Stanley Satterfield's Class C Hereford Tops Show; Many Fine Animals Shown.

A Hereford calf raised and fed by a Loup county boy for two years has been a member of a Valley county baby beef club because his own county has no such club, was the grand champion in the baby beef contest held in connection with the Junior Fair here this week. Stanley Satterfield, a brother of County Treasurer George Satterfield, is the Loup county boy who was so honored by Cecil Means, who judged all livestock at the fair.

Young Satterfield's Hereford calf, smaller and lighter than many in the show, was shown in Class C but when the grand champion baby beef was chosen it was judged superior to Class A and B animals.

Fine exhibits of cattle and swine of all breeds featured the Junior Fair, 4-H club boys again proving that even among senior breeders they have few superiors.

In the Shorthorn class the Ward boys from Arcadia, J. C. and Preston, swept all before them and took first, second, fourth and fifth prizes with Harold Garnick winning third. There were not so many entries in either the Shorthorn or Angus classes but many fine baby beefs were shown. J. C. Ward's calf was reserve champion.

Dean Marks was pre-eminent among Junior Angus breeders and his calves won first and third, Orville Sorenson walking away with second and fourth premiums.

The Class A Herefords saw Kenneth Koelling's calf win first, Harold Koelling's 2nd, Donald Marks 3rd and Melvin Koelling's 4th while in Class B Charles Zangger won 1st, Orville Sorenson 2nd, Donald Marks 3rd, Veril Madison 4th and Melvin Koelling 5th. Stanley Satterfield's grand champion calf was 1st in Class C while Charles Zangger won 2nd, Orville Sorenson 3rd, Harlan Wyrick 4th and Gilbert Backcock 5th.

All cattle judging was done Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoon the baby beef parade was a brave sight, led by young Satterfield's grand champion calf. Many of the calves entered in the Valley county show will be seen at the Ben show in Omaha later. Due to the hot, dry summer here most of the 4-H club animals were light and between now and Ak-Sar-Ben time should put on flesh and be in better shape so it is thought that they will quit themselves well at the big show.

Never at a fair in Valley county has there been a better 4-H club exhibit of swine than at the Junior fair this week. All important breeds were represented and Cecil Means did a excellent job of judging, especially in the fat barrow class with all breeds competing. In this class Ernest Jefferies won 1st, Orville Sorenson 2nd, George Jefferies 3rd, Charles Jefferies 4th and Cleith Thompson 5th.

Among the Duro breeders J. C. and Preston Ward took both 1st and 2nd prizes for junior boar and gilt, Kenneth Eglehoff won 3rd and 4th for junior boar and 4th and 5th for junior sow, Hugh Ward won 5th for junior boar and 6th for junior sow. In the litter of four contest Kenneth Eglehoff took 1st and Hugh Ward 2nd, these being the only two entries.

Paul Blessing Wins Junior Golf Tourney

By defeating Floyd Beranek in the final round, Paul Blessing won the final round of the golf tournament for boys under 16 held Monday by the Ord Golf club. Paul finished three up with two to go in his final round with Floyd. James Miliken was medalist with a 43 in the qualifying round.

In the second flight Merrill Huerbs took honors by beating Tummel after eliminating Dean Burt in the semi-final round.

The first flight consolation was won by B. Zulkoski and the second by H. Zulkoski.

Sixteen boys played in the tournament and before starting in the morning Bud Shirley, who had charge of the meet, presented each lad with a new golf ball. After the tournament each boy was given a prize, these prizes being donated by Ord merchants.

It was a successful and pleasurable day for the boys involved and Pro Shirley says he has never seen a better behaved bunch in his life. He didn't hear a cuss word all day, he says, and the boys were as courteous to each other as though they had been playing tournament golf for years.

Married at Burwell. At Burwell on August 10, during the rodeo, Miss Julia Petersen, of Boelus, and Boyd Wetzel, of North Loup, were united in marriage. The Quiz learns. They kept the nuptials a secret for some time but told friends last week. Mrs. Wetzel is employed at the Emil Folt home while her husband works for Ernest Lange. Both are fine young people and are entitled to congratulations.

Ord Man Is Distant Relative Of Demo Nominee

Mid Garner, Valley county farmer of south of Ord, isn't claiming relationship to John N. Garner, democratic vice presidential nominee, though he could if he wanted to.

Bearing a close resemblance to Speaker Garner, Mid is kept busy these days trying to figure out the exact relationship, to satisfy curious inquirers. "Of course," says Mid, "all we Garners hall from Kentucky, so we're all related. As near as I can figure it out, John and I are sixth cousins, or maybe it's fifth. My third cousin, third cousin in Louisiana is a third cousin of Speaker Garner."

Both John and Mid are white haired, red faced, blue eyed and closely resemble each other in build and general features.

"No, I've never met John," Mid says. "Yes, I'm going to vote for him this fall."

Ord Sheriff Has No Twin Brother

Sheriff George S. Round of Ord believes he must have a twin brother. At least such was the impression given by the Omaha World Herald last week when commenting upon the "holiday farm strike" they quoted Sheriff George S. Round of Washington county.

Reading the article in the paper, the Valley county sheriff wondered if he was seeing double. Knowing he hadn't taken a drink of "bum" confiscated liquor, he finally reasoned the blunder out. He came to the conclusion that some reporter on the World-Herald must have imagined the Valley county sheriff as residing at Valley in Washington county.

Anyhow the sheriff has no brother in Washington county.

MISS ATWOOD TO CONDUCT WOMENS PROJECT IN ORD

More Than 300 Women Now Enrolled For Work to Start Early In Coming Month.

FLORENCE ATWOOD

Miss Florence Atwood of the agricultural college extension service will come to Valley county each of the next seven months to meet with project leaders of women's extension clubs, according to County Agent C. C. Dale.

The first fall meetings of the project clubs are to be held at the county agent's office, October 4 and 5. The meetings start at 10 o'clock.

Two hundred thirty-two women already belong to twenty-one clubs which have elected and reported their project leaders to the farm bureau office. Other groups of women may form their organizations and elect leaders between now and October 1st.

The October lesson is about fixing up and making over clothing. One of the first suggestions of the lesson is that each homemaker take stock of what her family has on hand that might be improved or remade. Project leaders may bring garments to the October meeting if they want suggestions from Miss Atwood or the other leaders.

Other lessons this season will be about inexpensive Christmas plans and gifts, home nursing, taking care of the summer meat supply, the use of dairy and poultry products, and home baking. All the clubs in the state, totaling a membership of more than 15,000 are taking the same series of lessons in the emergency project called "Live-At-Home". Women who belonged to project clubs last spring had two emergency lessons, one about gardens and the other about canning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Emil Barta and Mr. and Mrs. Will Treptow returned Tuesday evening from Omaha. Sunday Mr. Treptow had shipped three car loads of cattle and one of hogs to the Omaha market.

Roosevelt Loses In Rotarian Straw Vote

A month ago the Ord Rotary club took a straw vote of its membership on president and governor and at that time Herbert Hoover received 10 votes, Franklin D. Roosevelt 9, Dwight Griswold 15 and Chas. W. Bryan 5. Monday a second straw vote was taken by the club, the vote being: Hoover, 14, Roosevelt, 6; Griswold, 14, Bryan 6. The club plans to take a straw vote once a month until the November election.

Tax Leagues Meet Today. A state wide meeting of county Taxpayers leagues is being held in Grand Island today, September 1, and several officers and members of the Valley county league will be in attendance. The meeting is to discuss the 1933 levy program and other important matters. Thirty-two counties will be represented. It is thought.

CROWD AT JUNIOR FAIR YESTERDAY ESTIMATED 2000

4-H Club Show Was Big Financial Success, Officers State; Program Pleasing.

Valley county's first Junior Fair sponsored by boys and girls 4-H clubs and held Tuesday and yesterday in Ord was a big success from every standpoint, say County Agent C. C. Dale and Harold Benn, president of the Junior Fair association. It is estimated that close to 2,500 people visited the fair, most of them attending Wednesday which was "Ord Chamber of Commerce Day."

The program Tuesday was confined entirely to the judging of exhibits and to baseball games between Elyria and Arcadia and Olean and Oak Creek. Elyria won the opener, 10 to 6, and in the final Olean beat Oak Creek 8 to 4, due principally to the work of Kenneth Barber who hit a home run and a three-bagger at critical moments. Both were fast games.

Wednesday a more varied program was offered, the principal feature being an exhibition of blind-folded driving and shooting by "Anderson, the Blind-folded Wizard," whose home is in Sargent and who was brought to the Junior Fair under the auspices of the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

His eyes securely blinded and taped, Mr. Anderson put on a marvelous exhibition of automobile driving, seeming to sense cars and other obstacles in his path by some uncanny sense. His shooting likewise pleased the large crowd.

Another exhibit was an acrobatic exhibition by Miss Mary Baker of North Loup, who performed on the platform before the grandstand in a way that pleased the crowd quite as well as any high-salaried acrobat brought here by the fair.

A treasure hunt for the children filled the morning hours and in the afternoon a program of foot races, bicycle races, daylight fireworks, band music and ball games provided plenty of entertainment for all. Between 2 and 3 o'clock between Burwell and the Ord Camels and between the Delco-Lights and Mira Valley but the Quiz goes to press too early to chronicle the final results.

Most of the program yesterday was provided by the Chamber of Commerce but one unscheduled bit was a partial eclipse of the sun early in the afternoon, most people in the crowd dividing their attention between watching the program and squinting at the eclipse. Anyway, Valley county's first Junior Fair goes into the record books as an unqualified success, an example of what unselfish community effort can do and a tribute to the boys and girls who worked so hard to put it on.

1932 Is County's Biggest Year For Farm Foreclosures

People back east who may think that conditions are good in the great open spaces should take a look at mortgage foreclosure records for 1932 in Valley county. So far this year 49 such foreclosures have been filed with Alfred Weigard, clerk of the district court. Heretofore 1931 was the biggest year for foreclosures, 29 being filed. By the first of the year it is feared that there will have been 75 foreclosures filed in Valley county.

Milford Makes Improvements. James Milford is having extensive decorating done this week in the postoffice, Norm Holt doing the work. Last week Mr. Milford had the interior of the building occupied by the Food Center painted, Ernest Woolery being the painter in charge. An oil burner is being installed in the basement of the Milford building that was damaged by fire. Mr. Milford adopting this system of heating for the postoffice, Food Center and Benda stores because it will require little personal attention. He does not plan to repair or rebuild his corner building until spring at least.

VALLEY COUNTY'S TAX LEVY TO BE SAME AS IN 1931

In Spite of Valuation Decrease, Board Votes to Get Along On 3.70 Mill Levy.

In spite of the fact that assessed valuation cuts on all kinds of property this year whittled between six and seven million dollars' worth of property off the tax rolls, Valley county will try to get along in 1932 on a tax levy of 3.70 mills, which is the same levy as was made for 1931. So the county board of supervisors decided Tuesday, at an important session devoted almost entirely to the discussion of economy measures.

The new general fund levy is 2.33 mills as compared with 2.25 mills last year, the new bridge fund levy is 1 mill as compared with .75 last year and the interest on bonds levy is increased from .31 to .37, yet the total county levy stays at 3.70 mills, the same as in 1931.

Holding the county tax levy to this level is made possible by the board not making a levy for road work nor for the Valley county fire district, which was discontinued this year. In 1931 the road fund levy was .3 of a mill and the fair levy .09 of a mill.

Valley county will realize between 25 and 30 thousand dollars for its road fund from gas tax and increased license fees. County Clerk Kilma points out and it is believed that necessary road work can be done with this money without resorting to general taxation.

Particularly in its general fund, the county is likely to run short before the year 1932 ends, many believe. In 1931 a general fund levy of 2.25 mills brought in $49,000; in 1932, with the big decreases recently authorized in assessments, the new levy of 2.33 mills will bring in only $39,000. Moreover, it is pointed out that funds for poor relief will be needed in greater amounts during the coming winter than ever before so only by the most stringent economy can the county hope to break even on general fund expenses. Upon the request of County Clerk Kilma, every officer in the court house this week submitted a budget of estimated expenses for his office and by eliminating all items that are not absolutely essential it is believed that the county can get along before the year ends.

Most townships likewise are holding levies down to the absolute minimum this year. Led by Arcadia township which cut its last year's levy of 3.30 mills down to only .23 of a mill for 1932, the various townships are making large cuts. There are only five exceptions to this rule, Eureka, Independent, Liberty, Lehigh and 135th North, which cut their levies to 2.00, 2.00, 1.50, 2.00 and 2.00, respectively. How Arcadia township will be able to get along on a levy of .23 of a mill when 3.00 mills was used last year, with the valuation increases further reducing tax money, is puzzling court house officials.

Arcadia township levied .12 for general fund expenses in place of .50, cut out road and bridge fund levies entirely, and levied .11 of a mill for library in place of .50. Although the Arcadia village general fund levy was decreased from 5.65 to 4.70 the total levy increases, due to adding a sinking fund with a levy of 1.10 mills. The new total is 6.30 mills.

North Loup village levies remain the same as last year with the exception of an increase of the water and electric bond fund levy from 3.2 mills to 4 mills, the increase being made necessary by the valuation increase.

Some school district levies are lower than last year, notably at Arcadia where the reduction is from 11.6 in 1931 to 6.3 for 1932. Many school districts had to raise their levies, however, due partly to lower property valuations and partly to the fact that in every district the free high school tuition levy is increased by .3 of a mill. This increase is made necessary both by more enrollment in high schools and by the lower valuations, the county clerk explains.

The Nebraska state levy is, of course, higher this year, having been increased from 2.04 mills to 2.37 mills. However, the general trend of taxation is downward, both through the valuation cuts and because levies also are being lowered.

BAKE SALE.

You are cordially invited to attend the Catholic ladies bake sale at Pecenia & Perilinski's Market Saturday afternoon, September 3, 3-11.

—Glen Fales and family left Ord Monday. They were going to Burwell and afterwards to Mitchell, so it is reported. The Fales family has been living in Mrs. Nellie Combs' property on 16th street. Mr. Fales was a barber in the Benjamin shop.

Two Scottsbluff Men Are Rivals In 5th District Race For Congress

People out in Scottsbluff, in the west edge of the 5th Congressional district in which Ord is also located, know that whichever way the wind blows this fall, one of their candidates will be sent to Congress. Both Robert G. Simmons, republican incumbent, and Terry Carpenter, democratic nominee, are long time residents of Scottsbluff.

Both Simmons and Carpenter are young men. Both are well educated, clean and capable. Both are personally dry, and any Scottsbluff resident will testify that neither has ever been known to take a drink. Both are married and have children.

TERRY CARPENTER

The automobile business there and three years ago launched a gasoline and coal business. He now owns and operates several "cut price" filling stations in cities of western Nebraska.

In one respect, Messrs. Simmons and Carpenter are markedly dissimilar for while both are personally dry the former is likewise politically dry while Mr. Carpenter is politically wet. He believes that prohibition has been a failure and evidently is supporting the national democratic party's platform.

Both men undoubtedly will speak in Ord and other towns of Valley county during the coming two months.

H. S. ENROLLMENT WILL BE CLOSE TO 300, SAYS BELL

Registration Week Total Is 236, 60 More Expected; School Opens Next Monday.

With 236 students enrolled in Ord high school at the end of registration week, Superintendent Millard Bell announced yesterday that when school opens next Monday the total enrollment will be close to 300, which is practically the same as last year. If anything, there will be a slight increase, he says. The freshman enrollment last week was 59, the sophomore enrollment 45, junior enrollment 61 and senior enrollment 71. Out of the fifty or sixty students who have yet to register, at least nineteen are Ord boys and girls, the superintendent. This will make the senior class even larger than last year's which was the largest in Ord high school's history.

Most of the students who have yet to register are Ord boys and girls who overlooked registration week and will register on the opening day of school, next Monday, September 5th.

Grade school registration is not held in advance but the superintendent says that this number never fluctuates to any great extent so will probably be about the same as last year.

Teachers are beginning to arrive this week and by today or tomorrow it is expected that the entire teaching staff will be here and making plans for the year's work. Faculty meetings are scheduled for almost every day between now and Monday.

Puncture Vine Is Prevalent In Ord

Puncture vine, the thorny weed that first made its appearance here two or three years ago, is spreading rapidly, so the Quiz learns this week. Especially in the east part of town, around the seed houses, elevators and the city light plant, many puncture vines are growing.

Monday W. A. Anderson detected a large patch of it near the high school building and the janitors were busy most of the day digging it out.

Puncture vine, so called because it produces thorny pods that often puncture the stomachs of animals eating it, grows low to the ground and has green-white leaves. Some of the thorns are so long that when they harden in the fall they will even puncture pneumatic tires.

A community-wide effort should be made to eradicate this dangerous weed before it becomes more widely spread than it is now.

—Tuesday August Peterson went to Taylor to attend a sale. Mr. Peterson went as far as Burwell and visited her mother.

VALLEY REGION SHOWS INTEREST IN IRRIGATION

Majority Favors Going Ahead With Ditch, Zangger Says; Gives Crop Figures.

Although the actual circulating of petitions for an irrigation district between Ord and North Loup has not started yet a big majority of the land owners involved are showing interest in and enthusiasm for the project, says W. O. Zangger, one of the leaders in its promotion. He feels that there will be no difficulty in securing the signatures of 51 per cent of land owners in the 10,000 acre tract involved.

"As pointed out in last week's Quiz, the project is made possible through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's offer to loan $250,000 at 3 per cent interest to build a dam and dredge a ditch from the Ord railroad bridge to a point 3 1/2 miles south of North Loup.

Most of the area involved is suffering from drought this year and has done likewise for the past three successive summers. Though the soil is fertile, rain fall has been lacking and farmers are up against it financially.

Some figures given to the Quiz this week by Mr. Zangger will be interesting:

The cost of raising field corn, he points out, will approximate $1.25 per acre up to husking time, plus 90c per acre taxes, plus $1.33 interest per acre on farm loans, which it is estimated will average $25 per acre. The total average cost per acre of raising field corn in the Loup valley under present "dry land" operations will thus approximate $3.53.

All of these costs must be paid whether a crop is raised or not. This year the crop will not average over 12 bushels per acre so at 25c per bushel the average yield would bring just $3.00 per acre, or 53c less than actual production cost.

Under irrigation a little extra might be expected in raising smaller fields so a fair estimate of the same initial cost might be placed at $3.70, which includes cost of plowing, planting, cultivating, seed, etc., taxes, interest on farm loan, the same as in the "dry land" estimates. To this would be added 60c per acre for interest on ditch loan, $1.00 per acre for payment on the principal of the loan, 60c per acre for the water right and possibly 50c per acre for extra labor, or a total cost of $6.40.

With present water and average yield of 70 bushels per acre of field corn is guaranteed which at 25c per bushel would bring the producer $17.50 per acre, or a gain over cost of $11.10. "Which would you choose, the loss of 53c per acre as present or clear profit of $11.10 per acre under irrigation?" Mr. Zangger says.

Some people might say that as this year's crop is unusually poor this is hardly a fair comparison but Zangger points out that a five year average would put the initial cost to be about $1.00 per acre higher because of higher labor expense, which would bring average "dry land" costs to $4.53 per acre. The average corn production over this period would not exceed 80 bushels per acre and the average price 45c per bushel, which would amount to $13.50 or a gain of $3.97.

On the other hand, adding $1.00 per acre for higher labor and feed to the irrigation costs, making them $7.40 per acre, and figuring the 70 bushel yield at 45c, the return would be $31.50, or a profit of $24.10 per acre over the five year period, or a clear gain of $15.13 per acre above farming without irrigation.

On crops that might be raised other than field corn the comparisons are similarly in favor of irrigation and leading spirits in the irrigation project believe that the opportunity should be grasped and work started at once.

Earth Cracks Open In Polak Hay Field

People who live west of Ord are still marvelling at a huge crack that opened up in the earth on the Joe Polak farm about three weeks ago. So far no plausible explanation has been offered of the unusual occurrence.

A dull booming sound was heard about three weeks ago, it is said, and she could not imagine what caused it. Two or three days later Mr. Polak was mowing his alfalfa and one of his horses fell into a crack in the ground. When he examined the crack he found that it was semi-circular in shape and about a hundred yards in length. In places the crack was eighteen inches wide and in some places twenty feet deep.

Frequently small cracks develop during a freezing spell in winter but this is the first time a crack of this size has occurred during the summer.

Burwell Young Lady Commits Suicide

Miss Edith Scott, 25, of Burwell, committed suicide in that city last Saturday by shooting herself in the head with a revolver. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Burwell Sunday, attended by several Ord and North Loup people. Miss Scott a year or so ago had an operation in an Ord hospital and at that time was here for several weeks. Continuous ill health and the fear that she might have to have another operation is said to be responsible for her act.

Will Broadcast Tonight.

Under the auspices of the Blain-Woodward Livestock Commission company, Joe Puncocar and his orchestra of Ord will broadcast from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock tonight over station KGBZ, York. Both Bohemian and popular numbers will be played.

Otto Bartz Car Is Badly Damaged

North Loup, Aug. 31.—(Special)—While he was fishing at Lake Ericson last week, Otto Bartz' car was the victim of a peculiar accident. The car was parked on the crest of the hill south of the power house and about noon, without apparent cause, left its parking place and started down the hill with no one at the wheel. Mr. Bartz' nephew, Willis Souck, was near by and made a wild grab for the emergency brake but missed and was badly hurt when the car crashed into a lead pipe at the foot of the hill. His head was gashed and his back sprained. The car was badly damaged and the Clement wrecker hauled it home Thursday.

Quiz Man Back to Fishing.

H. D. Leggett, Quiz publisher, returned to Ord last Wednesday from Nisswa, Minn., and after spending about a week here left Tuesday noon for Nisswa, where he will spend another two or three weeks fishing in Cullen lake. He was accompanied to Ord by Ray Luther, guide at Cullen. Mrs. C. A. Anderson and children accompanied Mr. Leggett back to Minnesota and will visit there for a week or ten days returning with Mr. Anderson who plans to drive up for a few days early in September.

AMEN, SAYS THE QUIZ.

Writing in the Alliance Times-Herald last week Ben Sallows has the following to say about the municipal light plant of that city:

"This city wouldn't trade its municipally owned light and power plant for four of the Scotchbluff kind. (Western Public Service Company). This writer was a large user of that service for three years in Bayard and Bridgeport and learned that courtesy and service are words unknown to the Western Public. Every Saturday night they'd load the line with a merry-go-round or a tent show and put out the lights on the streets, stores and picture shows while the populace scurried hither and yon searching for the service man and manager. Every time the lightning flashed, the power and lights went out.

"Alliance has none of that. We get service at a lower rate than Scotchbluff. We do not pay for street lighting, sewer flushing, water pumping and a lot of other things that are assessed against Scotchbluff property owners in addition to their light rates.

"What Scotchbluff wants to do is of course, its own business and the Alliance isn't interested one way or the other. But it is interested when the report is circulated that this city isn't in favor of its present system of municipal ownership. Get it straight: We are!"

To our mind Editor Sallows has in his brief article presented the case of municipal ownership versus high lines in a masterly manner and to all of his statements the Quiz says "Amen." Ord is fortunate in its efficient light plant and in the excellence of its service. Rarely is light or power shut off here; always Manager Allen and other city employees arrange such shut-downs as are necessary in such a way that they cause a minimum of inconvenience. Light and power rates here are among the state's lowest and service is as good as can be found anywhere. Ord, too is thoroughly sold on municipal ownership. Try and talk us out of our light plant!

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

Probably never again will land owners between Ord and North Loup in the river bottom have an opportunity such as they have at present. We refer to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's offer to loan $250,000 to an irrigation district that could be formed here, this money to be used in damming the North Loup river and dredging a ditch that would put plentiful water on 10,000 acres of land.

Best part of the offer is that this money may now be borrowed from the government at only 3 per cent interest, with either a ten or twenty year amortization plan of repayment.

Ord bankers are authority for the statement that even in normal times an irrigation district of this kind would have to issue 6 or 7 per cent bonds and discount them considerably in order to raise the money. Now the money is available at less than half that interest rate with no discounts.

Whether such a project would be profitable is, of course, a matter for individual land owners involved to decide for themselves. The Quiz, with no acreage in the proposed district and with no personal interest in it, would not be so foolhardy as to tell these land owners that they should seize this opportunity. But to us it looks like a great opportunity and we are sure that if we did own land in the proposed district we would not hesitate a moment in grasping a chance of this nature.

From Ord's standpoint a 10,000 acre irrigation project so cheap would be of incalculable benefit. For the past twenty years Ord has remained static; for the past year or two, possibly, we have even stagnated. Our city's only great chance of growth in population, in opportunity and in wealth, is for something like this project to be brought to fruition. Loup valley farms, given plentiful water, will produce enormous crops. Land values will increase, farms will tend to become smaller and population will thus be increased. Everybody concerned is bound to benefit. To our mind it is time that we withdrew our trust from Mother Nature, who so often fails us in the matter of rain-fall, and place our trust in something more tangible—our own efforts.

AN ENCOURAGING SIGN.

An encouraging note was sounded last week when Millard Bell, superintendent of the Ord city schools, reported that advance enrollment was slightly larger than normal. Another encouraging sign is the fact that the enrollment includes nearly all of those who attended the schools last year, graduates of course excepted. Few young people are quitting school before they finish the twelfth grade during these trying times, which gives added hope for the future.

The Ord schools faced a somewhat difficult situation this year. Costs had to be reduced and at the same time board of education members hesitated to cut salaries greatly, which might have resulted in the loss of teachers who have been proving efficient, or to eliminate from the curriculum any courses that have been found advantageous in past years.

Supt. Bell and the board solved the question nicely, we believe, by putting into effect a nominal salary cut and reducing the faculty by only one teacher, thus effecting a saving in school costs without hampering the courses of study offered. Other teachers absorbed the work of the one eliminated, which proves that those who guide the destinies of Ord's young people are willing to co-operate to a greater extent than their employers demanded.

Ord has a beautiful, modern school plant; a capable superintendent; an efficient corps of instructors. With a larger student body and a city that is willing to support the schools to the limit much may be accomplished this term.

DEPRESSION BEATERS.

There were probably many firms in the country that succeeded in "beating the depression" last year but it is more than a coincidence that the two concerns who "beat the depression" on the largest scale were the two greatest users of newspaper advertising space, the American Tobacco Company and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The American Tobacco company not only exceeded its gross business of any previous year but its net profits also exceeded the profits of any year before, even the boom of 1929.

Selling a billion dollars worth of groceries, the A. & P. company went into first place in gross retail selling.

Among other large companies some reduced their advertising appropriations to a minimum and were sadly hit, others diverted their appropriations from newspapers to other mediums such as handbills and circulars and thereby threw money away while still others continued with their regular advertising and profited thereby.

In the long run there is no advertising medium that will furnish results at a low cost as newspapers. And there is no economy so mistaken as a reduction of advertising.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Mrs. Cornell writes in a correction to her recipe for canning large cucumbers, saying that included in the directions should be "text morning drain and slice roundways in such a way that they cause a minimum of inconvenience. Light and power rates here are among the state's lowest and service is as good as can be found anywhere. Ord, too is thoroughly sold on municipal ownership. Try and talk us out of our light plant!"

We are always glad to have corrections sent in, and like to have any mistakes called to our attention. In these days of counting every penny, far be it from this editor to want any footstuff wasted because of faulty printing of recipes, or because some ingredient has been forgotten when jotting it down to give to the Quiz. So you help us, and we'll try to help you.

We are also glad to get any helpful hints which will lighten the work of the cook. Such as, for instance, putting a pinch of soda in asparagus or green peas to help them keep their inviting color. Or such as, Mrs. Albert Anderson's suggestion that chokecherries come apart more readily, skin from pulp, if a pinch of salt is added to the kettleful as it cooks.

1 c. graham flour, 1 c. flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 4 tsp. baking powder, 1 c. milk, 1 egg, 2 tbsp. molasses and sugar, 3 tbsp. shortening.
Mix together dry ingredients, add milk, beaten egg, molasses, sugar and shortening. Bake in greased gem pans in a hot oven about 25 minutes.

Mrs. Clifford Sample.
Prune Whip.
2 c. cooked prunes cut fine, 1 c. vanilla cut fine, 1 tsp. vanilla. Pinch of salt, 2 egg whites, beaten very stiff, fold in last. Bake in oven until it won't stick to a toothpick. When cold serve with whipped cream or cream.

Evelyn Knapp.
Sugar Cookies.
4 eggs, well beaten, 2 c. sugar, 1 c. butter, 2 well rounded tsp. baking powder, 3 c. flour, sift with baking powder. Lemon extract to flavor. No other moisture than the eggs and butter is needed. To make them look tempting, press a large plump raisin into the center of each cookie before baking.

Mrs. Dean Moser.
Chocolate Icing.
4 tbsp. scraped chocolate, melted in a stew pan. Add 4 tbsp. sweet milk, 1 tsp. water, mix well and add 1 scant c. sugar and a small lump of butter. Boil about 5 minutes and spread on cake.

Mrs. Walter H. Jones, Arcadia.
And here is a recipe that a friend of my mother's gave to me in Alliance. It is not nearly as much work as my own recipe for making Orange Bread, and is very good, so perhaps you'd like it too. Mrs. Tash is a dandy cook, incidentally.

Yellow rind of 5 or 6 oranges, sliced very thin and in small pieces.
1 c. sugar, 1 c. water, cooked until thick and set aside to let cool, but not cold or it will sugar.
1 c. sugar, 2 eggs, 1 c. sweet milk, 1/2 c. flour, 3 tsp. baking powder, 1/2 tsp. soda. Pinch of salt. Nuts if desired. Bake slowly 45 minutes.

I usually use one-half of this recipe.
Mrs. I. E. Tash.

The Expression club enjoyed a picnic Friday evening in the Ord Park. They had a lunch, played games and had a swim in the river near the Mortensen cottage. Rev. Real and Mrs. Marlon Cushing accompanied the young people.

Something DIFFERENT

I thought of a dandy mispronunciation the other day, but I can't remember who it belongs to. Will someone kindly come forward and claim this youngster for his own? It is "confiscate". In place of confiscate.

I think I'm going to have to quit this above monkey business. It is tough on my spelling apparatus.

Visiting around other newspaper publishing establishments, I find many evidences of super-culture and refinement that the Quiz office lacks. Ours may still be called a printing office, but not so the Times-Herald, of Alliance.

Their building, new a few years ago, has elle-gant high-ceiled private offices for a number of bosses. Windows high enough so no one can walk up outside and shoot the innocent editor as he works.

Walls are finished in a gentle spring green, perhaps to aid ideas to spring forth, eh?
Windows are furnished with heavy silk draperies in colors, hung from iron rods. Glass curtains are not lacking. And on a broad wall space hangs a big tapestry, also depending from a wrought iron bar.

Don't you imagine they probably serve tea each afternoon, to live up to such surroundings?
When my father owned it, the first of those many years, the Times-Herald was only a mere printing office. And very mere, at that. The walls were adorned with ink smears and telephone numbers, and also a few reminders or notes on newstories, including print paper, etc.

One modest window was garnished with heavy layers of papers and plenty of dust. Another opening into the back room provided a fine place through which to hawl out the printers, yell at the linotypist, or shout for the devil. Of course, I mean the printer's devil, than whom no one was than-whom in those ancient days.

Things clipped around there. When the editor heard of an accident, he jammed on his hat and made off in long strides for the scene, to be his own star reporter. When the "Big Press" wouldn't run, no expensive help available for hours, the editor shed a few layers of clothes and dived into the mysterious and greasy trouble himself, and often emerged, ink-stained and tired after hours of hard work, but with the old press willing to work again.

A dead-line was a dead-line, but money was frequently scarce, so if a merchant looked as if he had a big ad up his sleeve the paper waited a few hours while some heavy type-setting was done, and the merchant got his big ad in that issue.

When printers quit, the editor indulged in a little "throwing in", or possibly it was "setting up". Meaning, to you, putting type back where it belongs, or putting it together to mean something. What-ever happened, it usually meant that the editor had to work a little harder, or a few hours longer, or get a little blacker, or perhaps wait for his pay a longer period.

A young doctor was telling of his early success as an anesthetist for operations, while he was in training for his future business. The scene was peaceful and calm. The would-be-doctor was giving the ether through a cone. Drop by drop he poured it, and the dog needing the operation quit twitching and lay still. The young doctor was very pleased, thinking what a successful job he had done, how easy it was to give ether, etc.

The operation over, the young surgeon prepared to move the patient. Only to find the dog had been dead, throughout the operation. There being no way to take a dog's pulse, the fact was discovered somewhat late, and much ribbing did the anesthetist get from his fellow students upon his ability in that line.

No, you don't know this young doctor.
Up in Hot Springs, S. D., the power company has in a tiny park-like space the most charming pool, oval shaped. A little pink quartz bungalow, heavy bungalow-like roof and all of rock, sits in one side of the pool, and monstrous gold fish flip in and out. At night, a red glow shines out the little arched windows, and under the heavy eaves green lights glow.

Water for the pool jets in a small fountain atop a massive looking pink quartz and cement affair resembling a war-time tank. Then the water slips down one end of the tank, over a lighted round sign, into the pool.
I can't make it sound as attractive as it is.

In the delightful plunge, in the same small summer resort city, I saw Clarence Davis and Virginia, paddling happily about.
Just like me, I like water to paddle in, don't you? Let's paddle often, shall we?

Taken to Asylum.
Last Thursday Frank Evans of Arcadia was committed to the state hospital for the insane at Hastings and was taken there by Sheriff George Round. Mr. Evans, a man of about fifty, has been suffering from extreme nervousness and it is believed he will improve rapidly at Ingleside.

—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shirley of Grand Island were in Ord and spent the day last Wednesday.
—Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Col-lison and children returned recently from a visit in Minden and other places in the state.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Is sudan grass poisonous? This question has been debated in Nebraska for many years. The answer is "yes and no."

It is generally known that sorghums are apt to poison animals when stunted by drought, frost, or trampling. Sudan grass is related to the sorghums.

Yet a case of poisoning from pure sudan grass has never been proved. Every case of so-called sudan poisoning that has been carefully studied has revealed a mixture of sorghum plants or sorghum-sudan hybrids. Sudan and sorghum plants will cross readily, and it seems that is where the trouble arises.

The thing to do would be to produce and plant pure seed, but that is not easy. Although sorghum seed is bigger and darker, an occasional sudan grass kernel grows just as big and just as dark.

The poisonous substance formed is hydrocyanic or prussic acid. It is not present in doses large enough to be injurious when plants are green and healthy. The same poison may also develop in Johnson grass or wild chokecherry leaves.

The danger from so-called sudan grass poisoning is so remote that it is hardly worth taking into consideration when planting this crop. Those who wish to take precautions may first test out a drought-stricken crop with a couple of poorer animals. The feeding of such feeds as corn and alfalfa may be fore turning the cows out is claimed to afford protection also.

Much can be said in favor of sudan grass forage. An acre of it will carry as much livestock as several acres of native pasture. Dry weather has little effect on this African plant which was brought over from Khartum, Sudan, in 1909. It will mature in less than three months, and is often used as a catch crop. It also makes fairly good hay.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week.
A new comet, Daniel's comet, was making a slightly appearance in the eastern sky.

Tuesday was the county primary election and in the only two contests Alvin Blessing got the republica nomination for county clerk Elmer King the same nomination for assessor.

Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Bossen on Aug. 28. A. J. Shirley, Ed Watson, Ernest Hallock and Dr. G. W. Taylor were preparing for a special 100-bird clay pigeon shooting contest for a prize of $30, the shoot to be held at the Ord Driving Association's annual race meet. These four men were regarded as about the best shots in Ord and the contest would settle the championship.

The McNitt and Meese Poland China herds were being shown at the state fair and a wire from there said they were carrying off most of the best ribbons.

90 Years Ago This Week.
During a lightning storm Emil Foth's barn in Mira Valley caught fire and only hard work by a group of young men led by Wilson Bell succeeded in saving the structure.

Harry Gross' horse fell over a barb wire hid in the grass and the boy was violently thrown, suffering a concussion that kept him unconscious for thirty hours.

Wm. Draver, 72 year old Burwell man, came to the Ord fair and during the show before train time he decided to walk back home. He reeled off the twenty miles on foot and got home in time for supper.

It is the purpose of the cabinet to aid in directing the church program in proper proportions: worship, study, service and recreation.

Christian Science.
The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, for Sunday, September 4, is "Man". The Golden Text is from Isaiah 64:8: "Now, O Lord, thou art our father; we are the clay, and thou our potter; and we are all the work of thy hand."

A scriptural passage used in the lesson-sermon is from Genesis 1: 26, and reads: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Man is not matter; he is not made up of brain, blood, bones, and other material elements. The Scriptures inform us that man is created in the image and likeness of God. Matter is spirit cannot be so unlike spirit. Man is spiritual and perfect; and because he is spiritual and perfect, he must be so understood in Christian Science" (page 475).

Sees Out of Injured Eye.
When bandages were removed last week from Daryl Hardenbrook's right eye, injured several weeks ago when a shingle nail punctured the pupil, Daryl was pleased to learn that he could see out of the eye. He can distinguish objects, he says, and this is much better than he had expected to see. Later his father, Bert M. Hardenbrook, will take Daryl to an Omaha eye specialist as his Ord doctor, F. A. Barta, states that an operation can be performed that will partially restore his eye sight.

—Dr. and Mrs. Gelow of Grand Island, were guests Sunday in the home of Judge and Mrs. E. P. Clements. The Gelows are leaving in a few days for Cullen Lake, Minnesota, where they have a summer cottage.

Gerber Won Money At Lexington Fair

At auto races held in connection with the county fair at Lexington last week Johnny Gerber, of Stawood, Ia., was the big money winner. John Bagley's car, driven by Sam Hoffman, was Gerber's strongest competitor. Gerber now has two racing cars, his new one being driven by M. L. Clark, who has raced here several times. Gerber still sticks behind the wheel of his old car, and proved that it is still about the fastest thing on wheels when it comes to racing on a half mile track.

Two Ord men, Secretary Clyde Baker of the fair association and Buck Parkins, who times the Ord races, attended the show at Lexington last week.

Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Robinson, and many, many others—all tell us that they profit by following the food news in the advertising columns of the Ord Quiz. Not only do they know what's new but they find they can shop more economically and place better meals on their tables. New foods, for variety... bargains, for economy... quality foods at special prices, for better meals... that is what a reading of the food advertisements in the Quiz does for countless women in Ord. If YOU haven't formed the habit yet—try it. You'll find it eases you time.

The Quiz carries more food advertising than any other paper in the upper Loup Valley, because advertisers know that food-buyers read the Quiz. And that assures the food-buyer of having all the news of the food markets, all the time.

Gaines May Appear At Local Meetings

Possibility that Newton W. Gaines, community specialist for the Nebraska college of agriculture extension service, may appear in Valley county this fall or early winter at a series of community meetings was the announcement made this week by County Agent Carl Dale.
If enough Valley county farm communities desire to have Gaines appear on their programs, Dale says it will be possible to get him here. Usually Gaines organizes community organizations in local territories.
Ray Lutz, prominent farmer living near Arcadia, has already spoken to County Agent Dale about having Gaines for one community meeting. The date, however, has not been set and it is planned to be held during the time when Gaines is here on a similar series of meetings.
The extension service man is well known in Valley county. Arcadia farmers, especially, are partial to Gaines and want him to return this winter. Farm bureau baseball fans will remember that Gaines spoke at the first county-wide ball banquet sponsored by the farm bureau two years ago. He is one of the best known public speakers of the state.

The very best of judgment and interest is displayed by mankind in the care and preservation of their material properties necessary to their comfort, prosperity and happiness, but in that which concerns their health, the most precious and priceless gift and asset in all the world, the very greatest neglect and indifference is shown and the very poorest methods used to obtain relief and a cure.

A great many people naturally begin to consider their rectal trouble as being important only when the pain annoys them to seek relief. As a matter of fact, however, some of the more serious rectal troubles are comparatively free from very marked pain or distress, which may progress to a degree beyond even the most simple relief before being discovered.

Rectal diseases are progressive. They work while you are asleep and never take a vacation. Much time is lost by not intelligently seeking a proper, expedient and definite cure. Unless this is done complications may develop that will require additional treatment and consequently a longer time to cure.

"Little Brown Church" Is Favorite Song of 1,886 Women Club Members

Nebraska farm women like the song, "The Little Brown Church in the Vale," better than any other of the common songs they have been singing during the past seven years in a song-a-month project of the agricultural college extension service.

Miss Mary Ellen Brown has just summarized questionnaires from 1,886 women living in all parts of the state. Since this is review year for the project, Miss Brown asked each woman to choose the seven songs she liked the best from a list of 49 songs used since 1924.

"My Nebraska," written by T. C. Diers of the University of Nebraska less than four years ago, ranked seventh choice among the 1,886 women. It received 559 votes compared with 823 votes for "The Little Brown Church in the Vale."

Arcadia Department

By MRS. RAY GOLDEN

Rev. C. C. Smith of St. Paul, Minn. had charge of Sunday evening services at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. The special musical program which had been arranged for that evening was postponed until next Sunday evening.

Paul Easterbrook and Delbert Smith returned last Friday from a ten days camping trip at the "Hi-Y" camp at Camp Sheldon near Columbus. Paul will have the honor of attending as a leader of a boys five day period at the camp next year.

A public reception for the teachers of the Arcadia school will be held at the Community Park, Friday evening, September 9th. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. The reception is being sponsored by the mothers of the twelfth grade students.

The Eastern Star ladies of Loup City entertained the Arcadia members at a seven thirty breakfast at Loup City last Friday morning. Those attending from here were Mesdames Ray Waterbury, Jess Marvel, C. C. Thompson, E. C. Baird, H. S. Kinsey, N. A. Lewin and Misses Mae Baird and Irene Downing. Following the breakfast the Arcadia ladies drove to Grand Island and spent the remainder of the day.

Miss Virginia Brown and Lloyd Lybarger were united in marriage by the county judge at Loup City, Monday evening, August 22nd. Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brown and is a student of the Arcadia high school. Lloyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lybarger and for some time has been associated with his father as farmer. The young couple are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lybarger in Ericson at present. We extend to them our best wishes and congratulations. The annual family reunion of the Whitman families was held at the Community Park Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shettler and daughters Gloria and Dorothy of Hastings were out of town guests.

A number of the members of the Ribbon club broadcast an exceptionally clever and entertaining program over station "RKB" on the main street of Arcadia Saturday evening. Miss Lillian Celik was chief announcer and the program consisted of orchestra music, singing, readings and dancing by persons impersonating the famous celebrities of the air.

We have heard much favorable comment on the progress the Arcadia band has made this summer. Arthur Easterbrook has had charge of the musicians, taking a deep interest in their work and directing their practices. There are held two evenings of each week. We are glad to have a band and their music at the chalet and at other public gatherings has added much to the enjoyment of the listeners.

Mrs. Jim Johns received word from her daughter Mrs. Claude Gould of Custer, S. D., last week stating that Mr. Gould had had his thumb and three fingers of his right hand taken off in the saw mill where he works. The thumb and first finger were amputated at the second joint and the other two fingers at the first joint. An electric gasoline pump was installed at the Texaco filling station last week. This is the first electric gas pump to appear in Arcadia.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of school next Monday, Sept. 5th. Supt. Thompson arrived in Arcadia last week and the other instructors are expected to arrive this week. A much needed repair program has been carried out at the school building during the summer months and as a result the interior of the building presents a very clean and attractive appearance. A new oak floor entrance has been laid and all the floors have been covered with the floor and floor dressing has been used in its place. The wood-work has been re-varnished throughout the entire building. The commercial room, located at the basement, has been divided into two rooms with a partition of glass, thus enabling the instructor to conduct an oral class and oversee a practice class at the same time. The discarded storm windows were used for the partition. Two new sand tables have been built for the kindergarten and grade rooms and new metal ceilings have been placed in the main assembly room and one recitation room of the high school. The toilet rooms have been repainted and thoroughly cleaned. The repair work was badly needed and should make the school more pleasant for both the pupils and the instructor. The school has made it possible this year for post graduate students to register for the year at a very nominal charge. These students will be allowed to take subjects in the regular curriculum that they have not taken previously, and also special supervised correspondence study offered by the extension division of the University of Nebraska. High school graduates who are interested in a post-graduate course may gain further information by seeing Supt. Thompson.

The beautiful new shoreboat, "Liberty" was christened at the shipbuilding yards of Al Larson's this afternoon at 3 o'clock. With fitting ceremonies, Bruce Leavitt, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Leavitt, performed the time honored ceremony. The boat 45 feet long, seldom equalled, never excelled, equipped with the latest marine equipment, powered with a 400 h. p. convertible Liberty motor, the "Liberty" will be a real beauty. ## CROPS JUDGING TEAM WINS 1ST AT STATE FAIR

County Agent Dale's Coaching Again Brings Victory to Local Trio; Will Go to National.

Valley county 4-H club members scored decisive wins at the state fair this week when they won the state championship in crops judging and also had the high individual score in the animal husbandry 4-H judging.

County Agent Carl C. Dale's crops judging team won the state title for the second time in two years. Valerian Ciochon, Bud Bricker and Charles Barnhart were on the winning team. In addition, Melvin Koelling was the high individual scorer in the live stock judging contest. The Valley county team as a whole placed third in the contest.

Consistent judging on the part of the three members of the crops team won the championship again this year for them. Ciochon placed third as an individual, Bricker fourth and Charles Barnhart seventh. The Valley county team had a wide margin over the second place team. Lancaster county was second in the contest, Seward county third, and Boone fourth.

In the contest the boys judged all classes of crops including corn, wheat, barley, oats, and potatoes. Reasons were given on some classes. The potato classes proved to be the hardest divisions for the local boys. With very little judging on the potatoes, the boys found it hard to judge some of the harder classes. All teams, however, fell down considerably on placing the classes.

Winning of the state championship for the second time in three years means that the Valley county 4-H boys are entitled to represent the state in the national contest held at Chicago during the National Club Congress this fall. It will be remembered that Dale's team in 1930 won the state championship and later competed at Chicago to win national honors. Harold Benn, Bill Garrick and Anthony Kokes were on the team in 1930.

Through the Valley county team in the 4-H club animal husbandry judging contest held Saturday was not expected to be a major competitor for top honors, they proved to be a dark horse in the contest. Their high ranking as third place winners, however, was due largely to Koelling's showing. Harold Garrick and Donald Marks were the other members of the team.

Through consistent practice on judging all forms of livestock Koelling was able to place individually in the contest. The other boys did well according to County Agent Carl Dale. Garrick was among the high individual ten in at least one of the live stock divisions.

Several baby bees from Valley county also competed in the state fair 4-H club competition but the results are not available at this time. Two of the calves were culled out and sold on the Omaha market Monday. The 60 calves sold from the fair brought $7,25 to $8.50. It was reported that the price was a little above that expected. Judging of the grand champion baby beef at the club show was to take place Wednesday. All of the calves will be sold at public auction Friday.

Ord Men In Accident.

While returning from a cattle sale at Hyannis early Saturday evening, Archie Geweke and J. W. Severns were slightly hurt when their car was headed by another car. Mr. Geweke's face was badly bruised by contact with the steering wheel while Mr. Severns suffered gashes about the face when his head went through the windshield. Their car was badly damaged.

Frazier Store To Have Birthday Sale Of Fine Furniture

Celebrating the second anniversary of his entering business in Ord, Harlan T. Frazier is holding a sale of fine furniture starting tomorrow. Furniture prices are now the lowest they have been in thirty years, Mr. Frazier says, and prices during this sale will be cut severely to give people of this entire trade territory probably the greatest opportunity they ever will have to buy good furniture cheap. Extra sales people have been employed at the Frazier store, every article will have a sale tag on it showing a big reduction from the regular price, and everything possible is being done to assure the sale being a great success. See Mr. Frazier's advertisement on page three of today's Quiz.

Danczak Barn Burns.

The Joe Danczak barn in Eureka township burned to the ground about 9 a. m. Monday, the fire starting from an unknown cause. Mr. Danczak was in the field mowing at the time and was called by his wife when she discovered the blaze. They managed to save some harness but other contents of the barn were destroyed.

Enrollment In Ord Schools Larger, Says Supt. Bell; Improvements Made

School Bells Ring Monday Morning As New Term Begins; Several Boys Need Work.

Enrollment in the Ord schools will be at least as large as last year, according to Superintendent Millard Bell, and possibly slightly increased, according to present indications. Tuesday afternoon 66 were registered for freshman work; 59 for sophomore studies; 70 juniors were enrolled, and seniors numbered 88, or a total of 283. In addition, 14 post graduates had registered for further study.

It was known that five sophomores, seven juniors and two seniors from last year's classes were absent, although five or six of these, at least, had made known their intention to register late. Grade school figures showed an average increase of one student to a grade. The school board and faculty considered the enrollment the huge heavy doors were cut down and made easier for small folks to swing, and the goals in the gym were moved out from each end, lines repainted, and another coat of flooring added. The big stack on during the summer vacation, not the least of which is the redecoration of the corridors of the high school, which was done in tan and cream tones. A dotted effect was used on the lower portion of the walls. One class room was also refurnished experimentally, to see how the coloring, etc. stood up. All the cement floors were repainted and waxed, and new window washing equipment was built for use at the high school. The windows will now get 3 good washings a year.

It is urged that all farmers who own land in the proposed 10,000 acre irrigation district between this village and Ord attend the meeting tonight.

Alimony Defaulter Gets Bread, Water

Last Friday in district court here William D. Sharp, better known as Douglas Sharp, was sentenced to serve thirty days in the Valley county jail at hard labor, every other day to be on a bread and water diet. Judge E. P. Clements was on the bench.

Sharp's wife in 1927 secured a divorce and Sharp was ordered to pay $40 per month toward the support of his two small children. He was in arrears $190 in these payments and failed to make any effort to pay, hence Judge Clements found him in contempt of court and imposed this rigorous sentence.

Sheriff George Round went to Minatare and brought Sharp back here. Costs in the case were about $50 and Sharp will either have to pay them or serve time in the jail, which probably will add another thirty days to his sentence.

ORD HI SCHOOL ACCREDITED BY HIGHEST AGENCY

North Central Association Gives Ord High Honor; Graduates To Benefit Thereby.

Supt. Millard D. Bell, of the Ord school system, has just been notified that Ord high school has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the period ending March 17, 1933, this rating being the highest honor that can be given to a high school in the central part of the United States.

It is the established policy of the North Central association to prepare each year a new list of approved secondary schools accorded this honor and no school is accredited by the North Central for a period longer than one year. Ord has been so honored in previous years also.

Before any school can be considered for accrediting by the North Central association it must be on the highest list of schools approved and accredited by the department of education of the state; it must meet the high standards of the association with respect to school building and equipment, library, laboratories, records, requirements for graduation, training and preparation of teachers, etc.

The North Central association is an accrediting agency comprising twenty states and is the largest such agency in the United States. Its object is to establish closer relations between secondary schools and institutions of higher learning.

Advantages that high schools receive from being so accredited are many. Graduates of a high school accredited by the North Central are privileged to enter colleges and universities within North Central states without entrance examinations, provided they have such credits as are required by the college for admission. Also, graduates of accredited high schools have the assurance that their diplomas will be acceptable to State Boards having to do with the granting of certificates for the various professions—dentistry, law, medicine, etc. A high school approved by the North Central must have high standards, consequently the community is assured of a program of modern high school education.

The examination of the school at regular intervals by North Central inspectors and supervisors serves to stimulate progress and to prevent the development of questionable practices and tendencies.

Superintendent Bell, Principal Cass and members of the Ord high school faculty are greatly interested by the Ord school being accredited by the North Central and every patron of the schools may likewise feel proper pride in the kind of high school that Ord has.

—Yesterday Rev. H. H. Spracklen left for York where he is attending the U. B. conference. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Waterman, Mrs. Spracklen and Mrs. John Boettger are also in attendance. They drove to York this morning.

JOHNNY GOODMAN WILL PLAY GOLF HERE SEPT. 25TH

"Man Who Beat Bobby Jones" Agrees To Enter Ord Invitation Meet, Play 18 Holes.

Johnny Goodman of Omaha, one of the best amateur golfers in the whole United States and the man who beat Bobby Jones in the amateur tournament of 1929, will play golf in Ord on September 25. He will enter the Ord invitation tournament on that date and in the afternoon will play an exhibition match against the strongest opponents the Ord club can dig up.

Lyle Milliken, acting on behalf of the Ord Golf club, Monday received assurance that Goodman will be here the 25th. He will be accompanied to Ord by Mr. Milliken's brother, Harvey, of Omaha, and by two other Omaha men, Clay Grifey and Pete Lyck. The latter also is a well known golfer and once held the Nebraska state championship.

All golfers know that Johnny Goodman. They know that for the past four years he has been one of the half dozen best amateurs in the country and that only sectional favoritism has prevented his being chosen as a member of the United States Walker cup team.

They know that in the 1933 open tournament Goodman made the best record of any amateur entered and that he is very likely to dethrone Francis Ouimet as amateur champion in the national tournament to be held in Baltimore on September 13.

It is probable that in the exhibition match here September 25th Goodman, paired with Pete Lyck, will play against Harry Lewandowski of Burwell and Moore of Grand Island. At least the two are being invited to participate in the match. If either is unable to play, some other top flight golfer will be substituted.

This will be the first time that Goodman has ever played golf in his part of Nebraska and it is likely that a huge crowd of golf enthusiasts will be here to see just how the big boys hit 'em.

Famous Violinist To Be Rotary Guest

Professor August Molzer, one of America's most famous violin instructors and violinists, will be a guest of the Ord Rotary club on September 26 and at 8:15 o'clock that evening will give a concert at the Ord high school auditorium.

Prof. Molzer has for many years been a resident of Lincoln and conducted his own violin school there, recently becoming head of the violin department in the University School of Music.

An interesting event of the morning was a demonstration of blind-folded driving by Mr. Anderson of Arcadia and one between a demonstration of shot-gun and pistol shooting on the ball diamond in the afternoon.

An address by Representative M. J. Cushing, of Ord, an exhibit by a contortionist from North Loup, a free picture show and a free dance made up the evening program and all were enjoyed by an enormous crowd.

Everything went on during the day was free to the large crowd and Arcadia business people cooperated untiringly to make the Booster Day a success.

John Duemey Back In Valley Co. Jail

He was arrested near Brace school house Friday afternoon by Sheriff George Round and taken to the county jail. It was reported that "a dead man" was lying in the ditch there. The "dead man" proved to be only intoxicated on medicinal wine purchased from a Broken Bow drug store, so he was thrown in jail to sober up.

Money Duemey plead guilty before County Judge Hollingshead and was fined $25 and costs on a charge of intoxication. He has been in Colorado and Kansas since leaving Valley county, Duemey said.

Finod For Assault.

ARCADIA'S FREE BOOSTER DAY IS GREAT SUCCESS

Largest Crowd In Years Attracted To Village Thursday; 40 Floats In Parade.

Arcadia, Sept. 5.—(Special)—The largest crowd that has visited Arcadia in many years was here last Thursday to enjoy the free Booster Day program, which went over with a bang and was even a greater success than Arcadia ever expected and hoped for. Don't get it wrong. The flowers are on long tables for display throughout the afternoon and evening. Soft music will provide a suitable background during the evening.

Twenty five in prize money will be distributed by the judges. The first place in each class of flowers in any sort of arrangement will be welcomed, and each kind of flower constitute one class, such as dahlias, etc. Entries from practically every home in town are expected and hoped for. Don't get it wrong. The flowers are on long tables for display throughout the afternoon and evening. Soft music will provide a suitable background during the evening.

Forty unique and beautifully decorated floats took part in the parade at 1 p. m., almost every business place in town being represented. Real work was done to decorate these floats but the results justified the amount of time and work expended.

Contests of various sorts then were held, followed by a ball game between Arcadia and Clear Creek, the game being won by Arcadia by a score of 8 to 4.

An interesting event of the morning was a demonstration of blind-folded driving by Mr. Anderson of Arcadia and one between a demonstration of shot-gun and pistol shooting on the ball diamond in the afternoon.

An address by Representative M. J. Cushing, of Ord, an exhibit by a contortionist from North Loup, a free picture show and a free dance made up the evening program and all were enjoyed by an enormous crowd.

Play Given Here By Mira Valley Group Wednesday

The comedy drama, "High Horse," as presented at the Ord high school auditorium last Wednesday evening by the Mira Valley group of Arcadia, was distinctly pleasing to a moderately large crowd and people who gave the play were heard on every hand.

A drama of American family life, set during the experiences of a family that was living beyond its means. George Bremer and Ella Lango ably portrayed the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Sommers, the parents who were willing to go deeper in debt that their children might continue to ride the "high horse."

The children, Letty and John were played by Dorothy Fuss and Henry Lange. Both had been attending college not realizing their parents' financial difficulties. Through the aid of Jonas Mortimer, a real estate man, played well by Oscar Heilwege, the children went to work and everything turned out well.

James Bremer was excellent as the youthful millionaire hero and others who did exceptionally well were Lois Bremer, Walter Linke, Julia Fuss and Alice Huebner. The play was directed by Edgar Lange and furniture used on the stage was furnished by H. T. Frazier.

Christians Science. The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, September 11, is "Substance".

The Golden Text is from John 6:27: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you; for him hath God the Father sealed."

A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-sermon reads: "For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two edged sword, piercing even to the asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart". (Hebrews 4:12-13).

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "God's thoughts are pure and eternal, are substance and life. Material and temporal thoughts are human, involving error, and since God, Spirit, is the only cause, they lack a divine cause. The temporal and material are then creations of Spirit. They are but counterfeits of the spiritual and eternal". (page 286).

Hard Work Helps Melvin Koelling Win At Lincoln

Lincoln, Neb.—"Work hard and you will always succeed", is an old adage that Melvin Koelling of Ord believes is true.

Last week at the state fair Melvin copped high honors in the state 4-H club livestock judging contest but it was only through long hours of work that he succeeded. Before the state fair he observed experts judging at county fairs in his part of the state to improve himself for the state fair.

Not only did young Koelling do the routine studying of correct judging but he went further. He made up his own classes of livestock on his father's farm and judged them for practice.

The practice helped him win high individual honors at Lincoln. Being modest, however, he says he is no judge.

DR. RICH says: Grand Island, Nebr., Sept. 7. The wise man accepts examples as his education and not experience as his teacher. Piles on Hemorrhoids are a scourge of the human race. The history of medicine began, a knowledge of Hemorrhoids existed. There were "Pile Doctors" in Egypt, before Joseph was sold into bondage. The term Hemorrhoids signifies a flow of blood. Not altogether appropriate, because Hemorrhoids can exist without any bleeding whatever. The term Piles, meaning a swelling or tumor, all ways applied to the rectum, is more correct. Piles are either Internal, External or both. Internal Piles may remain entirely within the rectum, or protrude during bowel movement, heavy lifting or much walking. Bleeding may or may not occur, depending upon whether or not the rectum has developed. There are two varieties of External Piles, which of course, are always outside the rectum. When acutely inflamed they become greatly swollen, very painful and extremely sensitive. The formation of an abscess may result. These Piles will be considered next week. These articles appearing each week in your home paper, cannot on account of space, be very lengthy. More complete information can be obtained by writing to me. Ask your questions and enclose this ad. This service, as well as consultation, examination and advice in Grand Island is entirely free and invited. (1)

CIRCUS BUSINESS TOUGH.

"Bill Campbell came to town the other day," says the Greeley Citizen. "Remember Bill? Bill used to be one of the owners of the once famous Campbell Brothers circus. Years ago the show exhibited here. It was the largest circus that ever visited Greeley. "But Bill no longer is in the circus game. He now goes about the country making picnics, fairs and other outdoor gatherings. He sells novelties that appeal to the youngsters. "The only thing I have left from the show business is a bunch of receipts showing that my brother and I paid the government admission taxes in the sum of $47,000," Campbell told the Citizen reporter. "We have dozens of wagons and other circus equipment on wheels in Oklahoma, but we couldn't give the stuff away. We sold our animals to Ringling's and our circus performers, or most of them, went to that circus. "The circus business has been hard hit the last few years. The veteran showman continued in his interview with the Citizen. "There are now only four circuses that travel by train left in this country. "There is no business," Campbell added, "where the money comes and goes faster than in the circus game. The last year or two we were in the business we lost so heavy we had to quit."

How many Quiz readers remember Campbell Bros. circus, which came to Ord nearly every year back twenty years or so ago when the annual coming of the circus was the big event of the year? We'll bet a lot of you do and we'll bet a lot of the young Quiz readers who aren't so very young, at that, still remember Campbell Bros. as about the biggest and best circus that ever unfolded its tents in the early hours of a summer morning. As modern circuses go we suppose Campbell Bros. was a pretty small affair but we would cheerfully trade a peck at Ringling's with Hagenbeck & Wallace thrown in to go back twenty-five years and be attending our first circus and recapture the sensations of our first visit under the big top. How big that little boy's eyes were when he saw his first elephant. And how fast his heart beat at the sight of a cage of leopards. How screamingly funny the clowns were, and how good that mysterious, sticky mass of popcorn wrapped in the pink waxed paper tasted, especially when washed down with acidulous lemonade. That little boy lived not far away from the lot in west Ord where the circus camped and he still remembers the brown, treading grass on the fested lot when he inspected it the day after the circus left. Remember Bill? No, we don't remember him but we remember his elephants and tigers and his circus wagons and his shrill-voiced calliope. We remember Campbell Bros. circus with eyes that were too young to see that the golden wagons were only gilt and that the performers were only weary humans instead of visitors from another world. And that's the way we refer to remember Our First Circus.

RESULTS ARE COMING. Who can deny that the concerted demand for lower costs of government is being heard and heeded by the powers that be? Who can deny that the Taxpayers' league campaign is getting results? Another important battle in the taxation reduction race was taken last week when the Valley county board of equalization made up its levies for 1932 and these levies were not increased over 1931. When the cut in assessment valuations made last spring is taken into consideration, this represents an actual reduction of 15 per cent or more in county taxes. This reduction will be real, of course, only if Valley county is able to get along on the smaller amount of money that will be brought in by these levies. If the amount proves insufficient and warrants have to be registered, thus creating a deficit, this year's cut in taxes will be meaningless. It will only mean that what we save this year we will have to pay in added taxes next year or in years to come. Many who are well informed believe that Valley county cannot get along in 1932 on the levies made last week. Costs fixed by law are so high that $39,000 in the general fund will prove insufficient, it is claimed. A program of economy has been introduced in county affairs. Corners will be cut, expenses will be whittled down, wherever possible. But this count has not been wasteful in the past so it is doubtful whether the revenue provided by the new levies will prove adequate. If it does not taxpayers should withhold blame from county officers who do the best they can. Anyway, a good start has been made. The coming session of the legislature undoubtedly will lop off some expenses. New tax laws may provide additional revenue without resorting to an increase in direct taxation. It has been proved again that when the public becomes aroused to the point of action, results are fast in coming. The interest that the public generally is taking in tax affairs at present is a thoroughly healthy sign and public officers are wise when they read and correctly interpret the handwriting on the wall.

ADVERTISING OR LUCK?

There are thirty-six, and only thirty-six, different makes of motor cars being manufactured in the United States today. How many of the thirty-six can you name? Probably most of them, possibly all of them if you are "automobile minded."

At various times since the automobile was invented there have been 900 different makes of cars offered to the buying public of America. Of these 900 only thirty-six survive.

Was it luck that thirty-six cars out of 900 have survived the test of time and are being sold now? Or was it because these thirty-six are better mechanically than the other 864? Or because they were better advertised?

Surely it wasn't luck. The thirty-six makes being sold today are good automobiles, every one of them. But some of the other 864 makes were good cars, too. Probably most of them were better cars, when they were being made than were some of the thirty-six survivors at that time.

Advertising! That's the right answer. Take Ford, Chevrolet, Cadillac, Buick, Packard, Hupmobile, Reo, Oakland, Oldsmobile and nearly all of the other thirty-six. They're advertised. That's the reason they survived while 864 other cars passed on to the automobile graveyard.

"If you want to sell 'em you have to tell 'em." That's what successful motor car manufacturers have done.

TARIFF REDUCTION.

A lot of Nebraska farmers who normally are republicans have swallowed the specious bait of payment of war debts and a return to prosperity by means of tariff reduction, as thrown out by Franklin D. Roosevelt. They are out whooping it up for the democratic nominee but we wonder if they have stopped to consider just what tariffs Roosevelt and his party propose to reduce and how such reduction will help the aforesaid Nebraska farmers.

Perhaps there are a few who still remember the Underwood tariff law, the last democratic tariff the country had. Almost all farm products were placed on the free list by the Underwood tariff. Is this the kind of tariff reduction Roosevelt proposes? It would help the middle west a lot wouldn't it, to permit importation of lard, butter, meat, and other farm products duty free? The war debts might get paid by this method but we know who would pay them and it would be the American farmer instead of Europe.

Tariff reduction as a means of economic recovery is a nice theory and it may fool a lot of people who aren't watching their p's and q's. But before we allow ourselves to be fooled, let's ask Roosevelt to be a little more definite. Just what tariffs do you propose to reduce, Franklin?

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Onions are a bumper crop on Wetzel's irrigated farm near North Loup. The yield will be near 400 or 500 bushels per acre, and three acres is a good sized patch of onions. If the price is severed in two they will still sell for a dollar a bushel, and there is enough demand ordinarily to take all the onions that this productive place will grow.

Crop failure is unknown on Wetzel's forty. The cabbages, cucumbers, egg plants, red peppers, tomatoes and melons grow so large and choice that they command a premium on the market. Mr. Wetzel isn't just certain how much they yield. He knows that there is a seemingly inexhaustible supply and that it keeps him very busy. Such production, year after year, shows the remarkable fertility of Valley county lowland.

There are sweet potatoes yielding 200 bushels to the acre. The Irish potatoes on the place will produce almost this much without irrigation as this was an exceptionally good year for the potato crop.

Then there are the strawberries. This spring an acre and a half brought in a gross return of between eight and nine hundred dollars. This crop requires a lot of technical skill as well as knowledge, but after all labor was paid for they still netted Wetzel the sum of 500 dollars.

Mr. Wetzel states that he does not understand why the sentiment of the majority of farmers is against an irrigation ditch. He says that in his experience it simply means the difference between getting a crop and not getting one. As for expenses, he adds that his entire cash outlay this season for oil, gasoline, and kerosene has only amounted to about $85. This included the plowing done with the tractor, which also pumps the water out of the Loup river and into the ditches about his fields.

The Needle Workers.

A picnic was held at the park, August 26. The club members, mothers and a few friends were invited. Dinner was served at noon and ice cream and cake in the afternoon. It was the close of the 4-H club work for this year. All the sewing was on display.

At the Junior fair Maxine Jones won first on her sport dress, second in the style show, third in her brassiere and bloomer set and Gladys Boyce won second on her combination suit.

Something DIFFERENT

Well, at last the day came for which numbers of eager children have been waiting, the first day of school, and what a lot of high spirits and energy are now bottled up in our school rooms.

Several little boys and girls I know, who could barely manage to wait, went to bed extra early Sunday evening. They wanted to hurry and get to sleep, because when awakening time came, it would be time to go to school.

One tiny girl was informed she would get to go day after tomorrow. Then she was told that tomorrow was the day. So when she awoke Monday morning she inquired anxiously, "Mother, is today tomorrow?"

Ernest Achen tells of a house owner who came and asked him if he Achen, wanted a house to rent.

No, was the answer. Then, after thinking it over a minute, Ernest added, "And I don't know that I'd want to rent your house anyway. I'd be afraid I might have trouble with my wife." The owner paused, then replied, "I don't know that I blame you, at that."

It seems the last two or three occupants have had husband and wife trouble. One wife left her husband; one husband left his wife. Ernest didn't want to lose a good wife, or get any ideas in his own head, see?

Friends of C. S. Jones, one-time superintendent of schools in Ord, here in that capacity for many years, in fact, will be interested to learn that a little five-year-old, representing the three branches of the Jones family, started to school Monday morning for the first time.

Donald, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Everett Jones, represents that family.

Carolyn, little daughter of the Glen Auble's, is the child of a former Miss Jones.

And thirdly, Dora Mae McGrew, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kirby McGrew, also ready to start to school.

Miss Jones. And Monday, when she started to school, was Dora Mae's 5th birthday also.

If Mr. Jones were still superintendent here, he undoubtedly would be pecking in the kindergarten just a little offener than was necessary for purely supervisory purposes.

Unpainted, unused, actually dangerous to exploring children in many cases, these ancient eyeglasses need removing.

How about getting unemployed men to tear them down and distributing the lumber to Ord's needy? How about doing something about them?

With, as you often hear, the Hard Times coming on during the Depression, people are reverting, both from necessity and choice to simpler, more homelike pleasures.

Among other things, doing handwork is decidedly "back". Mrs. Susie Barnes reports seeing a young lady knitting a dress, while traveling on the train. And to prove that such things actually are finished and worn, the young woman had on a dress she had knitted herself.

Once a familiar sight, knitting isn't being done in Ord again to any great extent, but probably will be soon. At least it was so unusual that Mrs. Barnes thought it worth mentioning to the Quiz.

Bethany Lutheran Church. S. S. Kaldahl, Pastor. Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Morning service at 11 in the English language with the pastor in charge. Luther League, Sept. 11 at the home of Frederick Jensen at 8.

20 Years Ago This Week. A mysterious horse malady was raging in Valley county and several horses had died. The disease apparently affected the brain, making the horse sleepy and stupid at first and then causing him to die.

Live Better For Less with MEAT

No food known to mankind is more easily digestible, more pleasurable in the menu, more conducive to good health, than meat—properly prepared and served.

Add to all these qualifications the fact that meat, at present prices, is the most economical food that you can serve.

Moreover, this market offers you the finest meat cuts at prices that are consistently low. Eat more meat!

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

There is still time to do a lot of canning, especially of such things as tomatoes. Below you will find one good way to use them. Perhaps you have some recipes for canning tomatoes of which you are very proud. If so, why not send them in to the Quiz, so that all we neighbors may enjoy them? There is nothing like co-operation, you know.

Vegetable Jam For Soup. 1 peck ripe tomatoes, 2 qts. carrots, 12 large white onions, 2 heads cabbage, 12 ears sweet corn, 3 red and 3 green peppers (all green may be used), 2 stalks celery, 5 qts. cold water, 1 c. salt, 1 tsp. pepper, sprig of parsley tied.

Put all vegetables through the coarsest knife of the food chopper, except the tomatoes. Chop the tomatoes fine, mix all together. Boil 1 hour, and seal hot. Use new lids and rubbers.

5 qts. canned tomatoes and 3 pts. canned corn are equal to the amounts called for in the recipe above. An extra head of cabbage may be used if celery is hard to get. You can use this mixture for salad by merely adding a hard-boiled egg to it. It may also be used to bake a roast. The recipe makes 18 to 20 pints.

Mrs. O. E. Wesenberg, Omaha. Canned Tomatoes.

Take a large preserving kettle half full of water and add a hard-boiled egg. When it boils drop in enough tomatoes for 1 qt. or so, boil 4 minutes. Can hot. If there isn't enough juice from the tomatoes to fill the jar, add some of the water. They are so much easier to fix than cold pack, and taste just the same. The tomatoes should be peeled.

Mrs. O. E. Wesenberg, Omaha. Fried Apples.

Wash and slice tart apples without peeling. Put one tablespoon of butter in a frying pan. Aluminum is best. When hot put in 2 qts. sliced apples and cover tight. Stir often. When done add a sprinkle of salt and 1/4 c. sugar.

Mrs. Jessie Ashley, (A Michigan Leggett cousin) Chicken Spaghetti.

2 1/2 c. cooked, diced chicken or turkey. 2 c. cook spaghetti. 1 c. shelled red pistachio nuts. 2 chopped red pimientos. 1/4 oz. can mushrooms. 2 c. rich milk. 2 tbsp. butter. 2 tbsp. butter or salt. 1-3 tsp. white pepper. 3-4 tsp. salt. 1/2 c. fine buttered bread crumbs.

Break spaghetti in small pieces and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and blanch. Make a white sauce by melting butter, adding flour and salt, until smooth and then adding the milk, little by little. Put in the seasonings and cook until thick and smooth.

Dean of Valley County Doctors Goes To California After 30 Years in Ord

His brother insisting he would do better in Iowa, so to Iowa he came, bringing two carloads of horses. About the time the horses were converted into a ranch on the Missouri river up in South Dakota, along came the depression of '33 and took the ranch. Asked if that depression was as bad, Dr. Shepard reminisced "They didn't make nearly so much fuss about that one as they do this depression. And people didn't begin to have as much help. It was every man for himself."

Going home to Elgin, Ill., his father persuaded him to study medicine. "I did, and I was always glad of it," says Dr. Shepard. Securing a homeopathic education at Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia, the young doctor then married. Four months later, his jinx pursuing, the young bride died of the typhoid fever which had nearly ruined him.

Looking for a place to locate, Ord was the first inspected by the doctor. He liked it much, so it was also the last. That was just before Christmas, 1902. In those days when the train whizzed through the countryside, geese and ducks were thick on the North Loup river. Prairie chicken covers were scarce up to the right-of-way frequently, as the train chugged along. All of these seemed good signs to the doctor, who liked the country and the appearance of Ord.

Game was thick then, and a few rods from town hunting was fine. One hot day he and the late Charles Partridge, who was in his age to the day, went about two miles from town to try their luck, putting a couple of bottles of beer in the buggy. Tramping about, on a hot, dusty afternoon, the pair kept talking about how good that cold beer was going to taste. But alas, when they got back to the place where they had left the buggy, the horse had got loose and gone home, beer, buggy and all.

As to prohibition, Dr. Shepard "don't mind seeing a man take a drink, but I don't like to see them drunk. I can't see that that's anything to be proud of," he averred distastefully.

In 1905 came tuberculosis, and meant Colorado, so he and the present Mrs. Shepard, who had been his office girl a year or so before their marriage, climbed in their automobile and took off across the country. Roads were mere cow trails, the gas tank held five gallons only, and gasoline was carried in stock by drug and grocery stores—making about now going was quite exciting. That one cylinder Red Rambler was the first automobile in Ord, and people came for miles to see it. It had a seven horse power motor, and had room for two passengers.

An exciting mode of travel, it even excited bystanders considerably more than wild driving does now.

Motoring was considered only a fad, sure to be abandoned soon. When Charles E. Goodhand built a garage for Dr. Shepard, he made it big and roomy, with a second story and a chimney. This was foresight, so that when automobiles went out, he could move the garage and rent it as a small house!

Returning from Colorado months later, Dr. Shepard was greatly improved in health, but "we owned two after dinner coffee cups and I owed the bank $1,000," he remembers. All their troubles worked out, however, in time, and here, for thirty years, Dr. Shepard's shingle has hung out, while he hurried about the country to answer calls.

Dr. Shepard has always been identified with the best of Ord interests and has taken much interest in the town. He has served as both county and city physician, and has been a member of the city park board and its president for years. He was a charter member of the Rotary club, and has belonged ever since. Monday evening the Rotary club presented Dr. Shepard with a small gift and then went in a group to have their picture taken, with Dr. Shepard as the honored member of the group. He is a great flower lover, and has long been famous for his handsome roses and other sorts of vines and flowers. He is also a constant golfer, and is often seen on the local course early in the morning.

Countless babies now grown to manhood and womanhood here were brought into the world by Dr. Shepard. Hundreds of families counted him their family doctor. Gentle, genial, kind, Dr. Shepard will be missed and it is hoped that he will return to Ord soon.

Milford Stock Sold.

Another, and probably the last, change of ownership of the former James Milford stock of goods took place this week when Grunkemeyer & Jensen, of Burwell, purchased the balance of the stock from Frank Fafetta. Mr. Fafetta bought the stock of goods from C. W. Leonard a few weeks ago and had sold part of it at a fire sale and now the new owners have trucked the goods to Burwell and will sell them there by the same method.

George J. Candish, veteran Union Pacific conductor and a resident of Grand Island for fifty-one years, passed away Monday in the St. Francis hospital after a few days illness. Pneumonia was the cause of death. About 25 years ago Mr. Candish was for over a year conductor from Grand Island to Ord.

Junior Fair Was Financial Success

With a total of $175 prorated among 4-H club prize winners, the Junior Fair last week was a financial success, reports County Agent Dale. All expenses the fair likewise have been paid, he says. Prizes paid to club exhibitors approximated those usually paid at the Valley county fair.

Great interest was taken in the 4-H club girls style show Wednesday afternoon and a large number of women and girls crowded the building during the show. Alice Verstraete won first prize on wool sport dress with Amy Cornell taking second prize. Irma Evans, Maxine Jones and Helen Cruikshank placed first, second and third on school dress and in the afternoon dress contest prizes were won by Evelyn Gross and Catherine Lewis. In judging Catherine Lewis, Alice Verstraete, Ruth Benn and Viola Hansen won prizes.

A fast paced game was played Wednesday between Mira Valley and the Ord Delcos, the latter team winning 8 to 7.

The Junior Fair board wishes to thank John Andersen and John Sharp for the public address system which proved so popular and also express their appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce, the band, and all who helped to put the Junior Fair over in such good shape.

IRRIGATION MEET HELD THURSDAY AT NORTH LOUP

Large Crowd Hear Lexington Men Tell of Benefits; Elect Temporary Officers.

North Loup, Sept. 13.—(Special)—A large crowd of interested farmers and town people was present last Thursday evening at an irrigation meeting held in the Strand Theatre here under the auspices of the Commercial club of this village. Talks were made by three Lexington men and by Arthur Bailey of Omaha, after which temporary officers were chosen and it was decided to go ahead with plans to form an irrigation district and dig a ditch between Ord and North Loup with money borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Charles Clark, as president of the Commercial club, presided and introduced as the first speaker Mr. Neff, a prominent Lexington business man. He gave a brief resume of Nebraska's wonderful natural resources such as plentiful water and stated that while he does not own an acre of land he is certainly "bitten by the irrigation bug" for he has seen and in his own business the benefit that irrigation brings to an entire community. As proof of this he gave statistics on the enormous increase in freight at Lexington since the ditch began operating in 1918.

Mr. Kjar, a farmer of both dry and irrigated land, was the next speaker and gave a short history of the Lexington ditch, explaining why it did not pay at first and was abandoned in the early '90's, only to be reopened in 1918 and used with conspicuous success ever since.

The facts and figures that he gave left little doubt in the minds of his listeners that irrigation pays in that locality in spite of the fact that the cost there was much greater than it will be here. G. E. Stuckey, a farmer near Lexington, talked next and told of the favorable impression he has of the soil in this valley and of the feasibility of a successful irrigation project here. He also gave statistics proving the success of the Lexington ditch, quoting the increased production and the increased cash rents that irrigated are willing to pay for the irrigated land.

Arthur Bailey, young Omaha attorney and son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bailey, Ord, then read irrigation laws and explained in detail just what steps are necessary to form an irrigation district. Mr. Bailey has made a careful study of this subject and is affiliated with a noted firm of corporation lawyers.

Those desiring to help form such a district were then asked to remain and with a sizeable crowd present temporary officers were elected. Jos. P. Barta, of Ord, was chosen president; W. O. Zanger, of North Loup, secretary and treasurer; and A. J. Manchester, all of North Loup, were named directors.

The first step necessary in forming an irrigation district will be to have the areas surveyed by an engineer experienced in irrigation work, this survey to be used both in securing the R. F. C. loan and also in calling for bids on construction of the project. Preliminary petitions for the district are now being circulated, reports Secretary Zanger, and he expresses confidence that the necessary 51 per cent of land owners involved will sign. It is hoped to get the district legally formed this fall and start actual work either this fall or early enough in the spring so that the ditch can be used throughout next summer.

Mrs. Matt Parkos suffered quite a financial loss Friday evening when the large barn on her farm in Sherman county, near the Speltz ranch, burned to the ground. The loss was filled with hay. Saturday Lewis Parkos and Martin Wegardt drove to the place and inspected the damage.

Respected Arcadia Couple Married Fifty Years Ago; Celebrate Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Cash M. Routh, well known residents of Arcadia, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, September 11th.

At one o'clock they were invited to the home of their niece, Mrs. Percy Doe, where Mrs. Doe, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Weddel, Mrs. Charles Weddel, Mrs. Harold Weddel, Mrs. Cecil Weddel and Mrs. D. O. Hawley entertained them at dinner. Mrs. Alfred Weddel is a sister-in-law, Mrs. Hawley a cousin and the other ladies are nieces of Mrs. Routh. As the guests were being seated Mrs. Cecil Weddel played Lohengrin's wedding march. The Doe living and dining rooms with walls of pale yellow and white woodwork, and blue draperies, helped carry out the color scheme of white and gold. The two rooms were floor baskets containing golden rods. White wedding bells tinged with gold, were suspended from the ceiling. Baskets of yellow dahlias, giant nasturtiums, and yellow rose buds with tall yellow candles in cut glass holders formed centerpieces for two tables while the third table, at which the guests of honor were seated had as a centerpiece a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in white and gold, topped by the miniature bride and groom used at Weddel weddings and wedding anniversaries. At this table the candlesticks and goblets were amber glass and gold color predominated in the dinner service. Hand-made nut cups in the form of yellow Jonquills were used throughout, with place cards of floral designs. Between courses Mrs. Doe, Mesdames Charles, Harold and Cecil Weddel sang "Love's Old Sweet Song", "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver" and "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet". Thirty-three guests were present at the dinner party.

NEBR. STATE FAIR DEFICIT $55,000, TOLEN REPORTS

Fair Now In Hole $150,000, Will Ask State for Appropriation; 4-H Club Show Fine.

Attendance at the Nebraska State Fair this year was the lightest in history and a deficit of $55,000 was incurred, reports Irl D. Tolen, first vice president of the fair association, who returned to Ord Sunday after spending over two weeks in Lincoln on state fair business.

Last year the fair lost about $90,000 so with this year's loss, plus interest, the state fair is in debt to the extent of about $150,000, Mr. Tolen says. The legislature will be asked for an appropriation to make up the deficit and it is planned to go ahead with the fair next year.

"We can't afford to stop now," says the Ord man, who is slated to become president of the fair association at the annual meeting this winter. Had the board not instituted drastic economies this year the loss would have been much greater, Mr. Tolen says.

The program was up to the usual standard in spite of the fact that it cost many thousands of dollars less than usual. The 4-H club exhibits, in particular, were far better than ever before, Mr. Tolen says.

He praises highly County Agent C. C. Dale and his crop judging team which won the state championship last week and says that in Lincoln crops experts concede the local boys a good chance to win at the international show in Chicago this coming December.

TWO ARRESTED AT 'ROAD HOUSE', FINED HEAVILY

Elmer Henkle Holding Dance In His House Without Legal Permit; Beer Found.

Arrested in a raid Saturday evening by Sheriff George Round and Deputy Archie Keep, two young men, Elmer Henkle and Everett C. Jack Hutchinson were haled into county court Monday on charges of conducting a dance without a license and having beer for the purpose of sale.

The dance was being held in the house on the Jack Brown farm south of Ord, which is rented by Elmer Henkle. Mr. Henkle pleaded guilty to conducting the dance but denied ownership of 32 quarts of beer found in tubs near the house. Hutchinson, who says he is an itinerant farm hand, admitted ownership of the beer.

Henkle was fined $10 and costs and Hutchinson drew a flag of $100 and costs, which he was unable to pay. He will lay it out in county jail here.

Thirty-five or forty people of both sexes, most of them of high school age, were dancing to music furnished by Frank Kamerad and Joe Zikmund when he raided the place, states Sheriff Round. Similar dances had been held there on previous nights, it is charged, and the dances are described by the sheriff as being "tough affairs."

Henkle usually took up a collection instead of charging admission, thinking thereby to evade the law that requires a permit.

Brown-Ekberg Men Have Meeting Here

Officials and store managers of the Brown-Ekberg company held a convention in Ord Monday, fourteen being present from out of town. Vestal, the New York buyer, was here, as were also store managers from Hastings, Superior, Minden, Holdrege, Wayne, Central City, Futleton, Kearney, O'Neill, Madison and Schuyler.

It was the first visit to Ord many of the men had made and they were loud in their praise of the city and of Manager Goddard's modern, well equipped store.

L. W. Rogers and Frank Kasal Win In Yard Contest; Coe Has Best Bouquet

125 Entries At Flower Show, Mrs. Molzen, Mrs. Bailey Also Win Cash Awards.

With 125 entries before two o'clock, Ord's first big annual flower show was a great success yesterday, when hundreds of flower lovers and school children flocked through the American Legion hall to view the display of beautiful blooms brought from all over Valley county for exhibit.

The most charming yard in town was voted by the judges to be that of L. W. Rogers, with its swimming pool, big swing, and cleverly arranged backyard, and to him $7.50 in prize money contributed by the Chamber of Commerce toward making Ord a place of more beautiful yards and gardens.

The handsomest lawn award was given to Frank Kasal for his pretty green grassed yard, and also $2.50 in cash.

The judges reported considerable difficulty in doing any deciding, since there were a number of places they considered to be worthy of the prizes. Among the most attractive home grounds they wished to give honorable mention to Joe Puncocchar, for the charming flowers, yard, and shrubbery surrounding his house, but especially for the greenness and beauty of the lawn. Among the most attractive places rented the judges decided Vernon Loughry worthy of honorable mention, with the Cecil Molzen residence winning a close second. Both of them have received an unusual amount of care for rented homes.

At the flower show, so many and varied were the types of bouquets entered that the judges had quite a time agreeing, but finally decided that a beautiful bouquet of dahlias entered by Fred Coe were the finest of them all. Second place went to Mrs. Cecil Molzen for a clever basket made up of goldenrod and false dragonhead, and third award went for a large bowl of mixed asters entered by Mrs. R. C. Bailey.

Mrs. Tunncliff took first prize for the best mixed bouquet; Mr. Coe first on the dahlias entered; Gould flag first for the finest roses; Mrs. Bailey first on asters; Mrs. Keith Lewis first on her salvia; Mrs. Frank Fafelta first on a bowl of black-eyed susans, Mrs. Henry Marks first for a bowl of geraniums, and the Ed Holloway hydrangeas were selected as best. First prizes in their classes also went to the gorgeous basket of coxcomb entered by Mrs. Chas. Died at Elba Monday.
Nis Mortensen, 86-year-old pioneer resident of Howard county and father of Jis Mortensen of Ord, passed away Monday at his home in Elba. He had been ill only a short time with a severe cold. Funeral services are being held at 2 p. m. today at the Danish Lutheran church in Elba.

CELEBRATE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF CATHOLIC CHURCH

Geranium Church Was First In Valley County; Hundreds Attend Jubilee Tuesday

Fifty years ago, on September 13, 1882, the first Catholic church in Valley county—in fact the first such church in the upper Loup valleys—was founded in Geranium township. Tuesday, old settlers of the township and other members of the church sponsored a celebration in honor of the Golden Jubilee and hundreds attended, enjoying a big day of sports, speeches, music, dancing and good food.

The day started with pontifical high mass at 10 a. m. by Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, of Grand Island, who was assisted by Father Heimes and Rev. Fr. Morning, both of Grand Island; Rev. Fr. Galvin, of Spalding; Rev. Fr. Kaufman, of St. Libory; Rev. Fr. Keller, of Anselmo; Rev. Fr. Sargent, of Cretzka; of Ord; Rev. Fr. Barry, of Long Pine; Rev. Fr. Lawrence, of Ord; Rev. Fr. Oberney, of Clarkston; and the Geranium pastor, Rev. Fr. Thees, of Sargent. The church was filled to capacity and a great many could not get entrance. Decorations of white and gold flowers made the church beautiful.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served in the National hall, which also was beautifully decorated in white and gold.

In the afternoon a program was given at the hall, a notable part of which was the reading of a history of the Geranium church as written by Mrs. Jos. J. Waldmann. The Quiz was unable to secure a copy of this history for publication this week but we will print it in the next issue.

Sports followed the program in the hall, a penny shower being held for the little children and races of various kinds, a women's ball drive, a boys' apple eating contest, a baseball game furnishing entertainment for older people.

First prize in the ball driving contest was won by Mrs. Frank Kokes, second by Mrs. Frank Vestecka and third by Mrs. Frank Penas. The boys' foot race was won by Morris Konvalin with Lawrence Konvalin second and Marlon Lippinck third, after which two ladies' potato races were held. Mrs. Chas. Blaha, Mrs. Rudolph Kersch and Mrs. Ed Vochelal won prizes. The first and Mrs. Will Zikmund, Mrs. Jos. Kamard and Mrs. Frank Konvalin finished 1, 2, 3 in the second. A ladies' foot race was won by Mrs. Jos. Kamerad with Mrs. John Lohla second and Mrs. John Bort third.

A tug of war between Ord and Sargent was held, the Ord team winning, and a ball game between Geranium and the Sand Flats was won by the latter team, 10 to 8. Boys under seven had a foot race which was won by Eugene Novotny, a large football being the prize.

Prizes for the various sports events were donated by the following firms: Sack Lumber Co., Koupal Lumber Co., W. L. Lumber Co., Hans Andersen, Joe Lohla, Frank Dworak, sr., Farmers Grain & Supply Co., Frank Benda, J. C. Penney Co., Ed Beranek, L. V. Kokes, Ord Co-op Creamery, Nebraska State Bank, McLain & Sorenson, H. T. Sorenson, Safeway Store, Nu-Way Cleaners, Crosby Hdw., all of Ord; Farmers and Merchants bank, Ed Panowicz, Comstock Implement Co., Wescott, Gibbons & Bragg, the City Pharmacy and the Farmers Union, all of Comstock.

A big supper was served at 6 o'clock in the hall and a dance in the evening with music by Eddie Viasek's orchestra climaxed the day. This eight-piece orchestra also played at the church in the morning and for the program in the afternoon. There were numerous other musical features throughout the day but space forbids individual mention of all of them.

It was a great occasion, put on as only people of the Geranium neighborhood know how. Every one who attended speaks of the warm welcome that was given and the fine entertainment that was provided every minute during the day. The Geranium golden jubilee celebration will not soon be forgotten.

Smith Car Upsets On Trip From Ord

Mrs. Hazel Smith and son Ray, who left here last Thursday for their home in Janesville, Wis., had a serious accident near Osceola when their car turned over in loose gravel and went into the ditch. Mrs. Smith suffered a gash in her chin requiring several stitches and also was badly bruised. Her son had a fractured jaw and other injuries. Their car was damaged badly and they had to stay in Osceola a couple of days until it was repaired.

The Janesville people had been here visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ola Severson.

Suit Is Outgrowth Of Highway Crash

Eugene and Frank Romans, operators of a truck line between Ord and Grand Island, were made defendants in two damage suits filed in district court Monday afternoon asking for a total in excess of $25,000 for injuries sustained by plaintiffs as a result of an intersection crash between a truck driven by Roy A. Forbes and one driven by Eugene Romans. Frank W. Keppel, passenger in the Forbes truck, is asking for $20,150.25, and Forbes is asking for $15,125. The accident occurred at the intersection of Fourth and Cedar streets last May 12.

Romans was driving west on Fourth street, the petition states, and the Forbes truck was going south on Cedar street about 6 o'clock in the evening. The Romans truck hit the lighter Forbes truck after the latter was more than halfway through the intersection, and knocked it about 40 feet, the petition sets forth.

Keppel was knocked beneath the truck, and against the pavement. He claims injuries to his shoulder, his head, his back, and his right hand, in addition to bruises on the left side of his body. He was unconscious for one and one-half hours, it is alleged.

Forbes sustained injuries to his jaws, his nose was broken, his ears injured, his eyesight injured and impaired, four teeth loosened, and he was rendered unconscious by the impact, he claims.—Grand Island Independent.

Ord Delco-Lights Win Valley County Farm League Baseball Title, Will Be Given Ord Quiz Cup

Shunkwiler, Furtak, Scherbecker, Manager L. J. Auble, Wolf, Flock, Rashaw (Mascot) Finch, Athey, Covert, D. Lashmet, Edwin Auble, Warford, E. Lashmet.

The Ord Delco-Lights, managed by L. J. Auble, are winners this year in the Valley County Farm Bureau Baseball league. Though the Delcos have a postponed league game against Ocean to play before the season is officially ended they have three games to the good and no other team has a position to catch them. They have won 13 games out of 15 played this summer.

Last year the Ord Quiz offered a silver cup to the farm bureau league winner, this cup to become the permanent possession of any team winning it two years in succession. The North Loup Redbirds won the cup last year but did not play in the league this year so will forfeit possession of the cup to the Delcos.

Today at North Loup the Delco-Lights are playing the North Loup team, which this year won the championship of the Loup Valley league. Baseball fans will thus be given a chance to compare the brand of baseball played in the two circuits.

The Delcos will appear in another fast game Sunday when Jone Level brings his Brewster and All-Stars to Ord. Old timers will remember Jone, who says he has a ball club that will make the Delcos go some. The game will be played at the fair grounds at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Entered at the Postoffice at Ord, Nebraska, as Second Class Matter Under Act of March 3, 1919.

AN IMPORTANT SESSION.

Of greater import, probably, than any unofficial gathering of people ever held in the United States with the exception of the national convention of the American Legion in Portland, Ore., this week. In its effect upon the financial future of our country this convention promises to be even more important than a session of the House and on other financial legislation dealing with veterans may break the federal treasury or it may hold out for the ordinary citizen new hope for the future.

People who grumble at the government's cost may be surprised to learn that out of each dollar appropriated in the form of federal taxes, 25c goes to veterans. This year Congress appropriated almost a billion dollars solely for the care of veterans. Of this stupendous sum about one hundred million goes for Civil War pensions, about seven millions for regular army pensions, about one hundred millions for Spanish war pensions, about sixty millions for administrative costs and the balance, roughly 600 millions, for World War pensions, hospitalization of World War veterans, etc.

Will the Legion demand immediate payment of the Bonus in cash? Unless there is a radical drift at once, such a demand is sure to be made. Nebraska is one of the few state departments of the Legion which will vote against cash payment of the Bonus now. Probably 1,000 of the 1,300 delegates at the national Legion convention are pledged to immediate payment of the Bonus.

But will the Legion, in its present mood, stop at such a demand? Will it not, instead, advocate such legislation as a bill to pension the widows and children of all veterans yet to die? Holding the whip hand in political matters as the Legion admittedly does now, and with the radical element gradually gaining control in the state government, the situation at Portland will be packed with dynamite.

The Quiz has nothing but admiration for the American Legion's attitude in the past. Its stand has been consistently patriotic, as the stand of the Department of Nebraska still is. If the Legion wants to continue to hold the respect of the country as it does now it will be careful in its actions at Portland. It will remember that the country will not tamely submit to perpetual impoverishment at the hands of any organization or for the selfish benefit of any class.

THE READER CAN HELP. Subscribers to the Quiz can aid us materially in publishing a better newspaper by studying closely all advertisements that appear in this paper. On the surface this may seem to be a selfish statement but careful analysis discloses that it is far from such.

When the reader studies the ads he learns where he can buy to the best advantage, which saves money for him, makes shopping easier and works to the advantage of the merchant who inserts the advertisement. At the same time the Quiz will benefit, for the merchant will thus be encouraged to insert another ad.

But there is still more benefit accruing to the reader for as more advertising is printed in the Quiz we will be financially able to print more news and more features in an enlarged paper, thus giving the subscriber more for his money. Quiz advertisements always pay careful study. Form them has today of reading and profiting by the ads.

TURNING THE CORNER. Walter Lippman, in one of those searching articles for which he is famous, recently gives reasons why he believes the United States has finally "turned the corner" and is on the way to economic recovery. Summarized briefly, these reasons are:

1. Success in staying on the gold standard and in successfully defending our credit structure. (This was accomplished, in Mr. Lippman's opinion, by defeating the bonus and other inflationary legislation, by balancing the budget and by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's action in protecting banks against the consequences of gold hoarding.)

2. The British conversion loan, by which that government radically reduced the cost of interest on its internal indebtedness. All producers who are financed through the London money market were helped thereby.

3. Virtual abolition of reparations in the Lausanne conference. One of the most depressing elements in the world economy, Germany's effort to balance her payments, was thus removed.

4. Readjustment in this country through curtailment of production, lower wages, various economic cuts, so that business is now able to make a profit on lower prices and smaller volume. Other and minor factors are cited by Economist Lippman in his enlightening article but the four cited above are the principal reasons for the rise and fall of recovery in sight and that prosperity will soon return. Nobody suggests that the coming winter will be an easy one. Throughout the country all must dig in and work together to see that unemployed are fed, clothed and housed. The full benefits of recovery will not be felt for many months or even years but the news that things are on the upturn is good news in itself.

People who have money will be wise to invest it now, those who have delayed buying things they actually need will be smart if they buy them now. Prices are beginning to climb and as confidence is restored and buying a normal rate is resumed they will climb still higher. The old Prosperity Special is on the track again. Let's go!

THE QUIZ FORUM. Four unusually interesting letters appear in this week's "Public" department of the Quiz, known as "The Quiz Forum." One, written by a former Valley County man, deals with farming practices in eastern Nebraska. Another, from the pen of J. H. Cronk, complains about the economic ills while the other two, written by prominent North Loup men oppose and defend the irrigation ditch that is being proposed for the North Loup valley. The Quiz gladly devotes space to all four of the letters for we know they will prove of interest to many readers.

All communications of general interest are welcome to the "public pulse" columns of the Quiz. Printing them does not mean that we endorse the ideas or suggestions of the writer, in fact more often than not we differ with him. It only means that the Quiz gives to every reader the opportunity to express his own pet ideas in his own words. We hope that more readers will take advantage of the Forum department. We will not print any unsigned letters, though the writer may use a nom de plume if he wishes providing his name is known to the editor. We cannot, naturally, print anything of a libelous nature or any personal attacks. Nor will we print letters that might start a religious controversy. With these exceptions the Forum department is open to all.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. Curtis Wilson and Miss Inez Barnes were married at Grand Island by Pastor Gregory of the Methodist church.

A postal inspector visited Ord and recommended that a fourth rural route be established to serve patrons living north of town. Joe Fecenka got mixed up with a hay rick and a runaway team of horses and as a result was confined to his bed for several days.

Marriage licenses were issued to Frank Clemens, who was to wed Mabel Sticher, and James Bazant, who was to wed Annie Penz.

J. A. Ollis was appointed by Governor Sheldon to represent Nebraska at the National Farmers Congress.

While oiling a windmill Arthur Masling got a finger pretty badly pinched and he was under the care of Dr. Shepard.

Miss Marie Brown went to Columbia, Mo., to enter Stevens college.

Dr. Clason and Vinnedge had their hands full because of the malady that was decimating the number of horses in Valley county. The disease had been diagnosed as cerebro-spinal meningitis.

The Al G. Barnes circus was advertised to show in Ord. Allen Chamberlain was designated as the new Methodist preacher for Ord.

Weller Bros. purchased the Dierks lumber yards in Ord and Frank M. Weller was on the job as manager.

Mrs. George McLain, 82 years old, fell down a flight of cellar stairs and was badly hurt, her injuries including a dislocated wrist and a broken shoulder blade.

Mayor Carson's famous colt, Kit Carson, was making good on the racing circuit. He was nosed out of first money at the Iowa State Fair but won $1,000 purses at Lincoln, Huron, S. D., and Sioux City.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA. An unusual interest in wheat seeding this fall points to more diversification of crops. Wheat in this vicinity is in little danger from rust or Hessian fly. Smut can be treated against, and this summer's epidemic of black chaff is not likely to recover and do damage. If wheat winter-kills it leaves the ground in perfect condition for another crop whereas loss through corn failure is final.

The dependable alfalfa crop, together with ensilage, will make a popular cattle ration this winter; the cows will do surprisingly well on it too. Hogs and poultry also like some alfalfa hay in the winter. There is no danger of overdoing the alfalfa acreage. Instead, the number of acres grown will be less and less in the future. Iowa farmers insist that if their soil grew it as well as ours, they would grow alfalfa and little else.

Chance of more droughts and grasshoppers enlarges the place for sudan grass. Though every other form of vegetation might be destroyed, the sudan would remain unscathed. In dry weather it thrives well, and grasshoppers simply don't like the taste of it. There will be more acres of barley. It comes very near to equaling corn as a feed, it comes when other feed is scarce, and it out-yields other grains in pounds per acre.

Oats, speltz, rye, sweet clover and garden crops have also come into favor this season.

Something Different

The Lynn Rogers swimming pool and other playground equipment for children have been the attraction of luxury for many children this summer, and the pretty little pool and the yard have been well occupied.

In addition to a nice pool, a big ball-bearing swing and a nice slide are in evidence, as well as other toys.

A guaranteed way to keep your children at home, equipping it so fascinatingly. Mr. Rogers has done most of the work himself.

Also a guaranteed way to keep the neighbor children at your house.

The first day of school always reveals sad moments as well as some happy ones. One little boy cried and cried, and has really hardly stopped yet. He wasn't at all sure about wanting to go to school. Several little children couldn't get their spirits bolstered up sufficiently to get there on time, the first day, but finally dragged in later in the morning.

Many a young mother hates to see the day come that means the first big gap between her and her baby. One very self-sufficient young matron went home Monday morning and "bawled" after delivering her youngster into the hands of the kindergarten teacher.

While other mothers, of course, are glad for the day when they have more time on their hands, and less trouble.

The filling stations of Ord have really covered themselves with glory this summer. I think I have never before they sported so many flowers, and never have they been so attractive. The good-looking little buildings are greatly enhanced by a few gay flower-beds, full of blooms.

A little beginner in the Elyria school really pulled the best of the season, though. One far beyond his years.

The little fellow was had, and at least after other remonstrances the teacher said, "Do you know what I'm going to do with you?" "Yes," was the answer of the little chap, much to her surprise, so much so in fact that she inquired curiously, "What am I going to do to you?"

"Don't you know?" he inquired coyly.

If any of the owners of elderly buildings want to be rid of them, I have a letter from a man who read about them and wants to buy second hand lumber.

There's your chance.

By the time you read this the Flower Show will have come and gone. If you didn't help by bringing flowers, I hope all your mashed potatoes are lumpy hereafter. And if you didn't come to see the flowers, I just can't think of anything bad enough to wish on you. Why we need is cooperation and lots of it.

It was rather fun, the first few days of school, to view the array of waiting students. Outside for high school building in addition to rows of patient flivers and what-not, and several bicycles were three dogs or pups, of friendly playful varieties, and even one lonesome little yellow kitten.

The fall fishing season for this locality seems to have "set in." Men with fish poles, and cars loaded with trappings tell the tale. Or rather, the fishermen tell the tales, on their return.

And some of them lately have been quite good sized tales.

QUIZ FORUM

More About Irrigation. To the Editor of the Quiz: The purpose of this article is to refute some statements being made about town and in last week's Loyalist concerning the irrigation project. (The article referred to as appearing in last week's Loyalist appears in today's Quiz over M. E. McClellan's signature.) We understand that those opposing the ditch have placed the cost per acre of at least $50. It has also been said that each farm must pay for everything except the main ditch. This is a gross exaggeration.

The petition being circulated places the cost of ditch not to exceed $18 per acre. This amount will take care of all costs, delivering the water to each farm in the district.

Mr. McClellan states that our present irrigation law is unfair because it compels those "who have land which can be irrigated profitably to help pay for the ditch. Any person having such land has the right of appeal for exemption before the county board.

It was stated that we must accept the conclusion that ditch irrigation in this section of Nebraska would be unprofitable because ditches built in the early 90's were all abandoned.

A careful study of the history of abandoned ditches shows that their failure was due in a large part to poor organization.

Present law assure a steady revenue for maintenance. Mr. Stuckey of Lexington, Nebr., a speaker at the meeting last Thursday night states that one of the most profitable ditches of today was abandoned in the 90's and reopened in 1918.

The article states that "the old ditch carried about 50% more water than the new project will be allowed by law."

Approximately the same acreage was irrigated before and after the law allows 1 cu. ft. per second for every 70 acres, exactly the same as 1893. However, modern methods of construction will carry more water through the ditch than ever before.

Mr. McClellan says it does not pay to irrigate alfalfa because this is sub-irrigated land and does not need it.

One look at alfalfa fields between North Loup and Ord would certainly show that alfalfa is sub-irrigated. It is not sufficient.

Exception was taken to our statement that 70 bushels of field corn was an average yield under irrigation.

Whose veracity I have no reason to doubt has told me repeatedly of corn that yielded 100 bu. per acre when the old ditch was in operation. I have been in corn fields under irrigation in the Platte Valley that averaged 10 bushels per acre better than this. Surely 70 bu. is a conservative average when the water has been used at the proper time.

Mr. McClellan states that I proposed to line the ditch with concrete to prevent seepage. The distance should be spoken of in terms of feet. It is thought perhaps that in two places clay or cement lining might be advisable but this is all included in the estimate of cost not to exceed $50 per acre.

W. O. ZANGGER. Gets Load Off His Chest. Looking Glass, Ore. Aug. 27, 1932. To the Quiz Forum:

I notice that you had a news school at Ord recently and I surely would have liked to have been there for I am at a loss to know what constitutes news.

In a former issue you said you were willing to "let God continue to run things. Now if God is running things that is to me news and if you would tell me where capitalism abdicating in favor of God and how you managed to make the 'scop' that would be more news. The time was when our papers used to consider the Platform of the different political parties news.

Over two months ago the right bower of capitalism held a convention in Chicago and two weeks later its echo or left bower held a powwow in the same hall and I assume they both accepted the same platform. I have not seen a platform of either in any one of all the various papers and magazines that I take either agricultural, political or religious. Why this conspiracy of silence? Can it be that at a time like the present with one-third of the population without any visible means of support one-half of the remainder facing bankruptcy, business paralyzed and with two percent of the population owning at least ninety per cent of the country's wealth with the entire country bonded and mortgaged for more than it would sell for under the hammer for cash and with the prospect that five generations yet unborn will be born bond slaves, that the platform of the parties that seek to guide the ship of state out of the troubled waters are not news? Or does capitalism see the "hand writing on the wall," "thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting" and put the muzzle on the Press?

Mr. Editor forty years ago people foresaw and pointed out the trend of events and were called "Hay Seeds, Calamity Howlers, Repudiators, Anarchists and Damfools" and today the conditions are being tried to be covered up by calling anyone who dares to call attention to the facts a "Red or Bolshevik."

The Canisteo Times of Steuben County, N. Y. just arrived and over nine and a half pages the size of the Quiz is devoted entirely to advertising delinquent tax sales in the one county, is that news or is that the calamity howl? Mr. Editor it is not the size of the tax in dollars that is the calamity but the size of the tax. It will take two or three times as many acres to pay the same number of dollars in taxes, interest, salaries and bonds and mortgages did in the spring of 1920. Times as many bushels of wheat, ten times as many pounds of prunes, six times as much wool, three times as many eggs, three or four times as many hogs, twelve times as many hides, three times as many days labor if employment was to be had which it is not. Is this a calamity howl? It is said that "Nero fiddled while Rome burned" and it seems to me that the above facts are not considered news. I do not claim that the above figures are absolutely correct in every instance but are approximately correct. Use your own grey matter and figure it out for yourselves.

Mr. Editor I would like to ask the taxpayers, interest and bondholders a question. When the producers can no longer pay the taxes, interest and profits, or refuse to do so longer, where will they get off?

J. H. CRONK. A calamity howler for forty years last past.

Writes from Fillmore County. To the Quiz Forum: Americans are such a cosmopolitan people that one would not look for many differences in habits and ways of doing things in different parts of this country and less so in adjacent parts of one state. Yet local conditions bring about varying practices as learned to be best through practical experience.

I have farmed in Fillmore county since last spring and have observed a few peculiarities here that I mention which may be of interest to the readers. Most farms here are of the diversified type—livestock and grain. Wheat raising is the big gamble. Alfalfa does well. Oats is grown because it fits into rotation and provides feed for work stock. Tractors here do only about 20 per cent of the field work. (Due to local dealers who consumers were getting their gas for 13 cents and kerosene for 6 cents.)

Corn does well here if not struck by hail, drought or hot winds. Last year yields were close to forty bushels and this year it promises to run thirty to forty to the acre. According to oldtimers they figure on a corn crop two out of every three years. Probably because of this uncertainty of a corn crop cattle feeding is not very extensive and much grain is shipped out when the crop is good. Wheat was badly hurt by the March freeze yielding around ten bushels what was not plowed up and put to corn. Due to late wet spring oats was put in late and yields ran around twenty bushels. And prices received are four or five wheat 25c, old corn 19c.

Notice one clever method used here in getting started with the binder in the field. The back swath is cut first. This way only one row of bundles need be carried out whereas by the old method three or four rows had to be carried out to make room for cutting the back swath last. Mulching potatoes and tomatoes with straw is a common practice. Straw is plentiful and can be had for the asking. Bran sells for $6 per ton. Shorts 50c per ton. Here is a list of some of the advantages over Valley county. Longer pasture season. Winter wheat is pastured in fall and spring. Stubblefields are pastured after harvest. Bedding plentiful and winter months are dry. Hay and grain and somewhat better market. Presence of a wholesale carlot buyer in Geneva secures producer two cents a dozen more for eggs. But these must be graded and first class. Very extensive poultry farms are not found here and most dairy herds are not common. Most farmers keep the dual purpose kind of cattle.

Most farm lines are planted to orange hedge and some are divided by iron trees. The neighbor north of me never sees what his neighbor west of him is doing because of the tall thick hedge that divides the two farms. During recent years these hedges have been cut out. Orange make the best of posts but like oak is hard to drive a staple into.

Sale barn facilities are available at York, Friend and Sutton. The one at York is quite an affair. Has seating capacity of 750. The yards and ways remain one of South Omaha. When the sale hour arrives a bell mounted at the peak of the pavilion is rung manipulated by a cord from the auctioneer's pulpit. No messenger boys are used as dealers carry cards and are carried from entry gate to clerk and sale slips from clerk to the treasurer's office by trolley. All pigs sold are guaranteed vaccinated. If brought in unvaccinated they are vaccinated at least ninety per cent of the country's wealth with the entire country bonded and mortgaged for more than it would sell for under the hammer for cash and with the prospect that five generations yet unborn will be born bond slaves, that the platform of the parties that seek to guide the ship of state out of the troubled waters are not news? The neighbor north of me never sees what his neighbor west of him is doing because of the tall thick hedge that divides the two farms. During recent years these hedges have been cut out. Orange make the best of posts but like oak is hard to drive a staple into.

Sale barn facilities are available at York, Friend and Sutton. The one at York is quite an affair. Has seating capacity of 750. The yards and ways remain one of South Omaha. When the sale hour arrives a bell mounted at the peak of the pavilion is rung manipulated by a cord from the auctioneer's pulpit. No messenger boys are used as dealers carry cards and are carried from entry gate to clerk and sale slips from clerk to the treasurer's office by trolley. All pigs sold are guaranteed vaccinated. If brought in unvaccinated they are vaccinated at least ninety per cent of the country's wealth with the entire country bonded and mortgaged for more than it would sell for under the hammer for cash and with the prospect that five generations yet unborn will be born bond slaves, that the platform of the parties that seek to guide the ship of state out of the troubled waters are not news? Or does capitalism see the "hand writing on the wall," "thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting" and put the muzzle on the Press?

Mr. Editor forty years ago people foresaw and pointed out the trend of events and were called "Hay Seeds, Calamity Howlers, Repudiators, Anarchists and Damfools" and today the conditions are being tried to be covered up by calling anyone who dares to call attention to the facts a "Red or Bolshevik."

but no hay for cattle. No prizes for calves under four months of age. Eight classes in the dairy division with awards $7, $5, ribbon. A. B. FIALA. The Disadvantages of Ditch Irrigation. To the Editor of the Quiz: An attempt to form an Irrigation district for this locality is now being made. My attention was first called to this by a couple of items in the Omaha Daily and later in the Quiz and Loyalist.

The district law as it now stands was designed for an arid region, where land has practically no value unless it is watered. To apply the district law here where land has a considerable value without water and compel those who have land which can be irrigated, but which no one says can be irrigated profitably, to help pay for a ditch, is manifestly unfair. This can take place if a majority of the owners of a majority of the acres under the proposed ditch sign a petition for the formation of a ditch.

It does not pay to irrigate along the eastern border of Nebraska. It does not pay to irrigate the western border of the state. There is a point between where the profit vanishes. In the nineties there were ditches built at North Loup, Columbus, Ericson, Burwell, Sargent, and Loup City. All were abandoned, so the conclusion may be drawn that we are east of the line where it pays to irrigate from a ditch which requires the major portions of the land under it to be watered. The above ditches were built by corporations, because a district law was not available. However, the Sargent ditch was later organized as a district.

The McClellans built by contract the two heavy cuts south of Mira Creek, across the McClellan farm, across the Morris farm south of the railroad, across the Warren Collins farm north of the railroad, and the one-half mile next east of this, and as I followed a team and scraper on all these I was present when the old ditch was built. We used water every year that the ditch was in operation. Others built other portions and struggled and sacrificed to the limit but in spite of all it failed to pay interest on the mortgage on the ditch. The mortgage holder then took the title to the ditch and tried running it. At the end of the first year they sold to Mr. Van Cott of St. Paul, Nebr. He made three year contracts with those who desired to irrigate for sufficient acreage to warrant his repairing and operating the ditch. He put a large force of men and teams at work who cleaned and repaired the ditch.

A clause in the contract with the water users stipulated that water should be running in the ditch by June 1. When the water was turned into the ditch the seepage was so great that they could not get water through the ditch by June 1 which invalidated the contracts. Mr. Van Cott sold the ditch and flumes and the right of way to those who cared to buy it back to remove the bur on the title to their farms. That ended the struggle and the losses. As I remember that was in 1902.

We had a corn crop every year which was in 1901 and 1928. The construction of the old ditch was started hastily and without forethought. The first survey was made by Bennett Seymour. The next survey by the city engineer, Grand Island. Then an irrigation engineer from western Nebraska, was employed to inspect the proposition. After his report a company was formed and Ed Stimson, a railroad engineer, was employed to locate the ditch and construction began in December 1893.

In the spring of 1894 Stimson became city engineer of Council Bluffs and sent E. M. Rohrbough, an engineer with irrigation engineering experience in Utah, as well as with the Union Pacific as an engineer.

The head gate and intake were designed by Mr. Rohrbough, after an inspection of the ditches along the Platte in Nebraska. The old said intake was negligible can be ascertained today by a visit to the location of the old head gates as the sand removed while the ditch was in operation still lies there. The second year of operation seepage caused trouble and this continued each year the ditch was used.

It is said the old ditch was too small. The filling was for one cubic foot of water for each acre. It was all the law allowed, and a ditch was constructed to carry this amount. One cubic foot for each 70 acres is all the law allows now. One of the promoters at the present time told me they do not expect to incorporate more than 7,000 acres in this project, so the old ditch carried about fifty per cent more water than this project will be allowed by law. The old ditch was thirty two feet wide at the head-gate which was narrowed to ten feet after passing the waste gate and then narrowed to six feet where it crossed under the railroad on the Burris farm. All measures given at the ditch bottom and slopes were one and one-half to one.

At an irrigation meeting in Ord two or three years ago, Dr. Condra lectured and was assisted by two others, one of whom had the subject, "Ditch Irrigation," the other "What we could expect to grow" under irrigation. The man who lectured on "What to Grow" said it did not pay to irrigate small grain or alfalfa on sub-irrigated land, and defined sub-irrigated land as land where the water level was not more than thirty feet from the surface. That eliminates the alfalfa under the proposed ditch. We might grow potatoes but most of our land is too heavy for potatoes. He said we would have to rely principally on corn.

The unchecked spread of the corn borer westward is a menace which we should consider at this time. The article in last week's Loyalist, quoting the U. S. Agricultural Department said, "officials considered it certain that the pest will invade virgin corn crops this season with a spread of as much as five hundred miles." One party says we could then grow seed peas for the eastern farmer who grows peas for the canneries. Would it not be very speculative to build a ditch to grow practically an untried crop? Mr. I. A. Manchester has a well near North Loup for irrigation purposes which is very successful. If those in the Big Bend who feel their land can be profitably irrigated could not get a satisfactory well they could get water from the river nearby with a pump and not compel those with hard land, who do not believe a ditch will be a profitable investment to help build and maintain a ditch which will probably cost $150 per acre for maintenance alone. I understand the Gothenburg Light & Power Co. charge $11.50 per acre for maintenance.

Some of us believe after our irrigation experience with the ditch, and farming here without water for a term of thirty five years, that the method without irrigation is the more profitable and without question much more agreeable. Irrigation is hard, dirty work and very exacting, if the water is properly spread. The irrigation method requires much more hand work. Laterals follow the lay of the land and make irregular, ill-shaped fields. With a well, ditches for spreading the water are the only ones needed and these can be made when needed and then filled quickly with a plow. With a ditch, the laterals must be used by the water user below so must be permanent. It is a well one can irrigate in daylight and when he can't. From a ditch one irrigates in his turn and must use it nights when there is a demand for the water. Furthermore if a large acreage of corn is grown there will be a shortage of water in dry time. At such times the history of practically all ditches is that the irrigator toward the head of the ditch gets the greater share of the water. And in the case of a district, you use yourself when you use the district for failing to deliver your share of the water to you.

Dr. Condra stated "a man told me all he asked was to have the water delivered on the highest point on his farm." That man has a rude awakening coming as he for he will find that land which looks smooth and as if water would flow over it evenly, is covered with high spots and depressions, and must be leveled to irrigate properly. Leveling is expensive and must be done repeatedly as the filled spots will settle when water is turned on.

The article in last week's Loyalist states that one acre of corn can be grown for one and 25-100 dollars. I hope it is not true for the farmers under the ditch to grow one hundred acres of corn for one hundred twenty five dollars in order make the ditch pay. And now about the 70 bushel average yield of corn. There are 45 acres of land on our old home farm which laid ideal for irrigation before we made backfurrows and dead furrows through it by plowing.

Can A Severed Head Speak?

During a medical clinic a short time ago the question was asked of the possibility of a head severed from a human body being capable of giving utterance to speech.

The discussion progressed to the extent that in order to settle the question a committee was appointed to experiment to find if such a thing was possible. So the committee secured a human head and took it to the quiet of the dissecting room where the experiment was tried, each taking their turn in asking a question. A question was asked of the lips and the head would wait in suspense for a sound.

No success had accompanied their efforts until it reached the last man, but he asked the head a question and then all waited in breathless silence, when suddenly there was a quivering of the lips and with feverish anxiety the man placed his ear close to the lips and to his great astonishment he heard a voice, but instead of an answer to his question, the voice said:

You can now have a genuine Super-Powered two cylinder Frigidaire priced as low as $112 plus the freight delivered and installed in your home, your ice box down payment and $7 per month.

There are now over 2,250,000 in use. It costs to be without Frigidaire, new models on the floor. Adv. L. J. AUBLE.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah 10:14: "Every man is brutish in his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the graven image; for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them."
A scriptural passage used in the lesson-sermon is from Lamentations 3:40-41 and reads: "Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord. Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens."
A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Matter is an error of statement. This error in the premise leads to errors in the conclusion in every statement into which it enters. Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal, for matter is temporal and is therefore momentary phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous." (page 277).

Arcadia Department

By MRS. RAY GOLDEN

Coach Arnold Tuning has been lining up his boys for football practice the past week and the material available points to a promising team. The first game will be played with Comstock at Arcadia, Sept. 23. The following boys have gone out for practice: George Brandenburg, Claude Williams, Frank Wheatcraft, Clarence Lee, Milo Smith, Sam Hawthorne, Gilbert Stone, Cledith Thompson, Max Weddel, Orvis Hill, Douglas True, Bill Bulger, Norman Fees, Bernard Snodgrass, Orville Sorenson, Orle Sorenson, Monell Milburn, Donald Milburn, Gerald Murray, George White, Eugene Hastings, and Donald Holeman.

The Arcadia public school opened last week with an attendance of 107 Anderson and twenty-nine pupils in the high school and one hundred thirty-seven in the grade school. This shows a slight decrease in the number attending last year. There are thirty seniors this year, thirty-three juniors, thirty-six sophomores and thirty freshmen. There are twenty-two students in the eighth grade, nineteen in the seventh, thirteen in the sixth, fourteen in the fifth, twelve in the fourth, nine in the third, thirteen in the second, thirteen in the first and twelve in the kindergarten.

Acting Judge Loses Decision In Beer Opening Bout

Acting Judge Charles Hollingshead is learning rapidly about the conduct of his office and so far has handled capably every question that has come before him—except one.

Monday Sheriff George Round requested the acting judge to come upstairs and inspect, as the law requires, while $2 quarts of beer confiscated recently were destroyed.

It was all a put-up job for while the judge was walking upstairs Sheriff Round shook a bottle of beer until it was well riled up and then just as the judge walked in the door, handed it to him along with an opener and told him to open and pour out the first bottle. Suspecting nothing, Hollingshead did as he was asked, and the second quart of beer hit him straight to the skin. The beer was "plenty wild," his Honor is willing to testify.

Janitor Dave Haught, in spite of the fact that he is an old hand (1) at beer opening, bit on the same job and just as the beer was being poured into a glass, it was soaked with illegal fluid. Night Marshal Pardee and County Attorney Munn, who also were present, declined to chance it and the sheriff had to open the rest of the beer without assistance.

The beer was confiscated from one Everett C. Jack Hutchison Saturday evening.

Grand Island, Nebr. Sept. 14.

Many causes have been given for Hemorrhoids (Piles) a condition due to interference with the circulation of blood in the rectum. Most people have a tendency to this disease because of the erect and sitting position man assumes for two-thirds of the twenty-four hours. Consequently, during the greater portion of each day, rectal blood vessels are normally distended and the parts approaching congestion.

A predisposition of Piles is sometimes inherited. Constipation resulting from straining at stool, purgative medicines, certain diets, overeating, heavy lifting, stooping, affections of the bladder, prostate gland, uterus, liver, heart, pregnancy are factors in the production of Piles. Other reasons might be mentioned, each one playing its own part in every individual suffering with this universal disorder.

The wrong way to do things, usually seems the most reasonable way. The pen that persuades people to think rationally and conscientiously, is mightier than a king. Read in this paper next week how you can have your Piles cured quickly, pleasantly and permanently. # Use Your Own Judgement » »

When the FARMERS of a community organize to handle their own farm products and make a success of it then BIG BUSINESS, handling the same line of products, tries to figure out some scheme to put the Farmers Organization OUT OF BUSINESS.

It is easy for them to make a MOUTHPIECE out of some disgruntled Cream Buyer who tries to shake the Farmers confidence in their own Cooperative Enterprise, by twisting facts and figures, by telling part of the story but not all.

This "Wolf in Sheep's Clothing" may pretend to be greatly interested in the Farmers Welfare but as a matter of fact he is more interested in the money he can make off of the producers he can influence to leave the creamery and patronize him, and could he accomplish the wrecking of this Farmers Organization he would no doubt laugh at the Farmers for not sticking together when they had a good thing. If he is so interested in their welfare why didn't he pay what cream was worth before the Creamery was built? If he had, it would not have been necessary to build this creamery.

He even blames this Creamery for the low price of Cream. Next thing we know he will be blaming us for the World Wide Depression and the World War, which would be about as near the truth as some other things we have heard of him telling.

HE SAYS HE MEETS OUR DIVIDENDS. Why don't he pay a Dividend of his own without waiting to meet ours. The answer is simple. Centralizers don't pay any more for cream than they have to. His company don't pay dividends in towns where there are no Cooperative Creameries to force them to do so. If cream is worth so much why don't they pay all their cream patrons in the state as much as they pay their patrons in Ord?

He says he would pay more for Cream if the Creamery would let him. He means he would pay more if the CREAMERY HE BUYS FOR would let him but he tries to make the people here believe that the Ord Cooperative Creamery has some mysterious power over him.

As far as we are concerned he can pay as much as he pleases. The Management of the Company he buys for has never yet complained to us that we were paying too little for cream but they have called us several times and complained that we were paying too much and asked us to come down on the price of butterfat.

We have consistently paid more for Cream in Ord than the State Station price, as established by the Centralizer Creameries, one of which group he represents.

In times of financial distress, people are looking for some one to blame for conditions and some are ever ready to believe unreasonable untruths from unreliable men who have axes of their own to grind and whose greatest ambition is to help put a Farmers organization on the rocks of financial distress.

Whether or not you are a stockholder of this Creamery, you should be vitally interested in the welfare of this Community enterprise which does not ask you to contribute to its upkeep but invites you to receive the benefits and profits which you are entitled to by reason of your patronage.

NOW THINK THIS OVER

When some one tries to stuff you full of untruths about the Ord Cooperative Creamery, why not come and talk it over with the Manager and get both sides of the story. All we ask of you is to be fair.

IN THE MEANTIME

Our business is steadily increasing and there are literally hundreds of towns in the state of Nebraska who wish that they could have as successful a Co-operative Creamery in their town as you have right here in Ord.

AND DON'T FORGET

That We Buy Cream, Poultry and Eggs and will appreciate your business.

Best Amateur Golfer In U.S. Plays Here Sunday

Johnny Goodman Gives Definite Assurance That He Will Play Here Sept. 25.

Ord jumped to prominence on the golfing map of the United States this week when it became known definitely that Johnny Goodman, America's No. 1 amateur, positively will take part in the medal tournament to be held here this coming Sunday, September 25. Goodman will compete in an exhibition foursome, the other members of which will be Pete Lyck, of Omaha, Johnny Moore, of Grand Island, and Lyle McBeth, of Ord.

Before entering the national tournament at Five Farms course in Baltimore last week, young Goodman had promised to take part in the medal tournament here September 25. When he went to Ord, he stated that he would not be able to come to Ord because of more important claims upon his time.

This fear was dispelled Monday when Lyle Milliken received a message from Goodman's employer in Omaha, Lyck, stating that Goodman positively would play in Ord Sunday. Accordingly, plans are going forward here to make it the biggest day in a golfing line that Ord has ever had.

The Omaha party, which will be composed of Goodman, Lyck, Claude Griffey and Harvey Milliken, will leave Omaha at 6 a. m. Sunday for Ord. It is promised that they should arrive here about noon and at 2 p. m. or shortly before Goodman, Lyck, Moore and McBeth will tee off on an 18-hole exhibition match.

Goodman will be paired with McBeth against Lyck and Moore, according to present plans. The match should be exciting as McBeth's familiarity with the course will help him considerably while Moore is one of central Nebraska's best players. Lyck, a former Nebraska state champion, should help Moore give formidable competition to Goodman.

Will Solicit Funds For Boys' Home In Ord Saturday

The annual Tag Drive to raise funds for Father Flanagan's Boys' Home, near Omaha, will be carried on in Ord Saturday, September 24. Mrs. Eugene C. Leggett being the local chairman for the drive. She will be aided by a large corps of local women who will undertake to secure funds to add the more than 200 homeless and abandoned boys who are at present housed in Father Flanagan's Home.

Father Flanagan's Home for Boys was founded 15 years ago with $90 he borrowed, and since that time more than 3,000 boys have found refuge and an education and a home there. All nationalities, creeds and colors are equally welcome.

A depression has been felt at the home, and help is needed. Since no organization or church guarantees its existence, and aid comes from the general public only, the home is appealing for help. "We feel that if we can carry on for another year we can save our institution, but if we don't obtain immediate help we'll be forced to close our doors," Father Flanagan writes.

Mortgage obligations and other bills are to be met, also, and the treasury is bare. Unless it is forthcoming, fifteen years of building is wasted and ruined, and dozens of boys will be made homeless.

Tag sellers will be posted on local street corners Saturday, and you are asked to give at least a small sum, in order that the fine work being done by Father Flanagan's Home for Boys may be able to continue.

Monday Mrs. Arthur Capron was very ill with appendicitis and submitted to an operation in the Ord hospital. Mrs. Ed Wilcox was staying in the Capron home until Tuesday when Mrs. Madge Galloway of Omaha arrived. Mr. Capron drove to Grand Island and met her Mrs. Galloway is a sister of Mrs. Capron.

Sunday evening officers were elected at the meeting of the Expression club as follows: president, Wayne Johnson; vice president, Miss Katherine Ollis; secretary and treasurer, James Milliken.

Adrian Tolen In District Meet Oct. 3

Ord friends of Adrian Tolen will be eagerly awaiting news of his progress at the speaking contest at Waterloo, Ia., on Oct. 3, at which time Adrian competes as Nebraska representative of the Future Farmers of America in the regional meet. Speaking on taxation, he will compete in a field of 10 or 12 representatives of other states. The contest is in connection with the Waterloo Dairy Show, going on at that time.

Adrian graduated from high school here last year with high honors, and is now in Lincoln attending the University of Nebraska. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irl Tolen.

Mr. Kovanda and other friends are hoping Adrian's speech will be broadcasted Monday evening, Oct. 3, so that they may hear him speak. Of course they are also hoping he will carry off first honors in the match. If he does, he will then compete in the national contest against the other three regional winners. The first place in this national meet means $500 in cash, and the others also receive substantial awards.

North Loup Man Fined For Liquor

Alan Sims, state highway patrolman at North Loup, was taken into custody last Wednesday evening on a liquor charge and Friday in county court here plead guilty to having in his possession 16 quarts of beer. He was fined $100 and costs of $10.25, which he paid. Sims had hidden the liquor along the highway near North Loup and officers believe he had it for purposes of sale but had no evidence to make a charge of bootlegging stick.

Clarence Pierson Compensation Suit Tried Here Tuesday

Before Compensation Commissioner Frank Dutton of Lincoln here Tuesday the suit of Clarence Pierson against the Springfield Telephone Association was heard. The Lincoln man reserving decision in the case until he has had time to study the evidence more closely.

While repairing the Springfield telephone line on August 23, 1930, Mr. Pierson suffered a crushed ankle when a tree fell across it and was confined to bed for almost two months and unable to work for six months or more. Under the state compensation law he would be entitled to two-thirds of his salary for the period of his illness, plus medical expense and attorney fees.

The question to be settled in this case is whether the Springfield Telephone association is or is not a partnership. If it is a partnership Mr. Pierson is not entitled to compensation for he is a member of the association and would thus be precluded from filing suit, lawyers believe.

There are forty-one members of the association and evidence was brought out Tuesday to show that Mr. Pierson was elected president and had been hired at 50c per hour to do repair work on the line, though there was no regular salary specified nor no regular hours of work.

Attorneys in the case were Davis & Voltzmann for Mr. Pierson and Hardenbrook & Misko for the association. It is probable that appeal will be filed no matter which way Commissioner Dutton rules.

Report Ducks Plentiful

Will Treptow and C. E. Goodhand, who returned to Ord Monday evening from a cattle buying trip to Hyannis, report that ducks are plentiful on the sandhill lakes. "They're black with ducks," said Mr. Treptow yesterday. With the duck season opening October 1 Ord migrants are interested in anything pertaining to the water fowl situation so Mr. Treptow's report will bring good cheer to many.

New Highway Started

Construction work started last Wednesday on the new state highway between Scotia and Greeley. Culvert work is being done first, after which the heavy machinery will be moved in. About twenty men and fifty horses from Scotia are being used and it is stated definitely that no outside labor will be employed.

Mrs. Ign. Kilma entertained at dinner Tuesday evening. Guests were Mrs. Everett Nelson, Santa Barbara, Calif., and Mrs. Anna Nelson.

Gotthard Landen, 24, of Greeley, and Miss Lois Jeffries, 21, of Horace, secured a license to wed and were united in marriage here last Wednesday by Acting Judge Charles Hollingshead.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kocina have gone to Creighton to attend the funeral of a friend who died yesterday.

1,012 FARMERS SIGN PETITION TO OUST AGENT

County Board Will Decide Whether Question Goes On Ballot At Meeting Oct. 4.

Petitions containing 1,012 signatures, which officials of the Taxpayers League contend represent a big majority of farmers in Valley county, were filed Tuesday with County Clerk Ign. Kilma, the purpose of these petitions being to bring about the abolition of the Valley County Farm Bureau and the ousting of County Agent C. C. Dale.

The petitions were drawn up by the law firm of Hardenbrook & Misko, representing the Taxpayers League, and were circulated extensively by members of the league.

One petition entitled "Remonstrance" bears the signatures of 529 farmers and is headed "We are being bona fide residents of Valley county actually and actively engaged in farming therein. . . . do hereby remonstrate against the further allowance of the budget (for the farm bureau) for the reason that said budget is an expenditure of public funds unwarranted at this time; that it benefits only a small percentage of the taxpayers and the same is unjust and inequitable and we ask that the County Board shall submit the question to a vote of the people of the County at the General Election to be held in November, 1932, as provided by law."

The second petition, entitled "Withdrawal and Remonstrance" and is signed by 183 farmers who allege that "since economic conditions have materially changed since 1920 and since we have been misled as to the propriety of the usefulness of the County Agent and since I am now convinced that said budget is an expenditure of public funds unwarranted and we ask that the County Board should remonstrate against the further allowance of the budget and ask the county board to submit the question to a vote of the people at the General Election to be held in November, 1932."

All of the farmers who signed the above-mentioned petition were signers of the petition circulated by the Farm Bureau in the summer of 1931. The Farm Bureau and County Board on September 2 of that year. The farm bureau owes its legal existence to this action, which contained signatures of 656 farmers.

At its next meeting on October 4 the Valley county board of supervisors will hold a hearing on the Taxpayers League petitions and decide whether the county agent question will be submitted to the voters at the general election in November.

Under the law it is required that a remonstrance petition must bear the signatures of 10 per cent more legal signers than were on the petition under which the farm bureau was established.

It is further stipulated, however, that no farmer who signed the original petition may sign the remonstrance and if he does sign the remonstrance his name shall be stricken off and counted on the original petition instead.

The county board will accordingly be required to decide how many farmers who signed the Taxpayers League petitions filed this week were legally entitled to do so before it can rule on whether or not the question may be brought to a voting Oct. 4 will be an important one as it is expected that the Farm Bureau will file a protest to the Taxpayers League petitions which may throw the entire matter into the courts for a decision.

Rev. Spracklen Assigned To Ord

Rev. H. H. Spracklen, for several years pastor of the United Brethren church here, was reassigned to the Ord church at a recent conference. Rev. Charles W. Wright was again assigned to the Midvale church. Both are well liked by their congregations and news of their reappointment is being received with pleasure.

Rev. A. P. Vanice was reappointed conference superintendent and begins his twelfth year in this work.

Judge and Mrs. E. P. Clements and Miss Lena Clements drove to Boulder, Colo., last Saturday and have been enjoying several days visit with the Warner Clements family. They are expected home this week end.

Marion Vincent is not improving very fast and doctors are planning to x-ray his stomach and lungs. Over two months ago Mr. Vincent was kicked in the stomach by a horse. Afterwards pneumonia developed and he is in a serious condition.

Orville Sowl Owns Valuable Violin Made in 1765

Orville H. Sowl became the owner recently of a very old and valuable violin, which he has been made in 1765 by a German, who was a fine workman. The violin has belonged to a number of excellent violinists both in Europe and in this country, and Mr. Sowl considers himself very fortunate in securing possession of it. The violin will be used by Professor Molzer for several of his selections Monday evening, September 26, when he plays here.

Public Is Invited To Molzer Concert

All music lovers of Ord and vicinity are cordially invited to attend the concert to be given next Monday evening, September 25, at the Ord high school auditorium by Professor August. Molzer, Mr. Jean Ellsworth and Miss Eunice Bingham, all of Lincoln. The concert will be given under the auspices of the Rotary club and there will be no admission charge. It starts at 8:15 o'clock.

QUIZ PUBLISHER STILL ON CULLEN, SAYS FISH BITING

Ord Party Will End Vacation And Return Home By October First, Says Hank Leggett.

Jackpine Lodge on Middle Cullen Lake, near Nisawa, Minn., Sept. 15, 1932.

I have my little Remington portable on a small table in the corner of the front bedroom beside a window where, as I write, I can look out on the lake and it is a beautiful picture, for the wind is blowing a gale from the west and the whitecaps are rolling and the water is churned up till it is all dirty looking near shore. It is so cold and windy that we cannot fish, much as we would like to go so, for Hil and Vernie Anderson came Tuesday and they are anxious to put in as much time as possible on the lake.

It is now, as I write, shortly after noon and we just had dinner. When Rufe Clark learned when Hil would start for here he prepared a couple boxes of tomatoes, a nice lot of apples, some string beans and other vegetables from the garden, and sent them along and we are living high here as a result of his thoughtfulness. Hil and I got up at 4:30 yesterday and went to the upper lake and brought home 7 nice white eyes and one large crappie so we were well supplied with the finest fish that grow. And we were wise in going early for the wind came up before noon and it has been almost impossible to get on the water since. We are hoping that by tomorrow the storm will blow itself out and we will get some good weather, again.

Cuts Foot With Axe.

While chopping wood on the Annis Peterson farm last Wednesday Leo Kessler cut his right foot badly with the axe. He was attended by Dr. F. A. Barta, who had to take several stitches to close the gash. Leo bled badly while he was being brought to the doctor's office by his father, W. E. Kessler, but the wound is healing nicely though Leo will be on crutches for a few days yet.

Several from Ord went to Erickson Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duemey and son Laverne. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Albers, Mrs. Edith Jones, Miss Maggie Briley, John Klein and James Gilbert.

Marjory Woolery was twelve years old last Tuesday. She entertained eight little friends in her home after school. She received some nice gifts. Her mother prepared a nice lunch which included a large birthday cake.

G. A. SCHWABAUER APPOINTED M. E. MINISTER IN ORD

State Conference Sends Wright To Osceola, Names North Louper to Come Here.

Rev. G. A. Schwabauer, for the past two years pastor of the Methodist church at North Loup, Monday was named by the state M. E. conference to become minister of the Ord church succeeding Rev. W. H. Wright, who goes to Osceola. Rev. Schwabauer will assume his new duties here at once.

The annual church conference was held in Lincoln on the last two days of last week and on Sunday and Monday of this week. Rev. and Mrs. Wright and Bert M. Harbroke attended from here, the latter going as lay delegate of the Ord church.

The Ord church had issued a call to Rev. W. L. Ruhle, for seven years pastor at Aurora, and it was understood that he was to be assigned here but when conference appointments were announced Monday it was learned that Rev. Ruhle was assigned to Warren M. E. in Lincoln and Rev. Schwabauer of North Loup was assigned to Ord.

Other appointments of interest to local people are: North Loup-Davis Creek, W. H. Stephens; Arcadia, R. D. Guthrie; Comstock-Walworth, Edward M. Novak; Erickson, G. E. Martin; Sargent, H. B. Hix; Scotia, L. A. Moore; Loup City, G. M. Carter; Burwell, supplied. Bernard Johansen continues as district superintendent.

Rev. Wright has made many friends here who are sorry to see him leave, though Osceola is considered in the light of a promotion for him as that city has fully as good a church, a better parsonage and a large membership. Rev. and Mrs. Wright expect to move to Osceola about next Tuesday.

Last G. A. R. Member Dies.

W. S. Mattern, last surviving G. A. R. member in Burwell, was laid to rest here Sunday. A short illness with flu caused his death. When a lad of 15, he entered the Union Army in 1861, serving until his capture in McCook's raid. He was sent to the infamous Andersonville prison and staid there for nine months, during which time he suffered an attack of typhoid fever and lay for weeks on the bare floor with no food, no attention, no special food or medicine. He recovered, even with these handicaps. Thirty-two years ago Mr. Mattern moved to Burwell and leaves five children living there. One son, Ralph, lives in McGrath, Minn. Mrs. Mattern passed away in 1925.

Katherine Zulkoski Becomes Bride Of Rudolf C. Kokes

Making one of the most beautiful brides this vicinity has had in quite a while, Miss Katherine Martha Zulkoski, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Zulkoski of Elyria was married to Rudolf C. Kokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kokes, Ord, Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was performed at the Sacred Heart church in Burwell, Rev. Father Murray officiating.

Mrs. Kokes was gowned in a floor length frock of white silk, made sleeveless and tight-fitting. A cow necking and tiny rhinestones scattered over the waist and yoke of the skirt embellished the dress. A double row of pearls and rhinestones trimmed the net turban and veil, which fell to the floor. The bride wore a pair of kid pumps and carried a bouquet of large pink dahlias.

Miss Stella Zulkoski, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid; frocked in blue georgette, carrying a similar bouquet, and Mr. Stanley Abelson, the best man. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother.

After October first Mr. Kokes and his bride will live on the farm west of Ord now occupied by their parents, who will move to their home in town, just north of the Catholic church.

Their many friends throughout Valley county will wish the young pair a long, happy and prosperous married life.

Tuesday Nels Peterson was 71 years old. His granddaughter, Mrs. Loree McIndes prepared a dinner in honor of the day and Mr. and Mrs. Peterson were guests. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson and their daughter, Mrs. Archie Bradt, never welcomed a boy in their homes, so the two little great-grandsons in the McIndes home are very dear to the Petersons.

Charley Dally is spending a few days with home people, coming from St. Paul where he is Union Pacific operator. He was recently U. P. agent in Oconto.

Mrs. Jim Nay of Los Angeles, Calif., writes her relatives in Ord. She had a birthday Sept. 10th and a number of relatives and friends gathered in her home to celebrate the day.

Ord Robbery Suspects Arrested At Kearney

Ainsworth Golfer Wins Ord Tourney

Baldwin, par-wrecking golfer from Ainsworth, was the winner in the championship flight of the tournament Sunday by the Ord Golf club. To win he defeated Harry McBeth and Glen Auble in early rounds, then beat Mark Tolen in the finals. The Baldwin-Tolen match went an extra hole, Baldwin winning when he rolled in his put for a birdie four on the tenth green.

Other championship flight players were Lyle McBeth, and Fred Swanson, Ord; Steve Finch, of North Loup; and Harp, of Long Pine. Lyle McBeth was medalist with a par 33 but was eliminated by Tolen in the first round of the afternoon, later going on to win the consolation in his flight by beating Harp.

Winner in the second flight was Jay Auble, who beat John Davis 1 up. Lyle Milliken won the consolation by defeating Dr. Blessing. Third flight honors went to John Misko, who beat Rowan of Broken Bow with an exhibition of par golf. Ray Kocina beat Lester Farris of Broken Bow in the consolation. The fourth flight was won by Bill Hunt who beat Robert Johnson, and Bill Earnest of North Loup won the consolation. In the fifth flight Ed Holub won over Henry Frey and Jewell when the consolation.

Only forty golfers competed in this tournament. A tourney at St. Paul the same day cut down the number competing by a considerable number.

Mrs. Elaine Philbert, Mrs. Mida Dallas, Miss Ida King, Mrs. Brinkley and Mrs. T. W. Phelan, all from Grand Island, drove to Ord Wednesday and attended the flower show in the Grand Island Independent the are quoted as saying that the Ord show, while smaller than Grand Island's, was equal to or surpassed the G. I. show in the quality of blooms displayed. The first class women trove all over Ord and inspected the prize winning yards while here.

7 Business Places Here Robbed Last Week By Gang; Round And Munn Go To Kearney.

Breaking into seven Ord business places late last Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, one or several burglars whose work was unknown stole about $50 in cash and made a clean getaway. A jumble of finger-prints, four broken safes, offices littered with papers and the marks of a jimmy on several windows are the only clues left by the burglars, whose work convinced them to be professionals equipped with all the tools of their trade.

These slender clues were enough, though, for Tuesday night of this week at Kearney a party of two men and a woman were arrested and are thought to be the burglars. Railway men, whose work convinced them to be professionals equipped with all the tools of their trade, followed them to California and back again by a trail of looted depot safes but always being just a jump or two behind them.

After committing the Ord robberies last Wednesday nothing was heard of the gang until Sunday, when they committed three robberies in Broken Bow. Sheriff George Round and County Attorney George Munn drove to Kearney Tuesday to question the suspects and possibly bring them back for prosecution here. When the Ord went to press last night the Quz men had not returned yet.

Places that were robbed included the Burlington and Union Pacific depots, the Ford Garage, the Ord Milling company, Sharp's ice cream factory, the Weekes Seed company office and the office of the Weller lumber yard.

The thieves made their best haul at the Union Pacific depot, where, after neatly chiseling off the combination, they opened the safe and stole $25 in cash, leaving express money orders and other potentially valuable papers untouched. They entered the depot by jimmying a window.

At the Burlington depot the burglars proved that they are proficient in the use of "soup," or nitroglycerine, for they opened the safe by "blowing" it, in fact blew it almost into bits. There was no money in the safe, however, so their work was unrewarded. This is the third time in recent months that the Burlington depot has been broken into and never yet have the thieves found any money.

The thieves did a thorough job of searching at the Ford Garage, first opening the safe by chiseling off the combination. In the safe they found about $18 in cash and in the cash register they found about $2 in change. Evidently suspecting that more money was hidden in the safe, they took out every paper it contained and scattered them over the floor, even going through a cash-book left by leaf, evidently thinking currency might have been secreted in the book.

At the Weekes Seed company office they found the safe unlocked and stole the $6 in cash that it contained and they also found the Weller Bros. safe unlocked but containing no money. They ransacked each of these offices, evidently in the belief that money might have been hidden elsewhere than in the safes.

The safe at the Ord Milling company office also was broken into, the burglars chiseling off the combination the same as at the Union Pacific depot and the Ford garage. It contained no money, however, nor did the burglars find any money when they ransacked the Sharp ice cream factory office.

How a group of burglars could enter the safe in seven places in the course of a few hours and then make their getaway without being seen by anyone is a mystery. Night Marshal Roy Rardue was on duty all night and says he saw no suspicious looking cars at any time during the night. Marshal L. H. Cover also was on the streets all night, as he was superintending street flushing operations, and he too reports that no suspicious cars were in evidence.

Charlie Hunt, who lives near the Sharp ice cream factory reports seeing a group that may have been the robbers. About 11:30 p. m. Wednesday he looked out of his window and saw a car parked in front of the Sharp factory. Mr. Hunt says. One man remained at the wheel while three other men got out of the car and went over toward the factory, he relates. He thought it was Mr. Sharp and some companions, Hunt says, so did not think the incident of any importance.

The first report of the robberies was turned in by Wendell Hather, who opened up the Ford garage about 5:30 o'clock Thursday morning. He noticed at once that the safe and cash register had been robbed and summoned Marshal Cover who was still flushing streets a couple of blocks away.

News of the other robbery attempts came in rapidly and Sheriff George Round was busy all morning viewing the various wrecked sites and attempting to find some clue that might lead to arrest of the criminals.

Something DIFFERENT

I write this column a week before it is published, usually, and if I am going to be busy or out of town, it is sometimes prepared five or six weeks before you get a chance to read it. A good many days ago an item about how fascinating was the Lynn Rogers yard was written, and appeared in the same issue as the story of his winning the Yard and Garden Contest. How's that for a coincidence?

It's all your life is worth, if you're on a committee to show an interest. Being car-less, Mrs. Robert Noll and other friends have occasionally piloted me about the city so that I could Oh and Ah at all the beautiful gardens. One day long ago we two went riding about, trying our necks, and by golly five or six women decided we were judging the places.

Now that it's all over, maybe we can go and look in peace. Really there are numbers of gorgeous things to see in Ord. But you'd better hurry, Old Man Frost will catch them before you do.

Mrs. Jerry Petka has had the most perfect example of a white clematis in bloom it has ever been my privilege to see from the street, as you drive by. It is nearly at the south window on the east side is covered by it, and honestly, it's like a picture in a flower catalog.

The out-door living room idea has taken a good firm grip on Ord, I believe, because there are at least three dozen places in our city where the backyard is the center of gardening interest. In other words, they aren't visible from the street, as you drive by. You must stop your car, get out and walk around the house.

For instance, did you know Dr. Ferguson has been busy grubbing and gardening in back of the Animal Hospital? Go in from the north thru the little gate, behind the building, and you'll find a good lawn, a low cobblestone fence with a little corner pool and a high basin with a tiny fountain, above the pool. And flowers.

Many are visiting Fred Coe's Dahlia garden. It is magnificent. But he is only a one-flower gardener. Gould Flagg's roses are almost hothouse-like in their perfection. But he too is one-flower-minded. If those two men could be interested in gardening in general, training a couple of whizzes, wouldn't they?

The Dworak, sr., home and grounds are a vision of beauty every year, all season. Recently a beautiful blue morning glory near a trumpet vine, both blooming, have been receiving much admiration. The colors were wonderful together.

The Flower show last Wednesday was carried on without a single entry from what might be called the Old Guard of local flower lovers.

Mrs. Nelson, a tasty gardener and last year's grand champion, had no entry.

The famous gardener Mrs. Zablouidil, had not one flower there, but explained she sold a few, and hence was a professional grower, to some extent.

Mrs. Rudolph Koupal, with a yard full of gorgeous flowers, had not one entry.

John Klein, whose yard looks as though it had been kept with a toothbrush, inch by inch, had no entry.

Judge Clements had no entries, nor the other hillside gardeners, Edwin Clements, and Arthur Capron.

Mrs. Rube Lincoln had no entry. But she's a very busy lady.

Fiskorski's had no entry, though their yard abounded in expensive shrubs and plants.

Hager's, Jim Misko's, Dr. Taylor's and others who always have charming grounds brought no entries. And many others with attractive yards did not.

And still we had a dandy flower show, even if I do say it as I shouldn't. Now just imagine what a big, fine flower show we can have next year, if they all help us. And if we can get entries from the many pretty rural gardens. There are a lot of them.

There are so many pretty things to see, do go and see them at once, before frost. I can't begin to mention them all here.

Five ladies came all the way from Grand Island Wednesday to see the flower show and all Ord's attractive yards. So surely they are worth an evening or two of your time, too!

Geranium Woman Writes History of County's First Catholic Church

By Mrs. Katherine Waldmann

Editors Note: This week the Quiz is privileged to print the history of the first Catholic church at Geranium, which last Tuesday celebrated its 50th anniversary. Mrs. Joseph J. Waldmann wrote the history from records of the church and from the memories of charter members who are still living. We believe that Quiz readers will find it very interesting.

An article about the Jubilee was printed last week but a few names were omitted from the list of those who donated prize money and prizes. Frank Piskorski, Joe Pencak, Fred Ulrich, Ed Komensky, the First National bank, and Mrs. Will Zablouidil should have been named in this connection.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ramsey, who used to live in the Geranium neighborhood, remembered their old neighbors with a beautiful white and gold bouquet and there were many other beautiful floral gifts, the Quiz learns.

For all these gifts and donations the committee is duly grateful and they wish to thank all those who contributed to the success of the Jubilee, including Right Rev. Bishop Bona and the visiting clergy.

One of the most beautiful examples of the propagation of Catholicism is centered around a little parish originated in the prairie district of Nettolice, later called Geranium, located in valley county, Nebraska, 13 miles west of Ord, 18 miles east of Sargent, on the Ord and Sargent highway.

When this territory was being settled in 1877 and 1878 a few Czech and some Polish families took up their abode in this locality. We great hopes for the future, strengthened by their faith in God, they faced bravely the many hardships which they met; including sickness, drought, prairie fires and poverty. Living in little and houses and dugouts, some of them often subsisting on porridge, corn for which they ground in the coffee mill.

Many men leaving their families to hold down the claim walked to St. Paul and even Omaha to earn a little money with which to buy a few groceries including flour. But these sturdy pioneers were not to be subdued, and finally after many years of arduous labor they or their children are among the most prosperous of our farmers and business men.

After the settlers in 1881 also came a Polish missionary Rev. Antonin Klaviter, who like his parishioners was a homesteader, taking up claim 4 miles north of our present church, the place now owned by Mrs. Mary Bower. Father Klaviter celebrated Holy Mass in the two-room sod houses of different parishioners, namely, Joseph Novotny, Vaclav Studlar, John Prince, Jos. Ptacnik, and others. The pastor shared the hardships with his people. Traveling on foot and the wheelbarrow being his only means of conveying the necessary articles for mass often by hand or wheeling his load four or five miles over the Bee Line Trail. During Father Klaviter's sojourn on his claim, just a short distance from his little home, Kasimier Papousek met with a fatal accident. While hauling a load of lumber gathered in the canyon, drawn by a yoke of oxen the load upset pinning Mr. Papousek and his 16 year old daughter, who was assisting him with the work, under the load. When discovered by neighbor some time later, the daughter was dead and the father died the following day. Father Klaviter layed out a cemetery on a high hill on his claim where the two were buried. A wooden cross marked the graves and could be seen for many miles. The pastor's plan was to build a church on the same hill but the plans did not materialize as Father Klaviter left for the east.

Deeming it necessary to have a more suitable place of worship in which to adore and give thanks to Almighty God, on January 5, 1881 thirteen farmers met to make plans for a cemetery and erect a church. Vac. Studlar donated six acres of his quarter section for that purpose. The following were present at the meeting: John Beran, Joseph Ptacnik, John Prince, Joseph Novotny, John Parkos, John Zavoroski, Vaclav Holoun, Jacob Kosmata, Kasimier Rakowski, Michael Bower, Vaclav Studlar, Albert Hosek, and Vac. Motil. John Beran was elected president, John Prince secretary and Joseph Ptacnik treasurer. Later the following were added which comprised a committee to solicit funds and direct the construction of the church. John Valis, Joseph Novotny, Martin Papousek, Charles Cesak, Joseph Seak, John Hetterman, John Valasek, Joseph Valasek, Albert Parkos and Frank Sajnost. Of the original twenty-seven founders of our parish (to the best of our knowledge) thirteen still survive: Joseph Ptacnik, living in Ord; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Novotny, farming in this locality; Frank Sajnost of South Dakota; Kasimier Rakowski of California; Mrs. Albert Hosek, Ord; Mrs. John Beran, Ord; Mrs. John Hetterman, Geranium; Mrs. Joseph Novotny, Ord; Mike Novotny, Ord; Joh. Kokes, Jos. Polak, Vac Parkos, Comstock, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hosek, Ord.

January 12, 1882, Joseph Ptacnik and Mike Novotny each contributed one horse, making a team that hauled the first load of lumber from St. Paul, the nearest lumber yard that could furnish the necessary material; others hauled with ox teams, a distance of about sixty miles.

The committee worked diligently, soliciting funds in the surrounding territory, including Ord and St. Paul, all contributed liberally of their scant means. A frame church 18x32 at the cost of about $300 was the pride of Nettolice. It is the first Catholic church in Valley county. Funds were solicited in our vicinity also Ord and Burwell, not only among our Catholic people but non-Catholic neighbors as well. A Mr. Hayworth of Ord was the carpenter employed. The church was dedicated by Rev. Father Broz.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarousek have the distinction of being the first couple married in the new church, Sept. 12, 1892.

About the year 1892 the young folks led by Venclik Krikak and Ignatius Klimka organized a reading circle or literary society conducted for the purpose of propagating the Czech language. The first meetings being held in Joseph Ptacnik's dance hall. A few more meetings were held in the old church. But the society was short lived. The little church was sold and moved away by Joseph Novotny and the dance hall was later converted into a grocery and corn crib.

After the erection of the church two fraternal orders were organized the Catholic Workmen, of which Vincent Suchanek is the only surviving member. In 1893 membership to St. Paul, and Mrs. Peter Nemeskal, now deceased, was the last member of the Catholic Western Union.

In 1920 council No. 2892 of Knights of Columbus was organized in Ord and many of the men are still members in the city. The ladies organization consists of the Altar Society of St. Ludmila organized in the early days, and having now about forty-five members.

In the summer of 1882 was the first burial in the Catholic cemetery at Nettolice. The Lord called the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Papousek. Thus a mound of purity and innocence like an angel marked a lonely graveyard. The second was another child, Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Klina who passed away April 15, 1882. The father followed only nineteen months later at the age of forty-six years. The mother and four small children survived. Mrs. Klina passed away October 1923 at the age of 79 years. Surviving her husband forty-one years. Undertakers were unknown in those early days, so members of the family assisted by kind neighbors, prepared the body for burial. Thus it was in the case of Mr. Klina. His neighbor Bartholomew Krikak fortunately being a carpenter, it fell to his lot to build a coffin which he constructed from plain boards, painted it black and lined it with white muslin. Where he reposed the body of his nearest neighbor, closest friend and fellow worker.

In the winter of 1891 scarlet fever broke out. With no means of communication and a limited medical aid the fever took a heavy toll. Mary, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Mat Parkos succumbed to the disease and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hosek lost three of their four children inside of ten days. On May 13, 1893 occurred the death of Joseph, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Voracek, who was bitten by a rattlesnake, and before medical aid reached him he passed away. These and many other calamities were marked by the supreme sacrifice made by our early settlers.

The first baptism on our record is John Novotny, son of Mike and Elizabeth Novotny, born January 15, 1884. Baptized by Rev. Francis Pold.

The first marriage was solemnized on January 27, 1884 between John Parkos and Agnes Prsny by Father Pold. Second marriage was Joseph Novotny and Miss Mary John who still reside in Geranium, also married by Father Pold.

The first and only mission was held in March 1911 by Rev. F. X. Lepsa, while Rev. W. W. Kroupa was pastor.

On August 15, 1919, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Veverka Sr. observed their Golden Wedding anniversary. In memory of the event Mr. and Mrs. Veverka presented a statue which adorns our cemetery.

The first fire in Geranium was held in the spring of 1895 when a large class was confirmed by Bishop Scannel of Omaha.

Prairie fires in this locality are now almost unknown and to the persons who remember the prairie fire in progress it is almost incomprehensible. When fanned by a strong wind, human effort is almost useless and like a demon sweeping down the landscape it devours everything in its path.

Now, lists what befell our little congregation one Sunday morning in the fall of 1882, as given to us by Frank Kokes. As the little flock assembled and Holy Mass was being said, a prairie fire was discovered approaching from the southeast at a terrible rate. The people rushed out of the church to take care of their teams which were tied to wagons near the church and back fired, which means building a minor fire a little at a time and beating out the flames next to the property wished saved, liberating the other side to meet the main fire, when the two meet the heat is terrific. Thus after a successful attempt, and all danger was past, all returned to church where Father Malý waited and resumed Holy Mass.

Later Holy Mass was celebrated monthly by priests coming from St. Paul, among these were Rev. Father Jakubovic, Rev. Father Kokes and others. At the close of 1890 came Rev. John Stephen Broz who took great interest in the Czech people and in two years our congregation outgrew the little church, which in 1892 was replaced by a new one 32x60 at a cost of about $3,000 that is the present church. Funds were solicited in our vicinity also Ord and Burwell, not only among our Catholic people but non-Catholic neighbors as well. A Mr. Hayworth of Ord was the carpenter employed. The church was dedicated by Rev. Father Broz.

Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona, by whose presence we are greatly honored, also by the neighboring clergy and our pastor who is taking great interest in this event. We are celebrating by Thanksgiving to Almighty God for preserving in us the stronghold of faith imparted in our souls through the love, courage and sacrifice of those early pioneers who struggled so faithfully for the future happiness of their posterity. And in conclusion it is my hope and sincere wish when our descendants observe the first centennial of Geranium many of the faces that are with us today will be present in 1932.

More recently the amount of smut in Nebraska has been reduced to less than one-third of the wheat. In Valley county the disease is holding its own, and can be found in the majority of grain samples. A few of the farmers are treating seed, but infection thru neighborhood threshing machines, bins, elevators and vehicles for hauling makes eradication of this disease a community problem.

Treatment of seed wheat requires an expenditure of 3 cents, and about 3 minutes of time for each acre. A spoonful of copper carbonate dust and a half-bushel of wheat are placed in a big churn, creamed, or special drum, and revolved about thirty times. That is all there is to it. The Ord school has an especially constructed mixer which may be borrowed for this purpose.

For oats, take a small hand fly sprayer and use half formaldehyde and half water. Spray as the grain is scooped into the wagon box, and cover with canvas for several hours. A quart treats forty bushels.

Formaldehyde may be used as above on barley, but it is better to soak the sacks of barley for ten minutes in a solution of one pint formaldehyde to forty gallons of water. Then the grain is emptied on a pile and covered with wet sacks for several hours.

These treatments can also be used in smuts of kafir, cane, or sudan grass. There is no way of treating against corn smut because the spores live in the field and attack the tissues of the growing plants.

Now we are undergoing another critical point in our history, the present depression with which everyone is well acquainted and no one ventures to predict the outcome. This year 1932 our nation is celebrating the bicentennial of George

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

I think it is unfair for you to gallop into the Quiz office after your cook book, and expect a recipe to help make that cook book.

How about it? Are you playing fair? Are you using a cook book? Have you ever sent in a recipe? Don't you feel a little guilty?

Canned Red Peppers. Wash one peck of ripe peppers, cut a slice from the stem end and remove the seeds. Then cut in thin strips by working around and around with a pair of scissors. Cover with boiling water, let stand three minutes, drain and plunge in ice water to cover. Drain again and pack in pint jars. To one quart of vinegar add two cups of sugar. Boil hard and pour over the peppers, then seal. These are nice as a garnish and delicious with cream cheese for a sandwich filling. They are also nice to dress up salads in the winter time.

Mrs. Lester Shipley, North Loup Thank you very much, Mrs. Shipley, both for the recipe and the complimentary remarks. We hope you will always like the Quiz, every part of it.

Green tomato recipes are requested by an Ord cook. Have you any good ones? Frost time is nearly here, so please send them.

Veal Birds. 2 1/2 lbs. veal cutlets (2 lbs. for 4 people), 2c. butter, break crumbs, 1/2 c. minced onion, 1/4 c. fat, 1 tsp. salt, 1-8 tsp. pepper. Brown the bread crumbs in the fat and season with the salt and pepper. Cut the veal into two inch squares and pound until thin and the pieces are as large as the palm of your hand. Spread with bread crumbs. Roll up and tie with cord, making the "birds" as round as possible. Brown them thoroughly in a little fat, then remove cord.

Meatime have the pieces of bone and gristle boiling. Take this broth and with a tablespoon of flour to each cup of broth make a gravy in the pan in which the birds were browned. Put the birds in a baking dish, pour the gravy over them, cover and bake for two hours. Selma E. Robbins.

Chili Sauce. 1/2 c. vinegar. 1 c. sugar. 3 peppers. 2 large onions. 1 tsp. each, cinnamon, cloves, allspice. 12 large tomatoes.

Mrs. Leo Nelson. Small Chocolate Cakes, Stuffed. 4 eggs beaten separately, 1 1/2 c. flour and 3 tsp. baking powder, sift 3 times. 1 1/2 c. sugar. 1/2 c. butter creamed. 2 sqs. chocolate melted with 3 tbsp. boiling water. 1 tsp. vanilla. 1/2 c. milk. Bake in muffin tins or paper cake cups. Cut top off and pick center out with a fork, being careful not to break the cake. Fill with whipped cream, replace the tops, then frost with chocolate fudge frosting.

Mrs. O. E. Wesenberg, Omaha. Mrs. Wesenberg has sent in a number of fine recipes to this column, and I think Valley county cooks owe her a vote of thanks. The Quiz surely does.

Why pay for power you do not get? Unless oil functions perfectly—you can't get all the available power from your gasoline—for these reasons: If the oil is too heavy, "oil drag" consumes lot of useful power. If the oil is too light, friction gets in its deadly work and "power gas" blows past the pistons and is wasted. You pay a high price in lost power and in needless engine wear for oil that is faulty in any respect. Thoroughly dewaxed new Polarine does all any oil can do. Use the grade the Chart recommends and you avoid power waste from "oil drag" and power loss from a defective piston seal. Under all weather conditions, the correct grade of new Polarine gives efficient lubrication, extra power dividends and full protection against friction and wear—at a reasonable price—25¢ A QUART FOR EVERY GRADE, at Red Crown Service Stations and Dealers everywhere in Nebraska. Library Notes.

The Ord Township Library has just completed a very successful year and the Board is well pleased with the progress shown. But as in all business the Board found there was too much loss in the book column. In order to help the Librarian to reduce this, please look in your own libraries and see if you have one of the Ord Library books tucked in there by mistake. If you find one in your possession please return it to the Ord Library before October 1 and no overdue charge will be asked.

The following resolution was drawn up and the librarian is asked to enforce it so the Lost Books will be at a minimum:

"An individual must be responsible for fines, damage or loss of all library books. Parents must be responsible for fines, damage or loss on books loaned to minors. The individual or the family is barred from the use of library until such charges are met."

Minors' or children's cards must be signed by the parents before a card is issued to the minor or child.

See that your card and book is drawn up and the librarian is asked to enforce it so the Lost Books will be at a minimum.

See that your card and book is checked out to you properly before leaving the library. He'd your overdue notice at once. Do not reload a book charged to you, to some one else for remember you are responsible for that book and its return.

Do not take a book out on some one else's number, just buy another card for yourself, for you

North Loup News

Popcorn Days last Thursday drew the biggest crowd ever, local people estimate, hundreds of people coming for the festival days and to see the coronation of the queen, who proved to be Miss Inez Hutchins, to the delight of her friends. Other points of interest were the juvenile parade Wednesday, the parade of floats Thursday, the Washington Bicentennial exhibits, the Kitchen Band and its rivals, the Scottish and Spanish bands. Both the latter musical organizations represented nearby rural communities.

Roy Lewis and his helpers passed out free popcorn as long as it was in demand, which was most of the time. The home talent play Thursday evening, "Leave It to Dad", which was presented before a crowd of about 2,000 was gleefully received, and so were the musical numbers. Fine exhibits of hooked rugs, canning, farm products, fancy work, 4-H club work, as well as a delightful flower show also helped to make Popcorn Days one of the biggest and best held yet. A great deal of credit is due for the quantities of hard work put in by North Loup people to create such successful holidays.

No Lo club met with Mrs. Lucy Cress this week, 18 members and 2 guests, Mrs. Ida Townsend and Mrs. Mamie Goodrich, being present. Mrs. Jones led the lesson, which was on "Florida", and Mrs. Rhoda Manchester sang a lullaby. The hostess served pleasing refreshments.

P. T. A. met for the first time this year Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium, with a good crowd present. Rev. Dillon was elected vice president in place of Rev. Kirkwood. Mrs. Betty Manchester is president of this group, Eric Waltemade secretary and W. D. Bailey treasurer. Mrs. Winnie Bartz is chairman of the program committee and Supt. L. O. Green head of the publicity. The program for the evening consisted of singing, led by Miss Yost, a good talk by Supt. Greene, vocal music by Rev. and Mrs. Dillon, a reading by Miss Inez Hutchins, and games led by Miss Crink. Adjoining, the crowd was served a nice lunch of sandwiches and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Archer came from their home in Oklahoma to enjoy Popcorn Days and to meet relatives and friends whom they hadn't seen since their last visit here 20 years ago. Mrs. Archer was formerly Josie Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith accompanied them from Grand Island.

Clyde W. Catlin who came to attend the funeral of his brother, L. M. Catlin, returned Thursday to his home at Stillwater, Minn. Mr. Catlin is superintendent of printing at the Stillwater state penitentiary where the prisoners are trained for this work. It was unfortunate his brother whom he hadn't met in twenty-three years passed away before his arrival.

Madams Dorothy Knapp and Florentina Earnest were hostesses Saturday afternoon at a delightful miscellaneous shower held at the former's home for Mrs. Cecil Knapp. Seventeen young matrons and friends of the bride were present showering her with a number of lovely and useful gifts. Daily refreshments were made of ice cream and angel food, blending in the color scheme of pink and white added to the pleasure of the occasion. Each guest present made a quilt block in the "pocket dish" pattern for the honoree.

The Ed Edwards family moved last week to the old German parsonage recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Will Stine.

Ord School News

Grade school enrollment shows a decrease of three students this year over the enrollment figures of a year ago, 362 children being registered for 1932 against 365 who were entered in the grades last year. There are 44 kindergartners; 46 first grade students; 35 in the second; 33 in the third; 42 in the fourth; 42 in the fifth; 39 in the sixth; 33 in the seventh and 36 eighth graders.

High school final enrollment figures, to date, show 314 pupils registered for work. Of these, 18 are post graduates; 89 are seniors; 78 juniors; 60 are sophomores; and 69 freshmen.

Sponsors chosen for the various classes and departments are, seniors, Miss Shaver; Juniors, Miss Baird; sophomores, Mr. Lukens; freshmen, Miss Jacobsen; Dean of Girls, Miss Hardin; G. A. A. Miss Hnzida; athletics, Mr. Molzen and Mr. Watkins; Music, Mr. Duncan, Pep, Miss Crouch; Dramatics, Miss E. F. E. Mr. Kovanda; G. R., Miss Johnson, Hi-Y, Mr. Cass.

Several convocations have been held, by this time, including one to welcome new students, one on Sept. 14 at which Miss Frushour gave a couple of readings and group singing was led by Mr. Duncan; one Friday at which Superintendent Bell outlined this year's activity ticket plan. This year the students will buy their tickets for 5c per week, or at 75c for a semester, in place of just twice that price, which is what they paid last year. In convocation, the students voted unanimously for the new plan, and were very pleased at the lowered price. All local activities are embodied in the ticket purchase; omitted were several rather expensive lyceum features at a saving of half.

The Loup Valley high school association met Saturday at Ord for an all day meeting. Representatives were present from Arcadia, Sargent, Dannebrog, Scott, Loup City, St. Paul, Ord, Burwell, and Taylor. Two schools were Comstock and North Loup. Discussed were plans for football regulations this autumn, eligibility of players, officials to be chosen, plans for the publicity, etc. It was decided to buy the office a summary of all Loup Valley teams standing, week by week through the season, which will then issue the relative standings, on a percentage basis.

The association determined on a play day for girls, to be held in Ord Oct. 12, with Miss Edna Hnzida chairman of the committee in charge. Fifteen or less girls from each school may come.

Plans will be devoted to basketball, baseball, soccer, volley ball, speed ball, miscellaneous games, in four play periods. It is not competitive, but only to make the girls better friends and in cooperation.

The matter of a girls winter camp was left undecided, and no definite steps taken about a two-day basketball tournament. Both matters will be taken up at the next meeting, Dec. 3, which will be held at Arcadia.

Eldon Benda is the new president of the Hi-Y cabinet, Billy Baird, vice president; Roland Tedro, secretary; Kenneth Clancy, treasurer. The first meeting was held Monday.

The first issue of the high school paper, The Oracle, was given out Tuesday, mimeographed. It is successful, the paper will be issued weekly, all year. It is full of high school news and doings and makes a good appearance.

The first football game of the year is listed for Sept. 30, at which time Scott will play here. Inasmuch as all letter men are back except Rathbun and Dave Barnhart, the Ord team hopes to whiz right through their schedule, though the team will be tight, and faster than last year. Coach Molzen declares. Corrected, the football schedule reads:

Scottia, here, Sept. 30; St. Paul, there, Oct. 7; Broken Bow, there, Oct. 14; Comstock, here, Oct. 21; North Loup, there, Oct. 25; Burwell, there, Nov. 4; Ansley, there, Nov. 11; Arcadia, here, Nov. 18; Loup City, there, Nov. 24.

BURGLARS LOOT 7 PLACES HERE, GET SMALL HAUL

Thursday night two railway detectives, E. Carroll of the Burlington, and E. W. Anderson, of the Union Pacific, arrived to help with the investigation. They say that other robberies in this part of Nebraska recently have been done in the same manner as the ones here, so there is little doubt that a well organized gang of professional burglars has been operating in this territory and both believe the people arrested at Kearney are members of the gang.

The amount of money stolen here was negligible but, as usually is the case, the thieves did property damage far exceeding the amount actually stolen.

—Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murphy and children of Grayson came to Ord and visited the Guy Lemaster family. Sunday Guy and family took them home.

George Kruml, Who Homesteaded Here In 1882, Dies After Short Illness

George Kruml was born in Zaborova, Czechoslovakia, July 20, 1848 and departed from this life after a short illness, Sept. 7, 1932, having reached the advanced age of 84 years, 1 month and 18 days. In May 1868 as a young boy he emigrated from Czechoslovakia to the United States with his oldest brother, Joseph, settling in Green Bay, Wisconsin, where he was employed by an American Saw Mill company for two and a half years. He then left for Nebraska to help build the Union Pacific railroad west of Omaha. He was at this work only six years when the Indians went on the war path and he returned to his home at Green Bay, Wis., and once more resumed his work at the saw mill.

On July 20, 1871 he was married to Miss Anna Woracek of Green Bay and a year later he bought an eighty acre farm near that city, where he with his wife farmed with success till 1875, when he sold his little farm and with his wife moved to a rented farm near Mondamin, Ia. Here they were hit by hard luck, their crop was taken entirely by grasshoppers. After a year's stay they moved to Omaha and he was employed at the Omaha Smelting works for a period of six years. In the spring of 1882 he took a homestead in the northwest part of Valley county and in the autumn that same year, he with his family moved to the homestead, coming in a covered wagon. First living in dugout, later in a sod house and dwelt as all the homesteaders. After thirty years of hardship and sorrow, he with his wife moved to Burwell for a well deserved rest. Residing there till the death of his wife, August 22, 1926, he went to live again on a farm with his youngest son, John, in Loup county, where he lived till his death.

Eight children were born, three dying in infancy and one son, Prick, died when 12 years old. The surviving children are: Mrs. Mary Urban, Comstock, James and Albert, Sargent, and John Kruml, of Burwell. Besides his children he leaves one brother, Joseph of Mondamin, Ia., twenty-two grand children and three great grandchildren and a large circle of relatives and friends.

He was a hard worker and was always willing to help any one in trouble. He will be missed by all who knew him for he was always in a happy humor.

Out-of-town relatives present at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. James Vlach, sr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Vlach and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krepal and family, all from Cotesfield, Ed Havlovic of Hallam, Nebr. and George Boxa of Crete.

Funeral services were held at the Burwell Methodist church, Sept. 9, 1932 conducted by Rev. B. A. Filipi of Clarkson, Nebr. Music was furnished by members of the Methodist church. The pall bearers were: George Vlach, George Boxa, Joseph Urban, sr., Joseph Krepal, Ed Havlovic and James Vlach, sr. Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery where his wife is resting. There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends.

QUIZ PUBLISHER STILL ON CULLEN, SAYS FISH BITING

Dr. and Mrs. Gelow of Grand Island, who are in their cottage just above us, are two more who want to fish and cannot on account of the wind. They were also on the upper lake yesterday and Mrs. Gelow got one mighty fine walleye. This evening they are going to play bridge, having as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. H. Anderson. Vernie Anderson, who accompanied H. on the trip up here, is a guest of Ray Luther while here. The Gelows, I believe, plan on being here for some time yet. They are accompanied by his father, an old gentleman of a fisherman and has been spending his vacation in the Ozarks, liked it better here and plans on coming here in the future. Mrs. Boyer said yesterday that they had visited many Minnesota lakes and that they never saw as good fishing anywhere as here. The Boyers left for their home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Brickner arrived a few days ago and are in their cottage down toward the north end of camp. It was so cool yesterday that Barney went to town and bought a heating stove and now has their place as comfortable and snug as you please. I have seen him out on the lake several times and he says while he don't fish much, he is getting all they want to eat.

We can't complain about the weather much. We have been here since the last day of July and have had but three or four days that it was not pleasant out of doors and on the water. I have always thought the fall the nicest time of year here. There has been one light frost and the leaves are coloring beautifully. In another week or ten days the woods around the lake will be a solid flame of color. We are fortunate that our lake, which is a couple of miles long and about a half mile wide, is entirely surrounded with timber. So many of the lakes hereabouts have had the timber cut off and that spoils the beauty. There is one tract of a hundred acres on the south side of our lake, that may be I talked with the man who owns it and he has a sawmill and said he might decide to cut the timber and saw it up. He has a number of hundred acres of similar timber and I suggested that he harvest the timber first on the other land and he laughed and said it would probably be some time before he got around to cut the timber on Cullen.

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 23 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of Kruschen Salt 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salt in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.

For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at McLain's, Sorensen's or any drug store — the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

Arrested last Wednesday morning in a tourist camp at Arapahoe, Neb., Albert C. Smith was brought to Ord Sunday by Deputy State Sheriff Otto Dudschus and in district court here Tuesday pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and robbing with explosives. Judge E. P. Clements sentenced Smith to twenty years in the state penitentiary and he was taken to Lincoln the same day by Sheriff George Round and Deputy Archie Keep.

The arrest of Smith came about shortly after state deputies and railway detectives had arrested Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin in Beaver City last Tuesday. Smith admitted their confession to a series of burglaries in Nebraska. The pair implicated Smith in their confession.

When officers went to Arapahoe to arrest him they found that he was barricaded in a tourist cabin and not until tear gas was used did he submit to arrest. In the cabin were found three revolvers, a plentiful supply of ammunition, and 72 sticks of dynamite.

Martin and Smith admitted to officers that they had committed robberies in Dalton, Ansley, Mason City, Sidney, Broken Bow, Ashton, Ord and other Nebraska towns. Postoffices and railway depots were robbed in most of these places and the pair were liable to prosecution by both state and federal authorities.

Martin, youngest of the two men and an ex-convict, officers say, was arraigned in district court at Kearney last Friday and pleaded guilty to robbing a bakery at Ansley, for which offense he was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year.

Brought here for questioning, the other man, Smith, readily admitted to County Attorney Munn that he helped Martin commit the robberies here so Tuesday he was arraigned in district court and pleaded guilty to the same offenses.

Questioned by Mr. Munn in the presence of the court, Smith gave his age as 57 years and said he was born in Elmira, N. Y., but was left an orphan at the age of eleven. He has no relatives living.

He said he received several two enlistments in the regular army but has lost his honorable discharge papers, he claims.

In Iowa he worked in coal mines for years, Smith stated, and twenty-three years he worked in the trade of furnace repair man. Part of that time he lived in Omaha and had the agency for the Holland furnace. Since 1923 he has been traveling over the country by auto pursuing his trade of furnace repair man.

Two years ago in Omaha he met Roy Martin, Smith confessed, and the pair bought an auto and started for California. He did not then know that Martin was a criminal. Smith insists, but began to suspect it in Idaho when after an absence of two days Smith showed up with more money than he could account for. He told Smith that he won the money gambling in Boise, the latter claims, but from that time on he suspected Martin.

In Washington about a month ago the woman joined them, Smith states. He was camped near Corvallis at the time and Martin brought the woman from Portland and introduced her to Smith as his wife. Since that time she has accompanied the pair on their travels but has never actively participated in robberies, Smith claims. She is a confirmed drug addict, he stated.

Smith claims that he committed the first crime on a night at Ashton in Sidney, Neb., where he helped Martin with several robberies. He also confessed to being implicated in the postoffice robbery at Dalton, where the pair got $50 in cash and stamps to the value of $200. He also confessed that he helped with burglaries at Belvidere, S. D., at Mason City, Ashton, and Ord, Neb., but denies other burglaries that are ascribed to him.

700 PRESENT AT MOLZER CONCERT IN ORD MONDAY

High School Auditorium Full
As Lincoln Group Play Under Rotary Club Auspices.

Before a crowd of 700 at the Ord high school auditorium Professor August Molzer, Mrs. Molzer and two young musicians, Miss Eunice Bingham and Mr. Jean Ellsworth performed a most enjoyable concert Monday evening. Mr. Molzer was brought here through the auspices of the Ord Rotary club and his sensitive violin interpretations and the efforts of his companions were much appreciated. Considered one of the finest teachers of violin in the country, several Ord people have at various times been instructed by him in his Lincoln studios, and were glad to welcome him to this part of Nebraska.

Following dinner with the Rotarians and their wives at Thorne's cafe, the concert opened with a "Concerto in A Minor" by Vioti, arranged by Mr. Molzer. It was a wonderful bit of difficult playing, giving the violinist an opportunity to display his fine technique. Next a group of three numbers was given by Miss Bingham, a 15 year old miss who uses a bow delicately and skillfully. First of these was "Caprice," the second "Hungarian Dance" by Haesche, and the third and most imaginative, "Flight," by Kochanski, which pleased the audience exceedingly.

Playing a trio of violins, Mr. and Mrs. Molzer and Miss Bingham, accompanied by Mr. Ellsworth, presented "Aria's Death," a very beautiful arrangement by Mr. Molzer of one of Grieg's compositions. Mournful and sadly sweet, it was perhaps the most fascinating to the audience of anything in the concert.

First of these was "Serenade," a charming thing, but not so pleasing to the Ord audience as the "March Nuptiale" of Papi which followed it. Impressive and beautiful, everyone liked it greatly. Following intermission, Professor Molzer played a group of numbers, firstly the fanciful "Viennese Song" of Gaertner, as played by Kreisler. Next came Czernovsky's Minuet, a Brahms waltz arranged by Hockstein, and a "Spanish Dance" by Reichel. All four were delightful, especially the second number, which of course is more generally known.

As a piano solo Mr. Ellsworth played MacDowell's Concert Etude, and quite won local hearts with his music. As an encore, he played "Caprice," which was given very effectively, with the full attention of the audience.

Lastly were five numbers presented by Mr. Molzer and his accompanist, the first, "Valse Bluettes" by Drigo-Auer, another popular selection, which was given with a great deal of imagination and was charmingly played, and was followed by a "Minuet in Older Style," a favorite of Mr. Molzer's and also of those who listened. One of Weber's waltzes, the first lessons was a pretty thing, and lastly came the gay, light-hearted "Dance of the Sylphs," by Goldblatt.

Professor Molzer and his able company by their unassuming and pleasing ways and skillful fingers quite entirely won Ord hearts. Mr. Molzer was warmly greeted in honor of the opening of the Bohemian hall. His hearers hope it will not be twenty years until he comes again.

Dear Quiz Readers: I am writing at 8:30 Wednesday evening and we are lonely here in the cottage, Mrs. Burke, Mrs. Leggett and myself, knowing that we are the only three people in all the cottages in this camp. Hi and Flora, the kiddies and Vernie Andersen left at 7 p. m. for Ord. The boys had been here for a week, coming after Flora and the children who had been here for three weeks with us. They expect to be at their home in Ord before noon tomorrow probably before this is even mailed, for I shall not be going to town very often the next few days. We expect to leave for Ord very soon now. When I left Ord the latter part of July I was feeling pretty bum but I am sure the time spent here has greatly improved my health. There is so much of me that when something goes wrong with my human machine it is terrible and something was in bad shape a few months ago. Fishing has not been the best and the boys did not have as good a time as they would have had if the fish had been in a more receptive mood toward lures. But at that they had a very nice box of fish to ship this afternoon, just before starting home. Among those fish were four very nice small mouth black bass weighing three and four pounds each. They got them this morning over on Hubert lake, Vernie getting the last one. I hope to return to camp. The fish seemed to be afraid he was not going to make their acquaintance. I did not accompany them on the trip this morning.

McGrew Fined $40 For Dead Pheasant

On a charge of shooting a pheasant out of season, Herschel McGrew last Wednesday was fined $25 and costs in county court here. The total amount coming to $40.25. He was arrested by Game Warden Lashmett and the alleged infraction of the game laws occurred about two weeks previous. The Quiz learns that Frank B. O'Connell, state game warden, received an anonymous letter from Ord in which complaint was made against Mr. McGrew. Warden Lashmett was ordered to investigate and the arrest followed, McGrew pleading guilty.

Scotia Looms As Stiff Opposition

Rolling over Cedar Rapids last Friday by a score of 20 to 0, the Scotia grid machine served notice that it is not to be overlooked in the Loup Valley High School football season. The Burlington safe was the only one blown with dynamite or "soup" and it was to the specific charge of breaking this safe that Smith pleaded guilty here Tuesday.

There is a discrepancy in the amount of losses reported by firms that were robbed and the amount that Smith says he and his partner stole. About $50 had been reported stolen but Smith says he and Martin got only about $14.

A photograph of loot secured from Martin and Smith when they were arrested was produced in court, the picture showing shirts and other merchandise, cartons of cigars, various burglar tools, six revolvers, three rifles and a considerable amount of ammunition. Smith denied stealing any of these articles, saying that only three revolvers were his and claiming that

Newspaper Gives Koupal Word Of Valuable Coin

Friday the Grand Island Independent printed an item about O. H. Kunkel, a Hamilton county farmer, being given a Columbian half dollar as remuneration for pulling a motorist out of a mud hole. These half dollars were issued as relics of the Chicago world's fair in 1893 and are extremely rare and therefore quite valuable, the news item stated. A. S. Koupal, Ord grocerman, read the news item. "Now haven't I got a coin like that around somewhere?" he asked himself. In a bureau drawer he found the Columbian half dollar, carelessly tossed there by himself a few years ago. He had saved it because it was an oddity, not because he thought it might some day be valuable, he says.

WOULD COMPEL TELEPHONE CO. REDUCE RATES

W. A. Anderson Circulates Petition Asking R. R. Commission To Scale Rates Down.

A petition bearing the signatures of almost 200 patrons of the Nebraska Continental Telephone company's Ord exchange this week was mailed to the Nebraska railway commission, the prayer and object of the petition being to bring about a reduction of telephone rates in Ord.

For a long time many Ord people have felt that the local rates of $1.50 and $1.75 per month for residence telephones and $3.50 and $4.00 for business telephones are too high. The feeling came to a head last Friday when W. A. Anderson, acting upon the request of friends, circulated a petition that it is hoped will result in rates being lowered.

The petition points out that telephone rates are being held at war time levels here and should be lowered in keeping with other prices. The petition asks that rates not higher than $1.00 per month for residence and $1.75 per month for business telephones be established.

Mr. Anderson states that he made no attempt to secure a large number of signatures to the petitions and canvassed only the business district of Ord. He found almost everybody in hearty sympathy with the project and only three people declined to sign, he says.

Much complaint was heard about the quality of telephone service here as well as about the high cost, reports Mr. Anderson.

Extension Clubs Meet October 4-5

The first fall project leaders meeting of the extension clubs of Valley county will be held at the county agent's office on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 4 and 5. The meetings as planned will begin at 10 o'clock and last until 3:00 or 3:30.

Twenty-one women's clubs in Valley county are enrolled in the "Living at Home" project this year. Miss Florence Atwood, specialist from the extension service at Lincoln will conduct the monthly meetings for the winter months. Because homemakers will be doing their fall sewing about this time, the demonstration will be on making clothes wear longer, bringing them up to date and on remodeling. Other lessons are: "How to dock the chickens," "Holidays at Home," "Meat Supply," "Use of dairy and poultry products," "Home Baking," and "Winter Food Needs."

Lloyd Bowen Shoots Himself in Big Toe

Lloyd Bowen, 21, accidentally shot himself in the left foot Tuesday while attempting to dislodge a clogged cartridge from his gun. The bullet lodged in the marrow of the bone of the big toe, and had to be removed by Dr. Miller Wednesday morning when the injured man was brought from his home in Dunning to Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bowen, his parents, and Miss Augusta Zutavera, a friend, came with him to Ord, returning home the same day. Lloyd will be confined to the Ord hospital for a few days. The Bowen family lived here for a number of years.

Cattle Average $5.50.

The Weller Auction Company sold at Atkinson Tuesday 800 head of feeder cattle for the Nebraska Securities Company and yesterday sold 70 head for the same company at Ord. The average price at Atkinson was about $5.50 and cattle sold here yesterday at about a dime lower. Homer Rupert, Nebraska State livestock manager, seemed quite pleased with the sales although he thought the cattle were worth a trifle more than they brought.

Comstock, Sargent, Taylor, Burwell, Greeley, Spalding and A. also are to be visited the same day.

The car is equipped with speaker's platform and loud voiced equipment and in each town visited the candidates are introduced and speak briefly. Pictures of the car have appeared in all state papers.

Benckleman Pastor To Ord M. E. Church

At a meeting of the executive board of Ord Methodist church last Wednesday it was decided that Rev. Merle C. Smith, of Benckleman, Neb. would be called to the Ord pastorate instead of Rev. G. A. Schwabauer, of North Loup, who was appointed to Ord at the state conference last week. Rev. Schwabauer goes to Benckleman instead.

Rev. Bernard Johansen, of Hastings, superintendent of this district, met with the executive board Thursday and authorized the appointment of Rev. Smith here. The new pastor is a middle-aged man who has been at Benckleman six years, during which period he brought about the construction of a new church and built up the membership considerably. A former pastor of the local church, Rev. Smith gives promise of being just the type of man the local congregation has been seeking. He will preach his first sermon in the Ord church next Sunday.

Writes Feature Article.

A long feature article about Newton W. Gaines, noted Nebraska public speaker, was published in the Sunday Journal and Star and came from the typewriter of an Ord boy, George Round, Jr. Mr. Gaines has often spoken at farm meetings in Valley county and was the principal speaker at the farm bureau baseball league banquet last fall. Mr. Round refers to this league several times in his article, which was interesting to all local people who read it.

C. A. Sorensen Rules County Must Print Delinquent Taxes

That Valley county must publish a list of taxes delinquent on September 1st, the ruling made by Attorney General C. A. Sorensen in a letter last week to Ilna Klma, Jr., Valley county clerk. Because County Treasurer Satterfield had reported so many taxes unpaid Mr. Klma had requested that Valley county be permitted to hold over the publication of this list until next spring or at least until later this fall, so that much additional expense to taxpayers delinquent at present could be avoided.

In accordance with the attorney general's ruling the delinquent tax list will be printed in the Quiz in October, with the first publication next week.

Ord People Give $70 to Boys' Home

Securing a little more than $70 locally, Saturday a number of boys tagged everyone willing to be tagged, for the benefit of Father Flanagan's home for boys, near Omaha. Those who worked actively to secure the money were Misses Mildred Krahulik, Zola Barta, Mrs. Frank Fafeta, Jr., Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, Mrs. Keith Lewis, Mrs. Cecil Molzen, Miss Alyce Verstraete, Mrs. Cecil Clark, Misses Betty Meyers, Jeannette Clements, Virginia Weekes, Ruth Auble, Armona Beth Achen, Barbara Dale, Dorothy Auble, Louise Petka, Pauline Barta, Dorothy Allen and Roy Beehrle. Mrs. Eugene Leggett was in charge of the campaign.

Father Flanagan's Boys Home is for homeless and abandoned boys of all sizes, colors, nationalities, churches and ages. It has been successfully operating for many years, and was begun with a borrowed $90. Since that time hundreds of boys have found a refuge there, and more than two hundred are being cared for at the Home at this time. Funded with huge bills and no money, with no backing financially except voluntary contributions, the Tag Day Saturday was to help keep the Home open.

The $70.16 collected from Valley county people will surely help a little to keep this splendid work going forward.

"It Pays to Advertise." Mrs. G. C. Clement, who advertised tomatoes in the classified department of the Quiz, says she says to many inquires and orders that she had to order the ad taken out this week, she says.

MISSION SERVICE WEEK CLOSSES AT ELYRIA SUNDAY

Rev. Walsh, Visiting Missionary, Gives Papal Blessing To Last Day Congregation.

Elyria, Sept. 26.—(Special)—A week of mission services ended Sunday at the Catholic church here when the visiting missionary, Rev. John P. Walsh, gave the papal blessing with plenary indulgence to the huge congregation. Rev. Walsh had conducted services each day since September 18, being assisted by Father Murray, of Burlington, Father Lawler, of Ord, Father Devine, of Scotia, and Father Feeley, of Greeley.

The mission week consisted of mass each morning at 7:30 o'clock and services each evening at the same hour, the rosary, a sermon and benediction being given each evening. Rev. Walsh preached beautiful sermons every evening and many who have neglected the practice of religious duties were thus brought back to the church.

Confessions were begun Wednesday evening and continued until Saturday. Rev. John A. Krance, assistant Polish priest, arrived Friday to hear confessions and give a sermon in the Polish language to the people.

Mission articles such as rosary's, prayer books, crucifixes, medals, pictures, etc., were on display and could be procured by all who wished to have them. All religious articles were blessed after mass each day by Rev. Walsh.

Saturday morning mass was given at 8 o'clock and all who had gone to confession the previous evening were given holy communion.

The most glorious day of the mission week was Sunday when mass began at 9 a. m. with the church packed with people, there not being enough seats to hold everybody who attended. At 3 p. m. there was a rosary, sermon and benediction and the choir sang "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," after which Rev. Walsh closed the services by administering the papal blessing. He also thanked the congregation for its co-operation during mission services and highly complimented the choir for its beautiful singing. Miss Vera Sobon, who kept the church in order, arranged the altar with fresh flowers and prepared meals in the parish house also was given special thanks by Rev. Walsh.

All of the visiting clergymen left Sunday evening for O'Connor where mission services are being held this week.

Boys Open Duck Season To o Soon, Caught By Warden

Three Ord boys who tried to open the duck season several days before the legal opening date were out of luck Monday when Game Warden Bert Lashmett took them into custody. They were hunting on the ice pond and had already killed one duck when arrested by Warden Lashmett. The boys were 15 and 16 years old and no charges have been filed against them. Officers are holding their shot-guns but will return them as soon as the hunting season opens October 1. If the boys stay on their good behavior in future it is probable that they will not be prosecuted for this offense, Mr. Lashmett states.

JOHNNY GOODMAN LOSES SUNDAY TO McBETH & MOORE

Runner-Up in U. S. Amateur
Here As Ord Golf Club
Guest; 500 See Match.

Participating as the central figure Sunday in the biggest golf day Ord has ever held, Johnny Goodman of Omaha played superbly good golf and shot the Ord course in 32-32-64, two strokes under par figures. Paired in a Scotch foursome with Pete Lyck, Omaha, in an exhibition match against Lyle McBeth and Frankie Moore, Grand Island, Goodman lost by two holes while a gallery of more than five hundred applauded.

Ever since he was runner-up in the United States amateur golf tournament at Baltimore, Md., two weeks ago honors have been heaped upon young Goodman and he has been welcomed everywhere but nowhere has a warmer welcome been given him and never has he enjoyed himself more than in Ord Sunday, he said.

With Messrs. Pete Lyck, Claude Griffey and Harvey Milliken the young golf star drove to Ord Sunday and were dinner guests in the home of Lyle Milliken, who is Harvey Milliken's brother.

Then at 2 p. m. the Goodman-Lyck-McBeth-Moore foursome teed off for an exhibition match that attracted golfers from all over central Nebraska. Gathered around the first tee were people from Grand Island, Kearney, Broken Bow, Ainsworth, Spalding and all points in between. It was a spirited gallery, a generous gallery, always ready to applaud good shots and refrain from comment on poor ones, though there were mighty few of the latter.

Lyle McBeth, who is Ord's prize golfer, drove first—a beautiful ball that cleared the hill 250 yards away from No. 1 tee. Moore laid his tee shot a few yards beyond, Lyck was on the side hill and Goodman drove amid a breathless hush, a beautiful drive that landed on the crest of the hill a few yards short of the balls driven by McBeth and Moore. And the great match was on.

Starting with birds 4's by Goodman, McBeth and Moore and a sloppy 6 for Lyck there was some beautiful golf played in the match, the driving and the pitch shots made by Goodman being of course the most interesting part of the gallery. Goodman's card shows that he shot the first nine holes in 44 44 333 for 32, one under par. He birdied Nos. 1 and 4 and played other holes in par with the exception of No. 6, the bull-putt, where he failed to go in with his drive and then dubbed his first attempt to scale the fence. On the second nine holes he shot 533 443 433, again making two birdies—Nos. 2 and 3—but losing a stroke on No. 7 when his putt failed to drop. The sand greens bothered Goodman considerably, as he is used to grass greens.

Lyle McBeth played right with the champion all the way. His card for the first nine holes was 443 444 433 and for the second nine was 534 353 334, in each nine one hole being birdied and one hole being one stroke over par.

Moore played consistently with an ease that promises a great golfing future for this 20-year-old Grand Island boy. He shot the first nine in 32, which equaled Goodman, but dropped a couple of strokes on the second nine to make his total 66. The first nine holes were shot in 44 454 323 and the second nine in 443 343. Moore is a creek driver and after going in the creek on No. 1 in his second round he drove one of the longest balls ever seen on the Ord course, the ball going well up the ravine.

Lyck closed the services by administering the papal blessing. He also thanked the congregation for its co-operation during mission services and highly complimented the choir for its beautiful singing. Miss Vera Sobon, who kept the church in order, arranged the altar with fresh flowers and prepared meals in the parish house also was given special thanks by Rev. Walsh.

All of the visiting clergymen left Sunday evening for O'Connor where mission services are being held this week.

Joseph Miska Dies In Phoenix, Ariz.

Joseph Miska, an old time resident of Ord, passed away on September 3 at his home in Phoenix, Ariz., the Quiz learns, and was laid to rest there on September 6. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. M. W. Brown and Miss Josephine and a son, William, all of Phoenix.

Mr. Miska left here about thirty years ago for Washington state and after living there a few years moved to Arizona where he was a member of the merchant patrol police for nine years and a charter member of the Arizona peace officers association. His first wife, Emma Tuma, whose home was near Elyria, died soon after moving to Arizona.

The deceased was a nephew of the late J. Miska of Ord. His daughter Edith, now Mrs. M. W. Brown, lived here with the Miska family for several years after her mother's death.

PROHIBITION IN THE 5TH. One issue, at least, is clear out in the hectic political campaign that is now on. We refer to prohibition in the 5th district, so far as the contest between Congressman Bob Simmons and his opponent, Mr. Carpenter, is concerned.

His opponent, on the other hand, is trying to weasel on this question. Under the cloak of "personal dryness" he says that if elected he will vote for a national referendum. In other words, he is trying to stay on dry land and at the same time get into the water, thus catching the dry votes and the wet votes too.

Handing It Back. Back east in Michigan a doctor has found a way of coping with nifty mail order firms that send out packages of unneeded merchandise along with a letter asking the receiver to "please remit or you don't want the merchandise sent it back."

Choleric Voters. First returns in the Literary Digest's presidential poll, released last week end, show President Hoover leading by a very slight margin over his democratic opponent, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Hats Off to Nebraska. If the spirit of sturdy American independence retains the admiration which the people of this country traditionally have bestowed upon it, the cry of "Hats off to the Legionnaires of Nebraska!" should resound from Portland, Ore., to Portland, Me., and from the Canadian boundary to the Rio Grande.

Something Different. Ord has several attractive "new" teachers this year, and some of them look very young and innocent, so it is no wonder that one young high school fellow walked up to one of the new teachers the opening morning of school and greeted her promisingly with "Hello, girlie."

ed to serve the nation, not to exploit it. Nebraska votes No on the Bonus. If the legion had made that slogan unanimous it might well have marched with chains high beneath Nebraska's banner and the plaudits of America would have sounded in every town and hamlet as they did when its men came home from the far battle fronts with the scars of sacrifice and the glory of victory.

The ideal expressed in the Nebraska slogan is the ideal by which the legion must live in order to maintain its influence for good and to retain its high place in the country's affection and confidence.

It seems a shame Frost has to come spoil so many flower beds. A lot of little cottages, where you know there is no money to grow around, have front yards crowded with flowers. And they'll all get spoiled.

Francis Moore, the young Grand Island golfer, the twenty-year old whose neat work and marvelous drives made him a lot of friends here Sunday, confides that he likes tennis better and plays a lot better game of tennis than he does golf.

There is no great enthusiasm anywhere evident for Roosevelt. A visionary, a blue-stocking with politics as his hobby and without a definite program of any sort, he is not the type to appeal to the "forgotten men."

HATS OFF TO NEBRASKA. Congressman Simmons Says He Will Continue On Dry Side, Oppose Liquor

Clearly defining his views on the prohibition question, Congressman Robert G. Simmons, candidate for re-election this fall, in an address last week before the state Methodist church conference in Lincoln, declared that he would "Not vote for any proposal that has for its purpose or effect the restoration of the legalized sale of intoxicants."

While stating he was not satisfied with the present situation, he expressed the opinion that any changes should be designed to make it more difficult to secure intoxicants. He said the fight against prohibition is being made, in part, by persons who say they want the revenue raised, but, in fact, wish to shift the tax burden from the rich to the poor.

"I want no misunderstanding with the people of the Fifth District. I will not vote for any proposal that has for its purpose or effect the restoration of the legalized sale of intoxicating liquors. I am not satisfied with the present situation, but from the standpoint of a dry, we cannot improve the present unsatisfactory condition by legalizing intoxicants.

Call ducks are now selling at peak prices. These small ornamental fowls often bring several dollars apiece at the start of the shooting season. Hunters prefer the ones which produce the shrillest 'quacks' and are the most diminutive in size.

Call ducks are of two varieties, the Gray and the White. The gray call has the color markings of the Rouen and closely resembles the wild mallard. The Rouen breed itself is only the wild mallard gone through several generations of domestication. The White Call is pure white.

Crossing with wild mallards is supposed to improve the value of call ducks for decoy purposes. The two breeds mate readily. In fact, farmers sometimes complain about their domestic ducks flying away with hens of the wild species.

In making awards on Call ducks at poultry shows, the prizes are generally given to the smallest birds rather than to the largest ones, as is the case with other water fowl. Call ducks are also the only recognized breed of poultry that has no standard weights. The gray Calls are disqualified when they have white primary wing feathers or white rings on the necks of the females.

Domesticated ducks get more to eat with less effort than wild ones. This causes their bodies to grow heavier, and their wings weaker. First generation wild mallards raised in closed yards do not fly well, unless taken out and given considerable practice. They are quite contented under shelter and have little desire to fly.

Call ducks must be selected for smallness just as Shetland ponies are, or they keep getting larger. This makes them more useful as farm birds, but less desirable as decoys in wild-duck shooting. They are good egg producers, good hens frequently outlaying ordinary chickens. The eggs spoil quicker than chicken eggs.

Both wild and domestic ducks are decreasing in numbers. The latter gain weight twice as fast as chickens, but also eat twice as much. A duck to be profitable, should weigh five pounds at the end of ten weeks.

DR. T. W. BASS

STATE TREASURER Republican Candidate for Re-election

Now Serving His First Term! Zeal for the public welfare and conscientious dedication of his abilities to obtain for the benefit of the State what is legally due it is characteristic of Dr. T. W. Bass, state treasurer, who is our candidate for re-election. A native of Indiana, Dr. Bass came to Nebraska with his parents who located on a farm in Hamilton county. He left the farm to become a student of dentistry, and on graduation took up the practice of his profession at Broken Bow. From the time that he reached man's estate Dr. Bass has always taken a patriotic interest in civic and political affairs. He served as First Assistant Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives in 1921 and 1923, and in the special session of 1922. He was secretary of the Republican State Committee from 1922 to 1928. During the session of the state legislature in 1925, the gasoline law was passed and Governor McMullen appointed Dr. Bass State Gasoline Tax Administrator. On April 1, 1929, the Gasoline Tax Department was transferred by the state legislature to the office of the State Treasurer and when this transfer was made Dr. Bass became secretary to Governor Weaver, where he served until he took up the duties of State Treasurer in January 1931. His record for the past two years shows that he has collected from those who have failed to evade the payment of gasoline taxes the sum of more than $50,000. This large amount would have been easily lost to the tax income of the State of Nebraska under an official who had not had his experience in organizing and handling that work. Nebraska needs Dr. Bass. Vote for and work for him. Write to Dr. Bass, 1623 G Street, Lincoln, Nebr., for campaign literature. Dr. Bass' name appears on the ballot as follows: T. W. BASS REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET Dwight Griswold, Governor Dan Swanson, Land Com. Theo. W. Metcalf, Lieut. Gov. T. W. Bass, State Treasurer Frank Marsh, Sec. of State C. A. Sorenson, Attorney Gen Geo. W. Marsh, State Auditor Lloyd Dort, Railway Com. We are working out of the depression... The treasury shall not be looted and private property shall not be destroyed. Law must be respected... and the cost of government must be reduced. —Herbert Hoover Nebraska Republican State Committee

DR. RICH says: Grand Island, Nebraska, Sept. 28. The greatest wealth is health, the biggest fortune is happiness. Count yourself among the wealthy if you have health. Better still, know that you are rich beyond all limits of wealth in material possessions if you have health. And if you have not health, get busy. Nothing else matters much until health is acquired.

Today a letter came that impressed me deeply. It was written by a woman living in Waterloo, Neb. She wrote: "Dr. Rich, I feel so good, I just can't write all the good things I think about your treatment. I feel so much better, that it seems almost impossible to be me. All I am sorry for is, that I did not know you years sooner so I could have been well a long time ago."

The big question facing thousands of people is "good health or sympathy." Even at the sacrifice of other things, have your recital trouble cured soon. No investment you can make will pay you better dividends. And nothing you can buy will make you and your family feel so uplifted and cheerful. Ord Church Notes

Christian Science. "Unreality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, Oct. 2. The Golden Text is from Ecclesiastes 5: 7: "In the multitude of dreams and many words there are also divers vanities: but fear thou God."

A Scriptural passage used in the lesson-sermon is from 1 John 2: 15-17 and reads: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "The continual contemplation of existence as material and corporeal—as beginning and ending and with birth, decay and dissolution as its component stages—hides the true and spiritual life and causes our standard to trail in the dust." (page 550).

TRIES HELP LAND BIG FISH, TAKES HEADER IN LAKE

We made a trip to Hubert Monday however and that is a real story, though we didn't get much in the way of fish. A few nice crapples and a six-pound Northern pike landed by Mrs. Leggett, and by the way we had him baked for dinner yesterday. Ask Hi or Flora if he was good eating. There were two real exciting events that happened to our party on Hubert that day. First Vernie hooked a large Northern. None of us saw him but it could not have been anything else, the way he dashed about and resisted all efforts to get sight of him. The first evidence of his being about was when we all heard a real singing like mad and looked up to see Vernie hanging onto his rod, said rod being wrapped around the bottom of the boat. He was trying to get hold of the handle to reel him in and the fish was taking the line out at a rate that threatened to get it all out before being stopped. He was finally turned however, and brought within a dozen feet of the boat, still down deep, when he ran again and this was done time after time for probably twenty minutes. We all heard him not running or being led in, he was sulking down deep and refused to be led and he was so huge that Vernie was not able to move him. Finally Ray Luther who was in the boat with me suggested that we pull the anchor to the other boat and draw them to shore and try to get the big fellow out that way. This seemed a good suggestion. It was but a few rods to the shore and we soon had them up there and then the second incident happened. Vernie was standing up all the time in the boat which carried Hi Anderson and himself. It seemed but a step to the sandy beach and Hi got up, pulled up his hip waders and stepped out of the boat, into about ten feet of water. No one ever saw a more surprised look on a person's face than we saw on his face as he went down, down until only his face and hat and the back collar of his red sweater showed above the water. Then he started to swim and in a few seconds was on shore. I never saw such a sharp drop off in the water. It drops practically straight down from six or eight inches deep to as many feet and Hi, a little far sighted, misjudged the distance to step onto the sand. But he didn't upset the boat and when Ray and I had brushed the tears of laughter from our eyes sufficiently to see, Vernie was still standing up in the boat struggling with his big fish. Of course Hi was sopping wet and while he was pouring the water from his boots, (he had lost most of his enthusiasm for helping to land the fish) we tried to assist Vernie as much as possible. We gave him plenty of advice and of course he was not able to act on all of it. Finally the line broke and the fish was gone without our ever seeing him. Ray assures us that he must have weighed 25 or more pounds. Many large Northerns have been caught from that lake, Vernie insists that Hi was just jealous because he was catching such a large fish and jumped in the lake to frighten the fish. Anyway it was a cold day and after trying to fish a little while, we hurried home to let the Chrysler man get into dry clothes.

I am now determined to spend some time fishing small mouth bass on Hubert. They are said to be twice as gamey as the large mouth bass and the boys came home to me with some of them jumped ten feet and went out of the water time after time before being sufficiently tamed to be landed. Such fishing is real sport. The boys will be showing their small mouth bass to the folks in Ord before this story is printed and some of you will see them. They are the first I ever saw and I have never eaten one. I have read about them and what sport they were and am glad to know they are so close to our camp where we can be fishing for them any day within an hour from camp if a boat is available. Ray is arranging to take a boat of his own over to Hubert so we will be able to fish there often.

I wish I could describe the beauties of the northern Minnesota woods at this time but a word picture won't do it. It must be seen to be fully appreciated. Every day we see new colors and it seems as though whole trees turn brilliant in color almost over night. There have been a few frosts, one quite hard one and the leaves are coloring up wonderfully.

And I wish you duck hunters could see the great flocks of wild ducks that we see along the shore every day. There are hundreds of them. It is but a few days till the duck season will open and then the ducks will soon be disillusioned. They seem to know that they are safe and so far as I know, no hunter has violated the law. Ray urges us to stay here till after the first of October and promises us plenty of ducks. Hunters here are looking forward to a great fall. There are getting to be lots of pheasants here and there is an open season on them this year for 8 days, also an open season on partridge, the first in several years. Then the middle of November the deer season opens for ten days.

By the way, Vernie got sight of a deer the other day as we came down the trail through the woods from the upper lake and he was excited as could be about it. I am sure he would have buck fever the first time he saw one in season, if he was hunting them. There are quite a number of them that live in the timber around Upper Cullen. They have been seen frequently this summer as they came down to the lake for a drink. H. D. Leggett

All of the out-of-town players were profuse in their praises of the Ord course, Goodman calling it "the sportiest course I have ever played." Bud Shirley had the greens in wonderful condition, the best they have been all summer, and high pitch shots made by Goodman and the others were holding right where they hit. W. L. Shawhan, golf pro at the Grand Island Riverside course, also was here and praised Ord's lay-out highly.

Another feature of the day was the medal golf tournament held in the morning in which about eighty golfers took part. Harry Lewandowski of Burwell, always a great shooter, brought in the best card of the day, a 63, and was acclaimed a winner of the tournament.

In the evening Goodman and the other Omaha men were honored guests at a dinner, Thoud's catering, officers and directors of the Ord Golf club being hosts. Dr. F. L. Blessing, as president of the club, presented Goodman with an honorary membership in the Ord club, which he accepted in a graceful little speech, also thanking the club for the courtesy shown him here and complimenting both Ord and the golf course in fine manner. Ord men present included Lyle McBeth, F. L. Blessing, Ray Kocina, Lyle Miliken, W. C. H. Noll, Bud Shirley, C. J. Moore, and E. G. Leggett. Frankie Moore of Grand Island also was a guest.

Ord found Johnny Goodman to be a clean, likeable chap, quiet and unassuming in spite of the great honor that has come to him in the golfing realm. Only two weeks ago he defeated three of the greatest competitive golfers in the world, Charlie Seiver, Maurice McCarthy, Jr., and Francis Quimet, 1931 amateur champion, only to lose to Canadian, C. Ross Samerville, in the championship round.

Not offering it as an all-but only, Goodman says that he came up to the 27th hole 2 up over Somerville and with both himself and the gallery thinking that he had the championship won. "Right there I suffered what might be called a 'mental lapse' that lasted for the next four holes," Goodman says. "With that safe lead—or it looked safe—I started to shoot for the green, not shooting for the pin or for birdies but just 'playing it safe for par. With that let down in my competitive attitude I slipped and Somerville went ahead of me with some perfect golf. I never got back on my game until it was too late."

Goodman's friend and employer, Pete Lyck, believes that if Johnny had gone up to the 27th hole 1 down instead of 2 up he would have beat Somerville in several years, and the championship.

"I'm going to try again next year and I'll win," Goodman said, proving that he has plenty of the confidence that wins golf matches. He is also looking forward to being named as a member of the Walker cup team in 1933, an honor that should have been his this year, many believe.

At the dinner Sunday evening he told many reminiscences of the recent tournament, among other things, that has been going the rounds of the nation's press about Somerville's typical English taciturnity. "He spoke to me five times," Goodman says. "Five times I said 'nice putt' and each time he said 'thank you very much.'"

At the end of his eighteen hole match here Johnny was almost mobbed by autograph seekers and for fifteen minutes was busy signing his name to souvenir cards and golf balls that were thrust at him by a crowd of men, women and children. All the while he wore a boyish grin of large dimensions, his grin proving that he has not yet become surfeited by the hero worship that will be his portion for months to come.

Goodman expressed a hope that he may play the Ord course again some time, a hope that is shared by all Ord people. Sunday was a big day for golf in central Nebraska and the ancient and honorable sport will receive added impetus because such proficient exponents of it as Goodman, Lyck, Moore and McBeth played in this match.

Taylor Paper 50 Years Old.

The Taylor Clarion, only newspaper published in Loup county, is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this month. In last week's issue it was recalled that when the first issue of the Loup County Clarion came off the press fifty years ago a number of interested people were gathered around the press and the first copy printed was given to Dave Gard, who was the father of Dr. George R. Gard of Ord. The paper was then published at Kent, county seat of the newly organized Loup county, but was moved to Taylor when that village became the county seat.

—John Misko drove to Lincoln last Friday and Sunday brought his wife and little son, John Andrew, to their home here. The baby was born two weeks before in St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Mrs. Shepard planned to join them later by train.

Give Credit Where Credit Is Due

There is room for the Local Creamery in a well developed community as Ord, that we do not deny, but had the farmer waited until the Creamery was built, very little progress would have been made in the dairy industry. The Large Creameries are the Pioneers of which the Fairmont Creamery is one, that has furnished the farmer a cash market for the past fifty years in every corner of the State. On this, they should receive the consideration from the farmer and are entitled to a part of their business. Be co-operative, but not to the extent as one who is sick calling the undertaker instead of the doctor so as to cut out the middle-man.

In the past number of years of my being in Ord, I have run a legitimate business, which I have built on friendship and fair dealings. My idea was never to find fault with my competitors, and I have always believed that competition was necessary as I believe NOW that the farmer should not be left with only one door to market his product. I also believe I have chosen the right company to deal with, and such a company is an ASSET to the community in general, which deserves your patronage that will be greatly appreciated.

Talking It Over With The Local Creamery Manager

The reason I only printed part of my story and not all in my previous ad, is because I didn't want to shake the confidence of the patrons in the Local Creamery. As for the twisting of the facts and figures as I am accused I here reprint the same: "If the farmer had sold me 300 pounds of butterfat last year, on this he received $9.00 or 3 cents per pound in cash, while the same 300 pounds sold to the Creamery would have brought him $4.00 in cash and a receipt for $5.00 in the form of a share, or a little better than a cent per pound for his butterfat."

I state the fact by saying that the Local Creamery manager never had an ad in the Local Paper without severely criticizing his competitors and the two column ad in the September 15th issue should be convincing to all. BUNK! In the same ad as for the Big Business in trying to put the Farmers Organization out of business proves itself untrue by the next paragraph that the "Management of the Creamery I represent has shown TRUE CO-OPERATION with the Local Creamery by informing them about the markets. In fact it is the Big Creameries that are making it possible for our Local Creamery to operate by buying all their butter, poultry and eggs. This I believe it is necessary for the farmers to know.

The success of the Local Creamery I believe is mostly depending on the Buttermaker and the ones who work and not the High Salaried Manager drawing around $200.00 a month doing nothing but talking co-operation to the distressed farmer. If this is co-operation, THEN WHO IS THE WOLF IN SHEEP'S CLOTHING? From the time he has taken the job as manager, he has always worked on the farmers' sympathy that he one was trying to put the Farmers' Creamery out of business. Through this method he has nearly succeeded in monopolizing the whole field, thus securing a permanent job for himself. It is no doubt a disappointment to many that the President and Board of Directors of the Local Creamery do allow the Manager to scandalize his fellow competitors as he does. This is by no means a credit to the creamery. Common decency and respect for others does not permit one to answer the slander in full as it should be answered.

In this respect I ask you to use your OWN JUDGMENT, and sell us your CREAM, POULTRY AND EGGS.
