Sam Larsen, 26, race driver from Holdrege, died at 6:30 p.m. last Thursday from injuries received when his car plowed through the guard railing and overturned on the east curve of the race track at the Valley county fair grounds Thursday morning. Young Larsen was driving a qualifying round at mile-a-minute speed when the accident occurred.

According to eye-witnesses, Larsen's car hit a rut and bounded into the air, hit the fence and rebounded onto the track, then plowed through the fence further on and overturned, pinning the young driver beneath the car. Track attendants, Kohl's ambulance and Dr. H. N. Norris reached him at once and he was taken to the Ord hospital.

Had Punctured Lung.

Physicians who examined him said that his injuries consisted of frightful cuts about the head and face, several broken ribs, a punctured lung and possibly other internal injuries. Larsen lingered on until eight hours after the accident and passed away early in the evening.

The young Holdrege man had competed in races here ever since they were started in 1926 and was a familiar figure to race fans. He possessed great renown as a race driver and the week before his fatal accident here won every event but one in the McCook race meet. In 1926 he was second in the Pike's peak climb.

The time here was too fast for Larsen's car, race officials believe, and pushing his car beyond its capacity was partly responsible for the accident.

Was His First Smash-Up.

G. M. Anderson, proprietor of the D.L.D. Tire Shop, at Holdrege, employer of Larsen for six years, told a Quiz reporter that the young man entered the racing game about four years ago. He was a careful driver and never had a serious accident before, Anderson said.

"Sam was the best friend I ever had," said Oliver Grant, another Holdrege man who came to Ord as soon as the news of Larsen's crash was telephoned to Holdrege. "He hadn't an enemy in the world and every man, woman, child and dog in Holdrege was his friend.

Sam Larsen was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Larsen, of Holdrege, who started for Ord as soon as the news of their boy's accident reached them but because of car trouble did not arrive until after he passed away.

Worried About Boy.

"I knew it would happen," Mrs. Larsen sobbed. "Every minute since Sanford started racing I've known that he would be killed some day". Young Larsen was named "Sanford" but since boyhood has been called "Sam".

Ross Brown Resigns.

Ross Brown, for eight years a first lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps, has left the service, relatives say. He had four years foreign service to his credit. He is still in Washington.

Huff Thanks Ord Firemen, Makes Suggestion

Just after the Quiz was printed last Thursday morning Dan Huff telephoned to ask this newspaper to express, through its columns, his appreciation to the Ord firemen for their quick response and efficient assistance in putting out the fire at his farm home last week. Their arrival was timely and their help invaluable, he says.

Mr. Huff also makes a suggestion that seems a good one: He suggests that the county board appropriate funds to place chemical apparatus at the disposal of every fire department in the county, said chemical apparatus to be used for extinguishing rural fires.

Fires in the country are always a menace. Lacking sufficient water and means of throwing it upon a blaze, most farmers are unable to save their buildings when they catch fire.

Some method of providing fire protection for rural districts should be devised and Mr. Huff's suggestion embodies a workable method.

M'BETH WINS TOP FLIGHT AT GREELEY

Young Ord Golfer Takes Championship; Beranek Loses Stroke, Is Given Flashlight.

At Greeley Sunday Lyle McBeth, recent winner of the Loup valley golf championship, won honors in the first flight of a tournament sponsored by the Greeley Golf club. Clifford Kohl, another Ord golfer, won in the president's flight. Ed Beranek was runner-up in the third flight and Bud Shirley was runner-up in the consolation event. Bert Boquet, the only other Ord golfer who competed, failed to place.

Followers of the game in Ord are having considerable fun at Ed Beranek's expense. He was plainly off his game in the Greeley tournament Sunday and as a reward for being runner-up in the last fight was given a flashlight as a prize. Presumably to help him recover his stroke, Ord golfers aver.

Another interesting event Sunday was an impromptu tournament staged over the Ord course. A match originally had been scheduled but was called off because it conflicted with the Greeley event. Ravenna and Sargent golfers failed to receive notice that the tournament was off and arrived in large numbers whereupon Ord officials arranged an event which was entered by thirty-two players.

Holds World's Record

W. H. Pingrey, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., is the holder of the world's record for ten miles over a mile track, Ord race officials learned while Mr. Pingrey was competing here last week. His record, 6 minutes, 4 seconds, was made in the Dodge Special in which he competed here.

—W. B. Weekes was a business visitor to Broken Bow yesterday.

WEEK'S FASTEST TIME MADE IN FRIDAY RACES

Bagley Wins Five-Mile Event in Record Time; Last Two Days Please Huge Crowds.

The most exciting auto races of the week came on Friday, the final day of the Valley county fair, and the fastest time ever made on the Ord track came the same day. The first event of the afternoon card established a new five-mile record not only for the Ord track but for Nebraska. John Bagley, of Omaha won this event, W. C. Prentice, of Denver, was second, and Andrew Fuller, of Arkansas City, Kas., was third. The new track and Nebraska record was 4 minutes, 59 seconds.

Other races Thursday and Friday are as follows:

Thursday Races.

First event—Pingrey, 1st; Bagley, 2nd; Hovenden, 3rd. Five miles. Time, 5 minutes, 4.2 seconds.

Second event—Fuller, 1st; Prentice, 2nd; Harper, 3rd. Five miles. Time 5 minutes, 6.8 seconds.

Third event—Pingrey, 1st; Prentice, 2nd; Spence; 3rd. Three miles. Time, 3 minutes, 1.9 seconds.

Fourth event—Adams, 1st; Iseman, 2nd; Spence, 3rd. Eight miles. Time, 8 minutes, 21.4 seconds.

Friday Races.

Second event—Kreiger, 1st, Felt, 2nd; Walker, 3rd. Five miles. Time, 5 minutes, 20.6 seconds.

Third event—Prentice, 1st; Bagley, 2nd; Kreiger, 3rd. Three miles. Time 3 minutes, 8 seconds.

Fourth event—Fisher, 1st; Adams, 2nd; Iseman, 3rd. Eight miles. Time, 8 minutes, 10.2 seconds.

Fifth event—Walker, 1st; Adams, second; Iseman, 3rd. Three miles. Time, 3 minutes, 5.8 seconds.

Miss Baird Opens New Beauty Shop

A new beauty parlor was opened in Ord last week by Miss Charlotte Baird, who recently completed a course in beauty culture at a well known Omaha school. She is ready for business at her home and specializes in marcels, finger waves, water waves, shampoos and scalp treatments. She offers to give a free reset with every marcel given between now and October 1.

County Board Meets.

The Valley county board was in session Tuesday. Claims were allowed and routine business transacted. The board arranged for the publication of the delinquent tax list in the Ord Journal this year. Minutes of Tuesday's meeting will be published next week.

Ladies Clear $350.

Ladies of the Methodist Episcopal church cleared a tidy sum, $350, at their eating house on the fair grounds last week.

Politics Booming in Omaha—Anderson

Politics is in full bloom in Omaha says W. A. Anderson, who is staying there after an operation at Lord Lister hospital. Al Smith is to speak in Omaha soon and the reception committee fears that no hall in town is sufficiently large to accommodate the crowd. Smith enthusiasts are making the most noise but Hoover men are keeping still and sawing wood, Mr. Anderson believes. Speaking about himself, the Ord man says he hopes the operation he underwent last week will be the last one. He was in the hospital for five days and now is staying at the home of his nurse. Mrs. Anderson is with him. It is very uncertain when they will return to Ord.

MAN DISAPPEARS, WIFE IS WORRIED

Clinton Hish, Well Known in North Loup, Drives Banta Family to Arizona, Doesn't Return.

What has become of Clinton Hish?

That is the question which is puzzling quite a number of people including his wife, who resides at Hartington, and several relatives who live near North Loup. The young man left for Phoenix, Ariz., with the Ted Banta family on February 26 and has never returned. It is feared that he may have met with foul play.

On January 6 Hish was married to Miss Mabel Anderson, of Cedar county. At the time he was employed as a corn-picker near Hartington where his brother, M. J. Hish, lived. Shortly after their marriage Mr. Hish moved to Sioux City, later to Omaha and finally to Grand Island.

Late in February Hish agreed to drive Mr. and Mrs. Ted Banta, of North Loup, to Phoenix, Ariz., where they were going in hope that a change of climate might benefit Mrs. Banta's health. He had made the trip before and knew the route.

Upon their arrival in Phoenix Mr. Banta says that he helped Hish secure a Ford car and that he started for Hartington about March 15 expecting to take his wife to Phoenix to look after the motherless Banta children, Mrs. Banta having died. The last word Mr. Banta had from him was a postcard saying that he arrived safely in Silver City, N. M. The last letter Mrs. Hish received from her husband was dated at Phoenix on March 14.

Fearing that her husband has met with foul play, Mrs. Hish has urged Cedar county authorities to start a search for him. He may have become the victim of an accident or been set upon by hobos, she fears.

Nebraska Ikes Will Meet at Hastings

At Hastings on September 9, 10 and 11 will be held the convention of the Nebraska division of the Izaak Walton league. Several members from Ord are planning to attend. On the program for speeches are Congressman A. C. Shallenbarger, Frank Brady, state president, Frank O'Connell, state game warden, Seth Gordon, national conservation director, and Jack Miner, Canadian naturalist. A registered trap shoot on September 9 is a feature of the program and that evening Dr. George Condra will give an illustrated address, his subject being, "The Gospel of the Outdoors".

North Loup People Fly.

North Loup, Sept. 4.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stude are here from Hancock, Ia., and are the guests of the former's uncle, Chris Stude, and of his cousins, Carl Stude and Mrs. Floyd Wetzel. They came on their wedding trip, driving over from Iowa in a 5-passenger airplane. Mr. Stude has been using a corner of Grover Barnhart's farm as a landing field, and has been taking his relatives for many enjoyable rides in his plane and a number of other North Loup people have been taking advantage of the opportunity to get a few thrills in the air.

Zabloudil Is Fined.

In county court Wednesday afternoon Wm. Zabloudil paid a fine of $50 and costs amounting to $11.25 on an intoxication charge. The complaint against him was filed by Marshall Len Covert.

St. Edwards Man Compliments Our Fair

"You sure get your money's worth at the Valley county fair and everyone seems glad to see you," says Fay Smith, of St. Edwards, Neb. "I was over to your fair on Wednesday and sure did enjoy the races; would have enjoyed coming back the next two days if it hadn't been so far."

Mr. Smith enclosed money for a copy of the Quiz this week, saying that he wanted to get the results of the races.

FAIR PROGRAM IS CONCEDED MOSTLY GOOD

Jubilee Singers and "Tommy" Are Bright Spots of Week; Local Artists Appreciated.

Besides the auto races, which furnished thrills every day, the fair program this year is conceded to have been generally good. The Jackson Jubilee Singers and "Tommie", the farce-comedy given Friday evening, were the best attractions but local acts also pleased the crowd.

The four young negroes who composed the jubilee singers made a decided hit with both afternoon and evening crowds. Thursday evening they were kept on the platform singing request numbers until a late hour. Many people expressed the wish that the fair board will be able to get them back again next year.

Both the Ord and North Loup bands pleased everybody, as it was known they would. James Aagaard, possessor of a wonderful tenor voice, made a decided personal hit as did little Dicky Cook, son of Park Cook, in a song and dance number. Other local and impromptu acts were applauded.

But the crowd was disappointed to some extent in other free attractions. The Flying Carters, an aerial act, Roy and Joy, advertised as startling acrobats, and W. J. Langer, a clown, did not catch the fancy of the large crowds. Langer probably was the best of the three acts but the Carter outfit and Roy and Joy were variously commented on as "busts" and "wash-outs". A few years ago both would have pleased fair audiences but the day of aerial and acrobatic acts seems to be over.

Ord Entertains Famous Race Men

Kreiger and Baker, Two Great Test Drivers, Visit Valley County's 1928 Race Meet.

Two men who are famous in the automobile business as test drivers of new stock cars were entertained in Ord during the auto race meet which closed last week. One was Cannon Ball Baker, the other Johnny Kreiger.

Baker has many great race achievements to his credit. His last feat came in driving a Franklin Airman Limited, a stock car, from New York to Los Angeles and return, a distance of 6,662 miles, in 102 hours. Readers of current periodicals will find his achievement heralded in Franklin advertising. Baker has many other test driving accomplishments to his credit and also has renown as a builder of racing cars.

Kreiger is nearly as famous in test driving as Baker, being the official test pilot for the great Studebaker corporation. Non-stop runs across the continent while chained to the wheel of a powerful Studebaker automobile are common-place to Johnny Kreiger. He is the owner of Car No. 82, driven by Bob Spence in the race meet last week.

Baker built the green racing car, 30-30, piloted by Andrew Fuller, the millionaire Cherokee Indian who gave race fans many thrills during the meet last week.

Ord Boy Weds in New Mexico

Clyde L. Seaman and Blanche Hathaway were married August 16 1928, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Winchester in Clayton, N. M. The wedding took place at high noon with the ring ceremony. Mrs. Seaman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Hathaway of Trenville, N. M. She attended the Montezuma Baptist college at East Las Vegas and for the past four years has been a primary instructor in a consolidated school. Clyde is the only child of Mrs. B. M. Seaman. He was graduated from the Ord high school in 1926.

Following the luncheon given by Dr. and Mrs. Winchester, the bridal couple departed on a motor trip to Lincoln to visit Clyde's mother. Enroute they visited Cave of the Winds, Cliff Dwellers and Garden of the Gods at Manitou, Colo., Denver, Estes Park, and many other places of interest. After a short visit in Lincoln they came to Ord and are the guests of the C. S. Watson family. Their motor trip will extend to Des Moines, Ia., where they will visit at Clyde's old home and attend to some business for his mother.

Cleary Estate Will Sell.

On September 17 a 400-acre farm located a half mile south of North Loup and known as the Cleary estate will be sold at referee's sale, according to an announcement in the Quiz this week. Ches Chinn is referee and M. B. Cummins auctioneer. This place positively will sell, as the estate must be closed up. Watch the Quiz next week for a complete description of the property to be sold.

Many Marriages by Judge Hollingshead

County Judge J. H. Hollingshead was kept busy last week and early this week issuing marriage licenses and performing marriages. On September 3 he issued a license to Weaver F. Brotherton and Helen M. Alderson, both of Holt county, and the couple were married that day by Rev. D. C. Williamson. On Sept. 1 the judge issued a license and married R. E. Stiles of Omaha and Miss Ana Holoun, of Sargent. On August 29 the judge was called on to unite Edward F. Dutcher and Miss Leah B. Cushman, of Greeley county. On August 28 he issued a license to Howard Hamilton, of Geneva, and Miss Thelma Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, of North Loup. Rev. H. L. Polan, North Loup, married this couple the same day.

FORMER ORD WOMAN DIES AT PORTLAND

Mrs. Ernest Gifford Dies at Her Home in Oregon After Months of Suffering.

After six months of intense suffering from the effects of a cancer Mrs. Ernest Gifford, former Ord woman, passed away at her home in Beaverton, a suburb of Portland, Ore., on September 1.

Mrs. Gifford was born in Nashua, Ia., July 14, 1875, but from the time she was a little girl until about fifteen years ago she called Valley county home. She was formerly Miss Ethie Parks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parks, both of whom are dead. The farm in Springdale now occupied by Paul Hanson was the old Parks homestead.

On June 2, 1893, Ethie Parks was wed to Ernest Gifford and they lived here until 1913 when they moved to Oregon.

Besides her husband Mrs. Gifford is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charles Mickelwait, of Vancouver, Wash., and by four grandchildren. She also leaves three brothers, Harvey Parks, of Ord, and Walter and Glen Parks, of Rhame, N. D., as well as a sister, Mrs. Charles Burdick, of Ord. The bereaved husband is a brother of Frank Gifford, of Valley county, and Mrs. R. J. Clark, Ord.

Deceased was loved by all Ord people who were privileged to know her. She has many relatives and friends here, all of whom have been anxiously awaiting news about her. Mrs. Charles Burdick spent six weeks with her sister this summer and at that time no hope was entertained for her recovery.

Entertain Relatives.

North Loup, Sept. 4.—(Special)—A number of North Loup people have been entertaining guests the past few days. Mr. Judgel of Hyannis was the guest of Miss Dorothy McCune, leaving Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleary of Tustin, Cal., are the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Otto Bartz, and will remain until after the sale of the Cleary estate. Mr. and Mrs. Shineman of Pawnee City are the guests of the M. D. Ernest family and other friends.

Joe Carkoski Fined.

Young Joe Carkoski was arrested Tuesday noon and in county court paid a fine of $12.50 and costs amouting to $5.85 on a charge costs amounting to $5.85 on a charge of intoxicatin filed against him by county officers.

Home Destroyed by Powder Explosion

R. J. Clark has received word from his sister, Mrs. Roy Calkins, of Gig Harbor, Wash., saying that her home recently was destroyed by the explosion of powder stored on a boat in the harbor. The boat caught fire and everything near was destroyed when the powder exploded. Mrs. Calkins will be remembered as Miss Nettie Rust, who was born her and lived in Ord until nearly grown.

Butter School to Be Held in Ord

Next Monday and Tuesday a "butter school" will be held in Ord, announces Fred Coe, manager of the co-operative creamery. Dr. P. A. Downs and Prof. E. L. Richart, both of the department of dairy husbandry, University of Nebraska, will have charge of the school. Monday will be devoted to analyzing butter. Tuesday evening a public meeting will be held at a place yet to be determined and both doctors will speak on subjects connected with cream producing and butter making. See bills for further particulars.

Invitation Golf Tourney.

The Ord Golf club will hold an invitation tourney over the local course Sunday and all Ord players are urged to enter. The entrance fee will be only 50c and some attractive prizes will be offered. Players from several other towns are expected.

BAGLEY SETS NEW WORLD'S 1-2 MILE MARK

Omaha Speed Demon Breaks Every Existing Record During Big Three Day Race Meet.

On Nebraska's fastest half-mile track last Friday John Bagley, Omaha motorcycle cop and auto race driver, set a new world's record for a half-mile sprint on an oval dirt track. Bagley drove his car around the oval in just 27.1 seconds, or nine-tenths of a second faster than the distance ever has been driven before under the same conditions. Frank Bobzien, Cedar Rapids, Ia., was the former holder of the world's record of 28 seconds. The American Automobile association, representatives of which were present when Bagley made his record-breaking drive last Friday, will be asked to certify the new mark.

Bagley's great drive Friday morning came as a fitting climax to a week during which local and state records fell. Wednesday morning, when the 1928 race meet opened, it was seen that dizzying speed would be shown in every race run. The 1927 record was 29 seconds but almost before the meet got under way Johnny Kreiger, famous Indianapolis driver, equalled this mark.

Indian Makes Record.

Race fans who attended those historic time trials Wednesday were fated for many thrills. Just a few moments after Kreiger equalled the track record Andrew Fuller, millionaire Cherokee Indian from Arkansas City, Kas., driving a Gallivan Special built for him by the famous Cannon Ball Baker, negotiated the half mile in 28.5 seconds, clipping a full half-second from the former mark. Fans thought the maximum of speed had been reached.

Wilson Pingrey, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., was the next driver to furnish thrills for the crowd. He piloted his Dodge special about the half-mile in 28.3 seconds for a new half-mile record. And a moment later John Bagley established another new mark of 28.2 which set a new Nebraska record and equalled the Iowa State record. This mark stood until Bagley made his world's record breaking run Friday morning.

Will Lukesh Car Is Stolen During Fair

Will Lukesh's car, a Chrysler closed model, was stolen during the Valley county fair and to date has not been recovered. On the evening of August 30 the Lukesh family drove to the fair grounds and parked their car outside of the gate about 6:30. It was 11 o'clock before they returned to the place where their car was parked and they found that it had been taken. Sheriff Round was notified but no trace of the car or the thieves has been found. An abandoned automobile, a Dixie Flyer bearing a Colorado license plate, was found near the Davis Creek churches and the sheriff thinks that possibly the thieves came to Valley county in this car and abandoned it for the Lukesh automobile.

North Loup Teachers and Students Leave

North Loup, Sept. 4.—(Special)—A number of teachers and students as well are leaving this week to take up their new duties. Miss Nettie Clark is returning to Greenwood, Neb., to her work as principal. Eva Gibb and Bessie Eberhart are returning to Wesleyan. Viola Thomas goes to take up her first year's work at Wayne Normal, Leon Comstock is entering Grand Island college, and Leross Williams is going to Kearney. James Morrison is leaving for Doane college. He will be greatly missed at the Loyalist office where he has been the linotype operator for some time while attending North Loup high school, and doing very creditable work at both places. He expects to make newspaper work a side line while at school. James is one of North Loup's brightest and best young men and will no doubt give a good account of himself.

Howard Hamilton left Thursday to take up his work as a member of the faculty of the Geneva high school. He and Miss Thelma Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, were quietly married August 28, and she will teach the higher grades at District 10 the coming year.

Turner Will Leave Town.

James M. Turner was incarcerated in the county jail for a couple of days this week, officers raiding his home Monday and finding what is alleged to have been a home brew apparatus and sufficient evidence to show that the product of the brew vats had been dumped out hastily just before the arrival of officers. No charge was filed against him upon his agreement to leave town at once. Turner was released from jail only a short time ago after serving a 30-day sentence for intoxication.

"Even Mud Holes Were Bigger in 'Good Old Days,'" Laughs Owner of First Car in the North Loup Valley

By IRMA ELLIS LEGGETT.

DR. C. C. SHEPARD, who is now proudly driving a new Chrysler sedan, has to think back about 25 years to remember the first time he experienced the delightful sensation of owning a shiny new automobile.

The new "65", the gift of Dr. Shepard's sister, Mrs. K. C. Schuyler of Denver, is in two tones of green, and is considerably larger than was the doctor's first car. That first automobile, the first car in the North Loup valley, occasioned much excitement. Bought in Omaha for $730, it was a single cylinder, bright red "Rambler". But hardly had Dr. Shepard paid for it until it began to rain, so the new car was left in Omaha to be delivered as soon as possible.

About three days later, coming downtown in the evening, Dr. Shepard noticed a crowd of men, and went over to investigate. On inquiry, he found out that 'Dr. Shepard's car was arriving that evening, and the crowd had assembled to witness the event', to savor it, so to speak. It was thought dangerous and foolhardy to own a car in those days. But just the same, "people came for miles to see it", says Dr. Shepard. The nearest other automobile was that of Dr. Grothan of St. Paul. Both he and Dr. Shepard bought their cars at least partly to help them in their professional work.

Fifty-Third Car in State.

Dr. Shepard's license number for his red speed wagon was 53, in the state of Nebraska. In the winter session of the legislature of 1904, the license law was passed, effective July 1. Dr. Shepard did not buy his license until July, or the number would have been far lower.

"Every time I took it out I had to have it fixed" Dr. Shepard relates of his early-day marvel. The two or three mechanics then in Ord, and the Doctor himself, all had to learn about automobiles on the "Rambler", which probably wasn't just the best thing in the world for the "Rambler", and certainly not for Dr. Shepard's pocketbook. Of $300 paid for repairs for the auto the first year, Dr. Shepard thinks probably $275 was unnecessary!

The winter of 1905, Dr. Shepard was spending in Colorado, due to his health. In bad shape with tuberculosis, needing all the fresh air he could get, the Rambler was just the thing. "That car saved my life. It kept me out of doors, fixing it, or the tires, or riding in it," laughs the doctor. "Mechanics were uncertain in those days. No one knew much about it."

Would Go 20 Per.

After a year and a half, the first Rambler was traded off in Denver for $400, and the doctor bought a new one, also red, also a Rambler, but with two cylinders. "The new car carried 32x3 inch tires. The casings were $43, and the tube another $9, making $52 in all for only one wheel! Nowadays an ever so much better casing can be bought for $6 or $7, and the tube thrown in!" the doctor tells. And also, "with good roads, I could get up a speed of 20 miles an hour—everyone thought that was awfully fast!"

Automobile roads weren't so much in those days, Dr. Shepard opines. Even in dry weather, the little car couldn't go more than two miles from town without getting in a mudhole. . . . Just across the bridge was a very rough and muddy spot; out by the Lickley place was another; this side of Cushing's there was almost always a big mudhole, and also near the Long farm, and near Jonas Van Wie's. These weren't the mudholes of 1928; Dr. Shepard says they were 100 yards or 200 yards across! . . . Even the mudholes were bigger in the good old days!

With narrow fenders, this pioneer motorist says he could lean out and watch the hubcaps. "When they dropped out of sight (in mudholes) I'd back out."

Used Stable for Garage.

On that first trip to Colorado, in 1905, there wasn't a garage, not a single one. The "motor" was put up for the night at livery stables; and probably felt as out of place then as a horse would now if he were stabled in a modern garage for the night. "Yes," says Dr. Shepard," I had to get out and lead about half the teams by".

Since 1904, and the one cylinder Rambler, and 1905, and the two cylinder Rambler, the doctor has owned two Fords, one Oldsmobile, one Maxwell, and now he has a Chrysler. And that early day of jolts and bounces is almost a dream in these days of deep cushions and shock absorbers, not to mention good roads. . . .

Flies have caused more deaths than all war combined—yet some of us do nothing to help prevent future casualties. Flies have no preference—you or some of your family or friends may be next. Start today—and kill every one you see. It is very easy it you use the product produced and perfected by the foremost industrial institute of its kind in the world. It is fragrant and harmless to mankind, but kills all household insects. Just follow instructions on blue label of bottle. INSIST upon FLY-TOX from your retailer.—Adv.

Valley County Races Will Be Fastest in United States, Drivers Prophesy

Within a year or two auto races at the Valley county fair will be the best known in the United States, drivers and racing men who were here last week freely prophesy. No where else in the country is faster time made, they say. With a few minor improvements the track itself will be the fastest in the country.

For purposes of comparison auto races being held at the state fair this year are cited. The fastest time made there in a half-mile race was 34 seconds. The slowest time turned this year on the Ord track was 32.7 seconds and the fastest, 27.1 seconds, is nearly 7 seconds faster than the best time registered at Lincoln.

Race fans are invited to compare the time made in the fastest 5-mile race at Ord, 4 minutes, 59 seconds, with the fastest time made in a 4 1-2 mile race at Lincoln, 5 minutes, 6 seconds.

Labor day races at Overland Park, Denver, will not be nearly as fast as those here last week, all drivers and officials present from Denver agreed.

On Kansas and Oklahoma tracks 32 and 33 seconds is mighty fast time for a half-mile, says Andrew Fuller, of Arkansas City, Kas.

Cannon Ball Baker, who was present at the races last week, says that if fair officials will widen the turns to 80 feet the track will be unsurpassed.

Ord and Valley county have a great opportunity, a chance to make Ord the Mecca for race drivers of international repute. There is no reason why Ord cannot be the Indianapolis of the West.

Race drivers and fair officials knew that something untoward would happen when Friday time trials started. Early trials were fast, Prentiss, of Denver, speeding about the half-mile track in 28.9, his fastest time for the week, and Pingrey driving it in 28.4. When Bagley started warming his car up excitement reached its height.

Four Times Caught It.

Twice the Omaha driver gave Starter Albert McMindes the "ready" signal and started on his time trial but both times lost a fraction of a second in making the west turns. On his third trial, the last allowed him under the A.A.A. rules, he made the west turn perfectly, sped like the wind along the south straightaway, hugged the inside of the track closely without slackening speed on the east curves and rolled into the stretch at a speed estimated at 100 miles per hour when he passed the finish line. Timers compared their watches. All registered 27.1. Such time was unbelievably fast! Slim Harper, race driver who was holding a stop watch also caught the time at 27.1. And so it was reported to E. C. Weller, announcer, and so Bagley's great run will go down in history. A world's record established on the Ord track!

Vodehnal Family Take Trip to Enders Lake

Dear Quiz:

I thought I would write a few lines about our fishing trip. Martha Lorraine, Paul and I started out Thursday about 1:30 p.m. and got to Enders Lake at 8:30. We got a bite to eat, unpacked our things and went to bed, enjoying a good night's rest and getting up at 7 the next morning. After getting breakfast we went fishing but only a few perch rewarded our efforts in the morning. In the afternoon, however, we caught fifty perch and in the evening we went fishing for bass.

We were all sitting still in the boat when all of a sudden Lorraine said: "Oh, I've caught a bass," and a bass it was, a nice one weighing 2 1-2 pounds. The same evening we caught three smaller bass.

We got up at 6:30 Saturday morning, ate our breakfast and went fishing again, catching a nice mess of perch and two crappies. Afternoon fishing was no good that day but we caught several in the evening. Later we cleaned up and went to the dance and watched the kids from the sandhills dance, which was a treat to us. We got to bed about 2 a.m. and were up at 7.

We caught a big mess of large perch that morning and about noon some friends from Ainsworth drove in and visited us for a while. At 3 p.m. we started home and arrived at 8:30.

We drove the Chrysler "50" up and never had a bit of car trouble, not even a flat tire. The Chrysler certainly did its duty but has been there so often it almost knows the road. The roads are not so bad but could be better. Corn along the way is dried up even worse than ours in Valley county.

We are looking forward to our next Enders Lake trip.

Sincerely,
STACIE VODEHNAL

20 Years Ago

Under this heading will appear weekly items taken from the Quiz of even date, 20 years ago.

The Valley county fair was announced for Sept. 8, 9, 10 and 11, 1908. The program consisted of a ball game daily, foot races, jumping, a basketball game between Ord High and the Y.M.C.A. team, a trap shoot by the Ord Gun club, and an agricultural and stock show. Bob Seeds, the eminent lecturer, was engaged to make speeches on two days.

George Smith, mail carrier on Route 2, Arcadia, had a runaway. The wheel of his mail wagon dropped into a rut, causing the wagon to upset. The team became unmanageable and soon distributed the wagon over the road, George luckily escaping with only a few bruises.

The Catholic people purchased a block of ground south of the Will Ramsey residence and anonunced that if all went well they would build a church thereon.

An 11 1-2 pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finley Saturday morning.

Ross Hull dropped into Ord after spending the season on the road with a traveling ball team. He pitched 41 games and won 31 of them.

"RAMONA"

"RAMONA," the book written by Helen Hunt Jackson, is in its 94th printing. It is still one of the very live books in novel history. The movies have made it into a feature film play and it will come to the Gem theater beginning Monday. Dolores Del Rio is the star of the film and plays the title role. Warner Baxter, Roland Drew, Vera Lewis, Michael Visaroff, Carlos Amor, John T. Prince, Mathilde Comont, and others appear in the star's support.

Inspiration Pictures and Edwin Carewe produce "Ramona" for United Artists release. It is a gripping story of early California and is filled with romance, as if those witnessing it on the screen, were turning the pages of golden history in the days of the Missions and the Spanish Dons. At the Gem Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Sept. 10, 11 and 12. Matinee Monday at 4:10 p.m.

Mrs. Olive Marquard was a passenger for Grand Island Monday noon, going on from there to Hanover, Kas., to visit her mother-in-law, who is 93 years old. Mrs. Marquard expects to be gone for a week or ten days.—Peoples Standard, Loup City.

The body was taken to Holdrege Friday for funeral services and burial. Race drivers made up a purse and sent a large bouquet of flowers to the bereaved parents, with the following touching tribute:

"We wish to take this means of expressing to you our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of sadness.

"Only those who knew Sam Larsen as we knew him, can realize your loss and share your grief. We who have competed with him and watched his work on the track appreciated him and his fairness. Though in the game to win, he won only through fair and honorable means. He was fair to the extreme, a good loser as he was a good winner and with a character above reproach.

"We are all glad that we could call him "friend" and while we know that nothing we can say or do can lessen your grief, still we cannot refrain from sending this message to let you know that we loved "Sam", and while our grief cannot be that of a father, a mother, a brother or a sister, still we do feel his loss and for many days to come will miss his smiling face."

Ord race officials feel particularly bad over the Larsen fatality, both because the young man was so well known to them and because this is the first serious accident that has occurred on the Ord track. Fifty-two races have now been completed and only one accident has occurred.

Almost every prominent man has already appeared in a talking movie—except, of course, Calvin Coolidge.

Our Exchanges

By Mrs. R. J. Clark

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reitterbusch, of Chickasaw, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt, of Wausa, Neb., and Wm. Purchases Pure Bred Stock.

A. O. Jenkins informs us that he has purchased the pure bred jersey heifer which won first prize at the Custer county fair and also a pure bred jersey bull which took first premium at the Ord fair. The heifer was purchased from Hall and Son at Broken Bow and the bull comes from the Holcomb herd at Lincoln. Mr. Jenkins raises only only purebreds on his farm and the animals he purchased are reputed to be as good as any to be found in the state.

Ward Will Instruct.

Allen Ward, brother of Mrs. H. D. Weddel will teach first and second year Spanish at the state university this year. Allen is well known in Arcadia, has served as instructor in the government high school at Ponca, Porto Rica and during that time made but one visit to the States and then only for a period of a few weeks. Allen's many friends will be glad to learn of his success and to know that he will again be located in his home state. He is at present visiting with his brother, Dr. A. Ward in Minneapolis.

Pioneer Resident Passes Away.

Friends in Arcadia received word last week of the death of Mrs. Sarah Parrott which occurred recently near Meridan, Ida. Mrs. Parrott will be well remembered by the early settlers of Arcadia. She made her home in the residence property now owned and occupied by the A. C. Mathers family and during her residence there, conducted a boarding house. She was known as an excellent cook and her Sunday dinners were extremely popular among the residents at that time. She leaves one son, Claude Parrot, to mourn her departure.

Mrs. Harlow Freeman.

Graceful Fashions

Are Distinctive in the New Arrivals

Frocks that have won approval for Fall show a decided tendency toward a softened line that is graceful and flattering—trimmings of lace contribute to this effect, as well as soft girdles and rippling skirts.

Styles For Immediate Wear

Afternoon and street frocks in the very latest modes will add much to the distinction of your wardrobe right now—our prices, too, make one possible.

News About Coats

Emphasizes the Use of Fur

Every feminine heart will delight in coats for this fall and winter — they are so lavishly trimmed with fur! Deep cuffs, novelty cuffs, shawl collars and animal scarfs — the styles are especially flattering.

These Coats Are Smartly Economical

The early shopper will find this an advantageous time to select her coat—absolutely the newest among coat fashions are in our assortment—and our policy of daily economical prices prevails.

Andy's Experience

Andrew Carnegie said: "My first dividend check opened to me a new world. It was money I didn't have to work for. It was money that my small capital earned for me."

If it worked for Andy it will work for you. But you can't earn dividends until you have funds to invest. It will pay you to open an account at our bank and start saving. It will give you a vision of a better future for yourself and for those dependent upon you.

Burwell News Notes.

School opened in Burwell Monday with a good attendance in all the grades and every teacher present.

Enrollment and teachers are as follows: 1st grade, 38—Pauline 4th grade____23—Margaret Meyers Paris; 2nd grade, 28—Letta Green; 3rd grade, 26—Helen Speedie; 4th grade, 23—Margaret Meyers; 5th grade, 22—Gertrude Banks; 6th grade, 22—Muriel Burns; 7 grade, 28—Hazel Dickhute; 8th grade, 37—Rose Freeland; High school, 158—Esther Fehner, principal; Normal training, Fern Carlson; Latin and English, Bertha Reinke; History, Wilber Zorn; science and athletics, Ralph Douglas; agriculture; Winifred Grunkemeyer, home economics; Alfreda Smith, mathematics; Mildred Ilgenfritz, commercial; Lawrence Fitton, music supervisor; John E. Opp, superintendent.

Eight of the teachers are opening their first season here and the other ten were here last year. The commercial department has grown until it will be necessary to purchase two new typewriters. There is also an increase in the home economics department, but the other departments seem to be about the same as last year. Football practice has already begun and it is expected that the team will be much stronger than last year.

New Filling Station.

J. G. Clark is remodeling his garage north of the court house and building it into a first class filling station. Counting the station at the Riverside park this will make six filling stations for Burwell, three on the square and three off. Yet this town in the old days got along nicely with two livery stables, one of which is still in use. Verily the world do move. The autos owned in this county today represent more than the total wealth of the county forty years ago.

Goodenow News

A reunion was held at the city park at Taylor, Thursday, August 27, in remembrance of David Hall. This is an annual affair that is held for the descendants. Several friends are included each year. There were seventy three persons present. Dinner was served on long tables under the trees. After the dinner was disposed of, the business meeting was called to order by the president, W. R. Wright. The office of president can be held only by a direct descendant. The minuts of the last meeting were read and approved. Election of officers for the ensuing year was in order. W. R. Wright was elected to succeed himself. He received the official notification by mail September 1. Mrs. Dolly Strong Dye was elected secretary. The gathering was not as large as usual for various reasons, but those attending enjoyed it in every way. The next meeting will be held at Taylor the last Thursday in August 1929. M. E. Goodenow and family and Mrs. Smith of Ord were invited guests.

Fred Meyer and family left Sunday morning for Lincoln where they will visit the state fair, and also visit at the home of Mrs. Tully who is an aunt of Mrs. Meyer.

Mrs. Susie Armstrong returned Friday from Illinois where she has been spending several months with relatives. Her property is leased until March 1 and she will remain with her brother S. J. Garrison and family until spring or if possible she will sell the place, should she meet with the right parties. Anton Zalud and wife are occupants at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bissel arrived the latter part of the week for a few days stay with the parents of the latter, S. J. Garrison and wife. The home of the Bissells is at Beatrice. Mr. Bissel has for a time worked at Broken Bow.

Betty Jenks is boarding with the Dr. Ritchey family at Burwell and attending school, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Jenks are in Montana.

Mrs. A. J. Smith, who for the past two weeks has been visiting her sister, Mrs. M. B. Goodenow, returned to her home Friday of last week.

School opened in District 3, Valley county, September 1. Miss Clara Kusek of Elyria is teacher.

Mrs. Joe Armstrong departed for her home at Sherwood, N. D., after a month's visit here with her mother, Mrs. J .A. Brownell and other relatives and friends. McKinley Long a nephew of Mrs. Brownell drove to Grand Island, taking his aunt and cousin that far on their trip. After visiting at the W. D. Hart home, Mrs. Armstrong will continue her journey home, while her mother, will again return to Burwell. Mr. Long will go on to Lincoln where he will meet his wife and children and after a visit at the state fair they too will return home. Mrs. Long and children went to Missouri for a visit with her mother. At Lincoln they will also visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Long who are parents of the visiting man.

Sunday a picnic dinner was arranged to be held at the Wranglers park at Burwell. On arriving at the grounds it was found that the weather was uncomfortably cool for outdoor sports of that nature and W. R. Wright invited them to come to his home, where the day was pleasantly spent by about 24 people, who were particular friends and relatives of Mrs. Joe Armstrong in whose honor the dinner was planned. Several other people made previous arrangements and were unable to be present.

MAIDEN VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Botts, Larry and Deane left for Iowa August 22 and arrived at Griswold, where the G. A. R. reunion was being held, the same evening. It lasted for three days. We then visited relatives until Sunday and enjoyed a family reunion at the home of my youngest sister. About fifty-five guests were present. We had planned to meet the Botts relatives Sunday evening at the Clyde Botts home but were prevented by a cyclone. We watched it as long as we dared and then went to the cellar. Although we were just in the edge of the storm we were not far from the place where Mr. Jervis and son and the Smith baby were killed. We had planned to start home Monday but instead stayed until Tuesday and drove around to see what damage was done. We saw plenty of it. We left Griswold about 7 a m., ate dinner at Schuyler, stopped to see Mr. and Mrs. Charles Russell at Genoa, ate supper with Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Maddox at Coatesfield and reached home about 7 p. m.—Mrs. Ivan Botts.

North Loup Schools Are Opened Monday

North Loup, Sept. 4.—(Special)—The North Loup schools opened Monday with every indicaton of an interesting and profitable year. L. O. Green, who was formerly principal is the newly elected superintendent, taking the place of Prof. T. C. Grimes. Prof. Green is strictly a North Loup product, having been born and reared here, and is a graduate of the local high school. He is also a graduate of Milton college, following his graduation with eight years of pastoral work, serving charges in New York and Illinois. He is beginning his sixth year in the teaching profession. Mrs. Eleonora Murphy who comes from Exeter, taught last year at Fairfield. She is the new principal, and will also have charge of the music. She has had considerable experience in conducting school orchestras, and says there is a good prospect for the organization of an orchestra of at least twenty pieces. Wilfred Leibit of Scotia, is another new member of the teaching force. He is a graduate of the Scotia high school and has done special work at the Kearney normal. He taught last year at Fish Creek. He will teach the 7th and 8th grades that Ellamae Marks taught last year. Miss Eva Johnson who comes from Davis Creek is the only other new teacher, and reports 33 in the primary department, 18 of them being little beginners. Miss Eunice Rood says she has an enrollment of 32 in the third and fourth grades combined. There is an enrollment of 31 in the 5th and 6th grades taught by Ethel Jefferies. The high school enrollment on the opening days was 120, which is an increase of ten over that of last year, and thirty three of these are ninth graders. Warren Bailey has returned and expects to line up a good football team that will maintain the high standard already attained in athletics. Miss Mary Davis will teach domestic science again this year, and Mrs. Pearl Morrison has the normal training work. They need no introduction, and their past record on the high school faculty, speaks well for them.

The heroes of ancient tales used to go forth to battle dragons that breathed fire and had seven heads, and every time a hero managed to dispose of one of the heads two grew in its place. Modern heroes imbued with the same spirit become prohibition officers and slash at the speakeasies!

Mike, who was advancing rapidly in his work, was stopped one day by the foreman, who said:

"Mike, you are doing fine. I am going to raise your wages."

Dear God, I need You awful bad;
I don't know what to do.
My papa's cross, my mama's sick,
I got no friends', but You.
Them keerless angles went and brung.
'Stid of the boy I ast,
A weenchy, teenchy baby girl;
I don't see how they dast!
And God, I wish't you'd take her back;
She's just as good as new;
Won't no one know she's second-hand,
But 'ceptin' me and You.
An' pick a boy, dear God, Yourself,
The nicest in Your fold,
But please don't choose him quite so young;
I'd like him five years old.

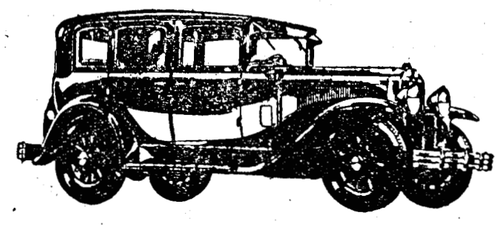
The new Buick is the new Style



More than handsome···more than luxurious···a wonderful new type of motor car beauty··a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. In fleet, powerful performance too, the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher. And the motor-public, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

BRIEF BITS OF ORD NEWS

Ord Cafe Closes.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Williams, who have conducted the Ord Cafe for several weeks, discontinued the work Saturday. The restaurant is now closed.

Move to Lincoln.—The W. J. Byington family left this week for Lincoln, where they have purchased a home. Raymond and Miss Edith will attend university this year and the move was made so that both could be at home. J. M. Beeghley and family will occupy the Byington house on K street.

Leave for California.—Saturday Dean Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Powell and Pete Hansen left for their homes in California by auto. All had spent several weeks with Nebraska relatives.

Investigating Sheep.—J. G. Bremer, Wm. Vogeler, jr., and H. Koelling left Saturday for Denver. Mr. Bremer says that he is looking into the sheep market and if he can find what he wants, expects to buy and ship a number to his farm near Ord.

Fire Department Called.—The fire department was called to the August Petersen home about noon last Thursday when a small gasoline tank in the basement caught afire. It was extinguished almost before the department arrived but gave the Petersen family a lively few minutes.

J. H. Powell Here.—J. H. Powell, Kirksville, Mo., for many wears station agent at Elyria, was an Ord visitor Saturday. He left Sunday for Lincoln and is now attending the fair, though he expects to return here before going to his home in Missouri.

Tolen Baby Born.—A 7 1-2 pound baby boy was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tolen and has been named Thomas Allen. Two sisters of Mark, Miss Grace Tolen and Mrs. Margaret McGregor, both nurses, and Dr. C. J. Miller were in attendance. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Fresh Peach Mousse

Two cups whipping cream, I cup puree of fresh peaches, 1 tablespoon gelatin dissolved in 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup sugar (beet or cane). Add dissolved gelatin to hot fruit juices and when cool and about to set, fold in stiffly whipped cream. Pack in mold, cover with ice and salt for 3 hours or more.

A woman, suing her husband for divorce, says he threw a cooked chicken at her. Well, the price of poultry being what it is, she certainly can't dispute his generosity.

Excellent Exhibits of Stock Are Feature of Valley County Fair

THERE have probably been years when a larger exhibit of live stock was shown in some departments at the fair than this year but the quality was never better and some departments were equal to the best years in the past, despite unfavorable crop conditions. There was no lack of quality this year but there was a lack of fitting in some of the herds. It takes time and work and money to fit a show herd and no farmer can afford to do it for one fair. The fitting does not improve the quality of the stock but it does improve the appearance and the fitted animal usually wins.

There were seventeen exhibitors in the horse department this year and the horse barns were well filled. It would have been a problem to find room for more animals and the quality was splendid. Harry Bresley made the largest showing with his Percherons, showing 20 animals, winning 7 firsts and 9 seconds. The Bresley horses are quality stuff all the way through.

Charley Arnold was the next largest exhibitor with his Clydesdales and he has real Clydes too. Fitted for show work they look good enough to go and win anywhere. Charley got 6 firsts and 2 seconds.

The showing of mules this year was exceptionally strong and there were some mighty good ones. W.L.D. Auble won 4 firsts and 4 seconds on his jacks and jennets, Will Foth and his father E. R. Foth had a real contest on light mule teams and the old gent won out, getting first while Will had to be satisfied with second. Mr. Foth, sr., also won a first and second on other classes and Will won a first on a individual mule. Will Foth showed one animal but was in too fast company to win. Walter Fuss also showed mules and has a splendid span but was not in the money. Ray Seerley has one of the best heavy mule teams in the country, the best so far as we know for he won first on them as a team and first and second as individuals. They are a beautiful span.

Parker Cook won 3 firsts on Shetland ponies and Johnie Lunney won 1 second in the same class. Edwin Auble was an exhibitor in the pony class also but failed to land. H. Lemaster won first on his pony, and William Richardson was a second in the same class.

Anton Swanek won first on his Belgian stallion.

In the grade class H. B. Stewart won a first and a second and E. W. Boettger won a second in the same class.

There were thirteen exhibitors in the cattle class. G. G. Clement & Sons and W. O. Zangger showed splendid herds of Herefords and shared about equally in the awards, Zangger winning 8 firsts and 8 seconds and Clement 8 firsts and 7 seconds.

Ben Eberhart made a strong showing of Jerseys and won 10 firsts and 4 seconds. Wayne Coats won 3 firsts and 1 second on his Jerseys showing only a couple of calves and winning in both the calf club and the open class. Jorgensen Bros. showed Polled Herefords and won 7 firsts and 3 seconds. C. W. Noll won a first on his senior bull calf.

Earl Smith and A. B. Fiala made good exhibits of Holsteins and both were good winners, the Holstein honors being fairly evenly divided between them. Smith won 8 firsts and 3 seconds while Fiala won 4 firsts and 5 seconds. H. G. Walkemeyer of near Arcadia showed a yearling Holstein bull and won a first on him while his son Otto won first and fourth in the calf club. Paul Pierce won second in the calf club, Lyle Smith won third.

There was a real good showing of sheep, C. W. Noll showing Shropshires, Hampshires and Oxford sheep and all of fine quality. They were awarded 14 firsts and 10 seconds on their sheep. William Vogeler won 4 firsts and 3 seconds on his Oxford sheep. Stark Bros. & Brown of Sherman county won 6 firsts and 4 seconds on their Hampshire sheep.

Park Cook had the only goat in the show and won a first on her.

In point of number of exhibitors the hog show was the big one among the stock, there being 32 individual exhibitors. Not only that, the stuff was all real quality stuff. The breeds were all represented. the Poland Chinas however having much the better showing. The Poland China exibitors were Ben Krosiak & Sons of Ravenna with 5 firsts, 4 seconds and 4 thirds, Don Rounds with 2 firsts, 3 seconds and 2 thirds, Dick Simpson with 1 second and 1 third, M. S. Vincent with 1 first, Morris Fowler & Son with 5 firsts, 4 seconds and 2 thirds and J. C. Ward with 1 second, 1 third and 1 fourth. Krosiak and Fowler had the large exhibits, filling the classes while the others had smaller exhibits, some showing only a few animals. George Clement and J. C. Ward had creditable showings but failed to get in the money.

Floyd Megrue was the only exhibitor of Spotted Polands, showing 2 head and getting 2 firsts and Dave Guggenmos was the only exhibitor of Hampshires showing a nice class and getting 11 firsts, 7 seconds and 5 thirds. Ed C. Lembury of Farwell showed a nice class of Mulefoot hogs winning 12 firsts, 2 seconds and 2 thirds.

There were four exhibitors in the Duroc class, Clayton Ward, Floyd Megrue, H. T. Walkemeyer and William Garnick. Ward won 8 firsts, 2 seconds and 4 thirds, Megrue won 3 firsts, 3 seconds and 1 third while Walkemeyer got a second on his one hog shown. Garnick won 7 firsts, 1 second 1 fourth and 1 fifth.

In the Chester White class there were four exhibitors, Floyd Megrue, Rollie Meyers, Orle Sorensen and Stark Brothers & Easterbrook. The latter firm had the largest showing and walked off with 7 firsts, 2 seconds and 1 third. He was one of the pig club boys also. Floyd Megrue's offering was smaller and he won 2 firsts, 5 seconds and 1 third. Orle Sorensen won 2 seconds and 2 thirds.

Following are the pig club boys with their breeds and winnings. Max Cruikshank, Hampshire, second and third on two real good junior sow pigs; Glen Jameson, Poland China, fourth on junior sow pig; Rollie Meyer, Chester White, first on junior sow pig, second on junior sow pig, first on best litter of four head; Orle Sorensen, Chester Whites, second on junior boar pig, third on junior boar pig, third on junior sow pig, second on best litter of four; William Garnick, Durocs, first on junior boar pig, fifth on junior boar pig, first and fourth on junior sow pig, first on best litter of four head; Harold Garnick, Spotted Polands, first and second on junior boar pigs, first and second on junior sow pigs, first on best litter of four; Preston Ward, Durocs, sixth on junior boar pig, third and sixth on junior sow pig, second on best litter of four; Alvin Jensen, Poland China, first on junior sow pig; Forrest Worm, second and third on junior sow pig; Paul Prien, Poland Chinas, fifth on junior boar pig, fifth and seventh on junior pig, first on best litter of four; Harold Konvalin, Spotted Polands, third and fourth on junior boar pig, third and fourth on junior sow pig, second on best litter of four; Gilbert Konvalin, Spotted Poland, fifth on junior boar pig, fifth on junior pig, third on best litter of four; Valentine Ciochon, Durocs, fifth on junior sow pig, seventh on junior sow pig; Kent Ferris, Hampshires, first and second on junior boar pigs, first on junior sow pig, first on best litter of four; Raymond Richardson, Poland China second and third on junior boar pig, fourth on junior sow pig, second on best litter of four; Otto Walkemeyer, Durocs, second and seventh on junior boar pig, third on best litter of four; L. Ptacnik, Poland Chinas, first on junior boar pig, sixth on junior sow pig. A number of the boys made good winnings in the open classes competing with the older breeders.

Remember This When Preserving

In choosing fruit for preserving, remember that slight under-ripe fruit is usually best because it contains more pectin or jellifying substances than fully ripe fruit. If modern short-process preserving rules are followed, however, this point can be disregarded as these recipes secure uniform jelly texture through the use of liquid pectin.

The American Bar Association says crime is caused by present prohibition conditions. Why wouldn't the American "Bar" Association say that?

New Mexico People Honored at Party

North Loup, Sept 5.—(Special)—There was a jolly crowd Sunday at the home of Mrs. Amy Taylor in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rouse and children who have been in this vicinity for several weeks, visiting at the home of Mrs. Taylor, who is the mother of Mrs. Rouse, and with Mr. Rouse's people at Burwell. They came from their home at Inez, N. M., driving through in four days in a large truck equipped for camping for cooking. They left Monday for their southern home. Those present were the Truman and Jim Barnhart families, Mrs. Jim Taylor's, Mr. and Mrs. Vogeler, the Willis Taylor's, Mr. and Mrs. Bohrer and Gertrude, Mrs. John Barnhart, Mr. and Mrs. Weed and Mrs. Wheatcraft, Mrs. Jake Ernest, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartz, Lee Koehler and Erman Barnhart.

North Loup, Sept. 4.—(Special)—Mrs. E. D. Comstock and daughter Martha Jane left Friday after a short visit with the former's son, Ralph Comstock. They were on their way to Detroit, where Mrs. Comstock will consult a cancer specialist.

Methodist Church Notes.

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. There will be no preaching service morning or evening as the pastor is attending the annual conference convening at Kearney. Epworth League at 7 o'clock. Miss Rouse desires to meet the members of the choir Friday evening at the church at 8 o'clock.

J. A. MOORMAN, Pastor.

Gerald Evans returned to Lincoln Evans. Gerald will continue his studies at the university the coming year.

A Steady Income

How much better to have a steady income that weather can't stop nor poor crops control than to rely on grain farming and be at the mercy of the elements and market conditions.

With a dairy herd, in case of crop failure, even the partially matured crops and the grasses in the fence corners are turned into a golden harvest by the aid of the cow.

Just the assurance and self confidence that the dairy cow inspires in the heart of the average farmer, more than offsets for the trouble and time spent in her care.

Mrs. Abraham and son John from Lincoln came to the Fred Martinson home Saturday. John returned home Sunday but his mother is staying a while longer with her daughter and family.

Dave Guggenmos was well pleased with the winnings his hogs made at the Ord fair. He received twenty-nine ribbons. Two grand champions, two junior champions, eleven firsts, seven seconds and five thirds. He sold two more hogs during the fair to a Mr. Cole of Taylor. Fred Martinson purchasing one Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Martinson and mother, Mrs. Abrahams visited with Mrs. J. S. Werber Sunday.

Those visiting at the Dave Guggenmos home Sunday were the C. O. Philbrick family, Fred Martinson and sons Martin and Guy. Also Roy Howarto nand Mr. Malay, the latter two parties were looking at hogs.

Dave Guggenmos delivered two hogs to Sargent and two to Taylor Saturday. He returned home Sunday morning.

The Real Art of Eating
(Hastings Democrat)

We are becoming entirely too finickey in our eating. By "our" we do not mean our editorial self, but every blooming one of us. Because of this we are losing a whole lot of the enjoyment that should come with eating. F'rinstance, now, take watermelon. We order a portion of the luscious fruit in a cafe, and it comes to us with the rind carefully removed and a fork inserted in the heart. We must, if we observe the proprieties, carefully cut from the slice a small section and daintily lift it into our facial orifice. Now any one with a lick of sense knows that's no way to eat watermelon. The proper way to carve a melon is to bust 'er, then insert one's face into the cool, red and luscious heart thereof until one's ears are submerged. Any other method is not only an insult to nature's handiwork but a deprivation to the eater.

Then again, there is the roastin' ear, which isn't a roasting ear at all, but a boiled ear. It comes to us in the cafe with a little dingus stuck in each end whereby we must grasp it. Unless we are oblivious to the rules of gustatory etiquette we must gnaw only about two rows of kernels at a time, which, as any lover of roasting ears knows full well is no way to eat 'em. There is just one way to eat roasting ears, and that is to butter 'em until the butter dribbles off in globules, administer salt and pepper to taste, grab the roasting ear by each end with strong, prehensile fingers, and mow off as many rows as possible, regardless of greasy ears and hands; yea, regardless of spotted neckties and the disgusted look upon friend wife's face as she looks about to see many folk are noticing our actions.

There are several other instances we would like to give, but space forbids at this time. But we serve notice here and now that we have issued a new declaration of independence. Henceforth we are going to eat our watermelon and roasting ears to suit our own self.

To Whom Does Law Apply?
(Fremont Herald)

Some years ago, when I was a resident of a small community, and, because the community was small, was obliged to fulfill my civic duty by becoming a part of the machinery of the municipal government, I came face to face with my first knowledge of the fact that the law, unlike God, the Giver of all just laws, is a respecter of persons.

It was in the days before the Eighteenth Amendment and in a state which permitted local option, as a result of which our small municipality had voted itself out of the "wet" columns of the state. (In that small community of local option, it was our option to be "wet" one year, "dry" the next, "wet" the succeeding year, and "dry" the next, all because we couldn't decide which was the worse. Having tried it "wet" for a year, the majority concluded it was better to be "dry". But, after a year's experiment with that form of coping with booze, the majority swung over to the belief that it was better to be "wet". And so on around the endless circle.

So soon as the town had gone "wet" in this particular year, as usual, the local bootleggers began to ply their trade. We city officials bore it as long as we could and then decided to stamp it out. The president of the village, a young but very wise man of about my own age, took the matter in hand. He got the goods on the bootleggers, then notified the sheriff, and the boys were rounded up, tried, convicted and punished.

But, much to my amazement, the two most active bootleggers of the town were not among those arrested. I at once asked the president why he had permitted these two most prominent offenders to escape arrest. And in his reply came my first revelation. Said the president to me: "Laws are made for only certain classes. For instance, take the law against carrying concealed weapons," said he. "The men here whom we can trust to carry concealed weapons will never be molested if they do. That law is only for the purpose of 'getting' those who had not ought to carry weapons. Exactly so with the violation of our dry law. The two men you mention are prominent citizens here. The men whom we have had arrested are the kind against whom the law was intended to operate."

I am not surprised to find, in the course of my current conversation with men, that there are many who belive in that sort of justice. But I never could bring myself to subscribe to it. I believe every law is made with the purpose of applying to all who violate it. Law so made, and so enforced, is what makes a law-abiding citizenship; for I am certain there are many people who do no wrong largely or chiefly because it is against the law, because they fear the penalties of the law.

Who Fixed the Price?
(York Republican)

During the war somebody fixed the price of wheat for the government at $3.00 a bushel to the grower. That price at the time seemed a very fair return, but if demand had ruled the price it would very likely have gone to $4.00, and perhaps more. But the price was fixed by decree of the food administrator, Herbert Hoover, at $3.00 a bushel. Now many who think demand should have ruled the price and the government should not have interfered are resentful toward Mr. Hoover for placing the price so low.

A letter from Wm. Colton to the press confirms what has been repeatedly stated in the newspapers and magazines. When, to encourage the farmers of this nation in the production of wheat during the war, it was decided to fix a future market price that would insure an adequate return to growers Food Commissioner Hoover called the representatives of several growers and marketing concerns among whom was J. W. Shorthill, secretary of the Farmers Elevator Association, in conference. They met in Washington and fixed the price at $3.00. Whereupon the food commissioner, accepting their recommendation, fixed the price of wheat at $3.00.

These attested facts and statements show that Mr. Hoover did not in this instance pose as a czar of the markets. He sought the best advice he could get, adopted the recommendation of competent market experts, and performed his public duty.

Mr. Hoover did not fix the price of wheat. Men close to the farmers did. If injustice resulted, the food administrator is absolved from responsibility for it.

Mrs. Irwin Gillen, who with Mr. Gillen has been touring in Europe since early spring, is ill at a hospital in Paris, according to a cablegram received by Mr. Gillen's father, F. E. Gillen, of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Gillen were expecting to sail for home September 25. She is a daughter of Anton Bartunek of Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. A H Hastings and Peggy visited last Thursday and Friday with Mr and Mrs. Claude Rosenberg at Lexington.

"Why Dairying?"

(Booneville (Mo.) Advertiser.)

WE STILL hear the question: "Why dairy cows and dairying? Why not expend efforts on improving the present resources of the farmer—his land—instead of urging him to invest in purebred cows and build up another phase of agriculture?" It is a fair question, in spite of the fact that it has been answered a number of times. It is fair because it is hard for farmers to buy good stock when his financial independence has hardly permitted him a decent living with markets the way they have been for ten years. But it is relieving this very depression that the farming men of this country are urged to go in for dairying—either wholly or partly. Let us see.

Milk and its products have those life giving food elements necessary for the human race that cannot be found elsewhere in the correct proportion. There is a constant and unfailing demand for milk, butter, and cheese. They are foods that cannot be stored indefinitely in huge central buying centers; they are essentials that have almost instant consumption. The stock market does not juggle them—it concerns itself mostly with the fruits of the soil. Milk brings in returns every day, every week, and every month. There is no waiting for semi-annual marketing as is the case with other agricultural products. And some one says: "What of it?"

Credit costs money. It is a commodity that brings in rent. The merchants in town have to charge more when they extend credit, and have learned that waiting longer than thirty days costs them more money. Yet, they cannot let a customer go who is good, but who can only pay twice a year. And many farmers, true as gold and as honest as the next man, cannot pay oftener, because they must wait for their semi-annual marketing of corn, or wheat, or hogs. They do not have the ready cash—and credit costs them and the merchant both.

One Boonville business man, a dairy enthusiast, told of this incident. A good customer of his, who paid him when he sold his crops, began paying cash for his purchases. The business man, interested, of course, and curious, asked how he managed it. The farmer replied with pride which was justified; "I have gone into dairying and get cold cash every month for my milk; every thirty days I have over $100 to buy the every day things I need." His crops helped him the rest of the way. But this man had the money to buy those necessary things in the best way. He had some cash to invest, too, in those things that are more excellent.

This is one concrete instance. Doubtless there are many more. It does not mean that a farmer should neglect his crops and livestock. It points a way to a stablizer that is sure.

That is the reason "Why Dairying?"

NORTH LOUP TO LOSE POPULAR M. E. MINISTER

Rev. Richard Gibb Transferred to Crete, Much to Regret of Entire Community.

By MRS. CLAUDE RATHBUN.

North Loup, Sept. 12.—(Special)—Rev. Richard Gibb, pastor of the local Methodist church, returned Monday evening from attending the annual conference at Kearney. He plans to move next week to Crete, Neb. It is with much disappointment that his many friends and admirers learned that he was not returned to North Loup for another year. He has just finished his third year at North Loup, and he and his good wife and fine family have given of their best for the upbuilding of the church and the furthering of the best interests of the community. In their going both North Loup and Valley county suffer a distinct loss.

It might be interesting to many to know something of Rev. Gibb's earlier life and of his family. He has always been a modest man, unwilling to tell of his past achievements unless greatly urged. He was born in Slemannen, Sterlingshire, Scotland of humble parentage, his father being a laboring man, but withal of a deeply religious nature, serving during the last years of his life as a local preacher, but without remuneration of any kind, helping to build churches and preaching when the opportunity afforded. Shortly after Rev. Gibb reached the United States, his father wrote asking him if he could possibly send a contribution for a gospel hall he was helping build at a place called St. Ninans. Much as he wished to help the cause back in Scotland he already had about all he could do trying to educate himself and support his little family. However, he thought of his watch he had brought with him to this country, but which had failed to keep accurate time on this side of the water. Thinking it might do better on its native heath, he sent it to his father with instructions that it be sold and the proceeds used to help finance the gospel hall. It brought ten dollars, which tho a small sum, was one not to be despised by a canny Scot.

While yet a young man he moved with his parents to a town named Wallacestone also in Sterlingshire, built on the spot where tradition tells that Sir William Wallace the immortal Scottish warrior had stood upon a large stone, the better to view the battle of Falkirk raging on the plain below. From this vantage point he kept his nearby followers informed as to how the battle was going and at the opportune moment he and his faithful men rushed in, turned the tide, and were victorious over the English. Another reason that Rev. Gibb remembers Wallacestone, is that it was there he wooed and won a fair Scottish lassie named Jeanie Simpson, the daughter of a contractor and merchant. Three children were born to them before Rev. Gibb decided to see what truth there might be in the reports he had heard of the land of opportunity. It took the vessel on which he sailed, eighteen days to make the voyage, encountering high seas and rough weather, and they reached America after being eight days overdue and given up for lost. It took him only a few weeks to be convinced that America was the place for him and his, and seven months later Mrs. Gibb and the three small tots joined him at Boone, Ia., where she had relatives.

He proceeded at once with his theological training at John Fletcher college located at Oskaloosa, Ia., which altho an undenominational school, was attended by a number of Methodist students, and on its faculty had a number of men of the Methodist faith. Immediately after his graduation the Gibb family located in Illinois, but because of the low altitude disagreeing with the little son Richard ,they left and he entered the Nebraska conference, most successfully serving charges at Riverton, Benkelman, Curtis and Orleans before coming to North Loup. He also spend one year as district evangelist on the Holdrege district, and later did detached service in raising funds for various colleges, visiting towns in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana in the interest of this work.

Rev. and Mrs. Gibb are blessed with a splendid family of eight children. Richard, the eldest, is in Denver, where he has been for several years associated with Gove, the well-known architect. He is about to complete a course in architectural engineering. He has won several honor prizes offered by the School of Art of Paris and for which architectural students the country over could compete. Miss Elizabeth, the eldest daughter, an honor graduate of Denver university, is teaching again this year at Littleton, Colo., where she is the popular principal of the Junior high, with 175 students under her control. The two married daughters, Barbara and Jean are living in California. Eva, who is a talented pianist, will graduate in June from Wesleyan, and Robert will graduate in June from high school. He plays the cornet well, and has the making of a good baritone soloist. Lillian, who is entering her first year in high school is maintaining the family traditions by standing third highest when she took the county 8th grade examinations last spring. Little Gordon, is in the third grade, is the youngest, and has already made himself known by his original remarks and mischevious ways.

Moreover, the Gibbs are a musical family, Rev. and Mrs. Gibb both being good singers, often favoring the congregation with pleasing duets. When Eva has been home on vacation she has played for church services. Lillian and Robert have sung in the church choir, as has their mother, and have done their part in the orchestra, Lillian as one of the violinists, and Robert playing the cornet. Recently the family put on an entire evening's entertainment at one of the nearby towns.

Rev. Gibb has become recognized as one of the strong preachers of the Nebraska conference. His sermons ever show deep thinking, sound doctorine and a profound knowledge of the fundamentals of Christianity. In Mrs. Gibb he has found a true helpmate, as she has always been at his side, making friends of all with whom she comes in contact, by her kindly ways and her personal interest in every one she meets. She may always be found in her place as Sabbath school teacher, as a worker in the Ladies' Aid society, Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and in fact in every department of the church.

One of Rev. Gibb's strong points has been his faithful pastoral work both at North Loup and at Davis Creek, as he has served as pastor of the Davis Creek Methodist church during his entire stay at North Loup and will be greatly missed by the members out there. Mrs. Gibb has been with him in much of his visiting of the sick and the bereaved, giving gladly of her aid and sympathy. The entire family can ill be spared from places in the church services, Epworth League and Sunday school where each one could be depended upon to do his bit and do it well. The best wishes of the congregation and of the community at large go with them.

Tiny Ord Pupils Are Glad School Days Are Here, They Tell Quiz

BY IRMA ELLIS LEGGETT.

The first day of school this fall found a great crowd of youngsters 'there early'—in great contrast to the way they loitered to school in May days, after nine months going. Big scholars, small students, all sizes of playmates, including many who were so small that they were brought to and from school, what a group they formed outside the school.

Then the tedium of registering and getting started, for those little students who have never come to school before. Turning away tearful little girls and boys who weren't the required four years and nine months; trying to worm name and address from the bashful ones; attempting to subdue the over-jolly ones . . . . what queer experiences teachers of small children must have. Monday morning two little tots were tired out by the perplexities of kindergarten life, so they simply laid down on the floor and went to sleep; Two other little youngsters, Lyle Chotena, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Chotena, and the small son of Will Misko, Dean, thought recess was time to go home, so after recess they were missing. Mrs. Chotena said "Why Lyle, did you come home at recess?" And Lyle answered "I don't believe we had any recess."

Asked why she was glad to come to school, Kathryn Work, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Work, said she was glad to come, but "Why?" . . . . "Oh, I don't know." Small Jean Bowers, the bright haired daughter of Superintendent and Mrs. Charles Bowers, was even less specific, saying only: "Because." But she was glad school had sarted. Summer play days in Ord have evidently been filled with wonderful visions of fun at school for most Ord children.

Lyle Chotena rushed up from his seat with something in his hand and averred loudly that he was glad he came to school because he made "this." "This" turned out to be a little paper cut-out, made under the supervision of Miss Mabel Misko. Doris Cushing, daughter of Mrs. Dagmar Cushing, insisted the reason she was so glad school had started was because "I get to play with blocks." Both David Milliken and Jack McNutt declared "I like to go to school because then I get to color", meaning to use their bright colored crayons.

Norma Kellison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kellison, liked school because she liked to play. This was also the verdict of Harry McBeth, who, with a very serious expression said "At school I get to play. That's why I like it." Leaving the inference that he worked mighty hard at home and hadn't any time to play there!

The kindergarten was in the process of learning to dramatize "Hi, diddle, diddle." Jackie McNutt, as the moon, was lying flat on his back on the floor, and was about to let the cow jump over him. The only difficulty being that there seemed to be lots of competition for the role of cow.

First graders had their reasons for liking school a bit more clearly in mind. "So I can learn to cut out," "so I can learn something", because I like to write and read", "because it's fun to color", etc., were the commonest answers. Lyle Flagg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gould Flagg revealed his ambition in the phrase, "so I can read books", and as an after thought "so I can color". One little girl even had lofty ambition "to learn something!" which is as near expressing themselves as many grown up people had come.

But it was noticeable that nowhere, not in the kindergarten, not in the first grade, not in the second grade, nor among the teachers could there be found any one who was sorry school was starting. Even Mr. Rassett, the janitor, admitted he was glad to see school days come again. Doesn't sound as if there was much of a joke in that "hope the school house will burn down" story after all, does it?

Rain Halts Tuesday "Better Butter" Meet

Although rain prevented the public meeting arranged for Tuesday evening, Professor Downs and Dr. Richart, University of Nebraska dairy experts, held a successful butter school at the co-operative creamery both Monday and Tuesday. Butter makers from creameries as far away as Cambridge attended the school. The butter experts were brought to Ord by Fred Coe, manager of the Ord Co-operative Creamery.

Wesley Pierce Dies in Lincoln

Well Known Ord Young Man Taken by Blood Poisoning, Which Set in After Flu Attack.

Wesley M. Pierce, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pierce of Ord, passed away in Lincoln Monday evening after an illness of only two days with intestinal flu. Blood poisoning set in after the flu attack and caused his sudden death.

Wesley was one of Ord's brightest and best young men. He was graudated from Ord high school in 1925, later attending a business college at St. Paul. Upon the completion of his business course he accepted a position with the Federal Trust company, Lincoln, and was employed by this company at the time of his death. That he gave satisfaction is attested by the fact that he was given four promotions in two years.

During his residence in Lincoln Wesley associated himself with groups of the best type of young people in the city. He was vice president of the Ace club and a life member of the Y.M.C.A. He also was a member of the dramatic club of the First Presbyterian church and took a prominent part in pageants and plays presented by that club.

Left to mourn his death are his father and mother, three brothers, Roland, Paul and Hallen. grandparents, Mrs. John Auble and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moses, together with other near and distant relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon from the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. J. A. Moorman in charge. Interment will be in Ord cemetery.

Peoples Store Will Hold Reduction Sale

The job department of the Quiz has been busy this week printing 5,000 big 4-page bills for the Peoples Store company, of Ord, which is holding a big reduction sale starting Saturday. A $60,000 stock of merchandise and furniture will sell at greatly reduced prices and it will pay Valley county people to read the bills closely.

Howard County Fair Starts September 18

The 1928 edition of Howard county's big fair, held every year at St. Paul, starts September 18 and as usual many Valley county people are planning to attend. Baseball and football games, balloon ascensions, free acts, fire works, a big parade and free dances every night are among the attractions. Howard county is said to have the biggest agricultural fair in the state and last year paid out $6,000 in prizes.

WORK STARTS ON MASONS' NEW TEMPLE

Atwater Gets General Contract and Begins Excavation; Rooms in Temple Are Leased.

Plans for the fine new Masonic temple building are going forward admirably. Contracts were awarded Thursday evening, and already a guard fence has been thrown across the walk and the actual labor of construction has begun. It is to be located just north of the City Hall on a lot the Masons have long owned.

According to W. E. Wolters, it was found necessary to raise the total of the estimated cost of construction from $25,000 to $33,000 This figure, it is now thought, will take care of all expense in connection with the new building. Marcus L. Evans of Hastings was the architect whose plans were selected. The E. K. Campbell Heating and Ventilating company of Kansas City has the contract for heating and ventilating, the figure being $3,675. The C. E. Atwater Construction company of Grand Island was also chosen, its bid being $25,435. The Hastings Electrical company will light and wire the building for $876, and Raymond Gass of Ord was the successful bidder on the plumbing with an estimate of $1,689.83.

The completed temple is going to add greatly to the good appearance of the block. It is to have a front of Carthage marble in a pale gray-white shade. The marble will be unpolished, a sawed finish having been selected, and lodge emblems carved of self material will be almost the only adornment.

Inside, the building will be finished in oak, excepting the floor of the banquet hall in the basement, which will be maple, the best of surfaces for dancing. The walls of the basement will be of light tan pressed brick, and the banquet room is to have a seating capacity of 300 people. A large kitchen completely equipped 16x24 feet and check rooms, will make the basement an ideal place to serve conventions, banquets, dances, etc. The ceiling in the basement is to be of acoustic Celotex, which will see that no echoes bother, as is so often the case in basements. The Masons plan to rent the basement rooms to organizations, conventions, dances, etc.

The entire first floor will be rented to Orville H. Sowl, and will be especially built to accommodate him, and facilitate his work as a mortician.

A separate outside entrance to the second floor will be used by the Masons, and this floor will be given over to a large lodge room 28x48 feet, two small apparatus rooms, a club room for men of 20x28 feet, a lounging room for women 16x18 feet, and a small kitchenette, so that refreshments may be served without the necessity of bringing them from the basement. A suite of offices at the front of the second floor will be built to accommodate Dr. F. L. Blessing, and his dental practice.

The temple is to be modern in every particular and has been well planned to carry out the special needs of the Masons and others who will use it.

Car Thief Sent to Reformatory

Joseph Michael Ricca, 18, 'Borrows' Petersen Car, Is Caught Less Than Two Hours Later.

Joseph Michael Ricca, 18, alias James Patrick Murphy, Tuesday was sentenced to Hawthorne reformatory to serve a term of from one to two years. The young man plead guilty to the theft of a Ford roadster belonging to Wm. Petersen and in district court sentence was pronounced by Judge E. P. Clements.

Officers showed real speed in catching young Ricca. At 9:30 a.m. Saturday he took the car and was arrested less than two hours later at St. Paul.

When first questioned by officers Ricca gave his name as "James Patrick Murphy', but prolonged questioning made him break down and admit his real name. His home is in Chicago, he said, and he claimed that his mother died when he was seven years old and his father five years later. Since that time he has been "on the bum", according to his own story.

Selling Restaurant Fixtures.

On Saturday, Sept. 15, the fixtures formerly used by the Ord Cafe will be sold at public auction, M. B. Cummins being the auctioneer. The ad for this sale appears on page 12.

Dollars That Work, Help the Community

THE REAL value of a dollar in this community is progressive. The more often it is spent to buy home produced or home sold merchandise, the more valuable it becomes. If it is spent often enough, it will double in value.

This may seem a little out of the ordinary as a statement, but let's see. Every time a dollar is spent it produces a certain percentage of profit. Hence to increase its value to the community at large, all we have to do is to keep spending it over and over, and adding the percentage of profit each time—result, sooner or later it has doubled in value.

So you see, it is to your advantage and to our advantage to keep our dollars at home where they can work for us home folks. When we employ labor, employ home folks. When we buy anything, patronize home folks. It is to our own self interests that we do so.

On page 10 of this issue, the business men present in an advertisement an appeal on why it pays to try first at home when you need anything. We heartily agree with them, since we know we profit even more than do they.

CO-OP SHIPS BIG CARLOAD OF POULTRY

Creamery Adds More Than $1,300 to Farmers' Poultry Profits in Buying Shipment.

More than $1,300 was added to the profits of Valley county poultry raisers by the Ord Co-operative creamery, which shipped a carload of chickens to New York Monday. When the car arrived last Wednesday the institution managed by Fred Coe started boosting prices and before the car was filled Monday prices had jumped from 3c to 5c per pound on all classes of poultry.

Wednesday prices were: Heavy hens, 17c; Leghorn hens, 14c; heavy springs, 18c; Leghorn springs, 13c. When the co-operative creamery started buying Thursday morning the prices raised to 18c for heavy hens, 15c for Leghorn hens, 22c for heavy springs and 17c for Leghorn springs. In the afternoon prices were as follows: Heavy hens, 20c; Leghorn hens, 17c; heavy springs, 23c; Leghorn springs, 18c.

Between Thursday morning and Monday, when the car was shipped, the co-operative creamery bought 18,000 pounds of poultry. Representatives of other poultry buyers bought probably 15,000 pounds, possibly more. The net gain to farmers as a result of the creamery's progressiveness in shipping a car from here amounted probably to $13,000.

According to Manager Fred Coe, people from Comstock, Sargent, Burwell, Ericson, Taylor and Loup City sold poultry in Ord while the high prices were in effect last week. One man, Joe Hybl, sold poultry worth $196.38. With his brother-in-law, Victor Kerchall, he brought in two truck loads of chickens, more than 500 in number.

Poultry raisers certainly should appreciate the co-operative institution's activity in boosting poultry prices far above the level usually received for chickens at this time of year. Prices probably will not be as high again this fall.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Nothing can take the place to a child of "Alice in Wonderland", by David Copperfield" and "Little Women"; remember they are at the library.

Four new books donated by Mrs. Eugene Leggett are: "The Chicken Wagon Family", Barry Benefield; "Peter Vaccum" by Anthony Gibbs; "Carib Gold" by Ellery Clark; and "Money to Burn" by R. W. Kauffman. "Carib Gold" is a pirate story, racing away with the first word in a straight dash and closing with a burning action. "Peter Vaccum" is a college story of an American boy at Oxford. "The Chicken Wagon Family" is the most famous of the four books, an endearing story of a little girl who marries a man in play so that they can look after one other, and marries him in reality when she grows up.

When looking for a book remember that some best sellers are on the pay shelf. One of the best of these is "Trader Horn" by Mrs. Lewis and Trader Horn himself. By a lucky chance Mrs. Lewis saw something unusual in an old peddler who came to her door, and she persuaded him to tell her his story. All this happened in Africa and the old man told her the story of Africa as he had known it in his early pioneering days. It's a story of a Rip Van Winkle who was divorced from sleep in Africa. "Trader Horn" has a charm aside from historical significance and exciting detail. It has a whimsical quality, a philosophical yet thought-provoking book of its type. A book for old and young, that can be read by all ages, a most difficult thing to find, a rare treasure.

Remember that there are some magazines here for your use. You may obtain some of the best stories in this way.

As a courtesy to the public, we ask the patrons of the library to use care with their friends, the books. New books look old if torn or soiled with dirty finger prints.

Mrs. J. T. Maynard Dies.

Mrs. Val Pullen received word that her mother, Mrs. J. T. Maynard of Farmington, Mo., passed away Thursday. Mrs. Pullen was not able to attend the funeral, but her brother, Rev. Maynard of Gering, left at once for Missouri. Mrs. Pullen visited her parents about two months ago. Rev. Maynard was formerly pastor of the Methodist church of Ord. The sympathy of the community is extended to those who are bereaved.

Orcutt Party Has Narrow Escape

No Serious Injuries to Party of Four When Car Overturns Near Paddock Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Orcutt and Mrs. A. M. Daniels and Mrs. Anna Tappan who were riding with them Sunday evening are considering themselves very lucky these days. Driving along, about four o'clock on the road between Ord and North Loup their car left the highway, plunged through a heavy guard rail and overturned, subsequently taking fire. They were near Ern Paddock's roadside stand, and members of the Paddock family reached them just as they all succeeded in climbing free of the car. Mrs. Daniels received several minor cuts and scratches, but other than nervous shock, none of the other members of the party were hurt.

The cause of the accident is not known. Mrs. Orcutt, who has been in very poor health for some months, had mentioned that her dress bound her legs, Mrs. Daniels and Mrs. Tappan, leaning over from the back seat, were endeavoring to help her, and Mr. Orcutt took one hand from the wheel for just a moment to help. In that instant the automobile lurched toward the roadside, and it was too late to recover control. Mrs. Tappan felt the car going, and braced herself and Mrs. Orcutt, and was holding Mrs. Orcutt when the accident was over.

All the occupants of the car were able to eat a hearty supper that evening however, and are counting themselves very fortunate to have been able to do so.

Mouer to Preach Farewell Sermon

Popular United Brethren Pastor Is Leaving Ord, Will Preside at Union Service Sunday.

Rev. J. R. Mouer, popular pastor of the Ord United Brethren church will preach his farewell sermon at a union service to be held in his honor Sunday evening by the Protestant churches of Ord. The service will take place at the M. E. church.

At the recent state conference of the United Brethren church, Rev. Mouer was delegated to do evangelistic work. His first call is to Lamar, Ia., and with Mrs. Mouer he will leave for that city next Tuesday.

The new Ord United Brethren pastor is Rev. H. H. Spracklen who is expected to arrive in a few days.

Weller Crying Four Livestock Auctions

Four big livestock auctions to be held in the near future are being advertised in the Quiz this week and in all of them E. C. Weller and Albert McMindes will act as auctioneer. The first is the Weller Auction Company's regular Saturday sale, Sept. 15, at which 200 to 250 head of cattle and 100 to 150 head of hogs will be sold. On September 17 the Comstock Auction company will sell 100 head of cattle and 150 head of hogs. On Sept. 19 E. M. Starr will sell 400 head of stocker and feeder cattle, 100 stock pigs and 10 bred sows. On Sept. 20 Mrs. C. O. Nelson advertises a sale at which 30 Holstein cows and heifers, 200 head of feeder cattle, 60 Duroc pigs and 15 Duroc bred sows will sell. People in need of cattle or hogs will do well to read these ads on page seven.

TOUGH GRIND FACES REED'S FOOTBALLERS

Only Four Veterans Answer First Call for Practice; Eight Games Scheduled.

Forty-five gridiron prospects answered the initial call for football practice at Ord high school Monday evening but, faced by a tough eight-game schedule, Coach Rex Reed is having a few restless nights. Only four veterans are left and around them he must build a team of entirely new material.

Captain LeRoy Adams, Syl Carkoski, Larry Botts and Bill Zabloudil are the four vets who will form the nucleus of the 1928 Ord team. The first three are linemen and Zabloudil performed in the back field during the 1927 season.

Oct. 5, Ord vs. Scotia, at Ord.
Oct. 12, Ord vs. St. Paul, at St. Paul.
Oct. 19, Ord vs. Broken Bow, at Broken Bow.
Oct. 26, Ord vs. Ravenna, at Ord.
Nov. 2, Ord vs. Ansley, at Ord.
Nov. 9, Ord vs. Burwell, at Burwell.
Nov. 23, Ord vs. Fullerton, at Ord. (tentative.)
Nov. 29, Ord vs. Loup City, at Loup City.

With this schedule staring him in the face Coach Reed is either obliged to develop grid talent from his new prospects or see his 1928 team discredit the fine record compiled by Ord teams in the past five years. During this period Ord teams have played 41 games, won 23 of them, lost 14 and tied 4.

A summary compiled by R. W. Norman gives the record of Ord teams since 1923 and shows that in this time Ord has played Scotia five games and won three of them; losing one and tying one; played Callaway two games and won both; played Sargent one game and won it; played Ansley three games and won two; played Fullerton two games and won one; played Arcadia once and won; played Broken Bow five games, won two, last two and tied one played Loup City five games winning three and tying two; lost twice to Kearney; played Ravenna four games winning two and losing two; lost two games to Albion; won a game from and lost one to Aurora; played two games with Burwell and won both of them.

The Ord gridiron will present a busy scene in coming weeks as the Reedmen prepare for the initial game with Scotia on October 5.

School Enrollment Shows Small Gain

Enrollment figures for Ord schools this year vary but little from those of last year, records show. A loss of 1.8 per cent is shown in the grades, including the sixth, while the junior high school has gained 3.8 per cent and the senior high school has gained 3.1 per cent. Where a class of 58 seniors was graduated last year, 75 freshmen are entering this fall.

In 1927, 270 students were enrolled in the grades, including the sixth; the junior high school (7 and 8 grades) registered 104; and the senior high school enrolled 255.

In 1928 the grades records show 265 scholars entered; the junior high school an enrollment of 108; the senior high school a list of 263 students entered.

Home economics has drawn the attention of 83 students, according to the figures available in the office of Superintendent Charles Bowers; 18 boys have registered for manual training; and 37 students will take the agricultural courses offered.

Hill Doesn't Cry Over Spilled Milk

North Loup, Sept. 8.—(Special)—Otto Smith, who drives one of the milk trucks had an experience Wednesday with his truck that he probably would not care to repeat. On going up one of the steep hills near the Boettger ranch north west of town, in trying to shift gears, he failed to make connections in some way, and the big truck loaded with cans of milk started back down the hill, gaining so much momentum that the brakes failed to hold and it went into the ditch, upsetting and doing considerable damage to the truck. Luckily, Otto was unhurt and not being one to cry over spilled milk even tho it be a whole truck load, he took the damaged machine to Grand Island for repair and brought it back almost as good as new.

Meat Market Changes Hands.

A deal was transacted last week in which Bert Hyatt of Colorado Springs, Colo., became part owner of the City Meat Market, having purchased the interest of Leonard Janulewicz. Mr. Bellinger will continue as a member of the firm and with the newly acquired partner will no doubt furnish Arcadia with an up-to-date market. Leonard Janulewicz has not decided on his plans for the future but his many Arcadia friends wish him an abundance of success in whatever undertaking he decides to follow. Mr. Hyatt expects to move his family to Arcadia in the near future.

Sale Season Opens.

The sale season has opened at the sale pavilion in Arcadia and each Saturday afternoon witnesses a large number of interested folks in attendance. Williams and Knapp are the auctioneers and from what we have been told they are capable of selling everything brought to them from a box of carpet tacks to an automobile.

Win Eighth Place

Miss Pearl Warford, who represented Custer County at the state fair style show at Lincoln last week, won eighth place among the contestants. Eighteen girls were entered in the style show and the winner of first place, Miss Helen Phares of Webster county will compete in the National Style Show which will be held in Chicago the first of December.

Village School In Full Swing.

The Arcadia public school opened last week with a good attendance in the grades and high school enrollment on the opening day numbered ninety-nine, a few less than last year. A number of students were attending the state fair which affected the enrollment to a small degree, but with the fine corp of teachers, the excellent condition of the building and equipment and the prompt and efficient manner in which the work started, we predict for Arcadia a very successful year. Over twenty high school football aspirants have started work under the direction of Coach Fuller and we feel assured that he will get good results from the material available. Those going out for the sport are Russell Buck, Raymond Ciochon, Roger Cochran, Max Cruikshank, Raymond Erickson, Darr Evans, Donald Evans, Edwin Harrison, Sumner Hastings, John Higgins, Raymond Lee, Earl Lindsey, Carol Lutz, Cecil McCall, Harry Smith, Stanton Sorensen, Alfred Strathdee, Jos. Sydzyik, Glenn Thompson, Elmer Toops, Dean Whitman, Dick Whitman, Woodrow Wilson. Their first game will be with Comstock, Friday, Sept. 28 and will be played on the home field.

Rural Routes Consolidated.

Effective Sunday, Sept. 16 rural routes three and four will be consolidated and will be known hereafter as route 3. Raymond Brown has been appointed carrier for the new route. This combined route is composed of two sections. The first section was formerly route 4 and the second section was formerly route 3. The carrier will leave to serve the second section at 2:45 p. m. The schedule has been arranged so that all the patrons will receive their daily papers which arrive on the Ansley mail. The post office department is combining routes all over the United States where ever a carrier resigns or is removed from the service for any cause. The routes were originally mapped out for horse and carriage delivery and it is now figured that two routes can be easily handled by a man with an automobile. This has been done for economy and will save the post office department a great deal of money.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

The barn on the Knight Dorsey farm east of Arcadia, was totally destroyed by fire of unknown origin Sunday morning at about 6:30. The Bryan Owens family who reside on the Dorsey farm were asleep at the time and were not aware of the fire until awakened by neighbors. The barn was enveloped in flames when discovered and the efforts of the tenants and neighbors were confined to keeping the other buildings from catching fire. A riding pony, which belonged to the small son of Mr. Dorsey, a small amount of grain and some farm implements were destroyed by the fire. The barn was pracically new, the old building having been struck by lightning and destroyed about three years ago. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

The Intolerants
(Aurora Republican)

Just who are the intolerants, and why?

Since some of the snappiest editorials of the day are being written around the subject of intolerance, this question seems pertinent, if not impertinent.

The fact is that the pot and the kettle have both been so busy calling the attention of the other to the fact that they have taken little time to study the science of complexion.

Offhand, we'd say that intolerance is the quality that makes a bull ignore his herbage to chase a red flag. There's no particular reason for it, but the chase is no less vigorous on that account. And the red flag usually comes out in as good or better condition than the bull, which has, meanwhile lost his cud, or whatever sort of quid it is that a male cow chews.

To put the thing in terms of men and women, intolerance is the science of getting all het up about something that shouldn't even produce a mild sweat. It's hatred without logic.

And since one man's logic is another's cross word puzzle, it isn't the easiest thing in the world to pick the tolerants from the intolerants in a world that is filled with both.

Just now, for instance, it is the stuff to attribute large quantities of intolerance and bigotry to anyone who happens to hold opposite views on religion and prohibition. But if logic is worthy anything at all, is there really any difference between the life-long democrat who is deserting Al Smith because he is a Catholic and the republican Catholic who is switching tickets purely on religious grounds? If we know our intolerance, there is not.

There is plenty of intolerance, all right, and nearly every human is loaded with his quota. So true is this that it's a pretty safe bet that a good many of our so-called tolerants are encouraging intolerance of another kind in their mad crusade for freedom of thought and action. Logic and reasoning are a fine antidote for prejudices and phobias, but they're pretty hard to poke down the throat, for most of us are intolerants in some degree or other.

Fortunate, indeed, the intolerant who can get rid of his pet prejudices with a mild snort or two without rampaging around the pasture on the trail of an unoffending bit of scarlet bunting.

Stop and Look.
(York Republican)

The accident which befell three men on the highway near York a few days ago happened in vain unless others profit thereby. They drove out on the highway from a side road into the path of a heavy truck without properly observing either the rules of the road or the common precautions of safety. They halted, in obedience to the road sign, quite a distance back of the edge of the highway, and then came on, to meet a disastrous accident in which two lost their lives.

The stop signs which mark the conjunction of the side roads with highways are placed within five feet of the edge of the road. That means the driver of a car coming on a side road should approach the highway within a few feet, look both ways, and, being sure of his course, proceed. It is not enough to stop twenty-five feet back and then come on.

The traffic rules were not made and stop signs erected to harass and annoy automobile drivers. They were designed to promote public safety. To obey them literally is to practice sound sense and do all one can do to make the roads safe for himself, his passengers, other travelers of the road, and the public in general.

An Increased Gasoline Tax.
(Hastings Democrat)

A well-planned campaign for an increased gasoline tax has been launched by good roads advocates who want hard surfaced roads. The claim is made that graveled roads, while very good, are too expensive to maintain, and that cement roads must be constructed. In order to court local favor the proposition to increase the gasoline tax to four cents contemplates allowing one cent of the increase to be retained in the counties of origin to be used in the betterment of secondary roads.

The Democrat is a good roads enthusiast. It visions the time when Nebraska will be gridironed with cement roads, primary and secondary. But just at this time it is disciplined to favor any proposition that contemplates increased taxation. Least of all is it inclined to support any proposition that contemplates taxing owners of private automobiles for the benefit of commercial buses and trucks that wreck havoc on the roads without paying a proportionate share of the upkeep. There is no more reason why the general public should provide commercial buses and trucks with a free right-of-way than there is for providing the railroads with free right-of-way. If the general public is to be taxed to provide the buses and trucks with free right-of-way and upkeep, then why not do the same thing for the railroads?

Make the buses and trucks pay in proportion as the railroads pay. Compel them to conform to the same rules and regulations that we impose upon the railroads. Limit their earnings to a reasonable interest on the physical value of their property used in the service of transportation. If they make more than the legal limit, recapture the excess and use it in road betterment. Compel them to carry "full crews", run on schedule regardless of weather conditions and provide adequate terminals.

Before an added gasoline tax is laid upon the shoulders of the general public, make the commercial users of the highways come through with adequate remuneration for the right-of-way the public provides.

extra speed, EXTRA POWER
—No Extra Cost!

THERE is nothing ordinary about Shell Gasoline . . . except its price. The process by which it is made is a vast improvement over older methods . . . the results it delivers are consequently a revelation to the motorist who is using it for the first time.

This Shell refining process is discriminating. It takes only the most volatile elements from the crude oil and rejects all the greasy, sluggish parts. It is a more costly manufacturing procedure, but is necessary to insure a lively, quick-starting, superior gasoline worthy to bear the Shell name.

You will realize the advantages of using this "Extra Dry" gasoline when you fill up with Shell. Smooth, effortless acceleration. Extra speed for the open road. Extra power on the hills.

Drive to any Shell yellow-red service station or Shell dealer today and try this superior gasoline. Remember, it costs more to produce, but costs you no more than the ordinary kind.

St. Paul Editor Compliments Fair

Dan Webster Attends Auto Races, Says Fair One of Best He Has Ever Seen.

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Webster and son, Lavern, and Miss Erma Welsh motored to Ord and spent the day taking in the Valley County fair and we believe we are safe in saying that it was the best and most successful fair ever put on in that county.

True we have not attended all the fairs they have held in that county, but for the past 25 years we have been attending the fair up there off and on and this one was so far ahead of any other we have ever seen there that we formed the opinion that it was the best and then on top of that we heard a number of old timers up there talk about it being the best ever.

The Valley county fair is not the largest county fair we have ever attended, but if all county fairs will measure up to the standard set by them this year no serious kicks will be heard against them. The crowd was such as to satisfy the fair board and there is no doubt but what the fair paid out in fine shape and if we were to make a guess we would say they had a nice surplus left for another year.

We do not know what effect it had on the fair, but we believe the fact that they have two former Howard county men on the board may have had something to do witt the fair being a success. Sam W. Roe is vice-president and both he and Ches Chinn are members of the board of directors Mr. Roe and one of his sons had charge of the Agricultural hall and they had a wonderful display of Valley county products. Not on exhibitor from outside Valley county was there. Last year two or three outside professional exhibitors were at the fair and carried off nearly all the prize money. This year they are not there. New rules adopted by the fair board eliminated them. The exhibits are not so large, but they are good and all from Valley county. Looks like the right thing has been done in this matter. In the Home Economics department we found Mrs. Bert VanDecar in charge and maybe that helped some to make the fair the success it was. Those ex-Howard people were right at home in doing their work to make the fair a success.

The other departments were good. Hogs, cattle, horses, poultry, barns and sheds were well filled with good exhibits. The art department, the home economics department, school and club repartments were well filled and the exhibits good. The fair, as a county fair, was a success in every way we would say and we did not hear a criticism as we mingled with the big crowd of struggling humanity as they pushed and crowded around through the limited space. The fair association needs more ground to properly handle the large crowds they are now attracting to their fair.

The entertainment was good also. Of course the big number on the program is the auto races. That is what took the Phonograph family to Ord Thursday. And no doubt the hundreds of Howard county people we met there were attracted to the fair by the same thing. It was a good number too. Eighteen racers entered and some of the fastest races ever stared in Nebraska were run there that day. Just as we were entering the grounds an ambulance was carrying away one of the racers to a hospital after crashing through the fence. The fellow was fatally injured and he passed away that evening. They have a wonderful track there. It is the fastest half mile track in the state and the racers took advantage of it to make some new records. They came within one-tenth of a second of equalling the world's record on a half mile track. We would say the races were worth while and the man in charge of them and the rest of the program kept things moving in such a manner that we did not have any delays whatever.

They had several free attractions that filled in between the races and kept the large crowd amused. The public speakin~ system of the Lincoln Telephone Co. was installed and seven loud speakers made it possible for every person in the grandstands and the quarter stretch to hear all announcements and the rest of the programs, such as the band playing and the various singers who were there to entertain us.

Taken altogether we would say the Valley county fair was a success in 1928. The board of directors were so well pleased with the success of the fair, and the large crowds that attended on Wednesday and Thursday, that they threw open the gates into their fair grounds and into the grandstand on those evenings and gave the people a free show. The best of feeling prevailed up there and there is no doubt about the success of that fair in the future if the board of managers can continue to satisfy the people of the Loup country as they did this year.—St. Paul Standard.

VICTORIOUS

in Every Test and Fulfilling Every Promise the NEW Maytag observes Its First Anniversary

ONE year ago, I announced the New Maytag as our latest and greatest achievement. Noteworthy refinements and striking improvements, including a new method of soap and water removal, were incorporated in the new washer. It set standards of convenience and washing efficiency that had never been known before.

During the year that has passed, hundreds of thousands of NEW Maytags have been introduced into as many homes, and each time subject to the famous Maytag trial basis: "If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it." Rigorous, exacting washday tests assailed the New Maytag, and it has emerged victorious to a degree exceeding my highest expectations.

A year ago, the New Maytag enjoyed a prestige inherited from Maytags of the past. Today the New Maytag enjoys a prestige in its own right, won by demonstrated performance. It has advanced still farther in its world leadership.

BURWELL NEWS

The report of the Burwell teachers and the work of each as printed in last week's Quiz was so cleverly jumbled up that most of them were teaching the wrong grade or the wrong subject. Rather than reorganize the school, it has been suggested that the paper be given another chance, so a typewritten copy is being sent this week. The copy last week was correct, but evidently misread.

First grade, Pauline Paris.
Second grade, Lenette Green.
Third grade, Helen Speedie.
Fourth grade, Margaret Myers.
Fifth grade, Gertrude Banks.
Sixth grade, Muriel Burns.
Seventh grade, Hazel Dickhute.
Eighth grade, Rose Freeland.

The teachers and their subjects in the high school are:

Esther Fehner, Principal and Normal Training; Fern Carlson, Latin and English; Bertha Reinke, History; Wilbert Zorn, Science and Athletics; Ralph Douglas, Agriculture; Winifred Grunkemeyer, Home Economics; Alfreda Smith, Mathematics; Laverne Fitton, Director of Music; Mildred Ilgenfritz, Commercial; John E. Opp. Superintendent.

Ray Brown Wins Again.

Ray Brown and a number of other cow boys drove into town the middle part of last week and for a day or two it looked like another rodeo was about to be staged. They were on their way west from the Sioux City rodeo, which was held Sept. 1, 2 and 3. The sweepstakes prize offered there, a huge silver cup which must have cost the donors a large sum, was awarded to Ray Brown, and it has been on exhibition at the Meyers and Manasil garage since its arrival in town.

Other old timers here won in the same rodeo, Jim Irwin taking first in the bull dogging and Jay Snively first in the calf roping. About 50 cow boys contested, among them Shorty Ricker, Chester Byers, Bobby Kalen, Tommy Kernan, Buck Stewart, Smoky Roberts, Ivin Collins, Sam Grover, Jimmy Nesbeth, Bill Sawyer, Dakota Red; Ike Rude, Harry Williams (not of Quiz fame), Mike Hastings, Orville Brown, Tex Slocum, Dan Offutt and Fox O'Callahan.

A number of well known women artists were present, among them being Fox Hastings, Madge Runyan, Marie Gibson, Ruth Roach and Bea Kernan. Ray must have had a busy three days to win from such a brilliant field. He says the crowd was the largest he had seen this year with the exception of Burwell.

W. E. Rice, who carries mail for a living and keeps a few Buff Rock hens for a side line, reports that he is much surprised at the antics of one of the flock. She commenced early in the season and laid a double yolked egg until she was given a job as guardian of some small chickens. She recently decided it was time to get back to work and laid two eggs per day for four days in succession. As Bill never goes fishing there must be something in the story of this remarkable hen.

Casper Larsen, who lives on the F. O. Kellogg ranch north of Burwell was called to Stromsburg by the sad news that his mother had passed away at that place. The lady was well along in years, so the summons was not entirely unexpected.

The F. O. Kellogg family enjoyed a few days visit from their son, Irvin Kellogg who drove over from his home at Clarksville, Ia. On Thursday they went to Amelia to visit the other son, John. They found that John had recently sold his blacksmith shop, garage and filling station at that place to a brother of Charley Gillen. Sunday Mrs. Norm Holt and her brother, Alfred Geneski, also called on the Kellogg family.

A new tourist guide is doing duty at the Phillips filling station. It is a board, ten by four feet in size, and contains the names of about seventy towns scattered over the state, properly grouped along their respective highways, together with the distance from Burwell. This board is located over the doorway of the office and replaces one recently gone the way of all sign boards.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The service next Sunday morning will be the first service of the new conference year. The Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock and the morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. The Epworth League forces are being rallied and a fine program is planned for Sunday evening at 6:30. The young people of this church are most cordially invited to attend these services and join this organization.

We have been re-appointed to the Ord church and have accepted the appointment with the prayer that God may lead in all the labors and services of this year. Our chief desire is to cooperate with all the forces of righteousness in putting on a constructive program which will make for a more virile type of Christianity, and which will create a more wholesome community life. We are glad to be with you for another year.

A most cordial welcome awaits you at all our services.

J. A. MOORMAN, Pastor.

More Students Leave.

Misses Marjorie Thelin and Margaret Petty are leaving to enter Wesleyan. Miss Alta VanHorn has gone to Western, Nebr., where she is on the high school faculty, having charge of the Normal training. Elgin Olson, who is well known in Ord and North Loup is superintendent of schools at Western. Fisher is returning to York College.

Guernsey Man Visits.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—A Guernsey cattle man, Mr. Carl Van Osdol with his wife have arrived from Cedar Edge, Colo., for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Hubbard. They will visit for a few days in Lexington, with the Elmer Hubbard family and expect to return in time for pop corn days. Mr. VanOsdol is looking forward to meeting many old friends then.

Buys Milch Cows.

North Loup, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—W. S. VanHorn bought three good milk cows this week from Burt Sell who lives near Arcadia. Harry Meyers brought them over in his truck. North Loup people are all interested in good milch cows because of the cheese factory.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society met Thursday, September 6 with Mrs Richard Gibb. The leader of the devotions was Mrs. Rusmissel, with "Fragments" as the subject. Mrs. Fred Bartz was the leader of the lesson study. It was a summary of the goals achieved during the conference year just closing and a planning of the goals to be attained during the coming year. There were ten members present. The hostess served a delightful lunch of cheese sandwiches, coffee and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

State Fair Visitors.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Grace Rood, editor of the Loyalist, went down to Lincoln Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. Horace M. Davis, and to see some of the attractions at the state fair. She left the responsibility of getting out the weekly paper with L. M. Catlin and James Morrison and they did their job well. She returned home Wednesday evening.

Another state fair visitor was Geo. Mayo, who also returned Wednesday evening, bringing his son's wife, Mrs. Merlin Mayo, who came because of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Geo. E. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis took in the state fair while enroute from a short visit at Elkhart, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barber and Glen Barber and wife were also there part of the week.

Babcock Hurt in Fall.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Arthur Babcock, who is employed in Ira Manchester's meat market, met with an accident while on the way home from work Wednesday evening. He was hurriedly entering Clark's garage and slipped on some grease that had been spilled on the floor, and fell, striking the back of his head against a car jack, rendering him unconscious for about half an hour and requiring several stitches to close the wound. He was unable to go to work the following day, but is now back on the job feeling almost himself again.

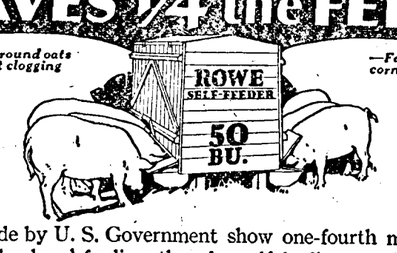
SAVES 1/4 the FEED



Tests made by U. S. Government show one-fourth more feed required by hand-feeding than by self-feeding to make 100 pounds of gain.

ROWE Self-Feeder

Feeds all feeds, even ground oats, without clogging. Eight inch feed openings handle ear corn. When pigs lift trough covers, the Pull-a-Vator slides up under feed and "hoes" it right down into trough. Requires no attention except filling. Feed bins are wider at bottom than top. Accelerator floor is extra steep. Regulating boards are of steel—heavy galvanized troughs—sliding water-proof galvanized cover over bins. All wood hot-creosoted. Entire feeder on skids—easily moved, full or empty. Made in 4 bu., 25 bu., 50 bu. and 65 bu. sizes.

Platinum's Value at First Not Recognized

At one time platinum was regarded as a nuisance. Today it is more valuable than gold.

Scientists have proved that it is the most permanent of all metals and that it resists the action of moisture or the elements for centuries. Platinum is of exceptional value in dental work, because it is not affected by the acids and secretions of the mouth.

It was the Spaniards who brought this metal to the notice of the civilized world. When they were in Mexico and Panama in search of gold they regarded platinum as a nuisance and a dangerous metal because, being as heavy as gold, it was easily mistaken for gold when covered with a coating of yellow metal.

It was not long, however, before they realized its value for making jewelry, and used it for snuff-boxes, sword and dagger hilts, and other ornaments.

It now commands a higher price than gold. When it is in crude ore form it is like a coarse gravel that appears dull and unpromising. After the first refinishing process the metal is spongy and porous. It is then pressed into round disks.

In ancient times the metal was hammered into very thin sheets and then worked up into endless varieties of ornaments, the best specimens of which have been found in Ecuador.

Old Paintings Throw Light on Indian Life

Six paintings of American Indians made in the 1730's and forgotten for 200 years have been given to the world in reproduction for the first time in a publication, released from the Smithsonian Institution. They are drawings of the life and culture of the Indians of lower Louisiana made between the years 1732-35, by A. DeBatz, a Frenchman, presumably an architect or an engineer.

The drawings are the earliest known to have been made in lower Louisiana, and they are likewise believed to be the oldest pictures existing of members of the Acolapissa, Atakapa, Choctow, Fox, Illinois and Tunica tribes. The paper has turned yellow with age, but the colors remain clear and bright, and many details are shown with great exactness.

The sketches yield an astonishing quantity of information on the clothing, habitations, temples, fighting activities, games and domestic animals of the Indians around the Mississippi. Though crude, they are very graphic and prove DeBatz to have been a careful observer interested in the customs of the Indians

Men Like Coffee Beans?

Life standardizes us. We are like so many coffee beans—the same size, the same color, the same smell. Creatures of convention! The very buttons that hold our clothes together are sewed where they are by the dictates of convention. Every article of dress is prescribed by fashion and custom; we eat what we do for the same reason, we get up in the morning, comb our hair, go to our offices, or cook breakfast, wash dishes, and perform the thousand and one things that make up our daily lives, because convention so decides. Some fortunate ones succeed in pursuing more or less independent existences, but the whole tendency of our American life is to make us do the same thing, say the same thing, and think the same thing.—Charles G. Norris in Plain Talk Magazine.

Just Another Container

I "Up the Years From Bloomsbury," the actor, George Arliss, tells of meeting in Boston a delightful old lady, Mrs. Bell, who was then eighty-four.

"I met her at many gatherings. No dinner party in which she was included was ever dull. She generally kept everyone in peals of laughter and I never heard her repeat herself. She lived in a small house with a small back garden. For a time she kept a pig in the yard and when asked why on earth she kept it, she said:

"'Well, we must have something to put things in.'"

Powers of Endurance in Wild Creatures

Dogs and wild animals of the same family are remarkable for their quickness and staying power in running. Wolves will travel 60 miles in a night. Nansen saw arctic foxes on the ice nearly 500 miles from land, and found their tracks in the snow on the parallel of 85 degrees.

Eskimo dogs can travel 45 miles in five hours, according to Hayes, who relates that he drove his dog team seven miles in half an hour. A Siberian dog on good ice will draw about 80 pounds; our ordinary dogs at full speed run at the rate of from 33 to 49 feet per second; setters and pointers can travel about 18½ to 21 7-10 miles per hour, and can maintain this speed for two or even three hours.

Foxhounds are very fast, and in a recent trial one of them beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in six minutes and a half. Greyhounds can run at the rate of 59 to 75 feet per second.

Many Uses for Flaxseed

Flaxseed is grown primarily for the production of linseed oil, each short ton of seed producing from 70 to 80 gallons of oil, which is used in the manufacture of paints and varnish, linoleum, oilcloth, printers' ink, patent leather, imitation leather and sundry other products. The cake that is left after the oil is pressed out is valued as a feed for dairy and beef cattle and finds a ready market. A large part of the cake produced in this country is exported, principally to the Netherlands, Belgium and the United Kingdom. The United States is the second largest producer of flaxseed in the world, but, in spite of this fact, this country is also the world's largest importer of this product. Our production ordinarily takes care of about 55 per cent of our domestic requirements. This year the United States produced approximately 24,270,00 bushels.

Sickle Still in Use at Galician Harvest

A Galician peasant girl frames her bronzed face with a russet-colored handkerchief. She wears a blouse of blue percale with sleeves of checked gingham, and a gray woolen skirt. The white and blue striped apron is crumpled by the sheaf of yellow wheat clasped in her smooth brown arms.

In Galicia many of the men emigrate to find employment, and the women carry on the work of the four seasons. The fields are small; the farming methods are the methods of the Homeric age. The red earth is turned in shallow furrows with wooden plows drawn by biscuit-colored oxen.

The seed is scattered by hand, and the soil is cultivated with wooden harrows. In June the grain is ripe, and the peasant girl goes into the field with her sickle.

The harvester bends low; in the left arm she gathers a cluster of grain stalks; with the sickle in her right hand she cuts a swift stroke near the roots. Catching the severed grain in the curve of the sickle, she raises it above her head and waves it in a circular movement; then, pivoting on her hips, she lays the sheaf on the ground behind her. In tireless rhythm she moves across the rows of grain.

Liked Old Costumes but Stuck to Modern

Looking at some pictures of Ireland, old and new, a friend remarked the other day that men on the streets of Dublin looked like men on the streets of New Bedford, and pointed regretfully to the posed picture of the typical Irish countryman of an older day, with his breeches and his characteristic hat and stick.

"What a pity they haven't stuck to the old costumes." "Well," I said, "they haven't; but if you are stuck on that rig there is nothing on earth to prevent you wearing one like it." He said that was different. "Doubtless," I went on, "you admire the Hungarian women in their quaint old-style dress." He said he did. "Do you want your wife to dress that way?" But he said that, too, was different.

"If you are so strong for the old and the picturesque," I persisted, "you might wear silk knee breeches and stockings and a gilt-buttoned coat and an elaborate starched, ruffled collar and a three-pointed hat, just like your Revolutionary forbears." But it was no use. I couldn't interest him in wearing old clothes, and he wouldn't think of cooking his meal in an open fireplace, preferring the standardized, dull, stupid gas stove with hot-water attachment.—C. G.,

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swanek accompanied their son Anton to Ogalalla Monday where he will sow his wheat and as his mother is suffering with asthma it was thought the change might do her good.

BURWELL NEWS

The report of the Burwell teachers and the work of each as printed in last week's Quiz was so cleverly jumbled up that most of them were teaching the wrong grade or the wrong subject. Rather than reorganize the school, it has been suggested that the paper be given another chance, so a typewritten copy is being sent this week. The copy last week was correct, but evidently misread.

First grade, Pauline Paris.
Second grade, Lenette Green.
Third grade, Helen Speedie.
Fourth grade, Margaret Myers.
Fifth grade, Gertrude Banks.
Sixth grade, Muriel Burns.
Seventh grade, Hazel Dickhute.
Eighth grade, Rose Freeland.

The teachers and their subjects in the high school are:

Ray Brown Wins Again.

Ray Brown and a number of other cow boys drove into town the middle part of last week and for a day or two it looked like another rodeo was about to be staged. They were on their way west from the Sioux City rodeo, which was held Sept. 1, 2 and 3. The sweepstakes prize offered there, a huge silver cup which must have cost the donors a large sum, was awarded to Ray Brown, and it has been on exhibition at the Meyers and Manasil garage since its arrival in town.

Other old timers here won in the same rodeo, Jim Irwin taking first in the bull dogging and Jay Snively first in the calf roping. About 50 cow boys contested, among them Shorty Ricker, Chester Byers, Bobby Kalen, Tommy Kernan, Buck Stewart, Smoky Roberts, Ivin Collins, Sam Grover, Jimmy Nesbeth, Bill Sawyer, Dakota Red; Ike Rude, Harry Williams (not of Quiz fame), Mike Hastings, Orville Brown, Tex Slocum, Dan Offutt and Fox O'Callahan.

A number of well known women artists were present, among them being Fox Hastings, Madge Runyan, Marie Gibson, Ruth Roach and Bea Kernan. Ray must have had a busy three days to win from such a brilliant field. He says the crowd was the largest he had seen this year with the exception of Burwell.

W. E. Rice, who carries mail for a living and keeps a few Buff Rock hens for a side line, reports that he is much surprised at the antics of one of the flock. She commenced early in the season and laid a double yolked egg until she was given a job as guardian of some small chickens. She recently decided it was time to get back to work and laid two eggs per day for four days in succession. As Bill never goes fishing there must be something in the story of this remarkable hen.

Casper Larsen, who lives on the F. O. Kellogg ranch north of Burwell was called to Stromsburg by the sad news that his mother had passed away at that place. The lady was well along in years, so the summons was not entirely unexpected.

The F. O. Kellogg family enjoyed a few days visit from their son, Irvin Kellogg who drove over from his home at Clarksville, Ia. On Thursday they went to Amelia to visit the other son, John. They found that John had recently sold his blasksmith shop, garage and filling station at that place to a brother of Charley Gillen. Sunday Mrs. Norm Holt and her brother, Alfred Geneski, also called on the Kellogg family.

A new tourist guide is doing duty at the Phillips filling station. It is a board, ten by four feet in size, and contains the names of about seventy towns scattered over the state, properly grouped along their respective highways, together with the distance from Burwell. This board is located over the doorway of the office and replaces one recently gone the way of all sign boards.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The service next Sunday morning will be the first service of the new conference year. The Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock and the morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. The Epworth League forces are being rallied and a fine program is planned for Sunday evening at 6:30. The young people of this church are most cordially invited to attend these services and join this organization.

We have been re-appointed to the Ord church and have accepted the appointment with the prayer that God may lead in all the labors and services of this year. Our chief desire is to cooperate with all the forces of righteousness in putting on a constructive program which will make for a more virile type of Christianity, and which will create a more wholesome community life. We are glad to be with you for another year.

A most cordial welcome awaits you at all our services.

J. A. MOORMAN, Pastor.

More Students Leave.

North Loup, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—More students and teachers are leaving again this week to take up their new duties, among them Lucy Miller who leaves the last of the week to enter college at Central City. Misses Marjorie Thelin and Margaret Petty are leaving to enter Wesleyan. Miss Alta VanHorn has gone to Western, Nebr., where she is on the high school faculty, having charge of the Normal training. Elgin Olson, who is well known in Ord and North Loup is superintendent of schools at Western. Fisher is returning to York College.

Guernsey Man Visits.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—A Guernsey cattle man, Mr. Carl Van Osdol with his wife have arrived from Cedar Edge, Colo., for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Hubbard. They will visit for a few days in Lexington, with the Elmer Hubbard family and expect to return in time for pop corn days. Mr. VanOsdol is looking forward to meeting many old friends then.

Buys Milch Cows.

North Loup, Sept. 8.—(Special.)—W. S. VanHorn bought three good milk cows this week from Burt Sell who lives near Arcadia. Harry Meyers brought them over in his truck. North Loup people are all interested in good milch cows because of the cheese factory.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society met Thursday, September 6 with Mrs Richard Gibb. The leader of the devotions was Mrs. Rusmissel, with "Fragments" as the subject. Mrs. Fred Bartz was the leader of the lesson study. It was a summary of the goals achieved during the conference year just closing and a planning of the goals to be attained during the coming year. There were ten members present. The hostess served a delightful lunch of cheese sandwiches, coffee and pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

State Fair Visitors.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Grace Rood, editor of the Loyalist, went down to Lincoln Saturday to visit her sister, Mrs. Horace M. Davis, and to see some of the attractions at the state fair. She left the responsibility of getting out the weekly paper with L. M. Catlin and James Morrison and they did their job well. She returned home Wednesday evening.

Another state fair visitor was Geo. Mayo, who also returned Wednesday evening, bringing his son's wife, Mrs. Merlin Mayo, who came because of the illness of her mother, Mrs. Geo. E. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis took in the state fair while enroute from a short visit at Elkhart, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barber and Glen Barber and wife were also there part of the week.

Babcock Hurt in Fall.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special.)—Arthur Babcock, who is employed in Ira Manchester's meat market, met with an acident while on the way home from work Wednesday evening. He was hurriedly entering Clark's garage and slipped on some grease that had been spilled on the floor, and fell, striking the back of his head against a car jack, rendering him unconscious for about half an hour and requiring several stitches to close the wound. He was unable to go to work the following day, but is now back on the job feeling almost himself again.

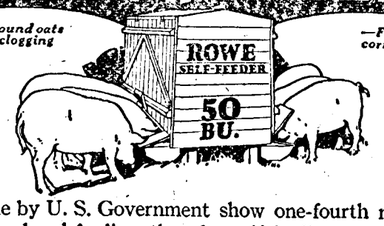
SAVES 1/4 the FEED



Tests made by U. S. Government show one-fourth more feed required by hand-feeding than by self-feeding to make 100 pounds of gain.

ROWE Self-Feeder

Feeds all feeds, even ground oats, without clogging. Eight inch feed openings handle ear corn. When pigs lift trough covers, the Pull-a-Vator slides up under feed and "hoes" it right down into trough. Requires no attention except filling. Feed bins are wider at bottom than top. Accelerator floor is extra steep. Regulating boards are of steel—heavy galvanized troughs—sliding water-proof galvanized cover over bins. All wood hot-creosoted. Entire feeder on skids—easily moved, full or empty. Made in 4 bu., 25 bu., 50 bu. and 65 bu. sizes.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Jones and daughter Mildred went over to Fullerton Saturady and stayed until Sunday evening, visiting their son Hunter Jones. He is employed by the Fullerton Truck company.

Miss Sarah Purdum of Chicago who has been here for some little time visiting her sister, Mrs. Frank Johnson, left this week for Ord to see another sister, Mrs. George Parkins. She will leave September 18 for Colorado Springs, where she will attend a convention of the New York Life Insurance company.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stevens and children, and Mrs. Vanscoy and son Harold left Tuesday for City Terrace, a suburb of Los Angeles, Cal. They shipped their household goods and expect to make it their home. Mr. Stevens has been doing carpenter work for some time with Tom Hamer. Mrs. VanScoy and Harold expect to only spend the winter, and have left Miss Lola Fuller in charge of the Arlington hotel. She has been employed at the hotel for the last eight years and is well qualified to look after the comfort of all concerned. She will be assisted after school hours by Winnie Hamer and Jessie Gilmore.

Mrs. Daisy Paddock, who recently bought the Will Cox residence is improving her property by new paint and paper, and is also digging a cellar.

On Tuesday evening a jolly crowd of young people, mostly members of the Epworth League, went to the chalk hills for a farewell picnic and wiener roast in honor of Misses Eva Gibb and Bessie Eberhart who left today to take up their work as students at Wesleyan university. Mrs. Kildow and Mrs. Hemphill chaperoned the bunch.

Miss Maxine McCune was hostess Monday evening at a slumber party at her pleasant country home. The guests were Misses Vesta Kildow, Cecile Willoughby, Alice Pierce, and Helen Cook.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special)—Miss Elma Sample, daughter of C. C. Sample, has enrolled for a course in business training at a Grand Island Business college. Kenneth Hawks returns to college at Central City and Harold Schaffner is taking up his first year's work at Peru normal. Dale Cress has left for his school at Cordova, and Edna Baker has returned for another year of teaching at Cedar Bluffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Kildow have been entertaining the latter's brother and sister, John and Ruby Fisher and Miss Orpha Burgess of Dewitt.

The Irl Hart family of Ong have been spending several days both at Ericson and in North Loup with Mrs. Hart's mother, Mrs. Kizer. Little Lester Hart will stay with his grandmother for a while and attend school. E. L. Chadwick of Gallitin, Mo., and M. M. Chadwick of Pattenburg, Mo., were guests of the Ira Manchester family for a short time this week.

North Loup, Sept. 12.—(Special)—Ches Chinn has been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ellison of Marengo, Ill. Mrs. Ellison is a sister of the late Mrs. Chinn. They came Tuesday evening and left Saturday morning for home. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Chinn twice while they were making their home in Ord, and before coming to North Loup they had been in California for a month visiting a son and welcoming a new granddaughter. Mr. Chinn went with the Ellisons as far as St. Paul on their homeward journey. When he came back to North Loup on Sunday morning he was accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Nicholson of St. Paul and their daughter Mrs. G. E. Anderson and two small sons of Cody, Neb. They all spent the day picnicing at a grove on the Calamus river north of Taylor where they were joined by Mrs. Anderson's husband, who came that far to meet them and take her home.

Miss Gertrude Bohrer had expected to leave Saturday for Hastings to enter the nurse's training school in the Mary Lanning hospital, and is greatly disappointed because on account of sickness she was unable to go. She came home a short time ago from Dr. Weekes' hospital at Ord where she had been doing nursing for the last sixteen months and much in need of a rest. She is hoping to be able to go to Hastings and take up her work with the class starting in February. Her sister, Miss Mary is leaving today for Hastings where she will be joined by another young lady and they will go to Denver for a week of sight seeing. From there she will go to La Marr, Colo., and visit for an indefinite time in the home of a former classmate.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cook returned home Monday evening after a very enjoyable trip of two weeks. They visited Mr. Cook's people at Elmwood and at Nebraska City. While at the latter place they visited Arbor Lodge, the former home of J. Sterling Morton, which with its surrounding sixty five acres has been given to the state of Nebraska to be used as a state park. They also visited the state fair, later going to Omaha to see other friends, and from there to Plattsmouth to visit other relatives of Mr. Cook. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bohrer, parents of Mrs. Cook kept an eye on things at the farm during their absence going out from town every day to see that the stock was cared for.

Miss Annie Romans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Romans, living south of town, will leave Saturday morning for Lincoln where she will enter the teacher's college of the state university. She has taught several terms in the schools of Valley county and has done summer work at Kearney. Her brother Robert is teaching this year north of Arnold and her sister Dorothy is one of the Valley county teachers. Claud Romans, the father of these young people, as well as being the father of six other fine youngsters, says it is his great ambition to make teachers of them all. Claud is well known for his deep convictions along political lines. If anyone thinks he is "all wet" just talk to him about Al Smith. He is a democrat all right but not of the Smith and Irl Tolen variety!

BILLY GARNICK RAISES HOGS IN SPARE TIME

(By J. A. Kavanda)

We know at least one boy who is not waiting to make his fortune, until he grows up and can become an aviator.

Billy Garnick puts in his spare time raising Duroc Jersey hogs, and does a good job of it. When Mr. Dale organized a Pig club three years ago, Billy didn't join it for the sake of novelty; he wanted to make some money, and study the hog business. Today he knows more about raising hogs than many old and experienced farmers; he owns a herd of purebreds that compare favorably in quality with any in the country, and he has a substantial bank account as well.

Billy got his start thru the Ord Rotary club, when they loaned out sows to boys to start their club projects. It is evident that in starting these projects, this organization did a valuable piece of work. Billy did not raise his pigs with any by-guess and by-gosh method; he studied his club lessons, and knew to a bushel of corn and a pound of tankage how much those pigs would eat every day. He learned that corn alone was poor feed, and that pigs raised in old contaminated quarters had to be fed pills and didn't do well. So he built an individual hog house for his pigs, and put them out on new clean ground in sweet clover pasture.

He is a skilled exhibitor as well as a grower of hogs. This year at the county fair he won $50 in prizes on a litter of four pigs. These spring pigs all weighed over two hundred pounds at fair time.

And hogs are usually pretty good money makers for everybody. They multiply rapidly, eat most anything, and produce more meat from one hundred pounds of feed than any other animal. They are turned into money the quickest, dress out the most meat, the most nutritious meat, and require the least investment.

The future looks good for the hog raiser. All sections of the United States are showing a decrease of from one-seventh to one-half in production. Pork production in Europe is gradually being curtailed, making the prospective outlook better for our exports.

From 1900 up to the present time, our nine highly profitable pork production periods have reached their peaks about every third or fourth year, these peaks of high hog prices having occurred in the years 1900, 1903, 1906, 1910, 1913, 1916, 1919, 1922, and 1926. Since there was a period of depression in 1927, and the trend of prices is now upward, it is evident that a profitable period is not far away.

Dam of Sire Owned by Coats Holds Records

Waikiki's Scotch Girl 568237, a Jersey cow owned by he dairy husbandry department of the University of Nebraska, recently was awarded a second silver medal from the American Jersey Cattle club and her achievement is immensely gratifying to Ernest S. Coats, Valley county Jersey breeder. The cow is the dam of University of Nebraska Scotchman 243597 herd bull owned by Mr. Coats since the spring of 1926.

Waikiki's Scotch Girl is now the holder of two state of Nebraska records. Her records are in the junior 2-year-old and junior 4-year-old classes. In the former her record is 9,541 pounds milk, 588.56 pounds butter fat, and her 4-year-old record is 10,246 pounds milk, 665.13 pounds butter fat.

In 1926, when Mr. Coats decided to buy a herd sire, he started east determined to search in Wisconsin and Michigan until he found one to his liking. When he reached Lincoln, however, Mr. Gramlich, head of the dairy husbandry deparment, of the state university, urged him to look at a bull calf dropped by Waikiki's Scotch Girl at the age of 21 months. He did so, found the calf to his liking and bought it.

The Coats bull comes from a long line of high producing ancestors. The sire of Waikiki's Scotch Girl was Model's Pilot of Waikiki 152038, and he has 20 register of merit daughters that have an average yearly production, at the age of 3 years, 4 months, of 9,586 pounds milk, 504 pounds butter fat.

The Junior herd sire of the dairy husbandry department is Storr's Navigator 276877, and his 14 nearest dams, 9 at immature age, have records which average 12,273 pounds milk, 686 pounds butter fat.

University of Nebraska Scotchman has an admirable record in the Coats herd, having sired calves that have won all prizes at the Valley county fair and heifers that are beginning to show heavy production records.

Elyria Teachers Visit.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special)—Miss Lucille and Myrtle Green, daughters of Wardner Green, visited at home, coming in on the Friday afternoon bus. They are teaching at Elyria this year. They have an enrollment of forty seven pupils. Miss Myrtle has the twenty-seven pupils in the lower grades, including ten beginners, and Miss Lucille has the higher grades, including the tenth. They are experienced teachers and are very enthusiastic over their chosen profession, and prospects for the year.

Carol Thomas Recovers.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special)—Carol Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Thomas, has been having a very serious time with blood poisoning. About ten days ago he suffered a cut by a mower just above the ankle bone. Blood poisoning soon developed and he was a very sick boy for several days, and in danger of his life. He went to school today for the first time this fall, having missed the opening week, but thankful indeed to be able to walk, even tho he walks with a limp. His older brother Vernon also developed blood poisoning at about the same time from a cut on the thumb but made a quicker recovery.

—Frank Misko was a motor passenger Monday, going to Omaha.

McClellan Family Back from Trip to Canada

North Loup, Sept. 12.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Merrill McClellan have returned from a very delightful trip which lasted several weeks and took them to Milwaukee, Wis., and to Oskosh for a visit with friends, and to Berlin, where relatives live of both Mr. and Mrs. McClellan. They visited the Northern Michigan peninsula, then across to Superior, and thence to Bessemer and other points in the iron region. Duluth was also included in their itinerary, up in the many lake country. Mrs. McClellan said it seemed to her that tourists and trappers had left no lake undiscovered, no matter how small. They drove up into Winnipeg, Canada, and have many interesting things to tell of the beauty of the furs on display in the big stores, and of the amazing cheapness of the linens, leather goods, china, and diamonds and toilet articles that are imported from France and because of the lower rates of duty, can be sold much more cheaply than in the United States. The cars of tourists crossing into Canada are given a very close inspection, officials making a very detailed record of each car because all makes of cars are about 1-3 higher in price in Canada than in the U. S. and they are afraid some American might be tempted to sell off their cars at a neat profit, and come back home for more. Another interesting thing to know is that on entering this country from Canada, each person is allowed purchases amounting to $100 to be brought in duty free, for instance if a car has five occupants, whether said occupants be old or young, $500 worth of goods may be admitted free.

On their return trip, coming thru Brule, Wis., they had the unexpected pleasure of seeing President and Mrs. Coolidge as they were coming out of church after the morning service.

—Miss Alice Seerley, who is employed in Grand Island came to Ord Monday to see her mother who is a patient in the Ord hospital.

Prof. Green Moves.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special)—Prof. and Mrs. Green and family are moving this week into their fine new modern home. It is really their former home remodeled, but has been so changed in arrangement that it would not be recognized. It is complete in every detail with oak floors and woodwork, open stairway, and built-in bookcases and many other built-in features that would please any housewife. There are seven rooms, besides closets, bathroom and two large screened porches, and full basement well equipped for laundry purposes.

Catholic Ladies Bake Sale.

The Ord Catholic ladies will hold a bake sale next Saturday at the Jerry Petska store.

—The Elmer Gladson family were over from Kearney and made a visit with Mrs. Gladson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kessler. Louis Kessler and family are expected to drive over from Kearney Saturday.

Ed Wellman Dead.

North Loup, Sept. 10.—(Special)—Word was received here Saturday morning that Ed Wellman, brother of Lowell and Merrill Wellman had passed away at his home at Callaway, Nebraska. I. J. Thelin, the local U. P. agent, very obligingly held the train until the Wellmans could make the necessary preparations to leave to attend their brother's funeral. He was formerly a resident of North Loup, but at the time of his death was depot agent at Callaway.

Meatless Days Are Joyless Days

Meat is a health builder and a happiness bringer. Meatless days are drab, dreary days. The very sight of a sizzling plate of pork chops or a rare, juicy steak brings joy to the average man who is fond of eating. Give your husband pleasure, Mrs. Housewife. Serve him the foods he likes, cooked the way he likes them. The answer will be MEAT—three times out of four.

When you serve meat be sure to buy it here for we have the best cuts refrigerated in the safest and most sanitary way.

Many Visit State Historical Car

The display car of the Nebraska State Historical society which recently completed a tour of fourteen Nebraska towns was visited by approximately 5,000 people during the trip, according to the estimates of E. E. Blackman, curator of the State Historical society museum, who is in charge of the car. The display in the car illustrates chronologically the development of the state.

Several other towns have asked for exhibitions of the car and these will probably be visited during September. The historical car was at the Nebraska state fair in Lincoln, where 50,000 visitors went through it, Mr. Blackman estimated.

The displays in the car begin with Indian days, with relics showing methods of living. Then in order are displays of the exploration period, the time of the settlers, and the gradual development of the state to the present day. The collection was made up by Mr. Blackman from exhibits in the historical society rooms on the University of Nebraska campus in Lincoln.

The car was originally planned for the 40th celebration of the coming of the Burlington railroad to Alliance. It was exhibited in connecion with a car of the Burlington showing material used by the railroad in early days. The showing there and one day at Grand Island brought 15,000 visitors. Reports of the displays caused requests from many other towns for exhibitions. A tour was worked out with the Burlington railroad for August. The towns visited by the car in August were Mason City, Bridgeport, Morrill, Imperial, Arapahoe, Red Cloud, Diller, Wymore, Loup City Hastings, McCook, Clay Center, Ord and Lincoln, with a total of 60,000 visitors. A schedule is being worked out to visit Ulysses, Omaha, Plattsmouth, Nebraska City and possibly other points during September.

LET'S TALK ABOUT Price

LETS turn the cards face up. We'll both agree every farmer wants Delco-Light on his farm. If you haven't it, there must be some good reason. Maybe you think it's the cost.

Fair enough! Suppose we get together and do some figuring. Let's figure just how much money it would take—when you would need to pay it and just what you'd get for your money. Then let's figure how Delco-Light would save you money and help you to make more. In short, let's dig out all the facts.

It won't cost you a cent to talk this over. And we'd like to figure out some way for you to get the Delco-Light plant you want sooner than you expect. How about some evening this week?

L. J. AUBLE, Dealer.

Just phone or drop me a card and I'll bring Delco Light to your home for a night demonstration!

You are the judge

ARE you sure your motor is entirely to blame for slow starts, weak acceleration, refusal to take little hills on high gear, unless you hit the up-grade at high speed? The gasoline you use may be the real cause. They are not all alike.

Try balanced Red Crown Gasoline—volatile, quick starting. It gives strong acceleration, plenty of power for hills and heavy going, big mileage per gallon. Judge your motor for performance with uniform, balanced Red Crown Gasoline in the tank.

* * *

If compression is high due to carbon, or if you have one of the new high compression motors, you will get smoother operation, more power and bigger mileage with high compression fuel — RED CROWN ETHYL GASOLINE. This combination fuel is always reliable Red Crown Gasoline with Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound added. Besides ending gas knocks, it gives every motor a higher range of flexible, obedient power. Costs more by the gallon but less by the mile. Try it.

For economy and satisfaction buy your gasoline and motor oils where you see the Red Crown Sign—the sign of top-quality products and prompt, obliging, courteous service.

CHEERFUL JOHN MOODY
AN INTER-LANGUAGE WANTED
A MAN OF 104
WHY MEN FARM

John Moody studies and thinks, and predicts five more years at least, of rising values and prosperity. "The old breeders of financial panic that brought on the crises of 1893, 1903 and 1927 have disappeared."

We are living in a new kind of America, with a new kind of prosperity. "America's world of today is not the world of twenty years ago," says Moody.

If you were feeling gloomy, cheer up.

Many are prosperous, NOT all. Barney Deboka, having vainly hunted a job, stood at a restaurant window, watching a woman turning batter cakes. He fell in a faint and doctors are treating him for starvation.

Great is the power of civilization, training a man so well that he stands watching food until he drops of hunger rather than steal. Man is a teachable animal.

Delegations of college men from different parts of the United States will record their voices on talking machines that scientists may study "American dialects."

The main thing is that all of them are understood from New York to San Francisco.

In Europe, traveling 3,000 miles from Oslo to the southeast, you would hear Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, German, Czecho-Slovakian, Hungarian, Rumanian, Bulgarian, Turkish, Greek, and, in Egypt, Arabic, twelve different languages in a 3,000-mile trip, and not hear one-half the languages that Europe speaks.

Europe feels the need of an "inter-language." The sensible thing would be to make that language English, that all waiters and clerks need, and nearly all educated Europeans know.

National pride prevents that. So why not use Latin, once the universal learned language, making it possible for Erasmus to speak to Henry the Eighth; for all learned men in Europe to talk to each other through their books? Nothing could be more hideous than a made to order language.

Russia names a dictator, with absolute power over crops, their production and distribution.

Our farmers will watch that experiment for the benefit of producer and consumer, but will not want any crop dictator here.

The thing that reconciles a farmer to his lot is the fact that he is his own boss.

Tell him that others must decide what he shall plant, what price he shall ask, and he will join the crowd to the cities.

Men do not farm merely for profit. They farm because land ownership and management, plus independence gives them intense pleasure. If profit were the only inducement, there would be no farmers.

An old gentleman, aged 104, arrived from Lithuania to see this country. He said he didn't believe in "spending all your life in one place," so he only lived 104 years in Lithuania. He danced a jig for reporters, said he had given up tobacco eight years ago, but "never found that liquor ever hurt anybody."

He will change his mind if he tries certain brands on sale in this country.

Carnegie bought $400 of insurance stock, gave his note in payment, paid for the stock with its dividends, owned it for nothing.

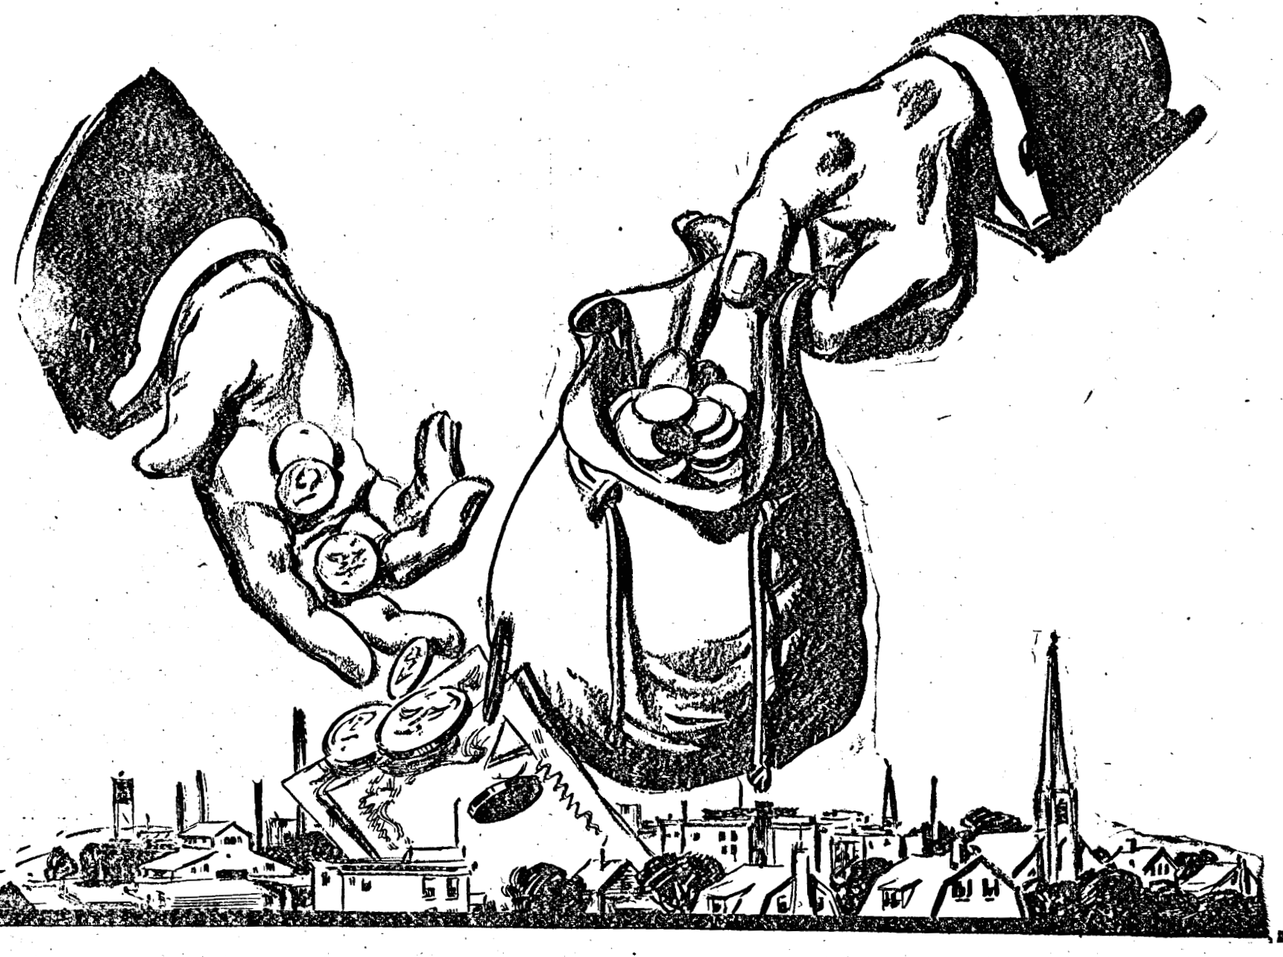
Joseph P. Day, learned land scientist, says the three greatest letters in the alphabet are "O. P. M." meaning "Other People's Money."

A quicker way to make money without capital is to have a good idea and push it. A way to plate metallic surfaces with aluminum, something hitherto found impossible, is discovered and involves actually billions of dollars to be saved.

The invention will be applied to endless uses, from kitchenware to locomotives, and is expected to give automobiles a finish defying time and weather.

There are as good ideas in the human brain as ever came out of it. Try and find one.

—Mrs. A. J. Smith went to Goodenow Friday evening to spend a week, after which she will accompany her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Goodenow to Denver where they will attend the G. A. R. convention. There Madams Goodenow and Smith will meet two brothers, L. C. Coffin, whose home is in Oklahoma, and Charles B. Coffin, of Rifle, Colo. After the convention Mrs. Smith will go to Rifle with her brother, and spend several months with his family.



THE OPEN PURSE

The value in money is in what it will buy—the necessities, the comforts, the luxuries of life. Money spent in this community to buy these things for its people stays here where each and every person shares in the new profits its trading produces.

More modern conveniences, a wider social life, a greater business activity—in fact, a far reaching, ever growing wave of benefits to every citizen of Ord follows the practice of buying at home.

Open the purse strings—not to spend foolishly, but to buy wisely. Ord offers you full value for every dollar's worth you buy, plus the greatest of all returns on your money—

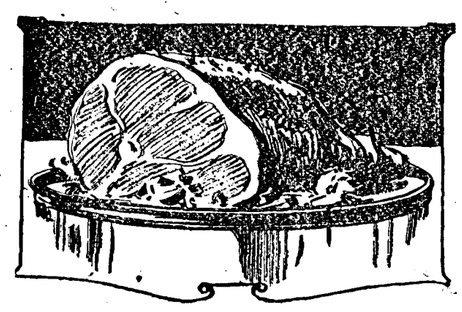
Roast Meat Is Economical



So many meats are only good the day you cook them, but with a roast it is so different. Good cold for supper, and equally good warmed over the next day. Buying a big roast is economical, since it is good until all eaten.

Ghost Ship Said to Roam the North Sea

The North sea has a Flying Dutchman of its own—a sort of ghost ship whose appearance is superstitiously regarded by sailors as an omen of ill fortune, if not of death, to the beholder. It was first reported by a British war convoy that left a Norwegian port in November, 1917. Lieutenant Commander Fox of the Mary Rose counted twelve ships as they passed out of sight of land. Later an enemy raider attacked the convoy. When Commander Fox counted the convoy again there were thirteen.

Other officers of the Mary Rose confirmed the number. No one had seen the thirteenth ship join the convoy. One moment there was blue sea sparkling behind the twelfth ship; the next the stranger was speeding along with the rest—a somewhat rusty craft whose name has been so obliterated by long service at sea that it could not be made out.

When the raider's attack began the stranger was still with the convoy. When the enemy had been driven off the stranger had vanished as mysteriously as she had appeared. The Mary Rose was lost in the skirmish.

The North sea phantom has appeared, according to its growing legend, several times since then, each time as the precursor of ill fortune to the beholder. She is said to be a small warship or again a rusty freighter, a battered schooner or a small sea-worn liner. But however she is reported, North sea sailormen believe she bodes no good.

Ink Blot Spelt Ruin for Engineering Firm

A big British engineering firm put in a bid for building a great bridge for a foreign government. The head of the business spent six months in getting out plans. His bid was accepted, the material bought in great quantities, men engaged and machinery built.

A time limit was set for the commencement and finish of the bridge, and one day the chief was sitting at his desk perfecting his plans and making sure of the smallest details, when he accidentally upset an inkpot and dropped his most important papers in a black sea.

In a fever of anxiety he tried to reconstruct his plans from stray notes. It was impossible, and he then cabled the foreign government begging for more time. This was refused and the contract repudiated. The loss drove the firm into bankruptcy.

The Ninth Scout Law

A Cornish correspondent sends me the following amusing experience whilst he was running a troop of boy scouts in India:

"I was testing a small Eurasian boy, twelve years old, for the 'Tenderfoot' badge and said:

"'What is the ninth scout law?'

"'Sir, a scout is thriftee.'

"'What does thrifty mean?'

"'I know what it means, sir.'

"Well, then, what does it mean?'

"'Well, sir (hesitating), it means that it is veree sillee to spend anee monee on a girl.'"

This is one way of looking at it, but I should like to hear the views of the girl. Not a Girl Guide, however. They are too independent.—London Post.

Catchy Line

Jones is an angler who uses only the highest and more expensive paraphernalia of his art. One day he was standing on the shore of a lake casting his flies without success, when along came a native with a good string of trout. After watching Jones' vain efforts for a few minutes the newcomer ventured: "Why don't you try worms?"

"Worms!" said Jones disgustedly. "My good fellow, you and I don't use the same language."

"Mebbe not, mister," said the other quietly, as he held up his catch, "but I reckon the fish understand me better when I drop 'em a line."—Vancouver Province.

Prehistoric Medicine

Tubes of soft soapstone used by a prehistoric Indian shaman, or medicine man, to heal the sick have been unearthed near San Diego, Calif., says Science. First blowing clouds of smoke through these tubes over the body of a patient, the medicine man pretended he could see into the body. The patient was told he had been bewitched by an enemy who had injected into his body a magical substance which changed into a toad, snake, rock or other object. Having located the object, the shaman pretended to pluck it out, producing as evidence, by sleight-of-hand, the offending substance.

The Lorgnette Juggler

This concerns a dancer whose talents are recognized in the two-a-day and musical comedies. After making a hit in a show she suddenly went ritzy and affected tall millinery. Her intimates gave her up, not being able to tolerate her poses and speech affectations while knowing that she was illiterate. At any rate, they say that her maid at the theater asked her:

"Have you any idea where the pins are?"

"I regret very much," said the upstage one, "but I do not know where the pins is."—New York Graphic.

Excusable Error

The story described its heroine as a dumpling sort of woman. The teacher paused and asked for a description of a woman of that kind.

"She would be rather tall and thin," suggested a pupil. "No," the teacher explained, "the lady would be short and plump—like a dumpling."

"Oh, yes," said the youngster. "I was thinking of a noodle."

Almanac Traced to the Ancient Saxons

In the early days of Greece it was customary to announce the first day of the month either through a herald or placards pasted on the city walls. These placards were known as kalends, or kalendae from the Greek, "I call or proclaim." The book of accounts referring to the days of the year was known as a calendarium, hence the word calendar. Excavators at Pompeii have discovered a square block of marble that served the Greeks as a calendar. Each side served as a record of three months. Each month was headed by the proper sign of the zodiac, and contained astronomical, agricultural and religious information. Verstegan, early lexicographer, tracing the origin of the word almanac, says:

"Our ancient Saxon ancestors used to engrave on certain squared sticks about a foot in length, sometimes more, sometimes less, the courses of the moones of the whole yeare, whereby they alwaies certainly tell whatt new moones, full moones and changes should happen, as also their festival dates; and such a carved stick they called al-mon-aght; that is to say, al-monheed, to wit, the regard or observation of all the moones, and hence is derived the name almanac."—Detroit News.

Are Stevenson's Books to Stand Time's Test?

The bishop of Durham in his oration at the Stevenson commemoration dinner indirectly raised the question whether physical disabilities are a handicap to individual distinction in life. His observations suggest that weakness in one sense may be the path to greatness in another. Robert Louis Stevenson was an only son and a chronic invalid. His physical weakness, like Scott's lameness and Byron's club foot, the bishop remarked, tended to induce in him an almost morbid cult of virility.

The bishop wound up his address with a question to which Stevenson enthusiasts of the present day would admit of but one answer. When his books had to stand nakedly on their merits would they be able to hold their own against the rival claims of new works armed with all the subtle appeal of direct relevance to the time present? When we think of the furor over the Waverly novels for long after they were published and of the apathy regarding Scott in the present generation, no one can answer the bishop's question dogmatically.—Weekly Scotsman.

Bad but Usable

Verlaine, the French poet, once sold a sonnet to Gil Blas Illustre. He took a cab to the offices of the paper to collect the money. It was one cent a line. Sixteen cents. Not that there are sixteen lines in a sonnet in Paris, but that the title and signature were paid for.

On another occasion he sold a poem to Art et Critique for 5 francs, money down. Next day he returned to the editor and complained that he had been given a bad five-franc piece. The editor instantly gave him a fresh one, and then discreetly demanded the bad coin.

"Monsieur," said Verlaine, departing, "I have passed it; but I assure you I had considerable difficulty in doing so."

Counted Out

Jacqueline Spencer was told by her old-fashioned grandfather, who once followed the sea, that she must walk to school herself every morning on her two legs and must rely on nobody else—that to bank on being offered a lift in the motors of neighbors and acquaintances was a cheap and unbecoming policy for a Spencer.

"Rely on nobody else," finished the old man, an expert at weekday preaching.

"I can rely on two people," quoth Jacqueline.

"Who?"

"On God and myself."

"What about your parents?" asked he, fishing.

"Oh, they're 'else.'"

Nothing Suffices to Break Punning Habit

In the kingdom of Rougaria a law against punning has been passed. Citizens in that country may play upon horses, roulette, keno, piano or even saxophones, but they must not play upon words.

Abube-Asap was the first man condemned under the new law. Convicted of first-degree punning he was sentenced to be hanged.

However, on the night before the morning set for the execution the warden entered the cell of Abube-Asap bringing good news.

"Congratulations, Abube-Asap!" he said. "The king has signed your pardon. You are a notorious punster, the worst in all Rougaria. However, the king has decided to give you another chance on condition that you swear never to pun again! What do you say to that?"

"No noose is good news!" said Abube-Asap.

So the pardon was withdraw and Abube-Asap was hanged.—Stray Stories.

River Under Ground

Lost River is a name given to a deep gorge where the water of the Moosilauke Branch brook disappears from sight, and at times from sound, for a considerable distance under massive bowlders. It is the third great natural wonder in the Franconia mountains, standing next after the Profile and the Flume, far surpassing the latter in its surprises, its massive rock architecture, and unique in its dark, gloomy caverns. The gorge itself is about one-half mile long, 20-30 rods wide and 40-75 feet deep to the brook bed. It was discovered in 1895 by R. C. Jackman of North Woodstock.

"OH! KAY!"

Unlike most feminine stars in Hollywood's constellation, Colleen Moore has never appeared on the screen in a bathing suit until her newest picture, "Oh Kay!"

Although Colleen's career included a year as a Christie Comedy girl, she happened to be given roles requiring other costumes. Many stars won prominence as bathing beauties among them Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels, Marie Prevost and Phyllis Haver, but it remained for Colleen to reverse the usual progress of a screen career and become a bathing beauty after she achieved stardom.

In "Oh Kay!", which John McCormick produced for First National Pictures, Miss Moore is seen in a swagger striped swimming suit—her only costume when she boards a ship for America. Lawrence Gray plays opposite Miss Moore in theis production, with Alan Hale, Ford Sterling, Julanne Johnston and Claude Gillingwater in other prominent roles.

Don't Kill the Goose That Lays the Golden Egg

Ask some of your friends who patronize cream stations where no creamery is in competition with them what they think of the service and prices they are receiving.

Dairying is the main stay of this country, it produces greater profits, keeps your land in a high state of cultivation and is the means of enabling you to meet your current bills promptly and lay aside the money received from the sale of your hogs or cattle to either reduce your indebtedness or build up a bank account.

You wouldn't think of trading off a good, high grade milch cow for a non-producing scrub? Why not patronize and build up an institution that enables you to receive the very top prices for your dairy products rather than some corporation in which you have no interest?

SALE OF CLEARY LAND RECALLS OLD PIONEERS

Quiz Correspondent Writes Interesting Account of Early Day Family; Rogers Buys Land.

By MRS. CLAUDE RATHBUN.

The Albert S. Cleary estate located two miles south of North Loup comprising four hundred acres was sold at auction Monday afternoon, September 17. John Rogers, well known retired business man of Ord was the highest bidder, and bought the entire farm for a cash price of $40,392.25. The 160 acres known as the old home place, brought $125 per acre, the 80 which was the original homstead sold for $105.10 per acre, the tract of 80 acres containing the meadow brought $89.10 per acre, and the tract with the rather rolling to hilly land went for $76 per acre. M. B. Cummins was the auctioneed. Mr. Rogers is to be congratulated on thus coming into possession of one of the best improved farms in this part of the country. He was an old friend of the late Mr. Cleary, had often visited him, and had long been attracted by the possibilities of the farm.

The sale of this land recalls to the mind of old timers many incidents of the early days. They think back to the time when Albert S. Cleary from Merrimac, Mass., a man in poor health and predisposed to lung trouble, came with his wife to Valley county in search of a suitable place to make his home and rear his family. It was away back in the eighties that he persuaded Mr. Merritt, the father of the present Mrs. Byron Johnson, to sell him the relinquishment of his homestead right. It might be of interest to note here that it was in a dug-out on the Cleary place that Miss Maud Merritt became the bride of Byron Johnson, well known Valley county people. The east eighty was bought by the father of Albert Cleary from the railroad in the eighties.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary moved from their eastern home to North Loup in February, 1892, and lived in town until the following June, when they with their two little girls Helen and Edith got possession of the place from Rus Williams who had been living there. Their first home was of four rooms, two of them being cedar logs hauled down from the cedar canyon. All the other children, John, Esther, Charles, Frances and Elizabeth were born on this farm.

Thru industry, perseverance and frugality the Cleary family made of their place one of the best improved farms in this part of the state. Mr. Cleary was well known as a breeder of Percheron horses and Holstein cattle and his herds were known the county over. The Cleary children were always interested in the improvement and beautifying of the farm, and each planted and tended trees and shrubs which they called their own and in which they took much pride. Mrs. Edith Cleary Bartz of North Loup had for her special care a rare little slip of a pear tree which she had brought from her grandfather's orchard's back in New Hampshire. Strange to say, it has lived and thrived and just this past year yielded a good half bushel of delicious Bartlett pears. Mrs. Bartz has extracted an oral agreement from Mr. Rogers that she is still to gather her share of the pears each year from her old tree.

Charles Boettger Will Hold Livestock Sale

In the Quiz this week is advertised the livestock sale of Charles Boettger, to be held at his farm nine miles south of Ord on September 28. Scarcity of feed has made it necessary for him to sell off all his cattle and hogs and part of his horses and an excellent offering including some fine feeder calves is the result. Bert Cummins and Charles Burdick are the auctioneers. See Mr. Boettger's ad on page eight.

—Ray Enger and family, of Burwell, and the John Anderson family of Ord were Sunday guests in the Ross Lakin home.

—The H.O.A. club met at the home of Mrs. Ross Lakin Saturday night. Members presented Mrs. Swain with a quilt, the blocks of which were embroidered by the club.

Mrs. Chapman Is Quarantined

Because of the illness with scarlet fever of her little granddaughter, Gwendolyn Hughes, Mrs. Florence Chapman, Quiz reporter, is quarantined in and will be unable to visit the trains and gather news about town next week. She asks everybody to telephone her any news they may know and she will see that it reaches the Quiz. They may telephone 17 and give their news direct to the Quiz, if they prefer.

R. L. Metcalfe.

Richard L. Metcalfe, democratic candidate for United States senator, will speak at the Ord opera house at 8 p.m., Friday September 28, announces Ralph W. Norman, chairman of the county democratic committee. Mr. Metcalfe is said to be a forceful speaker well versed upon the issues of the present campaign.

Rumor Says Indian Race Driver Killed

Rumours are flying about in Ord to the effect that Andrew Fuller, the part Indian automobile racer who competed in the races here last month, was killed last week in Colorado on a track there. It is not possible to verify the news to find out whether he was hurt, killed, et., and many Ord people will take advantage of the doubt to fervently hope that the rumor is untrue. Fuller was a great favorite with most people who attended the races.

He will be remembered as driving a dark green car numbered 30-30, which was built by Cannonball Baker. He will also be remembered as the boy whose friends dragged him before the microphone to yodel for the crowd the last day of the fair. Fuller had had a good education and was reputed to be a millionaire, racing for the thrills of it, and having several other cars and drivers at various races.

Zulkoski Land Sold at Referee's Sale

Monday afternoon eight hundred acres of Valley county land and a residence property in Ord, all of which belonged to the John Zulkoski estate, was sold at referee's sale at the west front door of the court house. George Munn was referee in the estate. F. J. H. Lawson, of Ericson, bought the Ord residence property for $1,300. Jos. Bogus bought 320 acres of land for $123,000 and Jos. Kapustka bought 40 acres for $23,000. The land lays within three miles of Elyria and prices received for it were considered quite fair and were satisfactory to the Zulkoski heirs.

Mrs. Meese Burned.

Mrs. John Meese sustained what might have been a very serious accident recently, when she was washing, and a bollerful of hot water splashed over the right half of her body from the shoulder down. She sustained surface burns over quite an area, but only two really deep ones. She is able to be up and about now.

WELL KNOWN ORD BUSINESS WOMAN PASSES

Angie B. Orcutt Dies After Many Months of Ill Health; Is Buried Here Sunday.

After many months of suffering Mrs. Angie B. Orcutt, wife of I. E. Orcutt, passed away at her home in Ord Friday, Sept. 14 at the age of 54 years, 4 months and 7 days. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Harry Hansen, former Ord Presbyterian pastor who now heads a church at Seward.

Angie B. Ramsey was born in La Grange, Mich., Jan. 7, 1874. With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ramsey, she came to Valley county in 1877 and lived for several years in the so-called "Michigan colony," now Michigan township.

As a girl she served an apprenticeship as a milliner in the shop of Mrs. Lee, an old time business woman of Ord. The next ten years she spent in the large dry goods stores of Frank Mallory and G. W. Milford. When she started in business for herself she had keen business training and twelve years of experience in the millinery line.

She first opened a store at Cedar Rapids, Neb., and from there returned to Ord to open her first shop in 1903. From that time until about a year ago she conducted the largest exclusive millinery shop in Valley county. Her health had been very poor for several years and a little more than a year ago she was forced to retire. After months of suffering she passed peacefully away Friday morning.

Angie B. Ramsey became the bride of I. E. Orcutt on Febr. 7, 1908. Besides her husband she leaves two sons, William D. and Ronald Earl Orcutt and one stepson, Harold Orcutt. Her aged mother, Mrs. Sarah Ramsey, who is now at Spray, Ore., and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Capron, Margaret Wentworth, both of Ord, and Mrs. Edna Jackson, Spray, Ore., also survive, as do three brothers, Will Ramsey, Ord Truck Ramsey, Lava Hot Springs, Ida., and John Ramsey, Long Beach, Cal.

Two Report Results from Quiz Want Ads

Two more instances of Quiz want ad efficiency have been reported this week. Dr. C. C. Shepard inserted an ad last week seeking to sell his Maxwell car. Monday evening an Arcadia man called, said he saw the ad in the Quiz and announced that he was coming to Ord to look at the car. Later in the evening he bought it. R. C. Bailey inserted a "for rent" ad last week and Friday morning, just a few hours after the paper was printed, rented the house.

Football Team Will Be Fast, Reed Says

Squad Working Out Regularly and Boys Show Enthusiasm; Team Will Average 140.

Coach Rex Reed reports his football squad working out regularly, and the work of whipping them into shape going as well as possible. With four veterans to build upon, his team will of necessity be drawn largely from the field of candidates now practicing. The Ord team for this fall is going to be a light weight one, according to the coach, who estimated that the average weight of his boys would be around 140 pounds, not more. This is much lighter than the team Ord usually puts in the field.

But what the boys lack in weight, they make promise of making up in speed. The backfield will be especially fast, though this will be somewhat offset by the light line. However, the coach has no complaint to make, as his boys are putting a lot of real enthusiasm into their workouts, and he expects them to show up to fine advantage.

Coach Reed wanted to get down to Grand Island to the rules school being conducted there today by Henry Schulte, famous football mentor of the University of Nebraska, but was not sure he could make it.

Nation's Greatest Humorist Now on Quiz Staff

Will Rogers, America's greatest humorist, is now on the staff of the Ord Quiz and subscribers will have an opportunity to read his witticisms every week during the present presidential campaign and possibly longer. Mr. Rogers has been engaged by the Autocaster company, news syndicate to which the Quiz belongs.

As the presidential candidate of his "Anti-Bunk" party, Will is becoming better known every day. He makes fun of democrats and republicans alike. You'll enjoy reading about the Bunkless party. See Will's first article on another page of this issue.

NORTH LOUP IS PREPARING FOR POP CORN DAYS

North Loup, Sept. 19.—(Special)—The big noise around North Loup these days is the people of this community getting ready for the celebration of the fair and festivities known as Pop Corn Days Tuesday and Wednesday. At this time of year for more than a quarter of a century, the people of town and country have worked together as one large family to promote good fellowship and to have a jolly good time.

Most of the entertainment is put on by home talent, and if anybody thinks they don't have good home talent down here, its because they have never attended a Pop Corn Days celebration. Most of the program is given from a large stage erected just south of the community hall.

Aside from its other talent, North Loup has a cracker-jack of a band that gives weekly concerts during the summer, and then plays its choicest music for Pop Corn Days, which also closes the band concert season.

Then too North Loup puts on the agricultural display which makes people open their eyes who don't realize the possibilities of this section of the country even in a dry year like this has been.

The crowning of the Pop Corn Queen is a big feature of this annual show. The queen is chosen each year by popular vote, and her coronation will take place on the first evening and will be followed by features put on by several of the country school districts, as well as by something good by the Odd Fellows lodge. The Fortnightly club will put on a pageant the second evening. Mention must not fail to be made of the baby parade, an annual affair and one most popular both with fond mothers, and admiring friends. The late Walter Rood, editor of the North Loup Loyalist was responsible for this idea being a feature of the celebration, as well as being one of the main advocates of the Pop Corn Days idea in the very beginning.

On the afternoon of the second day a parade of floats will be the great attraction, and will be worth coming miles to see. Immediately following the parade, Charles W. Bryan will give the address to which he has pinned his faith to again elect him governor of Nebraska.

Mention must be made of foot races of various kinds, tug of war, horse pulling contests and a ball game each day. North Loup will play Scotia on Tuesday and Wolbach on Wednesday. There will be other contests and sports for the enjoyment of all.

If there had been doubt in the minds of any about the quality of this particular pop corn celebration, it was quickly dispelled when it became known who the men were at the head of it. C. W. McClellan is president, and his lieutenants are A. D. Moulton, H. A. Barber, R. J. Comstock, H. C. Sample, and E. C. Helbig. There are also able heads for each department. Mr. McClellan is one of the best known men in Valley county, and if he is at the head of anything it is a certain guarantee that things will move in the right direction. He is also president of the Valley county fair board, which has been responsible for extremely successful fairs and auto races, during the last few years.

Omaha Man Fined $15 for Killing Pheasant

T. F. Andersen, Omaha, was arrested Sunday evening by Game Wardens Lashmett and Williams on a charge of shooting and having in his possession a young Chinese pheasant. Monday his attorney, Bert M. Hardenbrook, appeared in county court and plead guilty on Andersen's behalf. Judge J. H. Hollingshead fined the Omaha man $15 and costs, the total coming to $26.05, and the fine was paid.

Republican Senatorial Candidate Will Speak Three Times in Valley County

SENATOR R. B. HOWELL, candidate on the republican ticket for re-election as United States senator, will deliver three addresses in Valley county next week, announces Alvin Blessing, chairman of the county central committee. At 5 p.m. September 26 he will speak at North Loup, at 8 p.m. of the same day he will speak in Ord and at 4:30 p.m., September 27, he will speak in Arcadia.

Senator Howell is carrying a portable radio broadcasting station in his car. People who cannot be present may hear Senator Howell's address by tuning in on station KGIF, which is the Howell station, at 217 meters or around 10 to 12 on the ordinary radio dial.

If the weather is seasonable Senator Howell's Ord address will be given from the west front steps of the court house.

Judge Issues Licenses, Marries Four Couples

County Judge Hollingshead was called on recently to issue marriage licenses and marry four couples. On Sept. 3 he married Weaver F. Brotherton and Miss Helen Alderson, both of Holt county. On September 13 he united Gerald C. Duncan and Miss Lucile Hile, both of Horace. Mrs. E. O. Hile and Frances Hubbard were witnesses. On Sept. 15 the judge married Harold Fogt and Miss Irene Nelson, both well known Valley county young people. Witnesses were Roy Nelson and Miss Helga Fogt. On Sept. 17 the judge married Owen J. Boyles and Miss Hazel Woods, with Inez Woods and Ivan Dare as witnesses. Mr. Boyles is from Wheeler county and Miss Woods lives in northeast Valley county.

Irene Jobst Becomes Don Miller's Bride

At the Evangelical parsonage in Grand Island on Wednesday, Sept. 12, Miss Irene Jobst, daughter of Lew Jobst, became the bride of Donald Miller son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl E. Miller. The wedding was a surprise to most of their friends and relatives. Miss Olive Miller was bridesmaid, Leo Nelson was groomsman and the ceremony was performed by Rev. F. C. Elinger. The bride wore a gown of old rose georgette trimmed with rhinestones and the bridesmaid wore pink georgette trimmed with satin.

After the ceremony, the bridal party went to Hastings and gave friends there a surprise.

Miss Miller is a charming graduate of O[illegible] high school in the spring of 1928. Since that time she has been keeping house for her father on his farm near Sumter. Mr. Miller was graduated from Ord high school in 1927 and since that time has been engaged in farming Sunnyside Farm, where the young people will make their home.

Bryan Will Speak.

North Loup, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—Charles W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor, will speak here in the afternoon of September 26, it is announced. The former governor will speak at Arcadia in the evening.

Shoulder Dislocated.

North Loup, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Charlie Romans, son of Claud Romans suffered the dislocation of a shoulder Saturday evening. He was in a car with Pete Anderson, driving at a good rate of speed between Scotia and North Loup and in turning a corner the car went into the ditch. Dr. Pinckney put his shoulder back in place, and Mr. Romans is lucky that his injuries were no worse. Mr. Anderson was unhurt.

Hunters Report Ducks Plentiful

Season Opens Sunday and Ord Nimrods Get Good Bags; Lakes Drying Up May Help Shooting.

Ducks are more plentiful this year than for several seasons, report local hunters who have been out on the Loup since the season opened Sunday morning. Several large bags have been reported.

Horace Travis, James Petska and Curt Gudmundsen came in Sunday morning with 45 ducks, mostly teal with a few pintails and bluebills. Petska and Gudmundsen repeated this morning by bringing in 26.

Vernie Anderson and other employes in Andersen's grocery got 22 ducks Sunday morning and 24 this morning. Dr. F. A. Barta and Ray Kocina shot 20 odd Sunday and August Peterson reports getting 20 all alone. Other hunters also report ducks plentiful.

According to several local authorities, duck hunting should be good all season. Many of the sand hill lakes are dry and it is expected that river shooting will be better than for several seasons.

Ord P.T.A. Will Meet Next Week

The Ord Parent-Teacher association will meet next Tuesday evening, Sept. 25, in the new auditorium of the high school, and judging from the enthusiasm, a fine crowd is expected. This will be the first meeting of the year, and every old member is asked to be present. A special program has been arranged, and will be about as follows:

Community singing.

Vocal solo by Miss Evabelle Clements.

Singing by a quartet composed of J. R. Stoltz, Dr. F. L. Blessing, Glen Auble and G. W. Collipriest.

Music by a string quartet composed of Orville Sowl, Horace Travis, Edwin Clements and Leonard Blessing, accompanied by Mrs. Sowl at the piano.

The meeting will open promptly at 8 o'clock, and all parents and others interested who plan to come are asked to be on time.

Card of Thanks.

We take this means of thanking all our friends and neighbors who so kindly helped us during the illness and burial of our son and brother, Wesley. We want to thank you for the flowers and kind words of sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pierce, and Family.

QUIZ REPORTER VISITS SCHOOLS, STUDENTS BUSY

By IRMA ELLIS LEGGETT.

SCHOOL is really getting under way this week in Ord, as I found out by visiting here and there Wednesday morning. Classes are beginning to study new material, short reviews on last year's work to refresh the memories of the students being mostly over with.

Over in the old high school, now given over to the lower grades, the smaller children are getting accustomed to school and starting in to learn their lessons in earnest. In the kindergarten, under the tutelage of Miss Mabel Misko, there are now 36 children. This exceptionally large class registry was reached Wednesday morning with the entrance of little Bertha Danner. These kiddies colored leaves yesterday—their first color work, and so it was enjoyed very much. They also did some surprise cutting that was really good, too . . . also their first attempt.

Most of the little kindergarten boys wear overalls. And those that don't, want to. As one lad told his mother: "There's no use for me to wear any pants but overalls to school 'cause I have to be the moon and lay on the floor every day when we play Hi Diddle Diddle". Inquiry at school revealed that he didn't have to be the moon, but always begged to be allowed to 'moon'.

These tiny children always sit on the floor for story telling. Every year the teacher makes an effort to have them sit in a circle on their little chairs, but finds that they can't resist the temptation to pinch one another any better this year than previous years. So once more they sit in a circle on the floor when story telling time comes.

Miss Helen Collipriest who teaches a first grade of 19 children, gained a pupil Monday . . . Lillian Lukish, but as Lillian has been ill both Tuesday and Wednesday, school had to go on without her. Paul Danner was a new scholar for Miss Daisy Hallen's first grade this week. Miss Hallen's class numbers 20. Visitors to her class last Thursday were Mrs. Ign Klima and Mrs. Guy Burroughs, both of whom have children in that grade this year. First graders are busy bringing pretty pictures to school at present. Soon they will make the pictures into little books. For language class, they are telling about their pets, and in a most interesting manner, too.

In the second grade, under Miss Inez Swain's instruction, children are reviewing the last year's work in reading. As soon as they finish reviewing, Miss Geraldine Finke's second grade will review. They are also learning the care of books this week, and are doing quite well, the teachers say. Now they will start on their second grade readers. Lucile Lakin and Leon Larsen have been absent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week from Miss Swain's room, and are reported to have the flu but their teacher was not sure about it.

Mrs. Will Sack was a visitor to the third grade Wednesday morning. She finds the Sack children want her to visit them at school, and that she has to be careful not to visit one child's room a single time more than another, or there's trouble in the family.

Andy's Experience

Andrew Carnegie said: "My first dividend check opened to me a new world. It was money I didn't have to work for. It was money that my small capital earned for me."

If it worked for Andy it will work for you. But you can't earn dividends until you have funds to invest. It will pay you to open an account at our bank and start saving. It will give you a vision of a better future for yourself and for those dependent upon you.

Add Gravel to Streets.

A carload of gravel was added to worn places on the main street last week. Last year gravel was added to the streets in the east part of town while the ones in the west part are being repaired this year.

A Half Inch of Moisture Falls.

A half inch of moisture fell in this vicinity the first part of last week. While too late to be of any benefit to the corn the rain was greatly appreciated as it was the first moisture that had fallen in this territory since the latter part of July.

Install New Scales.

An expensive pair of scales was installed at the Arcadia sale barn last week and in the future a large portion of the stock will be sold by weight.

Farewell Reception.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Hendrickson and family were tendered a farewell reception at the Methodist church basement Friday evening prior to their leaving for Westerville, Nebr., where Rev. Hendrickson has accepted the pastorate of the Methodist church in connection with the charge at Berwyn, Nebr. There were approximately 250 persons present, representing both church members and outside friends of the family. The assemblage, old and young, enjoyed to the fullest extent the evening of good fellowship which prevailed.

During the evening, Roy Cochran tendered a few appropriate remarks and in behalf of the many friends of Rev. and Mrs. Hendrickson, presented them with two large rocking chairs beside a number of other gifts. A response was given by Rev. Hendrickson after which Rev. Gather, newly appointed pastor, made a few fitting remarks. A lunch of ice cream, cake and coffee was served at the close of the evening.

Rev. Hendrickson and his family have resided in Arcadia the past four years and during that time have endeared themselves to a large number of residents. They rendered splendid service to both the church and the community and it was with deep regret that their many friends learned of their assignment to another territory. At the recent conference which was held in Kearney a petition asking that Rev. Hendrickson be returned to the charge here was presented by the town people but due to ill health the physicians deemed it better that he be given a charge where the work would be lighter. Rev. and Mrs. Hendrickson left for their new home the first of the week and it is the sincere wish of the community that their health may be fully restored and that an abundance of good luck may follow them.

Farewell Party.

The members of the Rebekah kensington gave a farewell party at the home of Mrs. L. F. Bly Saturday in honor of Miss Lois Delano. Miss Delano left Monday for Lincoln where she will take voice culture at the University School of Music. Mirroring the FASHIONS of FALL

FASHION is such a fleeting thing—perhaps it is this quality that makes it so beloved by womankind in general. There is something in our make-up that longs for the new flattery. The youthful, new clothes coming as they do with every new season gives us a new interest in life, and this fall they are especially interesting because they seem to bring out all those lovely lines that enhances woman's charms.

The odds are just about even, however, between the straight and the flared silhouette for fall. There are many women who never feel quite comfortable in the flaring modles that are worn so becomingly by other women. The straight and slender silhouette, however, is carried out most exclusively in coats. It is in the dresses that the flared line gains prominence.

Fullness in Ripple Treatment

The stores are showing the most beautiful formal coats we have ever seen. Although the coat silhouette is straight, it is the side flare that adds interest. This fullness is created by ripple treatments, semi-detached drapes or panels, or by projecting the overlap. Tiers are also introduced and these appear in amusing ways in both the front and the back of the models, and these are usually straight.

When selecting your fall coat this season you will be struck by the generous use of fur trimming. Great collars form a flattering frame for the face, and smart gloved hands will peep out from huge and interesting cuffs of fur. Cuffs are deep and peaked, with the point shifted into various positions. The bell cuff that starts at the elbow and ends at the wrist, of fur, is also being shown on some of the smartest coats. The gauntlet cuff is also frequently noted.

Brown Furs on Black

We noted as we shopped around for our fashion information, that brown furs on black were given much preference. Brown furs, of course, were very prominent, too on beige fabrics. Fitch is an extremely important fur trimming for fall, and beaver, kolinsky, lynx, dyed cross fox, badger and black caracul are also much used. Coats for traveling are from rough tweeds in black and white, blue and gray, grown and white, green and white or heather mixtures. The newest are in diagonal, basket or linen weaves. The dressier coats are in soft woolens with a chamois-like surface such as duvetyne, silk broadcloth velour de laine, broadcloth, velours, wool crepe and kashalike materials.

One of the most pronounced colors in coats for fall is red. Green is also shown much more than it has been for many seasons. Beige remains important and gray follows closely, but of all of these, black is accorded first place.

Diversified Evening Mode.

The evening mode for fall is interesting because it is so diversified. The mode of princess line is important and black fullness continues. Two of the most famous Paris coutumieres drape the skirt in black and over train effect. Another well known designer puts a sprinkled bib kerchief tied in black.

Some of the most important fabrics for evening dresses are printed velvet, satins, moire, chiffon and metal brocades. Hips are swathed closely in gypsy-like girdles that have bodices that are slightly bloused and fullness placed low on the skirt. New neck treatments in evening gowns are pronounced, square neck and V being most important. Evening dresses sponsor length at the back and sides.

Width is expressed in circular cuts and goldets and handkerchief drapes are applied to suggest irregular outline at the hips and at the same time to create a feminine appearance. The bodices of evening frocks are cut with longer lines . In afternoon dresses, scarfs are used and some of the smartest that we saw had Bertha-like collars. One on this order presented the collar crossing the back and the shoulders, but not the front of the bodice.

Hipline Feature of Frock

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the daytime frock for fall 1928 is the snug, swathed hipline. The waistline continues at the top of the hip.

The only resemblance that day frocks bear to each other as to neck lines is a negative one—not a single dress has a high or fitted collar. One run-about frock on tailored lines has an orange lingerie vestee with a soft, round collar—but all the others are open in some way—around or V shaped, or buttoned, or stitched.

A smart almond-green dress with a square cut-out hemline depends for its general appeal on stitched bands that trim the square neck line (buttoned on the left) that also trim the open cuffs, also buttoned, and trim one side of the crushed girdle. The skirt is a matter of graceful flares fitting smoothly at the hips.

Uneven Hemline Shown

Two dresses with scarfs as the chief accent are shown by the Paris designers with a four-color scarf caught on one shoulder with the ends hanging. The other is a gay frock of yellow crepe with the handkerchief knotted in front of the left shoulder. A wrapped skirt with an uneven hemline comes next to our attention with a pointed belt line fitted at the hips.

Dress of Beige Crepe

For bridge tea, one might choose a subtle banded dress of beige crepe that almost defies description. The neck line suggests a U shape, but then again, it doesn't stop there. From it two soft panels fall with slanted ends. In the center of the dress at the waist and goes on down to the hem. Either side of this panel are flares that suggest the handkerchief drape. The blouse crushes in a soft girdle that finishes in points on the skirt, yoke fashion.

Another bridge tea suggestion is in black satin. A fold of white starts at one shoulder, goes across the back, rolls over like a collar, and continues down the diagonal front opening. It is held in place with bits of bright trimming that seem to be similar to rhinestone buckles. The skirt drapes are pointed tiers that flare. Cuffs are soft folds of white.

Footwear for Women

Some way a woman is considered shod when she wears slippers. Real shoes seem to belong to horse and buggy days, but all kinds of light, dainty footwear are spoken of as shoes. One or two slippers that consist of a heel and a toe and a mere wisp of a strap are called sandles. A firm, stitched oxford on a high heel is called a brogue—some way it seems as though brogues should be heavy and clumsy and flat-heeled.

For evening frocks there are very good designs of fairy lightness. Gold kid and gold paillettes combine with white and gold brocade as one of these. A diamond buckle adorns the slim strap that rests on the instep. The heel is very high. A turquoise blue crepe de chine sandal is ready for the dinner gown. Open spaces are very cleverly achieved. A single, narrow strap up the instep joins another strap around to the counters. For a black frock there is a smart sandal of black satin and silver kid designed with much grace and precision.

Variation in Sport Shoes

Sport shoes are refreshingly bright in various leather combinations. Beige antelope and brown patent leather are effective in one pair. Brown and white lizard with white antelope are especially good in another. Mark the effective points on the counter of the lizard—the binding of the same, the double narrow straps over the instep tied with cord and tassels. Calfskin and lizard also are interesting in an oxford tie shoe.

If one should be compelled to venture forth in the rain and those women who are deep in club activities and politics will need to go promptly, there are raincoats that are good looking, without the dismal effect that used to be associated with that name. Light weight silk coats are possible that slip—folded—into a flat envelope when not in use. Heavier coats are also designed of rainproof materials, that may be worn all day if need be. There is nothing about them to suggest rain when the sun shines, and they will be a great blessing to business and club women.

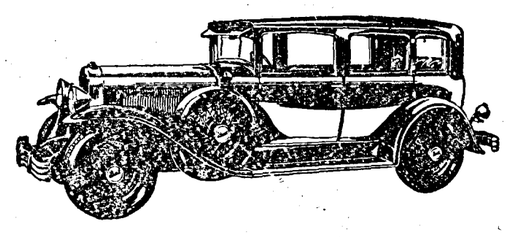
The NEW BUICK is the NEW STYLE



A triumph in individual beauty ... a refreshing and radical departure from the tiresome commonplace ... a new style, a richer style, a more alluring style than the world has ever known!

THE SILVER ANNIVERSARY BUICK
With Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher

Only one completely new motor car style in the past twenty-four months—only one truly original and beautiful development in body design—and, as the whole world realizes, it is the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher!

Here is an entirely new scheme of body lines and contours—arresting new color combinations—matchless new interiors—new appointments of comfort and convenience unapproached by any other automobile of the day!

Here is a true distinction wedded to genuine good taste. Here is a new style—a richer style—a more alluring style—than the motor world has ever known. And here, too, is tremendous increase in power, in flexibility, in responsiveness—so outstanding as to amaze even those motorists who have long been familiar with Buick's superior performance.

That is why America is according the Silver Anniversary Buick the most enthusiastic reception ever enjoyed by any fine car. That is why this beautiful new Buick has already become a country-wide vogue!

BURWELL NEWS

The Burwell football squad is rapidly rounding into shape under the efficient management of Mr. Zorn, who has hopes of being able to show the opposition some real contests this year. With one exception the entire first team are lettermen, and some have had two year's experience. The tentative lineup is as follows:

R. E., Mark Wagner, captain; R. T., Allen McClimans; R. G., Guy Ward; C., Marshall Thomson; L. G., Vernon Moore; L. T., Albin Gaukel; left end, Edward Peterson, James Rowse; R. H., James Gaukel; F. B., Paul Gaukel; L. H., Ray Anderson; Q. B., George Hoyt. Substitutes: Asa Anderson, Arthur Rohde, Stanley Penas, William Etherton, Gail Haner, John Ward, and Alvin Gross. The first game of the season will be against North Loup at Burwell, Sept. 28. The full schedule will be published next week.

Loren Butterfield had a misadventure with his saddle horse last week that he will remember for some time. The horse reared with him, sliding him off his back. He fell down but kept his grip on the rein. In trying to get away the horse stepped across him, stepping on his left cheek and leaving a bad bruise. He presented a rather fierce appearance for a few days, but the injury is rapidly healing at this time.

D. J. Darnell, district manager of the M.W.A., spent several days in Burwell the past week in the interests of the order. He looks forward to a good increase in membership this winter.

Since having a mastoid operation some two years ago Donald Savage has been having more or less trouble with a ringing in his head. Last week it became so bothersome that his aunt, Mrs. A. C. Adams and her daughters took him to Hastings to consult the doctor who performed the operation. He was left there for observation, and the doctor is certain he can rectify the trouble.

This region has been the scene of unusual activity the past week. As the season on ducks opened Sunday, everybody and his dog were up on the lakes and rivers at the break of day, and that morning sounded like another battle of the Marne. Strange to relate, most of the hunters brought home a good bag of ducks, and report that there were plenty left for future reference.

The Wranglers met in regular session Monday night, the special object of the meeting being to entertain the football boys of Burwell. The lads were all there, and enjoyed a filling feed of baby beef. The speaker of the evening was Prof. Skinner, of the St. Paul schools, who gave a splendid talk, taking for his subject "Practicing the Principle of the Second Mile". "If any man compel you to go with him one mile, go with him twain". His talk made a special appeal to the boys, who thoroughly enjoyed it. It was agreed to purchase football banners to place in front of business places on days when there was to be a football game.

G. M. Robbins suffered a slight stroke about one o'clock Monday morning, and it was at first feared that his condition was serious, however he seems to be recovering rapidly and is able to talk and move almost as well as before. Mr. Robbins was eighty-seven years of age Sept. 11, and can consider himself lucky to escape so easily.

Arcadia News Briefs.

The Arcadia band under the direction of Prof. Hemming Hautala gave a concert Saturday night. With this concert the out door season closed for this summer. The band was handicapped to a certain extent, in that practice was not begun until the first part of May, making it impossible to give a concert every week, but with continued practice throught the winter months and by combining the senior and junior bands next summer for concert work, Arcadia will have a band they can well be proud of.

DAVIS CREEK

By MRS. JOHN WILLIAMS.

The U. B. Aid society met Wednesday with Mrs. Ernest Rahlmeyer, twenty-six being present. All had an enjoyable time quilting, tying comforters and piecing quilts. A social was planned and will be held at the church Friday evening, Sept. 21. Ice cream, pie, etc., will be sold.

Rev. Jenkins and family moved into the parsonage at Midvale last week and will serve the Davis Creek and Midvale churches the coming year. The truck which brought their goods up moved Rev. Jacobson's goods to McCool and the Jacobson family stayed at the John Williams home Thursday evening. Rev. Jacobson closed a successful year here and the Ord circuit was second on the honor roll at the U. B. conference.

M. B. Cummins and Chas. Johnson shipped cattle to the Omaha market Monday. Ed Green and Geo. Green and Geo. E. Johnson put in a few head. Charles accompanied the shipment and Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Athey and Mrs. Johnson drove to Grand Island to meet him Tuesday.

E. E. Williams dug a 30 foot pit silo last week and is filling it this week. He formerly had an 8-foot pit but hard winds filled it with debris and he thought this fall a good time to clean it out and deepen it. Guy Kerr also is digging a silo.

John Lunney has been doing some fencing on the place where Walter Lunney lives and expects to hog off part of the corn. They are also cutting up a part of it.

Miss Caddie Mitchell is helping at the Chas. Johnson home for a few days.

Miss Sadie Purdum, a sister of Mrs. Frank Johnson, spent Thursday night and Friday at Chas. Johnson's.

Herman Negley and family and John Davis of Scotia enjoyed dinner at Geo. Sample's Sunday. Mr. Davis was on his way to Broken Bow to meet his wife, who was coming from Lakeside where she had been caring for little Walter Ray, the new baby at the Walter Thorngate home.

Friday evening the M. E. people enjoyed a pleasant evening at their church, a program being given and lunch served as a farewell party to Rev. Gibb and family. The Ladies Aid society presented Mr. and Mrs. Gibb with a set of silverware.

Chas. Johnson and family, Miss Crouch and Miss McClatchey, drove to Ord Sunday evening and called on Mrs. Geo. Johnson and Mrs. Jerd Ford, of Arcadia, at the Ord hospital. They then drove to North Loup to leave Miss Eva for her school work.

M. B. Cummins made business trips to Litchfield, Grand Island and Horace the past week. At Horace he bought some cattle and sold them Saturday at a nice profit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mathewson and son, Grand Island, visited Sunday at Rhinie Christensen's and called at Louie Axthelm's on their return journey.

About fifty members of the U. B. Sunday school of Davis Creek enjoyed a party at the Ord park Saturday evening in honor of the Junior C. E.

Born Wednesday Sept. 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Eglehoff, a 5 1-2 pound son. He has been named Paul Dean. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Alfred Jorgensen brought his threshing outfit home and thinks that except for sweet clover, his threshing season is about over. He began threshing sweet clover for Harry Stevens Tuesday.

Mrs. Glenna Bower and son attended the United Brethren Sunday school Sunday and Mrs. Alice Bower returned home with them and stayed until Monday.

John Palser was running his silage cutter at Guy Kerr's Tuesday.

C. C. Sample is cutting sweet clover this week.

Mrs. Wm. Horner is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Glen Eglehoff, this week and Miss Cythia Haddock is doing the housework.

They will incidently attend the Grand encampment of the G. A. R. Mrs. Smith spent the past week in the Goodenow home. W. R. Wright and Maude Goodenow drove with her to Ord Saturday, she leaving on the motor for Grand Island. She expects to accompany her brother, C. B. Coffin, to his home at Rifle, Colo., where she intends to spend the winter.

Mrs. C. A. Sharp was hostess to the Richland club Friday afternoon, Sept. 13. The entertaining feature was the dress and representations of different callings in life such as the fortune teller, fat women, fat man and Jew peddler. The business session was interesting as reports were read. It was found that the club entries at the Garfield county fair netted the club ten dollars in premiums. Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Fred Meyer, president; Mrs C. J. Bleach, vice president; Mrs. Tom Banks, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. C. A. Sharp informs us that her son-in-law, O. W. Percy is confined in the Legion hospital at Scottsbluff with an injured hand. He has not written them what or how the member was injured but that it would be some time before he would be permitted to use the hand.

Mrs. Everett Webb of Arcadia came over and visited a few days with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Roy Hockum. Mrs. Hockum took her to Arcadia Friday, returning Saturday.

HAYES CREEK
By The School.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobson and family called at the Theodore Miller home Friday night.

Angelina Kochonowski was absent from school Wednesday forenoon. This is the first and only absence from the Hayes Creek school this year.

Mr. Bauhard vaccinated one hundred and sixty head of hogs for Mr. Danczak near Loup City one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jensen and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobson were in Ord on business Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold were Grand Island visitors Tuesday. Coming home they encountered quite a bit of mud which delayed them and also caused Mr. Jones to spend most of Wednesday washing up his new Ford.

The Wayne Benson family who have been visiting in the vicinity of Lincoln for the past two weeks returned home last week. They report a very good time. Their chores were cared for by neighbors during their absence.

The Hayes Creek teachers thought the school yard needed a little attention so instigated a contest between the two rooms to see which one could collect the biggest pile of rubbish in a given time. The high school won and to reward them they were invited into the grade room for a short program on Friday morning. The program was very original and was thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors who were given the rare opportunity "to see themselves as others see them."

The grade room has been doing some praise worthy work in drawing.

The English class had for the subject of a debate one day last week. "Resolved that the rural schools offer more advantages than the city schools."

Silo filling is still occupying the time of many farmers in this locality. Many new silos have been dug that as much as possible may be made of the dry corn. Perhaps another week will about complete this work.

The Fred Christensen family autoed to Shelton last Saturday to see Mildred who is attending the Adventist academy at that place.

While Clyde Zentz was returning from Hastings one day last week he was visited by a bumble bee which stung him on the hand. While giving attention to the injured hand he failed to see an approaching car and a collision resulted which proved rather distructive to both cars, although none of the occupants were injured. Clyde was quite late in returning home and says his love for bumble bees has not increased by this experience.

During the first week of school the boys devoted most of the recess periods to playing horse shoe. In fact the Hayes Creek boys seem to take to horse shoes as a duck to water. However the second week their attention was turned to jumping contests, into which they entered with such a zest that now indeed they are a "sore" bunch. While their movements may not always be classified as graceful yet they furnish amusement for the spectators.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight Dorsey of Arborville were at the Bryan Owen home last week. They were called here to settle some business matters pertaining to the barn which burned on their place recently. The plans now are to begin building a new one in the near future.

Several boys from Hayes Creek enjoyed a duck hunting trip in the region of the Calamus recently.

Mrs. Enoch White, Mrs. Harlow White and Miss Edith left Saturday for Winner, S. D., for a visit with the Eli Snyder family.

The Hayes Creek school pupils enjoyed a watermelon feed Monday.

Will Rogers Says:—

I WAS kinder disappointed in Al's speech of acceptance. I thought he was smarter than he is, I thought he would refuse.

Just think how much bigger man Al would have been if he had refused. If he gets elected he will be only one out of thirty that's held presidency. But if he had refused he'd be the first in history to do that—and probably the last.

A Democrat is naturally windier than a Republican. He is out of office more and he has more time to think up things to say. All a Republican has to say is "well I am in, try and get me out!" While with a Democrat he has to say something that will get the Republican out and also that will get him in.

Al said he would take the nomination because "this is the country that has raised him from obscurity to the standard bearer of his party." Now Al dident have any monopoly on obscurity at birth. There is awful few babies very well known at weaning time.

The part of his speech that kinder hit me was where he said that if he was elected he would have our government quit messing around in Latin America. In other words if a Marine went sight-seeing he would have to pay his own way.

Al is honest about farm relief. He says he don't know a corn stalk from a jimpson weed and that a tractor might be a mouth wash so far as he is concerned. All in all, Al did a mighty fine job of promising. Now I think my platform is more constructive. I will make mine up after I get in. Nobody knows what they might want by next March anyhow.

—WILL ROGERS.

Seven Charter No Lo Members Still Belong

North Loup, Sept. 17.—(Special.)—The first meeting of the No Lo study club after the summer vacation, was held September 11 at the home of Miss Maude Shepard. This meeting held a special significance, as it celebrated the 25th anniversary of the founding of the club. A most interesting program was given, Miss Fannie McClellan telling of the organization of the club in 1903 at the home of Mrs. Jessie T. Babcock. The membership has always been limited to twenty-four, and of the charter members, seven still belong to the club. They are Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. Jessie T. Babcock, Mrs. W. J. Hemphill, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. A. H. Babcock and Misses Fannie McClellan and Maud Shepard. Mrs. Frank Johnson told of the former active members seventy in all. Of that number, sixteen have died and twenty-six have moved away. Six of the charter members have passed away, nine have gone to make homes in other places, seven remain active in the club and two are on the honorary list, Mrs. Nellie Black and Mrs. Mary McClellan. Mrs. A. H. Babcock read a paper prepared by the first president, Mrs. Kate True. Mrs. Hemphill told about the club babies, seventeen being the children of active members, and eight belonging to honorary members. Mrs. Jessie Babcock and Miss Maud Shepard also had places on the program, the former recounting the things accomplished by the club, and Miss Shepard leading in a discussion of the talents of the various members. The assistant hostesses, Mrs. Kress and Mrs. Comstock, assisted Miss Shepard in serving a delightful picnic supper in cafeteria style. Mrs. Charles Cleary of California, and Miss Sara Purdum of Chicago, were guests.

MILFORD'S

Mrs. Cleary possessed the distinction of being a direct descendant of the early colonial settlers of Massachusetts. In 1905 a large tabletwas unveiled at Newburyport, a town 40 miles from Boston, Mass., containing the names of those who had founded the town and who were identified with its early history. These people came to Massachusetts between the years 1835-1650 at the instigation of the settlers who came to Massachusetts in the Mayflower in 1620. Five of the names on the tablets were ancestors of Mrs. Cleary in a direct line, and the Cleary children have reason to be proud of their early ancestry.

In the year 1918, most of the children being married and away from home, Mr. and Mrs. Cleary and daughters Helen and Elizabeth decided to go to California, and being well pleased with the climate bought a home at Santa Ana. Another reason for going to California when they did was because their son Charles was then in the navy, stationed at Goat Island, and expecting to be sent at any time to New York and thence to France. They greatly wanted to see him before he left, but unluckily he was quarantined because of illness, and they had to be satisfied with only a telephone conversation.

In the summer of 1924 Mr. and Mrs. Cleary went with friends for a vacation to a place in the mountains about seventy miles from Santa Ana, named Forest Home. On August 24 Mr. Cleary said he was going for a walk. He was never again seen alive. A tireless search was made week after week for some trace of him, but to no avail until on August 16, 1925, almost a year later and just a month after the death of Mrs. Cleary, a youth named Scherbacker, on a hike with two other boys scouts found Mr. Cleary's body lodged in a tree. This secluded spot had in some way been overlooked by searching parties as easily it might, in a mountainous country, and it was thought that Mr. Cleary who had already suffered one stoke may have had another, causing him to fall over the cliff overhanging the tree where his body was found. Young Scherbacher is a son of Rev. Scherbacher, a former pastor of the German Evangelical church in North Loup.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary were the parents of seven children, Mrs. Edith Bartz of North Loup, Helen, now deceased, was the wife of Harley Barnhart, son of Jim Barnhart of North Loup, Esther, who was a popular teacher at Midvale, Pleasant Hill, and in the Baker district near Horace, married Dwight Hayden, son of Rev. Hayden, a former U. B. pastor at Midvale, and now lives at Tustin, Cal. Charles, married Gertrude Kettle, formerly of North Loup, and a cousin of Walt Finch, now at Ord. Frances lives at Santa Ana, Cal., and is the wife of Mat Thome, who holds a responsible position with a big oil company. John, also lives at Santa Ana, and several years ago married Pauline Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanson, who live north of Ord. She was before her marriage a much loved primary teacher in North Loup. Miss Elizabeth is unmarried and makes her home with her sister, Mrs. Thome. She has taken a business training and is engaged in stenographic work.

Two Social Events.

North Loup, Neb., Sept. 19.—(Special)—Mrs. Thelma Johnson Hamilton was honoree at a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at the country home of Mrs. Victor Cook. A recent bride, Mrs. Hamilton is a former North Loup girl, the daughter of Frank Johnson and a niece of Mrs. George Parkins of Ord. She will fulfill her contract to teach in District No. 10 school this year, where she has taught before. Mrs. Cook was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Bohrer, in serving. Out-of-town guests at the shower were Mrs. George Parkins and daughter Mary of Ord, and Mrs. Parkins' sister, Miss Sarah Purdum of Chicago.

Mrs. Charles Mayo entertained the members of the Old Forty club Wednesday afternoon, that they might help her celebrate her birthday. This club was organized many years ago, and has not met for a long time, so the reunion was the occasion for a merry time.

—Dave Bredthauer of Scotia was an Ord caller Saturday.

Ord Teachers Honored.

Teachers in the Ord schools have been made welcome in a number of ways since their arrival, a series of festivities having been planned. Monday evening Bill Nieuland, manager of the Gem, was host at a theater party in their honor; Wednesday evening a reception was held at the Methodist church, with special entertainment planned for the incoming teachers.

Tuesday evening Misses Gussie Sheffler and Helen Isaacson were hostesses at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Shepard, and all teachers were their guests. The Teachers club was re-organized, and new officers chosen. This club meets regularly throughout the year.

Thursday afternoon after school hours the Methodist Missionary society invited the teachers to come to the church parlors for refreshments and a social hour. Surely the new teachers haven't had time to be lonesome, with all this activity, and the business of beginning their teaching.

Archie Babcock Dies After Tonsil Operation

North Loup, Neb., Sept. 19.—(Special)—Word has been received here of the death of Archie Babcock, a son of the late E. J. Babcock, which occured at Lincoln early Wednesday morning. The deceased underwent a tonsilectomy the previous Friday, and it is thought that complications must have made him grow worse, but is not known positively. Mrs. Jessie C. Babcock, his mother, was called to Lincoln Monday, and will return with the body Thursday. Services will probably be given by Rev. Polan, but the time of the funeral has not been decided to date.

Archie's father, E. J. Babcock, was one of the founders of North Loup, and was a most prominent and respected citizen. Archie, although afflicted from birth by deafness and dumbness, finished the North Loup high school, and a great deal of credit is due him for his energy and ambition. He was a young man, and numbers of friends and relatives will be sad his life was so shortened.

On Hunting Trip.

North Loup, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Miss Katherine Chadwick left on Wednesday for Cherry county, on a hunting trip with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. McCune and daughter, Dorothy. Mr. and Mrs. Rud Inbody and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hill returned Tuesday from a hunting trip up in the same country, and report having seen the McCunes, who were congratulating themselves on having shot six ducks on the first day of their trip.

Obituary.

North Loup, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Green, mother of Mrs. George Coombs, died early Thursday morning, Sept. 12, at the home of her daughter with whom she had lived for many years. Mrs Green suffered a stroke of paralysis the preceding Saturday, from which she was unable to rally. Her funeral was held Saturday afternoon, Sept. 15 at the home of Mrs. Coombs, and was conducted by Prof. L. O. Greene an old friend of the family, in the absence of Rev. Polan. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Esther Babcock, Ava Johnson, Dell Barber and Archie Moulton with Georgie Green accompanise. The pall bearers were all relatives of Mrs. Greene. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and testified to the esteem in which "Aunt Elizabeth" was held. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Elizabeth L. Williams was born October 15 1838, at Watson, Lewis county, N. Y., and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Coombs on their farm west of North Loup, Sept. 13, 1928, almost ninety years of age. She was the second child in a family of eight born to Deacon Daniel P. Williams and Lucinda Scriven Williams and was a lineal descendent of Roger Williams founder of Rhode Island. She was a sister of the late Deacon Jacob Williams who spent a large part of his life in this community, and was also a sister of Henry Williams of Boulder, Colo., the only living member of the family.

Her early life was spent in New York where she did some teaching and where on April 2, 1859 she was married to William N. Green, who a few years later served his country in the Civil War. Five children were born to this union, only one of whom grew to maturity, Ella, now the wife of George Coombs of this vicinity. In the spring of 1880 Mr. and Mrs. Greene moved to Nebraska, to seek a new home, but within a very few weeks Mr. Greene died leaving her alone in this new home to care for her only daughter. For many years they lived in town in the house now owed by Robert Preston, and after the marriage of the daughter, she moved with them, 24 years ago, to the farm where she died.

Mrs. Greene was baptized at the age of twelve years and joined the Watson, N. Y. Seventh Day Baptist church. When she moved to Nebraska, she and her husband joined the North Loup church where she has since held her membership. She was a good Christian woman and did her work faithfully and well. She was somewhat retiring and quiet, but was loved by all who knew her. She was of even temperment which made it easy always to know just what her attitude toward life's questions would be.

George Hemphill Leaves

North Loup, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—George K. Hemphill, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Hemphill left today for Madison, Wisc., to take up his second year's work in the medical department of the state university.

The Value of Barley as Food for Dairy Cows

DURING the summer of 1927 the Michigan Experimental station carried on an extensive experiment in two herds of cows to determine the feeding value of ground barley as compared to corn for dairy cows. Two lots were fed over a period of twenty days, one receiving among other feeds, four hundred pounds of ground barley. At the end of the twenty-day period, the corn and barley ration was changed from one lot to the other, and the experiment proved conclusively that, pound for pound, ground barley has as great a food value for dairy cows as has ground corn. This fact can well be born in mind by dairy men, as there is a shortage of corn in this county.

JOINT NEWS

Weather conditions are quite favorable for ripening the corn crop. One and one-half inches of rain fell Tuesday and Wednesday which will put the soil in good condition for the sowing of fall grain. Although it came too late to benefit the corn the heavy winds have made it almost impossible to stack hay to advantage and there is still some to put up. The hay crop is very short but the rains will benefit pastures to some extent. Seeding of fall grain is well under way a few having finished. Shock threshing is done and stack threshing will commence. Everyone is behind with fall work and getting ready for winter will soon be the order of the day.

The stock market is quite lively this fall and buyers are in this locality almost every day trying to locate both cattle and light hogs for sale and are ready to pay a good price.

C. A. Dye sold a large bunch of grass cattle to O. C. Winder last week. Mr. Winder consigned them to the Saturday sale in Ord.

Ed Jensen has turned his bunch of about 250 spring pigs into the corn field and Ed says they are sure picking corn.

J. L. Abernethy contracted his crop of spring calves to Albert McMindes some time ago for $40 per head. These calves are to be delivered about October 1.

J. L. Abernethy has completed reshingling his house and is putting on a coat of paint, thereby adding quite a bit to the looks and value.

Ralph Hanson purchased a quantity of hog fence last week and will fence a field of corn for his hogs.

Howard Bodyfield sold a span of horses to Kermit Peterson last week. Mr. Peterson expects to buy a car load for future market.

—Billy Orcutt arrived Sunday from Clayton, N. Mex., having started at once for Ord upon receiving notice of his mother's death.

North Loup Briefs

North Loup, Sept. 15.—(Special)—Robert Preston, one of North Loup's early settlers visited from Saturday to Wednesday with his sister at Ord, Mrs. Sam Gilroy. It was Mr. Preston's first visit to Ord in three years, which speaks well for his attention to business. We suspect that he dislikes being known as a "gad-about" among his friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Louise Eberhart returned Wednesday morning from a most enjoyable automobile trip with her daughter Mrs. John Kriewald and Mr. Kriewald. They first took in some of the sights at the State Fair, and then went on to Elmwood Thursday. They spent Thursday night and Friday at Shenandoah, Iowa, visiting the Henry Field Seed Company, where they saw many things of interest. On Saturday they drove to Dumfries, Iowa, to visit friends, spent Sunday at Avoca, going on to Shelby Monday. On their way back to Council Bluffs from Shelby they had to drive through mud as they had a four inch rain. They visited forty-six towns on the trip and enjoyed every bit of it, visiting with old friends and relatives, and places where Mrs. Eberhart had spent part of her girlhood. She especially enjoyed her visit in Silver Creek, Iowa, where she attended a church service where she had attended when a girl of ten years. Before returning home they took Miss Bessie Eberhart to University Place where she is entering her Senior year at Wesleyan. Just before leaving on her trip, Mrs. Eberhart enjoyed entertaining her sister Mrs. Fred Kunz, who with her husband and children were here for a few days.

Everett Baker who works on the farm of Charles Otto was compelled to quit work for the rest of the week because of a bad case of infection. His father, Charles Baker, is taking his place. There are several cases of infection and blood poisoning in and around North Loup.

Misses Beryl and Maxine Graham, daughters of Mr. Graham, the auctioneer at the Sears store, came over from Kearney Saturday morning to visit their father, and also their friend Paula Jones.

A farewell reception for Rev. Richard Gibb and family was given Friday evening at the Davis Creek Methodist church. A most enjoyable program was rendered as follows: piano solo and vocal solo, entitled "Peggy" by Miss McClatchey of Ord, two duets by Rev. and Mrs. Gibb. Mrs. Gibb gave a Scotch reading "Bairnies Cuddle Doon" in her own pleasing manner. The Davis Creek Ladies Aid society presented the Gibbs with some beautiful silverware in remembrance of their three years of association. Refreshments were served of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee.

The ladies of the Rebecca lodge held their regular monthly meeting at the Odd Fellow's Hall Thursday evening. The occasion was the 75th anniversary of the organization of the Rebeccas and about twenty-five members were present. At the close of the evening they enjoyed a watermelon feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Gowen and son Forrest, left in their truck Saturday for Scotts Bluffs where Ward will work in the beet fields, hauling beets. Mrs. Gowen went along to see the country. They took Hessie Lane's household goods with them as the Lane family has already moved out there.

Claud Rathbun spent Thursday visiting his brother Mott Rathbun at Sumpter. The latter is improving but is still bedfast from a four weeks attack of arthritus. His silo is being filled this week. Although Mott is himself unable to work he has some good neighbors who are going ahead as if he were in charge. Ford Eyerly of North Loup is operating the ensilage cutter belonging to Ed Helbig and David Davis, while Dutch Williams, the genial milk hauler on that route has been doing most of the corn cutting in the field.

Worried About Delbert Chapman.

For two days last week Mrs. Florence Chapman and Mrs. Ella Hughes were greatly concerned about their son and brother, Delbert. Newspapers reported a severe hurricane in Porto Rico, where he was stationed. A cable message from San Juan, where Delbert was stationed, said all land wires were down. A radio message saying that he was unhurt was picked up by a Brooklyn, N. Y., station Saturday and promptly forwarded to his mother.

ORD CITY BAKERY

WELL-SHOD, well-hatted, well-gloved is the smart woman of today. And if she be dressed for her favorite sport, she has also given careful attention to her belt and the neckerchief she has tied on one shoulder.

What will milady choose this fall? There are so many stunning accessories to her costumes that she must consider carefully and chose wisely.

Belts for Sport Outfits.

Belts appear in novelties that will fit almost any sport outfit. A buckle worn in the back is a feature of one of these in blue and tan leather. Another of the trim half-inch type is of interwoven strips of green suede with an oblong silver buckle. Still another wider belt is of yellow and red with red leather edges. It ties in front, a clever knot through metal rings in the most approved style.

Slip-on gloves continue in popularity. Natural chamois gloves, hand-sewn, are worn slightly large. Another pair in beige kid, with appliques in tan and brown in diamond shapes might be the very thing to complete one's costume. Navy blue and white kid makes another snappy pair with a full gore at the side.

Appealing Hand Bags.

Hand bags are equally fascinating to consider. Straps of various kinds lend snappiness to these, with combinations of leathers. Calf is used with patent leather and also with lizard and the alligator-grained skins. Rounded corner styles seem to be favorites, although a few have sharp, squared corners.

Especial attention has been given to the fastenings. Two little pyramids snap at the top of a morocco purse. Round knobs, sometimes set with jewels, are ever present. On another straight-line bag, a strap is cleverly stitched on one side and slips through a metal buckle at the top. Colors in bags are as varied as the rainbow. There are always tans, browns and blacks, to be sure—but why stop there? Red, beige and blue may fit your need better, so why be too practical in your choice?

Let us imagine milady at the stocking counter, about to purchase her hosiery for her sports costume.

She: "Please let me see something in beige for my golf suit."

Salesgirl: "Here are two of the latest arrivals. This heavy silk pair has attractive clocks in modern design, while this other pair is lighter weight silk and uses a more delicate design in mouse color."

She: "Those seem fine. Now let me see what you have in silk and wool."

Salesgirl: "These have just come in (running her hand inside). The diamond pattern gives a sort of jacquard chintz appearance that is almost effective."

She (thoughtfully): "Well, they are all so smart I really believe I shall want all three pair, if you please, in size 9. Charge and send."

They Cannot Be Resisted.

Here one can imagine the salesgirl whispering that this is a fairy story, that is, about taking all three pairs; but we thing not. If you were to see them you would know that no woman could ever resist buying these stockings.

Large squares of printed silk and small squares of hand-painted linen (handkerchiefs) also help with a correct costume. A Swedish design for a scarf is gay and bold in tan, orange and white with accents of blue.

When milady's shoulder is in question—and surely it is a lovely spot to decorate—she can find flowers in profusion for her various costumes. Soft, clinging sprays are pretty for evening gowns. Snapdragon colors are in one spray of silk, while another of velvet is in violet and orchid tints. Violet bouquets are worn on the shoulder, too. Feather flowers in clusters come in delicate colors to nestle in one's fur collar.

The fall costume would lack zest surely without the refreshing bit of color we have been wearing on our coat collars, in various flower knots and bouquets.

IF WAR VANISHED.
PAIN AND SUFFERING.
ABOLISHING SLAVERY.
PADLOCKS FOR HOMES?

That pact outlawing war is signed, and for the present, nations seem to take it seriously.

Suppose the improbable SHOULD happen, and all nations suddenly abandon war. What would happen?

Earth's population has been regulated by WAR, DISEASE, FAMINE.

Machinery and better government have practically eliminated famine.

Science has almost eliminated the plagues that killed wholesale. No more "Black Death." With war gone, what would prevent growth of population greater than the earth could sustain?

Divine Wisdom, ruling the earth, is probably able to solve that problem as it has taken care of others, including the most difficult, how to keep populations GROWING in spite of war, plague and famine.

The Rev. Auer, who teaches philosophy at Tufts College, says men should not seek to AVOID pain and suffering but to UNDERSTAND both.

That is better than the old theory that God actually wanted men to suffer.

When anaesthetics were first used, the clergy of Britain denounced them as interfering with God's wishes.

God wishes us to suffer when we have our legs cut off, and men must not interfere with His plans by using chloroform, thus cheating the Lord, said the preachers.

An ingenious doctor answered, to the confusion of clergymen, quoting the Book of Genesis, asserting that the Lord was the One to use anaesthetics when He "caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam" before removing one of Adam's ribs to make Eve.

Men should understand pain and suffering, of course as the reverend philosopher Auer says. But they should also concentrate on eliminating both by scientific means, and especially by abolishing poverty.

The best thing in Herbert Hoover's speech of acceptance the best thing said by any Presidential candidate since Lincoln, was his statement expressing the hope that by giving every man a job, well paid, poverty may be made to disappear.

Quite a suprise for the Minnesota ploughman homeward plodding his weary way, or children from the public schools to find the front and back door padlocked, and be compelled to sleep in the garage.

Seven thousand miles happens to be the distance in a straight line across the Pacific Ocean. Planes able to make that trip ought to interest us.

But we haven't any air minstry. Our Government doesn't yet realize that airplanes really exist. This nation, richest in the world, depends on private individuals to develop the airplane. We may pay for that some day and be compelled to call on British airplanes to help us as we had to call on British ships to help us in the big war.

What we are saving now on airplanes may cost us a thousand dollars for one some fine day.

Suffers Severe Sprain.

Arcadia, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Nels Nygren had her right ankle severely sprained last week while stepping into an automobile. Mrs. Nygren has been staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Cremeen, and they had brought her to her home in town to secure some articles that she wanted. They were just ready to return when Mrs. Nygren suffered the sprain. A number of years ago this same ankle was broken and had been weak since then. Mrs. Nygren is confined to her bed at the Cremeen home and her many friends hope that she may soon be able to be up and around again.

Ray Brown started carrying mail Monday on the new route three which is the old routes three and four combined.

WEEKES SEED CO.

20 Years Ago

Under this heading will appear weekly items taken from the Quiz of even date, 20 years ago.

Thurlow Thompson was in the city on a deal to dig Misko's ice pond for him.

A son of Henry Geweke was kicked in the face by a colt Wednesday but was around town again in a few days with only a scar to show for the mishap.

Mel Goodenow went to Grand Island to meet an old uncle, Phineas Goodenow, who went to California in 1849 and was making his first trip back east since that time.

Barney Brickner's house in Mira Valley burned to the ground, the cause of the blaze being unknown. It was insured.

The open season on chickens brought in a goodly bunch of dogs and hunters on the evening train Sept. 16 but few had much luck, the Quiz stating that the birds were almost extinct.

The populist and Bryan forces formed a consolidation in Ord under the name of Bryan Volunteers. They leased a suite of rooms over the Johnson drug store and prepared to do all they could for W. J. Bryan. A. J. Firkins, Jos. Barta, J. J. Allen and D. L. Williams were officers in the Volunteers.

Anton Mach and Miss Anna Vohtlle were married on Sept. 15 by Rev. Augustine.

Miss Alice Ollis returned to the state university for another year's quest of knowledge.

Ord was nearly deserted, most residents having gone to Burwell to take in the big baseball tournament and carnival being staged there. Nearly every team within 150 miles was scheduled to play at Burwell.

Harris, with 37 points, won first place in the field meet held at the Valley county fair. John Ward, with 33 points, was second, and Long, with 30 points, was third.

Pep Girls Reorganize.

Arcadia, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—The girls Pep organization of the Arcadia high school have reorganized for the coming year and will soon have a number of new and peppy class yells with which to enthuse the football players. The organization is under the direction of Miss Lillian Jeary and is composed of sixteen girls, four being chosen from each grade. The girls meet once a week to practice yells to be given at the football games of the high school. At a recent meeting the following new members were chosen from the freshman class, Allona Hendrickson, Dorothy Bly, Vera Murray and Evelyn Hyatt. Ida Gartside and Emma Welty were chosen from the junior class to vll the places left vacant by Mae Hollingshead and Rowena Fuller who are not attending the Arcadia school this year.

Week after week and month after month the Bigger and Better Chevrolet has swept on to greater and greater heights of popularity—until today it stands acknowledged everywhere as first choice of the nation for 1928!

Never has any Chevrolet enjoyed such overwhelming public acceptance—for never has any low-priced car provided such an outstanding combination of distinctive beauty, thrilling performance and amazing economy!

Its beautiful bodies by Fisher—long, low and racy, and finished in colors that reveal to-day's mode for smartness and individuality—are far in advance of accepted standards in the field of low-priced cars. Inside and out they prove anew that Fisher craftsmanship is a thing apart.

But Chevrolet performance is no less impressive than Chevrolet beauty and style. Never before was a low-priced car so easy to handle—for the steering mechanism is fitted with ball bearings throughout . . . the clutch and gear-shift lever respond to the slightest touch . . . and big non-locking 4-wheel brakes give a measure of braking control that is more than equal to every occasion.

Come in and see the car that has won the approval of more than three-quarters of a million buyers since January 1st. Learn for yourself why it is scoring the greatest success of this great automotive year!

Arcadia to Rival New York City.

Arcadia, Sept. 18.—(Special.)—Watch for the large electrical display which will appear on the top of the Hotel Judah within the next ten days.

THE LADIES, bless them, have long been aware of the pleasing effect of a harmonious color scheme for the costume as a whole. As most benedicts know, and even bachelors have been able to guess, from fugitive glances at the windows of smart lingerie shops, they have not confined this principle to the selection of their outerwear, but have carried it out consistently in the choice of their most intimate finery.

And men, big bluffers that they are, have swallowed their superiority complex and humbly taken a lesson from the supposedly weaker sex in this matter.

Color the Keynote.

Color—the harmonious arrangement of related hues, with a discreet use of the principle of contrast in addition, that's the idea at the basis of what the smart haberdasher and the up-to-minute plumber call the ensemble effect.

It means that when a man feels an overpowering urge to possess a certain tie, a particular shirt, or a pair of glorified gym pants, he must pause and reflect and put on the brakes until he has settled whether the seductive article of attire will fit into any consistent color scheme, with the other members of his wardrobe.

And really when you come down to it, it's merely our old friend Good Taste in one of his many guises. And the general interest in the ensemble idea, with a proportionate scorn for the hit-or-miss, higgley-piggledy turnouts, is an indication, it would seem, of the growth of good taste.

Violent Tie Effects Taboo.

In neckware there's a visible tendency to neater effects. Small figures in a multiplicity of designs, geometrical or otherwise, with a leaning to the modernistic motif, will have a large following.

Plain colors and duotone effects, as in the satin-striped baratheas, continue good, particularly with highly patterned shirts. Persian motifs appear to be due for a small revival, and very neat cluster stripes take the lead among the regimental and club gentry.

Imported silks in great variety will be featured as well as the better domestic products, in moires, reps, crepe, failles, brocade, and other fancy weaves. And, of course, the colors will be legion.

New Shirt Features.

Among the outstanding developments in men's shirts are the starched-collar-attached, the Prince of Wales tab collar, and the extra low set attached collar with wide opening named after one of America's leading actors.

In shirts the color combinations are almost as numerous as in neckwear, with emphasis placed on subdued grounds, enlivened by neat jacquard or dobby clipped figures and fine stripes.

The colors, in semi-dark shades, will range from greens and blues, through wistarias, Burgundies, lavendens, and other pastel tones, with a noticeable intermingling of reds.

Neat Effects in Hose.

Men's hose for fall, in lisle, wool, and rayon mixtures present many attractive ideas in clock designs on plain and mixed grounds, also fine vertical and circular pinstripes, and a great variety of check and diamond motifs in small dimensions.

Gray, beige, and other standard colors will be fortified with a good showing of reds and greens.

Futuristic Mufflers.

The new mufflers for fall include many novel designs in a futuristic tendency, small and neat, on silk squares, also small band-blocked figures, with blues, tans, grays, greens, and whites as the colors receiving most emphasis. Swiss wool knit reefers in tubular effects and basket weaves from Czechoslovkia are new ideas.

Underwear and Pajamas.

In pajamas and underwear, excluding the good old staple knit suits, color is rampant, not to say rampageous. The whole spectrum has been rifled to contribute to the esthetic pleasure of the wearers of shirts and shorts, and design motifs range from lightning flashes to colorful soap-bubbles floating on a black sky. The tendency, however, is to neater effects, both in color and design.

Our Exchanges

By Mrs. R. J. Clark

Pidge Johnson was here Sunday, from his Ord home, visiting with friends. For several weeks Pidge passed up this city and did not visit with anyone here. Next time we see him we are going to find out just why he did not come to this city for so long. His visits will be more frequent now, and much more regular. —Phonograph.

Miss Bess Johnson reached home last week from her summer vacation visit in the west. She spent most of her time in Wyoming and during the past month her parents have been out there too. They remained for a little longer visit and they plan on stopping in Colorado on their way home and visit with their daughter, Mrs. Ray Auble and family. Miss Bess reports having had a delightful time while out west, but she is well pleased to get back home and on the job once more. Her many friends are glad to meet her again at Bartles when they visit that store.—Phonograph.

The Harry Ward family, of Valley county, spent the last week in this vicinity visiting with relatives and old time friends and neighbors, They like it very well in their new home near Ord and crops up there this year are fair in some parts of the county. Harry dropped in at this office while here and renewed his subscription to the Phonograph for which we thank him. We are glad to see the Ward family doing so well in their new home.—Phonograph.

Sliding down glaciers in between Flat Top and Halletts Peak near Estes Park, Colo., was one of the experiences of Ruth Eby, who spent three of the summer months at Estes Park with her sister, Miss Helen Eby. The girls were engaged in Y.M.C.A. work, being employed in the cafeteria of the camp. The girls returned to this city last week, delightfully tanned from their camp life. Misses Eby were the first girls from their camp to hike up Long's Peak, which is seven and a half miles high, unassisted and without a guide. The peak is considered one of the most difficult peaks to hike —the first five miles consist of a trail, but the last two and a half, one has to climb over rocks and snow to gain the summit. From this peak one may see the Never Summer Range in Utah and also glimpse Pike's Peak.

Helen had several tennis matches, winning glory for herself by defeating the tennis champion of Oklahoma City and also winning from a Japanese student at Denver University, who had played the famous tennis star, Helen Wills. Miss Eby is a star tennis player, and was one of the big factors in the Hastings College tennis team during her college career.

Both girls derived much benefit from their summer in the mountains and are already planning for their next summer's vacation, which will be spent at some sea shore.

Miss Helen Eby left Tuesday morning for Ord where she will teach in the high school, while her sister will leave Saturday for Hastings to enter college.—Hartington Herald.

Albert Peterson shot three watermelon thieves to death Monday morning. The thieves were three large mud turtles. While Peterson was at work in his watermelon patch the trio of mud turtles came forth for their breakfast. They attacked the watermelons.. Peterson, who had a gun with him, shot the mud turtles, He said they had destroyed several melons in his patch. —Greeley Citizen.

Col. M. B. Cummins, of North Loup, and Col. Lester Watts, of Scotia, have recently formed an auction partership. They are both good men at the auctioneering job, and will no doubt have a successful season together.—Scotia Register.

J. M. Sorenson, vice president of the Fremont State bank, has gone on a visit to his mother at Long Beach, Cal.—Fremont Herald.

You Know Me, Al.

It happened at a recent session of the district court here. Judge Paine was asking an applicant for citizenship a few questions.

"Who is the president of the United States?" the judge asked.

"Coolidge," was the answer.

"Fine," encouraged Judge Clements. "Who are the candidates for president at this time?"

"Al Smith."

"But are there any others?"

"Al's the only one that we hear about."—Greeley Citizen.

Aug. 22—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butcher, a son, Morrill.—Gering Courier.

Dr. P. A. Bartunek, dentist, of Wolbach, Neb., was the victim of a hold-up in this city last Wednesday evening at about 10:30 p.m. While sitting in his car, which was parked across the street from the court house near the Elk's building, two men attacked and overpowered him, taking a diamond ring and $40. Mr. Bartunek was unable to give a description of his assailants and no trace of them has been found by police officials.—Grand Island Herald.

W. S. Olexa, recently owner of the Ulysses Dispatch, is editing a paper at Ouray, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harris of Sheridan, Wyo., arrived here Monday and are visiting this week at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Harris.—Wolbach Messenger.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kucera and baby expect to leave Saturday for Lincoln where they will make their home while Clarence attends school at the University.—Arcadian.

Tense Situations Featured in New Zane Grey Picture

THEIR very existence menaced by danger to their water rights, citizens of Happy Valley meet in mass gatherings to take steps to fight for their rights. They agree that any one of their number who sells his land and water rights shall be shot down on sight.

That is one of the tense situations in Zane Grey's "The Vanishing Pioneer," the Paramount picture featuring Jack Holt.

The mass meeting in the picture is held in the church which serves as the general gathering place for the pioneer community. This scene was actually filmed in such a church in the pioneer settlement of Rockville, Utah, a little village near Zion National Park. It was there that the company from the Paramount studio in Hollywood went on location to make the exterior scenes of the picture.

The weather-beaten frame building in which the meeting was held serves not alone as a church for the district but is also the school house. the scene of the dances and all other social gatherings and the place where the weekly motion picture show is held.

Gathered in the building on the day the mass meeting scenes were taken were scores of pioneer residents of the district who acted as extra players in the picture. They entered into the scene with fervor for the Zane Grey story they were playing in, resembles in many ways the life drama enacted by themselves and their pioneer ancestors. At the Gem Friday and Saturday.

P.T.A. STARTS YEAR OFF WITH BANG

Good Attendance and Program at First Regular Meeting of School Year.

The Parent-Teacher meeting held Tuesday evening, Sept. 25 at the auditorium of the new Ord high school was quite a success, especially for the first meeting of the school year. Whether it was because of the ample and delicious refreshments which everyone knew were to be served; the rousing songs; the games; the speeches; or just the pep that fall has put in everyone's veins, is hard to say. At any rate, it was a success, between 50 and 60 people being present, a number of whom were added to the membership roll of the organization.

Opening with community singing lead by Glen Auble, the rafters (?) rolled the sound sonorously. The next number was to have been a solo by Miss Elvabelle Clements, but because of a cold, she was unable to sing, so next on the program came J. A. Kavanda, who talked on "Ojects and Aims of an Agricultural Course" in a most satisfactory manner.

Describing first something of the history of vocational education, he told how the Smith Hughes act, passed in 1917 provided funds of approximately three million for instructors salaries, etc. In 1918 there were two such schools, now there are about 62 schools offering such a course, and last year there were also offered 45 night or part time school in the same work. Helping to keep those between 14 and 18 years of age in school, 20,000 of whom live in Nebraska seems to be a life-sized job. Through the medium of the evening schools, farmers and their wives may also receive instruction.

Vocational training is meant to occupy half the student's time, the other half being filled with regular school subjects. A home project, such as raising a calf, feeding, keeping books on it, fattening it to sell for a profit, enables the student to earn while he learns and so appeals to the practical side of his nature. Other things proving of great interest to the boys are the problems found on the farm such as crop rotation, building up soil fertility, price cycles and market conditions, overproduction, lowering the production cost, finding and weeding out the profitless enterprises, etc. The $100 scholarship given in each school in a county through which the Union Pacific railroad passes is also an incentive for the boys in ag courses to work hard.

All in all, the courses in vocational work are to try to help the boys be better farmers, when their turn comes. A class of 40 is now active in Ord, one of the largest if not the largest class in the state showing the great interest local boys take in the work.

Owing to the absence of some of the members of the Glee club more community singing preceded the next address. Mrs. Bud Auble accompanied at the piano.

Marion Cushing next very clearly explained just what it was that a farmer expects from an agricultural course. Once the book farmer was despised by the dirt farmer, but now he has been shown that hard work plus scientific methods yield many times the returns the old hap-hazard way of farming did. Mr. Cushing stressed the importance of making the soil fertile, and improving the condition of it by telling a story of a woman who wished to purchase a quart of bedbugs in order to leave a house in just the condition she leased it.

The modern student of farming understands how to rotate crops and so work the soil as to add to its fertility. He also understands how to diversify crops so as to meet expenses and leave a profit. If he does not there is no object in farming. Choosing equipment to meet his needs is another important poin and so is the raising and feeding of stock. He must be able to choose stock. To do the best all around work on the farm,

Johnson Daughter Healthiest in Kimball County

AS THE healthiest girl in Kimball county a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson, formerly of Ord, won a trip to the state fair. She has been active in Kimball county 4-H club work. In Lincoln, after being examined by several doctors and dentists, Miss Johnson's health score was announced as 94.4 per cent.

A Kimball county boy was selected as the healthiest in Nebraska so, as Mrs. Carl Johnson says in writing to pay her subscription to the Quiz, "wheat and spuds aren't all they raise here.

Rushing Business for Hollingshead

In addition to marrying four couples last week, County Judge Hollingshead added another pair to his list Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, when Miss Bessie Viner became the bride of Frank Svoboda at the home of her mother. Attending the bridal couple were Frank Novak, Jr., of Comstock, and Emma Svoboda of Ord. A feast of everything good to eat was served at noon to about 25 relatives and friends. That evening at the Bohemian hall a wedding dance was held to celebrate the occasion, and to start the Svobodas on a happy married life.

Another Bixby Park Picnic.

Mrs. Rudolph Sorensen writes to the Quiz to say that there will be an Ord picnic at Bixby park, Long Beach, on October 7 to which all former Ordites are invited. It will be a great get together of former Ord friends. "Everyone come and bring your lunch basket," Mrs. Sorensen writes.

Coffin Making Semi-Centennial Visit to Ord

Dr. and Mrs. Coffin first came to Ord with their parents, in 1879 and 1888. This makes this occasion almost a semi-centenial return.

Like the Quiz, which was first published here by W. W. Haskell at about the some time, they count nearly every one of the old settlers of Ord and Valley county among their list of friends.

The doctor has been having an especially happy time at the homes of F. E. Glover and Edward Munn, who migrated from the same neighborhood in Michigan, where they were all school boys together and at Royal Bailey's and other homes of men and women who were pupils of his in the public schools of the county in the early days.

Mrs. Coffin has been most happily entertained in the homes of her numerous relatives, Hosmer Timmerman, a retired farmer in Springdale and the related families of the second and third generations, all of whom have been able to successfully demonstrate the splendid possibilities of our Valley county soil and varied business enterprises in our city.

The doctor claims for himself while yet a boy, the honor of having broken the sod, and brought under cultivation, the quarter section now owned and occupied by Frank Kull, in the valley across the river from town.

The doctor has many stories to tell of the early days here. There were but few settlers in the country to the north of Ord, and the story of an autumn hunt in that direction in 1881, in which he participated brought out the names of J. H. Capron, Judge Herman Westover, Herb Thurston and others as men of prowe in the hunting field. A full wagon load of deer and game birds came in with the boys after ten days in the sand hill country.

He says the most interesting pictures he has seen were two photographs of a sod school house and a dwelling of the same primitive kind. The last buildings of this early type have so long since disappeared that many of our younger generation have never seen them.

THE LIBRARIAN SPEAKS

Within the last month 676 books have been loaned out at the library and sixteen new names have been added to the borrowers list. If you haven't been coming to the library, now is a good time to start. Evenings are longer now, and there are new books that you would enjoy reading. Remember, a card costs you nothing and we're glad to add new names. We have some of the fine old classics that you may like to re-read; and ten new books have been bought in the last month. Perhaps the reference for your project at school may be found here.

Two new Campfire stories were added to the shelf last week. One was given by Lohewho campfire; the titles are Winona of Camp Karonya and Winona of the Campfire by Margaret Widdemer.

Mr. Chick and His Travels and Adventures by Lucy Perkins is enjoyable. "One day of the world Mr. Chick woke up, put his spectacles on his nose and took a look at the sky. 'A fine day for me to be stepping out to seek my fortune it would be', said Mr. Chick to himself. 'Here I've made toys for all the little children in this village, and played the fiddle for them to dance until they have all grown up.' Now come read about his adventures.

FALL FISHING WAS VERY GOOD

Fall Makes Minnesota Woods Beautiful; No Frost as Yet.

Mrs. Leggett and myself have spent some time in the Cullen Lake cottage three digerent falls. She has been there four falls and as a rule we have had more bad weather than good. We usually have "unusual" weather while we are there and the people there tell us that it turns nice just after we leave. Last fall the family went up September 16th. It was stormy and cold most of the time they were there. This year we decided to go earlier and left Ord the 5th arriving home the 19th. It was fine the day we got there, in fact real hot, so hot that I got up a good sweat unloading the car and getting settled. We left the key to the cottage with Ray Luther and he was away from home, family with him when we arrived and we had quite a time breaking into our cottage. We made it finally and he came home about the time we got settled. The next day, September 7th was beautiful day, genuine Indian summer it seemed like. We got the boats into the water and made a trip over to Pine River and got a good supply of minnows and had visions of a delightful time but it clouded up that night and turned cold and rained and for four days we didn't see the sun. Yes, we fished just the same but it rained some and misted and threatened all the time. We loaded a boat and went over to Lake Edwards where the big fish usually tear lots of tackle up for the fishermen in the fall. In fact we took the boat over the night before and got up at 3:30 the next morning, fried ham and eggs and made coffee and had breakfast and drove 6 miles to the lake and got there just as the first grey streaks were coming out of the east. By the time we got tackle and bait loaded into the boat it was light enough so we could see to follow the shore line and we started out Ray at the oars. We had frogs for the bass that we hoped to get around the rushes but they failed to strike and after rowing down the shore for a mile or more we had one 3-pound bass. There had been a couple of strikes that were not hooked. In the mean time the wind had come up and the waves were rolling from the way we came but we had the motor along so we didn't worry about getting back. We cranked the motor and in half an hour were back in the bay where we started. We decided to fish for great northern pike and the Missus landed one that weighed 9 pounds. Ray hooked one but it got away, must have been a big one for that is the kind that always gets away. At noon we decided that "they were not striking yet" in Edwards so we loaded our boat and went home and in the afternoon fished on our own lake. Got plenty of pan fish and a number of pickerel but no large ones. By evening it was almost like winter and we were glad to sit around a good fire in the heating stove.

Dr. Howes to Leave.

Announcement has been made that Dr. Henry Norris has purchased the practice of Dr. Percy Howes, and will hereafter occupy the offices formerly under the name of Howes and Norris. Dr. Howes is to relinquish his work Oct. 1, but will not leave the city for some time. Ultimately he will probably go to Tulsa, Okla., and take up eye, ear, nose and throat work there in his brother's hospital.

Another Meat Market Starting in Ord

Work is going rapidly forward on the ice box and other necessary equipment for the new meat market which Will Moon jr. plans on opening in the Hansen building between Detweilers and the Co-operative Oil Co. business, soon. Will bought a meat market at Burwell some time ago and after closing it out, moved the equipment to Ord. He will have his father associated with him in the business. Mr. Moon said he hoped to get open for business early the coming week but there were so many things to be done that it might be a few days later. He will have an announcement in the Quiz next week.

Will Give Free Perfume at Gem

THROUGH the courtesy of Manager Bill Nieuwland of the Gem theater, every lady attending the show "Barbed Wire", which is playing Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 1 and 2, will receive a small souvenir bottle free, of perume of the famous "Collejet Girl" brand. Mr. Nieuwland considers himself very fortunate to have been able to make arrangements with the manufacturer, as "Collejet Girl" is a nationally known perfume, and a very rare and desirable one. The ladies who get the little 25c bottles of it are sure to be delighted, so the manager urges them not to forget to take advantage of his offering.

Quiz Editor and Party at Cullen

Eugene Leggett, C. A. Anderson, Vernie Anderson, Mart Wiegardt and George Round, jr., left Ord about midnight Saturday night for Cullen to spend a week fishing and having a good time. It was the first trip up there for the last three of the party and they were looking forward to it for days before hand. Vernie Anderson said to the writer, "Gosh, I can hardly wait." We believe the boys will strike it just right for good fishing. There is a time every fall when, as the natives say, the big fish go clean crazy and strike everything that is thrown at them on the end of a line. That time had not come yet this year but indications were last week, Monday that it was approaching. The boys planned on being home the coming Sunday evening.

Notice to Township Committeemen and Committeewomen.

Precinct Committeemen and Committeewomen of both political parties are herby notified that Township Caucuses for the nomination of township officers must be held and candidates nominated so that returns can be made to the County Clerk on or before October fifteenth.

It is suggested that both political parties hold their caucuses in the various townships on Tuesday, October ninth, and returns as soon thereafter as possible.

Blanks for making returns can be secured from your Township Clerk, the County Clerk or the undersigned.

Alvin Blessing, Chairman, Republican County Committee.

Ralph W. Norman, Chairman, Democratic County Committee.

Higher Learning for Many Ordites

Valley County Youngsters Quite Ambitious in Educational Line; U. of N. attracts most of them.

Edith Byington, formerly of Ord is taking her third year in the teachers college. Edith is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and plans to complete her course next year and to take up high school teaching. Her brother Raymond, prominent in Ord music circles has also enrolled as a freshman in the college of business administration.

Arthur Bailey is taking his third year of pre law work and expects to enter law college next year. He is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity and managing editor of the Cornhusker, the year book at Nebraska.

Harold Tayler will graduate from the college of business administration this spring. While taking up this course he has become a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, the biz-ad honorary fraternity and has taken an active part in the business administration council. Harold has several positions in mind but has not decided definitely just what line of work he will take up.

Richard Flynn has enrolled as a freshman in the agricultural college. Richard has had plenty of experience along the lines of farming and should enjoy his work very much. He is going out for freshman football and although he is a little light he has plenty of determination and may make his numeral in football this fall.

Chauncey Hager is taking his third year of pre med. He is going to enter Nebraska Medical college at Omaha next year.

Claude Roe is back at the agricultural college again this year. This is Claude's third year and while taking up this work he has worked on committees and has taken part in puting on the Farmer's fair, an annual event at the agricultural campus.

STUDENTS LEARN WITH MUCH GUSTO

By IRMA ELLIS LEGGETT.

THE FIRST convocation held by students of Ord high school in the beautiful new auditorium around which all their school work centers, both literally and figuratively, took place Thursday morning, and was a modest beginning indeed. Fifteen minutes was the length of time allowed, so the program was short, but nevertheless very varied. Rev. J. A. Moorman made the talk of the morning, his subject being "Our Opportunities", very appropriate for the first address to the students in the new high school. A few announcements, on subjects of general school import, and a little pep song or two more than filled the time alloted. Later in the year it is planned to have special class programs and stunts of different sorts, but this early in the year it was not possible to arrange anything elaborate.

The class sponsors for this year have been announced by the principal, Mr. Nieumayer, to be as follows: Seniors, Misses Gussie Sheffler, Lucien Hardin. Junior sponsors, Corrine Macprang and Helen Isaacson; while the sophomores will have two Elizabeths, Misses Shaver and Dewitt for their guardians. Class sponsors for the freshman class will be Misses Beulah Pullen and Ruth Ebersole.

The student council plan, which was taken up the latter part of last year here, will be more active this semester and hereafter, and great things are expected of it. Hi-Y work will also help to keep the students interested in wholesome activities, and to direct their energies where they will do the most good.

Class officers will be chosen by all high school classes within the next few days. The cheer leaders for the pep rallies which are held after school when pep is needed will also be chosen at the class elections. Last year the positions were held by Vera Haught for the girls and by Olfert Magnussen for the boys.

Visiting a high school class or two, I first wandered into a freshman English class conducted by Miss Elvabelle Clement. The particular subject under discussion was the Canterbury Tales, by Chaucer, and it was decided by the class that "women love most supremacy over their husbands! . . ." But let me rush on and tell you it turned out to be a fairy tale. And the queen of the fairies who tells the tale closes with the wish that "he may die soon and leave her his money". So she must have been a fairy with a sense of irony, or perhaps humor.

Each person in the English class was asked one question. Miss Clement said that the students were given their choice of A, B, or C contracts to fulfill. According to the work they chose to do, so is their grade, but all of them must fulfill at least the C contract, to pass. Under this method, the most capable students do enough work to Burwell Style Show.

The Woman's club of Burwell gave a style show Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Ben Rose in Burwell. The coats, dresses and hats worn were from the shop of Alyce Johnson of Ord, through whose courtesy the style show was made possible. Mrs. E. J. Smith, president of the Burwell club, was in charge of the show. Models were Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Miss Marguerite Leschinsky, Miss Evelyn Bradt and Mrs. E. C. Leggett all of Ord, and Mrs. John Opp of Burwell.

North Loup Boys Paroled to Fathers

Ralph Sayre, age 15, Boyd Sheldon age 13 and Sidney Fuller age 14 all of North Loup, were arrested this week and charged with felonious assault and attempt to rape the complainant being Nellie Miller, a little girl of 13 years. It happened September 23 at the base ball diamond in North Loup as the children were on the way home from church. The boys appeared before Judge Clements last evening and plead guilty and after he made careful inquiry into their former conduct and family surroundings and found that this was their first offense and at the urgent request of their parents and numerous North Loup citizens, he paroled them to their fathers. The terms of the parole are not yet filed but they will be stringent for a period of two years.

Green Arrested on Booze Charge

Glen Green, who lives south of North Loup were arrested on complaint of County Attorney Munn charging possession of liquor on Monday. More than three gallons of grape wine was found on the place, which belongs to A. C. Wilson. Mr. Green plead not guilty, and was tried and sentenced to pay $100 and costs, amounting to $14.35.

M. B. Goodenow Ill.

M. B. Goodenow, prominent and respected pioneer of the upper Loup was taken seriously ill in Denver last week while attending the G.A.R. encampment and was brought home by his wife and Mrs. A. E. Smith. He was reported resting a little easier Thursday morning as the Quiz went to press, his friends will be glad to learn.

Senator Howell Pleases Hearers

Discusses Timely Issues in Fair, Impartial Manner. Boosts Hoover; Lauds Work of Bob Simmons and Speaks for the State Ticket.

Because it was too cold for an out-of-doors meeting, the Howell meeting, scheduled for the court house steps, was held in the opera house last evening.

As had been announced, the senator had his radio equipment with him and it was in position and being tested out when the hour for his speech arrived. There was a small crowd in the opera house, probably not much over half a hundred but this is accounted for by fact that everyone with a radio in the home, remained home and listened. The announcement of the speech was broadcasted by phone and in the newspapers and everyone within a 40-mile radius could hear the speech.

Hon. M. L. Fries introduced the speaker with a brief but very complimentary speech, stressing the belief that prohibition was the big issue this year and when Senator Howell arose to speak he soon got through his introductory remarks and devoted nearly half of his address to the prohibition question. Lack of either time or space prevents the Quiz going much into detail over his speech but believing that a majority of our readers heard it anyhow, it is not necessary.

Closing his talk regarding prohibition with the statement that the women of the country gave us the 18th amendment and that he believed they would vote this year to protect it, he passed on to the farm relief problem and devoted the balance of his talk to that subject. We believe he brought home to all who heard him, a much better understanding of the farm legislation proposed by the western members of both houses and gave them a lot to think about while making up their minds on the way to vote.

In his opening remarks he spoke eloquently for the republican state ticket and for Bob Simmons for congress. At no time during his speech did he ask for support for himself or even indicate that he himself was a candidate for re-election this year. His failure in that respect however will not, in our judgment, cost him any votes for the people pretty generally know that Mr. Howell is their friend all the time. They know that the big itnerests are fighting him away and they will support him with their votes November 6.

Larkin Paroled.

Ray Larkin, of near North Loup, who was sentenced to from one to three years for hog stealing in 1927 has been paroled after serving one year.

OKLAHOMA MAN PLEASED THAT MASONS BUILDING

Watonga, Okla.
September 20, 1928.

The Ord Quiz

Dear Sir:

I see by reading your valuable paper of last week's issue that the Masonic lodge of your place is building a magnificant temple for their use.

I am proud and pleased to hear of the undertaking, for I am much interested in your lodge. You may call me the father of the organization. Open the archives of the lodge in its inception.

You will note that I was secretary of the lodge from the beginning for nearly seven years. The starting of the lodge like any other undertaking in a new country had its pecularities and drawbacks. In the early eighties when Ord had not more than two dozen buildings four of us Masons concluded to organize a lodge of Masons at Ord. We had no railroad but the Union Pacific had just built its track to North Loup. We could not organize unless we got the consent and indorsement of the nearest lodge which was at St. Paul, south of us. In order to get there we charted a hand car on the newly constructed railroad from North Loup to St. Paul. Mr. Robinson, Mr. Hale and Mr. Aldridge and myself rode on the handcar to St. Paul from North Loup and got there in time to enter lodge there, where we got their concent and indorsement to start the Ord Mason's lodge.

After arriving back in Ord we called what few Masons that were in the county and organized a Masonic lodge under the Masonic regulations and elected Mr. Robinson worshipful master and myself secretary. I, as secretary did all the work, applied for a dispensation to organize a lodge, the same was granted. This gave us a wonderful jurisdiction. Our jurisdiction extended half way from St. Paul to the South Dakota line, from the Elkhorn river to Wyoming line in the west. And we made Masons by the tens and fifties while working under our dispensation. At the end of the year, I as secretary and delegate from the lodge carried the archives to the grand lodge then in session at Beatrice, Neb., and came home with the charter, which still gives the lodge authority to convene.

I can again say that I am pleased and grateful to hear that my favorite Masonic lodge is getting a fine home and a place to meet.

Yours sincerely,
D. J. MARTZ.

BRIEF BITS OF ORD NEWS

Heavy Shipments.—Albert McMindes and Charles Burdick shipped three carloads of cattle to Omaha Saturday, and Mr. McMindes shipped a carload of horses and mules to Grand Island the same day. Mr. McMindes went to Omaha Sunday in connection with the same business. The firm of Johnson and Peterson sent six carloads of hogs to San Francisco on Thursday of last week.

Putting 'Em Up!—H. D. Rogers is still getting from five to six quarts of strawberries from his patch each day. Asked if they were putting them up, Mrs. Rogers replied: "No we're putting them down." Can't blame them!

Honors Teachers.—The annual custom of entertaining for the teachers of Ord was observed Monday evening at the American Legion hall, by the Ord Rotary club, when the teachers were guests at dinner and for a social time following.

Pioneer Ill.—W. D. Loug, 87 years old, is seriously ill at his home, it is learned. His wife is caring for him. They live now on the original claim that Mr. Long took in 1872 when he came up the Valley. He is the father of Leo, and Alexander Long of near Ord, and of Grover, an attorney at Columbus, Neb.

Arcadian Honored.—Gerald Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans of Arcadia, has received a scholarship in the engineering department of the University of Nebraska for the present semester. He is a junior.

Mrs. Brace Dead.—The Ord Degree of Honor has received word of the death of Mrs. Steve Brace, oldtime resident of Valley county which occurred at Carstairs, Alberta, Canada, on Sept. 15. Braces were a very prominent family here in early days; Brace schoolhouse was named after them.

As the result of a motor accident, a lady being removed to hospital was attended to by a doctor, who remarked: I'll sew that scalp wound for you for four pounds."

ARCADIA NEWS

By MRS. RAY GOLDEN.

Merchandise Store Entered.

The general merchandise store of E. E. Freeman was entered on Friday evening of last week and $9 in cash obtained. Entrance was gained by prying the lock loose on the front door.

Lost Practice Game.

The Arcadia football boys and their coach, Everett Fuller, drove to Ansley last Friday where they engaged in a practice game with the Ansley team, Ansley winning with a score of 6-0. The boys will play Comstock on the home gridiron Friday. Turn out and support the boys.

Has Arm Broken.

Rowena White, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred White, had her right wrist broken on Wednesday of last week, while playing on the school grounds. A short time ago the foot ball boys arranged a dummy to be used for practice in tackling and suspended it on a rope from one of the trees near the high school. The little children took a fancy to the dummy using it for a swing. It was Rowena's turn to take a ride when she fell while in mid-air, causing the painful fracture. She was taken to Dr. Nielsen's office where the bones were set and she is getting along nicely.

Children Have Upset.

Bruce, Elizabeth and Dean Twombley, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ord Twombley narrowly escaped serious injury last Thursday afternoon when the Ford touring car in which they were riding ran off the culvert, landing in a deep ditch. The young people are students of the Arcadia town school and were returning to their home, eight miles northeast of Arcadia when the accident happened. Elizabeth Twombley was driving the car, which was equipped with an extra transmission. In shifting the gears she lost control and the car started backward down hill, running off the culvert at the base of the hill and turning over into the ditch. Fortunately, none of the occupants were injured, but the car was badly damaged.

Stop Signs.

The traffic in and through Arcadia is becoming accustomed to the stop signs at the main arteries of travel to an extent that less warning is necessary to forgetful autoists. Driving for years through the streets with no intersections is cause for real concentration of thought to observe the rules and regulations. As time goes on the public will become accustomed to the regulations that they will wonder how it was ever safe to drive promiscously through the streets without them.

Large Family Gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hawthorne were hostesses to a large number of relatives at their home Sunday. The guests were all descendants of the A. H. Meyers family who with their children and their children's children comprised a gathering of twelve grown-ups and twelve young people. Mrs. Meyers is a sister of Mrs. Hawthorne and her children and their families reside near Ord and Burwell. Mrs. H. Meyers, a sister of A. H. Meyers, whose home is in Illinois is visiting in Nebraska at present and she was an honored guest at the gathering. The day was one of real enjoyment for both old and young.

Receives Promotion.

Stanley Jameson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jameson, has been appointed clerk in the office of the agent of the Burlington at Ravenna and will leave soon to accept the new position. Stanley has been working for some time as helper for the Burlington, being employed the first half of each month at Ravenna and the latter half at Arcadia.

Hank Leininger Passes Away.

Hank Leininger, brother of Will Leininger of Arcadia passed away Sunday at his home in Sargent. Mr. Leininger lived near Arcadia a number of years ago and is well known by the old settlers here. During his residence here and at Sargent he was engaged in the hog buying business. At the time of his death he was nearly seventy years of age. Funeral services were held at Sargent Tuesday.

Assist With Program.

A number of the members of the Congregational church attended the meetings of the Loup Valley Association of Congregational churches which was held in Ravenna the first of the week. Rev. Alcorn, pastor of the local church, gave an address at the afternoon session on Monday and the members of the local church choir furnished music for the meeting on Tuesday evening.

Wallace Richard Stone.

Wallace Richard Stone, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stone of Comstock, passed away Friday morning after a short illness of cholera infantum. Funeral services were held Sunday from the Woodman Hall of Comstock. Those attending from Arcadia were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nyberg, A. H. Hastings and Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Hille, Mrs. Hille being an aunt of the deceased.

Attend Annual Picnic.

Mrs. F. M. Bowman and Mrs. George Thompson, employees of the local telephone exchange attended the annual picnic of the Nebraska Central Telephone Co., which was held in a grove near Gibbon Sunday. About forty employees attended, representing the exchanges at Sargent, Arcadia, Ansley, Berwyn, Shelton and Gibbon, which are all under the control of the Nebraska Central Telephone Co. The picnic was to have been held in Arcadia the latter part of July, but owing to rain on the date planned it was postponed. These yearly picnics are greatly enjoyed by the employees giving them an opportunity to become better acquainted with one another and also promoting a feeling of good fellowship.

CHASE'S TOGGERY---Ord

LOCALS

—Mrs. R. L. Staples, former Ord resident, is visiting a number of friends and relatievs hereabouts. She tells us that Mr. Staples is able to be at his office again, after having been laid up for four months. Also that their son Ralph is travelling salesman for auto accessories; their daughter Mildred is at home with her father; and another son, Cecil, is working in Chicago. All the children were born and raised in Ord, and the family was a popular one until they moved to Omaha, seven or eight years ago.

—Frank Moody and his son Dwight, and Mrs. Dwight Moody and baby were Ord callers Thursday. Their home is in Horace.

—Robert Rose of Burwell visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams Saturday and Sunday, going home on the train Sunday evening.

—Miss Evelyn Sargent Snyder, who has been in Colorado Springs, Colo., for the past four months for the benefit of her health, has returned to Nemaha county, where she will make her home with Mrs. Vesta Snyder for the present. Formerly an Ord resident, Miss Snyder lived with the Tom Williams family here, and both she and her mother, Mrs. Lottie Sargent Cushman of Ericson, are well known here.

—Rev. Magnussen, who has been out of town on church business, returned home by way of Peru, where his three boys are attending college. The occasion was Philip's birthday. Philip is taking a normal training course, while his brother Ethan is a pre-medic student, and the third brother, Olfert, is studying language and music. All the boys are working outside of school hours.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tedro, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morrison and baby, John Alan, left Tuesday morning for California. They will drive through.

—Mrs. Joe Pecenka returned Thursday evening from Omaha, after seeing her daughter, Elsie, start her school work at Duchesne college.

—Mrs. Frank Sershen and daughter, Miss Marie Hall drove to Lincoln last Thursday, returning home Sunday evening after a pleasant visit spent with relatives. Mrs. Sershen's mother, Mrs. Miller, who is an invalid, was cared for at the home of Mrs. Will Bannister in the absence of her daughter.

—Wendell Hather, who has been working at Leroy Lashmett's hamburger shop in Loup City, returned to Ord Sunday. He will be employed at the Gem theater here again.

—Mrs. Alice Vincent will leave Oct. 1 for Marino, Colo., to visit two daughters, Mrs. Calvin Ball and Mrs. Bert Horn and their families. The Horn family is now living in Marino, having moved in from their country home.

—Clara McClathey, Valley county superintendent, assisted with the judging in the educational department Tuesday and Wednesday at the Howard county fair, returning to Ord Wednesday evening.

—Dr. and Mrs. Charles Coffin, former Ord residents, are visiting here, having driven through from New York city. Their home is still in Florida.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Petty of North Loup were in Ord Saturday, and were accompanied home by Mrs. Petty's mother, Mrs. R. L. Staples. Mrs. Staples was a guest in the home of Vera and Clara McClatchey Friday night and Saturday, being a very good friend of the late Mrs. McClatchey.

—M. Guggenmos came Saturday from Ravenna, and left Sunday for Lexington, where he has a week's work as a mason.

—Mrs. John Sershen, who has been taking treatments in Grand Island for the past two weeks, has returned home, as the doctor said the treatments were not helping her. A sister, Mrs. A. W. Brooks of Livingston, Mont., will come soon to keep her company and take care of her, as the daughters of the family are both teaching school away from home.

—Mrs. May Wilbur of Burkett spent two weeks visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Rogers, leaving Monday for the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. Guy Cochran of near Burwell.

—Mrs. Will Hather drove her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Hather to Arcadia recently, where she will visit a week before going to Omaha to make her home with a daughter, Mrs. Sidney Pechota.

—Mrs. Tom Newman, wife of the U. P. engineer, spent several days in Omaha last week.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vogeltanz and family returned Sunday from Bee, Neb., near Omaha, where they were guests of his brother and family who have just returned from a trip to Europe.

—Mrs. Andy Gruber who has been enjoying a visit with friends here and in Burwiel, left Friday for her home in St. Louis. Her son, Andrew, who has been working here, went home with her. They will stop in their old home, St. Paul, enroute.

—Lloyd McGrew was able to go to work Saturday for the first time in three months.

—Jerry Petska and children drove to St. Paul Sunday evening for Mrs. Petska, who has been the guest of friends there since Tuesday.

—Glen Potter, who has been working on the farm of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Readle, drove to Grand Island Saturday to spend Sunday with his family, returning to Ord that evening.

—Mrs. Barton Clements of Omaha came Saturday noon to visit an uncle, Jesse Reeves, an aunt near Burwell, and other friends and relatives. She left for her home Monday noon by train. Mr. Reeves is very ill in an Ord hospital.

His Days of Glory Gone.

Marysville, Mo., September 27. (Autocaster)—Tom Lyle of Parnell, Mo., was once the champion eater of the world.

Twenty years ago, visiting here, he consumed a gallon and a half of ice cream and then devoured a dozen oranges.

Alas! On a recent visit Lyle started on a gallon of ice cream, but was able to consume only three-fourths of the container!

Not Trespassing.

Camden, N. J., September 27. (Autocaster)—Two men arrested for swimming in a private lake were released when it was shown that they had not touched the bottom of the lake. The men had entered the lake on a side which was not private.

If they had allowed their feet to touch bottom, they would have been guilty of trespassing. That was the decision of Judge Katzenback, who freed the swimmers.

Ripe Pear Jam.

Peel and core about three pounds ripe pears; chop or slice very thin and measure four solid cups fruit into large kettle. Add seven and a half level cups sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire, bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in one bottle liquid pectin.

Skim, pour and seal at once.

The Back Forty

By J. A. KOVANDA.

Vocational Agriculture Instructor, O.H.S.

THE COMING of the autumn days with their frosts and freezes causes the farmer if he has produced a bumper crop, to take new stock in life. He then goes forth to harvest his fall grains and announces with selfish pride his yields, if they seem to be above the average for the community. This kind of selfish pride is to be admired because it stimulates development in both old and new fields of activity.

When harvesting our Loup valley corn crop we will find little to boast of in the way of yields this autumn. About the only nice thing about the corn is that it won't be hard to harvest this year, and it hasn't taken away much fertility.

We visited Mr. Ben P. Eberhart, and found him to be quite optimistic. He will harvest a good corn crop, in spite of the drought, by putting it into his silo. Mr. Eberhart's purebred Jerseys will get their usual feed of alfalfa and corn silage, the cheapest and best balanced ration that can be grown on a farm, and a combination that cannot be improved materially by the addition of any other feed. He has 22 head of dairy cattle and is milking seven or eight head at present. Building up his herd from four cows purchased in 1921, he has in addition sold twenty milk cows since 1925. The last six cows which he sold this year brought him a total of one thousand dollars. His cream sales for this year exceed eight hundred dollars, and sixty dollars worth of premiums were passed his way at our county fair.

Mr. Eberhart has made corn a much more dependable crop thru the construction of a simple trench pit silo. He cuts his corn when the kernels are well dented, and he has enough shocked up for a re-fill during the winter.

A pit silo such as his, has many other advantages. It will last indefinitely, will not decay or blow down, and has little expense of upkeep. It is air tight, easily constructed, easy to fill, maintains a very uniform temperature, and will not freeze.

No dairy farm is complete in its equipment without a silo. Corn silage is good feed for all farm animals, but more especially dairy cows. It is palatable, succulent, bulky, beneficial to the digestive tract, and economical. And it will not impair the flavor or odor of milk, destroy cows teeth and digestive tracts, or cause such disease as tuberculosis, as was once claimed.

Altho put into use in the United States but recently, the silo is not new. It has been known in Europe for centuries. In the book, Roman Farm Management, by Cato, we find that the silo was intelligently used to preserve green feeds before the Christian era.

The ancients did not know much about crop production, but in the matter of storage we have to hand it to them. Everything was put away into caves, and guarded. They never dumped a crop outdoors on a pile. Since primitive times we have made big advances in crop production, but in handling the crop after harvest, we haven't advanced a step. In fact we have gone backwards, for primitive man saved every bit of his crop.

The silo gives an opportunity to save all of a crop, and provides livestock with a substitute for green grass in the winter, and during periods of drought. Nebraska farmers are building more silos, and any dairyman who has ever used a silo will tell you that he could not afford to be without one.

Paper Towels for Kitchen.

A roll of paper toweling should be in every kitchen, for it has many economical uses, such as wiping out pans, cleaning the sink, cleaning stove, etc.; use it also to give a quick final polish to glassware.

Cats Are Heirs.

Boston, Mass., September 27. (Autocaster)—The late Charlotte Sutton's will provides for life for an unnamed number of cats, a trust fund of $9,000 being established for the pets under the terms of the will.

Simple Salads Best.

Salads need not be elaborate in order to be delicious and wholesome. In fact a number of the most satisfying salads are the simplest. Iced lettuce hearts with Roquefort or Rusian dressing, apple and celery salad, shredded cabbage, green pepper and onion with plain cream dressing, left over vegetables molded in lemon-flavored gelatin—all these are easy to prepare and all are favorites with the family.

An Easy Remembrance.

A birthday card from the Sunday school, a greeting card of sympathy from the congregational organizations in time of illnes or affliction, a welcome to new members—all help to keep up the spirit of friendliness and service and do not make too great a demand upon the time of pastor and committee members.

Sure Sign.

"But how will I know when I come to the cross roads?"

"You can't miss the place. It has only five filling stations."—Motorland.

Lucy Anderson Is Raymond Hoon's Bride

North Loup, Sept. 21.—(Special)—Miss Lucy Anderson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Anderson of the Fussyville neighborhood, became the wife of Raymond Hoon of South Dakota, at an impressive double-ring ceremony which was performed at 5:30 Thursday evening, September 20 by Rev. H. L. Polan at the Seventh Day Baptist parsonage. They were attended by Miss Anna Anderson, sister of the bride, and Walter Holmes of Arcadia, cousin of the groom. Immediately following the ceremony, the newlyweds went to the country home of the bride's parents where a bountiful wedding supper was served for the immediate family of the bride and for the close relatives. Before supper was over they were favored with a genuine old fashioned charivari by the young people of Fussyville. Later in the evening a reception was held for the bride and groom which was attended by a large number of friends and relatives who presented the happy pair with numerous beautiful and useful gifts. The time was pleasantly spent with games and music, followed by elaborate refreshments which were served by girls who were close friends of the bride. The bride will fulfill her contract at her school between Ord and Arcadia, and the groom will work in that neighborhood. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Hoon wish for them many years of happiness and prosperity together.

Finally the Limit.

"Well, your worship, it was like this," said the man charged with disturbing the peace. "Me and my wife gets into an argument over the washing money. She calls me a lazy loafer and hits me on the head with a kettle. Then I knocked her down and up she comes again and knocks me down and kicks me in the neck."

"I see," said the magistrate; "and what next?"

"Then we gets mad and starts to fight."—Humorist.

Shell Motor Oil

Shows the Way to Carefree Motoring

No matter where you drive or how you drive ... it protects against friction and heat.

Only when you have complete confidence in your motor oil can you really enjoy today's high-speed motors and high-speed motoring. Such confidence comes as a matter of course when your crankcase contains a full measure of Shell. Drive for an hour or tour for a week, you know that there is no need to worry about lubrication...that this sturdy, dependable oil will be a constant protection against heat and friction.

Shell Motor Oil meets modern requirements with ample in reserve. Crude oils, selected for their rich lubricating properties, form its base, The Shell refining process preserves intact all the natural heat resistance of the crude because no extremely high temperatures are employed. The result is an oil of just the right body... it flows freely, yet "stands the gaff." For carefree motoring use Shell Motor Oil exclusively.

ORD CO-OPERATIVE OIL CO

Change to SHELL

400 "Extra Dry" SHELL Gasoline

Shell Gasoline is EXTRA DRY ... unusually free from heavy, greasy, carbon-bearing elements. ... It vaporizes completely, ignites instantly, burns cleanly, leaving no unburned residue to dilute the oil in the crankcase. ... It is a quality product...alive with power ...more expensive to produce, but costs you no more than the ordinary kind.

PERSONALITIES DON'T HELP

WITH only six weeks remaining of one of the warmest presidential campaigns on record, Herbert Hoover will confine himself to a discussion of the practical issues upon which the contest pivots, and will avoid personal criticisms entirely. That course, which he has adhered to not only in the present instance but thoroughout his public career, was emphasized in his remark to assembled Republican leaders of New Jersey at Newark that "the good sense of the American people will form its judgment on records, policies and issues and not upon personalities."

A striking contrast in the tactics of the opposing presidential candidates was noted in their speeches on succeeding nights at Newark and Omaha. Mr. Hoover at the former city devoted his entire address to an analysis of the problems of labor from the standpoint of a prospective president. On the following night at Denver, Governor Smith employed the usual political device of attacking his Republican opponent throughout his speech on agricultural relief while advocating in the most general terms a solution of farm problems which qualified authorities have previously pronounced not only economically impractical but probably unconstitutional as well.

There is no reason to believe that either candidate will depart from the course he has adopted. Mr. Hoover has never joined in an exchange of personalities at any stage of his career. Even during postwar days, when opportunists who had failed to block the Hoover program of feeding Europe and keeping American prices up were endeavoring to discredit him, he ignored their intentional misrepresenation and stuck to his job. His experience in that instance and others has been that the country is able to distinguish between real and distorted facts.

The campaign at this juncture has developed into a desperate attack by the Democratic candidate and his followers upon republican policies. Hoover supporters welcome his turn, since it makes a direct issue between present conditions and the probable effect upon prosperity of the policies advocated by the Democratic party and its candidate, notably of the probable lowering of tariff duties under a Democratic administration.

Unable to explain how they would better the satisfactory conditions now affecting most of the people, Democratic orators, including Governor Smith, have been limited to the contention that they could administer the nation's affairs "just as well" as the Republicans have done. The innate hesitancy of the American people about changing horses removes any force such an argument might have, if is pointed out.

In limiting himself to a few speeches, with full broadcasting arrangements for each, Mr. Hoover has the opportunity to discuss fully the policies and the leading issues of the campaign, without wasting words and without the risk of losing the interest of his audience. He has already deal fully with the farm and labor issues, and in subsequent speeeches will present more fully the Republican program for industrial development, tariff improvement and social betterment. His keynote has been the advancement of human welfare, and with it he has caught public interest as no mere reiteration of political promises could possibly have done.

Senator Curtis, making a dozen speeches a day through the west, has been an immeasurably help to the Republican ticket. Audiences in the smaller cities at which most of his speaking is done find that his intensive knowledge of the affair of government enables him to analyze the issues of the campaign and the conflicting position of the two parties upon them in a remarkably instructive manner. Another factor in his favor is the appreciation of his legislative battles for removal of human handicaps, notably in the instance of woman sufferage and in farm and labor legislation.

BEFORE Ord can expand in any direction, she will have to have more places to live. More houses, more apartments, more rooms. There isn't a real apartment house in town; not half a dozen houses built to rent that are equipped with bathrooms or furnace; not any apartments except a few spare rooms in someone's house; in fact, not much room anywhere in this town for anyone who doesn't own his home or live here.

Of course it is very commendable that Ord has so many who own homes, so few people who, of necessity, rent. Property owners are the best, most prosperous, substantial citizens a town can have. Such a condition means that a town is solid, settled, comfortably well-off.

But at the same time, it isn't much inducement to newcomers to try to live in Ord. What progress is possible, economically, industrially, professionally, or in any way, without change? In other words, while so unfavorable an effect can be produced upon one seeking to make Ord his home?

It looks as though surplus capital at present idle could be better employed here. Medium sized cottages, apartments, could be rented for long term leases before the first spadeful of dirt was turned and the landlord could have his pick of 25 families, at the least.

THE EDITOR believes it was O. O. McIntyre, who reported that drinking was no longer "smart" in the east. That the most ultra-ultra have decided it is more aristocratic not to drink. That drinking is common.

If such a fact would receive general credence, it would do more to boost prohibition than anything else. After the Volstead act was passed, drinking began with the smart sets of big cities. It began because being prohibited, and very expensive, it became very desirable. It began because the poor ape the rich . . . those whose money buys them privileges.

Having gone much farther than pre-prohibition drinking ever did, vs., to minors in high school and college, and generally including women, it succeeded in becoming common. Nowdays, the cheaper the dance hall, the more sure to be a number of cases of whiskey hallitosis, or worse.

Perhaps, if the remedy follows the exact course of the disease, bootlegging and all the attendant evils will yet be stamped out.

TO AN editor or newspaper person, there is something terribly brave in the story in the State Journal of last Sunday's issue about the youths who have entered the journalism field, and conquered it, at the tender ages of 13 and 15 years.

We are not trying to say our profession is the most difficult thing in the world, or impossible, or sure death; but to think of those two boys undertaking advertising, circulation, news gathering and writing, typesetting, and many other necessary evils of publishing a newspaper leaves one dubious.

We wonder if they've had merchants bring ads in just at press time; if they've had dozens of columns of niceties pass unnoticed, to be romped on viciously at the slightest hint of criticism, however constructive the effort; if they've had people let their paper get years behind, and then decline to pay for it; if they've had unfair competition or even mechanical trouble at the last moment before going to press.

We doubt if they've had grown-man troubles to meet. We admire them, and render unto Caesar all that which is his; we give them all possible credit; but we think they must have had the corners smoothed or perhaps softened.

Why? Because they are children.

"LEARN to Fly" ads in the papers nowdays make one realize how fast time itself has flown.

It hasn't been so awfully long since there were some people in each community who were firmly convinced that an automobile was a contraption of the devil, and not to be trusted. These people declined to ride in cars . . . but where are they now? Driving the latest models, and it isn't possible to think of anyone who won't ride in an automobile.

The same phases are being gone through in the history of aviation. . . . Only there are far more people who distrust flying than ever doubted automobiling . . . probably because it isn't possible to climb out of an airship quite so easily as it is to get out of a car. Other intrepid souls, in whom the spirit of adventure will not down, are learning to fly, while most of their friends and relatives call them fools, and talk about the terrible chances they're taking.

However, day by day the skeptics lose a member or two, and a few more become rank enthusiasts. One hears arguments about monocoupes, biplanes, Fokkers, and in other days steamers, Whites and Ramblers were discussed.

Again we say, how time do fly. And here's to it; may we all be flying soon!

ORD REALLY does have great cause for congratulation in the way music and musicians are encouraged here. Many cities of 75,000 do not have the numbers of different bands and musical organizations found in Ord, In very few high schools our size are there found three separate band units, to say nothing of orchestral units, and smaller practicing groups. Hardly any towns the size of Ord have a band leader and town music director such as Hemming Hautala. It is more unusual than bad weather in California, and once more we say, many congratulations!

WHEN the husband's away, the wife will editorialize. If you like 'em, tell others; and if you don't like them, we don't know as we want to hear about that either. Like everyone else, we like praise, and criticism . . . of the other fellow.

Will Rogers Says:—

THE VOTERS now go to the polls in an automobile but they don't carry any more in their heads than the old timer that went there on a mule, so the old Bunk that you cannot fool the voter is the biggest Bunk there is; he has been fooled all his life and he will always be fooled.

As the presidential candidate for "Anti-Bunk" party I refuse to employ such old party campaign methods. I am Frank and Ernest.

The politician tells the people that "I don't have to tell you people what our party stands for. We rely on your sober judgment. We rest our case on your intelligence." Then he goes on for two hours more telling them what his party stands for.

I don't care how smart their audience was, they couldn't possibly know "What their party stood for." The Supreme Court with all its divided knowledge couldn't tell you what either party "stood for."

They both stand for "election." That's about the only thing that you can safely say they are for, in fact they will both "stand for" almost murder, if they can only get in.

We are more "smart Alec" than we ever were, but we are no smarter. We read more and we hear more over the radio, but the stuff we read, the stuff we hear don't make us any smarter.

For the people that write it, and the ones that talk it out over the radio are no smarter than the ones that used to have to hand down the dope for our old forefathers.

There is just as many half wits voting Republican today because their fathers voted that way as there ever was. There is just as many voting Democratic because they have heard their folks tell about how the Republicans treated them during the war, as there ever was.

If the voter is as smart as they say, why do they have to tell him anything, why do they have literature, and campaigns, and speeches? Why does each party have to spend 4 million dollars trying to buy votes with propaganda?

The oldest form Bunk in the world is to say how "Well informed the voters are and that they can't be misled by our opponents." We have bathtubs, airships, four wheel brakes, reducing pills, manicurists, men's corsets, and Prohibition.

But I doubt if at any time during the history of the world were we ever as down right dumb as we are today.

—WILL ROGERS.

Commander Byrd Chooses MAYTAGS for South Pole Expedition

ONE of the many distinguished honors that have come to the Maytag Aluminum Washer is the selection of Maytags for the Byrd South Pole Expedition.

Not only the success of this great pioneering adventure, but the lives of the men depend on the proper selection of supplies, material and equipment. Therefore, the most rigid requirements are observed in deciding what equipment shall be used. The many outstanding advantages that gave the Maytag world leadership, enabled it to meet the exacting standards demanded by Commander Byrd.

The noteworthy tribute of being selected for the Byrd Expedition comes to the New Maytag as it is celebrating its first anniversary—the end of the most remarkable year in Maytag history—a year in which the number of Maytags in use passed the million mark.

Anna Anderson helped Mrs. John Ingraham Monday.

Anderson-Hoon.

Miss Lucy Anderson and Roy Hoon were married at the S. D. B. parsonage at North Loup by Pastor Polan Thursday evening at six o'clock. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride's sister, Anna Anderson was bride's maid and Walter Halmes a relative of the groom was best man.

The bride wore a beautiful blue silk and velvet trimmed dress, while the bride's maid wore a navy blue and tan silk.

After the wedding they drove to the home of the bride's paretns and a reception was given them. About fifty of both the young people's relatives were present. The evening was spent playing rook. However, some of the games broke up when the charivari bunch came with their noise. Part of the evening was spent listenng to singing and music. The sitting room was decorated nicely with a color scheme of pink and blue wth a big white wedding bell in the center of the room. The bride and groom unwrapped their many beautiful presents which friends and relatives had given them.

Miss Blanche Worrell and Miss Myrtle Caddy served a nice lunch of fruit salad, potato salad, sandwiches, cake, ickles and coffee. The bride cut and passed the wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoon have the congratulations and best wishes of their friends at Fussyville.

Mrs. Hoon will teach until spring at her school near Arcadia. Roy expects to go back to South Dakota the last of this week to take care of his crop there. They expect to farm next spring.

Elvira Anderson taught Lucy Hoon's school Thursday and Friday.

School Notes.

Merlyn Tolen, Cleo Wattles and Clarence Romans were the only ones absent last week.

The beginners and first grade have finished memorizing the verse of "Hi, Diddle Diddle," and colored the picture Friday.

The third and fourth grades have been coloring tulips, while the fifth and sixth grades drew flowers in vases.

The high school went to Barker Friday afternoon and played ball with the Barker boys and were defeated 12-11, close enough though not to feel discouraged.

The seventh and eighth grades had a test in Physiology and history Tuesday.

Manderson News

Manderson school has twenty-six pupils, representing nine families, and all the grades. The alternation plan, suggested and approved by the state department of education, simplifies matters. Miss Emma Wozab is the instructor for this year.

Our school has a new basement with a furnace. Although this is not completed we feel it to be a decided improvement and a step toward standardization. Also new adjustable storm windows have been fitted in.

The boys and girls seem to enjoy their school work. The little folks especially enjoy the sand table, tinkertoy, blocks and building material.

The older folks enjoy the splendid maps which we use in geography and history. Manderson possesses a tellurium which is used instead of a globe. Our reference pamphlet "line" all serve a good purpose.

The seventh and eighth grade students are reviewing for special examinations to be held in January. The state course of study is being followed as nearly as possible.

Plans have been made for a program but no definite day has been set. This will be announced later.

Last Friday the pupils held a "clean up day" from recess on. The yard is in presentable condition now.

Fire prevention has proven such an interesting topic that more than the required thirty minutes has been devoted during this month.

The following news has been brought in and collected by the English classes of Manderson:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Janda and family were guests at the Matt Turek home.

Threshing out of stacks has started in this neighborhood. Those threshing this week are Joe Novotny, Andrew Kapustka, Tom Kapustka, Frank Penas.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Sedlacek were Mr. and Mrs. John Parkos, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parkos Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parkos Jr. and Matt Turek, Jr.

Last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mrs. Joe Grabowski and Ralph visited at the Andrew Kapustka home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beran visited one evening at Andrew Kapustka's.

Mrs. Grabowski and Ralph also visited the Tom Kaputska's.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Maslonka and Ralph, Mrs. Kenfield and children and Charles Beran were Sunday supper guests of Mrs. Tom Kapustka.

To celebrate Eldon Maresh's birthday a group of his relatives surprised him. They were Mr and Mrs. Frank Hruby, Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby, Sr., and their families.

iday morning a foureome including Anton Radil John Nevrkla, Rudolph Krahulik and Carl Bouda left on a hunting and fishing trip to Willow Lake. Good luck was reported when they returned on Sunday. They plan o go again.

OLEAN SCHOOL NOTES.

Seldom is it the privilege of a small school to listen to as good a lecture as the Olean school was treated to last Wednesday afternoon when Judge Paine of Grand Island stopped and for more than an hour told of the wonderful things he saw in Europe last summer. But the rest of the community are to have their privilege of hearing him because he has promised to be at the Olean school house Monday evening, Oct. 15th. That evening will begin the monthly meetings of the Olean Community club.

You will miss a wonderful meeting if you miss hearing Judge Paine. Of course there will be community singing to begin the evening right and "eats" to finish it properly.

Last spring W. O. Zangger sold quite a bit of sudan grass seed and among his customers was Louis Peterson from down Fussyville way. Mr. Peterson's grass grew so rank that he was unable to cut it or hire his neighbors to so he appealed to Mr. Zangger to know what to do and that genial gentleman loaded his binder on a truck, took his "farm-alls" and went down. He cut for two days but as it was not all rine enough he will have to have a return date later. Miss Twombley stayed with Mrs. Zangger the two nights Mr. Zangger was away from home.

The way Mrs. Zangger has been rushing around hunting up old clothes one might be led to think she was preparing a missionary box for the poor heathens but nothing of the kind, she is chairman of the pagent committee and we doubt if Solomon in all his glory will be arrayed like one of these.

There will be no school Wednesday because of pop corn days at North Loup. Charles Zangger has been chosen to present the oath of allegience from the Olean community.

The agricultural class has been testing soil the past week and all of it has given an alkili reacton, although they would like to find some sour soil.

MAIDEN VALLEY.

The R. K. C. had a very interesting meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cecil Oliver, with all members but one present. We are planning work for an orphanage this fall and our president appointed Mrs. Smith a captain to plan a quilt and piece and quilt or tie it, this one to be pink and Mrs. Botts to work on a blue one, each having six members to help with the work. Mrs. Stroup was a guest at this meeting. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Botts, Oct. 4, Thursday afternoon. Roll call, Current Events. We added $10 to our treasury, the money received for first premium on our exhibit at the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Garnick left Friday for Boulder, Colo., to visit relatives. Charley Inness is doing the chores while he is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Maddox left Monday for Big Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis visited Saturday night and Sunday at the Herman Negley home. Other visitors Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sample and Melford and Mrs. Merrill Sample and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Negley and the boys visited at Theron Beehrle's Friday evening.

Mrs. Pocock and Nina Oliver are our delegates to begin taking club work Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pocock, Gladys and Raymond visited at Mrs. Hoard's Thursday evening.

Mrs. Hoard and Clarence visited Friday at the Ed Pocock home.

Gladys Pocock drove the car to her school near North Loup Monday and returned home in the evening as there would be no school during pop corn days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilfang of Hastings were guests of Archie Waterman's from Saturday until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Waterman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Waterman and Dolsie went to the fair at St. Paul Friday. Russell had gone on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Roscoe Garnick brought Glo Garnick from her school Friday.

Earl Smith took Carl to Lincoln Tuesday and returned Wednesday. This is Carl's second year at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pocock went to see Gladys Tuesday evening. She had not been feeling well but was able to teach all the week. She teaches district 42.

Ben Maly and family visited at Suey Willard's Sunday. Ilda and Roy Howerton were afternoon visitors.

Opal Willard was the guest of Ilda Howerton Saturday night. Ilda and Roy brought her home Sunday afternoon.

Ben Maly was putting up hay in the sand flats last week. He was glad to have the chance of getting some wild hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard and the children, Ray and Ilda Howerton ate ice cream at Ben Maly's Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Guggenmos visited at Walter Waterman's on Sunday evening.

Earl Smith and Dale autoed to Grand Island Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Botts went to Burwell with Mr. and Mrs. Charley Inness Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Inness and Ellen. Ellen likes her school work and her grand parents are glad to have her with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Guggenmos attended the birthday party Sunday for Jim Guggenmos and Mrs. Clarence Guggenmos at the Tony Guggenmos home, thirty-one being there for dinner.

We had planned not to take our club work to North Loup for pop corn days but at the last moment we are invited to bring it. Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Sam Guggenmos and Dolsie Waterman are planning to go down with it Tuesday.

Clarence Hoard came Thursday night for a short visit with his mother and sister, Mrs. Pocock.

John Round, former Ord athlete and student is taking his first year of pre med. John is quite busy as he plans to complete his pre med. in two years and then enter medical college. John is also out for freshman football and has a good chance of making his numeral in that sport. Numerals are awarded to freshmen who stay with the game the entrie season and also make some showing in the games which the freshmen compete in. John is working on Saturdays for the J. C. Penney company and expects to go out for basket ball and track after the football season closes.

Sylvester Furtak has entered the school of fine arts at Nebraska. Sylvester has always been interested in art work and this will be a splendid opportunity for him to develop his talent. He has arranged his classes so he is able to work afternoons at sign painting and should do real well as he has had plenty of work in sign painting and decorating.

Elizabeth Carkoski of Elyria is a freshman this year and is a pledge of Theta Phi Alpha sorority.

Paul Nelson of North Loup is a senior in the school of journalism and is at present one of the news editors of the Daily Nebraskan, the student publication. Paul is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and is working part time with an insurance company in Lincoln.

Muriel Weekes has started her work in the teachers college. Muriel is a pledge of Alpha Omricon Pi sorority.

Buster Betts of Arcadia is a junior this year and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Buster is quite a baseball player and has a good chance of playing on Nebraska's team this year. His brother Dale who attended Nebraska last year is at present in Chicago taking up aviation.

Gerald Evans, also of Arcadia, is a junior in the engineering college. Gerald is a real good student and has been making a very good record during his past two years.

Raymond Abernethy is also taking up engineering. He is also working part time with an electrical company and has been getting practical experience along his line while attending school.

Kenneth Jensen has been attending Nebraska Wesleyan the past two years but is now enrolled in the Nebraska engineering college.

Lee Chatfield is taking pre law and plans to enter law college next year. Lee is selling cars as a part time job.

John Misko is taking his second year in the law college. John plans to graduate next year from law but has not decided as to where he will start up in business. He is a member of Phi Alpha Delta the professional law fraternity. His brother Ralph is taking business administration and is a pledge of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Henry McMullen is taking business administration this year. Henry is not from Valley county however but well known in Ord, having been in business here. He is a pledge of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Richard Mutter is completing his course at Nebraska this year where he is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity. Richard took his previous work at Hastings.

Evelyn Collins, formerly of Ord is a senior this year. She is a member of Alpha Delta Theta sorority. Her brother Merritt graduated from the engineering college last spring with a very good average, having been elected to Sigma Xi the honorary fraternity in science.

Virgil Haught of Arnold, a nephew of Dave Haught of this city is enrolled in the University of Nebraska this fall, taking his second year of work in the college of dentistry. In the pledge lists announced in Sunday's paper his name appeared with the group that is affiliated with Delta Sigma Delta. Last year he was a student at Kearney normal, where he was a basketball man.

Elma Kosmata, Carl Smith, Irma Parkos, and others are also enrolled in the university, but we have not yet been able to get in communication with them.

A FEW LETTERS FROM KIMBALL COUNTY FARMERS AND LAND OWNERS

NEARLY all parties whose names appear in these letters are well known to Valley county people and while we could furnish many letters from farmers in Kimball county who have raised much larger yields of grain than given in these, this would only be a fair sample of the yield they are getting in that county. Yields of 40 to 50 bu. of wheat, 40 to 70 bu. of barley, oats up to 80 bu., potatoes from 100 to 300 bu., corn from 15 to 40 bu. per acre are common.

I have received returns from my wheat crop in Kimball county, Neb. The renter reported a yield of 25 bu. per acre after hail damage of 15 per cent. This was the average yield from 140 acres. I have made annual trips to Kimball county during the summer season for several years and have noticed the crops of various kinds and am fully convinced that the man who properly handles his farm will do well and receive much better returns on his investment than on high priced land.

A. SUTTON, Ord, Neb.

In 1926 my renter harvested 4720 bu. of wheat from 160 acres of land in Kimball county, or an average of 29 1-2 bu. per acre. This year he threshed 2930 bu. from 80 acres or an average of 36 5-8 bu. per acre. These crops were raised on land that had been summer fallowed the year before.

A. J. CAMPBELL, Ord, Neb.

I have just finished threshing 100 acres of wheat in Kimball county, which yielded 3161 bu. I find that farming is profitable when properly handled.

FRANK NOVOTNY, Kimball, Neb.

I had 470 acres of stubble wheat this year that yielded 27 bu. per acre, on this same land in 1927 I had a yield of 38 bu. per acre, in 1926 I had 115 acres that yielded 52 bu. per acre. We like the climate here and find farming profitable.

FRANK W. NOVOTNY, Kimball, Neb.

In 1926 I had an average yield of wheat from 160 acres of 29 1-2 bu. per acre, in 1927, 300 acres yielded 32 1-2 bu. per acre, in 1928, 320 acres averaged 34 bu. per acre, 80 acres of this being on A. J. Campbell's land that yielded 36 5-8 bu. per acre.

O. E. BERANEK, Dix, Neb.

I have lived on land in Kimball county, Neb., for twelve years which is owned by C. A. Hager, of Ord, Neb. I rotate crops by raising wheat, barley, oats, potatoes, corn and sweet clover but have farmed one field of 70 acres of wheat for five years and have threshed and kept it separate from other land farmed to wheat. The first crop was on plowed ground and yielded 30 bu. per acre, the second and third year was stubble wheat and yielded 17 and 18 bu. per acre, the fourth crop was on plowed ground and yielded 40 bu. per acre and the fifth crop was on stubble ground and yielded 20 bu. per acre, making a total yield per acre in five years of 125 bu. or an average yield annually of 25 bu. We get a better yield on plowed ground but by discing and drilling in stubble ground we do it at much less expense and farm a larger acreage.

FRED LOCKWOOD, Kimball, Neb.

We have farmed in Kimball county the past two years and are well pleased with our corn yield. In 1927 we had 110 acres of stubble wheat which yielded 27 bu. per acre. Our 1928 crop of 105 acres of sod wheat yielded 30 bu. per acre and 50 acres on stubble ground that yielded 20 bu. per acre. We had 180 acres of barley this year which yielded from 25 to 40 bu. per acre. This fall we are seeding 840 acres to wheat, 510 acres on sod and 330 acres on stubble ground.

Lukesh Bros. By JOS. A. LUKESH.

I have experimented on a 320 acre farm in Kimball county, Neb., for four years by hiring all work done in connection with seeding, harvesting and marketing the four crops and find that after deducing all expenses that the net proceeds from the four crops more than paid for the land.

C. A. HAGER, Ord, Neb.

We have a few improved and uimproved farms for sale in Kimball county, mostly owned by eastern parties or loan companies that are priced from $30.00 to $65.00 per acre on good terms. At the recent state fair, Kimball county took first in the entire state on arrangements on farm display and second in the western division on farm products.

We like to drive to Kimball county and will be pleased to make the trip any time one or more parties are interested in going.

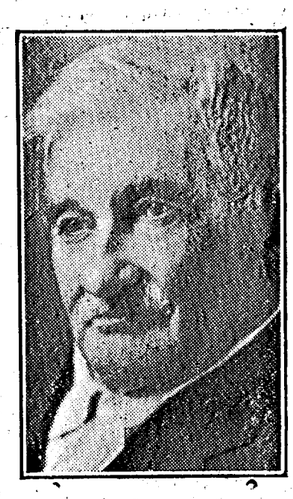
CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR



I AM SIXTY five years old. A life-long farmer and bone dry.

Have had lots of legislative experience and claim to be well informed on state affairs and legislative work.

Favor the repeal of the code and intangible tax laws.

Opposed to any increase of the gas tax or any other tax or appropriation. Strong for the bank guarantee law and its strengthening, and for real farm-to-market roads. In politics very independent and non-partisan.

Coffin Making Semi-Centennial Visit to Ord

For some years after leavin- Ord the doctor was superintendent of the Nebraska Hospital for Insane at Lincoln. Later he had his own hospital at University Place.

His recent visit to Nebraska's new capitol led him to suggest that there must have been a tremendous increase in the material prosperity of our state to enable us to exchange our old million dollar capitol for the strikingly beautiful and ornate, ten o twelve million dollar structure now nearing completion.

"If I do not miss in my guess, and after visiting many of the most beautiful buildings of the world, thousands of travelers will stop and turn aside to view this splendid building," was the doctor's comment.

For seventeen years they have spent the most of their time in Winter Park, Florida where they have been extensively engaged in the Citrus industry. Of course they are very insistant that the quality of these Florida oranges and grapefruit cannot be equalled in any other state, and that the tens of thousands of carloads of celry, lettuce, string beans, early potatoes, etc., shipped north to us during the winter seasons are of unequalled excellence.

They confess to a feeling of thankfulness they were not in the recent hurricane which swept an area of the state. Their holdings having been reported as uninjured by the storm. They say that the real damage from the four or five storm visitations, which have occurred since their residence there has been almost exclusively confined to the costal regions.

Some of our Isaac Waltons have been much interested in the doctor's stories of the catcues of the finny tribe, from the inland lakes as well as from the Gulf of Mexico. We cannot vouch for these tales of fish taken in quantities and sizes sufficient to enthuse the most sluggish fisherman.

We presume however that the doctor's intention is to persuade some of his friends to visit the sunny south and try their luck in the many waters of his tropical state.

Doctor and Mrs. Coffin have traveled much, visiting almost every part of our own country and quite recently made an extended ten months tour around the world. Incidetly the doctor tells us that though he is a Florida Democrat he has , as have the most of his friends and neighbors in Florida, nailed a Hoover card on the front of his auto as they cannot, in that prohibition state tolerate the wetness of Al Smith. He seems to think, from the results of hundreds of inquiries made of all kinds of men and women, along his 3,000 mile auto route from Florida, which included much of Pennsylvania and New York, as well as crossing the middle west to Nebraska, that it is almost foolish for Mr. Smith to even imagine that he is still in the presidential race.

The doctor still maintains his license to practice medicine in Nebraska and says he hopes that if any West Indian hurricane should blow him out of Florida that he may be dropped from its wings in Old Nebraska.

Fowler and Son Display Ribbons.

Arcadia, Neb., Sept. 25, 1928.—(Special)—Morris Fowler and Son have on display in Arcadia 86 ribbons which they have acquired on their herd of Poland China hogs in exhibiting them at five county fairs and at the Nebraska state fair. The county fairs at which they exhibited included Garfield, Custer Valley, Hall and Howard and at these places they won 18 champions, 27 firsts, 25 seconds and 12 thirds, while at the state fair they succeeded in winning four ribbons. In competition at Lincoln their herd sire, Loud Speaker won eight place in a class in which there were twelve entries, none of which weighed less than a thousand pounds. The judges informed Mr. Fowler that had Loud Speaker not been lame at the time that he would have placed fourth instead of eighth, his lameness being the result of an injury in unloading upon arrival at Lincoln. Lady Chancellor, a two year old sow received third place in her class, having the distinction of being the first Nebraska aged sow to be placed. While in attendance at the fair Mr. Fowler refused two different offers of $500 cash for this sow, which is a good indicator of the class of hogs which Mr. Fowler has developed. Monarch Belle, a senior yearling sow was placed second, bearing the same distinction as Mr. Fowler's aged sow in that she was the first Nebraska senior yearling sow to be placed in the money giving Fowler and Son the honor of exhibiting the two top Nebraska sows at the Nebraska state fair. They are making arrangements to conduct a sale of 70 head of hogs at the Arcadia sale barn on October 12, their offering to include most of the stock which they had had on exhibition at the fairs mentioned above.

Mrs. A. Y. Sutton passed away at her home in Broken Bow Monday afternoon after a lingering illness. Mrs. Sutton is the mother of Mrs. Judge Dean of Lincoln and H. O. Sutton, superintendent of school at Kearney, Neb. Paul Dean of Arcadia is a grandson. Funeral services were held at Broken Bow Wednesday afternoon and burial was made at Hooper, Neb. An obituary will appear next week.

"Oh, my dear Madame, she fell into a cataleptic fit and woke up in the middle of the funeral. The noise of the organ and the choir awakened her."

North Loup News

Archie Bristol Babcock.

Archie Bristol Babcock, son of the late E. J. Babcock and of Jessie True Babcock, was born in North Loup, October 31, 1900. Having lost his hearing in infancy, he entered the schools for the deaf, at Omaha, from which he was graduated in 1921. He took a year's work in the North Loup high school and graduated with the class of 1922. Then followed two years in the Wayne State Normal. He specialized in manual training and drafting. He was very athletic, and in all these schools was enthusiastic in football and other sports, and was a star player. He took more drafting in the state university for a short time. In the spring of 1926 he became a draftsman in the state engineer's office, which position he filled acceptably until his death.

While Archie was not a member of any church, he was a Christian boy of good moral character. He was a general favorite wherever known, and had the faculty of making friends among the hearing as well as the deaf. He was a member of the National Fraternal association of the deaf.

After a very short illness, he died of meningitis at the Lincoln General hospital, September 19, 1928. After a short service, conducted by Rev. Calhoun of the First Presbyterian church, and interpreted to the deaf friends by Mrs. Nellie Barney, he was brought home.

He leaves his mother, his sister Katherine M. of Lincoln, his brothers, Oscar T., of Milton, Wis., Edwin J. jr., of Lincoln, Arthur S., of North Loup and two little nieces to whom he was devoted, and many other close relatives and friends.

Funeral services were conducted at North Loup, at the Seventh Day Baptist church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, September 21, by the pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, Rev. H. L. Polan, and interrment made at the Hillside cemetery. Appropriate selections were sung by a quartet composed of old school friends of the deceased, Mrs. Kerr, Gertrude Hemphill, Clyde Hutchins and Floyd Hutchins. The pall bearers were likewise his friends of former days, and were Leon Comstock, Leland Ernest, Arthur Hutchins, Cecil Knapp, Charles Sayre, and Halsey Schultz.

The many beautful flowers testified to the deep esteem in which Archie was held by his friends here and elsewhere and helped to comfort the hearts of his dear ones left behind. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to his mother, and the others so greatly bereat.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell have returned from their wedding trip to the western part of the state, following their marriage on September 17 at Valentine by Rev. E. C. Mitchell, a brother of the groom. Rev. Mitchell was formerly the Methodist pastor at Broken Bow and is well known to many North Loup people. The newlyweds will make their home on a farm in the Davis Creek nieghborhood, where the groom recently built a new house.

Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Baker are entertaining the former's sister, Mrs. John Lorimer and husband from Glade, Kas. They came for Pop Corn Days, and may remain for a longer visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Blakeslee of Lexington motored to North Loup Sunday, and were the guests of Mrs. J. M. Fisher and family until Monday. Mrs. Hubbard is a sister of Mrs. Fisher.

Rev. and Mrs. Thomas entertained Rev. Polan and Rev. and Mrs. Hawks Monday evening in honor of the new Methodist minister, Rev. Schwabauer and Mrs. Schwabauer. The evening was spent in visiting and light refreshments were served.

A baby was born last Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Keown at their country home. This is their second child.

Will Be Housekeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Redden of Omaha left for their home last Sunday. They had been visiting for several days in the country at the home of George Bartz and with Mrs. Fred Bartz, sr., and son Paul. While they were here arrangements were made for Miss Court of Ord to keep house for Mrs. Bartz, sr., and look after her welfare in general. "Grandma Bartz," as she is familiarly known, has been a capable and energetic woman in her time, but owing to increasing years and infirmity finds it necessary to leave some of her duties to younger hands.

The Methodist Aid society held one of their enjoyable monthly teas at the church parlor on Wednesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent by some of the members in sewing carpet rags to make rugs which will be sold at the annual bazaar in November, and by others in fancy work of various kinds. The hostesses were Miss Maud Shepard, Mrs. I. E. Sheldon, Mrs. Billings Clark and Mrs. O. E. Anderson, who served very pleasing refreshments of meat sandwiches, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and cheese and coffee.

Mr. Walter Preston of Morrill, Neb., arrived today and will visit with his father, Robert Preston and with Mrs. Chas. Mayo, a sister of Mrs. Preston, and will stay until after Pop Corn Days. Today the two Preston men went to Ord on a combined business and pleasure trip.

On Wednesday Mrs. J. W. Tucker and family, living just south of town, were entertaining Mrs. Tucker's sister, Mrs. Henry Osterloh and sons, and also Mrs. John Haning and children, all of Westerville. Mrs. Haning is Mrs. Tucker's niece.

Mr. H. G. Westburg opened the pike season by capturing a five pound beauty. This is nothing new to him, as he or Mrs. Westberg generally land the first pike in this vicinity. The pike together with some wild ducks were taken to the Clem Meyers home where a company of fifteen enjoyed the treat. This was in the form of a birthday dinner for Mr. Westberg.

Mrs. Westberg returned from Scotia Thursday night where she had been caring for the 7 1-2 pound baby girl at the Harold Smith home. She has been named Opal Lucille. She has a very proud little brother, Verlin Ray.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Cox attended the Howard county fair Friday night.

Miss Lenore VanHorn who teaches at District 69 in the western part of the county was at home for the week end. Miss Lenore is much interested in her school, and altho this is her first experience in teaching we can safely guess that she will make a great succes of her undertaking.

Mrs. Westberg also cared for a fine ten pound boy at the Harry Williams home near Horace last week. Mrs. Williams was formerly Maude Stam of Ord. This is the first baby to be welcomed into this home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stillman, who were married here several weeks ago and went to Arizona to make their home, did not like it there and went on to San Diego to live. However, finding that California had been overadvertised they decided to return to North Loup, and are staying for a while with Mr. Stillman's people in the country.

Mrs. Elenora Murphy, principal of the North Loup high school went to Exeter to spend the week end with her parents and her small son who makes his home with them.

Mr. R. G. Sporleder, who holds a responsible position with the Sears Roebuck company in Chicago, was a week end guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Mrs. Ramond Dunham of Los Angeles arrived Saturday night to see their mother, Mrs. Geo. E. Johnson who is seriously ill at the Miller hospital in Ord. Harry Johnson met them at Grand Island. Merlin Mayo of Lincoln spent Monday in North Loup with his wife who has been with her mother for several days.

On last Friday evening, an automobile accident occurred which might easily have proved fatal to somebody. As Will Cornell was driving west of the Charlie Johnson farm, he met Leroy Lambdin coming from the west at a fast rate of speed. The cars collided, the Cornell car going into the ditch and upsetting on top of the six members of the Cornell family. While the car was badly damaged, none of the family were hurt beyond painful bruises, except Mr. Will Cornell, who has a very badly sprained arm and painful bruises about the chest. The Lambdin young folks and some members of the Palser family were in the other car, which did not upset but is almost a total wreck. None of these were seriously injured except one of the Lambdin girls who sustained severe injury to her spine.

Rev. G. A. Schwabauer, the new pastor of the Methodist church preached his first sermon of the conference year last Sunday morning to an attentive audience. His subject was "How Christians Got Their Name." His topic at the evening service was "The Bankruptcy of Religion" using as a text, Issaih 59:1. His subject for next Sunday morning will be "Charity of Investment?"

Rev. Schwaubauer is a native Nebraskan, having been born at Gilead, but when about thirteen years old he moved with his parents to South Dakota, and received his education there, and was graduated from South Dakota Wesleyan. He later took his theological work in the graduate school of Boston university. He came back to Nebraska in 1923 and served as pastor at Arnold, Overton and Mt. Hope, Ansley and Mason City, before coming to North Loup.

Mr. C. H. Tully of Grand Island, father of Mrs. Paul Robinson, died last Friday afternoon, in his 75th year. His death was caused by heart trouble. He was well known in North Loup, and was a stock holder in the North Loup State bank. Mrs. Robinson has the sincere sympathy of her North Loup friends in her deep bereavement.

The senior class of the North Loup high school has elected its officers for the school year as follows: President, Chester Babcock; vice-president, Ruby Kirk; secretary-treasurer, Hazel Boettger; reporter, Marjorie Greene; class sponsors, Mrs. Murphy.

Much enthusiasm is being manifested in the high school orchestra which has the following personnel: Doris Davis, Elno Davis, Majorie Greene, Mills Hill, Hayden Jones, Lois Kildow, Maxine McCune, and Delmar Van Horn. Others are expecting to join later.

SAVES 1/4 TO FEED

ROWE Self-Feeder

Feeds all feeds, even ground oats, without clogging. Eight inch feed openings handle ear corn. When pigs lift trough covers, the Pull-a-Vator slides up under feed and "hoes" it right down into trough. Requires no attention except filling. Feed bins are wider at bottom than top. Accelerator floor is extra steep. Regulating boards are of steel—heavy galvanized troughs—sliding water-proof galvanized cover over bins. All wood hot-creosoted. Entire feeder on skids—easily moved, full or empty. Made in 4 bu., 25 bu., 50 bu. and 65 bu. sizes.

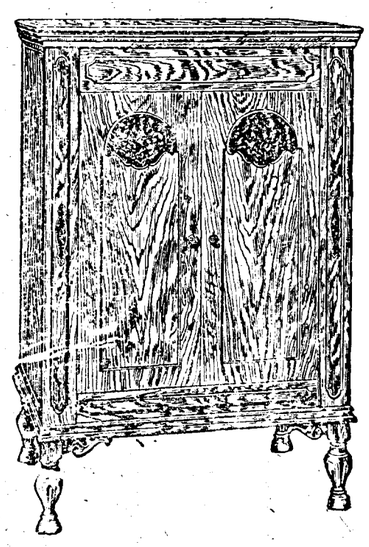
Gives More Heat --- And Saves Fuel



COPPER-CLAD'S
Twin Flue
Super-Heater

TWIN flues instead of a single flue! Twin flues that cause flame to contact all sides of the combustion chamber. As a result, the air circulating through the cabinet is heated more quickly and more intensely. It circulates in greater volume and more rapidly.

The moist, healthful warmth distributed by this heater reaches every corner of every room. Your home is really comfortable—and your fuel-bill is small.

Closed or Open--
You'll Admire It's Striking Beauty!

WHEN closed, the distinctive design and natural-grain walnut finish of Copper-Clad's Twin-Flue Super-Heater make it an ornament to any home. It resembles a console talking machine of the finest type.

With the full-length cabinet doors open, revealing the handsome radiating grill and the cheery glow of the fire—you enjoy all the charm of an old-fashioned fire-place.

See this new Super-Heater at our store. Let us show you all of its exceptional features. It's moderately priced, and you can buy it on convenient terms.

LOCALS

A clean-up sale is being held this week of all the effects of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Simpkins of Kadoka, S. D. Accompanied by their son Floyd, they will arrive here next week for an extended visit with Mrs. Rufus Greenfield, her sister, and Curt Wilson, a brother.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Greenfield went to Broken Bow Saturday and visited her sister, Mrs. John Haskell and family. They report the Haskells like their new home and surroundings very much.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Novosad are the parents of a baby girl weighing seven pounds, who was born Monday morning at the Ord hospital. It is thought that her name will be Mary Ann.

—F. A. Leet and wife and son of Denver left here Saturday for New York state, where they will visit a sister at Niagara and a brother at Addison. They will locate somewhere in the east as the climate of Denver did not agree with them. While here they visited an uncle, F. M. Cushing, and several cousins.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Flynn and children and Mrs. M. Flynn motored to North Loup Sunday and were guests of a sister and daughter, Mrs. Carl Oliver and her family.

—Mrs. Frank Kosmata of Central City returned to her home on Monday after spending a week here with three daughters, Madams Chester Palmatier, Clifford Flynn and Will Zikmund.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Ramsey and little son of Arcadia were guests at the W. L. Ramsey home Saturday evening.

Boyd Butcher returned home to Burwell Wednesday evening after spending a few days with a sister, Mrs. Joe Rowbal, who cares for his baby daughter, Marie, who is motherless.

—The Grand Island Independent recently made mention of the funeral services held for Charles H. Tully at the Forst Congregational church there last Sunday. Mr. Tully was the father-in-law of Paul Robinson, well known here and in North Loup.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Milford drove to Omaha Sunday to visit for several days.

—Stanley McLain went to Omaha Sunday, returning Tuesday, having finished his business there.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Enger and son Donald Dean of Hastings came over Saturday evening and spent Sunday in Ord. They were guests of an aunt, Mrs. Elsie Draper at dinner, the occasion being their third wedding anniversary. During the rest of their stay they visited his people, the Oscar Enger family.

—Guests in the Bert Cushing home in Lincoln recently were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leet and son of Denver, and Mrs. Charles Watson of Ord.

—Word has been received here of the death of the mother of John Chatfield at Richfield, Idaho, at the age of 87. All the children of Mrs. Chatfield held a reunion in Richfield last Christmas at the home of the youngest brother, where Mrs. Chatfield made her home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Loofburrow of New Madison, Ohio, left on Monday for their home, stopping enroute at North Loup and Hastings for a few days. They visited W. W. Loofburrows while here and were honored at several dinners in the John Chatfield and W. W. Loofburrow homes. A sister Mrs. Glen Eastham and two children of Hastings also visited here at the same time, leaving Wednesday for their home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Satterfield and his people from Taylor went to Omaha Wednesday to spend a week or more.

—Jack Burrows spent Sunday in North Loup.

—Guy Jensen returned last Wednesday evening from Scottsbluff, where he left two companions, Gene Cornell and Lavern Burrows. The three boys have worked several places in Wyoming and Montana since leaving here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Seaman, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Watson, returned Monday evening from a tri to Iowa, where the Seamans visited at Ames, and Mrs. Watson visited a number of aunts and cousins near Woodburn, her old home. She had not been there for many years and so enjoyed the visit greatly.

—Ralph Haas and family went to Burwell Saturday and visited relatives until Sunday evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beeghly and Mr. and Mrs. Ign. Klima went to Burwell Sunday to visit relatives.

—Walter White and sister, Mrs. Clara Blodgett went to Sumner on Sunday, where she will be a guest until his return from Kimbell, at which place Mr. White has a son, Scott, whom he will visit for a week or more.

—Don Tolbert has gone to Gothenburg, where he will be electrician for the Continental Light and Electric company. Mrs. Tolbert will not follow him for several months.

—Friday evening Bud Auble and two daughters drove to Winner, S. D., where they expected to find W. L. D. Auble ready to return to Ord with them. The man in charge of his farm was ill, however, and Mr. Auble had to stay for a while longer.

—Mrs. J. H. Hollingshead came home Saturday from Albion and Monroe. At the latter place she visited her mother, Mrs. Matilda Baker, and they went to Columbus to the fair.

New Season of Color in Frocks

THIS fall is opening a new season of color in frocks! This you will see at a glance in the new models that are arriving daily. Violets and blues vie with browns and greens and there are any number of new interesting reds. Black goes on forever.

Coats Have Many Fascinating Ideas

SMART women will be enamored of the refreshing new details of the coats for fall. Take, for instance, the tight hip-line of the model sketched, the lovely fur flare, the smart tapered collar. Note, too, that the hem-line dips subtly.

ACCESSORIES are charming this autumn. Expressing clever new ideas in gloves and pocketbooks will be found snakeskin and lizard, or perhaps a gay bit of color. At any rate, they simply must match the costume, the ensemble note being most sought after at present.

MOST OF THE HATS carry out the dictates of Paris by being either brimless or almost so; many of them find a new note of elegance in an unusual buckle or pin, or other little foreign touch. Gage, Fisk, Lyman and Lyon put forth their best for you here.

BRISK winds are ushering in a new season, and that season is bringing with it fashions of a new elegance and charm. Here you will find the new mode expressed in distinctive costumes for women and misses.

win a better grade; mischievious students and those with too much energy are kept occupied, and the class in general moves more smoothly. This being the last class of the day, it was a good thing some such scheme had been devised, as these bigger students, like the little tots, get anxious for school to end.

In the vocational agriculture department, Mr. Kovanda's boys are beginning work on their small projects, such as neck yokes, chicken feeders, ladders, and other pieces of farm equipment. With two new pupils added today, Kent Ferris and Charles Havlik, the enrollment in this division reaches 40, indicating very well the interest in agriculture and all related subjects in this county. There is a great deal of interest in purebred stock, and class work has started in judging livestock: Dairy cattle, beef cattle, horses and sheep.

Shop work is just being completed on rope splicing, the study of tools, and agricultural drawing. The boys have their project quite well planned by now, and will soon begin the actual work of construction. They are very much interested and are like the home ec girls—they want to go home and try out their knowledge. (Zola Barta, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Barta liked canning peaches at school so well that she came home and asked to be allowed to put up some more!)

Home ec girls were putting away their thread, bobbins, etc, when I reached there. They had been learning to sew straight and in order to avoid so much ripping, they were stitching in paper, circles, squares, and numberless straight lines. They will soon begin their clothing project, which is to be a wool dress. Their first food unit is almost finished, their work ending with pickling. Recently they have been making pickles for patrons of the school—peach, beet and mixed cucumber ones. I did not get to sample them, so I can't say how good they were. They are in classes of 20 to 24 students, and cook under the same conditions as they have at home, at least in theory. For this reason a coal range is used a good deal of the time.

As I left the high school building, I was all primed to call on Miss Bessie Rouse, dean of women, but immediately after four she had a class of would-be orchestra members, and I didn't think that they could be offering much melody so early in the season, so I didn't wait to hear them. As I went out the big front door, I caught the first notes of orchestra practice, and I'll have to admit, it wasn't so bad. However, I'm sure I'd rather hear them later, when Miss Rouse has worked them over a little.

JOINT NEWS

J. L. Abernethy attended church at Rosevale Sunday morning.

John Miller and Carl Hansen drove over to Frank Holden's on business Saturday noon.

John Cleary's of California were guests at the Ralph Hanson home Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Larsen are the proud parents of a new son, born September 19.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Holden and family called at the Lars Larsen home Saturday to see Mrs. Larsen and the baby.

Carl Hanson and son Jack called at the John Miller home Saturday.

Lores and Gladys McMindes came out to get Mrs. McMindes who has been staying with her son Leon and wife for the past week, helping care for the new boby.

Mr. and Mrs. Seton Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hansen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hansen were last Sunday dinner guests at the Mark Bodyfield home.

JOINT FARM NOTES.
By F. O. Holden.

Weather conditions still remain ideal for ripening and harvesting of late crops. Early sown rye is up looking fine and some people are still busy drilling in the corn fields. The acreage of fall grain sown is larger than other years in this locality owing possibly to the fact that a short corn crop this year will create a need for early feed next summer.

Amos Christofferson pulled his threshing outfit in to the Rosevale neighborhood last week and threshed for Wallace Dutcher and for Thead Nelson, Floyd Chatfield and Andy Swanson last week.

Larsen Bros. sold a large bunch of grass cattle to Chas. Burdick last week. This bunch consisted of a mixed lot of coming two year olds that have been pastured in F. O. Holden's pasture and their crop of spring calves that were kept at home this summer.

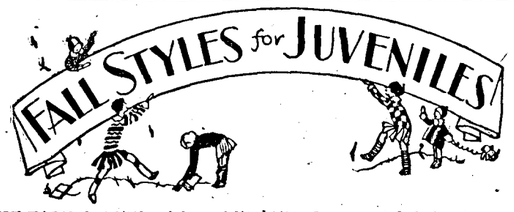
Owing to the large amount of corn that they had to cut Larson Bros. sold their old corn binder to Ralph Hanson and purchased a new John Deere and are now busy getting their corn crop in the shock.

Albert McMindes purchased a large bunch of horses and mules at Burwell last week and Gerald and Arvin Dye brought them down to the ranch Thursday.

Ed Jensen is sowing a 50-acre field of fall wheat. As far as we know this is the only field of wheat in this locality. The rest of us confine our efforts to rye.

C. A. Dye attended the Starr stock sale on the Dry Cedar last week. He reports a large number of buyers present and that the usual high prices were maintained.

Gerald Dye and John Pishna drove a bunch of cattle to Ord for Chas. Burdick Friday.



THE FACT that little girls and little boys look best in simple clothes that may be easily tubbed was borne in on a maiden aunt, when she tried taking care of her sister's youngsters. One ice cream cone—if it be chocolate, perchance, can work havoc with a smart little suit—an hour's work to iron.

A ruffled pink party frock made little sister look like a wild rose blossom, but one wearing has it crumpled beyong a second appearance. It was a pleasure to "do up" this dainty pink frock—but not—well, hardly not, EVERY time it was worn.

Simplicity of Design.

It is perhaps for these obvious reasons that the manufacturers are continuing to present us with children's apparel that places its principal emphasis on simplicity of design, plain things, with every-day school wear especially noticeable.

Cape coats without fur are shown. This, too, is a very practical idea. Fur is pretty, but youngsters are not careful of it. From the child's viewpoint, life is so full of more interesting things than clothes.

Bound Scollops Favored.

Capes are split down the back in "V" or "U" shapes or crossed over and buttoned. Bound scollops are featured on some of them. Throw collars of various types are shown on many coats. Some of these are fitted so as to stand up at the back of the neck and others are laid in folds similar to those for the grown-ups.

Capes are also parts of ensembles. A very effective one was of knitted fabric of powder blue with a border of silver. This over a simple slip-on dress of blue made a charming combination.

Wash Fabrics Continue.

Practical school clothes continue for the young miss, in the wash fabrics. Cotton broadcloth and pongee are the most popular among the materials. Many of these were made in jacket combinations. You can picture for yourself how smart a youngster would look in a sport frock of red silk, with an oyster white pongee packet trimmed in bands of red, with a cunning little tied collar under her chin.

Party dresses, too, come in the lighter weight fabrics. Georgette dresses in pastel colors with ruffles and bows are sweet and fresh looking, while dainty tints in taffeta flower-petaled frocks made a wee miss a lovesome thing. Coats of silk with applique and cut-work treatment are designed to wear to the party.

The Smart Ensemble.

Tan tweed is good for a smart school ensemble. The coat is short and is buttoned with two buttons, wearing a patch pocket either side. A simple box plait is the skirt's only feature. The overblouse of tan crepe de chine repeats the box plait down the front under a yoke effect.

Another effective school costume is deftly designed in navy blue jersey with French blue for contrast. Its good-looking jacket of navy is bound with French blue. A blouse of the lighter blue is bound at the neck with navy, and is buttoned into a short pleated skirt of dark blue.

Many Linens Are Shown.

Linen frocks are not exclusively summer dresses by any means. Their tub-able quality has been mentioned, which is so necessary for the younger misses. Many linens are shown for fall. A smart little outfit of coat and dress exemplifies this.

A tucked vest that continues to the hem was the dress's main feature. The coat was built on raglan lines, with a simple stitched collar, into which the shoulder and front were gathered. The stitching continued down the front to make straight bands. Patches of pointed shapes formed the sleeve's only trimming. The lines of this outfit were its chief recommendation.

Zig-Zag Lines.

Since scollops have been done and perhaps overdone, a pleasant variation is a trimming of zig-zag lines. A silk dress for a high school miss had a plain blouse that was belted over a knife-pleated skirt of printed silk. A scarf of print with piquoted zig-zag edges tied on one shoulder. The sleeves repeated the zig-zag with cuffs of print that were piquoted on. A cunning little hankie of the print, with zig-zag edges, was the final effective touch.

In fashion's shop are smartly clad
In mother's taste, with cash from dad.

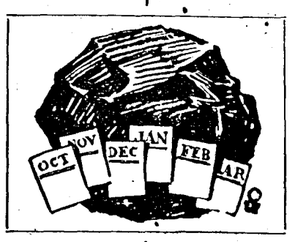
Do You Realize That Winter Is Just Ahead?



HARDLY seems possible, does it? We barely get adjusted to the good old summer time when the cool nights begin to forecast the coming of winter.

† † †

Next on the buying program, therefore, is the winter's coal supply.

† † †

That is a task that the average citizen puts off until the family begin to wrap themselves in blankets. Then, when the order is placed, he finds that about a hundred other citizens want their coal just as promptly as he does.

† † †

We extend our sympathies to our local coal dealers under these trying circumstances. We haven't heard them complaining, but we know that they are annually subjected to a heavy rush that could just as well be avoided if we all ordered our coal early.

EVERY year we have winter here in this section of the country. Every winter brings cold weather, and cold weather brings the necessity for heated homes. A little foresight this year in the matter of coal orders will relieve the rush when the real cold snap comes, and will be greatly appreciated by our coal dealers, we're sure.

Women—
Let Your Husbands Boast!

"NO SIR," said Uncle Bije, "I won't have one o' them fool telephone contraptions in my house." But Aunt Sarah held out for it and now Uncle Bije declares that putting in the phone was the smartest thing he ever did.

I tell you it's the women folks that are the progressive members of most families nowadays. I don't know how I'd ever manage to sell Delco-Light plants if it wasn't for them. They keep pestering their men folks for electric light and labor-saving electric power. Then, when they get a Delco-Light plant, the men go 'round boasting about what a wise investment they made. But don't care about that. Get what you want. Then let your husband do the boasting.

Colorful Household Fabrics

By Marjorie Howe Dixon

ONE THING all of us homekeepers have in common, and that is the pride and satisfaction we take in our household linens. This inheritance is from our mothers, and their mothers, from the early days when women spun their own linen, and wove their names and initials into the corners of their lovely coverlets.

Do you remember Mrs. Tulliver in the "Mill on the Floss" and her great grief when she found she would be obliged to part with her beloved family linen, which she hoped to pass on to her son? (The daughter could have the second best—such was the daughter's status those days.)

Mr. Tulliver had lost out in a law suit, and had failed, and as a result they were to be "sold up". Maggie found her mother in the store-room where all the linen was kept.

Woman Is Grief-Stricken.

"The poor woman was shaking her head and weeping, over the mark 'Elizabeth Dodson' on the corner of some table cloths she held in her lap.

"'To think of these cloths as I spun myself, and Job Haxey wove 'em and brought the piece home on his back, as I remember standing at the door and seeing him come before I ever thought of marrying your father. And the patterns as I chose myself, and bleached so beautiful, and I marked 'em so as nobody ever saw such marking,—they must cut the cloth to get it out, for it's a particular stitch.

"'You'll never have one of 'em my boy,' she said, looking up at Tom with her eyes full of tears, 'and I meant 'em for you. I wanted you to have all of this pattern. Maggie could have had the large check —it never shows so well when the dishes are on it.'"

We Feel for Her.

No doubt we cannot feel as deeply as Mrs. Tulliver did about parting with her linen, perhaps because our lives are not woven into it as hers was. But we can and do share her pride in a well-stocked linen closet, and take our pleasure in the lovely new colors we are able to enjoy today. Now that spinning and weaving are taken out of our hands and machinery does for us the work Mrs. Tulliver did, we lose some of her joy, but then too we cannot feel her sorrow at parting with her linen.

A year ago colored damasks began to come in freely, and now one may buy sheets and pillow cases in soft pastel tints as well.

If you have chosen a maize yellow for hanging in one room, and have matched it in coverlets, you may want a pair of maize sheets to accompany them. For other rooms there are the dainty colors of rose, apple green, and a blue that suggests powder blue, but is lighter in tint.

Bronze Damask for Background.

Matching or contrasting colors in damask is a fine opportunity for the exercise of one's individual taste. Bronze damask makes an excellent background for certain tints in glass, gold fleked Venetian glass, wistaria, or Burgundy shades of red.

There are very good greens in damask, deep gold colors, rose and lavenders, too. The quality and sheen of damask seems to show a glow in the fabric that is not possible in other materials.

The well-equipped linen closet will contain as many lovely table cloths with their napkins, as on's purse permits. Besides these, there are, alas, other table sets to think about.

Bridge sets vary more than all else in originality of design and the use of fabrics. One may use the simplest type of fringed gingham, preferably large checks, or consider the innocent looking and dainty French appliques on handkerchief linen, but the price of these, my dear, the price is simply terrible! Not many of us can afford fifty dollars for a bridge set. Not that the exquisite hand work isn't worth it, oh no—but there are still other linen purchases to be made.

About Breakfast Sets.

One must decide and choose dresser and buffet scarfs, or lace net if one prefers. Breakfast sets are indispensable and as varied as bridge sets. There are still embroidered linens for formal and informal luncheons to add.

Another set of shelves in one's linen closet must be reserved for the supply for the needs of the bath room. Color as gay and designs as fanciful as in a flower garden may decorate the once austere all-in-white room—then, nothing but white could express cleanliness.

Bath mats, face cloths and towels may match if one prefers. Then again each member of the home may have his favorite color. Even hand towels come in colors, and grow finer in each news season.

Blankets and Coverlets.

When one is considering the supplies to run the home, one is apt to think of blankets and coverlets, too. Warmer covers must be in readiness, as the cool season arrives. Shall you add a soft all-wool pair of blankets in wide stripes of pale pink or checks of lavender to your collection? Or do you think an additional great puff covered in contrasting colors in satin will serve better? Shall you send to one of the Southern states for a hand woven coverlet in an old Colonial pattern?

Perhaps you are finishing a quilt of your own patch work. Not many seem to have time for that these days. A machine stitched quilt in a blocked pattern may be bought and would do nicely for a child's room. Then as an opposite idea, quite so, you will say, you may enjoy looking for handmade quilts in antique shops. This is a most fascinating quest.

Linen Closet Arrangement.

And last of all there is the linen closet itself to arrange. With pretty shelf trimmings and with all the colors in the linens, the closet itself can be a poem of good housewifery, with rythm in its rows of folded linens, each laid in its bright satin ribbon, with accents of color, and an elusive fragrance of lavender pervading the whole.

Byrd Takes Maytag on Antarctic Trip

FIFTY-FIVE picked men with Commander Richard E. Byrd of the United States Navy have left for the Antarctic. They face six months to two years in this desolate country with its merciless elements, and during that time every domestic task, from sewing on buttons to washing clothes, must be done by the men themselves.

Out of 3,000 applicants, fifty-five volunteers were selected for the trip after passing rigid tests and physical examinations. Equipment of all kinds was selected with the same care, and the Maytag washer, with its sturdy construction, cast-aluminum tub and many other outstanding features was chosen as the washday servant.

Not only the success of the adventure, but the health and life of the men depend on proper equipment and careful methods of living: Cleanliness keeps away disease, and so they are prepared to wash their clothes in Maytags.

On the icy slopes of the Antarctic Continent, when the men dress in heavy skins and furs, the Maytag will of course be impractical, but on the supply ship and during the long journey through the tropics and on farther south where the red in the thermometer drops nearly out of sight, there will be many days when the Maytag will find plenty to do keeping clothes fresh and clean for fifty--five men.

Count the shirts, socks, breeches, blankets, handkerchiefs and what not for fifty-five men. There is no place at which to purchase new supplies when clothes wear out. The nearest store is many, many miles away, so enough clothes are taken to last two years.

From these clothes the Maytag will have to wash away the dirt. It won't be dust—not in the Antarctic, but it will be grease from engines, grease from guns and instruments, grease from seals which are captured—real stubborn dirt, but with a good supply of salt water soap, the Maytag will take it out.

Elyria Man Writes From California

In writing recently to J. H. Capron regarding some business matters, Thorvald Sorensen, old settler near Elyria but who sold out this year and has located in California, penned some lines for the Quiz.

Mr. Sorensen can be reached by any friends who wish to write him, at Gerber, Cal., Route 1. He says he is just ready to start building on his own land.

Mr. Sorensen says they had a wonderful trip out, taking three weeks. They went west from Kearney through Sidney and Kimball and followed the north branch of the North Platte river to Torrington, Wyo., then on to Termopolis, Cody and the Yellowstone park where they stayed several days, fished and saw the sights, then on to Pocatello, Twin Falls and Boise, Ida., and on into Oregon. Mr. Sorensen says they like California, especially the parts where there is lots of alfalfa, which of course requires irrigation. He says it seems much hotter where there is no irrigation. Mr. Sorensen says he has been cutting alfalfa and millet and that these crops with cows, chickens, hogs and sheep are the chief money makers there. He says fruit is overdone. Mr. Sorensen says his truck, up to this time, has hauled a hundred ton of prunes to the dryer. He says the party he is hauling for has 72 acres of prunes and that they will make in the neighborhood of 30 thousand dollars. Four trucks have been hauling steady for two weeks and are still at it.

Mr. Sorensen says that anyone interested in that country should get a California soil map before buying and study it carefully, as there is lots of good land there and lots of it that is very poor also. We are sure the friends of the Sorensen family will be glad to hear from them through the Quiz.

In 100 Years

A CENTURY ago the savings banks deposits in this country were less than $1,250,000. Today they didn't have to work for. It was money that my are considerably over $25,000,000,000.

THAT'S a wonderful record. Even seventy years ago there were only 8,635 deposits in savings institutions—all told. Today these have increased to 40,000,000 depositors. We are becoming a thrifty people. Are you one of the thrifty forty million?. We can safeguard your savings as we do those of others.

A message to the editor of this paper from GENERAL MOTORS

JUST about a year ago we published, in your advertising columns, a message in which we sought to give you and your readers an idea of what General Motors is and what it is trying to accomplish. At that time the public was purchasing our cars at the rate of about one in every three; and our Frigidaire automatic refrigerator and Delco-Light electric plants were leading in popular preference in their respective fields.

Since then each of our car divisions has introduced new, further improved models and public patronage has reached the point where almost one out of two automobiles purchased is a General Motors car. Frigidaire and Delco-Light products have showed comparable increases in sales.

The reason for this is two-fold. First, the public wants value for its automobile dollar and recognizes value when it is given. Second, General Motors is seeking so to conduct its operations as to deserve the goodwill of the public.

We are particularly impressed with the number of letters which have come to us from editors of small city newspapers during recent months. These editors, who are in a position to reflect local sentiment, speak of the goodwill which attaches to General Motors in their communities and express an obviously sincere appreciation of the character of General Motors' advertising in their publications.

For our advertising has been as much concerned with giving your readers facts of helpfulness to them in the purchase of automobiles as with the merits of our own products. Our messages have set forth the principles of trade-in transactions and used car allowances. They have dealt with time payments and the change in the public's attitude toward the used car. Other messages have told of the policies of General Motors and of how our resources are being employed to effect them.

That General Motors enjoys the goodwill of the people in the small cities and on the farms of America gives us an especial satisfaction and confidence in the future. It is in the country sections of the United States that half our population lives. It is there that the whole industry must look in increasing measure for maintenance of the production volume upon which high values and low prices depend. And it is there that General Motors is paying particular attention to its facilities for sales and service.

To our friends in your community we express our thanks.

The next day Ray and I went over to Edna, a small lake famous for its large northern pike. We depended on finding a boat there and did find several such as they were but they were all poor things and leaked badly. One small one seemed the best and we got in and started. Ray was rowing and I was casting and hooked several bass and several small pike. The largest pike I got weighed 6 lbs. While landing him Ray cautioned me a couple time to sit still and when I finally got ready to start fishing again I asked him about how much my end of the boat lacked of dipping water and he said about a quarter of an inch and added that the water was about a hundred feet deep right where we were then. There was quite a lot of water in theboat and as I carefully dipped it out with an old can I realized that it had come in over the top of the boat while I was busy with my fish. I didn't seem to enjoy it much after that and as we were not getting anything worth while we soon quit and went home. We went back to this same lake later and took a good boat but had very indifferent luck. Another fellow who was fishing told us he lost his tackle on a big one the day before. After dinner that day the Missus and I went up on our own lake a half mile or so and were having good luck catchin bluegills when we noticed smoke rolling out of our chimney at a great rate. I had noticed, when we left, that there was only a few coals left in the stove so we knew someone had built a fire. We cranked the motor and were soon home and found that Mr. and Mrs. Lou Halloway had driven in from Shelby, Iowa where he has the management of the telephone business. They formerly lived in Ord and will be remembered by many. She is a niece of Mrs. Leggett. They were fish hungry so I dressed fifteen of our bluegills and we had a fish supper. They stayed with us till Saturday. The weather was bum all the time they were there but they said they had a fine time. One day we took a boat over and fished on Upper Gull for walleyed pike and only got three. Mrs. Halloway caught the largest one, a 2-pounder. We caught lots of bluegills and croppies in our own lake when they were there and they had a fine box offish to take home. They declared they are going to Cullen for their vacation next year.

After they left for home Saturday we went to Upper Cullen and tried for walleyes again and got three, then turned our attention to pan fish and caught a nice lot and landed a couple of fine bass.The next day was the opening of the duck season and Ray spent most of Saturday night getting ready and Sunday got fourteen mallards. Monday evening we were invited to his place for a duck dinner and it was sure a fine one. Mrs. Luther has no superiors and few equals at cooking that kind of a dinner and we almost foundered ourselves dong justice to theducks, mashed potatoes, gravy and other things. And I musn't forget the pumpkin pie that she served as desert. It reminded me of the pie my mother used to make.

We had spent all of Monday fishing and it was a beautiful day, the finest we had while there. In the forenoon we cast for bass around our own lake and got two. We were starting for home Tuesday morning so after dinner I drove into town and got the oil changed in the old 70 and settled my grocery bill at John Swansons and it was 2:30 by the time we were ready to go to the upper lake where we had planned to spend the afternoon. We located first on the pike bar and thought we would try them out first and later fish in the Bartz bay. We began to catch pike however and stayed right there all the afternoon, finally getting the large crappies started and when we pulled up anchor at dusk we had ten walleyes and 19 crappies. The 19 crappies weighed 22 pounds. We called it one of the finest days we ever spent on the lakes.

Our big dinner of the night before did not seem to hurt us and we were on our way early Tuesday leaving the cottage for Ray to close up at his leisure. The boats were left out, as the boys were to be there in a few days.

We were sorry that there had been no frost because it takes light frosts to make the leaves turn beautiful colors. Four years ago we spent six weeks there in September and early October and the woods were beautiful. Two years ago the first frost was a hard freeze which so killed the leaves that they were left a dirty brown and we missed the usual fall beauty. This year the frosts had not come yet so we feel a bit cheated. We plan now to wait until fall before going to the lake next year and then be able to make a longer stay. There is only one drawback to that, so many of the folks are gone and it is a bit lonesome.

FRIDAY—Well here it is all most a hole weak of skool gone & so far I aint lernt nothing but that I dont like skool no way. I gess tho that miss Smook are teecher likes me & jake & Fat Burns cause she put us three rite in the frunt row where we cud see and here without no difikulty.

Slats.

Saterday—as it is still purty warm fer september. me and jake went swimin today & I lost my shews in the crick. wen I tole Ma about the axident she dident say much but she did plenty so that I dont feal much like riteing in the direy tonite. pa went down to Lemsteins & bot me a new pare witch has hard heals so I see where Miss Smook is gonna have sum trubble keepin the room still.

Sunday—ma maid me go to chirch today with her & ant emmy. pa didnt go as he & mister Gillem went to play gawf. ant Emmy went to sleap in chirch & ma had a offle time wakeing her. I cudent sleep on acct. of her snoreing so loud. saw jane after chirch & I ast her was she going my way and she sed not if I can help it. I gess that is anuther 1 of her gokes.

Munday—Me and jake was gonna go to the pitcher show tonite as there was a swell western on but ma veetowed it by the rimmark that I had to stay home and study jography so I dissided not to go.

Tuesday—pa was reeding the paper alowed tonite about a siuntist clamed that in seven billyun yrs. the sun would get so hot that it would birn up the erth. ant emmy jumped up and sed how long & pa sed 7 Billyun and ant emmy heeved a sigh of releaf and sed oh I thot you sed 7 millyun. ant emmy is just like that always jumping at conklushuns.

Wensday—the teecher tole jake today that he had a infereoraty complek and when jake went home and told his fokes they called up dr. Watson and ast him how much did he charge to remove 1 of them. jake is a lot of trubble to his fokes. 1st he had the meesles then he had his tonsils removed now this had to happen.

Thirsday—I had to stay after skool tonite on acct. Miss smook was curyus to know who had slung the eracer at percy Carter wen he was riteing on the blackboared with his back turned. she suspeckted me & jake but I was innocent because I was cutting my inishals on my desk wen it happened. we was both sent to the offuce for it but mister Morey was out so we failed to get no likken.

First Girl in 300 Years.

London, September 27. (Autocaster)—A hen owned by Postman Terry of Epping makes its way to the kitchen of his home, turns out the cat and dog, seats itself on the armchair and lays its egg.

Popping the Question.

Boston Transcript: "Hello," said the corn, "was that you whispering?"

"Yes", replied the wind. "I've been trying to catch your ear for sometime."

Trees Grow on Rocks.

Washington, September 27. (Autocaster)—A striking feature of the great Zapata Swamp of southern Cuba are huge trees growing without any visible signs of support. This swamp includes an area of limestone that is filled with holes and covered with a variety of tropical trees.

Many kinds of trees are found growing on this limestone area, where not as much as a single spoonful of soil could be gathered from an acre. The trees make their start in small pockets and holes in the limestone.

Searching for food, the roots stray about over the surface of the rock. They finally plunge through holes to find sustenance in soil hidden deeply in the cavernous recesses of the coral stone.

MIND AND MUSCLE. LASTING ENERGY. YOUNG WOMEN SWIMMERS. INVESTING WIDOWS.

GENE TUNNEY, retired world champion, dined and praised by literary celebrities and respectable British nobility, says, "I don't know why you make so much fuss over me. What is boxing? The ability to co-ordinate mind and muscle at a critical moment, that is all."

That will send his ex-manager, Mr. Gibson, to the dictionary.

Boxing today is nothing. Twelve thousand years ago co-ordination of mind and muscle meant the difference between life and death.

Now what counts in co-ordination between mind and the mechanism of an "automatic" or an airplane.

German blood possesses lasting energy. Von Hindenburg, President of the German Republic, past eighty, goes hunting chamois in the high mountains. It is dangerous, difficult sport, even for young men, chasing those small goats.

President Hainisch, of Austria, is running for a third term. He is seventy years old, and his mother, EIGHTY-NINE YEARS OLD, is campaigning for him.

Her son doesn't want a third, term, but she, president of the Austrian Feminist Party, thinks it his duty to keep on working.

A fine young American, Ethel Hertle, won Mr. Wrigley's ten-mile swim for women and his $10,000, defeating fifty-three other women, including the Channel marvel, Gertrude Ederle, in 5 hours, 34 minutes, 26 seconds.

A fine achievement, BUT those swimming young women are not using their energy as Providence and Nature want it used.

Miss Ethel Hertle should stop long distance swimming, find a worthy young man of the right type, thin body, a big head, good brain, kind heart, earnest, ambitious, sincere. Then Ethel Hertle should marry him, putting her mind on Nancy Hanks, whose championship was represented by Abraham Lincoln.

Wrigley should offer $100,000 for the best baby.

Government agents announced that A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, was swindled out of $70,000 in a land fraud.

If lying letters and prospectuses can get $70,000 from the president of Harvard, what chance has a poor widow seeking to increase her small inheritance?

No woman should buy land unless she has seen it and has the approving opinions of three business men not interested in the sale. And this is not written by a real estate theorist.

Australia votes to end prohibition, and by a majority of more than two to one, in New South Wales, and the Federal territory of Canberra. In industrial districts, the women's votes were solidly against prohibition.

In New Zealand, long ago, women voted prohibition in, then voted it out. They decided that men bringing a bottle home and drinking it all at once, were more of a nuisance than men drinking at the public house.

Currie Resigns, New Manager Appointed

North Loup, Sept. 21.—(Special)—A few weeks ago, Clyde Currie, local telephone manager, went to Colorado, to seek relief from asthme and from there went on to California intending to visit for a while with his son Jack. His health being better out there, he sent in his resignation a few days ago and the board of directors has selected M. E. Blankenship to be manager in his place. Mr. Blankenship is experienced in the telephone business and comes well recommended. Mr. Currie's resignation means a distinct loss to the telephone company, and to the Odd Fellows lodge, of which he was an active member. He was always a staunch booster for the North Loup band.

Natural Question.

"He claims his wife was intractable, your lordship, so he beat her into subjection with a golf club."

"In how many strokes?" asked the judge.—Tit Bits.

Quick response when you step on the gas

THAT'S the test of good gasoline—a quick-starting motor and instant, strong acceleration—hill climbing power and plenty of speed when the road is clear—big mileage per gallon. These are the qualities that have built up preference for uniform, balanced Red Crown Gasoline.

★ ★ ★

But even the best refinery gasoline has limitations. When carbon accumulates and increases compression, and in the new high compression motors, you get gas knocks and loss of power unless your gasoline is genuine high compression fuel. To meet these conditions RED CROWN ETHYL GASOLINE was developed.

It is always-reliable Red Crown Gasoline combined with Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound. This new fuel not only eliminates gas knocks and loss of power when compression is high, but gives smoother operation, more power and bigger mileage. Try it in truck, tractor and passenger car. Costs a bit more per gallon but less by the mile.

For motoring economy and satisfactory operation buy your gasoline and motor oil where you see the Red Crown Sign—the sign of quality products and prompt, courteous, obliging service.

DAVIS CREEK

By Mrs. John Williams.

Wednesday the U. B. Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Harry Waller with about thirty present. Quilting and piecing quilts kept the ladies busy while the men played horse shoe. The ladies planned to have a bake sale at Sample's hardware store Tuesday of pop corn days.

Edd Jefferies received word on Friday that his mother passed away that afternoon. Her home was in California.

Mrs. Earl Bingham entertained the M. E. Ladies' Aid society last Wednesday. The ladies are planning their bazaar for October 26. Mrs. Rahlmeyer and Emma Davis were visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis have been spending a few days with her parents, George Sample's. They plan to leave for a visit with Denver relatives after pop corn days.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Finch and son drove from Minatare Sunday night and arrived at George Sample's in time for breakfast Monday morning.

Mrs. Smith, two sons and a daughter from McCook visited her daughter, Mrs. Ed. Jefferies Sunday.

Mrs. C. C. Sample entertained some cousins from Humbolt Friday night and Saturday they all visited at the Ralph Collins home.

A near serious accident happened Friday near the George Sample house. Mr. and Mrs. Will Cornell and family of four children were on their way to the social at the church. They saw a car coming very rapidly toward them, having three lights, one a bright spot light that nearly blinded them so he drove into the grass by the side of the road and nearly stopped when the car, driven by LeRoy Lambdin struck the Cornell car knocking it across the road and it went upside down off over the end of the small bridge. The Lambdin car is said to have rolled over twice, stopping in the ditch on the north side of the road, headed west instead of east. Both cars were badly smashed, both front wheels were off the Cornell car and most of the wheeles on the Lambdin car were broken. The Cornell family was taken to Chas. Johnson's and Dr. Hemphill was called and he relieved their suffering as best he could. Mr. Cornell carries his arm in a sling and except for many bruises they are getting along nicely. Florence, Esther and Palser and Alma Lambdin were with LeRoy. Saturday night Alma suffered a great deal and the doctor thought that possibly she had a cracked vertebra and if that were the trouble she would have to be put in a cast. Mr. Cornell's car was taken to North Loup Saturday and fixed up.

Weldon Coats motored to North Loup and Broken Bow Sunday.

Mrs. C. B. Wagner of Bradshaw called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Chips and Mr and Mrs. E. S. Coats Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Whitford and family returned from California and are making their home at Comstock.

VIC DANCZAK VISITS WISCONSIN RELATIVES

Dear Friends:

I had a wonderful time while on my trip and vacation to Green Bay, Wis. I was gone but two weeks. But I am rather glad to get back to old Ord again. I will tell you about my trip:

I crossed the Missouri river at Omaha, also crossed Mississippi at Clinton. This is a very high and long bridge. Iowa has a very nice crop of corn. In Illinois they were cutting the sweet corn for the canneries and the crops in general were very good. I stopped at Chicago to see Mr. Benben but could not located him. . . . Never saw such heavy traffic. I left Chicago in the afternoon and shopped at Milwaukee for lunch then proceeded to Fondee Loc and called on Mr. Perlinski's aunt who treated us very nice but were not feeling very good so we didn't stay very long. We then went to Green Bay. We were pretty tired when we arrived.

The following day my son-in-law had business in Little Chute and we spent the day there. The following day we went through Kimberly, Wis. This is the largest mill in this section.

I haven't seen such large boats as they have here in Green Bay since I was twenty years old. Since I came back from Europe. We also visited some farmers here. They don't farm the same as we do here. They depend on milk cows mostly. Also went with my son-in-law to Wautoneu and Waupage where he had business. That is aboue one hundred miles from Green Bay where he lives.

I stayed in Green Bay for two week. I took the train from there to Omaha and from there drove my car home which I had left in Omaha with my other son-in-law.

Arcadia News

Returns From Convention.

Mrs. P. E. Doe returned from Omaha Sunday where she had spent the past week attending the National convention of District Postmasters. Mrs. Doe states that every state but six in the union was represented and that following the daily business sessions they were royally entertained at banquets, theatre parties and sight seeing trips. This is the first national convention that Mrs. Doe has been able to attend since becoming postmistress as each preceeding year the conventions have been held at such distant places. Niagara Falls has been selected as the meeting place for next year.

Suffers Broken Arm.

Edward Stefka, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Stefka of Comstock is a patient at the home of Mrs. W. C. Hagood. The little fellow had his arm broken near the shoulder joint when he fell from a horse Saturday. He was brought to Dr Hille at Arcadia, where the fracture was reduced and he is recovering nicely.

League Social Friday.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lutz Friday evening. Everyone invited.

Reception for Minister and Wife.

The members of the congregation of the Methodist church at Westerville held a reception for Rev. and Mrs. Hendrickson at Westerville Friday evening. A large crowd attended and brought with them a number of useful gifts which were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Hendrickson.

Quite a String of Ribbons.

Clayton Ward returned Saturday from the Howard county fair at St. Paul with his drove of Duroc hogs on which he secured the grand total of 140 ribbons in exhibiting them at six county fairs this season. His prizes included 32 champions, 52 firsts and the balance seconds and thirds. The fairs at which he exhibited, included Garfield, Hall, Custer, Valley, Greeley and Howard.

Mr. and Mrs. George Marr of Battle Creek were guests of the latter's brother, Jerome Walker and family last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Dowis who returned last week from Sterling, Colo., where Mr. Dowis was employed through the summer were guests at the Walker home Tuesday.

In Appreciation.

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the many friends who remembered me with flowers, cards and other gifts during my recent illness. Their thoughtfulness will long be remembered.

Mrs. J. P. Ford.

Society Notes.

The sisters and sisters-in-law of Miss Fern Crist met at the home of Fern's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Crist on Tuesday of last week for a quilting party. The quilt was presented to Fern who was home on a vacation from her duties as a trained nurse in Omaha.

The Hayes Creek Farmers Union met Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Holmes.

The members of the Rebekah kensington were entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. M. Meyers. The ladies spent the time quilting for the hostess.

Mrs. Al Fagen entertained the Larkin club of Westerville at her home in Arcadia Thursday. About thirty members attended.

The Congregational Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met in the church basement Thursday afternoon.

The Afternoon Bridge club met Friday at the home of Mrs. J. R. Golden. Mrs. Clayton Ward was a guest of the club. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Don Rounds.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid society met in the church basement last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bulger entertained Mr. and Mrs. George Olsen and family and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hastings and family at a duck dinner Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beckholdt and son Raymond of Plymouth, drove to Arcadia Sunday and spent the day with their daughter, Miss Ella Beckholdt. Miss Clara Koenig, who was called to Plymouth on Wednesday of last week by the death of her grandmother, returned to Arcadia with them.

More Cross Fences —save money—make money

J. H. Fuhrmann, Hennessey, Okla., says his mower missed from 12 to 15 bushels of barley per acre due to leveling by a storm. He pastured hogs and saved every bit of grain because he had a hog-tight fence. Alvin Herrmann, Lesterville, S. D., hogged down 10 acres of corn with 89 head. They cleaned it up in one month and out of the bunch he sold 33 head averaging 210 lbs. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture advocates a 5-year crop rotation plan that requires cross fencing into about 20-acre fields for hogging-down; saving fallen grain, green feed and missed corn; reducing labor costs, etc.

Successful farmers say the feed wasted on the average farm, if saved will pay the fencing bill in from one to three years. We say RED BRAND FENCE will pay for itself quickly and give more years of extra profit at no expense to you.

Copper content wires resist rust. "Galvannealed" zinc coating insures longer wear. RED BRAND FENCE costs less because it lasts longer. Ask us for prices before you buy any kind of fence.

he must take pride in his work, and have enthusiasm for it. For this reason showing his stock at exhibitions appeals to him.

Present day farmers who do the job right know how to keep accounts on their various farm enterprises, and understand marketing . . . . . a vocation in itself. In fact, Mr. Cushing thought the farmer must be trained in every phase of his work, in order to make a success of it. So also must his wife, for nowhere is there a chance for more real cooperation, the speaker thought.

A string trio composed of Edwin Clements, Orville Sowl and Horace Travis, accompanied by Mrs. Sowl at the piano, were well received, playing "I Love A Cottage," "Indian Love Song", and "I Love A Lassie."

Next came a surprise feature, and one of the most clever of the evening, in the form of an original verse by each of the new teachers, introducing himself.

I come from the east where corn grows high,
And on milk cows and chickens and hogs rely;
I would teach all my students to do just the same:
They call me Kavanda, a good Irish name.

Lincoln is the home, sweet home
from whence I did roam,
My name's Lucene Hardin, I'm teaching Home Ec—
My girls canned peaches and liked it, by heck!

I am Corinne Macprang by name,
From the city of Lincoln I came,
From teaching related science and art
I hope my pupils will gain
Great knowledge and skill
And some day a home will attain.

My name is Beulah Edwina Pullen
I'm from the town that always has something a doin';
Ord, Nebraska is the name.
For my teaching I have no fame
Is I belong to the rank of beginners.
My aim is to make little Latins and Spaniards
From out the ranks of the Ord high school.

Ruth Ebersole is my name,
I come from a town, Superior by name.
In the senior high school I teach math
And I'm glad to belong to Ord's teaching staff.

My name, well it's Shaver,
And I'm from a "Jewell" of a town down in Kansas.
I come from a school that is famous for preachers,
But I thought I was best fitted to train country teachers.

Helen Eby is my name
I'm in the junior high
There are more'n a hundred pupils
No two of them the same.
English classes—4 a day;
History is never a drag—
The pupils have just informed me
"Pilgrims came on the Maytag!"

The meeting closed with a social hour and refreshments. Committees announced for the following year were as follows: Program: Mrs. L. D. Milliken chairman, Mrs. George Parkins and Mrs. Williamson. Social. Mrs. C. C. Dale chairman, Mrs. Glen Auble and Miss Clement. Music: Mrs. McGrew chairman, Miss Rouse and Glen Auble. Mrs. Beeghly is chairman of the refreshment committee and will choose her committee for each meeting. Rev. Williamson is chairman of the membership committee, Mrs. Vern Stark and Mrs. Tunnicliff his committee members.

ELYRIA NEWS

By MRS. WILL DODGE.

Virginia Carkoski sprained one of her ankles badly Friday evening when she fell into a seven foot deep cave. She is slowly recovering but it will be several days before she will be able to attend school again.

We had a light frost here Thursday night, being the first of the season.

—Father Kalaska and Rose Gross went to Chicago via auto last week, where they will visit friends and relatives for a few weeks. Father Murray of Burwell conducted the services at the Catholic church Sunday morning.

Frank Zulkoski, jr., and John B. Zulkoski motored to Grand Island Thursday returning the same day.

Jorgen Sorensen made a business trip to North Loup Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cohen of Loup City spent Sunday here visiting relatives.

Mrs. Harold Kemble of Lincoln was an incoming passenger Thursday evening and will visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. Germain Hoyt. Mrs. Kemble's children have been visiting their grandparents here for a week and were very glad to see their mother.

Mrs. Pugh of Marquette was an incoming passenger Sunday evening and will visit for a few days with her daughter, Mrs. O. W. Kemble.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ptacnik and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Turek and families of near Ord were Sunday visitors in the Frank Petska home.

Barbara Ciemny went to Burwell Saturday afternoon, where she spent Sunday with home folks.

Leon Ciemny spent from Thursday until Friday hunting on the Cedar. He was accompanied by Chas. Ciemny and they reported ed plenty of good hunting.

Fishermen here have been having much sport the past week fishing for pike, which seem to be quite plentiful at the present in the Loup. Mr. Powell landed three Saturday making a total weight of five pounds and on Tuesday he caught the same number again and they weighed the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piskorski and family of Ord were Sunday visitors in the Albert Bialy home.

Anton Ciemny and Frank Petska motored to Spaulding Monday returning the same day.

Helen Ciemny spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. W. B. Hoyt.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Weaver and children of Lincoln are here visiting the B. A. Fiala family and their many friends. Mrs. Weaver was formerly Bernice Tully. The Weavers lived here a few years ago and this is Mr. Weaver's first visit since moving away.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson and son and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Johnson from North of Burwell were Sunday visitors in the John Schuyler home.

Early Sunday morning a party of hunters consisting of Jack Dodge, Bernard Hoyt, Dave Palmer and Will Dodge got into their cars and went to Horse Shoe Bend on the Calamus river, expecting a lot of good shooting, thinking there would be very few hunters that far up but found they were more numerous there than here at home on the Loup. However, they reported a very good time fishing and also getting a few ducks.

They spent one night there and had much difficulty getting any sleep on account of the mosquitoes. Bernard Hoyt says the mosquitoes up there grow so large they climb up a tree and bark and we would almost believe it from the bumps they left on him.

On returning Monday evening Jorgen Sorensen and Dave Palmer put on a stag party for the rest of the hunting party, serving the fish caught on their trip. They all reported a good feed and time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Papiernik and family were Sunday visitors at the Pete Bartusiak home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blaha of Ord spent Sunday here with Mrs. Blaha's mother, Mrs. Flakus.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Horton entertained a number of their Ord friends and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Holub.

Many from here are attending Pop Corn Days celebration at North Loup. Wednesday afternoon the schools closed so the teachers and pupils might attend. The high school teacher, Miss Lucille Green and her pupils all went down in a large truck. Many of the pupils from the lower room also attended with their parents. The schools have some exhibits there this year.

Mrs. G. L. Hoyt and Mrs. W. B. Hoyt entertained the members of the Pleasant Hour club Wednesday. The day being changed from Thursday on account of the leaders going to Ord to take the project work Thursday.

ub Sunday evening.
