LEGION BENEFIT PROGRAM WAS WELL ATTENDED

Lincoln and New York City
Musicians Present Pleasing Musical Program.

Music lovers of Ord and vicinity were enthusiastic last week with their praises for the Molzer group and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fuson who rendered a delightful program at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening. The program was sponsored by the American Legion, the proceeds to go into a fund to buy uniforms for the Ord high school band. More than six hundred people attended the program in spite of the hot weather that had gripped the country for several weeks.

The program consisted of several orchestra numbers, featuring the various talented musicians and directed by Arthur J. Babich. Among the numbers were violin solos by Prof. Molzer and Miss Eunice Bingham, cello solo by Miss Garnet Mayhew, piano accordan by Gean Ellsworth and piano selections by Ernest Harrison. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fuson gave three folk songs in their pleasing manner, all of which were greatly enjoyed by the assembled group.

In the orchestra which played before and after the individual numbers, in addition to the above artists, were Mrs. Molzer, wife of Prof. Molzer, and their three sons, and four Ord young men, Dr. Kirby McGrew, Elwin Auble, Rodney Stoltz and Frank Rysavy. This group of musicians have been here spending several weeks vacation, the Molzer party being entertained at the Mortensen summer cottage by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Sowl and the Fusons in the home of Mr. Fuson's sister, Mrs. Jos. P. Barta.

It might be interesting to know something more of these people. Arthur J. Babich lives in Lincoln where he directs a boy's band as well as several other musical organizations. The last number presented by the orchestra was a tango which he composed. Shortly after he composed this number he was asked to be a guest conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra playing this tango. Mr. Babich accepted the offer. At the age of ten Mr. Babich, while living in Russia, arranged and directed an opera.

Prof. Molzer is quite well known in Ord. As an instructor in violin at the University of Nebraska, he has instructed several Ordites and always feels at home when here. Miss Bingham is a student of Mr. Molzer and those who heard her play while in Ord have no question as to the ability of both Garnet Mayhew, whose home is in Red Oak, Ia., is an artist on the cello and ranks with the best. Gean Ellsworth, a Grand prize player, plays the piano in a professional manner but made his biggest hit on the piano accordan. Probably his best number while here was "Three Shots at Midnight" which he dedicated to Mr. Babich. Mr. Harrison, a piano player of renown has been with the University School of Music a long time and Ord people would never tire of his playing. Mr. Ellsworth was a piano student of Mr. Harrison.

Mention should be made of Mr. Babich's daughters who are talented dancers. On the morning before the concert one of the little girls hurt her foot and was unable to put on her act with her sister. However, the one little girl put on the act alone perfectly.

It hardly seems necessary to tell of the ability and accomplishments of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fuson. They make their home in New York City when they are not traveling over the country on concert tours. When they arrive in Ord their time is taken up between giving voice lessons and entertaining the public, which they do in a beautiful fashion. It is always a pleasure to have them here to entertain us.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.
Next week is the last week that candidates will have to place their messages before the public in the Quiz. A number have already reserved space. We will be crowded and rushed and you can place your order as well Friday or Saturday as next Wednesday. Why not come in right away and let us help you, if necessary, in getting your advertising copy ready. It will help us and you will be sure of better position in the paper.

—Mrs. Neale of Omaha passed away and was buried Friday. She is a daughter of Mrs. Susie Barnes of Ord and Mrs. Glen Barnard of Garfield county. Her only child, her father, Charley Barnes, passed away several years ago and was buried here. Mrs. Neale came to Ord from Illinois with her parents when about a year and a half old. She grew to womanhood here. She was about 52 years of age. Besides these relatives mentioned she leaves three grandchildren, two sisters and a number of relatives and friends.

Fourteen-Foot Corn Reported at Blair

The drouth has resulted in a dearth of tall corn stalks, but R. P. Flynn, who formerly lived near Ord and now farms the Roberts & Rose farm on the bottom lands north of Blair, tells of a 14-foot stalk. The stalk is in a natural basin, where rainfall tends to collect, is still shooting upwards. All corn in the 22-acre field is in good condition, average height of the stalks being more than eight feet.

Method of Handling Feed Loan Changed

Effective August 1 the method of handling relief feeding of livestock was changed according to an announcement made by the County Agent's office today.

The farmer who is unable to feed his stock will now have two alternatives. If he has more than ten units of livestock, it will be necessary for him to apply for the emergency feed and seed loan. This loan is handled locally at the office of Jos. P. Barta.

The farmer who is unable to buy feed and who has ten units or less of livestock, may secure an application for work from his township drouth committeeman. He should bring the application to Dale's office where he can get a work order at the rate of $2.50 per unit of livestock. He will then be assigned work by the work division, for which he will be paid in cash. He agrees in his application that he will use the money so earned to buy feed or seed.

It will be useless for the man who has over ten units to try to get the work order for livestock. It will be limited strictly to those with 10 units or less, and the man who needs this aid should put in his application in advance so that he may have a chance to work and collect his money by the time he is out of feed.

JACK DODGE WAS FOUND DEAD

Apparently in Good Health He Had Eaten a Hearty Meal
Short Time Before.

Will Dodge and Bernard Hoyt drove to Akron, Colo., Tuesday night upon receiving word of the sudden death of their brother, Jack Dodge. He had been working on a farm near Akron and seemed to be feeling fine, having eaten a hearty dinner at noon. After dinner he went out to a granary to lie down to rest and apparently had quietly passed away while sleeping.

Jackson Omer Dodge, son of Erwin and Alice Dodge was born at Elyria, Nebr., April 26th, 1889 and departed this life suddenly of acute dilation of the heart on July 24th, 1934 near Akron, Colo., at the age of 45 years, 3 months and 28 days. He grew to manhood at Elyria and in the year of 1916 he took a claim near Craig, Colo., where he lived until he was drafted with the first draft into the World War service where he served his country for one year and nine months, about twelve months being served overseas. He was honorably discharged from the service May 16, 1919 and on May 17th, 1919 he re-enlisted for one year in the army and after spending a few weeks with his parents he went into service at Camp Kearney in California. September 15, 1920 he was married to Pearl Simpson at Ord, Nebr.

To this happy union was born one daughter, Virginia Pearl of Lincoln, Nebr., one sister, Mrs. Bernard Hoyt, Elyria, and one brother, William Dodge, Elyria, and numerous other relatives and many friends.

His mother, father, one brother and sister preceded him in death. He was a kind neighbor, everyone's friend and respected by all who knew him.

He leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Virginia Pearl of Lincoln, Nebr., one sister, Mrs. Bernard Hoyt, Elyria, and one brother, William Dodge, Elyria, and numerous other relatives and many friends.

His remains were brought to Ord where funeral services were held at Sowl's funeral home on Friday afternoon, July 27th and interment was in Ord cemetery. Rev. Kearns of Burwell conducting the services. Pall bearers were Hans Fischer Jr., Bert Whiting, Fred Meyers, Dave Palmer, Leon Carkoski and Clarence Johnson.

Out of town relatives at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Abrahams and daughter of Lincoln, Virginia Dodge of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Iliff and daughter of Fairfield, Nebr., and Mrs. W. G. Iliff of Long Beach, Calif.

Wm. Monaghan of Chicago and his brother-in-law, Elery Palmer have been in California for a few weeks. They have found work and Mrs. Monaghan and daughter, who have been visiting

Beloved Mother Goes To Reward

Mrs. Frances Kerchal Died Saturday; Funeral Services Held at Catholic Church Monday.

Mrs. Frances Penas Kerchal nee Pochop was born August 6, 1843, in the village of Dlouhe, Moravia, a province of Czechoslovakia.

In 1865 she was married to Joseph Penas. To this union nine children were born, five of whom survive. Mrs. Frances Janicek of Burwell, Louis Penas, Mrs. John Lukes, Mrs. Rudolph Kerchal and Mrs. James Bazant, all of Ord.

At the age of eleven years, it fell to her lot to bear the responsibility of rearing three sisters and a brother. These responsibilities were exemplified, even excelled by those she bore faithfully and untiringly as a devoted wife and mother.

In February, 1892 her son Louis came to the United States and was employed on a farm west of Ord, by the late Matt Parkos.

The following May the parents and sisters came to join him. Mr. Parkos built a tenant house the following fall. There they resided until 1893.

The enterprising, plowing and home-loving spirit led the family to a homestead in Custer county, about nine miles southwest of Burwell, not far from her sister's homestead. Here they made their home until 1911 when Mr. Penas passed away. The next six years

she made her home with her youngest daughter, Mrs. James

Bazant.

In 1917 she was united in marriage with Charles Kerchal and made her home in Ord until her death which occurred Friday, July 27, 1934, at the age of 90 years, 11 months and 21 days. Her husband preceded her in death in February 1933. Since then she lived alone, being faithfully looked after by her son and daughters.

Besides her immediate family she is survived by 23 grandchildren, 35 great-grandchildren, and numerous other relatives and friends.

The deceased was a very devout

Catholic. The funeral was held at the Catholic church Monday, July 30, at 9 a.m., with Father Lawler officiating. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery.

Olive Miller Bride Of Earl M. Yates

Miss Olive Miller, 23 of Ord and Earl M. Yates, 25 of Omaha, were married at the Ord M. E. parsonage by Rev. Smith Saturday, July 21st and have just announced their marriage at Omaha where they live. The bride has been employed in Omaha for a couple of years.

The bride wore a pink floor-length dress and carried a hand bouquet of sweet peas and baby's breath. She was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Miller who wore a pale yellow organdy gown. Both groom and best man, wore white duck suits. Marilyn

PICNIC CLOSES SUMMER TERM MUSIC STUDY

More Than 200 Patrons Gather at Bussell Park for Annual Music Students Picnic.

Approximately two-hundred and twenty-five patrons and lovers of music joined in a large picnic at Bussell Park Tuesday evening, July 31st as a part of the plans in closing the summer term of music carried on the past two months by the Music Department of the Ord schools.

This year's attendance showed a gain of nearly one-hundred people over the picnic in 1933 and reflected the ever increasing interest of the public in the work being done with the young musical students of the community. Many more people came to enjoy the concert immediately following the picnic.

After the tables were cleared the orchestra assembled on a large platform and presented at least a thirty minute program of very pleasing music. The program consisted of the following selections: "American Spirit" march by Epperson; "Sabbath Memories" by Epperson; "Rondino Scherzando" by Metcalf; "Genduso" Italian march by Metcalf; "Country Dances" by Graher arranged by Zdenek; and "Our National Songs" medley by Epperson. During the above program, a trombone solo "Bells of the Sea" by Solomon was played by Oletha Rose with Olga Lukesh accompanying at the piano.

After the orchestra had left the platform an ensemble of six youthful violin students played two selections. Emil Krikas, Patricia Fraizer, Larleen Rose, Irene Auble, Dorothy Koken and Cornelius Biedmond made up this group with Angelina Wachrle at the piano. The band next assembled and played the following: "Platoon" march; "The Regiment Band" march by Metcalf; "Serenade" by Metcalf; "Gala Night" overture by Chenece; "Three Blind Weasels in the Dell" specialty number by Metcalf and "Bombardon" march by Fillmore.

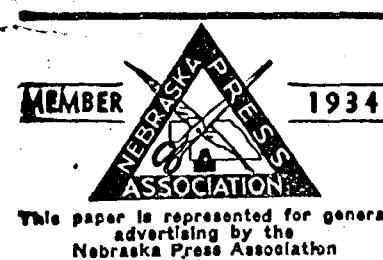

Although many members of the band and orchestra kept faithfully their practice cards during the past two months of work, only the following few remembered to hand over the following few remember to hand over the following few remember to hand over the following few remember to hand over

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

I returned Sunday evening from Cullen Lake and am glad to find that the heat reports, sent by Eugene, were great exaggerated, at least, I find the weather very delightful here now. As this is written, Monday morning, Ord could qualify as a summer resort so far as temperature is concerned. I cannot think how it could be improved. And it was dark when I reached this county last night and I didn't get a chance to see the crops, if there are any, so have only hearsay evidence as to that. I have been told that it has been mighty hot and dry here and that the crops are all burned up. One man told me this morning that there would not be 500 bushels of corn raised in Valley county this year. That does not seem possible but it may be true.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Gross and the girls, Marvel and Dorothy, daughters of Harry Gross, left for home the day before we came. Frank is running for representative in Boone county and wanted a few days before the primary to look after his political fences. I asked him if he was going to be nominated and elected and he said he didn't know, that if he was, he was going to get some things done for the county that needed doing. If the voters of Boone county know what is good for them, they will send Frank to Lincoln. He is one of those men who get things done when he starts. He is thinking ahead and knows what he wants to do and he is honest, a good talker, a good mixer and able to do team work, something that is necessary if results are to be obtained. He is probably the only man running in that county who has a regular program planned out.

The Lakin's left the camp the same time as did the Gross folks and from what they tell me, they had a fine time and are pleased with the Brickner place, which Lakin & Lincoln bought. They are two fine families and will be a fine addition to the camp. I understand that the Lincoln family will go up the coming week.

Eugene left here late last Thursday, taking Alvin along to let him see the country and how good the fishing was. That was the story they told Alvin to get him to go. The real reason was that Eugene hates to drive and he knew I did also, and Alvin is a good driver and a car expert as well. Of course he doesn't suspect the reason and he did really catch the fish the three trips he made out on the lake in the less than two days he was there and brought home a nice box of fish as evidence. He may tell some pretty tall fish stories and it will be just as well to discount them about half, for someone has said, "Once a fisherman, always a liar."

Mrs. Leggett is about well from the severe burn she got on her foot a couple of weeks ago, but it was mighty painful for a few days and had to grow a full crop of new skin over quite a large area. Mrs. Burke is still in the hospital. She had expected to be out last Saturday but when I left it was thought she might have to stay another week. Her strength returns slowly and it may be the latter part of the present week before she gets back to camp.

Mrs. Eugene Leggett and Kerr were fine when I left and were of course glad to have Eugene there with them. When he had to return a couple of days after getting there, because of sickness and accident in the family there, we were all greatly disappointed and he got the full benefit of the hot weather here while I escaped. Now, however, he will have a chance to catch up on his fishing and slimming and rest up from a very strenuous six weeks since I left here the middle of June. I expected, at that time, to be back home by July 1st but a combination of circumstances over which we had no control, made it impossible.

The weather was hot there, too, a few days. It got up to 105 in Brainard and a little above 90 at the lake a couple of days. That would be for a little while in the afternoon. Then it would cool off and the nights were always cool. Fishing has been the best for several years and is still good. There was only one real good rain there after I got there, about 2 inches.

Gets a Big Reception

(Copyright, W. N. U.)

The Fenner people from Burwell, arrived at their cottage, next door to mine, a couple of days before I came home. They were accompanied by Ed Lukhart of the bank department and by Mrs. Horton, a friend of the family and they expected to be there for two weeks. They were working hard when I left, to get a box of big fish to send down to Lincoln to Governor Bryan, probably thinking he needed some extra brain stimulant to help him through the campaign. I believe however, that Governor Bryan will think of everything that could possibly help him without any Cullen Lake fish.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

It is the time of year when canning recipes are in demand, and this department has had several requests for good pickle recipes. If you have some you are proud of, please send them in.

After the fourth of July is over, canning time is here in earnest, and if you are going to send in this type of a recipe please do it now, before it is seasonable. Quite often seasonal recipes reach this department so late that they are practically useless until the following year, and by that time, even if they have been clipped and saved, they are generally lost. Send in your pickle recipes at once, please.

Green Tomato Mince Meat.

Boil one hour, one peck of green tomatoes, chopped, and one pound seeded raisins, three pounds dark brown sugar (white can be used) and one cup vinegar. Then add four tablespoons cloves, one tablespoon cinnamon, four tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt and cook thirty minutes longer.

Lucille Johnson, Mullen. Chocolate Fudge Cake.

Cream together one-half cup fat and one and one-half cups sugar.

Add three beaten egg yolks, one teaspoon vanilla, three squares melted chocolate. Then put in one teaspoon of soda beaten into one cup thick sour milk, and one teaspoon baking powder and one teaspoon salt which have been sifted with two and three-fourths cups flour. Add two-thirds cup chopped nuts. Fold in three stiffly beaten egg whites last. Bake in a moderate oven twenty-five minutes. Frost with Always Perfect Icing: Place in the top of a double boiler the white of one egg, one cup sugar, one teaspoon light corn syrup, two tablespoons cold water, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Beat with an egg beater as the water in the bottom compartment continues to boil. Beat until it holds its shape and is thick enough to spread. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla or other flavoring. Double the amount if you wish to ice the sides of the cake, too.

QUIZ FORUM

Valley County Will Carry On.
To the Editor of the Quiz:

We have come into rather close contact with the drought situation, as local committeeman in our section of the county, acting on the relief set up for dispensing feeds to distressed farmers, also as a member of the local group having to do with the government purchase of cattle. We are convinced that in some quarters and in the minds of more people than is generally supposed, the gravity of the situation is not fully comprehended. There should be no misunderstanding, nor underestimating the fact that Valley county is near the central point of the most devastating catastrophe since civilization first invaded the central west. A drought, of the present proportions is in itself a terrible visitation, even more, coming upon the short crop seasons of the past four years, in connection with and as a final climax to the general business reverse and economic depression that has burdened humanity almost to the point of human endurance, places us upon a status that almost assumes the dangerous challenge to the endurance of our present well being and future civilization.

Our federal and state government are making and have in action the greatest program for human relief, that was ever attempted by any nation, in behalf of a distressed people. It is the solemn duty of every man and woman to get squarely behind this relief program and cooperate in every way possible to make it 100 percent effective, further, a program of such gigantic proportions cannot fail short in its local applications, thus failing to meet the needs in every case. Where these misfits are found, anyone with a constructive and better plan should not hesitate to offer the same. On the other hand if something better cannot be offered, then HE who is only capable of playing the roll of a knocker should retreat, or be conducted to the back grounds by some good American citizen.

If rain does not fall in a short time and we face winter with scarcely no forage for stock, the most foreboding days of distress are ahead. Even this early date is not too soon for every individual upon whom the responsibility of a family is resting, to make a detailed inventory of their needs for the winter and take steps to meet this need first. Fortunately in a very short time a large number of farmers will receive government checks for their part in the reduction program. If other sources of meeting the family needs are not positively assured, this opportunity should not be permitted to pass. "Self preservation" is nature's first law.

If all along the line, the so-called statesmen were as frugal about spending public money, as they are about helping our indigent souls, the taxes would not be oppressive. For example. Five dollars a month for a man to live on. Seventeen cents a day. A bottle of milk and a loaf of bread. One and two-thirds cents for luxuries such as rent, clothes, ice cream, beer. That's all he deserves. Serves him right. He should not have invested in Skinner stock. One man works and gets sixteen-fifty a month for himself and family of four. That is, in groceries. He says that he must join the nudists and pay his rent when prosperity comes, just around the corner. Five dollars a month for house rent is the limit. Yes we will in North Loup. And furnish the water and groceries too perhaps. It's different in Ord. Put 'em in box cars. They are good enough. One addle-headed duffer suggested that the supervisors rent the stock yards. That would be cheaper. It is hard medicine for us who have to "live and let live," isn't it Jake?

I saw a pauper going home with an armful of groceries the other day. He had a loaf of bread baked in another city. I presume that he had some Wisconsin cheese, too. He was whistling a merry roundelay. Such minor troubles as drought, debts, taxes, interest were not worrying him. Blessed be nothing.

This letter is hardly worth sending. All piffle. Just screeds from a hill-billy. Don't forget, Jake, that we still pretend to have a town down here and we are your legemen. So many forget the home town when they get to the city.

Very respectfully,

Geo. G.

Better Meat at Prices That Spell ECONOMY

Right now most people are interested in cutting living expenses to the minimum but they still want quality, especially in their food products. For more than 30 years this market has been serving Ord people—good years, bad years, wet years, dry years—and we believe we can safely claim to have pleased our customers, otherwise we wouldn't have the large business we enjoy today. What's the answer? Our customers know we give them their money's worth and that our prices always spell ECONOMY. If you want good meat at a low price, buy here always.

LEGAL NOTICE AS TO MEASURE TO BE VOTED UPON NOVEMBER 6, 1934

The following amendment to the Constitution proposed by initiative petition will be submitted to the electors of this State for approval or rejection at the general election to be held November 6, 1934:

BALLOT TITLE

"Proposed by Initiative Petition"

An amendment to the Constitution of Nebraska providing that beginning with the regular session of the legislature in 1937 the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a legislature consisting of one house of not less than thirty nor more than fifty members, the members to be nominated and elected in a non-partisan manner; to provide for the compensation and terms of office of said legislative members; to provide for sessions of said legislature and to provide the procedure of and in said legislative body necessary for the enactment of laws."

TEXT OF THE AMENDMENT

"BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA:

That Section 1 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 1. Commencing with the regular session of the Legislature to be held in January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a Legislature consisting of one chamber. The people reserve for themselves, however, the power to propose laws, and amendments to the constitution, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the Legislature, and also reserve power at their own option to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section, or part of any act passed by the Legislature. All authority vested by the constitution or laws of the state in the Senate, House of Representatives, or joint session thereof, in so far as applicable, shall be and hereby is vested in said Legislature of one chamber. All provisions in the constitution and laws of the state relating to the Legislature, the Senate, the House of Representatives, joint sessions of the Senate and House of Representatives, Senator, or member of the House of Representatives, shall, in so far as said provisions are applicable, apply to and mean said Legislature of one chamber hereby created and the members thereof. All references to Clerk of House of Representatives or Secretary of Senate shall mean, when applicable, the Clerk of the Legislature of one chamber. All references to Speaker of the House of Representatives or temporary president of the Senate shall mean Speaker of the Legislature. Wherever any provision of the constitution requires submission of any matter to, or action by, the House of Representatives, the Senate, or joint session thereof, or the members of either body or both bodies, it shall after January first, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, be construed to mean the Legislature herein provided for.

That Section 5 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 5. At the regular session of the Legislature held in the year nineteen hundred and thirty-five the Legislature shall by law determine the number of members to be elected and divide the state in Legislative Districts. In the creation of such Districts, any county that contains population sufficient to entitle it to two or more members of the Legislature shall be divided into separate and distinct Legislative Districts, as nearly equal in population as may be composed of contiguous and compact territory. After the creation of such districts, beginning in nineteen hundred and thirty-six and every two years thereafter, one member of the Legislature shall be elected from each such District. The basis of apportionment shall be the population excluding aliens, as shown by next preceding federal census. In like manner, when necessary to a correction of inequalities in the population of such districts, the state may be redistricted from time to time, but no oftener than once in ten years.

That Section 6 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 6. The Legislature shall consist of not more than fifty members and not less than thirty members. The sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial except as otherwise provided by this constitution or as may be otherwise provided by law.

That Section 7 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 7. Members of the Legislature shall be elected for a term of two years beginning at noon on the first Tuesday in January at the year next ensuing the general election at which they were elected. Each member shall be nominated and elected in a non-partisan manner and without any indication on the ballot that he is affiliated with or endorsed by any political party or organization. The aggregate salaries of all the members shall be $37,500 per annum, divided equally among the members and payable in such manner and at such times as shall be provided by law. In addition to his salary, each member shall receive an amount equal to his actual expenses in traveling by the most usual route once to and returning from each regular or special session of the Legislature. Members of the Legislature shall receive no pay nor perquisites other than said salary and expenses, and employees of the Legislature shall receive no compensation other than their salary or per diem.

That Section 10 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 10. The Legislature shall meet in regular session at 12:00 o'clock (noon) on the first Tuesday in January in the year next ensuing the election of the members thereof. The Lieutenant Governor shall preside, but shall vote only when the Legislature is equally divided. A majority of the members elected to the Legislature shall constitute a quorum; the Legislature shall determine the rules of its proceedings and be the judge of the election, returns, and qualifications of its members, shall choose its own officers, including a Speaker to preside when the Lieutenant Governor shall be absent, incapacitated, or shall act as Governor. No member shall be expelled except by a vote of two-thirds of all members elected to the Legislature, and no member shall be twice expelled for the same offense. The Legislature may punish by imprisonment any person not a member thereof who shall be guilty of disrespect to the Legislature by disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence, but no such imprisonment shall extend beyond twenty-four hours at one time, unless the person shall persist in such disorderly or contemptuous behavior.

That Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 11. The Legislature shall keep a journal of its proceedings and publish them (except such parts as may require secrecy) and the yeas and nays of the members on any question, shall at the desire of any one of them be entered on the journal. All votes shall be viva voce. The doors of the Legislature and of the Committees of the Whole, shall be open, unless when the business shall be such as ought to be kept secret.

That Section 14 of Article III of the Constitution of Nebraska be amended to read as follows:

Sec. 14. Every bill and resolution shall be read by title when introduced, and a printed copy thereof provided for the use of each member, and the bill and all amendments thereto shall be printed and read at large before the vote is taken upon its final passage. No such vote upon the final passage of any bill shall be taken, however, until five legislative days after its introduction not until it has been on file for final reading and passage for at least one legislative day. No bill shall contain more than one subject, and the same shall be clearly expressed in the title. And no law shall be amended unless the new act contain the section or sections as amended and the section or sections so amended shall be repealed. The Lieutenant Governor, or the Speaker if acting as presiding officer, shall sign, in the presence of the Legislature while the same is in session and capable of transacting business, all bills and resolutions passed by the legislature.

That Sections 12 and 28, of Article III, and Sections 9 and 17, of Article IV, be and the same hereby are repealed, effective as of January 1, 1937.

"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, August 5.

The olden Text is from Isaiah 40:11: "He shall feed his flock like a shepherd; he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young."

A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-sermon is from I John 4:16: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "The precise form of God must be of small importance in comparison with the sublime question, What is infinite Mind or divine Love? . . . No form nor physical combination is adequate to represent infinite Love. A finite and material sense of God leads to formalism and narrowness; it chills the spirit of Christianity."

Hoffman To Go To Burwell
W. I. Hoffman, general assistant of the Miller Trading post of South Twenty-fourth street, will leave Sunday for a two weeks vacation in Burwell and other towns in Garfield county.

Mr. Hoffman has filed for county clerk of that county on the Democratic ticket. He expects to campaign while there. Mr. Hoffman has been with the Miller store for some time and has made many friends in South Omaha. A number of the citizens have expressed their good wishes for Mr. Hoffman's success, but regret that he has not made South Omaha his permanent home. He was cashier of bank in Garfield for 24 years.

Air Wisdom, and Nonsense
Forest Made to Order

Senator Borah denounces monopoly as the cause of all our troubles, and says "Smash the monopolies!" As it happens, happenings since 1928 have smashed the monopolies fairly well.

If anybody has a monopoly that you would like to own, you can get it at a bargain.

It took 15 federal agents, all expert gunmen, to "get" Dillinger. And they got him by surprise, thanks to a woman's "tip" that he was to be in a certain theater," a tip supposed to have been well paid for. It was no "detective work." Dillinger was killed as he had killed others, without a chance of escape, like a trapped coyote, and now he knows, if he knows anything, that as a profession "crime does not pay."

The War department's special aviation committee says the army should have 2,820 planes, with corresponding increases in flying men. It also says there should not be one department controlling all air forces, which is pitiful idiocy.

Mr. Baker must remember what happened when he was secretary of war and the flying machines of this country sent to Europe were a joke among nations, our flying men compelled to borrow from France and England planes that would really fly.

However, the big men in the army and navy are not flyers, and feel that they should have their little separate flying units to play with.

From somewhere in the Pacific President Roosevelt sends an order that $15,000,000 be set aside now, $75,000,000 in all, spent on a "made to order" forest, stretching across the country through the heart of the drouth area from the Canadian border to the Texas Panhandle. Planned as an experiment to combat the drouth by encouraging rainfall, the new forest will be 1,000 miles long, 100 miles wide, 100,000 square miles of forest surface.

It will be a long time before anybody knows about the plan's success. The President and those around him will have disappeared, will not see the big forest, and before it amounts to much men may have learned to produce rain when necessary. It is an interesting experiment, costing only $75,000,000, a mere nothing in these days.

Henry Ford says:
"Old-fashioned Americanism, the pioneer spirit that isn't afraid to tackle anything, will save this nation from its economic and social afflictions."

Perhaps Henry Ford, who lives some distance from the fringe of American foolishness, gives his fellow citizens credit for too much of the old "American spirit."

When you read that 3,000,000 children are deprived of schooling in the United States, that this country spends for "luxuries" twice as much as it spends on education, you think that possibly something has happened to that "pioneer spirit." The Talmud says, "Jerusalem was destroyed because the schools were neglected."

Welford over to tell me his daughter Sally has nerves about this place, and doesn't want to come to school any more."

"That's a pity," Wilton said. "For she's quick and bright. Really, we can't allow her to drop out. Do you want me to walk over to the Welford farm and talk to her?"

Haskell brightened a little. "I wish you would. Go over Sunday afternoon—Berencice will show you the way. And, Payne, if convenient, I'd like you to go to Birndale next Saturday for some supplies. You can drive yourself over if you want to. It's about fifteen miles—a metropolis compared to Blade—almost a thousand inhabitants, and a motion picture theater!"

Wilton was already sure of one errand he would perform at Birndale—he would have a duplicate made of the key to the room in which the four wax figures were stored. Berencice should go there when she wished.

When he had been in his rooms a few minutes Arthur appeared. "I wish we were going to move out of this place tonight," he announced.

"You know, Payne, I am not a nervous individual. I came up here as full of health and spirits as man could be!"

"Don't tell me you're afraid of those four wax figures?"

"I might as well say first as last that I am—and so is Janet; but it's a sense of some danger still lurking. Were we brought up to serve some purpose other than our utility as teachers?"

"How should I, Fleming, know more than you? If I conjecture, my guess is that we were sent for because Berencice insisted on the terms of her father's will being complied with—that she should be well educated.

Certainly she is getting intensive training now, if she ever did."

Payne told Arthur of the proposed expedition to Birndale. "That means I can get a duplicate key made of the wax-figure room door—for Berencice's use."

"Balder," Berencice said as they gathered around the fire, "do you remember the last Christmas tree we had in the academy?"

Balder rolled his black eyes. "Do I—sure I do! and I know where it is, too. I saw it—only yesterday—the remains of it. It's up in the belfry of the church there."

"How on earth did it get there?" He had a pitchfork in his left hand and on this he rested, meditatively watching the fire which lit up all their faces, and made Janet's sweater glow like a coat of gold.

"I'll tell you what I know of its history after that Christmas. It was thrown out on one of the sheds, base and all, and lay there for months with some bits of tinsel sticking to it; then Norman, he found it, and he and Jethro took it up the ravine to be a flagpole in front of their tent near the whirl—they had a tiny tent there that summer—wasn't safe—shattered crumpled under their very beds; but there the pole was on its stand; it got washed down in the spring freshets; and bobbed up in the lake again, I fished it out and brought it down here to burn with some other rubbish; some children must have lagged it up those belfry stairs. I remember missin' it when I came down to set fire to the stuff. I never thought no more about the old dried tree till I see it yesterday."

Arthur and Janet dropped behind Berencice and Wilton on the way home. "I don't think Payne ought to have told her about that tree," he said. "That poor child is too morbidly interested in everything connected with her brothers and sisters."

Wilton was meanwhile saying to Berencice: "If I were you I would not speak of the old tree to Mr. Haskell. After all, he has his memories, too; and it may be as well not to revive them."

"That's true—I hope you will all stay here until I am twenty-one," she added impulsively.

"So far as I am concerned nothing could drive me away."

As they entered the grounds, Haskell and one of the farmers of the neighborhood came slowly down the walk together. As they passed Berencice and Wilton the farmer was saying: "I can't make Sally come if she don't want to come! And she's afraid—"

They heard no more, but another moment Haskell came running after them. "Of all the ridiculous nonsense, I must say—" he panted, as he came up to them. "Here's Ob-

Moving Horses to Pasture.
John N. Garner was in the Quiz office Tuesday on his way north to look for horse pasture. He said that neighbors in his part of the country took a herd of 240 farm work horses to the sand hills some place north of Burwell Monday and had a promise of having them kept until January 1st. They didn't know what they would do then. They have no use for the work horses at home and no feed for them.

AUCTION!

Weller Pavilion, Ord
Sat., Aug. 4, 1:30 p. m.

We will have several buyers from the east for both hogs and horses this week. While livestock prices are not encouraging, we are sure that your stock will bring as much here as could be realized any place else.

Things look favorable for rain in the next few days and if we get it, there will be considerable improvement in prices.

Try your home market first—you can always go some place else if not satisfied. Remember, we charge no commission if we do not sell your stock.

BURDICK A PIONEER
Charley Burdick, candidate for sheriff on the democrat ticket, is a pioneer of Valley county, having been a resident of the county for 52 years. He probably knows as many of the farmers of the county as any man in the county, as he has been active as a farmer, stock grower, stock feeder and auctioneer for many years. He has always been a farmer, all his interests are on the farm and he knows the needs as well as the problems of the farmer. He is a competent man for the position he seeks and if nominated and elected, will make a good official, treat everyone justly, help those in trouble over the hard places when it is possible to do so, consistent with his duty. Charley will appreciate your support on primary election day.

J. E. LAWRENCE ANSWRS CHARGE MADE BY BURKE

Lincoln Editor Says Governor
Did Not Oppose Project; Was Unable To Sell Bonds.

(By J. E. Lawrence)

Congressman Burke in his speech at Ord is quoted to this effect:

"Before I left Washington this project (the North Loup) was set up so that it seemed possible to get that half million dollar grant. The opposition of the government of Nebraska probably has defeated that plan. To me that is a tragedy. It is not possible for every community to get all its projects approved by the government exactly as it wants them. Some changes must be made to meet the requirements of government experts. The governor of Nebraska declined to approve any changes. He said do this my way or not at all. Because of that attitude, I fear that all hope of obtaining an outright grant to start work on your great project this fall is now gone. That is tragic, but I pledge you regardless of the outcome of this primary to do everything within my power to repair the damage to help you get the water that will make this drouth blisters valley a paradise."

It is a matter of very deep regret to me that this statement was made, for it involves my own good faith. To me, realization of the program drafted by the Nebraska PWA advisory board, of which I was a member, is the most important business that confronts the state. Its importance transcends the personal ambitions of individuals seeking public office, and of political parties.

I believe that if it could be realized, it would remodel Nebraska life. I can see these valleys, now brown and barren, green and productive year after year, regardless of what the conditions of climate may be. I can see the perpetual terror of drouth, which has dogged Nebraskans since the beginning, removed. I can see farm life peaceful and stable.

Now what are the facts?

Congressman Burke telephoned me from his office in Washington, informing me he had secured approval of the plan to utilize $750,000 of federal relief funds for the purpose of constructing the irrigation phases of the North Loup project, the grant being made upon condition that the power development planned in conjunction with it should be eliminated. The reason given for refusing to consider power in connection with the North Loup development was that there was no market for it, that the Columbus development generated all the current which could be sold, and that it added greatly to the cost of the undertaking without any reasonable hope of deriving a profit from such an expenditure.

I held in all five different conferences with Relief Director Hayes after it was agreed I should present the project to him. At one of these conferences, Mr. Ralph Norman was present. At the others, Mr. Bert Hardenbrook and the project engineer, Mr. Herbert Dunmire, were on hand. We found Mr. Hayes unusually sympathetic, unusually open-minded, fair, and candid. From the outset, he made it clear to us the conditions which had to be met. There never was a time when it was proposed that the full sum required for the North Loup project could be secured by outright grant in the form of relief funds. It was pointed out that these expenditures would have to be taken care of locally:

1. Acquisition of the right of way.

2. Engineering costs and all items classified as non-relief labor. In this connection, labor such as supervisors and foreman were classified as non-relief.

3. Material costs in excess of 15 or 20 percent, the exact figure not being set.

We pointed out that the people of the North Loup valley had slender resources and generously as strained themselves to present their Washington; had contributed to the PWA department at they could and even had denied themselves in order to make the strongest showing possible by maintaining engineers to prepare various plans and estimates for consideration. We thought at first that some of the revenue bonds the district is empowered to issue might be sold in order to raise the funds the North Loup people were called upon to contribute. I called State Treasurer Hall about these bonds, but after a conference with the attorney general, he informed me that a law passed by the legislature prohibited the investment of any portion of permanent school funds in irrigation bonds. Then I took the matter up without success with bonding houses both in Omaha and in Lincoln.

These facts are known to the officers and the directors of the North Loup project, and to your citizens associated with those of us who have been laboring in behalf of these projects. I am sure they

Burwell Rodeo Draws Big Crowd

Burwell, Nebr., Aug. 8—(Special)—The opening attendance is much better than last year and everything points to a bigger and better attendance than in recent years. The program is far ahead of anything ever attempted. As this story was being wired to the Quiz the U. S. Cavalry was putting on its drill and the applause was astounding, the performance being something different than most had ever seen. On the opening day the old settlers were shown special honors. A delegation of 100 Hastings business men headed by Dean Gray, manager of Food Centers, was on the grounds and announced that Mr. Cushing of the same company would fly up Thursday. Mr. Brandeis of Omaha was also flying up Thursday. The Ord band is one of the leading bands on the ground and many Valley county people are in evidence, says John L. Ward, publicity manager, who wired the Quiz.

Former Ord Resident Dies At Lynch, Nebr.

Many Quiz readers will remember the S. L. Perkins family who lived on the farm, west of Ord, now owned by P. J. Melia, and will recall their daughter Bertha though she left Ord many years ago and has not visited here for a long time, and will be sorry to hear of her recent death.

Bertha Perkins Prinz, daughter of S. L. and Hester Perkins was born at Farragut, Iowa, on Oct. 27, 1884 and died at Lynch, Nebraska on July 22, 1934, aged 49 years, 8 months, 25 days.

When she was 7 years of age her family moved to Ord, Nebraska, where she attended school, after which she completed her education at Western Normal college in Shenandoah, Iowa.

In January 1906 she was united in marriage to Ernst Prinz of Ord, Nebr. They established their first residence at Bonesteele, S. D., residing there 2 years, then moving to Dallas. Two years later they took up a homestead in Tripp county, where the principle part of their family life was spent. It was here that she suffered the loss, by death of her devoted husband and oldest son August.

In 1925 she was baptized and united with the Methodist Episcopal church at Paxton, S. D., and was a faithful and consistent worker until the time of her death.

It was during the time of her work and association in this church and community she formed many valued and lasting friendships. Six years ago she came to Gregory that her children might have better school advantages.

She leaves to reverence her memory 2 sons, Ernst and Buri Victor, 1 sister, Mrs. Mary Kokes of Tekamah, 7 brothers, John, Arthur, Walter, Henry, Sam and Hobart of Mitchell, Nebr., and George of Kansas City, Mo., and a large circle of friends.

Interment was at Gregory where the funeral services were held. Six brothers acted as pall bearers and a wealth of flowers spoke mutely of the esteem in which deceased was held in that community.

C. C. Smith at M. E. Church.

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock Dr. Charles C. Smith will be the guest preacher at the Ord Methodist Church.

Dr. Smith is well known among the older residents of this community, having lived here in his early life. Since leaving Ord he received his education in Nebraska Wesleyan University and Boston School of Theology, and entered the ministry of the Congregational church. His promotions were rapid, until he now occupies the pulpit of the First Congregational church of St. Paul, Minnesota, and is recognized as one of the leading ministers of that denomination.

The occasion of his visit to Ord is an annual visit with his mother, Mrs. D. B. Smith, and other members of his family. His many friends in this community will welcome this opportunity to hear him again.

Relief Director Hayes will bear me out when I say neither the government of Nebraska nor the governor of Nebraska had anything to do with it. Under the conditions imposed, there never was the slightest possibility of building the project unless the district could raise a sum of not less than a quarter of a million dollars to cover those items for which relief money can not be spent under the regulations.

There is need of a united spirit in this state. There is need that every citizen rally behind these projects which contemplate the storage and use of waters in the rivers for the purpose of safeguarding the farming. It represents the hope of this state. It is a sound program, a sane program, an intelligent program, which must be won unless Nebraska is to suffer the abandonment of farms, a decrease in population and wealth, and a final return, much of it, at least, to wilderness. Such a case is just and can not fail.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chatfield and children of Joint were dinner guests in the home of their people, Mr. and Mrs. John Chatfield.

Miss Hazel Mason Bride of Burwell Man

Last Sunday afternoon at the parsonage of the Evangelical church in Taylor, Nebr., occurred the marriage of Miss Hazel Marie Mason and Everett L. Johns, both of Burwell, the ceremony being performed by the pastor Rev. Walter E. Ulrich. The young couple were accompanied by Miss Edythe M. Mason, sister of the bride and Chester Johns, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Johns is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mason and grew to womanhood in Ord. She graduated from the city school after which she attended Nebraska Wesleyan University. While there she was a member of the Gamma Mu Epsilon sorority. After completing her college course she taught for several years in the western part of the state. For the past two years she had resided with her parents in Garfield county and last year taught the school in the home district.

Mr. Johns is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Johns and has spent almost his entire life in the home community. He completed his education at the Grand Island Business college. Since this time he has been a successful farmer. He is a young man of sterling worth and numbers his friends by those who know him.

Following the ceremony Sunday the young people returned to the Mason home where a delightful supper was enjoyed by the immediate families. On Monday evening they were honor guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Goff at a delicious dinner.

The good wishes of the many Ord friends of the Mason family will go with these young people as they start their life together.

FLAGG SAYS LIGHT & WATER RATES SHOULD BE CUT

Mayor Says Would Cut Salaries of City Employees; Would Wait
Year Before Buying Diesels.

Mayor Flagg believes that salaries of city employees should be cut and that very substantial reduction should be made in light rates and a small reduction in water rates.

Asked yesterday by the Quiz, Mayor Flagg says the city has a cash balance of about sixty-three thousand dollars on hand now and that the light plant is making the city ten thousand dollars a year. He says the water plant is making the city, clear about twenty-five hundred dollars a year.

Mr. Flagg says that some members of the council are in favor of spending forty thousand dollars right now for new Diesel engines. The contention of the Mayor is that with as much ready money as the city has, it is not necessary to continue making so much money this year; he considers that there is still a remote chance that we will get River power and believes that it would be better to give the people the benefit of as low rates as possible this year and, if it seems advisable a year from now, buy the Diesel engines then.

The Quiz is not trying to argue for or against the position taken by the Mayor. Under the law, as the Quiz understands it, the council has the right to go ahead and spend the forty thousand dollars right now if they wish. It is probable that the council would not wish to do this if the people were largely opposed to such a move. They were elected by the people and naturally they want to do what the people want done if they know what that is. Unless the people take some steps to let the council know what they think, the Quiz feels that the council will be justified, both in maintaining present salaries and if they wish, in buying a new engine for forty thousand dollars.

Mather Speaks To Large Gathering

A. N. Mather, republican candidate for congress, of Gering, spent half a day in Ord Monday and spoke in the evening, to a very nice crowd. He made a nice, clean, straightforward talk and left personalities out entirely, and probably did his candidacy some good here. It was a warm evening but the streets all around the square was filled with cars and everyone was able to hear, due to the loud speaker equipment used, not only on the square, but for nearly a block each way. Mr. Mather spoke only at North Loup and Ord Monday but ordinarily he speaks in four to six towns every day. Mr. Mather was making his second visit here since the campaign started and he said, if nominated, he would be here a couple of times more before fall. He gives the impression of being a resourceful business man. He is surely a genial, pleasant gentleman to meet.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chatfield and children of Joint were dinner guests in the home of their people, Mr. and Mrs. John Chatfield.

EDITOR SAYS ORD PEOPLE ENJOYING COOL WEATHER

Fishing Is Good But Not Exceptional; Expect Ord People This Week.

Saturday, August 4, 1934
Cullen Lake, Nisswa, Minn.

Dear Quiz Readers:
Another uneventful day is coming to close, in fact as I write this Saturday evening the sun is just setting over on the west side of Middle Cullen, the last rays shining through the tall pine trees that mask the west shore. It is a beautiful sunset and there is just the hint of a rainbow in the east, for it rained this afternoon—just a shower, but the first rain since I've been here which is slightly over a week.

This country, as well as Nebraska, is suffering from drouth, though not to the same degree. The water level in all lakes in this section is the lowest I've ever seen it and goes down visibly every day. The thoroughfare between Middle and Upper Cullen lakes is so shallow now that it is impossible to take a boat through. The second day I was here I took our boat and motor to the upper lake and it is still there and will have to stay there until the water level raises, unless we haul it down through the woods on a truck. But since we do most of our fishing in Upper Cullen we are glad the boat is there, instead of on this side of the thoroughfare. We have Judge Clements' boat and motor to use in this lake, so are getting along very nicely.

Fishing here is quite good, though not exceptional. On most mornings it is possible to catch the limit of bass, providing one is willing to arise at 3:30 a.m. and be on the lake at dawn. Of course crappies, bluegills, bullheads and other panfish can be caught in any number at any time of the day but the game fish are a little harder to catch. The lake is in bloom now, so the natives say, which makes it more difficult to catch good strings of game fish.

This morning almost every one in camp went fishing. Ray Luther and I went down to Gull lake early and returned about 10 a.m. clock with nine wall-eye's, the largest weighing 4 1/2 pounds, which I had the pleasure of landing on a light rod after a hard tussle. The wall-eyed pike haven't been striking much but are beginning now and we are looking forward to some real sport with these fish, both on Gull lake and on Upper Cullen.

E. H. Luikart, who is receiver for all defunct banks in Nebraska, are here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fenner and they, with Clarence Luther as guide, caught the limit of wall-eye's on Gull lake this morning. They fished at a place called "The Narrows" on upper Gull and brought back 24 pike, most of them small. They were tickled with the catch, as they should be. The Fenner's and their guests are leaving for Nebraska early tomorrow morning and finished taking in their dock and storing the boat in their garage. They have been here two weeks.

While most of us were fishing on Gull this morning Mr. and Mrs. Fenner went to the upper lake with Byron Simpson as their guide. Mr. Simpson, whose home is Omaha, has the enviable reputation of being the best boat expert of the camp and he lived up to his name this morning, the party bringing back 10 bass. Most of them weighed between 2 and 3 pounds and it was a beautiful catch. They caught all the fish on a No. 20 Heddon Surprise, an artificial bait that is being used in this country for the first time this summer and is proving a real bass getter. This plug is made in several colors and the white plug with a blue head is the only kind that catches fish. All efforts with the same plug but with a red head have failed, don't tell me that bass can't distinguish colors!

We enjoyed a visit Thursday with E. M. Hosman, of Omaha, who will be remembered as a former superintendent of schools in Ord. With his family, his sister-in-law, his mother, Mrs. E. E. Hosman, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Wittmeyer of Spencer, he is quartered at Crescent Beach on Lower Cullen lake. They drove up Thursday and made arrangements to rent a boat for yesterday but I don't know what success they had fishing. Mr. Hosman is now connected with the University of Omaha.

The camp is almost deserted now. Judge Clements and his family left Wednesday, the Fenner party leaves tomorrow and the Simpson family fear they will have to return to Omaha this coming week, as the young woman who looks after the Simpson rentals is ill and must enter a hospital for an operation. However, I am informed that Jim Petka and a party from Ord are arriving tomorrow and also expect that Rube Lincoln and family will get here before we leave.

here, for the most part. The nights are chilly but the days warm up delightfully. We are all well with the exception of Mrs. Daniel Burke, my mother's sister, who is still in a hospital at Brainerd recuperating from a severe illness. We are expecting her to be able to return to camp some time this coming week, however. This is all for today—see you next week again, I hope.

Yours truly,
E. C. Leggett

Liquor Law Violators Plead Guilty, Fined

Joe and Leon Clemmy of Elyria and John E. Sharp of Ord plead guilty in county court last Friday to liquor law violations and each paid a fine of $100.00 and the costs, the costs amounting in each case to around $19.00. A search of their places of business Friday morning resulted in finding a very small amount at the Clemmy place in Elyria and none at the Sharp place in Ord, but in each instance a buy had been made the day before by a state man.

Mrs. Sharp Granted License.
Mrs. John Sharp was granted a beer license at the regular council meeting held Friday evening and will conduct the business, formerly run by her husband, from now on. Her license goes into effect on August 10, the date when her husband's license expired. The council was notified several weeks ago, that she would ask for the license.

GOVERNMENT MAKING LOANS ON LIVESTOCK

Farmers May Get Loans to Buy
Feed At Once; About 200
Loans Already Made.

According to the records of Jos. P. Barta who has charge of the government stock loans to farmers, about 200 loans have already been made and it is estimated that at least 600 loans will be made before next spring. About 100 of the checks, for the first month, and averaging about $100.00 each, have already arrived, showing that this is one government agency that is functioning right now. There is no delay in getting this money.

The amount of the loans per head is as follows: On cows and heifers only, $3 a month. On work horses $4 a month. On sows and gilts $1 a month and 50¢ a month on sheep. No loans are made at this time on 1934 calves or lambs. No loans are being made on steers or on cows over 8 years old.

Many of the borrowers are bringing their checks back, as they say they cannot buy hay, which they say is the real serious shortage here. They are not permitted to use the money for anything except to buy feed for their livestock, listed in their application.

The loan contract provides that these loans, averaging about $100 per farmer, are to continue for nine months, as there is no chance to grow even pasture for that long. All notes are made payable Nov. 1, 1935 and draw 5 1/2 per cent interest. Notes are renewed each month. Mr. Barta will give full information to anyone interested.

Ord City Schools Announce Calender For Coming Session

School will start September 10, according to the official calendar adopted by the Ord Board of Education at their August session. Some consideration was given to two other plans. One was to start September third and close May 24. This plan was given up, due to the fear that the present heat wave might still be on the community. Another plan was to start September 10 but to end the term May 31. This plan ran the school year too late in the spring and placed Ord out of line with the neighboring towns. The calendar accepted is a combination of the other two.

Opening day.....September 10
Teachers' Convention.....
October 24, 25 and 26—2½ days
Thanksgiving.....November 29 & 30
Christmas.....December 22-30—1 week

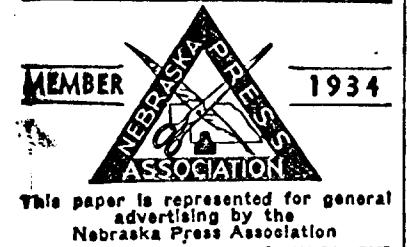

New Year's.....January 1
Second semester starts January 21
Spring Recess.....March 21 and 22
Term Ends.....May 27

The above schedule calls for 177 days of teacher time. The attendance at convention is compulsory of all teachers in Nebraska, unless they attend a county institute. School will be in actual session 174½ days, which is the usual or customary length of the school year.

The Board of Education also transacted the usual routine business of the month. Dr. J. W. McGinnis, president of the Board was out of town, all other members were present. Dr. C. J. Miller,

This fool government is planning to start spending 75 million dollars of the people's money to build a 100-mile wide strip of trees across the country. There is not a 10-year old child in Valley county, who will stop and think a minute, who won't know that 75 million wouldn't even start to plant such a strip of trees. Anyone who knows anything, knows that such trees planted, wouldn't grow. We all know that countless thousands of trees, well established, good sized trees from Kansas to Minnesota have died from drought the past few dry years. Such an effort would be a criminal waste of money. Better far use the money to build irrigation projects first and get some water on the soil and then plant the trees where they can have a fighting chance to grow. Irrigation projects will give employment, which is needed at this time and the money won't be all wasted as it will in the tree project.

I talked with a lady the other day who thinks this loss of crops and hot weather is a judgment on this country for its wickedness. It don't look, now, as though it was necessary to destroy crops. Nature has taken care of that in a more than satisfactory manner.

Next week this paper will give you, as far as possible, the results of the primary election. The election will be held next Tuesday and it is your duty to go and vote. I don't care which ticket you vote but as far as possible you should vote for the best person for the job. And they are not all on one ticket either. There are good men and women on both tickets and there are those on both tickets who had not ought to be elected dog catcher. And I don't believe much in spite voting either. If a man is extra good for the place keep him there even if you are mad at him. If he has served well and honestly, a personal grudge is no reason for kicking him out.

One of the most important offices is U. S. senator. There are several candidates. I know some of the candidates on my ticket personally and they are fine fellows. Some of them have had legislative experience. Bob Simmons is one such. He was in congress 10 years and drew a hundred thousand dollars in salary. He says he is not able to pay for advertising in the country newspapers and his committee is asking friends to finance such advertising. All standpat republicans should vote for Bob. He will stay put. Wherry has been more or less progressive, sometimes one way, sometimes the other. You never know where to find him. Bob Smith, clerk of the district court in Douglas county for years, has been a Howell, Norris, progressive republican. If nominated and elected I believe he will be found about such a man in the senate as the late senator Howell was. He is very popular in Omaha and Douglas county where he is the best known. When the opposition filed another Robert Smith No. 2 against him a few years ago he pulled off the republican ticket and ran independent and got several times as many votes as all his opponents together. Bob Smith has always been a friend of the under dog in Omaha. I like that kind of a man. He has the ability to go along with his big heart and I am going to vote for him. If I was a democrat I would vote for Charley Bryan in preference to Congressman Burke. One of them will sure get the nomination on that ticket. Bryan has never been found dishonest. Burke is without doubt the candidate of Arthur Mullen and if elected will do as Mullen says. I am convinced that Mullen represents the power interests and we know they don't want us to have North Loup river power. I am sorry that Roosevelt has allowed a power attorney like Mullen to sew up the water power in this state with money that belongs to the people, for the benefit of the power trust. So those democrats who do not want the power trust to control the nation senator from this state, if the democrats win, cannot vote for Burke. That's the way I see it. I might also have said that Wherry, when he was mayor of his town, sold the municipal plant to the power trust and that town is now paying a higher rate for power than they were or would have been had they kept their municipal plant. All these birds come out with a very smooth story as to why they did what they did, but, folks, do a little thinking for yourself.

And when it comes to governor, analyze the situation the same way. Stop and think and you will know who has been the best friend of the people in recent years. Your best judgment will tell you what to do.

For congress most Valley county republicans will no doubt vote for the home man, Clarence Davis. Mr. Davis is credited with making an able campaign. Many over the district have expressed surprise and pleasure at the stands he has taken on most issues and they believe, if nominated and elected, he will take to congress the ability to get at least a part of the things this district wants and needs. He is a native of the district, a successful business man, an able speaker and a student. He is young and could grow into a valuable public official. And this county and this end of the district has never had a congressman.

One of the most important offices is railway commissioner and Bert Hardenbrook should get a solid vote from Valley county. If he is elected to the board he will not be there fitting himself, at the expense of the taxpayers of the state, for a better position with the utility interests, as has been the case in the past in so many instances. You most all know Mr. Hardenbrook personally and you know he is both honest and unafraid. He is, as you know, one of the ablest attorneys in the state and he has, in recent years, made an extensive study of the work that comes before the railway commission and is thus splendidly fitted for the position he seeks.

On county officers select the best man for the job regardless of politics. Really we should be nonpartisan on county offices. We all know each other. We all want the best man for the job. In fact the best man is the cheapest though the pay of each is the same. A bungling, inexperienced man in any office can make that office a mighty expensive thing for the public.

So far as I am concerned, I have got enough of this 110 degree heat and any time the weather man wants to turn on a cooler brand of weather it will be all right with me. Neither Triumph or Dicks Bros. takes the place of a cool wind from the northwest.

There are a good many hundred Quiz readers who are in arrears on their paper. If any of them have a method by which a newspaper can be run without money I wish they would send it at once for I am getting mighty close to the ragged edge, financially. If you don't have such a remedy, send in a dollar bill to apply on your paper. You don't need to send it all. I could use it of course but if each would send SOMETHING it would be appreciated. And there is no use in you waiting for another statement for it takes time and money to mail statements and you know if you are in arrears.

C Something DIFFERENT

Judge Clements is going to improve his cottage at Cullen Lake in the near future, he declares. No doubt he is inspired by the activities of his neighbors and perhaps more by this beautiful country.

He has talked about adding a big screened porch and making his house warmer and roomier several times, but lost his enthusiasm. "I thought I was too old to get much good out of it," he explains. "But I just decided there wasn't anything finer I could leave my children than this place. I know they will always enjoy it."

The judge is busily planning now, having estimates made, deciding just what it is he wants done. He may even have the work done this fall and not wait until next spring.

—oo—

The Leggett cottage is perhaps not the most beautiful place ever built, but it surely appeals to me. The house is big, rambling, airy, has been added onto here and there in a casual fashion as the idea occurred. There are many windows, all of which can be opened in a jiffy to let the pine-flavored air float through, or perhaps to accommodate a refreshing, business-like little breeze from across the lake to the west.

"The front yard" includes a narrow band of lawn with numbers of pretty white pines and slim white birches, but more especially, it includes the lake! Thirty or forty feet from the front porch door the dock runs out into the lake probably eighty feet, ended by a live box, for minnows and caught fish, and by a breakwater board, installed this summer by Mr. Leggett himself.

—oo—

Under our dock a small old bass has found himself an easy comfortable living. He stays where it is cool and dark until we throw out the dead minnows. We see them floating around, then as one floats white side up, too close to the dock, presto, a dark flash and it is gone, Old Man Bass has it him up!

The children in the camp frequently amuse themselves by fishing off the end of the dock. The water is only three or four feet deep, but they often catch pretty sunfish, or once in a while something else and are thrilled to pieces.

—oo—

Nights are always cool here, more often chilly is a better word, and cold is applicable much of the time. We sleep under a winter-time quota of bedding, and often in flannel.

Many mornings and evenings we have a small wood fire, to make the living room comfortable, built in one of those wood stoves that look like blackened boilers with a pipe ascending from one end. They heat the big room toasty in a few minutes and have to be checked with a firm hand.

Equipment in our Cullen Lake home would look strange to many Valley countites. One wall holds a big red wooden reel with a handle, mysterious until you see that it is used for drying fishing lines after a fishing trip. The fine, strong silk lines rot quickly if they are not taken care of quite systematically.

One wall of the kitchen is covered with licenses, issued to Leggetts, Andersons and guests of one family or another who have spent happy time in this house. There are now so many of them on display that it is quite interesting to scan them. Each one bears a brief description . . . usually mostly wrong . . . of the person who bought it, including weight, color of eyes, hair, skin, etc.

Birch trees are thick here, so pretty in their artificial whiteness. Newcomers to birch country generally amuse themselves peeling off this nice white skin.

They do not know that it will never grow back, but will leave an ugly dark strip of bark showing as long as the tree lives. So more careful cottage owners often post signs reading "Do Not Peel the Birch". Which look queer to us, from Valley land.

Lakes are thick up here. This county, Crow Wing, brags of 300 lakes. It is a very big country, has to be, to include much land. Many lakes have small connecting passages, little brook-like thoroughfares, most of them natural. It is possible to take a boat and travel from one lake to another for a long way.

Mrs. H. D. Leggett insists our lake, Middle Cullen, has the prettiest shore line of any lake in this locality. I rather think she is right. All shores of our lake are clothed with trees, several kinds, which add a fascinating collection of greens, foliations, and tree heights and shapes to the skyline. Adding this irregular effect, rolling hills of no great height also give variety and interest wherever one looks.

Middle Cullen Lake is shaped roughly like an L, with the long way of the letter going east and west. It is not possible to see all of very many lakes in this country except by a boat ride, new vistas constantly opening in unsuspected places. This is true of Middle Cullen, too. What looks like a reed bed ending in solid shore line proves to be a 'point' with plenty more lake beyond.

Yesterday, last Friday to you, a dashing surf board rider enlivened our morning. He rode boldly behind a big fast launch from the lower end of this lake. And to add the proper climax, he was at last tossed off and had to do a little swimming.

Swimming is a most popular pastime this summer, the water has never been nicer. The bottom is sandy, slopes downward very slowly. Children and babies, including our Kerry, play up near the shore in the warm, clear water. Older folks have to go out past the end of the docks . . . it is usual to find water deep enough for swimming. There is always some one in.

H. D. Leggett was very fond of the water, and customarily dunked himself a couple of times each day, paddling around by himself if he couldn't inveigle Mr. Gross, Judge Clements or someone else to go in with him.

—oo—

Lakins' had a terrible problem: one boy couldn't be got out and one son couldn't be got in, so they had two kinds of arguments most every day. With most of the children in camp, and there have been more than ever before this summer, it was a problem how to keep them out of the water enough for their own good.

Most of the children also entertain themselves learning to row a boat and awkwardly splash around the docks of the various "front yards". Eventually they learn, too.

—oo—

We had a terrible accident in our backyard the other morning.

A little wren flew out of her house, not six feet from where I sit typing this on the back porch, and started in search of food for some wren babies. The car sat near, the wren did not see the car windows and flew directly into one. And fell to the ground, dying within a minute.

Oscar and I trekked to Grand Island to the sale last Wednesday. Things look a little better down there. Some farmers will get fodder. The little patches that have been irrigated are bright. Those anemone fields of alfalfa that we passed so frequently, that are being left for seed, suffused an aroma that would be a treat for the gods. When I am rich I am going to have an alfalfa field go to seed in front of the house every year.

At Saint Paul we refilled with a little more push. These fellows at the station were a jocular pair, entertaining us while they worked at the radiator, windshield and lights. Behind their lot was a huge forest of sunflowers, and near it was tethered a small black goat, which I presumed was their mascot. They announced that they were going to get another goat. Then they would have a unit and could get $2.50 a month for feed. They planned to turn their goats in the sunflower patch and have 100 percent profit. A mammoth load of Standard's gasolines and motor oils. Standard Red Crown Superfuel for the same price. There's no extra charge for the tetraethyl lead in it—or for that extra Live Power per gallon.

And so with all of Standard's gasolines and motor oils. Standard Red Crown Superfuel, Red Crown Ethyl, Reliance Gasoline, Iso-Vis "D", Polarine, Reliance Motor Oil—in every one you get the finest value possible.

Better Meat at Prices That Spell ECONOMY

Right now most people are interested in cutting living expenses to the minimum but they still want quality, especially in their food products. For more than 30 years this market has been serving Ord people—good years, bad years, wet years, dry years—and we believe we can safely claim to have pleased our customers, otherwise we wouldn't have the large business we enjoy today. What's the answer? Our customers know we give them their money's worth and that our prices always spell ECONOMY. If you want good meat at a low price, buy here always.

Bert M. Hardenbrook for Railway Commissioner

The Railway Commission for the most part regulates rates of the telephone companies, railroads and utilities. Next to governor it is the most important tribunal in the state. Its activities effect the farmer. The farmers cost of marketing is vitally affected by the ruling of the commission. It has almost unlimited powers in the regulation of telephone rates, sur-charges and tolls. It may, under certain conditions, regulate the rates on rural electric lines. Its rulings effect the Business man, the Farmer and the Worker. The orders of the commission depend upon the character of its members.

Mr. Hardenbrook is opposed to "Utility Minded Experts" dominating the commission. He is willing that capital receive a fair return on its investment, in normal times, but is opposed to basing rates upon fictitious or inflated values. He favors emergency telephone rates in stricken areas. He believes that the value of the service should be a factor in determining rates.

The present Railway Commission has refused relief, not only in Ord and vicinity but in numerous areas in Nebraska. It has refused to listen to the demands of the common people or to respect their rights. It jiggled train service in many places to suit its fancy. It has imposed fabulous, outlandish, war-time Telephone rates and sur-charges, not only in Ord and vicinity but in many other places in the state. Certain members of the commission are now making an attempt to foist upon the people of Nebraska, its secretary as railway commissioner for the next six years, which will, we believe, be a continuance of the present policies. This secretary candidate issued a false order in the Ord Telephone case, which for the most part, prevented the case being heard by the Supreme Court. A change in the present personnel of the commission is necessary in order that the rights of the people may be protected.

Mr. Hardenbrook was county attorney of Valley county for eight years. He honestly and courageously defended the rights of the people. He fearlessly performed his duty as he saw it. He has unselfishly devoted the greater part of his time for the past year and a half in behalf of the North Loup Power and Irrigation project. If he is chosen as the Railway Commissioner for Nebraska he will courageously fight for the right as he sees it and will not be dominated by special interests.

This space is bought and paid for by friends of Mr. Hardenbrook and they, as well as Mr. Hardenbrook, will appreciate your careful consideration of the things set forth in this advertisement and your support of Mr. Hardenbrook next Tuesday.

they reported having seen but one field of corn that being near St. Paul. Drought is extensive thru' Missouri, lakes are dried up but in spite of the fact owing chiefly to lower taxes, the Arch Moulton family expect to locate in the neighborhood of Lebanon as soon as Mr. Moulton can dispose of his harness and cobbler shop. The Ben Moultons expect to leave in the spring. Mr. Everly is undecided as yet whether or not to go.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson and son of Burwell were in Ord Friday evening.

—Mrs. R. O. Hunter accompanied Mr. Hunter last Wednesday on a trip to the sand flats.

—G. A. R. ladies will hold their regular meeting Saturday afternoon in the Legion hall.

—Sargent Thursday. She had for a few days been a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Satterfield.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook left last Wednesday for Falls City. They are assisting with a Pentecostal revival in that city.

—Mrs. James Milford and daughter, Miss Ruth claim they had a very pleasant time while visiting Mrs. Milford's sister, Mrs. Everett Lewin in Winnipeg, Canada. Mrs. Lewin rented a cabin near a lake and it was very pleasant there.

It was warm enough in the day time but cool at night. The Milfords stopped in Omaha both going and returning.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Watson and son Forrest Watson and Mrs. Henry Hiner and two small children visited Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bevier, Scotia. The Bevier family is leaving this month for Washington. They expect to live on a farm some where near the coast. They have rented their farm near Scotia. Mr. Bevier sr. will accompany them.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dworak jr., and children are planning on leaving in a week or ten days for Oregon, Washington and then California. They have put off going for several reasons. Their children have been having the whooping cough and that was the big reason why they could not start. The children have about recovered.

The Three K's

The meeting was held with Willis Plate August 3rd, with seven members present.

Willis Plate gave a demonstration on beef calves. There were three visitors.

Two demonstrations were planned for the meeting, August 17 at the home of Irene and Lyle Hanson.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and swimming was enjoyed.

Walter Hansen, News Reporter.

Live Wire 4-H Club

The Live Wire 4-H club met August 1st in the home of Evelyn Abernethy with six members present and Eva Misika as a guest. A demonstration on pillow tops was given by Rhoda Miller and Aileen Larsen. The next meeting will be held at Aileen Larsen's home Aug. 15. After a delicious lunch was served the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing games. Aileen Larsen, News Reporter.

The Mignonettes

Mary Marie Plate was hostess to the Mignonettes August 3rd. A perfect attendance was recorded. Mrs. Ruth Hansen of Cotesfeld, Lillian McGrew, Betty Timmerman and Mrs. Rudolph Plate were visitors.

A demonstration of removing stains was given by Margaret Strong. Roberta Timmerman listed the equipment needed for pressing woolen materials. Irene Hansen gave a demonstration on pressing woolens. Each girl brought a few stains on material and told how to remove the stain.

Shoes suitable for school were judged. A nice collection of darts were presented. Corrections of making darts were announced. Some remade dresses were finished and will be judged at the next meeting. Dresses and complete outfits will be started this week.

A committee consisting of Margaret Strong, Mildred Timmerman and Viola Hansen was appointed by Mrs. Leo Nelson to plan a party.

Mrs. Rudolph Plate, assisted by Mrs. Ruth Hansen served refreshments. At the close of the meeting all enjoyed swimming. The next meeting will be held with Irene Hansen August 17.

Viola Hansen, News Reporter.

Judge Carter

is needed on the

SUPREME COURT BENCH

Our own District Judge E. F. Carter is a candidate for a seat on the supreme court bench of Nebraska, a position which is of great importance, as well as one which he is admirably fitted to fill.

We speak of his qualifications for the place in this manner because in his candidacy is given to the people of the sixth supreme court district the opportunity of securing a man of proven ability and of high integrity of character. He is a man, who, by reason of his knowledge of irrigation law, and knowing the bearing that it has upon the rights of individuals, of districts, and of states and as between states, is probably better qualified for the position, than almost any other man in the state.

The law concerning water rights, irrigation in its several forms, drainage and the things directly applicable to the equities of people living in irrigated territory is something that is generally, almost entirely for that matter, a branch of the law of which a "dry land or rain belt" attorney has but little knowledge. This is said with all due respect to the ability of the many lawyers who are competent and able along other branches of legal lore. They know very little of irrigation and the laws under which it must abide because there has been no need for them to make a study of these matters.

There have been a number of "fool decisions" rendered by the supreme court on matters affecting irrigated lands at times simply because among their number there has never been a judge in that body who had a real first-hand workable knowledge of irrigation. The addition of a man of Judge Carter's ability and wisdom to the personnel comprising the supreme court is a matter the voters should not overlook.

With the addition of many new irrigation projects, "down river" the voters there should add their strength to that of the almost unanimous vote that he will receive here, where he is best known.

If we were to attempt to tell the people living down river anything about what they need, we could do them no better favor than by advising them, especially where there are new irrigation projects being developed, than to secure the aid, counsel, judgment and helpfulness of Judge Carter, to act as one of the arbiters who will pass on the many, many hard problems that they will have to settle by law before those projects are completed and become the prosperous section that they hope to make of them.

Judge Carter has spent a number of years interpreting the law on irrigation matters. These same questions will some day confront those living under new projects. His record for fairness, for sound decisions is not exceeded by any district judge in the state. This is a case where no voter can make a mistake by endorsing and casting his ballot for Judge Carter, for judge of the supreme court.—Reprinted from Scottsbluff Daily Star-Herald, July 27.

Primary Voting Heavy; Treasurer, Sheriff Close

TIGHT CONTESTS MARK ELECTION IN VALLEY CO.

Looks Like Burke and Simmons
For Congress and Cochran, Griswold For Governor.

With a comparatively heavy vote cast the primary election passed off quietly in Valley county Tuesday. Though there were several state contests that drew attention, the greatest interest seemed to be in the democratic races for sheriff and treasurer. Warren Lincoln apparently won the democratic nomination for sheriff, leading his closest rival, Ed S. Stone by a scant 17 votes. Art Mensing was high for treasurer, leading Wm. Heuck by mere 12 votes. There are 23 mail ballots to be counted yet, divided about equal between republican and democratic voters, but it is unlikely that any change will be made in the present standings. George Satterfield led W. C. H. Noll for republican nomination for treasurer by a large majority. Geo. S. Round was an easy winner on the republican ticket for sheriff.

Ign. Klima, jr. polled the largest vote of any candidate, 1,105, while his opponent for the democratic nomination for county clerk, Henry Holm, received 221. Fred Swanson North Loup, easily won from Hubert LeMasters on the republican ticket for the same office.

Harry J. McBeth defeated M. F. Kosmatka for the republican nomination for clerk of the district court. While Alfred A. Weigardt, the demo nominee was unopposed.

John Misko and Alvin Lee were nominated for county attorney, on their respective tickets, both being unopposed. For county assessor Almond Brox, republican, easily defeated Jos. Bartos. A. W. Pierce was the winner on the democratic ticket.

A close contest developed in the race for County Superintendent, with Clara McClatchey, present incumbent, leading with 1,090, Erna Malottke being the other nominee with 839 votes, while the loser Cecile Weddel, was close behind with 781.

In the race for governor Dwight Griswold seems to be the republican choice and Roy L. Cochran, the democratic.

For United States Senator Burke is the democratic nominee, while Robt. L. Simmons has the republican choice.

In the race for Congressman from the fifth district, A. N. Mathers was nominated by the republicans, while Harry B. Coffee was the democratic choice. Clarence Davis, Ord's candidate polled the highest vote in Valley county for this office.

In the race for railway commissioner Bert M. Hardenbrook polled more than double the number of votes received by his opponents together. As this story is being written Mr. Hardenbrook is in fourth place, 3,600 votes behind the leader.

In the democratic race for state representative P. J. Mella was winner in Valley county by 171 majority over Chas. E. Goodhand, his nearest opponent. Marlon Cushing was unopposed for the republican nomination.

A complete list of votes cast for each office is as follows:

THE ORD QUIZ

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska

H. D. LEGGETT - PUBLISHER

Entered at the Postoffice at Ord,
Nebraska, as Second Class Mail
Matter Under Act of March 3, 1879.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Most farmers tell me that plenty of rain now wouldn't help the corn a bit.

The people must feel relieved this week. The candidates have quit pestering them for a while.

I believe if it was possible to present our power-irrigation direct to President Roosevelt he would order it approved and say "Get the men to work as soon as possible, building it."

It is said, now, that the administration is going to drop its idea of crop reduction for this year.

Jim Petska has traveled the hills and valleys, the woods and prairies of this county for years, at all times of night, coon hunting and never got lost but when he got to Nisswa at the twilight hour and got full directions as to how to get out to the Ord colony on Cullen lake, he got lost and finally arrived at a late hour after hiring a native boy to show him the way.

Jim sent his bank pals a picture in which he is the hero, 20 feet in the air above the boat, which a huge fish has knocked to floundering, the picture being labeled, "My first fish." Jim is going to have some tall fish stories to tell when he gets home. He says he is having a fine time.

The farmers have for the most part given up all hope of getting rain to make any silage out of crops that are planted and are now praying for rain so they can plant rye to make some late fall and winter and early spring pasture. It is going to take a lot of fall rains and a lot of winter snow to soak the ground up so a crop can be raised next year.

If you can't pay your subscription, pay a part of it. A dollar will pay for six months and will help a lot. It takes cash to get out the paper in dry, cropless weather just the same as it does when things flourish, and in good times we have other ways of getting money, which we don't have now. You will have to all help a little if we keep it coming.

The state fair is going to use 2 three-inch ads in Nebraska weekly papers this year and possibly pro-rate payment at that. The state fair is the biggest business institution in the state. A lot of little 2 x 4 politicians used several times that amount in the campaign just closed. And the fair, in sending the little ads, sends many times as much free publicity. Oh yes, they say we can do as we see fit with it but they expect it to be run. S'funny, don't you think?

I accepted an invitation to ride to Hastings Saturday evening and while waiting for my party to finish the business on hand and get ready to come home I got thirsty. I looked around, walked a block each way, could see no place announcing liquid refreshments, and being afraid to stray too far for fear of getting lost, and not knowing how to find Everett Jones who I was sure could lead me to something good to drink, I saw a bubbling fountain on the corner. Just then I saw Bill Maltman walk up and take a drink and before I could get there to make myself known he slithered into the crowd, but knowing he always drinks the best, I thought I would take a chance. I was of course thinking, as I approached the fountain, of the kind of drink one gets from an Ord fountain, and was surprised to get a drink from that fountain of sparkling, cold water, almost ice cold. Later I learned that the Hastings well is 2300 feet deep and I am not surprised that the people there prefer it to beer. Wouldn't it be fine if Ord could have that kind of water instead of what we do have.

'An Idaho baker was ordered by the so-called code authority of his state to raise the price of his bread one cent a loaf. He appealed to Senator Borah of that state and Borah advised him to fight and offered to provide legal service for the fight. When the newspapers spread this information the NRA at Washington announced that nobody had authority to order a baker to raise prices. Then why are government agents running around ordering folks to do this and that?—Nebraska Signal, Geneva.

This kind of an instance makes it look as though the government is really running a bluff, and whenever their bluff is called, they lay down; also that a lot of petty government men, drunk on a little brief power far exceed their authority. I am inclined to believe the average business man who goes ahead, does what is right, even if a few codes are violated, will not have much trouble.

Wouldn't Ord be a beautiful place if everyone would strive to have as nice a flower bed as Ira Lindsey has south of the city hall. Have you noticed it? It has been a real task, this hot, dry season, for plenty of city water don't ever take the place of natural rain, yet the space south of the city hall is a real beauty spot and I see many strangers, as they drive past, "Oh" and "Ah" and point it out. Flowering stations especially are making a mistake not to do the same thing. Those on the highway especially would increase their business among transients, if they would beautify their places.

Something DIFFERENT

Up here on Cullen lake Byron Simpson is very proud of his new name, which is none other than Baron Simpson, after the famous Baron Munchausen. I think perhaps they gave it to Byron because of his tales about the big ones that got away. He most always has a few, after each fishing trip, and that means all the time because the Baron fishes all the time.

But Byron brings home lots of big ones, too, and he doesn't tell any tales about their weights. He is rapidly making a name for himself as a Big-Fish-Catcher. A week or two ago he brought in a Hoary Old Greatgrandpa Bass, weighing five and a half pounds, and looking it. And a couple of days ago he proudly exhibited one that weighed six pounds. And Thursday evening he came home with a beautiful string, all sizeable bass, caught just at dark.

Since they call him the Baron, however, and Byron kinda likes it, he devotes considerable thought to polishing up suitable stories, so that his title is deserved. Mr. L. B. Fenner assisted him with these stories, as long as he was in camp. They have also taken to calling Buddy, his ten-year-old son, the Little Baron.

All of which adds certain zest to life here.

There are Ordish faces to be found on several shores of this lake.

Across west at Wa-ma-dee, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cushing are sojourning, and I have a strong suspicion Mr. and Mrs. Archie Coombs are also concealing themselves there.

The Jim Petska family, his father, the Rubie Lincolns and Miss Charlotte Kasal and Dr. Osentowski are other Ord touches. Not to mention ourselves.

J. E. Lawrence of the Lincoln Star, who was so earnest in his efforts to secure irrigation and power for our valley, also has been spending a little time in this country. He and his wife and daughter spent a couple of weeks on Pelican, three or four miles east of here. Mr. Lawrence will long be favorably remembered by Ord and Valley county friends.

Mentioning Dr. Osentowski, if you want to kid him when he gets home, ask him about the time he went fishing without bait.

Last week I told you about the smart old bass who made himself such an easy living snatching dead minnows the second we threw them out of the live box.

I have about decided someone is fishing for the big bass.

"Lucky", a blondish Chesapeake hunting dog, has amused us for several days past by spending almost all the daylight hours in the water before our cottage intently watching the fish slip about. Every once in a while he makes a frantic dive toward one of them, but of course never yet has snagged one. I have an idea he is particularly interested in that big bass.

But the big bass is perfectly safe, and knows it, and "Lucky" although a smart dog in some ways, is 100 percent foolish to spend his days fishing. "Brownie", mother of our dog "Buck", is a smarter old lady. She comes down in the heat of the day and walks out into the water and lays down. After fifteen or twenty minutes' cooling bath in the lake, she leaves.

Chesapeakes are water retrievers, water dogs. And the more time they spend in the water the lighter color their coats become. The Chesapeakes here do not look much like Buck, who only spends a few hours in the water during hunting season in Nebraska.

Filling stations in this country are quite often most beautiful, and each one tries to be different. They often succeed. Some filling stations are attractive enough for homes, some are stately enough for churches. Some look like one of Alice in Wonderland's visions, or perhaps like the home of the Crooked Man at the end of the Crooked Lane.

One filling station in St. Cloud is a little Dutch mill, constructed out of the native granite so abundant there.

We saw a filling station in Brainerd a few days ago which had realized this ambition to be noticeable.

Flamboyant flowers bloomed in every side, each one apparently selected because it had the brightest bloom of its species. And the loud flower beds and bright green building were not all.

Over on one side was a rock garden and pool, and here too originally reigned. In the center of the little pool stood a most exciting ostrich. His body was once a big white pitcher, but now it was painted a bright red, filled with cement, tipped up, connected with a flock of small pipes which created long legs and a long neck for the bird. A funny little gob of cement made a head, atop which sat a tiny bell-hopperish hat with tall ostrich plumes making it taller. This queer bird also had wings of big black ostrich feathers, I might add!

On the borders of the pool sat three green iron frogs, in three sizes, like the Three Bears. Little wooden figures, gaily painted, in the several flower beds were another touch added to this filling station garden.

Water for the pool sprayed and trickled down over the rock garden.

I don't know what else could have been done to make that filling station unique, unless they had added a roof solid with flower boxes.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Delicate Pudding.

To make this, mix two cups water, a little salt, two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch. Beat three egg whites, add, and cook the mixture until it does not stick to the pan. Separately, mix this yellow part of the pudding: three egg yolks, beaten, one cup butter, one cup sugar, two cups milk, one and one-half teaspoons flavoring. Cook until thick in double boiler. First put the white part in a dish and then cover with the yellow. This is a very good dessert.

Lucille Johnson, Mullen, Huckleberry Pie or Sauce.

To one quart of washed berries add one and one-half quarts of hot water with one-half teaspoon soda. Boil ten or fifteen minutes until the water gets green, then drain and pour hot water over to rinse the berries. Then mash the berries, and add something sour, either the juice of one lemon or one-half cup sour fruit juice, or vinegar will do. I usually use juice of cherries, plums, wild grapes or choke cherries. Also add one and one-half cups sugar and a pinch of salt, then boil twenty minutes.

I wanted for pies add two tablespoons tapioca. For future use, can white hot. It is nice to add one quart of rhubarb fresh or canned to two quarts of huckleberries, or even apples added make it into good sauce or pie filling.

Donor's Name Mislaide.

I think the above recipe, with several others, came from another state, I rather believe from Arkansas or Texas, where some former Valley county woman now lives. I will be glad to give her credit if she will send in her name again. I have several more recipes from this same cook, but dislike to print them without being able to give credit.

Claudine Neale, who had been here for six weeks with her aunts, Madams George Pratt and F. B. Shirley left Sunday for her home in Hastings. She is the only daughter of Mrs. Tina Lane-Neale formerly of Ord.

THE QUIZ FORUM

August 7, 1934

To The Ord Quiz: The state corn-hog administration wants to train the township corn-hog committee to measure the contracted acres.

They also want the local committee to count all of the hogs in the county. My reply to the state corn-hog administration was the following letter:

Dear Sirs: Having received a application blank for the corn-hog supervisor, will say that I would be ashamed to take the job as would be a useless expense heaped upon the bankrupt farmers.

I have served as township corn-hog committeeman in our township and am familiar with conditions in Valley county, Neb.

It is my honest opinion that Valley county will not raise 500 bushels of corn this year, the drought has hit Valley county so hard that we will not even raise corn fodder as it stands about 20 inches high. Some of this corn fodder is already lying flat on the ground bone dry. The government ruling says no grain shall be produced on the contracted acres.

The township committee of Valley county can swear to the fact that not a bushel of grain of any kind will be produced on the government contracted acres in Valley county this year. Why go to the big additional expense of measuring the many thousands of contracted acres in Valley county.

It is pretty hard to tell the contracted acres from the other land as it is all one parched, desolate desert, so why burden the farmer with this extra useless expense, the unbearable conditions as they are now on the farm, will be still harder to bear next year, for we will have no hogs to sell, no cattle to sell.

I think the above ruling says no grain shall be produced on the contracted acres. The township committee of Valley county can swear to the fact that not a bushel of grain of any kind will be produced on the government contracted acres in Valley county this year. Why go to the big additional expense of measuring the many thousands of contracted acres in Valley county.

As far as hog counting is concerned that work would have to be done pretty soon as the farmers are killing the pigs off by the score. It will not take long until there will be no hogs to count, as 75 or 80 cent corn and 4 cent hogs is a very poor combination.

Three cent hogs as they were short time ago and 18 cent bacon do not look just right.

During the World War when everybody was making plenty of money the best bacon sold for 3 times the price of live weight of hogs, now the price is 6 times the live weight of hogs.

Yours truly,
Jos. Rousek

BRISBANETHIS WEEK

Hindenburg Sleeps
Important Stork News
Building Happiness
Mr. Green Sees Danger

Through miles of flaming torches Hindenburg was carried to his grave. No representatives of the Hohenzollerns appeared. The United States sent a wreath. The ceremony began with the funeral march from Beethoven's Third Symphony, "Eroica," written in honor of Napoleon. Services to honor Hindenburg's memory were held in various churches here. New York's Governor Lehman sent to the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church a tribute eulogizing Hindenburg as "a great soldier and statesman."

Italy reports that the stork will soon have the honor to bring another little Mussolini to the dictator's household. This delights the Italian nation and causes more general interest than would the arrival of quintuplets in any royal family. If that new baby inherits its father's qualities, it may play an important part in the world.

It is officially stated also that the widow of Chancellor Dollfuss will soon have interesting news for the Austrian people. Dictators come and go; the stream of babies, fortunately, never ceases, and there is hope in every one.

At "Two-Mountain Chalet," "a beautiful lodge, cradled among the Rocky mountains," Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt had dinner after driving 125 miles through Glacier National park over the Great Divide. After dinner, in a broadcast speech, the President said many things of interest to the people of the United States.

He said, in the first place, that "the stealing of the public domain is finished." That is most encouraging.

The President says the nation has entered "an era of building, the best kind of building—the building of great public projects for the benefit of the public and with the definite objective of building human happiness."

Mr. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, warns the government that it must do something for the 10,000,000 idle. If it does not act swiftly, Mr. Green says, "so society may take over the means of production."

What is "society"? President Roosevelt's government has already "taken over the means of production," taking charge of industries, pay rolls, shops, farms, spending public money by the billion in an earnest, sincere effort to restore prosperity by financial artificial respiration.

Constantine, Algeria, reports bloody, fatal rioting between Moahammedans and Jews. More than 20 Jews were killed, many injured. An Arab mob, armed with black-jacks, revolvers and "Arab knives," invaded the city's ghetto, "setting fire houses and dragging Jewish men, women and children into the streets, to stab and beat them."

Some of our best minds, that have been shipping dollars and securities to Canada for safe keeping, out of the reach of our "radical, confiscatory" government, will shudder reading the speech of Harry Stevens, Canadian minister of trade and commerce. This gentleman says "big business," made up of "unscrupulous financiers and business men," exploited Canada's consuming public, starved her producers, sweated her workmen, gouged her pulp, paper and other industries and left her with a choice of reform, dictatorship or revolution.

Earl Beatty, admiral of the British fleet, has common sense. He thinks Britain should regulate her own naval strength, decide questions of defense for herself, not asking opinion or permission from other countries. Many Americans feel the same about their own national defense, and wonder why a people of 123,000,000 should be less independent than Washington's U. S. A. of 4,000,000.

Cetinje, Jugoslavia, reports a farmer stoned to death by villagers who saw him using a toothbrush and concluded that it was "a magic wand for practicing witchcraft." Unfortunately for the victim, he was seen using the "strange instrument that he carried" just after a cow had ceased to give milk, two dogs had gone mad and the son of the richest man in the village had eloped with a gypsy girl.

Vincent Pisano, only twenty, hired a room on the top floor of a quiet Brooklyn boarding house, retired there with his friend, Oreste de Roberto, twenty-one. Both were racketeers, both were hiding, both were "on the spot." Hiding did no good.

Two gunmen came down the sky-light, shot Pisano five times in the abdomen, put several bullets in De Roberto's head. Both young men had police records, had been tried and convicted and let out.

Organized crime usually "gets its man."

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I.—On her way to a position in Lostland Academy, Janet Mercer, young professor of English literature and rhetoric, after receiving a letter from Gordon Haskell, proprietor of the Academy, meets on the train a young man whom she learns is Arthur Fleming, also on his way to the Academy, as prospective student and instructor.

The two men faced each other across the marble-topped center table; one like a study in burnt umber; the other a bold and melancholy etching in black and white.

Haskell's dead-white hand pressed down against the marble, his veins as black as the veins in the stone. His ring had cut a scarlet circle about his ring finger.

"Payne," he went on, "you don't know how oppressive this ancient place is to me. I'd like to leave it to the ivy and its bats. And the ghosts of all the dead presidents could come and ring its bell if they had a mind to—Ah, Berenice, come in."

She stood in the doorway. She had changed to a black taffeta dress with many ruffles that stood out like the petals of a black rose. Wilton went away. Berenice watched him go; and her guardian appraising her as the prettiest of sublunary girls in that quaint dress, remarked jealously: "You have brightened very much since these teachers came."

"Naturally! They have transformed the place."

"Don't get too fond of them. They will not be here forever."

"Neither shall I!"

"No—after your majority—or your marriage, we can sell the old place; though who would buy it if I don't know—unless it were some doctor to turn it into a sanatorium."

"Yes, it might make a sanatorium. You might be the doctor."

"Oh, no—nothing like that. Berenice—darling—I've hoped for just one thing during the course of these years."

She met his eyes steadily, though she knew what was coming; had known it before the ministering angels of education had appeared upon the scene. It was her acute realization of the trend of her guardian's emotion that had led, indeed, to her demanding a small corps of teachers to finish her education; together with a strong, though dimly defined instinct that it was the specter of a mystery not yet solved.

"Just one thing," he said brokenly, "your—love—the hope that some day you would be my wife."

She hesitated before she answered him, "Guardian, that can never be!"

His astonishment, his pain, was genuine. Across her mind floated the memory of a fairy tale once told her by Mother Martha, of a wolf who desired to become human. Gordon Haskell's eyes at that moment were oddly like those of a wounded animal baffled in its attempt to step from its own kingdom into another.

"Why not?" he gasped crisply. "What is wrong with me that you cannot love me?"

"Love doesn't come at a call. You've been very good—devoted to our family—"

He stepped back a few paces, his face ashy white, his hand clutching with the old gesture of pain at his heart.

"You have an attack! Shall I bring you water?"

"Yes, hurry!"

He was sitting by the fire when she returned. After drinking the water he straightened up again and muttered, "I must avoid emotion. Don't let these young teachers make love to you, Berenice. You have money, they have none!"

She flushed with anger! "How can you imply such things, Guardian! They have been most kind to me—anyone is kind, I think, who stays in this old place."

"They are well paid."

"People of their attainments would be well paid anywhere. I repeat—it's a kind of high sacrifice and devotion to stay here!"

He looked furtively at her. "Why?"

"Because of the wax figures, and the sad memories. Balder says the last Christmas tree we ever had is in the belfry room. It ought to be destroyed."

"I'll tell him to burn it."

"And I should like the key to the room where the figures are."

Janet entered at that moment, and Berenice welcomed her warmly. "Let us go and see Mother Martha," she proposed. "In the east wing."

Janet hesitated. "Have I your permission, Mr. Haskell?"

"Certainly," he answered, not looking at her.

Berenice led the way down the corridors—up a staircase, through one totally deserted and shut-up floor to a large room with a fireplace under the eaves. Before the soft-coal fire sat Mother Martha in her rocking chair, her hands in her black silk gloves, her bright shawl wound closely around her stooping shoulders.

"I've brought Janet to see you!"

"Sit you down! It's been a fine day—like the days when they were all here; I used to hear them runnin' and callin' me. The brown man's locked 'em up now."

"Just the figures, Mother Martha."

"They're yours no less, Berenice. You have your Sunday frock on!"

"Yes, Mother Martha."

The old woman searched Janet's face anxiously. "You are taking her away?"

"No—oh, no!"

Mother Martha rocked herself in her chair, gazed at the glowing coals. Up in this high story the wind whistled as if they were in a tower. "Aint you been up the vine yet?"

"Yes, once."

"Tis an awful place—a place of death."

"Yes, dear," Berenice said soothingly; "but don't think of that now. Show Janet all the things you knit so beautifully."

When they were going away Mother Martha called Janet back to her and, grasping her arm, drew her down confidentially. "He laughs at the stories they tell about this old house—but it's all gospel truth. I seen 'em—walking."

"Sally thinks she'd better stay home," was all the satisfaction Payne could get; so he switched off to crops, and thinking that he had quite fulfilled his obligations of inquiry, he rose to go.

"I'll step a piece with you," said Mrs. Wexford.

Wilton was surprised, but glad of this turn of affairs.

"I have to take some mash to the black pig on the lot," she explained to her husband, but she would in no wise permit Wilton to carry the mash.

When they were some distance from the house, Mrs. Welford slackened her pace. "I didn't have to feed that pig; he's overfed now. But I knew well enough Sally would never tell you; and her father thinks it all nonsense. But she has a queer faculty—she sees things that ain't there."

Mrs. Welford turned her bright eyes upon him, then looked toward the dark mass of the academy in the distance. "I don't expect you to believe it any more than her own father does—but twice while she was at school she says she saw the four Bracebridge children—once in and balls; and the oval-framed photographs of the family.

"I'll call Pop," she said.

"It's you I want to see, Sally. I want to know why you're not coming back to the academy!"

She flushed. She was a pretty girl, with rather handsome eyes, and an independent manner. Mother has too much to do. She needs me home. Wait, I'll fetch her and Pop—or maybe you'll come into the kitchen. It's warmer."

Farmer Welford and his wife received him cordially, but seemed disinclined to talk about their daughter's desire to give up the pursuit of an education.

Mrs. Hall Barnes Writes,
Arvada, Wyo., Aug. 9, 1934

I want to tell you all of my Ord friends what a lovely vacation Clare and I had. We were gone four weeks, went to Sheridan for a few days, then went to a little mountain of Story, was there six days and was it delightful. We had a big 3-room cabin nicely furnished with everything but our eats, even to ice. A little mountain stream ran right by the cabin and water like ice and full of trout. We had all the trout we wanted. Did not catch any ourselves though. The little town celebrated the 4th with a barbecue dinner but we only got a small plate of meat and went back to the cabin for our dinner and found a bunch there from town with all kinds of eats and we sure did enjoy it all. We went to the fish hatchery one day. Clare had never been up there. I had several times. There was a nice fireplace in the cabin and every evening we were glad to have a fire and also several mornings were real cold. All came back to Sheridan in the evening. Then in a day or two Clare and I went to Big Horn. Not as cool there but was nice, then back to town again to the rodeo. Edna and I did not go but the rest did. We went to the parade and it was fine, over a mile long. We saw the Sioux Lily White Horse Patrol with their 32 Arabian horses. While in Sheridan I celebrated my 75th birthday. Edna gave a lovely dinner. We got home July 22nd and Maude and Catherine went to Sheridan next day and are still there. It is very dry here, not even gardens. We have a little hay. Clare will cut soon. All ranchmen are selling their cattle to the government and not much for them. There has been over six thousand head taken by here since we came home and as many more in other directions. By the way three of our neighbors put on a rodeo about three miles from here. I did not go but Clare did and it was very good and this was the third year for rodeo here. I sold my calves this morning as we were afraid we would not have feed enough. We have two cows and a span of horses only now. Sure sorry to read of so many deaths there. I hope Mrs. Leggett has recovered from her burns.

Very truly,
Mrs. Hall Barnes

A letter from Mr. Coats.

Mr. Editor:
Here are a few lines that might interest your readers. Last week S. A. Pascoe and wife and Will Coats and wife of California arrived by auto at our home. Mr. Coats was on his way to the world's fair and expected to visit relatives in Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Pascoe will visit in Valley county until their return and then they will all go back to their homes in California. Mr. Pascoe is well known in Vinton township as he lived here for a number of years. Will Coats is a cousin of ours and was a boy about when Nebraska was young and he formerly owned a farm in Dixon county, Nebraska. Last Monday our visitors and Walter Coats and wife and two sons and Wallace Coats and daughter and Mother and Dad Coats went to Dixon county to see our relatives. There were 72 at a picnic at Concord Park last Sunday, all relatives of the Missus and myself. The oldest one there was Mrs. C. L. Rice, mother to my wife, the youngest a 3-months-old baby, Erelene McCall, a great-granddaughter of Mrs. Rice. Five generations were represented. Sure we had a good time. Monday of this week we came home and hope to meet them all again next year.

My business was for two purposes, to be with my relatives and to look over the feed situation in northeast Nebraska. I found the corn crop ruined as far as grain is concerned. There will be a lot of silage and fodder from it. Hay about a half crop, some sorghum and other forage crops looking good but needing rain. They received a good lot of rain during the summer but blame us out here for sending the hot winds up to them. I found a place to put my horses for the winter and expect to move them up there this week. Had a hard job to find a place for our young cattle but may find one later. Will keep the older cattle at home and ship in feed if it can be had. People there are getting some aid so I was told as to feed and seed loans where it was needed. I have made three trips in the last three weeks over a lot of Nebraska. The feed situation is very severe. It looks as though the very best dairy cows and the best purebred cows are all that can possibly pay to keep over as the price of feed is going higher each day and it is nearly prohibitive now.

ing place. He drew it from his vest pocket, and opened the door with Payne thought rather a shrinking manner.

The four wax figures were at their eternal tasks, with their little, secretive smiles which would never fade as long as they endured. Hasell and Payne stood looking at them in the chilly room.

"They're all right," Haskell said nervously. "Come, let's be going. It's as cold as a vault here. Yes, I'll have bars put on the window, and then I can rest easy at night. Sally Welford is fool," he added bitterly.

Payne made no answer, but when Haskell had gone from him again on some errand, he started down the hill for another visit to the belfry of Lostland church. That night he told Arthur Fleming that he thought he was at last on the track of the mystery which hung like a cloud over the academy.

one of the falls, once on the grounds. She's awful sensitive about her way of seeing things invisible to other people. The second time it happened she came home and says, "Mom, I can't go back again. There's something wrong over there. I hate the place. I can't go back." I coaxed her to tell me what was wrong, and then she told me what she had seen."

"Mrs. Welford," Wilton remarked impatiently, "if a story is once started it never dies—and the step from believing a rumor, and then actually imagining ghosts or noises, is exceedingly short."

The wild grunts of the nearby pig now filled the air. Mrs. Welford emptied the mash into the trough, and then and only then answered Wilton. "You see, Sally is what they call—it's a long word—"

"Clairvoyant?"

"That's it."

"It's a pity," Wilton commented, thinking it best not to argue the point. "Your daughter is very intelligent, and learns quickly; it's a pity to give up the chance for a winter's education because of silly stories."

"But them wax figures. You can't talk them away," Mrs. Welford retorted shrewdly.

"Mr. Haskell has locked the figures in."

"So I hear—but what Sally sees is not wax."

"I'm sorry! That's all I can say." He bade her good-by and departed thoughtfully.

A Sunday calm brooded over the academy. Arthur and Janet had gone for a walk. Mrs. Denver was spotted with Payne in the library, knitting and glancing from time to time out of the high, narrow windows toward the lake. Balder was out in a boat fishing, and Haskell was watching him from the shore.

"That's a lonely man—a queer lonely man. Some days I am afraid of him and some days I'm sorry for him. He's going to lose everything in a year or two."

Haskell came in after a while. "It's raw out," he commented. "Well, did you see Sally?"

"Yes. She won't come back."

"She saw the Bracebridge children twice she says."

Haskell laughed nervously. "Payne, you'll have a chance to study rural psychology. The country people about here are very foolish over this old place. They are worse than sailors."

"So it seems."

"Let us go down and see that the figures are safe. I get rather edgy over them. With all these cock-and-bull stories about, one never knows what degradations might be attempted. I believe I'll have iron bars fitted in that window; then I'll rest easy."

Payne nodded. He rather dreaded the expedition to the basement, and followed Haskell reluctantly. The head of Lostland academy had already taken the key from its hiding place. He drew it from his vest pocket, and opened the door with Payne thought rather a shrinking manner.

The four wax figures were at their eternal tasks, with their little, secretive smiles which would never fade as long as they endured. Haskell and Payne stood looking at them in the chilly room.

"They're all right," Haskell said nervously. "Come, let's be going. It's as cold as a vault here. Yes, I'll have bars put on the window, and then I can rest easy at night. Sally Welford is fool," he added bitterly.

FISHING NOT SO GOOD, REPORTS QUIZ EDITOR

Terrific Storm Hit Cullen Camp Saturday; Editor and Family Will Be Home Next Week.

Sunday, Aug. 19, 1934
Cullen Lake, Nisswa, Minn.
Dear Quiz Readers:

Last week I failed to write a letter for publication, not because I was too busy fishing but because I had no fish stories to tell. This week I still have no tales of big fish that were caught or got away but am writing anyway.

Fishing has been very poor here, as I guess it always is during the month of August. The bluegills and crappies are biting fast enough but bass, walleye, pike and northern pike strike very infrequently. We are out of bluegill bait and common anglerworms cost 5¢ per dozen up in this country so we haven't done much bluegill fishing, although we catch a mess to eat whenever we get fish hungry.

A number of Ord people have been here recently but all have returned home now except us. Jim Petska and family, his father and brother, Bill, and Dr. Osenowski were here for a week and I believe they had excellent success fishing. Rube Lincoln and wife, accompanied by Miss Lottie Kasal and Mrs. Charles Grabowski and daughter were here for two weeks, leaving for Ord Friday night. Rube and his partner, Ross Lakin, bought the Barney Brickeer cottage this spring and next summer will remodel it, they say.

The only cottages that are occupied in camp now are our own and the Simpson cottage and the Gross cottage, where the Augustine family from Grand Island are spending a few days. They plan to purchase this cottage, Mr. Augustine says, and expect to be regular visitors to Cullen lake hereafter. (Olga just came in and said that the Mackowsky family drove in during the night and are occupying their place south of the Judge Clements cottage.)

Some very large bass have been caught by Cullen Lakeites recently. Byron Simpson has taken two big ones, one weighing 5 1/2 pounds and the other 6. He gave the larger one to L. B. Fenner, of Burwell, and Mr. Fenner has employed Ray Luther to mount it and plans to present it to Governor Bryan, he says.

Friday Messrs. Boyer and Patterson, of Omaha, who are in a Lundberg rental cottage north of our camp, caught some large bass over at Big Bass lake—a 5 pounder and a 6 pounder. They also caught a crappie that weighed 3 pounds, as well as some smaller bass and crappies. Big Bass lake used to be a great place but in recent every last chicken he had. The writer would feel like serving notice on the world that he would sit in the patch with a shotgun and that it would be just too bad for anyone trying to steal his property. Most people who raise gardens, chickens, grain or anything else will feel about the same way. Melons are no different than honey, corn or pork.

Mrs. Sarah Tedro Last Rites Friday

Funeral for 87 Year Old Ord Mother Held at M. E. Church Where She Had Long Been Member.

Sarah Ann Stewick was born December 7, 1846 at Harrisburg, Pa. She was married in Lee county, Iowa, November 1, 1866 to John David Tedro. Four children were born to them, Cora Belle Tedro who died in infancy, Frank B. Tedro of Ord, Mrs. Alice Cubbage of Chanute, Kansas and Judd L. Tedro of Ord. The family home was at Correctionville, Iowa until 1901 when they moved to Ord, living on a farm, northwest of town for some years before moving into town. Mr. Tedro passed away October 31, 1915 and Mrs. Tedro has made her home with her son Frank since that time. She was a member of the Ord M. E. church and of the local G. A. R. Funeral services were held at the Ord M. E. church at 10 a. m. August 17, Rev. Smith officiating and interment was in the Ord cemetery. The Frazier funeral home conducted the funeral. At the time of her death she was 87 years, 11 months and 8 days old. While she had not been in the best of health for several years, due to the infirmities of old age, deceased was able to be about the house and was real spry for a woman of her age. Her death was due to an accident sustained a few days before when she fell and broke her hip. Mrs. Tedro was a good woman loved by all who knew her and will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Mrs. Harriet Eastburn Laid To Rest Sunday

Harriett Elizabeth Toops was born at Chillicothe, Ohio, January 18, 1841 and died at the home of her son, Henry Marshall in Ord, Nebraska, August 17, 1934, following an illness of about 4 weeks. The cause of her death was old age. She was the daughter of Henry and Mitti Ann Toops. She was married January 18, 1866 at Landon, Ohio to John Marshall and six children were born to them, three of whom are deceased. The surviving children are Henry Marshall of Ord, Wess Marshall of Jacksonville, Florida and Mrs. Frank Eastburn of Arnold, Nebraska. She is also survived by a brother, Ancil Toops of Mt. Sterling, Ohio. Her husband died in 1886 and on January 18, 1888 she was married to D. C. Eastburn at Watseka, Illinois. He died April 22, 1902. There are five stepchildren, also, to mourn the passing of Mrs. Eastburn. They are Frank Eastburn of Arnold, Nebr., B. T. Eastburn of Falkton, S. D., Will Eastburn of Ogallala, Nebr., Mrs. Nels Hansen of Ft. Collins, Colo., and Miss Maude Eastburn of Ord. There are also 18 grandchildren, 25 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild and many friends to mourn the going of this good woman. Deceased affiliated with the M. E. church until recent years when the infirmities of old age prevented her.

The family moved to Ord in 1908 and this has been the home since. Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday, August 19, from the Frazier chapel, Rev. Willard McCarthy of the Christian church officiating and interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Merlyn Johnson Seriously Injured

Tuesday evening when the North Loup boys were returning from a kittenball game at Scotia about 9:30 Merlyn Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, was riding on the running board of the car. Just as they were entering North Loup they met the Romans truck driven by Chas. Romans and the vehicles passed so close together that Merlyn was either brushed off or fell off the car he was riding on and was badly injured. A fractured ankle, injured hip, badly cut right arm and many bruises resulted, and he was very weak from the loss of blood before Dr. Weeks, called from Ord, arrived. The lad was rushed to Hillcrest where first aid was given. Dr. Weeks told the Quiz late Wednesday that the boy was so weak from shock and loss of blood that he could not examine to determine the extent of his injuries.

Government Corn Loans Extended

Announcement was made Wednesday that all government corn loans would be extended to Jan. 1, 1935. Arrangements have also been made to release a part of the sealed corn for feed purposes upon payment of the loan upon the part released.

WINDBREAK PLAN WILL CHANGE CLIMATE HERE

Scheme of President Roosevelt Is Defended by Lincoln Man—Effect of Trees on Climate.

Fred Morrell of Washington has opened an office in the state house to conduct the shelter belt operations.

Most of the land to be used for the tree belts, Morrell said, will be obtained from farmers on long term leases, possibly with an option agreement. It is planned that most of the work will be done by farmers on whose land planting will be undertaken or by their neighbors.

"We expect," said Morrell, "to enter into co-operative agreements with individual farmers who desire to devote necessary portions of their lands to tree planting, that will provide for their doing the necessary soil preparation, putting up needed fences for protection and planting seedlings when they are ready, and care after they are planted. Water and soil conservation will, to a limited extent at least, be a part of the project.

Morrell said the protective effect of a shelter belt had been fully demonstrated through scientific experiment in this and European countries.

All technical phases of the work will be determined by the lake states forest experiment station, near St. Paul, Minn., and agricultural colleges are expected to be important agencies in all phases of the projects.

"In Nebraska," said Morrell, "we have the assurance of Dean Burr of the agricultural college."

Must Lease Nurseries.

Nurseries must be leased or built to grow saplings for the 75 million dollar program, and actual planting probably will not start, Morell said, until a year from next spring.

"How soon will benefits of the program begin to show?" he was asked.

Morrell turned to Clayton Watkins, Nebraska state forester, with whom he was conferring, and suggested that "Watkins tell it."

"It won't be more than ten years," said Watkins earnestly.

"We've seen results already from our shelter belt planting in this state and that started only eight years ago."

D. S. Olson, University of Nebraska graduate in the United States forestry service in Montana, will supervise the nursery work. Many other forestry service experts will be transferred for technical jobs and many employees will be obtained from the civil service rolls.

East Side Home Scene Of Gay Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Roe gave a party at their home, 10517 Avenue M in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mrs. Roe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmer of Ord, Nebraska.

All who attended had a most delightful time. The three daughters, Mrs. Roe, Mrs. Grindly and Mrs. Fraiser, proved themselves charming hostesses. The aged couple were recipients of many gifts of gold, and were showered with congratulatory letters and telegrams, all wishing that they would live to celebrate their diamond anniversary.

A delightful luncheon was served and much of the time was spent in reminiscing. The bride and groom of a half a century ago told many interesting stories of the days when they went down the aisle and took the solemn vows.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ray Roe, Mr. and Mrs. Al Frasier, Mr. and Mrs. William Grindly, Mrs. Better Lorrence, Mrs. Evelyn Goodrich, Laurette Dye, Charles Grindly, Virginia Mutter, Marshall Fuller, Gwendolyn Frasier, Margaret Druga, Jackie Billie and Robert Roe, Grace Ann McLaughlin, a great granddaughter of the Palmatiers.—Chicago Tribune.

Frey Got Booby Prize.

That is, he did if one was given. H. G. Frey, not ours but one in Garfield county, was one of six republican candidates for sheriff in the late primary and he got just 8 votes, the smallest number anyone ever got in the county running for a county office. And Mr. Frey is not unpopular either, but he made up his mind during the campaign that he was not in the running and quietly told his friends not to vote for him.

Joseph F. Smolik Passes Suddenly

Was one of County's Most Successful Farmers; Settled West of Ord in the Early 50's.

In the passing of Joseph F. Smolik, Valley county has lost one of its most successful early settlers and farmers and one of its best loved citizens, for Mr. Smolik was all of these. Settling here, 14 miles west of Ord in the early 50's, he came to be known as one of the most successful farmers and accumulated a competence for his old age and left a rich heritage to his children.

He was born October 25, 1856 in Czechoslovakia and came to this country when a young man, living for a short time in Saunders county. He came to Valley county 55 years ago. He was married here in Ord November 27, 1883 to Miss Rosely Hayouse, and she with their children are left to mourn the going of a kind and loving husband and father. The children are John of Sargent, Joseph of Burwell, Lew of Ord, Mrs. Mary Hruby of Arcadia, Frank of Comstock, Mrs. Anna Klanecky of Sargent, Mrs. Chas. Drosda of Lincoln and Phillip of Wolbach. One son, Rudolph, died in infancy. There are 28 grandchildren, a brother John of Rapid City, S. D., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Klandiger of Walnut Grove, Minn. Mr. Smolik passed away at his home in Ord Saturday, August 18, at 9:30 p. m., following an illness of two weeks. He was better of his illness, was visiting with his children who called to see him during afternoon and evening and with close town neighbors who held him at 9 o'clock, when he said he felt so much better that he believed he was going to get a good night's sleep. Thirty minutes later he went to the porch where the refrigerator was, to get a cold drink of water and must have suffered some kind of stroke for he fell, was helped to his bed and died inside of a few minutes. He was a devout member of the Catholic church and his funeral was held at 9 a. m. from that church Tuesday, August 21, Father M. A. Lawler officiating. The Frazier funeral home conducted the funeral. Interment was in the Ord Catholic cemetery.

In 1914 the Smolik family moved to Ord where they had purchased a home, leaving the home place in charge of their sons Philip and Frank. Just a few years later, when Frank was called to the army Mr. Smolik felt that he would have to go back to oversee the farm and did so, not returning to Ord again until 1924, and this has been the home since.

Rowbal-Cummings.

On Monday evening, August 20, at a quiet wedding in the Pentecostal church at Burwell, Dorothy Lucille Rowbal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rowbal of Ord, and Rev. William Earl Cummings, son of Rev. and Mrs. George Cummings of Grant, Nebr., were united in marriage by Rev. Glen Reed, pastor of the Burwell church. They were attended by Rev. and Mrs. Harold Pegg of Elsie, Nebr.

A color scheme of white and pink was used. The bride was dressed in white and Mrs. Pegg wore pink. The church was decorated in pink and white. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents where refreshments were served.

The bride was born and raised in Ord, having graduated from high school with the class of 1931 and the groom was graduated from the Graynor, Nebr., high school with the class of 1931. He later attended Bible school in Colorado. For the past year he has been in Evangelistic work. At present he has charge of the services in the Pentecostal church in Ord, in the absence of the regular pastor, W. O. Ziegler. When the Zieglers return to Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings plan to spend their honeymoon visiting relatives and friends in the western part of the state and Colorado.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. C. Behren of Litchfield and a graduate of the normal training class of the city. The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Pierce and a young man of sterling qualities.

After the ceremony the young couple returned to the J. L. Harvey home where a delightful supper was enjoyed by the immediate families.

Burwell Lad Kicked by Horse.

Billy, small son of Wm. McCull, living 2 miles east of Burwell, was kicked by a horse Sunday afternoon, the back of his skull being kicked away and little hope that he can live was given by Dr. Smith who cared for him.

Zac Harris Wins.

Zac Harris and Dave Williams were republican candidates in Kent precinct in Loup county for county commissioner at the late election. There were about 125 votes cast in the precinct and every one of them, with one exception, a republican ballot.

After the election the young couple returned to the J. L. Harvey home where a delightful supper was enjoyed by the immediate families.

Moratorium Bill Will Aid Distressed Farmer

Unable To Give Details of Workings of Frazier-Lempke Bill Until Next Week.

Probably there is a large percent of the farms of Valley county that are mortgaged. Some of the owners are in distress on account of these mortgages and the Frazier-Lempke Farm Moratorium Amendment was passed by congress for the purpose of relieving such distressed farmers. The Quiz hopes the time is not far distant when the congress will take a similar step to help business men other than farmers. Surely all want to understand, as fully as possible the workings of this new law.

You have read in the Quiz in recent issues that Mr. B. M. Hardenbrook has been named as commissioner to handle the cases that come under this new law. Mr. Hardenbrook has already received some of his supplies. He has taken the oaths of office required of him; he has given a bond and had it approved. He still has some final arrangements to make, such as establishing an office where he can carry on his duties as commissioner. Some of his office supplies have not arrived from Washington as yet, but he expects to be ready to begin taking applications by the first of September, and by next week will no doubt be able to make an announcement.

Believing that a great many Quiz readers are anxious to know more about this new law, we will, next week, publish quite a complete summary of it. We believe we will be able to explain it so you will know what it is about. After reading it, if you are interested, you can go and talk the matter over with Mr. Hardenbrook, and take the necessary steps to take advantage of the benefits of the law.

Ord Should Become Good Horse Market

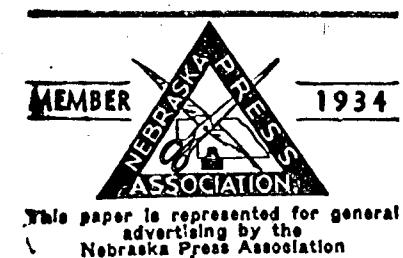

The Weller Auction Company of Ord and the Williams Auction Company of Arcadia have joined forces to hold horse sales in Ord, every two weeks. The first sale will be held Friday, September 7 and the promoters hope to have at least 200 head of horses for this opening sale. They have assurance of plenty of eastern buyers, who will be in Ord for this opening sale.

Car Hits Truck, Baby Is Killed

Sunday evening Larry J. Brown, 8-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren G. Brown of Wayne, Nebraska, was almost instantly killed when the Brown car struck the back end of one of the Ord Service Station trucks, going to Omaha and loaded with cattle. Mr. Brown, member of the firm of Brown-Ekberg, is assistant manager of the Wayne store and was returning home from a vacation trip. The accident happened near Columbus about 9 p. m. Newspaper

I thought I was quite a cook and informed Flora, from whom I am mouching most of my meals while the Missus is away, that we would have baked pork and beans the next day and that I would cook them. She quietly suggested that as I was busy, perhaps she had better attend to them. But no, I wanted to do it. So I picked over the beans the night before and put them to soak. The next morning I boiled them up with a little soda, poured the water off and put them on to cook. I put the meat to cook in another kettle and went down to the office. About that time Harry came in with an armload of job work proofs that we had to read by copy. It is a particular job and I forgot all about my cooking until the proofs were read three hours later. Then, as the last one was finished I thought I detected a funny smell and went up the stairs faster than I had done for a long time. The house was blue and such a smell. I grabbed a couple of holders and lifted my bean kettle off but there was a nice pile of beans left on the red hot electric plate. The water had boiled out, the aluminum kettle bottom had melted and it was 10:30. I had no more beans. I knew I would get kidded so I went down town, got more beans and another kettle and started over. Also got some meat for dinner and told Flora we would have beans for supper. I got a good do on the cooking and got them in the oven to bake about 2 p.m. Turned both oven buttons and thought when the oven got hot I would go up and turn them down. But I got busy again and forgot it and when I went up there was a sorry mess, big baking dish almost ruined and no beans yet. I have heard of women who couldn't boil water without burning it and I am in that class. Now when I suggest getting something ready for the next meal Flora just grins. It is nice of her not to say anything.

I am predicting that there will be a pretty battle between the candidates for congress in this district this fall, Albert N. Mathers on the republican ticket and Mr. Coffey on the democrat ticket. Mr. Mathers is a progressive type of republican, has had a lot of experience serving the people of his vicinity in Washington and has also had a lot of legislative experience in this state. I believe he will be the next congressman from this district.

I am sending out a postcard reminder to those who are in arrears on subscription, who have not been in to make arrangements to have their paper continued. I don't want to remove their names from the list without giving them every chance to have the paper. I can't continue to send it unless it is paid for. If you can't pay a full year pay six months and if you can't do that pay three months and do it often. If you don't want the paper and do not intend to pay for it of course I want to take your name off the list now. I figure that there are very few who can't pay a little and thus show their good intentions.

Now if Congressman Burke, democrat nominee for the senate, can get the North Loup and the Middle Loup irrigation projects allowed and work started on them before election, he will get a tremendous vote in these valleys. We of the North Loup must have not only irrigation but a reasonable amount of power for this valley. And mere talk is not going to fill the bill either. I am sure Mr. Burke, with the help of Mr. Mullen, can get the job done if they wish. But they will not be able to put these projects on ice till after the election in November and then drop them. Talk is not going to go. Promises will not satisfy the people of these valleys. The government is going to have to spend that money anyhow to keep the people and it might as well be paid for labor to do something constructive.

—o—

The only reason I can see for Thompson or Carpenter or Ritchie to enter the democrat senatorial contest this fall, would be spite work. Probably Mr. Mullen has done talking enough so he has it coming. Surely a Bryan candidate would help Bob Simmons, who the Mullen crowd say is a tool of the power trust. And surely none of the Bryan crowd want to be classified as doing something deliberately to help elect Simmons.

—o—

If I wanted to run for office in Nebraska I would petition the court to change my name to either Marsh or Swanson. Looks to me like those names are being over-worked.

That the government water conservation movement is meeting popular favor in Clay county, is evidenced by a statement in the Sun last week, that 71 applications have been made, work on 15 projects have been started and one dam has been completed.

—o—

Some delay was experienced between the time of addressing and mailing subscription cards last week and if, in the meantime, you have paid, and get a card, pay no further attention to the card.

—o—

I expect Eugene home in a few days now, from a month spent at Cullen in northern Minnesota and as soon as I can get away after he returns, I am going up after the Missus and Mrs. Burke. It may be a week or two before Mrs. Burke is able to stand the trip back to Ord, as she is but recently out of the hospital where she spent several weeks and submitted to an operation in addition to her severe sickness. If it is going to be like last Saturday was here, I shall be glad to be away again for a while and then I am getting mighty sick of living alone.

C Something DIFFERENT

A joke that has been tickling my ribs ever since Mr. Frank Gross told it to me a few weeks ago I will retell to you.

Mr. Gross once owned an Ord meat market. Among his customers was a lady who always wanted no bones to pay for, or smaller bones than the piece she liked seemed to possess. She was always mentioning the matter. And at that time Pat Crowe worked for Mr. Gross: "Pat was the best meat cutter I ever saw."

One day the hard-to-please lady stopped in to buy meat, and as usual, when selecting it, she said, "Haven't you some without any bones in it?"

To which Mr. Crowe answered, seriously as could be: "Madam, Mr. Gross is out now trying to buy some animals without any bones. That's just what we want, to meat without bones, and if he can get any, I'll surely let you know."

But this mallard family has about disappeared. I think the babies have all learned to swim capably, and her morning swimming school has been abandoned by their mama.

and then again she decided to bring up the rear and herd them before her.

Sixteen Day Pickles.

Select fifty or seventy-five cucumbers four to five inches in length. Wash and cover with a brine made by adding one pint of salt to one gallon of water. Let stand one week, skimming off scum as it forms. Drain and cover with boiling water to which add one tablespoon alum and let stand twenty-four hours. Remove to a crock and cover with this liquid, boiling hot: five pints vinegar, six cups sugar, then in a bag, one-half ounce cassia buds, one-half ounce stick cinnamon, one-half ounce celery seed. The first three mornings bring liquid to a boil, adding one cup sugar each morning. The last four mornings heat liquid to boiling point without adding sugar. The last morning pack in glass jars and cover with boiling liquid and seal. These pickles keep in a crock for a short time, but better when sealed.

Dear Jake:

Furtively I step into the old town hall to vote. I say furtively, because I am a little ashamed of myself for going so far to vote with no axes to grind. So many do not go at all. I scanned the sample ballot. The democratic ticket is much longer. There is one fellow there that I would like to vote for. I glance at the republican ballot. It looks better. A few more familiar names. I would like to vote for John out, but I hesitate. He might not get it anyway. My one vote, in all likelihood, would not elect or defeat. Further, I might want a political job sometime. It would not look well if they found that I faltered in the time of need. I step to the desk. Five men take a part in handing me a republican ticket. They knew me of old. They did not have to ask. I produced the ballot.

Sweet Mustard Pickles.

Combine one-half gallon vinegar, four tablespoons mustard, four tablespoons salt, four tablespoons sugar, one-half cup mixed spices. Weigh three pounds sugar and add one-half cup each day until gone. Soak one hundred small pickles in weak salt water overnight and then put in a stone jar and leave until all is used up.

Mrs. C. A. Scott, Arcadia.

Good Pickle Relish.

Grind together two heads cabbage, eight carrots, sixteen onions, eight green peppers, medium size. Add one-half cup salt and let stand two hours. Drain, add three pints vinegar, six cups sugar, one teaspoon mustard seed, one teaspoon celery seed. You do not have to seal this relish.

Mrs. C. A. Scott, Arcadia.

Good Pickles.

Use medium sized cucumbers or larger ones, slice about one-fourth inch pieces, wash and pack in a jar. A two-quart sized jar is best as it saves on vinegar. Use one gallon of cold vinegar, add a medium sized coffee cup of salt. Use barrel salt. Stir well until salt is dissolved, pour over pickles and tighten lid same as in canning.

When ready to use put some in a bowl and cover with sugar and you have a nice sweet pickle. Add mixed spices if you like, slice the pickles and they will take sugar quicker.

Mrs. Ivan Botts, Ord.

Grape Juice with Tartaric Acid.

Use seven pounds of grapes, weighed after picking them from the stems. Sift three ounces tartaric acid over the fruit and allow to remain over night. In the morning squeeze through cloth. You will find about three pints of it and to this add seven pounds sugar.

Leave in an open vessel where it can be stirred occasionally, for about a week. You will then have a gallon of thick syrup that can be kept any length of time without sealing. One tablespoon makes a glass of drink. A small amount of lemon or orange juice improves it.

Editor Quiz

Recently I noticed an article in your paper regarding the government tree planting program. You didn't seem to be very enthusiastic about it, but to the farmer it means much. If you would look at many of the pastures you will notice that they are sadly neglected on account of shade trees. A good pasture should contain water, grass and shade. This last item is very important in the hot summer time.

Now we can have them if the government will cooperate with practical farmers of which there are some in every community.

It seems to me that the only thing we need is water in order to get the grass and the shade.

Irrigation would help in part of the country but much of the land can't be irrigated, because of the expense. But for a shelter belt.

This could be had for a minimum of expense. We sometimes have heavy rains that all in a short time and much of this is wasted and goes rolling down the canyons. But by building suitable earth dams and ponds much of this water could be saved.

By planting shade trees and putting a good fence around them we would soon have trees. As the government only proposes to plant about 1 acre of trees to 40 acres it would be practical to put down wells and a good windmill. Most farmers know that a windmill is the cheapest machine on the farm. Considering what it does and cost of upkeep. For about $400 a good well and windmill could be put down and would last many years, with a minimum of expenses.

The windmill will work day and night. No union hours. As long as the wind blows. By buying posts, barbed wire and windmills in quantities this estimate could be cheapened.

We could restore the old swimming hole and also have a skating pond and ice pond in winter. Early settlers used to dig their wells with a spade and recently when I visited my neighbor and asked about that old dug well, he said, "Do you see that large elm tree?" Well, that is just on top of the old well. I doubt if he would take $50 for that tree.

Yours truly,
J. G. Bremer.

Despite the season's drought and general depression times, North Loup will again celebrate her annual fall festival, "Pop-Corn Days" since it seems to be the general wish of her people. The event will at least provide a home coming and social recreation for the people of the community and friends from away some of whom have written how much they hope the days will again be observed. Committees are at work planning two days full of varied amusements etc., and of course there will be pop-corn for all. As yet the date is not real certain though it will probably be held September 13 and 14. Watch for further announcements.

THIS WEEK

Herr Goebbel Brags
One American at Rest
Mother Was "Mean"

Another Hapsburg

In Berlin, Herr Goebbel, minister of propaganda, praising Hitler, says, "There will be no Kaiser or King." He might have added that none is needed, since Hitler Germany has a Kaiser, King and dictator, "three-in-one." Herr Goebbel boasts: "Hitler does not start the day asking 'What do leading bankers say?' Rather, bankers begin the day asking 'What does Hitler say?'

Germany has no monopoly of that condition. Herr Goebbel will be surprised to hear how many bankers and other gentlemen in this country, who once thought they had money, begin the day asking "What does Roosevelt say?"

One American at least is out of his troubles forever. Mr. Medlock, forty-eight years old, rents cotton land in Greenville county, South Carolina, and thought he knew how much cotton he ought to plant to pay rent for his farm.

After he had finished planting, government inspectors measured his cotton fields and ordered him to plow under three acres. He had gone beyond his allowance. Medlock complained to his family for two or three days, then went behind the barn and shot himself through the heart, deciding that he, instead of the excess cotton, should be "plowed under."

Little Nora Ruth Niciforas may with confidence recite the prayer: "Forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive those that trespass against us." Because she had been disobedient, her mother, as shown in court, held the six-year-old child's fingers over a gas flame, "burning them severely." The child's mother, sentenced to 35 days in jail, was freed when the little girl told the judge: "I love my mommy. I was a bad, bad girl and picked things up after she told me not to. She never was mean to me before." It is to be hoped that the mother will never be "mean" to her again.

Prince Von Starhemberg, in a private conference, saw Dictator Mussolini, and gossips suggest that Mussolini will encourage Austria to restore a Hapsburg, the young Otto, to Austria's throne.

Otto, young heir of the Hapsburgs, is extremely good looking, would deeply interest any movie director.

But, why people as intelligent as the Austrians should think of taking on another Hapsburg after what the last Hapsburg did to them is hard to understand.

There is little enough left of Austria now. Do the Austrians want Italy or Germany to take that little, or divide it between them?

Never adopt a plan unless you know all about it.

William Bryant, in the Louisiana penitentiary, read about Dillingers' escaping from prison with the aid of a toy pistol, made of wood, terrorizing guards by the dozen, taking away their weapons.

A newspaper clipping about that pistol was found on Bryant's body after he had been shot dead, trying the same "wooden pistol" method.

It is a pleasure to hear from the United States Chamber of Commerce that there are "only" seven millions out of work in this country, Mr. Green, union labor head, says ten millions, but the chamber says that is "exaggeration."

On the other hand, statistics show that one family in every ten in New York city is "getting home relief," which is our substitute expression for the dole. In New York 671,800 persons are on the dole, 7,939 more than the previous highest record. That does not indicate diminished unemployment.

Government says it will "bar profiteering" on food, following the dole. Many administrations have said that, many times, but there is no "bar."

Where there is a scarcity there will be profiteering, and there is a scarcity.

Secretary Wallace says it will increase the cost of living 6 to 7 per cent next winter.

Sikorsky, who made the biggest passenger plane now flying successfully, the S-42 Brazilian clipper, predicts "60-ton aircraft," three times as big as S-42.

The 50-ton, heavier-than-air ship will come, pass and seem like a toy compared with real airships of the future. Columbus, in his day, might have predicted a sailing ship 100 feet long. He could not have dreamed of a ship 1,000 feet long, driven by steam.

The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce reasonably objects to removal of the government's gold from California to Colorado, with "earthquake hazard" offered as an excuse. California wonders, if the government's real reason was fear of attack from across the Pacific, why it does not say so.

Rev. and Mrs. Kearns and family of Burwell were Sunday dinner guests at the J. Holman home.

Mrs. F. S. Zukoski and daughter, Margaret were Friday evening visitors at the Bernard Hoyt home.

Mrs. Marie Adamek and Leo Kessler of Ord were Sunday dinner guests at the Harold Hoyt home.

United Brethren Church,

Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Communion services at 11 o'clock followed by the Fourth Quarterly Conference. A full representation of all officials is especially requested.

We are engaged in painting our church property. Any who will donate labor are invited to lend a hand. Any who cannot labor and are in position to give cash are also asked to make a free will offering for this work. Some have already contributed. As this work is a part of our year's program, we are desirous of seeing its accomplishment before the annual conference session.

The annual conference convenes at Aurora, Sept. 5. Mrs. Dessie Needham is delegate and Mrs. Myrtha Waterman, alternate.

The U. M. A. and O. G. girls will hold a joint meeting and will enjoy a picnic supper in the park Thursday evening at four o'clock.

The Woman's Aid will hold their last meeting of the conference year at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon of next week.

Prayer and Bible study Thursday evening. Beginning with September, our mid-week service will be changed to Wednesday evening which is to be recognized as church night by the churches, public schools and the community in general.

Union services next Sunday evening. Rev. Real will bring the message.

Valley County Voters

To the voters of Valley County with whom I had such pleasant contact during my recent Primary campaign, I wish to extend my sincere thanks for the friendly reception as I approached you and for the loyal support given me Tuesday, August 14.

I entered the campaign unsolicited, carried it on without the advice from politicians and the results have been so satisfactory that I expect to continue this policy through the November elections, in which I hope to have your continued friendship.

I thank you and I'll be with you during the November battle.

Erna R. MalottkeThank You

Though I apparently came out only second among the seven candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress, I sincerely appreciate the fact that Valley County gave me a majority and I appreciate the work of those who so kindly assisted me in my campaign for this office.

Mignonettes.

The Mignonettes met with Irene Hansen Friday, August 17. All members were present. Mrs. Earl Hansen was a visitor. Two demonstrations were presented on the buttonhole. Margaret Strong and Viola Hansen were one team, and Mildred Timmerman and Ruth Cook the other. Interesting ideas were given. The team to give the demonstration at the 4-H club get-together on August 30, will be chosen at the next meeting. Remade garments were judged. Mildred Timmerman held high score. We practiced singing "Follow the Gleam." The next meeting will be held at the home of Ruth Cook, August 24th. A delightful lunch was served by Mrs.

Hansen assisted by her daughter Irene. After the meeting kittenball was enjoyed by all.

Editor Says Fishing Not So Good on Cullen

years hasn't been fished much. It is due to revive in popularity, it seems.

We had a terrible storm here yesterday, after two extremely hot days. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon it clouded up and started to rain and 2 inches of rain fell in about an hour. Then the wind came up and blew a gale, lightning crashed and we were all worried for a while. A number of large trees in camp were blown down, including a large oak tree just south of our cottage. Two big pines in the Gelow lot were destroyed and numerous trees along the road were ruined. The Simpson dock was torn up and Byron was busy until dark repairing it.

Our boat was in the upper lake and as soon as the rain stopped I went up to see about it. I found the boat blown up on the shore and about half full of water but otherwise uninjured. This morning it is cold and windy and as soon as the wind subsides I believe fishing will be better.

I have made several trips to Gull lake to fish for walleyes with fair success, and plan to go once or twice more before I return to Ord September 1. Also hope to fish for small mouth bass in Hubert lake. They are said to be striking over there.

Guess my wife, in her "Something Different" column, will tell most of the news so this will be all for today.

Very truly,
E. C. Leggett

Supervisors Named At Primary Tuesday

We were unable to get a complete list of the supervisors and public power and irrigation directors, in time for last week's paper but are printing the complete list as follows:

A close contest developed on the demo ticket in Dist. 7 between J. A. Braden, the winner and H. A. Bellinger. Mr. Braden received 90 votes, while Bellinger received 80. The other candidate on the same ticket, U. G. Evans trailed with 23. For the republican nomination S. V. Hansen received 156, Lester Bly 59, and Brady Masters 47.

In Dist. 1 Joe J. Jablonski defeated Morris Sorenson 151 to 124. Jason Abernethy, the republican nominee, was unopposed in the primary.

In Dist. 3 L. D. Milliken won from Joseph Vasicek 171 to 89. Henry Zikmund the demo nominee was unopposed, getting 155 votes. A hot fight developed in district 5 for the demo nomination, Chas. A. Faud leading with 81 over Grover Barnhart 43, and Homer Sample 39. J. A. Barber, republican, was unopposed, receiving 189 votes.

In the race for director of the North Loup Public Power and Irrigation district, Jos. P. Barta lead the field in Valley county with 965. Among others nominated were Charlie Bridge, 965; Charles Newecker, 214; Luther Pierce, 146; and Herman Grunmeyer, 137. There was a number of others who received votes for directors but not in large enough numbers to insure their nomination without getting a good vote in Garfield and Loup counties.

In the Middle Loup project race A. H. Easterbrook lead with 167, then followed W. A. Armstrong, 132; Edith Haynes, 71; W. T. Chase, 71; Clark Raymonds, 68; Geo. Rockhold, 62; H. S. Kinsey, 46 M. L. Fries, 32. A number of others received a few votes each.

The above votes for irrigation directors in both the North Loup and Middle Loup projects is official for Valley county but does not include the vote from any of the other counties in the districts.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Clark visited in Arcadia Tuesday with Mrs. Ollie Walkup-Leininger. Guests in the Leininger home were Adams Nellie Wells-Butler and Maude Wells-Brown, both from California. They formerly lived in Ord.

WINDBREAK PLAN WILL CHANGE CLIMATE HERE

Ernest G. Stage, business man and engineer of Lincoln.

The "shelter belt" will be 100 miles wide. It will be 1,000 miles long, will cost $75,000,000 and will take ten years to complete. At the end of fifty years the strip will increase in value $500,000,000 besides exerting a beneficial effect on climate. It will lessen heat. It will reduce soil erosion to a minimum.

Mr. Stage first suggested the reforestation idea in order to retain snow and moisture in the sand hills. The water, he insisted, could be conserved and the flow of the Loup increased. The flood water could be conserved and diverted to the Platte valley.

In Parallel Strips.

The plan calls for a hundred parallel strips of trees with a mile of farm land between each strip.

Each of the hundred windbreaks will be about seven rods wide, covering 14 acres out of each square mile.

Although forestry officials were originally of the opinion that the project would be the largest of its kind ever undertaken, recent research disclosed that a similar undertaking involving 100 million acres had been under way for some time in Russia.

ESTABLISHED APRIL 1882.

PLANS STARTED HERE FOR SAVING PUREBRED STOCK

Meeting Will Be Held at Court House September 5th; Flack Will Speak.

A meeting, considered of utmost importance to all Valley county farmers is scheduled for the Court house Sept. 5 at 2:30 when plans for saving all purebred and good grade beef and dairy cattle will be discussed. Agricultural Agent Carl C. Dale is making plans for the session and M. L. Flack of the Nebraska college of agriculture will speak.

The statewide campaign to save all foundation herds has gained momentum but no definite and set down plan for moving cattle is expected to be given out. Possible plans, however, for moving animals to regions where roughages are abundant or vice-versa will probably open to discussion.

Farmers in the northeastern and western sections where more plentiful rains have fallen this year have an abundance of roughages and are willing to cooperate with livestock producers in other sections of the state in saving the better stock. These men will either buy good grade or purebred stock or "winter" it over. The two parties are being brought together and are working out their own agreement.

As a starter in the present campaign, an intensive trench silo demonstration program was carried on there by the extension service and the college of agriculture. As a result thousands of tons of damaged corn was put into the silo to be fed this winter as ensilage. With such roughage scarce in Valley county and feed a big problem with livestock producers, interest in the meeting will probably run high.

Government Will Buy Cattle Next Week

Up to the present time Valley county farmers have sold 1052 cattle to the government at a price of $128,753.00 according to figures furnished by C. C. Dale, County Director of Drought Relief.

Buying days for next week, for Valley County will be Monday, Sept. 3rd at Burwell, Wednesday, Sept. 5th, Ericson and Friday, Sept. 7th at North Loup.

Farmers who desire to sell at Burwell or Ericson must secure permits at the Cattle Buying office at the Court House. It is impossible to assign quotas to the different townships for these buying days since some townships have several hundred cattle in sand hill pastures and others have very few. Farmers who have cattle to sell at points within the county are urged to list them with their township Committeeman in order that the local office may know where further buying dates are needed.

Judging from the number of people who ask me what has become of Maggie Quiz readers will be glad when Eugene gets home and revives the old time news column.

Saturday the 18th of August, Miss Elvira Jensen and Ray Shewell were married in Walla Walla, Wash. They started at once for Ord and arrived Friday. They are spending several weeks here, guests in the home of their relatives, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Burrows and other relatives and friends.

This week-end Florence Anderson, Linotype operator at the Quiz, is taking a few days off to make the trip to Detroit with her brother, C. A. Anderson who is going back after some Plymouth cars that he has sold. Mrs. Jerry Petska and Mark Tolson were also of the party. They all expected to stop over a day in Chicago and take in the fair.

Results Not Changed In Ballot Recount

There was quite a flutter of excitement the latter part of last week when it was announced on the street that an error had been found in the Ord 1st ward vote which gave candidate Bill Heuck 14 votes not counted for him before, which would have nominated him instead of Art Mensing for treasurer. The whole democrat vote was checked and the result was gain of three votes for Mensing who retains the nomination for County Treasurer on the democrat ticket. The supposed error occurred because some of the first ward ballots were being checked with some second ward tally sheets by mistake.

Dams To Be Built Across Canyons

Engineer Hoyt tells the Quiz that he has about 25 applications for dams in Valley county and expects to get at least three projects started the first week in September. There should be 200 such dams built in Valley county this fall, says Mr. Hoyt. It means work for many people. If you are interested put your application in at once.

The first teachers' meeting has been called for Friday, September 7th at which time final arrangements will be completed. Ord is expecting a heavy enrollment in both high school and grades and is making plans to accommodate everyone. School policies in the main will be the same as in the past. Slight changes however, are planned in a few departments.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jameson have moved into rooms in the Freeman Haught house on L street. Mr. and Mrs. George Owens have a part of the house.

An Explanation of Frazier-Lemke Farm Moratorium Now in Effect

(By William Lemke)

Congressman William Lemke has written a pamphlet describing the Frazier-Lemke Farm Moratorium Act and we herewith set out verbatim the Preface and Conclusion as he sees it.

Under Sub-section "S" the farmers who are insolvent or who are indistress and unable to meet their present obligations as they become due, will be able to protect their homes, their lands and personal property, and scale down their indebtedness to the present values of such property and pay for same on the installment plan. It makes no difference whether such property is mortgaged or whether such debts are secured or unsecured. Under this amendment such debts can all be scaled down to the present value of the farmer's property. After the farmer's exemptions are set aside under the state laws, he can select any or all of the remainder of his property and remain in possession under the control of the court of the part so selected and pay the appraised present value under the terms and provisions of the act as amended.

This is a conservation act. Nobody will lose anything—it conserves property and values. The creditors will get the present value of the property—that is all they can now get or that they are entitled to. In fact, they will get more under this amendment than they ever would get by wrecking another million farm homes. The agricultural wealth of this nation can and will be preserved in the hands of those who created it—the farmers. This act will give new courage, hope and aspirations to distressed agriculture.

May I here warn the farmer not to accept every proposition made him by his creditors. They should be willing to scale down his debts to the reasonable value of his property at the present time, and give him sufficient time, with a low enough rate of interest, so that he will be able to meet the payments as they become due. The farmer is the best judge of his ability to pay. If his creditors are unreasonable he does not have to accept their proposition, but can change his petition from conciliation into a petition of bankruptcy. Then, the bankruptcy court will take a hand and scale down his debts and give him an opportunity to pay these debts as scaled down at one per cent interest on the installment plan, or by paying a reasonable rental and paying the appraised value any time within five years without interest. Again, may I suggest to the farmers this applies to your unsecured debts as well as those secured by personal or real estate mortgages, and that your exemptions will first be set aside, subject, however, to existing liens up to the appraised value.

May I also suggest to the creditors that if they are fair and reasonable that most cases can be adjusted outside of court. No creditor or set of creditors have a right to destroy society—have a right to destroy agriculture—the basic industry of this nation. No hard boiled, soulless corporation will be allowed to demand the last pound of flesh or to distract the last drop of blood out of agriculture—to destroy the goose that lays the golden egg.

Prior to this amendment the Bankruptcy Act generally was an instrument of destruction—it put an end to a person's accumulated efforts and left him high and dry to start anew. In fact, our bankruptcy act as well as all of our laws heretofore made, were for the purpose of protecting the creditor at the expense of the unfortunate debtor. This was done under the pretext of "honest" debts—but nothing was ever said about the dishonest dollar with which those so-called "honest" debts were to be paid. A dollar whose value could be and was manipulated so that it took fifteen times as much wheat in October 1932 to buy that dishonest dollar as it did in May 1917. In other words, in May 1917, 1,000 bushels of wheat would have brought $3,890.00 in Minneapolis, but on October 18, 1932, it would have taken about 15,000 bushels of wheat to buy that same number of dishonest dollars, and what is true of wheat was true of other farm commodities.

This amendment marks a new epoch. From now on the debtor is going to be considered as well as the creditor. The bankruptcy act is going to become an act of conservation and not an act of wreckage. It will undoubtedly in future Congresses, be extended to include all debtors—business concerns as well as farmers—all will be recognized as going concerns. Property and wealth will be conserved in the hands of those who created it—not destroyed. Society as a whole will protect itself against unreasonable creditor individuals and corporations. Hope and aspiration will again return to our people as a whole.

Conclusion.

In conclusion permit me to suggest that in order for a farmer to get the benefits of this Act he must file his petition with the conciliation commissioner and start the machinery going. The farmer who sits idly by until he has lost his property will not be helped by this amendment, in fact, such individuals cannot be saved.

Plan Now Available For Disposal of Surplus Pigs

Study the proceedings carefully and as you will note under paragraph "Q" under section 75 on page 14, you find, after you have the outline well in mind, that the commissioner will, upon your request, help you to prepare your petition.

May I also suggest that you work through your farm organizations and your local attorneys. I have received 10,000 individual requests to act on individual cases for farmers. I am sorry that I cannot act for individuals. They are too many. You have your farm organizations and you have your local attorneys—cooperate and work together and you will find that in ninety cases out of a hundred your creditors will be reasonable and will cooperate, and the other ten per cent the court will take care of.

Ord High Football Schedule Announced

Coach Helmut Brockman arrived and is now on the job. He announces the following schedule:

September 28, Scotia here; Oct. 5, St. Paul, there; Oct. 12, Broken Bow, there; Oct. 19, Burwell, there; Oct. 26, North Loup, there; Nov. 2, Ravenna, here; Nov. 9, Ansley there; Nov. 16, Arcadia, here; Nov. 23, Open Date; Nov. 29, Loup City there.

The schedule this year is a duplicate of last year's reversing the home games. This gives four good fast games on the Ord field. Weather permitting, it is hoped to have all four games under the lights.

Mr. Brockman is anxious to get acquainted with the boys and start practices. In order to get a start with the other schools, he wishes to issue football equipment at nine o'clock Monday, September 3rd and to have first practice at nine o'clock Tuesday. All boys interested in football are urged to come out for practice at the school if possible. It is realized that a good many may find it impossible to report until school actually starts which is a week later.

The first week will give an opportunity for conditioning and work on fundamentals. Boys new to the game will find this a very profitable period. However, the coach is anxious to have all lettermen and reserves of last year out so that they may get acquainted and he can plan the season's work more definitely.

Official ruling of the Board of Control has been received relative to amateur standing. Those following high school athletics will find this interpretation of interest.

New Amateur Ruling

(b) "A high school boy can jeopardize his high school eligibility only if he participates on an organized baseball team or in other organized forms of athletics during the season of his high school (an organized baseball team meaning any team affiliated with the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, such as the State League or the Western league in Nebraska, not semi-professional or "sandlot" teams.)"

The task of keeping sanitary and attractive buildings is a big undertaking. Many people think of this work as merely sweeping the floors and firing the furnaces. These tasks are real work and of course must be done. However the custodians have countless other tasks and responsibilities. The health of the entire school population is in their hands. Proper ventilation and heating have much to do with the health of the children. This work requires constant attention while other tasks must be sandwiched into the days school.

The matter of good sanitation is one of the greatest importance to the health of the pupils and teachers. Frequent and thorough scrubbings are necessary. The fact that "athletes foot" is practically unheard of in the school, and that other infectious diseases are likewise uncommon, indicate to some degree the results of good sanitation. The method of treating the floors is conducive of better sanitation. All floors are kept waxed so that dirt has little place to hide. Dusting is carefully done each day with oiled cloth.

Patrons are invited to inspect the schools at all times. The buildings are open every day and visitors are privileged to go over them at any time. A real attempt has been made to put and keep the school property in good condition. It gives the children not only a clean, but also an attractive school home. Throughout the year the school urges your comments and suggestions not only on the buildings and their upkeep, but on all ways of making the school more effective and what the parents desire for their children.

In an effort to further stimulate the telephone business in Ord the employees of the Nebraska Continental Company are putting forth extra efforts during the first two weeks in September for new subscribers. According to Velasta Lincoln of the local office a substantial increase in new subscribers is expected to be added to our growing list as a result of this effort.

As announced in an advertisement in this issue, during this period the company is waiving the customary service connection charges.

Sunday Miss Lena Kokes returned to her work in Hastings after a vacation which she spent with her people, the Charley Kokes family.

Mrs. Prince Injured In Auto Accident

For some time Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prince have been talking about taking a trip up through the sandhill country. They especially wanted to visit O'Neill. It had been twenty years since Mr. Prince was there and Mrs. Prince was never there. So last Friday they took the trip, going via Bartlett and then up the fine new highway to O'Neill. Some old friends who they hoped to see had moved away and were not found. Then they drove on up to Atkinson and started down the Atkinson-Burwell road for home and were making good time when something went wrong. Mr. Prince applied the brake a little intending to stop and about the next thing he knew they were upside down beside the road. Fortunately he was not driving fast and the car was not damaged. Mr. Prince was not hurt and Mrs. Prince got a bump in the side from the wheel. They didn't think it was serious till the next day when it got so painful that she was brought to the Ord Hospital for X-ray and treatment and several ribs were found broken or torn loose which is worse. She is recovering and is thankful that the accident was no worse.

Deposits In Ord Banks Insured by Gov't

The First National Bank and Nebraska State Bank of Ord have received from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation at Washington the official signs which will hang at all receiving windows as visible evidence that the depositors of this institution are insured. A copy of this sign will be found on page 2 of this paper.

There are no mysteries in connection with the republican candidates who were nominated for the United States senate, the governorship and for congress. Not one of these candidates pussy-footed for a moment on the blue eagle or any other attribute of the professional incubus in Washington. Every successful candidate was vigorous and outspoken in his antagonism toward the un-Americanism of the democratic party, set forth his doctrine plainly and without mincing word.—Nebraska City News-Press.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

Where are we at? Who is running his own business? What is it all going to lead to? A news story in the state daily papers says that Gilbert W. Melcher, field adjuster and investigator in Nebraska for the NRA warned McCook business men last week that those failing to comply with the codes can expect a "Crack Down." This man Melcher is going from town to town, snooping around to find out how the codes are being observed. He will no doubt be in Ord pretty soon. After several days quiet checking, Mr. Melcher said:

"There is a general laxity of compliance in this city, which cannot be tolerated, particularly with reference to labor provisions governing wages and hours."

"Distance from NRA headquarters in Omaha is no excuse for a general let down in compliance. It must be remembered that business for which codes have been formed and approved are operating under law, not a blue eagle agreement with the President."

"Conditions in Omaha are very satisfactory. We want the same compliance here and in other smaller towns."

If there is a general laxity in Ord, as there is in McCook, Ord business men had better look out. Ord business men had, also, better talk to democrat candidates for Congress, all of whom, I believe, have said emphatically, that they will back the administration to the limit. That means backing the code enforcement. As a matter of fact, strict compliance with the code will put many Ord business institutions out of business. It is sure going to put a number of men out of jobs, for we just can't pay the code wages, with business the way it is.

Many Valley county farmers have mortgages on their farms and are unable to pay them or even the interest and taxes, in these depression times. These mortgages were made when times were flush, and when the land was good security for the amount loaned. Now the land, in many instances, would not sell for enough to pay the mortgage. Why should the person who loaned the money get his in full and kick the man who owned the land out with nothing? Why should the debt not be scaled down to an amount that would allow the farmer a chance to save something out of the wreck? That is what the Frazier Lemke law plans on doing. The records show that 42 per cent of all money on deposit in banks has been lost to the owner of the money the past few years. Had the people who loaned money on farms, put their money in banks they would have lost 42 per cent of it. Why should they not take the same loss on their money now? They put it on farms because the rate of interest was double or more than double and due to the depression followed by several drough years they lost.

A light frost is reported at Big Springs last week and the press says no damage to crops. Frost wouldn't damage crops in Valley county either.

The president has promised to take care of Nebraska by supplying more CCC camps and enlarging the shelter belt program. That promise was made to Congressman Burke and Mr. Mullen last Saturday. Nothing was said about the irrigation projects in these valleys. No doubt Messrs. Burke and Mullen think CCC and shelter belt work will satisfy the people of these Loup valleys. I wonder.

Two sets of triplets, all girls, were born in an Arkansas town inside of a few hours and the families of child producing age are getting excited, wondering if the idea is going to take permanently.

If you are going to take a daily paper or renew for one I will be glad to have the business. I am agent for all of them. It doesn't cost you any more, in fact saves you a little postage and stationery and I get a little commission, "with her romantic consent," the last installment paid recently.

That makes all that are absolutely well behaved shudder, although many millions of human beings on earth never get a wife except by purchase. Other millions may sell a wife if they choose, and no evil is thought of it. It is thinking that "makes it so."

Did you get a postcard from me dated August 20? If not, never mind. If you did, have you done anything about it? Better come in and do something about it.

There is a lot of thieving of all kinds. Not only chickens but all kinds of property is being stolen. Farmers come in for more than their share of the losses because it is easier to get at their stuff.

Hostile to Christianity
Hitler's Great Power
Fourteen-Pound Baby
Quite Easily Said

In spite of a gigantic vote, about 38,000,000 to about 4,000,000, that gave Hitler absolute power in Germany, Hitler's ardent admirers are annoyed that even four million votes should read "No." The Jews of Germany could not well be blamed, since there are only 600,000 of them.

They could not well cast 4,000,000 votes, Herr Goebbels, Hitler's propaganda chief, suggests in his newspaper Angriff that the anti-Hitler votes were cast by German Catholics.

That "No" votes were Catholic seems probable, in view of the attitude of Hitler's government toward religion in general, Catholicism in particular, and emphatic complaints made by the Vatican.

It is feared by Protestants as well as Catholics that hostility to Christianity may develop and spread among Germans as it has done in Russia, Spain, Mexico and elsewhere.

Hitler now holds in his name all the powers once exercised by the Kaiser, the Reichstag, the various separate kingdoms and governments that make up the German empire.

Also, quite important, "Herr Hitler has the power to declare war and to make peace."

It might be easier to declare war than to make peace in these times. He is commander of the army, navy and air forces, which indicates rapid progress for a gentleman who was not a citizen of the German nation four years ago.

Will M. Maupin (the boys all call him Bill) is the democrat nominee for railway commissioner. I have known him for many years. He is an old time printer and newspaper publisher and in late years has been doing editorial work on various Nebraska newspapers. Bill has taken most of the credit and his splendid wife has done most of the work of raising a mighty fine family, something like a dozen boys and girls. They are mostly men and women now and all a credit to their parents. Bill has never scrimped his family on anything they needed. He has always paid his bills, has always been ready to help the fellow less fortunate and has not been able to lay up very much in the way of earthly goods. The worst fault Bill Maupin has (if it is a fault) is that his sympathy is always with the under dog. I have known him to change his mind to help the fellow who was getting the worst of it and if he is elected to the railway commission his sympathy is going to be with the fellow who is getting the worst of the deal if the law will permit. That is the reason I am going to vote for Bill Maupin come November.

The big steel companies talk of abandoning the NRA code altogether, fearing the consequences of putting their industry absolutely in the control of organized labor.

"More easily said than done," they will be told. An old horse mired in a swamp might talk about abandoning the leeches that cling to him, but the leeches would cling. American Industry must go all the way through the process of being managed by those that never successfully managed anything else before.

Maybe the experiment will lead to the millennium, maybe not. All must hope and co-operate, even the mired horse.

Lloyd George, in his memoirs, says that while England was borrowing American dollars so industriously, the "United States, shocked by the cost of war, was suspicious as the allies asked for credit." He does not add, as he might, that Americans would have been wise to refuse the credit, since all of "our gallant allies" have turned out to be gallant wretches.

It takes a lot of silly twaddle to fill up the daily papers. Last week all the daily papers carried a story about an old mountain woman who said she had been married and lived with her aged husband 60 years, they had raised 14 children, yet he had never kissed her. Don't seem reasonable, does it?

Col. Weller hands in this one which he clipped:

Grogan and McSworley were just about finishing their cigars as they entered Clancy's home on a visit. "Have you any place where we can put our butts?" asked McSworley.

"Phyllis," shouted Mrs. Clancy, "bring two chairs."—Pathfinder.

People just can't remember that the Quiz goes to press with the last run late Wednesday afternoon and that noon Wednesday is as late as it is possible to get news and advertising in. Even the government people who want lots of publicity, will bring in their news notes Wednesday evening.

I have been surprised lately by people who I know don't take the paper, telling me about the things in it. Yes, there are many people who take the Quiz and pay for it and read it and there are also many who read it.

If you are going to take a daily paper or renew for one I will be glad to have the business. I am agent for all of them. It doesn't cost you any more, in fact saves you a little postage and stationery and I get a little commission.

Something DIFFERENT

Friends of quiet, gentle little Mrs. Daniel Burke will be glad she is now mending satisfactorily at camp after spending nearly a month (of what should have been delightful vacation time) in a Brainerd, Minn., hospital.

Twenty years or more ago the Burke family lived in Ord, where Mr. Burke operated a lumberyard. Mrs. Burke cooked and scrubbed and otherwise kept house, and their son Clayton, then twenty or so was one of the young bloods. Then the family moved to Idaho, and the Leggett and Clements families saw little more of their relatives until the last few years.

Ray Luther has a nice plump white gander that he has made into a remarkable pet, and a very interesting one.

In Tibet, I think it is, they use geese for watchdogs to warn of approaching travellers, whether friends or robbers.

Without being especially trained to keep a wary eye for strangers, Ray's goose does the same thing. A car or a person appearing near him is heralded by the honking of this goose, which almost talks, he seems so smart.

When the old gander wanders into the garden and makes himself a nuisance, Ray simply calls out: "Goose, get out of the garden!" in little more than a conversational tones of voice, and out of the garden obediently hops Mr. Goose. If Ray says: "Goose, go get him!" when visitor comes, the goose attacks promptly and with but one thought.

If Ray commands the gander, "Goose, come sit in my lap!", the nice old fellow waddles soberly up and plunks himself down comfortably in the Luther lap.

Mrs. Ted Givier, of Moorefield, W. Va., weighs 120 pounds, her husband weighs 135 pounds. Not that his weight makes any difference. Their little boy, named as you will guess, Franklin Delano Givier, just arrived, weighs fourteen pounds. Franklin Delano Givier, will not attract as much attention as do the Dionne quintuplets. But the mother is proud of the fact that her Franklin Delano weighs at birth one pound and a half more than all five of the quintuplets. Franklin Delano Givier's father says, "I can't account for it." No accounting is necessary. Every baby, big or little, is a marvel, and weight at birth makes little difference. One sickly little baby called Voltaire started a work that overthrew a long line of fat French kings.

The big steel companies talk of abandoning the NRA code altogether, fearing the consequences of putting their industry absolutely in the control of organized labor.

"More easily said than done," they will be told. An old horse mired in a swamp might talk about abandoning the leeches that cling to him, but the leeches would cling.

Amerian Industry must go all the way through the process of being managed by those that never successfully managed anything else before.

Though the Minnesota fish really haven't been very vicious about their August striking.

There is a drought here too. They need rain, but not as badly as has Valley county all summer.

But they have some of the most scrumptious big, red strawberries to eat here, grown across on the opposite banks of this lake. They couldn't be much bigger, redder, juicier or nicer than these. Actually look just like a picture in a seed catalog, and what's more, taste ditto.

When the hogs were all hauled off, I took down my records again. I spent a half a day wrangling with those figures, going up and down the columns, when I should have been hard at work in the field. I finally came to the conclusion that we were spending too much money. That the money was going out faster than it was coming in. Someone told me once that that was the reason banks failed.

It is high time pickle recipes were collected, as you will soon want to use them, end in your best pickling methods at once, please, so that Quiz readers may be getting the most good from them. It is also the season for a seed catalog, and what's more, taste ditto.

We quit keeping track. We had better luck. We took our money on hand as an indicator of our prosperity.

Now the government sent out dandy little account books and insists that we keep them written up. By doing so, we can tell to the penny what our profit is at any minute, on any project, tract or endeavor. We will know how much profit there is in feeding eighty-five cent corn to five cent hogs, in raising crops in drouth years, if Old Charley is getting the heaves, if Old Cherry is going to have a bull or a heifer calf or if the bank account is in the red or black.

That is all fine, but the heck of it all is that most of it I rather don't know.

Cream together one cup mincemeat, one-half cup white sugar, one-fourth cup fresh lard, one egg beaten light. Sift together one cup and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda, add to the creamed mixture. Put in nuts if desired. Drop in pan, leaving space between and bake in a quick oven.

Mrs. Will Kluna, Cookies.

One and one-half cups white sugar or two cups brown sugar, one cup butter, three eggs, one-half cup corn-starch, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, flour to make a stiff dough, one teaspoon vanilla, cream sugar and butter, add the eggs and vanilla, mix well and add the dry ingredients. Shape into small round balls with well floured hands. Press flat with the tines of a fork. Bake in a quick oven.

The August 1 report for the states indicates that, except for Kansas, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Missouri, the present corn crop may have a greater cash value than the one grown a year ago.

Kansas 3. 20.3
South Dakota 5. 24.0
Nebraska 6. 25.1
Missouri 7. 27.0
Iowa 29. 39.0
Minnesota 25. 32.4
Illinois 30. 35.0
Indiana 30. 34.2
Ohio 31.5 35.6
Wisconsin 35. 33.8

In the mid-month bankers' report, the estimated yield for Nebraska has been lowered to 1.9 bushels per acre.

Farmers wishing to extend their corn loans until January 1, must sign an extension agreement by the first of October. They must agree to provide free storage up to March 1, 1935.

Gets Good Vote.

Alvin Blessing, of Ord, Republican candidate for the nomination of state senator from the twenty-third district, was a pleasant caller for a few minutes at this shop Wednesday. Although he had no opponent for the nomination at the primary still the vote that he received was a very flattering one. He of course desires The Tribune to express his thanks to the voters for this generous appreciation of confidence. The twenty-third district comprises Custer, Garfield, Valley, Loup and Blaine counties, and in each of these counties he received an excellent vote. Mr. Blessing needs no introduction to the people of this section of the country. A pioneer resident of Ord he has always been prominent in the building up of this section.

Regardless of the result in the district we are predicting a handsome vote in Garfield county next November.—Burwell Tribune.

Too many people think that all it takes to run a meat market successfully is to install a refrigerator counter and a stock of meat and go to doing business.

But that isn't all it takes. EXPERIENCE is the necessary ingredient. It takes long years of experience to know how to choose meats, cut them up properly and handle them so that they reach the consumer in prime condition.

PERSONAL ITEMS About People You Know

The Ferd Wheeler family of Burwell have moved to Lincoln.

Wm. Barnas of Elyria has been a patient of Dr. Henry Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Collins who live near North Loup were Ord visitors Saturday.

There was a surprise birthday party Thursday evening for Jack Tunnicliff.

Miss Twila Brickner was in from the country and visiting Miss Merna Rowbal from Friday until Monday.

After a few weeks visit here and in Burwell Jack Snyder left Friday for his home in Nemaha county. His grandfather, Tom Williams took him home.

Harold Hoyt of Burwell spent last week in Lincoln. He is well known here. He is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Gwendolyn Hughes Hoyt.

Mrs. John McLain continues to be quite ill. Her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Kimont is caring for her.

Saturday a 9 1/2 pound son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDermott of North Loup. Dr. Henry Norris was in attendance.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Elsworth Ball entertained a few friends in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Andrew Alback of Omaha.

Miss Marion Hunter of Shenandoah, Iowa is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tunnicliff.

Friday Mark Tolson and his sister, Mrs. Margaret McGregor drove to Broken Bow and brought Tommie and Dickie Tolson home. They had been spending a couple of weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark were over from Bartlett Saturday. They have their cattle there on grass. They think there will be feed for another month. Then something else will have to be done with their stock. Mrs. Clark says perhaps they will have to sell.

The Taylor school opened August 27, two weeks earlier than most of the schools. Mr. and Mrs. John Ward are teachers in the Taylor schools. The latter is a sister of George Satterfield of Ord.

Sunday Robert Rose of Burwell was in Ord visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Tom Williams. He was on the way to Chicago, going with some Burwell friends. Robert was looking forward to spending weeks at the world's fair.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Will Witt of Ericson were in Ord. The latter says her daughter, Mrs. Walter Jensen is a little improved since her stay of several weeks in an Omaha hospital, but has not fully recovered.

Dinner guests Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. R. O. Hunter were Madams F. C. Williams, Mamie Wear and Florence Chapman.

Mrs. W. C. Parsons came from Burwell and her sister, Mrs. Will McLain and their mother, Mrs. Martha Mutter accompanied her home and spent the week end and Sunday.

D. B. Brown of Clearwater, Nebr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark and Ivan Anderson came from Bartlett and spent Sunday with the L. C. Clark family. Mr. Brown is a brother of Mrs. I. C. Clark.

A Warning From The Sheriff

To the Housewives, Citizens and Farmers of this Vicinity

This is a Warning

To Beware of Thieves Posing as Solicitors, Salesmen and inspectors. Strangers seeking admittance to premises as salesmen, solicitors or inspectors Should Not be Admitted until their Credentials Have Been Checked Up And Verified Through Dependable Local Persons or Local Institutions.

In Many Cases strangers, without reliable credentials are "spotters" for professional criminals and according to police records lack of caution on the part of the householders in admitting such strangers often times result in costly property losses and bitter experiences.

Government Funds in Corn-Hog Loans and the general better business conditions in this territory act as an inducement to transient organizations with all kinds of special selling deals. Beware of these strangers and their slick talk.

Do Not Pay Cash in Advance to strangers on any merchandise—in many cases and from experiences reported to the police department the customer has never received anything for the cash advanced nor has any refund been made of the initial cash deposit.

Do Not Cash Checks for Strangers—or issue a check as a down payment on an order to a stranger—as in a number of cases these checks have been altered and later cashed by a third and innocent party.

Post-Dated Checks or checks which the issuer requests you to "hold a few days" should not be accepted. These checks are frequently never made good and legal technicalities make collection difficult.

It's Better to be Safe than sorry be sure you know who the stranger is at your door before granting admittance to your home.

In case you are suspicious—phone the Sheriff at (Phone 145 at Once) as we are anxious to cooperate with our citizens at all times.

High pressure—Free gift artists have been working the residence and farm district of late selling all kinds of merchandise offering "something free" as a means to get into the home. In most cases there is Nothing Free to be given away.

One need not be afraid of offending the honest solicitor-salesman or inspectors living here or representing local firms. They have their credentials with them and welcome such investigation—that is why they are required to carry credentials. Protect yourself, Ask for Credentials showing their identity.

Proceedings of the County Board

August 21, 1934.
Meeting called to order as Supervisors, by Chairman Hansen, with all supervisors present upon roll call.

Supervisor Johnson then introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption, to-wit:

Be It Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley that beverage licenses for "On Sale" and "Off Sale" only, in accordance with provisions of House Roll 585 of the Forty-ninth session of the Legislature of the State of Nebraska, may be issued by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley, subject to and upon the following conditions, rules and regulations:

1. Applicants for license shall tender a corporate surety bond conditioned as provided by law with each application for license.

2. Licenses granted shall be good only for One Year from the date of issuance, subject to the revocation of the Board of Supervisors at its pleasure, and licenses issued shall at all times be kept on display in a conspicuous place in the place of business of such licensee.

3. License fees shall be paid to the County Treasurer of the County of Valley and his receipts issued therefor and the money derived therefrom shall be distributed in accordance with law and no license shall issue until proper receipts showing payment are presented to the County Clerk of the County of Valley.

4. The County Clerk shall issue all licenses granted only upon presentation receipts showing payment of license fees and occupation taxes as provided by law and as herein required.

5. For the purpose of raising revenue there is hereby levied upon the licenses herein provided for occupation taxes as follows:

For each "On Sale" license the sum of $25.00.

For each "Off Sale" license the sum of $15.00.

6. All occupation taxes herein provided for, shall be paid to the County Treasurer of the County of Valley for the benefit of the General Funds of the County of Valley and receipts for occupation tax payments shall be presented to the County Clerk of the County of Valley before any licenses are issued.

7. No licensee shall sell or otherwise dispose of any licensed beverage except between the hours of six o'clock a.m. and eleven o'clock p.m.

8. Licensee shall not sell or otherwise dispose of or permit sales or other disposition of licensed beverages to any person under the age of twenty-one years.

9. Licensee shall not employ or permit any person to work on the licensed premises who is under the age of twenty-one years.

10. Licensee shall not sell or dispose of unlicensed intoxicating liquor.

11. Licensee shall not permit the sale, disposition or use of unlicensed intoxicating liquor on the licensed premises.

12. Licensee shall cooperate with law enforcement officers and shall promptly report to proper police authorities all law violations in and about the licensed premises coming to their knowledge or within their observation.

13. Licensee shall maintain the premises licensed in a clean and sanitary condition.

14. Licensee shall not permit law violations on the licensed premises and shall at all times maintain and be responsible for good order and proper decorum on said premises.

15. No licenses shall be granted outside the limits of the unincorporated towns of the County of Valley.

16. All licenses granted shall be revocable at the pleasure of The Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley, the State of Nebraska.

17. Any violation of the liquor laws of the state of Nebraska or of these conditions, rules and regulations shall be ground for revocation of the licenses granted.

18. These rules and regulations shall continue in full force and effect until repealed or until and as changed or amended by resolution of this Board.

The rules and regulations heretofore adopted by this Board are hereby repealed.

Resolution having been concurred in, motion to adopt was seconded by Sorenson, and upon roll call, unanimously carried and said resolution duly adopted, and all beer license rules and regulations previously adopted hereby repealed.

Moved and seconded that a copy of the Rules and Regulations for Beer Licenses adopted by this Board be delivered to all licensees when licenses issue. Carried.

Mrs. O. H. Cienny appeared before Board in support of her application for "On Sale" license to sell 3.2 beer in Elyria, Nebraska, and after considering same, it was moved and seconded that said application be rejected and license not granted, and that the County Treasurer be authorized and directed to refund her license fee paid. Motion carried.

Application of Albin Carkoski, for "On ale" and "Off Sale" licenses in Elyria, Nebr., was considered, and there being no objections, the fees having been paid, and proper surety bonds being on file, it was moved and seconded that said application be granted and license issued, subject to rules and regulations adopted, license to expire August 10, 1935. Motion carried.

THE Bradford-Allegany crude oil which Sinclair refines into Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil was already ages old when monsters like these came into being in Pennsylvania. Much of Nature's priceless mellowing and filtering period had already passed even then—for Bradford-Allegany crude was formed in the still-earliest Devonian Age, that wonderful age in earth's history when oil-forming conditions were most perfect. Before making it into Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil, Sinclair de-waxes Bradford-Allegany crude and frees it from non-lubricating petroleum jelly at as low as 60° F. below zero. Ask to have your oil changed to Sinclair Pennsylvania, made 100% from the costliest Pennsylvania grade crude.

W. Stevenson suddenly passed away at his home Tuesday afternoon at the age of 79 years. He suffered a stroke Saturday evening. He is survived by his wife and 8 children. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Burleigh and under the auspices of the Odd Fellows Lodge. Obituary will be printed next week.

School will start in Arcadia at nine o'clock Monday morning September 3rd. The same buildings that were used last year will again be used until the new building is completed.

One additional teacher has been added to the staff for this year, and by virtue of this addition it has been made possible to put the eighth grade on a Junior-High School level, and also to reduce the number of students in the primary room. Last year the primary teacher had charge of the kindergarten, first and second grades, while this year the room will contain only kindergarten and first grade.

The teachers this year:
GRADES—Miss Mildred Sherman, Kindergarten and First; Miss Opal Carnaby, Second and Third; Miss Lillian Clegg, Fourth and Fifth; Miss Mary Sutton, Sixth and Seventh.

JUNIOR & SENIOR HIGH—Miss

Elizabeth Haywood, English and Latin; Miss Fae Ball, Commercial; Miss Mildred Rife, Normal Training and Music; Mr. Cecil Weddel, English, Social Science; Mr. Arnold Tuning, Science and Coach of Athletics; Mr. Horace Mott, Mathematics and Principal; Mr. C. C. Thompson, Science and Superintendent.

Mr. Philip Minne, Custodian.

The kindergarten and the first seven grades will report to the Methodist church Monday morning.

The eighth grade and the high school are asked to report to the following rooms:

Eight Grade—North room library

Ninth Grade—Upstairs of library; Tenth Grade—Grade Bellinger's hall; Eleventh Grade—South room—library basement; Twelfth Grade—Christian Science church.

Members of the school board this year include: A. H. Easterbrook, president; C. W. Starr, secretary; Elmer Wibbels, treasurer; W. J. Ramsey, J. P. Cooper, Dr. Christ.
