

BUD BRICKNER WINNER OF U. P. SCHOLARSHIP

Gets $100 Tuition At State Uni
For Club Work; Arcadia
Boys Get Club Trips.

Awards for outstanding accomplishments in 4-H club work have been made to three Valley county boys, it is announced this week by County Agent Carl C. Date, donors of the awards being the Union Pacific and Burlington railroads and the Union Stockyards of Omaha. A $100 scholarship at the University of Nebraska and two free trips to Club week constitute the three awards.

Bud Brickner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brickner of Ord, is the winner of the $100 scholarship offered by the Union Pacific. Bud is a member of the Ord Corn club, in which work he has been interested for two years. He was a member of the Valley county team that won the United States championship in crops judging in Chicago recently and won the honor of being the best individual crops judge at this show.

The scholarship will entitle young Brickner to two semesters of study at the agricultural college of the University of Nebraska with his tuition paid by the railroad. Or, if he elects to take a short course at the college instead of enrolling for a regular course, the railroad will pay his tuition to the amount of $50. Harold Benn, who won this scholarship last year, is now taking a short course in Lincoln.

The Union Pacific annually awards a scholarship of this nature in each county in which the line operates, to that boy or girl who is judged most proficient in club work.

The Burlington railroad's award, which is a trip to club week at Lincoln in May, is awarded to Max Cruickshank, of Arcadia. It is awarded each year in each county in which the Burlington operates to that boy or girl who has made the biggest success as a club leader. Max leads the R-K-D Litter club. Last year the trip was won by Harold Benn.

The other free trip to club week offered by the Union Stockyards of Omaha and is won this year by J. C. Ward, also of Arcadia, who was judged to have the highest ranking in pig club work of any boy in the county. The ranking is determined by success in showmanship, attendance at meetings, etc. J. C. Ward's brother, Preston, won this award last year.

Andersen Grocery Moves.
Hans Andersen and his son, Frank, have been busy this week moving their stock of groceries and meats from their former store on the east side of the square to the west side store formerly occupied by George Parkins. This room has been re-decorated, new shelving has been built and the Andersen Grocery and Market is now ready for business in its new location.

Scotia Bank Closes Monday to Reorganize

The Bank of Scotia, a state bank of which Edward Kokes of Ord is president, failed to open its doors for business Monday morning and the officers say it will be closed for about a month while a reorganization takes place. The bank has a capital stock of $30,000 and its last statement listed deposits at $261,633 and loans at $136,000. Other officers are S. T. Grohosky, cashier, and Howard Grohosky, assistant cashier.

Law Suit Over $50 Bull Is Tried Here

County Judge John Andersen heard evidence Wednesday morning in the case of Lee and Howard Huff, plaintiffs, vs. Mrs. I. C. Clark, defendant, and then took it under advisement until Saturday morning, when he will render a verdict in the matter which involves a $50 Holstein bull, now deceased.

Howard Huff at first loaned the animal to the Clark and says in his testimony that he later sold to him, declining, however, to take a note for the debt. Mrs. Clark declares they borrowed it but made no arrangements to buy the bull, and denied that it was purchased or owned by them. Howard now wants his $50, the bull having died.

Leonard Medlar Is Given War Medal For Wounded

Leonard Medlar, only Ord World War veteran who was wounded in action during the great war, last week received the Order of the Purple Heart, government medal given to the war wounded. The history of this medal goes back to Revolutionary war days.

Mr. Medlar was a member of Company I, 18th infantry, and went overseas in July, 1918. In the battle of Argonne Forest he was shot through the chest and was in a hospital for several months. He was sent back to the United States and given his honorable discharge from the service in February, 1919.

GOOD CROWDS AT FARM HOLIDAY TWP. MEETINGS

Campaign for Membership In County Is Going Forward; 3
More Meetings Coming.

Good crowds have been present at all township meetings of the Farmers Holiday association held so far in Valley county, reported Secretary Ernest Coats yesterday, and as soon as permanent organizations in all townships are completed, the organization will be ready to go ahead with a campaign to stop mortgage foreclosures and bring about improvement in agricultural conditions generally.

During the past week meetings have been held in Elyria, Springdale, Eureka, Noble and Davis Creek townships, all meetings being attended by enthusiastic crowds of farmers.

Next meeting is being held in the town hall at North Loup at 7:30 o'clock, according to the North Loup township chairman, E. F. Paddock.

Two meetings are scheduled to be held tomorrow evening, Friday. Ord township will meet in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock and the township at Cottonwood school house at the same hour.

Secretary Coats stated yesterday that the association has done no work as yet toward stopping foreclosure sales but several cases are under consideration. President Arthur Mensing could not be reached for a statement yesterday.

William Vancura And Agnes Vodehnal Wed

Mr. William Vancura and Miss Agnes Vodehnal became man and wife Wednesday morning at a ceremony performed by County Judge John L. Andersen at 10 o'clock at the home of the judge.

William, 25, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vancura of Elyria, and Agnes is the daughter of V. J. Vodehnal of Burwell and is 21 years of age. Attendants were Miss Sylvia Vodehnal of Ord and Rudolph Vodehnal of Burwell.

The bride was beautifully attired in a white satin wedding gown with heavy ornaments with lace made fashionably long. She wore a long veil, which was bound to her head with a band of orange blossoms. Her bridesmaid, Miss Vodehnal, wore a frock of blue and a burned orange shade and her hair was banded with orange blossoms also.

Mr. and Mrs. Vancura expect to reside on the farm of the groom where they will be at home to county friends who will undoubtedly call to wish them a long, happy and prosperous career together.

SCHOOL HEADS ATTEND DINNER, HEAR DR. BROADY

Loup Valley Teachers And School Board Members Convene At Burwell Thursday.

One of the most interesting meetings of the Loup Valley High School association has held since its formation a few years ago took place at Burwell last Thursday evening when faculty and school board members from nine of the eleven schools in the association convened in the Congregational church basement for dinner, later hearing a talk by Dr. Broady, principal of the Teachers college of the University of Nebraska.

The Loup Valley association consists of eleven schools, Taylor, Sargent, Comstock, Arcadia, Loup City, Ravenna, St. Paul, Scotia, Ord, North Loup and Burwell and all of them were represented at the meeting except Loup City and Comstock. Sixty-three plates were laid in the church basement and ladies of the church served a delicious dinner, after which Supt. Benton, of Dannebrog, president of the association, presided at the program. Group singing led by Professor Duncan of Ord was enjoyed during the meal, as were also several numbers by a group of Burwell high school girls and by the 8th grade chorus.

Professor John Opp, of the Burwell schools, gave the address of welcome, which was responded to on behalf of the visitors by C. E. Replogle, school board member from Taylor. The program that followed included talk by Supt. Bell, of Ord, and a report by Ralph Norman, secretary of the Ord school board. A short business meeting followed, after which came the main address by Dr. Broady. Charles A. Brown, not secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers association and a former Ord school superintendent, had expected to be present for the meeting but was unable to come.

Those from Ord who attended the meeting were M. D. Bell, W. D. Cash, J. A. Kovanda, E. Lukonback, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wankel, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Molzen, D. S. Duncan, Gould Flagg, Dr. J. W. McGinnis, Ralph Norman and Horace Travis. From North Loup went Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Hemphill and Edith Barz, Homer Sample, Roy Cox, Arthur Stillman and Frank Johnson. Arcadia people in attendance included Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson and Elmer Wibbel.

Gets $2,500 Verdict For Accident Hurts

After deliberating five hours, a district court jury at Wahoo last Thursday brought in a verdict of $2,500 for Mrs. Philip Wellman, of Omaha, in her suit against John H. Berry, of Wahoo. She was awarded the damages for personal injuries suffered in a collision between cars driven by Mr. Berry and Mr. Wellman on Thanksgiving day, 1931. The case was tried last fall but a $3,700 verdict for Mrs. Wellman was set aside in favor of a new trial.

Arcadia Man Dies Of Heart Trouble

Arcadia, Feb. 1.—(Special)—N. H. Ames, 61-year-old farm resident of this community, passed away suddenly at 12:30 p. m. Monday, death being due to heart trouble. Though Mr. Ames had been in poor health all winter his condition was not regarded as serious, so his sudden death was a great shock to friends and relatives. He had made plans to move to Missouri and had advertised a farm sale for Tuesday of this week, the sale being called off because of his death. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church here at 2 p. m. today and burial was in Arcadia cemetery. Professor Hatches, principal of Shelton Academy, conducted the services. Mr. Ames is survived by his wife, one son, Everett, of Arcadia, and three married daughters who reside elsewhere.

Dies of Odd Ailment

Mrs. Harry Lath, of Cotesfield, is dead following a short illness with what appeared to be a throat infection. A few weeks previous her mother, Mrs. Lint, died with the same illness. Several members of the Lint family have since contracted the disease and are in serious condition. Though several doctors have been called, the exact nature of the disease remains a mystery.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson and the latter's mother, Mrs. Katie Marks of Polk drove to the Bill Schauer home near Olean. Mrs. Marks is staying for a visit. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson returned home Sunday evening.

Co. Treasurer Says License Plate Cost May Be Reduced

County Treasurer George A. Satterfield is hinting to prospective purchasers of automobile license plates that the cost of these articles may come down this winter; in fact, he is advising auto owners not to purchase them pending action by the legislature.

The legislative committee in charge of this matter recently told county treasurers that a bill would be passed reducing the cost of plates and advising treasurers to hold up selling plates whenever possible, so as to avoid the red tape incidental to making a refund later. Peace officers were advised by the committee to hold up their existing cars operating on 1932 plates, until action is taken in the legislature.

Mr. Satterfield thinks that the charge will be reduced to a flat rate of $5 per car without regard to size, or possibly to $4 for light cars and $6 for heavy cars.

C. OF C. TO OPEN BIG MEMBERSHIP DRIVE ON FRIDAY

Directors Decide to Reduce Dues, Name Committee to Solicit; Drop Scrip Plan.

Fifty new members before Friday night!

That is the goal of the Ord Chamber of Commerce in a membership drive that will begin at an early hour tomorrow morning and continue throughout the day. Stanley McLain is chairman of the membership committee and will be assisted in the drive tomorrow by Freeman Haught, Val Puller, Arthur Capron and Glen Auble.

Directors of the Chamber, at their January meeting last Thursday evening, decided to reduce the dues from $1.00 per month to 50c per month so that more members will have an added advantage in their quest for new members tomorrow. Those who have been active in Chamber of Commerce work during the past few years feel that much has been accomplished but that much more can be done in future if a majority of the city's business interests lend their support to the work.

At the meeting Thursday evening the new president, Harlan T. Frazier, appointed his standing committees for 1933 as follows: City development—Fred Coe, Edw. Clements, Orville Cow, Wm. Sack. Rural-urban—E. C. Leggett, E. C. Weller, Guy Burrows, L. V. Kokes, Gould Flagg. Roads—J. W. McGinnis, Ralph Norman, B. V. Decar, Gould Flagg, R. C. Ayres. Public affairs—C. J. Mortensen, Robert Noll, Keith Lewis, A. J. Meyer, Ign. Kilma, Jr. Music promotion—F. L. Blessing, F. A. Bart, Henry Frey, J. R. Stoltz, Glen Auble. Retelling—A. J. Auble, Wm. Heuck, John Goddard, Marion Crosby, Freeman Haught. Child welfare—C. A. Hager, Clara McClatchey, Mrs. C. E. Goodhand, Dr. C. J. Miller, Geo. Round.

Burwell Co-op Pays $11,000 In Dividends

The Burwell Butter Factory, a co-operative institution, closed another successful year last Saturday with the payment of $11,000 to its patrons in the form of dividends the payment being made at the rate of 3c per pound of butter fat. The creamery, churned almost 450,000 pounds of butter during the past year. Ralph Brownell has managed the creamery for ten years and it is regarded as one of the most successful in Nebraska. Charles Meyer, who received a dividend check of $152, sold the most butter-fat of any individual.

Frank Klein's Brother Dead

Frank Dilla, 51, a brother of Mrs. John Klein of Ord, passed away Tuesday, Jan. 24, at his home in St. Joe, Mo., where for the past 28 years he had been a government meat inspector. He leaves a widow, four sons and a daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Klein and Mrs. Julius Dilla, of Loup City, drove as far as Grand Island to look the train to St. Joe to attend the funeral. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes recently motored to Scotia and visited Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Messersmith.

MORATORIUM ON FARM MORTGAGES SEEN IN OFFING

Big Insurance Companies Say
Will Hold Off Foreclosures
In Iowa; Bryan in Action.

A moratorium on farm mortgages—the goal sought by the Farmers' Holiday association and other farm organizations—is seen faintly in the offing, as a result of developments throughout the country during the past week.

The fact that farm organizations everywhere are adopting the policy of resisting sales by foreclosure is believed to have spurred big insurance companies and legislative bodies in many states into action.

Iowa Governor Clyde Herring has issued a proclamation in which he requests mortgagees to hold up foreclosure action on farm lands until the Iowa legislature has had time to pass moratorium legislation. According to his request, the New York Life Insurance company, the Aetna, Prudential, Phoenix Mutual and General Life Insurance companies have proclaimed a temporary moratorium. Other companies are said to be contemplating the same action and there is no doubt that if Iowa farmers are granted this boon that it will be extended to Nebraska as well.

At Lincoln this week Governor Charles W. Bryan still sick in bed, appointed a board of conciliation to assist in settling farm mortgage disputes. Tax Commissioner Wm. H. Smith was named chairman of the board and other members are H. C. Kenney, C. H. Bell, president of the Farmers Union, C. L. Deets, of Broken Bow, master of the state Grange, P. P. Cedar, of Genoa, president of the Farm Bureau Federation, H. C. Farmer of Yutan, president of the Farm Holiday association, Louis S. Clark, of Omaha, president of the Nebraska Mortgage Bankers association, and Stanley Haly, of Lincoln, president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce. Advisory boards in each county to work with the state board are contemplated by Gov. Bryan.

In a foreclosure dispute, Chairman Smith says, the board might prevail on the money lender to be satisfied with the sum for which the mortgaged land will sell now rather than demand a deficiency judgment also. Or, if he refused, the board would confer with the courts and advise him of the circumstances. The boards will act without compensation and purely in an advisory capacity.

It is being brought about a moratorium on farm mortgages is contemplated in Congress and also in various state legislatures, daily newspapers of the week report, and there is every possibility that a beneficial farm relief bill will be enacted within the next few weeks.

Irrigation Meeting Called For Febr. 8

An irrigation meeting will be held next Wednesday evening, February 8, at 8 o'clock in the O. O. F. hall at North Loup, it is announced this week. This meeting was originally scheduled to be held last Wednesday but was postponed when the speaker, Donald Price, of Lincoln, was unable to be present. He will be here next Wednesday evening, it is announced.

Ord Cagers Defeat Ericson, Broken B.

Custer County Boys No Match For Ordites; Battle Snow To Play
Ericson Tuesday Eve.

Heralded as a fast team but failing to live up to their reputation, the Broken Bow basketball team was no match for Ord last Friday in a game played on the Ord high school floor. Coach Cecil Molzeu started his first team and when the initial period ended the count was 14 to 1 in Ord's favor, which resulted in Ord substitutes being sent in to gain experience. The second team played most of the game and Ord won handily by a score of 26 to 16.

Tuesday evening of this week the Ord boys got some experience in fighting drifted roads when they drove to Ericson to play both the Ord first and second teams made the trip and both teams won, the first squad winning 19 to 6 and the second team 16 to 3.

Coach Molzeu's boys play Comstock at that town on Friday evening of this week.

Philathea Sunday school class are holding their social meeting Thursday evening Feb. 9 in the basement of the Presbyterian church instead of today as was announced in another part of the Quiz.

Joe Puncocar and his Six Merry Music Makers played Sunday evening for a dance in Jungman hall. Tomorrow they are going to Ravenna to play for a dance.

Frank Gardner Will Be Evangelist At Christian Church

The Christian church will begin a series of meetings next Tuesday evening, February 7, with Rev. Frank Gardner as the evangelist assisting the pastor, Rev. Willard McCarthy. He is no stranger to Ord people, as he is a son of Rev. Nelson Gardner, who held the Christian parsonage some years ago. Much of Frank's boyhood was spent in Ord and he attended the Ord high school. He is now a very successful young minister and is located at Chester, Neb., where Rev. McCarthy had his last pastorate before coming to Ord. Old friends of the Gardner family will want to attend some of these meetings.

SIX INCH SNOW BREAKS PERFECT JANUARY RECORD

Blizzard On Last Day of Month
Is First Bad Weather in 41
Days, Says Travis.

Forty-one days of perfect weather came to a close Tuesday morning when, beginning with a fine rain that changed to snow as the temperature dropped, a blizzard of fat-sized proportions raged over Valley county. Six inches of snow fell during the day, according to the report of Horace Travis, official government weather observer, and the snow was accompanied by a high wind. Snow drifted badly during the evening but the wind died down about midnight and roads were readily opened up when Wednesday dawned bright and clear.

The heavy snow of Tuesday contained .86 of an inch of moisture, Mr. Travis reports, and it was the only moisture that fell during January. This was not unusual as January is usually a dry month here. In January, 1932, the moisture total was the same, .86, and in 1931 it was only .31 of an inch. In 1930 the moisture total was .70. In 1929 it was .24, in 1928 it was .08 and in 1927 it was .11.

The last snow previous to the one Tuesday came on Dec. 9 and 10, Mr. Travis records show, when 4 1/2 inches fell. On Dec. 25 a light rain fell, 1-100th of an inch to be exact. On Dec. 19, our last zero day, and Tuesday, Jan. 31, the weather here was almost perfect. The coldest temperature yesterday was 4 degrees above zero.

Unless a lot of snow comes during February and March, this fall and winter are going to be away under 1932 in snowfall for last year was an unusual year in this respect as 47 inches of snow falling during the five winter months, November, December, January, February and March.

Miss Daisy Simmons Will Visit Schools

Miss Daisy Simmons, Knight-Order of Youth worker who made such a pleasing impression on her audiences when she came here last fall to organize a movement in schoolrooms of this county, will come back to Ord next month, according to Miss Clara McClatchey, county superintendent. Miss Simmons and Miss McClatchey will visit many Knight-Order Youth groups in the several schools where they are located as will be possible in the two days of March 16 and 17.

Patchen Ice House Being Filled With Lake Ericson Ice

Harry Patchen, with a crew of truckers, has been busy during the past week filling the Patchen ice house here with ice from Lake Ericson. Five trucks have been busy with this work much of the time. The ice is being purchased from C. E. Hallner at Ericson and is said to be nice and clear and about twelve inches in thickness.

Fireman's Ball Febr. 7.
Next Tuesday, February 7, is the date of the annual ball of the Ord fire department. It will be held this year at the Bohemian hall and a 9-piece orchestra will furnish music, both old time and modern. At 11 o'clock the grand march will be led by Chief Shirley. Firemen cordially invite everybody in Ord to be present at this gala event.

Friday Miss Pearl Shirley burned the fingers on her left hand while using an electric plug. She is employed in Dr. Kirby McGrew's office.

Friday evening there was a dinner and party at the home of Mrs. Paul Gensel in honor of Miss Alice Polak, who is soon to marry Elwin Dunlap. There were about fifty guests and a bountiful dinner was served. There was a miscellaneous shower and the bride received some nice gifts.

Friday evening P. E. O. met in the home of Mrs. C. E. Goodhand. The members enjoyed a musical program. It included songs by the quartette, Madams Mark Tolen, A. S. Koupal, Clarence Davis and Joe. E. Barts; a violin solo by Mrs. Glen Auble; a vocal solo by Miss Virginia VanDecar; and a piano solo by Mrs. Kirby McGrew. At the close of a pleasant afternoon dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Sunday Richard, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tolen was able to be taken to his own home from the Ord Hospital. He is still confined to his bed and will be for several days. He is recovering from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McBeth of Spalding were visiting their children Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes recently motored to Scotia and visited Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Messersmith.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

Arcadia and her sister towns in the Middle Loup valley are to be congratulated upon their quickness in grasping the golden opportunity for irrigation and power development made available by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The same opportunity that was so quickly grasped by Arcadia, Comstock and Loup City is available to the North Loup valley.

Money is borrowed from the R. F. C. at a very low rate of interest, this money being used in the construction of a dam and power plant to generate electricity and ditches to distribute water for irrigation.

The plan used at Arcadia has many advantages over the plan previously suggested for the Ord-North Loup Irrigation project.

The Ord believes that the communities of Burwell, Ord, North Loup and Scotia—possibly Elba, Cotesfield and St. Paul as well—should immediately investigate the feasibility of a power and irrigation project with a dam to be located near Burwell.

Here is our only golden opportunity for prosperity. It is knocking at our door now. Opportunity only knocks once. Shall we let it knock go unheeded?

LARSEN'S BILL A JOKE. One must suspect, upon analyzing Attorney Larsen's bill now before the state legislature in which he proposes to subdivide the present 11th judicial district...

Attorney Larsen's bill proposes to take away from the present 11th, 12th and 13th judicial districts the counties of Loup, Blaine, Thomas, Hooker, McPherson, Logan and Grant counties, forming them into a new district to be known as the 19th. The abbreviated 11th district would be served by only one district judge, instead of two as at present, and the new 19th district would have a judge.

How unfair this division would be is made manifest by a comparison of population figures. The new 19th district made up of the counties of Loup, Blaine, Thomas, Hooker, McPherson, Logan and Grant counties, would, according to the 1930 census reports, have a total population of 12,235.

There are 53 attorneys now practicing in the six counties that would make up the new 11th district; there would be 19 practicing in the eight counties in the proposed new 19th district.

Analysing the Larson bill, H. R. 206, by any standard, it is unfair to the people of Wheeler, Garfield, Valley, Greeley, Howard, and Hall counties, which have a total population of 60,674.

NOT A REVOLUTION. A friend of the Quiz mildly takes to task the publisher of this newspaper for "fomenting revolution," which he claims is done when the Quiz prints complete accounts of Farmers' Holiday meetings and gives favorable editorial comment to some of the aims of that organization.

It is "fomenting revolution" to take the part of the farm element when it is faced by an economic crisis that threatens its very existence, then let our friend make the most of it.

UNDER-CONSUMPTION. Under-consumption of the necessities of life rather than overproduction is given as one of the reasons for present difficulties, according to the Trinidad Guardian, published in the British West Indies.

Time and again, Ray Kocina has made some needed article of furniture for the house. When Margaret Mary was little he built a wardrobe to keep her dresses in, and when she was old enough to go to school he built her a desk to use for study and play, using walnut he found in an old organ bought at a sale.

"We can do without bread, cocoa, sugar, potatoes and practically all of the fresh produce there is, but the producers 'kid' themselves that we can't. They blame economic and overproduction for lack of sales. If they advertised and marketed like everybody else, they would not get left in the lurch."

When the primary producers learn to keep pace in their advertising with the producers of luxury goods, the world will get balance again. So long as the primary producers don't get together and advertise so long will they tell a hard luck tale.

When great-grandmother raised the garden and canned the vegetables, her daughter bought them to "put up". And the next generation wasn't so likely to put up "everything" and this generation is quite likely to put up almost nothing.

There are a number of handy wood-workers in and around Ord, men who find comfort and relaxation in a little cabinet work.

Edwin Clements does very fine work, and can put a most smooth and business-like finish on his work. He became interested through watching his father work in woods. Judge Clements was a carpenter and woodworker when young, earning his way through the study of law by his efforts with hammer and saw.

Mrs. Edwin Clements owns a beautiful spinet desk made for her by her husband in odd moments of many days. The desk is made in such a workmanlike manner that it is difficult to make admirers believe Edwin made it.

Judge Clements is very fond of inlaying woods and has presented his wife with a fine desk, inlaid with mother-of-pearl or other wood. Much of the work on their house was done by himself, finishing, lattice work and all.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

I need more recipes immediately. I hope you will not neglect sending me some at once, Valley county cooks. I especially want recipes from married women, experienced cooks with lots of opportunity to find out just what is practical.

Mix in this order two cups sugar, one cup butter (or butter and lard mixed), two eggs, one cup sweet milk, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, any desired flavoring, add enough flour to roll out, cut in any shapes desired and bake in a moderate oven.

Cream one-half cup butter, add one cup sugar and beat. Add two well beaten yolks. Sift together three times this combination: two cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two heaping teaspoons baking powder, then add alternately with the liquid to first mixture of orange juice and milk.

Cut left-over cake into slices, then into three or four inch strips, put in a buttered baking dish a layer of cake strips, a layer of raisins, another layer of cake and one raisin. Repeat in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in center.

Mix two cups milk, three tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cornstarch, two egg yolks, one cup of cooked raisins, one-half cup broken walnuts, one-half teaspoon maple flavoring. Put in a baked pie crust and cover with meringue and brown in the oven.

Hearing there were plenty of apples and wild plums in Valley county last year inspired this cook to send in a recipe for Plum Pie. Pit and run through colander one quart wild plums, canned without sugar. Add nutmeg and sugar to taste, also a little water, and put on to cook.

There was a good attendance Friday evening at the club dance in the Legion hall. Ben Janesen furnished the music.

QUIZ FORUM

Wants People to Write. Lincoln, January 25, 1933. Mr. H. D. Leggett, Ord, Nebraska.

I assure you that as a member of the present House, it is my intention, and I believe it is the intention of the majority of the members of the House and Senate to do everything possible to alleviate conditions among the working people and the farmers of this state.

As near as I can tell, bills have been introduced or are being drafted to do practically everything that has been suggested by the different organizations. Of course, I do not believe that all of these measures will pass and become laws, but I know from the action of the House on several bills already, that there is going to be a substantial reduction in the expenses of the state government.

We have already passed in the House, a bill lowering the legal rate of interest to 6% and the contract rate to 5%. A bill has also passed the House which reduces mileage paid to all employees of the state, also the county officers who may use care in the transaction of county business, to 5 cents per mile.

I see no indication of extravagance in this house. I am sure that if the Holiday Ass'n. should send a group to meet with us here in Lincoln, that they will be respectfully heard and everything possible will be done to relieve their condition.

BACK FORTY. By J. A. KOVANDA. The Ord Quiz and Capper's Farmer are favorite farm papers according to questionnaire blanks returned by several dozen farm boys recently.

One-half of the questionnaires stated that a few magazines have been discontinued during the past year or two. The other fifty percent said their homes receive just as many papers now as they ever did.

Individuals in each questionnaire was summed up confidentially. The unsigned sheets were then destroyed.

Good reading in the home gives pupils a background which enables them to speak more fluently, and learn more easily. Students of considerable ability occasionally are slowed down and handicapped by lack of this environment.

Talking about the farm relief proposition, the great New York Life Insurance Company has started the ball rolling in the right direction, by ordering that no further foreclosures be started on Iowa farm mortgages, pending action by the Iowa legislature.

Someone accused me Monday, of joining the Farm Holiday association. That is untrue for I have not joined and I understand that town farmers are not eligible. However, I am ready to join if I am allowed to do so.

I am believing that the Farm Holiday organization will do a lot of good. It is a radical movement and I have no doubt some injustices will be done before our present troubles are ironed out.

I do believe it is the duty of all creditors to be just as lenient as possible with those who are in trouble. I am sure the banks of Ord have gone much further in most cases, in carrying their patrons, than the facts in the case justified.

"SCHOOL DAZE"

To be presented at Davis Creek School House
To complete your education you must go to school. Everyone will be given this opportunity—
Thursday Evening; Febr. 9
School starts at 8 p. m. Don't be tardy.

Imagine Velma Peterson taking the part of Ella Smith the mischievous school girl, and think of Roy Hudson taking the part of Reginald Cooper, a sissy. Grace Easley assumes the name of White Rose, the colored girl, while Lois Kildow is just too cute as the Tom Boy. How do you know Kathryn Chadwick is a school ma'am? And Frank Johnson a school board man? Think of Clarence Edwards the hard boiled character, Steve Clark; and Eric Waltemade as the foolish school boy Tom Brown; and many other leaguers.

This play is being put on by the members of the North Loup Epworth League. Come and spend a good evening with us—forgetting all your troubles and have a good laugh.
Adults 15c, Children 10c. Lunch will be served after the play for 10 cents

The play was written by Charles L. Archbold, advertising manager of the National Refining Company, who writes the epigrams that appear on the school boy slates, one of which stands in front of your En-ar-co dealer's place of business.

A Romance of the North Woods

By Harold Titus W.N.U. SERVICE

"No," he said dryly, as if to end debate with himself, and the suggested alteration of his face which had threatened, perhaps, a melting, a softening, came to nothing. "It goes back to where we started; that I'm runnin' this outfit yet an' hiring men and puttin' 'em where I think they'll do me the most good."

"One thing," he pronounced, "you've got to learn is to know men to get along with men. You don't like Gorbel—"

"No," he never haved! Neither does anybody else around this outfit!—with an inclusive gesture. "You've got a price on his interest, and even if you aren't ready to buy him out I won't lock horns with him. I want him run the outfit and the mill; let him run the bank. I want to get into the woods, Tom, and at Kampfest. There'd be no conflict!"

"As I was sayin'; you don't like Gorbel, and for reasons, I can see. You've got to learn why you like and don't like men. You've only been on one job. You try another, now, and come spring you show me what you're worth on a job where you're in the line of face and eyes showed pale against it. 'We've had a lot of gabble this afternoon! Here's your letter from Sandy. See if you can make a showin' somewhere else, and when I get back... we'll see what we can see'."

He rose. "That's all, then?" John asked, oddly restrained.

"That's all there is. The Century leaves in two hours. I'm going to say good-by to your mother; you'd better be out there."

The boy stood irresolute, conflicting impulses surging within him. When, with a sweeping movement, he snatched up his cap.

"Good-by, sir," crisply. "Good-by, John, I... well, good-by," gruffly.

Their hands met briefly, formally. "You'll go on to Seven tomorrow... Difficult to tell whether that was statement or query; difficult to tell, too, whether the clearing of his throat had been necessary or not."

"I seem to have my orders," the boy said, and none could have told what impulse lay behind the words.

He wheeled and went quickly out, and for a long moment after he had gone his father stood, a gaunt, wearied old figure. He lifted one hand with a helpless movement and sank into the great chair, chin on knuckles... An unhappy man, this, helpless to rectify his mood... CHAPTER II

Now when a young man, fever hot with rebellion, at odds with his world, set upon, treated unfairly, finding his firmest trust betrayed, he had to be marrow, hops of a train into a strange town and is hit in the mouth by a stranger, certain events are bound to follow. For one thing, the pressure of temper within him finds relief.

It is enough for young John Belknap to come to a decision as to what to do; easy enough to decide that the Mid-West headquarters, up in the wilderness, was as good a place as any for a young man going out on his own to present himself and ask for a chance. Easy, simple!

But not so easy to summon that rage which would wipe out the hurt. He had had his fondest hopes betrayed by the one human being he had trusted above all others. It cut and scoured, made him drive himself into a furious temper.

He had boarded a late train, pack-sack over his shoulder, oblivious to the stares of people in the station, telling himself that he had been double-crossed, abused at a point which was intolerable. Through the remaining hours of the night he had tossed in his berth, letting that rage eat up the disappointment and heartache. Today, on a less comfortable train, his ire mounted and as the cars rocked and bounced on northward over increasingly rough steel, he sat for long intervals without moving a muscle, the fire in his eyes growing, the darkness in his heart deepening.

Snow fell. Now and again some of it sifted down from the ventilators to the greasy rattan seats of the smoker. The brakeman came in and lighted oil lamps as waning afternoon brought wintry darkness. One more change now and he would be on the Kampfest line.

—But he was not going to stop at Kampfest!

"You're out of luck," the conductor said; "getting into Kampfest tonight. They got three cars off on a culvert and it may take 'em until noon to get their line open. Tell you what; the Junction boarding house's a fright. You could go on to Shoestring where there's a good place to stay and come back in the morning in time to get the eastbound."

"Shoestring? Never heard of it." "Spry little town." The conductor smiled grimly as he adjusted the wick of his lantern. "If the branch hadn't been blocked this afternoon, you might've seen some big times there tonight..."

John did not heed this. He said, "Much obliged, and settled back in the corner of his seat with his wrath.

Soon the brakeman rose and sung out: "Shoestring!" Buttoning his Mackinaw, slinging his pack-sack to one shoulder, John stood in the end of the car as they jolted to a stop. He was the only passenger disembarking, and when he pulled the door open, snow whirled about him. Moving figures showed against the glow of depot lights.

A voice sung out sharply: "That's him!" He dropped to shin-deep snow on the platform, and a bulking figure moved to confront him.

"You'd better git back on the train," the man said. "You ain't welcome here!"

"Check him through!" some one called hoarsely. "What's the big idea?" John snapped. "Who are you to—"

"We ain't here to argue, Jack! You git back aboard that car and keep your feet out of Shoestring and you'll be better off!"

The big man, grasped his arm determinedly, and as John twisted to free himself he slipped. He flung out a hand to catch his balance and, on the gesture, a stinging blow caught him full in the mouth.

An instant before, and despite his black mood, he would have argued; but that fist on his lips dropped a red curtain before his eyes, coagulated all the anger which had kept him hot for two days and a night, stripped reason from him. He crouched; he rushed. He was going to let no gang put him back on any train! He bored into them, through them, until he had distance between himself and the car and then straightened, catching one a stiff blow on the neck that spun him about. He whirled and drove his fist hard into a belly.

Voices, then, sharp and profane. Someone struck him on the cheek, and with an uppercut John dropped a man who charged in from the side. A bit of blood on his lips goaded him.

They came on with a rush. He kicked one's feet from under him, and the falling fellow tripped another. He struck and kicked and elbowed and ducked. His head rocked sideways from a blow, and he squeezed his eyes shut for a split instant to check the mounting dizziness. They could have had him down and beaten to a pulp in one minute, if they'd used their heads. They were too mad, too eager to carry the fight; they got in one another's way, fended off the blows of their fellows.

A man, charging him, checked and veered, and he had a fleeting glimpse of a small figure on the edge of the group, shoving at his assailants, holding up a dissuading hand.

A voice, then a girl's voice, was raised sharply. "Stop! Stop it! Tiny, Ezra, Way-Bill! Let him alone!"

The "him" was beyond a doubt John Steele Belknap, but that young man was now in no mood to be let alone! The figure of the leader was before him, poised, waiting; perhaps in indecision at the sudden willing of spirit or intent among his fellows; perhaps waiting on this stranger who was so unwelcome in their midst. Ord Church Notes

Bethany Lutheran Church. S. S. Kaldahl, Pastor. Sunday school at 10 a. m. Reading service at 11 in the Danish language by the deacon.

Christian Church. Our subject next Sunday morning will be "Soul Winning". A sermon preparatory to our meeting. In the evening the subject will be "Life's Foolish Rivalries". The services in the evening will be in our church until after the meetings. Keep in mind that Bible school begins at 10 o'clock. Mid-week Bible study next week on Thursday evening.

Women's Missionary society will meet this week Thursday evening with Mrs. Thill. Our meeting will begin next Tuesday evening with Frank Gardner as evangelist. Now we must all do our best to make this a great meeting and if each one pushes it will be a success.

Christian Science. The subject of the lesson-lesson in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, February 5, is "Spirit". The Golden Text is from John 4: 24: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-lesson is from Acts 17: 24: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands: Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything, seeing he giveth to all life, and breath, and all things." A correlative passage from the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "The Scriptures declare that God is Spirit. . . He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual." (page 331).

Methodist Church. 10 Sunday school. Robt. Noll, supt. A number of new members were enrolled last week. Interest is increasing.

11:00. Morning worship. A dignified service of ritual, high grade music and sermon by the pastor. 6:30-8:30. Family supper and evening worship service. Families are asked to bring sandwiches and covered dish, and eat the evening meal together in the church basement. Coffee will be furnished by the church. Tables will be prepared, banquet style. The men will have charge of the kitchen and dining room, and the ladies will have charge of the program of 3-minute speeches. Glen Auble will lead the song service, old style family singing. The kitchen committee is Mrs. E. Kilmann and Vernon Laughrey. Dining Room committee Stanley McLain, Orville Sowl and Robert Noll. Other men will assist in this work. Those who cannot come for the supper are invited to come at 7:30 for the program. Elwin Auble has been added to the list of Sunday school teachers in charge of the 7th grade boys and has made a very favorable impression on the group.

February promises to be a good month in the church. The Sunday evening services are all different and we are sure they will be attractive to churchgoers. Many people are commenting on the fine optimistic spirit of the services. It seems to get better every week. If you have no other church home, come and worship with us. Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

Presbyterian Church. Communion service 10:45. Union evening service will continue at the Christian church at 7:30.

For twenty years the Presbyterian churches of this country have been observing the last Sunday in January as Young People's Day. So last Sunday morning at the Ord Presbyterian church, those of the young people's department had full charge of the services. The three young people's classes answered when roll was called, by some response or report. The Comrade class taught by Mrs. O. E. Johnson is composed of freshmen and sophomores. The Tuxedo class with Mrs. Flagg as teacher is made up of juniors and seniors. Mrs. John Misko has the class of young people from high school age to twenty-three. Information concerning the Expression club was given by Catherine Ollis, the vice president. This club has regular meetings each Sunday evening, has conducted two church services at Rosevale school house and one Sunday evening service in Ord. The church was decorated with potted plants. Guy Keep and Kenneth McGinnis acted as ushers.

Prelude, James Milliken; Psalm 90, Mrs. Flagg; Hymn; Invocation, Donald Williamson; Talk, "Purpose of Young People's Sunday," Thelma; "Take Thou Ourselves, O Lord", Catherine Ollis; Responsive reading, lead by Beulah McGinnis; Roll call, Eleanor Keep; Solo, Virginia Vandecar; Talk, "Take Thou Our Minds, O Christ", Harvey; Talk, "Take Thou Our Hearts, O Christ", Francis Petersen; Talk, "Take Thou Our Wills, O Christ", Robert Cushing; Hymn; Prayer; Benediction.

WOMAN LOST 10 LBS. IN A WEEK

Mrs. Betty Luedcke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it." To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safest way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back. But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

for the latter his wait was brief because as he kicked free from those impending hands John rushed him, striking out quickly with short savage blows, glorying in this moment of even odds.

The man retreated slowly. Once he landed and jolted John severely, but this advantage worked against him because it tapped buried reservoirs of strength and fury and hard fists bore him backward into the dirt, his head rammed from the open stator doorways.

A cry, then, as John bareheaded, face set, burst into the light. "Tain't him, Tiny! Tain't him!" Now this, Tiny might, in another instant, have had reason to claim that the stout, strapping man, who had come to last upon knees, but even before the words were past the lips that yelped them, John found the opening he had been fighting for.

Full on the point of Tiny's chin his knuckles struck and the man's legs sagged. The force of the blow drove him backward and he crumpled. His head, lolling to one side, crunched oddly as it struck the wheel of a baggage truck.

John heard that sound and a tingle ran through him. He lurched on forward, crawling as he went, but he did not like that crunch! Hands clutched at his shoulder and a hoarse protest was in his ear. "Get away!" John cried, shaking off the hands, heedless of the words that dropped to his feet and he crumpled in the snow beside the fallen man.

"Hit his head!" some one cried, as they gathered closely about, a weir of legs damming back light from the doorway. "Get back, John snapped. "Out of the way, you!"

The voice of authority, that, and it cut through a rising mutter from the crowd, forced a falling back to let yellow light filter on the prostrate Tiny.

The man's face was bruised and bleeding. He lay limp, and when John raised one of the great arms it dropped back limply. The man breathed heavily, and apprehension mounted in the boy's consciousness. "Get hold here!"—sharply. "Carry him inside where I can see!"

John moved the thick cap from Tiny's head and with light, careful fingers rummaged through the stiff hair, swept them to one side and he saw depression. The cap had been ample protection; no fracture, perhaps not even . . .

"Get me some snow!" John said, and two scurried outside. With his handkerchief he wiped blood from Tiny's chin, and when the snow came he took great handful and held it against brow and temples.

Tiny grimaced and puckered his lips and stirred. He moaned next and opened one eye and whimpered. "What th' h—l" he began, and the crowd stirred, as in relief. John drew a deep breath, then, and looked up at the faces above him; weather-beaten, vigorous faces, they were, and as his eyes swept them they turned on him with curious expressions.

"He wants to know what the h—l, he began. "And that makes two of us. What the h—l does it—" He broke short. He had settled back to his heels, searching those faces with a demand for explanation, when he saw her. She had stood beside him, looking down. Very small and slight of figure she was, and the face beneath the snug turban of beaver was as gentle as those others were rough. Her eyes were dark and large and serious; more than serious, perhaps; possibly deep trouble rode in them to go with the repressed line of her mouth.

She was looking full in his face, and as he broke his gruff question he inclined his head slightly as in recognition of a difference—and in apology. He caught his breath. "Sorry!"—to her. "I should say"—whipping his glance to the men again—"what's a stranger to think of being ganged like this?"

A slim, wiry man, who had squatted on the other side of the re- viving Tony, spoke. "We was expectin' another party, chum," he said. "You're a match for him in size, but you ain't the one we're lookin' for; this particular hard egg sent in to clean us out by old Tom Belknap!"

John's head jerked. He leaned tetchly forward. "What?" he demanded, a long-drawn word, strained with surprise; perhaps with something like shock. "I said; we'd got news a certain party who's raised h—l here was comin' in to put a chunk under a corner. We aimed to get him back to Kampfest with bad news for old Belknap. Bein' excited like we was, and bein' dark like it was, we mistook you for him. Not important, mebbe, but true!"

A study of tax levies disclosed the fact that Arcadia people are experiencing (rather than enjoying) the peculiar position of the lowest of any of their nearby neighboring towns and very few towns of the state can boast of as low a levy. The total levy in Arcadia is $21.47 for each thousand dollars of assessed value, while neighboring towns run from $31.57 to as high as $63.88. Burwell with a levy of $19.12 does not include any township tax while Arcadia has a levy a $2.30 for this purpose, is the only town in this section with a lower levy.

Fifty of the outstanding 4-H club local leaders in Nebraska have been awarded Burlington railroad leadership awards and will receive free prize trips to the 1933 club week to be held on the College of Agriculture campus at Lincoln in June. I. Friable, state club leader, announced the awards last week. All of the trip winners are high ranking leaders in their respective counties through which the railroad passes. The prize is equivalent to railroad transportation and one-fourth of the registration fee for the week's activities. "The local leaders are the backbone of 4-H club work in Nebraska and the Burlington trip winners are among the outstanding club boosters", Friable declared in announcing the awards. Among those receiving the award is Max Cruikshank of Arcadia.

State Capitol News

By PARKE F. KEAYS

Prospects of a short and snappy session of the legislature were shattered last Thursday when the house voted for adjournment until Monday of this week.

Governor Bryan's bill proposing code revision has been considerably patched up in committee to make its initial appearance before the house by transfer of the fire marshal to the department of inspection instead of the state sheriff's department and eliminating the proposed efficiency engineer requested by the Governor.

Three bills have been introduced in the legislature for the creation of a state owned operating bank. One bill is in the senate and two in the house.

The Stringfellow bill in the house would cut present auto registration fees in half, farm tractor registration fees one-third and reduce commercial truck licenses considerably.

Officers of the Farmers Holiday Association have called a meeting of legislative committees of several farm and labor organizations to be held in Lincoln, February 13.

The purpose of the meeting will be to consolidate duplications and unify the legislative programs of all these organizations. Both state and national legislation will be discussed.

railway commissioners, members of the board of control, state tax commissioner and other officers.

Both the house and senate passed resolutions recommending Arthur Mullen for United States Attorney General.

MARSHAL COVERT GOES BERSERK, HITS TWO MEN

George Work, Stevens Are Victims Of Officer's Ire In Fight At Sheriff's Office.

If City Marshal L. H. Covert ever decides to retire from his present occupation, a bright future should await him in the prize ring. Friday afternoon, in the sheriff's office at the Valley county court house, Marshal Covert knocked two men "wicking" in less time than it takes to tell about it.

The victims of the city marshal's wrath were George Work, Ord, and C. H. Stevens, itinerant salesman of flavors and extracts, whom city authorities have long suspected of dealing in extracts other than flavors and extracts.

The fracas occurred soon after the noon hour Friday and as the Quiz learns the details, it happened about as follows:

Marshal Covert had been having the city's binder repaired in the work shop and about 1:00 p.m. Friday went there to get it. Mr. Stevens' car was in the work room and Mr. Work was engaged in repairing it when the marshal entered.

"Your grinder is fixed and is out in back of the shop," said Work to the marshal, looking up from his job momentarily. Marshal Covert did not answer but strode over to the work room and began to rummage in the rear seat where the Stevens sample cases were kept.

"Here, that's private property!" Stevens protested. "I don't care. I understand that you're a bootlegger," the marshal answered. After which, having completed searching the car the marshal tucked one of the sample cases under his arm and told Stevens that he was under arrest and would have to accompany him to the court house. The latter made no objection to doing so but requested Mr. Work to get Attorney Clarence Davis and bring him to the court house to represent him.

The next act of the comedy, or tragedy, took place in the sheriff's office where Mr. Work soon arrived with Attorney Clarence Davis. There he had a blood between Work and Marshal Covert for some time, the Quiz is given to understand, and the two got into a word squabble.

"It's too bad that a man can't have a business in Ord without some so-and-so poking his nose into it all the time," said Work, who claims that he was leaning against the radiator and had his hands in his pockets. "This is not strictly a business matter but a taxpayers' league. You business men (who are taxpayers) come out and lend your assistance."

Included in things asked was: "Immediate revaluation of all classes of property or in lieu thereof a proportional reduction of 33 1-3 per cent."

"For goodness sake don't hit a man when he's down," observed Mr. Stevens about this time. It was a very untimely observation for the Covert dander was up and there was another "bam" as the marshal's fist hit Stevens in the eye, laying him neatly alongside of Work on the floor.

Eye witnesses to the encounter were Attorney Davis and Miss Frances Hubbard but the noise of the fracas attracted others in the court house to the scene. They were too late, for the excitement was over. Janitor Haught was soon busy with a mop and broom removing the blood with which the floor was plentifully covered.

Dr. H. N. Norris was called to attend Mr. Work's wounds and also took several bottles of flavoring that were in Stevens' sample cases and analyzed them for alcohol. He found them innocent released from custody Saturday evening.

So far as action is concerned, that is about all there was to the affair. No charges were filed against Stevens and so far neither Stevens nor Work has preferred charges, either criminal or civil, against Marshal Covert.

Friday evening the marshal appeared before the city council at its regular meeting, and gave his version of the fracas. There was some sentiment on the council to ask for his resignation on the ground that he is too hot-headed for an officer but Mayor Wm. Moses quelled this with the statement that Covert was only obeying his orders. "If you want to blame somebody for what this man does don't blame him, blame me," the mayor is quoted as saying. Councilmen listened to Mayor Moses in silence and nothing more was said about the matter.

Whether the sequel to the Covert-Work Stevens fracas will be a suit for damages against the city remains to be seen. Reports that such a case or cases will be filed are current in Ord this week.

Bid-a-lot club met Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. August Peterson.

Friday Mrs. Herman Koelling of Mira Valley was in Ord and a guest of Mrs. Andy Cook.

Drives 800 Sheep Thru Storm To Ship Monday

North Loup, Feb. 7.—(Special)

Eight hundred head of sheep, the property of Rudolph Flaum, of Union Bluffs, were shipped out of here to the Omaha market Monday afternoon. Mr. Flaum, with several of his neighbors, drove the sheep eight miles through the storm Monday, just before the train left for the railroad by shipping time. They made very slow progress through the blizzard as the sheep wanted to stop and huddle together on account of the cold. At the beginning of the drive they were progressing at the rate of only one mile an hour. This was one of the largest herds of sheep ever shipped from North Loup.

TAX REDUCTION NEED OF STATE, LEAGUES STRESS

Ord Men Attend State Convention in Lincoln, C. E. Goodhand Brings Back Report.

Last Thursday the Nebraska State Taxpayers league met at the Lindell hotel in Lincoln, 150 delegates from the 93 counties of the state being present. Valley county was represented by C. E. Goodhand and A. W. Cornell, who were appointed delegates by Arthur Tensing, president of the Valley county league. To acquaint members of the league with the discussions held at Lincoln, Mr. Goodhand makes the following report:

"This organization met at the Lindell hotel, Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 2, 1932 with about 150 delegates present representing the 93 different counties of the state. We found these delegates to be a group of earnest representatives of the state, some of whom had made a thorough study of our taxation difficulties. It certainly does one good to rub shoulders with the class of men that this meeting called together."

"Below you will find a copy of the resolutions as passed by the State Taxpayers to be presented to the legislature. At the next meeting of the county league we will be pleased to give the details of argument pro and con on each resolution and will try to answer such questions as you may be interested in. I would suggest that our local league is now armed up as it should be. This is not strictly a business matter but a taxpayers' league. You business men (who are taxpayers) come out and lend your assistance."

Included in things asked was: "Immediate revaluation of all classes of property or in lieu thereof a proportional reduction of 33 1-3 per cent."

JOHN W. MASON IS SUMMONED FRIDAY EVENING

Pioneer Valley County Farmer Goes To Reward at Age of 78; Funeral Held Monday.

Funeral services were held here Monday for John W. Mason, 78-year-old Valley county pioneer, who died at his home southwest of Ord at 6 o'clock Friday evening. He had been in ill health for a year, following an attack of pneumonia, and was bedridden for seven weeks before his death.

Mr. Mason came from Valley county more than forty-five years ago, working here for a few months and then returning to Cresco, Ia., where on May 26, 1886 he had married Miss Cora May Hayes, who died at his home southwest of Ord at 6 o'clock Friday evening. He had been in ill health for a year, following an attack of pneumonia, and was bedridden for seven weeks before his death.

Mr. Mason's home in Valley county more than forty-five years ago, working here for a few months and then returning to Cresco, Ia., where on May 26, 1886 he had married Miss Cora May Hayes, who died at his home southwest of Ord at 6 o'clock Friday evening. He had been in ill health for a year, following an attack of pneumonia, and was bedridden for seven weeks before his death.

He had taken a timber claim in the Mira Valley district, later settling on the land. He had there he constructed the family's first home in Nebraska, a sod house. This house was on the site of the present Mason home, on the farm where Mr. Mason resided continuously and where he died.

He had brought from Iowa many shrubs and bushes to set out at the new home. Although most of them died, a few are still to be seen at the farm. During Mr. Mason's early years on his Mira Valley farm he frequently worked for other farmers to add to the scanty income from his own land. His pay in those days usually was in the form of food or materials to be used in developing his timber claim.

In recent years he had not been actively engaged in farming, although he maintained his interest in activities of the farm, being for the past 25 years engaged in livestock feeding in partnership with his sons.

Mrs. Mason preceded her husband in death on Jan. 1920. They were born six children, five of whom survive: Charles, John and Archie, all of whom live near Ord; Mrs. Bess Miller, of Fort Ricker, of Dubois, Wyo. One son, Earl Benjamin Mason, passed away in infancy.

John William Mason was born at Fort Henry, N. H., on July 3, 1854, being 77 years and 7 months of age when he died. He was the son of Benjamin and Mary Elizabeth Mason, who had emigrated from England shortly before his birth. He was one of a family of nine children.

One sister, Mrs. Eliza Miller, of Milbank, S. D., survives. He also leaves five grandchildren, Darlene and Leon Mason, of Ord; Cora Ruth Cushing, of Fort Collins, Colo.; and Jimmie Miller, of Fort Collins, Colo. A number of nieces and nephews also survive.

Mr. Mason, besides being intensely devoted to his family, always took an interest in public affairs, although seldom participating actively. He had served a county supervisor and as a member of the school board of his district. Early in life he was baptized into the Episcopal church and was in Ord cemetery. Music was by a male quartet composed of Dr. F. L. Blessing, J. R. Stoltz, Everett Petty and Ed Mower, with Mrs. R. J. Cushing at the piano.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon with the Rev. Charles F. Wanz officiating, assisted by Rev. E. C. Cushing of the Ord Methodist church. Burial was in Ord cemetery. Music was by a male quartet composed of Dr. F. L. Blessing, J. R. Stoltz, Everett Petty and Ed Mower, with Mrs. R. J. Cushing at the piano.

All of Mr. Mason's children except Mrs. Ricker were present at the funeral. From Fort Collins, Colo., came Mr. and Mrs. James R. Miller and their two sons, a nephew, Joseph H. Miller, of Fort Collins, Colo., came a nephew, Dejos Bell.

Ord Takes Rough Game at Costcock

Coach Molzen's Ord basketball team emerged victorious in a hard fought game at Costcock last Friday evening, the score being 17 to 15. It was a rough battle with each fouling done by both sides a Costcock referee being unable to handle the situation. North Loup was scheduled to play here Tuesday evening but because of the storm the game was postponed until Saturday.

Huff Wins Bull Case. County Judge J. O. Andersen Monday decided the Huff-Clark bull case in favor of Howard and Lee Huff, ordering Mrs. I. C. Clark to pay them $50 in lieu of the dead bull. The case was tried in county court last Wednesday. Judge Andersen reserving decision.

Irrigation Meet Postponed. An irrigation meeting, scheduled to be held in North Loup last night at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. J. O. F. Hall, has been postponed because of the severe weather. It will be held at the I. O. F. hall there next Wednesday evening.

Bee-News Insurance To Be Withdrawn

If you want the insurance you will have to subscribe for it before your Bee-News subscription before that date. You can still get the Daily and Sunday Bee-News for 14 months for $5 with the free insurance. Let the Quiz have your subscription now.

Omaha Man Fined. Harry Mallo, of Omaha, a representative of a well known bonding company, was taken into custody last Wednesday evening by Night Marshal Roy Farquhar on a charge of intoxication, paying a fine of $15 and costs.

MERCURY DROPS TO 22 TUESDAY, BLIZZARD RAGES

No Relief in Sight As Winter's Coldest Spell Continues; Schools Closed.

"Fair and colder" is the weather prospect for Valley county today following three days of the winter's most severe weather. Though the mercury was slightly warmer than the two preceding days weather forecasters hold out little hope for continued moderation, as a storm from Alaska is reported to be on the way and due to strike here today.

Monday, with a 35-mile wind raging, snow falling and the temperature below zero, was the most severe day of the winter and probably the coldest day in several years. The storm continued throughout Monday night and Tuesday, the wind moderating Tuesday evening.

The official low temperature was 22 below zero Tuesday morning and 19 below zero Wednesday morning, according to Horace Travis' government registering thermometer but a lot of people are willing to swear that the mercury was slightly lower. The lowest as privately owned thermometers registered as low as 37 below zero. The highest temperature Tuesday was 14 below and the highest today was 2 below.

ORD CITY WILL ASK FOR BIDS ON DIESEL ENGINE

Oil Burning Equipment Would Save City $10,000 Per Year, So Council Plans Change.

Acting on figures proving that to replace the Ord electric plant's present steam equipment with the latest type of Diesel engine would result in a saving of $10,000 or more per year in the cost of producing electric energy, the city council at its meeting last Friday evening decided to advertise for bids on this type of equipment. If satisfactory bids are received, it is planned to install the new equipment next summer. It is thought that the cost of a Diesel engine with an addition of the electric plant to house it, will be in the neighborhood of $35,000.

The city council is not going into this matter blindly because councilmen know from past experience that mistakes are costly and that careful consideration of all facts avoids mistakes. With full appreciation of these points, the Ord council engaged the firm of Black & Veatch, of Kansas City, consulting engineers with a national reputation to study the electric situation in Ord.

These engineers were asked to determine the need for additional improvements, to outline the most economical type of future improvements and to recommend methods of cutting operating costs in the present plant.

This action was taken more than two years ago and on Jan. 4, 1931 the engineers filed a report in which they compared with the present low pressure, non-condensing engine-driven equipment or the addition of a modern steam turbine for operation at the present pressures and temperatures.

A Diesel-driven generating unit would save over $10,000 per year in fuel costs.

An authoritative pamphlet compiled recently by the government makes a thorough comparison of steam plants and Diesel engines and says that the steam engine in medium sizes delivers a mere 7 per cent of useful energy compared with the Diesel engine.

MRS. B. BOQUET PASSES SUNDAY IN HILLCREST

Wife of Ord Hotel Owner Succumbs After Long Illness, Will Be Buried in Omaha.

After a wasting illness of several weeks duration Mrs. B. C. Boquet of Ord passed away at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, February 5, at Hillcrest hospital where she had been taken four days before for medical treatment. Her death was a great shock to friends who had known of her illness but had not known that her condition was so serious. Respected and loved by a host of friends, Mrs. Boquet's death is a stunning blow to the community.

Born April 19, 1879 in St. Louis, Mo., the daughter of Sidney and Mary Wetherell, Lillian A. Wetherell was united in marriage to B. C. Boquet at St. Louis on April 28, 1904. The sexton of the Ord cemetery, Mrs. Boquet was born to them, Dorothy Jane and Bert, Jr., both of Ord. Besides her husband and children Mrs. Boquet is mourned also by two sisters, Mrs. L. H. Cummings and Mrs. J. C. Murphy, of Ord, and one brother, Mr. C. Wetherell, of Fort Worth, Texas.

After living in St. Louis and in Omaha for several years, Mr. and Mrs. Boquet came to Ord eleven years ago and purchased the Transient House, changing the name to the Boquet Hotel. Mrs. Boquet assisted her husband in the management of the hotel from the Standard filling station, most of the details of management were in her charge.

Mrs. Boquet was a prominent member of the Christian Science church. She was also a member of the Eastern Star lodge. Services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 7, in the Sowl funeral parlors with Walter Nell, first reader of the Ord Christian Science Society in charge. Mrs. Lucille Tolen was soloist. The body was then taken to Omaha for services and interment was made in Forest Lawn cemetery there at 11:45 a. m. yesterday.

Jens C. Jorgensen Dies At Age of 61

Jens C. Jorgensen, 61-year-old resident of Ord, passed away at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning as a result of pneumonia and funeral services were held at Frazier's chapel at 2 p. m. yesterday, burial being made in Ord cemetery. Born Feb. 28, 1871 in Denmark, Mr. Jorgensen had made his home in Ord for the past fourteen years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Myrtle Jorgensen.

Crowd Braves Cold To Attend 45th Firemen's Ball

It was cold outdoors Tuesday evening—20 degrees below zero—but inside the Bohemian hall was warm and jolly, light and laughter, for it was the 45th annual ball of the Ord Volunteer Fire Department and it was one of the most successful in history.

Fire Chief A. J. Shirley led the grand march in all his glory and every couple in the hall took part in it. Firemen were in uniform, women wore their loveliest dresses for the occasion. Everett Sticher, as caller for the quadrilles, made a big hit and these old time dances seemed to be enjoyed even more than the modern dances. They were taken part in by the whole crowd, old folks and young ones too.

Firemen say that the dance was a financial as well as a social success.

CITY EMPLOYEES VOLUNTEER TAKE PAY CHECK CUT

Ord Will Save About $100 Monthly As Result of Offer Made To Council Friday.

Appearing before the Ord city council at its meeting last Friday evening, a committee representing all employees of the City of Ord presented an offer to take a voluntary cut in their salaries in the amounts ranging from 5 per cent to 12 1-2 per cent. The proposal was accepted by the council and the reduced wage scale goes into effect at once.

George Allen, city light and water commissioner, is affected to the greatest degree by the voluntary cut. He has been paid $225 per month; henceforth he will receive $200.

Miss Lucinda Thorne, as city bookkeeper, will be paid $90 per month in future instead of $100. Chester Austin, lineman, will be paid $95 instead of $100. His helper, W. L. Frederick will be paid $50 per hour instead of $40.

The three city engineers, Anton Johnson, Harry Dye and Jis Mortensen, participate in the voluntary cut. Mr. Johnson's salary of $130 per month being reduced to $115. Mr. Dye being reduced from $115 to $105 and Mr. Mortensen being reduced from $110 to $100.

Marshal L. H. Covert, who has been paid $30 per month in the past, volunteered to take $35 in future. The $85 per month salary of Night Marshal Roy Farquhar, the $25 per month salary of Janitor Ira Lindsey and the $25 per month salary of Fire Chief A. J. Shirley will remain unchanged.

Mayor Wm. Moses, not to be outdone by the city employees, volunteered to reduce his pay of $50 per quarter to $47.50 and the salary of councilmen was reduced from $4.00 per meeting to $3.50 per meeting. The city treasurer, W. C. H. Noll, was reduced from $37.50 per quarter to $36 and the city attorney, Ralph W. Norman, from $50 per quarter to $47.50. The sexton of the Ord cemetery, W. H. Barnard, has been paid $75.00 for the six winter months of each year and $125 for the six summer months. In future his wage will be $70 per month during the winter and $115 during the summer. The city clerk's salary of $31.25 per quarter remains unchanged.

All of these pay cuts were entirely voluntary and the aggregate saving to the city will be in excess of $100 per month.

John Wozab, sr., 93 years old, died last Thursday at his home in Wilber, Neb., and funeral services were held there Saturday, the body then being taken to Omaha to be cremated. Just a few months ago Mr. Wozab and his wife, the former Mary Sinfelt, celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary. For about fifteen years the Wozabs lived in Ord and a grandson of the deceased, John, lives here now. Mr. Wozab is survived by his widow, one son, John Jr., and one daughter, Mrs. Emma Barta, who for years has cared for her aged parents. Another son, Joe, died twenty years ago.

Couple Wed in Sargent. Miss Alice Polak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Polak, and Edwin Dunlap, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dunlap, were married at 11 a. m. Tuesday in Sargent by Father Thies, leaving at once on a trip to Omaha and other places. They were attended at the wedding by Miss Antonia and Stephen Polak and by the Misses Alice and Anne Novotny. Upon returning from Omaha Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap will be at home to their many friends in Ord, where Edwin conducted a radio repair shop.

Quarterly Conference Sunday. Second quarterly conference services will be held Sunday evening, Feb. 12, in the Ord United Brethren church. Dr. A. P. Vanlice, of York, will preach.

High Boys Have Dinner. Ord high school H-I-Y boys enjoyed a dinner and business meeting at Thorne's cafe Wednesday evening, Feb. 12, in the presence of Rev. H. H. Spracklen being the principal speaker and giving a patriotic address.

ORD MEN VISIT TOWLE, GET O. K. ON IRRIGATION

R. F. C. Head Gives Encouragement To Power-Water Project In North Loup Valley.

Encouraging news in regard to the possibility of a hydro-electric and irrigation project in the North Loup valley was brought back from Omaha Tuesday by Bert M. Hardenbrook and Roy Balley, who went there to interview John W. Towle as representative of the Ord Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Towle is Nebraska chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and has said in such reports as he has shown the project to be feasible and he thinks there is little doubt that the R. F. C. would loan money to carry it out.

In order to explain the project fully, Messrs. Hardenbrook and Balley, who are members of the Chamber's irrigation committee, have prepared the following statement in regard to their interview with Mr. Towle and we hope that every person in the valley between Burwell and North Loup will read it fully:

"The Reconstruction Finance Corporation authorized by act of congress in 1932 has about one billion dollars which it offers to prospective applicants for loans for self-liquidating projects under the Emergency Relief Construction Act. The real object of the act is to furnish money for engineering projects which are feasible, self-liquidating and will furnish labor for the unemployed at this time and for projects which tend to conserve the natural resources of the area affected. Under the act a restriction is placed as to labor. Convict labor cannot be used, ex-service men are given a preference. Unless it is absolutely necessary to complete a project in a given time the thirty hour week is established and by inference local labor is given the preference. The act itself deals in generalities.

John W. Towle, 400 Peters Trust Building, Omaha, Nebraska, is the chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for Nebraska. As yet no loans have been made in Nebraska. In fact, to this date, this phase of the act has been little used. In order to meet the requirements of this act it is first necessary to organize a corporation which will borrow the required amount of money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. That corporation, in no manner, can provide for the repayment of the loan through taxation. They must provide for the repayment of the loan through revenues from the project. Power plants with irrigation that the organization meets with the following specifications: a feasible power site, a river with the required amount of water whose flow does not vary materially from month to month during the year.

"The company makes its own arrangements as to borrowing the money for the project, selling its energy and its water for irrigation purposes but in order to secure the money it is necessary to show that it will be self-liquidating. The federal statutes makes provision for repayment in ten years, however, it also makes further provision that that time may be extended.

Tells of Chicago Trip. Charlie Barnhart, a member of the Valley county crops judging team that won the national championship at the International Livestock show in Chicago last fall, was guest speaker at the Ord Rotary club's dinner Monday evening. Other members of the team, Valerian Clochon and Bud Brickner, had expected to attend but could not get to Ord because of the storm. Charlie described the trip to Chicago.

M. E. Junior Choir Will Give Program

The Junior Choir of the Ord Methodist church, directed by Mrs. Mearl O. Smith, will make its first appearance next Sunday evening at 7:30 in a program of negro spirituals, jubilee songs and patriotic numbers. The date, Feb. 12, being Lincoln's birthday is used throughout the nation as a negro-patriotic occasion and the entire service Sunday evening will be in keeping with the date. A sermon on "Way Down South in the Land of Cotton" illustrated with stereopticon slides, will follow the musical program. Special numbers in the Junior Choir's part of the service will include a baritone solo by Don Auble, a duet by Betsy and Keith Kovanda, a solo by Edwin Jirak and a quartet number by Carolyn Auble, Patty Achen, Max McLaughlin and Don Auby. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

High Boys Have Dinner. Ord high school H-I-Y boys enjoyed a dinner and business meeting at Thorne's cafe Wednesday evening, Feb. 12, in the presence of Rev. H. H. Spracklen being the principal speaker and giving a patriotic address.

THE RED CROSS FLOUR. Just after the Quiz was published last week a curious letter came to our desk. It said:

"Can you tell us in your paper where the load of flour that was appropriated for the needy went to? Or has the Chamber of Commerce made a sale? Tell us."

We suppose this anonymous letter refers to the Farm Board flour that was allocated to the Valley County Red Cross, though when the writer got the idea that the Ord Chamber of Commerce had anything to do with the transaction we cannot say. It should be sufficient to say that neither the Chamber of Commerce nor any Ord business had anything whatever to do with this flour. It was a transaction between the Farm Board and the Red Cross, with the national Red Cross allotting a car load of flour to the Valley County Red Cross for local use.

Now as the present whereabouts of the flour. To the editor's best knowledge, it is as present stored in a room in the basement of the Valley county court house. At least that portion of it that hasn't yet been distributed to the needy is so stored. It is issued to needy families upon application to either the Ord Welfare Board, to the chairman of the Valley county board of supervisors, to County Clerk E. K. Kenna, or to any supervisor of Valley county.

We trust that this will furnish the information that the anonymous letter writer seeks.

WE PAY OUR TAXES.

What percentage of last year's taxes do you think have been paid in Valley county?

County Treasurer George Satterfield asked the Quiz editor that question when he visited his office this week. After considering the question for a moment, thinking about all the agitation for tax reduction there has been and still is, and reflecting that the farm income of today is but a fraction of normal, we made a guess. Our guess was so far short of the mark that we are asking Quiz readers the same question, with confidence that few will answer it correctly.

About 90 per cent of last year's taxes have been paid, Mr. Satterfield says. "But surely city people have paid their taxes better than country people. The percentage up," we stated. Imagine our surprise when we learned that this is not the case. Farmers, as a rule have paid their taxes in better shape than have the residents of the towns of Valley county.

And when one comes to consider the matter, it is not so surprising that such a large percentage of 1931 taxes were paid when they became due. Because they were paid before the tax reduction was needed, they do not need to be paid in any better financial shape than general conditions would indicate. It simply proves that taxes are paid even though other bills are permitted to slide along, even though the property owner, to pay them, must go without many things that he really needs. The penalties for non-payment of taxes—first, high interest and, second, loss of property by sale—are too severe for people to permit taxes to go unpaid whenever it is possible to pay them.

Recent figures show that our national income in 1932 was 40 billion dollars. Our national tax total was 15 billion. In other words, 1 out of every 2.3 dollars of the income of every individual in the country went to pay the costs of government. While the statistics are not available to make the comparison, it is not unlikely that tax costs in Valley county are about the same as in the national—would closely approximate the national figures in relation to our income.

If our income could be increased without a corresponding increase in tax expense, business would be bound to improve. If tax expense could be lowered without a decrease in income, business would improve also. In one of these two courses lies our hope of future prosperity.

A SPECIALIST NEEDED.

Louis Alteris, come to Ord if you want a grand opportunity to practice your chosen profession.

Mr. Alteris, be it known, is a black-eyes-made-to-look-like-new specialist, and in the public prints he laments the present scarcity of black eyes in these prohibition days.

Speaking of those halcyon B. P. days Mr. Alteris laments: "Ah, those were the days. They would line up every Monday morning and wait for hours. And what beautiful black eyes they would have. And I was the only one who could fix 'em up so they could go on a date or go to the office. Now what do they have? Speak-ers fight? Bah! No good. They either shoot 'em or kick 'em. No black eyes."

Not in many years have so many fights taken place in Ord as this winter, whether because of the effect of the depression upon men's nerves or because prohibition apparently is on its way out. A crop of black eyes is the result in almost every fight. Mr. Alteris, come to Ord. Maybe we can't keep you busy but you can keep your hand in here until those old-time fall-down bar-room shiners are back again.

SELF SERVICE. Many good folk are lamenting the passing of the era when men and women consecrated their lives to unselfish service and prepared themselves to become ministers, missionaries, teachers or country doctors that they might administer to the spiritual, mental and physical need of humanity without thought of large worldly gain. They are not in error when they charge that modern men and women are choosing vocations today in which they can do the greatest service to themselves.

People of today are coming to the belief that the best way they can help their neighbors is to produce much that their profits shall be large and that they shall never become dependent upon society. The old idea of service was direct. The new service is indirect. Twenty years ago it was still thought that only ministers, doctors and teachers served humanity. Today every workman who carries his whole day's wage home is known to have earned that wage in service to society.

Albert Hubbard's version of the Golden Rule was "Do unto others as though you were the others," and the version of the Golden Rule is "Do yourself much good and no bad to others." Getting something for yourself is reprehensible only when it is obtained at the expense of another.—News, Austin, Minn.

FREE TUITION COSTS. Should the present free tuition allowance of $108 per pupil be continued in Nebraska or should it, as the Taxpayers' league suggests and as several bills now before the state legislature propose, be cut drastically?

Two weeks ago the Quiz discussed this subject editorially and since then it has been interesting to hear the flood of comment that has resulted. Today there came to the editor's desk a little booklet issued by the State Superintendent of Schools which goes into this subject in a thorough manner, presenting the results of a survey on high school costs conducted recently by that department.

Questionnaires were sent to 222 high schools in Nebraska and the information contained in the replies gives basis for the belief that, unless school costs in Nebraska are lowered by a considerable amount, the cause of education will be dealt a severe blow if a drastic cut is made in the $108 allowance per pupil.

Fifty-five schools of Ord's class answered this questionnaire, revealing an actual average per pupil cost in 1932-33 of $108.92. The cost varied from a low of $87.29 in South Sioux City to a high of $166.55 in Chadron. The reason for this great variation in individual schools is not given.

It is granted that the Valley county tax for free high school tuition, two mills in districts with no high school facilities and one mill in districts that offer a two year school course, is a heavy drain upon taxpayers. The only way in which this can be reduced to reduce the free tuition allowance, which will automatically result in a smaller tax for this purpose. But, as the Quiz pointed out before, if this allowance is reduced to a point lower than the high school cost per pupil, high schools will be compelled to refuse to accept free tuition students. We are sure that high school districts are willing to co-operate by cutting per pupil costs to the lowest possible point. We are also sure that nobody wants to see the allowance reduced to the point where rural students will be denied a high school education and it seems to the Quiz that there should be some common ground upon which low allowance advocates and believers in a better education can agree.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

The marketing of livestock by truck and by rail have been compared in recent studies made of the Omaha area by the state university.

Over one-third of the livestock sold at Omaha is brought by trucks. They are chosen for most of the hauls from territory within 40 miles of Omaha. 95 percent of the hogs raised within 40 miles of Omaha are trucked in. Railroads are preferred for hauls originating beyond 100 miles from market.

The much disputed matter of shrinkage cannot be decided in favor of either agency. Indications are that shrinkage is less by truck for short distances, and less by rail for the longer hauls. Statistics on shrinkage show little difference between the two types of transportation.

Trucking has several advantages over marketing by rail. It offers the convenience of having livestock loaded at the farm. It gives the small feeder with less than a carload the chance to get his stock to market without dealing with a local buyer, or waiting for neighbors to ship. And large feeders can haul a few animals off at a time as they are finished; this makes lots of more uniform quality and lessens the risk of striking a bad market.

Trucking also has certain disadvantages. It is going from farm to farm. Insurance against death or crippling is higher than by rail, because trucking has resulted in greater death losses. Somewhat higher yardage, commission, and selling charges are made on truck consignments. Buyers do not discriminate however; against trucked-in livestock.

There is some argument as to whether or not the taxes and fees paid by trucks are sufficient to cover added costs resulting from their use on the highway. Railroads provide their own right of way upon which taxes are paid. Truckers are sometimes criticized on account of the lack of fixed hauling charges or rates. The railroad rates are set and published, and can be changed only with the approval of certain governmental regulatory bodies. Increases in trucking rates are not always proportional to increases in rail rates. They are affected by roads, pick-up loads, return hauls, influence, competition and weather. But history reveals that railroads once passed through a period when unfair practices and discriminatory rates prevailed. To protect public interest, governmental regulation was deemed necessary. Perhaps some form of public supervision will be applied to the trucking industry in the future.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Hans Andersen has got a big black tom cat that he thinks a lot of. The cat has always been privileged to be in the store and has been greatly admired. Since moving to the new location however, Hans got the idea that the cat, perhaps, should be kept more in the background and the other day he was telling a friend that he no longer allowed the cat in the store. Hans had loaned the cat to a friend and thought he was safe out of the store. But just as Hans got done telling the friend how particular he was to keep the cat out of the store, there was a big sneeze under the counter and Mr. Andersen got up, sneezing himself. He had been enjoying a nap on a bale of paper sacks.

A couple of Chicago youths got in jail for stealing four saxophones. They should have been rewarded.

As I see it, Ord is most always long on talk and short on doing things, while our neighbors go ahead and get things done. Ord is centrally located in a great, inland empire and is by far the best town in central Nebraska. If Ord business people could form the habit of all pulling together, we would get some place.

If the legislature, while cutting the pay of everyone else, would trim their own salaries and expenses, then pass the necessary legislation and adjourn and go home a month earlier, they would be doing something to talk about.

If no one evaded a fair share of the tax, then everyone would have a fair deal and the burden would not be so great on those who now pay it.

I sure hope it is not true, as some newspapers assert, that President Roosevelt is favorable to cutting or canceling a large part of the foreign debt still owed to this country.

Figures show that it is costing the city of Ord right close to a thousand dollars a month to operate our municipal plant that it would be costing us if an oil burning Diesel engine had been bought instead of the last steam unit that was bought.

After a crowd of Farm Holiday men from counties east of there were called to Ericson last week to help a farmer who was being held in the county jail, the bank had investigated the facts in the case, they decided in favor of the bank. They found that the farmer had been and was being treated entirely fair, probably more than that they did but it was necessary to investigate the facts before arriving at a decision.

A Farm Holiday speaker the other day declared that the most of our financial troubles are laid at the door of the bankers of Wall street. His belief is that the international bankers planned and were responsible for the world war, the economic crisis and flush times incident to the war, gave the eastern financiers the chance to fleece the people of the country by selling them stocks and bonds galore, many of them not worth a cent on the dollar. We know this country was sapped of its money to a great extent by speculation. Of course no one had to buy. The fact remains, however, that it was the bankers who fostered through several years of ever advancing values, to get rich quick and easy, 98 per cent of the people didn't know what the hell was going on. A few did know, for it was just a case of history repeating itself. We will come out of it with a majority of those who are advanced in years, small in stature and in mind.

A young generation will prosper and probably forget these times before the next cycle of depression comes, and the same foolish plunging will be done over again with the same disastrous results. If, as Mr. Green, the speaker mentioned above, says, the war was planned by the great financiers, then when they plan the next war the people of the United States should refuse to go and fight but tell those who want the war to do the fighting. Whenever the world decides to conscript the money as well as the young men of the country in case of war, then there will be no more war.

It is my belief that every farmer in Valley county should join the Farm Holiday association. The, if congress don't quit frittering its time away, let the whole farm population strike. How long do you think it will take to bring about a change if that was done? And I hope several hundred Valley county farmers will go to Lincoln next week and join several hundred other farmers from each of the counties of Nebraska and tell our state law makers to get busy; do their duty and get home. With almost fifty per cent of the legislators farmers, there ought not to be a need for the Farm Holiday farmers to go to the trouble and expense of making the trip, but it seems to be necessary

Something Different

Mrs. Chapman, veteran Quiz reporter, says the boys and girls are having a wonderful time coasting down Hillcrest hill, getting a dandy fast start at the top, sliding down to Charlie Brown's place in less time than it takes to write this, turning the corner and often riding a block or two on the highway.

Going on, she reports, "The other day one boy saved himself by leaving his sled and plunging into a snow bank. If he had not done this the story would have had a sadder ending, as a man was driving his car up street and going a little faster than the law allows. There have been several near accidents on this street. Street protection is generally made on M street but often the blocks are pushed out of the road by automobile drivers."

I know the children have most thrillingly exciting times coasting and I don't blame them for wanting to do it.

And I know it is impossible to keep children from danger-laden pleasures like this hill-coasting.

But just the same, the street is put through traffic, and traffic in these days is rapid and therefore often dangerous to young sliders. A slippery hillside street is not the easiest place in the world to control a car, either, and badly as the children want to coast, it is not safe to hurt no one, the children run plenty of danger by coasting on the protected hill street without turning the corner on to the highway. Don't you agree with me? Please don't turn on to the highway, youngsters.

And how this town of Ord would rise up if a child were killed in a whirling and automobile collision! Whether the driver or the car "could help it" or not!

Some of the Ord young men who are very much about town have helped financially waded curbs, did you know that?

The reason they are so much about town is because they have nothing else to do, no job or anything. So they just have to help financially, you know, poor fellows. Like such and such, they do.

It takes this wind howling through the tree-tops to make one realize that it is winter.

But if you think the wind sweeps through this beautiful valley, you should move out to the panhandle region of Nebraska, where it is as level as your dinner plate, and get a good look at a fire roll up strength and power as they hurry across Montana and coast down the foothills of the Rockies.

People are frequently found blowing inside out. Once in a while an empty coat hole is discovered standing on top of the ground. Sometimes towns go to sleep in one county and next morning are across the line to the south. It's really quite disturbing to live out west in Nebraska.

Next year, if the Chamber of Commerce carries out its original design, the Christmas lighting of the square in Ord will be a sort of brilliant light show. The square, the house and square. Webs of gaudy globes will hang over the shoppers as they help Santa Claus.

Each year for the past several years, the gift list to the gay effect has been purchased, and as I understand it Christmas of 1933 is to see the final purchase made, the grand effect complete and a pleasing variety of food.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

I still feel that a lot of you owe me some recipes. If you like your Quiz calendar or derive any benefit from it, please pay your debt of gratitude by sending in to the cookery editor some of your proudest recipes. Thus others will enjoy them, you will pay your debt, and our tables will all show a pleasing variety of food.

Mix together one cup white sugar, one cup brown sugar, three well beaten eggs, one-half cup lard, one cup butter, four and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup chopped nuts, pinch of salt, make into long rolls and let stand overnight. Slice off in thin cookies in the morning and bake. They are delicious.

Mrs. James Sibal, Ogallala, WY.

Mix and sift together two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, then add one and one-half cups milk gradually, two well-beaten egg yolks, two tablespoons melted butter and lastly the beaten whites of two eggs. Thin out to the consistency of pancake batter, but not too thin. Serve with maple syrup.

Mrs. Seton Hanson, Steamboat, Blaine, Wash. Cream one-half cup butter and one cup sugar together, add two eggs, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, two-thirds cup of berries (juice drained off) and enough flour to make the batter about like cake. Steam one and one-half hours without lifting cover. This recipe will serve about twelve. Serve with this sauce:

Mix one cup sugar, butter size of an egg, one cup berry juice, one cup boiling water, one heaping tablespoon flour. Let boil several minutes and add as you remove from the fire one tablespoon vinegar.

Mrs. Dwight Griswold, Gordon, Neb.

Then here comes a woman whose conscience I have aroused, writing: "Seeing your request for recipes this week, and as I have had the benefit of the colyum ever since it started and never have contributed I'll send along a few. One recipe I think would be useful at the present time is a good recipe for soap, this time of year when patches are hatching and have the soap material. I have found this a very good process and not so hard as some."

Laundry Soap, I use an iron boiler that sets on my stove, put sixteen quarts of water in it, add two cans of lye and stir until dissolved. Add eight pounds of cracklings and stir until thoroughly mixed. Let stand two or three days, stirring occasionally. Place on stove and boil for one and one-half hours. Remove from stove, let cool and cut in bars.

Mrs. O. Stowbley, Arcadia, Mo. Sour Cream Cookies. Combine one and one-half cups sugar, one cup lard, one cup sour cream, one scant teaspoon soda (in the cream), three eggs, two teaspoons baking powder, vanilla as desired, enough flour to stiffen. Angeline Kochonowski, Rt. 3.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. Dist. 59 community was shocked by the sudden death of Mrs. Charles A. Mason, who left six children, the oldest only twelve.

The Ord Mercantile company made its first trip on the Ord branch February 1. Patrons were objecting to this kind of service and were asking the railroad to put the steam train back on.

Editor Haskell went to Lincoln with a group of Ord men and expected to accompany the Currie expedition to the gold fields of Mexico. However, he went to University Place to visit his daughter for a few hours and the trolley line had a break down while he was there. Consequently, he missed the special train to Mexico and returned to Ord.

The Ord Mercantile company opened its new grocery department. Seeing a lot of teams and wagons making for the Ord Lumber & Coal company office, somebody got the idea of starting a fire alarm. The fire department was on the job at once and asked where the fire was. Uncle Dan Burke, scoop shovel in hand, came out to say there wasn't any fire, that it was just a bunch of orders for the kind of coal that burnt the water while the hired girl laced her shoes. A good time was had by all.

20 Years Ago This Week. Mrs. Tom McClatchey was installed as chief of the Tribes of Ben Hur at its annual meeting. Flora Nelson was past chief.

The Methodist church building was about completed and the painters, Banister and Norman, expected to finish their work by the end of the week.

Ed and Mrs. Elmer Brown, who had been living in Oklahoma for nine years, arrived for a surprise visit with Ord relatives.

W. T. McLain, who went away to make an undertaking course, entered this business in Ord and announced through the Quiz that his stock of caskets would be kept at the Economy store and his hearse at Jassett's livery barn.

The book, whose cover was badly hurt in the barbed wire a few days before, had to have one finger removed by Dr. Shepard.

Woodman Hall

About twenty-five eighth grade pupils from surrounding districts took the county examinations in the upper rooms at the Woodman Hall, which were formerly the rooms of the Geranium high school. Our county superintendent, Miss Clara McClatchey, gave the examinations there. The pupils from Ord school who took them are Misses Lillian Moravec, Rosie Hrebec and Alice Mathouser.

Mrs. John Parkos is the first in the neighborhood to have little chicks we believe. She has over a hundred.

The marriage of Miss Alice Polak of Geranium and Edwin Dunlap of Ord will take place at the Geranium church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nevrlka and Mr. and Mrs. John Parkos gave card parties at their homes a week ago. High five was played and prizes were given. A large crowd of friends were present at both places.

The Joe Cernik family plan to move this week. The Cernik family has lived here for many years and we are very sorry to see them go. They are moving to a farm near Ord.

Quite a few members of the Farmers Union Oil company from this neighborhood attended their annual meeting at Sargent last Thursday.

Thomas Waldmann left for Omaha Monday morning where he is taking treatments from an eye specialist there.

Rifle "Checkk" Box. Members of the Knights of Pythis lodge are much concerned over the question of how prowlers or marauders are gaining entrance to the lodge rooms. The "checkk" box in which small sums of money are kept has been rifled several times recently. The last time being on Sunday evening.

A Romance of the North Woods

By Harold Titus
W.N.U. SERVICE

But John Belknap, leaning back in his chair now, gave no heed to Landford Jasper's interpretation of philosophical theory. After what his father had done to him yesterday, young John was ready to believe anything. He had known of wars waged by old Tom against competitors; he had always thought them waged on fair terms. But here was a conflict apparently unfair, unwarranted. Shooting, a man, evidently attested to its ruthlessness, and John's temper drove him headlong into an acceptance of that belief. Headlong and gladly. As good as a blow in the mouth this had been. He had been kept away from Kampefest after heading towards it these years.

Why? What reason? Because old Tom did not want him to know what was going on? Because he knew that John would have demanded an about-face?

The building was divided into halves by a cold hallway. A single incandescent, dusty and weak with service, was set in the ceiling. Its light was not good, but a room to the left had better illumination, and on the glazed glass of the door was painted the word Manager.

John stamped snow from his feet on a husk rug, but as he started for this evidently occupied office, the sound of a voice arrested him. A man was talking swiftly, quietly, and he stopped, not wanting to intrude at an inopportune time, but impatient at the delay.

The voice went on: "... and my offer stands! I'm helpless to help the Richards company in any other way, but I will buy, at that price, the entire property, timber, railroad and mill!"

"Perhaps this offer seems small, but look at what is going to happen if you try to keep on alone! I'm a partner with Tom Belknap,"

ORMSBY PETTY DIES SATURDAY; ILL FOUR YEARS

Leakage of the Heart Results
In Death of Respected Ord
Man; Funeral Monday.

Ormsby Petty, a respected resident of Valley county during most of his fifty-two years, passed away at his home in Ord at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, February 11, after an illness of almost four years with leakage of the heart, complicated by other troubles. He was bedfast for the last few weeks of his life.

Born May 27, 1861, in Valley, the son of George and Elizabeth Petty, Ormsby's boyhood was spent on the farm and much of his life was spent in farming.

At Grand Island on Nov. 23, 1905 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Robinson, who cared for him tenderly throughout his last illness and who is left to mourn his loss. No children were born to them but he is survived by two sisters and three brothers. They are Mrs. Rhoda Manchester, of North Loup, Mrs. Louise Bell, of Hastings, John Petty, of Camden, N. D., Wm. B. Petty, of Hastings, and E. H. Petty, of Ord.

Leaving the farm to enter the oil business in Ord, Mr. Petty later moved to North Platte and operated gasoline stations there and at Hershey for four years. The only years of his life that were spent outside of Valley county. When his health began to fail he returned to Ord and became associated with the C. A. Hager Company in the insurance business, which he followed as long as he was able.

Always interested in athletics, Ormsby was an able baseball player in his youth and served as pitcher on several Ord baseball teams. He was also much in demand from playing umpire after he retired from playing.

He was a cheerful, happy disposition and even after his health failed, he retained his interest in life and in the affairs of life.

He was a devout member of the Presbyterian church and was a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge, which fraternal order assisted in the funeral services held at 10 o'clock Monday morning at the Ord Presbyterian church with Rev. L. M. Real in charge. Pall bearers were Robert Noll, Carl Sorenson, Dr. J. W. McGinnis, Lloyd Benjamin, C. A. Hager and A. W. Pierce. Mrs. M. J. Tolen sang beautifully "Some Morning, Oh Some Morning" and a quartet composed of Mrs. Tolen, Mrs. Jos. P. Barta, Dr. F. L. Blessing and J. R. Stoltz sang two numbers. Interment was in North Loup cemetery, where Mr. Petty's parents are buried.

In Ormsby Petty's passing Ord loses a man who was known and loved by old and young alike and whose memory will be revered.

Honored At Shower.
About eighty friends and relatives were present Sunday evening at a shower given in the Joe Kapuska home honoring Miss Eva Sobon, who is to become the bride of Anton Kapuska on February 20. Many beautiful gifts were presented to the bride-to-be. The evening was spent in playing cards and visiting and lunch was served at a late hour.

Noble Twp. To Meet.
A meeting to organize a Farmers Holiday association in Noble township will be held at the school house there at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening. The quiz is asked to announce. Permanent officers will be elected at this time.

New 3c Postage Stamp Is Issued
A new 3-cent postage stamp has just been issued in commemoration of the founding of the colony of Georgia 200 years ago. The stamp was placed on sale at Savannah, Ga., on Feb. 13 and at Washington, D. C. and all post offices in Georgia on Feb. 14. Other postoffices will be supplied as soon as possible.

The stamp is the same size as the recent Penn and Webster stamps, 75-100 inch by 87-100 inch. The stamp is printed in purple ink without border. The main subject of the stamp is a likeness of General Oglethorpe dressed in coat of armor. Across the top is a line of Roman letters "United States Postage," and in each lower corner is a large white Roman numeral "3" enclosed in an upright rectangular panel with tinted face and narrow border. The word "Cents" is in white Roman letters on a narrow panel. On white ribbon above the base panel in Gothic letters is the name "General Oglethorpe." On either side of the head are the dates arranged perpendicularly "1733" on the left and "1933" on the right.

Friday Billy Bartley left for Fort Morgan, Colo. where his father, Harry Bartley, has purchased a furniture store. Billy will assist in the store. He has been here most of the winter with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ramsey.

Bobby Guggenmos May Lose Eyesight

Bobby Guggenmos, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Guggenmos of the Rosevale neighborhood, may lose the sight of one eye as the result of an accident last Tuesday when the little boy was struck in the eye by the point of a pair of scissors. His father and Dave Guggenmos took Bobby to an eye specialist in Grand Island Wednesday, returning home Sunday with the word that there is some hope that the sight may be saved. It will be necessary to make several more trips to Grand Island before it is known definitely whether his sight can be saved or not.

Hugh Ward To Omaha.
Hugh Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Ward, was taken to Omaha last Friday by his parents and James Taylor and Monday he was admitted to the University hospital for treatment. He has for several weeks been suffering with blood poisoning in one leg. His mother is staying in Omaha to be near him.

NEW ORDINANCE NEEDED BEFORE BUYING DIESEL

Council Learns That Advertising For Bids Must Be Delayed; Allen O. K.'s Irrigation.

That a new ordinance must be published before bids on a Diesel engine may legally be sought is the discovery made last week by the Ord city council and to sweep away legal difficulties now holding up the project, a special session of the council was held Tuesday evening and a new ordinance drafted.

The new ordinance, which is published on another page of today's Quiz, gives Mayor Moses and the city council necessary authority to advertise for bids. It will be published three weeks before final adoption and the advertisement for bids on a 300-K. W. Diesel engine will be started immediately thereafter. Since this advertisement must be published three weeks to conform with legal requirements, it will be at least six weeks and probably seven before the Diesel engine may be bought.

Ord people generally are said to be favoring purchase of a Diesel, under the impression that there will be a reduction of light rates. There is some opposition, of course, but the general comment so far seems to be favorable toward this progressive step.

Much comment appears regarding possible development of the North Loup river for hydro-electric power and irrigation. It has been suggested that purchase of a Diesel engine should be held up pending developments along this line, on the possibility that Ord could purchase cheap electricity developed by a hydro-electric plant.

Finch Child Faints From Gasoline Fumes

Last Friday, while she was preparing to wash, Mrs. George Finch had scary that she will not soon forget. She had three burners of her gasoline stove lighted and as the gas had run low in the tank, the stove was throwing off a strong odor. The kitchen is small and Russell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Finch, was playing around on the floor. Looking around, Mrs. Finch saw that the little fellow was lying on the floor limp and almost unconscious. She picked him up and rushed him to Dr. Kirby McGrew's office but before they reached there Russell was revived by the fresh air. He had fainted from the effects of gas thrown off by the stove.

Ida Moss Married.
County Judge John L. Andersen was called upon Saturday to unite in marriage a former Ord young lady to a Garfield county farmer when Mrs. Ida L. Moss, 33, became the bride of Harry B. Ballard, 47. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Leonora Moss, now of Burwell. She has been a teacher for several years.

P. E. O. met Monday evening with Mrs. M. D. Bell. After business meeting the ladies enjoyed an evening of group singing led by Mrs. Jos. P. Barta. Songs were divided into three groups. Church, home and old time songs. Mrs. Edna M. Dabney Hallen served nice refreshments.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Norris were in Omaha for a few days this week.

FARM HOLIDAY ASS'N TO MEET HERE SATURDAY

County-Wide Gathering To Be Held At Ord Opera House, Hear Reports of Delegates.

A county-wide meeting of the Farmers Holiday Association of Valley County will be held at the Ord opera house this coming Saturday, February 18, at 2 p. m., announces President Arthur Mensing today. The meeting is an important one inasmuch as delegates to the state convention in Lincoln will be present and make reports.

Two township meetings also are scheduled, one at the school house in Noble township at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Feb. 17 and the other at Cottonwood school in Vinton township next Monday evening, February 20. This is the third meeting Vinton has scheduled, the other two being called off because of storms.

Four Valley county Farm Holiday members have been delegated to be in Lincoln today to take part in the demonstration at the state house, Secretary Coats reports. They are Sam Roe, Frank Petka, Jr., A. J. Adamak and Arthur McLain. Several other farmers of this county, not officially delegated, also have planned to be in Lincoln today. President Mensing may make the trip.

Elyria township has completed its permanent organization with Frank Peterson, Jr., as president, Anton Weisak secretary and Joe Kusek treasurer, the secretary says, and Ord township elected Burr Robbins president and Emil Vodehnal secretary. Springdale organized under the leadership of President Arthur McLain as secretary and Frank Wiget as treasurer.

E. F. Paddock, president of the North Loup township organization, reports that while not many members were secured at the meeting held there recently he has since signed up a number and that another meeting will be called soon.

Secretary Coats urges all Farm Holiday township organizations to report names of officers to him as soon as they are elected, in order that reports to State Secretary Andrew Dahlsten, of Newman Grove, may be made promptly.

It is desirable that every farmer in Valley county attend the Ord meeting Saturday, say President Mensing and Secretary E. S. Coats.

MUSIC PUPILS ABLY PRESENT FINE OPERETTA

Ord High School Classes Present
"The Lucky Jade" Wednesday Eve to Goodly Crowd.

An unusually good and polished performance of the musical comedy, "The Lucky Jade" was given at the high school auditorium last evening at eight o'clock, being presented by a fine cast, several good choruses, and with the diligent efforts of Mr. Duncan of the music department and much practice on the part of the singers and actors. The story has to do with the lucky ear of a little jade doll which brought marvelous prophetic powers and good fortune to its possessor who was set in a background of wealth with the familiar beautiful, wealthy young heroine, the bashful suitor, and the false man who almost wins the lovely Mary Ann's hand, but is found out just in time.

Of course, the valuable jade ear is lost for a while during which time misfortunes rain down on the house of Courtney. But the ear is found, the home saved from foreclosure, and the girl decides on the correct man. Chat to the accompaniment of much music and singing, which breaks out often and for practically no reason but is none the less enjoyable on that account.

The cast took the roles assigned them most capably. Vivian Cummins is Mary Ann Courtney. Liza her colored mammy, who owns the magic ear, is Catherine Ollis. Mrs. Courtney, careful wife, is the Marjory Ball, and Courtney, the husband, is played by Donald Williamson. A juicy part is that of Downs, a pensioner of the Courtney household, played ably by Bert Boquet. John Endicott, the backward suitor who gets the girl in spite of everything, is Elwin Auble, while his rival, the marksman who never misses and is suitably named Horace Ferguson, is played by Leonard Cronk.

Good Revival Meetings.
Good crowds are attending the revival meetings being held every evening at the Ord Christian church with Rev. Frank Gardner as the evangelist in charge. Other protestant churches of Ord will cooperate with the Christians in a union service at that church Sunday evening.

Ord Woman, Thrice Widowed, Passes At Old Soldiers Home

Funeral services were held at the Christian church here at 2 p. m. Tuesday for Mrs. Phoebe Fitzpatrick, who passed away at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning at Pershing hospital, Scherer Home, Grand Island. Death resulted from a paralytic stroke, with complications. Mrs. Fitzpatrick, a former Ord woman, had been a member of the home since 1920, being admitted there after the death of her second husband, William T. Draper, who was a Civil war veteran. At the home she met and married Tolbert Fitzpatrick, also a Civil war veteran. She had previously been married to a Mr. Broddy, who also died.

Left to mourn are several children, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Arthur Cutting, Bozeman, Mont.; Fred and Ed Boddy, Big Timber, Mont.; Della Boddy, Pasadena, Calif.; Dave Boddy, Pocatello, Ida.; Mrs. Ralph Rodgers, Bayard, Neb.; and Mrs. Will Patterson, Taylor, Neb. Two sons and a daughter preceded her in death, Lulu and Warren Draper, both of whom are buried here, and Frank Draper, who is buried in Lewistown, Mont.

From his sick bed Monday Governor Charles W. Bryan issued an "emergency" proclamation in which he called upon farm and home mortgage holders to suspend all foreclosures until the state board of conciliation, the legislature and congress can act. His proclamation, which constitutes a general moratorium on foreclosures actions in Nebraska, is very similar to the proclamation made two weeks ago by the governor of Iowa.

PROBE OF ORD PHONE SYSTEM TO BE ORDERED

Railway Commission Asks Formal Complaint Be Filed, Will Send Experts Here.

The state railway commission, through its secretary James F. Miller, last Thursday requested the Ord Chamber of Commerce to file at once a formal complaint against the high rates being charged here by the Nebraska Continental Telephone company and promised, upon receipt of the complaint, to order a thorough evaluation of the Ord exchange and to take a view to bringing about a rate reduction.

This action by the commission came after Chairman C. A. Randall and Commissioners Hugh Drake and Floyd Bollen had devoted almost half a day to studying balance sheets and plant statements of the Ord exchange. A letter from Secretary Miller stated:

The Chamber of Commerce, through its attorney, Bert M. Hardenbrook, has for the past three months been asking the commission to order such an evaluation but the commission has been unable to do so pending a study of the accounting and financial set-up of the Ord exchange. Secretary Miller said in his letter that considerable difficulty was encountered in getting necessary figures from the Nebraska telephone company and only after an order was issued by the commission were the figures furnished.

Upon receipt of the railway commission's letter the Chamber of Commerce at once prepared a formal complaint and it is signed by Wm. Sack, Carl Sorenson, Emil Fafetta, Chester Palmatier, Joe Rowland and Joe Rohla, members of the Ord city council, as was requested by the commission.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TO HOLD WINTER MEET THIS WEEK

Delegates From 10 Communities To Gather at North Loup Friday For 3-Day Session.

North Loup, Feb. 16.—(Special) The first session of the annual mid-winter meeting of Epworth Leagues of the Loup valley region will open tomorrow evening at the Methodist church here and sessions will be continued throughout Saturday and Sunday. Miss Hazel Holman is to have charge of registration, beginning at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Delegates are expected from Ord, Arcadia, Burwell, Loup City, Scotia, Ericson, Greeley, Davis Creek and Wiggins Creek, and entertainment will be on the "Harold plan."

Faculty members for this mid-winter session include Rev. Geiswinger, of Grand Island Trinity church, Dr. Kendall, of Kearney, Dr. Johnson, of Hastings, Miss Jell, of Burwell, Miss Rife, of Arcadia, and Rev. Gainer, of Arcadia.

Saturday evening a banquet will be served the young people in the basement of the church by members of the ladies aid society. Sunday morning Dr. Kendall will preach at the regular church service, which will be followed by fellowship luncheon at which Epworth League delegates will be guests.

Golf Club To Meet.
The annual meeting of the Ord Golf club will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, in the office of Dr. F. L. Blessing. All members are urged to be there. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

GOVERNOR BANS FORECLOSURES IN PROCLAMATION

Bryan Urges Holders of Farm And Home Mortgages to Await Passage of New Laws.

NAMES LOCAL BOARD.
Carrying out the recommendation recently made by Governor Bryan, a board of conciliation to consider mortgage indebtedness problems has been named for Valley county and will be composed of Don Rounds, Arcadia, Chas. Johnson, North Loup, J. G. Bremer, D. E. Strong and Lyle Milliken, Ord. The local board will meet at first meeting at 1:30 o'clock Saturday, Feb. 18, at the court house for the purpose of organizing. Persons desiring to confer with this board may do so at any time.

From his sick bed Monday Governor Charles W. Bryan issued an "emergency" proclamation in which he called upon farm and home mortgage holders to suspend all foreclosures until the state board of conciliation, the legislature and congress can act. His proclamation, which constitutes a general moratorium on foreclosures actions in Nebraska, is very similar to the proclamation made two weeks ago by the governor of Iowa.

In view of the unusual economic condition in Nebraska due to the low price of agriculture products which is causing a large number of mortgages to be foreclosed on farms, home and personal property, I recently appointed a state board of conciliation that will, in my judgment, be able to satisfactorily settle all disputes between debtor and creditor.

While the board is completing its state wide organization that will take but a few days and pending the enactment by the legislature of an effective mortgage respite for moratorium act, I, Charles W. Bryan, governor of Nebraska, do hereby proclaim that an emergency exists, and I call upon all owners and holders of mortgages on Nebraska farms and homes to suspend all foreclosures and forced sales and to withhold all court proceedings of every nature until the board of conciliation completes its organization and until the legislature and congress can act.

In spite of the governor's proclamation Farm Holiday association members throughout the state went ahead with plans for the "march on the capital," scheduled for today.

By unanimous vote Tuesday, the board of supervisors of Valley county adopted a resolution by Ellsworth Ball to re-district the county as to supervisory districts, the purpose of the move being to more nearly equalize population of the county as to representation on the board.

A petition asking the board to re-district was filed some months ago by the Ord Chamber of Commerce and at the January meeting of the board Chairman Chas. Johnson appointed a committee composed of Ellsworth Ball, Joe Vasicek and Morris Sorenson to submit a plan for doing so. The resolution adopted Tuesday contained the plan worked out by this committee.

VALLEY COUNTY RE-DISTRICTED BY SUPERVISORS

First Ord Ward Added to Dist. 3 To Equalize Population; No Other Changes Made.

By unanimous vote Tuesday, the board of supervisors of Valley county adopted a resolution by Ellsworth Ball to re-district the county as to supervisory districts, the purpose of the move being to more nearly equalize population of the county as to representation on the board.

A petition asking the board to re-district was filed some months ago by the Ord Chamber of Commerce and at the January meeting of the board Chairman Chas. Johnson appointed a committee composed of Ellsworth Ball, Joe Vasicek and Morris Sorenson to submit a plan for doing so. The resolution adopted Tuesday contained the plan worked out by this committee.

By the terms of the re-districting Tuesday, the first ward of Ord city is taken from Dist. 4 and added to Dist. 3, thereby decreasing the population of Dist. 4 from 2,226 to 1,331 and increasing the population in Dist. 3 from 784 to 1,633.

The new Dist. 3 is composed of Ord and Michigan townships and the first ward, Ord, and the new Dist. 4 is composed of the second and third wards of Ord city.

Other districts in the county are left unchanged by Mr. Ball's resolution, which was seconded by Supervisor Vasicek and adopted by unanimous vote of the board.

The re-districting goes into effect immediately but Joe Vasicek, who now represents Dist. 3, will serve out his present term which has two more years to go. Supervisor Ball was just elected as Ord's supervisor so not until his term is completed four years hence will the new Dist. 4 elect a supervisor.

—Relatives have heard from Edward Johnson. He and Mrs. Johnson are living in Altoona, Pa., where they have a Karmel Korn shop. Business is quite good. Altoona is quite a large place, about 70,000 population, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson like it there quite well. They spent the greater portion of last summer in Ord.

Ord Woman's Father Freezes Feet During Millard Hotel Fire

A. G. Grady, a member of the Omaha fire department and father of Mrs. Chester Austin, of Ord, had both his feet and his hands quite badly frozen last Wednesday night while fighting the big Millard Hotel fire. His boots were to be cut from his feet and he will be confined to bed for two or three weeks as a result of his injuries.

At that, Mr. Grady considers himself fortunate that the fireman who relieved him when he was frost-bitten was one of the seven men later killed in the fire.

Harold Benn Wins Honors.
Harold Benn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benn of Ord, is announced to be the high ranking first year student in the farm operators short course at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. Carrying a full schedule of nine subjects, his general average was 90.

PERRY PIERSON DIES; SETTLED HERE IN 1878

Another of Valley County's First Residents Goes to Reward; Was Ill Five Months.

Perry Pierson, 75 years old, a resident of Valley county since 1878, passed away at 2:45 o'clock last Friday morning, February 10, at the Springdale home of his son, Clarence Pierson, where for the past five months he had been bedfast. A stroke of paralysis coming after a long period of illness was the immediate cause of death.

When the names are mentioned of those men who came to Valley county in the early days and suffered privations and hardships in order to found homes, the name of Perry Pierson must be given a prominent place.

Born Dec. 13, 1857 in Liberty, Sullivan county, New York, the son of E. Sanford and Harriet Griswold Pierson, Perry left his home at the age of twenty and came west. He came directly to Valley county, then very sparsely settled, but stayed in Ord a short time before going to Howard county where he worked for several months. It was in the winter of 1879 that he came to Valley county to make his home, taking up a timber claim in Germanum township.

For several years he lived in a sod house on this claim but built a more substantial residence before his marriage April 17, 1887 to Miss Rosa B. Smith. Two children were born to them, Clarence and Bessie, the former now living in Springdale and the latter, now Mrs. Holloway, making her home in San Diego, Calif.

Until 1906 Mr. Pierson lived in Germanum, devoting his efforts to stock raising and general farming. In the year aforementioned he purchased a fine farm in Springdale township, now farmed by his son Clarence.

The deceased had much to do with the development of Valley county from a raw un settled region to the more comfortable conditions of the present. Even the weather has grown milder in the years that have passed since he came to Valley county. Mr. Pierson was wont to say and he often recalled a blizzard on Jan. 12, 1888, when, having hitched a team to a wagon to go to a neighbor's and, going into the house for a few minutes, came out to find it snowing so hard that he could not see the buggy an arm's length away.

Funeral services for Mr. Pierson were held at Sowl's chapel at 2 p. m. Monday, Rev. Merrill C. Smead conducting the last rites. Pall bearers were Chris Thomsen, Chas. Arnold, Joe Valasek, James Misko, A. J. Wise and Hans Anderson and music was furnished by a quartet composed of Messrs. Stoltz and Blessing, Madams Barta and Koupal. Interment was in Ord cemetery.

Seed Loans Will Be Made in Valley Co.

Valley county farmers who want government seed loans may get them again this year, stated County Agent C. C. Dale yesterday. Congress has appropriated $900,000 for seed loans, he says, and while regulations as to the loans have not yet been received from the secretary of agriculture it is sure that loans will be available here. Farmers who got loans last year and have made only partial payment may get new loans this year, Mr. Dale says. More information on these federal seed loans will be available by next week, it is thought.

Wed in Grand Island.
Tuesday's Grand Island Independent tells about the marriage here Monday of Perry C. Chippa, 26, and Miss Agnes Fuza, 21, both of Ord, who were wed by County Judge Paul N. Kirk.

—Rolland Haight, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Haight is spending a few days with his people. He is employed in Omaha.

ORD, NORTH LOUP & BURWELL JOIN FOR IRRIGATION

Enthusiastic Meetings Held Monday, Committee of 10 Appointed To Work for Project.

Possibility that a hydro-electric and irrigation development in the North Loup valley will be carried out during the next year was enhanced Monday when, at meetings held in North Loup and Burwell, business men's organizations of these two towns decided to join with Ord in a drive that it is hoped will result in a loan of $750,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for the purpose of building a dam for power and irrigation.

A committee of ten representing Ord, North Loup, Elyria and Burwell will meet tonight to make plans for campaign looking to the carrying out of this project. Ord members are Bert M. Hardenbrook, Roy Bailey and Jos. P. Barta, North Loup is represented by Roy Hudson, T. A. Bridges and W. O. Zangeneh. Elyria is represented by E. A. Holub and Burwell by C. J. Cram, Ralph Brownell and Harry Doran.

The dam would be located in the vicinity of Burwell and $5,000 acres of land in the Loup valley between that place and Scotia would be eligible for irrigation. Success of this project would mean the end of the depression so far as the North Loup valley is concerned.

The financing plan to be adopted is the same as is being used in the middle Loup valley, where a similar project is well on its way to become reality. This plan of finance contemplates construction of a hydro-electric plant, earnings of which will, with proceeds from sale of water for irrigation, make the entire project self-liquidating.

At North Loup Monday afternoon the plan was explained in detail by Bert M. Hardenbrook, of Ord, who is chairman of the irrigation committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Hardenbrook last week interviewed John W. Towle, of Omaha, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for Nebraska, and received from him assurance that an irrigation and power project in the North Loup valley is feasible and that money to carry it out will be forthcoming from the government if proper representations are made.

At Burwell Monday evening a group of Ord men including Mr. Hardenbrook, Roy Bailey and H. T. Frazier, were guests of the Wranglers club at dinner and explained the proposed project in detail, receiving assurance from the Wranglers that Burwell is willing to cooperate. Luther Pierce, president of the Wranglers, presided ably and other speakers included Dr. J. E. Bowman, of Loup City, D. W. Jones, engineer in charge of the middle Loup project, and Mr. Henningsen, of the Omaha engineering company that bears his name.

Farmers Re-elect Hastings, Thompson

The annual meeting of the Ord Co-operative Oil Company was held Tuesday afternoon at the Ord Legion hall with a fine crowd of members present. The terms of the directors, J. G. Hastings and D. J. Thompson, expired and both were re-elected. The company enjoyed a very successful year last year and are looking forward to another one this year.

Molzen Team Beats Scotia Boys, 36-14

Ord high school got revenge for at least a few of the athletic defeats they have suffered at Scotia's hands in recent years when, on the Scotia floor Tuesday evening, Ord walloped the Tigers 36 to 14. The team junior high team also won, 15 to 13, and the Ord reserves lost by a single point, 15 to 14.

Tomorrow evening Ansley comes to Ord for two games, first and second team clashes, and Ord will see plenty of basketball next week at the Loup valley association tournament, which opens on the Ord floor Wednesday and continues throughout Thursday.

Donald Madison Dies.
Donald, 13-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Madison, passed away Friday after several weeks illness with whooping cough and other complications. Funeral services were held at the Pentecostal church at 2 p. m. Sunday with Rev. W. M. Lemar in charge. Madams Ray Cook and Mrs. Edna Hahn sang. Interment was in Ord cemetery. Besides his parents, Donald is mourned by four brothers and three sisters.

—The Lincoln State Journal announced that Elmer Palmer, of Ord and a student in the state university had been initiated into Phi Sigma honorary botany fraternity. Elmer is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Palmatier of Ord.

—Dr. Lee Nay had several out of town patients Saturday. Mrs. Tom Kelly, Horace, Rev. and Mrs. Keep and Mrs. Alice Underkercher, Cotestfield and F. I. Hahn, Burwell.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED TO GET IRRIGATION.

The Quiz is sorry to note that neither Curt Parsons, editor of the Burwell Tribune, nor Mrs. Grace Rood, editor of the North Loup Loyalist, has "warmed up" very much to the proposed irrigation and hydro-electric project. Of course it is pretty early in the game to expect the editors of newspapers in towns where the project has not yet been officially proposed to assume it, but it is hoped that more complete investigation will lead both Mr. Parsons and Mrs. Rood to advocate it as a means of bringing prosperity to their communities, along with the rest of the upper North Loup valley and Mira Valley.

If a hydro-electric plant and irrigation system ever becomes reality in the valley it will, to a large extent, be a tribute to the activities of the press of the valley. People will depend upon newspapers for the "balance" of the matter and the Quiz for information concerning it and it seems to this editor that newspapers owe it to their readers to give full and complete information about such an important proposal as this.

What basis for opposition to the project there could be is difficult to discern. There can be no financial loss to North Loup valley people, for the reason that if the project goes through only government money will be used. It is true that a fund to pay for the original survey must be raised locally but it is also true that if the project is accepted by the government, this fund is repaid to the donors immediately. Opposition could not come on the ground that a heavy lien on the land would be undertaken because the government loan is secured by the hydro-electric plant and its earnings and irrigation, so far as the loan is concerned, is merely incidental.

The project could not be opposed on the ground that the irrigation district would be forced to take water and pay for it whether they wanted it or not, because the form that farmers are asked to sign specifically provides that the farmer agrees to take and pay for water for only 50 per cent of that portion of his land that is irrigable. Furthermore, the farmer need not sign to take water unless he desires to.

There is no doubt now but that an evaluation of the Ord exchange will be ordered by the railway commission. If that evaluation shows that rates being charged here are too high it is probable that a reduction will be ordered.

Anyway, the Chamber of Commerce has attained its first objective. It has secured action on our case from the powers that be. The rest is up to the railway commission.

farmers in the form of a bonus upon such crops as wheat, pork and cotton. It was originally designed to compensate for the tariff, but as a result of House log-rolling tactics, now includes products of which we have no exportable surplus. The cost of administering the plan will be enormous. There will be little left to apply on the promised bonus.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's policy in regard to farm relief is just as inconsistent as has been the policy of the republican administration. He advocates curtailment of production by means of the allotment plan and in the next breath advocates a "back to the farm" movement as a means of restoring prosperity.

It is possible that the United States will undertake this costly experiment, just as we have undertaken others. But it is worth noting that the department of agriculture still continues to function at a cost of about a million dollars per day and that the farm board is still in existence, even if it isn't dabbling on the board of trade in quite as princely a manner as it once did. Congress is ever willing to create more jobs, ever anxious to see that none are done away with.

LOWER TELEPHONE RATES.

For the past three months the Ord Chamber of Commerce has been attempting to secure from the railway commission of Nebraska some relief calculated to bring about a reduction of telephone rates in Ord. There has been little publicity and no bombast in the Chamber's efforts and some people may have had the idea that the rate fight had been abandoned. It has not, as was proved last Friday when the railway commission, through its secretary, Mr. Miller, requested the Chamber to file a formal complaint about Ord's high telephone rates. Preliminary investigations of the commission have disclosed that Ord has cause for complaint. With the filing of the formal complaint the commission promises to order an immediate evaluation of the Ord exchange, to determine what rates the telephone company is justified in charging here.

This is the goal toward which the Chamber of Commerce has been working. Officers and directors have maintained all along that, if the railway commission would order an evaluation made, it would be proven that rates charged here are too high when the inferior type of service given is considered. The Chamber of Commerce is not motivated by animus toward the telephone company or its officials, it really believes that it would be to the best interests of the company, as well as to the people of Ord, to have lower rates. As it is a good many of the telephones in Ord have been ordered removed, in most instances as a protest against high rates and poor service.

There is no doubt now but that an evaluation of the Ord exchange will be ordered by the railway commission. If that evaluation shows that rates being charged here are too high it is probable that a reduction will be ordered.

Anyway, the Chamber of Commerce has attained its first objective. It has secured action on our case from the powers that be. The rest is up to the railway commission.

SOME NEW DEFINITIONS.
Our good friend Chris Johnson handed us a clipping last Sunday and suggested that we reprint it in the Quiz, assuring us that it would interest and amuse a number of Quiz readers of his acquaintance. From the sample or two that he translated, we believe he is right. Danish reading the clipping below make allowance for the fact that English letters in our linotype font are in some instances different from Danish characters, for instance there is no "o" with a line through it, as in the Danish. Perhaps, after reading the clipping below, some subscriber will furnish us with a good translation so that next week we can let our English-reading subscribers in on the joke, too: Bank: Oplagshus for værdiløse Obligationer.

Bonds: Forste Ret til, hvad der er tilbage, naar "Receiver" en har faaet sit.
Farm: Et Stykke Land omringet af Kreditorer og dækket af en "Mortgage".
Hjem: Et Sted, som man skylder Husleje for.
Forretningssans: Evnen til at faa noget meget som muligt ud af Naesten.
Ejendomsbesiddet: En, der er oplydt af Bekymring for, hvorledes han skal faa Skatter og Rentepenge betalt.
Arbejder: En, som ingenting har at faa for sig selv.
Sparepenge: Det man havde, for Banken blev lukket. (Indsendt.)

Fight for Lower Rates.

The communities of North Loup, Greeley and Scotia are endeavoring to secure a reduction in electric rates from the Western Public Service Company, which serves all three towns. At a meeting in Greeley last week, officials of the company said no reduction was possible for the reason that even at present rates they are having difficulty in meeting their obligations. Representatives of the three towns cited the fact that Ord, Burwell and other towns with municipal plants have much lower rates and made the claim that the Western Public Service company's policy of "watering" its stock was the reason why difficulty in meeting obligations is now being experienced.

Observe 60th Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Othman A. Abbott of Grand Island, last week celebrated the 60th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. Abbott is past 90 years old and his wife is 88. Their son, Mayor Abbott of Grand Island, was in California and could not be present. He is court reporter for Judge E. P. Clements of Ord.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Thirty-nine years is a long time. Col. Frank O. Edgecombe has been the publisher and editor of the Nebraska Signal at Geneva that long and has started on the fortieth year. I was just a kid when I came to Nebraska forty-years ago, and since it takes a man with hair on his face to be a newspaper publisher, Mr. Edgecombe must have been along in years when I was still a kid. That being the case and since I am now past the sixty mark, Frank must be getting pretty old. But he doesn't look it or act it. His newspaper is one of the best country weeklies in the whole world and from all reports, is profitable to its owner. I shall see him in Lincoln this week and extend to him personally the congratulations which I now extend through this column and may he continue to prosper during all of the next thirty-nine years as he has in the past.

State Senator Joe O'Furey wants the state of Nebraska to spend money for marble or granite busts of a couple of prominent Nebraskans. I don't know who they would have to pay taxes to raise the money to buy the statues, are now unable to buy clothing and coal to keep themselves comfortable, I think it would be wise to wait till more prosperous times to buy the statues. It is the only way proposed to honor would surely want you to wait.

A bill has been introduced in the Ohio legislature, imposing a fine of $5 for every chicken found on the highway. I don't know why they make the chicken has to pay the fine, or whether the fellow who finds the chicken has to pay.

There are a lot of otherwise good citizens, who, every time an arrest is made, get into a tizzy. They would take time to find out all the facts first, they would keep still. As a rule I am sure officers would make rather than make arrests than to make them. More often than otherwise, I believe, officers take a whole lot of before they make an arrest. As a rule the man arrested seems to get most of the moral support, even when he deserves arresting. If the officer failed to make the arrest and then the party who should have been arrested committed a serious crime, the knock-out punch he can give the officer for not doing his duty. So, to be an officer of the law, or for that matter, a public official of any kind, means that "you are damned if you do and you are damned if you don't", no matter what you do.

Children find pet programs on the radio too. Shirley Best, the Quiz granddaughter, loves to hear Betty Boop squeak "Boop, a doop!" Many little boys love Skippy and his adventures, and Little Orphan Annie has an Ord following too. Though it is cold and snowy and blowy, it is time to think of next summer's garden. Can you do it? Even a bad snow storm brings aid to some, while it afflicts others. So while balmy winter days left the fuel dealers cold, so to speak, the blustery days brought loads of work. Trucks hurried busy to and fro delivering needed supplies of coal and oil.

Pipes froze, plumbers bustled. If plumbers can bustle. Needy men secured snow shovelling to do. And from garages wreckers hastened to drag cars out of ditches back on roads, and mechanics worked on low batteries and towed cars about in a business like fashion.

If You're Past 40 And Can't Sleep Try This

Nervous people should drink water at bedtime with a spoonful of delicious Vinol (iron tonic). Nervous relax, sound sleep follows. Vinol gives new pep, strength. Ed F. Beranek, Druggist.

The revival meetings in the Christian church have a good start and large crowds are attending.

People are funny animals in lots of ways. The particular way I have in mind, is that a man will get in debt to his grocer or some other business man. Then, when he cannot pay, he will go somewhere else and get credit. He will get credit anywhere and has to pay cash, instead of spending his money with those who have accommodated him, and whom he still owes, he will go and spend his cash with the one who has never extended him credit.

The present bargain price of 14 months for $5 for the Omaha daily and Sunday Bee-News, will not be in effect after February 28. The free insurance offer was withdrawn February 13. I can still sell you the Bee-News 14 months for $5 but not after February 28. Both the Bee-News and the World-Herald are withdrawing all bargain offers after February 28. I can send in your renewal on the Bee-News for 14 months for $5 until then. I do not know what the price of the Bee-News will be after that date but I suspect it will be the same as the other Omaha newspaper, which is now $6. I will appreciate having the business if you want the Bee-News or any other newspaper.

Farm Holiday at Burwell.

An organization meeting of the Farm Holiday association was held at Burwell recently and five precincts of Garfield county organized and elected officers. About 200 farmers were present.

Something Different

Little Roberta Shunkwiler at the early age of only five years plus... she is not yet six... has shown unmistakable signs of being provident and also of being a fond and loving daughter.

The ambitious little business woman goes to school in the forenoon and spends her afternoons selling popcorn which her mother prepares and sacks for her. The very young lady has made enough to buy her a pair of shoes at the local store and in addition she called at the bank of the town with her five cent piece and in return received two nice new dollar bills.

Recently Robert heard her mother telling that she needed coal. So the resourceful little mite took some money of her own and accompanied by her little wagon went to a local coal yard and got a load of coal.

Young Miss Shunkwiler will be remembered as the girl who was badly hurt last summer when an automobile struck her on a downtown street.

The Wayne Herald broadcasted Monday morning over a Nebraska radio station, presenting a fine program. The Wayne Herald was the first weekly newspaper in the United States to take this step.

Perhaps some of these days all newspapers will be hooked up with radio stations, whose nose? And radio stations will have their own much time on the air in conjunction with each inch of newspaper advertising they pay for. I wonder if they would like that.

Personally, I am fond of being amused. I would rather pay to see a glad show than to see one. I suppose tragedies and weepy dramas are needed occasionally to stir a people up, just as Uncle Tom and his inoffensive cabin riled up the northerners before the Civil War. Sometimes that is the only way a lesson can be presented forcefully enough to sink in deeply.

So on the radio if you are foolish programs immensely... probably a sign I'm a moron. Or something similar.

But I like Eddie and Ralph, the Sisters of the Skillet. Lots of other advertisers will have their own radio spots. Mrs. Bert Cornell is one. And I like the Doodiesocks, with their non-stop for breath announcer. And I like the KUKU club, and Colonel Stoopnagle. And I like the jittery, foolish Dallas earlybirds, who come at seven each morning. A surprise, quite a number of Ord folks are fond of this orchestra. I can't remember all the names of friends who have assured me they listen to them. Frances Bradt was one.

More Red Cross Flour.
To the Editor of the Quiz:
In regard to the Red Cross flour: Many have wondered, and I'll venture someone has said that it would injure business to distribute much of this flour. Therefore, it is put under a bushel and the moths are allowed to eat it. Few realize that one cup of flour to a person is not for flour only those who have worked for less than nothing these last few years and now are trying to make the little cream check do for everything and nothing to feed old bossy. There is as much actual want in at least part of Valley county now as was in some hopper-infested counties last year and nothing has been done about it. I understand some counties have used three or more shipments of Red Cross flour. Why not here? It will be needed until a crop is raised, also feed and seed, cloth and whatever else is available. Why will some obstructionist stand in the way. It will not hurt business as people can't spend what they haven't got. And don't take a little actual want in at least part of Valley county now as was in some hopper-infested counties last year and nothing has been done about it. NEW ORDINANCE NEEDED BEFORE BUYING DIESEL

Light Commissioner George Allen this week spoke favorably of hydro-electric and irrigation development of the Loup valley but stressed the fact that even if this possibility should be developed it would still be advisable to maintain a local standby plant, for the reason that power might be interrupted due to trouble at or between the hydro-electric plant and Ord. A Diesel engine forms an ideal stand-by, for the reason that it can be started as easily as an automobile engine and when it is not running does not cost anything to maintain. A steam plant such as Ord now has is almost valueless as a stand-by, because it would be necessary to keep at least one boiler with a banked fire all the time, which would be a constant expense. "We should boost this irrigation project and should it go through power will be available," said Mr. Allen Monday. He further stated, however, that even if the hydro-electric plant is built Ord could not possibly get the power developed there and therefore would probably have to purchase what power it wants from some other concern which had bought the entire output, in which event it might be little or no cheaper than if generated locally with Diesel-driven units. He made this statement, not in criticism of possible irrigation development, but to point out the fact that purchase of a Diesel should not be postponed because such a development is being discussed. The ordinance being published in the Quiz this week authorizes purchase of a Diesel engine by the city council but provides that it must be paid for out of the electric fund, which is formed from earnings on electric plant itself. The ordinance specifically provides that neither the Diesel engine nor any equipment required in connection with it may be purchased from funds realized by taxation.

Guy Keep is cast as the sheriff, and Evelyn Smith plays the part of the French maid. Friends of Mary Ann are played by Leota Auger, a French, Harold Koelling, Roland and Melvin Havel, Donald Lashmet is the uncle and guardian of the young hero. Among the equestrians presenting songs were Arthur Auble, Lyle Benson, Lumir Sedacek, Leon Stevens, Oscar Austin, Lucille Wozniak, Eldon Benda, Betty Lou Sweet, William Cook, Maxine Johnson, Paul Blessing, Gwendolyn Hughes, Walter Brown, Evelyn Baris, James Miliken, Alma Zikmund, Harold Garnick, Edith Jefferies, Richard Smith, Loretta Kusek, John Danzick, Esther Glasier, Everett Gross, Doris Whiting. The French maid chorus consisted of Delta Marie Hoyt, Kathryn Holub, Ruth James, Frances Petersen, Kate Romans, Delma Palmer, Irma Kokes, Verna Stowell, Wilma Slavicek, Christine Korziol. Next to appear on the scene were the equestrians at the party of welcome for Mary Ann. They included Ethel Hower, Lois Bremer, Lila Porter, Olga Vodehnal, Emil Zadinia, Albin Dobrovsky, Thelma Palmatier, Gerald Keim, John Danzick, Edith Danzick, Melvin Clement, Richard Kokes, Burnes Zulkoski, Jack Tunniffel, George Allen, Jr. Dancing couples at the masque party were Frieda Larsen, Arthur Auble, Lorraine Haas, Elroy Brown, Thelma Palmatier, George Allen, Viola Mae Flynn, Raymond Cronk, Jessamine Meyers, Halten Pierce, Evelyn Williamson, James Miliken. Spanish promenades, who appeared in suitable costumes were, Wilhelmanna Janssen, Oscar Austin, Edith Hansen, Gerald Keim, Grace Ball, Walter Brown, Evelyn Gross, Richard Smith. They danced as well as sang. Hous guests who sang in chorus were, Wilberta Rendell, Lois Collins, Margaret Strong, Wilma Cochran, Alice Verstraete, Eva Adamek, Anna Adamek, Ruth Wiberger, Wilma Barnhart, Genevieve Jablonski, Eva Ptancnik, Sylvia Dobrovsky, Henrietta Kreflek, Edna Smolik, Donna Burrows, Zola Stara, Mildred Kasper, Lydia Adamek, Marie Desmul. Many names are found in several choruses, and so are not always repeated. The costumes were most attractive and clever, and showed an immense amount of labor on the part of the makers. The Spanish costumes, the pretty party frocks, and all the effect of gay color combine to interest the eye as well as the ear. Voices heard in solo and feature parts were especially pleasing, and showed considerable talent and training. Mr. Duncan should have credit for the immense amount of work, staging such an operetta entails. His trained choruses did him proud, and pleased the audience exceedingly. The work of Miss Laverne Hans in connection with the acting was also noticeable, and praise is due her also. A clever prologue in costume featured the show and gave the origin of the lucky jade idol. In an African setting Eleanor Perhinski appeared as the dancer in the temple, Leonard Greathouse and Roland Vodehnal were cast as the temple priests, and Gerald Keim as the trader who stabs the dancer and steals the jade. They were all excellent in their roles, as in fact was the entire cast and choruses as well.

BELOW ZERO A Romance of the North Woods By HAROLD TITUS Copyright 1932 WNU Service

CHAPTER I.—"Tom" Belknop, big timber operator, ordered by his physicians to take a complete rest, plans a three months' trip abroad. Promises of advancement he has made to his son John, just commencing in the business, are broken, for no apparent reason, and the young man is indignant. Paul Gorbil, Belknop's partner, whom John and other business associates of Belknop cordially dislike, is a bone of contention. Father and son part without a complete understanding.

CHAPTER II.—At Shoestring, his train delayed by a wreck, John is ordered to leave at once. He refuses, and after a fist fight, his attackers realize it is a case of mistaken identity. John learns his father has been out to wreck the Richards lumber company. Bewildered and unbelieving, he seeks employment with that company. At the office he finds Gorbil bullying a young girl, and throws him out. Gorbil does not recognize him. The girl is Ellen Richards, owner of the company. A letter he carries gives John's name as John Steele, the Belknop being dropped inadvertently, and John, knowing the feeling against his father, allows Ellen to believe that is his name.

"But we're only one jump ahead of disaster," she said. "These Milwaukee bankers have been so decent with us up to now, but there's no telling when their good nature will give out. If we should shut down it would bring them up here in a hurry. If we can just keep going!" They had not got abreast of the situation again as yet. A four-day tie-up would leave the mill hungry. "Luck is with us," Ellen said that night. "We've had no blizzards since you came. You seem to be able to checkmate their moves, but you can't beat bad weather." "Cross your fingers," he said grimly.

Right he was. The next afternoon the placid western sky hazed up and the temperature, which had been moderate for days, dropped suddenly. A restive, puffy wind began to blow and settle, towards dusk, to a moaning breeze which carried fine, stinging snow before it. Tiny Temple brought the train in an hour late, locomotive plastered with snow, festooned with icicles, and John, who had been busy in town all day, was there to meet him. "Get your supper," he told the crew. "She's going to be a buster! We'll run the plow tonight." "That's the way to lick it," a brakeman said.

Two hours for food for the men and coal and water for the engine and to couple to the wing plow that stood ready on its siding. Men were there, a dozen of them, armed with shovels, sitting in the heated way-car, waiting to give battle. Tucker and John and two section men were in the plow; the first brace to ride in the lookout and watch ahead; the others to man the big wheel which manipulated the wings.

They were nearing the first bad point and John leaned forward to see better. "Ready, there? . . . Open your wings!" he called, and the men bent on the wheel, turning it to force the wings outward so they would toss the displaced snow far to either side. An immense, up-ending cataract came over the front of the plow, shutting off their view completely. John felt their speed diminish as though velvet-faced brakemen had gripped the wheels and Tucker bawled: "Let 'em in!" A man at the wheel kicked the trip; the wings were squeezed back against the sides of the plow; they held their pace a moment longer and then came to a stop.

John's snow fences had functioned and some of the cuts were easy to traverse because of these barriers which caught and held the snow to windward, but in other places the going was impossible. A dozen men and shovellers were out, tossing aside and waiting to shovel the plow free when Tiny wedged it into the drift. At five in the morning they gained the mainline crossing. A top the ridge as it was the snow had mostly blown away, but Tucker held the wings open until they approached the last switch. "Bring 'em in!" he called, and chewed briskly as they bumped across the points. It was the only place on the line where caution must be used with the wings; the one standard switchstand on the whole line was located there, and to pass it with wings extended might mean derailment. John had arranged for breakfast at the crossing tender's house by telephone before they left town, and a dozen hot shovellers fell to the steaming food he grinded. The battle wasn't over yet, but he had held his own so far. He had checked-mated old Tom's ruthlessness; he was wrestling an even break from the weather. . . . He would not have been so easy of mind, would not have taken such a fierce glory in the conflict with snow, had he known that late yesterday afternoon, in the shadow of a car of logs, Tucker had listened to Paul Gorbil while the man talked, slowly, as one feeling his way, rapidly, as one who has achieved his end. . . .

Quins Made Error.

It has been called to our attention that an item in the Quins a couple of weeks ago was incorrect. The story referred to was about Leonard Medlar being granted the Order of the Purple Heart and stated that he was the only Valley county World war veteran who was wounded in action. Emil Fafelka, former post commander of the Ord American Legion Post, says that several local veterans were wounded in the World War. He mentions Charlie Mason, Frank Mareah and Wilbur Rogers, all of whom suffered shrapnel wounds, and says there undoubtedly were others wounded. Several were gassed, also, he says. We regret the error which was caused by incorrect information having been furnished to us.

Ord Church Notes

Bethany Lutheran Church.
S. S. Kaldahl, Pastor.
Sunday school at 10 a. m. Reading service at 11:00 in the Danish language by the deacon.

St. John's Lutheran Church.
(Missouri Synod)
Eight miles south of Ord. English services at 10:30. Sunday school after services. Bible class at 8 p. m. Wm. Bahr, Pastor.

Full Gospel Church.
The Revival opened Sunday evening with a well filled house. And again Monday evening with a fair crowd.

Evang. Fischer is a very able and enjoyable speaker. You will be well paid to attend these services though you drive several miles from the country or walk several blocks in town to hear his special numbers in song. Saying nothing of the spiritual good received from her soul stirring messages.

The spiritual need is much greater than financial prosperity, or progress. Let us therefore urge you to go to church.

The Christian church and our church could be filled with fathers and mothers, young people and children during this time of revival effort.

Bring your friends and neighbors. Come as you are. Every one welcome.

Wm. M. Lamar, Pastor.

Tonsils Removed $10.00

Examination, Hospital and Nurse Service FREE

Material decline in market values, wages and other sources of income, has been recognized, and carefully considered by Dr. Nichols. He is endeavoring to make his services available to all who may need them at this time. This nominal charge includes Dr. Nichols' personal service, modern private hospital facilities, and the attention of competent nurses. If tonsil infection is threatening you consult Dr. H. C. Nichols, Specialist, Grand Island, Neb.

The tonsil operation is a minor affair if done by one thoroughly experienced and skilled in the work but often times a very serious affair if done by the BE-GINNER or one not specially trained in this type of surgery.

My Record—Thousands of operated patients in this and surrounding states without ONE fatality.

rasping rattle as the wing caught the switch-stand, tearing it from its anchorage. A jolt and a clank from the moving switch just as the plow's rear truck met the point and the wheels dropped down on the ties.
"Off!" yelled John. "Jump you!" He led the way, hurling himself out into the snow bank.
The plow bucked, careened, tilted. A splintering sound as the front trucks left the steel, and with a rattle and a crash the plow was on its right side and John was floundering in the snow watching the locomotive. He saw her stick her pilot in to the drift, saw Tiny follow him. The engine, all the motive power they had, settled slowly to its side, carrying the tank over with it.
"Excitement! Men were in the snow; men were shouting; the way car was spewing more men. Anybody hurt? Guess not! But we're derailed, man, derailed!"
John was confronting Tucker.
"What the devil!" angered he was, flaring, ready to take a man apart.
"My G—d, Steele, I forgot!"
The roadmaster was shaking, holding a wrist in the other hand.
"Forgot the d—d thing!" he cried again. "Thought we were over the hump and—"
Something in his manner nipped John's attention, steadied his judgment, but he did not dwell on it then; neither did he speak further to Tucker.
He turned to the shovelers who were wallowing up from the way-car. "Get your shovels, half of you. Jim, take the rest of the boys back to that pile. Bring up a lot of men; all there are. Way-Bill, get the boys shoveling down to gravel here. Tiny, uncouple your tender. Tucker, get some wood from that car yonder and build a fire. . . . a big one. Snap to it, now! You'll chow in an hour and then it'll be all night for most of you. Double time for every man that stays by it! Heart pounding, he oversaw the first preparations. Made a monkey of me, was he? . . . Looked like it. He'd made his gesture, played his cards in defiance of his father. The snow bank was as snowed in. A locomotive wouldn't be through for several days to offer help, and without such help, righting this equipment was a man's size job for anybody; the best of men needed time to turn a trick like this, but no Richards man had time to do else but haul logs. . . . Four days, perhaps only three days of run was left for the mill. He could see his father's face when the old man heard; he could hear Tom's disdainful laugh when he learned of this failure.
He hurried back to the crossing tender's house. His wife had enough grub for one more meal, anyhow. He telephoned Saunders at camp and ordered a team with food and blankets to start fighting its way through the timber.
CHAPTER IV
And now twin emotions drove the man known in this operation as John Steele to the task confronting him. His rage against his father still held, but it was augmented by fear. It was a fearful thing. A fine came the fear that he was going to fall, that the laugh would be on him, to wither and shrivel his pride.
Secondly was the fear that Ellen Richards, suddenly become for him a lovely girl in distress, would see her hopes go tumbling, her misgivings realized.
He could work hard enough, could drive men fast enough, when only fear spurred him; but with rage backed by fear he was a superman. He needed to be fast then in this emergency. Another would have given up; another would have quit, waited out the storm and sought succor from the main line. But the main line branch might not even be opened for days; the aid of a locomotive would be costly and the Richards Lumber company had no dollars to spare.

He thanked Providence that after last week's derailment he had carried wrecking tools in the way-car. There under the stars, with frost gust eddying about the leaping flames of great bonfires, a score of men worked with the intentness of ants. Shovels cleared the snow from about the locomotive, exposing the raw earth, studded now with glittering crystals put there by the sub-zero cold.

State Capitol News

By PARKE F. KEAYS

The sixth week of Nebraska's legislative session saw members of both houses continuing their task. Both houses held long sessions in consideration of bills. Committees in both branches were working overtime to get bills whipped into shape to go on general file so that the actual work of lawmaking could be carried on in large number of hearings were held by the committees during the week and various features of duplicate bills were being incorporated into single bills to save unnecessary work when they come before each of the houses.

The senate staged an interesting scene Monday afternoon of last week when it advanced the bill to extend time for tax certificate foreclosures to third reading. The introducer of the bill was not present and its supporters thought that because it had been approved in committee of the whole it would have the necessary 22 votes to pass it. When roll call was taken, however, there were 11 opponents and only 19 votes in its favor. A motion to adjourn at that time carried and the bill was left in mid-air. This is the second time such procedure has ever been followed in the senate. The following morning a vote was again taken and the bill was passed.

The senators advanced measures to permit issuance of insurance without medical examination. The bill to require 51 percent of voters to cast favorable ballot to authorize bond issues; reassessment of real estate in 1933-34 and every two years; constitutional amendment for small juries in district court; publication of claims against counties, and using gasoline tax on bridges as well as roads.

The senate committee on revenue and taxation was deluged Tuesday afternoon by persons representing various churches, schools and charities who opposed a senate bill to repeal tax exemption for religious, educational and charitable properties. The measure has been pigeonholed by the committee.

A school bill to prevent school boards from hiring teachers before the annual school meeting was indefinitely postponed by the senate committee on education. Divisions of the bill tried to bring it out to general file but the senate refused to do so. Expression of several members indicated that the senate considers the present school system generally is working all right.

Senator Dworak of Omaha introduced a resolution to require illumination of the Nebraska capitol tower. The senate spent considerable time in arguing over a bill which was originally drawn to prevent Omaha banks from selling insurance. There was some sentiment to amend the bill to effect the whole state while certain senators insisted that the very small tax was expedient. The bill was referred back to the standing committee.

During the past week the house passed bills to make optional jury service for women; to protect investors in participation loans; to provide penalties for use of the electric voting machine by other than legislators; reducing the waiting period before granting divorces from six months to five weeks; requiring transfer of women prisoners from the penitentiary to the reformatory at York; providing for abolition of the party circle from official election ballots. The latter is one of the bills recommended by the governor.

The house advanced a bill to repeal deficiency judgment law; a bill to permit judges to refuse to confirm foreclosure sales unless reasonable priced bids are received and a measure cutting high school tuition to $72 a year.

Last Friday the code revision bill recommended by the governor passed the house. The bill, however, was amended to include salary reductions of percent below earlier recommendations by the governor. The bill provides for change in name of all departments and effects certain transfers and consolidations within those departments.

The house memorialized congress to repeal present federal control of stockyard rates. Another measure was passed memorializing the Iowa legislature to provide laws to permit interstate bridge construction. The Muir bill proposing abolition of the office of secretary of state, auditor and land commissioner substituting a comptroller was indefinitely postponed by the house last Monday.

After considering a bill to make the railway commission a non-political office the house voted against the measure.

A bill, which proposed to lower the age at which girls can marry without parents' consent from 21 to 18, was killed.

Henry Wallace Jr. Des Moines farm paper publisher, spoke before joint session of the house and senate Monday on farm problems. The bodies also went into joint session for a short ceremony in recognition of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America.

The banking bill, which was passed by the legislature and signed by the governor recently to enable failed banks to reopen and conduct business on a limited basis with the agreement of depositors, has already been put to use by the state banking department. The largest state bank in Nebraska at Schuyler, which closed its doors February 3, has been reopened under the provisions of the new act. New deposits received by the bank are at the disposal of the depositors but old accounts will be held up awaiting orderly liquidation. The provisions of the new act will enable many communities to have a going bank within a short time.

The federal government is coming to the aid of farmers with 90 millions available for crop loans in 1933. The maximum amount available to an individual will be $300 and the bill authorizes officials to insist on acreage reductions of 30 percent as a loan condition. Five sturdy officers heavily armed and one with a machine gun in his lap accompanied State Treasurer Hall, former State Treasurer Bass and an attorney on a trip from the First Trust company in Lincoln to the capitol building last Wednesday. The party rode in an armoured police car. Under the arm of one man was a small brief case containing $1,200,000 worth of government bonds. This event marked the formal delivery of the bonds from the former to the present state treasurer brought about by the passage of a bill providing for the transfer and signing of the bill by the governor. Hall would not accept the bonds until the legislature ratified their purchase by the former treasurer because the Nebraska statutes do not provide for the purchase of government bonds other than those bearing four percent interest.

An opinion from the attorney general states that farm sales where violence and intimidation of prospective bidders has been practiced will be held void by the courts. In the opinion, the attorney general also pointed out that it is doubtful whether any of the present legislative proposals for relieving the mortgage situation would effect mortgages now in existence, and that at present the farmer by utilizing legal procedure has from within 18 months to delay loss of farm through foreclosure.

The conciliation board recently named by the governor to bring farm debtors and creditors together held its first meeting recently and outlined its program. The first work at hand will be to name similar boards in various counties or sections of the state. Parties interested in effecting a debt conciliation may appeal to the local boards and if an equitable plan is not worked out there they may then appeal to the state board. If both of these efforts at conciliation fail then the local boards will present recommendations to the district judges who will hear foreclosure cases.

Salary reductions have been put into effect on employees in the state treasurer's and attorney general's office. The former's office payroll has been cut $285 per month and the latter $435. The attorney general and state treasurer are both constitutional officers and consequently their salaries are fixed by law.

The city of Long Pine has received a loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation of $15,000 to develop a new water supply for the city. A committee, which has been ascertaining facts concerning a proposed five million dollar irrigation project on the Platte river near Kearney, has scheduled a meeting for early this week. Its findings may lead to securing finances from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Federal and state agricultural departments report that the recent cold spell had brought considerable damage to orchards. The lack of any great amount of snow with the cold, it was said, will undoubtedly injure the winter wheat.

Five small highway contracts have been announced for letting early in March. The work includes paving, a bridge and a viaduct near Auburn, paving near Blair and Seward, some work near Fort Crook and a short stretch of gravel near Crawford.

DR. RICH says: Grand Island, Nebr., February 15—When you buy advertised goods, you may know they have gone through the experimental stages. You may be sure the manufacturer knows they are right and that he is willing to stake his reputation on them. You may be confident that you are buying goods that have sold and that would continue to sell without any advertising at all.

Advertising merely lets all the people know now what considerable numbers would only find out by word of mouth, ten years from now. Let the advertisements be your guide. When the Dr. Rich Rectal Sanitarium (Grand Island) says "Now we can advertise it," you know you can safely say, "Now we can buy it."

Today's prices are low. Your spending dollar at the Dr. Rich Rectal Sanitarium (Grand Island) will buy you twice as much now as it would a year ago. # ORD, NORTH LOUP & BURWELL JOIN FOR IRRIGATION

Mr. Hardenbrook, as the first speaker, explained the plan in detail, stressing the fact that with this plan of financing no bonds are sold, no liens upon the land of irrigators are incurred, and that farmers who wish to take water will have to pay for only what they take and even if their lands lie in the irrigation district do not have to take any water unless they wish. Water will be sold at such a reasonable price—$1.50 per acre per year—that it is thought that no farmer in the valley will refuse such an opportunity to irrigate whatever portion of his land is irrigable.

Such a golden opportunity becomes available only because of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he said. To qualify for a loan from this government credit agency a proponent must fulfill four requirements: It must be feasible from an engineering standpoint, it must act to conserve some natural resource now going to waste, it must give employment to labor that needs employment, and it must be self-liquidating. A hydro-electric and irrigation project in the North Loup valley fulfills all of these qualifications, various speakers testified.

The two Loup rivers are the most wonderful rivers in the world, Engineer Jones stated, for the reason that the flow of water is constant the year around, never fluctuating greatly and therefore ideal for development of water power and also for irrigation. The North Loup river, with a drop of 3 feet to the mile, is even superior to the Middle Loup river in this respect, it was stated. Soil surveys have proved the land to be suitable for successful irrigation and a survey completed recently by the state department of public works shows that between 50,000 and 60,000 acres between Burwell and Scotts and in Mira Valley may be irrigated at low cost. If the project goes through and Mira Valley people want water it can be diverted over the hills at a point north of Elyria and the entire Mira Valley can be irrigated.

A rosy picture of prosperity in the North Loup valley if this irrigation project is undertaken was painted by Mr. Henningsen, of Omaha. The amount of money spent would be near the million dollar mark, he said. The R. F. C. engineers, that labor be hired and local material be bought whenever possible, therefore it would be likely that at least half a million dollars would be spent right here in the valley. The project would require a year to complete, which means that several hundred men—all the labor available in the upper North Loup valley—would have steady employment at good wages for that period of time. After the project is completed it is likely that manufacturing plants, attracted by cheap power and a surplus supply of farm produce—would come into the valley so the employment problem might well be solved for all time to come.

People who are inclined to fight shy of irrigation, he said, are in the 90's need not worry about this proposition, Dr. Bowman said. There are no points of similarity between this and irrigation projects suggested in former years, he said. No individual who invested in to take water incurs any liability except to pay for what water he takes at the rate of $1.50 per acre and even if the project should fail financially the government, to recover its money, could do nothing but take over the hydro-electric plant, which is the only security given for the loan.

"This proposition sounds too good to be true but it is true," Dr. Bowman said. "There is no catch in it anywhere. Over in the Middle Loup valley we investigated it carefully from every angle and thought about it a long time before we went into it. It's the greatest opportunity that ever came to us and probably the greatest that ever will."

The first step that it will be necessary to take, after determining that a community wants to try to secure such a project, is to employ a competent firm of engineers to make an initial survey. This survey, with plans and specifications for the project is submitted to the R. F. C. who will accept or reject it. There is little doubt that such a proposition as we have here will be accepted if properly presented, Engineers Henningsen and Jones agreed.

The only local money used in the entire project must be raised to carry out this initial survey. If the project is accepted by the government, those who donate for the survey get their money back immediately. If it is rejected, the money spent for the survey is lost.

Over in the Middle Loup valley it was determined that the cost of this survey would be $10,000 and the Henningsen company which was employed to make the survey, agreed to do the work upon payment of $5,000 from the community affected, taking a chance that the government would accept the project in which event they will get the other $5,000. In other words, the communities of Arcadia, Comstock and Loup City had to raise $5,000 by popular subscription, which has already been done. Farmers and business men donated amounts ranging from $1 to several hundred dollars each. The survey is now under way and when it is completed and the plans drawn it will be submitted to R. F. C. engineers for approval. If it is accepted the people who contributed to the fund will be repaid the amounts they contributed from the loan made by the R. F. C. If the project is rejected those who contributed money will lose. This is regarded as extremely unlikely, however. While no negotiations have been entered into here with any engineering firm it is thought likely that the cost of the survey of the North Loup valley will not vary greatly from the cost in the Middle Loup, hence it is likely that the communities of Burwell, Ord, Elyria and North Loup will have to combine to raise $5,000 or slightly more for the original survey, which sum will be repaid to the donors when the project is accepted by the R. F. C.

Every resident of the upper North Loup valley, every person who owns farm or city property here or who holds a job here, should be vitally interested in this project. To put it across will require the best efforts of everybody. We must become irrigation minded," say members of the Ord committee. "We can build a city like Scotts-bluff here within ten years," says Mr. Hardenbrook, and when the committee meets tonight it will outline plans looking for a successful raising of a fund to pay for the initial survey and to the carrying out of the entire hydro-electric and irrigation project.

Three Ord Teams Wallop North Loup

Ord patrons got their money's worth Saturday night when three Ord teams walloped three sets of North Loup basketballers on the Ord floor for the edification of a good sized crowd. Scores piled up were respectively 22 to 14 for the first team margin, 45 to 8 for the top-sided result of the reserve team game, and 20 to 3 in a good fast game played by Ord's junior high boys against a smaller group from North Loup. The Ord first team was having a rather slow night, but nevertheless succeeded in winning, and the other games were worth the money and more.

The Ord first team has had a rather stiff schedule lately, and although they are presenting no prohibitive obstacle to their holding only one practice session last week. Probably both of these facts brought on the first team's Saturday night lack of pep, but notwithstanding, Ord cleaned up on the North Loupers.

The reserve team showed unexpected power, and Leonard Greathouse covered himself with glory by scoring consistently. The reserve team's fine work made prospects for Ord look mighty bright for the next few seasons.

Junior high boys put up a dandy little game, Don Tunnicliff proving the individual star, and Harry Zukoski also showing some real stuff. Their young team mates assisted ably, among them Dean Barta, Charles Cetak, Gerald Clark and Harold Haskell. They faced an ambitious lineup of North Loup students including Bartz, Edwards, Gowen, Manchester and Sample.

On the Ord reserves played Kenneth Michels, Monte Peterson, Leonard Greathouse, Jack Tunnicliff and Paul Blessing, facing from North Loup Preston, Honeycutt, Zanger, Currie, Barrett and Drawbridge, all of whom performed nobly. On the Ord first team were Richard Smith, Manfred Steinwart, Guy Keep and Bert Bogue, all of whom are juniors, and Ed Olsen and Eldon Benson.

Against them working faithfully in the interests of North Loup were Jurgensen, Sample, Schaffner, Baxter, Lee, Babcock, and Barber. Jurgensen led the scoring, tallying 9 points.

Friday night Ansey comes to Ord with a fast, strong quintet. A large crowd is expected to watch the battle, which will be a tough one.

WOMAN LOST 20 POUNDS OF FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips—Double Chin—Sluggishness Gained Physical Vigor—A Shapely Figure.

If you're fat—first remove the cause! Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise. But be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—and SAFETY first is the Kruschen promise. Get bottle of Kruschen Salts from any leading druggist anywhere in America (last 4 weeks) and the cost is but little. If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, SAFEST and surest way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

If You Get Up Nights Make this 25c Teaj Physic the bladder as you would the bowels. Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation burning and frequent desire. Get a 15c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Mrs. J. J. Kepner Passes At Arcadia

Mrs. J. J. Kepner, mother of Samuel H. Kepner, 703 West Tenth street, died Thursday at Arcadia, Neb., after an illness of only several days. Mrs. Kepner, when taken ill and at the time of her death was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Creemen, old friends of the family, at Arcadia.

Margaret Josephine Randolph was born in Juniata county, near Johnston, Pa., Jan. 29, 1847, and on Nov. 17, 1870, was united in marriage to J. J. Kepner. Mr. and Mrs. Kepner came to Nebraska in 1871, locating temporarily in Dakota county, Neb., and homesteading in Polk county in 1872. They lived for about 25 years before moving to Arcadia and later to Ord. Their last removal was from Ord to Grand Island, about twenty years ago. Mrs. Kepner making her home here in death. Her husband predeceased her in death on Sept. 18, 1930.

When about 15 years of age, Mrs. Kepner united with the Evangelical Lutheran church and while residing at Osceola, united with the Presbyterian church, her death taking the last charter member of this congregation. At the time of her death she was a member of the First Baptist church of this city. In all of her religious affiliations she was a diligent and faithful worker and she was an active member of the Eastern Star, in which order she held many offices and in which her work always was well done.

She is survived by her son, Samuel H. Kepner; a granddaughter, Mrs. Irene E. DeLay, all of this city; also three sisters, Miss Anna C. Randolph of Lancaster, Pa., and Mrs. Sadie L. Gray, also residing in Pennsylvania. Mrs. Kepner was one of twelve children in the Randolph family, eight brothers and sisters having preceded her in death.

The funeral services were held at one o'clock Sunday afternoon, Feb. 12, at the First Baptist church. Rev. Ralph W. Hobbs officiating. Burial was beside the grave of her husband in the cemetery at Osceola—Grand Island Independent.

Many Ord Pupils On Honor Roll

Many proud young people are pointing with pride to the high school honor rolls, just issued, on which their names are found. The honor roll and honorable mention list includes honor winners for the last six weeks of the first semester. Minimum requirements for the honor roll are two A's, and two B's, which marks were made by:

Arthur Auble, Joy Auble, Darlene Anderson, Eldon Benda, Margaret Bonne, Pauline Barta, Twila Brickner, Vernon Collins, Vivian Cummings, Viola Mae Flynn, Catherine Holub, Harriet Hirdy, Edith Hansen, Delta Marie Hoyt, Maxine James, Edith Jefferies, Robert Jones, Ruth Koupal, Eleanor Keep, Irma Kokes, Edwin Lenz, Ethel Lower, Ruth Kowalski, Henry Nielsen, Catherine Ollis, Delma Palmatier, Thelma Palmatier, Verna Stowell, Mildred Smith, Marie Viner, Dorothy Anne Zikmund.

On the honorable mention list of the first six weeks for which requirements are a minimum of three B's and one C, are found the following: George Allen, Wilma Barnard, Hope Bartunek, Ruth Benn, Charlotte Blessing, Lois Bremer, Marjorie Ball, Opal Bebee, Lois Collins, Paul Dana, Dorothy Fish, Darrell Fish, Everett Gross, Alma Hansen, Edwin Lenz, Ethel Lower, Ruth Kowalski, Loretta Kusek, Harold Koelling, Carla Larsen, Evelyn Loft, James Milliken, Dean Marks, Jacqueline Meyer, Dale Melia, Gladys Nelson, Thora Nelson, Darrell Noll, Dorothy Nelson, LaVerne Nelson, Alice Pawloski, Gertrude Packer, Elma Rybin, Oleta Ross, Kate Romans, Edna Smolik, Wilma Severns, Evelyn Smith, Mildred Timmerman, Marie Timmerman, Eva Umstead, Eleanor Verstraete, Lucille Wozniak, and Donald Williamson.

More important and meritorious yet to be included on the honor roll for the entire first semester. To keep such high marks for an entire semester means consistently earnest effort. Such an effort was made, and the honor achieved by:

Darlene Anderson, Eldon Benda, Pauline Barta, Twila Brickner, Vernon Collins, Vivian Cummings, Paul Dana, Viola Mae Flynn, Catherine Holub, Edith Hansen, Ethel Lower, Edith Jefferies, Ruth Koupal, Irma Kokes, Edwin Lenz, Kenneth McGinnis, Catherine Ollis, Delma Palmatier, Thelma Palmatier, and Mildred Smith.

Mira Valley News

The horse sale which was to have been held at the Mira Valley fair ground was postponed until Friday. It was quite well attended considering the cold weather and the horses sold at fairly good prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lange and children visited at the George Lange home Sunday. Last week White trucked two carloads of cattle to Omaha for Lou Fuss. On the way down he had the misfortune of losing one steer when the side door of the truck came open and the animal broke its neck.

Mrs. Bud Bell stayed at the Pett's home in Ord last week. James Bremer took his sister, Miss Ava to Grand Island last Friday to consult a physician, where she stayed until Tuesday. Edgar Lange accompanied them.

Clara Clement and Fusa brother, cut their second and third crops of ice on the Clement pond last week. Claude Roe was up from Scotia and visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Roe the first of the week.

Henry Geweke shipped three carloads of cattle and Lou Fuss shipped two carloads to Chicago Monday. Ella and Henry Lange and James and George Bremer spent Sunday afternoon at the Wm. Fuss home Sunday.

Card of Thanks. We wish to take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks to all friends and neighbors for their sympathy and acts of kindness during the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother. H. C. Van Slyke and family; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Slyke and family; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McNamee and family.

Poland China Bred Gilts at Private Sale

We are offering our pure bred Poland China bred gilts for private sale this year as we haven't enough to make up a sale offering. These gilts are just like we have always sold for the past 12 years and the breeding in the best. They are sired by Valley Star, from Missouri's best show herd. These gilts will weigh from 275 to 375 pounds and have been running all over the place. Will sell 1 or 2 or as many as you wish. A real chance for pig club boys. See them soon as early ones are bred for early March litters, also a few for April farrow.

Geo. Rudkin who rooms at the Earl Smith residence, desiring to see John Nelson on a little matter of business started out on foot last Thursday morning for the Nelson farm about 7 1/2 miles southwest of town. On his return while passing through the Henry Rich farm yard, Mr. Rich called to him to come in and get warm and take dinner with them, which invitation Mr. Rudkin accepted. After sitting a few moments, Mr. Rudkin became faint and unconscious due to exposure and fatigue but rallied after partaking of a light lunch. He proceeded on towards town against the wishes of Mr. and Mrs. Rich, who feeling he was not able to make the trip phoned to relief headquarters for someone to meet him. J. A. Barber and Paul Madison soon had the pedestrian back to his room in town apparently well with the exception of one frozen ear. Because of not being able to start his own car, Mr. Rich was unable to bring him in.

Clifford Goodrich has bought the residence known as the Hoen. Mr. house and at present it is receiving repairs and the barn is being converted into a garage as Mr. Goodrich expects to move his family to their new home in the course of a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. Elven Barnhart will move to their farm south of town which they've rented to Mr. Goodrich for the past two years. The farm sale of livestock and machinery of Earl Stelder is being held this Thursday afternoon at the community hall in Arcadia. Mr. Stelder who has farmed for McClellan Bros. for the past few years has no definite plans thus far as to where he will farm this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern Robbins and daughter Selma were Grand Island visitors Monday. Miss Lois Kildow entertained a friend and sorority sister Miss Mildred Rise Sunday afternoon. Miss Rise teaches at Arcadia.

Supt. and Mrs. Fletcher of the Terrace schools with their small son Duane were dinner guests Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barber. The Fletcher's attended the S. D. B. church services in the morning. Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Bohrer and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundstedt were Sunday dinner guests at the Victor Cook home in Davis Creek.

A number of North Loup folks accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Stephens to the services at Davis Creek church Sunday afternoon. Miss Eula Shinneman sang a special number with Miss Vest as piano accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crandall spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. Crandall's mother, Mrs. Rachel Crandall who passed her 85th milestone Sunday, Feb. 12 at her home in the community. A number of her friends and neighbors also called to wish "Aunt Rachel" many happy returns of the day.

The young married people's dance club enjoyed Wednesday evening at the Legion hall with music furnished by the Midnight Frolickers. Mrs. Ella Frasier has been caring for her mother Mrs. Elma Mulligan who has been very ill with flu for the past week. Mrs. Allen Simms has had her flu quite all right. A Frazier funeral home, Ord, ambulance service. Day phone 38; Night 198.

Because of the severe cold weather last week nearly all social gatherings were postponed as some matters of business had to be attended. Madams Emma Madsen and Merle Zanger were hostesses to the Fortnightly aid kensington and tea Wednesday afternoon at the latter's home.

The Standard Bearers, a young ladies missionary class held their February mission study at the home of Eula and Lorna May Shinneman Monday evening with complimentary refreshments. A number of the ladies were present. Following the study some Valentine's day games were enjoyed and light refreshments served.

Walter Preston of Morrill, Neb., visited relatives here over the week end enroute from Chicago where he had been with a shipment of sheep. Clifford Hawks has rented the Kildow farm residence just east of town and the family will move there next week.

The Alva Barnhart family will move soon to an 80 acre ranch five miles southwest of Sargent on the Broken Bow and Sargent highway. Mrs. Lizzie Barnhart and daughters, Mrs. Mike Honeycutt entertained at a family dinner Sunday, honoring the birthday of Mrs. Honeycutt and Mrs. Alva Barnhart.

George Eberhart trucked a load of cattle to Omaha Monday for Benny Nelson who accompanied him. During Mr. Nelson's absence his wife Grace and little son were guests of her people, Mr. and Mrs. Irvie Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Werner Jr., and little daughter Ardy of Peetz, Colo., have been visiting the past week with Mrs. Werner's people, the Elyriys of North Loup and Cotesfield. Sunday a family gathering was held at the Arch Spring-er home in Cotesfield. Mr. Werner's people also reside at Cotesfield. The visitor returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Willoughby and daughters Beulah and Thelma were Grand Island visitors Saturday. The Wilbert Zanger family were Sunday dinner guests at the Dr. Dallam home. An evening of drama and music will be observed at P. T. A. at the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening. Come and enjoy a good program.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thomas drove to their daughter Marie's school at Fairdale, northwest of Ord Friday afternoon, taking a freezer of ice cream as a treat for Miss Marie and her scholars, who after study hours celebrated with a Valentine party and lunch following the day being Miss Thomas' birthday. A Valentine party was enjoyed by Riverdale scholars and their teacher, Miss Bresley Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young of Horace were Sunday visitors at the Ernest Paddock home. Essi Maxson is assisting with the care of Mr. Buten, taking the place of Martin Watts who began work Monday at the Jack McDermott farm. Mr. Buten shows little improvement, being confined to his bed most of the time.

places have been charged $3.50 per month and Ord residences from $1.50 to $1.75 per month; that 7% is charged per month for an extension phone; that the company makes unreasonable charges for changing phones from one place to another; that unreasonable charges are made for the connection or discontinuance of telephone service; and that unreasonable charges are made for preferred telephone listings in the directory. It is complained that prices charged by the company for service are out of all proportion to the value of the property and economic conditions at this time and it is claimed that an evaluation by the railway commission will reveal that the property is worth, at this time much less than the company claims as its value for rate making purposes.

The complaint asks that the Nebraska railway commission order an evaluation as soon as possible and that after the evaluation is completed that the commission order a reduction of rates to conform with general conditions and the true value of the company's Ord property. Secretary Miller stated in his letter that the commission would probably send its rate expert, Mr. Taylor, and also its chief engineer, Mr. C. O. Toomey, to make the evaluation as soon as the formal complaint was received.

Chamber of Commerce officers who had charge of the telephone rate fight are optimistic at this development and express the belief that the commission after completing its investigation will order that a substantial reduction in telephone rates be made here.

PROBE OF ORD PHONE SYSTEM TO BE ORDERED

The complaint sets forth the following facts: That the Nebraska Continental Telephone company owns the Ord telephone exchange and furnishes phone service to between 5 and 6 hundred phones in the City of Ord, also furnishing service to between 4 and 5 hundred phone users on farm lines tributary to Ord. That the switchboard used by the company here is thirty years old; that the cables used here, with the exception of a few hundred feet, are about twenty-five years old; that a large portion of the phones in use in Ord are nearly valueless and are of the old series type; that telephone lines operated by the company were built many years ago and that, notwithstanding the age and poor condition of the company's property here, the company claims the property to be worth $64,000.

It is complained that for the past ten years or more Ord business

Visek's Celebrate 40th Anniversary

At the National hall on Sunday evening, February 15, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Visek, sr. were guests at a surprise celebration honoring their 40th wedding anniversary, the affair being planned by their children with the assistance of the State Z. C. B.

The Visek's were married by Henry Hoffman in his office in Ord on Feb. 6, 1893, their attendants at that time being the bride's brother, Joe Bartu, and Antonio Chyba, later the wife of Joe Prince of Ord. Their married life has been spent on the homestead in Woods' Park. Mr. and Mrs. Visek have eight children, Frank, James, Rudolph, Ludvik, Joe, Lew, Chyba and Emma.

At the 40th wedding celebration Feb. 5 Mr. and Mrs. Visek's wedding was re-enacted, the maid of honor and best man being Mr. and Mrs. James Hrebec, the latter carrying a wedding cake baked and decorated by Mrs. James Visek and Miss Emma Visek. The bridesmaids and groomsmen included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bartu, sr., Mr. and Mrs. Vencil Visek, sr., Mr. and Mrs. John Drobny and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nemeskal, all relatives. They were also attended by their grandchildren, Willard, LeRoy, Richard, Irene, Betty Ann and Mary Lee Visek and by three nieces, Helen, Irene and Irene Visek. The little girls were dressed in white and all of the children carried bouquets of sweet peas and baskets of roses.

Music was furnished by Joe Lukack and orchestra, who first played a wedding march after which the bride and groom were seated in the center of the hall with their children forming a circle around them and the song "With My Parents" by Babicku Brgal" was sung, followed by a speech of congratulation by Helen.

Dancing was the principle enjoyment of the evening and at midnight a delicious supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Visek were presented with a number of beautiful and useful gifts by the lodge and by relatives and friends.

Joint News

Because of the very cold weather no school was held Monday or Tuesday of last week.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 88.
AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO THE PURCHASE OF ADDITIONAL MACHINERY AND APPLIANCES FOR THE PRODUCTION OF ELECTRIC CURRENT TO BE SUPPLIED TO THE CITY OF ORD, NEBRASKA, AND ITS INHABITANTS AND TO THE LETTING OF CONTRACTS FOR MATERIAL FOR BUILDING CHANGES TO HOUSE SAID MACHINERY AND APPLIANCES, DECLARING THE NECESSITY TO HAVE AND PROVIDE FOR THE METHOD OF PURCHASING THE SAME AND METHOD OF PAYMENT THEREFOR.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ORD, NEBRASKA:

Section One. That for the purpose of providing the City of Ord with additional machinery and equipment for the production of electric current for said City and its inhabitants, the present electric facilities of said City being inadequate, inefficient and uneconomical, the Mayor of said City is hereby authorized to advertise for bids for the purchase of said machinery as hereinafter provided and making necessary building changes to house said machinery and after suitable bids are received, the Mayor is hereby authorized to enter into a contract for the purchase of such machinery and equipment and contract for material for making building changes and improvements as he may be hereafter directed by resolution of the City Council.

Section Two. Said machinery and appliances shall be purchased and the material for said building changes and improvements contracted for only upon the condition that payment therefor shall be made out of the net receipts from the operation of the electric light plant of said City and not out of any funds raised by taxation.

Section Three. The Mayor is hereby authorized to advertise for a period of three weeks for bids for the purchase of said machinery and appliances and for the material for the making of said building changes and improvements which advertisement shall specify that payment for said machinery and appliances and the material for such building changes and improvements will be made only out of the funds realized from the net operation of the electric light plant of said City and no bids will be received for the purchase of said equipment or materials for the making of said building changes and improvements except upon said express condition that the cost of the machinery and building changes will be paid for out of the net receipts from the operation of the electric light plant and that no funds of the City realized from taxation shall be used for said purpose nor shall the City be legally obligated to pay for said machinery or material for building changes out of any funds, save those derived from the net operation of said electric light plant.

Section Four. The City engineer shall make and file with the City Council an estimate of the cost of said machinery and appliances and the cost of the material for making said building changes and improvements and said estimate shall be stated in the advertisement for bids.

Section Five. After satisfactory bids are received for the purchase of said machinery and appliances and material for the making of said building changes and improvements as hereinafter mentioned, the Mayor will be hereafter authorized by resolution of the City Council all duly passed according to law to enter into a contract for the purchase of said machinery and the material for the making of said building changes and improvements, the terms of which contract shall be specified in the resolution and after such contract shall be entered into, evidences of obligations to be known as "Conditional warrants of the City of Ord" which warrants shall specify that they are payable only out of the funds derived from the net operation of the electric light plant of said City, shall be issued by the officers of said City and deliver to the person or persons, firm or firms with whom said contracts may be made, in payment of the purchase price for said machinery and equipment and building materials. Said warrants shall not be general obligations of said City nor payable by taxation but payable only out of said special electric light funds derived from the net operation of said electric light plant.

Section Six. The City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, deem it advisable and necessary to the continued efficient and economic operation of said municipal electric light plant to procure said machinery and equipment and to make the aforesaid building changes and improvements.

Section Seven. This Ordinance shall be in full force and take effect from and after its passage,

NORTH LOUP DAM FEASIBLE, SAY TWO ENGINEERS

Project Would Be Self Liquidating Is Statement of Henningsen; Officers Are Chosen.

That a power and irrigation project in the North Loup valley is entirely feasible and would pay for itself in a period of twenty years is the statement made at a committee meeting in Ord last Thursday by H. H. Henningson, of the Henningson Engineering company, and D. E. W. Jones, of the Jones Engineering company, making a preliminary survey of the proposed project.

Two ideal dam sites are available, the engineers report, one at Rocky Ford just above Burwell and the other at Sioux Creek six miles northwest of that town. In each place there is a natural reservoir to the river, fairly high bluffs on each side and a natural reservoir for impounding the water. Other dam sites may be revealed by a more complete survey.

Engineers Henningson measured the flow of the river at the mouth of Sioux Creek and states that a twenty foot dam there would produce from 1,500 to 2,500 K. W. H. of electric energy per hour.

The North Loup river has a drop of eight feet per mile which is more than would be necessary to make irrigation successful, the engineers stated. About 65,000 acres of land in the valley between Sioux Creek and North Loup is irrigable and in Mira valley there are about 35,000 acres of irrigable land, surveys prove.

Engineers estimated the cost of the project at between 700 and 800 thousand dollars and said that with a power project producing 1,500 K. W. H. of electric energy which could be sold at a minimum of 3 mills per K. W. H., that the whole project would be self-liquidating providing 30,000 acres of land could be signed up for irrigation at $1.50 per acre.

The committee that met in Ord last Thursday evening was composed of A. L. Gram, Harry Doran and Ralph Brownell, of Burwell, E. A. Houb, of Elyria, Roy Hudson, W. O. Zanger and C. A. Bridges, of North Loup, Bert Hardenbrook, Roy Bailey and Jos. P. Barta, of Ord.

The name of the project is The North Loup Valley Hydro-Electric and Irrigation association and Bert Hardenbrook was chosen president, A. L. Gram vice-president, Jos. P. Barta secretary and Roy Hudson treasurer.

A delegation from Taylor appeared at the meeting to request that their community be included in the irrigation district, if possible. There are about 6,000 acres of irrigable land in the Loup valley near that town, they said. Engineers Henningson was asked if it would be possible to irrigate this land and stated that it could be done by installing an electric lift so if the project goes through the Taylor community may be included.

Clydesdale Stallion Killed Saturday In Freak Accident

From Woodman hall neighborhood comes news of a freak accident that cost the life of King, a Clydesdale stallion owned by Joe Waldmann, last Saturday.

Paul, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldmann, was spreading a load of manure in a stubble field where the stallion was kept occasionally for exercise. The animal as a rule had a quiet and gentle disposition and no trouble was expected but on this occasion the horse became enraged and made a run for the team driven by Paul. The team separated to avoid him and King, in the process of turning, struck Paul with such force that the tongue dealt a crushing blow to his chest and he died a few minutes later.

King was a valuable stallion and his death is quite a loss to Mr. Waldmann.

PROBE OF PHONE EXCHANGE WILL START FEBR. 27TH

Railway Commission Sends Taylor Here to Make Evaluation Of Ord Property.

As was promised last week, the Nebraska railway commission Monday ordered a new evaluation of the Nebraska Continental Telephone Company's Ord exchange to be made and this evaluation will begin next Monday, February 27, the Chamber of Commerce is informed.

Mr. Taylor, the commission's rate expert, will be here at that time or sooner and Mr. Forbes, the valuation engineer, will follow him to Ord within a few days.

The Chamber of Commerce, which has pushed the fight to have this valuation made, hopes that information will be brought out that will lead the commission to order a reduction in local telephone rates.

Has Eye-ball Removed.

Robert, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Guggenmos was taken to Grand Island last Thursday and his eye-ball was removed. A few days before, while cutting out pictures with a broom eye by the point of a pair of scissors. At first doctors hoped it save his sight but later it was decided to remove the eye entirely.

Prudential Will Heed Gov. Bryan; Drops Foreclosure

The Prudential Insurance company, at least, will heed Governor Chas. W. Bryan's proclamation for a moratorium on mortgage foreclosures, it is reported in the letter of the proclamation but also to its full intent. This was proved Tuesday when the Prudential, which was foreclosing on C. A. Sharp's farm in the amount of $19,554 plus a year's interest, refused to file a bid at the sheriff's sale held here.

James Lanigan, of Greeley, attorney for the Prudential, said his clients would not bid because they are heeding the Bryan proclamation.

In the absence of any bid, the foreclosure will have to be started all over again which gives Mr. Sharp possession of the farm for another year.

Two day sheriffs sales were held Tuesday, the Travelers Insurance company v. Ansel Frazier and the Travelers v. Claud Rathbun. In each case Mr. Lanigan, who represented the Travelers, bid in the property for the full amount of the mortgage.

Judge Clements Back. The Quiz neglected to mention last week that Judge E. P. Clements and his party, which included Mrs. Clements, Miss Lena Clements and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, returned last Tuesday from California, where they had visited several weeks. On the return trip they were accompanied by O. A. Abbott, mayor of Grand Island, who flew to California a few days before. The party returned by the southern route and report good roads most of the way. Mrs. Mortensen left them at Grand Island and went to Lincoln, visiting there for a couple of days while her husband was in Chicago with livestock.

Basketball Tourney Here. The Loup Valley High School association's annual basketball tournament is being held in Ord this week, starting last night and continuing today. Because of the early hour at which the Quiz goes to press we are unable to give details of last night's games.

MENSING DENIES FARM HOLIDAY TO RUIN CREDIT

Substantial Farmers, Not Radicals In Association, He Says; Reports of Delegates Heard.

"The rumors you have been hearing about the Farmers Holiday association being a bunch of radicals who aim to ruin the credit of farmers are false," said Arthur Mensing, Valley county president of the association, in addressing a crowd of about 300 Holiday members at the Ord opera house Saturday afternoon. "Our organization is made up of the substantial farmers of Valley county, of Nebraska and of the United States and all we are asking is justice—a chance to save our homes from the mortgage hold until financial conditions improve so that we can pay our obligations," he continued.

The meeting was called to consider what action the association should take in a foreclosure sale which was held Monday. The parties concerned got together and settled the matter to their mutual satisfaction before time for the meeting, however, so there was no action for Holiday members to take. The sale was held Monday as scheduled with no interference from Holiday members.

Frank Carkoski and Burr Robbins, two of the Valley county delegates to the Farmers Relief Conference in Lincoln last week, reported at the meeting Saturday. Both expressed the opinion that the Holiday association accomplished much good by presenting its demands in such a manner to the state legislature and by parading in force, proving to city people just how farmers are suffering under present conditions.

A township Holiday meeting was held in Vinton Monday evening, at which time a meeting was held in Noble township and out of sixty present fifty-seven were enrolled as Holiday members. The names of officers elected have not been reported to the Quiz.

A meeting is scheduled to be held in Springdale township this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, and also on tonight at Fairplay school in Michigan township. Michigan township officers say several matters have been suggested that call for discussion. The main topic for debate, they say, is "Why should we pay very high taxes on our homes, heart-ache and head-ache times." Outside speakers will be present at both the Springdale and Michigan meetings and a large attendance is desired.

Five Engineers Busy At Arcadia

Surveying For Power-Irrigation Project Pushed Rapidly; 80 Unemployed Men Meet.

Arcadia, Febr. 22.—(Special)—The Middle Loup Hydro-electric and irrigation project is progressing very rapidly and the local board on such matters and it is hoped by Governor Bryan that much good can be accomplished pending passage of one of the several mortgage moratorium bills now before the state legislature.

It was Ernest, Not Emil. Listing officers of the Farm Holiday association for Ord township last week the Quiz stated that Emil Vodehnal was secretary. This is because Colonel Weller and his associates will, on this date, begin selling machinery and miscellaneous articles at Saturday sales, as well as livestock. The sale on machinery starts at 12:30 and the livestock auction at 1:30 each Saturday, Col. Weller says.

Candy Rains on Highway. Candy rained all over the highway near Elyria last Friday evening when the car driven by L. L. Fredericksen, a Grand Island candy salesman, turned turtle, and spilled sample cases of candy all over the road. Neither Fredericksen nor his wife was hurt and the car was not greatly damaged.

New Cartographic History Work Of Pat Fuson

A new "Cartographic History of the United States," samples of which were received in Ord this week, is the work of Merritt Pat Fuson, of Portland, Ore., and is being published by a prominent school book publishing firm of that city. It is something entirely new in the teaching of history and may become a standard adjunct to all American history books.

The cartographic history, in graph form, is printed on a sheet of paper 15 inches wide and 23 inches long and gives the names of all presidents, the party to which they belonged and the year they were elected. It also shows in which the United States has engaged, gives population figures for each year since 1790 and national wealth and the national debt over the same period, gives an economic chart showing the growth of the country's prosperity, lists what Mr. Fuson considers our most important historical events, and shows the years in which each of the forty-eight states was admitted to the Union, as well as a wealth of other historical information.

at, who has been successful as a brick-layer, contractor, athlete, event promoter, sailor, architect, amateur boxer, poet, newspaper columnist, philosopher and inventor, now becomes the author of something entirely new in the annals of education. His idea may be extended to branches of education other than history and well exemplifies the versatile genius of this former Ord boy.

CONCILIATION BOARD HOLDS FIRST MEETING

Chas. Johnson, Elected Chairman, Milliken Secretary; To Arbitrate Foreclosures.

The Valley county conciliation board, appointed last week by Governor Charles W. Bryan to arbitrate matters such as real estate and chattel mortgage foreclosures, held its first meeting at the courthouse at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Members of the board are D. E. Strong, Don Rounds, Chas. Johnson, J. G. Bremer and L. D. Milliken. All were present.

Chas. Johnson, of North Loup, who is the holder of being chairman of the Valley county board of supervisors, was unanimously elected chairman of the conciliation board and L. D. Milliken was elected secretary.

Secretary Milliken informs the Quiz that he has received from the state board this week a list that they will be divided equally among members of the Valley county board, so that people wishing to see the board may consult the member in their part of the county first.

Saturday Sale Here Will Start at 12:30

Beginning Saturday, March 4, the Saturday sales of the Weller Auction company will begin at 12:30 o'clock instead of at 1:00 as in the past. This is because Colonel Weller and his associates will, on this date, begin selling machinery and miscellaneous articles at Saturday sales, as well as livestock. The sale on machinery starts at 12:30 and the livestock auction at 1:30 each Saturday, Col. Weller says.

DIESEL-STEAM COMBINATION TO BE USED IN ORD

Present Plant Will Not Be Junked If New Engine Bought; Fuel Saving Big Item.

That the purchase of a Diesel engine will not cause Ord's steam plant to be valueless is the statement made this week by George Allen, city light and water commissioner, in answer to criticism being made to the effect that our present plant will have to be junked if the Diesel engine is bought. The steam plant will continue to be kept in first-class shape for use in emergencies and as a stand-by, Mr. Allen says.

Black & Veatch, the Kansas City consulting engineers who were employed to analyze Ord's needs, recommended the installation of one Diesel-driven generator of sufficient size to carry the peak loads anticipated during the next five years, this unit to be used entirely for generation except during periods of shut-down for inspection and adjustment, at which time the steam plant would be used.

A combination Diesel-steam plant which uses the Diesel for the major part of the generating gets the benefit of cheaper fuel cost, which it is estimated will bring about a saving of $10,000 a year. Retaining the steam units for stand-by service avoids the purchase of a second Diesel engine, which would double the investment and at the same time render our present steam equipment useless except for sale purposes.

The reason a Diesel-steam combination works so well is that the exhaust heat from a diesel engine can be claimed by passing it through a specially designed boiler which absorbs a portion of its heat in water, and this hot water is available not only for heating plant buildings but also for keeping the high pressure steam plant warm so that in case of a failure of the Diesel power, steam can be generated in a short time.

Exactly such a Diesel-steam plant, it is claimed, has been operated by the city of Minden for about 2 1/2 years and the savings made there have been well over $10,000 yearly.

The city council of Ord held another special meeting Tuesday evening, at which time the advertisement for bids was drafted. To be legal, this advertisement must be published three weeks and at the end of that time the council will be prepared to purchase a Diesel engine.

Charles Kerchal Dies At Age of 86

Funeral services were held at the Ord Catholic church at 10 a. m. Monday for Charles Kerchal, 86-year-old Ord resident who passed away at his home on Saturday, Feb. 18, after a brief illness. Father Lawler conducted the last rites.

Deceased was born April 19, 1846 in the village of Studence, in Czechoslovakia, and in 1868 was married there to Rosalie Kocar, who preceded him in death in April 1917. To them fifteen children were born, including two sets of twins. Six died in infancy and the nine who are left to mourn their father's departure are Frank and Joe Kerchal, Wauneta, Neb.; Charles, Omaha; Mrs. Mary Steffel, Dodge; Mrs. Frances Wacha, Scotland, S. D.; Mrs. Anna Chroust, Billings, Mont.; Rudolph Kerchal, Ord; Raymond, Arcadia; and Cyril, St. Louis, Mo. There are also 38 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren. A few years ago Mr. Kerchal was united in marriage to Mrs. Frances Penas, who survives him.

In 1893 Mr. Kerchal brought his family to the United States, settling first in Hayes county, Nebraska, where he farmed until 1903. In that year he came to Valley county and farmed on Haskell Creek for a few years until he retired and moved to Ord, which was his home until his death.

Honest and thrifty, a kind neighbor and a staunch friend, respected by all who had business dealings with him and liked by all who knew him in a social way, Mr. Kerchal was of the highest type of foreign-born Americans who have made this country the great nation that it is. He will be greatly mourned, not only for what he was but also for all that he stood for.

Prohibition Repeal Passes House; Now Up To States

So far as the United States Congress is concerned, the 18th amendment to the constitution is now repealed. It is now up to the states to say whether or not the 18th amendment shall remain in the constitution. Last week, upon resolution by Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, the senate passed repeal by a vote of 63 to 21. Monday this result was duplicated in the house of representatives by a vote of 289 to 121. In each case more than two-thirds of the votes were wet, which means that the action cannot be vetoed by President Hoover.

To finally repeal prohibition, 36 of the 48 states will have to ratify the Blaine resolution in constitutional conventions to be assembled in the various states. There is now pending in Congress a bill to provide $7,500,000 of federal funds for a special election May 10, at which time delegates to the state conventions will be elected.

EARLY SETTLER OF VINTON TWP. PASSES IN IOWA

E. C. Loomis, Who Farmed Here 22 Years, Died February 10 On 81st Birthday.

Edward C. Loomis, for twenty-two years a farmer in Vinton township in Valley county, passed away at 5 o'clock last Friday morning, February 10, at his home in Ottumwa, Ia., where he had been ill for some time following a bad fall in which he received a fractured hip. Many will remember the Loomis family. With Mr. Loomis when death came was his daughter, Eloise, an instructor at Parsons college, Fairfield, Ia., and his son James, a business man in Indianapolis. The Ottumwa Daily Courier printed the following obituary of the deceased:

"Edward Coffin Loomis was born February 10, 1852, at Ravens, Ohio, the son of Joe and Elizabeth Loomis. When he was 5 years old he came with his parents to Iowa. They traveled to Mt. Pleasant on the first Burlington railroad train to operate that far west. The family later moved to Ottumwa and when Mr. Loomis was 9 years old, a home was established at 113 North Court street. The house which formerly stood on the lot south of the public library, was razed in 1927.

Mrs. Oliver Bell Passes At Hastings

Alice, wife of Oliver P. Bell passed away at 10 a. m. Monday, February 20 at Mary Lanning Hospital in Hastings, where she had been taken a week before because of a throat infection. Pneumonia developed and this disease with complications, resulted in death.

For the past six years the Bell family have made their home in Hastings, moving there from the Mira Valley community where they lived for many years. Mrs. Bell is survived by her husband and three children, Moore, Jane and Gordon. Funeral services were held at the family home in Hastings at 10:30 a. m. yesterday and the body is being brought to Ord for services in the James Hastings home here at 10 a. m. today. At this writing a complete obituary is not available but will be given next week.

Hather Hurt In Accident.

Charley Hather, of Ord, is suffering from a stiff neck received Saturday afternoon when he was returning home from Fullerton with a truck load of corn. The right rear axle broke near Elbe and the truck turned over on its side in the ditch. Charley's neck was hurt when his head struck the top of the cab. The broken axle and a broken windshield were the only damages to the truck.

Fined For Intoxication.

Arrested at Elyria Sunday evening by Special Deputy Mike Kusek, L. R. Seerley was lodged in county jail and the next day before Judge Anderson he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication. The judge fined him $15 and costs which he has been unable to pay so far and therefore is still in jail here.

4,000 FARMERS DEMAND RELIEF AT STATE HOUSE

Holiday Group Meets in Lincoln, March to Legislative Hall To Present Demands.

Four thousand farmers, most of them overall-clad marched up 16th street in Lincoln Thursday afternoon with a farmer band leading the way and, congregating on the steps of Nebraska's $10,000,000 state capitol building, listened to speeches from farmers-organizers who movie cameras clicked and curious city people looked on in wonder and awe. Banners carried by the paraders cited their grievances and it was an impressive demonstration of the suffering that is so wide spread in Nebraska.

The farmers were part of the crowd from fifty Nebraska counties who met at the 4-H club building on the state fair grounds Wednesday and Thursday in a Relief Conference at which twenty-two demands were formulated for presentation to the state legislature.

It was an orderly group that paraded to the state capitol earlier in the day the Farmers Holiday association had purged itself of communistic agitators by censuring Harry Parmenter, of Yutan, and ejecting A. A. Miesgadis, of Nebraska City, from the 4-H club building. Parmenter, president of the Farm Holiday association, and Miesgadis, an organizer, were charged with being communist sympathizers and both were denied a voice in the conference by Farm Holiday members, who elected Fred Keller, of Pierce county, and A. E. Brunson, of Loup City, secretary.

Eleven Valley county men took part in the conference, the local delegates including Burr Robbins, Frank Carkoski, Arthur and Ray McLain, John Lunney, Fred Martensen, Frank Peterson, James and Anton Weiland, Elmer Stevens, Guy Sample and George Fisk.

Chess Tournament In Ord.

The chess players of Jackson and Bartlett have challenged the Ord players to a chess contest, which has been accepted. The event will be pulled off at Ord Tuesday evening, beginning at 7:30. The Johnsons came being the scene of the contest.

The Wheeler county players have been practicing up all winter and are coming over with the intention of taking Ord's scalp, but the Ord bunch, though entirely out of practice, do not concede them the victory yet. All Ordites who can play the game are asked to report to W. W. Haskell or L. W. Benjamin in advance of the meeting and be sure to attend the tournament.

Second DeLong Boy Insane, Committed To State Hospital

George, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. DeLong who live in the northern edge of Valley county, was found insane by the county insanity board Wednesday morning and was committed to the state hospital at Ingleside. He is a brother of Ralph DeLong, who was taken to Ingleside a few months ago.

The second brother was much more violently insane than the first and a few days ago threatened to commit suicide, going so far as to climb to the top of a 40-foot windmill tower intending to jump off. He was dissuaded but continued to utter threats so Sheriff Round was finally asked to go to the DeLong home and get him.

Tuesday evening Round did so, but young DeLong put up such a fight that he had to be bound hand and foot before he could be brought to Ord. Even in that condition, he broke the rear window in the sheriff's car on the trip. The young man was still trussed up and also had been given two injections of a narcotic when Sheriff Round left for Hastings with him yesterday. After reaching there the sheriff found that the state asylum was filled to capacity and would not accept his patient. Last night, so the Quiz was informed, the sheriff was planning to take young DeLong to the other state asylum at Norfolk where he had been promised admittance.

LAST NOTICE

We can no longer get the daily and Sunday Bee-News for 14 months for $5 for Feb. 23. You can renew, now, 14 months for $5 no matter when you are paid to. It will be pushed ahead 14 months from the date paid to. After the 28th it will be 12 months for $5. Better see or phone us for either new or renewals before that date, 48-11.

U. P. Motor Changes Time. Beginning Monday of this week, the Union Pacific motor from Grand Island is leaving that city at 2 p. m. and arrives in Ord at 4:15 p. m., two hours earlier than in the past. The U. P. freight leaves Ord at 4:15 p. m. in future.

THE NEW DIESEL ENGINE.

There is a surprising amount of objection in the street to the purchase of a new Diesel engine for Ord's municipal power and light plant, the intention to do this having been announced by Mayor Moses and the city council a couple of weeks ago. While various reasons are cited by the objectors, the objections to the purchase seem to boil down to "This is a poor time to spend the money, as long as our present plant is going along all right." To an objection like this—devoted of reason and logic as it is—there can be no reasonable nor logical answer.

Most of the people objecting to the city's purchasing a Diesel are people who have not taken the trouble to familiarize themselves with the facts. You will find some believing that the city intends to sell bonds to raise money to buy the engine, and that the city will sooner or later the city of Ord will be taxed to pay for it. Still others profess to believe that we do not need such an addition to our equipment, that electric energy can be manufactured as cheaply by steam as by an oil burning engine, and that the council's only reason for wanting to buy it is a desire to get a goodly helping of the gravy from the equipment company that sells the machine. The Quiz is sure that none of these ugly insinuations is true.

Is a fact, and a fact that can be easily verified, that Nebraska towns having Diesel-equipped plants are reducing their light and power rates to a level much below Ord's rates. It is also a fact that, while Ord's plant is making money at the present rates, very little reduction can be made in future unless some changes are made in plant equipment.

Last week the little town of Blue Hill, in Webster county announced a reduction of 13 to 27 per cent. the light and power rates. In this town, which is much smaller than Ord, rates are lower than our's are. Blue Hill's municipal plant is Diesel-equipped and last week's issue of the Blue Hill Leader gives the facts in regard to this newest reduction. It is a very interesting and gives so much information of value to Ord people that we print a portion of the article:

Diesel Engine Installed in 1929.
After a boiler in the old steam plant had been condemned in 1925, a new 240 h. p. Diesel engine was installed at a cost of $40,000 and was placed in operation in January, 1929. One of the old steam units was kept in use for standby service. In form in April 1931, demolished the smoke stack at the plant and it followed that another oil burning unit of 120 h. p. capacity was installed the following summer at a cost of $7,700.00, and was put into service early that fall.

The first and larger unit, purchased on a six year monthly-payment basis—funds to be derived from the saving in fuel—was paid off in three years, the last of the 72 monthly payments having been taken up January 1, this year. A substantial payment has been made on the smaller unit, and at the present time there remains a balance unpaid on oil-burning equipment of $7,900.00.

Predict Still Lower Rates in Future.

The record is something of which our village should be proud. We now have a modern, up-to-date plant, giving one hundred percent service, and the present reduction in rates is far below that of many other municipalities in the state, whether or not they are purchasing their electricity from high line companies. As predicted by those who had thoroughly gone into the proposition of buying new equipment, Blue Hill is eventually to enjoy still lower rates, which would never have been possible with the continued use of the steam units, or connection to high line service.

In discussing the purchase of a Diesel engine by Ord we must not lose sight of two facts: (1) That now is an excellent time to make such an improvement, for the reason that machinery prices are at rock bottom levels. It should be noted that Blue Hill paid 40 thousand in 1928 for a 240 h. p. Diesel. The 300 h. p. engine suggested for Ord will cost not more than 35 thousand, which will include also the cost of fuel oil tanks, an addition to the building and other accessory equipment. (2) That Ord has the money with which to buy this equipment, that this money was earned by the electric plant and that not a penny of it came from taxation.

LAUGH AT YOUR TROUBLE.

Quiz subscribers who read the Danish language were quite surprised last week to see an article in Danish printed in this newspaper. Many were the chuckles heard as readers got busy at translating the definitions submitted by Chris Johnson in the form of a clipping from a newspaper published in Denmark, and several of the translations were sent to the Quiz. We are printing below that of Ejvind Laursen.

Bank: Storehouse for worthless bonds.
Bonds: First right to what remains after the receiver gets his share.
Farm: A piece of land surrounded by creditors and covered by mortgages.
Home: A place on which the rent is past due.
Business Ability: Being able to get as much as possible out of others.
Proprietor: One who worries about how he shall be able to pay his taxes and interest.
Laborer: One who has nothing to answer for.

WE NEED IRRIGATION.
There is now under consideration in the North Loup valley a project that promises to turn time forward by a good many years. We refer to the irrigation and power project, now made a possibility by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's willingness to loan money at a low rate of interest to self-liquidating projects that promise to employ labor and conserve a natural resource. The project proposed for this valley comes within these requirements and hence, if our people want irrigation and will work for it with might and main, the project is assured of success. This newspaper has always taken the attitude that the coming of irrigation in the Loup valleys is merely a matter of time. It is a wonder that something of this sort was not done in the last boom years, when money was plentiful and easy to secure. The opportunity passed and it is not natural that in a period of world-wide depression such as we are having now that the opportunity of a life-time would present itself. But it has, only because of federal government intervention in bending every effort to start the wheels of business turning by creating employment for idle men. The credit of the federal government has been made available and we will be silly indeed if we do not take advantage of it.

Nobody may accurately predict what irrigation could mean to the North Loup valley. We have the rich soil to produce bounteous crops of every kind and description—potatoes, in some localities, sugar beets in others, corn, beans, wheat and all kinds of fruits and vegetables. Our handicap in the past has been lack of moisture. With the Loup river dammed and the water diverted to our own uses, one hundred thousand acres will blossom into fruitful yield every year.

With irrigation, population will increase and land prices will rise. Every resident of the valley, in every walk of life, will be benefited by the magic of plentiful moisture as applied to our rich bottom land.

If it were necessary to issue bonds and plaster our land to the extent of 50 or 100 dollars an acre, as was done in western Nebraska, there might be reason for hesitancy with prices of farm products at the present low levels. But when we are asked to spend nothing for the dam, nothing for the irrigation ditches, issue no bonds, pay no ditch upkeep and pay only $1.50 per acre for water, not a farmer in the valley should hesitate. And, best of all, the farmer need sign up to take water for only such a portion of his farm as is actually irrigable and when he signs he contracts to take water for only five years, a contract that becomes void if he should sell his farm. Moreover, he does not pay for his water until the crop has been harvested and sold in late fall. Is there a farmer living in a semi-arid region such as this who wouldn't willingly pay $1.50 per acre for a 3-inch rain at some time during every summer? It would add more than its cost to the value of his crop, nine years out of ten. Why object then, to irrigation, which assures plentiful moisture just when it is needed every year at a cost of only $1.50? We do not think many farmers will.

The North Loup valley needs irrigation. It is coming some day, sure, and if we can get it now we are just turning time ahead. Good times will come with the water and until the Loup river runs dry they will continue—if irrigation comes.

QUIZ FORUM

Answers Letter About Flour.

To the Editor of the Quiz:
In answer to "A Quiz Reader" I would just like to ask for him, or her which ever the case might be, to please produce proof of his statement about the Red Cross flour and clothing which is being distributed in Valley County. I would also like to see the size of the basket, that all of the flour that has been given away, could be hidden under. I'm afraid it would be much larger than your so-called bushel basket.

"Mr. Quiz Reader" as far as the moths eating it is concerned, some times I'm tempted to think they are as deserving of it as some of these people who, just because they have a chance, are trying to take every advantage that they possibly can of the Red Cross and the local welfare work. There are just a few sacks of flour left out of a car load and only two people, out of the many who have asked for help, have been refused.

As to the price of cream and your cow feed, why bring that up at all. Neither the welfare board nor the Red Cross have anything to do with the price of cream or do they have to worry about how you are going to feed your cow. They have enough to do to feed you. If they fed your cow too then you would have nothing left to worry about. Anyhow your cow can't eat flour even if the moths can.

Now Mr. Quiz Reader I'm not afraid to sign my name and if you want more proof just come to MRS. WM. CARLTON

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

I had a 3-day vacation last week. Not that I really needed a vacation, for I don't work very hard. Still, it is nice to get away from my desk occasionally. This was the first time I was away for several months. We hurried the mailing of the Quiz, doing more than usual of the job Wednesday evening, and bright and early Thursday morning got into the car and started for Lincoln. The Missus and her sister, Mrs. Burke, went along with their niece, Mrs. Edna Hill and family. Irma went to Omaha for a couple of days with her sister and brother there, and Eugene and I attended the annual winter session of the Nebraska Press Association.

This session was held in Lincoln, held in February and every two years it is held in Lincoln. This is during the years the legislature is in session. On the alternate years this convention is held at some other point, Grand Island, Hastings, and so on. It is a very year one of the largest and best we ever held. Also, our membership at this time is shown to be the largest it has ever been, a total of 231. This is about half what it should be, for there are upwards of four hundred weekly papers in Nebraska, and every one of them should be a member and in addition, many of the older and more responsible employees should also be members.

The annual press meeting is more a less a matter of routine. The meeting is always held over the last three days in the week selected for it. A short session is held Thursday afternoon at which committees are named, but the first big event is the banquet Thursday evening. This is the highlight of the president's banquet, the toastmaster and has charge of the meeting. When I was president of the state association a few years ago, the meeting was held in Grand Island and my leading speaker was Judge Bayard H. Paine, who was a very interesting speaker last Thursday evening and, as always, he made a wonderful address. There are few, if any, more pleasing speakers in the state than Judge Paine. He was followed by Will Maupin, Post Laureate of Nebraska, who made a very interesting address in rhyme. There was a fine orchestra and a bunch of dancing girls, and Emerson Purcell, Frank Edgecombe and several others told me they would have enjoyed that part of the program much better had they been present.

At home, Lou Frazier, who sat opposite me, told me across the table that he didn't care for the dancing girls at all but I knew from the expression on his wife's face that she was not taking much stock in what he said. Fred Howard missed his dinner by coming to the program and as soon as the program was over rushed out to a cafe to get a meal.

One of the most pleasing numbers on the program was the address given Friday by Doyle L. Buckles, formerly the editor and publisher of the Ord Journal. He is editor of a Fairbury newspaper now and is rapidly making a name for himself that is far more than state wide, for he is often called to other states to talk advertising to groups of publishers. Mr. Buckles was chosen as vice president of the state association and next winter will be elevated to the presidency.

Horace M. Davis is a past president of the association and a few years ago conducted the business of the past presidents' association, with a get-together banquet on Friday evening each year, during the state press meeting. He was its first toastmaster. There are about twenty living past presidents and about twenty below government. At the banquet last Friday night, A. W. Ladd of Albia had charge of the program this year and called on a number of the older past presidents. One, F. O. Edgecombe of Geneva, has attended every annual meeting for the past 45 years. He was named to have charge of the meeting next winter and will arrange the program. The meeting, this year, was not as joyous as former past presidents' banquets have been, for the reason that M. A. Brown, editor of Nebraska editors, passed away recently, and he was to have been our leader this year. So there was a spirit of sadness, which I am sure was felt by all, during the hour or more that we were at dinner. Time heals such wounds, but by another year we will be joyous again, if death does not in the mean time, claim more of the past presidents.

I found time Thursday afternoon to visit Irl D. Tolén at the state house and found him a busy man. As you all know, he is deputy secretary of state. He has a desk in the main office of his department and it is to him that everyone goes, first. Irl seems to be doing a fine job of directing the affairs of the most important office below government. Irl is a master hand at meeting and greeting the public and I am guessing that at the end of two years in that office no man in all the state will be able to meet and call by their first name, more men than will Irl. And he is not forgetting his former newspaper friends either. He has spent a lot of time making and executing plans for self betterment and he is getting results.

Saturday morning I again went to the state house and after attending to a matter of business, I thought I would go over to the house and see if Marion Cushing was on the job. I hurried back to the last session of our press meeting. I was standing in the lobby at the back, when I was invited to go in on the floor and Marion called me to sit beside him at his desk. From then on I was so interested in the proceedings that the entire forenoon got away before I realized the passing of the time and I didn't see any more of the press meet. Mr. Cushing is a republican representative in a strongly democratic house, but, just the same, he seems to be recognized as a leading member. I don't know how many times during the forenoon, members came to consult and advise with him regarding the matters under discussion and he seemed to have a good understanding of the matters being considered. I shall not be surprised if Mr. Cushing develops into gubernatorial timber one of these days.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

I want to thank the ladies who so graciously spent three cents and some of their time, ink and stationery to send in recipes this week. Many delicious ones appeared, probably because of a hint from me in such a glib way as to vote last week. Thank you so much.

Lenten Treats.
Beat two eggs, add one-third cup milk, two tablespoons melted fat and beat again. Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon baking powder, and blend with the egg mixture. Add one cup canned corn which has been drained, one cup canned salmon and mix well. Drop by the tablespoonful into deep hot fat and fry until golden brown. Serve plain or with any favorite sauce.

Meat Loaf.

Mix well three pounds hamburger, one pound sausage, one cup bread crumbs, three eggs, salt and pepper, using one pint of strained tomato juice. Divide into two long loaves and bake in a moderate oven two hours. Mrs. Clarence Blessing

Tongue Sandwiches.

Blend together one cup chopped cooked tongue, two hard boiled eggs, chopped, two tablespoons of peppers (may be omitted), two tablespoons sour pickles, chopped, one teaspoon lemon juice, one teaspoon prepared mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Spread on rye or white bread. The children are especially fond of these sandwiches for school lunches.

Good Cream Cake.

Beat three egg yolks, add one cup sweet cream, one cup sugar, and beat with an egg beater four minutes. Then add one cup of sifted cake flour and beat until smooth. Put in another half-cup of sifted cake flour which has been siftered with two heaping teaspoons of baking powder. Lastly add the whites of the three eggs and one teaspoon vanilla. I usually make this cake pink by adding a few drops of coloring; or sometimes I put in one-half cup butted sugar syrup. Bake in loaf or layer. This never fails. Emma Visek, Comstock, Rt. 2.

Light Hearted Muffins.

Sift together two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, and add two unbeaten eggs, one cup milk, four tablespoons melted shortening. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven for about twenty minutes. Mrs. Willard Conner.

World Day of Prayer.

The World Day of Prayer is to be held March 3 and on that day all over the world Christian people will meet and observe the day. Ord church people will hold a meeting at 2:30 that day in the Christian church.

O. G. E. club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Lorenzo Blessing.

Something DIFFERENT

The Carl Dale's have a heap of fun listening to their little son Douglas converse these days. For little Doug just loves to use big words, and although he is only two his conversation is most intriguing.

For example, a few days ago he came into the house and announced to his mother, "I'm liberally frozen." This brought down the house. Probably Douglas did have a liberal area of cold spots, but what he was trying to say was that he was "liberally frozen." I suspect he's heard his mama make that remark, it sounds like her.

It seems to have been open season on female leg injuries lately. Mrs. Stanley McLain has had a badly bruised leg for some time, and has been undergoing treatments for it. Mrs. Lester Norton has a bruise just below the ankle bone which shows through her hosiery at present, although it is getting better. Mrs. H. M. Davis fell down the stairs to the basement of her home a few days ago, while carrying a pan of hot starch, and has a ferocious looking spot on her leg near the ankle.

And last but not least I tried to fall in the gutter or jump over it or something like that last Wednesday night. I was so sure that I was taking off down the avenue.

Did you know that Bud Holloway who plays the harmonica so well over the radio these days is in the family of the Holloway family of Ord? And Bud's playing is a real treat according to those who have heard him. I haven't but hope to soon. Bud plays so well that he now has countless imitators over other small stations of this territory, and it is not until they are improving all the time, as he practices constantly so that each time his listeners hear a favorite selection they notice an improvement.

Speaking of radio, I am informed that the Bill Hutter family conducted the hours and hours between the radio presentations of that utter fool, Ed Wynn, the fire chief who gives those shrieky "So-o-o-o-o's."

I used to think Ed Wynn was terrible, and his wavery shrieks grated on my nerves until they were almost insupportable. I am beginning to think, however, that his jokier program is rather good. I think his jokes are newer or more original, his program clever and extremely funny simply because it is so foolish. I am beginning to laugh at Ed Wynn and his program I dislike is that "So" he screams occasionally, and that the rest of it is not bad at all.

Queer, isn't it, that so many famous people who seem to have devoted their lives to learning to manufacture an illegible script all their own which even they themselves can't read when it is cold. Or so their autographs would make it appear.

It seems as though a little rule might be formulated, such as "The worse the handwriting, the more the genius." And now I've presented a compliment to a few neighbors, and I hadn't fully made up my mind to give them one.

But I do hear that Clarence Davis himself can't read his own writing. And that in Doctor Barta's prescriptions it is difficult to decide whether he intended you to take two teaspoons of something black and nasty or only four. And then of course my husband can't always enter his name on his letters.

I may as well admit almost anyone can read mine. Curses.

Charlotte Haley Williams, Harry's wife, now in Debeque, Colo. can only write about four words on a page, her script is so generously sized. That is odd, too, for Charlotte is a thrifty, economical person and you would not expect her to waste so much paper on so little ink, now would you?

Then Charlotte fools the populace once in a while by writing an entirely different and unSpencerish hand. Backhand, in fact, with square bottoms on her letters. In case you care to go in for this stuff, which has such a fascinating appearance, it is done by placing a blotter or ruler on the line as you write.

Girl Reserves at the high school played a guessing game last week, exchanging gifts each day with an unknown "heart sister". Teachers played it too, and everyone was hunting the hiding place of her gift. On Friday, the last day of exchanges, each girl found out who her friend donor was, the girl who had been her "heart sister". Gifts were tiny and inexpensive, and the girls enjoyed their fun a lot.

At an athletic meet at the state university Grover Long beat the high kick record by holding his toe five feet 9 inches in the air.

County Attorney Olsson was instructed by the attorney general to start suit against Valley county people who held railway passes, which recently had been found illegal. This meant the Quiz editor, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Davis and Walter Rood. Previously newspaper people had been given railway passes good on all lines in Nebraska.

James Milford was elected president and O. P. Cromwell secretary of the Ord branch of the A. J. Shirley was continued as chief. Ernest Timmerman of Springfield and Miss Bessie Canfield of Ord were married at St. Paul.

G. C. Moore installed a new automatic sewing machine, polishing machine and nailing machine in his shoe shop.

Superintendent Bignell, of the Burlington railroad, visited Ord and addressed the commercial club.

A. Norman won his 73rd law suit against the Simons bankrupt stock store but Mr. Simons promptly filed notice of appeal.

The new Methodist church, built at a cost of $25,000, was to be dedicated on the coming Sunday. Dr. Robert P. Hammons, district superintendent, was to fill the pulpit.

George I. Babcock, head of the Y. M. C. A. in Mexico and supervisor of the Y. building seized by General Diaz to use as a fort, was reported by the Associated Press to be a North Loup, Nebr. boy.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

The farmers of Washington's day had many good ideas which later generations have overlooked. At that time they first learned how remarkably the soil was benefited by clover. Many of them believed that the clover crop should be abandoned. They were afraid it would so increase yields that surpluses, low prices, and financial ruin would result.

George Washington was one of the best agriculturists of them all. He drew out a scheme in which all his fields were numbered. Crops were assigned to them in advance. He studied the soil in different parts of his farms, and caused wheat, corn, potatoes, oats, grass and other crops to succeed each other in the same field at stated times. He abandoned tobacco because it exhausted the ground. So successful were Washington's rotations that he pursued them to the end of his life.

Washington drew up a similar plan for landscaping his yards and planting his gardens. He transferred the choicest trees from the woods to his yards and attended personally the selection, removal, and planting of every tree. His diary relates how anxiously he watched each tree for signs of growth. Pruning trees was a favorite pursuit with him. When at home, he could be seen working almost daily in his yards and gardens.

Washington's orchards, gardens, and green-houses were replenished with all the varieties of rare fruit trees, vegetables, shrubs, and flowering plants that he could procure. From Europe he hired skillful gardeners to help him carry out his plans.

Washington also participated in the field of livestock raising. He was one of the first importers of donkeys from Spain. These were used for mule production.

On all his farming enterprises, Washington kept careful financial accounts. For this reason his picture is placed above the treasurer's station at meetings of the Future Farmers of America. He was an engineer, a general a President, and the Father of Our Country, but he was a farmer, first, last, and all the time.

Mr. Carkoski was a member of the resolutions committee at the conference and when the resolutions were drafted a committee of seven was appointed to present them to the state legislature.

After parading to the state house Thursday and listening to speeches at the north entrance, the farm group was admitted to the building and to the legislative hall, where house and senate had resolved themselves into a joint session with Lieutenant Governor Jorgensen and Speaker G. W. O'Malley presiding jointly.

For the group were given a courteous hearing and their twenty-two demands were read to the legislature. These demands, summarized, were:

- 1. That the legislature declare a moratorium on mortgages and interest for two years from March 1, 1933 to March 1, 1935.
2. That the legislature on one day to courts the right to issue executions in foreclosure, seizures of property and evictions for a period of two years.
3. That exemption be granted on gas tax for everything except that used by motor vehicles on the highways.
4. That it be determined how much relief both in cash and in kind is needed by each family and that administering this relief be put in the hands of local committees to be composed of farmers.
5. That in the forcible collection on a note secured by chattels, that the suit on note and chattels shall be inseparable, and the sale price must fully satisfy the debt.
6. That all public officers take a voluntary salary reduction of from 25 to 50 per cent or be adjudged unpatriotic.
7. That the state militia be abolished.
8. That the legislature memorialize congress to cut all freight rates 50 per cent and yardage and feed charges at terminal markets by the same percentage.
9. That the maximum of fees such as lawyers, doctors, dentists, veterinarians, etc., be fixed by law and in no case exceed ability to pay.
10. That all lobbying at the legislature by special interests and corporations be made illegal.
11. That any state or county fair hiring so-called special attractions be denied county or state aid.
12. That the present system of electing county supervisors by districts and precinct assessors by election be retained.
13. That an immediate drastic reduction in motor vehicle license fees be made and that in no case should truck license fees exceed $5 per ton load.
14. A 50 per cent reduction in high school tuition.
15. That Senate File No. 96 be passed.
16. That House Roll No. 11 be killed and that House Roll No. 223 be amended to provide a two year stay instead of "Brat" is still in the bull dog business and has some pups for sale.

amount sufficient to reimburse all citizens of the state for losses sustained by bank failures in the past 12 years; also sufficient to take over and renew all mortgages now due or to become due in the near future; also to reimburse all who have lost farms, homes or business through foreclosure from 1920 to 1934, funds to be handled through state and county treasurers' offices.
18. That the interest rate on mortgages be cut to 3 per cent.
19. That the legislature limit the appropriation to the state university to $2,000,000.
20. That the appointment of councilors be condemned.
21. Expressing opposition to the sales tax.
22. That feed and seed loans be placed for administration in the hands of men sympathetic to farmers' problems and that red tape and technicalities be done away with.

AM I RIGHT?

By George Round, jr.

Times may be hard but prices for some farm products seem to be picking up somewhat. Just recently a Nebraska hog breeder in the eastern section of the state received an average of $48 for each hog sold in his purebred sale. His top animal, a prize winning silver and white Hampshire sow, sold for $172.

At a friend a farmer sold a team of horses for $270—not bad at all. In other sections of the state horses are being sold for less, indicating the increasing interest in horse farming for the coming year. The same may be true of Valley county.

Valley county farmers who take their "seed corn" seriously will probably agree with farmers in all sections of the state that the smooth type usually proves better than the rough type of seed. Experiments run at the Nebraska college of agriculture show that the smooth type outyields the rough usually about 15 percent.

A world's 4-H crops judging team—that is the goal of County Agent Carl C. Dale's state champion crops team. They may compete in the world's grain conference competition in Canada this summer. Enormous cash prizes are being awarded to the winners in the various contests and exhibitions.

Though many Ord and Valley county farmers may not realize it, the 500 percent increase in duty on imported lard by Germany may mean something in a direct way to them in future months. The increased duty means that foreign outlets for American lard are further restricted and since Germany is normally a heavy importer of American lard, the decision will reflect in the prices paid for hogs in this country.

Harold Benn, Ord boy, is making a real scholastic record in a farm short course at the Nebraska college of agriculture. Just carrying on his high school record, he saw Bert Cushing record a 100 yard dash in 17.8 seconds. "Brat" is still in the bull dog business and has some pups for sale.

start the crib-work the moment there was room to place blocks so that if things went wrong and the locomotive slipped back they would not lose all.
—Slow work, yes! But you can speed it a trifle by changing men, by relieving wearying arms with fresh muscles, by having your re-lays right there, ready to step in without the loss of a second; new hands ready to grasp the capstans bars before others have relinquished them.
—Up she went. Crib-work followed the lift of the jacks until they had raised to their utmost. Then back she settled on an inch, resting on the cross-piled blocks. Out came the jacks; in went new foundations for them; again men fell to the slow task of forcing the sixty tons of locomotive back to its upright position.
—Midnight, and they had only run the jacks to their limit. Three o'clock, with the locomotive up enough so they could commence to build tracks under her while the jacks screwed slowly to their limits again. Daylight, with a faint yelp of greeting to the northward, and they looked briefly to see Saunders and a whitened team laboring through the snow behind shovellers. Grub and blankets! Food, and something for weary muscles to lie in!

All night John had been waiting to do one specific, necessary thing, not so essential, however, as this work. He tried to remember what it was... Tucker! That was it! He was going to put Tucker on the grill and satisfy the suspicion in his mind. If this was his father's last wish, he would do it. Old Tom, wrecking a girl's hopes by wrecking her equipment.
—He called him to the telephone and he walked stiffly, on feet that struck the packed snow heavily. It was Ellen, calling, and her voice was weary and faint.
—Things stirred in him. He wanted to talk to her gently, to reassure her; to laugh at the situation, to defy chance to do them up in this round. But a man must be fresh for that, mustn't he? A man must swear at them when they took him by the arms and forced him to a cot in the crossing tender's tiny parlor. He awoke after noon.

The locomotive was up! Almost up on her feet! They had crib work on the other side to hold her from going over before they were ready. Rails were torn up; ties in place. The switch points were going in against the main line to set her back where she belonged.
—Slowly she settled into place, wheels taking the one rail. Up she went on the other side, a fraction of an inch at a time. The other rail went in; spikes sunk home; the jacks pulled in their necks. She sat there, square on the rails, and the fireman had steam on her!... Night again; and more fires. But they had something to work with this time.

—Dawn it was, when they made up their train again, and as Tiny backed down to couple on to the way-car John ended his talk with Tucker.
—He had come in an hour before, when he thought that the job was done, when Way-Bill and Saunders and Tiny could handle the details without his help.
—Tucker was there alone, poking at the fire, and looked up quickly as John closed the door behind him. The superintendent did not speak at first. He took off his cap, unbuttoned his coat, fumbled in his pocket for a cigarette, and then, with the tobacco burning, sat down across the car from his roadmaster.
—He puffed a moment in silence, held the cigarette in his fingers, and eyed the glowing coal at its tip.
—"You didn't forget, you know," he said almost casually.
—"What?" The man's cry was startled; but the quality did not ring true. "I didn't what?"
—"You didn't forget, Tucker. A man who built this road wouldn't forget that switch. You deliberately ditched us, Tucker. I think you've sold out to Belknap & Gorbel. I think you're... a skunk."

—Quietly still, and Tucker rose to his feet.
—"Don't you say a thing like that to me—"

—"Sit down!" Bite and sting in the tone; and fire in John's eyes and anger in his gesture. "Sit down," he repeated slowly, with contempt, and the man settled on the bench from which he had risen with such a show of outrage. His face twitched; guilt sat heavily upon him.
—"When I first heard of this whole situation here it sounded like something a writer had made up," John said evenly. "From the minutes I came on this job I knew it was real.

—Men shoved timbers beneath the locomotive to give the great jacks footing. A cross-cut saw rasped and sang in swift tempo as ties were cut into short lengths for the crib work that would make the functioning of the jacks more than temporary.
—A delicate job, getting the first footing for your jacks in place like that. With a lantern, and pieces of stout cedar ties, John himself lay on his belly in the excavations beneath the prostrate locomotive and scraped out the last shovelfuls of earth and set the blocks. A long time this had taken, a night was well advanced before the men came lugging the lifting devices from the way-car.

—Carefully they set them, so purchase would come on the engine's frame at the proper angle, and John set the capstan bars and took the first few inches himself.
—Slow, indeed. Two men on the bars, turning a short hitch at a time, there in a cramped position under the faintly sizzling locomotive; three full turns to an inch it took; many, many minutes to make those few inches.

—He stood back watching. The old engine creaked and snapped as they commenced to lift her. He watched movement carefully, trying to gauge it with his eye; watched the jacks, to see that they did not shift, had his men ready to

"We've speeded up; we should be showing a margin of safety, but we're not. Every move that's been made on this operation has been checked by a move from Belknap & Gorbel until we're about where we started. Every move that has slowed us up has been made deliberately, with design.
—"This thing"—with a curt gesture—"was the most serious of all." He sat very straight and his eyes burned.
—"You're on your way, Tucker. Have it that you forgot. Well and good; you forgot! And you're fired because you forgot, but you can take a message with you to deliver to Burke or to Gorbel or to whoever bought your manhood and decency. The message is from me and it's this:

CHAPTER I.—"Tom" Belknap, big timber operator, ordered by his physicians to take a complete rest, plans a three months' trip abroad. Promises of advancement he has made to his son John, just commencing in the business, are broken, for no apparent reason, and the young man is indignant. Paul Gorbel, Belknap's partner, whom John and other business associates of Belknap cordially dislike, is a bone of contention. Father and son part without a complete understanding.
CHAPTER II.—At Shoestring, his train delayed by a wreck, John is ordered to leave at once. He refuses, and after a fist fight, his attackers realize it is a case of mistaken identity. John learns his father is believed to be out to wreck the Richards lumber company. Bewildered and unbelieving, he seeks employment with that company. At the office he finds Gorbel bullying a young girl, and throwing up his hands, Gorbel does not recognize him. The girl is Ellen Richards, owner of the company. A letter he carries gives John's name as John Steele, the Belknap being dropped inadvertently, and John, knowing the feeling against his father, allows Ellen to believe that is his name.
CHAPTER III.—Ellen engages John as her foreman. A series of underhand tricks designed to handicap operations of the Richards company culminate in the deliberate wrecking of a locomotive drawing a snow plow.
Men shoved timbers beneath the locomotive to give the great jacks footing. A cross-cut saw rasped and sang in swift tempo as ties were cut into short lengths for the crib work that would make the functioning of the jacks more than temporary.
A delicate job, getting the first footing for your jacks in place like that. With a lantern, and pieces of stout cedar ties, John himself lay on his belly in the excavations beneath the prostrate locomotive and scraped out the last shovelfuls of earth and set the blocks. A long time this had taken, a night was well advanced before the men came lugging the lifting devices from the way-car.
Carefully they set them, so purchase would come on the engine's frame at the proper angle, and John set the capstan bars and took the first few inches himself.
Slow, indeed. Two men on the bars, turning a short hitch at a time, there in a cramped position under the faintly sizzling locomotive; three full turns to an inch it took; many, many minutes to make those few inches.
He stood back watching. The old engine creaked and snapped as they commenced to lift her. He watched movement carefully, trying to gauge it with his eye; watched the jacks, to see that they did not shift, had his men ready to

MRS. M. E. MOODY
Funeral services for Mrs. M. E. Moody were held at the Liberty church southwest of Arcadia Friday afternoon Feb. 17th at 2 o'clock. Rev. Nice, pastor of the Christian church of Anselby had charge of the services. Interment was made in the Liberty cemetery. Mattie Emma Baird was born in Watonga county, North Carolina in the year 1859 and departed this life Feb. 15, 1933 at the age of 63 years 10 months and 10 days. At the age of 15 she became a member of the Methodist church at Valley, N. C. In the year 1894 on Feb. 12 she became the wife of Jonathan M. Moody, leaving North Carolina two days later and coming to Nebraska where she resided until her death. The first year she was here she endured the hardships of the great drought, but even that could not discourage her faith in Nebraska and she has never had the privilege of returning to her old home, even for a visit. After coming to Nebraska she immediately became a member of the Liberty Christian church and remained in that faith until her death. She leaves to mourn, seven children, Mrs. Earl Fowler of Stapleton, Neb., Don, Merle, Willie, Mrs. Fred Coons, Claris and Hardy, all of Arcadia; also two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Dora Blackburn of Mountain City, Tenn., Mrs. George Edmiston of Anselby, Neb., Stewart Baird of Bluff City, Mo., and a number of other relatives and friends. Sept. 28, 1916 her companion departed this life and left the rearing of a large family of children to her.

WM. B. RUTHERFORD.

by a quartette composed of Mrs. C. C. Weddel, Mrs. R. O. Gaither, Lowell Finney and H. D. Weddel. Interment was made in the Arcadia cemetery.
Mr. Rutherford passed away suddenly at Wamego, Kas., while enroute from his home at Lincoln, Mo., to Norton, Kas., where he was going to consult a specialist in regard to his health. His son Harry was with him at the time and they had stopped at a filling station in Wamego when without warning Mr. Rutherford passed away. His body was brought to Arcadia Wednesday.
William Rutherford was born in Anionosey, Iowa, April 12, 1859 and passed away at Wamego, Kas. Feb. 12, 1933 at the age of 73 years and 8 months. He moved with his parents to Polk county, Nebraska in 1867 where he grew to manhood and was united in marriage to Miss Laura Davis Jan. 1, 1882. To this union three children were born, two boys and one girl. After about thirteen years in Polk county they came to Valley county where he made his home until about a year ago when he moved to Lincoln, Mo., where he was living at the time of his death. He was baptised when a child in the Roman Catholic church to which his mother pledged her loyal faith. His wife preceded him in death Dec. 14, 1930. He leaves his three children, Lawrence of Ragan, Neb., Mrs. Pearl Johnson of Almena, Kas., and Harry Rutherford of Lincoln, Mo., four grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Proceedings of the County Board

Feb. 14, 1933, at 10 A. M. Meeting called to order by chairman with supervisors Sorensen, Desmull, Ball, Vasicek, Hansen, Barber and Johnson present upon roll call.

The matter of redistricting the county was then taken up and supervisor Ball offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, to-wit:

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, there has been filed with this Board of County Supervisors a petition claiming and reciting that the present and existing representation of the population of Valley County, by supervisor districts is inequitable as to population of the districts for the purposes of representation on this Board, and proposing, suggesting, requesting and petitioning this Board to discontinue and change the present districting of the County so that there may be a more equitable apportionment of population of the respective districts and representation thereof on this board, according to law in such cases made and provided, and

Whereas, at a regular session of this Board of County Supervisors, the Chairman, appointed a committee of three members of this Board to investigate and ascertain the facts relating to and report on the matter of an equitable districting, if any inequities exist according to the last Federal Census of 1930, and

Whereas, the committee so appointed, after investigating and ascertaining the facts relating to and report on the 1930 Federal Census finds that some inequality and injustice in representation does exist particularly as between Supervisor Districts numbered Three and Four, now

Therefore, Be it resolved by this Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley, The State of Nebraska, that for the purposes of affording the people of the various supervisor districts of Valley County, a more equitable representation on this Board of County Supervisors of Valley County and carrying out the provisions of Section 26-204, of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, for 1923, that the County of Valley, The State of Nebraska, be hereby redistricted, effective hereafter, all as provided by law, as follows to-wit:

- Dist. 1: Noble, population 448, Elyria 574, Eureka 382, Total 1,404.
Dist. 2: Geranium 398, Liberty, 314, Vinton 313, Total 1,025.

State Capitol News
By PARKER F. KEAYS
The tramp of farmers' boots resounded on the cobblestone streets of the capital city last Thursday and across the mosaic floors of Nebraska's capitol building they quietly emerged upon the deeply carpeted floor of the house and its galleries. The farmers march from the state fair grounds two miles to the capitol building shortly before one o'clock. The farmers marched ten abreast and carried banners dealing with farm relief, unemployment relief and tax reduction. One banner demanded the release of Tom Mooney. They paused for a few moments in front of the capitol until arrangements were made for their entry in the house. They were being surveyed by several hundred curious spectators and movie cameras clicked from vantage points on the capitol building.
Every available bit of space in the isles and galleries of the house was cleared at the farmer's demonstration could be accommodated. After the room had been packed to a stifling fullness a petition outlining 22 demands was read and presented to the joint session of the house and senate by H. C. Parmenter, secretary of the Farmer-Holders Association. The petition, it was said, combined the demands of all farmer groups represented at a relief conference held the previous day. Among the demands included in the petition were that for a two-cent advance on the farm mortgage, abolition of militia and reduction of auto licenses.
Lieutenant Governor Jorgensen and Speaker George O'Malley of the house of representatives both addressed the farmer group pointing out the benefits of the proposed measures and assuring that other relief measures would be provided.
Earlier in the day at the fair grounds there was considerable argument among the assembled farmers upon all forms of mortgages, farm operation in Soviet Russia and over the circulation of communistic newspapers.
Early last week Governor Bryan issued a proclamation declaring that an emergency exists and calling for the suspension of all mortgages on Nebraska farms to suspend foreclosures and court proceedings until the state-wide conciliation board is organized and functioning and until the legislature and congress have an opportunity to act.
A moratorium bill was introduced in the senate and house by the governor last week. Due to the fact that it had not been covered in his message to the legislature the bill had to be reintroduced late in the week after a special message was recorded. This bill carries the fact that in all pending foreclosure suits or those filed later the court on application by the owner must order the case to be continued for two years until March 1, 1935 when the act will automatically cease to be in effect. The bill carries the emergency clause and will be rushed through in the senate.
The house of representatives passed the measure repealing the deficiency judgment act early last week. It also passed a bill permitting additional stays up to four years in foreclosure cases; transfer of state seed testing to the agricultural college.
With the signing by the governor of H. R. 7, the party circle is eliminated from the election ballot in this state in the future. This measure has been advocated by democrats for a number of years. It is conceded, however, that the party circle was responsible for carrying many democrats into office in the past. The repeal has not been popular with certain democratic factions at this time.
The senate passed bills providing for constitutional amendments for permitting small juries in district courts; the assessment of real estate; and for advance publication of county claims.
Members of the senate and house last week drew their second installment of salary amounting to $300. This makes a total of $600 paid on the total $900 salary for the session.
The house advanced a bill which gives towns under 5,000 greater powers over gas and electric utilities franchises and rates.
Auto and truck licenses occupied the attention of legislators in both houses last week. A bill in the house having made a couple of trips back to the standing committee was finally approved and advanced to third reading. The senate which had under consideration the Neumann bill, finally sent it back to the standing committee until the house had taken final action on its truck bill.
Eleven hundred school children of southeast Nebraska were brought into Lincoln early Saturday morning by railroad. The senate resumed in session that morning so that the children might have an opportunity to see the body in action. They made a tour of the capitol building and state university campus.
The house of representatives was in mourning last Saturday over the death of one of its members, Representative Turbyfill of Hastings. Turbyfill had been ill for several days and death was caused by pneumonia. Other Adams county legislators suggested that the Adams county democratic committee recommend to Governor Bryan the appointment of Mrs. Turbyfill to succeed her husband in the house.
The federal agricultural department reports that 505,000 crop production loans were made to farmers last year. To date 333,000 loans, or 46 millions, remain unpaid. The average loans made was $126 and the average sum collected on each loan is $35.02.
Governor Bryan will not accept the invitation of President-elect Roosevelt to attend a meeting of the governors of

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just 4 Weeks
Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo. writes: "I'm only 28 yrs. old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."
Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast - it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know.
For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen at any drug store - the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results - money back.

WOMAN, 87, NEVER TIRED - TAKES IRON DAILY
"I am 87, go to church and attend parties and do not get a bit tired. I eat and sleep well, thanks to Vinol Iron tonic." - Mrs. M. Bardon. Vinol tonic fine. Ed F. Beranek, Druggist.

Stop Taking Soda! For Gas On Stomach
Much soda disturbs digestion. For gas or sour stomach Adlerika is much better. One dose rids you of bowel poisons that cause gas and bad sleep. Ed F. Beranek, Druggist.

DR. RICH says:
Grand Island, Nebr., Febr. 22 - Doing one thing well for more than thirty years in Grand Island has made the Dr. Rich Rectal Sanitarium one of the most dependable and reliable institutions anyone can go to for the definite and pleasing cure of their rectal trouble.
Patients who come to the Dr. Rich Rectal Sanitarium in Grand Island are assured in advance of a definite, guaranteed and pleasant cure if their case is accepted for treatment. An incurable rectal condition is not permitted here under any circumstances.
Today's prices here for the cure of rectal trouble are low - lower than in twenty years. Your spendings dollar is worth twice as much now if you wish a cure while the cost is low. Enclose this and write Dr. Rich, Rectal Specialist, Grand Island, Nebraska for further information. (1) several states on March 6. In a letter to Mr. Roosevelt, Governor Bryan outlined the plan which is being applied in this state to solve questions which will probably come before the conference.

The Platte Valley Reservoir association is planning to ask for a loan of 5 millions from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to construct a central reservoir, irrigation and power project. A survey of the Sutherland territory has been made by engineers and it is reported that the proposal is feasible.
Farmers in northeast Nebraska are hauling their shelled corn to Norfolk to pay debts and buy supplies. One hundred fifty business men have agreed to accept the corn at 20 cents a bushel, to be paid for in scrip. Two thousand bushels of corn were hauled in two days last week. There is a 100 bushel limit to each farmer.
The department of trade and commerce announces the reopening of banks at Humphrey, Stapleton, Carroll and Murdoch which have been suspended recently. The new 1933 Nebraska banking law made it possible for these banks to open for business. The banks and their depositors are required to sign contracts which provide that all depositors will be paid for not to exceed 1 percent a month and that new deposits will be kept separate and held as trust funds. This enables prompt service and safety to patrons.
The college of agriculture reports that the average temperature in Nebraska is growing rapidly. During one week recently 105 double deck carloads of lambs were shipped from Scottsbluff. The college received a menu recently from a famous New Orleans hotel featuring "Broiled Nebraska Lamb Chops."
The temperature in Nebraska was warmer than normal throughout the year 1932, according to the annual summary of the government observing station. The average winter temperature for the state was 49.2 degrees, which was 0.4 degrees warmer than the normal. General precipitation for the year was 20.98 inches which was slightly below normal. The average rainfall for the crop season was 14.93 inches. The average snowfall for the year was 31.7 inches. Temperatures ranged from 114 degrees to 32 below zero, and there were 195 clear days. The latest killing frost was reported from Hay Springs on May 27 and the first killing frost at Gordon was December 13. Depositors in failed state banks at Harrison, McCook, Deshler, Uteca and Murphy received $40,000 in dividends recently.

Thursday J. E. Tolen passed his 83rd birthday. His children prepared a dinner for him in his home. Children to attend were his daughters and nurses, Mrs. Maggie McGregor and Miss Grace Tolen, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tolen of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tolen at two sons, Ord and Mr. and Mrs. Charley Dunkelberger of Cotesfield. For several months J. E. Tolen has been an invalid and confined to his bed.

At the annual stockholders meeting of the North Loup Cooperative Cheese Company held recently in this village, manager Arthur Hutchins reports a total of 332,000 pounds of cheese were manufactured the past year which was a gain of 89,000 pounds over the previous year. Messrs. J. M. Fisher and Clifton McClellan were re-elected as directors. Improvements made the past year included construction of a new fire proof vault, a water softener installed and the building of a new floor and drain in the boiler room. There were also minor improvements. The number of patrons increased and a small dividend is expected to be paid in the near future.

ther, George Baker, to his home, he having spent the past three weeks at their home. Mr. Soh! returned home Sunday afternoon while Mrs. Soh! remained for a few days visit with relatives of the community and at Ericson. The residence of Fred Swanson was sold at the court house at Ord Monday, the Building and Loan Association being the purchaser. A record breaking crowd attended the community sale here last Thursday. More sales were made than at any other time since the pavilion opened for service. Sales included the Elmer Stelder stock and machinery, the household goods of T. Warden Green and a clearance sale of a restaurant at Costfield. Most everything sold moderately well, the Prestons report.

Mrs. Barber was hostess Friday afternoon to members of the local legion Auxiliary.

A most impressive playlet, "The Lost Church", was presented to a large congregation at the M. E. church Sunday evening by the Epworth League from the church at Scotia. Miss Anderson of the Scotia schools, who directed the presentation deserves much credit for her services with this League.

Roland Dally as impersonator of "the man of the world" who later became a Christian, and the church carried this leading part nobly. Other character parts were also fine, while the solo, reading and piano numbers between acts were outstanding and appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Watts were over from Scotia Thursday, the former to attend the community sale while Mrs. Watts spent the afternoon with her niece, Mrs. Martin Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Honeycutt went to North Platte Friday to spend some time with relatives there.

Darrell Noyes, Cap Williams and Barney Fuller, students in Kearney normal, spent the week end with their home folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walkup entertained a few friends at Rook Wednesday evening of last week the occasion being the Walkups' 6th wedding anniversary and also Mr. Walkup's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jensen visited Mr. Jensen's mother at Horace.

Julius Blauhorn with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Glaue and son Cecil were Sunday guests at the Earnest Leach home. Mrs. Glaue accompanied them home to Archer in the evening and will visit indefinitely at her aunt and uncle's home, the Glauses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell, Mr. Will Preston and Ralph drove to Exeter Friday afternoon where Mrs. Preston visited with her daughter, Mrs. Irma Ballard and family while the men drove to Lincoln on business. They all returned Thursday evening.

Howard Preston and Bill Parks accompanied George Eberhart with a truck load of cattle to Omaha Monday.

Friday evening, Saturday and Sunday. Altogether there were sixty-eight registrations, thirty-nine registering for full time. Rev. Nor-emberg of the Mira Valley Evangelical church had charge of Friday evening devotions. Class work and leaders of the same were as follows throughout the three day service: Hymnology, Miss Mildred Rise of Arcadia; Prayer, Rev. Carter, Loup City; Worship, Rev. Leslie Moore, Scotia. Rev. and Mrs. Mearl Smith of Ord had charge of "Epworth League Method". Recreation was in charge of Josephine Jelm of Burwell. Dr. Johansen, Dist. Supt. of Hastings Dist., gave Bible information. Nevs. W. H. Stephens, Orville Dillon and H. S. Warren lead in the various devotional services of Saturday and Sunday. The banquet Saturday evening served by the Ladies Aid of the local church provided an evening of delightful fellowship. Sixty-nine plates were laid, the tables looking lovely in a setting of blue and white decorations and candle light service with the program of toasts printed on cut-outs representing ships. The subject, with tiny nut cups representing life boats, for the evening toasts being "The Stream of Life." With Dr. Kendall as toastmaster the following responses were given: "Launching Out", Arthur Auble of Ord; "The Storm", Miss Pugsley of Loup City; Girls' trio, Eula and Lorna May Shinneman and Lucile Frisvold of North Loup; "Discovery of Land", Miss Anderson of Scotia; "Breakers Ahead", Lois Kildow, North Loup; solo, Miss Mildred Rise of Arcadia; "The Reward", Burwell member; "The Quiet Sea", Arthur Jeffries of Arcadia; Rev. Gensenger of Grand Island Trinity gave as a closing number a humorous and wholesome story leaving all in a happy mood. Many expressions of gratitude were received by those who welcomed the visiting young people to their homes.

The P. T. A. program was given Tuesday evening at the school house, the principal talk being given by L. O. Greene on the value of dramatics. Songs by a young ladies trio, Eula Shinneman, Jean Sample and Margaret Sayre, were much enjoyed, as was a solo by Vesta Kildow. A playette depicting the return of the spirits of George and Martha was presented. Merle Zanger and Florentina Earnest taking the parts in the first act and Betty Manchester and Marjorie Theelin in the second. Miss Velma Peterson, 2nd primary student, also gave a patriotic program. Refreshments were served at the close.

Mrs. Will Preston reports the first baby chicks of the season in this community.

Tuesday afternoon was the NoLo club's annual guest day and a fine program with several guests present was given at the home of Mrs. W. J. Hemphill with Madams Grace Johnson, Della Sayre and Nina Johnson as assisting hostesses. The program dealt with classical music. Those who took part included Genia Crandall, Mary Davis, Clara Holmes, Mrs. H. S. Warren, Esther Babcock and Mabel McClellan, the latter reading a paper prepared by Mrs. Eva Johnson.

Dist. F. F. A. Meeting Held. Charles Barnhart, Cecil Hansen, Monty Petersen and Axel Jorgensen and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kovanda attended a district meeting of the Future Farmers of America at Burwell Saturday. Schools represented were Gandy, Stapleton, Litchfield, Sargent, Broken Bow, Callaway, Anselmo, Ord, and Burwell. The visitors were treated to a nice dinner given by the Burwell F. F. A. chapter. Charles Barnhart presided in the absence of District President Harold Benn. The next meeting of the district will be held next month at Sargent.

EARLY SETTLER OF VINTON TWP. PASSES IN IOWA

"Mr. Loomis received his early education in a private school at Providence, R. I. There were no private schools in this section when the family took up residence here. Mr. Loomis' father engaged in the jewelry business in Ottumwa and operated a store here for many years at 118 East Main street.

"When 17 years old, Mr. Loomis moved to Red Oak. Two years later he married Ella Lawrence of Ottumwa. Four children were born, two of whom are still living, Joe M. Loomis of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. Elizabeth Linton of Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. Loomis died.

"During his residence in Red Oak Mr. Loomis was engaged in retail merchandising. He later returned to Ottumwa, where he was employed as a traveling salesman for Lawrence-Dungan & Co., afterward the Manning, Cushing & Co. The concern was a wholesale boot and shoe house.

"In 1885 Mr. Loomis married Mary P. Norris of Ottumwa, at Rochester, N. Y. Four children were born to this union, all of whom survive. They are James R. Loomis of Indianapolis, Ind.; Fred P. Loomis of Seattle, Wash.; Edward C. Loomis, Jr., San Francisco, Calif.; and Eloise of Ottumwa. Mrs. Loomis died in 1922.

"In 1887, the family moved to Ord,

Nebr., where Mr. Loomis operated a farm for twenty-two years. He made the trip to Nebraska by stage coach. When his wife joined him later she was able to make the trip over the same route by rail. The family returned here in 1909, and since that time Mr. Loomis has been retired.

"Mr. Loomis was a life member of the Wapello club and had been a member of the Ottumwa Country club. For many years he attended the First Congregational church. He was actively identified with the Diamond Jubilee celebration in 1923, and had charge of the barbecue. During the past two years he had been interested in the Pentecostal church's soup kitchen on the south side.

"Six grandchildren also survive. They are Karen Morley of Hollywood, Calif., the motion picture actress; Gladys Marian, Louise and Joe Loomis II, of Oklahoma City and Frances Loomis of Indianapolis.

"Funeral services will be held at the home Sunday at 2 p. m. The services will be in charge of Prof. J. D. Stoops of Grinnell college, a personal friend of Mr. Loomis and the family. The Rev. David Crockett, pastor of the First Congregational church will assist. Burial will be made in the Ottumwa cemetery. The family request no flowers.

"Fallbearers will be C. R. Tower, John W. Neasham, John Wornhoubt, P. C. Ackley, Mayor Edwin C. Manning and John Cotton."

—Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hackett and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Laughrey were visitors Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Greenfield.

AUCTION

at the Weller Sale Pavilion, Ord

Saturday, Febr. 25

1:15—NO LATER

CATTLE

There is a broad demand for light cattle. This past week's auction was very good on cattle. We can sell all the cattle we can get for all they will bring in Omaha or any place else. In times like these it pays to use your "noodle" and cut expenses wherever possible. Sell your cattle at your nearest market and save yourself as well as the purchaser the freight. We are expecting a plenty of buyers for this sale, so bring them in.

HOGS

We need more hogs than we are getting. Your pigs will NET you more here than any place else. We have a special order for two carloads or approximately 600 head of serum pigs. They must be unvaccinated and weigh from 80 to 100 lbs.

HORSES

Not so good at our last auction. If you need horses buy them here, where they must be as represented.

PLEASE READ THE FOLLOWING

Starting with our next auction SATURDAY, MARCH 4TH we will sell machinery, chickens, furniture, harness, seeds, etc. As our auctions are steadily growing in size it will be necessary that we start selling earlier in the day. SO STARTING SATURDAY, MARCH 4TH WE COMMENCE OUR AUCTION PROMPTLY AT 12:30. The order of sale will be as follows: first the miscellaneous articles, then the machinery, then horses, hogs, cattle. The livestock auction starts promptly at 1:30—no later. If necessary we will use two auctioneers and two clerks and sell both machinery and livestock at the same time, thus guaranteeing every consigner of livestock or machinery the best service obtainable. PLEASE REMEMBER the auction of miscellaneous articles starts at 12:30, the livestock auction at 1:30 on and after March 4th.

Ord Church Notes

St. John's Lutheran Church.
(Missouri Synod.)
Eight miles south of Ord. Divine services in English at 10:30. Communion will be celebrated. Bible class at 8 p. m.
William Bahr, Pastor.

Bethany Lutheran Church.
S. S. Kaldahl, Pastor
Sunday school at 10 a. m. Danish service at 8 p. m. English service at 8:30 p. m.
Ladies aid at 2 p. m. on Feb. 27 at the home of Mrs. Mortensen.
Luther League at 8 p. m. on Feb. 27 at the home of Jens Hansen.

Christus Church.
Our sermon subjects next Sunday will be: morning, "The Raising of Jairus' Daughter"; evening, "Jesus the Marvelous."
Our mid-week Bible study is Thursday evening.
Mission study class Sunday evening at 6:30.
Do your part to bring and keep the Bible school attendance up to the goal. Two big things in doing this are to be there, be on time.

Full Gospel Church.
The revival interest is growing. The tide rising, crowd increasing. Many have expressed themselves in their desire to hear Evangelist Kathleen Fischer, saying nothing of the members of the church in their delight of the messages she brings. She is not preaching something new, just the old time Gospel.
Friday evening she will speak on Divine Healing, and pray for those in need. You ask, is that in the Bible? The Bible answers for itself. Bring it with you to service.
Rev. Glen E. Reed of Burwell will be in our midst on above date to give his testimony of healing.
Rev. Reed was a student of a medical college in Chicago. When only six weeks of graduating was completed to discontinue his study, was sent to Arizona with little hopes of recovery of tuberculosis, returned, he was prayed for and healed. Come hear this testimony of a man who desired to help humanity and sought to do so in taking up the medical and surgery profession. Also to hear the word of God in subject.
Everyone welcome.
W. M. Lamar, Pastor.

Presbyterian Church.
The boys and girls of our junior church are to be entertained next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock by Miss Zelma Frute and friends. Will want to be there and bring a friend.

Bible study at the church at 10. Worship service at 10:45. The true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit and truth. God is a spirit and they that worship him must worship in spirit and in truth. Topic of sermon "Adam and the Race".

Attendance at the expression club greatly increased last Sunday night. The young people will want to keep up the good work by being present next Sunday at 8:30.

There will be a joint board meeting Thursday night next week at 7:30.
Rev. L. M. Real is providing horse back riding classes for the Junior children at Ord Wednesday afternoon. One hundred per cent girls turned out on Monday evening for a ride. The Pioneer Girls did nearly as well on Tuesday and the Friendly Indian boys are to meet at the park for a ride Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Christian Science.
"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, February 26.
The Golden Text is from Hebrews 1:12: "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in times past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, whom He hath appointed heir of all things, but whom also He made the worlds."
A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-sermon is from John 1:1, 14, and reads: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . . And the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us (and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father) full of grace and truth."
A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "Born of a woman, Jesus' advent in the flesh partook partly of Mary's earthly condition, although he was endowed with the Christ, divine Spirit, without measure. This accounts for his struggles in Gethsemane and on Calvary, and this enabled him to be the mediator, or wayshower, between God and men." (page 30).

Methodist Church.
10:00 a. m. Sunday School. Classes for all.
11:00 a. m. Morning worship. Sermon topic, "The Mystery of Religion."
6:30 p. m. Epworth League. The subject will be "Institute Echoes" and Sylvia Cornell will be the leader.
The Fellowship Prayer Circle will be led by Mrs. R. C. Greenfield.
7:30 p. m. radio service. A large radio will be installed for the occasion and a short program of sacred music will be given. The choir will also render special music. A debate will follow on the subject, Resolved: That the radio is helpful to religion, with speakers limited to three minutes each. The pastor will speak on "Radio Religion."
Next Sunday has been designated as "Settlement Day." It is the last of the second quarter of the church year, and those who have made pledges are asked to pay them for the first half of the year, wherever possible. The secretary will issue statements to all subscribers that they may know how their account stands.

The Epworth League Institute held in North Loup last week was said to have been one of the best ever held, though the attendance was not as large as in former years. Five young people from our church attended and received certificates. They were Arthur Auble, Kate Romans, Dorothy Jobst, and Sylvia and Myrtle Cornell.
The Lenten season begins next week, and Sunday services of a special nature will be held during that period. Announcements will be made in the paper next week regarding their nature.
Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

Mrs. Thelin Returns From Coast Visit

North Loup, Febr. 20—(Special)—Saturday evening Mrs. I. J. Thelin returned to her home here after spending several weeks on the coast. Mrs. John Bowden and family, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rockhold, at their home in Stockton, Calif. She found them all well, Mrs. Thelin reports, and says that although her father is 82 years old and her mother 81 that both are still greatly interested in reading their old home town paper, the Ord Quiz. Mrs. Thelin says that her sister, Mrs. Bowden, recently lost the position she had held for several years in the advertising department of a stockton newspaper but that her husband is employed in the circulation department of the same newspaper, a position that he has held for many years. Their children, Jack, Dallas and Doris, are all well. Jack, who is 14, recently entered high school and is such a fine musician that he has already been made a member of the high school band. Mrs. Thelin reports that her nephew, Dallas Rockhold, is now in Seattle, Wash.
