ICKES HOLDING NORTH LOUP HEARING

READY TO MAKE EAR CORN LOANS, SAYS MORTENSEN

Application Blanks Here And Farmers Can Get 45c Per Bu. Loans in Record Time.

Application blanks and all instructions for making government loans on ear corn stored on the farm have now been received, it was announced yesterday by C. J. Mortensen, inspector for Valley county, and he is now ready to take applications and inspect corn on which farmers want loans.

Tuesday Mr. Mortensen drove to Hastings and attended a meeting at which Railway Commissioner Hugh Drake presided, at which time he received complete information and authority to go ahead and make inspections.

A meeting of farmers interested in getting corn loans will be held at the district court room at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening, Mortensen says, and the loan plan will be explained in detail by County Agent C. C. Dale and himself.

The Ord banker issues the following statement in regard to the loans, which may give farmers all the information they will require:

"Those desiring loans on the basis of 45c per bushel for stored ear corn on farms should get in touch with Mr. Dale, the county agent, or the undersigned inspector, and make out the application form of the state railway commission called Form PS-1. This will give the approximate number of bushels of corn, the type of crib, encumbrances on the corn if any, and location of the corn crib or cribs if more than one. All corn to be on the one application blank. Then the undersigned inspector when this is completed will inspect the corn on the premises, determining the number of bushels and the grade of the corn. The inspector makes out the Farm Storage Report form PS-4 showing the exact number of bushels as determined on the basis of 2 1/2 cubic feet per bushel of corn, and in the case of round cribs on the basis of the square of the circumference times the height divided by 32, and that the crib has been sealed with the number of the seal and a statement to show that the warning signs have been placed on the crib. This report must also be signed by the wife in case the corn is owned by a married man. This is then sent to the railway commission's office in Lincoln and they will promptly issue the warehouse receipt in duplicate and return the same. One copy of this is filed with the county clerk, and the original is used as the basis of the loan. This receipt when used must also be assigned to the holder of the note against this warehouse receipt.

"This original warehouse receipt then forms the basis of the loan against the corn for 45c per bushel.

1.31 Inch Rain Fell.

The long drouth was broken Thursday evening when a slow drizzle of rain began to fall, continuing throughout the night and most of Friday. The total, according to Horace Travis, was 1.31 inches. It was the first moisture of any consequence that has fallen here since early September.

Ord Attorneys In Greeley School Case

Joseph H. Horner, one of the principals in the well known Greeley vs. My school case, was an Ord resident Monday and has employed Davis & Vogelzang to assist him in gaining possession of the District 65 school, which he was employed to teach, but which the former teacher, Miss Muriel Wonders, refused to give up to him. In this case H. F. Walling, treasurer of the district, and Henry Zimmerman, director, discharged Miss Wonders and employed Horner. Miss Wonders, however, procured from County Judge Scott an injunction preventing Horner from teaching at the school and has continued teaching. The case will be tried in district court at Greeley.

State Takes Over Highway No. 57

Arcadia, Dec. 5.—(Special)—The state highway department has taken over Highway No. 57 from Arcadia to Broken Bow and stop signs and markers were placed on the streets last week. The road west of Arcadia is being repaired at present and new culverts are being built. This highway is graveled from Ord to Arcadia and it is hoped that gravel will be placed on the balance of the road to Broken Bow soon.

60 WORKING ON CWA PROJECTS IN THIS COUNTY

County and City Projects Give Employment; Highway Jobs To Finish County Quota.

That approximately sixty men are working in Valley county as the result of the Civil Works Administration was the statement made Monday by R. C. Ayres, county engineer. These men are working 30 hours each per week and will be given work for three months. The maximum wage each may draw during this period is $100.

Valley county's CWA quota is 96 and will be completed when Ord's sewer project and several small state highway projects get under way, Mr. Ayres says.

Local projects approved at Lincoln last week by the CWA board include $2,498 for the L street sewer in Ord, in connection with which is a certain amount of water main extension, a $560 road grading project in North Loup, a $1,018 street grading project in Arcadia, 4 miles of grading, grubbing and clearing on county roads east of Ord, cost $1,400, 1-2 mile of grading west of Arcadia, cost $990, some clearing, grubbing and grading in Elyria township, cost $504, and painting on school houses in Dist. 36 and 63, cost $200.

Three other CWA projects at North Loup were rejected by the state board, which said that North Loup is entitled to only $600 by its relief roll and the $560 road grading project approved previously would be the only North Loup project approved. This decision is being protested by North Loup people, who feel that they are meeting with discrimination.

The total of Valley county projects authorized is $7,170 and the balance of this county's $9,600 appropriation will be used on city, highway work within the county. It was stated by the C. W. A. board composed of Rowland Haynes, Wm. Smith and Roy Cochran.

Work started Monday on water main extensions in Ord and it is thought that as soon as this work is completed work can start on the L street sewer, which is held up for the present by legal technicalities relating to issuance of bonds and advertisement for materials.

The Ord city council and Ralph W. Norman, city attorney, are acting with all possible speed to get these legal difficulties out of the way. Mr. Ayres has prepared plans for the sewer system and it is hoped that work can be started before Christmas.

FARM HOLIDAY MEMBERS HEAR NRA DENOUNCED

Frank Carkoski Expresses Farm Sentiment on Recovery Act; Almost 200 Are Present.

A bitter denunciation of the NRA was voiced by Frank S. Carkoski Tuesday in the course of a talk before the Valley County Farm Holiday association, meeting in the district court room in Ord. Almost 200 interested farmers were present.

Mr. Carkoski, who was a Valley county delegate to the second national farmers' relief conference held recently in Chicago, called the NRA eagle a buzzard and expressed the belief that it was tearing at the vitals of the down-trodden farmer.

He pictured the National Recovery Act as a program formulated by manufacturers to raise the price of their products and said that farmers are being forced by it to pay more for everything they buy without any tangible benefits.

Mr. Carkoski also spoke with disapproval of the government's crop reduction program, telling graphically of the starving thousands that he saw in Chicago and other eastern cities.

His talk as it related to the NRA apparently expressed the opinion of most farmers present but many voices were raised in support of crop reduction.

The other principal speaker was Ole Nelson, who also represented the local association at Chicago. Mr. Nelson told about the trip east in a caravan of trucks and cars containing delegates from every western state. Almost 700 delegates attended the conference, Mr. Nelson said.

A program of demands ranging from cancellation of debts, abolition of interest on government loans to farmers and cash relief to suffering farmers and laborers, all the way to stringent reduction of taxes paid by the poor and huge increases in taxes paid by banks, railroads, insurance companies and corporations was formulated at the conference and was read by Mr. Nelson.

Some discussion was held relative to corn loans and the corn-hog program but the association refused to go on record as either favoring them or being against them.

President Arthur Mensing presided and suggested that the Farm Holiday association interest itself in bringing about reduction of local taxes. Upon motion by Mr. Carkoski, it was decided to consider this question in detail at the January meeting, at which time the annual election of officers will be held.

Epworth League At No. Loup Banquets

North Loup, Dec. 6.—(Special)—Fifty-five covers were laid at a banquet held by the Epworth league in the Methodist church basement, the affair being given to honor parents of leaguers. Fathers were the guests of girl members, boys invited their mothers. The basement was decorated in a Thanksgiving motif and cleverly designed turkeys were used as place cards. After the dinner Eula Shinemann extended the league's greeting to its guests, after which Birdine Ingerson read the 100th Psalm and Rev. W. H. Stephens gave the benediction. The program closed with a solo by Lorna Mae Shinemann.

Ord's Streets And Stores Donning Xmas Garb

The City of Ord is donning Christmas garb this week, not only the stores being decorated in holiday colors but the streets as well.

Four fifteen-foot fir trees from Jones Canyon have been erected on the square, one at each corner of the court house yard, and these were being decorated with colored lights andinsel ornaments yesterday by George Allen and his assistants. Strings of colored lights will criss-cross each corner of the square and other city decorations are planned.

Every Ord store is decorated in holiday fashion, some of the decorations being most elaborate.

A visit to Ord in the evening will be worthwhile during the holiday season.

Fighting for $2,900,000 North Loup Project!

ENGINEER E. H. DUNMIRE.

Mr. Dunmire, a member of the engineering staff of the firm of Black & Veatch, Kansas City, Mo., not only was in charge of field work in connection with the project but has also represented it at Washington, D. C., since early November. So wholeheartedly do Black & Veatch believe in this project that they have spent almost $10,000 of their own money, besides the money paid them by the district, for engineering work and in trying to get the project approved at Washington. Win or lose, people of the North Loup valley owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Dunmire and his firm.

District Governor And Loup Citizens Guests of Rotarians

Hugh Butler, of Omaha, governor of the 19th district of Rotary International, and 12 members of the Loup City Rotary club were guests of Ord Rotarians at a dinner served Tuesday evening in Thorne's cafe.

The program consisted of vocal solos by Miss Galloway of Loup City and Miss Partridge of Ord and violin solos by Orville Sowl, after which Mr. Butler made a talk and showed motion pictures of a canoe trip through the Canadian wilds.

The evening was greatly enjoyed by Ord Rotarians and their guests.

C. of C. Will Try To Land Airport

A move to have a federal airport located in Ord was started Monday evening by the Ord Chamber of Commerce and already plans for the field have been sent to Governor Chas. W. Bryan, who will transmit them to federal officials.

From CWA funds, the government has appropriated $10,000,000 to be spent in building or improving 2,000 airports throughout the country. This money is divided among the states according to their population.

To secure a federal airport the local community must buy or lease a suitable field, which is then improved with CWA money. It is estimated that an average of $5,000 will be spent in improving or building these airports.

Monday evening Chamber of Commerce directors designated R. C. Ayres to draw plans for an airport to be located on the C. J. Mortensen pasture north of Ord, which has long been used as a landing field by transient planes. A month's option on this field has been secured.

The plans were transmitted to Governor Bryan yesterday and it is thought that we will know soon whether or not funds have been allotted to Ord. Several other Nebraska communities are said to be planning airports under the CWA act.

VERDICT TODAY VERY POSSIBLE, SAYS DUNMIRE

Secretary Ickes and Board Of Review Will Decide Fate Of North Loup Project.

Yesterday at Washington, D. C. the final hearing on the North Loup valley's $2,900,000 power and irrigation project was in progress and it will be continued today, with a verdict promised very shortly.

The hearing was called Tuesday by Secretary of the Interior Ickes and was held before the technical board of review, with Secretary Ickes presiding.

George W. Norris, Nebraska's senior senator, conducted the presentation of the North Loup project's case, upon invitation of Secretary Ickes.

Two weeks ago the project was approved as to legal, financial and engineering details by army officers in charge of PWA projects but was objected to by Colonel Henry M. Waite, deputy PWA administrator on the grounds that it brings new land under irrigation, thus tending to increase crop surpluses, and that there is no ready sale for the enormous amount of power that would be created.

Immediately upon hearing of this verdict Senator Norris precipitated himself into the fight, calling Col. Waite's objections "silly" and a violation of precedent, inasmuch as his department had approved the Sutherland and Columbus projects, to which such objections would apply in equal measure.

Senator Norris wrote a long letter to his personal friend, Secretary Ickes, arguing that the North Loup project be approved.

Last week Engineer E. H. Dunmire, who has been in Washington since early November, was informed that the project's approval or rejection hinged entirely upon the administration's policy and was told that President Roosevelt would be asked to define this policy as a guide to the Public Works Administration.

Tuesday Secretary Ickes called for a review of the project, which was regarded by local officials as a sign that the administration had ruled favorably on such projects as the North Loup.

This hearing was set for yesterday and began about 9:00 a. m., eastern time. It was in progress throughout most of the day.

A wire from Engineer Dunmire was received early yesterday by Secretary Jos. P. Barta, apprising local people that the hearing was in progress. Later in the morning came a long distance telephone call, asking Secretary Barta to procure from George Allen, city electric manager, certain figures pertaining to electric rates in Ord and near-by cities and telephone them to him.

Allen began compiling these figures at once and later in the afternoon Dunmire called again, stating that the hearing had adjourned until this morning and urging that the figures be telephoned to him within four hours, so that he could work them over for presentation before the review board this morning.

"Everything looks rosy," Dunmire told Mr. Allen. He said that a verdict today is very probable. While this hearing was in progress at Washington, another hearing was being held at Lincoln by the department of roads and irrigation to allocate Loup valley waters among the Middle Loup, North Loup and Columbus projects. It was attended by President Hardenbrook, who expected when he left Ord to ask State Engineer Cochran that the hearing be postponed, insofar as it relates to the North Loup, until Mr. Dunmire's return from Washington. Mr. Cochran had previously promised that he would grant such a postponement but was anxious to get the hearing out of the way with relation to the Columbus and Middle Loup projects, both having requested early action.

There is plenty of water for all, engineers have repeatedly said, and no difficulty is expected when it comes to allocation of water for the three projects.

Meese Children Hit By J. Miller Auto

Lorene and Bobby, children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meese, were struck by an automobile driven by John Miller Monday, just as they were turning out of the road to enter a path that leads to Elm Creek schoolhouse. Both children were badly bruised but the girl was hurt much worse than her brother. It was feared for a time that her injuries would prove serious but she is recovering, although still confined to bed.

The accident was unavoidable, Mr. Meese states, and no blame attaches to Mr. Miller.

Has BB Gun Accident.

Jack Janssen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Janssen, was hurt with an air rifle Sunday. He was sure the gun wasn't loaded but when he put the muzzle in his mouth and blew into the barrel he learned that it was. The BB knocked out one tooth and broke off two others. Had the shot struck his throat instead of his teeth the injuries would have been more serious.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Alexander Legge is dead in Chicago at 67 years. Forty years ago Alex Legge, as we all called him, was a collector for the International Harvester Company, among the farmers around Ord and in other parts of Nebraska. He was well known by a good many who will read this item. He went far in a business way, finally becoming the first chairman of the Hoover wheat board.

A lot of stand pat republicans who have never before had a good word for Al Smith, think he is hot stuff since he has taken sides against Roosevelt. There is an old saying that "politics make strange bedfellows" and I think it is true.

An eastern senator wants an anti-lynching law passed as soon as congress meets. If congress will just do something to insure the prompt trial and punishment of confessed criminals the lynching trouble will take care of itself. The people are sick and tired of seeing months and often years of delay with almost unlimited expense, in criminal cases.

When Governor Bryan again becomes the standard bearer of the democrat party in this state next year the World-Herald is going to have a bitter pill to swallow. And all the signs indicate that Bryan intends to run for governor again.

An Ord man complains to me bitterly because his neighbor always "borrows" the Quiz before he who pays for it, has a chance to read it. This man says his neighbor has plenty of nerve. Sure brother, your neighbor owes me for several years and is only borrowing your paper because I refuse to send it to him longer on promises.

I want Marion J. Cushing to run for some state office this year. He would make us a mighty good congressman. He also has the ability to be governor of Nebraska. Perhaps we should elect him as lieutenant governor and let him grow into the higher office. I am surprised that the farmer organizations in this county, have not taken some action to insure his getting into the political game again.

I was always glad to send the Quiz to everyone who wanted it and trust them to pay me and I am sure most of them intended to pay me, too, but they were dilatory about doing it and I was careless about collecting, conditions changed as the subscription bills grew and the first both I and the subscribers knew, the account was so large that the subscriber couldn't pay up. Many managed to do so last year at a half rate for several years, which was manifestly unfair to all who had paid the full price always. Conditions are such now, that I cannot continue to send the paper without pay if I would. I have got to have the subscription money to buy white paper with. There is not enough advertising money to do it any longer. So, if your paper don't come you will know what has happened and if you want the paper send along something to apply on account. It makes me extra work to have it paid in small installments but I would rather do the extra work than to deprive you of the paper. It is just as much work to write a receipt, make the cash book entry and the subscription card entry for 25c or 50c as it is to have you pay in the small amounts it makes me 8 times or 4 times as much work as if you paid it all at once. But that doesn't matter. I generally do it in the evening and overtime doesn't matter for the N.R.A. does not apply to the boss. But don't get mad if your paper doesn't come.

I was talking with one of the federal game wardens out at Oshkosh recently, about ways to increase the duck crop. He said he was driving near Haverhill just before noon one day last June and saw a crow fly up with an egg. He got out to investigate and found a pheasant nest with 12 eggs left in it. He came back that way about 4 p. m. and again stopped to investigate and found that the crows had taken all the eggs. Investigators say that the crows do the same to the duck nests and that countless thousands of the Canada duck hatching areas in the summer and that duck eggs are destroyed by them by the million. A small federal bounty, enough to pay for ammunition, would greatly help the situation and at the same time would put a good deal of small change into circulation. I believe if Valley county sportsmen, generally, would write our senators and representatives regarding the matter, it might help as conservation legislation is all the time being considered in congress.

Someone has advised the farmers to raise less crops and more hell and I believe it is good advice. I mean by raising more hell, that the farmers pay more attention to getting the right men nominated and elected to office. If the farmers of Nebraska would work together they could control elections. That would not be true of any other class. In an almost purely agricultural state like Nebraska the farmers should have large advice in the government instead of allowing the lawyers and bankers to control legislation, as has often been the case in the past.

The interests of the industrial east and the agricultural west are so divergent that we of the west are not likely to get a fair deal because the east so greatly outvotes us. Someone suggests that the states of the west secede and form a new government. Perhaps the time will come when two governments with the Mississippi river as the dividing line will not seem such a crazy idea.

William E. Shuman, a North Platte attorney, has filed as a republican candidate for congress in this, the big 5th district and I predict that Mr. Shuman will get lots of publicity during the coming campaign, much of it not so favorable. It will be remembered that, during the last senatorial campaign one George W. Norris of Broken Bow, filed as a candidate for U. S. Senator. This Norris was just a grocery store salesman, in no way fitted by education or experience for the office he claimed to seek. At once it was suspected that it was a clever trick of the stand-pat element in the republican party, to defeat Senator George W. Norris for the nomination and subsequent developments proved that such was the case. As developed in a long court fight, it was shown to be one of the most contemptible political tricks ever tried anywhere, the Broken Bow Norris fled the state, numerous prominent republicans lost all their political standing and some lost lucrative positions. Mr. Wm. Shuman was attorney for Broken Bow Norris and presumably was in on the arrangements for his filing. I wonder if the people of this district would want such a man for their congressman.

Something DIFFERENT

The front window at the J. W. McGinnis home, as is often the case in the fall of the year, again is beautiful because of the big chrysanthemum blooming there, exhibiting a number of large yellow flowers to the world.

In the front yard at McGinnis', each bush is neatly squared off from its neighbor with a row of small cobblestones, and the effect is very neat, too. The place looks very slick and well cared for. This is an ambitious family. The children work eagerly at whatever is handy, as soon as they are big enough, and do a good, thorough job of it, too. If it is carrying papers, they do it with a grin, and seem to get as much fun out of that as idle children do from their play. The habits of industry seem to cling to the younger McGinnis', too. Kenneth, now in the University of Nebraska, went down to Lincoln and got a job when there were none to be had . . . so everyone said. A good job he got, and is making good at it, too.

That George Parkins is just a glutton for scandal, I guess when I go to collect from him on the first of the month, he always inquires "What's the latest scandal?", and is so disappointed when I can't retail any. He thinks this is a strictly scandalous column, too. You know he and his wife got into a nearly-scandalous argument once about this column. He thought I was trying to be a second Walter Winchell, but Mrs. Parkins stoutly upheld me, and declared it was much more like O. O. McIntyre. And I was flattered when they thought it worth arguing over . . .

I will be Walter Winchellish today, though. And tell you about the lady who adopted a baby, thereby making a neighbor good and mad, too. It seems only a few days previous the neighbor had worried over the other lady "carrying such heavy loads up and downstairs." Do you get that one?

Then I can give you more spicy conversation material. The very jolliest, best natured gal in this town was alone for an evening and had retired. Reckoning entirely without practical-joking friends.

The husband returned home, not too late, coming in the back door. As he came in the back way, one of the jokers hastily "snuck" in the front way and jumped into bed with the wife. Imagine her surprise to awaken to find her husband on the part of her husband, and see the manish head of the jokers, peering on the pillow beside her. Luckily, this husband is also good natured, and the other fellows, after much kidding of the husband, got out of their joke without any shot in their hides.

Everywhere you listen, the conversation is "What about the irrigation? Are we going to get it?" Farmers who come in town holler out, "Well, I haven't heard all those whistles blowing yet."

Snails Are Liked in Paris The French consider snails one of the most delectable of dishes. Paris alone consumes about a ton of snails a day in season.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Many unusual meat concoctions are made and liked in our community, and are as delicious as they are varied. Perhaps you would like to try your luck at making some of them. Or maybe you have some dandy recipes for cured meats, smoked meats, that you are willing to share.

Bohemian Summer Sausage. Mix two gallons ground pork with one gallon of ground beef, one-half cup sugar, one cup salt, three tablespoons pepper, (half white and half black) one heaping teaspoon ginger, two or three tablespoons ground caraway seed, two tablespoons marjoram, one heaping tablespoon of whole juniper berries, one cup wine, and five or six garlic buttons which have been pulverized with two tablespoons of the salt. Add two or three quarts of meat stock or water. Mix very thoroughly, let stand a day. Then stuff in casings and smoke. Dip in milk and flour and brown. Or boil gently five minutes in water and hang up to dry.

Mrs. Anton Capek. Ham and Macaroni. Combine two cups chopped ham, two cups cooked macaroni, one-half teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, two tablespoons of parsley, cut fine and two tablespoons of chopped onions with one-half cup chopped celery. Beat one egg, add one cup milk, pour over the first mixture and bake in a buttered baking dish, for 35 minutes.

Mrs. H. T. Walkemeyer. Johnny Cake. Mix one egg, one and one-half cups sour milk, one cup of cornmeal, one cup flour, one-half cup sugar, a pinch of salt, a piece of butter the size of an egg, one and one-half teaspoons soda. If sour cream is used instead of milk the butter may be omitted. Regina Dobrovsky, Ord.

Oatmeal Coconut Cookies.

One cup melted butter or substitute, two cups brown sugar, two well beaten eggs, a pinch of salt, one cup coconut, one teaspoon soda, four cups fine oatmeal, one and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder. Mix in the order given, drop on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven fifteen minutes. This makes three dozen medium sized cookies.

Mrs. L. H. Whitford. Sauerkraut en Casserole. In a buttered baking dish, alternate layers of sauerkraut and cooked noodles until the dish is full. Top with a thick layer of ground pork sausage seasoned to taste. Bake in a slow oven until well done.

Mrs. John Klein. Angel Delight. Mix well nine tablespoons of crackers, coarsely broken, two teaspoons baking powder, two cups sugar, one pound of walnuts coarsely broken, one-half pound chopped dates, six stiffly beaten egg whites. Line a shallow pan with waxed paper. Spread the mixture so it is about an inch in thickness. Bake until brown in a moderate oven. Serve with whipped cream.

Mrs. Emily Hans.

On every side people are asking "What is the nature of these night schools?" "Are they practical?" "Will the results justify the expenditure?" These questions invariably arise and rightly so. The various courses at the Ord high school will probably be based on a plan similar to the one used by our agricultural evening schools. Meetings will be held one night a week for ten weeks. Each session will last about an hour. A small enrollment fee may be charged to cover the cost of lights and water.

The theory that "you can't teach an old dog new tricks" has been exploded. It is now a recognized fact that grown folks can learn more easily than children. The best time to learn anything is when it is needed. Education should not begin or end with school days, but should continue throughout the years of maturity. Adult education is not preparation for life; adult education is life. It is not tied to text-books, grades, or graduations.

BACK FORTY

By J. L. COVAND

Evening class instruction is a factor in lowering the per capita cost of instruction. The greater the enrollment in schools the greater is the spread of instructional costs. The greater also is the service rendered by the school to the community.

Evening classes bring taxpayers into direct contact with the school system. If the taxpayers profit by the instruction they will think less antagonistically about school taxes. There is a tendency to criticize the things which we know the least about.

It is said that society will be improved, not so much by educating children as by educating adults. A clue to the process may be cited in Denmark. There education has made over the social order of the countryside and village in less than a century, but it was not the education of children that turned the trick. A miracle was achieved and it is supported by educating folks from 18 upwards.

These folks are young enough to want to learn, yet old enough to defend their new ideas against the drift of tradition.

Ailments That Get Majority According to health statistics, neuritis, lumbago, sciatica and similar illnesses incapacitate more men and women for their daily work than any other ailments.

It's Expected of Papers.

(Advance Weekly Press, Springfield, Minn.) What do you expect from your weekly newspaper? Well, you expect more from your newspaper than you do from any other person or institution to which you pay the sum of $2 a year.

You expect your newspaper to give you all the news for 52 weeks. That's why you pay $2 for it, but— You expect your newspaper to expose graft in public affairs, to forestall it by publishing itemized accounts of all public moneys spent.

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of morality, supporting things that are right and condemning things that are wrong.

You expect your newspaper to maintain a high standard of enterprise, devoting column after column to propaganda, supporting the band, the baseball team, community celebrations, Boy Scouts, high school athletics, school programs, home talent plays and dozens of such causes and events.

You expect your paper to boost for good roads and protect your community's claim for its share of road improvements. You expect your newspaper to build up confidence in your home financial institutions and protect home investors from making unwise investments of surplus funds, warning against fake salesmen and other financial pirates.

You expect your newspaper to give notice of all public meetings, public observances, conventions, etc.

You expect your newspaper to urge support of poor relief benefits, library drives, Red Cross drives, Christmas seal drives, legion and auxiliary drives, poppy sales, forget-me-not sales, have a heart drives, etc.

You expect your newspaper to publish church notices, church programs, club news, farm bureau information, demonstration unit news, market news, weather news, bring you the market reports and cover all doings of the many semi-public organizations.

And you expect all this for $2 a year. No, it can't be done for that. The money you as a subscriber pay for this paper covers less than one-fourth the cost of publishing the paper. The other three-fourths must be paid by advertisers.

Since the advertisers pay a large share of the expense of publishing your newspaper, don't you think you owe them the duty to patronize them whenever they offer you equal or better values than non-advertisers?

And you, Mr. Advertiser, don't you think that in view of the many services which the newspaper performs, for which the newspaper derives no compensation, but which mean more business and more profits to you, the newspaper deserves your advertising and printing business? Make your community newspaper your advertising and printing medium and you help build up the community. Send your advertising dollar away from home and you do just what you wouldn't want others to do to whom you look for your business. It is just as important that the advertising dollar remain in the community as it is for the grocery dollar and the clothing dollar and the rest of the commodity dollars that make your town prosperous to remain at home.

"Everyone is co-operating on these loans and will do everything possible to get them through rapidly. There may be a few unavoidable delays at first until the machinery is running in good shape, but the county agent and I will put forth every effort to get the loans allowed rapidly. Hugh Drake is the member of the railway commission in personal charge of this work, and he has given me the assurance that that efficient branch of our state government will execute the warehouse receipts just as fast as they can be checked."

ORD'S FOOTBALL SEASON CLOSURES WITH 13-12 WIN

Chanticleers Defeat Loup City On Turkey Day; 15 Boys Win Honorary "O".

By the narrow margin of a goal after touchdown, the Ord high school Chanticleers ended their 1933 football season with a win over Loup City in a game played on the Bussell park gridiron on Turkey day. The score was 13 to 12.

Ord's record for the season now stands at two victories, one tie and six defeats. The home team defeated Loup City and North Loup, tied Burwell and lost to St. Paul, Scotia, Ansley, Ravenna, Arcadia and Broken Bow.

Fifteen boys will be awarded football letters at Recognition night next spring, Coach Cecil Molzen announced Monday. To win such a letter each of the boys had to play an average of one-fourth of each of Ord high school's nine games.

Letters will be given to Michels, Boquet, Zulkoski, Wilson, Marks, Rowbal, Furtak, Milliken, Clements, Nelsen, Severson, Great-house, Steinwort, Tunncliff and Keep, the coach said.

Waterfowl Season Closes. Last Thursday brought to a close Nebraska's 60 day open season on wild ducks and geese and for at least another ten months nimrods of Ord will have to find enjoyment in other branches of sport.

The season this year was very disappointing to North Loup river hunters, only a couple of days during the season furnishing good sport. Both ducks and geese were plentiful in the corn fields of the North Platte valley throughout November but elsewhere in Nebraska the birds were few and wary. It is freely predicted that there will be no open season next year, or that the season may again be curtailed to 30 days.

A heart attack brought death last week to Alexander Legge, 47 year-old president of the International Harvester company and former chairman of the federal farm board.

Alexander Legge Dies in Chicago

As a young man Legge was well known in Ord, having charge of collections for the harvester company in this part of Nebraska. His wife was an Ord woman, Miss Kate McMahon, a sister of Mrs. Ed Coffin. Miss McMahon lived with her sister in the house now owned by C. J. Mortensen. She was first wed to an Ord man, Tom Hall, and after being divorced from him became the wife of Legge. She died about ten years ago and her husband erected a memorial to her at Hinsdale, Ill., the suburb of Chicago where the Legge family resided.

Mr. Legge's rise to wealth was meteoric. In 1891 he was a poor farm hand but he took a job as collector for the harvester company in Nebraska and later was sales manager in this state. Then he was appointed assistant general manager and vice president. In 1922 he was made president of the company.

In 1929 Legge was named chairman of President Hoover's farm board and held the position two years.

"The note draws 4 per cent interest from date to August 1, 1934, and can be made payable to your local bank who will be in a position to give credit on the same in a few days after it is executed, for the first ones. But after the machinery is working the banks will be able to give immediate credit on these notes. In this way it will be only a few days after the inspection is made before the corn producer will have the use of the funds represented by the loan.

"There is a loan agreement in the note form which sets out the number of warehouse receipts as issued by the state railway commission, grade of corn, and is also signed by the inspector.

"All original producers of corn are eligible for this loan, which includes landowners, landlords and tenants. In the case of tenants it must be ascertained the expiration of the lease on the land that he farms and if this is prior to Oct. 1, 1934, then the landowner must execute his consent for the storage of corn free of charge to Oct. 15, 1934. This loan can be made only on ear corn, and no provision has been made for loans on shelled corn at the present time. The corn crib must have a waterproof roof to keep out the snow and rain, and must have a floor and sides. Also corn in well built slat or wire cribs will be accepted if there is floor and it is covered with boards or some other material that will protect the corn from rain and snow. No corn piled on the ground can be accepted.

"If the producer complies with the terms of the loan agreement he will not be personally liable for any deficiency upon the sale of the pledged corn. There is no insurance required on the corn by the government. The producer is responsible for the definite amount of corn shown in the warehouse receipt, but in case that after August, 1934 and the government calls for delivery of the corn at the nearest market and the amount of corn, as it should, would overrun the amount called for in the loan and warehouse receipt, then this extra corn is the sole property of the producer. He can sell it for the then prevailing market price or keep it for his own use. The government wants to be perfectly fair in this and calls for delivery of only the amount of corn as shown. The producer contracts to shell and deliver the corn at the nearest market point. He also has the right, of course, to sell this corn by July 1, pay his note plus 4 per cent interest and receive the sum over his loan. In the loan agreement the producer agrees to abide by the 1934 corn-hog reduction program, which provides that such reduction shall not exceed 20 per cent on his last two years' corn acreage and 25 per cent on the average number of hogs raised for market during the last two years.

"In case there is a mortgage on the corn there must be shown a list of all lien holders and a written waiver signed by them which is a part of the loan agreement.

"The state railway commission makes a charge of 1-2c per bushel for the corn as shown in the application, which amount is to be sent in the form of a bank draft payable to the State Treasurer of the State of Nebraska. The minimum fee is $5. There will also be a 25c charge for the filing of the duplicate warehouse receipt, and the usual bank charge for the draft to the State Treasurer. This fee will have to be paid when the application and the inspector's report are sent to Lincoln.

Get A Government CORN LOAN!

Get 45c per bushel for your corn by taking advantage of the federal corn loan plan. All you need is the corn and a crib that will pass inspection. A slat or wire crib is sufficient, the government has ruled, provided it has a board floor and roof. The cost of materials for such a crib that will hold 1,000 bushels, if you buy from this yard, is very small and you can erect it yourself.

45c per bushel on 1,000 bushels of corn is $450, which is $150 more than you can get for your corn at the very best local price. Deduct the cost of the crib from your profit and you will still have $100 or more the best of it, plus a good corn crib.

Get 45c for your corn. Build a crib now!

VALLEY COUNTY TO GET $400,000 CORN-HOG MONEY

Reduction Program Most Vital To This Area Will Get Under Way soon, Dale Says.

Estimating that Valley county farmers will be paid $400,000 for their participation in the federal corn-hog reduction program, County Agent C. C. Dale Monday made public features of the program and said that it will get under way soon. Next week he will spend in Lincoln at a conference called by W. H. Brokaw, state chairman, and immediately thereafter he expects to get the program started in this county.

The corn-hog program closely resembles the wheat reduction program already under way, says Dale. County and community committees will be formed and contracts will be signed much as was done in the wheat program. Reduction of corn is on the basis of past production of the farm to be operated by the contracting farmer in 1934, regardless of whether he lived on the farm previously; adjustment of hogs, on the other hand, is based on the past hog production of the contracting farmer, irrespective of his location prior to 1934.

Farmers entering into the corn-hog program will name the land or fields they propose to take out of corn in 1934 and their benefit payments will be based upon the production history of the pieces of land named in the contract. To enter the program, the farmer must agree to reduce his corn acreage at least 20 per cent, though in some instances he may reduce the acreage as much as 30 per cent if he so desires. A corn reduction payment at the rate of 30c per bushel, less a pro rata share of local administrative expense, will be paid on the estimated yield of the contract acreage, this estimated yield to be based on the past five-year production of this acreage. One-half of this payment will be made as soon as possible after acceptance of the contract by the government; the remainder, or 15c per bushel less local expense, will be paid Nov. 15, 1934 upon sufficient evidence that terms of the contract have been fulfilled.

Hog reduction portions of the contract provide a somewhat different method of benefit payments. The contracting farmer agrees to reduce his 1934 hog crop 25 per cent from his average production of the past two years and in return will be paid $5 per head on the 75 per cent crop of hogs that he does raise and market.

Two-fifths of this benefit payment, or $2 per head on the hog allotment, will be paid immediately after the contract is accepted by the government. A second payment of $1 per head on the same basis is planned for about Nov. 15, 1934. A third payment of $2 per head, less the producer's pro rata share of local expense, will be made about Feb. 1, 1935, upon certification that the litters farrowed by the contracting producer's sows in 1934 were 25 per cent under the two-year contract average and that the number of hogs sold or to be sold from the litters is 25 per cent under the average number sold from litters in the past two years.

Landlords who rent farm land on shares will be required to sign the contract with the tenant producer. The landlord agrees not to increase in 1934 the aggregate corn acreage on all other land owned, operated or controlled by him in 1934 not under contract to increase his production of hogs in 1934 not under contract, above the respective annual averages for 1932 and 1933.

The hog plan might be illustrated with these figures: A hog grower had 120 hogs in 1932 and 80 head in 1933, an average of 100 head per year. If he will cut that number to 75 head in 1934, his benefit payments will total $5 per head on 75 head or $375. This $375 will be a certain cash return with no risk or expense involved excepting the expense of county administration, which will be low. As soon as he returns next week from Lincoln the county agent plans to call a mass meeting of all Valley county farmers who are interested in the corn-hog program and, probably with the help of state and federal experts, will explain the plan fully. The plan is very simple, both as regards corn reduction and hog reduction and County Agent Dale believes every corn and hog producer in the county should investigate it thoroughly and prepare to sign reduction contracts.

Mrs. Chalmers Naviaux and little daughter returned home last Wednesday after a few days' stay with relatives in Lexington.

Several from Loup City were in Ord Friday to attend a special meeting of the Eastern Star. Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Mary Farham accompanied the Loup City people.

Slangal Tot Burned By Boiling Water

Cecilia, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Slangal of Davis Creek, was painfully burned last Thursday morning when she overturned a kettle of boiling water upon herself.

The tot had been warming herself on the oven door of the stove and in climbing down her dress caught on the teakettle and the boiling water deluged her. One of her legs was so badly burned that when her clothing was removed the skin came off too.

She was rushed to Ord for immediate medical attendance and at last reports was resting easier, though it will be some time before she will be able to attend school again.

Merna Couple Wed Here. Miss Gertrude L. Manning and Val Thomas Delahoyde, both from Merna, were married Saturday by Judge John L. Andersen. The Valley county judge reports that so far in 1933 there have been 57 marriages performed in this county, which exceeds the number of marriages in any year since 1929. In 1930 the total was 54, in 1931 it was 55, in 1932 it was only 44 and this year Judge Andersen believes that it will be 60 or more by the end of December.

Former Ord Boy Making Good As Railroad Detective

That a former Ord young man, Frank E. Bailey, is making good as a railway detective in Kansas City is the word brought from that city last week by Eugene Leggett, who spent a couple of days there and visited both Frank and his brother, Louis D. Bailey. They are sons of H. H. Bailey, a pioneer farmer east of Ord.

Leaving here about ten years ago, Frank was employed for a time in the Sears-Robuck factory in Kansas City, and took night courses in stenography. He secured a job as stenographer with the Frisco railway and was assigned to the special investigation division, where his ability as a detective was recognized and he was appointed a special agent.

Three years ago he was made chief of detectives on the Kansas City division of the Frisco, which runs from Springfield, Mo., to Fort Scott, Kas. Seven special agents and a number of other employees work under him.

Young Bailey has had many exciting experiences including contacts with some of the most notorious criminals in the country, notably Harvey Bailey and Wilbur Underhill, one was one of the three officers who escorted Bailey to the penitentiary from which he later escaped.

Ernest Johnson Tops Omaha Hog Market

Last week Ernest Johnson, of the Davis Creek community, topped the Omaha market with a load of 70 Spotted Poland China hogs. They were sold for Johnson by Laverly Bros. and the price was $2 per head, less the producer's pro rata share of local expense, will be made about Feb. 1, 1935, upon certification that the litters farrowed by the contracting producer's sows in 1934 were 25 per cent under the two-year contract average and that the number of hogs sold or to be sold from the litters is 25 per cent under the average number sold from litters in the past two years.

Landlords who rent farm land on shares will be required to sign the contract with the tenant producer. The landlord agrees not to increase in 1934 the aggregate corn acreage on all other land owned, operated or controlled by him in 1934 not under contract to increase his production of hogs in 1934 not under contract, above the respective annual averages for 1932 and 1933.

The hog plan might be illustrated with these figures: A hog grower had 120 hogs in 1932 and 80 head in 1933, an average of 100 head per year. If he will cut that number to 75 head in 1934, his benefit payments will total $5 per head on 75 head or $375. This $375 will be a certain cash return with no risk or expense involved excepting the expense of county administration, which will be low. The plan is very simple, both as regards corn reduction and hog reduction and County Agent Dale believes every corn and hog producer in the county should investigate it thoroughly and prepare to sign reduction contracts.

Ord Schools Offer Free Xmas Programs

Patrons of the Ord schools will have an opportunity next week to witness two excellent free Christmas programs. At 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening the grade school program will be given at the high school auditorium and at the same hour Wednesday evening the high school will present Kate Douglas Wiggin's 3-act Christmas play, "The Birds' Christmas Carol." All patrons are invited to attend either or both programs.

Mrs. E. O. Carlson was hostess Monday evening to members of the O. G. E. club. Other guests were Madams Cecil Molsen, Frank Andersen, Lee Noy and Chalmers Naviaux. Miss Frances Bradt won first prize and Mrs. Frank Andersen received guest prize.

NIGHT SCHOOL TO START HERE IN EARLY JANUARY

Adults Who Expect to Enter Are Asked to Give Information; Tuition Is Free.

An adult night school offering a great variety of courses will open early in January and it is hoped that 100 or more registrations will be received, said M. D. Bell, superintendent of Ord schools yesterday. Tuition will be free, he says, and the only charge will be a registration fee of $1, part of which will be rebated to registrants if expenses do not reach this figure. "This is an attempt by the school and the community to serve its patrons more fully," says Mr. Bell. The plans are to hold a real school, where anyone may take such courses as are of actual help from instructors chosen for their ability and interest in each field. The night school will be limited to adults and all such will be welcomed regardless of their place of residence. The school is not limited to people of Ord school district.

The school will run for two weeks, one night per week. Each night session will last three hours, which session will be divided into three periods of one hour each. Thus, a person may take one, two or three subjects as he desires. The day of meeting will be determined by a vote of the students registering. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are the evenings open on the school calendar and any one of these days may be selected. Any subject will be taught if requested by ten pupils and providing that an instructor can be found. Suggested subjects, for which instructors are being sought, include typing, business English, shorthand, accounting, business arithmetic, business, men's and young men's gym classes, folk dancing, psychology, idiomatic Spanish, history, current problems, modern literature, interpretation of literature, little theatre, crop and livestock production, farm management, home management, art in the home and school, woodworking, problems in politics, contract bridge and many others.

All adults who may be interested in enrolling for one or more night courses are asked to fill out an information blank that will be found elsewhere in the paper and mail or send it to Supt. Bell. Definite announcement of days for registration and opening of school will be given later.

Divorce Suit Filed

In district court here Monday Margaret Cole Bartlett, of Arcadia, filed suit for divorce from her husband, Daniel C. Bartlett. An agreement for division of property has been made out of court and the suit alleges that Bartlett has consented to his wife having custody of their three minor children. Wm. Stewart, of Lincoln, is attorney for the plaintiff.

FIELD IS SOUGHT FOR ORD AIRPORT

Dr. Arrasmith Objects to Power Line at Mortensen Farm But Wants Ord Included.

Wanted—to lease for use as an airport, a semi-level field within 2 or 3 miles of Ord. Must be large enough so that two landing lanes 300 feet wide and 2,640 feet long may be constructed.

A classified ad similar to the above might well be inserted in the Quiz this week by the Ord Chamber of Commerce, for that organization is having difficulty in finding a field near Ord that is suitable for use as an airport. The CWA has appropriated enough money to construct 60 or 70 airports at strategic points in Nebraska and wants to spend from $5 to 7 thousand dollars in developing each, 87 1-2 per cent of funds to be spent for local labor.

The Chamber of Commerce, anxious to secure labor for local men, hopes to find a field that can be leased for a 5-year period and thus qualify for a CWA airport. Dr. W. W. Arrasmith, of Grand Island, is in charge of the program in Nebraska and last week the Ord Chamber sent plans of an airport to be located in the C. J. Mortensen pasture north of town for his consideration. This week he wired back that the Western Public Service company's high tension line along the north end of this field presented a serious hazard and urged that some other field be selected. C. O. committees are now trying to locate such a field but without success so far, due to the up-and-down construction of most land near Ord. Secretary Glen Aulsebrook will be glad to talk to anyone who can suggest a suitable field.

Martin Wiegardt, who for several weeks has been a patient in the veteran's hospital, Lincoln, is a little improved and will come home for a week's vacation at Christmas time. His brother Alfred Wiegardt will drive to Lincoln and bring him home.

Last Machinery In Ord Linotype School Shipped to Colorado

With the shipment last week of the last linotype machine that formerly belonged to the Ord Linotype School, now defunct, the last reminder of this once-promising Ord enterprise has vanished.

Started by Irl D. Tolson about 1927 the linotype school flourished until 1929, when Mr. Tolson's Ord Journal was consolidated with the Quiz, and limped along for a couple of years after until it was finally disbanded. Several students learned the linotype business in the school, however, and some of them have held good jobs ever since.

Originally there were five linotypes owned by the school but they were mortgaged to the Mergenthaler Linotype Corporation, which took possession when the school disbanded. The machines were stored in the rear of the building occupied by C. A. Hager & Company and one by one they have been sold. Two were left when Tom Ferris, a representative of the Ferris, came to Ord last week. Mr. Ferris shipped one of them to a town in western Colorado and dismantled the other, shipping usable parts to the factory and junking the rest of the machine.

REPR. CUSHING GETS 1ST CORN LOAN IN COUNTY

Ord Man's Loan Is Second Made In Entire State; Loans Available Quickly.

Unlike many governmental activities of the past few months, the corn loan program really moves rapidly, as Representative M. J. Cushing of Ord can testify.

Last Wednesday Cushing applied for a federal corn loan and the same day his corn was examined by C. J. Mortensen, inspector for Valley county. The application blank and inspector's report were mailed to the railway commission in Lincoln that afternoon and Friday Cushing received his warehouse certificate. This was given by Mr. Cushing as security for a note, which was sent to the Commodity Credit Corporation in Omaha Friday and Sunday Mr. Cushing received his money. Only five days were required to complete the entire transaction. Mr. Cushing was the first in Valley county and the second in Nebraska.

About 35 applications for loans had been filed in this county Tuesday, Inspector Mortensen reported. He had inspected 17 of them, he said, and was expecting loan money on some of them Tuesday. Applications filed to date are averaging about $535, Mortensen says. He declines to estimate the number of applications that will probably be filed in this county but says that he looks for the corn loan plan to be popular.

The government is loaning 45c per bushel on ear corn only, as was explained by Mortensen in last week's Quiz. Shelled corn is not yet eligible for loans but some hope is held out that the original regulations will be modified soon to permit loans on shelled corn.

Monday the Commodity Credit Corporation issued a new ruling which makes corn in unfloored cribs eligible for loans. "Unfloored cribs" the order said "may be made acceptable by deducting 18 inches from the height of the corn in the crib when determining the number of bushels contained therein." This modification is proving popular in this county, Mortensen said Tuesday.

Food Center Using Full Page Space In Grocery Ad

The largest amount of Quiz space that any Ord grocery store has ever used in a single issue has been purchased by the Food Center this week to advertise a sale of groceries that begins today and continues until January 1. A full page of Quiz space is being used.

Ever since Food Centers, Inc., opened a store in Ord they have used generous amounts of newspaper space and both Joe Puncocar, local manager, and Dean Gray, general manager of the company, say that it pays them dividends to do so. "Good merchandise, plus fair prices, plus Quiz advertising, have built our business in Ord," comments Mr. Gray. He says the present sale is the greatest bargain event they have ever held.

The Food Center has used large ads in the past but the ad this week is the largest it has ever published. The Quiz also was called upon to print 15,000 bills for use in other Food Center stores, which is one of the largest bill orders they have ever handled.

117 MEN PAID FROM CWA FUNDS HERE SATURDAY

Smiling Faces Seen As Workers Crowded Klima's Office; 120 Work This Week.

One hundred and seventeen men, 21 more than this county's official quota, received Civil Works Administration pay checks last Saturday, reports Ign. Klima, Jr., disbursing officer for Valley county. The total amount paid out was $999.20.

"It was surely a treat to see the men come in smiling when usually they come in sullenly and with only despair showing in their countenances," says Mr. Klima. Most of the men now employed by the CWA were formerly on the Valley county relief rolls. Pay checks distributed Saturday were in payment for work done between Dec. 1 and Dec. 7.

On the preceding Saturday, for work done between Nov. 24 and Nov. 30, Mr. Klima distributed pay checks totalling $418.80. Only 25 men were employed during this period on a few projects that got under way early. Most of the Valley county projects are now under way and it is thought that from 100 to 120 men can be employed continuously for the next two weeks, or until about Feb. 15. This county's quota is only 96 but the state committee is permitting many counties to exceed this quota slightly to make up for not being able to get all projects under way when the CWA act was first announced.

Pay checks to men working in the Ord vicinity were distributed in Mr. Klima's office Saturday afternoon and at the same time were distributed at Arcadia. Sunday afternoon Klima drove to North Loup and paid off CWA workers in that area.

Six CWA projects are now under way in Valley county, the records show. One more small project, repairing and painting Dist. 63 school, will be carried out during Christmas vacation. Projects on which men were working last week included repainting and painting on Dist. 63 school, 5 men working; clearing, grubbing and grading in Elyria township, 6 men working; clearing, grubbing and grading 4 miles of county roads, 33 men working; sewer and water main extensions in Ord, 30 men working; grading and filling Arcadia streets, 10 men working; same, 17 men working; grading and filling North Loup streets, 16 men working.

Last week Ord's quota of CWA employees worked on water main extensions but Monday part of them were shifted over to the L street sewer project and an attempt was made to get through the surface of the street by using picks and shovels. The street was packed and frozen so hard, however, that work was abandoned and efforts were made to secure a scarifier. When none could be located closer than McCook the men in charge, R. C. Ayres and George Allen, decided to break the top crust by exploding small charges of dynamite at eight foot intervals along the ditch line. This plan was working well at last reports.

abandoned until a scarifier could be secured. The scarifier arrived from Kearney Tuesday and work on the sewer ditch is now under way. The route Highway No. 11 follows through west Ord has been shifted to K street instead of L street, so that traffic will not impede workers on the sewer project. Highway signs were being shifted from L street to K street Monday.

McGinnis' Pet Skunk Dies. Ord's most unusual pet is dead. She was a skunk, she belonged to the McGinnis family and her name was Desdemona. Since last June she had lived with the McGinnis family, and was treated just like a house cat. Desdemona was ill two weeks before she died.

Appointed CWA Manager. Leonard Kemp, a son of Mrs. Chas. W. Kemp of Ord, has been appointed manager of Civil Works Administration work in Polk county. He has been a resident of Osceola for several years.

Ord Women's Club In Guest Day Party

The Ord Women's club held a Christmas party Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. J. Miller. Each member invited a guest, making a total attendance of sixty. A Christmas reading and several musical numbers were rendered by club members. Miss Laverne Hans presented the fantasy play, "Pierrotte," with four young ladies in roles. Dainty light refreshments exhibiting the holiday red and green colors, were served.

R. C. Greenfield has received word from an only niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Swan. They have gone to Cyprus, an island in the Mediterranean, where Mr. Swan will be employed for the next three years as a mining engineer.

Ord I. O. O. F. Lodge Holds Big Meeting

Ord Odd Fellows held a big meeting last week when Grand Master W. W. Jefferson, of Lincoln addressed members from Loup City, Sargent, Burwell, North Loup and Ord, in the local hall.

The grand master made an excellent talk on Odd-Fellowship and several interesting talks were made by visiting delegates. E. C. Helbig, of Burwell, has been named district supervisor for this district, which takes in lodges at Burwell, Ord and North Loup. The Ord lodge elected officers at this meeting, Fred Kemp being chosen noble grand, Martin Guggenmos vice grand, Anton Bartunek secretary and John Lewis treasurer.

A fine lunch prepared by H. C. Fales was served at the close of the meeting.

Will Sing 'The Messiah' Miss Evelyn Coe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coe of Ord, has been invited to sing in the annual University of Nebraska presentation of "The Messiah" to be given Sunday, Dec. 17. She is a member of the alto section of the 300-voice choral union.

P. E. O. Members Are Kidnaped, 'Taken For a Ride' Monday

Imagine if you can the surprise of members of Ord chapter, P. E. O. Monday evening when, as they were holding a quiet business meeting at the home of Miss Clara McClatchey, they were suddenly interrupted by a horde of Cosacks, hustled into a dark chariot and whisked away.

Chicago has its kidnappings but it is doubtful if such a kidnapping as this has ever been staged before, even in Chicago. The kidnapers were husbands of P. E. O. members and the whole affair was arranged as a pleasant surprise for the ladies.

A large truck was the conveyance in which the ladies were "taken for a ride" and the cavern to which they were spirited was the Masonic hall ball room where the husbands had arranged an amusing program in their honor. "The Overthrow of the Czar" is the name of the play that formed the chief event. It was written by H. B. VanDecar and C. M. Davis was master of ceremonies. The part of the czar was ably portrayed by Millard Bell with A. W. Tunniff as the czarina. Mark Tolen was prime minister, Wilbur Cass was Lenin, Alpha Hill was Trotsky and A. S. Koupal and Dr. G. W. Taylor were guards, while Glen Auble and Dr. Kirby McGrew impersonated the whole Red army.

The second act showed the recent meeting of Roosevelt and Litvinoff, with Orville Sowl cast as the Russian diplomat. Glen Auble was Meadows, a butler.

To finish the program several musical numbers were given—Rubinoff and his violin, by Orville Sowl; Rachmaninoff, by H. B. VanDecar; and a cornet solo by Dr. McGrew. A chorus of husbands sang the finale, "Who's Afraid of the P. E. O's." It was a most enjoyable evening for both the ladies and their husbands.

Ord Man's Cousin Is Robbed of $700

Frank Rohla, of Wilber, a cousin of Joe Rohla and a frequent visitor in Ord, last Thursday was robbed of $700 by three masked bandits who visited his home late at night and bound him with wire after robbing him. A gun in the Rohla home, a Mr. Stevens was robbed of $75.

Rohla answered a knock at the door and was greeted by a man brandishing a revolver. The money was taken from the pockets of the victims and then, after binding Rohla and Stevens, the robbers drove away in a large automobile. A $65 diamond ring also was taken from Rohla. An investigation later disclosed that telephone wires to the Rohla home were cut. Saline county and state officials are working on the case.

District 25 School Has Patrons' Day

Riverview school, near Arcadia with Mrs. Jessi Westlake as teacher, observed Patrons' day last Thursday and 25 adult visitors are reported during the day. A reception committee composed of Ardel Paben, Richard Milburn, Wilbur Anderson, Doris Milburn, Ned Scott, Elsie Mae Bridges and Robert Zentz received them and conducted them on a tour of the room to exhibit work done in the various departments. A program of music and recitation also was given and spelling classes were conducted in all grades. The school has a Knighthood of Youth club and pupils take great interest in it. Patrons think much praise is due Mrs. Westlake and her pupils for the work accomplished.

Open evenings, 7:30 to 9 o'clock, all next week. Chase's Toggery. 38-11

NORTH LOUP HAS SLIM CHANCE OF QUICK APPROVAL

Ickes Says Nebraska's Share Of PWA Money Spent; Congress May Appropriate More.

The North Loup power and irrigation project has only a slim chance of immediate approval, if a letter from Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, made public Bryan, can be taken as representing the Public Works Administration's present views. For the past week the hopes of local people have been on the wane, although those most in touch with the situation have refused to admit discouragement.

The Ickes letter to Governor Bryan admitted that the North Loup project is being considered but said that "in justice to other communities no further advances can be made to Nebraska at this time." Ickes wrote: "The difficulty is that Nebraska has already received considerably more than it would legitimately be entitled to on the basis of population and unemployment. We feel we must confine our efforts to rushing work in states behind on allotments."

Congress, at its last spring session, appropriated $3,500,000,000 for PWA projects but less than 100 million of this remains, it is being claimed at Washington. Nebraska, on the basis of population and extent of unemployment, would be entitled to only about $21,000,000 and already $29,000,000 has been authorized for expenditure here. Of this amount $6,500,000 goes to the Columbus power project, $7,500,000 to the Sutherland project and the balance for highway work and various small projects over the state.

Originally it was claimed that Nebraska's share of PWA money would be $70,000,000 but this is now denied by Secretary Ickes. He does say in the letter to Bryan, however, that if Congress appropriates more funds for PWA work his department will proceed to an immediate consideration of other Nebraska projects.

The secretary of the interior says that although the North Loup project was turned down by one committee division it is now before the technical board of review for a public hearing. Senator George W. Norris represented this project at a hearing last Wednesday and Thursday and after the hearing was quoted by daily newspapers as saying that he didn't see how they could turn it down. Engineer E. H. Dunmire, also in Washington for the hearing, expressed the belief that the project would be approved. In his desire to give the exact status of the project at present the Quiz prints this discouraging account but refuses to believe that the project is in difficulties. President Bert M. Hardenbrook is still hopeful, as are Engineer Dunmire, Senator Norris and J. E. Lawrence, of Lincoln, member of the PWA advisory board for Nebraska.

From Dan V. Stevens, chairman of Nebraska's PWA advisory board, comes a more encouraging note. "It is my opinion," Chairman Stevens says, "that the impression that the $3,500,000,000 appropriation for public works is exhausted is probably an exaggerated view of the situation. Our instructions are to continue our program of receiving, examining and passing on to Washington applications in spite of the alleged fact that funds are exhausted.

"Many states will not or cannot use all their allotted funds. Naturally the remaining funds will be allotted to other states that can use them and are ready." PWA money to carry out the project may not be available at present but Congress convenes early in January and is certain to appropriate 1-2 to 2-1-2 billions to continue PWA work. The North Loup project, with all preliminary work already done, will be in line for immediate consideration.

And there is still a slim chance that the project will be approved and paid for out of present funds, as Secretary Ickes himself admits.

My Own Column

We all know that the financial policies of Wall Street brought about ruin to us. President Roosevelt is trying to bring us back from that ruinous condition and Wall Street is fighting his policies. Probably we should stay with the president. Anyhow, there is a gambler's chance in doing so. Experience of recent years seems to teach us that we don't even have that chance with Wall Street.

There are thousands of voters in this part of Nebraska who are going to look with suspicion on any republican candidate who hooch up in any way with Wm. E. Shuman in the coming campaign.

I don't see how any man can be so damnably unfair as that man Kline is, who edits the Nebraska Beacon, in regard to our power-irrigation project. The truth is not in him.

After all is said and done, what cussed fools the American people are to want hard liquors, and were not to see that the prohibition law was enforced. Hard liquor is without any shadow of a doubt, very harmful if taken in more than very small quantities. And the American people are to blame for the law not being enforced. Why should people want to drink something that is both harmful and costly.

A few years ago A. C. Townley was kicked out as head of the National Non-Partisan League. Now he has been reinstated as head of the organization. The Non-Partisan League is the best organization the farmers ever had. All farmers should, in my judgment, be non-partisan in politics. Big business is. Big business supports the man or men who will do its bidding. When the farmers, generally do the same, they will begin to get someplace. Just so long as they blindly follow one party they will get the dirty end of the stick.

Statistics show that crime costs the United States thirteen thousand million dollars, yearly. That is a sum too great for us to realize. If that amount could be devoted to the betterment of the people instead of to their ruination, this would be a much better country to live in.

Errors sometimes occur, both in the Quiz mailing room and in the postal delivery. If you miss your paper and have not had notice that it has expired, don't jump to the conclusion that it has been stopped. If you know you are in arrears, better try to bring or send some amount to apply on the account.

I have often thought that a lot of time could be saved if we business men would mail statements to each other the first of the month instead of sending a collector, each business man at once writing and mailing a check in payment. When I have talked with business men about it, they agree I am right. But when I mail a statement for a regular monthly bill to men who always pay by collector, I get no responses as a rule. Why is this a wonder.

Fellow came in Saturday and gave me thunder for stopping his paper. He was good and mad. After he popped off as long as he wanted to, I explained that the Quiz, like most other businesses, had gone in the hole hundreds of dollars the past year; that the cost of the white paper was nearly as much as the regular subscription price; that advertising and job work had always had to help pay for making the paper and that we no longer had either the advertising or job work in sufficient amount to do that. I told him, and it is true, that I had lost thousands of dollars of subscriptions when times were good, because, when times got bad people couldn't and didn't pay the large past due bills. I think this man was convinced of the justice of my stopping his paper when I was not sure he wanted it and would pay for it. Anyhow, he paid for a year and seemed to go away happy. If conditions were so I could, I would take the chances just as we used to do, but the fact is, I can't do it. I can't get hold of the money to buy the white print paper unless the subscriptions are paid. So when you get notice that your paper is expiring, send in some amount to keep it coming if you can.

I see my friend, Emerson Purcell is going to run for congress in our district. He evidently thinks he can win out over the present incumbent, Terry Carpenter and the several other democratic candidates. For of course Emerson Purcell is a democrat. I have always thought he was a better man than most democrats I knew. I always supported him for state senator. I had two reasons. He was in the same business as I am in, being editor of the Broken Bow Chief, biggest weekly newspaper in the U. S. Then I had been intimately associated with him in state press association work and knew he was honest, able, clear headed, a hard worker and would get results. I feel the same way about him now when he talks about running for congress. I am not saying that I will support him. I am more a republican than I am a democrat and I don't know who may be a candidate on my own ticket. But I am sure I shall never throw any political stones at Emerson Purcell nor shall I shed any salty tears if he is elected.

We have long handled a convenient 100-sheet package of letter head size (8 1/2 x 11 inches) writing paper in a nice, white bond, plain paper. I have had a number of calls for a ruled paper of this kind and could not buy it in the market so I have now had some ruled and put into packages. Come in if you want some. The package is a neat cardboard carton which always keeps your letter sheets clean and flat. We have always and do still sell the plain paper for 25c the carton of 100 sheets. The ruled has to be a little higher but either is much cheaper than you can buy the same quality in any other way. It is the well known Hammermill stock, which everyone knows, is standard bond paper.

Something Different

Men around the Square had a lot of fun kidding Archie Keep a few days ago, after Archie had helped Bert Lashmett in his search of the premises of a man they suspected of trapping without a license.

Archie was searching the hen house, and running his hands down through the straw when out from under his fingers leaped something fearsome with jaws open and rows of teeth and fiery eyes. Like you and I, Archie was scared when this thing ran out under his very hands, and called to Bert something about "a Big Animal!"

Hunting the mysterious animal down, it proved to be a 'possum! And did the boys laugh and kid the two poor deputies when the suspect had been brought to town and released because there was no charge that could be filed against him!

"Isn't a crime for a man to have a 'possum get in his chicken house, is it Archie?" and many other such cracks were heard.

Speaking of Boyd Holloway and his broom-handle buying not long ago, I had him confused with his brother, and mentioned the title "Happy" a few times. I find "Happy" had nothing to do with it, and hereby want to tell you so. Boyd is the one who is in this business.

Two happy-go-lucky girls were strolling down to the movie not long ago, singing gayly. "Annie doesn't live here any more", and having the best time.

But they were rather startled on reaching a corner and a street light to see that the bigish woman who had been walking ahead of them the last block or two was really someone whom they knew and who was named "Annie!" And abruptly, all was still.

What won't they invent next? Now they have glasses for those whose eyes need protection, that are practically invisible. Two thin separate lens, one to fit over each eye.

And permanent waving machines that wrap hair mechanically and don't burn or hurt! or use electricity.

By the way, you don't think permanent waves are anything new, do you? The early Egyptians discovered them and "had" the first ones. You remember those cork-screw curls usually pictured as flowing out from under the Egyptian ladies' headbands, don't you?

You know, the times are so hard the people can't afford to be sick now. If you think they can, ask the doctors. As one of them remarked not long ago, "Why people can't even afford to die now."

A lady stopped in a local store and asked to see their "Baby Buntlings". The clerk opened the drawer marked "Buntlings" and began to exhibit red, white and blue stuff.

"No," said the customer, "what I want is something warm to wrap a baby in, a sort of little coat...."

"Oh," exclaimed the harrassed young clerk, red of face. "But she hadn't have minded... she is a bookkeeper, really, and was only filling in until the regular girl returned to the job."

Mr. Didrikson, the florist, sent a bit of color to a number of shut-ins the day he opened up for business. One of those humane thoughts.

It is mighty nice to have a man as smart and honest and conscientious as Marion Cushing to represent us. We can go on about our business without even keeping track of him, knowing our interests are being more thoroughly cared for. Had you thought about that?

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

The Quiz is always glad to print new and varied ways to make cookies, cakes, etc. However, you should be a little careful not to send in recipes which have already appeared in this column.... sometimes more than once. We like to give credit to those who try to help us out, but would rather not print two recipes which are alike, if enough recipes are on hand to do this.

Sorghum Molasses Cookies.
Combine one pint of molasses, one cup of lard, a small tablespoon of ginger, one tablespoon soda, three tablespoons of boiling water, one quart of flour and more if needed.

Mrs. Ben Waterman, 1140 East 4th St., Fremont.

Bread Sponge Cake.
Use two cups bread sponge, one and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup lard or mix it with butter. Add one egg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon cloves and one teaspoon of nutmeg, one tablespoon cocoa, two cups of flour, and chopped nuts if you wish. Bake in a loaf in a moderate oven about one hour.

Mrs. Clarence White, Burwell.

Fruit Drop Cookies.
Mix one cup sugar, one-half cup butter and lard mixed, two eggs, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one cup finely chopped nuts, one cup raisins, one cup sour milk in which one teaspoon soda has been dissolved, one teaspoon baking powder, and two cups of flour. Drop from a teaspoon on greased pans.

Mrs. R. B. Rich.

Graham Crackers.
Mix one cup cream with one-half cup sugar, and one tablespoon of butter. Cream well, then add one teaspoon soda which has been sifted with graham flour. Use enough graham flour to make a good cookie dough. Roll and cut in squares. Bake in a hot oven.

Mrs. John T. Nelson, Rt. 2, Barber Ark.

Sour Cream Raisin Pie.
Wash and cook one large cupful of seeded raisins in one cup water until soft. Add one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, two egg yolks and one cup thick sour cream. Cook until smooth, pour into baked pastry shell, cover the top with a meringue made from the two egg whites. Brown in a moderate oven. This is delicious.

Mrs. Martin Bouma, Belva, Okla.

The editor of this column has figured out why she is always short of recipes now-days. It is because four recipes a week were formerly the number to be found in one issue of the Quiz; while now there are usually from six to eight printed each week.

When You and I Were Young, Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week.
W. B. "Ben" Johnson, formerly sheriff in both Wheeler and Valley counties, passed away at his home in Riverside, Calif., as the result of a shooting accident. His revolver dropped from his pocket and was fired, the bullet passing through his lungs. After moving to California Johnson was sheriff of Riverside county and later chief of police on the Riverside police force.

Miss Ethel Cronk and Isoscoe Arnold were married by Rev. E. H. Maynard.

The A. E. Stone residence at Ardenia was gutted by fire.

The Loup Valley Agricultural Society elected W. J. Hather president and re-elected Will Carson secretary.

Strickland Gillilan, the famous humorist, spoke on Ord's lyceum program.

Fred Kemp was elected P. M. W. and W. E. Rasset was chosen M. W. by the Workmen lodge.

20 Years Ago This Week.
Ben Bridgeford, a former Ord druggist, was badly hurt in a carriage accident at Pueblo, Colo., and was in a hospital there.

Mrs. Ellsworth Ball died at her home on the Garfield county roads after a long illness.

Glen Auble, of Ord, and Jay Auble, of Wolbach, purchased W. J. Taylor's jewelry store. Mr. Taylor expected to travel in the interests of an adjustable eyeglass mounting that he had invented.

The hardware firm of Pearce and Milliken was dissolved and L. M. Milliken remained as sole owner.

In a district court case Wm. Kagle was suing Charles Stenecker for $5,000 for alleged injuries inflicted upon him by Stenecker, the injuries including a broken leg. Judge Hanna was on the bench.

It had rained steadily for eleven days in Ord and more than 5 inches of water had fallen. The soil was still open and all the rain soaked in.

BACK FORTY

Sub-marginal or poor land is to be taken out of cultivation instead of overage land, in a new national land use experiment. This new government project will cover 2 million acres in 10 different regions. It has been authorized after its recommendation by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior.

Tentative locations of the 10 and projects as announced by the Government Soil Erosion Service, are:

Upper Mississippi Valley near LaCrosse, Wis.; South Central Iowa and North Central Missouri, near Bethany, Mo.; McLean County, Illinois; Central Texas, near Temple, Texas; South Carolina Piedmont, near Spartanburg, S. C.; Pacific Northwest, Palouse section, near Pullman, Wash.; Oklahoma Red Plains, Stillwater, Okla.; Jewell County, near Mankato, Kansas; the Tennessee Valley, and a large area which includes Arizona, New Mexico and Utah, and is called the Navajo project.

Under the plan in the project areas, farmers who reduce acreage under the crops reduction program of the Agricultural Administration can make a substitution. They may substitute for the average land that would be taken out of production under the terms of their agreements enough sub-marginal land to equal the productivity of the average land. Thus a farmer whose agreement would require him to remove 5 acres of average land from production might remove, instead, 10 acres of sub-marginal land half as productive as the average land.

As erosion is accomplished largely by planting forest trees, the project may be a part of another plan to offset irrigation projects by removing submarginal land equal in productivity. That is, if 10,000 new acres are placed under irrigation, the president will see to it that from 10 thousand to 50 thousand acres, depending on productive power, will be purchased elsewhere and permanently and back to forest.

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 is now on display at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See this car today and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V-8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New water-line thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. The handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot. Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvers, new hub caps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new mouldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in De Luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side.

FENDERS IN COLOR. On De Luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body colors—wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

PRICES REMAIN LOW—Tudor Sedan, $535. Coupe, $515. Fordor Sedan, $585. De Luxe Tudor, $575. De Luxe Fordor, $625. De Luxe Coupe (5 windows), $555. De Luxe Coupe (3 windows), $555. ## FIGHT LOOMS AT LINCOLN OVER WATER RIGHTS

3-Cornered Row Appears When Loup Projects Ask Enough Water For Existence.

A three-cornered squabble over Loup river water rights loomed at Lincoln Monday when proponents of the Columbus, the North Loup and the Middle Loup power and irrigation projects met in the office of State Engineer Roy Cochran for a conference that was expected to result in a peaceful allocation of waters. Instead, Columbus attempted to "hog" the water and Attorney C. A. Sorensen, speaking for the two Loup projects, announced that he would fight the case to the finish.

Bert M. Hardenbrook, Marlon J. Cushing and Roy Hudson attended the conference to represent the North Loup project. The Middle Loup was represented by A. B. Outhouse, Walter Gibbons and G. S. Kinsey.

At a hearing two weeks ago, Columbus backers proposed to allow the North Loup project 35,000 acre feet of water annually and the Middle Loup project 45,000 acre feet annually.

Monday Attorney Sorensen said that because of seepage these amounts are not enough. The Middle Loup proposes to irrigate 45,000 acres of land and the North Loup 35,000 acres.

Sorensen said that, to allow for seepage, the North Loup should be allocated 54,720 acre feet and the Middle Loup 64,800 acre feet.

After reading the proposed revisions, Fred Albert, engineer for the Columbus project, is quoted as saying:

"I thought you came down here for conciliation but you came down here for a fight, did you?"

A compromise insofar as the North Loup is concerned was proposed by Bert Hardenbrook, who asked if Columbus backers would consent to the allocation of 350 second feet to this project. The proposal made by Sorensen asked the allocation of 405 second feet. Columbus backers, however, declined to consider Hardenbrook's compromise proposal and asked that the whole matter go to a formal hearing.

Cochran then set the hearing for Wednesday, December 27, at 9:30 a. m., at which time the matter will be threshed out. The North Loup project's engineer, E. H. Dunmire, will return from Washington for the hearing.

Backers of the Columbus project are anxious for immediate settlement of the case as they have been granted a PWA loan of $7,300,000 contingent upon settlement of water rights. They claim to have prior water rights but this is denied by C. A. Sorensen and Mr. Hardenbrook, who quote the Nebraska statutes to prove that an irrigation project has priority over any power project.

It is probable that Loup river waters will be allocated in a manner fair to all at the hearing December 27. The Loup projects have nothing to fear, in any event, as Governor Bryan has stated that he will see to it that farmers are granted all the water they need for irrigation before any water for power development is allocated.

All of them survive with their father, to mourn the untimely departure of their beloved mother.

The deceased also leaves four sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Lucy Loflin, Crab Orchard, Neb., Mrs. Cecil Clark, Mrs. H. H. Hohn, Frank and Nate Sinkler, all of Ord, Mrs. Lee Nelson, Glidden, Ia., and James and Bruce Sinkler, Loup City, Neb. Both of her parents preceded her in death.

Pearl, as she was generally known, was a quiet, home loving woman, her home and family always foremost in her mind. She was a kind and sympathetic neighbor who numbered her friends by her acquaintances. A year ago last May she was stricken with cancer, most dreaded of diseases, and went away for medical treatment, returning much improved in health. Last July the disease reappeared and she became worse rapidly, the ailment being beyond medical aid. She was a patient, silent sufferer until death.

Three Inspectors At Work on Corn Loans

Three inspectors are now working to keep up with applications for federal corn loans in Valley county. C. J. Mortensen, Ord, Ray Hill, Arcadia, and Fred Meyer, of Goodnow community. The former said Monday that he has made 35 inspections so far, has 21 applications on hand and believes that before the program ends he will make from 100 to 150 inspections. Messrs. Hill and Meyer are expected to make about the same number.

Meyer besides making inspections in the north end of Valley county, will inspect in Garfield and Loup counties.

Rotarians in Christmas Party. Members of the Ord Rotary club enjoyed their annual Christmas dinner and program Monday evening in Thorne's cafe. John Goddard, as chairman of the program committee, introduced Rev. Willard McCarthy as the speaker and Rev. McCarthy gave an interesting talk about Christmas legends. Rotarians are taking two weeks' recess during the holidays and will hold their next meeting January 8.

NEW NATIONAL PLAN ENDORSES NEWSPAPER ADS

152,000 Church Women Field Workers in New Plan; Haskell Is Local Leader.

An attack upon the depression on three fronts with newspaper advertising as the backbone, is the ambitious program and aim of a new national plan, under way from the Atlantic to the Pacific, according to an announcement by the originator of the plan, Adolph O. Goodwin, the well known merchandising and advertising plan creator of Chicago. W. W. Haskell, founder of the Quiz and a newspaper worker nearly all his life, has been appointed to introduce the Goodwin plan in Valley county.

The plan includes the utilization of the energies of what some authorities claim is the largest point-of-contact salubrious stimulating force ever engaged, composed of more than 152,000 neighborhood workers, and growing larger by thousands daily. This field force is scheduled to stimulate interest in those products and articles of various kinds, publicized at the same time in newspaper advertising copyings of the communities.

Mr. Goodwin, who is president of the Goodwin Corporation, occupying four floors in the Mather Tower building, Chicago, explained why newspaper advertising was selected to "carry the ball" in the double drive for sales, in cooperation with the stimulating efforts of the point-of-contact force of neighborhood workers.

Said Mr. Goodwin: "As far as I know, there has never before existed, in American business history, a sales force of 152,000 people. And about Christmas, the number should, in my opinion, reach and pass a quarter million. This record-breaking field-force has been called into being, in an effort to stimulate sales for what will be a long list of manufacturers of advertised articles, covering as nearly as possible the entire range of normal family purchases, from chewing gum to automobiles."

"As a former newspaper and advertising man, I believed that the newspaper, circulating in the homes of families who raise children and attend their churches, is the most effective sales influence we know. But because since 1929 purchasing power has dropped to somewhere around 60 percent while production capacities has remained high, it appeared obvious to me that newspaper advertising could do a better advertising job than any other media and an even better selling job itself. If the sales promotion appropriation of industry could likewise be used at the point of contact, like advertising is used at the point of contact, when it is in newspapers!"

Prices Higher In Canada.

The Quiz this week received an interesting letter from Mrs. Helen Urban of Golburn, Sask. Canada. "It is interesting to read the ads in the Quiz comparing prices with ours," Mrs. Urban writes. "Everything is cheaper to buy here and all the produce sells for more than we get and still everyone is so dissatisfied." She encloses copies of ad from the Golburn paper which show that gasoline is 30 1-2c per gallon, and prices of all groceries, canned goods, dry goods, clothing, etc., are much higher than charged in Ord.

Ord Gridsters Honored.

Five members of Ord high's 1933 football team have been honored by selection on the Loup valley association's Honor Roll. They are Zulkoski, a tackle, Boquet, center, Nielsen, a guard, Steinworth and Tunniffick, backs. Only 30 boys in the valley were so honored, so it can be seen that Ord is well represented.

HOLIDAY CROWD VISITS ARCADIA, SEIZES CATTLE

Militant Farmers Take Stock Seized On Mortgage, Return It To Original Owner.

Much excitement was created at Arcadia Friday afternoon when, as the Williams Auction company's community sale was in progress, a group of Farm Holiday association members from Sherman county, 150 strong, appeared and seized six head of cattle that had been re-covered on replevin that morning from George Lenz, a young Sherman county farmer. Two other cows replevined from Lenz had already been sold and removed and the Holiday group warned the buyer to have them at the Lenz farm by 6 p. m. Saturday. The group then departed with the stock.

The Quiz is informed that a Lincoln insurance company held a past-due mortgage on the stock and instructed their Arcadia agent, M. R. Wall, to replevin the cattle and sell them.

This Wall did Friday morning. After replevining the cattle he posted a cash bond at Loup City so that he could sell them immediately and then rushed the cattle to Arcadia and offered them for sale at the Williams auction, which is held every Friday.

A Holiday meeting was being held at Loup City that day and Lenz appeared before it and made complaint. Holiday members, feeling that Lenz had been treated unjustly and that Wall was disposing of the cattle illegally by failing to advertise them and by taking them out of Sherman county, decided to go to Arcadia, bid the stock in at low prices and return it to Lenz.

When they reached Arcadia they found the cattle had already been sold and two head had been moved by the purchasers. Going into the stock pens, they sorted out the six head remaining and the departed after warning Wall to recover the other two head and return them to Lenz.

Saturday interested parties at Arcadia came to Ord to consult County Attorney George A. Munn and the latter ordered Sheriff Round to investigate. For a time it was thought that criminal charges against the leader of the Sherman county group would be filed if they did not return the cattle to Arcadia. The Quiz is informed that leaders of the Holiday association in Valley county intervened, however, and the matter has been adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

John Skala Is Dead After Long Illness

Well Known Ord Resident Passes Friday After Long Struggle With Cancer.

After almost three years of suffering from the ravages of a cancer, death came last Friday, Dec. 15, to John Skala, a respected resident of Ord since 1919 and a well known farmer of this community, from 1892 until that time. He was laid to rest Monday afternoon after services at the Bohemian hall, conducted by Rev. B. A. Filipp, of Clarkson.

The deceased was born May 16, 1859 in Stretzel u. Kremesnik, Czechoslovakia and was married there on Feb. 24, 1882 to Katerina Hezima. Two years later they came to the United States, settling first in Humboldt, Nebraska and remaining there eight years.

In 1892 the Skala family came to Valley county and members of the family have been closely identified with the affairs of this community ever since. For 27 years Mr. Skala farmed west and south of town and in 1919 retired from active work and moved to Ord, where the rest of his life was spent. About 2 1/2 years ago he became ill with cancer but was a familiar figure on the streets until only a couple of months before his death, always having a cheerful word for the many friends whom he met.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Skala but two preceded their parents in death. Their first child, a son, died at the age of 19 and Miss Anna Skala passing away in 1918 when 20 years old. The devoted wife and mother died May 15, 1931.

Ord Catholic Kiddies In Christmas Party

Sunday Father Lawler entertained the 300 children of his parish at his annual Christmas party in the basement of the Ord Catholic church. A large tree was erected and after a fine program of readings and recitations by a dozen or more children and music by the boys' orchestra lead by Jerry Puncocchar, treats were distributed to all the kiddies by Father Lawler, with the assistance of James Petska, Jr.

Catholic children of Ord look forward to Father Lawler's Christmas party each year and so do their parents, a large crowd of whom were present to enjoy the program.

Dahlin Buys Elyria Mill. Elyria, Dec. 18.—(Special)—A deal was closed last week by which E. Dahlin, of Ord, purchased the Elyria flour mill from Mrs. T. J. Zulkoski. Mr. Dahlin expects to move to Elyria about March 1 and will operate the mill with the help of his two sons, Clarence Bresley has been in charge of the mill for several months.

CO-OP CREAMERY PAYS $12,437 AS PATRONS REBATE

Business Stimulated Thursday As Factory Paid Dividend of 3c Per Lb. of Butter-fat.

"Another most successful year" was the verdict of a large crowd of stockholders of the Ord Co-operative Creamery Company who gathered at the city hall last Thursday afternoon to hear the annual report of Manager Fred Coe and transact business of importance.

Manager Coe's report showed that the creamery enjoyed a profitable year and to evidence the fact a patronage rebate aggregating $12,437.77 was paid. The beneficial effect upon the community of releasing this sum of money was seen immediately, Ord merchants reporting a vast increase in business.

This rebate was paid at the rate of 3c per pound of butterfat, the same as was paid in 1932. In addition to paying out this huge sum in rebates the creamery also paid out $1,833.20 in interest on capital stock, besides making improvements at the factory in the shape of an enlarged cooling room. The sinking fund was also increased to care for any contingencies that may arise during the coming year.

Organized in 1926, the Ord creamery has been conspicuously successful during a period when many co-operative creameries were being organized and several of them have failed to survive. In the seven years of operation the local manufacturing plant has paid a total of $103,787.89 in cream rebates and stock dividends, besides making improvements at the plant every year and keeping the sinking fund in safe condition.

CITY HOPEFUL CWA AIR-PORT WILL BE BUILT

Will Move High-line To Make Mortensen Pasture Suitable So CWA Funds Are Asked.

Decision to submit final plans for a CWA airport to be located in the C. J. Mortensen pasture north of town was made last week by Ord authorities, it having been decided that the cost of moving the Western Public Service company's high-line would be only about $250. Friday Atre Weigart drove to Grand Island to present the plans to Dr. W. W. Arrasmith, chairman of CWA airport construction in this district. It is hoped that a decision will be made shortly.

Plans for the airport were drawn by R. C. Ayres, who estimates the expense of construction at $5,650, including cost of moving the high-line.

To make Ord eligible for a CWA airport the city is required to lease a suitable site. This the city council unanimously agreed to do at a special meeting last week. The cost of leasing the Mortensen field will be $12 per month, which will be paid by the City of Ord if CWA authorities appropriate money for the airport. Mr. Mortensen has given the city an option on the field.

Should this project go through it will furnish a great amount of labor for unemployed of Ord, as at least 87 1-2 per cent of money allotted by the CWA must be spent for labor and only 12 1-2 per cent may be spent for material. Monday came word that the plans have been approved by Dr. Arrasmith and have been sent to Lincoln for final approval by Governor Bryan and the state CWA board.

ORD MUST LOSE TELEPHONE CASE THRU TRICKERY

Drake Filed Phony Order And Supreme Court Must Upset It, Charges Mr. Bollen.

That the city of Ord must inevitably lose out in its appeal for lower telephone rates is the conclusion of Bert M. Hardenbrook, who has been representing the Chamber of Commerce and the city council in their case against the Nebraska Continental Telephone company.

Victory appeared in sight after the issuance early last summer of an order by the Nebraska railway commission in which the telephone company was ordered to reduce its Ord business rate 50c, its residence rate 25c and its farm switching rate 10c. But the Nebraska Continental company appealed to the Supreme court and it now appears that the court must uphold the telephone company, solely because the order drafted by Commissioner Hugh Drake in Commissioner Floyd Bollen's absence orders a permanent reduction in rates instead of a temporary emergency reduction.

Commissioner Bollen "blows the lid" off the whole sordid deal in a dissenting opinion filed last week with the railway commission of which he is a member. He openly accuses his colleagues, commissioners Drake and Randall, with dishonesty and accuses them of issuing an order so worded that it will be overturned by the Supreme court.

This opinion, too lengthy to publish in full, says in part: "The matter (Ord rate case) came up for discussion before the whole commission at executive session June 23, 1933. After compromising upon one insignificant rate, it was agreed that an order should be entered in conformity with my conclusions. I was about to leave for Washington, D. C. and instructed the secretary to sign my name to the order providing that the same was in accordance with my conclusions."

"My first knowledge that an order had been entered was from the morning newspaper at Omaha July 1 upon my return from Washington. I assumed from this report that the order had been entered in accordance with my conclusions and that the secretary had followed my instructions and signed my name to the order. Upon my return home the matter was not called to my attention by the secretary."

Commissioner Bollen then says that conclusions of his brief were that any reduced rate fixed by order of the railway commission should not be a permanent one but should continue only until a further order of the commission; that to encourage restoration of lost subscribers no charge should be made for reconstructions or installations and that the Nebraska Continental should report monthly to the commission as to the loss and gain in stations and revenues under the reduced rates.

"The order of June 23, 1933," says Bollen, "was dictated by Commissioner Drake and the same provides for a reduction in all classes of rates at the Ord exchange. . . the order does not contain my conclusions 6, 9 and 10 (summarized in paragraph above) and to which Commissioner Drake concurred over his own signature."

"Due to the general economic condition and the special conditions which have existed for the past two years in the Ord territory on account of drought and crop failures, my opinion, findings and conclusions point directly to a temporary rate based on the present emergency," Bollen says, adding "They also point toward a temporary rate for experimental purposes. In the order prepared by Commissioner Drake these very important factors are eliminated altogether and a permanent rate is fixed, effective, August 1, 1933."

"Upon discovering the situation above outlined I presented the matter to the full commission at executive session on Dec. 12, 1933 and urged that a new order be entered at once in conformity to my conclusions and concurred in by"

Interest in the proposed school is increasing, he reports, and it is thought that 100 or more adults will be registered for various courses when the sessions get under way.

TWO CHRISTMAS PROGRAMS GIVEN BY ORD SCHOOLS

Grades in Pleasing Recital On Tuesday, High School Gives Play Wednesday Evening.

Two enjoyable and elaborate Christmas programs were presented this week by pupils of the Ord schools and both were generously attended by parents and friends, the high school auditorium being taxed to capacity both on Tuesday evening, when grade school pupils gave a recital, and on Wednesday evening when high school students presented "Kate Douglas Wiggin's beautiful Christmas play, 'The Birds' Xmas Carol'."

To members of the first and second grade went the honor of opening the Tuesday evening program with a pleasing Christmas exercise, after which the kindergarten's rhythm band went into action. A radio program, station X-M-A-S broadcasting with Dorothy Dean Haas as announcer followed.

On this program Barbara Parks brought greetings, the first and second grades sang the song "Jolly Old Santa Claus," Don Auble gave a piano solo, the first grade gave an exercise, "Merry Christmas Time" and the second grade gave the exercise "What Did We Get for Christmas," after which the kindergarten sang a song, "Upon the House Top."

A play, "Christmas at the Old Lady's Shoe" was ably given by first and second graders and then the fourth grade sang a Christmas song.

A saxophone solo, "Pussy Willow," was played by Harry Memphill, a play "What Brings Christmas?" was the third grade's offering and songs were sung by the fifth grade en masse and by girls of the fourth and fifth grade. Another play, "How Edith Found Christmas," was given by the fourth grade and the sixth grade sang two Christmas songs.

One of the most pleasing features was an instrumental solo by three sixth grade boys, Henry Benda, Capron Coe and Bobbie Anderson and another was a pointsettia drill by the fifth and sixth grade gym class. A play, "The Lonely Little Fir Tree," was given by the fifth and sixth grades and the program closed with an exercise, "Good Night," by fifth and sixth grade girls.

The high school program Wednesday evening was very enjoyable, starting with orchestra numbers and a selection by the massed bands and orchestra, a piano duet by Eugene Puncocchar and William Goff, and a prologue in which Dorothy Auble, Jean Ferguson and Eleanor Wolf figured as angels while music was played by Arthur Auble, Olga Lukesh and Betty Lou Sweet.

Then came the play, "The Birds' Christmas Carol," in three acts, parts being taken by Hope Barmuth, Kathryn Houb, Jack Cantlin, James Milken, Edith Hansen, Laverne Lakin, Hazel Stevens, Loretta Kusek, Laverne Duemey, Frances Duemey, Anna Jensen, John Rogers, Charles Keown and Vernon Malolepszy.

Grade school teachers directed their proteges in the program Tuesday evening and high school instructors who directed the high school program Wednesday were Miss Frushour, Dean S. Duncan, Miss Jacobsen, Miss Baird, J. A. Kovanda, Miss Shaver and Mr. Cass.

VALLEY COUNTY CWA ALLOTMENT NOW UP TO $21,100

Quota More Than Doubled By State Board; Will Care For All Local Relief Needs.

Monday came the welcome news that Valley county's allotment of Civil Works Administration funds have been more than doubled by action of the state board. The new figure is $21,100 and this amount should take care of the county's winter relief problem nicely, it is stated by Alfred Welgard, reemployment manager, and Mrs. Gladys Walters, relief worker.

Originally Valley county was allotted only $9,600 and this small allotment was protested by local relief heads on the grounds that population and number of unemployed entitled us to a larger allotment.

The sum asked for was $18,000 but the state board, Wm. H. Smith, Rowland Haynes and Roy Cochran did better than this by increasing our allotment to $21,100, which will furnish three months' jobs for 210 men.

Several additional projects can now be started and projects already under way can be allotted more money.

Sixteen Valley county projects have already been approved by the state board. On most of these work has started, and some of them are well on the road to completion. They are:

- Highway grading west of North Loup, $1,000.
- Ord to Ericson state highway, increased from $1,604 to $2,604.
- Drainage and culvert repair, North Loup, $208.
- North Loup park improvements, $200.
- Village building repairs, North Loup, $196.
- Street improvements, North Loup, $1,000.
- Davis Creek school repairs, $144.
- Elyria street repairs, $96.
- North Loup street improvements, $560.
- Road work, Springdale, $1,416.
- Road grading 1-2 mile west of Arcadia, $992.
- Road grading, Elyria precinct, $504.
- Grading and filling, 16 blocks in Arcadia, $1,840.
- General improvements, county roads, $1,000.
- Improvements on state roads, $500.
- Sewer and water main extensions, Ord, $2,498.

Tuesday the Valley county CWA board, which is composed of Chas. Johnson, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. W. J. Hemphill and Wm. Ramsey, Jr., met and approved six additional projects, including an allotment of $1,200 additional funds to the Ord sewer project. These were sent to Lincoln for approval by the state board.

About $5,500 of CWA funds had been allotted prior to the meeting Tuesday and about $5,600 further was allotted at this time, which will use Valley county's entire quota.

Last week 163 CWA workers were busy in this county and Saturday night the disbursing officer, Ign. Klimka, Jr., paid out $1,677.50. After this week and continuing until about the middle of February, $2,500 or more will be paid out every Saturday night.

After the regular CWA program is completed it is thought that work on the Ord airport and federal paving through Ord, in combination with spring farm work, will give employment to men now working on CWA projects. It is probable, also, that the North Loup irrigation project will furnish work for 1,000 or more men starting next spring so those in charge of relief work in this area are confident that Valley county's relief and unemployment problem is finally and conclusively solved.

GRAND ISLAND'S ATTITUDE.

Ever since the North Loup and Middle Loup power and irrigation projects were suggested some months ago, the attitude toward them of the Grand Island Independent and business interests of the Third City, as represented by their chamber of commerce, has been very unsatisfactory. Never has any spokesman for Grand Island said anything to further either project and on occasion the Independent, in a newspaper of that city, has written discouragingly about them, particularly about the North Loup.

When Nebraska's enabling act, S. P. 310, was being debated in the legislature it was fought bitterly by the Independent and by the Grand Island chamber of commerce. It was passed and became a law in spite of this opposition.

Since then Grand Island's attitude toward the Loup projects has been lukewarm. While the Omaha chamber of commerce, 200 miles away, was passing a resolution urging federal officials to approve the North Loup project Grand Island was doing nothing. In fact, the Grand Island Independent was belittling the project by the use of misleading headlines, over news dispatches that reported progress and by emphasizing with large headlines all news stories that reported the project as encountering difficulties. The Independent's attitude has been the opposite of helpful from start to finish.

Last week at the annual convention of the Nebraska Irrigation association, held at North Platte, business interests of Grand Island came out in the open by sending Mr. Trall, secretary of the Grand Island chamber of commerce, to the meeting to see that no resolution was passed favoring development of any project in Nebraska except the Sheridan, which has already been approved.

It would have been a gracious and proper gesture for an irrigation association purporting to represent the entire state and ostensibly interested in the development of Nebraska's natural resources to resolve in favor of Congress appropriating more money for PWA work, in order that Nebraska projects not already approved could be approved and built. But Secretary Trall, Grand Island's accredited representative, was there to block passage of such a resolution and succeeded in killing it in committee, so the Quiz is reliably informed.

Recently, at Washington, the lawyer employed by Grand Island to block approval of the Tri-County project, former Congressman Bob Simmons, made the statement that sentiment is growing in Nebraska against the Public Works administration loaning money for any further power and irrigation development. This is a palpable falsehood, manifestly unfair to sections of the state that have not been so favored as the Platte valley.

In its issue of last Friday the Independent openly rejoices that Grand Island has at last lined up with its proper affiliates, the rest of the North Platte valley. Does this carry the implication, as the Independent's past attitude would suggest, that territory contiguous to Grand Island but outside of the favored Platte valley can go hang?

Ostensibly the Independent and the Chamber of Commerce of Merrick, Hall and Buffalo counties, are fighting the Tri-County project which contemplates diversion of North Platte water to the Republican basin. To this fight the Quiz is not objecting, deeming it the legal and moral right of those communities to fight any move that threatens their existence and future prosperity. But in fighting the Tri-County it is apparent that the Independent and the Chamber of Commerce are fighting the North Loup and Middle Loup projects as well. How else can Attorney Simmons' statement at Washington be construed? How else can Secretary Trall's attitude at North Platte be explained?

For several months the Independent, formerly one of Senator Norris' staunchest supporters, has spoken slurringly of the senator's regard for the Tri-County project. A break between the Independent and Senator Norris appears inevitable and it will not be surprising to see the Grand Island paper aligned against Nebraska's great senator in the very near future.

Why has the Independent's editorial attitude changed so greatly in recent years? Possibly because it is now owned by the Stauffer Publications, Inc., of Wilmington, Del., a holding company that controls a number of daily newspapers in the east and middle west. Who actually owns the holding company that owns the Independent? Is it possible that power trust capital controls the newspaper? Such control would provide an explanation for many problems that are puzzling men who have known the Independent and its progressive editor well and favorably for many years.

The Quiz does not make such a charge, although it has been made editorially by other newspapers and denied by the editor of the Independent. We merely suggest that several pieces of the jig-saw puzzle would fit themselves into place if such should prove true. The attitude of the Chamber of Commerce at Grand Island is likewise difficult to explain. Much of the business of that city, both wholesale and retail, comes from the two Loup valleys. We have helped greatly to build up that city. Now its business interests, through their newspaper and their chamber of commerce, are biting the hand that has fed them by helping to block projects in which we are vitally interested. Development of the two Loup projects would help Grand Island not hurt it, which makes Grand Island's present attitude almost inconceivable.

People of the North Loup valley for whom the Quiz speaks, feel that Grand Island owes them an explanation and probably an apology. People of the Middle Loup are very likely to feel the same.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Merry Christmas.

And may you also have a Happy New Year.

And may your business be better during the coming 12 months.

If the rule of the greatest good to the greatest numbers is remembered the power trust will not be allowed to buy the entire output of the Columbus and Sutherland projects at, say 3 mills and sell it to the public at 30 or 40 times that.

I don't think we should find fault with the other fellows' program unless we have something constructive to offer in its place.

I saw four grocery boxes standing on the floor in a local grocery store Saturday. The contents had been ordered by four farmers. A glance showed that each box, among other goods, contained several packages of oleo butter. Soon the farmers came in, paid for their goods, each with a check from the local creamery. And I thought, "Well, how in hell can those fellows kick at 10 cent cream."

Sure, let me order your Omaha Daily Bee-News for you, or for that matter, any other daily paper that you want, or any magazine. I guarantee to save you at least the postage and cost and bother of writing.

Only a few weeks ago a number of local milk men agreed to raise the price of fresh milk from 5c to 7c. Now they are all back to five cents again. If four or five men can't stick together how can that many million farmers ever hope to stick together.

The Hon. Robert G. Simmons, formerly congressman from this district but now an attorney in Lincoln, has made an interesting statement in a recent issue of the Quiz. He is losing mightily in popularity in this part of the state. Men who used to call him "Our Bob" refer to him now in terms, some of which would not look good even in this wide open column.

Suppose a farmer was paying a neighbor $25 a month for the use of a barn to house his stock, because he didn't have a barn of his own, and suppose a well known lumberman should come along and say to the farmer, "I will build you a barn as good as you are using on your own land, the barn to last you years when the monthly payments you are now paying out, have paid me in full for it." Don't you think the farmer should have the right to acquire a barn of his own under those circumstances? Sure you do and so do I but the supreme court of the state of Nebraska says the city of Ainsworth cannot acquire a city power plant in the same way, but that it must continue to pay the power trust an exorbitant price for light and power. Judge Good wrote the opinion, and it was so held by the supreme court, although the state legislature passed a law a few years ago on purpose to permit municipalities in Nebraska to acquire their own power plants and after the same court had, in a former case, held that a Nebraska town had the right under this new law to have its own municipal power plant. I am wondering if the power interests of this state are greater than the law making bodies and the courts. I wonder if the power interests control us, body and soul in Nebraska. It will behoove the voters, this coming year, to look with care at the records of men elected to legislative and judicial positions. As the months pass between now and election time, this newspaper will try to keep the voters of Valley county somewhat posted on the records of the candidates.

No, Mary, the cook calendars are not ready as yet. But don't worry, one will be mailed to you as soon as they are ready. We are being delayed by two things, first, I am undecided whether to give in to the popular clamor and put my picture on the front page of the paper to print the calendar on. A different rule is going to be followed this year in distributing the calendars. None will be given out at the office. No, you can't send the little boy in on his way from school and get your calendar. In former years we have watched him go away with it, sometimes it was snowing or raining, sometimes his hands were wet or dirty, sometimes he laid it down to have a piece of brick lovingly at a schoolmate and forgot to pick it up and came back the next day to get another. So I am going to mail a calendar, this year, postage prepaid, to every paid up subscriber of the Quiz, believe it or not. These calendars are valuable. They cost about 30c each to make and if you keep them all, year after year, they will be worth a lot to hand down to your daughter and she to hers, through the coming years. So don't come and ask for them. I would be embarrassed and would hate to refuse you, but must treat all alike. You will get yours in due time, tho' it may be near mid-January before they are ready.

Something Different

I have a darned good notion to take up the whole column this week writing about our new boy, since he is far more interesting than anything else I know about.

Kerry, the baby, will be one month old on Dec. 19 and weigh about eight and a quarter or eight and a half pounds by that time. His hair is a little brownier than blonde, and his eyes are a very dark blue surrounded by dark eyelashes.

He is fat, nice and rounding. There are parts of his neck that I never have been visible yet to his fond admirers. He is slim hipped and deep chested. A sunny babe he is as good as could be expected with such amateurish parents worrying him constantly.

The baby has a soft little voice, and does not cry obstreperously. Someone asked if he was cuddly? Yes, indeed!

One of the best laughs we had on our trip through Nebraska recently was to see crews of road workers busily working at the shoulders of the highway, every few miles.

And it was funny because these CWA men nearly always had about seven or eight cars parked nearby, with say, ten men employed.

Several very clever entertainments have been given in Ord lately. One was the P. E. O. husbands kidnapped their wives after a recent meeting and then proceeded to poke gentle fun at them and burlesque them into laughing at themselves.

Another was the Junior Matrons Christmas party, where Mrs. Frank Johnson cleverly gave gifts to the members which recalled some remark they had been heard to make during the year.

One Junior Matron who had wished there was just one thing she couldn't eat was presented with a jar full of tin shavings. Which she likely could not eat. There were many others equally funny, but not for telling here.

In the back room over at Frank Hron's are some great big, long stalked poinsettia plants, left over from some other year which someone around that establishment has coaxed along until they bore a number of the regulation big, red flowers this year, bringing them out well before the Christmas season, too.

It is always a pleasant surprise to find a corner full of flourishing plants, with shiny foliage and gay blossoms.

I was thus pleased recently when Mrs. John Boettger opened her door to me. The whole south side of a big sunny room abounded with pretty green plants she had cherished and tended.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. KOVANDA

Nebraska farmers entering into the corn-hog reduction contract will name the land or the fields they propose to take out of corn in 1934. Their benefit payments will be based upon the production history of the piece of land named in the contract.

In filling out the application blank, the farmer will list the accurate acreage in corn on the farm during the two years, 1932 and 1933. The land he takes out of corn under the contract in 1934 will be at least twenty per cent of the average acreage during 1932-33. It may run up as high as 30 per cent if that will even up fields and fit into his crop rotation system.

The corn-hog contract provides space for five years of production history on the field or the land to be taken out of corn in 1934. The history is called for only on the acres to be taken out of corn. Just how strict the Corn-Hog Section at Washington will be in requiring that the five year history be given is not yet known. In the opinion of Nebraska administrative officials, few farmers can give accurate records of crops and production on any of their land for the last five years. What they do list on the contract will likely be their best estimates. Future announcements from Washington may clear up the questions which naturally arise.

As Nebraska officials see the matter now, the farmer and his community committee will informally appraise the land to be taken out of corn by agreeing upon an average corn yield which would be reasonable for the particular land in question. They will know the land and about what it will produce in the average year.

Some farmers will take their best corn land out of production in order to get a high cash payment, while many others will take out the poorest land and use the benefit payments to help finance a soil improvement program such as sweet clover or alfalfa.

The corn part of the corn-hog contract will go with the land. Tenants who have moved recently will get the back history on the land they will farm in 1934. Landlords and the 1934 tenants will sign the contract. It is for only one year, 1934. Benefit payments are to be divided as the crops are divided between landlords and tenants.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Casserole dishes or one-dish meals are very popular, and deservedly so. Good, rich and nourishing, the family delights in them, and the harried housewife knows they are more simple and easy to prepare than many other types of meals. Still, she knows her family is not being neglected, but getting a good meal.

Casserole Now What?

Using three cups cooked noodles cut coarse, three cups cooked lima beans, plain boiled, one cup tomato sauce, one-half pound hamburger, place in a buttered casserole first a layer of beans, then a layer of noodles, then hamburger, pickled fine. Repeat until all is used. Cover with tomato sauce made as follows: one cup tomatoes, add one-half teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons vinegar from pickles, one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon butter rubbed into one tablespoon flour and one tablespoon minced onion. Bring to a boil. Pour over the contents of the casserole and bake in moderate oven until done, about thirty minutes. This serves eight.

Mrs. George Parkins.

Christmas Fruit Cake.

Cream two cups sugar with one and one-half cups butter, add six eggs, then add four cups of flour alternately with this fruit, one pound currants, one pound raisins, one pound sultanas, one cup cut walnuts, also put in one wine glass of whiskey or fruit juice, one teaspoon salt, one cup molasses, one cup strong coffee, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves. Bake slowly for three hours. This cake keeps many weeks, and is very good.

Regina Dobrovsky, Ord.

Onion Shortcake.

Cook eight or ten medium sized white onions in three tablespoons of butter and one-half teaspoon salt, cover and simmer until tender, but not browned. Let cool while preparing shortcake:

Combine one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoons shortening, one-third cup milk, one and one-fourth cups baking powder. Work like biscuit dough. Beat one egg and use half of it in the dough. Put the dough in a greased tin and spread the onions over, pouring over the onions one cup of either sweet or sour cream, adding the other half egg to this cream. Bake 25 minutes in an oven of 425 degrees. Serve hot. This is fine if you like cooked onions.

Mrs. Carl Johnson, Kimball.

Sweet Potatoes in Blankets.

Boil sweet potatoes partly done, peel and cut in lengths to fit a slice of pineapple. Wrap each potato in two slices of bacon. Butter a baking dish well and lay slices of pineapple on bottom, sprinkle with brown sugar and a little cayenne pepper. Lay a wrapped potato on each piece, salt and pepper, then bake in a moderate oven until pineapple and potatoes are a light brown. Garnish with parsley or celery and serve.

Mrs. L. H. Whitford, Glidden, Ia.

Bran Bread.

Mix two cups bran, one cup wheat flour or graham, one level teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt, one-half cup molasses, one cup sour milk. This makes one loaf.

Mrs. Martin Bouma, Belva, Okla.

Harvest Moon Frosting.

Put into a double boiler two egg whites unbeaten, one cup firmly packed of brown sugar, a dash of salt, one-fourth cup cold water. Beat with a rotary beater until the mixture stands in peaks, or about five minutes. Add one teaspoon vanilla. This is delicious on chocolate cake.

Mrs. John Klein.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Measure Rain With Yardstick

At Aberdeen, Wash.

To the Editor of the Quiz:

Just a few lines to let you know I am still alive and doing my share of the kicking. We are experiencing one of the worst floods this district ever had. It has rained 3.66 inches since last Friday. Our total rainfall to date is 23 inches, last year was our banner year. We quit using inches and used the yard stick. We had 4 yards and 2 inches.

You may think that we never have any sunny days, but we have more than New York City has. When it rains here believe me, brother, it rains. Yet with all this rainfall I like this climate better than Nebraska, as we do not have any extreme heat or cold weather. I have roses still in blossom. How is that for December?

I am very much in hope to see you get the irrigation and power project as it would be a great benefit to the whole North Loup valley.

Any you have that benevolent organization "The Power Trust" who may not want to have you spend your money foolishly. They are always looking out so that the public does not get cheap power. It is too bad there are not more men of Senator Norris' type.

I am a strong advocate for a municipal ownership of light and power, even if I am a Democrat.

I enjoy reading the Quiz and it does a double duty as when I get through reading it I pass it to some old Valley county residents, Mr. Riley E. Arthand.

Hoping this finds you well and with best wishes I am

Yours Truly,

J. J. Stara, Aberdeen, Wash.

NEW NATIONAL PLAN ENDORSES NEWSPAPER ADS

"As most of us know, modern manufacturers have utilized two well-known instruments for stimulating the sale of their products. The two instruments have been called advertising and sales promotion.

"Certain manufacturers have lumped the two together, calling the result either advertising or sales promotion, as they pleased. But I have been trained to think of them separately, looking on advertising, among other things, as the printed advertisements for publications, and looking on sales promotion, as such things as 'sampling', premiums, demonstrations and the like.

"So I evolved the idea that manufacturers spend all or some of their sales promotion appropriations at the point of contact, where the newspaper advertising appears, as commissions to local people for their work of stimulating interest in, and sales of, the products as advertised in the newspapers of that point or place.

"And I then conceived the idea of engaging these neighborhood point-of-contact stimulators, whom we call 'Broadcasters' to use their personal, friendly words, paralleling the advertising efforts in the newspapers from the membership of the church societies because here we find a source of workers of superior character and ability. Their work is to concentrate attention upon and sales of, those products that will be listed under the Goodwin plan and their remuneration is to be, when received from the manufacturers listed under the Goodwin plan, 2 percent of the sales they influence, which they may, if they wish, contribute to their church or society.

The 2 percent is to come from the sales promotion appropriations of the manufacturers.

"Women have been working hard, in the past few years, to make money to contribute to their churches; but because their local sources of support are themselves short of finances, the results have been usually disappointing and so the women of the church societies have been quick to recognize that the Goodwin plan offers them an easier, more dignified and potentially more resultful way to earn money with which they desire to give aid to their religious and philanthropic interests.

"Of course the primary incentive is to sell products for manufacturers. And with a field force of 50,000 women, contacting at least 2,500,000 housewives and families, we optimistically anticipate our ability to avail manufacturers a new, effective, stimulative aid to sales in the various markets.

"Naturally, it is also a source of pride with us that the Goodwin plan not only brooks fact to be an effective energizer of sales, hence an aid in restarting the buying movement, but that for the good of local communities, it aspires to bring into each local place, and distribute there, two definite sources of outside, liquid funds.

The first is to be, under the plan, the national expenditure for newspaper advertising and the second, the commissions to local neighborhood workers which may, by them, be contributed to their churches or societies.

"We are preparing to list, for the neighborhood workers, many, many quality household articles, apparel articles, electric appliances and many other types of products, perhaps totaling three, four or five hundred items. But, while there is intended to be only one quality article of a kind on any one list, there probably will be several different lists, of different brands, the number of these different lists to depend on the number of workers, or Broadcasters, engaged.

"Under the plan, the newspapers will unquestionably find hundreds of regular, continuous running campaigns coming into their columns, from the manufacturers to be listed; and with the energetic and paralleling efforts of the field workers, newspaper advertising should certainly return results of an unprecedented and never equaled degree, in my opinion.

"It is plain to be seen that this great sales-army is one of the most optimistic forces on today's horizon. And the great degree of endorsements given the plan by publishers, ministers, priests and rabbis, and finally by the very fact that more than 152,000 church societies women have become neighborhood workers under the plan, indicates great potentialities from this simple but enormous plan, the 152,000 workers for which will endorse newspaper advertising in every sales-effort they make."

Incidentally, the originator of the Goodwin plan announces that no manufacturer will be availed the Broadcaster field force who does not manufacture his products on the basis of the "principles of social justice" such as have been aspired to and worked for by major religious leaders for generations.

"Certain manufacturers have lumped the two together, calling the result either advertising or sales promotion, as they pleased. ## ORD MUST LOSE TELEPHONE CASE THRU TRICKERY

Commissioner Drake. The other two commissioners refused. I then proposed that an order nunc pro tunc be entered to correct the order of June 29, 1933, including therein the substance of my conclusions. The other commissioners refused to concur in such an order.

"To complete this picture of asininity it should also be stated that copies of this order attested by and certified to by the secretary were mailed to all interested parties and that these certified copies carried my name as concurring commissioner. It would be unfair to the other commissioners to say that they did not know the difference between an order fixing permanent rates and an order fixing temporary rates. To sustain the former rates must be such as to produce a fair return upon that which is used for the public convenience. In this case the rates as fixed will not produce a fair return. Temporary and emergency rates are based upon other considerations."

Commissioner Bolten bases his desire to lower rates in Ord upon the premises that (1) the service on account of the quality thereof is not worth the existing rates; (2) that the service is not worth the existing rates because so many telephones have been disconnected.

He expresses the belief that reduction in rates here would actually increase revenues because a large number of telephones would be restored to service.

"In view of this undignified and sordid record," the commissioner says, "I must reluctantly conclude that the sole purpose of the order entered herein was to secure a reversal by the Supreme court of what appears to be an order of the commission. When I came on this commission I anticipated that there would be differences of opinion between myself and the other commissioners. I expected, however, when we had reached our conclusions after a frank and honest discussion that such conclusions would become final. I did not anticipate in this case after reaching our conclusions that the other two commissioners would 'slip a cocklebur under the saddle' for the purpose of securing a reversal of their own order. When I presented the matter in executive session on December 12 I hoped that the other two commissioners would be able to discriminate between honesty and dishonesty.

"For the reasons above set forth I dissent to the order herein entered."

CO-OP CREAMERY PAYS $12,437 FOR PATRONS REBATE

Immediately after the meeting Thursday distribution of rebate checks began at the creamery. The ten largest checks issued this year were: J. F. Valasek, $106.33, McLain Bros., $104.58, D. B. Jerferles, $103.65, Earl Hanson, $95.32, Frank J. Shokoski, $91.93, C. W. Noll, $91.32, J. R. Collins, $88.62, Mrs. C. Jensen, $86.98, B. W. Mason, $83.11, Bud Covern, $82.74.

In his annual report Manager Cope commented at some length regarding the present low price being paid for butter-fat.

"The butter markets of the United States are in a deplorable condition," he said. "Just at the beginning of winter when butter-fat prices should be going up they are going down. The buying power of the consuming public is so reduced that many families are going without butter and are using oleomargarine as a substitute. To make matters worse, dairymen are retaining more heifers than in former years and thereby increasing their herds and their production at an alarming rate. Many grain farmers who in former years milked only a cow or two have gone to milking cows to get money for the necessities of life. Under these conditions a huge surplus of butter has accumulated, the largest surplus ever accumulated in the United States and the seriousness of the situation is becoming more apparent every day.

"About the 17th of August the government began buying huge supplies of butter on the open market for the purpose of stabilizing the market. At first the operations were carried on by the Land o' Lakes organization but now it is handled by a government-supervised board. That was why the butter market held so steady all fall and we had an 18c price on butterfat for several months. The butter so acquired is to be sold and given to relief agencies all over the country.

"It looks as though they had about spent the money allotted for this purpose because in the last two weeks they have been letting the market drop and the price of Chicago Standards has gone from 21 1/4c to 15c and the price of butter in New York has dropped in the same proportion. How much lower it will go I would not attempt to predict."

At the time Manager Cope was speaking the Ord creamery was paying 14c per pound for butterfat but two days later it dropped to 10c, where it has held ever since.

"There has been much talk of a code for the industry, of regulating the production of cream to balance the consumption of butter and a processing tax is being seriously considered by the powers-that-be," the Ord manager says. "If this proposed processing tax relieves the dairyman to the same tune as the pork processing tax has relieved the hog raiser, then Lord Pity Us."

Officers of the Ord creamery last year were A. W. Cornell, president, Orin Kellison vice president, C. M. Davis secretary and Jos. P. Barta treasurer. Other directors included P. E. Pocock, A. J. Adamek, Earl Smith, Chas. Clochon and Chris Nielsen. The terms of Pocock, Adamek and Smith expired this year and all three were re-elected by stockholders Thursday. The board of directors has not yet met to elect officers for the coming year.

We Don't Say-- Produce More Cream! BUT-- We Do Say-- We want to buy what cream you have to sell

The Patronage Dividend that we have just paid is about 19% over and above the average door delivery price.

Don't you believe it pays to COOPERATE when by so doing you get 19% more for what you have to sell.

If the Co-operative Creamery would drop out of the picture for a year, of course there would be no Cream Dividends paid in Ord.

Some of these days the Centralizers are liable to quit meeting our dividends and then you will have a headache.

Why not get on the band wagon and help make this FARMERS CREAMERY more successful in the future than it has been in the past.

You get good service, honest weights and tests here and our business is appreciated.

VOL. 51 NO. 40

VALLEY COUNTY CORN-HOG MEN ASKED TO MEET

Representative of the Extension Service Will Explain Corn-Hog Program.

Valley county corn and hog growers are asked to meet Thursday, Jan. 4, at Ord to elect from three to five members of the county corn-hog committee and to hear a general discussion of the corn-hog program as it has been outlined by the federal men at Washington and the state corn-hog committee. The meeting will be held at the Bohemian hall and begin at 1:30 o'clock, C. C. Dale, county agent says.

In the few days before the meeting in Mr. Dale will be busy making arrangements for the meeting and letting farmers over the county know about it. He expects to have several hundred men in and to have a good representation from each section of the county.

John Robertson, one of the state corn-hog committee members who lives in Holt county, will be at the meeting in Ord next Thursday to give the views of the state corn-hog committee and to help in the selection of the Valley county corn-hog committee. He will discuss what the state committee feel are qualifications of the Valley county committeemen, laying particular emphasis on the choice of men who are well acquainted over the county, who are wholeheartedly in sympathy with the emergency programs, and who have the time and ability to put upon the work at hand. Those committeemen must be able to present the corn-hog plan to other men in the county at community meetings, must be able to help County Agent Dale in establishing policies and setting up the county organization to sign up contracts. The committee which is chosen will pick three men in each precinct to act as the local corn-hog committee.

A representative of the extension service at the agricultural college in Lincoln will also be at the meeting to explain in a general way the corn-hog plan. He will probably not go into as much detail as Mr. Dale will later in the community meetings. This man will, however, be able to answer general questions for farmers and give them an idea about the first of the official rulings that have come out from Washington.

Quiz Editor Injured As Result Of Fall

E. C. Leggett slipped when he stepped onto the back porch at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Anderson at an early hour Tuesday morning and sustained a severe fracture of the left foot. He was there attending a Christmas party given by the members of the girls club, to which their husbands were invited. The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. Weekes where x-rays were taken and then the foot was placed in a cast which will have to remain on about 60 days the Dr. said. Dr. Weekes assisted Dr. Barta in dressing the injury.

First Cold Weather Arrived Christmas

After weeks of the finest kind of weather, weather that would make a Californian turn green with envy, and after those who feel that Christmas is not Christmas without snow and cold weather, had about given up hope, it turned cold Sunday, Christmas day was colder and before the end of the day the ground was white with snow and the thermometers about town registered well down toward zero. Luckily it didn't snow much, possibly half an inch but Tuesday morning it was a few degrees below zero, the first cold weather of fall and winter. There is time for plenty of cold weather yet, but the old timers have been saying, as week after week of fine weather passed, "Every week like this makes the winter that much shorter." Anyhow the plumbers and garage men got a break this week.

Hogs $12 in Germany.

Chris Wedemeyer, Ravenna man who is spending the winter with relatives in Germany, writes that hogs are selling there for $12 per hundred, live weight, and prices of other farm produce are in proportion yet one can get a good care meal in a first class hotel for 20c and a good room for 50c a night. The U. S. dollar is low in Germany and when he got there he exchanged his dollars for 2 marks and he got only 2 marks and 20 pfennigs for a dollar whereas in 1929 he got 4 marks and 20 pfennigs. German beer is much better than our own $2 and for 5c one gets twice as much as he gets for 10c in this country, the Ravenna man says.

Had Christmas Party.

Joe Anton Pokorney, home west of Ord was the scene of a wonderful Christmas party when all the immediate relatives gathered there to celebrate the holiday. Honor guests from abroad were a niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Lange of Omaha.

New CWA Proposals Not As Yet Approved

The new CWA proposed projects mentioned in the Quiz last week as having been sent in to the state headquarters, have not been approved as yet, though approval is expected shortly. Work is going steadily forward on all the projects that have been started, in spite of the cold weather and work will be started on the new ones as soon as approval is received.

As stated last week, there are now 12 projects under way and last week 237 men were employed in Valley county on these projects and they worked a total of 5,381 hours. The total paid to the men last week Saturday was $2,242.90.

Bredthauer Home Is Partially Burned

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bredthauer are congratulating themselves that the fire in their home Tuesday was not more disastrous than it was. Early that morning Mr. Bredthauer went under the end of the house to thaw the water which had frozen during the night. Getting it to working properly, he later, went to the field after a load of hay and Mrs. Bredthauer went about caring for her chickens. After a time the children called their mother, telling her they smelled smoke. She at first thought it was steam but soon discovered there was fire but couldn't locate it. She then called the Lynn Collins home and the Collins folks, near neighbors hurried over, and soon other neighbors arrived and though a good deal of damage was done to the north end of the house, and considerable personal property loss was sustained, the fire was put out and most of the house saved. The prompt response of many neighbors and friends was all that made this possible.

NIGHT SCHOOL FOR ADULTS TO OPEN JANUARY 3

Advance Enrollment 75, Faulty Fully Organized; Still Time To Enter School.

With 75 students already enrolled and the faculty fully organized, Ord's adult night school will start next Wednesday, January 3, and continue every Wednesday evening for the next 10 weeks, said Supt. Millard Bell yesterday. Twenty to 25 classes have already been organized and more are being formed as additional registrations come in.

By vote of prospective students, Wednesday was chosen as the most popular evening and first classes will convene at 7 o'clock each Wednesday night. Three one-hour periods will be conducted, which will give the students the chance to register for three separate courses if they desire. They need register for only one or two courses, however.

Besides the entire teaching staff of the Ord schools, the following Ord people will teach courses: Joseph P. Barta, Miss Clara McClatchey, Marion Cushing, Dr. F. A. Barta, Rev. Willard McCarthy, Thelma Partridge, Ralph Norman, Ign. Kilma, Jr., and Mrs. Edward Kokes.

The contract bridge course being taught by Dr. Barta has already attracted 25 registrations and more are expected, says Supt. Bell.

Another course that is proving popular is a forum in local and modern problems. Many have enrolled for this course also.

For a complete list of courses and for other information consult Supt. Bell or appear at 7:00 next Wednesday prepared to register, arrange a schedule and begin work. It is desirable that all students be on time on opening night, Mr. Bell says.

Peckham Fined For Intoxication

Frank Peckham was arrested at Arcadia and had a hearing before Judge Anderson the first of the week. Evidence was introduced to show that in addition to being intoxicated he had a small amount of liquor on his person, so his fine was greater than it otherwise would have been. The fine was $25 and costs and he is in jail until the fine is either paid or laid out.

To Have Carnival.

Alvin Blessing May Seek Senate Office

A well defined rumor is making the rounds of Ord, may file on the republican ticket for the Nebraska state senate. James P. Murray, of Sargent, is now state senator in this district. He is a democrat and has filed for re-election.

Mr. Blessing, perennial chairman of the republican county central committee, will be a strong candidate if he consents to file, it is thought. Experienced in business and in politics, a man who knows how to get things done, Blessing will have strong support in every county in the district.

Prospect For Airport Seem Less Hopeful

A study of daily newspaper reports the last few days makes it seem unlikely that Ord will get the coveted airport under the CWA. The local Chamber of Commerce officers, however, have not given up hope, and are still corresponding with officials having the airport projects in charge.

Henry Benn has come forward with a proposition for a field on his place, which local officials seem to think would be, if anything, better than the Mortensen location, and this has been submitted to the proper government officials. A reference to the map of Nebraska shows a large hole in north central Nebraska where, so far, no airport has been located, and such a condition does not seem to be in keeping with the wishes of the government and we are still hopeful that Ord will be designated as one of the locations.

Loup Water Rights Settled Yesterday

At a hearing held in Lincoln yesterday the question of water rights in the Loup river area was settled by a compromise, state papers report. The Middle Loup project is to get 300 second feet of water, the North Loup project 260 second feet and the Columbus project will get the balance of the river's flow.

State Engineer Roy Cochran has taken the compromise agreement under advisement and will announce his decision in a few days.

The North Loup project, besides getting 260 second feet for irrigation, may use the entire flow of the river for power development. All but the 260 second feet must be restored to the river after being run over the turbines.

Bert M. Hardenbrook and E. H. Dunmire represented the North Loup project at the hearing.

Baby Charles Edward Romans.

Charles Edward Romans, infant son of Charles Edward and Ida Romans, was born in Burwell, Nebraska, 1933, and died at the Hillcrest Sanatorium in Ord Tuesday morning, December 26, aged one month and four days.

Funeral services were held from Frazier's Chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. M. C. Smith. Mrs. Mark Tolen sang. The body was laid to rest in the Ord cemetery.

Brickner's Celebrate At Family Reunion

Only twice in the last 35 years, has the Brickner family been able to all be together and this Christmas was the last of those two times. There are seven of the Brickner children, they were children a good while ago. They are, in the order of their ages, Charley, Mrs. Ed Holloway, Mrs. J. M. Burkey of Grant, Nebr., Mrs. Kingston, Mrs. Rose Howard of Los Angeles, Sam and Mrs. Joe Gunnerson of Aurora. Of course those whose home is not mentioned all live at or near Ord. The big celebration, held in honor of their father, Barne Brickner, was at the Ed Holloway home, the seven children and their families and in-laws making up the 32 who partook of the turkey and other good things to eat. The Burkeys came to Grand Island on the train where they were met by the Gunnersons and Mrs. Howard who brought them to Ord and it came pretty near being a sad home coming, for when near Ord; their car was upset on the corner south of the John Long home, and all received a severe shaking up and more or less bruises and the car was quite badly wrecked. Passing autoists brought them to town, a wrecker got the car and it was repaired and the Gunnersons were able to return home Tuesday. There were four generations represented at the reunion.

George Davis Dead.

George E. Davis, for 11 years county agent in Howard county, and well known by many in Valley county through his work in judging at our county fairs; died Sunday at his home in Lincoln. He has been engaged in government work for some time.

SURVEY OF FARM HOUSING WILL BE MADE IN COUNTY

Irrigation Projects May Benefit From Survey; Former Ord Teacher in Charge Here.

In the very near future under the direction of the Civil Works Administration, the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Home Economics, and the Extension Service, a survey will be made of farm homes in Valley county.

The purpose of this farm housing survey is to obtain information on farm housing conditions in the United States. Since the government has undertaken a farm relief program we may anticipate that farm people may be able to make farm home improvements in the next few years, and it is desirable to have some idea as to those needs. This survey will show what improvements are most needed in order that plans may be worked out whereby such improvements may be in farm homes at low cost.

The survey is made up of approximately 300 questions, the answers to which will give a picture of housing conditions in farm homes.

This type of survey is being done in forty-six states. In Nebraska only nine counties have been chosen in which to do this kind of survey. Valley county is among the chosen nine. The others are Clay, Cuming, Dawson, Perkins, Phelps, Otoe, Saline and Scottsbluff.

From our county will be chosen ten enumerators to make this survey. They will visit every farm home, including those occupied by tenants and hired help. We people on the farm have a very definite part in this survey. Only with our co-operation and help can these people from our county make a successful survey. Help to make Valley county true to its already good name by giving these enumerators all the help that you possibly can when they come to see you.

These enumerators will work under the direction of Miss Tillie Saxton of Tilden, who is a trained home economist and Mr. Roger W. Seng of York, Nebr., who is a graduate architect. The headquarters of Farm Home Survey will be found on the third floor of the county court house.

The Loup power projects may receive additional impetus from the results of this survey. There are included, a number of questions concerning the extent to which electrical power and equipment is now being used on farms in this county. When complete, the survey will reveal the great advantages which would be provided by the development of this water power project.

These directions are hoping to begin work in this survey Thursday or Friday of this week.

Served Ditch Workers Coffee.

Probably Mrs. Glen Auble never worked at sewer ditch digging when the temperature was hovering around zero but she realized that it was a cold and unpleasant job, Tuesday, so she called 30 men into her home 5 at a time and served them steaming hot coffee and cookies and were they cheered and pleased. And will they remember Mrs. Auble for a long time, for her thoughtfulness. The Quiz believes they will.

Quiz Is Late.

Christmas came on Monday and one day was lost, then Eugene got hurt and that raised hobb with our plans, and we just can't help being late this week, the first time in several years.

We Place Great Value On Good Will and Effort

James B. Ollis, Sec-Treas. of the Valley County National Farm Loan Association and all borrowers of the Federal Land Bank. As we are nearing the end of the year 1933, we want you to know that we appreciate your heroic effort to keep your farm loans in good standing and we especially appreciate the kind manner in which you have cooperated with the Federal Land Bank through this depression and may we not grow weary, but in the coming year of 1934 may we have even a stronger determination to drive the depression wolf from the door of the farm home and make it a desirable place to live. May the time speedily come when agriculture will be granted equal rights with the other industries of our great nation.

May you not be disappointed in the joys of Christmas and Hope in the New Year.

Yours truly,

A. W. Riness, Field Representative of Federal Land Bank of Omaha.

The WEDDING MARCH MURDER

SERVICE

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Waiting in the minister's study for the wedding procession to teach the altar, Jim Franklin, about to be married to Doris Carmody, is stabbed to death. Callis Shipley, one of the bridesmaids, is obviously in a state of anxiety. Peter Cardigan, novelist, an amateur detective of some note, with Sergeant Kilday, of the New York police, begin the official investigation.

CHAPTER II.—The dagger used to kill Franklin is found. Fingerprints have been carefully obliterated. Franklin, while waiting, had many visitors, among them his mistress, an actress, "Choo Choo Train," his intended wife's father, Ambrose Carmody, her brother, Rylie, Daniel Bullis, well-known politician, and an unknown woman in a blue frock, who had appeared openly with Franklin. The dead man's law partner, Milo Dunbar, appears. Rylie Carmody admits trying to stop the wedding, after being informed by Webster Spears that Franklin was still friendly with Choo Choo. He tells his approaching marriage Kilday secured the dead man's keys, realizing that through them he can "line up" suspects with whom Franklin had been more or less intimately associated in his business and social life.

CHAPTER III.—Cardigan and Kilday interview Callis Shipley, whose actions in the church and immediately following the ceremony, when Franklin's body had appeared furtive. She is somewhat contradictory in her answers to questions, but the investigators learn nothing of importance. An interview with Daniel Bullis is also fruitless.

(Now continue the story.)

"Then you don't think Callis Shipley or Rylie Carmody—"

"I don't want to think of them until I have to," declared the sergeant. "This is our plainest trail. If it doesn't pan out, I can come back to the others. Bullis was there, and his motive was clear-cut."

"And so was Rylie Carmody's. He was determined to stop the wedding," Peter reminded him earnestly. "So was Choo Choo Train's. She was Franklin's mistress. She had a motive for stopping the wedding. And the woman in blue—whoever she may have been—had a motive for stopping it, if she loved Franklin. That's the queer thing about this case. Eight or nine people, that we know of, had an opportunity to commit the crime, and it doesn't require much imagination to find a motive for any of them."

Kilday rose. "I'll take 'em one at a time," he said. "And I'm going to start with Bullis. Coming?"

"Let's go," said Peter.

Daniel Bullis was unexpectedly easy to find. A telephone call from the restaurant located him at his downtown club where he usually dined. He was still at table when interrupted by Kilday's call.

"Sure I went to see him," the politician said, after seating each of his guests. "How about a drink? What will you have, boys?"

They both declined. It was a matter of principle with Kilday. Cardigan thought there was a shade of too much breezy friendliness in the invitation. It didn't quite ring true.

"Well, you don't mind if I do," said Bullis, ringing for an attendant. "Every one to his own tastes, as the widow said when she kissed the pig." The quantity of his booming laugh was more than atoned for by his lack of mirth. He entertained his visitors with an anecdote, obviously intended to reveal his own importance, as he waited for his drink.

Daniel Bullis was a huge man, from the hairy hands that had engulfed Peter's during their introduction, to the crown of his head, which seemed almost too ponderous for his massive frame. It was that ponderous head, which dwarfed the wide shoulders, that fascinated Peter. In spite of its size, or because of it, Cardigan was not sure which there was something almost infantile about the man's expression. The short, whitish blond hair, straight as a string, grew low on his forehead, and was unparted. It was not as though it had been combed, long ago, and forgotten, so much as though it had never known a comb. Eyebrows there were almost none, and this heightened the wide innocence of the man's blue stare, except when he laughed. Then telltale folds of flesh curled up beneath his eyes, revealing an uncertain maturity. The mouth and chin were a direct negation of Bullis' other features, for there was strength written in the lean lips and wide sweep of jaw.

The drink arrived, and the politician drained the cool contents of the long glass before turning again to Kilday.

"Yeah," he repeated. "I went to see Franklin." He nodded toward a disorderly pile of newspapers by his chair. "I've been reading about it. So I wasn't surprised when you phoned that you wanted to see me. Well?" He twisted in his chair. In order to face the detective. "Let's go. What do you want to know?"

"First I want to know what you were so anxious to see Franklin about, Mr. Bullis?"

"Anxious? The politician weighed the word. "Well, I guess you'd call it that. I had to see him. I wanted to tell him what I thought of him. Why, I helped make Jim Franklin, and he knew it. He'd still be unknown, if it hadn't been for me. That's why he was afraid to see me, after he turned on me."

"Afraid to see you?" Peter interrupted.

"What else would you say?" Bullis demanded contemptuously. "I'd been trying to get hold of him for three days. At his office, his home, his club, everywhere. Why, I've even been paying him over at Choo Choo Train's. But he was dodging me."

"Well, I knew there was one place he couldn't dodge me—the church. So I went there, and I saw him."

"What was it you were so anxious to see him about?" Kilday repeated his question.

Bullis compressed his lips into a thin hard line. "Huh," he grunted, "and you call yourself a detective. Well, I'll tell you. Jim Franklin thought he was going to climb into the governor's chair by sacrificing a few old friends who put him where he was. I went there to tell him he'd never get near Albany, until he was willing to listen to me. And I told him. He was in a tough spot. He had to listen to me. And he agreed with me, too."

"You mean to say," Peter leaned forward intently, "that you and Franklin came to an agreement, there in the church study? Did you part friends?"

"Sure," Bullis grinned with his mouth, but his eyes remained palely expressionless. "Jim saw his mistake, and we parted the best of friends."

"Just how did that come about?" the novelist inquired curiously. "You weren't in a very friendly frame of mind when you went there."

The politician leaned back in his chair. "I have ways of making people agree with me."

"So I see. I'm trying to find out just what you had to say to Franklin, and what he said to you, that caused such a sudden change of feeling between you."

"You'll never know that," replied Bullis shortly. Again he picked up his highball glass, his attention apparently riveted solely on the drink.

"Then perhaps you'll tell us about the woman you saw there," suggested Cardigan. "There was a woman there, wasn't there?"

"Sure," said Bullis. "A peach. Jim

"I don't know about Choo Choo," replied the novelist wearily. "As for the other girl, she never entered the study. Royce declares he rapped on the door, and Franklin replied that young Carmody wasn't there. As far as we know, that's all Miss Shipley had to do with it."

Kilday paused in the lighting of a new cigar. "Except that she drove home with Rylie Carmody and lied to us about it. And knew that Jim Franklin was killed, but can't explain how she knew it. And," he brandished the stogy for further emphasis, "why did she run around there looking for Rylie Carmody in the first place? I'm not so sure," he added, "that she isn't the blond woman in the blue dress that Doctor Abernathy saw. He may not be telling the truth about that. If he knows this girl so well, he may have a mistaken idea of chivalry and be trying to protect her."

But Peter still was not convinced. "If it had been Callis Shipley, wouldn't Bullis have identified her from the picture in the newspaper?"

"Maybe. Maybe not. I think you answered that question yourself a bit ago. Perhaps Bullis doesn't want to identify the woman he saw in the study because she heard all that passed between him and Franklin. It's entirely possible she knows too much. No-o-o, Peter, we're not through with this girl yet, by any means. Nor with Bullis, either."

"I don't know about Choo Choo," replied the novelist wearily. "As for the other girl, she never entered the study. Royce declares he rapped on the door, and Franklin replied that young Carmody wasn't there. As far as we know, that's all Miss Shipley had to do with it."

No-o-o, Peter, we're not through with this girl yet, by any means. Nor with Bullis, either."

The novelist had hardly hoped it would be as easy to identify the woman in blue as that, yet he was disappointed. He continued the questioning. "Was Franklin quarreling with this woman when you entered the room?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what they were quarreling about?"

"In a way I do. It seems that the woman was in love with Jim, and she didn't like this wedding business."

"What did she say?"

"I don't remember everything that was said. I only remember that she was hysterical, and Jim was trying to quiet her. The only words I remember are that she kept saying, 'You can't do this, Jim. You can't do it. I'll ruin both of us, before I let you.'"

"Jim was glad to see me, right then. He quieted the woman, and I told him I wanted to see him alone. She didn't want to leave, and finally Jim said, 'Go ahead and talk. She's all right.'"

"Later, when I was ready to leave, Jim turned to the woman again. 'Can't you see how much trouble I'm in, honey?' he asked her. 'I'll keep my word to you, this time, sure. Just as soon as I get back. The woman started to cry. 'If I could only believe you, Jim,' she said, 'everything would be all right.'"

"It's going to be all right, honey," he told her, and he motioned me to help him.

"Listen," I says to her, 'give him a break. He's going to be married in five minutes.'"

"I don't remember all we said, but she finally agreed to go, and she left with me. We went out the back door. 'My car's here,' I told her. 'I'll take you home.'"

"But she wouldn't let me. She had her own car, a green sedan. I know because I watched her get in."

"What make was the car?" demanded Kilday.

"It was a Cadillac, I think."

The sergeant groaned. "It would be. There are only ten thousand green Cadillacs in this town."

Peter studied Bullis thoughtfully. "You could identify that woman, if you saw her again, Mr. Bullis?"

"I don't know. Maybe." The politician returned his stare coolly.

"She made quite an impression on you, didn't she?" This time it was Kilday speaking.

The politician turned the battery of his expressionless eyes upon him. "I said she was easy to look at," he replied.

"But still you couldn't identify her picture in the paper?" The detective grunted his disbelief.

Bullis once more examined the pictures spread out across the front page of Topics.

"You seem mighty sure it was one of these girls," he said.

"Newspaper pictures aren't always such good likenesses," the politician snavely replied.

CHAPTER IV

Seeking a Woman in Blue.

IT WAS still early when Kilday and Cardigan quitted Bullis' club.

"What do you think?" Kilday demanded, as they waited for their car.

Peter shrugged. "He's only telling what he wants to tell. There's no way of knowing when Bullis left that room. When Ambrose Carmody rapped, Franklin made him wait before admitting him. There must have been some one there, who had time to leave by the rear door before Carmody entered. If it was Bullis, he could have waited until Carmody left and then come back. Or, of course, it may have been the woman in blue who returned. It is possible it was both. I am only sure of one thing. Some one was there or Franklin wouldn't have kept Mr. Carmody waiting."

"And how about Choo Choo Train? And Callis Shipley? They both visited the vestry after Carmody."

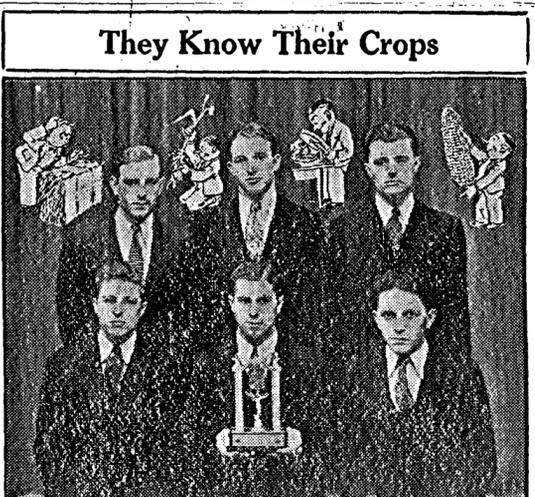

"I don't know about Choo Choo," replied the novelist wearily. "As for the other girl, she never entered the study. Royce declares he rapped on the door, and Franklin replied that young Carmody wasn't there. As far as we know, that's all Miss Shipley had to do with it."

They Know Their Crops

Above is shown the University of Nebraska crops judging team that recently won the championship in this event at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City and then went to the International Livestock show at Chicago to again win the championship. From left to right: back row, Arthur Peterson, Oakland; Boyd Shank, Superior; and Prof. A. L. Frolk, coach. Front row, Elmer Heyne, Wisner; Raymond Kinch, Lexington; and Philip Henderson, Superior.

LINCOLN, Neb.—University of Nebraska football teams are not the only representatives of that institution that win contests. Judging teams as well are rapidly gaining nation-wide fame as winners.

Twice national champions in one year! That is the record of Prof. Anton Frolk's University of Nebraska college of agriculture crops judging team for 1933. They have just completed the "greatest year" in the history of judging events. Not only did they win the intercollegiate crops judging contest at Kansas City recently but to add more laurels they copied another college championship in Chicago at the International Livestock Exposition.

This is the biggest year any Nebraska crops judging team has ever enjoyed. It is the first time a team has won both Kansas City and Chicago championships. Professor Frolk has been coaching the teams since 1930.

Because both Callis Shipley and Rylie Carmody had referred to Webster Spears as the man who had been the source of information regarding Choo Choo Train, it was decided that he would question him next. And here a surprise awaited them.

The Spears home was a private house, the last to linger in a neighborhood of apartment buildings which towered around it. At the curb before it, two cars were parked, a roadster and a sedan. This particularly attracted their attention, because it was necessary for them to park in front of the apartment house next door.

"We want to see Mr. Webster Spears," Kilday informed the butler who answered the ring.

"I'm very sorry, sir. Mr. Spears is busy. He cannot be disturbed."

"I'm sorry, too," said the detective, exhibiting his badge in the palm of his hand. "This is once he'll have to be disturbed."

After a wait of several minutes, during which Kilday tersely summarized the evidence as it touched this man, Spears entered the room. Not more than twenty-five he was of that slender build which emphasized the nicety of his grooming. His features, molded too finely, were almost sharp, particularly now, as he glanced inquiringly first at Cardigan, then at the detective. Peter noticed how his hair, prematurely receding at the temples, directed attention to the sleekness of the man.

"You wanted to see me?" Spears began abruptly. He did not offer to shake hands.

"We want to know why you were so anxious to stop Doris Carmody's wedding this afternoon?" Kilday inquired bluntly.

The question caught the young man off balance.

"I? Stop the wedding?" He smiled briefly, as though he found the idea absurd.

"Why else did you tell Rylie Carmody about Choo Choo Train today?" the sergeant demanded. "You did tell him, didn't you?"

Spears drew up a chair and sat down deliberately, before replying. Peter felt that it was his method of sparing for time.

"Yes," he admitted finally. "I informed Rylie about this actress, of course. It seemed the only thing to do."

"How do you happen to know about her?"

"It seemed to be common knowledge. I heard gossip of it at the club. After that, I made some inquiries which substantiated what I had heard, so I informed Rylie."

"When was it you heard this gossip?" Peter interjected.

Spears glanced at him quickly. "Only this morning. Two chaps at the next table were discussing the wedding—feeling sorry for the Carmodys. They mentioned this actress. That angered me, of course. You see," he shrugged dapper shoulders, "Rylie and Doris have been almost brother and sister to me. We have grown up together. I felt the same interest in this wedding as though it had been my own sister. That's why I made inquiries. Everyone seemed to know that Choo Choo Train was Franklin's mistress. It was the most natural thing in the world for me to inform Rylie."

"And you wanted to be sure, didn't you? That's why you called up his father, too, wasn't it?" Kilday demanded.

"I don't know what you mean," Defensively.

"Oh, yes, you do," the sergeant persisted. "You telephoned Ambrose Carmody and gave him the same information, just this afternoon."

"Did he say that?" The young man's voice was incredulous. Peter found himself wondering whether or not the tone was assumed.

The detective studied the glowing ash of his cigar. "You didn't give him your name," he continued. "But you must realize that you've talked to Mr. Carmody often enough that he could recognize your voice."

Kilday was trying a shot in the (Continued next week.)

Before our station was built you were paying 18c for U. S. motor gasoline. Today, with the same gasoline costing approximately twice as much and an additional half cent federal tax added, you can buy it for 15c instead of 18c.

Our aim is economical distribution of Gasoline, Oils and Greases, and it is on this basis that we ask for your patronage. When trading with us you buy products that are handled by local men from the time they leave the refinery until you get them. Our gasoline is never over a week old when you get it. That should mean something to you.
