THE ORD QUIZ, ORD, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1933.

VOL. 51 NO. 32

ELYRIA WOMAN STRUCK DOWN BY AUTO, INJURED

Mrs. Chas. Wozniak in Ord Hospital With Hurts Received Sunday In Highway Mishap.

Struck down Sunday evening when she stepped into the highway directly in front of a car driven by Mrs. L. B. Fenner of Burwell, a well known Elyria woman, Mrs. Charles Wozniak, suffered a fractured wrist and numerous severe bruises but is recovering in the Ord hospital where she was brought soon after being injured.

The accident happened just at dusk Sunday evening. In the Fenner car were riding Mr. and Mrs. Fenner and three children of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tunniff of Ord. The Fenners were coming to Ord to attend a session of the Contract Bridge club, of which they are members, and the Tunniff children were returning from a visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McMullen of Burwell.

A car in which Mr. and Mrs. Wozniak, their daughter, Florence, and the latter's child were riding, had been progressing northward on the highway and Mr. Wozniak had stopped for a moment across the highway from his residence.

Mrs. Wozniak, intent on shutting her chickens in their coop before going to her daughter's home to spend the evening, stepped from the east rear door of the car, closed the door and walked around the back end of the car with the intention of crossing the road to her own home.

Just as she stepped out from behind the car the Fenner car came along. Mrs. Fenner, at the wheel, was driving about 35 miles an hour and had no chance to stop as Mrs. Wozniak was directly in the car's path. She braked the automobile quickly but the front bumper struck Mrs. Wozniak and hurled her into the air.

Mrs. Fenner parked her car at once and both she and her husband rushed to the injured woman's assistance and remained with her until a doctor and an ambulance from Ord reached Elyria.

Mrs. Wozniak was brought to the Ord hospital and Dr. C. J. Miller made an extensive x-ray examination to determine the extent of her injuries. Late Sunday night he reported that the right wrist was the only bone broken but that Mrs. Wozniak's right knee was hurt and that she was terribly bruised.

She will be in the hospital at least a week, Mr. Wozniak told a Quiz reporter Monday.

No attempt was made to fix responsibility for the accident, both parties being somewhat at fault. Mrs. Fenner in driving through Elyria at what might be termed an excessive, though probably not illegal speed, and Mrs. Wozniak in attempting to cross the highway without first determining that no car was approaching. Mr. Fenner carries heavy liability insurance so it is probable that expense will be taken care of by the insurance company.

Ord to Play Ravenna.

After a two-weeks' lay-off, Coach Cecil Molzen's Ord high football team goes to Ravenna tomorrow to meet the heavy, experienced team that represents Ravenna high school. Ravenna is undefeated to date and Ord is expected to have little chance to win but should make a good showing. Next Friday evening the Ansley team plays in Ord.

Fair Ass'n. Will Meet.

The annual meeting of the Valley County Agricultural Society will be held at the district court room in Ord at 2 p. m. Monday, Nov. 6, according to notices sent out this week by Dr. J. W. McGinnis, secretary. Reports of officers will be heard, directors elected and other business transacted. A full attendance of stockholders is desired.

Farmers May 'Wire' Morgenthau For Credit Relief

The Quiz is convinced that any worthy farmer who is absolutely up against it and in danger of losing his farm through foreclosure proceedings will get relief if he sends a telegram stating the facts of the case to Henry Morgenthau, jr., Farm Credit Administrator, Washington, D. C.

Administration spokesmen have repeatedly stated that Mr. Morgenthau would move quickly to extend federal credit through the land bank or land bank commissioner if farmers would take such action. It has also been stated that the government would intervene to postpone foreclosures when such telegrams are received.

The Quiz will gladly assist any farmer who wishes to wire Morgenthau to prepare the telegram.

Alimony Defaulter Caught At Franklin After Year's Search

Upon a bench warrant issued more than a year ago by Judge E. P. Clements a former Ord man, Bernard Smith, was taken into custody Monday at Franklin, Neb., and is now confined in the Valley county jail pending a hearing upon contempt of court charges growing out of his failure to pay alimony.

It was on July 16, 1932 that Mrs. Smith applied for a divorce in district court here, charging that her husband had deserted her and their three children and had made no arrangements for their support.

Hearing was held in the district court and Judge Clements ordered Smith to pay his wife $50 per month to support her and the children. This Smith failed to do.

On Sept. 9, 1932 the judge issued a bench warrant for his arrest and ever since Sheriff George Round has been trying to find Smith. He was reported to be in his former home town, Franklin, but officers there said that he had left. He reappeared there Monday and his arrest came immediately.

Tuesday Deputy Sheriff Archie Keep drove to Franklin and brought Smith to Ord. Hearing will be held as soon as his wife arrives from her present home in Lincoln, where she has found employment.

EARL LEONARD, HUSKING CHAMP, AT COZAD TODAY

Valley County's Best Shucker To Compete Against Fast Group In State Contest.

Today, on the George Lawless farm near Cozad, Neb., Earl Leonard of Mira Valley is competing against the fastest field of corn shuckers that ever entered a state contest. Forty-nine county champions are competing there today and the winner will represent Nebraska in the national contest being held at West Point, Neb., on November 9.

To win the right to enter the state contest at Cozad Mr. Leonard had to husk more corn than any other of the thirteen huskers entering the Valley county contest held last week near North Loup. This he did, husking 17.3 bushels of corn about a half-bushel more than was husked by the runner-up, James Bremer.

Mr. Leonard will have his work cut out to make a good showing at Cozad for competing as such men as Charles Herde, of Schuyler, who husked 26.75 bushels of corn to win the Cozad county title, John Paasch, of Elkhorn, who husked 26.43 bushels to win in Douglas county, August Eiseaman, of Memphis, who husked 28.48 to win the Saunders county title, and many others whose records in county competition were almost as good.

It should be stated, however, that all such records were made in much higher yielding corn than that in which the Valley county contest was held.

The Lawless field near Cozad will yield from 60 to 70 bushels per acre and very few stalks are down, state papers say, so good records should be made in the contest today. A football game, horse show and agricultural exhibit are being held in connection with the contest. Thousands of spectators from all over the state are expected.

Tuesday several of Champ Leonard's neighbors and friends were planning to drive to Cozad to cheer him on in the state contest.

Ord Rotarians At Inter-City Meeting

Seven members of the Ord Rotary club drove to Broken Bow last Thursday evening and attended an inter-city meeting at which the clubs of Loup City, Ansley, Callaway, Arnold, Broken Bow and Ord were represented. Hugh Butler, head of the Omaha grain exchange and district governor of Rotary, was the principal speaker. Dr. George R. Gard of Ord led community singing. Other Ord Rotarians present were M. Blemond, Keith Lewis, Joe Barta, J. A. Kovanda, Ed Beranek and Dr. C. W. Weekes.

Pheasant Season Ended.

Tuesday evening the 1933 open season on pheasants came to a close and the scattered survivors may expect the next twelve months to be comparatively safe ones for them. Weather was ideal throughout the ten-day open season and thousands of birds were killed. The pheasant crop was smaller this year than usual and if next summer should happen to bring unfavorable weather conditions it may be necessary to curtail the open season next fall or eliminate it entirely. Sportsmen are hoping that this will not be necessary.

Mrs. Martha Mutter says that her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parson of Burwell, who have been under Mayo Bros. care in Rochester, Minn., are expected home this week.

SEWER SYSTEM ON L STREET IS PROJECTED

Street May Be Paved in Spring So Property Owners Want Sewer Built During Winter.

A sewer system on L street, connecting with the combination storm and sanitary sewer at the Sack lumber yard corner and running west as far as Mrs. Mary Ulrich's residence is being projected in Ord this week and tomorrow evening the city council, at its November session will be asked to create a sewer district.

E. R. Fafelta, one of the boosters for such a system, has been contacting L street property owners for several days and reports that most of them have signed petitions asking the council to create such a district.

The reason for building the sewer at this time is that L street will, in all probability, be paved by the federal government in the early spring. The paving project would follow highway No. 11 through Ord and has been recommended by state authorities to federal highway officials.

Cost of building the sewer at this time would be about $70 per lot, Mr. Fafelta says. It is proposed to issue sewer district bonds to finance the work. The bonds could be retired in ten years, Fafelta estimates.

Most of the work would be hand labor and would furnish employment for a number of men during the winter months when work is scarce. With this sewer completed, paving work could start early in the spring, boosters say.

The federal paving would be only a 20-foot strip down the center of L street and there is also being discussed a proposal to widen this to 30 feet and install concrete curbs and gutters with the property owners paying for the extra ten feet of pavement and for the curbs and gutters. The cost of such work, in connection with the sewer, would approximate $185 per lot. Since paving and sewer work done in Hillsdale addition a few years ago cost about $350 per lot it is felt that present low construction costs makes this an ideal time to have such work done.

Some property owners, although favorable to sewer construction, are said to oppose the paving plan, however.

Hearing to Appraise School Lands Held

Last Thursday Harry P. Conklin, commissioner of public lands and buildings, and his deputy were in Ord and, with members of the county board of supervisors, held a hearing to determine whether Valley county school lands should be reappraised and if so upon what basis. These hearings are being held in 87 counties of Nebraska.

The appraised valuation of school land in these different counties differs so greatly that last winter the legislature passed a bill calling for a reappraisal and to determine what form this reappraisal shall take Mr. Conklin is holding hearings all over the state.

Valley county has about 2,000 acres of school lands and last year schools of this county received $6,300 from the state as their share of the rentals from this and other school lands in Nebraska.

At the hearing Thursday, thirteen men who rent Valley county school lands were heard and the county board, after discussion, went on record as favoring reappraisal of values as between counties but saw no necessity of readjusting the values of school lands in this county, they being deemed fair in relation to each other at present.

Holiday Meeting Last Night.

A meeting of the Valley county Farmers' Holiday association was scheduled to be held in Ord last night, at which it was proposed to decide what part farmers of this community should take in the national "farm strike" called recently as well as to discuss other important subjects and elect delegates to a national farmers convention. Because the Quiz goes to press Wednesday afternoon it is impossible to carry an account of the meeting this week.

Hunting on Missouri.

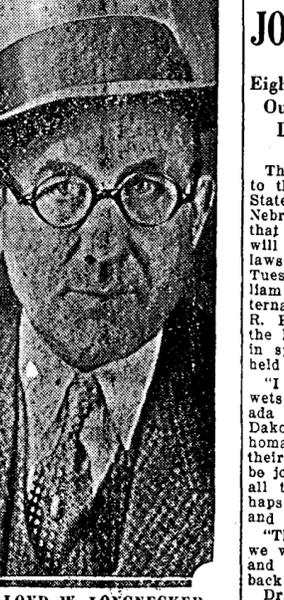

Dr. F. A. Barta, C. A. Anderson and Eugene Leggett left yesterday for Tekamah, Neb., where they expected to spend a couple of days hunting ducks and geese on the Missouri river. At Tekamah they were expecting to be joined by some friends of Dr. Barta from Cedar Rapids, Ia. The Ord men will return Friday night or Saturday morning.

Judge Weds Two Couples.

Saturday County Judge John L. Andersen was called upon to unite in marriage two couples, both non-residents. Mrs. Willie Hazel Smith became the bride of Richard C. Reinert, both being from Burwell, and Miss Lillie May Poor was married to Dwight L. Redinger, both of Anselmo.

Would Plant Quail In Valley County

LOYD W. LONGNECKER.

For several days last week Lloyd W. Longnecker, of Omaha, was in Ord interviewing local landowners about the advisability of planting bobwhite quail to replenish the native stock. Long an enthusiast about quail as a game bird, Longnecker has gained state-wide publicity for his efforts toward restoration of wild life. He was one of the leaders of a movement a few years ago which resulted in the planting of 60 wild turkey hens on an island in the Missouri river near Niobrara, Neb., on which two lone wild gobblers remained as the sole survivors of a former large flock. He reports that there are now several hundred wild turkeys on this island.

Arcadia Approves School Bond Issue

Vast Majority of Voters Favor the $19,000 Issue; Government Being Asked for Money.

Arcadia, Nov. 1.—(Special)—By a vote of 286 to 48, voters of this village last Thursday approved issuance of $19,000 in bonds to raise money for the building of a modern school structure to replace the building destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The vote was taken at a special election.

The school district is asking for a federal loan of $49,000 and a federal grant of $25,000 and has the approval of the Nebraska public works advisory board. The project is now before authorities in Washington for approval.

Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barraud and daughter Wilma and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wede drove to North Loup and were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Weed.

Hardenbrook, Back from Washington Says North Loup Almost A Certainty But Federal O. K. May Be Delayed

Ickes' Department Flooded With Work, Says Ord Man; Hopes For Approval in November.

Expressing confidence that a federal loan and grant of $2,900,000 will finally be awarded to the North Loup district but warning that the money will not be forthcoming as soon as expected, Bert M. Hardenbrook returned last Friday from Washington, D. C. He knows now what Secretary of the Interior Ickes and his assistants are up against in the public works program, Hardenbrook says.

The Ord man left Omaha on October 13 and reached Washington on the evening of October 15, he related, and spent the next 12 days in efforts to facilitate the passage of the North Loup power and irrigation project.

Living expenses are frightfully high in Washington, D. C., Mr. Hardenbrook says. While there he stayed at the Carlton Hotel and related that on the evening of his arrival he went into the dining room and was appalled to find that the cheapest dinner on the menu was $2.50.

"I know that our district couldn't stand that kind of a strain so I decided to drink only a glass of milk for my supper," Hardenbrook says. "When the check came I found that the glass of milk was billed at 30c, which was added 25c for covert charge. After that episode I did my eating at lunch counters and small restaurants but even at such places the expense ran high."

PROHIBITION NOT DOOMED, PROMISE JOHNSON, HUTTON

Eighteenth Amendment on Way Out, States Will Keep Their Dry Laws, Say Speakers.

That the Eighteenth Amendment to the constitution of the United States will be repealed but that Nebraska and many other states that were dry prior to its passage will keep their state prohibitory laws was the statement made Tuesday afternoon by both William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, internationally famous dry, and Dr. R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Nebraska Anti-Saloon League, in speeches made at a dry rally held at the Ord Christian church.

"I believe that we shall cut the wets in two right here from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. The Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas will not repeal their state prohibition. They will be joined by Arkansas and nearly all the southern states and perhaps by Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont," Dr. Hutton said.

"That is the point from which we will drive back to prohibition and national prohibition will be back in ten years or less."

Dr. Hutton was introduced by Rev. Willard McCarthy, of the Christian church, who also invoked a blessing upon the crowd, which filled the church to overflowing.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, principal speaker at the rally, was introduced by Dr. Hutton and at once plunged into one of the fiery speeches that have made him famous throughout the world.

"People of this world have been getting soused on beer for 4,000 years and now our Congress decided that it is 'non-intoxicating beverage' declared Johnson. "The wets have been telling us for ten years that if they could only get beer back everybody would be satisfied. They now have the beer back—floods of it—but where is the satisfaction? They're still yelling their heads off, louder than ever before. They have got the beer and now they clamor for whisky—something that will make their hair curl. That is the purpose of the drive for repeal of the Nebraska dry law. The purpose is to enable the liquor dealer to flood our country with whisky exactly as they have now flooded it with beer."

"They pretend that they are opposed to the return of the saloon. They have already brought back the saloon, only they call it a 'avern'; and in the place of the aproned, red-nosed bartender they have substituted young girls behind the spigot."

"They claim that this will civilize the snake holes. But what of the effect on the girls? These philosophers who seek to render the drink shops harmless in this manner are promoting a far more destructive program than the old licensed drink shop ever was."

E. L. C. E. to Give Play.

On Sunday evening, Nov. 5 at 8:00 the E. L. C. E. of the Mira Valley Evangelical church will present a three-act play at the church. There is no admission charge and everybody is invited.

Hardenbrook, Back from Washington Says North Loup Almost A Certainty But Federal O. K. May Be Delayed

Hardenbrook carried with him letters of introduction to several officials high in the public works administration and presented them on the day after his arrival. The North Loup project's formal application, which had been mailed from Omaha October 12 by John Latenser, jr., secretary of the Nebraska public works advisory board, was not yet on file in the public works department. Mr. Hardenbrook knew that it had arrived in Washington before that time so, as one of his letters was addressed to the head of the filing department, he went to this man to see if something could be done to speed up the application's filing.

"Our receiving room is simply buried with work but I'll tell you what I'll do: I'll give you an assistant and let you go down and dig out the North Loup application yourself," the official said, thus showing his good will to the project.

Hardenbrook says that when he reached the receiving room in the sub-basement of the Interior department's building he was appalled. "Applications had been coming in at the rate of several truck loads a day," he says, "and the large room was literally filled with mail sacks, all of them containing applications for loans from public works funds."

"Right then I was so discouraged that I felt like buying a return ticket for home," Mr. Hardenbrook laughingly relates.

Neighbors Gather And Husk Fr. Wadas' Corn

As a neighborly act toward Frank Wadas, who has been ill and unable to work since he was kicked by a horse recently, a large number of Farm Holiday members gathered at his farm 1.2 miles southwest of Elyria Thursday and held a husking bee, picking and cribbing about 800 bushels of corn in one-half day. The huskers were Frank T. Zulcoski, Peter Duda, Sylvester Wadas, John Sobon, Bill Kapusta, Anton Weiniak, Joe Kusek, Floyd Wegrzyn, Julius Okrzeza, Joe Okrzeza, Ted Augustyn, Tom Paprocki, Joe Urbanski, Nels Knudsen, John Urbanski, Joe Rutar, M. G. Kusek, Joe Proskocil, Joe Proskocil, jr., Frank Augustyn, Syl Shotkoski, Bennie Dubas, Bill Wozniak, Andrew Shotkoski, John Nelson, Emanuel Augustyn, Emanuel Wadas, Adam Augustyn, John Weiniak, Bill Baum, Leon Dubas, Frank Kapusta, Chester Dubas and Henry Wadas.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served to all who took part in the husking. Mrs. Wadas being assisted in preparing the meal by Mrs. Leon Dubas, Mrs. Joe Wadas, Mrs. Chas. Sobon and Mrs. Anton Weiniak.

To all of these neighbors and friends the Wadas family and the Holiday association committee wish to express their appreciation.

CITY LAYS 1,600 FT. WATER MAIN, EMPLOYS 32 MEN

Work Starts Monday on N Street And Will Finish This Week; Good Fire Protection.

Taking advantage of warm autumn weather, city officials Monday began the laying of 1,600 feet of new six-inch water main on N street in Ord, the project employing thirty-two men for two days each.

Each man was given 50 feet of ditch to dig, after which regular employees of the water department laid the pipe which is of a new kind with "self-caulking" joints. A car load of pipe was used on the job.

In August the city laid 550 feet of pipe in east Ord and the present main connects with this. More such work may be done later.

In the past residents of N street have had to go from one to three blocks to connect with a city main and although service has been uniformly satisfactory there has always been the danger that a break in the main would leave a substantial section of the city without water for a time. Now, should N street residents desire, they may connect directly to the main in N street.

The new main also will furnish the best of fire protection, as fire hydrants will be installed every two blocks on N street, alternating with those already installed on O and M streets.

James Ollis Tells About Federal Loans

James B. Ollis, secretary-treasurer of the Valley-Garfield-Greeley land-bank association, was a guest of the Ord Rotary club Monday evening and described the work of the federal land banks and the land bank commissioner's office.

Contrary to general belief, Mr. Ollis said, federal land banks are not new institutions but were organized by act of Congress in 1916 and have been functioning ever since. Money loaned by these banks is not federal money but, instead, is money realized by the sale of bonds which are secured by mortgages on real estate. The land bank commissioner is, on the other hand, a new loaning agency that came into effect July 11, 1933 by act of Congress. Money loaned by the commissioner is federal money.

Land banks may legally loan up to 50 percent of the appraised value of farm property and the land bank commissioner may loan an additional 25 percent. In the event of foreclosure the land bank has prior claim to receipts.

Almost 400 applications for loans have come to him since July 11, Mr. Ollis said, the total of money sought being in excess of $1,700,000. About 120 of these applications have been approved. He is expecting that loans will be made more speedily in future.

Will Have Ice Sale.

Ed F. Beranek this week is advertising his semi-annual Rexall ice sale and says that his stock of sale merchandise is the largest and most extensive he has ever offered. The sale started yesterday and continues until Saturday night.

Bell Elected Secretary.

Millard D. Bell, superintendent of Ord schools, last week at Grand Island was elected secretary of District 4, Nebraska State Teachers' association. Teachers of this district were in institute at the Third City, Chas. M. Bowers, former Ord school head and now secretary of the teachers' association, was one of the principal speakers at the District 4 meeting.

QUAIL BOOSTERS ORGANIZE, PLAN TO RAISE FUNDS

Fafelta Is Valley Co. Chairman, Appoints Committeemen; $500 Is Amount Needed.

A local organization to boost the propagation of bobwhite quail as a game bird in Valley, Garfield, Greeley, Sherman and Howard counties was formed Monday when a group of Ord enthusiasts met at the court house with Lloyd W. Longnecker, of Omaha, field man for the Nebraska Prison Welfare Society and a great believer in quail.

E. R. Fafelta was chosen Valley county chairman, Ign. Kilma, jr., is chairman for Ord, Roy Hudson for North Loup and A. N. Lewin for Arcadia. Later it is proposed to appoint a township chairman in each township of Valley county.

$50 is proposed to raise about $50 in the five counties, this money to be used for the purchase of quail eggs which will be hatched at Danneberg. Quail hatched from these eggs will, when they are large enough, be released in each of the five counties.

Mr. Longnecker, who has for several years made a study of quail, believes that the Loup valley region is ideally adapted to the rapid propagation of quail. A great amount of cover exists here for these birds, winters are not too severe, and with a few years of intensive planting he believes that the state could be induced to create an open season on quail in the counties participating.

There has been no open season on quail in Nebraska for many years though many of the birds were numerous. Failure of quail to increase in number during many years of protection is blamed by Mr. Longnecker upon the quail's tendency to become inbred and thereby weakened. Coveys do not become broken up, he points out, and consequently the birds inbred season after season, becoming smaller, weaker and unable to stand the Nebraska winters. He believes that an infusion of new, vigorous blood will bring about rapid increase in the numbers and hardiness of our native quail.

It costs about 40c each to purchase quail eggs and hatch them, Mr. Longnecker told local men, and he hopes that enough money can be raised to buy and hatch at least 1,000 eggs the first season.

Farmers upon whose places there exists good cover and where coveys of quail can be found at present are requested to communicate with one of the local men mentioned above. All farmers interested in seeing quail brought back to Valley county, who would be willing to have quail planted on their farms and would guarantee to protect them against illegal shooting are likewise asked to get in touch with the local committee.

This committee will again meet with Mr. Longnecker the latter part of this week and a plan worked out for raising funds. In Sherman and Howard counties a popularity contest is being used as a method of raising money and something of this sort may be done here.

Father-Son Banquet Held at North Loup

North Loup, Nov. 1.—(Special)—The basement of the Baptist church was the scene of a delightful time Sunday evening when ninety-eight fathers and sons gathered for the annual "father-son" banquet. Forty pheasants, killed by participants a few days before were served, along with many other delicious viands.

Professor L. O. Greene presided as toastmaster and speakers included Claude Barber, Vernon Williams, George Clement and Rev. H. S. Warren, the latter giving the principle address, "The Game of Life."

Alpha Crandall, 82 years old, was the eldest father present, and David Warren, 3 years old, was the youngest son. The banquet was heartily enjoyed by everyone present.

Attends Medical Clinic.

Dr. C. W. Weekes, of Ord, drove to Omaha Sunday and this week has been attending the five-day session of the Omaha Mid-West Clinical Society, which is being addressed by nationally known doctors and surgeons. Dr. Weekes expects to be in his office again Saturday.

—Carl Ferber of Sioux City was in Ord this week. He had an insurance adjuster with him. It will be remembered Mr. Ferber had a bad auto accident this summer on the Ord-North Loup road. He had over three hundred dollars expense and has never received his insurance. He was a guest in the R. V. Sweet home while here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jim May of Long Beach, Calif., left Ord Monday. They are visiting in Okmulgee, Okla., and in Flagstaff, Arizona. Their daughter, Mrs. Vie Compton lives in the latter place. She is not well and the Nays will spend several weeks with her.

That's a good joke, the N. R. A. folks thinking the big steel companies had talked things over because they all submitted exactly the same price per ton for first grade steel railroad rails, and all on the same day. Why, of course they talked things over and agreed upon a price. All the real big boys do that and some of the smaller ones too. When they do business they get a fat profit. They can organize because there are only a few of them. Wouldn't it be fine if the farmers could do the same thing but they won't stick together, or they could. There are too many of them to get well enough organized.

There are a good many families who are not getting the Quiz for various reasons, but principally because they owe back dues and don't feel able to spare two dollars at a time to pay for it. Most of them depend on coming in with five cents each week to buy it. Last week I had to leave my mid-day meal three times to sell a 5c Quiz to some of these people and a good many other things I had to leave my work, make a trip to the back room and get a paper, make change, all of which took more time than the sale was worth. We cannot get credit for these subscribers in our audit, either, and it is manifestly unfair to both us and the people buying the paper. They could any of them spare 25c at a time and pay for 6 weeks and have the paper mailed, or 50c for three months. They would be better served and we would have them counted as subscribers. Then sometimes we are out of papers when they come and they are disappointed. Won't you folks who depend on buying the paper each week, please leave 50c and let us take your paper to the P. O.

I don't see how a merchant who sends out of town for his advertising and job printing can kick when the people of the community send out of town for their goods.

I don't know what there is about Wednesday night that makes it so popular with everyone as a night to hold meetings. They all do it, though, and then the news is a week old before the weekly paper

WAR

THIS SPACE RESERVED FOR ERNEST S. COATS EACH WEEK. THERE WILL BE MORE ABOUT THE WAR!

Mrs. Housekeeper, you rightly insist on clean meat, clean groceries and clean bread—why not also insist on clean milk from a clean dairy?

A quart of Jersey milk testing as high as our milk tests is equal in food value to one pound of steak, or ten eggs, or two pounds of chicken. You can well afford to pay 7c for a quart of our all-Jersey milk produced under strictly sanitary conditions.

Our herd of Jerseys is the highest testing dairy herd in the state of Nebraska. No man selling milk at 5c per quart can give you a guarantee like we can. We just received our annual herd Health Certificate for 63 head of Jerseys. It is signed by J. R. Mohler, Chief of Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and by A. S. Feitner, Chief of Bureau of Animal Industry, State of Nebraska. These deputies test our herd each year and we have received this certificate every year for about 15 years.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association tester arrived at the Coats farm this week. He comes once a month and visits the best dairy herds of Central Nebraska at monthly intervals. The average butter-fat record of our whole herd this month, as revealed by his test, is 5.70 per cent, which is mighty good. You can get 1-2 pint of cream off the top of one quart bottle of our milk and have a lot of good milk left.

For 7c per quart we are delivering to your door daily the best and cleanest milk produced anywhere in the state of Nebraska.

The safeguards we use to produce a fine and wholesome food for your consumption cost us a lot of money and time that the cheap 5c man does not spend. Some of our customers tried 5c milk one day and the next day were taking our milk again, we are proud to say. Our milk is for sale at the farm, at the Farmer's Store, at Dywack's Suburban Store, or on our milk route delivered to your home each morning.

can print it; I am thinking right now about the Farm Holiday meeting held last night. Probably Ernest Coats is one of my best friends and he had the fixing of the date of this important meeting. If he had set it for Tuesday night the story would have been printed this week. Next week it will be such old news that we hesitate to print it.

Careful inquiry seems to indicate that a number of those whom Valley county tax payers now have to support, were wished onto us by other counties. We may have wished some onto other counties, too, for all I know. The only safe and sensible thing for our county officers to do now, is to carefully investigate every family moving into the county, and if there is the slightest reason to think they will become county charges, to at once notify the county from which they came, that they will be held accountable for the care of such people in case they become a county charge. The taxpayers now have about as big a load of that kind as they can handle and since there is a legal way to play safe, great care should be taken to protect the taxpayers of this county.

I didn't get to do much pheasant hunting this year. I found it much more comfortable to stay in the office and let Eugene tramp through the cornfields. And we have had no lack of fine birds, both pheasants and ducks. I will try to make up for my loss of fall shooting by doing lots of fishing next summer.

The political writers say the republicans plan on making it just as tough as possible for the democrats when congress meets. Such a course will probably delay the national return to a stable business condition. I know some radical republicans would rather see continued hard times than to have to admit success of the democrat program.

When I drove through the Platte valley country recently I couldn't help but notice the dwarfed, crooked condition of most of the timber, as compared with the timber growing in the North Loup valley. There is no question but that we have a wonderful climate in this part of Nebraska. Of course we have some unpleasant spells, but what country doesn't? On the whole however, I believe we are about as well situated here in central Nebraska as any people.

I heard the Missus uttering imprecations on Farmer Coats the other day and was surprised for as a rule she has a word of praise for him and I hastened to inquire the cause of the complaint. "This cream won't get sour and I wanted to make a sour cream cake today; I have been saving it a week." I like sour cream cake better than any other kind and I at once offered to go out and lick Coats. Upon second thought, however, I concluded there was some virtue, also in having milk and cream that can be kept a week without souring.

I read Sam McKelvie's "By The Way" department every week. It is so human. I fancy Mr. McKelvie would sit down and talk to me just as he writes, if I should happen along, even though he has been governor and been suggested for president.

Tears came into the eyes of Senator Norris the other day when he told me about an old farmer friend who came to see him and told him his farm where he had lived for almost fifty years, was going to be taken away from him. "And there is nothing I can do to help him," said the white haired senator.

A very interesting communication for the Quiz Forum was received this week from a Westerville reader who signed himself "Faithful Quiz Reader" but neglected to sign his own name. While the Quiz welcomes Forum letters and does not require that the writer's own name be signed in print, we do insist upon knowing who the writer is as a matter of ordinary precaution. We are sorry that we cannot print Faithful Quiz Reader's letter, for this reason.

BACK FORTY

Winter protection for raspberries, blackberries, grapes, and other fruits is needed in this section. The cold, drying winds and low temperatures are apt to destroy them if left exposed to the weather. Such fruits are covered with dirt, straw, or coarse manure. The canes are all bent over in the same direction and held down with clods of earth. A plowed furrow is then thrown over them. This should be done before the ground is frozen, yet after all danger of warm weather is gone. Few canes will break if they are bent while the sap still circulates. The plants are uncovered in the spring after severe weather is past. Grapes should be pruned, bent over, pegged down, and covered with a few inches of soil every winter. Protection of the canes from drying out seems to be more important than avoidance of low temperatures. Unless protected, grapes will suffer severe winter injury nearly every season.

Blackberries and black raspberries are more resistant to cold. Hardy blackberries can usually withstand a winter temperature of 30 degrees F. Black raspberries can be raised successfully in 3 years out of 5 without protection other than that afforded by a windbreak. The other kinds ought to be covered. Strawberries should be mulched with wheat straw to prevent winter drying and heaving. The mulch is put on about 5 inches thick just after the first hard freeze. It is removed in the spring. Strawberry mulches also keep down weeds, help hold moisture, and protect early blossoms from late frosts. Young fruit trees should have protection against being girdled by rabbits and mice. The trunks may be covered with blood, sulfured oil, or mechanical protectors. Sulfured oil is made by putting sulphur into boiling linsed oil until three ounces have been added per quart. This wash will last all winter.

Something DIFFERENT

Miss LaVeda Rogers set a new precedent for Ord invalids a few days ago, when she entertained a small bridge party in her room at an Ord hospital where she was recovering from an emergency operation for appendicitis. The party was held at rather unusual hours, however, as lights got out in the hospital at nine o'clock. So the young ladies assembled at seven o'clock in the evening and played until nine. Another unique thing about these girls was that they brought their own refreshments with them, in the form of ice cream and cake. It is reported that the convalescent had at least as good a time as any of the guests, and perhaps the best time of all.

Ord doctors in their examinations of Ord school children came across some most peculiar traits, and one local doctor discovered something like this in the kindergarten. . . .

Examining the children, he came to young Roger Miller, so he began to tease him genially, saying "Hello young fellow, and who is your daddy?"

The disconcerting answer came: "You are, you big nut!" It is not recorded what Dr. Miller did at this remark, but I feel quite sure Roger did not get spanked.

If necessary, a stranger from almost any other land could find someone in this vicinity who speaks his tongue, had you ever thought of that?

Ernest Weller speaks fluent German, for once upon a time this auctioneer studied to be a German Lutheran minister. . . . in other words he studied for the ministry, in German.

Mrs. Alex Long speaks Spanish and teaches it to anyone who wishes to learn, it being her native tongue.

Mrs. Amollia Partridge probably could still understand Russian, though she left that country as a small child.

Charles Bals and his wife, who often travel back to their former home in Belgium, could make any inhabitant of that country or of France feel at home, and Mrs. John Misko could also jabber French to them, if necessary.

Comparatively few Valley county people speak both Polish and Bohemian, though a great many use one language or the other. Will Gruber is one person in Ord who can interpret either successfully.

Rev. McCarthy reads Gaelic and I presume can speak it, though I doubt whether he has anyone to talk to but himself!

There are several families of Welsh descent, and an occasional Swiss, also some representatives of Holland. So you see, wherever a traveller might come from, someone hereabouts can hail him as he is accustomed to being spoken to in his homeland. . . .

And now we'll have the class in geography recite: What tongues are nationally spoken in (1) Belgium; (2) Switzerland; (3) Wales? Don't all speak at once.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

There are still many families whose names have never been signed to a recipe in this column, but who righteously appear to claim a calendar each year. If you are one of those, I should think your conscience would hurt you??? Please do your duty now, send in your share of recipes and help to make this column successful and of interest to your friends.

Corn a la Southern. Make a white sauce of one cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one and one-half tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, and add to one can of corn. Next put in two well beaten eggs. Place dish in hot water and bake in a moderate oven as a custard.

Mrs. Seton Hanson. Meat Cure. To sugar cure a small pig, allow the meat to cool out thoroughly, cut up, place larger pieces in the barrel first, then the bacon on top. Make a brine as follows: in a 16-quart pail make a brine by adding meat salt until it will hold up an egg, add two tablespoons black pepper, some salt petre, not too much, a quart of sorghum, a pound of brown sugar. Stir well and pour over the meat. Weight the meat down. Hams and shoulders should be left in the brine six weeks, the bacon according to your taste. Remove from the brine, dry, and smoke if desired.

Mrs. Roscoe Garnick. The recipe of Mrs. Opal Gifford for mincemeat has raisins given twice, once as one and one-half cups of whole raisins, and once as two and one-half cups of whole raisins. May I have another copy of this recipe, please?

Sandwich Spread. Chop fine two cups green tomatoes, one-half cup ripe tomatoes, two ripe peppers, two cups chopped cucumbers, two teaspoons salt. Let stand and drain. Boil until tender, then add the following dressing: one cup sugar, one cup vinegar, one cup sour cream, two eggs well beaten, two heaping tablespoons flour, two teaspoons mustard. Boil, stirring constantly. Combine and put in jars while hot. Cranberry Fluff for Thanksgiving.

Cook one quart cranberries in one cup of water until soft enough to put through the colander. Rub through and add measure for measure of pulp and sugar, then cook until like marmalade. Let cool, then beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff froth and fold in. Put in the oven until "set". When cold, dish and serve with whipped cream and nutmeats. The nuts, rolled, may be added to the pulp when it is put into the oven if it is liked better this way.

Mrs. Paul Hanson. Omelet. Mix four egg yolks, with four tablespoons of milk or water, salt to taste and one-half cup mashed potatoes. Beat the egg whites until stiff, fold into the yolk mixture and pour into a hot pan which has been greased with one tablespoon of fat, preferably bacon fat. Cover and cook slowly or bake in the oven. Any cooked vegetable, mashed, or rice may be used instead of potatoes. Extra good when served with Spanish sauce.

Mrs. McVean, Paul, Idaho. Cheese and Pineapple Salad. Boil together two cups crushed pineapple, one-half cup sugar, juice of one lemon. Add one envelope gelatine which has been dissolved in one-half cup cold water. When it begins to set add one cup stiffly whipped cream and one cup grated cheese, place in a mold until cold. Serve with salad dressing.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. The Woman's club gave their annual party at the A. M. Daniels home and about 80 were present.

A. J. Wise stepped on a rusty nail and his injured foot was making a slow recovery.

Mrs. E. H. Petty was under the care of Dr. Grothan due to an attack of appendicitis.

William Currie celebrated his 80th birthday and the Quiz remarked that ever since Mr. Currie came to the United States from Canada in 1848 during the Zachary Taylor campaign he had voted the republican ticket.

Eugene Moore, the famous stock company actor, was advertised to appear in Ord in Edwin Milton Royle's play, "My Boy Jack."

A special train brought Dr. Allison and a nurse from Omaha to North Loup to perform an operation on Mrs. N. C. Madsen, who was said to be recovering nicely.

Archie Todd and Will Collier returned to Arcadia after a three months visit at their old home in Scotland.

With the election only a few days away, politics was the chief interest of Quiz editor and readers. Wm. J. Taft and W. J. Bryan were opposing candidates for president, G. L. Sheldon and A. C. Shallenberger for governor, Moses P. Kinkead and W. H. Westover for congressman, G. H. Kinsey and J. A. Ollis for state senate, Peter Mortensen and S. J. Boits for state house of representatives. All of the first named were republican candidates, those named last were candidates for the fusion of democrat and populist parties.

20 Years Ago This Week. Ministers met in North Loup and formed the Loup Valley Ministerial association, Rev. George B. Shaw being elected president.

The John C. Carkoski residence near Elyria was burned to the ground.

Valley county people who were lucky enough to win lots of farms in the big North Platte land drawing included Ned Bariz, Jr., T. A. Seckman, Miss Gladys Gibson, Edward C. Miller, Mike Kirtschner, J. L. Pfejdrup, Anton Goodman, Hans Fischer, S. E. Austin and Charles Plane.

Ord defeated Arcadia in football, 18 to 6. Fred White starred for Arcadia high and John Haskell for Ord.

Mrs. Whiting's Sister Dies. Mrs. Mary Salter, of Portland, Ore., sister of Mrs. J. H. Whiting of Sumter, passed away last Wednesday morning at the age of 84. Her husband preceded her in death ten years ago. She was the mother of fifteen children, eleven of whom survive. Until recent years her home was Shelton, Nebr.

-Dan Needham of Broken Bow was in Ord for a couple of days leaving last Wednesday. Mrs. Needham had planned to come but her parents arrived from Iowa.

THE GOLDEN RULE

Bert Hardenbrook, Back from Washington, Says North Loup Project Almost Certainty But Federal O. K. May Be Somewhat Delayed

But he and the assistant pitched in, and, after working from about 10 a. m. until almost 6 p. m., found the North Loup application and triumphantly carried it upstairs to the friendly filing department head. The latter stamped it with his filing stamp, filled in a docket number and put the application on file, commenting that it would be acted upon by the filing department next day. The docket number of the local project is 1,751, which means that 1,750 applications are ahead of the North Loup. How many thousands of applications are still in the sub-basement Mr. Hardenbrook does not know but he feels that this official's kindness in permitting him to sort out the North Loup application saved this project two or three weeks' time.

The next day was devoted to consideration of the application by the filing department, which saw to it that the application was complete in every particular. Had any requirement been omitted the application would have been sent back to the Nebraska Public Works board for correction, which would have meant many weeks of additional delay. But it was correct and complete and was put on general file with the filing department's approval.

On the next day the application went to the legal department, which is presided over by Colonel John Pershing, a nephew of Nebraska's own General Pershing. There it was scrutinized for two days by lawyers and finally was approved, subject to one or two minor conditions being met, and was sent to the engineering department.

On the engineering floor of the Interior building are dozens of offices, in each of which are three engineers. To one of these groups must go every application and by this group the engineering detail is carefully studied. E. H. Dunmire, engineer for the local project, is working every day with the trio who are considering the North Loup project—answering questions, assisting in digging out facts and otherwise making every effort to speed the project to final approval on engineering. But it is a slow process, due to the fact that these federal engineers are going to be absolutely sure that the project is meritorious and feasible before they give it approval.

Have them taken for Christmas
LUMBARD STUDIO

"How long do you think it will take to go through this project?" Dunmire asked Major McKibben, the army engineer in charge of the trio studying the Ord project.

"How long did it take you to familiarize yourself with it and make this set-up?" Major McKibben countered.

"Oh, it took me three or four weeks," Dunmire answered.

"Well, you can't expect us to become as familiar with it as you are in very much less time, can you?" McKibben came back at him, dashing Mr. Dunmire's hopes of early approval to the earth. The latest report from Dunmire indicates, however, that engineers are making such rapid progress that decision will come within ten days from the starting date, or about Friday or Saturday of this week.

After being approved by engineers the North Loup project must go to the financial and liquidation division, which will determine how much money will be loaned and upon what terms it must be repaid.

"I am not worried about the outcome in this division if our project is approved by the engineers," Mr. Hardenbrook says.

After going through the financial and liquidation division the project must go to the Federal Power Commission, which has to examine all projects relating to hydro-electric power, and finally must go to Secretary of the Interior Ickes for ultimate decision.

A Nebraska man prominent in democratic circles at Washington introduced Hardenbrook to Secretary Ickes and the Ord man was much impressed with Ickes' honesty and intensity of purpose.

After learning the nature of the North Loup project Secretary Ickes said: "If this project of yours is found by our engineers to be as you say it is, it is just the kind of project we want to get under way. You need not worry about getting this money if your project is meritorious and feasible."

Mr. Hardenbrook comments on the fact that politics appears to play no part whatever in the workings of the Public Works department. Everything there is on a business basis, he says. Projects that "have the goods" are going to be passed on in a reasonable time; projects that do not have are going to be rejected just as surely.

He believes that the North Loup project is safe for ultimate approval but was discouraged at learning how much time will elapse before the approval finally comes.

"We are hoping now that our project will be approved some time in November," Hardenbrook says. "Public works authorities at Washington are facing a stupendous job and are doing it very capably but with thousands of applications to be considered and Secretary Ickes determined that no graft shall creep in anywhere it is only natural that the job must take time."

Engineer Dunmire will remain in Washington until the project is finally approved or rejected and his superiors, Messrs. E. W. Black and N. T. Veatch, Jr., will "commute" between Kansas City and Washington whenever their services are needed. Mr. Hardenbrook may have to make another trip to the capitol in two or three weeks, if it develops that he is needed there.

"Tell our people not to worry because this project is being delayed," Hardenbrook says. "I believe we're going to get it in the long run and we mustn't criticize government officials because I believe they are doing the best they can. When we do get it we'll know that it's clean, that no graft and no politics entered into our getting it, and that it's entirely feasible and will pay for itself in a few years."

Reduces Freight Rates in Nebraska

Inaugurates Pick-up and Delivery Service

Effective November 1, 1933, the present rates on less-than-carload freight moving wholly within the state of Nebraska, and here the first class rate does not exceed $1.23 per cwt. are extended to include drayage between the shippers warehouse and the consignee's place of business, within the corporate limits of the cities or towns from and to which the shipment moves.

At certain points terminal pick-up and delivery service will be performed, upon request of shipper or consignee, by local drayage concerns under contract with the railroad, and at the railroad's expense. Or if the shipper or consignee elects to perform this drayage service an allowance of 5c per cwt. will be made.

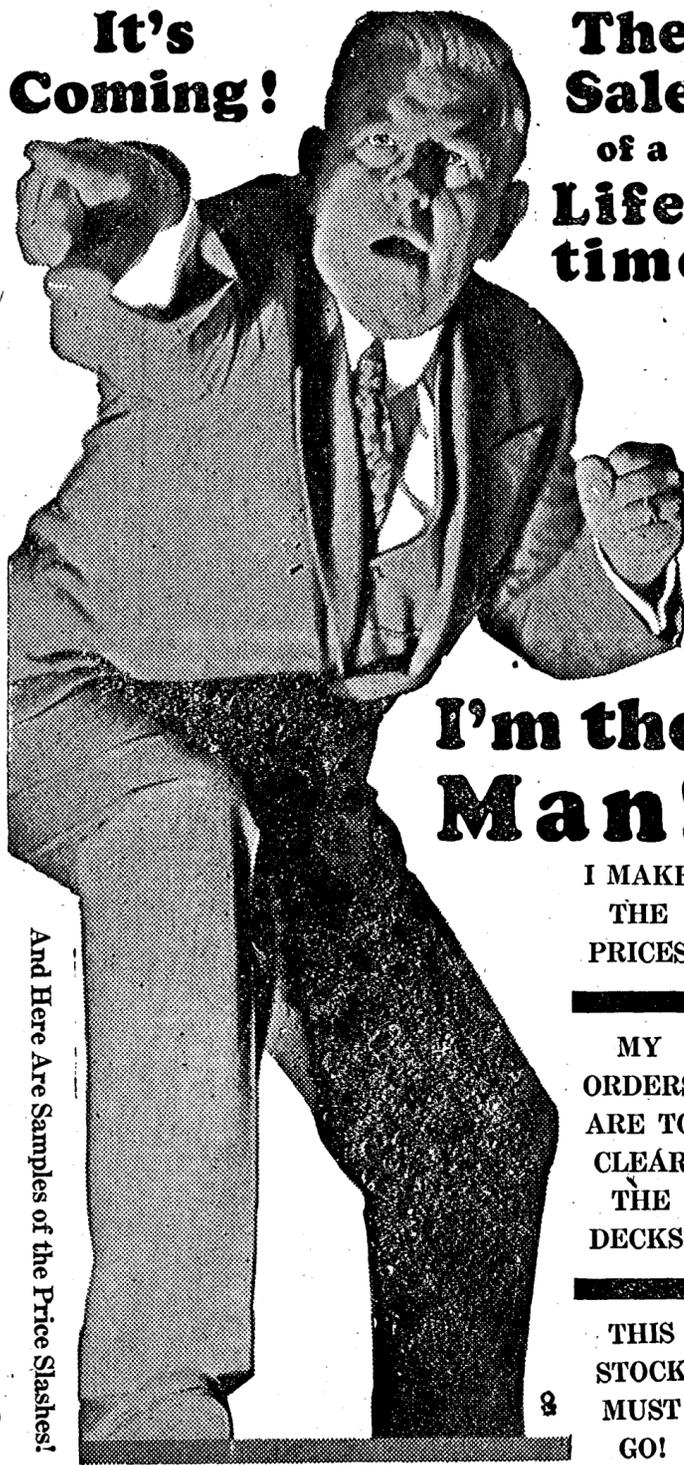

At other Nebraska points, an allowance of 5c per cwt will be made by the railroad when the dray service is negotiated or undertaken by the shipper or the consignee of less-than-carload freight.

All shippers and receivers of LCL freight are invited to consult the undersigned for full information as to the application of the new arrangement.

Quiz Want Ads get results. Grand Island, Nebr., Nov. 2, 1933. I do not believe it has ever been so noticeable—the number of patients who tell me they made a mistake in doctoring their rectal trouble before coming here. They see that now after the money is spent, the time lost and needless suffering endured. There is a lot more to the proper and correct cure for rectal trouble than those who suffer with this affliction could know or understand until they place the cure of their particular case in the hands of an experienced rectal specialist. It will cost you no more to get what you want and should have than you pay for disappointment. I know of nothing to prevent you from using the best of judgement and making a wise decision to obtain a cure for your rectal trouble. (1)

Exhibits at Missionary air Make Ord Christian Church Interesting Place

Well worth a thorough inspection and the expenditure of your time is the exhibit the Christian church is having of missionary activities, both in this country and their many stations throughout the world, in their basement rooms this week, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Dr. Pinkney of Ericson is speaking Thursday afternoon at three on his missionary experiences, and his wife will talk Friday afternoon at the same hour. There is no admission charge, the public is cordially invited, and light refreshments are served for the small sum of ten cents.

The exhibits are varied and picturesque, borrowed from many lands and peoples. Rev. McCarthy and his faithful helpers have done a great deal of it themselves, including a monstrous circle sliced to show the percentage of churchgoers in Nebraska. It is shown that 83 per cent of the people are not members of any church. About 28,000 Christians attend church in Nebraska or belong to it. There is also a huge black and white map of Nebraska and of the other countries of the world, with green strings going out from Ord to each missionary station of the Christian church. Pictures of the missionaries in charge are pasted at their own station, in the appropriate spot. The maps are excellently drawn to scale, and represent a deal of work.

Mrs. Pinkney has loaned an exhibit of Indian things, including batik work, clever carving on wood, an ancestral idol that is ugly but fascinating, many brass things, a kettle drum of skin and metal, native shoes, etc. Mrs. Joe Barta's class made a miniature African village of brown paper shacks and paper palms, and next to it is the representation of the Bolenge missionary station on the Congo river that they made last year. Exhibits are present from many mission schools, including San Antonio, Tex.; beautiful beadwork from the White Swan Indian school at White Swan, Wash.; a fine sample of work done by the children in the orphanage of the church at St. Louis, Mo., in which are towels, and other embroidered things, quilting, etc.; Mount Beulah college at Edwards, Miss., sent a southern collection of Spanish moss, cotton, nuts.

Mrs. Glover's Sunday school class made a Chinese display, miscellaneous in nature; and Mrs. J. S. Collison loaned her collection of interesting things from South America and France, brought her by her son, Norman. Mrs. Anthony Thill and her Sunday school class assembled a Mexican table, with a cunning lake and palms, and little missionary station. From Porto Rico and Hazel Green, Ky., and the Child Saving Institute in Omaha come other fine collections.

Mr. Will Carlton brought intricate examples of jig-saw carving, one being the Twenty-Third Psalm in a wooden plaque, well worth seeing.

"Drink sold by a young girl behind the bar will make a man drunk just the same as it would if sold by a burglar. Drink sold by a government official will put a man under the table just as surely as it would if sold by a horse-thief. It is the drink that makes the trouble, and not the hand of the girl who mixes it out."

"Schemes for making the drink shops respectable and decent have always resulted in making the vice more widespread and dangerous than the dirtiest rum holes that ever infested our cities. The old 'red-light' districts that fouled our larger cities 20 years ago were brewery enterprises from start to finish."

"If we are going to return to some form of licensed and protected drink, give us the old-time saloon, and the dirtier the saloon the less destructive it will be."

"There was no hypocrisy about the saloon. The barkeep did not pretend that he was running the snake hole in the interest of temperance. It is these pundits down in New York, St. Louis and Milwaukee who propose to launch fool enterprises of that sort. God made a man's head to think with, and intended that it should be used as such."

"The various proposals for the reform of the drink traffic put out under the patronage of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., have been tried out again and again in various countries of the world. In nearly every case they have been sponsored by the brewers themselves; and in every case the results for sobriety have been more unsuccessful than the old-time saloon itself." That is what Mr. "Pussyfoot" Johnson says, and he quotes a whole pile of facts and statistics to prove it.

"South Carolina tried it for 25 years under the efforts of Senator Tillman, and the results were so rotten that he turned upon it and helped put it out of commission. Russia tried it under the efforts of Prime Minister Count Sergius Witte. The results were so disastrous that Witte himself denounced the project as a 'street-walker', and helped terminate it. "Sweden tried out the systems and the result is that arrests for drunkenness in Stockholm, in proportion to population, run ten times what they do in New York City, the rottenest old dump that we have in America."

"Canada tried out the same old game, and the results are that the arrests for drunkenness and the consumption of liquor during the past ten years has increased faster than in any other country on earth, save Russia and Turkey which have the same system. "England has been trying it out in the Carlisle area ever since early in the Great War. The result is that the arrests for drunkenness in Carlisle are greater than in two-thirds of the British cities of the same class."

"This program of government monopoly of the booze business has been chiefly proposed and urged by the brewers themselves for the last 75 years. The idea of peddling booze for the benefit of the people and for the glory of God produces far worse results than the old-time saloon system." The famous dry advocate, now aged and white-haired but retaining much of the spryness that caused Pueblo Indians to nickname him "Pussyfoot" in the days when he was enforcing laws against selling liquor to Indians, made a great personal hit with the large crowd and was applauded again and again. The crowd was composed largely of women but there was a goodly sprinkling of men. Arcadia, North Loup and Burwell were well represented at the meeting.

In his introductory remarks Dr. Hutton outlined the course that prohibition repeal must take in Nebraska. By act of the legislature prohibition will be voted on at the general election in November, 1934 and Dr. Hutton predicted that Nebraska will not ratify repeal.

Temperance forces always had a big majority if a mere 70 per cent of eligibles voted, he pointed out. He believes that the only reason 33 states have voted for repeal is because the vote has been taken in special elections at which less than 35 per cent of eligibles have gone to the polls. "If Nebraska votes against repeal next fall I predict that the next session of the legislature will repeal the beer law and it is sure that in that case local county attorneys, sheriffs and city mayors will get busy effectively to enforce prohibition," Dr. Hutton said. He spoke of Ord as being a fine town and a dry town and said that the dry rally here Tuesday was one of the most successful held by Mr. Johnson and himself this fall. The Anti-Saloon league is making a vigorous campaign to keep Nebraska in the dry column and the Tuesday meeting was one of the best rallies being held in Nebraska between October 21 and November 12.

Vandals Almost Ruin Plate Glass Windows

Vandals, probably small boys, almost ruined the plate glass windows in the Frank Hron store and at the Orville H. Sowl funeral parlors Tuesday evening by scratching them with a glass-cutter or sharp stone. The windows may have to be replaced and if so the damage will amount to several hundred dollars. Windows in Joe Dworak's store also were somewhat damaged.

With the exception of damage reported above, Hallowe'en passed quietly in Ord. Windows in the business district were marked up with soap, a few outside toilets were tipped over and other minor pranks indulged in but such antics are always expected at Hallowe'en time. Officers are making an effort to discover the identity of the culprit who ruined the Hron and Sowl windows.

Christian Church. We are all obsessed this week with the missionary fair. The basement of the church is so filled with exhibits there is little room left. Thursday afternoon Dr. Pinkney of Ericson, a former missionary in India will talk on medical missions. At 3 o'clock Friday Mrs. Pinkney will be our guest and will talk on woman's work in India. We hope to have Miss Mary White, our state secretary of woman's work for Thursday evening and Sunday morning and John Alber, state secretary for Sunday evening. Mr. McCarthy will fill in the evenings with the stereopticon and a selection from his over a thousand slides. Every body come. Mr. McCarthy will go to Chester for a meeting next Wednesday. —Mrs. E. L. Achen and Miss Virginia VanDecar were pheasant hunting Saturday near Ericson.

THE ORD QUIZ

ESTABLISHED APRIL 1882

THE ORD QUIZ, ORD, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1933.

VOL. 51 NO. 33

BERNARD SMITH HAS TWO WIVES, IS JAILED HERE

Former Ord Oil Truck Operator Took 2nd Spouse in West; Must Serve 20 Days.

Arraigned in district court here last Thursday because he had failed to pay $50 monthly toward the support of his wife, Mrs. Roma Smith, and their three children, Bernard Smith, a former Ord oil truck operator was sentenced by Judge E. P. Clements to serve 20 days in county jail. The first five and the last five days of this term Smith is to get only a bread and water diet; the intervening ten days he must spend at hard labor.

Smith is alleged to have deserted his wife and children here in the summer of 1932 and on July 16 his wife filed suit for divorce. At the preliminary hearing Judge Clements issued an order directing Smith to pay $50 per month to the support of his family, pending final hearing on the divorce action. The divorce suit is still on file but no further action was ever taken by Mrs. Smith.

The absentee husband failed to heed this order and on Sept. 9, 1932 Judge Clements issued a bench warrant for his arrest, the formal charge being contempt of court. Officers could not find Smith so the warrant wasn't served until last week. Then Smith made his appearance at his former home town, Franklin, Nebr., and officers there notified Sheriff George Round, who sent his deputy, Archie Keep, to Franklin to take Smith into custody. He was brought to Ord Tuesday evening.

In court here last Thursday Smith told Judge Clements that he has been unemployed ever since he left Ord and has traveled all over the west looking for work, without avail. He has been in Montana, Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma, the Dakotas and other states, he said. To excuse his failure to contribute to the support of his family he said that his father, who lives at Franklin, came to Ord a year ago and took the children to Franklin and has since cared for them.

Questioned by Judge Clements and attorneys, Smith admitted that in Montana a few months ago he re-married but said that he did not know his first wife had not completed her divorce. This makes him liable to a bigamy charge in Montana and possibly in Nebraska also, lawyers state.

Mrs. Smith No. 1 is employed in Lincoln at present but came to Ord for the hearing Thursday. Mrs. Smith No. 2 is in Franklin.

In sentencing Smith to jail for twenty days Judge Clements directed County Attorney George A. Munn to look up statutes bearing on the case to see whether a bigamy charge should be filed here. Mr. Munn expresses the opinion that Valley county has no jurisdiction in the matter, that Red Willow county, where Franklin is located, might possibly have jurisdiction, but that in all probability the suit would have to be brought by Montana authorities.

An effort will be made to straighten out the tangled Smith marital affairs while he is in jail here.

New Fire Equipment Will Save Insurance

At the session of the school board Monday evening it was decided to bring the fire equipment in the south school up to the highest standard recommended by the underwriters, and to this end some new type fire extinguishers were ordered. Each of the nine new extinguishers has a capacity of 2 1/2 gallons, and in total it is hoped will not exceed a cost of $10 or so.

Installing this new equipment will entitle the Ord schools to a refund on the insurance, which is necessarily heavy in the south building, constructed principally of wood and not of the newest vintage. Refunds on the insurance, it is expected, will total about $25 per year. At the high school, largely made of brick and steel, there is little to burn and the fire fighting equipment is already sufficient and capable, underwriters state.

No Action on Sewer. The city council, at its meeting last Friday, took no action on petitions urging the creation of a sewer district on West L street but councilmen indicate that they will create such a district as soon as it is learned definitely that L street will be paved in the spring. A majority of West L street residents want the sewer, it is claimed, and when the proper time comes the council will act quickly to create the district and get sewer construction under way.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Gruber have written their daughter, Mrs. Frank Fafetta, that they will start home from California about the 18th of this month. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fafetta sr., have decided to stay in California for a longer time.

—S. D. G. club met Thursday afternoon with Nels Christensen and daughter, Mrs. Dagmar Cushing. All members except the Engers were there. Mrs. Enger was out of town.

Will Let Contracts For Hauling Mail

As a part of the postoffice department's economy program, new bids are being called for on hauling United States mail matter from depot to postoffice and postoffice to depot, not only in Ord but in every town and city in the country, says Postmaster Edwin Clements.

Anybody desiring to submit a bid for hauling mail from the Ord office to the C. B. & Q. and Union Pacific depots and vice versa may do so providing the bid is filed by Nov. 13, Mr. Clements says. Information will be given at the postoffice to any prospective bidder.

R. O. Hunter has the mail hauling contract at present, his bid at the last letting being $49 per month.

TWO ARRESTED IN HUFF THEFT & ADMIT GUILT

Hurlbert and Samla in Jail and Stolen Property Recovered; Good Work by Sheriff.

About two weeks ago, while Kingsbury Huff was absent, thieves visited his farm home in Union township and stole certificates of deposit in Nebraska State bank valued at $900, as well as two guns, a sheepskin coat, some overalls, harness, a horse-blanket and other articles.

Sheriff George Round was called to the Huff place at once but nobody had seen the prowlers and the only clue he was able to find was the imprint of tires on the automobile driven by the thieves. From this slender clue, and with an immense amount of clever work, Sheriff Round constructed a theory that resulted in the arrest in Greeley county yesterday of Elbert Hurlbert, who admitted to officers that he was involved in the theft but denied taking the property himself.

Hurlbert was jailed and a search warrant was secured in Garfield county to search the place of another suspect, James Samla. Sheriff Round drove to the Samla farm yesterday afternoon and, after finding some of the Huff property cached in different places, took Samla into custody and lodged him in jail with young Hurlbert.

Most of the stuff stolen from Mr. Huff was recovered, the Sheriff states. One of the guns was found in Hurlbert's possession, some of the other articles were found at a place on Turtle creek, and others at the Samla farm. It is hinted that another arrest may be made later.

Both Samla and Hurlbert have criminal records in Valley county. In August, 1924, the former was arrested for having a still and was fined $500 and given a 30-day jail term. In July, 1926 Hurlbert was found guilty on a chicken-stealing charge and sent to the state reformatory, from which he was later released.

Sheriff Round said last night that he expects later to recover all of the property stolen from Mr. Huff. He expects that both Samla and Hurlbert will plead guilty when formally arraigned.

Notice

A postcard subscription notice is being sent this week, to nearly 500 Quiz subscribers whose subscription expires Nov. 15. We don't want you to miss a single paper and if you cannot bring or send the $2 for a full year right now, you can keep the paper coming by paying $1 for 6 months or 50c for 3 months. We want you to have the paper but the fact of the matter is, our business is so poor that we must have the money to buy more paper with or else we can't send the paper. It is not because we want to stop it, it is because we just can't afford to send it unless it is paid for.

Mrs. Bailey Married.

Mrs. Emma Bailey, widow of the late Clarence Bailey, was wed on October 25 to John H. Roberts, of Spokane, Wash., who at one time lived in Ord. They left on a trip to Spokane at once and Mr. Roberts rented his property there, after which they returned to Long Beach, Calif., to make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts' address in Long Beach is 835 Newport Avenue, in case any Ord friends care to write.

Williams Chosen President.

Harry A. Williams, a graduate of Ord high school in 1922 and later of Peru Normal, last week was chosen president of the western division of the Colorado Education association, at a convention of principals and superintendents held at Grand Junction. Mr. Williams has been superintendent of the DeBeque, Colo., schools for several years.

—Daleth chapter of Ord Delphian society met in regular session Wednesday evening, with Mrs. Sowl leader of a program on "Zenith to Nadir of Egypt's Greatness". Special attention was paid to Egyptian mind and character, social customs, religious reforms, and the contributions of this country to posterity.

LEONARD HUSKS 22 BUSHELS BUT FAILS TO PLACE

Large Gallery Followed Ordite in State Contest; Winner Shucked 28 Bushels.

Although he shucked 22 bushels of corn in the allotted 80 minutes, Earl Leonard of Ord, Valley county husking champion, failed to place in the high fifteen in the annual state shucking contest held near Cozad last Thursday. Sherman Henricksen of Lancaster won the championship with a mark of 28.367 bushels. Harry Brown of Cuming county was second.

The 1933 state meet was a spectacular one with 47 huskers in the competition. They worked in a field of irrigated corn that is making about 65 to 70 bushels to the acre. At the sound of an aerial bomb, Leonard and the rest of the entries were off to their start down the rows.

Hundreds followed behind each contestant, watching them husk the corn. Some timed them. Others encouraged them. Henry Sorenson, 1932 champion, drew the largest "gallery". Over 1,000 intensely watched him shuck. In the final tabulations, he ranked ninth.

Over 18,000 people, many from Valley county, attended the meet. They came early in the morning and stayed late at night. The event took the air of a great international football game with bands playing throughout the day. Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, and Newton W. Gaines of the Nebraska agricultural college addressed the thousands at noon.

All strike activities here must be peaceable and there must be no picketing. Holiday members decided. No violence will be tolerated, it was emphasized.

It was the consensus of opinion that members should not withhold from the local market such products as butter-fat, eggs and livestock butchered for local consumption but should withhold from market all grains, livestock, etc., shipped to Omaha or other central markets.

The Valley county Holiday association claims to have over 600 members or almost half of the number of farmers in the county. Whether all or most of the membership will follow the decision made Wednesday evening is uncertain but officers believe that they will.

President Arthur Mensing presided at the Wednesday meeting and besides taking action on the strike situation members elected Ole Nelson and F. S. Carkoski as delegates to the national farm congress being held in Chicago Nov. 15 to 18. These men will leave Saturday by auto with Sherman county delegates and at Clark, Nebr., will join a caravan of Oregon and other western states, proceeding in their company to Chicago.

Has An Eye Removed.

Wednesday morning Mrs. Ed Holman submitted to an operation for the removal of an eye, the operation being performed by Dr. F. A. Barta in the Ord hospital. Mrs. Holman has been suffering with eye trouble for some time and was treated at University hospital, Omaha, without benefit. It is thought that her general health will be improved, by having the eye removed.

Season's First Snow Storm Came Sunday

After three days of sub-freezing weather, the first snow storm of the season came Sunday, covering the ground to a depth of from one to three inches throughout the county. The snow was accompanied by a strong northwest wind.

Monday was warmer and the snow melted rapidly but below-freezing temperatures have been the rule each night since. The coldest temperature of the fall was reported Sunday night when Ord thermometers registered 12 degrees above zero.

—Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Laughrey of Glen Elder, Kas., were dinner guests Friday in the home of Mrs. W. H. Harrison.

37 States Vote for Repeal, 18th Amendment Will End in December

Ohio, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Utah Vote Prohibition Out of Statutes Tuesday.

Thirty-seven states, one more than necessary, have now voted to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and national prohibition, in force 13 years, will come to an end in December.

Tuesday six states voted on prohibition and four of them voted wet—Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah and Kentucky. The other two states voting, North Carolina and South Carolina, went dry.

Legion To Sponsor Men's Chorus With Duncan As Director

A men's chorus of twelve voices was organized in Ord Monday afternoon, the chorus being sponsored by the American Legion and directed by Dean S. Duncan. After a suitable period of practice, but probably not before January, the chorus will give several recitals.

Members of this chorus are: First tenors—Dean S. Duncan, Edgar Mauer, Kirby McGrew; second tenors—F. L. Blessing, Orville Sowl, James B. Ollis; baritone—Edwin Clements, LeRoy Frazier, John P. Misko; basses—Emil Fafetta, E. H. Petty, John Haskell.

Mrs. Stanley McLain will be pianist.

HOLIDAY ASS'N HERE WILL JOIN IN FARM STRIKE

Strike Must Be Peaceable and No Picketing, Is Decision At Meeting Wednesday.

Meeting at the district court room last Wednesday evening, eighty members of the Farmers' Holiday association of Valley county voted unanimously to join in the national farm strike and begin immediately. J. J. Scheffec, of Alliance, state president, had previously announced that Holiday associations of Nebraska would join in the strike so the decision here Wednesday was only a ratification of his announcement.

All strike activities here must be peaceable and there must be no picketing. Holiday members decided. No violence will be tolerated, it was emphasized.

It was the consensus of opinion that members should not withhold from the local market such products as butter-fat, eggs and livestock butchered for local consumption but should withhold from market all grains, livestock, etc., shipped to Omaha or other central markets.

The Valley county Holiday association claims to have over 600 members or almost half of the number of farmers in the county. Whether all or most of the membership will follow the decision made Wednesday evening is uncertain but officers believe that they will.

Valley County May Have Fair in Fall of 1934

If Irrigation Goes Fair Probably Will Be Held, Is Sentiment; Officers Re-Elected.

If the North Loup river power and irrigation project should be approved it is very likely that Valley county will again have a fair and auto races in the fall of 1934. This was the prevailing sentiment among stockholders of the Loup Valley Agricultural Society in an annual session here Monday. Because of the depression the fair has been suspended for the past two years.

President C. W. McClellan presided over a bare quorum of stockholders and the reports of Secretary J. W. McGinnis and Treasurer E. R. Fafetta were heard. Stockholders then proceeded to the election of directors to replace S. W. Roe and Don Rounds, whose terms expired, and Ernest Hill, who passed away a few months ago.

Messrs. Roe and Rounds were re-elected to the board of directors and Henry Enger was elected to succeed Hill.

After the stockholders' meeting the new board of directors met and re-elected Mr. McClellan president, Mr. Roe vice president, Dr. McGinnis secretary and Mr. Fafetta treasurer.

4-H Club Boys To Show Calves At Omaha Show

Four Valley County Exhibitors Will Try for Big Prizes At Annual Ak-Sar-Ben Event.

Four members of 4-H calf clubs of Valley county will exhibit their baby calves at the annual Ak-Sar-Ben stock show being held in Omaha from November 11 to November 17, said County Agent Dale yesterday. Some of the boys are leaving for Omaha with their animals today; others are going tomorrow.

In the local group will be Orvel Sorenson and Preston Ward, Arcadia; Gilbert Babcock, North Loup; and Stanley Satterfield, Taylor. Most of these boys also competed in the show last year.

Heavy cash prizes are offered by Ak-Sar-Ben officials and several hundred baby calves from Nebraska, Iowa and other adjoining states are to be shown. Although competition will be strong the local boys are hoping to share in the prize money.

EDUCATION WEEK BEING OBSERVED BY ORD SCHOOLS

Parents Urged by Bell to Visit Schools; Floyd Beranek New Editor of Annual.

Ord schools are going to celebrate American Education week quietly this fall, since the big exhibit and many programs of Patrons Week, held each spring practically duplicate what the national association is trying to do now. However, some attention is being paid to the national movement, especially in the high school, where home room programs specially prepared, and special assignments to the students bring it to the attention of all.

Parents are very especially urged to visit the high school or grade school and observe the work and methods in use. Most parents feel it a duty to visit their children who are in grade school, but when the child reaches high school, make no effort to keep in touch with his teachers and his work. This is a great mistake, Superintendent Bell believes, and he wants to informally invite guardians and parents to come to the high school this week and next. Regular class sessions will thus be observed, not specially prepared programs, etc.

At the grade school, home room programs feature the week, with parents cordially invited to come to school. Armistice day will of course be observed in both schools, though plans for doing so are yet incomplete.

Floyd Beranek has been elected editor-in-chief of the school annual by popular vote of the senior class, and assisting him in the publication of "The Chanticleer" will be James Milliken, who was elected business manager. Other members of the staff will be selected very soon, so that work on the big book can be begun without delay.

The Girl Reserves held a pot luck supper for themselves at the high school Monday evening, each young lady bringing one covered dish. An interesting program followed.

Work on the basketball schedule for this year is going forward, eight games being definitely decided upon now. It is known that St. Paul, Dannebrog, Loup City, Akeley and Scotia will come to Ord to play; also that Broken Bow, Sargent and Ravenna games will be played with Ord on their respective floors. As yet unsettled are the games with Taylor, North Loup, Burwell and Comstock. It is also hoped to secure the Loup Valley basketball tournament for Ord, when the valley high school association meets soon.

Of interest to Ordites is the prospect that Lee Chaffield may bring his Duncan high school basketball team up this way on a tour and play here. This former Ord boy's team last year won the state championship in class B, while Ord won the Class A regional meet. So a battle between the two teams should be of great interest from several standpoints.

If the Duncan aggregation comes to Ord, it will likely be Jan. 18 or 20, the correspondence now indicates.

At the meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers' Association Ord secured a goodly share of the offices, M. D. Bell being elected secretary for the year 1934, and also president of the athletic section. Inez Swain was elected secretary of the art section, J. A. Kovanda secretary of the vocational agricultural section, and Elva Johnson secretary of the modern foreign language section. Wilbur Cass was elected vice president of the superintendents' and principals' section.

4-H CLUB BOYS TO SHOW CALVES AT OMAHA SHOW

Four Valley County Exhibitors Will Try for Big Prizes At Annual Ak-Sar-Ben Event.

Chanticleers Take 45 to 0 Shellacking

The inept Chanticleer gridsters of Ord high school went to Ravenna last Friday and took a stinging 45 to 0 shellacking from a powerful Blue and White team, the defeat making Ord's record for the season of 1933 four defeats and one tie. The Chanticleers play four more games, meeting the strong Ansley team under the lights here tomorrow evening, Arcadia at Arcadia on Nov. 17, North Loup there on Nov. 24 and Loup City here on the afternoon of Thanksgiving day.

Nor do Ord's grid prospects for the future appear bright for last Friday, while the first team was losing to Ravenna, the Ord Reserves went to Greeley and lost by a 68 to 0 score.

RED CROSS WILL BEGIN DRIVE FOR FUNDS NOV. 11TH

Plans for securing funds for the Red Cross during the drive for memberships and contributions on the days between Nov. 11 and Nov. 30 are rapidly being perfected.

This year the money is needed worse than ever before, so the drive must be made more thoroughly than ever before. In Valley county it is planned to canvass each township under a local leader. In Ord, the residential district will be canvassed by the volunteer workers, as well as the school and business district, the school and hospitals which have always been asked to give in former years.

Ord will be decorated with a number of red and white Red Cross banners, made by Ord women free of charge. A large corps of eager volunteers will solicit all corners for either the $1 memberships or contributions, either larger or smaller.

Last year the Red Cross helped many who needed it, giving away stock feed, flour, clothing, shoes, and many other things. This year the need is greater by far, and those who have must show their desire to help those who have not, or the hungry and poor will feel actual want. The gifts of the Red Cross are administered wisely, carefully scrutinized and nothing is wasted. If you want to be sure your bit of help goes the farthest, turn it over to the Red Cross, the organization which makes a business of giving.

In this county, Clara McClatchey is chairman of the drive, as in other years, and Joseph Barta is treasurer. Mrs. Keith Lewis is in charge of the membership drive in Ord.

WOMEN'S CLUBS OF 5 COUNTIES MET THURSDAY

North Loup Host to Federated Clubs' Annual Convention; Program Enjoyable.

North Loup, Nov. 3.—(Special)—One hundred and seven delegates representing the women's clubs of seven communities located in five counties held an all-day session at the Baptist church here yesterday, the occasion being the annual convention of the Inter-county Federation of Women's clubs. Towns represented were Loup City, Spaulding, Ericson, Arcadia, Scotia, Burwell and North Loup.

The Women's club of Burwell sent the largest delegation, 22, excepting the NoLo and Fortnightly clubs of North Loup, who were hostesses.

Following the singing of "America, the Beautiful," the business session opened with Mrs. Gladys Thompson of Loup City presiding and Mrs. Myra Barber of this village as secretary. Reports of federation work were read and discussed during the morning session.

At noon ladies of the church served a delicious dinner, and the afternoon program included a discussion of the liquor problem by the Arcadia club, a solo by Mrs. Kimpston of Spaulding, a play, "Tempest in a Hat Shop," by the Burwell club, a whistling solo by Mary Davis of the NoLo club, several original verses by Myra Barber of the Fortnightly club, and an interesting paper on glass manufacture by Mrs. Chase of Loup City. Miss Mildred Johnson of Burwell won the prize for being most skillful in remembering names and faces.

The Federation will meet in April at Burwell. Officers for the new year, as elected yesterday, were Mrs. Hallock, Burwell, president; Mrs. Royer, Scotia, vice president; Mabel Vandenburg, Spaulding, secretary-treasurer.

—Les Belles Femmes club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Wilbur Cass.

FEDERAL OKEY OF IRRIGATION EXPECTED SOON

Hardenbrook Recalled Sunday To Washington; Will Play Tune on Fire Siren When Approval Learned.

Recalled to Washington, D. C. Sunday by a message from Engineer E. H. Dummire which stated that Public Works officials were about ready to approve the North Loup river power and irrigation project and needed some additional information that only he could give, Bert M. Hardenbrook left here very optimistic for immediate approval.

The district president drove to Grand Island Sunday afternoon, taking the train there at 4 o'clock and arriving in Washington at 9:00 a. m. Tuesday. In Washington he was joined by N. T. Veatch, Jr., of Kansas City, who was summoned to the national capital by Engineer Dummire on the same day that he called Hardenbrook.

The North Loup application has been approved by the engineering department of the public works administration, Mr. Dummire has wired, and is now before the financial division.

Exerts in this division, after scrutinizing the North Loup setup, had indicated to Mr. Dummire that they would make the loan providing district officials would consent to amortize the loan in 25 years instead of 40. This would require farmers who want water to pay $3.00 per acre instead of $2.00, until the income from the sale of electric energy increases sufficiently to permit reduction of irrigation costs, which it should do within a year or two.

When Mr. Hardenbrook left here he was very hopeful that the financial division would, after learning all the facts, consent to make the loan on a 40-year basis. Last Friday public works officials approved the Sutherland power and irrigation project, including $7,500,000 to carry out this monumental job. The Sutherland district had had only $4,900,000 but Washington engineers loaned the larger amount because costs have increased since Sutherland estimates were filed. The same thing holds true with regard to the North Loup project so more money may be required here than was estimated last spring.

Sunday Mr. Hardenbrook was very hopeful of an immediate approval. "We may get it by Tuesday or Wednesday," he said, but since no word had been received up to present time yesterday it is likely that he could expect unexpected delays at Washington.

When the Quiz went to press Wednesday eve Secretary Joseph P. Barta was expecting hourly to receive word from Mr. Hardenbrook but had heard nothing.

It has been arranged that the Ord fire siren will blow if telegraphic word comes telling of the project being approved. Glenn Auble will be operating the siren and promises to play "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" or some other similar tune so that every hearer will know immediately that the government has made future prosperity in this valley possible.

An impromptu celebration will get under way immediately, it is promised, and within ten days or two weeks afterward a formal celebration will be held in Ord.

No Action on Quail.

Pending the arrival of Lloyd W. Longnecker to start a drive for funds, County Chairman Emil Fafetta and other interested sportsmen have taken no action toward starting a quail preserve here. Mr. Longnecker was supposed to return to Ord last week end but was detained in Omaha by business. He is expected soon. Much interest in quail has arisen locally and as soon as Mr. Longnecker returns it is proposed to appoint committeemen in each township and start a drive for funds to purchase quail eggs.

Charles Drozda Badly Hurt In Car Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drozda, of Lincoln, were injured Tuesday evening in an auto accident, Ord relatives are informed, and Mr. Drozda is in St. Elizabeth's hospital there and in a critical condition. He has a fractured leg, arm and pelvis bone and his skull is also thought to be fractured. Mrs. Drozda was cared for at the hospital over night and was permitted to go to her own home yesterday. The Drozdas formerly lived in Ord.

Means Talks on Russia.

Oecil Means, of Albion, who heads a corps of federal land bank appraisers with headquarters at Ord, was a guest and speaker at the Rotary club's dinner Monday evening. Mr. Means spent three years in Soviet Russia as a swine expert and made some startling revelations about conditions in that country. His talk was one of the most interesting Ord Rotarians have ever heard.

Valley county Holiday farmers have voted to join the big strike, now spread over 21 states. That is almost half of the states of the U. S. and the strike has just started. Is that revolution or civil war? If not, what is it? And why has it come? What do the farmers want? All they want is a chance to live. They want cost of production for their stuff. The farmers are the foundation of all wealth, yet they are about the only business that cannot make a living. Farming is the biggest business in this country and the most important. The government guarantees the other big business institutions a profit above cost of doing business. Take the railroads, for years, or ever since the big war they have been guaranteed a profit. The telephone companies have interest on their capital stock, and many times a lot of it is water) and all expenses, including mighty big salaries for everyone. Many executives of railroads have been allowed to draw enormous salaries, until President Roosevelt decided that sixty thousand dollars a year was enough for any railroad president and ordered all salaries reduced to that figure. It does seem as though a permanent job as railroad president should not be paid more than a temporary job as president of the U. S. Not everyone in business has been able to make money. Perhaps not many. In recent years, have been able to make money. But everyone in business is allowed to charge enough for their product to make a profit. The most of us have not been able to do enough business for the simple reason that the farmer, the foundation of all business, has not been able to get enough for his product to pay the cost of production. He has a perishable product and cannot figure up the cost and set the selling price where it will pay him a profit. The packer says what he will pay the farmer for his cattle and hogs, then the packer says what he will charge the consumer for the finished product. The merchant has an invoice for the goods he buys, knows what it costs to do business and adds to the invoice price enough to pay the overhead and give him a profit. That is, he does that unless he gets cramped for money to pay for the goods, which have not been sold because the farmer couldn't buy them, and has to sacrifice his overhead and profit and sometimes a part of his capital to pay the bill. If he does that often he goes broke, as many have in the past few years.

And the farmer is anxious to buy. There are any number of Valley county farmers who have not been able to buy a new suit of clothes for several years. They are having hard work to get hold of enough money to buy a pair of new overalls at almost double the price they had to pay only a few months ago. The government has helped the cotton farmer, unless, as is usually the case, the farmer had sold all his cotton and the speculator or broker got the profit. Anyhow the northern farmer is having to pay a greatly increased price for everything made of cotton. I know a farmer who is about to lose his 500-acre farm and his savings of a lifetime. He paid $35,000.00 cash into the farm and gave a mortgage back for only $14,000. It is a wonderful good farm, well improved. The government pretends to help this farmer and sends out appraisers to appraise this farm and will only let this man have $8,000.00. This man has not had a crop for three years sufficient to pay the taxes and of course he could not pay the interest. I think it is an insult to appraise his farm at such a ridiculous figure and so would you if you knew all the circumstances and conditions. And there are thousands of just such cases all over the 21 states where the farm strike is started and over many other states where a strike will spread. And it is just this intolerable condition that has caused the strike and that will cause a much more serious condition unless something is done to remedy the matter. The government of the United States just can't guarantee everyone but the farmer a profit and let him shift for himself and make him like it. He has stood it about as long as he is going to stand it. If every farmer in the U. S. took the same interest in politics as does Farmer Coates and

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

All recipes to be considered for the cooking calendar for this year must be in the Quiz office within one week after you read this new Quiz, so if you have any recipes you proudly flaunt, and would like to have them included in the calendar, hurry, hurry, hurry. The Quiz will not guarantee to print them all, of course, but the very choicest ones will be given, all of them that it is possible to use.

Chop Suey. Simmer until tender one pound of lean pork, cool and shred the meat. Brown lightly in one tablespoon of fat. Remove the meat and add another tablespoon of meat and two cups of diced onion. Let cook about five minutes. Add two cups of sliced celery, the meat, onion, and three tablespoons of cornstarch mixed with a little liquid from the vegetables to the broth and let simmer twenty-five to thirty minutes in a covered kettle. Add the can of vegetables just before taking from the fire, with one-half teaspoon salt, and lastly three tablespoons soy sauce. Serve hot.

Mrs. Ernest Weller. Royal Salad. Dissolve one package lemon flavored gelatin in one and two-thirds cups boiling water, add one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons lemon juice. Cool and allow to thicken a little, then add one cup strained, grated pineapple, or diced pineapple, one-half cup chopped celery, two cups chopped raw cabbage, two tablespoons chopped pimientos. Turn into a mold, chill and serve on lettuce, serve with salad dressing.

Mrs. McVein, Paul, Ida. Sweet Potatoes in Style. To two cups hot mashed sweet potatoes add one tablespoon of butter, salt to taste, and enough cream to moisten well. Beat until very light. Then add six or eight marshmallows cut into fourths. Bake until heated through, then cover the top with whole marshmallows and brown well.

Mrs. J. W. Severns. Corn Soup. Cook one and one-half cups canned corn with one cup meat broth or one cup water and two bouillon cubes, force through a sieve. Add two and one-half cups rich milk, one and one-half tablespoons of minute tapioca, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon sugar, a dash of cayenne and cook in a double boiler fifteen minutes or until the tapioca is clear. Stir often. Add one-half teaspoon scraped onion and one and one-half tablespoons of butter. Serves four to six persons.

Dorothy Paddock. Crumb Cake. Mix like pie crust two cups of flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one and one-half cups sugar, three-fourths cup butter. Save a portion of this mixture for top. To the remainder add three-fourths cup milk, two eggs, flavoring to taste. Beat until creamy, spread in a shallow pan, cover with the crumbs. This is good with coffee.

Mrs. Chris Nielsen. Date Pudding. Dissolve one and one-half cups brown sugar in the same quantity of water, put in a baking pan and set aside. Sift together one cup flour, one cup white sugar, one teaspoon baking powder, and a pinch of salt. Gradually add one cup milk, beat until smooth. Add one-half cup dates, one-half cup nuts, one teaspoon vanilla. Do not stir. Bake slowly and serve with whipped cream.

Mrs. Charles Cooper. BACK FORTY by J. A. KOVANDA. Cornhusking contests are one of the most wholesome of outdoor pastimes. But they do not always produce the most outstanding huskers, since only a few contests are held, and not many farmers enter these. The best huskers have perhaps never heard of a cornhusking contest, or have been too retiring to enter one.

Any young man who wishes to know how good he is, can check up to home in his own cornfield. It takes only a few extra moments for a personal tryout because the corn has to be gathered anyway. The first thing to attempt is to see how much corn can be picked in 30 minutes. The amount is determined by weighing it and figuring 70 pounds of ear corn to a bushel. It can be sacked and measured with hand scales if a wagon scale cannot be located.

100 pounds of this corn are then taken aside, and all husks removed and weighed. If there are only five ounces or less of husks, a contestant suffers no penalty. For the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth ounces a penalty of one percent for each ounce is taken off the total corn picked. Three percent of the total corn husked is subtracted for the tenth ounce and each ounce thereafter. For example, a contestant having eleven ounces of husks loses ten percent, or one-tenth of his husked load.

Lastly, someone must follow down the two husked rows and glean all ears that were overlooked or thrown over the bangboard. Three pounds are deducted from a husker's load for each pound of sound corn found by the gleaners. The penalty for dirty husking is heavy—perhaps too severe. A few extra husks do not bother under farm conditions, and corn left in the field is efficiently eaten up by livestock. But rules are rules, and until they are changed the winners will be the ones who throw ears at average speed, and keep them clean of husks. The man who can earn five dollars a day shucking three cent corn, and who draws contest crowds with his spectacular tossing, is apt to land at the bottom, even though he husks the most corn.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie. 25 Years Ago This Week. William H. Taft was elected president of the United States. Valley county voters gave a majority of 1 vote to his opponent, W. J. Bryan, there being 1,044 votes cast here for Taft and 1,045 for Bryan. Valley county also gave Shallenburger a majority for governor over Sheldon, Ollis a majority for state senator over Kinsey and Botts a majority for state representative over Peter Mortenson.

Two new barns were nearing completion in Enterprise, one on the G. G. Clement farm and the other at Jake Peterson's. John Ramsey took a shot at a crowd of Hallowe'en-celebrating boys, with his shotgun, winging Edmer Dahlin, Merritt Fuson and Edwin Palmatter.

A. M. Muttter, Frank Vodehnal, Ed Watson and Mike Sheridan left for South Dakota to look over the land that fell to them in the Tripp county land drawing. Daisy Eamford, Ruth Williams and Cosie Haskell entertained at a big Hallowe'en party at the J. R. Williams home.

AM I RIGHT?

By George Round, Jr.

Frank Vodehnal of Ord is one of the more prominent beekeepers in Nebraska. That's what O. S. Bare, extension entomologist at the Nebraska college of agriculture, said after a recent trip to the Valley county seat. In the Vodehnal colonies the honey crop has been fair. About 130 pounds has been received per colony. This is below last year's crop but conforms with the crop throughout the country. Bare says the 1933 production of the state will be but two-thirds normal.

Several Valley county calves will be entered in the 4-H beef show, one of the largest ever held in the middlewest.

Purebred livestock sales held over the state this year have brought fair to good prices, breeders say. Hogs have been averaging from $20 to $30 in most sales. Henry Knobbe, prominent eastern Nebraska breeder, though had an average of $35 on his 45 boars put up for sale. His offerings, however, usually sell above the average—even though Hampshires. . . .

People who like action and who attended the state cornhusking contest near Cozad last week got it. With 47 county champions competing for the state title and cash prizes, plenty of "fire" was provided. Up and down the rows went the contestants. Galleries followed behind. Two gleaners picked up what the husker missed. At top speed they went for 30 minutes. An aerial bomb ended the event.

With the work just starting with the finish of the "sprint", tabulations of scores and deductions took several hours. In the meantime band concerts and a horse show along with speaking entertained the 18,000 visitors on the George Lawless farm. Not in many years have so many fine draft teams been on exhibition. Prof. H. J. Gramlich, one of the judges, said it was one of the best draft shows he had ever judged. All horses came from the immediate vicinity.

Today near West Point another piece of action is being offered to some 40,000 persons. There they are seeing champions from nine states competing for the national husking title. Many Valley county farmers are expected in the galleries to follow the huskers. Hoonza getting along "fair to

Charles Bals, one of the county's most prominent and prosperous farmers, returned from his native land, Belgium, with a bride. D. L. Williams, Ord harness maker, and W. B. WAR

THIS SPACE RESERVED FOR ERNEST S. COATS EACH WEEK. THERE WILL BE MORE ABOUT THE WAR!

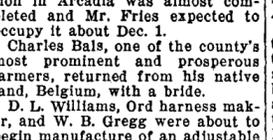

The war is about over as far as Jersey Home Farm is concerned. Our business is looking up. A lot of Ord people have asked me "Just what does it cost to produce your high testing milk?" Before the depression our farm and dairy herd equipment were valued at fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00). It is anyone's guess what it is worth now. But here are some of the every day costs: For 365 days in the year the man who delivers you 7c milk hears the alarm shortly after 4 o'clock each morning. About 8 o'clock the milking is done, cows fed, milk aerated, cooled, put in bottles, capped and ready to go to Ord. Each month there are bills for bottles, bottle caps, sterilizing cotton, feed, delivery car repairs, gasoline and oil, the cow tester's wages, and at our dairy three people are hired all the time and are paid each Saturday afternoon. During each day the barn is cleaned, and washed, the cows are combed or washed or both, the bottles and all other utensils that touch the milk are washed and sterilized with steam or hot water, feed is hauled, bedding put in. The morning operations begin over at 4 in the evening. The 5c man has to sell you cheap milk from cheap cows to compete with our 7c high grade milk from our federal and state accredited herd. Why take chances. Buy the best.

DR. RICH says: Grand Island, Nebr., Nov. 9, 1933. Dr. James Ewing, director of Memorial Hospital, New York City, told delegates to the International Cancer Congress, Friday, Oct. 27th, that the idea of discovering a cure for cancer is "absurd." The only hope of reducing cancer fatalities, he added, lies in prevention.

Every person who suffers with rectal trouble, no matter how slight it may seem to be, is on the borderline of danger. Your best health insurance is to take care of your body quickly as soon as disease begins. That's intelligent prevention. Your health needs NRA, too. How about you? Have you an individual health code? "Better Times" is an empty phrase if you are not enjoying good health. Plan for the future now by consulting Dr. Rich, Nebraska's leading Rectal Specialist at Grand Island. (1)

We Shall Not Fail Them. Saturday, November 11 we pay homage to those men who fought and bled upon a glorious battlefield. They were men of indomitable will and unswerving purpose and we can well cherish their memory. But let us not forget the idealism for which those men fought—they fought not to win a war but to win everlasting peace.

We must not break faith with them! In remembering and commemorating their stirring deeds let us dedicate ourselves to their ideal and pray that our youth and the youth of other nations shall never again meet upon a battlefield.

Winter Time

is always an expensive time to operate a motor car, unless the car is in first class shape.

While your car may have given you good service in warm weather, it will be a source of annoyance and expense from now on unless it is in good working condition. Probably a small expense now would save you dollars during the next few months. We like to work on all Chrysler cars.

Why not bring your car in now and let us check it over? We will tell you what it will cost to put it in first-class shape.

We sell chains, anti-freeze and other auto sundries.

Will Enforce City Fire Ordinance

The Fire Ordinance of our City is being wilfully and dangerously violated.

We must insist that this violation be stopped at once.

Section 13 of this ordinance provides: That in case of fire all cars in motion shall pull to the right hand curb of the street and stop at once and remain so until all fire apparatus has gone past; also that all parked cars shall remain as they are for 5 minutes after an alarm has been turned in. It also provides that all pedestrians be off the street until all apparatus has passed.

For the safety of the public and the welfare of all concerned we are going to enforce this Ordinance. If you don't wish trouble comply with this Ordinance. We kindly ask all parents to teach their children to stay away from all fires.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Ansel Clark writes his people, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Clark from Frederick, Colo. Their son Robert, ten years old, fell from a horse and broke an arm in two places.

Junior Matrons met Friday with Mrs. E. C. Weller. Mrs. L. J. Auble was a guest. Mrs. Jay Auble will be the next hostess.

Charley Kingston, Hans Thorne and Roger Benson are at home after about four months absence. They were in Washington and Idaho and other states. They found work in several places and were busy most of the time.

Jako and Bob Reeder of Dannebrog were in Ord Saturday evening. They were calling upon their uncle, Harold Erickson. From Ord they went to Erickson where they were to visit their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Erickson sr. and other relatives.

Sunday evening there was a dance in Elyria. Musicians were Mrs. Joe Kokes, Ben Janssen and Misses Elizabeth and Wilhelmina Janssen.

Cheerful club met Thursday evening with Miss Muri Bartlett. Miss Bess Krahulik was co-hostess. This is an extension club and all members were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blessing were dinner guests Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kosmata.

O. G. E. club met Tuesday evening in the home of Miss Dorothy Boquet.

Charley Dobrovsky was quite surprised Sunday when a group of friends and relatives gathered at his home to help him celebrate his birthday, bringing baskets of good things to eat. At noon a big dinner was served and the afternoon was spent in cards and dancing.

Donations of canned goods and vegetables were brought to the church last week to be taken to the Hospital and University. Some, because of the bad day, did not get in who had intended to. We wish to thank those who made donations either in cash or supplies.

An orchestra added much to the music of the Sunday school. Mr. Glen Auble is training a group of the younger folks for a junior orchestra, which will be a regular feature in the future.

Our Sunday evening service is now held in the large room of the basement. A committee from the Ladies Bible class had decorated the room in a cozy manner, and the service was entirely informal.

Our missionary fair was fine in every way. The exhibits were wonderful and the cooperation of the workers was all anyone could ask. We feel that both the church and community are benefited in every way by our missionary fair.

Radiator Repair Men

Have been busy the past few days, for many radiators got caught. If you want to play safe, better drive in right now and let us prepare your radiator for cold weather by filling with either—as colder weather is sure to come very soon. It is much cheaper than repairs.

Prestone, Glycerine or Alcohol

Who Wouldn't Smile WHEN BETTER TIMES ARE COMING!

Among the many signs of national recovery reported recently are the following:

- California State Labor Commission reports 544,000 persons added to payrolls in that state since January.
- Exports of agricultural implements doubled exports in same month last year.
- General Electric reports addition of 7,600 workers with increase of $17,000,000 in annual wage rate since March 1.
- General Motors Corp. earns third quarter net income of $13,341,618 as compared with net loss of $4,464,229 in same period last year.
- Construction of both private and federal buildings on increase in every large city, with many jobs created.
- American Meat Packers Institute shows increase of approximately 17 per cent both in numbers of employes and payrolls since August 1.
- Highway work, spurred on by federal funds, on increase in every state, creating new jobs by thousands. Pennsylvania, for example steps up employment on roads from 37,000 to 50,000 on November 1, with promise of 60,000 workers on pay rolls before end of year.

From all over the country come similar reports!

AND LOCALLY:

- President Roosevelt's gold buying plan shows immediate results in raise of value of most farm products.
- North Loup Valley irrigation development involving $2,900,000 or more is expected to create jobs for several thousand men in immediate future.

Arcadia Department

By MRS. RAY GOLDEN

Miss Hattie Cox of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox of Arcadia was married Monday Oct. 30th to William Padley of Lincoln. The ceremony was performed at the Alcorn home in Harvard, Neb., by Rev. W. A. Alcorn, former pastor of the Arcadia Congregational church. The bride and groom were attended by Coraline Muncaster of Lincoln and Ray McClary of Arcadia, brother-in-law of the bride. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox, Mrs. Ray McClary and children and Mrs. Carl Larson and children of Arcadia. Following the ceremony a wedding lunch was served at the Harvard city park. Mr. and Mrs. Padley will live in Lincoln.

P. W. Rounds, prominent resident of Arcadia, had the misfortune Wednesday afternoon of last week to slip and fall from the roof of a dormer window at his residence while putting on storm windows. He suffered a fractured shoulder and bruised lower limb. He was taken to Ord but it was found impossible to set the fracture so it was placed in a cast to heal.

About sixty friends and neighbors gathered at the Cyrus Tiffany farm home south of Arcadia last Thursday and proceeded to gather his entire crop for him. A total of about one hundred acres were either shucked or snapped. The ladies of the neighborhood served a banquet to the corn pickers at noon and an appetizing lunch after the job was completed. Mr. Tiffany suffered an injury to his eye some time ago when a blizzard metal exploded while he was repairing a piece of farm machinery. He has been under the doctors care since that time and about two weeks ago had to suffer the removal of one of his eyes at a hospital in Hastings. He is recovering nicely now.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kinsey left Tuesday for their home at Hollywood, Calif., after spending several days with relatives in Arcadia. They were enroute home from New York and Boston where they had been visiting their children.

Charley Anderson underwent an operation at the Miller hospital in Ord last Thursday and is recovering nicely. Mrs. Anderson accompanied him to Ord, returning Sunday.

The Arcadia and Ansley high school football teams tied with a score of 0 to 0 on the local field last Friday. The Arcadia boys will play Burwell there this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Waterbury and son Junior spent Sunday with relatives at Berwyn.

The members of the Owl's club held a masquerade dance at the Owl's Roost Wednesday evening of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings and Orpha Jane Bulger visited relatives in Ord Sunday.

Robert Jeffrey, Roy Summers, John Higgins and Virgil Gipe, restorationists left Arcadia Saturday for Grand Island where they passed their entrance examinations and were sent to Garden City, Kas., for a short training before being assigned to permanent camps.

Miss Edith Kenfield, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kenfield, passed away at a hospital in Southgate, Calif., Friday, Nov. 3 at the age of 27 years. Funeral services were held at Southgate Sunday. Edith was well known in Arcadia, having spent most of her life here. She graduated from the local school and later taught in both rural and the public school of Arcadia. The past year she has been confined to her home with heart trouble. She has a wide circle of friends here who are sorry to learn of her death and their sympathy is extended to the parents and four brothers who are left to mourn.

The Up-To-Date club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith Bossen. Roll call was answered with "Current Events". A report was given on the Inter-County Federation of Women's clubs which was held at North Loup last week after which the session study on "National Events Since March 4th" was led by Mrs. C. D. Langrall. The next meeting will be held Oct. 21 at the home of Mrs. C. C. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bice and family of Polk spent the week end in Arcadia on business. Mr. and Mrs. Bice have disposed of their farm north of Arcadia to a party at Thayer, Neb., who will take possession in the spring. Bud Bice who had been working in Arcadia during the past several months, returned to Polk with his parents.

The Red Cross drive will start Armistice Day and end Thanksgiving. Local solicitors will call at your home and you are urged to assist them with your contribution. The cause is worthy and needs your support. Money may also be left at either of the Arcadia banks.

Mrs. Henry Cremeen received word from her sister, Mrs. Clinton Franks of Minatare, Neb., last week stating that she was recovering from a month's illness due to infection contracted while cleaning a rabbit.

The revival meetings which had been held at the Methodist church for three weeks closed Sunday evening. The meetings aroused a great deal of interest and were well attended. The evangelist, Miss Mary Turnbull returned to Lincoln Monday.

William Schoemaker passed away Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Jennie Milburn after a lingering illness caused from cancer of the stomach. He was 74 years, 7 months and 18 days of age at the time of his death. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Fred Milburn home. An obituary will be printed next week.

Miss Lucile Bossen returned from Loup City Monday where she had been employed at the Ideal Cafe for several weeks.

Mrs. Aimee Carmody and family have moved to the residence property of Mrs. William Hagood.

Mrs. Ray Hill and sons were in Ord Saturday on business.

John Roberts, formerly of Arcadia and later of Spokane, Wash., was married to Mrs. Clarence Bailey, formerly of Ord at Long Beach, Calif., recently. They will make their home in Long Beach. Mr. Roberts resided in the Hayes Creek neighborhood a number of years ago.

Hughes Pierson and Donald Hughes were Loup City visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Tiffany and family were in Loup City Saturday on business.

George Nelson, Donald Hughes and Magnus Pearson spent the first of the week hunting and fishing at Willow Lake.

The Oak Creek Rook club met Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Larson. Mrs.

"Swan Song" The term, "swan song" is familiar to all for a farewell performance, or the last creative effort of an artist. The allusion is to the song popularly believed to be sung by a swan when dying. The origin of the metaphor is found in the "Epigrams" of the famous Latin "Martial", probably Marcus Valerius Martialis, who is believed to have lived from the year 40 to 102 A. D. and a well known use of it is in Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

On the Dot

By JAMES MULLEN

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

WILSON went to the window and raised the curtain. He had been up all night working. Now he heard the thunder and saw the long flashes of lightning gleaming in the skies.

The doorbell rang. Who could be calling at half-past three in the morning? He went to the door and opened it. A man in a raincoat stepped into the hall. He raised his hand and Wilson found himself looking into the muzzle of a gun.

"Hello, Wilson," his visitor greeted him.

"Who are you?" Wilson looked at him, puzzled, trying to recall where he had seen the man.

The stranger laughed, an unpleasant laugh. He gave an extra shove of the gun against Wilson's ribs.

"You don't remember me, do you?" he asked. "You never do remember the guys you send up."

A light broke on Wilson and, for an instant, he turned pale.

"You're Jones," he said. "The man who killed Hans Gilbert?"

His visitor nodded. "You remember now. And do you remember that I said I'd come back and get you?"

Wilson lit a cigarette.

"Well," he said. "You seem to have come. Would you mind telling me how you escaped? You were scheduled for electrocution at four this morning, if I'm not mistaken."

"At four this morning," the man returned grimly.

Wilson nodded. "Beastly hour—even for an execution."

"Cut it! The chaplain was a friend of mine. We changed places. One of the guards recognized me but I knocked him down and got away. I had a hard time getting here, but it's worth it. Wilson, I'm going to kill you!"

Wilson bowed his head. "I seem to have heard you say that before," he said.

Jones was a little puzzled by the other's nonchalance.

"You may think I'm kidding," he said. "But at four o'clock, you're going to die—not me!"

Wilson glanced at his wrist watch. Then he walked over to his desk and sat down. "Well," he said, "I've fifteen minutes yet. No—only thirteen. My watch is slow. Do you mind if I finish this letter I'm writing?"

Jones shook his head. A peal of thunder vibrated through the house.

"Quite a storm," commented Wilson, amiably.

"Getting worse," was the laconic reply. "Say, Wilson," glancing at his host admiringly, "you've got guts, all right. But, with a frown, 'they ain't goin' to do you no good now. I came here to kill you and I'm going to do it—on schedule.'"

Wilson made no reply. He went on writing.

"What time is it now?" asked Jones.

"I've just five minutes to four. There's a church up the street. The clock chimes the hour. You'll have no trouble knowing when it's four o'clock."

Jones got up. He was nervous—far more nervous than his intended victim. With the gun trained on Wilson, he walked to the window and threw up the shade. The flashes of lightning were blinding but he did not draw the curtain.

"Don't you feel kind of queer, Wilson?" he asked. "Like something you couldn't stop was coming after you?"

Wilson nodded.

"Well, that's the way I've felt all day. I realized that I was going to die. It isn't a nice feeling, is it?"

"Can't say that it is," replied Wilson truthfully.

At that moment the chimes on the church began to peal. Jones counted them slowly, one—two—three—four. With the last stroke, he slowly lifted the gun.

"Have you anything to say, prisoner?" he asked, ironically.

Wilson shook his head. "I have nothing to say."

Jones aimed. Suddenly, there was a blinding flash. Wilson felt himself hurled to the floor. He lay there stunned for a few minutes. Then, he rose weakly. He looked around for Jones. The man lay on the floor, the gun tightly clenched in his right hand. Wilson recoiled in horror!

The telephone began to ring. Wilson picked it up.

"This is Talbot of the Morning Star," a voice said. "There's a report that Frank Jones escaped from the state prison early this morning. Do you know if it's true?"

"What do the authorities say?" asked Wilson.

"Oh, you know them," impatiently. "They refuse to make a statement. We've been trying to get in touch with them and the prison direct. Couldn't get the prison—wires all down. Struck by lightning, I understand."

Wilson hesitated. He looked at the body on the floor. Then, in a voice so low that he could scarcely recognize it as his own, he said: "You can report to your paper, Talbot, that the execution of Frank Jones took place. He was electrocuted at four o'clock this morning."

Startling Variety Of Names On Nebraska U Campus This Semester

Smiths Still Lead in Numbers, Abart to Zuspahn Is Range of 5,000 Directory Names.

LINCOLN, Nebr.—Let's go from Abart to Zuspahn. We need no magic carpet. They are not foreign cities. From Abart to Zuspahn on the University of Nebraska campus here means from the family name of the first student, speaking alphabetically, to that of the last student.

Between Abart and Zuspahn are more than 5,000 other student names, from Bog, Hosen-lander titles such as Schimpelmpfing and Schlichtermeier, to short, three letter names, as Ach and Srb.

Names and names, common, curious, queer—each for a man or woman, each of whom differs from the owner of any of the others. Would anyone suspect that there might be any identical names among those 5,000 such different people? Well, here under that famous term Smith are two co-eds called Marjorie E.; two men Arthur, Milo; and under William Smith come three. That will happen in yet other family names, for we may run across two listed as Paul Peterson; two as Mildred Williams; three as John Anderson.

Many of the names stand out and have meanings for things other than people in the English language. Let's do a bit of punning. About thirty trades may be found, including Butcher, Baker, Mason, Beeman, Porter, Weaver, Butler, and even Shoemaker. Scattered heavily along the way are adjectives, that have been personified into proper nouns: Young, Wise, Weary, Swift, Sturdy, Strong, Gallant, Fierce, Harsh, Short.

Representing the automotive industry are: Ford, Dodge, Hudson, and Bigford. From the parts department are chosen: Manfold, Brake, Horn, Hood, Heater, and the often longed for—Spare.

Toward Zuspahn the road is not all dry. When we group them together we have a startling lineup in: a Brewer and Beerman, Brew, three Beers and a Beer. Along the way is a Cellar and Still. Someone has kindly furnished the name Case—another Stein—and yet another Pabst. As would follow from such a list there is a Bender—yes, even two Benders.

Another indoor sport listed in the University registration by student family name is shown by: Card, a Jack, a King, and the old master, Hoyle. Quite reasonable for the outdoor sportsman are titles that could be arranged to tell a story: Hunt, Hunter, Trail, Chase, Fox, Bang! and then Tanner. Along the way we find a Fisher, and Fish—Carp, Trout.

If we pause for a few statistics, S leads with more family names than any other letter, having somewhat over 450 on its roll. B closely follows with 400. Helping to place S in head position is the ever present Smith family, with 44 varieties. Johnson stays in the race with 37 using the title. Thirty-five use Anderson, and twenty-five each, Miller and Davis.

We see a Farmer, and find Corn, Cotton, Rice, and Flax. For the Cook might be Fudge and Coffee. Perhaps for the Crook, Jail.

Dutch, Finn, English, and Britton are here names of students. And the countries: England, Holland, and Ireland. To add color: Black, Blue, Brown, Gold, Green, White, Rose, Reddish, Pearl, Lemon, and Gray.

We see some famous duets: Carpenter and Hammer; Ball and Bat; Burns and Allen; Church and Steeple. Now we have gone far enough to find West and North, long enough to find Winter and Summers.

Garter Snake Habits

Although garter snakes are viviparous, giving birth to their young, the parent snakes are not concerned with caring for their young after they are born. They may be found near a crevice where their mother is sunning, but this is only a coincidence. Newly born garter snakes shift for themselves from their earliest existence.

Red Cross Efficient Agency For Relief

Nov. 11 and every day until Nov. 30 Red Cross workers will be busy soliciting memberships at $1 each, or contributions to the same group, either larger or smaller than that. A worthy organization, on hand at every disaster to help feed, cloth and shelter those who need it, the Red Cross spends your contribution wisely and carefully, as Nebraskans have had occasion to learn in the hard times of recent years.

If you want to know just how much good was accomplished locally with Red Cross money, then you should be told that last year two carloads of flour were distributed here. Also that 800 yards of dress goods and shirting were made up by volunteer workers of Ord for use in Ord, North Loup and Arcadia. Also that 500 yards of muslin and flannel were given to those who needed it in this county, as well as 24 dozen hose of every size, ten dozen suits of underwear, nine dozen pairs of men's overalls and trousers, five dozen bloomers, and much more stuff.

This year the need will be greater than last, you know that. So please be ready when you are asked to give, and cheerfully do your share. Whether your contribution is pennies or dollars, you know that the Red Cross will use them wisely, efficiently, and make them go just as far as possible. You may be too busy to decide what poor families of your acquaintance are most worthy and most needy, but you need not worry after giving your bit to this national organization.... it is the business of the Red Cross to give, but first you must give to the Red Cross. Give gladly when you are asked, be ready to help others through this sensible channel.

Chicago Once Coral Reef

Chicago, known to the world as the windy city, was once a "South Sea paradise," but that was 400,000 years ago at least. This is the claim which is advanced by the Field Museum of Natural History in an article in its bulletin, which describes Chicago's site as once having been a coral reef, submerged under the water of a great interior sea.

Eclectics

The name eclectics is given to those—especially philosophers and painters—who do not attach themselves to any especial school, but pick and choose from various systems, combining doctrines, and methods they find suitable to themselves individually.

Perfected Bearings

Machine bearings have been so perfected that one type even enables the large wheel of a certain machine to be set in motion by the weight of a silk handkerchief.—Collier's Magazine.

Rollers Adopt False Notes

The breeder of rollers can keep no other types of canaries. If he does, he runs the risk of having his carefully trained birds adopt notes that are considered undesirable in the repertoire of a roller.

Elyria News

Mrs. Leon Clemmy was hostess to the Jolly Homemakers club Friday afternoon. The lesson on "Christmas in the Home" was given by Mrs. Clemmy and Helen Bartunek, proved to be a most enjoyable one. They received patterns for many home made toys, mittens and slippers which may be used as Christmas gifts. Mrs. Ed Holman and Mrs. Joe Flakus were guests.

Mrs. James Clemmy went to Lincoln Monday to spend a few days with her husband, who has employment there. Their children are being cared for by their grandmother, Mrs. Joe Clemmy while she is away.

Mrs. Howard Wright of Brainard and J. H. Powell who was visiting in the Wright home came last week to see Mrs. Wozniak who was hurt. Mr. Powell was on his way to his home in Missouri but returned when he heard of the accident. He left Monday for his home.

Leon Clemmy accompanied Ord friends on a hunting trip to the Calamus river Saturday, returning Sunday. His wife and daughter Carol Jean spent the time while he was away in Burwell at the Joe Flakus home.

A. A. Hayek returned Saturday to his home in Lincoln after spending several days here attending to business matters.

Ed Iwanski is recovering satisfactorily from a major operation at the home of his father.

Several farmers in this vicinity have finished picking corn.

Mrs. Homer Veeder and son of Oshkosh came Saturday to visit the former's mother, Mrs. F. Zulkoski sr., and other relatives. Bobby will undergo an operation at Ord while here.

School was dismissed Tuesday forenoon as a large majority of the pupils wished to attend special services at the Catholic church.

Maybe He Will Finish Them

A London scientist is trying to find the skeletal weight of insects. He exposes them to different conditions of dry and moist atmosphere, determining what kind of exposure does them the most harm.

Bloodhounds as Trailers

"Females, as a rule, make the best trailers. They have more life, are very ambitious and intelligent and are the easiest to train. The male, as a rule, has more courage and is seldom shy in locating the person being pursued if that person conceals himself in a building or crowd. Further, he quite often attacks if the trailed person attempts to escape after being located," asserts a trainer in the Washington Star.

Inauguration Day on Sunday

Inauguration Day has fallen on Sunday only four times since that date was fixed. It was Sunday for President Taylor in 1849, for President Hayes in 1877, for President Monroe in 1821, and for President Wilson in 1917. Had March 4 been retained for inaugurations, the next time it would have fallen on Sunday would have been 1945.

SECY WALLACE DENOUNCES FARM HOLIDAY STRIKE

Speaks at Des Moines to Urge Farmers Have Faith in Pres. Roosevelt's Whole Program.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 11.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, back in his home city and the area of farm unrest, Saturday night called upon corn belt farmers to co-operate with the administration's farm program and denounced the holiday movement.

He made a vigorous explanation of the administration's farm policies, asserted that they have accomplished more in eight months than in the 12 years preceding and described the new $500,000,000 corn hog production control program as certain to bring better prices to the corn belt producer. The responsibility of making it succeed, he said, "rests with the farmer."

Cites "Sore Spot". He called the corn belt "the sore spot of the nation," but asserted that until farmers are willing to curb production and reduce supply, better prices and improvement in conditions are impossible. He praised President Roosevelt's monetary policies but repeated warnings that "inflation alone" will not solve the farm problem.

The goal of the administration's efforts, he said, is to boost farm income from last year's $5,000,000,000 to $11,000,000,000, but he cautioned against hopes of accomplishing this without consideration for the incomes of urban consumers.

He asserted that farm income and factory payrolls rise and fall together, that in the eight months of the administration each has been boosted from a rate of $5,000,000,000 a year to a rate of about $6,500,000,000; that each should be boosted to $11,000,000,000 annually.

Low Buying Power. The secretary said in part: The United States declared war on the farm depression on May 12 of this year. That was just six months ago tomorrow on May 12.

As we checked over the supplies on hand, as we saw the prospects for new crops, it seemed last May that, unless emergency measures were taken, the new wheat crop would be for 30 cents or less; the new corn crop for 20 cents or less and the new pig crop for $2 a hundred or less. And there was a chance that at certain times pigs might be unsalable altogether.

The problem was further complicated by the fact that our foreign trade in farm products was getting smaller and that the buying power of our distressed workers was still low.

Yet, as we worked, the pigs were getting fat, the wheat was growing, the corn was sprouting; the whole great agricultural manufacturing system was at work to crash down on the market with a new burden.

Climbing Back. What happened? We know that corn, instead of being 10 cents on the farm, is 30 cents on the farm and that farmers who need cash can soon get loans for 45 cents a bushel on the farm. We know that wheat instead of being 30 cents a bushel on the farm is 70 cents. We know that hogs, instead of being $2 a hundred, are around $3.50 on the farm.

Instead of sliding down the hill farther, we have turned around and are climbing back up. Farm prices although still far under what they should be and what you and I can co-operate to make them, are higher than they were at the low time last winter and higher than they were a year ago. They are tremendously higher than they promised to be six months ago, when the agricultural adjustment act was passed.

The fact is, however, that the improvement has not been uniform. In some localities it has not been great enough to prevent acute distress. The striking change for the better that has taken place in many parts of the nation has not yet reached the heart of the country. The corn belt is still in the valley of the shadow.

Three Roads to Take. Today the corn belt is the sore spot of the nation. There is distress and there is misery here. You know, quite as well as I do, why this is so. It is not because of anything we have done or failed to do since March; it is because of things that were done and things that were left undone during the past 12 years.

Once again the corn belt seems to be at a cross-roads. There are at least three paths that farmers may take. There are obstacles in all three of them. Yet a choice has to be made, and it has to be made now. I conceive it my duty to present those alternatives to you as fairly as I know how, and in doing so I shall speak with the utmost frankness.

There is the path of immediate price-fixing, as advocated by the five mid-western governors who recently visited us in Washington; there is the trail already blazed by the cotton and tobacco farmers of the south and the wheat farmers of the west; or finally, there is the opportunity to join the holiday movement and raise hell.

Chanticleers Hold Fast Ansley Team To 13 to 6 Score

In a surprising reversal of the dope, Coach Molzen's Chanticleers Friday evening held the powerful Ansley team to a 13-6 count in a game played under the lights of Bussett park field and had the breaks favored. Ord's locals might easily have emerged victorious. As it was the "game is being hailed as a "moral victory" for the Ord team and fans are predicting a close game when Ord plays Arcadia, touted as sure Loup valley champions, at Arcadia tomorrow.

The Ord line, led by Bernie Zulkoski and Severson, was charging fast Friday evening and seven times penalties for off-side play were levied against the Ord team. The loss of yardage was suffered gladly, however, as it proved that the Ord linemen have snapped out of the lassitude that has engulfed them all season.

Ansley's first touchdown was made on the opening kick-off when a simple criss-cross play "sucked" all of the Ord players out of position and allowed an Ansley back to race through the whole field for a center.

Receiving the next kick-off, Ord went into action and using nothing but straight football carried the ball down the field. The Ord touchdown was the result of gains through the line, along with a couple of sparkling end runs. Rowland scintillated in the Ord offense, tearing through the Ansley line for six or eight yards at every attempt. In the backfield with him were Steinwort, Fartak and Tunnick. Ord's starting line-up played the entire game.

The second Ansley touchdown was made on a long forward pass after Ansley found the rejuvenated Ord line impregnable.

Ord was robbed of another scoring opportunity late in the game when, after carrying the ball to the Ansley 7-yard line and with four downs to carry it over, they were penalized five yards for stalling.

Coach Molzen and all Ord fans were much pleased at the fine showing made by the Chanticleers against Ansley, which team is undefeated this year and held Arcadia to a scoreless tie. A large crowd will accompany Ord to Arcadia tomorrow for the game that is, in most respects, the most important on the 1933 schedule. Fans are predicting that Arcadia will be in for an unpleasant surprise if they are expecting an easy victory.

ELYRIA CHURCH BAZAAR, DINNER HUGE SUCCESS

600 Enjoy Bountiful Repast and Festival Attractions; Dust Storm Cut Attendance.

A bazaar and festival was held Sunday at Elyria by the St. Mary's church for the purpose of raising funds for the church. Rev. Ziolkowski received the very best of cooperation from his entire congregation which made the affair a huge success in spite of the terrible dust storm.

It started at 1:30 with a colorful parade sponsored by the St. Mary's Dramatic and Social club. Immediately after the parade the club also sponsored a carnival held at the Clemy and township halls. There a bingo game, fish pond and many booths provided much amusement. A Catholic junior orchestra of Ord, directed by Jerry Puncocchar, provided a program which was greatly appreciated.

Many pieces of sewing and fancy work, donated by the ladies of the church were sold at one of the stalls.

At the Kusek barn an attempt was made to hold an auction sale of stock donated by members of the church but on account of the dust storm the sale had to be postponed until Saturday evening, at which time a corn game and a dance will be other attractions. E. C. Weller of Ord and Otto Pecenka were on hand to donate their services as auctioneer and clerk.

A beautiful quilt, made by the ladies of the Rosary society, on which tickets were sold was given away in the evening. Mrs. Clarence Johnson held the lucky number.

A bountiful chicken dinner was served at the Zulkoski building which had been decorated for the occasion. The dinner was carefully planned by a committee composed of Mrs. Chas. Dugosh, Mrs. Bolish Suminski, Mrs. Frank Blaha and Mrs. Chas. Sobon. The young ladies of the club acted as waitresses and were all dressed in white wearing head bands of brown and gold. The tables were decorated with huge bouquets of chrysanthemums. About 600 people were served.

A dance was held in the evening at the Clemy hall with an enormous crowd in attendance. Joe Puncocchar's orchestra of Ord furnished the music.

Harold Schaffner Fined. Harold Schaffner, of North Loup, was fined $15 and costs in county court here Saturday upon his plea of guilty to a charge of intoxication.

EXPECTS ACTION ON NORTH LOUP PROJECT TODAY

Hardenbrook Optimistic Loan Will Be Made; Bryan Has Withdrawn Objections.

Action is expected at Washington, D. C. today on the North Loup power and irrigation project involving $2,900,000 of federal funds, according to the latest word received from Bert M. Hardenbrook, who is there representing the district. The project has been passed by engineering and financial divisions and will be before Secretary Ickes for final decision today. It is thought.

The project probably would have been approved earlier had Governor Charles W. Bryan refrained from questioning whether there is sufficient water in the Loup rivers to make the Columbus project and the North and Middle Loup projects successful.

Last Friday Governor Bryan telegraphed public works authorities to request that the Columbus project be delayed until this important matter was settled. At first it was reported that he had requested delay on the North and Middle Loup projects also but in a telephone conversation with Ralph W. Norman Tuesday he denied this, saying that he was misquoted. The North and Middle Loup projects have prior water rights over Columbus, Bryan says.

Monday afternoon Bryan telegraphed Washington to urge that the North and Middle Loup projects be allowed without delay, he told Norman the next morning.

A survey of Loup river waters disclosed plenty of water available for the North and Middle Loup projects, with 2,200 second feet left for Columbus, and this disposed of Bryan's objections to the latter project, he said.

Tuesday the public works board approved the Columbus project and loaned $6,800,000 to carry it out, state papers report. This is the second big project allowed in Nebraska, the Sutherland having been allowed $7,500,000 last week.

The Columbus project is the dream of a former Valley county man, Ernest Babcock, who outlined the project thirty years ago and was about to secure money to carry it out when the depression of 1907 interfered. Now it will be constructed substantially as Mr. Babcock outlined it 30 years ago.

The North and Middle Loup projects will be approved immediately, Mr. Hardenbrook writes, and since public works authorities meet in executive session only on Tuesdays and Thursdays did not take action at their Tuesday session this week. He is hopeful that approval will come at their session today. He will wire the joyful news to Ord immediately, he promises.

If favorable word comes from Mr. Hardenbrook today the fire sirens will be blown immediately to apprise every person within hearing that federal development of the North Loup valley has become a certainty.

Sowl Is Rotary Speaker.

A 100-per cent meeting, the first in several months, was the feature of the Ord Rotary club's dinner Monday evening at Thorne's cafe. Orville Sowl, introduced as a representative of the American Legion, made an interesting address, in which he stressed the Legion's desire for universal conscription in event of war and an efficient army and navy as insurance of peace. M. Biemond was introduced as a new member and Rotarians made plans for an inter-city meeting with the Loup City club to be held soon.

Title Men Elect Capron to Board

Arthur Capron was in Lincoln Saturday attending the annual convention of the Association of Nebraska Title men and was honored by election to the board of directors. Last year Mr. Capron was district vice president.

Abstractors are about to adopt an NRA code which will provide minimum rates that may be charged for abstract work, Mr. Capron says.

Husking Bee for Garnick.

Friends and neighbors held a husking bee Tuesday for Dale Garnick, whose wife is in a hospital at Savannah, Mo., for removal of a cancer. Those who took part in the work were Frank Clark, Irvin Clark, R. E. Garnick, Howard Huff, Edward Loup, Earl Smith, Archie Waterman, Alfred Shoemaker, Ivan Anderson, Ed Pockock, Ben Eberhart, Suey Willard and Seton Hanson. Mrs. I. C. Clark, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. R. E. Garnick, Mrs. Suey Willard and Mrs. Seton Hanson served dinner at noon, after which the men finished the husking.

Bert Hardenbrook Ill.

Word from Bert Hardenbrook, who is in Washington, D. C., representing the North Loup irrigation project, indicates that for several days last week he was ill and confined to his hotel room under a doctor's care. He was considerably improved and was busy again the latter part of the week, however.

Ord's First Federal Home Loans To Be Made This Week

That the first loans to be made in Ord by the Federal Home Loan association will be completed this week was the statement made Monday by Ralph W. Norman, attorney for Valley county, and A. L. Hill, appraiser in Ord. Speedy action on other applications is anticipated.

Thirty-five Ord properties have been appraised, Mr. Hill says, and about twenty-five additional applications are on file and will be handled soon.

The Nebraska branch of the Home Loan corporation is headed by Charles Sarha, with offices in Grand Island. It has been a great job to set up the machinery for handling these loans, Mr. Sarha says, but now that his organization is perfected he expects to handle all applications quickly.

Kearney Florist Is Coming to Ord

H. A. Didrikson, florist at Kearney, Neb., was in Ord yesterday completing arrangements for the opening of a florist shop here Saturday. The shop will occupy part of the building leased by the Haruda bakery during the winter months, says Mr. Didrikson, and next spring he expects to build hot houses and an office building in Ord.

The Didrikson family have been in the florist business in Kearney for many years. The father of Mr. Didrikson came to Ord 50 years ago, being one of Kearney's first settlers. He passed away last fall and the business is now conducted by his two sons, H. A. and G. E. Didrikson, the latter looking after flower growing, wholesale features and the latter after the retail end of the business.

A complete line of flowers will be carried at the Ord shop, says Mr. Didrikson, and in the spring vegetable plants and potted flowers will be carried.

The shop will be open for business Saturday and in about three weeks a formal opening day will be announced, at which time a flower will be presented to every visitor.

To Bankers' Convention.

Tuesday evening two Ord bankers, Jos. P. Barta, president of the First National, and C. J. Mortensen, president of the Nebraska State, drove to Omaha to attend the bankers' convention being held there from Wednesday to Friday.

Husking Bee Held For John Wiberg

Monday a large group of neighbors gathered at the John Wiberg farm near Burwell and husked the balance of Mr. Wiberg's corn crop. Mr. Wiberg having been in poor health for some time. There were nineteen teams in the field and huskers who took part were James Mach, Sr., James Mach, Jr., Ed Mach, John Burson, Lloyd Burson, Tom Nedbaek, Charles Cerney, Joe Cerney, Aubrey Scofield, Elton Key, Floyd Hopkins, Frank Hopkins, Maurice Horner, Joe Pipal and son, Vernon Clabaugh, Edward Willis, Homer, Orville and Edward Scofield, Clifford Goff, Frank Tauer, Stanley and John Davenport, W. B. Hoppes, Tom Freeman, the Martz brothers and John Gerdis. At noon a big dinner was served by Mrs. James Mach, Mrs. Hoppes, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Burson, Mrs. Key, Mrs. Ed Mach and Mrs. Nedbaek.

Benefit of Elyria.

St. Mary's parish at Elyria sponsors a corn game, dance and refreshments in connection with the postponed auction of livestock, at 7:00 Saturday evening, Nov. 18. Joe Puncocchar's orchestra will furnish music for the dance. 34-11

HURLB'T, SAMLA PLEAD GUILTY, ARE SENTENCED

Former Must Serve 5 Years and Samla 3 to 5 in State Prison For Many Robberies.

Elbert Hurlbert, 29, and James Samla, 43, both of Garfield county, pleaded guilty to robbery charges in district court this week and were sentenced to the state penitentiary, their arrest and conviction clearing up the Kingsbury Hoff robbery and several other burglaries that have had Valley county officers guessing for several months.

The men were arrested last Wednesday by Sheriff George Round, who had been working on the case ever since the Hoff farm was first robbed September 9.

They will be taken to the state prison as soon as Sheriff Round gets word that there is room for them. In the meantime they will be held in the Valley county jail.

Samla, first of the pair to be arraigned in district court, went before Judge E. P. Clements Friday afternoon and after being advised as to his rights announced that he would waive preliminary hearing and plead guilty to a charge of burglary.

Questioned by County Attorney Munn, Samla gave his age as 43 and said that he is married and has three children, the eldest 14. His wife has twice been committed to the state hospital for the insane, he said, and returned home from that institution July 3.

Samla placed most of the blame for his being involved in this series of robberies upon the shoulders of young Hurlbert.

"He kept at me and kept at me until I said 'I'd go with him,'" he told the court.

Asked where Hurlbert's home was he said: "He lives no place. He's just like a squirrel and lives any place," referring to the young man's propensity for moving about the country.

Samla confessed that he and Hurlbert went in his car to Kingsbury's place about 9 o'clock on the evening of September 9 and ransacked the Hoff stock. They had heard that Mr. Hoff kept money hidden about his house, Samla said.

On this visit they took nothing from the soddy but from the barn stole a set of harness, three collars and a light robe, which plunder they took to the Samla farm and divided.

Then on October 24, during the pheasant season, the men again visited the Hoff farm and ransacked another house owned by Mr. Hoff, this time taking a tin box containing private papers and bank certificates of deposit, three coats, some overalls, a 10-gauge shotgun, a .22 revolver, a shirt, a horse blanket and a razor.

On the way to the Samla farm they stopped and inspected the papers, and not finding any money put the papers in a badger hole in a pasture near Elyria.

Hurlbert and Samla paid a third visit to the Hoff farm later, this time stealing two pairs of fur mittens, some underwear and some flour.

Several other burglaries were admitted on the stand by Samla, who said that Hurlbert was implicated in every one of them.

After hearing Samla's story Judge Clements asked him if he had anything to say for himself and he said that he had not, except that he was sorry.

Judge Clements then sentenced him to serve at least three and not more than five years in the state penitentiary. A sentence of 3 to 20 years could have been given if Samla under the statute but Judge Clements took into consideration the fact that Samla had made a clean breast of his part in the affair, was willing to testify against Hurlbert and had helped to recover all of the stolen property, even the papers buried in the badger hole.

Samla's partner in crime was not arraigned until yesterday morning, at which time he appeared before Judge Clements and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of breaking, entering and stealing. Hurlbert requested that an attorney represent him and Clarence M. Davis was appointed.

The Quiz Is Sorry.

Early last week Mrs. Chas. Dugosh came to our office to request that we insert a notice of the bazaar and supper being held Sunday by St. Mary's Catholic church of Elyria. Through some oversight the ad was omitted, which the Quiz regrets very much.

—Sunday Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Greenfield, Mr. and Mrs. John Haskell and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilson and son Marvin and Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Dye drove to Horace and attended the funeral of a relative, Lewis Appelgate. The body was taken to Scotia for burial and the Ord people came home from there.

—Mrs. Howard Wright of Omaha arrived Sunday to be with her mother, Mrs. Charley Wozniak, who was recently injured when she was struck by an auto.

45c Loans on Corn Will Be Available

That he will soon have information and application blanks for the new federal loans on corn was the statement made Tuesday by County Agent C. C. Dale. Farmers who expect to borrow money on their 1933 corn crop are asked to get in touch with Mr. Dale.

The government will loan 45c per bushel on corn in the crib, Mr. Dale says. To secure a loan the crib must be sealed by an inspector representing the Nebraska railway commission, it is stated.

This credit move is part of the government's price raising program. Corn will soon be worth 45c per bushel on the farm, it is thought.

Killed 5 Canada Geese.

While hunting on the North Loup river Sunday morning, Frank and Ed Kruml had that experience that waterfowl hunters most enjoy—they got into a flock of Canada geese. Eight of the big honkers came to their decoys and the Kruml brothers killed five of them. The smallest of the five weighed 10 1-2 pounds and the largest 16, their combined weight being 66 pounds.

AGED ARCADIA WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN BED

Mrs. Carl Anderson, 83, Passed In Night; Arcadia Girl Dies In Hospital.

Arcadia, Nov. 13.—(Special)—Mrs. Carl Anderson, 83, was found dead Saturday morning at her home south of Arcadia. She had retired the evening before enjoying her usual good health. Saturday morning when her son came in from his chores and did not find her up as was her custom he went to her room and found that she had passed away in her sleep.

Elna Anderson was born in Sweden August 2, 1850, later accompanying her parents to Denmark.

On Sept. 2, 1880 she was united in marriage to Carl Anderson to which union two children were born, Anders of Arcadia and Bertha of Omaha.

The family came to the United States in 1894, locating south of Arcadia.

The deceased embraced the Lutheran faith when a child. Funeral services were conducted from the Methodist church Monday afternoon in charge of Rev. R. O. Gaither, with interment in the Park cemetery beside her deceased husband who preceded her several months ago.

She is survived by her two children Anders and Bertha.

Viola Mae Pokorny Dies.

Arcadia, Nov. 14.—(Special)—Viola Mae Pokorny was born August 19, 1919 in Witten, S. D., and died in the Ord hospital Nov. 11, 1933 at the age of 14 years, 2 mos., 21 days. She was baptized in the Christian church at the age of 12 years and was a loyal Christian and Sunday school scholar.

She had recently moved to Arcadia with her mother from South Dakota.

She leaves to mourn her passing, her mother, Mrs. Ina Belfany, two brothers Willard and Harlan of Norden, Neb., two half sisters, Mary and Gwendolyn Belfany, two grandmothers, Mrs. Dave Ross of Mountain View, Mo., and Mrs. Ben Collins of Norden and many other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist church Monday morning at 10 o'clock in charge of Rev. R. O. Gaither with interment in the Arcadia cemetery by her father, Eugene Pokorny, who preceded her in March 1920.

Out of town relatives at the service were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pokorny and Willard and Harlan Pokorny, all of Norden.

Two Nebraskans Win U. S. Husking Contest

Sherman Henrickson, of Lancaster county, last Thursday became the corn husking champion of the United States by husking 27.62 bushels in the national contest held on the Ben Stalp farm near West Point. Harry Brown, of Beemer, finished second with 25.27 bushels. Ernest Rehn, champion of Illinois, was third, and Lawrence Pitzer, of Indiana, was fourth.

Just a week before Champ Henrickson had husked 32 bushels of corn to win the Nebraska championship at Cozad. Brown was runner-up.

About 35,000 people saw the national title contest at West Point.

Seed Corn Sorting Ends.

For several weeks W. O. Zanger has employed several people sorting seed corn on his farm near Ord and this week the work will end for a time. Mr. Zanger raised 188,000 pounds of Evergreen seed corn and all of it had been hand sorted. The work was done at the rate of about 1,000 pounds per day. More sorting will be done later in the winter.

DIRT STORM HIT ORD SUNDAY AND CAUSED DAMAGE

Trees Broken, Phone Wires and Poles Down, Buildings Are Hurt by 40-Mile Gale.

The most severe dust storm to sweep this section in many years swirled into Ord Sunday and raged almost all day, the gale reaching its highest velocity early in the afternoon. Throughout the day and early evening the wind blew at an estimated velocity of 40 miles per hour and at times gusts reached an estimated velocity of 50 to 60 miles per hour.

So much dust was being swept through the air that, although the sky was almost cloudless, the sun was obscured most of the day. Many car drivers had to use their headlights in mid-afternoon.

Many trees were broken off throughout the county and damage was done to both telephone and electric lines. Shingles were torn from many houses and some small buildings were overturned by the gale.

On the highways gravel was thrown with such force that many automobile wind-shields were pitted and ruined.

Ord insurance men say that reports of damage began to come in early Monday morning and adjusters were busy all day appraising damage.

In the Ord business section quite an amount of damage is reported. At the Frank Hiron store flimsy cloth signs being used to advertise a sale were torn to shreds and the heavy plate glass windows were threatened. They seemed to bend inward in the middle but didn't break," Mr. Hiron said.

The heavy metal sign in front of the Frazier furniture store was blown down but luckily missed the plate glass windows. The sign over the Standard Oil company's filling station also was blown down.

An awning on the building south of the postoffice was loosened by the gale and one of the supports crashed through the window. The awning itself was badly damaged. This building is owned by Alvin Blessing.

Windows in "Dad" Brown's rooms over the Kosmata shoe store also were broken. Shingles on the West K street house owned by Walter Byington of Lincoln were torn off and scattered throughout the neighborhood.

From the country near Ord came many reports of windmills blown over, shingles torn off, small buildings destroyed and trees broken.

At the Herman Koelling farm a barn about 32 feet square was literally blown to pieces, states Arthur Capron, of the Capron Agency, who carried the insurance. Other damage claims handled by the Capron Agency include the Dave Guggenmos place where shingles and roof boards were blown from house and barn, the Frank Rybin home where three windows on the north side were blown in early in the day, and the school where a large wooden ventilator was blown from the barn. Only a week ago a whirlwind destroyed a chicken-house on the Kluna farm.

Mr. Capron also reports that on the Joe Fajmon farm at the head of Gravel Creek the wind deroofed a big granary and a corn crib. C. A. Hager, of the Hager insurance agency, says that his company has had only eight damage reports, none of them involving great loss. At the Henry Desmull, Frank Parkos and Rudolph Kraulic farms buildings were moved on their foundations, he says. In town the roof on Clyde Baker's porch was damaged and some of the sheet iron roofing was blown from August Petersen's elevator.

Windmills are not insured by any of the major companies but one Ord insurance man estimates that 50 or more were blown down in the territory near Ord. The force of the wind could be seen by damage done to a windmill on the Charlie Brim farm just west of town where the anchor posts were pulled out and the windmill moved at least 200 feet. Fences were blown down all over the county, it is stated.

At Arcadia the metal awning on the A. H. Hastings furniture store was completely torn off, breaking one of the windows, and a large sign on top of the Marvel garage was blown down.

Farmers all over the county say that nearly all of their corn was flat on the ground Monday morning and that many hay stacks were blown down and scattered.

Ord housewives were busy Monday cleaning out the dust that seeped into homes through every crack and crevice. Many women, just through with fall housecleaning, were bewailing the fact that all their work would have to be done over again.

The dust storm was general throughout the midwest, state papers report, and subsided late Sunday evening, Monday dawning clear and windless.

—Mrs. Dale Garnick, who has been at Savannah, Mo., for several weeks is improved and plans on soon returning home.

THE ORD QUIZ

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

For many years the contention of the farmer has been that he was forced to sell his products at what the other fellow was willing to pay and then turn around and buy what he needed at the price the other fellow set. In other words, the farmer has never had any voice in fixing the price of either what he had to sell or what he had to buy. If he could set the price on what he had to sell, why then he could figure out a living for himself and family. The manufacturer goes out and buys his raw product, adds up the cost of all overhead items plus a profit and sets the selling price. The farmer is really just as much a manufacturer as anyone and he should be able to do the same thing. It is because he can't that railroad and other bridges are being burned over in Iowa and the same brand of lawlessness is starting in Nebraska and no one knows just how soon we will be up against the same condition in Valley county. Of course I don't believe in the destruction of property. But unless something is done to equalize matters there is going to be a great loss of life in the conflict that is sure to come.

It seems to me the error of the administration to raise farm prices started in the wrong place. They did the thing that would raise the price of everything to the consumer first. The industrialists were practically forced to borrow money to finance manufacturing and lots of goods were made. Encouraged by the great hullabaloo put out by the NRA forces merchants loaded up with goods. This encouraged the manufacturers to hire more help and make more goods. But the great common people, who after all, are the market for the bulk of the goods, had no money with which to buy the goods. Now the merchants of the country are loaded with new goods; the manufacturers are getting their warehouses filled, and the orders have quit coming in because the people can't buy. For several years the people have not been able to buy because they have been getting less than the cost of production for what they raised and sold and they are mostly broke. During these times, many small merchants, large retailers, wholesalers, manufacturers and jobbers have been forced into bankruptcy because they couldn't sell their goods. The farmers of Valley county could not buy any great quantity of goods today if the goods were offered at half the cost of production because they haven't got the money and can't get it.

We are hoping that our irrigation-power project will be approved. If so, soon, a lot of men will be given work and all the wages they get will be spent for goods. We all realize the great amount of work necessary on the part of the government to get these various projects in shape and we believe they are doing as well as could be expected. But speed is all important. It is and still is necessary to start at the grass roots to bring prosperity back to the farmer, about to lose his farm and the savings of a lifetime, should be assured of a loan at a low rate of interest to pay off his mortgage, interest and taxes. Why not the government loan the money to the farmer with a mortgage on his land, for what he owes, at 2 per cent? What better investment could the government make? Why not do it that way instead of loaning the money to some bank or loan corporation at the low rate and let them loan it to the farmer at a high rate which spells disaster for him right from the start? If the loan of worry could be taken off the farmer in some way; if he could see some hope in the future of getting out of debt, he would buckle into the game with a new zeal.

DR. RICH says:
Grand Island, Neb., Nov. 16, 1933. Intelligent things are worth repeating. I have often stated in these articles how frequently people make the mistake of wrong doctoring. Such cases have been noticeable here the last week. Every new patient at the Sanitarium this past week had been treated elsewhere before coming to me for their cure. We are told that the price of crude oil is going to be fixed and it is going to be fixed at more than ten times what it was worth only a few months ago. Probably it was not very profitable at 11 cents a barrel. But neither was corn at 11 cents a bushel. Why raise the corn price three times what it was a few months ago and at the same time raise the crude oil price eleven times what it was? I think a newspaper story before me tells why and here is the reason. I quote:

Secretary Ickes is a mighty busy man having over three billion dollars of the peoples' money to spend. He must rely on the industry for advice and for that reason there has been appointed for his assistants: Mr. Moffett, until recently connected with the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Mr. Richberg; Mr. Benedum; Mr. Dawes, head of the Pure Oil Company; Mr. Byles, President of the American Petroleum Institute; Mr. Franklin; Mr. Rosser; Mr. Zook; Mr. Beaty, now connected with Phillips Petroleum Company; Mr. Bennett; Mr. Arnott, now head of the Standard Oil of New York; Mr. Holladay, now head of the Standard Oil of Ohio; Mr. Reeser, head of the Barnsdall Corporation; Mr. Kingsbury, head of the Standard Oil of California; and Mr. Majewski, head of the Deep Rock Oil Corporation.

Now how does it look to you? What would you think those men would suggest to the administration? Just what they have suggested and an authority in the retail gasoline business in Nebraska says we will be paying 24 cents a gallon for gasoline in Nebraska before Christmas. Does he know? Perhaps not but it sounds reasonable if the price of crude oil is advanced 11 times as high as it was when we were paying 16 or 17 cents for gasoline. I am told that it will be a serious matter for any dealer in gasoline to cut the price, probably a fine of $500 to start with and Leavenworth prison for repeated offenses. And here is betting that the government will do a lot better job enforcing that law than they ever did enforcing the prohibition law, too.

It looks to me as though General Hugh Johnson was taking special pains to pick on Henry Ford. Probably in the end, Ford will benefit for he will have the sympathy of the whole country.

Yes, and if the administration was going to pick way up oil men to advise it what course to follow in handling the oil industry, why didn't it pick more real dirt farmers to help solve the farm problem instead of mostly college professors and others with only theory to guide them.

And if the government is going to plan, direct and manage all the business of the country, the government had better buy the business and put the present owners on a salary. It looks to me as though the man on a salary has all the best of it these days with little to worry about.

Gen. Hugh Johnson came out west last week, stopped first at Des Moines, then made airplane jumps to Omaha, Kansas City, Tulsa and on back into the state east. He hit just the biggest cities, just met his NRA generals, majors, captains (maybe he didn't bother with anyone below the generals) and he says the farmer unrest in the plains states has been greatly exaggerated, that conditions are really not so bad. If he really wanted to know the facts why didn't he go out among the farmers. What do the NRA generals in the big cities know about farmer conditions? There isn't a one of the higher ups among them that ever has to want for a thing and of course everything is all hunkey-dory.

A lady who reads the Quiz wants to sell a bread starter. This lady has had and used her starter every week for 13 months and has never had a bread failure in that time she says. She will sell a pint jar full of the starter for 15c. In other words, as Irma says, you get your start of the starter and the glass pint jar for 15c. You have to keep the starter in a cool place and use it once each week to keep it. If you are interested in this, see or call the Quiz and we will tell you where you can get it. If there is a demand for the starter the lady will tell you more about it over her own signature. We told her she was too modest, that she should advertise the starter right away.

F. J. Dworak was about to move his store from the old building into the new brick structure on the square.
Charlie Detweiler was badly burned about the head and neck when an alcohol stove over which he was cooking while on a hunting trip exploded. His brother, Will, was close by and smothered the flames with a blanket or Charlie might have fared worse.
On the M. May farm near the big old Sidney Warner shot an eagle that measured over 7 feet from wing tip to wing tip.
Trenches for the foundation of the new Catholic church were dug and workmen were about ready to pour concrete when cold weather set in, forcing postponement of this work. The church was to be 30 x 60 feet when completed.
W. C. Parsons, who had been associate editor of the Quiz for 11 years, quit his job and purchased the Burwell Tribune from Norm Parks, who at once left for California.

It was proposed to organize a company of National Guards in Ord and Allan Clements, Milford Stacy and J. E. Pinrock were in charge of organization. Thirty young men were needed.
Charles Bals imported three fine stallions from Belgium and proposed to import several more.
Mrs. Anton Kosmata was taken to an Omaha hospital for treatment of a strange malady from which she had been suffering. She had no pain but every day her fever rose to a high point, which was sapping her strength. She was accompanied to Omaha by her husband, who was still on crutches as the result of a fall from a ladder a few weeks before.
Dr. Barta's car took a lunge as he was cranking it in his garage and jammed his leg into some solid object, as a result of which he was travelling on crutches. The car had been left in gear, it was learned.
Fred Hather sold his blacksmith shop to his brother Will, and was leaving for South Dakota.

Something DIFFERENT

Mr. Haskell contributes this: "The other evening, driving from the street onto his premises, Ign. Klma honked loudly at a friend who was walking by, and stopped his car at his garage door. The friend stepped up to the car for a moment's chat and then Klma started his engine again to complete his housing of the car. But just then Mrs. Klma came out of the house and called to Klma: "Don't put the car in yet," followed by Bobby who called out, "Hey, daddy!" and Rex, the dog, scampered out contributing "Bow, wow, wow, wow." Ign. stopped his engine, turned to his friend, who was convulsed with laughter, and drawled: "Do you think I have got my orders?"

At this minute I can't think of anything more cunning than that little toy fence that straddles Jerry Petska's front yard.

I think a good many radio fans of this vicinity are feeling a little lost this fall because it is impossible to tune in on the Nebraska games. Probably loyal Nebraska boosters shouldn't mind, in view of the fact that attendance at the games is much better this fall, and as the radio broadcasts were stopped in the hopes of just this result.

But it isn't every fall Nebraska has a team like this. And that may account for the increase in attendance to a considerable extent. Also for some of the grief of those who don't get to hear the games, play-by-play, any more.

Welfare workers have all kinds of shenanigans run on them, and have to be very careful and suspicious, indeed.
Not long ago a tramp, quite patently from out of town, approached a woman who is in charge of some local relief work, asking for trousers, coat, shoes, or anything and everything. Finally he secured a pair of trousers which were a great improvement on those he wore, and left.

But not many minutes later another strange fellow came in the room and made almost the same requests for the same clothes. Again the woman helped him, hating to turn away a man who seemed to have a genuine claim for aid.
And in a little while a third fellow, not familiar to the woman in charge, came in and asked for trousers, etc., to replace those he wore. The kindly woman thought it time to call a halt to this procession of askers, so she blandly said: "I told your buddy to tell you I didn't have any more trousers to give away."

There are plenty of local people who need aid, without trying to help outsiders, whose motives may not be the best.
Cases have been known where clothes come by this easy way were traded off immediately. So the relief workers watch carefully, and try to guard against giving away things to transients of uncertain intent.

Trying to teach the children to use their leisure time to ride a hobby, and enjoy it, each year a number of clubs are formed at the high school among junior high students, who get a great wallop out of them.

Superintendent Bell had as much fun as his scholars about three years ago when an aviation club was organized. First they made kite models, and gradually progressed to little airplane models, the cunningest things. I believe the boys were the same vintage as Bob Cushing.

Last year the boys enjoyed a wrestling and boxing club enormously, under the supervision of Coach Molzen. This year the clubs include a dramatic group under the direction of Miss Fru-shour, a nature study group sponsored by Mr. Bell, a folk dancing class that Miss Crouch is teaching, a sewing group Miss Elizabeth Lukesh has in charge. And also a gang of boys whom Cecil Molzen is helping to make wooden toys and other small bits of wood-work.
It sounds like fun to me. Do you suppose they would let us all join?

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

It is again time for winter dishes. Pumpkin, squash, rich meat dishes, rich pies, now adorn our tables again. If you have some old favorites, you will be glad to see the time of year roll around when you may use them. Buckwheat cakes, scrapple, and a lot of other good things cannot be enjoyed in the summer.
Please send in recipes for squash, pumpkin, parsnips, horseradish, and other things just now suitable for use, again. Here is one you will enjoy trying.

Baked Squash with Sausage.

Cut individual squash in halves, remove seeds, invert in baking dish and bake until tender. When the squash is tender, turn right side up, fill cavity with sausage patty. Return to oven and cook at medium temperature until the sausage is well done.
Mrs. B. Mulligan, North Loup.

Cheese and Pineapple Salad.

Boil together two cups crushed pineapple, one-half cup sugar, and the juice of one lemon. Add one envelope Knox gelatine which has been dissolved in one-half cup cold water. When it begins to set add one cup grated cheese and one cup stiff whipped cream. Place in mold until cold. Serve with salad dressing.
Mrs. J. W. Severns.

Chicken with Tomatoes.

Dress and disjoint one chicken. Put in a kettle with barely enough water to cover. Add salt, pepper and a few grains of allspice, 12 or 15 prunes and one-fourth cup raisins. Cook about one-half hour, then add one small onion, one carrot and one-half quart of tomatoes. Let cook until tender or about one hour. If the liquid boils out, add a little water. Brown about two tablespoons of flour in a skillet in a small amount of grease, then thicken the gravy with the browned flour. Serve while hot.
Mrs. Joe Klपाल.

Chocolate Cookies.

Cream one-half cup shortening, preferably butter, with one and one-half cups light brown sugar, add two well beaten eggs, one-half cup milk, two cups flour, which has been sifted with one teaspoon baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon soda. Lastly add one square of melted chocolate or two tablespoons of cocoa, and a cup of chopped nuts if you wish. Drop by spoonfuls on a well oiled tin and bake. Ice with any frosting you like.
Mrs. G. C. Cook.

Steamed Pudding.

Combine one cup of ground suet, one cup bread crumbs, one cup white sugar, one cup brown sugar, two cups seedless raisins, a pinch of salt, two teaspoons of cinnamon, one egg, one egg, one cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, enough flour to make stiff. Steam for three hours.
For a sauce, mix one cup of white sugar and one cup of brown sugar with a lump of butter, flavor with vanilla. Use a little flour to thicken and boil ten minutes.
Mrs. T. L. Williams.

Graham Cookies.

Mix one cup sugar with one egg, one tablespoon molasses, one cup thin sour cream, a softened lump of butter the size of an egg, one teaspoon soda, two and one-half cups graham flour, one teaspoon lemon extract, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Mix in the order given and bake as drop cookies in a fairly hot oven.
Mrs. Ernest Weller.

Mrs. Weller called up to say that her chop suey recipe was not a all clear in the last week's Quiz. The Quiz is very sorry, and here is a version that is better:

Chop Suey.

Simmer one pound of lean pork until tender, cool and shred the meat. Brown the pork lightly in one tablespoon of fat. Remove the meat from the skillet, add a second tablespoon of fat to the skillet and put in two cups of diced onion, cook about five minutes. Add two cups diced celery, the meat, onion, and three tablespoons of cornstarch (which has been mixed with a little liquid from the chop suey vegetables) to the broth and let simmer twenty-five to thirty minutes in a covered kettle just before taking from the fire add one can of chop suey vegetables, one-half teaspoon salt, and lastly three tablespoons of soy sauce. Serve hot. This makes delicious chop suey.
Mrs. Ernest Weller.

QUIZ FORUM

A Boost for Common Cows.

To the Editor of the Quiz:
Warrior Coats says "the milk war is about over, as far as he is concerned." Have you found it a one-sided war? At any rate I believe that the knocks have not hurt the cheap skate, five cent man.

As to the cheap milk from the cheap cows of the common herds: Nearly all farms have common herds and sell cheap cream. Farmers of this vicinity take their cream into our beautiful city of Ord, and this same city's creamery received Nebraska's first premium for good butter. This good butter was made of cream from common and cheap cows. These farm families do not feel that they are prejudicing their health, when they use the milk from the common cows. And I don't believe our city brothers are either, especially if they know the five cent man. Maybe bossy isn't put in the bath tub every morning. But I'll not hesitate to say, the utensils are sanitary, and the milkers as clean as any dairy men.
Folks who want to visit their dairyman and see for themselves to what conditions the milk is subjected should do so.
Of course you would be a nuisance at milking time, but common cows are not nervous. You have their consent to intrude into their common barns. All the fun made of common herds and barns, reminds me of what the German girl said during the world war when she looked at our flag. "It looks like a striped stick of cheap candy." The American girl replied. "Yes, the kind that makes you sick, when you try to lick it." It would be grand if we all could have modern homes, and all farms could have registered stock. But my earnest prayer is that all unemployed families could have all the milk they can consume, even though it comes from the common herds.

—A Commoner.

Personality

Personality is not all in giving the qualities one has to the world, but rests a great deal in its ability to respond and be interested in the other fellow's problem. The person who has sympathy and understanding cannot help but be a gracious kindly soul with charm and warmth that we call personality.

TWO NEW WINTER GRADES

ISO-VIS "D" Anti-Sludge Motor Oil 10-W and 20-W

CAR MANUFACTURERS RECOMMEND NEW GRADES OF MOTOR OIL

After thorough study of common causes of difficulty in winter starting, motor car manufacturers have found, through investigations sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers, that most people use too heavy oil in winter, and that there is great variation in the starting characteristics of winter grade oils. They, therefore, recommend the use of two new grades for winter to be known as 10-W and 20-W, both of which are to have very definite viscosity specifications for starting at low temperatures.

They pour at sub-zero temperatures . . . Give easier starting . . . Yet could be used with perfect safety in mid-summer. Will not sludge. Now ready at all Standard Stations

Get set for the easiest starting winter you've ever experienced. At all Standard Stations you'll now find two new winter grades of Iso-Vis "D" Anti-Sludge Motor Oil—10-W and 20-W. These new grades not only meet the latest recommendations of car manufacturers for winter motor oils, but 20-W pours at 5° below zero, and 10-W pours at 20° below zero. At those temperatures these oils let your motor turn over easily—give positive lubrication instantly. And you don't need to worry about these oils thinning out dangerously under the heat of driving. They are so little affected by high temperatures that they could be used with perfect safety in your motor on the hottest summer day, though they would give somewhat higher consumption in hot weather. Because these new oils do not sludge you will get just as quick, positive circulation of lubricant in your motor at the end of 1000 miles as when you first put them in your crankcase.

View of Farm Strike.

I have been neither surprised nor shocked by the revolt of the holiday folks. It is true that I have never seen eye to eye with the leaders of the movement, but when it has been suggested that the great powers of the federal government might be used in subterranean ways to disrupt the movement, I have insisted that the best way to stop this kind of ruckus is to get more money into the farmers' hands. The holiday movement is like the nerve to an aching tooth. You deaden the nerve only as a last resort. Meanwhile, it tells us just where and how serious the aches are. But when you have said that, I am afraid you have said all that can be said for such a movement. Violence, destruction of property, and bloodshed solve no problems. The statements of the leaders deploring such violence come a little late, and are of very little use in mending broken heads. You can't get more of the consumer's dollar by keeping milk away from his children, and you certainly don't endeavor him to the cause of the farmer.

Friend in White House.

In the past few months I believe city people have acquired a new sympathy for the farmer's battle for justice; but let a few more buildings be destroyed, a few more heads cracked, and a few more milk trucks upset, and I greatly fear that the reaction among consumers will be anything but helpful to farmers generally.

It so happens that we have in the White House a man who believes in the farmer. Never have the farmers of the United States had a President who knew as much about farming or who was as sympathetic to their cause.

Never have there been in the Department of Agriculture so many people willing to work 12 or 15 hours a day, week after week, in an effort to bring "equality to agriculture" at the earliest possible moment. Things which in former administrations would take four years of battling to accomplish can now be put through in the course of a half hour's conversation.

Abusing Sympathy.

The danger is that the extraordinary sympathy which all of us have for agriculture may be abused. Certain reactionary groups, I have been told, would like to see that happen so that they might get back into power.

While any open alliance between a suave, powerful reactionary group and a misery-ridden, desperate farm group is inconceivable, nevertheless, it is true that politics makes strange bedfellows.

Whether or not there is a sympathetic understanding between the reactionaries and the hell-raising boys, the two groups are working to the same end. If the administration can be pushed into doing something which ultimately proves to be foolish, the reactionaries can again come into their own.

I am here to tell you that the administration does not "push" that easily.

Encourage Criticism.

I am not suggesting that we discourage criticism. This administration honestly welcomes intelligent criticism from within or without. We never did claim infallibility. Neither are we particularly disturbed by the personal abuse coming from men who have long made discord the basis of a good livelihood. I am not concerned about the people who, in their distress, are following that leadership.

For most farmers the path of violence has no appeal. There are alternatives. One of them is the proposal of the five midwestern governors who visited us recently in Washington. Perhaps the fairest way to present that is to tell you the various stages in our discussion.

Meeting With Governors.

The governors asked for price-fixing. The pressure of events, they felt, required that, and required it at once. But after they had considered the difficulties of fixing prices at the point asked by the holiday folks, they agreed that there would have to be some practical method of arriving at a fair price. So they substituted fair exchange value, as defined in the Agricultural Adjustment act, still insisting, however, on the necessity for immediate price-fixing.

I frankly admit I was skeptical, as I always have been of price-fixing plans where there is not an absolute control over supply. Nevertheless, a number of us sat down with the governors to see if we could work out a satisfactory plan. Their first proposal, therefore, was to control marketing by means of a banner code under the NRA, but enthusiasm for that idea faded away when they learned of the celebrated Huey Long amendment to the National Industrial Recovery act. This amendment provides that nothing in the NRA shall hamper the farmer's freedom of marketing.

So the governors then proposed a system of compulsory marketing control, giving monthly marketing quotas to every farmer in the United States. And they were willing to back the compulsory marketing system with a system of licensing every plowed field in the country.

Tour of Investigation.

One reason I have come out to Iowa at this time is to discover whether or not the farmers of the corn belt are ready for the imposition of compulsory control, both of production and marketing.

If they are, new legislation will be necessary; the existing laws, I am quite convinced, will not permit the methods the governors have in mind.

It would be necessary, apparently, to declare agriculture a public utility, and then to begin the truly staggering task of deciding which farmers should have certificates of public convenience and necessity, of telling American farmers whether or not they would be permitted to farm at all, what crops they might grow, how much they might plant, and how, when, and where they might market them; of requiring from each of the 6,500,000 farmers in the United States detailed, periodic reports of receipts and expenditures and inventories; and, finally, of checking up on each of these reports with appropriate frequency.

Planned Agriculture.

That sort of thing is involved in all public utility regulation and I presume agriculture could not be any exception.

In this what the farmers of the United States want? In the past I have not thought so, but perhaps I'm just too conservative.

There is another way. It is not the way of violence, nor is it the way of compulsion. It is the opportunity offered to the farmers of the United States to unite for a planned agriculture in a way that will help both them and the nation. It is voluntary, not compulsory; it is born of the spirit of democracy; the legislation for it already exists; the machinery has been set up, and best of all, we know that it will work for already it has begun to work in two great sections of the United States.

In the south farmers have united in an extraordinary effort to raise prices by adjusting their production. They have succeeded. Cotton is today commanding twice the price it brought last winter. Tobacco is up. And in keeping with the government's contract, the agricultural adjustment administration has put millions of dollars in the hands of those growers who co-operated.

Renewed Vigor in South.

The effect has been electrifying. From every part of that region comes the word that the growers, the business men, and everybody else has taken a new lease on life. Farmers have money to spend for the first time in many months, and they are spending it. The circuit flow of prosperity seems to be beginning down there.

The wheat growers of the nation have likewise completed the first stage of their campaign to raise prices by adjusting the supply to the market that actually exists. Benefit payments to compensate them for their sacrifices are at this moment coming out of Washington. We hope that the first payments will be in the hands of all the 550,000 co-operating growers before Christmas.

Two Major Activities.

I have been speaking of the wheat grower, the cotton and the tobacco grower. What of the corn grower and the hog producer? Two or three months from now I believe it will be possible to say the same things about the corn country, if the people here wish it to be so.

The possibilities are contained in at least two major activities of the Roosevelt administration. The corn-hog program, which I shall present to you tonight, is one; monetary action is the other. It might be appropriate first to consider the possibilities in the administration's monetary policy.

Unfortunately, this type of inflation seems to have a rather slow effect on those products of which the domestic consumption is much more important than the foreign. This is true specially of dairy and livestock products. In the long run, increasing the price of gold should effect these products, too, but for an immediate effect on them it may be necessary to increase, quickly and materially, the purchasing power of the people who consume these products. In other words, industrial pay rolls must be increased; more men must be put to work at living wages.

Where will the money for these increased pay rolls come from? If private capital declines to provide it, the government will have to. This can be done under existing law, and on Wednesday last the President announced that the government is prepared to move in that direction by taking 4,000,000 persons off the public relief rolls and giving them jobs. This is the kind of controlled inflation that takes hold at the grass roots. If further direct action by the federal government is necessary, I have no doubt that the President will give it.

Electricity

No one knows just what electricity is. A general definition is that electricity is a material agency which, when in motion, exhibits magnetic, chemical and thermal effects, and which, whether in motion or at rest, is of such a nature that when it is present in two or more localities within certain limits of association a mutual interaction of force between such localities is observed. Investigations indicate that it is discrete or granular in nature and that there may be two kinds, positive and negative.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Cornhusking machinery has not kept pace with some other lines of farm equipment. Pickers were invented in 1850, yet many farmers still question their practicability. Investigations of corn-harvesting machinery were made by government workers recently on several hundred Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana farms.

They found the total cost of corn harvesting to be about $3.48 with 1-row pickers, $2.96 with 2-row pickers, and $3.36 an acre when the work was hired done by hand at 3 cents a bushel.

These figures came from field averaging 112 acres of fifty bushels corn. Most of the farmers gathered over 80 acres with their one-row pickers. The two-row pickers husked over 120 acres each. Hand husking was done on all types and sizes of farms.

Two men can husk twice as much with a one-row picker and three times as much with a two-row machine as they can gather by hand. Machines work best in damp corn. They operate slower when stalks are dry, brittle, and ideal for hand husking.

In Illinois the machines left 5.9 bushels, while hand huskers wasted 2.8 bushels per acre. Similar studies in Indiana showed 4.9 bushels left per acre by two-row pickers, 3.3 bushels left by one-row pickers, and 1.2 bushels remaining in the field behind hand huskers.

Advantages of mechanical pickers, aside from cost, may be summarized thus:

1. Pickers reduce the labor problem.
2. Husking is easier and more pleasant.
3. A large acreage can be handled.
4. Work may be started earlier because machines remove more of the silks, and silks cause more damage than husks when put in the crib.
5. Stalks are available sooner for pasture.

Disadvantages of mechanical pickers are:

1. More money must be invested in equipment.
2. Weather conditions may make machine husking difficult.
3. More corn may be left unless machine is carefully adjusted and operated. Landlords may object.
4. Value of stalks for pasture is reduced.
5. Less employment is furnished for local hand labor. A man who harvests early with a machine gains little if he idles away the rest of the winter.

Questioned by County Attorney Munn and Judge Clements, the young man gave his age as 29 and said that he has been married twice. He was divorced by his first wife and two years ago was married again. He has a baby about three months old. Hurlbert freely admitted his participation in the robberies but maintained that he was influenced by Samla, who gave him liquor continuously. "When I'm drinking I think that everything I see belongs to me," he told the court.

The evidence disclosed that Hurlbert pleaded guilty to a charge of chicken theft on July 23, 1929 and was sentenced to serve from 1 to 2 years in the reformatory. He actually served about 13 months time, he said.

After his release from prison he returned to his father's farm and later went to Nebraska City, where he was employed in a packing plant. There he forged a $20 check and while authorities were searching for him he returned to Garfield county, where his relatives filed an insanity complaint against him. Adjudged insane by the Garfield county insanity board, he was taken to Hastings and was treated for six months at Ingleside.

Judge Clements refused to hear evidence tending to show that Hurlbert is still mentally incompetent, advising the young man's attorney that if Hurlbert is insane he should withdraw his plea of guilty. County Attorney Munn said that he is ready to prove that Hurlbert is sane and was committed to Ingleside only to evade prosecution at Nebraska City.

After asking Hurlbert if he had anything to say for himself, Judge Clements asked the young man to stand and sentenced him to serve five years in the state penitentiary at hard labor.

"The evidence and court records show that this young man has been a criminal since he was 22 years old," the judge commented.

Hurlbert and Samla admitted to officers that they committed nine different robberies, as well as stealing gasoline from the tanks of many cars in Ord and other towns. The list of places that they robbed included three houses on Kingsbury Hoff's property, the Mrs. John Pigman farm, the Ernest Paddock garden, the Henry Marks & Son hog buying office, the George Zikmund farm, a place on the Cedar river, the owner's name being unknown to them, and the car of a pheasant hunter from Red Cloud, Neb., when it was parked in Greeley during the recent open season.

Most of the loot from these robberies was recovered. Property recovered for King Hoff included two sheepskin coats, a pair of fur mittens, three horse collars, some harness, two guns, about $1,000 in bank certificates of deposit, overalls and other articles of clothing and many private papers.

Two feather beds and some pillows belonging to Mrs. Pigman and stolen about three weeks ago were recovered, one of the beds being found at the Samla home and the other in the home of Hurlbert's father-in-law near Greeley. Twenty-four bushels of potatoes stolen from George Zikmund were found at the Samla place, as well as 15 or 20 bushels of onions stolen from the Ernest Paddock farm.

From the Marks office the thieves stole a .22 rifle, some batteries and two grease guns, all of which were recovered.

At a farm on the Cedar river they stole a stove and other articles of furniture.

From the car of a Red Cloud, Neb., pheasant hunter Hurlbert stole an 1897 model Winchester shotgun that was almost new.

Some of this stolen property was found hidden on the Garfield county farm of young Hurlbert's father, O. J. Hurlbert, though officers do not believe that Mr. Hurlbert knew it was there. Other articles were found at Greeley where young Hurlbert was staying when arrested.

Most of the property, however, was found at the Samla farm, which is just over into Garfield county. There Sheriff Round, after much search, found a cache of stolen articles in the attic. Samla had removed paper from the ceiling, hid the property in the attic and then repaired the ceiling.

It is thought that the arrest of Hurlbert and Samla will stop the tide of minor thievery that has so bothered Ord people for several months. Gasoline, bus caps, spare tires and other accessories have been stolen from many cars left outside over night and to many of these thefts the two have pleaded guilty.

Christian Science. "Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, November 19. The Golden Text is from Isaiah 26:3: "Ye, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee."

A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-sermon is from Romans 8:12-14: "Therefore, brethren we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh. For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die; but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "The material body, as mind are temporal, but the real man is spiritual and eternal. The identity of the real man is not lost; but found through this explanation, for the conscious infinitude of existence and of all identity is thereby discerned and remains unchanged." (page 302).

Standard Announces New Motor Oils, Gas

To make quick and safe starting doubly sure this winter Standard Oil Company announces two new grades of Iso-Vis "D" Motor Oil and a new Red Crown Quick-Fire superfuel Gasoline.

During the past year motor car manufacturers through an investigation sponsored by the Society of Automotive Engineers have made a study of winter oil. They found that most winter oils were too heavy and that because of this, most people experienced unnecessary difficulty in starting. In cars with refinements such as automatic starters and choke controls it was predicted that starting difficulty would be greater than ever before if winter oils of the old type were used.

They therefore established a classification for two new grades of motor oil to be known as 10-W and 20-W; 20-W to be recommended for all temperatures from freezing to zero and 10-W for temperatures below that.

The two new grades of Iso-Vis "D" are the oils developed by the Standard Oil Company under this new classification—except they have gone even further. The new 20-W Iso-Vis "D" pours at 5 degrees below zero and 10-W at 20 degrees below zero. Both grades start to lubricate even on the coldest morning the minute the starter on any car is pressed. This new instantaneous lubricating feature is offered the public at no increase in motor oil costs.

The new Quick-Fire Superfuel is claimed by Standard to be the fastest starting gasoline that has ever been offered. They have increased the percentage of high volatile quick-fire fractions for winter driving by 55 percent. Not only is it quick fire for winter starting, but is still 70 Octane, the top anti-knock rating in its price class. This new gasoline is called the Complete Superfuel because it embodies every quality demanded of a perfect gasoline—quick-starting, top anti-knock rating, free from sulphur and gum, perfect balance, unsurpassed in mileage, no premium price.

Both of these new petroleum products are now offered at all Standard stations and dealers. Extra Fees for Gush. Post Office officials of Scotland have ruled that cables of felicitation sent to newly married couples in colonies must be charged at full commercial rates, while those bearing other greetings go at reduced tolls.

CWA GIVES WORK TO 32 HERE, MORE JOBS OPENING UP

96 in Valley County to Benefit By New Federal Relief; Weigardt In Charge.

A move to slash red-tape and give immediate jobs to millions of unemployed was started last week by the federal government in the organization of the new Civil Works Administration...

Nebraska's quota of CWA funds is $2,500,000, all of which is an outright grant from the federal government.

In charge of the program in the state are Tax Commissioner Wm. H. Smith, Federal Relief Director Rowland Haynes and State Engineer Roy Cochran...

In Valley county Alfred Weigardt, clerk of the district court and director of unemployment registration, will have general charge.

State papers Tuesday announced that 96 jobs would be available in Valley county, the state total being about 27,500.

Men given CWA jobs will be permitted to work only 30 hours per week and on state projects will be paid 40c per hour for unskilled labor and 60c per hour for skilled labor.

State county directors are moving to get under way quickly. The 15 men called to work here this morning will work under R. N. McAllister, state highway patrolman in charge of this district.

They will work Thursday, Friday and Saturday and next Monday their places will be taken by 16 other men, who will work three days, after which the original 15 will work three days, etc.

It is proposed to get other work started at once, so that Valley county's entire quota of 96 will be working within a few days.

The federal government requires that not more than 10 per cent of the amount of money granted may be spent for materials and that the other 90 per cent must go for labor.

There are 65 able-bodied men in Valley county's relief rolls, Director Weigardt states, and these will be given preference on CWA jobs, to conform to federal requirements.

Arlen, Morris Head Cast of Timely Film

Richard Arlen, Chester Morris and Genevieve Tobin head the cast of "The Golden Harvest," attraction at the Ord Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week and Manager Biemond believes that the film will prove most interesting to all theatre lovers, particularly farmers.

Filmed almost entirely in the great wheat-producing region of Oregon, the picture contains many hitherto unphotographed scenes of that country during the harvest period, as well as many interesting "shots" of the Chicago wheat pit during a trading session.

In the picture Arlen and Morris play the roles of two brothers, Wolf and Chris Martin, born to the soil but lacking a real love for farming.

Morris seeks a fortune in Chicago, becomes a big-time speculator in grain and, known as the "Big Bear," drives down the price of wheat.

Unwittingly he causes farmers to lose their land, brings about foreclosure actions.

Arlen stays on the farm and as the price of wheat drops goes radical, organizes the farmers, brings about a farm strike to stop the flow of food to distant cities.

Arden sees in the strike a prime opportunity for "bullying" the market and combines with his brother, ostensibly to help the farmers' cause.

The human equation causes their failure. A crash brings financial ruin to Morris in a surging climax but it brings to life again the brothers' loyalty.

ARCADIA WINS BY ONE POINT TO TOP VALLEY

Ord Defeated 7 to 6 in Bruising Game on Arcadia Field; North Loup Next.

By the scanty margin of a single point, Arcadia high school last Friday defeated Ord and thus retained the lead in the race for Loup valley conference honors.

The score was 7 to 6 and the game was played in the presence of a huge crowd.

Undeclared and untied in conference competition, Arcadia looks like a sure bet to repeat as valley champions. Coach Arnold Tunney's boys last year won the Loup valley title when Sargent was barred by state athletic authorities for using ineligible players.

The Ord-Arcadia game was a bruising battle in which the Chanticleers, both offensively and defensively, showed their greatest strength of the season.

Penalties and bad breaks cost the Chanticleers at least one touchdown and thus permitted Arcadia to stay in the win column.

Receiving against the wind, the Chanticleers ran the opening kickoff off a first down so rapidly that it looked as though they were off on a touchdown march but a fumble gave the ball to Arcadia, who proceeded to run off a procession of end sweeps and power plays that soon earned a touchdown. When the try-for-point was good Arcadia led by a 7 to 0 count.

The second quarter was scoreless, although the Ord boys threatened the Arcadia goal repeatedly and lost their best scoring chance by drawing a fifteen-yard penalty almost on the goal line.

Arcadia took the ball on downs and punted off of danger just as the half ended.

During the third quarter the game was played in midfield, neither team having much advantage, but in the fourth quarter Ord carried the ball to the Arcadia forty-five yard line where a 30-yard pass from Steinwort to Tunncliff was completed, Tunncliff then galloping fifteen yards across the Arcadia goal line to score.

White, star Arcadia fullback, was a big factor in his team's victory. Early in the battle Ward and Murray, two of the best ends in the valley, were injured and their loss was felt keenly by the Arcadia team.

The Ord starting line-up listed Michels and Greathouse, ends; Zulkoski and Wilson, tackles; Severson and Nielsen, guards; Boquet, center; Steinwort, Tunncliff, Furtak and Rowbal, backs. Keep replaced Michels in the second half, this being Ord's only substitution.

Tomorrow the Chanticleers play North Loup on the field at that village and next Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving, Loup City comes to Ord to end the season.

PWA OFFICIALS STILL DELAYING LOUP PROJECT

Col. Waite's Department Sends Plans to Civil Board For Review; May Take Time.

That the North Loup power and irrigation project has been sent to a civil board of review for final action, thus delaying approval for an indefinite period, was the word brought back from Washington, D. C. Sunday by Bert M. Hardenbrook, president of the local district, who had been there several weeks working to get the project passed.

Hopes for immediate approval have thus gone glimmering, he says, but he is optimistic that the project will be approved soon.

"It may be two days, it may be two weeks and it might be two months or longer before we will know," Hardenbrook said upon his return.

Had the project been passed by Colonel Henry M. Waite with a recommendation of immediate action, it would have gone directly to Secretary of the Interior Ickes and all probability would have been approved in a week. Such a course would have been a "short cut" to final approval that very few projects are successful in taking, however.

Ordinarily, when applications for public works loans are received in Washington, they are acted upon by legal, engineering and financial divisions, composed of army officers and, then go to Colonel Waite, who either approves them for immediate action or sends them to a civil board of review for final examination.

Almost all projects go to this review board, although a few have been passed upon by Col. Waite and Secretary Ickes without this formalities.

The North Loup project was approved by legal, engineering and financial staffs, said Mr. Hardenbrook, and then went to Colonel Waite. Friday his department also approved the project but because of a large amount of land will be brought into more intensive cultivation and because only a small amount of electric energy has so far been sold, Col. Waite's department refused to take the responsibility of absolute approval, leaving this task for a board of review that is composed of engineers and financiers not affiliated with the army but eminent in their respective professions.

Both the Sutherland and Columbus projects approved recently, had to take the same course, Mr. Hardenbrook says. Both were sent by Col. Waite to the civil board of review and were passed by this board after several weeks of searching examinations, going from that board to Secretary Ickes who gave them final approval.

The North Loup project will be passed similarly, Mr. Hardenbrook believes.

How long this will take is most uncertain, he says. Backers of the Columbus project were in Washington five months; sponsors of the Sutherland project were there four months before they were successful, he learned. He is hopeful that it will not take nearly so long to get final approval on the North Loup project but declines to estimate the period of time that will be required.

Efforts are being made this week to enlist the active support of Senators George W. Norris and W. H. Thompson, both of whom can assist in getting quick action. Both have indicated that they will do all they can. Congressman Terry Carpenter is also being consulted and has agreed to assist.

Engineer E. H. Dunmire is remaining in Washington to represent the project and will be assisting from time to time by the principals in his firm, E. W. Black and N. T. Veatch, jr.

Special Notice.

If you are in arrears on your Quiz and do not get it this week or next, we have probably stopped it. We don't like to do this but are unable to get enough cash to pay running expenses and, since the cost of the white paper that goes into the Quiz is a big item of expense, we are forced to save the expense of this white paper unless subscribers pay up. We figure that anyone who wants the Quiz can pay a little to keep it coming and we are always glad to keep on sending it if you will do that. You can't spare more than 25c or 50c and will send that we will wait a while longer for the balance. If we don't hear a thing from you in response to notices we are forced to conclude that you don't want the paper. Present prices of the Quiz are: 1 year—$2.00; 6 months—$1.00; 3 months—50c; 6 weeks—25c. We wish we were able to keep sending the Quiz to all regardless of pay but that can't be done under present conditions. Better send along something at once if you are in arrears.

John Sebesta Trapped Sans Permit; Is Fined

Because he trapped two muskrats without first having secured a state permit, John Sebesta was arrested last Thursday by Game Warden Bert Lashmuth and in county court Friday was fined $15 and costs by Judge Anderson, the total being $21. He is "laying it out" in county jail.

A few years ago Mr. Sebesta was arrested for fishing without a license and Friday, after being fined by Judge Anderson, he delivered a bitter diatribe against officers, claiming that they "have it in" for him.

Would-be trappers should secure permits before starting to trap or they are likely to meet the same fate as overtook Mr. Sebesta, says Game Warden Lashmuth. These permits can be secured from County Clerk Ign. Kilma, jr.

ALVIN BLESSING NEW CHAIRMAN WELFARE BOARD

Ord Relief Organization Elects New Officers and Plans Aid Program for Winter.

The Welfare Board, relief organization that has functioned for the past two years in Ord, held its first meeting Friday evening, elected officers and made plans for relieving cases of poverty and suffering in Ord this winter.

Alvin Blessing was elected permanent chairman to succeed Rev. L. M. Real, who is no longer in the city. Mr. Blessing has been prominent in Welfare Board work as a representative of the Knights of Pythias lodge since the board's inception.

Other officers chosen Friday are Mrs. C. C. Dale, secretary, and Mrs. George A. Parkins, treasurer. Alfred Weigardt, head of the unemployment commission in this county, explained the new Civil Works Administration plan to Welfare Board members and estimated that this plan would give employment to about 100 men in Valley county.

He warned, however, that the problem cannot be settled by CWA work alone and that the Welfare Board must be prepared to assist the needy on a scale at least as large as last winter.

Members listened to the report of Mrs. W. E. Carlton, chief welfare worker, who explained that during the past year the board distributed 115 bushels of potatoes, 6 bushels of carrots, 600 quarts of fruit and jellies, the meat of 7 hogs, 114 pairs of shoes, 9 men's suits, 29 men's shirts, dozens of pairs of rubbers and undershoes, many suits of underwear and much other clothing and foodstuff.

Much of the food and clothing was donated by Ord organizations and individuals, as well as by farmers who live near Ord, and part of it was purchased with cash contributed by the Valley county board of the Ord city council and by individuals.

Although a greater amount of state and federal relief funds will be available this winter than last it is imperative that the Welfare Board function again, members decided.

Contributions of clothing, food or money are solicited from any organizations or individuals who wish to help this fine work. The need is great right now and will become greater as the winter advances.

Although a greater amount of state and federal relief funds will be available this winter than last it is imperative that the Welfare Board function again, members decided.

Helen Bartunek And John Horn Married

Monday morning Miss Helen Bartunek, daughter of Anton Bartunek, who lives in the country near Ord, was married by Judge John L. Anderson to John Horn, prosperous farmer of near Comstock. The ceremony took place in the Anderson home. The bride was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Will Lukes and by her father. Dinner was served at the Bartunek home with only a few relatives and close friends as guests. Mr. and Mrs. Horn will live on the groom's farm sixteen miles west of Ord.

K. of P. Will Meet. The Knights of Pythias lodge will meet Monday evening for election of officers and to give the second degree to several candidates. A full attendance is desired.

Adamek's Are Honored. More than 200 friends were present Friday evening at a surprise party in the Bohemian hall honoring Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamek upon the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. The affair was planned by children of the Adamek's and an enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and a social time, followed by a big supper. Mr. and Mrs. Adamek received several nice gifts.

Mrs. Bohannon's Eye Hurt. Chopping kindling wood last Friday Mrs. Elleg Bohannon was hit by a flying splinter which broke one of her glasses and injured the eye severely. She consulted a surgeon, but he was unable to find any glass in the member. But next morning she found a tiny fragment of glass had worked out from under the eyelid during her sleep, and the injury is mending.

FARMERS WANT 45c CORN LOANS, SAYS MR. DALE

Requests for Information Flood His Office; Farmers Must Reduce Corn Acreage.

If complete information on the new federal corn loans does not become available soon County Agent C. C. Dale expects to become a candidate for a nice, cozy padded cell.

Ever since he announced in last week's Quiz that Valley county has been designated as one of 68 Nebraska counties in which corn loans will be available, his office has been besieged by farmers who want to secure loans on their 1933 corn crop.

Early last week federal authorities promised Agent Dale that complete information and application blanks would be sent to him at once but so far they have not come, so to farmers who inquire he is able to give only such information as has been released to daily newspapers from Washington.

Federal corn loans will be made at the rate of 45c per bushel, Dale learns, but will be available only to farmers who cooperate in the corn acreage reduction program.

The interest is 4 per cent and applications must be made before March 1, 1934. The government will take corn as collateral without further recourse, providing there has been no misrepresentation and the farmer has reduced his corn acreage 20 per cent. Mr. Dale expects that loans will be available early in December.

All counties south and east of Keith, Lincoln, Custer, Valley and Greeley, and also those east of Boone, Antelope, Boyd and Holt, may participate in these loans. The counties named are included.

The notes will mature August 1, 1934. The borrower must agree to comply with the program for adjustment of corn acreage in 1934, the maximum acreage reduction not to exceed 20 per cent.

Producers may obtain loans also on corn bought for feeding purposes, providing they reduce their production in 1934 and providing also that the seller also reduces his 1934 acreage.

The Commodity Credit Corporation contemplates setting up a house board in every eligible county and the county corn-bog production control associations, which are yet to be organized, will be designated as the boards.

When a farmer applies to a county board for a corn loan, this board will arrange for inspection of quantity and quality of the corn and the sealing of the crib. It should be understood that corn may either be stored on the farm in warehouses or elevators.

Most farmers will arrange to store their corn in cribs on the farm, it is thought. A $5.00 inspection fee will be charged.

The county board will issue warehouse certificates, which may be bought by any bank or other agency except branches of the RFC, and the bank making the loan will notify the Commodity Credit Corporation and at any time up to July 1, 1934 the CCC will buy the note from the lending agency at the face amount plus accrued interest at 4 per cent.

The borrower may retire the loan at any time on or before the maturity date and on the maturity date, if the market price of corn should be less per bushel than the loan amount per bushel, the borrower may dismiss his obligation by turning over to the CCC the number of bushels originally stored.

Just as soon as he gets more complete information he will so inform Valley county farmers, County Agent Dale says. He regards it likely that hundreds of corn loans will be applied for in this county, as the corn producer is thus guaranteed 45c per bushel, faces no possibility of loss, and may get more than 45c per bushel if the market price advances beyond that point before next August 1.

Believe Home Loans Will Start Coming

Belief that federal home loans in Valley county will come at a more rapid rate now was expressed yesterday by Ralph W. Norman, who with Arthur Capron, made a trip to Grand Island Tuesday to consult with State Manager Chas. Smrha about various details that have been holding up loans.

Thirty-three applications have been appraised and approved here, 6 more have been approved as to title, and about 11 more applications are on file.

Mr. Norman says that the 50 applications will average from 15 to 18 hundred dollars each, an average of about 200 dollars being for past-due taxes.

Schools to Have Vacation. Teachers and students in the Ord schools will enjoy a four-day vacation next week, due to the Thanksgiving recess. Thanksgiving comes on Thursday and school will not convene again until the following Monday to permit out-of-town teachers and pupils to go to their own homes.

Old-Fashioned Literary. A burlesque program entitled "An Old Fashioned Literary Society" will be given at the Methodist Church tonight at 7:30. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken, and refreshments served. The public is invited.

AUBLE OUTLINES FEDERAL PLANS FOR PROSPERITY

Administration's Program Will Succeed, Believes Secretary After Hearing Experts.

Glen D. Auble, secretary of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, was the speaker Monday evening at the Ord Rotary club's weekly dinner and later addressed a meeting of Ord business men at the city hall, in each instance outlining the government's program to end the depression as he heard it outlined at the meeting of Chamber of Commerce executives of Nebraska, held last week in Omaha. The program is succeeding, believes Mr. Auble.

At the Omaha meeting state and federal experts outlined each phase of the government program, Mr. Auble explained.

Just what parts the National Industrial Recovery Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Commodity Credit Administration, the Home Loan plan, the Public Works Administration, the wheat, cotton and corn-bog control programs, the rural credit program and other federal agencies will have was explained to Mr. Auble and other Chamber of Commerce secretaries at Omaha and he came home thoroughly convinced that recovery is only a matter of a few months.

When President Roosevelt first took office, Mr. Auble says, he called into conference men representing industry, banking, labor and agriculture and with them evolved the comprehensive program that is now being put into effect.

The vicious downward spiral that had continued since the fall of 1929 had to be stopped somewhere but where to start was the question.

After much consideration it was decided that the first step would have to be the end of unemployment, which would benefit both industry and agriculture.

Therefore the NRA plan was evolved with the expectation that it would put 5,000,000 men back to work. So far it has actually given jobs to about 3,000,000, federal experts say, and within a few months the 5,000,000 goal will be reached.

At the same time the Public Works Act was passed to take care of the balance of the unemployed and this it will eventually do but the PWA program has lagged far behind the NRA, with the result that prices of foodstuffs and wearing apparel were raised before the country as a whole was ready for it. To bridge the gap the Civil Works Administration has now been created and is giving jobs to millions of men for the next three months, at the end of which time it is hoped that the Public Works

At the home of her uncle, Joe Bartos, Tuesday at 2 p. m., Miss Myrtle Bartos became the bride of Milford Naprstek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Naprstek, in a ceremony performed by County Judge John L. Anderson. The bride wore a satin gown and house decorations and flowers were in harmony.

Tuesday evening they were attended by the Misses Libbie Bartos and Alice Naprstek and by Frank Naprstek and Floyd Wegzyn. Rose Alice Bartos was flower girl and Edward Naprstek was flower boy.

The bride is a popular Ord young lady who for some time has been an efficient clerk in Joe Dworak's variety store. Mr. Naprstek is a young Valley county farmer and he and his bride will make their home on a farm next spring.

CHET PALMATIER TAKES MONOXIDE GAS TO END LIFE

Farmers Elevator Manager, City Councilman, Is A Suicide; No Reason Ascribed.

Chester Palmatier, popular manager of the Farmers Grain & Supply company's Ord elevator and a member of the Ord city council, committed suicide Wednesday morning in the exhaust of monoxide gas from the means of his car, his action being a great shock to his family and many friends.

He was apparently in his usual good health and in excellent spirits when he arose yesterday morning, his wife says, and after eating breakfast and reading a newspaper he left the house with the remark that he had to get to the elevator to see about unloading a car of coal. This was about 8 o'clock.

About 8:30 o'clock Mrs. Palmatier went to the chicken coop at the rear of the house to secure a fowl for the noon meal. She heard the family car running in the garage and investigated, with the result that she found her husband slumped in the back seat and apparently dead.

Mrs. Palmatier screamed for help and Ed Wilcox, who was driving past with a team, was the first person to come to her aid. Neighbors arrived immediately afterward and helped Wilcox remove Mr. Palmatier from the car.

Dr. C. W. Weekes was called and arrived immediately but said that Mr. Palmatier was beyond medical aid.

Sheriff George Round, Coroner George Munn and City Attorney Ralph Norman were then called but the case was clearly one of suicide and no inquest will be held.

Mr. Palmatier had attached a piece of garden hose ten or fifteen feet long to the exhaust pipe of his car and ran the hose into a rear window, seating himself so that he would breathe the deadly monoxide gas fumes as they came through the hose from the exhaust.

Death came within a few minutes after he started the car. Dr. Weekes believes that his death was entirely painless as proved by the fact that Palmatier made no struggle for fresh air. It was practically the same manner in which Henry Koelling committed suicide here only a few months ago.

No reason for the act can be ascribed, Palmatier being in excellent health and with no apparent financial difficulties. Mr. Heuck, manager of the Farmers company, says that Mr. Palmatier was of a moody, somewhat morose temperament but that he had not noticed any particular signs of despondency in his demeanor. He was an efficient and hard working elevator manager and had held the position about 14 years, Mr. Heuck says. Fred Clark, who drives the Farmers truck, says that he talked with Mr. Palmatier twice Tuesday and that the latter was laughing and joking in his usual manner. No notes to explain the suicide were left by the deceased.

He is survived by his wife and by three children, Elmer, who is attending the University of Nebraska and has a good position in Lincoln, and twin daughters, Delma and Thelma, who graduated from Ord high school last spring and are at present taking post graduate work there. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmatier, as well as several brothers and sisters, also survive.

Mr. Palmatier was serving his second term on the city council, where he was a level-headed and valuable councilman, highly regarded by Mayor Moses and by his colleagues.

The body was removed to the Sowl funeral parlors and arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

Myrtle Bartos Wed To Milford Naprstek. At the home of her uncle, Joe Bartos, Tuesday at 2 p. m., Miss Myrtle Bartos became the bride of Milford Naprstek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Naprstek, in a ceremony performed by County Judge John L. Anderson. The bride wore a satin gown and house decorations and flowers were in harmony.

My Own Column

Very often someone calls up and wants to put an advertisement in the Quiz Wednesday evening. In order to get the paper into the morning mails Thursday, we have to go to press with the last run Wednesday afternoon, usually about 4 o'clock. So the very latest advertising copy can be taken in no more than a few minutes. We make exceptions as long as it is possible to get copy set because we want to accommodate our customers. Display copy has to be in before noon Wednesday. If cuts are to be made we must have the copy Tuesday as it takes quite a lot of time to cast the cuts and saw them out and get them ready to print from. Little classified ads can be taken usually up to a few moments before we go to press but it is safer to have even them in by Wednesday noon.

It seems to be true that when a few people, or one group of the population of the country take outrageous profits, the great majority must go without profits and many must go hungry. A few years ago a small group of oil men took many millions of profits by selling stock to many people who were led to believe they would reap large profits. The few who got the huge profits, keen businessmen, knew that those who bought the stocks were suckers and would lose their money. And the laws of the country should be so framed that such a wholesale slaughter of the "lambs" would not be possible. It is regrettable that humans are so gullible as they are. Very few make money speculating, when the final account has been settled. They do so for a time, get more greedy for profits and plunge, then mostly they go broke. This has been true ever with many of the "big boys." You have all read of Mr. Studebaker, a multi-millionaire and now he has lost it all. Perhaps he has enough big business experience to stage a "come back."

Did it ever occur to you that if the fellows who are doing so much talking about money, really knew what they were talking about, and would use their knowledge in their own business, they would all be rich? Yet a whole lot of them are busted financially. They just didn't know and don't know now. They are guessing, just as you and I are.

It is a lot easier to find fault than it is to offer real, constructive suggestions for the betterment of conditions. Usually the fault finder is more or less of a business failure himself and many times it is his own fault largely.

Wouldn't it be fine if the farmers could only get organized like the oil men are.

I believe that when a man reaches the age of 60 he should have accumulated enough of this world's goods so he could spend the balance of his life playing. But not many of us are able to do so. But we older fellows, who have reached and passed the age of 60 must let up on the work whenever it is possible. So last Thursday, as soon as the Quiz was in the post-office I climbed into the car with Eugene and Hi and we started for Oshkosh where we hoped to connect with a few mallards and Canadian geese. We were disappointed and we were not. We got the mallards but we didn't get the geese. But we did have a wonderful time and know now, that there are literally millions of ducks and many thousands of geese, on the Platte river and the hundreds of lakes throughout the northwestern part of the state of Nebraska.

Some eight or ten years ago the Garden county game preserve was established and wardens and residents out there tell us that each season has seen a steady increase in the number of water fowl seen there. Many of both ducks and geese winter there now. Last season 220 geese were killed on one mile of the North Platte river which our guide has under lease and with a few days of cold weather this month the number would be equalled this year, probably exceeded. We didn't get any geese nor as many ducks as we should, because of the extremely nice, warm weather. Any duck hunter knows that it takes cold weather with some storms to make the hunting real good. When you have to hunt in your shirtsleeves to be comfortable, the ducks are sure getting a break. And that was the way it was while we were there. At that we got plenty of big mallards, all we needed, and many more than we can use without freezing them up, which we did. After all, it is not the number of fish, ducks or geese, that one gets, that makes the sport. It is being out on the lake, hearing the hum of the motor, seeing the fish jump in the water as they chase minnows, seeing the long strings of ducks and geese as they wend their way through the air high above you, hearing the flutter of their wings as they pass or overhead as you stand, knee deep in the icy water a half mile from shore in the dark in the morning, waiting for it to get light enough to see to shoot and at the same time obey the law. It is wonderful, as you stand in your blind waiting for the next flock, to see the first rosy rays of the sun as it peeks over the eastern horizon, or to see the last of the big red disc as it sinks to rest at night in the western sky. If it is in the morning, you have been up since 3 or 3:30 and have had a hurried breakfast of hot coffee, cakes, toast, bacon and eggs or whatever you want and the place you are staying at affords it if it is at night you still have to gather up your decoys, wade to shore and go some distance before you can get to the supper which you know is awaiting you and it is going to be about 9 o'clock before you can tumble into bed. And with such a day behind you, can you sleep! We had to drive 25 miles each morning to get to the edge of the river where we started wading out a third of a mile to our blind and the same distance at night to get back to the hotel where we were staying. It was a wonderful trip and I am going to tell you more about that great duck country in a future installment of this department. We got home at 8:10 Sunday evening. It is nearly 250 miles up there and we drove it in around 6 hours each way. By next fall there will be a lot more good gravelled and oiled road where we had rough road this year.

There is no question in my mind but that the great financial interests of the country dominated the last republican administration and I am equally sure that they used their great influence, for the most part, to better their own condition, or they thought so, rather than for the best interests of the people of the country at large. And their domination spelled ruin for the most of us. A few hundred millionaires added greatly to their wealth, of course. I am opposed to the standpat element of either party getting such a strangle hold of the country again. I have always been a republican but I am not going to vote for or support any radical standpat republican or democrat for any office. If a progressive republican ticket is nominated I am going to be a republican. If a reactionary republican is opposed by a progressive democrat I am going to support the democrat and I don't give a damn who knows it for I am not a member of any office or political preferment of any kind. I would like to see George Norris president of the United States. I would like to see Marlon Cushing governor of this state. They are both progressive republicans, just like Teddy Roosevelt was. I think President Roosevelt is about the same kind of man and I don't believe the money crowd is telling him what to do.

If every farmer could or would join the Holiday association and make it a real holiday on production, the way the tire and oil and other manufacturers do, we would soon see improved conditions. When manufacturers can't sell their goods at a profit they quit making them for a while. The farmer should do the same thing.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Truckers hauled in large quantities of corn during the year for local feeders. It looked good, and many farmers planted it. The kernels sprouted well in the fields, but the stalks which resulted were in most cases so barren of ears that they were turned over to the livestock, and even the cows have had difficulty in finding a mouthful of grain there. The neighbors across the way are shucking thirty-bushel corn from patches that were planted with Valley county seed. The farmers who planted strange seed have only fodder. Never again will they take a chance on seed corn from parts unknown. A move of fifty miles may affect the yielding qualities of corn. That adapted in one section of the state may be a complete failure when taken to another part. The need for home grown seed corn was proven and advocated by the college professors a score of years back.

It is true only with corn, and not always for that crop. Iowa and Indiana varieties have been imported that yielded almost as well the first season as native corn. Western Nebraska seed may be moved eastward and grown there as early as quite satisfactorily. But to move corn in the reverse direction results disastrously, no matter how nice the kernels look. No other factor, outside of germinating is quite so important as knowing that corn is home grown. It doesn't matter what its name is, the original variety names of most of our best Nebraska corns are obscure. It matters little if the seed is picked when fully mature or not, or whether it is selected from fields in September or corners in April. It makes small differences if the corn is white or yellow, if the seed is treated or if the stand is somewhat uneven, insofar as yields are concerned. The most important operation is the choosing of medium-shallow kernels from smooth, cylindrical ears, grown locally. There is no better seed corn than our own.

Frog Nests in Trees
A certain South American tree frog builds its nest in the trees. Two leaves are joined together to form a cup for the eggs. The young remain in this nest until they develop internal gills and then they drop in to underlying water to go through their next stage of development.

Something Different

I would like to have that recipe I have heard about for stuffing ducks, wild ducks, with a sauerkraut dressing. If you know it, won't you please jot it down and send it to the Quiz office? Thank you very much.

The little Verzal baby, whose mother has been very ill, has been the recipient of two nice showers. All the neighbors and friends came, each bringing more than one gift. This is the baby that was "off it feed", and that Mrs. P. J. Mella bigheartedly took home to help put on her... the baby's... feet. The Mella's loved the little lot so, I guess the Verzals were lucky to get her back! And are the Verzal family happy. They were married many years, twenty I have heard, before this baby came. Then the mother was so ill it was not thought possible she could get well, but now she is improving rapidly. And the baby is now well, too, a happy pretty little thing, and the family is reunited.

Lots of people speak about how much they enjoy Dad's column, which he calls "My Own Column". He is so darned modest he won't admit it is any good, and wouldn't write it if we younger Leggett's didn't keep at him. He doesn't think many read it. I feel sure he has lots of devoted readers who look for it first of all, for I have heard several people say so. It isn't filled with blarney like my column is... there is something to it.

Ambitious people can most always find something to do to make an honest penny. I have always felt. A day or two ago I found a new example. Boyd Holloway, much oftener and more appropriately called "Happy", came to the door and asked if we had any old brooms as he wanted the handles. He had a wagon load of them, and was going to sell them for a nickel each. "I had to have some money for Christmas," he said. "No, it was easy. I haven't been working this afternoon, just loafing along, playing with the kids."

Something interesting and different must have been going on at the grade school Monday morning. All the boys I saw of about a certain age carried little airplane models or ship models. Some of them were very handsome indeed, with shiny new paint, and lots of small details quite perfect.

One of the most comedy-like touches in real life that I have heard of lately happened in our "family", but it sounds like something from the latest Marx brothers show.

On a hunting trip, staying in a small town hotel which was crowded with hunters, my husband had his dog, "Buck", a big, brown, curly-haired Chesapeake with him in the room, as there were no kennels. Getting up early one morning, like everyone else in the hotel, Gene stood in the hall upstairs, talking for a moment, with Buck beside him, thumping his tail as usual. Buck's tail just happened to be thumping on the door of a room, but no one thought anything about it until a voice from within said "All right. Thank you". It took those in the hall a minute or two to realize that the sleeper in that room thought he had been called! Now we are thinking of renting Buck out for a call boy dog.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Holiday time is nearly here again, and it is time for cooks to get busier than ever, making mincemeat, plum pudding, fruit cakes, pumpkin pies, turkey dressing, and all the other delightful dishes we save to enjoy at this season of the year.

Old family recipes for most of these things are the ones that reign in most families, having been used and carefully treasured for years. What valuable recipes like this do you have in your possession that you are willing to share with Quiz readers?

Below is one that was brought from England to the United States and is sure to be authentic. English Christmas Plum Pudding. Combine one pound currants, one pound seeded raisins, one pound seedless raisins, one pound of brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, one-half pound candy pecan (orange, lemon, citron) one-half cup bread crumbs, one cup fruit juice, six beaten eggs, one teaspoon each of salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves, and enough flour to make very stiff, together with two heaping teaspoons of baking powder.

Te loosely in two thicknesses of cloth which you have dipped in hot water first. Plunge into boiling water, and keep boiling an hour for each pound.

Mrs. Emily Hans. Mary Ann Drop Cookies. Mix one scant cup of lard with one cup sugar, one cup molasses, one cup hot water, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, and three teaspoons of soda in a little hot water. Also add one teaspoon of vanilla, a little salt, and about three cups of flour. These cookies may be rolled out by adding more flour.

Mrs. Maude Calkins, Michigan. Mrs. Calkins, a Leggett cousin, also sends a hint which works beautifully. Try it. "When making drop cookies I dip the bottom of a water glass in cold water, then dip in sugar and stamp each cookie by dipping in sugar each time. Dip the glass in water only once. This gives a nice finish and also gives them the appearance of rolled-out cookies, yet takes much less time to make."

Apple Salad.
Peel apples and chop them, add nut meats to suit yourself, and make the following dressing to go with it: one tablespoon melted butter, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon mustard, two tablespoons sugar or more if liked very sweet, two well beaten eggs, a pinch of salt, one-third cup vinegar. Thin with one cup of whipped cream.

Pumpkin Marmalade.
When pumpkins are plentiful try this for a change. Cut up pumpkins, steam until done, then mash and to each quart of pumpkin pulp add two cups sugar and a small can of grated pineapple. Cook the same as any marmalade, and seal while hot.

Silver Layer Cake.
Cream one very scant cup of butter, add two and one-half cups sugar, cream again. Sift flour to measure three cups, then sift three times with three teaspoons of baking powder, and add to the cake batter alternately with one cup milk. Add one teaspoon of vanilla, and lastly the stiffly beaten whites of eight eggs. Bake in four layers. Miss Agnes Hulinsky, Burwell.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week.
George Pierce, section hand stationed at Sumter, was traveling from Ord to his home by velocipede when run down and killed by the morning passenger train. His body was found by Chris Helleberg and Howard Mason, Ord section employes. A coroner's jury was investigating the death.

While riding a bicycle Jay Auble got his overcoat entangled in the gears and was thrown off, his face being badly skinned. Warren Martz, son of J. D. Martz a pioneer Ord lawyer and newspaper man, was visiting old friends in Ord.

Guy Clement sold his show steer, "Chunk," to Professor Smith of the state university, to be used in the university's great show herd.

Ored Olsson's team took a scare and ran away, tearing around the square at break-neck speed, tearing a post from under the porch of the saloon next to Ramsey's pool hall, running through the yard of the Methodist parsonage and finally into the Dahlin fence, where they upset the wagon and became so entangled in the harness that they were caught. Rarely had Ord witnessed so exciting a runaway. Temperance forces were lamenting the fact that Ashton Shallenbarger had been elected governor and that the county option plan seemed to be doomed.

20 Years Ago This Week.
Charles Davis was awarded damages of $170.81 in the case in which he was suing the Union Pacific for injuries suffered when the train in which he was riding was blown from the track by a tornado.

While returning from a dance at Scotia Howard Pearce, Emil Chotena, Warren Lincoln and Perry Bell missed a turn in the road because of a dense fog and drove their auto into a tree, smashing the car badly. The boys escaped without serious injuries.

Leo Phillips, who lived near Burwell, was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Phillips, formerly of Ord.

The Ord high school football team trimmed Arcadia 31 to 0. The Quiz charged that the Arcadia team was reinforced by Prof. Zacek and four huskies fresh from the corn fields, meat markets and dray lines but not bona fide high school students. Ralph Norman starred for the Ord team.

Dr. C. J. Miller returned from the northwest where he had been hunting big game. He brought home a bear pelt as proof of his prowess.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Interesting Letter From Mr. J. G. Hastings.

Unity, Pennsylvania, Nov. 15, 1933
Dear Mr. Leggett:
I will now try to make good my promise to write you a letter for the Quiz.
I am at present visiting with my sister, Mrs. Andrew Clements and family at Unity, Pennsylvania, about ten miles east of Pittsburg and about two miles from the old home where I was born and raised. The country is very hilly, and also very rich, made so by the five foot vein of coal in every hill, and by the many oil and gas wells. One oil well within a mile of here, has been producing for about forty years. With the many hundred mills and every kind of manufacturing plant you could mention it just makes one stop and wonder why or how it is possible to have a depression in the midst of so much wealth.

However conditions are very bad, four thousand people are engaged in relief work in Pittsburg, and they are starting a drive today and there is no doubt but that the hungry will be fed, but I am not so sure that all the naked will be clothed.

Humanity is much the same everywhere you go. I heard a man say he had been looking up the records of a coal company here, where he knew two mules and a man had been killed. The Company's records showed that two mules had been killed but no mention of the man; they had no money invested in him.

As far as I can see the N. R. A. is being supported here as faithfully as it is in our own state, and the old line Republicans all seem to have a word of praise for the courage and effort our president is showing in the interest of all the people. Gov. Pinchot is making an effort to control the sale of wet goods, that was voted in last Tuesday, as was also sundry amusements, but with all this, there are thousands of people who hold to the fundamentals which our nation must stand on if we ever hope to have prosperity again. Dr. McCarty in his sermon last Sunday A. M. called our attention to Marshall Field's Store, which has always pulled down the blinds Saturday night and they remain down until Monday morning. People protested and said they were losing trade by not allowing sight-seers to see the most beautiful store window in the world on Sunday, but the answer has been "Blinds Down" and they have been among the most successful business firms in the world. I would to God that America would try pulling down the blinds Saturday night and endeavor to "Keep the Sabbath Day Holy" and so give the Great Creator of this vast universe a chance to bestow upon us his blessing.

I want to say before I close that I am not discouraged about conditions as I visit with people in different communities. I can see that people are beginning to see the light. I can feel it in the air that conditions are changing and it is up to each one of us to do our part. So above all things, let us quit complaining and get busy and clean up the lot, repair the fence, one always feels better when we accomplish something. Even though we are renters, we always feel better when we nail a board on, instead of pulling one off. Let us end the depression by doing our very best with what we have. I just noticed that our friend Andrew Mellon has given $15,000 to relief work, and his wife gave the same amount. We can't give as large an amount, but I know some who will probably read this, that will give more in proportion to what they have. James G. Hastings.

Costliest Parade
The world's costliest parade is the Paresnath procession, staged yearly by the Jains in India. Besides lavish costumes and floats, the Great Indravajra, a 50-foot banner that must never be lowered, necessitates large payments for the temporary removal of all telephone, telegraph and trolley wires crossing the line of march.—Collier's Magazine.

Queen of the Alps
Known as the queen of all Alpine peaks, the Rigli rises 5,920 feet, commanding a noble survey of Switzerland. There are two railways to the summit.

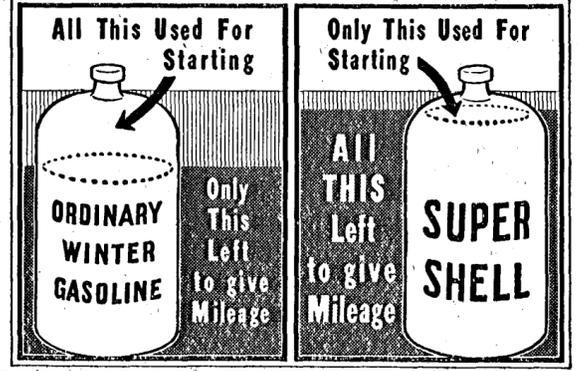

GET 200 MILES MORE THIS WINTER

At No Extra Cost

IMPROVED SUPER SHELL

First Gasoline to give Full Summer Mileage plus Quicker Winter Starting

Now, Super Shell gives you all the extra mileage you obtained last summer, plus quicker starting for winter driving. Some ordinary gasolines are overloaded, for quick starting in cold weather, with light gassy parts, which you lose after your engine warms up, thereby reducing your mileage. Other ordinary gasolines are hard to start, waste fuel in starting, and also reduce your mileage. The improved Super Shell, by Shell's new and exclusive reforming process, gives you quicker starting on the coldest day in winter, and saves, for extra mileage, the gasoline you formerly wasted in starting. The average motorist will get one more mile per gallon this winter—over 200 extra miles.

YOU SAVE MONEY by using the improved Super Shell, because you get quicker starting with less gasoline, and that leaves you more gasoline, in every gallon, for extra mileage. Super Shell stops winter waste. Use Super Shell this winter and save your money.

In JUNE, Extra Mileage... In NOVEMBER, getting Extra Mileage, too... What Mr. Conde, St. Louis, says above is typical of remarks we hear from Super Shell customers everywhere. All last summer, car owners told us "Super Shell has everything, but most of all—it's got mileage!" Now, in November, Super Shell users say they are still getting the same extra mileage—plus quicker starting!

Twenty-two young people from here attended the Epworth League Loup valley rally which convened at Loup City Friday evening. Rev. and Mrs. Stephens also accompanied. The Loup City young people provided a happy evening for all.

The North Loup town football team, which has been making an excellent record this season, went to Grand Island Sunday to play a return game with the strong American Legion eleven of that city and was badly defeated, 32 to 0. Harold Schaffner's long return of a Grand Island punt was a feature of the game but otherwise the local team's offense lacked the sparkle that has been shown in previous games.

A mixed congregation which taxed the capacity of the M. E. church listened with great interest to the three act Biblical play, "The Rich Young Ruler", presented by a cast from the Evangelical church at Mira Valley Sunday evening. The scene was the court of Rabbi Amos with Mount Olivet in the distance from which place this wealthy ruler hears and heeds the message of the Christ in spite of the severe threats of the Sanhedrin. A beautiful romance is enacted and the play throughout is deeply pathetic. Rev. Wantz of Mira Valley U. B. church designed the chalk work scenery. Preceding the play vocal and instrumental music was featured by the Mira Valley folk including the Edwin Schudel family, violin, Mr. Schudel, saxophone, his son Harold and piano, Miss Schudel, piano and harp duets by Misses Irma Lenz and Merna Crow and a duet by Mrs. Will Koelling and Melvin Koelling. Rev. Stephens read the Bible scripture and prayer was led by Rev. Norenberg of the Evangelical church who also pronounced the benediction. Leading characters of the cast were Edwin Lenz, the rich young ruler, Archie Geweke, member of the Sanhedrin, Will Poth, the voice, Lois Collins, a slave beloved by Rabbi Amos, Mrs. Albert Peterson as Rachel.

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Hemphill plan to spend the Thanksgiving season with their sons and families, Drs. Paul and George Hemphill at Pawhuska, Okla. They expect to drive to Lincoln next Tuesday morning where their daughter Gertrude, a student in the state university, will join them. From there they will drive to Pawhuska.

Rev. and Mrs. Stephens left Monday afternoon for Lincoln to attend a missionary conference in which E. Stanley Jones of India will be the outstanding speaker. They accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Langenberg of the Scotia Evangelical church.

Roy Hudson and daughter Florence drove to Lincoln Saturday morning returning Monday evening.

The Bible training class for Sunday school workers opened Monday evening at the Scotia M. E. church with an enrollment of twenty-four. Prof. L. O. Green, Mrs. Clara Holmes and Mrs. Betty Manchester with Rev. Moore of Scotia are the instructors. Included will be five Monday evening lessons.

Miss Udell Montgomery, missionary on furlough from India will speak at the M. E. church Sunday evening.

This is the kind of dress you just live in and for which you never lose affection. It is clever and at the same time very simple so that you can do it in the morning and fairly live in it. Have it in one of those lovely new soft, hairy woolens, or one of the sheer light-weight woolens. It is nice for crepe too.

In fact the only way to make up your mind about the fabric you shall have it in is to trot right down to the store and see one of the most inspiring displays of fabrics we have seen in many a moon.

Of course this is one of a very smart new line of styles from which you may choose. And remember that these patterns are unusual at this low price which we offer only as a courtesy to our customers.

One of Every Five Families in Nation Receives Red Cross Jobless Relief in 1933

AN ARMY of volunteer men and women relief workers almost ten times greater in numbers than the standing army of the United States carried Red Cross relief into the homes of America's jobless during the past eighteen months. Six hundred and forty-five thousand women joined under the Red Cross flag in sewing garments for the needy, in distribution of bread and flour, and in canning foods for their neighbors in distress because of unemployment. A half million men—bankers, lawyers, doctors, merchants and men in every walk in life—gave of their time as chapter officials and as active relief workers in distribution of goods. Thousands of trucks were lent to carry flour and clothing from railroad loading platforms to warehouses, and then into remote rural sections to be delivered promptly into homes where need was great. "Only the Red Cross could assemble such an army of volunteer workers," was the tribute paid their service. The relief was given to one of every five families in the nation.

Nebraska U Geology Students Found 8 Tons of Fossil Bones for Museum

LINCOLN, Neb.—Nebraska is a graveyard of strange animals. Buried beneath its soil are fossil bones of beasts that lived ages ago, and walked across its treeless plains. Imprinted on its rocks are the skeletons of queer fish and snails that eons back lived in its now-dried lakes. A few feet down Nebraska's soil find history told by the fossil remains of extinct species of cats and dogs, camels, horses, pigs and deer. The difficulty is that Nebraska citizens cannot be digging up their front yards to find such specimens. Among the few men who know how to discover and prepare these museum treasures are twelve young University of Nebraska students, who last summer shipped back to the University museum 16,000 pounds of fossil bones.

Starting out with C. Bertrand Schultz, leader of the expedition, were: Grayson Eichelberger, Almena, Kansas; Paul McGrew, Lincoln; F. W. Johnson, Lincoln; Charles Osborn, Mullen; E. L. Blue, Lincoln; Frank Crabbill, Red Cloud; Frank Denton, Lincoln; Loren Eiseley, Lincoln; Robert Long, Grand Island; Thompson Stout, Lewellyn; and Eugene Vanderpool, Lincoln.

Into Nebraska's Panhandle region they travelled, and with the help of townspeople and farmers found eight tons of specimens, which they shipped back to the museum. It would seem they might have to search all over North America to get that many bones, but they were all taken from the counties of Morrill, Scotts Bluff, Banner, Sloux, and Dawes, in northwestern Nebraska.

These young treasure hunters usually set up camp in town, and work into the surrounding country. By using their knowledge of geology they are able to judge the character of rock and soil formations. Knowing the kinds they might be able to make in such materials, they can arrive in the approximate territory of fossils preserved for ages. Then, after getting a location, they follow ravines, rivers, and creek beds, watching for outcroppings of rocks or bone. Other times they may discover their "quarries" near the surface, where the soil has been washed away. According to the formation in which their find is buried they are able to judge its age.

Once they have found a "quarry" their work becomes painstaking and often tedious. When the rock formations are hard, it may be necessary to use ice-picks or even dynamite to break into the specimens. And having sighted the objects the men must not continue to back away at the rock, but with delicate tools, dental picks and small chisels they dig carefully, inch by inch, into the bed of stone.

After the specimens are unearthed they must be thoroughly shellacked, placed in plaster of Paris and burlap casts, carefully packed, and shipped to the museum. Preparing and sending 16,000 pounds of fossil bones, most of which are in small pieces, is no small summer's job. Yet the men get enjoyment from their hunt when they discover the remains of an animal of ancient times, and perhaps find embedded in this fossil bone a dart point, beautifully chipped by some prehistoric man.

Price Fixing Plan Is Cure For Farm Depression, Believes Archie Geweke

To the Editor of the Quiz:

Let us all congratulate the present administration on its efforts to help end the depression. It seems that the nation has found out that prosperity can not be brought back unless the farmer receives his part of the benefit.

What is wrong? Capital has been withdrawn from circulation. Confidence has been lost. No one can find a job, and those who do work, cannot get a decent price for what they produce.

What are we to do about it? Find fault, yes, but let's go a little further. Let us suggest something which we think would make times better.

Let us admit that the law of supply and demand controls prices which it does to a great extent. All right, the NRA program was sponsored to create jobs for idle labor, that they in return might create a demand for our farm products. The administrations' various financial institutions were created to help furnish capital for the borrowing public so that they might be able to continue to do business and save their homes, which is very essential to every nation.

We cannot borrow ourselves to prosperity and out of debt. We must start paying off. Money must be more equally distributed among the people, that all may have a little to spend. The wheat acreage reduction program may have helped the price of wheat, but let's remember that we had a short crop last year, and that our present acreage is at least normal. One farmer would sign up to cut production and the other would put in twice as much, resulting in spending of much money and no lasting reduction in wheat. Then the hog program: Pigs were disposed of, that the surplus should not exceed the demand. Many will sign the hog-corn program and reduce the production while others will increase production. Results—much money spent and just as many hogs. But less corn or other crops. Here is where it fails: 85 percent of our corn is marketed through livestock. Then by just raising the price of corn, (which is sure needed) you only help the 15 percent, the amount not fed to livestock. The 85 percent you simply take from one and give to the other. Result, very little more money brought back to any community.

Why not back the 5 governors who proposed a fixed price for the principal farm crops? Say wheat at $1.00, corn 75c, Chicago basis. Cotton should also be included. Then place the price of good hogs at $7.50 per hundred, Chicago, cattle grading No. 1 beef at $8.50, No. 2 beef at $7.50 or as should run as to grade, sheep at $8.00 top lambs. Keep the price of livestock so close to grains that one could not afford to raise too much livestock. If too many hogs were produced at 7 1-2c, lower the price of hogs or raise the price of corn. If too much wheat was produced at $1.00, lower the price, as compared to corn. Production of livestock could be regulated by the price of corn.

Now instead of paying huge sums of money to hire farmers to cut production, and let the other fellow raise twice as much, let a certain percent of our tillable soil lay idle, say 10 percent of all our crop land. Surely all farmers would consent to farm 90 acres out of every hundred at the above price, rather than the whole 100 acres at the present prices. In the west where they summer fallow the acreage of summer fallow should be increased 10 percent.

Let our government furnish money to packers to buy livestock and let them retail it at the smallest possible margin. At present out of every $1 spent for packing house products, less than 3 cents goes for labor, 31 cents for raw materials from the farm, 6 cents for overhead and 60 for distribution. Here is where the public is being held up—too large a spread between producer and consumer. Livestock prices could be raised to above mentioned levels without very much advance to the consuming public.

After a year or so I doubt if any price would have to be placed on any commodity, as the acreage control percent could handle the whole situation.

Big industries produce what they can sell and then quit producing. Why not the farmers?

Results of above mentioned plan? Buying power of 1-2 of our population increased, then they, through their buying, create jobs for our unemployed workers in the industrial east.

If eastern capital could not be induced to finance this or a similar program, let our government issue currency to do it with.

I believe we all see if the present NRA efforts are not added to, they will fail and soon we will find ourselves in a much worse condition than now exists. If purchasing power is not restored to agriculture, no lasting benefits of any relief efforts can be expected.

Millions of dollars are being spent in various ways to raise the price of farm products. Fix the price and have it over with. Like was done for the oil industries, raising the price of crude oil from 10c to $1.10 per barrel.

All who believe in a price fixing plan, including the acreage reduction program write the Ord Quiz. If enough are for a program like this, we will try to induce farm organization leaders, and our own governor to fall in line with such a movement.

The farmer is a good spender. Give him a little money and see if he does not spend it.

Yours for better times and eventually the government out of business.

program will be well under way. Nebraska's CWA allotment is $3,500,000 and Valley county's allotment is about $15,000 which is expected to provide jobs for from 150 to 190 unemployed for the next three months, each man working 30 hours per week at 40 to 60 cents per hour, depending upon whether the work calls for skilled or unskilled workmen.

The Home Loan plan will save the homes of thousands of people all over the country, Mr. Auble says. In Omaha he was told by Charles Smrha, who heads Home Loan work in this state, that about 1,500 loans have already been made and that his organization has only been ready to function for about three weeks. Many thousands of home loans will be made in the next few months, Mr. Smrha said.

The Commodity Credit Administration will loan money on corn in Nebraska and other states, thus making millions of dollars available to farmers immediately and giving them the fair price of 45c for their corn. This will stimulate business greatly, it is thought. The cotton, wheat and corn-hog programs, now getting under way, are releasing millions of dollars more throughout agricultural sections of the country. Rural credit agencies are saving farms from foreclosure actions and other aids to the farmer are planned.

The RFC, with loans to banks, railroads and manufacturers, and in its other branches to merchants and other business men, will help business generally, Mr. Auble believes.

He is thoroughly convinced that the administration's program will be successful and that this great example of national planning is bound to succeed. Since his return from Omaha he has communicated much of his enthusiasm to other Ord business men.

VOL. 51 NO. 36

SENATOR NORRIS 'GOES TO BAT' FOR NO. LOUP PROJECT

Urges Sec. Ickes to Reconsider Action; "Not Whipped Yet," Says Hardenbrook.

"We're not whipped yet," said Bert M. Hardenbrook, president of the North Loup power and irrigation district, when dispatches from Washington a few days ago indicated that the project had been objected to on the grounds that it seeks to put additional land under irrigation, which would increase crop surpluses, and that more power would be created than could be sold within transmission distance.

The principle reason for Mr. Hardenbrook's optimistic statement is that Senator George W. Norris, senior senator from Nebraska, has "gone to bat" for the North Loup project, and has characterized the objections as "silly" and a "violation of precedent."

Engineer E. H. Dunmire, who is remaining in Washington to represent the project, wrote Monday that he had been in conference with Senator Norris and that the latter is making every effort to bring about a reversal of PWA authorities' verdict.

"I want you to know that I have carried this project as far as I can and if we get it, and I think we will, the credit for getting it must go entirely to Senator Norris," Mr. Dunmire stated in a letter to the Quiz. The project has been approved unreservedly so far as legal, financial and engineering details are concerned, he says.

His report of Senator Norris' attitude was confirmed in a letter received by the Quiz Tuesday evening from the senator himself. Sen. Norris enclosed a copy of a long letter which he transmitted to Secretary Ickes Saturday, in which he makes a powerful argument for approval of the North Loup project.

Senator Norris asks that his letter to Secretary Ickes not be published while the matter is under consideration by PWA authorities but give the Quiz permission to print the letter as soon as final action is taken, which will be soon. It may be possible to publish the complete letter by next week.

Mr. Hardenbrook, in a speech before the Ord Rotary club Monday evening, stated that the Public Works department's disapproval of the North Loup project is not final, by any means. The project was referred to the Board of Engineers, which is the final authority in almost every case, and this Board of Review has authority to overturn the PWA action, which Mr. Hardenbrook is confident that it will do. The Sutherland and Columbus projects ran into similar snags, he says, and passed them successfully later. He is confident that the North Loup project will do likewise.

His statement of the situation as it now exists is corroborated by a United Press dispatch to the Nebraska State Journal yesterday. "The public works administration today denied reports that the $3,000,000 North Loup river power and irrigation project in Nebraska had been definitely rejected, but admitted the proposition was on 'thin ice.'"

Senator W. H. Thompson, of Grand Island, Nebraska's junior senator, also has lined up behind the North Loup area. Monday he stated in Washington that he would call on Secretary Ickes this week to discuss the project, which he described as "meritorious."

From other Nebraska men of influence come similar assurance that they will do all they can to facilitate passage of the project.

J. E. Lawrence, editor of the Lincoln Star and secretary of the Nebraska Advisory Board, told Mr. Hardenbrook over the telephone Monday that the project must be approved.

"It is our first baby and it must live," Mr. Lawrence said, referring to the fact that the North Loup was the first power and irrigation project approved by the Nebraska board. Lawrence said that he and Chairman Dan V. Stevens are prepared to go to Washington, if necessary to urge passage of the project. Furthermore, Frank Murphy, of Wheaton, Minn., regional director of public works projects, already has left for Washington to work for the project's passage. These men see the whole program of public works development in the central west threatened by objection to a project so meritorious as the North Loup.

Congressman Terry Carpenter, who was an Ord visitor Tuesday and conferred at some length with Jos. P. Barta, as well as with Ralph W. Norman, chairman of the democratic committee of the county, is quoted as saying that he will do all he can to secure approval.

No further news will be available until next Tuesday, it is stated, as PWA officials do not meet today because of the Thanksgiving holiday and their next executive session does not come until next Tuesday.

Saturday Dr. Henry Norris removed tonsils for Jesse Whiting.

Repr. Cushing's Buildings Threatened Monday When Huge Cob Pile Caught Afire

Fast fire fighting, both by a group of neighborhood volunteers and the Ord fire department's chemical company, was required to save the buildings on Representative M. J. Cushing's farm Monday when a huge cob pile caught afire from the backfire of a truck. The total loss was about $100.

Corn shelling had been in progress on the Cushing farm and the cobs from over 1,000 bushels of corn, or about 50 wagon loads, were piled in a huge pile. Most of the cobs had been sold and two trucks were hauling them away when the blaze started.

Mr. Cushing and other shellers had been eating dinner at the George Nay farm a mile east and had just arisen from the table preparatory to going to another farm to resume shelling that afternoon, when they were notified that the Cushing cobs were afire. Two minutes later they would have been on the road and out of reach by telephone for some time.

The entire group hurried to the Cushing place where they found the huge cob pile a mass of flames.

C. J. MORTENSEN NAMED INSPECTOR FOR CORN LOANS

Will Have Application Blanks At Once; Shelled Corn Not Eligible for Loans.

C. J. Mortensen, president of the Nebraska State bank of Ord, has been appointed Valley county inspector of corn upon which 45c per bushel loans are sought, it was announced Monday by the state railway commission. Mr. Mortensen expects to have application blanks at once and will begin making inspections as soon as farmers fill out these blanks.

The first step in obtaining a loan is to have the crib inspected, sealed and certified under provision of the Nebraska warehousing law, which is the work that Mr. Mortensen will do in Valley county.

Loans will be made at the rate of 45c per bushel upon ear corn in cribs only, announces C. C. Dale, county agricultural agent. Previous information had led people to believe that both shelled corn and ear corn would be acceptable, but shelled corn in bins will not be considered.

The corn must grade No. 4 or better and the crib in which it is stored must have a tight roof and floor and be in sound condition.

A loan may be obtained at any time before March 1, 1934 and will be due August 1, 1934. The corn-loan contracts are said to contain provisions so that a farmer will not have to have his corn-hog adjustment contract signed before he gets the corn loan. He does agree, however, to enter into the corn-hog adjustment contract.

Corn growers who buy additional corn to feed and want to borrow on it, must have paid other corn producers 45c per bushel or more for it, and must get the seller of the corn to agree to sign up the corn-hog adjustment contract also, or they will not be eligible for loans upon corn bought.

After application for inspection has been made and the corn has been inspected and sealed in a crib, the Nebraska railway commission, under the warehousing law, will issue to the farmer a warehouse certificate, upon which he may borrow money at the rate of 45c per bushel from any bank. Ord bankers indicate that they will make loans upon these certificates. The loans draw interest at 4 per cent from the date of issuance until paid.

For additional information farmers desirous of obtaining corn loans may consult either Mr. Mortensen or County Agent Dale.

Red Cross Drive Will End Tomorrow

The Red Cross will not hold a sale, after all. Practically all contributions have been in cash, and the earned things donated can be privately disposed of, with less bother and trouble.

School teachers of Ord subscribed 100 per cent to the Red Cross, each teacher of both buildings giving a dollar to this worthy cause. This entitles the schools to a banner, for being completely represented on the roll call of the Red Cross.

All contributions to the Red Cross stay in Valley county for local use, and one-half the $1 roll call fee also remains here. Give to the Red Cross, if you have not already done so. Telephone to Joseph P. Barta, Miss Clara McCleachy, or Mrs. Keith Lewis, and someone will gladly call for your contribution.

Monday Jean Carlson was nine years old. After school she entertained nine little girls in her home. Her mother, Mrs. E. O. Carlson had prepared a cake and a nice lunch for the visitors.

HEART AILMENT BRINGS DEATH TO ED FINLEY

Valley County Pioneer Stricken Suddenly Thursday, Passed Next Day; Was 63.

Stricken suddenly by a heart ailment last Thursday evening, Ed Finley, prominent resident of Ord and Valley county since 1880, was dangerously ill throughout the night and early Friday afternoon, Nov. 24, he was called to his reward. His untimely death is mourned by a wide circle of friends and co-workers in the Methodist church.

Edward Nelson Finley was born Febr. 4, 1870 in VanBuren county, Michigan, being the youngest son of Andrew and Phila Finley. At the age of nine he came with his parents to Valley county, it taking them six weeks to make the long journey in a covered wagon.

As a boy he lived with his parents on their farm east of Ord but in 1885 they moved to Perkins county and homesteaded. In 1886, however, they returned to Valley county and this was Ed Finley's home until his death.

On Aug. 24, 1892 he was married to Winifred Williams and to them four daughters were born, Rena Elizabeth, who died in 1907 at the age of 13, Mabel Florence, now the wife of Clayton Noll, Mildred Lena, now the wife of John Mason, and Verna Marie, who died in 1915 at the age of 1 1/2 years. After her death the family took Dorothy Jobst, then one day old, into their home and reared her as their foster daughter.

For several years the Finley family lived on a farm northeast of Ord and then moved to town where Mr. Finley ran a grocery store for four years. Eight years were spent on a farm in Mira Valley and for the past fifteen years Mr. Finley had lived in Ord, part of which time he operated a cream buying station. He was an extensive property owner and a director in the Nebraska State bank.

A pioneer and one who took an active part in the county's development, Mr. Finley was widely known and generally respected. As a young man he was converted and joined the Methodist church at the age of seventeen, living a Christian life ever after. For several years before his death he taught a class in the Ord Methodist Sunday school.

Besides his wife, two daughters and Dorothy Jobst, he is mourned by two sons-in-law, Clayton Noll and John Mason, by six grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Mary Timmerman, and one brother, Charles Finley.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Methodist church with Rev. Mearl C. Smith in charge. A quartet composed of Madams Glen Auble and Robert Noll, Messrs. Glen Auble and R. J. Stoltz, sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. K. C. McGrew, and pall-bearers were Wilbur Rogers, Mell Rathbun, Leo Long, Robert Noll, George Nay and Marion Strong. All of these people were members of Mr. Finley's Sunday school class.

Interment was made in the Ord cemetery.

TURKEY DAY CLASH Will Finish Season

The athletic feature of the day for most Ordites will be the annual Loup City-Ord Turkey day clash, being played this year at Bussell park. The game will start promptly at 2 p. m. and promises to be largely attended.

This game will end the season for Coach Cecil Molzen's Ord team and also for Coach Lewie Brown's Loup City team. Both squads have had rather indifferent seasons, though both have shown great improvement in recent games and the clash today promises to be a real one.

Last Friday the Loup City team stopped Central City, 6 to 0, and at the same time the Ord Chanticleers were walloping the Light North Loup team 33 to 0.

The game was played at North Loup and Ord had no difficulty in beating the small and inexperienced North Loup gridgers. The home boys scored in every quarter, even though reserves played most of the game and the entire first team was never in action.

A reserve backfield did nice work, Marks plunging to many good gains and backing up the line in excellent style. Haskell doing good work at returning punts and Milliken sweeping the ends for substantial yardage. Coach Molzen had twenty-six men in suit and all saw service.

Loup City and Ord appear to be very evenly matched and their meeting today should bring forth a close, hard fought game.

New Serial Starting.

A new and exciting serial story, "The Wedding March Murder," is starting on page four of today's Quiz. Begin reading it today and follow the action in succeeding installments.

Two Couples Celebrate Their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversaries Together Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smolik sr., of Ord, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby sr., of Comstock, were very pleasantly surprised Sunday, November 26, when they arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby jr., north of Arcadia and found their children and grandchildren assembled there, prepared to help them celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversaries, for both couples have completed their fiftieth year of wedded life.

They were escorted into the dining room while a piano selection was being played by Miss Ellen Smolik. There each couple, with their children, was seated at one of the two tables, which were decorated with large bouquets of gold and white roses mingled with ferns and baby's breath, which bouquets were later presented to the two "brides". A bountiful dinner was served while John, Edward and William Smolik, grandsons of both couples, furnished the music.

The wedding cakes were made by the two granddaughters, Miss Marie Smolik making one for Mr. and Mrs. Hruby, while Mrs. Edward Penas made one for Mr. and Mrs. Smolik.

Later in the afternoon a very appropriate message was read from station KGBZ, York, to the two couples, expressing the gratitude and best wishes of their children. Two musical numbers were also dedicated to them.

This was followed by a short program, in the home, consisting of musical numbers and appropriate recitations given in Bohemian by the children and grandchildren. The children and grandchildren present were Mr. and Mrs. John Smolik, Mr. and Mrs. Vencil Klancecky, all of Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smolik jr. of Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lew J. Smolik, Mr. and Mrs. Frank March of Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smolik, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruby, Comstock, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby jr., Arcadia, and their families, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Penas of Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Penas and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. John Ptacnik and family were also present.

Mrs. Charles Drozda and Philip Smolik, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smolik sr., could not be present. All of Mr. and Mrs. Hruby's children were present.

All the relatives and friends of the two couples wish them many more joyful wedding anniversaries.

Tax Must Be Paid On Hogs Slaughtered And Sold By Farmers

George W. O'Malley, collector of internal revenue at Omaha, in a letter to the Quiz calls attention to the fact that under the Agricultural Adjustment Act it is illegal for farmers or others to slaughter hogs and sell the products to consumers without payment of the processing tax. Any person who slaughters hogs for market must file appropriate returns and pay the processing tax, Mr. O'Malley says.

The tax applies even in the case of the producer who slaughters his own hogs and sells or otherwise disposes of all or any part of the products. Farmers may butcher hogs for their own use without payment of tax, however.

Heavy penalties are provided for violation of the law or evasion of the tax, says Mr. O'Malley, and any person who slaughters hogs and sells all or any part of them should write to the Collector of Internal Revenue, Omaha, Neb., who will assist him in preparing and filing the required returns.

ORD'S BARGAIN DAY THURSDAY TO AID CHURCHES

Unique Event Announced By Ord Business Group; Circulars Out First of Week.

A unique bargain day is announced this week by the retailers' committee of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, members of this committee stating that next Thursday, Dec. 7, will be bargain day in Ord and that on every purchase made from Ord stores participating on that day some church in Ord's trade area will receive a rebate.

The plan to be used is a simple one but so far as is known it has never been used before.

Every customer, when he makes a purchase from any Ord store taking part in the event, will designate what church he wants the rebate on his purchase to be sent to. Every Ord merchant taking part will designate a certain percentage of his day's business as a "church rebate" and when the customer designates what church he wants to help, the merchant will send to that church the designated percentage upon that customer's purchase.

Some stores will give 2 per cent of their total sales that day to churches designated by customers; others will offer 5 per cent; others 10 per cent, etc. Some stores selling both groceries and dry goods will give 2 per cent on groceries and 5 per cent on dry goods.

Suppose a customer enters a store offering a 5 per cent rebate and purchases a $10 order of goods, designating the Davis Creek Methodist church to receive the rebate. This church will then receive 50c from the store.

All stores taking part will offer special bargains for that day besides rebating a specified per cent to churches, so it probably will be the greatest value-giving day that Ord has ever seen.

Large circulars describing the event, designating what percentage different merchants are prepared to give to churches and telling about special entertainment events of the day will be sent to every family in Ord's trade territory early next week. Watch for this circular and be prepared to visit Ord next Thursday, Dec. 7, for by so doing you will not only help your church but will also be able to buy everything you need at bargain prices.

Cheerio club met Thursday evening in the home of Miss Vera McClatchey.

NINETY-SIX MEN TO GET CWA JOBS PAYING $100 EACH

Ayres Busy Preparing Projects To Keep Valley County's Quota Busy Next 3 Months.

Announcement that Valley county's quota of Civil Works Administration funds is $9,600, of which $1,000 is being withheld for use on state highway work in this county, and that the balance of $8,600 must be paid out for labor before February 15, 1934, was made in Lincoln last week, and as a result County Engineer R. C. Ayres is being kept busy preparing projects that are already getting under way.

Ninety-six men now unemployed will be given work by the CWA in this county, 10 on state highway work, and 86 on county and municipal projects. Each man is limited to $100 worth of labor at 40c per hour and may not work more than 30 hours per week.

Since there are 65 able-bodied men on the county relief rolls only 31 additional men from the unemployment register can be given employment, states Alfred Weigard, director of unemployment registration in this county.

The first CWA project got under way Monday, when 11 men went to work at grubbing and cleaning on a county right-of-way east of Ord.

Plans for this project were taken to Lincoln last Saturday by County Engineer Ayres and were approved by the state CWA board, which is composed of Wm. H. Smith, Rowland Haynes and Roy Cochran.

The Valley county projects approved Saturday and started Monday include 4 miles of grading, grubbing and clearing on county right-of-way, total cost being $1,400, and 1-2 mile of grading west of Arcadia, total cost being $990.

A project of grading on streets in the village of Arcadia was also approved Saturday, the total cost of this project being $1,800. The village of North Loup asked for approval of a street grading project to cost $560 but this was held up temporarily.

Monday night the federal relief board for Valley county, composed of Chas. Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Walters, Mrs. Wm. Carlton, Mrs. W. J. Hemphill and Will Ramsey, jr., met with Engineer Ayres at the court house and additional projects were recommended. Mr. Ayres going to Lincoln to present them Tuesday.

SKATING POND AGAIN PLANNED BY ROTARY CLUB

George Allen Appointed To Take Charge of Flooding Pond Near H. Building.

Ice skaters of Ord and vicinity will again have a safe place to skate this winter it was decided Monday evening, when the Ord Rotary club decided to sponsor such a pond and appointed George Allen to superintend the work. The pond will be located just north of the high school building.

Last winter the Rotary club sponsored a similar pond at the same place but work did not get under way until too late and ice skaters enjoyed only a few days of the sport.

Football practice ended Tuesday, so the school board has given permission for a skating pond to be located on the lots north of the school building, used during the fall as a practice field.

The pond may be larger than last year, Mr. Allen says, depending on whether CWA funds will be available to pay for the labor. The city will furnish water free of charge.

Paul Gard Pro Wrestler.

Paul Gard, Ord young man who has long had ambitions of becoming a professional wrestler, made his debut in Omaha recently and won his first match. Since then, wrestling in Council Bluffs, Omaha and Lincoln, he has won two matches and wrestled to a draw once. Paul is being taught wrestling by John Pesek, of Ravenna, who believes that the Ord boy has a gaudy future in the mat game. He starred in wrestling and football in Ord high school. Paul is at home this week to spend Thanksgiving with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. George Gard.

Rotary Governor Will Speak Here

Hugh R. Butler, head of the Omaha grain exchange and governor of the 19th district of Rotary International, will be the guest and principal speaker at a meeting of the Loup City and Ord Rotary clubs to be held next Tuesday evening in Thorne's cafe here. Governor Butler will illustrate his talk with motion pictures.

First Home Loans Here Are Closed

Ralph W. Norman, attorney in Valley county for the Home Owners' Loan association, announces that the first home loans in this area were closed Tuesday. James VanSlike and Miss Ella Bond were the first local people to get federal home loans, he says. A number of other loans will be closed in the near future, Mr. Norman anticipates.

Chester Palmatier Was Buried Friday

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2:00 p. m. Friday for Chester A. Palmatier, who committed suicide early last Wednesday morning by inhaling monoxide gas from the exhaust of his automobile. Rev. M. C. Smith conducted the services and Mr. Palmatier was tenderly laid to rest in Ord cemetery with impressive rites conducted by the Masonic lodge. Pall-bearers were Wm. Heuck, Fred Clark, Ed Zilkmund, Leo Gerhart, George Allen and Ellsworth Ball.

A quartet composed of Mrs. E. O. Carlson, Mrs. Mark Tolten and the Messrs. Glen Auble and R. J. Stoltz sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Glen Auble.

Chester Arthur Palmatier was born August 3, 1885 in Geranium town, Valley county, Nebraska and was here Nov. 22, 1934 and was 48 years, 3 months and 21 days old.

On March 12, 1911, at the age of 25, he was united in marriage to Mary Eleanor Kosmata and immediately they left for Tacoma, Wash., where Mr. Palmatier was timekeeper in a large lumber mill and where they made their home for two years, during which time a son, Elmer, was born to them.

In 1913 the Palmatier family returned to Valley county and Mr. Palmatier farmed in Geranium township for seven years, during which time twin daughters, Thelma and Delma, were born. In 1920 he moved his family to Ord, where they still live.

After moving to Ord the deceased served for almost fourteen years as manager of the Farmers Grain & Supply company's elevator. He was elected to the Ord city council for two terms. Organizations to which he belonged were the Modern Woodmen of America and the Masonic lodge.

Besides his wife and three children, Elmer, Thelma and Delma, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Palmatier of Ord, and by the following sisters and brothers: Stella, Grace, Alice, Loretta and Ellery, all of Chicago; Edmund, of Boise, Ida.; and Marshall, of Riverside, Calif. Three sisters—Clara, Mabelle and Hazel—have preceded him in death. Other relatives and numerous friends also are left to mourn his departure.

F. O. C. met Tuesday evening with Miss Muri Bartlett. Miss Vera McClatchey was a guest.

THE ORD QUIZ

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Art Brown claims that "Left ham is better for sandwiches", but he fails to give a reason.

I don't believe that politics is cutting any figure with the allowing of PWA projects. If they are sound they will be allowed in due time. If they are not Secretary Ickes is not going to allow them.

And neither do I believe that Arthur Mullen is trying to do out Loup valley dirt in spite of the fact that certain politicians seem to be trying to stir up trouble.

Have you ever noticed that it is just such women as Mrs. P. J. Melia who are always looking after people who are in trouble, in spite of the fact that they have big broods of their own to look after?

It is said that carrots are great to build up the system and prepare it to resist colds. I am strong for carrots. I want them every day. And I like them best made up into good, thick pumpkin pie.

I gather from reading the press, that most of the big money interests are opposed to the Roosevelt money policy, yet what a mess these same interests made of handling the finances of the country during recent years.

It looks now as though we might find out pretty soon, which is the biggest, the alleged financiers of Wall street or the government of the United States.

There are no doubt some who want the Quiz who are not able to dig up the full $2 subscription price at one time but almost any of them can come across with 2 bits or 4 bits, which will insure their getting it for a time at least.

It looks to me as though the government is being plenty generous in offering to loan the farmer 45c a bushel on his corn. It looks like a good sale of the corn. If later the price of corn does go up so the borrower can market his corn, pay his debt and have something left, so much the better.

Probably the reason England got faster action in regaining prosperity when they went off the gold standard than the United States does, is because the great financial interests of that country bowed to the will of the government, while in this country the great financial interests pursue a rule or ruin policy and are doing all in their power to prevent the success of the government policies.

That was a dandy letter that Archie Geweke wrote to the Quiz last week and we have not received as many replies as we should. I know it is because many people, the great majority in fact, always "let Bill do it." If fifty Valley county farmers would get into the discussion as Mr. Geweke has a lot of benefit might come from it.

A lot of subscribers whose subscriptions expired November 15 were still sent the paper of November 23. Postcard notices were sent to all these subscribers, so when they miss their November 30 Quiz they will know what has happened. We will mail postcards to all those whose papers expire December 15, in the next few days. If you want the paper, send in a renewal before the 15th. It will be remembered that these people subscribed at the $1 rate and we have no reason to believe they want the paper continued at the present regular rate and as conditions are now, we cannot send the paper and be told 3, 6 or 12 months hence, as we have been told many times in the past, "Well, you should have stopped the paper." We could afford to do it then but we cannot now. So, if you don't make arrangements to keep the paper coming and it is stopped, don't get peeved at us. We are telling you and giving you the privilege of paying as little as 2 bits at a time to keep it coming, if you find that necessary.

One of the greatest business institutions in Valley county is the co-operative creamery here at Ord. It has proved a great asset to the patrons and to the whole community. As high a price is always paid for cream and other produce as the condition of the market will warrant. Yet there are always some knockers. Several times complaints have come to me that higher prices were being paid in surrounding towns than were paid at the Ord creamery for cream. I have frequently investigated these complaints and have found them unfounded. A while back, though upon getting such a complaint I found that the Broken Bow creamery was sending trucks into the territory west and south of Ord, right into our territory and that they were actually paying more for cream than was paid here and upon making further investigation I was soon convinced that no creamery could stay in business and pay the prices that creamery was paying. I explain the whole matter in an item in this paper and last week what I said was proved true for the Broken Bow creamery closed its doors. Its manager allowed the centralizers to nag him into a price fight which he was unable to stand but which, in that small locality and letting him have the bulk of the cream at more than it could possibly return, injured them very little. We should be glad that we have a manager who does not lose his head in that way. He has had plenty of opportunities to do so, but has usually dropped the hot brick on the other fellow without himself getting burned. And does that make them mad? Now the stockholders in the plant in the neighboring town will probably have to stand a loss and the principle of co-operative marketing has received another set-back, such as has been the case in many other places in this and surrounding states. And all because the management forgot to keep at least one foot on the ground all the time.

And I am also reminded that a well known business man of Ord who is also a farmer and a producer of cream, is shipping his cream to a nearby town outside of Valley county, receiving about 1c a pound more than the local creamery will pay, yet at the same time this man is asking for and expects the co-operation and support of the farmers who own stock in and patronize the Ord creamery and of the business people of Ord who also have stock in the creamery. Just how this man can justify his course is more than I can figure out, as his bonus would amount to more than he receives extra.

While we all hate to see death and while we especially regret the passing of such sturdy pioneers as Ed Finley, who among us would not prefer, when our own time comes to take the inevitable trip which the souls of all must take, that it come quickly without sickness and suffering, just as his death came.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. John Work was starting a move to get a Carnegie library for Ord and was corresponding with Mr. Carnegie to see what could be done. The latter wrote that if Ord would raise $500 per year to maintain a library he would contribute $5,000 to build it.

Because of the long illness of both Mr. and Mrs. Everett Petty, neighbors turned out and helped husk their corn, shucking 40 acres in a single day. A special election was to be held in Ord to authorize issuance of $40,000 in bonds to finance the erection of a new school building. Oscar L. Nay, former foreman of the Cheyenne, Wyo., Leader, had been engaged as foreman of the Quiz shop. George Pratt bought the Oliver Cromwell feed mill. Dr. Bamford of the Methodist church and Rev. Halsey of the Presbyterian church played a joke on their congregations by swapping pulpits Sunday morning without warning.

20 Years Ago This Week. A district court jury awarded the children of Orville Phair a judgement of $4,200 in their suit against Sam Dumond and the Lion Bonding company. The suit alleged that Dumond, who was operating a saloon under a bond furnished by the Lion company, sold liquor to Phair and while under the influence of this liquor Phair assaulted his wife, as a result of which assault she died. Phair later was sentenced to serve 5 years in the penitentiary and Dumond's license as saloon keeper was revoked. W. W. Haskell was sued by the Methodist church because he had refused to pay his subscription of $1,000 to the building fund for the new church. The court decided in favor of the church and Mr. Haskell announced that he would appeal.

Will Hefferman was badly cut about the face during a fight at a dance held on the Charlie Kriz place and it was feared that he might lose the sight of one eye. Ord city authorities were about to sink a test well in an effort to increase the city water supply. Miss Marie Brown and Luther D. Pierce were married. Gust Rose was kicked in the face by a horse and badly hurt.

J. C. Meese drove to town, unhitched his horse from his new buggy, and tied the horse to a hitching rail. When he returned he found that his buggy had been kicked to pieces, probably by a strange horse.

Plenty of Fertilizer. United States Department of Agriculture states that calcium phosphate deposits in Utah, Wyoming and Idaho can supply the country with fertilizer for centuries after supplies in Florida, South Carolina and Tennessee are depleted.

Not Athletic. Women of Italy are advised not to compete in the more strenuous athletics with the "ungraceful but better suited" women of the Anglo-Saxon race. Native women are said to be delicate of muscle and sentiment, and are not built to compete in the more violent forms of exercise with Nordic women.

Something Different

Below is what a Texas woman suggested be embodied in a code for housewives, and what do you think of it?

BEAUMONT, Tex.—Hearing nothing about a forty hour week for housewives, a homemaker of Nederland has proposed a code of her own. Received by County Judge Johnson in a letter which suggested its consideration by President Roosevelt, the code follows:

Every housewife shall be taken out to dinner at least once a week. Husband or some other member of the family shall dry all the supper dishes. Every housewife is entitled to a minimum of two movies weekly. Husband shall help children with at least half of home work.

Every housewife is entitled to 10 percent of family pay check for personal expenditures on self for clothes, cosmetics, etc.

Every housewife is entitled to sleep late at least two mornings weekly.

Every housewife is entitled to extra help for housecleaning. And contrary to what you probably thought, this clipping was brought in to the Quiz office for consideration not by a woman, but by a man and a farmer, Chris Johnson.

What do you think of it? I don't know, but I don't believe these are the things Valley county housewives would holler for, if they wanted a Rooseveltian code for themselves.

What would you holler for????

I drain my dishes in a dish-drain, so it doesn't make much difference to me whether I get help, unless there is a great deal of glassware and silver to wipe. But it seems to me that in larger families where there are perhaps several children more than ten years old, that they might help by doing dishes all day long. Regular tasks are good for children; dish washing will not hurt them, and then the various small jobs might be re-allotted yearly or oftener, if desired.

Then in place of saying "two movies a week", I would say two outings, or perhaps a new book or some new magazines. Hired girls have couple of afternoons or a day off, why not Mother??? And I think Mother should be allotted six and a half or seven hours of sleep each night, too, in place of sleeping late mornings, which would probably be impossible in a lively household!

Now that it is all figured out to my satisfaction, how shall I enforce my code? Send in yours, let's see what you want?

Albert Anderson's family are having an epidemic of broken arms. Several months ago Mrs. Anderson broke her arm, and had it well mended again, when she took a second fall, and re-broke it, both hands. Bad enough, you say, but a few days ago Walter was playing football with a gang of other young fellows, and he broke an arm, too, and so now the Anderson family are walking very carefully indeed.

The spasm of bridge parties quit just in time: the husbands were getting good and mad. Their wives were being invited places constantly while they were left to stay with the baby, or to prowl lonesomely until ten or ten-thirty, and then go home because their favorite stomping ground was "locking up".

As one Ord man announced to a collection of others: "And are the husbands getting a good letting alone? Nobody wants them to go anywhere!"

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

There are many good meat loaf recipes, and not very many families make them the same way. Meat loaf is like mince-meat, pumpkin pie, dressing, and pickle recipes; each family likes its own method of making these dishes the best.

Below is a recipe for meat loaf that came a long way to please Quiz readers. Do you approve of it, or what change would you make? Please send in your method.

Meat Loaf. Mix together one pound ground beef, one-half pound ground pork, one teaspoon minced onion, one cup bread crumbs, one egg, two-thirds cup sweet milk, salt and pepper to taste. Put into a loaf pan, cover with tomato juice and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Mince-meat. Assemble five pounds of peeled and ground apples, four pounds of ground roast beef, four pounds of raisins, half of them ground, two pounds currants, two lemons, one-half pint grape jelly, one-half pound butter, one cup vinegar, two cups wine, two cups sorghum or syrupone box cinnamon, two teaspoons allspice, one cup beef soup, one whole citron (optional), one pound tallow, cooked and ground, two pounds sugar, stir well and cook two hours or more. This is very good.

Baked Eggs. Break eight eggs into a baking dish that has been well buttered; add three tablespoons of sweet cream, salt, pepper and lots of butter; bake in the oven for about twenty minutes and serve hot.

Sour Milk Pancakes. Sift together two and one-half cups flour with one and one-half teaspoons soda, one rounding teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, add three cups sour milk, one tablespoon melted shortening and one beaten egg. Beat well, cook on a hot griddle, slightly greased.

Cornmeal Pancakes. Sift together one cup flour, one cup cornmeal, two heaping teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon soda, two tablespoons sugar, then add one cup sour milk, and enough cold water to make a thin batter, add one well-beaten egg, and it is ready to fry.

Holiday Salad. Mix all together two cups seeded cooked prunes, one cup black walnuts, four diced apples, four bananas, four oranges, sugar to taste. Cover with whipped cream and serve.

Pinwheel Cookies. Cream one-half cup butter, add one-half cup sugar, one beaten egg, yolk, three tablespoons of milk, beat well. Add one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, a pinch of salt which has been sifted together.

Put in one-half teaspoon vanilla and divide the dough into halves. To one-half of the mixture add one square of melted chocolate. Roll the white dough into a thin sheet, and the chocolate mixture into a sheet the same size. Place the chocolate dough over the white and gently press together, roll up as for jelly roll, in a tight roll. Set in the ice box for several hours, to become firm, or let lay overnight. Cut into thin slices and bake on a buttered cookie sheet, for about ten minutes.

"Torque" is a mystery to many owners of cars. Webster's dictionary defines torques as "that which produces or tends to produce rotation or torsion." Not so clear. Maybe this less-technical explanation would be a little easier to understand. Torque in an automobile motor is the result of the explosive power of the contents of a cylinder full of gasoline vapor being applied through the medium of a piston and connecting rod to turn the crankshaft.

Population Decreasing. For the first time since official censuses were started more than a hundred years ago the County of Fife, in Scotland, showed a decrease in the last ten years, according to enumeration figures made public.

QUIZ FORUM

Boosts Cushing and Dye. To the Ord Quiz:

I am not writing as secretary of the Valley County Farm Holiday association. I have no authority from them for this letter. I am writing as Farmer Coats, or as one farmer to another. When the Holiday association meets they may not agree to what I write as an individual farmer.

In the Quiz of November 16, H. D. Leggett has given you an insight into the farmers problems. H. D. has done a good job but he did not go far enough. Some more of the story is, "Why were the banks given a holiday when no farmer or other depositor could touch his deposits? And about the same time the life insurance companies were given a moratorium so they would not have to pay their obligations, and the farmers property was left open to seizure for debts and his farm for foreclosure. The power that he said, turn in your gold Why did they not say all farm foreclosures be stopped until such time as the farmers received cost of production. Instead they ask that there be no foreclosures. Asking don't work as we here in Valley county know. Foreclosures went on just the same. Thanks to two judges the sales are not confirmed here as yet, so it is not as bad as it could be. Why does this government kill five million pigs and then allow millions and millions of pounds of meat to be shipped into this country from South America? With twice as much frozen beef in storage as there was last year November 1 what chance has a cattle feeder as long as the government allows the cheap South American beef to be shipped here? If the feeder is put out of business by cheap foreign meats, it hits the farmer a mighty whack as well as the range man with his grass cattle. I am not complaining about our form of government, it is the best in the world, but it has been woefully mismanaged as far as the farmer is concerned. We cannot reach the national government with our voice to any extent. The industrial trust runs that but here in Nebraska we can elect a real dirt farmer. Leggett says, Marion Cushing will make a real governor. A lot of us farmers think so too. Well, the way to get him there is to boost for him, not after while is too now. Senator Frazier of North Dakota was drafted by farmers from the farm as governor. He went from there to the U. S. Senate and has been a real senator to all of us farmers. He told me when he was here a few years back, "That man Cushing will be your farmer governor some of these times." Well, if Cushing runs for governor there will be a new representative for Garfield and Valley counties. The Garfield county farmers think it belongs to them when Cushing is through with the office. And some of them have spoken about Gerald Dye as a good man for representative. I have known Mr. Dye and his charming wife for years. They are real people, Mr. Dye is a good public speaker and knows the farmer's problems. He does not belong to the radical element nor is he too conservative. He is a good, level headed young farmer who will make his mark in the world and I predict will be U. S. senator before he is as old as some of the rest of us.

I sure was glad to see Archie Geweke, in last week's Quiz, take a whack at conditions in general, and after studying it the government's hog and corn plan is not so bad. It will raise the price of corn sure enough and that is what we all need here even if I do have to buy a lot of it. I do not know what the Holiday association's attitude will be toward the plan, until we meet, but the president, Art Mensing, tells me he favors the plan as an emergency act. Secretary Wallace I believe is doing his best to get us something. He is enough of a farmer to know the prosperity of the nation depends on the prosperity of its farmers. And I suppose if the farmer is to receive better prices production must be controlled. Anyway that is the way the industrial east uses the agricultural west. When they get too much manufactured so as to hurt prices they just stop the factories instead

DR. RICH says: Grand Island, Neb. Nov. 30, 1933. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hayes of Scottsbluffs, Neb., Rt. 2, have both been recent patients at the sanitarium. Ten years ago, Mrs. Hayes' mother, Mrs. Will Otte, of Scottsbluffs was also a patient here. This is certainly a good recommendation.

Everyone who suffers with rectal trouble should have several thoughts in mind—to wish a cure; to be certain that a cure can be obtained; to be assured that the treatment will be most pleasant and agreeable and the price reasonable.

Rectal trouble should always be considered as very important. Delay in obtaining a cure could be dangerous. This is your opportunity and responsibility. If you are interested write to me for information. Address Dr. Rich, Rectal Specialist, Grand Island, Nebr. 1

GET 1 MILE MORE PER GAL. THIS WINTER

YOU SAVE MONEY... by using the Improved Super Shell, because you get quicker starting with less gasoline, and that leaves you more gasoline, in every gallon, for extra mileage. Some gasolines are overloaded, for quick starting in winter, with light, gassy parts; others are hard to start. Both types waste more. Improved Super Shell starts quicker yet gives you more mileage in winter. Use Super Shell and save money.

Change to SUPER-SHELL STARTS QUICKER PLUS MORE MILEAGE

IMPROVED SUPER SHELL Stops Winter Waste — Starts Quicker — Yet Gives Full Mileage

For the first time, you can now get a gasoline which combines instant starting in winter with full summer mileage. Some ordinary gasolines are overloaded, for quick starting in cold weather, with light, gassy parts, which you lose after your engine warms up, thereby reducing your mileage. Other ordinary gasolines are hard to start, and waste your fuel by excessive "choking" and, therefore, they, too, reduce your mileage. The Improved Super Shell, by Shell's new and exclusive reforming process, gives you quicker starting on the coldest day in winter and saves, for extra mileage, the gasoline you formerly wasted in starting.

"I'm Getting 2 Miles Extra With Super Shell!... It was a great surprise to me," writes Carl Reinking of Chicago, Ill., "to find a gasoline that gives in cold weather the same extra mileage I got last summer."

No longer can Thanksgiving be regarded as an observance grown rather meaningless with the years. Its original purpose is once more righteously restored and made one with our own. If it be true that "History repeats itself", then that surely is the case today.

The trials and troubles of the Pilgrims have been ours, under different names, in modern garb. And now, with time to pause and take stock of our blessings, we find reason to observe a holiday once almost meaningless.

Just as that first Thanksgiving became yearly tradition, at least in spirit, let us resolve to make this Thanksgiving a point from which to move ahead, taking stock of our advantages and resolving to make each succeeding year a greater cause for "Thanksgiving".

The WEDDING MARCH MURDER

by MONTE BARRETT

WNU SERVICE

CHAPTER I

Death in the Study. SOMETHING had gone wrong. The bridesmaid on the left—Cardigan did not know her name then—glanced backward, hesitantly. The procession slowed its solemn march.

A stir of uneasiness was somehow transmitted to the crowded pews. There was a vague bustling throughout the church, even audible against the majestic organ tones of Lohengrin's "Wedding March."

Peter Cardigan sensed it from his pew deep in the nave of the church and smiled at the fancy he thought had betrayed him. What could be wrong? His novelist's mind pictured the main services conjured from the corners of the world by Carmody wealth to insure the perfection of detail which had been the heritage of Carmody brides since New York was young.

It had seemed strange to Cardigan for Jim Franklin to be marrying Ambrose Carmody's daughter. But then, Jim had been a stranger to him for seventeen years. When Peter Cardigan knew him, Jim Franklin had been a young attorney, just out of law school, laying the first foundation of his career in the harsh experience of the police courts. Peter, without realizing it, had been laying some foundation stones of his own in those days, for that was when he was a police reporter and before he had become famous as a writer of best-selling mysteries, as well as for the occasional solving of one in real life.

That was seventeen years ago. Now Jim Franklin was marrying Doris Carmody. If there was anything to those newspaper stories, he would be the next governor of New York, too. Ridiculous to think that anything could be wrong! And yet, the procession was scarcely moving now.

Doctor Abernathy, rector of St. Matthew's, stood by the choir steps and wondered. Everything had gone off well at the rehearsal. What had happened now? Where was the bridegroom?

The rector was troubled about the quarrel he had witnessed in the sacristy, too. What an odd setting for a quarrel! The sacristy of a church, just before a wedding. Too, he had tried to question the strange woman who had quarreled with the bridegroom. For a moment his suspicions had been aroused. But pshaw, Franklin was all right! Nothing like that could happen to Doris Carmody. The generosity of her ancestors had made this fashionable old church possible.

No, there could be nothing wrong. Things like that didn't happen to people like the Carmodys. The suspicion with which the good doctor had momentarily regarded that scene flickered brightly, for a moment, and as quickly died. But not died, either. The distrust with which he had regarded that quarrel was recalled very vividly now. What should he have done? Notified the bride's father? He had thought of that—and yet—what could he have said? The circumstance of a quarrel was not sufficient to question the propriety of a wedding, at least where there was no question of morals involved. No, the rector reflected, there was nothing he could have done.

Callis Shipley was worried. What had happened to Jim Franklin? Where was Nick Royce? Callis was the first bridesmaid on the left. At the rehearsal, the bridegroom and the best man had entered at the first notes of the organ, and waited at the choir steps for the procession that moved slowly down the aisle. Why hadn't she thought to see if he were there before she started? She had been a third of the way down before she realized he was missing. Several seconds slipped past, and still he did not come. Callis glanced back hurriedly. She suddenly realized she was afraid. Where was Rylie Carmody? What had Web Spears meant? Something terrible had happened! She knew it!

If she only could have found Rylie! Outside, on Carmody avenue, a policeman pushed back the curious throng that wanted to glimpse the bride. A Carmody! And Jim Franklin. He'll be the next governor, too. "You'll have to keep moving, Miss," said the officer. The pretty woman in blue struggled through the jostling crowd.

Doris Carmody was thinking of Webster Spears—"Web," whom she had known all her life, whom she might even now have been marrying, if things had turned out a little differently. Why had Web walked out of the church, without remaining to see the wedding? What had he said about her brother, Rylie? That he would have stopped the wedding? That was ridiculous. Wasn't Rylie right there in the church?

But the girl's thoughts never lingered on her brother. With unexpected bitterness they reverted to Web. Didn't he realize that she had always been fond of him, too? His father and hers had been partners, just as their fathers had been, before them. Just as Web and Rylie some day would be. And Web had walked out. Before the ceremony! Doris swallowed the lump that rose, unbidden, in her throat.

She glanced about. Her father, beside her, muttered something under his breath. Had something gone wrong? Half-way down the aisle, she could see her bridesmaids. Why did they walk so slowly?

She thought of Jim Franklin. What was he like, really? She wondered if brides always felt so strange toward the men they were going to marry? Sometimes he looked so old. Yet he was only eighteen years older than she. Lots of girls married men much older than that. That was no real bar to love. And he was going to be the next governor. She was proud of him. And she loved him, too. She felt sure of that. Oh, why didn't they hurry? What was wrong with Dad?

Ambrose Carmody was proud of the slender gracefulness of his daughter—proud of "that Carmody look" she had. There was something about the well-bred sleekness of this gathering that was soothing to his sense of the fitness of things. Other parts of the city changed, even Wall Street had its ups and downs, but the Carmodys and their friends went on like—like old St. Matthew's itself. It pleased him to remember that his grandfather had contributed the land on which this church stood. His father had married his mother here. He had waited at that altar for a young bride in white, himself, not so many years ago.

What were they waiting for? From his position in the vestibule, he peered down the aisle. It seemed that the bridesmaids had halted, near the halfway mark.

"What's wrong?" He asked one of the ushers, a young man with a vacuous puzzled expression.

"They're waiting for the bridegroom, sir."

"Waiting? Why should they wait? Where is he? Tell him to step up!" "He's in the sacristy, sir. We've no way to tell him."

Ambrose Carmody eyed the young man sharply. In his office they learned to find a way. Then he realized they weren't in his office. This was Doris's wedding.

"Can't you dash around and jog him up?" he suggested, in a tone far more suave than his expression.

The young man disappeared out the vestibule.

Doctor Abernathy waited impatiently at the choir steps. The organ was repeating the march, more slowly now, as the puzzled organist endeavored to catch the rhythm of the procession, without success. The church was whispering with speculation.

In the vestibule, some one tugged at Ambrose Carmody's arm.

"Well?" The old man's nerves were on edge.

Then he noticed the strained white look of the youngster's face and followed him out to the steps. "What's wrong?" he wanted to ask. Why didn't the boy speak? But he said nothing. Suddenly, he knew he was afraid to ask.

"Something—something terrible has happened, Mr. Carmody." Ambrose nodded. In a way, it was a relief to know.

She spared him that. "What is it, Dad? Jim—he's not hurt—or anything?"

That seemed to relieve the strain. "Yes," he said. "Jim's hurt, Doris. I'll have to get you home. I'll see after things back there. We'll find Rylie. He'll take you home."

"No, I want to go to him." The girl hurried her father's dragging steps.

"You can't—do anything, my dear. It's too late for that." Ambrose gripped his daughter's arm in gently firm fingers. "He's dead."

Doris did not cry, then. She was too dazed for that. And it seemed to her that she had known, from the moment her father had come to her in the vestibule. She was conscious, for the first time, of the curious throng outside.

"I want to go to him, Dad," she repeated.

Fifteen hundred wedding guests sat stunned in their pews. They seemed unwilling to believe Doctor Abernathy's statement.

"What did he say? Tell me again," the woman beside Peter Cardigan sought confirmation of the astounding news.

"The wedding has been postponed," Peter told her, and made his way toward the door.

At first, the novelist had no thought but to hurry away ahead of the crowd. Now he hesitated. Something serious must be wrong. After all, Jim Franklin and he had been friends in the past. Perhaps he could be of some service. He followed Carmody and his daughter into the sacristy in time to hear him ask, "How did it happen? Where is he?"

"In the study," replied Doctor Abernathy. He hesitated, looking at the girl who was to have been a bride. "He's—he's been killed," he faltered. "Murdered."

Sprawled on his back, beside the pastor's desk, was the bridegroom, Jim Franklin. A limp hand still clutched at the desk leg. His other arm was flung across the rumped rug. A sodden stain crept across his vest and darkened the silken lining of his cutaway. His collar, torn on one side, curled grotesquely away, grim symbol of the man's last struggle.

Doctor Abernathy gazed in horror at the body on the floor.

Beside the desk stood Nicholas Royce. Peter had known "Nick" in the old newspaper days. Now Nick was managing editor of Topics, the tabloid with the largest circulation in New York. He had been the dead man's best friend—was to have been his best man.

Nick nodded at Peter in recognition. "I'll call the police," he said.

"When did it happen?" Doctor Abernathy found his voice at last.

"About five minutes ago, I should judge," Nick replied with one hand over the transmitter. Then he got his connection and reported the crime to the police, before turning again to the rector.

"I followed you to the door," he continued, leaning against the desk easily, as though unconscious of the dead man so near at hand. "I left the door ajar, and kept my eye on you, so we'd know when to start in. Jim was behind me, in the entrance of the study, I thought. I heard nothing unusual. I never realized anything was wrong until the 'Wedding March' began. Then I said, 'All set, Jim,' but he never answered me. When I turned to call him again the door from the sacristy into the study was closed."

"I thought that was strange, but I still wasn't suspicious. Not until I tried the door, and found it locked."

"Of course, then I knew something was wrong. I ran around the outside, to the rear door. It was open. I found Jim—like this."

"But why didn't you let us know?" demanded Ambrose Carmody, who had left his daughter with members of the family in the sacristy, and entered the room during Royce's recital. "We had no idea what was wrong. We were in the midst of the wedding march—the girls were half-way down the aisle."

Royce shrugged. "I forgot about that," he confessed. "I was busy—phoning."

"Yes." "Then you had already notified the police," Doctor Abernathy put in quickly. "Why?"

There was a trace of a smile around the corner of Royce's thin lips as he glanced quickly toward Peter.

"I wasn't phoning the police," he said. "The story."

"You mean you've notified the newspapers?" Carmody's tone was angry.

"Not the newspapers," Royce denied. "Only my newspaper."

"Have you lost your mind?" the old man fared. "We'll keep the newspapers out of this."

"You don't know your newspapers," Nick replied softly.

They were interrupted by the distant wall of a siren, far down Carmody avenue, but growing steadily louder. The four men in the room paused to listen. Peter watched Nick Royce, who turned his head, listening to the banshee notes of the approaching police car.

"That is the voice of trouble," he said. "From now on, this is everybody's secret."

Outside patrolmen who before had kept the curious moving on, were now holding back a swelling crowd.

Michael Kilday, himself, sergeant of the homicide bureau, was the first to push his way into the study. Behind him followed the medical examiner. Three more detectives, one bearing a camera, completed the party.

"Hello, Peter," Kilday recognized his friend and associate on other cases. "What happened?"

Without waiting to be informed, he knelt beside the bridegroom's body. Then, with a low "shh" of expelled breath, he turned a startled countenance on Peter again.

"Jim Franklin!" he ejaculated. "Look here, Doctor."

The medical examiner knelt beside him, and with swift fingers, laid back the vest and shirt that covered the wound.

Franklin's death had been caused by two knife thrusts, one a long jagged tear across the groin, the second a smooth deep wound, between the ribs at or near the heart. This second wound was about three inches wide and at either end a small blue bruise, half the size of a dime, stood out against the white skin.

Sergeant Kilday's glance darted about the room, questioning.

"The knife isn't here, Sergeant," Nick Royce informed him. "I've already looked."

"Who found him?" the officer asked tersely.

"I did. I was his best man, and was waiting out there in the sacristy, for the 'Wedding March' to begin," Royce volunteered. He repeated the story he had told the others of the discovery of the crime, not omitting the fact that his first action had been to telephone the story to his paper.

"You telephoned Topics before you notified us?" Kilday's tone was incredulous.

"And you were his best man—pretty cold-blooded, wasn't it?" Kilday eyed the man narrowly.

"I don't look at it that way," Royce denied. "Jim is dead. I couldn't help him. And I couldn't keep a story like that out of the papers even if I wanted to." He pointed at his dead friend. "Jim Franklin has been murdered. Every one knows Jim Franklin. He'd have been the next governor of the state if he had lived. He was killed in the study of fashionable St. Matthew's church, while waiting for his own wedding march to begin. And," he glanced imperturbably at Ambrose Carmody, "he was marrying Doris Carmody. That's the most dramatic story since Lindbergh hit Paris."

"I'll sell three hundred thousand papers in the next two hours. If I didn't do it, somebody else would."

The medical examiner continued his examination, briefly. He shook his head when he finally arose. "Instantaneous," he said. "The murderer gave him the wound across the groin first, a glancing blow, painful, but not necessarily fatal. Evidently Franklin struggled." He indicated the torn collar. "His assailant grabbed him there, to prevent his calling for help. There are blue marks on his throat. As for these," he pointed out the small bruises at either end of the second wound, "I don't know where they came from, but the second wound did the business. I think it must have reached the heart, judging from the loss of blood."

Sergeant Kilday examined the blue bruises at either end of the wound intently. "What do you make of them, Peter?" he inquired presently.

The novelist shook his head. "I don't know," he said. "I've been trying to explain them, in my own mind, but I haven't had any luck, so far."

They were interrupted by a sharp rap on the door.

Kilday opened it.

A tall well-built man, whose intent gray eyes stared beyond the detective to the body on the floor, stood in the doorway.

"May I be of some assistance?" he inquired gravely. "I'm Milo Dunbar. Franklin and I are—or rather were—partners."

Kilday stepped aside to let him by. There was a suggestion of power in the reserved dignity of the man's smooth-shaven face. He stopped beside the body. Only for an instant did the firm lines of his mouth relax into an expression of pity. Then his reserve settled back on his face, like a mask.

"Have you any idea who did this thing?" he inquired of the detective.

Kilday grimaced ruefully. "You can rest assured we'll go after the man who did it. We've got to." He gave Nick Royce a wry smile. "If we don't, every paper in town will be after my scalp."

"And now the biggest help all of you can be is to clear out of this room until we finish with our investigation. I'll want to talk to all of you, later, but right now, I'd better have a look at this room, before anything is disturbed. You can wait in there." He motioned toward the sacristy.

Doctor Abernathy escaped from the room with evident relief, followed by Ambrose Carmody and Milo Dunbar. Cardigan hesitated, hoping for an invitation to remain, which was promptly in coming.

"How about me?" Nick Royce stopped in the door. "I'm representing Topics."

"Outside," growled Kilday. "We ain't let any of the other newspaper boys in yet, have we?"

"None of the other newspaper boys know as much about this as I do," retorted Royce confidently. "For instance, I could tell you that the murderer wiped his dagger on that curtain over there, before he ran out the back door."

Kilday examined the dark stain on the indicated curtain. "Stick around if you want to," he yielded grudgingly. "But I'd have found the mark on the curtain, anyway."

Under the sergeant's direction, the minute examination began. The detective with the camera began photographing each detail of the room. A second officer began the painstaking search for finger-prints.

The sergeant had been bent over the table, carefully scrutinizing one of the finger-print specimens dusted for photographing by his subordinates. Now he straightened and faced Royce.

"Who do you think killed Jim Franklin, Royce?" he demanded suddenly.

"A woman," replied the newspaper man calmly.

"Why?"

"For the first time, Nick Royce answered reluctantly. "That was his weakness," he admitted grudgingly. "The fact is too well known to remain a secret long. There have been a great many women in Jim's life."

"Could a woman have held him by the throat to prevent an outcry, after the first thrust, until she had time for the second?" Cardigan inquired. With his eyes he measured the brawny size of the dead man.

"Women can do lots of things we're reluctant to give them credit for," Royce retorted. "Besides, how do we know which blow was struck first? Perhaps the deep thrust was the first one and the other came later, when Jim was weakened and dying. That would eliminate your theory that a woman couldn't have done it."

The novelist shook his head, slowly, his shaggy brows knit in a reflective scowl. "I don't think there was much struggle left in him after that blow," he said. "It must have come last."

"Let's begin at the beginning," Kilday suggested. "You say you were in the next room at the time this happened?"

The newspaper man nodded.

"Suppose you show me where you were standing," the sergeant invited, and Royce crossed to the door leading from the sacristy into the church.

"Doctor Abernathy had gone in," he said, "and I was watching for our cue to enter. The last I saw of Jim, before the crime, he was standing right where you are now. I turned my back to him and was watching the choir enter, waiting for the 'Wedding March' to begin. But when it did begin, Jim was dead."

"And you heard nothing at all in the room behind you?" Kilday's voice sounded slightly incredulous.

Royce shrugged his dapper shoulders. "I've said that I didn't. For one thing, they were singing, and the organ was playing. That would have drowned out any but a loud noise."

deceived no one. "You hadn't, by any chance, quarreled with Jim Franklin, had you?"

In spite of the smile on his thin lips, there was an unpleasant expression on the newspaper man's narrow face. "Sherlock," he said, with a mocking bow, "don't tell me you have guessed my secret. That's why I was the best man at this wedding."

"Just the same," Kilday retorted, "you weren't overcome by grief. You discover the man you say was your best friend, murdered, and the first thing you do is call up your newspaper."

He turned abruptly to Doctor Abernathy. "Where were you?"

"In the church. I was standing at the choir steps, waiting for the bride party."

"Could you see this man, standing here in the door, from your position in there?"

The rector hesitated. "I could have," he agreed. "But you see, I wasn't facing in this direction."

"Well, when you glanced over here, did you see Royce? That's what I'm asking you, Doctor Abernathy."

"No, I didn't see him," the rector admitted.

"I wasn't standing where I could be seen from the church," Nick Royce interrupted. "The door was only open a crack, and I was standing well back."

"You didn't say that, at first," Kilday challenged.

"I took your intelligence too much for granted, I'm afraid." If the officer heard, he gave no sign.

"We're taking one of the curtains out of your study," he informed the rector. "The slayer wiped the knife there."

"Did you find the weapon?" It was Milo Dunbar who asked.

"Not yet. Probably the murderer took it with him."

"And so that convicts me," Nick Royce interrupted ironically. "Of course I've had time to run home and hide the knife."

"You ran outside to get in the back door of the study, didn't you?" Kilday demanded. Then, turning to one of his assistants, "Take a look outside there, Pat. Maybe the knife was dropped around there."

"You can't fool old Sherlock," Royce ironically remarked, and walking to the window, he watched the detective as he searched the shrubbery outside for some trace of the weapon.

Peter studied the newspaper man's back with puzzled blue eyes. What was wrong with Royce? Did he really have something to conceal? The thought seemed preposterous. As he had so pointedly made clear, Jim Franklin would scarcely have asked any but his most trusted friend to be his best man. Where could you make a motive for murder out of that?

And then, too, where was the knife? If Royce had committed the crime, how had he been able to dispose of the knife? No, that didn't fit, unless (and Peter entertained slight hope of this) it were found outside by the man Kilday had sent to conduct the search.

Peter stepped outside. This was the path Royce had taken, to get from the sacristy to the back door of the study. Except for a few shrubs, he noticed, there was no place the knife might have been concealed on this side of the church.

It was different at the back. There was ample opportunity to hide a dozen daggers there, given the time.

And Royce had had plenty of that. Between the time the rector had left the two men in the sacristy, and the arrival of the usher sent by Ambrose Carmody to discover what was wrong, considerable time had elapsed. And what if Nick had not telephoned his newspaper, after all? What if that were just a subterfuge, by which he hoped to explain his failure to notify anyone of what had happened?

In that event, Peter reasoned, the dagger would be found here.

Then he turned into the rear door of the study, and hesitated in the doorway, his restless eyes exploring every detail of the room. The police search had been thorough. Small chance that any detail had been missed.

Suddenly his eyes stopped on the wall, opposite, near the door leading to the sacristy. Had he found a clue here?

There was an eager light dancing behind the bright blue of his eyes. Hanging in a scabbard, not three feet from the door, was a short dagger of Oriental design with an elaborately carved handle.

Hanging on the wall in a scabbard! Was that how they missed it? What would Nick Royce have to say now?

Suspects.

"HERE," said Peter, "is the knife that killed Franklin." The group in the sacristy turned startled glances in his direction.

"Where did you find that?" Nick Royce demanded.

Peter explained how it had been hanging in its scabbard, high on the wall of the study.

carefully to one of his assistants. "Look the handle over for fingerprints," he ordered. "You can use the study. As soon as you're through with it, bring it back to me. I want to have a look at the blade, next."

Then, turning, he smiled significantly at Nick Royce.

"So you didn't have time to run home and hide the knife, eh, Mr. Royce?"

"Don't be a fool, Kilday." The rallyer had died out of the newspaper man's voice. "In the first place, I doubt if that's the weapon which killed Franklin. Secondly, there were half a dozen people who had as good an opportunity to kill him as I. And the others had motives. I hadn't."

"Half a dozen people? Perhaps you can tell me who they were?" Kilday's tone was eager, but freighted with doubt.

Royce glanced slowly around the room before replying, his eyes lingering, momentarily, on both Doctor Abernathy and Ambrose Carmody.

"Mr. Carmody here had some words with Franklin in the study a short time before the murder."

Carmody smiled briefly, as he shrugged. It was evident that he thought the statement beneath his defense.

"And your son, Mr. Carmody," Nick Royce continued calmly. "Rylie came back here and threatened Jim Franklin a short time before the wedding."

"Rylie?" Carmody's tone expressed his indignation. "Be careful who you try to involve in this affair, Royce."

The editor of Topics turned to the rector for confirmation. "How about it, Doctor Abernathy? You were here."

The rector was obviously reluctant to speak. "Yes," he said finally. "Rylie was here. He had an argument with Mr. Franklin in my study, a short time before the wedding."

"But he left right away," Doctor Abernathy hurried to add. "I talked to Franklin after that. So did Mr. Royce. The idea that Rylie could have been connected with this is preposterous."

"What time was this quarrel?" Kilday demanded.

"I couldn't say, exactly." The rector was still doubtful. "Not later than a quarter of four, I am sure."

"Probably earlier than that," added Royce. "Rylie was the first one who quarreled with Franklin, and that was right after we came. We arrived at twenty minutes of four."

"Did I understand you to say that Rylie was the first one to quarrel with Franklin, Nick?" Peter Cardigan leaned forward, elbows on knees, his lean brown hands clasped together, watching the other man intently. "He had more than one quarrel here, then?"

Royce nodded, but glanced at Carmody, before replying verbally. "There was a woman," he said.

Ambrose Carmody turned toward the man stiffly. "I suppose you gave an account of that to your newspaper, too?"

"Of course." And then, for the first time defending himself, Royce hurried to say, "What else could I do? Every paper in town will have an account of it—and of this woman, too."

"It was Helen Train," he continued, this time addressing Kilday. "Choo Choo Train, of the Scandals. Franklin made no secret of his attachment for her. The whole town knew it—every one except, perhaps, the Carmodys."

Ambrose Carmody sat down heavily. "When was this?" he asked. "Before or after I talked with Franklin?"

"After." Royce's tone was kindly. "Sorry, Mr. Carmody, but you asked for it. Choo Choo came in after Doctor Abernathy entered the church. She and Jim quarreled. Jim wanted to know what she was doing here. He was angry. She claimed that he had sent for her. I hushed them up. I was afraid the sound of their voices could be heard inside the church."

"Come in here," Jim said and, grabbing her by the arm, pulled her into the study. That was the last I heard."

"Did you see her again?" Kilday wanted to know.

"No. She must have left by the back door."

YOUR BRAKES MAY GRIP But Will Your Tires?

On the slippery and darker roads of winter, you need the deep-treading, sure-holding grip of new Goodyear — and you need protection from the changes in the cold.

You can get that protection about as cheaply as a year ago — and still have the almost like new next Spring because new rubber lasts longer on cool roads.

Be wise — invest now in new Goodyear, ride safely, save money. This will be the 18th winter that more people rely on Goodyears than on any other tire. Let us show you why!

Today We Express Our Gratitude

Today, Thursday, Nov. 30, is by Presidential Proclamation the annual day upon which people of the United States give formal thanks for the many blessings that have been theirs during the twelve months past.

We in Valley county have much to be thankful for. When people in many other portions of the country have little or nothing to eat our people are all being cared for. A brighter day is dawning for all of us, and we have come through the rigors of the past few years better able to appreciate and enjoy the future's prosperity and happiness.

So, upon this Thanksgiving Day, we join as individuals and as a business institution in offering thanks to the Almighty for the many privileges that have been ours. And we hope that you, too, have as much to be thankful for today as we have.

QUICK FIRE

SUPERFUEL

The New Cold Weather Gasoline

You need a special gasoline—a snappier, livelier-starting gasoline—if you're going to get quick response from your motor now that cold weather's on tap. And here it is, the fastest starting gasoline ever offered by Standard. In "Quick-Fire" Superfuel the amount of highly volatile, quick-firing units has been greatly increased. This increase averages more than 50%. That gives you summer performance even in mid-winter driving. Yet you pay no premium price.

- Still the Complete Superfuel
1. Unsurpassed in starting—quick warm-up.
 2. 70 Octane—top anti-knock in its price class.
 3. Free from harmful sulphur and gum.
 4. Accurately adjusted for seasonal variations.
 5. Always uniform everywhere.
 6. Unsurpassed in mileage.
 7. No premium price.

Try it—fill your tank at the Standard Red Crown pump now. Then, on the next snappy morning, see how it does warm up a cold motor.

North Loup News

A membership drive preceding the November session of the P.T.A. resulted in an unusually large attendance Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. "Books" was the theme of the very fine and profitable program. Marjorie Thein discussed the value of illustrated story books to the very young child and gave some of her excellent methods in conducting the story hour with her first primaries. Mrs. Hemphill emphasized the value of good literature in character building and outlined a fine list of library building books Mrs. Dallam emphasized the responsibility of parents in supervising the reading matter of children even after they enter high school. A reading most fitting for the times was rendered by Miss Maxine Johnson entitled "Children First". A most pleasing feature was the vocal numbers rendered by the men's glee club led by Roger Johnson. They sang "Lassie O' Mine" and "Soldiers' Chorus". Refreshments were served at the close in the home economics room. The library board repaired eighty books Thursday, six members being present. Myra Barber and Cordia Sarye, representing the Legion Auxiliary, presented Uncle Mack Green, last of North Loups Civil war veterans, a basket of fruit last Friday which Mr. Green accepted with pleasure.

Art Thorgate of North Loup spent several days of last week at the Bernard Hoyt home. W. B. Casler was taken quite ill one day last week and his daughter Mrs. Edna Lidell of Omaha summoned. She arrived Thursday morning and Friday she took her father home with her where she will be better able to care for him. His many friends hope that he will recover soon. Several of Elyria's unemployed men were given several days work on the state highway last week. Another crew of men expected work this week but it was stopped. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hayek of Lincoln returned Saturday to their home after spending several days in Elyria with relatives. The pupils and teachers of the Elyria schools will enjoy a vacation on Thursday and Friday. The home talent play presented Sunday evening by the St. Mary's Dramatic and Social club was well attended and proved to be a big success. A dance was given after the play. Joe Puncochar's orchestra furnished the music.

Among these projects was the L street sewer in Ord, cost of labor for which will be about $2,500. This sum, however, includes labor cost on a city water main project also. It is proposed to issue bonds in the amount of about $3,800 to pay for materials on the L street sewer and tomorrow evening the city council, at its regular December meeting, proposes to create a sewer district, arrange for selling the bonds and take other actions to make the project legal. Since all CWA projects must be completed by Feb. 15 it is hoped that work on this sewer may be started at once. In the meantime men will work on the water main ditch. The Quiz went to press early this week because of the Thanksgiving holiday and County Engineer Ayres was still in Lincoln but according to the Omaha World Herald the state CWA board approved the following Valley county projects Tuesday. Sewer and water main extensions in Ord, $2,498; grading and filling streets in North Loup, $560; clearing, grubbing and grading on county roads in Elyria township, $504; repairing school house in Dist. 36, $104; building repair and school yard grading in Dist. 63, $96. These were all the projects taken to Lincoln by Mr. Ayres except North Loup Village projects. These were being held up, Ayres said in a telephone conversation with Alfred Weigardt Tuesday evening. Mr. Ayres planned to remain in Lincoln yesterday to try to get them approved. Last Wednesday 16 men went to work on the state highways in this county and 16 more were supposed to go to work Monday but the state patrolman in this county, R. N. McAllister, received orders Sunday to remove all of these men from work temporarily. What State Engineer Chanin is planning is not known but these 32 men will probably be put back to work before the week is over. Ign. Klima, jr., county clerk, has been appointed CWA disbursing officer in this county and men put to work under the CWA act will receive their wage checks from him. Alfred Weigardt was named as his assistant.

Our county is fortunate to be included in the corn surplus area. The government loans of 45 cents a bushel will be a great help to farmers who need cash now. Every farmer could wisely make application for the corn loan. It assures him of 45 cents a bushel or more. If corn should remain lower in price, the government will stand the loss. If corn goes up, the farmer can pay off the loan at any time and pocket the difference. County Agent C. C. Dale states that he will have contract blanks on hand in about a week. He adds that the farmers should first apply to C. J. Mortensen for bin or warehouse inspection. Mr. Mortensen represents the State Railway commission. Farmers who wish to get loans will probably have to house their corn in good cribs instead of throwing it on piles. They will be charged 4 percent interest on the loans. They will be out the inspection and sealing charges which Nebraska Farm Storage Act No. 273 sets at 1/2 cent a bushel. Loans will be made only on a farmer's own crop, and not on any bought for speculation. If the farmer gets a loan and then finds that he needs a few extra loads for feed, he must buy at the 45 cent figure from another corn-hog contract signer. Farmers cannot get the 45 cent loans unless they become corn-hog contract signers, agreeing to cut acreage. But they can get in on the acreage cutting proposition without taking loans. The two should not be mixed up. One is a loan of this year's crop which must be paid back with interest. The other is an outright grant to be given on the next crop as a reward for lowering the corn-hog surplus. Some of the latter will be paid by next January or February. To the farmer who cannot, for some reason, get the 45 cent loan, there is consolation in the chance that short crops, acreage reduction sign-ups, and the other loans may raise all corn prices to 45 cents anyway.

Mauer is now engaged in evangelistic work. Mamie J. Young, Pastor. Christian Church. "God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-lesson in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, Dec. 3. "The Golden Text is from Isaiah 43:15: "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King." A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-lesson is from Nehemiah 9:6: "Thou hast made all things that are therein, the seas, and all that is therein, and thou preservest them all; and the host of heaven worshippeth thee." A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the highest ideas are the sons and daughters of God." (pages 502-3). Full Gospel Church. A revival campaign will open Wednesday, Dec. 6th, and continue indefinitely with Evangelist Lester H. Sheets and wife of Scottsbluff, Neb. Evangelist Sheets is a young man of experience with a message to interest all, also a message in song and instrumentally which you will enjoy, also receiving spiritual good. I have received a report of his present campaign which has been one of victory over the enemies' forces. I trust God will make this a time of faith building in the hearts of we inhabitants of this city. Let us therefore respond to the commission of Jude the brother of James in the Book of Jude, the third verse: "It was needful for me to write unto you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." Week night services 7:45, Sunday night 7:30. We also welcome you to our Sunday school which has recently set a new record attendance of 115. Come to the little church with a big welcome. W. M. Lemar, Pastor. Methodist Church. Services next Sunday: 10 a. m. Sunday school. 11 a. m. We Are Thankful... Not alone for material benefits, but for a definite feeling of spiritual benefit that is being shared by all. A stronger feeling of national unity has been born of the struggle, which, coupled with the abolition of child labor, unfair competition, sweat shop methods and other evils, gives our industrial customers more reason to be thankful than they have had in many years. And our agricultural customers have reason to be thankful, too, for the administration is acting with rapidity to get under way measures that are bound to make farming and stock feeding more profitable in the long run. Today we are thankful, for true worth is again becoming a measurement of value. Nebraska State Bank of lowering prices, while we farmers are supposed to go right on raising bumper crops and adding to the surplus, and cut prices. Secretary Wallace is putting the farm on a business basis like the industrial east. When the south raised...

When it comes to foreclosures I am a radical. Save our chattels and homes at any cost. Our lawyers should refuse to take any foreclosure, our clerks of the district court should refuse to have anything to do with a mortgage foreclosure and our county sheriff should refuse to sell out his neighbor and the ones that elected him to office, until the farmer has a chance, and if they are put out of office for being human and refusing to ruin their neighbors, why, we should elect them back to the office again.

the government can't do it all. And one way to help is to join the Holiday association, stick for the farmers' interest, elect intelligent farmers to our law making bodies, raise less crops and more h. l. and we will get out of this depression with that little patch of soil and a shingle roof over our heads.

By ERNEST S. COATS, Vinton Farmer. P. S. Ole Nelson, one of our delegates to the farmers conference at Chicago brings back this story. I asked him how they used them in the Windy City. He said, fine, even the racketeers advertised a 4-day holiday while they were there, as they did not care to frighten the farmers while there as they know the farmers are the suckers that make the millionaires that the racketeers make their money off of. True enough no one was kidnapped or taken for a ride while they were there.

Samuel Thompson Ninety Years Old

The above is an excellent likeness of Samuel Thompson who yesterday quietly celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday at his home on South Lafayette street. Relatives and friends gathered at the home Sunday extending congratulations and best wishes.

Mr. Thompson enjoys good health and reads extensively. He has been through the times and discusses with remarkable aptitude the rather complex economic problems existing today. All his life he has been active in the affairs of the community in which he resided. He has always been a staunch Republican and cast his first vote for president for Abraham Lincoln.

Born near Astoria, Fulton county, on Nov. 6, 1843, the son of John and Kathryn Thompson, he grew to manhood and enlisted in the cause of the Civil war on the Union side when slightly more than eighteen years of age. He was a member of Co. H, Illinois Volunteers. Three months later he was in his first battle at Perryville, Ky. He served until the close of the war, participating in all of the battles his regiment was in, was with General George H. Thomas at Chickamauga; Grant at Lookout Mountain and Sherman on the famous "March to the Sea" campaign. He was mustered out on June 21, 1865, following the historic parade down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, D. C., witnessed by President Lincoln and his cabinet.

Mr. Thompson then returned to his home in Astoria where he took up farming. On the 21st of June, 1866, he was united in marriage to Harriet Dark. To this union were born ten children, eight of whom are still living. Mrs. Thompson died March 19, 1923, at their home on West Jackson street. In an early day in a covered wagon they journeyed west, first locating in eastern Nebraska and later farther west in Valley county where they resided a number of years. In 1893 they moved to Lamar, Mo., and in December, 1902, moved to Macomb where they built a residence property at 531 West Jackson street. Since the death of his wife he has made his home with the family of his son, S. A. Thompson, of 312 South Lafayette street.

Mr. Thompson is one of three old soldiers residing in Macomb. He is quite active and often goes out town. He attributes his ability to keep his health to light eating and regular hours of sleep of which he has always been an advocate. During his thirty years of residence in Macomb he has enjoyed a wide acquaintanceship and having always followed the precepts of the Golden Rule, he held the absolute respect of all. While his cycle of life is complete and he has followed many of his old comrades to their last resting place, he accepts the philosophy of life with that fortitude born of a life well lived.—Macomb, Ill., Daily Journal.

Mr. Thompson is the father of Mrs. Wm. Vogeler, of North Loup.

ORD SCHOOL NOTES.

Opening of the school year has passed now, though it seems only a short time, since school opened. The Loup Valley high school association will meet in Loup City Dec. 16, to hold election of officers, arrange the basketball schedule, plan for the music festival, and probably decide the football schedules for the various towns concerned for next fall.

It now appears that Ord will play football against exactly the same teams next year as this, but very likely the dates will be exactly reversed. . . . teams which have played on the Ord field this year will be met on their home grounds, etc.

The Thanksgiving programs were held Wednesday. At the grade school a goodly number attended the afternoon program, and last evening the high school program was given in the auditorium at 7:30. Mrs. Stark and Miss Hans were in charge of the two.

Schools visited by the normal trainers included Olean, taught by Miss Eberhart, District 31, taught by Lillian Vodehall, District 4, taught by Helen Ignowski, and Vinton school, instructed by Miss Oletha Williams. Each school was visited by two groups of students Thursday.

Superintendent Bell is re-cataloging the high school library, using the Dewey decimal system of cross-reference, which is practically standard in this country. The general library has been completed, and Mr. Bell is now starting work on the departmental libraries, which must be both classified and catalogued. An average of about six cards was used for each book.

First Balloon Ascensions. On October 15, 1783, Jean Francois Pilatre de Rozier made the first ascension in a tied balloon. On November 21, 1783, De Rozier and the Marquis d'Arlandes first trusted themselves to a free balloon. On December 1, 1783, J. A. Charles ascended in a balloon filled with hydrogen gas. The previous ones were filled with heated air. Within the next ten years several ascents were made in France and England.
