500 SIGNATURES NEEDED TO FORM LEGAL DISTRICT

Irrigation Plans Progressing As Officers Begin Circulating Petitions Today.

Formation of a public power and irrigation district under the provisions of Senate File No. 310, the enabling act passed this year by the state legislature, was begun this week in the North Loup valley as a necessary step in securing Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan for carrying out the project.

Petitions were printed early this week and have been sent to Attorney C. A. Sorenson for approval. Professor Clark Mickey, Nebraska consulting engineer for the R. F. C. has already approved the petitions. By this morning or tomorrow, President Bert M. Hardenbrook states, the petitions will be circulated with about 500 signatures of qualified voters needed.

The law provides that 15 percent of the qualified voters must sign these petitions before the state engineer's office may declare the district organized. Officers do not anticipate any difficulty in getting the number of signatures required.

The petitions set forth the fact that the district shall be known as the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District and the general purpose of the district is to build a hydroelectric public power plant or system for the generation, distribution, transmission and sale of electric energy and an irrigation system for the diversion, transportation, distribution and sale of water for the irrigation of farm lands, and the construction of drainage for the low lands.

Eleven directors will administer the business affairs of the proposed district, four being elected to serve two year terms, four to serve four year terms, and three to serve six year terms, this being in accordance with the provisions of S. F. 310. Directors named in the petitions are Bert Hardenbrook, Jos. P. Barta and Royal C. Bailey, Ord; Roy Hudson, Charley Bridge and W. O. Zanger, North Loup; Luther Pierce, Ralph Brownell and Harry Doran, Burwell; and Charles R. Newbecker, Taylor.

A general description of the project is given in the petition and states that there will be three canals, one running from Taylor to Ord, another from Ord to North Loup, both on the south side of the river, and one running from Burwell to Sumter on the north side.

Water for the Taylor-Ord canal will be taken from above a diversion dam about five miles northwest of Taylor and will be run in this canal for 14.2 miles to a forebay located on Sioux Creek, furnishing water for the irrigation of 4,270 acres of land. At Sioux Creek the water will be dropped 60 feet through hydro-electric units and during the non-irrigating season will then be restored to the river by means of a tall race. During the irrigating season the water will be dropped 17 feet through hydro-electric units into a continuation of the canal which will run three miles in an easterly direction to a forebay on Gaukel creek where another power plant will be located. Here the water will be dropped 25 feet through hydro-electric units into another continuation of the Taylor-Ord canal, which portion of the canal will irrigate 820 acres of land. From Gaukel Creek the canal will run down the valley to a termination west of Ord, irrigating 12,620 acres of land.

Water for the Ord-North Loup canal, the petition relates, will be taken from above a diversion dam to be located near the C. B. & Q. railway bridge at Ord and will run 3.5 miles to a forebay where another power plant will be constructed and the water will be dropped 16 feet through hydro-electric units and back into the river through a short tall race, during the non-irrigating season. When water is needed for irrigation it will be run on down the valley 13.5 miles in a continuation of the Ord-North Loup canal to a point about a mile southwest of Scotia, where the canal will empty into the river. There are 9,140 acres suitable for irrigation between Ord and North Loup on the south side of the river.

Water for the Burwell-Sumter canal, on the north side, will be taken from above a diversion dam 1-2 miles north of Burwell and run through a canal for 15.1 miles to a forebay on Gravel creek where a power plant will be built and the water dropped 60 feet through hydro-electric units, then being restored to the river if not needed for irrigation. During the irrigating season the water will be dropped 30 feet through hydro-electric units into a continuation of the canal, which will run 12.5 miles to a point on Spring creek, by means of which it will be restored to the river. There are 3,010 irrigable acres between Burwell and Gravel creek and there are 7,990 acres of irrigable land between Gravel Creek and Spring creek.

Ord Club Sponsors First Golf Tourney

The first golf tournament of 1933 will be held in Ord Sunday when the Ord club is holding an invitation meet in which all golfers within driving radius of Ord are invited to participate. Now that the first dandelion crop has been harvested Pro Shirley is getting the course into ideal condition and with good weather it is likely that a large number of golfers will play in the Sunday tournament. M. F. Kosmata is chairman of the club's tournament committee. Medals and golf balls are offered as prizes to the medalist and winners in the various flights.

Wolbach Man Has Narrow Escape

W. F. Nelson, city light commissioner of Wolbach, was in a very serious predicament for a short time Friday. He was replacing a broken bulb on a street light. The current had been turned off from the street light circuit but the bracket was attached to a high tension line pole, about half way up the pole. A ground wire on the pole passes near the metal bracket which holds the street light bulb. It is supposed the current jumped from the line to the ground wire charging the bracket and causing the trouble. Mr. Nelson was unable to release his hold. He called for help and somebody lowered the ladder and his weight broke the grip and relieved the pain and danger.

McCarthy Rotary Speaker

Rev. Willard McCarthy was the principal speaker at the Ord Rotary club's Memorial day program, held after the regular Monday evening dinner. He delighted Rotarians by reading a group of the poems of James Whitcomb Riley, Edgar A. Guest and other poets. Guests of the Rotary club Monday included Victor Hall, of Holdrege, Dwight Griswold, of Gordon, and H. D. Leggett.

Maresh Smoke House Destroyed by Flames

About midnight Monday a smoke house on the Frank Maresh farm in Vinton township was completely destroyed by flames, along with two hogs that were being cured in it. The fire was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coats, who were returning home from Comstock. The flames had too great a start to be extinguished but the Maresh family, assisted by Mr. Coats, prevented the fire spreading to other buildings.

Word comes to Ord that on Monday of this week Mrs. Emma Selvers-Overton of Bangor, Mich., submitted to a major operation in a hospital in Kalamazoo, Mich. It was an operation for mastoid trouble.

Monday Charley Dasher of Milwaukee, Wis., and Miss Lavene Goldstein of Lincoln were married in the Capitol city. Mrs. Chris Bossen and daughter Dorothy Dasher, the mother and sister of Mr. Dasher went to the wedding. Last summer both of these young people visited in Ord.

It is thus seen that four power plants are contemplated in the plans being drawn by Black & Veatch. These plants will generate a maximum of approximately 4,000 K. W. H. of electric energy during the non-irrigating season, although this is only a tentative estimate and may be slightly higher or lower when more detailed plans are drawn.

The engineers were extremely conservative in estimating the amount of land that will be irrigable. President Hardenbrook says, and the total of 37,850 acres that they give includes only land that is actually under cultivation at the present time.

Ord will be the principal place of business for the district, once it is legally formed, and officers will be elected from among the directors as soon as the district is formally organized. The petitions being circulated today provide expressly that the district shall have no power of taxation and that all property within the district shall be exempt from the levying of any taxes for the payment of any obligations of the district. It is also expressly stated that the net revenue from the sale of power will be used to pay for retirement of the bonds and that only such charge shall be made for water as is necessary to provide what additional revenue is required.

President Hardenbrook said yesterday that only a day or two will be required to get the number of signatures needed and that early next week he will go to Lincoln and file the petitions with Roy Cochran, state engineer, who must approve the formation of the district. As soon as Mr. Cochran approves the project the plans will be taken to Professor Clark Mickey and, having gained his approval, will be taken to Washington, D. C. where formal application for an R. F. C. loan will be made.

The project looks more feasible every day and with the large amount of power that will be generated there seems little doubt but that the R. F. C. will approve the project and make the necessary loan to carry it out.

HEART AILMENT PROVES FATAL TO MRS. ANNA DAILY

Respected Ordite, Resident Here Since 1896, Dies May 25 After Long Illness.

After a long period of ill health with heart trouble, Mrs. Anna Daily passed away at 2:45 p. m. last Thursday, May 25, at her home in east Ord where she had lived since 1896. Funeral services were held Friday at the Sowl chapel with Rev. H. H. Spracklen in charge and interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Anna Wampler was born May 3, 1857 in Viola, Wis., and grew to womanhood there and in Iowa, to which state her parents moved. On Feb. 3, 1878 she was married at Parkersburg, Ia., to Patrick Daily and to them seven children were born, two dying in infancy. Left to mourn are Arthur Daily, Olds, Alberta, Canada, George and Wesley Daily, Ord, Mrs. Katie Nelson, Sutherland, and Charles Daily, Denmark.

In the year 1887 the Daily family came to Valley county to make their home and after living on a farm for nine years moved to Ord in 1896, this city having been the family home ever since. Mr. Daily, who was a Civil war veteran, passed away here on Nov. 28, 1898.

Mrs. Daily was a loving wife and mother and was renowned as a good neighbor and friend, always willing and anxious to assist in need. In recent years her health had been poor but until she became bedfast she kept up her attendance at the United Brethren church and her interest in the Ladies of the G. A. R., of which she was a member.

Pall bearers at the funeral Friday were Geo. Round, W. E. Kessler, Noble Ralston, Murray Cornell, Leslie Mason and Norman Holt. Three hymns that Mrs. Daily especially loved, "Sun of My Soul," "Nearer Still Nearer" and "Abide With Me" were sung by a quartet. The services were largely attended by sorrowing friends and neighbors of the deceased.

Feature Article Tells About Mrs. C. C. White

In the Sunday edition of the Lincoln Journal and Star appeared a feature article about Mrs. C. C. White, of Pacific Palisades, who was recently visiting in Ord with her daughter, Mrs. C. J. Mortensen. The latter and her husband took Mrs. White to Valparaiso last Saturday and attended a family reunion of the Johnson family. Before her marriage to Mr. White in 1868 Mrs. White was Miss Olive Johnson.

As a pioneer school teacher, she came to Nebraska in 1866, a year before Nebraska became a state. She was married to Mr. White in the Luke Lavender cabin, the first house built in what is now the city of Lincoln. After farming near Raymond for a time Mr. White purchased the Crete mills, which he operated until his death in 1895. His widow remained a resident of Lincoln until eight years ago when she moved to California. A photograph of her paternal home at Pacific Palisades is reproduced in the feature article, which was read with interest by her many Ord acquaintances.

The Gordon man's talk was one of the best Memorial day addresses ever given in Ord and a crowd estimated at 400 listened attentively for twenty minutes as he paid tribute to departed heroes. After the Griswold address, the band played "America," Chaplain McCall gave a brief prayer and the firing squad under the command of E. P. Clements, jr., fired a salute to the dead. Frank Rysavy then sounded taps and the services were over.

Tuesday was a beautiful day, ideal weather for an outdoor service, and the cemetery was bedecked with flowers upon almost every grave. Most Ord business establishments closed throughout Memorial day and in the evening the Ord band, under the leadership of Dean S. Duncan, gave the first concert of the season, providing a fitting close to one of the most impressive Memorial day observances that Ord has ever held.

Crops Looking Good.
W. A. Anderson, who has lived in Ord and made a study of crop conditions for over fifty years, said yesterday that small grains and corn look the best this year of any year that he can remember. Weather has been ideal for corn planting although a good rain would be acceptable now.

—Mrs. C. J. Miller returned home Friday. She had enjoyed a pleasant week visiting with friends in Omaha, Crete and Lincoln. In the latter place she was a guest in the Charley Cornell home. Mrs. Miller's friends, Madams Edith Key of Cambridge and Wade Martin of Stratton accompanied her as far as Hastings on the return trip. From there Mrs. Miller came home by bus.

—According to the Grand Island Independent Oswald Linke, Rt. 2, Ord, submitted Tuesday morning to major surgical treatment in the St. Francis hospital.

—Bruce Thomas of Beatrice and Dick Thomas of Shickley, brothers and cousins of E. L. Achen have been visiting in Ord with the Achen family. Sunday the Achen family and their guests and the Clarence Graff family of Garfield county enjoyed a picnic at Ericson.

—The Study Circle of the Methodist church are planning a breakfast which they will serve to the public about 8:30 on June 14th. The tables will be in the basement of the Methodist church and everyone will be welcome.

Ruth Kessler Not Absent, Tardy, In 8 Years

Without doubt Miss Ruth Kessler, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kessler of Ord, has one of the best school attendance records of any student in this vicinity. This year she finished the eighth grade and in her eight years of attendance in the Ord schools she has been neither absent nor tardy. Though indisposed on several occasions, she always insisted on attending school and thereby kept her perfect record intact. Miss Ruth has also been a very good music student and has played in the Ord band for the past few years.

DECORATION DAY ADDRESS GIVEN BY GORDON MAN

Dwight Griswold Makes Impressive Talk As Ordites Observe Most Sacred Holiday.

Paying a tender tribute to those who died in their country's service and urging observance of law in order that our most sacred institutions may be perpetuated, Dwight Griswold of Gordon gave an impressive address at Memorial day services held in the Ord cemetery Tuesday morning. Mr. Griswold is a former state commander of the American Legion and last fall was a republican candidate for governor of Nebraska.

The services at the cemetery were in charge of Fidelity Post No. 33 of the American Legion and following its usual custom, the Legion honored veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars as well as those who died in the World war.

At 9:50 a. m. Tuesday a procession headed by C. J. Mortensen and Dr. F. L. Blessing, bearing United States and Legion flags, respectively, formed at the memorial plot in Bussell park and marched to the Veteran's plot in the cemetery. Guarding the flags were Howard Mason and Robert Cook and after the color bearers came the band, closely followed by a firing squad composed of Legion members. Then came Ladies of the G. A. R. and after them came a group of Spanish war veterans, followed by many other cars bearing the general populace.

At the Veterans' plot in the cemetery the band played a patriotic selection, after which E. L. Vogelanz, adjutant of the local Legion post, spoke briefly. J. D. McCall, as acting chaplain, then gave a prayer, after which the band played another selection.

Ladies of the G. A. R. gave their impressive ritualistic services at graves of Civil war veterans, after which Mr. Vogelanz introduced the principal speaker, Mr. Griswold.

The Gordon man's talk was one of the best Memorial day addresses ever given in Ord and a crowd estimated at 400 listened attentively for twenty minutes as he paid tribute to departed heroes. After the Griswold address, the band played "America," Chaplain McCall gave a brief prayer and the firing squad under the command of E. P. Clements, jr., fired a salute to the dead. ## PREMIUM PRICE TO BE PAID FOR OLD ROOSTERS

Ord Produce Dealers Will Pay 5c Per Lb. This Week To Help Boost Egg Quality.

In order to improve the quality of eggs during the summer months, produce dealers of Ord announce in today's issue of the Quiz that on Friday and Saturday of this week they will pay 5c per pound for old roosters and that they want to buy every old rooster in the Ord trade territory at this premium price.

Ordinarily the value of old roosters is only 3c per pound and after Saturday of this week only 3c will be paid, produce men say.

Fred Coe, manager of the Ord Co-operative Creamery, points out the fact that the hatching season is over and that the need for old roosters in the flock has passed. Fertile eggs spoil much more quickly than infertile eggs, especially in hot weather and it is recommended that every flock owner dispose of his old roosters in Ord this week.

Produce buyers taking part in the offer are the Co-op Creamery, the Fairmont Creamery company, Omaha Cold Storage, Warner Vergin, Goff's Hatchery, Rutar's Hatchery and Swift & Company. All of them are handling the roosters without profit and big poultry dealers have agreed to take the roosters of their hands at 5c, as their part in the move to boost egg quality.

Married At Broken Bow

On April 15 Miss Fern Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Cook, was married at Broken Bow to John Duemey of Ord. Mrs. Paul Duemey accompanied them. The marriage was not announced until last week as Mrs. Duemey was one of this year's graduates of the Ord high school. Mr. Duemey is employed on the L. J. Payzant farm near Sumter and he and his bride have gone to housekeeping in a small house on this farm.

MRS. M. McNAMEE TO HER REWARD

Wife of Well Known Farmer Dies Sunday After Ten Weeks' Of Serious Illness.

After an illness of ten weeks, Mrs. Michael McNamee passed away Sunday in the Ord home of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Zikmund, where she had been tenderly cared for during much of her long illness. Funeral services were held at Sowl's chapel Tuesday and interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Anna, daughter of Thomas and Mary Hanrahan, was born Feb. 13, 1873 in Lewis county, West Virginia and at an early age went with her parents to Richmond, Mo., where her girlhood was spent and where she was married on Aug. 8, 1890 to Michael McNamee. They lived in and near Richmond until February, 1908, and then came to Valley county, where the remainder of Mrs. McNamee's life was spent.

Seven sons and four daughters were born to Mrs. McNamee and all of them, as well as her husband, were at her bedside Sunday when death came. Her children are James, John and Robert, of Ericson, Mrs. Catherine Zikmund and Mrs. Rose Roraback and Mrs. Anna Ackerman, of Midwest, Wyo., Charles, Wilbur, Raymond and Paul, all of whom live in Ord. One sister, Mrs. Margaret Roraback, of Lavinia, Mont., was also at her bedside. She is also survived by two brothers, John Hanrahan, Los Angeles, Calif., and James Hanrahan, of Centerville, Ia., and will be mourned by twelve grandchildren.

A devoted wife and mother who always thought first of her family, Mrs. McNamee will be sadly missed. Although unable to attend church regularly, she was a true Christian whose many good deeds and kindly acts will be long remembered.

Hager Has Goutre Operation.

Word comes from Omaha to the effect that C. A. Hager is recovering nicely from a goutre operation performed a few days ago in Nebraska Methodist hospital. He has now left the hospital and is staying with his son, Chauncey, who graduates this spring from the University of Nebraska school of medicine. He will accompany Chauncey to Ord in a few days.

—According to the Grand Island Independent Oswald Linke, Rt. 2, Ord, submitted Tuesday morning to major surgical treatment in the St. Francis hospital.

—Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Puncocchar, underwent an operation for hernia in the Ord hospital Tuesday evening. Dr. C. J. Miller being the surgeon. The boy is recovering nicely.

—Eastern Star will meet tomorrow evening in their hall.

Weldon Coats Wed To Oshkosh Girl

At North Platte last Saturday evening occurred the marriage of Miss Vera Rogers, of Oshkosh, to Weldon Coats, of Palisade, the ceremony being performed in the presence of the bride's parents, the groom's mother, Mrs. Ernest S. Coats, and his brother Wayne and wife. Mrs. Wayne Coats had been in Oshkosh for the past ten days assisting Miss Rogers.

Weldon and his bride are now at home in Palisade where he is employed as linotype operator on a newspaper. His mother and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coats returned to Ord after the wedding Saturday, in order that Wayne might be on his milk route Sunday morning.

Mrs. Frances Koudele Dead.
Mrs. Frances Koudele, eighty-one years old, passed away about noon Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ed Holub, in Elyria. Yesterday the Sowl hearse took Mrs. Koudele's body to Wahoo, where funeral services are being held today.

Summer Session For Teachers At Uni

LINCOLN, Neb.—Shades of yesterday will be evident on the University of Nebraska campus during the forthcoming summer session when a revival of "The Little Red School House" will be held at the University for the first time will offer a summer course devised especially for rural school teachers.

At the consistent request of rural teachers and county superintendents throughout the state, the university will offer during the six weeks summer session, June 9 to July 21, a special course with a rural demonstration school for the training of rural teachers under the general direction of Dr. Clara O. Wilson, chairman of the department of elementary education. This course, personally supervised by the most efficient rural teacher available to the department, will not attempt to set up a model school, but rather it will carry on the work of a rural school, using only the natural elements available to any rural teacher in the state.

"Our rural demonstration school," stated R. D. Moritz, director of the university summer session, "will differ from a genuine rural school only by the fact that we are obliged to use a room in a Lincoln school building. The rural atmosphere will prevail, however, in the room itself."

Thirteen special lecturers and visiting instructors will be on the summer session faculty in addition to the regular teaching staff. The first to appear will be Dr. Fred M. Hunt, chancellor of the University of Denver and a former Nebraskan. He will lecture before various groups from June 9 and 21 and on the latter date he will address a special convocation.

Others who will appear during the session as special lecturers are Frank J. Bruno, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. W. Rex Crawford, University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Robert E. Foster, Merrill Palmer school; L. R. Gregory, president, State Teachers college, Fredonia, N. Y.; Miss Alice Hanthorn, former Nebraskan and now general supervisor of elementary schools at Cleveland; Dr. L. R. Kilzer, also a former Nebraskan and now on the faculty of the University of Wyoming; Dr. Donald McFayden, Washington University, formerly a member of the university faculty; Dr. Edwin W. Pahlow, Ohio State University; Dr. Thomas H. Reed, special lecturer at Harvard; Dr. R. E. Reynolds, formerly of the university, now at the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Julia M. Shipman, another former instructor at the university and now on the faculty at Mount Holyoke College, Mass.; and Dr. Alpheus Smith, Northwestern University.

For the first time the facilities of Raymond hall, the new university women's dormitory, will be made available to women students in summer session. Also for the first time railroads are offering round-trip rates for one fare and a third. This certificate arrangement will make it possible for students to come to Lincoln to attend the summer session paying one-way fare. Then, at the close of summer school, they may return to their homes, the return trip costing only one-third of the regular fare.

Methodist Church.

10 a. m. Sunday school. 11 a. m. Morning Worship. 7 p. m. Junior League, Epworth League, and Fellowship Circle.

At 8 o'clock we meet in the Christian church for union Sunday evening services. Rev. Spracklen will deliver the sermon. These union services are to continue during the summer months.

Our Children's Day program in charge of Mrs. Leo Long, will be given on Sunday, June 11.

A Sunday school board meeting will be held next Tuesday night, June 6, in the church parlor.

Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

HERBERT CUSHING ORD HI SPEAKERS AS 87 GRADUATES

Former Ord School Teachers' Address to Law Class in Ord History

With Herbert L. Cushing, director of certification and member superintendent of the schools, as principal, an eighty-seven Ord high school seniors were graduated last day evening at commencement exercises held in the high school auditorium. A crowd that taxied the capacity of the large room presided as Dr. J. W. McMillan, president of the board of education, presented diplomas to the graduates.

Mr. Cushing made a poignant address, announcing as his first a quotation, "we have seen of which paradise is best" and developing this theme by referring to thirty minutes of address by inspiring to the address and school patriotism. The exercises Thursday evening were opened by the school orchestra, to the strains of which the graduating class entered the auditorium and took their seats. All were attired in white and gowns. Rev. Mearl C. then gave the invocation, which the high school girls sang McDowell's "To a Rose."

The commencement address next, after which a mixed choir of high school students "Praise Ye the Father," by nod. Principal Wilbur D. Cass presented the graduating and members filed past D. Ginnis, who presented the diplomas.

Superintendent Millard B. announced that Miss Thelma Palmer had won the honor of valedictorian of the class of 1933 and was winner of a scholarship offered by normal schools of Nebraska. This scholarship gives Palmiter a year's free tuition fees at any normal school in the state. Miss Irma Kokes finished average was the second state among the seniors, was placed as salutatorian and placed with a scholarship offered by church schools of the state, titling her to a year's free tuition at any church school.

The impressive exercises closed with a benediction by Rev. H. H. Spracklen, and valedictory address by the valedictorian, which was a recessional played by the orchestra.

The class of 1933 was the best graduating class in the history of Ord high school. Boys girls given diplomas Tuesday night were:

Eva Adamek, Leota Audle, Augustyn, Marjorie Ball, Barnard, Evelyn Barta, Opal, Marie, Benita, Bernice, Bonnie, Twila Brickner, Carlisle, Wilma Cochran, Lillian, Fern Cook, Virginia Leona Crouch, Martha Cypriola Desmull, Sylvia Dobrowski, Ma Mae Flynn, Esther Glass, Clara Hiner, Helen Holden, Glyn Hughes.

—Bernard Suminski of now station does not improve health. He was a patient in crest for several weeks and was taken home. He is still confined to his bed and is losing weight. He was brought to hospital with a ruptured appendix and was in a serious condition and was thought best not to operate.

The Oriental poppies are in bloom at the Rufe Clark garden. If you see them now you will see some of the plants in which is the time to transplant them. They are dormant.

—Father M. A. Lawler of Saturday with Paul Wachter, latter is a son of Mr. George Wachter. Paul had attended the St. John Seminary Little Rock, Ark. He was in September 26. Several other around here have been at this seminary, one from Arcadia and one from Arcadia.

THE ORD QUIZ

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska

Entered at the Postoffice at Ord, Nebraska, as Second Class Mail Matter Under Act of March 3, 1879.

MORE CARE IN DRIVING.
Convinced that the way to bring about a decrease in auto accidents is to do away with obsolete speed limits, the Nebraska legislature at its recent session repealed the 45-mile-an-hour limit previously prescribed and instead passed a law permitting any speed that is reasonable. The new law also provides that the driver must have regard for the safety of others and in case of an accident must be able to justify the speed at which he was driving.

As everybody will admit, a speed limit of 45 miles an hour on the open highway is a joke. Scarcely anyone troubled to obey it and the law was never enforced.

It is also true that something must be done to stop the steady increase in auto accidents in the United States. The number of fatalities in auto travel has increased so rapidly that already it surpasses the number of deaths caused by cancer, tuberculosis and all diseases except pneumonia. More people are killed every year in auto accidents than the United States lost in the World War.

Not slower driving but better and more careful drivers is the prime need and the Nebraska legislature acted wisely in passing the new law. Riding in a car driven 60 miles an hour by some drivers is safer than riding in one driven 30 miles an hour by others. In conjunction with Nebraska's driving permit law and our present liability insurance requirements, the new speed law is a distinct advance in the way of accident prevention.

MORE ROAD SIGNS NEEDED.
A man from western Nebraska was speaking. He had just come into Ord by the Sargent road, having come down the Potash highway to Anselmo and then cut across on county roads to reach Ord. Here is what he said:

"You have a live town here, a beautiful town, too, and I don't see why your commercial club or some civic organization doesn't erect road signs everywhere within fifty miles to show people how to get to your town. If not on a state highway it is almost impossible for a stranger to find Ord without inquiring several times along the road."

It has been several years since the Chamber of Commerce erected road signs and, as this man suggests, it is time that signs were put up again. Torn down by storms, by road gangs, by vandals, the life of road signs is short. The traveling public would be pleased and Ord would be benefited in a business way if some thing of this sort could be done.

ORD WELCOMES GRISWOLD.
Ord was pleased this week to have the opportunity to entertain Dwight Griswold, of Gordon, who is a former state commander of the American Legion and was the republican candidate for governor of Nebraska last fall. A successful business man who never sought political preferment before, Mr. Griswold is everywhere respected and the fine address he made in connection with Memorial day services here enlarged his acquaintance and further endeared him to Ord people.

Nebraska would be fortunate in having for governor a man like Mr. Griswold. Even in the face of a democratic landslide he made a strong showing last fall, Valley county giving him a majority over Bryan. If he should consent to become a candidate for governor again there is little doubt that he would be elected.

near Ogden and across the continent rail travel became possible. The majority of people want to patronize railroads in preference to other modes of transportation but trains have been running too slowly, too infrequently and traveling on them has been too uncomfortable.

New trains traveling at 100 miles per hour will be smaller and less expensive to operate, hence they may be run more frequently. Driven by electricity generated by Diesel engines, they will be more quiet. With windows sealed and with air conditioning apparatus, they will be more comfortable.

The Union Pacific is to be commended for putting railroads back into the passenger-carrying picture.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

To anyone reading the daily papers, it must be apparent that there are very few prominent politicians who have not accepted financial favors from the great house of Morgan. President Roosevelt does not seem to have received such favors and he indicates that he will insist on having a thorough investigation of the Morgan private bank and its doings. Senator Glass is making a monkey out of himself in his open opposition to the investigation, showing conclusively that he is under deep obligation to Mr. Morgan. Secretary Woodin, apparently, should resign at once. If he does not he will be a serious handicap to the administration. And there are a lot of senators and congressmen and other officials whose future usefulness in public life has been destroyed by the disclosures in the Morgan investigation now going on. No man can accept the favors which this investigation shows that many have accepted, and not return those favors to the great banking house of Morgan. And they can't serve the house of Morgan and at the same time honestly serve the country.

Many, most in fact, big, successful business men, say that their advertising is the most important branch of their business. Most such men have a special man or department to take care of the advertising and that is their only business. They attend to it when it should be attended to. But where a business man writes his own advertising, the rule seems to be to put it off till the last minute. Then, other things pressing, he says, "Let it go till next week," and often this procedure is repeated week after week. Or, if the ad is written, it is thrown together in a hurry, rushed to the newspaper and being a last minute copy, has to be given the same hurry up treatment there. The result is that the job is not satisfactory any place along the line. I know a man who always writes his own copy, who rarely fails to have an ad each week and who makes his ad copy the order of business the first thing Monday morning. Monday morning other things have to wait till the week's ad copy is ready. The printer then has a chance to use his best ability to make the ad attractive, the best location in the paper is secured and such advertising gets results.

When central Nebraska people go to other states on a trip they usually come back home better satisfied than ever with their own state and location. Truly Central Nebraska is a garden spot, both in point of beauty and lack of devastating storms. We sometimes get unpleasant weather and when bad weather comes we do not say it is unusual, though for the past few years we have had very few storms either winter or summer. We have needed more rain every year but we are hoping to solve that trouble for a lot of acreage by using water from the river.

And if we are successful in getting irrigation here I know of several industries that will be starting up in Ord within a very short time. There will be enough such new businesses to give employment to all who want it. And will that make better business for all?

And, by the way, the better the town looks, when new business men come looking for locations, the surer we will be of getting them located here. If we get the proposed power and irrigation project started there will be land buyers coming, men will be looking for factory sites, people ready to retire will be looking for Ord homes. It is not too late to beautify your Ord home this season. Flowers can still be planted, in fact no time has been lost, really, by not having them planted sooner, for the growing season is just started. So if you want to plant flowers this year, don't be discouraged but get busy.

I don't know what the decision of the engineers is, but I am hoping the scheme of irrigation and power will require a large reservoir at or near Ord for impounding a lot of water. This idea will no doubt work in nicely with the flood control policy of the federal government.

It seems desirable, now, to organize a good, live chapter of the Isaac Walton League. Such an organization would be able to do a lot toward getting the help of the state in stocking the bodies of water and streams in this part of the state, with fish and there are fifty young men and women in Ord and vicinity who should be members. I have the necessary blanks and the cost is small. Anyone interested can stop at the office and sign up. Who will be the first to do so.

A Rastatt (Germany) resident found a pair of baby's shoes in the stork's nest which rests on the roof of his house.

Something Different

The best "fall out of step but Jim" story I have heard is about young Raymond Vogelanz, son of the E. L. Vogelanz family, when alibi-ing himself for an examination grade.

Quoth Raymond: "Why there wasn't anything the matter with my answers, Mother. It was just that the teacher didn't understand what I tried to tell her."

Ord should have an active interest in the Grand Island Independent, for several ex-Ord citizens are helping create that estimable home paper at present.

Paul Miller, husband of Jeannette Blessing, has operated a linotype these several years, and is always allotted the Ord correspondence to set, so that all names, etc., from this region will be correctly spelled, since he is familiar with Ord. Paul worked on the Quiz for quite a while before changing his address, you know. He and his wife have two sweet little girls.

Carlota Davis, daughter of the Claude Davis' is also employed by the same newspaper, working in the business section of the establishment. Carlota, a slip of a girl when her father moved to Grand Island, is now a young lady.

So many people admire the beautiful yard of The Quiz. That is one thing about anything growing that is charming . . . all who see enjoy.

And yet it is impossible to give bouquets to all who would love to receive them. In this connection I am reminded of what my aunt always used to say to the compliments of the many strangers, friends and neighbors who were continually stopping to admire her grounds and garden. In the entire three lots she took such wonderful care of, there was scarcely a clod out of place. Her home looked like a little bit of paradise, nestled in beautiful flowers, vines and shrubs, with the neatest of gardens close by. Dozens of admirers used to enthrone over her achievements with growing things, and often complete strangers stopped to admire and request a bouquet, when passing by.

They all gushed the same sweet refrain to her. "Oh, Mrs. Norton, you do have the most wonderful luck with your flowers!" To which compliment, after they had gone away, my aunt would snort disgustedly. "Luck! Hm! If they got up every morning at five or six o'clock to dig and weed and water like I do, they'd know it was work and not luck!"

I am not a democrat but I soon will be if Roosevelt doesn't quit doing so many things I like! A year ago or so a notable argument over their seats at table took front page notice of the newspapers all over the nation. At the White House recently a big banquet was held without even place cards . . . every man found his own seat, wherever he chose. Hurray! Somehow it seemed a little playun-ish for our Greatest to haggle over who sat where, like any two school children. Now didn't it?

How the big wind flattened the flowers. Blossoms were ripped to shreds, big peony bushes were flattened to the ground.

And even the hardy spirea looks rather whipped since, doesn't it?

Ign. Klima's back yard, that one corner, is going to be absolutely darling, going to look simply gorgeous. But what on earth is he going to do to the rest of the yard to make it match? It will have to be something pretty nice.

It is difficult to decide whether the burned red faces of the men you meet these spring days are caused by chasing golf balls or little fishes. Usually it is possible to tell by the motions they make with their hands however, since a golfer can't show the goggle eyed bystanders the length of his drive, but the fisherman can approximate (?) the length of his fish. If you see someone chopping air with both hands, he is likely a fisherman.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

If this colyum received as many recipes from local folks as it gets from out-of-town subscribers, a better colyum would be forthcoming.

Fresh vegetable season is here. Now that it is, if you have a pet way of using say, cucumbers, won't you please drop a postcard bearing it? Or write in unusual ways to prepare tomatoes, or even new potatoes. Or any of the other good fresh vegetables which will soon be plentiful and not so expensive. The Quiz and the cookery editor would be most grateful to you. Please do it now.

Red Chocolate Cake.
Beat two eggs very light, add gradually two cups sugar. Dissolve one teaspoon soda in one cup of heavy sour cream. Dissolve three tablespoons cocoa in one-half cup boiling water. Combine, add one teaspoon vanilla and lastly two cups flour.

Meat Loaf.
Mrs. Charles Huebner, Rt. 2, Ord

Over one cup rolled oats pour one and one-fourth cups milk which has been scalded. When partly cooled add one egg or two egg yolks and beat well. Beat in one and one-half pounds hamburger and three-fourths pound of sausage. Mince three tablespoons onion and add one teaspoon sage and three teaspoons salt. Mix all well. Pack mixture into a greased loaf pan and sprinkle with one tablespoon melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Chopped carrots or tomatoes or both may be added.

Mrs. Roy Sanders, Lewellen, Nebr.

Potato Doughnuts.
Mix two cups hot mashed potatoes with two cups sugar. Add one cup milk, three eggs which have been well beaten, one-half teaspoon salt, nutmeg to flavor, five teaspoons baking powder. Then put in three tablespoons melted butter and lastly enough flour to make a stiff dough. Be careful not to knead the dough. Cut into rings and fry in deep fat. Chopped walnuts added to the dough makes a pleasing variation. This makes 35 to 40 doughnuts. Greta Brickner

Soda Crackers.
In the evening make a sponge of one-half cake yeast, one pint warm water, one and one-half quarts flour. Let it stand. Next morning add one-fourth cup sour milk, one third cup lard, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, work until stiff with flour. Pound with rolling pin, fold over and pound again. Kneep this up until the dough is smooth. Then roll into a thin sheet. Punch holes on top with fork. Bake in a hot oven.

Mrs. O. E. Wesenberg, Omaha
Mayonnaise Dressing.
Mix two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon flour, two eggs, one-half teaspoon mustard, one-half cup vinegar, salt and pepper to taste. Cook until thick, beating until creamy. When ready to use add cream to thin.

Maude Bryan, North Loup
Raisin Cookies.
Mix one cup shortening, one cup sugar, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cream of tartar, one teaspoon vanilla with enough flour to roll out.

For filling grind one cup raisins, mix with one-half cup water, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon flour and cook until thick. Roll the cookies thin and cut in spirals. On one cookie place a heaping teaspoon of the filling and cover with the other cookie.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week.

Charley Purcell of Enterprise had a narrow escape from serious injury. He was operating a fence stretcher and had the machine at full pressure when a chain broke, the machine hitting him in the head. He was not badly hurt but might easily have been killed.

A shining new Reo automobile came in on the freight consigned to Frank Mallory.

Orville Phair was jailed on a charge of assaulting J. W. Wimberly. Previously arrested on this charge, he had been released on condition that he leave town and stay away. He returned to see his wife, resulting in his being again arrested.

Ord merchants signed an agreement to close at 7 o'clock each evening except Saturday.

20 Years Ago This Week.
Allen, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Norman, drank some kerosene and was seriously ill.

Frank Norman, rural mail carrier, was apologizing for having painted his mail wagon a bright vermilion color. Orders from Washington required it, he explained.

Ord was visited by a dust and wind storm so bad that the city lights had to be turned on late in the afternoon and even the lights couldn't be seen across the street. Later rain fell in torrents.

A well expert hired by the city council advised sinking a clear well into which the city's five wells would pump water before it was pumped to the hill reservoir. The city's consumption of water was about 66,000 gallons a day but the supply was adequate, the expert found. Ord was about to install the meter system, which was expected to cut down water consumption.

McMindes & Milburn moved their restaurant to the northeast corner of the square and into the old Palace Saloon building. New fixtures were being installed.

After he had spent 12 hours and 10 minutes in the delivery of the 83,784 words which composed his sermon that lashed the wickedness of the world, Rev. G. Z. Brown, pastor of a Washington (D. C.) Baptist Church, claimed the world's record for the longest sermon.

Dr. Rothrock, of Lewistown, Pa., who was caught in a storm at a nearby State forest park, reports that rain, which froze as it fell, encased a live rattlesnake and held it fast to the ground until the clouds passed and the sun melted the ice.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

If the recent increase in cattle prices holds out a handsome profit will be reaped by Harold Koelling and his brothers. For his vocational agriculture project, Harold bought 50 head of steer calves in partnership with his brothers.

The calves were all Herefords, and of excellent quality. They were selected from various herds around Ord, including the Cornell herd, the Dye herd, and also the Satterfield herd at Taylor. They cost a total of $1,137.50.

Up to the present time, these bullocks have eaten about $675 worth of feed. It includes 3,300 bushels of corn, some alfalfa, and a little commercial feed. There have been other expenses, including trucking, labor, interest, and losses. Two of the steers died.

The remaining 48 head weigh about 38,400 pounds, or 800 pounds each. Valued at 6 1-4 cents a pound, they are worth $2,400.

If the Koelling boys sold now, they would have over $500 left for their labor and minor expenses. They expect to feed until early fall, when cattle prices generally reach the peak.

Harold may have been too optimistic in using top prices for his estimates. On the other hand cattle have fallen off a dollar this week, and should rise again.

Higher prices are expected to June and later months. Cattle usually go up at that time every year. This season the speculation of inflation is about expended, but some of the price gain will stay. Further upturns will occur when inflation and farm relief measures are actually put in to operation.

More people are going back to work at public works and in factories. These folks should again be able to afford meat at normal prices.

When neighbors became displeased with the unpleasant aroma that emanated from the Brooklyn (N. Y.) apartment of Mrs. L. F. Hyman, 50 mice, 75 rabbits, 2 poodle dogs, 4 birds and 4 gold fish were found to be living in the rooms occupied by the woman. The police who made an investigation.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 22, 1933

I suppose that I may claim to be the first Ford Dealer. I not only made cars, but sold them and frequently delivered them myself.

The "drive away" is not new; often I have driven cars from Detroit to towns in Ohio or Indiana or Michigan to make delivery.

There were no good roads in those days, and the people where I drove had never seen a motor car before.

My first really enthusiastic customers were Country Doctors. They were the first to realize the value of dependable transportation to a widely scattered practice.

Even today I occasionally hear from some of those first Ford users.

We had to teach local mechanics how to care for the cars. That is how Ford Service began, which is now found everywhere in the world.

We believed from the beginning that a sale does not complete our transaction with our customer — it creates upon us an obligation to see that our customer's car gives him service. Ford Dealers know their duty to the public in this respect.

I can say of Ford Dealers generally that they have been and are men of character and standing in their communities. Most of them have been with us many years, which indicates that we agree on basic business principles. The Company provides that the methods used to sell the Ford car are consistent with the self-respect of the Dealers who handle it.

The present Ford V-8 is the peak of our 30 years experience.

We have never made a better car. Its eight-cylinder engine is powerful and smooth running. The car is admittedly very good looking and has comfortable riding qualities. It is economical in operation because of advanced engine design and low car weight. It is the fastest, roomiest and most powerful car we have ever built.

why not have BOTH?

Some retailers of meat try to lure business by cut price advertising, stressing the appeal to economy.

Others stress quality only, saying never a word about price.

Why not have both?

We have always found it possible to sell quality meats at economy prices, meeting on an equal or lower price basis retailers who pass off inferior grades of meat at so-called "bargain" prices.

A Romance of the North Woods

By HAROLD TITUS

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—"Tom" Belknap, big timber operator, ordered by his physicians to take a complete rest, plans a three months' trip abroad. Promises of advancement he has made to his son John, just commencing in the business, are broken, for no apparent reason, and the young man is indignant. Paul Gorbil, Belknap's partner, whom John and other business associates of Belknap cordially dislike, is a bone of contention. Father and son part without a complete understanding.

CHAPTER II.—At Shoestring, his train delayed by a wreck, John is ordered to leave at once. He refuses, and after a fist fight, his attackers realize it is a case of mistaken identity. John learns his father is believed to be out to wreck the Richards lumber company. Bewildered and unbelieving, he seeks employment with that company. At the office he finds Gorbil bullying a young girl, and throws him out. Gorbil does not recognize him. The girl is Ellen Richards, owner of the company. A letter he carries gives John's name as John Steele, the Belknap being dropped inadvertently, and John, knowing the feeling against his father, allows Ellen to believe that is his name.

CHAPTER III.—Ellen engages John as her foreman. A series of underhand tricks designed to handicap operations of the Richards company culminates in the deliberate wrecking of a locomotive drawing a snow plow.

CHAPTER IV.—After heroic efforts the locomotive is got back on the rails. John, admiring Ellen's bravery under the conditions, begins to have a sentimental attachment for the girl, which is returned.

CHAPTER V.—The Richards barn and stables burn in a night fire and a stranger is killed. John finds and carries out the dead body of a stranger. He realizes the fire was set, but refuses to believe his father could be a party to such an act. Steele and Sheriff Bradshaw arrange to work together on the case.

CHAPTER VI.—John is satisfied that Gorbil is the malignant influence at work, sheltered by "Old Tom" Belknap's name and reputation. Gorbil discovers that "Steele" is John Belknap.

CHAPTER VII.—Having evidence of Gorbil's complicity in the burning of the Richards stables, Sheriff Bradshaw interviews him. Gorbil admits the dead man had been in his employ and claims he had discharged him for being drunk, the afternoon of the fire. Steele and Bradshaw arrange for an autopsy on the body. Gorbil sends an anonymous letter to Ellen, informing her of Steele's identity, and insinuating that, acting for his father, John is responsible for her business troubles. John is unable to make a satisfactory explanation, and Ellen, against the dictates of her heart, discharges him.

CHAPTER VIII.—Young Belknap asks Gorbil to give him employment in the Belknap lumber plant. Sheriff Bradshaw cleverly induces Gorbil to incriminate himself in the burning of the Richards stables.

CHAPTER IX.—Gorbil's stenographer, Marie Varnell, whom he has lured from a position in the Belknap offices at Chicago to become his mistress at Kampfest, turns on him and promises to reveal his treachery to John. An attempt engineered by Gorbil to kill John, apparently by accident, is unsuccessful.

CHAPTER X.—John, though convinced Gorbil had planned the death trap, has no positive proof. He is made barn boss, by Gorbil's orders, and another attempt is made to bring about his death. Escaping again, he openly accuses Gorbil of the attempted assassinations. After a heated interview John is discharged but remains in Kampfest, on watch. Ellen, realizing her affection for John, but convinced of his duplicity, is miserable. To get away from all that reminds her of him she decides to visit her uncle, Wolf Richards, not knowing he is away on a hunting trip.

CHAPTER XI.—Having proof of Gorbil's complicity in the crime of arson, Sheriff Bradshaw attempts to put him under arrest. Gorbil, cornered, shoots the sheriff and flees, believing him dead. Now continue the story.

He saw the staves on the growing group of faces about him— incredulous shocked looks.

"Nat had a warrant for Gorbil's arrest on a charge of arson, for planning to burn out the Richards camps, he said bitterly. "And now there'll be another warrant, so help me Heaven!"

He addressed McWethy again.

"Get a team out on every road from town. Phone every Belknap & Gorbil camp and tell 'em to report Gorbil if they see him, or they stand a chance of taking a trip with him! I'll go to his rooming house the minute the doctor comes and—"

"Here he is!"

The physician was shouldering his way through the group, a young man, cool and collected in emergency.

"Don't stop at anything, doctor!" John said. "Spend any amount that will help in any way if this case has got you stopped. You men stand by to help the doctor. Then report to McWethy. . . I'll get back here!"

He was gone then, running through the falling snow, around a corner and thundering up well-kept steps.

No, Mr. Gorbil was not at his rooming house; he had not been there since noon. His supper was waiting . . .

Look for the woman! The phrase was flashing through his mind as he ran along the street.

He rounded the post office corner and flung himself up into the storm house where he had stood with Marie Varnell and listened to her story of Gorbil's duplicity.

He entered to confront the girl who stood on the stairs, a hand at her cheek, lips parted in something like terror.

"Where's Gorbil?" he asked sharply.

"My G—d, how should I know? What's happened? He came in here like a . . . like he was crazy! He gave me a lousy fifty dollars and said to get to h—l out of town as fast as I could or they'd be after me too!" She laughed shrilly. "He said I was in it, that they were—"

"Hold your tongue!" he cried sharply. "Hold your tongue, Marie! There's nothing at all for you to be afraid of. I just want you to tell me what happened, Marie, and where he went."

She wiped her eyes.

"I'd been buying some things and was a little late getting home," she said unsteadily. "He came up the walk behind me on a run. He scared me the way he looked. Oh, Mr. Belknap, it was awful!"

"I know! I know! But what did he say and do? Give me your story first, then I'll tell mine!"

"He said it was all off between us! Everything was off, was what he said. He couldn't talk straight. He swore awful and said I was in the jam along with him and they'd be after me and to get to h—l out of town as fast as I could before they nailed me. He grabbed his skis out of the storm house where he'd left 'em yesterday and beat it off across the tracks! Oh, what's happened, Mr. Belknap?"

"He's shot the sheriff. Probably killed him. Which way'd he go? Just where'd he cross the tracks? Tell me that! Hang to yourself a minute longer!"

But the girl was past giving him further aid for the moment. Slowly she sank to the steps, head falling backward. He gathered her in his arms, swung down into the living room and laid her gently on a couch.

He had left the front door open when he burst in. The light from the hallway streamed out into the storm house. A shovel was there, a broom. A pair of skis stood against the wall and, in a far corner, snow-shoes. He grabbed them up and leaped down the steps, searching for tracks in the new snow.

Easy to find, these were, under the street light. The trail was distinct, but already filling in with the light, large flakes. He waded through the deep snow between the street and the railroad tracks, bending low to be sure he trailed his man. He saw where he had stopped, where skis had been dropped into the deep snow; where they had been scraped about as the straps were adjusted, where they had slid off to the northward . . .

He jammed his toes into the harness then, whipping the straps about his ankles. He stood up, wriggled his feet and started, bent low, moving at a swift walk, eyes on those twin depressions in the snow before him . . .

He went as quickly as he dared, stooping now and then and with a bare hand feeling the snow before him for the betraying marks, better than half filled. Gorbil was going faster by far than he was; each fractional mile that intervened between them put an additional handicap on him.

He found that he could detect the trail beneath him by the feel of the snow that skis had packed. He went on, shuffling along, feeling sign with his feet, and when he emerged from the gloom of the thick conifers he saw where snow had been knocked from stiff brush.

FATHER FLANAGAN OPENS DRIVE FOR FUNDS TO RESCUE HOMELESS BOYS

Pitiful Case of John Lovegreen, 13, Starts action to Release Boys from Jails

The unhappy experiences of a 13-year-old boy, who wrote him from the Madison, Nebr. jail, asking to be admitted to Father Flanagan's Boys' Home at Omaha, has prompted Father E. J. Flanagan to undertake a nation-wide campaign for funds for the Home. Father Flanagan hopes to be able to increase the capacity of the Home, now filled to the limit, and to rescue more of the thousands of boys who have been forced into hobo "jungle camps," jails, or who are roaming the streets.

John Lovegreen, who was put in jail because there was no other place for a homeless boy.

"We are asking that people give at least a dollar," said Father Flanagan. "Five-dollar and ten-dollar contributions will be gratefully received and used, but we hope that everyone will give something, so that more homeless boys may be given the chance they deserve of leading a useful and normal life."

The boy, John Lovegreen, was in jail because he was unwanted. He had been sent, at the age of 9, to live with an unmarried uncle. The uncle later married, and John ran away. He returned, and by direction of the county court was placed in another home. This arrangement was not successful, and finally he was placed in jail—because he had no folks.

Over the jail radio he heard the concerts of Father Flanagan's Boys' Band, and it became his favorite program. Finally John wrote to Father Flanagan, asking if he might be admitted to the Home. "I have been without a home and the police got me and put me in jail," he wrote. "I don't know where my father and mother are. I want a home and I want to go to school and learn to work. Please, please, let me hear from you."

The jailor's wife, who had acquired a strong affection for the manly little fellow, also wrote to Father Flanagan expressing the hope that room could be found for John at the Home, and assuring Father Flanagan that she knew he would make good in the proper surroundings.

Father Flanagan promptly accepted the boy's application and within a few days he was on his way to Omaha. The only possession he had was a tool chest, a gift from his mother and his only remembrance from her. The tool chest

Thousands of boys are in jails, in hobo camps, and on the streets, for lack of homes to take care of them. Now reposes on a shelf—a mother's gift, and too sacred to use.

Now John writes to the jailor's wife that he is at last achieving his heart's desire of a pleasant home, and learning a trade—printing—and another waif has been rescued from the nameless evils that beset the homeless boys of the nation.

A Romance of the North Woods

By HAROLD TITUS

The trail, his sense of direction told him, was swinging a bit to the westward, keeping to the open where skis would ride better, crossing a wide chopping coming up to second growth now, where he could see those creases in the unmarked snow and the barren brush that had been disturbed.

CHAPTER XII

Paul Gorbel's self-control had cracked back there in the office where, for so long, he had planned and plotted. He had shot without meaning to kill, intent only on the horrible fear which rode him.

But he had cast his die. He was far outside the pale of decent men now. He was running away, blindly at first, with the thought only of putting distance between himself and others.

Why his mind should go back to his talk with the cruiser late in the afternoon was beyond accounting for. But he did think of that as he raced on, of his cruiser who had come in from the northward, with his casual story of having stopped at Wolf Richards' cabin and made his abode there in the trapper's absence.

Wolf's camp was the only habitation out yonder; the only habitation in all that country about Kampfest where travelers were turned away. For years men had known that when old Wolf was at home none was welcome to pass his threshold except Ellen Richards. His was a place to shun, a camp where succor was not available.

But Wolf was gone now. He was out in the Caribou deer yard, forty miles away, the cruiser had said. He would stay there, too, driving out the timber wolves, come to fill their winter-slack bellies on the easy living afforded by yarded deer.

Richards' cabin, then, was sanctuary for a man who fled the law. Doubly so: going there would throw the trappers off the scent; he would find a chance to rest; would take food and ammunition and anything else he might need for a long period of hiding.

He was not an old man, not yet even in his prime. True, he would start with his hands again, but he had started so once and if it had not been for his avariciousness he would have possessed many of the things he wanted. He would not lose his head again! He would keep himself within the law next time!

"The law, the law!" he whispered. "Within the law. Always within the law. . . ."

The snow still fell, covering his tracks. He took a passing comfort in that. By midnight his trail would show only faint traces; by morning if the wind blew even a breath, this light snow would shift and obliterate them forever.

He did not reckon that a man was already on that trail, coming slowly, painfully. No, he did not guess such a circumstance; no more than he dreamed that as he left Shoestring behind a lone girl was striking a match in Wolf Richards' camp, looking about a bit nonplussed and then, with a sigh, searching for kindling to build the fire that would make this place, though otherwise unattended to night, wholly habitable for her.

The permanent abodes of solitary trappers almost without exception fall into one of two categories: the meticulously clean or the impossibly filthy. To the first belonged Wolf Richards'.

The floor of pine had been much scrubbed. The one bed in the corner, with blankets gone now, was covered with a tarpaulin, neatly tucked about the tick. The wood box was filled, supplies ranked in a cupboard above it. A broom hung from its nail, a sharp ax stood behind the door.

Ellen put a kettle on and unhooked the plank door at the end of the room, entered Wolf's fur loft, a windowless chamber, filled with animal scents, and dragged from it a cot. Her own blankets were on a shelf before which hung a curtain of brilliant red calico, and while water heated she made up her bed, as she had made it many another time when coming here to spend a night with the old recluse.

The night was very still. She tried to tell herself that she must get hold of her emotions and be guided by reason. Out here, twenty miles from the nearest habitation, there could be no cause for this feeling of apprehension which was rising. . . . rising. She was not of the breed of women that fears isolation and loneliness.

But even as she argued so, tears welled into her eyes as she fought against the weight which tugged at her heart.

Sleepless nights were in her immediate past; harried days had taken their toll. This afternoon she had walked a dozen miles through soft going and her body was weary. She dropped her cheek to the blankets for just a moment; if Wolf did not come soon she would undress, bolt the door, fill the stove with wood, and prepare to spend the night alone. . . . Just a moment.

And sleep came as Gorbel, two hours away from that lonely cabin, cursed at the thinning of the snow, at the faintly blurred stars which began to appear in what had been a void above him.

Ellen woke with a start. The room was cold; her body stiff, but it was not the chill nor the aching of her muscles which startled her from deep sleep.

Not these. . . . Rather the careful, slow creaking of a door hinge. Wolf returning? That was the first possibility which presented itself to her clearing consciousness, but immediately she reasoned that a man does not enter his own home with stealth and caution.

"Who is it?" she cried sharply, sitting up and swinging her feet to the floor. "What do you want?"

The door moved and Paul Gorbel half reeled into the room.

"It's I, Ellen. And what do I want?"—with something of a sneer, something of bravado. . . . "What do I want?"—weakening quickly, oddly. "I. . . I came for you. . . . for you! That's what."

Over an hour ago he had come to a halt at the crest of the burned ridge which swept downward to the swamp where Wolf had built his cabin, the first objective in his flight. He had stopped with a gasp. Twin rectangles of light showed down there, windows in a building, a structure which he had counted on being unoccupied.

He was without food, without more than a pocket-knife as a device for procuring food and warmth. A man cannot endure the wilderness in winter without food or the means of procuring food. He must have an ax and blankets; he should have utensils to make the food he could take palatable.

His knees shook and his breath came and went in light moans. Wolf Richards there. . . back home. . . . a man who was impossible of approach, even had a traveler been free to approach any human being!

But probably the occupant of that cabin was not Wolf Richards at all. Some one else had stopped there tonight, as his cruiser had been there last night. Relief, with that thought, and on the heels of relief, dismay again. Anyone there, anyone who knew him, anyone observing enough to remember and to describe him would present a fatal hazard.

Governor Bryan dispelled the anxiety which has been continually growing in political circles over the United States senate vacancy when he announced last Wednesday the appointment of W. H. Thompson of Grand Island to that place. Judge Thompson will complete the unexpired term of the late Senator Howell of Omaha. For several weeks rumors via the political grapevine route had indicated that Judge Thompson was to be the selection. In appointing Judge Thompson, Governor Bryan selected a man of considerable ability and a tried and trusted personal friend of many years. Those who know their political A B C's say that Thompson's appointment places a considerable handicap upon the democratic patronage control which has been largely in the hands of National Committeeman Arthur Mullen up to this time. It is pointed out that the president and United States senate listen with an attentive ear to the recommendations of party senators. During the past few months, however, the national committeeman has enjoyed that strategic position in the absence of a party senator.

Following the announcement and appointment of Judge Thompson as United States senator Governor Bryan was questioned by newspaper men concerning the movement to oust D. P. Hogan as president of the Federal Land Bank in Omaha. Mullen forces have been advocating a change in that position. Bryan did not assert himself on the matter further than to say such a change should not be attempted without careful study and pointed out that the place really should be of non-political character. He also pointed out that farmers who had served on the board had been influential in placing Hogan in that position.

Although the bill authorizing assessment for the establishment of a county old age pension fund did not carry the emergency clause and consequently will not be effective until August 9, State Tax Commissioner Smith has stated that he believes it is legal for counties to make an assessment of 50 cents on individuals between the ages of 21 and 50 to go into such a fund. The bill was introduced in the recent session of the legislature by a Douglas county representative and the Douglas county delegation was particularly interested in it. Since its passage, however, other counties have also made inquiry regarding assessment this year.

Nebraska is ready to go on farm relief as soon as a definite federal program is completed. The governor has named a state-wide committee including W. H. Smith, state tax commissioner, John Havelok, legislator of Hooper, Dwight S. Dalby of Beatrice, and W. H. Brokaw, University of Nebraska, to take charge of the work as soon as a definite plan is provided.

Attorney General Good has named J. J. Thomas of Seward as special counsel for an inquiry into the recent report of the state auditor showing a $75,000 shortage in bond coupons held by the state department of educational lands and funds. Mr. Thomas was chairman of the state democratic committee last fall. Inasmuch as the bonding company's auditor who checked up on outgoing officers oked the account, republican circles are not much disturbed over the reported shortage.

The department of agriculture completed its first month's work as a collecting agency for gasoline tax operating under a new law passed by the recent legislature. The department reported $642,000 collected in taxes. The amount is $800 less than collected during April a year ago.

The federal supreme court refused to consider a decision of the Nebraska supreme court in the Hubbell bank case. The Nebraska supreme court ruling had barred the state collecting assessments against banks under the old guarantee law. The banking department now holds approximately one million dollars which will be returned to depositors in failed banks to go to local depositors instead of to depositors in a few banks which failed several years ago. Early in March statements of going banks showed that nearly two million dollars was held by those banks to cover assessments made under the old law. All together three million dollars was involved in the court case. The state banking department and state banking circles were reported to be pleased with the outcome of the case.

The first beer permit issued under the recent act of the legislature has just been issued by Governor Bryan to the Storz Brewing company of Omaha. By this permit the brewing company is authorized to make, store and ship out of state 3.2 percent beer. The company has filed a $10,000 bond with the state treasurer which guarantees that the brewer will not violate the provisions of the permit.

The annual report of the state fire marshal shows that fire losses for this state last year were $3,060,335, or $46,278 less than during the previous year. The total value of buildings destroyed was over 23 millions while the insurance on them was slightly over 18 millions. Deaths from fires totaled 55 and injuries 212 for the year. Two fires were reported from overheated stoves, 368 from sparks, one from fireworks, 25 from matches and 12 from matches and mice. There were 2,409 fires reported in the state, 810 being in Omaha, and 162 in Lincoln. The expense of this department last year was $21,640 which included salaries, printing and inspectors' traveling expenses.

There are over 27 million acres of winter wheat for harvest in the United States out of 39 million acres sown last fall. Last year 33 million acres were harvested. In Nebraska there are 2,023,000 acres for harvest out of 2,890,000 sown. Last year 2,053,000 acres were harvested. For the entire world the wheat acreage is 5 per cent lower than last year.

Plans are being made for a gigantic power and irrigation development for this state. This plan would incorporate all existing or contemplated developments and include 63 of Nebraska's 93 counties. Application for a loan of $30,000,000 for the purpose of the development from the Reconstruction Finance corporation will be made soon. The plan would incorporate in its boundaries the proposed Loup and Middle Loup developments; the tri-county development plans in south central and southwest Nebraska; the Sutherland project and other contemplated areas. In addition to power and irrigation, a reforestation program, construction of two paved highways east and west and two paved highways north and south across the state are planned.

Depositors in failed state banks at Farwell, Holdrege, Walton, Litchfield, Stockville and Comstock were recently paid $39,000 in dividends.

The department of Indian affairs in Washington has ordered the termination of activities at the Indian school at Genoa for the fiscal year of 1933. Business men in that section have made plans to prevent such action being taken. Attendance at the school this year has been about 500 Indian boys and girls from Nebraska and seven surrounding states. About 200 of this total are Nebraskans. A staff of 53 is maintained for the school.

Governor Bryan and federal representatives have agreed upon a plan to put Nebraska in the national conservation service at work on projects in this state. The governor has announced that he will establish four work camps, each to accommodate 200 men. They will be located at Valentine, Benkelman, Chadron and at Louisville or Fremont. The men will trim pine timber, put in dams for lakes, build new roads, make large lakes for state fish hatchery and improve sandpit lakes.

Because of better crops last year there was a sharp decrease in crop production loans for this year. The federal loan office in Minneapolis has reported that 54,378 farmers in eleven central states have received $6,379,000 in loan for this year. In eight states last year 113,000 farmers received $23,000,000. For Nebraska alone 2,577 farmers received $373,000 in loans this year.

Under the new law enacted by the recent legislature every dealer in gasoline and oil in this state must have a new importer's license by June 22. The bond given in support of each license will be based on the average amount of gallonage handled. A bond of $10,000 is required for over 750,000 gallons handled; $5,000 bond for over 400,000 gallons $1,000 bond for less than 400,000 gallons.

The state vital statistics department reports 12,923 deaths in Nebraska last year. Of the total number, 886 were from accidental causes. This is a creditable decrease, compared with 1930, the high point, when accidental deaths totaled 1,160; and compared with 991 in 1931 and 931 in 1929. Deaths from automobile accidents decreased materially, there being 198 in 1932 compared with 290 in 1931; 294 in 1930 and 269 in 1929. Falling caused 236 deaths in 1932; two deaths resulted from airplane accidents; suicides numbered 278 and homicides, 449. Other causes of deaths last year were: Accidental absorption of gas, 31; others forms of accidental poisoning, 13; conflagration, 2; accidental burns, 79; drowning, 56; accident from firearms, 46; auto and train collisions, 10; railroad accidents, 33; street car accidents, 3; excessive cold, 5; excessive heat, 14.

LOST 40 POUNDS ON DOCTOR'S ADVICE

"I'm a user of Kruschen Salts as a reducing remedy and can say they are fine. Have lost more than 40 lbs. in the past year. Am gradually reducing as my doctor advises." Miss Bertha Waldo, Haman, N. Dak. (Oct. 30, '32). Once a day take Kruschen Salts—one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water first thing every morning. Besides losing ugly fat SAFELY you'll gain in health and physical attractiveness—constipation, gas and acidity will cease to bother—you'll feel younger—more active—full of ambition—clear skin—sparkling eyes. A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world—but demand and get Kruschen and if one bottle doesn't joyfully please you—money back.

He started cautiously forward, wondering if the dogs might not be there after all, ready to begin their devilish barking. He stood a long interval at the edge of the timber, less than a hundred feet from the cabin, watching, listening. No dogs were there; Wolf could not be home. This was some other person.

The soft snow covered all sounds of his progress. He edged along the building to the window, peering through the half-frosted panes.

His heart stopped as he saw her lying there on the cot, and then raced wildly on again. Ellen Richards, the girl he had desired and finding her impossible to possess, the girl whose property he had attempted to acquire through the scheming and treachery which had brought him to the status of a fugitive. Paul Gorbelt sank to his knees, gloating.

He wanted revenge in this moment! Wanted to make her suffer for the suffering which his fevered mind traced back to her now. He had been so honest in desiring her at first; he had been so driven by his impulse to have and hold her that his frustration had driven him into this blind alley. And as he reasoned, his want of her became stronger than his aching for vengeance. He wanted her. . . . wanted her. . . .

Why not, then? Why shouldn't he take her, the last thing remaining of the life that was behind him? Why couldn't he take her, driving or dragging her with him into this new phase of existence which lay yonder. . . . somewhere.

But after he had entered, after he had revealed himself to her, after he had made his first declaration, doubts began to riot. If he should fall in this. . . . if he should not be able to drive or drag her. . . . And that was why his voice weakened, his fingers fumbled at his chin, why his eyes roved restlessly as he told the girl he had come for her and she only stood there, apparently unafraid.

Apparently unafraid, yes, but her courage was solely a matter of appearance. Beneath that exterior she was aquiver with apprehension. She stood a moment eyeing him, mind groping for possible strategies that could be used in such an emergency.

"For me, Paul?"—gently now, wanting to soothe and humor him until she could determine what it might be that had driven this well-poised man so far off poise. "And how did you know I was here?"

"Eh? Know? Know! How did I? . . . He looked up and some of the old craft came into his face for the moment. "I knew!"—with a nod, "Never mind how!" He gave a strained laugh. "knew. . . ."

"But it's so late. You. . . . you look cold; you must be tired. Have you eaten?"

"Eaten?" He shook his head. "No not since. . . . not since before. . . . no, I haven't eaten. . . ."

"Well, I'll get you something now, then."

She replenished the fire, went to the cupboard and took coffee from a shelf, watching him. Her hands trembled.

"Time! She needed time! Her!

"Wouldn't you like bacon?" she asked. "Wouldn't bacon?"

"Trying to put me off, eh?" truculently. "Don't want to talk about it? That how you feel?"

He unbuttoned his coat. "Well, you'd better. . . . You'd better talk it over. You're responsible for it all. If it hadn't been for you I wouldn't have. . . . wouldn't have done it. I wouldn't be running away now; I wouldn't be lying there. . . . lying back there. . . . I wouldn't've shot him if it hadn't been for—"

"Shot him, Paul?" Her interruption was shrill. "Shot who? Who did you shoot?" She stood against the table, one hand at her cheek. "Who did you shoot, Paul?" she cried.

He laughed.

"Guess!" he said. "Guess. . . . Only I didn't"—leaning forward intently. "It looks as if I did, but I didn't. They'll think I shot him; they'll find him there in my office and I'll be gone, but I didn't shoot him and the snow covers trails and they won't know. . . . Let them think. I'll be gone. . . . with you. . . . out yonder somewhere, to begin again."

"If it hadn't been for you and that hounding Belknap. . . . The kid'll think I shot him. . . . D—n him, he'll know, like he knows everything else!" He rose, trembling, breath rattling in his throat.

"He'll know, like he knows everything else!" He knew I showed him up to you, didn't he. He wouldn't let on he cared about that. Discredited, fired, he kept fight on working for you. He wouldn't stay licked, wouldn't stay down; John Steele! Ha-ha! Galahad, I called him and he said he was. . . . somebody else. John Steele!"

Ellen's brows were drawn incredulously, her lips parted, her eyes dark with confusion, amazement. She summoned all her gulle with difficulty and spoke.

"I sent him away, Paul," she said. "I fired him when I found out who he was."

"Yes!" He stepped close and she could see the madness flickering deep in his eyes. "You fired him! I knew you would; I fixed that, I did! He couldn't explain that, the fool! He couldn't keep on. And then he came to me and dared me to put him to work and I did and he walked into the traps and out again, without a scratch! And all the time he was closing in, closing in. It wasn't Bradshaw who did it; the poor dumb fool never'd have suspected me. . . . It wasn't Bradshaw. It was Belknap! But Bradshaw won't serve that warrant. . . . No warrant for arson!"—voice dropping to a whisper. "It's a serious charge, arson! They'd have sent me away for it. . . . Belknap would! It's better to've shot him down and get away instead of spending years in prison for arson. Isn't it, Ellen? I didn't lose my head so badly, did I? Smart, wasn't it? Smart to. . . . smart to keep free. . . . free. . . ."

He looked about slowly, still like a man waking from a bewildering dream, then sat down heavily and drew a hand across his eyes in that weak gesture of clarity.

"Of course," he began, "we can begin again somewhere else. . . . You and I. . . ." He looked about. "Grab here; guns here; blankets, axes! We can hide out. I can hide out!"—staring hard at her. "And you'll go with me. By G—d, I'll have you at last!"

She retreated as he rose and stepped towards her, stripped for the moment of even her front of fearlessness.

"Stay back!" she cried. "Don't come near me, Paul!"—beseechingly.

He stopped with a sorry laugh.

SUDAN GRASS

Many people ask us in regard to home grown and Texas grown Sudan. Ordinarily Texas grown seed germinates from 85% to 90% while home grown usually grows about 50%. This year 50% germination was the best test we could get on home grown seed.

Texas grown seed produces sudan with heavier foliage so that two fields of about the same stand, the Texas grown seed field will produce about 25% more feed per acre. Texas grown seed usually costs about 75c per cwt. or less than home grown seed and is worth about twice as much as home grown seed. This year we are selling Texas grown seed about 25c over home grown seed prices.

Be sure to sow Texas grown Sudan!

OTHER FORAGE SEEDS

20 VALLEY CO. BOYS ENROLLED IN FOREST ARMY

Quota Increased As Local Group Is Examined At G. I. Tuesday, Sent to Fort Crook.

Twenty Valley county boys, two more than this county's original quota, were inducted into the reforestation corps at the court house in Grand Island Monday, where they went to take physical examinations. The Valley county group, with eighty boys from other central Nebraska counties, were sent at once to Fort Crook, near Omaha, where they will undergo two weeks' preliminary training before being sent to reforestation areas.

Boys from here who are now members of the forest army include Willard Ball, Lester Manchester, Herman Jensen, Clarence Beehrle, Edward Lacin, Alvin Carlsen, LeRoy Adams, George Knecht, Raymond Richardson and Milton Meyers, Ord; Charles Fonce, Jr. and David Aubert, Arcadia; Verne Stewart, Harry E. Edwards, Sidney Fuller, N. E. Edwin, Eugene Meyers, Pete Drawbridge and Donald Long, North Loup; and Donald Nelson, Elyria.

The local group was taken to Grand Island early Tuesday morning in W. F. Williams' bus, which had been hired by the county board. With them went Ralph W. Norman, chairman of the Emergency Conservation committee for Valley county.

At Grand Island the boys went directly to the court house where they were met by Major S. B. Philpot, of Fort Crook, who conducted the physical examination with the assistance of a group of Grand Island doctors.

Valley county's reforestation quota was only eighteen but Chairman Norman had taken along three substitutes in case any of the original quota failed to pass the necessary examinations. All of them passed, however, and two of the three substitutes were permitted to join the tree army when another county failed to have its quota present.

Immediately after taking the examinations the Valley county boys were entrained for Omaha and will spend the next two weeks at Fort Crook. There they will be given instruction in reforestation work by Clayton W. Watkins, extension forester for Nebraska, and will take physical conditioning exercises under army officers. Regular army training is not a part of their work.

After the training period at Fort Crook the boys may be sent to any of the western states where reforestation areas have been designated or may remain in Nebraska, as reforestation camps have now been established at Crawford, Chadron, Benklem and in Sarpy and Dodge counties. It is likely, however, that the boys will be sent to California, where most of the other Nebraska groups have been sent.

Reforestation workers are paid at the rate $1 per day and all have signed agreements to send $25 per month to dependents at home. They are also given clothing, meals, recreational advantages and regular medical attendance. Their enlistments are for six months' periods.

Mrs. Cecil Woods Dies at Page, Nebr.

Mrs. Cecil Woods, sister-in-law of Mrs. Ross Lakin of Ord, passed away May 30 at the home of her parents in Page, Nebr., where she had been cared for during a long illness with tuberculosis. She leaves her husband and three children, the eldest six years. Funeral services were held June 1 at Page and were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lakin of Ord as well as by many relatives from elsewhere.

Burlington Changes Time.

Due to a change in the main line schedule at Kansas City, Ord's Burlington trains changed time Tuesday. Effective Tuesday morning, the Burlington passenger arrives here at 8:34 instead of at 7:57 and leaves at 10:10 instead of at 9:37.

Former Ordites Will Picnic At Long Beach

Former residents of Ord and vicinity who now live in California will hold their regular semi-annual picnic in Bixby Park, Long Beach, on Sunday, June 18, the Quiz is informed by Fred Bell, president, and Mrs. Rudolph Sorenson, secretary. All are requested to come early bringing well filled lunch baskets. Free coffee will be provided.

Charles Dasher Wed.

On Monday, May 29 at the rectory of the Blessed Sacrament church in Lincoln, Miss LaVerne Goldstein became the bride of Charles Dasher, a son of Mrs. Charles Bossen of Ord. Rev. A. J. Kraemer read the service before a group of close friends and relatives, including the groom's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dasher will make their home in Milwaukee, where Mr. Dasher is employed.

Gas Prices Upped In Ord Thursday

Ord car owners who for the past several weeks have been buying gasoline at very reasonable prices received a shock last Thursday when every station in Ord simultaneously announced an increase ranging from .8c to 2.8c per gallon. Regular gasoline had been selling at 16c and was upped to 16.8c "competitive" gas was upped from 13c to 15.8c.

Gasoline prices have been "below normal" in Ord for some time, filling station operators explain. This has been because imperfect state laws permitted the sale of very low grade gasoline under the name of "competitive" gas. Some dealers were selling competitive gas of such low test that it was little better than kerosene and because they were able to buy such a product cheap and sell it cheap a gas war was started. Now, with new state laws fixing the quality of competitive gas, all dealers are more or less on a par.

Led by the Standard Oil company, Sinclair Oil company and Phillips Petroleum company, steps were taken last Thursday to equalize gas prices all over Nebraska. In some places where prices were classed as above normal they were reduced; in others, as in Ord, where prices have been below normal they were raised.

McBETH DEFEATS LEWANDOWSKI TO WIN TOURNAMENT

Ancient Rivals Clash in Finals Of Ord Golf Tourney Sunday; Heat Is Severe.

Over the sun-scorched fairways of the Ord golf course Sunday, one of the hottest tournament days that local golfers can remember, Lyle McBeth proved that he has not lost his old mastery of golf by defeating the long hitting Burwell boy, Harry Lewandowski, in the finals of the championship flight. The Ord man came in two up on his Burwell rival, after defeating Hoff, of Hastings, and Hosch, of Scotia, in preliminary rounds.

Lewandowski and McBeth are rivals of many years, the two having reached the finals in several previous Ord tournaments. In the past the Burwell club swinger has seemed to have the edge over the Ord boy but McBeth was shooting the best golf of his career Sunday, surprising since he has played very little this spring.

An Ainsworth man, Odell, was medalist Sunday, shooting the morning qualifying round in 30, three more than par for the course. Lewandowski and McBeth got around in 32, Hosch, of Scotia, in 34, Mike Kosmata in 35, Baldwin, of Ainsworth, in 35, and Albertson, of Scotia, in 37, these eight going into the championship flight. Baldwin beat Albertson to win the consolation match in this flight.

Forty-nine golfers, in six different flights, played in the tournament Sunday which was the first held by the Ord Golf club this year. Gould Flagg beat Bartunek of Wolbach to win the 1st flight, Davis of North Loup beat Maddox of Scotia and won the 2nd, Holub of Elyria beat Grohosky of Scotia to take the 3rd, Haeblerie of Litchfield beat Sauber of Litchfield and won the 4th, while Golden of Arcadia beat Thompson of Arcadia in the 5th.

The Ord club will hold other open tournaments on July 2, August 13 and September 10. On September 24 a handicap tournament to select the best Ord golfer will be held.

Dale Hughes Has Accident.

Dale, youngest son of Mrs. Ella Hughes, has been having a bad case of blood poisoning in his left hand as the result of an accident at Bussell park last week. He had seen a golf ball in the creek and was reaching for it with his hand just as another boy, Ronald Rose, reached for it with a rake. One tooth of the rake cut Dale's hand quite badly and by next morning blood poisoning had set in. Dr. C. W. Weekes operated at once and Dale is improving, though the hand is still giving him considerable pain.

Virginia Peterson Is Married In Kansas

Miss Virginia Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Peterson, who moved from Franklin to Ord last September, and Wilber Haskins, son of Will Haskins of Red Cloud, Nebr., were united in marriage, Thursday afternoon, June 1, at the Congregational parsonage at Smith Center, Kansas, by Rev. George C. Vance. Witnesses were Miss Jennie Kiggins of Franklin and Bill Sney of Red Cloud.

The bride graduated from Franklin high school with the class of 1931, and the groom graduated from Red Cloud high school with the class of 1930. Mrs. Haskins was formerly employed with the Nebraska Telephone company at Ord, and for the past ten days has been visiting with friends in Franklin. The groom is an industrious young farmer near Red Cloud. They came to Ord Saturday for a short visit with the bride's parents and are now at home in Red Cloud.

FARM HOLIDAY PICNIC IN ORD SUNDAY, JUNE 11

1,000 Farmers Expected to Picnic Together, Then Hear Lux And Taylor Speak.

A monster picnic of Farmers' Holiday association members and their families and all other farmers interested will be held at Bussell park, Ord, next Sunday, June 11, it was announced early this week by Arthur Mensing, Frank Carkoski and Ernest Coats, members of the association's Valley county action committee. It is likely that more than 1,000 people will be present, they say.

Every family attending is urged to bring a well filled picnic basket and dishes for themselves, the committee says. Free coffee or ice tea for the entire group will be furnished if arrangements can be made.

The picnic dinner will be served between 12 and 1 o'clock. Promptly at 1:00 a program of speaking will be given, including talks by President Mensing, Senator Chas. G. Taylor of Montana, and Harry Lux, of Lincoln, a state organizer of the Holiday association.

It is promised that Mr. Lux will give the details of the Wilber, Nebr. affair in which he and a number of farmers were jailed for holding a meeting in the court house. The story to be told by Mr. Lux will differ materially from newspaper stories of the affair.

Bussell park is a beautiful place for a picnic of this kind, there being beautiful and well kept lawns, ample shade, stone fireplaces for cooking, tables and benches for serving the meal, and adequate playground facilities for the children.

If rain should prevent the picnic being held it is promised that Senator Taylor and Mr. Lux will speak in one of the Ord halls Sunday evening instead.

All central Nebraska farmers are urged to bring their families and attend this picnic, whether they are Farm Holiday association members or not.

Churches Organize To Help Fair Visitors

In order to protect the general public from paying highway robbery prices while attending the World's fair, churches of Chicago have organized to assure church visitors good rooms in accredited homes at very low prices. Twenty-five thousand such rooms have been pre-empted and made available to the church public at prices ranging from $1 to $2 single and from $1.50 to $2.50 double, with special prices for parties or by the week. This enterprise is being carried out by the Church Housing Commission in co-operation with the Visitors' Tourist Service, Inc., and Rev. Mearl C. Smith has been designated as local representative. Rev. Smith will be able to supply complete details to prospective World's Fair visitors.

McGinnis Gets Commission.

Two Ord Boys Given Diplomas at Nebr. U.

Two Valley county students, both of Ord, were awarded degrees Monday at the University of Nebraska's sixty-second annual commencement exercises held at Lincoln. About $40 degrees were granted.

The Ordites were Chauncey A. Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hager, who was given the degree of doctor of medicine, and George Round, jr., son of Sheriff and Mrs. George Round, who was given the degree of bachelor of science in agriculture.

Nick Rohla Passes June 1 at Milligan

Nick Rohla, 57, a former Valley county farmer, passed away last Thursday, June 1, at his farm home between Wilber and Milligan. Mr. Rohla left this community in 1918, having owned the Mira Valley farm on which Archie Geveke now lives. Surviving him are his wife, Nettie, a son, Nick, and a daughter, Mrs. Steve Luzum. Joe Rohla of Ord is a brother of the deceased and he also leaves three other brothers and one sister. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rohla, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Radil, Mrs. Mary Radil, Mrs. Joe Knezacek, Mrs. Charles John, Mrs. Emil Skoll, Anton Radil and John Wozab went from this community to attend funeral services held last Saturday. Mr. Rohla was buried in Center cemetery near his home.

Two Pound Rainbow Trout Is Caught At Ericson

That the Cedar river is ideally suited to the rapid production of rainbow trout was proved last week when George Erickson, a resident of Ericson, caught a rainbow weighing 2 pounds 3 ounces in the Cedar west of that village. This is the first trout of any size caught in the Cedar.

The big rainbow caught by Erickson was one of a shipment of 800 fingerlings planted by state authorities in the Cedar less than a year ago. When planted the largest trout was nine inches long.

Cedar valley residents have long maintained that the cold, spring fed Cedar would be an ideal trout stream but state authorities have felt differently and consented to the small planting last year only as an experiment.

Now Ericson people are trying to secure more rainbows and also brown trout and brook trout so that the river may be still further stocked. Both state and federal authorities have been asked for trout fry and it is hoped that in years to come the Cedar may become Nebraska's best trout stream.

Play Cast of 1928 Enjoys Reunion On Fifth Anniversary

Tuesday evening at Thorne's cafe a unique reunion was held, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of a banquet given by sponsors for the cast of the Ord senior class play of 1928, "Cinderella O'Reilly." Five years ago, shortly after the play was given, Miss Harriet Taylor and Miss Elva Clement, the sponsors, gave a banquet for members of the cast and it was in commemoration of this event that the banquet Tuesday evening was held.

There were thirteen present at the banquet five years ago and eight of them were present Tuesday evening, Muriel Weekes Oliver, John Round, Elma Kosmata, Carlota Davis, Ruth Bradt, Ella Mae Sershen, DeWitt Williamson and Sylvester Furtak. Those not present included the two sponsors and Chester Weekes, Frank Koziol and Olfert Magnusen. There were two guests Tuesday, Robert Oliver and Mrs. DeWitt Williamson.

As closely as possible, the banquet of five years ago was duplicated. Prophecies written at that time were read, only two of them proving to be correct. A very pleasant evening of cards was enjoyed after the banquet and arrangements were made to hold another such event five years hence.

Kokes Is Creighton Graduate.

Theodore Kokes, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kokes of Ord, was awarded the degree of pharmaceutical chemist at the forty-third annual commencement exercises of Creighton university at Omaha last Thursday. For the past two years young Kokes has been president of Kappa Psi fraternity at Creighton and also a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council and Sodality. He was president of his class in 1932 and 1933.

FIVE TONS OF OLD ROOSTERS WERE BOUGHT SAT'DAY

Produce Dealers Combine and Pay Premium Price to Get Old Cocks Out of Flocks.

Old roosters—two or three thousand of them weighing over ten thousand pounds—were Cocks of the Walk in Ord last Friday and Saturday as seven Ord produce dealers combined to pay the premium price of 5c per pound for them, 2c per pound more than the normal price. The offer was made at this time to get the old roosters out of Valley county flocks before the coming of real hot weather. Fertile eggs spoil much more quickly than infertile ones, hence the desire of produce buyers to rid flocks of the old birds.

Five tons of roosters is a huge pile of roosters but that is the quantity bought here Friday and Saturday, and in the process Ord had one of the biggest trading days in history.

All stores report that business was much better than normal Saturday and the number of cars taxed parking facilities around the square and overflowed into the side streets for several blocks.

The Ord Co-operative Creamery company bought the largest poundage of roosters—more than two tons—with the Fairmont Creamery Company a close second and other buyers doing a big business also.

The Co-op creamery did the biggest day's business in its history Saturday, buying enough butterfat to churn over 10,000 pounds of butter and buying a huge quantity of eggs and poultry as well. The creamery churned five times Saturday, three times Sunday and three times Monday to handle cream bought on Friday and Saturday. This is the second record-breaking day's business done by the creamery this spring, the former one coming on the second of Ord Circus Days three weeks ago.

Most of the roosters bought here last week have been trucked to poultry killing plants in Ravenna, Grand Island and Omaha where they are being killed and packed for shipment to the eastern markets. More than 25,000 pounds of rooster meat was shipped from the Omaha Cold Storage plant at Ravenna this week, it is claimed.

Contracts Let Today For Gravel on No. 11

Today at the office of the state highway department in Lincoln, contracts for resurfacing a large portion of Highway No. 11 will be let. New gravel will be applied between Scotia and Taylor, which portion of the highway is said to be in bad condition. Fred Ulrich, Ord contractor, is bidding on the job and says that if he is successful in getting the contract he will start work immediately. He expects to pump gravel from a low place on his farm north of Ord, forming an artificial lake in the process. He expects to stock the lake with game fish. Mr. Ulrich has stated.

Will Have Children's Program.

Sunday will be Children's day at the Ord Methodist church and in the evening a program will be given. Children who will have individual parts include Jo Carol Ayres, Eddie Funnelliff, Hal Erickson, Edwin Jirak, Margery Smith, Eleanor Wolf, Max McLain, Loretta Achen, Merle Auble, Mildred Smith, Bobby and Doris Klina, Lillian and Patricia McGrew, Lloyd Sack, Virginia Sack, Ruth Auble and Boyd Holloway. There will also be several group numbers in which the entire children's class takes part. The public is invited to attend.

Jerry McMIndes Burned.

Jerry, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loree McMIndes, was quite badly burned last Thursday when he tipped a pan of hot water off the stove and onto his chest and stomach. He was taken to Dr. Lee C. Nay who says that the burns, though painful, were not serious and that the child is recovering.

Special Telephone Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the officers of the various country phone lines south and west of Ord, at the Brace school house on Monday, June 12 at 8:30 p. m. It is desired that there be a large attendance of these officers. 11-11 Bert Cornell, Sec.-Treas.

Memorial Day Service In Geranium Sunday

Memorial day services were held at the Community hall in Geranium township Sunday, the principal feature being an address by the Hon. Charles E. Smrha, of Milligan, who spoke in both the Bohemian and American languages, his talk being well received in spite of the extreme heat. The Jungman lodge had charge of the services, assisted by Modern Woodmen and the local C. B. J. lodge. Customary ceremonies took place both at the hall and at the cemetery, to which place the procession proceeded after Mr. Smrha's talk.

Lincoln Rotary Head Is Guest of Ord Club

W. H. Cadwallader, president of the Lincoln Rotary club, was a guest and speaker at the Ord club's dinner on Monday evening. He was accompanied to Ord by his wife. It was "guest night" for the Ord club and a number of business men were present as guests of Rotarians.

Last summer Mr. and Mrs. Cadwallader spent six weeks in Alaska, traveling constantly by rail and boat and taking moving pictures as they went. Mr. Cadwallader had with him Monday evening a motion picture projector and the reels of film that he took in Alaska. The beautiful scenery and strange sights of Alaska and the Arctic Circle were much enjoyed by Ordites, as was the informal talk made by the Lincoln man as he flashed the pictures upon the screen.

Injury Jinx Causes Ord Team to Forfeit

Dogged by an injury jinx that put Harry Wolf, John Wartford, Clyde Athley and Vernon Andersen on the unavailable list Sunday, the Ord baseball team was compelled to forfeit its Loup Valley league game to Scotia and must enlist new baseball talent before it can take the field again. A meeting is scheduled for tonight, at which time the situation will be canvassed and the future course of the team determined. Manager L. J. Auble is confident that he will have an improved team ready to take the field against North Loup this coming Sunday.

North Loup lost to St. Paul Sunday, 7 to 2, but is still leading the league. Wolbach beat Greeley, 5 to 0, in the only other game played. Ord is now in fifth position in the league, having won two and lost four. St. Paul, with two losses and five wins, is still in the cellar position.

TEMPERATURE UP TO 103 FOR NEW EARLY JUNE HIGH

All Heat Records Broken Here Monday, Tuesday; Promise of Moisture Given.

Hitting a high point of 103 at 2 p. m. Monday and ascending to the same peak Tuesday, the temperature broke all records for early June heat in Valley county and parched corn and small grain, already suffering for moisture. Though Wednesday was somewhat cooler and a few drops of rain fell occasionally during the morning the temperature was still well above 90 when the afternoon weather promise of rain and cooler weather was given in the announcement of Horace Travis, government weather observer, that the barometer was dropping Wednesday afternoon and by the time this is read it is hoped that a good rain will have fallen.

Sunday was hot enough for an early June day—92—but Old Sol was warming to his work and Monday the mercury in Horace Travis' official government thermometer mounted to 103. Tuesday was just as hot and toward evening a dust storm raged for awhile, adding to the general discomfort. This was succeeded by slightly cooler weather.

Not within the memory of old time residents has Ord suffered as extreme heat in early June, in fact few July or August days have been hotter than was Tuesday. In spite of much early moisture, the crop lands adjacent to Ord appear very dry and small grains are already considerably damaged. Corn that was planted early is showing damage, also, and unless rain comes at once much of the corn cannot survive. And, to add to the discouragement of farmers, two other menaces have appeared to wreak havoc in many fields—pheasants and grasshoppers.

The first hatch of pheasants, aided by an absence of spring floods, is said to be very large and considerable pheasant damage is reported in some corn fields. Grasshoppers, always worse in dry years, are reported to be damaging gardens and some crops.

Married Here Wednesday. At 10:00 Wednesday morning Miss Doris Carlsen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Carlsen, was married to Rolland Brickner, son of Charles Brickner. Rev. W. M. Lemar performed the service in the Pentecostal parsonage. They were accompanied by Jesse Pearl of Burwell and Miss Alta Carlsen, a sister of the bride. For the time being Mr. and Mrs. Brickner will live in Ord in rented rooms that they have furnished. The bride is one of this spring's Ord high school graduates.

Sunday Jerry Petska took his camp car to the Emil Kokes place where several young ladies are camping in the car and enjoying farm life. The party includes Misses Alice and Louise Petska, Jeannette Hughes, Florence Furtak and Eva Umstead. They are planning to stay on the farm for the greater portion of the week.

STATE APPROVAL OF NORTH LOUP PROJECT SOUGHT

Hardenbrook Files Petitions For Organization of District In Lincoln Monday.

Bryan May Oppose Middle Loup Project

Charges Directors Would Give 2 Percent of Loan to Jones, Sorenson For Work.

Petitions for organization of the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District were filed Monday in the Lincoln office of R. L. Cochran, state engineer, by Bert M. Hardenbrook, and prospects were good that they would be acted upon favorably Wednesday or today. The petitions contained the signatures of 788 legal voters from eight districts in Valley, Loup and Garfield counties, the number being far in excess of the 15 per cent required by law. The only thing holding up immediate consideration of the petitions by Engineer Cochran was the failure of Black & Veatch, of Kansas City, to have plans and specifications for the project there Monday. The engineers agreed to have the plans there by Wednesday, however, so there is every likelihood that by this time they have been considered.

Mr. Hardenbrook told reporters in Lincoln Monday that the project would cost about $800,000, about one-fifth less than the estimated cost of a similar project in the Middle Loup valley. While everything is apparently sailing along smoothly for the North Loup valley project, the Middle Loup project hit snag Tuesday when Governor Charles W. Bryan announced that he would oppose the R. F. C. granting a loan to the Middle Loup promoters unless contracts that he claimed have been made with attorneys and promoters are cancelled.

Bryan said that directors of the Middle Loup district have voted to give Attorney C. A. Sorenson and Promoter D. E. W. Jones each 2 per cent of whatever is obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to finance the project. The governor said that this had been done in spite of a ruling made by him that no such contracts should be entered into and despite statements submitted to the state engineer that no commitments had been made to attorneys or engineers.

The Middle Loup project calls for an R. F. C. loan of $1,000,000 and Governor Bryan stated that directors would thus pay $200,000 each to Attorney Sorenson and Promoter Jones. Mr. Sorenson, however, denied that he has entered into a contract of this kind.

Governor Bryan and Engineer Cochran had already given their official approval to the Middle Loup project before the contracts were called to their attention, so the only action left for Bryan to take is to oppose an R. F. C. loan to the project. This he may do, he indicated Tuesday, unless the objectionable contracts are cancelled. Walter Gibbons, of Comstock, president of the Middle Loup district, was in Lincoln yesterday conferring with Governor Bryan to see if the trouble may not be ironed out.

Asked how the governor's attitude would affect the North Loup district, President Bert M. Hardenbrook stated yesterday that it would have no effect whatever. "We have entered into no contracts with engineers or attorneys that Governor Bryan can find objectionable any way," he stated. The contract entered into with Black & Veatch provides that the district shall pay $2,500 for a preliminary survey, which has now been completed, and provides further that if an R. F. C. loan is granted to carry out the project that Black & Veatch will be employed to do whatever other engineering work is necessary at a fee to be fixed by the R. F. C.

Although Attorney C. A. Sorenson has been employed as attorney for the North Loup district no contract has been entered into with him, Mr. Hardenbrook states. The only agreement is that, if an R. F. C. loan should be granted, Mr. Sorenson will be recompensed for whatever work he may do at a fair price.

There are no promotion fees connected with the North Loup valley project as in the Middle Loup, Mr. Hardenbrook stresses. In the other valley Mr. Jones was hired as supervising engineer and general manager in addition to the Henningson Engineering Company being hired to do the engineering work. There Mr. Jones did most of the work of getting land signed up for irrigation; in the North Loup valley this work will be done gratis by local enthusiasts if a loan is granted, Mr. Hardenbrook says.

Mr. Hardenbrook and other directors of the North Loup district are optimistic that state approval will be forthcoming immediately.

THE ORD QUIZ Ord, Valley County, Nebraska H. D. LEGGETT - PUBLISHER E. C. LEGGETT - EDITOR

Entered at the Postoffice at Ord, Nebraska, as Second Class Mail Matter Under Act of March 3, 1879.

A WET OR DRY TOWN? Will Ord beer gizzlers have the opportunity to wet their mouths...

There is every likelihood that beer will be sold legally in Nebraska after August 10, as dry has as yet made no move to invoke the referendum law to stop its sale.

But beer being legal in Nebraska and being sold legally in Ord are two different questions. Under the provisions of the 3.2 beer bill passed by the legislature...

It is very likely that another city election will roll around before beer is sold legally here, if it ever is. Wets claim that a majority of Ordites have swung from prohibition to a belief in light wines and beer...

BUY NOW AND SAVE MONEY. Several times in recent weeks the Quiz has pointed out editorially the fact that now is a most excellent time to buy.

It is still possible to buy good clothing at very low prices, for one reason. Stores still have in stock large supplies of clothing bought at last fall's low levels.

THE MORGAN INQUIRY. Started by Senator Norris and ably conducted by a United States attorney, Ferdinand Pecora, the Senate inquiry into the affairs of the far-flung financial empire of J. P. Morgan & Company is opening the eyes of a long-suffering public to the fact that men whom they have trusted have not been worthy of trust.

others were sold Allegheny stock at $20, this stock being worth on the market at the time $35 to $37. There were no strings to the offer. Woodin and others could, and many did, buy the stock at $20, turn around and sell it at the market and almost double their money.

More disastrous to public confidence, even than the revelations about Woodin, McAdoo and other "favored customers" of Morgan, is the fact that the Morgan firm seems able to tell weeks and months in advance just what the market will do. It is significant that in February, 1929, almost eight months before the great Wall Street crash...

Startling, also, is the news that neither Morgan nor any of his partners paid a United States income tax during the years of 1930, 1931 or 1932, although Morgan paid income tax in England during each of those years.

But there are still rays of hope. President Roosevelt has not been involved in any of the disclosures of the Morgan inquiry, though Ex-Presidents Coolidge and Hoover have been. Nor will President Roosevelt be involved. The very fact that an inquiry into Morgan's affairs is being held is almost a guarantee that President Roosevelt is going to clean up, once and for all, the whole sorry mess.

My Own Column By H. D. LEGGETT

There are two ways to cook greens that I know about and like. No doubt there are other ways of preparing them. The Missus boils a piece of pickled pork till it is about done and then, at the right time to get them cooked, puts the greens in. We had our first mess of spinach from our own garden last week.

There is one thing to be remembered, though. Just as cranberry sauce is a natural adjunct of the festive Thanksgiving turkey, there are certain things that go best with greens. This of course to my way of thinking, it might not suit others.

I was reading a little story about people in the tenement districts and it made me think how fortunate are we who live out in the country, as we do here. Some of those young people, well grown, don't know what a real garden looks like, they have never tasted lock milk, and cream as Coats, Noll and Carson deliver to their Ord customers.

I am going fishing this week and use some of those fish worms I bought in the spring. When you read this about Saturday, I will be in Minnesota, for we are going to leave Friday morning. At least that is the plan as this copy is written. Sometimes we speed the starting a little. At any rate I may be able to give you a story, next week, about our trip and how things look up there.

Talk about moochers, a little English sparrow that lives in our yard has the moochers all backed off the map. We have several pairs of robins and always take care to help them get the choice worms that we find when working in the flowers and one mother robin, or perhaps it is the father robin, has become so tame that she (or he) hangs around almost under our feet when we are working in the flower beds.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. Miss Sadie Purdum arrived from Chicago, where she was in training as a nurse in the Cook county hospital. She was just recovering from a three weeks' tussle with diphtheria.

special train from Seattle to San Francisco and were on the battleship Nebraska to review the famous U. S. fleet. Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Round, who also made the trip, were spending a couple of weeks longer in Seattle.

James F. Turek and Miss Anna Sindelar were married by Judge Gudmundsen and in the evening were honored guests at an elaborate dance for which an orchestra from Wilber played.

20 Years Ago This Week. Allie A. Walkup, of Sumter, was hovering between life and death as a result of being kicked in the head by a mule. He was operated on, a piece of bone the size of a silver dollar was removed from his skull, and everything possible was being done to save his life.

Miss Edith Lucille Robbins was in Berlin taking vocal training and was distinguishing herself in the German city.

James Milford, official weather reporter, said that rainfall in Ord during May totalled 4.34 inches, much above the general average for this month.

Guy Lutman arrived from Missouri to become telegraph operator for the Burlington. He succeeded R. L. Olson.

Twins sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. James Sedlacek and Dr. F. A. Barta reported that it was the third set of twins he had assisted in delivering since he located in Ord.

BRIGHT WOMAN LOST 20 POUNDS Feels Much Better

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 25th to Jan. 10. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctors care for several months. He said I had all stones and should have operations. Kruschen did all and more than I expected." Mrs. Lute Bright, Walker, Minn. (Jan. 10, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel sprited and youthful take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar.

In an effort to defeat the work of foreign Bible societies operating in Russia, government officials have forbidden the importation of Bibles and religious books, pamphlets and tracts in all languages.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Mrs. Dwight Griswold having just visited in our city, this seems a nice moment to print another of the recipes she once sent to the Quiz. Perhaps you will like to make these cookies, which are so convenient to have in the pantry for hurry-up easy-to-get supplies for hot evenings.

Chocolate Drop Cookies. Cream together one cup light brown sugar, one-half cup butter, one-half cup sour milk, one-half teaspoon soda. Beat two eggs separately, add to the first mixture, also three-fourths cup nuts, chopped, one and one-half squares chocolate, one teaspoon vanilla, salt to taste. Add enough flour to drop from teaspoon (about one and three-fourths cups) on a baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees to 400 degrees. Ice as follows: melt a piece of butter the size of a walnut, add one-half to one ripe banana and powdered sugar until the right consistency to spread.

Catsup or Chili Sauce. Boil for three hours or until quite thick: seven or eight quarts canned tomatoes, ten large onions chopped fine, ten tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons salt, four to four and one-half cups vinegar, four teaspoons cinnamon, four teaspoons ginger, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon allspice and one-fourth teaspoon red pepper (all spices ground). This can also be made from raw tomatoes as well, using one peck of ripe tomatoes peeled and cut fine. Add the same amount of spices and vinegar, etc. as above.

Buttermilk Fruit Cake. Cream one cup sugar with one-half cup melted butter until very light. Add one well beaten egg, then one teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice, cloves and grated dried orange peel. Beat one level teaspoon soda into one cup buttermilk and add to the mixture. Add two cups sifted flour, then one cup nutmeats and one cup raisins. Bake one hour in a moderate oven in a loaf tin.

Sugar Cookies. Cream together two-thirds cup shortening, one and one-half cup sugar, two eggs, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons cream, two teaspoons baking powder, three and one-half cups flour. Combine thoroughly and drop on greased cookie sheets to bake.

Best Ever Cookies. Mix one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, two egg yolks, two tablespoons milk, one cup raisins, one cup cocoanut, two cups corn flakes, two cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder, two teaspoons vanilla, two egg whites beaten stiff and add last. Drop by teaspoon on cookie sheet and bake.

Sandwich Filling. Run through the food chopper fourteen medium sized cucumbers, one quart sliced onions, three red peppers, three green peppers. Add three-fourths cup salt and let stand overnight. In the morning drain, cover with vinegar, scald and press through a colander or potato ricer. Combine one-half cup butter, three tablespoons flour, one teaspoon mustard, one pint vinegar, three-fourths cup sugar and four well beaten eggs. Cook until thick. Add one cup sweet cream, one teaspoon celery seed and one teaspoon mustard seed. Pour over the chopped ingredients. Mix well and seal in jars.

Did you ever notice the Big Papa filling station in Grand Island, one of those gabled, highly colored affairs, which has a Little Baby filling station built close by to house some necessary equipment. They are exactly alike except for size.

Big business men say things are now on the upgrade, that there is "hope in the air".

Which means that prices of all commodities will soon start back up if they have not already stepped up a little. Everyone, sniffing that "hope in the air" has decided to stock up now, and buying goes briskly forward.

What do you need for your house that you have put off getting for months? How about that old car you are driving which you ordinarily would have traded in several years ago?

I will be glad to see things improve until Ord's famous automobile races are held again, won't you? Doesn't it give you an empty feeling to drive by the track and all those fair buildings down there?

You can never tell by looking at people what their hobbies might be, and often the hobbies for some reason seem astounding when they come to light.

For instance, several people in Ord are very interested in what became of former citizens of this place. Mrs. R. J. Clark reads all the out-of-town papers she can lay hands on, searching out bits of news about old friends and acquaintances.

W. A. Anderson is another who keeps close tab on items of interest concerning those who have moved away from Ord. Isn't it surprising how well informed on many topics this man is? Mr. Anderson has been a student all his life, and not a superficial one, either.

Mrs. Florence Chapman is like many famous Americans who like to find relaxation by reading the most lurid detective fiction. You remember President Wilson spent spare moments in this fashion, and there are numbers of other world leaders who have found this odd-moment entertainment a help as well as a pleasure.

I hope the Ord high school graduates, boys as well as girls, read Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's advice to those who could not find work immediately. She suggested that they find community projects which badly needed doing and work at them free of charge if necessary.

Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich. May 29, 1933 WOMEN'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE MOTOR CAR There is some doubt that people care to hear very much about what goes on under the hoods of their cars. The driver knows that "driving qualities" are not accidental; they are put there. How the manufacturer creates or evolves those results may not interest him. He judges entirely by the results he gets in driving. Well, it is not essential to talk "shop"; let us talk Results. Smoothness. Drive the Ford V-8 and you will find that the engine runs with surpassing smoothness, due to its design and the extra precise methods of its manufacture. Power. There it is, 75 horsepower (we could say 80) at the drive-shaft for the driver's use. With less weight to pull around, the mettle of this car—its life-like response—is rather remarkable. Economy. Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. Mileage is partly a matter of individual driving, but under average conditions the Ford V-8 does 17 to 20 miles a gallon. Of course, car economy is not only a matter of fuel. Ford V-8 has that too, but it is also economical in the complete sense—initial cost, operation, maintenance. Appearance. This is woman's contribution. The motor car must not only be useful, but also good-looking. View the Ford V-8 and you will not need our comment on its fine appearance. Comfort. This also is woman's concern. In 30 years she changed the motor car from a wagon to a coach. Comfort is a quality made up of numerous ingredients. There is no comfort without a quiet, smooth-running engine. We have all the other ingredients too,—color, good taste, quality, ease, safety, roominess and convenience. Henry Ford

Olive Hosman Is 8th Uni Grad In Family

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Hosman, former Ord residents who now live in Omaha, realize their life ambition this week when their youngest daughter, Olive, graduates from the University of Nebraska with a degree in home economics. Early in life Rev. and Mrs. Hosman determined to send all of their children through college and this they have succeeded in doing. Everett M. Hosman, their oldest son, was the first to graduate, taking a degree at Wesleyan college and later becoming superintendent of the Ord schools. He now heads the extension department of Municipal university, Omaha. After him came the late Ross Hosman, who graduated at Wesleyan and died some years ago while on a lecture trip with William Jennings Bryan. Fay Hosman, who graduated from the University of Wisconsin, now manages the WOW cafeteria and Chamber of Commerce dining room in Omaha. Paul Hosman, now in the dairy business at Placerville, Calif., graduated from the University of Glasgow, Scotland, after serving in the World war. Miss Ione Hosman graduated from Nebraska Wesleyan and is now an instructor at the University of Iowa. Stuart Hosman, a Nebraska U. graduate, now manages the Keen coffee shop in Omaha. He is married to an Ord girl, the former Miss Wilma Abernethy. The last of the Hosman children to graduate, previous to Olive, was Miss Doris, who is now Mrs. J. J. Hahan and is an instructor in an Omaha high school.

Rev. Hosman will be remembered as a former pastor of the Ord Methodist church. After leaving here he became pastor of Walnut Hill church in Omaha and served eight years as secretary of Nebraska Methodist hospital, after which he retired. Nearly all of the Hosman children are known here and a feature article about the family in the Monday issue of the World-Herald was read with great interest in Ord.

"Still hate me, eh? . . . Well, you'll get over that." He brushed his eyes once more. "What'd I say, just now . . . a minute ago? What'd I say about Belknap? Mustn't believe it, Ellen. . . . A man gets upset. . . . Says things he doesn't mean. I don't know what I'm doing."

"Of course you're tired," she said. "You've come a long way. Take off your coat and cap. Sit down, here by the fire."

He let her help him and, seated again, he spread unsteady hands to the stove.

"Where's Wolf?" he asked after a long silence.

Ellen speculated swiftly. "He'll be back any time. I was waiting for him when you—"

"Don't lie to me!" he cut in sharply. "I know where he is; miles away, after wolves in the Caribou! He won't be back for days."

With a sharp hiss the coffee boiled over and he turned quickly at the sound. The girl snatched at the opening it rendered.

"Here's coffee for you, Paul. Sugar? There's no cream."

"Black," he mumbled. "Just black."

She poured a great cup of the scalding beverage and he took it clumsily from her.

"Careful," she said. "It's hot." He drank the coffee slowly; she filled the cup again. He appeared to be oblivious of her presence for long intervals. His hands, under the stimulant, ceased to tremble so violently, and she thought that perhaps this device for gaining time might work against her.

Three cups he drank, scarcely speaking, and another half-hour was gone.

North Loup News

Mrs. Isa Creager departed Tuesday of last week for Center Hall, Pa., to spend several months with her daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hennigh and family and to assist with the care of a new granddaughter in this home. Mr. and Mrs. Van Creager took her as far as Omaha. Enroute Mrs. Creager visited her son at Canton, Ohio.

Mrs. Stella Parsons arrived via auto Saturday from Littleton, Colo., to care for her little niece, Evelyn and Lella Gross, while their mother, Mrs. Lois Gross is recovering from a recent operation at University hospital, Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawks came Saturday from Monroe to attend the wedding of Mr. Hawkes' sister, Miss Bernice. Following the ceremony Sunday afternoon, they returned to Monroe where Kenneth has again been elected as principal of the schools there this fall.

Several cars of North Loup people drove to Lincoln Thursday to attend the annual commencement exercises of Wesleyan University held Friday morning. Those attending were Geo. E. Johnson and granddaughter Florence Hudson, Charley and Nettie Clark, Miss Mary Bohrer and Miss Beulah Eberhart. Mrs. Louise Eberhart accompanied her daughter to Grand Island, visiting with her sister Mrs. Otto until their return Saturday. May Lee also accompanied her aunt and cousin home following a visit with Grand Island relatives.

Mrs. Charley Mayo of Sargent spent most of last week with Mrs. Buten, her visit and helpfulness being much appreciated since Mrs. Buten has been in the constant care of her husband since last October, scarcely leaving the home since that time. Mr. Buten, though able to sit in his chair part of the day shows little improvement.

The condition of Mrs. Harry Jeffries who was taken to University hospital recently for treatment is reported to be very critical. Mr. Jeffries went down Monday to be with his wife and daughter Ethel. Friends and relatives are trusting the proposed operation will prove successful and that Mrs. Jeffries' health may be restored.

Mrs. Lois Gross is recovering at University hospital following a recent operation and is expected home this week end.

John Clark, a former resident of North Loup, brother of Billings Clark and Mrs. Joe Fisher of this city passed away at his home in Long Beach, Calif., Wednesday, May 31, following a stroke of paralysis.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvie Sheldon are enjoying a vacation trip in Denver and other points. Their son Ross and wife are Denver residents. Mrs. Gertrude Carter accompanied them and will visit indefinitely at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Trimble and family of Swink, Colo.

Miss Helen Madsen is assistant hostess at a shower to be held Friday afternoon honoring Miss Agnes Christensen at the latter's home in Ord.

The It Suits Us Rook club meet with Mrs. Anna Crandall this evening. Assistant hostesses are Mrs. Betty Sample and Mrs. Emma Madsen.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Zanger arrived Saturday via auto from Long Beach, Calif., for a week's visit with their son, W. O. Zanger and family. From here they will go to Larchwood, Ia., their old home to visit.

Mrs. Frank Allen of Litchfield was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Ida Brown in Riverdale Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Allan and two sons will attend commencement at Milton Wis., this month and from there to the World's Fair and to Farina, Ill., to visit relatives before their return home.

Relatives here received word last week of the marriage of Claude Hill of Farina, Ill., to Miss Hazel Farris, the ceremony occurring Sunday, May 28. Mr. Hill is pastor of the S. D. B. church in Farina.

Mrs. Maud Johnson was most agreeably surprised Saturday morning when her children and their families appeared at her home here with greetings for her eightieth birthday and baskets of luscious viands to grace her table. Mrs. Johnson was fortunate to have all her children present. They are Mrs. Dora Selvers and family of Marquette, Nebr., Herb Johnson of Waterloo, Glen and Jim and their families of North Loup and Miss Alice who lives with her mother. The occasion was one of great pleasure to all.

Miss Bernice Hawkes was honored at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Aleta Hawkes, Thursday afternoon. Sixteen relatives and friends of the bride-to-be were present. Miss Bernice was the recipient of a number of lovely gifts. Embroidering tea towels and visiting were the afternoon's diversions. A dainty lunch of ice cream and cake was served.

Married Sunday at 4:30 p. m. at the bride's home in this city Miss Bernice Hawkes, eldest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Hawkes to Harold McCoullagh of Dannebrog. The single ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father, preceding which Kenneth Hawkes, brother of the bride sang "Oh Promise Me". The bride wore a gown of taupe silk. Many lovely flowers adorned the room. Following the ceremony and congratulations a two course luncheon was served. Out of town guests were the groom's people, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. McCoullagh and two daughters of Dannebrog, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawkes of Monroe. The bride is a graduate of the class of 1929 of the schools here and for two years attended college at Central City. The past year she taught a successful term of school in Dist. 64. Mr. McCoullagh, who has been a farmer will be employed by the McCoullagh Co. in Howard county for the summer with headquarters either at Elba or St. Paul. The young couple left immediately on a brief wedding trip.

The basement of the M. E. church was the scene of a very pretty banquet Thursday evening, June 1, honoring mothers and daughters, one hundred and one plates being laid at the tables which formed a square with decorations of purple and white tins. Purple and white crepe paper formed the room decorations. Place cards were tiny hand painted baskets of tulips, the work of Mary Frances Manchester. The two course dinner was in charge of the Ladies Aid and turned over to the husbands and fathers at the hour of serving, who managed affairs very efficiently. Following dinner, Mrs. Merle Zanger, president of the Aid gave the order to adjourn to the auditorium where the following program was rendered with Mrs. Harold Hoepner in charge: Assembly singing, "Sweetener as the Years Go By"; Greetings from daughters to mothers, Miss Helen Madsen; From mothers to daughters, Mrs. Winnie Bartz; duet, Harriet and Grace Manchester; solo, "Little Mother of Mine", Mary Frances Manchester; "A Parable to Mothers", by Temple Bailey, Mrs. Hoepner; solo, "Mother", Vesta Kildow; assembly singing, "In the Sweet Bye and Bye".

An old settlers picnic was enjoyed Sunday in Horace community. The affair was planned at this time honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harris of Yakima, Wash., who are spending two months here with relatives and old friends. Mr. Harris was Horace's merchant a number of years ago.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church, with their families enjoyed the day Thursday at the home of their president, Mrs. Millie Thomas. A pleasing feature of the day's program was a talk given by Mr. Barrows, home missionary worker, who gave vivid descriptions of his experiences while at work in Montana and the Dakotas. Mr. Barrows makes his home at Hanson, Nebr., with his aged mother, who also was present. Mr. and Mrs. Truman Barrows of Hastings were other guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox and sons and Miss Velma Horner shopped in Grand Island Thursday.

The Otto Bartz and Clark Roby families fished at Pibel Lake Sunday, bringing home their allotted number of bluegills.

The Paddock young people's Rainbow orchestra entertained on main street Saturday evening.

The Harold Fisher family and Donald Fisher were York visitors Sunday. Mrs. Fisher's people met them there and with the Rolly Fisher family of York, a visit and picnic dinner at the park was enjoyed.

Mrs. Inez Hill was hostess to the Woman's Missionary society of the S. D. B. church at an all day meeting Tuesday.

Vacation Bible school opened Monday at 8:30 a. m., with Miss Mary Davis in charge. Seventy-two pupils were enrolled Monday, a number coming in from the country. More are expected to enroll. This is the 11th year of the school's existence here.

The annual Children's Day program will be rendered at the M. E. church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. A miscellaneous program is in preparation.

Bethany Lutheran Church. S. S. Kaldahl, Pastor. Sunday school at 10:00 a. m. No Sunday service as Rev. Kaldahl is attending the church convention.

Methodist Church. Our annual Children's Day Program will be held next Sunday night at 8 o'clock.

Several new members were in our Sunday school and morning worship last week. A special effort is being made to enlist new members.

We are glad to welcome Mrs. Conrad Furtwangler to the membership of our church last Sunday morning. She comes by letter from Trinity Methodist Church of Grand Island.

Our Children's Day offering this year will be used for retired preachers of the conference. This offering will be a worthy gift to those who have ministered to us in former days.

Mearl C. Smith, Minister. "God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, June 11.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 37:28: "For the Lord loveth judgment, and forsaketh not his saints; they are preserved forever."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat or what ye shall drink.'"

Word has been received that Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Shepard, who have spent the last nine months in California, will arrive in Ord about the 15th of this month.

A citation of the activities and accomplishments of the different branches of the Arcadia public school for the past year would no doubt be quite interesting at this time.

The Girls Athletic association is an organization of about twenty girls who engaged in games of speedball, tennis and soccer. By observing certain health rules, engaging in organized sports and exercising in unorganized sports such as skating, swimming, etc. letters were earned by the girls.

A debate club of twelve members was organized shortly after the beginning of the school last year which met once a month. A debate and social time was had at each meeting. The debate squad held practice debates with Broken Bow, two with Greeley and two with Ravenna, all of which were non-decision.

The past year the Arcadia high school edited the A. H. S. Bugle, a small three column newspaper in conjunction with "The Arcadian." The staff was under the direction of the English instructor, Mr. Wedel and was chosen by the faculty at the beginning of the school year.

A Hi-Y club, under the supervision of Supt. Thompson was organized the past year. Thirty boys of high school age held membership in the club. The Hi-Y is a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association and is to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of christian character.

Grand Island, Nebr. June 7.—"We can all bring back from the land of difficulty a strength we can't acquire elsewhere. Nothing worth while, nothing of any importance, but what requires a measure of earnest consideration and action.

Rectal trouble is an almost universal affliction, from infancy to old age. In no other disease do people expect recovery without proper treatment. A terrible price in destroyed health is the penalty of neglect of such an important condition.

Nature gives most of us plenty of time to take care of our health. A lot of suffering is usually unnecessary. A cure awaits you here. Reasonable prices. Terms if necessary. Write to Dr. Rich, Rectal Specialist, Grand Island, Nebraska, for any information you would like to have.

district meetings at Central City and Fullerton, and the Older Boy's Conference at Grand Island. They have held a joint meeting with the Ord club, have taken part in a Ping-Pong tournament at Fullerton, sponsored an Invitation Hi-Y track meet at Arcadia and have held a Friendship Campfire and program.

Athletics have always played an important part in the life of a school. This year over seventy percent of the total male enrollment of the high school participated in some form of organized athletics. The football season was very successful, Arcadia losing only one game and winning the Loup Valley conference title.

Stomach Sufferers Marvel At New 3-Minute Relief

People who have suffered for years from stomach agonies are marveling at the quick relief of Bisma-Rex, a new, delicious-tasting antacid powder. And its comfort is lasting, too!

Syracuse (N. Y.) firemen battled for 90 minutes before a blaze that started in a freight car loaded with 41,000,000 matches, was subdued.

On these sweltering days serve--- Cold Meats

No housewife wants to slave over a cook stove on these days when the thermometer is making new heat records. And its unnecessary, too, when a market offers such a fine selection of cold meats as ours does.

All the old stand-bys like boiled ham, minced ham, veal loaf and pressed ham are here and there are many new ones, too.

Appetites are fickle during hot weather and for an evening meal nothing tastes better than a selection of different cold meats, served with salad, bread and butter, sandwiches and a cold drink.

May we serve you?

"There!" he said, setting the cup on the hearth with a clatter and rising. "Better now!" He eyed the girl closely. "Where were we, eh? We were... Oh, yes; about you... you're paying... You're paying for not loving me! You've scorned me, you had him wait outside your office and throw me out... Well, he isn't here now—advancing.

Ellen backed away as he came toward, heart pounding in her throat.

"He won't know; you can't call him!" He seized her wrists in his clammy grip and drew her close. "We'll leave here together, you and I, and—"

"Let me go!" she cried, wrestling against his hold. "Let me go, Paul!" She tore one hand free and struck at his face with it, in a paroxysm of fear. "Let me go, I say!"

The girl's strength was no match for his.

"None of that!" he said evenly. "None of that, Ellen! You've eluded me for... long, now. That's over. We're here... together... alone."

She circled the room to a far corner and stood there, hands behind her back, while he dragged the table along the wall and placed it against the door.

"There!" he said. "There we are!" He smiled oddly. "I've things to do, Ellen, I'm going on. I've got to get an outfit together. Can't have you running off while I am busy... I'm going on! And you're going with me! You're the one thing I've wanted that I didn't get!... I almost had all the rest but you... I never came near having you until now... I can't harm you, Ellen... unless you try to get away again..."

He moved to the cupboard, opened the doors and surveyed the contents. Salt, tea, sugar, he took down and carried to the table. He eyed the utensils next, picking up kettles one by one, examining them, selecting one of the lot eventually, placing it also on the table. "A frying pan next; a teapot.

Then, he asked: "Where's he keep his pack-sacks?"

Ellen gestured toward the fur loft and tried to speak. The words would not come; the inspiration, the hope, throbbing in her heart, choked them back.

"In there," she finally said. "For a moment he stared at the door and its fastening, and then looked at her.

Deliver your Cream and Eggs twice each week

We will be open Wednesday Evenings Until 9 p. m.

Hot weather is here. Butter markets are nervous and critical.

We want to make a fine grade of butter. You can help us by giving your cream BETTER CARE AND DELIVERING TWICE A WEEK.

It's your butter that we are manufacturing and marketing and you get the difference if you bring us better cream during the coming hot months.

Last Saturday we worked until midnight. Sunday morning the Buttermaker started to work again at 5:40 a. m. and he and two men worked until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Saturday we bought enough cream to make 10,000 pounds of butter.

We don't like to work Sundays any better than you do but we are doing it in order to pasteurize and churn out the butter before it deteriorates. We have pride in the quality of merchandise we turn out. We must have your co-operation if we are going to make fine butter.

Why not make an arrangement with one of your neighbors so that he bring your cream in once a week and you bring his in once a week. This arrangement will save time and gasoline and get your cream to us in fine shape.

We Are Working for YOU!

We can make you more money if we get your cream and eggs often.

Deliver your Cream and Eggs twice each week

We will be open Wednesday Evenings Until 9 p. m.

Hot weather is here. Butter markets are nervous and critical.

We want to make a fine grade of butter. You can help us by giving your cream BETTER CARE AND DELIVERING TWICE A WEEK.

It's your butter that we are manufacturing and marketing and you get the difference if you bring us better cream during the coming hot months.

Last Saturday we worked until midnight. Sunday morning the Buttermaker started to work again at 5:40 a. m. and he and two men worked until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Saturday we bought enough cream to make 10,000 pounds of butter.

We don't like to work Sundays any better than you do but we are doing it in order to pasteurize and churn out the butter before it deteriorates. We have pride in the quality of merchandise we turn out. We must have your co-operation if we are going to make fine butter.

Why not make an arrangement with one of your neighbors so that he bring your cream in once a week and you bring his in once a week. This arrangement will save time and gasoline and get your cream to us in fine shape.

We Are Working for YOU!

We can make you more money if we get your cream and eggs often.

HOLLINGSHEAD PASSES MONDAY AT HOME IN ORD

Long Illness of Former County Judge Terminates Fatally; Huge Crowd at Funeral.

The Hon. J. H. Hollingshead, county judge in Valley county for eight years, passed away at his home in Ord early Monday morning, June 12, after a long illness with sarcoma, a form of cancer that attacked the bone in one of his legs and required a series of operations extending over a period of many months. Throughout much of his last term of office Judge Hollingshead suffered intensely and since his retirement from public life January 1 he had been bedfast most of the time.

The veteran jurist was born in Valton, Wis., on April 11, 1864 and when a boy 12 years old came to Nebraska with his parents in a covered wagon, settling at Monroe, in Platte county. There he was married to Stella Alice Baker on February 4, 1888 and nine children were born to them, one son, LeRoy, passing away in infancy.

It was in 1902 that the Hollingshead family came to Valley county and settled in Arcadia where Mr. Hollingshead operated a general merchandise store for twenty years. Serving as justice of the peace, he studied law in his spare time and in 1924 he offered himself as a candidate for county judge and was elected. In 1928 he was re-elected and in 1932 was again a candidate, being defeated by John L. Andersen.

Immediately after his election Judge and Mrs. Hollingshead purchased a home in Ord and this city has since been their home. The judge was noted for the fairness and common sense of his decisions and was honored by laymen and attorneys alike.

Besides his wife, the judge is survived by eight children, twenty-six grandchildren, one great-grandchild and one brother, Curtis Hollingshead of Monroe. The children are Mrs. Myrtle Casteel, Keya Paha, S. D., Charles of Arcadia, Ralph, Waterloo, Ia., Ben, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Edward, Scotts-bluff, Fred, of Arcadia, Mrs. Chester Barnes, of Arcadia, and Lloyd H., of Chicago, Ill.

Many years ago Judge Hollingshead became a member of the Methodist church and funeral services were held at this church at 2 p. m. yesterday, Rev. Willard McCarthy officiating with the assistance of Rev. M. C. Smith. Offices in the court house were closed during the services.

Active pall bearers included George Round, Archie Keep, Lloyd Rusk, Dave Haught, Clyde Baker and E. L. Vogelzang and from Arcadia were chosen a group of honorary pall bearers that included Walter Sorensen, Clyde Hawthorne, C. O. Rettenmayer, George Hastings, Ray Hill and Fred Russell. A quartet composed of Madams Lucille Tolen and Joseph P. Barta and Messrs. F. L. Blessing and R. J. Stoltz sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. J. Cushing.

Interment was in the Arcadia cemetery.

Grand Island Firm Gets Gravel Contract
The Third City Sand and Gravel company, a Grand Island concern, was the successful bidder on the job of resurfacing Highway No. 11 between St. Paul and Taylor, state papers reported last Friday. On an 11.1 mile stretch between St. Paul and North Loup the Grand Island firm bid $2,058; on 3.1 miles between Elyria and Burwell they bid $14; on 6.4 miles between Elba and Elyria the bid was $1,521; on 16 miles between Taylor and Burwell the bid was $2,805. All of these bids were low for the various projects and the Third City company has been awarded the contracts.

Rain Is Badly Needed.
Although the weather has been delightfully cool since Sunday night, moisture is badly needed in the Ord vicinity. Last Wednesday evening about .65 of an inch fell here, with somewhat more to the northeast of town, and Sunday night a light shower fell in Ord while Arcadia, North Loup and Mira Valley got about a half inch. Small grains, alfalfa and pastures are said to be badly hurt by the drought and heat but corn is holding its own.

Oscar Smith Injured By Runaway Tractor

While helping Louie Fuss on his farm in Mira Valley Tuesday afternoon Oscar Smith suffered painful injuries when he was run down by a tractor driven by Mr. Fuss. Something went wrong with the tractor's mechanism and the driver could not stop it. Young Smith evaded more serious injury or death by rolling under a wagon nearby.

His injuries consisted of a bruised forehead, a deep gash behind one ear and a badly mangled left arm. Sixteen stitches were required to close his various cuts. Dr. Lee C. Nay is caring for him.

Will Open Law Office.

Adrian H. Mayer, of Omaha, was an Ord visitor last week and announced that about July 1 he would return here to open an office for the practice of law. Mr. Mayer is not entirely a stranger to Ord people, having married a daughter of E. Bannister, who formerly resided here. He is a World War veteran, having lost a limb in the service. For the past three years since his graduation from Municipal university he has practiced in Omaha.

CLOUD SMITH TO APPEAR FRIDAY AT ORD THEATRE

Noted Entertainer Is Secured By Ord C. of C. for Program; Admission Only 10c.

Friday evening people of Ord and vicinity will have an opportunity to see and hear Cloud Smith in person as well as seeing the excellent talkie, "Clear All Wires" this double bill being available to all at the low cost of 10c with an admission charge of only 25c for an entire family. The double program will be given Friday evening only at the Ord Theatre.

The Ord Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the program Friday and urges that everybody in the community attend.

Cloud Smith is a noted entertainer who has appeared on chautauqua and lyceum programs throughout the country as a reader and speaker. Here he will make a brief talk on community life and will then read the great play, "Davy Crockett." This play is a Tennessee romance in three acts with six characters, all of whom are impersonated by Mr. Smith.

As for the talkie to be shown, nobody needs an introduction to Leo Tracy, the star of "Clear All Wires." It is a fast moving comedy dealing with the experiences of a war correspondent in Soviet Russia and is sure to please.

The fact that this double program is available at the low admission charge of 10c each, 25c per family, is because the Ord Theatre manager, M. Blemond, is cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce to assure everybody being able to see and hear Mr. Smith.

Plan now to attend this program tomorrow evening.

County Board in Session.

The Valley county board of supervisors went into session Tuesday and will continue hearing complaints on valuation and tax matters for three days. Friday the regular June board meeting will be held.

Johnny Goodman Is Open Golf Champ Of United States

Over the long and tricky course of the North Shore Country Club, Chicago, Johnny Goodman of Omaha last week demonstrated that he is the greatest golfer in the United States at present and Saturday became open golf champion. His card of 287 for 72 holes was one stroke lower than that of Ralph Guidahl, of St. Louis. In third place was Tommy Armour with 290 and in fourth place was Walter Hagen with 292.

350 PRESENT AT WALTHER LEAGUE CONVENTION HERE

St. John's League Host to Young People of District 11 In Ord Last Sunday.

Three hundred and fifty young people, representatives of Lutheran churches at Grand Island, Kearney, Lexington, Amherst, Scotia, Burwell, Hazard, Riverdale, Hayestown, Buffalo, Shelton and Ravenna were in Ord Sunday to attend a convention of Zone 11 of the Nebraska district, Walther League. St. John's Walther league of Ord acted as host to this convention.

The Walther league is an international organization of young people within the Lutheran church of the Missouri Synod. It has a total membership of 46,000 and has 270 senior societies and 482 junior societies in thirty-seven districts of the United States and Canada. The purpose of the Walther league is to assist in keeping Lutheran young people within the church, to promote systematic study of the Bible; to assist in training well informed and efficient church workers; to establish and maintain a hospice system for the welfare of fellow Lutherans and others who are away from home; to further love for and active participation in the mission work of the church; to foster Christian love, fellowship and sociability; to encourage the support of charitable endeavors within the church; to promote loyalty to the Christian home; to help organize and maintain societies; and to unite all young people's societies in the Synodical Conference into one body and thus to establish a closer outward union between them.

Nebraska State Is Better Off By $8,000

For several years the Nebraska State bank of Ord, along with all other state banks of Nebraska, has been required to put aside a certain portion of its profits for a fund known as the Depositors Final Settlement Fund, this fund being a relief of the defunct Nebraska bank guarantee law. Banks have resisted in the courts the legality of this order and last Friday came the word that the United States Supreme court has sustained a verdict of the Nebraska supreme court and that the Depositors Final Settlement Fund is no longer necessary.

The Nebraska State had about $8,000 set aside in such a fund and now it will be released to bolster the already secure condition of the bank. Regulations from the state banking department order bankers to use this money in charging off commercial paper that is in any way "shaky" or in any way that will strengthen the condition of the bank. The money is not to be divided among stockholders but will become part of the capital and surplus of the bank.

Ord is fortunate in having two banks as sound as the Nebraska State and First National, both of them open without any state of federal restrictions, and depositors in the first named may feel more secure as the result of the Depositors Final Settlement Fund law being finally repealed.

Retail Stores Report Sales Are Much Better

F. J. L. Benda returned last week from the Allied Clothiers buying convention in Omaha, where he placed orders for men's wearing apparel for summer and fall. There are 300 stores in the Allied Clothier group, says Mr. Benda, and they operate their own jobbing house in St. Paul, Minn., and also an overall factory. Many of the merchants at the convention reported the best business since 1929 for the past 30 day period. More buying was done at this convention than at any held since 1929. Mr. Benda reports, and he says that there was enthusiasm and confidence on every hand. Tremendous orders were placed to avoid price advances that are now taking place. Today's prices are absolutely the lowest, Mr. Benda says, and he recommends that consumers buy as liberally as possible of such lines as cotton, wool, silk and leather, as the information he gained last week indicates large and immediate advances in prices.

Opens Store at Albion.

C. D. Searsen, the Omaha man who announced a few weeks ago that he would open a grocery store in the Sarah McLean building, opened a store in Albion last Friday. He was in Ord earlier in the week and stated that his plans for opening a store here have been abandoned for the present.

Agnes Christensen To New York City; Meets Fiance, Weds

Last Saturday Miss Agnes Christensen and Mrs. J. S. Collison left Ord for Chicago where Mrs. Collison expected to attend the world's fair. Miss Christensen was going on to New York City where yesterday she was to meet her fiance, Norman Collison, at the pier as he returned on the ship Southern Prince from South America. They were to be married immediately and after a honeymoon trip in the east expected to join Norman's mother in Chicago and attend the world's fair, after which they will return to Nebraska to make their home.

The bride is the daughter of N. C. Christensen, Ord, and is a graduate of the Ord high school. For the past few years she has been a successful teacher in the rural schools of Valley county. Her husband is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Collison and his boyhood days were spent here. For several years he has been employed by the Standard Oil company in South America.

HEART TROUBLE CAUSES DEATH OF W. B. GREGG

Respected Ord Farmer Drops Over Thursday As He Talked To Friend; Dead At Once.

A sudden attack of heart trouble, to which he was subject, last Thursday caused the death of W. B. Gregg, a respected farmer of the Ord vicinity for the past thirty years. He was standing in the yard of his farm home east of Ord talking to a friend, Ernest Hill, and at about 2:30 o'clock suddenly fell over. His physician, Dr. C. J. Miller, was called immediately but there was nothing he could do as death had resulted instantly. Mr. Gregg had suffered for some time with high blood pressure which was a contributing factor in bringing about the heart attack that caused his death.

William Blakeway Gregg was born Dec. 28, 1872 in Nodaway, Ia., the son of Robert and Helen Gregg and his boyhood was spent there and near Genoa, Nebr., where on April 16, 1904 he was married to Miss Emma Larson. Five children were born to them, one daughter, Charlotte, passing away in 1918. Left to mourn besides the widow are Miss Frances Gregg of Grand Island, Oakley Gregg, of San Diego, Calif., Paul and Russell Gregg, at home. He also leaves three sisters and one brother, Mrs. Lora Atkins, of Genoa, Mrs. Esther Ballard, of New London, Ia., Mrs. Blanche Koutsky, of Cedar Rapids, Ia. and Archie Gregg, of Dixon, Ill.

Throughout his lifetime Mr. Gregg's occupation was farming. He came to this county in 1903 and in the thirty years since had won the respect and affection of all with whom he came in contact. He affiliated with the Methodist church when a child and in manhood became a member of the Knights of Pythias and the A. O. U. W.

Funeral services were held at Sowl's chapel at 2:00 p. m. Monday, June 12, with Rev. L. M. Reel officiating. Pall-bearers were Lawrence Burger, Dr. J. W. McGinnis, Wm. Bartlett, Alvin Blessing, Joe Jelinek and August Peterson. A quartet composed of Dr. F. L. Blessing, R. J. Stoltz, Ed Mower and E. H. Petty sang, with Mrs. M. J. Cushing at the organ. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

O'Malley Appointed To $6,500 A Year Job

George W. O'Malley, of Greeley, speaker of the Nebraska house of representatives at the legislature's recent session and for years a prominent democrat of this state, last Friday was appointed collector of internal revenue for Nebraska, a job that pays $6,500 per year, less the temporary federal pay cut of 15 per cent. Mr. O'Malley's offices will be in Omaha. His appointment has already been confirmed by the senate.

Played in Golf Tourney.

Lyle McBeth and Glen Auble drove to Grand Island Sunday and played in the opening tournament held by the new Fairview course. The tourney was won by Frannie Moore, well known here, who defeated Harry Lewandowski of Burwell in the finals. Bill Mansell, also of Burwell, was medalist. Both of the Ord men acquitted themselves creditably, McBeth landing in the championship flight and defeating his first opponent, losing to the second. Auble was in the first flight and also beat his first opponent but lost to the second. The men say that Fairview course is a good one.

HOLIDAY HEAD SAYS TREE ARMY TAUGHT BAYONET

President Would Use Boys Against Farmers and Workers, Charges Harry Luz of Lincoln.

Making the charge that the Reforestation Corps was formed only for the purpose of bayoneting and machine-gunning farmers who try to prevent their homes being seized in foreclosure actions, Harry Luz of Lincoln made a sensational speech before a crowd of Farm Holiday association members and their families estimated at 300, at Bussell park in Ord Sunday afternoon. The program of speaking followed a picnic held by Holiday members and their families. Other speakers included Otto Anstrone, of North Dakota, and C. W. Taylor, of Montana, both Holiday association organizers.

The Lux talk was the stormiest of the three, for besides charging Wall street with having the reforestation corps formed to protect its mortgages he made sensational charges against Attorney General Paul Goddard, against District Judge Proudfit of Saline county and against Nebraska highway authorities.

The Lincoln man claimed that Reforestation Corps boys are taught the use of bayonets and machine guns instead of being taught to plant trees. "Wall street knew that the country wouldn't stand for having the regular army increased," he shouted, "so they told Roosevelt to get around us by forming a Reforestation Corps." His charge that members are transported to different sections of the country "so they won't have to stick bayonets into the backs of their own fathers."

Ever since immediately after the World war when he helped to organize the Non-Partisan League of Nebraska, Lux has been a stormy petrel in Nebraska politics. At Wilber recently he was jailed for taking part in a meeting held to protest the foreclosure of a farm. In his Ord speech Sunday he told what purported to be the true story of the Wilber affair.

A group of Holiday members had gathered in the Wilber court house, he said, to protest the sale of the farm of Joe Newman. This farmer, according to Lux, paid $32,000 for his farm putting up $24,000 in cash. Then he built $12,000 worth of improvements and last winter, because he was six months' short in paying interest on the balance he owed on the farm, the mortgage holder attempted to foreclose.

With about thirty other men he was sitting in the sheriff's office singing Holiday songs, Lux said, and a deputy fired a tear gas bomb into the room. The group dispersed and went to the Newman farm where they had a lunch, then the gathering broke up. Lux got into his automobile and was on his way to Lincoln, he claims, when seven miles over the Saline county line in Lancaster county a group of Saline county deputy sheriffs put him under arrest. He was held in the Saline county jail for forty-three days, most of the time in solitary confinement, and was denied bail. Finally he was tried before Judge Proudfit for

Saturday Tag Day For Flanagan Home

The annual campaign for funds to support Father Flanagan's home for boys in Omaha will be held in Ord next Saturday, it is announced today by Mrs. Frank Fafelta, jr., who is in charge of the drive this year. Ord people donated to this worthy cause in very generous fashion last year and it is hoped that they will be equally generous this year.

Among the volunteer helpers who will assist Mrs. Fafelta in selling ribbons will be Arden Clark, Loretta Mae Achen, Betty Vogelzang, Angelina Wachter, Louise Petka, Zola Barta, Jeanette Hughes, Mrs. C. J. Mortenson, Mrs. Rosalie McBeth and Mrs. Lottie Clark. A house to house canvass will be made as well as a canvass of the business district, Mrs. Fafelta says.

Ross Blessing and Billy Baird returned home Thursday from Chicago where they had taken in a few days of the World's fair. They went with Louis Wegryzn, who came Friday. He had disposed of his six car loads of cattle in Chicago. However the price was down and he did not make as much as he expected.

4,000 Bullheads Are Planted Near Sumter

County Clerk Ign. Kilma, jr., reports that last week a state fish truck came to Ord bringing a load of bullheads and that the fish, almost 4,000 of them—were planted in Messenger Creek near Sumter. The bullheads were big spawners and came from a lake near Hannibal. They were transported to Grand Island by rail and trucks hauled them from there to creeks and lakes throughout central Nebraska. Mr. Kilma has his order in for two more truck loads of bullheads but doesn't know whether he will get them or not. Last year 2,800 bullheads were planted in Dane Creek and if more are available Mr. Kilma hopes to have them planted in Smith's creek and Turtle creek, near Ord, and in the mill race near Arcadia.

Man Drowns at Pibel.

Frank Falk, proprietor of a filling station at Clark's, was drowned early Wednesday morning in Lake Pibel, near Spalding, state papers say. He and a companion had gone fishing about midnight and at 1 o'clock, having caught a mess of fish for breakfast, were rowing to shore, while pulling in the anchor Falk fell overboard, capsizing the boat. His companion swam to the boat and hung on until help reached him but Falk was drowned, his body being found in twenty feet of water an hour later.

ARCADIA FARMER KICKED BY HORSE, WILL RECOVER

Clarence Kucera Seriously Hurt As Team Runs Away Friday; Is In University Hospital.

Clarence Kucera, young farmer of the Arcadia neighborhood suffered serious injuries last Friday morning when he was kicked by a horse and later trampled by the team as it ran away. Taken to University hospital, Omaha, that afternoon by Dr. Henry Norris, it is thought that he will recover.

The young man was riding hay Friday morning and about 1 o'clock the reins with which he was guiding a spirited team became entangled. He stepped out on the tongue of the rake to free the reins and just then a noselift bit one of the horses, which promptly kicked young Kucera in the head. He fell off the tongue, which frightened the horses and they ran away, trampling him severely as they passed across his body.

Mr. Kucera's injuries consisted of a deep cut over one eye, a bad bruise over the other, several fractured ribs and injuries to his left kidney. The kidney injuries were regarded as most serious. After the accident he was taken to a Loup City hospital, where he was cared for until Dr. Norris arrived. The latter is county physician of Valley county and promptly decided to take young Kucera to the University hospital, where he could receive proper treatment.

Mr. Kucera is a son-in-law of J. W. Gates, Ord, and is well known here.

Ord Team Loses, 12 to 8.

Ord's entry in the Loup Valley Baseball League dropped another game Sunday, losing on North Loup soil by the score of 12 to 8. Fitch hurled for North Loup, yielding 13 hits, while Mattern and Athey were nipped for sixteen blows. In other league games St. Paul beat Wolbach and Scotia was awarded a win over Greeley after protesting the game to league officials as a result of a row between players of the two teams.

Past Presidents Of Ord Rotary Club To Be Entertained

Next Monday evening will be Past Presidents' night at the Ord Rotary club's dinner and five men who have served as presidents of the Rotary club since its organization will be guests of honor. The list includes Charles Bowers and Dr. Irl D. Tolen, of Lincoln, C. M. Davis, H. B. VanDecar and C. C. Dale, of Ord. Both Mr. Bowers and Mr. Tolen will be present, it is promised. All men who have been members of the Rotary club in the past but have dropped out for various causes will also be guests at dinner that night.

ENGINEER MAKES FINAL REPORT AT MEETING TUESDAY

Cost High, Says Dunmire, Bu Huge Power Production Will Make Project Self-Liquidating

That the North Loup valley hydro-electric and irrigation project will cost $2,905,000 to build but will produce such a fabulous amount of power that it will liquidate this huge cost was the report of Engineer E. H. Dunmire, of the Kansas City firm of Black & Veatch, at a meeting of directors of the district held Tuesday evening in the office of President Bert M. Hardenbrook.

Directors Vote To Ask Loan At Once

Local Group Will Be In Washington Next Week, Is Decision; Two Big Lakes Are Planned.

The news that such an enormous R. F. C. loan would be required came almost as a bomb-shell throughout the winter and spring has contemplated a maximum cost of about a million dollars. Mr. Dunmire's figures, however, proved the high cost to be fully justified.

The project when completed will produce 36,500,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy per year. Engineer Dunmire says, and he feels that there will be no difficulty in selling this power at an average price of 4 mills per kilowatt hour. At this figure the returns from sale of power would approximate $144,000 per year, which would go far toward liquidating the project over an extended period of time. There is also every possibility that much of the electric energy may be sold at a "firm power" rate, which means that the district would guarantee 24-hour-a-day, 12-months-in-the-year service. Ord and Burwell municipalities are regarded as likely customers for firm power, the price of which is usually about 1 cent per kilowatt. Any power sold at the higher rate would increase the income from sale of power and aid in liquidating the project.

How much farmers will have to pay for water has not yet been determined, Engineer Dunmire explaining that it will depend upon whether the project is amortized in 20, 25, 30 years or a longer period, and upon whether R. F. C. money is available at 3, 4 or 5 per cent interest. Decisions upon these matters will rest with the R. F. C. board. There is also possibility that the North Loup district can qualify under the Wagner unemployment relief act, which might result in the federal government paying 30 per cent of the cost of labor and material without the local district having to pay it back. This would, of course, reduce the cost of water considerably. It is promised, however, that the cost to farmers will not be prohibitive.

Famous Dance Bands Will Play In Ord

Dance lovers of the North Loup valley owe a debt of gratitude to Emil Darges, enterprising manager of dances held in the opera house, for bringing to Ord a series of nationally famous dance bands this spring. Monday evening a twenty-piece negro aggregation from Denver played here, the company including several entertainers who pleased dancers greatly. Next Monday evening an N. B. C. orchestra, Cole Cramer and his Bufalodians will play here and the following Monday a nationally known orchestra, the Scotch Highlanders, will play in Ord. Manager Darges is able to get orchestras of such caliber because he has a connection with the Pier, Grand Island's big dance resort, and all orchestras that are contracted for there play one night in Ord. Dancers may expect a brilliant galaxy of dance bands in future, Mr. Darges says.

Married in Ord Thursday.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ambrose in Ord last Thursday, Miss Helen Hardekopf was united in marriage to Elmer W. Linneman, the ceremony being performed by Rev. M. C. Smith, who used the ring ceremony. The bride wore a gown of pink sheer crepe with venetian lace trim, ankle length, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Both of the contracting parties reside in Grand Island, where the groom is in the oil burner and heating business.

THE ORD QUIZ

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska

H. D. LEGGETT . . . PUBLISHER
E. C. LEGGETT . . . . . EDITOR

A DREAM COME TRUE.

For thirty years fore-sighted Nebraskans have dreamed of the day when the rivers with which our state is so greatly blessed would be harnessed, their waters being used first for the production of electric energy and then diverted across Nebraska's broad and fertile acres, assuring bounteous crops to be processed in the factories that would be built when cheap electricity became available. Now it appears that their dreams are coming true.

Near Columbus a power project is contemplated that will furnish electric energy sufficient for the needs of the whole eastern third of the state. In the two Loup valleys other such projects are under way, promising adequate electricity for this section of the state. At Sutherland a fourth power project is being planned and will produce electric energy sufficient for the needs of the southwest-central portion of Nebraska. In all except the Columbus project irrigation, also, is planned.

The success of these projects means much to Nebraska; nothing must be permitted to stop them.

With abundance of electric energy at a low price will come manufacturing plants, which will require labor and which will use many of the products produced on Nebraska farms. Increased population will inevitably result, which will mean a larger and better market closer to home for our hogs, our sheep, our cattle and our grains. There will be a fuller measure of prosperity for all of us, business man and farmer alike.

Making a dream of this kind come true is more important to Nebraska than is the political ambition of any individual. It is so important that personal enmities must be forgotten and that all must join in common cause to strike down those who would put obstacles in its path.

Against all such, whether they sit in high places or in low, the Quiz takes issue. To the upbuilding of Valley county, the Loup valley and Nebraska this newspaper dedicates its efforts, believing that this upbuilding may best be brought about by the complete utilization of water—our only natural resource.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Jackpine Lodge on Cullen Lake Nisswa, Minn., June 10, 1933

Dear Quiz Folks:

It is my orders from Eugene to write a letter, telling about our trip and it is not only a duty but a pleasure to do so. We left Ord Thursday at 10:30 a. m., about 30 minutes behind schedule because Hi Anderson, who was superintending the loading of our trailer wanted to be sure every detail was right. We had a pretty heavy load on the trailer. By the way, Hi and his brother Alvin, built the trailer and it has attracted favorable comment wherever we stopped. Jim Hansen also added his suggestions and did the necessary welding on the job. It is a sturdy, neatly built trailer and "tracks" perfectly, this I suppose, due to the hitch. Hi invented the hitch, made it out of odds and ends with little or no expense and a mechanic at Atkinson, Nebr., told me it should be patented and put on the market.

Well, we went via Burwell to Atkinson on No. 11, hit No. 20 at Atkinson, then east on it till we hit No. 81, then north through Yankton, S. D. to Stanley where we turned east on a fine pavement and angling north and east, we got to Pipestone, Minn. at 8 p. m. We got a nice cabin, cooked ham and eggs and coffee, had supper and were in bed at 9 o'clock. They had had a nice rain there the night before about like we had at Ord and it was needed for crops around Pipestone were suffering from dry weather and the hay crop, they told me, would be very short. Corn is looking fine all the way. The singing of birds and the passing of cars awoke us before four o'clock Friday morning and we were up and getting breakfast of bacon and eggs, coffee, a can of grapefruit and toast. We had everything loaded and pulled out of camp at 5 a. m. We arrived at Brainard at 12:30, bought a few needed supplies and got out to the cottage at 1:30. We drove 640 miles, 340 the first day and 300 the second, used exactly 40 gallons of gas, an average of 16 miles to the gallon and didn't have a bit of trouble of any kind. We spent $7.35 on the trip. Kent and I took turns driving. Kent admitted that he had never driven a car over 35 miles an hour before, but when we got here he could drive along 50 and 55 as nonchalantly as any one. We drove on hard surfaced roads every foot of the way. Had to drive about 15 miles further to do so. We usually make the trip in 625 miles, going via Ericson, Bartlett and Elgin. Via Burwell and Atkinson is much quickest though even if a few miles longer. You will remember that it was very hot in Valley county last week, till the rain Wednesday night. Thursday was nice and cool and mostly cloudy and Friday was cool in the afternoon, so we had a very delightful trip. It was pretty warm here all afternoon but cooled off rapidly as the sun went down. We were tired and sleepy, after 18 hours since we got up, so about 9 p. m. we turned in, before it was really dark. By then a sheet and a blanket over us was welcome and before morning we had to have another blanket. I am writing on the front porch this a. m. and it is delightfully cool. We were up at 7 had coffee, bacon and eggs and pancakes.

Oh yes, you will want to hear about the fish and I will get to that pretty soon. After we left Pipestone yesterday a. m. I noticed it had been dry for about 100 miles. Then it began to look better. They tell us here that it has rained nearly every day. They had over 2 inches of rain the day before we got here and I never saw things looking nicer than they do this spring. And the lake is way up, too. It looks like it did 13 years ago, the first year we were here. It has seemed to get lower every year and last year was so low that we began to wonder if the lakes were going to dry up entirely. Old timers here, say this happens in cycles, that the lakes go down, then come back for a few years, and they think the tides in the ocean have something to do with it. Anyhow I am glad to see it.

But the season for game fish doesn't open till June 21st. We can fish for pike, perch and bull heads though, and will do so shortly. First we have to paint our boat, put the dock out, etc. Mr. and Mrs. Simpson are the only ones in camp so far. They have been here for three weeks. They will remain all summer. Ray Luther and family are well. They say it rained from 35 to 52 below and was the worst winter here in 35 years. The snow was several feet deep and they had to go to town on snow shoes.

Someone is asking or wondering about the mosquitoes. Well, I never saw them bigger or hungrier and I guess it would be all one's life was worth to try going out after night. They tell us the high water has made them the worst in years. Kent says he has to carry a club when he goes into the woods. And there are wood ticks galore. They will leave as soon as it quits raining. Right now they are a nuisance.

Well, this will have to do for this time. The Missus wants us to get ice and then help move some furniture around. I may have some thrilling fish stories to tell by next week.

H. D. LEGGETT

P. S. Just when we were ready to leave Ord Irma phoned that she had a box of cookies for us if we would come that way, which of course we did. We had them to lunch on all the way and finished them last night. My grandfather Mankin used to say, when someone did something for him, that one good turn deserved another.

Something Different

If you haven't seen the pretty little round pool built in their west yard by the O. E. Johnsons, then by all means stop and look at it, for it is as pretty as any I have ever seen.

They did an awfully nice job of constructing it, and the pool looks suitable to the place it was built, if you know what I mean. In the center is a dainty little fountain, and the overflow pipe has a neat little rock and gravel lined path down which to run to the gutter. Though I haven't seen the fountain in action, I am sure this little rill would charm me as much as the tidy pool and fountain. Flowers have been planted at the base and up the slopes to the wall of the pool.

And another thing, as Andy Gump says. For a long long time Bud has been trying to entice me out to see what he fixed up for a ladies room at the golf course. At last, a few evenings ago I saw it, and I don't blame Bud for wanting some praise and admiration for his work. I don't know what more Bud could do for the ladies. The room isn't too small, the walls are neatly papered in a small floral design, there is a couch to retire on, spread with blankets. The windows have close screens and shutters so none may peek and tell! There is a tiny shower, toilet and lavatory facilities.

And as if that wasn't enough, Bud has built a dressing table, two or three cupboards, a gateleg table and a bench that lets down from one wall, painting them all a gay old rose or pink, which ever you prefer.

I can't begin to tell you all the furnishings Bud has thoughtfully placed in this room. The medicine cabinet has every needed bandage and antiseptic. The little wall cabinets hold rouge and lipsticks of several colors, powder and cleansing cream, talcum, soap, towels, wash cloths. Also needles, pins, thread, safety pins, and I don't know what all else. Even cigarets and matches, if you are that modern, ladies.

There is an electric light overhead, and a carpet on the floor, in fact everything for the comfort of the ladies that could be found in the retiring lounge of a large country club. Screens, also made by Bud, conceal the room from passers-by when the door is left open. And it is all nice and clean.

Bud has surely spent a lot of time and thought on the women in doing this work.

But there is no rest for the weary. I hear the men are grumbling because Bud hasn't fixed up anything half so nice for them.

To talk about pools again, I don't believe there is a town in the United States the size of Ord that possesses so many attractive little lily pools, fish ponds or whatever you want to call these yard ornaments. And so many fascinating ones.

Or, for that matter, as many orderly vegetable gardens. They are pretty too. How can you say they're not?

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

This unseasonable hot weather doesn't leave one much ambition for cooking, does it? Therefore it behooves us all to simplify our cooking tasks as much as possible. Select cooking dishes that are not too involved, for who wants to spend days like these in the kitchen? And who wants to eat big heavy hot meals now anyway? Send in your pet summertime recipes, please. Think what a comfort they will prove to other harassed hot weather cooks!

Date Nut Bread.
Soak one cup dates, one teaspoon soda and one tablespoon butter in one cup very hot water. Let this cool, then add, pinch of salt, one-half cup sugar, one cup chopped nuts, and one and three-fourths cups flour. Mix and bake one hour in a slow oven.

Mrs. Wayne G. Clements, Boulder, Colo.

Banana Pie
Make a boiled custard as follows: scald two cups milk and pour it over two egg yolks which have been beaten with one-fourth cup sugar and a pinch of salt. Add one-eighth teaspoon vanilla and three teaspoons flour which has been dissolved in a little cold water. Cook over water until the back of a silver spoon inserted in it is coated.

Then combine two cups of the boiled custard with three sliced bananas, four tablespoons sugar, two cups cocoanut and one-fourth cup water. Lastly put in one teaspoon vanilla, and pour in a baked pie shell.

Mrs. Mike Noha, Rt. 1, Ord.

Orange Pudding.
Dice three medium sized juicy oranges in a deep dish and stir together with one teaspoon of water and one-third cup of sugar (use more or less according to the sweetness of the oranges). Dissolve four slightly rounded tablespoons of cornstarch in a little milk, scald the remainder of two cups of milk and add one-fourth cup sugar, then the dissolved cornstarch. Stir until thickened, then add two slightly beaten egg yolks and a pinch of salt. Cook just a little more, remove from fire and flavor with vanilla.

When cool put on top of the oranges and make a meringue of the two egg whites and put on top of the custard. Sprinkle with cocoanut and brown the top slightly. No sauce is needed.

Mrs. Roy Sanders, Lewellen, Neb.

Casserole Italienne.
Combine one cup canned tomatoes, one cup chopped sweet pickles, one cup ground left-over meat, one tablespoon chopped onion and one-half cup grated cheese. Mix with two cups cooked spaghetti and place in a greased casserole. Cover the top with one-half cup grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until thoroughly heated.

Greta Brickner, Pepper Hash.

Chop fine fifteen green peppers, fifteen red peppers, fifteen onions, cover with hot water, let stand five minutes and drain. Cover with cold water and one-half cup salt and boil ten minutes, drain. Add one quart vinegar and two cups sugar, boil fifteen minutes and seal while hot.

Mrs. Hattie S. P.

Mrs. P. says this recipe is as old as the hills and that she is too, and so no one will think she can cook. "But I surely can, last year I cooked a Thanksgiving dinner all by myself." She sends her best wishes and I hope you guess who this former resident is. I have a notion to tell you even if she did ask me not to do so.

AM I RIGHT?

By George Round Jr.

Valley county farmers who have shipped "mangy" hogs to the central markets this year know that packers and buyers aren't at all anxious to purchase such animals unless they are discounted. Reports from Omaha indicate that the discount has run as high as $1 per hundredweight.

Tests started at the Nebraska college of agriculture recently will determine what control method is the most practical. Crank case oil, crude oil and lime-sulphur are being used in an effort to determine which is the best.

Played tennis recently with Jesse Kovanda of Ord. . . . Bill Garnick is busy this summer feeding hogs. . . . Power to you Porky on that painting job. . . . Scotia doesn't like postponed ball games. . . . What no farm bureau ball league this summer? . . . Claude Roe is back home now after spending a few weeks at Fort Crook. . . . A college degree, says one graduate, is just a license to start hunting for a job. . . .

And now the old rooster, as says the Quiz, is no longer the "cock of the walk" on Valley county farms—and he isn't on numerous other farms in the state. "Rooster Days" held in practically every community have ridded farms of the cockerels and as a result Nebraska-produced eggs should be improved in quality this summer.

Those Jerseys of E. S. Coats of Ord again made quite a record in butterfat production during May. With twenty-eight head on test, the animals averaged 38.7 pounds per cow. Fred Stefer, University of Nebraska graduate, is doing the testing in the Custer-Valley dairy herd improvement association. Coats is a member of this organization.

Valley county boys enrolled in reforestation work may be used in the state. Two conservation camps were opened in the western end of the state this week under the direction of Clayton W. Watkins, extension forester at the Nebraska college of agriculture, and some of the local fellows may be sent there for work.

O. S. Bare of the Nebraska college of agriculture says the grasshoppers aren't hatching in great quantities in Valley county as yet. Though weather conditions have been ideal for their hatching, they appear to be slow in coming out this year. Reports reaching the college, however, indicate that some trouble may again occur in the northeastern part of the state this year.

Get Acquainted with the Happiness that comes with

FINANCIAL SAFETY

No husband and father can be really happy until he gets acquainted with the true brand of happiness that comes with financial security. Nor does financial safety mean possession of thousands of dollars worth of property. It means simply having enough money in hand to protect against sickness or other sudden emergencies; owning a home of one's own; being able to meet bills promptly as they come due. That's the kind of safety that pays dividends in happiness.

The Protective plan of saving makes such happiness available to all, whether their weekly wage be great or small. Small deposits at regular, fixed intervals turn the trick. Save systematically by the Protective plan. We will be glad to furnish details on request.

25 Years Ago This Week.

A petition signed by J. C. Work and others was filed with H. E. Olson, county attorney, and A. Sutton, sheriff, demanding that they rid Ord of gamblers and other undesirable, who were said to be flooding into this city in large numbers because Ord had legalized saloons whereas most other towns in this vicinity were dry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rutherford of Arcadia were quite badly hurt when their team ran away while going down the Joe Wilson hill.

Alvin Haywood and Miss Hazel Hastings were married.

Three inches of rain fell in Ord within 48 hours. On the same night a tornado hit Boelus and two people were killed.

Editor Davis left for the eastern part of the state to be a manager on the chautauqua circuit.

A street carnival was advertised to appear in Ord under the auspices of the Ord baseball club, which provoked the ire of the Quiz editor since there was no baseball club in Ord at the time.

Lewin, of Arcadia, and Alexander, of St. Paul, engaged in a real hurling duel when the Arcadia and Sargent teams played. The score was 2 to 2 in the eighth inning and the game was called because the Sargent boys had to catch a train home.

Guy Abrahams had his right thumb pulled off while lassoing a cow.

The city council started advertising for bids for the sinking of a clear well to be used in connection with the water works. It was estimated to cost about $3,000.

At a meeting of the state press association the Quiz won first prize for the best half page advertisement set entirely on a linotype. It was an ad for the Boston store, written by H. Simon and set by Oscar L. Nay of the Quiz force. The prize was a font of linotype mats worth $72.

Charles Freeman of Lee Park had his best team of horses killed by lightning. Allan Tappan of North Loup lost a horse by lightning the same night.

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple:— a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

Henry Ford

He enjoyed a picnic dinner at Twin lakes with his sisters Madams Koll and Miska and their families. In the afternoon Elvin and Mrs. Miska drove to Colome, and the Koll family to their home near Ord.
—Miss Elma E. Klanecky and Eidon F. Lukes were married June 1 in Sargent, by Father Thees. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Klanecky of Sargent. She has taught school for several years. The last five years she taught in district 29, Valle county. The groom is a son of Mrs. A. Lukes of Ord. He has for some time lived on the Arnold Krbel farm six miles east of Sargent. It is on this farm Mr. and Mrs. Lukes will make their home.

Will Form Shakespeare Club. The National Junior Shakespeare Story Telling club, through the assistance of Miss Margaret Petty, will shortly form a branch or association here. The club is educational in purpose and is designed to acquaint children with the works of the famous bard in such a way that it will seem like play to them. The plan consists of story hours for the children, when groups will meet and tell Shakespeare stories in simplified form. Prizes will be offered at various stages of the course and diplomas will be given each child who finishes it. As a finale, a Shakespearean program will be held with children portraying Shakespearean characters.
Have Trouble Getting Married. When Ted Shirley, of Broken Bow, and Miss Frances Iwanski, of Burwell, decided to get married at Broken Bow recently they encountered many difficulties. The Custer county judge, C. M. Miller, had gone to a dance at a pavilion two miles south of Broken Bow. Rain had fallen and roads were slippery, but the couple started for the pavilion to get the judge. Enroute they slipped into a ditch and were some time getting the car out. About midnight they found the judge, who went to the court house and issued a license, then married Mr. Shirley and Miss Iwanski. The former is a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Shirley, Ord, and operates a bus line between Grand Island and Broken Bow.
Will Have Golf Tourney. Members of the Ord Golf club have received an invitation to take part Sunday in a tournament to be held by the Scotia-North Loup club on its course west of Scotia. Several are planning to play in the tournament.
Methodist Church. Hours of worship next Sunday. 10 a. m., Sunday School. 11 a. m., Morning worship. 7 p. m., Epworth Leagues. 8 p. m., Union service at the Christian church. There will be a meeting of the official board tonight at 7:30. A good sized congregation attended the services for the Children's day program last Sunday night. Mrs. Leo Long and Mrs. J.

H. Jirak had charge of the exercises. It was an excellent program with beautiful platform decorations.
Mearl C. Smith, Minister.
First Presbyterian Church. The church needs you. You should go to worship in the church in the summer time because the church needs you. A great many people have taken the Christian ideals of service too seriously as far as the church is concerned. We assume the attitude of regal individuality and say to the church: "Here I am, serve me in some way." When the winter season is on, when Easter comes, you decide that the church will have some great services so you go. When the pews are filled and others are sitting in chairs, we say "How good that we came to the church." But when the summer season comes, crowds diminish, the program is not carried out as vigorously as before. "Why should I be interested, you say. What has the church to offer me?" It is time that you are a Christian yourself for a change.
Bible study 10:00. Interesting classes for all ages. The service for worship 10:45.

The young people's program at 7:00 will be of special interest.
Union preaching service at the Christian church 8 p. m.
The Home Art circle will meet Wednesday, 2:30.
The Real vacation camp opened at Pibel Lake Monday.
The young people will leave Monday morning at 6:30. The boys will meet at the church Friday, June 23 at 4:30 o'clock, and the cars that take the boys out will bring back the young people. The girls' period will open Wednesday, June 28th and close Monday July 3rd. This is the third year for the camp and it is growing bigger and better each year.
The church is offering a scholarship to the five children who earned the highest credit in the church during the past six months. The following are the winners: Jerriene Burrows, Anna Jensen, Jacqueline Meyer, Edward Sweet and Irene Whiting. The five second to the five highest are Marjorie Coe, Jack Petty, Barbara Dale, Jean Ferguson and Jack Catlin.
Forty-seven children were placed on the honor roll for high grade work done in the church school.

The report made by Engineer Dunmire Tuesday was the final report of Black & Veatch. He had with him all the plans, blue prints and specifications for the project and said that, after an R. F. C. loan is secured, it will be only a matter of thirty days before construction is under way.

The final plan is to build three power plants, one at Sioux Creek north of Burwell, one on Bean Creek near Fort Hartsuff, and a third plant about 5 miles northeast of Ord. There will also be an emergency plant located just west of Ord, where a reservoir is planned, this plant being used solely for stand-by purposes and to enable the district to guarantee firm power.

Instead of building inexpensive diversion dams, as was first expected, the Black & Veatch plans contemplate the construction of two permanent dams across the river. The first of these will be located 4 1/2 miles west of Taylor and will be a concrete dam to raise the water about two feet. Below the dam will be a settling basin with what Mr. Dunmire describes as a "skimming weir" effect to trap the sand before water is sent into the main canal.

Mr. Dunmire expects to receive permission from State Engineer R. L. Cochran to divert the entire mean flow of the river at this dam, which means that from 400 to 800 second feet of water will thunder down a huge canal and through turbine units at the Sioux Creek power plant fourteen miles below. An enormous production of electric energy will thus be secured. At Sioux Creek the water will be restored to the river during the non-irrigating season; during the April to September period when water is needed for irrigation it will be sent down a smaller canal to a point west of Ord, irrigating land along the route of the canal as it goes.

Plans have been made for a reservoir in the hills just west of Hillcrest hospital and almost touching the west end of L street, Dunmire explained. This lake will cover about 100 acres and will be at least forty feet deep in places. A dam 400 feet long and 40 feet high will be constructed, he explained.

This reservoir will be used for the storage of waste water during the irrigating season and a power plant will be built to produce electric energy from the water in the lake should an emergency make it necessary. A 24-hour supply of electricity could thus be generated, it is thought.

Just below Ord a diversion dam will be built and water will be diverted into a power canal 4 1/2 miles long, culminating in a power plant and flowing over turbine units into an irrigation canal that would run on down to a point west of Scotia.

Plans for the north side of the river are equally elaborate. A concrete dam to raise the water in the river six feet would be built just east of Burwell and a power canal would take the diverted water down to a point on Bean creek near Fort Hartsuff. There an eighty-acre reservoir would be built with a power plant utilizing a drop of 36 feet. All land on the north side of the river between Burwell and Sumter would be irrigated by water from this ditch.

Mr. Dunmire was closely questioned as to the feasibility of the project and repeated his original statement: that both from the engineering standpoint and the financial viewpoint it is entirely feasible and will absolutely be self-liquidating.

The thoroughness of the Black & Veatch plans is demonstrated by the fact that elaborate cross-drainage systems have been laid out and Mr. Dunmire assured members of the board that not even the most severe storm would interfere with the efficiency of the irrigation and power systems.

There are 37,850 acres of land irrigable in the area touched by the various ditches, the engineer stated, but his plans and his financial set-up are made on the supposition that only 80 per cent of his acreage would be irrigated in the first three years of operation. There is water sufficient to irrigate fifteen times the acreage of the whole project, he said, but a few farmers probably would hesitate to sign up immediately, which is his reason for figuring on only eighty per cent signing up at once.

Another man who reported to directors Tuesday evening was C. A. Sorensen, of Lincoln, attorney for the project. He discussed provisions of the Wagner act, which has now passed Congress and been signed by the president, and urged the necessity of great haste in making application for a loan at Washington. He strongly advised that the application be filed early next week.

The plan is to first apply for a loan under the provisions of the Wagner industrial recovery act and then, if this fails, to seek an R. F. C. loan as was first contemplated.

Governor Bryan and the state department of public works are expected to approve the North Loup valley project immediately, Attorney Sorensen said. He had received assurance from the state engineer that this approval would be given as soon as Mr. Cochran went over the project with Engineer Dunmire. The latter had an appointment with Mr. Cochran at 10 a. m. yesterday and left Ord Tuesday morning to keep it. With him went Mr. Sorensen and in another car went President Hardenbrook, Roy Hudson of North Loup, Joe Barta of Ord and Harry Doran of Burwell, these officers and directors of the district going to answer any questions that Mr. Cochran and Governor Bryan may ask and to urge upon these men the necessity of great haste.

The Ord men returned home last night reporting that Bryan is again holding up this and other projects with the excuse that he will not approve any project until he learns more of the provisions of the public works act. How long the governor will delay these vitally important projects remains to be seen.

Middle Loup Expects O. K. Arcadia, June 14.—(Special)—Progress in the affairs of the Middle Loup power and irrigation district is somewhat congested at this writing as State Engineer R. L. Cochran last week cancelled the district's certificates of approval on account of an agreement between the district and Engineer D. E. W. Jones and Attorney C. A. Sorensen that each should receive 2 per cent of the R. F. C. loan in payment for their services. Last Friday directors of the district met and rescinded these agreements and Tuesday they went to Lincoln and held a four hour conference with Mr. Cochran, in the course of which they agreed to consult with Mr. Cochran before entering into any agreements with engineers or attorneys in future. It is believed that difficulties were ironed out at this conference and that another certificate of approval will be forthcoming at once, which will permit the district to apply for an R. F. C. loan.

And miles back there John Belknap stopped and straightened, pressing hands to the small of his back, aching from the hours of travel in a stooping posture.

CHAPTER XIII

Paul Gorbel hefted the ax carefully. The pack-sack was strapped shut; the rifle, its magazine filled, lay across the table.

"One more chance!" he panted. "One more chance for you to come out. . . I'm coming in, then!"

The girl did not reply. He swung deeply into the hand-hewn pine planks. She cried out then in fright, but put more of her weight on the post which blocked the door.

His blows fell rapidly, assailing the boltheads that indicated the position of the upper hinge. The door began to give a bit under the driving.

With a sob the girl clutched at the post, which slipped as its good angle of purchase was disturbed. She could not get it back into place between blows. She removed her weight from it, tried to shift it. . . The door, sagging on the lower hinge, tilted inward. . .

She was up then, backing from him as he stood in the lamplight, long knife in her hand, the other spread across her breast.

"Don't come in here!" she whispered. "Don't come in here or I'll. . . I'll do the only thing you've left me to do!"

He strode forward and stopped as, with a cry, the girl flashed the long blade at him. He recoiled, cursing.

"I could kill you!" "You could, of course!" "You think I won't?" "You might. But I'm not leaving this camp!"

You think I won't, eh?"—tumbling for the rifle. "You think I wouldn't shoot you down? . . . Well, think again! Leave you here to spread the word? Leave you alive to get back and spoil my twenty miles of covered trail. Today then can trail!"—in a mutter. "Today a trail'll be an open book. . ."

He looked out into the coming dawn. A light breeze stirred, the stars were gone; thin cloud streamers in the east glowed a lemon color.

"Today it won't snow and —" He crouched then and his head thrust forward. He heard a ragged breath sizzle through his lips as he crept, cat-like, toward a window, rifle at ready, and she heard the safety click open. . .

"Belknap, eh?" he muttered, and in the tone was something of savage joy. "Belknap, after me. . ."

The rifle butt slipped to Gorbel's shoulder his cheek pressed the worn walnut stock.

And then a girl was leaping forward, screaming, dropping the knife she held, hurling herself upon him.

Her hand touched his sleeve as the gun roared. She all but knocked him from his feet. And as he swung her about, almost lifting her from her feet as he wrested the weapon from her frantic grasp, she lifted her voice again:

"Stay back, John! Stay back!" Clear and shrill, that voice, and she caught breath for another warning scream, but Gorbel's palm, hard over her mouth, shut it back.

He gathered her in his arms, held her close, ran with her the length of the room and threw her, sprawling into that dark, windowless chamber. He seized the door, dragged it shut on its sagging hinges, and slipped the heavy iron hook into its staple.

He staggered back to where he had dropped the gun, snatched it up and aimed through the shattered window.

Out there in the open sound of that shot, the whine of the wild bullet, stopped John Belknap in his tracks. He whipped Nat's pistol from his pocket, a foolish gesture and as he realized the futility of giving battle to a screened adversary he heard a girl's voice lifted.

Muffled, the sound was, but he caught the last words clearly. "Stay back!" some one had called and he thought the words were preceded by his own name!

Stay back, he had been warned! But why stay back? Shelter was in only one direction, straight on towards that cabin from which his life had been attempted, and he began to run. At any leap now his flesh might be rent. He took the only chance open to him and ran

The annual Children's day program rendered at the M. E. church Sunday evening was attended by a large assembly of parents and friends who listened and watched with amused interest to the varied recitals and poses of the children which included songs and welcomes, exercises in costume, concluding with a playlet entitled

"The Quiet Hour" which represented a family in the home enjoying an evening of devotional fellowship. The program was in charge of Mrs. Winnie Bartz, Dorothy Paddock and Lorna May Shinneman. The rostrum was beautiful with flowers and greenery, for which Mrs. Pearl Paddock and her helpers deserve entire credit. The glorious down pour of rain coming just at the close of the program afforded an hour of visitation before folks could hie to their cars and return home.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, June 7, at the S. D. B. church for Lawrence Coplen who passed away at his home south of town at 10 o'clock Monday morning, June 5, following months of suffering. The deceased had been confined to his bed for the past four years during which time Mrs. Coplen has taken constant care of him. For the past several weeks during her husband's critical illness Mrs. Coplen has had assistance. William Lawrence Coplen was born at Coshocton, Ohio, September 9, 1849, being past 83 years of age at the time of his death. An aunt, aged 93 years passed away a few weeks ago in her California home. On April 2, 1871, Lawrence Coplen was married to Ruth Ellen Boyer at Arbelia, Mo. While living at Arbelia their first child, a son, L. A. Ackley, was born. A son Aaron Bruce lived at Davis Creek, Bates F. of St. Paul, Joseph H. also of Davis Creek, Mrs. Peter Honeycutt of North Loup, and Chas. Leon of Hastings. Mr. and Mrs. Coplen came to Nebraska with their infant son in 1872, traveling in a covered wagon. They located on a claim just south of the present city of Hastings, being among the very first settlers of that community which was their home for fifteen years. From here they moved to a farm which Mr. Coplen purchased seven miles southwest of North Loup and had just established themselves in their new sod shanty when the blizzard of January 12, 1888 visited them. About fifteen years ago they moved to their present home just south of town. Besides the immediate family two sisters survive, Mrs. Rachel Powers of Goodland, Kas., and Mrs. Naomi McVey of Valentine, Neb. Mr. Coplen was a sports enthusiast in his younger days and retained his interest in such up to within two days of his death. He was a great lover of horses. He was an honest God fearing pioneer of the sturdy type. Following brief services at the home in charge of Hurley S. Warren, further services were held at the Baptist church and interment was in the North Loup cemetery.

At the annual meeting of school district No. 21 which was held at the school building Monday evening a levy of $6,500 for general school purposes for the coming year and a levy of $2,000 for a sinking fund for building purposes were made. These amounts are in excess of the levy for the coming year. The levy for general purposes last year was for only $5,000 but a motion to levy this amount for the coming year was voted down at the Monday evening meeting and the amount of $6,500 as asked by the board was granted.

The question of establishing a sinking fund for building purposes has been acted upon at every annual meeting of the district for the past several years but not until this year has this proposition carried and then only by one vote. There were 40 votes cast for and 39 against the motion to make the levy.

The expenses of running the school the past year totaled $17,323.28 and the budget for the coming year estimates the expenditures at $12,700.00, a saving of about $4,600 but on account of having about $7,000 in a restricted bank account and an estimated decline of $1,700 in tuition for the coming year it was deemed expedient to establish a levy which would enable the Arcadia school to maintain its present high rating.

Scale-Down In Debts Of Farmer Expected

Farmers in this county will be interested in the statement just received by James B. Ollis, secretary-treasurer of the Valley County National Farm Loan association.

Commissioner's loans are being made to reduce and refinance farmer's debts on a longer term basis, to supply working capital and to refinance foreclosed farms.

Loans are limited to a maximum of $5,000 each. These loans plus all prior mortgages or other evidences of indebtedness secured by the farm property may not exceed 75 per cent of the appraised value thereof.

During the first three years the loans are in effect, borrowers will not be required to make payments on the principal if they are not otherwise in default with respect to the conditions or covenants of their mortgages.

The commissioner's agent also points out that these are collateralized and not personal loans and that the financial condition of the applicant as well as his history must be considered, including, of course, the ability of the farmer to repay his loan.

The agent points out that for the convenience of the public the secretary-treasurer of the local national farm loan association has been appointed as correspondent and that farmers should find it convenient and satisfactory to make their applications to this correspondent rather than apply directly to the agent stationed in the Federal Land bank.

DR. RICH says:

Grand Island, Nebr., June 14.—Several patients who are being treated at the Sanitarium now for rectal fissure remind me to call your attention once more to this serious and painful trouble which inflicts its terrible distress upon both men and women alike.

Immediate relief and a permanent cure can be assured every case of rectal fissure that receives my treatment. No patients are more grateful for a cure than those suffering from rectal fissure. The first treatment brings relief. A most reasonable time affords a lifetime guaranteed cure.

The most pleasant surprise is the cost. Fees are lower than they have been in years. They will not remain so when times get better. Easy payment terms can be arranged if necessary. Don't gamble with your health. The best treatment is always the cheapest. Write to Dr. Rich, Rectal Specialist, Grand Island, Nebraska, enclosing this ad for any information you would like to have.

—Thursday Alvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, sprained his wrist severely while cranking an automobile. Dr. Lee Nay is caring for him.

—Two North Loup baseball pitchers, Steve Finch and Wayne Sheldon, are having trouble with their pitching arms this year and are making regular visits to Dr. Lee Nay to have him work the kinks out.

—Dr. Lee Nay performed a minor operation last week upon Billie Boyden, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Boyden of Greeley.

—A very beautiful wedding took place at St. Mary's Catholic church at Elyria Monday when Miss Anna Kaczka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kaczka, became the bride of James Sobon, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sobon of near Elyria. Father Murray of Burwell performed the ceremony.

The bride was becomingly attired in a white satin dress and a lone trailing veil with a close fitting lace cap and carried a bouquet of peonies, roses and ferns. Miss Verna Sobon, sister of the groom and Miss Emma Kapustka, cousin of the bride were bridesmaids. They were dressed in ankle length gowns of yellow crepe with white footwear and carried bouquets of peonies.

The groom appeared in a conventional blue suit and was attended by Carl Kaczka, brother of the bride and John Sobon, cousin of the groom, both wearing dark blue suits.

Little Lorene Boro, cousin of the bride, dressed in a white dress trimmed with yellow ruffles acted as flower girl.

A sumptuous wedding dinner was served at noon to about 25 families, the home being decorated in yellow and white.

A very beautiful wedding cake decorated with yellow with a miniature bride and groom in the center adorned the center of the table. It was made by the groom's sister, Miss Verna.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by the happy bride and groom who received hearty congratulations of their many friends and relatives. They will make their home on the groom's farm 2 1/2 miles north of Elyria.

In the evening a wedding dance was held at the Elyria hall where their friends thronged to wish them a future well filled with happiness and prosperity. Joe Puncchar and his orchestra furnished the music for the dance which was heartily enjoyed by a large crowd.

Popular Elyria Couple Wed Monday

—The bacon's in the fur room. Will you get it?" she asked. Cunning showed in his face. "You get it..." She took a knife from the table, a long thin-bladed knife; she picked a flashlight from her own pack, went quickly through the door of heavy planks...

Bacon hung there from a peeled log that lay across rafters, but it was not at bacon that the girl looked. She gauged the length of a stout stick. Eight feet, probably; four inches through at its smallest end; stout, slow-growing cedar.

The fur room itself was the width of the cabin but barely six feet in depth. The far wall like the others, was of tamarack logs. She dropped the knife, reached upward, rolled the peeled cedar across the rafters until one end was clear, pulled on it, brought it sliding down. Gorbel had turned to look. "Here! he cried. "Here, you..." She shoved the far end against the bottom of the wall, she hugged the other in her arms and swung it in a brief arc, crying out as she set it with a thud against the plank of the closed door, throwing her weight on it.

"You bring the lamp," he said. Without response she moved to obey, and he watched her walk to the table, lift the lamp in both hands. He stood aside, shoving the door open, and she passed within.

A single pack-sack was hanging from a rafter and he took it down. Ellen started to move into the outer room.

"Wait!" he said, and with a queer chuckle went first. "Now you may come," he remarked when he crossed the threshold. "That hook... it'd hold a person in there a long time."

He had seen the opportunity as Ellen had seen it. Upset as he was, Paul Gorbel's mind still pursued its function of guarding his own interests!

He selected rifle ammunition, muttering, now and again making a sound that was hybrid between sob and chuckle. He gathered his plunder in a pile on the floor and reached for the pack sack. A dangling strap caught his eye and he cursed savagely.

"Rifets!" he demanded. "Where does Wolf keep 'em?"

"I'll look..."

"Look then!"

She began to look, searching in those places where she was certain rivets would not be kept, using up minutes, counting even seconds so spent as precious. Wolf might come some wayfarer might come, but daylight would surely come. A girl can take strength from daylight, can command resources which darkness makes unavailable. Gorbel looked up at the clock and cursed.

"No time to fool!" he snarled. "Got to be going, you and I!"

His look chilled her and she turned her face away, making motions towards searching in the table drawer... Time! She needed time!

"You must eat!" Ellen said, hot with inspiration. "You can't take the trail on just coffee, Paul."

The girl made a great clatter with utensils.

Are You Sure . . . Of Your Butcher?

One absolute necessity in the handling of food products, especially in summer, is cleanliness. Are you sure of your butcher? Do you know that the meat he sells is properly handled in a modern, sanitary slaughter house, processed in cleanly surroundings, refrigerated until sold? If you can't be absolutely sure, then it's time to change meat markets.

Patrons of this market CAN BE and ARE sure on these important counts. They know that no market, anywhere, is more careful as to cleanliness and sanitation than is our market. Our patrons have a standing invitation to satisfy themselves, by inspection, that the work rooms and refrigerators of our market are all we claim them to be.

Add to this the fact that we sell only quality meats and that our prices are always low, and you have the reason why we sell more meat than any market in Valley county.

HOLIDAY HEAD SAYS TREE ARMY TAUGHT BAYONET

 contempt of court, was found guilty and was fined $250 and costs. This sentence has been appealed to the Supreme court but Mr. Lux also faces charges of inciting a riot at Wilber, which case will be tried soon. Funds for his defense were collected at the meeting here Sunday. Lux feels very bitter toward Saline county officials and also toward Attorney General Good, who he charges with being responsible for his arrest at Wilber. Several times during his speech he charged that Good and the Saline county judge and District Judge Proudfit are "minions of Wall street." He also made a sensational charge against Nebraska highway authorities when he said that there is $10,000 graft in every mile of paved highway built in this state. He urged farmers not to pay their taxes as a means of shutting off graft. "If we don't give it to 'em they can't get it," he shouted. Anstrone, who spoke first, and Taylor, who followed Lux, made more moderate addresses, the first man giving a history of the Farm Holiday organization and telling about relief conferences held at Washington and in the several states. Mr. Taylor, a former state senator in Montana, urged farmers to organize and protect their homes but his talk was not nearly so violent as was that given by Lux.

The crowd Sunday was not as large as local Holiday heads had expected but Secretary Ernest S. Coats expresses himself as being very well pleased with the attendance. Several new members signed up Sunday, he says. Mr. Coats believes that the Holiday organization will be needed more than ever when the flood of foreclosures comes this fall and he claims that 10,000 farmers in Nebraska today are on their own farms as a result of Holiday action in stopping evictions and foreclosures.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Sun-tanning is a popular and healthful diversion for people during summer. In winter many people get their sunshine vitamin D by taking cod liver oil. No one likes this disagreeable compound. The only possible exception is the small child who does not know any better. As an alternative, some dairymen now place on the market a product called vitamin D milk. This new milk is not "the bunk". Its vitamin content may be satisfactorily increased by three different processes. The commonest way is the yeast method, patented and discovered by Harry Steenback. In this process, cows are fed on yeast, which was spread thinly over a pan and exposed to ultra-violet light. The yeast is fed at the rate of one-third pound per animal. It increases the milk's anti-rachitic vitamin D content ten times. A quart of such milk equals the vitamin D in three teaspoonfuls of cod liver oil. It tastes like ordinary milk. The second way of improving milk vitamins is by adding a cod liver oil concentrate, called bitex. This process is not quite as satisfactory because it may affect the taste of the milk. A third method of adding vitamin D is by irradiating the milk itself. A thin stream of the liquid is exposed to an ultra-violet light. The milk's taste may be affected by this process. Irradiating goats with ultra-violet rays improved the vitamin D content of their milk. The practice did not work with dairy cows, as their skin is too thick. Exposure of cows to sunshine likewise has no effect on the milk's vitamin content. Vitaminized milk is receiving a great welcome from a certain group that has longed for just such a product. It is disregarded by another group who feel that we should use things as they are, rather than to put something else in.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Tells of Black Hills Trip.
 To the Editor of the Quiz:
 Though central Nebraska people live less than 400 miles from the Black Hills, one of the most scenic sections of the world, not many of us have taken the pains to see them. I had occasion to go to Fall River county last week to inspect a piece of land and so wish to tell readers of the Quiz something of what I learned on the trip. Harold Haskell and I set out early last Thursday morning for Wayside, Nebr., which is near my land, passing through Alliance and Chadron. I called on George Snow of the Chadron Journal who told me to see Mr. F. A. Baird, who would probably show me the land. I learned that he graduated from Northwestern University in the class of '76, which is the year that I entered that institution as a prep student. I learned from him also many things about the Black Hills region. The soil, a clay loam, produces abundant native grasses, alfalfa, spring wheat, corn, oats, potatoes and other vegetables—if it rains. All these crops are looking fine now. But two flies are in the ointment—insufficient rainfall and the well water is generally alkaline and not fit for human use, though all right for livestock. The latter difficulty is overcome by storing snow water and rainfall in cisterns. In this way abundant water for house use is obtained. But occasionally a farmer hits a vein of pure water. Water for livestock is obtained by sinking shallow wells, but a more common practice is to dam up a ravine and hold the surface water. Many farmers stock these ponds with fish, which the government will do for you, but if your pond is thus stocked it is recorded as open to the use of the public for fishing purposes. Well, having inspected the land and having driven more than 300 miles I decided to call it a day. Next morning we set out for Hot Springs, county seat of Fall River county, to record my deed, pay last year's taxes, get an abstract, look up land values, etc. I found that the county owns many thousand acres of unimproved land, taken in for the taxes and the county board has set a fixed price of $1 per acre and a rental value of 7 cents per acre. So if you have $160 you can own a fine quarter of land there or, if you prefer, you can rent a like amount for $11.20 per year, which is about one-half the taxes on such land. So it is better to rent than own—maybe. But you will surely have to pay more for the land in the near future after the county has had wrought to millions of land owners by the Wilson farm bureau and the present crazy experiments of one Franklin D. Roosevelt. I rented my land to Ben Harrison, the only cattleman of that section who has survived the wreck. He is one of the most substantial and respected citizens of the state, he came to that section many years ago as a cowboy, and is reputed to have several notches on his gun. A happy incident occurred on the way home. Eighteen miles south of Chadron my car stopped, in spite of the efforts of my chauffeur, Harold, so I decided to go back to Chadron for help. A passing car took me aboard and delivered me to "the best mechanic in town," who the day's labors being done, was just starting out with his wife and two fine sons for a ride. Sure, he could just as well drive my way as any. On the way, when he learned that I was from Valley county, he exclaimed: "Oh, I know you and I owe you for a dinner." He told the story. Years ago, when he was a North Loup lad, he had invited him to eat dinner with me some day, which he promised to do. A few weeks later he called at my office and announced that he was ready for that dinner. We enjoyed our guest very much and he had a good time riding Winifreds bike all the afternoon. He proved to be Lloyd McCune and his wife is a daughter of the late Andrew G. Abney, one of the early breeders of registered cattle of this county. Mr. McCune found the trouble with our car, brought the machine back to Chadron, repaired it in spite of the late hour and gave us a bed for the balance of the night. until blood roared in his ears, and as he dropped forward into the snow another rifle shot crashed again, the missile clipping a bare birch twig from its branch in line with where his head had been. Then, as his pulses slowed, he made out an odd, indistinguishable sound coming from the cabin. It rose and fell, stopped; began again. Then another, a man's voice, cursing sharply. . . . And a shot! On that the girl in the cabin screamed again. His name. "John!" she called. "John Belknap! Are you hurt?" He stiffened, at the muffled sound raised his head in an ineffectual effort to see through the thick growth before him. "Not hurt!" he cried. "Not hurt!" The rifle crashed. A bullet tore through the screen of boughs to his right. Then silence once more. . . . A woman, a woman who knew him, had given warning. . . . What woman? "Ellen?" he shouted. Her answer came from the close confines of the fur room: "John. . . . John, are you all right?" "Right!" he yelled, raising himself a bit so his voice would carry better. "Is it you, Ellen? Where are you?" Again the rifle, shooting savagely, aimlessly now. Six times, shot after shot, until echoes came ringing back. —Record books for stallion owners, 50c at the Quiz office.

 As the first feature of the convention here Sunday services were conducted at the Ord high school auditorium in the morning, the local pastor, Rev. Wm. Bahr, delivering the address. At 1:30 p. m. a business meeting was held and Rev. O. F. W. Pittack, of Lexington, was re-elected zone chairman and Prof. Alvin Brandthorpe of Kearney was re-elected secretary. At the close of the business meeting the delegates adjourned to Bussell park where the various leagues competed in games and contests. St. John's league of Ord amassed the most points and was awarded a silver cup. The American Legion hall was the scene of the next event, where the Ladies Aid of St. John's Lutheran church served dinner to all the delegates. In the evening another session was held at the high school auditorium and an oratorical contest was the first feature. Six young people competed and Elmer Moeller, of Grand Island, won first place. Second place went to Eunice Boshammer, of Amherst, and third to Arnold Quimley, of Buffalo. All were awarded pins. The first place winner is entitled to compete in the oratorical contest to be held in connection with the state convention at Seward in August. Following the oratorical contest a pantomime and a one-act play were ably given by the Ord league. At different times during the evening all delegates joined in community singing. Other features of the evening program were singing by Naomi Fuss, Ella Lange and Dorothy Fuss and a reading by Lois Bremer. Officers of St. John's Walther league of Ord, who planned the program for the convention and were responsible in great measure for making it the real success that it was, are Naomi Fuss, president; Ella Lange, secretary; George Bremer, treasurer; Walter Linke, vice president; Dorothy Fuss, hospice secretary. The next annual convention of Zone 11 will be held at Amherst in June of 1934.

BOWERS, TOLEN ATTEND REUNION OF ORD ROTARY

Six Past Presidents Honored At Dinner Monday Eve; Bowers Makes Inspiring Talk.

Stressing the theory that the natural and physical sciences have progressed too greatly and must now mark time until the human sciences catch up and thus bring about world happiness and prosperity, Charles A. Bowers of Lincoln made an inspiring talk at the Ord Rotary club's reunion dinner Monday evening. Mr. Bowers is secretary of the Nebraska Teachers' association and is a past president of the Ord Rotary club. Other past presidents seated with Mr. Bowers at the speakers' table included Irl D. Tolen, of Lincoln, now deputy secretary of state, Clarence M. Davis, Dr. George R. Gard, H. B. VanDecar and C. C. Dale.

The meeting was planned to honor men who have been members of the Rotary club in the past but have dropped out for various reasons. Aside from the past presidents only one former member was able to be present, Marlon Crosby. President Orville H. Sowl read a brief letter from another, Argyle Tiplin, now of Winchester, Kas., and told the present whereabouts of other former Rotarians. He paid a tender tribute to Wm. Nieuwand, W. E. Wolters and Wm. Detweiler, Rotarians who have passed away.

After opening the program President Sowl turned the meeting over to Mr. Davis, who was the first president of the Ord club. Mr. Davis introduced the other past presidents, all of whom spoke briefly. Dr. Gard, who was song leader of the club during the first years of its existence, told about early efforts in the singing line and mentioned Marlan Carter, Iver Hautala, Edythe Mason and Thelma Partridge as accompanists to whom gratitude is due. Mr. VanDecar gave a brief talk on fellowship. Mr. Dale told a few stories in his inimitable style. Mr. Tolen spoke briefly and then Mr. Bowers was introduced, making the principal speech of the evening.

The former Ord school superintendent has been a member of three Rotary clubs—Ord, Holdrege and Lincoln—and his talk was inspirational to Rotarians. He regards the future with optimism and expressed his faith that the United States will work out of its present economic troubles. Other short talks were made by Jos. P. Barta and George Parkins, long time secretary and treasurer of the club, by Ed F. Beranek, charter member who has not missed a meeting in the 7 1/2 years of the club's existence, and by Mr. Crosby, who told how happy he was to meet with the club again. President-elect J. A. Kovanda was then introduced but spoke only a few words. The meeting was one of the most enjoyable ever held by the Ord club.

Two Ord Men Operated.

Two popular Ord men, Wm. Heuck, manager of the Farmers Grain and Supply company and Reginald Beeghly, office assistant of Dr. Lee Nay, are in Hillcrest hospital recovering from appendicitis operations performed late last week. Mr. Heuck was taken ill suddenly Wednesday night and Thursday morning was operated on by Drs. Weekes and Barta. Young Beeghly was stricken Friday afternoon and was operated on Saturday by Drs. Weekes and Nay. Both men are recovering rapidly.

Arcadia Mail Carrier President of District

Arcadia, June 20.—(Special)—A meeting of the Loup valley district of Nebraska Rural Letter Carriers association was held at the Community park here Thursday afternoon and evening. About twenty-six attended, including the state president, J. M. Fuller, of Gresham, and the state president of the Ladies Auxiliary, Mrs. A. M. Atkinson, of Loreto. A 6:30 dinner was served, after which a business meeting was held to elect officers and also to organize a Ladies Auxiliary for this district. The following were elected officers of the district Rural Letter Carriers association: W. G. Beaver, Arcadia, president; A. J. Nelson, Arcadia, vice-president; C. J. Goodrich, North Loup, secretary-treasurer. The latter has held this office for five years. Officers chosen for the Ladies Auxiliary were: Mrs. C. J. Goodrich, North Loup, president; Mrs. A. J. Nelson, Arcadia, vice-president; Mrs. Lew M. Williams, Loup City, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Lillie Metz, Litchfield, news reporter. Postmistress Lorena W. Doe and Mr. Doe of Arcadia were among the guests. It was decided to hold a meeting of the association and auxiliary once each month.

Greeley Wallops Ord Team.

The Ord entry in the Loup valley baseball league lost to Greeley on the Ord grounds Sunday, thus continuing a long losing streak. St. Paul is scheduled to play in Ord this coming Sunday. North Loup won again last week and strengthened its hold on the top rung of the league ladder.

Twister Wrecks Barn At Ray Bryan Farm

A miniature twister that appeared out of a clear sky and disappeared just as fast as it came, wrecked a two-story chicken house on the farm of Ray Bryan two miles northwest of North Loup about 3 p. m. Saturday. The building was lifted from its foundations, carried over the barn and dashed to the ground midway between barn and house, and was wrecked completely. Although several other buildings were in the path of the tornado no other damage was reported.

Mrs. Ray Bryan had been in the chicken house and stepped out the door just as the building was lifted into the air. She was not hurt.

On Los Angeles Council.

Word comes from Los Angeles, Calif., that Ed Thrasher was re-elected to the county council there. He was elected two years ago and evidently his administration has been satisfactory. Mr. Thrasher is a former Loup City man and has relatives in the North Loup community.

400 TELEPHONES INSTALLED HINTS BUSINESS PICK-UP

Nebr. Continental Announces Business Recovery Campaign As Depression Ends.

Claiming that since April 1 more than 400 telephones have been installed in the territory it serves, the Nebraska Continental Telephone Company, which owns the Ord exchange, this week announces the opening of a "business recovery" campaign. Every effort will be made and special inducements provided to get more telephones installed, the company says.

Throughout the fourteen Nebraska counties that comprise the company's territory a pick-up in business is being noticed, says W. W. Johnson, district manager of the Nebraska Continental. The number of telephones installed ranges from 8 in Wilsonville to a score or more in other towns. Kearney has installed 66 telephones. Ord 20, Orleans 17 and Hildreth 10.

"This gain in telephones is not spectacular," reports District Manager Johnson, "but rather it indicates restored confidence and improved business conditions."

"During the past year many families in this area have had their telephone service discontinued in an attempt to reduce expenses," he says. "However, most of these people have found that such an action has robbed their homes of a service for which there is no substitute and the worth of which cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

"We are going to do our part in bringing back better times by making certain that everyone in this community who wants a telephone has an opportunity to order it now," Manager Johnson says.

Ceska Beseda Club Program Is Enjoyed

A large crowd attended the program and dance given at the Bohemian hall Thursday evening by the Ceska Beseda club and the evening was much enjoyed. The program was opened by Emanuel Lukesh, who welcomed the audience. Then came piano solos by Evelyn and Wilma Kluna, a recitation by little Robert Volf and others by Mildred Moudry, Rosie Klupal and Henry Benda. Brief playlets were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Anton Uher, Mrs. Frank Benda and Helen Bartunek, Mrs. Jim Sedlacek and Miss Skoll, and Mrs. Jos. F. Lukesh and Mrs. Alfred Bartunek. Mr. Emil Skoll gave a reading, which was followed by another playlet by Wm. Skala and Miss Georgie Vascek. Vocal music by Mr. and Mrs. Jos. F. Lukesh with piano accompaniment by Miss Clara Skala was enjoyed, as were two numbers by Richard and Emanuel Lukesh, a number by the Skoll sisters and another by Mrs. L. Mazac. The program ended with an instrumental and vocal selection by Richard and Emanuel Lukesh, Jim Vascek, J. F. Lukesh and John Horn. Dancing to music by the Center Star orchestra was enjoyed after the program.

Judging School Will Be Held At Arcadia

A 4-H club judging school for Valley and Custer county club members will be held at Arcadia on Friday June 30. There will be classes of clothing, baked foods and canning for the girls, and livestock and crops judging for the boys. All members should assemble at the Arcadia high school at 9:00 a. m. and all classes except livestock will be judged there. Livestock classes will be judged on farms in the vicinity. Specialists from the college of agriculture work, and will explain the placing of classes after they have been judged. Every club member in Valley county should plan to attend this judging school.

MIDDLE LOUP IS OUT OF PICTURE, COCHRAN STATES

Formal Cancellation of Permit On File Monday; District May Seek Court Action.

From Lincoln Monday came word that a formal cancellation of the Middle Loup Public Power and Irrigation district's certificate was on file in the office of the secretary of state, this action climaxing a two weeks' series of battles that Middle Loup directors have had with Governor Charles W. Bryan and State Engineer Roy Cochran.

When plans for the Middle Loup project were first filed in Lincoln they were approved as to feasibility and a certificate entitling them to seek Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds was issued by Bryan and Cochran.

Then came word, through the daily papers, that this permit had been withdrawn. Governor Bryan, it was claimed, had received information showing that the Middle Loup district had by resolution agreed to give 2 per cent of whatever R. F. C. funds are granted them to D. E. W. Jones, of Omaha, who had been elected supervising engineer of the project, and another 2 per cent of the loan to C. A. Sorensen, the district's attorney.

Such actions were contrary to regulations previously set forth by Governor Bryan, the latter claimed, and he moved quickly to cancel the certificate already issued. It was intimated that if the district's directors would rescind their agreements with Jones and Sorensen that the certificate would be reinstated.

Middle Loup directors did their best to comply with the governor's demands, it is claimed. Three times they met and each time passed resolutions cancelling their percentage agreements with Jones and Sorensen. But each time, according to State Engineer Cochran's statements as given to the daily newspapers, an objectionable clause was included in the new resolutions passed.

The state engineer said Monday that nothing was then pending in his department relative to the Middle Loup project, all drawings and plans having been withdrawn.

Governor Bryan has stated that he is willing to approve the Middle Loup district as soon as he is satisfied that no money will be paid for political influence. Directors of the district have said that they are anxious to satisfy the governor on that point but "we don't know what he wants to see the project go through, it is likely that all difficulties will be ironed out soon."

It has also been stated that Attorney Sorensen is in Washington seeking a loan for the Middle Loup project, which indicates that the district is planning to go ahead without waiting for the governor's approval. It has been intimated that mandamus action might be brought in the courts to force Bryan and Cochran to approve the project, since their disapproval was not based on the project's feasibility and this is the only point upon which they are legally entitled to disapprove under the provisions of Senate File 310.

Feeling against both Bryan and Cochran for the high handed way in which they have disapproved the project is said to be high in Arcadia and other Middle Loup territory.

Mob Violence Feared As Judge B. A. Rose Sends Man to Jail

Mob violence was feared by Gardfield county authorities last week when Frank Janicek, of Erina, was brought into county court at Burwell and charged with beating and otherwise injuring his 17-year-old sister-in-law. More than 2,000 people gathered on the court house lawn and there were cries of "give him all the law will allow" as authorities prepared to try Janicek.

For nearly an hour officials hesitated to bring Janicek from the county jail to the court house but finally Sheriff A. A. Waters cleared a passage through the crowd and escorted Janicek to the judge's office. There were hisses but Janicek was not harmed.

In county court he pleaded guilty and Judge Ben Rose gave him a maximum sentence of ninety days in the county jail, the first ten days to be on a diet of bread and water. The crowd, satisfied with the severity of this sentence dispersed peaceably.

Injured In Accident.

North Loup, June 20.—(Special)—Roy Cox and Sidney Wilson, of this village, figured in a near tragic accident last Thursday morning while enroute to Arcadia, where they were going to do pump and well work on Nebraska Securities company farms. About three miles from Arcadia the truck driven by Mr. Cox turned over while going down a newly graveled hill. Roy was pinned beneath the truck, suffering severe cuts and gashes about his face and head. Sidney was thrown clear of the truck and was only slightly hurt. The cab of the truck was demolished.

Ord Contract Club Beats Grand Island Group Sunday

Members of the Ord Contract bridge club were guests of O. A. Abbott, Jr., at the Riverside Country Club in Grand Island Sunday afternoon, the diversion being a match game of progressive duplicate contract bridge between the eight Ord couple and a similar number of Grand Island players. The Ord club was victorious by a margin of 6,951 points.

Those making the trip from Ord were Judge E. P. Clements, Miss Lena Clements, Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Barta, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clements, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vogeltanz, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Leggett, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Morlensen, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McBeth and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norton.

A delicious buffet supper served at the club formed a fitting conclusion to a delightful afternoon. The Ord club is planning to invite Mr. Abbott and his friends to Ord for a return match at some time in the near future.

REBEKAH LODGE HOLDS DISTRICT MEETING FRIDAY

Burwell Scene of Annual Session And North Loup Woman Will Head District in 1934.

Members of the Rebekah lodge from Ord, Ericson, Wolbach, North Loup and Burwell met at the I. O. O. F. hall in Burwell last Friday for the annual convention of District 37, meetings being held both afternoon and evening. The district president, Mrs. Evelyn Olcott, presided and the state president, Mrs. Anna Ellifritz, attended.

After holding the usual business session and after delegates had been welcomed to Burwell, a contest in putting on the secret work was held. The Burwell team won for the third successive year and thus become permanent possessors of the banner given for proficiency in this work. The banner was presented by President Ellifritz. Ord was second in this contest.

A memorial drill was put on by the North Loup team and it was revealed that only two Rebekahs have passed away during the last year, one from Burwell and one from Wolbach. Officers for the coming year were then elected and an interesting school of instruction held by the state president.

At six o'clock dinner was served in the basement of the Methodist church and at 8 o'clock delegates again convened in the I. O. O. F. hall. A reading by an Ericson member was much enjoyed, after which the initiatory degree was put on by the Ord lodge. The new officers were then seated, Mrs. Della Inbody of North Loup being the new president. Clara Jensen of Ericson vice president, Ella Frazer of North Loup secretary and Valasta Holy of Burwell treasurer. North Loup extended an invitation to meet in that village next year, which was accepted.

After adjournment was taken, delegates again went to the basement of the Methodist church where ice cream and cake were served. The convention was one of the most enjoyable ever held in District 37.

In Camp at Pibel.

Monday morning Rev. L. M. Real, Miss Eva Bartusiak and Mrs. Judd Tedro drove to Pibel lake to spend a few days with a group of the Presbyterian young people who are in camp there. Others to go were the Misses Maxine Johnson, Betty Lou Sweet, Beulah McGinnis and Eleanor Keep, and Roland Tedro, Jack Catlin and Kenneth McGinnis.

Miss Myra Hiner Weds Scotia Man

At the Henry Hiner home in Ord last Wednesday evening Miss Myra Hiner, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiner, became the bride of Robert Bevier, only son of S. C. Bevier of Scotia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. M. Real.

The bride's attendant was her sister, Miss Merna, and the groom was attended by Francis Duff, of Scotia. After the ceremony a lunch of ice cream and cake was served, the wedding cake being baked by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. L. L. Watson.

The young bride was graduated from Ord high school this spring. Immediately after the ceremony she left with her husband on a trip to Lincoln after which the newlyweds will be at home on the Bevier farm southwest of Scotia.

Special Telephone Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the officers of the various country phone lines south and west of Ord at the Vinton school house on Tuesday, June 27, at 8:00 p. m. It is desired that there be a large attendance of these officers. 18-11 A. W. Cornell, Sec-Treas.

GEORGE RUSSELL SUFFERS STROKE, DIES AT BURWELL

Former Ord Man Was Ill 3 Weeks Before Death Thursday; Was Buried Sunday.

George H. Russell, son of William Overton and Susan Tipton Russell was born on Jan. 10, 1854 near Liberty in Clay county, Mo.

When he was thirteen months old his father, William Russell, died and his mother with her two small children moved to Fillmore, Mo., where they resided until he was nineteen, when they moved to Salem, Nebr.

When fourteen years of age he assumed the responsibility as head of the family and provided a home for his mother and sister until the death of his mother in 1903. He was married to Ruth S. Biggerstaff on January 1, 1884 at Plattsburg, Mo. To this union two daughters, Mrs. Beulah Ramel of Lincoln and Mrs. Mary Koupal of Ord were born.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell made Salem their home for thirty-six years during which time he was engaged in the mercantile business. Failing health caused him to leave the mercantile business so that he might spend more time in the out-of-doors. He bought a ranch in Rock county, Nebraska and in 1909 he with his family came to Ord which was their home until 1918 when Mr. Russell disposed of his ranch and he and his wife moved to Lincoln. Here they resided until 1925 when they came to Burwell which was his home at the time of his death which occurred in Ord on Thursday, June 15, 1933 following a paralytic stroke three weeks previous. He was 79 years, 5 months and 5 days old.

His sister, Mrs. Sarah E. Sloan, passed away in Ord in 1927.

He leaves his wife, two daughters, two grandchildren, George Russell Ramel and Ruth Koupal, several distant relatives and many friends.

Short funeral services were held at Sowl's chapel in Ord at 10 a. m. Saturday. Rev. W. McCarthy officiating, after which the body was taken to Lincoln and a brief service held in the chapel at Memorial Park with Rev. Ray E. Hunt, an old friend of the family officiating and burial made in that cemetery. Many lifelong friends both from Salem and Lincoln were present to pay tribute to his memory.

He was a kind and loving husband and father, a man of warm, enduring friendships, who delighted to be of service to those around him and one who left the world a little better for his having lived therein.

LONG DROUTH IS BROKEN AS RAIN FALLS TUESDAY

Only Half Inch in Ord But North Loup Gets Soaker; More Rain in Prospect.

A half inch rain, the first moisture that has fallen here in two weeks, broke the drouth Tuesday evening and with more rain in prospect for last night or today Valley county's chances for a good corn crop look considerably better. Small grains have been greatly damaged by the long dry spell but corn is unharmed.

The official reading on the Tuesday night rain in Ord was .44 of an inch but rural communities nearby report more than that and a soaker of 1.09 inches fell at North Loup. Elyria had only an eighth of an inch, Davis Creek got none at all and other neighborhoods report from a fourth to a half inch, indicating that the storm was spotty. A few miles below North Loup no rain fell at all but St. Paul and Grand Island got a good rain.

Temperatures have been in the high 90's all week and yesterday was no exception, the rainfall of the night before merely increasing the sultriness of the atmosphere and making the heat more unbearable. Cooler weather is predicted for today.

Cloud Smith Program Was Well Attended

The Ord Theater was crowded last Friday evening when Cloud Smith, famous reader and character impersonator, appeared under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce as a supplement to the theater's regular film program. The public was admitted for the low admission charge of 10c and several hundred people took advantage of the chance to hear Mr. Smith give the play "Davy Crockett" in which he impersonated six characters. The program was much enjoyed by everybody attending.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Molzen returned Thursday after a few days stay in Lincoln.

Holiday Ass'n Will Hold State Meeting

The Farmers' Holiday association of Nebraska, Madison county plan, will hold a state convention June 29 and 30 and July 1 at Loup City. It was announced last week by Ernest S. Coats, secretary of the Valley county association. State officers will be elected and a program for the coming year will be formulated.

Forty delegates will be named by President Arthur Mensing, Secretary Coats and Treasurer Frank Carkoski to represent Valley county at the convention. All other Valley county members are welcome to attend and to express their opinions but only registered delegates will be entitled to a vote.

The convention will be held at the Sherman county fair grounds. Delegates are asked to bring their own blankets but a place for them to sleep will be provided without charge. Arrangements are being made to serve meals at nominal prices on the grounds or delegates may camp out and do their own cooking. An attendance of several hundred is expected.

LETTER RATE 2c JULY 1; POSTAL WAGES ARE CUT

Postmaster General Signs Order Restoring Old Postal Rate; Ord Employees Affected.

Effective July 1, it will cost only 2c to mail a letter to any destination in the United States, as the result of an order signed Monday by Postmaster General James A. Farley under authority given him by a recent act of Congress. For the past year it has cost 3c to mail a letter but postal receipts slumped so greatly as a result of the increase that postal authorities decided to reduce rates to the old level and thus bring about increased mailing.

Beginning also on July 1, all postoffice employees will have their salaries reduced by having to take nine-day furloughs without pay during the three months immediately following. This move was designed to save $9,500,000 and bring the postoffice department's budget into balance by September 30.

The department's order, issued Monday, says that all postoffice employees will be called on to share in the cut in one form or another. Rural carriers who cannot be furloughed are to have their equipment maintenance reduced instead for the three months period from 4 cents a mile a day to 1.17 cents a mile.

All Ord postal employees are affected by the new salary cut. Postmaster Edwin Clements said Tuesday. As the result of economy moves made last summer employees were already drawing 15 per cent less salary than before and the new cut will decrease present salaries considerably. Postmaster Clements and all Ord employees will take nine-day furloughs without pay during the next three months, it is stated. Rural carriers will not take the furloughs but the cut in their mileage allowance will cost them approximately $37.50 per month each. Whether the new salary reductions will be continued after September 30 depends upon whether postoffice receipts increase. Postmaster-General Farley has announced.

Out-of-Town Couple Weds.

The fame of Judge John L. Andersen as a "marrying judge" evidently is spreading for several times in recent weeks he has been called on to marry couples from a considerable distance. Last Thursday he united in marriage Miss Gladys G. Harris of Burwell to Ivan E. Harlan, of Bassett.

Greeley Man Wins Scotia Golf Meet

L. E. Harris, of Greeley, won the championship flight in the invitation golf tourney held by the Scotia-North Loup club Sunday. John Davis, of North Loup, was runner-up and Glen Auble, of Ord, won the consolation. Several other players competed and Alfred Weigardt won honors in the second flight. Mike Kosmata was runner-up in the third flight. Other Ordites who played included Mark Tolen, John Misko, Gould Flagg, Forrest Johnson, Ed Holub and Sylvester Carkoski.

Raymond Byington Married.

On Saturday, June 3, at St. Paul's Evangelical church in Lincoln, Miss Edna M. Waits of Lincoln became the bride of Raymond O. Byington, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Byington. Rev. F. L. Rodenbeck read the service and the couple were attended by Mrs. Edith Ladbury, sister of the groom and Everett Waits, brother of the bride. On June 5 Raymond was graduated from the University of Nebraska, where he was a member of Delta Sigma Pi social fraternity and Gamma Lambda music fraternity and was also a lieutenant in the R. O. T. C. He and his wife will make their home in Lincoln where Raymond is employed by the Western Union.

STATE APPROVAL FOR IRRIGATION EXPECTED SOON

State Expected to Act This Week On Local Project; May Get Loan Without Trip East.

That money to carry out the North Loup power and irrigation project may be secured without the necessity of a trip to Washington was welcome news received yesterday by Bert M. Hardenbrook in a letter from John W. Towle, who heads the organization formed to co-operate with President Roosevelt in his industrial recovery program inasmuch as it applies to Nebraska. Mr. Towle is now in Washington keeping in touch with events.

Loans for projects such as this are almost definitely out of the hands of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the letter indicated, and instead must be secured under the provisions of the Industrial Recovery Act. Under the terms of this act $70,000,000 will be available for public works in Nebraska. The Sutherland, Middle Loup and Columbus projects also may get loans from this fund instead of from the R. F. C.

General Hugh Johnson, of Dayton, O., has been named administrator of the government's $3,300,000,000 public works program and will name deputy administrators in each state, advice from Washington indicates. The administrator for Nebraska may be an army engineer or may be a civilian; in either event, he will be authorized to loan money on projects such as is contemplated in this valley.

Pending appointment of a state administrator for Nebraska, the exact procedure that must be gone through in securing a loan is so uncertain that local officials of the power and irrigation district are marking time for the present.

Governor Chas. W. Bryan has not yet approved the North Loup district but is expected to do so this week. At first approval was held up by Bryan and State Engineer Cochran until R. H. Willis, chief of the state's irrigation division, could inspect the plans of the local project insofar as they pertain to irrigation. Mr. Willis has now inspected the plans and told Mr. Hardenbrook in a telephonic conversation Monday that he would approve them. He expected to mail the approved plans to Lincoln yesterday, Mr. Willis said.

Mr. Hardenbrook left for Lincoln Wednesday afternoon taking with him the local district's completed applications for power and water rights. They will be filed with State Engineer Cochran today. These applications are thought to be the last legal technicalities that had to be cared for to assure state approval of the project.

Officers of the North Loup district feel even more confident of securing a loan under the public works act than they felt about getting an R. F. C. loan. This act is much more lenient in its provisions, they point out, and if granted the loan will be easier to repay as the federal government makes an outright grant of 30 per cent of the money loaned. Developments are expected to come rapidly as soon as a public works administrator for Nebraska is named, which will be some time this week.

Stole Pennies From Baby's Bank, Arrested

Charles Wells, 21-year-old Arcadia youth, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of stealing between $9 and $10 in pennies and silver from a fruit jar in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Zera Sell, Arcadia, the jar being the repository of money that the Sells were saving for their children. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sell were away from home and the doors were not locked when Wells walked into the kitchen and stole the money. The theft was soon discovered and young Wells was arrested when he was seen changing large numbers of pennies into silver at various Arcadia stores. He is alleged to have admitted his guilt and today charges of either larceny or burglary will be filed against him by County Attorney Mann. The young man served a term at the state industrial school in Kearney a few years ago, being sent there for an offense committed in Sherman county.

Butcher at Food Center.

Wm. Sheehan, of Grand Island, is a new employe at the Ord Food Center store. Mr. Sheehan is an experienced butcher and comes to take charge of the Food Center's meat department. A full line of fresh meats will be carried in future, Manager Joe Puncoskar states.

Collected $51 for Home.

Mrs. Lydia Fafeta, who was chairman of the drive for funds for Father Flanagan's home Saturday, announces that $51.75 was collected and has been forwarded to the boys' home. She wishes to thank all who assisted in the drive and all who donated funds.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SAM M'KELVIE, PUBLISHER OF THE NEBRASKA FARMER.

A Woman's Intuition.
In a recent issue of the Nebraska Farmer, a Nebraska farm woman said, "We have not joined nor do we believe in the holiday organization. It is our opinion that many good farmers have joined it in good faith, but we believe the leaders higher up are reds straight from Russia."

"Just where this woman got her information we do not know. Probably it was intuition. In any case, she was getting close to the truth. Some of the leaders in a disturbance that occurred in Saline county, Nebraska, were possessed of membership cards in communist organizations when they were apprehended by county officials. Same was true of the recent disgraceful occurrences in Iowa. There is a good deal of other information to indicate that the red band of foreign organizations is playing its part in inciting farmers to violence."

Dear Mr. McKelvie:

Well, Sam, you and I were boys together here in Nebraska. I have known you for years and I always admired your courage, although as governor of Nebraska and as private citizen and member of the Farm Board I thought you were wrong most of the time, and that you were working for other interests than those of the farmers of Nebraska. But I am surprised at you of late, hiding behind a woman's skirts for rather a woman's intuition) to throw slime on the farmer's organization.

The farmers who support your paper, the farmers who paid you $10,000 or was it $12,000 a year to have you represent them on the Farm Board (or misrepresent them) will not care for your present attitude. If you cared to tell the truth about our Holiday organization you could easily find out how it started, by whom and what its purpose is. You would not have to take any one person's word for it.

A small group of respectable farmers met last fall in Madison county at the home of Andrew Dahlsten and formed our Nebraska Farmers' Holiday association, Madison county plan. If you cared to call Andrew Dahlsten and his respected farmer neighbors Reds, or charge that they are influenced by foreign organizations, first go up there and try it just once.

The purpose of this organization is to stop foreclosures on our property until such time as the farmer gets prices for his products sufficient to meet his obligations and maintain a decent standard of living. And you, an editor of a farm paper, intimate that we are Reds. The farmer is the last person in the world to want trouble. He will put up with a lot before he gets aroused but we have a right to our homes and a place to raise food for our wives and children and, Sam, we are going to have it. It is no fault of ours that conditions are like they are and then a farmer is evicted from his home he is forced to join the great army of unemployed. Why use a farmer's paper to discredit our farmers' organizations? How did you acquire a big ranch and 700 acres hereford while at the same time we farmers were losing from $1,000 to $5,000 a year, and working ourselves and our families nearly to the breaking point? Are you representing the farmers or Wall Street? And if you say you are representing the farmers then why did not you come out and support Senator Norris after he proved he was a friend of the farmer, instead of using your farm paper to try to poison the farmer against him?

Now, Sam, if you don't go to Madison county and find out all about how and why and by whom this organization, the Farmers' Holiday association of Nebraska, Madison county plan, was formed and publish the facts about it, and so investigate the Saline county fair to which you refer, and publish the facts about that, then you are worse than I have ever believed. You have insulted a great number of the best farmers in Nebraska and the only way you can square yourself is to tell the truth. No half truths, for this organization is not to be fooled with. There are strong in numbers and there are men with grit and determination, native sons of Nebraska, the head of it.

Well, Sam, three hundred farmers met here in Valley county on June 11 for a holiday association picnic and to hear speeches by the organizers of this Holiday association. They did not look like Reds, but were of the best type of farmers in the county. All of them know that times are critical and each of them knew that something must be done if we are to retain our homes and chattels.

One copy of this letter, Sam, goes to the Forum department of the Ord Quiz, another copy goes to the Grand Island Independent, another copy to the Farmers National Weekly printed in Washington which a lot of your Nebraska Farmer subscribers read, and I hope that you will print this letter in the Farmer. I don't suppose you will but if you do be sure to get the facts first, for if you don't we will be everlastingly after you.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Italian Spaghetti.
Cook two pounds spaghetti until tender, drain and put on a large platter. Cover with the following sauce:

Combine one-half cup olive oil, one diced carrot, one stalk celery diced, small bunch of parsley, one onion chopped fine, one or two beans of garlic, chopped, one-half pound hamburger, and cook for twelve minutes. Then add one small can mushrooms, one can tomato sauce, one-half can tomato puree, season with salt and pepper and cook slowly three hours. Put in the other half can of tomato puree, when it is all cooked down pour over spaghetti, sprinkle with grated cheese and serve.

Raisin Cornbread.
Mix two eggs, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon soda, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons lard, one cup raisins, one and one-half cups sweet milk, one-half cup sour milk. This makes delicious cornbread.

Butterscotch Candy.
Mix one cup sugar, four tablespoons molasses, one tablespoon vinegar, two tablespoons boiling water, one-half cup butter and cook without stirring until a little put in cold water will break between the fingers if you try to crush it. Turn into a large buttered tin in a thin layer. When cold break into pieces with the handle of a knife. Nuts, chopped, are good in this.

Butterscotch Pie.
Bring one cup brown sugar (or one-half cup burned sugar) two beaten egg yolks, three tablespoons flour and one and one-half cups cold water to a boil, then add two tablespoons butter and one teaspoon vanilla. When cool pour in a baked pie shell. Top with a meringue made of the two egg whites.

Carmel Cake Frosting.
Boil together three cups brown sugar and one cup of water until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Add one tablespoon butter and one teaspoon vanilla and remove from the fire. When cool beat until thick and creamy. Thin with cream until of the right consistency to spread.

Filled Cookies.
Combine two cups sugar, one cup butter or lard, one egg, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, enough flour to roll out. Filling is made as follows: one package of dates, raisins, figs or a combination of fruits chopped. Three-fourths cup sugar, one cup hot water, one tablespoon flour (mixed with a little cold water) and a pinch of salt are added. Cook until thick. Drop a spoonful on a cookie, cover with another cookie and bake in a moderate oven.

Cocoanut Rolls.
Let one and one-half cups scalded milk cool until luke warm, then add one tablespoon lard, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons sugar, one-half cake of compressed yeast which has been dissolved in a little warm water. Beat in two cups of flour and let rise in a warm place. When light enough to knead add about three cups of flour, and work. Let rise until double in bulk. Roll out one-fourth inch thick, spread thickly with butter, sift over with sugar and cocoanut, roll and cut like cinnamon rolls. Let rise, bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Something DIFFERENT

Mail order catalogs never miss a bet. Notice it?

If they describe towels, they are "husky, heavy, thirsty" and fifteen more adjectives. They will be found half a dozen places in a catalog, each time fetchingly described, and with each description is a beautiful picture.

No wonder it is so much fun to mail order. You may sift quietly in the privacy of your own home and read yourself a most intriguing sales talk, look at all the pictures, and they never quit telling you.

Constant reiteration of their bargains, their quality, or about the "luscious colors".

It takes incessant advertising, and lots of it to reach the buying public as efficiently as these catalog houses do. Merchants who tell their stories through the local paper, and tell them over and over are the only ones who have any chance at all.

And never forget that advertising has to be made interesting. A poorly written ad, for all that it is beautifully composed by a craft printer, hasn't half the buying pull that one has which is full of pictures of enticing female legs, draped silks, or even of big fluffy towels, and it must also have the necessary persuasive wording. To find this appeal and pack it into every word and every ad is every merchant's business and those who advertise the most and tell the truth about their wares get the most business.

Look up the record of any successful store and you will find this true. You have to tell the public and tell them and tell them, over and over, and make it enjoyable reading, too.

The H. D. Leggett family surely picked the right time of year to go to Minnesota. In spite of the fact that it is only June, it is a scorcher breaking records on every side. And the hot sun and breezes are doing their bit to break other things . . . crops, gardens and lawns, for instance.

Of all the ladies who wear pajamas, the cutest are these little bitty girls who flounce along importantly, feeling different and attractive in them. The size of the little Ferguson girls and Jeanette Clements, and even smaller. As small as the toddling size.

And something I feel sad to see is little bitty boys in long pants. Of course they look cute and ridiculous. But men's clothes are hot, ugly and uncomfortable, and it seems a shame to put them on little fellers when they will get more and too much of it later.

Incidentally, I think . . . oh, don't mind me . . . and you won't . . . that the changes in men's styles are a joke. One year the lapels are a quarter of an inch longer. Next year they are blunt. Then they are a whole inch longer. And who can tell the difference?

They have to change women's styles a whole lot more than that in a year to keep them buying clothes! Now start in and argue with me, all you darned men editors!

Why don't men have cooler clothes, and less of them. Why can't they ever wear a gay color without risking looking silly and cheap? And why not invent some fashions more comfortable than pants? No, I haven't any suggestions to offer. This criticism isn't constructive, only destructive!

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Clothes moths often damage fabrics in summer. The commonest of these moths are yellowish in color, and have a half inch wing spread. They always seek darkened corners, and do not flit around lights as do so many other moths.

Damage is done by the moth larvae, which are whitish, and half an inch in length when grown. The eggs from which they hatch are smaller than a pinhead, but their white color makes it possible to see them. Adult moths have undeveloped mouth parts and never eat anything; they merely lay eggs.

Clothes moths do not confine their activities to closets. A single piece of over-stuffed furniture may keep a house well stocked with moths for years. The pests are especially fond of bristles, hair, feathers, fur, raw wool, and piano felts.

One of the best ways of protecting articles from moths is to wrap them tightly in paper. Print on newspaper does not keep moths away, but they will not eat through any paper.

Naphthalene, or moth balls, will kill the pests when used at the rate of 1 pound to each 6 to 10 cubic feet of tight space. Moth balls are not very effective when scattered about closet shelves or bureau drawers.

Moth proofing solutions do not seem to make clothes absolutely immune from attack. Nothing has a lasting effect in keeping fabrics from being re-infested.

The so-called moth-proof paper bags will keep out moths only when tightly sealed. Any paper will do the same. Prepared bags will not kill moths already in the clothing.

Cedar chests will protect clothing if free of infestation when put in. Those made of all red-cedar heartwood are recommended rather than red-cedar lined chests. Cedar chips or shavings are of little value.

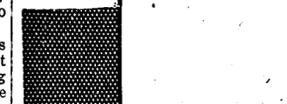

Cold storage stops all injury, but moths will survive cold storage in dormant condition for a year. Cold storage is rather expensive.

Paradichlorobenzene is a new product, much like naphthalene, and similarly used. It is safe, and is said to give good results.

Camphor, pyrethrum powder, sulphur, carbon disulphide, carbon tetrachloride, hydrocyanic acid gas, hot water, dry heat, soap solution, and kerosene, are other remedies sometimes used.

Brushing generally destroys all eggs and larvae in clothes. Beating and sunning does likewise. Dry cleaning helps as moths always concentrate upon soiled spots first. Clothes that are worn and rugs that are vacuum cleaned, seldom become infested with moths.

More than 480,000,000,000 handkerchiefs were made in the United States during the year 1930.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

North Loup News

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, June 17, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Owen in Hastings when Miss Rozella Barrows, youngest daughter of Rev. Willard Barrows, now of Hanson, Nebr., was united in marriage with Cloyd Ingerson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ingerson of this village. Rev. King of the Presbyterian church of Hastings officiated. Attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Bessie Barrows of Hastings and Paul Goudy of York. Preceding the ceremony Truman Barrows, uncle of the bride, sang "Oh Promise Me", Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Judge Bohle, of Hastings, a friend of the young couple. The single ring ceremony was used. The bride, an exceptionally charming young lady was lovely in a gown of blue flowered chiffon made ankle length. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and baby's breath. The groom wore the conventional blue. Following the ceremony and congratulations a luncheon of ice cream, cake and coffee was served. North Loup relatives in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Van Creager, and Miss Berdine Ingerson. The bride is a graduate of her home school at Lewistown, Mont., attended Hastings college for two years and during the past five years she has been in Y. W. C. A. service in Hastings, making her home with her sister, Mrs. Owen. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. V. J. Thomas. Mr. and Mrs. Ingerson have established their home for the present with the Creagers. The groom is farming for Mark McCall of this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Crabb and two small daughters of Ord, and Miss Ora Bell Crabb of Valentine made a brief call at the home of Will Van Horn's Saturday afternoon enroute to Superior at which place Mr. Crabb has been stationed as traveling salesman for an Omaha firm. Proceedings of the City Council

Ord, Nebraska, June 2, 1933.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley county, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session pursuant to adjournment of May 5, 1933, in the City Hall at 8 o'clock p. m. Mayor Wm. H. Moses presided. City Clerk Lucinda Thorne recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor instructed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll and the following councilmen were present: Wm. Sack, Frank Travis, Chester Palmatier, Frank Serphen, Joe Rowbal, Anton Bartunek.

Whereupon it was moved by Councilman Sack and seconded by Councilman Palmatier that the minutes of the proceedings of May 5, 1933 be accepted as read. Motion carried.

Madam Mazol the famous Spiritualist & Adviser is at your service to all men and women who are burdened down with sorrow, discontent and unhappiness. My work is my religion. I give definite, reliable and truthful advice on personal affairs of life. I treat all matters strictly confidentially. No matter what annoys, worries, perplexes you, I will positively show you how to gain success in your undertakings. I advise and give help to all who are in trouble and suspense, concerning the most important affairs of life such as love, courtship, marriage, business, investments, friends, enemies, etc. You have the elements of success within you.

A secret that you should know.

The power of control, know what to do, know the truth, know in time and how to do it. Life is not half so bad as some people would make you believe. There is no life so sad or dreary that will be happy and sunshine into. Tell you the truth, good or bad. Have helped thousands to obtain happiness and success—why not you? If you are sincere and in trouble of any kind, doubtful as to what's best to do, call today, it may mean your future happiness and success. If you are in doubt about anything, worried or unhappy, making changes in business and doubtful as to friends and family matters, I am the one to consult. Do not hesitate to call upon me if you are in trouble. I can help you. My aim in life is to aid and assist humanity to a better and happier life. Seek and you shall find. Today is the day. Tomorrow may be too late. All reading strictly private.

FINANCIAL SAFETY

No husband and father can be really happy until he gets acquainted with the true brand of happiness that comes with financial security. Nor does financial safety mean possession of thousands of dollars worth of property. It means simply having enough money in hand to protect against sickness or other sudden emergencies; owning a home of one's own; being able to meet bills promptly as they come due. That's the kind of safety that pays dividends in happiness.

The Protective plan of saving makes such happiness available to all, whether their weekly wage be great or small. Small deposits at regular, fixed intervals turn the trick. Save systematically by the Protective plan. We will be glad to furnish details on request.

State Capitol News

By PARKE F. KEAYS

George O'Malley of Greeley, who was speaker of the house in the recent legislative session, was appointed federal internal revenue collector last week. His appointment was made at the recommendation of newly appointed United States Senator Thompson. The appointment of O'Malley is a score in favor of the Bryan wing of the democratic party as opposed to the democratic element led by Arthur Mullen of Omaha. Mullen suggested nine persons for this place but did not include O'Malley.

State Tax Commissioner Smith and J. J. Thomas of Seward, newly appointed federal reserve board member, were in Washington last week. Smith went as the governor's representative in conferences relative to a $70,000,000 appropriation made for a Nebraska public works program by the federal government. Twenty million dollars of the appropriation would be an outright gift from the federal government, while fifty million is to be raised or provided for by Nebraska communities. If the state is unable to raise the money the federal government plans to advance the funds necessary to complete the public works program and then lease the various projects to Nebraska communities on an extended repayment plan. In an arduous task, the governor will be appointed soon to handle the Nebraska projects after which definite plans will be made for the various public construction jobs.

The state of Nebraska lost its suit in supreme court brought in connection with an accident in the steam pipe line connecting the state capitol and the state university heating plant which caused several deaths. The court said that final certificates of approval signed by state engineers constituted prime facie evidence that the work was performed as required by contract. The court holds that where engineers hired by the owners prepare the specifications a contractor is not liable for sufficiency of specifications but only for the skill with which he performs the work and the soundness of the material.

During the last legislative session the senate authorized a committee to make a study of state, county and municipal government, including school districts, and make recommendations for reducing the cost and improving state government. An appropriation of $6,000 was made, although the committee members were to receive no pay other than the necessary traveling expenses. Last week the attorney general rendered an opinion against the legality of incurring such an expense because the house refused to adopt the resolution creating such a committee and the senate has no authority to act alone in such a connection.

The state banking department reports payment of $43,000 to depositors of failed banks at Lindsey, Shelby, Bladen, Battle Creek and Deshler recently.

Summer school enrollment at the University of Nebraska had reached 1,312 last Monday. This was about 500 below the number registered at the same time last year.

The state board of control has accepted the new dormitory at the Omaha school for Deaf. This leaves four projects in the biennial building program authorized in 1931 uncompleted. Hastings state hospital is about 60 percent finished and will be completed this summer. The remodeling of the Linmer, completion and the work at the penitentiary and reformatory will be completed early in the fall.

Nebraska beet growers received checks aggregating $264,800 as additional payments on their 1932 crop.

Reports of the railroads operating in Nebraska show that their revenues in 1932 were 66 millions compared with 119 millions in 1920. Operating expenses of the roads decreased 62.2 percent. Taxes paid during 1932 totaled $4,015,000 or 2.6 percent less than in 1920. Freight revenues declined 82.1 percent. Livestock receipts at South Omaha show that the railroads carried 71.2 percent and trucks 28.8 percent in 1920 while 1932 figures show 52.4 percent to railroads and 47.6 percent to the trucks.

The federal bureau of agricultural economics reports that average prices paid farmers have increased 25 percent since February when the low point was reached. A month ago prices paid for farm products had increased to 17 percent over the average in mid-April. In the past two months farm prices of grain rose 72 percent, meat animals rose 17 percent, butterfat 34 percent and wool 99 percent.

A new schedule in coast to coast airplane service has been established which makes the trip in twenty-one and one-half hours westbound and nineteen hours and fifty-five minutes eastbound. The new schedule represents a reduction of more than seven hours in coast to coast service.

Loans of over 136 million dollars have been made by the federal farm credit administration to 106,394 farmers and stockmen. A total of 8 million dollars has been repaid.

The federal agricultural department has estimated a winter wheat crop of 341 million bushels compared to 462 million bushels last year. It is estimated that 27 million acres of winter wheat will be harvested or 12.6 bushels per acre, compared with 13.7 bushels a year ago. Other estimates made June 1 are as follows: Rye production, 30 million bushels, or 9 million less than a year ago; peach crop production, 46 million bushels, or 200,000 less than in 1932; pear crop production, 23 million bushels compared with 22 million bushels last year.

Crop production of winter wheat in Nebraska is estimated at 27,310,000 bushels. About 80 percent of the 2,690,000 acres sown were abandoned, leaving 2,023,000 acres for harvest. The condition is 74 percent and the estimated yield is 13.5 bushels per acre. The condition of other crops of the state is estimated as follows: Oats, 82 percent; spring wheat, 84 percent; barley, 55 percent; rye, 72 percent; alfalfa, 87 percent; pasture, 83 percent. Among the fruit crops, apple production is estimated at 69 percent; peaches, 5 percent; pears and cherries 50 percent.

Proceedings of the County Board

Board of Equalization Meeting.
Regular meeting of the County Board of Equalization of Valley County, Nebraska called to order on June 13, 1933, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. by Chairman Johnson, with supervisors Sorensen, Desmul, Ball, Vasicek, Hansen, Barber and Johnson, and County Assessor E. C. Weller and County Clerk Ign. Klisma Jr. present upon roll call.

Minutes of the last meeting were then read and approved.

The Chairman then appointed the following standing committees to-wit:

COMMITTEE ON COMPLAINTS—Desmul, Barber, Weller and Ball.

COMMITTEE ON LEVIES—Vasicek, Desmul, Klisma and Sorensen.

The Board as a whole, then took up the matter of reviewing the assessments as returned by the various precinct assessors, for the day and at 5 p. m. recessed until June 14, 1933, at 10 a. m.

June 14, 1933, at 10:00 a. m., meeting again called to order by Chairman with all members of Board being present. The matter of reviewing and examining assessments was resumed and complaints heard and investigated during the day and at 5:00 p. m., board recessed until June 15, 1933 at 10 a. m.

June 1, 1933, at 10:00 a. m., meeting again called to order by Chairman with all members of Board present.

After careful consideration of the assessed valuation of lands and lots, it was moved that for the purpose of equalizing the assessed values of lands and lots, as against the assessed value of improvement, that the assessed value of all lands and lots in Valley County, Nebraska, for the year 1933, be reduced by ten per cent, and that the County Assessor be authorized and directed hereby, to make such reductions in said complaints adjusted in accordance with said recommendations. Motion carried.

Moved and seconded that the recommendations of Committee on the following complaints be accepted and assessments mentioned in said complaints adjusted in accordance with said recommendations. Motion carried.

What Makes a Safe Tire? ... I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 13 consecutive years, the most grueling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone. Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the world.

See Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires made in the Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at the Century of Progress, Chicago.

NORTH LOUP PAST FIRST HURDLE, IS NOW UP TO U. S.

State Certificate Signed Saturday Morning, Plans Praised; Hardenbrook Returns.

District Will Organize Soon

Officers Will Be Elected, By-Laws Passed As Soon As Bonds Of Directors Approved.

The North Loup Public Power and Irrigation District took a big step forward Saturday when Governor Charles W. Bryan and State Engineer R. L. Cochran signed papers providing for legal organization of the district and permitting directors to apply for federal money to carry out the big power and irrigation project. The Sutherland project gained state approval at the same time.

The certificate issued by Engineer Cochran, after setting forth the general nature of the proposed project, says: "Said proposed district, plants, systems, and irrigation works were found and are deemed by said department to be feasible and conforming to public convenience and welfare, and it is therefore considered, ordered and adjudged that said petition be, and the same hereby is, approved subject to the following limitations and conditions."

The limitations and conditions are (1) That no salaries, wages, commissions or fees be paid for promotion work or for influence; and that no attorneys' fees be paid in connection with the project other than those actually required in the performance of necessary legal services; and further, that no fees, salaries, wages or expense of any character be paid or authorized unless and until the same have been approved by the state department of roads and irrigation. (2) That no contract be awarded for construction work without the written approval of the aforesaid department.

Bert M. Hardenbrook, a director, was in Lincoln Thursday, Friday and Saturday to facilitate passage of the district and early Saturday afternoon he telephoned the news to Ord, his message creating great relation among friends of the project.

In signing the North Loup project's certificate of approval, Engineer Cochran complimented highly the plans prepared by Black & Veatch. Not a single change was recommended, either in the plans for irrigation or for power development.

The project, as outlined by engineers, will cost in the neighborhood of $2,900,000 but E. H. Dunmire, who presented the plans to directors here two weeks ago, has explained that this cost is figured high purposely and that the cost will probably be considerably lower. About two million dollars is the probable cost of the project.

Now that the North Loup district has been authorized the next step will be formal organization of the district, which includes adoption of by-laws and election of officers. Applications for bonds in the amount of $10,000 for each of the directors has been made to the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland and as soon as these bonds are on file the directors will meet in Ord to organize a legal district. Directors will include Bert M. Hardenbrook, R. C. Bailey and Jos. P. Barta, Ord; E. A. Holub, Elyria; Luther Pierce, Ralph Brownell and Harry Doran, Burwell; Charles Newbecker, Taylor; Roy Hudson, Charles Bridges and W. O. Zangger, North Loup. Ord will be the principle place of business for the district.

As soon as the organization is completed, committees will be named to assist engineers in selling the power that will be produced and to work in other capacities. Application for money to carry out the project will almost certainly be made to the public works administration which has $3,300,000,000 to loan for state, city, county and municipal projects that will create employment. The exact procedure for such applications has not yet been learned but Mr. Hardenbrook was informed in Lincoln that one or more army engineers will probably be sent to inspect the local project and that their recommendations will guide public works authorities at Washington in allowing or disallowing the loan. These authorities also will have power to grant 30 per cent of the amount asked for as a gift rather than as a loan. Should the public works administrator refuse the loan, application could then be made to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Appointment of a state administrator for projects of this sort will be made soon and it is likely that the administrator will be in joint control, with local directors, of the project while it is in process of construction. It was stated in Lincoln Saturday that the Middle Loup project,

Alfred Welch Drowns In Cistern At Elba

Alfred Welch, the young Elba farmer who was drowned in a cistern at his farm home on June 20, was well known in Ord, having graduated from the Ord high school about 1918. He was thirty-five years old when death came and is survived by his wife, the former Marie Holm of Elba, and by one son, Junior. Funeral services were held at Elba Friday afternoon and a number of Ord people attended, among them Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fafetta, sr., Frank and Emil Fafetta, and Mrs. Alvin Hill.

Wins Spalding Tournament.

2c POSTAL RATE GOOD ONLY ON DROP LETTERS

Letters to Destinations Other Than City of Origin Must Still Pay Three Cent Rate.

That the new postage rate of 2c on first class letters applies only to drop letters and that all other first class mail must pay the 3c rate was the ruling received by Edwin Clements, Ord postmaster, from Postmaster-General Farley last Thursday.

In other words, a letter mailed in Ord to someone getting his mail through the Ord postoffice will be carried for 2c. A letter mailed in Ord to any destination other than Ord must pay 3c.

Stories in state papers last week had indicated that the 2c rate would apply to all first class mail, which is not true. Postmaster Clements or any other postmaster will be glad to explain the new postage rates to anybody who does not understand them completely. The new rates go into effect July 1.

Royal Kensington Club Meets.

The Royal Kensington club met last Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Russell Waterman, ten members being present and the Misses Ellen Inness, Mildred Smith, Darlene Anderson and Hortense Garnick being guests. It was voted to take the extension work again next fall and Madams Nina and Myrtha Waterman were named project leaders. Officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Cora Garnick, president; Dolis Waterman, vice president; Mrs. S. I. Willard, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Russell Waterman, courtesy committee. At the close of the session Thursday the hostesses served refreshments, assisted by Mr. Garnick. The club will not meet again until fall.

Real Estate Man Locates.

Lyman Waterman, of Omaha, a real estate operator, has located in Ord and will have his office and also his living quarters in the building south of the postoffice, owned by Alvin Blessing. He is accompanied by his wife. Mr. Waterman believes real estate will move rapidly here as a result of irrigation prospects.

Helga Larsen Weds North Loup Farmer

In the office of County Judge John L. Andersen last Thursday morning occurred the marriage of Miss Helga Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Larsen of Ord, to Lind Nelson of near North Loup. Ethel Whitford, of Ord, and Frank Bingham, of North Loup, were their only attendants. The marriage date was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents and at noon a bountiful dinner was served in the Larsen home to honor both events. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will make their home on the farm operated by the groom's father.

Mrs. Sohnenfeld Dead.

Mrs. John Sonnenfeld, of Ashton, who has often visited in this community, passed away last Thursday afternoon and was laid to rest in the Ashton cemetery Saturday morning. She was the mother of Joe Sonnenfeld of Ord and leaves eight other children. Mr. Sonnenfeld was a pall bearer at the funeral Saturday.

Sargent Woman President.

Mrs. Emma Lysinger, of Sargent, has been elected president of the Nebraska chapter of the Association of War Mothers, at a convention held in Lincoln last week. She was vice president last year.

from which Bryan has withdrawn his approval, will probably regain good standing this week. The state engineer says that he has told the district that its ditches were too large in the original plans and the plans are now being corrected by the engineers in charge. When the new plans are filed state approval is expected to come quickly, which will permit the Middle Loup district to apply for a federal loan at once.

JOHN WILLIAMS, PIONEER BANKER OF ORD, IS DEAD

John R. Williams departed "for that land from whose bourne no traveler returns" on June 24, at the age of 80 years, 9 months and 4 days. He was the eldest of 7 children of Mary Ann and William Williams of New Jersey, where he was born. When he was 2 years of age his parents moved to Paw Paw, Illinois. Besides attending the public schools he attended the East Paw Paw Classical Seminary.

On Jan. 1, 1876 at Evanston, Ill. he was united in marriage with Rose Imogene Haskell. They resided for 8 years near Earlville, Ill., he having purchased Mrs. Williams' father's farm. In 1883 Mr. and Mrs. Williams moved to Ord, Nebraska, where Mr. Williams engaged in extensive farming. Later he became a large stockholder and director in the First National Bank of Ord and will long be remembered in banking circles because of his progressive, energetic and sound business judgment. Honesty was a paramount virtue of his life.

In 1913 the family moved to Lincoln, Nebr., where they since resided. During his residence in Lincoln he continued active in the grain and land business, gaining a reputation for remarkable business acumen, and making many friends. He retained his keen interest in business and political affairs to the end.

Mr. Williams was confined to the hospital since the spring of 1931. Notwithstanding his long illness he remained throughout a wonderfully patient and cheerful invalid, proving himself an inspiration to all who came in contact with him.

In early manhood he was affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church, to which he was a liberal contributor, devoted to its teachings and profiting by its lessons. He was a regular attendant at church until his illness and remained faithful to his belief throughout his life.

His wife, Rose Imogene, two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Person of Wahoo, and Rosalie of Lincoln, one sister, Mrs. Dee Knapp of Palmyra, Wis., and one brother, Everett M. Williams of California, survive him, besides a host of other relatives.

Funeral services were held at Hodgman's Mortuary in Lincoln Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. I. W. Kingsley and interment was at Lincoln Memorial Park.

Elmer Brechbill Is Seriously Injured

Elmer Brechbill, Garfield county farmer well known in Ord, is in St. Francis hospital at Grand Island in a critical condition as the result of a fracture of the spine sustained in an accident last Friday afternoon. He was cranking a car and it suddenly started up, knocking him down and running over him in such a manner that his back was broken. He is said to be paralyzed from the waist down but has a chance to recover, it is believed, although his condition was serious at last reports.

Hurt In Auto Wreck.

George Benda, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Benda and a brother of the boy who was killed in an auto accident a few months ago, was hurt Monday morning when a car driven by Kenneth Wisna, of Ord, collided with the car in which he was riding on the highway just north of Ord. He was taken to Hillcrest hospital and was kept under observation for a couple of days, as internal injuries were feared. These not being feared, he was taken home Tuesday suffering from bruises and shock. Other occupants of the two cars were not greatly hurt but the cars were badly damaged. The accident happened about 2 a. m. Monday.

Loses Four Good Cows.

Union Ridge, June 27.—(Special)—Rudolph Plate, of this neighborhood, lost four good milk cows last week from sweet clover bloat. Mr. Plate has lost seven head of stock during the past year from this cause. Henry Rich lost a good work horse from the same cause Sunday.

—Dr. J. C. Holson has sold his dental practice in Sargent to R. M. Scott. Dr. Holson first went to Sargent in 1895. Before that he had an office in Ord and later one in Burwell. We understand he plans on again opening an office in Burwell.

—Friday the young people of the Presbyterian church, who had been camping at Pibel lake, returned to Ord. This week a number of young boys are having a good time at the camp. Several of the older boys are assisting Rev. Real in looking after the younger boys.

—Miss Rosanne Perlini came from Grand Island Friday and visited her people until Sunday evening.

John Misko Shoots Hole In One At North Loup

To John Misko, young Ord attorney, goes the honor of being the first Ord golfer to shoot a hole in one in a good many months. He accomplished the feat at the North Loup-Scotia course last Thursday evening while playing with M. F. Kosmata, of Ord, and Charles Schwaner, of Scottsbluff.

The sixth hole, on the North Loup-Scotia course is about 100 yards long and is a bull-pen hole, the green being surrounded by a wire netting about 3 feet high. Misko played the shot with a nibble, his ball going high in the air and landing about a foot from the cup and trickling in to stay.

Ord golfers had been invited to bring their wives and join North Loup and Scotia couples in a two-ball foursome picnic Thursday evening. Misko, Kosmata and Schwaner were playing a round after the two-ball matches were completed, when the Ord lawyer made his hole in one.

Game of Kittenball Appears In Ord And League Will Organize

They call it kittenball. It closely resembles ordinary baseball, except that there are ten men instead of nine on a team, the diamond on which it is played is smaller and a soft ball instead of a regulation baseball is used.

Kittenball made its first public appearance in Ord Tuesday evening, though it has been played by high school students in the Ord gymnasium for several years. Tuesday evening a court house team managed by Clyde Baker played a business men's team led by Ed Michalek, on the Haldeman lots south of the Bohemian hall. The court house team won, 14 to 11.

Anybody can play kittenball, it is claimed, and everybody who plays it once wants to keep on playing it. Business men who hadn't taken that much exercise in years were cavorting around the diamond Tuesday evening, much to the amusement and excitement of a large crowd. Wednesday morning some of them were hobbling around town as a result of sore muscles and bruised limbs.

It is planned now to organize a kittenball league in Ord, with four or six teams competing in organized games.

FOURTH WILL BE CELEBRATED AT CLEMENT GROVE

Ord Band Will Play There All Day; Cushing Will Speak; Ordites Invited.

Where will Ord people celebrate the 4th of July? Some of them probably will celebrate in Sargent or Taylor, where formal celebrations are being held, others will spend the day at Lake Ericson and other fishing resorts, many will enjoy family picnics near the river or in Ord parks, but the vast majority of Ord celebrants will spend the day at Clement's grove in Mira Valley. It seems safe to predict that Ord will have a big part in the Mira Valley celebration this year. The Ord Municipal band will play there throughout the day, the Ord baseball team will play Mira Valley in the afternoon, and an Ord man, the Hon. Marion J. Cushing, will be the principal speaker at a program to be held at 12:30 p. m.

The Mira Valley people have arranged a real program for their celebration. There will be baseball games both afternoon and morning, a good program of races and other sports, a tug-of-war, speeches, music, and a big picnic dinner at noon.

Every Quiz reader is invited to pack a picnic basket and attend the celebration in Clement's grove July 4th. A hearty welcome and a good time is assured.

Hugo Players Due In Ord Next Week

The old reliable Hugo Players, favorites in Ord for a generation, are due here again next week. They are welcome any time but when it is remembered that a visit of the Hugo company to Ord usually brings a week of rain they are doubly welcome. Manager Harry Hugo says that he has all of his old bunch with him and some new faces as well, among them being J. "Wallie" Ford, who plays male leads, and Jimmie O'Hern, long a favorite on the Public circuit as a dancer and fun maker. New plays will be presented at every program and with Ord business people offering merchants' tickets, everyone who enjoys clean stage shows should attend at some time during the Hugo company's visit.

—Mr. and Mrs. August Peterson were in Grand Island for a few hours last Tuesday.

JACK SARGENT'S DEATH SADDENS HOST OF FRIENDS

Popular Ord Young Man Succumbs To Cancer of Lung, Was Buried Wednesday Afternoon.

Seldom has Ord and community felt such general sadness as prevailed when it was learned a few weeks ago that Jack Sargent was suffering with an incurable ailment, cancer of the lung, and his death Monday after weeks of suffering was no less a shock to a host of friends.

Born Nov. 23, 1904 in Tennino, Wash., Jack was the son of Dennis and Myra Sargent. His mother died when he was not quite three years old and since that time Jack had lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Covert. When Jack was ten years of age the family moved to Ord and since then this community had been his home.

He was educated in the Ord schools and for a number of years was a clerk in one of the Ord stores, until the depression made it necessary for him to seek other employment. Since then he had worked at various things but was almost constantly employed.

Always wearing a smile and having a pleasant word for everyone, Jack was one of those few people who are always willing to do any favor cheerfully for his friends. He had a wide acquaintance and everyone called him friend. He was a member of the K. of P. Lodge.

He leaves to mourn his passing his grandmother, Mrs. Covert, his great grandfather, Wm. Wigent, both of Ord, his father, who lives in Washington, one brother, Gordon Sargent, four uncles, four aunts and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday with Rev. Willard McCarthy officiating. Pall bearers were Frank Andersen, Vernon Andersen, Wayne Norman, Dale Norman, Bud Martin and Lynn Beechly. A male quartet composed of Dr. F. L. Blessing, R. J. Stoltz, E. H. Petty and Edgar Mower sang three hymns and the selection, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," was sung as a solo by Dr. Blessing. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Wins Supreme Court Case.

John P. Misko, of the law firm of Hardenbrook & Misko, last week won the first case that he has argued before the Nebraska supreme court when the court found for James McNamee in the case of McNamee v. Lintotype Company v. McNamee. The case concerned a note for tuition that the latter gave to Irl D. Tolen when Mr. Tolen was running the Ord Lintotype school. Tolen turned the note over to the Lintotype company and the company sued McNamee for payment. Judge R. R. North found in favor of Mr. McNamee when the case was tried in district court here and the high court sustained his finding. Davis & Vogelitz represented the Lintotype company in the case.

Legion Auxiliary Seeking Members

Mrs. Lorena Hahn, of Fremont, national membership chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, has designated the period from June 25 to July 4 as "get-a-member campaign week." Radio talks of interest to members and prospective members are being given from Scottsbluff, Kearney, Omaha and Lincoln during the week. Dr. Long, of Holdrege, will talk at 7:30 o'clock this evening over KGFV and Saturday afternoon Mrs. Hahn will broadcast a message over WOW. Then on July 6, the exact hour to be announced in radio programs, the department will announce the names of units that are 100 per cent in securing their membership quotas. The local unit is still out after more members and anybody eligible is asked to communicate with Mrs. Cecil Clark.

Orchard Pavilion Opens.

Friday evening Bob Hildebrand, of St. Paul, and Emil Kokes, of Ord, opened a new dance pavilion on the Kokes farm southwest of town. The pavilion is a commodious one, has a hardwood floor, is conveniently located and is proving popular with dancers of this vicinity. Dances were held both Saturday and Sunday nights, which will be a policy every week. An old time dance is announced for next Monday evening and a 4th of July dance Tuesday evening. Watch for announcements of other dances in the Quiz each week.

Married At Theford.

On June 16 at Theford, Nebr., occurred the marriage of Miss Mildred Gass, daughter of Raymond Gass, to Edward Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson. The newlyweds will make their home in Ord.

Dies In G. I. Hospital.

Oscar Nelson, 43-year-old farmer of Garfield county, passed away Sunday night in a hospital at Grand Island where he had been since submitting to an operation June 9th. He leaves his widow and one son. Monday the body was taken to Burwell for burial.

Friday Herman Worm of Wolsbach Drove to Ord After Mrs. Worm Who Had Been Visiting Here With Her Sister, Mrs. Herman Miller and Their Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Moon.

Penny Burglar Gets Sixty Days in Jail

Charles Wells, the 21-year-old Arcadia youth who last Tuesday stole $9.50 in pennies from a fruit jar in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Zera Sell in Arcadia, was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny before Judge John L. Andersen last Wednesday afternoon. He is now serving his sentence.

Notice to Correspondents.

Since next Tuesday is July 4th and rural mail carriers will not be working, correspondents of the Quiz are requested to mail their notes so that they will be picked up by rural carriers on Monday. News letters arriving Wednesday will be too late for publication. The co-operation of all correspondents is requested, in order that the Quiz may be issued at its usual time.

EXTREME HEAT CONTINUES AS HARVEST OPENS

Small Grain Crops Pitifully Small And Will Be Harvested in 100 Degree Temperature.

Beneath a blazing sun that continues to make June, 1933, the hottest June in history, Valley county farmers are going out into the fields this week to harvest a small grain crop that will be pitifully small. Most fields of oats will not produce seed but there are many wheat fields that will pay to harvest, especially with wheat near the dollar mark in the country's big markets.

A farmer-truck operator who gets around the country a good deal told the Quiz yesterday that in his judgment there would be a lot of 10 and 15 bushels to the acre wheat in the country around Ord and that the average for this section would be close to 12 bushels. Other farmers have been less optimistic but mowers and binders are working in many fields near Ord. Rye and barley also are said to be in shape to produce a partial crop.

A continuation of the extreme heat is likely, although weather men have for several days been prophesying cooler weather that has failed to arrive so far. Every day since last Thursday the temperature has been over 90 and usually in the high 90's. The hottest temperature recorded on Horace Travis' official registering thermometer came at 11 a. m. Monday, he says, when the mercury reached 101. Two hours later it had slumped to 97, where it remained throughout the day. Other days this week have recorded highs from 97 to 99. Nights have been cool with temperatures varying from 62 to 70 between midnight and morning.

Not only has this been about the hottest June in local history but it has also been the driest. Only two showers have fallen to date, one of .67 inches on June 7 and another of .44 inches on June 21. The barometer at noon Wednesday did not indicate any rainfall today.

Corn is still holding its own in good shape, farmers report, but almost constant cultivation is needed to keep it coming. Gardens, pastures and alfalfa are greatly hurt by the drought and extreme heat.

North Loupers Win In Split Season

Making the most of a flock of Greeley errors Sunday, North Loup won 9 to 7 and thereby clinched the first half of the Loup Valley Baseball league's split season. The Earnest-managed team finished with a record of seven victories and two defeats for an average of .777. The Ord team's losing streak continued Sunday and St. Paul defeated the local entry, 8 to 4, and Ord finished in the league cellar. After starting the season with two wins Manager Auble's boys have lost seven straight.

The second half of the season starts next Sunday and Ord is hoping to put a stronger team in the field and make a better showing.

Will Leave for Cullen Lake.

Judge and Mrs. E. P. Clements, Miss Lena Clements and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clements are leaving Sunday for Cullen Lake, near Nisswa, Minn., where they will spend a couple of weeks in the judge's cottage. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Leggett and Kent Ferris are expected to return in about a week from the same place.

Counted 579 Cars.

Who says that Ord isn't a Sunday night town? A man looking for a place to park in Ord Sunday evening took the trouble to count automobiles parked in business section of town and there were 579.

Notice

All of the undersigned Ord creche buying stations will be closed throughout July 4th. Fairmilk Creamery, Ord Co-op Creamery (Swift & Co., Warner Vergin, Rud Hatchery). 14

32 DELEGATES TO FARM HOLIDAY MEETING NAME

Good Farmers Will Represent This County At State Convention In Loup City Today

A delegation of thirty-two among them being some of Valley county's best farmers, will represent this county at the state convention of the Farmers Holiday Association starting today in Loup City. This county's quota is forty. The meeting is being held on the Sherman county grounds and will last three days ending Saturday night.

Valley county's delegates were chosen by the local officers, President Arthur Mensing, Secretary S. Coats and Treasurer F. S. Z. Koski. The delegation will include Joe Peterson, Orlando Larkin, H. Old Valett, Walter Coats, Ben Mason, Frank Holmes, H. T. Wameler, of Arcadia, Charles J. Nold, Arthur McLain, John W. Niek, Joe Anderson, Fern Johnston, Mid Garner, Andrew Nels Ole Nelson, Arthur Mensing, J. Nest Coats, Frank Carkoski, C. Hansen, Will Nelson, A. J. Carbell, Sam Roe, Homer Jones, Harry Jorgensen and Walter Jorgensen, of Ord; E. F. Paddock, E. Bingham, Murray Rich, and Edolph Plate, of North Loup; J. Zulkoski, Frank Petaska and An Welniak, of Elyria.

The state convention was called last week by Harry Lux, of Lincoln, as acting state secretary. It is for the purpose of making permanent the organization which now represented by some 30, Nebraska farmers, and electing permanent set of officers to tighten up the organization, the announcement says.

Lux refers to "the moratorium we forced the legislature to pass and we alone are responsible for" and declares that "we alone can enforce this law."

The fight must be continued, extend the moratorium to include "chattels, livestock, farm implements and other debts incurred farmers," to protect the renter who got no protection from the real estate moratorium, he declares.

Sherman county Farm Holiday members are expecting a crowd several hundred farmers and their families at the state convention. Facilities for camping and cooking will be provided either at the grounds or at the state park near Loup City. The Valley county secretary, Mr. Coats, claims that number of local farmers will attend the convention, in addition the regularly appointed delegates.

Catfish Are Biting.

Several good catches of catfish have been reported in the North Loup river in recent weeks. Last Thursday night Ed Moulton landed a seven-pounder and a smaller fish and it is reported in Elyria. Most of the fish are being caught on set lines.

Vandals At Island Park.

Park board officials and donor of Anderson's Island to the city, W. A. Anderson, are highly indignant at the destructive vandalism of some of the bathers who visit the Island. Steps down the water had been made, separate ones for women and men, one point on the Island. The steps have been torn out by thoughtless youngsters and by the park officials will take serious steps to protect the property if it is necessary, and are asking the public to help see that the parks are not wilfully damaged and destroyed.

Another Golf Tourney Here.

The Ord Golf club is sponsoring another open 50c tournament to be held Sunday, July 2, on the local course. If the weather moderates a large list of out of town entries is expected.

Lawrence Shunkweller Dr. to North Platte Sunday After M. Shunkweller and her sister, M. Leroy Lashmett. The ladies have been called to Pasadena, Calif., to attend the funeral of their father, Charles Bray.

—Friday Mr. and Mrs. C. Jones of Clarkston drove to Ord. They were accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Kirby McGrew and family. The McGrews had been visiting in Clarkston. Mr. Jones is spending a few days with their children, Madam Kirby McGrew, Glen Auble and E. Jones.

THE ORD QUIZ

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska
H. D. LEGGETT . . . PUBLISHER
E. C. LEGGETT . . . . . EDITOR

DON'T SIGN PETITIONS.

There are now being circulated, or soon will be circulated, in Valley county, petitions looking toward the formation of a 66-county public power and irrigation district under the provisions of Senate File No. 310. Formation of this huge public power and irrigation district is regarded as inimical to the success of the North Loup and Middle Loup districts and people who read the Quiz are urged not to sign these petitions, at least until more information as to the purpose of forming the big district is available.

George W. Kline, of Lincoln, publisher of a political sheet called the Nebraska Beacon, is the man behind formation of the 66-county district, so far as the public has been informed. The names of Mr. Kline's backers have not been revealed and his motives are at least open to suspicion.

To form a district of 66 counties it is necessary to secure the signatures of 15 per cent of the legal voters in each county so Mr. Kline's organization will be making an attempt to get 15 per cent of Valley county's voters to sign. A drive for signatures is under way in the eastern Platte valley now.

Even if there is merit in the 66-county plan, which the Quiz is not willing to concede at present, the North Loup valley country has nothing to gain and everything to lose if the big district is organized. Our project has already been approved by state authorities; our engineering work is done; the feasibility of our project has been conceded. All we have to do now is to convince federal authorities, as we have already convinced Governor Bryan and Engineer Cochran, that our project will create employment and is for the best interests of all concerned. The 66-county plan, on the contrary, is still in the embryo stage. All engineering work in connection with it must still be done, which will take months. Its feasibility is far from being proven and whether Bryan and Cochran will approve it is a doubtful matter.

Quiz readers, don't sign any petitions asking for the organization of a public power district. Signatures for the North Loup and Middle Loup districts have already been secured, so the only petitions that will be circulated here in the future will be for the 66-county district. Don't sign, or the progress of the two districts already organized in the Loup valley region may be damaged beyond repair.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Jack Pine Lodge on Cullen Lake, near Nissawa, Minn., June 22, '33
Dear Quiz:
We had a nice rain here Tuesday evening and since then it has been cooler. I notice the thermometer reads 75 degrees now, 2:30 p. m. It was 56 degrees at 7 a. m. It is cloudy a part of the time and very little wind, much of the lake being like glass.

I wanted to get tanned so have been running around without a shirt and went fishing that way yesterday a. m. Result, a badly burned back and shoulders and arms. I don't get much sympathy because the Missus warned me. No danger of my forgetting my shirt again.

Sunday evening Mrs. L. B. Fenner drove in from Burwell. She was accompanied by Henry McArthur and girl friend, Miss Wheeler, of Loup City and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wagner. They call Wagner "Tiny" because he is so big. I understand the young people will stay a couple of weeks. Mrs. Fenner will remain and Mr. Fenner will come up about mid-July. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gross drove in from Albion, Neb. Tuesday about noon and are settled in their cottage up the line. They expect to remain all through July, possibly longer.

The Simpsons have completed their 12-foot square addition to their cottage and it is a real improvement. I think it doubles the value of their place, so far as comfort is concerned. We are invited up to the Simpsons for 6 o'clock dinner. We call the evening meal supper but the Simpsons are from Omaha and more or less society people and as I understand it, society people would commit murder as quick as they would eat supper. Their meals are breakfast, lunch and dinner, while ours are breakfast, dinner and supper.

The young people next door, in the Fenner cottage, are having a good time, I judge. It does look to me, though, as if Henry McMullen is going to find it pretty expensive. Henry tries to take his girl for a boat ride and "Tiny" insists on going along. He will climb right into the boat and begin calling his wife. She will size up the situation, remember her happier, younger days, and say "No Tiny, I don't want to go, you come here and help me." But nothing doing, Tiny seems determined to go, till Henry says, "Give you two-bits to stay home." The bargain is made; another quarters worth of cigars is won and Tiny stays home.

Everyone was out early yesterday for opening day. There was almost as much talk about it as there was about the opening day for the new 3.2 beer. We were on the lake at 5 a. m. and made a nice catch of bass during the day. Kent had beginners luck and got the big ones, four dandies. He is sending a box home to his people. We got 13 bass and some nice bluegills. Getting my back and shoulders so badly burned, sort of took away my enthusiasm though. They are feeling better now and I think by tomorrow I will get to fishing again.

Just saw something out in the lake that puzzled me and got the spy glasses to see what it was. It was a mother duck swimming across the lake with her brood of about 9 or 10 tiny ducks swimming with her. The little ones were huddled close around the old duck and it looked like an over-turned bushel basket flowing through the lake. There are many pairs of ducks raising their families on our lake this year.

The weather has been the hottest I ever saw it here for so long and about the only advantage we had over the folks at home, was that we could sit in the shade and not have to work. June is usually the hottest month here and I presume next month will be nicer here than June has been. I think, next year, I shall try to plan my visit here for later.

One of our daily diversions is a swim in the lake and the water is fine. Yesterday Frank Gross and B. A. Simpson went in with me and a perch or blue gill grabbed Frank by the toe. No damage done but he said he would never go in without a bathing suit again.

Such crops as there are here are looking fine. The farmers are cutting their alfalfa and clover and corn looks good. H. D. LEGGETT

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Home canning is about ready to begin in full force, I imagine, as vegetables are about ready in many gardens, fruits are coming on in full force, and so good recipes for canning are at a premium. If you have any pet ways of doing your canning, please report them to this newspaper and let your neighbors profit by your experiences.

Home Canned Vegetable Soup.
Dice or shred two cups of turnips or kohli rabl, one and one-half cups onions, four and one-half cups cabbage, one cup green peppers, one cup celery, one and one-half cups carrots, one cup peas, one cup shelled beans, eight cups potatoes, one cup corn, one cup string beans, one cup barley, fourteen cups tomatoes, one cup macaroni. Use a medium sized cup and level measurements. If small lima beans are desired, they may be soaked over night and added. Mix the vegetables thoroughly and fill in quart jars, using one teaspoon salt and a little beef and suet in each jar. Fill with cold water, place rubbers and covers on loosely and cold pack a good two hours.

Mrs. Vincent Hlavica, Burwell. Stuffed Baked Tomatoes.
Wash six large firm tomatoes, scrape out part of the seeds. Mix a filling of one can corn, one cup soft bread crumbs, two tablespoons finely chopped onion, two tablespoons green peppers, one-fourth teaspoon celery salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and three tablespoons melted butter. Stuff tomatoes, place side by side add one-half inch water in the pan and bake thirty minutes. Baste frequently.

Ellen Stanton.

Sandwich Spread.
Grind one pint green tomatoes, two red peppers, two green peppers, salt and let stand a few minutes. Drain and add one-half cup water, cook until tender, add six sweet pickles ground. Make a dressing of one cup sour cream, one cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, one-half cup vinegar, two tablespoons prepared mustard. Cook until thick, add vegetables, stir slightly and seal in jars.
Mrs. Harold Erickson.

Cooked Salad Dressing.
Mix five tablespoons sugar with three tablespoons flour, a little paprika, salt, mustard, one-fourth cup vinegar, one and one-half cups boiling water. Cook to a stiff paste and add to one egg and one cup mazaola in a deep bowl, using a Dover beater until thoroughly mixed. Thin with cream, preferably sour. This is good on fruits or for sandwich spread.
Mrs. C. J. Mortensen

Delicious Cream Cookies.
Cream one cup butter or shortening, add two cups brown sugar, cream, put in four eggs and beat two minutes. Add two-thirds cups cream, one cup nuts chopped, one-half cup chopped raisins, one teaspoon vanilla and one teaspoon of salt, lastly four teaspoons baking powder which has been sifted with four and one-half cups flour. Drop from a spoon on a greased baking sheet. Add a pecan half in the center of each cookie and bake.
Elsie Noha, age 14, Ord, Rt. 1.

Oil Dressing.
Combine two tablespoons flour and three tablespoons salad oil, add three tablespoons vinegar and one cup boiling water, cook until it thickens. When cool add the rest of one cup salad oil slowly, beating well, then pour over two egg yolks and beat again. This makes one pint and is very delicious.
Mrs. John Klein.

I am very grateful for all past contributions and I am sure readers of this column are also appreciative. But my drawer-full of recipes is running low and I need help. Elderly and experienced cooks, please send me recipes for ice box recipes for summer use, for one-dish meals for hot days, for short-cuts and for salads. As well as the canning favorites requested in the first paragraph. I thank you, as I am sure your neighbors will.

Something DIFFERENT

Judge E. P. Clements of this city is material for Believe It or Not, I think.

Thirty-five years ago, the Judge, always interested in playing cards, played duplicate whist with a friend using duplicate boards much like those now used for bridge.

The friend, now elderly and taking life easy, has moved to California where he now resides, and recently made a Grand Island relative a present of the whist boards still in fair condition, and the boards have been frequently used this winter as duplicate bridge boards.

Not long ago, Judge Clements and Grand Island friends again played the same boards the Judge and the original owner played thirty-five years ago! A novel experience.

Most of the noble looking bird houses in this region were constructed by "Bud" Shirley. Spare moments of his are mostly spent in productive labor. This winter he had as high as seventy bird houses in his shop, finished and ready to be put up.
And for a little free advertising . . . many of the pretty ones about town were built by Bud. The nice one at Charley Bals' place, for instance, and the involved one in the back yard of John Collison. And dozens more.

Those pesky moths are about all gone now. The big, dusty filthy things have driven many Valley county housekeepers really frantic the past few days.

They are much worse in places where cherry trees abound it has been noticed locally. And they simply fight to get in screen doors, around windows, etc. First they want inside and then they want out again.

They have been combatted in a number of ways, swatting, spraying, etc., and also by the novel method of holding a canful of kerosene and water under a bright light until they fly in. Some say soapuds do just as well, reports Mrs. Chapman. One lady reported to her that she caught 45 moths in fifteen minutes that way.
That is much better than the record at our house. When Leggett family arms were "about to break off", we had totalled only a dozen or so moths.

Mrs. Chapman also writes: "A lady from the country wants to know what to do when the crows alight on the scarecrow and then drop into the chicken pen and pick up a little chicken and fly away with it. One lady claims she lost five in a few days just that way. We guess there is no bounty for crows and neither is there a law against shooting them!"

In spite of the drouth, there are a lot of Ord gardens that look mighty fine. Hoed, watered and weeded, they are as inviting in appearance as any flower garden.

That reminds me. Are there any Ord gardens planted a la flowerbed this year? I think in past years Mrs. Roy Collison had one, when she lived here, also Mrs. Frank Pafetta the next year.

How many hundred feet of white trellis fence do you suppose Ord now has up?

I am willing to match Ord in such a contest as "the most white lattice fencing", against any town her size and weight. Then wouldn't it be nice if the winner could take all?

QUIZ FORUM

Sideline Reflections.

Mr. Editor:
For over three months I have been sitting on the sidelines watching the national parade go by and seeing the animals perform, and am forced to admit that for acrobatic stunts, high rope walking, sleight of hand performance and hypnotic demonstrations they could scarcely be excelled. But the animals are a dismal failure and have failed thus far to measure up to the caliber of statesmen.

It is true they have paved the way for booze and debauchery and have unwittingly given the lie to the theory of the intrinsic value of the gold dollar by granting power to the President to revalue gold, thus proving that the value is not in the metal but in the President's head, thereby exploding the false and erroneous theory of a standard of value. They tell us we are off the gold standard, but fail to tell us what standard we are on; whether we are on the double, triple or no standard at all.

A moment's reflection should convince a sane man that money has two values and two only. One is its legal tender value in payment of debts, which is always at par, one hundred cents on the dollar. The other value is comparative, depending on the idea of the parties to the transaction and to the volume of money in actual circulation. The law of supply and demand governs in this case the same as in all other commodities. Its value may vary from, let us say 50c on the dollar to 500 cents on the dollar as now compared to labor and its products.

It takes five times as much produce to buy a dollar now as it did in 1920 but will not pay a single farthing more of debt, taxes or salaries, interest and charges fixed by combination. This is what is the matter with this country and the world today and evidently our ringmaster has not found it out yet or he would not be trying to make one dollar do the work of ten by taking it out of one pocket and putting it into the other one. It may be an interesting game, but does not appeal to me as a profitable business; besides it is likely to be hard on the pockets if continued indefinitely.

To issue bonds to buy money out of the banks at 4 per cent and then put it back into the banks interest free and then repeat the process may make money circulate, but the trouble is the circle is too small, as the banks are about the only ones to profit by the transaction. For the government to borrow money from a private individual or a corporation to me would seem just about as sensible as it would be for a fish in lake Michigan to run up into a Chicago sewer to get a drink.

We have gold, silver, greenbacks and bank notes. All are money or a medium of exchange. In 1929 we had ten dollars of credit money to every dollar of actual money in circulation. This credit money—checks, drafts and bills of exchange—taking the place of money on which the banks were drawing interest. But in the last four years 15 billions of dollars of this credit money has been withdrawn from circulation, thereby producing the greatest contraction of our circulating medium, causing the greatest deflation of prices this country every saw; and our methods to replace this 615 billions and thereby restore business and prices remain me of a dog running around in a circle trying to catch up with his tail, and in my opinion will meet with the same success.

We borrowed 3 billion dollars to put a quarter million men in the forests. How much more money and how long will it take at that rate to get the other 14 billion men at work.

"Business Recovery Campaign"

June 15 - July 15, 1933
Local telephone employees are rolling up their sleeves in preparation for a special effort to gain new telephone subscribers! "The replacement of a number of telephones in the past few weeks," reports District Manager Johnson, of the Nebraska Continental Telephone Company, "indicates that as prices and business gets better, people are realizing the need for their telephone to help speed things along."

"During the past year many families, in an attempt to reduce expenses, removed their telephones, but found that such action robbed the home of a service that is priceless. Now that conditions are better and there are far brighter prospects throughout the farm areas, people everywhere are having their telephones reconnected and again are getting in touch with their neighbors and entering business life of the community."
"We are going to do our part in bringing back better times by making certain that everyone in this community who wants a telephone has an opportunity to order it now," stated District Manager Johnson.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Vogeltanz and children have been in Wahoo. Mr. Vogeltanz was also in Omaha.

When eggs sell for 6 cents a dozen, it is a thrifty practice to preserve some for winter use. Fresh eggs, properly preserved, may be kept from six to ten months in almost as good condition for all household purposes as fresh eggs.

Water glass, or sodium silicate, is the solution generally used. Eggs may be stored in this chemical at a cost of 2 cents per dozen. A quart costs 25 cents at drug stores, and will preserve 15 dozen eggs.

To can eggs in water glass, add one part of water glass to nine parts of boiled rain water that has been cooled. Put the solution into an open crock or glazed jar, and immerse the eggs as gathered each day. There must be at least two inches of solution covering the top of the eggs. The jar should be covered with waxed paper to retard evaporation.

Lime water may be used instead of water glass. Slake 2 pounds of unslaked lime and add 5 gallons of water. The lime settles, and the clear liquid may be used in the same manner as mentioned above.

Preserved eggs are suitable for almost any purpose except boiling, which bursts the shell, unless a small hole is first made in it with a pin. There is a slight watery deterioration, which does not affect the egg's food value.

Eggs preserved in the spring, and preferably infertile, give the best results when canned. Those gathered during late summer do not keep as well. Unwashed eggs are more desirable.

Lenz Wins Scholarship.

Edwin Lenz, of Ord, has been awarded one of the 150 regent's scholarships at the University of Nebraska next year. He plans to enter the college of agriculture. These scholarships, with an estimated value of $70 each, were awarded to the winners in an academic contest held in the various schools last May. Lenz, an Ord high school graduate, was proficient in athletics as well as in scholarship.

In the United States there are approximately 2,000,000 women who are supported by alimony which is paid by the husbands they have divorced.

Hot Weather Hints . . . for harassed Housewives

What woman wants to slave over a hot cookstove in 100 degree weather? And what woman needs to, when our market contains such a fine assortment of meats that are already to serve?

Come here for the leanest, tastiest boiled ham you've ever eaten. Or for any of the other stand-bys in cooked meats, plus new and different ones being created this season by Swift, Cudahy and other packers.

Or why not boil a tongue or a piece of lean beef or pork in the cool of the morning, having it ready to slice and serve cold for dinner or supper? We want to serve you in every way possible and our meat is sold at the most economical prices in town.

"I've found the gasoline I've been looking for—Super SHELL—and it's not 3¢ extra any more!"
W. A. (Bill) COKER, New Orleans

Everywhere it's "Change to Super Shell!"

—was 3¢ extra—now regular price!

Millions have heard about it—
Millions have used it—

Now they are telling their friends "Change to Super Shell—It's Today's Big Favorite."

Originally made for Lincolns and Cadillacs, Super Shell sold for 3¢ a gallon extra—and was more than worth it. Now the 3¢ premium's off!—and every car can now afford it; every motorist can now enjoy premium performance without paying extra.

Instant starting, hair-trigger pick-up, surging power, and an anti-knock rating higher than any gasoline to which ethyl has not been added. Plus extra mileage. That's why everyone is saying: "Change to Super Shell!" It is colored golden for your protection. Results will prove to you why Super Shell at no extra cost is "Today's Big Favorite!"

If you prefer an ethylized fuel, it is obtainable under the name of Super-Shell Ethyl—a double-premium gasoline at a single-premium price.

—Mrs. Jud Tedro is helping out Saturdays with the work in the Golden Rule store.

—A six and one-half pound daughter was born Monday morning to Mr. and Mrs. John Mason. The Mason's reside in the country. Mrs. Mason is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Finley.

John removed the snowshoes and crept along the wall, movements silent in the new snow, ducking low as he passed the near window, coming to a halt beside the door.

"Two!" he counted as the rifle crashed once more. . . . After another wait he could whisper "Three!" . . . And then "Four!"

Five and six shots, then, and spruce branches were clipped off and dropped and feet sounded on the cabin floor. . . . And then John Belknap had his left hand on the latch, his shoulder to the stout door, was swinging it open.

No turning back now! He shoved with all his strength and the legs of the table which Gorbel had set across the entry rumbled on the planks as John pushed it sideways.

He had a look at a drawn and haggard face, stamped with terror and cruelty as Gorbel, rifle in one hand, the other outstretched for cartridges scattered on the cot, swung to face this intrusion.

"Drop it!" snapped Belknap. "Drop that gun!"

He could have fired then and felled Gorbel in his tracks but he did not. He was no killer, not when the weapon in the other's hand was empty.

But an empty rifle is a weapon nevertheless. He saw the quick bracing of Gorbel's feet, observed the short, sharp gesture with which he hurled the gun. He ducked, quite sure of himself, too sure of himself. The butt of the rifle missed his head as it sailed towards him, but the barrel, trailing, dropping as came, rapped him across the skull.

It was a heavy blow. His cap was protection enough to turn it from a stunning shock to simple bewilderment for a second . . . or a fractional second.

He fired as Gorbel rushed. He fired quickly, with intent to kill; but he fired blindly, too; was off balance when he squeezed. The bullet found some other mark and Gorbel was upon him, beating him down, sprawling over him as the pistol, knocked from John's grasp, skittered across the floor.

Locked together, they rolled over with a mighty threshing of legs, upsetting the table, coming to rest against it, John, head now cleared, on top, grappling for Gorbel's throat.

The body beneath him heaved and bowed. It was like steel, with the strength of desperation.

They were up again, locked once more and John could feel ragged breath, hot on his cheek. He struck at the hand which groped for his throat. He stamped on Gorbel's feet.

They had an instant of blows, toe to toe, and then Gorbel was at John's throat. He tore at the locked grip and could not break it. He drove his knee upward and though the force lifted Gorbel from his feet his throttling hold did not weaken.

Things began to grow fuzzy, to darken. A buzzing sounded in his ears, growing louder. His legs went limp and he sagged to the floor. Gorbel leaned over him, both hands locked on John's throat, heedless of the other hands clawing at them . . .

Although Herman Parslow, Norwalk, Conn., received a tured skull, a broken arm broken leg when he was hit automobile, the dozen eggs carrying escaped without a "Right!" he shouted again! "Where are you?" " . . . fur room. At the east end . . . Stay safe," she called "He has a world of ammunition and is shooting at you through the window!"

Another voice then, a muffled snarl of warning. And on the sound John hunched to his knees, rose to a nearly upright position, pistol in his hand. He could see now, through the upper branches; he saw a movement within, a shadowy, indistinct movement, and fired. A pane of glass pulverized, the figure in there shifted quickly; he shot again and his ball tore through the other of the two windows he could see.

He dropped for shelter and cried out:

"Stay back, Gorbel! I'll drill you, s'help me!"

He pressed his body against the stump, but the man inside did not reply, with words or gunfire.

All manner of impulses, of hopes, of fears, a vast array of miscellaneous and conflicting emotions, surged through John . . . Ellen, here, with Gorbel! Ellen, under the same roof with a man who had nothing to lose but his liberty now. Why had she come? Why had Gorbel borne so straight for this place? "Ellen!" he called, suddenly frantic. "You all right?"

"Right!" Her voice was fainter now, husked with tears. The rifle spoke again, six barking shots, and on the last John leaped up. Two small windows flanked the cabin door on this, the western exposure.

He ran for the end of the building, sinking deeply, floundering and straining until he threw himself far in the great drift at the corner. He wriggled the pistol ready, holding his breath, listening. No sound came to indicate that Gorbel had seen him close in.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kildow and little daughter Betty Lou of Fort Totten, N. D., arrived Thursday morning via Chicago and Omaha for a visit with Rex's people, the Will Kildow family. The Kildows greatly enjoyed a week at the world's fair and also their visit with Miss Ruth Mayo of Chicago. A second stop was made in Omaha where they visited a sister of Mrs. Kildow and her youngest brother, Norman Smith, who accompanied them to North Loup. They returned to their home Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Stephens departed Tuesday morning for a month's vacation with their son and wife at East Orange, N. J. The Bohrer family took them to Grand Island Tuesday evening was spent at the home of a friend in Omaha, from which place they left for Chicago where they met a brother of Mrs. Stephens' from East Lynn, Ill., whom she hadn't seen for thirty years. The three enjoyed Wednesday at the world fair grounds and at five-thirty today they expected to arrive at East Orange.

Mrs. Esther Schudel was hostess to the Legion Auxiliary at her home Friday afternoon. The ladies are studying the constitution and American History this summer. Mrs. Laura Christensen was a guest. The hostess served delightful refreshments.

Mrs. Grace Holman received a letter from her son Glen Saturday, whose home is at Mare Island, near San Francisco, which stated he had again received a call into naval service, this time on a transport which embarked last week on an eight months tour via the Canal zone. This tour will include Haiti, Cuba, and other Pacific points thence to Annapolis, Md., with a two months overhaul at Boston. The tour will also include the Chinese coast. Mr. Holman is First Lieutenant of the U. S. Ship Henderson.

Miss Ruby Babcock accompanied her friends Paul VanHorn and Miss Rose Stillman both of Milton, Wis., to North Loup Thursday. Miss Lois Inglis adopted daughter of Mrs. Tasy Rood Inglis also accompanied them to Fremont remaining there to visit friends. Miss Stillman and Mr. VanHorn drove on to Matheson, Colo., where the latter will be with his people for a few weeks, while Miss Stillman is the guest of relatives and friends at other Colo. points. Paul was among this year's Milton College graduates.

Clearing day was observed at the Library Thursday. Every book numbering about 2500 was dusted and readjusted, magazines sorted and the building made attractively clean. The board is very grateful to Fred Swanson for some necessary repairing of shelves. Today members of the board are engaged in re-binding books and placing a number of new books on the shelves.

During the absence of Rev. Stephens the M. E. pulpit will be in charge of Rev. H. S. Warren of the Baptist church.

Sunday school at Davis Creek will be held at 10 p. m. during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Stephens.

Miss Katherine Chadwick has been elected to teach in Greeley county southwest of Scotts Bluff.

Robert Harmon drove over from Hollinger Sunday and visited at the Inez Hill home until Tuesday morning. His wife and baby are guests here for a month or so.

The members of the Merry Jane club of Riverdale were guests of Mrs. Laura Christensen Wednesday, June 1. Quilting and decorating dish towels were in order. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

Appropriate exercises of sacred songs, Bible memory work and playlets were presented at the Baptist church Sunday evening closing another year of vacation Bible school. An interesting report was given by the superintendent, Miss Mary Davis. Ninety have been in attendance for the three weeks with an average attendance of 65. Three pupils, namely George Cox, Donald Green and Muriel Bartz were awarded leather bound testaments for having been in attendance eight terms.

Madama Esther Schudel and Elfreida Vodehnal were hostesses to the ladies aid kensington Wednesday afternoon, June 21.

Little Everett Barrett went to Grand Island Saturday with friends to visit his father who is in charge of a root beer stand near Grand Island. Mrs. Barrett is attending to their grocery and meat shop here during her husband's absence.

Kittenball, a game fast becoming popular in midwestern towns was hilariously introduced here last Tuesday evening, being played on the vacant lots south of the community hall. It is reported the game will be staged here each Tuesday night, the business men of the village being so far the chief participants.

A one-act comedy play, entitled "A Dead Expense" was the surprise attraction on main street Saturday night. The scene was a mountain cabin home in Georgia, the cast consisting of the father played by Arthur Taylor, the old mother, Katherine Chadwick and their daughter Sally, Mary Frances Manchester whose skillful contriving won for her mother the first vacation she had taken in thirty years. John Lee acted the part of the son who came in his old Ford to escort his mother to his home. Another surprise entertainment will be featured Saturday evening.

The Ray Drawbridge family enjoyed a dinner of catfish Sunday, Ray having caught a 3 1/2 pounder in the river early Sunday morning.

At the Kumungo club with the Misses Gertrude Hemphill and Betty Eberhart as hostesses enjoyed a hitch hiking party Tuesday evening, their destination being "The End of the Trail" where a swim and picnic lunch was provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Manchester returned Thursday to their home at Aurora, Ill. The Reeve Manchester's with Mrs. Rhoda Manchester took them to Omaha where they boarded a bus for Aurora. The Manchesters enjoyed the week end with relatives in Omaha and at Blair, where Sunday a family gathering was held at the home of a cousin, Mrs. Edna Ballard Hitchman. But a man with a job of work to do can't fall, can he? Not when failure means tragedy, can he? John Belknap struck hard; the blow landed on Gorbels' mouth and John was free, with the sweet air flooding his throat, with the buzzing dying out, but as he rolled over the other kicked. His pac toe caught John in the side, threw him against the wall, knocking down an ax which was leaning there.

taxes brought in $84,000,000 during May while beer taxes totaled $11,172,000 more than in April. The check tax amounted to over $3,000,000 and the tax on wire and wireless messages amounted to over $1,000,000, both of these showing substantial increases.

The revenue from the sale of beer will greatly exceed the estimates made by the United States treasury department before the beer act was passed. If revenue continues at the April-May rate the income from the source will be approximately 280 million dollars annually. Former Governor Weaver, now president of the Missouri River Navigation association and C. E. Chalide, of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, made a plea for Missouri river development in the public works program in a hearing before the army board of engineers for rivers and harbors in Washington last week.

Exports from the United States during May were reported at 114 million dollars by the commerce department. Both exports and imports showed an increase over April with 105 millions of exports and 88 millions of imports.

The state game commission announced that work in conservation camps at Fremont and Louisville began last Friday. Work at the Benkleman camp will probably not be started until July 1. Two camps have been opened at Crawford and Chadron but no information has been received concerning plans for a camp at Valentine.

The government will not buy trucks for use at forestation camps but are asking for bids for the use of such trucks for a period of five or six months and the owners of the trucks will be enrolled as regular members of the camps, driving their own trucks.

The chairman of the federal Home Owners Loan corporation announced that they hope to have state organizations ready to function by July 1 to bring relief to home owners in danger of mortgage foreclosures. There will be local offices organized and home owners will make their applications to those offices.

Congressman Terry Carpenter, on his way from the national capital to his home in Scottsbluff, told friends in Lincoln last Tuesday that he intends to run for governor in the next campaign.

The United States department of agriculture will not issue market reports after the end of this month. This is expected to effect an economy of about a million dollars annually on collecting and transmission of the reports.

The state and federal crops statistician has called for a survey to determine the actual differences in average yield of irrigated and non-irrigated crops in the central Platte valley. This is in connection with proposed power and irrigation projects. He says that irrigation and cheap power will mean more to this state than any other resource as it will lead to the development of local manufacturing.

DR. RICH says:

Grand Island, Neb., June 29, 1933 During the more than thirty years that I have been a Reddy Specialist in Grand Island patients have been cured from nearly every part of Nebraska and have also come here to be treated from Montana to Kansas and from California to Illinois. The service at the Sanitarium for the cure of rectal trouble is outstanding. Accommodations are all that could be desired, the cure is permanent in results and the price certainly most reasonable. No case is ever accepted for treatment unless a cure can be assured. Terms are gladly given when necessary. A business that has existed all these years in one location is worthy of confidence. Ability and experience of so many years should be accepted as an unquestioned fact. The treatment of disease should be considered a sacred trust and responsibility. If you are afflicted with rectal trouble enclose this ad and write me for complete information regarding my treatment and the expense of a cure. (1)

FINANCIAL SAFETY

No husband and father can be really happy until he gets acquainted with the true brand of happiness that comes with financial security. Nor does financial safety mean possession of thousands of dollars worth of property. It means simply having enough money in hand to protect against sickness or other sudden emergencies; owning a home of one's own; being able to meet bills promptly as they come due. That's the kind of safety that pays dividends in happiness.

The Protective plan of saving makes such happiness available to all, whether their weekly wage be great or small. Small deposits at regular, fixed intervals turn the trick. Save systematically by the Protective plan. We will be glad to furnish details on request.

"NO BLOWOUTS on My 4th of July Trip! I'm Getting New Goodyears NOW!"

YOU don't need to be told that a thin, risky tire can take all the joy out of driving—but perhaps you have never figured that it costs you money to ride on old tires, with prices on the way up—if you pay more for new tires later on.

So buy now—enjoy your big July 4th week-end—and save yourself some money.

And while you're buying—get the SAFETY of blowout protection in every ply—get the SAFETY of grip in the center of the tread. Only Goodyear can give you the double safety of Supertwist Cord in every ply—and every ply from bead to bead—combined with the safety of the world-famous All-Weather Tread.

You can buy Goodyears—the world's first-choice tires—for not a cent more than tires which give far less value and protection.

Prices Have Started UP! Don't wait to buy your tires!

You can see for yourself these prices are still low. Don't miss them by trying to squeeze a few more miles out of old worn-out rubber.

Peerless Flour

Peerless flour is made only of extra choice wheat, and the quality is always uniform. You not only have good bread when you use Peerless but you get more loaves from a bag of Peerless than you get from "cheap" flour.

It will pay you to buy a few bags of Peerless this week because if a "Processing Tax" goes into effect soon it will cause a large increase in the price of flour.

OPENING Announcement

To My Farmer Friends and the Public in General:

I have opened a harness shop and auto top works in the brick building known as the Hawkins Brick, first door south of the Kasal pool hall.

I have installed all modern machinery, including a new, latest type, hard wax, lockstitch Campbell machine, the only machine of this type in Ord or vicinity, and recognized by the harness profession as the best harness machine made.

My specialty will be Misko-made harness, made by myself and using only the best oak tanned leather and linen thread in its manufacture. If you have bought Misko-made harness or had harness mending or auto top work done in the Misko establishment in the last 20 years, the chances are I did your work. If satisfactory, no doubt you will want me to continue doing your work.

I will keep everything usually kept in a first class harness shop, including pocketbooks, bill folds, ladies handbags, rope, fly spray, etc.

Oiling and mending harness a specialty. Prices always as low as possible. Always prompt, fair and courteous treatment.
