THE ORD QUIZ, ORD, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 7, 1932.

VOL. 50 NO. 42

PROF. TOENNEGES OUT, WILL LEAVE TO TRY NEW JOB

Ord Band Leader To Open Radio Shop In Iowa; Has Taken Course By Mail.

Disappointed and disgruntled because the financial returns incident to band and orchestra instruction in Ord are so meagre and show signs of becoming even more so in 1932, Professor Theodore Toenneges has resigned his position here and this week will shake the dust of Ord from his feet. He will move to Oskaloosa, Ia., where he will open a radio store, Prof. Toenneges tells the Quiz.

"The music game is shot," Toenneges stated bitterly when interviewed Saturday. Radio and hard times, together, have cut a big swath in what was once a lucrative business, he says.

Prof. Toenneges was imported from Detroit, Mich., to lead the Ord band and teach music to youngsters of this community. He came here about eighteen months ago and has been successful as a bandmaster.

Numerous young people have been getting individual instruction from him. He has been teaching a grade school band and a high school band and last summer led the town band in concerts given every Wednesday night.

A goodly share of the money to pay his salary of $125 per month was to come from a subscription raised by Ord business men, part of it was to come from the Ord schools and part from the band fund raised by city levy.

The way the matter has worked out, the professor has drawn down $65 from the subscription fund, $25 from the schools and the balance from the band fund each month. But as months have gone by donors have dropped out of the subscription fund and Prof. Toenneges has had to take that portion of his monthly stipend that was available.

In November and December this was about $100 monthly.

"I'd never have anything to do with a subscription proposition again," Professor Toenneges tells the Quiz. He seems to be a little soured on music in general and says he believes radio and television is a much better business. He has been taking a correspondence school course in radio and will open a radio shop in Oskaloosa, Ia., he says. If this doesn't pay he probably will start angling for a position with some broadcasting station for which his musical ability and technical knowledge of radio would seem to fit him remarkably well.

Glen Auble, R. J. Stoltz, Dr. F. L. Blessing and Dr. F. A. Baria compose the Chamber of Commerce committee having music promotion in hand and they, as well as Prof. Toenneges, seem to be soured on the subscription proposition. In fact, Mr. Auble told the Quiz Saturday that he, for one, would have nothing to do with hiring another leader on such a basis in future.

Until this fall Prof. Toenneges did good work, these men say, but his interest and his efforts have slackened lately so it was concluded that for the best interests of all concerned it would be wiser to dispense with music promotion for a time.

Baby Daughter Burned.

The eighteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Johnson was badly burned Saturday when she tipped over a tea pot and spilled the boiling fluid over her face and body. Dr. F. A. Baria was called and reports the baby recovering.

M. V. Club Will Meet.

First meeting of the Mira Valley community club will be held at the Valleyside school house Thursday, Jan. 7th at 8 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Rainfall 5 1/2 Inches Below Forty Year Average

Ord's moisture total for 1931 finally amounted to just 16.07 inches, which is more than 5 1/2 inches below the forty year average, reports Horace Travis, government weather recorder, this week. Not only was the 1931 total much below the average but it is also only about half of the moisture total of 1930, he says. Ord's 49 year moisture average is 31.72 inches but 1930 was an unusually wet year and 32 inches of rain fell here.

January, with only .31 inches, was the driest month of 1931 and July, with 2.59 inches, was the heaviest. September and October, with only 2.25 inches of rain falling in the two months, were three inches short of the average rainfall for the same period and accounted for most of the year's deficiency. Though light spring rains are a share also.

Dr. Blessing Defends Successfully Damage Suit Filed By Orville Sowl

Irl Tolen Again Seeks State Job

Irl D. Tolen, well known Ord democrat, said Monday in Lincoln that he will enter the April primary as a candidate for the democratic nomination for state railway commissioner. Mr. Tolen has sought the nomination twice previously, both times being defeated by E. A. Walrath, of Osceola, who is now serving as chief clerk of the supply department, House of Representatives, at Washington. Mr. Tolen is vice president of the state fair board and has been in Lincoln this week attending the organized agriculture meeting.

Mrs. A. K. Johnson Is Interred Here

Woman Whose Girlhood Days Were Spent In Ord Comes Home to Rest; Mother, 4 Brothers Here.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. last Thursday at Sowl's chapel here for Mrs. A. K. Johnson, who passed away at Mullen, Neb., on December 27 from the effects of an attack of apoplexy. Rev. W. H. Wright had charge of the services and a quartet composed of Mrs. Bert M. Hardenbrook, Robert Noll, J. R. Stoltz and Glen Auble sang. Burial was made in Ord cemetery, where Mrs. Johnson's father and three brothers also are laid to rest.

Mrs. Johnson was born in Cedar Bluffs, Neb., Oct. 21, 1879 and moved with her parents to Ord in 1882. Her girlhood days were spent here and she was married at St. Paul on June 31, 1909 to A. K. Johnson. Mr. Johnson has five children were born, one passing on in infancy. Two sons and two daughters survive her, Lavern C., Elwin E., Lucille B. and Evelyn L. Johnson, all of Mullen.

Immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Johnson moved to south Cherry county and there the rest of Mrs. Johnson's life was spent, though she often visited here with her mother, Mrs. Chris Hansen and her four brothers, Henry, Carl, William and Lew, all of whom are still residents of Ord and vicinity.

In early youth Mrs. Johnson confessed faith in Christ and united with the Methodist church at Vin-ton, in Valley county and she remained true to this faith throughout her life.

Chevrolet Sales Up, Says Vice President

All Chevrolet sales records for December were broken in 1931 when the estimated output of 37,500 cars was surpassed by a substantial margin, said Harry Klingler, vice president of the company, addressing a meeting of dealers held last week in Detroit. In spite of the supposed depression, dealers sold more Chevrolets in December, 1931, than they did in the same month in the peak years, he reported.

A check-up of registrations led Klingler to declare that Chevrolet will finish the year with only 5.6 less sales than in 1930. The general loss in Chevrolet's price class is between 28 and 30 percent, he said.

A definition for the present depression was given by another Chevrolet executive, Mr. Kettering, when he said it is "doing without the things that our fathers and mothers never had."

All Chevrolet officials expressed optimism at the general outlook for 1932.

VALLEY COUNTY DIVORCES SHOW RAPID INCREASE

Marital Disagreements Double in 1931; Cupid Holds Own In Permits To Wed.

One divorce to every 5 1/2 marriages is the record compiled in Valley county in 1931, reveal figures made public this week by Alfred Weigardt, clerk of the district court, and J. H. Hollingshead, county judge. In 1930 the record was 11 marriages to one divorce, so evidently marital disagreements are on the increase unless 1931 was an abnormal year.

Ten divorces were granted in district court here during the past year, and this is just double the number granted in 1930.

Intemperance was the direct cause in seven of the ten divorces granted in Valley county in 1931. There were other causes, too, but in seven out of ten John Barleycorn was the primary cause.

Fifty-five marriage licenses were issued by his office, County Judge Hollingshead's records show. In 1930 the number issued was 54, so Cupid evidently got around to one more home in 1931 than during the year before.

This year is Leap Year so possibly the balance between marriages and divorces will be restored. There are lots of eligible bachelors, young and old, in Valley county so screw up your courage, girls.

Hearing Is Held In Bartlett Divorce

In district court at Lincoln Saturday a special appearance hearing was held in the divorce case in which Mrs. Margaret Cole Bartlett is suing her husband, Dan C. Bartlett, editor of The Arcadian. Clarence M. Davis, attorney for Mrs. Bartlett, challenged the jurisdiction of the Lincoln court, alleging that Mrs. Bartlett had not established residence there before filing her suit. The judge took Mrs. Bartlett's question under advisement and so far has not rendered a decision.

Old Year Goes Out on Wings Of Heavy Winds, Snow Storm

Auto Traffic Hampered, B & M Stopped, By Storm That Began Wednesday, Lasted 48 Hours.

SEVERE SNOW STORM TUESDAY GOES EAST OF ORD. Eastern and southern Nebraska were in the grip of a severe snow storm Tuesday afternoon but it missed Ord completely, not a flake of snow falling here. Main line trains were far behind schedule and the Burlington Tuesday evening could not reach Ord because of deep drifts near Palmer. The snow plow was sent out by the Union Pacific to clear away drifts between Grand Island and St. Paul and the Tuesday evening motor reached here 1 1/2 hours late. Highway traffic south and east of Ord was paralyzed by the storm Tuesday, radio reports say.

On the wings of strong north-west winds and a driving snow storm 1931 made its exit and 1932 its entry Thursday night. The storm, which started late Wednesday afternoon and lasted almost 48 hours, was the most severe this portion of Nebraska has experienced in more than two years. Automobile travel was halted on the east-bound Burlington train stopped, and telephone and telegraph service hampered to some extent during the progress of the storm.

Mail carriers in the Ord office were stopped by drifting snow Thursday and not one completed his round that day. Service was resumed Saturday, after the new year's day holiday, and carriers succeeding in reaching all of their boxes.

Burlington trains were on time Wednesday and Thursday but Friday morning the passenger remained at Burwell pending the arrival of a snow plow which failed to reach Ord until late that evening. The rails were cleared of snow and the Burlington went down on time Thursday and not one completed his round that day. Service was resumed Saturday, after the new year's day holiday, and carriers succeeding in reaching all of their boxes.

Liquor offenders paid $804 in fines and laid out in jail fines totaling $824. Friends of the east-bound Burlington train stopped, and telephone and telegraph service hampered to some extent during the progress of the storm.

Travel by auto was practically stopped for 24 hours, even the graveled highways being in bad condition. Side roads were impassable in many places.

The temperature remained above normal until after the storm broke descended rapidly in the night Friday and Saturday morning 6 degrees above zero was the temperature reported in Ord. About 7 inches of snow fell here.

30 Liquor Cases Here During 1931

Thirty liquor cases occupied the attention of Valley county officers during 1931, a report made public by County Attorney George Munn reveals this week. This is "about the usual number," Mr. Munn says. Liquor offenders paid $804 in fines and laid out in jail fines totaling $824. Friends of the east-bound Burlington train stopped, and telephone and telegraph service hampered to some extent during the progress of the storm.

Largest fine assessed during the year was $500 against Joseph Kaller for possession of a still. Kaller later outbroke the storm by bringing the "laid-out" total up considerably.

The arrest of Grover Alexander, famous baseball pitcher, on Feb. 7, 1931, and his subsequent fine of $100 created the most interest of any case during the year, though Jerry Jablonski's prosecution for possession and driving while intoxicated early in 1931 also caused much comment.

One liquor case is still pending, Orville Patchen's appeal from a $100 fine imposed in county court for intoxication.

Snow Storm Halts Princess Players At Central City

There were many disappointed people in Ord and vicinity last Thursday evening because the Princess Players, who were scheduled to give two performances at the Ord Theatre that night, were held up in Central City by the snow storm and could not get to Ord. The evening show and the midnight frolic advertised by Manager Jack Hoogenboom had to be called off because of their failure to arrive. All roads were blocked by drifting snow that night, so the incident was unavoidable. The Ord Theatre management regrets having to disappoint patrons, however.

What's New in the New Chevrolet Six

When you read what's new in the new Chevrolet Six, you, too, will agree it's the Great American Value for 1932: Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling combined for the first time in a low-priced car! Engine and chassis improvements that raise performance to new heights of power, speed and smoothness! The finest Fisher bodies Chevrolet has ever introduced. And the same qualities of reliability and economy that have won the approval of millions of Chevrolet owners. All these you will find in the new Chevrolet Six at one of the lowest prices in the market! That's why the new Chevrolet Six is called the Great American Value for 1932.

Syncro-Mesh Transmission
This well-known feature of high-priced cars brings new handling ease and car control to the low-price field. Syncro-Mesh permits you to shift gears with marvelous quickness, quietness and ease. As a safety factor, it is especially valuable. For it enables you to shift rapidly from high back into second, any time you want to use the engine as a brake.

A Smoother, Improved Six-Cylinder Engine
New thrills await you in the Chevrolet Six—new power, pick-up, smoothness and speed. For Chevrolet's valve-in-head engine now has down-draft carburetion, a new cylinder head, new manifold, a counter-balanced crankshaft and rubber-mounting, features that increase power 20 per cent to 60 horsepower.

Simplified Free Wheeling
Chevrolet Free Wheeling is a new and advanced type, extremely simple in construction. You may take advantage of its thrills by simply pressing a button on the dash. Until you pull the button out again, you are "in" Free Wheeling. You coast along on momentum, when your foot is off the accelerator. And you shift with magical ease.

65 to 70 Miles an Hour and Faster Acceleration
New features in Chevrolet's six-cylinder engine enable it to develop 65 to 70 miles an hour and give it a stop-watch acceleration from 0 to 35 miles in 6.7 seconds.

Distinctive New Front-End Appearance
A new chromium-plated radiator, built-in radiator grille, double tie-bar, trumpet-type horn, and bullet-type headlamps form a striking front-end ensemble.

Stabilized Front-End Mounting
A new method of mounting front fenders, lamps, double tie-bar and radiator to the frame—exclusive to Chevrolet—gives a fine feeling of steadiness on rough roads.

Smart New Fisher Bodies
The new Fisher bodies are the smartest ever to appear in the low-price field. Their famous wood-and-steel construction is even stronger and quieter. All occupants enjoy greater vision.

Down-Draft Carburetion
The down-draft carburetor is a big factor in Chevrolet's finer performance. An intake silencer and heat control device are combined with it for greater quietness and efficiency at all speeds.

Finger-Touch Front Seat
An interesting convenience in the Fisher Bodies is the new adjustable front seat. A touch on a lever enables you to move the seat to any position. This is exclusive to Chevrolet in its field.

And the following Chevrolet features that have won the approval of millions of owners: Powerful Four-Wheel Brakes . . . Hydraulic Shock Absorbers . . . Semi-Elliptic Springs . . . Full Length Frame . . . Insulated Driver's Compartment

Nebraska's "Miss Agriculture" Has a Husky Brother.

That demure Nebraska maiden of many moods whom we call Miss Agriculture has a younger brother who is attracting considerable attention by his size and speed. His name is Man U. Facturing. And there is some justification for the belief that the kid brother may overtake his sister and be the star of the team.

Miss Agriculture in 1929, according to the census bureau figures, inventoried her assets at $486,000,000. At the same time her kid brother counted the value of manufactured products at $484,262,511.

Nebraska, it is discovered, has a great variety of manufactured products. Some of the best known are meat products packed at South Omaha and other points, sugar from sugar beets, vegetables and fruits, Portland cement, flour, macaroni, butter, ice cream and cheese. But over the state are scattered a number of factories making products not generally known.

Blair has a horse collar factory. Wooden soled shoes are made at Columbus. A Crete concern makes collapsible booths for voting purposes, also ballot boxes. At Exeter is an indexing factory that makes many kinds of devices for indexing books. Seward has a large plant that manufactures cross arms for telephone poles. A number of automobile accessories and farming implements are made at Hastings. O'Neill has a chair factory. When you bring home a potted plant from the greenhouse, ten to one the pot was made in Louisville. Hollywood "snow" used in movie scenes is a Nebraska product.

Shot at Omaha, Omaha has the largest refinery of petroleum.

Christian Science.

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, January 10, is, "Sacrament."

The Golden Text is from Revelation 7:13, 14, and reads: "What are these that are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they? . . . These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

A citation from the Bible reads "Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience, and our bodies washed with pure water." Hebrews 10:22.

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "If all who ever partook of the Sacrament had really commemorated the sufferings of Jesus and drunk of his cup, they would have revolutionized the world. If all who seek his commemoration through material symbols will take up the cross, heal the sick, cast out evils, and preach Christ, or Truth, to the poor—the receptive thought—they will bring in the millennium."—(page 34).

A loving invitation is extended to everyone to attend our service next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and our Wednesday evening meeting, Jan. 13, at 8 o'clock at 312 So. 16th street.

St. Paul Meets Ord High Cagers

The first basketball game of the season played in Ord will occupy the Ord gymnasium tomorrow night when Coach Molzen's cagers engage the fast St. Paul team. Fans who want to see just what Ord's prospects are this year will be out to get an eye-full of this encounter.

From the way the Red and White trimmed Taylor a couple of weeks ago, prospects for Ord look mighty good. The score of that clash was 2 to 1 and Coach Molzen could have run the score up much higher had he kept his first team in the game. He used his full squad of eleven men, however, and they clicked like nobody's business.

They will face a more severe test against St. Paul, though, and if the locals come through with a win a Loup Valley championship will not be out of reach.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Two questions on feeding may come up at this time of year. One deals with the wisdom of substituting other grains for corn. Another asks if grain or roughage is cheaper when the feed must be bought. In answer to the first problem, feed experts have written a table of values. If corn is worth 40c, other feeds are economical substitutes at or below the following prices: wheat 44c, rye 39c, barley 35c, and oats 19c. Grain prices are now nearly in line with this data and no great saving can be made by replacing one grain with another. Oats is selling for 18c in parts of the state that have it, and is the cheapest feed there.

The idea in feeding most livestock now is to get them through the winter as cheaply as possible. This is generally done with roughages. But there is an unusual shortage of roughage in Nebraska this winter. There is also the knowledge that animals can be sustained thru cold weather on a little grain and very little roughage more easily than they can be wintered on a limited amount of roughage alone.

Here is a comparison of three feeds common to this vicinity, namely, corn, oats, and alfalfa. Corn selling locally at 42 cents costs 3-4 cents a pound; oats priced at 26 cents is worth 4-5 cents a pound; alfalfa at 10 dollars comes to 1-2 a cent a pound. At Kansas City, however, alfalfa has risen as high as 18 dollars a ton.

The nutrients which animals actually digest from one hundred pounds of any feed are of most importance. The amounts actually used from a hundred pounds of each of the above mentioned feeds are given in the table below.

Protein Carbohy. Fat
Corn 7.5 lbs. 68 lbs. 4.6 lbs.
Oats 9.7 lbs. 52 lbs. 3.8 lbs.
Alfalfa 10.6 lbs. 39 lbs. 0.9 lbs.
Alfalfa is shown to be cheaper as a source of protein, but costlier for the other ingredients at present feed prices. Carbohydrates and fats are especially important to the animal in cold weather, as they produce warmth and energy. Proteins are needed most by growing and pregnant animals.

Since a pound of grain will go farther in nourishing livestock than a pound of hay, and since the spread in price between the two is less than usual this season, it would seem advisable to buy at least part grain for wintering purposes. Especially of the hay were the method for making it to short the buy-

Haskell Creek

The Young People's Sunday school class met at Nelson's Tuesday evening with George Knecht and his group entertained the victors in the December attendance contest, headed by Fred Nielsen. In spite of the rainy weather nearly the whole class was present and all reported a fine time. Lyle McBeth, mail carrier for Route 4, had some hard luck Thursday. He had gotten as far as Ernie Hill's when he decided he would go no farther because of the storm and went around by the Burwell highway to avoid some of the worst hills. From then on he found the roads blocked by the snow and his car lodged in a snowbank near Charles Marshall's. It was then late in the day and George Anderson and Dutch Blessing came out and took him back to Ord. He returned for his car Friday. There have been very few days that Mr. McBeth has not delivered the mail and people along Route 4 appreciate his regularity.

There were twenty-five in Sunday School Sunday morning. There will be no preaching services next Sunday. Hazel Rallsback returned Saturday from Yuma, Colo. where she had been spending Christmas vacation. School started at Haskell Creek again on Monday. Mrs. Will Nelson has a Christmas cactus which, true to its name, has been blooming during the holiday week. The New Year's party planned by the Happy Circle club for Thursday evening failed to materialize when the snow continued coming down all day Thursday.

A number of Haskell Creek's young folks spent Sunday afternoon sleigh riding although the snow was a little loose for perfect sliding. A ride in a hayrack was also a feature of the day's fun. Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson and Elsie were at Harold Nelson's Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Slyke were dinner guests at Walter Jorgensen's Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Collison and sons visited there. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jorgensen and Ruth were at N. C. Christensen's Sunday. Ellen Fred and Henry Nielsen and Duane Woods called at Howerton's Saturday evening. Lela Guggenmos is staying at Chris Nielsen's while the roads are too bad to drive to school. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Collison were dinner guests at Henry Jorgensen's. Ilda, Roy and Jess Howerton were at Leonard Woods Sunday. The two latest victims of the flu are Leonard Woods and Chris Nielsen. Dr. C. S. Shepard called to see Mr. Nielsen Sunday evening and was feeling some improved Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis and family called at C. O. Philbrick's Thursday evening. Ilda, Roy and Jess Howerton spent New Year's day at Will Nelson's. Theodore Knecht visited with his sister, Hazel, at Mrs. Werber's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson and family were at Henry Jorgensen's Saturday evening. The young folks of the Davis family were at Ben Philbrick's Sunday.

Gene, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Swanson was quite sick several days this week but is somewhat better at this writing. Floyd Chaffield had the misfortune to have his car break down while returning from the Jason Abernethy place Monday. It just happened that his brother Lee, who has been visiting here since Christmas, came along so he pulled Floyd's car to Ord where it was repaired. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bebee and two daughters, Frieda and Opal called at Andrew Swanson's Wednesday. The mail carriers on both the Burwell and Ericson routes were unable to deliver the mail out here Thursday on account of the roads being drifted with so much snow. Mrs. Will Patrick of near Ericson has been visiting the past week at the Andrew Swanson home. The 27 line was crossed a few days with several other lines and it was impossible to get to Ord. It has been fixed but is still quite badly crossed. John Anderson of Burwell started picking corn for Johnnie Rysavy Monday but had to quit on account of bad weather. They both then came over to the latter's parents and stayed there for the rest of the week. Charlie Flakus who is employed near Loup City has been spending the week visiting at the home of Bessie Rysavy. Mildred Hurlbert spent several days of this week visiting at the Joe Puncochar home in Ord. Mr. Abbott and Clair Bebee took the latter's daughter, Frieda to Ord Thursday afternoon. They did quite a bit of scooping snow before they reached Ord. They all stayed over night at Dr. McGinnis' and Friday morning, Frieda took the train to Sidney where she teaches school. A crew of twelve or more men from this vicinity scooped out the snow drifts on the Burwell-Ericson highway Saturday. Four of them worked Friday on it. On Sunday a tractor from Burwell came out and scraped the snow off. They only got as far as the Rosevale school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Glarborg and family were Sunday afternoon callers at Theodore Nelson's. Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and two sons, Gene and Harold, were Sunday dinner guests at Andrew Swanson's. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hurlbert and son, Duane visited Sunday afternoon at Orville Hurlbert's. Mrs. Will Nelson has a Christmas cactus which, true to its name, has been blooming during the holiday week. VanHorn spent Tuesday at the George Maxson home where the Round Robin club met. Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Weed, Thelma and Kenneth attended a big family New Years dinner at the Andy Townsend home. Mrs. Orville Thrasher of Green River, Wyo., and Mrs. Dewey Eystone and sons of Waco, Neb., were among the guests. In the afternoon a big fat robin was seen hopping around in an evergreen tree in the yard. This seemed rather unusual, there being a heavy blanket of snow on everything and the temperature quite low. Keith Weed returned from a week's visit with his sister, Mrs. Ted Meyer, Saturday night. The Arch Negley family spent Friday evening at the A. A. Frazer home. Artella Burrows was in Ord Saturday afternoon, and evening. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Mulligan and Darlene spent New Years day at the L. C. Mulligan home. In the evening the L. C. Mulligan family visited at the R. H. Peterson home. They spent the evening playing cards.

Thelma Weed went home with the Dewey Eystone family of Waco, Sunday and will make a visit with them. The Will Eglehoff family were Ord visitors Saturday afternoon. T. S. Weed's were also there. Card of Thanks. We take this means of extending our sincere gratitude to friends for their kindness in connection with the funeral of our beloved mother. A. K. Johnson and family.

"My Sin," which stars the electrifying Tallulah Bankhead and the screen's most brilliant young actor, Frederic March, should please movie goers Sunday and Monday. Miss Bankhead who was a London sensation before she came to pictures here, wears some stunning new gowns and women will be interested in the new hair cut she affects. The story starts in a dingy Panama waterfront dive, where Tallulah is a hostess-entertainer and March a human derelict. It is the story of a woman's regeneration and tells, too, the story of a man who, by saving a woman, saves himself. Here's a new type of picture for Charles "Buddy" Rogers but his fans will like "Road to Reno" even better than "Wings" and Rogers' other great starring vehicles. He is given a fine cast in Lilyan Tashman, Peggy Shannon, William Boyd, Irving Pichel and Skeets Gallagher. Spectacular, screaming funny, this talkie has everything. Its here Friday and Saturday.

A hit of next week will be "Rebound" which stars Ina Claire. Other hits that are coming to the Ord Theatre soon include "The Gay Buckaroo," with Hoot Gibson, and "Ruth Chatterton in 'Once a Lady.'" And don't forget that the Princess Players are here tonight and every Thursday night with a stage play and vaudeville. Thursday nights are amateur nights, too. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nebraska State Bank will be held in its banking room on Friday, January 15, 1932 at 2 p. m. for the purpose of electing officers and transacting any other business coming before the meeting. 41-3t C. J. Mortensen, Vice Pres.

Mr. and Mrs. George Glarborg and family were Sunday afternoon callers at Theodore Nelson's. Mr. and Mrs. Swanson and two sons, Gene and Harold, were Sunday dinner guests at Andrew Swanson's. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hurlbert and son, Duane visited Sunday afternoon at Orville Hurlbert's. Mrs. Will Nelson has a Christmas cactus which, true to its name, has been blooming during the holiday week. The New Year's party planned by the Happy Circle club for Thursday evening failed to materialize when the snow continued coming down all day Thursday. A number of Haskell Creek's young folks spent Sunday afternoon sleigh riding although the snow was a little loose for perfect sliding. A ride in a hayrack was also a feature of the day's fun. Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson and Elsie were at Harold Nelson's Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Slyke were dinner guests at Walter Jorgensen's Sunday. In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Collison and sons visited there. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jorgensen and Ruth were at N. C. Christensen's Sunday. Ellen Fred and Henry Nielsen and Duane Woods called at Howerton's Saturday evening. Lela Guggenmos is staying at Chris Nielsen's while the roads are too bad to drive to school. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Collison were dinner guests at Henry Jorgensen's. Ilda, Roy and Jess Howerton were at Leonard Woods Sunday. The two latest victims of the flu are Leonard Woods and Chris Nielsen. Dr. C. S. Shepard called to see Mr. Nielsen Sunday evening and was feeling some improved Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Davis and family called at C. O. Philbrick's Thursday evening. Ilda, Roy and Jess Howerton spent New Year's day at Will Nelson's. Theodore Knecht visited with his sister, Hazel, at Mrs. Werber's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson and family were at Henry Jorgensen's Saturday evening. The young folks of the Davis family were at Ben Philbrick's Sunday.

At The Talkies
People who enjoyed "Skippy" in the movies will love "Soaky," which comes to the Ord Theatre Sunday afternoon. "Soaky" is one of the finest shows you'll see here, and it is being shown in Ord this winter. As you know, Robert Coogan is a brother of Jackie Coogan, who attained fame some years ago. Robert bids fair to surpass his elder brother in pictures. "My Sin," which stars the electrifying Tallulah Bankhead and the screen's most brilliant young actor, Frederic March, should please movie goers Sunday and Monday. Miss Bankhead who was a London sensation before she came to pictures here, wears some stunning new gowns and women will be interested in the new hair cut she affects. OMAHA AT THE CROSSROADS.

Recent developments in Omaha prove that a crisis faces the metropolis of Nebraska; that the city stands now at a crossroads, undecided whether to drift on into the class of Chicago and other grand old cities and districts and immediate action win back to a place of law and order and decency. The decision is for Omaha to make, but we who buy from Omaha and sell our products to Omaha can help greatly in influencing the decision.

Crimes of violence have flourished in Omaha in recent months. Gene Livingston was killed, Charles Hutter was attacked, George Kubik and Harry Lapidus were murdered, Kubik's young son was killed, Bob Smith and Alvin General Sorenson have been warned that they will be "put on the spot" next.

An aroused citizenry in Omaha can clean up that city in a hurry but it probably will mean the exposure of men who now occupy positions of honor. Some heads must fall if the city is to be made safe, gangdom defeated and respect for law restored. Will Omaha make the right decision or must we who live outside organize a boycott that will force the city to do what it should do of its own accord? Out-state Nebraska will wait and see—but Omaha's action must not be long delayed.

THE STEADY LOUP.

During 1931 the North Loup river upheld its reputation of being the steadiest flowing in the United States, possibly in the world. The total amount of water passing the government gauging station at St. Paul in 1931 was 636,000 acre feet, compared to 725,000 in 1930 and 726,000 in 1929. The fluctuation was much less than that of the Middle Loup, which dropped from 991,000 in 1930 to 362,000 in 1931.

Nearly all rivers fluctuate sharply as rainfall decreases or increases in the sections through which they flow. But not the North Loup. It "just keeps rolling along," regardless of drought years.

The steadiness of the North Loup's flow means just exactly nothing at present but it could mean a lot. A hydro-electric plant could be built to furnish unlimited power for this entire part of Nebraska. The steady, unlimited flow of water would make irrigation a sure success. The success of well irrigation is assured by the steady North Loup, for the water table never will be lowered while the river continues to flow.

How long will we continue neglecting the great opportunity Mother Nature has given us?

UNCERTAIN BUSINESS.

As "Farmer-Reader," writing in the Quiz Forum last week, said, cattle feeding has always been uncertain business, a gamble, but possesses a lure for all who have ever engaged in it.

According to the Gresley Citizen, a rancher in Brown county knows just how uncertain the cattle feeding business is. He went to Omaha with a shipment of heavy steers, the price was low, and his commission man told him the demand was for light stuff. Back home he went, bought young cattle and the next year went to market with a load of finished yearlings. But the demand had changed and the high prices were paid for heavy cattle. The next year the rancher played safe and fed both light and heavy steers. And when he went to market he saw his cattle sell at a loss, he feared that the demand was for medium weights. The rancher was discouraged but he is still trying to outguess the market and make back his losses at cattle feeding.

Valley county feeders haven't had as much grief as this but few of them have made consistent money, feeding cattle. But they know that one year's gains may wipe out the losses of several years so they, too, are still trying.

Perhaps feeding is too much emphasized in Valley county, though we cannot subscribe in full to Farmer-Reader's plan. An Ord grain dealer told us a few months ago that at the time more cattle were on feed in a five mile radius in Mira Valley, he believed, than in any similar area in Nebraska. Perhaps Farmer-Reader is partly right and cattle feeding has raised corn prices too high in Ord. Most dairymen and poultrymen, however, raise their own grain so the price of corn affects them very little. And in normal crop years the difference in Ord and Chicago corn prices is not nearly so apparent as this year. Extensive cattle feeding surely has been a help to the purely grain farmer.

THE STATE INCOME TAX.

In his talk before the Valley County Farm Bureau last week the Hon. Mr. J. Cushing brought out some very pertinent facts about the state income tax law that was proposed in 1930 but defeated by the state legislature. It is too bad more of our farmers weren't at that meeting for we believe Mr. Cushing's talk would have converted them to the state income tax as a means of solving a lot of their ills.

A state income tax would not be a means of tax reduction, Mr. Cushing made plain, but it would act as a means of tax equalization. The total tax collected in Nebraska yearly would be as large, unless other means were found to reduce it, but the share paid by the farmer would be lowered, and the share paid by corporations, foreign-owned stores, "white collar" workers, and others, would be proportionately increased.

Our present real estate tax means that the farm owner must pay the same amount on his land each year, regardless of markets, his income or his capacity to pay. Even though he loses money on his hogs, his wheat, his cattle, he must continue paying $150 a year taxes, or whatever his land is assessed at, whether he can afford to pay or not. At the same time, a professional man who doesn't happen to own stock no longer goes off practically tax-free, even though his income is several times that of the farmer and even though he shares in the benefits of our state government to the same extent as does the farmer.

Representative Cushing knows what he is talking about when he discusses the income tax for he was one of the sponsors of the bill last winter and he has studied the question from A to Z. Next winter the income tax question will again be before the legislature. Let's make sure that Mr. Cushing is there to represent his district when this important question comes up.

THE MAN WHO STAYED TOO LONG.

"The man who stayed too long!" That is what Andrew W. Mellon is called in the newest expose of our nation's capitol, written by a group of White House newspaper correspondents who remain anonymous and thereby are enabled to write more frankly and more truthfully than has ever been possible before.

The man who stayed too long! Had Mellon refused Hoover's appointment as secretary of the treasury, had he retired after his two terms under Harding and Coolidge, Mr. Mellon would still be regarded as the greatest financial secretary since Alexander Hamilton. But he thought the boom that he, more than anyone else, had created would last forever. Now treasury surpluses have changed to deficits and Mr. Mellon, no longer considered a financial magician, is openly hooted by the House of Representatives that once spoke with bated breath when they mentioned his name.

But Mellon's long stay in Washington has paid handsome dividends to himself and his associates. Mr. Mellon owns a controlling interest in the Aluminum Company of America and he secured a 250 percent increase on aluminum duties by means of the Fordney-McCumber tariff. And there was the 26c per gallon decreased duty on linseed oil which the Tariff Commission succeeded in having knocked out because he owns two of the eight large linseed crushers in the country. Then there was the $300,000,000 profit he made from increased stock values of Gulf Oil negotiating the Aluminum Company, which he made by pool-pooling Federal Reserve Board warnings of disaster back in 1928 and '29. And there was the income tax refund of $400,000 that he paid himself in 1927, the largest refund ever allowed to any single individual. And he succeeded in having the income tax on large incomes cut from 40 percent to 20 percent, which added a few more millions to the Mellon pocketbook. Oh, yes, Mr. Mellon's stay in Washington has paid him handsome financial dividends.

"The depression can't be blamed on Mellon, anyway," a lot of readers will say, but it was he, more than any other man, who brought about the artificial prosperity that had to be deflated and thus did cause the depression.

He advocated and brought about reduction of income taxes in the higher brackets when he preached the doctrine that income tax reduction would mean more business and create more prosperity. It did, for the millions of dollars released by income tax reduction went into the stock market, building prices up higher and higher. The public was urged to buy the products being turned out in an ever-increasing flood by industry. They did, up to a certain point, but finally Mr. Mellon's plan of tax reduction had diverted most of the money from the pockets of the poor to industry and from industry to the stock markets. The saturation point was reached and then came the famous crash of 1929. Ever since we've been trying to recover from the effects of that crash.

Yes, Andrew has stayed in Washington too long. Too long for his own good, politically if not financially, and altogether too long for the good of the rest of us. It will take a deluge of votes to get Andrew out of Washington but the votes will surely be forthcoming at the next election.

FINLAND VOTES REPEAL.

Finnish voters went to the polls last week to vote on an important question—whether or not prohibition should be continued as the law of that land. Finland's prohibition law had been in effect for 17 years, even longer than our own, but it won't be in effect much longer for last week Finland's voters by a vote of almost 3 to 1, defeated the law. Finnish people will not be satisfied with even wine and beer for only a handful of voters wanted modification. By far the largest majority wanted outright repeal of the law.

TIME FOR HER TO TELL HIM WHERE TO GET OFF.

Just what effect Finland's refusal will have on the situation here is not known, of course, but it is freely predicted by American wets that a wet and dry referendum will be held here soon and that our national prohibition law will be voted out just as was done in Finland. The most surprising development in the Finnish vote was the action of women voters. Sixty percent of them voted wet, when dries had counted on the female vote to keep the law in effect. Even should the 18th amendment be repealed or modified in the United States it will have little effect in Nebraska for our own state prohibition law will keep this state as home as it has been for the past thirteen years.

BRICK BATS

We've sent an awful lot of birds to Washington, D. C. because they used hypnotic words and promised bird seed free. They've sworn they'll guard our vast domain, our interests and our kale. They said they'd save the price of grain and send all crooks to jail. We give them kopecks by the ton to help them keep their word, but when elections have been won, we find it is absurd for us to hope for better days, and here's the reason why, they are transformed to mighty jays, with heads that bump the sky. For some, swell up like poisoned pups, forgetting folks back home. They drink from silver plated cups, and throughout Europe roam. To let the world know who they are; to prove that they are sportsmen, they've thrown our money near and far, in sundry foreign ports. And now that they have thrown it all, and have no more to throw, us saps back home can hit the ball and dig up extra dough. The cash we need is overseas and they'll remain, as long as birds with rubber knees are sent back east to reign.—Brick Smith.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. L. D. O. P. and Miss Lulu Bailey started their new year with a trip to Texas, where they planned to enjoy several weeks of warm weather. Clarence was left in full charge of the big department store conducted by L. D. Bailey & Sons. F. Colby disposed of his residence property and lots to Mrs. Shinn and planned to go to the mountains for a year or two. John Rockhold went to Omaha to take a course in pharmacy. Most important New Year's business change in Ord was the reuniting of the old firm of McLain & Sifer. Miss Sarah McLain had retired from the partnership during the summer before.

20 Years Ago This Week. Husbands of Loyal Kensington club members were invited to the J. H. Capron home for a New Year's day dinner served by their wives and a fine time was enjoyed. W. D. McCrea quit his milk route because of the high cost of grain and hay and because his customers wouldn't stand for an increase in the price of milk. Oscar Travlin and Frank Nay went to Lincoln to resume their studies at the state university. Ralph W. Harmon and Sylvia Baker were married on New Year's day and that evening were given a big reception at the Bert Dye home in Garfield county.

—Miss Clara King left Friday for her school work in East Chicago, Ind. She had enjoyed ten days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will King.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Perhaps no one read what I said in this column last week about the recipe calendars. But something like 500 of the calendars went out Saturday and many ladies stopped to say they were very nice. Now if they remember to send in some of their good recipes we will have material to keep the cooking column going and material to select from to make next year's calendar.

Well, anyhow, we have plenty of snow now and it means a lot of moisture in the ground for unless it gets a lot colder the ground won't freeze very much and the soil will get a good wetting as the snow melts. I believe in having winter when it is time for winter and a good, snug two months of winter with liberal amount of zero will help them will do a lot to insure a good crop next year.

They seem to be having a lot of "unusual" weather in California this winter. The papers tell about heavy rains, snow, frost and near freezing weather. I wonder if it is all propaganda in preparation for a raise in the price of oranges.

"As the days begin to lengthen the cold begins to strengthen and an old old saying and it looks like it may come true this year. It is time to send for the 1932 seed catalogues and begin making plans for the best garden ever. Which reminds me that we are working on Bob's 1932 seed catalogue. You want to be sure and get one. It is going to be an improvement over the one he issued last year and it was not so bad. Probably as the years pass Bob will get out a bigger and better one each year.

I think that Oliver Colliason is going to have something to say this week, in the advertising pages, about the Ord Mill and some of its products. If not this week, soon and Oliver is proving a live wire in the manufacture of flour and in the manufacturing industry. Watch his announcements during the coming weeks.

Perhaps I will get in bad with George Allen for the above for the manufacture of electric energy is a pretty big thing too and the manufacture of Loup river water into a very satisfactory beverage is another big job. That, however, is not a private enterprise so I may be able to get by with George. J. F. Colby figured out some way to keep the city water cool when the hot days of next summer come.

A few weeks ago I saw Charley Slicher spading his garden and in the management of Ord's biggest fish worms and depositing them in a can. Then last week one day I saw him tying the fishpole on his car and was told he was going to fish in the river or a nearby creek. Yes, he caught some fish too but I think he has put the old fishing tackle away now for the balance of the winter.

Up in Minnesota the fishermen have great fun fishing through the ice and some good catches of crappies are reported. With the mercury around 30 below however, it is pretty cold work. Up there the state has banished the fish houses and spearing through the ice is not allowed and I am told that after January 1, 1932 there will be no more fishing through the ice in any way. In real cold weather the fish seek the deepest points in the lake and those familiar with the lakes can usually get their limits quickly.

I presume by the time this is read most of us will have broken all our New Year's resolutions and be ready to get down to the real business of the year in earnest. I know Jim Misko broke his resolution not to tell any more Scotch stories for I heard him telling one yesterday.

Don't forget to come in and get your calendar if you have one coming. I want all Quiz subscribers to have one. If you are at a distance and want one I will send it prepaid.

QUIZ FORUM

Scores "Farmer-Reader". To the Editor of the Quiz: I read with amusement the article by Farmer-Reader in last week's Quiz. How he can tell the corn farmer to turn to popcorn with any prospect of improving general conditions or his own condition is beyond me. I feed some cattle and brain you with my neighbors and taking one year with another they make a pretty good profit. Now if I quit feeding cattle and my neighbor starts to raise popcorn, will it help the dairymen and poultrymen any? In place of crossing brain with best neighbors and get good milking shorthorn cows and make open season on Jerseys? —W. JOSEPH KLAT, Ord, Nebr.

Defends Cattle Feeders.

To the Editor of the Quiz: I read with amusement the article in last week's Forum against beef feeding in Valley county. It was signed "Farmer-Reader". Now, whenever I write I always sign my name or in other words when I have a brain storm in print you will see my old Coats nailed to it. Now, Mr. Farmer-Reader, in my opinion you are doing the cattle feeder an injustice. I live and have lived here in Valley county for 29 years among a bunch of feeders. A finer group of men you can't find, no matter where you go. I saw these farms years ago with very few improvements, now they have the finest homes and well kept farms. They have been a great benefit to the community for by being here they have made a home market for many a renter and land owner who have sold grain to them at a fair price.

Of course we have all been in the dumps financially the last few years, beef man and dairymen and renter man, so why lay all the blame on the cattle feeder? We can't all be dairymen. A real dairymen is raised to the job, plus a few brains, a good wife and usually some children. All families are not suited to be dairy people and the dairy industry is benefited by their being beef men or in some other business besides dairying.

Now for the past 16 years we at Jersey Home Farm have run a dairy farm with a finely bred herd of dairy cows, right in a neighborhood of beef feeders. We may be cracked but we are not broke, neither do we have to sell any of our dairy cows on account of feeders raising the price of corn. When corn gets too high we will feed something else. Alfalfa hay is the base of our winter feed, sweet clover and rye pasture in spring, summer and fall. The past two years we fed very little corn. In 1930 we fed alfalfa hay, ground barley and pasture and some bran. In 1931 we fed alfalfa, hay, ensilage with a very little corn in it, and the fore part of the year ground barley. For the last three months we fed bran in place of barley. From June 1, 1930 to June 1, 1931 our herd averaged 437 pounds butterfat according to the Valley county herd testing association official. And for the past two months on these feeds one 3-year-old produced 1,271 pounds milk and 71 pounds butterfat in 31 days and for the second 31 days produced 1,097 lbs. milk and 62.7 lbs. butterfat. And a 2-year-old produced in 30 days 966 pounds and 52 pounds butter fat. A lot of the others are close after them so, Mr. Farmer-Reader, I can show you I can run a dairy farm in the midst of a neighborhood of beef men without having to sell my cows.

We, at this farm, raise around 200 hogs each year and buy some corn for them. I can't see why in an average year a dairymen should be bothered about corn prices as his farm should raise all the corn, alfalfa pasture, corn for ensilage, and barley he should need to feed a good sized herd of dairy cows. I fed cattle for the first four years I was here and I did not find anything wrong with the business, but figured with a growing family a dairy herd would be the proper business. This is one of the best dairy countries in the good old U. S. A. and here in Valley county we are blessed with a lot of sunshine, alfalfa grows easily, sweet clover and rye are easy to grow for pasture, barley and corn usually make a crop. ## Ord Teachers Spent Holidays Hunting, Partying, Doctoring and Just Resting

The teachers in Ord schools all enjoyed their vacations, for reasons varying from getting a chance for a lot of sleep, spending a lot of time in the dentist's chair, through to resting and recuperating from too many Christmas parties. One and all reported themselves glad to be back at school after a few days change. Some of them bucked bad roads for hours to get back, finding their excitement in the trip schoolward in place of the vacation, while others, such as one of the Christmas dinners with their families were most thrilling of vacation time happenings.

Mr. Kovanda declared their biggest excitement was the Watch party at their home New Year's eve, after which, about the time he was thinking of bed, along came some callers who had conveniently run short of gas nearby. But he exhibited a horned owl with a five foot wing spread, which he shot while hunting on the short trip the family made to Short Rock and Per and all reported a gleam of pride in his eye, that a certain thrill must have been hiding in securing that trophy, now safely mounted atop a cabinet in his classroom.

Miss Elizabeth Easley went to her home in Ord, where she stayed in Lincoln a day or two. A calm, peaceful opportunity for plenty of sleep delighted her, after the excitement of a classroom. The big snowstorm made the drive to Aurora rather memorable, too.

Cecil Molzen and his wife spent two days in Lincoln, then went to Memphis to see his parents, and lastly drove to Omaha to visit friends. And firmly maintained that nothing exciting, high-lighted his vacation. Principal Case of the high school went to his parents' farm home near Aurora for the holidays, where all the family were present. He was caught in Hastings for a couple of days by the storm and went to Lincoln to spend another pair of days visiting.

Miss Hardin enjoyed a lot of sleep, several bridge parties, and a general good time during her Christmas recess. No thrills marked her vacation, and she returned to Ord via railroad, and is now preparing her students for semester exams, which pop up very shortly. Miss Mae Baird drove to her home in Arcadia, and stayed home, resting and visiting. She encountered no thrills, even though the road back to Ord Sunday was a little slippery. Mr. Lukenbach went to his ancestral home at St. Edwards, and declared the only unusual thing he could think of was that he chopped wood almost his whole vacation. The commercial teacher had a lot of trouble getting back to Ord, too, due to the heavy snow storm.

Superintendent Bell spent his vacation in Ord, enjoying rare opportunities for morning sleep the first week, but the second one he accomplished more. A little trip to Burwell, managing several basketball practices, and the fact that expected guests were unable to drive to Ord marked his vacation.

Miss Lukesh enjoyed a family reunion Christmas with 39 present, including all the children except Minnie who missed a home Christmas for the 9th time, spending it in Idaho with relatives. Several more nieces and nephews missed the family gathering, but the house was full of people anyway. Her sister Mrs. Matt Kovanda has never failed to spend Christmas at home with her mother. Eight ducks graced the table.

Miss Elizabeth Shaver spent the time quietly at home, and said that the bus ride back from Jewell, Kans., which is just across the line from Superior, was as big a thrill as she wanted. Miss Blanchard went to Friend and enjoyed her vacation a lot, just because being home was such fun. Though she had quite a time getting to Hastings, from there she and Miss Jean Nelson rode serenely. More or less, Miss Nelson spent the entire time in Hastings, resting, playing bridge and generally having a good time. Between Hastings and Grand Island these two declare the snow was engine high, rather a thrill! The rest was icy, but passable.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins spent the first week in Eustis with her parents, the next week in Omaha, and between times Mr. got in a little hunting. "But not in Omaha," announced Mr. Watkins, "they don't let you shoot them there." Are you sure Mr. Watkins?

Plenty of excitement colored Miss Hostetter's few days of leave. Trying to drive south of Lincoln to spend New Year's eve, her party found more than a quarter mile of cars stuck, so they turned back and spent the evening in Lincoln. Next morning at 11 when they drove through a number of the same cars sat in the same drifts, abandoned. Other thrills were three days spent in the dentist's chair, 3 more days spent according to the doctor's orders.

Misses Swain and Rowbal spent their vacation entertaining, visiting, enjoying a lapse of their school duties. They both considered it a most happy vacation. Miss Campbell went to her home in Callaway, where it snowed so much she couldn't go anywhere. Slick roads featured the return

Blue Now Makes Debut in Winter Styles

POPULAR COLOR, HERETOFORE RESTRICTED TO SPRING AND SUMMER STYLES, IS FEATURED IN MANY OF LATEST OFFERINGS

BY HARRIET

NEW fashions for late winter have the blues!

Midnight blue and a bright royal blue vie with each other in taking women out of the black that they have had such a yen for since way last winter.

Blue never has been a winter color. It has long since been reserved for springtime and summer. Few autumn suits are blue, and still fewer autumn coats. The woman who adhered to blue the year around has usually been someone who knew her style perfectly and insisted on having her preferred color.

Now the business of reserving certain colors for certain times of the year seems to be over. You can be as blue as you like while the snow falls and emerge in the same costume, provided it isn't too warm, to be just as blue and chic when warm days come.

Many of the winter coats and suits have removed fur collars and no sleeve trim of fur. This facilitates matters if you are a practical woman who likes to look ahead to making her suit or coat serve a double purpose.

THE new materials that are to be watched in the January sales are the ribbed materials and the diagonal tweeds. Both are very good for spring.

The styles you should keep an eye on are the fitted ones. High-waisted cuts, if you wear them well, are very neat and new. Some garments are belted, but if they fit nicely and form a waistline without a belt, so much the better.

When it comes to suits you can have either a very short coat or a two-thirds or three-quarters one. Spring probably will usher in the good old-fashioned regulation tailor-made suit but, until spring comes, the short coats for the youngsters and the longer coats for the sophisticated woman are the preference.

A new winter suit from Jane Regny that illustrates these style points for which you should look, is made of a dark blue, almost midnight, ribbed wool, trimmed with caracul. It has a gored trip, but no worse troubles. From a cousin she hears that snow between Clay Center and Hastings was more than car height, and from North Platte her brother writes that the recent storm was the worst in 30 years in that place.

Miss Radcliffe was out for several days with ptomaine poisoning, and had to stay in Lincoln to be cared for, but is expected back in her classroom before this is in print. Miss Finley declared a snowstorm shut her in, once she got to her country home; but that she had a delightful time, in spite of it.

Miss Hallen thoroughly enjoyed a home Christmas, with an opportunity to relax and rest from week-before-Christmas parties. She declared that she had a good time doing nothing.

Miss Helen Collipriest spent four days at Lexington, the rest of the time here. On Dec. 27, Mr. Collipriest was greatly surprised when all his children came home to celebrate his birthday. Gertrude spent her holidays in Creighton with friends.

Miss Lincoln of the kindergarten department went to her home in Glenwood, Ia., to spend the recess with her family. She had a good time but trying to get back was a terrible ordeal.

Miss Adeline Kosmata had a lovely time, loafing, reading and resting. Nothing exciting, but a good rest for a tired miss. Just the right vacation. A 17 lb. turkey at the home of her mother, Mrs. Wentworth, was the peak of the thrills Mrs. Stark, grade principal found. After Christmas the Stark's went to Schuyler for a brief visit. Holiday time was rest time, and Mrs. Stark revelled in it. In fact all the teachers seemed to consider the opportunity to relax as important or more so than anything else that happened.

O. S. club is meeting this afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. G. Frey. Mrs. Will Zaboull will be assistant hostess.

skirt that flares comfortably and fits up around the waistline, without a belt so that you can wear your blouse tucked in or overblouse style and belted, as you please. The coat is quite fitted, right at the waistline, flaring out at the bottom in a style not seen for several years. It fastens with two tabs, one buttoning one way, the other, the other way. The coat from Irene Dana is one of the diagonal weaves, in royal blue and black. It is intricately cut, fitting the body tight through the waistline, with loose raglan sleeves to give the preferred wide-shouldered effect. Its sleeves taper down to fairly tight cuffs from the elbows down to the wrists. The high collar of black astrakhan has clever incrustations that fit down over the neck of the coat. When removed it leaves a fur-less coat for spring.

Col. E. C. Weiler, who was dressed as a woman and was alleged to be one Charlotte Greenwood, an actress, gave damaging testimony against Dr. Blessing but Mrs. Harvey Hohn, garbed and painted as a negress, turned the trick nicely on Mr. Sowl when she testified that he was supporting her in lavish style and maintaining a home for her.

Mr. Sowl, dressed in a suit of clothes at least ten sizes too large for him, testified that he had lost nearly one hundred pounds in weight as a result of the charges made against him by Dr. Blessing. The oration he "unrolled" on the witness stand was a masterpiece and brought down the house.

Cleverly laying the groundwork for it, Mr. Sowl's attorneys secured permission for him to give the address which he prepared for delivery on Armistice Day, alleging that this address would furnish valuable evidence. The audience, slightly bored at the prospect of a long patriotic address in the midst of a comedy trial, reacted with applause and laughter when Mr. Sowl, with appropriate gestures that belied his alleged weakness, declaimed the following:

Ladies and Gentlemen: From the American Legion I come to you this Armistice Day to tell you of how war is. War is Hell! Of which the soldiers are the Hellions. There are two sides to the Hellions, one side says to the other side, "we are going to fight over here in this place and if you guys want to play around why not come over and join in." But the other side says, "No! we'll not join in and you guys can't fight over there cause that's where, we are going to fight."

Then they both get mad and curse one another and violence breaks out, pretty soon fightin', one side fightin' and no hittin', other side fightin' and hittin', pretty soon one side no sense gotten. Then the side which is down says to the other side, "we'll sign an Armistice" and the hell-a-ba-loo stops.

Now think of Abraham Washington, what a time he had, his soldiers wouldn't fight because they were cold and he went out to see what the matter was with his army and he found them there in the valley all huddled up around the Forge keeping warm, and ever since then they called it Valley Forge.

George Lincoln was another man who had a lot of trouble with his soldiers cause they wouldn't fight. For instance take that Hill where all the Bunk comes from—Bunker Hill, when the Dig-a-Beer General of the army walked over to see this battle he found all his men sitting down watching the Bull Run. And Lincoln retented it very much and he straight way called in this Dig-a-Beer General whose name was Berry and rebuked him saying, "I say, here's a pretty Mull, Berry; an explanation is Due, Berry for your army giving me the Razz, Berry; your father the Elder Berry, would not have been such a Goose, Berry, but you need not look Black, Berry, for I don't care a Straw, Berry, and I shall demote you at once Berry."

take the World War, there was some battles for you. The one between Champa-Champagne-ah Champagany and Vin Blanc, what a fight, what a fight, how the men stood up under that load is a mystery to-day among the nations.

But all was going smoothly till, alas, alack, one fatal day there came into our camp a little French girl by the name of Miss Hardtack. What a clamor there was for her hand and all she brot them Johnny, the next day it took the brave, fearless warrior Corn Willie to sweep her off her feet and after a short honeymoon they adopted the famous Russian 5 year plan. Under this plan the first year brot them Johnny, the next year Flo, the 3rd year brot Jerry and the 4th brot Joe. But when the 5th year presented them with little Oswald they said we'll sign an Armistice, and that's how war is, my friends, that's how war is!

Many other witnesses were introduced by both sides, among them being Lydia Fafetta, who was introduced as Dr. Pinkham and easily qualified as an expert witness, Glen Johnson, whose barefaced statements helped the Sowl case materially. "Hi" Norman, whose qualifications as a typewriter expert came into question when he mistook a Woodstock for a Remington, Jack Morrison, Dr. Kirby McGrew, Jim Gilbert, John Goddard, E. L. Vogelans, Stanley McLain, and others. Some of the testimony was hard to believe but all of it was interesting.

An impromptu "fight" staged by Attorneys McCall and Clements started the trial off well and the same high level of entertainment was maintained throughout, coming to a climax when the jury filed in to report that Mr. Sowl had no cause for action and intimated that his loss of weight, appetite, health and money was caused by his attempt to keep up two homes rather than from his association with Dr. Blessing.

After the trial was completed and the verdict of the jury given Dr. Blessing and Mr. Sowl appeared to forget immediately the animosity they have been carefully cultivating for the past few weeks. "Friends again!" declaimed Dr. Blessing as he fell into his erstwhile opponent's arms.

"My pal!" answered Funeral Director Sowl, returning the embrace. The mock trial, which was originated to create additional interest in the winter meetings of Fidelity Post No. 88, American Legion, fulfilled its purpose admirably as the largest crowd was present Monday that has attended for many months. It was low comedy, occasionally simple and often impure, but the large audience enjoyed every minute of it. After the mock trial had concluded Legionnaires served an army-style lunch consisting of corn waffle, hard tack and coffee.

Nebraska State Capital

The architectural vision of Bertram Goodhue, which he did not live to see fulfilled, is gradually nearing completion. The structural work on the west and last wing is being pushed rapidly. Some time next year the great building will be finished in every important detail.

The most conspicuous feature of the structure is the beautiful tower rising like a shaft from the center of the widespread building. Symbolic of the spirit of the people of the state, it is a vision of aspiration in stone, rising 400 feet above the ground and presenting a lovely picture of symmetry and beauty. It is no mere ornament. It is usable in office space almost to its very top height.

Nebraska has had two capital cities and five capitol buildings. The structures that have housed territorial and state government, ranging from a crude pile of bricks erected in 1854 at a cost of $3,000 to the magnificent structure now being finished, which has an international fame and will cost about ten million dollars, have measured the growth of the state.

The first capitol was erected in Omaha by citizens of that town as a bait to get the territorial capitol located there. It was the first gift of that ambitious town. Bellevue had dreams of being the capital and had Governor Francis Burt, the first territorial executive, not two days after his inauguration, allowing the reins of government to fall into the hands of Thos. B. Cuming, secretary of state, who became acting governor, the trend of events might have been different and the state capitol might now be located on the beautiful hills overlooking the Missouri, seven miles beyond the site of the first building erected in Nebraska to house the territorial government.

The second capitol building was erected in Omaha in 1864. It was a commodious and ornate structure for its day and sat lordly upon a hill that has since been known as Capitol Hill, which is now occupied by Omaha high school. For many years after the capitol moved away, the old capitol building, remodeled, was used as a high school. The erection of the second capitol building, aimed to attach the capital forever, failed of its principal mission. The battle between the South Platte and the North Platte sections grew hot and bitter. Nebraska City was as determined to have the capital as Omaha was to retain it. Nebraska City's bid was stronger because the South Platte country had a larger population and the votes to back up the claim of the South Platte to have the capital. In the long struggle for the possession of the prize neither of the ambitious towns won. When the territory became a state and it became the duty of the legislature to locate the state capitol, a new site was decided upon by Governor David Butler, Secretary of State Thomas P. Kennard and Auditor John J. Gillespie were commissioned to locate the capital somewhere within the boundaries of Saunders, Butler, Secor and Lancaster counties. On July 29, 1867, they chose the present site between Salt and Antelope creeks, which was then naked prairie—and might have been a swamp. By previous choice of the legislature the new capital city was to be called Lincoln. And so in 1867 Bellevue saw its rival's hopes fall in the dust and Omaha sat down in the ashes to mourn the loss of its most prized possession.

With the location of the capital city at Lincoln a state house became an immediate necessity. The first state capitol building was erected in 1868. This crude-appearing structure, standing stark and lone on the prairie, was erected at a cost of $75,817.59.

In 1884 the demand for a bigger and better capitol building was so insistent that the legislature acted. In that year the second state capitol was erected at a cost of $600,000. It was considered in its day a masterpiece of capitol construction. It became obsolete when the increasing activities of state government outgrew it.

The bill for the new present structure was signed Feb. 20, 1919, by Governor Samuel R. McKelvie. Ground was broken April 15, 1922. The first construction began in July of that year. The design of the new building is such that it was built around the old one and the old one was used until office space in the new one was available. Then the old building was removed piecemeal.

CHANGE OFFICERS AT FIRST NATIONAL

164 Valley County Taxpayers Form League

ARTHUR MENSING IS CHOSEN HEAD OF TAX LEAGUE

Permanent League Is Effected At Meeting Monday; 164 Join, Pay Annual Dues of 25c.

With more than two hundred people present a permanent organization known as the Taxpayers League of Valley County was effected at a meeting held in the Bohemian hall here Monday afternoon. Arthur Mensing was elected permanent president and A. W. Cornell secretary-treasurer. One hundred and sixty-four taxpayers signed the membership rolls, paying dues of 25c each.

The meeting was called to order by John B. Zulkoski, temporary president of the league chosen at a meeting held at the Woodmen hall about two weeks ago. Joe Waldmann, temporary secretary, then read the minutes of that meeting after which he read the constitution and by-laws used by the Custer county league and these, with minor changes, were adopted for use in Valley county.

After the election of officers President Mensing took the chair and balloting proceeded on a board of seven directors, one to represent each supervisor district in the county. They were chosen as follows: District 1—Paul Hughes; district 2—Joe Waldmann; district 3—Henry Vodehnal; district 4—O. A. Heger; district 5—D. A. Granger; district 6—John Hornickel; district 7—Brady Masters.

The meeting then was thrown open to discussion and Mr. Waldmann suggested that meetings should be held in each township of the county, the purpose being to secure additional members and also to elect delegates to serve in an advisory capacity with the official board of directors.

Lost Cat Found In Closet at M. E. Church

On December 29, Mrs. Rose Pierson's Persian cat, Streak, disappeared. Mrs. Pierson felt the loss keenly, as the cat was a favorite pet, and advertised its loss in the classified columns of the Quiz. But there are some places that even the Quiz doesn't penetrate and Streak had found one of them for last Sunday, January 10, Streak was found locked in a closet at the Methodist church by R. J. Clark, church janitor. How long Streak had inhabited the closet is a mystery but it doesn't seem possible that he was in there all the time since his disappearance almost two weeks before. When released Streak was gaunt and ravenously hungry but otherwise was in good health. Restored to his owner, he began at once to make up for all the meals he lost during his stay in the closet.

Fat Hog Market Is Big Thing For Ord

ERNEST C. WELLER. The first fat hog auction held by the Weller Auction Company last Saturday proved a big success, 1,000 head going through the ring at prices only a few cents under the Omaha top. Mr. Weller believes the fat hog sales will develop into a big thing for Ord.

LIGHT BUTCHERS DRAW $3.75 TOP AT FAT HOG SALE

One Thousand Head Go Thru Sale Ring Here Saturday, 7 Buyers Here From Away.

In spite of bad road conditions and a sharp break in the hog market, 1,000 head of fat hogs were brought in to the first fat hog sale held by the Weller Auction company of Ord last Saturday morning. Seven out-of-town buyers were present and bidding was brisk throughout the sale.

Prices held up good, a top of $3.75 being paid for light butchers averaging 138 pounds. Heavy butchers sold for within 10c of the price paid for hogs in the light butcher class.

Prices paid on other classes were as follows: Light feeders, 100 to 150 lbs., $3.00 to $3.30.

Light butchers, 170 to 220 lbs., $3.65 to $3.75.

Heavy butchers, 225 to 325 lbs., $3.50 to $3.65.

Packing sows, $2.65 to $3.00.

Shoats by the head from $2.00 to $2.50; boars by the head from $2.50 to $3.00.

About 100 head of cattle were sold in the afternoon at about steady prices with the previous sale. One of the largest crowds of the season attended both the morning and afternoon sales and Ord restaurants report that they did rushing business during the noon hour, due largely to the crowd attending the morning sale.

Col. E. C. Weller believes that these fat hog sales, which will be held every Saturday morning, will develop into a wonderful thing for farmers of this territory. This is a great hog raising country and there is no reason why 1,000 head or more cannot be sold here every Saturday. Prices paid on hogs here Saturday made money for farmers who usually ship to Omaha.

Dr. Joe Baird Will Locate In Arcadia

Arcadia, Jan. 12.—(Special)—Dr. Joe Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Baird of Arcadia, has decided to locate in this village and will establish his office in the rear room of the Ramsey drug store, the room formerly occupied by Dr. Lee. Dr. Baird is a graduate of the University of Nebraska medical college at Omaha and served his internship in a hospital at Columbus, O. For the past four months he has been located at Ansley, where he built up a nice practice. Upon the removal of Dr. Hille from Arcadia, Dr. Baird's many friends started urging him to locate here which prompted him to do so.

Township Meetings Tuesday. As required by law, annual township meetings will be held in every township in Valley county next Tuesday, January 19. Every taxpayer should attend his own township meeting.

10 New Bridges Built, 30 Repaired, 82 Miles New Grading in County

Ayres' Report to County Board Shows Costs Low, Levies Kept Down Last Year.

Ten new bridges were built and thirty were repaired, 10,339 miles of permanent grade was constructed and 72 miles of reshaping with blade grader was done, 146 miles of county highway was maintained, 14 miles of snow fence was erected and taken down and much other work done by his department in 1931, County Engineer Rollin C. Ayres revealed by his annual report to the county board Tuesday. All costs were low last year and his department functioned in a very efficient manner, he reported.

The cost of bridge work, always an expensive item, was greatly reduced last year though as much work was done as in former years, Mr. Ayres says.

Ten new bridges were built, 30 repaired and some miscellaneous work was done on a levy of only 75-100 mills, raising $15,773, of which only $18,300 was available. This represents a big reduction from bridge costs in former years for in 1928 $43,000 was levied and $21,000, levied in 1930, was the smallest levy made between 1923 and 1931.

Highway maintenance and construction also was prosecuted in an economical and efficient manner, Mr. Ayres maintained, revealing that the cost of moving and hauling dirt on grading jobs was done at an average cost of 10c per cubic yard, with one project running as low as 7 1/2c. This is much below state department of public works costs so he regards it as very satisfactory, Mr. Ayres says.

Good Cooks! Send In Some of Your Best Recipes

In answer to an urgent demand from the Cookery Editor of the Quiz we are asking Valley county's good cooks to send in some of their best recipes for publication in the Quiz's Cookery Column. The cookery editor says, and we want to keep the column going because we know every woman reader of the Quiz enjoys reading these recipes and trying them out on her own family.

Home tested and tried recipes are wanted; recipes that are "different" are particularly desired. You don't have to send in an elaborate cake or dessert recipe—just send one that you cook frequently in your own home and that your family likes; a new way of cooking meat, an economical salad, just anything that you do differently from most people.

And don't fail to get your Quiz calendar, Mrs. Quill Reader. It is ready for you now and we want every reader to have one.

Notices have been sent to all January expirations and we hope all will take advantage of the special $2 rate now. Save 50 cents.

JOHNSON FORGES CHECKS, IS SENT TO REFORMATORY

21-Year-Old Farm Hand Admits He Forged, Cashed 3 Checks, Gets 1-to-2 Year Sentence.

Lloyd F. Johnson, 21 years old and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carm Johnson, pleaded guilty in the district court here last Saturday to forging and cashing three checks in the amounts of $20, $5 and $15, the name of Jesse VanWile being signed to the first two checks and the name of Willard Cornell to the last one. Judge E. P. Clements, who heard the case, sentenced young Johnson to the state reformatory at Lincoln and he was taken down Sunday by Sheriff George Round to begin serving a sentence of from one to two years.

Young Johnson has been employed as a farm laborer by Carl Wolf this fall but previously had driven a truck for Ralph Hunter.

His first forgery was a $20 check made payable to himself and signed with Miss Van Wile's name. He endorsed the check with his own name and cashed it at the Golden Rule store here, buying about $50 worth of merchandise and taking the rest in cash. Later he bought an expensive toilet set at the Auble Bros. jewelry store and gave it to a young lady friend as a Christmas present. This check was written on December 23.

On December 24 young Johnson wrote a second check and signed Miss VanWile's name, this check being for $5. He cashed it at the Ramsey pool hall, again endorsing his own name.

On January 2 Johnson drove to North Loup and cashed a check for $15 at Vodehnal's Pharmacy, signing Willard Cornell's name and again endorsing the check himself. When the three checks cleared and Miss VanWile received her bank statement the first of the month Johnson's arrest followed quickly. At first he denied his guilt but later admitted to County Attorney Munn that he forged all three of the checks.

The boy has been making his own living since he was 14 years old, he told the court, and received a very limited education so hasn't had much opportunity in life. The forgeries with which he was charged last week were his first law violations, he said.

Loup City Priest Found Dead Four Miles From Auto

Father Alexander Grzeszykowski, forty-three years old and for ten years holder of the Catholic pastorate at Loup City, was found dead at the side of the road about seven miles southeast of that city Tuesday morning by children on their way to school. Four miles from where the body was found, his car was found. The priest left Loup City early Monday morning to go to Grand Island, state papers said, and it was thought that he was returning at the time he met death. Evidently his car stalled and he died from exposure while seeking aid, officers said.

Father Alexander, as he was generally known, was well known here, having assisted Father Lawrence to conduct services on several occasions. He was respected and loved by all who knew him.

POSTAL CLERK CONFESSES HE EMBEZZLED $75

DeWitt Williamson May Be Indicted Next Tuesday by Grand Jury; Has Made Restitution.

When a federal grand jury convenes in Omaha next Tuesday, December 19, Harry DeWitt Williamson, for the past few months a part time clerk in the Ord postoffice, will be charged with the embezzlement of approximately $75 of postal funds. If the grand jury returns an indictment, which seems probable, young Williamson will be prosecuted for embezzlement.

The thefts came to light late in December when discrepancies in C. O. D. records led Postmaster Edwin Clements to make a thorough investigation. He discovered shortages in accounts turned in by young Williamson and summoned J. A. Bradley, postoffice inspector for this district.

When confronted with the evidence against him, Williamson broke down and confessed to Postmaster Clements and Inspector Bradley that he had embezzled $75 and told the means by which he did it. Later he wrote and signed an admission of the thefts and the confession will be submitted to the grand jury next Tuesday. Postmaster Clements has been informed by the district inspector so far young Williamson is at liberty but it is expected that he will be taken into custody by a United States marshal this week.

His first theft was made early last August, the boy said. His wife and their new born baby were in the hospital and he owed a hospital bill of $100. Though he had only $55 in his bank account he wrote the doctor a check for $100. Fearing prosecution for writing a no-fund check, Williamson said he tried to borrow money to make up the difference and succeeded in borrowing $35. He then took $100 from his till at the postoffice, changing a C. O. D. record so the theft would not be found out. He intended to replace the money later, he said.

Other family emergencies arose later, he said, and he appropriated small sums on several occasions, continuing to juggle C. O. D. records to keep the thefts hidden.

Young Williamson is 22 years old and the son of Rex and Mrs. D. C. Williamson, of Ord. He was a brilliant student while attending Ord high school and when he took the postal examination last spring he passed with the highest grade in the county. His reputation for honesty has been excellent and it seems a shame that one misstep, prompted by love of his wife and baby should brand him for the rest of his life. However he betrayed the trust and responsibility that was placed in him and should pay the penalty. He has made full restitution of the sums he embezzled, was discharged from his position and has been punished to a certain extent already. Because of these facts, and because this is his first misstep, he may escape with a light or suspended sentence.

Judge Clements Honored At Dinner

Grand Island Attorneys Have Ord Jurist and Judges Horth and Munger as Guests Monday Eve.

Judge E. P. Clements, of Ord, Judge T. C. Munger, of Lincoln, and Judge Ralph R. Horth, of Grand Island, were honored guests Monday evening at a dinner given by the Grand Island Bar association, the dinner being held in appreciation of the splendid services of these judges. The dinner was held in the Gold Room of the Hotel Yancey at Grand Island and besides Grand Island attorneys several from Greeley, Ord and Burwell were present. Ord attorneys who attended included Bert Hardenberg, Clarence Davis, E. L. Vogeltanz, Ralph Norman and John Misko. L. B. Fenner and E. M. White, of Burwell, also were present.

Arthur C. Mayer, president of the Grand Island Bar association, served as toastmaster and Senator H. G. Wellensiek welcomed visiting attorneys. Jim Lanigan, of Greeley, responded. Among the speakers was Supreme Justice Bayard H. Payne and Senator Wellensiek and all paid high tribute to the functioning of the courts of this district under Judges Clements and Horth.

Promoted To Head First National Bank

JOSEPH P. BARTA. After years of association with the First National Bank, as cashier and vice president, Mr. Barta became president of the bank at the stockholders meeting Monday. He assumes the duties of Frank Koupal, who retires as president to become chairman of the board of directors.

JAMES TO SERVE THIRD TERM AS BOARD CHAIRMAN

Elected Tuesday As County Supervisors Open Big Business Meeting of the Year.

E. C. James, who represents the city of Ord on the Valley county board of supervisors, was elected chairman of the board for the third successive year when supervisors met Tuesday morning for their first and biggest meeting in 1932. The supervisors were in session throughout Tuesday and yesterday and probably will be kept busy most of today also.

Standing committees for 1932 named Tuesday by Chairman James are as follows: On settlement with county officers—Johnson, Sorensen, Hansen; On estimates—Hansen, Clochon, Barber; On roads and bridges—Clochon, Hansen, Vasicek; On grounds and buildings—Barber, Vasicek, Johnson; On bonds between sessions—Sorensen, Johnson, Barber; On claims—Vasicek, Clochon, Sorensen. The personnel of the board is unchanged from 1931.

No new business was taken up by board members up to last night, the time being occupied in auditing county officers and checking up on business transacted last year, part of day will be devoted to plans for 1932.

Fair Association Elects Delegates To State Meeting

Next Monday and Tuesday in Lincoln will be held the annual meeting of county fair officers in conjunction with the state board of agriculture and as usual the Loup Valley Agricultural Society will have representatives present. At a directors meeting last Friday Ches Chinn, of North Loup, and Vincent Kokes, of Ord, were chosen to attend the state meeting.

These delegates will be instructed not to sign contracts for free acts or other attractions unless they can do so subject to cancellation, the directors decided. In case crop conditions here are poor next summer it may be decided to fall the fair off, in which event all free acts will have to be cancelled. Directors do not expect that this will be necessary but they want to be protected against all emergencies because of the stringent times and the financial condition the association is in at present.

Celebrate Birthday Of Thomas Wildey

The birthday anniversary of Thomas Wildey, founder of the I. O. O. F. lodge, will be observed in the I. O. O. F. hall here on Friday, January 15, at 7:30 p. m., the committee announces today. Everyone is cordially invited to attend and hear a fine program in observance of the day.

KOUPAL RETIRES, BARTA NAMED BANK PRESIDENT

Former Pres. Released From Active Work, Becomes Board Chairman.

Colorado Man Is Vice President

Frank P. O'Neal Buys Big Interest In Bank, Will Move Family to Ord; Noll Is Still Cashier.

Extensive changes in its list of officials, together with the addition of new capital, featured the annual meeting of stockholders of the First National bank held here Tuesday. The bank is in a vastly strengthened condition as a result of the changes, having a present capital investment of almost $50,000. The bank's deposits on Dec. 31, 1931 were approximately $600,000.

Frank Koupal, who has served as president of the bank for some years, retires from this position to become chairman of the board of directors, Joseph P. Barta being elected president in his place. Mr. Barta has hitherto held the position of vice president and now assumes the duties conducted in the past by Mr. Koupal.

Mr. Koupal's retirement came about by his own request, in order that he might be relieved of part of the work incident to the president's position. He retains his full interest in the bank and will be in constant touch with its affairs at all times.

A new officer is Frank P. O'Neal, of Holyoke, Colo., who has acquired a substantial interest in the bank and was elected vice president Tuesday. Mr. O'Neal comes highly recommended as an experienced banker, having been connected with national banks in Colorado and Nebraska for the past twenty-four years. Mrs. O'Neal and their two children will move to Ord after the close of school in the spring. With President Barta, Mr. O'Neal will have charge of the every day operation of the bank.

Pierson Case Postponed

The compensation case of Clarence Pierson vs. the Springdale Telephone company, which was scheduled for hearing here Monday, was postponed for two or three weeks when Compensation Commissioner Frank Dutton, who was driving to Ord to conduct the hearing, got stuck in a snow drift near Seward and was unable to continue his journey. The new date has not yet been announced.

3 VALLEY CO. HERDS IN 400 POUND CLASS

Wm. E. Valasek's Grade Holsteins Average 436, Are High; 10 Herds in 300 Lb. Class.

Three dairy herds in the Valley county dairy herd improvement association produced 400 pounds or more of butterfat during the past year, according to records at the Nebraska college of agriculture. Fifteen herds produced 300 pounds or more of fat.

Wm. E. Valasek of Ord had the high herd in the Valley county association. His grade Holsteins made a record of 436.0 pounds of butterfat. E. S. Coats and Son of Ord had the second high herd. Their herd of registered Jerseys produced 411.5 pounds of butterfat per cow. The other high producing herd belonged to Fred Valasek, also of Ord. His grade Holsteins made an average butterfat production of 400.7 pounds of butterfat per cow.

E. C. Scheidtmann, extension dairymen at the college, points out that all three of the high herds have had testing for two years, showing the practicability of testing the cows each year. Ten of the fifteen high herds have been in testing work for two years.

Dairymen having 300 pounds or better herds included besides the three mentioned, Earl Smith, Ord; J. J. Taggart, Ord; A. B. Fiala, Ord; Fred Murray, Arcadia; Joe Steger, Scotia; Earl Hanson, Ord; J. D. Moul, Ord; A. W. Pierce, Ord; M. R. McCall, North Loup; Floyd Meguire, Scotia; L. P. Fenster, Arcadia; R. S. Caldwell, Scotia.

THE TAXPAYERS LEAGUE.

Almost two hundred Valley county taxpayers, principally farmers, gathered in Ord Monday and formed a permanent organization known as the Taxpayers League of Valley County.

For the most part, those elected to formulate the policy of the League are sensible, level headed men and if their counsels are allowed to prevail the League may do a worthwhile work.

There are certain economies in township, school, city and county government that the League can advocate and bring about without imperiling our social, educational, economic and political well being.

JAPAN SOLVES A PROBLEM.

For scores of years, ever since Japan became a power of western civilization and a federal government, the United States has viewed with alarm the constant population increase of their comparatively small island empire.

Japan saw the United States and other countries peopled by white men closed to them except to them as a right law or by low immigration quotas. Not by emigration could she solve the problem of what to do with her people.

The League of Nations covenant, to which Japan subscribed, has been made mock of in this instance and the League is incompetent.

DIFFERENCE IN SIZE.

Once upon a time a poor laboring man in Omaha, who had attempted to supplement his meagre wages by making and selling a little homebrew, was arrested by state officers.

Once upon a time a Chicago gangster was arrested for participating in the $2,500,000 robbery of a Lincoln bank. He was identified by six or seven eye-witnesses as having taken part in the robbery and was brought back to Lincoln for trial.

There should be a moral in this little tale somewhere and it should sweep from political life all who participate in this "one for the poor man, another for the rich man" travesty on justice.

CANADIAN TARIFFS DOWN? A recent message by the president of the Canadian Manufacturing association seems to foretell the abandonment in sooth of Canada's high tariff experiment, which was closely modeled on our own Smoot-Hawley tariff act.

The present government of Canada is not so much in favor of a high tariff program, in retaliation against the United States for erecting the tariff barriers provided in the Smoot-Hawley act.

In our own country the Smoot-Hawley act has been satisfactory to manufacturers but it was a vicious piece of legislation if the interests of agriculture are considered.

The Smoot-Hawley tariff should be repealed by Congress and a more equitable tariff system worked out.

When you, Gentle Reader, are on an automobile trip and you puncture a tire, what do you do? Do you repair the tire on the spot or do you wreck the auto against the nearest stone wall and walk the rest of your journey?

Present world conditions may be compared to a punctured tire and we are faced with a similar problem—whether to make repairs which we can easily do, or head our machine over a precipice and attempt to leap out before it crashes.

It is a high powered machine, a complex mechanism, this modern civilization of ours. Each part is dependent upon every other part.

As individuals we are past the time when we may be successful and prosperous if we isolate ourselves; as a nation the same condition is true.

For decades the United States got along and prospered exceedingly with a high protective tariff. Now, with protective and retaliatory tariffs placed in effect by almost all other nations, we must join with our neighbors in working out a new tariff system.

Over in the northeastern part of Nebraska hundreds of families lack sufficient food to keep the wolf of hunger from their doors. Drouth, with a consequent crop failure last summer, makes these families dependent upon organized relief efforts.

Out in the western part of the state a different condition prevails. Potatoes are the principle crop of a large area and potatoes were so low in price last fall that many hundreds of acres were not harvested.

It has always been the policy of this newspaper to print news, involving criminal matters only after warrants have been sworn out, arrests made or charges filed.

It was thinking that the republicans would get whipped this year and that the democrats would win, but I don't know. There doesn't seem to be much choice.

A friend who drops into my office frequently tried to kid me the other day, because, he said he always found me at my desk.

I had a surprise letter last week from John Matzner who lives up at Ivanhoe, Minn. He wrote to order the Quiz for this year.

I shall probably be spending a good deal of time at Lincoln a year from now and I hope it won't be at Lancaster.

Something DIFFERENT

If you aren't reading the original column in the Quiz headed "Brick Bats" written by our fellow townsman Brick Smith you are missing something, and I would advise you to mend your ways.

In the Iowa neighborhood where my grandmother lived years ago there then resided a lady who was notorious for her careless, dirty ways and who made a remark about clean clothes that tickles me every time I think of it.

This dirty lady would take her dirty clothes out of doors, shake them, turn them wrong side out and carry them in the house again ejaculating "How sweet clean clothes do smell!"

Time to plan your spring gardening efforts, if you would garden efficiently. I don't myself, but I expect you to.

Why holler when eggs start up a little. That is the best kind of farm relief. It is not charity, but legitimate profit.

I thought I had a big time getting back to Ord from Alliance recently, but Art Meyer put the kibosh on my tale of woe in a blizzard.

Mr. Meyer declared he was snow-bound four days in Aurora, then got a train to Greeley Center and was held there for two more days.

And now it's time for you to tell yours. And it will have to be a good one, after the above.

And Meyer revealed the sinister fact that for amusement during those tedious snow-bound hours the chief indoor sport was many, many vicious games of checkers.

Coasting is again Ord's paramount sport, and such fun. The Weekes slope is as thick with sleds as though sprinkled with black pepper by some enormous cook.

The toboggan constructed by Horace Travis and Edwin Clements is in great demand.

Even such dependable citizens as Guy Burrows are having fun coasting. Upon being accused of being too ancient in years for this type of fun, the Big Oil and Gas Man indignantly maintained that coasting was just what kept him young.

How many of you have feeding stations for hungry birds this winter? Lots of humane humans nail up tallow for them but I wonder just how many little wooden platforms are posted for bird feeding in Ord. I saw one on a little trolley wire in the Flagg front yard.

The newspaper business is a queer one. Because you don't win credit for the things you do. No. Either Angry Subscriber or Indignant Townsman stops to bowl you out for something you have written wrong or inaccurately, or to berate you for something you have omitted to write.

A funny business. When everything is calm and peaceful, that's a sign everything is O. K. For instance, the time when 7 teaspoons of soda appeared in a cake recipe in the cooking column. Did we get phone calls, letters and visits? O, O!

And the other day a couple of teachers, quite good friends of mine, too, declared that I printed the re-opening date of school wrong. One day late. . . and that a number of approximately were missing that day. By our mistakes we sometimes are made to feel our power, what?

There are several systems for measuring rectangular or long stacks. Some favor the buyer, and others the seller.

The quartermaster's rule is used by the army. Add the width of the stack to the overthrow. Divide by 4. Multiply the result by itself.

The Frye-Bruh rule is better adapted to full-rounded stacks. Subtract the width from the overthrow, and divide by 2. Multiply this product by the width, and the result by the length.

The department or "fowl" rule gets its name from the first letters of its formula. Volume equals fraction times over times width times length.

Haymows are measured by multiplying the length by the height by the width in yards. The result is divided by 15 if well packed, or by 18 if rather loose.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

There are many methods of measuring hay stacks. None are entirely accurate.

Where wagon scales are not handy some other method of approximating becomes necessary. Most farmers know how to estimate the tonnage of long stacks. Methods for figuring round stacks are less common.

The round stack formula is not a simple one. While the stack itself is considered as two parts. The lower portion is cylindrical and the upper section is cone shaped. It is necessary to measure each of the two divisions separately.

The number of cubic feet in the bottom half of a round stack is determined by multiplying the height times the distance around the stack squared, times .08. For the upper portion multiply the height times the circumference multiplied by itself, times .04.

The two results give the total volume in cubic feet. Authorities differ greatly on the number of cubic feet in a ton. 422 is a common figure for settled alfalfa, clover or timothy. Others insist on 515 feet for settled clover or timothy. 450 is a popular amount for haymows.

New hay couples about eight percent more volume. There are 1000 cubic feet in a ton of straw.

The South Dakota method for measuring round stacks is simple but less accurate. Multiply the circumference by itself. Multiply the product by the height, and divide by 25.

The quartermaster's rule is used by the army. Add the width of the stack to the overthrow. Divide by 4. Multiply the result by itself.

The Frye-Bruh rule is better adapted to full-rounded stacks. Subtract the width from the overthrow, and divide by 2. Multiply this product by the width, and the result by the length.

EYE TALKS

Week by Week

Of course we always think and talk of seeing with our eyes. Yet as a matter of fact we do not see with the eye but with the brain.

To make the subject still more complicated images falling on different areas of the Retina of the eye are seen by different parts of the brain.

While this sounds complicated, and of course is, yet your Optometrist, if he is competent, and thoroughly understands his subject, by mapping the fields of vision, is roughly able to diagnose different brain disturbances.

For instance pressure or a blood clot on a certain portion of the brain would have a certain effect on the vision in certain areas of the eye ground.

Certainly a fascinating study. This partially explains why a throre eye examination is much value to you whether or not you can see to read distinctly.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sorenson came from Omaha and are spending a few days with the former's sister, Mrs. C. C. Shepard and family.

Farm Mortgages Filed Here Less, Says Clerk

Fewer farm mortgages were filed and more were released in Valley county in 1931 than in normal years, County Clerk Klima tells the Quiz this week. Chattel mortgages filed were about normal in number, however, and town and city mortgages increased.

Farm mortgages filed totalled 110 to the amount of $321,238.29 and 109 were released for a total of $431,045.32. Eighty-four town mortgages to the amount of $114,826.40 were satisfied. Chattel mortgages filed totalled 2,500 to the amount of $2,189,890.95 while 1,986 to the sum of $2,106,378.47 were released. Ten foreclosures by sheriff's sale were recorded.

Shortage of money and inability of farmers generally to borrow additional money by mortgaging their farms is given by Mr. Klima as the probable reason for the decrease in farm mortgages.

Munn Gives Report Of Year's Business

Handled 78 Cases During Year, He Tells County Board; 11 Sent To State Penal Institutions.

Before the county board of supervisors this week County Attorney George A. Munn submitted a report of the business transacted by his office during the year, showing that 73 cases of various sorts were handled, 11 offenders were sentenced to state penal institutions, $1,035 in fines were collected, and much other business performed in an efficient manner. His office did not lose a single case during the year, Mr. Munn's report reveals.

Liquor law violations led, as usual, in matters requiring the county attorney's attention. Thirty cases involving the liquor laws were handled, resulting in the confiscation of four cars, collection of $504 in fines paid in cash and $891 paid by offenders spending the time in jail, as well as jail sentences aggregating 180 days.

Fines collected in other criminal actions reached the total of $336 for a variety of offenses such as game law violations, assault and battery and writing no-fund checks.

Several tax collection cases, one inheritance tax matter, one condemnation proceedings, two bankruptcy hearings, one refund of pauper aid and several other matters were taken up by County Attorney Munn and his deputy, Ralph Norman, on behalf of the county. Funds collected for Valley county totalled $724 and restitution collected for private individuals, from men who figured in criminal cases, reached the total of $775.

During the five years Mr. Munn has held the office of county attorney he has prosecuted 135 liquor cases and more than 200 other criminal cases, has collected for Valley county almost $200 and has figured in many other matters and in all that time, with the help of his deputy, Mr. Norman, he has lost only one civil and two criminal cases, which is surely a remarkable record.

Only 3 Zero Days In 24 Months, Reports W. A. Anderson

Sliver around your smudgepots if you want to, Californians, but if you want real freedom from zero weather move to Valley county. On only three days in the past 24 months have we had zero weather here, reports W. A. Anderson, who keeps a careful record of day-by-day temperatures. Jan. 28, 1930, was below zero and then nearly twelve months passed until zero weather came along again on January 11, 1931. Then another eleven months rolled around and on Dec. 14, 1931, the mercury descended to three degrees below zero. That is the only day so far in the winter of 1931-'32 that the weather has been so cold, though a number of days of freezing temperatures are reported.

10 Bridges Built, 30 Repaired, 82 Miles Grading Done In Valley County in 1931

tem was done throughout 1931 for $1,100 less than the same work cost in 1930, which was partly due to the dry season and partly to the efficiency with which the work was carried on. Five regular men with motor graders and drags and three team patrols working part time took care of all maintenance and succeeded in getting over the road very quickly after every rain or snow storm, keeping all county roads open to traffic most of the time. Mr. Ayres said maintenance work as done at present gives satisfactory results and he does not recommend that more patrols be added next year.

His report showed that 73,400 lineal feet of snow fence, or 14 miles was put up along county roads this fall. To set this huge amount of snow fence in place requires 1,349 acres of land, a truck and driver, put all snow fence in place.

Mr. Ayres lauded highly the gasoline supply department used by the county, which has been in use since the spring of 1929. By buying gasoline and oil wholesale and distributing it among the various departments a saving of $1,500 is made each year, he said.

The highway engineer paid a tribute to members of his highway construction, highway maintenance, bridge and engineering patrol, which all are loyal, hard working and efficient employees of the county, always willing and anxious to do their best under any and all circumstances.

Pheasants, Rabbits Raise Havoc With Corn in Field

Farmers who still have corn in the field will be lucky if they have any corn left to pick when the snow goes off, a Quiz visitor said yesterday. Pheasants and rabbits are more numerous this winter than they ever have been before, he said, and they are eating bushels of the corn that wasn't harvested before snow came on late in November.

One Quiz correspondent relates that she counted 100 pheasants in a small corn field within thirty yards of her house one morning this week.

Farmers have been unable to get out into the field since before Thanksgiving because of the heavy snow. Which is fine for the pheasants but mighty poor business for the farmers.

ARTHUR MENSING IS CHOSEN HEAD OF TAX LEAGUE

John Albers suggested that people having plans for tax reduction write them out and mail to Secretary Cornell for consideration by the Taxpayers League as a whole. President Mensing said all suggestions would be heartily welcomed.

Frank Vodehnal made a brief speech in which he favored publishing county board proceedings in full in the official county paper, in order that taxpayers may know just how their money is being spent. The suggestion was heartily applauded by the gathering and both Mr. Waldman and A. J. Vodehnal made a motion to that effect and it was seconded and passed by a large vote. Some suggested that all papers in the county be invited to publish board proceedings free of charge as a matter of news.

In the course of his brief talk Mr. Vodehnal spoke in support of state income tax. There are many salaried workers who do not possess taxable property, he said, and such people should share in the cost of government.

Otto Lueck, of near Arcadia, suggested that the proposed salary should be cut greatly and read an item from a state paper showing that in Richardson county a taxpayer league passed a resolution asking school boards to cut teachers salaries 35 percent.

A vote to ask county employees to accept a salary cut, President Mensing upholding such a move and "Incident Kokes calling the attention of the league to the fact that salaries paid elective officers are "step down" harder on one superior than this line should come through the state legislature. No resolution was passed to ask county employees to take a salary cut, though there seemed to be quite a lot of sentiment favoring such action.

Directors of the organization were instructed to meet with the Valley county board Thursday, today, and see what can be done toward limiting local expenditures. Otto Radil spoke in favor of such housekeeping.

Miss Marie Dorsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knight Dorsey was operated upon for appendicitis at the hospital in Loup City last week. She is recovering nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goodhand of Ord were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Wall Sunday. Mrs. Alvin Johnson and daughter, who had spent the week as guests at the Wall home, returned to Ord with them. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Miss Alberta Gelsler and her home is now at LaJara, Colo. She is spending this month with her mother, Mrs. Goodhand at Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Hogue, Mrs. Minnie Rosenquist and daughter Edna drove to Omaha last Thursday where they spent several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Rosenquist.

Mrs. Fred Carmody and family who have been residing in one of the Wall residences near the high school have moved to the Johnson property recently vacated by the H. W. Miller family.

Henry Thelander shipped a carload of cattle to South Omaha Sunday, Frank Jurkiewicz a carload Monday and Fred Hunt two carloads of cattle and one of hogs Monday.

Miss Nellie Zentz spent the week-end at Loup City with friends.

Ord Welfare Board Met Again Tuesday

Twelve organizations were represented at a meeting of the Ord Welfare board Tuesday, Alvin Blessing presiding in the absence of Rev. Real. Reports showed that 103 children have been clothed and 20 families cared for by the board so far this winter. New donations acknowledged include six pairs of mittens given by Wm. Misko, several pounds of pork given by Pecenka & Perlinski, potatoes and milk given by Mrs. Jake Severns and Mrs. Parkins, and a large amount of cleaning done by Mrs. John Veleba, who charged only for the gasoline used in the process. Madams James, Carlton, Bell, Koupal and Erickson have been staying in the Welfare board rooms recently. The rooms are open on Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 3 to 5 p. m.

Alfalfa Seed Wanted.

The Valley County Farm Bureau has about a half carload of alfalfa seed listed and County Agent Dale would like to have more listed at once so buyers can be brought in. List your alfalfa seed.

Koupal Retires, Barta Named Bank President

The other vice president is James Misko, who owns a large interest in the bank and will assist with his advice and experience, though he will not have a desk in the bank. Walter C. H. Noll remains as cashier, James Misko and Horace Traver as assistant cashiers and Curt Gudmundsen as bookkeeper.

Directors of the First National bank will be Joseph P. Barta, Claude G. Kennedy, Charles H. Leonard, James Misko, Frank P. O'Neal, Miss Maude Goodenow, Frank Koupal, James Milford, W. C. H. Noll and R. G. Wicks.

At the same meeting Monday there were appointed the proper discount and examining committees, which are necessary to the proper operation of a good bank.

It will be noted that the bank is supported by a very able body of directors and officers and with Messrs. Koupal, Barta, Misko and O'Neal at the helm the bank may be relied on in any and all emergencies. All are able and experienced bankers who know Valley county and mid-western conditions and with Mr. Noll and the assistant cashiers remaining in their present capacities the bank should function in an efficient manner.

A statement of the condition of the First National, as made to the Comptroller of the Currency on Dec. 31, 1931, appears in this paper today and shows that the bank is in a very sound and liquid condition. Services rendered in the past to the people and community by this bank have been very valuable and will be more so in future, thanks to the extensive changes made at the annual meeting.

Second "Hunger Army" Real Americans, Writes Wife Of Congressman Simmons

(By Gladys W. Simmons.)

Just a month ago newspaper headlines proclaimed a "Hunger March" upon Washington. Some fifteen hundred unemployed men and women from all parts of the country came to present their "demands" to the President and Congress.

Now comes another "army", this one of ten thousand, starting from Pittsburgh. The contrast is great. In the first march, demands for food and lodging were sent ahead; in this, it was planned that each man bring food enough to last him until he returned home, but that failed because of the large number of unemployed who joined them along the way, who had to share the food provided. In the first, the meals given them were criticized, often thrown on the floor in contempt; in this, the food and treatment were praised, and many of the marchers themselves volunteered to help in the great work of feeding the ten thousand men. In the first, they spent their time, when not marching, holding meetings, where wild speeches denounced the government and praised Russia; in this, in spare time, they went sight seeing to Congress, to public buildings, to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington.

The first was led by prosperous looking, paid leaders who are parasites on the misery of those they work upon; this by a devoted man interested only in helping the unfortunate. As before, they marched to the Capitol. It would seem that those in charge deliberately planned each detail to contrast with the former demonstration. First, the men themselves: though most were roughly dressed, they were neat, clean, shaven, cheerful rather than sinister looking. Then, instead of the many banners reading "Demand Unemployment Insurance," "We don't want Your Slop," "Down with Jim Crow," were many American flags. I saw only two banners. One said: "Long Live Father Cox (their leader), another, "Reverend Cox's Army." They, too, had a band but instead of the Russian costumes, and songs of the Soviet Union, this band marched behind American flags and played patriotic airs. A life and drum corps led another part of the parade. A group of ex-servicemen in uniforms was drawn up at attention in one place. Another group carried a large American flag. When the lines closed in closely in front of the Capitol, they folded it up most carefully. The former group contained nearly all colored people; in this I saw one woman, no colored. Even the attitude of the police was different. Although there were many extra policemen about, they were as cheerful and friendly as usual. Before, they had held gas canisters and "bombs," had been strict in their regulations, tense and alert every instant.

The leaders went to the steps of the Capitol where they met Senator Davis and Congressman Kelly of Pennsylvania, to whom Father Cox presented the resolutions of the unemployed to be presented upon the floor of the Senate and House in accordance with the rules of those bodies. In the former march, they "demanded" to present their "demands" themselves in Senate and House, impossible of course. Senator Davis, the handsome, genial former Secretary of Labor, who came over in the steamer when a boy and worked for years as an iron puddler, and Father Cox, led the great assembly in the salute to the flag and "America." Sound movies were taken, and the men cheered and waved their hats. And still they came. There seemed no end to that long marching column, four abreast.

Later, Father Cox, and the other leaders, were received by President Hoover, and the resolutions presented. Arrangements for the meeting were made in the regular way by Senator Davis. The former group had "demanded" that they see the President, and, of course, had been unsuccessful. The resolutions were entirely different, also. Those of the first group were for "immediate unemployment insurance at full wages... for all workers... at the expense of the employers and the

To Try for New Altitude Mark

Andre Coupet, above, French aviator, will attempt, at Toussus Le Noble, just outside of Paris, the first airplane flight through the stratosphere, 10 miles above the earth's surface. government... administration by the workers... other forms of social insurance. These were for an appropriation by Congress of five billion dollars to create public work to give employment, to loan to farmers, and to provide food, clothing and shelter for unemployed.

And now, they have accomplished their purpose and have started for home. Whether these "marches," which must be a severe financial tax on men already in bad straits, have any lasting effect, is a question. Certainly, this one with its great numbers of able-bodied, typical American citizens, who make only reasonable request for work, was most impressive, and heart-rending. May conditions soon be such that their wish can be granted.

POSTAL BUSINESS ONLY $600 BELOW 1930-CLEMENTS

Pinch of Hard Times Scarcely Felt By Ord Postoffice; Money Order Business Is Upping.

Other businesses may feel the pinch of hard times but not the Ord postoffice, reports Postmaster Edwin Clements, for business done during the year 1931 was only $600 below the 1930 level and 1930 was the biggest year's business the local postoffice ever had. Individuals haven't been mailing at quite the usual rate and Christmas mailings fell down somewhat, the postmaster says, but advertising matter, statements, etc., were mailed at a faster rate in 1931 than in any previous year.

Only the sale of stamps, postage paid on newspapers, circulars, etc., is included in the $15,000 business reported by the Ord postoffice this year. The sale of money orders, C. O. D. parcels and similar items are not reported separately.

Money order sales have nearly tripled in recent months. Postmaster Clements says. The office is now selling about $9,000 worth of money orders every month.

Alfred Graber, who was present, went into the room and finding the fire started by a cigarette, he turned it out into the street just as the fire department arrived on the scene. Aside from two rooms badly damaged by smoke and a ruined oil stove, there was no damage.—Independent.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 pounds until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at McLain & Sorensen's or any drug store—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Convertible Styles Strike Economy Note

DAYTIME FROCKS MAY EASILY BE CONVERTED INTO AFTERNOON OUTFITS AND WINTER COATS INTO SPRING COATS

BY HARRIET

Quite in the spirit of these retrenchment days are the new costumes bobbing up everywhere that can be used a couple of ways to look like two different costumes. There are soft wool dresses that apparently button clear up to the round neckline for daytime, very simple indeed for office and school wear. Unbutton the little uppers, wear a fragile blouse underneath and you have a dressy little afternoon outfit.

Newest of the new are the early spring coats that two-time by having fur touches that snap on and off. Wear them with their fur on and they are wintry enough for a snow scene. Unsnap their fur collars or collarettes and cuffs and you have a lovely spring coat with simple, plain neckline and sleeves.

One of these is a Spanish tile soft tweed coat that is made fitted, buttoning at the waistline in a double-breasted effect. It has simple round neckline with revers laid back easily and no collar. But there is a tremendously chic cape collar with fox fur that snaps onto this plain little coat that makes it something else again, a dressy and a wintry coat for right now.

It has cuffs or rather patches of the fur that fasten onto the sleeve, converting it into a dressy affair, not a tailored one. Worn with one of the new little Florentine hats, you couldn't find a dressier afternoon outfit. Worn without the collar and fur cuffs, and with a Spanish tile small turban or plain brimmed sports hat and you have a nonchalant, casual coat for daytime wear with sports clothes or spring dresses.

A NEW convertible dress comes in rich brown crepe, of the new sheer variety. It uses deep durane cotton Venise lace for a deep skirt flounce and lovely long-glove length sleeves. The jacket is which the

Take off the coat and you have a smart little dinner and dance dress. Leave the coat on and add come to think of it that was a good idea, you used to have sending out that card with a picture of Hank Leggett on it—that is, the idea was good and the card was good only you should have had Irma's picture on it.

Politics here are dull and uninteresting, this is a rock rib republican state and there was a time when I could remark that Herbert Hoover was manufactured entirely out of printer's ink and was just a "yes man" for Andrew Mellon, or I could casually remark that Andrew was the most badly misrepresented figure in American History and a complete fraud and by golly I could get a dandy argument out of anyone who happened to overhear the remark. Now I can rave and tear my hair and scream at the top of my voice and everyone sides in with me—disgusting. Maybe I will go to defending Mellon and his rubber stamps just so as to get in a little argument. Everybody here still believes in the principles and ideals of the Republican party but no one knows what they are.

It looks like John is a goner.

I was informed by the secretary of the Vinton Bachelors club, Emil Graul, that New Year's eve the club met and after the minutes of the last meeting were read they voted Gerhard Btelke in as a new member. Then, on the motion of King Huff, they groaned a hundred groans in sympathy with their ex-members who have married. A resolution was then passed that they would use more precautions this Leap year than in years past. It also was resolved that not one of them would get married unless a girl asked them. It also was resolved that it would be beneath the dignity of members to intimate in any way that they wished any young lady to go without a husband. The president of the club, Carl Hansen, opined that the depression as concerns the bachelors was about over. Forrest Watson, Vern Aldrich and Chet Travis were appointed to call on the Benson Bros. and a few others that live over in southwest Vinton and invite them to join the club. A few young members like Walter Kirby and the Chipps brothers were refused admittance because it was reported they were seen auto riding with two girls, each of whom is decidedly against the rules of the club. Treasurer Lew Hansen says one girl is all a fellow is entitled to and that is two more than he goes with. A report of the treasurer shows the treasury was pretty well dilapidated with only one pair of socks, six safety pins, two shirts without buttons on, three returned engagement rings and six telephone rings. Mrs. Leggett, I am sure proud of the Vinton Bachelors club and I'll bet there is not a finer bunch of fellows running loose anywhere in Nebraska. By Everett Farmer.

Ord Chanticleers Open With Victory

Molzen's Cage Pupils Inaugurate Home Season by Trouncing St. Paul, 23 to 17; Make Title Bid.

The O. H. S. Chanticleers, which is the new name chosen for the Ord high cage pupils of Coach Cecil Molzen, opened their home cage season last Friday evening with a victory over St. Paul by a 23 to 17 count. With this win the Molzen men served notice on other Loup Valley conference schools that they must be reckoned with in all title arguments. Their victory was impressive not so much because of the score but because of the manner in which the sound trouncing to St. Paul was administered.

To start the game Coach Molzen introduced a five composed of Everett Lashmett, Steinwort, Nutter, Stoltz and Smith, the latter a midget who promises much more than his size would indicate. In the first two quarters this quintet simply played rings around the Paulties and at half time led by a score of 12 to 2.

Donnie Lashmett supplanted Steinwort when the second half began but Donnie was hit with a flu and was unable to get up speed so the Ord attack faltered slightly in the third quarter. St. Paul crept up slightly but the Chanticleers started going good again in the final period and pulled out with a 23 to 17 win after leading all the way through.

Everett Lashmett looked superior to anybody on the floor and was the leading scorer. Stoltz did good work at guard, though the shadows seemed to bother him and he missed passes that presented St. Paul with three of their goals. Nutter played a fast, heady floor game and Midget Smith was everywhere, breaking up plays and scoring several nice field goals. Steinwort teamed well with his mates while he was in action. Barta, a regular, did not see service Friday because of a practice injury and Coach Molzen has several other players who are developing fast.

Prospects are good that the Chanticleers this season will be the best team Ord has had in several years. They promise to make a serious bid for the conference title, if there is the development that early season form seems to foretell.

Retired Minister Dead. The Rev. Nathan Henry Miles, 84, retired Methodist pastor, died at his home in Lincoln last Friday after a long illness. In former years Rev. Miles served as minister in Arcadia, North Loup and Burwell churches and is well known to many Quiz readers.

Smith Short $23,000, Reports G. I. Auditor

Frank N. Smith, former Garfield county treasurer, was short more than $23,000 in his accounts, reported G. I. Blomquist, certified public accountant, to the Garfield county board of supervisors last Friday. Mr. Blomquist has been engaged in making an audit of Garfield county offices for the past several weeks.

Smith recently pleaded guilty to an embezzlement charge involving $2,910 and is now serving a 7 to 10 year term in the state penitentiary. Judge E. P. Clements also ordered him to pay twice the amount of his known embezzlement, or $5,820. Five other Garfield county officials were short sums from $18 to $75, Auditor Blomquist reported, but these five shortages, he said, were human mistakes and no fraudulent intent was found.

Sore Throat Is Dangerous

A sore throat often leads to serious illness. Stop it at once. Take Thoxine, a prescription made exclusively for throat ailments; not a gargle. The first swallow relieves the soreness in a few minutes; and goes direct to the internal cause, preventing further trouble. Most coughs are caused by an irritated throat. Thoxine stops these at once. Safe for the whole family—guaranteed no dope. Money back if not satisfied. 35c. Beranek's Drug Store.

As might be expected from the scores the second team game was by far the most exciting. Quite a number of fans went with the teams, and were well pleased with the splendid treatment they received at Sargent.

Art Adams of Burwell tried an innovation when he sowed his front yard to blue grass just before the snow in December. The ground at that time was bare and very moist, and he figures that the seed will be well settled into the ground before the opening of spring, and should grow rapidly and make a better stand than that sown in the spring. The neighbors are watching the experiment with interest.

A warning should be sounded against the feeding of sweet clover, according to the opinion of Dr. Gankel, local veterinarian. W. B. TO GRANDMOTHER'S HOUSE WE GO

At The Talkies

Get out of the way, folks, here comes Hoot Gibson. He's back again in another of those hard riding, fast shooting stories of the range. This time it's "The Gay Buckaroo," and Hoot is right in his element. He's a thrifty cowpuncher whose girl doesn't like him because he doesn't gamble and throw guns like the rest of the punchers. So Hoot starts out to get a reputation. And how he does. If you like Westerns, don't miss this one.

Picture for children that adults could enjoy too—they were a long time coming. "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" showed the way, then came the famous "Skippy," and now comes "Sooky," the kid picture that has simply everything. In it Jackie Cooper and Robert Coogan, stars of "Skippy," attain new screen heights. No matter what your age is, you'll laugh and cry both over "Sooky," so pack the whole family into the car and visit the Ord Theatre Sunday or Monday while this picture is showing. Best of all, kids under 12 will be given a free Monday if their parents come too.

Ruth Chatterton, often called the greatest actress of the cinema has made several fine pictures since she came to the screen but never a better one than "Once a Lady." She has a fine supporting cast which includes the handsome Ivor Novello and the talented Geoffrey Kerr. "Once a Lady" appeals to the better natures of all women and men; dynamic drama and should not be missed.

"Back Home and Broke"—how many Quiz readers remember when this play was given by a chautauqua company here a few years ago? How the big crowd whooped and hollered for the play a scream from start to finish. Now it will be given in Ord again, this time by the Princess Players at the Ord Theatre tonight. Several amateur stunts are on the card, too, as well as a comedy and news feature. And ladies are admitted free.

954 Instruments Were Filed by County Clerk. A bee hive of activity, if the number of instruments recorded is anything to judge by, must have been the office of County Clerk Ign. Kilma, jr., during 1931. The county clerk's annual report, made this week to the county board of supervisors, shows that 954 instruments of various sorts were recorded during the year.

When an instrument is recorded it must be copied on the typewriter into the proper permanent book, read by copy corrections made, and then indexed. Some of the instruments are long, some short, all of them take time.

Mr. Kilma's report shows that 110 farm mortgages, 34 town and city mortgages, 208 wills, decrees, affidavits, etc., 270 deeds, 39 official township bonds and 19 school treasurer's bonds were recorded by his office in 1931. Besides this, 2,500 chattel mortgages were filed and all the other routine work of the office carried on. We keep our overhead down and pass the saving on to the consumer. That's the kind of a market you need in these days of decreased income. Our future success depends upon your patronage. Mendel's Law of Heredity Demonstrated At High School With Aid of Guinea Pigs

Biology Teacher Watkins Finds He Has Attentive Class; Typewriting Courses Full.

In Mr. Watkins class for the study of biology Tuesday morning, a study of Mendel's law of inheritance was in progress, and the class was busily trying to absorb these principles through a study of guinea pigs.

Mr. Watkins was explaining that certain characteristics when present in one parent, are called "dominant" because of the way they are able to conceal themselves, practically always being noticeable when inherited. For instance, he declared that a dog with any Spitz blood in his inheritance would invariably show it in the curliness of his tail. And went on to say that although police dogs have a large inheritance of wolf blood, which is also dominant, that a police dog he had recently seen showed the presence of Spitz blood in his veins, because he had a curly-haired tail.

"So do pigs have curly tails," piped up one exuberant listener, to the amusement of his fellows. "Supposing he doesn't have a tail," another inquired. And a third said, with the air of knowing old folk lore: "That's a sign he's healthy, when he has a curly tail." To all this the teacher wisely smiled, but did not answer.

Next an illustration of the workings of Mendel's law was charted on the blackboard, using guinea pigs as an example, because of their rapid production. Mr. Watkins explained that it would not do to use such an animal as the elephant, which would perhaps have a baby only once in fifty or a hundred years, because then the workings of inherited characteristics could not be observed.

Using a pure white guinea pig and a pure black guinea pig, the diagram began. The four offspring... an average number... were approximately 3,000 volumes in the library, and 1,000 magazines, 25 monthly magazines were subscribed for and 7 donated to the library. There were also 4 weekly magazines taken. 320 new books were bought during the

In other words, one grandchild showed the pure white of the grandmother, one grandchild the pure black of the grandfather, but the black characteristics were purely dominant, the way in which they subdued the white ones. A white color inheritance might be present but never appear, but if any black was present, it would be visible, and therefore was called the "dominant" color inheritance. The copy which interested, and seemed to understand the charts and their meaning.

The teaching of typewriting is done much as it was ten or fifteen years ago, and has changed very little. A blind or unmarked set of typewriter keys are used on the practice machines, and the student is taught first the position of two fingers, then of the two neighboring fingers, and so on, and from the location of the first few keys, graduates to learn what a stroke on other nearby keys will produce on the white sheet of paper put into the machine. It is not permissible to look at the typewriter; the location of the keys is made secure and automatic in the mind, so that the eyes may be kept on the copy which is to be followed. This is the same principle used in piano instruction, and to use either a piano or typewriter very well it is essential that the operator feel this freedom from the necessity of following fingers and keys.

The typewriting manual begins first with simple exercises for four fingers, and each succeeding exercise adds the knowledge of another letter or two. So many copies, perfect copies and made without erasures, of each exercise are required by the teacher, and the typewriting student is largely his or her own boss, except that the many pages of perfect work must be accepted by the teacher and O-Ked. Thus the typewriting student really teaches himself. It is not so simple, either. For any nervousness, any thoughtless stroke, or any loss of rhythm, and the perfect exercise will be found to be bearing a "mistake." But more and more, typewriting is coming to be needed by everyone, so the commercial courses continue to be loaded with typewriter students.

During Christmas vacation Principal Cass underwent a nasal operation which is bothering him again, so Miss Hardin has been assigned some of Mr. Cass' duties, and Miss Thelma Partridge has taken over some of the work previously done by Miss Hardin.

Is your land worth that much — or more?

Occasionally we see a news item stating that a certain man's farm was sold at a price which seems abnormally high.

Just what are the reasons why any farm should be so highly valued?

Is it good land? Sure! Has it good buildings and improvements? Of course! Is the land well cared for? It certainly is!

The answer to all these questions is granted — but lots of other farms fulfill these requirements and yet do not bring such a high price.

How is the farm LOCATED? Ah! There's the answer.

It adjoins a good, improved highway. It is within easy reach of an enterprising town, with fine schools, churches and theater.

It enjoys convenient banking facilities, and a market where farm products can be sold at good prices.

Nearby and easily accessible are modern stores, well stocked with merchandise and offering service in every line.

Knowing that the town makes his land valuable a good farmer misses no opportunity to help improve the town.

MRS. WENTWORTH SEEKS TO BANISH ORD SALE BARN

Value of Her Residence Property Reduced By Noises, Odors, At Saturday Sales, She Says.

Charging that the value of her residential rental properties in the north part of Ord has been reduced by Saturday sales conducted by the Weller Auction Company in their sale barn on North 16th street, Mrs. Margaret Wentworth filed suit in district court here Monday to compel Colonel E. C. Weller to abandon his pavilion and quit holding sales. The law firm of Davis & Vogeltanz filed the suit on behalf of Mrs. Wentworth.

Colonel Weller has for several years been holding livestock sales each Saturday and occasionally on week days, also. Mrs. Wentworth says that the noise and odors from the sale at all hours of the night and the noises made in loading and unloading, together with the bawling of cows and calves and the noises made by other livestock, is a nuisance.

She complains particularly about the odors that arise from the livestock pavilion and alleges that the pavilion often has been allowed to remain in an unsanitary condition. People for blocks around the pavilion complain about the noises and odors, she relates. Mrs. Wentworth owns a number of houses in that part of town that she rents and she says she has been forced to reduce the rent because of the presence of the sale pavilion. Frequently she has lost tenants also, she claims. She asks that Mr. Weller be perpetually restrained and enjoined from the operation of his sale pavilion and that he be restrained from keeping livestock there at any time. A temporary injunction also is asked, pending hearing on the permanent injunction. Colonel Weller has until February 22 to file an answer to Mrs. Wentworth's petition and it is expected that he will set forth the value of the sale pavilion to Ord, the fact that the pavilion is kept in a sanitary condition and has passed repeated state inspections, and maintain that the pavilion is not a nuisance and should not be enjoined.

The new secretary served as superintendent of Ord schools for several years prior to spring of 1930, when he was employed by the Holdrege schools at a higher salary. He is a graduate of York college, is president of the Nebraska Schoolmasters club, and is regarded as amply qualified for his new position.

A Little Rhyme That Will Save Your Time!

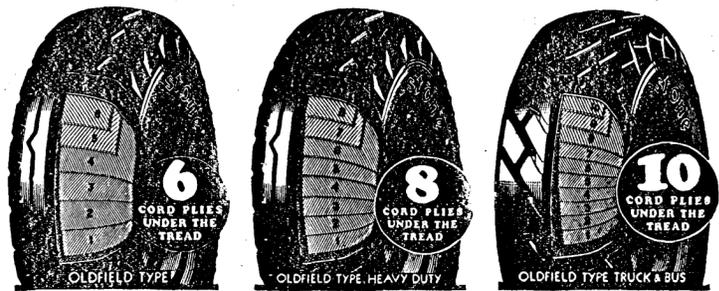

We ran onto this the other day and it's so true that we include it in our ad this week:

Mary had a whole ham,
And bridge she liked to play;
She baked it in the morning,
Then she could play all day.

If you want easily prepared meals, boil or bake a whole ham this morning. Your family will enjoy several meals out of it and the cost is low. Ask us for a whole sugar cured ham.

BURLINGTON IS PLANNING SHIFT IN ORD TRAINS

The definite proposal made by these executives is for the removal of the present motor and substitution of a mixed local freight, which will arrive in Ord at 10 a. m. each day from the east. This train will haul mail, express, passengers and perishable freight, but will haul no carload shipments and do no switching so should be able to operate close to schedule time.

Arriving in Ord at 10 a. m. daily this mixed train would then go to Burwell, leaving there on the return trip at 1:30 p. m. and arriving here at 1:30 p. m. It would reach Aurora at 10 p. m., making connections with No. 44, which would get passengers into Omaha at 11:20 p. m. in time for immediate connection with a train leaving for Chicago. On the upward trip connection would be made at Aurora with No. 43 out of Omaha.

O. R. Eller, chief of the railway mail service with offices at Lincoln, accompanied the Burlington officials to Ord last Thursday and seemed enthusiastic over the proposed change. It will give better mail service to Ord, bringing mail in at 10 a. m. that does not come until night under the present arrangement. It also gives Ord a noon-day outlet for mail, freight and express.

The proposed freight, running three times weekly each way, should take care of carload freight and stock shipments, it is thought. No changes can be made until the proposition is submitted to the state railway commission for approval but this will be done soon, Agent Frey states.

John Misko Talks On Law As Career

Young Attorney Voted Favorite By Ord High School Body; Annual Staff Gets Busy; Other Briefs.

At special convocation Monday at 1 p. m., John Misko made an excellent address to the high school, speaking of the law as a career, explaining its fascination to a most interested student body. Seniors were especially attentive, and the high school as a whole voted Mr. Misko a special favorite as a convocation feature.

Principal Cass returned to Ord Tuesday, resuming his school duties on last Wednesday. He hopes to have no more trouble from the nose operation he underwent during the holidays.

Second semester registrations are scheduled for the end of this week, students choosing their courses for the coming semester now, and being allotted to the proper classrooms, teachers, hours, etc. Semester examinations are not formally held as they used to be, days or weeks being especially set aside for them. Now each teacher gives tests as he or she feels it is necessary, and as a result the students avoid much of the tension and strain formerly associated with exams.

The annual staff are busily engaged upon their masterpiece, the school annual. Since this is the first time in four years that the high school has had an annual there is a great deal of interest manifested. The first ticket-selling for the big books began this week, buyers paying $1 down, and the rest when the book is delivered. It is thought that $1.25 will be the total cost of the high school annual this year, but this will depend on the number of students buying them, and the price may possibly run as high as $1.50.

Adrian Tolén, editor, and Rodney Stoltz, business manager, have the annual staff busily at work. Marion Grace Cushing and Joe Cushing comprise the art staff. As a junior member of the staff, so that he may help his class-mates when their turn comes next year, Billy Baird is serving with the seniors who are working on the annual this year. Rosemary Needham is in charge of photographs, making appointments for the various groups, seeing that they are present at the specified hours, etc., and Charles Shepard, the ex officio member of the annual staff, has been put in charge of writings.

Miss Elsie Fredrickson and Superintendent Bell are the sponsors directing work on the annual.

Ord High Loses Another. The Ord high school basketball team dropped another game Tuesday evening at Ravenna, losing 21 to 15 after a hard fought battle. He gave them a rest last night but practice session is being held tonight in preparation for the Dannebrog game here Friday.

The fifth national convention of the Society of Wesley Players was held in Lincoln recently and Raymond Abernethy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abernethy of Ord, and a student at the University of Nebraska, was a delegate. ### ROY W. ANDERSON SHOOT'S SELF IN OMAHA SUNDAY

The janitor of the apartment house in which Mr. and Mrs. Anderson made their residence saw him enter the garage and about an hour later, hearing someone groaning in the garage, entered and found Mr. Anderson lying with a revolver wound in his head, apparently caused by his own hand. He was taken to a hospital and died soon afterward.

A note left by Mr. Anderson gave no reason for his act, though it stated that he intended to commit suicide. "He had been working too hard and that might have been the reason," Mr. Anderson told police. Business worries are generally credited as being the cause of Mr. Anderson taking his own life.

Accounts in the state papers say that Mr. Anderson's life was insured for $85,000 and that the various policies were not invalidated by suicide. Only one man in Red Oak, Ia., carried more insurance than Anderson.

A bright student while in school here and a hard worker after he entered business, Mr. Anderson was credited with having made a great success in the business world. He has visited here several times in recent years, making the trips in an aeroplane supplied him by his company. Besides his father and stepmother, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Jason L. Abernethy, of Ord. The home of Mr. Anderson's first wife and the two daughters born to them is in Des Moines. His second wife and his widow live in Omaha.

Secretary of State Marsh Here Probing Truckers Petitions

Secretary of State Frank Marsh and Earl Kline, Lincoln attorney and former state commander of the American Legion, were in Ord yesterday holding a hearing in the truckers' referendum, which is causing so much stir at present throughout the state. Several local people who signed the truckers' petitions were subpoenaed and questioned as to the authenticity of their signatures. A court reporter accompanied the Lincoln men and took down testimony and depositions for use in a district court case in Lancaster county. When the legislature last winter passed a law calling for greatly increased license fees on commercial trucks a hornet's nest was stirred up for truckers have been fighting the tax increase ever since.

Petitions were circulated calling for a referendum vote on the new law and enough signatures were secured to put the question on the ballot at the coming election.

State Representative Banning, in a suit filed in Lancaster county, sought to enjoin the secretary of state from putting the question on the ballot, charging that signatures were obtained by fraud. Hearings are now being held in many counties to determine whether Mr. Banning's representations are true.

Marcus L. Poteet, also a former Legion commander, was in Ord recently investigating the authenticity of local signatures and the hearing here yesterday came as a result of his visit. Several irregularities in the signing of petitions were uncovered here yesterday and similar irregularities are being found in other counties, also. The result of the Lancaster county case will determine whether or not the truck tax referendum will go on the ballots at the next election.

At The Talkies

Every time Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey make a picture it turns out to be a "natural," for these two comedians have something that seems to put any story over with a bang. This time they are given a real story in "Peach of Reno" and the resulting picture is said to be the funniest divorce farce to date—and that's saying a lot. Of course Dorothy Lee is in the picture and so are Zelma O'Neill, Sam Hardy and Joseph Cawthorn. This picture comes to Ord Sunday and Monday and if we know our Wheeler and Woolsey fans we know that big show house is going to be packed both days. Bing Crosby in "One More Chance" also features the program.

About a year ago a picture came to the Ord Theatre called "Big Money" or something like that. It wasn't a famous picture, it wasn't ballyhooed strongly, but that picture took Ord by storm. People are still talking about it and still talking about how good Eddie Quillan and Robert Armstrong were in that comedy. Now the same pair is at it again in a new talkie called "The Tip-Off." GINGER ROGERS adds the feminine interest. Its here Friday and Saturday so take our advice and don't miss it.

How the women rave about Gary Cooper. Of course men like him too, for he's a real he-man, but the women seem to idolize him. Now he is co-starred with Claudette Colbert, of stage fame, and comes to the screen of the Ord Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday in "His Woman." He's a two-listed sailorman. She's a dance hall scamp. In different worlds they live and when they meet its to hate each other, until a waif of the waterfront brings them together. Its an old story, we know, but Cooper and Colbert put something different into it. Its a Paramount picture.

Funeral services for Ralph Robert Minne were held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by the pastor Rev. R. O. Gaitther. Interment was made in the Arcadia cemetery. Ralph Robert Minne, eldest son of Louis and Lucille Minne was born on a farm near Arcadia, Oct. 3, 1923 and passed away at the Loup City hospital Thursday, Jan. 14, 1932 at the age of 3 years, 3 months and 10 days. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, Harold and Glenn. The little boy showed symptoms of illness the day after Christmas but he was not considered seriously ill until Sunday Jan. 10 when his condition became alarming and from that day on until his death, medical aid seemed to help but little, and the little life passed into the great beyond very rapidly. Little Ralph was baptized in the Methodist Episcopal church at Westerville, July 19, 1931 by Rev. W. H. Hendrickson at the regular morning service. He made for himself a very large place in the lives of all who knew him.

Pep Club Banquets
Ord Football Team

A red and white football banquet was held last evening in the high school auditorium, under the sponsorship of the Pep club, about 110 guests being seated to honor the football players of the 1932 season. Miss Virginia VanDecar was in active charge of arrangements in behalf of the Pep club, and acted as toastmistress for the speeches following the banquet.

The toasts were so arranged that the first letter of each speech spelled out the word VICTORY. Thus Superintendent Bell talked upon the theme of Victory, telling of the part this quality played in the games of the season just closed, and also of the importance of valor in facing life. Miss Marjorie Hostetter gave a clever talk, using as her subject "Health," and following Everett Lashmett gave a short discourse on Captainship which was well received. Coach Molzen fittingly spoke upon the subject of Teamship, and Principal Cass delivered his remarks upon the topic, Obedience. Archie Mason addressed the banquetees about the matter of Readiness, and the closing toast was that given by Elwin Auble, discoursing upon the Year of '32. Without exception the remarks of the speakers showed preparation, careful thought, and were well liked by those present.

A boys' quartet sang for those assembled, affording much pleasure. Included in it were Marshall Williamson, Lashmett, Marvin Cornell, Elwin Auble. Miss Elsie Frederickson read entertainingly, and Auble's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

The menu for the banquet consisted of fruit cocktail, ham timbales, potatoes au gratin, buttered beets, vegetable relish, crimson salad, angel food cake, whipped cream, coffee, carrying out the red and white scheme. It was served by the Methodist Aid society. Red and white streamers were also used to decorate the gymnasium, goal posts erected at each end of the field bearing this color combination, and ornate red and white walls featuring the north and south sides of the room. At the top of both the north and south walls a chancelier, emblem of Ord teams, crowded proudly as a truck load of hogs.

BACK FORTY

Wood is the most widely used farm fuel in this vicinity, according to a local survey made last month. Cobs are burned next frequently, and coal ranks third in popularity. Less than half the homes studied made a practise of burning gasoline or kerosene in special type cook stoves at any time.

Scarcity of cobs, and expense of market fuels are factors that make wood take an unusually prominent part in the heating of Valley county homes this winter. Corn production has been short, and some of that grown has been popcorn, or else was fed and marketed on the ear. It was indicated that some of the cobs used had been gathered in feed yards, which are now snowed or muddled under.

Quite a number of farmers burn some coal, but the amount is not large, ranging generally from a fraction of a ton to three tons. In such case coal is used during the winter months on special occasions. The amount consumed during the present winter will be smaller than usual since it takes more pounds of farm produce to buy a unit of coal. This in turn is due to high transportation costs, caused by long distances from mining centers.

Gasoline is used about as often as kerosene. The price of these fuels are also out of line with those of farm products. Stoves using liquid fuels do not heat the farm house, and they have other limitations. Where fire-fighting homes are being built they are somewhat hazardous.

Perhaps the cheapest and most abundant thing on the farm now is labor, and farmers are wisely utilizing it in the production of stove wood. Too many trees may be chopped down, but these are emergency times, and our farmers are aware of the dangers of tree depletion. Last year they secured over 18,000 of the so-called free trees through County Agent Dale's office according to the Nebraska plan. Many other trees were planted in addition.

TAX CUTTING PROBLEMS.

Last week, on the day the Taxpayers League of Valley County was formed, a man entered the office of County Treasurer Satterfield. "How much are my taxes?" he asked. When told the amount he owed he inquired if it would be all right if he waited until later in the day to pay them. "I'm going to the meeting this afternoon and they might reduce taxes over there so I won't have to pay so much if I wait until after the meeting," he said.

This represents the feelings of thousands of taxpayers in this state. We want our taxes reduced and we want them reduced quickly. We have seen our incomes shrink until they have almost reached the vanishing point. We have seen taxes increase as our ability to pay them has shrunk. And to save our lives, we can't understand why taxes should not be lowered as our ability to pay lowers. We want relief right now but will we get it? No!

Time we when our government was a simple thing, instantly responsive to the will of the people. But as years have gone by it has become more complex, entirely because of our own demands. Our legislatures and our Congress have passed a multiplicity of laws, each creating an army of employees and fixing the salaries that shall be paid them. Our manners, our morals, our business ethics, our farming practices, standards of health, sanitation, education and recreation are being regulated by law. We want our government to enter all these fields when we were able to pay the bills. Many of us still want all or some of these services. To bring about any worth while tax reduction we must first agree on what part of our government we want to dispense with and then agree on just how to go about it. But immediate relief in the form of lower taxes? An impossibility. Time will be required to get all of our burdens and commissions out of existence, just as time was required to bring them into being.

Tax leagues can accomplish something by beginning in their own school districts and their own townships but to bring about a reduction of the cost of county, state and federal government more time and the efforts of many county and state leagues will be required. We can't reduce the cost of county government without first reducing the existing state laws, which must be done by the legislature. We can't reduce the cost of federal government without the intervention of Congress because federal jobs are created and salaries fixed by that body or by the compliance of that body.

In times of prosperity we created a Frankenstein monster. Let us begin now to lay our plans for destroying it before we ourselves are destroyed.

BANKS AND BANKING.

Banking, unlike most businesses, should be conducted on a competitive basis, believes Ben Sallows, of the Alliance Times-Herald. Banking is a service and when it is recognized as such it gives the maximum of service to a community.

People have been demanding too much free service from banks, the Times-Herald believes. Among such service that has been demanded is free legal advice, free income tax advice, cashing checks and drafts drawn on outside banks free of charge, having electric light bills, insurance bills, club dues, etc. run through the bank, and a variety of other services that have been demanded by the public and cheerfully extended by banks because of competition.

Supplying everybody with free customers checks and deposit slips is a source of expense to banks, partly because so many people use a pad of checks as so much scratch paper, to be scribbled on and thrown away.

Then too, many people get in the habit of writing little $1 and $2 checks several times a day and each check costs the bank as much to handle as would one for a much larger amount.

Many banks fail to make a service charge when checking accounts do not contain an average daily balance of $50. Such accounts are bound to be a big source of expense to the banks.

We are prone to cuss banks and bankers when they refuse to loan us money or when they are forced to turn down a check for which we have insufficient funds on deposit. When they are guilty of good banking practice we cuss them; when they give us so much free service as to constitute poor banking practice we praise them. Its a funny world.

DEBUNKING POLITICS.

Dwight Griswold, of Gordon, a republican candidate for governor, has a big job on his hands when he announces that he proposes to take the bunk out of politics. Mr. Griswold may feel that way about it himself but he cannot restrain his principal opponent, the Honorable Charles Bryan. Brother Charles is a past master at the art of buncombe and so far he has succeeded marvelously in making the voters believe his promises. Apparently the voters want to be bunned and when Mr. Griswold proposes to take their bunk away from them he is taking the route that has for many led to political suicide.

Griswold is a clean, able young fellow, a world war veteran and former State Commander of the American Legion, an editor and present president of the Nebraska Press Association. For three terms he has served as state senator and made an impressive record. He has a lot of things in his favor but his buncombe platform is not one of them.

Promise jobs to all the unemployed. Dwight Promise beat to the thrifty and soda pop to the dregs. Promise higher hog prices to the farmers and lower meat prices to the consumers. Promise lower taxes for everybody and at the same time outline a big campaign of public improvements. That's the way successful politicians do. Dwight. But don't be honest and don't try to debunk politics. We voters don't want our politicians that way.

WE ARE STILL RICH

A few months ago a Rotarian, Roy L. Smith, of Minneapolis, wrote an article named "I Am Still Rich" which was published first in the Rotary club magazine, then widely reprinted and quoted in the press of the nation. Rotarian Smith based his article upon the fact that he is still rich in health, in ability to create, in spiritual values, even though his actual earnings have decreased. This is true of all of us.

In a wider sense, we are all still rich, not only in health and spiritual values but also in actual wealth—not dollars and cents but things to eat and wear. The world has a plenty of wealth today—wheat and meat and wool and cotton and leather and steel—everything that is needed by the world we are rich in. The only thing in which we are poor is gold, which we have allowed to become a thing of value in itself instead of the simple medium of exchange for which it was originally intended. The United States and France are rich in gold and other nations are poor but in actual values the whole world is rich. All that is necessary is to devise some means so that trade can be carried on between the nations without the use of gold, in which the world is poor. Perhaps the old method of barter, trading a bale of tobacco for textiles or a hog for a bag of coffee, would suffice to restore trade, if carried out by the nation instead of by individuals. As long as the world continues to worship gold and regard it as the end itself, instead of a means to an end, so long will depression remain.

ANOTHER IDOL CRASHES.

Walter Lippman, independent and courageous political writer of New York City, and in whose opinions we have always had faith, destroys another of our idols when he says that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, prominent democratic presidential aspirant, is a man of little courage, no profound convictions, little force of character. "A friend of entrenched capital... no tribune of the people... a man who with few qualifications for the presidency still seeks to hold that office."

When we made our mind all made up to cast our vote for Roosevelt, provided the names were nominated him next spring. We saw him on the outs with the power interests, we saw his apparent interest in conservation, we saw him denouncing the Raskob-Smith combination, and we figured him presidential timber. Now Lippman comes along and blasts our faith.

Why his description of Roosevelt might serve for Herbert Hoover—and he's the type we are used to get away from.

Why is it that so soon as a man becomes a popular idol the cross currents of criticism sweep him away?

A MAN WITHOUT A PARTY.

Poor Thomas Jefferson—were he alive today he would be a man without a political party.

The democrats claim him, true, but the principles upon which that party operates today are not the principles of Jefferson and were he alive he would be the first to disavow democracy.

Jefferson believed in the ability of the people to rule themselves, which belief democrats claim to be the cornerstone of their party, but Jefferson made one absolute demand—that people, to be able to rule themselves, be actively identified with agriculture. He placed his faith in a citizenry close to the soil. In an urban population, in industrial hordes, he had no confidence whatever.

Is there any political party in the United States that today follows the teachings of Thomas Jefferson? No, for in Jefferson's first annual message to Congress in December 1801, Jefferson said: "Agriculture, manufacturing, commerce and navigation, the four pillars of our prosperity, are most thriving when left most free to individual enterprise."

Both democrats and republicans have repeatedly disavowed Jefferson as they have plunged the federal government deeper and deeper into businesses that should be left free to private enterprise. Poor Jefferson, hero of democracy and founder of a republic, to be now a man without a party.

Sick Boys Blair Paper.

Alfred O. Sick, formerly part owner of the Blair Pilot-Tribune, has bought from the Thomas T. Osterman estate its interest and now is sole owner of the newspaper. Mr. Sick is the husband of the former Gusse Scheffler, who taught school in Ord a few years ago.

A HARDY SECOND GROWTH!

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

The back room put Fuson and Coats so close together in the paper last week that I expect a trade from each, this week, about the other.

That man Merritt Fuson always had a nice, pleasing disposition and my only wonder is that he hasn't been made an alderman, governor, state senator or dog catcher long ago. There couldn't be anything too good for him.

Postmaster General Brown is out with a statement that President Hoover will stand for renomination, suspected as much. My only question is whether he can run fast enough to get anywhere.

Those recipe calendars are nearly all gone. If you have not ordered yours yet better not delay much longer. Remind me of it when you mail in your 1932 subscription and I will mail you one.

Cutting the salaries of a few clerks is not going to solve our economic ills. We have got to begin back at the grass roots and remodel our present system all the way up, topping off extravagances all along the line. And individual must start the ball rolling. For individuals who pay no attention to their individual expenses are sure not going to pay much attention to the little leaks when they are doing the public business.

There is one thing that I believe would be a mighty good thing and that is for the next legislature to go down to Lincoln and not introduce a single new tax except for expenses and spend most of the time repealing useless laws. As it is now county boards and city councils are tied hand and foot so they can't cut expenses to any great extent.

Oliver Collison brought me a sample of the new wheat cereal that the Ord Milling Co. is making and the next morning we tried it and all pronounced it delicious. Then the Missus baked a loaf of bread from it and it was all that could be desired. A day or two later she used it in baking griddle cakes for breakfast and we found that it was excellent for a third time. It is sold by all Ord merchants, probably almost all the county and surrounding counties. Why not, when needing something of the kind, ask for a sack of it and try it out. No doubt you will be as pleased with it as we are.

The publication last week of the financial statement of Ord township reminds me that all township clerks are required by law to publish this report. Sometimes it is neglected. It only costs a little and one might get into serious trouble by failing to do so.

The Quiz job department is making several thousand seed catalogs for the Noll Seed Company and probably in due time you will get one. In buying your field and garden seeds for 1932 better try to buy from your local dealer. A number of them handle good seeds. Mr. Noll is going to extra work and expense to get out a catalog for your guidance and assistance and in addition to seeds, lists plants and bulbs. A copy no doubt will assist you in supplying your spring needs.

NOTICE.

The Annual Stockholders Meeting of the Ord Co-Operative Oil Company will be held Thursday, January 28th, at 2 p. m. in the Ord Theatre on the west side of the square. Notice the change from late originally advertised. By order of the board of directors. Jas. Hastings, Secretary. 44-11

Something Different

It was prettier than the carefully staged "movie" snow storms, prettier than the sparkly Christmas card pictures of a few years ago, making the out-doors a fairyland.

And think of the ugliness it covered up. Too bad the snow has to melt and reveal a lot of dirty, ugly details one more. Details we'd all prefer to overlook, if we could.

El. C. James has a bottle of rare wine that he is saving for the purpose of celebrating his golden wedding anniversary, meaning that he has only about 20 years more to wait. He got it in the Philippine Islands 35 years ago.

And since he heard that I was going to publish a few words about it, the rumor is that Jesse has hired a safety deposit vault and put the wine under lock and key. He must think lots of Quiz readers are thirsty!

A Recipe For Happiness. "A little dash of cheerfulness. A little pinch of laughter. A little bit of tearfulness. (Which may be added after) A recipe for someone's happiness. —Mrs. Elmer Henkel"

The Above from a lonesome little farm home over on Route 4 Arcadia and time to send a bit of cheer to others. In addition to looking after husband, baby daughter, an enormous kitchen garden, doing lots of canning, sewing, etc.

I am afraid Mrs. Fogt, now living in Aurora, is going to receive a big shock. She writes that she wants to see the 1932 calendar as "I am anxious to see your picture."

A shame to disrupt a peaceful home by granting her wish. I hope it doesn't make you lay awake nights, Mrs. Fogt.

Mrs. A. B. Flala writes that she was recently an overnight guest in the home of an elderly man. At the supper table he announced that she would help get breakfast and could have graham mush. It proved to be a delicious great made from ordinary graham flour.

"I have tried it on our family and they prefer it to that made from the package whole wheat breakfast foods and it is much cheaper."

This old gentleman said that it was graham and cornmeal mush that pulled his family through a period of depression such as we are now having." Mrs. Flala writes.

I always will think this ain't no depression. Because we are not hard up for staples, at least I am sure few people are in this part of the country. The things we lack are our luxuries. We are hard up for fur coats, new cars, jewels, trips, and that stuff. And we are all getting along about as well without as with them.

Except, of course, the fur salesmen, the car manufacturers, and the other workers in luxury producing industries.

My sister, a reporter on the staff of the Omaha Bee-News, gets to meet lots of celebrities. And she is not such an old hand at newspapering but what she gets a big kick out of getting to know these public idols at least a little. Just the same as you and I. We're all hicks together, aren't we? So I was quite thrilled to learn she was sent out to interview Nancy Carroll, movie star, and her handsome husband, Bolton Mallory, editor of the funny magazine Life. They were in Omaha a few days ago visiting his mother. Ethelyn asserted Nancy was just as sweet off the stage as when that she was very patient and considerate of the camera men and reporters dogging her, answering their many questions graciously and fully.

Horace Travas swears that only a quarter of an inch of moisture fell in the big snow last week. Maybe so, but wasn't it gorgeous. Surely there never was a more beautiful snowfall.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week.

Fred Brown left for Dayton, Wash., to accept a position in Elmer Gard's jewelry store. The school house in Dist. 16, in Mira Valley, known as the Pried district, burned to the ground. All school books and equipment were destroyed along with the building. Insurance amounted to $550. Miss Goldie Curry was teacher. Ice was being hauled from Elm Creek to fill the new Misko Ice house.

Five small boys were taken into custody about 10 o'clock one evening by the nightwatch, because they were playing on tin whistles, which kept people in the neighborhood awake. Judge Gudmundsen gave them a talking to but no charges were filed.

Oliver Cromwell, Archie Bradt and Art Perkins went to Grand Island to represent the fire department at the state convention. Fire Chief Shirley also was present. Frank Koupal went to Lincoln to spend a month with his family, who were staying there to secure medical help for Rudolph, who had been ill for a long time. Mr. Koupal carried with him a large basket of fresh eggs, the produce of his own hen yard.

A. F. Jensen, Chas. E. Detweiler, C. R. Smith and F. J. Ball filed notice of incorporation of a new electric light company in Ord. There were already two such companies in existence.

20 Years Ago This Week.

A salmon loaf, made from canned salmon, resulted in a case of ptomaine poisoning for Mrs. Lew Martin. She was reported out of danger. The Burlington railroad announced daily train service to Ericson. Charles Wigent went to Omaha for an operation for kidney trouble. He had been ill for some months. A union temperance meeting was held at the opera house, Thomas Darnell being the speaker. Mrs. Antonia Pavak and Frank Novak were joined in marriage. Frank Witt and Ella Hansen were wed.

H. D. Leggett won first in every Buff Leghorn class when he took his fancy birds to the state poultry show in York.

A blood clot caused the sudden death of Mrs. Anton Bartunek.

BRICK BATS

Ed Chestershire was just a bloke who labored by the day, To keep himself from going broke, To hold the wolf at bay. His education wasn't great, he was not over bright, No family fortunes on his slate, no genius was in sight. But strange to say, he won success, he's now a mighty guy. More brilliant men, more for less, and wonder how it's done. Old timers, with their high degrees will sit around the fire, And tell how Ed once peddled cheese and how he clambered higher.

Until he topped the whole darned heap. They tell, and wonder why. He seemed to catch them all asleep, the way he passed them by. The answer, though quite plain to see, is common sense the same day. We always try to make the plea, "He was a lucky guy." When all the time we really know the reason for success; Not brains, or labor with a hoe, nor just a lucky guess. It's fear that brands a man a slave, while courage sets him free. Success is found among the brave, the place where it should be. —Brick Smith.

CHEVROLET IN 1ST PLACE

AT NATIONAL EXHIBIT When the doors opened to the national automobile show in Grand Central Palace, New York, Chevrolet occupied the position of honor on the show floor for the fifth consecutive year.

Each year the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce awards first place at the national shows to the member company which has done the largest dollar volume of business in the previous 12 months. The award is much coveted in the industry, because in addition to the distinction it conveys it also carries with it the right to first choice of exhibition space at the national shows in New York and Chicago. Chevrolet first achieved the position of honor in 1923. Since then the company has consistently maintained its leadership.

Agricultural Night School.

Twenty-five farmers who are attending evening classes at the Ord high school, competed in a judging contest Monday evening. Ten exhibits of four cow illustrations each were judged. They represented six breeds of dairy cattle. Many champions were among the photographs. High judge from the agricultural evening school group was Don Hughes, with a score of 740 out of a possible 1000 points. Howard Huff and Robert Cushing tied for second place, and Roland Marks was fourth. Don Marks, a high school student who also worked on cattle, turned in a score of 910.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Whenever the cookery editor hollers out in loud despair that she must have recipes or close up the cooking column... you ought to see the results that pour in. Showing that cooks do possess hearts, but not until it is absolutely necessary, is that the right conclusion? Anyway, the Quiz and this editor thank you, and we hope the recipes will continue to arrive without us having to get "suggestive" again.

Prune Fudding. 1/2 lb. prunes cooked in water to cover. Cool and pit. There should be 1 c. of juice. 2 eggs. 1/2 c. sugar. 1 tsp. vanilla. 1 c. thin cream. Add prune juice and pitted prunes. Bake 1 1/2 hours in a slow oven for 25 minutes.

Mrs. Wallace Coats, Comstock. And many thanks to you, Mrs. Coats, for all the compliments, as well as the recipe. Here's hoping to continue to deserve them.

Lemon Crackers. Pulverize worth of baker's ammonia and let it remain in 1 pt. of sweet milk for 20 minutes to dissolve. Beat 3 eggs very light with 2 1/2 c. granulated sugar and 1 1/2 c. lard. Drain off the milk in which the ammonia was dissolved, taking care to use none of the dregs. Mix all together and add 5c worth of oil of lemon. Add enough flour to make a very firm dough. Roll and bake. I prefer to cut this with a square cutter. We think these very good. Mrs. M. G. Gardner.

The above recipe, new and different, speaks for itself. Doubtless there will be lots of people wanting to try it.

Below, Mrs. Marks gives her recipe for a nut bread which her friends always brag about. Several of them have asked for the formula below:

Nut Bread. 2 c. white flour. 1 c. graham flour. 3 tsp. baking powder. 1 tsp. salt. 3/4 c. chopped nuts. 1 egg beaten light. 2 tsp. melted butter. 1 1/2 c. sweet milk. 1 c. sugar. Sift the dry ingredients twice, add the nuts, the beaten eggs which has been mixed with the milk, then the butter. Let the batter stand in a greased bread pan for 15 minutes before putting in to bake. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Mrs. Sam Marks.

Good doughnuts. 1 c. light brown sugar. 2 eggs. 1 c. sweet milk. 2 tsp. melted butterfat. 1 1/2 tsp. baking powder. A little nutmeg. Pinch of salt. Don't use too much flour or baking powder. If desired the doughnuts may be rolled in powdered sugar and cinnamon.

5 HOURS MORE NEWS IN LINCOLN JOURNAL DAILY $4 YEAR

It is easy to see how the Lincoln Nebraska State Journal can give five to ten hours later news out on the rural routes and in many towns than any other daily printed between Omaha and Denver. The Journal is the only daily in this vast area printing at night, in fact after 5 P. M. The Journal prints editions right up until train time day and night. The Morning Journal comes in time for mail delivery the same day. The Lincoln Journal gives unexcelled service on a Morning newspaper from the capital city, edited 100 per cent for Nebraskans. All of the other big Nebraska morning dailies are printed on the Iowa line and edit for Iowa readers also.

The combined Sunday Journal and Star with twenty-two colored comics and more wire service than any other Nebraska Sunday gives all of the features formerly carried in both of these leading Sunday papers and costs but $2.00 a year extra. You may mail your order direct to The Lincoln Journal, or we shall be glad to forward it in for you, Daily $4 a year, Sunday $2 extra.

JACOB D. COOK LAID TO REST IN MIRA VALLEY

Man Who Lived in Nebraska
Since 1856 Passes Jan. 20
at Age of Eighty.

In the cemetery in Mira Valley, close to the farm home where almost fifty years of his life were spent, Jacob D. Cook was laid to rest Sunday after funeral services held at the Mira Valley Evangelical church in the presence of an enormous gathering of relatives, friends and neighbors. Mr. Cook passed away last Wednesday, Jan. 20, at the age of eighty years.

Born July 18, 1851 in Pike county, Ohio, Jacob D. Cook came overland with his parents in 1856, at which time they located near what is now Plattsmouth, Nebr. At that time Nebraska was practically a wilderness and Mr. Cook certainly may be called a pioneer for with the exception of five years and six months his entire life was spent in this state.

Growing to manhood at Plattsmouth, Mr. Cook was united in marriage Sept. 14, 1873 to Mary Janssen and the union eight children were born. In the fall of 1882 the Cook family moved to Texas but remained only a short time for in February, 1883, Mr. Cook bought a farm in Mira Valley and moved upon it at once.

Mrs. Cook passed away June 10, 1889 and went to join the two children who had preceded her, Samuel and William. Her sister, Miss Hannah Janssen, being with her during her final illness and death, was asked by Mrs. Cook to care for the children, which request she faithfully fulfilled, assisting the family in every way she could.

In 1894 Mr. Cook, with his family, moved to Cass county and located on a farm near Elmwood where on January 12, 1896, he was united in marriage to Miss Hannah Janssen, who faithfully shared the toils and cares of life with him to the end. Two children were born to this union.

In 1903 Mr. Cook moved back to his farm in Mira Valley where he remained until his death. He was recognized as one of the leading old timers and worthy citizens of Valley county, having shared in the sacrifices of the early eighties and nineties. A man of sterling character, strictly honest and always just, his many acts of kindness endeared him to his neighbors and friends. During his last years he was a patient sufferer and always appreciative of the kindness and care given him by his beloved wife and children. Mr. Cook was reared in a Christian home and his entire life became a follower of Christ and remained faithful until the end.

Rev. John F. Kirkwood officiated at the funeral services Sunday, assisted by Rev. F. C. Cook, of Stanton, a son of the deceased. Other sons, Joseph Andrew, Edward James, Daniel and George were pallbearers while Harry Cook, of Fleming, Colo., assisted their mother.

Besides his widow and eight sons Mr. Cook is survived by four brothers, three sisters, thirty grand children and six great grandchildren, together with a host of more distant relatives and many friends.

North Loup Man Is Fined For Legging

Taken into custody by Marshall Johnson of North Loup Monday, Isaac Fisher was brought to Ord and the next day in police court he pleaded guilty to a charge of bootlegging and was fined $100 and given a 60 day jail sentence. Judge Billy Hamilton presided, the case being brought in police court because of County Judge Hollingshead's absence.

Colorado Man Joins First National Bank

FRANK P. O'NEAL

Two weeks ago we carried a story about the changes in the personnel of the First National bank and today we are glad to introduce Frank P. O'Neal, who is the new vice president.

Mr. O'Neal will be joined here by his wife and children when the school term ends this spring. Then began a series of court cases. First Mrs. Sharp sued for divorce and her husband filed a counter suit, then Mrs. Sharp sought and received an injunction to prevent her husband selling personal property, then the injunction was rescinded and later the Farmers State bank of Burwell foreclosed on the personal property and sold it.

In district court here Monday and Tuesday several men were called as expert witnesses to testify to the present value of 600 acres of land in Valley and Garfield counties owned by Mr. Sharp. Their estimates varied from $23,500 to $46,000 but the mortgagee, Prudential Life Insurance company, is foreclosing at the present time. Deducing the total of the mortgages from an estimated value of $32,040, Judge Clements ordered Mr. Sharp to pay half the difference to his wife, or about $2,000.

Attorney Ben Rose, of Burwell, and the firm of Lanigan & Lanigan, Greeley, represented Mrs. Sharp in this litigation while Davis & Vogelstanz were attorneys for Mr. Sharp.

ORD GRAPPLERS LOSE 1ST MATCH

Wrestling Makes Debut in High School Here; Experienced Bow Boys Win, 31 to 5.

Wrestling as a high school sport made its debut in Ord Saturday evening when the experienced Broken Bow team journeyed here and took Coach Molzen's grapplers into camp by a 31 to 5 score. Broken Bow boys have been wrestling three years, however, so the Ord coach and Supl' Bell are not discouraged at losing to them and feel that a good wrestling team will be built up here before the season ends.

Only one Ord wrestler won Saturday and that was Elwin Auble, who competed in the 145 pound class and tossed his opponent twice in two extra periods. No fall resulted in the regular nine minute period.

Paul Carlson, 85 pounder, lost by a fall, Halten Pierce, 95 pounder, lost by a time advantage, Harold Benn, 125 pounds, lost by time advantage, Adrian Tolon, 135 pounds, lost by a fall, Wm. Sauer, 145 pounder, lost by a fall and Ord forfeited in the 105 and 115 pound classes. In wrestling 3 points are given for forfeits and 5 points for victories.

Tomorrow night the Ord wrestlers meet St. Paul here and with Harold Benn and Adrian Tolon restored to health they hope to make a better showing. Both of these boys arose from sick beds to compete last Saturday, having had the flu for a few days before.

The Ord high school coach was a heavyweight wrestler at the University of Nebraska and believes that in some of his wrestlers here, particularly Auble and Benn, he has real material.

Husband of Former Ord Woman Is Dead

In a Chicago hospital last Friday J. E. Walthers, 35, passed away after an illness of several weeks with a lung abscess, brought on by an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Walthers was the husband of the former Gladys McClatchey of Ord. They were married in Chicago nine years ago and had two children, Vivian, and Robert. Miss Clara McClatchey went to Chicago to attend the funeral and plans to bring her sister and children back to Ord upon her return.

SHARP CASE IS THRESHED OUT, DIVORCE GIVEN

Burwell Woman Gets Decree
After Two Day Legal Wrangle
Here; Property Is Divided.

After a two day legal wrangle in district court here this week Mrs. Elizabeth Sharp, of Burwell, was given a divorce from her husband C. A. Sharp and a division of property was affected that will give each of the two approximately $2,000 after paying the costs of two years ago Mr. Sharp was worth almost $90,000 but depreciation in land values, coupled with his inability to pay off mortgages on real estate, had depreciated the estate greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp had been married forty years and lived together amicably until a few months ago. Then, Mrs. Sharp being an invalid and Mr. Sharp being irascible because of ill health and financial reverses, the two began to have trouble and separated, Mrs. Sharp establishing a home in Burwell and Mr. Sharp remaining on the farm.

Then began a series of court cases. First Mrs. Sharp sued for divorce and her husband filed a counter suit, then Mrs. Sharp sought and received an injunction to prevent her husband selling personal property, then the injunction was rescinded and later the Farmers State bank of Burwell foreclosed on the personal property and sold it.

In district court here Monday and Tuesday several men were called as expert witnesses to testify to the present value of 600 acres of land in Valley and Garfield counties owned by Mr. Sharp. Their estimates varied from $23,500 to $46,000 but the mortgagee, Prudential Life Insurance company, is foreclosing at the present time. Deducing the total of the mortgages from an estimated value of $32,040, Judge Clements ordered Mr. Sharp to pay half the difference to his wife, or about $2,000.

Attorney Ben Rose, of Burwell, and the firm of Lanigan & Lanigan, Greeley, represented Mrs. Sharp in this litigation while Davis & Vogelstanz were attorneys for Mr. Sharp.

EPWORTH LEAGUE INSTITUTE WILL BE HELD IN ORD

Young People of Ten Towns Gather Here This Week For Series of Inspiring Meetings.

Methodist young people of ten towns including Arcadia, Loup City, Sargent, Comstock, Burwell, North Loup, Scotia, Greeley, Ericson and Ord will gather at the Methodist church here this week for an Epworth League institute that begins at 5:30 o'clock Friday evening, January 29, and continues until late Sunday afternoon. Probably more than 100 will be present.

Among lecturers from away who will assist local pastors in the institute are Prof. M. Greg, R. L. H. Kaub and Mrs. M. F. Gilbert, of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Dr. F. M. Kendall, superintendent of the Kearney district for the Methodist church and Dr. Bernard Johnson, superintendent of the Hastings district.

Walter Desch Moves Monument Works

A neatly remodeled garage and a long wooden shed erected on the Desch residential property in the southeast part of Ord this week becomes the new home of the Ord Monument Works, conducted by Walter Desch for many years. All heavy machinery has been placed in the remodeled garage, which has a cement floor, and the long shed built recently becomes a work shop and display room for monuments. The monument factory already is nicely settled in its new quarters.

For years the Ord Monument Works has been housed in a cement building owned by Wm. Moses west of the Sack lumber yard and was very conveniently located, according to Mr. Desch, who says he moved this week solely in the interests of economy.

Next spring he plans to fix up an outdoor display space for monuments, planting flower beds and shrubbery on the Desch lawn to assist in properly displaying the monuments.

Frank Andersen Fined.
Arrested at a dance here last Wednesday evening, Frank Andersen was fined $15 and costs on a charge of intoxication when he pleaded guilty in police court

Twin Boys Are Born To Burwell Woman

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pettis, of Burwell, are parents of a pair of fine twin boys born at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at Hillcrest hospital here. The twins were brought into the world by a caesarian operation performed by Dr. Watson, of Grand Island. One boy weighed 5 pounds and the other 5 1/2 pounds and both twins and mother are doing nicely. Mrs. Pettis is forty-two years old and these are her first children.

Taxpayers League To Meet

Next Monday, February 1, at 1:00 p. m., the Taxpayers League of Valley county will hold a meeting in the Bohman hall, Ord, announces the president, Arthur Mensing. Important matters will be taken up and a full attendance of members and other taxpayers is desired.

VALLEY COUNTY BADLY INFESTED WITH 'HOPPERS'

Survey Shows, Valley, Custer and Greeley Contain 'Hopper Eggs in Menacing Numbers.

Valley, Custer and Greeley counties contain grasshopper eggs in menacing numbers this winter and should weather conditions continue favorable through the rest of the winter and during the hatching season next spring grasshoppers are likely to be numerous and farmers may expect heavy damage to crops. So reads a report reaching the Quiz today from the Nebraska college of agriculture, which recently conducted a survey of the grasshopper situation in central Nebraska.

Grasshopper eggs are much more widely distributed over the state than in 1931, the report says, but are not so intensely concentrated as they were in the fall of 1930. How serious grasshopper damage will be in this county depends much upon weather conditions and also upon control work done by farmers, says County Agent Carl C. Pale. So far the weather has not been old enough to destroy the eggs, he says, as the heavy blanket of snow that has been on the ground since early fall makes exceptionally cold weather necessary to kill the eggs.

The Valley county farm bureau is coying plans to help farmers next spring with control measures recommended by O. S. Bare, entomologist at the state agricultural college.

County Judge Recovering

Judge J. H. Hollingshead, who is in an Omaha hospital recovering from an operation, writes his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Petska, that he is improving daily under the treatments given him. He and Mrs. Hollingshead hope to return to Ord next Monday, he says.

Ord Cagers Win From Loup City, Lose to Danneberg

Coach Molzen's high school basketball players dropped a game to Danneberg last Friday evening, 27 to 24, but turned right around and handed a defeat to Loup City Tuesday night, the score being 16 to 12. The Danneberg game was a fast one that kept spectators shouting but the Loup City clash was a slugfest affair.

Ord cagers suffered a slump Friday night when Manford Steinwurt suffered a broken arm in the Danneberg game. He is the second regular Coach Molzen has lost this year, Kenneth Nutter broke a leg a week ago and two weeks ago Nutter will be back in Stult before the season ends but Steinwurt probably is out until next year.

Ord's Oldest Factory Improves Big 4 Flour, Making New Cereal

New Blend of Wheat, New Machinery Installed to Make Big 4 the Standard Flour Value.

Two young men, both of them experienced in the milling business but both comparative newcomers to Ord business circles though Ord has been their home most of their lives, are making new history in Ord's oldest manufactory, the Ord Milling Company. The two are Manager Oliver Collison and Head Miller Rudolph Collison and they took charge only a few months ago.

For years under the management of members of the Wright and Collison families the Ord Milling Co. has been noted for its Big 4 flour. This flour was the standard brand throughout Ord and a wide territory for many years. Competition in the flour business became more strenuous as the years rolled on, though, and outside brands began to gain a foothold here.

When Oliver and Rudolph took charge of the Ord mill they decided that to regain supremacy in the flour business in the Loup Valley they must make Big 4 the finest flour that could be milled. If this could be done they knew that the advantage a local manufactory has in low costs and lack of high freight rates, together with community loyalty, would give Big 4 a big share of local flour business.

Oliver who is a graduate of the Seibel Institute of Technology, a technical school devoted to the milling industry, knew that the finest flour could be made only by proper blending, proper aging and modern equipment. His brother Rudolph agreed with him.

First the two began to experiment with different blends of wheat, combining hard northern wheat and spring wheat with local wheat in different proportions. Soon they hit on a blend that laboratory tests and the experience of other millers proved to be the proper combination for making the best flour in this climate.

To mill flour of uniform quality the two men knew that a tempering bin was necessary, so they installed.

Many More Donations For Drouth Relief Are Needed

Due probably to the snow and bad roads contributions to the North Nebraska Drouth Relief project announced last week by the Noll Seed Company and the Ord Quiz have not been coming in rather slowly and the first carload has not yet been shipped. It will go out in two or three days if people who have promised donations bring them in. Many more contributions of cash, flour, feed or baled hay are needed, so if you want to help the starving livestock and suffering people in the north and northeast parts of the state don't hesitate another minute about bringing your contributions in. State papers tell pitiful stories about conditions in that region and we who are better fixed should join with other parts of the state in helping them. Bring your contribution to the Noll Seed Company building at once. Those who have already donated are:

Father Lawler, $8; Gertrude Hawkins, $2; Mrs. John Beams, $6; W. B. Weekes, $5; Graham-Seyler Chevrolet Co., $5.00; Ord Quiz, $6.50; J. A. Kovanda, $2; Mrs. Mike Socha, 1 sack flour; W. H. Barnard, 2 sacks flour; Jis Mortensen, 2 sacks flour; John Long, 1 sack flour; Mrs. John Hatfield, 2 sacks flour; Wm. Treptow, 4 sacks flour; John Connor, 2 sacks flour; E. S. Coats, 2 sacks flour; E. C. Leggett, $2; H. C. Stevens, 5 sacks flour; A. N. Orcutt, 2 sacks flour; Joe Weiniak, sack each corn, oats, wheat; C. A. Hager Co., 1 ton alfalfa hay; E. J. Timmerman, 4 sacks corn; Noll Seed Co., 10 bags dairy cow feed; Walter Foth, 1 sack alfalfa; Jens Hansen, 3 sacks bran; Ed Lenz, 2 sacks corn.

When it is filled the car will be consigned to John Sullivan, director of state relief for Holt county, at Atkinson.

Ord School Boy Dies of Ruptured Appendix

Taken suddenly ill Thursday, Otto Rutar, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rutar, of Ord, passed away at 1:30 p. m. Sunday in the Ord hospital, where an emergency operation was performed the day before after his trouble had been diagnosed as appendicitis. Surgeons found that the appendix had burst which brought about Otto's death.

Funeral services were held at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday at the Catholic church in Loup City, where the Rutar family lived before moving to Ord.

Otto is survived by his parents, one brother, Stanley, and two sisters, Blanche and Lillian. He was a bright, studious lad, popular in school and helpful in the home, and his passing occasions great sadness among his school mates and friends, who extend sympathy to the sorrowing family.

ALVA ROCKHOLD DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Burwell Man, once Ord Resident, Passes Sunday In Hospital Here.

Taken suddenly ill Saturday at his home in Burwell Alva Rockhold, 54, passed away the next day in Hillcrest hospital here, where he was brought for treatment. Acute hemorrhagic tractitis was the immediate cause of death, an autopsy performed by Dr. Watson of Grand Island revealed. Mr. Rockhold had been in good health until stricken suddenly Saturday.

Born in Ord, Mr. Rockhold lived here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Rockhold, until he reached manhood. He attended the Ord schools and later learned the barber trade in Ord shops and for many years conducted a barber shop in Burwell, being generally respected and liked there.

Besides his parents, who now live in Stockton, Calif., he leaves a widow and one son, Dallas Rockhold, of Seattle, two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Bowden, of Stockton, Calif., and Mrs. Irvin Theilin, of North Loup, and two brothers, John Rockhold, of Comstock, and Ed Rockhold of Lead, S. D.

Funeral services were held yesterday at the Christian church in Burwell and the body was brought to Ord for burial beside the body of a brother, Roy Rockhold, who passed away some years ago.

Ice Harvest Starts Here.

Monday Harry Patton and a crew of men began cutting ice on the Patches ice pond here. The ice is only about nine inches in thickness but bears a heavy covering of snow so harvesting it is an arduous job this year. Ice cutting has been going on for several days at Ericson, Burwell, and on creeks throughout the country so apparently every ice house will be filled this year. Last winter no ice was cut in this part of Nebraska, due to the warm winter.

Bertha Foth Wed To Arcadia Man

On January 26 at Loup City occurred the marriage of Miss Bertha E. Foth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust H. Foth of Mira Valley, to August H. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stone of Arcadia and Mrs. Stone will live on the groom's father's farm west of Arcadia.

Both of these young people are generally popular and respected in their communities and a large circle of friends extends congratulations and best wishes.

Bid-a-lot club met last evening with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorensen. Dinner was served in Thorne's cafe.

HUSBANDS GET IN ON EXTENSION SESSION TUESDAY

Men Welcomed As Specialists
Explain Best Methods For Home Building, Heating.

To hear a dandy extension project program 45 women and men assembled at the Legion hall in Ord Tuesday for the monthly meeting. Miss Woodman and Mr. Wood, both from the University of Nebraska extension department of the college, were the speakers, gave the lectures for the day, which dealt with adding comforts and conveniences to the home.

Among the items thoroughly discussed were the most modern, convenient type of ironing board to build in; the ideal kitchen cabinet for your kitchen and the features it may include; conveniences in the home such as cabinets for cleaning accessories, and racks for pot-lids. A discussion on the proper depth for cupboard drawers, shelves, the convenient kind of cupboard doors, the working height, building the cabinet clear to the ceiling, leaving the plumbing under the sink unenclosed so that it might be easily accessible, these and many more details were talked over under Miss Woodman's guidance. One man suggested that since every inch of the kitchen had been provided for, it would be fitting to leave the place under the sink for the dog!

BUILDING BURNS AT NORTH LOUP, LOSS OVER $15,000

Flames Started Above Ground Floor Early Tuesday Morning; Adjoining Buildings Saved.

North Loup, Jan. 27.—(Special)—Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the H. C. Sample hardware store here early Tuesday morning, the loss being estimated by Mr. Sample at more than $15,000 with partial insurance coverage.

The fire was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gillespie, who manage the North Loup telephone exchange a few rods away and who were awakened by a bright light shining into their bedroom window. They gave the alarm and the fire department was on the job within a few minutes but the flames had too much headway.

Falling snow and the absence of wind helped firemen in saving the two adjoining buildings, the Voderberg drug store and the North Loup bank building but the bank building was damaged by smoke.

Evidently the fire started above the first floor as the floor remains intact while everything above it was destroyed.

Rotarians Hear Two Fine Talks

Mayor O. A. Abbott, of Grand Island, Attorney Tom Lanigan, of Greeley, L. B. Fenner, of Burwell, and Alfred Sorensen, of Omaha, were guests Monday evening at the Ord Rotary club dinner. All were introduced, and fine talks were made by Messrs. Abbott and Lanigan.

Mr. Abbott, who is court reporter for Judge E. P. Clements and also mayor of Grand Island for several years, discussed the new sewage disposal system being put into effect there. He also touched briefly on other improvements being made in Nebraska's third largest city.

Attorney Lanigan, in a ringing democratic speech, denounced the national administration and took a slap at President Hoover's two billion dollar reconstruction financing corporation, calling it "nothing but a hypodermic for eastern banking and business."

Year's Biggest Crowd Attends Sale Saturday

With the largest crowd of the season in attendance things moved along briskly at the Weller Auction company's sale Saturday. The bidding was more spirited than for some time past. Hog receipts were 1,000 head and cattle 100 head. Prices ruled steady to strong with the previous week's head. The top on cattle was $4.50 and on hogs $3.50, the latter price being paid for 160 to 220 pound hogs. Stocker hogs sold at $2.60 to $3.00, 240 to 275 lb hogs at $3.35 to $3.40 and cattle were stronger with the top of $4.50 on a few head of light stocker steers.

The Weller Auction company recently installed a big flood light that is hung directly over the sale ring and makes it as light as though the ring were outdoors on a sunny day.

Benefit card party sponsored by Pythian Sisters Wed., Feb. 3 at the K. of P. hall. Adm. 15c includes free lunch. Prizes will be given for winners in bridge and rook. Everybody come. 45-1t

Dr. Weekes Is Better.
Though still confined to his bed in Hillcrest hospital, Dr. C. W. Weekes is said to be recovering in a satisfactory manner from the gall bladder operation he underwent three weeks ago. His recovery is taking longer than was expected due to the fact that the incision has continued to drain. His cousin, Dr. Thomas Weekes, of Nebraska City, was in Ord to see him last Saturday. Friends of the Ord doctor and hospital owner are happy to learn that he is recovering.

—John McLain has been ill and was laid up for a couple of days with rheumatism.

COUNTY ECONOMY.

Down in Merrick county last week a real economy program was launched by the county board of supervisors. Budget estimates for 1932 were only two thirds as high as estimates made at the beginning of 1931.

One telling point dug up by the democrat bad boy is the fact that Governor Bryan rarely arrives in his office before 11 o'clock in the morning.

Very commendable is the federal government's policy to pay the expenses of government as we go, instead of at the end of the year by adding to the public debt.

The federal treasury department says our national expense is expected to be $150 million dollars a month, right along.

People who have been damning the Valley county board as an extravagant bunch should move to Merrick county where they really would have something to holler about.

They are entitled to more credit for cutting ten percent in their estimates this year than are the Merrick county supervisors for cutting only 1.3 percent.

They are entitled to more credit for cutting ten percent in their estimates this year than are the Merrick county supervisors for cutting only 1.3 percent.

From our lofty heights as a stable, settled race, we whites are accustomed to look back at the Indians who once inhabited this continent and refer to them as a nomadic people.

We flatter ourselves that we are a home-loving people, and for generations we were. Our ancestors built homes and settled down in one locality for the life of their lives.

Recent statistics show, however, that our characteristics are changing. As a race we are always moving about.

Now we know why Uncle Sam has such a big postal deficit each year. It comes from following his constituents all over the continent with letters.

Think of our own friends and neighbors who have moved during the past year. Think, too, of the business changes that take place annually in Ord and in every other small town you know of.

For a long time we've been one of the 42 percent who stayed home. We've always had a yen to visit California and Montreal and Arizona and Maine and the South Seas.

William Ritchie, Jr., bad boy of the democratic party in Nebraska, is causing regular democrats to spend many sleepless nights.

Bad boy Ritchie is, you know, a candidate for the democratic nomination against Mr. Bryan and while few democrats concede that he has much chance to defeat Brother Charlie for the nomination they do fear that his attacks are giving republicans a lot of good ammunition for use at the fall election.

Senator George W. Norris or some other good progressive in whom Nebraska and the whole middle west has confidence may save the republican party from the greatest defeat in its history.

HOW GOSSIP STARTS. The N. E. A. Bulletin sponsors a little story that shows the ease with which gossip starts.

W. J. Hather went to the McClay Bros. farm at Janesville, Wis., and bought Dictator, the finest American-bred Clydesdale stallion in the country.

John Berry was elected as police magistrate but declined to serve. Miss Susa Misko was taken ill with scarlet fever.

Orville Sow had another battle the other day trying to defend himself. One of his boy friends nicknamed him "Crater", because he said Orville boxed them up, and the other one thought "Fug" or "Fuglist" would do better because Orville lays 'em out. What do you think?

One telling point dug up by the democrat bad boy is the fact that Governor Bryan rarely arrives in his office before 11 o'clock in the morning. A governor should be at his desk by 8:30, Ritchie believes, and he sees no reason why Bryan needs so much sleep.

FEDERAL TAX PROGRAMS. Very commendable is the federal government's policy to pay the expenses of government as we go, instead of at the end of the year by adding to the public debt.

The federal treasury department says our national expense is expected to be $150 million dollars a month, right along.

People who have been damning the Valley county board as an extravagant bunch should move to Merrick county where they really would have something to holler about.

They are entitled to more credit for cutting ten percent in their estimates this year than are the Merrick county supervisors for cutting only 1.3 percent.

From our lofty heights as a stable, settled race, we whites are accustomed to look back at the Indians who once inhabited this continent and refer to them as a nomadic people.

We flatter ourselves that we are a home-loving people, and for generations we were. Our ancestors built homes and settled down in one locality for the life of their lives.

Recent statistics show, however, that our characteristics are changing. As a race we are always moving about.

Now we know why Uncle Sam has such a big postal deficit each year. It comes from following his constituents all over the continent with letters.

Think of our own friends and neighbors who have moved during the past year. Think, too, of the business changes that take place annually in Ord and in every other small town you know of.

For a long time we've been one of the 42 percent who stayed home. We've always had a yen to visit California and Montreal and Arizona and Maine and the South Seas.

"I'll be over after your licker." A minister within hearing distance told of what he had heard and the story soon got noised about that there was booze in the printing office.

The reputations of many men have been ruined and the stability of many business firms destroyed by gossip that started with no more foundation than in the above anecdote.

Let's be careful to ascertain the truth of any rumor we hear before we repeat it to others. Gossip is easy to start and once started, it gathers momentum like a rolling stone until it may cause untold damage.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND. Why is prosperity so coy about returning? Is it because the United States is really dependent upon other countries of the world and that the situation in Europe is reflected to us, tightening money and paralyzing business?

A little newsboy who comes in the hotel every evening has been getting just a trifle more Raggedy Annish looking each evening when he called. Mrs. Partridge noticed it, and at last on a bitterly cold evening, she couldn't stand it any longer.

"That the only coat you've got" queried she. The lad assented. "Haven't you got a suit coat to match those pants?" The boy declared he had not.

Well, in a harsh voice, "I'm not going to see your elbows sticking out a little farther every day. Come on with me," as she grabbed the child, hustled him with her over to Hron's.

The boy is now proudly wearing a warm new overcoat given by the hard-hearted hotel lady.

Every once in a while some man propounds an idea that astonishes me. An idea that it really seems queer to have had occur to him. Clear off his track, if you see what I mean.

Such a one, it seemed to me, I heard from a big burly meat peddler not long ago. "You know," he said quietly, "it's mighty nice for women to do fancy work and make sofa pillows and things like that. All those kinds of hand-work and embroidery have their purpose."

"Why, yes," he answered. "You know they help to keep a woman happy, and contented with her home. They satisfy her, somehow."

Are you listening to Elwood Murray's brief radio talks on the art of speaking, coming from Denver many of these evenings? He is giving a series of them, in the form of a dialogue with some other interested person... student, teacher or so forth.

Elwood is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prince, who live just over the creek north of Ord. He is professor of speech in a Denver college, and doing well with his profession, too.

Did you see the picture of Dr. and Mrs. George Misko's new brick colonial home in Lincoln, published a week ago Sunday in a Lincoln paper? More Ord folks that are popping up in the world, just like Valley county popcorn.

Did you know that Ida isn't Mrs. Clarence Davis' real first name, that her original given name was a Dutch one, which she found difficult for people in this country to say, so she slipped into being "Ida"? She came here at the advanced age of six however, and so could not truly be called a strictly imported product.

If You Are Unable to Rent a Farm

There are many farm renters throughout the middle west who have been unable to rent a farm. If you are one of them, has it ever occurred to you that this very shortage of farms to rent, is one condition which slowly but surely is causing land values to advance?

You are a thrifty tenant, been making and saving money farming for somebody else, accumulated a bank account, stock and equipment. Why not investigate the land market with an idea in mind of buying, and get a place of your own—now—before land advances in value? Some day you plan on becoming an owner and it may be possible for you this year.

This week we are offering two especially good bargains. 160 acres located five miles from Ord, good set of improvements. Land lays level to gently rolling. Price $40.00 per acre. $1,400.00 cash, balance five years at 5 1/2%.

A well balanced ranch of 1,440 acres, one modern house and a tenant house in good shape, other buildings good, two wells and two cisterns, 25 acres in alfalfa, 200 acres cultivated balance pasture, plenty of oak timber for fuel and posts, small orchard. Price $20.00 per acre, will carry a long time loan for $20,000.00. This is a good opportunity to own one of the best ranches in this part of Nebraska without investing much money.

Ord's Oldest Manufactory Improves Big 4 Flour, Makes New Wheat Cereal

ed one. In this tempering bin wheat of the proper blend is introduced and here it stays for 48 hours before it goes into screening machinery where all imperfect grains are discarded. From the screens the wheat goes into a polisher where brushes take off the hard outer coat and where air currents remove all dust.

Then a new wrinkle was introduced, equipment for treating the clean wheat with live steam to soften the kernels and make them more uniform in size. This steam equipment is the greatest single improvement made at the mill and more than anything is responsible for the fine flour of uniform quality now being turned out there.

From the chamber where steam treats the wheat the grain goes to the rolls. There are twelve of these and after each roll is passed the ground grain goes to a sifting apparatus where the flour that has been ground out is sifted through silk cloth and the rest of the grain goes on to another roll. By this time all twelve rolls are passed all the flour in the wheat has been extracted, along with flour dust and by-products, and the residue is sold as commercial bran for stock food.

By different processes the flour dust and by-products are removed from the flour, chief among these processes being the sifting of the flour through twenty-seven different weaves of silk. After the sifting processes are completed the flour goes through two bleachers, one of which has installed recents and uses chlorine gas to bleach the flour to the finest whiteness. This chlorine gas bleacher supplements the Novodate bleacher previously used and between the two bleachers Big 4 comes out as white as any flour on the market.

The new Big 4 flour is being introduced to the trade for the first time this week and Oliver and Rudolph Collison, who have spent so much time perfecting it, are willing to guarantee that it is as good flour as can be bought today, highly advertised brands such as Gold Medal not excepted. It is high in gluten and protein, low in ash, has high absorptive qualities and runs always uniform as constant laboratory tests prove. Housewives who know good flour will welcome the new Big 4.

Another new product being manufactured by the Ord Milling Company now is a whole wheat cereal known as Endosperm of Wheat Breakfast Cereal. Introduced only a few weeks ago this new cereal is a welcome dish at many Valley county breakfast tables and seems destined to enjoy a still greater popularity for it is inexpensive and healthful. A new cocoa flavored whole wheat breakfast also is being tried.

The Ord Milling Company will continue to make and sell No. 1 and Mellow D, their other grades of flour, and these brands also have been stepped up in quality along with Big 4. Bran, shorts and commercial chieftain, calf and pig feeds also will be made.

LOWER GROCERY PRICES

The Food Center Announces New Prices.

Readers of this newspaper must go back scores of years to equal the new low prices put into effect for Saturday selling at the FOOD CENTER. The local manager announces that he expects to have plenty of merchandise on hand but because of the extraordinary low prices, advises everyone to shop early. They advertise Picnics at 9c per pound, sometimes these are mislabeled Picnic Hams but whatever they are, the new low price is 9c per pound. They advertise bacon at 8c per pound, two, three or four pound pieces of cellophane wrapped bacon at 9c per pound. Among other specials are Grapefruit at 3c each or 35c per dozen. This is a marsh seedless grapefruit that ordinarily retails for 10c each. Here are a few other items that are generally sold at 12 1/2c to 15c each that Saturday will be sold at 9c per item: Large size package Post Toasties, Shredded Wheat, Kellogg's Bran Flakes, Rice Krispies, Kellogg's Corn Flakes, genuine choice Alaska tall can Pink Salmon, No. 2 size can extra standard Corn.

The manager reports that their company will sell also for this Saturday a large quantity of real fine golden yellow Bananas at 23c per dozen. Now everyone knows that bananas generally sell around 10c per pound and at such a price a dozen will weigh up at around 50c. You can easily see what a saving you make on even one purchase.

It will pay you well to attend this sale at THE FOOD CENTER. 45-11

KNIGHTHOOD OF YOUTH IS FORMED IN ORD SCHOOLS

Grade Pupils Give Program Friday To Honor Knights; 8 Badges Goal of Students.

By Irma Ellis Leggett.

An auditorium filled with parents, teachers, children and friends watched an elaborate knighting ceremony Friday afternoon at the grade school when a number of pupils won their first badge in the order of the Knighthood of Youth, and became pages. A nice program was also arranged in honor of the occasion, for this is the first time Knighthood of Youth has awarded degrees locally. There are eight badges to work for, and students in the third grade begin working for them, and have four years in which to strive for the highest honors in the organization.

Since the second flowering of knighthood in Ord, a great difference in the atmosphere of the playground, halls and classrooms is seen. For these young knights must watch their conduct every day, and be alert for opportunities to show courtesies to others, to keep order, to be very clean and to behave well in general. Youthful knights now keep order in the halls of the school help up children on the playground who are hurt, and tiny children on cross busy streets. And youthful knights and ladies do not whisper when teacher turns her back. Neither do they copy another's arithmetic paper, scoff at poverty, come to school with dirty hands or fail to say "Pardon me" when passing in front of someone. In every way, they are good. Because they are working for their badges.

The program opened with the assembly call, given by Lloyd Sack on his cornet. Everyone sang America after that, and then the children gave the official flag salute. Anna Jensen read the minutes of the first meeting, and then Harry Zulkoski read the constitution. Next followed the report of the Orderly committee, read by Kendall Wegard, the report of the Health committee which Florence Vergin read, and the report of the Courtesy committee which Jerrine Burrows gave. The several committees marched from their seats to the stage to piano music played by Miss Radcliffe, and tramped back again the same way, very orderly indeed. The club code was given by ten students, and then the club songs and yells, such as "Three cheers for Honor. Three cheers for Youth. Three cheers for our club. The Knighthood of Youth." Then a playlet called "A Day in King Arthur's Court," was presented by a number of pupils. In this play an average everyday boy wishes that Knights were around today, and that he could be one.

Out of his book pop King Arthur and his Knights of the Round Table and inquire if the boy would like to spend a day with them. Of course he would, and the boy learns many things before the day is over. He learns that knights help ladies in distress, that they tell the truth, that they obey orders and many more things. So the boy decided that hereafter mother will be his queen, and his teachers his princes, and that he will be a knight in everyday life, in his home and schoolwork. Charles Keown was the boy playing the part of the boy, Dick Koupal was King Arthur, Evelyn McCall was the mother. A number of children took part, in suitable costumes.

The awarding of badges followed, a tap of the sword on the shoulders of the kneeling ones dubbing them pages. A song called "Follow the Gleam" was sung by everyone, and prayer by Robert Williams, and taps by Lloyd Sack closed the ceremonies.

The garb of knighthood worn by the children taking part consisted of a red cape, a red cap with a red chinstrap, and a broad white badge across the breast bearing the letters of rank of the wearer. Each class room has a president, and other officers, and is a separate branch of the organization, drawing up the rules which students of that room will try to live up to every day in every way. These rules were read aloud during the program, and varied from "Do not whisper" to "When angry, count 10; when very angry, count 100."

A background of white was bearing in back of the stage, bearing the red shield of the order and letter's saying "Knighthood of Youth Club." Across the top of each white window curtain was a red crepe paper band, and individual pictures of the tower where the knights live were mounted on colored backgrounds and posted along the tops of the blackboards.

Stop Night Coughing

Ordinary cough remedies do not reach the conditions which cause night coughing but Thoxine, a doctor's famous prescription does. It stops the cough within a few minutes and goes direct to the internal cause, preventing further trouble.

Taken before retiring Thoxine absolutely prevents night coughing. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat too. Safe for the whole family—guaranteed no opium. Money back if not satisfied.

A Wise Buyer

Buying, as well as selling, is a science.

A wise buyer is not deceived about value. He demands it and he expects to receive it.

He is not greatly influenced by appeals of a purely sentimental nature. He believes in "keeping his money at home" — "patronizing the home merchant" — "loyalty to the town" — but he believes also in getting what he wants when he wants it, and at the right price.

Such a buyer thinks of "keeping money at home" in terms of what he can save on his purchase. "Home" in this case represents his own pocketbook and not the merchant's cash drawer.

Likewise, he reasons, loyalty is a beautiful sentiment; but he believes his first loyalty should be to his family and himself.

And he is right, too!

A wise buyer bases every purchase upon four vital principles, giving each due thought, according to the nature of the purchase.

These principles are:

- 1—Dependable quality.
- 2—Integrity of the seller.
- 3—Full dollar or dollar value.
- 4—Ultimate satisfaction.

Merit Merchants are willing to stand or fall by these principles. They ask neither odds nor favors---only a fair chance to demonstrate.

These Merchants will prove their right to ask you to trade in Ord

Will You Join Home Owners This Spring?

Ord home owners are a happy lot of people. They have no rent to pay monthly. They do not fear having to move on a few days' notice. They know that any improvements they may make in the home they live in will belong to them; therefore they take more pride in their homes. The families of home owners are happier, more contented, than the families of renters.

You can be a home owner, too. You can buy or build this coming spring, if you like. Consult us for details of the Protective plan, by which hundreds of renters have become home owners.

TWO DOSES STOP COUGH OR NO COST

No argument—money back if two doses of Bronchiline Emulsion don't give you INSTANT, unmistakable relief. McLain & Sorensen and all other good druggists guarantee it.

Contains no chloroform nor other narcotics, and no sweet stuff. Not habit-forming. Won't upset your stomach. Smells worse than it tastes. But if you are coughing yourself to pieces, what do you care what it smells like? INSTANT RELIEF is what you want—and what you get with Bronchiline.

S. O. S. club which was to meet with Mrs. Paul Hanson on January 29 has been postponed until the next Friday, February 5.

The Housewife's Biggest Problem!

What is the biggest problem that confront the average Ord housewife?

You know. It's "what will we have for dinner today? what for supper? what for breakfast tomorrow morning?"

Planning meals is a big task, repeated every day over a period of years. Suggestions are always in order so we suggest "meat" because its low in price, relished by the whole family, easy to prepare, high in nourishment, and lends to such a variety of dishes.

The quality of our meats is high and our prices are always in accord with the markets, which means very low at present.
