plant ready for operation. All machinery has now been installed.

F. H. Robson, an experienced butter maker lately of Aurora, Neb., but formerly of Alexander, S. D., arrived this week and will remain here until the plant starts. He will be in charge of production.

A formal program is being planned for Saturday, Dec. 11, and the plant will be open for inspection and it is expected that a large crowd will take advantage of the opportunity to see the plant that will make Ord butter. Mr. Robson will show all visitors through the creamery.

Two large 300-gallon pasteurizers and a 900-pounds churn are the main pieces of machinery in the plant. Facilities for storing, cooling, packing and "starting" the cream are provided. Mr. Wells assured a Quiz reporter that the plant would care for all the cream that Valley county can produce for years to come.

Koopal and Barstow have furnished the lumber for the new plant. All brick was purchased from Will Gruber. Hans Thorne did the painting and Fred Kemp has been busy this week with the wiring. Local labor has completed the plant, the job being managed by Mr. Wells.

Those interested in the company have expressed themselves as highly satisfied with the celerity with which the work has been completed, and everything is in readiness for the opening, December 11.

North Loup's Oldest Resident Dines Out

Mrs. Mary Badger, ninety-two years old, North Loup's and probably Valley county's oldest resident, dined out Thanksgiving day. She was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barber. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen and children, Arnold, Neb., and Miss Ida Brown, with whom Mrs. Badger makes her home.

Mrs. Badger is enjoying remarkably good health at present, although she has suffered with grippe at several times during the fall months. She has possession of her faculties to a great degree for one of her age, and takes keen pleasure in life.

Wisconsin Creameries Pay Big Dividends

Two Wisconsin creameries, one at Bloomington and one at Genoa, built by the Hastings Industrial company, paid big dividends to cream sellers at the end of their first year of operation. The Bloomington concern paid a rebate of $1.4 cents per pound of butter fat, while the Genoa creamery paid 5.6 cents.

The total business of the Bloomington co-operative creamery was $101,128, expenses being $88,202. Minus a small sum added to a depreciation fund, the balance was paid out in dividends on the stock and in rebates to cream producers.

Total receipts of the Genoa creamery were $96,515, expenses being $85,089 and the balance going to stock owners and cream producers.

Both of these companies operated on practically the same plan being used in the Ord creamery which opens next week. Each is the result of a co-operative movement among farmers and dairymen and enabled them to get out of the clutches of large creameries which had been cutting prices on cream and dairy products.

Joe O'Brian and family returned to Grand Island last Monday afternoon after a short stay with Ord relatives.

Miller Suffering Tumor on Brain

Con Miller of Sumter is in a serious condition from a tumor on the brain. He had an exploratory operation at Grand Island last week, a section of the skull being removed and it was shown that the tumor was growing like a core in the brain. One of the best known specialists in this kind of surgery was sought in Ohio where he had lived but it was found he had removed to Boston and as this is written preparations are being made to take Mr. Miller back there for the operation which must be performed in the hope of saving his life. The first known of the trouble came in an attack resembling a stroke last week while Mr. Miller was driving his car. He has been unable to talk since but is able to walk about the house a little.

Neighbors gathered at the Miller home from all directions Monday of this week and picked his corn and every effort is being made to help him in his time of severe trouble.

ORD TELEPHONE COMPANY SOLD TO WOODS INTERESTS

WOODS HEADS COMPANY

Lincoln Capitalist President of Continental, New Owners of Ord Institution.

The Continental Telephone company, of which Frank L. Woods, Lincoln capitalist, is president, is the new owner of the Farmers Telephone company of Ord, a deal being closed this week by which the Lincoln concern purchased the majority of the stock. They will operate the Ord exchange as a part of the Continental system.

J. H. Agee, vice president of the Continental, and general manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, closed the deal. A. C. Cragg and W. S. Lemon, auditors, are in Ord this week completing arrangements for the transfer.

Ole Bailey, manager of the Ord company, retires January 1 and will go to California to spend the winter months. His future plans are indefinite. Alvin Blessing will remain with the company for at least a year.

The new owners expect to operate the Ord exchange as a part of their state wide telephone system and are very strong financially. They expect to maintain the high efficiency maintained by the company under Mr. Blessing and Mr. Bailey.

No changes will be made in the personnel of the operating staff, all operators and line men being retained.

KENSINGTON

The Christian ladies will hold a Kensington at the church December 8. Program and refreshments. Mrs. McGrew and Committee. 38-17p

Ord Football Team Has Good Record

That a fine record has been made by football teams of Ord high school during the last four years is revealed by statistics compiled by Ralph W. Norman, president of the high school athletic board. Only 12 games have been lost in that time.

Thirty-four games have been played by the locals in the four years. Of these Ord has won 20, lost 12 and tied two.

In the season just completed Ord won 6, lost 1, and tied 1, amassing a total of 162 points to their opponents 48.

Raymond Noyes, Herbert Colwell and Rex Reed are the mentors who have been at the head of Ord athletics recently. Colwell, remaining for two years. Figures for two years previous when Coaches Buck and Flynn were at the head of Ord athletics, and good records established, are not available.

Last Saturday Alvin Jensen made an overland trip to Albion bringing his brother, Courtney, home with him. The latter returned Sunday evening.

The Quiz has the nicest line of Christmas cards this year it has ever stocked. It is time to place your order now. Later stocks will be broken and it will be impossible to get them in time for mailing.

Bystander Praises Mrs. Mable Gillespie

"The Bystander," a column edited "By Heck," and published in The Osceola Record, York Republic and other Nebraska newspapers, speaks half in jest and half in earnest about Mrs. Mable Gillespie, recently elected Sarpy county legislator and a daughter of former Judge Gudmundsen of Ord. The Bystander says:

"I notice that Maybel Gallpsay the lady member of the Leggislator from Greeley is the only woman member that made the grade this time. Two years ago there was 3 women down there and now there is only 1. Coarse Maybel looked after her robes and bridges purty careful and also her fences. She was goin to have a bridge put over the Platt river fue rods and then the robes was to be paved sevрил miles back from the bridges, but she finely pu thn a lot less bridges and cutt down purty heavy on the pavin and so she bill paid. But it was good to see Maybel lobbyin the men members of the legislator to gift them to vot for her bridge bill. She kan smiler very sweet and smart and she nose jest whare to hang on the complimentary stuff jest like the frostin on a pie and there was quite a lot of me boys that bill onto that frostin of Maybells and so she finely got the bridge bill over and I reckon as how she is comin back to bridge the places that she misst thet ast time by Heck."

ORD BUSINESS MEN WELCOME NEW CREAMERY

Purchase Space in Industrial Edition of Quiz to Express Faith in Industry.

Nearly every merchant and business institution in Ord has an advertising space in this, the industrial edition of the Ord Quiz, to express their faith in Ord's future and to welcome the new creamery. While each has a message of his own to Quiz subscribers, the motive behind each is one of solid approbation of Ord's new institution.

Many people will be surprised at the number of businesses in Ord which can properly be called industries, and which are represented this week in the Quiz.

The Ord Milling company, which has long been an industrial institution of Ord, has taken a full page this week to inform Ord people of the advantages of using their products. They welcome the new creamery, as an old established industry to a new one.

The Weekes Seed company, buyers and raisers of popcorn, seed corn, sweet corn and other seeds, has a message all its own for Ord people. They too welcome the creamery in a half page ad.

Hilcrest Sanitarium and the Ord Hospital each has taken large space to welcome the new institution. These modern hospitals, with their splendid equipment, have a large place in the life of modern Ord and everyone should read their messages.

The Desch Monument Works, carvers of tombstones and markers of distinction, can properly be classified as an Ord institution and has a large ad in this issue.

Flagg and Tunnickler, the People's Store, the J. C. Penney company, the Williams-Anderson Motor company, Stoltz Variety Store, the Protective Savings and Loan association, and many other, have good-sized ads this week. The motive behind each announcement is one of welcome for the life of modern Ord and everyone will mean a great deal to the people of Ord and Valley county and they ask you to come to Ord December 11, opening day, and inspect the new plant. Nearly everyone of them own stock in the creamery, too.

Don't overlook a single thing in the life of modern Ord and read from front page to back. Join with the Ord business men and industries in welcoming the new creamery, and heed the message of the ads in patronizing the businesses that are boosting for the creamery.

ANOTHER SATURDAY SPECIAL

In McLain-Sorenson's store news on page two they are advertising a really attractive Saturday special for this week—something every family needs. They will give two one dollar boxes of fine social stationery for the price of one. Every Quiz reader can gain inspiration for Christmas gifts by reading this lively, interesting ad.

You can't buy any nicer Christmas cards anywhere plain than the Quiz will sell you with your name printed on. They are nicer printed.

Yourself and Others

The Jack Brown family were down from Burwell last Thursday.

Miss Anna Holoun was a passenger last Thursday for Lincoln.

John Clemmy, who is attending college at Grand Island spent a few days last week with home people.

Miss Josie Kriz left Saturday for Grand Island where she will act as nurse on a special case.

Mrs. Dorothy Robinson, Broken Bow, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Timmerman last week.

Miss Helen M. Fisher, a Junior high school teacher went to her home at Loup City last Thursday morning.

Saturday morning Tom Jablonski left for Cheyenne, Wyo., to see his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Schuyler.

Recently Mrs. Howard Alvord moved into the C. E. Timmerman property in the north part of town.

Mrs. J. H. Cronk, Emmett, Idaho, who lately arrived, is going to spend several weeks with her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Timmerman.

Doc Thompson and wife went to Cushing last Thursday morning and visited with a daughter and her family until Friday evening.

Last week Mrs. Homer Collins was entertaining a sister, Miss Lillian Souders, Colby, Kas. She teaches this year at Hazard, Nebr.

Before coming to Ord last week to visit their mother, Mrs. Mary Beran, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Suntych and little son spent several days at St. Paul.

Last week Mike Seyvek and family left for Pittsburg, Pa., where they will make their home. They have lived in Valley county for ten years.

Ted King was up from Lincoln where he is attending college, and spent a few days with his parents the latter part of last week.

Adrian Tolen went to Cotesfield last Thursday morning and visited until Saturday with his aunt, Miss Grace Tolen.

Mrs. H. G. Frey and son Ross were passengers last Thursday morning for Long Pine where they spent a few days with her mother.

Hubert and Will Vodehnal, who attend the St. Paul college, were spending a few days at home the latter part of last week.

The George Parkins family have been enjoying a visit with their daughter, Miss Mary, who is attending the state university.

Mrs. Archie Coombs came up from Cotesfield last Thursday morning and from Ord went to Burwell to visit relatives. She returned to Ord and was a guest of Mrs. H. L. Cushing.

Les Seerley, a brother of L. W. Seerley, had for several weeks been working in the country, picking corn. He finished the job and last week returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Seerley at Grand Island.

Among the outgoing passengers last Saturday morning was Mrs. Max Wilson and little son, Billy, who were returning to their home at St. Edwards. Mrs. Wilson had been at Ord for over a week with her sister, Mrs. Ted Brown and family.

Relatives received word last week that Mrs. Will Valasek was very ill at Rochester, Minn., where she had gone for medical treatment. Her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Krahulik and their father, Carl Bouda, left at once to be with her. Will had been with his wife during her stay at Rochester.

G. H. Russell came down from Burwell and spent Thanksgiving day with his wife, who has been at their daughter's Mrs. Anthony Koupa's home for a few weeks assisting in the care of an invalid sister. Mr. Russell returned to Burwell last Friday morning.

Mrs. Irvin Thelin and daughter, Miss Marjorie, came up from North Loup last Saturday for a few hours. The latter is teaching this year in Sherman county and comes home every Friday evening. Mrs. Thelin tells us her father, Tom Rockhold, Stockton, Calif., is not very well this winter.

FACTS ABOUT NEBRASKA
Nebraska has 6,439.54 miles of steam railway tracks in operation. The Burlington leads with 2,283 miles; the Union Pacific and Northwestern come next with 1,227 and 1,099 miles respectively.

The Union Pacific railroad paid $6,979,747 taxes in 1925. The U. S. government received something more than three millions and of the remainder the largest payment came to Nebraska $1,658,451.19. The Burlington road paid out in the state for taxes $2,275,000, which is $300,000 less than paid in Illinois.

Six electric railway companies operated in Nebraska in 1925 on 214 miles of track. 535 passenger cars traveled 11,296,483 miles carrying 55 million pay passengers and 16 millions of passengers on transfers. Several miles of street railway track have been abandoned since the last annual report.

Of the 150 independent telephone companies in Nebraska reporting to the railway commission the total book cost of the properties amounts to $5,621,074, with $5,767,000 in stock. The Bell company is valued at $20,000,000 but makes no report as to amount of stock issued.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE EXTENSION NOTES

Woodlots Need Thinning.
Some profitable time can be spent this winter in the woodlot not only cutting out the dead wood but in thinning out the poorly formed trees and the trees that are suppressed by the more rapid growers. The straight rapid growing trees will then make a better growth next year. All the wood that is taken out will make either fuel or posts, and it will cost nothing because the thinning of the old woodlot will actually benefit the trees that are left.

Open a Window.
The old charge that a kitchen is "Museum of Smells and Tastes" should not be true in this day when everyone knows the value of fresh air. The kitchen window should be made to open from the top, regardless of what must be done to it to get it loose enough to open. Too often, even in the most modern homes, the bottom sashes of the windows are pried open in the summer time and the top sashes left stuck with paint. The top sash should be opened to let the hot, used air out and the cool, fresh air into the kitchen without causing a direct draft on the worker. No one thing will cause the housewife to feel as tired and disagreeable as the lack of fresh air in her workshop. The temperature should be maintained at 60 to 63 degrees and the air should be constantly changing.

When Shorts are Economical.
When local prices for good gray shorts or middlings make it possible to buy them for about the same price per pound as corn, they are worth the money for hog feed, tests at the Nebraska Experiment Station have proven. When corn is 75 cents per bushel, farmers can afford to pay as high as $27 to $30 per ton for shorts. The addition of shorts to a self-fed ration of corn and tankage free choice increased the daily gain per pig about a quarter of a pound. The addition also made the gains cost slightly less per hundred pounds and the profit on the pigs about $2.00 more per head in a 100 day test. Shorts should not be considered as a substitute for tankage. They tend to take the place of corn fodder rather than tankage in the usual corn and tankage ration. In this test 75 pounds of shorts took the place of 68 pounds of corn and 15 pounds of tankage. Brown shorts are slightly lower in feeding value than gray shorts.

Nebraska Winners in Chicago.
Thirty-five Nebraska boys and girls are spending the week in Chicago. They are the winners of prize trips and smaller awards offered by commercial concerns to the outstanding boys and girls 4-H club members in the state. Winners from every state in the union are meeting in Chicago at the annual Club Congress, held in connection with the International Livestock Exposition.

Among Nebraska's representatives are Minnie Loyd of Custer county, champion of home economics clubs; George Reinmiller of Seward county, champion of the baby beef clubs. In the national contests Nebraska will be represented by the state fair winners of the livestock judging contest, Cleora Majors, Clyde Batie and Clarence Nalls of Dawson county; of the foods judging contest, Claire Frink of Adams county; of the clothing judging contest, Evelyn Randells of Nance county; of the style show, Esther Kobesteln of Adams county; and of the health contests, Clarence Crowell of Webster county and Claire Frink of Adams county. The entire Nebraska party will be chaperoned by local leaders and members of the agricultural extension force while on the way to and from the Congress, and while there, will take their places in the squads, companies and battalions always formed to take care of the 1200 boys and girls from all over the country. They will see more in a week than the average visitor could see of the big city in a month. They will be royally entertained as they deserve for being the best of some 3,000 boys and girls club members in this state in 1926.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.
Two restaurants adjoining were trying to out do each other. One morning a sign appeared in the window of one reading: "The Cook from Next Door Eats Here."
The owner of the other restaurant saw the sign and placed one in his window reading: "Our Cook Died Last Night from Poison."

Club Work Should be Expanded.
More than 565,000 farm boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H club work in the United States. They belong to about 41,000 separate clubs. There are about 11,000,000 young people on farms, all of whom could profit from learning better farm and home practices through club work. "The work should be expanded," says Dr. G. B. Smith, chief of the Office of Co-operative Extension Work, in a new circular, "that all rural boys and girls who want to can take part in it and receive its benefits."

The organization, purposes and scope of 4-H club work are explained by Dr. Smith, who goes on to say that the outstanding characteristic of the work is that each member conducts a substantial piece of work, designed to show some better practice on the farm or in the home or community; keeps a record of results; explains the work to others; and makes a final report on the work. The individual boy or girl is reached through the national agricultural extension system, in which the United States department of agriculture, the land grant colleges and various local agencies cooperate. Typical lines of club work are: Growing an acre of more of cotton in accordance with directions, raising a sow and litter of pigs according to instructions, growing fruit and vegetables in accordance with the dietary needs of the family, canning the surplus in the most approved ways, and other phases of farm and home work that especially appeal to young people.

The work is carried on with boys and girls 10 to 20 years of age, usually through groups of 10 to 20 members. These members not only come into contact with their local leaders who know how to do things, but with the work of one another, in which rivalry plays a part, and with the public in field meetings, exhibits at fairs, festivals and demonstrations.

The particular value of club work is that it gets hold of young people while their minds are plastic and gives them guidance when they need it, teaches them some of the inspiring things in agriculture, and gives them visions of its possibilities as a life job. It provides opportunity for them to share home responsibilities in keeping with their ability and gives them a part in solving the problems of rural communities. It influences the farm and home practices of the members' families. It develops rural leadership. In short, the circular summarizes, "4-H club boys and girls as doers. They are taught high ideals and standards. They meet together, work together, play together, cooperate, achieve. They play the game fairly. They demonstrate, work, earn money and acquire property. VOL. 1 No. 3

Published in the interests of the people of Valley county by McLain & Sorensen

Well, people! It's getting closer and closer to Christmas time... are you getting your shopping done? Don't delay until the last moment as you've always done before. Remember the sad result. Just bring your list and choose from our stock - you'll find so many fascinating possibilities!

A young curate wanted to tell the congregation that the regular pastor would soon return, but being a little nervous he said, confusedly, "I am happy to announce that your shoving leopard will be with you next Sunday."

New boxed stationery of every style, color, size and quantity. Any selection from this lot will delight even the most fastidious one on your gift list.

Landlady: "Isn't this a good chicken?"
Boarder: "It may have been morally, but physically it's a wreck."

Just what you'd enjoy giving for a wedding present, or for Christmas! The fine quality of pottery that everyone admires softly tinted. Especially attractive little pots for ferns or flowers; a number of pretty wall vases, low bowls, etc., with the naturalistic raised design.

Don't go around looking like something the regman dropped. Come in today and buy one of our new whiskbrooms!

We'll order those flowers for you! Have you been wanting to send some to the Very Best Girl Friend? Or to your mother? Or order some to brighten up the house for the holidays? Quick service, fine flowers - try us.

"Did you ever fall in love with words?" inquired Funk & Wagnalls the dictionary folks. Oh, yes, indeed! Such as "Enclosed find check."

The baby will just love one of our new pottery porringers, with bright pretty pictures and the alphabet and the numbers on it! So built that he can't possibly spill his food!

The daintiest powder puffs you ever saw are our pretty blue, green, yellow, pink and white ones. As soft as they are beautiful.

Start a dresser set for the little girl. Add a few pieces of ivory at each birthday and Christmas, and she'll soon be the proud possessor of a complete toilet set of her very own.

"Any abnormal children in your class?" inquired the school inspector.
"Yes," replied the harassed looking schoolmarm, "two of them have good manners."

Be good, children! Christmas isn't far away you know. Santa Claus left part of his toys at McLain & Sorensen's so that you could see them. Gee, don't you hope Santy brings one of those little trains to you? Or a couple of nice games?

Christmas boxes of every size at this store. You may choose from many pretty designs - the usual holly or poinsettia pattern or some covered with pine tongs loaded with cones, or with Santa and his reindeers.

Get the tissue paper and seals too, while you think of it.

We are going to have Christmas wreaths, and sprays to bring cheer into every place they go. Get one for the back window of the car, and some for the house and office.

Every week watchful readers of this "Crier" are going to get some bargain. Watch for the announcement of the Saturday Special each week.

Encourage the boys and girls to read - give them good books for Christmas. We have a splendid selection to choose from. We also have an excellent life-story of Theodore Roosevelt, and a very fine autobiography of Edward Bok, the immigrant boy from Holland who put the Saturday Evening Post and the Ladies' Home Journal where they are today. Very interesting gifts these would make for older members of the family.

Clipped Comment
With a Bit of Our Own

The Wayne Herald offers the following bit of wise advice to boys and girls:

"Boys and girls should understand that it is the habits of the hands and brains. They should know that when they are employed in useful service, they are very much enhanced in popular esteem. Besides, with plenty of work to do and with the will to do it, they will develop stronger characters to resist evil temptations. Many crimes in large centers of population may doubtless be traced to failure to understand the importance of work and failure to develop ability to work. Then comes thirst to satisfy demands without money, and then surrender to crime to secure unearned profits and gratify unearned luxuries. Of supreme importance to character building as well as to comfort and security is the habit of industry."

The Geneva Signal comments on the difference between methods of butchering in America and Denmark, with percentage farmers get from amount paid by the consumer, but sees no remedy for the condition. He says:

"Frank Lowden says the farmers of Denmark get seventy per cent of the price paid for their hogs by the consumers of the hogs, while American farmers get only forty-five per cent of the money paid by the consumers. Mr. Lowden could not but admit, if it were put up to him that such a comparison has no direct application, it is our understanding that there are no great packing plants in Denmark such as we have in this country. In Denmark meat gets from the farm to the consumer without such tremendous railway expense as we have in this country. We could butcher our own meat but we refuse to do it. As long as we ask the packers to do it for us we must pay them. The smallness of Denmark is to her advantage in a matter like this."

The Fullerton News-Journal uses the case of Henry Ford to deliver a lesson on the value of advertising. While the article which follows applies primarily to corporations and national advertising, Ord merchants will read it with interest:

"Advertising? Chevrolet sales have grown by leaps and bounds. Ford sales have dropped off."

"This editorial is not a free boost for Chevrolet cars or a knock for Ford cars. The new model of the Ford car is undoubtedly better than ever before; the Chevrolet car is a very good one as shown by the increasing group of satisfied users."

"In spite of this neck-and-neck record for quality and satisfaction, figures show that Chevrolet sales are growing and Ford sales are declining. What is the reason?"

"Many reasons are ascribed by the wise and the 'otherwise.' But there is food for thought in this: General Motors Company, who build Chevrolets have been and still are conducting a gigantic advertising campaign. Henry Ford, on the other hand, has moved from one advertising policy to another, each time decreasing his advertising, until now the direct burden is put on the local dealer. While double page magazine spreads, bill boards and car-signs have multiplied to tell of the models of Chevrolet, the same space devoted to the wonderful little cars made in the Ford plants has been growing smaller and farther between."

"One may think that because a thing is well known it needs no more advertising. The Ford and Chevrolet sales and production maps show this is not true. Both cars are good, both are worth every cent they cost the buyer, and both are backed by thousands of satisfied users, but the figures show that advertising is necessary in the face of competition. What could be better known in America than the Ford car? Ford is a household word in almost any language on the globe, and yet a competing car leaps ahead in production and sales just because it is advertised more."

"Remember Pearline washing compound, St. Jacobs Oil Liniment, Pears Soap? They disappeared from the buyer's market basket right after the advertising program was cancelled."

"Today a rather mediocre brand of soap enjoys enormous sales from coast to coast simply because it is advertised steadily, and persistently."

"Just because the results of advertising cannot be measured in a pall like molasses or milk, there are many who claim it does not bring results. Yet a great many corporations who are inflexible in their production costs spend hundreds of thousands of dollars advertising. If it did not pay the Standard Oil Company, the K. C. Baking Powder Co., General Motors Company, and others of their kind to advertise in the News-Journal and hundreds of other county seat newspapers in this country you may be very certain that they would not do it. And if it pays them, it will pay anyone who has goods or service to sell."

The Greeley Citizen, under a head, "The Mystery of Bigotry," asks why people are intolerant of the religious opinions of others. The only answer Mr. Curran can find is the quotation from the scriptures, "They persecuted me and they will persecute you." But read the editorial, which is full of sound common sense:

"Bigotry is one of the mysteries of life."

"Why should one be intolerant of the religious opinions and practices of others and which differ from his own?"

"Speaking generally, no one suffers financial loss or inconvenience because of the religion or religious practices of his neighbors. Because your neighbor is a religious man or woman, you have much to gain and nothing to lose."

"Why should the spirit of religious hatred and prejudice manifest itself? It's hard to understand. It is particularly hard to understand in this

GIVES TIPS TO DAIRY FARMER

Bulletin Issued by United States Tells Cream Producer How to Handle Cream.

The United States department of agriculture is interested in the movement to raise the quality of butter made in this country and sends out the following bulletin full of helpful hints in taking care of the cream and in producing good cream.

The Hastings Industrial company which built the Ord creamery stresses the fact that higher prices are paid for high quality butter than for butter of lower quality, and that the size of the rebate to the dairy farmer customer of the local creamery will depend entirely upon the price paid for butter.

Read the bulletin reprinted below.

BETTER CREAM RULES

1. Wash and scald the separator, cans, pails, and all utensils immediately after using and keep them dry while not in use. Sunshine is a cheap and effective drying agency.
2. Cool the cream after skimming and keep it cool by setting the can in cold water which is changed two or three times daily. Stir the cream at least twice a day and don't mix the warm cream with cold cream.
3. Deliver the cream frequently; at least twice a week. Protect cream in transit against heat in the summer by covering the cans with a wet blanket or with an insulating jacket.

Cleanliness

An efficient means of keeping milk utensils and separator clean and sweet after thoroughly rinsing, scrubbing, with a brush and finally steaming or scalding them with boiling water, is to place on a rack, permitting free circulation of the air, to drain and to dry. Sunlight is a most economical drying agent. A dirty separator bowl is often the cause of inferior cream of poor keeping quality, and unclean flavor. Keep the cows and stable clean.

Proper Cooling.

Cool cream immediately after separation by setting the can in cold water. When cream comes from the separator it is warm and in ideal condition for bacterial decomposition and spoiling. If it is cooled promptly and kept cold until it leaves the farm, the activity of the bacteria is checked and the cream will remain sweet for a reasonable length of time. Don't mix warm cream with cold cream.

Flavor Defects of Cream.

There are two classes of flavor defects found in cream, namely:

1. Fermentation flavors, produced by the presence of living microorganisms or germs in the cream.
2. Absorbed flavors, due to the cream absorbing existing odors from the air or food, or to the derangement of the normal functions of the cows.

The sources of fermentative flavors are as follows:

HIGH ACID is probably the most common of the many cream defects. The cream is sour to the taste and smell, and usually suggests age. Improvement must be carried out by more cleanliness, proper cooling and more frequent delivery.

BITTER CREAM is quite common. It is cream that has been held too long and is liable to occur when cows are on pasture, since some plants contain bitter constituents.

CHEESY CREAM smells and tastes like cheese. Prompt cooling of the cream and keeping it at a low temperature, (50-60 degrees F) is the preventative.

YEASTY CREAM is foamy and smells like yeast. The gas produced by the yeast has caused the cream to foam, resulting in the loss of considerable cream. Yeasty cream is always a second grade. Keep all utensils and equipment clean.

country with a constitution that provides for religious liberty. And yet there are many bigoted people in this country. Such folk are out of tune with one of the nation's basic laws, and cannot be good Americans.

"There might be some excuse for bigotry, if any one suffered loss of money, character or complacency because of another's religion. But such is not the case."

"Bigotry is hard to fathom. It is one of life's mysteries, and the only explanation we have of it may be found in the scriptures where it is written: 'They persecuted me and they will persecute you.'"

The Grand Island Independent reports that more than two years ago Senator George Norris sounded a warning of the intention of big power companies in seeking to take Muscle Shoals. That this warning forecasted the development of one of the country's most dangerous trusts is revealed by an editorial paragraph from the Independent:

"Only two short years ago, Senator Norris, in his opening campaign speech in this city, while addressing himself to the Muscle Shoals matter and the determination of the government to give away hundreds of millions of government dollars to private interests, made the forecast that of all the country's monopolies this would be one of the most dangerous; for it would span the country in one big system. The forecast and the warning were regarded as visionary. But the Associated Press dispatches of last Saturday related how Boston that day had been served with electricity from Chicago and that this was only a forerunner of what was coming. Without passing upon other phases of the subject, it is certainly clear that again the senator from Nebraska appears to have known what he was talking about."

OWY CREAM has an odor resembling that of the cow or a poorly ventilated, unclean barn. More cleanliness in production, the use of small top milk pails and the prompt removal of the milk from the farm will tend to prevent the development of this defect.

METALLIC CREAM has the puckery taste of metallic salts caused by the formation of metallic salts as a result of the acid in the cream coming in contact with rusty utensils and cans.

Absorbed Flavors. These include flavors resulting from absorbed odors such as feed flavors, and flavors resulting from the derangement of the normal functions of the cow.

Some of the most common of these flavors and their sources are as follows: OIL CREAM—flavor of kerosene, gasoline and machine oil due to carelessness in handling oil about separator may be the cause; also certain micro-organisms are capable of producing an unpleasant odor and taste resembling that of machine oil. WEEDY CREAM is caused by cows eating garlic, rag weed, turnips, roots, rye or many other strong flavored plants and is more prevailing in early spring.

Care in Feeding Cows. Feeds that have pronounced flavor or odor should be fed after milking. Such feeds will taint the milk if fed shortly before milking. Usually such objectionable flavors or taints may be avoided by keeping back those feeds until after milking time. Milk and cream will be least affected by such feeds if fed after milking and not closer than five hours to the next milking time.

SMOTHERED CREAM has an unpleasant stale odor and flavor with a tinge of mustiness and is the result of keeping thick cream which has not been cooled in a tightly closed can; as well as mixing warm cream with cold cream. Stir the cream at least twice a day. A smothered flavor is likely to result if the cream is not properly stirred and cooled.

KITCHEN AND CELLAR FLAVORS CREAM are flavors and odors absorbed from potatoes, cabbage, ham, bacon, etc., and other odors common to the kitchen and cellar.

MUSTY CREAM is caused by holding the cream in a poorly ventilated cellar, cave or milkhouse. It is not advisable to keep cream in a cellar.

Producer Responsible. The quality of butter cannot be improved very much, unless the quality of the raw material—cream—is improved. Most cream of low quality is the result of neglect on the part of the producer while it is on the farms.

Every cream producer should take pride in delivering cream of the proper richness, that is clean, smooth, free from all undesirable odors, clean to the taste and sweet or only slightly sour. This is possible on every farm and can be accomplished without unreasonable labor or expense. Such cream will enable the butter-maker to manufacture butter that will bring the highest market price—which means a large consumptive demand and better prices and larger returns to the cream producer.

"Parthian Shot"

The Parthians were a warlike people who specialized in shooting arrows on horseback. Descending at top speed upon the enemy they delivered their darts and dashed on, turning to send arrows as they departed. A Parthian shot has come to mean a parting verbal dart aimed to be received but not returned.

The food value of BUTTER depends on the cleanliness and quality of your cream as received by the Creamery.

Butter of the very best quality can be made from your cream, but it will be necessary for the cream patrons to help the buttermaker.

A creamery, if it serves its purpose properly, is a service institution to a community and the farmers thereof. CREAM is an essential food for the health of the people.

Large production does not come from poor cows. It comes from good cows well cared for.

More Than Money in Co-operation

"Farmers have made more money through co-operation in their business - but there is another side to co-operation - and that is that around these co-operative centers are better communities and more honest and more kindly people," A. J. McGuire, general manager of the Minnesota Co-Operative Creameries' Association, said.

The United States Department of Agriculture and your own State Department of Agriculture are interested in the movement among Creameries for better quality butter. They are particularly interested in being of some assistance to you as a creamery patron to enable you to so care for your cream that you will receive the higher price to be paid for "No. 1" or "First Grade" cream.

"It's getting better and better," says Mrs. Ruth Squires-Winchester, Clayton, N. M., in writing to order the Quiz for another year. Such unsolicited tributes are the bouquets that make editorial life worth while.

Reports of poultry thefts are still seen in the dailies, but you don't hear of them in Valley county since the protective association was organized. Let criminals see that you mean business when you tell them to stop and they'll stop every time.

Many people think that federal aid is like manna from heaven, not stopping to think that the more "relief" of various kinds indulged in by government, the higher taxes will be. It is the folks who shout for "relief" who make ours a paternalistic government.

That the proposed farm relief plan, which involves an equalization fee, is illegal because it violates article one, section nine, of the constitution, is told in a Lincoln Star editorial. The clause reads "No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state." And, since organized agriculture doesn't want relief, it looks as though the scheme is dead, except as a campaign issue.

Pedagogues all over the country, including several prominent in Nebraska educational circles, are clamoring to have the office of secretary of education added to the president's cabinet. There is no reason for the establishment of such an office. It would merely increase the already heavy burden upon tax-payers and increase the paternalistic aspect of the United States government. Before the Civil war there was but one man on the government pay roll to every one hundred tax-payers; now the ratio is one to fifteen. Add a secretary of education, with his army of lackeys, and the ratio would be still further decreased with a resultant addition to the tax load. Every person in the sixth district should write to Congressman Simmons and protest against the move educators are sponsoring.

"Progress is being so rapidly and irresistibly made in the direction of electric power development and utilization that the time is not far distant when local and municipal plants will be unable to operate in successful competition with the giant companies," says the York Republican, commenting upon the experiment made by eastern companies in a one thousand mile hookup which furnished electricity made in Chicago to Boston power plants. The beginning of the super-power era is sounding the death knell for city and municipally owned plants. The time will come, is approaching inexorably, when cities like Ord will not be able to compete with large plants using cheap water power to manufacture their current. The day is far away, of course, but it is inevitable. It is both a menace and a blessing. Super-power, under proper control, will start a new era of human progress. But super-power left to develop as an unregulated monopoly, will be but another octopus—and the greatest and most powerful of all—to squeeze the life blood from the people of the United States.

THE CREAMERY OPENING

Next week Saturday, December 11, the new Ord creamery will open. And when it does, if experience in other communities is to be repeated, it will usher in a new era of prosperity for farmers of Valley county. It will be the beginning of the dairy business for many Valley county farmers. The creamery's opening has already been felt in many lines. A few weeks ago Colonel Ernest Weller gave a statement to the Quiz in which he said that milk cows were more in demand here than at any period in his auctioneering experience. He said that the prospect of the creamery had boomed prices of other stock and that more of the purchasers paid cash than for many years. This is merely an indication of the way conditions should be after the creamery has been operating a few years. The butter factory will bring $100,000 or more into the county, from butter sales. It will pay producers of cream $10,000 more for their product in the next year than they received in the past year. It will induce more and more farmers to milk a few cows as a side-line and hide themselves over the period between crops, when money is scarce. And, more than anything else, it will make them independent. Nebraska agricultural workers have always been more or less independent. We are a proud, stiff-necked race. During the period of depression, instead of shouting our woes to the world and pleading for charity, we sat down, worked hard and paid our debts. Crops sold for less than it cost to raise them but Valley county farmers, along with other farmers of other Nebraska counties, raised the grain that the world needed, even at a loss.

No cry for "farm relief" went up from the fields and farms of Nebraska. "Federal aid? Not us! Leave that to the Iowa farmers—they're harder hit than we are." We'll start a butter factory and if we lose money raising corn we'll make it back selling cream."

This year those who succeeded in raising a corn crop will sell it at good prices. Live stock is selling at fair prices. And with the creamery farmers of this county should be on the high-road to prosperity. The new institution means more money for the cream producer, more business for the merchant, more money deposited in the banks, greater credit facilities. Of course there are dangerous curves on this road Ord is starting on. The big companies may boost prices and try to put the local creamery out of business. When that happens, just remember that you'd still be getting the old price if the Ord creamery hadn't started and give your patronage to the institution that deserves it. Everybody should join in the welcome to the latest addition to Ord industry—the farmers' co-operative creamery and butter factory to be opened December 11.

GIVE A BOOK TODAY

"Give a book today," would be a good slogan for Ord people to follow in supporting the Ord public library, which recently completed a drive that resulted in the acquisition of one hundred and thirty-five new members. The public library is a rapidly growing Ord institution which should call forth the sincere support of every resident of this community.

Daily papers last week heralded the discomfiture of a Detroit bootlegger who entered a bookshop in whose window was displayed a sign reading "We will sell stimulants—but those within the law." Upon soliciting the patronage of the supposed "blind pig" the bootlegger was informed that the stimulants it purveyed were mental, not physical.

That is what good books are—mental stimulants. They bump the mind of the sleepy child awake. They are builders of character, sources of information, the greatest means of education, and mighty good amusement as well. Ord needs the public library but in order for it to succeed it must have the whole-hearted support of the community.

The library has a splendid selection of fiction and reference books now. The shelves will be surprised at the titles and the range of subjects embraced by the books of fiction, history and what not. But new books and more books are always needed, and that is where the support of the community is necessary. Every family has books no longer of value to those who are familiar with them, but which will be an acquisition to the library. "Give a book today" to the public library. And if you haven't a book to give, make the library a present of the price of one. And patronize the library. You'll find many worth while books to read upon the shelves in the city hall, and the librarian will gladly issue you a card. "Give a book today."

PAVING VS. GRAVEL

The rumor which leaked out last week to the effect that good roads boosters are planning a large meeting in eastern Nebraska in the near future, sounds a note that should be a threat and a warning to people of central and western Nebraska. It indicates that the thickly populated portions of this state are again going to make an attempt to hog the available road funds at the expense of residents of counties like Valley. There is no denying the fact that paved roads are good roads, better than gravel and requiring less maintenance expense when once installed. Possibly there are portions of the state where traffic is heavy enough to make paving economical. But, when good roads boosters talk of laying down paving between Omaha and Lincoln, or in other places, they are failing to take into account the need for good roads in central and western Nebraska.

While seven hundred miles of Nebraska roads have been graveled, there are hundreds more in need of grading and surfacing. There should be at least two east and west roads, and two or three north and south roads, completely graveled, traversing the state, before there is talk of paving.

An average cost per mile of paving in this state would be $25,000. Graveling will not greatly exceed $3,000. Neither figure, of course, takes into account the cost of grading. When a mile of road in eastern Nebraska is paved it will deprive eight miles of western Nebraska roads of gravel. And eastern Nebraska roads are now graveled and good for the heaviest traffic for many years to come. Roads in central and western parts of this great state have received little or no state work.

Every automobile owner in Nebraska contributes to the fund available for improving the roads. The gasoline tax is levied on the proposition that it will be a means of assessment whereby the man who gives the roads the hardest usage will contribute the most to their upkeep. Money collected should be expended on the same basis and money collected from Scottsbluff automobile owners should not be used to provide paving for Omaha drivers.

If contractors who are thought to be behind the proposition to have wish to kill the goose that lays the golden egg, they have only to keep on with the move they are starting. It is the surest way to start a huge and cry to abolish the gasoline tax.

WHY HELP THE FARMER?

Statistics that reveal in striking form the contrast between living expenses of the average farm family in 1880 and 1924 have been prepared by Prof. Ralph A. Felton, professor in the Cornell agricultural college. Joe Alden, editor of the York Republican, makes them the subject of a leading editorial. They reveal such a startling advance in the cost of living to the average farm family that we reproduce the editorial below:

"Prof. Ralph A. Felton, extension professor of rural organization in the Cornell agricultural college, presents some figures bearing upon family expenses that are most interesting. Two generations of the same family have lived on the same farm and have kept a family budget that reveals the following comparative expenditures:

Light, inc. upkeep . . . $1850
Food . . . $3973
Clothing . . . $2015
Taxes . . . $358
Church . . . $220
Drops and maces . . . $220
Trips and vacations . . . $220
Amusements . . . $220
General operations . . . $220
Coal, gas, auto, labor . . . $220
Miscellaneous . . . $220

Totals . . . $22,145 $25,637.76
These figures are not all conclusive but they show in a very striking way how living expenses have mounted in 44 years. In every department of the budget, except church, there has been an enormous percentage advance. In that one department, too, may be discerned formerly occupied. The relief that is needed to relieve the farmers of his economic distress must be found not in means to curtail his living expenses but in the means to enlarge his income. How shall it be done?"

Several striking contrasts are noted in the above statistics. In 1880 medical aid cost $6.40, in 1924 the second generation of the same family $167.30. Is the health of the family poorer, or are people of this generation more prone to magnificently fancied ills than were people of the nineteenth century?

The cost of farm operation in 1880 was but $14.96; in 1924 it was $691.51. Three children in 1880 cost $61.81, in 1924 the expense was $411.43! Miscellaneous expenses increased from $16.17 to $159.82! Every item of expense has doubled and trebled and increased tenfold in forty years. While the farmer's income has increased in the same period the increase has not been rapid enough to keep up with the additional expense. It is true that something must be done to increase the farmer's income. But it is equally true that something must be done by the farmer himself in decreasing his expenses. Items included in the 1880 budget are necessities those in 1924 represent many luxuries. The relief that is needed is a twentieth century standard of living classifies luxuries as necessities there is no answer to the problem, which applies to every town family as well as every rural family.

The farmer's income must be increased. The income of the small town family must be increased, but it is equally true that the expenses of the family must be decreased until such an increase is accomplished. Too many families live beyond their means; buy on monthly payments; "take the cash and let the credit go." It is just as important to change American families to a "pay-as-you-go" basis as it is to increase income so that more articles can be bought on extended payments. In reducing outgo, quite as much as in increasing income, lies the true solution of the farmer's problem.

My Own Column

In speaking in his paper, the Alliance Times-Herald, about the National Editorial association convention in Nebraska next year and the tour which the editors of the entire nation will take over this state and into the Black Hills country, Editor Ben Salloos mentions, among other noted newspaper men who will be on the trip, Arthur Brisbane and says it is the job of the people at Alliance, when the special trains get there, to sell Boy Butte county to the visitors. If the visitors and among them, Mr. Brisbane, who speaks through his "Today" column to between nine and ten millions of people every day, can be so favorably impressed with the city of Alliance and the splendid surrounding country that they will go home and write about it in their papers, the entertainment which will be furnished the visitors will be worth while. Just think what even a short story about Alliance would be worth in Mr. Brisbane's column alone.

I sure got in awful bad last week, seeking a suitable dress for the part of the "devoted wife of the henpecked husband" in the show, "The Womanless Wedding." I was entirely innocent in the whole matter too. I was given the names of fifteen or twenty Ord ladies some one of whom the ladies thought might have a dress that I could wear. I, myself, thought some of the women were pretty good size and couldn't understand why they seemed offended when I broached the subject of borrowing their best party dress for the occasion. Of course I wanted to look as "fitting" as possible and wanted a whole outfit, dress, slip and whatever comes next under that. If anything, socks, fancy garters, slippers and hat. I had called on ten or a dozen before I began to realize that I was getting in awful bad and finally one woman asked me who sent me there and intimated that if that lady thought she was as big as I really am, their friendship would cease at once. Another woman, when I asked for her slippers, looked at my feet and then asked me what size feet I thought she had and how. However I finally got all fixed out, silk stockings and all, except that I had to wear my own shoes and was, as a matter of fact, the best woman there, though I presume that 79 others thought the same thing about themselves. George Gard thinks he fooled the whole crowd and he might if the country cousin hadn't turned around quick in surprise when George opened his mouth to sing and the sound came from behind the piano where Lucille George-Tolen was parked.

Anyhow it was a good show and the actors had lots of fun. They looked funny, all standing around with their fancy dresses and war paint on, smoking cigarettes.

Isn't it time for someone to predict an early spring?

In checking over a list of the membership of the editors of Nebraska in the Nebraska Press association, I find that there are 21 counties that don't have a single member. One of these delinquent counties has as many as seven newspapers and several of them have five papers. Sure that kind of cooperation won't get the Nebraska editors very far. On the other hand there are 10 Nebraska counties that have 100 per cent membership in the Nebraska Press association and I am glad to be able to say that Valley county is one of them. I might also say that with one exception, Stanton county, they are all western Nebraska counties, that is, with that exception they are all west of Valley.

We often hear people say that the bankers and the lumbermen are so well organized that they are able to make a more outstanding success of their business, as a rule, than other business men do. That is probably true and it is because they are better organized. The bankers and lumbermen are thoroughly organized. The bankers especially have not only their national and state organizations but they have their district organizations as well. Not that they are organized to raise prices. They are not but they are organized and get together to talk over better methods of doing business, better credit systems, better collections methods, better buying of goods and probably one subject that is given more attention in their meetings than the others combined is how to give better service to their customers. Especially is this true in the banking business and there has been a great improvement in service rendered by the bankers in the last dozen or fifteen years.

It is not hard to remember back to the time when the newspaper man was the town financial joke. He traded his advertising and job work for the merchants goods and his subscriptions for the cabbages and potatoes and other things that his farmer subscribers had to dispose of. Back a few years, I don't know just how far, the editors began to organize and right away there was a change in the conditions around the newspaper offices of the country. Now it would be hard to find a Nebraska editor who would consent to trade his stock in trade consisting of job work, advertising space and subscriptions, for the wares of his customers. He collects the cash, as a rule, for what he sells and then pays cash for what he needs for his shop and family. As a rule the editor has as good a home, as well dressed a family, as good an automobile and takes as many vacation trips as do his business neighbors and it is all because he has organized and has started doing business along business lines.

Why, the average newspaper now keeps just as complete a set of books as does the banker. When a representative of Dun or Bradstreet comes to the Quiz office as they do annually, asking for a statement the bookkeeper can tell in two minutes just what condition the business is in and if she happens to be busy she can hand the credit man the ledger and he can get the dope for himself. Of course having the business in that shape does not mean that the newspaper man is always flush. Far from it. Like other business men he frequently finds his account in the red but he knows where he is at. He doesn't need to be surprised, some day when his banker comes in and tells him about it.

And so I say that it is a darned shame that there are twenty-one Nebraska counties, or one fourth of the counties of the state, about not represented in the NPA. The newspaper men in those counties are being benefited by the organization. They have been benefited for years but they are darned moochers. They are letting the others pay the freight and carry the load and they are getting the benefits, or a part of them. They could get lots more by becoming members and attending the meetings. I hope this condition will be remedied in the near future. I would like to see every Nebraska county 100 per cent members of the Nebraska Press association. Then we would become a power for the betterment of the service which the press of the state owes to its people.

There is something that I have been intending to talk about for some time but one thing and another has crowded it out. That thing is the lack of places to hitch teams. We have perhaps come to think that everyone drives cars. The other day a couple of ladies drove their team to town and had trouble in finding a place to tie the team. The place found was in the mud and the lines were down in the mud when the ladies were ready to go home. The lines might have been tied up more carefully and the ground is now frozen up so the lines wouldn't get muddy, but the fact remains that there are mighty few places within decent reach of the business places where teams can be hitched. This is a matter that the Community Service club could look after with profit.

If I can borrow a gas mask I am going down to Lincoln pretty soon and have a session with Ole and Mac. Nothing less than the best make of gas mask however would get a man through their barrage of smoke.

Border Patrol Uses Chevrolet Autos

Their uniforms may not be as brilliant, but their work is just as colorful as that of the Canadian mounted police. Their organization is too young to have the traditions of the Texas ranger behind it but they are making interesting history every day. They ride a "beat" that stretches from the pleasant coasts and cliffs below San Diego to the blazing heat of Sonora desert east of Yuma over trails that even those hard bit Spaulfish pioneers of long ago christened the "Jornado del Muerto", or Journey of death.

They are the boys of the border patrol of the United States immigration service, who, twenty-four hours out of the twenty-four and 365 days of the year, watch the Mexican border for Uncle Sam to see that no unwanted aliens "crash the gate" and make their way illegally into this country. Must Keep Out Aliens.

Four or five years ago there were only sixteen men employed on the border patrol between Tia Juana and the point sixty miles east of Yuma where the Southern California district ends. Then came the passage of the Johnson bill restricting immigration from the European nations, and where the patrol before had the single task of keeping out smuggling Chinese, there was added the much more difficult job of barring the way against natives of a dozen European nations.

Entrance to Mexico is open to any alien and from Mexico thousands of Europeans who have been unable to obtain legal entry to the United States yearly attempt to cross the line.

Today there are seventy-one men in the border patrol in this district. They are mounted, not on horses, but with a fleet of Chevrolet cars, recently purchased for their use by the government. Hitherto the men have owned their own cars but a late change in policy led to the purchase of the Chevrolet fleet for their use.

Catch Smugglers on First Trip. Few persons are aware of the tight watch maintained on lonely mountain roads, on dim tracks through the desert or the high meadow lands of San Diego's back country. You never know where you will find the border patrol at work, which, of course, is decidedly inconvenient for the men who make a business of smuggling aliens.

The very first trip of one of the Chevrolet fleet, for example, resulted in the arrest of three smugglers and two Chinese.

Patrol Inspectors E. Spies and R. V. Armstrong were camped in the Warner ranch meadows, where old Butterfield trail forks from the San Diego road and goes east over the pass down the valley of the San Felipe.

Overhauled Scout Car. In the chilly November dawn they halted a car with a single passenger. A search showed nothing suspicious in the car, and the driver, obviously nervous, was told to proceed.

A few moments later came a second car, but it held four passengers, two of them Chinese and two alleged smugglers. Realizing that the first car was a scout car, Spies held the prisoners while Armstrong leaped in the Chevrolet and set out after the scout car.

In spite of the fact that his car was stiff and new and that the fleeing car had a long start, Armstrong caught his man at Oak Grove. The three alleged smugglers face the prospect of a two year jail sentence and the Chinese will be deported.

From 90 to '50 arrests per month are made by the men in the border patrol service working along the Mexican line. Perhaps half of these are Chinese and the remainder are chiefly aliens from the south of Europe.

While the smuggling of aliens has scarcely reached the excellent degree of organization that the bootlegging industry has attained it is practiced by an even more ruthless class of citizen.

Entrance Price High. Their price scale runs from $100 to $1,000, depending upon where the smuggled individual is landed, and the difficulties attending it. Border reports have it that smugglers are quite as apt to murder their customers as to make an attempt to deliver them across the line, and that many an alien is summarily ushered into quite another country than that to which he sought entrance.

They are the boys of the border patrol of the United States immigration service, who, twenty-four hours out of the twenty-four and 365 days of the year, watch the Mexican border for Uncle Sam to see that no unwanted aliens "crash the gate" and make their way illegally into this country.

It is no easy job, this border patrol service and has more than its share of long hours, danger and discomfort. It requires a degree of initiative, of tact, of quick observation and resolute courage that not every applicant for the work possesses. The men long in the service develop an uncanny skill in picking out aliens.

Their initiative is proven by an act of the Imperial Valley inspector, who through an emergency faced the task of guarding four roads at once. He flooded two of the roads from the irrigation canals, commanded a crowd bar and tore up a bridge on the third and stood guard on the fourth until he was relieved. It put some travelers to a little inconvenience but there was no hole in the border net that night.

Farmer's Prosperity Begins With Creamery

A creamery, if it serves its purpose properly, is a service institution to a community and the farmers thereof. Hundreds of communities and thousands of farmers within these communities owe their prosperity and date the beginning of it to the time when the creameries within their midst began operations.

A creamery, however can only serve as a suitable market for milk, cream and butterfat after these dairy products have been produced. A creamery can pay only a certain amount per pound for butterfat, this price, however, being governed within reasonable bounds by the quantity and quality of butterfat available.

It is true that the prosperity of the patrons of a creamery is dependent to a degree upon the price per pound the creamery pays, even at the price the creamery pays is so dependent upon the quantity and quality of its patrons' production.

It is, therefore, apparent that to deserve the largest service from a creamery its patrons must strive for large quality production of milk and butterfat. In doing this, the patrons enlarge the service the creamery can render, but to a larger degree, they serve themselves individually, because:

Large production from the individual cow is cheap production and cheap production sold at a fair price is profitable production.

Large production does not come from poor cows. It comes from good cows well cared for.

It is true that only about one-third of the cows milked in the United States are making a profit for the men who milk them. It is unnecessary to suggest that such a situation is unjustified.

If all of the lowly productive cows in any community were eliminated and their stalls filled with good cows, that community would immediately enter upon an era of prosperity. Every man within the community who milked cows and cared for them well would immediately begin to prosper. A change like this can be made by purchasing good cows and bringing them into a community. To do so is a wise plan, provided the place can be financed, but:

To do this and not look into the future is not wise and many communities there are today that are experimenting foolishly.

Dr. Pinckney Speaks at Rotary Luncheon

Dr. Pinckney of North Loup was the principal speaker at the Monday noon Rotary luncheon. Other guests were D. A. Gard, of Millford, father of Dr. Gard, Rev. J. B. Moyer, pastor of the local United Brethren church, and George E. Johnson of North Loup. Miss Carter of the Ord teaching force was also a guest and presided at the piano. This is the second time Miss Carter has been a guest of the club and she will no doubt be a frequent visitor in the future for she is very proficient at the piano and the members enjoy hearing her play. The guests all responded briefly when they were introduced after which the president introduced the day's speaker.

Dr. Pinckney was for some years a missionary in India and his talk on India was very interesting. He said India was a country about a third the size of the United States with a population about three times the size of our population. Speaking of castes, he said there were innumerable castes, some claiming that there were forty thousand different ones. Caste he said did not indicate riches, on the contrary he said that a high caste man might be very poor. About a third of the people have done something that caused them to be outcasts, that is, to be left outside any caste. Their only hope was to get back into caste in some future incarnation and all outcasts looked forward to the time when, after death and their spirit being back on earth in the body of some animal, perhaps several times, that they might at some future time be again in the shape of a man and some recognized caste. He said that about the first thing an India man did in the morning was to mark his forehead with the mark of his caste. Sometimes it was one, two or three straight marks and some times a more complicated marking indicating his caste but he would as soon think of going out in the morning without his caste mark as the average Ord business man would think of going to his office minus his headgear.

Dr. Pinckney said that caste, even high caste and religion didn't indicate morality in that country. A man might be intensely religious and at the same time intensely immoral. The men of the various castes don't mingle, those of lower castes having to stay a certain distance away from the men of higher castes and the lower their castes the further away they have to stay. They are very particular about their castes, so much so that they won't eat food that has been prepared by a lower caste man, or even food that the shadow of a lower caste man has fallen upon. He will throw it away and go hungry first, says Dr. Pinckney.

Only three of the 24 members of the Rotary club were absent for the Monday luncheon and all enjoyed the program and the Pinckney talk greatly. The feature of having someone play the piano with the Rotary singing, which was started several weeks ago, is a very pleasing one. Among those who have assisted with this feature are Misses Davis, Pecenka, McGinnis and Carter and perhaps others whom we have forgotten but we hope the custom will be continued.

More Than Money In Co-Operation

"Farmers have made more money through co-operation in their business—but there is another side to co-operation—and that is that around these co-operative centers are better communities and more honest and more kindly people," A. J. McGuire, general manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries' association, said.

"Co-operation encourages the golden rule in business—in fact, it enforces it."

Mr. McGuire said the first co-operative creamery organized in Minnesota had certain rules that were really the foundation of its business and rules which practically all other co-operative associations have followed.

"He defined a successful co-operative creamery as one with a sufficient volume of business, with good business judgment and one which turns out a high quality product. These things are also just as important to the success of other kinds of co-operative organizations."

"The success of the co-operative creameries in their beginning can be attributed in a large measure to the way a certain man, who was in co-operation, and who had the ability to inspire others. He was backed by great educational work through the University of Minnesota. Fortunately it was the policy of the state to encourage co-operation—to make it a part of their educational program. Co-operation must be backed by education."

"No monopoly or arbitrary price fixing is required, he said. Farmers are simply asking a decent standard of living and prices in proportion to production costs."

"When he presented the figures to show that members of the Minnesota co-operative creameries received higher prices for their butter fat by grade than was paid by commercial creameries in the same territory, Mr. McGuire's statement was challenged by a Chicago gentleman who was evidently a member of a produce house. This gentleman at once brought to their feet a half dozen men in the audience who presented figures in their community, showing that co-operative creameries have paid from 4 to 10 cents per pound more for butter fat than was paid to farmers who did not belong to such creameries."

A Token of Affection

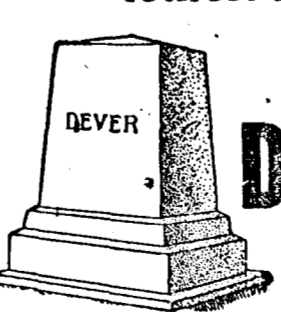

Almost the only way to show your love for the dear one who is gone is to place a monument on the spot where the few earthly remains are interred. Of beautiful and enduring granite, the marker of your choice is a permanent and dignified expression of your sorrow.

A massive block, such as the one shown above, is suitable for more than one member of a family. With it may be used individual markers for each grave. The monument pictured is rich in its very simplicity, with just enough ornamentation to relieve it of looking too heavy and substantial.

The rather classic lines of the graceful shaft shown in the illustration at the right are very properly carved only with the name and traditional laurel sprays.

Illustrated in the lower left-hand corner is a granite block which combines the functions of marker and monument. This is often used where only a single grave, not in a family lot, is desired to be distinguished in memory of the one who is gone.

The custom of choosing now a large monument to bear the family name for a common plot, against tomorrow's needs, is finding increasing favor. Plan for the future.

Line had given Loup City possession of the ball on the Ord two yard line. From there Thompson fell over the goal line and Referee Wilson declared it a touchdown, although the headlinesman declared the score was made after the referee's whistle had blown. Be that as it may, it saved Loup from defeat and ended the scoring for the game.

Officials—Referee, Wilson, Grand Island; Umpire, Ashly, Grand Island; Headlinesman, Jensen, Ord.

Play-by-play results follow:

First Quarter. Loup City wins toss. Thompson kicks off 45 yards, Lashmet returns 33 yards. Lashmet makes 3 yards around right end. Mason punts 47 yards to the Loup City 1 yard line. The ball is advanced 10 yards so Loup City can punt because of the board fence on the west end of the field. On a fake punt Pritchard makes a short yard. Next play a bad pass from Kennedy, Loup City center, stops Loup City behind their goal line but Referee Wilson was slow with the whistle and Thompson just got over the line. Davis punts 30 yards, Lashmet hit right tackle for 3 yards. Lashmet circles left end for 4 yards. Mason plunges through the line for 3 yards. Loup City takes time out to hold conference. Mason smashes line for 2 yards and first end. Loup City time out. Burger hurt, Williams takes his place. Furtak, on a fake play circles left end for 12 yards, a surprising sight to Loup City fans. Mason makes 2 yards at left end and Lashmet makes two more. Three more yards to go. Mason hits line with a powerful plunge and almost hits the board fence for a touchdown. Place kick low. Score: Ord 6, Loup City 0.

Lashmet kicks off 40 yards. Thompson returns 10 yards. Thompson hits line twice for a gain of 4 yards.

Second Quarter. Davis makes 5 yards on a fake play. Thompson makes it a first and ten. Swink on two plays hits a stone wall and falls to gain. Davis takes a play and makes 3 yards at left end. Davis punts 20 yards out of bounds. Lashmet makes 9 yards around left end. Mason cracks line for 4 yards and a first down. Rounds makes 3 yards at right tackle. Al Furtak makes 5 yards on a fake play. Lashmet runs right end for 7 yards and a first down. Lashmet loses 4 yards when Davis breaks through. Rounds makes 4 yards through left tackle. A pass, Rounds to Andersen is good for 19 yards and a first down. Lashmet loses 3 yards when Danczak breaks through. Al Furtak makes 2 yards on a fake punt. Ord attempts place kick which was wide and low. Loup City's ball on their twenty yard line. Two fake plays by Thompson make 3 yards. Davis punts 32 yards, no return. Al Furtak makes 3 yards on a fake punt. Rounds gains 2 yards as the half ended. Score: Ord 6, Loup City 0.

Third Quarter. Lashmet kicks 43 yards. Thompson returns 9 yards. Davis makes a yard through right guard. Pritchard gains 4 yards at left end. Loup City penalized 5 yards for off side play. Bad pass from center lost two more yards. Wayne Norman receives a bad cut over the eye but continues play. Davis punts 23 yards out of bounds. Ord's ball. Ord is penalized 15 yards. Arch's Mason punts 32 yards out of bounds. Loup City's ball on their own 40 yard line. Thompson hits stone wall. Ord penalized 5 yards for off side. Thompson broke away for 13 yards and a first down. Davis makes 7 yards at right tackle and follows with a 6 yard smash for first and ten. Ord penalized 15 yards. Pritchard hits line, no gain. Thompson makes 6 yards at left end. Thompson hits line for 3 yards and 1 yard. First and goal. Pritchard hits line, no gain. Thompson hits line, no gain. With two yards to go referee blows whistle. Ord line relaxes and Thompson falls over line and referee Wilson declares it a touchdown.

Place kick fails. Score: Ord 6, Loup City 6. Thompson kicks 35 yards. Lashmet returned 4 yards. Pritchard hurt. Lashmet lost 7 yards.

Fourth Quarter. Al Furtak hits line for 1 yard. Mason punts 23 yards. Loup City's ball on Ord's 37 yard line. Davis hits stone wall. Thompson falls to gain. Loup City pass incomplete. Loup City attempts to punt but a bad pass from center results and Thompson punts. Loup City's ball. Anderson recovers for Ord. Mason hits line for 2 yards. Lashmet gains 4 yards. Wayne Norman hurt but continues play. Mason smashes line for 5 yards and first down. Lashmet hits right tackle for 5 yards. Mason smashes line for 1 yard. Ord penalized 5 yards. On attempted pass Danczak broke through and nailed Rounds for 15 yard loss. Ord's attempted place kick blocked and recovered by Danczak. A pass Thompson to Hansen, incomplete as the game ends. Score: Ord 6, Loup City 6.

Now would be a good time to close this but perhaps it would be of interest to know what changes seem to have taken place in Ord in the last two years to one who has been away that long from information derived from reading the Quiz.

Quiz Getting Better. First of all, the Quiz itself seemed to go off for about six months at the early part of the year and being a reflection of the town's activities gave me the impression Ord was going back but I am glad to see that the paper has returned to its old vigor and consequently the town itself has likewise.

The church, community club and social entertainment features have fallen off considerably, which to my mind is a pity as that is one of the great advantages of the small town.

Our Golden Gate Valley Commercial club put on a theatre party the other night which with the exception of a few professional turns was a complete fizzle as far as talent went and couldn't hold a candle to the minstrel show E. J. Wilson directed about four or five years back.

Have Bert Boquet, P. G. Howes, Ernie Weller lost their sense of humor? I don't see any more funny cracks in your 'Own Column'. John Ward doesn't seem to be coming to Ord on business any more although I see that Harry still goes to North Loup by train occasionally. I owe him a letter too.

Congratulations, Ben. I see two of the best liked men in Ord were put up for mayor and it speaks well for their popularity when they ran such a closer ace. Congratulations to Ben Rose are in order at the present time on his election. The Rotary club of Ord seems to have taken some of the best men from the Community club and have not accomplished anything as far as I can gather.

Have the Auble boys dropped their interest in music and community affairs or are their family and business affairs taking up all their time? I say, this is getting too personal for me, so I had better close with the enclosure of a check which will bring me up to the close of '26. I am going down to the cellar now to open a can of tomatoes and then come back and tune in Aimie down in L. A.

Almee Some Diver. Saw that was a record dive wasn't it? She dived right into the Pacific and came up in Arizona and they say that Mary Pickford is suing her for $50,000. What for? You'll bite? Why for fooling around Douglas? Do I have to put "Arizona"?

Small Mill at Burwell. Several years later a small mill began business at the Parks, now known as Burwell. This mill divided on a 50-50 basis and it was commonly bandied about at that time that 'you're lucky if you get your sacks back'.

In 1880 or 1881 a man called Larne decided there was real need for a mill here, and proceeded to turn enough water from the river into Haskell creek, by means of a short canal, to form a race and furnish power for his mill. This was near the Cedar Lawn farm.

Larne Starts First Mill. Mr. Larne was very short of capital but finally managed to negotiate for a pair of stone burrs which had been slightly used in a mill over on the Elkhorn river and were owned by a cousin of W. A. Anderson. The price was $100. H. P. Daggett helped to build the mill and set the burrs and was also head miller for quite a while. For many years these same burrs were used in the Ord mill to grind corn and feed but have now been replaced by more modern machinery.

The mill had its troubles and among them was the sand which drifted into the canal and race and had to be dredged out time after time. Another time a severe hail-storm blew holes in the north side of the building, making expensive repairs necessary which could hardly be afforded. But the mill remained in this spot for long years after Mr. Larne retired, ill-paid in a financial way for the great help he had given the early residents.

Ord Milling Company Starts. The mill changed hands several times, at last being moved across the river to its present location. The insecure foundations of the old building necessitated some action, and after it started to operate under steam power, using the roller process the mill became a great success. This was under the Milford ownership, just about the time the railroad came to Ord.

Bill Williams and M. A. Woodbury managed the mill before it came into the hands of the Collisons, Dahlins and Wrights. Now it is no longer an experiment or a venture, but has become an assured and prosperous success, under the supervision of J. S. Collison as president; Mrs. W. A. Wright, vice president; and Roy Collison, who is secretary, treasurer and active manager. The board of directors consists of J. S. Collison, Mrs. W. A. Wright, R. E. Collison and T. G. Wright.

Jardine Speaks, Praises the Co-op Associations

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 24.—The interest taken by the United States department of agriculture in the agricultural co-operative movement and the aims and intentions of that department further to increase its usefulness to the farming element of the nation were outlined here today by William M. Jardine, secretary of agriculture, in an address before the ninth annual meeting of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation.

"The co-operative associations in the United States are engaged in a far-reaching undertaking which we believe to be vital to the welfare of agriculture," he said. "From this point of view there should be no question of the attitude of the federal government toward co-operation. The movement deserves encouragement and support and this encouragement and support must be dynamic and positive."

Although the government is at all times ready to aid co-operative associations, Mr. Jardine said, "it should not and cannot effectively impose its services and assistance upon any group."

A gross amount of $66,535.65 from sale of butter, butterfat and buttermilk was reported by the creamery at Ashton, Nebr., after its first year of operation. On September 11 this creamery paid $5,836 in dividends to cream-sellers.

S. S. Polski is the manager of the Ashton creamery, which was built by the Hastings Industrial company, who built the Ord creamery which opens December 11. The Ashton company started operation in August, 1925, and has proved to be the greatest thing that ever happened for that community.

Business men of Ashton point out with pride the success of the company and the business it has brought to the town. Their sales are increasing daily and the whole country has assumed an aura of prosperity.

Every person in Ord should welcome the establishment of the Ord creamery on December 11.

Mrs. Mary A. Thomas from Fairmont arrived at Ord the latter part of last week. She had been visiting at Aurora. Mrs. Thomas is the mother of Mrs. Charles Watson and has often visited her daughter and family at Ord.

Still Fighting

Engineers say the age of windmills is past, but there are as many people fighting 'em as ever.

Friendship's Duties. To act the part of a true friend requires more conscientious feeling than to fill with credit and complacency any other station or capacity in social life.—Ellis.

Ancient Fairs. The Leipzig fairs are among the oldest and most important in Europe, dating probably to the Twelfth century. There are two a year. The Jubilate fair lasts from the first Monday in March until the Saturday of the following week, while the Michaelmas fair begins on the last Sunday of August and continues three weeks.

Human Nature. Our natures aren't simple and straightforward . . . good, bad, or indifferent . . . they're manifold; all edges and facets. It depends on what light catches them whether they show light or dark. Even then it's only the parts that catch the light that show at all.—From "Whipped Cream," by Geoffrey Moss.

Salt Evaporates From Ice

It is common knowledge to Arctic and Antarctic explorers that sea-ice more than a year old is entirely free from salt, although new ice contains the same amount of salt as sea water.

NEWS OF THE WEEK BY MRS. C. D. LANGRALL

Gafford Hendrickson drove to Kearney Sunday afternoon taking his sisters Edna, Zeta and Mrs. Hugh Pettijohn and Mr. Pettijohn back to their school work.

Maynard Carver returned to Lincoln Sunday to resume his studies at the university following a short vacation at home.

The Balsora aid met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jim Coons.

Fred Whitman left Saturday for Enid, Okla., to attend the funeral of his brother Will.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McClary returned to their school work at Poole Sunday, having visited in Arcadia over the week end with her mother, Mrs. Emma McGavran.

Mr. and Mrs. True Whitman and children came up from Grand Island last week for a visit at the home of their uncle Fred Whitman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson, Mrs. Charlie John and Miss Clara John drove to Kearney Wednesday of last week for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. John. They were accompanied home by Miss Myrtle John for her Thanksgiving vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weddel and daughter Margery drove from Carleton Thursday morning to eat Thanksgiving dinner with Harry's mother, Mrs. D. O. Hawley and Mr. Hawley. They were accompanied by Mrs. Weddel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Koenig and son Leon of Plymouth who visited with their daughter Miss Clara Koenig, one of the high school teachers. They returned home Friday afternoon.

Arcadia will have a Community Christmas tree this year. The ladies of the Up-To-Date club are sponsoring the movement and have already solicited the co-operation of the business men and some of the teachers. There will be a short but interesting program followed by a treat for the children. This tree and program is not for the city of Arcadia alone but for the many friends in the large surrounding territory as well. The date and program will be published later.

Miss Pauline Sorensen and pupils realized the sum of nearly fifty dollars at their box social last week. This is considered splendid and so far as we have been able to learn is the largest sum reported from any of the surrounding schools.

Walter Graff of Seward spent Thanksgiving in Arcadia, the guest of Miss Lillian Jeary.

Arcadia lost their football game to Merna Thursday with a score of 14 to 0. Following the game, the girls of the Pep Gang treated the visitors and home team to doughnuts and cider.

Mrs. D. R. Lee and sons, Miles and Alvin, spent Friday at Comstock with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Casteel and little daughter of Loup City spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Arcadia.

Miss Lillian Jeary spent the week end in Seward with her parents.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, Thursday evening the attendance at the Union Thanksgiving service was not as largely attended as had been expected.

Mrs. Will Hagood has been in the country assisting in the care of Mr. William Landon, who has been very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cox of Ravenna announce the birth of a daughter, Shirley Joan on Friday November 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ballard and children of Hereford, Texas, spent Wednesday night in Arcadia with Mrs. Ballard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Stephenson. They were enroute to Colome, S. D. to attend the funeral of Mr. Ballard's mother. They will stop in Arcadia for a longer visit on the return trip. Mr. and Mrs. Ballard recently moved from Crosbyton, Tex. to Hereford, where they have purchased land which they are converting into a wheat ranch.

The Art Cone family of Berwyn spent Thursday at the Rube Holeman home in Lee Park. Arvins attended the football game in Arcadia during the afternoon and met many former school mates.

Mrs. Leslie Crowe and children returned to their home at Ulysses Saturday.

About forty people enjoyed the community Thanksgiving dinner in the basement of the Congregational church Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Fries and Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Lewin entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Star and children, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Round and Mr. and Mrs. Don Round and Downing at dinner Thanksgiving day at the Lewin home.

Miss Elsie Jetson returned to her home at St. Paul Sunday, having spent several days in Arcadia with her friend Edith Hansen.

Friends here will be pleased to learn of the approaching marriage of Miss Alyce Round to a Mr. Campbell, formerly of Lincoln, but now of Philadelphia. The wedding will take place about the first of January. Alyce has a position as stenographer in the state capitol and makes her home with her sister Mrs. Beulah Roberts in Lincoln.

Nelson-Hawley
Martha Nelson and Kenneth Hawley were married at Broken Bow Wednesday November 24, 1926. County Judge Holcomb officiated. They were attended by the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hill, of Comstock, and Messrs. Sells and Ben Greenland. Her father and mother also were present at the ceremony.

AND TRUE TODAY.
He who is for forcibly stopping the mouth of his opponent, or for burning a man at the stake... or inspiring his means of procuring an honest livelihood, or treating him scornfully on account of his peculiar views on any subject, is under the domination of a spirit of ruffianism or cowardice. On the other hand, he who forms his opinions from the dictates of enlightened reason and sincerely desires to be led into the truth, dreads nothing so much as the suppression of free inquiry, calmly listens to the objections of others, feels nothing of anger or alarm lest his foundations be swept away by the waves of opposition. In proportion as we perceive and embrace the truth do we become just, heroic, magnanimous, divine.—William Lloyd Garrison (1805-79)

Compilation of tax figures for 1923 shows that the incorporated industries of the United States paid $2,572,000,000 in federal, state and local taxes, which the railroads and the utility corporations paid 625 millions or approximately one-fourth of the corporate tax of the nation.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nelson, who live north of Arcadia, and the groom is the young son of Mr. D. O. Hawley of this city.

The young couple will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson for the present.

A reception was given for the large circle of relatives Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Nelson at which time the bridal couple received a number of beautiful and practical gifts.

Their friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

Anderson-Lybarger
Miss Mabel Anderson of Mason City and Floyd Lybarger of Arcadia were married at Loup City on Thursday, November 18 by County Judge Stephens.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Anderson of Mason City and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Faye Lybarger, living east of Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. Lybarger are living with the groom's parents, until spring when they will move onto the Danczak farm east of town.

"DON'T MENTION IT"
We have received a copy of a resolution adopted by the St. Hilaire unit of the Women's Christian Temperance union, asking the publishers of the country to refrain from publishing the names of minors involved in criminal charges. The request is interesting in that it is a public recognition of a problem which confronts newspapers every week of the year, not only in so far as minors are concerned but adults as well. When a person gets into trouble the first step often taken either by the individual himself or relatives, is to visit the newspaper office and make an effort to have the event silenced. Hardly a week passes but what the editor is reminded of the fact that the publishing of crime news is a serious thing to those involved in the tragedy.

Considering the purposes of newspapers and the nature of the work they undertake, it is our opinion that the average small town paper errs more often in favor of those involved in these tragedies than to their detriment. If the average individual was half as considerate of the characters of his neighbors as are the small town newspapers there would be few rumors in circulation. No newspaper is justified in publishing rumors which compromise the characters of men or women or children, and few of them do. However when a case goes into the hands of public officials, then it becomes legitimate news, and if the facts of the case are properly presented by a newspaper, then no injustice is done. In a majority of such cases the newspaper account is a week behind the street talk and very often a fair statement is an act of mercy to those involved.

There are times when the names of those involved in these local tragedies should be withheld. There are times when no mention of an incident should be made. The newspaperman must be governed by his own best judgment and sense of fair play in all these matters, but there is no more reason for withholding the names of all minors than there is for an arbitrary rule that the names of all adults should be printed under all circumstances. A good reputation and a clean record are priceless possessions to a boy or a girl, but more of these youthful characters are murdered every afternoon over the tea-cups of the nation than are defamed by the country newspapers in a decade.—Thief River Falls Tribune.

Peculiar German Belief
To touch a pig on New Year's day is considered a good omen in Germany. For that reason a pig is liberated on the floor at many German parties at midnight on December 31, so the guests may put in an early bid for good luck.

Brighten Up
When the woodwork does not require cleaning, but looks dull or faded, polish it with turpentine and oil.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES
The send-out of electric energy for September was 4 percent larger throughout the United States than for August and was the largest of any one month in the history of the electric industry. Nebraska plants generated 6 per cent more than in September of last year and 10 percent more than in August. About 10 percent of the Nebraska out-put was generated at waterpower plants.

A printing plant costing $8,377 was recently installed in North Carolina state prison. The superintendent proudly announces that it made a profit of $143.99 the first week, and that he expects to make it pay for itself the first year. All of which sounds a lot like sense to a practical printer. The fact of the matter is that even tho he uses convict labor, and has no wages to pay, that he cannot compete successfully with privately owned plants. Why doesn't he have them start a bank and handle all the state's money? It would be just as sensible as entering into competition with the printers.—Nebraska Press.

Permission is asked from the railway commission to erect a 6600 volt transmission line from the Public Service company's lines at Bethany to the agronomy farm of the state university. J. M. Wickham asks to be allowed to construct a line that will give him farm electric service out of Salem.

The railway commission has given the Gage County Electric company permission to sell 154 shares of common stock and 285 shares of preferred stock at par. It is also ordered that the company shall set up 3% of its book value annually for depreciation.

North Loup will vote December 29, on a contract made by the council with the Nebraska Electric Power company to sell the municipal plant and buy electric service at retail. The telephone company and the electric company that serves your town should both be steady advertisers, and should buy more or less printing from you.—Nebraska Press.

The electric company at Scottsbluff and Gering is asking the railway commission for permission to run a transmission-line from the latter place.

A transmission line from Missouri Valley to Tekamah affords an electric inter-connection between the Nebraska Power company of Omaha and the Nebraska Gas & Electric company at Norfolk.

Beatrice will vote December 21 on the proposition of taking over the property of the Nebraska Gas & Electric company under condemnation proceedings.

The Adams county farmers union will discuss the Tri-County project at its next meeting at Juanita.

Vegetable and Animal
Pectin is of vegetable origin and is made up of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. Gelatin is of animal origin and contains nitrogen in addition to the elements found in pectin.

Butter Is Good
Since the establishment of so many co-operative creameries over Nebraska the standard of Nebraska butter has improved greatly, New York buyers say. They are always ready to purchase Nebraska-made butter and pay top prices for it.

Prices of 39 to 43 cents per pound are paid for Nebraska butter, packed in tubs, on the New York market. The Hastings Industrial company, who built the Ord creamery guarantee a market for the product.

Giraffe's Water Supply
The giraffe is believed to exist for three-quarters of the year in North Kalahari without water. But this cannot be proved until the desert has been explored. There is known to be water beneath the surface, and if the giraffe does live waterless, he must imbibe his liquid nutriment at second hand in the juices of the leaves of the trees which have their roots in the moisture.

Youthful Will
The Romans are credited with bringing the turnip to Great Britain. A juvenile correspondent says he wouldn't mind this so much if they'd kept their other Latin roots to themselves.—London Opinion.

Palace "Ostrich Farm"
The white and gold room in Buckingham palace in which ladies about to be presented at court sit in rows, has been irreverently named by junior members of the royal household as the "ostrich farm." The reason is that hundreds of ostrich feathers have been counted in the room while the women were awaiting presentation in the throne room. Some wore as many as three big feathers.

Scissors and Shears
The terms "scissors" and "shears" are used more or less interchangeably in most sections of the country. As a rule, however, the term "shears" is employed when the implement is large, and "scissors" when it is small. In the hardware trade all such implements having a total length of six inches or less are called scissors, and exceeding that length are called shears.

Wholly American
The production of maple sugar and maple syrup is purely an American industry, Canada being the only country other than the United States where they are made.

Devil Is Good Fighter
He who will fight the devil at his own weapon must not wonder if he finds him an overmatch.—South.

Plainview Creameries Pronounced Success

A creamery started at Plainview, Nebr., on substantially the same plan as will be used for the Ord creamery, was called a pronounced success after its first month of operation. More than a thousand dollars was paid in the form of premiums to cream sellers. The Plainview News said, in regard to it:

"After the first month's operation, the Plainview Farmers Co-operative Creamery paid back dividends to patrons and stockholders on October 2nd amounting to over one thousand dollars. The checks were mailed out that day and were no doubt received with pleasure by all. This is a remarkable showing for this new institution and will no doubt remove from the minds of the skeptical that this new enterprise cannot succeed in Plainview. With united support large dividends can be earned continuously and we hope the next dividend will be even larger than the one recently voted."

The Plainview creamery was started on September 13, and a big picnic and program was put on by business men and members of the association. The Pierce County Farmers Union sponsored the celebration of the opening.

In the afternoon foot races and athletic games of all kinds were held, the Plainview band played and a dance was sponsored by the American Legion in the evening. Everybody in Pierce county got behind the movement and started it off. A monster crowd was entertained.

Since the establishment of the Plainview creamery merchants of that city announce large increases in business. Optimism reigns all over Pierce county, largely as a result of the establishment and the success attending its initial operations.

Great things can be looked for from the Ord creamery.

Rather Loose Line

Even in telling fish stories some people never know where to draw the line.—Hardware Journal.

Too Deep for Her

Nancy Jane, age seven and a half, was a member of a family party taking a drive one evening. A number of hills were encountered and it was seen they made the child nervous. However, she said nothing until the car stood poised at the top of the last and steepest descent of all, when she burst out: "Well, I wish when the world wrinkled it hadn't wrinkled so deep!"

Greedy

During a heavy snowstorm I asked to shovel off a neighbor's snow. She agreed to my price, and I set to work. It was evening and when I had but a small piece to finish she told me to quit and come back in the morning to finish and get my pay. That night it snowed again and she had me clean the entire 150 feet over again before she gave me the sum that I had asked for one job.—H. A., in Chicago Tribune.

Christmas Team Work—and It Was for Keeps

IT HADN'T been a good Christmas season for the little maiden lady in her little Economy store. Economy was an apt name for it—only the strictest economy prevailed there.

The next day was the last before Christmas, she reasoned, and a lot of her cheap toys were not sold. The little maiden lady made a resolution. She had always wanted to be rich that she might bestow fine presents upon all the boys and girls. She liked boys and girls, but somehow they always treated her distantly when she made her timid overtures. It was very evident she was never going to be rich—she would do something now; so she made a big sign and put it in her window:

"A Christmas toy for each of the first fifty children who come in at four o'clock the day before Christmas."

Miss Watkins didn't think there were fifty in the whole town, but she was mistaken. At four o'clock the next day they came trooping in—in such numbers she never knew how many toys she gave away.

It was all exciting and very thrilling. It was the most fun she had ever had. The "Thankyous" and the "Merry Christmases" were all so genuine and overwhelming, and right in the midst of it who should appear but the kind-faced, white-haired gentleman who kept the small candy shop across the street, and he invited them all over to partake of his wares. He looked like Santa Claus himself with his round rosy cheeks, shining blue eyes, and white hair curling over his fur collar.

When everything was quiet once more and Miss Watkins sat with folded hands thinking about the Christmas joy the simple giving had brought to her, Santa Claus from across the street again appeared:

"Pretty good team work we made of it, didn't we, Miss Watkins?" he chuckled.

And Miss Watkins uttered a surprised "Yes, indeed!"

Santa Claus chuckled again and put his hands on the surprised lady's shoulders:

"Don't you think we could team it together the rest of our lives?"

And Miss Watkins looked up and blushing stammered:

"Yes, indeed!"—Florence Harris (© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

Really Like Christmas

THESE community suppers are always so stupid!" declared a pretty girl to a small group around her. "I wish we could put some pep and fun into this one and give the people a good time. Something really like Christmas, and not so dull." The others looked dubious and scratched their heads. "What'll we do?" they asked.

"I know!" declared the pretty girl. "Just got the idea. Now, listen everyone! Why not imitate the way they used to do in olden times? A minstrel in the gallery, lots of minstrels! Singing and playing on horns and things! Hide them by screens covered with greens. Let the people get seated at the tables, then all pipe up with old songs every one knows. Dress the minstrels in gay colors. Then have them come down the stairs singing and playing. Let them wind among the tables. Have a jester in front joking and making fun. A real old English custom. It will help a lot and give the diners a good time."

"And," added another, fired with enthusiasm, "red candles on the tables wreaths at all the windows, waitresses with red ribbons about their heads and a sprig of holly tucked over one ear."

"Right!" said the rest. And so it was done. The very next community supper that was ever given in that town.—Patience Edson. (© 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

ESSEX SIX
Sedan

now showing for the first time

Answering an insistent demand for a beautiful, well appointed four door, five passenger body on the smooth and nimble Essex chassis, the Sedan is now being shown for the first time.

It has individuality in line, color and fittings. It is unusually comfortable in the seating arrangement. Upholstering is comparable in texture and quality with that used in costliest cars.

No car, regardless of cost, rides any easier. None is more easily handled in traffic. Essex is nimble, quiet and gives unusual gasoline mileage. It has fine car qualities in chassis and body that assure long service.

The cost is but little more than for any four—even less than for some four cylinder closed cars. It is much less than you will pay for any six cylinder Sedan.

THE ORD ORACLE

ATTENDANCE
All present except Carl (Tony) Dale. He was out of the city and didn't get back until too late.

OUR LAST MEETING
The guests were all called upon and responded with a few words. Dr. H. C. Whiting, a medical missionary who spent many years in the orient, told us about the Japanese, Chinese and Koreans.

We forgot to mention last week that we were indebted largely to Bill Nieuwland for having the members of the Lewis Stock Company who put on the program two weeks ago.

Several of the Rotary members attended the Davis Creek supper last week. They seemed glad to see us and we were glad to be there.

Miss Carter of the public school staff presided at the piano last week. Her playing put the real pep into the meeting and she knew the music for 107 on page 55.

Walking is a recreation for the mind as well as the body.

We read Governor Roy's appeal for delegates to the Ostend Convention at the last meeting.

Caracas, Venezuela, is one of the new clubs in other lands. It received charter number 2429.

President Harry H. Rogers, of Rotary International broadcasts today at 1 P. M. over station WEBH at Chicago.

"How wonderful if everyone could be brought to realize the nobility of unselfish service in the things that need to be done, whether the doing offers attractive rewards or holds out only a prospect of failure and contumely, possibly what might be considered an inglorious end."—Coolidge

No body ever loses anything by politeness but a good many people seem afraid to risk it.

Will Rogers voices our sentiments when he says that, "one good thing at least has been accomplished by the Queen's visit. She has driven 'Almee' and 'Peaches' off the front page and put them back with the want ads."

This past week, the New York Rotary Club assisted in a greater Broadway celebration commemorative of the tercentenary of New York City, 1624-1924.

Have you noticed that improvements are made quite often in the makeup of the Oracle. Hank and Iri and the forces of their printing shops are responsible.

Sibley, Iowa, Alliance, Seward and Brookings, S. D. each had one one hundred percent meeting during October. Ord was again not listed in the high ten in attendance for our district during October. We were less than one percent under the tenth one however. Until recently, Ord has always been among the top three or four. Brookings, S. D. topped the list with Callaway second. We ought to place for November.

Broken Bow received charter number 916 in May 1921. Dr. Bruce Landis is president of this club and Walt L. Schnabel is secretary. They are listed as having twenty-nine members. The meetings are held Monday evenings at 8:30 in the Baptist church.

The third international boys work conference will be held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago starting on November 29th.

"Nothing is easier than fault finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business."—Robert West.

The Omaha Whirl has the expenses to Ostend figured so cheaply that they say it is cheaper to go than to stay home. They figured one can get by on $587.95 and for $200 more can spend two weeks touring Europe after the convention.

In Faith and Hope, the world will disagree, but all Mankind's concern is charity.

Provided Breakfast for Old Santa Claus

"DO YOU think" inquired small David of his father, "that Santa is coming 'bout this time?"

"Why, not quite so early, son. A little later, perhaps. Still, if you listen carefully, perhaps you can hear his bells."

Small David stood on tip-toe near the window and cocked his pink ears. "I think," he said slowly, "I think I hear 'em!"

The family rather forgot small David in the next half hour. There was much to do. But finally father looked up. "Where's the boy?" he asked.

David had disappeared. They scurried about hunting for him in every room. No David. Then some one heard a faint noise on the front porch. Father stepped out to see what it was.

A small, square figure in very short pants was bending over something. "Son," called father, "what are you doing out here?"

"S-s-sh!" warned small David. Father stepped nearer. "See," said small David reaching up on tip-toe to whisper. "See, I brought out a bowl of breakfast food for Santa Claus. He might get hungry."

Father gathered up his son, amused and pleased.

"That's the very first time I ever knew of any one thinking about Santa's comfort. Bless you, boy! That's the right holiday spirit!"

Next morning small David found a note pinned to his stocking:

THANK YOU FOR MY BOWL OF BREAKFAST FOOD! —SANTA CLAUS. —Patience Eden. (© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

His Christmas Dream and It All Came True

HE WAS such a beautiful little darling that his mother looked at him and forgot what she was going to say, when she was about to give him a lecture about pulling the cat's tail. And when he went with her to the hospital with a basket of flowers, and passed up and down the wards with a smile and a Christmas flower for every sufferer, they felt as though an angel had appeared again.

It was in his cozy room at home that he had a dream house. There he had day dreams, as well as night dreams. There he entertained "Mr. Bethlehem," and "Betty Bosbuckle," and her brother "David." On the chimney shelf was a lunch for Santa Claus, and near it was a letter that registered a few of his hopes. He preferred chocolate elephants rather than chocolate horses, as they amounted to more. He conferred with his white rabbit mascot about the chipmunk skin that served as a rug for his garage, built for the coming automobile. There must have been a radiola in the room, it was so full of happy thoughts and sweet, faint sounds. "Listen," he said to Mr. Bethlehem, "I hear them singing." "Davy," he cried, "he's most here. Look, Betty, look there's the star!"

And it was so. That very night brought all that imagination had visioned, and the darkness died before the glorious light of Christmas morning.—Christopher G. Hazard. (© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

High Lights In The Sporting Realm

Although Nebraska lost to Washington university last Thursday, 10 to 6, at Seattle, they fought a game that will live long in the memory of those who heard the radio report broadcasted from KFAB. In the last moment of play, with Nebraska having the ball on the Huskies three-yard line, with victory or defeat hanging on the last play, danger of heart failure to frenzied Huskers all over the state was imminent. In losing, the Bear-coached team set an example that will be an inspiration for Husker teams for years to come.

Ord high school completed a successful football season at Loup City on Turkey day holding the undefeated Loup aggregation to a 6-6 deadlock. The feature of the game was a pass from Quarterback John Round to End Vernie Andersen, spectators say. It sailed more than thirty yards on a line, Andersen receiving it gracefully on a dead run and carrying it to within scoring distance of the Loup City goal. Penalties balked the Reed team with victory within its grasp.

Daily newspaper dispatches say that Coach Bearg has been retained as head coach at Nebraska for another year. While the cry of fraternity politics has been raised this year, as it has been every season for years past, it would seem that Coach Bearg has compiled a very satisfactory record this season. He is said to be planning sweeping changes in the Husker coaching system and next year should be able to put a team in the field that will sweep aside all opposition. Only two games were lost by the Huskers this year, Missouri and Washington winning. The Missouri game was the only conference clash lost by the Huskers but Oklahoma Aggies came through without a blot upon their escutcheon and claimed the Valley title.

One of the greatest upsets in college football this year was the 14-14 tie played by Brown and Colgate, traditional rivals. Brown was previously undefeated and was touted as national title contenders. But Colgate, minus Tryon, Oberlander and other backfield aces who played on the Nebraska gridiron last year, turned the trick and eliminated the Bears from the running.

That the officials of the Ord-Loup City game last Thursday were prejudiced in favor of Loup is believed by many Ord fans who saw the game. Wilson, who refereed, is said to be a former Loup City coach and more than once gave the Loup high school team the edge in close decisions.

Many fight critics believe that Monte Munn, heavy-weight mauler from Lincoln, will catch a tartar when he trades blows with Napoleon Duval next month in a New York ring. The napoleonic individual is managed by Jack Kearns, who brought Dempsey to prominence, and he hails Nap as the coming champ. Monte, formerly a Nebraska grid star and member of the Nebraska legislature has been burning them up in Gotham rings.

With football nearly out of the way, basketball will enter into its heyday and for the next few months will feature on the sport pages. Coach Reed is said to have a squad of cage artists ready to don the abbreviated togs and a tough schedule with many good home games has been arranged.

Mason, Round, Lashmet and Andersen have starred consistently during the gridiron season just ended for Ord high. Mason has been the line-plunging hero of the squad, averaging nearly six yards on every try at the line he has made during the season. Round has displayed his heady game at the quarterback position and has been particularly good at running back punts. The Round-Andersen forward passing combination has been a ground gainer all season. Lashmet entered the backfield late in the season but has been a scintillating star in every game in which he has engaged. In the line Wayne and Dale Norman have been towers of strength at the tackle positions, Gregg, Augustine and Mizar playing well in the center of the line. A. Furtak has been a flashy half-back star, while D. Miller has performed well at a wing position. Every one of these men except Round graduates this year.

That Nebraska interscholastic football has been of a high calibre this season is evidenced by Lincoln high's record. In two inter-sectional games Lincoln beat Lane Tech, Chicago, 38-7, and Waite high, Toledo, 6-3, only to be defeated by Grand Island, 5-2. Grand Island, in turn, was beaten by York, which had previously been defeated.

Scotia, the smallest town on Ord's 1926 grid schedule, produced the only team that beat Coach Rex Reed's team this year. Aurora, Burwell, St. Paul, Ravenna, Broken Bow and Ansley were defeated and Loup City drew a 6 to 6 tie. Fans maintain that

Boys' and Girls' Camp in Washington Next June

Holding of a national farm boys' and girls' camp in Washington, D. C., June 16-22, 1927, was announced by the United States department of agriculture today, following presentation of the plans for the camp to the extension section of the association of land-grant colleges which is meeting here this week.

The boys and girls attending this camp will represent the 600,000 or more members of the farm boys' and girls' clubs conducted by the co-operative extension service of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges. The boys and girls in these clubs are engaged in carrying on practical demonstrations in better methods of farming and homemaking. Among the leading lines of club work are growing corn, potatoes, cotton and other crops, pigs, beef and dairy calves, and poultry, clothing construction and care, food preparation and preservation, and home improvement.

Four From Each State. Each state in the entire country, according to the plans for the national camp, may select two boys and two girls as representative club members if Ord were to play Scotia tomorrow the smaller team would be beaten by a margin of three or four touchdowns. Every team has its off days, and on one of these Ord went up against the Scotia team.

Notre Dame, conqueror of Army, Pittsburg, Minnesota, Harvard and many other teams has finally fallen. Touted as a national championship team, the Rocke clan fell ingloriously to Carnegie Tech last Saturday, 19 to 0. Dopesters are busy trying to explain the defeat given the "Rambling Rocks," but in the meantime much of the thunder has been taken from the Notre-Dame-Southern California game on the coast this week.

This is the season of all-American selections. Nearly every school has its favorites for the high honors. Nebraska is asserting Captain Lonnie Stiner as a competitor for a tackle berth while Missouri is boosting Earl Washington is advancing the claims of Lindenmeyer, last year selection of Louis Tesreau and George Gutterman. Pennsylvania is touting Charles Rogers, Notre Dame has its Chris Flanagan, Minnesota its Joesting, Yale its Sturhahn, Michigan its Friedman and Osterbaan, and many others who are bidding for places in the sun. It will be interesting to watch the selections.

to attend, making a total of nearly 200 young people who will come to Washington for the occasion. The delegates will be accompanied by a member of their state agricultural extension service in charge of club work in the state.

The object of the camp is to provide an opportunity for a country-wide discussion of the problems met in carrying on extension work in agriculture and home economics with boys and girls on the farm, and of ways by which the work may be expanded in order to make it possible for a larger portion of the 11,000,000 or more rural young people to have an opportunity to participate in club work if they desire.

Will Last a Week. A seven-day program has been outlined for the camp. Each morning, following the customary camp exercises and a swim there will be addresses in the assembly hall of the New National Museum by persons prominent in governmental affairs on matters of national interest. There will be both junior and adult conferences and joint meetings of the groups on questions presented by members of the camp.

Time is provided on the camp schedule for educational trips about Washington which will enable the boys and girls to become better acquainted with the organization of the government and the work of its various branches. Evening programs for the week include a national 4-H radio night, a concert by the U. S. marine band, a candlelighting ceremony and council circle conducted by the club members, and a banquet.

Will Camp on Grounds. It is expected that it will be possible for both junior and adult club leaders to camp on the grounds of the department of agriculture.

Need for a camp of this character has been felt for some time by those engaged in extension work with farm young people and was requested by the extension section of the association of land-grant colleges at its 1925 meeting. The club members in attendance will be selected to represent the interests of young people on the farm in the discussion of rural life problems at the camp. They will also have an unusual opportunity for special training in leadership.

Club members in several states have already adopted plans to provide money for sending their representatives to the camp and in a number of other states they are considering methods and expect to begin work shortly.

Having made a fortune as a printer, Colonel Mitchell is building a country home. It doesn't matter where, rather of what?

Since buses are taking the place of street cars in and around the Kansas capital the discarded trolley cars are of no particular use, so Colonel Mitchell has bought a job lot of them and is using the material to build a "coaching home," 25 feet by 40 feet, where 50 guests can eat and 15 guests can sleep. The gong, the whistle, the device for opening and closing doors will be retained; the fare box only will be missing in the new home that the printing magnate is building from the salvage of a rapid transit system.

Interesting Facts Learned in Visit to Ord Milling Company

Anyone who devotes a few hours to seeing how flours and feeds are made will certainly marvel at the many steps necessary. A trip through the Ord Milling company's buildings is truly amazing. Numberless machines, a great many processes, thousands of feet of floor space, considerable time and a lot of supervision and testing is necessary to produce the meals and feeds, let alone the finest of white flour intended for human consumption. And have a guide go through with you explaining the every-day significance of the technicalities you will meet on all sides.

The Ord Milling company occupies 17,000 square feet of floor space. Few people realize that a business of this size has grown up in Ord. Its enormity may be judged from the fact that 33,600 sack of white flour were put out last year; 840,000 pounds of feed sold; and 52,000 pounds of pig meal ground. These are only a few of the figures, all of which seem unbelievably large. The mill makes a ton of chicken feed a day - the equivalent of 52,000 pounds per month, during the season.

Each product of course, goes through a different series of processes. The one for white flour is perhaps the most involved and the most interesting.

When the wheat is delivered to the mill, it goes first to the receiving separator. This machine takes the straw and chaff out and also the dust and sand. The first and second separators get the wheat quite well cleaned of foreign matter, so it then goes to a device known as a "scourer". As the name implies, the wheat is scoured and polished, and the tiny whiskers found on every grain are taken off.

Fourth in the list of steps is the tempering process. After tempering, the wheat is stored for 12 hours, to make the result more uniform. Next the wheat goes to the "peeler," which takes the outer layer from each kernel of wheat. The second tempering follows, with another twelve hour period of storage.

Following this interval the wheat goes through a beater, which flays it, beats it, frees it of any few remaining particles of foreign matter, and makes the temper uniform.

Now each grain of wheat is broken in two pieces; this is known as the first break. This is done by passing the grain over corrugated rolls, until the wheat has been through five breaks. Each time it is broken the flour products are sifted out of the middlings, as the broken wheat is called and carefully sifted through very fine silk. Every time the grains are broken the particles become finer and look less like meal or coarse graham flour, and more like white flour. Nine more rollers make the meal yet more flour-like until at last it is ready to be bleached.

Flour must be bleached to make it pure white. Unbleached flour is ivory or cream color, and does not make as white bread. So the flour is run through two different gases, and brought in contact with a powder bleaching process called Novodale, a new method which is very effective. The result is a uniform flour that is exceptionally white.

After the bleaching agents, the flour is run through a large bolting machine which assures uniformity and freeness of any foreign matter. From this machine, which is at the top of the mill, the flour shoots down to the packing room, where the sacks are filled and weighed automatically, swiftly sewed up by hand and behold; - BIG FOUR FLOUR, and its sisters are ready for your use.

An entirely different set of machines makes cornmeal every day, by a simpler but similar process. Graham flour, whole wheat flour, the rye products, etc., are made less frequently, on yet another set of machines.

Mixing feeds for poultry and stock is done in an adjoining building. The most interesting thing there was the "eight-corner mixer" - a complicated many-corner box, so suspended over a bin that after it has revolved, twisted and spun around in every conceivable direction its contents may be dumped in the bin by simply opening the mixer. With this clever device the feeder may wish in an easy and speedy manner.

The whole mill is equipped as efficiently. Gauges on every machine, as well as glass cups which show the stage of manufacture of the products, and convenient doors on two sides enable the workers to reach into any separator or breaker and sample the result as often as is needed. A maze of belts and wheels, which carry the power from an engine room large enough to be a garage, attend to the problem of motive power satisfactorily.

To make still more certain that the housewife will secure the best results when the products of the Ord Milling company are used, there is a completely equipped testing laboratory.

Here many samples are kept, and frequently a trial "batch" of bread, etc., goes into the electric laboratory oven to satisfy the experimenters that the usual high standard of quality is being more than maintained.

Considering these many precautions - the many expensive pieces of modern machinery, the constant care and watchfulness of the millers, and the final sampling and testing for actual baking results is it any wonder that BIG FOUR FLOUR and other Ord Milling Company products are so sure to please you?

Will YOU get the tip-off?

BIG FOUR FLOUR

What could be better for them than thick slices of white goodness, covered with their favorite spread? Bread made with our flour has in it the purest of health-builders - it is as good for you as anything can be. Every vitamine, every element that nature demands that the body have is contained in the flours made by the Ord Milling company. The more dieticians study the needs of the body and the compositions of various foods, the more enthusiastic the investigators become about the nutrition content of bread. The commonest of foods, it is yet the most necessary.

And the more exacting the tests of the scientists, the higher the score made by BIG FOUR FLOUR!

Start now to obtain the baking success you have always coveted. You will find the element of risk has been eliminated from your cooking. Your bread will come from the oven as delightful a brown as you can imagine, in symmetrical perfect loaves. Not only will it look good but it will taste better, too.

Your Reputation as a Cook Will Improve From the Day You Begin to Cook the Big Four Way

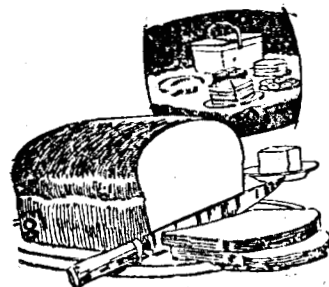

In every way your family will be more delighted with your cooking. Your pastries - always difficult, will now have just the flakiness and delicious crispness that is so hard to obtain. Pies, pastry shells both big and little, even French pastries will always "turn out" to be just right. Doughnuts will fry properly golden, cakes will raise levelly - not with humped middles; even that-so-hard-to-make brown bread will improve marvellously; and the humble pancake reach undreamed heights of perfection.

Have you tried our Cornmeal? You won't know real old-fashioned cornbread when it's made with our cornmeal. And cornmeal mush! Ah, there's a dish for these wintry mornings! Fried until it's crisp and brown! Try it accompanied by delicately grilled bacon and experience added pleasure. Doesn't it make you hungry to think of these culinary triumphs? And they taste even better than they sound. Don't wait any longer to try our products. Do it TODAY - you'll thank us for advising you.

Sifted nine times through the finest of silk - no wonder our flour is so fine!

We are specialists when it comes to mixing feed for your poultry or livestock. Blended in scientifically correct proportions, we are so sure of our feeds that we will guarantee results. Or we will prepare any mixture you prefer for your stock. All you have to do is tell us the proportions you wish combined.

FARMER WANDERS AWAY FROM HOME

Fear McGowen Is Mentally Deranged; Radio Station Is Asked to Help.

Burwell, Nebr., Dec. 1.—Fred McGowen, a farmer living on the farm of Chet Johnson of Burwell left his home Sunday, and has not been located at this time. He took with him a shot gun, presumably to hunt game and when he failed to return at noon as he had intended, the neighborhood was aroused, and a search was begun which lasted the rest of Sunday and all day Monday.

The farm is located thirty miles north of Burwell, over in Holt county. Sunday night Sheriff Key was notified and asked to find out if a game warden had taken Mr. McGowen to Burwell. He was traced a distance of 13 miles on Monday, and Monday night it was learned that he had been at Ewing, 45 miles north east of the farm, on the Northwestern railroad. He left there and it is supposed he was trying to get away.

Tuesday morning a telegram was sent to Radio station WQAW of Omaha, asking that they help in locating him.

Mr. McGowen came here from Diagonal, Ia., about a year ago and rented the Johnson farm from the owner, who moved to Burwell. He is a quiet, industrious man, about thirty-five years old, a son-in-law of Mr. Bushboom. They have one small son, and his parents live with them. No reason can be assigned for his strange actions, and it is feared he is mentally deranged.

Will Mach, son of Fannie Mach, who lives a mile south of Burwell, and Anna Sindelar, daughter of Anton and Bessie Sindelar, were married by County Judge Tunnell Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. The groom is well known and popular here and the bride and her people are known both in Burwell and in Ord. They will live on the farm south of town, and their many friends wish them the best of life's blessings.

Mrs. Geo. C. Ingraham Buried at Burwell

Burwell, Nebr., Dec. 1.—The body of Mrs. George C. Ingraham arrived in Burwell Monday night, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. W. W. Gettys officiating.

She passed away at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Frank Robke, at Sheridan, Wyo., being past 72 years of age. She is also survived by two sons, Perry and Oscar both of whom live near Burwell.

The Ingrahams came to this section in 1901, settling in Loup county, north of Kent. Mr. Ingraham was an auctioneer and, of course, was a man of wide acquaintance. He died some years ago, and his body is buried at the Kent cemetery.

While living here they enjoyed deserved popularity, as do the children who remain. She did her part in making this world a better place in which to live, and has gone to a deserved rest.

J. F. Ferno, well known Burwell man, suffered another stroke of paralysis at his home in Burwell last night, and is practically helpless. He is a man well along in years, and little hope is held for his recovery. Mrs. Ferno's sister, (Pete) Miller, who recently arrived from the west, is helping to look after him.

Elmer Freeland had the misfortune to have a horse fall with him Saturday and is nursing a badly inflamed foot. The doctor says that no bones are broken but it will be some time before he will be able to walk. As he is running a trap line this winter, it will prove a serious handicap in his work.

Ord Quiz Keeps Abreast of Town In Improvements

Twenty-five years ago Ord was a struggling village with a population of about 750. Today its population approaches 2,500 and it is a live, well built town known all over Nebraska for the spirit of progress which is alive here.

Twenty-five years ago this week W. W. Haskell, editor of the Quiz, printed four pages of home print with possibly twenty-five per cent advertising. This week the Quiz publishes twenty-four pages, all printed at home, packed with news of Ord and Valley county, and with fifty or sixty percent of advertising published by Ord merchants.

The town has changed in the past quarter century but the Quiz—Ord's oldest newspaper—has certainly kept pace with it.

Pay for Chickens But Get Away After Shooting Pheasants

Two Kearney men who, according to their own story, have been husking corn in this vicinity, have taste for fowl—chicken, pheasant, or what have you.

Last Thursday morning two men in a Chevrolet coupe drove along by the Will Eglehoff farm on Davis Creek and seeing some of the Eglehoff chickens in the roadway, got out of their car and shot them. Seeing that Mr. Eglehoff had observed the proceeding, the men popped the dead birds into a sack, jumped into their car and drove off.

Leaping into their Buick car, which was nearby, Mr. Eglehoff and his son, Glen, pursued the men, who drove a car bearing a Kearney license plate. After a long chase they caught them near the Tappan farm, but only after Mr. Eglehoff ran into the back end of their car, running a tire off and forcing the men to stop.

The men, whose names were not given, soon settled for the chickens with Mr. Eglehoff and were allowed to proceed. They had thrown the sack out of the car when they were pursued and on their way home the Eglehoffs stopped and picked up the bag. In it were the chickens and several dead pheasants, evidently shot the same morning.

The shooters, who said they were from Kearney and had been husking near here, had repaired the tire and made good their escape.

The license number of the Buffalo county car was taken and county officials say the case is not ended yet and that the men may yet be punished.

Attends Hi-Y Meet at Central City

William Shepard, who went to Central City to attend the Hi-Y convention last Saturday, returned to Ord Sunday evening. Several hundred boys were in attendance at this meeting, each being a delegate from high schools of this district. Angus Hull, Grand Island, was elected president of the organization, a Columbus boy being elected vice-president and one from Osceola secretary.

ORD CREAMERY STOCKHOLDERS MEET ON DEC. 9

Will Choose Men to Direct Policies of Company, Elect Manager.

December 9, at 2 p. m. in the city hall here, is the date, time and place set for the meeting of the stockholders of the new Ord co-operative creamery, word received today from the Hastings Industrial company says. The stockholders will elect a permanent board of directors and transact other business.

The board of directors elected at the meeting will promptly elect a local man to act as manager of the company. Several men are being considered by stockholders but the board will have the final vote in naming him.

It is announced that the creamery will begin to buy cream Saturday, Dec. 11. Mr. Robson, buttermaker, will be in charge and visitors will be welcome at any time during the day.

Hastings, President of the company which built the creamery, will be present at the opening day, ceremonies, as well as N. F. Wells, construction manager, the butter-maker and the local manager.

Stockholders are asked to make their final payments on stock either to the First National bank or to Mr. Frederick Carlsen, Hastings company representative in charge of the collections.

A. M. Hansen, secretary of the Hastings company, assures stockholders that a market has been arranged for all surplus butter made by the Ord creamery.

Breaks Leg When Thrown from Horse

Miss Hilda Nelson, 16-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson of Haskell Creek, was thrown from a horse she was riding to herd cattle Monday and both bones of one leg were broken. The accident was caused by the horse slipping and falling. Mr. Nelson heard his daughter scream and saw her rolling over and over on the ground but thought at first that she was trying to have some fun with him. He soon realized that it was no joke and hurried to her assistance.

Ministers Meet. The Ord Ministerial association met Monday in the pastor's study at the Methodist church. Four were in attendance, Rev. J. B. Mauer, Rev. E. H. Maynard, Rev. H. W. Hansen and Rev. Magnussen.

Program and Supper. The pupils of district 41 school will give a program at the school house the evening of December 10, followed by a pie social. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Glenna Bowers, teacher.

DEATH TAKES MRS. VALASEK

Young Woman Passes Away After Long Illness; Loved by All Who Knew Her.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Valasek, who passed away Nov. 27 at Rochester, Minn., were held Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. H. W. Hansen, Ord, and Rev. Philip, Clarkson, officiating. The Z. C. B. J. lodge was in charge of the services.

Mrs. Valasek, formerly Miss Rosie Bouda, passed away after a lingering illness which started last spring. She was 22 years old.

Married to William Valasek on August 23, 1923, Mrs. Valasek lived with her husband on their farm in Springdale until taken sick last spring. She was born in Valley county Nov. 19, 1904, and grew to womanhood here.

A young woman of great strength of character, loved and respected by all with whom she ever came in contact, Mrs. Valasek will be mourned by a host of friends. Those of her own family who survive are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bouda, a sister, Mrs. Rudolph Krah, bulk, a sister, Vencil Bouda, of Comstock, and many more distant relatives.

At the funeral services Tuesday a host of friends mourned and the church was banked with flowers. Interment was in Ord and one of the longest funeral processions ever seen here followed the hearse to the cemetery.

Hundreds of friends will join with the Quiz in extending sympathy to the Valasek and Bouda families in their bereavement.

Kirby Undergoes Operation

Morris Kirby, farmer living south of town, was brought to the Miller hospital last Friday evening by the Sowl ambulance and underwent an operation for acute appendicitis. He was nearly unconscious from the severe pain but since the operation is improving rapidly.

P. E. O. Makes Large Gift to Ord Library

To date this year the Ord P. E. O. have given $336.75 to the Ord library, $240 of which was pledged to pay the librarian's salary and $96.75 donated to the library building fund. Most of this money was donated from receipts of the play, "Womanless Wedding", which was sponsored by the organization for the benefit of the library. Total receipts of this play were $556.65. Of this amount $120 went to pay expenses, $216.75 to the P. E. O., and the balance to the Simpson-Levie Co., owners of the play.

The P. E. O.'s had previously given $120 of their $240 pledge and this week gave the balance, fulfilling their pledge. In addition to this, they made the donation to the building fund.

Churches Have Union Thanksgiving Service

Protestant churches of Ord cooperated in a service at the Christian church last Thursday evening. Rev. Mrs. Turner of that church being in charge. A feature of the service was the reading of the president's proclamation by Mrs. Turner. Rev. J. B. Mauer delivered the sermon of the evening, taking as his text, "A Practical Thanksgiving." Rev. Mr. Magnusson read the 37th Psalm and Rev. H. W. Hansen offered prayer.

OLD ORD RESIDENT DIES IN MISSOURI

R. J. Bronson, Pioneer Resident, Dies at Ripe Old Age of Seventy-Eight.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wigent that their brother-in-law, R. J. Bronson, one of the earliest residents of Valley county, passed away at Greenfield, Mo., Nov. 7. A clipping from a Greenfield paper giving his obituary was forwarded to them.

Mr. Bronson will be remembered by many old-time Ord people. He came to this county in 1876, being one of the first of the pioneers, and settled in Michigan township. He left here about 1890, going to Greenfield where he lived until the time of his death.

Mr. Bronson was born in Detroit, Mich., on January 31, 1848. On May 6, 1874, he was married to Marilla Wigent, a sister of Dave Wigent. To the union six children were born, four of whom are still living. He was also survived by eighteen grandchildren.

At the age of 16 he had enlisted in Company D, 11th Michigan infantry, and served throughout the entire war. The Greenfield obituary says: "During his entire life his love for and devotion to his country, flag, family and friends remained undimmed."

He is survived by his wife. Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church and interment was in the Greenfield, Mo., cemetery.

Masquerade Ball, Football Game, Feature Thanksgiving Day Here

Thanksgiving passed quietly for most Ord people, family gatherings being the order of the day. Nearly every Ord family either entertained or was entertained by relatives and friends.

The Ord-Loup City football game at Loup City attracted a large and colorful crowd of Ord people, many high school students attending.

Church services were held at each church in the morning, Catholics worshipping at 9:00 and other denominations at 11:00, and in the evening a Union service of all Protestant churches was held at the Christian church, Rev. Mrs. Turner reading the president's proclamation as a feature of the service.

The Z. C. B. J. masquerade ball at the Bohemian hall was exceptionally well attended and many striking costumes were in evidence. Several prizes were given to best masked men and women, Matthew Kosmata and Opal Haught winning first prizes for their Spanish costumes. Dorothy Zikmund was dressed as a miniature Uncle Sam and won second prize in the masculine class while Anna Adamek won second for women. Joe Kokes, in blackface make-up, won third prize for the men while Eleanor Polak as a hula dancer was awarded third for women. Janssen's orchestra furnished music.

The Womanless Wedding at the opera house attracted a large crowd and many of the performers went over to the hall in costume after the play.

THOMPSON DIES IN HASTINGS HOSPITAL

Ill Long Time, Boy Passes Away; Services To Be Held Tomorrow.

Funeral services for Joseph Thompson, who died Monday morning in a Hastings hospital, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Methodist church, Rev. Hoyle, Grand Island Seventh Day Advent pastor, having charge.

The boy was born at Taylor July 5, 1906, and for the last eight years has been ill most of the time, suffering with abscesses on the hip. He had been under the care of physicians much of the time for the past eight years, having been at the orthopedic hospital in Lincoln for some time. Several times it was thought that the limb was cured but the abscesses always re-formed and poison from these is said to have been the cause of death.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, an aged grandmother, five sisters and two brothers, to mourn his death. The lad was a member of the Seventh Day Advent church and led a Christian life. He was bright and cheerful in spite of his disability, and will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kokes, Miss Marie Kokes and Otto Pecena were Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pecena.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Travis and son, Horace, were guests Thanksgiving day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stoltz entertained the Charles Lickly family, who live near Elyria, and their mother, Mrs. Carrie Lickly, at Thanksgiving day dinner.

CIVIL WAR VET DIES AT ARDADIA

William Landon, Who Lived in Arcadia Forty-three Years, Passes Away.

William Landon was born at Columbus, Ohio, on August 8, 1884 and passed away at his home south of Arcadia on November 28, 1926.

On May 2, 1864, Mr. Landon enlisted in the 133rd Regiment Company C of Ohio. After the close of the war, he moved to Boone, Ia., where in 1870 he was united in marriage to Miss Emerett Landon.

In October, 1883, he with his family emigrated to Nebraska where they homesteaded south of Arcadia, the home where he passed away.

He leaves to mourn his demise his wife, two daughters, Lulu and Jennie, four sons, Leslie, Carl, Clarence and Roy, all of whom were present when he died.

Mr. Landon was highly respected by all his neighbors and friends and has always been a prominent figure in all the Old Soldiers services he being one of the very few remaining in this community.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. A. Alcorn, assisted by Rev. W. H. Hendrickson. Merwin Gwaynte rendered two solos accompanied by Mrs. Homer Jameson.

Interment was made in the Arcadia cemetery.

Mrs. Carrie Wilson Inherits $10,000

An estate of between 150 and 200 thousand dollars, left by Harry F. Turner, bachelor-farmer of near Valley, who died November 13, is left to a sister and 15 nephews and nieces, according to the will filed Tuesday for probate. Mr. Turner had accumulated the fortune through farming.

It is indicated he lost nearly 100 thousand dollars in poor investments. Among the bequests are: Harry F. Turner, nephew, Valley, $15,000; Mary Secrest, niece, Valley, $12,000; and Carrie Wilson, niece, Ord, $10,000.—World Herald.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis drove to Grand Island Sunday, taking Mrs. Davis' sister, Miss Rena Bakker, that far on her return journey to Council Bluffs.

PRIZES OFFERED TO START NEW BUTTER FACTORY

Community Club to Sponsor Program Opening Day; Davis Will Speak.

At a meeting last night the Ord Community Service club got behind the opening of the new creamery, and will sponsor a program for opening day, Dec. 11. Several prizes are being offered in connection with the opening.

For the best name submitted for the brand of butter the Ord creamery will produce a prize of $10 will be given. All names must be handed in at the office of the butter factory by 6 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 11. The board of directors to be elected Dec. 9 will act as judges in all contests.

Many Prizes Offered. To the person bringing at least five gallons of cream the longest distance on opening day a prize of $10 is offered.

To the person bringing most butter fat on opening day $10.

Any person registering at the creamery on opening day is entitled to guess at the number of beans in a glass jar to be displayed in the creamery office. The person guessing closest wins a ten dollar prize.

Hastings to Speak. Mr. Hastings, president of the industrial company will speak, as will George Davis, county agent of Howard county. The entire program has not been fully arranged but will be announced next week.

Every person in Valley and surrounding counties is urged to come to Ord and participate in this big community day event. Farmers are urged to bring all the cream they possibly can for the first churning at the new butter factory.

A committee has been appointed by the community club to take charge of the arrangements for the day's program.

Hughes Farm Sells

The Hughes farm of 210 acres adjoining Ord on the south and occupied for the last few years by the Otis Hughes family was sold the latter part of last week through the Weller agency to Jake Severans, the price being $67 per acre. Mr. Severans will occupy the place the first of March and as he is an extensive dealer in stock of all kinds, he will find the new farm very convenient. It is largely pasture land and very conveniently located for the purpose that Mr. Severans wants it.

Simpson to Speak on Lecture Program

Dr. Henry J. Simpson, Bay City, Mich., well known speaker, will furnish the next number of the Brotherhood lecture course program at the Presbyterian church next Monday night. His subject will be "Paying the Freight on War."

A feature of the program will be a prelude given by Aible Bros. with their new Orthophonic Victrola.

Ord High School To Sponsor Photoplay

The Student Activities association of the local high school have undertaken the financial management of all extra-curricular activities. This organization is further attempting to complete a successful financial year without calling on the board of education for subsidies to recoup incurred deficits.

The football program, the first big extra-curricular attempt, shows a slight deficit and to make up this shortage and provide a basis for basketball the association has contracted with the Ord Theatres to cooperate in presenting the popular football photo-play, Lefty Flynn in "The College Boob", to be given Monday and Tuesday evenings, Dec. 6 and 7. The high school orchestra will furnish music on both nights.

Lefty Flynn, the famous Yale half-back, needs no introduction to movie fans, his popular pictures speak for themselves and the critics proclaim him best in activities of college life. His best picture to date is the production, "The College Boob."

Student ticket salesmen will canvass the city immediately. Popular prices, thirty and ten will prevail. Tickets purchased from students will aid the school. Plan to attend on Monday and get your ticket from a student. See a great show—help a good cause.

John Garner suffered a broken leg recently when the horse he was riding fell on him. He came to the Ord hospital where Dr. Miller reduced the fracture.

easily disposed of to the purchasers. Yesterday the city council met with a representative of the Skinner Iron Works builders of the two engines now in use at the plant.

Holdrege Plant Profitable. Those who made the trip to Holdrege say that city has a splendid electric plant which pays the city a fine profit and that people over there would not consider selling to power interests.

Safety First, Says Council. If a new 300 kilowatt engine is installed any possible emergency will be taken care of, as either equipment can be used, and this will provide for future needs of Ord in the electric line.

The city council feels that little sentiment in favor of selling the plant here is in evidence and that should the city decide to sell in the future the new equipment could be

 Friday evening of last week the young people's class of the Sunday school held a class party at the parsonage. A fine group of the members were present, and after making some plans for the benefit of their work, all took a hearty part in a number of games. The social period ended with the serving of an appetizing lunch. This was followed by singing a number of hymns and several songs, making the evening program a very agreeable and helpful affair.
 Sunday the weather was ideal, and good attendance at all services. In the morning the pastor preached a Thanksgiving sermon, presenting the various reasons for gratitude in rendering praise to our Father in Heaven.
 The Christian Endeavor was an hour of deep interest. "More than the World" was discussed in a very helpful way. A business meeting in interest of the work will be held Friday evening at the home of James McClement.
 Next Sunday all services at the regular time. Bible school 10, morning worship at 11. Subject, "Our Greatest Need, Christian Endeavor 6:30, evening sermon 7:30, subject, "The Influence of Life."
 A cordial welcome to all services.

The Pine Tree and a Christmas Inspiration

THE creaking, crunching snow under foot, as well as the crisp, frosty air bespoke a temperature some degrees below zero. However, native mid-westerners looked for, anticipated and expected a quantity of snow and cold weather for the Christmas holidays.

The hard lines of the massive, bulky, stone Central Administration building of the college was delightfully contrasted against the dead white, fluffy, fairy-like snow all about it. This building, as did four others, faced a huge stretch of campus, with groupings of trees scattered pleasingly about to break the wide expanse.

At the foot of the narrow winding staircase of iron which leads to the belfry of the campanile, upon close inspection could be seen a maid and young man—not the first time, nor would it be the last time the campanile should witness such a sight.

Moved by the sight of the proud pine, its symbolism, and the chimes, they made each other farewell in fond embrace, carrying away with them the spirit of the proud pine tree in their hearts.—Eleanor B. King.

THE CHRISTMAS SEASON

HAPPY fatigue. Rushing, hurrying, sitting up late. Doing up bundles. Posting packages. Delivering presents. Getting so tired-out you don't know how you can ever finish and then a new vigor and energy and Christmas spirit coming over you so that you feel you can continue more than ever.

Wondering whether it will snow and the snow arriving just in time for Christmas, the stars twinkling down on the white, white earth. Bright red apples with the real flavor of the country. Memories of other Christmas masses and New Year's blarney at other times somewhat, but poignantly vivid in the happiness of Christmas-tide. This is the Christmas season.—Mary Graham Bonner.

Making Others Happy Will Bring Happiness AUNT ELIZA had lived alone for many years; her finances had dwindled, and her health as well.

It was Christmas Eve and as Aunt Eliza returned from town with a few little things that her scant purse could buy, her heart was a little heavy, for the winter was before her and her strength was falling fast.

"I'm glad I got that knife for crippled Jim; he so enjoys cutting out those animals. Life is worth while so long as we can give others pleasure, and there is always some one that we can help. I'll read to blind Jane tomorrow and that will help her and me pass away the day. Tonight I must try to think of some way that I can earn money. Sister would help me if she knew, so would the church ladies, but I simply can't tell anyone. Well, the only way to be happy is to make some one else happy, so I'll take Jimmy's knife to him. God has never forsaken me." All this was going through Aunt Eliza's mind.

As she opened the door she stood face to face with her only sister. She was overcome with joy. "Oh, Eliza, all the children want for Christmas is you, and they sent me for you. We have a nice home next to ours, for you. We will start tonight so we can get there for dinner tomorrow. You shall never feel lonely again."

Eliza continues to believe that making others happy brings happiness.—Emily Burks Adams.

For the Tree Has any one ever tried cutting little stars, circles, fir trees, etc., from pumpkin rind for the Christmas tree? Peel pumpkin with as wide a peeling as possible. Then cut out your circles, etc., with scissors or knife and fasten to a piece of card.

Christmas Day Brides According to an old belief Christmas Day brides are inclined to be frivolous and fond of pleasure.

Sing Heigh-Ho! Unto The Christmas Holly NOTHING quite so typifies the spirit of Christmas as a bough of beautiful, glistening foliaged and scarlet-berried holly. Holly seems the quintessence of Yule and should and generally does occupy the place of honor in Christmas decorations.

that isn't generally known. Its even-grained and hard wood is ivory white and is used for inlaying and as an ebony substitute for teapot handles and other articles, when stained. The leaves are used in medicine.—Frances Marshall Morgan.

First Christmas Trees

Christmas trees became popular in the United States about the same time that they were introduced into England. In England the first Christmas trees were set up in the royal palace of St. James at the time Queen Victoria married the prince consort, in 1840.

Christmas Comes Heads of families think it is remarkable what a short time there is between Christmases.

The Christmas Tree

It requires the sweet adaptability of the child mind to enable its recent admirers to revel in a bonfire made of the Christmas tree.

Eat It by the Ton

Twelve hundred tons of plum pudding are consumed in London at Christmas.

Start Day Early

In Finland it is a custom to attend church services at five o'clock on Christmas morning.

Raymond Pocock was up from Lincoln and spent Thanksgiving with home people.

Two Kinds of Hermits

Here is Wall Street's favorite story of the month. A widow raised two sons in whom she had great hopes for a brilliant future. Eventually one became a hermit and the other vice president of a bank. And nothing was heard of either again.—Nation's Business Magazine.

Deceptive to Speller

Accommodate is a tricky word; even Thomas Jefferson in the original draft of the Declaration of Independence spelled it with one "m." Marshall is another one, and develop another, for who hasn't felt the urge to add another l on the former and a final e on the latter?

Grand Island Reserves Beat Burwell Gridders

Burwell, Nov. 30.—(Special)—The Thanksgiving football game with Grand Island was the most fiercely fought contest ever seen on the Burwell gridiron. The Grand Island Reserves are a good team, losing only one game this season, while Burwell had won only one.

Anticipating an easy victory, the visitors were offered a turkey feed if they would roll up a victory of at least 102 to nothing. It is said that the turkeys had even been ordered. To make the result more certain, three of the regular first string men were injected into the line up.

The first half went to a scoreless tie, the ball being in Grand Island territory most of the time. In the third quarter an Islander caught a punt in mid-field and galloped down the field for the first touchdown.

The final score came in the last quarter, on a play in which Cronk and Hoyt of Burwell ran into each other in tackling the player, and were both knocked out for the time being. Burwell was defeated, 13 to 0. The Grand Island Reserves are a good team and Burwell is proud of the showing the home boys made against them.

The Burwell basket ball squad started practice Monday night, and about twenty players reported for the tryouts. The prospects are for a fairly good team this year. The complete schedule is not yet made out, but the first game will take place at Burwell on Dec. 10, being a double header with the Sargent boys and girls teams. A return game will be played there in January. Taylor and Comstock are already on the list and other schools are yet to be heard from.

Laveda Saba, daughter of Mike Saba, formerly in business here, has come to Burwell to attend school. The family lives in Wyoming, and the daughter is enrolled in the tenth grade.

All has been done toward settling Burwell's water problem, that can be done until the arrival of the new rotary pump, which cannot be supplied for nearly two months. An effort was made Monday to plug the main as this is the pipe which supplies water to the schools. When the water is turned on and the well being used, the school children will have access to the best water in town, as it comes direct from the well, and does not stand in the reservoir.

Work is nearly completed on the seven miles of highway that is being surfaced north of Deverre, on the north and south highway. The grading has all been completed, and two or three weeks more claying will complete the work. The construction is being done by Anderson brothers, who hail from Wilsonville and Scottsbluff, Nebr.

It's a hit!
You can bat out lots of good stuff with a Remington Portable Typewriter

IT is surprising how the Remington Portable helps with college work. Long reports, theses, and transcriptions of lectures simply roll out of this machine. You don't have to be an experienced operator to speed up your writing to an unbelievable degree.

Your theses and reports look better, too, and quite naturally create a more favorable impression on the professors when they are written on the Remington Portable.

Weights only 3 1/2 pounds, net, and is the handiest, fastest, simplest to operate, and most dependable of all portables. Smallest, lightest and most compact standard keyboard portable.

Wells, Wind Mills, Pumps, etc.

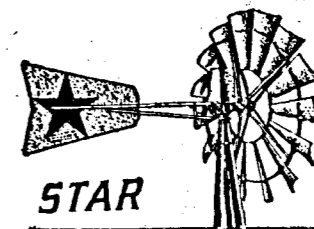

We wish to call attention at this time to our business. As the time old adage, "You never miss the water until the well goes dry," is still true and more true than it used to be as we depend on our wells and windmills more than we used to, and as some wells that have been in from ten to thirty years are truly going dry so it is called but not so. The flow of water is just as great there as ever but the point or gauze has become corroded over or a stoney substance has formed over the point or gauzed pipe so as to shut out the water to the extent that it cannot flow in fast enough to supply sufficient water to fill the cylinder so it pumps air. And some wells pump good for many years, never pump any sand and then begin to pump sand. The reason for some doing so is this: When the well is new and the gauze is all open the water flows in slow at all places and consequently no sand is pumped and as the well gets older the gauze becomes clogged up and where the gauze is torn off. (Which we have found in every case where we pulled an old well which pumped sand) the water flows fast enough to wash the sand in. Now the cure for a well of this kind is to slot it. You will ask now, what is slotting a well. We have an instrument which has three cutting rollers which we can expand down at the bottom of a casing well which cuts through the casing leaving an opening large enough for the water to come in freely but does not let sand in. We have tried it out on several wells and so far have not failed to get beneficial results. Now a few more words as to where we got the slotter. It is made right here in Ord by an Ord person who has tried to get it on the market and spoke to traveling salesmen and written to wholesale house and to no avail so finally decided to invent one himself with the above results. We had it made in Ord by one of our own mechanics, who was no other person than Henry P. Hansen. So if your well was a good well once and furnished plenty of water and now refuses to do so come in and see the only slotter of its kind that we know of and have us demonstrate to you and if it does you no good it costs you nothing to have it tried out. We lose our time if it fails. Nuff said about wells for this time.

WINDMILLS. There are many windmills on the market, all are good but some are better. The Raymond mill is a wood wheel which has actually stood the test for many years. It takes care of itself in any storm and runs in as light a wind as any open wheel mill. We also handle several self-oiling back geared mills which are backed by a good guarantee by responsible companies. The STAR, which is made by Flint & Wolling Mfg. Co. of KlindaHville, Ind. which is a very popular mill in the east and we have put up a number which are giving good satisfaction. The CHALLENGE, also is a steel mill which is made by an old reliable firm, which also has its merits and the AERMOTOR. I need say nothing in its behalf as it speaks for itself. Just ask any user of an Aermotor.

Cylinders are very essential and we use the very best money can buy. Brass body and brass plunger and follower. The heads also are the best we can buy, flanged top with either 6 inch stroke and also adjustable stroke which sell very reasonable.

As to our work we do repair work and try to save people as much as possible by repairing the old mills and cylinders and if you see fit to give us your work we will do our best to please you both in repairing your old well or making a new well. We make Cashing wells, also Tubular and Hydraulic. We guarantee any and all wells we make and will go no deeper than is absolutely necessary to make a good well.

STAR

The New Star with Timken Tapered Roller Bearings

Timken Tapered Roller Bearings are regular equipment on the new Model 24 Star.

Running in oil, these bearings afford a light, free running windmill which will pump water efficiently in an 8 to 10 mile an hour wind.

Wheel arms and braces are of angle steel, wheel parts are galvanized after completion, turn table is ball-bearing, rudder stem is of angle steel, and an effective brake is provided.

This new Star will provide you with dependable pumping power, operating in the lighter breezes, and save you the annoyance of frequently climbing the tower. Good for years of service.

We have one of these new Stars on display. Come in and see it.

Buck Lays Plans for Entertaining Nation's Editors

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—Headquarters have been opened in Lincoln for publicity and promotion work in connection with the 1927 convention of the National Editorial Association. The headquarters are located in the Lindell hotel and are in charge of Ole Buck, who has engaged G. D. McClaskey to assist him. An intensive plan of publicity and promotion already is under way.

Mr. Buck, who is secretary and manager of the Nebraska Press Association, was appointed by the National Editorial Association to have general supervision of arrangements for the 1927 convention, which will be held in Omaha, starting June 12, and will be followed by an educational and sight-seeing tour of Nebraska and the scenic Black Hills country. Mr. McClaskey, who has had much experience in publicity and promotion work, is a Nebraska newspaperman, who also was with the Capper Publications at the main office in Topeka, Kas., a number of years and later with a publication in Kansas City, Mo. He will direct the publicity for the National Editorial Association convention and will assist Mr. Buck with his work in general.

Elaborate plans are being perfected for the entertainment of editors from all parts of the country. The 1927 convention will be the 43rd annual meeting of the National Editorial Association and throughout the history of the organization nothing so extensive as the present convention program ever was undertaken. This is to be a convention in which all of Nebraska and the Black Hills region of South Dakota will have a part in extending hospitality of the true western brand and in providing entertainment for the visiting editors.

The tour of the state, following the business sessions in Omaha, will include stops at about 20 leading towns in Nebraska and a trip a short distance outside the state to view the wondrous beauty of the Black Hills country. Stops at the different points will be not less than four hours and from that to an entire day. An entire day and evening will be spent at Lincoln, the Nebraska capital and one of the West's most beautiful cities. Tentative plans are to devote four days to the Black Hills region, with stops at Hot Springs, Deadwood, Lead and Rapid City.

In the matter of sight-seeing and entertainment, Omaha and Nebraska and the Black Hills have not only planned to outdo every other city or locality that has entertained the National Editorial Association, but expect to establish a record for attendance.

The editors will assemble in Omaha June 12 and will devote the three days following to the business side of the program before starting on

The Real Artist
All things considered, the most successful interior decorator is a good cook.

Time's Changes
"Times ain't like dey used to be," said Uncle Eben. "De streets is so full of automobile horns dat dar don't seem scarcely no room for a brass band."—Washington Star.

Baghdad Is Right Spelling
The celebrated city of Asia Minor, formerly capital of the empire of the caliph and site of the tomb of Zobir, wife of the Caliph Haroun-Al-Raschid, should be spelled Baghdad, and not Bagdad, the United States Geographic board has decided, for government usage.

Estate Long in Family
Gardner's Island, in Long Island sound, near Shelter Island, is said to be the only piece of landed property in America which has remained continually in possession of the family of the original white proprietor since colonial days. The original Gardiner acquired the little island in 1639.

Now B.g Industry
The manufacture of gutta-percha was begun in the United States in 1848. In that year the first submarine cable in this or any other country to be insulated with gutta-percha was laid across the Passaic and Hudson rivers for the telegraph line between New York and Philadelphia.

Old Days Recalled
In these days of modern apartments, it is wondered how many can recall the pleasure derived on a rainy day from climbing the old attic stairs, and, to the tune of raindrops pattering on the tin roof, rummaging in one of the numerous trunks or boxes under the eaves, or settling down in a comfortable spot to pore over the pages of back numbers of a popular magazine.

Poison Ivy Hit Colonists
Poison ivy was one of the first aggravating pests found in the new world when the colonists first came to America. In fact, Capt. John Smith, as early as 1607, wrote of having found it, and gave a very accurate description in some of his records of the effect of the weed. Strangely enough, he was never poisoned by it himself, but saw the sufferings of others on a number of occasions.

GREETINGS to the NEW CREAMERY

We feel that YOUR BUTTER and OUR POPCORN are going to be pals

MAKES A SUITABLE GIFT. A few pounds of our Valley county grown popcorn makes a suitable gift to send to a distant friend, especially if he or she lives where popcorn is not grown. We have several varieties and put it up in suitable sacks for mailing. All you have to do is to write the desired address on the tag. A few cents will send a good sized sack. Every lot of popcorn we buy is tested and when you buy it of us you are assured that it will pop when it gets to the other end of the line. Your relative or friend will be pleased and will talk to the neighbors for a long time about that "Valley county popcorn."

Popcorn Lovers! You'll be delighted with your first trial of Little Jap Pop corn. Each little kernel blossoms out miraculously, every single one of them. You don't have a lot of seeds left in the bottom of the popper when you use our corn. This is because we buy only tested seed, whose popping qualities have been tried by us. Then, when you get the seed straight from the field, with only a few days spent in our warehouses, the seeds are sure to pop. Old seed, dry from long storage, often proves disappointing.

WE ALSO HANDLE COAL. We have unloaded several carloads recently and it is giving splendid satisfaction. We handle a Colorado lump coal, selling it at $9.75 per ton; and we guarantee it to be the best coal sold in Ord for the price. Try some and you will be convinced that you can have the same heat at much less money than you have been in the habit of paying. This coal is clean, comes in nice lumps, tests high in heat units, burns up clean and with very little ash. Gives off no noxious gases and—well, the size of the matter is that if you start using it you will be so well pleased that you will come back for more.

We buy and sell Flint Corn and Sweet Corn. We are in the market at all times for field corn for seed. Get our prices before you sell.

O. H. S. NEWS

The Seniors ordered their class rings on November 24, and if there is no delay, they will receive them right after the Christmas vacation. These rings are octagon shaped with O. H. S. running horizontally and O. R. D. running vertically, with 1927 on the upper corners.

Members of Miss Harriet Taylor's advanced Home Economics class are working on their Christmas unit and are making many useful Christmas gifts.

Miss Hostetter's advanced Latin class is making posters to illustrate different Latin scenes.

The annual football banquet of the Ord high school will be held at the Bohemian hall, on Friday, December the third, at six-thirty. The coach and the football letter men of 1926 will be the guests. The ladies of the Christian church will serve. Everyone is invited.

Having finished last month's transactions, the bookkeeping class is now ready to start on its next month's transactions.

The tenth grade English class has taken up the study of "The Passing of Arthur" by Tennyson.

The Senior English class has completed the study of Poe's Prose Tales and is now ready to take up the "House of Seven Gables" by Hawthorne.

Last week being the last of the second six weeks and fifteen points of book-reports being required, a regular downpour of them has been coming in.

In Typing class 3 Jeanette Blessing has earned an Underwood certificate and Agnes Ulrich has earned a forty-word L. C. Smith medal.

On account of the Thanksgiving vacation last week there are not many H. S. notes this week, but we hope to make next week's issue, which is the last this class will edit, a good one.

Girls' Athletics.

The volley ball season is now ended and the Junior girls hold the championship for this year.

The deciding game between the Juniors and Seniors was played Monday, November 22. At first the Seniors were ahead and it looked very much as though they were going to win, but when the Juniors faced the fact that the Seniors were winning, they awoke and won the game with a score of 15 to 13. The Sophomores then challenged the winners. This game, which was the easier of the two, ended in a score of 15 to 10 in favor of the Juniors.

Miss Hostetter is making arrangements for indoor games, drills, folk dances, volley ball and basket ball for the H. S. girls.

Kindergarten and First Grade. James Petka celebrated his birthday last Wednesday by serving lollipops to the class.

The Kindergarten is making articles out of clay this week and will paint them.

The Normal trainers visited Miss Stowell's reading class the first period Monday to observe.

The 6A spelling class has 19 one hundred percent lessons for this week.

Monday little Miss Carol Smith entertained the third grade by telling them of her home, people and country. The little girl lives in China. She answered all our questions in a most interesting way.

Wednesday Lotus Wilson treated her class with lollipops in honor of her ninth birthday.

Mildred Lee entered the third grade Monday morning. There are now 37 in this class.

The boys won in perfect attendance with a score of 12, while the girls had 10.

The first and second grade room report the following as having been neither absent nor tardy during the past six weeks period: Francis Duemey, Blanche Drabosh, Dean Barta, Vere McClement, Virginia Weeks, Irene Whitney and Ruth Kessler.

Mrs. F. A. Barta visited the first and second grade room on Tuesday.

Elaine Skollil, Jay Auble, and Glen Bresley were absent from school on account of sickness.

Visitors are always welcome.

Convocation.

Last Wednesday a pep meeting was held prior to the last football game of the season. Speeches were made by Andersen, Mason, Furtak and a few others, including Benny Augustyn who has so far been able to escape during cheer meetings. Much pep and enthusiasm were shown by the students.

The Seniors, who were to sponsor the Convocation Tuesday morning, postponed their program. Miss Rouse led the H. S. in singing some old and well-known songs. The diversion from the regular program proves both enjoyable and profitable as Miss Rouse can always bring out something new in the old songs.

Personal Glimpses.

Wouldn't it be funny if:

Ward Mizar would stop talking during class time?

Mike Perliniski wouldn't get any more yellow slips?

Miss Sheffler forgot to assign the history lesson?

Vernie Andersen would stop flirting with the girls?

Miss Rouse would bob her hair?

Chester Bently prepared his English lesson for two days in succession?

Joe Carkoski didn't have anything to say?

Miss Sheffler—Can you tell me who succeeded, Edward or?

Elma Kosmata—Mary.

Miss Sheffler—Now, Elma, who followed Mary?

Elma K.—(absent minded) Her little lamb.

Miss Partridge—How many bones are there in the human body?

Ethan Magnusen—Depends upon what fish you have been eating.

Teacher—What were Webster's last words?

Wayne Norman—I don't remember, ma'am, but they all began with 'a'.

Lawrence Coplin's corn was shucked Monday afternoon by a bunch of twelve men with six teams.

The carnival put on Saturday night at the school house was well attended and was very successful. Music was furnished during the evening by the high school orchestra. Refreshments were sold in the east class room. The Zoo and the Chamber of Horrors were very popular places, and a large number attended the Three Ring Dog show. Anglers tried their luck at the fishing pond and many strange fish were caught. There was a booth for men only and a beauty parlor, which was patronized by both men and women. A beauty contest was conducted. Votes were sold, ten for a penny, and Eva Adams was declared the most beautiful girl. She received a prize of $1.50. A large cake in which a twenty-five cent coin was hidden was sold by pieces. Hayden Jones got the lucky piece. Another attraction was a pair of laugh provoking clowns. There was a fortune wheel and an arrangement for throwing balls at a target. Something over $50 was raised. This, however, did not entirely cancel the debt on the "Corn Poppers."

Odorless dry cleaning with our DeLaval Continuous Clarification System

How your clothes are cleaned by us

Suits cleaned by us will be put into a washing machine with 150 gallons of gasoline for about an hour. While your suit is in gasoline we have a De Laval Clarifier, which takes care of oil, dirt, etc. About eighteen gallons of gasoline is cleaned every minute. Your clothes are continually in clean gasoline.

Next we use an extractor for partly drying the clothes. Then they are put in the Drying Tumbler, heated by steam for about 30 minutes which makes your clothes odorless. That is the best way your clothes can be cleaned and the only way.

MAN WHO SHOT PHEASANTS PAYS FINE AND COSTS

Game Warden Lashmett Arrests "Shoot and Run" Hunter After Long Chase.

Floyd A. Bothwell, Kearney man who shot chickens belonging to Will Egloff and was later found to have killed three pheasants, was arrested December 4 by Game Warden Bert Lashmett and paid a fine aggregating $54.55, with costs. The case was heard in Justice Hamilton's court.

Bothwell had been husking corn for Pete Anderson, who lives near Horace, and Mr. Anderson paid his fine and secured his release. The complaint against him was for unlawful possession of the three birds, no charge of killing them having been filed against him.

The case started on Thanksgiving day when Bothwell, with a Kearney companion, shot three chickens in the road near the Will Egloff farm on Davis creek. He was chased by Mr. Egloff and his son Glen, and upon being caught paid for the chickens. After he left, a sack he had thrown from the car was found to contain three pheasants and the case was reported to authorities.

Egloff thought he had secured the number of Bothwell's car and Lashmett made a trip to Kearney but found no such number as reported on file there. However, a clue was picked up at Ravenna and Bothwell was traced to Horace, where he was apprehended.

Mr. Lashmett received a very complimentary letter from his chief, Chief Game Warden McConnell, for his work in the affair.

Burwell Minister Meets With Accident

(Special to the Quiz)
Burwell, Neb., Dec. 6.—Rev. W. W. Gettys, the new pastor of the Burwell Methodist church has that love for fine poultry that is said to be inherent in ministers in general. He puts this fondness to practical use by raising Rhode Island Reds that seem to have an affinity for the blue on the ribbons at the poultry shows.

Last week he took two coops of them to the show at Grand Island and his roosters took first, second and sweepstakes.

On the way home Saturday he narrowly escaped serious injury at the bridge a mile or so northwest of Elba. As he turned the corner to approach the bridge he saw a heavy car coming from the opposite direction at a high rate of speed. Seeing that a meeting on the bridge was inevitable, he threw on the brakes. The hind wheels skidded on the sleet, and before anything could be done the car went over the edge of the embankment and turned over on its side.

B. C. Nixon, the owner of the other car, had to break the glass in the upper door to get it open. The minister and the chickens were uninjured and after some vigorous first aid treatments, the car was found to be able to travel. Mr. Nixon, feeling that he was in a measure to blame, agreed to pay all damages to the car and the whole incident ended happily.

Big Your Pardon!
In the story of the Ord-Loup City football game last week the Quiz stated that Wilson, who refereed, was a former Loup City high school coach. This the Loup City board of education disclaims, saying that as far as they know Wilson had never been in the town before the day of the game. We are sorry.

Will Give Silver Knife.
McLain-Sorensen are offering a real special in their ad in the Quiz this week. This firm, which makes a special every Saturday, will give a Rogers silver jelly knife, value $1.50, with every two-tube purchase of Nydentia tooth paste.

H. P. VanDecar returned home the first of the week after a short stay at Omaha.

The Ign. Klitna, jr., family drove to Kearney last Sunday taking Miss Marie Klitna to enter school.

Whitman Dies In Oklahoma

William H. Whitman, who lived for many years in Arcadia and who has relatives in both that place and Ord, died Nov. 25 at Catoosa, Okla. He was 59 years old.

Mr. Whitman was born in New York but came to Nebraska when a small boy. Soon after attaining manhood he moved to Oklahoma, where he has since lived and where he passed away.

A brother, Fred, of Arcadia, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Goodhand of Ord are Valley county relatives left to mourn his departure. He will be remembered by many old time settlers of the county. Interment was in the Catoosa cemetery, services being held from the Methodist church there.

Dr. Howes Has Painful Accident

(Special to the Quiz)
Burwell, Neb., Dec. 6.—Last Wednesday as Dr. Howes was getting a hod of coal up out of the basement, the light fuse burned out. He stopped on the landing to put in a new fuse, and after finishing the job, forgot for the moment where he was and stepped off. He struck on his left leg, peeling the skin from ankle to hip. Then he turned over, landing on the floor below on his right shoulder. No bones were broken, but he was badly bruised all over, and is still feeling pretty well knocked out. He went to Ord for a few days for treatment there, but is now home and hopes to be about again in a short time.

Auditing Books

R. C. King and S. A. Myers, auditors from Lincoln, arrived at the county treasurer's office this week and are auditing the accounts of the treasurer for ten years back, preparatory to Treasurer Paist retiring and Ted Brown assuming the duties of the office January 1.

Ever Busy Club.
Ever Busy club met at Mrs. McGinnis' home last Friday for an all day cooking demonstration, carrots being prepared in several different ways as a part of the project work.

Twelve members were present. The next meeting will be held December 16 at the home of Mrs. J. D. McCall.

JOE KLEIN DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Brother of Ord Man Dies at Ogallala After A Short Illness

Funeral services for Joe Klein, brother of John Klein of this city, who died last Friday at Ogallala after an illness of but two weeks, were held Sunday at Paplin, inland town near Ashton. Many Ord relatives and friends attended. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

Mr. Klein was 34 years old at the time of his death and is survived by his wife and three children, the oldest of whom is nine years old and the youngest 2-1/2. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Klein, St. Paul, two brothers, John and Frank, and four sisters, in addition to many other relatives and friends, mourn his death.

While the deceased has never lived in Ord he has visited here many times and is well known by many Ord people.

Old Time Resident Back in Burwell

(Special to the Quiz)
Burwell, Neb., Dec. 6. Mrs. Mattie Jus, of Garretts, Kas., came in on the Burlington Saturday night, and will spend a week or so visiting her brother, John Hetfield and his family, and a daughter and family, Joe Parkin. She lived here more than twenty years ago, and finds a great many changes in the town. She even finds the sand hills changed for the better, making the old adage, "changeless as the hills" sound like foolishness. Mrs. Jus is headed for Redondo, Beach, Cal., where she and a friend, Mrs. Lizzie Baker, of Chicago are going into the novelty business. She is a very interesting talker and kept her fellow travelers on the train entertained all the way to Burwell.

Springdale Kensington Club.
The Springdale Kensington club met with Mrs. Athey Dec. 3. Sixteen members were present and Mrs. Johnson of North Loup was a visitor. Mrs. Cummins was a new member. Ways of preparing carrots were discussed. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Harry Wolf, Dec. 16.

Moeller Land Case Settled Out of Court

The case of the City National bank, Lincoln, against Jorgen Moeller, et al, regarding fair rental value of the Moeller land from 1923 to 1926 was settled out of court Monday when the defendants paid $8,250 and Judge Paine dismissed the case from the docket.

The American Legion auxiliary held its regular meeting Tuesday night at the club rooms. The new officers were installed; it was decided to bring gifts to be sent to soldiers in the resident hospitals for Christmas. A drive to increase the membership will soon begin. After the business meeting the usual social hour was held in conjunction with the American Legion.

Ray Marsh, Archer, arrived in Ord last evening to visit at the O. E. Hackett home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Roy and Louise and Leo Mendyk, Loup City, were Sunday guests at the Walter Kochonowski home here.

Mrs. Dora Burham and daughter, Miss Velda, Lincoln, arrived Tuesday evening and are guests in the John Readle home.

MANY PRIZES TO BE GIVEN ON SATURDAY

Community Club Completes Arrangements for Creamery Opening Day Program.

MERCHANTS OFFER PRIZES

Nine Awards to be Made in Each Class, Hastings Will Speak.

The Community Service club committee appointed last week has been busy this week lining up the program for the opening of the new co-operative creamery Saturday. At 2:00 P. M. Hastings will speak and a male quartet will give several selections.

It was announced last week that George Davis, county agent of Howard county, would speak but the committee was unable to secure him.

As announced last week, a prize of $10 will be given to the person submitting the best name for Ord's new butter. Judges will be the new directors and all names must be submitted by 6 p. m. Saturday.

Nine prizes are offered in each of the two classes Saturday, a prize of $10 being given by the Community club for the person bringing the most cream and a prize of the same amount being awarded to the person whose cream tests the highest. Eight other prizes in each class are offered. There are, with the names of those offering:

For most cream—
Second prize offered by Frank Koupal, $5 in cash; third prize, given by Flagg-Tunnelliff, ten gallons gasoline; fourth prize, given by L. D. Milliken, five-gallon cream can; fifth prize, given by McLain-Sorensen, $1.25 package of Egg-a-Day sixth prize, given by L. Mazac & Son, $1.00 worth of sugar; seventh prize, Nu-Way Cleaners, pair bib overalls; eighth prize, Bailey & Detweiler, lantern, kerosene.

For highest test given: J. C. Penney Co., pair "Pay Day" overalls; third, E. F. Bieranek, $1.50 package Hess stock; fourth, Peoples Store, three pound can coffee; fifth, Serchen Bros., 5 gallon cream can, sixth, George Parkins, Eversharp pencil; seventh, James Milford, denim jacket; eighth, Hill & Hill, one-half dozen pairs work socks; ninth, J. R. Stoltz, one-half dozen pairs work socks.

Mr. Robson, buttermaker at the creamery will be on hand to conduct all visitors through the building. It is expected that a large crowd will be on hand to take advantage of this opportunity and to witness the program, which will be held in the Opera house if the crowd warrants its use.

Stockholders meet today at the city hall to elect directors, who in turn will appoint a local manager for the institution.

Garrison-Brayton
Miss Helen Garrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Garrison, formerly of Ord and now of Grand Island, and Bert C. Brayton, Grand Island, were married Nov. 22. It has been learned. The couple make their home in Grand Island where the groom is projectionist at the Lyda theater.

McLAIN SELLS OUT TO EMERSON MAN

Ord Man Sells Undertaking Business; Cole Takes Possession Jan. 1.

Will McLain came to Valley county forty-three years ago and thirteen years ago he started in the undertaking business. During the last thirteen years he has built up a fine, lucrative business. About 5 p. m. last Thursday C. E. Kohl of Emerson, Neb., drove into town with the idea of buying the McLain business and before six o'clock a deal had been completed, contract signed and involving started and on January 1 Mr. Kohl will take over the business. The new owner expects to be in Ord about the middle of the month to get acquainted with the people and his new business.

When the Quiz reporter asked if Mr. McLain would go to California he said he might but that he would not do so for several months. He says he had been tied to his business so long that he feels in need of a good rest and as soon as he gets his business in shape, possibly in the spring he will take a trip.

Mr. Kohl, the new proprietor, has a wife and two children and comes to Ord highly recommended. He recently sold his undertaking business at Emerson. His family will be located in Ord by the first of the year. Mrs. Kohl is also an undertaker and assists her husband in the business.

Mr. McLain will assist the new owners for a few months while they are getting acquainted, having retained a small interest in the business.

Brief News Notes About Valley County People and Happenings

Returns from Kansas—Leslie Mason returned home Sunday from Troy, Kas., where he has been working for the past two months. He will stay in Ord for only a short time, having another job of masonry in view.

Turner Here for Visit—Rev. Homer L. Turner, who is state agent for a large life insurance company, returned to Ord Monday after a two months absence. He came here from Omaha, but has been in all parts of Nebraska since his last visit here.

Andersen Has Operation—Mrs. Lars Andersen has received word that her husband, who went to Rochester, Minn., last week, has submitted to an operation and is out of the hospital. He will remain there for a week or so for examination. Mrs. Andersen stays with her grandmother, Mrs. A. P. Jensen.

Doesn't Recognize Son—A good joke is being told on W. S. King, prominent Valley county farmer. He had gone to the railway station to meet his son, Ted, who was returning from college. Ted had grown a great deal and, in different clothes, didn't look familiar to Mr. King at first glance. When he stepped from the train his father gave him a casual glance and went on looking through the passengers for his son. Ted touched his shoulder and Mr. King took a closer look at the supposed stranger and at once greeted his son.

To Omaha for Holidays—Ota and Miss Lulu Bailey left Tuesday for Omaha, where they will stay until after the holidays. Soon after January 1 they plan to go to California to spend the winter months.

Mart Beran Lucky

Mart Beran can consider himself lucky he isn't a married man. He probably can get away with the story he tells to account for the black eye he has been wearing, but many benefactors who have tried to tell the "lumped into the edge of a door" story will doubt it.

When Mart crawled out from under a car he was working on at the Ford garage last week, he struck his face against the lower part of the open car door. The services of a doctor were required to repair the damage to Mart's face and he has been wearing a black eye and a broken nose, to say nothing of several skin abrasions—Mart says.
Lucky he isn't married.

Chevrolet Company Sets Sales Record

The Chevrolet Motor company reports the sale of 73,474 cars and trucks during the month of November, in their sales contest for that month just closed. Only once in the history of the company has a greater number of cars been sold, last May, when 74,968 cars were retailed. The Omaha Chevrolet company has been doing its share in helping the company set this November record.

Happy Circle Club Notes.
The Happy Circle club met with Mrs. Carl Holm on Dec. 2, with 13 members present and one visitor.

The meeting was called to order by the president, the minutes of the previous meeting read and approved. They voted to send half of the proceeds from the produce sale to the Cappers Fund for crippled children and the other half is to go to the Shoe Fund for the needy in Omaha.

The club and Sunly school are going together on the expense for the Christmas entertainent. Two committees were appointed for the Christmas buying. The first consisted of Mrs. Flynn and Mrs. Knecht and the second of Mrs. W. Jorgensen and Mrs. Clement.

The afternoon was spent in working on the quilt to be sent to the Santa Claus fund. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Knecht.

After the meeting had adjourned a shower was held for Richard Lee Miska.

Mrs. Emil Fuss and Mrs. Arnold Bredthauer attended the Lutheran Ladies Aid Thursday afternoon at the Will Fass home.

CRAM ORDERED TO PAY $609 TO ANDERSEN

Burwell Man Found Guilty of Negligent Driving, Must Pay Damages.

Judge Hollingshead's court last Friday was the scene of the final settlement of the Andersen-Parkos-Cram case which grew out of an automobile accident last summer in which Frank Andersen was injured when cars owned by Joseph Parkos and Albert I. Cram collided.

Mr. Cram was found guilty of negligent driving and was ordered to pay $609 to Hans Andersen for injuries to his son and $65 to Mr. Parkos for injuries to the car.

Several witnesses were called and testified that the fault was with the driver of the Cram car, he turning a corner on the wrong side of the road. Judgment was issued as reported above.

Young Andersen was severely injured in the wreck and has undergone operations at both Ord and Lincoln hospitals. He is not yet fully recovered. The Parkos car was also badly damaged.

Bert M. Hardenbrook was Andersen's attorney, Davis & Davis acting for Parkos and E. M. White, Munn & Norman serving for Cram.

DAVIS HEADS HIGH MASONIC ORDER

Ord Man Elected to High Position in Lodge at Omaha Meeting

At a meeting of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters, a Masonic order, at Omaha Tuesday, Clarence M. Davis, Ord attorney, was elected to head the order. Last year he was deputy grand master and his elevation to the grand master's chair was simply a promotion.

For many years Mr. Davis has been prominent in Masonic lodge work in Nebraska. In the Grand Council he has held all of the chairs from year to year, being steadily prominent in addition to being prominent to Masonic work both in Ord and over Nebraska. Mr. Davis is one of the best known attorneys in central Nebraska. He is president of the Ord Rotary club and has acted as delegate from the club to several national conventions. He has been prominent in civic and community work here and is a member of the law firm of Davis & Davis.

At the Omaha meeting Seward E. Cogswell, Central City, was selected deputy master. All past grand masters of the council were presented to the delegates during the session.

BAILEY PROMOTED
Glendall Bailey, who has held a responsible position with the Texas Oil company at Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., has been transferred to Milwaukee and given charge of a large territory. This is a fine promotion and the many friends of Mr. Bailey will be glad as they watch his steady advancement. R. C. Bailey, his father, is spending a few days with him this week at Milwaukee.

Five Naturalized By Judge Paine

Five men, Oscar Hansen, Petrea Hansen and Rudolph Rutar, Arcadia, Julius Vata, Ord and Vachav Hrebec, Constock, were naturalized as American citizens by District Judge Bayard H. Paine in District court Monday.

Several other cases were disposed of in court this week.

Mrs. Rose Pierson was granted a divorce from Perry Pierson, a property settlement being mutually agreed upon.

The case of Russell Jones vs. John L. Kelly, appealed from Arcadia Justice' court, was dismissed by Judge Paine. Kelly had appealed a judgment Jones had received there and won the case and paid costs when Jones failed to appear.

A foreclosure action, Bartonek vs. Bartonek, was decided in favor of Anton Bartonek, though Judge Paine found that the amount claimed was too large and cut it down materially. Tom Lanigan, Greeley, represented Ida Bartonek, while Mr. Bartonek was represented by Clarence Davis.

California Woman Writes to Quiz

November 26, 1926.

To the Ord Quiz:
I am inclosing a check to pay my subscription up to date and I imagine I am like a great many others in that I feel I would like to write just a few words also.

Mr. Nordstrom and I are sitting in front of the fire place this evening in our cottage at Laguna Beach. The evenings are chilly enough so that a fire in the fireplace seems very comfortable and cozy. We came down Thursday bringing our Thanksgiving dinner with us and it was not long after we arrived till I had it on the table.

We come down as often as possible for it is a great relief to get away from the noise and confusion of Los Angeles, which has grown from an overgrown village to a city of nearly one and a half millions since we came to California. Los Angeles and all of Southern California had its first real rain of the season Wednesday when more than two inches of rain fell during the day. And this evening, Friday, it has started raining again.

I am sending you this week's Laguna Beach Life.

Our coast highway is nearly completed now. There are two or three short sections still to be completed as for instance a section one and one-half miles long through Laguna that was left to the last. When these short sections are put in our coast highway will extend from Washington State to San Diego and most of this distance the ocean will be in sight.

On October 30th last there was an Ord Picnic at Bixby Park, Long Beach. I failed to see any mention of it in the Quiz. There are so many former Ordites here that I thought some of them would write you about it. I wish I had taken the names of those who were there for I can remember only a few of them. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Getter, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Lambert, Noral Lambert and brother, Anna Lambert, Bert and sister, Thomas Rogers and sister, Mamie Siler, Mr. and Mrs. Sorensen, Dave McCord and Cora McCord, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Bell. Mr. Bell had a lumberyard in Ord about forty-five years ago. I think if the secretary of the Ord society here would send the Quiz notice ahead of time of our Ord picnics and a short article afterward, giving at least the names of those who attended for we always have a large crowd and all seem to enjoy getting together for a short visit.

Sincerely yours,
ALMA WEARE NORDSTROM.

Chico, Calif., Dec. 3, 1926.

The Ord Quiz,
Ord, Nebr.
Gentlemen:

Please find enclosed my check to insure the Quiz to come for a year or two longer. We have had ideal weather here this fall, it being dry and warm up to Thanksgiving time. Everybody had a chance to get his crops in without any loss. Even the rice farmers got their crops home without stopping on account of rain. The rice crop was very good here. Joseph Krikac got fifty sacks per acre on his half section of land.

Just before Thanksgiving it started to rain and we have had rainy weather every since, until this morning when the wind turned from the north, which is a good sign for clear weather.

Simpkins Like South Dakota

Kadoka, S. D. Dec. 2, 1926.

H. D. Leggett,
Ord, Nebr.

In order to furnish a bit of amusement for our many Ord friends, I have written a sample of how we like South Dakota.

So if you care to publish it we contribute the following, which is very true.

Yours truly,
Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Simpkins, P. S.

We surely enjoy reading the Quiz, can hardly wait from one Quiz day to the next. We get our Quiz Tuesday after it is published.

In the year of 1926
And in the month of June,
F. E. took his wife and went
Upon their honeymoon.

When this was ended he took her
To a land where once he had roamed
And there they have settled
In a cozy little home.

This land is in the Fine Ridge Reservation
Where at one time
White man had no relation.

But what matter to F. E.,
If the country be wild, as he
Is young and gay, and, if above all,
His wife is willing to stay?

Said F. E. to his wife one day,
"Honey, do you really like
This State of sunshine
And of adventurous play?"

"Girl it puts the pep into this guy
To look afar across the country
And see the beautiful distant scenes
In silhouette against the sky!"

And ain't it lots of fun
To breath God's pure air
And watch the typical Indian Pass by as if he hardly dare?"

But oh the joy of it all
Is to kill those pesky Rattle snakes
In the summer
And in the fall."

Oh, I'll tell you wife of mine
To live in the State Of South Dakota is
I claim, real life sublime!

And I look forward to my old age
When, with a smile upon my face,
I can tell of the land
Of branded horses and Rattle snakes.
—Mrs. Leora Kingstons Simpkins.

SHOULD SELL PLANT.

Ord, Nebr. Dec. 5, 1926.

To the Editor of the Quiz:
I noticed in your valuable paper last week that the Ord city council is planning to buy a new engine for the light plant. It will cost about $20,000. Now I think that's a mistake and there are lots of other people, I'm sure, who feel the same way about it.

In the same paper I saw an article telling about how in a few years everything will be owned by private companies and from reading the dailies I believe that's so. Now, isn't it a mistake to go and turn down the offer the Nebraska Electric company made for the plant and put a lot of money into a new motor and then sell the plant in a few years as we'll surely have to do? You see the big companies will give us that much more when they take the plant over but I don't believe they'll give us one cent more and they'll have us where we have to sell and we won't be able to do a thing but take what they will give us.

If Ord sold its plant we'd get just as good service as we get now and it would cost us just the same, because the company that made an offer guaranteed not to raise the rates. And we wouldn't run any risk of having to pay taxes to keep the plant up in good shape, like we do now.

Please print this because I believe people are interested in it and should pay more attention to what's going on, but please don't sign my name at present.

Yours respectfully,
A TAXPAYER

Oddities of News From Exchanges

C. W. Walgren called on Bill Wroznak Thursday morning and Friday evening.

Paul Poppe, Scotia boy well known here who is now a cadet at West Point, received wide publicity in connection with the Army-Navy game in Chicago, says the Scotia Register. A picture of Paul surrounded by four of Chicago's prettiest girls was reproduced in the Chicago Tribune.

From the Beatrice News comes the following item in regard to a verbal tilt engaged in by Frank Bartos, Wilbur lawyer convicted of liquor law violation, and J. A. O'Keefe, Beatrice attorney:

"As the story came to us it is alleged that friend Bartos told friend O'Keefe that as a defender of public morals he was a good card player, while O'Keefe told friend Bartos that as a defender of the law of the land he would make a good sponge."

From the Columbus Telegram comes an account of the way a garage owner patronized a rival tire shop. He was turning a corner when a rear tire came off, rolled across the pavement, into an open door of a business house and settled down beside the work bench with some other tires. The business house was a tire shop conducted by a rival.

CHEVROLET

1926 Again Chevrolet's Greatest Year

In 1925 Chevrolet astonished the automotive world by attaining an annual production never before reached by any manufacturer of gearshift automobiles. Yet, so spectacular has been the increase in demand for Chevrolet cars, that a new and even more brilliant record is the climax for 1926.

Thus, for two years in succession, Chevrolet has broken all its previous records and has set a new mark in automotive history. This splendid achievement results from a steadfast adherence to the fundamental Chevrolet policy of building a car of the finest possible quality to sell at a low price.

That the vast majority of buyers now demand a car of this type—and that Chevrolet has been successful in building such a car—possessing the highest degree of smooth performance, smart appearance, and economical operation—is proved by Chevrolet's success during the year now drawing to a close. Come in and see this record-breaking car.

Do your Christmas thinking early and avoid the rush.

A man or a class or a religion— or anything that will not advertise— isn't fit to exist in the world. It means it doesn't really believe in itself. To want to exist and not to dare exist is something beneath dignity.

Burwell is having trouble with his new side-of-the-street parking ordinance. Editor Parsons comments on the fact that a petition to the board to make a change was liberally signed and that the persons who signed are doing the most complaining.

The next move to be expected after the Ord creamery opens is one on the part of big creameries to put the local company out of business. The big fellows may fight among themselves but when it comes to crowding out the little ones they present a united front.

HUMANIZING POLITICS
New York republicans holding a post mortem after the Smith landslide, say the republican party needs humanizing. Both major political parties could stand a dose of the same medicine.

Should the democrats nominate Al Smith for the presidency in 1928 they will be taking a step in the right direction. Smith, more than any man in politics today, possesses virtues and shortcomings to excite deep partisanship and strong competition.

TUBERCULOSIS SEALS
The Christmas season is approaching and with it comes the annual sale of the little Christmas seals put on the prevention of tuberculosis, to secure funds to aid in carrying on this work.

With funds raised from the sale of the seals fresh-air camps are established for children with tubercular tendencies, men and women who have already acquired the disease are aided in curing it, and preventative work of all kinds, including broadcasting health propaganda, is done.

ADVERTISING DOESN'T COST
"Advertising doesn't cost—it pays!" says the organ published by a nationally known chain store organization. The following instance is given:

"In 1915, the Alumino Company began the manufacture of kitchen ware. Their output of a large kettle was 1,000 a month. This kettle sold to the trade for $150 less 40 per cent. The cost of manufacturing was 40 cents, share of over head 30 cents, profits 10 cents, salesman's commission 10 cents.

More and more merchants in Ord and other towns of its size are realizing the truth of the above instance—that advertising doesn't cost, least of all the consumer—and are patronizing newspapers like the Quiz to a greater and greater extent.

POOR "PAWNEE BILL"
Poor Pawnee Bill! For years he has flooded the country with neckties, asking people to send him a dollar to pay for them because he is blind and trying to earn an honest living. But the truth will out and now it develops that "poor Pawnee Bill" is a large knitting concern in St. Louis with a high financial rating.

A good many Spencer people, when they received their "consignment" fell for the gag that poor Pawnee is blind and sent him their dollar. Now they have the neckties, such as "Pawnee Bill" has their money.

My Own Column

Fellow from Arcadia asked Peter Hallen the other day if he had any blowout patches for a woman's rubber self-reducing corset. Bill Tunnell says that a shoulder strap is what prevents an attraction from becoming a sensation.

A Burwell woman remarked the other day that when she succeeded in coaxing a dollar from her husband it seemed more like a souvenir than anything else. "I am not the cake eater I used to be" said Mr. A. Sutton at his 80th birthday dinner some time ago when his daughter passed him the sixth slice.

Someone told an Ord man that there were many rare coins in circulation so, not being very busy the other day, he got his money out and was looking it over and called his wife to show her a coin with two buffaloes on it. She told him to put it away till he got sober and he would only see one.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine has gotten many cussings for himself from the live stock commission firms of Omaha by his statement that there are too many firms and that they are charging too much in the way of commissions; that there are sixty firms while a dozen could likely handle all the business and do it at a reasonable commission charge.

As I came to the back door of the office the other day I noticed scores of old nails and tacks and bits of wire laying on the ground and I do not wonder that I saw them there. I wonder how such a situation was to be met. Now I read that the state agricultural college in South Dakota is perfecting a machine which is so equipped with magnets that it will sweep the streets clean of these small pieces of metal.

W. A. Brown, editor of the Friend Sentinel and president of the Nebraska State Press association, discusses the road improvement in the following manner: "I understand that the Nebraska Good Roads association is planning a campaign for highway paving. I doubt whether this will meet with the approval of the State of Nebraska as graveling several hundred miles of highway and we have been promised gravel on the county roads. It is the county roads that interests the small trade centers. In Saline county practically all the federal aid highways are gravelled. A new highway is planned from De Witt to Western, thence to Tobias and on into Pilmore county. This road is approved by the majority of Saline county people and will of course be gravelled under the plan we want the county roads gravelled north and south and east and west. To do this an extra 10c per gallon of gasoline tax will be necessary which will be used in the county. This measure will be approved unless it is switched out of the county commissioners hands to be used for hard paving. It will be well for the people to watch the legislature closely and see that the paving contractors do not slip something over that we do not want."

I believe that Mr. Brown has got about the right idea. I don't believe I would favor a three cent gasoline tax, though of course another cent on each gallon the average man uses would not be a serious matter if the money was spent in the county where it was paid on county roads other than state and federal aid roads. The improvement of county roads to any great extent is going to take several years before most of the showing will be made. On the other hand we are just beginning to make roads. Had the road makers been turned loose with the amount of money they now have to spend, a few years ago much of it would have been wasted. They didn't know how to build roads. They still have a lot to learn. It is better and cheaper to go slow and not have too big an appropriation for road building to start with. Let those building the roads learn as they go and we will get a lot more for our money.

I had a nice visit last Friday morning with Rev. E. E. Dillon of York and Rev. A. L. Nordin of St. Paul. The former is the financial secretary in this district for the American Sunday School Union. The latter is the local representative. Both are well known to many Valley county people and especially is Rev. Nordin well known throughout Valley county. He has been holding meetings and establishing Sunday school in the country districts of the county and of many surrounding counties for several years. Rev. Dillon is engaged in securing the funds for carrying on the work of the organization.

The American Sunday School Union is interdenominational in character. Its business is to bring the gospel to neighborhoods where established churches are not reaching. It is said that there are more than twenty millions of children and youths in the United States who are not receiving any direct christian training. This means that they are so situated that they are not within reach of an established church or Sunday school and it is these children that the American Sunday School Union is trying to reach. Rev. Nordin will be seen frequently driving his flivver into the country districts in faithful performance of his duty. I saw him the other day when the thermometer said zero. He looked cold and his Ford was behaving badly and he was trying to reason with it with a monkey wrench and a file and I guess he finally got it started for a news item in the paper said he had a splendid meeting that cold night, I believe in the Haskell Creek neighborhood.

Anyhow I am going to print, in another place, a statement handed to me by Rev. Dillon. This statement shows just what the American Sunday School Union has done in this district, called the western district and comprising Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota, during 1925. The 1926 report will be available soon after the first of the year. There are nine other missionaries in Nebraska besides Rev. Nordin. These ten men devote all their time to field missionary work. Of course many parts of Nebraska especially in the northwestern part of the state, have great stretches of country where settlers are scarce and where towns are far apart, where if it was not for this organization, Sunday school and church services would be unknown. Read the statement on another page. You will realize that it is a good work and perhaps the next time Rev. Dillon comes you will want to help a little more liberally with this work.

The Clay County Sun gives a short sermon on a commonplace business topic when it discusses misuse of words often in the lexicon of every business house. It says: "No other two words in the commercial lexicon are so often abused as 'Service' and 'Guarantee'."

The Wayne Herald has a bit to say about good times and bad in its last issue and recommends that people cut their suits according to the size of the cloth and do less moaning over fancied "hard times."

"People are more prone to admit that they are making nothing or are 'busted' with less ground, than ever before. Time when men with little between him and starvation, would tighten his belt, smile defiance and make a game fight for existence, and invariably he won, after a fashion. Less was expected, and if the wolf were kept at a safe distance from the door, a man felt fortunate. He felt victorious, and took less to make the blood of triumph rise to his cheeks. One could feel like a capitalist if he had a few dollars ahead after satisfying obligations. Now he makes more and spends more, and if his extravagance has exceeded the bounds of wisdom and he does not exactly make ends meet, notwithstanding standing solvency represented in property values, he is likely to cry that he is slipping or that he is 'broke.'"

After four and a half years of newspaper experience the owner of the Valley County Times, Mr. Homer D. Leggett, decided to dispose of his paper and last Saturday a deal was closed whereby the newspaper and all appurtenances thereto belonging, except the accounts, became the property of The Quiz.

A relic of former days when the skating rink was in its glory is still in evidence in North Loup. The old "rink" still stands. Ord's monument to that great but ephemeral fad was destroyed in a windstorm just as the industry began to wane and the building was never replaced.

H. D. Leggett had a narrow escape from a broken leg Tuesday afternoon. He stepped through an opening in the floor at the elevator and came down on his leg with a force commensurate with his size. Fortunately his hands came to his help in time to sustain part of the weight, otherwise he would have had a broken bone to nurse these dull days. As it is he is bearing around a big welt on his leg embellished with black and blue to tell him where the fracture might have been.

High School Notes.

After hearing the "Perfect Tribute" read in class Monday, the Freshman English class memorized Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The Junior English class is again studying English literature. The second year Spanish class is taking up its lessons from a Spanish paper, the contents of which they translate into English.

In shorthand test given last week the two highest grades were 100 by Clara Sterneck and 97 by Elsie Pecenka.

Those earning 100 in Typing 1 test were Cora Lange, Elsie Pecenka, and Olbert Magnusson.

In Typing 1 Accuracy test last week Viola Misko wrote 30 words per minute and Elsie Pecenka wrote 28 words.

Members of the Advance Shorthand class completed all their Shorthand articles in the Gregg writer, a Commercial magazine. In this are words and sentences to be transcribed.

The Advance typing class are taking up a text "Secretarial Studies" to fit them better for business positions when they graduate.

The Sophomore English class will study the Sir Roger de Coverly Papers by Joseph Addison.

The Physiology class is making an intense study of the structure of the nervous system.

The students who took the teacher's examinations on Nov. 20, received their grades this week. Some of the best in reading are: Helen Mason 86, Cora Lange 85, Keo Auble 82, Goida Cook 81; in Arithmetic, Merna Crow 85, Emma Parrish 80, Ellamae Sershen 80 and Lois Wentworth 80. The date for the next examinations is January 24.

Miss Scheffer's History classes are making reports of the outside reading which they do.

Mr. Newmeyer's General Science class had some interesting talks given by Earl Barnard on Flax and by Charles Mutter on Moths.

A Hi-Y meeting was held Wednesday evening at 7.30. Wm. Shepard gave an account of the Hi-Y convocation at Central City to which he was a delegate.

The Junior class had a meeting Tuesday and decided to have a party before the Christmas vacation.

Miss LaPacel is in school again after several days absence.

A few members of the H. S. orchestra furnished the music for "The College Boob", which was sponsored by the high school. Those who played were: Raymond Byington and Viola Misko, violins; Eldon Davis, cornet; Elizabeth Janssen, clarinet; Arthur Mason, drums and Elsie Pecenka, piano.

The members of the operetta cast are working very hard. Practices are held nearly every day and sometimes twice a day.

Girls Athletics.

Miss Hostetter has arranged for six classes of gymnasium work, of which two classes will be for each of the two high school groups and one class for each of the two Junior high groups.

Junior High Notes.

A few of the Junior high pupils were out of school on account of illness. Among them were Allen Norman, Charles Shepard, Antoinette Stacy and Earl Klein.

Miss Fischer's 8th A spelling class had the highest average out of all the spelling classes in the Junior high school this week. Her 7th B Arithmetic class is now studying percentage.

Miss Gharst's 8A class is reviewing punctuation in grammar this week; the 8B is taking up formal and informal notes; the 7A is studying dramatization and the 7B is taking up letter writing. Her 8A History class is studying the second year of the World War; the 8B is studying the various contributions of prominent men to the Revolutionary cause; the 7A is completing the civil war and the 7B is taking up the Revolutionary war.

Physical education for the girls in the Junior high will be definitely begun this week under Miss Hostetter. The 8th grade will have the last period on Wednesday afternoons for this and the 7th grade will have the last period on Friday afternoons.

Lincoln School Notes.

The 6A spelling class reports the following as having 100 percent this week: Mildred Adams, Leota Auble, Marjorie Ball, Evelyn Barta, Eldon Benda, Myrtle Benson, Willard Ball, Martha Cupl, Dean Davis, Viola Flynn, Cecil Hansen, Irma Kokes, Maxine Leschinsky, Irene Magnusson, Thelma Palmatter, Hallen Pierce, Dorothy Russell, Dorothy Mae Sowers and Rolland Vodehnal.

Those who had 100 percent last week are: Mildred Adams, Leota Auble, Marjorie Ball, Evelyn Barta, Eldon Benda, Myrtle Benson, Mildred Bradt, Willard Ball, Martha Cupl, Dean Davis, Viola Flynn, Paul Gard, Cecil Hansen, Irma Kokes, Irene Magnusson, Vernon Maynard, Thelma Palmatter, Hallen Pierce, Dorothy Mae Sowers and Oma Mae Wilson.

For composition work in the language classes the 6A had the study of the different kinds of Christmas trees, "Christmas in other lands" and also the customs in other countries will be taken up next.

Eldon Lapacel is in school again after several days absence.

Second Grade.

Fourteen of the second grade's twenty-eight have had a gold star in spelling every day this week.

Pupils in the third grade are selling Christmas seals for the benefit of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association.

Girl Reserves.

The Girl Reserves held their candle-light service Wednesday night and over twenty new members were admitted to the society.

During the first part of the meeting a program was given in the H. S. assembly. The first number was a flute solo by Elsie Pecenka followed by a humorous reading given by Evelyn Burrows. Everyone who has heard this young lady perform knows how much this number was enjoyed. Carlotta Davis then played a piano solo, "Moonlight on the Lake."

The fourth number was a violin duet, played by Keo Auble and Ellamae Sershen. Next Selma McGinnis sang a solo, and the last number was "Abide with Me," played by Zola Auble on the saxophone. This was one of the best and longest programs that the Girl Reserves have presented for some time.

The girls then adjourned to the gymnasium for the candle-light service. This is a very beautiful and impressive ceremony and is well worth seeing. First the old members marched into the darkened room, each holding a lighted candle. A huge triangle, the G. R. symbol, had been drawn on the floor and the girls lined up upon this. Then the new members marched in, holding candles which they lighted from the flame of another held by a cabinet member. These girls lined up in a triangle within the one formed by the old girls and after appropriate remarks by the president, they took places in the big triangle with the old members.

The service was concluded by repeating the G. R. code and singing the G. R. song.

A number of mothers of the girls were present.

Convocation.

The Seniors presented a very entertaining program during the convocation period Friday morning in which Mr. Seth Picklewait of the Redpatz Corner Chautauqua played an important part.

While waiting for him to arrive, Ehan Magnusson, the director of the Chautauqua, entertained the audience with a number of original high school folks. After waiting for some time, Mr. Picklewait did not arrive, so members of the Norman and Anderson detective agency were sent to search for him. In a few minutes they led him in, and it was quite evident that they had had quite a struggle. Harry Hughes, as Mr. Picklewait was quite an eccentric old gentleman. A hurried search failed to disclose his prized mouth organ on which he was to play. The detectives were again called into service and after looking through his suitcase, which seemed to contain everything except the instrument they set out to look for it elsewhere. When they brought it back Mr. Picklewait played a few popular numbers which were much enjoyed. He then sent for Alma Glover, who came in dressed as a little girl. She attempted to play a piece on the piano but evidently could not remember all of it and finally ran off the stage in tears. Mr. Picklewait played a few more selections before the program was finished.

Judging from the enthusiasm shown by the students, the entertainment was enjoyed very much and Cornher people will appear again.

Dr. Henry Simpkins delivered an address before the H. S. assembly Monday morning. The subject of his speech was "How to make friends and how to treat enemies." He brought out the fact that there are two ways to treat our enemies. One of these is to fight them, the other, to be friendly toward them. The latter is the best way. He gave the students something to think about.

Those who had 100 percent last week are: Mildred Adams, Leota Auble, Marjorie Ball, Evelyn Barta, Eldon Benda, Myrtle Benson, Mildred Bradt, Willard Ball, Martha Cupl, Dean Davis, Viola Flynn, Paul Gard, Cecil Hansen, Irma Kokes, Irene Magnusson, Vernon Maynard, Thelma Palmatter, Hallen Pierce, Dorothy Mae Sowers and Oma Mae Wilson.

For composition work in the language classes the 6A had the study of the different kinds of Christmas trees, "Christmas in other lands" and also the customs in other countries will be taken up next.

Farm Loans

40 Years of Worry Banished

A PLAN TO GET OUT OF DEBT

A method of getting out of debt for farmers of the United States is provided by the Federal Farm Loan Act. The Lincoln Joint Stock Land Bank is organized and operates under this Act; it has loaned over $30,000,000 to the farmers of Iowa and Nebraska, the only states in which it may lend.

Q.—How can a farmer procure a loan from this bank?
A.—By seeing C. A. Hager & Co.

Q.—Is the procedure different from that of any other farm loan?
A.—No; there is no more red tape or trouble in making a loan with us than in making a loan elsewhere; in fact, less than with many companies.

Q.—I understand the rate of interest is 5 1/2 per cent per annum, the time 40 years, and no commission to pay; is this correct?
A.—Yes, this is true.

Q.—Must I keep the loan 40 years?
A.—No, you may pay the loan in full or any part of it, at the end of 5 years, or at any interest date thereafter. It is a short time loan or a long time loan, at the option of the borrower.

Q.—Can I sell my farm subject to this mortgage?
A.—Yes, the same as with any other mortgage. In fact, with our mortgage against it, being financed for a generation, a farm usually sells at a better price. It is also better security for a second mortgage.

Q.—Why better than 5 year loans?
A.—(a) The long-term loan saves renewal expenses every 5 years, etc. (b) Even for the first 5 years it costs no more than a 5 per cent loan with commission added; after that the borrower has all the advantage, because he can let it run or pay it off as he pleases. (c) If our interest rates are lower after 5 years, the borrower has the privilege of changing to the lower rate, or paying our loan.

Q.—What other advantages of your loan?
A.—No renewals to worry about, no uncertainty about what rate and commission you will have to pay—we never can raise the rate of interest in your loan; a protection to the family in case of death to the borrower by having "a loan that never comes due;" you deal direct and your neighbors know nothing of your business with us. This is a better loan than any 5 per cent term loan offered today. More complete information may be had by writing to Burwell, Neb., Dec. 6.—The new firm of Fenner and Haugh, dealers in hardware, have established a line of undertaking goods that is the marvel of all who have inspected it. Mr. Haugh, the junior partner, has worked at the business in Kansas, but cannot obtain a license in Burwell until the required time has elapsed. In the meantime they have arranged for the services of Orville H. Sowl, of Ord, who has one of the finest auto hearses in the state.

The firm has spent $2000 for the latest line of accessories, including a chapel tent, something that has never been seen before in this part of the state. This is to be placed over the grave in inclement weather, and serves every purpose of a more permanent building for the conducting of the services.

This same firm is running a holiday prize contest which began last Saturday, and it is estimated that six hundred customers made purchases that day. Eleven women and young ladies are entered in the voting contest, the prizes of which are two radio outfits, a Coleman radiant heater and numerous other prizes.

Christmas

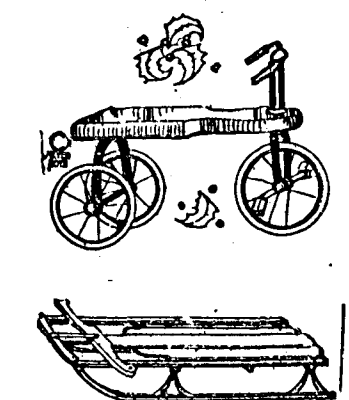

Wouldn't you like to find one of these gifts in your stocking on Christmas morn?

A really good radio ---the Grebe Synchronphase

Have you seen the GREBE SYNCHROPHASE, and had its many advantages explained to you? It is possible to have one dial control all three, two out of three, or separate three-dial control. This insures reception of all stations, whether they are high or low wave length. It makes certain that you will be able to get them separately, clearly. Tone control and volume control are also easily changed to suit your wishes.

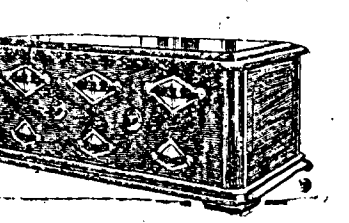

Nothing gives all the year around pleasure to everyone like a radio that is able to get power and distance. Give your family a GREBE SYNCHROPHASE to enjoy.

Many other wise choices are possible at our store

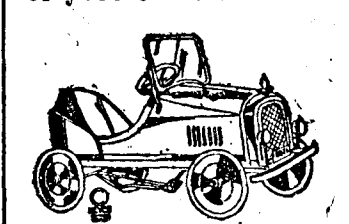

For good little boys and girls

Brown Talked in Burwell
Rev. R. R. Brown, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, also pastor of the morning church service from Radio Station WQAW at Omaha, was in Burwell Wednesday evening and delivered a sermon to a capacity house at the Congregational church. Rev. Brown has probably been heard by more listeners than any other pastor in the west. While in Burwell Rev. Brown and wife were guests of Judge and Mrs. L. B. Fenner. His sermon Wednesday evening was greatly appreciated by the large crowd in attendance.—Burwell Tribune.

Ed Panowicz To Open Variety Store
Ed. T. Panowicz will open a new store in Comstock Saturday morning, in the building just vacated by Jos. Hrdy, east of the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

The line of merchandise he plans to carry will be a full line of shoes, variety goods, dishes, glassware, electric light bulbs and a full line of holiday goods.

Mr. Panowicz invites everyone to come in and look over his new line. The business will be carried on a strictly cash basis. Mr. Panowicz already has one store in Comstock that is doing a very prosperous business and we are certain that his second store, under his management and the support of the people of Comstock will also succeed.—Comstock News.

Will Try Graphite as a Gravel Highway Binder
According to communication from J. W. Paruley, member of the state highway commission, to Geo. Keown,

It is thought an experiment with graphite as a gravel highway binder will be tried on Highway 79, probably out of this city east, on the way to Herman. In the opinion of highway engineers, graphite does not blow off the grade or form ruts; packs readily, is waterproof, shedding water, and is thus a good binder for gravel.

According to Mr. Keown, there is practically a mountain of graphite near Rochford. This substance is found at about four inches beneath the soil, and requires no process treatment before being used.—Journal Stockman.

George Keown is a former Ord boy, son of Nate Keown. He has invented a road machine and it is being manufactured in Illinois. He receives a good royalty on each machine.

Scotfield Wins Suit
A jury case, brought on a foreign judgment of over seven hundred dollars by C. H. Ellis, of Colorado, against Mike Saba and M. E. Scotfield was tried at Burwell last week. Mr. Scotfield, a farmer residing east of Burwell, while in Colorado signed some notes for Mike Saba who was formerly a merchant here, an Assyrarian, well known in the Loup country. Saba went through bankruptcy and judgment was taken against Scotfield in Colorado and Attorney Rose is bringing suit on the judgment. Evidence produced by Attorney Rose was to the effect that the signatures were genuine on certain notes but those notes were destroyed and the notes in suit were forgeries. The jury went out and in a half hour later returned a verdict in favor of Scotfield. Judge Pained entered up an order on this verdict dismissing the case at the cost of the Colorado party.

Saba formerly lived in St. Paul and was during that time engaged in conducting a dry goods store. Since his departure from here and later from Burwell he has been in court on several occasions.—Howard County Herald.

Guest from China Speaks to Rotary

Dr. Henry J. Simpson of Bay City, Mich., was the principal speaker at the Rotary noon-day luncheon. Rev. Harry Hanson was also a guest and introduced the speaker, whose subject was patriotism. Dr. Simpson was in town to deliver the lecture in the course being sponsored by the Presbyterian Brotherhood, the lecture being delivered Monday evening at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Thomas whose home is at Shanghai, China is, with his wife, visiting her brother, Gould Flagg and family. Mr. Thomas engaged in the tobacco business.

Dr. George R. Gard, vice president of the local Rotary organization, presided, President Clarence Davis being in Omaha attending a Masonic meeting. Dr. Gard first had Mr. Flagg introduce his guest who spoke briefly, telling of his high regard for Rotary which he said he had frequently visited. He regretted that he didn't have a message from the Shanghai club and assured the Rotary boys that he would get into the club as a member as soon as possible after getting back to his home. He will go back to his home with a message from Ord Rotarians to the Rotarians of that far off city in China.

Dr. Gard introduced Rev. Hanson who in turn introduced the speaker of the day, Dr. Simpson. Mr. Simpson spoke for twenty minutes on the subject of patriotism and brought a most interesting message, a message that we wish all Quiz readers could hear.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE EXTENSION NOTES

Trees Grew in Dry Season

In spite of the unusually dry season, more than 50 per cent of the 34,000 seedlings distributed last spring to Nebraska farmers were living this fall.

Cracklings Instead of Tankage

A comparative new by-product of the packing house known as cracklings produced the largest gain per day of any high protein supplement for corn in a series of hog feeding tests at the Nebraska Experiment Station.

Little Things Save Strength

It would be less tiring to walk down the road a mile than to stand for the same length of time in one place, yet a housewife stands for an hour or more in one spot in her kitchen.

Ed Bradt went to Grand Island on business one day last week.

Martin Stiebler spent the latter part of last week at Scottia returning home last Friday.

Speaking of the wages of sin, Aimee McPherson is about to star in a moving picture story of her life.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1925

The combined statistical results of the work of 32 missionaries of the American Sunday School Union, Western District, are hereby given. Study the figures carefully.

Table with 4 columns: Iowa, Nebraska, S. Dakota, Total. Rows include Sunday Schools started, Teachers put to work, Scholars brought in, etc.

Contributions for the support of the work are always needed, and may be sent to Rev. Joseph Wells, Western District Superintendent, 402 I. N. B. Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa, or to any of the Society's missionaries on the field.

Crops More Plentiful But of Poorer Quality

Total crop production this year is above the average in quantity but below the average in quality, says the department of agriculture in its December report on the agricultural situation released to-day.

The department's index of purchasing power of farm products is placed at 81 for October, a new low for the season, compared with a pre-war base of 100.

Total production of all crops, according to the report, is apparently about 3 per cent larger than last year's, and in proportion to the nation's population about 2.4 per cent above the average per capita production of the last five years.

Cotton Responsible

The drop in the purchasing power index to 81 for October is attributed in part to lowered cotton prices, "although the downward trend," says the department, is not explainable in terms of any single crop.

Next Year Will Tell

"Cotton exports from August 1 to mid-November ran about 150,000 bales ahead of the same period last year and domestic mill consumption was around 175,000 bales greater.

NEBRASKA PRESS Nebraska's Opportunity

For a number of years there has been a feeling apparent in the state that Nebraska should be more widely advertised, that the advantages of this great state are not sufficiently known beyond the confines of our own border, and that something should be done to make known to the world the great opportunities which await those who seek a home or those who wish to seek a business or manufacturing location.

That great opportunity for Nebraska to become more widely advertised will present itself next year in our opinion. The National Editorial association is coming to this state next summer for its annual convention.

It is expected that between one and two thousand newspaper publishers from all over the country, as well as some of the state's leading writers, will spend a week or two here.

And the Indians

The children were discussing the discovery of America by Columbus. One youth, explaining the arrival of the explorers, instead of saying Columbus embraced the land, asserted: "On landing Columbus embarrassed the land."

Town Talk

A. Wiman was in Omaha the latter part of last week.

Walter Bundy was up from Grand Island last Friday.

Mrs. W. L. McNutt and Mrs. Cecil Clark drove to Grand Island one day the latter part of last week.

Mrs. Homer Collins left last Thursday for Colby, Kas., where she will visit her parents.

Gets Good Position at North Platte Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Petty left Sunday for their new home at North Platte, Neb., where Mr. Petty has been given the agency for the Texas Oil company. The company is preparing to build a couple of filling stations at North Platte, both on the Lincoln highway and one on each side of town and Mr. Petty will have the management of them and full charge of the Texaco business in the Lincoln county metropolis. Mr. Petty made a huge success of the same business in Ord, building it up to a fine business but a change of climate was necessary. He says he felt improved at North Platte and believes he will like the climate there.

ROYAL KENSINGTON MEETS The Royal Kensington club met last Thursday with Mrs. P. E. Pocock, Mrs. Botts and Mrs. Pocock leading the lesson on "Carrots and How to Serve Them." Eight members were present and Madams I. C. Clark, L. Garnick, Archie Waterman, Leonard Peavy and Miss Hilma Shoemaker were guests. Next meeting of this club is to be with Mrs. I. C. Clark sometime in January.

Be Slow in Condemnation

There is a principle which is a bar against all information, which is proof against all argument, and which cannot fail to keep a man in everlasting ignorance. That principle is condemnation before investigation.—Herbert Spencer.

Use Good Nails

Just as "no chain is stronger than its weakest link," so is a shingled roof no more enduring than its nails. One would not build an expensive house on a short-lived foundation, and it is equally false economy to use a short-life nail with a long-life shingle.

NEWS OF THE WEEK By LENORE VAN HORN

James Ollis, of Ord, was in town on business last Wednesday.

Ben Moulton left Thursday on the motor for Sayre, Okla. to attend the funeral of his brother, John Moulton.

I. J. Thelin was called to Gothenburg last week by the death of his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lattin visited at T. C. Grimes' last week.

George Fisher is in a critical condition. He is suffering from anaemia. Though he is not in pain he is gradually becoming weaker.

Miss Merl Davis entertained about twenty of her friends last Wednesday evening. Many of the common games were played and the method of choosing partners was quite unique. Each of the girls placed some personal belonging in a dish, which was afterwards passed to the men. They then found the owners of the trinkets and also their partners. Oyster soup was served by several of the girls.

Rev. Polan is busy polishing up his furniture for the new house. The parsonage is ready for occupancy and they will move in Wednesday.

The Freshmen had a class party Thursday night at the home of Vesta Kildow. They were somewhat disturbed by the upper classmen, who, however, succeeded in getting only two bottles of milk. There was a great deal of excitement.

David Davis and family and Mac Green were at A. T. Jones' for dinner Saturday evening to meet Mrs. Mildred Davis of Denver, Colo.

The project club met last week at the Maggie Annys home. There was a cooking demonstration in which carrots were prepared in ten different ways. The club will meet again the last Thursday in January with Mrs. Ed Post.

Misses Erna Malotke and Edna Bredthauer came in on the bus Saturday night.

High School

The honor roll for the second six weeks is as follows:

Class I, those having no grade below ninety and half above ninety-five. Alice Pierce, Gertrude Hemphill, Lenore Van Horn.

Class I, those having no grade below ninety; Marjorie Green, James Morrison, Edna Lee.

The Biology class wrote letters to Maurine Thomas, who is in the Ord Hospital.

The Junior reviews class is taking up the study of bookkeeping.

Gertrude Hemphill has been acting as pianist for the chorus for several days.

The Senior Normal Trainers are observing the teachers and their methods in the lower grades this week.

Granke-Turner

Leo Turner and Myrtle Granke were married Wednesday at Grand Island, leaving soon afterward for Lincoln and to visit with the bride's mother and sister at Milford. They returned to North Loup Friday night and have rooms at Mrs. Hattie Clement's.

Mr. Turner is the proprietor of the Butterfly bakery and baked the bread for the Davis Creek social a few weeks ago. Mr. Leggett, publisher of the Quiz, praising the bread highly.

Mrs. Turner has been a clerk in the Frank Johnson store for some time and is taking up her work there again. She is popular in North Loup and vicinity, as is her husband.

The Quiz congratulates the couple.

Mrs. George McGee has been suffering with intestinal flu. She is better now, however.

About twenty of the North Loup Rebekah's went to Burwell Friday night to confer the initiatory degree. Four new members were received. After the ceremony the Burwell ladies served a banquet to the visitors.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas were in Ord Tuesday to see Maurine, who is in the hospital. She is recovering as rapidly as could be expected.

No-Lo club met with Mrs. A. T. Jones Tuesday afternoon. There were nineteen members present. Mrs. Will Kildow, Mrs. Harold Hoepfner, Mrs. Paul Jones, Mrs. Mildred Davis and Mrs. Paul Robinson were visitors. The lesson was in charge of Mrs. Jessie Babcock, on the Power Proposition which is before the people of North Loup.

Program at District 33

A Christmas program will be held at District 33 school, Dec. 22. A hot dog stand, cake and coffee. Everybody welcome at Sunnyside school.

Mrs. G. H. Russell returned last night to her home at Burwell.

C. G. Tenney had quite a serious accident Monday when his car ran into a big car driven by Albion parties. The car was totally demolished but all parties escaped serious injuries.

Lois Abney is employed in Frank Johnson's store.

Alex Brown was in town Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rumsell entertained a few friends at dinner Monday evening. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Art Tshauer, Mr. and Mrs. George Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson.

Mr. Paul Tolen was taken to the Ord hospital Saturday. That evening she submitted to an operation from which she is recovering nicely.

Ted Brown and family of Ord had dinner with relatives in North Loup Sunday.

Gertrude Green, daughter of F. E. Hurley, who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. O. Harley Green since she was a child, came Monday evening on the train for a visit with her family. She has recently undergone an operation at Superior, Wis., and is not entirely recovered yet.

Archie Babcock came Tuesday for a visit with home folks.

At the meeting of the school board Monday night, several actions were taken which are of interest to the people. First, no student shall remain about the school ground later than 4:30 o'clock, unless detained by the teachers for work, athletics or practice. And those who stay under the direction of the teachers shall leave the building before 5:30. There shall be no more class parties sponsored by the school. This rule will be carried out for the present at least.

There will be but one week of Christmas vacation. This will begin Friday noon and will include both Christmas and New Years days.

When any community entertainment or basket ball game is held in the lower part of the school house, the people shall not go upstairs to the school rooms.

NEULAND PLANS TREASURE HUNT FOR CHILDREN

Gold and Silver to Be Hidden for Kids' Benefit; "The Black Pirate" Here.

Manager Bill Neuland is planning a stunt for next Monday which should further endear him to Ord children—a treasure hunt. A five dollar gold piece and a silver dollar are to be hidden and children of Ord are to be conducted to the immediate vicinity of the hiding place. The finder will become the owner of the money.

Of course adults are not barred from participating in this treasure hunt. In fact, Manager Neuland's announcement on page twelve states that the contest is open to "kids from six to sixty."

Starting at 3:00 matinee Monday afternoon the feature film, "The Black Pirate," Douglas Fairbank's latest and best picture, will be shown at the Gem Monday afternoon and evening and Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Other feature films on the Gem's program include the last showing tonight of Rod LaRoque in "Brave Heart," Lloyd Hughes and Mae Murray Friday and Saturday in "Valencia," and Red Grange in "One Minute to Play" on January 3 and 4.

Quiz Employee Hurt

Daryl Hardenbrook, Quiz employee, injured himself quite severely Monday morning when he slipped and fell downstairs at the Quiz office. He was taken to the Ord hospital and remained there until Tuesday evening, when he was taken home. No bones were broken but he was badly bruised and will be incapacitated for several days.

Christmas Cantata Is Well Received

Burwell, Neb., Dec. 20. (Special).—The cantata, "The King Cometh," was put on at the Methodist church Sunday evening, by the combined choirs of the Methodist and Christian churches, and was well received by a large and interested audience. This is the same cantata that was sung by the university chorus of Lincoln, and was broadcast by the Buick radio station. Many had listened to it on the air and welcomed an opportunity to hear it first hand. The cantata was under the direction of Mrs. Opp, wife of the superintendent of schools here, and the singers are loud in their praise of her work. Those who took part were: Mrs. Getty, Mrs. John Ward, Ruby Hartford, Maurine Troxell, Floy Hartford, Mrs. Guy Gerber, Isla Fetz, Mrs. Cecil Haugh, Mrs. Butts, Mrs. Earl Upton, Mrs. W. F. Grunkemeyer, Elwood Abolt, Dr. Wood, Frank Wagner, Ed Cram, Will Rice, John Ward, W. F. Grunkemeyer, Prof. Opp, J. E. Burnside, John Jones and Mary Upton. Lucile Messenger handled the work at the piano in a masterly manner.

Fixtures Installed

The fixtures and furniture for Thorne's fine new cafe building arrived Monday, and are being installed this week. Mrs. Thorne hopes to be ready to greet her customers in the new home about January first.

Mrs. Frandsen Dies

Mrs. Sophie Frandsen, Arcadia, passed away at an Ord hospital Monday night after a severe operation. Both of her legs had been amputated above the knees because of an attack of gangrene. For a time it was thought she would recover but she passed away Monday night. She had been brought to Ord in the Sowl ambulance Sunday.

Jake Stewart Dead

Jake Stewart, a cousin of Will Stewart died in Wyoming last week, says the St. Paul Photograph. He lived in St. Paul for many years and several of his children reside there. He was also quite well known here.

Part Pony, Part Burro, Animal Is Brown Family Pet

When Alex Brown, who lives west of Elyria, was in Colorado last summer, he brought home a strange pet which meets with much favor with the Brown children. The animal is part burro and part Shetland pony.

The mother of the little hybrid was a common, lazy burro. His sire was a pony. The pet has the appearance of the burro but is as active as a race horse.

In spite of the fact that this animal is a year and a half old and has attained his growth, Mr. Brown had no difficulty in bringing him home on the running board of his car. His weight is about 150 pounds.

Schuyler Murder Principals Thought to be Known in Ord

Last summer a band of gypsy horse traders camped on Anderson Island. One of their members, Walter Mason, 51, had been killed in the abdomen by a horse. The accident took place near Bartlett but he was brought to an Ord hospital and died here, July 30. His body was taken to Fremont for burial.

Last week at Schuyler Ted Mason, a member of the same band of gypsies and a blood relative of the man who died here, shot his American wife, Faymie. His brother, Duffy Mason, is held as an accessory to the crime. The details of the affair are startling.

Walking into a barber shop where his 19-year-old wife was having her hair trimmed, Ted Mason calmly placed the barrel of a pistol against his wife's head and fired. With his brother he walked out of the shop, fired another shot to call the sheriff and gave himself up to the law.

It is thought that all of the principals in the shooting were in the band which camped here last summer.

County Attorneys Meeting

County attorneys of Nebraska will meet in Lincoln January 19 and 20, announces Bert M. Hardenbrook, president of the state association. The Lincoln Hotel will be convention headquarters. The state association of sheriffs will meet at the same time.

Mr. Hardenbrook has recently collected data about county attorneys of this state which reveals that sixty-four newly elected attorneys enter upon their duties January 6. Twenty-eight now serving were re-elected while in one of the state's ninety-three counties, Banner county, no attorney was chosen.

Eight Hundred Eggs Every Day Mean Big Income for O. P. Luse, Son of Ord Man

Eight hundred eggs a day are collected by O. P. Luse, of Fontana, Calif., says an article in the Los Angeles Times of recent date. Mr. Luse was formerly a druggist here and is a son of Perry Luse.

Mr. Luse has 1,600 layers and though they are only six to eight months old he is getting a fifty per cent lay. He has 469 more pullets just coming into laying and will soon be ready to handle 2,800 birds. He has accommodations for 4,000 hens.

The former Ord man left here twelve or fifteen years ago after being in the drug business here for several years. He has five acres of land near Los Angeles, a fine grove of navel oranges and expects to build up a good fruit business in addition to his poultry business.

Eggs sell in California for forty-eight cents a dozen wholesale.

Deer Steaks for Burwell People

Burwell, Neb., Dec. 20.—The Fay Livermore family, of Burwell can spend Christmas day feasting on juicy deer steak if they so desire. Mrs. Livermore's father, R. Hesselgesser, recently returned from the Bitter Root country of Montana, where a deer lives. He had been there the six months required to get a resident license to hunt deer, just three days before the season closed. He bought one for two dollars and got one buck back. That is he got one buck deer. On the last day of the hunting season he went out in a snowstorm, and, after traveling only a short distance, ran across the deer in a place where he had an excellent shot. He shot it through the neck and it died without a struggle. Mr. Hesselgesser is seventy-two years of age, but he says he got the thrill of his life when he had his chance at big game. The snow storm continued until thirteen inches had fallen. The ground is not frozen there and he says it will not be frozen when the snow goes off in the spring. The buck was a four year old and had as perfect a pair of antlers as are often seen.

He had to get a permit to take the deer out of the state. He stopped at Kilgore, Neb., where a son lives and another across the line in South Dakota, and left each of them a quarter of the deer. He brought the rest of it to Burwell where it was on display at the Livermore home over Sunday. The rest of the meat will be divided between the three daughters, Mrs. Livermore, Mrs. Jim Hartford, and Mrs. Luella Coble, of Lincoln. Last May in the same locality he shot the deer, Mr. Hesselgesser shot a brown bear, and the skin now adorns the floor in the Livermore home.

Many Contribute To Knecht Fund

All the kind hearted people aren't dead yet. During the past week a dozen individuals belonging to a committee headed by Henry Jorgensen and Bud Auble, went about soliciting any amount the donor could give, the money to go to the eleven Knecht children orphaned by an automobile accident recently. The goal of the solicitors was $1,000 and $300 of this had been subscribed last Saturday. So generous have those approached been that Sheriff Rounds and the other solicitors feel confident that the fund will be considerably over-subscribed. No new figures will be available, however, until the committee meets this coming Saturday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Erickson and family are driving to Grand Island today to visit a sister of Mrs. Erickson's until after Christmas.

LOST IN SNOW STORM, RAGAN PASSES AWAY

Former Ord Man Succumbs to Cold While on Canada Moose Hunt.

Lost in a blinding Canadian snow storm while on a moose hunt, John Ragan, 71, formerly a resident of Ord, died Dec. 3, word received here this week says. In 1922 he moved to Fawcett, Alberta, with his family and near his home he met death.

Mr. Ragan was a pioneer resident of the Loup valley. He was born in Bloomington, Ill., Mar. 5, 1855 and was married to Susan Ann McCann at Vankegan, Ill., in 1875. The young couple came to Nebraska in 1879 and settled on a farm in Loup county where they lived until they moved to Ord in 1908. From this time until 1922 the Ragan family lived here.

On December 1 Mr. Ragan set out for a moose hunt. Shortly afterwards a blinding blizzard started and he lost his way. A general alarm was sent out by his family and searching parties set out but to no avail. Mounted police were notified and his body was found on December 4 after a twenty-one hour search. He had wandered for three days and nights without food or rest.

He leaves to mourn his death his wife, four sons, John, Henry and Frederick, all of Fawcett, and William of Decker, Mont., and a daughter, Florence, of Fawcett. Six grandchildren, a brother and a sister also survive.

Funeral services were held by Rev. Allen of the United Church of Christ, at the Community hall in Fawcett. Interment was in Fawcett cemetery.

Guy Laverty, Burwell Attorney, Once Was Valley County Teacher

Written for the Quiz
BY JOHN L. WARD

Burwell, Neb., Dec. 20.—In January of 1884 A. A. Laverty brought his family to Valley county from the place where the town of Eagle now stands. Guy Laverty, then a small boy, herded cattle on the future town site. His father had owned, by right of homestead, a quarter just north of Eagle but the family came to Valley county and settled on land near the old Geranium postoffice. The buildings being on the north west corner of section 36, township 19, range 16 west.

At the time when the Laverty's arrived in Valley county, Emma Pierson, wife of Sol Pierson, was post-mistress and Perry Pierson lived on a homestead in that vicinity, spending part of his time working at St. Paul. The J. S. Wheeler and George Morris families were near neighbors.

Guy came here as a boy of sixteen and finished his education under the usual difficulties of pioneer days. He attended the Ord schools three terms but was compelled by circumstances to go to teaching the year he should have graduated. His first year in school was under S. Gillispie and his wife, Emma Gillispie. J. M. Hussey was the next superintendent, and the third year found S. A. Campbell at the head of the schools.

In the fall of 1889 Mr. Laverty quit to teach the Geranium school. He received his first certificate from S. A. Parks who was county superintendent at the time. Among the families who sent children to that first school were the Petskas, the Polaks, the Stupkas, the two Pierson boys, and Arthur Wheeler, a present resident of Burwell, who dispenses merchandise at the Farmers' Store.

Laverty also taught four other terms of school, the second place being at Vinton, the third at No. 57, then known as the Petty and Gray district. The fourth term found him at Olean, and the last in the Adams district, south of Elyria.

All the young man's spare time while teaching school was spent in the study of law, at first in the Clements law office, later in his father's office and finally with Charles A. Munn. His father was county judge at first and opened a law office later on.

Guy Laverty came to Burwell in 1893 and bought out the law business of the firm then known as Gray and Newman. The Bear part of it was already gone, and Newman moved to Chicago as soon as he sold out. This old building then stood on the lot where the brick store building housing Moore's drug store now stands. Three years later he built a frame building where he now has his office, and replaced it with a brick structure in 1910. One of his sons moved the old office building, and made it part of his present home.

Mr. Laverty recalls several exciting incidents of early days. In the summer of 1884 a terrific hail storm swept through Ord from the southwest, ruining the skating rink, and the Presbyterian church, and doing plenty of damage to every other building in town.

Bryan House Suffers in Fire

North Loup, Dec. 21.—(Special).—Ray Bryan's house two miles north of this village was damaged in a fire which started on the roof Sunday afternoon. Robert Baxter saw the blaze and gave the alarm and neighbors who responded soon extinguished it. Furniture and bedding upstairs was damaged by smoke and water. T. A. Seckman, Keystone, owner of the place, came Monday.

Bill Kildow received an elk Friday, killed at Fort Totten, N. D. by Rex Kildow. The animal was a three-year old bull elk and had an almost perfect pair of antlers. It was on exhibition in the Douglas meat market and is now on sale. Mr. Kildow is having the head mounted.

John Cruzan is improving his house by the addition of a front porch this week.

Arthur Thorngate left Monday for Milton, Wis., where he will stay indefinitely, his father having been ill for some time.

Surgeons in Omaha express the opinion that the eye of Ed Schudel's little girl must be removed. The Schudel's returned Sunday after going to Omaha for consultation.

Clyde Baker left Monday for Purdum, where he went to assist his parents to prepare for a sale they are holding today. They are leaving the farm. The staff of Clement's garage was considerably crippled by Clyde's absence.

GOWEN LAND SELLS

A price of $17 per acre was paid by Will Wetzel for the eighty acre Gowen tract near North Loup. The total for the tract was $1,360. The land is located right at the edge of the village limits. Another tract of three and one-half miles north of the village did not sell. Col. Bert Cummings acted as auctioneer.

In the summer of 1885 a cyclone visited the neighborhood and tore the Laverty house to pieces. Guy's brother Jesse, was sick in bed at the time and they had to wrap him in blankets and carry him two miles to the home of a neighbor.

About 1898 an awful rain and water-pout visited Burwell, and for the first and only time the upper Loup got out of its banks. The three bridges on the Loup and one on the Calamus were all washed away in one night, and a lot of people found themselves without a way of getting to town. The old fords were located and used until the necessary bonds could be voted and the bridges built. The ford just north of Burwell had a rock bottom, but was full of holes, which made very rough traveling. Old man Anderson came near drowning when the front wheels dropped into a hole and he was thrown out of the wagon.

GUY LAVERTY.

Mr. Laverty has been a lawyer ever since he came to Burwell, and in that capacity has served as county attorney fully half of the time, the office being passed around between him and Charles Bragg and E. M. White.

One of the first cases of interest that came up under him was that in which Mike O'Conner contested the election of Tom Hemmett for county clerk. Hemmett had won by a single vote. In the contest he also won out. Mr. Hemmett has passed on, but O'Conner still lives on a farm east of Burwell.

Mr. Laverty was on the school board of Burwell for twelve years in succession, being either president or secretary all that time. Both the present school houses were built while he was on the board. The most exciting incident of his connection with the school work was when the old school burned down in 1903.

Time has dealt generously with Mr. Laverty, who is approaching the three score mark with the energy and stamina of a man of forty, and few men of the town have done more for the upbuilding of the community.

Thompson Injured By Flying Crowbar

Frank Thompson was injured last Thursday noon when a crowbar with which he was attempting to pry open a coal car slipped and cut a severe gash across his forehead. Five stitches were required to close the wound.

After the injury to Mr. Thompson the whistle at the city power plant was blown several times to call a doctor. Mr. Thompson was taken to the Ord hospital where his injury was treated.

Dworak-Severyn

Miss Lillian Dworak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dworak of this city, and Charles Severyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Severyn of Omaha, were quietly married Monday of this week at the Presbyterian manse in Julesburg, Colo. They are now spending two weeks in Denver, after which they will be at home at 3345 Meredith Avenue, Omaha. The groom is an instructor in North high school.

Miss Dworak, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Dworak, left Sunday afternoon for Grand Island where they were met by Mr. Severyn and Miss Helen and Mr. Edward Sivik. From Grand Island the young people went to Julesburg where the ceremony was performed.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dworak and has spent her entire life in Ord being one of the best known and liked young women in the city. The groom has been here on several occasions and was liked by all who met him. The Quiz unites with friends of the young people in wishing them the greatest of happiness.

Bachelor Dinner

Mart Stichter was host to a few friends at an old-fashioned bachelor dinner Sunday which was proclaimed by the guests to be a real treat. Mr. Stichter served an old-fashioned vegetable soup, carrots, parsnips, potatoes, spare ribs and many other things. His guests were William Hamilton, William Frungle, Joe Novosad and William Garnick.

SPONSOR TAG DAY SALE FOR UNFORTUNATES

Mayor Bartlett and Ministers Back of Tag Sale in Ord Friday.

The Volunteers of America, founded by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth in 1896, a national institution having one or more headquarters in every state, has been granted permission by city authorities of Ord to conduct a children's "Heart Tag Day," in Ord on Friday, December 24, as has been done in other Nebraska towns.

This affair is sponsored by William Bartlett, mayor; Rev. E. H. Maynard, Rev. J. V. G. Magnusson, Rev. J. R. Mower, Rev. H. W. Hansen, with Miss Francis Bradt in charge of headquarters which will be at the Red Cross rooms in the court house, from 9 until 6.

Invitations to help tag have been mailed to a number of girls and as "contest" incentives, as well as rewards for their efforts, five pretty and useful gifts have been offered by local merchants to those securing the largest amounts for their tags.

The first prize a vanity compact, will be given by Ed F. Boranek. The second prize, a pair of girls silk hose, will be given by the People's store. The third prize, a bottle of perfume, will be given by McLain & Sorenson. The fourth prize, a pair of fancy garters, will be given by J. C. Fenney Co., and the fifth prize, given by Able Bros., is a string of beads. Those who do not win a prize but who collect at least $3.00 for their tags will receive a pass to the Gem theater given by the manager of that theater.

The tags are to be sold for whatever the purchaser is willing to give. The money collected will be used in this state.

Purchasers are asked to wear their tags and householders to hang theirs on their front doors for only in this way can they be protected from second appeals.

Hrabe-Gross Mrs. Sophie Hrabe and Alexander Gross were married by Judge J. H. Hollingshead in his office Saturday evening. The bride is 53 and the groom 64 years of age.

Miller in Hospital, Will Hold Clean-up

Con Miller has been suffering with a tumor on the brain for some time and has been taken back to Boston for an operation. The operation has not yet been performed but it has been decided that he must quit farming and it has been decided to hold a clean-up sale at his farm east of Ord on Dec. 30.

A fine lot of stuff is included in the Miller offering in the ad on page six. Five head of horses and thirty-one head of cattle, ten tons of prairie hay and a fine lot of machinery in addition to lots of other stuff will be sold. Patrons Bake Cake to Surprise Teacher In District Fifteen

Miss Gladys Worm, teacher in district 15, received the surprise of her life one day last week when she opened the door of her school house in response to a knock and saw a large and delicious looking birthday cake staring her in the face. Behind the cake were three patrons of her district, Madams Orin Kellison, Albert Dahlin and J. J. Olsen. They bore other good things to eat and soon teacher and students, who knew of the surprise, were feasting on birthday cake, hot chocolate and other treats.

Miss Worm makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Williams while in Ord. She leaves tomorrow for Wobach where she will spend the holidays with a sister, Mrs. Mamie Thayer.

The Office Grouch remarks that fewer mirrors and more wash tubs are needed in modern homes.

Eighty per cent of Portuguese are illiterate. About the same might be said of college graduates.

Giraffes attain a speed of thirty miles an hour, says an exchange. More grief for pedestrians?

Leave the flappers alone, urges Thomas Edison. The klan has been giving that advice to married men for some time.

Samuel McKelvie, former governor, makes a speech at Chadron urging an eight hour day for farmers. Like Ford's five day week, farmers are expected to do ten or twelve hours work in the shorter period, probably.

Down at Beatrice Tuesday turkeys purchased by the chamber of commerce were turned loose in the streets and became the property of persons who caught them. Looks like fine Christmas dinners for some people but it must have been hard on the turkeys.

More people in Valley county should take the Grand Island Daily Independent. It is a fine example of dignified accurate journalism. It gives the news from the wires plus columns of actual local news about Ord and Valley county people. Under Editor Beuchler the Independent has become the "home daily" for most people of the Loup valley.

The talk of paving state highways goes merrily on, despite decided expressions of opposition to such a program expressed by the state press. Last week a geyser and highway expert made a speech to the Nebraska Good Roads association advocating a hard surfacing program. The association should find out that central and western Nebraska people won't stand for such a move until more of the state's highways have been gravelled, no matter what all government experts say about it.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Friday night is Christmas eve and the next day is that greatest of holidays, Christmas. Christmas eve is beloved of children, Christmas beloved of all people. It is the one day that symbolizes unselfishness and thought for others. On that day we lay aside our enmities and our prejudices and wish happiness to everybody. The spirit of good will is predominant. The Quiz wishes to join in the general good will and voice a greeting to all the people of Ord and the Loup valley: May your Christmas this year be the merriest you have ever had and may prosperity and happiness follow you through 1927.

WATERED STOCK

Everybody seems to share in Christmas presents in the shape of large returns on invested money except the farmer. The U. S. Steel corporation, U. S. Industrial Alcohol corporation and many others issued large dividends as a message of Christmas cheer to their stockholders, proving the positive benefits to big industry that the so-called "anti-trust" laws make. The laws allow corporations to make six or eight per cent profit on their stock. To side-step this law these companies issue additional stock, so much "water," on which they can pay interest. Next year the companies will be allowed to charge prices sufficiently high to pay six or eight per cent interest on their legitimate investment, plus the "water," and so the vicious circle continues—always at the expense of people who aren't rich enough to own stock in the companies.

SAFETY FIRST

This week a national campaign to promulgate the necessity of caution at grade crossings is being carried on. Railroads, police departments, newspapers, are co-operating in the campaign to stop the terrible toll taken annually by crossing accidents. Perhaps the best slogan that has been coined is that slightly facetious but very meaningful saying: "Safety first—death is so permanent!" It is couched in the flippant, idiomatic language that every American understands. And it conveys quite as much as the more common, "Stop, Look and Listen."

Last week six persons were killed on a grade crossing at Wellborn, Fla. A whole family was snuffed out in the accident—caused because somebody wanted to save a quarter of a minute and took a chance. Somebody was careless; somebody didn't read the warning sign.

When you take a chance on a grade crossing you are dicing with death and often the dice are loaded against you. By winning you save ten or fifteen seconds. If you lose, you die. And—"death is so permanent!"

CONCERNING TAXES

Taxes, both state and federal, have been coming in for more than a fair share of talk lately in newspapers all over the state. Charges that Governor McMullen is responsible for a huge deficit that makes it necessary for the state to register warrants for the first time in its history are common. Refutations of these charges are not so common, but they exist. The most potent comes from the pen of Charles Q. DeFrance.

According to the Lincoln State Journal Mr. DeFrance found the state using a system of book keeping that would not "pass muster in a country bank" but he arrives at some definite figures as a result of his sleuthing. According to his figures McKelvie levies fell $709,373 short of meeting legislative appropriations. Bryan ran $1,342,632 short while McMullen over-runs by $103,193. Mr. DeFrance says "the McMullen administration is not to blame for the shortage although it has not made up very much of the deficiencies of former administrations."

Mr. DeFrance is an expert accountant and a democrat. His report on state finances would seem to be honest and unprejudiced and surely relieves Governor McMullen and his administration of the onus of criticism heaped on them by the democratic press.

TOO MANY SCHOOLS

Writing in the Dearborn Independent Henry Ford says too much importance is being placed upon education these days. He says that theorizing is taught at the expense of doing and that education is rapidly becoming a means by which a man may side-step work. To a great extent Mr. Ford is right.

The world moves at such a great pace that only by being in actual contact with it can one really become educated. Universities teach methods of doing things after they have become obsolete. There is no such thing as a "white collar man" in American big business. Only clerks are true "white collar men." Executives are men who have come up from the ranks, who can do anything better than can the men they hire to do it.

What this country needs is a revival of the gull spirit. In young men learning trades, serving as apprentices until they are craftsmen, lies the real solution of education. Too many young men and women are receiving general education without specialization and this is an age of specialization. There is no middle field in American industry. If a man has the inherent qualities that make for success, plus an education, he will be a high-salaried executive. If he has just the education, he will be a poorly paid clerk or a manual laborer without a trade. He will receive better wages, be more independent and self-respecting, if he is an expert carpenter, mason, linotype operator, or any one of the kindred trades.

MILITARISM

The battle which started last winter over compulsory military training at the University of Nebraska still rages and developments of recent weeks have given it new impetus. From all indications it will be put before voters of Nebraska as a referendum measure at the next, general election.

A. H. Jensen, language instructor at the university charges faculty heads with conspiring to prevent discussion of the question. In concluding a letter addressed to the chancellor, Mr. Jensen says: "Why does the university administration become more repressive as the support for compulsory military training weakens?"

The question of military training is one which must be faced. Sooner or later Nebraska voters will be compelled to either endorse or decry the compulsory training clause in connection with the state school. Opponents of the present system of training are mostly pacifists. "Peace at any price" enthusiasts. They are advocating for America a policy of "when your right cheek is slapped, turn the left." They seem to think that youth who is never taught to fight will never fight, ignoring entirely the probability of a fight arising in which he will have to fight or suffer humiliation and worse.

Opponents of military training do not go as far as pacifism, perhaps. They merely wish to make the training matter for the individual student to decide upon. Should their program be put through it would allow the indolent student, the shirker, to escape military training under the cloak of "conscientious objections." Conscientious objections, indeed! Most freshmen and sophomores in university don't even know how to spell the words.

Right now is a very poor time to prate of pacifism. With nearly every nation in Europe looking with greedy eyes upon the wealth of this country, with religious strife in Mexico ready to flare up in resentment against this country at any moment, with a chaos middle in South America, this is a time to encourage our military resources rather than discourage them. The world is not yet ready for peace. Arbitration is a fine, mouth-filling word but it doesn't mean very much just at present. When world peace really is established it will be all right for us to beat our swords into plow shares but just now it might be well to sharpen the blades or even forge a few new ones.

Return from Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Orcutt returned home late last week from Rochester, Minn. They had been there several days consulting doctors at Mayo Bros. hospital in regard to Mrs. Orcutt's health.

Try This One

While sitting around and thinking of something to write about, we have figured out a sort of curiosity that all our married readers will enjoy testing. Then perhaps you can explain how and why it works, accurately. Add together the year of your birth, your age, the year of your marriage, and the number of years married. The answer will be 8852. If it isn't right, come in and we will give you a treat.—Bill Olexa in Ulysses Dispatch.

My Own Column

A florist says that people will buy flowers profusely and pay high prices for them for funerals but that they are real stingy when it comes to buying flowers for their loved ones who are alive. Now what do you know about that?

An Ord man has nicknamed his wife "Flo" because he says her language comes in a perfect stream.

They are going to put the "Womanless Wedding" on down at Wolbach and Miner Harris has spoken for the job of bride. 'Sabotage' time Miner attempted something along that line. I always figured he would be the groom, though.

I am getting ready to wear store teeth at least a part of the way around. I have got a few left in front and Doc Gard is going to the same more back of them with bailing wire or something that feels about like it. Last week he used two sacks of Portland cement taking impressions of the places in each cheek where the teeth have to go and this week I had to go back and be the goat while he used up another sack. He says I won't hardly know I have store teeth when he gets done. I can't depend on all Doc says, though. He said it wouldn't hurt me a bit to have the old teeth pulled. Well, it didn't because he talked me to sleep before he did it but he didn't say anything about how sore my mouth would be afterwards. I had to eat soup for two weeks. Ole Buck has got store teeth too and he eats soup all the time because he thinks there is less wear and tear on his teeth that way than there would be if he ate regular food.

The following story is part of an insurance advertisement which appeared in an Omaha paper. I have read it and then re-read it and found it so interesting that I am going to print it in this column. It is a letter written by a man who later died and his wife found it in his safe deposit box at the bank after his death. There are a good many men who will read this column who might get a good idea from the story:

My Dear Little Girl:

I had very keen delight in writing this letter, which I am attaching to my Life Insurance policies. I wrote it because I want you to know just what I have in mind when I planned my insurance estate for you and our children.

Policy No. 1: This is for $5,000 and is payable to you in cash. I call it a Clean-Up Policy, which you will need to pay current bills—expense of my illness—the unpaid current income tax—etc.

Policy No. 2: This is for $15,000. I call it the Mortgage Policy. I want you to continue to live in our present home. We have accumulated many fine things together, which have made our house a real home. The garden, the landscape, the trees, are all a part of us and particularly while the children are young, you will want them to benefit through those cultural values our home wraps up. You'll feel more comfortable with the mortgage out of the way.

Policy No. 3: This is an Income Policy which will pay you a monthly income of $200.00 as long as you live. This is an income which you will always have in fair times and foul. It isn't large but it is certain.

Policy No. 4: This I call your Readjustment Policy. It will pay you $300.00 a month for the next ten years. It stops then—but Grace will be in her twenties and so will Jack and even if the remainder of my estate is entirely depleted, the children will have been educated and able to take care of themselves. Then, too, your income from Policy No. 3 will go on, you know, at the rate of $200.00 a month as long as you live.

Policy No. 5: I call this your Vacation Policy. It pays you $1,000 every year for five years. You'll receive the check on July 1st, each year. Spend it—you three—in the woods just as you would if I were still here to whip a stream with you.

Policy No. 6: This is your Luxury Policy. No one ever got so much genuine fun out of giving others joy as you always did and so every November 15th, you'll get a check for $500.00. "Do your Christmas shopping early—sweetheart—as you always have and wrap up countless bundles in holly paper with Christmas Seals and send them off to Aunt Molly, Cousin Harry, and all the rest.

This insurance plan isn't entirely due to unselfishness, for during all the years I have been accumulating these policies, I have had a very real "kick" out of the thought that you will always: "Well—if Bill did have some bad habits, he had some good ones too."

Now keep smiling my dear, for no matter what happens to the business or the rest of my estate, you are sitting as pretty as you look and I am glad of it.

Affectionately, Bill (signed)

WILL SERVE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Quiz:
I notice with interest the suggestions offered in Mr. Leggett's "own column" in last week's Quiz. And I wish to supplement what he says with the request that anyone who feels disposed to write me regarding any desired matter of legislation, or matters that may later come up for consideration, will do so freely. I may not be able to do as you ask in each instance, but it will give me a chance to get the ideas of the people of this representative district, and will be very helpful to me in trying to fully represent the best interest of the district in the legislature. I expect to go to Lincoln to work for your best interest, and if you will write me freely at any time it will be appreciated, and make it easier for me to determine what the people at home are interested in having done for them. I appreciate the confidence you have already shown me, and wish to do whatever I can to serve you during my term of office. It doesn't matter whether you supported me during the campaign or not, if there is anything I can do to serve you I hope you will feel free to talk with me or write me about it, at any time. With a wish for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of my constituents of the 77th Representative district.
Yours respectfully,
E. M. WHITE.

LATEST IS "AIR HOG"

To the Editor of the Quiz:
I notice that you invite people to write to your Forum about anything they want to. Now I would like to say something about people who use electrical appliances during the hours when the best radio programs come on. Every time nearly that a good program starts coming in somebody will start up with a battery charger or a violet ray or electric sewing machine or something and just ruin the program. Another thing, lots of people go to bed early and turn their battery chargers on. Lots of us who don't want to go to bed so early can't get any good programs because of this. I think people should be more considerate of others in regard to radio. Talk about your "road hog," the "air hog" is lots worse.
Yours truly,
A RADIO FAN.

Saying With Want Ads. (Lincoln State Journal)

Former Congressman C. F. Reavys pleases the advertising men mightily when he recalls his famous incident of the Richardson county farmer, who shipped a carload of fine calves to Omaha, paying the freight, the yardage, the commission for selling and other necessary expenses. The calves were sold, the buyer paying the freight to his place. The shipment was made out from the stock yards, and in due time the animals were unloaded at a farm just a quarter of a mile from the place they were born. A 50 cent want ad could have saved a whale of a lot of money—enough to disprove the charge so often made that the cost of advertising is always added to the price put on the goods.

No Hope for Farmer.

(Aurora Republican)
Headlines in the papers proclaim that farm relief is destined for an airing in congress, with a revised McNary-Haugen bill receiving most of the air, hot and otherwise, that the congressmen put out. "Farm relief" that bugaboo of the administration and rallying point of the oratorical powers of ambitious legislators from the middle west, is due for another mauling in both house and senate, it seems. As the situation now stands, there seems to be no logical reason for believing that congress will do anything radically different from what it has already done, and that amounts to practically nothing, so far as the farmer is concerned. With Congress dominated by representatives of the large centers of population in the east and aided by non-interested groups from the sections of the western country which are not strictly agricultural, it seems scarcely possible that there will be legislation passed which will affect the farm situation for the better in a very material way. To take rather a heartless and hard-boiled attitude, but one which seems to be fully justified by recent history and the present trend of events, it would seem that the sooner the farmer learns to stand on his own business feet and meet the coldly business attitude of the rest of the world with an attitude which is just as coldly businesslike, the sooner the farmer will have achieved his rightful place in the sun of economic affairs.

Unnecessary Hurts.

(Wayne Herald)
Often people who pretend to be followers of the merciful Nazarene, give newspapers for publication damaging stories that are intended for no other purpose than to hurt some one and obstruct his course. From cover to cover they want to deal an unnecessary blow and see the victim humiliated and injured. People who are thus anxious to have the misfortunes or frailties of their neighbors paraded, usually have enough faults of their own to keep them busy. When one feels like pillorying another by dragging a skeleton out of his closet or by exposing his weakness or failings, he should carefully examine himself and see if his own stock imperfections is not in need of a liberal cloak of charity. Neither by conversation nor by reporting to a newspaper should one seek to hurt a fellow-being. He may need the very charity which he would coldly deny to another.

"Just as Good."

(Clay County Sun)
After national advertising has created a demand for an article of merit and a merchant tries to sell me something "just as good," I can read only one meaning into his act. He is willing to sponge on the demand that a progressive firm has honestly secured to impose upon you an article of so questionable a quality that its makers fear to advertise it. He perhaps makes a little more profit, but he should consider the fact that he would have made no profit—he would have made no sale—had it not been for the manufacturers who made the demand. The buying public has no better safeguard in its buying than the guarantee which reputable, progressive firms always include in their publicity and you will make no mistake if you always insist that you get what you ask for rather than "something just as good."

BOOK REVIEWS

"Adventuring"
(By Adam Breede)

The editor of the Hastings Tribune has done himself proud in this fascinating tale of world travel. With unerring instinct he has picked from each place he visited the most interesting and unusual features, and relates them to the reader in his own charming way. He tells them after a quaint fashion of his own, combining a rather dignified and formal style of narration with the most hair-splitting, hair-raising adventures. The result is as pleasing as it is new. Withal, Mr. Breede takes little credit for heroism unto himself, in fact, less than the reader would like him to take.

The book is full of just the sort of anecdotes that everyone likes to learn about a strange country. For instance, we learn that in Naples, to pinch a lady is a subtle and flattering way of expressing admiration for her. We learn what makes the holes in Swiss cheese; we find out that the Mumbes of Africa must pay three cows, or thirty goats and some honey for a wife, and that a dead Mumba must not be touched, but pushed away from the village with sticks, and left for the hyenas to feast upon. But why go on—the book really must be read to be appreciated even one-hundredth part.

Frederick M. Hitchcock, New York, published the book and copies can be procured at all bookstands or can be ordered direct from the publisher. Price, $3.00.

Detweiler Oil Well Prospects Are Good

With 23 times already encountered in the K-D test being drilled by the K-D Oil company, eight and one half miles north and a mile west of Perry in Section 22, township 22N, range 2W, plans are being made to drill the well ahead. Twelve and a half inch casing has been set at a depth of 1,193 feet and three inches while the hole is 1,215 feet deep. Indications are far more favorable in this test than in any of the other three tests drilled in this locality by the same company. The first gas in this well was encountered at 685 feet and was much stronger than the first gas found in the original well at 695 feet. This well has an eight foot elevation over the first well. The sand extends down to 695 and then a level was encountered and a second gas sand which was also stronger than the gas sand found in the other wells. There was only seven times found in the first test and with 23 times encountered in this hole, the sand is now in the twenty-fourth, it is declared to be the best prospect in this district for a real producer. The well has caused considerable trouble from caving and it has been necessary to keep the casing within ten feet of the bottom of the hole at all times.—Perry (Okla.) Journal.

Justice Expensive.

(Spalding Enterprise)
What the country needs most of all is a cheaper form of justice and where Judge Lynch used to spend about fifteen cents for twenty feet of rope, the nation now spends about a hundred thousand and does not promote half as much in the way of public good. The Hall-Mills murder trial cost something like a hundred thousand and accomplished nothing, while everyone knows some one of the bunch is guilty, and perhaps all of them. California is spending another hundred thousand to prove that Almee McPherson lied a little about her love affairs, the same as everyone has done for a thousand years, and the poor taxpayer has to furnish the funds for the fireworks and the publicity. An old fence rail used to accomplish more than all this high costing justice and served its end better. The sooner the public refuses to spend a half a million to convict someone of having bad family relations, the better off we will all be.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR GREETINGS

Thirty years ago we remember when eggs were three dozen for 25c; butter 10c a pound; milk was 5c a quart; the butcher gave away liver and treated the kids with bologna; the hired girl received two dollars a week and did the washing. Women did not powder and paint (in public) smoke, vote, play poker or shake the shimmie.

Men wore whiskers and boots, chewed tobacco, spit on the sidewalks and cussed. Beer was 5c and the lunch was free. Laborers worked ten hours a day and never went on a strike. No tips were given to waiters and the hat-check grafter was unknown. A kerosene hanging lamp and a stereoscope in the parlor were luxuries.

No one was ever operated on for appendicitis or bought glands. Microbes were unheard of; folks lived to a good old age and every year walked miles to wish their friends—

A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Today, you know, everybody rides in automobiles, or flies; plays golf; shoots craps, plays the piano with their feet; go to the movies nightly; smokes cigarettes; drinks Rukus Juice; blames the H. C. of L. on their neighbors; never go to bed the same day they get up, and think they are having a H-- of a time.

These are the days of suffragetteing, profiteering, rent hogs, excess taxes and prohibition. If you think life is worth living, buy a high grade of hardware at a live and let live price from L. V. Kokes Hardware, Ord, Nebraska.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year we are

Husband of Former Ord Woman Dies

Many dear friends of Mrs. Emma Overton will learn with regret of the death of her husband on December 9. He passed away in a Kalamazoo hospital following an operation, after an illness of but two weeks. The Overton home was at Bangor, Mich. The Overtons have visited in Ord several times since Mrs. Emma Selver became Mrs. Overton and went to Michigan to live.

Mrs. Overton was the first Valley county bride, her husband being William Hobson. After his death she married George Selver and they made Ord their home for many years. Mrs. Overton's people were among the earliest settlers in this county, her maiden name being Bancroft and the family home was in what is now Springdale township.

Following the funeral of Mr. Overton which was held from the family home at Bangor, Mich. Sunday, Dec. 12, Mrs. Overton accompanied her daughter Mrs. Cora Harris to her home at Lorry, Mo., where she will spend the winter.

We are sure that there are many friends of Mrs. Overton who will want to write her messages of sympathy and good cheer right away. Surely she will be glad to hear from a lot of her Ord friends. The address, Lorry, Mo. will reach her.

Spare the Little Trees

Why not decorate a Christmas tree out in the yard this year instead of sacrificing a good little tree from somewhere? If you do not have a tree in your yard, why not share with the neighbors a community tree? Electric lights, strings of popcorn, tinsel, and red berries may be used on these outside Christmas trees. If the family wants a tree in the house, why not be content with a pretty branch trimmed from a big tree, or with a little artificial tree? The old custom of felling the prettiest tree that can be found and dragging it in to use only a day or two is rapidly disappearing because of the seeming waste of our young trees.

Christmas Candles

Here are two good recipes for fondant and taffy.
Fondant: Five cups of sugar, one and one-half cups of boiling water, and one-fourth teaspoon of cream of tartar. Put the above into a saucepan. Stir until sugar is dissolved, then heat gradually to the boiling point. Boil without stirring until the soft ball stage. Wash off crystals which form on the sides of the pan with a piece of cheese cloth wrapped around a fork. Pour on greased platter and when slightly cool beat until creamy. When it lumps, knead with the hands until smooth. Cover with oiled paper and let stand 24 hours. It may then be worked up in various shapes and flavors.

Taffy: Two cups white corn syrup, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon lemon, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon soda. Cook syrup until it forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Add butter, when melted remove from fire, add soda, and stir it until it has stopped foaming. Pour into a buttered pan. When cool enough to handle, pull until white, cut into small pieces with sharp sterilized scissors.

Kill Hogs by Sticking

In butchering a hog, shooting or knocking is unnecessary, dangerous and often cruel unless the hog is in a large pen, wild or vicious. Shooting may actually retard bleeding. The following directions for sticking a hog are taken from Extension Circular 228, Farm Slaughter of Hogs, which is available for free distribution from offices of county extension agents and the agricultural college at Lincoln.

Roll the hog squarely on his back. The holder stands straddle of the hog, faces toward the hog's nose and holds his forelegs back and down. The stickler bears down on the hog's chin with his left hand and makes a short cut in front of the breast bone. He then slips the knife down and back until he strikes the breast bone, works the point of the knife under the point of the breast bone exactly in the center, then cuts down and forward until the blood squirts freely. He has then severed the forks of the largest vein and artery in the body and the hog will soon bleed to death. If properly stuck the hog may be released and he will not go far.

This circular deals with scalding, cleaning, cutting, and curing meat. It is freely illustrated with good pictures of each important step in the farm butchering process.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA

In the matter of the application of Charles M. King, Administrator with Will annexed, for license to sell real estate.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Now on this 7th day of December, 1926, this cause came on for hearing upon the application under oath of Charles M. King, Administrator with Will annexed of the estate of James J. Stark, deceased, praying for license to sell the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to wit: The south-east quarter (less the West Eighty acres thereof) of Section twenty-four, in Township Eighteen North, Range Fifteen, West of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Valley county, Nebraska, and Lots Five and Six in Block Fifty-four of the Original Townsite of the City of Ord, Valley county, Nebraska, or so much thereof as may be necessary to bring the sum of $2993.65, for the payment of debts of said estate, costs of administration and legacies, for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Administrator of said estate, belonging to said estate, to pay said claims, expenses and legacies.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before either of the judges of the District Court of Valley county, Nebraska, at Chambers in the District Court room in the Court house in the city of Ord, in said county, on the 26th day of January, 1927, at the hour of ten o'clock a. m. or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard, to show cause, if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said Charles M. King to sell so much of said real estate hereinbefore described, belonging to the said estate of James J. Stark, deceased, as may be necessary to pay the said debts, expenses and legacies.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in the said estate by causing the same to be published four successive weeks in the Ord Quiz, a legal weekly newspaper printed and published in Valley county, Nebraska.

Here is what a friend from Los Angeles writes. She is Miss Monna Trindle, formerly of Ord, now a Kindergarten supervisor in Los Angeles. "I must tell you what we do with your North Loup product. Last year I made popcorn turkey for the kiddies at school. I take an old fashioned sugar sack (the dollar size) full of popped corn and for the syrup I use 2 cups of sugar, 1-2 cup Karo, 1-2 cup water, 2 tablespoons butter. Cook until it cracks when taken from cold water. Take 3-4 of the popcorn in a dishpan near the water faucet so you can keep your hands wet, pour the syrup over, then press hard into the shape of a football. Make half the recipe of sugar and mould the remaining corn into legs, wings, and neck. Next morning put into the oven and brown. Slice and serve. It is quite fine. Salt the corn a bit."—Loyalist.

No longer is it necessary to have fear of pain, hemorrhage, loss of voice (even temporarily) or paralysis of the throat from having your tonsils removed.

I have perfected a method which carries with it none of the above dangers. I have used this method on dozens of cases with absolute satisfaction.

Do you realize that a tonsil operation requires more skill and care than many abdominal operations? Many cases are seen daily which tell you that their tonsil operation was terrible, that is a nightmare to them yet, that they could not eat, swallow or talk for ten days, and that they had two or three hemorrhages, and that their tonsils have grown back. This is unheard of when my method is used!

Diseased tonsils are the cause of many chronic diseases of the human body. The next in importance is diseased teeth—ask your dentist.

I believe that a large number of cases of stomach ulcers, stomach and bowel cancers, infective gall-bladders (with or without stones), chronic constipation, Bright's disease, heart disease, high blood pressure and frequent colds, chronic headaches and many exhausted "peppish" systems are caused by a pair of chronically infected tonsils or teeth, from which the patient is absorbing poison twenty-four hours a day. Inflammatory Rheumatism is another disease, the treatment of which should start with a thorough inspection of the tonsils. I have used my method on cases from three to sixty years of age with complete satisfaction.

Every pair of Tonsils do not need to come out!

A competent and experienced medical man, who is conscientiously interested in the welfare of humanity, should pass judgment on tonsils before they are removed.

Statistics show that a large percentage of school children have badly infected tonsils. It is a known fact that school nurses all over the country are daily sending home to parents of school children, statements as to the infective condition of their tonsils and advising removal of same. Ask your school nurse, teacher or family doctor.

Any thoroughly competent, fair-minded, unbiased doctor will corroborate the above statements. Many competent surgeons, who do a large amount of abdominal surgery, "back up" when it comes to removing tonsils and refer the patient to a specially skilled man for the work.

Burwell Girls Lost But Boys Take Game from Taylor

Burwell, Neb., Dec. 20.—A large and highly appreciative crowd witnessed the second double header in basketball, played against Taylor at the high school gymnasium Friday night. Taylor, always has good teams and a hard battle was expected. The Burwell girls lead the visitors eight to six at the end of the first half, but could not keep up the pace, and lost out 16 to 10. This was a great improvement over their work of last week, and they will doubtless win next time. The boys were more fortunate in their game, and won handily to the tune of 18 to 6. Coach Abolt played his freshman squad through most of the first half, but ran in numerous substitutions toward the last. The boys all play a very satisfactory game and displayed an almost perfect defense that held the visitors scoreless in the last half. There is a crying need of space for the crowd, which packs the available space almost to suffocation, and almost crowds out on the playing field.

Burwell merchants are making the most of their windows this year for display purposes, and many of them are a treat to the eye. A number of features unusual at any time are in evidence. A great many merchants are using the season to give out useful and valuable souvenirs which are highly appreciated. A number of stores have already featured Santa Claus, and others will do so during the present week. Santa Claus appeared at the Fenner and Haugh hardware Saturday and distributed lollypops to all the children and souvenirs to their parents. All children were requested to register Saturday and over five hundred did so. Their names were put into a box, and one was drawn out, the winner, Edna Conard, receiving a wagon as a prize.

Stephenson Elected For Burwell Church.
 Sunday the congregation of the Burwell Christian church voted to extend a call to Rev. Stephenson of Hiawatha, Kas., and he will probably arrive in time to begin his work next Sunday. He is a young man of ability, a Congregationalist, as is his wife, and they will no doubt do a good work here. The young ladies class entertained the young men's class in the church basement Tuesday evening and a splendid time is reported. These classes are growing rapidly and are very much alive.

Cedar Center Boy Is Veterinarian; Grafts Tail Pulled Out by Roots Back on White Mule

Cedar Center, Neb., Dec. 17.—"Seedy", the 15-year old son of Ben Lemmens, a pioneer settler in this part of the country, seems to show signs of becoming a great veterinarian in the not-too-distant future.

Of course everybody out in this vicinity knew he set the legs of his mother's blue ribbon Plymouth rooster last summer, and figured out a thing something like a baby jumper that would let the rooster exercise and scratch and move around without using the broken members; and then quite a few heard about the way Seedy put a patch of fur on that scraped spot his sister's bulldog got in the fight with Hendrickson's shepherd, and made it start growing.

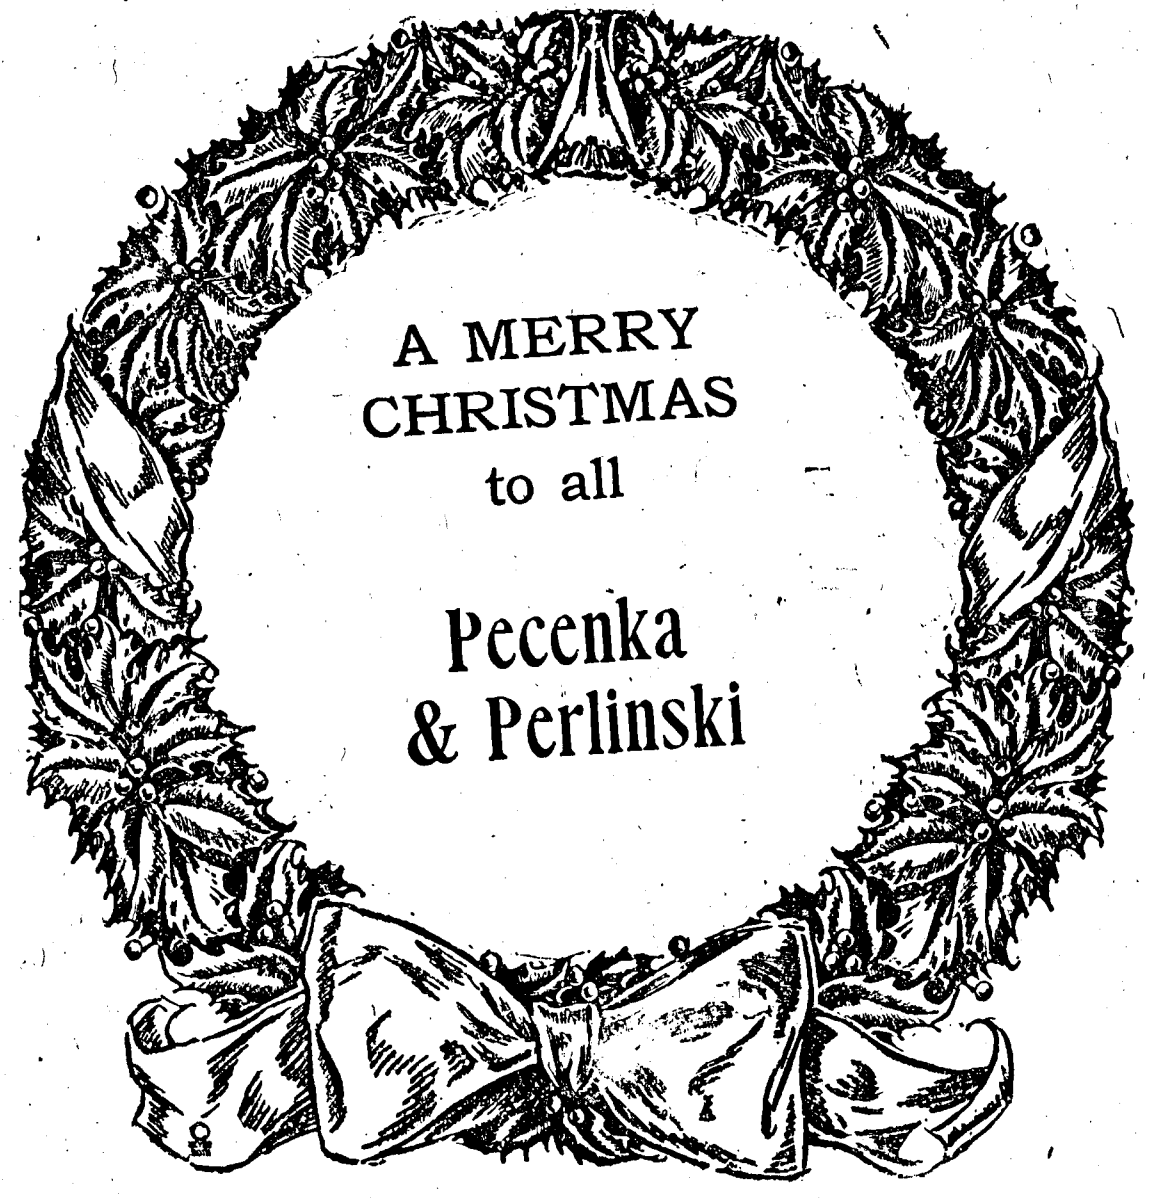

But Seedy beat his own record all to smithereens the other day. You probably remember when Seedy was plowing the west forty up to sow it to winter wheat, how that white mule of theirs backed into the corn sheller and got his tail pulled out by the roots? Well, Seedy shut off the sheller and rescued the severed tail. Then what did he do but try to graft the tail back where it belongs, and of course nobody thought he could do it.

Several neighbors came over and offered to shoot the mule, thinking Seedy thought too much of the mule to do it himself. But the boy not only would not let them shoot the mule, he wouldn't even let them see the injured animal.

Last Thursday who should drive by the house of this correspondent but our old friend Seedy and his white mule. And we admit that we went right out to talk to him, and look at the mule. Now that mule's tail doesn't look a bit crooked or scarred or any thing—the only thing is that the mule can just make a half circle swish with his tail, not a whole one. This won't bother the mule until summer, and by that time the boy thinks he can figure out some way to give the mule a full revolution.

NORTH LOUP Department

NEWS OF THE WEEK By LENORE VAN HORN

Ben Moulten returned last week from Sayre, Okla., where he went to attend the funeral of his brother, John Moulten.

The mothers of the Domestic Science girls were entertained at a dinner in the domestic science room on Thursday evening, Dec. 16. A delicious three course dinner was served. Christmas decorations were in evidence about the room, on the table and in the artistic caps and aprons of the waiters. Favors of lollypop dolls received no little comment. Each mother also received a small Christmas gift. The girls are greatly indebted to their teacher, Miss Hettie Batley, for her patience and skill in teaching them.

John Miller and family left Tuesday afternoon for Missouri where they expect to make their home. Paul Nelson came up from Lincoln Friday to spend the holidays with home folks.

Primary Room.

Miss Dorothy McCune, teacher. Kenneth and Roma Waterbury are absent this week. Aside from that the attendance is perfect.

The children are very enthusiastic about the Christmas tree which the Primary and second Primary rooms are having together. The tree is very beautiful with its ornaments and small electric light bulbs, for which it is indebted to the kindness of Mrs. Carol Tenney.

Second Primary.

Miss Lydia Rich, teacher. Mrs. Ilo Fisher visited school on Monday.

The attendance in this room was perfect both Monday and Tuesday.

The language class is writing Christmas stories. The art class is finishing gifts for the children's parents. Some very clever ideas are being worked out.

Grammar Room

Miss Erna Malotte, teacher. Earl Miller, who has been a pupil at Barker was a visitor Tuesday afternoon.

Elmer Drawbridge, Opal Post and Pete Drawbridge have been absent during the week.

The bookkeeping class is studying the banking business. They are learning to write checks, make deposits etc.

The Christmas tree is very prettily decorated. The intermediate and Grammar rooms will have their gifts distributed Friday morning.

The seventh grade is making booklets of the West Indies.

Intermediate Room.

Miss Velma Mason, teacher. Elmo Manchester, Ruby Stuart, and Harry Edwards were absent last week on account of sickness.

For opening exercises some of the girls have been playing the piano, and victrola music has also been enjoyed.

"An Arizona Cowboy," a comedy-drama of the southwest was given by the American Legion Monday night at the Strand. This is the cast of characters: Farley Gantt, the cowboy sheriff, Floyd Reddon; Paul Quillian, his partner, Rex White; Duke Blackshear, a stranger from Frisco; Dr. Tschauer; Hezekiah Bugg, a glorious liar, Ernie Weed; Yow Kee, a heathen Chinaman, Adolph Hellwege; Big Elk, a Navajo chief, Carol Barnes; Grizzly Grimm, a cattle thief, Kent Manchester; Marguerite Moore, the pretty ranch owner, Laura Christensen; Mrs. Petunia Bugg from old Indiana; Dessie Vogeler; Carol Blackshear, Duke's sister, Esther Hurley; Fawn Afraid, an Indian maid, Edna Barnes; Young 'un, Not much of anybody, Alice Horner.

Misses Mary Johnson and Mary Clement surprised their friends by coming home Monday night. They have been attending college at Milton, Wis., and had not intended to come home for vacation. Their trip was a gift from their aunt, Mrs. Clara Holmes.

The financial agent of the S. D. B. church and the committee were canvassing the church membership Monday, soliciting funds for the denominational budget. They were fairly successful in their efforts.

High School

The first basketball game of the season was held Wednesday night on the home floor. Both the boys' and girls' teams played the Horace teams. The Senior normal trainers are having observation in the lower grades.

The domestic science girls entertained their mothers at a banquet in the domestic science room last Thursday evening.

The Junior Latin class is building a small model of Caesar's bridge across the Rhine. They are following Caesar's directions and are using only such material as he had. This model will be on exhibition next pop corn days.

The high school students filled out registration slips for next semester's subjects Wednesday morning.

Sarah Wiley of Venango, Nebr., visited school Monday afternoon. The sophomore Latin class is finishing the lessons this week. They are planning to celebrate the event Thursday at the class period. After vacation they will begin reading Caesar.

Pastor H. L. Polan is planning to leave next Sunday for Pittsburg Pa. to attend the mid-winter meeting of the commission.

The Rook club were entertained last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eino Hurley. There were four tables of players. George Gowen received high score and Nema Jones received low. Refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, fruit salad, cake and coffee were served.

Harold Goodrich and his wife came on the train Tuesday night to spend a few days with home folks. "Smiley" has been on road construction work at Harrison Nebr. They are going to Sioux City, Ia. to spend Christmas with Mrs. Goodrich's people. They will then make their home in Lincoln for the winter.

Mrs. L. E. McGinley and son Leigh-ton of Venango, came Saturday on the evening train to spend the vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Will Schultz. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Millican also came Monday evening from Albuquerque, N. M.

Verd Manchester reports seeing about a dozen robins on his lawn Tuesday afternoon. This is quite an unusual sight for December.

No Lo club did not meet this week. They, too, are having Christmas vacation. The next meeting will be in January.

Carpenters are repairing Ray Bryan's house.

Miss Sarah Wiley from Central City Friends college is spending the vacation with her friend, Miss Reva Currie. Carl Nelson went to Central City Friday night and Dorothy Nelson, Kenneth Hawkes and Miss Wiley returned with him. Miss Wiley's home is at Venango, Nebr.

Mrs. Frannie McCall Foster came Tuesday to spend the holidays with her folks.

Katherine Chadwick, who clerks in Schoemaker's store at Scottsbluff, spent Sunday with friends in North Loup. She came over on the motor, and Eino Hurley's took her back Sunday night.

S. D. B. Church

The subject of the Sabbath morning service was "Hold Fast to the profession of your faith without wavering."

L. O. Green will fill the pulpit during the pastor's absence.

The Sabbath school program will be given Christmas night. The committee is planning a cantata.

The Christmas vesper service will be held Christmas eve at the regular prayer meeting hour. The Christian Endeavorers are in charge of it, and also of the sunrise prayer meeting Sabbath morning.

The annual church dinner dinner will be held January 2 in the church basement.

The pastor and wife and the social committee of the church entertained the public at a reception in the new parsonage Tuesday afternoon and evening. Between eighty and ninety people attended. Others who were unable to come are welcome to come any time and see the beautiful new home.

The reception was arranged rather hurriedly on account of Mr. Polan's intended departure for the East. The oldest person present was Mrs. Mary Badger and the youngest was Marilyn Louise Moulton. This was the baby's first appearance at a public meeting. The afternoon and evening were spent very pleasantly in visiting. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served.

Methodist Church

The W. F. M. Society gave a New England supper last Tuesday night in the church basement. Miss McKnight, who has been in India for twenty four years gave a very interesting talk. The young married people's class had a party Friday evening at the home of the class president, Mrs. C. E. Rusmisseil. At the business session they voted to have a party the first Monday in every month.

The young ladies class taught by Mrs. Gibb gave the church a Christmas gift of sixteen new hymnals. Five more were added by the men's class.

The Sunday school program will be held Friday evening at 7:30.

Dr. Oliver Keve will preach both the morning and evening sermons next Sunday. The Quarterly conference business session will be held after the evening service.

Friends Church

The supper and bazaar given by the Friends church were quite well attended and successful.

The services Sunday were very interesting. Christmas was the subject of both sermons.

The choir practiced Christmas songs Sunday evening after church. C. E. was led by Kenneth Hawkes. The subject was "The Christmas Spirit."

The program and Christmas tree will be given Friday night.

No prayer meeting will be held this week or next.

QUIZ REPORTER ON VACATION

Mrs. Chapman leaves this evening for Kansas City where she will spend Christmas with her daughter, Mrs. Hughes. Mrs. Chapman will be accompanied by her three grandchildren and her little grandson will likely undergo a throat operation while down there. Mrs. Chapman will probably return home Monday but as she will have to be off the job for several days the Quiz will appreciate it very much if our friends will call in and tell us the news, and especially those who have Christmas company. We are sure to miss many of these family parties without your co-operation.

The latter part of last week John Kozel went to Aurora to visit a daughter.

FUSS'S HAVE BEEN MARRIED FORTY YEARS, CELEBRATE

Mira Valley People Gather at Fuss Home After Service at Church Sunday.

Forty years ago Mr. and Mrs. Emil Fuss, well known residents of Mira Valley, were married at York and Sunday ninety friends and relatives of the couple gathered at their home to help them celebrate the anniversary of the event.

The celebration really started in the morning when Rev. G. N. Boehnke said, "We can't get any young couple to marry so we'll just have to marry the old ones over again." Services were held at the German Lutheran church.

In the afternoon friends and relatives from far and near gathered at the Fuss home. From York came Walter Blum and family, Adolph Fuss and family came from Grand Island and Herman Bredthauer and family from Scotta. Nearly all of the neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fuss and many friends and relatives from Ord and other parts of the county were present.

People who came brought well filled baskets and the day was devoted to feasting, visiting and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Fuss many more years of married happiness.

Before her marriage Mrs. Fuss was Miss Pauline Birk of York. They have three children, Mrs. Ray Harding and Otto Fuss of Ord and Mrs. Elmer Bredthauer who lives in the country. All were present with their families to wish the couple well.

The Quiz adds congratulations and best wishes to those of all their many friends.

Fred Coe Is Chosen To Manage Creamery

Fred Coe is the manager of the Ord co-operative creamery. The creamery directors offered him the position Tuesday night and this morning Mr. Coe informed the Quiz that he had accepted the appointment. He begins his new duties at once, succeeding Joe Barta who has acted as manager temporarily.

Mrs. Mary Panowicz and son, Raymond, of Elbe, and an aunt, Mrs. S. Newman, Grand Island, arrived here last night. They were taken to Comstock by relatives.

Housewives Might Shudder at Moving In Mid-Winter—But New Valley County Officers Won't Mind a Bit

"Moving week" usually comes in the spring or in the fall for most people but next week is that week for Valley county officers. Probably more changes take place in the personnel of county officers than for many years.

Of course many of the old faces will be seen in the court house after Jan. 6. But on that date many new faces—new in court house offices—will be seen there.

Those who assume office on Jan. 6 are Ign. Klima, Jr., who becomes county clerk; Ted Brown, new county treasurer; George A. Munn, new county attorney; and Miss Clara McClatchey, new county superintendent.

Quiz Will Change Subscription Policy

Just above you will find the date to which your paper is paid. In accordance with our statement of a couple of weeks ago we are going to stop sending the Quiz to everyone outside Nebraska who is not paid in advance. We cannot afford to take the loss that results from a credit business on distant subscriptions. No doubt this will cause some hardship but we must make the rule to all alike so this is the last paper you will get if your subscription is in arrears and you live outside Nebraska.

The month and year after your name is the time you are paid to and you can easily tell how much to send at $2.50 a year to put you up to date, or in advance if you want the paper continued. Of course you will want to pay what you already owe in any event. We hope you will want to add another year.

To those nearer home, just take a look at your subscription also for we need the money and want to get the list all paid in advance. The ABC Audit Bureau refuse to credit a subscriber on the list who is more than six months in arrears so that is the limit the Quiz is going to allow anyone to be in arrears and as fast as we can get the work done we are going to stop all papers more than six months back. We want you to have the Quiz if you want it but we don't want to crowd it on to anyone.

Friends Gather, Husk Urban Corn

Thirty men gathered at the country home of Mrs. Frank Urban Tuesday and husked her corn. A fifty acre field was finished between 9 a. m. and 4.30 p. m., the many neighbors and friends of the family who assisted working like beavers.

While the men were husking Madams Charles Waite, Ray Garner, Delbert Holmes, Guy Barr and Charles Urban were assisting Mrs. Frank Urban in preparing a hot dinner.

The men who helped in the husking were: Guy Barr, Walter Holmes, Charles Waite, Emil C. Urban, George Urban, Albert Urban, Homer Robbins, J. M. Garner, Will Garner, Glen Tobias, H. J. Hoadley, Emil Urban, Harvey Barr, H. J. Nemeskal, Will Urban, Joe Urban, Jr., Ralph Ackles, L. J. Garner, Nels Nelson, Curtis Blackledge, Ralph Holmes, J. P. Holmes, John Pishna, Ray Garner, Burt Craft, Delbert Holmes, Charles Urban, Harold Nelson, Carl Drake, Al Powell, Ore Powell, Jack Craft, Fred Craft, Oliver Craft, John Urban, and Charles Urban, a son of Frank Urban.

Ord, Arcadia, Burwell, Comstock, North Loup and Lexington were towns represented by the husking party.

Mrs. Frank Urban, who lost her husband a few weeks ago, wishes to thank all of those who helped her Tuesday.

Ray Garner and Delbert Holmes are said to have acted as "organizers" and enlisted the neighbors and friends of the Urbans in the husking party.

ARCADIA MAN DIES SUDDENLY

D. E. Mather, Former State Representative Dies After Found Unconscious.

D. E. Mather, prominent citizen of Arcadia and a former state representative, died last Thursday evening after being unconscious for several hours. He was found in the barn by a neighbor and it is supposed death was due to a heart seizure. He was sixty-three years old, born on Dec. 25, 1862.

Mr. Mather was one of Valley county's best known citizens. He came to this county in March, 1887 and settled three miles from Arcadia where he made his home until his death last week.

Deceased was a prominent church man, having been identified with the Arcadia Congregational church for the past twenty-eight years. He served as Sunday school teacher and a member of the church board.

He also served the community in an official capacity, having been on the county board for several years and going to Lincoln as a member of the state legislature one term.

Shortly before coming to Valley county Mr. Mather was married to Miss Augusta McGregor at Newton, Ia., where he was born. His wife, two sons, Clarence Ray of Vallejo, Calif., and Claude of Arcadia, and an adopted daughter, Mae, of San Francisco, survive him.

Funeral services were conducted from the Congregational church at Arcadia Monday afternoon in charge of the pastor, Rev. W. A. Alcorn, and interment was in Arcadia cemetery.

Six young men of his Sunday school class acted as pall bearers. They were Elmer Hagood, Cecil Weddel, Ora Russell, Maynard Carver, Gerald Evans and Charles Nygren.

ORD CHURCHES WILL OBSERVE WATCH NIGHT

Union Service at Methodist Church Will Usher in New Year.

Protestant churches of Ord are planning to usher the old year out and the new year in with a union service at the Methodist church Friday night. Rev. J. B. Mower will lead a half-hour song service starting at 9.30 and Rev. H. W. Hansen will give the evening sermon. The closing hour will be given over to prayer and testimony with the last few minutes of the old year devoted to a consecration service.

The Christian church will not be represented at the union meeting as plans for an individual watch service were made before the union plans were brought up. They will meet at their own church at eight o'clock for a social fellowship hour continuing until eleven o'clock. Organizations will present plans for the coming year and at 11.45 a consecration service will be held.

Presbyterians and Methodists plan services at their own churches prior to the union services. At the Presbyterian church services will begin with a family supper at 6.30. Each family is asked to bring sandwiches and anything else they wish, enough for their family and one more. A committee will serve coffee, cream and sugar. After supper a devotional service will be held and the meeting will end in time for the union service at 9.30.

At the Methodist church a motion picture, "The Sky Pilot" will be shown at eight o'clock. A mixer with coffee and doughnuts served by the ladies will be held in the basement after the picture.

No plans have been made for special meetings in the United Brethren and Danish Lutheran churches but all expect to attend the union services.

'HAVE A HEART' PLEA FINDS BIG RESPONSE HERE

Many Ordites Open Purses To Buy Heart Tags and Help the Needy.

Ord people don't have "one way pockets."

Ord people are always ready to "have a heart" and help the unfortunate and needy. This fact was again proved last Friday when the sum of $35.15 was realized by Ord girls selling heart tags for the Volunteers of America.

The sale was sponsored by Mayor William Barrett and most of the Ord ministers and was a free will offering, each person who bought a heart determining himself the amount he should give.

Miss Frances Bradt was in charge of the campaign and several girls competed for prizes offered by Ord. The first prize, a vanity compact given by Ed F. Beranek, was won by La Veda Rogers. She collected $9.31.

Second prize, a pair of silk hose given by the Peoples store, went to Marjorie Ball, who collected $7.21. Clara Lea Van Wie won third, a bottle of perfume, offered by McClain-Sorenson. She took in $6.62. Fourth, fifth and sixth prizes were won by Helen Patchen, Leona Johnson and Myra Hiner. Other contestants received movie tickets.

The Volunteers of America is a charitable organization sponsored by General and Mrs. Booth of Salvation Army fame. At Omaha headquarters of the organization more than 400 Christmas baskets were given to unfortunate and the same work was carried on in other cities of the state.

The organization is ever ready to help the unfortunate and needy. A statement issued by a representative of the organization says: "To the city officials, the newspapers, the merchants who furnished the incentives for the children's efforts as well as to Miss Frances Bradt's capable leadership full credit should be given."

Ord people counted themselves fortunate in being able to help the Volunteers by purchasing the little "Have a Heart" tags.

Quiz To Print Pictures of Ord, County Children

It is human nature to take pride in showing that which we value most highly, and the Ord Quiz, being only human, can not refrain from showing the world the most precious thing which Valley county boasts, its future citizens—babes today, but tomorrow men and women, husbands and wives, fathers and mothers.

So it is with pride that the Quiz next week begins the publication of a series of pictures of Valley county children, a series which will run from week to week under the heading, "Belles and Beaux of the Future." Working in co-operation with Orin Mutter, this paper has secured the pictures of a large number of representative Valley county children, one of which will be presented each week.

This is a most untried idea, this feature is one which few papers have cared to adopt because of the expense in connection with the making of the cuts from which the photographs are printed; but the Quiz, trying always to serve the county with the best it can, receives, and features, feels that such a series will be well worth the cost, not only in interest but in actual value to the county as well.

Arcadia Has A Community Tree

Arcadia had its first community Christmas tree this year and it was a decided success. The tree was erected two weeks before Christmas by men and boys of Arcadia and has been lighted every night since. On Christmas eve a large crowd was in town to witness the giving of presents and Santa Claus drove into the public square in his sleigh and passed out popcorn balls.

The Arcadia Up-to-Date club sponsored the tree and it is planned to make it an annual custom. Bulbs and electric current were furnished by the Loup City electric company. Mr. Schultz wired the tree and many donated popcorn and candy. The club desires to thank all who helped to make the tree a success.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fox Sunday morning, a little girl, weight nine pounds. The baby has been named Mary Roberta. Dr. H. N. Norris was in attendance.

Fifteen Little Ord Girls Make Santa Claus Reality, Win Prizes in Beranek Doll Contest

Fifteen little Ord girls didn't wait for Santa Claus to come down their chimneys—they weren't taking any chances on his being delayed, or getting stuck in the snow and falling to appear.

These fifteen little girls went right out and made old S. Claus a reality. They won part of their Christmas presents in the doll contest conducted by the Beranek drug store.

A few weeks ago Mr. Beranek announced that he would give fifteen dolls to the fifteen girls getting the most votes in a contest conducted at his store. For each penny spent for merchandise a vote was given and the person buying had the right to cast the vote for any little girl he wanted.

Olga Lukesh received the most votes and won the big "mamma" doll offered for the first prize. Other girls who won prizes were Lillian Karty, Ruth Kessler, Norma Mae Snell, Margaret Petska, Alma Polak, Eloise May, Edna Zikmund, Phyllis Munn, Betty Thorne, Thelma Smith, Verna Vergin, Jean Ferguson, Leovane Ramsey and Dorothy Pratt.

The girls were counted and prizes awarded on Christmas eve. Nearly a hundred girls received votes in the contest. Mr. Beranek states that more than satisfied with the interest shown in the contest and hopes to conduct a similar one next Christmas. Most little Valley county girls hope that he will, too.

Wilbur Man Visits Burwell Relatives

Burwell, Dec. 29.—(Special.)—G. H. Krajinik of Wilbur, Neb., spent about a week visiting his brother, Adolph, Krajinik who lives seven miles northeast of Burwell. One of the things that impressed him especially about the people of Burwell and vicinity is the fact that so many of them are subscribers to the Quiz. He thinks the Quiz is one of the best papers he has ever had the pleasure of getting acquainted with, and he comes from a part of the state where up to date county papers are the rule rather than the exception. Mr. Krajinik is also a relative of the Radtks, most of whom are well known in Valley county.

JOHN—WALDMANN
Edward Waldmann, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Waldmann, and Miss Hattie John, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob John were married this week. The Quiz extends congratulations.

THE WEATHER
Valley county has been enjoying splendid weather the past week. The thermometer has rarely registered a temperature below the freezing point and the days have been sunny and warm. No rain or snow.

Miss Lella Moorman, who teaches at Clark's, is spending her vacation with Burwell relatives.

Schools of North Loup enjoyed a program last Friday morning in the high school auditorium. The feature number was the kindergarten band under the leadership of Richard Stevens. The children played toy tambourines and triangles, keeping time to piano music. Other numbers on the program included recitations and songs by grade and high school students. Many patrons of the school were present.

ELYRIA WOMAN BADLY INJURED IN CAR SMASH

Car Forced from Road Tips Over; Mrs. Norton Spent Christmas in Hospital.

Forced from the road by a negligent driver at 11.30 last Friday night, the Lester Norton car overturned and landed two of its three occupants in the ditch beneath it. Mr. Norton was thrown clear and extricated his wife and son, Shirley, from the wreck. Mrs. Norton being taken to an Ord hospital badly hurt. She spent Christmas there. The auto was a total wreck.

Anton Garvel, 22, young Sherman county farmer, drove the car which caused the Norton car to tip over. After his reckless driving caused the smash he left his victim and proceeded to town where he was later arrested by Sheriff George Round and Night Officer Roy Pardue. Serious charges were filed against him Monday.

According to Mr. Norton he proceeded to Elyria late Friday and near the Turtle creek bridge Garvel crashed into him. He says Garvel drove on the wrong side of the road and had but one light. Officers say Garvel admitted this at first.

The Garvel car smashed into Norton from the side, causing the Norton car to overturn. Norton was thrown free in the crash and later succeeded in extricating his wife and son from beneath the car. Mrs. Norton was badly bruised and it was thought at first that more serious injuries would result but she is recovering.

Good Price Paid For Ord Butter

The first shipment of butter from the Ord creamery to New York is high, word received by Manager Barta this week says. A price of 1-2 cents per pound was paid for the lot of 2625 pounds.

Creamery directors are elated at having secured John Robson as buttermaker. The letter from the New York buyer paid a high compliment to Mr. Robson. It stated that the butter was correct in color and in salt content and scored better than standard.

Two shipments have been made since the initial lot was dispatched. One was of 30 tubs and the other of 28. It is expected that this will score higher than did the first shipment.

Mr. Robson says that cream producers of the county are bringing a fine lot of cream to the new creamery, but that much more can be accommodated. It is expected that after the first patronage dividend check is issued cream receipts will increase.

In addition to shipping to New York several hundred pounds of butter have been sold in Ord and in towns of this vicinity. Users of the butter are more than pleased with its quality and buy it whenever possible but since a higher price can be secured in New York than locally the local concern is making no special effort to increase butter sales here.

North Loup Votes Sell Power Plant

North Loup voters are in favor of selling to the Nebraska Power company it was revealed yesterday at a special election. The proposition to sell the village power plant carried by a vote of 141 to 57. The company headed by Nelson Smith takes over the North Loup plant at once and reduced rates go into effect immediately. Until transmission lines can be built next summer the company will use the North Loup plant.

North Loup boys and girls basketball teams went down to defeats in games with Horace teams last week. Scores of the two games were 13 to 11 and 29 to 23.

'Never Saw So Much Money in My Life' Says Finder of Money Buried by Nieuwland

"Gosh! I never saw so much money in my life!" said Hans Hansen, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Hansen, when he uncovered the five dollar gold piece hidden by Manager Bill Nieuwland at the Burdick sale barn. Seventy-five children rushed and scrambled for the "buried treasure" Monday morning.

Earl Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Klein, found the silver dollar hidden by the Ord Theater man. Finding the dollar was a fairly easy matter, but finding the larger coin was a more difficult proposition. It was buried in the dirt floor of the old sale barn and the boys hunted for some time before young Hansen discovered it. He was regarding himself as the "luckiest boy in Ord" Monday.

A few Eggs cost a lot - A lot of Eggs cost little

It doesn't cost those who are feeding their hens Purina Poultry Chows one single penny more to get eggs. It actually costs less! That's because it costs a lot to get a few eggs. Poor layers eat almost as much feed as heavy layers. The only kind of feed that really costs little is the feed that makes lots of extra eggs.

Give your hens Purina Poultry Chows, for you will be taking no chances. An egg record card, which we will furnish you free, will aid you to check up that Purina Chows make a lot more eggs at less cost.

Your Place is no place for waste!

MAKE war on waste! Waste of power—waste of machinery—waste of money—especially in your automobile, truck and tractor.

To attack waste actively, think about the Sinclair Law of Lubrication:

"For every machine, of every degree of wear, there is a scientific Sinclair Oil to suit its speed and seal its power."

You know that the more miles your car is driven, the more wear there is in the engine. You also know how many miles your car or truck has been driven. Sinclair knows, by the mileage, the average wear there is in the engine and which of the several grades of Opaline Motor Oil is the right grade to seal its power.

The Sinclair dealer in your neighborhood will be glad to tell you the grade your engine needs now! Let him give you a copy of "Oiling"—Sinclair's new help-booklet for motorists, describing and illustrating this sound, common-sense method of motor oil recommendation.

Broadway is drying up rapidly, thanks to the efforts of a former Nebraska man. District Attorney Emory Buckner raided and padlocked fifty-eight night clubs last week. New Yorkers had a dry Christmas, looks like.

The city council of a city in India has prohibited the killing of mad dogs, saying they are the same as human lunatics and must be shut up in asylums. Must have sob sisters in India.

Ferniners should reside in Andorra, a republic located between France and Spain. It has no army, no taxation, no motor cars and no roads. How come Ord people would enjoy living there!

Editor Gardner of the Elgin Review took a big chance recently when he advertised to give a safety razor free with every subscription to the Review during the holiday season. If the barbers of Elgin don't get him, it's a pretty safe bet that some of the recipients of those razors will.—Albion News.

The Wayne Herald is soon to move into its new plant. This newspaper under the editorship of E. W. Ruse has grown into one of the finest both editorially and typographically in Nebraska and now is to be located in a modern printing plant. Wayne can well be proud of the Herald and that it is evidenced by the fine line of advertising carried by Wayne merchants every week.

Farmers are demanding that Secretary of Agriculture Jardine be ousted. Which gives the Grand Island Independent an opportunity to ask editorially what good it will do to discharge the present secretary when the administration will simply appoint another man of the same type. Republican leaders are not in sympathy with the farmer and will do nothing to assist him.

The Spalding Livewire is a new paper coming to our desk this week. It is edited by Francis L. Boulier, young son of the editor of the Spalding Enterprise. It is well printed, excellently edited and carried a nice line of ads from Spalding merchants. As long as lads like young Boulier are growing up in the rustic profession will not lack men to carry on the work.

When the daily newspapers contain stories of marital difficulties in high place we content ourself with reading the headlines. The rest of it interests us not a bit. But when we note the story of some married couple celebrating their golden wedding, or greater anniversaries, we read it from beginning to end. Somehow or other the story of a long and happy married life leaves a better taste in the mouth. If we exercised any authority in these diggins—and we don't exercise a bit—we'd issue instructions to put the divorce stories on the inside pages and the wedding anniversary stories, with pictures, under slug heads on page one.—Will M. Maupin in Omaha Bee.

PAINTING THE LILY
An excellent job of painting the lily was done in San Francisco last week. Colonel Ned M. Green, prohibition director accused of making personal use of liquor confiscated by his agents, was acquitted of charges preferred against him and was reinstated as prohibition head by General Anderson.

When Colonel Green was accused of throwing wild parties with government liquor he admitted the charges, saying: "I'm no lily." His remark gave a newspaper paragraph the opportunity to say: "Green may be a lily but he's not a water lily." If he is a lily he's well whitewashed by the jury's verdict and by Andrews' haste to re-appoint him.

It would appear that prohibition enforcement is in the hands of its enemies and as long as men like Green and Andrews control we can hope for no effectual enforcement.

SAVING THE DOPE FIEND
After fifteen years of research A. S. Horovitz, a noted Austrian bio-chemist, brings forth a compound which is declared to be a sure cure for narcotic and alcohol addiction. Even in cases of years' standing, the product is said to offer an infallible cure. Horovitz is the saviour of hundreds of thousands of people now in the grip of the dread habit of taking narcotics if his discovery fulfills its promise. The compound is called narcozan and in 358 cases of addiction treated with it, 355 went forth from three to five days entirely cured. One addict showed decided improvement but went back to taking dope shortly afterward. Narcozan contains no drugs but is composed of non-specific proteins and water-soluble vitamins. It is said to be inexpensive. Dr. Horovitz has been experimenting on Welfare Island, New York.

CHRISTMAS—A NUISANCE?

Is Christmas a nuisance? Has it degenerated into a mere orgy of spending and celebrating? Has the real spirit of Christ deserted Christmas—greatest of all holidays? George Bernard Shaw, the greatest of British dramatists and novelists, says it has. He advocates the abolishment of Christmas. In an article in the New Leader, Mr. Shaw says: "It has become an unbearable nuisance, but the difficulty is to draft a bill making the celebration of Christmas a criminal act and compensating the shop-keepers who are just enabled by Christmas trade to pay their rents, not to mention all of the other people who make money out of it." As usual, Mr. Shaw takes the pessimistic view. He sees the worm and fails to see the apple. He sees the pomp and display of Christmas, the extravagant spending and giving, but fails to see that the spirit actuating all of this is the same as it has always been—a real regard for fellow-men. Not an ostentation of the fortunate toward the less fortunate, it is a real exhibition of love and remembrance.

DRUGGISTS FIGHT INDECENCY

Under the above head the Dearborn Independent tells of a campaign started by Dayton, O., druggists to rid their stores of salacious and suggestive magazines. A campaign of the sort might be started right here in Ord.

If daily newspapers are partly responsible for the increase of crime, sensational magazines are more responsible. If any share of the blame for the much talked of "moral decline" can be attributed to the daily press, what part of it must be placed at the door of the salacious magazine? In the last few years the number of these magazines has multiplied and re-multiplied. Every small town and city news-stand flaunts its burden of "true tales" and "confessions" magazines. They are eagerly sought after because of their sensational content, one publisher even going so far as to say that his magazine has the greatest news-stand sale of any periodical published in America.

Dayton druggists appointed a censoring committee. It is to control the output of indecent and salacious, if not illegal magazines that are continually placed on the market by certain publishers who have no regard for moral decency, but simply plan their nefarious practice for personal gain.

The druggists expressed the opinion that such magazines contribute in no small degree to moral lassitude and lawlessness, detrimental to moral and physical welfare.

It is plain that something should be done the entire country over to curb the increase of filthy magazines that use the "confession" stall to publish sex stories.

Publishers will pander to the taste of the public as long as there is a demand for this type of magazine, news-stands will stock them, apparently as long as they are printed, and the public will buy them as long as they see them on display. It's a vicious circle but Dayton news-sellers have found a way to break it. The same way will work in Ord or any other town.

The Broader Viewpoint

By FRED HOWARD

The real truth about lots of so called virtue is that it gets sleepy along about 9 o'clock.

When we asked Jake Eller why he had not put in a stock of Mistletoe this year as usual, he replied, "No sale for it at all since closed cars have become cheap."

Well advertised popcorn sells quickly for 12-2 cents per pound while the same popcorn priced at 8-1-3 cents is spilling on the shelves of dealers who think that advertising is an expense which should be cut out during tight times.

If half the folks who eagerly assert Bill Maupin's Sunny Side to be the best newspaper feature in Nebraska today would mail Bill $1.50 for his compilation of the best things of the column he would be able to afford us such entertainment as we shall demand when we visit him in January.

Miss Lobella says that she luffs and luffs every time she reads that the shift and huddle may be abolished. She adds, "Personally, I do not care for the huddle except in extremely cold weather, but I submit to it to please some of my boy friends, however, it is a fixt feature of modern American life and neither magic nor parental ukase can stop it. The shift is used by all young folks who are not entirely selfish for it is recognized that back seat privileges should be divided, one couple enjoying them on the outward trip and then shifting with the other couple for the home drive."

Is It "Is" or "Are"? To be 'is' or not to be, 'is'—that is the question which still confronts high officials of the Burlington railroad. After two months of eager searching they are still unlightened as to when 'is' is to be 'are', and when 'are' is to be 'is'. It all came about when a vice-president in a circular wrote: 'Along the right of way is a tremendous area in which is produced two-thirds of the oats and more than half the corn in the United States.'

The passenger traffic manager erased 'is', and substituted 'are'. The vice-president reinserted 'is'. Then each appealed to higher authority.

Chicago University said 'is' is correct. Northwestern University upheld 'are'. The dispute was carried up to Harvard. That institution approved 'is'. A dictionary stood by 'are'.

The vice-president wired Princeton and the traffic manager wired Yale. The answering telegrams came in together.

Princeton prefers 'is', gleefully shouted the vice-president.

William Lyon Phelps votes 'are' for Yale, retorted the traffic manager. Finally they tossed a coin. 'Is' won.—Dearborn Independent.

My Own Column

I wish you all a happy and prosperous 1927.

I am gratified at the number of the boys who are sending in their 1927 N. E. A. dues, still, there are a good many so far I feel should get on the list and help put Nebraska on the map. The big N. E. A. national convention comes to Nebraska next year and while Iowa is our next door neighbor and just across the river where the convention will be held and while Iowa editors will attend in great numbers, still Nebraska ought to be taking the lead in the matter of new membership. Such is not the case however for Iowa is running away from us. That man Richards who has charge of the membership campaign in Iowa is putting it all over me in the matter of new members. I can't believe that Nebraska editors are less loyal than are Iowa members and I am believing that Nebraska editors are as much alive to the benefits of organization as are Iowa editors, therefore I am forced to think that we in this state are just a bit careless and so I want to urge the boys to get busy. Send me your $3 check for membership now. If you have already done so get your neighbor to give you his check to send to me. One man can't do this thing alone but many doing a little each can accomplish wonders. Your competitor will listen to you and write his check and give it to you while he will read my letter and he is thinking that he will attend to it this afternoon and then promptly forget it.

Lou Frazier thought the ladies would have a Merry Christmas if they escaped death by freezing. He says a couple of flappers he met had on about enough clothes, the two of them, to make a flapping suit for a katydid. An old cuss like Lou hadn't ought to pay so much attention to the amount of clothes the ladies wear. A Fairmont friend writes me that Lou caught a heck of a cold standing on the corner where the wind got a good sweep, just to watch the ladies as they passed.

Someone recently gave Ole Buck an ash tray for a birthday present. The giver evidently didn't know that Ole always saved the ashes from his pipe and used them for snuff.

My new Pfluger Supreme reel that I got for Christmas is going to be the envy of the million who believe if I am lucky enough to get up next summer. The Pfluger Supreme is one of the very best reels on the market and I am mighty proud of it and of the other useful things that I got for Christmas. As a matter of fact I fared pretty well, with slippers, Sox, safety razor and lesser things galore.

But I feel that as a community we don't make as much of a Christmas effort as we should. A row of small Christmas trees lined up on the square and extending out a block or so each way and well lighted up for ten days at least before Christmas and then a big community tree on the square on Christmas eve would be a fine thing and no doubt a profitable investment for all the merchants of the city.

Another thing that I believe would be good for the community would be a series of community sales, that is, let the business houses of the city agree upon one day or two days each month for a year and have special bargains on those days, each business house having one or more real good bargains that the people far and near could come and buy if they needed them, things that all would recognize as real bargains. Such an arrangement would be good for the business people of Ord and likewise for the patrons of the town. For it is a well recognized fact that the town is just as necessary to the success of the surrounding country as the surrounding country is necessary to the success of the town. Not a farmer in the country would want to stay where he is if the town of Ord was done away with and not a farmer but would find the value of his land cut in half or less if the town was wiped out. The people of the country owe something to the town as well as the town owing something to the people who do their trading here.

And that reminds me that so far I have not heard anything about some good, substantial hitching posts being arranged in a convenient place for the accommodation of those people who occasionally have to drive a team of horses to town. I mentioned this some weeks ago and I am sure this is one convenience and courtesy that we of Ord owe to our friends who come in from the country to do their shopping. This is a matter for the Community Service club to take an interest in.

Next week our legislators will be going to Lincoln to make laws for us and I am hoping that they will be very careful about making many new laws that are not needed. A few new ones should doubtless be made. Some changes should be made that will permit the more prompt enforcement of the laws that we have now and a whole lot of laws that are never enforced, never have been and never will be, should be repealed. They are simply useless—always in the way and a hindrance rather than a help. The lawmakers are feeling, I am told, that they are going to have a bum place to spend the winter. The quarters will be cramped and the chairs and benches will be none too easy. Perhaps some of the lawmakers will feel that their dignity has suffered when they have to be packed like herring in a box, into the little room that will be used this year, but it is better than spending thousands of dollars for more commodious quarters down town. Perhaps they will hurry through with the session and get home and to work at more useful business than that of making laws that are not needed. Anyhow, there is a chance to make a record this winter for a short and snappy session.

When an all wise creator so arranged things that the teeth of man would decay and drop out or cause so much unpleasantness that they must be extracted, He should have stopped, in my judgment, and not put the idea into someone's head of becoming a dentist. I lost most of my teeth and at that was fairly comfortable until I was advised to buy a couple of hands full of store teeth and I am now exceedingly uncomfortable. If I try to slip them out when I go to the table the Missus at once points on me and asks when I expect to get used to them if I lay them on the sidewalk every time I try to eat and then I have to try, try again. The Doc tells me that when I get used to them I will be just as comfortable with them on the shelf as I am now with them in my mouth and he may be telling me the truth but I am strongly suspecting him of lying to me for I don't believe I will ever get used to them.

The new co-operative butter factory seems to be starting off in fine shape. A nice amount of cream is coming in for this season of the year and there is no fight being made, the inclination seeming to be to pay about what cream is worth and allow all to make a little profit. The patrons of the creamery will get any profit that is coming to them in the way of a bonus at the end of the year, probably each quarter or each six months as seems best to the board of managers. It is sure to be profitable to those who sell cream to the creamery if there is sufficient volume of business and stockholders will also get a reasonable percent on their investment. The laws only permit a reasonable percent to be paid to stockholders on their stock so the farmer who has stock and also sells to the creamery is the fellow who will draw the long profits.

And as soon as the creamery is well established in the butter making business why not handle eggs and poultry and get for the farmer the present wide spread between what he now receives and what the company who sorts and grades the eggs and puts them on the market in the method demanded by the market, gets? There is a nice profit for someone in doing that work and the farmers of Valley county might as well have it as for the Beatrice Creamery company to have it. The storage company, if you noticed, the daily papers show where these concerns are cutting big juicy melons the first of the year for their stockholders. They cannot hope to operate on anything like the cheap overhead that we can have in Ord, yet they will pay their stockholders immense profits. Let the Ord co-operative creamery get in shape as rapidly as possible to handle these articles of farm produce so that the maximum of what they bring goes to the people who own the land and produce them. No one can or should blame the contractor for what they are doing; neither should anyone blame Valley county farmers for wanting all the revenue possible from their products.

And while we are on this subject of co-operation why not do a little co-operating with our popcorn. I listened to Henry Field the other day selling popcorn over the radio. Perhaps, in fact probably, some was Valley county popcorn and what was he getting for it? Probably some of you heard him ask 20 cents a pound for it. He buys it for two or three cents, shells, cleans, grades and then puts it in small sacks or cartons and sells it for 20 cents a pound. He has to sift out some, that is true, but probably that goes for chicken feed at about what it costs so there is not much loss there. Now why not an Ord concern be organized, starting in a small way to be safe and sell our own good Valley county popcorn to the consumer. Last summer we wanted a little popcorn at Cullen and went into Niswaga and bought a half pound package paying 15 cents for it. That is 30 cents a pound, I have mentioned this before. That popcorn sold at retail at 30 cents was carrying the name of a large popcorn concern that owns an elevator right in Ord. More than likely that same 30 cent popcorn was raised right here in Valley county. Is this worth thinking about?

Opposes Coolidge. (Grand Island Independent) In a running debate over the agricultural problem, in the house at Washington a few days ago, Congressman Dickinson, referring to the opposition of the United States Chamber of Commerce to former Governor Lowden as a candidate for president allegedly owing to his age, said: "In my judgment age, with good health, is not nearly so serious a handicap in a candidate for president as trying to exceed the standard eight years' limit that has been so unanimously fixed by precedent in previous years on presidential candidates." SECRETARY AND MANAGER

MR. U. KNOW WHO, Ord, Nebraska.

PROSPECTUS

This Company has been formed to take over the goodwill of the original Fresh Air Club, as a going concern for the better enjoyment of the highways and by-ways which radiate from this city of ours. The necessity of the original club was evident as soon as Henry Ford got into large quantity production.

The Health Club is the largest club in the world, consisting of 14,450,000 satisfied members, in fact everyone who ever bought a Ford car.

It will be seen from the statement of profits (omitted) that the interest on the preferred shares will be paid constantly in good health and prosperity.

OBJECTS OF FRESH AIR CLUB (1926) INCORPORATED

- To enroll all Grumblers, Knockers and such other persons who own automobiles of a value greater than they can afford, and introduce them to the happy family of Ford owners—members of the Fresh Air Club—who have "bought Fords and are Banking the Difference."
- To whisper words of wisdom into the ears of married couples who ride in expensive cars and cannot, for that reason, buy a home.
- To endeavor to find a man who can prove better value than Ford in any other automobile.
- To make the public realize that if 15,450,000 people have bought Ford cars, then Number 14,450,000 is a safe bet.
- To forcibly deport all those who think the Planetary Transmission is not the best of all and take them to Europe and show them the $18,000.00 Zeppelin-Maybach car with Ford type transmission. Then show them the Voisin car (very expensive) with Ford type transmission on both models, and make them try to count the light cars using Ford type transmission and Ford spring suspension. The Secretary, or the U. S. Patent office will be pleased to explain WHY the American manufacturer does not copy Ford to the same extent.
- To explain to prospective car buyers that the Dealer who offers them more for their used cars than the Ford Dealer is able to do so only because he has a very large profit to play with. The customer pays in the end and gets less value for his money. "Jones Pays the Freight."
- To let everybody know about the wonderful All-Steel Bodies in contrast to the cheap Wooden Bodies offered in competition. Steel ships, Pullman cars and Bridges for safety. All-Steel Ford Bodies for the same good reason.
- To award large Gold Medals to all who can prove there is a more economical car to operate than a Ford.
- To remind all owners of large cars that a Ford for business or for young folks and friend wife and others at home will pay for itself many times over in wear and tear and expense saved from the big car. Besides that you can always find a parking place for a Ford.
- To find those seeking Performance, Beauty of Line and Coloring and take them to the Ford Dealer's Show Rooms.

CONTRACTS ENTERED INTO:

A contract between Judge Puttem Wise on the one part and the Company on the other part, to engage the said Judge Puttem Wise as a Life Director.

A contract between the Company and Messrs. Grabham, Holdem and Wate (Inquiry Agents) whereby the latter agree to encourage the use of common sense in car buying.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

Now on this 7th day of December, 1926, this cause came on for hearing upon the application under oath of Charles M. King, Administrator with Will annexed of the estate of James J. Stark, deceased, praying for license to sell the following described real estate belonging to said estate, to wit: The south-east quarter (less the West Eighty acres thereof) of Section twenty-four, in Township Eighteen North, Range Fifteen, West of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Valley county, Nebraska, and Lots Five and Six in Block Fifty-four of the Original Townsite of the City of Ord, Valley county, Nebraska, or so much thereof as may be necessary to bring the sum of $2093.65, for the payment of debts of said estate, costs of administration and legacies, for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Administrator with Will annexed, belonging to said estate, to pay said claims, expenses and legacies.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before either of the judges of the District Court of Valley county, Nebraska, at Chambers in the District Court room in the Court house in the city of Ord, in said county, on the 25th day of January, 1927, at 10 o'clock of the day, or at 10 o'clock thereafter as the matter can be shown cause, if any there be, a license should not be granted. Said Charles M. King to sell so much of said real estate hereinaforescribed, belonging to the said estate of James J. Stark, deceased, as may be necessary to pay the said expenses and legacies.

It is further ordered that if of this order be served upon a son interested in the said estate causing the same to be published four successive weeks in the Ord Quiz, a legal weekly newspaper, printed and published in Valley county, Nebraska.

Bayard H. Palmae, Judge of the District Court, Valley county, Nebraska.

LEGAL NOTICE

Peter Christian, deceased, the heirs, devisees, legatees and persons interested in the estate of Peter Christian, deceased, Goodman Drug Co., its successors and assigns, Joshua B. Brown, sometimes known as J. B. Brown, Albert E. Charlton, sometimes known as A. E. Charlton, and all persons having or claiming any interest in Lots 13 and 14 in Block 4 of Hawthorn's Addition to Arcadia, Nebraska, real names unknown, Defendants, will take notice that they have been sued in the District Court of Valley county, Nebraska, by Percy E. Doe and Lorena W. Doe, husband and wife, as joint tenants with rights of survivorship, Plaintiffs, who filed their petition in said action November 18th, 1926, the object and prayer of which is to exclude the defendants and all of them from any and all claim to the property above described, and to quiet and confirm the title of the plaintiffs therein as against the said defendants and all persons having or claiming any interest in the said real estate, or any part thereof, real names unknown.

Tonsils

which are infective, submerged, or large and which are pumping poison into the system 24 hours a day should come out.

If you are having a lot of indigestion, gas in stomach and bowels, a coated tongue, loss of appetite, awaking in morning more tired than on retiring, peevish or irritable nervous system, quick tempered, your work is a burden to you, palpitation of the heart or exhaustion on moderate exercise, think about your tonsils or your teeth. These two offenders lay more foundation for chronic disease of the human body than anything known to medical science.

I have perfected a technique which guarantees satisfaction. Twenty-four to forty-eight hours after operation by me you can resume your work. You positively do not lose your voice, have hemorrhage, and can eat.

At last the horror of a tonsil operation has been removed.

Don't let dandruff get a "head start" on you. At the very first sign of dandruff come to us with a bottle of good tonic to massage into your scalp, and presto! Your dandruff will be all gone. We have several good dandruff removers - Mahdeen, Glover's Mange cure, Fitch's, Nyal special preparation, Lucky Tiger, etc. Whatever your favorite is, we have it.

There are a number of small things every office or household must keep on hand. Ink, plenty of new penpoints, paper clips, mullage, library paste, pencils, score pads for bridge, new decks of cards, etc. Make a clean sweep - come in and get a supply of as many of these little necessities as you use.

The holiday festivities no doubt left your floors in rather a bad shape - repair the damage done by dancing or prancing feet with a coat of varnish or a new application of Johnson's wax.

No matter how many kinds of stationery Santa Claus brought you, there's sure to be one you still need; Is it correspondence cards? Heavy folded sheets? Plain white sheets to fit large envelopes? Anyway, we have it - come in and see if we haven't!

"Do you have a collar for me?" inquired the big fat man. "We haven't," said the clerk, "but I'm sure the people next door would have."

The Sherman county man did not stop until he was some distance down the road, Mr. Norton told officers. Forty or fifty rods from the scene of the wreck he stopped, got out and looked back. Here Norton, who had released his wife and son and discovered they were not seriously injured, caught up with him.

According to the Elyria man he asked Garvel "what he was going to do about it." Garvel answered: "Not a d--- thing," Norton says. He then got into his car and drove off. A Burwell motorist later picked the Nortons up and brought them to Ord where Mr. Norton telephoned officers and asked them to arrest Garvel.

Garvel's car was partially wrecked in the crash but he succeeded in driving it to Ord where it took the ditch near the Tom Williams' home in west Ord. Officers Rounds and Pardue found him as he was looking for a place to stay that night.

The complaint signed by Norton charged Garvel with unlawful operation of a motor vehicle in the first count and a "hit-and-run" charge in the second. When arraigned before Judge J. H. Hollingshead he pleaded not guilty and was held in jail until Tuesday in the absence of $500 bail. His trial was set for Friday at 3 p. m. but Tuesday he reached a settlement with Mr. Norton, paying him $287.50. In court he changed his plea to guilty of the first count and paid a fine of $10, which with costs, totalled $28.50. The second count was thrown out.

Ed Bradt and family were visiting Mrs. Bradt's parents at Wolbach returning home Tuesday evening.
