Ord Newspaper First in State
To Make Its Own Pictures;
Will Extend Territory.

Perhaps the most progressive step ever taken by a weekly newspaper in Nebraska was taken by the Ord Quiz three weeks ago when a photo-engraving plant, complete in all details, was installed in a room specially built for that purpose in the basement of the Quiz building. Cost of the equipment and remodeling was in the neighborhood of $750, reveals Publisher H. D. Leggett.

The Quiz thus becomes the first weekly newspaper in Nebraska and one of the first in the United States to have its own photo-engraving plant. Only three other cities in Nebraska have such plants, Omaha, Lincoln and Hastings.

Good Pictures Wanted.
Primary reason for installing such equipment was to improve the Quiz by making it possible to print many local pictures each week, says the publisher. Engravings made in the Quiz plant have been printed for the past two weeks but public announcement was withheld until the Quiz force could become proficient in use of the equipment. H. E. Jones, who for three years was employed by the Hastings Tribune, will have charge of the Quiz photo-engraving department.

Making engravings for newspaper use is a complicated process involving the use of a dozen or more pieces of equipment and about 60 chemicals.

First necessity is, of course, a photograph of the person or scene. This picture is rephotographed through a screen with a special photo-engraving camera to break it up into dot formation so it can be etched. There are 3,600 dots to the square inch in the negative thus made.

Makes Cut in Hour.
This negative then is transferred to a glass plate and then to a sheet of zinc, then developed and prepared with a special acid-resisting top. The zinc then is baked and then etched in an acid preparation that eats away light portions of the picture, leaving darker portions in relief. The zinc plate then is cut, beveled and mounted on a wooden

Saturday Will Be 'Rooster Day' Here

For several years it has been a custom to have one Saturday in early spring designated as "Rooster Day" in Ord, on which day produce dealers pay a premium price for roosters so as to get them out of flocks and thus render eggs infertile during the hot summer months. Rooster Day this year will occur on Saturday, June 8, and Ord produce dealers will pay $8 per pound for all roosters marketed here that day, this being considerably higher than regular market price. Produce firms co-operating include Ord Coop Creamery, Omaha Cold Storage, Swift & Co., Fairmont Creamery Co., L. M. Loft, Goff's Hatchery, Rutar's Hatchery, Warner Vergin.

Red Cross Wants Funds To Assist Flood Sufferers

$100 Sent Monday From General Fund, Donations Asked By Valley County Chairman.

Valley county people this week are asked for donations to assist flood sufferers of southeastern Nebraska by Miss Clara L. McClatchey, county chairman of the Red Cross. All donations will be gratefully received whether the amounts be large or small, she says. Donations may be given to Miss McClatchey, Ord, to Mrs. Jess Marvel, Arcadia, or to Mrs. Charlie Barber, North Loup.

The Valley county chapter donated $100 for flood relief from the general fund Monday but this is all the money available and appeals for help are coming daily from the flood district, Miss McClatchey says.

"Over 1,000 families are homeless in the region around McCook, Oxford and Arapahoe," stated the Valley county Red Cross head yesterday. "Supplies of food, clothing and medicine are running low. At least 100 people are dead and many more are injured. Parts of the state that escaped flood damage must rally to the support of these sufferers."

In Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island and other Nebraska cities campaigns to raise funds for flood relief are being carried out by the Red Cross, it is claimed. No formal drive will be conducted here but voluntary contributions will be gratefully accepted.

Valley County's Best 8th Graders

Marjorie Hughes, top, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes and attends school in District 13 with Miss Mildred Hrdy as teacher. To Marjorie goes the honor of having the highest scholastic ranking of any 8th grade student in Valley county, her general average being 97.5.

Wilma Kluna, bottom, attends school in District 35 with Miss Genevieve Rathbun as teacher and was Valley county's second best 8th grader, having an average grade of 95 13-14 in all subjects. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kluna.

Perry Timmerman Sued For Divorce

Wife Charges Cruelty and Asks Custody of Children; First Hearing Held Monday.

Charging extreme cruelty, Mrs. Mabel Timmerman last Thursday filed suit in district court, asking an absolute divorce from her husband, Perry Timmerman, custody of their two minor children, alimony, maintenance for the children and attorney costs. She is represented by Assistant John P. Misko.

Mr. and Mrs. Timmerman were married here on March 17, 1923 and for several years their domestic difficulties have been considerable in the public eye. A few weeks ago Timmerman plead guilty to assaulting his wife and served a short sentence in county jail.

Spley Testimony Heard.
Children of this pair are Lavonne, 8, and Joyce, 7, and over the question of who shall have custody of them pending final disposal of the divorce action a brief but highly seasoned court case was held Monday afternoon, with Judge E. P. Clements on the bench.

Several witnesses testified about the moral turpitude of both Mr. and Mrs. Timmerman at the morning session, after which Judge Clements continued the case until 1:30 p. m. News of the sensational nature of the case became known and the court room was crowded when court convened in the afternoon, but sensation-seekers were doomed to disappointment as Judge Clements cut short the testimony of Mrs. Timmerman when he announced that he was convinced, from the morning testimony, that neither she nor her husband was suitable to have custody of their children.

Children Are Separated.
Temporary custody of Lavonne was given to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Timmerman, her paternal grandparents, and temporary custody of Joyce was given to Mrs. Myrtle Jorgensen, mother of the plaintiff.

Permanent custody of the youngsters, as well as other issues involved, will be settled when hearing of the divorce action itself is held in a few weeks. Davis & Vogelzanz are the attorneys representing Mr. Timmerman in the affair.

June 15th Closing Date On Seed Loans

The local seed loan office has been informed that all applications for seed loans must be in the Omaha office not later than the close of business on June 15, which means applications must be made at the local office not later than June 12. Anyone expecting to get a seed loan should make application immediately.

Diplomas Awarded To 127 8th Grade Students Tuesday

Clara McClatchey in Charge Of Presentation, Rev. Wantz Is Principal Speaker.

Eighth grade graduation exercises were held Tuesday evening in the Ord high school auditorium for 127 eighth grade students, who received their diplomas at this time. Miss Clara McClatchey, superintendent of schools, was in general charge of the program.

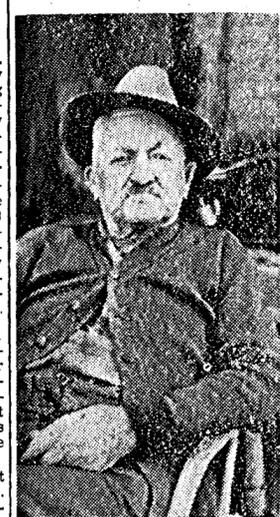

Rev. Willard McCarthy gave invocation, following which the rural school chorus, made up of forty voices from the various Valley county schools, sang six selections, "Love's Old Sweet Song", "Annie Laurie", "Auld Lang Syne", and several more simplified selections. This plan of having a rural school chorus was originated last year and since that time much progress has been made. Students in the various schools learn a group of recommended songs and sing them for the first time, as a group, at this program. The group was small this year due to so much sickness in the schools, but this did not detract from the pleasing quality of the work. Mrs. J. W. Severns directed the students and Miss Keo Auble played their accompaniment.

Gave Pleasing Chalk Talk.
Rev. Charles F. Wantz, speaker of the evening, gave an excellent and entertaining chalk talk lecture. With his chalk Rev. Wantz demonstrated the beginning of art, the first schools, the changes in individuals who control schools, how crime begins, the processes of evolution, and lastly, he drew Abraham Lincoln, the typical self-made American.

Miss Clara McClatchey presented the attendance awards to students who had been neither absent nor tardy during the school year. Forty Valley county students had achieved this record and were presented with certificates of award. Willard Harkness,

Wm. Wigent Marched Thru Georgia With General Sherman, John Carson Served In 16 Battles; Ord's Last Civil War Veterans

William Wigent, who will be 92 years old on July 25, is the Civil War veteran pictured above. His fondest memory is of marching to the sea with Sherman, though Mr. Wigent fought in many battles, principally in the south. A bloody one was at Corinth, Miss., others at Atlanta, Marietta, and Dallas, Ga., Lookout Mountain, etc. Enlisting in 1862 at Hartford, Mich., Mr. Wigent served three years with Company D, 66th Illinois Sharpshooters, receiving an honorable discharge at Springfield, Ill. A bullet struck him on the head, but did not make a severe wound as it had already passed through the side of a tree and the body of another soldier.

Coming to Valley county in 1874, Mr. Wigent still owns his original homestead in Springdale township, where he was postmaster two years. He always kept the latch string out and all comers were welcome. He now makes his home in Ord with Mrs. Nancy Covert, his only child.

The Wigent family are having a big reunion in Bay City, Mich., this coming August, but Bill, the oldest living Wigent, last of his family, does not think he can go, as he is not as strong as he was three years ago when he last made the trip. But he is proud that he can walk down town yet, and frequently does so. Mr. Wigent is quite deaf but otherwise in fairly good health for one of his years. He enjoys telling about his war day memories.

6.14 In. of Rain In May, Wettest Since 1923

Ord's moisture total during the month of May was 6.14 inches, says Horace W. Travis, government weather recorder, and this was the wettest May Ord has seen since 1923, when 9.08 inches fell during the month. In only two other years since 1899 has May been as wet, May, 1903 bringing 6.22 inches and May, 1905, bringing 7.04 inches.

Moisture total for the first five months of 1935 is 12.56 inches, almost two inches more than fell during the entire year of 1934. So far in June .11 inches of rain has fallen, this coming after midnight May 31 but too late to be counted in the May total.

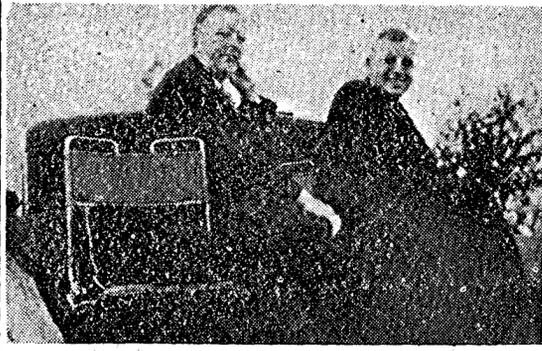

Nights have been chilly for the past week but there has been no frost, 46 degrees being the low point reached.

Start Work Today On Second Diesel

Will Take a Month to Install Second Engine, Says Allen; First Satisfactory.

Work of installing the second Diesel engine purchased for the Ord electric plant will begin today and will take about a month, Light Commissioner George Allen told the Quiz yesterday. The first engine, installation of which was completed about two weeks ago, is entirely satisfactory, he says. It has been hauling the entire plant load for several days and fuel consumption is even lower than had been expected. The second engine is smallest of the two and since switchboard changes have already been made it will take a shorter time to install. When this engine goes into service the Ord plant will be entirely oil burning, although one of the present steam boilers will be kept as a stand-by habit.

Memorial Day Speakers in Ord

3,000 Bullheads Placed Near Ord

A state fish hatchery truck visited Ord Monday bearing a load of 3,000 lake-grown bullheads seined from lakes near Seneca, Nebr. The fish were planted in creeks near Ord at places pointed out by Ign. Kluma, Jr., county clerk, but names of the streams were not revealed. It is illegal to catch these fish for two weeks after they are planted. The bullheads planted here were spawners and it is hoped they will repopulate the creeks with their kind.

Last summer streams near Arcadia were well stocked and this year it is hoped that fish will be available for all creeks adjacent to Ord and North Loup. Several more truck-loads have been ordered, Kluma says.

Allotment Board Hasn't Acted On No. Loup Project

Gov. Cochran Has Conference With PWA; Middle Loup Is Filing New Application.

Back from Washington where he held long conferences with Frank C. Walker and other PWA officials about the North Loup power and irrigation project and other projects in Nebraska's work relief program, Governor Roy Cochran said yesterday that "the door is not yet closed on Nebraska's proposed power and irrigation developments which have not yet obtained funds." The governor returned to Nebraska by airplane to inspect flood damage in the Republican river valley.

In all his conferences Gov. Cochran stressed importance of the North Loup and other irrigation projects, he says. The North Loup's amended application has been approved by both legal and engineering divisions but not by the allotment board, he was told at Washington.

New Try by Middle Loup.

A new application for the Middle Loup will be filed in the near future, it was stated this week by Kenneth T. Finlayson, of Omaha, law partner of Senator Burke and attorney for the project. The new application eliminates power development and asks for funds for irrigation only. Speedy approval of the new application is prophesied by Finlayson.

Yesterday Dwight F. Felton, of Ogallala, former head of the state department of agriculture, was named works relief director for Nebraska. The state will be divided into eight districts and a supervisor appointed for each, these men working under Felton's direction in directing the expenditure of Nebraska's share of the $4,480,000,000 fund recently appropriated by Congress.

Although he has no more direct information, Bert M. Hardenbrook, president of the North Loup, said yesterday he is hopeful of approval by the allotment board.

Ord's Memorial Day Observance On Usual Lines

Legion Sponsors Services At Cemetery Thursday; Reudink In Powerful Address.

Memorial day services in Ord last Thursday morning followed usual lines, the impressive rites being sponsored by Fidelity post No. 38, American Legion. Weather was ideal and a large crowd was present.

At 10:00 a. m. ex-service men gathered at the Legion memorial plot near the south gate of the cemetery and supervised formation of the parade. Leading was the United States flag, borne by C. J. Mortensen and the Legion banner, carried by Dr. F. L. Blessing, with Orville Sowl and C. C. Dale as guards of honor. Then came the band, then the Legion firing squad, and then three veterans of the Spanish-American war, E. C. James, Robert Cook and Howard Mason. No Civil war veterans were present, neither William Wigent nor John Carson being able to make the trip to the cemetery. Also in the procession were ladies of the G. A. R., of the Legion Auxiliary and several Legionnaires, followed by the general public.

Reudink Able Speaker.
At the Legion plot at the north end of the cemetery a truck served as a rostrum for Rev. A. E. Reudink, of Arcadia, principal speaker of the day, and E. L. Vogelzanz, who introduced him. Rev. Reudink's address was a powerful patriotic argument combined with a tribute to dead heroes of America's wars. He is an interesting and forceful speaker and the crowd paid him the compliment of attending his remarks closely.

Alfred Weigard, serving as Legion chaplain, read the memorial prayer and the band, directed by Dean S. Duncan, played several

Marion Vincent Dies Sunday At Scottsbluff

Marion Vincent, former Ord resident, passed away Sunday morning at his home at Scottsbluff. Mr. Vincent, a retired farmer, moved to Scottsbluff last fall. He had been in poor health for several years and his death was not a surprise to his many friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Ace Vincent and Guy Vincent, drove to Scottsbluff Saturday returning to Ord yesterday with the body for burial in the Ord cemetery. Funeral arrangements were not complete last night.

Surviving Mr. Vincent are his wife, his mother, Mrs. A. A. Vincent, and four children, Ace and Guy Vincent of Ord, Ross of Minatare, and a married daughter, Mrs. Jim Randolph of Seattle, Wash., also several grandchildren. All the children will be in Ord for the services.

Favor Reviving Valley Co. Fair And Auto Races

Men Present at Meeting Monday Eve Enthusiastic; Board To Meet Next Week.

Revival of the Valley county fair and auto races is forecast as result of a meeting held Monday evening in the city hall when about thirty men, including five members of the fair board, were enthusiastic about prospects for a fair this year. Every man present spoke in favor of reviving the fair.

Definite decision is up to the fair board and after the meeting President C. W. McClellan, of North Loup, said that a meeting of the board will be held next Monday evening and the question will be discussed, although directors may decide to wait about two weeks before announcing definitely that a fair will be held. Crop prospects, weather and general conditions in two weeks will govern the decision, he indicated.

North Loup Favors Fair.
Val Pullen, president of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, called the meeting Monday and presided. Present, besides fair board officers and directors, were Mayor Gould B. Flagg, several Ord business men and two representatives of the North Loup community club. Neither Arcadia nor Elyria was represented. The North Loup men said their community will support the fair, if it is held.

General sentiment seemed to favor auto races as the principal attraction and Clyde Baker, race superintendent in 1931, stated that he has been in communication with various race drivers and all are anxious to drive here this year if a fair is held. So many auto race meets were discontinued during the depression that it will be possible to attract high calibre drivers to Ord with smaller purses than in former years, Baker believes.

Track in Good Shape.
The fair grounds track is in excellent condition, stated Charles Bals, and little expense will be necessary to put it in shape for fast races. Roof of the grandstand, which blew off during a recent wind storm, will have to be replaced and some repairs on fences and buildings, will be necessary, but total cost of restoring grounds and buildings to A-1 condition should not be great.

The question of dates was discussed at great length. C. J. Mortensen suggesting that the fair be held late in July or early in August, before the Burwell rodeo. Majority sentiment, however, seemed to favor holding the fair early in September. Valley county's old August dates have been taken by Greeley and Sherman county fairs, it was stated.

New Rexall Sale Is Going Good--Beranek

A new type of Rexall sale, a June "health and beauty" sale, is being held all this month at the Ed F. Beranek drug store and though this is the first time a sale of this type has been held in Ord Mr. Beranek says it is going over good. Bargains that compare favorably to 1-cent sale offerings are being sold, he says. Mr. Beranek plans to hold a sale of this kind every year in future, in addition to 1-cent sales twice annually.

Corn-Hog Signing Days Announced

The Valley county corn-hog allotment committee announces the following signing dates for Group No. 1 signers only:

- Thursday, June 6—Arcadia township at Arcadia library.
- Friday, June 7—Davis Creek township at Davis Creek school house.
- Saturday, June 8—Elyria township at Elyria town hall.
- Monday, June 10—Enterprise township at Dist. 9 school.
- Tuesday, June 11—Eureka township at Dist. 44 school.
- Wednesday, June 12—Geranium township at National hall.

Other signing days probably will be announced next week.

Signers are requested to bring record book with map of farm drawn inside cover, showing fields to be planted to corn. If hog records in book have not been filled in bring all sales slips on hogs sold since Dec. 1, 1934.

Burlington Trains Will Run Earlier

Changes affecting the schedule of Burlington passenger trains went into effect here Sunday, announces the local agent, Henry Frey. No. 53, west bound, has been arriving at 8:34 a. m. and beginning Sunday arrives at 7:47 a. m. The eastbound train which has been getting in from Burwell at 10:10 a. m. will, in future, reach here at 9:34 a. m.

Charlie Stearns Frozen to Death, Joe Leecy Lost Both Limbs When Caught in Sand Hill Storm--A Saga of the Upper Loup

Dr. Gard, Who Lived at Kent As a Boy, Recalls Incident Of Early 1880's.

The impressions made on one's mind when very young often stay with him throughout the remainder of his life. So with that thought in mind I wish to relate that in the little town of Kent, in Loup county, long since in the limbo of things forgotten, and where now only remains the schoolhouse as a reminder of the once thriving little village, the writer, when a lad of about five years of age, had on several occasions watched a young man who was perhaps twenty-seven hobble up to a goods box and laboriously seat himself thereon and then remove from his pocket a large-sized jack knife and start to whittle. When the curiosity of the small boy drew him close to the whittler to see what he was making, the whittler would cross his legs and, with the handle of his knife, pound on his shin bones with a resounding sound somewhat resembling that made by a woodpecker digging for a worm in an old maple tree. Credulous as we were, we knew there was a reason for such unearthly sounds emanating from an apparently normal leg, when all he did was to pound on it with the handle of his knife. So we asked our father why it was and were told that the man had been frozen and that his feet and lower limbs had been amputated, and, believe it or not, that man was wearing two wooden legs--somehow of a novelty in that long gone period.

Of course it is a calamity for one to lose his leg, but to lose both legs is a catastrophe that even the hardest of the hardy surmounts with difficulty, and to say that this young man, Mr. Joe Leecy, by name, was such is proven by the following narrative of the circumstances that caused him to lose his legs and almost his life.

One morning in the early spring of the very early 1880's two young men, Charlie Stearns and Joe Leecy by name, set out on horseback from Long Pine to cross the divide that separates the Long Pine country from the North Loup valley. That country was absolutely devoid of settlers at that time, and people had to arrange their trips so that they could reach their destination during the daylight hours, as it was impossible to get accommodations for the night, and the weather was too uncertain to chance sleeping out under the stars.

The young men had neared the half-way of their journey when the wind changed, and in a few minutes they found themselves in the midst of the worst blizzard that this country has ever experienced. The weather prior to that day had been very mild, and so no one was prepared for a storm of such intensity, and accordingly these young men started out with the lightest kind of traveling equipment, hence when the temperature had fallen to away below zero, their suffering became almost unbearable. They stripped the saddles from their horses and turned them loose, then they wrapped themselves in their saddle blankets and took shelter in a blow-out and remained until morning. The storm had shown no signs of abating, and being very cold they concluded that they should make the attempt to reach the valley of the Grace Creek, and perchance the Dick Rea ranch house that was located on that stream. So they set a course due south as straight as any mariner could have done on the high seas with a modern compass; and their tracks in the snow showed that they did not deviate from their course. They went up hill and down dale, always due south in a straight line, and their efforts would have been crowned with success had it not been for a very unfortunate accident. Stearns was leading the way when they came upon a sandhill pond that was covered with snow, and the ice had not frozen to a sufficient thickness to bear their weight, and Charlie broke through the ice and went into the water above his knees. Joe helped him out and also helped him to remove his boots, and they dried his feet as best they could, but that was not well enough. The weather had been getting colder and colder, and it was not long before Charlie's clothes were frozen stiff, and his feet began to freeze. But in spite of this handicap they kept on until Stearns finally dropped from utter exhaustion. He called Joe requesting a chew of tobacco, but before Joe could get his benumbed fingers to working to produce the "chew" Charlie heaved a long sigh and expired, frozen to death.

When the searching party, several days later, found the body it was discovered that Charlie had broken his leg some time between the time they had broken through the ice on the pond and the time he fell exhausted, but being so numb with the cold or so thoroughly frozen, he had not felt the pain of the fracture, leastwise he did not express to his partner that anything was wrong other than being desperately cold.

After Charlie had passed on, Joe realized that he must get going or he too would share a like fate. So, wrapping Charlie's body in the blanket, so that the wolves could not get to it so easily, he started on the almost hopeless trek to the coveted haven, the ranch house. Along toward the end of the second day, being weak from lack of food, and desperately tired, he became confused in his directions, but he kept on aimlessly. He was completely lost in the sandhills in a blinding blizzard. What must have been his anguish of mind or agony of soul to find himself without a direction to rely upon, and to keep alive within his strength and determination to keep on the move. Can anyone who knows the sandhills imagine a worse predicament? Joe, in his wanderings, stumbled onto an old road, and, resigning himself to his fate, wrapped his blanket about him and lay down in the rut of that old road to what he thought was his last long sleep. But the great God of the Universe, who mixes justice with mercy, and tempers every wind that blows, seemed in His wisdom to have stepped in, and the storm abated; enough so that a traveler by the name of Maxwell, who had been storm-stayed at the Rea ranch, started for his home in Ainsworth. He saw what he took to be a saddle blanket that someone had lost. Getting out of his rig to pick it up he discovered it covered the freezing form of Joe Leecy. Mr. Maxwell rushed Joe back to the ranch house as fast as his team could travel. First aid was administered, the frozen limbs thawed out, and the next day Joe was taken to Fort Hartsuff where Dr. Tower, physician to the Military Post, amputated his legs--a heroic measure necessary to save his life. After a period in the hospital Joe was released and fitted with those wonderful limbs that resounded so loudly when tapped upon with the handle of that jack knife. Although the passing of more than a half century has taken its tremendous toll of those early pioneers, yet there are those among us who recall this incident very vividly, as well they might, for should not a feat of such fortitude and suffering etch itself indelibly upon the minds of those who knew the details at first hand.

Joe Leecy's time was the day of the pioneer, opening up a vast country where the mighty buffalo, deer and Texas longhorns roamed at will. Our time is the development of that country, exploited at times perhaps, yet the hundreds of settlers whose fields and flocks dot every hillside give evidence that the day of the pioneer is definitely over.

Joe Leecy, you are an old man now, and I know not where you are, but wherever you are or wherever you go, I salute you, and may the great God who carried you through your harrowing experience in those early pioneer days rest your soul forever.

GEO. R. GARD
My thanks is due to my good friend, the Honorable Marcus E. Getter of Long Beach, California, who was one of those early pioneers, and who so kindly refreshed my memory concerning some of the pertinent facts of the foregoing narrative.

Ellen Andersen, Reginald Beeghly Wed

County Judge John Andersen performed the ceremony Saturday evening at eleven o'clock which united his sister, Miss Ellen Andersen, in marriage to Reginald Beeghly. The wedding was a quiet affair which took place at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Andersen. Only immediate relatives were present, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Andersen and Mrs. John Andersen.

Both young people are popular in Ord's younger set. Mrs. Beeghly graduated from Ord high school in the class of '29, and her husband in '28. For the past year she has been employed at the Nebraska State Bank, where she will continue to work. Mr. Beeghly has just completed his first year at Kirksville, Mo. where he is studying osteopathy. He has three years of training remaining. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Beeghly of Arapahoe, who lived in Ord until a few years ago.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Rev. L. M. Real Writes.
Greenfield, Tenn., May 27, 1935
To the Editor of the Quiz:
It was hard to leave your fair country in more ways than one. Mrs. Real, Beverly and I felt a hearty interest in the church, also in the affairs of the whole community. It was with the shedding of many tears that we bid you farewell at the parting of the way of our earthly journey and a prayer that we may be reunited in the fair country beyond the river that the Bible tells us about.

Even the car contributed to making it hard for Beverly and I to leave Ord. We had not gone more than a mile out of town until the new tire that I purchased from the Aubie garage went flat. As though this was not enough, we continued only a few miles until another tire also went flat. Having fixed two flats and again before noon two more tires went flat at the same time. So you see that it was hard to leave good old Nebraska. From there on we had good luck all the way, both in weather and car operation.

Also our neighbors had a hot meal awaiting our arrival. A large crowd was present at our first church service, which happened to be on Easter. We have a nice large brick church building, supplied with a pipe organ and plenty of educational class rooms. The manse also was partly supplied with furniture which is a great help to us.

Robert and Dale both had a round of measles, while Mrs. Real was visiting her parents, who live in Indiana. Thus, she and the small children did not get to join us at Greenfield until about ten days following our arrival. After the children were well enough to bring home, Mrs. Real made her debut to the southland. The church then had a congregational dinner. Welcoming us into their midst. We have been busy ever since.

My health is somewhat improved, Dale is about the same. The rest of the family is quite well. We are all delighted in our new surroundings and as happy as the birds that are singing all around us.

We will be glad to receive letters from you and will promise to answer them. Because there are so many people to whom I would like to send greetings, I am refraining from writing to anyone until they first write me. Mrs. Real and I are rejoicing with you in the recent rains that you have been receiving and pray that God may bless Ord and vicinity with much rain this year.

Sincerely yours,
L. M. REAL

Christian Science Services.
"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, June 9.
The Golden Text is from Acts 15:18: "Known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world."
A passage from the Bible used in the lesson-sermon is from Acts 17:24, 25: "God that made the world and all things therein, seeing that he is Lord of heaven and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands; Neither is worshipped with men's hands, as though he needed anything seeing he giveth to all life and breath, and all things."
A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Everything in God's universe expresses Him. He is divine Principle, Love, the universal cause, the only creator, and there is no other self-existent. He is all-inclusive, and is reflected by all that is real and eternal and by nothing else." (page 331).

United Brethren Church.
"I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."--Psalms 122:1.
Mr. Sanford is one of those sweet-spirited Christians wholly devoted to his Lord. Besides bringing a message on "The Need of a Revival Today", he opened the services by playing a march of his own composition.
He has with him a saw used in building one of our mission churches in Montana on which he played "Sweet Hour of Prayer," that hymn so precious to the Christian heart. He believes in having everything praise the Lord. He read a poem written by himself, on "Why They Don't Go to Church." He also plays the piano accordion as an accompaniment to original choruses as well as those of other writers and composers.
Subjects for the remaining nights of the week are:
Thursday, "The Old Fashioned Home." This is family night and special recognition will be given to the largest family present, also to the oldest person and youngest child.
Friday, "A Prince in Captivity." This is young folk's night.
Saturday, "Are Prayers Answered?"
Sunday morning, "The Call of the Ages."
Sunday night, "The Finest of the Wheat."
Mamie J. Young, Pastor.

A SOUTH DAKOTA CREAMERY

By R. C. Hunt in Hoard's Dairyman

The dust storms in the spring of 1926 seem very slight in comparison to those of this year, but even then it was a big task to organize and raise money to start a creamery at Volga, South Dakota. After raising $8,000 the times made it difficult to proceed, but the directors were authorized to proceed with the building, and they borrowed $14,000 to carry the work forward.

The plan of operation was daily payment for cream produced and butterfat delivered; the creamery at all times paying a price consistent with the eastern markets. On all cream bought, a patronage dividend was paid every six months, the amount of which was credited on unpaid stock. After the stock had been paid in full, this dividend was paid to the individual in cash. All new patrons were and are made members and stockholders of the association, and their patronage dividends credited to their share of stock until it is fully paid. The policy of the creamery is to buy the share of patrons when they move out of the community.

When the creamery was organized there were seven cream stations operating in Volga. The farmers, however, were imbued with the cooperative spirit to the extent that they would not be misled by the competitive prices, and stuck by their local institution. There is now one cream station operating in Volga.
At the start there was no attention paid to grading cream or the production of quality cream. At that time 95 per cent of the cream produced was sour or off-grade, with but 5 per cent of sweet cream. In June 1929, realizing that something must be done if they were ever to reach the standard of perfection visualized in the beginning, the directors authorized the manager to commence grading cream. After this system was installed, the patronage dividend was 2c higher on the sweet cream. At first the grading brought dissatisfaction from the parties unwilling to give the extra care necessary for the production of sweet cream. It was soon discovered, however, that by reasonable attention to cleanliness, proper cooling of cream, and frequent deliveries, that it was easily possible for a large percentage of the patrons to produce sweet cream.

the cream taken into the creamery is sweet.

The creamery has also put on a very active campaign to encourage the farmers to use cooling tanks to cool their cream the year round. The creamery has been instrumental in placing about two carloads of cooling tanks, and many of their patrons have built their own tanks.

The question naturally arises as to whether the producer is getting paid for that additional amount of attention required in taking care of his cream this way. This can best be answered by saying that during the past summer there has been but one shipment of butter on the eastern market that has not brought a premium over New York extras. And this in spite of the hot weather, short pasture conditions, and dust storms.

Based on the production of 1933, the estimate of 1934 was a million pounds. But the drought, which affected the feed conditions, curtailed the production to such an extent that only three quarters of a million pounds were made in 1934.

A large factor in the success of this creamery has been due to the fact that it furnished dairy herd improvement. Many of its patrons now have very good dairy herds, others have herds headed by good imported sires.

In this state, 65 per cent of the land is owned by non-residents, and 55 per cent of the land in this community is owned by the producers of this creamery. The Federal Land Bank appraisals have been considerably higher, easily 20 per cent higher, in this territory than in localities of equal quality land and improvement but without the marketing facilities that the Volga Farmers' Co-operative Creamery gives this community.

A PROGRAM NEEDED.
For several years the Quiz has suggested need of city beautification and the suggestion has, we feel sure, met with considerable public favor. Sporadic and highly individualized efforts have been made along this line, many of which have been completely successful, but so far no comprehensive attempt has been made to beautify the city as a whole. It is time something along this line is attempted.

The Quiz suggests formation of a town planning board, or a Beautiful Ord club, or some similar organization, call it what you please, to formulate and publicize a long-time plan of city beautification extending over five years or even ten years might well be adopted.

A general fault and weakness of small towns is lack of an effective program. Communities, like individuals, are too prone to follow the path of least resistance. Each of us has an idea of what should be done but in the past no effort has been made to co-operate in putting on, on a community scale, any one of these ideas.

Perhaps the first year might be devoted merely to cleaning up the city, inducing owners to tear down some of the unsightly shacks that stand on the outskirts of the business district or at the rear of lots in the residential districts. Few of these shacks have served any useful purpose for years. They are eyesores and fire-traps. An awakened public opinion would accomplish the result desired in most instances; condemnation proceedings might have to be resorted to occasionally. In either event, city betterment would be effected.

A large-scale program of tree and shrubbery planting might be undertaken in the second year. A city flower might be adopted and people invited to plant beds of this flower. The city's park facilities might be enlarged. Each year some new phase of city beautification, following a predetermined plan, might be carried out. With such a program under way community pride would do the rest.

Won't some civic-minded organization take the lead and sponsor a program of this kind? The Quiz pledges its support in advance to anything that may be undertaken.

STIFLED LAUGHTER.

Wherever free speech has been stridently destroyed, illicit, politically off-color jokes are passed from mouth to mouth, often in fear, always with misgivings, says Eugene Lyons, former European correspondent for the great United Press, in an article published in an American magazine. Every such story carries a hint of rebellion smoldering under the surface.

Correspondent Lyons recounts the now-classic story about Mussolini entering an Italian motion picture theatre incognito. In the course of a news-reel his own image appeared on the screen. Instantly everybody arose and cheered. Only the dictator remained seated. His neighbor poked him in the ribs. "Better stand up, my friend," he said. "We all feel the way you do about it, but it's not safe to show it."

Another amusing story originated in Moscow, where two men were engaged in conversation on a street corner. One of them forgets himself and speaks his mind.

"This government consists of rascals and fools. It is starving the population; everything is going to rack and ruin." At that point a policeman seizes the offender. The man's friend argues: "Officer, don't take this fellow seriously. He is crazy and not responsible for what he says." "Huh," snorts the policeman. "If he's crazy how does he understand the political situation so perfectly?"

In Germany, in Italy, in Turkey, in Poland, in Russia, in the Balkan countries and in every nation where a dictator reigns such stories are told and retold. Correspondent Lyons says. Whether such humor springs from oppression and denial of the right of free speech or simply from immense dissatisfaction with government is a question. Everyone will recall the stories that made the rounds here during the closing year of the Hoover regime.

And how ho-bo came were invariably named "Hooverville" and topless decrepit motor vehicles were always called "Hoover carriages." So far, at least, there has been none of this bootleg humor directed at the Roosevelt administration. Perhaps this is a healthy sign, an indication of general satisfaction with prevailing conditions.

President Roosevelt should do as Stalin has done in Russia—create a special department to gather and record jokes that show a sad, bitter, slightly mad dissatisfaction.

When jokes like this begin to watch out!

NEBRASKA, STATE OF DROUGHT AND FLOOD

Surely no two years since history has been recorded in Nebraska have presented such a contrast as the years 1934 and 1935. Last year brought the worst drought in fifty years, this spring brings excessive rainfall and to some sections of the state the most calamitous flood ever experienced. Yet these two years, appalling as they have been, may provide the means of awakening people of Nebraska and the authorities at Washington to the necessity of providing an effective program of water conservation and flood control for this state.

At Washington right now the North Loup project is upon the verge of final approval. It has passed preliminary boards before, only to be delayed because of political chicanery and the machinations of power trust lobbyists. Something of this sort may happen again but ultimately this great project must be allowed because it is economically sound and vitally important to the continued existence of this valley.

Right now farmers of the North Loup valley are suffering from an over-abundance of rainfall that came at the season when spring planting must be done, but anybody who has lived in this region more than a few years knows that along in July or August we will need more moisture. Availability of a few inches of supplemental water at certain periods during even the wettest years means the difference between 20 bushels of corn to the acre and 40 or 50 bushels.

The Loup valleys are more fortunate than valleys like the Republican and the Platte. The flow of our rivers is constant the year around, thus alleviating the necessity for expensive reservoir construction. Our problem is one of distributing upon the land water already available rather than storage of water during flood stages.

Had the federal government five years ago provided a few millions of dollars for flood control and irrigation development in the Loup, Republican, Platte and Tri-County areas, the sickening economic waste resulting from the drought of 1934 and the floods of 1935 could have been averted. The future will bring more droughts and other floods. Will Nebraska be prepared?

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week. Lefe Paist purchased the Ord gas plant from W. W. Haskell and while the consideration was not made public it was believed he invested $20,000 or more in the deal.

Dr. Emory D. Hull, pastor of Trinity M. E. church of Lincoln, delivered the commencement address to Ord high school graduates, 45 in number. Miss Elizabeth Schlangal was valedictorian.

The jury was still out in the assault case of State v. Louie Kammerad.

Hayden Strong, well known in Ord, died at the home of a daughter in North Loup.

Mr. Honeycutt bought an interest in the Desch cigar factory and the owners proposed to enlarge the plant to a capacity of 1,000 cigars daily.

Because of a two week's wet spell that came during the middle of corn planting time, many farmers were cultivating corn on one side of their field and planting it on the other.

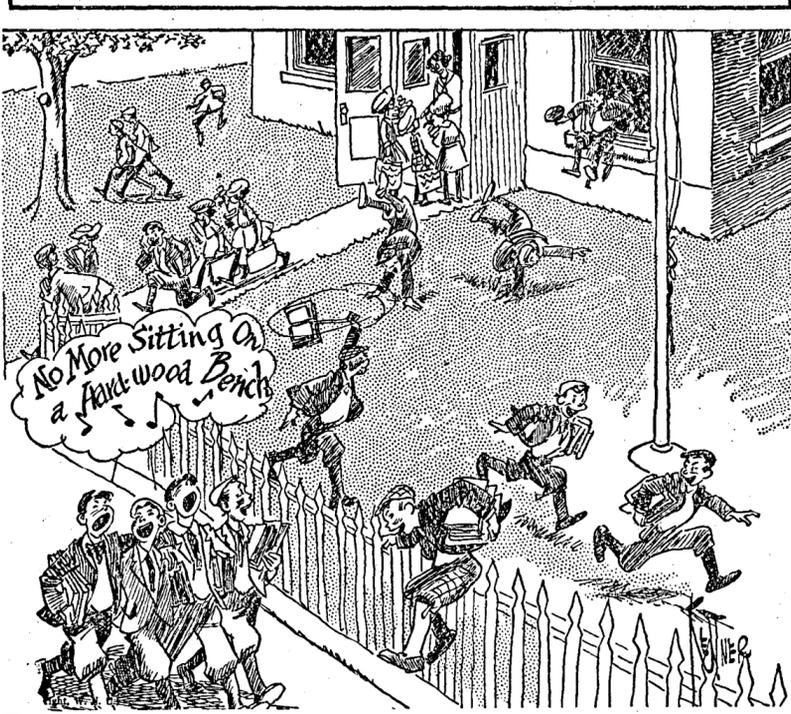

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ollis left for Pueblo, Colo., to make their home.

The deal by which W. W. Haskell sold the Quiz to H. D. Leggett and Oscar Nay fell through and Haskell remained owner of the Quiz.

25 Years Ago This Week. The five houses left to the estate of the late George Morris were sold at auction by Referees Capron and Williams. Purchasers included Frank Misko, Tom Sorenson and Joe Berneck.

A. M. Robbins, pioneer Ord lawyer, died after long illness with Bright's disease and uremic poisoning.

School's Out

Something Different

I like to tell you that a Kansas man went up in his airplane every day for the past five years for some sort of ride, is still whole, and has not been in any danger. I am all for airplane travel, and I am tired hearing about the danger.

You don't quibble about danger, riding in an automobile. But you are in plenty, just the same. Automobiles have killed more people than wars or any other exterminating device. There are comparatively few airplanes aloft, yet everytime one crashes it makes a big headline and several million people make wisecracks.

Alrplane travel is getting safer by the minute. New devices are constantly being added to make flying foolproof. Airplane pilots undertake a course of training forty times more complete than do automobile drivers, when they finish they know their business.

I have a hunch I am much safer up in the air with a plane which has passed government tests and a legally licensed pilot than I am on a highway. Even if I regard myself and my car as plenty safe and sane . . . I am at the mercy of the first fool I meet behind a steering wheel. And there are plenty of them . . . read about the automobile accidents, every day in the week.

And as soon as I think there's any prospect of getting to use the knowledge I am going to learn to pilot a plane, so there. Now you know about that.

Ord has a bunch of air-minded students, several of whom are about ready to solo. Weather has prevented Curt Gudmundson, or he would have had this experience before now. Young Miss Evelyn Sharp is said to be a natural born pilot, who took "aholt" just like that. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharp, aged 14 or 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Shirley are going to celebrate their golden wedding in a couple of months. They are looking forward to the event now. Probably both of them have been in better health than they are now, but nevertheless they still enjoy life considerably.

But continues to think up new kinds of cleanable and take-apart-able bird houses, sow seed on the golf course, think up new gadgets for the picnic grounds in the parks.

While, I presume, Mrs. Shirley doesn't bother much to think up new ways to do the dusting or cook the navy beans, but is satisfied to do them the way she has for some 49 years past.

Ord is having quite a number of golden wedding celebrations of late. The Jablonski's, the Dworak's and a few days ago the Dahlin family quietly observed this anniversary at their Elyria home.

The Misses Barbara and Elizabeth Lukes have at their home an aunt, aged 92, who is spry, alert, enjoys life a great deal yet.

A few days ago Barbara went out in the yard to dig dandelions, and before very long, out came her aunt to help, saying, "I just wanted to prove to myself that I was still able to hel with the dandelion-digging."

H. D. Leggett has quit writing his column. I hate this. I think he should continue. Lots of our subscribers liked to read his items on the political situation or Col. Weller, as the case might be. Mr. Leggett thinks nobody wanted to read his column, but I insist he is wrong. Now Public, please rise up and demand that M. O. C. be continued. Phone or write this office please, Mr. and Mrs. Public. Otherwise you are going to be gyped out of Dad's Own Column. And how're you going to get your money's worth out of your subscription unless you read of George Gowen and his meanderings?

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

White cake never loses its popularity though it is an often served delicacy. Year after year cooks continue to try to make superior white cake, which by the way is no small culinary feat. To make a fine grained white cake which is not dry and does not dry out by the time it is 24 hours old is to be a master cook.

Most every cook has a pet recipe or two for white cake. Some are made with milk, some with water, some with butter, some with white vegetable shortenings. Below is Mrs. Moul's best recipe for white cake.

White Cake
Cream one-half cup butter well, add two cups of sugar gradually. Put in alternately one cup of milk and three cups of flour in which is sifted three teaspoons baking powder, one-eighth teaspoon salt, lastly add the beaten whites of five eggs. Bake in a loaf or in three or four layers. Mrs. J. D. Moul.

Frozen Walnut Cookies,
Combine one cup butter, one-half cup lard, one cup white sugar, creaming thoroughly. Beat until light three eggs, add to mixture. Sift together four and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon baking powder, add to mixture. Lastly add one cup chopped black walnuts. Shape into two loaves and let stand overnight in a cold place. Slice thin and bake in a hot oven. These are delicious.

Chocolate Cream Cake.
Cream one-half cup butter, add slowly one and one-half cups sugar, one cup milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Beat three eggs, add, also two and one-half cup flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Beat three minutes. Bake in two layer pans for 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Use this filling:
Blend one-half cup sugar, three tablespoons flour, add one square melted chocolate, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one egg, one and one-fourth cups milk, cook in double boiler until thick and creamy. Add one-half teaspoon vanilla, cool. Use as a filling, spreading the top of cake with any white frosting or whipped cream.

cups turnips, one and one-half cups onion, four and one-half cups cabbage, fourteen cups tomatoes, three-fourths cup green peppers, one cup celery, two and one-half cups carrots, one cup peas, one cup shelled beans, eight cups potatoes, one-half cup corn. If you prefer the small lima bean, soak them overnight. Mix vegetables thoroughly, pack in pint jars, using one-half teaspoon salt in each jar, fill with cold water and put rubbers and covers on jars loosely, cold pack two hours. This recipe will make about ten quarts, may also be used for salads.

Mrs. Louise Nichols, Loup City. Please send in recipes for cooking spring chicken or using in other ways, for springtime vegetables, now just growing in our gardens for rhubarb, strawberries, red cherries, seasonal recipes. I can not write next week's col yum until you help me out.

KEEPING FIT FOR SUCCESS

By Dr. V. E. Levine, professor of bio-chemistry and nutrition, the Creighton University School of Medicine.

FATIGUE—2
Last week we discussed congenital debility, eye strain, impaired hearing and infectious diseases as causes of fatigue. Today we continue with a discussion of other factors responsible for this condition.

Malnutrition is still another important cause of fatigue. The cure is often more than a matter of diet and medicine. It also demands rational habits of living with definite quantities of sleep, work, and relaxation.

Anemia produces muscle weakness and chronic fatigue. The hemoglobin and the red cells must be raised to the highest normal value to overcome the tired feeling and the lack of concentration brought on by a state of anemia.

Poor posture induces fatigue and fatigue in turn produces poor posture. Some causes of bad posture are malnutrition in general and anemia and rickets specifically, eye-strain, impaired hearing, insufficient sleep, improper tables and chairs for play, study or work, ill-fitting desk or work bench, the carrying of heavy bundles, and the suspension of clothes from shoulders.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

Dear Jake:
A friend of Claud Thomas drove from the Horace country fifteen miles to Scotia, and stepped into the bank. He asked to borrow a few hundred dollars. The banker took the application, and financial statement and pondered over it. "I will have to think it over. Come back tomorrow."

This young man, called John Doe, left the bank and went his fifteen miles homeward. In the meantime Claud stepped into the bank. The banker called Claud into his private sanctuary and showed him the application. The banker wanted to know about the man.

"Yes, I know him," said Claud. "He is a good, honest fellow, with a wife and two kids. I don't know what he would want of the money unless it is for seed and grain for his horses."

"Sure. That is what he wants it for. We have money to loan all right. This fellow seems to have his horses and machinery clear, but they are not very good stuff, are they?"

"Nothing extra," replied Claud. "Just fair stout young blemished horses. If fed they would do as much work as anyone's."

"If he didn't get a crop I would have to take his stuff." Our banker piled up another paper. "I hate to make the poor fellow sell out to pay this note."

The next day, Mr. Doe comes back to the bank, in hopeful spirit that he could take seed and feed home with him. Mr. Banker sadly shakes his head. "I am awfully sorry, but we just haven't got the money today. Some other time we may be able to help you out. I would suggest you go to Greeley and borrow the money of the government."

Our friend traipses off, fifteen miles to Greeley. He is sure he can get the money there. They have loaned to fellows who are worth nothing, whose chattels were all plastered, who are professional deadbeats, who never intend to pay. With buoyant spirit he proudly fills out the application, and waits for the smile on the face of the government agent. The agent scans the printed sheet. "You can't get money here," he ejaculated. "Your stuff is not mortgaged. Go to the bank. They have plenty of funds where there is security like that."

With saddened spirit, our hero cranks his old Ford and rattles home to his hungry horses and unplanted fields.

A few days later Claude happened to this man's home. John and his brother Richard are sitting on the doorstep, their hands clamped on their saddened chins. They are nearly whipped. The world looks dark and dreary. Their hungry horses are ravenously nibbling at some early sprigs of grass. They have rented the farm and no seed to plant it. The brother is more fortunate in that his stuff is mortgaged for more than it is worth, and he has had a government loan approved. As yet the money has not arrived.

They relate their troubles to Claud. He sympathizes with them but sympathy does not plant oats, nor feed horses. Finally he offers a solution. "I'll loan you a few bushels of corn to feed for a few days. You mortgage your stuff to me for about twice what it is worth. I shall record the mortgage and then you go borrow the money of the government."

"Suppose you insist I pay the mortgage," our friend whines. "I'd hate to have to pay both notes."

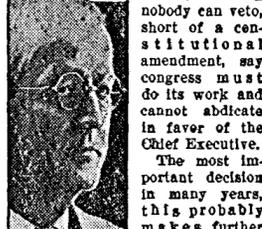

"I promise on faith I will not require payment. But should I be crooked you will be better off than you are now. You will get some seed and feed for the nonce. Take care of yourself today, for tomorrow you may die."

A smile came over the men. A ray of hope yet, not that they might die, but that they might live a few days more. At that moment the mail man drove up. A letter in the box. An advertisement they surmise. They languidly go for the missive. It is from the government. A report to make out, perhaps, asking the acres planted. No. A check. The loan. A whoop and a jump. "We will divide it," Richard yelled. They run for the old Ford, one cranking while the other juices, and they are off. As they wave a farewell to Claud they yell, between chugs.

"This check will get us started again. Feed the horses for a few days. We shall drive over tomorrow, Claud and fix up those papers. You are sure a prince of a fellow and a head like Solomon. See you tomorrow." They fly off toward town and whoop as they bounce over a crossroad.

BRISBANE THIS WEEK

Goodby, NRA
Wall Street's Dormouse
Good Wages, Short Hours
Lottery Swindles
The Supreme court unanimously declares NRA unconstitutional.

High judges, whose decision nobody can veto, short of a constitutional amendment, say congress must do its work and cannot abdicate in favor of the Chief Executive. The most important decision in many years, this probably makes further argument an extension of NRA unnecessary. You can't extend that which is dead. American business men may now resume business not led by the kindly light of professors and others.

Allice's puzzled Dormouse, at the Mad Hatter's tea party, could not understand his watch, that would not keep time, although the Dormouse did everything. He dipped the watch in his tea, put butter in the works. "It was the best butter," he said, "but nothing seems to please it."

The stock exchange is something like that watch—nothing seems to please it, either. At first, stock broker gentlemen, whose "Kaaba stone" is the stock ticker, began a weird dance of joy when they heard that NRA was dead, and pushed up stock prices.

Then, suddenly, as the day wore on, one broker asked another, and every broker asked every other broker, "How do we know what is coming next?" And then they put prices down.

It is announced, but not by Mr. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, that a great strike will be called in protest against the Supreme court's NRA decision. Mr. Green is too wise to permit, if he can prevent it, a strike against the United States Supreme court. He may, should, and probably will take a wiser course and work, as organized labor has worked successfully for generations, to improve working conditions.

Some union men know that wages, hours and other conditions improved in the old way are more durable than increased pay based on political fiat. It is necessary for some one to provide as well as for some one to take it.

Peddlers of tickets in the Havana lottery send out "come-on" letters, trying to sell tickets to foolish Americans. On one such letter this is printed:

"Arthur Brisbane says large sums of money . . . are won by Americans buying foreign tickets." What Arthur Brisbane has said, and now repeats, is that through foreign lottery schemes Americans are swindled out of large sums. He who invests in a lottery throws away his money, adding foolishness to incapacity. The Havana lottery is as much of a trap for fools as any other lottery.

Postmaster Farley's plan to hasten air mails allows a crowd of 10,000 to see a whirling autogiro drop down on the roof and deliver mail, another autogiro coming to get mail bags and carry them away.

Mr. Farley's plan is to have the autogiro fly between outlying flying fields, where high-power, fast planes land, and carry mail bags to the roofs of city post offices, saving time lost in slow street travel.

With no sign of smoke, flame, crater—nothing to indicate an extinct volcano—a new and live volcano suddenly begins eruption in an out-of-the-way place in Iceland. A great hole appears in the earth, flames and red-hot lava rise. No overflowing of neighboring farms as yet.

What would natives have thought had this happened in earlier days, when everybody believed that hell, the devil and all his wickedness were just beneath our feet and heaven just over our heads?

Postmaster General Farley thinks of printing on all postage stamps, Sursum Corda, which means "Lift up your hearts." He sees a great summer ahead, "a summer of content."

"Car loadings," says the postmaster general, "are up." Incomes reported by our taxpayers "are up," "more people are buying automobiles than before."

For some, the big news is that Little, the San Francisco golfer, has defeated Doctor Tweedell, the British challenger.

For others, more important news is the killing of 300 Chinese by Japanese troops. The 300 killed are said to have been professional bandits. The killing of 300 armed Chinese bandits cost the lives of only six Japanese, which sounds like efficiency.

North Loup News

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Clark drove to Broken Bow Saturday to meet Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. Augusta Beck and three children, who came from Casper, Wyo., to visit the Clarks and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Flynn and Miss Anna Mortenson of Ord were Friday supper guests at the Ray Knapp home.

The Arthur and George Hutchins families and Miss Helen Blazey spent Memorial day at the G. L. Hutchins home. Miss Blazey left for her home near Loup City that afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greene, Harold, Herbert and Donald arrived in North Loup late last Wednesday night from Haigler. They expect to remain here for two or three weeks. Haigler is just a few miles from Parks, one of the small villages recently washed away by the flood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baker of Ord spent Decoration day with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sandy entertained the Cloyd Ingerson's at supper last Wednesday.

Mrs. Florence Smith and Donnie were up from Grand Island Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp were Sunday supper guests at the Ben Nelson home.

Mr. Sandy was in Ord and Scotia Monday morning on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey returned Sunday evening from Elmwood where they had been visiting Mr. Bailey's people for a few days.

Mrs. W. O. Zangger, Charles and Esther left Tuesday for Garrison, Ia., to visit her parents. Dorene Dallam and Everett Petty's boys from Ord went as far as Omaha with the Zanggers who expect to be gone about a week. Mrs. Zangger will attend the 20th reunion of her college class at Coe college while she is in Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schudel entertained a few friends at bridge Tuesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartz and Mary Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schudel, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Pokraka, Mr. and Mrs. Madsen, Paul Madsen and Agnes Manchester.

Mrs. Carrie Greene writes from Denver that she expects to be in North Loup soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre and Helen Joyce went out to Clifford Collins' Saturday evening before supper and spent the night and Sunday.

The Library Board met Monday evening for a business session.

Agnes Manchester and Paul Madsen had a bridge party at the Chris Madsen home Friday evening. Five tables of players were present. Mrs. Ign. Pokraka receiving high score. Those present were Beulah Willoughby, Ella Mae Sershen, Ethel Jeffries, Eessie Eberhart, Nettie Clark, Mills Hill, Roy Stine, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schudel, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schudel, Mr. and Mrs. Ign. Pokraka.

Vern Robbins was in Omaha over the week end. Leland Robbins is well started on his new job and likes it fine but finds it keeps him very busy. There are 54 apartments and all of them rented but one. He is the manager and he and Mrs. Robbins live at the apartment house.

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greene and the boys were dinner guests Tuesday of the Woman's Missionary society at Dr. Hemphill's home.

The W. F. M. S. of the M. E. church are having an all day meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. John Schultz. The lesson in the afternoon will be on Extension work and Mrs. I. L. Sheldon will be the leader.

The Women's Missionary society worked on their quilt at Mrs. Hemphill's Tuesday.

Esteemed Elyria Couple Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary of Marriage

To Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Dahlin, of Elyria, Memorial day each year is a red-letter day for two reasons, first because it marks the anniversary of their marriage and, second, because on this day each year they lay flowers upon the grave of their son, Louis, who died during the World war while in the service of his country.

Thursday—Memorial Day, 1935—marked the 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin. They were wed at Osceola, Nebr., and lived in Stromsburg for a number of years after their marriage, coming to Valley county about 28 years ago.

Until fifteen months ago the Dahlins lived on a farm in Noble township. Now they live in Elyria where Mr. Dahlin and his sons, Ed and Harold, operate the Elyria flour and feed mill.

Last Thursday, as is their custom each year, Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin and their children who live in this community went in a group to Ord cemetery and there reaffirmed their love for their martyred son and brother, Louis. No 50th wedding anniversary celebration was planned as only last summer all the relatives held a reunion with Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin at Elyria.

Friday evening, however, just as these esteemed people were retiring for the night, about thirty relatives and friends went to their home and surprised them, taking a bountiful dinner and several fine gifts. The evening was spent in cards, games and in reminiscing about events of the fifty happy years Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin have spent together.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin are Ed, who runs the Elyria mill, Mrs. Mable Wigington, who lives in Arapahoe, Colo., Elmer, who operates a hatchery at Palmer, Albert Ben, who lives in Ord, Mrs. Lily Fredericksen, of Ord, and Harold, who lives at home and assists his father and brother in the mill. There are fifteen grandchildren.

Hale, hearty and enjoying life to the utmost, Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin say their golden wedding anniversary was pleasurable in every respect and their former neighbors of Noble township, as well as their friends in Ord, Elyria and other communities, will join the Quiz in expressing the wish that they may enjoy many more anniversaries together.

life through an error and two more errors counted for the scores. Still Burwell was not satisfied, for they put over two more in the sixth when they got three hits and the North Loup boys obligingly made a couple more errors to make it easier for them. In the seventh Hudson got a solid drive over second that went through Peterson's legs letting Hudson go clear around. That ended it for everyone concerned.

Graves, Burwell pitcher, had a little the best of the pitching honors, giving up ten hits while Allen was giving fifteen. The teams were even on the doubtful honors of making errors, each getting seven. Batteries were, Burwell: Graves and Rouse; North Loup: Allen and Hutchins.

Ashton, 4—North Loup, 0. Sunday North Loup kept their record up to date by taking a trouncing from Ashton by the score of 4 to 0. The North Loup boys got off to a bad start when the first batter connected for a single, but things looked better when he was forced at second and the next batter struck out but the next batter started things again when he singled as did his partner who followed him and Sheldon walked the next batter, filling the bases. Sheldon forced in a run by hitting the next batter and Knapp erred on the next play, allowing another run in, the next batter flied out to Mel Williams, ending the agony for that inning. From that time until the sixth inning things went smoothly. To start the sixth Cap Williams connected for a single as did Kelly Barber, putting Williams on third and Barber on first. Williams was called out at the plate when Hutchins hit to second. That was as near as North Loup came to scoring. In the eighth Jacobsen got a life on Hudson's error and was scored on Gawrick's triple, who scored when Borowski singled. That was all. Ashton was in exceptionally good form as they pounded out ten hits from Sheldon's delivery and only committed one bobble in the field. Jacobsen set the North Loup hitters down with only six hits and kept them separated. The North Loup boys helped the Ashton team out by making five errors. Batteries for Ashton: Jacobsen, Kontor and Jacobsen; North Loup: Sheldon and Hutchins.

Burwell, 8—North Loup, 5. In a comedy of errors North Loup lost a slow ball game to Burwell Memorial day by a score of 3 to 5. In the first inning it looked as though North Loup might do something when Hudson, first man at bat, led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and scored on a couple errors. In the third Burwell started on a rampage, scoring three runs on three hits and two errors. North Loup came back in the fourth to count again when Noyes hit and went to second on a fielder's choice and scored on Allen's hit over second. In the fourth Burwell started things off by putting Barryman on second due to Hudson's error and followed up with four hits to account for three more runs. North Loup got a couple more tallies in the fifth when Barber hit, Hutchins got a

BACK FORTY

Thousands of eggs are lost each year from two causes, unneeded roosters, and broody hens.

At a feed cost of about 15 cents per month, roosters are costing Nebraska farmers well over $100-000 monthly. This is of less consequence, however, than the eggs that are spoiled by being kept fertile. The main reason eggs are low priced during the summer is because the quality is low. And fertility, due to the presence of the male birds, causes low quality, low demand and low prices.

Now that the breeding season is over, good management suggests the sale of male birds without further delay. Keeping them is not only expensive and unnecessary but actually harmful.

When hens get broody and want to set, they may quit laying eggs for the rest of the summer. Confinement in a broody coop will usually cure hens of the setting habit in a few days. The coop for breaking broody hens should have wire sides and a slatted or wire bottom.

Feed and water should be available. The crop should be up off the ground, because the circulation of air through the bottom is an important factor in breaking up broodiness. The broody coop may also be used as a marketing crate, or a place of confinement for sick birds and culls.

Norman Helps Write Liquor Ordinance

Ralph W. Norman, city attorney, went to Lincoln Monday to meet with city attorneys from 34 other towns and help draft a model liquor ordinance for cities of the state. After listening to Attorney General Wright Monday morning and afternoon, the lawyers went to work in earnest that evening and soon drafted an ordinance that probably will be passed, with minor changes, by practically every city in the state.

The Ord council is expected to consider passage of a liquor ordinance at its June meeting tomorrow night.

Will Move Law Office.

Bert M. Hardenbrook is planning to move his law office to the basement of the Auble building about June 15 and Jim Gilbert's barber shop will be moved to the Keown building south of the Hager company's office.

Agricultural and livestock exhibits will be at their best in September, said S. W. Roe, who has charge of the agricultural hall.

May Pro-Rate Premiums.

To get the fair started this year it may be necessary to adopt a pro rata system of paying premiums, as the state fair is now doing, suggested Mr. Roe. It is believed that local exhibitors will cooperate to this extent.

While the Loup Valley Agricultural Society has only a small amount of money in the treasury its indebtedness has not increased—in fact, has been reduced slightly—during the depression, said Treasurer Emil Fafelta, and there will be no financial obstacle to reviving the fair. Sentiment of everybody present seemed to be that expenses should be held to a minimum and that the 1935 fair, if it is held, must be self-supporting.

"After all, it will be up to Ord business men to make the fair a success," said Chess Chinn, of North Loup, "if they get behind it strongly it will be a success."

Glen D. Auble, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated that he has been talking to Ord business people about the proposition and finds them almost 100 per cent in favor of having a fair again. He also suggested that local talent be used for the platform show instead of hiring professional "free acts."

Won't Have Horse Races.

Possibility of having horse races was discussed but it was decided that the track is not in condition for horse races, having been rebuilt purposely for auto racing. The fair association could not afford to offer large enough purses to attract good strings of horses to Ord, it is thought.

Many other suggestions were made and discussed, one being advanced by Bert M. Hardenbrook to the effect that two state league ball teams be brought to Ord for one day. Such a game would be very popular, he believes, and expense would not be prohibitive. Emil Fafelta suggested that a kittenball tournament be held one day, also.

While it cannot be stated definitely that a fair will be held this year it is regarded as extremely likely, fair board officers and members seeming to approve. Within two or three weeks final decision will be made and definite dates will be announced, promises President McClellan. In the meantime the board plans to proceed on the assumption that a fair will be held and will make arrangements accordingly.

Mira Valley Club To Present Comedy

The Mira Valley Community club will present a 3-act musical comedy, "The Two Southern Belles," at the Valleyside school house at 8:15 tonight, Thursday, June 6, and the public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge but pies will be sold after the entertainment to raise money for a worthy project sponsored by the club.

Characters in the comedy will be taken by Donald Williamson, Harold Koelling, George Bell, George Clement, Reuben Cook, Kenneth Koelling, DeWitt Williamson, Wilson Bell, Ray Peterson, Mary Clement, Dorothy Campbell, Pearl Leonard and Mildred Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Dickerson and children of Plainview and the former's mother of Omaha visited at the Holden home for a few days.

or metal base, after which it is ready for printing.

Working at top speed with the new equipment, Mr. Jones can have a plate ready to print within an hour after the photograph is taken. Views of the bankers' special train two weeks ago were taken at 8:00 a. m. and the finished plates were ready to print before noon of the same day.

Several pictures of the new photo-engraving equipment appear in this issue, these pictures having been taken by Mr. Jones and made into plates with the Quiz outfit.

The Quiz publisher and editor believe that addition of local pictures will prove an interesting feature. It is planned to print many such pictures each week in future.

Will Use Local Pictures.

Cooperation of readers in securing photographs of interesting news events is requested. When a wedding occurs the Quiz would like to have pictures of the bride and groom. Photographs of family reunion groups, of the principals in wedding anniversary celebrations, of well-known people who die, are requested. If a serious auto accident should occur want would preclude it if the news is telephoned to the Quiz office quickly, so a staff photographer may get pictures of the wrecked cars before they are removed. Damage done by floods, hail storms or tornadoes and other unusual news events also furnish excellent opportunities for interesting pictures, if readers will cooperate by telephoning immediate information.

George Jensen, Ord photographer, is cooperating with the Quiz and Mr. Jones also is an experienced photographer, both of these men being available to take pictures of news interest when opportunities offer.

It is believed that addition of photo-engraving equipment will add to the Quiz's news interest and increase circulation, thus extending Ord's trade territory and benefiting every Ord business man.

Diplomas Awarded To 127 8th Graders

Doris Nelson, and Paul Nelson received special mention at this time for attending their schools for five years, being neither absent nor tardy during this time.

The program continued with two readings, "Bill Smith," and "Back at Four", given by Vera Severns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Severns.

Seven Get Gold Seals.

The eighth grade diplomas were then presented by Miss Clara McClatchey. Diplomas with gold seals were given to seven students who had superior ratings, 95 or above. Marjorie Hughes, who was the county's highest ranking student, Wilma Kluna, Opal Kera, Lawrence Kusek, Evelyn Ollis, Adeline Mostek and Richard Fish received this special recognition. Marjorie, daughter of Paul Hughes of district 13, had an average of 97 1/2.

Diplomas were next presented to those students with an average of 90 or above, and 34 students were awarded diplomas with an honor seal for scholarship decidedly above average.

Following the presentation of diplomas, Rev. Willard McCarthy closed the program with benediction.

Approximately four hundred people attended this program. Students who were unable to be present to receive diplomas or awards will receive them by mail.

Jim Tatlow Dies At Compton, Calif.

From the Cotesfield items in the St. Paul Photographic we slip an item stating that James Tatlow, former resident of Howard and Valley counties, passed away April 8 at Compton, Calif., at the age of 70. The remains were cremated and the ashes brought to Cotesfield for interment May 26. Mr. Tatlow is survived by his wife and two sons, Roy and Gary, one daughter, Mrs. Daisy Richard, and a brother, Vurnum Tatlow.

For several years Mr. Tatlow operated a feed yard, livery barn and auto livery on the lots where the C. A. Anderson garage is located. He was a well known citizen of Ord and will be remembered by many Quiz readers.

Takes 4-H Club Trip.

Miss Ruth Benn, Valley County 4-H club leader, left Sunday morning to attend club week at Lincoln. This trip is offered by the Burlington railroad company to one leader from a district. The representatives will stay at the University of Nebraska and will attend two banquets, one given by the chamber of commerce. They will be taken on an inspection tour of the state capitol and will go by special train to Omaha where they will be guided through the Woodman of the World building and will be taken on a tour of the city. She will return Friday.

Cheyenne On Way To Denver? No, Says Davis

The longest way around sometimes is the shortest way home, according to an old saying, but Cheyenne, Wyo., still isn't on the rail route from Alliance, Nebr., to Denver, Colo., says Clarence M. Davis. Involuntarily he traveled that route last week.

Mr. Davis had been in Lead, S. D., visiting his mother, Mrs. Amanda Davis, and decided to visit a brother in Denver before returning home. About 11:30 p. m. he got on a Burlington train at Alliance and retired for the night after leaving a call for 6:30 a. m., the train being scheduled to arrive in Denver at 7:00.

Nobody called him the next morning but he awoke, somewhat late. "Do you know where we are?" asked another Pullman passenger. "We're 20 miles from Cheyenne."

Explanations were in order and Davis learned that during the night the train had gone to Sterling, Colo., found the track washed out by flood waters and returned to Sidney, Nebr., where the coach was transferred to a Union Pacific train and hauled to Cheyenne. From Cheyenne the coach was hauled to Denver by the Colorado & Southern route, eight hours late.

The Ord attorney returned home Thursday.

R. V. Sweet Goes To Greeley, Colo.

R. V. Sweet, who for the past four years has resided in Ord while managing the Weller Lumber yard here, left Friday for Greeley, Colo., where he has assumed the management of a yard owned by F. M. Weller. He was taken to Kearney by auto by Mrs. Sweet and Saturday morning went from there to Greeley by train. Mrs. Sweet returned to Ord Saturday and will stay here a few weeks until her husband locates a desirable house and becomes established at Greeley.

Ord people hate to lose families like the Sweets, who have been active in church, school and social affairs ever since they moved here. Mr. Sweet proved very efficient as manager of the Weller Bros. yard, which was purchased a few months ago by F. M. and Verne Weller, the latter coming to Ord as resident manager. It is predicted that Mr. Sweet will be no less successful in his new position.

John Lukes and son Fred came Sunday to visit for a few days with his sister, Mrs. Albert Lukes. They had been traveling for a week through Minnesota, Montana and the Dakotas and stopped in Ord enroute to their

Memorial Day Is Suitably Observed

People of Arcadia and community greatly enjoyed the program arranged for Memorial day by the Legion and Auxilliary. The weather was ideal.

About 8:30 the ex-service men met at the Keystone Lumber office and drove to the Lee Park cemeteries for short services. Returning to Arcadia they, in company with the Auxilliary ladies and the children of the Bible school marched to the cemetery. The children decorated the graves of soldiers, after the services. Ex-service men who attended were Frank Vanchura, Lloyd Bulger, Joe Schuele, Mark Murray, Mr. Westlake, Walter May, Joe Peterson, Harold Weddel, Ora Masters, S. B. Warden, Carl Dietrichs, Harold McClary Ray, Pester and Dr. F. H. Christ. E. C. Baird is the only veteran of the Spanish-American war and Mr. Dorsey the only remaining Civil War veteran.

In the afternoon, the program was given at the high school auditorium, opening with the singing of "America" by the audience, followed by musical numbers by the girls octette and Carl Easterbrook, with Mrs. Lowell Finney at the piano. M. L. Fries, who with this Decoration day has a record of having been here for 50 Memorial days, gave a short, interesting talk. Rev. Reudink then delivered the address in an impressive and eloquent manner.

Den of Adders Found.

A den of adders was discovered on the Oscar Ohme farm this week under a pile of old lumber. The snakes were as large as a man's wrist and one was about six feet long. They were found near a set of unused farm buildings on the Ohme farm.

Katie Minne, who has been employed at the Elmer Wibbels home, left last week for Silver Creek where she has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hill and Mrs. Kenneth Hawley of Comstock were Arcadia visitors on Memorial day.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peterson were guests at the Oscar Ohme home at supper Sunday.

Ronald Hunt was a Grand Island visitor Monday.

A crowd of friends and neighbors were entertained at a barn dance at the Joe Parkos home Sunday evening, the occasion being the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Parkos.

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Pierson and son Gerald, Curtis Hughes and daughter Grace, were Loup City visitors Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jewell and family spent Decoration day at the Leininger home.

Kermit Erickson was in Loup City Monday and Tuesday on business.

Miss Florence Shipley, who taught Dist. 27 the past year, returned Monday to her home in Loup City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Welty and children visited Thursday at the Fred Coons home.

Quentin Lind was a visitor at the Albin Pierson home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dalby and children, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peterson spent Sunday at Bert Ryan's.

Memorial day guests at the Andrew Pierson home were Mr. and Mrs. Albin Pierson and son and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thelander.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jameson and daughter returned to Grand Island with E. L. Toops who spent Decoration here Thursday for a short visit before returning to their home at Sidney.

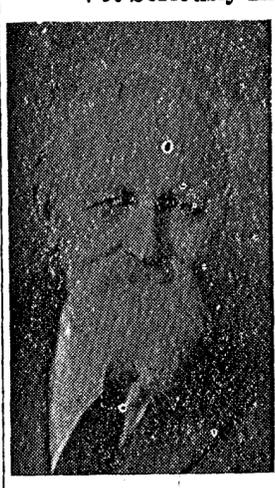

Mrs. Leo Sell attended the picnic at the Old Yale school house last Wednesday.

Popular Hillside Teacher Is Married

MRS. KENNETH MILBURN. On Monday, May 27, two of Arcadia's popular young people, Pearl Dobson and Kenneth Milburn were united in marriage by Judge Paul Kirk of Grand Island. Pearl is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobson and a graduate of Arcadia high school. She taught in rural schools since her graduation, having recently closed a successful term in the Hillside school. Kenneth is the youngest son of Mrs. Jennie Milburn and is employed at the Bellinger store.

Last Civil War Vet Seriously Ill

JOHN DORSEY. John Dorsey, aged 88, is the only remaining Civil War veteran at Arcadia. Mr. Dorsey was born in Ohio in 1846. Although quite young when the war occurred, he enlisted May 2, 1864 and served until the end of the war. He was in Co. F, 147th Regiment, O. V. I., under Captain Jackson.

His son, Harry Eugene Dorsey, served for a year in the Spanish-American war in the Nebraska Regiment commanded by Wm. Jennings Bryan.

Mr. Dorsey has a great many friends who are sorry to know that he is critically ill at the Knight Dorsey home where he makes his home.

The American Legion presented him with a basket of flowers on Decoration day.

Alberta Olsen spent Saturday at Leonard Camp's.

C. R. John and Frank Franzen started to Kearney Saturday for Mr. John's daughter, Miss Myrtle, who taught there this year.

Going the usual route they found the roads in an impassable condition, so returned to Arcadia Sunday, taking a different route, they reached Kearney, by way of Grand Island. Going down, the water was over the road north of Grand Island. Returning, the water had raised so much it was necessary for them to go by way of Cairo to get to Arcadia. Myrtle will teach in Kearney again this fall.

Charles Berry spent a few days in Grand Island last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dockhorn and family spent Sunday with the Lee Woodworth's.

Gilbert Stone, who has been in the Miller hospital since last Sunday was able to return to his home here Friday. Gilbert had a throat infection, which necessitated the removal of one tonsil. He is recovering slowly.

The 4-H club held their first meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Pearl Nehls.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Peterson made a business trip to Fullerton Tuesday, returning Thursday. Mrs. Bert Ryan and Mrs. Walter Anderson accompanied them. Mrs. Ryan visited a sister at Fullerton and Mrs. Anderson visited relatives at St. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence John were guests at the Ralph Franzen home Saturday evening at supper, celebrating the first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franzen.

Grace Hughes spent Friday and Saturday at Jim John's.

Doris Nelson and Margy Baker attended eighth grade graduation exercises at Ord Tuesday. Both girls had perfect attendance records this year.

Gerald Leininger was taken to Hastings Sunday where he submitted to a mastoid operation. The mastoid was a result of measles. He is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Slocum were guests at the J. M. John home Sunday evening.

Ura Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stone, who has been suffering with infection in her foot, caused by stepping on a rusty wire, has almost completely recovered.

Freda Dockhorn has the measles.

Mrs. R. R. Clark went to Crete Sunday to attend the graduation of her daughter Donna, who will graduate from Doane college Tuesday.

The H. O. A. club met Wednesday with Mrs. Virgil Cremeen. The meeting was postponed since two weeks ago because of bad roads and the illness of the Cremeen's small son.

The American Legion held its regular meeting at the Keystone lumber office Monday night.

On Memorial day the Arcadia ball team played the OCC boys from Halsey. The score was 13-6 in Arcadia's favor.

Sunday guests at Henry Cremeen's were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nygren.

Ray Dobson, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobson, suffered a relapse after a siege of pneumonia and is again confined to bed.

Patrons of the Bridges school enjoyed a belated picnic Friday at the park. Just a few days before the close of the term their school house burned and wet weather since then, further delayed their picnic. Louise Elliott is the teacher.

3-Inch Rain At Clear Creek Friday

Another three-inch rain with some hail was reported from the Clear Creek vicinity Friday evening. Aside from badly washed fields, etc., no damage was reported. High waters from rains northwest of here have washed out the road near the C. R. John home, making that part of the road impassable until repaired.

A crew of Custer county men is repairing the bridge on the county line near the Ora Masters home. This bridge was undermined several weeks ago by the first heavy rains. When this is completed, they will move to another county line bridge near Clyde Mentzer's to work.

Probing the TVA

Washington.—President Roosevelt announced a year ago that the Tennessee Valley authority and the experiment of government production of electric power on a huge scale was to serve as a yardstick on electric rates charged by private power companies. Lately, J. R. McCarl, comptroller general of the United States, has had his bookkeeping sleuths at work on the records of the Tennessee Valley authority, it being a government corporation. Mr. McCarl was not concerned about the yardstick for power rates nor was he interested in experiments designed to prove the value of government ownership in the power field. His job was to determine what had happened to all of the money that had been taken from the treasury and spent in the effort to transform the Tennessee valley into a modern Garden of Eden.

It happened that Mr. McCarl's report on the audit of TVA affairs was made public coincidentally with a movement by the TVA directors for new legislation—amendments to their basic law which would give them additional authority. This circumstance resulted in the TVA and its yardstick being examined by a congressional committee under the strong lens of a magnifying glass. I believe it is generally agreed that TVA suffered in prestige, and government ownership advocates came off second best because disclosures before the committee were of such a nature as to convince most sound thinking observers that there is a colored gentleman in the TVA woolpile.

For instance, Mr. McCarl showed in his report that the federal government had expended a total of $132,792,000 in development of the power facilities, equipment and necessary appurtenances. This property was transferred by the federal government to the Tennessee Valley authority, a corporation, and is carried on the corporation books at $51,000,000. This is 38 per cent of the actual cost to the taxpayers of the property transferred.

Disclosures of this fact brought many charges in the course of the committee hearing and led to the conclusion by several house members that no electric rate based upon 38 per cent of the cost of the production facilities could be considered honest. In other words, the thought was that a yardstick based on such a method of calculating investment necessarily would have to be made of rubber.

"Trick" Bookkeeping

Mr. McCarl told the committee also that he had found various haphazard and "trick" methods of bookkeeping and that he had found it necessary to disallow expenditures of something over two million dollars which he said were illegal. The comptroller general did not refer to these expenditures as having been fraudulently made but he told the committee it was his opinion that the law had to be stretched rather far by any spending agency to construe the payments as justifiable.

The comptroller general took sharp exception to the bookkeeping methods used by the TVA. It is upon these records that the electric rate is based. Likewise it is upon the basis of these records that the TVA must show whether it has earned a profit.

"Despite the apparently excessive depreciated value at which the Muscle Shoals property was taken up on the books, the authority is not using the valuation basis for depreciation but instead is basing depreciation on the earnings from the sale of power by charging 10 per cent of the gross revenue to operations as depreciation and accumulating the amount of such charges as a reserve for depreciation.

"Assuming a very conservative rate of valuation consumption for example, 2 per cent, the amount of depreciation, based upon the value at which the properties in question were capitalized by the authority, would be approximately $1,000,000 per annum.

"A larger revenue will proportionately increase the reserve for depreciation at the present 10 per cent method of amortization, but to accumulate a reserve on the 10 per cent plan equivalent to the amount that would be charged to depreciation on a valuation basis at 2 per cent, the gross revenue would have to be more than ten times the present amount of about $10,000,000 per annum.

"There is very little basis for assuming that revenues will ever reach such a figure."

The comptroller's report touched on many other phases of TVA affairs which he found subject to criticism and it made mention of a factor that, it seems to me, ought to be of vital importance to communities throughout the country. That factor is taxation. It is to be remembered that government agencies, federal, national, state or local, pay no taxes into the treasury of its jurisdiction. Consequently, the government which fosters a municipally owned power plant simply must forget, for taxation purposes, that such property exists within its domain. Likewise, such a plant is not required to consider interests on the investment in the shape of dividends to the stockholders who, in turn, pay taxes on their income.

Doctor Morgan and other directors of the TVA were subjected to questioning of a type about as severe as any witnesses before a house committee in recent months. They had friends on the committee who attempted continuously to shield them from the fire of TVA opponents, but apparently Chairman McSwain was unable to choke off the attack by such men as Representative McLean of New Jersey and others who doubt the advisability of the federal government engaging in power production.

There appeared just no way at all in which friendly members of the house committee could justify the action of the TVA board in its attempts to block private power development. It was shown in the course of the hearing that the TVA had gone far away from its base of operations to buy two small parcels of land—one not much larger than a city block and the other only a few acres in extent. Under questioning, TVA directors admitted this land lay in the middle of a proposed reservoir planned by a private power corporation. In acquiring the parcels of land the TVA made it impossible for the private interests to proceed with their power development because the land in question would have been in the middle of the reservoir 300 feet under water. The private interests could not force the TVA to sell and without that land the whole reservoir program was destroyed.

Playing the Game

Politics is politics and apparently politicians will play the game all ways. If better proof be needed, it seems to me the demonstration over immediate payment of the cash bonus to war veterans will suffice. The bonus has been licked for this session of congress but all indications point to a belief that the country may not be so lucky in the next session of congress which is not far ahead of the 1936 elections.

An organized minority—the World War veterans—were very close to success in forcing congress to appropriate $2,600,000,000 and pay it over to them. They failed because President Roosevelt—like three Presidents before him—had to view the problem from the standpoint of the country's welfare and not the welfare of this minority. Credit is due the President for the stand he took just as credit was due President Hoover, Coolidge and Harding. He will be criticized and attacked by this local minority just as the others were criticized and attacked.

I am informed that the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and various and sundry other organizations of former soldiers, sailors and marines are prepared for a bitter fight next year against those representatives and senators who dared to oppose cash payment of the bonus now when it is not due until 1945. The soldiers' lobby is the greatest and most expensive lobby in Washington now. It knows its power and it does not hesitate to characterize opponents of the cash bonus as traitors. The lobbyists are certain to go into every state and congressional district next summer and seek to defeat those who dared to follow their own conscience and vote against this raid on the treasury.

As a result of the vote on the bonus and the subsequent Presidential veto some keen political observers have begun to calculate in their own minds what the view of the country is. It was pointed out, for example, that a maximum of four million would be entitled to a bonus. At the same time attention was called to the fact that new voters are arriving at the age of franchise at the rate of approximately two million a year or almost thirty-six million since the end of World War. These observers contend that the new voters and those who are not entitled to the bonus constitute a majority. Thus, they seek to show that there is a great majority of the voters of the country unwilling to see such a sum of money voted to a minority, especially at a time when the government is taxing its citizens and borrowing in billions to give relief to all whether they fought for their country or not. The question is then whether the politicians will wake up in time to represent the majority or be fooled by the power of a highly organized minority.

Important News Stories Briefly Told

St. Paul—Michael Svantner, meat market proprietor at St. Paul, passed away May 22 at the age of 60. Funeral services were attended by Mrs. Frank Fafelita and Mr. and Mrs. Will Gruber, Ord, and by the Manasil and Meyers families, Burwell.

Farwell—L. A. Garner, superintendent of schools here for five years, has accepted a similar position in the Hardville schools for next year. He will spend the summer taking a course at the state teachers' college in Kearney. Mr. Garner is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Mid Garner, of Ord, and has made a splendid record in the teaching profession during his stay in Farwell.

Burwell—Rev. Dalrymple, pastor of the Congregational church here for several years, has accepted the pastorate of a Chicago church and will move his family there soon.

Burwell—Luther Pierce was re-elected Boss of the Wranglers club at a meeting at the Hallock hotel last week. Orval Norland, overseer, Jesse Pearl, storekeeper, and Kenneth Parsons, director, were other officers elected. The club decided to sponsor a Loup Valley old settlers' picnic here about the middle of July and a committee was named to make plans for the event.

Dannebrog—Touching an 11,000 volt power wire while descending from a 30-foot pole in this village one day last week, Floyd E. Fisher, 43, was electrocuted, his body falling to the ground in flames. Fisher, whose home was in South Bend, Ind., was an expert at handling "hot" wires. He was employed by the R. E. Myers Construction Co., who have contracted to rebuild the Central Power Company's distributing system, and joined the crew only three days before his death.

STATE CAPITAL NEWS

By FRED J. MINDER

On January 1, 1935 the last unicameral legislature of Nebraska opened at high noon. Sunday morning, May 26, at 1:24 o'clock, the House, remaining branch in session adjourned sine die, thus bringing to a close the longest, hardest and costliest session in Nebraska history, and the last two-house session for a while, at least.

While there was an attempt at joviality during the closing hour of the House session, there was a certain note of sadness that crept through the fun. Swan-songs were sung, speeches made, friends and relatives of members milled about the chamber and the galleries were crowded.

The clock was stopped at 11:59 p. m., so that whatever action the House took on Sunday would be regarded as having been transacted on Saturday.

It was at 1:23 a. m., that Speaker O'Gara, after hearing a motion by Rep. Bishop of Lancaster that the session adjourn, began his final speech. He picked up the thread of addresses a few minutes prior made by Rep. Havekost and Rep. Burr, both of whom paid high tribute to the memory of Rep. Tremore Cone, deceased veteran from Valley.

It was on adjournment day that Cone had intended to introduce his secretary as his wife, and death deprived him of that last-minute surprise he had in store. But his colleagues in the House were not unmindful of his intentions, and to the man who was loved and hated, and who made history as a friend of the down trodden, the House, tired, sleepy, anxious to leave spent several minutes in eulogy. Cone's death brought another precedent. His body was taken to the House of Representatives, where before a joint assembly, the funeral services were conducted.

It was the one hundred and tenth day that the House had been in session and the ninety-ninth for the Senate. It was the longest session in history, but in the dying hours, swan-song singers attempted to justify it by declaring that enough work was outlined for the solons to justify two ordinary sessions.

Qualifying their statements, the members referred to the three mandatory measures, liquor control, unicameral legislation and pari-mutuel betting which had to be dealt with. To these they added the relief problems that confronted the legislature and the unprecedented condition brought about by the closing of the state treasury at the out-set of the session that entailed much diligent labor to meet demands of bonding companies, get a bond for the treasurer and open the treasury doors.

The final hour in the House brought one of the liveliest battles of the session when an attempt was made to enact a law enabling Omaha to have liquor by drink without the necessity of an option election, provided in the new liquor law. Some of the most brilliant oratory of the session was hurled for and against the measure, the theme being that an election in the Douglas county seat would entail a cost of some $20,000 to its taxpayers. After considerable wrangling, the bill died and Omaha takes its place with the rest of the state on the liquor-by-drink proposal.

Aside from the death of Rep. Cone, on the Senate side history was made when Senator Joseph F. Kaspar, from Prague, was convicted during the session of receiving stolen property, something unusual in legislative annals. N. J. Ludi, Wahoo newspaper publisher, succeeded Kaspar in the Senate and James E. Quinn, member of the 1923 session, was selected to replace Cone.

Some of the high spots of the session's work include enactment of a relief act placing an additional one cent on the gasoline price as a tax, breathing new life into the moratorium against foreclosures until 1937, passage of a bill giving a ten year moratorium on delinquent taxes provided the current year taxes over this period are kept in order, delinquencies, if met in lump or in ten payments, to be stripped of interest where the taxpayer keeps his future slate clean, but does not apply to special assessments.

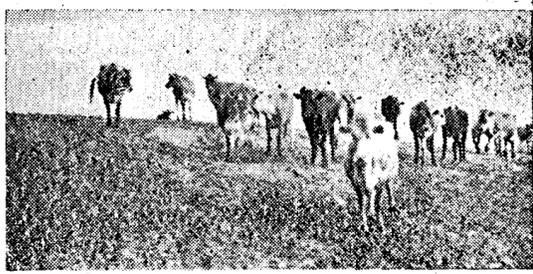

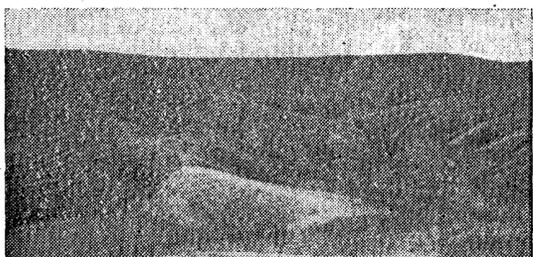

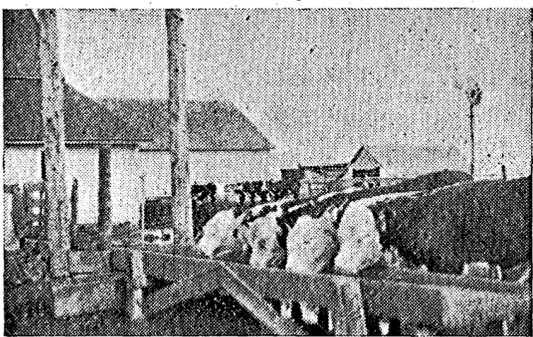

The session was a commission-creator. The old republican theory that commissions, boards and bureaus are too expensive, a fact brought to light by the McKelvie code bill, it may be said was ignored by the democratic majorities in both branches this session, where commissions, were created with a more or less free hand. There is a new setup for nurses along bureau or commission lines, a liquor commission, one for pari-mutuel, another for real estate dealers, an aeronautics commission, a compensation court, a bureau to handle unemployment problems and a hindwound commission.

Woven through the actions of the session was Governor Cochran's position against broadening the tax base. Minority members found some consolation in kicking over creation of a system of regional and county libraries, sponsored by the wife of the governor. This program was responsible for increase in appropriation for state library commission from $10,000 to $25,000 and also opened the door for counties to levy an additional mill for library purposes. Although the governor's idea on new taxes was noted, the fire insurance companies were assessed two percent for the sake of pensions for firemen, and insurance companies writing compensation risks will support the new workmen's compensation court which wipes out the old compensation commission.

To provide for old age pensions, all persons between the ages of 21 and 50 years, both male and female, are to be assessed $2 per head per year. One cent was added to the 4-cent gasoline tax to contribute to relief purposes.

Pari-mutuel betting, mandatory upon the session, was disposed of early. It will confine itself largely to Ak-Sar-Ben, and a Senate attempt to make this type of gambling a condition of the board of agriculture appropriations was wiped out.

With a dozen bills introduced by members outlining liquor control, what finally passed was a merciful compromise, drafted by a conference committee, the third to wrestle with the problem. It was accepted with fingers crossed, but evidently was sufficiently wet to please the wets and dry enough to satisfy the dries. High spots in the law were universal sale of package liquor, strict option on sales by the drink, no liquor outside incorporate cities and villages and beer under the same regulations and restrictions as enacted by the 1933 legislature, except that the state commission issues the licenses and there is no limitation as to alcoholic content.

of two-third democratic majority —67 House and 22 Senate members—the state NRA bill was kicked out and a AAA-sponsored milk bill passed the Senate but died in the House without consideration in committee of the whole.

The general appropriations bill carries property taxes of $12,040,069 for the biennium. This is approximately a half-million dollars above the 1933 total. The total includes reappropriated balances, which if eliminated, spell $11,510,072 in new tax monies, and also includes new activities such as prison industries, $30,000 and a state employment bureau, $36,690.

One of the hardest fights was over proposed ratification of the child labor amendment which met with defeat.

A strenuous war was waged against partial exemption of aircraft fuel as contained in the Nebraska aeronautics commission bill and in the closing hours solons erased exemption but retained the safety features.

Opposition to the state university was exhibited again when time came to vote on acceptance or rejection of conference committee report on the general claims and deficiencies bill. The university had been compelled to reach into its pocket to replace a barn and all it contained, at Curtis. The item, originally figured at $11,357 was shaved several hundred dollars on final adoption.

Passed was the bill declaring ten roads on each side of all the Platte rivers throughout the state to be sanctuaries for birds except during open season when the ban shall be lifted between the hours of thirty minutes before sunrise and noon. The Senate excepted Scotts-bluff and Morrill counties.

There was no House concurrence in Senate amendments to HR 680, originally a bill to abolish the Milford branch of the soldiers' and sailors' home and to shut off Grand Island "line". Heretofore persons living in cottages away from the institution have received rations. Legislative purpose was to put a stop to that. The Senate decided that the Milford branch shall continue and that the "line" shall exist for one and one-half years. House response was direct and emphatic. Amendments were rejected 53 to 7. Members of the lower branch who had worked long and hard on this bill decided that as patched up by the Senate, the bill was worse than no bill.

The exhaustive report of the committee that probed activities of FERA and affiliated relief agencies was rendered just a few hours before legislative adjournment.

The strongest point in the committee's findings, according to the report which received endorsement was recommendation that control as soon as possible, of relief problems be placed in county boards who allegedly are more familiar with problems of the sort than are strangers. County officials, the report says, are directly responsible to the people.

The report mentioned the request made on Washington for removal of Rowland Haynes as federal relief director for Nebraska. The committee received somewhat of a cool response, particularly from Senator Norris. The committee had urged that in place of Haynes a Nebraska citizen be named and Norris indicated that, in his opinion, this indicated desire for a party control.

More than a hundred persons from different groups were examined by the committee. Thirty-five came from ranks of the administration. Those in charge of the probe stated that their findings were not complete and that time did not permit determination of cost per dollar of administering relief in the state. Considerable "buck passing" was found, the report said. Certain persons on the payroll, according to the report, have been more interested in their own welfare than in the administration feature. It also was claimed that favoritism was indicated in several instances. Further it was claimed that those asking for relief often were treated more or less shabbily.

Heads of departments, the report said, were not always selected because of proven ability. Complaint also was voiced because many case workers allegedly were of immature age. High rent also came in for criticism. Medical service was given something of a jolt as to its efficiency.

It was nearly 11 o'clock on the final day of the session that Henry Brandt, representative of Gage county and ardent fighter in the cause of agriculture, made his first appearance before the House microphone to fight a cause for his dairymen friends, who, if they followed the laws of the farm, should be at home in bed.

The House unanimously adopted the resolution, introduced jointly by Brandt and Rep. Lusenski of Columbus, condemning the use of powdered milk as allotted by the FERA to Nebraska families on relief, in view of the fact that there is a surplus of fresh milk in the state.

The resolution read: "Whereas, it appeared in the press that FERA has allotted 160,000 pounds of dry skim milk to Nebraska families on relief, and

"Whereas, the first car of 40,000 pounds of such dry skim milk has just been received in Omaha, the balance of said 80 tons to be delivered later, and

"Whereas, said bulk, dry skim milk would be rationed to each family on relief at the rate of two pounds per month, and

"Whereas, such dry skim milk consists of liquor skim milk reduced to powder form, the fat from the whole milk being removed before drying, thereby rendering such powdered milk deficient in vitamin A found in cream in vitamin C, although rich in vitamin G, now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Nebraska in the fiftieth regular session assembled:

"1. That this legislature condemns the practice of the FERA in furnishing dry, skim milk to Nebraska families on relief—as a policy to the Nebraska dairy industry and by this resolution respectfully suggests that the practice of allotting dry skim milk to Nebraska families on relief be discontinued forthwith.

"2. That this resolution be spread at large upon the Journal of this House and that the chief clerk be directed forthwith to forward a copy of said resolution, properly authenticated and suitably engrossed, to the particular heads of the state FERA organization in Nebraska and to the national FERA organization in Washington."

The milk investigating committee, headed by the late Tremore Cone, reported that the so-called extreme spread in price between that paid by the consumer and that received by the producer is due in part to intense competition and duplication in routes. No remedy was presented.

Thomas Gass, Kearney banker and former state senator, is chairman of the Nebraska liquor commission. He is a democrat and appointed for two years. Other members of the commission are W. W. Carmichael of Omaha, democrat and J. A. McEachen of Lincoln, a feed wholesaler, as republican member. The salary per member is $4,000 per year. Carmichael and McEachen are to serve six year terms.

Max Adams, of Dannebrog, former legislator and secretary of the House of Representatives for the session just closed, was appointed secretary to the commission at an annual salary of $3,200.

Governor Cochran reached another crisis in his political career when he appointed Dwight F. Felton, head of the department of agriculture as chairman of the commission, for the two year term. Felton was one of Cochran's mainstays during the governor's election fights. Two days after the appointment was made and former Senator W. B. Banning of Union succeeded Felton as agriculture head, Felton announced he would not accept the commission post, declined to make a statement, and returned to his home in Ogallala to conduct his farming interests and real estate business.

The political-wise of Lincoln contend that Felton resented getting the two-year appointment instead of the one for four or six years, although nothing has come from the former agriculture department head to indicate this as being so.

Banning, candidate for governor in the democratic primary, toward the last of the campaign threw his support to Cochran and during the campaign prior to the general election, was one of the governor's main supporters. It is reported that Banning was offered a post on the liquor commission but declined.

Foes of a kind when the House was organized, but friends at the window. That is the way to describe the feeling between Speaker O'Gara and John Havekost, representatives. Havekost and O'Gara were rival candidates for the speaker-ship. O'Gara was victorious.

As is customary, the flag that occupies a place alongside the speaker's stand during a session goes to the speaker at the close of the session.

It was Havekost who made the motion to present the flag to O'Gara and who did the actual presentation. They clasped hands.

The jack pines seem to stand the gaff about the best. She had a lot of company in the house, and concluding that I and my kids would make a crowd, we scurried on.

More Bull Trouble.

West and across the road to Bud Bell's. He and his son, George, had just finished testing their cattle. Bud said he had nothing to show me only he has the best bull in the country. I was suspicious he was making fun of me, but looked the darned thing over anyway, over the fence. George had a few head of purebred white faced cows with their tiny white faced calves. I wondered if the people in Mira Valley don't know there is any other breed except white faces. I also wondered if outside influences could have anything to do with George's choice of breeds.

West again a little ways and knocking at the door of Mrs. Crow. She is a distant relative of my wife. A distance of ten or fifteen miles. Even with those short few miles, and with high speed cars, we seldom meet. We are always so rushed with less important things than keeping acquainted with the relatives.

Will Teach Single Pupil.

We were invited into the house, where we renewed old friendships. She had nothing to show me except a neat house, and a chair bordering on an antique. Her daughter, Merna, is the teacher at No. 10, and has the contract already signed to teach one pupil, all the others in the district planning to go to the parochial school.

Across the road, finding John Hornick and his young grandson wedding a row of peas. I commented on his garden and he replied he had to work hard at it to keep it looking as good as Gus Weitzel's. He then arose and we sauntered about the yard. Flowers and garden are in front and to the east, and old elms to the southwest. He said one of those trees has a spread of 80 feet, but one looked as large as the other to me. The place is dark with shade, some of the trees having had to be cut out so the sun might peek through. One large pine, one of the largest in the country, died last year.

John Is Great Talker.

Into the house for a few minutes to see the wife who was just taking some huge loaves of bread out of the oven. Elmer was listing in yonder field. The little boys littered the floor with toys, while we elders chatted about divers subjects—politics, neighbors, relatives, jokes. And when it comes to relatives, they are all related in these parts. Their family gatherings have to be held out of doors. John joked a little about being a long talker. Mrs. H. said he and John Bremer use to visit back and forth once in a while in the evening and usually not get home until the roosters crowed in the morning. It just got to the point these two boon friends had to quit calling on each other.

On west and north and to John Dobberstein's. His girls told me he was listing just north of the house. I walked that way and found him working a team of blue roans that up to date are the champion team. He said the assessors assessed them the highest of any in the precinct. As fat as moles, as sound as a bell, as gentle as a pet pig, and as blue as a morning fog. He gladly unhooked the outside horses and I took the blue's picture. John and I talked a few minutes, counted the men we could see planting corn, commented on the apple orchard in the bend of the coulees and I left. Their collie dog raced us to the next neighbor. This dog can run just 3 1/4 miles an hour by the speedometer.

A Fine Elm Grove.

Henry Rachuy next. He was in the field listing but his wife and son were present. She and the boy specialize in lawn, flowers and garden work, and incidentally chickens by the hundreds. They major in rose bushes, it seemed like, and they had a lot of them all cultivated in tip top shape. Then we sauntered out and gave a once over to her fine chickens and Chinese elm grove to the north. The trees are about 15 feet high and appear as if last year's drought never existed.

On west again and finding Clate Noll ambitiously digging weeds with a shovel west of the house. He proved to be a surly fellow at first, not having any time for agents. He nodded a how-de-do without stopping the shovel movement. The conversation was something as follows:

"Do you take the Quiz?"
"My wife takes it. I never read it myself. Who are you?"
"My name is Gowen." Meekly.
"Gowen! Are you related to old Bill Gowen?"
"Slightly. He was my father." Here he missed a beat with the shovel. "I knew Bill. Darned nice fellow." He took a good look between weeds. Much more friendly now.

"Nice trees you have here," I remarked.

"Those that didn't die."
Then stopping suddenly. "I haven't any money. Can't buy anything."

"You talk like you are the only one who hasn't money. I haven't either. Shake." He dug another weed.

Millionaire Reporter!

"You got a good job, getting a dollar an inch writing lies about people."

Meekly again, "I had no intention writing any lies about people. It was all a mistake if I did. What you referring to?"

"John Bremer said you lied when you said he asked you to vote for him."

"I am terribly sorry about that. John and I have been life long friends. John's a nice fellow, too, I —," stammering.

"Oh he's all right now. He got all over it." Still digging avidly. Screwing up my courage at this point, I bluntly said, "Ah, rest a minute and show me the works. What ya' got here anyway? Got any bulls?"

"Best the country over. Go and look at him, but stay out of the yard. He is not friendly like a sweetheart."

I started off. He rammed the shovel in the ground and came along. Wanted to see the bull boost me out, perhaps. We peeked through a crack at a Jersey, a full brother to the best cow in the state. Seeing us he whirled, lowered his head and made a charge in our direction. I expected to see fire blow out of his nostrils any minute. I offered to take his picture if Clate would just get near enough so I could get them both. I assured him however I would never help him out if the bull won the fight, and Clate assured me he would get out all right, but it might be with a little assistance from the rear.

Wanted Action Picture.

We got the picture. I took no unnecessary chances. I hated to have the camera get tromped in the dirt. Clate edged carefully up to Mr. Bull. I had the camera ready to catch a running picture if the occasion presented but all was peaceful. "I give him a dose of pitchfork medicine if he gets sassy," Clate remarked.

Clate is an old-timer, a home-steader and "not dead yet", he says. He can work along with the youngsters any day. He has a flock of nice sheep, and the best Shrop buck in the country. I would have gone and seen this ram too if I had thought he was as foxy as the bull. These folks milk 13 cows and the checks are $25.00 a week. The milk tests 5.5 and better. After looking at the chickens and nearing the house, he said, "Now you have seen the place. I shall go back to work."

I stopped then across the road at Walt Noll's. He works for his father and was out in the field. Mrs. Noll came to the door. They are remodeling their house, and things were in a state of upheaval all there. These folks are good friends of Geo. Hutchins', and Geo. Hutchins' are friends of ours, so that made Mrs. Noll and I acquainted at once. One method of introduction.

Then on a ways west and to the United Brethren church and to the house of Rev. Chas. Wantz. There too I was cordially invited into the house. Very soon we artists fell to talking shop. He is an artist with a brush or chalk, I with a pen. At least I attempt to be one. He showed me some of his pictures which were plenty good. One of the editor-in-chief that I think should be published some day. Rev. Wantz is like me, that is interested in writing stories, and I told him a few of my experiences and he encouraged me by saying "to stay by it." In other words "you will amount to something yet." Sounds good at least.

Cartoonist-Precacher.

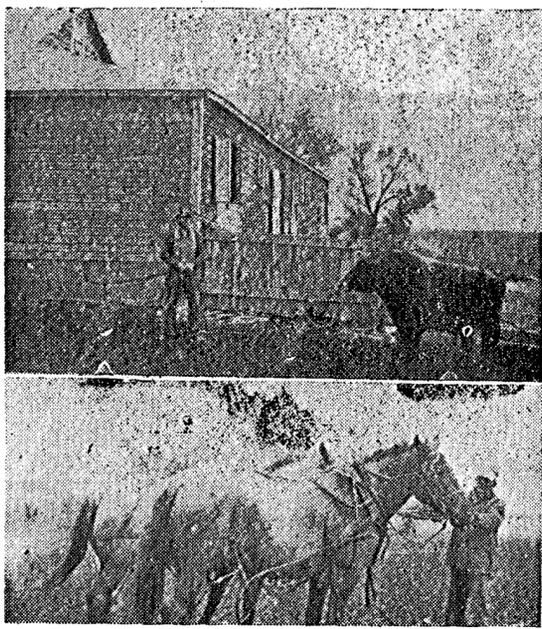

He told me that I had the advantage over his preaching. If they don't like your stuff they can turn the leaf. With his sermons they just have to take it. But I told him if they didn't like his talk they might not come next week, or throw a few pennies less in the platter. So you see we had a good time telling of our troubles. My kids had already drummed up an acquaintance with his and were having a fine time when we left. At that point the rain came spattering down.

We slipped along the road to Orin Kellison's. He and his hired man, Clayton Arnold were loitering out of the rain in the barn. They showed me some nice young horses, some striped hogs, and we looked cross lots at a load of fat steers that Orin wished he had sold before the price went off so badly. Clate and I went to talking B. & L. business, and he said he heard the whole board of directors were a bunch of crooks. He wondered if that was true. I told him I wouldn't make any comments about the secretary, but the others were as honest as old Abe himself.

Orin Champ Pitcher.

About that time we heard the horse shoes clanging. Orin was practicing up in the lee of some large cottonwoods. I could not refrain so we hurried out that way. Clate and I made a good start, with a few close shoes and a ring. Orin was slow to start, but soon got his accurate eye focused and his swinging arm in motion, and slapped one ringer on top of the other, winning without half trying. He is too fast for scribblers and I left.

Across the road to Mrs. Prien's. She lives alone in a large white house, and rents her land to her son Will. I could see she put in quite a little time with her yard and flowers, and for beauty this yard is a prize winner. Tall trees, slick blue grass, bordered with well cultured flower beds. She was quite sociable, but as she has long been a subscriber, I did not tarry but a minute.

On again, the rain pattering on the car top, we stopped on a hill at Will Prien's. He has a new and old tractor, and other fine machinery. With the big tractor he plows 25 acres a day. He has a dappled gray horse there that is about the nicest one I ever did see, but he didn't see me. He was blind. They have a lot of white chickens, as nearly everyone out this way have. Prien's have eaten forty fries already this year. Will, Archie Boyce, his hired man, and I talked for several minutes on the west porch out of the rain. Calling the kids out of the house we left, noting a nice grove of Russia Olives to the north, their grey leaves sparkling in the rain.

A Tip on Perfumery.
On west again and stopping at Ted King's. He came to the door, and remarked this was a great day for the Roving Reporter to come around. We visited a few minutes. He said he had nothing to show me, no fine horses, hogs, chickens or anything. We sauntered out to the barn and although I could see nothing, I concluded my nose knows he had had a black and white visitor. Ted told me he had killed a skunk under the barn a year or more ago, and the fragrance still remained. That's something to tell anyway. And I just thought if the cosmetic people could just combine the potency of that little animal with the sweetness of apple blossoms—but that is off the subject.

On west again and into the yard of Ben Hackel. He and Victor Cook, his hired man, were moping at the barn, lamenting the rain falling, and stopping the corn planting. Looking to the house I noticed another prize yard. A lily pool was in the middle of a large flower garden. Out of the center of the pool, a spray was fixed to shoot the water heavenward. The yard fence, and over the gates, was lined with grape vines, from which many bushels of grapes are gathered every year. An egg shaped cistern was encased with a bank of dirt, and on top of that a flower bed blooms forth. At the foot are mammoth hollyhocks. A really pretty place, and I took a picture of it and Ben. He showed me his chickens, and then off we went.

Back east again a couple miles, south a mile and into the yard of John Bremer. I was invited into the house, but as we went in John informed me they wrote the news and got the paper for nothing. So that spoiled a sale there. Then John pointed out a son whose name is Franklin D. but he was named long before many of us heard of the President. We talked of many things including his four boys and three girls, local historical events, and incidentally about the Work Sheet. These folks said they read them and, like the girl receiving her first love letter, they read between the lines. They mentioned a few things and I concluded they read more between the lines than I ever had any notion they should. Can't Agree on Chickens.

John said they specialize on sheep and chickens and right now they are sold out of sheep. They have over 600 young chickens, different coops belonging to different members of the family. John said, "where they are many heads there are many minds. Eva likes one kind of chicken, Jim another, Francis, Louise, George, Frank, Bill, James, each another, and I like all I Reds. As a result we have all kinds except the Reds." There I was shown a lily pool and a pet colt. As took my leave, I urged the girls, to write up some Enterprise history and make the Boss dig up some of those two dollar bills he told about. As we turned the corner east, my kids remarked about how nice those folks are, and I realized that I had heard many times that right there is the nicest family in all Mira Valley, if not the county.

Back from the road and to the old Squire place where Les Leonard lives. A pen full of fat steers greeted my eye the first thing, Clifford Moody, the hired man was stripping posts. We went to the barn and he showed me a team of sorrel mares that were surely nice ones. I thought the blue roans I had seen at J. D. the nicest team, but I would hate to say they are any nicer than these. Sound, like they had been factory made, color, like golden fleece, trimmed with silver, fat, like a corn-fed goose, and quiet like a sweetheart on a chilly night.

Compliments Bremer Kids.
At that minute, Mrs. Leonard and their small son came out to talk with the caller, and she is not a dull conversationalist either. She said Les was in Omaha with a carload of steers. That he might sell the team but she hoped not. He had said that he would sell anything but his wife and kid. I told her she could be thankful of that at least. She told me about their place being one of the oldest ones, and the trees being just about as old. She said the place had only been sold once and that was when Leonard's bought it of Squires. And so that abstract would be short and sweet. She said if she could raise her tiny boy to be as nice as any of the Bremer kids she would be satisfied.

On east and stopping at Mrs. Nass'. Art came out of the house and told me all he had to tell about was that he has 135 acres of oats and barley—105 acres of barley all in one field. They have a number of hives of bees there, too, from which they harvest a ton of honey a year.

Plays Piano By Ear.

I was invited into the house where his sister, Mrs. Gregory from Texas and her 12-year-old daughter Lila Fay were visiting. They said this daughter could play the piano and sing, and urged her to do it for us. She said she couldn't—that she had a cold. That is an old excuse of musicians, and I knew she must be sophisticated when I heard it. After a little teasing, she gladly rendered a few numbers, playing accurately and singing with oscine tones. She has never had a lesson in her life, playing and singing entirely by ear. She can play any piece she hears on the radio or at a show.

Art and I sympathized with each other in that both of us sold our cattle when they were low, and didn't buy back for the raise.

Around the corner to the north and into the yard of Will Poth. Mrs. Poth came to the door, and so did the daughter, who will be the one and only student in No. 10 next year, unless others move in. She and the teacher should have a good time. High priced education.

Mrs. Poth was very pleasant. We talked about the yard, and the weather. She said Will was listing north of the house and did not plan to quit until dark. So the kids piled out to visit at the house and I ran out to see Will a minute. He came to the house and I looked at about the smoothest mule I have seen yet. Donald Axthelm, the hired man, was working her with some other fat horses. I took her picture. Then Will and I looked over the fat steers, he went back to his work, and I on my way homeward. And there was one other thing I discovered here. He has no dog that attempted to eat me alive as I cautiously approached the threshold.

The Eskimo Is Passing
The Eskimo, despite the paternal efforts of the United States since gaining control of Alaska, is rapidly dying out. He suffers from tuberculosis and social diseases. Not many of them attend the government schools. In another generation the pure American or Siberian Eskimo, of whom there are now not over 4,000 on the Arctic coast of Alaska, will be extinct.

It Makes a Real Difference in Gasoline

You'll be surprised—agreeably surprised—at the difference you notice when you run your car for the first time on a gasoline that contains Tetraethyl. And it's easy to tell whether the gasoline you buy does contain this valuable anti-knock fluid. Simply look for that little metal sign (required by law) on every Standard Red Crown pump. Tetraethyl is the finest known anti-knock fluid—the very same valuable fluid which (in larger quantity) goes into premium-priced gasoline. You get it now in every drop of that famous Live Power gasoline—Standard Red Crown.

Edgar Mouer Opening New Hamburger Shop

Edgar Mouer's hamburger shop, destroyed by flames a few weeks ago, will be reopened Saturday, June 8, in a new location, the Blessing building south of the Ord postoffice. This building was repaired and painted by Carl Lindor, of York, a brother-in-law of Mr. Mouer, and the modernistic decorative effect is very striking. Booths and tables have been installed and Mr. Mouer expects to cater to the feminine trade also. All cooking will be done in the rear room by electricity. A new electric stove, two new electric refrigerators and an electric water heater have been installed and all other fixtures are new. Harold Hallen was finishing electric wiring and Raymond Gass the plumbing yesterday and everything will be in readiness for the opening Saturday, Mr. Mouer says.

patriotic selections. Selections by the Legion's male chorus were greatly appreciated. Mrs. Ed Holloway, Mrs. F. Shirley, Mrs. George Pratt and Mrs. H. H. Hohn, officers of the Ladies of the G. A. R., performed rites of this order in memory of the Civil war dead.

As usual, the services were concluded with a volley fired in salute to the dead by a Legion firing squad lead by Emil Fafelita and sounding of taps by the buglers.

Only other feature of the day was the opening band concert of the season, given by the Ord municipal band on the court house steps in the evening. Director Duncan's band gave a fine program of patriotic and popular numbers and many compliments were heard on the progress these musicians have made since last autumn. Concerts will be given every Wednesday night hereafter if weather is suitable.

Softball Leagues Results For Week

League play continued this week in the Ord Inter-City Softball League and although the diamond was soggy and slippery from recent rains the games were all very close and real fights 'til the finish.

Monday evening the contests were of torrid temperature, both games ending by a 7-6 count. In the first game, with the Orange leading 6-4 at the end of the fifth inning, the Green broke out into a scoring orgy to win 7-6. The second game was all High School until the last half of the seventh when the Joint lads staged a batting rally which netted them 4 runs and gave them the game.

Tuesday night the Red outfit eked out a 2-1 win over the Green, the Green getting their lone tally in the last of the seventh when they threatened to break loose but were quickly retired by some errorless ball playing by the Reds. The second game of the evening was a hectic affair in which the Springdale softballers succeeded in winning by an 11-8 count.

At the end of play this week the Blues and the Springdale teams are leading the league race—the Blues with one win, no losses and the Springdale with two wins, no losses.

Forage Seeds

Reports on stocks of forage seeds of the United States show a marked decrease. It is very doubtful if there will be sufficient seed for requirements if we have an average demand for seed.

As we told you last week our stock of Sudan and Grohoma is very low and it is very hard to get more of the seed at reasonable price.

We have been told several times that we are selling Sudan at $5.00 per cwt. less than some of the dealers in neighboring towns.

This week we will have a Special Price on Hog Millet. It is to arrive on Tuesday of this week and we are going to make a very low price on this seed.

SWEET CORN SEED.

Sweet Corn can be planted on reduction acres and will give a good amount of feed. We have a good supply of local grown Golden Bantam seed and it is pure seed. Two other good varieties of early sweet corn are Early Minnesota and Howling Mob. Both are good feeding corn and Howling Mob is a good fodder corn, and usually there is a good demand for this seed in the fall.

SEED CORN

We have a limited amount of Yellow and White seed corn as well as Mahogany Flint corn. We also have a small acreage of Contract Flint Corn to place. Come and ask about this early flint.

Feeds

Noll's Starting Mash has been giving perfect satisfaction for the past three years and sells below other highly advertised feeds. In test feeding two lots of chicks with our feed and another brand the chicks fed with our brand of feed made larger gains than those fed with the other brand of feed. Why pay more than $2.85 for a Starting Mash when you can buy one of the very best at that price.

When the chicks get older we recommend our Growing Mash. It sells for $2.45 per cwt. and the chicks continue to put on good gains.

Our Laying Mash sells for $2.00 per cwt. and is a real egg maker. Many people find it difficult to make their hens pay because of high price of feed and others try to mix their own feed and do not get enough eggs to make it pay. Those feeding our Laying Mash get a good supply of eggs and find the feeding of it a paying proposition.

We are making a Pig Meal that sells for $2.00 per cwt. and it is a feed that pigs like and will put on weight at a much lower price than feeding corn to the young pigs. Get a few bags and try it. You will be well satisfied.

Water In Cullen Lake High, Writes Quiz Publisher

Ord People Reached Minnesota
Lake Friday, Have Hopes For Good Fishing.

Jackpine Lodge on Middle Cullen Lake Near Nisswa, Minn., June 8, 1935.
Dear Quiz:
We are back in the little old cottage on the east bank of Middle Cullen lake and I am sitting where I can look out the window over the lake as I write and it is a beautiful sight. It is 7 a. m., the sun is shining over the lake, it seems like hundreds of birds are singing, I see a fox squirrel running along the fence between our place and the Fenner cottage. "Lucky," one of the Luther dogs, is wading in the edge of the lake fishing, a sport that he follows most of the time and he seldom catches one.

Rain Quits at Elgin.
We left Ord Thursday a few moments after 7:00 Thursday, the Missus, Flora and the two little girls, Shirley and Cora Lee, and Luella Naab, our niece, and myself. It was raining lightly when we started and we had been looking at the sky for a half hour with some degree of anxiety, for we didn't like to drive in the rain and one hates to delay the start when all arrangements have been made. We drove first to Elgin, Nebraska and then north to Bartlett, north on the O'Neill road to the Elgin road, then east to Elgin. There the rain quit, though it had sprinkled all the time till then and we had to keep the windshield wiper going in order to see to drive. After Elgin it is a fine gravelled, oiled or paved road to camp. We made the trip this time with the smallest mileage we ever had. The saving was on the first end of the trip between Ord and Yankton which was 159 miles. Around by Atkinson it is 208. The mileage from Ord to our cottage was 565.

Married at Midnight.
Sunday, about midnight, Judge John L. Andersen was awakened by a young couple who announced their intention of taking out a marriage license and having the judge marry them. Judge Andersen obligingly dressed and went to the court house and there joined in wedlock Miss Colla E. Layher and Everett D. Linnville, both of Broken Bow.

Mrs. Vaclav Kluna Dies At Age of 72

Mrs. Vaclav Kluna, 72, for many years a resident of Valley county, passed away last Wednesday, June 5, at her home in Comstock. Friday funeral services were held at the Sowl chapel in Ord with Rev. B. Filipi in charge, following which brief rites were held at the Natona hall. Pallbearers were Jake Johaneck, John Koncek, P. J. Kolar, Joe Lebruska, Jerry Pilva and F. Olive, Jr. Interment was in the National cemetery.
Marie Ann Slaby was born in Pravonia, near Caslav, Czechoslovakia, on Oct. 24, 1862. Coming to America in 1883, she was married four years later to Vaclav Kluna and they immediately moved to Valley county, which was the family home until 1900. The family then moved to a farm in Custer county where they lived until 1917, since which time Mrs. Kluna lived in Comstock. Stricken with paralysis twelve years ago, she had been an invalid since. Her husband died in 1933.
Left to mourn are four children, Joseph Kluna, Anton Kluna, Mrs. Joseph Klupal and Mrs. John Stefka, 14 grandchildren, six sisters and two brothers. Two children preceded their parents in death.

Appointed 2nd Lieutenant.
Raymond Abernethy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abernethy of Joint, has been appointed a second lieutenant in the army reserve corps and is now stationed at Camp Robinson, near Crawford, while superintending construction of a CCC camp there.

Funeral Services For Marion Vincent

Marion Vincent, former Ord man who passed away Sunday, June 2, at Scottsbluff, was laid to rest in Ord cemetery Friday, June 7, after services at the Methodist church conducted by Rev. Mearl C. Smith. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Madams Mark Tolen and E. O. Carlson, Messrs. Edgar Mauer and J. R. Stoltz. Pallbearers were Arthur Smith, Ellsworth Ball, Virgil McBurney, Marion Strong, Leslie Mason and Will King.

Palmatier Appointed Instructor at U. of N.

ELMER PALMATIER.

Elmer Palmatier, valedictorian of Ord high school in 1930, has gone on to higher honors since leaving here. Monday he graduated from the University of Nebraska after a brilliant career in which he was elected president of Phi Sigma, honorary biological society, became a member of the Botany Seminar, was awarded membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi and won the Weber-Ernst award in botany.

Young Palmatier has worked his way through university by doing stenographic work for the zoology and botany departments.

His mother, Mrs. Mary E. Palmatier, and his sister, Miss Delma, went to Lincoln Sunday to attend commencement exercises Monday. His other sister, Miss Thelma, is attending school at the University of Nebraska, this being her first year. Elmer and Thelma returned to Ord Wednesday with their mother and sister and will spend most of the summer here.

Elmer has been elected an assistant instructor in the department of botany and will fill the position during the next year while working for his Master's degree.

Ord Water Rate Will Be Reduced

Small Users Will Save 33 1-3 Per Cent, Benefit Most Under New Rate Plan.

A large reduction in the rate charged for water in Ord is announced this week by the Ord water department, the reduced rate becoming effective with the present quarter, payment for which is due Sept. 1. This reduction was authorized by the city council at a recent session and will result in a saving of 33 1-3 per cent to small users, who benefit most by the new plan.

Under the old system the minimum block was 4,000 gallons for which a quarterly charge of $2.00 was made, rate thus being 50c per thousand gallons.

5,000 Gallon Blocks.
Effective with the present quarter the minimum block has been increased to 5,000 gallons at a rate of 40c per thousand gallons with a minimum charge of $2.00. Furthermore, a discount of 50c will be allowed on each bill paid on or before the 10th of the month in which it becomes due. In other words, water consumed during the months of June, July and August, if paid for by Sept. 10, can be bought for 33 1-3 per cent less money than has been paid in the past.

This reduction is made possible by reduced cost of electricity for pumping and is put into effect at this time in the hope that Ord citizens will take better care of their lawns, trees, gardens and shrubbery this summer, said Mayor Gould B. Flagg and Water Commissioner George Allen Monday.

Aged Couple Take Out License to Wed

Monday County Judge Andersen issued a marriage license to Gilmore F. Dilsaber, 71, Sargent, and Nancy Trende, 63, of Iowa Falls, Ia., but so far report of their marriage has not reached the judge. Another license issued recently went to Richard M. Hoff-Meese, Ericson. Yesterday this couple was married by Judge Andersen.

Will Issue New Directory.
The Nebraska Continental Telephone company is planning to issue a new directory in the near future and people who are planning to install telephones should make arrangements to do so as at once, so their numbers may be listed. The directory will come out about July 1, says Mrs. R. L. Lincoln, local manager.

Officials Will Clamp Lid On All Public Drinking

City and County Plan Clean-up Before Legal Liquor Comes,
Is 'Official' Rumor.

That city and county officials plan to clamp the lid on all public drinking before the coming of legal liquor was the rumor making the rounds in Ord yesterday. Drunkenness and rowdiness have been on the increase for some time, it is known, and although neither Sheriff George Round nor Marshal L. H. Covert would comment the Quiz was able to learn that orders have come to them to take steps immediately to clean up the situation.

"There has been too much open drinking, not only in Ord but at county dances and in the villages of Valley county," said one official, who would not allow his name to be used.

"We don't plan to be ruthless but we do intend to put a stop to the worst of this drunkenness and rowdiness," the same man stated.

During the past few months, after Nebraska voted for repeal and before a state liquor law was passed, public sentiment was such that it would have been impossible to convict offenders on common intoxication charges, it was felt, so only the worst cases were prosecuted. Now that legal liquor is coming in everywhere and it will be readily accessible to anyone who wants it, officers feel that public sentiment will support stringent enforcement of existing liquor laws.

People who make a habit of driving cars while under the influence of liquor are especially advised to watch their step, according to rumors. No leniency will be shown anyone arrested in this condition.

The first prosecution in Ord under the new liquor law occurred last Wednesday in Judge John L. Andersen's court when Darold Ludington pleaded guilty to intoxication and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. He was arrested the night before by Night Officer Roy Pardue. Young Ludington had been at liberty only a week after serving a 30-day liquor sentence.

Shop Lifter 'Took Orders' for Lingerie
Monday afternoon Sheriff George Round arrested a nifty shoplifter, one of several transients who have victimized Ord merchants lately. This man was working a new scheme—taking orders for hosiery or lingerie, then going out and stealing the merchandise and delivering the goods.

How many times he worked this scheme is not known but when he sold hosiery to Ed F. Beranek and Mark Tolen he tackled the wrong pair for they watched him enter the Penney store, then come back in a few minutes with the hosiery. Sheriff Round was notified and arrested the man at Chase's Toggery where he was backed up to a hosiery counter, evidently preparing to fill another "order."
The man, believed to be a dope addict as so many of these transients are, was escorted to the city limits and advised to get out of Ord and stay out.

Gilbert Shop Moving.
James W. Gilbert and Herschel "Stub" Place have been busy this week moving their barber shop equipment from the basement of the Aule building to the north room of the Keown building and are now nicely installed in their new location.

Hugo Show To Open
Here Mon., June 17
The Hugo Players, who have been coming to Ord every summer for so many years that even Manager Harry Hugo has lost track, will open a week's engagement here next Monday evening, June 17. Opening play will be, "So He Married Ann," a hilarious comedy.
As has been the custom for several years, a large group of Ord merchants are offering courtesy tickets to Hugo shows with all purchases. These tickets, when accompanied by 10c each, admit to any Hugo performance.
The Hugo Players are a high-class company and offer musical numbers and vod-vil acts as well as dramatic entertainment. They are prime favorites with Ord audiences and no doubt their shows will be well attended this year as usual.

Five Caterpillars Moving Dirt on Ord-Ericson Highway

Flood Relief Quota $200 Money Needed

The Valley county Red Cross chapter's quota for flood relief is $200 and more voluntary contributions are badly needed, says Miss Clara McClatchey, county chairman. So far $111 has been raised, $100 being appropriated from the treasury and contributions having been made as follows: N. J. Peterson, $5; Mrs. John Beams, $5; Elsie Pecenka, $1. No report has been heard from North Loup or Arcadia.

Ord people desirous of contributing to the flood relief fund may leave their donations with Miss McClatchey, North Loup people with Mrs. Charlie Barber and Arcadia people with Mrs. Jess Marvel.

LIMIT ORD LIQUOR STORES TO TWO, IS COUNCIL REQUEST

Believe Operators Will Obey
Law If Number Limited, Says Resolution Here.

In a resolution passed at the regular June meeting Friday evening, the Ord city council asked the Nebraska liquor commission to limit the number of liquor stores and licenses issued in this city to two. Liquor store owners will obey the law better if they are making money, councilmen believe, and not more than two stores can operate in Ord and make money while paying state, city and federal fees and taxes, they feel.

The council did not pass a liquor ordinance Friday night because a copy of the "model" ordinance drafted by Nebraska League of Municipalities attorneys at Lincoln last week was not received in time. A special council meeting will be called soon for this purpose.

Several Ord men are known to be considering opening liquor stores and Tuesday Jerry Petaska and Ed Michalek, accompanied by Attorney John Misko, went to Lincoln to secure information about it. Others known to be considering the matter include Frank Fafelta, Jr., and Jack Riley. About ten Ord business men have sought information from him about this question, says City Attorney Ralph W. Norman.

Harry Smith Fined $100.
Harry Smith, Arcadia cafe owner who was arrested several weeks ago on liquor possession charges and at that time pleaded not guilty, reversed his plea in county court here Monday and was fined $100 and costs by Judge John L. Andersen.

Light Frost Nips Tender Vegetation

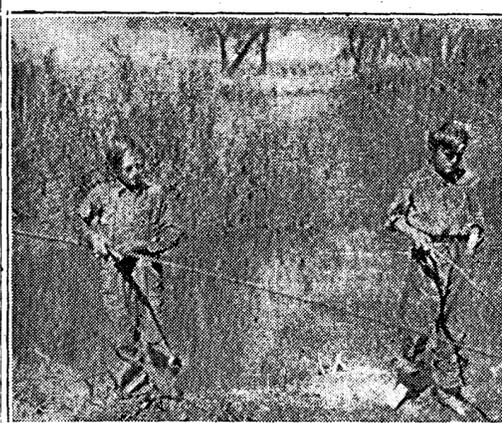

Potatoes, alfalfa and tender garden plants were slightly nipped by a light frost Thursday night, June 6, according to reports from various sections of the county. River and creek bottom fields and low-lying farm lands were the only places affected. The lowest temperature Thursday night registered on Horace Travis' government thermometer was 34 but lower temperatures were reported elsewhere.

Highest temperature of the week in Ord was 83 Sunday afternoon, Mr. Travis said. The day was sultry and it seemed much hotter than actual temperature.

Rainfall in Ord since last Thursday totalled only .03 inches but elsewhere in Valley county heavy rains fell Sunday night. Mirra Valley had an inch, North Loup about a half-inch and other communities from one-fourth to one-half inch.

Corn planting is about complete in this section although some farmers are busy replanting corn that washed out or failed to grow after the recent cold, rainy spell.

Days We'd Like to Live Over Again!

Not catching many fish but thoroughly enjoying themselves just the same were Floyd and Gale Hiner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hiner, when the Quiz photographer caught them in this informal pose at the river near Ord Tuesday. They had caught one fish, a bullhead about 6 inches long. Daily many Ord boys enjoy the healthful sport of fishing in creeks and river near Ord.

Ten Music Students To School In Lincoln

Ten Ord high school music students will leave this week to attend a four weeks' course offered by the University of Nebraska school of music. The term opens June 17 and will end July 12. The course offers instruction in band, orchestra and chorus.

The fee for this session will be $35 and this includes such expenses as board and room, separate dormitories, books and courses, complete supervision of study and recreation and health registration. It will also include two vocal or instrumental lessons per week and daily orchestral and choral rehearsals. All instrumental students will be eligible for the band. The orchestra will be chosen competitively from the band group. Those students taking vocal work will have the advantage of the large chorus.

Among the Ord students who have announced their intentions of attending and their line of study are Dorothy Allen, voice, Marilyn Dale, clarinet, Barbara Dale, voice, Lorraine Kusek, violin, Martina Blemond, clarinet, Jeannette Clements, flute, Dean Barta, cornet, Marjorie Smith, violin, Hope Bartunek, voice, and Dorothy Auble, cello.

Band Will Rehearse

Starting Wednesday morning at 10:00 a. m. the advanced band will rehearse weekly. This band will include only members who are regularly playing in town with perhaps a few in addition, who will be notified. The largest group will rehearse at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. This includes all members of the junior band, senior band who are not in the municipal band, and any or all beginners.

The above program will enable every boy and girl who desires to continue with his instrumental instruction during Mr. Duncan's six weeks' leave of absence, and at the end of this period he will again continue with these groups for the remainder of the summer.

It is requested that all students attending these rehearsals will be prompt and bring with them any orchestra or band music they have in their possession. A committee to care for details has been appointed by Mr. Duncan and will include Dick Koupal, Eugene Puncocchar and Arden Clark. This committee will be glad to answer questions at any time, since they are familiar with the outlined program for the next six weeks.

Grand Island Man To Direct Band Next Six Weeks

Prof. George Hauser Will Lead
While Duncan Takes Work
At Colorado University.

Professor George Hauser, of the Grand Island public schools, will direct the Ord municipal band and have charge of regular school practices during the next six weeks. He was engaged to take Dean Duncan's position as director while Mr. Duncan attends the six weeks' summer school term of the University of Colorado.

It was necessary to make a few changes in the schedule of practices. The municipal band will rehearse on Tuesday night at 8:00 p. m. instead of the usual Monday night practices. Concerts will be given as usual Wednesday evenings on the court house steps. Beginning Tuesday, June 11, the intermediate orchestra will practice at 3:00 p. m. at the high school building. For the next six weeks this group will include all members of the senior and junior orchestras and all red and brass students, who generally meet, or who for the past month have been meeting with the junior orchestra.

Starting Wednesday morning at 10:00 a. m. the advanced band will rehearse weekly. This band will include only members who are regularly playing in town with perhaps a few in addition, who will be notified. The largest group will rehearse at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. Legislators Favor Unicameral--Cushing

When the Nebraska legislature opened in January probably not more than ten or twelve members favored the unicameral plan but at adjournment time at least 65 percent believed this plan the best, said Marion J. Cushing, state representative, in a talk before the Rotary club Monday evening. Solutions became so disgusted with minority rule through conference committees that they swung over to favor the coming unicameral system, which eliminates this evil.

Repr. Cushing lauded his Valley county colleague, Senator Alvin Blessing, for his fine work during the past session. In spite of being a minority member and serving his first term, Sen. Blessing was a power in the legislature, he stated.

Personalities and interesting events of the session were discussed by Repr. Cushing and his address was greatly enjoyed by Ord Rotarians.

Opening Home Game.
The first home game of the Popcorn Valley softball league will be played tonight at Bussell park with St. Paul opposing Ord.

Mrs. Frank Gifford Is Cancer Victim; To Reward Friday

Beloved Maiden Valley Woman
Suffered Long Illness;
Funeral Held Monday.

Painfully ill for many months with cancer, Mrs. Frank T. Gifford gained release from suffering Friday, June 7, when she passed away at her farm home near Ord. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. Mearl C. Smith conducting, with Harlan T. Frazier the funeral director in charge. Interment was in Ord cemetery. Pallbearers were Tom Banks, C. F. Grunkemeyer and A. I. Cram, of Burwell, Charles Burdick, C. F. Hughes and A. W. Pierce, of Ord. A quartet composed of Madams Mark Tolen and E. O. Carlson, Messrs. Glen Auble and Bret Smith, sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kirby McGrew.

The flower committee was composed of Madams A. W. Tunncliff and Will Zablouddl.

The following obituary, prepared by a friend of the deceased, Mrs. Arthur Butts, of Burwell, from facts given her, by Mrs. Gifford before her death, was read during the church rites.

Was Born at Ceresco.
"Opal Vero Garnick, daughter of William and Matilda Garnick, was born at Ceresco, Neb., July 22, 1882, and died at her home near Ord, June 7, 1935, at the age of 52 years, 10 months and 15 days. On January 19, 1905 she was married to Frank Thurston Gifford and to this union two children were born: Frank Thurston of Boulder, Colo., and Willa Gail of Lincoln, Neb.

"When she was eight years of age she moved with her parents to Shelby, Neb. There the family lived until 1903, when they came to Ord, where she has since lived, with the exception of two years at Mitchell and five years at Burwell, where she moved with her husband and family in 1913.

Leaves Son, Daughter.
"She is survived by her husband, her children, and two brothers, Roscoe Garnick of Elyria, and Dale Garnick, of Boulder, Colo. Two brothers and her parents have preceded her in death.

Has Taken Part In 50 Memorial Days

M. L. FRIES.

On Memorial Day 1935, Mr. M. L. Fries, long-time resident of Arcadia observed his 50th year here. He came to Arcadia on April 6th, 1886 from California and since that time has taken part in every Memorial day service held here unless he was ill or absent from the state. When Mr. Fries came to Arcadia there was not even a church. Mrs. Fries and other ladies organized a Ladies aid to raise funds to start a church. A Methodist church was the first to be organized. Later Rev. J. E. Storm helped organize a Congregational church of which Mr. and Mrs. Fries were members for many years.

At various times Mr. Fries has held offices of almost every kind in Arcadia. He drove a team of ponies campaigning for office, over this entire community. Mr. Fries states that in every election where liquor was the issue, he was defeated for office because he had always opposed it and let the fact be known.

Mr. Fries has always been a public-spirited citizen, anxious to help along any project for the public good.

Mr. Fries taught in colleges in Illinois, Indiana and California, having been president of a college in California just prior to coming to Nebraska. His health failing, he came west. Mr. Fries subscribed for the county paper, which was the Quiz, immediately upon arriving here and is still a subscriber. This makes 49 years and he hopes to make it 50 at least. He speaks highly of the Quiz.

Astaire's Father Sold Beer In Ord

"Roberta," which played in the Ord theatre a couple of weeks ago, has been the subject of much discussion among a number of the older residents of Ord.

Many years ago an agent, Fritz Austerlitz by name, came to Ord and adjoining towns before the time of prohibition, as a representative of an Omaha brewery. On his frequent visits he used to tell of a son, Fred, and a daughter Estelle, who were then taking dancing lessons in New York City. A few years later Fred and Estelle Austerlitz became very well known as a dancing team on the New York stage. Fred went from the stage to Hollywood, assumed the name, Astaire, and it was he, who with Ginger Rogers and Irene Dunne, thrilled people with unusual dances and clever song hits in the musical comedy, "Roberta". His sister, Estelle, married an English prince and is now thought to be living in London.

she united with the United Brethren church at Gresham, Nebr. In 1918 she united with the Ord Methodist church in which she held membership at the time of her death.

"It was given to Mrs. Gifford, in a measure that few attain, to be a blessing and comfort to all whose lives she touched. Possessed of a cheerful disposition, she saw life clearly as one who sees it in the first fresh morning hours, before the mists and clouds of later day obscure its beauty. Always there was something wonderful and joyous in every situation, and she radiated happiness to her family and friends.

Had Beautiful Voice.
"God gave her a soprano voice of rich lyric quality which she used for His praise and for the enjoyment of others. Her singing reached into the depths of the emotions and released responses that seemed to put the hearer in tune with the infinite. While a resident of Burwell, she had charge of the Methodist church choir and gave of her talent freely.

"After moving back to her home near Ord, she was superintendent of a Sunday school held in the school house in her district, and was interested in community affairs.

Fine Wife, Mother.

"Yet it was in the role of wife, mother, homemaker and friend that she reached to greater heights. Her unselfishness, sympathy, and unreckoning expenditure of time and strength for others come back to us now with the realization that they are qualities that are eternal, and speak of the reality of the spiritual hereafter.

"When such a life of real worth comes to an end and these qualities of love and integrity are passed in review, we know that they are too great and precious not to be perpetuated, and our hope of immortality is strengthened, our conviction that personality the highest creation of God, must live on, is sure."

66 Attend Alumni Banquet at No. Loup

The North Loup high school alumni banquet was held at the S. D. B. church Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Sixty-six persons attended and it was a very joyous affair. The banquet was served by some of the S. D. B. ladies with a number of the girls acting as waitresses. The menu consisted of escalloped chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, asparagus, cottage cheese with jelly, vegetable salad, rolls, ice cream, wafers and coffee. When everyone had finished eating, the toastmaster, Ray Jensen, took charge. The program was titled "A Day in the Country". L. O. Greene spoke on "Team Work". He was feeling especially humorous and everyone enjoyed his foolishness as well as the more sensible things he said.

Oscar Bredthauer very capably handled the subject "Planting Time." He brought out the idea that it is much easier to follow the line of least resistance than to plant a straight row but not nearly so satisfactory. The "Growing Season" was the third subject which was given by Margaret Sayre. The last talk was on "Harvest" by Mary Frances Manchester who emphasized the fact that seed must be saved each year in order to have a harvest the following year and drew a comparison with the work of our ancestors which enables us to reap a harvest of so many of our modern conveniences. The roll was then called by years, the school song was sung and then the business meeting was conducted by the president, Mary T. Davis. The following officers were elected to start serving in September: President, Mills Hill; secretary, Mary Ann Bartz; treasurer, Oscar Bredthauer; executive board, Marcia Road, Margaret Sayre and Albert Babcock.

James Morrison arrived from California Tuesday in time for the alumni banquet.

Nifty Sewers 4-II Club Notes.
Good grooming was the first lesson of the year for the Nifty Sewers given Thursday afternoon by their leader, Mrs. Ed Dahlin at the home of Phyllis Ann Dodge.

Loretta Kusek and Phyllis Ann Dodge gave a demonstration on making. At the next meeting, which will be at the home of Clara and Mary Ann Dugosh, a demonstration will be given on shampooing and preparations will be made for making slips.

Davis Creek News

George McGee of North Loup was ill last week and Thursday his son Roy and family were down to see him. Mildred stayed with her grandparents until Saturday when her mother went after her.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jorgensen and sons were at his brother, Alfred's Friday. In the afternoon Pete and Alfred went to Loup City.

Mrs. Irma Seng and son came Tuesday to visit relatives. Saturday evening her mother entertained at a rook party in her honor.

Ora Leach helped at the Links home last week. Herbert Linke came home Thursday from the hospital in Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Desel and children and Mrs. Noyes and son Orville and family were at Allan Tappan's Sunday evening.

Edith Jefferies returned home Friday evening from McCook where she attended junior college the past winter. She can tell some very sad stories of the flood as she stayed near the river nearly one whole day and saw many people swept under. She says the terrible snake stories told about in the dailies are true. She says that many homes swept away by the flood were dashed to pieces and covered by the waves before they had gone far. Reuben Athey's children had the measles the past week.

Mrs. Amy Rich came home the last of the week from the home of her brother-in-law, Henry Rich, where she helped out in illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, Everett and Miss Alice Bower were supper guests at Will Egleshoff's Sunday evening.

Mell Bower has been up near Neligh writing insurance since Friday.

Russell Finch spent last week at Clifford Collins'. Saturday night his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Finch, and Harold Finch came down to spend the week end.

Mrs. Iopa Leach and children and Vernon Jefferies went to Ravenna Sunday to see Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Adamson and baby. The baby has been named Shirley June.

Ed Jefferies went to North Loup after sweet corn seed last week and expects to replant at least 50 acres. Many other farmers are expecting to replant. They report the wire worm are destroying the corn so badly that most of the early planted corn will have to be replanted.

Young people of the neighborhood enjoyed a merry-go-round supper and a party at the school house Saturday evening. After supper several went to Ord to enjoy skating.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cummins, Dorothea Cummins and Ruth Haught went to Big Springs Sunday to see Austin Cummins and family, who are leaving soon for Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell and family and the Preston families from North Loup went to York Sunday and enjoyed a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ballard.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rahlmeyer Tuesday arrived her brother-in-law, Mr. Adams and his daughter, Mrs. Shafer and family of Spring Green, Wis. They are going to Twin Falls, Ida. to visit Mr. Adams' son and are making this stop to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Petrytus and baby spent Sunday at Louie Petrytus' at St. Paul. Algeleene a sister came home with them.

Mrs. Walter Orent helped her mother, Mrs. Goodman can meet the fore part of the week. Her brother Will Goodman was home Sunday from South Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Portis entertained at a family dinner Sunday. Besides their own children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Portis and family of near Loup City were there. Frances Mavis and Donna Portis who were visiting their grandparents went home last week.

Jack McCarville went to Has-thelm's. Opal went home with tings Monday after Mrs. McCar-them to stay this week.

Ernest Rahlmeyer had the mis- Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benn and fortune this week to lose a good family spent Sunday at Louie Ax-Jersey cow on sweet clover.

Big News for Ord Auto Owners!

Amazing New Oil Makes Motors Last 4 times As Long!

In announcing that we are distributing at retail to auto drivers of the Ord community the famous, revolutionary INTER-STATE XL MOTOR OIL we believe we are giving out the greatest news in many years.

INTER-STATE XL reduces engine wear 75 per cent, increases gas mileage up to 25 per cent, retards oil pumping, brings back lost compression, power and pep—Costs No More Than Ordinary Oils.

At our demonstration last Saturday hundreds of car owners SAW and WERE CONVINCED that XL does all we claim for it. Ask us for a folder describing XL motor oil. Try XL in your own car. A thrill awaits you.

Colorado Yellowstone AND Glacier Park

Visit one, two or all three of these wonderful playgrounds—our National Parks of the Rocky Mountains—on one Burlington ticket.

The Yellowstone geysers, its hot water phenomena; its colossal colorful canyon and waterfall; its abundance of wild life; its far-famed Cody Road.

Glacier Park—goal of world travelers—with its 60 living glaciers, countless alpine lakes; its confusion of mountain peaks—many of them unnamed and untrod.

Rocky Mountain National (Estes) Park in Colorado—priceless heritage of frosted peaks that go up beyond 14,000; of upland meadows ablaze with wild flowers; of crags and canyons and twisting trails. Here is rest, recreation, health and vacation happiness.

All principal trains completely air-conditioned this summer. Extra luxury for you at no extra cost.

The advantage of seeing two or all three of the National Playgrounds on one grand circle trip is readily seen in this comparison of the low summer fares.

The Work Sheet

By GEORGE GOWEN
"The Roving Reporter"

Trekking out Mira Valley way, north at Boettger's corner, west again another mile and turning in for the first stop at Geo. Cook's. Three bright, tiny, brown-eyed kids were overhauling some machinery and the Ford car. They stopped their efforts long enough to tell me their Dad was over at Uncle Joe's. Dick became acquainted while I spoke to the wife, and he hated to pull away from his new friends' interesting pastime.

On north and east a little ways to Archie Geweke's. His charming daughter was shaking a rug, but gladly dropped that to walk around and look at the lily pool with me. They had a nice garden too, someone has tolled hard on. Archie, his hired man and boy were tractoring in the east field, with two iron horses, so I meandered out that way.

Uses Two Tractors.

Archie let Dick proudly run the tractor up to the house and then we all dismantled and he showed me his big fat steers and tiny striped pigs. Then a new shop he is building, and I gave him a little free advice which was worth about what it cost. We talk steer feeding and corn-hog contracts. Up until this year he had never signed up for any government deals. They have a pretty place there among the trees, and have set out more this year. As we left, he filled Dick's pocket with ears of popcorn.

Across the road and a little north to Joe Cook's. Joe and George were hitching to a lister to plant some corn the first time. After chatting a few minutes, Joe showed me around his pretty place. He has a dandy apple orchard to the east of the house, and large windbreaks of pines, cottonwoods, box elders on the other sides.

Joe said he bought the place in 1904. There was nothing there at the time. He planted the trees, built the house and barns, and in these 31 years has made it one of the prettiest places in the country. Everything was spic and span.

Modern Convenience.

North again past No. 9 school house, where there is a windmill to save the exercise for the kids working the pump handle. School children hardly have time any more between ball games to pump water.

Up into the yard of Sam Roe. Mrs. Roe opened the door and said to come in. We went in and I saw one of the nicest Chesapeake dogs I have seen in a long while. Their lily pool was covered with netting, to keep the chickens and dog out. She said the dog lived in the pool last summer, and she didn't blame him, as hot as it was.

We visited a while and she told me about some old time experiences, which I urged her to write up and make a couple simoleons. She is one of the oldest timers of Mira Valley. Then she told me a few of her literary accomplishments. No less than twice she has received a prize of a large basket of groceries for the best letter recommending some product. One was of telling what fine crackers a certain brand was, and how she used them. She heard of the contest over the radio. She had never heard of the crackers. She sat down and in less than ten minutes had the letter in the box for the mail man. A few days later a neighbor phoned her and said she just heard over the radio that Mrs. Roe had won the prize. After hearing that story I didn't think I was so smart.

Edits Fine Newspaper.

Into the other room where I saw Howard Roe. He was in bed. Crippled as he is, he owns and manages the Scotia Register, going to Scotia twice a week. We talked shop a few minutes and he gave me a half a dozen sample copies of his paper to digest. Nary a word of his misfortune did I hear, and I was lead to think he makes the paper pay pretty well.

Urging me to come back at five and talk with Sam a minute, I trekked on west, stopping at Edgar Roe's. He and the hired man, Ted Walkemeyer, were farming in yonder field. The two women folks came to the door, and Edgar's pretty little girl escorted Dick to see some kittens and chickens. Most of their stuff is at Sam's, Mrs. Roe said. She did say they had a sow which had eight pigs. In about seven months she had eight more. When she farrowed the second time the first eight weighed 245 pounds. Not so bad, I'd say.

On west another house and turning into the yard of Joe Marks. He came out of the house and we took a look at his sorrel "stud boss." He was lead out of the barn and at the end of a long strap trotted circles around and around. Then the boy came in from the field and unhitched his teams. They had a nice roan mare that would lay down. They could put her down but she wouldn't stay down. Like some fellows I have heard of.

Trial of a Cow Judge.

Joe showed me some purebred white-faces he has. One cow Clara C. took to the fairs at Ord and Broken Bow one year. The same cattle judge judged at both places but one fair he placed Joe's cow first, and at the other, Clara's. Upon hearing that, I concluded I am a better judge than I thought. I guess I'll put up my shingle.

Across the road to Lee Footwangler's. Lee was far in the field listing and I was in hopes he would give it up and come to the house, but he just had to make another round. He had a nice iron grey mare with a tiny colt in the yard. He had been offered $175.00 for the mare. Mrs. Footwangler was very pleasant, giving us a cup cake each and urging us to stay for dinner. I would have liked to but I can't stay every place to dinner. The buildings are all painted and in fine repair.

On west around the corner north and then west again and stopping at Henry Williams'. He, his boy Melvin and hired man Vernon Williams, farm hundreds of acres in these parts. They were coming in to dinner. Vern was too ambitious to bother with trivia like eating and stayed right in the field. I am well acquainted with Vern, as he hangs around my wife's folks for some reason. He even occasionally my mother-in-law do dishes occasionally, and I know from experience that that is a sign. I never cut that caper any more. No need.

Cap Williams and his wife and tiny bulldog were home from Cap's school teaching. Dick and the dog at once became acquainted.

Wouldn't Take Ether.

Henry is a tall man, pretending to be gruff and hard boiled, but with a latent humor that leaks out in spite of him. He is anything but effeminate and when he had a cancer removed from his lip a few years ago, he told the doctors gruffly, they need not to bother with the anaesthetic. They didn't and he didn't flinch either.

After visiting at the barn a few minutes, he said, "Come in and eat dinner." That didn't mean anything else. Then, "Take off your coats." Then, "Wash." Then when the cookies were passed, and I thought one-half one would do, "Take a apple one. I'll not have you go and put in the paper that we didn't give you enough to eat here." But throughout the meal he was sternly entertaining us all every minute, and we laughed and had a fine time. These are church friends of ours and even if I do say it, some of the nicest folks in the land. Hank is not so hard as he would like to have one think.

North again and turning in at Morris Kirby's. A couple of nice looking ladies said there was nothing to see there and that they took the Quiz. That ended that place in a hurry, but as I started north again, I saw a man on a pretty saddle horse, cantering down the avenue and I think he turned in there.

Then turning in at Bert Cornell's. Bert and his wife were there, and at one time took time off to show me a place. I have been saying now and then that this person or that have the nicest home, or horse, and I believe I said something about the best bull on each time I do, the next trip blossoms out a better one.

Fine Farm Mansion.

Now I don't know as Bert has the nicest home in the country, but it is one of them. The basement alone is bigger than the house I live in. It is located so he drives his car in there, and can serve meals there during threshing time if they wish. And the ceiling is high enough too.

A large lawn is terraced, at the foot of which is curbed a flower garden. Into the house we were ushered, and to my delight I found this place fraught with antiques. All this old furniture was in perfect repair, and the house was as clean and spotless as a hound's tooth. When I get rich, scrivring for the Quiz, that's the kind of a house I want to live in. Surely one of the nice homes.

And he has a study, or library, or office there, that took my eye. If I just hid myself away from where I could hide myself away from phone, and kids, and the calling for fuel, and helping fix a toy, and a hundred other things every minute, I could write Work Sheets that would be worth printing. As it is you will have to make the best of it.

On Same Farm Since '82.

Out into the yard again. This home sits on a small pinnacle in a very slightly place. Overlooking wide fertile fields of Mira Valley one can see six and seven miles to the west, south and northwest. Coming east out of the Arcadia hills, travelers can see his Christmas tree. Bert had some nice shoats, and some profuse milking Holstein cows. As I took a picture, Bert told me he had owned the place since 1882 and had lived here continually ever since. He was 17 when he first got the farm, and when he built the house across the road where the tenant now lives. The lumber was hauled from North Loup. That was before the railroad was built to Ord.

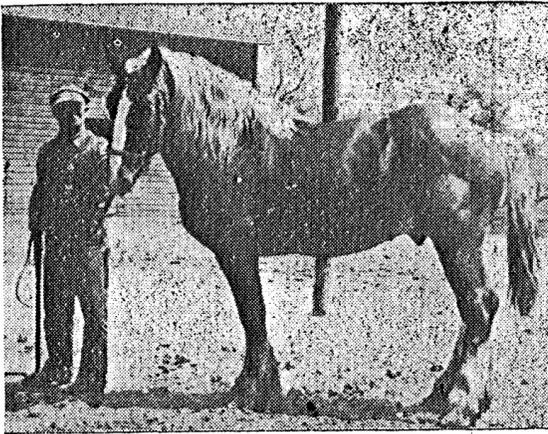

Across the road where Frank Knapp was working in his open air blacksmith shop and span too. A mower. He commented on the weather, and how cold it is. He said it is not going to warm up because the moon is swinging too far north. He and his boys farm the land of Bert's. Frank was a city man, living many years in Cincinnati and working at wood work. He ran a jig saw. I told him I ran a jigsaw puzzle.

Back west a mile or so and turning in at Chris Kirby's. He and his hired man, Harry Pooschke were repairing the barn. They were pretty busy so I did not tarry long there. A white black-eyed dog, some dark brown turkey hens and a light brown gobbler, and a green-headed duck with a top-notch were registered in my diary. I coasted to the highway and stopped to visit with Ernest Lange, as he drove his tractor around the corner at the road side.

4 Cuttings of Alfalfa.

Ernest dismounted and repaired his plow a little while we chatted. He said he had been spending most of the afternoon stuck in a mud hole, and had just emerged. He and I shipped some cattle last winter at the same time. I asked him how he came out, finally. He said if those cattle had never entered my life, there would have been no difference. I told him if my cattle last year had not entered my life,

Snapped by The Roving Reporter

Here is seen Joe Marks and his stallion. There may be better "stud hosses" in the county than this one but Joe and his boys won't concede a thing.

I wouldn't be here reporting for the Quiz. Then we talked about religion and other minor subjects. (Or is religion major?) In spite of being a member of the school board, he plans on sending his boys to the Lutheran parochial school. He said he had nothing at the house except some lively kids, and that he got four cuttings of alfalfa last year.

I stopped as I drove along, and found his wife hoeing in the garden. Upon seeing me she stopped the efforts and leaned on the handle. She is a sister to Arnold, Herb and Oscar Bredthauer, and next door to Footwangler. I enjoyed hearing her laugh, which was spontaneous and sincere—the kind that makes us all forget our troubles, the kind that comes without an effort. In fact she was so courteous that she laughed at my jokes. Usually when I attempt the humorous, everyone starts looking for a rotten tomato.

Her boys, she said, were working. Her nice looking girl entered the circle. Mrs. Lange was delighted that their young cherry trees promised a pie next summer, said her W. Leghorn hens laid well and when I remarked about the lady scarecrow in the back lots, she said frequently she would be a wee bit scared as she looked that way and saw it flutter in the wind. She said the crows roosted by the thousands in the timber claim across the road to the west.

Again sailing west and turning in at Ernest Wigent's. The upstairs window had been broken and a large piece of tar paper nailed over it. I told Dick that that house has a black eye. Ernest and his pleasant wife, her hands covered with flour from kneading bread dough, opened the door and chatted a minute. She gave Dick a drink to chase down a sandwich which was not eaten at dinner time and on we went.

Yes and Gravel Cars.

This time we pulled in at Andy Jacobson's. Andy works for Ernest Lange. There in the yard were Ernest's kids with a couple of guns. They went off hunting birds, telling me to watch their team. I was still a watching when they walked off. Say, boss! Is that one of my duties, too?

Mrs. Jacobson said they had just moved there from St. Paul. That they knew hardly a soul in these parts, and were pretty hard up right now, as if they were the only ones hard up. We visited several minutes. She said they had most of the kids in the country, that is six, but those I saw were worth having at that. About the fattest little duffers I have seen yet.

Corn Washed Badly.

Back north and then east along a half section line. Dick said, "Dad, do you know what goes down this road most?" "No." "Water," he answered. I turned in at a neat place, and found Emil Dlugosh planting his corn the second time. He is starting farming this year with the help of Uncle Sam and said he would like to have the Quiz but he was trying not to spend any more money than he could possibly help. If he always keeps that in mind, he will be able to buy us both out some day.

East again and south to the yard of Bill Wiberg. A new white bungalow tucked back in the shade of large maple, elm and cottonwoods. On the shed was printed Brookside farm. Mira brook trickled close by, and near it an apple orchard had been planted. Everything here was spic and span too.

A high school girl by the name of Elsie opened the door. She had large brown eyes that twinkled shyly in unison with a happy smile that came and went as she talked to us. Dick and I lingered and she, friendly, but not too friendly, told me her father was in the field and her mother and sister were planting water melons. She said they have W. Orphington chickens, and her dad made the clever swing out of an old tire, which Dick was trying out that very minute. That she was going to Ord to school next year in the 11th grade and smiling again said she didn't care what I said about her in the paper. "Supposin' I tell how good looking you are," I suggested, and she replied, "Everyone would know better than that," but I didn't.

For Future Reference.

Out to the road again and again east and noting off by the creek a lady and a girl planting something. Tut tut. Mum's the word. The next stop was at John Beams'. Daddy Beams, in other words. A LIMIT ON BOOZE. With most official actions of Mayor Flagg and his city council the Quiz has been heartily in sympathy.

If Ord is to have sale of liquor by the package, which appears inevitable, it seems desirable to this newspaper that the number of stores selling it should be limited to a reasonable number.

Should six, eight or more licenses be granted in Ord, as the state commission has authority to do, not one of these licensees could make a reasonable profit.

Two or three liquor stores surely are enough to supply the demand in Ord. There is no need for more.

It should be clearly understood that the city council has no authority to limit the number of licenses granted here. This power is given to the state commission.

The liquor traffic is an evil one at best. Let's handle it as sensibly as possible.

CAMPAIGN ISSUES.

Out of the "grass roots" conference of mid-west republicans held this week at Springfield, Ill., emerge the issues that will become principal ones in the next presidential campaign.

It will be recalled that in 1932 Roosevelt campaigned on a platform of economy in government. It was promised repeatedly that the budget would be balanced and the government pay-roll cut.

Everyone knows what the result has been. There has been no economy but instead a wild increase in federal extravagance. The budget has steadily become more unbalanced.

The United States News recently gave a full page of space to two statistics:

1. Total expenditures of the U. S. for 124 years (including four wars) from 1789 to 1913 was $24,500,000,000.

2. Total expenditures, actual and budgeted for three years under Franklin D. Roosevelt, from July 1933 to July 1936, are $24,200,000,000.

It is time that the battle lines are drawn. Much as there is to commend in the New Deal, spending cannot long continue at such a pace.

Anyone who suffers with a definite rectal trouble may be quite certain that it will not get well without intelligent care and treatment. Just relieving such a condition is inviting possible serious consequences.

Prolonged irritation of rectal tissues is apt to become serious. That's simple! Why not understand that as one does other simple things they are certain will get worse unless attended to promptly.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

Dear Uncle Jake:

It has been some time since I have written to you along the line of advice or censure, as the original idea was conceived. I have slightly wandered off the subject occasionally. This time I am after your goat.

As I understand, you fellows pay a bounty on coyotes. This idea is prompted largely by the fellows who kill the coyotes. I hear no one else worrying their nights away about it.

The coyote is a smart animal. He has an inborn fear of man, and is so crafty he can detect the very scent of a human foot track made several days prior. They educate their young to that fear. It must be, for originally, before the white man arrived, the coyotes could not have possessed it.

As a result they have survived a war against them, such as no other animal has done. For example, the deer, buffalo, antelope etc. It is contended by many naturalists that all these animals were put here for a purpose.

Without question the coyote does a lot of good besides furnishing bounty money. They live largely on rabbits, gophers, pheasants and the like. Occasionally, in dire hunger, they venture close enough to grab off a chicken. No doubt too many coyotes would be a menace, but it is a big question among many people if the coyote is a nuisance, no larger number than there are, at this time.

Occasionally a coyote will kill sheep. He gets a mania for the dog, but for the food, but for the delight in killing the lamb and lapping up the blood. Such beasts should be killed, the same as a mad dog, or a berserk bull, but that should not condemn the whole race. I have heard of coyotes killing little calves, but never knew actually of a single instance.

For many years Claud Thomas and Eugene Brown have raised sheep back east in the hills. They have lost them, but only once were they positive that a coyote did the work. At that instance after several nights watching, very early in the morning this predator was killed while at mischief. Another time these men were losing sheep. Bill Schudel accidentally ran on to a large coyote by the river and killed it.

This may have been a wolf, for he was very large and had a heavy mane. The sheep ceased being killed after Bill made his lucky shot. But throughout all these years, there have been hundreds of coyotes in these hills.

On the other hand, a pack of five dogs, a year or so ago, killed more sheep in one night, than the coyotes had in all the years these men had had sheep. Claud was distracted when he saw a great number of his fine flock mangled and dead scattered about the hills. He watched at all the farm houses for the dogs. He knew what they looked like. One day he saw them roaming the hills and with his horse gave them chase. He could not keep up however on account of the fences, but he did watch which way they went.

He trailed the dogs and found three belonged to one man and one to another. Claud explained to the man what the dogs had done. He would have killed the dogs had he been close enough when they were on his place. He hardly dared to shoot them in their owner's yard. One owner would not believe his nice dogs would do that, and would not allow them killed. He was careful to keep them shut in the shed for a while after. He later moved away taking his pack along.

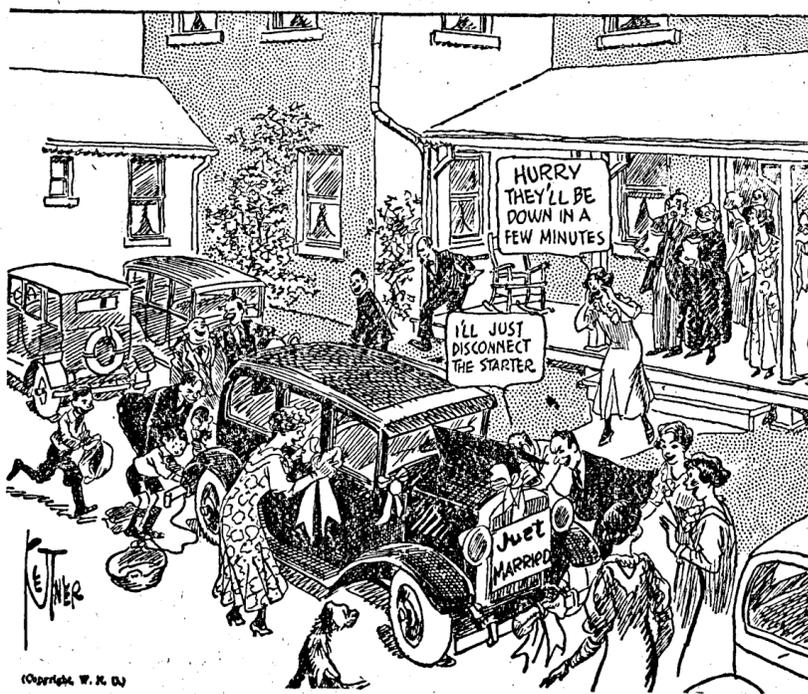

Now this is wandering from the subject again. That is the subject of coyotes. Because these dogs killed sheep, does not mean we should condemn all the dogs in the land. But I honestly believe a bounty on extra dogs would be more appropriate than the bounty on coyotes.

Without question the coyotes tend to keep down the rabbit population. This may seem like a joke, but rabbits have become such a menace in Australia, that three woven wire fences have been stretched across the continent to stop them. They have eaten the crops and grass so badly that the government has tried in every way to thin their ranks, but without avail. In certain sections of the United States the rabbits have been a menace. I had a jack once eat off a half an acre of corn for me, and at other times ruin countless small trees. Although rabbits are relatively harmless now, I hate to have them any more numerous than they are.

The pelt of the coyote, in the winter, is quite valuable and worth catching. That would keep the coyote population from getting excessive. New methods of chase have been devised, simplifying the capture. A hunter drives out on the prairie with a car, in the back of which he carries his hounds. When he has Mr. Coyote about fagged with the car, the dogs are turned loose to apply the finishing touches. Surely taking advantage of the coyote, but hunters have no mercy, or little sense of sportsmanship.

And then as the dark long shadows begin toward the east, and the crickets begin to sing an alleluia along the creek, and we tarry in the old chair on the front porch, too tired from the gone day to pile into bed, too indolent to care to recoup for the morrow, and as we sit there and nod, our minds dreaming of better times, the ululation of a coyote on yonder hill brings a shiver up our spine, a lump in our throat, a quickening beat of the heart. "Some one yelling—a child perhaps," we think, and then we realize it is "only a lone wolf, and this is his night to howl." We are standing up by this time, and mosey off to the arms of Morpheus.

There are many folks who believe the county funds could be more beneficially spent than by paying bounty on coyotes. George G.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

Whole wheat has come into its own. Advertiser on every side, endorsed by doctors, urged in health programs, breakfast food companies, etc., people of this country eat more and more whole wheat.

It is delicious, and it is reputed to be healthful. It is different and adds a coarseness and bulk to the meal that is needed. It furnishes a welcome variety. How do you use whole wheat for your family? How do they like it best? Please write the Quiz your pet recipes for Col Yum Yum is about to expire for lack of recipes.

Whole Wheat Cookies. To make these whole wheat chocolate drop cookies, cream together one and one-half cups brown sugar, three-fourths cup shortening, beat in two egg yolks, add two squares of melted chocolate, three-fourths cup sour milk, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, and two cups whole wheat flour.

Mrs. Lyle McBeth. Spring Salad. Mix together two cups chopped raw cabbage, two large onions, chopped fine, two green peppers, chopped fine, two large raw carrots, grated, one sprig of chopped parsley, one cup chopped celery. Add sufficient mayonnaise to moisten and set in the ice box to chill. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves, garnished with radishes.

Mrs. H. M. Grady, Kearney. Apple Tapioca Pudding. Peel, slice apples and put in a greased pan. Pour over apples one cup sugar, a little butter and cinnamon. Cook tapioca in salt water. Pour cooked tapioca over apples. Bake until the apples are soft.

Selma Robbins, North Loup. Writes a lady from Arkansas, "Rice is very much neglected food and it is so rich in calories, an energy producing food, and very easy to cook. It can be reheated and used in about 200 different ways. Before cooking rice should be washed and rinsed in several waters until all the loose starch is removed."

Cooked Rice. Put one cup of rice in six cups boiling water with one tablespoon salt, cook quickly, drain and dry until the rice is flaky.

Chocolate Rice Pudding. Heat two cups milk in double boiler, add two cups cooked rice, four tablespoons cocoa mixed with one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt. Cook until thick, add one-half teaspoon vanilla, serve cold with cream or custard sauce. This yields six servings.

Mrs. Dora Nelson, Barber, Ark. Raisin Tart. To make the filling, bring three cups raisins to a boil with one and three-fourths cups water. Dissolve one-third cup sugar in one-fourth cup water, add to raisin water, and allow to boil until clear. Stir in one-third cup syrup, one cup sugar, a few grains of salt, and two tablespoons butter, remove from fire, add one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one and one-half teaspoons lemon juice or extract. To make the pastry: Make a dough of one cup shortening, one cup sugar, three eggs, one-third cup milk, four teaspoons baking powder, five cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt. Roll the dough very thin and avoid handling in order to keep the dough short. Cut the dough with a round cookie cutter of the size desired. In half the rounds cut a hole about half an inch in diameter, using

BACK FORTY

At this time of year there is always a demand for early seed corn to be used in replanting. Farmers may pick out an early maturing type from their own ribs by selecting ears that are slender, shallow kernalled, and very smooth. Such ears are not only earlier ripening, but also the best yielding type that can be selected at any time.

A good early yellow corn for Nebraska is Minnesota 13. It is grown extensively in western Nebraska, and for early feed in the eastern part of the state. Most any corn from the west or north makes desirable early corn, and Minnesota 13 is especially good in this respect.

Blair White was developed by a Washington county farmer as a fairly early maturing variety for eastern Nebraska. It was first distributed by Aye Bros., of Blair, Nebraska. Another medium early maturing variety of white corn for this region is Silver Mine.

Flint and flour corns mature earlier than common dent varieties. They are used largely for hogging down purposes or fodder because they are hard to husk.

Some of the new corn hybrids are early maturing, and may be worth the extra price asked for them. The best hybrids yield about one-fifth more than ordinary corn.

A long time series of tests at the Nebraska Experiment station falls to show any consistent results in favor of early, medium, or late planted corn.

The latest planted corn may turn out to be the best. It all depends on the timeliness of rains, drought, hot winds, and killing frosts. A farmer can reduce the risk of crop failure by having some early and some late corn every year. Weather conditions are likely to be favorable for at least part of the acreage.

Something DIFFERENT

I intended to tell you last week to drive down to view the lovely tulip beds in the yard of Mrs. Mary Francl. It is probably too late now.

The Quiz has received numerous compliments on the new pictures now incorporated into the paper, made possible by the purchase of some expensive equipment. The pictures add human interest, life and color to the pages of new items.

And the public would appreciate them more if the readers knew how expensive they are. . . . the photos would command more respect.

Even groupings would rather look at pictures than read. We are all kids. . . . the success of the tabloid papers, the popularity of comic sections proves this.

This is a slow spring. Sometimes peonies have to be saved for decorating the graves on Memorial day. . . . this year there were few or none used. And not many of them are in bloom yet.

Snowballs barely made the grade, and are really whiter and prettier now than they were a week ago when they were so badly needed.

Mrs. Ernest Weller had some lovely tulips. A lot of one variety that I liked. The colors blended softly in shades of orange and yellow or gold. It wasn't a loud effect, rather, a bit dulled. And very rich. . . . she didn't know the name of the variety.

H. D. Leggett promised us wall-eyes to eat by next Monday. And so if we don't get them, we are going to wire him collect and inquire as to the reason???

Kirk Lewis pulled a fast one on his folks the other day and found out that discarded teeth put under the pillow do not necessarily turn into dimes overnight, but only when the parents know the old tooth is put under the pillow.

Telling his parents he was too tired to bother about it, Kirk went to bed without telling them he had put the tooth (just freshly pulled) under his pillow. Next day he gleefully approached his mother, concluded his conversation, the youthful skeptic:

"I thought if it did turn into a dime when you didn't know it was there, then I would have to believe in fairies or something."

Mrs. Lewis decided it was worth a dime to have the tooth out, so Kirk made 10c on the deal anyway.

The Frank Koupal Gardens present a most charming aspect from the highway. And I think Gardens, in this case, certainly deserve to be capitalized.

And Mrs. Will Zabloudd continues to work on her place. Every possible leisure moment she hoards to spend planting, transplanting, and improving the beautiful yard that surrounds their home. With the new highway giving an excellent view of the canyon at the back of the Zabloudd home, I am expecting Mrs. Zabloudd to surprise the public with a lovely rock garden there, or something equally pretty and probably more unusual.

Mrs. Zabloudd has something to show for the long hours she works outdoors. We, most of us have leisure, a little or more or less. What we do with it is our own choice. Mrs. Zabloudd gets tangible results. . . . you can see, smell and feel the beautiful effects of her work.

I think perhaps bridge addicts try themselves.

My father, for years and years publisher of the Alliance Times-Herald, is a staunch admirer of the Quiz. He can appreciate it from a professional point of view. He declares "just look at the newspaper (paper), the quality and amount of the news, the makeup, the heads (headlines) . . . in every way it is something to be proud of." Says we, handing ourself an orchid. —Irma.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week. A light frost came on June 7, very unusual for so late in the season. Old Ord residents said that on June 6, 1896 it froze so hard that corn and potatoes were frozen to the ground.

Charles Ruple, conductor on the Burlington line through Ord for 25 years, died at his home in Burwell. After a long and difficult childbirth labor, Mrs. L. S. Jost died at her Mira Valley home.

Dr. F. A. Barta had a strenuous time during the terrible storm Saturday night. He had a hurry-up call to Elyria for a confinement case and started in his auto but soon got stuck. Then he got a team and made some more headway but the Gregory bridge was found to be unsafe so he made the last stage of his trip on foot, hoofing it up the railroad track. The confinement case was found to be a dago woman in a box car.

After thirty-six hours of deliberation the jury trying Louis Kammerad failed to agree. At first the vote was 7 to 1 for conviction but gradually those who wanted to acquit the prisoner began to carry the day and the final vote was 10 to 2 for acquittal. F. B. Rowell and John Gray stood out for conviction until the last. Finally Judge Paul discharged the jury and the case was to be tried over again with a new jury.

A destructive hail storm hit the north half of Valley county, doing great damage at the J. C. Meese farm, the Ign. Klisma farm and others.

25 Years Ago This Week. Lester Seerley suffered serious injuries when a telephone pole he was working on broke and threw him to the ground, a drop of about 30 feet.

The Robbins' twins, Horace and Harold, were married, Horace being wed to a Central City girl and Harold to a University Place young lady.

Little Jimmie Wright suffered a badly sprained arm as result of his brother Tom's capers. While at the train Tom picked the little boy up and playfully tossed him to a friend but the friend didn't catch the lad and he fell, striking his shoulder.

H. D. Rogers was on the Omaha market with two cars of Duroc hogs that averaged 370 pounds and brought $9.35.

G. Russell Mann returned from his university studies and after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mann, he went to Missouri where he expected to sell copies of a medical book to farmers.

Ross Hull, who had been pitching for the Grand Island state league club, was released and went west.

About ninety Ordites went to St. Paul on a special train to witness the ball game, which was won by St. Paul, 6 to 5.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Burwell—There are a few cases of smallpox here and Ed Helbig, mayor, promises rigid enforcement of the quarantine law. None of the cases is serious.

Greeley—Only one Civil war veteran is still living in this county, this being Abe Easterbrooks, of Wolbach. He is 87 years old and joined the union army at the age of 16. Right now Mr. Easterbrooks is in New Mexico and Memorial day services in Greeley county were celebrated without a single war veteran present.

Sargent—Mrs. V. Klanecky, of this town, passed away at St. Francis hospital, Grand Island, on June 1 and funeral services were held at the Catholic church here the following Tuesday. Interment was in Geranium cemetery. Mrs. Klanecky is mourned by one son and two daughters.

Sargent—During the electrical storm on May 31, Ted Ruppel, who lives in the Madison Square court, lost five head of cattle killed by lightning. The bolt that killed them came between 6 and 7 o'clock. Lightning hit a barbed wire fence and followed it quite a distance, killing animals near the fence and several hundred feet apart. One of the heifers was hit with such force that she rolled 100 feet down a hill side.

Burwell—Paul Maves, senior at Nebraska Wesleyan university, has the honor of being class chaplain there and also is one of the most talented writers. He recently was awarded a $25 prize for writing the best essay on "Plan for Control of Liquor in Nebraska."

Loup City—Newest business venture here is J. P. Leininger's frog farm. Mr. Leininger imported six pairs of mammoth bullfrogs from Texas, has fixed up a suitable pond and intends to go into the frog business. These frogs are said to be choice eating and weigh several pounds each when mature. They multiply very rapidly. Mr. Leininger is having bad luck, though. He lost four of his frogs as result of feeding them minnows that were poisoned by being in a bucket in which poison had been left to stand.

Humpty-Dumpty NRA Many Damocles Swords Biggest and Fastest Gangster Ingenuity

Refusing to admit the resemblance between NRA and Humpty-Dumpty, that "all the king's horses and all the king's men" could not put together again, Washington will gather up the pieces of NRA and try to reconstruct "something as good."

Arthur Brisbane and proudly said to his friends, "Not only have I put it together, but I have quite a number of pieces left over that I do not need."

The Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, however "hard-boiled" they may be, must feel nervous when they hand out one of the $200,000 ransom bills, knowing that the number and series of every bill are in the possession of government detectives.

It will not make spending the money more agreeable to learn that thirty "G-men" from the attorney general's office will devote their entire time to hunting for those bills, and tracing the spenders of them—$200,000 worth of Damocles swords.

The giant French ship Normandie is here and pleasing to Americans who like superlatives. She is the biggest liner ever launched, the longest, broadest, heaviest, costliest. And, crossing in 4 days 11 hours 42 minutes, she is the fastest. She is built, not for profit, but for glory and to advertise French supremacy.

England will soon send her Queen Mary after the Normandie's record and, doubtless, Mussolini will soon enter the race.

Uncle Sam? Well, he is busy with other things, very busy, just now.

In the line of viciousness, modern gangsters show ingenuity. Police give these details of the death of Danny Walsh, head of a bootlegger syndicate who was kidnaped, ransomed for $40,000, later murdered. Enemies took him to sea in a boat, made him sit with his feet in a tub of wet cement, and watch while it hardened. He was thrown overboard with the tub of cement hard around his feet. Several times, while he watched the cement harden, it must have occurred to Danny Walsh that a criminal career is not profitable.

To say, "Man is half tiger and half monkey" is sometimes unjust to the monkey. At High Point, N. C., J. R. Riggs, middle-aged, operating a filling station, was found, with tennypenny nails driven through each hand and each foot, fastened to a rough wooden cross. The man, having been nailed to the cross only a short time, will probably live. Riggs admitted he had engineered the crucifixion to regain his wife's affection.

Sometimes gangsters show signs of intelligence. Volney Davis, arrested in Chicago in connection with the Bremer kidnaping, was "flood" to St. Paul, and, arriving there, confessed complicity in the kidnaping, saying to the judges: "I knew I could not get away from the 'G-men.'"

Land ownership is the best foundation of prosperity and security, under just government.

Those seeking to establish refugees from Germany in Palestine decide, wisely, to begin with land ownership. A fund expected to exceed $5,000,000 is being raised for that purpose.

King George, seventy years old, celebrated his birthday reviewing troops, wearing the uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Irish Guards. He rode to Buckingham palace on horseback, all four of his sons riding with him, while thousands cheered. Recently the queen celebrated her sixty-eighth birthday. It is desirable that the husband be a little older than the wife.

A Brooklyn girl, ten years old, paid $1 for a sweepstakes ticket, won $30,000. It will cost other little girls and big men and women many dollars for every dollar accidentally won.

Uncle Sam is presumed to get his share of the winnings in income tax. He and his country would be richer if he could find a way to prevent the gambling invasion.

St. John's Lutheran Church.
(Missouri Synod)
Eight miles south. English services and 10:45 instead of 10:30. There will be no Walter League. Wm. Bahr, Pastor.

Christian Church.
"Keeping Our Footing," will be the sermon subject next Sunday morning. Union service in the evening. We will all attend the revival at the U. B. church Sunday evening and as many evenings as possible during the week.
Bible school at 10 a. m.
Mid-week Bible study Wednesday at the church.
The state convention begins Sunday at Bethany Park. How we wish a goodly number of our people could go.

Methodist Church.
Sunday services: Sunday school at 10; morning worship at 11 with a ten minute prelude of music by Mrs. McGrew beginning at 10:50.

The evening service is dismissed that those desiring may attend the revival services at the United Brethren church.
Annual Sunday school board meeting tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock, with election of officers.
Keep in mind the annual promotion day in the Sunday school, which will be June 23.
Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

Christian Science Services.
"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, June 16.

The Golden Text is from Proverbs 2:6, 8: "The Lord giveth wisdom: . . . He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints."

A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Matthew 7:11: "If ye then, being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?"

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "God is Love. Can we ask Him to be more? God is intelligence. Can we inform the infinite Mind of anything He does not already comprehend? Do we expect to change perfection? Shall we plead for more at the open fount, which is pouring forth more than we accept?" (page 2).

United Brethren Church.

Our revival meetings continued with deepening interest. Those who attend have found that Evangelist Sanford surpasses everything we claimed for him before the meetings started. The music songs and messages all praise Christ and direct the needy hearts of both believers and unbelievers to the all sufficient Saviour, while the humility of the speaker not only reveals that he has been with Jesus and learned of Him but that he abides in Him.

The subjects for the rest of the week are:
Thursday—"A Real Cure".
Friday—"The Flag of our Country".

This is Flag Day and a special invitation is given to all members of the American Legion.

Saturday—"What is Holding You?"
Sunday morning—"Blessings and Responsibility."
Sunday evening—"The Return of the King."

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. Mr. Sanford will give a musical program. This will be a gospel service in music and song. This program has been given from coast to coast and over twenty-two radio stations. Everyone is invited to share in the blessings of these meetings which are so soon to close.
Mamie J. Young, Pastor.

Presbyterian Church Notes.

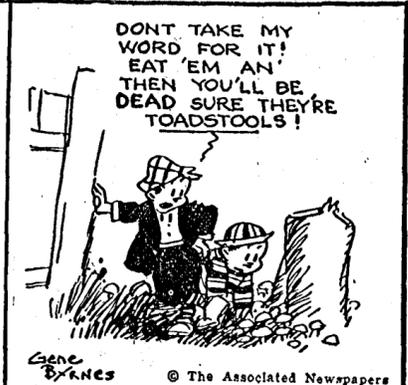

Sunday school classes meet at 10:00.
Last Sunday evening nineteen young people attended our Christian Endeavor. Dorothy Allen lead the discussion on "How the Church Helps." Arvelia Benjamin sang a very impressive solo at the close of the meeting. Those who were present are to have a country jaunt on Friday. All young people are invited to come to our meetings held every Sunday evening from 7:00 to 8:00 in the basement of the church. The topic for the coming Sunday is "The Game of Pass It On." Fred Cahill will have charge of the meeting. There will be an election of officers for the next quarter, and it will also be "Guest Day" each member bringing a friend.

Wednesday June 19, Home Art Circle meets at the home of Mrs. Olsson, assisting hostess, Mrs. B. J. Peterson.
Thursday evening, June 20, Philathea class will hold a party at the church.
A congregational meeting will be held on June 19, at eight o'clock p. m., for the purpose of making out a call for Rev. S. W. Woodruff, Jr., to come and be our minister. All members, and all who support the church are entitled to vote at this meeting and are urged to be present.
Jas. G. Hastings, Clerk.

Families of Molluscs

Lack of color does not mean lack of variety. And even though the warmer waters are more populous, says Nature Magazine, the coast line from Long Island northward will yield some 40 different families of molluscs numbering, perhaps, 110 species, almost evenly divided between the univalves and the bivalves.

"REG'LAR FELLERS"

North Loup News

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp were Sunday supper guests at the Les Leonard home.

The Charles Sayre and Pearl Weed families had supper with the Arthur Collins' Sunday night. Mrs. Hattie Clement spent Saturday with Mrs. Myra Hutchins.

Eunice Rood arrived in North Loup last Thursday from Greeley, Colo., where she had been visiting. Shortly after her arrival she left for Edison with Ed Helbig of Burwell. He was going out after Mrs. Helbig who has been visiting out there. Eunice had left her trunk in Edison expecting to come back that way from Greeley, but she couldn't get through on account of the high water and came on to North Loup.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Redlon were at the George Hutchins' for supper Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hutchins and sons and Mrs. Myra Hutchins were Sunday guests at the Jennie Anderson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp visited friends in Central City Thursday.

The Russell Kasson's brought Louise home from the hospital in Grand Island the last part of the week. She is out again and getting along nicely.

The Smith Roofing company of Grand Island put new roofs on the Cheese factory and Strand theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Rev. Hurley Warren left with W. T. Hutchins Monday to travel with him for two weeks. They expect to be in Denver over the week end. Dorothea Newman of Columbus was in North Loup Tuesday. She called on Mrs. Myra Hutchins and Mrs. Hutchins accompanied her to Mira Valley on a business trip Tuesday afternoon.

Cecil Barrett is working at Elgin Worrell's for the summer.

The Birthday club had a party Tuesday evening at the Homer Sample home in honor of Mabel Lee's birthday.

A letter from the Sam Shinneman's to the girls here states that they had a number of delays in getting to their new home in Missouri. They left Monday and did not arrive at their destination until Thursday, having to drive in rain most of the way. A wheel ran off the trailer at York holding them up there for repairs.

Mrs. Lillie Jones, Mrs. Edith Bartz and Mrs. Iuez Hill were entertained at dinner Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill McClellan. Mrs. Bartz had to go to the store in the evening but the other ladies stayed to play cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Preston, their children and grandchildren went to York Sunday to celebrate the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baller.

The Pinochle Bunch had a surprise party for Mrs. Boyd Mulligan last Wednesday evening. Four tables of players were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Babcock and children who have been in Scottsbluff for several months came back to North Loup the latter part of last week. Erlo will work at Clement's garage. The Albert Babcocks, who have been living in Erlo's house will move into the Bingham house in the northeast part of town, and Erlo and his family will go back into their own house.

W. T. Hutchins, Roy Lewis, Dr. Dallam and Harold tried their luck fishing at Ericson Sunday.

Bill, Charlie and My Visit to North Loup

Went There To Visit Briefly, But "Visit" Lasted Over a Half Century.

By IDA DAVIS BROWN

This little story is only a prairie schooner on which to load my regrets that so little knowledge of our Valley county pioneers has been preserved.

We from southern Minnesota seem to have lacked such able pencil pushers as the Babcocks and Roods of the Wisconsin group. Our clan was quite numerous though I do not know the name or date of the first arrival.

Some of the early settlers who came in groups or single families were W. W. Green and wife, Willet Green and family, Geo. Davis, wife Zilpha, son Harrison and family, the Maxson brothers, Will, Laucian and family and Charlie, Maxson Crandall and family and son Silas and family, Nehemiah Bee, wife and Emma, Raymond and Jennie (Mrs. G. G. Clement). Also the families of Clinton Lewis, Levi Pierce, Johnathan Coon, Alonzo Hutchins' large family, Charlie Hutchins with two daughters, James Boaz, Hiram Sweet's large family and son Newel and family, Frank Cottrell, Zibe Ferguson, Ruben Davis, my uncle, Marlon Davis, another uncle who went first to Iowa but became an early homesteader in Maiden Valley, Aaron Mensing, Chas. Davis, Frank Robbins, Warren Walker, and others besides my dear father's people. Some of these are only names to me but my folks knew them all. In the spring of 1877 the most heartbroken child in Minnesota watched one of these caravans start from Alden, Freeborn county. It contained my father's parents, "Uncle" Randall and "Aunt" Lucetta Davis, their young son, Henry S., and family, their two daughters, Mrs. W. Lee Greene and Mrs. Samuel S. Webb and their families.

I believe all of these Minnesota settlers in Nebraska lived worthily. Some are briefly mentioned in "The Trail of the Loup." There is no one person left who can tell much of all of them. I hope the historical stories will contain much personal narrative.

Some of the in-laws said of Grandfather's family, they would rather sing than work. However, they worked though they sang too, always. Uncle Henry Davis was king when the North Loup community gave the cantata "Esther, the Beautiful Queen," nearly fifty years ago, and Claude Barber of the fourth generation, sang the same part in the same cantata in the same town two years ago.

When grandfather was asked how long he led the church choir in Wisconsin and Minnesota he answered "Oh, for miles."

And that reminds me of hearing him say his foolish sayings were always repeated but the wise ones were never mentioned. Grandfather was a real gentleman, rather scholarly with a bit of quiet wit. He passed on in 1883. Some fine trees on Watts' hill that he planted and brought through early droughts by hauling and carrying water to them by hand from a well in the canyon below are monuments to ly and Wolfe, for North Loup, Davis, F. Hutchins and Wetzel. The same evening the North Loup and Scottia F. F. A. teams played a game of kittenball. It was a 5-tuning game North Loup winning 9 to 3. The North Loup F. F. A. expect to play a return game at Scottia soon.

Big Air Show Set For Broken Bow June 23

An air show is scheduled at the Broken Bow airport, Sunday and Monday, June 23 and 24, which promises to be the biggest event of its kind in Nebraska this year. All civic organizations of Broken Bow including the chamber of commerce, Rotary club, and American Legion post are cooperating in staging the show, proceeds of which will go to development of the municipal airport there.

Jack Story of Oklahoma City who has announced the National Air Races at Cleveland for the past seven years will be master of ceremonies. Stunt fliers include Joe Jacobsen of Kansas City with his 300-miles-per-hour racing snip and Earl Whittenbeck of Tulsa, Okla., who is famous for his outside loops. Wayne Wegner of Kansas City will make delayed parachute jumps, dropping two miles before opening his chute.

Many airplane manufacturers throughout the middle west have made reservations to display and demonstrate their planes. A group of army planes is scheduled for a stop there on a cross country flight.—Adv.

Dakota and Nebraska. Minnesota, while it has had plenty of rain to start crops, has not had as much as Nebraska and corn is being cultivated. Near Plainview we saw three mowing machines in a large field of alfalfa cutting the first crop and we saw others cutting alfalfa also.

Everywhere, as at home, it has been cold and corn that is up is yellow. Also, everywhere along the road, prospects are good for a crop. I never saw a better prospect for small grain than I saw the last two days all the way and whenever I stopped for gas I asked how business was and the feeling seems to be general that conditions are improving; that about all that is now needed to put us going again, is a good crop and a decent price for it.

Found Killing Frost. There was a hard frost at Pipestone, Minn., where we stayed Thursday night and I guess that frost extended for a distance of a hundred miles, for after the sun was up a few hours, the potatoes were black and wilted. One gas station operator almost cried when he told me about his string beans being killed and he said he had such a nice garden. I suppose he has an industrious wife. St. Cloud seemed to us to be the most prosperous of any town we came through. There was a good deal of building going on there and everyone seemed to be in a hurry and busy. We found our cottage all cleaned and things in place and ready to live in and all we had to do was build fires, unpack our suitcases and get supper. And we were in bed before eight o'clock Friday evening, too, for we were all tired and ready for a good night's rest, free from all noises or traffic. The camp, at least this end of it, looks shipshape. The Mackowsky cottage on the south end is occupied by members of the family. They are from Des Moines but we have not called on them yet. Our boat is in the lake, half full of water and I presume is soaked up so it won't leak and as soon as I can go to town and get gasoline, I shall dry the boat, put the motor on and try it out. The dock has to be put out and that means get into the lake and get wet, and that makes me shiver to think about, for we are going to have to go in too deep for boots and that means bathing suits. The lake is the highest I ever saw it.

Arcadia, No. Loup, Ashton Winners

Coming to Ord with the avowed purpose of getting revenge for a walloping at the hands of Ord earlier in the season, the Arcadia baseball team of the Loup valley league journeyed home Sunday evening with their purpose fulfilled. They had won, 13 to 7. Until the sixth it looked like Arcadia would have to wait until a later date, Ord leading 4 to 2 when the fateful sixth arrived. In this stanza, Arcadia landed on Johnson, Ord hurler, and before the inning ended Johnson had been jerked by Manager Furtak in favor of Barney Kuklish and 8 runs had crossed the platter.

Both teams had on their hitting togs, Ord finding Johnny Higgins slants for 13 bingles while Arcadia was getting 18 safe wallops off Johnson and Kuklish. The Ord hurlers retired 13 on strikeouts, Higgins collected only 3.

Beat Dannebroag Again. While this carnage was going on at Ord another heavy-hitting game was on at North Loup, where the Popcorn Kids trounced Dannebroag, league leaders, by a score of 11 to 5. Sheldon was mainly responsible for the win, being at top form both in pitching and hitting. He allowed Dannebroag only 7 hits, struck out 9 and when hits were needed he certainly got them. Driving out two 2-baggers he personally accounted for five runs by scoring batters already on the bases.

North Loup was able to get away from the first-inning jinx which has followed them all season, no runs being scored nor errors made in the opening stanza. North Loup scores were made in the second, fifth, sixth and seventh. Dannebroag used three pitchers, Hansen, Mortensen and Jacobsen, the latter being most effective. Sheldon went the route for North Loup.

In the other Loup valley league game Sunday, Ashton walloped the lowly Burwell nine, 10 to 1.

Springdale, Blues Lead League Race

The Springdale and Blue teams clung to the top rungs in the Inter-City Softball league race, both turning in wins this week to remain undefeated. The Blues edged out the Orange by a 5-4 verdict Tuesday evening while the Springdale team toppled over the strong Joint outfit, 9-7.

The Blues staged a batting rally in the sixth to win their game while Springdale did some heavy stick work in the fifth and sixth to score 4 runs and win.

Monday evening the high school won a thriller from the Reds, 9-8 and the Blues took an easy one from Joint, winning by a lopsided 12-2 score. The tilt between the High School and the Red team was a fight well worth watching. The high school lads put the game on ice when Horace Johnson cracked out a homer with the bases loaded.

Children's Day Program

At Christian Church An interesting display featured the children's day program of the Christian church Sunday. The first demonstration showed cardboard models of churches that had been built or helped by the Christian people's state missionary society. Churches at Lyman, Magnet, Blue Springs, Elm Creek, Wakefield, Greenwood and Lexington were among those illustrated. Because of the missionary aid which they had received at some time or other, they are now active and progressive churches.

A second display showed the means of transportation in China. Land transportation of goods began with man carrying the burden on his back. Next came the train of wheelbarrows, finally trucks, and then the modern railroads. Transportation of individuals was depicted from the time of the passenger wheelbarrow to the planquin and jinricksha. Water travel in China began with the Chinese junks, which were small boats moving up and down the rivers. The next step was the river garden, a raft with grass, trees, gardens and houses upon which people lived. The third advance was the houseboat, pulled by men on shore. This was followed by the sailboat and the modern steamboat, now used in China. The various displays, churches, and illustrations of the modes of travel were made by the young boys' class, assisted by Rev. Willard McCarthy. The program was interspersed by songs and talks by young church members and children.

Meaning of "Walla Walla"

In several Indian languages walla means running water and repetition diminishes it; so walla walla is a small rapid river. In other tongues it means a small stream running into a larger one; ripple after ripple, fall after fall.

Arlos Thompson Leaps To Death At Old Creamery

Knots Rope About Neck, Then Jumps 30 Feet Into Pit; Popular Young Man.

A grisly tragedy occurred last Thursday at the old Ravenna Creamery Company building, leased recently by the Omaha Cold Storage Co., when Arlos F. Thompson, 28, knotted a rope about his neck and leaped thirty feet into an unused ice storage pit, death being instantaneous. Ill health and financial difficulties are assumed to be reasons for his suicide.

The act took place between 11:30 and 12 o'clock Thursday morning and the facts, so far as the Quiz can learn, are as follows:

Although he had been despondent for several days young Thompson seemed to be in good humor Thursday morning and when a call came for some livestock feed not kept in stock he consented to stay in the office while a co-worker, Wallace Nelson, went to dinner early, the plan being that Nelson would go to Loup City after the feed in the afternoon.

Searched Building.
Nelson left for dinner about 11:30 and returned at 12:00. Not finding Arlos in the office, although it was unlocked, he began looking for him and in the old ice storage house at the north side of the building found his body, dangling from a rope attached to the rafters.

Apparently Arlos had climbed to the top of the building and threw a rope over one of the rafters, attaching it by a slip knot. Then he tied a slip noose about his own neck and leaped off. From his perch atop the building to the floor of the pit was about 30 feet but his feet caught on an earthen ledge and the body was found hanging about six feet from the floor.

Before committing suicide Arlos wrote a note to his wife and this note was found on the ledge from which he leaped. It was written in bold, unshaken handwriting that betrayed no trace of nervousness, say officers.

Officers Summoned.
Nelson found the body about 12:10 and immediately called Sheriff George S. Round, who went to the plant accompanied by County Attorney Alvin B. Lee and Dr. J. G. Kruml. The latter examined the body and said Arlos' neck was broken, so death must have been instantaneous. The body then was cut down and taken to the Frazier mortuary.

Seldom has the community been so shocked as when news of Arlos Thompson's death by suicide became known for he was one of Ord's most popular and promising young business men. Reasons for his act can only be assumed, since contents of the note left by him were not made public. It is known, however, that he had suffered severely with sinus trouble and had lost about 15 pounds of weight in recent weeks. Business difficulties may also have contributed to the state of despondency that caused him to take his own life.

Leaves Two Children.
Born March 13, 1907 on a farm near Ord, Arlos was 28 years and three months old when he died.

Air Show Boosters Pay Visit To Ord

Several carloads of boosters from Broken Bow paid a visit to Ord Wednesday morning, accompanied by a band, and gave a performance on the Ord square, also circulating literature advertising the big Broken Bow air show which will be held Sunday and Monday, June 23 and 24. This will be about the biggest air event ever seen in central Nebraska. There will be airplane races, air stunts, parachute jumps and a variety of other entertainment. The event will be announced by Jack Story, announcer at the national air races in Cleveland for the past seven years. Many airplane manufacturers will have displays on the grounds. A girl selected as "queen of the air show" will be awarded a round trip to Chicago via United Air Lines, with all expenses paid.

G. H. Whitman Dies At LaJara, Colo.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Wyuka cemetery at Lincoln for G. H. Whitman, who died a few days ago at his home at LaJara, Colo. Mr. Whitman was quite well known to Ord residents, being active in real estate work in Nebraska and Colorado for many years.

He is survived by a wife and three daughters, a brother, and three sisters, one of whom, Mrs. C. E. Goodhand, lives in Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Goodhand went to Lincoln for burial services Tuesday.

Valley County Will Harvest Bumper Crop Of Grain; Here's Rye Field in Springdale

Who says Valley county isn't a small-grain producing region? Here's a field of rye on the Ed Timmerman farm in Springdale and though Mr. Timmerman isn't a small man, by any means, the rye in some places is taller than he is. This field should yield 40 to 45 bushels to the acre, believes Mr. Timmerman. All rye, wheat and oats in Valley county promises exceptionally heavy yields this year.

High Of 88, Low Of 46 Is Temperature Record For Week

Weather Is Unusually Cool For June; Rain Monday Brought .32 Inches.

Just as May, 1935, brought a near-record for moisture, June seems fated to go down in history as one of the coolest Junes on record, the high temperature for this month so far being 88, which was recorded last Friday, June 14. Last year temperatures hovered around the 100 mark throughout June. Less than half a dozen days this month have brought temperatures of 80 or over and many days have been distinctly chilly. Coolest temperature recorded during the past week has been 46, to which point the mercury dropped Monday night.

A slow, drizzling rain fell all morning Monday, bringing .32 inches of moisture to the Ord community. In the southwest corner of Valley county about an inch of rain fell Monday.

Crop prospects are the best in many years, both for small grains and for corn, although much corn had to be replanted and is two or three weeks later than usual.

16 Boys Guests Of Rotary Club

Enjoyed Dinner and Program Monday Eve, With Theatre Party Following.

Monday night was observed as "boys' night" by the Ord Rotary club and so successful and enjoyable was the affair that Rotarians are planning to make it an annual event. Sixteen boys were entertained at dinner, the group including Gerald Hatfield, Paul Danner, Charles Dobberstine, Eugene Duschus, John Fajmon, Junior Fox, Doyle Hiner, Ivan Madison, Robert Malolepszy, Donald Dahlin, Raymond Tatlow, Harold Pray, Dean Blessing, Charles Keown, Ray Hubert and Lynn Larson.

Auto Crashes Bridge, Goes Into Loup River

Arcadia—(Special)—Sunday a new Chevrolet owned by Walter Nelson of Comstock crashed through the railing of the river bridge on the Custer-Valley county line near the Clyde Mentzer place, turned over and landed on its top on a sand bar. Occupants of the car, Grace Leudtke, Wallace Nelson, Glenn Nelson and Gayle Anderson, of Omaha, who is visiting in the Nelson home, were uninjured. The car was pulled back on its wheels late Sunday afternoon and the motor started at once. Monday the car was pulled up on the highway. Damage to the vehicle was fully covered by insurance.

Last Inning Rally Falls Short and Ord K-Ballers Lose, 7-6

Outscored 7 to 0 in the first six innings, the Ord town softball team unleashed a six-run rally in the final inning of their game with St. Paul on the home field last Thursday evening but were unable to pound the tying run across the plate and the Apostles walked off with a 7 to 6 victory.

Shunkweller, on the mound for Ord, pitched a masterful game but was given poor support. In the second frame St. Paul tallied thrice on a single and a brace of Ord errors and other St. Paul runs smacked of the unearned variety.

Ray Toman, University of Nebraska football star, did mound duty for St. Paul and his fireball kept the Ordites under control until the fatal seventh when a pair of hits, combined with two costly infield errors, started the rally in which six Ord runs crossed the plate. Jacobsen finished the game for St. Paul.

Frank Wojtasek Commits Suicide

Frank J. Wojtasek, about 25 years old, committed suicide by shooting himself at Seward yesterday morning, said a message received about noon Wednesday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wojtasek, of Arcadia. They left for Seward immediately and will bring the body of their son to Arcadia for burial.

Young Wojtasek was a linotype operator who learned his trade as a student in the Ord Linotype School some years ago. Since about Febr. 1 he has been working as an operator on the Blue Valley Blade in Seward. Despondency over being informed that he was to lose his job caused him to commit suicide, it is thought.

Bert Hardenbrook Moves.
Bert M. Hardenbrook was busy this week moving from his former offices beneath the First National bank to new offices in the basement of the Auble block, where the J. W. Gilbert barber shop formerly was located. This room was remodeled for Mr. Hardenbrook.

Fair Meeting Postponed.
Because of the rain and muddy roads the Valley county fair board again postponed its meeting scheduled for Monday evening and the meeting will be held next Monday.

Council Notified Four Seek Liquor Licenses In Ord

Will Meet Friday, Recommend Two, Is Plan; No Demand For Booze by Drink.

Notified by Thomas Gass, chairman of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, that four Ord firms have applied for licenses to sell hard liquor by the original package in this city, Mayor Gould B. Flagg and the city council are planning to meet tomorrow night to draft recommendations for the guidance of the commission.

At its last meeting the council passed a resolution asking the state commission to grant only two licenses in Ord so it is assumed only two of these applicants will be recommended by the council.

Nebraska's liquor law requires the state commission to notify city councils of applications fifteen days before licenses may be granted and councils, if they care to make recommendations, must make them within this fifteen day period.

Ord men who have applied for liquor store licenses include Frank Dworak, Jr., Joe L. Dworak, Frank Fafetta, Jr., Jerry Petka and Ed Michalek, the last two applying as partners in a proposed liquor establishment.

Will Pass Ordinance.
At its meeting tomorrow night the council also is expected to pass a liquor ordinance levying an occupation tax upon stores purveying booze by the package, fixing closing hours and embodying other regulations not included in the state law. Ralph W. Norman, city attorney, is said to have this ordinance drafted and ready for passage.

Apparently there is no demand for bars selling liquor by the drink in Ord and so far as the Quiz has heard no petitions are being circulated here to bring about a special election on this question. Before liquor may be sold by the drink in any city a special election must be held and saloons approved by a majority of voters.

Elected Secretary Of Walter League

The annual Walter League rally of Zone 11 was held Sunday June 16, at Lexington and St. John's League south of Ord was very well represented. The Ord League was greatly honored by having one of its own members, Dorothy Fuss, elected secretary-treasurer of this zone, which includes Leagues from Grand Island, Lexington, Buffalo, Kearney, Amherst and Ord. Alvin B. Brandhorst, of Kearney, was elected to fill the position of chairman for the following year.

Next year Grand Island will entertain the Leagues at the annual rally.

Brief Interruption In Electric Service

Electric service on one of the five circuits in the Ord system failed briefly Monday evening and so seldom does such an interruption occur in Ord that when it does it becomes news. An underground wire burned out near the electric plant, explains Light Commissioner George Allen. After the trouble was located it took only a few minutes to make repairs.

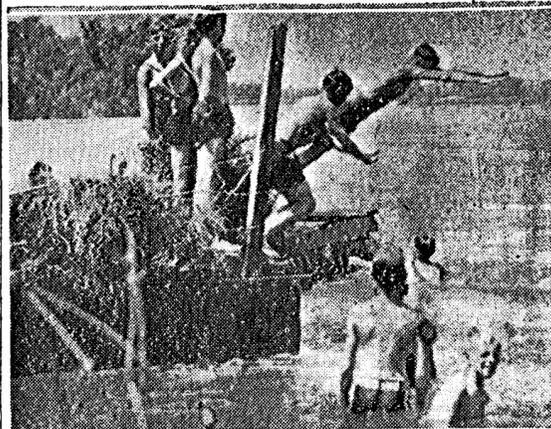

Janicek Case Dismissed.

Old Swimmin' Hole Is Busy Again

With the coming of warmer weather Ord boys have rediscovered the "old swimmin' hole" north of the river bridge near Ord. Photographer Jones of the Quiz staff caught this group Friday just as two of the boys were diving. A group of youthful swimmers can be seen here every warm day. A platform mounted on steel barrels, formerly used for gravel pumping, has been converted into a spring-board.

Chawin' Leather

Boy nature hasn't changed a bit, as proved by this picture of Vernon Malolepszy trying to untie the knots in his clothes Friday. The picture was taken by George Jensen.

Supervisors Agree To Spend $500 For 6-Foot Sidewalk

County Will Furnish Material, Labor By FERA; City Must Install Electroliers.

By a vote of 4 to 0, with three supervisors not voting, the Valley county board of supervisors Friday agreed to spend $500 for materials to construct a cement sidewalk around the court house yard, labor to be furnished by the FERA. The project has been under discussion for several weeks.

Motion to build the sidewalk was made by Supervisor Ellsworth Ball and seconded by Supervisor Henry Zikmund. When a vote was called for these two men and Supervisors Joe Jablonski and Charles Johnson voted "aye." Chairman S. V. Hansen and Supervisors J. A. Barber and Henry Desmul failed to vote.

Will Be 6 Feet Wide.

The new walk will be six feet wide on the north, west and south sides and five feet wide on the east side. The county engineer will have general charge of the project. Frank Kruml, relief director of the FERA here, said yesterday that FERA labor will be available whenever the project gets under way.

Construction of the sidewalk is conditioned upon the city of Ord installing electroliers and lights and furnishing electricity for lighting them without charge to the county. Total cost of the sidewalk development, including material, labor and ornamental lights, probably will be $2,500 or more.

Name New Director of FERA Work Relief

Joe Jennings, of Loup City, has been appointed FERA work relief director in Valley county and assumed his new duties Monday, succeeding Vern Davison, who was transferred to Lincoln. Mr. Jennings had been work director in Sherman county for several months.

Council Oak Stores May Locate In Ord

Sioux City Chain Considering Ord, Burwell, Loup City And Other Towns.

Possibility that another chain grocery company, Council Oak Stores, of Sioux City, Ia., may come to Ord, was hinted last week when representatives of this company were here investigating available store sites. They have tentatively selected the Williams building south of the postoffice and have agreed to lease it through the C. A. Hager agency if they are successful in finding a suitable location at Loup City. A store also will be opened at Burwell and possibly at Greeley, Sargent and Fullerton, the Quiz is informed.

Council Oak Stores, owned by Talerton & Warfield, are an old established chain in eastern Nebraska and Iowa. Closest stores are located in O'Neill and Albion.

Son of Dow Harris Is West Point Grad

Aaron E. Harris, a son of L. D. (Dow) Harris, was graduated this spring from the United States military academy at West Point and has been commissioned a lieutenant in the army, the Quiz learns. Lieut. Harris was born in Ord in 1910 and went with his parents to Nampa, Ida., in 1917. His mother was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pirkins. The young man graduated from high school in Idaho, became a member of the Idaho Forest Reserves and entered West Point through competitive examinations. He ranked first in his class during senior year there and ranked third for the four-year period. On June 14 he was married on Long Island, N. Y., to Miss Marjorie Edna Raynor. Lieut. Harris is a nephew of Miner Harris, who edits a newspaper at Palmer, Nebr.

Changes Band Schedule.
Prof. George Hauser, of Grand Island, who has been engaged to conduct band and orchestra work in Ord while Dean S. Duncan attends summer school, announces the following changes in his schedule: Advanced band at 3:00 on Tuesdays; junior orchestra at 10:00 on Wednesdays; junior band at 2:30 on Wednesdays.

Federal Building Assured For Ord, Dale Is Informed

Message Received by Co. Agent Says Structure Sure, Though Postmaster Not Informed.

Though Postmaster Edwin Clements has not yet been officially informed it seems sure that a new postoffice and federal building will be built in Ord this summer.

Several weeks ago a postal inspector visited this city to inspect sites available for such a structure and at that time stated that Ord was being considered and that definite announcement would be made within 60 to 90 days.

Yesterday County Agent C. C. Dale received a letter from his superior at Lincoln saying that the department of agriculture has been informed by the postoffice department that the Ord project has been approved for construction this summer and asking how much space in the building will be needed for federal agriculture activities.

Size, Cost, Unknown.
No information as to size or cost of the building was given in this letter but the inspector a few weeks ago said the Ord building would cost from $50,000 to $75,000.

Postmaster Clements believes confirmation of the report received by Dale will come within a week or ten days. First task will be selection of a site for the building and owners of suitable property will be given a chance to submit written bids.

Besides the postoffice, such activities as federal seed and feed loans, corn-hog, rehabilitation office and various children's classes of a semi-permanent or permanent nature will be provided with quarters in the new building, it is thought. Probably a two-story structure will be built.

Promotion Day At Ord Church

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the annual promotion exercises will be held for members of the Methodist Sunday school who are promoted from one department to another.

This takes the place of the children's day program usually held this month. A program will be given by various children's classes at a short sermon by the minister. The service will be in the nature of commencement exercises, with a procession of the classes promoted and taking their places on the platform. Certificates of promotion will be given out by the respective superintendents, and they will be welcomed by the superintendents of the departments to which they go.

Departmental groups to be promoted include the cradle roll, beginners, primary, junior and junior high. Superintendents and group leaders in charge of these are Miss Inez Eberhart, Mrs. J. H. Jirak, Mrs. Mark Tolen, Mrs. George Nay, Chester Hackett and Mrs. Bert M. Hardenbrook. Evet A. Smith is general superintendent.

14 Valley County Boys to CCC Camp

Fourteen boys left Ord Monday morning at 4:00 a. m. to enroll in Citizens' Conservation work at Albion that day. Twelve regulars and two alternates were selected for the quota allotted Valley county.

The regulars are Ray Johnson, Arcadia, Ned Larkin and Sidney Fuller, North Loup, Frank Kuklish, Elyria, Wm. Sowers, Robert Lambdin, Robert Mraz, George Wampole, Leonard Greathouse, Thomas Fisk, Oscar Austin and James Miller of Ord. Alternates are David Aubert and Joe Drawbridge.

Frank Kruml, relief director for Valley county, reports that many counties had difficulty in selecting enough boys who would qualify to make the county quota. Valley county's quota was twelve but the alternates were also allowed to remain.

Senator Blessing Reported Improved

From the Presbyterian hospital, Chicago, where Senator Alvin Blessing of Ord is recovering from a serious abdominal operation come reports that he was somewhat improved Tuesday and is expected to gain rapidly from now on. With Sen. Blessing in Chicago is his son, Dr. F. L. Blessing. As soon as the danger point is passed and Alvin is on the road to recovery his son will return home. Will Bartlett will go to Chicago and accompany Alvin back to Ord as soon as he is able to travel.

—Madams Alvin Mazac, Jack Morrison, Jud Tedro and Archie Keep and Miss Eleanor Keep drove to Kearney Tuesday afternoon to attend the Passion play.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted by William Bruckart
National Press Building Washington, D. C.

Washington.—It is never easy or simple to attempt a forecast of the reactions of a nation as large as ours. There are so many cross-currents, so many local influences and factors at work that the popular reaction sometimes, usually in fact, is slow in crystallizing. Thus, it appears safe to say at this writing that the administration's future course on NRA and other New Deal policies concerning which there is constitutional doubt necessarily must provide a basis for the 1936 campaign.

Yet, certainly it can surely be said that the issue is now drawn and that the battle next year will be between radicals and conservatives; between those who favor constitutional government and those who think our nation has gone beyond the considerations laid down by the founding fathers, and between those who regard American traditions and practices as worth defending and an opposition constituted wholly of those who desire to remake our modes of living.

In these days of swiftly changing conditions in Washington, one can observe certain outcroppings in the numerous controversies and the wild confusion, and these point definitely in one direction. They indicate the break-up, the disintegration, of the old political parties. It is too early to predict whether our two-party system will continue even under the names of Democratic and Republican. Certainly if those two names continue they will shield under their banners eventually an entirely different party leadership and party personnel.

Proof of this contention lies in the numerous statements, suggestions and trial balloons that have floated about—all serving as feelers in the direction of a coalition among opposition to the New Deal. It is to be noted that among those who have put out feelers about coalition have been some very well-known names, both among Democrats and Republicans. These moves probably will not develop into important activities but they constitute straws showing which way the wind blows.

All of the above is by way of saying that Mr. Roosevelt as the head and forefront of the New Deal is at the parting of the ways. Soon, he must choose whether he will align himself definitely and completely with the radical element as typified by the Tugwells, the Richbergs, the Wheelers and La Follettes or whether he will turn to the philosophies of the old-line-Jeffersonian Democrats, most of whom come from what used to be the Solid South insofar as Democratic voters were concerned. He must make this choice because it is no longer possible for him to ride two horses, successful as he was in the early days of his administration in keeping the two wings of his party together. When he has made that choice, at that same time begins the development of a new political party alignment in the United States. These conclusions are the conclusions of the most astute politicians and observers in Washington.

The question may be asked: What has brought about these new conditions so suddenly? The answer may not be as apparent as it seems. Offhand, one would say that the sudden halt of the New Deal program that was accomplished through the NRA decision by the Supreme court of the United States had actually amounted to a major operation. This is only partially true. The Supreme court decision while blocking further expansion of the New Deal in the direction in which it was tending simply provided a focal point around which the maelstrom centers. In other words, through all the months since the New Deal came into power defections have been increasing. The opposition, growing in strength, at last has been given an anchor. The cumulative character of the opposition and the dissension and dissatisfaction has made it possible for a single incident such as the Supreme court decision to provide what politicians call an issue.

If the Supreme court ruling had not been sufficient to accomplish this purpose, Mr. Roosevelt personally provided the necessary additional momentum. When he spoke in his now famous press conference about the court decision having the effect of pushing American social life back to "horse and buggy" days he set up at one and the same time a circumstance that molded his own supporters in one group and the opposition concretely in another.

So avidly did the opposition seize upon Mr. Roosevelt's statement that many newspapers of influence in the country construed it as a challenge to the Supreme court. Obviously the President, occupying a co-equal status with the Supreme court in our form of government, had no intention of issuing a challenge to the Supreme court in the ordinary sense of the word. What he intended was to explain to the country that the time had come for the nation to consider its future course; the question he propounded in effect was whether the limitations, the maxima and the minima, laid down in the Constitution were sufficiently flexible to cover life as we now live it. From sober-thinking individuals, I gather that this is the point which must be developed fully in advance of the November elections of 1936.

Consequently, some observers believe the campaign next year ought to be on a higher plane than any in recent history. They point to the fact that determination of the question just outlined above carries with it the collateral determination of whether the United States shall be one vast empire with state lines virtually obliterated. Likewise, determination of the question referred to will bring an answer to a further question, namely, whether the American people desire that their government shall control individual businesses or whether those businesses and the practices of the citizenry shall be permitted to continue as was the desire of the colonists when they fought off the armies of King George.

But there will be some sixteen months of time that must elapse before the American people can express their opinion and their wishes at the polls. In that interim, pressing problems resulting from the New Deal program must be solved.

At the moment, what to do with NRA as well as how to do it stands foremost. Behind it lies troublesome questions centering in the farm policies of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. Permeating the very structure of the New Deal is the broader question of whether it is desirable to continue so many of the alphabetical agencies as permanent units of the government since each of them was created by desires for economic recovery. NRA will be continued in a skeleton form. Its powers and its functions will be very limited. Some vitriolic opponents of NRA are declaring that its skeleton organization is being maintained solely as a face-saving proposition. They argue that Mr. Roosevelt could not admit complete defeat of this outstanding plank in his recovery program.

The truth seems to be that Mr. Roosevelt, while unwilling to admit defeat in this direction, is waiting until he can determine what the wishes of the country are and how far the majority of the population will go with him in rebuilding the structure on lines within the limitations prescribed by the Supreme court. Thus far, certainly he has had considerable evidence of benefits accruing from the NRA experiment. No other view can be taken of announcements by many industrial leaders to the effect that they intend to continue hours of labor and wage levels to which they had subscribed under the codes of fair practice.

To the extent that important industrial lines are continuing to observe the code conditions on a voluntary basis it is believed Mr. Roosevelt can take credit for having moved general business to a plane against which even the social theorists can offer little complaint. The President has termed those who have been guilty of unfair and unjust treatment of labor and the consuming public "chiselers." There is chiselling going on now. Probably, there will be more of it. If it becomes too widespread, it seems reasonable to think that there will be a strong reaction among thinking people. This reaction will strengthen whatever moves the President makes to revise the constitutional limitations about which he has complained.

There was an incident of historic importance in the Capitol building the other day. The Supreme court of the United States met as usual in its chambers under the dome of the Capitol on June 3. As far as outward appearances go it was simply another session in which the nine dignified and learned justices met to publicly render the conclusions of law they had reached. But it was more than that. It was the last time the court was to convene in that chamber, and today it is dim in the shallow light of shaded windows for the first time since 1800.

When the court convenes next October after its usual summer recess, the justices will climb marble steps into a gigantic new ten-million-dollar structure—the permanent home of the court for the future. It is a building ornate in its simplicity. The court chambers and the private offices of the justices represent architectural masterpieces. Equipment of the most modern type has been installed.

North Loup News

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greene, Herbert and Donald left for their home in Iaeger, Wednesday morning. Harold stayed in North Loup until Sunday when he went to Lincoln to attend the high school band school at the university. He went down with Glen Auble of Ord.

Katherine Babcock returned home from Lincoln last Wednesday. She was accompanied by the little girls of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Babcock, who will spend some time with their grandmother, Mrs. Jessie T. Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sandy and sons drove to Lincoln Friday afternoon to be gone until the 23rd. They will visit relatives and attend a wedding anniversary celebration of some friends and the last of this week Mr. Sandy will attend the F. F. A. teachers conference.

Inez Hutchins arrived in Grand Island from Albuquerque, N. M., Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock. Mrs. Myra Hutchins, Mrs. Arthur Hutchins and three boys, Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchins and children drove down to meet her.

The American Legion Auxiliary held their annual guest day at the Legion hall Friday afternoon at 2:30. The meeting was called to order by the president, Myra Barber and the regular order of Auxiliary meetings was carried out up to the time for business. At this point they dispensed with the regular procedure and the program planned for the guests was presented. Readings were given by Charlotte Jones and Everett Barrett. Mrs. Jessie T. Babcock gave an interesting account of the history of the flag and Mrs. Anna Tappan gave a splendid talk on "Memorials". An original poem written by Myra Barber was read by Prudence Dallam and Marfan Maxson sang a solo in her usual charming manner. Two plays, also written by Mrs. Barber were presented as radio productions, the performers reading their lines behind a screen. Florence Hutchins, Fern Maxson and Myra Barber took the parts in the first one called "Fool's Paradise". The second one "And Pondered There", was given by Catherine Chadwick, Lottie Barrett and Myra Barber. A lunch consisting of ice cream, cake and ice tea was served by the refreshment committee. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Carl Mortensen, sixth district Auxiliary president, Mrs. Lottie Clark, president of the Ord Auxiliary, and Mrs. Dan Sautter of Scotia.

North Loup took a hard fought battle from Arcadia on their home diamond last Sunday by a score of 5 to 4 in eleven innings. At the start it looked like pretty much Arcadia as Higgins, who was doing the hurling for the Arcadians, set the Loupers down in order for the first four innings, while they were piling up six hits and two runs, scoring one in the second and another in the fourth. To start the fifth Barber got on an error and three hits by Honeycutt, Sheldon and Cress accounted for three runs. In the sixth Hudson walked and went to third on Hutchins' sacrifice and scored on Barber's single. In the sixth Arcadia scored one run on an error and two singles and again in the ninth, McCleary walked, stole second and scored on Scott's single. There was no more scoring then until the eleventh, when Honeycutt got life on an error and Sheldon got on a fielder's choice and scored on hits by Williams and Cress. Sheldon held the Arcadians for the last half and the game was over. Batteries: Arcadia—Higgins, Scott and Johnson; North Loup—Sheldon and Hutchins.

Mrs. Pearl Weed and Mrs. Ted Meyer of Scotia entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Thelma Weed Friday afternoon on the lawn at the Weed home. Miss Weed expects to be married June 20 at Alliance to E. E. Segrist of that place. About sixty attended the shower, half of them children. The entertainment consisted of several stunts and games. One particularly interesting feature was an essay contest, the subject being "Matrimony", the crowd being divided into five groups. The group composed of single girls received the prize. Another stunt was a cake guessing contest, the prize being a cake (of soap). The bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful presents which she opened with appropriate remarks. At the close of the afternoon the hostesses served ice cream and strawberries, cake and icebox cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre and Helen Joyce and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hurley and Colleen went over to Archer Sunday to see Mr. and Mrs. Charley Gray. Although Mr. Gray is confined to his bed, the Grays seem to be getting along quite well, so these friends say.

Sunday supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stillman were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stillman.

Arch Moulton fractured his wrist Sunday morning while cranking his car.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cronk, Mr. and Mrs. Will Cronk and two granddaughters, all of Elm Creek, called at the George Barz home Sunday afternoon. They were on their way home from Horace, where they had been dinner guests of Mrs. Arley Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Milt Earnest and Lyle and Mrs. Omer Earnest arrived in North Loup Monday evening. Mrs. Omer Earnest is staying with her sister, Mrs. Joe Fisher. The Milt Earnests are staying in their own house. They expect to stay for several weeks. Mrs. Earnest says they had word that Velma Peterson is coming down from Minnesota to see them while they are here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Winch and baby daughter arrived in North Loup Sunday from Massachusetts, to spend about ten days visiting the Glen Johnsons and other relatives. Edwin Johnson came with them from Milton, Wisconsin. Roger and Margaret are expected home late Friday.

Mrs. George Bartz and Lella were dinner guests last Wednesday at the Dave Wigent home in Ord.

Mrs. L. E. Hubbard of Lexington is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joe Fisher, and other North Loup relatives and friends.

Sam Roe and Art Mensting of Ord, members of the allotment committee were in North Loup Monday overseeing the signing of the corn-hog contracts.

Eugene Anderson came up from Grand Island Saturday and stayed over until Sunday afternoon with his mother, Mrs. Jennie Anderson.

Mrs. Dewey Eyestone and two children of Waco came Friday to attend the shower for Thelma Weed. Mrs. Eoyd, a friend of Mrs. Eyestone from Utica brought them up. They went back that night and Mrs. Myra Thrasher went along to spend most of the summer with her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundstedt drove to Guide Rock Sunday and stayed until late Monday. Mrs. Dan Bohrer went as far as Hastings with them. A niece of Mr. Lundstedt, LaVelle Lundstedt came back with them for a visit.

The E. J. Grahams of Kearney were Sunday guests at the Paul Jones home. Paul had spent a week with them and now the Graham girls, Beryl and Maxine are spending a week with the Jones'.

Rev. W. H. Stephens filled the S. D. B. pulpit Sabbath morning in the absence of Rev. Warren.

Lou Sheldon and his boys put in a new driveway at the Continental filling station the first of the week. The highway pavement was put in lower than the old road and the main driveway of the station has been out of use for several weeks.

Mrs. Leal Larkin of Battle Creek, Mich., Mrs. Overton of Bangor, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kelso and two daughters of Grand Island came up from Grand Island Tuesday in time to eat dinner with the Woman's missionary society at Hemphill's. Mrs. Kelso was formerly Mabel Larkin. Mrs. Leal Larkin is her mother and Mrs. Overton an aunt.

Claud Barber had charge of the S. D. B. choir last week in the absence of Mrs. Babcock. The anthem was "Remember Now Thy Creator".

Helen Clement drove over from Arnold Tuesday to see her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crandall. They weren't expecting her and she found them gone. She decided her grandmother would be at missionary society so went over to Hemphill's where she had dinner as guest of the society.

The Vesper service at the S. D. B. church Sabbath evening was under the direction of Beth Barber. Special numbers were a trumpet solo by Roderick Moulton, vocal duet by Richard Babcock and Margaret Sayre and a solo by Dell Barber.

The Nellie Shaw society of the S. D. B. church held their annual guest day meeting in the church basement Wednesday. A program was given with the theme "A Profitable Summer. Fern Maxson had charge of the devotionals. Several short talks were given by members, suggesting various ways to have a profitable summer in the different departments of the church as well as in the home. Musical numbers were given by the Babcock cousins, Virginia Moulton, two from the junior society, and a duet by Doris and Ersel Goodrich. Refreshments of tea, sandwiches and cake were served after the program by the social committee.

Martha Good says that a man from Ord was down Tuesday to make arrangements for taking some pictures of the Bible school children. She says both attendance and interest are good in the school.

Sid Fuller, Ned Larkin and Joe Drawbridge left early Monday morning for Albion to enter the CCC camp. They don't know where they will be sent from there.

Vera Bebee Anderson of Scotia was operated on Monday morning for appendicitis at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island. It is reported that she is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Esther Hurley, Mrs. Chadwick and Mrs. Oakley Sayre took Genevieve Chadwick to Grand Island Tuesday morning. She left for Parkdale, Ore., where she expects to be married to Elvin Lee who is working there.

The M. E. church are very busy this week getting everything in readiness for their big 60th anniversary celebration to be held next Sunday, June 23. It is hoped that there will be a large number of former pastors present as well as many non-resident and former members. Following the morning service dinner will be served at the church. In the afternoon will be the children's program and in the evening a play by the young people.

Mrs. Maysel Walsh and a niece and nephew, Margaret and Jack Douglas came from Brookfield, Mo., Tuesday to visit at the A. H. Crandall home. Mrs. Walsh is a niece of Mrs. Crandall.

Mrs. Earl Smith and three daughters went to Ulysses Saturday to spend a week with Mrs. Smith's parents. She rode down with her brother, Brick Stine and Marjorie Daugherty from Sunrise, Nebr.

The Work Sheet

By GEORGE COWEN
"The Roving Reporter"

West again past a couple new high bridges, but not over them. Beautiful and substantial bridges they are too, but around we go. Not over. Saving them, I presume.

South at Hornickel's and west again to Noss', then south and into the yard of Wm. Hekeler. There was no mistake about this place and who was the proprietor. The name is flaunted across the window of the door.

As we disembarked, out of the trees and thickets somewhere the manager sauntered. I spied three nice colts in the yard and we looked at them. One was a little extra nice I thought. He said she was gentle. He was going to make a saddle horse of her. One that the women folks could ride. I was a little stumped at that remark, for I had tucked back in my cranium that Wm. was a batch. He has gotten married unbeknown to me I concluded. Must be careful what I say.

Bill Kept Him Guessing.
Then we looked at more nice horses, and as fat as they were nice. He remarked he had heard a fellow who is good to his horses is also good to his wife. I said no doubt that was true, knowing Wm. would be nothing but good. Then looking at the chickens and little colt. He said he didn't do much with the chickens. I presumed the wife did it for there was feed and water in great abundance there.

Then I was invited into the house. He was repairing the front porch. I made a suggestion or two. He told me he was going to leave it to the women folks how to finish it. Into the house and invited to take a chair. Everything was epic and apathetic, with a few nice pictures on the walls, but no women around. I wondered if they were calling. I dared not ask.

Wants Matrimonial Bureau.
Then he said something about what the editor, said once that he would advertise anyone who wanted a husband or wife free and he believed he would run an ad. He suggested I start a matrimonial bureau. I said I had had pretty good luck making love for myself, (a good deal better than my wife did) but I never tried it for a third party. I promised to keep my eyes open for prospects and named over a few widows and old maids, such as,— I guess the list is too long to repeat here. And when I left I didn't know whether I was making fun of him, or he making a fool of me.

Back around two corners and into the yard of L. M. Campbell. He lives here and works for some Cook or another. The woods are full of Cooks and I haven't figured them all out yet.

Yellow Flowers, Yellow Cats.
The yard was bedecked with yellow flowers. Yellow iris, yellow roses and yellow dandelions. I knocked and a pretty girl asked me in. This was Mildred. Her mother and sister Dorothy (just as pretty) were there. They said they had nothing to show me except two yellow cats. I was invited to take a chair while they hustled, dressmaking, ironing and cleaning. Dorothy was going to university summer school in a few days. She teaches at Davis Creek.

I soon discovered Dorothy was a scribbler, but like me, does it mostly for exercise. She said she was going to practice up and get good before she sent any "stuff" off and save postage. Bright idea. I wish I had thought of that before. I'd been a few hundred dollars ahead. She said she didn't mind writing the stories but she hated to revise them afterwards. I told her I never revised any but the first few pages. That's all they ever read anyway. Like the rotten egg. You don't have to eat it all. I told her I put a lot of blood and thunder in my yarns and she said she was better at character sketching. I suggested she go call on Wm. H. for a character.

I told her I always write my first paragraph last and last one first. That I never know the title until I am ready to mail it. That the stories will come flying back from New York in seven days. I have kept track dozens of times. But she is better read up on the technic than I, and no doubt writes better stories. They couldn't be any worse.

A Talented Reporter.
So you see, Boss, I am not confining my advice and counsel only to agriculture. I give information on saddle horses, bulls, fine homes, flowers, dogs, chickens, literature and love. I never participate in the latter. Just advise. If anyone has any love-forn questions to answer and can't wait until I arrive, tell them just to write.

The day was wearing away swiftly and no business. Just getting made fun of. I hurried on, over a bumpy and badly washed road to Carl Hanke's. Carl was cultivating the spuds with a white team that moved about three hours a mile. Alvin and Howard were uncovering the vines. I told them I would like to borrow their team to plow my potato patch. When I got my broncos out, between Roving trips, they went on the run, and I cultivate out more potatoes than I do weeds. Plucking a yellow rose for boutonniere for the boy, we scurried on.

Turning in this time at Mrs. Asa Leonard's, we knocked loudly at the screen. "From all appearances, Dick, I deduce this lady is not at home," I commented. Around the house the stickery bushes were loaded and hanging with yellow roses. I recalled the song,

"When night time comes I miss you more,
Here Since 1879.

On west a little ways further and stopping at Chas. Leonard's. He was glad to see me, or pretended he was. He said he had known my father and grandfather both. That he had stayed at his hotel in early days. That he (Chas.) came to this country in '79 and lived on that place since '82. And a nice place he has too.

Mrs. Leonard was hoeing in the garden. I was introduced and she seemed glad to see me. I had already commented on the flower garden. He gave the wife all the credit for it, but I noted he was very proud of it also. They had snowballs, roses, blue, purple and ruffled iris, peonies by the flocks of all colors, oriental poppies and regal tiger lilies, rose bushes, pansies and dozens of other bloomers growing there in a rainbow of colors. And then I spied Sweet Williams.

If I had only garden space to grow a few small flowers—perhaps a single row. I would not choose red roses, proudly fair.

Or sweet white lilies, filled with incense rare.
My choice would be those humble flowers and shy
Which grew in Grandma's garden in days gone by.—Sweet Williams.

And then Chas. showed me his Chinese elms, white Mrs. L. gave Dick a couple cookies, and then the vegetable garden, and the sweet "patuties" and the grape vines, and I took their picture in the flower garden, and I told them if the picture was good we would have it in the paper. Better have a picture of these venerable old timers than young upstarts like me. They followed us to the car and we chatted there more before we pulled away.

Big Dealer in Horses.
I drove next into the yard of Paul Zentz. Paul works for Henry Geweke. The wife was cooking meat and I could hardly resist when she asked us to stay for dinner, but I toured on over to Henry's.

Henry and his wife were both gone. Henry is gone most of the time buying and selling horses and everything else. One of the biggest horse dealers in the country. Soon Paul came and showed me a tall team of mules, and a fine bay "stud hoss" they have for sale. Paul knows the prices and sells any of the horses for Hank. Paul has worked there for several years.

Soon Guy Sample came up. He also works for Hank. Paul told him he better be careful what he said, here's the crazy guy that writes for the paper. Hank has three tractors, one more than his brother Archie, and has his hired men farm great quantities of land about that way. I tried to find out which one was the boss when Hank was gone. They said both bossed, but never at the same time. They both get mad but not at once, and consequently get along fine. They didn't act like they got very mad.

Plants 50 Acres Dally.
Then west a ways to Earl Leonard's. He and his boy were unhooking their five cylinder Jackson. Earl had a new hen coop there and we scrutinized that and then Dick found a grown-up Jimmy, made out of the wheels of an old Ford. He worked the boys to push him while he guided it around the yard. It was quite a machine with spring seat and all. The worst trouble was the engine was gone. Even at that, all the rest of the day, Dick was pestering me to build him one when we get home. Then the girl took a picture of Dick on a pony, and we chatted a minute about the four-row corn planter and how they plant fifty acres a day, and we were off again.

This time we stopped at John Prien's. These folks had been looking for me. I wonder sometimes if they don't phone ahead, or give a general ring at my approach. The first thing Dick noticed was the dogs. Three fine puppies and a mother dog or two. John planned on saving one and executing the rest at sunrise. I told him to save the one that sucked the back tit. A method that never fails in picking a pup. Then another dog trotted out from behind the shed that sucked eggs. John had put a poke on her to keep her out of the coop.

A Jig Dancer, Too.
Then Mrs. Prien came. We joked and talked, and then she would stop him, and he would stop her, always with the same reprimand. "Be careful, don't say that, he'll put it in the paper." Finally we were having such a good time laughing they just gave me a blanket restraint, prohibiting anything from going in the paper, and we were free to talk about interesting things such as scandal, or gossip or neighborhood love affairs, but I remember there was none such mentioned. In the house to pay his subscription, and telling me about their little girl Joan, whom they thought was going to go blind, but is getting along fine now. This girl has sort of a sixth sense and when her Dad goes away she can tell where he is and what he is doing and when he will be home. It might be handy to have such a child and it might not. We talked of many other things. Mrs. Prien intimated she could dance a jig. I told her I would dance one if she would, but before I left that had slipped our mind.

I was then shown the horses, which are nice ones, and a pair of grey colts that are extra nice. Then the little white leghorn chickens, which are triple A's. They think the extra quality always pay better. I wonder how long it will be before there will be quintuplet A's.

West to the corner and north and turning in at Mrs. Cochran's. She came to the door, and Dick asked for a drink and we had a nice little chat. She said she took the Quiz and had some nice horses too, but they were out in the pasture. I guess I'll have to call ahead so they can catch up this good stuff. There was not a great deal to mention here but I did notice the washing on the line, and it was as white as the driven snow, and a few bedspreads that someone had spent many a weary hour on. Or are those hours weary?

View of Mira Valley.
South up grade a little and into the yard of Jim Arnold. He and his boy were in the best planting some corn the second time here is one of the best views I have seen yet. Nearly all of Mira Valley can be seen, and a beautiful valley it is too. It is said that C. Mortensen said if he could have Mira Valley trade, he would be satisfied. Who wouldn't? From Arnold's place they can see the smoke of Sumter, and they can count 36 houses in sight.

Mrs. Arnold and her daughter Luella came to the door. After visiting a minute, they said they had a pet they would show us if it hadn't followed their boy to the field. After looking a minute or two, Luella came out of the chicken coop leading a buck sheep by the ear. They had raised him on a bottle from a tiny thing. He was pretty hot, not having been sheared. Dick was put on his back. A few passes were made at him, and we mugged him a few times.

Rambunctious Ram.
Then Mr. Ram decided to ram us and started rambling in our direction. He surely made us scamper like chickens out of a feed barrel. I tried to take his picture but cameras were bad looking machines and deserved ramming too. The fact of Dick having been on his back created an antipathy and the boy was chased to the top of the barn. I slammed the barn door in Mr. Buck's face, leaving three women to fight their own battles. Then Luella grabbed his ear, and he was meek as a turtle dove. We were nearly prostrate with laughter. I decided this buck might be a good watch dog, keep chicken thieves away.

Next stop was at Harry Foth's. Everyone had vamoosed as far as we could tell, except some chickens and half grown ducks that waddled around swinging from one leg to the other until I was afraid they would tumble over.

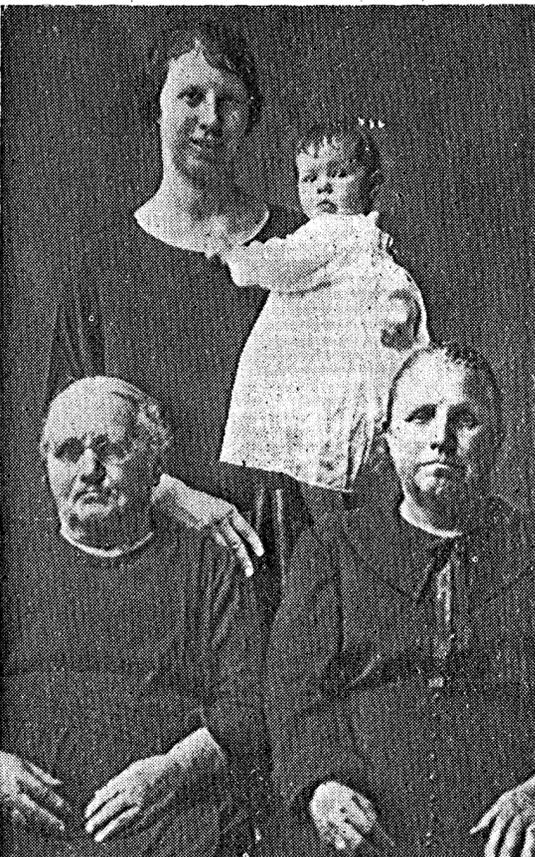

Turned First Furrow.
Back and east into the field over a rough road and into the yard of John Bell. He and his boy Wayne were chopping kindling. Then I arrived, all work ceased for the notice, and we perched ourselves on a pile of brick and talked about the times. John is an old timer too, having been better acquainted with my father than with me. John came to the land in '82 I think, and turned the first furrow ever turned on the place across from John Hornickel's. He and Wayne batch it there.

Then Wayne got Dick a drink and showed him a cluster of tiny kittens and I took a squirt at the horses, which were not so bad, and away we went. I said John Foth was not at home and John said they he nice folks. One never hears them say a thing bad about anyone. Well, that's something.

Billie Lukesh was the next stop. Two cars were parked in the yard, but no inhabitants were in sight. So I took the privilege of squinting around a bit. Four fine horses were in the barn. A sign there read "Private, Keep In." I noted a nice garden, a yard full of cackling white hens and a big W. Faced bull bellowing on the hill side. A nice place with neat well painted buildings.

Adolf Hellwege was the next victim. He was repairing a fence way off yonder. Mrs. Hellwege invited me to sit on the porch while she and her daughter passed the time of day. I was about tucked out so I gladly sat. They live across the street from 66 school, which makes it handy. They have a big red barn and a nice home, and a spotted colt and a buckskin mare or two in a nearby pasture. Dick had drummed up an acquaintance with their little girl and they were tricycling around and around the house. He makes friends easily. Chip off the old chunk, perhaps. I hated to get up from that easy chair, but duty called. Their girl, Verna

Unusual Four-Generation Group

Mae, who is a real blond is going to Ord to school next year.

Gus Smith was next. A fire white legged three-year-old had pulled her bridle off and escaped from Gus. He and the boy were having troubles of their own catching her and stopping her. A tractor would give no such trouble. The trouble with tractors is to start them. Gus has several nice horses. I went on, nearly wrecking myself in a wash-out as we sped east.

Two Peddlers Too Many.
Louie Fuss' place was turned in now. Everett Petty was there selling pills or something. I politely waited until he had unwound and treated the kids with candy, and then I started my harangue. It was really distressing for this nice lady to have two peddlers at once but fate plays peculiar tricks. I deduced she must have a good constitution, for I did not notice her run for the smelling salts.

Everett said, this lady is the best chicken raiser in the country. That is taking in a lot of territory for if there is one characteristic of these Mira Valley folks, it is their big fine flocks of chickens everywhere. Nevertheless, she has raised this year about 800 chickens, all leghorns. She had 230 W. L. hens and picks up three cases of eggs a week. She sells to the hatchery and to other folks also for hatching, and her checks are about $25.00 a week. That is far more money than the feed costs, she says.

Then two of her fine husky kids, Dean and Mildred caught their two spotted saddle horses and I took their picture. Louie is like his brothers, Mrs. F. said, and has a flair for nice horses. All her four kids are going to drive a car to Ord to school next fall. She gave me a silver-leaved maple tree to take home, and away we went.

Rode Pony to School.
The next stop was at John Skala's. Mrs. Skala was making garden and the girl Evelyn, was there about. They said they had a nice saddle horse too. The girl went after it, and I discovered she is an expert at horsemanship. The horse would paw with its front feet upon command, and rear, and stop when the girl starts to fall from her back. Evelyn rode this pony five miles to No. 9 school the last two years. Then their dog would roll over and over upon command, and also speak.

I was shown the yard next, and they have a pretty place there on the hillside. A modern house, "with flowers round the door," and a daughter that's neither so bashful, or yet so brazen. One that's friendly and bright and the kind we all are so glad to meet. She is going to school in Ord next year and thinks she will take the normal training course.

Back to the road and east over a hill and into the yard of Beryl Miller. Two bright-looking little boys, Don and Dale danced with glee on the step as I drove in. I asked for their father. He was planting corn. Then for the mother. She was running the tractor in a north field. These boys did their best as hosts and that was better than some do. They even started a friendly fight for pasture, but about then their father came.

Has Dear John Tractor.
He was a friendly man and said he had bought some stuff at my sale eight years ago. Said he has a Dear John tractor and the wife has no more trouble running it than she does a car. That the older boy is short for his age, and in the eighth grade, that the nice six year old bald faced horse is really ten.

We hurried on toward home to arrive in time to attend the alumni banquet. A boon friend of mine was to make a speech. I wanted to be there to cheer him. The last time I made a speech no one cheered, except when somebody threw a tomato. And when I finally unwound the crowd had all left or had fallen asleep. If I had just had some encouragement, I might have quit quicker, and that is the secret of most good speeches, if there is any such thing.

THE "JOKER" SHOWS UP.

When the Supreme court of the United States brought in its decision on the Frazier-Lemke bill recently, daily newspapers gave a vast amount of publicity to the fact that this act was declared unconstitutional. Many farmers who had received, or were about to receive, relief from indebtedness under this bill, feared the worst. Now, with careful consideration of the Supreme court's action, the decision of the "joker" has shown up and it is found that, far from everything being off, the Frazier-Lemke act still offers extremely practical, if somewhat temporary, relief.

Only a few days ago Federal Judge Munger told conciliation commissioners of this state that they may continue to accept applications for conciliation relief under the Frazier-Lemke act. Only part of the act voided by the court decision was Section 75, the bankruptcy provision. All other portions remain constitutional, he says.

While it is true that Section 75 furnished the "teeth" in the Frazier-Lemke bill, Judge Munger's letter means that, in effect, farmers who are about to lose their places by foreclosure may apply for conciliation action and thus may gain five or six months time, permitting them to harvest and retain a share of this year's crop and other advantages. Since the cost of such action is small, quite a few farmers are expected to take advantage of this situation, indeed are doing so elsewhere in Nebraska.

Where such action is filed, district judges are likely to decline to fix rentals or otherwise consider foreclosure actions, because the cases will thus come under federal law and state judges will have no jurisdiction.

Lacking the threat of compulsory settlement furnished by Section 75, the Frazier-Lemke bill is, of course, useless as a method of permanent relief from debt but it still furnishes a practical method of gaining temporary advantage.

YES OR NO.

So far as the Quiz has heard nobody is contemplating the circulation of petitions here to bring about a vote on serving hard liquor by the drink in this city. The state's new liquor law provides that before groceries similar to the old-time saloon may be opened in any city the proposition must first be approved by a majority of citizens at a special election called for that purpose. It is just as well that no attempt is made to call such an election here for surely Ord neither wants nor needs sale of liquor by the drink.

For many years Ord was considered a dry town, probably because the prohibition law was enforced so well here while it was in effect. True, this city voted wet by a small margin at the general election last year but that is no indication voters would approve open sale by the drink. At that time people merely were voting on the liquor question itself on a definite pledge in the democratic platform that the saloon would not be permitted to return. The fact that this pledge was violated and saloons will soon be open in some Nebraska communities should not be a point at issue now, for any city that does not desire saloons has the privilege and the power of keeping them out.

It should be understood that Ord has no alternative so far as liquor stores selling by the package is concerned. Probably two such stores will be dispensing hard beverages to the thirsty in the near future. Such stores appear to be a necessary evil, allowing those who want to drink to buy in original packages and drink in the privacy of their own homes. Beer bars will continue to operate, thereby giving an opportunity to those who want to guzzle in public. Surely the need will be filled without an open saloon.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

Book Review.

The claim by Mr. Whiting at Springdale that his log house in which he lives was 75 years old and an old postoffice and stage station has caused no end of discussion by folks down the North Loup way where the lore of early times is a by-word and study of quite a number.

Art Babcock refuted the idea that there was a house there prior to 1872, the year he along with his father, Rev. Babcock, landed. He said if there had been any semblance of a log house in the valley at that date, it would have been widely heralded, he would have surely remembered it, even if his memory of old time events is a little rusty. Mrs. E. J. Babcock, who is probably one of the best studied persons in the Valley on early history also doubted the credence of it.

Chas. Rood, who is one of the oldest timers, one of the three who came ahead to spy out settlements for the S. D. Baptists, with hands thrown up says there was no house there 75 years ago, and no stage station and no need for one.

A result of the conflag, Art Babcock told me to go to Scotia and interview G. M. McNulty. "He will put you straight. He has made a business of old times and can tell you in a minute." So to Scotia I journeyed, principally to satisfy my own curiosity and secondly to stop all arguments.

"That house is exactly 62 years old," Mr. McNulty told me shortly. "Built in 1872 by Dr. Harter. He later sold out and went to Ord and later built the brick building on the southeast corner of the square."

"Did he have a postoffice?" "Yes he did. He kept the mail in a cigar box. He also had a little store there. And I remember another thing. His cat slept in the ginger snaps. I recall Dr. Harter laughing about it and when I was going to buy some snaps he had to boost the cat out first. Doc was a good natured fellow always joshing."

"Was there a stage up the valley and where did it go?" "Yes there was a stage, but it was only a spring wagon, two-wheeler and came up at first once a week and later was a tri-weekly. It carried mail from Grand Island to St. Paul, North Loup, Springdale and then on to Willow Springs. North Loup was the first town in the valley. Ord was not worth mentioning then. I suppose you never heard any of these old things much."

"Don't fool yourself," I replied a little boastful, "I was raised on these old time stories. My mother came to this country before you did."

"She did!" raising his head from his cane. "I came in '73. Who was your mother?"

"She was Myra Babcock. Did you know her?"

"Myra Babcock! I'll say I knew her. She was just a little tot the first time I saw her. Art was a half grown kid, and Ed a little older. And George a baby. And no mother. So you are her son?" "And Elder Oscar Babcock, my grandfather. You knew him?" "Just to keep him talking."

"Know him! Boy, he married me! I guess I knew him. He was the only minister in the valley for a long time. He would go miles to marry a couple and do it for nothing, too."

"Thanks," I said. "I was just trying to get that log house straightened out. Mr. Whiting says there are a couple graves on the side hill of a man by the name of Mallory and his old maid sister. How about that?"

"I don't remember about the two but there near Sumter are eight graves that I know of."

"Thanks," I told him again. "You're welcome. If I can tell you anything else, I will be glad to. I am writing my life's history and hope in a year or so to have it published. That will tell it all and you can read it after I am dead and gone. Good-bye."

County Fair.

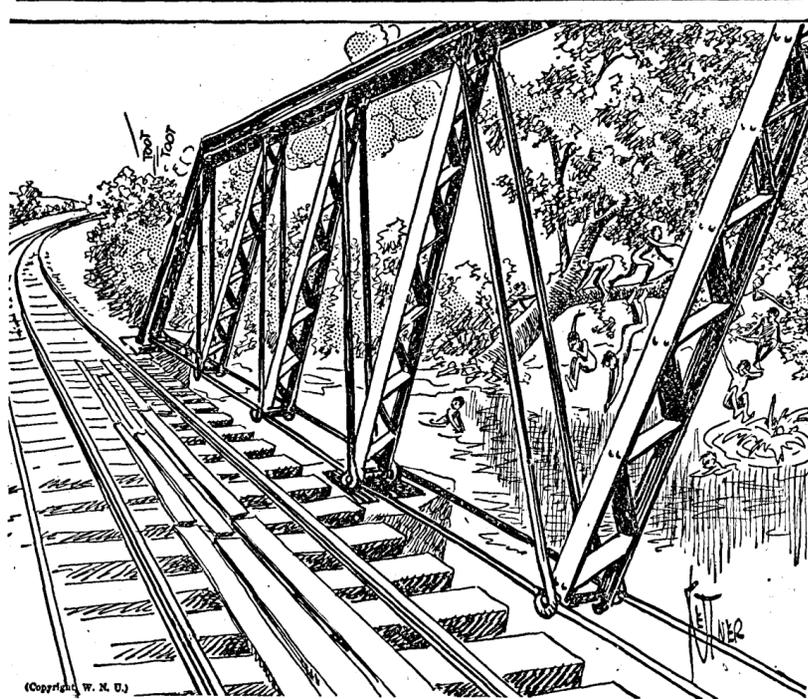

Mr. Leggett wanted me, as I trotted around the country, to ask the people what they thought about having the county fair. I shall admit I was a little lax and did not ask everyone I met as I intended to. Nevertheless I did ask some.

A few were enthusiastic about it but those were in the minority. Most people just didn't care. One or two said that the Ord people want it, but did not reply whether he wanted it or not. One or two said they might go a day or two if they got a crop. One thought it is just one more place to spend the money we have not got.

All seemed to worry the most about what the fair would cost. Most people are about to distraction anyway to find enough dollars to meet the necessities. And some of the folks would just smile and say nothing. I could not quite figure that out. To smile and say nothing.

Speaking from my own experience in serving on the Popcorn Days committee and working with the celebration, I will say we never could work up much enthusiasm until just a few days before the final date. It was almost useless to approach the subject two months ahead of time. The last two weeks, fervor would begin to show up and talk would be heard that Popcorn Days were only two weeks off. Things would begin to happen and usually the days would go off in good shape. Floats and exhibits are usually arranged and made in the last two days before or the morning of the first day. There is one thing that everyone agreed would make the fair a complete success, and draw a tremendous crowd. That would be for the fair board to guarantee someone to get killed.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Jack Pine Lodge Near Nisswa, Minn., June 13

Dear Quiz: There is really not much to write about here as yet. We are the only ones in camp now. MacKowsky's from Des Moines were here when we came but left for home yesterday morning. Some of their family will be up soon. Ray Luther is busy repainting Judge Clements' boats today and getting the Clements' place ready for them when they arrive about the 20th. Clarence Luther is cleaning up the Augustine place and says that Mr. Augustine plans on building a porch. As for the Leggetts, they are spending some of their leisure time building a rock garden in a hole on the front of their lot. I am guessing that when the fishing season opens practically all the cottages will be occupied.

The weather here is as nice, now, as anyone could ask for. It is warm and most of the time sunny and the water in the lake is warming up. I have been in several times but to tell the truth it is just a bit too cool to make it real enjoyable. The girls go in every day. I skipped yesterday but will go in again today and won't have to squeal as much as the girls do either.

We went to the upper lake last evening and caught a mess of wall-eyed pike but they are not biting very good yet. There have been several catches made on Gull Lake but the fish were small, mostly under two pounds. The size we caught last evening were just about two pounds each. We could catch the limit of bass, crappies and bluegills but we are not allowed to fish for them. Northern pike don't seem to be striking. We caught a couple last night but later they will be a pest when we are fishing for other fish. We tried for bullheads but didn't have any luck.

Jim Luther discovered a big mother dogfish with a brood of young in the bay near their cottage this morning and is out with spear and dip net trying to eliminate the nuisances from the lake. He said a little while ago that while he had not been able to get the old fish, he had dipped hundreds of the young and would feed them to the ducks and chickens. Years ago John Keown and I found just such a brood over on what is now called McDowell's point but we always call it Dogfish point. The old mother fish will swim among the rushes in the shallow water and her swarm of small minnows, apparently thousands of them will be gathered all around her and it looked, when we saw them, like a bucket of black ink had been spilled in the water.

It seems to me there have never been so many birds as there are here in our trees this spring. Perhaps it is because we came earlier than usual. They wake us with their singing at the first streak of dawn and keep it up all day and there are a dozen or more nests of various kinds in the trees about the cottage. There are swallows, wrens, numerous kinds of warblers, king birds, a nest of catbirds, blackbirds, robins, bluebirds and the most beautiful of all, the scarlet tanager. The little girls got greatly excited because there was a little kitten out in the yard and were hunting all over for it. They didn't know anything about the catbird, but that was what their kitty proved to be.

Well, Flora is ready to go to town after the mail and to mail my letters and as there is not much to write anyhow, I will quit for this time. Perhaps by next week there will be more to write about.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week.

A gasoline tank at the rear of Harry Bartley's establishment blew up and Harry suffered severe burns, as he was standing on the tank and peering into it when the explosion occurred. A lighted cigar in his mouth caused the explosion.

A federal game warden dropped into Ord and arrested about ten men for fishing without licenses. Other fishermen rushed the county clerk seeking licenses and 59 were sold in a single day.

Ord's graduates from University of Nebraska included Russell Mann, Oscar Travis, Harriet Turner and Leta Turner. A bad hailstorm visited the county and in Michigan township damage was reported about one-third of the crops, while in the big bend north of Ord total damage was reported.

L. D. Milliken was chosen president and R. L. Dunham secretary of the Ord Commercial club.

25 Years Ago This Week. Cupid again invaded Springdale, which resulted in the marriage of Miss Rachel Haught to Mott Rathburn.

A new Linotype Junior was being installed in the Journal office, first such machine to be brought to Ord. The Quiz publisher commented that he would watch to see if it worked before buying one and if it did would buy a larger model.

Rev. Umpleby, who was a breeder of fine chickens, shipped four of them east and received $47.50 for them.

Crawford Mortensen finished his school work at Fairbault, Minn., and was planning to matriculate at either Harvard or Yale late in the summer.

Cosa Dell Haskell returned from her year's work in Boston Medical college. Out of five women entered she was the only one to complete the year successfully.

J. J. Cox traded off his livery barn and moved his family to Vernon, Kas.

Grover Long, who received his sheepskin from the Nebraska Law college, was home for a visit and planned to hang out his shingle soon either at Columbus or Lincoln.

Something DIFFERENT

Pete Jensen has the cunningest bridge over the pool in his front yard, on the old route taken by the highway as it left Ord for North Loup. On the bridge is a turtle, a real one.

Curious why he stayed there, the reason shows up on close inspection. He wears a chain, a necklace.

Not the least of the attraction is one of those small painted figures, of wood. Mrs. Hattie Shepard formerly occupied this house. Many Ord yards now are graced with these bright bits of color.

Mrs. Olof Olsson has in the back yard of the former A. J. Ferguson home, a black nigger man with white whiskers, bald head, who is fishing in her lily pool.

Someone sends in, signing it contributor, words eulogizing a Valley county lady, Miss Groat, a sister of Mrs. L. G. Payzant of Sumter neighborhood. In rural correspondence it was recently related how Miss Groat had a real battle to corral a brood of 17 ducklings.

Says the admirer of Miss Groat. "For many years she lived with her parents in Broken Bow where they ran a furniture store, she helping him manage the business. From there they went to Colorado and farmed quite extensively, where again she was chief manager not only of the farm but also of considerable stock that had to be tended. After a few years her father's health failed, so with an aged mother, they went to Arizona but to her sorrow it was no use. She came back to Lincoln with his body and buried him there beside a brother and son of Mr. Groat."

"Then Miss Groat came with her mother to the home of a sister, Mrs. L. G. Payzant, leaving the mother there while she taught until failing health forced her to quit. After a sojourn at St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island, during which she underwent two serious operations, Miss Groat was at last able to resume her teaching, a career for which she was well equipped in youth. Miss Groat graduated from the University of Nebraska with high honors, a life certificate to teach.

"Saving her salary enabled Miss Groat to buy several farms, also to enjoy sight seeing in far parts of our country. She has made her life a useful, worthwhile one, doing her best at anything that needed her attention. Her life is an example to others and should be an inspiration to those who know her, especially young people."

Reading the headlines is great sport. They are fascinating, often more so than if one takes time to read the stories that follow. A recent spasm of search for the best in one paper found: "Man Steals Locomotive" (But I must add that in the story the attorney after much thought decided the proper charge to file in such a case was Grand Larceny!)

"Mrs. E. R. Burke's mother, 77, files to Omaha to enter 'Golf Meet'."

"Thirteen Chins Too Many." "Mothers Operate Jitneys." "Mother Will Get Quits, Doctor Says."

"Not So Proud." "Cost of Recording Long's Filled Placed at $4650."

Frank Dworak, Jr., walked with his youngest daughter, a chubby, curly haired trifle, one evening recently. They encountered Kerry Leggett. Said Frank's youngest, pointing at our Kerry, the 19 months old Leggett, "Daddy, buy me one like that!"

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

When a recipe becomes popular, it is often served and often encountered when others serve. Here is a cake recipe that is having a siege of such popularity.

Banana Cake.
Combine one and one-half cups sugar, three egg yolks, one cup sour cream, two cups flour, one cup mashed bananas, one teaspoon soda, a pinch of salt. Lastly add three stiffly beaten egg whites, and vanilla to taste. Bake in two layers or a large loaf pan. Ice with seven minute icing.

Raised Bread Dough Cake.
Cream together one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, add one egg, put one teaspoon soda in one cup sour milk and beat all together. Stir together one cup flour, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon nutmeg, one-half teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon cloves and add one-half cup raisins and one-half cup currants, covering the fruit well with flour. Put in one cup raised bread sponge. Bake at once, either loaf or layer. Chopped nuts may be used, or less spices, if desired.

Donator Unknown.
Graham Bread.
Stir together three heaping teaspoons baking powder, three cups graham or whole wheat flour, one cup white flour. Then add one large teaspoon salt, one-half cup sugar, and one egg if desired. Mix thoroughly with milk or water into a stiff batter as can be stirred with a spoon. If water is used, a lump of butter as large as a walnut may be melted and stirred in. Bake immediately in a well greased pan. Name Unknown.

Ice Box Cookies.
Mix two cups brown sugar, two cups white sugar, one and one-half cups lard, one-half cup butter, four beaten eggs, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon flavoring, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup chopped nuts, about seven cups flour. Form into rolls and set in a cool place overnight. In the morning slice off as cookies and bake fifteen minutes.

If spice cookies are desired, add three-fourths teaspoon mixed spices instead of nuts. For chocolate cookies add four tablespoons cocoa for each cup of flour. This makes 180 cookies.

Tomato Relish.
Scald and skin fifteen large tomatoes, pare and core six large sour apples. Peel five medium onions, put five green peppers thru the food chopper and place all in a large kettle with two level teaspoons salt, one level teaspoon black pepper, four level teaspoons red pepper, one pint of vinegar. Bring to a boil and boil slowly for one and one-half hours. Seal. This is not only good with meats but it is fine in sandwiches or in vegetable salad.

Mrs. Louise Nichols, Loup City This column needs recipes very badly. Do you have some you are proud of? Will you take time to copy them down and mail them in, please? Many other cooks will be grateful to you. Hot weather recipes will be especially welcome now.

Paroles and Ransom
Vincent Astor's Hotel
Mussolini Is So Blunt
The Brain Bath

Waley, the Weyerhaeuser kidnaper, caught after he sent his wife, like a true gangster coward, to change ransom bills for him, has this record:

He had been arrested six times, beginning at eighteen, and sentenced to terms in prison that would have kept him in prison for 75 years if parole boards had allowed it.

He was repeatedly released until at last, thoroughly trained in crime and convinced, probably, as he might well be, that American justice is a mere joke, he went to Tacoma and planned there the "snatch," as criminals call it, of the Weyerhaeuser child.

Highway patrolmen in the western states did admirable work cooperating with the "G-men." The western highway patrolmen are real policemen.

Mr. Vincent Astor of New York has bought in and will operate the St. Regis hotel on Fifth avenue, built originally with Astor money, now repurchased for $5,000,000.

An Astor running a hotel is nothing new. You need not be very, very old to remember the gray granite "Astor House," a block long, opposite the City Hall on lower Broadway, where they had roast beef such as you find nowhere now.

Before prosperous Americans learned to be really "aristocratic" with yachts, race horses and divorces, they thought owning a hotel and putting your name on it was almost aristocratic. The Astor House and the Brevoort House in New York, and the Palmer House in Chicago, the Coates House in Kansas City, a thousand others prove it.

Mussolini annoys England; he talks so plainly—no diplomatic beating about the bush. Bluntly he says to old Britannia: "When you were building up your empire, killing off the Boers to grab South Africa, taking India from the pot-bellied rajahs, gathering in everything that was not tied down, you did not care tuppence what the world thought about you. Now it is my turn to gather in territory, maybe Ethiopia, and I care less than half of tuppence what you think about it. So mind your own business, please."

Important to the human race is news of the "brain bath," which, according to physicians gathered at a convention of the American and Canadian medical associations, literally "washes the brain," freeing it from the poison of diseases such as infantile paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sleeping sickness and some kinds of spinal meningitis.

A solution of salt and water is injected into the vein at the ankle. After it has gone through the circulation and washed out the brain, it is withdrawn with its collected poisons through a needle inserted in the lower end of the spine.

Newsdom, written for newspaper men, says it has questioned all editors and publishers that amount to anything, and finds them "overwhelmingly certain that radical movements are of no serious trend."

The discovery will comfort many, but it is well to be cautious. There is always a possibility of underestimating what looks like "radicalism of no importance."

China, because she cannot do otherwise, yields in full to Japan's demands. This is the news from Tientsin, and it happens because the 400,000,000 Chinese are not prepared for war, whereas the 60,000,000 Japanese are prepared.

"Yielding" probably will not save China from another heavy loss of territory. It is predicted that the young Chinese emperor, Japan's figurehead in Manchukuo, will be moved over and back to the old imperial palace, there to sit again as the Japanese imperial dummy.

"What's in a name?" Some young Republicans want the old Republican party to change its name from "Republican party" to "Constitutional party." Long ago, when the New York Herald, since dead, reduced its price, the late Joseph Pulitzer wrote in a short editorial: "The trouble is not with your price, it is with your newspaper. Change that."

The trouble with the Republican party is not with its name.

Mearl C. Smith, Minister.

Christian Science Services.
"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, June 23.
The Golden Text is from Revelation 4:11: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."
A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from John 1:1, 3: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was God. . . . All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made."
A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity. This divine Principle of all expresses Science and art throughout His creation, and the immortality of man and the universe. Creation is ever appearing, and must ever continue to appear from the nature of its inexhaustible source." (page 507).

United Brethren.
God wonderfully blest in the revival meetings which closed last Sunday evening in a union meeting at the Christian church in which Evangelist Sanford was in charge. A unanimous call was given Rev. Mr. Sanford at the morning service to return next year. Mr. Sanford is different than the usual evangelist, and all who came in contact with him saw the beauty of Jesus in his life. A farewell meeting was held in the United Brethren church after the union service in which practically every one took part in a "Say So" service. We wish to thank every minister of the city and all churches who offered their buildings for our use. Our only regret is that more people did not share in the blessings which were their privilege to enjoy.
Those attending camp conference at York are Mrs. Ralph Hatfield, Mrs. Archie Waterman, Ivan and Roland Anderson, Archie and Gerald Hatfield, Alice McCloughlin, and Elda Long. The pastor accompanied the group. A report of the conference will be given next Sunday morning.

Plumage of Eagles
The "bald" eagle owes its misnomer to the white feathers of its head, as does the "golden" eagle to the golden-brown sheen of the plumage at the back of its head. The latter is the nobler bird of the two, and was the honored "war eagle" of the Plains Indians, and held a sacred significance in many other tribes.

Senate Extends Skeletonized NRA Despite Long's Extraordinary Filibuster—Grass Roots Meet Offers a Creed for the Republicans.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Western Newspaper Union

SENATOR HUEY LONG, the Louisiana Kingfish, made a tremendous effort to keep the senate from adopting the resolution extending the skeletonized NRA until next April, but failed. Advocating an amendment offered by Senator Gore, which would have required senate confirmation of all executive officials drawing more than $4,000 a year, thus disrupting the patronage machine, Huey started on a filibuster. For nearly 16 hours, with occasional help from Senators Schall and McCarren, he kept the upper house in session, pouring forth a continuous stream of discourse that ranged from the necessity of preserving the Constitution down to recipes for fried oysters and pot-likker. He attacked the President and the administration generally, called the NRA "the national racketeers' association," told stories about his uncle, read from the Bible and Victor Hugo, stalked about the chamber waving his arms and croaking as his voice weakened, and now and then took a bite of cheese and a sup of cold coffee. All in all, Huey put on a show that kept not only the senators but a big crowd of visitors up all night. He was continually heckled by his angry fellow senators but always had a smashing retort.

At last the senate broke down the filibuster, rejected the Gore amendment and passed the extension resolution by a vote of 41 to 13. One change, to tighten up the antitrust laws, suggested by Borah, was made, so the resolution was sent back to the house for concurrence. In its final form it continues the recovery administration without codes but with authority for voluntary agreements among business men dealing only with collective bargaining, minimum wages, maximum hours, abolition of child labor and prohibition of trade practices outlawed by statute.

The house had previously adopted the resolution by a vote of 201 to 121, only a few Democrats standing with the Republicans against it.

PLANS for spending the $4,000,000 work-relief fund are coming to the fore rapidly and numerous. Representative Mitchell (Dem., Tenn.) has introduced a bill requiring the President to use $1,000,000,000 to help the durable goods industries. By its terms factories supplying machinery and materials would be reimbursed for losses directly attributable to hiring new men. Mr. Mitchell thinks his plan would aid in the production of $80,000,000,000 worth of durable goods needed by private industry.

The War department filed a request for $17,071,388 to finance the construction of 36 army bases in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California and Kansas. The Labor department asked for $400,000 for research designed to aid the United States employment service in selecting and placing workers on relief jobs and in private industry. The department said it would use this money to carry on studies in Chicago, Baltimore, Newark and 11 other cities not yet selected.

TAXES totaling $475,000,000 would go out of existence before July 31 if not extended, so a resolution continuing them two years was being hurried through the house in accord with the wish of the President. Among them are the 3-cent postage and the 1-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline charge. A second resolution was being prepared to plug loopholes in existing tax laws and to adjust present rates found to be unconscionable or unproductive.

THE American Federation of Labor more than any other group except the old brain trust bemoans the death of NRA, and its attorneys are busy drafting a bill designed to take its place in a measure. This measure proposes to put under federal license all concerns engaged in interstate commerce or handling goods destined for such commerce. Those companies would be exempted from the operations of the antitrust laws but would be required to agree to hours of labor and working conditions determined by a federal commission.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. BORAH may not be a receptive candidate for the Presidential nomination next year, but anyhow his friends in Idaho have grabbed his hat and thrown it into the ring. They are organizing "Borah-for-President" clubs all over the state. Ralph Brashears of Boise, one of the leaders, says Mr. Borah is the man to "emancipate our people from the vice-like grip of a vast bureaucratic form of government which is destroying individual initiative and regimenting the American people."

THOUSANDS of Republicans from ten states of the Middle West gathered in Springfield, Ill., for the "grass roots" conference and, in the shadow of the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, who saved the Union, solemnly determined to save the "indestructible states" from what they consider an assault on their constitutional rights. The gathering was considered so important that it attracted political observers from all over the country. Most of the delegates were young men eager for the battle, but with them were many white-haired leaders of former frays whose enthusiasm and patriotism have survived the years.

After a pilgrimage to the New Salem State park where the scenes of Lincoln's youth have been reconstructed, the delegates assembled in the fair grounds Coliseum and were welcomed by George W. Bunn of Springfield, general chairman of the local committee. Harrison E. Spangler of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was installed as temporary chairman and made a speech in which President Roosevelt was pilloried for all manner of political and governmental sins, from killing six million pigs and breaking campaign pledges to violating the Constitution and attempting to set up a dictatorship.

Mr. Spangler then introduced the orator of the day, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois and former aspirant for the Republican Presidential nomination. Mr. Lowden, breaking a political silence of seven years, vigorously denounced President Roosevelt's proposal to change the Constitution to fit the New Deal and argued at length for maintenance of the bill of rights unimpaired.

IN THE "platform" adopted by the grass roots conference these governmental policies were advocated:

1. The immediate adoption of a policy of economy and thrift in government with due allowance for essential relief expenditures as opposed to the present spending policy of waste and extravagance.
 2. The prompt attainment of a balanced budget, not by the misleading method of double bookkeeping, but by the honest method of bringing the expenses of the government within the limits of its income.
 3. A sound currency based on gold and definitely stabilized by congress so that individual enterprise may have confidence in the future value of the dollar, in terms of which every man's plans for his present or future must necessarily be made.
 4. The immediate withdrawal of government from competition with private industry.
 5. The maintenance of the vitality and free growth of American industry through the preservation of the competitive system protected against monopoly by the vigorous enforcement of anti-trust laws, so that small businesses may be preserved and the door of equal opportunity kept open to all.
 6. The rigid enforcement of all laws, civil and criminal, to prevent and punish dishonest or unfair practices in business, industry, and finance.
 7. National recognition of the needs of agriculture. Agriculture is a fundamental industry of the United States.
 8. Work for the workers. With men out of work, as now, the capital structure of the nation is not only being impaired but undermined.
 9. The breaking down of arbitrary restrictions that throttle world commerce, such as quotas and exchange restrictions.
 10. Continued protection to farm and home ownership, and continued provision, in co-operation with state and local governments, for those that are in need until private enterprise absorbs the present army of the unemployed.
- Senator Robinson, majority leader of the senate, speaking before the Arkansas Pharmaceutical association, said of this:
- "The only constructive suggestion made in addition to those which are embraced in the Roosevelt administration policies is the often repeated demand for the balancing of the budget. The budget cannot be immediately balanced unless the various forms of relief now being carried on be abandoned. This cannot be done just now without danger to millions of our people who have yet been unable to obtain employment."

JAPAN is moving swiftly to obtain the control over north China which evidently is her main objective at present. New demands were presented to the Chinese government at Nanking, and when some of these were declared unacceptable the Japanese troops and officials began moving into Peiping and Tientsin and all the area between the Great Wall and the Yellow river. The Chinese officials, being helpless, moved out and the branches of the Kuomintang or People's party were closed. The central council in Nanking, though accepting some of the Japanese demands, could see nothing but trouble ahead and instructed Gen. Ho Ying-ching, the war minister, to prepare for eventualities.

WARFARE between Paraguay and Bolivia in the Gran Chaco, which has been going on for three years, came to an end after representatives of the two nations signed an armistice agreement in Buenos Aires. The truce was the result of conferences between representatives of Paraguay, Bolivia and six neutral nations—the United States, Brazil, Argentina, Peru, Chile and Uruguay. An attempt will now be made to settle the disputes by direct negotiations. If these fail the World court at The Hague will be called on to render judgment. The war in the jungle has cost about 100,000 lives.

THE British government, it is believed, has accepted in principle the German demand for restoration of the German navy up to 35 per cent of the British strength. This is exceedingly irritating to France, and Premier Laval is likely to send a note to all signatories to the Washington treaty protesting against the revision of the multilateral treaties by bilateral agreements, and proposing a new naval conference, including Germany this time, to revise the Washington and London ratios all around.

REINSBORF, a German town 52 miles southwest of Berlin, was virtually destroyed by the blowing up of a great munitions plant and the ensuing fires. Because of rigid censorship it was impossible to learn the number of casualties. Nazi officials admitted there were 52 dead, 79 injured seriously and 300 slightly hurt.

GREAT BRITAIN'S attitude toward the crisis in east Africa has enraged all of Fascist Italy and the attacks on England in the Italian press became so bitter that Mussolini had to order that they be toned down a little, though it was denied in Rome that the British had made any diplomatic protest. It Duca, however, continues his outspoken denunciation of the British course. In a speech at Cagliari, the capital of Sardinia, he defied his European critics who have requested him to deal less harshly with the Ethiopians, and attacked the British without going to the trouble of hiding his words behind diplomatic formulas.

"We will imitate to the letter those who taught us this lesson," he said, referring to British colonizing methods which his press has been "exposing." "They have demonstrated that when they were creating an empire and defending it they never took into consideration world opinion."

"We have got old, and we have got new accounts to settle with Ethiopia, and we will settle them. We will pay no attention to what is said in foreign countries. We exclusively are the judges of our own interests and the guarantors of our future."

Actually, Mussolini's plans for war with Ethiopia are not very popular in Italy, but British interference is increasing his support daily. The reconstructed British cabinet is much worried over the situation and believes the war cannot now be stopped.

WASHINGTON swarmed with Shriners for a week, and they enjoyed themselves in their characteristic ways. Leonard P. Steuart of that city was advanced automatically to the position of imperial potentate, and A. G. Arvold of Fargo, N. D., was given the coveted outer guard office, first step toward the top. The conclave of 1935 will be held in Seattle, opening July 14.

MAX BAER lost the heavyweight championship of the world, being defeated by James J. Braddock at Long Island City in a 15-round battle. There were no knockdowns and neither man was badly punished, but the referee and judges unanimously decided that Braddock was the winner on points. Baer's chances were injured by a number of unintentional fouls.

TWO of the kidnapers of young George Weyerhaeuser of Tacoma—Harmon M. Waley and his wife Margaret—were arrested in Salt Lake City, where the woman was passing $20 bills that were part of the ransom money. A third member of the gang, William Mahan, an ex-convict, was being hunted in the vicinity of Butte, Mont., in which he was forced to abandon a stolen automobile that contained $15,000 of the sum paid for release of the boy. Waley and his wife, heavily ironed, were subjected to a grueling examination by government agents and confessed their part in the crime.

A Matter of Color

By HAL G. VERMES
McClure Newspaper Syndicate
WNU Service.

I HEARD of all kinds of figure men in my day, but nobody like Roaring Reggie. There was the dizzy dame at Belmont who looked over the nags in the stables and then cracked down her cherries on the bangtail with the dressiest mane. And, of course, there's plenty of bets on the hide carrying the best looking rider.

But this story is about Roaring Reggie and the system he worked out that would have worked all the time if it would of, by which I mean Reggie would of made him a barrel of cherries if only.

But to begin at the starting gate, there we was at the Whooosh oval, where anything goes. Beezer Bertie, Harry the Pinhead, Mudder McMork and me. We're looking over the field and keeping our hands in our pockets until we see something that will pay plenty.

I am serious thinking what we're going to do to pick up very much more cherries when this Roaring Reggie comes up to us at a canter so happy that it hurts me to look at him. Seems like he's a friend of Mudder McMork's, but that don't mean he's somebody, because McMork knows anybody. Anyway, we listen to his spiel because it don't cost any cherries. And seems like this Reggie boy is a new kind of a dooper. He's got a system which is crazy enough to look good to Mudder McMork, who eats anything up even if it's spinach. After listening, I'm laughing all over, but in 1.35 flat, McMork, who would be dumber if he was dead, sells the system to Harry the Pinhead and Beezer Bertie.

What can't I do then? I can't do nothing because the odds are against me.

Well, what Reggie is roaring about is the positive payoff in a run-around for maidens that is due to go in a matter of minutes. The filly Reggie wants our cherries for is Susan Sevenup, who nobody ever heard of never.

And this is Reggie's system. He piles up all his cherries and plays 'em strictly on the color of the gallopers' coats. He has a fistful of facts and figures, but we ain't got time to digest them.

Bertie, Harry and Mudder is fighting to throw their cherries away on this Susan Sevenup, but I hold down the barrier while I asks this Reggie how can we lose? Which is the question I asks all tipsters, because if we can't lose, then I'm in. So Reggie shows me the dope where in fifty-four races, bays win twenty-six times, chestnuts are on the front end only fifteen times, brown two, and black just one time. Now, what makes it sweet is that in this maiden merry-go-round, the only bay is Susan Seven-up.

"And she has to come in with the dnero," says Roaring Reggie, "because the rest of the maidens are all browns except for one black, which last will fall apart at the first turn."

The only reason I have no stable of my own today is because I am some of the people that Lincoln said you could fool all the time. Roaring Reggie convinced me, because by this time I want to be convinced. Especially when he relates as follows:

"Because this filly is a stranger in the East," he says, "and she has a strong field against her, we can get fifty times over and over our money on her from a bookie what don't know any better than nothing."

While I'm thinking, Beezer, Bertie and Harry the Pinhead, are out promoting some more cherries on the cuff, and when they comes back we've got over a grand in the pool. And I have to admit that my split of fifty grand, even if it goes five ways, will keep the missus in blond hair nets for as long as she'll be a blond.

The post parade is going by then, so I ain't got no more time to think. It don't make no difference, because now Roaring Reggie has got all our cherries, and all we got left is hope. And I don't feel so good because I know that if that's all that's left afterwards, then we got a long walk back to New York. I ain't got to tell about that race all over again because my heart ain't what it used to be. Sufficient to say that the dark horse what nobody knows cops the heat. Roaring Reggie's prize bay follows through, which just don't mean nothing to us because, of course, we put all our berries on her nose for the long odds.

I'm thinking of visiting a cemetery just for the ride when McMork brings the glad news that the winner was a ringer, Tallman S. by name, a brown-coated gelding what was painted black to get him in this exclusive maiden event. So then the purse goes to Susan Sevenup, our filly; and before the fly bookies can leave for parts which is neither here nor there, we is filling our pants with our winnings. Of course Beezer, Bertie, Harry the Pinhead, and Mudder McMork is all for playing the color system from then on, but I kills that d'pey idea when Roaring Reggie reveals to me private that he can't tell a bay from a chestnut because he's been color blind all his life.

The first dog racing track ever built is said to have been at Emeryville, Calif., in 1920.

First Bathroom
The bathroom in the great tower of Rosenberg castle, in Copenhagen, was placed there by Christian IV, who 300 years ago produced the first bathroom along modern lines. He was also the first to introduce speaking tubes between rooms and the castle, which was his summer house.

Scalps on Belt
A scalp belt, with several authentic human scalps, comprises one of the features of the Indian exhibit at the Detroit Historical Society museum. The scalps are those of Seminole Indians and were the trophies of Chief Pashippa-Ho, of the Fox Nation, who died in 1808, at the age of more than one hundred years.

What Other Editors Are Saying

An Ideal Government.
If we were asked to depict an ideal social organization, we would say, offhand, that it would be one under which any able-bodied, intelligent man or woman could find work at wages sufficient to provide for the necessities of life and lay something for old age, and after forty years of work be able to retire on his or her savings. We think that a Government which concentrated on those objectives and on nothing else would come pretty near to being an ideal Government. Its corollary functions might well include provision for the security of the terms and conditions of employment as would at least not impair the worker's chance of living to enjoy the fruits of a life's work, and would protect him on the one hand against unfair competition by the workers of any foreign nation in which a lower standard of living prevails, and on the other hand against exploitation by unprincipled employers. Such an ideal Government would protect every man in his right to keep what he has earned, and as an essential part of that protection would be administered as economically as possible, in order that the burden of taxation might rest as lightly and as equitably as possible upon all its citizens.

This ideal Government would make it its first concern that every child had an opportunity to obtain the best education of which it was capable. In spite of that education, it persisted in making a fool of itself as it grew up, we do not believe that is any Government's concern.

That is not to say that Government should permit the swindler to roam unchecked; it should not tolerate impositions of any kind upon the ignorant and the unwary. But we do not conceive it part of Government's business to recompense the victims for their own foolishness and extravagance.

The ideal Government would neither pamper its criminals nor allow such social conditions to exist as tend to make crimes against the body politic alluring to the young. It would be a Government of few laws, and those restrictive upon individual liberty only as the exercise of that liberty infringes upon the liberties of others. It would be adequately policed and its laws would be rigidly enforced.

We do not expect ever to see such a Government, either in the United States nor anywhere else. We believe that what we have set down represents in large measure what our Government is striving for. We think that there are too many people who want Government to do a great deal more than the simple essentials which we have outlined, and that progress toward economic recovery is being hampered by too many lawyers and uplifters having a finger in the pie.—Exponent, Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

He had lived in Ord since 1919 and his schooling was in the Ord public schools, St. Paul high school, from which he was graduated, and St. Paul business college.

He was married on Feb. 2, 1925 to Miss Nina Milligan and had two children, Charles, now aged 9, and Patricia, aged 6. After finishing his course at St. Paul college Arlos came to Ord and became manager of the Armour cream station for a while, retaining this position until 1926 when he entered the employ of the W. B. Weekes Seed company where he remained nine years. He was office manager for this company for some time before he resigned to become manager of a new local branch of the Omaha Cold Storage company about March 1, 1935.

Was Hard Worker.
Associated with him in this plant was Mr. Nelson, who came here from Ravenna when the plant opened. Young Thompson gave his job the best that was in him and usually could be found at the plant from early in the morning until long after usual quitting time. Friends believe that overwork and worry, combined with ill health, furnished the real reasons for his suicide.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Methodist church, Rev. Mearl C. Smith conducting. A mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Mark Toler, Mrs. E. O. Carlson, Edgar Moyer and E. H. Pelty sang, with Mrs. Kirby McGrew at the piano. Pallbearers were Freeman Haight, Lorens McMindes, Vernon Andersen, Wallace Nelson, George Anderson and Kenneth Draper. Mrs. Robert Noll, Mrs. J. R. Stoltz and Mrs. A. J. Auble had charge of floral offerings, of which there were an unusual number. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

As a boy Arlos Thompson became a member of the Methodist church. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Joint News

Last Monday evening the school meeting was held at the Joint school house. It was voted to have high school for the coming year. John Miller was re-elected moderator.

Miss Helen Holden is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ralph Hansen, this week. Gerald Dye and Russell Jensen played ball with Ord Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Abernethy visited at Bill McMindes' Sunday evening.

Mrs. Frank Polak of Wahoo arrived in Ord Monday to visit for several days with Ord relatives.

County Represented At 4-H Club Week

Ruth Benn and Erwin Dodge represented Valley county at 4-H club week, an annual event held recently at the College of Agriculture, Lincoln. Miss Benn won the C. B. & Q. railroad's club leadership trip, the first time this trip has been won in Valley county by a girl. She also was the youngest leader attending the event. Erwin Dodge, member of a swine club, won the trip offered in each county by the Union Stockyards of Omaha.

Purpose of 4-H club week is to better acquaint club members and leaders with 4-H work and the people who are associated with it. This year 250 attended, many of whom won prize trips and others as club delegates. During the week they were privileged to hear many worth while speakers, enjoy fine music and entertainment and take part in recreational activities.

Twenty-four speeches on character building, nature, 4-H advancement and health were heard, report Miss Benn and Erwin Dodge. Delegates were entertained by four state song groups, enjoyed singing 4-H club songs under the leadership of T. C. Diers, heard the state high school chorus winners and the university instrumental trio and were taken to hear the capitol carillon and organ recital at the First Plymouth church.

Other events included a picnic at Antelope park, a tour of the university's city campus, swimming in the university pool, a visit to the museum, a tour of the agriculture college campus, visits to the Lincoln fire and police departments, and a trip to Omaha to visit packing plants and flour mills. Delegates were guests at banquets given by the Lincoln chamber of commerce, the agriculture college, the Omaha Livestock Exchange and the Omaha chamber of commerce.

Those attending were housed at the college of agriculture under the supervision of state 4-H club leaders. They were escorted about Lincoln in special busses and the trip to Omaha was made on a special train. They were given a police escort while in Omaha.

Valley county's two representatives report a wonderful trip.

Proceedings of the County Board

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.
 Regular meeting of the County Board of Equalization of Valley County, Nebraska, called to order June 11th, 1934, at 10 o'clock A. M. by Chairman Hansen, with supervisors Jablonski, Desmul, Ball, Zikmund, Barber, Johnson and Hansen and County Assessor A. R. Brox, and County Clerk Ign. Klma, Jr. present upon roll call.
 Minutes of last meeting were read and approved.
 The Chairman then appointed the following standing committees to-wit:
 Committee on Equalization: Desmul, Barber, Jablonski and Brox.
 Committee on Complaints: Ball, Zikmund, Johnson.
 Committee on Levies: Barber, Desmul, Ball, Klma.
 County Assessor Brox, then gave a report showing that 3079 personal property (exclusive of automobiles and trailers) assessment schedules representing a total assessed value of $1,439,640.00 for 1935, have been returned, as compared to a 1934 value of $1,915,780, including $121,865.00 value of cars and trucks.
 Class A Intangible value of $304,705.00 as compared to $275,680.00 for 1934. Class B Intangible value of $87,765.00 as compared to $113,980.00 for 1934.
 Real Estate Values of $10,875,760 or about the same as for 1934.
 Upon motion duly carried, foregoing report of County Assessor was accepted.
 The Board as a whole, then took up the matter of reviewing the assessments as returned by the various precinct assessors for the day and at 5 p. m. recessed until June 12, 1935, at 10 a. m. when again called to order by Chairman with all members of Board present. The matter of reviewing and examining assessments was resumed and complaints heard and investigated during the day until 5 p. m. when board recessed until June 13, 1935, at 10 a. m.
 June 13, 1935, at 10 a. m. meeting called to order by Chairman with all members of Board present upon roll call.
 Moved and seconded that inasmuch as Board has sat for three days for the purpose of hearing and considering complaints and objections in all matters of assessment and equalization, that all complaints and/or objections not on file at 5 p. m. be barred. Motion carried.
 Committee on equalization for 1935, wish to submit the following recommendations:
 1. We recommend that the real estate described as Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, in Block 3, of Original Ord, be assessed for the year 1935, as follows: Lots $1,915. Improvements $2,230.00.
 2. We recommend that the real estate described as Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 in Block 4, of original Ord be assessed for the year 1935, as follows: Lots $1,815. Improvements $2,170.
 3. We recommend that schedule No. 250 of the 1935 personal assessments in the first ward of Ord city be raised by $1,000.00.
 4. We recommend that schedule No. 161 of the 1935 personal assessments in first ward of Ord City be raised $1,200.00.
 5. We recommend that schedule No. 92 of the 1935 personal assessment in second ward of Ord city be lowered $500.00.
 6. We recommend that inasmuch as House roll No. 90 of the 1935 session of the Nebraska Legislature has been passed with the emergency clause and has now become a law that this Board approve all automobile assessments for the year 1935, when same have been assessed in accordance with the guide used thereon which was duly approved by the automobile committee of the County Assessor's association for the year 1935.
 7. We recommend that owing to the added cost of administration of this House Roll No. 90 that a minimum assessment of $25 be established on any car or truck of an age or model older than listed in the above mentioned guide, and that a minimum of $15 be established on all trailers for the year 1935.
 8. We recommend that schedule No. 92 of the 1935 personal assessments in Ord City first ward be raised $6,000.00.
 9. We recommend that schedule No. 139 of the 1935 personal assessments in first ward of Ord City be raised $300.00.
 10. We recommend that schedule No. 272 of the 1935 personal assessments in the first ward of Ord City be raised $500.00.
 11. We believe that all other schedules of the 1935 personal assessments represent a fair and equitable value for taxation purposes to the best of our knowledge, except as changed upon proper notice given to persons assessed, and that all assessments as returned be formally approved by this Board.
 Signed
 Henry Desmul,
 Joe J. Jablonski,
 J. A. Barber,
 A. R. Brox.

 Supervisor Johnson offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:
RESOLUTION.
 Be It Resolved by the Chairman and Board of County Supervisors of the County of Valley, in the State of Nebraska.
 Section 1. That the Board of County Supervisors of the County of Valley find and determine That Refunding Bonds in the principal amount of Fifty-one Thousand Dollars ($51,000.00) dated September 1, 1931, due serially. Optional any interest payment date, being bonds numbered 17 to 67, inclusive in the denomination of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, bearing interest at the rate of Three and three-quarters per centum (3 3/4%) per annum, of the County of Valley, Nebraska, are outstanding and unpaid and are the valid and interest bearing obligations of said County; that no sinking fund exists and the County has no funds to take up any of these bonds; that since the issue of said bonds the rate of interest has so declined in the markets that by taking up and paying off such bonds by the issuance of bonds as hereinafter provided, a substantial saving in the amount of yearly running interest will be made to the County; that notice that the County seeks to take up and pay off said bonds by means of issuing negotiable refunding bonds of the County in the sum of Fifty-one Thousand Dollars ($51,000.00) bearing interest at the rate of Three per centum (3%) per annum, payable semi-annually, as provided in the resolution heretofore passed by the Board of County Supervisors, was duly published as required by statute for two weeks in The Ord Quiz and The Arcadian, legal newspapers printed and of general circulation in the County of Valley, and due proof of said publication has been made by the affidavit of the publishers of said newspapers filed with the County Clerk; and that said notice was duly posted up on the door of the Court House of the County of Valley, Nebraska, in which the Board of County Supervisors hold their stated meetings, for more than two weeks prior to the date fixed in said notice on which any taxpayer of said County might file objections to said action and no objection has been filed as to the amount of said bonds, or against the validity of said bonds; and the date set by said notice on which any taxpayer might file objections to such bonds has expired; that three per centum (3%) per annum is the lowest rate of interest at which said Refunding Bonds can be disposed of at par.
 Section 2. There shall be and there are hereby ordered issued negotiable bonds of the County of Valley in the principal amount of Fifty-one Thousand Dollars ($51,000.00) to be known as "Refunding Bonds, which shall consist of fifty-one bonds of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) each, numbered from one to fifty-one (1-51) both numbers inclusive, bearing interest at the rate of Three per centum (3%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of March and September of each year, the principal of said bonds to become due and payable as follows:

Creating A Distinctive Newspaper

"Rather a large office force for a newspaper in a city the size of Ord, isn't it?" asked an out-of-town visitor to the Quiz office on the day this photograph was being taken.

Yes, it is rather large for the ordinary newspaper but not too large for a distinctive newspaper like the Quiz is trying to publish each week. Each member of the Quiz force is a skillful, trained workman in his line and the combined efforts of all these people produce each week a newspaper that 2,450 families subscribe for and enjoy reading.

As a matter of fact, the people pictured above are only a fraction of the number who contribute each week to the Quiz. These are only the office workers, the people who assemble the news, cast it into type and print it for you each week. Not pictured are such contributing editors as George Gowen, the "roving reporter"; special representatives at North Loup, Arcadia and Elyria; dozens of country correspondents; J. A. Kovanda, who writes "The Back Forty"; and nationally-famous writers and cartoonists like Arthur Brisbane, Gene Byrnes and the others whose syndicated material adds to the interest of every Quiz issue.

In attempting to create a distinctive newspaper the Quiz has spared no efforts—we are constantly trying out new methods of improvement, new ideas for better service.

To improve our ability to serve Advertisers, Subscribers and Job Printing customers we have recently installed an

ENGRAVING PLANT

In installing a photo-engraving plant recently to enable us to print local pictures in each issue the Quiz took a long step forward, being the only weekly newspaper in Nebraska and one of the few in the United States to offer such service. "Picturing the news" is the latest development in the industry and, as usual, the Quiz is in the forefront.

W. A. Anderson Harbored Fugitive From Federal Justice In Early Days; All a Mistake, Government Admitted Later

Noble Twp. Settler Accused Of Stealing Harness from Old Fort Robinson.

The writer and his neighbor, Mr. B. came into Valley county from the east side and were not at Ord for a month or more after we settled on our claims. I well recall the first view of that part of where the town of Horace now is with some friends. One day early in March, 1879, we decided to drive up and look over the country and with some friends we drove up and at noon camped on what later I filed on as a homestead.

Writer As He Looked 50 Years Ago--And Now

W. A. Anderson was one of the real early settlers of Valley county, coming here in the '70's. He has lived here ever since. The picture to the left was taken when he was a young man, the one to the right about five years ago. Still in excellent health, this Ord man works in his garden and can be seen on the streets of Ord every day in spite of the fact that he is 89 years old.

The next day with an old time friend we came back and located the land as being in Valley county and Sec. 22, Town, 20, Range 13.

Water First Necessity.
Of course the first thing in order was water, if we were to locate on the land, and a few days later we drove up and began work on it.

As I have written a previous article on experiences on the homestead I will only touch lightly on that subject. At the time I located we were not aware of any neighbors in the township as looking west was only a lot of rolling, very black rough hills and looked impossible to drive over them. After working a week at the well and finding no water we decided to move our whole outfit on to the land and north drive the 10 miles back and forth every day. So we moved onto the land and settled and our real trouble began.

One day late in March we decided to go to Ord and file our claims, which we now knew the numbers of. We started south and finally came out at what was then Springdale P. O. where Mr. R. W. Bancroft lived and was postmaster. When we reached Ord and made inquiries we found we were not the first settlers in Noble township but we had neighbors west of us. I think Geo. Burwell was the original settler in the township but it may have been Jasper Arnold, both being located in Section 30.

We found a German family was located on the west side of Section 20 and as we were on the east side of Sec. 22 it was about 3 1/2 miles and no road. Finally we found a way to get across west to our neighbors and hauled water from there much of the time until September.

Built Brick Schoolhouse.
About 1882 a family of Germans settled on Sec. 28 which corners with Sec. 22. There were four of them in all. The older man was named Meyers, and the sons-in-law named Fieger, Blumthaler and Miller. The man Meyers was at that time around 70 years of age and a mason and bricklayer by trade. He built the brick school house of the early date in Noble township. From what we learned he had what may be called a grouch against humanity in general and it even extended to his own family and included his sons-in-law.

We, myself and wife, got quite well acquainted with his Miller, one of the sons-in-law whose claim cornered with ours. He had married the youngest daughter of Meyers and her name was Annie. As we were all at that time young folks, Gus and Annie, as we called them, were often over across the hills only a little over a mile away. I would guess that Gus was about 25 and Annie may have been past 20 years of age. Gus had been a soldier in the regular army at Fort Robinson and had only been discharged a few months previous to settling on his claim.

Miller Arrested.
One day in August Annie came over to us in great excitement. Her husband had been arrested by the U. S. Marshal and would be taken to Omaha tomorrow to stand trial for stealing government property.

From what she told us we learned that when Miller left Ft. Robinson he took with him some condemned harness and when coming to Valley county gave some of it to his father-in-law Mr. Meyers. Now Mr. Meyers had one of his bad grouch spells come and threatened to kill son-in-law Miller. However, on second thought, he decided it might not be entirely safe so he thought out another plan. He wrote to the commandant at Ft. Robinson and told that Miller had stolen a lot of government property and thus came the U. S. Marshal and had Miller under arrest at Ord and tomorrow would take him to Omaha.

with grief. The next day I was out at the far end of the claim in the afternoon when Miller came up out of a canyon and came over to me. This was what occurred the previous day:

Marshal Hired Rig
At that time Joe Gillespie ran a livery barn at Ord. And this is what he told me: The U. S. Marshal had hired him and rig to take him and Miller to St. Paul but the Marshal was in no hurry to leave Ord as his pay went on just the same and it was near eleven o'clock before the start was made for St. Paul. By noon they had got as far as the Hughes farm down in the bend and drove in for dinner. The Marshal got out and went in the house leaving Joe and Miller to water and feed the team. As soon as the Marshal had closed the door Joe said to Miller, "Now is your chance! Run!" Miller did not need a second hint. As it was less than a half-mile to the river Miller was soon out of sight. Joe took full time to feed and water the team and then went to the house. The Marshal looked up and asked where is Miller. Joe said he came to the house with you and went in at the other door. The Marshal rushed out to see where he was but Miller was not in sight. "Well," he said, "I guess he has given us the slip but he will lose his dinner."

After dinner they discussed the matter and the Marshal said "No use for me to try to catch him in those hills, and told Joe to drive on to St. Paul which they did."

Aided Prisoner.
And now back to Miller who had believed I would be a friend to him. That was one time maybe I did not do perhaps as the law may have required. No proof was shown to me that Miller was guilty and it is always presumed one is innocent until proven guilty and on that belief I acted. I took Miller to the house and fed him as he had been in the hills all night and nothing to eat since the previous morning.

Miller did not know the Marshal had gone and presumed that he would come back to Ord and get Sheriff Fieger to hunt for him. He would not stay in the house longer than to eat and went back to the hills. I went over to his claim and brought his wife out where he was

Proceedings of the City Council

June 7, 1935.
The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 8 o'clock p. m. Mayor Flegg presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor instructed the Clerk to call the roll. The clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Jay Auble, Val Pullen, Frank Sershen, Guy Burrows, Curt Gudmundsen, Anton Bartunek.
Whereupon it was moved by Bartunek and seconded by Sershen that the minutes of the proceedings of May 3, 1935 be accepted as read. Motion carried.

Otto Radil came before the Council to ascertain the feasibility of constructing a bridge across the canyon near his home. Moved by Pullen and seconded by Bartunek that the Street and Alley committee investigate the conditions and cost of the project. Motion carried.
Wm. Hather came before the Council with the request that the Light & Water department cause an electric service to be extended to his farm. Moved by Gudmundsen and seconded by Sershen that the Light & Water Committee with power to act be assigned the task of investigation and estimation. Motion carried.
The application of Peter Darges for a Plumbers license was read. Moved by Pullen and seconded by Burrows that the application be granted and a plumbers license be issued. Motion carried.
The applications of The New Cafe, Mart Fowbal, Food Center Store, Clayton Noll, Freda Buchfisch, Ed Mouser, Hans Larsen, Ernest Coats, W. J. Stewart, Joe Psota, Mary K. Sharp, Anthony Koupal and Keeps Cafe for milk sellers permits was read. Moved by Auble and seconded by Pullen that the permits be granted. Motion carried.

and they arranged for a meeting place where she could bring food and water. As the weather was fine he could sleep anywhere. Meanwhile his wife had the sympathy of her younger brother Charley. In a few days Charley got a team of ponies and wagon fixed up for traveling and one night they loaded up and started towards the setting sun.

Charges Dropped.
The day after they had left a letter came to Sheriff Beagle to say that investigation of the charges against Miller were unfounded and the case had been dropped.
Mrs. Miller's brother Charley at once got on a pony and took up the trail and caught up with them near Broken Bow. Miller came back and went on his claim again but as soon as he could make final proof as a pre-emption he did so and like most settlers at that date got a loan on the land and left for Oregon.

The other relatives only remained for a year and then they too proved up and disappeared into the boundless west.
One of Miller's brother's-in-law was Chas. Fieger, who was deputy county clerk for several years while A. H. Schoeber was county clerk. Fieger was a beautiful penman as the old records will testify. He was one of the German soldiers who were stationed in Paris after Franco-German war of 1870 and used to boast about the way they insulted the French citizens.

Few To Remember.
It is more than fifty years since this near tragedy occurred and not many are left who may recall these events. Not a single person now lives in Noble Township who was there at the date of these incidents. There may be a few who may recall some of the persons mentioned in this saga of the past but not many.

My friend Ed Kasper owns most of Sec. 28 where Miller had his homestead and I notice a great change from the days when Gus Miller had it as a homestead.
Often some of these early incidents recur in memory and the years that are gone are lived over again. There was comedy as well as tragedy in some of them as always there is in life. Sometime I may write something of the humorous side. W. A. ANDERSON.

Proceedings of the City Council

The question of the number of liquor sellers to be in Ord was brought up. The question was discussed pro and con. Moved by Auble and seconded by Burrows that the City Attorney advise the State Liquor Commission that the City Council would advise limiting the number of liquor licenses in Ord to two. Roll call resulted as follows: Yeas: Gudmundsen, Pullen, Sershen, Auble, Burrows, Nays: Bartunek. Motion carried.

The question of the City pumping and maintaining a gravel pile was brought up. It was discussed pro and con. Moved and seconded that the City Gravel pump be used and that the City maintain a gravel pile. Motion carried.
The report of James B. Ollis, City Treasurer for the period from May 3, 1935 to May 16, 1935 was read. Moved and seconded that the report be approved and placed on file. Motion carried.

The following Resolution was presented and read.

Postmaster, Postmistress
As used by the government the word postmaster embraces both men and women, but the term postmistress is most likely to be used whenever the public refers to a female incumbent of that office. Either is correct.

IT WAS a dark quiet street in a residential neighborhood. Rain had stopped falling some time ago, but water still dripped from the trees.

A man was standing in the dark against the wall of an apartment house. He might have been handsome in a rugged sort of way if it hadn't been for the strained, anxious expression on his face.

He saw the service door of a large private house across the street open. A figure slipped out. It was a servant. She wore a heavy cloth coat over her print uniform. Her head was bare. She came across the street rapidly.

"I'm sorry I'm late," she said. "There's company tonight and I had to help cook. Been waitin' long?"

All he said was, "Have you brought it?" His voice sounded throaty.

She reached inside her coat and took from under her apron bib a roll of bills secured with a piece of black elastic.

He put out his hand to take it, but she wouldn't let him. Instead, she unbuttoned the top two buttons of his overcoat and placed the money carefully in the inside pocket of his jacket.

"I slipped out to the bank this afternoon," she told him, rebutting his coat. "It's all there. Seven hundred and ten dollars."

With the money now in his pocket, the man seemed to grow uneasy. But the girl came closer to him.

"Put your arms around me, Harry. It's dark here. I can stay a couple of minutes."

He did as she told him. Her body was soft and yielding. She raised her face to his. It was round and slightly flushed now. It glowed with a serene happiness.

He bent down and lightly kissed her eager lips. Not because he wanted to, but in order to escape the steady gaze of her bright eyes.

"I'll be a good wife to you, Harry," she said.

He didn't speak again. She spoke again. "Will you start lookin' for a house tomorrow?"

"Yes," he said. His voice sounded dull.

Suddenly she wriggled away from him and reached inside her coat again. She drew out a long bulky envelope that was sealed.

"I almost forgot," she said. "Here's something else for you."

He seemed surprised and when she gave him the envelope he looked at it blankly.

"What is it?" he asked.

"It's for your birthday tomorrow. I won't be seeing you until Thursday."

"You shouldn't have—" He broke off.

"It's a tie. To go with your blue suit. I put it in the envelope so it wouldn't get wet. Don't open it now."

He put the envelope away in his overcoat pocket as if it were the only thing that could be done with it. Then, without a word, he gathered the girl in his arms again.

The short man snorted. "Sure she does! Ain't I been keepin' you supplied with dough for five weeks so's you could take her to shows an' make her think you was a swell guy?"

"I'll pay you back."

The man with the cap peered through his narrowed, dark eyes. "Say, are you tryin' to double cross me? Listen! I want my split of that seven hundred bucks—an' I want it now, see!"

There was a scuffle. The brief fight ended when the short man drew a blackjack and knocked the other to the sidewalk.

A doorman came running from the next block. He found the injured man staggering to his feet. The doorman helped him, and said, "The guy who knocked you down went through your pockets before he ran off. Better see if he took anything."

The man felt over his pockets. He nodded. "There's an envelope gone out of my overcoat. It had a tie in it."

"A tie?"

"A necktie. A girl gave it to me. The girl I'm going to marry."

VOL. 53 NO. 13

8:00 Closing Time For Liquor Stores, Councilmen Decide

Petska & Michalek and Fafetta Recommended for Licenses; Stores Open Soon.

Stores selling hard liquor in Ord must close at 8:00 p. m. daily and may not reopen until 6:00 a. m., ruled the city council Friday evening in a new city ordinance governing sale of liquor. Moreover, stores must submit to police inspection at any time.

These two points are the only new ones covered in the Ord city ordinance, other features being taken from the Nebraska liquor control act. The new ordinance was passed unanimously by the council.

Occupation tax is fixed at $150 for each establishment, this being the largest tax allowed by the new state law.

Approve Only Two.

Applicants for liquor store licenses who secured the recommendation of the city council are Petska & Michalek and Frank Fafetta, Jr. Previously the council had asked the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission to grant only two licenses in Ord and in line with this recommendation only two of the applications were approved by the council. Frank and Joe Dworak were other applicants.

In a resolution passed unanimously by the council, the Nebraska liquor commission was asked to grant licenses to Petska & Michalek and Frank Fafetta and to reject all other Ord applicants.

Petska & Michalek are understood to have leased the east room in the Haskell building, the former Quiz office, and expect to open a liquor store some time this week. Their stock of liquors has been ordered, they say.

For the present Mr. Fafetta expects to conduct a liquor store in his present location. He is closing out his stock of groceries this week and later, if he succeeds in sub-leasing this building, may move his liquor store to a different location.

Alvin Blessing Returning.
From Chicago comes word that Sen. Alvin Blessing will return to Ord Friday, accompanied by his son, Dr. F. L. Blessing. They will come to Grand Island by train and will be met there by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clements, coming the rest of the way by car. Senator Blessing is convalescing from a serious operation performed at Presbyterian hospital, Chicago.

Farmers Helping Take People Off Relief, Says Kruml

Case Load Reduced In June, Is Claim; Relief Rules Interpreted Liberally.

Valley county farmers have contributed largely to taking many people off the relief rolls and placing them on a self-supporting basis, as proved by a drop in the June case load, said Frank Kruml, county relief director, yesterday.

With prospects for small grain and hay crops the best in years it is assumed there will be considerable more supplemental labor hired so the July case load should decrease still farther, Kruml believes.

People on relief rolls must take advantage of every opportunity to secure employment, says a bulletin received this week by the Valley county office from Harry D. Elmore, state relief director, and to induce relief clients to take jobs a liberal interpretation of what constitutes sufficient income from a job to take a man off relief is being given by relief authorities.

May Earn 25 Per Cent.
New procedure to be followed by all relief directors is outlined by Mr. Elmore as follows:

1. A client may earn up to 25 per cent of his monthly budget without having his work

Will Select Supervisors For Corn-Hog Work

The Valley county corn-hog allotment committee announces a school for applicants for positions as supervisors for the 1935 corn-hog contracts. The school will be held Tuesday, July 2, at 9 a. m., at the court house, and will be followed by a competitive examination and appointments will be made on the basis of the examination. Anyone who wishes to serve as supervisor should arrange to attend this school. It is open to anyone but preference will be given to men who are signers of contracts or the sons of contract signers.

Chimney Sweep In Custody at Burwell

James Blivens, of Central City, a chimney sweep who has visited Ord for several years and cleaned the chimneys of many Ord homes, was arrested at Burwell last week on a charge of attempting to assault a little girl. Pleading not guilty, he was bound over to district court. If convicted a penitentiary term awaits him.

Blivens, who is a man of about 30, had been in Ord several days and on Sunday, June 16, was arrested for drunkenness. He was also suspected of having attempted to lure a little Ord girl into an alley while he was under the influence of liquor, although officers here say they did not have sufficient evidence to support such a charge. Kept in jail until he sobered up, Blivens was released the next day and warned to leave town. He went to Burwell and a couple of days later was arrested there.

Rain Ruins Instruments.
Caught in a sudden and heavy rain Sunday evening while playing for a pavilion dance at Greeley, members of the Carl Nebbe orchestra had damage of over $200 done to musical instruments and their chests was scheduled to play in Ord Monday evening but arrived that morning to inform Manager Emil Darges of their mishap, after which they left for their headquarters at Mitchell, S. D., to secure new instruments and clothing.

Indian Camp At Mille Lac Seen By Quiz Family

Jack Pine Lodge on Middle Cullen Lake near Niswaw, Minn., June 20, 1935.

Dear Quiz:
It is too cold here to be real comfortable sitting out of doors most of the time, and it is also too cold for the fish to feel like biting too, at least that is the only excuse we can think of for their not biting. We got here June 7, two weeks ago and have had two messes of fish so far. Of course we could have had bass, had the law permitted, for they will strike, but we have passed them up. Tomorrow the season opens and I expect to be on the lake soon after it is light and have promised the folks bass for dinner.

The Ross Lakin and Alfred Weigard families drove in late yesterday after a none too pleasant trip, I judge, from the trouble they had. It rained on the way, roads were bad some of the way, a couple of trailer tires decided to become flat tires and a flat tire is always more or less of a nuisance. But they got here between 5 and 6 and some of those boys were on the lake fishing inside of an hour. The children seem to be having a fine time and the men and women are getting their cottage settled as fast as possible and Ross says he is going to start building a porch at once, as they need more room. I fear Alfred is going to be disappointed if he doesn't get hold of a big fish, but he may be disappointed. In fifteen years coming here I have only caught a few. Sometimes a newcomer gets his big one the first day on the lake and Alfred may be destined to have that kind of luck.

A letter from Judge Clements says they will arrive Saturday and he orders wood, a wise provision considering the weather now, and asks that his boat be put in the lake and the cottage otherwise prepared for their coming. We shall be glad to see them come, as it has been lonesome with no near neighbors.

Sunday we planned a picnic down at Mille Lac lake. It rained two or three inches the night before and as we listened to the buckets of water pouring on the roof we wondered if we would get a chance to toast our wafers on the shore of the famous lake with the Indian name. It was (Continued on Page 2).

Gravel Contract Let.
Orschek and Christenson, of Cedar Rapids, were successful bidders on the job of graveling 11.9 miles of highway between Loup City and Arcadia. Their bid of $8,013 was accepted last Thursday by the state department of roads and irrigation.

John M. Long Dies In Boise Hospital

John M. Long, eldest son of Mrs. W. D. Long of Ord, passed away Tuesday in a hospital at Boise, Ida., Ord relatives learn. He had been ill and in the hospital about six weeks. Mr. Long was 53 years old and left Ord for the west about 30 years ago. His relatives here had not seen him since that time. The body is being brought to Ord for burial and funeral services will be held Saturday.

TB Testing To Be Ended By Friday; Find 205 Reactors

About 1 Per Cent of Cattle In Valley County Infected, Gov't Vets Discover.

Testing for bovine tuberculosis will be completed in Valley county tomorrow, it was stated yesterday by government veterinarians who have been working here for the past six weeks under the direction of Dr. O. K. Tickler. Testing has already been finished in every township except Ord, where it is now under way.

So far 205 head of reactors have been discovered, the county percentage being about 1 per cent, which is regarded as extremely low. Davis Creek township, where no reactors were found, was declared entirely free from the disease. Worst infection area found was Arcadia township where 57 reactors in 23 herds were found.

Reactors found in other townships were as follows: Independence, 4, in 4 herds; North Loup, 31, in 15 herds; Enterprise, 15, in 7 herds; Elyria, 11, in 8 herds; Geranium, 6, in 6 herds; Springdale, 8, in 5 herds; Noble, 18, in 12 herds; Eureka, 1, in 1 herd; Michigan, 14, in 11 herds; Liberty, 10, in 5 herds; Vinton, 3, in 3 herds; Yale, 16, in 2 herds; Ord, 16, in 2 herds (incomplete).

Dr. Tickler has already left Ord, going to Boone county to get testing started. Dr. Smith, as spokesman for the group of veterinarians, said yesterday that the party has greatly appreciated cooperation shown by Valley county farmers. Less than a dozen objectors were encountered and most people seemed anxious to have testing done.

A few herds over the county were missed because they were on pasture, but these herds will be tested next fall when the retest of infected herds is made.

Valley county cannot be accredited immediately because the percentage of infection is higher than 1-2 of one per cent but Dr. Smith said yesterday that he believed the county would be accredited by Nov. 1, after the retest.

"That's only a guess, though," he added.

Ord Band Makes Hit At Air Show In Broken Bow

Thousands Enjoy Air Races At 2-Day Event; Ord Music Group Is Popular.

A crowd estimated at 12,000 attended the air show held Sunday in Broken Bow and on the second day of the show at least 8,000 were present, many being from the Ord community. This was the first air show held in central Nebraska.

Music both days was furnished by an Ord band organized recently with L. J. Auble as manager and Glen D. Auble as director. Members of this group include L. J. Auble, Joe Carlski, Oscar Knecht, Louie Phillips, Kirby McGrew, Alvin Anderson, G. Green, Syl Carlski, Ruth Auble, Edwin Auble, Arden Clark, Arthur Auble, Harold Herse, Merne Auble, Edith Hansen, Jay Auble, Dick Koupal, Arthur Masin, Lorraine Haas, James Milliken, George Harmon, Joe Flakus and Ed Kerchall.

Hired By Rodeo.
Playing under the auspices of the Burwell rodeo, this group furnished music both afternoon and evening. Sunday evening vocal solos and tap dancing were added to the program. The band will be known as Auble Bros. Band and will play for several celebrations, fairs and other events to be held in Nebraska this summer and fall.

Twenty planes participated in races and stunts held at the Broken Bow show, most of them being Nebraska planes although one plane was present from Hollywood and others from Sioux City, Kansas and Tulsa.

Jack Story, famous air race announcer, was master of ceremonies. Parachute jumps by Wayne Wagner, Kansas City, and Dorothy Borden, Scottsbluff, also featured.

In a beauty contest held in connection with the show Lenore Carruthers, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. H. J. Carruthers, was adjudged winner and was awarded a three-day air trip to Chicago.

Weather was decidedly bad Sunday and was somewhat unfavorable Monday but all events were held as advertised and most Ord people who attended were favorably impressed with the show.

Opal Bebee is visiting this week with Beulah McGinnis at her home.

Ord's 1st System Of Fire Fighting Is Recalled

When a circular depression in the earth appeared last week at the northwest corner of the court house yard it meant nothing to most people but to W. A. Anderson and other old-timers this sunken place, caused by recent heavy rains, had a peculiar significance.

About 1881, or fifty-one years ago, Ord's first system for fighting fires was established. This system consisted of a well, pump and buckets at each corner of the square. In case of fire, bucket brigades were quickly organized, and water pumped from these wells was used to extinguish the blaze.

When Ord later installed a city water system, laid water mains and placed fire hydrants, the old wells were abandoned and filled in, Mr. Anderson recalls. Occasionally, in wet years, earth thrown in the old wells will sink a few inches, though almost fifty years have elapsed.

Roy Adams Drops Dead in Hay Field Saturday Evening

Ord Farmer's Sudden Death Due To Heart Ailment of Long Duration; Only 38.

About 7:00 p. m. Saturday, June 22, Roy S. Adams, 38-year-old farmer who lived 2-1/2 miles southwest of Ord, was stricken with heart trouble while working in a hay field on his farm and died a few moments later. He had suffered with high blood pressure and other troubles for several years, it is said.

With Mr. Adams in the field when he was stricken were three neighbors, Eivind Laursen, Fred Zlomke and Joe Trompke, also little LeRoy Adams, six years old. According to these men Mr. Adams had been driving the hay stacker and alighted to start driving a hay sweep. The team on the sweep proved balky and Mr. Adams started to lead them forward a few feet and suddenly fell over.

Thought He Fainted.
At first the men working with him thought he had fainted and a few minutes were lost in procuring water to pour on his face and head. He was still breathing but it was soon realized that his condition was serious so Dr. C. J. Miller was called. Before Dr. Miller arrived Adams had passed away.

Roy Adams was a son of Frank and Stella Adams and was born on a farm west of Ord on Nov. 22, 1896, this being the old home place occupied by Mr. Adams at the time of his death.

He attended Brace country school until his parents moved to Colorado in 1907, returning here in 1915 to live on the home farm until his death. His father passed away in September, 1917.

Leaves Two Children.
On Dec. 12, 1922 he was married to Bessie Fryor, of Cedar Bluffs, Kas., and two children were born to them, Edith, 10, and LeRoy, 6. Also left to mourn are his mother, Mrs. Stella Adams, and his sister, Miss Eva Adams, Ord, an aunt, Mrs. Will Gunnell, of Beaver City, an uncle, Sherman Adams in California, and another uncle, John Conner, of Ord.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Sowl's chapel, Rev. W. C. McCarthy being the minister in charge. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. Mark Tolon, Mrs. E. O. Carlson, Edgar Mower and E. H. Petty, with Mrs. Marion Cushing at the pipe organ. Pallbearers were Eivind Laursen, Leonard Clochon, Rudolph Hokek, Frank Svoboda, Godfrey Zlomke and Joe John. Interment was in Ord cemetery.

Dies in Car Wreck.
Franklin Mathews, 21-year-old son of Sam Mathews of Iliff, Colo., was fatally injured last week in a car wreck near Sidney, Neb., and died a few days later in a Sidney hospital. Sam Mathews is a son-in-law of Raymond Gass, Ord.

Prizes Offered For Stories Of Early Days
The Quiz is attempting to collect and print stories of early-day happenings of Valley county and surrounding counties while the people who remember them are still alive to write about them. The sum of $2.00 is offered for each such story accepted and printed and at the end of the year a prize of $10.00 will be given to the writer of the best story published during the year.

A Flood? Yes! But No Lives Were Lost

The upper picture was taken from the highway bridge across Turtle Creek and shows how that stream overflowed its bank Thursday morning for the fourth time this spring. Heavy rains in townships west and northwest of Ord provided the water. This photo was taken by H. M. Jones, staff photographer.

Below is a picture snapped by George Jensen, showing Dane Creek in Bussell park Thursday morning. This creek did not overflow but was bank full for several hours.

NOTICE To Advertisers And Correspondents

Since next Thursday is July 4th and therefore a holiday, the Quiz will be published a day early and all advertisers and rural correspondents are requested to have their copy reach the Quiz office not later than 6:00 p. m. Tuesday, July 2. The Quiz office will be closed all day July 4th.

New Federal Act Permits Loans For Buying Farm Land

James Ollis Reveals New Plan Of Farm Financing To Help Young Farmers, Tenants.

New highways to farm ownership are opened by the recently-passed farm credit act of 1935, according to James B. Ollis, secretary-treasurer of the Valley county national farm loan association of Ord.

Mr. Ollis explained the new act makes land bank "commissioner" funds available to buyers of farm land. Heretofore "commissioner" loans were made only to refinance heavily indebted farmers and to redeem farms lost through foreclosure.

He declared the new plan is expected to be a boon to tenants and young men who ordinarily find it difficult to finance the purchase of a farm.

More Liberal Terms.
Terms of a "commissioner" loan are more liberal than those of a regular land bank loan, in that the latter requires a first mortgage and is limited to 50 per cent of the appraised "normal product" value of the farm. A "commissioner" loan may be made on either a first or second mortgage and may be as much as 75 per cent of the farm's value, but not more than $7,500 will be loaned to any single farmer.

Farm purchase loans are made through the Valley County farm loan association and the same procedure is followed as for regular land bank loans.

It works this way: If a young farmer or tenant farmer wants to buy a piece of land valued at $8,000, he could borrow up to $6,000 to swing the deal, provided all other conditions of the loan are satisfactory. When "commissioner" funds are used to purchase a farm, the buyer must be free of other debts and must have at least a 25 per cent equity in the farm purchased.

So, in buying an $8,000 farm, he would have to invest at least $2,000 of his own. Under the old law governing the financing of farm purchases with land bank loans, the buyer would have been obliged to invest $4,000 of his own in order to acquire an $8,000 farm.

Went By Plane To Visit Dying Mother

Mortensens Return from Coast With Body of Mrs. White, Who Died June 18th.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, of Ord, returned to Nebraska from Pacific Palisades, Calif., and today are in Lincoln attending funeral services for Mrs. Mortensen's mother, Mrs. C. C. White, who passed away in California Tuesday, June 18, at the age of 88. Funeral services are being held this morning at First Methodist church, University Place, and interment will be made in Wyuka cemetery there.

Mr. and Mrs. Mortensen left for the coast Saturday, June 15 for a vacation trip and to visit Mrs. White, who was in ill health but not supposed to be in serious condition. At Salt Lake City, that night they learned by telegraph that Mrs. White was dying so Mrs. Mortensen went by plane to California, arriving there Sunday afternoon, just a little over 24 hours after she left Ord. Mr. Mortensen continued to the coast by auto. Mrs. White passed away two days after her daughter arrived.

Husband Wesleyan Head.
Long a resident of Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. White was the widow of a prominent business man of that city. Her husband was for years associated with various mills and elevator enterprises in and near Lincoln, including the Crete Mills. Mrs. White's brother, Albert L. Johnson, of Crete, is president of the Crete concern.

For about twenty years Mrs. White's husband was president of the board of trustees of Wesleyan university and in recognition of the White family's generous gifts, White Memorial building on the campus was named in his honor. Mr. White also was Lancaster county treasurer from 1873 to 1877. He passed away in 1895.

The family home, Whitehall, in east University Place, was a show place for many years. It was sold to the state in 1925 for use as a home for dependent children.

Visited Here In '33.
Since about 1925 Mrs. White had lived in Pacific Palisades, Calif., where she had a beautiful home. Her last visit to Nebraska was in 1933, at which time she visited in the Ord home of her daughter, Mrs. Mortensen.

She is mourned by four other daughters, all of whom have visited here. They are Mrs. Halle C. Allen, of Oakhill, Fla., Mrs. Jessie Bedell of Santa Monica, Calif., Mrs. D. R. Hopkins of Pacific Palisades, and Lillian, of London, England. There are also two brothers, A. L. Johnson, of Crete, and Clarence T. Johnson, of Valparaiso, and one sister, Mrs. Minnie J. States, of Pacific Palisades.

Fined for Intoxication.
Two Burwell men, George Matern and Clement Weitzer, were fined $10 and costs each on intoxication charges in Judge John L. Andersen's court Monday. The next day Steve Malolepszy, of Ord, was fined a similar amount on a similar charge.

Alfalfa and Small Grains Destroyed By Hail Thursday

Arcadia Vicinity Was Scene Of Disastrous Storm 1.35 In. Rain Fell At Ord.

Arcadia—(Special)—The most promising prospective crop this community has had in years was completely destroyed in places by a terrific rain and hail storm about 3:30 a. m. last Thursday. The hail strip was unusually large, extending from the western edge of Leo Park to a point eight miles east of Arcadia, although some areas were affected much worse than others.

Haying was in progress here last week and farmers who had mowed part of their alfalfa said they could not tell which was mowed and which hailed. In many instances farmers report fields of rye and wheat that were higher than a man's head but now are flat on the ground.

The hail was accompanied by a high wind and large stones were blown through windows and roofs, doing extensive damage.

Marooned By Flood.
Heavy rains northwest of town raised the river and creeks to alarming proportions. The Jameson, Russell, Peterson, and Valett homes were surrounded by water early Thursday morning.

The Burlington motor came up without trouble but on the return trip found tracks at McApline unsafe so it returned to Sargent and waited until the track was repaired, going down at noon Friday. All mail, except that from Ansley, was a day late.

Many farmers here are replanting corn this week in the hope that they can at least raise fodder. In some fields the small corn plants, delayed by the cold, wet spring, were cut off by hail as cleanly as though a mowing machine had passed over them.

Turtle Creek on Rampage.

Elyria—(Special)—For the fourth time this spring Turtle Creek went on a rampage last Thursday as result of a heavy rain that fell in the night west of here. In places the creek was a quarter-mile wide early Thursday morning. Considerable damage to roads, bridges and fences is reported. Much corn is again being replanted this week.

1.35 Inches Rain at Ord.

A rain of 1.35 inches fell in Ord about 2:30 Thursday morning and although a few hail stones accompanied the storm no damage is reported in this immediate neighborhood. This rain was the hardest this spring, falling within the space of a half-hour. Dane creek as it flows through Bussell park was bank full Thursday but did not overflow the bottom lands in the park.

Bad Storm Monday Eve.

North Loup—(Special)—A terrific rain, hail and wind storm struck here about 7:15 Monday evening and did considerable damage to small grain and alfalfa. Many trees were broken by the wind, small buildings were blown down and windows broken by hail stones. The storm lasted only a short time.

Shop Lifter Caught In Ord With Goods

Ord seems to be the mecca for shop-lifters for Sunday another one was taken into custody near the Burlington hotel by Sheriff George Round. He had with him a paper sack containing several pairs of gloves, some shoe strings, face cream, shoe polish, a bathing suit and other articles, which he was trying to sell. He had sold one pair of gloves before he was arrested.

The man gave the name of Louis L. Kirk and claimed Texas as his home. He found the sack of merchandise in a hobo "jungle" at Ravenna, he claimed. Officers telephoned Ravenna, Kearney and other places to see if any store had missed such merchandise but could not learn where it was stolen. As Kirk had committed no crime here he was released, officers retaining the sack of merchandise to be delivered to any store that can establish ownership.

Fair Ass'n Meeting Postponed 3rd Time

Postponed twice previously because of rain and muddy roads, a meeting of the Valley county fair association called for Monday night again had to be postponed for the same reason. A heavy rain, hail and windstorm at North Loup early Monday evening prevented President C. W. McClellan from coming to Ord so the meeting was postponed until tonight. Unless a storm intervenes again, the oft-postponed session will be held in the Nebraska State bank building at 8 o'clock.

—Dr. J. W. McGinnis went Sunday to Chadron where he will be busy testing cattle for the next month or six weeks.

still cloudy Sunday morning but by spells the sun shone and we decided that we could, if necessary, eat in the hotel about 11 a. m. we loaded up and were off. It is about 40 miles down there and we were all hungry when we arrived. Everything was sopping wet so we paid a resort keeper a dime for the privilege of using one of the tables in his little park and gave his wife or cook another dime to boil the weiners and we had our own hot coffee with us and had a fine dinner, took pictures of the inn which is called the Blue Goose, then drove down the road toward the Indian trading post. There is quite a camp of Indians along the shores of Mille Lac lake. Pretty soon we came to a big display of baskets, bird houses and other Indian articles and there was an Indian woman and a grown up girl, also a tiny baby. We asked the privilege of taking a picture of the Indian woman and baby and were told that we might do so for 50c. We finally compromised on 25c and bought a birch bark bird house at 35c and if Mr. Jones can make a cut from the picture we are sending, you will see it in the Quiz next week. There are a lot of things however, that I can do better than taking pictures. We shot other pictures of Indians, some of them warriors, or they would be if the Indians were here as they are at present as they used to be. One old couple which we sent live in a birch bark tepee, the old squaw making baskets. There are dozens of displays of the Indian handiwork along the road, all strung up on poles and ready for tourists who want to take home souvenirs of the trip, most of them to find a resting place and gather dust on some closet shelf at home.

Yesterday we drove up to call on Mrs. Ira Johnston who lives a few miles north of Pequot. We have known the Johnstons some years. At one time Mr. Johnston worked for Dan Huff in the telephone business and was at Ord for a time. Mrs. Johnston told us she was not sure whether Mrs. Simpson would be here this year.

A couple of young men from Illinois drove in this morning and Guide Ray Luther is taking care of them. I didn't learn their names but am told they have been coming here for several years. The Humphreville and Bowman people of Clarinda, Ia., who now own the Keown cottage, wrote to have their boat painted and their place put in shape for their arrival tomorrow. I don't know which family will come first. They are brothers-in-law and in the jewelry business in the Iowa town and usually come for 30 days each. As I remember, it is the turn for the Bownmans to come first this year.

Oscar Wallin is cutting timber for the new house he will build on the corner above camp where he bought a 40 acre tract and divided it among them. He says he will start building in about 30 days. His brother Dick and wife are now down in Iowa but as I understand it, they plan on building this fall also. Their older brother, Alvin, is not married but must have some ideas along that line, else why would he want a building lot? They will all be along the road together and their place will be called Wallinville or something of the kind, at least that would be appropriate with so many of them together. I haven't seen Dick as yet, but Alvin and Oscar have just about enough whiskers on their faces to thatch the roofs on their houses.

By the way, whiskers are the style up here. Everyone is wearing them. This is said to be the home of Paul Bunyan, the fellow who logged off North and South Dakota and most of Minnesota and there is to be a big three day celebration in Brainard in his honor about July 20. Everybody has to wear some sort of whiskers. The barbers don't dare shave anyone clean. Anyone who refuses to wear whiskers is arrested and taken into some sort of court and has to be punished and some of the punishments devised are funny. Alfred Weigardt has already sworn off on shaving and his wife says it was not hard to get him not to shave either. Ross Lakin can't raise whiskers and is negotiating for a false beard. This man Bunyan must have been a great guy for whiskers.

By George Gowen

Post Mortems.
A letter from my mother in Lincoln reads as follows: "Liked your pieces and especially the one about the loan."
"To get a loan now one must be a democrat of influence. A woman here was refused because she could not show income. The next time she showed how she could pay it and they said if she could pay she did not need it."
"Two other parties had the same trouble. One, they said they would not make the loan because the party was already behind and they did not think she could pay. The second, the loan would not be made because the party was not much behind and showed an income."

In Sheldon's oil station, I was greeted as the Roving Reporter. One man said, "Some of what you write is pretty good and some is not so hot."
Hugh Clement was there and perked up his ears. "There was one thing you wrote that was the smartest and best thing you have said yet," he spoke up. "That was about the coyotes." I was a little surprised.

"When the coyotes are all gone, the rest of us will want to leave, too. The biggest fool thing yet the county board has done is to pay a bounty on coyotes. Better pay it on crows."
"In Idaho, on old sheep ranges where the coyotes and hawks have been cleaned out, the mice and gophers are so thick the farmers have been unable to raise anything. These are sections that have come under irrigation later."
"As a matter of fact, in some places they have paid a bounty on mice and rabbits. The coyotes live largely on such rodents. I repeat, when the coyotes are gone, the rest of us will want to go too."
And then as I visited with Mrs. Ed Lenz last week she said "There are two coyotes in this neighborhood that nearly every morning sneak up to our back yard and take a chicken. The neighbors have tried repeatedly to shoot them but with no luck yet. 'Yes,' looking my way, 'we read your piece in the paper.' She did not say whether she agreed with me or not."

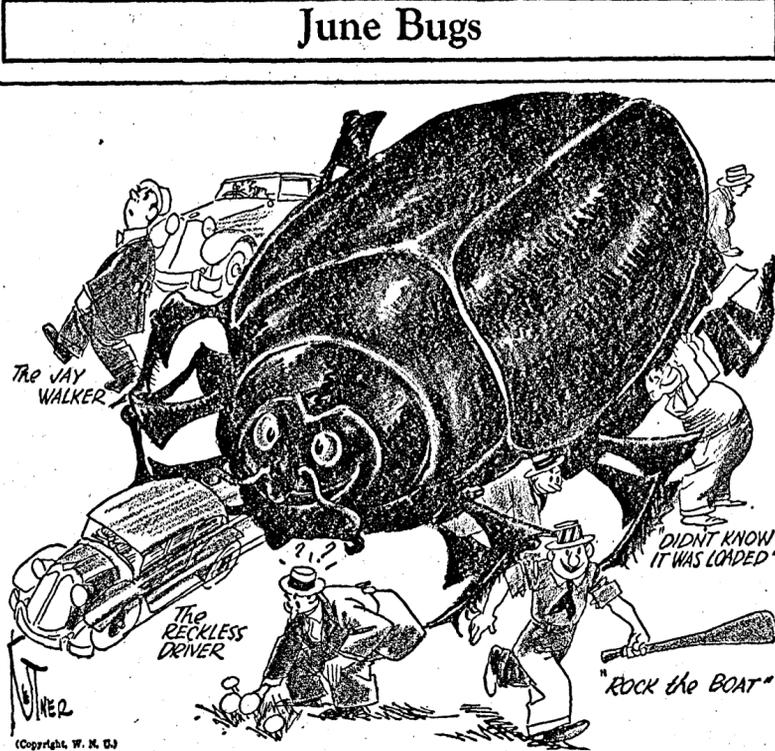

Reverse the Call.
I want to thank you, Jake, and your colleagues, for your courteous and kind attention given me at your equalization meeting the other day. I am not thanking you for the reduction you made in the appraisement of the B. & L. property. You should have done that without thanks if it deserved it, and refused if it did not.

I was hoping I might get in on a little fire works such as I heard about a few weeks ago, when one of you sedate and decorous diffusers didn't turn in a written report thought should be and one or the other said of one or the other that the other or the one was trying to run the whole thing.
I think a meeting like that would have been worth while. If such a thing occurs again, turn off the air for a few minutes, call me reversing the charges, and I shall come sixty per. I will listen intently take notes if necessary and write a column the next week that everyone will read and pronounce, "pretty darned good."

Moving Time.
Hurrying to town the other day, Dick and I spied a gopher scurrying across the road ahead of us, in a wild dash so as not to be run over. This gopher was not making very good time for it was carrying something half as large as itself. As we sped by she dropped her burden at the edge of the road. A quick glance as we whizzed by revealed it was her baby gopher.
I stopped the car and backed up a rod or so to see it. As we were backing up, Dick saw Mrs. Gopher scamper back, pick up her youngster and carry it off to the weeds at the side of the road to a new home.

The Forgotten Man.
It is alleged about town that a farm sold a few weeks ago at forced sale for $2800.00. I have not heard this disputed.
This farm consists of something around 140 acres. It runs to the river with a river pasture and a good timber. There is one nice field that is level and the balance of the farm ground is only rolling. It lies on the east side of the river half way between North Loup and Ord and the soil is black and fertile.
There is a large, well built barn, a square five-roomed house, good granary and hen coop all painted and in good repair. It is all fenced. It is on a good road and the taxes are reasonable. The improvements alone could not be replaced new for the money or twice that.

This sounds like an advertisement. It is not. The place has been sold. This is only an announcement. And all the time since the sale I have been wondering where that prosperity is we have been hearing so much about. And I also wondered if the fellow who might have received a little money out of this place, had it brought a fair price, if that fellow was not the "forgotten man."
And when such nice little farms sell at that price, is it any wonder that the building and loan officers over the country and farm loan officials are sweating and lying awake at night. It is told that one loan company that had made quite a good many loans in this territory is now foreclosing on every loan they have here.

Something Different

If Mrs. Jesse Kovanda ever needs to make her living she has a most telling way of doing so, as she proved to those who heard her review "Catherine the Great" at the Delphian tea at the John Misko home last Friday evening.
Mrs. Kovanda reviews a book most capably and beautifully. She goes into sufficient detail, makes the book live for her hearers, is never at a loss for the right word or phrase, yet is never tedious nor boring. I have heard professional reviewers who did not do their work nearly so well, yet collected goodly fees for it.

Little Galen Allen, three years old, is as bright as they come. Recently he said to his mother, Mrs. George Allen: "Mother, please come out and sit with me while I eat my supper. Be a sport!"
Replied Mrs. Allen, tired: "Oh, you be a sport and run along and eat your supper without me."

Quick as a wink the little fellow came up and tapped his mother playfully, parroting the phrase he had heard his sister Dorothy sing so often of late: "What's the reason I'm not pleasin' you?"
Mrs. Allen had to laugh at this sally, and accompanied her young son out to his supper table.

Mrs. George Gard has many lovely roses in her backyard, some rare ones, some fine blossoms. Across the alley is the handsome outdoor living room of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Olsson, first created by Dr. A. J. Ferguson who lavished much fond care on the plans and the yard, which the Olssons have tended faithfully since they moved into the place.

In the fenced enclosure of Mr. and Mrs. Ign. Klima, Jr., is a little fairyland. The white lattice fence and arched gates shut off a pretty pool, irregularly shaped, with many plants of many kinds set tastefully about.

Numbers of yards are again attractive this year, with the plentiful rains and shady weather. The drouth last year burned out lawns, killed shrubs and trees, made this a sad looking valley, but the damp spring (no, I didn't swear) brought back into their former beauty a long list of Ord gardens and surroundings.

The many level new lawns in Ord have contributed no small part to the charm of the Valley county metropolis this year. Either because of the paving or the drouth or both, a great many lawns were replanted last fall and early this past spring.

And where are those fish, Mr. H. D. Leggett???

I haven't heard any more about a city planning commission. Can't we stir up Ord to a concerted plan of action in this line?

Mrs. C. A. Anderson was afraid her two cats wouldn't get enough to eat while she was gone to Minnesota. So she arranged to have her young sister-in-law, Florence Anderson, stop every day to feed them.
The diet of milk, eggs and occasionally salmon, must be O. K., because at the last nose-counting Florence had six cats as regular recruits each time she stopped to feed the two Anderson cats.
Running a cat-boarding house, that is something new.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM!

If there is a favorite sweet among men, I have a theory that it is not pie of any kind, so what is your guess? No, not pie. I think doughnuts are the choice. Watch how often men eating in cafes want a sinker or two with their last cup of coffee. And look how many recipes for fried cakes Quiz contributors send in. I receive a lot of them.
There are a lot of different kinds of doughnuts, and a number of favored ways to create them. Some cooks make them of bread dough. Some use one fat to fry in, some another. One lady, a few months ago, recommended dipping each hot doughnut in boiling water a minute to take out the grease. Some sugar doughnut outsiders by shaking them in a sack with sugar, spices aplenty. Some cooks advocate stirring the dough a lot, and others not any to speak of. Some say the spoon should stand alone . . . and so it goes.

Fried Cakes.
Combine one and one-half cups sugar, one-half cup thin sour cream, one cup sour milk, two eggs, one teaspoon soda, about five cups flour, a little salt and flavoring. Mix lightly, roll out, cut and drop in hot fat. When the topside has burst all around, turn with a fork once. Remove when golden brown to drain on absorbent paper. Sugar. Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Rt. 1, North Loup.

Old Fashioned Doughnuts
Place in a mixing bowl one cup hot sweet milk, three tablespoons shortening, two tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon salt. Cool to 80 degrees F. and add one cake of yeast. Stir to dissolve and add two and one-half cups flour. Beat to a smooth batter. Place in a warm place and let rise two hours. Mix together one-half cup sugar, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoons butter, cream well, add to the sponge. Then put in two and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon nutmeg. Knead to a smooth dough and let rise in a warm place for about an hour. Turn on a pastry board and roll one-half inch thick, cut into desired shapes and let raise on the board fifteen minutes. Then fry a golden brown in smoking hot fat. Roll in sugar and a little nutmeg. This dough can be used for rolls. Roll one-half inch thick, spread with fruit, either raisins, prunes, peaches, apricots or apple sauce. If juice is thin thicken with cornstarch. Roll as cinnamon rolls and bake in a loaf. Name Unknown.

Gingerbread with a Family.
Put one-half cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, one cup molasses, and two eggs into a mixing bowl and beat well. Stir in three-fourth cup hot water, and one teaspoon soda, add three cups sifted flour previously mixed with one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon ginger. Pour immediately into a well greased baking tin about 8x12 inches and bake in a medium oven, 350 degree F. for thirty minutes.

Mrs. Willis Waite also mentions that the recipe for Graham Bread in the Quiz a week or two ago belonged to her. We are glad to give credit where it is due.

Doughnuts in Rhyme
One cup sugar, one cup milk, Two eggs beaten fine as silk, Salt and nutmeg, (lemon will do) Of baking powder, teaspoons two. Lightly stir the flour in, Roll on pie board, not too thin; Cut in diamonds, twists or rings, Drop with care the doughy things Into fat that briskly swells. Evenly the spongy cells; Watch with care the time for turning.

Fry them brown just short of burning. Roll in sugar, serve when cool, Price a quarter for this rule. Mrs. Louise Nichols, Loup City.
Salvation Army Doughnuts
Mix six cups flour with two cups sugar, five teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, two eggs, one and three-fourths cups milk, one teaspoon lard, knead, cut with a doughnut cutter. Drop in hot lard. This makes four dozen. Add some tallow to the lard, and the doughnuts won't soak grease. Mrs. Louise Nichols. Please send in recipes. I need them very badly.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Wants Alumni Association.
Dear O. H. S. Alumni:
Don't you think that it is a shame the O. H. S. graduates have so completely forgotten their Alumni Association? I do.

There is hardly a small town newspaper that you can pick up this week that hasn't had a banquet or some sort of get-together of the past and present graduates, or are planning one.
It must be twelve years since the last banquet and the officers for the next year that were elected certainly fell down on the job. There are some or perhaps all still in Ord and guess they know who they are.

I know I for one, and I am sure there are many others that would make a special effort to be there and do my part in the making of it a great success. Let's all get together next year and have a banquet and get-together.

Have it the same time each year and make it a big thing. I heard of a good idea yesterday in a town close by. They have had their banquet the night before Decoration Day and have had a very large attendance and grand success. Many plan to be at home for both.

How about O. H. S. Alumni An O. H. S. Alumnus.
From Sturkle, Ark.
To the Editor of the Quiz:
We are enclosing money to pay for a Quiz renewal as we like the paper very much and couldn't be without it. We can hardly wait to see it come to our mail box and feel like we are among our Nebraska friends and relatives when we read it. We enjoy the new photographs and the old-time stories especially.

We have been having considerable rain here. It rained every day for about two weeks, clearing off just a few days ago. Now when it dries off farmers here will be busy cultivating their cotton and corn. Some have their wheat harvested and some were delayed. Early corn here is about 4 1/2 feet tall and later corn is hip high. Pastures are looking fine with plenty of grass being pastured since February and March.

Most people here plant big gardens and have had most garden stuff since about Decoration day. Now we will put in our late potatoes and fall garden, which will be ready in August and September. We had no frost this spring and prospects for a big peak crop are good. Blackberry patches are loaded with big, juicy berries and they will be ready to can within a week.

The Ozark region is a fine country and we wish all Quiz readers might visit it. Scenery is beautiful and happiness is found in every home. We live 21 miles from the beautiful city of West Plains, Mo., a town of about 4,000 or more. There are plenty of creeks and springs in this country where people go for the old drinking water. We go fishing in the South Fork river, about six miles from our farm. This would be a fine place for Mr. Leggett to come and get some fish.

We have had no dust storms nor floods in this part of the state and don't have any wind except just before a rain. The clear days are always still. With creeks and springs, fragrant climbing roses in the woods, many other wild flowers, dozens of species of beautiful birds singing, this is certainly a beautiful country. Every day we enjoy the songs of mocking birds, whippoorwills and red summer tanagers.

We celebrated Mother's day in our little village of Sturkle at Liberty Hill school house and had a fine time.
Our letter is getting to be quite long so will have to close, with many kind wishes to the Quiz and its readers. We will be glad to be remembered by our many Ord and Burwell friends and relatives.
Mr. and Mrs. Alvin E. Foth.

Wealth Is Wages Most Constant Market Wages and Prosperity Long Wants Chunks

The American Cotton Manufacturers' association, at Charlotte, N. C., promises not to reduce wages or increase hours, an excellent pledge, as important to the employing, prosperous class as to workers. This was well put by W. J. Cameron, speaking for Henry Ford, announcing restoration of the six dollars a day minimum wage, which will cost Henry Ford $2,000,000 a month! Said Mr. Cameron:

"The finest possible method of distributing the nation's goods is through wages. They represent work done and useful wealth created; they never drain or tax the country—they add substance and strength. . . .

"It is impossible to exaggerate the dependence of the country upon wages earned and paid, or the happy effect of a return of wages after a period of decline. . . . The expenditures of the rich cannot support any basic business in this country; for in the first place we have very few people who can be called rich; and in the second place, neither their needs nor their buying power is sufficient to support even a medium-sized industry of any sort.

"The largest, most varied and most constant market in the world is the wage-earning American people. They handle the bulk of the money; it is their needs and standards that keep the wheels turning. If they can't buy it doesn't matter who else can do so and their buying power is wages."

Business men who think wealth can be taken out of the wages of working men, should read those words in italics, carefully, and they should be read by any workers that have listened to demagogues telling them. "Take it away from the rich. That is the way to be happy." There are not enough "rich" to go around, but with full production, full consumption, good wages and reasonable leisure, affording time to spend and enjoy the good wages, American prosperity for all that has grown steadily in the past would continue to grow.

Have wages and prosperity increased? They have.
First, a President of the United States, once complained, publicly and without rebuke, that you could not hire a good worker in this country for less than $100 a year, about 30 cents a day.

Second, McMasters, the historian, tells you that in the early days only one American mechanic, a New England carpenter, could earn as much as one dollar a day.
Third, in 1914, when the automobile industry was young, Henry Ford's minimum wage was $2.34 a day. It was in January, 1914, that the new minimum was changed to $5 a day.

The senate rejects Senator Long's proposition to spend five thousand million dollars a year benevolently, and raise the money by taking "chunks" out of large fortunes.

This process, the senator's "share-the-wealth" idea, might last a little while, but after the large fortunes were all gone the "share-the-wealth" gentlemen might begin taking "chunks" out of each other.

J. Pierpont Morgan of New York who sold valuable pictures here, and sold them well, proving business ability, in London is selling costly miniatures.

Some ask why Mr. Morgan, who is prosperous, sells works of art that should not be replaced. The reply might properly be "That is my business." Perhaps he sees ahead conditions in which "real money" will be better than miniatures.

Telegram, dated Washington, from Congressman P. L. Gassaway. Try to be as cheerful as he is:

"Just returned from trip through Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Crops are good out there. Prosperity is certain. Couldn't get breakfast in railroad restaurant on account of crowd."

Jackie Kaul, a New York boy, five years old, thought kidnaped, is found in the East River, drowned by accident, undoubtedly.

After dreadful anxiety, to know the truth brings relief to the parents. The sad death of this child shows how faith and a belief in the hereafter console human beings. Faith that their child is happy in another world, and has been happy and safe ever since they first missed him, makes their grief bearable.

North Loup won a slugfest from Burwell on their home diamond last Sunday by a score of 17 to 5. From the first inning it showed that it was North Loup's game without much trying. North Loup ran in four runs in the first inning and two each of the next three, one the fifth, four the sixth and two the eighth, while Burwell was getting one each of the first three and a couple in the eighth. North Loup landed on Matters and Graves for 21 safeties while Sheldon was giving up 11 hits. Kelly Barber was the heavy hitter getting four out of six appearances. Hutchins got three doubles out of five and Cap Williams connected for a double and a long home run. Burwell has had some hard luck with their team and they showed they were true sportsmen by appearing with a poor team to play the game off rather than quitting in the middle of the season. Batteries were Burwell, Matters and Graves and Partridge; North Loup, Sheldon and Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp, Mrs. Bert Cummins, Velma Peterson and Wallace Groberg went to Denver last Wednesday morning and came back Saturday evening.

Obituary of Mrs. Jesse Manchester, Jennie Bell Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Archer was born in Munroe, Mich., June 26, 1869 and passed away June 22, 1935, at the age of 65 years, 11 months and 22 days. She came to Nebraska with her parents when a small child. They settled in Sherman county where she has lived ever since. Her parents homesteaded on the place where her son, Wm. Orrin now lives. Few people were here when they first came and as a small child she was fearful of Indians who came up Davis Creek on trapping expeditions. On January 31, 1892 she was united in marriage to Jesse Manchester and as a bride came to her home where she has lived 43 years. Three children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Manchester, Wm. Orrin and his twin sister who passed away shortly after birth, and Darrell Archer, who lives at the parental home. Mrs. Manchester also leaves one sister Mrs. Nellie Smith of Chester, Okla., a nephew Wm. Smith of Grand Island, and three nieces. The funeral was held at the home and the service was conducted by Rev. Hurley S. Warren. A quartette composed of Richard Babcock, Arch Moulton, Dell Barber and Roger Johnson furnished music.

North Loup M. E. Church Concludes 50 Years of Service To Community With Golden Jubilee Celebration June 23

With a congregation of over 300 present, the North Loup Methodist Episcopal church held its golden jubilee celebration Sunday, June 23, in commemoration of the conclusion of fifty years of service to that community. Rev. Ray S. True, of Tecumseh, a former pastor here, preached the morning sermon. Other features of the day included a congregational dinner at noon, a Children's day pageant in the afternoon and a play, "The Lost Church," in the evening. All these events were largely attended. Rev. W. H. Stephens is pastor of the church at present.

The M. E. church here was organized June 21, 1885 and Rev. A. Collins, of Loup City, preached the first sermon. Members of the original board of trustees were H. W. Sawyer, E. Moore, William Burris, W. R. Batty, James Good, Geo. E. Johnson, G. H. Scott, J. W. McCall and J. W. Hughes. Of these trustees James Good and Geo. E. Johnson and possibly Mr. Patty are known to be living now.

The first church building was erected at a cost of $3,557.91, of which $1,939.70 was paid before the date of dedication. On May 2, 1896 when the church was dedicated $1,285 was raised at the morning service and the rest was subscribed in the evening.

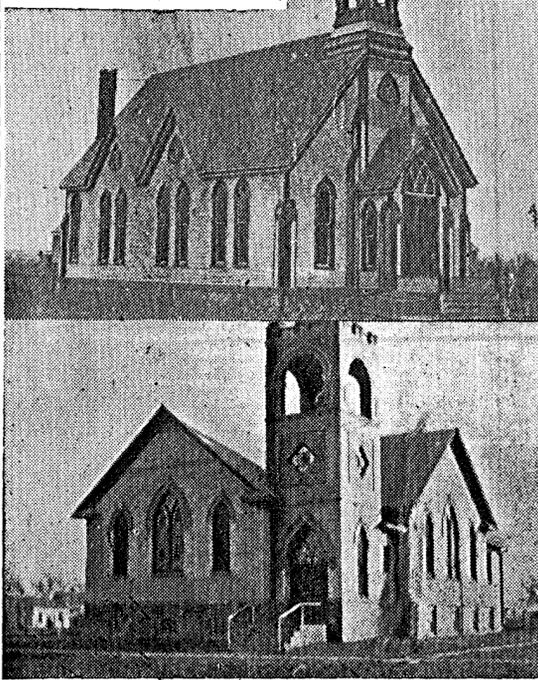

This old church, with all its contents, burned to the ground Jan. 12, 1911 and the present building was built soon after at an approximate cost of $10,000. Dedication services for this building were held on July 29, 1911 and on this day $3,603.20, nearly $1,000 more than needed to pay all indebtedness on the new building, was raised by subscription.

The church has had twenty-four pastors, fourteen of whom have passed on, three have retired and seven are in active service. Three of these former pastors were present at the jubilee celebration, Rev. Gibb of Shickley, Rev. Brink of Archer and Rev. True of Tecumseh.

The morning service Sunday was attended by a congregation of about 300, and the sermon was given by Rev. Ray S. True. The scripture reading was given by Rev. Gibb.

Dinner was served at one o'clock in the church basement. Places were set for 130 to eat at one time and all the children were served out of doors. All the helpers and members of committees ate later, so it is probable that nearly 250 people in all were served. About twelve young people did the serving quickly and with very little confusion.

mention should be made concerning the lighting effects which were worked out by Charles Zaugger and Bill Tolen. Without the lights the play would not have been nearly so effective.

Quite a number of out-of-town people attended the services in addition to the former pastors mentioned above. Among those from away were Rev. and Mrs. Callaway of Scotia, Rev. Merle Smith of Ord, Mr. and Mrs. La-Verne Peterson of Erskine, Minn., Miss Velma Peterson of Brooks, Minn., and Wallace Groberg of Fertile, Minn., Mrs. Nell Helbig of Burwell, Dr. and Mrs. Pinckney and Robert of Ericson, Mr. and Mrs. Russmisset of Palmer. There were also quite a number from Ord and Davis Creek.

St. Mary's Church Notes
St. Mary's church viewed an impressive rite at the 8:00 mass celebrated by the pastor, Rev. L. Ziolkowski when a class of 24 children received their Eucharistic King for the first time. The children were well prepared for the reception by the pastor who delivered a beautiful sermon on this memorable day. The first Communicants included the following: Adrian Jablonski, Roman Augustyn, Raymond Jablonski, Leonard Jablonski, Alvin Golka, Alfonso Weintak, Leonard Suminski, Daniel Augustyn, Freddie Wahlowski, Irene Dubas, Acellia Danczak, Irene Iwanski, Marie Iwanski, Alyce Jablonski, Domicella Zulkoski, Dorothy Zulkoski, Marie Zulkoski, Matilda Wadas, Alyce Swanek, Evelyn Jablonski, Luella Kusek and Rosana Kochoonowski.

A procession formed outside and the children marched to their respective places in the front pews on either side of the church. They marched to the altar in pairs for the reception of the sacrament. The class made a public profession of their baptismal vows before communion.

Mass was immediately followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament and a Corpus Christi procession in which the children of the Communion class, Father Leonard and the altar boys marched in procession followed by the ladies of the Rosary society and all the other parishioners to an erected altar on the church grounds at which benediction was held.

The children of the first Communion class were invested in the scapular after mass. Parents of the first Communicants also received Holy Communion at the same mass.

The altars were beautifully decorated with fresh garden flowers. The choir sang hymns at the mass.

The Work Sheet

"The Roving Reporter"

Leaving home about eight and stopping a minute at Gus Wetzel's. There they had 15 strawberry pickers, and four men employed, besides Gus, his wife and Neva. They have 2 acres of onions, 10 of cabbage, 2 of tomatoes, 13 of strawberries, 1 1/2 sweet potatoes, 2 of Irish potatoes, and 3 of miscellaneous. They have a small greenhouse and 150 feet of hot frames. Besides cooking for the crew, and working in the field Mrs. Wetzel finds time for a flower garden and chickens.

Stopping in town a minute and west again over a rough road, around a couple bridges (saving them still) and past a big road gang that is going to make a boulevard from North Loup into Mira Valley and to Arcadia. Further west and a mile north and for the first stop at Dan Cook's.

Can't Be Everywhere.
Mrs. Cook came to the door and said her son Billie nearly choked when he thought I had forgotten them. I assured her I had not, that I just couldn't get around to every place in one day or trip, and I was always a little stumped to know when to stop and who to leave for next week.

Her son Billie and daughters Marilyn and Roberta become acquainted with Dick at once and went of climbing trees and doing the place. Like doing the town. They scrambled around and found three or five old, old guns that Dan's grandfather's brother had carried in the Civil war. These guns were real old timers. Mrs. Cook also showed me a buffalo skull and horns that had been picked up on the creek some time ago.

60-Year-Old Tree.
This is a pretty place, with a fifty year old hackberry tree in the back yard. Dan's father had built the place up from nothing at all and lived here all his life. Now Dan and his pleasant wife hope to hang onto it to be handed on down perhaps. Here's hoping they have better luck hanging on than many I know of. Grandma Cook was scampering around the yard, too, as lively as a school kid, and I was introduced to her.

West again and north a ways and stopping at Louis Jobst's. They were not at home, but I noticed a nice blue spruce tree in the front, a friendly black pup with a wagging tail at the gate, a can of milk in the tank, and a big grove of trees to the north. Back south and turning into the west of the road at Ed Lenz's. Ed was disappointed. He and I are old friends. It happened this way. We shipped cattle to Omaha together a few times, and upon such trips fellows either become the best of friends or the worst of enemies.

Pretty Lenz Farm.
Nevertheless Mrs. Lenz (a Koelling) and two grown children were there, Edwin and Irma. They showed me the pretty place they have built up on the side hill, and a nice neat one it is too. A big red barn, a little yellow colt, a few fat steers, and a great windbreak of cottonwoods and elms to the north.

After this had been seen, I was escorted to the basement where Edwin had fixed up a shop. It would be a delight and pride of any boy, the cupboards, lights, benches, tools and everything meticulously where it belongs. At that minute he was making a radio. I told them he ought to come and straighten out my shop. When I want something I look for the scoop first. He had just made an ice cream freezer that turned with a motor and that took Dick's eye.

They have built up their place a little at a time, a room one year, a basement room another, and every year a few trees. In the course of time they have some things to be proud of. A place which makes life a little more worth living.

"Home ain't the place that gold can buy or get up in a minute. Afore its home there's got to be a heap o'livin' in it."
Then she gave Dick a piece of cake, which made him happy, and paid for a subscription, which made me happy, and we left, going across the road to the east.

Ideal Mother.
In a large white house, surrounded by large empty white barns is the home of Mrs. Henry Geweke sr., (another Koelling). Her hair is silvery white, she is tall and refined and I thought at once there would have been a picture to use for Mother's Day sometime.

She welcomed us into the house, but I told her I would rather look at her flower garden I already had peeked at as we knocked. So we meandered around the house and the first display was some luxuriant oriental poppies swinging tall and majestically in their bright cerise bonnets. Then the red and white peonies, and the sweet smelling pinks, one of which I used as a boutonniere. And the roses in great abundance and other flowers just budding to bloom when these are through. She said Mr. Geweke had planted most of these flowers and she was just keeping them growing. I mentioned the huge pine trees in the front yard and the maple too, and she said those trees have long been prize possessions.

He's a Gate Lingerer.
She presented Dick with an orange, and me with a hand full of flowers, and we started to leave but lingered near the gate for many minutes talking of my folks and hers. Reminded me of how I used to linger around at the gate about 15 years ago but the other person then was not a white haired grandmother.

"Even the roses round the porch must blossom year by year. Afore they come a part of ye suggestin' someone dear."
Who use to love 'em long ago and trained 'em jes' t' run.
The way they do, so's they would get the early morning sun; 'Ye've got t' love each brick and stone from cellar up t' dome. It takes a heap a livin' in a house to make a home."

The next stop was around a few corners and at Guy Sample's. It was quite a drive to their place, but worth the effort. The house sits on a low hill surrounded by large cottonwoods which were making the air look like the snow was falling. I told her I would give most anything I have, which isn't much, if those trees were in my yard. Like a big umbrella in the breezes whistling under. And the soporific rustle of the leaves would lull the most wakeful to slumberland.

Lone Star Quilt.
She showed me her nice garden, immaculate for weeds, a couple pieced quilts on the line (one a lone star), some fine Silver Laced Wyandotte chickens, and away we went back to the U. B. church and west to the Arcadia highway. North here and turning in at Archie Mason's. She was preparing some onions for dinner. I was invited into the house that was a nice one, and nicely furnished. A ship on the window stand was investigated by Dick. We talked a few minutes and were off. Archie said he had absolutely nothing to show me. They have a pretty house anyway.

Across the road and a little north to Jim Holsington's. I tried to inveigle him into parting with a dollar or two for the paper, but with no luck. I finally told him I would send him a sample copy free of all charge, and that would last for a week at least. As I understand he just lives there, Archie Mason farming the land. There are quite a number of places like that, or places that are vacant. I wonder if the tractors and big machinery are not responsible partly.

Finds Newlyweds.
Merrill Flynn's were the next victims. She was busy getting dinner and did not have much time to fiddle with agents. I found out later that she and Merrill were just recently moved there, and it has just been recently discovered they had been married for a long time.

Anyway they have a pretty house all filled full of nice new shiny furniture and rugs. We had some of that kind of furniture too, until the kids came along and began using the table for a fortress and the rockers for mangonels. Also I discovered toy tractors would leave marks on the shining walnut. As we left we noticed someone had planted a nice windbreak of Chinese elms and they were surely thriving this year.

The next stop was at Dick Thompson's. He, his boy Donald and his wife were eating dinner. I was invited into their nice porch and dining room, and to a chair for a chat. They have three eighties of some of the finest chickens in the county besides a large pasture to the south. A nice home, a tractor, a big barn on which is painted a picture of a sunflower and also "Sunflower Ranch." Mrs. Thompson did not like the name for she said there are no sunflowers on the place.

Cattle Feeding Talk.
We talked cattle feeding. We were both experts at telling about it all afterwards. He had been thinking of getting some lambs and had it all figured out how he might make a few thousand easy. He asked my advice but I do not know why. We both told how we had lost on this bunch or that but very little about the times we made money. That is quite characteristic with cattle feeders. Always pretending they are losing and that the profit is nil, even if they are making barrels of money. It is told the only way to make money feeding cattle is to have hogs follow the cattle and chickens follow the hogs. His yards are all empty now.

I started to leave. He called me back. Said we hadn't talked politics any yet. Asked me how my campaign for governor was coming. They intimidated I was a democrat and I was about ready to tear into him when I found he was only joking. He thought I ought to give the county board more hell. That they needed it, and if I did I would not only be doing noble work but also heaping undying popularity on myself. He also said the democrats are going to spend the $800,000,000 for public works and the 4 billion to reelect themselves. I told him in that event they were smarter than I thought. I gathered he was a G. O. Per.

Tall Rye Field.
Back to the road and a half mile west to Chas. King's. Mrs. King came to the door and said there was nothing there to mention, but as we hurried back I noticed some large white spring chickens (3 or 4 pounders) and some rye in a nearby field as high as my head. The next stop at Frank Hackel's. He was saddling a horse to go out in the field. He deferred action a minute and let Dick have a ride. He, too, said he had nothing worth putting in the paper. He has a nice place there with a big white house with green screens.

And the next "turn in" was on the east at Joe Bonne's. His wife appeared at the windmill, and after smiling slyly a time or two revealed the fact they had only been married a couple weeks. I told her that's all right I had pulled the same stunt once myself. She said they got lots of presents and had a big wedding dance. "You did," I told her, "the next time invite me." After a second she smiled and said she didn't think there would be any next time. They had a bunch of chickens in the hog house. I told her they were older than two weeks. And she said she and her husband each raised a few before they were married. So I deduced it was not a love at first sight affair. Wishing her much joy and good fortune we hurried on.

On to another house and there a big truck sat and on it was marked Louie Chlowski. His wife and three small "chillens" came to the screen and told me they took the sheet. Louie had started to make a windmill battery charger in the front yard but was about the nearest one I have seen yet. He has not finished it, but she says he plans to soon.

Big Crop of Alfalfa.
Around the corner of the gravel and noticing Rollan Marks mowing the redolent alfalfa. It was a big crop. He said last year there was not one cutting. He said I better go take another better picture of his dad's horse. I told him that picture did not do the horse justice. That it really was a fine horse but the picture looked like his leg was about to drop off. I said the printers are all to blame. That I never saw the picture before it came out in the paper. Passed the buck so to speak.

As I drove by his house his wife and youngsters were in a nice garden and some nice yellow Jerseys were in a nearby rye field. She is Hugh Clement's girl, haled from North Loup, is a S. D. B. and that is nothing to be ashamed of either.

Salling on east and turning south at the next corner. John Burrows was next on the list. He said he took three papers. I wondered about it and he said he gave two of his "moved away" kids the paper for a Christmas present. Then he told me the old house (now a garage) was the first Vinton school and the one where he attended when a young hellion.

More Fine Horses.
Then he showed me a couple dandy little colts and told me he had the little in the field near by. I said I would take his picture if he was willing to take the chance. That it might even turn out worse than J. M.'s. The leg might fall clear off. He decided to have it taken and we trudged to the field, unharnessed the horse, and "took him." He is a nice bay three year old, a grade Belgian, and will be a lot bigger and nicer in a couple years. John has about sixty shiny striped pigs and was quite proud of them. He has it doped out there are not many little pigs in the country and I had that doped out too.

Across the road to Irvin King's. Mrs. King came to the door and chatted a minute. She is another N. L. girl, was nice looking when a girl and has not out-grown it either. They have three fine youngsters that were playing on the front porch, and now H. D. don't tell anyone because the girl might get vain, or the neighbors jealous, but their older child, about 12, is one of the prettiest in the land. Dark bright eyes, black naturally curly hair, and fair as a lily. But she doesn't know it and that makes her prettier yet. Too bad they botched up our mugs so, isn't it?

Windbreak Died.
Mrs. King said there was nothing to tell except the windbreak to the west and north had about all died out last year for which they felt very badly. Irvin was in the field go-devilling with a tractor. On south to Nels Hansen. Mrs. Hansen came to the door and so did their bright little girl that smiled as she spoke. This lass and Dick mounted a pretty spotted pony and went galloping off in the field and forgot to come back. Mrs. Hansen and I visited, and I enjoyed hearing her talk with that Danish cadence. She had quite a lot of chickens and raised them all with old hens.

While I waited for Dick and the girl to return I walked across the road to Geo. Nass'. Mrs. Nass (Mrs. Hansen's sister) was feeding the chickens, geese and "gooselings" some of which had just arrived on earth. I asked her if the outside stairway of the corn crib lead to the granary and she said, "No, we just keep junk up there." Then I said, "It must be a junkery."

She said George was stacking hay so I sauntered out there. He was trying to hurry with tough hay, hoping to get it stacked before the big rain that was coming and did come. Gus Dobberstein and Chas. Hiner from Ord were helping stack. When I failed to get money out of George I attacked these fellows. Gus said he took it and Chas. said he borrowed it. That was all right only it just cheated me out of a sale.

Flying back north I leaped a house off to the east, but I couldn't figure any road to get there and don't know who lives there either. If I could find an entrance I'd tour over some time.

Fine New Tractor.
The next stop was at Stanley Gross'. He was tractoring, cultivating some tiny corn, with his big brand spanking new tractor. It drove into the yard. They have a big white house with a fancy double porch on the west. Mrs. Gross talked a minute through the screen.

She said the dog with the sore on his back had been in a terrible fight. That he was a fine dog and they thought for a while he would die. That they were tearing down the old house there and building other buildings out of it. That they took the paper, and raised Moscow ducks if they did not die.

Hurrying on north and turning in at Oscar Travis'. Many years I have heard my mother tell of the Travis' and of trips her folks would make up Mira Valley to visit these people. I wonder if Oscar was not named for my grandfather.

He was feeding his chickens. I told him to go ahead which he did. Then I noticed his rose bushes in the front yard gravid with pink and red roses. He picked a handful for me to take home to the wife.

Wisconsin Settlers.
Then we fell to telling old time stories we had heard. We both are of the younger generation. He said his sister, Myra Watson was named for my mother and he was better posted on my mother's aunts than I am. These aunts sort of took my mother under their wing. The Travis' came from the same place in Wisconsin that my ancestors did. Mine came in '72 and his couple years later. As a result they had to go further north and west for their claims. I mentioned he has a pretty place there and he said it ought to be. His folks had been long enough building it up. Since '76, when it was bought of the B. & M. R. The place across the road east was the homestead.

Then I told him of one of the bedtime stories my mother used to tell. Her aunts, Mrs. Plummer Horr and Mrs. Heme Babcock, loaded her and a few other little tag-alongs in a wagon, hooked up a pair of oxen and started a journey to Travis' for a visit of a day or two.

Somewhere in Mira Valley (along about Clement's perhaps) the ladies noticed a smoke. They at once became alarmed. They hurried those slow plodding steers a little. Everywhere was tall grass. Should the fire catch them without question all would be killed.

Plowed Field Saved Them.
In a few minutes they sped a plowed field. With anything available they began whipping and prodding their oxen and worked them to a run. The smoke came nearer and nearer and soon the flames were seen. And just in the nick of time the oxen, carrying the two women and little kids in the heavy wagon lumbered on in the plowing as the fire swept by. Needless to say they were plenty scared and needless also to say none of these folks ever forgot it.

I did not stop at the next place. Another batch lives here, by the name of Chas. Kirby and I could see him out in the field. I could see he has a nice big house, plenty big enough for another and a pretty sorrel saddle horse tethered in the front yard.

Past the new Vinton school house and a quad engine nearby for the kids to play with, no doubt. On east and then a few miles south and a few more east, past the road gang going home, around the bridge someone is still saving and meeting Ed Knapp with his sorrel horse. This is a venerable old horse and the sire of some of the nicest colts in the country. A Chas. Bals Belgian with cream colored trimmings and plenty big. I took his picture and hurried home.

"never missed a game"

William Harridge
President of the American League says:

"We have been fortunate in our use of the railroads. Not once, to the best of my memory, has a ball player been hurt in a railroad accident. Moreover, we have never missed a scheduled game because of a railroad delay. . . . We would be foolish, therefore—to say nothing of being ungrateful—if we were to switch."

Proceedings of the County Board

No. 1,000. UNITED STATES OF AMERICA STATE OF NEBRASKA COUNTY OF VALLEY REFUNDING BOND

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That the County of Valley, State of Nebraska, hereby acknowledges itself to owe and for value received promises to pay to bearer the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) in lawful money of the United States of America on the first day of September 19--

The County reserves the option of paying this bond on the first day of September 1940, or any time thereafter.

This bond is one of an issue of 51 bonds, numbered from 1 to 51, both numbers inclusive, of a total principal amount of Fifty-one Thousand Dollars ($51,000.00) of like date and to mature herewith as to maturity by taking up and paying off its valid outstanding Refunding Bonds, of the principal amount of Fifty-one Thousand Dollars ($51,000.00), dated September 1, 1931, and in full compliance with the provision of Article 6, Chapter 11, of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, 1929, and pursuant to a resolution duly passed by the board of County Supervisors of said County.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law to exist or to be done, precedent to and in the issuance of this bond, and precedent to and in the issuance of the bonds refunded by the issuance of this bond, and the other bonds of the series of which this bond forms a part, did exist, did happen, and were done and performed in regular and due form and time as required by law, and that the indebtedness of the said County, including this bond, does not at this time exceed and did not, at the time of the incurring of the indebtedness, refunded by the issuance of this bond and the other bonds of the series of which this is one, exceed any limitation imposed by law, and the County covenants to levy annually a sufficient tax to pay principal and interest on this bond as the same became due.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, the County of Valley, by its Board of County Supervisors, has caused this bond to be executed in its behalf by being signed by the Chairman and attested by the County Clerk, and by causing the official seal of said County to be hereto affixed, and has caused the interest coupons hereto attached to be executed on behalf of the County by having affixed hereto the engraved facsimile signatures of said Chairman and Clerk, and the Chairman and Clerk do, by the execution of this bond, adopt as and for their own proper signatures their respective facsimile signatures on said coupons.

Dated, this first day of March, 1935. COUNTY OF VALLEY, NEBRASKA

By: Chairman

ATTEST: County Clerk (SEAL) (FORM OF COUPON)

No. On the first day of March (September), 19-- the County of Valley, Nebraska, will pay to bearer -- Dollars at the office of the Treasurer of Valley County at Ord, Nebraska, for interest due on that date on its Refunding Bond, dated March 1, 1935 No. -- (provided said bond be not paid prior thereto).

County Clerk Chairman Section 5. The County Clerk shall make and certify a complete statement of all proceedings had and done by said County precedent to the issuance of said bonds for filing with the Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Nebraska. After being executed by the Chairman and County Clerk, said bonds shall be delivered to the County Treasurer who shall be responsible therefor under his official bond. The Treasurer shall cause said bonds to be transmitted with the certified copy of transcript aforementioned to the Auditor of Public Accounts of the State of Nebraska and be registered in the said State Auditor's office and shall then cause the same to be registered in the office of the County Clerk of Valley County, Nebraska. The Treasurer is authorized and directed to deliver the Refunding Bonds issued heretofore under the Kirkpatrick-Pettis-Loomis Company in exchange for said outstanding Refunding Bonds at par for par or upon said purchaser paying for the same in cash as provided in the contract heretofore made.

Section 6. The Chairman and Board of County Supervisors shall cause to be levied and collected annually taxes on all the taxable property of said County sufficient in amount to pay the principal of and interest on said bonds when the same become due.

Section 7. This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and adoption according to law. The foregoing resolution having been read, the action to adopt the same was seconded by Mr. Barber. After discussion, the roll was called on the passage and adoption of said resolution and the following voted "Aye": Jablonski, Desmul, Ball, Zikmund, Barber, Johnson and Hansen, "Nay": none. The said resolution having been concurred in and having received the affirmative vote of more than a majority of all the members elected to the County Board, the same was by the Chairman declared duly passed and adopted.

The committee on roads and bridges then submitted its monthly report for May, which was upon motion duly carried, accepted and ordered placed on file. Supervisor Ball then offered the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION. WHEREAS managers of the lumber yards of Valley County, appeared before this Board protesting against the sale of new road and bridge material by the County of Valley to the various township Boards of the County for Townships.

BE IT RESOLVED that from and after the adoption of this resolution, the County of Valley, discontinue such practice, and refrain from selling any new bridge and/or road material to the Townships or any of them.

(Signed) Ellsworth Ball, Jr. Motion to adopt was seconded by Zikmund, and having been concurred in, upon roll, the motion carried and said resolution was unanimously adopted.

Resolution authorizing Nebraska State Bank of Ord, Nebraska, to withdraw $3,000.00 of City of Wakefield School District Bonds, from deposit with the First Trust Company of Lincoln, to secure Valley County Funds, was unanimously adopted.

BE IT RESOLVED by this Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley, The State of Nebraska, in regular session assembled that all of the outstanding Valley County Refunding Bonds, being those dated September 1st, 1931, bearing 3-4% payable annually, numbered from number thirteen (13) to sixty-seven (67) both numbers inclusive, in the denomination of One Thousand Dollars each, and bearing the right of redemption by the county of Valley on any interest payment date, be called for payment by said County of Valley on September 1st, 1935. These outstanding bonds mature Four Thousand Dollars on each September 1st from September 1st, 1935 to September 1st, 1940, both dates inclusive and Five Thousand Dollars on September 1st, 1940, and Five Thousand Dollars on each September 1st from this date of September 1st, 1948, both dates inclusive.

The foregoing resolution was introduced by Supervisor Desmul, who moved its adoption. Same having been concurred in, motion to adopt was seconded by Supervisor Ball, and upon roll call, supervisors Jablonski, Desmul, Ball, Zikmund, Barber, Johnson and Hansen voted "Aye", none voting "Nay". Great Hail Storm of 1884 Is Described By Early Day Resident of Custer County

By Grace Baldwin

My grandfather, George Hicks, moved with his family from Glenora, Penn. to Ord, Nebr. when my mother was close to nine years old. That was in 1833. They remained in Ord for a few months during which time my grandfather filed on a pre-emption in the northeastern part of Custer county. They moved to their new home on the day that my mother was nine years old, which was July 10. Grandfather had built a three room sod house with a sod roof and a small sod stable with a hay roof. The following spring he borrowed three cows from three neighbors who had more than they wished to milk and were willing to loan their extra cows. Grandmother bought a sow which brought them a litter of eight pigs that spring. During the spring and summer A. D. Bowman loaned them a team consisting of an old mare and Jenny. To were enthusiastic over these acquisitions would be putting it mildly. They were wild with delight.

To them fell a good deal of the picketing and repicketing of the cows. Mother soon learned to milk and with her mother's help did this chore regularly for grandfather away from home earning money to provide new stock and provisions. When the eight pigs were ready to wean the only place they had in which to confine them was a four foot deep hole, some six or eight feet across, which had been the beginning of a well someone had begun and abandoned. There was no feed except skimmed milk for the pigs so mother and her sisters walked a quarter of a mile to a neighbor's tree claim and gathered weeds. They would tie all they could carry in a rope and bring them back on their shoulders for the pigs. Of course this was a daily job.

Mother and her three sisters were all of school age and went to a school three and a quarter miles away. It was while they were at school one day in June 1834 that the hail storm, of which I write, came. Grandfather was away working as usual. During the afternoon Mrs. P. Bell, one of the neighbors, rode over to have grandfather help her make some pink calico dresses which she had bought for her girls for the Fourth of July. Grandmother had bread to bake that day but she was not too busy to help with the sewing never-the-less. Mrs. Bell's mare they picketed on grass in a valley near the house. There she was entirely contented with her two weeks old colt during the day while the women baked, sewed and visited.

About mid-afternoon a heavy cloud blotted out the sunlight. Thunder began to rumble ominously and white flashes of lightning to break the blackness of the cloud. The storm was coming rapidly as the rolling clouds indicated. A breathless hush hung in the air and a yellow glare overspread everything. Mrs. Bell became nervous and decided to go home, but grandfather, dissuaded her, telling her that the storm would break before she could ride the mile and one-half to her home. Grandmother was right. As she spoke the wind rose with a wild roar bringing with it a perfect avalanche of hail. The sod roof dulled the sound of the storm in the women's ears but from the windows they could see the magnitude of the icy tempest. After what seemed hours to the women the down fall of hail slackened and torrents of rain began to fall. Grandmother had remembered her bread from the oven just before the storm struck. Knowing that the living room kitchen leaked badly she put the loaves, end down into the dish pan and set it on her bed where it could cool and be reasonably safe from a leak. After the rain was over and the still grumbling storm cloud had drawn away to the eastward Mrs. Bell and grandmother went outside to see how the stock had fared. The first sight which met their gaze was Mrs. Bell's mare and colt standing in water and floating ice up to the mare's sides. The colt was crowding against the mare and a coil of the wet rope was twisted about its neck. Grandmother quickly removed her shoes and stockings and fastened the hem of her skirts about her waist and waded into the icy stream. Mrs. Bell begged her to come back but grandmother kept on. She had a difficult time getting the rope untangled from around the two animals, but at last she succeeded. The colt she had to half carry, half shove along. After stabling the horses and giving the colt a brisk rubbing they left the stable. All at once Mrs. Bell exclaimed: "Oh, Mrs. Hicks, your pigs! Look they'll be drowned!"

Looking where the woman pointed grandmother could see only the pink noses of the pigs moving along on the surface of the water which had nearly filled the hole in which they were confined. Getting down on her knees grandmother grappled for the pigs and one by one hauled them out. Mrs. Bell took them from her and carried them to the barn.

When they had the pigs in safety they went to the house. Grandmother went to the bedroom to change to dry clothing and there another disaster met her eyes. The sod roof had sprung a new leak and the dish pan, which contained the bread was completely filled with black muddy water and a great pool of dirty water stood in the hollow of the bed clothes around the pan. She had just got this mess cleaned up when mother and her sisters arrived from school. J. W. Ross, who lived near grandfather's, had gone to school to the schoolhouse and piloted all the school children who lived northeast of Victoria Creek across that stream and all the water-filled ravines between the school house and their homes.

The Hicks girls were wet and chilled. Grandmother hurried them into dry clothing. Then she helped Mrs. Bell get started for home. Mrs. Bell was very much worried for she had left her husband to care for the tiny children, the larger ones being in school, and she knew he could not leave the house to look after stock or go for the other children. Also Mrs. Bell's residence was built on the very bank of Victoria Creek and such a storm as this one would be sure to cause the stream to overflow its banks. Grandmother found out later that Mrs. Bell found her husband and all her children safe, as a neighbor had brought the older children home from school and the creek, instead of overflowing around their buildings had overflowed the opposite bank. In places Victoria Creek overflowed its banks that time until it was a quarter-mile wide.

For several years after grandfather settled in Custer County the rattlesnakes were very numerous. Every family of children carried "snake sticks". These "snake sticks" were stout clubs long enough to enable any of the larger children to kill a rattler without getting too close to the snake. The children were just as careful not to forget their "snake stick" as they were their lunch pails. Very few children "cut across" meadows or pastures on account of the rattlers being so thick in the grass. Small children were not started to school unless there were older ones in the family or a neighbor's children passing their home to send them with.

One time mother's youngest sister, Minta, was bitten by a snake shortly after the children had returned from school. As it happened there was nothing at hand to doctor the snakebite with so mother was dispatched to George Steele's to get onions. It was a walk of a mile and a half. Steele's had winter onions growing rank. With a large bundle of these mother returned home. A few at a time the onions were bound on Minta's badly swollen foot. For quite a while the onions came off the wound as green as grass, but after awhile they came away retaining their white color and Minta was pronounced out of danger. The onions which had been used to draw the poison from the snake bite were buried so that they could not be eaten by the poultry and cause death among them.

Grandfather and his family lived in Custer county for twelve years. Then they got Missouri fever and left. After nearly five unprofitable years in Missouri they came back and bought land about thirteen miles northeast of Burwell, Nebraska. Here they lived until grandfather and grandmother were too old to live alone. Their children were all grown and married so they spent their last years in their children's homes and rented out their land.

requisition reduced, provided he can make a showing to the relief office or case worker that he has made earnest efforts to obtain employment.

2. Where client has earned more than 25 per cent of his budget on outside work, his work requisition will be reduced by the difference between the amount he has earned and 25 per cent of his budget.

Relief Not a Job.

"Far too many have considered work relief as a job," Elmore states. "It has never been so represented by the administration nor will they permit it to be so considered by those on the relief rolls."

Rumors that some people on relief are turning down jobs offered to them prompts director Kruml to ask that such cases be reported promptly. He appreciates cooperation given him along this line in the past and also in hiring people on relief rolls.

"Relief clients must take advantage of every opportunity to secure outside work," he says.

Ord Kittenballers Give Elba Team 1st Defeat Of Season

With Lynn Beeghly pitching two-hit ball and the Ord team playing almost errorless ball behind him, Ord softball players walloped Elba 2 to 0 on the Russell park field Sunday evening, this being the first defeat sustained by Elba during the current season.

L. Zych, the star Elba hurler, also was also stingy and gave Ord only three safe blows but one was a three-base clout by Harry-Wolf. Both Ord's scores were made in the first inning.

This was Ord's first victory in the new Popcorn Valley Softball league and the fact that the league-leading Elba team was the victim didn't set so well with the Elbaites, who made furious protests when Umpire Harry Christensen called a third strike on R. Palaz to end the seventh inning and the ball game. For a few minutes it looked like a fight would take place as Ord and Elba fans came piling onto the diamond to help their respective teams but soberer counsel prevailed.
