THE ORD QUIZ, ORD, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1934

VOL. 52 NO. 36

PRIZES TOTALING $35 OFFERED FOR XMAS DECORATING

Ord Homes and Stores Eligible For Contest to Make Ord Most Beautiful City.

In an effort to make Ord the most beautifully decorated town in central Nebraska this holiday season, the Ord Chamber of Commerce and the city light department have joined forces and are offering cash and merchandise prizes aggregating $35.00 to home owners and managers of business institutions whose places are decorated for Christmas in the most tasteful and handsome manner.

Anybody may compete—there are no strings to this offer. No entry blanks are necessary. To enter and be considered for the prizes all it is necessary for anybody to do is to decorate.

The Chamber of Commerce will give cash prizes totaling $17.50 to the best decorated business places ($10.00) to be given to the first prize winner, $5.00 to the second and $2.50 to the third.

For the best decorated home in Ord the light department will give a 1-slice automatic Toastermaster electric toaster, retail value $11.50; as second prize a Universal chromium plated Wafflemaker with heat indicator, retail value $5.85; as third prize a Universal Turn-Easy electric toaster, chromium finish, retail value $3.00.

In the home decorating contest decorations and lighting may include both house and grounds or the house only but all must be visible from the street. The basis to be used in judging homes will be: 35 per cent for artistic arrangement, 25 per cent for decoration, 25 per cent for illumination, 25 per cent for originality. Entrants may spend as much or as little on decorations and illumination as they wish. One or two lights artistically placed may win just as well as long strings of colored globes.

In the business house contest decorations and lighting may include the exterior of the building, show windows if any and the interior of the store; however, only decorations visible from the sidewalk will count in the judging. Judges will use the same basis as in judging homes: 25 per cent for decoration, 25 per cent for illumination, 25 per cent for artistic arrangement and 25 per cent for originality.

The Chamber of Commerce committee appointed to manage details of these contests is composed of E. C. Leggett, C. A. Hager and Ed Gnaser, any of whom will be glad to furnish additional information upon request. George Allen, manager of the city light and water departments, is acting for the city council in the home decorating contest.

All lights and decorations, both in the home and store contests, must be in place and ready for judging not later than Friday, Dec. 14. The identity of judges will remain a secret but unjudged men and women will do this exacting task on Friday, Dec. 14 and Saturday, Dec. 15. Names of prize winners will be announced through this newspaper on Thursday, Dec. 20. All lights and decorations must be left in place until after Christmas day.

Judge Sends Four To State Prison

Holding court in Taylor last week, District Judge E. P. Clements of Ord sentenced four brothers, sons of Charles Rumbaugh of Loup county, to prison for varying terms, their offense being the theft of sixty head of cattle and other chattels. The two older brothers drew terms of 2 to 3 years in the penitentiary, the younger two getting terms of the same length in the state reformatory. Deputy Sheriff Fox of Custer county, recently elected sheriff, collected the evidence that resulted in conviction of these law breakers, whose depredations had extended over a period of several months.

BREAD SHOWER IN ORD SAT'DAY, 30 FREE PRIZES

Hundreds of Loaves to Be Cast From Court House Top As A Silver Strike Feature.

An unusual event will take place in Ord at 2:00 p. m. Saturday, one which is certain to attract a great crowd. This will be a shower of bread from the top of the court house, which event will occur immediately after the regular Saturday afternoon Silver Strike drawing on the court house steps. The Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with the Silver Strike committee in offering this shower.

Several hundred loaves of bread to be baked by the Ord City Bakery Friday night will be tossed from the top of the court house and will belong to the people who catch them. Sponsors of the event ask that nobody try to get more than one loaf.

These loaves will be the City Bakery's usual high quality bread and each loaf will be a prize in itself but to give the event even more interest thirty Ord business houses are offering one or more special prizes for Saturday and the wrappers of about 100 loaves will bear the names of these stores. The person who catches a loaf bearing the name of an Ord store on the wrapper may go to this store and secure the prize absolutely free. These prizes will be placed on display in the windows of the various firms at 8:00 p. m. today and will remain on display until they are awarded Saturday afternoon.

Last Saturday's special event a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, was witnessed by at least 2,000 people in spite of the cold weather. The visitors appeared as scheduled and in a large book carried by Santa Claus, who was as fat and jolly as tradition pictures him, the names of children under the age of ten were registered. Lollypops were presented to the children by Mrs. Santa.

The special programs in Ord each Saturday afternoon are creating much interest and the Silver Strike committee promises they will be continued, at least until Christmas. The bread shower Saturday should be a popular event.

Gov't Cattle Buying May Be Rssumed

According to a story in today's daily papers the government cattle buying program is to be reopened for the purchase of one million head of cattle in drought areas.

Although the Valley county agent's office has not received word from State Director Gramlich it is presumed that Nebraska will be included in this new program.

There have been about seventy-five head listed at the local office since the last sale, and it is probable with a continuation of cold snowy weather that many farmers will find it necessary to sell more cattle because of lack of feed.

Farmers who still wish to sell cattle should list them at the county agent's office, and when enough have been listed to justify it a request for another sale will be made to the state director's office.

Optometrists Will Meet In Ord Sunday

The central district of the Nebraska State Association of Optometrists will meet next Sunday in Dr. Glen D. Auble's office in Ord. Speakers will include Dr. T. Swoboda, of Nelson, who will lead a discussion on "Visual Problems of the Machine Worker," Dr. W. J. Breckenridge of Hastings whose topic will be "The Greatest Handicap to Growth," Dr. E. R. Jenkins, of Gibbon, who will speak on "The Conjunctive and Sclera," and Dr. J. R. Easley, Sutton, who is to lead the discussion on "The Orthoptics of Myopia."

Dr. Auble will be in charge of local arrangements and he and Dr. Geo. A. Parkins will be hosts to the visitors at a dinner in Keep's Cafe.

Fire Department Called. The Ord fire department was summoned to Mrs. Louise Zikmund's home in the second ward about 7:30 a. m. Sunday, a basement window frame having caught fire from some ashes. The blaze didn't amount to much but it succeeded in getting several of the fire ladders up earlier than is their habit on Sabbath mornings.

Ayres Tells Board Won't Take Road Position in 1935

Appearing before the Valley county board of supervisors Tuesday, Highway Commissioner Rollin C. Ayres gave notice that he will not be a candidate for his present position in 1935. He intends to accept a higher salaried position with the state highway department, he indicated. Ayres has been paid $2,000 pr year as county engineer and highway commissioner.

Besides serving as highway commissioner and county engineer Ayres has also held the elective position of county surveyor, to which he was reelected in the November election. He intends to resign this job also, he indicated Tuesday.

Since appointments are made at the January meeting, which comes this year on Jan. 8, supervisors are going to have to act quickly in considering Mr. Ayres' successor. The name of Raymond Pocock, a young engineer now in the employ of the state and who recently moved his family to the Alvin Blessing house in Ord, is being suggested. Pocock is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pocock of the Maiden Valley vicinity.

W. W. Haskell Improving.

The condition of W. W. Haskell, who has been very ill at his home here, was said yesterday to be slightly improved. Monday Dr. C. W. Weekes and Dr. J. G. Kruml gave him a blood transfusion, blood being furnished by his son, John Haskell, and immediate improvement was noted although Mr. Haskell is still a very sick man.

Street Decorations In Place by Sat'day

Ord's street decorations for Christmas, more elaborate and beautiful than ever before, will be in place by Saturday and will be well worth seeing when they are lighted for the first time Saturday evening. Workmen under the direction of George Allen are erecting the decorations this week. Expense is being paid by the Chamber of Commerce, which has appointed a committee consisting of Glen Auble, Mr. Allen and D. C. Haught to supervise the work.

VALLEY COUNTY DIGS OUT OF A 7 INCH SNOWFALL

Sunday's Storm Worst In Three Winters; Country Roads In Terrible Condition.

Valley county was busy Monday and Tuesday digging out of the worst snow-fall in three winters, dozens of unemployed men being given work shoveling snow to open up city and village streets and sidewalks and the many country roads blocked by the storm.

A total of seven inches of snow fell Saturday night and Sunday, Horace Travis reports, which was more than fell at any one time during the winters of 1932-33 and 1933-34. At North Loup nine inches of snow fell.

A strong north wind made the storm assume blizzard proportions at times Sunday and the snow drifted badly, particularly in the country where fields bare of corn stalks and other vegetation allowed the snow to drift into the roads. Many country roads were entirely blocked and even state highways became impassable to traffic.

The Union Pacific train arrived in Ord on time Monday morning but the Burlington was about an hour late, encountering heavy drifts in the cuts between Sumner and Greeley.

Between Scotia and Grand Island the state highway, No. 11, was in terrible condition and automobile traffic came to a stand-still Sunday night. Two Williams buses were stalled in St. Paul for the night after battling drifts for three hours to reach that city from Grand Island. Many trucks and autos stopped overnight at St. Paul also.

Main highways were opened to traffic Monday and most country roads became passable by Tuesday night.

So badly were the east and west roads drifted in the country that Ord rural mail carriers were unable to drive some portions of their routes Monday. However, most patrons received their mail when men on horseback met carriers at difficult portions of the road and carried mail to inaccessible boxes. All carriers made their routes Tuesday but were several hours late.

Teachers in city and rural schools, most of whom went to their homes for the Thanksgiving vacation, had difficulty in returning to Ord Sunday and several rural schools did not open until Tuesday.

Livestock feeding during and after the storm furnished the biggest problem. Supplies of feed on many farms ran short and heavy trucks could not traverse country roads for a couple of days. Most of the feed being used in Valley county must be shipped or trucked in this winter and when roads are impeded even for a day or two the situation becomes much more serious than in normal years.

The lowest temperature Saturday night, when the snow started, was 13 above zero. Throughout Sunday the temperature hovered around the freezing point or lower and Sunday night showed a low mark of 16. The snow that fell Saturday night and Sunday had a moisture content of .75 of an inch but since most of the snow drifted along tumbleweed-laden fences and into the roads it was of little benefit to the parched fields.

Mother, Daughter Both Prize Babies

In a recent issue of the Quiz an item in the Twenty Years Ago in Ord department recounted the fact that Evelyn Haught won a prize in the Ord "Better Baby" contest. Grown to young womanhood, Evelyn is now the wife of Roy Nelson and the mother of a fine daughter, DeLores Rae. In a national baby contest sponsored this summer and fall by the Sears-Roebuck company, a silver cup was awarded to DeLores Rae. The contest attracted 100,000 entries and prizes were awarded to only 100 so DeLores Rae must be a fine baby indeed, just as her mother was twenty years ago.

Remaining members of the board are Mr. Cushing, Frank R. Satterfield of Taylor, R. R. Haskell of Gandy, and A. F. Bates of Halsey. Mr. Sullivan, the new secretary, has been employed for some time as field man for the feed and seed loan department of the association.

BROWN STRICKEN SATURDAY, DIED 24 HOURS LATER

Sudden Death of Popular Ord Filling Station Owner Is Shock to Community.

Suffering a stroke Saturday evening, Charles C. Brown remained unconscious twenty-four hours and passed away at his home in Ord Sunday evening, Dec. 2, at the age of 59, his sudden illness and death being a great shock to the community. Although Mr. Brown had been in poor health for several months he had continued his work and it was not known that his condition was so serious.

Mr. Brown was born in Lebanon, O., May 29, 1875 and when a boy of 12 came with his parents to Murdoch, Neb., and four years later, in 1891, to Valley county where the family located on a farm in Springdale community. There "Charlie" Brown grew to manhood and it was there, in 1898, that he was married to Miss Belle Timmerman, the daughter of another pioneer Springdale family.

At the time of his marriage Mr. Brown located on a farm northeast of Ord where he lived several years, quitting farming to engage in the automobile livery business at Scotia soon after autos came into general use. About 20 years ago he built a gasoline filling station in Ord, the first to be built in this city, and was very successful, amassing a comfortable fortune within a few years. When the Ord Cooperative Oil company was organized he leased his station to this organization and retired but resumed operation of the station when the Co-op Oil company built its own station.

To Mr. and Mrs. Brown were born two daughters, Clarice and Freda, both of whom grew to womanhood in Ord. The latter, who became Mrs. Tom Grafius, passed away July 16, 1933.

Besides his widow the deceased is mourned by one daughter, Mrs. Floyd Megrue, Tekamah, Neb., four grandsons, four sisters, Mrs. Flora Pitley and Mrs. Maude Miller, Denver, Mrs. Cora Morrison, Lincoln, and Mrs. Della Gard, Dayton, Wash., and by two brothers, Elmer Brown, Crescent, Okla., and Fred Brown, Pendleton, Ore.

"Charlie" Brown numbered his friends by the hundreds and there was general mourning when the news of his sudden death became known. He was a man of unusual devotion to his family, was an ardent lover of his home and was a friendly neighbor. He had faults, as all men have, but they were far outweighed by his kindness and generosity.

He was a member of the Workman lodge and of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. C. Smith at Sowl's chapel at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday Dec. 5, and interment was made in the Ord cemetery.

—Mrs. Nancy Rosseau left Saturday for Albia, Ia., after visiting her brother, W. H. Barnard and family. Mrs. Rosseau went as far as Omaha with Mr. and Mrs. Glen Barnard.

DIESEL ENGINES IN CROSBY, MINN. PLEASE COUNCIL

Ord Officers Expect to Purchase Equipment As Result Of Inspection Trip.

Greatly pleased with the Ingersoll-Rand diesel engines and auxiliary equipment they inspected at Crosby, Minn., Mayor Gould B. Flagg, Light Commissioner George Allen and Councilmen Guy Burrows and Frank Sorenson returned from their long inspection trip last Thursday, firmly convinced that oil-burning equipment is a rare bargain at the price asked. In all probability Ord's city council will take action on the proposition at its meeting tomorrow night.

As reported in last week's Quiz, the council was offered two diesel engines of 440 and 330 horsepower, plus necessary auxiliary equipment, now installed in a plant at Crosby, Minn., at the remarkably low price of $39,000, this price to include freight to Ord and installation in the plant here. To investigate the condition of the equipment Mayor Flagg and other officials made the trip to Minnesota, leaving Ord Nov. 25 and returning Nov. 29.

They found the engines to be in even better condition than an Ingersoll-Rand representative who visited Ord had reported. In use only 3 1/2 years, the engines are almost as good as new and since the mining company who owns them had the plant installed some years ago without regard for expense all auxiliary equipment is also of the best quality.

If purchased now such equipment as that at Crosby, would cost at least $50,000, probably more, and by taking advantage of this opportunity the city light plant can be transformed from an uneconomical steam plant to a modern oil-burning plant at a saving of from 50 to 75 thousand dollars, councilmen believe.

The Ingersoll-Rand company, one of the largest manufacturers of diesel equipment in the world, agrees to replace all worn parts and install the equipment here with a one-year guarantee to service or replace anything that isn't completely satisfactory.

Besides inspecting the plant at Crosby, the Ord officials were taken on an inspection tour of the mining district around Hibbing where they saw many other Ingersoll-Rand diesel plants in operation and performing economically and satisfactorily. Every member of the Ord party is convinced that purchase of this equipment will be a wise and foresighted move.

At its meeting tomorrow night the Ord council will probably begin the process necessary to make purchase of this equipment legal. It will be necessary to advertise for bids first and permit the company owning this equipment to submit in writing its proposal to sell the engines to the city of Ord and install them in the plant here. Other engine manufacturers may submit bids also, as the law requires. Early in January, in all probability, the bids will be opened and the new equipment formally purchased, after which steps will be taken to remodel the Ord plant in preparation for the change from coal-burning to oil-burning equipment. It will probably be March 1 before the transformation can be completed.

Since the city has a surplus of approximately $60,000 in its electric fund it would be possible to pay for the new machinery in cash but such favorable credit terms have been offered and the rate of interest asked is so low that it is probable the engines will be bought on credit and city funds will remain invested in interest-bearing securities, principally city bonds. If bought in this manner the new machinery will pay for itself in fuel savings within a few years, even if Ord's already low electric rates are still further reduced.

George Burrows and Thelma Hahn Married

On Thanksgiving afternoon there occurred at the Midvale parsonage the wedding of George L. Burrows and Miss Thelma G. Hahn with Rev. Chas. F. Wantz, pastor of the Midvale church, officiating. The ceremony, utilizing the United Brethren ring ceremony, was witnessed by Samuel Sample of North Loup and Miss Thelma Bleach of Burwell. The bride is the daughter of Fred L. Hahn, rural mail carrier of Burwell, and is a popular young lady in her community. The groom, son of John S. Burrows of Ord, is manager of the Ord Texaco station and much respected for his industrious nature and thrift. The newlyweds expect to make Ord their home for the present.

A VERY UNUSUAL OFFER.

The Food Center, your Old Trusty Store, has undoubtedly the most wonderful value in fancy box candy that has ever been offered anywhere. In line with their policy of having fancy box candy available during the holidays for home use and as Xmas gifts at an unheard of price, they now announce this year's offer as advertised over your Old Trusty Store, KMMJ of Clay Center, Nebr. It is a fancy three pound box, a beautiful Xmas box of assorted milk covered chocolates. There are creamy centers, different flavors, chewy centers, different kind, each chocolate piece individually cupped. We cannot imagine a greater value and while we bought thousands of these boxes, they will not last long at this price. The price is only 49c for a three pound box. Think of it, approximately 16c per pound. We unhesitatingly declare it to be worth double. It is an excellent lay-away gift. Adv. 36-11

BACK FORTY

High feed prices often bring on some unusual practices. Two of these which are being practised at present, are the substitution of wheat for corn, and the feeding of tankage to beef cattle.

Corn is now selling higher than wheat. There are fewer pounds in a bushel of corn, and wheat is about equal to corn as a hog feed, especially if ground. Wheat is also very good for poultry.

Feed experts have written a table of comparative feed values, as given below. When corn is worth one dollar, other feeds are economical substitutes at, or below the following prices: wheat $1.10, rye 97 cents, barley 82 cents, and oats 48 cents. Of course this varies some with the different kinds of animals fed.

Tankage has often been fed successfully to steers at Nebraska Experiment stations. When comparatively low in price, as at present, it can be mixed in with the other protein supplements.

Tankage-fed steers outgained linseed-cottonseed meal steers in several trials at the Ohio station. The steers put on one pound more gain per week when the supplement contained 30 percent tankage. One lot of tankage-fed steers put on 1-1/4 pounds more gain per steer per week when given a full feed of corn.

Another lot of steers in Ohio made superior gains when given equal parts of tankage, linseed meal, and cottonseed meal, as the protein supplement.

Dry-rendered tankage is considered to be somewhat better than steam-rendered tankage. The more expensive tankage that has around 60 percent of protein content is usually the cheapest in the end.

Haskell Creek

Haskell Creek, along with other vicinities, has been experiencing some real winter weather. Two good snows, lowered temperature and all. The east and west roads are badly drifted from Sunday's snow. Even though storms make stock feeding even more of a problem in this year of limited feed it is a relief to everyone to get some moisture and weather that is suited to the season.

Happy Circle club members notice: the next meeting will be with Mrs. Leonard Woods on Dec. 13, the north committee will serve.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Nielsen and daughter Miss Marie of Winner, S. D., were guests over Thanksgiving at Chris Nielsen's, arriving Wednesday evening and returning to Winner Saturday. LOUP CITY TALLY IN FINAL MINUTES BEAT ORD, 13-7

Brownies Prove Tough Foe But Chanticleers Lead Most Of Turkey Day Game.

The battling Chanticleer team finished its 1934 football season by suffering a defeat last Thursday at the hands of "Bullet" Brown's Loup City team on the Loup City field Thanksgiving. The red and white led their opponents by a 7-6 score until the remaining few minutes of play, when the Loup City lads forced over another touchdown to win the game 13-7.

Both teams fought to a standstill until the second quarter when Loup City made a first touchdown. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful. In the second half the Ord team came back and moved the ball down and across the Loup City goal line for a touchdown and the kick for extra point was good.

The score was held 7-6 in Ord's favor until in the last seven minutes of play when the Loup City powerhouse got under way and shoved over a touchdown to win the game.

Both teams played straight football for the most part. Very few passes were attempted but the game was very fast and the crowd was constantly on their toes to see a brilliant end run, a power play or other outstanding plays throughout the game.

Score by quarters:

Ord 0 0 7 0 Loup City 0 0 6 7

The Ord team this year has played seven Loup Valley Conference games, winning two, tying two, and losing three which gives them a percentage of 400 or sixth place in Loup Valley standings. Boys on the regular Ord squad this season were:

THE AFTER EFFECTS. With a groan of agony, sixteen-year-old Alfred pushed back his chair. He made his way slowly out to the car and drove home. Arriving there, he stumbled over to the day bed and flopped down in abject misery. Cries of Ohhh! Ohhh! brought his mother and sister running, all sympathy and with many offers of aid.

Sarah suggested calling the doctor but her only reply was an anguished "no."

"Here, hold this on your stomach," said mother, proffering a hot water bottle, but Alfred tossed it off mumbling something about "couldn't hold anything more."

After an hour of such goings on, Mother stated, "I'm going to call a doctor and find out what's the matter with you." Alfred recovered sufficiently to say, "No, No, don't do that. It must have been something I ate."

"What did you eat?" asked mother and Sarah concernedly. Alfred groaned and made a face before speaking, "Two turkey legs, dressing, two helpings of potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce, three rolls, two cups of coffee, pickles, celery, fruit salad, corn, peas, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and ice cream and cake."

"Yes, it must have been something you ate since I doubt if there is anything you didn't eat," stated mother in a "you should be sick" tone of voice, as she stalked from the room.

EDITORIALS

To those students who are inclined to neglect punctuation, let us show you what a big difference that little comma can make: "The play ended happily." or "The play ended, happily."

If you are to be asked to give your definition of winter, what would you say? Here's a unique answer we heard recently, "Winter is a season when families keep the house as hot as it was in summer when they complained about it."

I think it would be a grand idea to organize a debating team in Ord High School. Just ask the teachers if there aren't quite a number of students who are very good at arguing their point and whose ability is being wasted.

Could it be possible that the depressed countenance of three-fourths of the students has something to do with the report cards received yesterday?

Do you have enough nickels and dimes saved to buy a ticket to the Junior Class play? It promises to be a big success and I know you won't want to miss it.

Drive right and more people will be left!

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS—

This week the question asked to the students was: "What were you most thankful for on Thanksgiving day?"

What was I thankful for? Oh, yes, the turkey.—Pauline Barta. I was thankful I had a vacation to sleep in.—Maxine Haskell.

Me, thankful? Not on your life, I had to work all Thanksgiving day, and hard, too.—Gussie Who. I was thankful I didn't have to eat supper with Marie's guests.—Louise Gross.

I was thankful that my boy friend came to see me, and for the goose tail.—Marie Gross. I was thankful for the duck I didn't eat.—Eleanor Keep.

I was thankful for my nephew who was born that day.—Josephine Romans.

I was thankful that I got to stay home from school.—Byrnee Leach.

I think it was a scrambling treat not to go to school for a couple of days.—Lois Dowhower. I was most thankful for the days I didn't have to be pestered with my darn old school studies.—Irene Dlugosz.

I was thankful for the snow storm because I didn't have to work.—LaVerne Nelson. I was thankful to go some place for dinner with someone else.—Louise Petaska.

I was very thankful that we got to Loup City without having a wreck.—Jeanette Hughes. I was thankful for a nephew who was born that day.—Josephine Romans.

This Week's Sponsor is Dr. George A. Parkins

Dr. George A. Parkins is well known to most Ord school children and their parents, since he came to Ord in 1901 and has been caring for the eyes of the people of this vicinity since that time.

A quiet man who nevertheless is very jolly and has a strong personality and decided ideas of his own, Dr. Parkins is a force not only in his own field of improving eyesight but also in the life of Ord as a community.

It is the opinion of Dr. Parkins that conservation of vision is much more important than selling glasses, and his research and work in this direction have received recognition more than locally.

For instance, in 1926 he was awarded a membership in Beta Sigma Kappa, national honorary society for those who have advanced the methods of straightening cross eyes.

In 1927 he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Ocular Sciences for advanced procedure in preventing near sightedness in children. In 1934 Dr. Parkins was given a fellowship in "The Distinguished Service Foundation of Optometry" for advanced methods in developing vision in eyes that had previously been supposed to be beyond hope.

By special request, Dr. Parkins has contributed chapters to the year book of the Society of Optometrists of New York, a work published each year containing reports of the advanced work done in that year. He assisted in preparing the most widely read textbook on cross eyes, he is associate editor of the "Monthly Bulletin" of the Optometric Society of New York, and is associate editor also of the "American Journal of Optometry". Other distinctions are also his, as member of the board of directors of the "Research Council of Optometry" which has been conducting research in visual problems at Johns Hopkins University in Philadelphia. And of equal distinction in his own state, Dr. Parkins is secretary of the state board of examiners in optometry.

In his home town of Ord, Dr. Parkins holds a respected position and is a leader in community thought and enterprise. At present he is president of the Rotary club, and is making a fine record. He married Anne Purdam of this city some 33 years ago, and their home has always been in Ord and here the three children, John, Mary and George, Jr., went to school and graduated. John and Mary have gone elsewhere to live and are married with one child each, making Dr. Parkins a total of two grandchildren. The younger son continues to live at home and conducts a watch repairing and jewelry shop.

Hobbies in this family are golf, playing cards, and reading, and Mrs. Parkins admits a love of cooking. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parkins are well liked and have made and kept many friends during their long sojourn in Ord.

Dr. Parkins is continually studying his subject, being especially interested in safeguarding the vision of the younger generation. School children of our city may not know it, but their lighting problems are under close scrutiny and are being made perfect in as far as possible, and they should be acquainted with the man who is endeavoring to aid them.

The Oracle is made possible by this group of loyal Ord business and professional men and women:

A style show was presented in convocation Wednesday, November 28. A short skit preceded the actual style show. Two Dutch girls had journeyed to America and as we looked in upon them, were expressing concern as to the change of style in America. A native girl chanced to overhear them and came to their aid by calling her models to display the dresses which they had made in their Home Economics sewing class.

The skit was written by Virginia Weekes and members of the Sophomore Home Ec class participated in the style show.

Following this pep rally was held, previous to the Thanksgiving game with Loup City.

From the Sidelines!

If you don't believe the basketball fever is beginning to spread through Ord High, just walk down the halls and listen to each group of boys gathered along your way. Nine chances out of ten, you'll find them talking about some division of basketball—wholly take the interclass basketball tournament, the lettermen back for our 1935 team, new prospects, dope about our first opponents, St. Paul, whether there will be a reserve squad this year, if so, who will be on the first team, and—well, almost anything pertaining to basketball.

One of the best steps toward the enjoyment of patrons of Ord as well as other Loup Valley games this year has been the information sheets handed to you as you entered the gate. Wonder if we'll have those sheets for our basketball games? Here's hoping, because they sure are a help!

The inter-class basketball tournament will start Saturday, the first rounds to be played on that date. Whether the tournament starts Saturday afternoon or Saturday night depends on the weather. Bad weather—Saturday afternoon, good weather—Saturday night. Everyone seems to be betting on the Seniors. I wonder why? Only three lettermen in that class, that's all!

The Junior High and the Reserve squads are going to have a color league this year. They will play on regular basketball nights only they will start at 6:00 in the evening and the regular game begins at 8:00 o'clock.

Basketball enthusiasm is running at a high pitch in the Junior High and the grade school this year. The Junior High has thirty members coming out regularly and the grade school twenty-five.

Principal Cass Wins Ping-Pong Tourney

The singles division of the Hi-Y Ping Pong tournament was finished last week. Mr. Cass with his bag of tricks, slow lobs, bee-lines, and edge "tickers" defeated his opponent, Mr. Bell, in a series of two games. Mr. Cass settled the question of whether three games should be played by winning two consecutive games.

The first game was a lop-sided victory for Mr. Cass who won by a score of 21. The second game was a nip and tuck affair with the lead in the game changing hands every moment. Mr. Cass finally came out in the lead by taking two points straight, when the game was tied up, 19-19. The final score was Mr. Cass-21, Mr. Bell-19.

Kiddies' Column

The nursery children made animal cookies which they were permitted to take home last Wednesday morning.

Due to illness, the attendance in the nursery school has been very irregular.

Virginia Moon, who went to Denver the second week of school has returned to the Ord school.

At the close of their butter project, the fourth grade made butter last week. During the class period, the fourth grade were served crackers and butter.

Dick Dent, a grade school student, has moved to Lincoln.

Plans are being made in the grade school for a Christmas program. Contrary to the usual custom of having an evening program, the Christmas entertainment this year is to be held as a home room affair.

Enjoy Potluck Supper. The Junior play cast and their sponsors enjoyed a pot-luck supper at the high school Tuesday, November 23, at 5:30. The menu consisted of sandwiches, scalloped corn, wieners, beans, spaghetti, rolls, potato chips, fruit salad, sweet pickles, cake, cookies and pie.

Following the supper, the cast resumed play rehearsal.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE FOR ANNUAL JR. CLASS PLAY

"Shirtsleeves" To Be Presented At H. S. Auditorium Friday Evening December 7th.

"Shirtsleeves", the Junior Class play will be presented in the high school auditorium Friday evening, December seventh.

The play is a true domestic comedy, which explains the timeliness of the obstacles and boundaries between the three estates in American society.

The Rand family is the hub of the play. It consists of Franklin and Julia Rand and their four children, Diana, Donald, Theodore and Esther, ranging in age from twenty to fifteen years. Having inherited his moderate fortune, Franklin Rand, and those dependent upon him, have never realized what economy and teamwork mean to the average family. A bank failure brings to a climax the family relationships. The first reaction to their poverty is incredulity, followed by open rebellion on the part of Julia, Donald and Diana. Theodore and Esther, the resourceful twins, fight to the last ditch to help their father.

To further difficulties, Donald marries Margie Scanton, the daughter of a notorious law breaker, who finally, after much struggle, succeeds in planting the family again on its feet.

Principal Cass Wins Ping-Pong Tourney

The singles division of the Hi-Y Ping Pong tournament was finished last week. Mr. Cass with his bag of tricks, slow lobs, bee-lines, and edge "tickers" defeated his opponent, Mr. Bell, in a series of two games. Mr. Cass settled the question of whether three games should be played by winning two consecutive games.

The first game was a lop-sided victory for Mr. Cass who won by a score of 21. The second game was a nip and tuck affair with the lead in the game changing hands every moment. Mr. Cass finally came out in the lead by taking two points straight, when the game was tied up, 19-19. The final score was Mr. Cass-21, Mr. Bell-19.

Quitting School Worst Calamity?

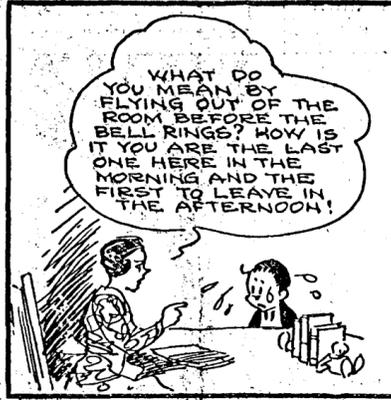

In a class recitation the members of the Sophomore English class were asked to write on a paper what they considered to be the worst possible thing which could happen to him. Among the answers were found the following: To have a serious accident. To be run over by a train. To be tortured by savages. To be marooned on an island. To be drowned. To be murdered. To be operated on. To lose eyesight. To lose speech. To be put in a dungeon with snakes. To be crippled for life. To be badly burned. To be an invalid. To be unable to play football. To be kidnapped. To be paralyzed, and one student, and only one, thought that to be forced to quit school would be more terrible than any other one thing.

DR. RICH says: "It's always later than you think. Time passes quickly. You who think you have only had rectal trouble a short while could be easily mistaken and usually are. It can't be very good for your health to deceive yourself about such an important matter. It is not very wise to neglect your body. Rectal trouble does frequently become serious. I know that after an experience of more than thirty years. Come to Grand Island and be cured. You will like my good place to stay and you will be pleased with my treatment of your case." (1)

BUECHLER SPEAKS AGAIN.

The Grand Island Independent, edited by the able and talented Gus Buechler, is apparently determined to let no opportunity slip past to continue its program of belittling the North and Middle Loup power and irrigation projects. The latest opportunity came Friday when daily newspapers printed a dispatch from Washington in which Senator Norris' dream of securing federal funds for development of the Missouri river, for a power project similar to that under way in the Tennessee valley was mentioned. Commenting editorially on this dispatch, the Independent said:

"There is an excellent opportunity here to unite three major projects—the Missouri river at either Sioux City or Omaha, the Columbus and Sutherland. These three projects, if they could be physically combined for power purposes, would produce more electricity than the entire state could absorb in five years, inclusive of power consumed in the border states of Iowa and South Dakota, and would not at all necessarily eliminate the smaller projects of the Loups as presented on their own irrigation and power merits and for their own needs."

The last few lines should be marked well for they prove that Editor Buechler is consistent, if nothing else. He has maintained continually that power development should be left to the Sutherland and that people on the two Loups should be willing to get along with irrigation only, or if allowed to produce power we should produce only enough for our own needs.

Why this contention? Electric energy can be produced as economically on the North Loup as on the Columbus or Sutherland, and the figures bear out this statement. The Columbus, which if memory serves, will produce about 100,000,000 kilowatt hours annually, will cost about 6.1-3 million dollars and will irrigate no acreage. The Sutherland, which will cost 7.1-2 million, will produce about 120,000,000 kilowatt hours and irrigate about 150,000 acres of land. The North Loup will produce 36,500,000 kilowatt hours, irrigate 35,000 acres of land and cost about 2.1-2 million dollars. If comparisons are made surely they favor the North Loup and doubtless the Middle Loup as well, although we do not have figures on the estimated cost and production of this project at hand.

Why should Editor Buechler contend that these projects must be limited to sufficient power production to satisfy their own needs? What right does he arbitrarily divide Nebraska into halves, allotting one half the market to the Sutherland, the other half to the Columbus, and state that the North Loup must produce power only for its own valley and the Middle Loup the same? Why should Editor Buechler desire that we waive our rights to cheap power production, accept federal loans for irrigation only, give as security mortgages on our land instead of revenue bonds and force our farmers to pay $4, $5 or $6 per acre for water? And above all, why should the Independent maintain for months that more electric energy will be produced by the Columbus and Sutherland than can be sold, and then espouse development of a costly and dubious project like the Missouri which if developed will produce more power than the Columbus and Sutherland combined.

Editor Buechler has been accused of being a "power trust" man and he has indignantly denied the appellation, pointing with pride to his record as a believer in municipal ownership. He has been accused of opposition to the North and Middle Loup projects and he has rejected this accusation also. But the fact remains that the Independent, which should be interested geographically and financially in bringing about development of these two projects, has ever shown itself indifferent if not actually hostile. Any remarks it has made have been disparaging ones. It has never shown any inclination to get into the battle on behalf of this fertile portion of Grand Island's trade territory. But, thank heaven, there is still no disposition in Ord, Burwell, Loup City, Arcadia and other towns of the North and Middle Loup valleys to accept the role the Independent seeks to thrust upon us. Not yet are we ready to admit defeat and accept a federal dolt for irrigation that would put our farmers in a condition approximating slavery for years to come. Not yet are we ready to concede to the politically-potent Columbus and Sutherland the right to sell electricity everywhere in Nebraska while holding us to the borders of our own valleys. We still believe that eventually the merits of these two projects will be recognized in spite of the disparaging remarks of that section of the daily press represented by Editor Buechler's organ.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

I can't see any sense in the republicans in the senate raising the question of age in the case of young Senator Holt of West Virginia, who is just under the age limit of 30 years. This is a case where nothing but ill will is to be gained and probably a poorer man would be named.

I sometimes send a stop notice to a subscriber and find I have made a mistake. But when a subscription gets a year or more behind I get to thinking that probably the subscriber don't intend to pay because he didn't want the paper and thinks I should have stopped it when the time was out. That is the case 7 times out of 10, too, but the other 3 times I work a hardship on a friend of the Quiz and sometimes he gets mad because his paper was stopped and I lose a customer. Still, the fact remains that the financial loss is many times greater by sending the paper after the time paid for expires, than it is from the loss of subscribers by stopping their paper when they wanted it continued. The time is close when I am going to go absolutely to the cash in advance plan and stop all papers when the time is out, regardless. I know that is the best plan, not only for me but for all who intend to pay, and why consider those who do not intend to pay.

I suppose the Quiz editorial page, as called, is called that because it doesn't have any editorials on it. But just the same, there are a lot of interesting things on that page. Of course, I am too modest to list among them the most important feature on the page, but take the last issue: There was the first article, written by George G. to Jake, Geo. G. hits the nail on the head quite often. Irma's Something Different is always interesting. Also her Col-Yum-Yum pleases many but she says unless the women send in some recipes she is going to have to start printing her own recipes. For heavens sake, women send some in at once. I guess you all like the Kovanda story each week and for some months we have been printing the Brisbane column. Brisbane is the highest priced writer in the world, his salary running a million or more a year. I rave tried to get Eugene, the Quiz editor, to write some editorials but have not been very successful. I was prompted to write this paragraph when a long time reader told me Saturday that the editorial page was worth more to him than the price of the paper and he admitted that he read and enjoyed a lot of other things dished upon the weekly menu, too.

Mrs. Festus Williams blushed one day recently when she had to admit that she had never sent in a single recipe for the cook calendar. Mrs. Williams has the reputation of being one of the best cooks in the county (F. C. says she is absolutely the best) and she should be ashamed of her record of not sending recipes.

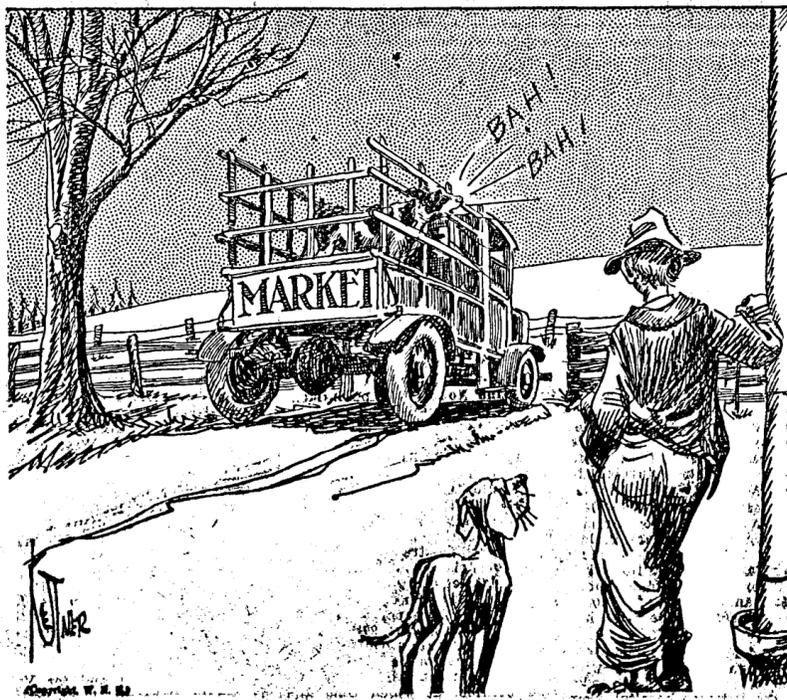

I am reminded, by receiving two of my pink postage free envelopes this morning, each containing 25c in silver, to tell you a little about those envelopes. Each one that comes back costs me 4c so when you use it to send me 25c it makes me pay 16 per cent of the money in postage, which is too much. Of course, I want those envelopes used. That is what they are sent out for. They are sent to make it handy and convenient for you and when a dollar or two dollars are sent it is fine but I cannot afford to pay 16 per cent to collect subscription. Please don't use them that way and please don't use them to write me that you will pay some day when you get the money. I can't pay any bills with that kind of promises.

Here's a little bucolic idyl which will appeal to Editor Williams of the State Journal, a farm lad who early fell into such evil ways that he finally wound up as Editor-in-Chief of a metropolitan newspaper. Last Saturday a little fellow in the Eller store looked so long and wistfully at a display of cookies that Mr. Eller invited him to help himself. The little hand went into the first box at hand and came forth with a pretzel. He took a bite and a mouth expectant of cake revolted at the taste of lye and salt. Making a wry face he mumbled to Mr. Eller, "Where's the cob basket?" Bath rooms, slop jars and sinks have never been introduced to that young man and both Old Man Williams and Old Man Howard will question any argument tending to prove his future endangered by lack of early introduction to modern energy sappers. We doubt not that an investigation would prove that the dad of that lad chews Horseshoe, spits in the coalhod and thinks a bath oftener than once a week an effeminacy. We'll bet his mother makes her own bread, thinks a breakfast of less than pancakes, sausage, eggs and fried spuds not worth dirtying dishes for. The boy may grow up a disappointment, like Williams, or he may mature into a big healthy laboring man, an honor to his parents and a joy to his community. I'm for the "Where's the cob basket" lads. —Fred Howard.

Many people tell me, in renewing their Quiz, that they just can't get along without the paper. No one ever heard anyone say that about the big store sale bill that is mailed so often and extensively by most of the chain store concerns.

Writing in the Ord Quiz of the modern dolt, Irma Leggett says they have them on sale in Omaha so near life-like that "they talk, walk, sleep and drink water, then need a pants change." We have some like that at our home, Irma, and they are lots of trouble, but, Gee! We couldn't part with them. Ours are the unbreakable kind and they prove their quality in a dozen ways a dozen times every day. —Fred Howard in Clay County Sun.

The Melancholy Days

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Pie is the old favorite American dessert, beloved by cooks, by heads of families, by the children. There are dozens of kinds of pie, dozens of ways to make it. But in the fall two or three kinds of pie are favored, and found often on most tables. One of these kinds is mince, another is pumpkin, and no doubt you are well acquainted with both and consider yourself well qualified to judge which is the best, how it should be made, etc.

Well then, why not tell Quiz readers how to make pie, and especially pumpkin pie and especially the kind you think you make best?

Delicious Pumpkin Pie.
Combine one and one-half cups cooked pumpkin, two-thirds cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon ginger, one-half (teaspoon cloves, two eggs well beaten, one and one-half cup milk, one cup cream. Bake in a moderate oven, having a hot oven at first to bake the crust. This makes two pies.

Mrs. Seton Hanson. Buttermilk Pancakes.
Sift together two cups sifted flour, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt and one tablespoon sugar. Add two cups buttermilk to this mixture, stir until smooth, thin with water. Bake on a hot, well greased griddle.

Mrs. Seton Hanson. Sausage.
Weigh meat, then sprinkle three pounds pork with one tablespoon mustard, one tablespoon sage, one teaspoon pepper, and one tablespoon salt. Grind and your sausage is made.

Mrs. Sam Brickner. Macaroni Fruit Salad.
Dice one cup pineapple, sprinkle with sugar and let stand several hours. Use the juice to make the dressing in place of orange juice, if you wish. Bring one-fourth cup orange juice or pineapple juice to a boil, put in one-third cup sugar and two tablespoons cornstarch which have been mixed. Cook twenty minutes in double boiler, stirring occasionally. Add one-fourth cup lemon juice, let cool. When ready to use fold in one cup whipped cream, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add one cup cooked macaroni, the pineapple, and two bananas which have been thinly sliced and marinated in lemon juice. Serve on tender lettuce leaves, garnishing with halves of strawberries or maraschino cherries or little cubes of bright colored jelly.

Mrs. O. M. McClure, Denver, Colorado. Lemon Pie.
Boil in a double boiler until it thickens four egg yolks, juice of one lemon, grated rind of the lemon, four tablespoons cold water, one cup sugar, beating all the time with an egg beater. Beat the egg whites and put half into the mixture. Pour into pie shell when the mixture has cooled somewhat. Put the rest of the stiffly beaten whites on top and bake.

Mrs. Alfred Bartunek. The Fried Cakes Like Mother Used to Make recipe printed in the Quiz a week or two ago came from Mrs. C. C. Woolery at Ericson, she writes. Please jot her name in your notebook just under this recipe if you pasted it in there to keep. We are glad to give credit.

Something DIFFERENT

Mrs. George Parkins didn't want me to write anything about her in the article on the school page but I can write it here if I want to and what can she do about it?

She is a most interesting lady. Full of ideas, well posted on many topics, a woman with varied interests. She likes clubs, she is a good boss and fills executive positions excellently. She is a modest woman but will admit she is a good cook, saying she likes to do it so well, that it is a hobby of hers. And many of her friends will back up this admission of hers. I will myself.

She is famous for several reasons, locally. One is, she plays crackerjack golf, topping the other females of this district quite regularly. Another is, she taught one of her sons to swim in his bath at the age of four months, thereby providing the neighbors with much free entertainment.

Another flock of fascinating facts I learned about this lady are, she is a direct descendant of Lord Baltimore, famous in early American history... you remember him, or should. And she is also a second cousin or something similar of that famous early day gangster, Jesse James.

And another thing, she is quite a philosopher. She does not believe in grieving because a son and daughter have moved far away and are hardly ever seeable any more, nor does she let herself feel lonely. "I know these things have to happen," says she, "and I try to find new interests to fill my time. No, I don't grieve, it is the way of the world."

I see no reason why I have to wait to say pleasant things about you until you are dead and chances are, can't hear me.

Even the weather man is helping the unemployed... in one way. For all the snow he sifts down has to be shoveled off the walks and highways, thus giving work to men who need it.

Most of the clothes given to Mrs. Carlton for distribution where they are most needed are not in good enough condition to pass along, or more likely, they have to be made over or patched before they can be used.

The people who get them often have no idea of what to do to them. Chances are they do not know how to sew. Perhaps they have no sewing machine to use, or even no money for thread with which to repair them.

So Mrs. Carlton sits and sews, most of the time alone. She takes a coat with good material in it, cuts it over to fit a half grown girl, perhaps. Patches shoes with pieces of good leather from other shoes, and similar items. She works most of the time at her self-appointed task. She helps those who need it when they need it... cases not eligible for FERA aid, perhaps.

It seems to me she needs help. Some Kensington club, perhaps, could sew for her, laying by the customary making of little towels, embroidered pillowcases, etc., to a later date. Mrs. Carlton should have some help.

What do you think?

KEEPING FIT FOR SUCCESS

CONSTIPATION

From an anatomic standpoint constipation can be divided into two classes: intestinal constipation and pelvic-rectal constipation.

In intestinal constipation passage of waste matter is delayed in the large intestine, while evacuation from the lower bowel is normal. In pelvic-rectal constipation there is no delay in the arrival of waste matter in the lower part of the intestinal tract, that is in the pelvic colon, but its final excretion is not adequately performed.

In intestinal constipation the rectum is almost empty. In pelvic-rectal constipation a very large quantity of feces is to be found in the rectum. The delay occurs at the end of the alimentary tract. If on palpation of the abdomen, scybala, this is individual pieces of fecal matter, are felt along the path of the large intestine, we may state that intestinal constipation is present. When, however, an individual feels something in his rectum that he cannot expel or when relief, after defecation is incomplete, pelvic-rectal constipation is present. This diagnosis may not always be true if the rectum is insensible even when tightly packed with fecal matter. Those who have a desire to dig out the feces with their fingers and those who get better results from enemas and suppositories than from laxatives and cathartics are suffering from constipation lower down the alimentary tract, namely from pelvic-rectal constipation.

The x-ray is the most reliable method of certainty for the differentiation of the two types of constipation. A breakfast is given containing two ounces of barium sulphate with bread and milk. While continuing his occupation the person is observed under the fluoroscope for the next two or three days. The barium meal appears as a dark shadow.

In intestinal constipation the dark shadow appears through some part or all of the intestines. If the barium meal had passed through without delay through the large intestine there would be no shadow. The appearance of the shadow at any point in the large intestine indicates delay in passage.

In pelvic-rectal constipation the large intestine reveals no shadow, but the shadow is found in the rectum. Obviously there is no delay in emptying the intestine, but there is a delay in emptying the pelvic colon.

Care of The County Board Ord, Nebr.

North Loup, Nebr.
Dec. 6, 1934.

Dear Uncle Jake:
"How much do you get for writing those letters for the paper and telling all those lies?" John Bremer asked me with fire in his eyes.

"Lies?" I asked meekly. When did I tell a lie? I always try to be especially careful about... "You said I asked you to vote for me, and I never asked anyone to vote for me. I did not want anyone to prevaricate by saying they would vote for me and then not do it. And about the auction—"

"My mistake. I apologize," regarding my spirit a little. "For some reason I got the idea when you and Pierce simultaneously handed me your card, the request was at least implied."

And then I renew our friendship of many years (even Bremer and my Dad were bosom friends) by whispering to him confidentially that he and Pierce, both being such good fellows, split the ticket and a dark horse won.

I use to have an uncle who was very polite and who was a past master as an epicurian. Whenever he was asked if he was fond of this dish or that he would say, "I like everything in the room line. I only have my preferences. Now I am a quite a lot like that about politicians. I love them all, but occasionally I have my preferences. And if I told a lie about Mr. Bremer, or anyone else, there isn't a truck in the county that would hold my sorrow."

The loyalty of North Loupers to one another was not only demonstrated a year ago by the local restaurant serving Wisconsin Cheese to the Ord Rotary Club, who were at the time on an inspection trip of our local cheese factory, but last week, the P. T. A., of which our local baker and his wife are ardent members, served at their luncheon imported bread. Perhaps they were trying to take the conceit out of our baker a little and show him he is not the only man in the land who is in the bakery business.

John Bremer is not the only person with a hostile countenance. An unusually tall, gaunt, freshly shaven, voluble FERA-er stopped me Friday and he too asked me with squinting eyes and sharp nose what I got for writing those letters to Uncle Jake. He said many things, and a few impressed me more than the others, such as being mad, where I got that stuff, making me prove my statements, and something more about a swat in the nose. The last phrase I remember very distinct, although he has not demonstrated yet. Uncle Jake, do you suppose I will have to write you a few names so as to have proof for my last week's letter?

Yours respectfully,
George G.

The Swiss Answer Back
Wise Mrs. Roosevelt
Our Trade Balance
This Is Good News

Switzerland is small, but takes nothing "laying down." Every Swiss of fighting age is a reserve member of the Swiss army, with a rifle and ammunition that he can use. That encourages independence. Europe knows that it would cost more to conquer Switzerland than Switzerland would be worth. In addition, nobody would know how to run Swiss hotels, except the Swiss.

Recently Dr. Carl Barth, Swiss professor of theology at Bonn university, to which the former German kaiser was sent as a boy, was dismissed by Prussia's minister of culture, because Doctor Barth would not take the oath of personal loyalty to Hitler.

The Swiss government takes that up promptly, saying to Germany: "If you dismiss a Swiss teacher for political reasons, the Swiss government will immediately send home all German professors in Swiss universities."

No hemming and hawing there. Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt, wife of the president, advised giving small children as young as six or seven a weekly allowance, because it teaches them to be independent. They learn how to spend when to save, what to pay, and grow up independent, self-reliant individuals.

That is a good thought that some wise professors high up in government might adopt.

If it is wise to teach individual independence to young children, why not encourage it in grown-up Americans, instead of training them to spend the rest of their lives in any NRA baby carriage?

Again there is cheerfulness. United States exports since October were highest in three years. Uncle Sam sold $200,352,000 worth of goods to other countries, $70,723,000 less than he took in.

That is called a "favorable trade balance," and is supposed to be a good thing.

Abst. omen, but the French revolution started at a time when France, for the first time in a long while, found herself exporting more than she bought.

Ensel Ford, son of Henry, and a great help to his father as president of the Ford company, died with President Roosevelt in Warm Springs, Ga., and told him the nation is "out of the trough."

The two Fords are good judges of returning prosperity. They expect to sell at least 1,000,000 other "Fords" this coming year.

Winthrop W. Aldrich, head of the New York Chase National bank, biggest private bank in the world, tells reporters in Seattle: "Business men and bankers in all the cities we have visited believe that there has been a real improvement since September."

Prosperity is climbing up, according to Mr. Aldrich, and he ought to know. He has on hand more than a billion dollars that he will gladly lend you, if you can prove your ability to pay it back.

Samuel Insull, and sixteen co-defendants are acquitted of using the mails to defraud. A majority of the jury, which took two hours to decide, voted for acquittal from the start.

Apparently Mr. Insull might have avoided that trip trip to Greece and all the expense.

There is war talk with a meaning in Europe. Hungary is filled with rage, because Jugoslavia accuses Hungarians of plotting the murder of King Alexander. The Hungarians are fighters, but not murderers.

England and France are agitated by alleged news that Germany is arming with all possible speed, regardless of the Versailles treaty.

There are a dozen causes for war floating around Europe, and no particular cause for peace, except that no nation could well afford another war—Uncle Sam's pockets being tightly buttoned, at present.

Senator Nye, an earnest man, devoted to peace, but not at "any price," asks the big United Aircraft company just what it has in mind in its constant expansion in production and betterment of airplanes. The senator seems to fear that United Aircraft has in mind the possibility of war.

Let us all hope that it has exactly that in mind, and that a government showing little energy or initiative of its own in air defense will at least appreciate help from private initiative.

New Jersey draws a panel of 150, 63 of them women, for the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder trial. The authorities, without being specific, say they have evidence against Hauptmann not revealed to the public. Hauptmann's lawyers would probably prefer all men on the jury. Women feel more keenly than men do about kidnaping children.

STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERFUEL
with TETRAETHYL
Nebraska motorists are playing a new game called "Look for the Plaque on the Pump." Whenever they buy gasoline, they scrutinize the pump for the metal plaque required by law, proving that the gasoline contains tetraethyl. For they know that tetraethyl is the finest anti-knock fluid—the same valuable fluid which accounts for the extra 2c on premium gasoline. And now that a certain amount of tetraethyl is in Standard Red Crown, they see no reason to accept ordinary gasoline that doesn't have it. For Standard Red Crown doesn't cost a penny more than "regular" gasoline—yet it's got Live Power, and it's got that plaque on the pump!
Ruth runs a race with ROMANCE

OH, DEAR! I'LL NEVER GET THERE. THIS CAR SIMPLY CAN'T COVER THE GROUND. LISTEN TO THAT KNOCK!
YOU REALLY THINK IT'LL BE ALL RIGHT NOW?
ABSOLUTELY. YOU WERE SIMPLY USING A GASOLINE WITH NO TETRAETHYL COMPOUND IN IT. WHENEVER YOU BUY GASOLINE IT'S WISE TO LOOK FOR THAT PLAQUE ON THE PUMP.
GRACIOUS! I WOULDN'T HAVE BELIEVED THE KIND OF GASOLINE COULD MAKE SUCH A DIFFERENCE! AND TO THINK THAT STANDARD RED CROWN COSTS JUST THE SAME AS "REGULAR" GASOLINES. IT'S CERTAINLY GOT LIVE POWER! COME ON, HUGH!
DARLING! I MADE IT! BUT I NEVER COULD HAVE DONE IT WITHOUT THAT LIVE POWER GASOLINE!
WELL, I'M CERTAINLY IN FAVOR OF ANYTHING THAT GOT YOU HERE IN TIME!
LOOK for the PLAQUE on the PUMP
FOR WINTER DRIVING, YOU CERTAINLY WANT TETRAETHYL. AND THE ONLY WAY TO GET IT IS TO LOOK FOR THAT PLAQUE ON THE PUMP!

Feed -- Feed

For some time we have advised buying a part of the feed you will need this winter, as we have felt sure that as soon as there was snow that hay would be higher and hard to get. Last Saturday in many of the hay sections there was an advance of $2 per ton.

All commercial feeds and cotton cake have advanced with corn and it is evident that much of this feed will be very hard to get before spring.

CARLOADS

We expect this week carloads of Victor Cattle Feed, Salt, Alfalfa Meal and Alfalfa and Molasses Feed, also several cars of both prairie and alfalfa hay.

Besides these carloads we have our truck hauling most of the time.

FEED HEADQUARTERS

We carry one of the largest stocks of feed in this section and we can nearly always supply you with anything in the feed line that you want. If you are not one of our customers come in and see the line of feed we carry and get our prices on the feed you need.

SPORTSMEN FORM ORGANIZATION TO FEED GAME BIRDS

Town Hunters Donate Money To Buy Feed For Starving Quail and Pheasants.

Meeting at the county clerk's office Monday afternoon upon the request of Game Warden B. H. Lashmett, 25 Ord sportsmen were informed of the seriousness of the game bird situation and decided to organize a club for the purpose of feeding pheasants and quail, which are said to be starving in drought-stricken counties such as Valley. The heavy snow has aggravated the situation and unless feed is distributed thousands of birds will die this winter, Lashmett said.

Ord sportsmen organized the Game Preservation club with Guy Burrows as chairman, Lloyd Rusk as secretary and Emil Fafelita as treasurer and immediately started a drive for funds, with the result that approximately $20 was raised before the meeting dispersed. All Ordites are invited to contribute to this fund. Contributions of money or feed may be given to Chairman Burrows, Treasurer Fafelita or may be left at the Quiz office.

Feed will be purchased with all money donated and will be stored at the A. J. Meyer implement building where F. C. Williams will have charge of its distribution upon orders signed by Burrows.

Farmers, already short of feed for their livestock and who feed the birds year after year, are not expected to contribute to this fund, which is a voluntary move on the part of town sportsmen. However, the club will welcome the cooperation of farmers in feeding the birds and also in locating points where birds are concentrated. Any farmer who knows where large flocks of pheasants or quail ordinarily can be found is urged to notify Chairman Guy Burrows. Any farmer who is willing to cooperate by distributing feed likewise is asked to get in touch with Burrows.

BLACK & VEATCH WILL SUPERVISE DIESEL CHANGES

Kansas City Engineers Employed To Draw Plans and Supervise Work at Light Plant.

Black & Veatch, the Kansas City, Mo., engineers who have done so much work for the city of Ord and who also made the surveys and drew plans for the North Loup power and irrigation project, were employed by the city council Friday evening to supervise the contemplated change from steam boilers to diesel engines at the city light plant. Their electrical expert, Mr. Lutz, is expected to visit Ord in a few days.

The Ord city council has decided to purchase the diesel equipment inspected at Crosby, Minn., recently by Mayor Flagg, Commissioner Allen and other city officials but to conform to legal requirements it will first be necessary to have plans and specifications prepared and advertise for bids. Specifications will be prepared by Black & Veatch, who will also prepare plans for the necessary remodeling at the plant and supervise installation of the engines when they arrive.

Employment of a nationally-known firm such as this gives assurance that Ord's new light plant, when completed, will give efficient and economical service.

Thompson Elected President By Loup Valley School Men

C. C. Thompson, superintendent of the Arcadia schools, was elected president of the Loup Valley High School association at its meeting in Scotia Saturday. Warren E. Bailey, North Loup, was chosen vice-president and Y. E. Boren, Constock, secretary-treasurer.

School men present decided that the annual Loup Valley basketball tournament will be held in Arcadia, the annual track meet in Burwell and the spring play day for girls in Arcadia.

As all coaches were not present an "All-Valley" football team was not selected.

S. Frederickson had a birthday Sunday and Mrs. Frederickson invited a few friends to spend the evening with him. Mr. Frederickson has been ill and unable to work for two months.

FCA Has Saved 2,300 Nebraska Farmers

FRANK A. O'CONNOR

Omaha, Neb.—(Special)—Nearly 2,300 Nebraska farmers whose lands were in foreclosure or were about to go into foreclosure a year ago have been given a new start in life by the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, Frank A. O'Connor, newly appointed general agent of the Farm Credit Administration here, said yesterday. "Land bank records show 2,696 emergency cases where Nebraska farmers, weighted down with old debts, appealed to the Farm Credit Administration for assistance," said the general agent. "These are only the actual distress cases—every one so acute the debtor wrote letters asking for immediate consideration."

Of the total of 2,696 distress cases, loans now have been closed or approved in 2,272 instances, with 22 applications still pending and 402 rejected.

"The Farm Credit Administration takes pride in the fact it has been able to serve four out of five of these hard pressed debtors," commented General Agent O'Connor. "Not only has the flow of foreclosure suits been checked; the farmer has been supplied with funds which enabled him to discharge his old debts, retain his lands and readjust his affairs on a basis that portends his eventual success in saving his property under this long-term, low-interest program."

Taking the Omaha FCA district as a whole, he said there were 6,249 farm debtors in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming who had appealed for prompt service. In 5,163 of these cases loans have been approved or closed, while 74 applications are still pending and 1,107 were rejected.

"Those figures," added the general agent, "reflect only the purely distress cases. During the 18 months since the Farm Credit Administration began functioning, 22,733 land bank and commissioner loans have been made to Nebraska farmers for a total of $82,797,150."

The Presbyterian Missionary society met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. C. J. Mortensen. Several guests were present and a few joined the society of which Mrs. Will Ollis is president. Mrs. M. Biemond had an interesting paper and talk and the hostess served a luncheon. The next meeting will be a guest day.

DEAD-LINE IN XMAS DECORATING CONTEST IS POSTPONED TO DEC. 21

Snow, Cold Weather Have Made Decorating Difficult So Time Is Extended.

Anxious to have as many Ord residences and business places as possible entered in the $35 Christmas decorating contest being sponsored by the Ord Chamber of Commerce and the city light and water department, the committee in charge of the contest—E. C. Leggett, C. A. Hager and Ed Gnaster—yesterday decided to extend the dead-line to Friday, Dec. 21.

Last week it was announced that to be eligible for consideration all residences and business houses must be decorated by December 14. The heavy snow and continuing cold weather have made work of decorating difficult, however, and it has been decided to defer judging until Friday evening, Dec. 21, and announce names of prize winners on Christmas eve.

It is hoped that one hundred or more Ord homes will be decorated as prizes being offered by the city light department for the three best decorated homes are very attractive ones. The first prize is a chromium-plated automatic Toaster-master, retail value $11.50. Second prize is a chromium-plated Universal waffle-maker, value $5.35, and third prize is a Universal electric toaster, value $3.00. Cash prizes will be given in the business house decorating contest, $10 being the first prize, $5.00 second and $2.50 third. These

COFFEE, COOKIES SERVED FREE TO SAT'DAY VISITORS

Ord Cafes Will Cooperate With Silver Strike Committee To Treat Ord Shoppers.

All visitors to Ord next Saturday, Dec. 15, will be treated to hot coffee and cookies free of charge, it was announced Tuesday by the Silver Strike committee. It is hoped that roads may be open and that a huge crowd will take advantage of the event.

Arrangements have been made with all restaurants in Ord, which includes the New Cafe, Keep's Cafe, Sharp's restaurant, the Diner, Johnson's cafe and the Mower hamburger shop, to serve free coffee, with cream and sugar if desired, and an order of cookies to all visitors between the hours of 2:00 and 6:00 p. m. The only requisite is that persons wishing the treat must have Silver Strike coupons, which may be procured free of charge at any Silver Strike business house in Ord.

It is the desire of Silver Strike merchants to treat all adult shoppers to free coffee and cookies and the coupon is required only to discourage children, who might otherwise make the rounds of the restaurants and monopolize the treat. Coupons will be issued free upon request to any and all persons above the age of 16 years.

The bread shower last Saturday proved a popular event, several hundred people gathering on the west side of the square to witness the Silver Strike drawing and the bread shower which followed. Two hundred loaves of bread, almost half of which bore wrappers entitling the holders to additional free gifts, were tossed from the top of the Beranek drug store. It was originally planned to cast the bread from the Valley county court house but since the court yard was filled with snow a change of location was made.

Ord is proving a popular shopping place during this holiday season. Stores have abundant stocks of Christmas merchandise and most stores are decorated in gay holiday colors. The business district has been elaborately and beautifully decorated and a visit to Ord in the evening hours will be well worth while.

All Quiz readers and others living in the Ord trade territory are especially invited to come to Ord Saturday, participate in the Silver Strike drawing and enjoy the free coffee and cookies provided by Silver Strike merchants.

Buy Calfes at 10c Each. At Nebraska City this week four calves were bought by Fred Markel for 10c each. "Drought babies," he commented. Markel bought the calves from a farmer who had insufficient feed to carry them through the winter. Similar occurrences may take place here soon, for with corn at $1.15 per bushel and other feeds in proportion farmers are having difficulty in carrying light pigs and young calves through and no market exists for such animals.

Happy Hour club met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Mike Kasal.

New School Building In Arcadia Will Be Occupied January 2

During the Christmas holidays all equipment will be moved into the new Arcadia school building, which is being completed this week, and on January 2 school will open in the new building. About the middle of January a dedicatory program will be given. The old building at Arcadia burned about a year ago and since then classes have been housed in churches, the library and in business buildings. The new building is one of the finest and most modern in the state.

John Soderburg, general contractor, and E. E. Bossen, electrical contractor, are finishing work on the fine new structure this week.

SNOW IS MELTING, ROADS IN WORST SHAPE SINCE '31

Main Highways Open Monday But Many Country Roads Are Still Impassable.

From the way it is starting the winter of 1934-1935 seems destined to be remembered as the winter of impassable roads. For the past two weeks, ever since the first heavy snow, country roads in Valley county have been impassable much of the time and at times even main highways have been blocked for hours. Some country roads are still blocked, farmers and mail carriers report. Last Thursday night was the coldest of the winter temperatures descending to 13 degrees below zero. Friday was slightly warmer but was below the freezing point all day. Several inches of snow remained on the ground from the storm early last week and when the wind came up strongly from the northwest Friday night this began to drift and roads, just opened from the previous storm, were blocked again.

Drifting continued throughout Friday and Saturday and on Sunday a couple of inches more snow fell, which aggravated the situation greatly. The Union Pacific morning train arrived in Ord almost on time Sunday but the Burlington did not arrive until 11:30. Monday all trains were late. On other branch lines in central Nebraska trains were even later than on the branches touching Ord.

Drifts several feet deep were reported on east and west roads Sunday and Monday. Between Midway and St. Paul, on Highway No. 11, drifts four feet deep blocked the road all day Sunday and until 3:00 a. m. Monday, when state snow plows finally opened this highway to traffic.

All country roads are in terrible condition today as a result of yesterday's thaw. Not since 1931 have roads been as bad as this winter and it seems probable that, if snow continues to fall, the roads will remain bad most of the winter as fields bare of vegetation offer no obstruction to snow and it drifts against fences and into the roads every time the wind blows.

Highway patrolmen are doing the best they can to keep state highways open to traffic, says R. N. McAllister, who is in charge of state maintenance in this section. Many patrolmen worked 24 hours at a stretch when snow was drifting the worst last week, he says. A mechanic on the Arcadia patrol worked 70 hours without sleep to keep road machinery in running order last week. Similar instances are reported on county road maintenance gangs.

Colder weather is forecast for today and tomorrow.

Ghost Gang Hunted Pheasants Near Ord

That the gang of bank robbers arrested a couple of weeks ago in a raid by state and federal officers at Kinney, Neb., hunted pheasants near Ord this fall has been learned by Valley county officers. Members of the gang have relatives living in Garfield county, just north of the Valley county line, and several members of the gang hunted there during the pheasant season a few weeks ago.

Tom Limerick, who escaped in the raid at Kinney and is still at liberty, has done farm work on several Valley county farms in the past few years. Valley and Garfield county officers are on the look-out for him, believing he may turn up in his efforts to escape arrest.

—Mrs. Katherine Frungle, who is 80 years old, is ill and a patient of Dr. Kirby McGrew. She was a little better yesterday. Her home, where she has lived over 35 years, is near the Ord mill. Her son Dick Long and family are living with her.

SCHOOL PEOPLE ENTERTAINED BY ROTARY MONDAY

Informal Reception Honoring Ord Teachers Was Given at K. of P. Hall Monday Eve.

An informal reception was given at the Knights of Pythias hall by the Ord Rotary club Monday evening in honor of the Ord teachers, their husbands or wives and board of education members and their wives, about 40 people being present including Rotary Anns, who were also honored guests.

Entertainment features included a witty horoscope reading by Mrs. Richard E. Teague, long the official pianist for the Rotary club, who was introduced as Madame Zara and appeared in gypsy garb to gaze into a crystal ball and cast the horoscope of the entire group. Looking thirty years into the future Madame Zara saw the entire Rotary group aboard a giant dirigible enroute to China for an international convention. The dirigible was commanded by Captain Lyle Milliken, dapper in a white and gold uniform, and aboard were all members of the group who gathered at the K. of P. hall Monday evening. Mrs. Teague's conception of the future was most imaginative and cleverly given and it provoked gales of merriment.

Another entertaining event was a kangaroo court with Carl C. Dale as judge, Orville H. Sowl as bailiff and Messrs. Clarence Davis and Ed Vogeltanz as attorneys. Dr. George Parkins, president of the Rotary club, was tried for the heinous offense of talking to his own wife and was found guilty. Another Rotarian, John Goddard, pleaded guilty to a charge of talking to the wife of another Rotarian in his absence, which also seemed to be a terrible crime. Numerous witnesses were introduced during the course of the two trials and the audience was given a new idea of court procedure.

Community singing led by the veteran song leader, Dr. George R. Gard, was greatly enjoyed.

Dr. Parkins was master of ceremonies during the whole evening and introduced Millard D. Bell, superintendent of schools, who in turn introduced the Ord teachers and explained their work.

At 9:30 members of the Pythian Sisters served ice cream, cake and coffee to the entire group. For several years the Ord Rotary club has entertained the teachers at dinner or held a reception in their honor and these get-acquainted events are eagerly anticipated and heartily enjoyed by Rotarians and teachers. The reception Monday evening was no less enjoyable than similar affairs in former years.

Government Cattle Sale December 27

A government cattle sale will be held in Ord Thursday, December 27 at the Burlington yards, announces C. C. Dale, Valley county agricultural agent. The quota for this sale is 300 head and it cannot be exceeded, so it will be necessary for every farmer who wishes to sell cattle at this sale to secure a permit. These permits will be issued from the county agent's office only and not by the township committee-men as in the past.

A new ruling received at the local office this week reads as follows: "Accept no cattle with a mortgage against them unless you have a signed permit from the lienholder." These lienholders permits may be secured at the county agent's office.

All farmers who wish to sell at this sale therefore must secure a permit to sell cattle which will be issued by the county agent's office and if the cattle are mortgaged must secure also a written permit from the mortgage holder. "Please do not bring cattle to this sale unless you have met these requirements," Dale says.

G. A. R. Ladies Elect.

Ladies of the G. A. R., in session Saturday afternoon, elected Mrs. Ed Holloway president, Mrs. F. B. Shirley senior vice president, Mrs. Robert Cook junior vice president, Miss May McCune chaplain, Mrs. W. E. Carlton patriotic instructor, Mrs. H. H. Hohn treasurer, Mrs. Ivan Botts guard and Mrs. Emma Hansen conductor. Mrs. Holloway appointed Mrs. Cecil Clark as her secretary.

Thursday afternoon twenty-two Presbyterian Home Art Circle members and friends met in the home of Mrs. Alfred Albers and were putting the finishing touches to the hand-made goods they were offering at their bazaar Saturday afternoon. The sale was a decided success. The ladies had their goods on display in the Crosby hardware store window.

Mrs. Chas. E. Kemp Dies At Age of 75

LILLIE D. KEMP.

After an illness of nearly five weeks with cancer, during which she bore her suffering patiently and bravely, Mrs. Charles E. Kemp passed away at 5:00 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 8, at the Ord home of her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Auble. She was seventy-five years old. Lillie D. Burns was born March 23, 1859 at Newark, O., but moved with her parents to Illinois where at Tampico on Feb. 25, 1880 she was married to Charles E. Kemp. In 1882 Mr. and Mrs. Kemp moved to Ord, Neb., which remained the family home.

Seven children were born to this union, three daughters dying in infancy and childhood. Mr. Kemp passed away in April, 1930. Left to mourn are Fred B. Kemp and Mrs. L. J. Auble, both of Ord, Mrs. R. J. Hoagland, Auburn and Leonard Kemp, Columbus. Mrs. Kemp also is survived by ten grandchildren, one great grand-daughter and a host of friends. For over 40 years a member of the Methodist church, she was universally respected and loved.

The funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Monday, Dec. 10 at the South chapel with Rev. Mead C. Smith in charge and interment was in the Ord cemetery.

IRRIGATORS ASK PWA TO APPROVE MORE PROJECTS

State Association Holds Annual Session, Passes Resolution For Loup Development.

The Nebraska State Irrigation association, meeting in North Platte Monday and Tuesday, closed its annual convention with a unanimous endorsement of all "feasible" proposed public power and irrigation projects, reports Bert M. Hardenbrook of Ord, who attended the meeting. He is elated with the association's action, which he believes is bound to prove beneficial to both the North and Middle Loup projects.

The resolution passed unanimously Tuesday says: "Be it resolved that this state irrigation association, fully recognizing the beneficial importance of further and continued development of Nebraska's valuable natural resources, both irrigation and water-power, wishes to approve and urge early construction and completion of all proposed projects involving no controversial issues, and where found feasible, whether the financing of said proposed projects be by private or by public funds."

Passage of this resolution was largely due to the efforts of Hardenbrook, who first waged a fight on the floor of the convention for passage of a resolution placing the association on record as approving specifically the North and Middle Loup projects. This resolution was voted down, 60 to 32, but later a resolution was passed which approves all projects for which funds have not yet been provided but mentions no project specifically.

Charles E. Allen, Comad, was elected president for next year, A. F. Buechler, Grand Island, first vice-president, T. W. Perry, Mitchell, second vice-president, Mark Spanogle, Bridgeport, treasurer, and R. H. Willis, Bridgeport, secretary. A. N. Mathers, Gering, was chairman of the resolutions committee.

COUNCIL NAMES CHAS. KINGSTON FOR STREET JOB

Will Succeed Covert, Who Becomes Marshall and City Hall Janitor In Economy Move.

Upon the recommendation of Mayor Gould B. Flagg, the Ord city council Friday evening appointed Charles Kingston street commissioner to succeed L. H. Covert and appointed Covert janitor of the city hall, which duties he will perform in addition to his duties as city marshal. This is an economy move and will save the city $15 or $20 per month, councilmen believe.

Action along this line was made necessary by the recent resignation of Ira Lindsay, veteran city hall janitor, who resigned to go to California for the winter. He was paid $30 per month. Since Lindsay's resignation the work has been done by William Mahrt under a temporary appointment.

Marshal Covert, who has also served as street commissioner, has been paid $85 per month in the past and Friday evening his salary was raised to $90 and he will perform the duties of both marshal and janitor for this wage, which will save the city $25 monthly. The city will have better police protection than in the past, also, for Covert can always be found at the city hall or around the square now, instead of being on a maintainer in various parts of the city much of the time.

Kingston, who has had considerable experience in road work, will be paid $75 per month and will devote his whole time to keeping the streets in good condition. In the past it has always been necessary to hire considerable extra help for street maintenance work, most of which will be eliminated by having a full-time man on the job.

Figures compiled by Mayor Flagg show that enough money has been paid out for extra maintenance work in the past to make the marshal-janitor combination and employment of a full-time street commissioner an economy move, the estimated saving being between $10 and $20 per month. City streets will also be kept in better condition.

Roy Pardue will continue as night police as in the past.

Damage Suit Against Geo. Round Dismissed

Last week in Loup City two outstanding cases were disposed of in short order. One was the $300,000 damage suit filed by Burt Sell, of Arcadia, against Sheriff George Round of Ord and 26 other Loup City and Kearney men for injuries he sustained in the famous Loup City riot last spring. When the case was called for trial neither ordered the case dismissed. This does not prevent Sell filing another suit later if he so desires.

The other case was a criminal libel suit against A. E. Brunson, publisher of the Loup City Standard, by Otto Dudsch, then a deputy state sheriff and now deputy warden of the state penitentiary. Brunson had left the city some weeks before and did not show up for the trial. His bondsman was ordered to produce the $500 with which he guaranteed Brunson's presence at the trial.

Disposal of these two cases ends legal phases of the famous riot, which made front page news all over the United States for several days last spring.

J. R. Thompson, 70, Passes at Arcadia

James Robert Thompson, 70 years old and a brother of H. B. Thompson of Ord, passed away Sunday, Dec. 9 at the home of his brother, Dan, in Arcadia, death being attributed to a sudden attack of heart trouble. Funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Arcadia Tuesday, after which the body was taken overland to Ansley and from there by rail to Corning, Mo., for interment.

Mr. Thompson was born Jan. 2, 1864 in Taylor county, Kentucky, moving to Missouri with his parents at the age of 10. Grown to young manhood, he came to Valley county in 1884, living near Arcadia until 1904, when he returned to Aitchison county, Missouri. Lately he had been living at Arcadia in the Dan Thompson home. He was married to Emma Hurst, who died in 1933. There were no children.

Four brothers are left to mourn, H. B. Thompson, who lives on a farm in Mira Valley, Andrew Thompson, Fort Collins, Colo., Ed and Dan Thompson, both of Arcadia.

So and Sew club met Thursday with Mrs. C. J. Miller, Madama M. Biemond and Charles Hitchman were guests. Mrs. L. D. Milliken will be hostess this afternoon to the Christmas party.

Relatives here have received word of the birth of a nine pound daughter, Marion Elizabeth, to Mr. and Mrs. Vern Peterson of Erakine, Minn. She arrived Monday, Dec. 3 and to say that her daddy is a proud father is putting it mildly. Vern's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Peterson of Brooks, Minn., are again spending the winter in Florida.

The beautiful Christmas story in the December issue of Good Housekeeping entitled "Twenty-Nine Miles to Christmas," will seem doubly interesting to readers here when they learn that its author, Mrs. Arvada Wolf DeLong is a niece of Jack Vanhorn of this place. The story is the first she had ever submitted for publication for which she received the sum of four hundred dollars. Mrs. DeLong resides in Los Angeles. Mr. Vanhorn's daughter, Arvada, was named for the author.

P. T. A. will be observed at the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening with Christmas music and two Christmas plays. "No Room in the Inn," is the title of the last presentation.

Japanese sacred music led by Mrs. Ora Bohrer was the lesson study. Because of snow bound roads neither Clifford Goodrich, mail carrier on the Davis Creek route and Will Cox, Sumner and Riverdale carrier were able to make the round trip Monday. On Tuesday with extra men and shovels, the roads were made passable.

The school and churches are deep in preparation for the approaching season's festivities which are always among the year's most joyful experiences. Those who enjoy a white Christmas will certainly not be disappointed and Santa will be able to travel in the old fashioned way, via sleigh and reindeer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gowen entertained seven tables at bridge Monday evening. Because of blocked roads leading to the Gowen home in Riverdale the party was held at the Babcock bakery. Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thorpe were 1st high score with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson 2nd.

"When the Little Angel Sang," a one-act play will be presented by the Epworth League at the Methodist church next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Carmen Weber of the school faculty is sponsor. Don't miss it.

A number of our friends helped us make Universal Bible Sunday a very interesting day. Mr. Frank J. Stara gave us the use of the oldest copy—a volume with a history of almost 400 years. It was printed in Germany in the Bohemian tongue, was hidden during the Thirty Years' war; has been handed down from generation to generation; has been rebound once and is yet in a very remarkable state of preservation.

Mr. Walter Waterman sent his father's and his mother's Bible, the first having been printed in 1824 and his mother's in 1818.

Mr. James Barnes' grandmother's Bible was among the older copies.

Mr. Hoffman kindly gave us the use of his father's Bible printed in the German tongue in 1828.

Miss Young brought several Bibles, the oldest having been printed in 1810. There were 26 Bibles in the morning service.

Charles Dobberstein read the Twenty-third Psalm in the King James version and Mrs. Emma Hurder in the Swedish from a Bible given her at the time of her confirmation.

We have a deeper appreciation of the precious volume which has been preserved by God throughout the generations after the observance of this day.

BRISBANE

A Flying Vanderbilt Communist and Tailors Was EPIC; Now It's EPIA In and Out of Who's Who

The original Commodore Vanderbilt, who ran a little boat from Staten Island to the mainland, then became the country's biggest railroad man and head of the New York Central, would be interested to know that his great-grandson, William K. Vanderbilt, according to Mr. Maury Paul, has built a big airplane for his personal travel. His branch of the Vanderbilt family will be independent of railroads, even yachts, except for ocean crossings.

Mr. West of the Junior National Chamber of Commerce says one million five hundred thousand Communists are plotting to overthrow this government.

The famous "seven tailors of Tooley street," beginning their exordium, "We, the people of England," also planned to change things, but they did not. Mr. West's one million five hundred thousand Communists will not overthrow anything, either. Besides, there are not one million five hundred thousand. The number of real enrolled Communists in this country is under thirty thousand, and there are perhaps one hundred thousand pale pink Communists.

If there were one million five hundred thousand there would still be about one hundred and twenty-two million Americans of a different color, determined to change this government in their way, if at all, and do it slowly.

Have you heard about "EPIA"? It is a new arrangement of letters invented by Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of federal emergency relief for President Roosevelt, and it means "End Poverty in America." Your mind hops back to Mr. Upton Sinclair's "EPIC," which meant "End Poverty in California," until the election ended "epic."

Mr. Hopkins is a powerful man, of strong will, great energy, and nobody will "pooh-pooh" his plan to abolish American poverty. He would spend public billions on "subsistence homesteads" and rural rehabilitation programs, move families from poor lands to good lands, where they might prosper; lend government billions to buy tools, equip new homesteads, buy live stock, etc.

The new British "Who's Who" gives Hitler two lines. Frances Perkins is not in the book, although Greta Garbo is in, and Upton Sinclair, with a full account of his "EPIC."

Those left out must console themselves with the fact that Leonardo da Vinci, in all his writing, did not mention Christopher Columbus, and the duke of St. Simon, in his long memoirs, makes only one little mention of Voltaire, merely because "he was the son of my father's notary."

Washington says the President, in a financial imitation of Hamlet, asks himself just now: "To spend, or not to spend." If he proceeds with the full program of relief, supplying jobs and food, he must ask congress for more billions, perhaps nine of them, $9,000,000,000.

If congress says yes, and the authorities foolishly decide to issue interest-bearing "inflation" bonds, that will mean paying not $9,000,000,000, but $18,000,000,000, the original plus interest.

Senator Huey Long of Louisiana says he has enrolled 1,400,000 Americans in his "share-the-wealth" plan. That seems a small figure for a plan to divide big fortunes. New York and Chicago had thriving "share-the-wealth" organizations before Senator Long started his. Some original gentlemen with share-the-wealth inclinations are in Atlanta penitentiary, some in a Colorado prison, some on Alcatraz Island, in the bay back of San Francisco.

At Tivoli, N. Y., the courtroom cheered when a jury acquitted a teacher, thirty-seven years old, for beating a thirteen-year-old boy with a rubber hose and allegedly hitting him with his fist. The man admitted using the rubber hose, but denied using his fist.

Had he admitted beating a young dog with a rubber hose, the courtroom would not have cheered.

Once, reporters tell you, Mrs. Edythe Townsend was rich, a wit, a beauty, and a lady, who visited at the White House, and had aristocratic ancestors. They found her dead, suicide by gas, in a small furnished room. She was fifty-eight years old, and, police said, "ill, lonely, impoverished, despondent." Those four words wipe out all past grandeur, fine ancestry, recollections of wealth.

Senator Borah, a sincere, independent American, wants the Republican party to reorganize itself, giving its "liberals" control.

He would drive out the "reactionaries." If he did that, what and how many would he have left?

My Own Column

In writing to renew his Quiz for another year, T. M. Trindle of Linton, Indiana, says he has been a subscriber to the Quiz every year but one since 1883. My earliest recollection of Mr. Trindle was 40 years ago when he would drive into Ord from his home a few miles this side of Arcadia, riding behind a pair of high stepping bays. My, that was a pretty team and Tom was justly proud of them. There was no nicer span of drivers in the country. J. C. Hays had a span that was similar.

As long as the government will borrow their money and pay them interest on it, taking away from them all worry about investing it, wealthy people will not invest their money and employ people to make things. And unless the people are employed making goods they cannot spend money buying them. The only question seems to be how long the government can continue the borrowing business. Individuals soon come to the end of their financial rope when they keep borrowing and paying interest. Will not the same thing happen to the government, eventually?

The Quiz has its list audited each spring. Advertisers like to know how many subscribers a newspaper has and they don't want to have any guess work about it. A sworn statement by a bonded auditor is all that counts with the big advertisers. Subscriptions that are in arrears cannot be and are not counted in the audit. That is one of the main reasons why I want subscriptions paid in advance. Another is that I need the money. Another big reason is that many, when they get in arrears, never do pay up and I can show by my books, a good many thousand dollars of unpaid subscriptions. I would be better off with 1000 subscribers all paid up in advance than with 2000 subscribers, more than half of them in arrears. Another thing, a subscriber who can't pay $1 in advance when it is due, probably can't pay $4 when I allow him to get a couple of years in arrears. Many have told me just that and have said that I had no business in allowing them to get in that shape. I did it in good times because I did not really need the money, then the bad times came and those so far in the red could not pay. They had the paper but I am the sole loser up to the time their paper is stopped. Then they also become the losers because they need and want the paper but are ashamed to come and subscribe when they can't pay up the back dues, and for that reason several hundred former Quiz subscribers are now going without the paper. They would be on the list now, even in these hard times, if I had not foolishly allowed them to get so far back. I am resolved not to make that mistake again. I am writing this and I am sending statements to everyone, making them fully familiar with when their subscription is paid to and I am going to be very reasonable in allowing time for them to pay up, but then I am going to take them off the list. I am taking some off each week now. If they really intend to pay, they come in and we adjust the matter to our mutual satisfaction. If they did not intend to pay and are stringing me along with promises to get as much as possible, then in that case I am better off to stop their paper. If, after hearing from me several times, as some of you have, your paper does not come next week, you can guess what has happened.

Last Thursday, December 6, was the 75th anniversary of the organization of the Nebraska Press Association. There was talk some months ago, that there would be a celebration by the members of the association, held in Lincoln on that date, to commemorate the event. Probably Old Man Depression was responsible for the idea not being carried out. Anyhow the anniversary will be celebrated to some extent when the association meets in Lincoln the last week in February next, though it will be a good deal like celebrating Christmas a week after or the 4th of July on the 10th.

Down at York there is a live wire insurance agent. He writes all kinds of insurance. My old friend George McLain was telling me about him when he was here recently. He said this insurance agent came to his home a few nights before, just dropped in, as he sometimes did, in the evening for a little chat. This time it was near nine o'clock and George was thinking about getting to bed. The occasion for the visit was the expiration of the next day of the McLain insurance, which he had forgotten. Sure the agent got the business. That kind of persistence and attention to details always gets results. The agent is Henry Fillman and I was reminded of him by reading a short story he had written to the public pulse department of the State Journal, and which Eugene is reprinting this week. Ord business men will remember Mr. Fillman when he was active in Ord as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Oh, Dear," said the Missus the other noon, "Flora and the little girls have been here all forenoon and I did want to sew on," etc. etc. and then, after dinner, she came in again and said, "Oh, Dear, Irma is coming down to spend the afternoon and I did want to sew on," etc. etc. and I said, quit your kidding, you have always wanted the kids here before and how the heck are they to know that you are sick of them. "I am not," she replied indignantly, "but I can't see to sew on, etc. etc. in the evening." Relatives take notice and stay away. P. S. Till after Christmas.

There are a lot of long winter evenings, and days too, ahead, when all will be looking for reading matter. The Omaha Bee-News is a wonderful newspaper and taken for 7 days a week, it gives more reading than one can get in any other way. It is $6 a year, $3 for 6 months, or $1.50 for 3 months. Let me send it in for you right now for 6 months and you will be fixed for all winter. Phone me to send it and pay me the first time you are in Ord. Is that fair?

In sending money to renew her subscription, Mrs. H. M. Grady inclosed some good recipes. If all would do this Irma would quit asking what she is going to do to keep the cook column going. Thanks, Mrs. Grady.

If the Quiz would print all the free dope that comes to it through the mail, there wouldn't be a room for either advertisements or for local news. And most of the free dope is propaganda intended to financially benefit some big business. And the government, which insists on high wages for everyone and higher prices for everything, is the greatest offender of all, with its free dope.

We now have more snow than for several seasons and men are saying as they meet on the street, that the drouth is broken. Coming as it has, on unfrozen ground, the snow, when it melts, should mostly go into the ground.

A writer in Colliers says that while 60 per cent of the people of the country have autos and a considerable per cent have bath tubs, only 7 per cent have electric service, and points out that the continued high price of both electric service and electric equipment, is largely the cause. It looks to me as though the government could have done nothing better than to have loaned us the money to build our power and irrigation project, thus giving employment to many hundreds of men while the building was being done. These people have to be kept from starving any how and all of them would rather be earning their living at some job that was going to be a benefit to their country and community, rather than twiddling their thumbs on work that was created just as an excuse to feed them and that will be of no lasting benefit. Even if the money was never paid back, would it not have been better to build such a project, a project that would have surely assured crops in this valley and have doubled the population in a few years and done away with the necessity for further help from the government?

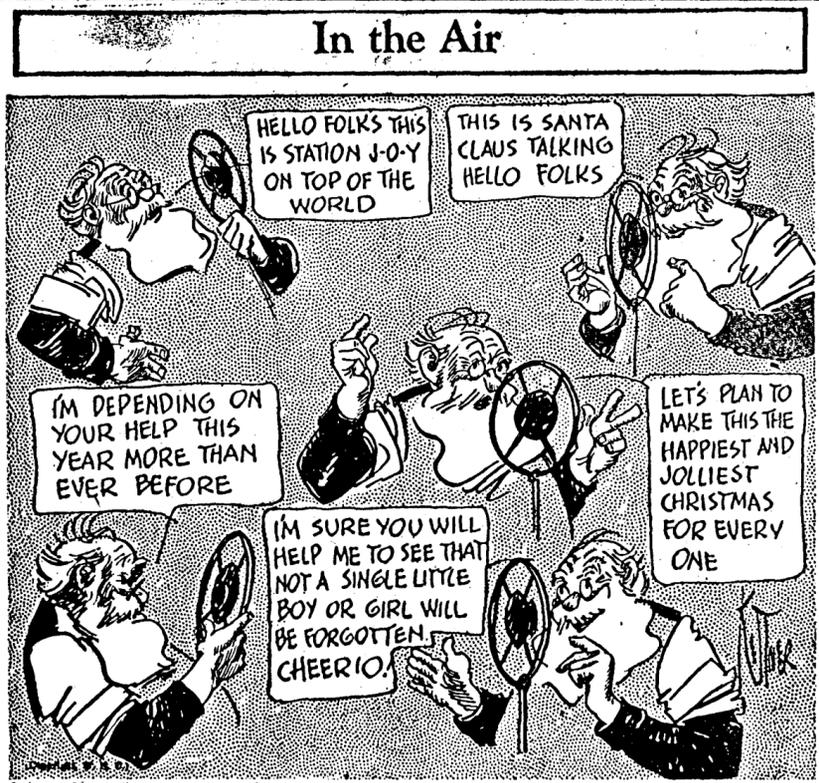

One newspaper paragrapher states that the Power Trust is engaged in the task of organizing the legislature for its next assembly. Another declares with equal definiteness that "the liquor interests" are organizing it. The educational institutions of the state will probably be similarly charged, with the taxpayers' leagues not far behind. The latter, it is reported, already began their attack on the newspapers of the state at the Central City meeting. Ah, well—and so on, far into the night—G. I. Independent.

You bet, they are all doing all they can, as are a lot of other interests, but the first two named are probably more experienced and better financed than any of the others. Just how far they will get is not so sure yet.

If every family in the Loup Valley country affected by our proposed power and irrigation project, could and would send a letter to President Roosevelt, setting out the needs for the project in their own language, it would not be long until we would have it allowed.

BACK FORTY

Most feed will last longer if given some kind of preparation. Three methods of preparing feed are by grinding, soaking, and cooking. Scarcity and high prices of feeds are bringing about increased interest in all practices that will reduce waste, and make roughages and grains go farther. Grinding will add from ten to thirty percent to the values of most feeds. It is necessary to grind small, hard seeds and coarse hays in order to make them more digestible. Grinding is most profitable for hard-working animals, such as work horses or cows yielding a large flow of milk. Animals that are idle and have good teeth can do a lot of grinding for themselves. In fact, grinding grain so finely that it is boked with little chewing, may decrease the digestibility of feeds. Where pigs follow steers to gather up waste, there is no advantage in grinding corn, except perhaps toward the close of the feeding period. Soaked corn gives about as good results in feeding hogs as ground corn. Shelled corn, soaked twelve hours, is better than corn soaked twenty-four hours. When grain with small, hard kernels cannot be ground or crushed, the next best plan is to soften it with water. Soaking is not as good as grinding. Cooking generally does feed more harm than good. There are a few exceptions, as potatoes, and beans, which do not make good hog feed unless they are cooked. Even then, potatoes are only one-fourth as good as corn. Musty hay or fodder can be made safer and more palatable by steaming. Feed is often warmed for pigs in the winter time, but this is different from cooking.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

There are so many kinds of fancy bread. Your family need never be bored with the same old thing every meal unless you don't care to take the trouble to make them something different. About every fruit or vegetable can be found in some bread recipe if you hunt for it. A week or two ago this column had a recipe for pumpkin nut bread. . . . If that isn't a change I have an idea, very delicious. Sweet Buns. Take one quart of bread sponge, add two cups of whole milk that has been scalded and cooled to lukewarm. Then put in one large egg or two small ones, well beaten. Add one tablespoon salt, one cup sugar and one cup shortening. Add flour to stiffen, knead well and let raise until light. Make out in flat buns laid on a well greased pan so they do not touch. Let raise until very light and bake. Brush the top with melted butter when done. Mabel Nichols Brittin. Mrs. Brittin says these melt in your mouth and are as welcome as they are delicious. . . . so you must try them. Banana Bread. Beat one egg until light, add one cup sugar and one-fourth cup melted butter and three bananas which have been mashed. Separately sift together one and one-half cup flour, one teaspoon soda, fold into the batter. Pour into a greased pan, bake in a moderate oven 45 to 60 minutes. This is good for breakfast. Nuts may be used also, though we don't care for them. Mrs. Sloe. Leftover Meat Shortcake. Make biscuit as follows: sift two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, work in five tablespoons of lard, then add about three-fourths cup liquid, preferably half milk and half water. Pat out the dough one-half inch thick. Cut out half with a biscuit cutter, half with a doughnut cutter, place the rings on the rounds and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees Fahrenheit. Separate the biscuits, pour meat sauce between, garnish with jelly and parsley. Make the meat sauce: melt two tablespoons lard, add six table-spoons flour. One teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Slowly add two cups milk or milk gravy, stir until it boils. Add two cups diced cooked meat and two table-spoons minced parsley. Mrs. Lester Shipley. Lemon Cheese Cake. Beat together two cups sugar, one-half cup butter, three-fourths cup milk, six egg whites, three cups of flour and three teaspoons baking powder. Bake in layers. Make this sauce: grate the rind and use the juice of two lemons, yolks of three eggs, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar. Mix all together and set on stove to cook until as thick as a sponge, stirring all the time. Use like jelly between the layers. Mrs. C. C. Woolery, Ericson. Mrs. Woolery, I wonder if this cheese wasn't omitted from some of these fillings. Is good in other cakes, she writes. Salmon Salad. Toss together one large can of salmon, two stalks of celery, cut fine, four hard cooked eggs, cut fine, six sweet cucumber pickles. Make this dressing in a double boiler: three-fourths cup vinegar, one-fourth cup water, two eggs, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon salt. Just before adding to the salmon, add one cup cream. Mrs. Robert Noll.

Something DIFFERENT

George Parkins states that I moved John Hopkins University from Baltimore, Md. to Philadelphia, Pa. last week and says I'd better get it back there before anyone notices it. oo One of Mr. McAllister's highway patrolmen saved the life of an old man a few nights ago. It was the first spasm of the blizzard, if it can be called that. . . . I guess it can't. . . . but anyway, this road man was running his machine at night to keep the roads open between Ord and Broken Bow. The road man came upon an aged man, whose car was stuck. The old fellow was suffering from cold and exposure, but crept slowly back to life upon being taken to a close by farm house where he was warmed and cared for. oo A good many road men have been working overtime to keep the roads passable for delayed or foolish travellers. One mechanic put in 70 hours at a crack, "just doing his duty," Mr. McAllister says. "Any of them will do the same." oo Judge Clements has had a couple of tries at starting for California, and may make it yet. He left in full glory Sunday morning a week ago, only to return in a couple of hours. They drove a few miles past Arcadia, found the snow coming down faster all the time and the road conditions looking more serious, so they turned around, had as they hated it. oo Waiting what they considered a cautious and sensible length of time, they started again on Thursday morning following, going out of town on the highway to Grand Island. But swirls of snow sent them home again, after battling a few miles. "I think," said Judge Clements, sister, Mrs. Leggett, that those are the only two times in his life Eddie ever turned back from anything he set out to do. He has always gone ahead no matter how hard it was." (Later—Judge Clements and his party finally got started last Saturday.) oo Shoppers from out of town will know their trade for the holidays was appreciated and wanted by the fact that snow on the streets about the square in Ord was thrown into trucks and later spread on the courthouse lawn, thus leaving large places for shoppers to park, as they are accustomed to do under other weather conditions. oo As there was several inches of snow to shovel, even a foot of it, perhaps, this was no small feat. oo No doubt partly because they have been censured in the public prints, the Omaha police court broadcast has a lot of local hearers. I have heard a good many say they tuned in on these sessions. Anything rumored to be slightly off-side immediately draws a lot of attention, it seems. Just like placarding a show with "Not advisable for children," "No admission to children," etc., always packs in the curious. oo It also seems to be a good way to sell books. Recently a book barred from this country for a number of years was admitted for sale, and at once crowds flocked to buy it. I am sure many of them would have been greatly bored by it if they had not read in the papers that it had long been considered questionable material, and never would have dreamed of expending their pennies to read it, let alone purchase it. oo To the public: Yes, yts, my son has a drum, or drums, and I thank you all for your kind offers. I did not know I was hinting. . . . I was merely complaining! Or so I thought. oo Aren't the toys fascinating? Each year they grow them grander and bigger, shinier and more expensive. I would like to have some of them to play with myself. And I know lots of electric trains and beautiful dolls are bought for the same reason, Mama or Papa is the one who can't resist them and loves to get down on the floor and play with them. oo Who wouldn't like to play with a toy electric mangle, or with a top that will spin for three or four minutes, or a scrumptious big drum with all those brass fittings that clang and dingle so noisily? oo Speaking of needing recipes for my cooking column, I need them badly, please send some in. I see Dad says I am threatening to put in some of my own. No, I won't you're safe. oo But I do feel kinda vicious about it. The Quiz really can poorly afford to give you one this year, and this will be the fifth year there has been a cook-book calendar, and you are getting it solely because of Mr. Leggett senior, as Gene and I both thought there was no doubt but what we ought to save the money this year. . . . they cost 25 or 30 cents each, and this year postage too, as H. D. promises to mail them out. oo Well, I will tell you just how vicious I am. Needing recipes so much, I felt that every lady who wanted a calendar should be asked to turn in a recipe before she would be able to get it. But I wasn't the boss. But if you don't send in some, there won't be any question of making up a calendar for you next year, that's sure. Irma.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

25 Years Ago This Week. Pat Crow leased the new Cernik building for his restaurant. The west room was to be occupied by the Howard & Orcutt barber shop and the Cernik tailoring shop was moved upstairs. A. Ward celebrated his 90th birthday, Grand Army folks gathering at the H. F. Lewis home in honor of the anniversary. Skating on the river and creeks was going on merrily as a result of the early cold spell. F. M. Davis and wife received a letter from their son, Rev. Ben Davis, telling of his narrow escape from death while walking the track in a blizzard between Elwood and Lost Nation. His companion was struck by a train and killed while Rev. Davis leaped off the track just in time. Miss Lottie Sinkler was married at the Fremont hotel to Ole Bentley on Nov. 20, the Quiz reported. W. W. Haskell left for Boston to be with his daughter, Coos, who suffered an attack of appendicitis while there pursuing her medical studies. Fred J. Bell was announcing an oyster supper and dance at the new Buick garage, admission $1. per person. His new roller skating rink was to be opened Christmas day.

30 Years Ago This Week. Jay Lavery, former Ord man who was in the livestock commission business in Omaha, lost his left hand in a hunting accident. The Commercial club appointed a committee composed of E. P. Clements, W. A. Wright and R. L. Dunham to see about shipping a carload of flour to Belgian war sufferers. An examination at an Omaha hospital disclosed that W. A. Dye was suffering from cancer of the stomach and he underwent an operation. The senior class of Ord high presented the play, "Mr. Bob," with a cast that included Lillian Jones, Laurie Watson, Ed Wozniak, Merrill Williams, Gladys McClatchey, Eva and Horace Nay. M. Goldstein, an Omaha Jew, was in Ord looking for his runaway wife and children and located them in Sargent. The A. O. U. W. folks had a big doings and elected Val Pullen as master workman, along with other officers. Fifteen boys met at Arthur Capron's home and formed the O. B. C. club. Ord high juniors and seniors held their annual frolic, a feature of which was a mock wedding in which Miss Mona Nybren was joined in marriage to Samuel Marks by Rev. Lew Dunning. G. W. Taylor was elected president and Alvin Blessing secretary of the fair association.

AM I RIGHT?

By George Round, Jr. It is getting so that only the best of crop judges come from Valley county. Just last week, Bob Cushing won outstanding recognition at Chicago when he was the second high individual in the identification division of the intercollegiate crops judging contest. Bob was competing as a member of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture team. Previously the squad competed in Kansas City at the American Royal contests. Luck missed them in Chicago though and as a result, the boys as a whole placed sixth.

But it wasn't so long ago that Carl "Tony" Dale produced two state 4-H championship judging teams and two national title winners also. Later two teams from here competed in the world-wide competition in Canada. Dale himself is noted as an expert crops judge and has judged a good many county and state shows. And still Bill Gornik (Garnick to you) is being mentioned as an All-American football player. He turns down the offers but they come fast back at him. Almost bewildered, Bill sometime will see his picture in print that Cleveland publication.

F. M. Vodehnal of Ord, president of the Nebraska Honey Producer's Association, is to give his annual address before that body early in January during Organized Agriculture at the Nebraska college of agriculture. The 1935 program lists several other interesting speakers and probably will be well attended. The Ord man is well known in beekeeper circles and O. S. Bare, extension entomologist, regards him as one of the most progressive "honey producers" in Nebraska.

Whether Valley county will be given an allocation of funds for the purchase of distressed cattle by the federal government under the reopened time is problematical. However, this county has sold a larger percentage of its cattle than any other county in the state to the government. Hundreds of head have moved also through private channels. This winter weather always reminds one of records established on the old Glover hill while riding "belly-buster." The last record was established down beyond Haight's store some years ago. . . . Then the Weckes hill used to be popular for such sport also. . . . Don Van Horn is attending college in Lincoln and making it plenty all right. . . . And to Dave Haight, we say hell-o. . . .

Care of The County Board Ord, Nebr.

North Loup, Nbr. Dec. 13, 1934. Dear Uncle Jake: When I said last week that the tall FERAEr stared at me with pointed nose, I presume technically the phrase was incorrect, but practically speaking, it was too true to be comforting. As I stood there in a dither, my back in a corner, my knees knocking together, my eyes looking upward into his scowling countenance, his hands gesturing carelessly about my face, his mouth emitting phrases about hitting me in the snoot, I gathered the impression his sharp nose that was constantly pointing toward me had something to do with the affair. My mistake. When Leggett asked if he might print some of my letters to you in the paper I told him I would consent under one condition, and that was if I made any mistakes grammatically or orthographically, the copy desk might correct them and make them better, but under no conditions should they make them worse. The editors seemed alightly piqued over that statement and as a result print them just as I write them, so if there are any mistakes, it is all my fault and not theirs. Some error seems to occur regularly, such as looking with a pointed nose, Judge Clements sits taut instead of sat taut, or the court reigned supreme in place of the monarch that reigned supreme, or when I use the word "that," or the word "very," too much. I know better in most cases, but too dumb to notice the errors until the paper comes out. I know well what Mrs. Rood meant, when speaking of such oversights, as "shaming me to death." In the "Something Different" column last week, when telling about drums, the author mentioned being "very very short on ideas." There is the crux of writing a column. I have a whole week to write a letter, and must drop it in the mail box Saturday morning on the way to church. I spend six and one-half days and nights thinking of what to write, and Saturday morning while the frau preens, and puts the finishing touches of cerise to her nose (or is it her lips?), I write the letter. It is no trick to write it. The trick is to think of it, and that is especially difficult when one considers the equipment I have to work with. Robt. Ripley has enough "Believe it or Not" drawn to last for the next fifty years. I cannot say that, but as an experiment, and to see if I could, I attempted to write to you every day. That is not unreasonable I thought, for I use to do nearly that well when writing to my wife before we were married, and we wrote voluminously too. Now days I drop a card if I think of it and say, "All is well." Nevertheless, I kept up the letter business to you for thirty days, and then grew lazy. As a result I have letters written ahead for the next six months, although some of them are not overly enlightening. Now if the author of Something Different wants someone to pinch hit for her—but her strips are so much better than mine, I am afraid that would never do. And then to show what a bright fellow I am. Occasionally the letters I think are especially clever, do not seem to register at all. On the other hand, a letter I hesitate about sending will create all manner of stir. Sometimes I wonder if it is not my darned ignorance that is so amusing. I have thought it might be a good idea to sort out the hummest letters I have of the thirty days scribbles, forward them, and perhaps I might have better luck. Resp. Geo. G. Community Leadership. (Editor's Note—This item, clipped from the Public pulse column of the Lincoln State Journal, was written by a former secretary of the Ord Chamber of Commerce.) YORK.—Your More or Less Personal column quotes concerning community leadership by a small group of men. This is invariably true. I know, for I have been a so-called paid chamber of commerce secretary. When I was secretary of the chamber of commerce at Ord, some 15 years ago, it was my good fortune to be associated with some real community builders. Men like Irl D. Tolen and Herbert L. Cushing, now of Lincoln, Attorney Claude Davis, Charles Detweiler and good old Hank Leggett, editor of the Ord Quiz. And there were others who helped crown Ord the pop corn monarchy of the universe. They put across the idea of a most beautiful courthouse for Valley county, and connected Ord with five graded highways. And their city paving project made Ord the talk of the state. The leaders, with the community back of them, pushed Ord ahead at a time when progress was initiated and executed at home, and not planned, blocked and matched by state and federal authorities. "Them were the days" when the sky was the limit for worthy achievements by men or community. Upon investigation you will find that the success of any community is largely the lengthened shadow of one real booster, and a few ardent helpers. We are going to continue having community leaders. But long distance planning and the invasion by government snocoocrats, is taking the heart out of the live community much as it has already broken the spirit of its enterprising citizens. HENRY L. FILLMAN. —Quiz Want Ads got results.

WHAT OTHER Editors Are Saying

If Business Should Strike
(Wayne Herald.)
The employer who works long hours which are not limited by code edicts, is sometimes harrowed by strikes and ever by government restrictions, and then people wonder why he does not get into the harness and do more for recovery. The Nation's Business says business visitors to its office have said virtually this: "Why do I keep on working? I am chased from pillar to post. I am hounded by government, called upon to live up to new rules of which I've sometimes never heard. If I want to buy my raw material from a different dealer I find that the man I want to buy from can't sell me because he's already up to his allotment. I'm told by government what wages to pay and what hours my men may work. My wages and my hours are not in the picture, I've worked half the night for weeks, but no minimum is set for me. What's the use?" Nation's Business suggests that we have many strikes by workers in these troublous times, but what would happen if business were to go on a strike and quit producing and selling until assured of adequate returns?

Beauty a Civic Asset.
(Kerrville (Tex.) News.)
In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are rapidly developing a greater appreciation of the beautiful. This is not confined to the wealthier classes, but extends to the great masses in the towns and villages and in rural districts.
New towns and new sections of the older towns are being laid out for larger lawns, more trees, shrubbery and flowers, and a more attractive setting generally. New houses show better architecture and greater harmony with their surroundings, while unsightly yard fences have largely disappeared. The net results of these modern developments is beauty. And aside from the satisfaction which it affords the eye, it pays in dollars and cents.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract tourists and they attract trade. It is natural that a person selecting a trading center will choose a town that is beautiful and clean in preference to one that is unsightly and dirty, if other conditions are anywhere near equal.
Therefore, it behooves the authorities of any community as well as each individual citizen to make the most of their opportunities for improving the appearance of the place in which they live. Beauty and cleanliness are among a town's best assets.

Ord Cuts Rates.
(Howard County Herald.)
At Ord, the Mayor, two councilmen and their electrical engineer, returned from a trip to Crosby, Minn., where they had inspected two Delsel engine units, having a capacity of 770 horsepower, with a view of making the purchase to supplant their generating equipment operated by steam boilers.
Ord has a fund of something like $60,000 obtained as from the revenue of their plant operated at a reasonably low rate charged for the energy. This surplus can now be used with which to pay for the new and contemplated equipment. However, it is not a certainty that such surplus money will be used in that direction, according to the Ord Quiz. With an offer of very favorable terms and a low rate of interest, the council may decide to accept the offer and permit the earnings of the plant with its new equipment to retire this obligation together with the accruing interest. The surplus now is used in the purchase of bonds of the city and this interest reduces their tax to a measurable degree.

Ord, with its expensive steam equipment, has shown a fine result in both the giving of service to its patrons, and it has earned for its citizens a large surplus that otherwise would have gone into the coffers of eastern capitalists thus depriving the community from the benefits that such a large amount can affect right here at home.
Already the benefits of the municipal light plant are being apparent, when the council of Ord has ordered the reduction of all classes of electrical energy rates 20 percent, beginning Dec. 10th. Several hundreds of dollars will, by this move, be saved to the citizens of Ord each month on their electric bills.

Small Towns Have a Future.
Northfield (Minn.) News.
Studies have been made of retailing in metropolitan centers, but only a few of business in the small town or rural area. In fact, not only persons living in the cities, but also many economists have been so accustomed to thinking in terms of city affairs and metropolitan merchandising that the importance of small cities and rural areas in our national economic life has been largely overlooked.

But the small town is highly important. Recent data shows that 52 percent of the total population of the United States live in the small cities and rural areas and that 45 percent of all retailers are located in this general region, doing 30 percent of the total retail business of the country. One of the most encouraging facts, from the point of view of the small-town merchant, is the evidence that the residents of the smaller cities and rural districts supply by far the major part of their needs from the home stores.
The small town and the merchant who is the backbone of the small town still have a place in the sun. And that is fortunate, for when it comes to really happy living you have to go to the small town and the rural community to find it.

ART QUARTER OF NEW YORK SCENE OF QUEER CRIME

Twice Married Beauty Was Killed in Home of Bachelor, Former Playmate.

New York.—Greenwich Village has a new exhibit for wide-eyed tourists. This is a modest little cottage (with a very high rental) in MacDougal alley—the "costliest alley in the world," where rich and "arty" tenants have converted old stables into exotic studios.

Here two childhood sweethearts were reunited. Here the girl received fatal injuries in a wild struggle after midnight, in which statues were overturned and rich tapestries pulled from the walls. The girl's host, a young Wall street broker, is held charged with her death.

Police radio cars careened with screaming sirens into MacDougal alley after neighbors had telephoned that "something awful was going on" in the broker's apartment. They found Edna Field Leavitt battered into insensibility, nude, dying. They found Arthur W. Morse, her host, nursing a face streaked by deep scratches, but denying responsibility for the girl's death.

First Husband Died.
Then, with Mrs. Leavitt's death, it came out. She had lived near Arthur W. Morse in Brookline, Mass., Boston's fashionable suburb, and they had been childhood sweethearts. She married someone else—David Leavitt, of Omaha.

Her life and Arthur Morse's diverged then. Her marriage created the romantic stir which attaches to the union of a pretty debutante and Junlor leaguer and a prosperous bachelor. Then Leavitt died.

She married again, this time Charles Byington, a rich New Yorker.

Morse, meanwhile, went to Harvard, graduating in 1923. After that came five years studying banking practice in Vienna, London and Paris. Then Wall Street, and the little bachelor apartment with the restful tang of bohemianism for his leisure hours.

Gets Reno Divorce.
Meanwhile Edna led the life of the society matron—even to the Reno divorce which she received from her second husband. Morse was the prosperous and rising stock broker.

Then Edna came to town. Morse heard of her presence. Mystery closes down on the pair at that point. But friends say that Edna Field Leavitt grew weary of the life of a society divorcee. She left her five-year-old child by her first marriage with Mr. and Mrs. William Atkinson, her blue-blooded Brookline (Mass.) grandparents.

She came to New York, reviving an old flair for sketching; she had taken a course long ago, at the Boston Art museum after graduating from the ultra-exclusive Mount Ida School for Girls. So in New York she entered the free-and-easy Village life with gusto. She registered at the Hotel Albert, in the heart of the arty settlement. She did some posing; in her spare time she sketched.

A Village acquaintance relates that she met Morse after a few days in New York and was frequently with him.

What happened between midnight and 3 a. m. of that fateful morning, no one knows yet for sure.

Water Fowl as Large as Man
Some of the varieties of water fowl found far up the Nile are as large as a man.

No "Southern" Speech
Speech varies so widely in southern communities, and has so few traits in common, that there is no distinctly "southern" speech, a scientist reports.

Largest Peninsula
The largest peninsula in the world is the continent of Europe which projects into the Atlantic ocean from the mainland of Asia and separates the North sea from the Mediterranean. It has an area of 3,750,000 square miles.

Bankruptcy
The laws of bankruptcy are far less severe on debtors than they used to be. At one time in Scotland bankrupts were compelled to wear a distinctive costume, and in England, until 1861, they were treated almost as criminals. So degraded was bankruptcy in general esteem that newspapers and magazines with pretensions to refinement hesitated to print the word in full and when they had to use it, say in publishing a list of unfortunates compelled to file a petition, they did so under the heading, "B-k-r-p-t-s."

Anthocyanin Colors Leaves
The brilliant red color of maple and sumac leaves in autumn is due to the presence of the pigment anthocyanin. This pigment is formed when certain food substances in the leaves are subjected to several days of strong sunlight. Therefore the coloring is more brilliant in those years when sudden cool temperatures at night, which arrest the removal of the food substances, are followed by a succession of bright sunny days.

Less Energy Needed in Morning
Less energy is expended on work performed in the morning than in the afternoon. That has been determined in experiments conducted by the Northwestern university. Subjects were required to do the same amount of work at different hours of the day and their energy output measured. The most energy is used in the late afternoon. The energy used during the rest is greater in the early morning and least after lunch.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Turtles Have No Teeth
Although most reptiles have teeth, these are lacking in all of the turtles. The jaws of the latter are covered with horny sheaths instead.

Crow Is Musical
Many persons who are perfectly familiar with the caw of the common crow fail to recognize its love notes and its conversational abilities when it is ministering to its young. In early spring or late winter the crow often gives forth quite musical sounds.

Sacred Water of India
Amritsar, India, owes its foundation to the sanctity which attaches to the site. According to Hindu mythology, it was there that Rama's army was restored to life after its destruction by his sons. In Guru Ram Das' days a cripple bathed, after seeing a crow change from a jet black hue to the whiteness of a swan merely by dipping its wings in the magic waters, and was transformed into a vigorous man.

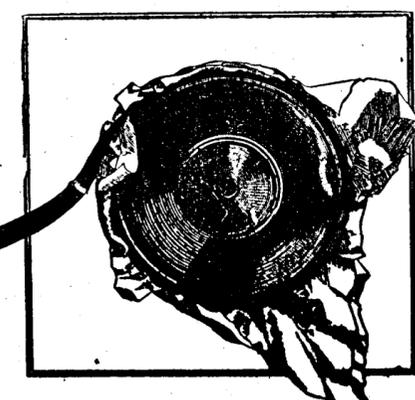

Sound
Sound is usually defined as the sensation caused by stimulation of the auditory nerves and, according to this definition, there would be no sound unless there was an ear present to receive the sound vibrations. However, in physics sound is defined as the energy which occasions the sensation of hearing. Then, in a physical sense, sound would be present wherever there were sound waves regardless of whether it was actually heard or not.

A Nansen Passport
A Nansen passport is one issued by several countries through the auspices of the League of Nations for the benefit of persons who do not have a home government which can supply them with passports. It is, of course, named for the great Norwegian statesman and philanthropist, Fridtjof Nansen, and was originally intended for White Russians—that is, adherents of the czarist regime, in Russia, who were outlawed by Soviet revolution. The scope of the Nansen passport has since been extended to other persecuted peoples, such as the Armenians.

Because We Have Kept the Price of Gasoline

On Dec. 1, 1934 the major oil companies attempted to raise the price of gasoline in Ord six-tenths of a cent per gallon, in fact they did raise it this amount. At the same time, instead of meeting this raise,

We cut the price of gasoline four-tenths of a cent per gallon below the old price. Three days later the major oil companies met our reduction.

If we had not reduced the price you would now be paying 1 cent per gallon more for gas than you were paying on Dec. 1.

Similar organizations were formed this week at North Loup, Arcadia, Sargent, Taylor and Burwell. In the North Loup club Roy Hudson is chairman, with Wm. Vodehnal and H. L. Gillespie as committee members. At its organization meeting this club raised 15 bushels of feed, which is already being distributed. In the Arcadia club N. A. Lewin is chairman, Ray Hill is secretary-treasurer and committee members include H. M. Daters, C. C. Weddel, Claris Bellinger and Ora Russell. Both the North Loup and Arcadia clubs will welcome contributions of cash and feed from Quiz readers living in those localities, as will the clubs at Sargent, Taylor and Burwell.

Officers of the Ord club hope that $100 or more can be raised locally this week and more money will be needed later if the program is to be continued. A committee will solicit sportsmen in the business district this week but since many will necessarily be missed Chairman Burrows urges every sportsman who reads this article and wants to assist in feeding the starving game birds to make a voluntary contribution, either to him or to Treasurer Fafelta.

The Character "A"
The characteristic "A" is a ligature combining the letters which compose the Latin word "Et," meaning "and." In the "old style," these letters are distinctly visible; in the common Roman and Italic forms they are much corrupted, but may still be recognized.

Not having any pesos to lay away for a rainy day, the native along Mexico's rugged west coast collects palm leaves. When the rainy day appears, he weaves his palm leaves into a rain coat, just as porous as any other rain coat on the market.

Greeley Interested In Hartsuff Park

The site of Fort Hartsuff, just across the North Loup river from Goodenow, a Burlington siding midway between Elyria and Burwell, will become a federal park, if members of the Historical Society of the Loup's Trails have their way.

Petitions seeking federal aid for the preservation and upkeep of Fort Hartsuff are being circulated in Greeley and other nearby towns this week.

The Historical Society of the Loup's Trails was formed a few months ago. Its first important move was in behalf of the old Fort Hartsuff site.

George A. McNulty, who lives east of Scotia, is one of the strongest advocates of the project. County Attorney T. J. Howard of Greeley has also taken an active part.

Definite plans as to what improvements would be made would depend entirely on the appropriation congress might set aside for the work, promoters said.

Fort Hartsuff was abandoned as a fort in 1833. County Attorney Howard said yesterday. For years it had served as a barracks for soldiers who kept the Indians at bay and from molesting the early settlers throughout this section of the state. At one time 250 soldiers were stationed there. George McNulty was one of them.

The soldiers stationed at Fort Hartsuff had little difficulty with the Indians. Only one important skirmish occurred, it was stated by Mr. Howard. An encounter with the Indians was staged in the hills northeast of Burwell. Three soldiers lost their lives in this battle. Several Indians were killed.—Greeley Citizen.

Right and Wrong Names.

(Alliance Times-Herald)

The first demand of the Chinese sage Confucious, when he set about to teach his people the best of life, was for "rectification of names." He had observed that too many things were called by wrong names, thereby causing confusion of thought and action.

An American newspaper writer, William F. McDermott, seems to have developed the same notion about present-day American life. He got the idea from a deceptive label on a bottle of gin, and then proceeded to philosophize as follows:

Our American labels for political groups and other organizations are curiously inaccurate. Thus the American Liberty League, he maintains, "has nothing to do with liberty as that word is ordinarily understood," being conservative instead of liberal or radical. The Republican party, he says, is no more republican than the Democratic party is; both are committed to democratic principles, and "the labels in each case are vague and meaningless."

Further, he finds that the W. C. T. U., while professing "temperance," really stands for total abstinence. Upton Sinclair, campaigning on a Socialistic program, ran as a Democrat. Senator LaFollette, he says, is really a "moderate Socialist," and Senator Glass is a "Tory." In France, Huey Long would be a Communist and Senator Fess a Bourbon Royalist. And so on.

It's an interesting game, this rectifying names, and anybody can play it for himself.

Young Penguins
A curious thing about the penguins, birds of the Antarctic, is that their offspring often grow nearly as big as the parent birds before they are able to feed without the latter's help.

The Girl They Didn't Forget

By MARGARET B. TOMSON

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service

JACK WESTON, once heralded as "America's Playboy," before alimony and the stock market debacle had almost sunk him, turned with swift apologies to the well-built stranger standing beside him at the bar, whom he had just jostled with unwitting rudeness.

"Don't mention it," said Dick Bode, former All-American tackle, magnanimously.

Weston hesitated a moment, then spurred by the desire to confide in some one went on: "I was looking at that girl who just came in . . . the tall, dark one . . . she looks so much like a girl I used to know in Los Angeles that it startled me."

Bode's eyes turned in the direction indicated by Weston's eyes. "That's funny," he allowed musingly. "I knew a girl in Los Angeles who looked like her, too. Yes," he decided, craning his neck, "she does look like Nancy."

"Not Nancy Ross?" "You know Nancy?" the voice was eager.

"Know her?" murmured Weston reminiscently, "I should say I did. The best pal I ever had. Swell gal. 'Swell gal!' echoed Bode warmly. Solemnly they drank to Nancy.

"What a coincidence," Weston shook his head in wonderment. They toasted the girl they hadn't forgotten with another round.

"Never forget what she did for me one time," Weston remembered rather maudlinly. "Pulled me through one of the worst cases of delirium tremens."

"Funny," said Bode suspiciously. "She hated that kind of thing. Only time she saw me awfully crooked, she bawled h—l out of me."

"She certainly was a swell little playmate," Weston confided. "Never got crooked, never got quarrelsome, always ready to go places."

"Oh, I never found her that way," objected Bode. "Liked to go out, of course, but we used to go in for sports a lot."

"Athletic!" Weston was incredulous. "Why, the only exercise she ever went in for was dancing until the orchestra quit."

There was a suspicious moisture in Weston's eyes. He certainly hadn't played square with Nancy. She had been awfully in love with him, too, and he had really intended to marry her. Then that blond had suddenly walked into his life.

Remorsefully Bode surveyed his empty glass. What a beast he had been to Nancy. Met her when he was just out of college and flat broke. Probably wouldn't have eaten for weeks at a time if it hadn't been for Nancy. She was always doing something for him. Of course she was terribly in love with him and he had asked her to marry him but that was no excuse for a man to sponge off a woman, he realized now.

The end came when he had an unexpected offer of a job in Chicago. He left in a rush, meant to write her but just carelessly put it off so long that he was finally ashamed to write. How could he have been fool enough not to realize that she had been the one and only woman in his life? It would be all right now, though. He'd go back and marry her and make up to her for all the tears she must have shed for him.

"My Nancy!" whispered Weston reverentially and a little tearful. "My Nancy!" Bode challenged with sudden belligerence. Just then Weston's fist connected with Bode's nose and the battle was on.

"Nice places you take your wife to," sniffed Nancy Elliott loftily to her husband after watching two belligerent gentlemen being shoved unceremoniously through the door. There was a mischievous glint in Nancy's eyes: "I think I used to know those two pugilists."

"Undoubtedly," groaned her husband. "Your list of scalps extended the length of the continent before I finally tamed you by sheer brute force."

"I didn't mind so much your knocking my teeth out," she said reminiscently, "but when you sliced my ears off . . . well, I've just practically never looked at a man since!"

"I was a weavling in those days," he said sadly. "That was before I learned to treat my women rough. Anyway, I still think it was positively immoral the way you got yourself engaged every time you powdered your nose."

"Not at all," she denied stoutly. "I practically never became engaged to anybody who didn't need my moral support at that particular time."

"Don't tell me you were engaged to those two birds," he begged. "I don't remember," Nancy thought deeply. "Yes . . . yes, I was," she remembered suddenly. "I got out of it all right," she assured him happily. "I introduced Jack to a man-eating blond I dug up somewhere. That was very simple."

"Dick was a little more difficult, though. I finally maneuvered it so that he got a job way, far away. However," her eyes widened pensively. "I had to become engaged to two other chaps to put that one over!"

SATURDAY IS REAL HOODOO DAY FOR BAD MEN OF WEST

Many Meet Their Fate on That Day of Week, According to Records.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Saturday has proved to be as fateful to the fast thinning ranks of southwest desperadoes as the idea of March were to Julius Caesar.

Albert Bates, blond Denver hoodlum, and Harvey Bailey, cultured mobster, began it by standing up in federal court here to hear Judge Edgar S. Vaught, one Saturday, sentence them to life imprisonment for kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma City oil man, and holding him for $200,000 ransom. George (Machine Gun) Kelly and Kathryn were adjudged guilty in the same crime on a Saturday.

Later Wilbur Underhill, tristes terrorist, spreading a red trail through the Southwest, ran into a posse of federal agents and peace officers at Shawnee, Okla., early one Saturday and was shot down in a hall of machine gun slugs.

Died in Prison. He lived until the next Saturday, when he was taken to McAlester and died in the prison from which he had formerly escaped.

Several weeks later Aussie Elliott, tow-headed Osage hills youth, who in three years forged to the front of Oklahoma outlaws, and his pal, Eldon Wilson, were shot to death at Sapulpa, Okla., one Saturday night in one of the bloodiest gun battles that section ever witnessed. Another of their comrades died, and Police Chief Tom Brumley was slain.

"Red" Edgmon was slain at Stillwell on a Saturday night when the escaped convict attempted to hold up a state highway patrol officer. A bandit companion was wounded and captured.

Organized Hunt. An organized hunt by southeast Oklahoma officers on a Saturday drove Floyd Filppin, escaped convict, from the mountains of that section into Lebanon, Mo., where he was shot and captured with his companion, Dick (Machine Gun Dick) Dickensheet. Filppin and Dickensheet are now in Ohio penitentiary.

On a more recent Saturday, officers from every city and hamlet of Oklahoma, 1,000 strong, raided the notorious Cookson hills. They were heavily armed, determined, and augmented by 300 National Guardsmen. They gave the section, hide-out of desperadoes since the days of "Little Bill" Doolin and Bob Dalton, such a "shaking down" as it had never had before. Twenty-one suspects were thrown into jail.

The latest victim of the "ides of Saturday" was Ford Bradshaw, notorious hoodlum, bank robber, and slayer, who was disarmed, his bulletproof vest removed, and then slain after he had terrorized a roadhouse near Poteau at the height of a drunken orgy. He was "snuffed out" after he had boasted of his badness and vowed he "would kill somebody" before he left the place. Bill Harper, LeFlore county deputy sheriff, did the execution work when Bradshaw started a fight after he was disarmed.

His Curiosity Brings Return of Stolen Bonds. Washington.—The curiosity of a Montgomery county policeman was responsible for the recovery of $11,000 in stock certificates and notes, stolen from the home of State Senator David Baile of Westminster, Md.

Herbert Miles, an employee of the state highway department, unearthed a canvas bag while working in a ditch near Damascus. He examined the contents, which appeared to be "pretty paper," and unconcernedly returned the pouch to the ditch.

Two weeks later Policeman Paul Watkins, learning of the discovery, decided he would see the "pretty papers." He instructed Miles to retrieve the bag.

One of the papers bore the name of Senator Baile as administrator of an estate. Baile told Watkins the bag had been stolen about a month ago.

Canary Regains Voice and Sight After Illness. Harrisburg, Ill.—A fourteen-year-old canary owned by Mrs. Robert Rose of this city is the topic of much conversation of canary owners as a result of the bird regaining its voice and vision after nine years' silence and a few months' blindness.

According to Mrs. Rose, the bird, named Rex, stopped singing about nine years ago, and recently became blind. During the blindness Rex started singing and, after a "sinking spell" a few days ago, the bird apparently regained its vision.

Rex now watches people as they pass the cage and white spots disappeared from the eye pupils.

Origin of French Tricolor

The French tricolor originated at the outbreak of the 1789 revolution as the badge of the National Guard. The red and blue were selected as the arms of Paris, and the white was added as the color of the army, to show the intimate union which should exist between the people and the national defenders.

You farmers who will soon have to think of spring work will be wise to plan now on getting rid of your rectal trouble this winter. SENIOR TEAM SWAMPS OPPOSITION TO WIN INTER-CLASS TOURNAMENT

Veteran Cagers Run Wild and Beat Sophs 46-1, Wallop Juniors by 39-13.

The senior class, with a team which included three lettermen, swept aside all opposition and secured first position in the annual interclass tournament. Both of the games played by the seniors were won by lopsided scores, since they defeated the sophomores 46-1, and won from the juniors by a decided 39-13 score in the finals.

Following is a brief summary and description of the games.

Seniors vs. Sophomores. The senior boys ran wild in this game, the score being 46-1, when the final whistle was blown. The sophomores could not penetrate the strong offense put up by the seniors. The sophomore boys were finally goaded into shooting at the hoop whenever they got within throwing distance. In this game, Greathouse was high point man with a total of nine baskets. The score by quarters was: Seniors 12 19 11 4 40 Sophomores 0 0 1 0 1

Juniors vs. Freshmen. The junior lads with the eager-edged Blessing as the main spark plug, trounced the Freshmen down under a heavy 24-12 score. The game was the juniors until the last quarter when the small but fighting freshmen team, with the aid of three baskets, thrown by Tunnickliff, ran the score up to twelve points.

The score by quarters: Freshmen 0 1 5 12 Juniors 8 20 22 24 50

Second Round. Sophomores vs. Freshmen.

The sophs ran up a four point lead in the first quarter and managed to keep ahead of the freshmen until the end of the game. This game was undoubtedly the closest and hardest fought game in the tournament. The sophomores clicked on every play and turned the freshmen's breaks into baskets. The score by quarters: Sophomores 4 7 3 8 Freshmen 0 3 4 4

Juniors vs. Seniors.

This game was an easy victory for the seniors, the juniors never even threatening to take the lead. The seniors made 23 points in the first quarter, before the juniors seemed to realize they were playing basketball. Greathouse was again the bright spot on the senior team, making three-fourths of all the points to their credit. Score by quarters: Seniors 23 25 26 39 Juniors 2 7 9 13

Members of the various teams are: Seniors, Greathouse, Michels, Tunnickliff, Severson, Rowbal and Mella; Juniors, Blessing, Carlsen, Adamek, Koelling and Johnson; Sophomores Haskell, Barta, Clark, Lakin, Stone and Goff; and Freshmen, Hughes, Tunnickliff, Zulkoski, Vincent and Cetak.

Kiddies' Column. The pupils in the second grade who have been neither absent nor tardy to date are Patty Achen, Gene Anderson, Phyllis Anderson, Doris Gross, Norma Dean Holt, Marilyn O'Neal, Barbara Parks, Darlene Puncuchar, George Sedlacek and Betty Wiegardt.

The second grade has completed its toy parade, which was made as a border for the blackboard.

The Kindergarten classes are making Santa Claus' palaces out of oatmeal boxes. The boxes will be covered with a plaster made of flour, salt and water. Red cellophane will be used for windows. They are also planning to make Santa's sleigh. Their sand table has been arranged to represent the birthplace of Jesus, with shepherds, sheep, wise men, and the manger.

All the grade school rooms are attractively decorated in Christmas colors with various Christmas posters and pictures. The art classes have been doing this work.

Visitors at the grade school the past week have been Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Lola, and Mrs. Goff.

Officers Elected By Knighthood of Youth. Tuesday the Knighthood of Youth club re-elected officers for the second six weeks. The following officers were elected: President, Harriet Hrdy; vice president, Wauneta Cummins; secretary, Gerald Turner; treasurer and news reporter, Elma Rybin.

1-Act Play Program By Public Speakers

The Public Speaking classes will present to the public at an invitation program in the high school auditorium Saturday, Dec. 15, a group of one-act plays, "The Burglar", "Not Quite Such a Goose", and "The Moustrelap".

In "The Burglar" Jeanette Hughes plays the part of Mable, Beulah McGinnis enacts Freda, Julia Fuss portrays Valeria, Louise Petka plays Peggy and Jacqueline Meyer enacts Edith.

The cast of "Not Quite Such a Goose" has Oleta Rose as Mrs. Bell, Dale Mella as Albert, Alma Hansen as Sylvia, Paul Carlson as Phillip, and Virginia Fox as Hazel.

"The Moustrelap" cast includes Eva Umstead as Mrs. Somers, Dean Marks as Mr. Campbell, Eleanor Verstraete as Jane, Dorothy Philbrick as Mrs. Miller, Ruth Benn as Mrs. Bemis, Hope Bartunek as Mrs. Curwen, and Dorothy Ann Zikmund as Mrs. Roberts.

From the Sidelines!

One of the reasons the boys were really fighting in the interclass basketball tournament is that Coach Brockman will determine, in a measure, the squad by the way they show up in the tournament.

Richard Severson, tackle, and Leonard Greathouse, fullback, were elected as co-captains of this year's football team. Both are seniors and played their last game for Ord High School.

The Reserve squad may get started to practice this week but the color league will not start until later.

It looks as if we might have an opportunity to go skating soon if this cold weather continues.

The Sophomores have set up a howl about the tournament. Why? Because they had to play the variety squad and the game ended Seniors 46, Sophomores 1.

At the state athletics meeting which Mr. Bell attended in Lincoln Friday, several new rules were passed. One stated that hereafter the basketball tournaments are to be divided and held in two towns. The class B will be at Lincoln and the class A at Hastings. Class B includes all schools with less than one hundred enrolled and class A includes those schools whose enrollment totals over one hundred.

Another rule passed states that if you change schools, you only have to attend one semester before being eligible to go out for sports.

An amendment was also passed whereby next year the high school athletic association will run a girls division without additional dues. The sports will be of the same type as now sponsored by the G. A. A. organization.

Science Club Was In Charge Convocation

A most enjoyable convocation was presented by the Science club last Wednesday. Laverne Lakin, as Professor Corkscrew and his assistant Screwloose, alias Laverne Duemy exhibited some marvelous scientific inventions which they had created with their own ingenuity. Among them was an umbrella with holes in it so you can look up and see if it's raining; the wet envelope, the advantages being that you don't have to lick the stamp, the self-cleaning ash tray which has no bottom, and many others equally astounding.

The final number on the program was the displaying of a lie detecting machine, which was in charge of Prof. Corkscrew.

The convocation was prepared and planned by the members of the Science club and those students participating in the program were Laverne Lakin, Dorothy Auble, Laverne Duemy, Harlan Wyrick and Virginia Klein.

Seniors To Have Party. The senior class party will be held in the High School auditorium Thursday evening, December 13.

Pauline Barta, Viola Krahluk, Isabelle Suchanek, Leonard Kilma and Everett Gross are in charge of the program for the evening. Eleanor Keap, Oleta Rose, Maxine Haskell, Richard Rowbal, and Richard Severson are on the refreshment committee and Margaret Keller and Byrnes Leach are in charge of issuing the invitations.

EDITORIALS

The joke and riddle craze is sweeping the school and everyone you chance to meet greets you with some simple-minded riddle. Its surprising as well as amusing to see how many people fall for even the dumbest of the bunch.

I've heard of finding money in chairs and doorsteps when cleaning house but never before had I heard of finding money in a typewriter, which is what happened when the advanced typing class cleaned their machines last week. However, don't get excited and resolve to take up typing immediately—it was only a penny.

It is certainly a good thing for O. H. S. students that the lie-detecting machine shown in convocation by the Science club yesterday was not a reality. I should have liked to have asked the machine just one question; namely, Now that the play is over, the juniors can breathe more easily and count their profits. After they have the money counted, they can begin to make plans for spending it. It won't be long until work will begin on the junior-senior banquet.

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS—

This week the question asked of the students was: "What do you want for Christmas?" I want a diary, and a diamond ring.—Louise Petka.

Let's see, I want a diary, fur coat, and a pair of boots.—Jeanette Hughes.

I want everything but what I haven't got.—Mildred Craig.

What do I want for Christmas? Oh, lots of things.—Lydia Dana.

I want a million things but what's the use?—Evelyn Loft.

A nice tall boy friend with black wavy hair, who likes dancing and outdoor sports.—Dorothy Lambdin.

I want Santa Claus to move my boy friend to Ord so he won't waste so much money for gas.—Marie Viner.

I'd like a new Chevrolet coupe, with lots of gas to go with it.—Maxine Bossen.

I want a pair of skates, and also some riding breeches.—Julia Fuss.

I want a black satin dress, a coaster wagon, and a kiddycar.—Dorothy Ann Zikmund.

I want a real papa doll.—Alma Maslin.

I want a doll.—Millie Smith.

I know what I am going to get, a leather jacket.—William Goff.

This Week's Sponsor is Orville H. Sowl

Orville Sowl came to Ord in 1926 and in the years since that time his hearty smile and friendly ways have won him sincere friends and many of them, fitting into the surroundings here like a native Ordite.

Mr. Sowl, (Orville H. is the way he writes it and what do you suppose that H. in his name represents?) was born in South Bend, Nebraska in 1895, attending school mostly in Fairmont and Pullerton. Always interested in music, after high school days he went to Lincoln and studied violin a couple of terms, after which he had his own orchestra and made his hobby his mode of making a living for a couple of years, up to the time of the World War.

Nine months service overseas in an evacuation hospital at Argonne, principally, and fifteen months service in all in Mr. Sowl's record. He was wounded, too, but states that he does not want any sympathy and hence declines to discuss the matter. It was six months after the Armistice was signed before Mr. Sowl was shipped back to the shores of his home country, and this doughboy, unlike so many of them, knew just what his next step was to be. He went to Kansas City and entered upon a course of training for his present business, that of funeral director, which he has since followed.

This study occupied Mr. Sowl until 1924. Then a York firm employed him to manage its Beaver Crossing branch for two years and in 1926 Mr. Sowl came to Ord to purchase the business of A. M. Daniels. From a modest beginning a block east of his present location, the Sowl chapel was later especially equipped and furnished when the Masonic lodge built a new temple, and these fine quarters, suitable and spacious, he has since occupied.

A genial man, his interests are diversified, and Mr. Sowl is a hard working member of the local post of the American Legion, on call for any duty the Legion requests. He belongs to the Masonic lodge and the Masons have no more loyal supporter and staunch member. Mr. Sowl is an Odd Fellow, too; he works earnestly for the Chamber of Commerce, and is a good Methodist ready and will to sing, play his violin or do the task that is necessary for the betterment of the church.

Music of course is the big hobby of Mr. Sowl's life, and since his wife is an accomplished pianist, the pair enjoy many musical moments together. Mr. Sowl belongs to the Legion men's chorus, and sings with this group when they are requested to add some good cause or help on some program... which is often. Golf is another hobby, the only sport in which this versatile man indulges.

Mrs. Sowl, small, quiet, sweet, was acquired by her husband in 1921 at McCool Junction, where her parents now reside, although she is a Silver Creek girl and graduated from high school there. They have two children, Paula, who is five and beginning a long school career, and Duane, four years old.

All in all, this young couple are an asset to the community, happy, unassuming people whom you will certainly like. Ord students, do you know them?

Expect Legion To Go 'Over The Top'

Lincoln—With early reports from the American Legion Departments from over the United States showing marked increases over the same period last year, prospects for a new record in membership in the organization are growing brighter daily. On November 14, a total of 78,229 paid up memberships had been received at National Headquarters located in Indianapolis, Indiana, as compared with 55,096 on the same date last year.

On this basis, there is little doubt but that the total membership reported in the telegraphic roll call of November 20 would amount to approximately 300,000, as compared with 213,000 on the same date a year ago, an increase of between 87,000 and 100,000. If this pace is maintained, the Legion will go over the top in membership for 1935 with the greatest record in its history.

Leading all states in reports for November 15th was California, home state of National Commander Frank N. Belgrano, Jr., with a total of 13,452. Wisconsin was second and Illinois a close third. Nebraska, according to H. H. Dudley, Department Adjutant, was in seventh place with a total of 4,082 paid up members on November 15th.

Ray Judah of Hickman, membership chairman for Nebraska, points out that this Department's quota has been set at 17,609 members. From his survey, attaining this quota is possible, he believes, in view of the large number of veterans who have not become members of the legion as yet.

Department Commander Fred Winter of Grand Island and Department Adjutant Dudley both are stressing the getting of the membership as early as possible, so that the Legion may devote its full attention in this state to community service and youth activities.

Build Better Health With Butter.

Every homemaker is interested in the health and nutritional welfare of her family. How to feed her family economically to promote optimum growth and health is a problem that is of vital interest to her.

She is continually in search of new information which will help her put over her job more efficiently.

For this reason, she will welcome this additional information on the nutritional value of butter which comes from Mrs. Ednet Austin Martin, nutrition specialist of the Dairy Council, Chicago.

Mrs. Martin says: "While the distinctive appetizing flavor of butter has been recognized in the past, we are learning more and more of the superior nutritive value of butter. Butter is on a par with other fats as an energy-giving food."

"Butterfat is the most practical, palatable and dependable food source of vitamin A—that vitamin which contributes to excellent general health and vigor of both children and adults. Vitamin A is necessary to normal reproduction and to a long, efficient life." A surplus of this vitamin not only builds up a health reserve, according to Mrs. Martin but is active in aiding to build resistance to body infections.

For adults, the vitamin content in four tablespoons of butter in the day's meals is a protective amount. It was found that this quantity prevented the people in certain foreign countries during the World War from contracting eye disease caused by vitamin A deficiency.

The amount of vitamin A desirable in the daily diet is that which promotes optimum health and vigor, not merely just enough to protect from disease, but enough to build a health reserve. It is logical then, to use butter as the chief source of vitamin A and to enrich the diet with other sources, such as whole milk, cheese, eggs and green vegetables.

Children need liberal amounts of vitamin A for the best growth. When an optimum amount is consumed the general health of children and adults is improved.

Vitamin D is also present in butterfat. Vitamin D acts as an adjuster in depositing minerals, calcium and phosphorus in the bony tissues of the body. When vitamin D is lacking, these minerals are improperly deposited and faulty bone structure results. This condition which is rather common to children is known as rickets.

While vitamin D is not present naturally in large quantities in foods, Dr. H. C. Sherman, Columbia University, says, "The presence of important amounts of vitamin D in common food stuffs, such as whole milk and butterfat, should not be minimized."

SECOND CORN-HOG PAYMENT MADE, TOTAL $85,000.00

Checks Arrived Sunday and Are Being Distributed; Final Payment in February.

The sum of $80,000, which is important money at any time of year but especially just before Christmas, is being distributed among 870 corn-hog contract signers in Valley county this week. Agricultural Agent C. Dale and members of the corn-hog allotment committee—Marion Cushing, Don Round and Arthur Mensing, has charge of the distribution.

About $47,000, part of the second payment due on corn-hog contracts, arrived in the form of government checks Sunday and by the next morning signers began claiming their checks. The balance of Valley county's second payment money, about $33,000, is expected before Saturday.

According to a radio announcement Monday, Valley county was the first county in Nebraska to receive second payment checks. If this is true, Charles Arnold was the first Nebraskan to receive his check for early Monday morning he appeared in the farm bureau office and was handed a check for $43.20 Agent Dale.

The first corn-hog payment, was made several months ago. Checks being distributed this week were due December 1 but were somewhat delayed. The next and final payment is due February 15 but probably will not be made until March 1 or later.

A total of 1,252 checks will be distributed by the local committee from second payment funds. These checks represent payment at the rate of $1 per head on hogs and approximately 14 1/2 cents per bushel on corn. Local expenses of the corn reduction program were deducted from corn payments, these expenses being approximately .86 of a cent per bushel.

The final payment due February 15 will be $2 per head on hogs less local expenses, which will complete Valley county's participation in dividends accruing from the 1934 reduction program.

Signing of contracts for 1935 will begin in January, local committees say.

2-Cent Tax on Bank Checks To Be Off

Effective Jan. 1, the 2-cent tax on bank checks will be removed, announces George W. O'Malley, collector of internal revenue for Nebraska. Local bankers expect little change in the use of checks as the result of lifting of this tax. Some business houses which have been paying employes and minor accounts in cash will undoubtedly go back to checks, they say. The same thing will apply to individuals to some extent, particularly in paying bills. Depositors with small accounts are not expected to change their methods of doing business. Most of them are affected by the 3c service charge on checks.

Sportsmen Aroused Over Deer Shooting

The finding of a dead deer in a pasture north of Taylor recently has aroused the indignation of sportsmen of Loup and Garfield counties. The animal, a five-pointed buck belonging to a small herd that has long inhabited the headwaters of the Calamus and has been protected by farmers and sportsmen, was shot through the neck with a rifle. Evidently the wound did not prove fatal immediately and the deer escaped, only to die later.

There is a heavy fine for shooting deer in Nebraska and indignant ranchmen of the Calamus country might make it pretty uncomfortable for the person who shot this deer if his identity becomes known, the Burwell Tribune intimates.

DON'T FORGET.

Just an even fifty farmers have promised us their subscription payments when their corn-hog checks came. The checks are now here and we trust they will not forget.

THE ORD QUIZ

MRS. D. B. SMITH DIES SATURDAY; ILL TEN MONTHS

Another Pioneer Woman Heeds
Final Call; Came to Valley
Co. in Lumber Wagon.

Mrs. Daniel B. Smith, who came to Valley county in 1883, passed away at her home in Ord Saturday, Dec. 16, after a confining illness of ten months' duration. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday at 2:00 p. m. and interment was in Ord cemetery beside her husband, who died in June, 1932.

Mrs. Smith, the former Martha Jane Williams, was born in Cedar county, Missouri on April 22, 1855 and when death occurred Saturday she was 79 years, 7 months and 23 days old.

Coming to Nebraska with her parents in 1863 she grew to young womanhood in Nemaha county and on March 4, 1874 was married to Daniel B. Smith at Glenrock, Nebr. Her husband, a native of Indiana had come to Nebraska a few years before.

In 1883, on account of Mrs. Smith's poor health, they moved to Valley county, making the journey here in a lumber wagon and settling immediately on 160 acres of railway land a few miles west of Ord, which they later purchased. They also bought 160 acres adjoining and lived on this half-section farm until 1905, when they bought a farm across the river east of Ord. This place, now occupied by the Ewet Smith family, was their home until they moved to Ord.

Eleven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Smith, two preceding their mother in death. Left to mourn are Ebel Hoyt and Myrtle Thompson, Arcadia; Rev. Charles Smith, St. Paul, Minn.; Lottie Friend, Hastings; Nina Keasey, Dora Moines, Ia.; Evet Smith, Dora Hallock, Minnie Hardenbrook and Miss Mamie Smith, Ord. Mrs. Smith also leaves seventeen grandchildren, nine great grandchildren, three sisters, two brothers, and other relatives and a host of friends.

Her husband, who was one of Valley county's most successful farmers and stock raisers, passed away as result of a heart attack in June, 1932. It was the first illness he had in seventy-eight years of life. Mr. Smith was influential and highly esteemed and his wife, always a kind-hearted and neighborly woman, a good wife and tender mother, was a worthy help-meet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith were prominent members of the Methodist church, the latter having been affiliated with this church for sixty-four years. She was a devout worker and faithful attendant until prevented by failing health.

Rev. Mearl C. Smith of the Ord Methodist church conducted the obsequies Monday afternoon, which were attended by a host of Mrs. Smith's Ord friends as well as former neighbors of the two farming communities where she had lived. Several relatives and friends were here from Arcadia and North Loup also.

Funeral services were held at R. J. Clark, R. C. Greenfield, R. C. Bailey, S. W. Roe, Val Pullen and C. A. Hager. A quartet composed of Mrs. Mark Tolen, Mrs. E. O. Carlson, J. R. Stoltz and Glen D. Auble sang. Madams R. O. Hunter and Robert Noll had charge of the flowers.

Rev. D. C. Williamson Suffers Broken Leg

Tuesday evening as he was milking a cow Rev. D. C. Williamson was the victim of an accident that will confine him to bed for several weeks. He was kicked by the cow and his right leg broken, both bones being fractured between the ankle and knee. After kicking him the cow stood on his body for several minutes until his cries for assistance were heard.

Rev. Williamson was brought to the Ord Hospital and Dr. C. J. Miller reduced the fractures. Since retiring from the Presbyterian pastorate in Ord Rev. Williamson and his family have been living on a farm in the Midvale neighborhood.

Ord Mail Carrier Has Nerve Attack

Lyle McBeth, rural mail carrier on an Ord route since 1924, has been in poor health for some time and last week suffered a nervous breakdown which has necessitated his taking a vacation. Vernon Andersen is substituting as carrier. Sunday Mr. McBeth accompanied his brother-in-law, P. J. Melia, to Omaha for rest and medical attention. Mrs. McBeth, who is recovering from a serious illness, is being cared for at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Meese, during his absence.

—Joe Novosad was in Omaha Sunday and Monday.

Will Judge Xmas Decorations In Ord Friday

Ord people whose homes are decorated for Christmas and who desire to be considered in the Chamber of Commerce-City Light Department $35 prize contest, are requested to have decorations lighted between the hours of 7:00 and 10:00 p. m. Friday, Dec. 21, during which period the judging will be done. Judges will drive up and down every street in Ord to view decorations. Names of prize winners will be announced Christmas eve.

The store decorations and lighting will be judged Saturday evening during regular business hours, the committee announces.

If you have not yet decorated your home there is still plenty of time and your home will be considered for the prizes if decorations are in place by 7:00 tomorrow night.

Ord's decorations, both in business and residential districts, are the prettiest this year they have ever been. By all means pay a visit to Ord some evening during the holiday season and see the most beautiful Christmas city in the entire Loup valley region.

GOV'T RECGNIZES FEED SHORTAGE, FODDER ORDERED

Farmers in 4 Classes May Buy
Thru Commissary in Effort
To Ease Situation.

The great difficulty which many farmers in this area are having in finding feed for their livestock has been recognized by the government and the State Emergency Relief Administration has received authority from Washington to handle feed for farmers who are not on relief.

Immediately upon receipt of this information, County Agent C. C. Dale ordered 1,000 tons of corn fodder which will go into storage at the fair grounds.

At the present time the feeds which others may buy is limited to corn, cottonseed cake and corn fodder.

The following classes are listed as those who may buy this government feed: 1. Drouth relief clients. 2. Rehabilitation clients. 3. Installment borrowers from the Farm Credit Administration. (emergency loans). 4. Independent farmers who are limited in their financial ability to buy.

Classes "one" and "two" are at present working under definite rulings from the Relief Administration. There will be no change in the method of handling their purchases.

Those farmers who are borrowing from FCA for feed for livestock and whose monthly allotment is not in excess of $75.00 will be permitted to buy from the commissary in an amount not to exceed $25.00 per unit and in no instance to exceed $50.00 per month. This class of farmers will be permitted to buy corn fodder in any form that it may be carried by the commissaries, cotton cake and corn. The purchaser who wishes to buy from the commissary will report to the county drouth committee and secure a permit to purchase.

Those purchasers who come under class "four" will make application to the county drouth committee and will leave this committee an inventory of their livestock and feed on hand. Permits to purchase will be issued by the committee at the rate of $25.00 per unit, and not to exceed twenty units, $50.00, per month. Purchasers in this class should be asked to conform as nearly as possible to the requirements of FCA borrowers in the kind of livestock they retain on their farms. Preference must be given to those who are maintaining breeding stock and farm subsistence butcher stock. Purchasers of this class will be permitted to buy corn fodder in any form that it may be carried by the commissary, cotton cake and corn.

The Farmers Grain & Supply Company is the local commissary and purchases will be made by farmers through this organization, after receiving permits from the county agent's office.

Mrs. Wardner Green Dead.

Mrs. Wardner Green, passed away on Wednesday, Dec. 12, at her home in Woodlake, Calif., said a message received Thursday by her daughter, Mrs. Ray Cook, of Ord. She had been in critical condition for some weeks. Her husband died in November and the body was brought to North Loup for burial, the family having lived in that community many years. It is probable that Mrs. Green's body will be brought here for burial also.

FRANK ZABLOUDIL HURT MONDAY AS TRAIN HITS CAR

C. R. Blakeslee, Arcadia, Also In Wreck Near Aurora; Both
Expected to Recover.

Frank Zabloudil, 63-year-old Ord real estate dealer, and C. R. Blakeslee, 35, a farmer of the Arcadia community, were seriously injured Monday morning when their automobile collided with the second engine of a double-header Burlington freight train near Aurora. The men were enroute to Lincoln on a business deal.

Zabloudil suffered several broken ribs near his spine and injuries to both knees, one knee cap being broken. Blakeslee had an injured head, nose and arm and his knees were also hurt severely. The men left Ord at about 5:00 a. m. Monday and the accident occurred about 8:00. A heavy fog is reported in eastern Nebraska Monday and this is thought to have been responsible for the accident. The men were in Blakeslee's car, a light sedan, and Blakeslee was driving. They were not going very fast when they struck the train, which neither man saw until a split second before the collision. The car was wrecked.

Ord relatives received word of the accident about noon Monday, when a telegram was received by Wm. Zabloudil, brother of Frank. He notified Frank's son Louis, and his daughter, Mrs. Joe Skoll, who left for Aurora Monday afternoon. Zabloudil and Blakeslee were picked up by a truck driver and taken to an Aurora hospital where doctors gave emergency treatment. Both men are reported to have been unconscious for some time after the accident. Doctors said Tuesday that both will in all probability recover.

Several other Ord firms are cooperating with Mr. Petska by giving coal, flour, furniture, groceries, etc. All kiddies up to 10 years of age are invited but Mr. and Mrs. Petska are especially anxious to entertain children who might not otherwise have a Christmas tree and presents on Christmas eve. If Quiz readers know of any such kiddies Mr. Petska will appreciate it if they will convey his invitation.

Mrs. Fafetta Injured.

That Mrs. Frank Fafetta, sr., suffered painful burns on her hands last week was the word received by her son, Frank Fafetta, jr., of Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Fafetta, sr., are spending the winter in Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Fafetta burned her hands on the oven of a gas stove.

Shipping Turkeys to Market in Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hohn, who live west of Ord, and Carol Miller, of Garfield county, have found a new and more profitable method of selling the turkeys they raised this summer and fall. They are dressing the birds and shipping them direct to a Chicago commission firm and thereby are getting a premium price for the turkeys, much more than they would get by selling on the local market. Just before Thanksgiving they shipped a large number of birds, and now that the Christmas trade is on they are again shipping. Monday 50 were shipped, Tuesday another consignment of 50 went out and they plan to ship again later in the week. In dressing turkeys for shipment in this manner the head and some feathers are left on, the head is tied in a paper sack and the bird is chilled for a certain number of hours before shipping. If weather conditions are favorable the Hohns and Mr. Miller hope to raise even more turkeys next year than this.

May Have Bridge Tourney.

Plans are being made to hold a contract bridge tournament in Ord in the near future, possibly on Sunday, Jan. 6, though the date and place will be definitely announced next week. This will be an invitation tournament limited to Valley county players only. It is hoped that a seven-table match using the Howell movement can be played. Contract players are asked to watch for final announcement next week and be prepared to register promptly.

Cream Producers Protest $3 Feed Allowance, Ask $6

Stockholders of the Ord Co-operative Creamery company, in annual session here last Thursday, passed a resolution protesting against the government's feed loan allowance of $3.00 per month per cow and recommended that this loan be raised to $6.00. A dairy cow will eat 600 pounds of alfalfa per month and alfalfa at current prices is worth $22.50 per ton, it was pointed out, or almost $8 per month. Dairymen believe they may get by if allowed $6.00 per month for feed but say it is utterly impossible to do so now with only $3.00.

Dist. 44 School Program.

The Pioneer school, Dist. 44, will give a Christmas program at 7:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 21, and the public is cordially invited by the pupils and teacher, Floryan R. Karty. Dist. 44 school has a new building this year and patrons who have not inspected it are urged to do so tomorrow night while attending this program.

SATURDAY 'DUCK DAY' IN ORD, 100 TO BE AWARDED

Silver Strike Committee Will Give Fowls Instead of Cash
At Weekly Drawing.

Discontinuing the giving of cash prizes as has been the custom for several weeks, the Silver Strike committee has decided to distribute from 75 to 100 ducks at the weekly drawing on the court house steps Saturday afternoon of this week. As many tickets will be drawn as there are ducks to be given away. Nobody will be given more than one duck and if a name is drawn twice another coupon will be drawn in its place. Names of the lucky people will be posted on a bulletin board at the court house.

Last Saturday's free coffee and cookies proved popular and hundreds took advantage of this Silver Strike treat after attending the prize drawing. All Silver Strike events have been enjoyable and have attracted large crowds to Ord but the "duck day" Saturday should eclipse other events in popular interest.

Come to Ord Saturday afternoon and get your Christmas day fowl free.

Boyce Must Face Horse Theft Charge

Arrested at Omaha Friday, Hubert Boyce was returned to Ord Saturday evening by Deputy Sheriff Archie Keep and today in district court here will face a horse stealing charge filed against him by County Attorney Munn. Judge Ernest Kroger of Grand Island will visit Ord to hear the case and pass sentence.

Boyce, often in trouble with the law, decamped a few weeks ago with a horse belonging to a relative, Fred Boyce. He brought the horse to Ord and sold it to Low Herzgryn and with the proceeds purchased a car from the Auble Motor company, promptly leaving Ord.

From here he went to Omaha and then into Iowa where he secured a job on a farm. He is alleged to have appropriated a cow, two sows and a trailer belonging to his employer and sold the proceeds in Omaha. He also traded the car bought from Auble for another one and sold that, which was another law violation as he had not finished paying for the car bought from Auble.

Boyce was arrested by Omaha officers and held until Deputy Sheriff Keep came after him. He has indicated that he will plead guilty today and if so will be sentenced to serve from one to ten years in the penitentiary. The young man has previously served time in the state reformatory and in the Valley county jail on no-fund check charges.

Brown Divorce Case Attracts Attention

The case in which Edgar Brown of Grand Island, is suing for divorce, is attracting much attention, not only in Grand Island but in Ord and other Loup valley towns where both are well known. Before he became president of the Brown Fruit company Mr. Brown for years came to Ord every week as a grocery salesman. Mrs. Brown also has made frequent visits to Ord. Claude A. Davis, formerly of Ord, is Mr. Brown's attorney and his wife is represented by Harold A. Prince.

ATTENTION, FARMERS.

We will have a general meeting Saturday, Dec. 22 at 1:30 p. m. at the court house. The annual report will be given and other important business attended to. Valley County Feed and Produce Ass'n.

CO-OP CREAMERY PAYS OUT $4,955 IN 2ND DIVIDEND

3c Per Lb. Paid on Business of
Last Half of 1934; Future
Looks Bright to Coe.

The Ord Co-operative Creamery company, for eight years a dividend-producer for the farmers who patronize it, climaxed its record of success last Thursday by distributing $4,955 in patronage dividends, this being the second such dividend paid during 1934. At the same time the company paid $1,842.80 interest to stockholders. The Ord creamery's success in the face of drouth and depression is very satisfying to patrons and stockholders and is a real tribute to the efficiency of its officers, directors and employees.

Early in June, 1934, the company distributed a mid-year dividend aggregating $6,400, on the basis of 3-1-2 cents on each pound of butter-fat bought during the first six months of its fiscal year. The dividend payment made Friday was at the rate of 3c per pound on butterfat bought between June 1 and Nov. 30. Thus it will be seen that the company paid out in patronage dividends in 1934 a total of $11,355, besides paying top price for butter-fat at all times.

The Ord creamery has been remarkably successful since its organization eight years ago. When the company started operations it owed $4,600, which has since been retired. In the eight years of its operation $13,645 in interest has been paid to stockholders, $103,169.35 in patronage dividends, a surplus fund of $8,856.28 has been built up, the sum of $10,485.29 has been charged off for depreciation, extensive improvements have been made and paid for at the plant and a additional property has been bought in anticipation of future expansion.

In his annual report read at the meeting Friday, Fred W. Coe, manager ever since the creamery's organization, revealed lively prospects of improvement in cream production and prices within a few months. "As we look into the future we see the light of returning prosperity which will put money into the pockets of our butter-buying customers, the wage earner and the general public," Mr. Coe said. The sideline dairymen, profits from his milking activities curtailed, has gone back to his grain farming; there will be fewer cows on spring pastures than for many years past and among them will be many poorly-wintered cows that will not produce heavily in 1935; each year dairymen are culling their herds more closely, particularly so this winter when high feed prices make elimination of low-producing cows necessary; butterfat producers are taking better care of their equipment and producing cream that will make higher score butter, which will bring a higher price. All of these factors are bound to improve conditions for dairymen who succeed in taking care of their cows throughout this winter, Coe believes.

He sees hope in the fact that butterfat at present is worth 26c per pound, a great improvement over the all-time low price of 10c per pound in 1933, but admits that cream producers must lose money even at present prices because feed costs are so high. The average price paid by the Ord creamery throughout 1934, dividend included, was 23.6 cents per pound, an advance of 4c per pound over the average price paid in 1933.

The most favorable connection for sale of butter it has ever had, the manager said. In March, 1934, arrangements were made to sell the excess output of the Ord creamery to a New York firm selling to the Jewish trade. This butter is made without salt or coloring matter and, by agreement, is accepted at a premium price by the New York firm. Shipping with the Loup City creamery to gain advantage in freight rates on carload shipments has also been beneficial.

The drouth of 1934 resulted in 82,000 pounds less butter being manufactured in Ord than the year before, Coe said. A total of 452,273 pounds was made, of which about 360,000 pounds was shipped east, the balance being consumed locally.

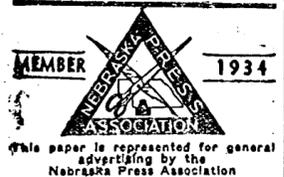

Considering all conditions, the creamery's record was most satisfactory in every respect. Principal business at the meeting Thursday, aside from listening to reports of the manager, the secretary and treasurer and an auditor's report, was election of directors. The terms of P. E. Pockock, C. M. Davis and Charles Clochon had expired and stockholders voted to reelect all three. The board of directors will meet some time this month to elect officers. A. W. Cornell is president and presided at the meeting Thursday.

"NOT CONTROVERSIAL"
Is the Grand Island Independent relenting? Has Editor Buechler gone soft? No other explanation can be given for the fulsome praise of the North and Middle Loup projects contained in an editorial note in the Independent Friday evening. These projects have never been considered "controversial" the Independent admitted, and "were not, therefore, included in that exclusion (referring to the Nebraska State Irrigation association's resolution) by indifference."

The North and Middle Loup projects must possess merit indeed when the Independent graciously admits they are not considered "controversial." Next thing we know Mr. Buechler will be conceding us the right to produce a little electricity to go along with our irrigation—enough, say, to supply our own valleys and all cities of over 50,000 population located in the sandhills region within 25 miles of Comstock or Burwell. Such concession wouldn't curtail seriously the market already allotted by Mr. Buechler to the Sutherland and Columbus projects—half the state to each.

THE LIQUOR PROBLEM
The most important problem confronting the Nebraska legislature this winter will be the problem of legalizing liquor and setting up regulations to govern its sale. By a majority of 120,000, Nebraskans voted in favor of liquor at the November election and therefore it is mandatory for the legislature to adopt some form of liquor control. What form that control shall take is the legislature's problem.

Omaha, naturally, will attempt through its large representation in house and senate to secure as wide-open a system as possible. Legislators from other parts of the state are expected to oppose wide-open sale and it is strongly probable that some form of state sale will be adopted, although Governor-Elect Cochran is said to oppose putting the state in the liquor business.

Valley county's veteran representative, Marlon J. Cushing, is an ardent dry and can be counted on to exert every effort toward securing a decent system of control. Alvin Blessing, also a dry, is said to favor sale of liquor by the state along lines similar to the Iowa system. He can be trusted to work in the senate for a control system that will keep the sale and use of booze within decent limits.

A hundred different systems have been proposed and each will have its advocates. Nebraska legislators are fortunate in that they have the opportunity to inspect the thirty different control systems in operation the past year in the thirty states that legalized liquor early in 1934. From consideration of these systems it should be possible to select and adopt the best.

TO BROADCAST OR NOT.
And still the battle about whether or not the University of Nebraska should be compelled to permit broadcasts of football games at Lincoln is raging. Most of the daily papers are backing the athletic department in its stand against broadcasting, but a few weeklies have taken an opposite viewpoint. Which permits this out-state editor to add his voice to the clamor.

Personally, we would like to have the games broadcast. We always enjoy listening to them, being a football fan and unable to make the long trip to Lincoln more than once or twice each fall. But in our judgment, it has been conclusively proved that broadcasting injures attendance greatly and, since the university athletic department is not tax-supported, it would be an injustice to compel broadcast of games.

Many misconceptions exist and much false information is being disseminated in regard to the financial status of athletics at the University of Nebraska. It is a fact, however, that the athletic department gets not one cent of tax money. The stadium was built by contributions from alumni, plus earnings of football, and the coliseum, a $600,000 structure, is being paid for entirely out of the earnings of football and other athletics.

Football, in most seasons, is an immensely profitable business at the University of Nebraska. On the other hand, basketball, track, swimming, golf, tennis and other sports are not self-supporting. To maintain these sports the athletic department is forced to dip into the earnings of the football team. Therefore, if football should cease to become profitable the entire sports program would be sadly handicapped. Might even have to be abandoned.

Only two Big Six schools, Nebraska and Iowa State, had increased football attendance this fall. Neither permitted broadcasting. Kansas State, with a conference championship team, permitted broadcasting and had a smaller attendance at home games than in 1933. Oklahoma, with a colorful team, permitted broadcasting and suffered a slump in gate receipts. Few of the larger universities permit their games to be broadcast unless it is done over a nation-wide hook-up, in which event it is figured that advertising the school receives compensates for loss of gate receipts. Certain it is that not a single Big Six school will allow its games to be broadcast in 1935 unless forced to do so by misguided action on the part of state legislatures.

It would be nice to have the Cornhusker games broadcast. We would enjoy it as much as anybody. But until the coliseum is paid for, until a surplus is built up to assure financial security for all university athletics for a period of years, we suggest that university authorities be allowed to settle the question without interference from the press, influential alumni or the state legislature.

My Own Column
By H. D. LEGGETT

The Quiz mechanical force join me in wishing you all a Merry Christmas.

If you would like to send the Quiz for a year, to some loved one as a Christmas gift, you may do so by paying $1 of the price now and the other $1 in the middle of the year. I will notify you at that time. I don't believe you could select a gift that would be more appreciated. If we start the paper with the issue of the 22nd it will arrive about Christmas.

The boys in the back office have had the automatic press running steadily on the calendars since Thursday morning and this is written Saturday afternoon and Harry says he will have the press work done some time Monday. The cover was printed last week and one color on the inside sheets was also run. It was the last run on the inside sheets that started this week Thursday. I am trying desperately to get the calendars mailed to all who are not in arrears before Christmas this year and it looks now as though I would make it. I think it is going to be the nicest calendar we have ever issued.

Making the Quiz Cook calendar is more of a job than many of you would imagine. There are 2500 calendars being made. With the cover it makes a 13-page calendar. The cover has to go through 3 presses 4 times and the other 12 pages each have to go through 3 times, making a total of 72 impressions on the press for each calendar or a total for the job of 180 thousand impressions. The press runs at a speed of about 1800 sheets per hour. After the printing is done the sheets must be gathered into a calendar and stapled, then bound, then trimmed. And a hole is punched in the top so it may be hung or strung on a ring with the calendars that have been issued before.

The Cook Calendar is one of the largest pieces of commercial printing that the Quiz shop handles each year. When we get done this year we will know just what the cost per calendar is, but we know it is somewhere between 30c and 50c. When your calendar is mailed the words "35 Calendar" will be stamped on your card, so we will have a record. If it is not delivered to you we will get it back, as return postage is guaranteed by the Quiz. We hope your subscription is paid in advance so you will be sure to get a calendar.

Fred Howard, Frank Edgcombe and Art Brown all have sprigs of mistletoe hung over their desk chairs.

County Commissioner Ball says there is no truth in that story Lloyd Benjamin is telling on him.

I have received 2 of the pink envelopes the past few days, one from North Loup and one from Comstock, each with a dollar bill and one of our subscription notice cards, but no name to tell who sent the money and I cannot give credit. Will these parties at each place, please advise me at once, so I can give credit and send receipt. And will everyone who sends subscription money be sure to put their name in the envelope or on the outside, in the future.

If all forms of taxation could be replaced by a general sales tax it might be easier for all of us to pay our taxes. Of course we would pay more for goods but it would be paid a little at a time and possibly we would not feel it like we do when we have to dig up a lot of money at one time. On the other hand a lot of people who have to buy goods but who pay no taxes, would bear their share of the tax burden. The question is, should people who have no property to be taxed, help pay the cost of government? I wish a half dozen Valley county people would discuss this question in the public quiz column.

"Business back to 1931 level, experts find," is the big scare head on a story a few days ago in the Lincoln Star, and written by a New York Associated Press writer. That may be true in New York and if the experts have gotten business back that good in the east, I wish they would come out and jack my business up about fourteen thousand dollars for that is what it is going to be in 1934 behind 1931.

Alvin Blessing says he always wondered why there were so many foot loafs and so many of them, and now he knows. Since being elected to the legislature, he says dozens or hundreds of people have approached him, and each and every one has a pet proposition or two they urge above all others. "If I introduced a fourth of them, even, you'd be surprised what a raft there would be. It is simply impossible to please everyone and make all their favorite theories up into laws," declares Mr. Blessing.

Incidentally, Mr. Blessing's hosts of friends . . . and he does have hosts of friends, as proved by his enormous vote at the polls . . . are worrying about him. He has not been at all well lately though receiving the best of care at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Edwin Clements.

The Quiz, in conjunction with dozens of other friends, hopes for Mr. Blessing's Christmas present a return to his former good health. What could make a happier gift? ooo

Bob Noll had such a beautifully decorated front porch and yard one other Christmas, was it last year? Kind of a lattice of lights. I have heard two or three wonder if he was going to eclipse the rainbow that-a-way again this year?

Ord is a night-time fairland, when the colored lights flash on everywhere. Isn't it charming? And say, have you seen the Quiz Office itself in person. It is so attractive at night. Give the Big Boss credit for it . . . a community minded fellow if there ever was one. He gets behind all the progressive ideas of this town, and boosts and works like a kid for a new red wagon.

Give H. D. a little credit. He'd never grab it for himself. ooo

If this same snow hangs around, it isn't going to be a white Christmas . . . it is going to be a gray Christmas. ooo

A dandy idea is that of the Ord Business and Professional Women's group. In place of exchanging names and small gifts for one another, each lady is dressing a doll to give to a child who otherwise might not have one. I saw some of them, cute little dolls they were, too. ooo

And how about eating on Christmas? Have you done anything to insure some poorer family a nice meal that day? I don't see how you can enjoy giving expensive toys and gifts with a clear conscience if you haven't. Don't you know someone to help? —Irma.

BACK FORTY

No one has passed through last summer without repeated reminders of that vital necessity of life—water. Perhaps we appreciate more fully than ever before the importance of water supply, both as rainfall and as a tremendous unsequestered quantity held in storage underground.

Farmers can have water tested absolutely free of charge. Our State Department of Health, State Capitol Building, Lincoln, will make tests, and even furnish special containers upon request. Only the postage must be paid. The old saying, "You never miss the water 'till the well runs dry," was appropriate on many Nebraska farms last summer. Low water levels also increased the danger of contamination. Country children are no longer any healthier than city children. Many cases of typhoid and other illnesses traceable to water have developed after vacations in the country. Seepage, surface drainage, faulty platforms, presence of poultry, pigs, etc., are some of the sources of danger. No one intentionally maintains such a hazard for visitors or members of the family. A careful checkup on the old well may save doctor bills.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Here is a pumpkin pie recipe that is a little different, it has cornstarch in it. If you don't agree with Mrs. Cornell on this point, the thing to do is to mail in your idea of the best way to make pumpkin pie, and tell the folks about it!

Combine one cup cooked, sliced pumpkin with two cups milk, two beaten eggs, one cup sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger. Pour into pie shell and bake.

Mrs. Will Cornell, Broken Bow. Old Fashioned Fruit Cake. Use one pound of flour which has been browned, one pound of butter, one pound of sugar, one-fourth pound candied orange peel, three pounds seeded raisins, two pounds currants, one pound figs, one pound dates, one pound prunes, stewed, one pound walnuts, one pound candied cherries, one dozen eggs, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon nutmeg, one teaspoon cinnamon, one pint imitation brandy or fruit juice, one cup molasses, one glass plum or currant jelly, two and one-half teaspoons soda in a little hot water, one-half teaspoon salt, mix the same as any other cake, adding more flour if required. Bake two and one-half hours in a very slow oven. By making half the recipe you get about nine pounds of fruit cake.

Uncooked Fruit Cake. Mix one package of orange flavored gelatin with three-fourths cup sugar, add two cups boiling water, and set aside to cool. Cook one cup of seedless raisins in a very small amount of water until they are soft, and when cool add them to the gelatine, along with one cup chopped dates, three-fourths cup currants, one and one-fourth cups nuts, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon cloves. Pour into a ring mold and chill. Slice as you would fruit cake and serve with whipped cream.

Mrs. H. M. Grady. Unbaked Fruit Cake. Mix well two pounds dates cut fine, two pounds raisins, one medium orange cut fine, one-half pound citron, one pound walnuts, one-half pound candied cherries, ten or twelve slices of orange candy. Put a heavy weight on top of it and leave in a cold room.

Mrs. Arnold Bredthauer. Eggless Fruit Cake. Boil for three minutes, one cup raisins, one cup sugar, one-half cup strong coffee, a pinch of salt, butter the size of an egg, one-half teaspoon each of cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and allspice. Let cool. Then add: two and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon of baking powder, after sifting them together twice. Also one cup chopped nuts, and one teaspoon soda dissolved in a little hot water. Bake in a slow oven for forty minutes.

Agnes Lehecka. I received several other nice recipes which will appear soon. I like to print them in season if possible, and for that reason hurried the fruit cakes all in this week.

The above is the form of petition used when someone wanted to start a saloon in Ord. Attached to the petition was an affidavit that it had been published as required by law in the Ord Quiz and Oscar L. May signed the affidavit as foreman of the Quiz shop. A. J. Shirley was city clerk at the time and filed the paper. This all happened in 1911 and much more than half of the 25 freeholders in the third ward whose names are attached to the above petition, are dead or moved away. The file was laid on the window sill at the Norris shoe shop recently and found by Mr. Norris. It is possibly of interest now because it may not be long until we will again be having the same kind of petitions circulated and signed for good moral citizens who want to run saloons.

"Spread net for dope ring big shots in Omaha" is the headline in the Omaha newspapers Tuesday. Seems to me they should have spread the net and kept still about it until the gang was caught, if they really wanted to get the big shots. If the future can be judged by the past a few of the little shots will be caught and fined and the big shots will get away.

Chain grocery outfits in New York City have closed eighty of their stores because they cannot make them pay. This put two hundred out of work. So the labor union to which the men belong propose to strike and thus close two hundred other stores and put several hundred other workers out of a job. Sounds reasonable don't it? My idea of the Union is that it would have everyone who works join the union and support it, give the workers all short hours and little work and big wages. The only trouble with that program is that no business man can invest his money in a business and make a profit or even hold the money together, with the Union dictating.

INTestinal CONSTIPATION. Evacuation involves muscle movement. Muscles are controlled by the nervous system. Poor control may bring about cessation of muscle action or irregular action. We have already pointed out that the intestinal muscles may fail to respond because of lack of stimulation of the nerve endings in the lining of the intestines.

Nerve control may not only be regulated locally but also from the central nervous system. Depression of the central nervous system may therefore account for constipation. Such is the case in people who are neurasthenics and hypochondriacs, or insane. Shock and worry may also cause constipation.

Inhibition of nerve action may be reflex in origin. Symptoms of painful disease in the abdominal or pelvic organs other than the intestines may lead to constipation. This cause explains constipation in appendicitis, in diseases of the stomach and of the duodenum, in diseases of the gall bladder and in the diseases involving the genital organs.

Constipation may also be due to obstruction to the passage of feces. This obstruction may be the result of the formation of hard dry feces caused by insufficient consumption of water or by the excessive loss of water that may occur in very sultry weather. Obstruction may also be due to the narrowing of the intestinal lumen as a result of the formation of strictures. Organic strictures are most commonly due to cancer. Non-malignant or benign strictures are rare. They may be due to intestinal tuberculosis or dysenteric ulceration.

Constipation may be due to kinks in the intestine. Kinking is a very unusual cause. Constipation may be due to viscerospasm, which is a falling or sagging of the organs in the abdomen.

Care of The County Board Ord, Nebr.

Dear Uncle Jake: "I am beginning to think you and Arnold shipping cattle on the same day is more than a co-incident," quoth Agent I. J. Thelin, as we were signing the contracts. "I hardly believe it is safe for you two to go together."

Arnold and I agreed it would be worth fifty cents a hundred to be able to ship cattle the same day.

And then I J. commented on how the railroads had been operating the entire year so they could be used when it stormed. And more about when this branch is abandoned, and the truckers are all that is left, the price would automatically raise along with the taxes. But the railroad did not give as good service, in that we did not arrive in South Omaha until after two-thirty, at which time all those sinuous girls don their wraps and leave the taverns dim and quiet.

Along with the many other enjoyments incident to going to Omaha with Arnold or Oscar, they always have a keen sense of knowing exactly where to eat. They not only make it a point of filling their paunches at that particular meal, but also remember to have a few shekels jingling in their pockets for the next.

At noon Arnold escorted me to a restaurant where I think a hundred men were dining. The place was foaming over with patronage. We had to wait for a seat. When our dinners were served (Arnold took the spare ribs and I took the round) I wondered if there could be any meat left off the critter for the next man. The trimmings were in proportion. I couldn't finish my meal. Arnold did, but I took special notice he did not call for an extra piece of pie.

An old saloon counter was used to pay on. While we stood there, picking our teeth, marveling at the seating business, a couple of men asked the cashier about some whiskey. He reached under the counter unabashed, picked up a quart, explained its age and good quality, and sold it to them for $1.25. I have a faint recollection 3.2 beer is all that is legal to sell, but I must be wrong.

In the evening we were at North Omaha at supper time and I was taken to a place where we could have all we could eat for 27c, the only restriction being one meat order and one pie order. Extra dishes of vegetables, sauces, salads, pastries, coffee with no extra charge. So glutinous was I that I could not eat all I took.

We attended a worthless show in the evening. I told Arnold I felt burnt to pay a quarter to let someone try to make me weep. I have had enough sadness lately, feeding cattle and hogs, without the hypothetical. And those clinches. It wouldn't have been so bad if we had not been only the kibitzers.

The party dresses worn by the actresses hark back to when my mother was sweet sixteen. If one of the gowns had been donned just before the party, and the wearer would make a chase about the room, I am sure the trouble of dust mopping might be dispensed with. I finally concluded these dresses were either about four feet too long, or the suspenders had slipped. At any rate, if the ladies would cut a hunk off from the train and cape it over the shoulders, we modest fellows would be more at ease at least.

On the train coming home we saw a very beautiful woman with a fur coat. It was pretty cold that night and Arnold said the fur coat looked better to him than the woman. Right there is the trouble with Arnold. He is too practical.

Very respectfully,
Geo. G.

Card of Thanks. To our many friends and relatives we wish to express our sincere thanks for your sympathy and help at the death of our dear mother and grandmother and for the many floral offerings.

DR. RICH says:

Fear keeps a lot of people from having their rectal trouble cured intelligently and quickly. One reason is that rectal diseases are sometimes very painful. Additional suffering is therefore feared. Another reason is that a great many who come to me for a cure have been previously treated and badly hurt. That helps to keep them away.

No such fear should be apprehended if you come to me for your cure. The treatment is different. An experience of more than thirty years doing just one thing is your assurance that you will not be hurt here. Consider now the new year that will mean so much to all of us. Be well. Porcupine's Tooth Gives

More Trouble Than Quill

Because of their quills, porcupines have always attracted much interest, says the United States Department of Agriculture. To the farmer or timber owner, however, the teeth of these animals are far more important than the quills. In the late summer, fall and winter, porcupines in their efforts to get at the inner layer of bark of young trees often girdle them, causing serious injury, sometimes killing the trees. Porcupines also sometimes damage cultivated crops, chiefly during spring and summer. At this time they may destroy young fruit trees or feed upon alfalfa and truck crops.

Contrary to popular notion, porcupine quills are not shot by the animal. They are, however, sharp and finely barbed, and occasionally live stock and game animals are injured by them.

In areas where these animals increase greatly they may become injurious, in which case control measures are necessary. This is true particularly in the West where the yellow-haired porcupine often does considerable damage to pine trees. Where porcupines occur in small numbers and are not seriously destructive, naturalists of the bureau of biological survey say they should not be molested.

Powdered Skim Milk Is Made With Huge Rollers

The manufacture of powdered skim milk is a simple process, yet one requiring great care in operation. Briefly, the skim milk is allowed to fall at a specified rate down into the trough made by two steel rollers. The rollers are hollow drums perhaps 4 feet in diameter and heated by steam to a high temperature. The rollers meet so closely only a thin film of milk passes between, and this film, in the course of three-quarters of a revolution, becomes dried into a paper-like sheet which is scraped off by knives before the roller passes more into the pool of milk. The sheet resembles parchment, but is not so stiff. It falls into a trough where a spiral knife forces it along to a conveyor which carries it up to the grinding and packing room where the milk falls from the grinder directly into sacks in which it is to be shipped.

This method cannot be used for whole milk, as the butterfat would fry and spoil the taste of the product.

In powdering whole milk the milk is forced in a very fine spray through a hot-air blast which removes all the moisture and permits the powder to fall in a heap at the bottom of the drying room.

Bird-Eating Spiders

The largest member of the spider family is known to scientists as the Aviculariidae, and to those who like to be able to pronounce their words he is the hairy-legged or bird-eating spider. The largest of this species, with a body as big as a saucer and a leg spread that would make it hard to cover with a dinner plate, is found in the jungles of British Guiana. Bird-eating spiders of somewhat smaller size are also found in Central and rarely in North America, where they are commonly referred to as tarantulas. A tarantula is a form of spider, but it rarely exceeds three-fourths of an inch in length and can be identified by its longer jaws. While a tarantula's venom is very strong, it is no more so than any spider of comparative size. The bird-eating species could possibly kill a man with a bite, and would certainly cause a painful wound, but to a person in good health the bite should do no more than cause pain with possibly a temporary paralysis. At any rate, they make poor pets.—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Hail Columbia"

The words of the song "Hail Columbia" were written during a period of great political excitement in 1798 by Judge Joseph Hopkinson and were set to the melody of the "President's March," composed the same year, in honor of President Washington, by Phyllis, orchestral leader of the John Street theater, New York. The composition, first sung at a theatrical benefit, attained great popularity, and on account of its patriotic sentiment has become a representative national song.

College

The term "college" is thus defined by the National Conference Committee on Standards of Colleges and Secondary Schools: A college is an institution requiring for admission graduation from a standard secondary school, or the equivalent, and offering a four-year curriculum leading to the first degree in arts or science, of such character as to qualify for admission to a graduate school of recognized standing.

The Great Divide

The Great Divide is an idiomatic name for the Continental Divide in the Rocky mountain watershed, which separates the streams tributary to the Pacific from those tributary to the Atlantic. In a restricted sense the term is sometimes applied to a portion of the main divide in Yellowstone National park.

Carbon Monoxide

Few poison gases are more dangerous to man than carbon monoxide. Where phosgene and wartime gases have a characteristic color, taste and action which warns every one of their presence, carbon monoxide is colorless and tasteless.

Essentials of Good Hams

Fat is essential to a good ham—if it is lean, it is nearly always lacking in flavor and tenderness. The famous Virginia hams from lean Virginia hogs are exceptions to this rule, their delicacy being attributed to the animals' summer diet of forest roots and acorns and other nuts.

DAVIS CREEK

Mrs. George Fisk called at Roy McGee's Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. John Palsler and Florence entertained a group of young people Saturday evening at their home. The house was prettily decorated in Christmas style. Games of various kinds were played and gifts brought by the guests were put together, after which guests formed a ring and were allowed to pick out a package and pass it on to the next one until they came to one they liked, which they kept and dropped out of the ring. A lunch of cake and fruit salad was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Wheatcraft and Betty Stichter went to Ord Wednesday to see Charles Stichter, who is very much discouraged and Saturday night suffered with pleurisy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sample and daughter and Mrs. Emma Davis visited at George Sample's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rowe were week end guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Palsler. They and Mr. and Mrs. George Palsler were at John Palsler's for supper Friday evening.

Mrs. Charles Johnson returned home from Lincoln Thursday evening. M. and Mrs. Rueben Athey were at Johnson's Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Sample spent Saturday evening at Carol Palsler's. Mrs. Carol Palsler and children visited in Scotia Sunday while Carol was in Grand Island.

Paul Palsler spent Friday night and Saturday at Chris Larson's.

George Sample and Milford went to Loup City Saturday to see Clyde Sample.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hunt and Harold were dinner guests at Mrs. Lizzie Harison's Saturday.

At the United Brethren church at Davis Creek Monday, Dec. 24 there will be a cafeteria Christmas dinner. In the afternoon there will be a short program and a tree as usual only it will be in the day time. This plan is being tried because of the bad condition of the roads. Everyone is cordially invited to bring a basket dinner and spend the day with us.

Methodist Church.
Everyone is asked to bring cash offering for the children's ward of the Bryan Hospital in Lincoln. Children may also bring toys, which will be turned over to the Girl Reserves to be distributed locally. This will be for the Sunday school hour at 10 next Sunday morning.

Christmas music will be given by the choir at the 11 o'clock hour. The sermon theme will be, "The Prince of Peace in a Military Uniform".

In the evening a Christmas program by the combined choirs of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches will be given, using about 80 musicians for the vocal and instrumental numbers. The public is invited.

Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

Presbyterian Church.
Christmas Sunday is to be family day at the Presbyterian church. The junior choir will furnish the music. The Primary children will have a place on the program. All members and friends of the church are urged to be present. The family life in America is changing more rapidly and more radically than ever before. So serious has been this change in the past decade, that the very stability of family life is threatened and also the permanence of the family as a human institution, at least of the Christian type. Your pastor urges all parents of the children in our church to make a special effort to be on hand at Bible study at 10 a. m. and the Christmas program at 10:45.

Young people's meeting at 6:30. A union choir will render an excellent musical program consisting of Christmas carols and special numbers at the Methodist church Sunday evening, 7:30. Merry Christmas.

Be Calm
"It is well to be calm amid excitement," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "but calm that is based on indifference is of no value to human experience."

North Loup News

Miss Belle East.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Baptist church for Miss Belle East, who passed away Saturday in a Lincoln hospital, death being due to cancer. The body accompanied by the two brothers, Fred and Herb East, arrived via train Monday evening from Lincoln.

Belle East, pioneer of North Loup was born in Berlin, Wis., Aug. 5, 1870, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. East. Two years later the family came to North Loup locating on a homestead in Mira Valley, the farm is now occupied by Merrill Vanhorn.

Belle received her early education in Barker district. About six years later they moved to town where Mr. East operated a tannery. In the spring of 1895 Miss East finished school here under Bayard Paine. A few years later she with her brother, Tom, ventured on a trip to points in Texas where at this time Tom died. Belle, returning to North Loup bought the small feed store of Wm Cross, which she operated for several years. A few years ago she with her brother, Fred enjoyed a sojourn in California. While there she was injured in a car accident from which she never entirely recovered. A favorite pastime of Miss East's was as all her friends know, was to fish. Many homes of the vicinity in past years have been made more cozy with the yards of rag carpet woven by this busy lady. At the time of her illness which overtook her a few months ago, she was operating a little cream station which a friend, Mrs. Schaffner, has been caring for. She is survived by two brothers of this city, Fred and Herb of Lincoln besides numbers of friends. Services were in charge of Rev. Hurley Warren with music furnished by a mixed quartette from the Baptist church. Burial was in North Loup cemetery beside the bodies of her parents and her brother Tom.

So soon after burying their father were the children of T. Wardner Green to face death again when their mother, Mrs. Edna Green, too passed away at the home in Woodlake, Calif., where she had suffered a break down following her husband's death. A TRUE CHRISTMAS STORY

The rain of the past 24 hours had turned into a stinging sleet, carried on the wings of a raging gale. The wind in its frozen fury whipped about the lean-to shack. It whistled through the loose boards and gaping cracks. Momentarily it threatened to sweep away the hovel and leave its occupants to face the wrath of the storm without shelter of any kind.

Inside of this hovel there sat before the dying embers of a few sticks of wood, a man and woman. The hovel was icy cold. The man and the woman sat huddled together. There was no furniture, but in a corner a pile of old rags and straw,—protruding were two hunger-pinched faces. "What are we goin' to do, Pa? What are we goin' to do?"

The woman's trembling voice had broken the silence of the past hour.

Silently he took her hand in his and held it fast. His grip tightened until his knuckles showed white. Slowly he released her hand and she turned to look at the corner of the room.

"They're asleep, Pa."

Outside the wind howled; the shack trembled its resistance; with the suddenness of a canon's crack the life of a tree was snapped.

As suddenly came the calm,—the storm had spent its fury.

"Mother, I'm hungry."

The little woman went to the corner. Sh—Sh—go to sleep. Mother's here with Daddy. Daddy will get you something to eat—after a while."

A mother wept while hungry children slept.

"Ma—Ma"—The man knelt beside the crumpled form of the woman. Gently he drew her to him and held her close. Her heart was broken; sobs shook her slight body; tears coursed from the eyes of the man.

Suddenly something snapped; the body in the arms of the man stiffened and then as quickly relaxed.

Death.

A bright sun greeted the morning and two motherless, hungry boys,—one 9 and one 10,—and father unable to help them.

Today these two boys are strong and healthy and happy. They have good jobs and are enterprising, respected young men in their communities. They refer with pride to their Alma Mater,—Father Flanagan's Boy's Home.

At my Home, now officially known as BOYS TOWN, NEBRASKA, just west of Omaha, I have 200 boys whose life stories are not dissimilar to the one you have just read. Their future and the future of those who are to follow them depends solely upon the response of the people of America.

Very creed, every color and every race is recognized at this haven of the homeless boys. The home has absolutely no source of income except the contributions of those who have been so fortunate as to never have been without a home.

No, No Cash Money Won Their Reward To Discourage Murder No Surprise Possible

According to solemn agreement, made between "gallant allies," which the British call themselves and us, the United States should receive from Great Britain the sum of $360,000,000.

To the announcement that she would pay nothing Great Britain frankly adds that "it would be useless, and therefore unwise," even to attempt negotiations.

Two life convicts have earned freedom by submitting to medical experiment, with "tuberculosis vaccine," or "preventive." The "preventive" with which the doctors have experimented on Carl Ericson and Mike Schmidt for months past, is not a tuberculosis cure.

Doctors of the National Jewish hospital, who have worked on the new serum for 15 years past, warned the convicts that they would risk their lives in the experiment, now proved successful.

On both sides of the Atlantic attempts are made to discourage murder. President Roosevelt takes the lead here, summoning all forces of the country—state, national and local—to fight private crime, banditry, traffic in narcotics, lynchings, kidnaping, plain ordinary murder.

Doctor Dafoe is in New York, first visit, and surprised reporters note that he shows no amazement when gazing on skyscrapers and canyon-like streets.

Doctor Rosenbach, book specialist, thinks New York city needs a building devoted exclusively to the works of Shakespeare. It is a shame, says he, that "scholars have to go 3,000 miles to see a quarto of 'Hamlet.'"

Rev. Joseph A. Davis, colored, sixty-five years old, very eloquent preacher, who operates a garage between Sundays, says he is the New York representative of Senator Huey Long's "share-the-wealth" idea and already has 10,000 members willing to help share the wealth in Harlem.

Fifty men were arrested at a cock fight near Los Angeles. Six hundred watched the fighting. Two fighting roosters were named Greta Garbo and Marlene Dietrich, singularly inappropriate names, if you know anything about fighting roosters.

The extraordinary thing is that adult Americans, not semi-savage Malays, should actually enjoy watching roosters driving steel needles into each other's brains.

Dr. Leo Wolman, intelligent, level-headed young man, with Nicholas Kelly and Richard L. Byrd, is in Detroit to see that employees in the automobile industry have a chance, "without fear of intimidation, to elect their own representatives to bargain with employers."

If this means that the automobile industry through the power of the United States government is to be put in charge of organized labor leaders, the experiment will be interesting.

Coaches Choose Severson, Greathouse, On Annual All-Valley Football Team

Ord Players Among Conference "Greats", Coaches Decide; Arcadia Lands Three.

Coaches of the Loup Valley have chosen what might be called "the cream of the crop" in football players, taken from teams participating in the Loup Valley Conference games this year.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Pos., School. Lists players like Verley, Johnson, Skoll, etc.

Selection was scattered out among the schools of Loup Valley very generously, the most men put in one team being three Arcadia players, Johnson, True, and Lee.

Both of these boys are Seniors and have played their last football game for the Ord Chanticleers. Greathouse started the season as an end, but when Rowbal, regular fullback was seriously hurt in the first game, he stepped into the fullback position and played like a veteran.

Suggestions For CHRISTMAS

Have you ever made your own Christmas cards? Cards made from battleship linoleum, cut in gay holiday designs are most attractive and very inexpensive.

Mr. McLaughlin was graduated from Ord high school in 1915 but even before that he had become innoculated with the "pharmacy bug", having worked during his high school career for Ed F. Beranek.

After the war Stanley worked in Wyoming for a year, during which period he was married to Miss Laura Boyd, of Lincoln, who had been a popular kindergarten teacher in Ord.

3 Veterans Back For Ord Cage Team

Basketball prospects are only fairly bright this year in Ord. Only three lettermen, namely, Severson, Greathouse, and Tunnliciff are returning from last year's line-up.

Relief Study Center Established In Ord

Ord has been approved for a relief study center this year. This work gives high school graduates an opportunity to take college work by extension and receive full college credit for their work.

Expenses such as extension fees, tests, supplies, and transportation of the lessons to and from Lincoln would be the only cost incurred by the individual student.

Previously, a certain number of students must enroll for the course before it could be given but this year any one person may take the course and if the enrollment reaches nine, a teacher will be sent to the school.

Public Speakers Present 3 Plays

The one-act play recital held in the high school auditorium last Saturday night was well attended by a large and appreciative audience of approximately two hundred and fifty.

The first play to be presented was "Not Quite Such A Goose." This was very capably enacted by Alma Hansen, who played the part of Sylvia, the daughter of the family.

I would take the great pleasure of writing to my boy friend.—Delta Marie Flynn. Probably figure out what to do with the next twenty-four.—Mr. Lukenbach.

I would devote that time to Julia Fuss in Public Speaking.—Harley Eschliman. I would take enough beauty naps to last for a month.—Laura Nelson.

The last play to be presented was a farce entitled "The Mousetrap". The action took place during the time when Woman Suffrage was being considered.

Wrestling Team Is Formed, Begins Work

A big turnout was made to the first call for wrestlers which was announced last Tuesday. A wrestling squad has been organized and is having regular practices.

Paul Carlsen is captain of the squad and is also assisting with the coaching and spreading of enthusiasm for another state champion team. Paul is the state champion in the 115-pound class and is undefeated in high school competition.

Following the games, refreshments consisting of ice cream, wafers and cocoa were served.

EDITORIALS

What, with two class parties, a class play, the public speaking play presentation, and preparing for the Christmas program, not to mention basketball and wrestling practices, the past week has been so full that the students have hardly had time to collect their thoughts and realize what is happening.

While reading a book the other day, I ran across several proverbs, which seemed to me, worthy of passing on. Among them were: No interest rate is as high as that on borrowed trouble; Service has no substitute; Courtesy pays compound interest; Don't take chances—find them; The men who try to do something and fail are infinitely better than those who try to do nothing and succeed, and last, An electrical temper will short-circuit a perfectly good career.

The Oracle staff would like to extend an invitation to Ord high school students to read the exchanges which we receive from neighboring schools and colleges.

Now that the snow is practically all gone the snow-balling will have to cease. It is probably a pretty good thing, too. In moderation, snow-balling is all right but there is a limit to everything.

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS—

The general question asked of the students this week was: "If there were twenty-five hours in a day, how would you spend the twenty-fifth hour?"

I would take the great pleasure of writing to my boy friend.—Delta Marie Flynn. Probably figure out what to do with the next twenty-four.—Mr. Lukenbach.

I would devote that time to Julia Fuss in Public Speaking.—Harley Eschliman. I would take enough beauty naps to last for a month.—Laura Nelson.

I would rejoice for my boy friend is coming home from Idaho.—Alma Jorgenson. Gosh, if there were twenty-five hours a day, I'd just spend the last one taking life easy—and how.—Irene Dlugosh.

If there were twenty-five hours

This Week's Sponsor is McLain and Sorensen Drug Company

This issue of The Oracle is sponsored by a firm that deserves the consideration and patronage of all Ord people, including students, for Stanley McLain and Carl Sorensen, who own and manage the firm known as McLain-Sorensen Drug company, are purely Ord products.

Mr. Sorensen, who has extensive business and farming interests, has never taken an active part in management of the drug store but his sound advice and good business judgment has been of great value to the firm.

Both of the partners are Masons, members of the American Legion and the Ord Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Sorensen is also a prominent Knight of Pythias. Their wives are active in lodge, social and church activities in Ord.

A valuable employe in this drug store is Ernest L. Achen, who has lived in Ord ten years, coming here from Lincoln in 1924 to be the pharmacist for Fred Wichman and continuing with the new firm since 1926.

Right now a visit to the McLain-Sorensen store will be repaid by sight of one of Ord's best stocks of Christmas gift merchandise. All the year round, for prescriptions or for anything else in their line, the motto of this firm should be kept in mind. It is: "Just Good Drug Store Service."

The Oracle is made possible by this group of loyal Ord business and professional men and women:

Wrestling Team Is Formed, Begins Work

A big turnout was made to the first call for wrestlers which was announced last Tuesday. A wrestling squad has been organized and is having regular practices.

Paul Carlsen is captain of the squad and is also assisting with the coaching and spreading of enthusiasm for another state champion team. Paul is the state champion in the 115-pound class and is undefeated in high school competition.

Following the games, refreshments consisting of ice cream, wafers and cocoa were served.

Seniors Enjoy Class Party.

The first class party of the year was held in the high school auditorium last Thursday evening, December 13. It was a senior class party and approximately fifty seniors and instructors were present.

Sophs Observe Class Day and Have Party

Last Friday the sophomore class presented their class day convocation in the auditorium. Lorraine Kusek, as master of ceremonies, Jeverly announced the numbers. Jack Janssen and Laverne Duemey two banjo duets, "A Little Dutch Mill," and "Dinah." Ruth Auble played the accompaniment.

Dean Barta, accompanied at the piano by Wilma Severson, played a cornet solo. Following this, a clever skit of the hero and villain type, was presented. The title of the dialogue was "Do You Worst." Virginia Weekes played the part of the heroine who must either marry the villain or she and her father would be cast into the street. Laverne Lakin portrayed the part of the dashing young hero, an automobile mechanic, who comes to her aid.

The part of the father was capably and humorously portrayed by Harold Mella. The villain, Frank Fair, was portrayed by Gerald Goff and the villain's sister, Lena, was enacted by Irene Whiting.

Friday evening the sophomores had a class party which was attended by approximately two-thirds of the class members. Various games, including table tennis and rock provided the entertainment for the evening.

Following the games, refreshments consisting of ice cream, wafers and cocoa were served.

LOUP PROJECTS APPROVED, BUT WITHOUT POWER

Ickes' Board Asks Billion For Midwest But Says No More Power Will Be Usable.

Nine engineers, constituting the Mississippi committee of the PWA Wednesday recommended expenditure of a billion dollars over a 20-year period in development of midwest waterways but urged that no further power development take place in the Missouri river basin, according to Washington dispatches in the daily press. Both the North and Middle Loup projects were given high approval for irrigation development.

No projects in Nebraska were given Class A rating, which would call for immediate development, but both Loup projects were rated as Class B, which classification is defined to mean "not feasible now but which may become so in the near future."

"It is recommended that no immediate further development of Missouri basin water power resources at federal expense be undertaken," the committee's report said. "The problem of the undeveloped waterpower sites of the Missouri basin," it continued, "is at present largely one of conservation, of exercising such federal control over them as will permit their later development, whether by private or public interests, in a carefully planned manner calculated to promote the public welfare, rather than in haphazard fashion."

This report was the second on possible development in the midwest released at Washington this week. Monday army engineers, who have surveyed both the North and Middle Loup areas as well as most other regions in the Missouri basin, reported favorably on both projects.

The Mississippi committee's report probably will be followed by the PWA in allotting funds, however and constitutes a critical setback to local hopes for early development of our rivers. On the other hand it offers assurance that eventually both the North and Middle Loups will be developed for irrigation and does not preclude the possibility of eventual power development also.

Temperature Hits -6 Wednesday Morning

A low mark of six below zero, next to the coldest mark registered this winter, is reported Wednesday morning at an early hour. Temperatures began to drop Christmas day and continued cold throughout the night. Last night was considerably warmer, 10 above zero being the coldest.

Arcadia Man Draws $100.

Raymond Caddy, of Arcadia, was the fortunate person who drew the big prize of $100 at the Ord Theatre last Wednesday evening. Last night the name of Mrs. A. H. Hastings, also of Arcadia, was drawn and she would have received $20 but was not present.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Davis and daughters spent Christmas with the Claude A. Davis family, Grand Island. Don Davis of Grand Island who is attending college in Madison, Wis., was at home.

Davis Creek Having Visitation From 'Tame' Skunks

It is because of the drouth and feed shortage that skunks, as well as pheasants, rabbits and coyotes, are tamer than usual this winter. Anyway, from Davis Creek come a couple of skunk stories that are good ones.

One night last week Mr. and Mrs. Howard Manchester had a very unwelcome guest, our Davis Creek correspondent reports. Mrs. Manchester stepped to the door to throw out some water and noticed a skunk sitting on the walk near the back door. She called her husband, who tried to scare it away with fire and by other means, without avail. Finally, with a pole, he chased it around the house, on to the basement door, and nearer than ever. Finally, after trying for almost two hours, he used snowballs to drive it far enough away from the house so he could shoot it.

Two Davis Creek boys, Donald Peterson and Robert Mitchell, had an unusual experience with skunks while walking home from school one afternoon recently. Near the Manchester place a skunk walked right up to them. Robert picked up a club and killed it and had just finished when another skunk came out of the weeds and walked up to him, which he also killed.

O'Neal Home Best Decorated in Ord, Say Judges in Xmas Light Contest

Lewis and Zablouil Homes Also Win Prizes; Quiz Awarded Business House Prize.

Adjudged the most beautifully decorated home in Ord, the F. F. O'Neal residence Monday evening was awarded first prize in the Chamber of Commerce-City Light Department contest, the prize being an automatic electric toaster valued at $11.50. A second prize, an electric waffle-maker, went to the Keith Lewis home and third prize, a non-automatic electric toaster, to the William Zablouil home.

The judging was done Friday evening but identity of prize winners was not announced until Christmas eve, at which time the prizes in the residence decorating contests were presented to winners by George H. Allen, city light and water commissioner.

In the business house decorating contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, the first prize of $10.00 was awarded to the Ord Quiz Monday evening by Glen Auld, secretary of the Chamber. Second prize, $5.00 went to the Ord Theatre, and third prize, $2.50 to Hotel Ord. The same group of judges served in both the residence and business house contests.

The contests were very difficult to judge, particularly in the residence decorating section, judges say. Ordites entered the contest in large numbers and at least fifty homes were given consideration. Only after several inspections and prolonged deliberation did the judges decide to award first prize to the O'Neal home, second prize to the Lewis home and third prize to the Zablouil home, as the beauties of all were so great that any of the three might have been awarded first prize with justice.

The basis used in judging was: 25 per cent for artistic arrangement, 25 per cent for illumination, 25 per cent for decoration and 25 per cent for originality.

The O'Neal home, which has a big fireplace on the south porch and beautifully balanced garlands of lights strung across the front of the house, was a few points ahead of the others on score sheets kept by judges. The Lewis home, lovely with lighted Christmas trees in front of the house, a window box glowing with colored lights growing like flowers and evergreen garlands at the front door, was almost equally meritorious. At the Zablouil home a scene revealing the three wise men traveling aboard their camels toward a big white star was effectively placed in the garden. A pretty tree and two red wreaths beside the front door were lovely in their simplicity. Fewer than five points separated these three homes on score sheets kept individually by judges but a summary of the three score sheets dictated the award of prizes in the above order.

Judges gave fourth place and very honorable mention indeed to the Jerry Petska home, where a great deal of work was done. On the enclosed front porch was a big fireplace hung with stockings, up above was Santa Claus, and several decorated Christmas trees completed the scene.

Give Christmas Rebate.

Patrons of the Burwell municipal plant are recipients of a handsome Christmas gift again this year, the village board having instructed the light and water commissioner to mail each patron a receipted bill for his December light and power consumption. Policy of rebating December bills was established two years ago.

Auto License Sale Slightly Delayed

County Treasurer George A. Satterfield and his deputy, Clyde Baker, had planned to place the 1935 auto licenses on sale Saturday, Dec. 15 but failure of receipts to arrive on time resulted in delay until Dec. 21. Automobile licenses become due Jan. 1 and are delinquent Feb. 1. The new plates, which have been here several weeks, have black numbers on gray background.

The rates this year are as follows: For passenger cars weighing under 2,800 pounds, the fee is $3.00; over 2,800 pounds, $5.00. Trucks are divided into three classes—commercial, local and farm. Fees on commercial trucks are based on hauling capacity and are as follows: One-half ton, $4.00; one ton, $8.00; 1-1/2 ton, $12.00; 2 ton, $15.00; 3-1/2 and 4 ton, $60.00; 4-1/2 ton, $75.00; 5 ton, $100.00. License fees on local and farm trucks are based on rated capacity of the truck and are as follows: 1-1/2 ton or less, $4.00; 2 ton, $6.00; 2-1/2 and 3 ton, $10.00; 3-1/2 and 4 ton, $14.00; 4-1/2 and 5 ton, $18.00.

License plates are being sold rapidly, Satterfield said yesterday. —Ralph Haas and Mart Beran went to Omaha yesterday and are driving back a couple of the new 1935 Ford cars.

Xmas Wet Stuff Goes Into Sewer In Ord Monday

More than 125 bottles of liquor, part of the supply imported by Ord bootleggers in anticipation of a Christmas rush, was poured into the sewer Monday upon orders of County Judge John L. Andersen. The judge, County Attorney Munn and his deputy, Ralph W. Norman, were there to watch the bottles opened and poured out by Sheriff Round and City Officers Covert and Pardue.

Most of the liquor was obtained in the raid upon Al Adams' home Sunday night but part of it came from other raids made during recent months. The Nebraska statutes require destruction of all confiscated liquor, officers say. Most of the liquor poured out Monday was "government stuff."

Jennings Succeeds E. L. Hoyt As Work Director For FERA

Effective January 1, Joe Jennings, of Loup City, succeeds E. L. Hoyt as director of the work division of the FERA in Valley county. Mr. Hoyt, who has made his headquarters in Ord since early in 1934, is transferred to Howard county.

This change is the result of a reorganization of the FERA all over Nebraska. In most instances directors are given smaller territories to handle. In the past year Hoyt has been in charge of work relief in Valley, Greeley and Nance counties but this year he will have charge of Greeley and Howard counties only. Jennings will administer the work relief in Sherman and Valley counties, continuing his headquarters at Loup City. He previously was in charge of Howard, Sherman and part of Buffalo county.

Cushing Speaker At District 44 Program

Herbert L. Cushing, deputy state superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker at a Christmas program held last Friday evening at District 44 school, which is taught by Florian Karty. Miss Clara McClatchey, county school head, also spoke. Several numbers by students were appreciated by a large crowd, and was music by the Bower Bros. orchestra.

In his speech Mr. Cushing praised the new Dist. 44 school house highly. This new building is more conveniently located to serve the district than was the old structure and is on a better road.

Boyce Pleads Guilty, Given 3 to 5 Years

Pleading guilty in district court last Thursday to a charge of horse theft, Hubert Boyce was sentenced to serve a term of from 3 to 5 years in the state penitentiary at Lincoln. Judge Ernest Kroger heard Boyce's plea and pronounced sentence. It was Judge Kroger's first official visit to Ord since he was appointed by Gov. Bryan to succeed the late Ralph R. Horth as district judge.

Boyce admitted having stolen a horse belonging to a relative and also admitted the theft of other articles, although the charge filed by County Attorney Munn dealt with the horse theft only.

Sheriff George Round took young Boyce to Lincoln Friday and he began serving his term at once. He had previously served time in a state reformatory.

Xmas Carol Program Was Widely Attended

Exactly as printed in last week's issue of the Quiz, the Christmas carol program by combined choirs of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, assisted by musicians from other churches, was carried out in the Methodist church Sunday evening. The church was crowded to capacity and the beautiful musical program was greatly enjoyed.

The stage was beautifully decorated, features being a lighted manger bearing the Christ child, with Mary sitting beside it, and replicas of the three wise men. Chairs were draped in white and lady members of the choirs wore white surplices.

Mrs. Mearl C. Smith, director of the Methodist choir, was in general charge of the program and Glen D. Auble directed the carolers.

—Will McLain, who for several weeks was visiting in California is in Ord this week.

CO. SUPERVISORS TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING JAN. 3

Will Elect Chairman; Transact Other Business; New County Officers In January 1.

Next Thursday, Jan. 3, the Valley county board of supervisors will hold its annual meeting as required by law for the purpose of electing a chairman and organizing for the year, this annual session being regarded as the most important of the entire year.

Two new supervisors will take their places at this meeting, Henry A. Zikmund, who succeeds Joseph Vascek, and Joe J. Jablonski, who succeeds Morris Sorensen. Two other supervisors were reelected in November, S. V. Hansen and J. A. Barber. Other members of the board, Charles Johnson, Ellsworth Ball and Henry Desmul, are hold-overs.

Chairman Hansen is said to be a candidate for reelection to this position and Ellsworth Ball, of Ord, is also said to be a candidate for chairman.

Two new Valley county officers will assume their responsibilities next week, Alvin R. Lee becoming county attorney to succeed George A. Munn and A. R. Brock becoming assessor to succeed Alvin Blessing. Other county officers were reelected.

An important problem that will confront the county board is selection of a highway engineer and county surveyor to succeed Rollin C. Ayres, who filed his resignation about three weeks ago to accept a better job in the state highway department. Several applications for the position have been received and will be opened by supervisors Thursday, County Clerk Ign. Klisma says.

Fort Hartsuff Being Investigated by Gov't

Preservation of Fort Hartsuff north of Elyria as a national park is being studied by the National Park Service, according to a letter received by Mrs. E. J. Babcock, of North Loup, from Arno B. Cammer, head of the Service. Mrs. Babcock is secretary of the Loup Trails' association. The old fort, established in 1871, is believed to be the only one of the pioneer forts in Nebraska where original buildings still stand.

C. C. HAUGHT, ILL MANY MONTHS, PASSES SUNDAY

Former Springdale Farmer Was Greatly Respected; Leaves Wife, Nine Children.

After a long illness with heart trouble, Christopher Columbus Haught passed away at his home in Ord Sunday morning, Dec. 23, at the age of 73. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church this afternoon with Rev. Mearl C. Smith and Rev. Earl Cummings in charge, and interment will be in Ord cemetery.

Mr. Haught was born May 24, 1861 in Illinois, one of a family of ten children of whom two are still living, and was united in marriage to Margaret Florence Frampton on April 6, 1882. The family came to Valley county in 1902 and settled on a farm in Springdale, living there 18 years. Since then the family residence has been in Ord, Mr. Haught being engaged in the transfer business and in other occupations.

To Mr. and Mrs. Haught were born seven daughters, six of whom survive. They are Mrs. Mott Rathbun, Elmira N. Y., Mrs. Wilmore Gray, Kimball, Mrs. Mell Rathbun, Ord, Mrs. Doane Stowell, Littleton, Colo., Mrs. Fred Clark, Ord, Mrs. Norris VanVie, Hastings. An adopted son, Albert, lives at North Loup. One daughter, Mrs. Marion Strong preceded him in death.

His beloved wife having passed away Mr. Haught was again married on Dec. 8, 1910 to Mrs. Bertha Gabriel and three children were born to them, Rolland, of Omaha, Mrs. Roy Nelson, of Elyria, and Ruth, who is still at home. Also left to mourn are two sisters, Mrs. Henrietta Evans, Santiago, Calif., and Mrs. Daisy Matzner, Ivanhoe, Minn., twenty grandchildren, three great grandchildren and one step-son, Will Gabriel.

Soon after coming to Nebraska Mr. Haught was united with the Springdale Methodist church and remained a devout Christian all his life, always attending church services and assisting in church work as long as his health permitted. He was generally respected as an honest, hard working man, a good neighbor and a loving husband and father.

NEW YEAR IN NEBRASKA

By WILL M. MAUPIN.

New Year in Nebraska! An' despite a year of drouth She is feelin' mighty hopeful, not a-droopin' at th' mouth Took it on th' chin a-plenty, but she never lost her smile; Pulled her belt a few holes tighter, knowin' well that aft. While She's come through her troubles early an' on her way once more To the time of peace an' plenty, as she'd often done before. So you'll see Nebraska smilin' an' a-lifftin' of her chin When she hears th' bells a-ringin' an' th' New Year's ushered in.

New Year in Nebraska An' she starts it full of hope. Never had th' disposition to sit down an' growl an' mope. Got th' courage of her founders, who first broke th' prairie sod. An' th' faith they held together in th' goodness of their God. Never for an hour despairin', though th' day was dark indeed; Never for an hour forgettin' to help out each other's need. So you hear Nebraska laughin', an' you hear Nebraska sing Of th' good days that are comin' that th' New Year's sure to bring.

New Year in Nebraska! An' she faces it with pride; An' her sister states must hurry if they catch Nebraska's stride. Soon her plows will turn the furrows, an' her hands will plant the seeds That will bring th' crops a-plenty to supply th' nation's needs. Soon prosperity will flourish as it did in days of yore, An' we'll all forget th' hard times, as we've always done before. Then, when all th' states are marchin' to th' tune of 'Happy Days' At th' head you'll see Nebraska—that's the place she ever stays.

Bootlegging Costs Al Adams $100 and Sixty Days in Jail

Pleading guilty to a bootlegging charge in county court Monday, Albert Adams was fined $100 by County Judge Andersen and was also sentenced to serve 60 days in county jail at hard labor. Costs aggregating $12.00 were assessed against him.

Young Adams was arrested Sunday evening in a raid by Sheriff George Round and City Officers L. H. Covert and Roy Pardue. They first visited Adams' home in east Ord and, finding no liquor there, searched the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cetak, across the alley, where the liquor was found. In the haul were 18 pints of whiskey and 93 half-pints of alcohol, all bearing government seals and also seals of the state of Colorado.

At first Mrs. Cetak claimed ownership of the liquor but when told by officers to "come along" she changed her mind and designated her son-in-law as the owner. It was Adams' second appearance in county court on a liquor charge, he having pleaded guilty to a charge of possession in September, 1933, and served a jail sentence at that time.

Johnson-Dahlin.

Miss Leona Johnson a daughter of Mrs. Estella Johnson of North Loup, and Ed Dahlin, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Dahlin of Elyria, were married Dec. 19 at Taylor, witnesses being the bride's mother, her brother, Lloyd, Miss Sadie Collison and Willard Cornell. They returned to Ord and enjoyed a wedding dinner in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Sam Marks. Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin will live at Elyria, where Mr. Dahlin is associated in the management of the Elyria Roller Mill.

Olin Ulm Is Winner Of Guessing Contest

By guessing the closest to the number of holly berries in a display window at Auble Bros. jewelry store, Olin Ulm Saturday was found to be the winner of a diamond ring. There were 983 berries in the window and Ulm guessed 982. Two other people guessed 983 also but Mr. Ulm's guess was filed first so he was given the ring. Mrs. LeRoy Lashmitt won a billfold and Dean S. Duncan a fountain pen for their guesses.

In a children's contest Sylvester Micek guessed 981 berries and won a wrist watch. Joseph Zikmund guessed 980 and won a pocket watch and Ralph Zulkoski won a framed picture for his guess of 980 which was filed later than Joseph's guess. More than 1,100 guesses were filed in the contest, Dr. Glen Auble said Monday.

Two Public Sales.

Chas. Dana will hold a public sale of all his personal property at the farm north of town on Tuesday, January 8 and George Wachtrle will hold a cleanup of his personal property at his place west of Ord on Thursday, January 10. Both of these families are going to move to Idaho. A complete list of both sales will be in the Quiz next week. Also watch for their bills.

Mrs. Mary Holub Dead.

Mrs. Mary Holub of Omaha, the former Miss Mary Cernik of Valley county, died December 20 at the age of forty-seven and was laid to rest in Omaha Saturday. Mrs. L. J. Smolik and Mrs. Frank Hruby of this community, sisters of the deceased, attended the funeral services.

Postponed Meeting.

The meeting of the Valley County Feed and Produce association scheduled to be held last week was postponed until Saturday, Dec. 29, and will be held at the district court room in Ord at 2:00 p. m. on this day. Please attend.

Kocina Moving to Omaha. $87,000 In Highway Work To Be Done In Four Counties

Ray R. Kocina, who came to Ord from northeast Nebraska some years ago to take a position with the First Trust company and has lived here ever since, has accepted a job as collector with the John Deere Plow company and will move to Omaha at once, going to work Jan. 1. He will sell all his household goods at auction Saturday. Mrs. Kocina has been active in Catholic church work here and both she and her husband are popular in Ord social circles so the family will be greatly missed.

$87,000 In Highway Work To Be Done In Four Counties

Highway construction work totalling $86,998 will be done in Valley, Greeley, Sherman and Garfield counties this winter and spring, announced the state highway department last Thursday in awarding contracts to low bidders on several paving, grading, and bridge jobs. Everything except paving and grading will be done during the winter; paving and grading must await warmer weather.

The work in this region, low bids thereon and the names of low bidders are summarized as follows:

Harris and Demund Spending Holidays In Valley Co. Jail

Because they indulged too heavily in bottled "Christmas cheer" Saturday evening, Floyd H. "Toot" Harris, 44, and Max Demund, 18, are celebrating not only Christmas but New Year's also in the Valley county jail.

The two men were arrested late Saturday evening by Marshal L. H. Covert. Becoming confused in his directions, young Demund had driven Harris' car onto Arthur B. Capron's lawn which was recently plowed and seeded and was very soft. The lawn was badly cut up and may have to be reseeded.

Intoxication charges were filed against both by County Attorney George A. Munn and both men pleaded guilty before John L. Andersen Monday afternoon. It was the second such offense for both. Demund having been fined $15 and costs by Judge Andersen in October, 1933, and Harris a similar amount in February, 1934.

"Thirty days in jail" was the verdict of Judge Andersen in both cases Monday, this being the minimum penalty possible under the statutes. Harris and Demund were also sentenced to pay court costs, which amounted to $8.00 each.

Bridge Tourney In Ord January 6th

A contract bridge tournament in which all Ord and Valley county people are eligible to compete will be held in Ord Sunday, January 6, it is announced today. The tourney will be a seven-table affair and will be played in a single afternoon session, starting promptly at 2:00 p. m. Entries must be made in advance with Dr. F. A. Barta but entry fees, which will be very moderate, need not be paid until the afternoon of the tournament.

ORDITES COMBINE TO BRING XMAS CHEER TO NEEDY

Organizations and Individuals Distribute Food and Toys; Petska Tree Was Fine.

Many people and organizations combined to see that all the known poor of Ord had enough to eat on Christmas day, that their children were remembered with some small tokens from Santa, and that no one was cold that day. A good deal of the charity work was under cover, done quietly by friends or neighbors, showing a genuine desire to help others in the true Christ-like manner without credit.

Girls who belong to the Y. W. C. A. and Professional group each dressed a pressing their Christmas spirit this way in place of trading small gifts with one another. There were twenty of these pretty little dolls prepared and six more were given to Mrs. Wm. Carlton by various church workers after the poor of their own sects had been cared for. Presbyterian ladies arranged to distribute toys, candy, peanuts, etc., and also brought what was left to Mrs. Carlton to be included in Christmas boxes.

Members of Daleth Delphian chapter sent Christmas boxes of groceries and goodies to thirty families. One member included mittens for each small member of the family she sent a box to, while another box contained a trimmed Christmas tree, and several of them toys and dolls. Many individuals also packed Christmas goodies for distribution.

Jerry Petska entertained at largest Christmas tree party, Ord, about 200 children attend each of whom got a sack containing fruit and candy and nuts, and also drew a number which entitled him to a prize. The prize, varied from coal, flour, boxes of crackers and packages of rolls to little chairs, ironing boards, and a lot of other toys. Other business men who donated to Mr. Petska's fund to provide this fine party and tree in the Petska yard, which were especially for children who might have been forgotten, included Weller Bros., Ord Mills, Elyria Mill, W. J. Stewart Dairy, Pecenia & Perliniski, F. P. O'Neal, Orville Sowl, Ed F. Beranek, Peterson Transfer, Dr. C. J. Miller, John Edwards, John Sharp, Ed Michalek, J. H. Capron, C. J. Mortenson, Mrs. Chas. Brown, F. J. L. Benda, J. Vala, Ben Franklina Store, J. R. Stoltz and John Goddard.

One of the classes of the Presbyterian church provided everything for Christmas for one of the largest poor families in this vicinity, and ladies of the Christian and Methodist churches were also very busy with similar work. Mrs. John Goddard busted herself making clothes for children of her acquaintance who needed them. Mrs. Cecil Clark and Mrs. William Carlton and other G. A. R. ladies are about to donate their sever comfort to help keep some cold people warmer.

Other worthwhile work done here this winter expressing a Christmas feeling of fellowship includes that of the Philathea class of the Presbyterian church, who have made to date 125 yards of Red Cross flannel into layettes for seven babies who needed them badly, new layettes already having been used.

The Penney store as usual had a box of things no longer saleable but good, which helped to furnish Christmas clothing for some one who needed it. Mrs. and Mrs. William Carlton deserve no small mention, spending their Christmas day delivering with a truck the boxes and gifts others left with them for this purpose.

Is There a Santa? "Doubtful," Say Some Farmers

Corn-hog contract signers in twelve of Valley county's fifteen townships are firmly convinced there is a Santa Claus, having received their checks for the second corn-hog payment before Christmas, as well as some farmers in Vinton and North Loup townships don't agree. "Doubtful," they say, when asked the age-old question.

In some manner all the Enterprise township checks went astray and did not arrive with the others. North Loup township farmers whose names begin with the letters A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I and J are also without their money to date, as are Vinton township farmers whose names begin with letters lower in the alphabet than O.

Out of the $80,000 due in Valley county about $10,000 has failed to arrive, though the corn-hog allotment committee has expected it daily. The checks were mailed from Washington, D. C., but were mis-sent, it is thought.

NEW HOPE FOR LOUPS.

From a report by President Roosevelt's Natural Resources board, made public a few days ago, comes new hope for early approval of the North and Middle Loup irrigation and power projects. One paragraph in this report says: "That consideration be given to facilitating the development of numerous small and seemingly unimportant irrigation operations which, though essentially local in significance, in the aggregate are considerable economic import-

The report of this board truly is the administration's per-sonal policy, then nothing stands in the way of early allotment of funds for Loup development. If it is merely a mass of verbiage published to satisfy a disgruntled public and subject to interpretation by politicians hostile to all developments in Nebraska except the Columbus and Sutherland projects, then it is just more "applesauce," of which we have already been fed too much.

A BREAKDOWN IN JUSTICE.

The action of two Chicago juries in finding innocent those arch-embroilers, Samuel and Marlin Insull, is scarcely calculated to foster public law observance or respect for the brand of justice handed out in our criminal courts. The Insull brothers were manifestly guilty. When Samuel In-grandiose dream of financial grandeur tottered and fell, imposing thousands of people, he fled the country. For months and years he resisted extradition, fabulously sums to corrupt him in his efforts to evade brought back to the United States to answer for his crimes. His brother, Marlin, likewise fled and had to be extradited from Canada.

The government of the United States thought the Insulls guilty. Millions of dollars were spent in arguing about their punishment. And what happens? Two criminal court juries suddenly allow them to go free. Upon the Insull brand of cut-throat financial tactics these juries placed the stamp of public approval. It is perfectly legal to steal, to cheat, providing the thief or the cheat be a rich man and the victim be the downtrodden public, these jurymen said by their votes for acquittal.

How different the result would have been had the defendants been a pair of illiterate and unknown negroes, charged with the theft of a few dollars! Such defendants are promptly found guilty and shut off to prison. But not the famous Insulls, supposed to have lost their personal fortunes in the crash that made paupers out of countless stockholders in Insull utilities but still able to spend money like water to evade punishment, first by abject flight and then by the employment of able, unscrupulous attorneys, jury fixing and all the other tricks known to wealthy law-breakers.

One law for the poor, another for the rich! It has always been so in the Old World and even in the United States, where all men are theoretically equal before the law, it has become an impossibility to

THE HOME TOWN PAPER.

(Submitted by Mrs. J. W. Gregory Muleshoe, Tex.)
When even tide is drawing near,
And chickens gone to rest,
You sit in the ole arm chair,
Thinkin' of what is best,
A "peaceful feelin'" comes o'er you,
And a smile replaces the frown,
You read the little paper,
From your ole home town.

Is you all about the folks;
Some of those who come and go,
And all about the sociable
Down at Uncle Joe's.
And the boys who stole the melons,
From the patch of Billy Brown,
Makes the headline of the paper
From my ole home town.

There ain't a thing I'm missin',
Along life's rugged way,
For soon I'll get the gossip,
Tho' I'm many miles away,
If Elmer has the measles,
Or the flu is goin' 'round,
I read it in the paper,
From my ole home town.

I read the Chicago Tribune,
And St. Louis papers, too,
Including poems there by Guest,
Before the day is through,
And then I wish to rest my mind,
With news that's nowhere found,
Except in the weekly paper
From my ole home town.

They say our good and bad deeds
Are recorded up on high,
So that God can classify us,
When it comes our time to die,
If that be true, I know a man,
Who's going to wear a crown
He's the man who runs the paper
In my ole home town.
—M. C. Robbins, Vandalla, Ill.

punish wealthy men for their crimes.

With all the legal resources of the United States arraigned against them the Insulls go free. A flagrant breakdown in justice occurred in these cases. Disrespect for all law is bound to be the result.

My Own Column

By H. D. LEGGETT

I wish you one and all, a Happy New Year and trust that 1935 may be a big improvement over the year about to end.

If a man owns a bunch of cows or a bunch of shoats or a printing office or a grocery store or anything else that can be seen, he is taxed on what he has. But if, instead of investing his cash in these things, he has bought tax-free securities he gets a good income, much better than he could get from being in business and he doesn't have to pay any taxes. Neither does he have to employ any help, for he can clip his coupons easily. He doesn't have to pay any insurance or code tax on a code that is not enforced. I guess the only thing to do is to pass a sales tax law and put the tax plenty high. That is about the only way to get any tax out of the man with money invested in tax-free securities. In order to get an income out of their money, men used to have to invest in some kind of business but that is not true any more and the result is that more and more men are getting their holdings into cash and putting it where they are safe from taxation.

When there were two newspapers in Ord, a merchant, if he used two papers, had to pay 60c an inch for his advertising. Now he buys it in the Quiz for 25c. Of course the circulation of the Quiz is larger in the Ord trade territory than either paper in the old days. Then there were many duplications. The point I am trying to make is that when there were two papers here an advertiser, using but one of the papers, paid as much per inch as he does now and only got a fraction of the coverage. If he paid 60c an inch, the price for both papers was used, he didn't get any more coverage than he gets now. That is why merchants in Ord would not encourage a second newspaper, at least not while the Quiz maintains its present high standard of service to the community and its fairness in news and editorial policy.

I suspect it is really more what he didn't say than what he did, that has caused so much trouble for friend Buechler of the Independent. Every town in the Loup Valley is a big customer of Grand Island wholesale houses and thousands of residents of the Loup Valley go to Grand Island and trade with the retail merchants of that city. It has always seemed to me that what would be good for the Loup Valley would surely be good for Grand Island. Still, the support of the Middle Loup project by the Independent has been very lukewarm, to put it as charitably as possible. About the strongest endorsement our North Loup project ever got from the Independent, was when it endorsed the proposition of loaning us some money for a strictly irrigation project, something that we did not and do not want, and if we did the terms were impossible. It seemed to me at the time, that Mr. Buechler showed right where he stood on the power question, by that one article in his paper. I don't believe in the boy-but I am sure Grand Island is being greatly injured because of the attitude of its great newspaper during the past year and it has never heartily supported what the North and Middle Loup Valleys wanted and everyone knows it and I cannot help believing it was a business error on the part of the Independent.

We made a desperate effort to get the Cook Calendars out before Christmas to all who were paid up and no doubt they have their calendars now. We will mail the others as fast as subscriptions are paid as long as the supply lasts.

My friend F. J. Bell writes from Long Beach, where he enjoys himself with the bathing beauties every nice afternoon. He wrote privately to subscribe for the Quiz but he sent along a bundle of Townsend plan propaganda. I do wish we could get that plan into operation but it looks unreasonable and impossible.

Well, the calendars are out and you see I didn't get my picture on the cover. I did a lot of hinting but it didn't "take". Eugene said we would have to make a bigger calendar and Harry was afraid the press wouldn't stand it and they all had excuses, so I finally compromised with them by leaving my picture off. I will have to start my campaign earlier next year. Now if each person who has just received one of our 1935 Cook Calendars, and who has never sent in a recipe, would send just one, what a nice lot Irma would have. Will you?

I would like to see Ord far outshine any other town of its size in the state next Yuletide in the way of home and business house decorations. This can be done by hanging up good enough cash prizes. The Quiz will be one of ten business firms in Ord to finance the prizes and will match any sum the other nine agree upon for each of the 10 to put up. I think the C. of C. should promote the affair. It will not do to wait till next December to start work. It will take time to get material, decide upon decorations and, then get them in place.

Another Year

(Copyright, W. N. U.)

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week. Figures compiled by J. A. Ollis proved Ord to be the greatest popcorn shipping point in the world. Four hundred carloads went out during the year just coming to a close.

Clarence Blessing, H. M. Davis and Charlie Detweiler played a joke on Joe Barta and Ernest Williams by pilfering three fat turkeys brought to them that day by Mr. Hornickel and storing them in the ice box at Jim Misko's market, later calling Barta and Williams to tell them Misko had some dandy turkeys for sale if they needed any. After everybody concerned got a lot of fun out of the affair the turkeys were restored to their rightful owners.

Work was stopped on Ord's new city well until after the holidays. The well was flowing at the rate of 250 gallons per minute, which was up to contract specifications, but sand kept coming with the water and it was feared another well would have to be drilled by the contractors.

A daughter was born to Assistant Postmaster and Mrs. Milford C. Stacy. She was christened Antoinette.

Guy LeMasters went out to Jim Heltz's to spend his vacation hunting rabbits but came down with chickenpox, which spoiled his fun. Mr. and Mrs. George Lane left for Wadina, Ia., after visiting Ord relatives for two weeks, during which time George gained 17 pounds.

25 Years Ago This Week. Ellsworth Ball wrote that he was enjoying a pleasant outing in Mexico.

J. H. Whiting contracted to sell his north eighty near Sumter to J. W. Cummings of Greeley for $200 per acre. Hills on this land were known to hold great quantities of silica. Only $1 was paid down and the purchaser agreed to pay the balance at the rate of 30c per ton on every ton of silica he took out. The Quiz predicted that not much would come of the deal.

The river and creek were frozen to a goodly depth and skating was being enjoyed by the young people. Rev. Flowers, a former M. E. pastor in Ord, was here in the interests of the Nebraska Suspender Co., which he had bought. He planned to continue preaching near Kearney and sell suspenders as a sideline.

A traveling company gave two plays in Ord, "Way Out West," and "When We Were 21." Owing to Xmas programs at the various churches neither play was well attended.

The Ord mayor and city council were asked to send delegates to Lincoln to aid in formation of the Nebraska League of Municipalities.

DR. RICH says: It is the opinion of a great many people, that the New Year, 1935 is going to be a prosperous one. All of us should be in the best of health to meet these better times that are coming. We will need a good mind and a sound body.

You cannot be at your best if you are not well and only half your real self. Resolve now to get rid of your ural trouble soon. Begin the New Year feeling physically fit. See Dr. Rich, Rectal Specialist at Grand Island, Neb. for your cure. Pleasant treatment at sensible prices. Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. (1)

Something DIFFERENT

I thought Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Leggett were very likely the sleeping out-door-late champions of this section, since they are still slumbering nights away on their canvas walled sleeping porch in spite of the cold weather we have had.

But I believe Galen Allen, little son of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, should be awarded this palm, since he insists on taking all his naps in the daytime outdoor yet, unafraid of frost and chilly winds.

Someone is swiping gasoline fearlessly from parked cars in Ord. Which is bad enough. They ought not to take the property of another, of course. But I think they are showing, the robbers I mean, that they lack humane instincts entirely when they steal gas from the car of a doctor, Dr. Kruml in this case. If Dr. Kruml should have an emergency call the lack of gasoline in his car might mean someone's life, possibly even the life of a dear relative of the gas-stealers themselves. I hope they read this.

The east side of Ord surely outdid the west side in the decorating of private homes for Christmas in the lighting contest. There were some beautiful ideas well carried out. I hope you drove around to see them. For instance on one window was a picture of the Three Wise Men on their camels, traveling toward a big star and lights behind the window made it a lovely picture indeed.

At another home a huge cross was made in lights. Mrs. C. E. McGrew had a handsome entry arrangement, using evergreens and colored lights at the corner entrance of her home.

I am sure there were never so many lighted Christmas wreaths in the windows of Ord homes. Drive around and try to count them. I defy you. Some of the tiniest poorest homes have one posted, or even two. Some of the biggest homes haven't any, but most houses have one. It gives a charming feeling of Christmas cheer to see them all.

What I would suggest to improve Ord's Christmas program this year would involve more work for the capable Mr. Duncan, music teacher of the Ord schools, and I know he is busy plenty now.

But I would like to see Christmas carols sung through the streets by a group in red capes and caps. "When We Were 21." Owing to Xmas programs at the various churches neither play was well attended.

Anyone who has Dick Dickens, whether he liked Dickens or not, surely must have absorbed some of his love of Christmas fuss and sentiment.

Delbert Chapman, who has a fine position in Moscow as high ranking medical man of the Naval attaches of the U. S. A. in that city, wrote his mother, Mrs. Florence Chapman, that when he was busy in the afternoon there it was high time for his mother to be in bed. So Mrs. Chas. Bais got to figuring it out for Mrs. Chapman, and informed her that when it is 12 noon in New York it is 7:26 in Moscow or 6:56 p. m. in St. Petersburg. It used to be called.

The Ben Janssen home is attracting visitors at all evening hours, who wish to see the unique decorations of that home. On top the roof and nearly ready to descend the chimney is Mr. S. Claus himself. He had to hurry to visit the Janssens, as Mary and her brothers went to Crete to spend Christmas with their sisters, Elizabeth and Wilhelmina.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Good soup is always popular, for several reasons. It is not expensive, is easy to make, can be varied dozens of ways, and is very good to eat as well as possessing lots of nourishment. It is good for the children, full of the vegetables they need. It is hot and filling for men who have been working with frosty tools on a cold day. It has lots of desirable qualifications, and is always welcome.

How do you make soup at your house? Tell us.

Good Vegetable Soup. Take as much pork as needed for a meal, pork shank or other pork that is not too fat to boil. Pork shank makes the best soup. Cut cabbage in small pieces, parboil, drain, add some cut potatoes and carrots, season with salt, onions and celery to taste, also parsley. Put all in with the meat. Carrots and cabbage have to boil longer so put them in one-half hour sooner than the potatoes. Other vegetables may also be added to this soup as desired.

Mrs. Mike Socha. Lemon Pie. Boil together four egg yolks, four tablespoons cold water, a little salt, one-half cup sugar and the juice and rind of one lemon. Stir constantly until thick, pour into a baked pie shell. Top with a meringue made of the four egg whites beaten stiff with one-half cup sugar. Put in the oven long enough to brown lightly.

Mrs. John Dohberstein. Matrimony Bars. Mix until crumbly one and three-fourths cups oatmeal, one and three-fourths cups flour, one cup brown sugar, one teaspoon soda, one cup butter. Put half this mixture in a large baking pan, which has been greased and floured. Spread with a date filling made as follows: boil together one package of stoned dates, one cup sugar, one-half cup water, let cool before spreading. Put the other half of the crumbly mixture over the top of the date filling, and bake in a hot oven until light brown. Cool, cut in bars. This needs no frosting.

Mrs. Charles Huebner. Oatmeal Bread. Mix two teaspoons salt with one and one-half cups uncooked oatmeal and one-half cup sugar. Pour over it two cups boiling water and let stand. Add, when cooled, one cake of yeast and five cups flour. Let stand about two hours. Mold into two loaves and put into pans. Flavia Twombly Schwarzwalz. Corn Fritters. Stir together thoroughly one cup sweet corn, two beaten eggs, a pinch of salt, three tablespoons flour. Fry by spoonfuls in deep hot fat.

Mrs. Robert Noll. Tarty Cabbage. Cook the required amount of cabbage in boiling salted water. When tender, drain. Make a dressing of one egg, enough cream to moisten cabbage well, salt and vinegar to taste. Grand!

Mrs. Robert Noll. Pheasants Needing Feed. To the Editor of the Quiz: About the pheasants: They surely will need feed. I did not cut the sunflowers that grew on my government-leased land so I thought we would have enough feed to feed our own birds, as there is a draw of mighty fine sunflowers here. However, all my neighbors' birds have come in to harbor and feed in this place and we are going to run short of feed, I am afraid. I have always cut all my waste land in the late summer but did not want to do it this year on account of our birds. I can find no law to compel my neighbors to pay us for feeding their pheasants but I do think those who are able should scatter grain and feed here

In this feeding place. At times, on cold bad days, we have seen as many as 40 to 50 birds in one flock here. I have my land posted against hunting and we never hunted pheasants at all this year. There were only a few young birds hatched last summer. We farmers have fed the pheasants for years and those of us who are sports are willing to do so again, but now, as most of us are held down and are not getting enough grain for our stock, we aren't allowed to get grain from the government to feed pheasants. The pheasants weren't included in my feed loan.

So now, my brother sportsmen, are you going to be good sports or dead ones on a deal like this? You can't feed those birds out of your hand yet but if we have a long hard winter you may be able to by spring. We have a nice flock of quail here also. We are willing to show you and prove to you where many birds feed and roost on bad stormy days and if you will provide feed we'll be glad to undertake the job of feeding them. Or you can come out and feed them yourselves if you like. Just so the birds are brought through the winter. Mid Garner.

Care of The County Board Ord, Nebr.

Dear Jake: The pet goat belonging to Wilber Zangger, slipped up, unbeknown to its master, as goats are so prone to do, and in place of "scoting" three red shirts right off the line" swigged down a pan of Prestone that Wilber had drained from his car while it was being repaired. The goat probably thought he was getting a rare treat by drinking some home brew which had been carelessly mis-laid.

Many a time had Wilber, "got mad and said, he wished the damned old goat was dead" and had threatened many a time, "to take him to the railroad track, and tie him there upon his back". This goat had the happy faculty of adventure, and especially of investigating the top of every car that was driven into the yard. Not of driving the cars, but of driving away the happy visitors in anything but a happy disposition.

"When down the track came the express," carrying the grim reaper, "there lay the goat, you know the rest, sing any old song but not good-bye, this darned old goat too wise to die; he had a scheme up his brain, coughed up those shirts and flagged the train." The goat of Wilber's did his part all right, according to tradition but it is known now there are more good uses to Prestone than merely keeping cars from freezing.

Inasmuch as the FERA managers are having difficulty in providing work for their many workers, I suggest the North Loup river bridge be moved and put in line of the road where it should have been put in the first place. It is now located several rods north, and as a result causes a slackening in the present hurricane of traffic.

No one ever gave a very plausible explanation for the present location, except that the bridge sits all in Valley county and as that county was the one who footed the bill, it felt it should have the bridge all on its own land. This one project ought to keep the FERA busy for quite a spell. Before the movement of the bridge takes place a temporary grade and crossing should be made.

As all the work should be hand labor, and it all comes for nothing, a few FERAers might be made busy any time by knocking out rivets. A few more workers might be supplied with flip boots and put to lugging the steel beams down stream. Then a few other fellows might be yanking out the piling or piers (by hand, of course) and that alone would take considerable time. This is just a suggestion however and the details could be worked out by the county engineer.

No one gives a whoop which counts the bridge sits on. There would be no interferences in form of injunctions, and when the counties are consolidated, as some people are suggesting, Greeley and Valley may be one anyway. Speaking about the consolidation of counties, I suggest Valley and Greeley consolidate and name it Val Gree county. We would have to have North Loup as county seat as a compromise for the inevitable fight that would arise between Greeley and Ord. Then put the FERA to work moving the court houses. The county officers that would have to move down here would just about fill the twelve vacant houses we have now.

Wise King George of England knows which way the straws are blowing. Friends wanted to give him, by subscription, a new yacht costing $150,000. He thanked them, said he could get along well with his old sailing boat, and advised that the $150,000 "be applied to people out of work." That kind of king stays on his throne.

The marquess of Donegal tells the London Sunday Dispatch that Chancellor Hitler, flying over east Prussia, was attacked with gunfire from another airplane, that died at high speed after missing. Perhaps that did not happen, but it might happen.

United States cotton growers decide by a vote of 9 to 1 that they want an extension of the Bankhead act, limiting the production of cotton. Consequently, production will be kept down and prices forced up. So far so good.

Another result will be that foreign countries will gratefully increase their cotton production, safe from competition of United States surplus cotton, and this country's cotton export trade will gradually fade away. Perhaps that is "all right." Cotton growers should know.

THIS WEEK

105 Billions. Be Calm
103 Eyes for an Eye
The Unexpected Pleases
Fourth Place for Us

Secretary Ickes has a real plan, and possesses what might be called vision in spending. He has confidence in this country and its wealth. As chairman of the resources board, Mr. Ickes favors spending $105,000,000,000 in the next 20 or 30 years on public works.

Do not "stand and gaze," or fall backward; that isn't so much money for Uncle Sam. Mr. F. H. Eckler, whose Metropolitan Life Insurance company, biggest in the world, has assets of $4,000,000,000, will tell you that in really good times the United States' income was $90,000,000,000 a year, $80,000,000,000 for wages, $30,000,000,000 of other income.

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" may suit old-fashioned "capitalistic" countries. It does not appeal to Russia. There, to avenge the killing of one man, Kirov, Stalin's friend, 28 more have been shot, making a total of 103.

"A hundred and three eyes for one eye, a hundred and three teeth for one tooth," is a high price, and the number killed may be increased.

The unexpected is interesting and is the essence of humor. Two old gentlemen, falling in their attempt to strike oil, retired to the porch. In the porchhouse back-yard they found, first, a good coal deposit, then struck oil.

Louis Mosenza of New Jersey went hunting deer, walked 20 miles, found nothing. At night he found a large deer hanging in his kitchen. It walked into the front yard, Mrs. Mosenza shot it.

Charles Dana Gibson, able artist, with friends went moose hunting, traveled far, by buckboard in the Maine forest, found nothing, packed guns, drove back to the station. A fine bull moose and two cows walked across the track. They could not get out their guns in time.

An NRA report says the United States comes fourth among nations in the march toward recovery and is gratified. There was a time when fourth place did not particularly gratify Americans, but "small mercies" thankfully received.

Interesting in the report is the statement that countries still on the gold basis—France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland—show least evidence of progress.

Rumania's parliament discussed a young lady with red hair named Magda Lupescu, for whom the Rumanian King, Carol, has shown some partiality. It was suggested in defense of King Carol that "his critics are too weak to be immoral."

That new view of immorality would surprise several well-known characters, including the good St. Anthony. It was not understood that the man who said he could "resist anything except temptation" was a person of unusual strength.

Mr. Joseph J. Fiske observes that among the "one hundred and eighty-one who had incomes of a million dollars a year during the war, the Jews may be counted on the fingers of one hand." He thinks this interferes with Hitler's theory that members of the Jewish race control the world's money and own most of it.

That theory, of course, is nonsense. There is no Jew among the richest men in the United States, who are, or were until recently, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew W. Mellon, Henry Ford and George F. Baker.

Wise King George of England knows which way the straws are blowing. Friends wanted to give him, by subscription, a new yacht costing $150,000. He thanked them, said he could get along well with his old sailing boat, and advised that the $150,000 "be applied to people out of work." That kind of king stays on his throne.

The marquess of Donegal tells the London Sunday Dispatch that Chancellor Hitler, flying over east Prussia, was attacked with gunfire from another airplane, that died at high speed after missing. Perhaps that did not happen, but it might happen.

Funeral services for Willis Taylor were held from the Methodist church Friday afternoon with Revs. Stephens and Warren officiating. Music was furnished by a mixed quartette from the M. E. church. Willis Judson Taylor was born in Nemaha county, Nebr., Oct. 18, 1892 and died at Miller, Oct. 17, 1934 aged 41 years, month and 30 days. He came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor to Valley county in 1902, the family locating on a farm in rural district where Willis grew to manhood. On Sept. 1st, 1915 he was united in marriage with Lena Barnhart. To this union four children were born. They are Arthur Willis, eldest, 18 years of age, Earl Eugene, Myrtle Irene and Esther Louise, also besides his wife and children he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Edna Rouse and Mrs. Bessie Williams, both of Crosbyton, Texas, his mother, Mrs. Amy Taylor of this city, several nieces and nephews and other relatives besides many lifelong friends of the community.

With the passing of this young husband and father the home is desolate at this Christmas time and the community has lost one of its respected citizens. The deceased was a member of the board of directors of the North Loup Cheese Co. He was also a member of the present school board of the city. He was devoted to home and community interests. Burial was in North Loup cemetery beside the body of his father who preceded him in death a number of years ago.

Edna Leona Green, born and reared at North Loup, was the eldest daughter of Herbert J. and Emma Bracc Green. Her birthday was Feb. 7, 1884 and her passing occurred at her home at Woodlake, Calif., Wednesday, Dec. 12, just 23 days after the death of her husband. She was graduated from the schools here in 1901, was baptized and joined the S. D. B. church in 1898, being an active member in the activities of this church for many years. January 6, 1903 she was united in marriage with Truman Gardner Green to whom were born nine children, two daughters having passed away in infancy. The family moved to California in 1932. At the time of her death she was a member of the church at Woodlake of which her daughter Myrtle is pastor. Her children are Howard A. of Anaheim, Calif., Myrtle, Ethel, Dorey and Paul of Woodlake, Neb., Lucille Pegg of Broadwater, Neb. and Mrs. Gertrude Cook of Ord. Myrtle and Dewey were in Nebraska at the time of their mother's departure. She is also survived by her mother, Mrs. Emma Green and sister Leo of this place, a sister, Mrs. Mildred VanHorn of Lorna Linda, Calif., and a brother, L. O. Green of Halger, Nebr. In the passing of Mrs. Edna Green a loving and most devoted wife and mother has gone to the reward which she so earnestly deserved and the children now orphans have been left a blessed heritage by their parents.

BACK FORTY

Agronomists are looking for some grasses that will grow without rain. Two government scientists have just returned from Central Asia with 1,800 different lots of seed from desert plants. Plants that thrive under conditions where drought and wind are worse than in this country.

One of them is a desert grass so full of determination that when it is uprooted by strong winds and blown across the sand it does not die, but takes hold of the soil wherever it lands and starts growing again on the new location. Its home is in the Kara Kum Desert.

Another of these plants will sprout after being entirely dry for four months. It is a perennial sedge that is propagated from shoots.

Many of the grasses brought back thrive in regions where there is no rain except in winter, a summer-long drought such as Nebraska had this year, being the normal state of affairs. Most of the plants are of the type that form a thick turf close to the ground, or have roots that bind the soil.

It is hoped that some of these plants will adopt themselves to our soil and climate and can survive when we have wet years also. Many of our own best native grasses are practically destroyed by intensive grazing.

Some successful importations of grasses have been made to this country. One of the most recent is Sudan grass which was brought over from Khartoum, Sudan in 1909. Other drought-resistant African crops are kafir, milo, ferferta, durra, shallu, broom-corn, and kowliang.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hawkes and children arrived from Denver Friday for the holidays. The family plan to return here to live about March 1st.

The season's festivities began at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening with the presentation of a one-act play, "When the Angel Sang," sponsored by the Epworth League with Miss Carmen Weber, president of the League, as director. Character parts were taken by Billy Sinns as a little shepherd, Bill Tolen, a sage on his way with his gift for the Christ child, which gift is stolen, LaVern Noyes taking the part of the thief. With the appearance of the angel with a message in song, the thief becomes repentant and delivers up the stolen purse, and peace on earth, good will to men predominates. Florence Hudson presided at the piano. Preceding the play Miss Winifred Pettit rendered a violin medley, Christmas Fantasia with Mrs. Ava Johnson accompanying on the piano.

On Saturday morning at the Baptist church the congregation listened with pleasure to the rendition of the cantata, "The Holy Child." Sunday evening at the M. E. church an impressive pageant featuring the nativity was presented by the Sunday school with choir accompaniment. Chief character parts were taken by Paula Jones as the heralding angel, LaVern Hutchins as Joseph, Esther Zangger as Mary. Included in the cast were the three shepherds, three kings, candle bearers and children representing the countries of the world. The costume, stage setting and professional made this pageant beautifully effective. Directors were Mrs. Dailam, assisted by Mrs. Merie Zangger.

Out of town teachers home for the Christmas vacation are Eunice Rood from Edison, Betty Eberhart from Blair, Ethel Jeffries from Ravenna. Nettie Clark was accompanied from Bloomfield by her friends, Mrs. Kemp and daughter Miss Osyth as far as Grand Island. Also with them was Eva Johnson who joined them at Norfolk. At Grand Island Miss Nettie's mother and brother Merlyn met them and accompanying them home from Grand Island was Daryl Noyes, coach at Hildreth. Donald Fisher of Berwyn, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher drove to York Tuesday morning to spend Christmas with the Rolla Fishers'. Miss Mary Davis with her mother came from Gand Saturday and Monday a family Christmas dinner was held at the Alpha Crandall home, with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Crandall and daughter of Curtis and Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart of Omaha present. The dinner was served on Monday because of the Stewart's having to return to Omaha Christmas morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoepfner and children drove to Grand Island Tuesday evening to partake of an evening Christmas dinner with Mrs. Lillie Jones and Phyllis. They returned Wednesday.

"Santa Listens To" was the Christmas play presented at the Baptist church Monday evening.

An unusually interesting program was presented by the grades of the schools at the auditorium Friday morning, opening with a duet by two clever little vocalists, Marjorie Wilson and Teddy Hutchins in "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." Following was an operetta given by the children under Misses Thelin, Weber and Kosch entitled "The Last Doll." Charlotte Jones was especially fine in her role as Madam Shopper. The presentation of the story, "Scrooge's Christmas in Six Scenes," though a little difficult for grade children was very ably enacted, Marvin Jensen acting the part of Scrooge most realistically. The exchange of gifts among the children was an added note to the spirit of Christmas.

Mrs. Merlyn Mayo and daughter accompanied George Mayo from Lincoln Friday, the former being guests of Mrs. Mayo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson for the Christmas season. Wednesday Merlyn came up from Lincoln and today a family dinner is being served at the parental home with the Roy Hudsons also present.

Tongues of Insects and Animals Most Efficient

Most people imagine that the human tongue is the most efficient in the world; actually, those of certain animals and insects leave it far behind, according to a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine.

The chameleon's tongue, though chemically long, is invisible except when it is extended. It works up and down, hitting with unerring accuracy.

Insects on the banks of a stream are whisking them back on its sticky tip into the owner's mouth. Nature forgot to give the snake ears, but she gave it a tongue equipped with auditory organs that enable it to amplify the slightest sound. The snake also employs its tongue as a "feeler" in the dark.

Another marvelous contraption is the butterfly's mouth. Conspicuous spiral tubes, when uncoiled, work like a vacuum pump. The insect's tongue is furnished with an array of dagger-like

Texas and Independence

Texas was for nine years, from 1836 to 1845, an independent republic. After a long controversy over the slavery question, it was admitted into the Union in 1845, on the conditions that the state should retain its unappropriated and vacant land, that new states not to exceed four in number might be formed within its boundaries, and that the United States should settle all questions of boundary with foreign countries. It is not more independent than any other state. In 1915 a resolution was introduced in the legislature providing for the creation of a new state to be called "Jefferson" in the northwest corner of Texas, but no action followed.

"Plus Fours"

"Plus fours" has nothing to do with golf terminology, but from the Guard's regiment in England. The men in the file of the regiment wore and straight trousers were pulled up to the top puttees, held in tightly and so that the trouser draped over the calf of the leg. The from upper quarters was that the trousers must be "plussed four inches over the top of the puttee." The officers, wishing to be more distinguished, had knickerbocker britches made to give the same effect with more flare, and were eventually dubbed "plus fours."

Dementia Praecox

Dementia praecox is a common form of insanity, developing usually in adolescence or early life, and characterized by loss of interest in people and things, loss of effective participation in practical or social life, incoherence of thought and action, and blunting of emotion. Catatonla is a severe type of dementia praecox, characterized by negativism and incoherence and often by catalepsy with alternate periods of stupor and of activity.

Cause of Red Sea Being Red

This long and narrow body of water, since the completion of the Suez canal, the chief thoroughfare of trade between Europe and Asia, is flanked on each side by arid wastes of reddish sands, writes G. H. Turner, in the Kansas City Times. This sand and the red algae form of seaweed, combine to impart to the waters of the sea a reddish tinge much of the time and thus enable it to justify its name.

State University Reports a Large Increase in Freshman Class; Total Registration Up

Lincoln, Nebr.—Heavy increase in student enrollment, more than twice as large as the percentage reported for all American colleges and universities, finds the University of Nebraska now standing twenty-second among all universities in the country in point of enrollment.

The state university now has a full-time first semester enrollment of 5,111 students, finds the report, with a total collegiate enrollment of 5,731 students, the difference being in working students who are unable to take full work. The freshman class increased 28 per cent and numbers 1,738 as compared with 1,358 last year, with large increases in agriculture, commerce, engineering and liberal arts.

Full-time student enrollment at the University of Nebraska increased approximately 11 per cent this year over last, reveals the report, while the national enrollment figure increased 5 per cent. The report also shows that Nebraska with its 28 per cent increase in freshman enrollment made more than double the average national increase of 14 per cent in first year students.

The large University of Nebraska increase contributed greatly to the percentage of change for the state. The nine Nebraska institutions, including the State University, that reported, show a percentage increase of 6.3 as compared with 7.09 per cent for this central area.

With one exception, Texas, the University of Nebraska is the largest school between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast.

Ord Church Notes

Methodist Church

Next Sunday morning some of our college students who are home on their Christmas vacation will assist at the church service. Arthur Auble will render an instrumental solo, and Rodney Stoltz will give a brief talk on Nebraska Wesleyan, and the new Men's A Capella Choir of which he is the business manager. Music by the choir and sermon by the pastor. There will be no evening service. This has been our custom for some time for the Sunday night between Christmas and New Years Day.

Many people spoke of their appreciation of the fine Christmas musical program given last Sunday night by the combined choirs. A well filled house, estimated at about 500, enjoyed the program. (Mearl C. Smith, Minister)

United Brethren

The Christmas season was fraught with good cheer at our little "homey" church. A get-together meeting was held at the parsonage Friday night, the singing of Christmas carols being one of the features of the evening, and many substantial expressions of good will were showered upon the pastor. A Christmas program of unusual merit was given at the morning worship hour and our cash offering to the Otterbein Home more than doubled that of last year. The spirit of the Lord is evidenced in our midst, and with faith in the power of a mighty saviour we face the New Year!

Soybean Hay Will Be Shipped To Ord

Farmers of Valley county are going to be permitted to purchase a splendid feed consisting of a mixture of ground soybean hay and cane molasses, said Agricultural Agent C. C. Dale yesterday. This feed will soon be available through the county feed association, he prophesied.

Inasmuch as soybeans are not grown extensively in the Corn-husker state, there doubtless will be those who will question the feeding value of this mixture. Experiments conducted in a number of states where soybeans are grown have tended to show that soybean hay of good quality, such as that which will be available to Valley county farmers, is equal to and not infrequently slightly superior to good alfalfa hay. Soybeans are a legume and consequently high in protein, a nutrient which is very low in most of the poor quality drought rations which are available in Nebraska this winter.

The mixture which will most likely be available in Nebraska contains 70 per cent ground soybean hay and 30 per cent cane molasses. Experiments conducted at the University of Nebraska and other experiment stations have indicated that molasses fed in limited quantities possesses a value approximately equal to that of corn. With corn now costing the farmers of the state $40 per ton, it is easy to see that this soybean-hay-and-molasses mixture is relatively the best buy available. It is highly nutritious, to a large extent digestible, and should prove satisfactory in the ration for most farm animals.

The soybean hay will be inspected by government graders as it is loaded, and only hay of good quality will be used. Inasmuch as a relatively large amount of this product is available at once, it would be well for farmers and feeders to anticipate their needs and place orders with the local feed association at once.

The mixture is available in 100-pound bags and therefore offers no difficulty from a handling standpoint. Both soybean hay and the soybean-molasses mixture offers a balanced ration for work horses or milking cows, says Dale. It is not necessary to feed any other supplement with this feed, although the daily ration can be cheapened by mixing it with straw or fodder for cows not milking or idle horses. The price at which this product will be available to Nebraska farmers is below corn and alfalfa when the cost of the daily ration is considered. There should be absolutely no waste in feeding this product.

Private feed dealers in Ord are also making arrangements to ship in government-inspected soybean hay and possibly the soybean-molasses mixture also. Prices have not yet been announced.

Romance Surrounds Early History of Lowly Tomato

The early history of the tomato is replete with romance, legends and fairy tales, writes a correspondent in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Disregarding the latter two, it is known that the tomato did not make its appearance in North America until about 1650, and then only as an ornamental bush with glowing, brilliant red "love apples" dangling from stems to tempt the Adams of that day.

The hated witches were reported as using tomatoes in their concoctions and cantations to "shoo" away devils and pronounce curses upon those who harangued them. One witch in early times was said to have used tomatoes in her soups and as sauces for her meats, but it was current belief of those about her that she was immune to poison and the bitter fire held by the beautiful red tomatoes she grew about her lowly hut.

The tomato is believed to have originated in one of the American tropics. It was eaten only by wild tribes, being called by them to-mat. Humboldt reported that Mexicans sowed tomato seeds among their maize, calling it to-mat, using it mainly for sauces and relishes to enrich their highly seasoned foods.

It was first introduced into Europe under the names of "mala Peruviana" and "pomi del Peru," thus giving substance to the idea that Peru was the first place the tomato was found.

Legends of the Unicorn Once Were Believed True

The unicorn which figures in the British Royal Coat of Arms is emblematic of Scotland and was introduced in the Royal Coat of Arms at the time of the union of Scotland and England, says the Montreal Herald. The unicorn is a purely fabulous creature, having the head of a horse, the hind legs of an antelope, the tail of a lion and sometimes the beard of a goat. The horn which projects from the center of the forehead is similar to that of a narwhal.

Though as a rule savage and quarrelsome, the unicorn at mating-time was said to become very gentle to his mate, which is supposed to have given rise to the medieval idea that the unicorn was subdued to gentleness at the sight of a virgin, and would come and lay his head in her lap, which was the only means by which he could be caught, because of his swiftness and ferocity.

The picture of a unicorn on a drinking cup symbolized an ancient belief of the efficacy of the unicorn's horn (sometimes used as a drinking cup) against poison. Another medieval legend about the unicorn is that when it stooped to drink from a pool, its horn, dipping into the water, purified and rendered it sweet.

Colors of Races

In the diet of our ancestors is found the answer to the question, why the first men were black, the result of a diet consisting chiefly of vegetables and fruits, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. The addition of milk to the diet of some of them, evolved a skin of brownish hue. The Mongols of Asia, among the first to tend flocks of domesticated animals, mixed meat with their milk and fruit and vegetables, and thus developed the yellow race, of which the red race (American Indians) is an ethnological division. The addition of salt to the foods of the Caucasians exerted a bleaching influence that resulted in the evolution of the white race.

Hickory a Native American

The hickory has a special attraction because it is a native American tree. It is not, like the Norway maple or the English elm, of foreign ancestry. The Indians called it the pohickory, but in the course of time Americans dropped the first syllable. They used it for bows and for war clubs. It is now used for ax handles, wheel spokes, chairs and barrel hoops, and the like. A basket made of hickory strips will outlast the maker's lifetime. As a fuel burned in an open fireplace, it has no superior.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Many Named Washington

The following states have villages or towns named Washington: Maine (2), Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania (2), Virginia, West Virginia (2), North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, and California (2).

Color of the Black Sea

The waters of the Black sea, of great importance to the Soviet republics of Russia, are not black, notes G. R. Turner, in the Kansas City Times. Nevertheless, there is ample justification for the name. It is visited in summer by violent storms that churn the water into an inky mass, and in the winter there drift over it heavy fogs that obscure the sunlight and lend a dark aspect to its surface.

Nuthatch Never Talks

The noise that we know as the nuthatch noise is not a song at all. It is a nasal "yank, yank," which the nuthatch uses as a vehicle of audible soliloquy, for he never talks to anyone. His song is different, and not so frequently heard. It is almost a whistle, and it has music in it. It is not as good as the "peto" of the tufted titmouse.

GRADE SCHOOL PROGRAMS WERE ABLY PRESENTED

Pantomimes, Playlets and Music Combine to Make Tiny Tots Affair Most Enjoyable.

The grade school pupils presented their Christmas programs on Thursday and Friday, afternoons of last week. The order of presentation was as follows: 1:30 Thursday afternoon, the first and second grade; 2:30 Thursday p. m., the third and fourth grade; Friday afternoon at 1:30 the first and second grades; at 2:00, the kindergarten, and at 3:00 the fifth and sixth grade pupils.

The first and second grade program opened with a Christmas Welcome. This was followed by an exercise "Our Gift for You," a short poem, "If," a reading, "A Weighty Decision," the story "The Little Christmas Tree," a reading, "Christmas Gift," a piano solo, "Silent Night," a dialogue, "The Spirit of the Christmas Tree," and a group of singing of "Upon the House Top," and "Christmas Day" concluded the program.

The third and fourth grade program was composed of the following numbers: A Welcome Address; a Pantomime, "The First Christmas"; a playlet, "The Three Runaway Christmas Trees," and a clarinet solo. Miss Swain was the faculty director.

At 1:20 Friday the second grade under the supervision of Miss Kosmata, presented the following numbers: "A Real Welcome," "The Night Before Christmas," a recitation, "A Christmas Recipe," "The Road to Toyland," a class singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and "Silent Night," a recitation, "The Best Place," and as a closing number, "Goodbye," was read.

Miss LeValley as supervisor, the kindergarten presented Friday afternoon the following program: A reading, "Though My Size is Small," "The Christmas Candle," a duet, "Luther's Cradle Hymn," "Changing Styles," "A Christmas Discussion," an exercise, "Things We Want," a reading, "It Pays to Economize," "A Little Girl's Lament," and a duet, "Silent Night," which concluded the program.

Miss Elliot, Miss Finley, and Miss Gossard directed the fifth and sixth graders in the following program which was presented at 3:00 Friday afternoon. The program consisted of a welcome song, a saxophone solo, by Harry James McBeth, a short operetta, "Santa's 99th Birthday," a dialogue, "Celebrating Santa's 99th Birthday," and the class singing of a Christmas selection which concluded the program.

From the Sidelines!

Do you know why all the students in the boys and girls gym classes wore such long faces last week? After a very intense investigation, we found the cause to be in the fact that because of preparations for the Christmas program in the auditorium, they could not have gym. Boy! Were they burning up when the daily announcement came out and read "Will the gym classes please report to room 14 for study today?"

The Loup Valley Basketball season will be under way—the season starts directly after Christmas vacation. I see where the Elba boys edged out St. Paul (our first opponent) last Friday night by a one-point margin, 42 to 43. We hope to increase that margin a little when we play 'em, yow zah. Coach Brockman is going to be able to put a team on the floor this year that will average over six foot per man—regular beanstalkers! With all that height, they should really tear things up, and how!

Don't be surprised if in walking down the hall one of these Junior HI boys gives you the high hat—why? It's all because of the fact that Junior High basketball team is to be presented with brand new jerseys to wear in their games—and what games! The Junior High has one of the toughest schedules that any of our Junior High teams have ever had. They have five games scheduled: Sargent, Arcadia, Burwell, Scotia and North Loup.

Say—you want to be looking for our special FOOTBALL EDITION of the Oracle next week! It's going to be a whiz!

Santa Claus

Old Santa Claus is coming, With his reindeer eight, Down from the land of ice and snow, I'm sure he won't be late.

He cracks his whip and yells and sings, To the reindeer on high, As they go across the banks of snow, Which lie up there in the sky.

The glad old moon, a round old moon, Goes sailing cross the sky, And makes old Santa's light for him. So he can go sailing by.

The first stop is at Betty's house A dear little girl is she, She never scolds or cries or quarrels, For she's as good as she can be.

EDITORIALS

Now that Christmas is over and everyone has what he most desired, or at least we hope you have, it is time to begin making plans for the New Year. Have you made any plans for improvement over last year? There is always something within easy reach which needs readjusting or improving in some manner.

I heard another remark about the meanest man in the world last week that I can't resist passing on. It was: "The meanest man in the world is the one who, on Christmas Eve, takes his shotgun, goes outdoors, fires a shot, and returns to tell his children that Santa Claus has committed suicide."

"Are we going to have a good time when the college kids get home," was a remark overheard the other day. Well, the students are home now and from rumors afloat, we judge that the good times are in progress.

Almost New Years again and many resolutions, such as I'm not going to be absent or tardy from school, I'm going to get my lessons better, I'm going to study in study hall, I'm going to get A's on my report cards, I'm not going to more than one dance a week, I'm only going to spend a dime a week for candy, I'm only going to one picture show a week, and I'm not going to use any more slang, may be heard on every side.

It's so easy to break resolutions though, that, unless you are really in dead earnest and have the determination and will power to stick to your resolve, I think it is all rather silly and useless.

The musical organizations in Ord high school are certainly popular as is proved by the enormous crowd in attendance at the Christmas program last week.

The musical instructors have spent a great deal of time and hard work in their practices and certainly deserve all the credit and praise which they received.

While the students were not in a very agreeable mood last Friday, with vacation so close and everything, they were agreed on one thing. That one thing was that they liked immensely, the two saxophone solos which were presented at convocation Friday afternoon.

I thought, also, that the Junior High selection, "Jingle Bells," which was sung by the entire Junior High classes at the Christmas program the other evening, was also very entertaining. The song is so old, and has been heard by everyone so many times, that the insertion of new words, which incidentally, were originated by Joy Loft, added much to the general enjoyment of the carol.

Since this paper is to be made into a year book, there will, from time to time, be special editions devoted mainly to some activity or division of work in Ord High School. Next week, the page is to be devoted entirely to a football edition, giving an individual write-up on each player, the coaches, as well as a resume of the season's games. Watch for it!

The Oracle staff, in behalf of the entire school, would like to take this means of wishing everyone a happy and prosperous New Year.

A PENNY FOR YOUR THOUGHTS—

This week, we asked the following question of the students: "What New Year's resolution are you going to make?"

"I resolve not to go to any more Thursday night shows."—Reuben Cook.

"I resolve to get to school on time so I won't have to stay thirty minutes after school."—Kenneth Koelling.

"I think I'll try being a good girl for a change."—Norma Mae Snell.

"I'm off the girl friends."—Chas. Mella.

"I'm going to resolve not to step out on my boy friend."—Charlotte Blessing.

"Hub, I'm not telling."—Margie Coe.

"I resolve to only have one boy friend a week, and try to be true to him."—Barbara Dale.

"I guess I'll drink Ovaltine."—Harold Mella.

"I gently resolve not to go to more than two dances a week."—Virginia Fox.

"I resolve not to read any more magazines in study hall."—Don Tunncliff.

"I'm going to resolve to be in bed before nine o'clock—in the morning, at least."—Paul Carlson.

Wise and Otherwise

Say teacher, the doctors operated on my uncle for appendicitis and he had an abscess. They sewed him back together and he died. They buried him in a coffin with a label on the outside.

What did the label say? Opened by mistake.

Don Tunncliff: What are your chances of getting an A on your report card this six weeks, Harry, Harry Zulkoski: The best possible. I'm at the foot of the class.

Says Raymond Cronk: "When I was in Lincoln I was invited out every night. I was invited out of one place six times."

Mr. Watkins: You seem to be a pretty hard worker. Laverne Lakin: Yes, that's my specialty.

Mr. Watkins: What, working hard? Laverne: No, seeming to.

Believe it or not, Billy Tunncliff states that he once was served a steak that was so tough that he couldn't stick his fork in the gravy.

A sophomore got revenge on a wise-cracking freshman the other day in the following manner. Oh, yes! It happened right in front of the freshmen's best girl, too.

Soph: Been scratching your head?

Waitress: May I help you to some coffee? Mr. Crowl: No, help the coffee, it's weaker than I am.

Give me a sentence with the word egg. I ate the cake for tea. Where is the egg in that? In the cake. (The above was from our exchanges.)

He was spouting with great vigor again corporal punishment for boys, which he declared never did any good. "Take my own case," he exclaimed. "I was never canned but once in my life and that was for speaking the truth."

Well, retorted someone in the audience. It cured you.

The roof of room 20 was raised a half inch and the whole school in general was given a jar the other morning when Mr. Cowel said, "Paul, can you tell the class something about Colonel Lindbergh's great feat?" Paul, after scratching his head and blinking his eyes, gave the following answer, "I've never seen Lindbergh's feet but I can tell you something about Charlie Chaplin's."

What's this we hear about finding a cigar on Mr. Cowel's desk in the morning study hall? Have the freshmen boys been up to their tricks again? Mr. Cowel, being a very fastidious person, refused the cigar simply because it was not wrapped in cellophane and had one end half chewed off, not to mention the fact that it was broken and much the worse for the wear.

Light refreshments of hazel nuts and raisins were served at the close of the program.

The program presented by the Latin class Friday morning was as follows: "Adeste Fideles," or "Come All Ye Faithful," sung by the entire group, a talk, "Roman Saturnalia," by Hope Bartunek, "More About the Saturnalia," by Willard Cushing and a play, "Roman and American Christmas compared." The program closed with the serving of gingerbread dolls which symbolized the clay dolls of the Romans.

A high school poet laid this poem in the Oracle room the other day and then beat it. Good thing he did, too! Here it is: Mary had a little lamb, Its fleece was gone in spots, For Mary fired her father's gun, And lamby caught the shots! A second Shakespeare, don't you think.

The First Christmas

The world was wrapped in silence, And the ground was covered with snow, A bright star in the East shone down, On that night so long ago.

Far away in a manger, A little child was laid, In the straw of a lowly stable, There, his bed was made.

There in that little stable, Lay the earth's greatest King, The King, for whom the pealing bells, On Christmas Day do ring.

Far away in the hills, Where the shepherds were watching their sheep, A shining light shone round them, And awakened them from their sleep.

An angel in shining garments, Appeared to them and did say, "Fear not, I bring you tidings of joy, A Savior is born to you this day."

So the shepherds went down to the stable, Where the little Christ Child lay, And the angels kept watch over him, As he lay asleep on the hay.

—Lillian Karty.

The History of THE DAYS

Have you ever met Mr. and Mrs. Day? A more useful family you will never meet. The seven room house in which they live is called the Week and it stands on Month street, which is one of the twelve roads running through Year town, in the wonderful country of Time. We will enter the house and go through the seven rooms together.

In the first room lives Mr. Sun Day who does less work than the rest of the family. He is the father of the family. Far back in history the people worshipped out about the true God, they ceased worshipping him but named a day of the week after him. Now let us go into the next room. I don't think Mrs. Day will have any time to gossip. Everyone knows that Monday Day is the busiest day of the week. It's probably coming after her lazy husband that does it. Her name of Mon is short for Moon, the day sacred to the wife of the sun.

And now we must peep into the room of Mr. and Mrs. Day's eldest son, Tues Day. He receives his name of Tues from the God of War, Tyr. The second son of Mr. and Mrs. Day is named after Woden, a Scandinavian God.

Now, here we are in the fifth room, occupied by Mr. Thurs Day. Thurs Day gets his name from the strong god, Thor. If you ever have a hard bit of work to do, start it on Thursday, the day of strength and power.

The sixth room belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Day's only daughter, Fri Day, named after the goddess Freya. Woden was Freya's husband, Thor her son, and because she might be jealous, a day was named after her. And now here we are in the half-holiday room, Satur Day, who received his name from the Roman God Saturn.

H. S. AUDITOR, JAMMED AS XMAS PROGRAMS GIVE

Ord High and J Entertainment Quality Th

Before a very completely filled auditorium, the high school presented their Christmas program last Thursday evening.

The program, which was divided into three sections, opened with a number of Christmas carols by the Reserve Girls' Glee club. Among them were "The First Noel," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Cradle Song," "Co-entry Carol," "Gesu Bambino," "Infant Jesus," "No Candle Wa There and No Fire," and "Joy of the World." Olga Lukesh was a pianist and Miss Carol Root was the director.

Following this the Junior High presented their play, "Susa Gregg's Christmas Orphans." Lucille Lakin very capably portrayed the part of Miss Susan Gregg, a well-to-do spinster. Alma Uban portrayed the part of Mar Jarvis, a clerk. Mae Klein was admirable as Katie, Miss Gregg's maid-of-all-work. Dick Koups portrayed excellently the part of Hiram Bickett, a cowboy from west. Edwin Hitchman portrayed the part of Krumm, a German tailor. Zikmund enacted the part of Bobby, a newsboy, who sends himself as a present to Jegg and is adopted.

Jensen, Gerald Jirak, and Rogers enact the parts of Ella, Bunch and Slim, neighborhood children.

Following this the entire High class sang "Jingle Miss Bernice Sote and Mabel Lukes were the directors of this play.

The third division of the program consisted of a Christmas cantata, "Noel," which was written by Henry Weber. The program opened with "Pastorale," a piano selection. "Wake, Awake was sung by the boys and girl mixed glee club chorus. Barbara Dale sang a soprano recitative "And in the Sixth Month." "Pea Not, Mary" was sung by a mixed octette composed of Mildred Smith, Eleanore Keep, Ruth Koupa, Ruth Haas, Boyd Holloway, Jac Petty, Kenneth Koelling, Leonard Kilma, Dorothy A sang a beautiful solo, "The Holy Ghost Shall Come Upon Thee. The boys glee club sang "O'er the Distant Mountain." Dorothy A sang a beautiful solo, "The Lord, O Little Town of Bethlehem." "An Slight by the girls glee club. "Was There Were Shepherds" was sung by a girls sextette composed of Alma Hansen, Joy Auble, Pauline Barta, Wauneta Cummins, Evelyn Jorgensen and Charlotte Blessing. The chorus sang "And Lo the Angels of the Lord." Hope Bartunek sang a soprano solo, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." The cantata ended with a selection by the chorus, "Glory to God." Gwendolyn Cass was the accompanist and Mr. Dean Duncan the director of the evening's program.

Last Wednesday afternoon Harf Zulkoski was ordered by Miss Crowl to stay after school until he got the right answer to his Algebra problem.

How far off am I this time, inquired Harry. Just three cents, replied Miss Cronch.

I'll pay the difference, Harf, hopefully volunteered. I have pressing engagement at the cleaners.

—swears to the verisimilitude (look that one up) of the following dialogue.

Barbara: I hear you had word with Dean.

Harold: We had no words.

Barbara: Then nothing passed between you?

Harold: Nothing but one bribe.

NOTICE

The recent advance in the hog market has created a good demand for feeder pigs. All weights are bringing good prices—don't let anyone steal them—bring them in and get their full value.

The demand for cattle is the best since last summer—a good many stocker cattle will bring above government price.

Weller Auction Company - Ord

Ord Coop Oil company was a close runner-up, having a network of red and green globes strung overhead to make a bright pattern. The Auble building is also beautifully decorated, as are windows in most stores around the square.

Without doubt Ord's decorations this Christmas were the most beautiful in history, not only in the business district but throughout the residence sections. All people who decorated are requested to have their lights burning every evening this week and until after New Year's day if possible, in order that they may drive about town and view the prize-winning decorations. The committee in charge of the contest thanks everybody who competed and the judges who devoted their time and thought to what is usually a thankless task. May Ord be even prettier next Christmas than this.

Gov't Buys Seed Oats, Wheat and Barley

Knowing that small grain for spring seeding will be scarce and hard to get this spring, the government has purchased a large amount of oats, barley and spring wheat for distribution in the drouth areas.

Spring wheat of the marquis and ceres varieties will sell for $1.35 per bushel, feed barley of the trebit variety will sell for $1.10 per bushel, making barley for $1.35 per bushel and oats for seventy-five cents per bushel.

This seed is now being held in terminal elevators and as orders from the county are forwarded to Lincoln this grain will be shipped to local elevators in the county for distribution.

Applications for the purchase of this small grain seed for spring planting have been placed in the hands of all drouth committees in Valley county.

Farmers should anticipate their needs and place their orders with drouth committees soon so that this grain may start moving into the county.

There will undoubtedly be a big demand for these grains because the new corn hog contract permits land taken out of corn production to be used for the growing of small grains and other crops.

It will be necessary for farmers to pay cash for this seed, when they get it from the local storage places, but it is anticipated that a government seed loan will be available for those who are unable to finance their own purchases.

Taking of applications and distribution of seed will be under the direction of the County Drouth Committee.
