Ord Raising Money To Make Christmas Lighting Best Ever

Santa and Reindeer Will Top Court House, Canopy Of Lights on Square.

Given an initial donation of $75 by the chamber of commerce, a committee composed of Dwight W. Keyes, George Allen, Verne Weller and Freeman Haught was urged to solicit additional funds from business men and then install the most elaborate Christmas lighting and decorative effect central Nebraska has ever seen. Within the next few days the lights will be installed.

Central figure in the decorative scheme planned by the committee will be large lighted figures of Santa Claus, his sleigh and reindeer, atop the court house. From the court house roof will radiate strings of colored lights to the outside edge of the court house yard, giving the effect of an enormous canopy of lights.

Three thousand feet of wire with colored lights one foot apart will be used for these decorations, which will supplement the lights across every street in the business district erected for the irrigation celebration in October and left up for holiday use.

In addition to decorations mentioned above one hundred 5-foot Christmas trees, with lights for each, will be put up along the curb line throughout the business district.

The committee reports that business firms are contributing generously to the fund and that the goal is $250, all of which will be spent to make Ord the best dressed town in central Nebraska during the holiday season. It is believed that people will come from great distances to see the elaborate lighting effects.

Merchants are urged to cooperate by decorating their own places of business, particularly store fronts and windows, with colored lights, wreaths, Christmas trees, replicas of the patron saint of Christmas, and other decorations. Most stores already have their interiors decorated in holiday colors and have gift merchandise on display. People are buying toys and gifts earlier than usual, it is claimed, and Ord is set for a big holiday trade.

During the final week before Christmas stores will remain open until 9 o'clock or later each evening, so people who wish to come here to see the beautiful lighting effects may do their shopping at the same time.

Ord Church Will Display Bibles

Sunday, Dec. 6 is national Bible Sunday. It is being observed in the Ord Presbyterian church in an interesting way. The Rev. Mr. Woodruff has been asking for old Bibles, family Bibles, foreign language Bibles, and Bibles brought into Valley county by the first homesteaders. The result has been interesting.

Mr. Woodruff reports that he has Bibles in Bohemian, Polish, Swedish, and Danish. As far as can be determined at the present writing, the Bible brought to Valley county by M. B. Goodenow in the spring of 1872, was the first to come into this county. When Lorenzo Blessing came west in 1873 he brought the Blessing family Bible with records of births, marriages, and deaths for several generations. These and many more Bibles will be on display at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning. If you have an interesting Bible in a foreign language, a family Bible, or one brought into this county in the early days, Mr. Woodruff would appreciate your calling him before Sunday that he might know of it.

Biamond Home Now Being Remodeled

The past week Frank Glover with a crew of carpenters has been busy repairing the damage done to the M. Biemond home by the fire two weeks ago. The house is getting an entire new roof, and the ceiling joists on the second floor are put in new, with the exception of the north room. All the upstairs ceilings and part of the walls will have to be replastered, and a few places on the ground floor, most of which is in fair condition. The bathroom at the south end of the second floor, was the room worst hit, and will require the most work to repair. After all this work is done most of the house will have to be repapered, and some of the floors refinished. At the present rate of progress it will not be long until the building will be ready for occupancy. Pending repairs, the Biemond family are living in the Gust Rose house in southwest Ord.

John Conner of Ord entered St. Francis hospital at Grand Island for surgical treatment Monday.

Chris Beiers Spent Two Months in Europe, Says Germany Plans War

Hitler Military Machine Is No Myth, Says Ord Man; Visited Old Home.

Chris Beiers, Ord implement man, arrived in Ord from his nearly three months spent in a vacation trip to Denmark and other places in Europe. Chris, together with Stanley Kordick who lives southeast of Ord, left Ord by auto early in September. They made the trip to New York City without incident. There they went on board ship, car and all. The trip over took seven days, and as the weather conditions were fair, everybody had a fine time. The facilities for enjoying one's self on ship board are much better than they were when Chris first came over as a boy of 16, he says. They have all kinds of games, some of them of a gambling nature, and for those who do not care to play there is a picture show every other night, and dances on the nights between. Everybody on board soon gets to talking to everybody else, as they are all out to have a good time.

Win McMichael Dead

Arcadia (Special)—Win McMichael, 80, dropped dead in front of his living quarters at 6:15 p. m. Monday, death being ascribed to a heart ailment. He was one of Arcadia's oldest residents. The body was taken to the Hastings mortuary pending funeral arrangements. Mr. McMichael is survived by two sons, Harry and Win, both of whom live here.

Ord Legionnaires Will Be Hosts To 600 At Convention

December 16 Is Date of Big District Session of the Legion, Auxillary.

Plans for the big district convention of the American Legion and Auxillary are going forward according to schedule, and everything points to one of the biggest days Ord has seen for some time. The date will be Dec. 16, and there are to be nearly 150 delegates here from over the district for the Legion alone, and fully as many more for the Auxillary meeting. In addition it has been found that there are always a large number who come and register who are not delegates and this will mean possibly double the number of delegates will be here to attend the session.

The Auxillary will hold its meetings in the Legion hall, and the first part of the session will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning. This will be followed by a lunch at noon, served in the basement of the hall, with sessions in the afternoon. The Legion has rented the Z. C. B. J. hall for their deliberations, which will be held in the afternoon, from 1:30 to 5:30. A banquet for both Legionnaires and the Auxillary will be held in the high school auditorium in the evening, followed by a dance at the Z. C. B. J. hall in the evening. The registration fee for the day is $1.

Registration of delegates will begin at 10 o'clock at the Legion hall for the ladies, and at the Z. C. B. J. hall for the Legionnaires. J. N. Klina is in charge of registration of the men at the convention hall. At the Legion meeting at the hall last night Service Officer Alfred Wiegard, who has charge of general arrangements, announced that arrangements had been completed for the place, lighting, welcome signs, badges, banquet and dance. As it is the Christmas season, the streets will be lighted for the occasion which will take care of the lighting problem. Carl Dale is toastmaster for the big banquet. Dean Duncan is in charge of music for the banquet and Joe Puncocchar's orchestra will play for the dance. Arrangements are being made for chairs and tables to seat at

Struck by Auto, Killed

J. A. Haggart, 32, pioneer resident of St. Paul, was fatally injured when struck by a car at Bellflower, Calif., a week ago. He passed away at a hospital in that city last Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Haggart had gone to California to spend the winter only a short time ago. Mr. Haggart was dragged 35 feet by the car that hit him, and six ribs and his left leg were fractured. The body is being sent to St. Paul for burial, which will take place Friday at 2:00 p. m. from the Presbyterian church in St. Paul.

Mr. Haggart was the father of Mrs. Leslie Mason, who lives north of Ord in Gartfield county.

Fourteen Students On Ord Honor Roll

The honor roll for the first quarter of school consists of fourteen senior and junior high students of the Ord school. These students have grade of either four A's or three A's and one B: Lillian Kusek, Lorraine Kusek, Elizabeth Smith, Opal Miller, Lillian Karly, Wilma Kluna, Dora Misko, Marjorie Hughes, Jean Ferguson, Harry McBeth, Angelina Wachtrie, Beverly Davis, Betty Vogelanz and Helen Work.

People who received honorable mention and received four B's or three B's and one C are as follows: Virginia Clark, Virginia DeHart, Barbara Dale, Armona Achen, Dick Koupal, Willard Cushing, Dorothy Auble, Erna Larsen, Wilma Kluna, Virginia Davis, Alice Mathauser, Edward Puncocchar, Ernest James, Robert Miller, Rosemary Nielsen, Virginia Sack, Irma Mae Weller, Mildred Klanecky, Joe Capron, Edmon Mathauser, Alven Zikmund, Kendall Wiegard, Margie Smith, Wilma Ollis, Alberta Flynn, Mildred Moudry, Shirley Schrader, Amelia Lola, Marie Rohla, and Lavay Umstead.

Kirkendall Is In Jail

James Kirkendall tried a run-out on a board bill last week, but without success. He went to Burwell, leaving the impression that he had gone to California, but word of his location got out and Deputy Fred Cohen went up and brought him down. In Judge Andersen's court Monday he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of trying to evade payment of a board bill in the sum of $32.10, and was fined $35.00 and costs amounting to $3.88. In lieu of the cash he is spending his time in the county jail.

Middle Loup Will Begin Construction

Arcadia—(Special)—Early this week a new dragline owned by A. T. Stewart, of Lincoln, contractor on Canal No. 1 of the Middle Loup project, passed through here en route to Comstock, where the Stewart forces will have headquarters. Construction is beginning this week on the Middle Loup project.

The dragline is a mammoth piece of machinery weighing 50 tons and having a bucket large enough to excavate two cubic yards of earth at each "bite." Two flat cars were needed to transport it. It is so heavy that it cannot be taken across bridges so it will be driven under its own power across the river at a shallow place. Tractors and other equipment also have been brought here by Contractor Stewart.

One mile of canal will be excavated each week that weather permits work to continue at full speed, the contractor promises.

Write of Ord for P. W. A.

Four Ord high school students, Evelyn Ollis, Wilma Richardson, Irene Hansen and Boyd Rose, have completed a "Visual Description of Ord" which they have submitted to the state PWA Writers Association for a new "Guide Book of Nebraska."

Will Give Xmas Play

"Why the Chimes Rang," a one-act Christmas play, will be presented by the Ord high school drama club, the Thespians, on the afternoon of Dec. 22 at the high school auditorium. Miss Ellen Seryine is director.

Jolly Sisters Meet

The Jolly Sisters club met last Tuesday with Mrs. Jake Behrle with a good attendance present.

Haskell Dives Over Final Stripe to Give Ord 6-0 Victory

It's over! This action photo taken by Lavern Duemey at the Ord-Loup City Thanksgiving day clash, shows the Chanticleers forcing over the pigskin in the second quarter of the game for the winning touch-down. With the 6 to 0 win over the Brownies the Chanticleers complete a two year record of 17 wins without defeat, piling up 229 points to their opponents 12.

No. Loup District Asks For Bids On 68 Miles of Canal

December 24 Is Date Fixed For Letting Contracts On Canal Excavation.

Contracts for construction of 67.69 miles of main canal, including all canals except the 10-mile stretch now being dug between Ord and North Loup, will be let by directors of the North Loup power and irrigation project at the city hall in Ord at 9:00 a. m., Thursday, Dec. 24, according to an official notice to contractors published for the first time in this issue of the Quiz.

The legal notice to the prospective bidders is signed by Bert M. Hardenbrook, president of the district, and Jos. P. Barta, secretary.

Units on which bids are sought include:

- Ord-North Loup canal, 6.36 miles.
- Burwell-Sumter canal, 12.75 miles.
- Burwell-Sumter canal, 11.23 miles.
- Taylor-Ord canal, 15 miles.
- Taylor-Ord canal, 19.15 miles.
- Taylor pump line, main lateral, 3.20 miles.

Contractors may bid on any one of these six units may bid on the entire 23.98 miles in the Burwell-Sumter canal, the entire 34.15 miles in the Taylor-Ord canal or on the 3.20 miles in the Taylor pump line lateral, which will irrigate a block of acreage not under the ditch and to which water must be pumped.

Right-of-way signing has been proceeding at a gratifying pace, says E. H. Dummire, engineer-manager of the project, and this is the reason all canals yet to be constructed were included in this advertisement for bids. At first it was feared the Burwell-Sumter canal could not be included in this advertisement. Should right-of-way signing on this canal not proceed as rapidly as desired, it is likely that the board will reject bids on this stretch Dec. 24 and call for new bids later. It is fervently hoped, however, that such delay will not be necessary. If open weather continues, it is thought that all canals will be in process of construction soon after January 1.

Advertising for bids on dams and other structures will be the next step, it was said at the irrigation office yesterday. Officials are anxious to get this work started as it will furnish a great amount of hand labor, an element almost totally lacking in canal construction which is done to a large extent by machinery.

Frazier Furniture Adds New Equipment

Harlan T. Frazier installed this week one hundred new folding chairs which will be used in his funeral chapel. These are a great improvement over those formerly used, as they are much more comfortable, and their use avoids unnecessary noise. Another added department, which has not been stressed in the past is the used furniture section in the basement. He has there a large assortment of high quality used furniture, with plenty of space in which to display it to customers. This also leaves more room in the regular furniture section for the display of his new furniture line. Mr. Frazier is also carrying a large line of caskets, much larger than is usually carried in a town the size of Ord.

O. O. S. Meets

The O. O. S. club met at Mrs. Wm. Zablouddi's last Tuesday.

Ord's Veteran Peace Keepers Now Decked Out in Official Uniforms

Here are shown Chief of Police L. H. Covert and Night Officer Roy Pardue, all decked out in the official uniforms purchased for them last week by the city council. Both are veteran keepers of the peace in Ord, Pardue having served as night marshal seventeen years and Covert as chief since May, 1924. Laverne Duemey, now in charge of the Quiz photo-engraving department, took this picture and made the engraving.

Ord Grid Squad, Ken McGinnis, Will Be Honored

Chamber of Commerce Plans Reception, Will Invite Coaches Bible, Weir.

A reception honoring members of the Ord high school grid squad, which last week completed a victorious season with a 6-0 win over Loup City by which achievement they captured championship honors in both the Mid-Six and Loup Valley conferences, is being planned by the Ord chamber of commerce. Another honored guest will be Kenneth McGinnis, former Ord high student and first Ord boy in history to earn a football letter at the University of Nebraska. Kenneth, who is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McGinnis, played guard on the Cornhusker team which this year won the Big Six championship.

No definite date for the affair has been set by chamber of commerce officials but it probably will be held soon after the Christmas holidays start.

Dana X Bible, coach of the Cornhuskers, and Ed Weir, freshman coach at the university, have been invited to be present. Weir has been asked to show moving pictures of Cornhusker games played this fall, as a feature of the program. Speakers probably will include John P. Misko, chamber of commerce president, Coach Brockman, Coaches Bible and Weir. A lunch will be served after the program.

So and Sew Club Meeting

The So and Sew club met on Thursday of last week with Mrs. J. P. Barta, with a fair attendance present.

Will Show Movies, Give Lecture At Ord Church Friday

Dr. Berf L. Story will appear at the Methodist church Friday night at 8 o'clock, showing moving pictures and telling his adventures in his recent trip around the world.

Dr. Story is pastor of the Methodist church of Kearney. Last summer he traveled on a seminar tour with Dr. Roy L. Smith of Los Angeles, starting at San Francisco and visiting all the important countries in the world in a tour lasting ten weeks. Among the countries visited were most of those in Europe, the Mediterranean countries of Africa, Japan, China and others.

Dr. Story took a moving picture camera and took several thousand feet of pictures for use in lectures when he returned. He will show many of these Friday night when he speaks in Ord.

Since returning to his home in September the doctor has been kept busy with speaking engagements before churches, schools, conventions and clubs, and it was only possible to secure him for this engagement because of changing the date of a convention.

The Friday night address at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock is open to the public. It is given in connection with an Epworth League rally to be attended by young people of ten neighboring towns. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken.

Jury Term is Set For December 14

Valley county's fall jury term of district court, postponed since October, will be held December 14. Judge E. G. Kroger has announced. Juries in the several cases awaiting trial will be empaneled from the following list of jurymen: Albert Brown, Earl Snodgrass, Wm. Toops, Joe Kamarad, Wm. M. Tullson, James Johnson, Alfred Carlson, Keith Lewis, Ed Wilcox, John Burrows, Archie H. Mason, Carl Treptow, Will Roth, Lawrence Waldmann, Rudolf Krahl, Carl Sorensen, Harvey Thomson, Rudolph Kokes, Stephen Carkoski, Oren Carr, Norman Holt, Elliot Clement and John Connor. Judge Kroger was in Ord Monday for a brief equity session and presided over petitions for naturalization. Citizenship was granted to Mrs. Harry Peiker, Joseph Coupl, jr., Josef Wojtasek and Mrs. Anna Lola.

Theater Barbershop Awning Is Damaged

A blaze, probably caused by some one flipping a cigarette butt into it, damaged the awning of the theater barbershop Thursday evening about 8:30 o'clock. Ed F. Beranek tried first aid with a fire extinguisher, but without much success, and Jim Gilbert and Forrest Johnson beat out the fire with an old broom. Next morning the owners took down the awning and put it in the basement for the winter.

Miss Zola Barta, a student at Kearney Normal, was home for the Thanksgiving vacation.

Chris Rasmussen Shot Himself On Thanksgiving Day

Domestic Troubles Resulted In Suicide of Laborer On County Highways.

About 9 o'clock last Thursday evening, while most Ord people were enjoying the closing hours of a happy Thanksgiving day, Chris Rasmussen, 48-year-old employee of the county highway department, went to a bedroom in his home west of the Ord Cooperative Creamery and shot himself through the heart. He died instantly.

His suicidal death came as the aftermath of a domestic argument which, neighbors say, had gone on intermittently several days. Rasmussen and his wife disagreed over a prospective son-in-law, Eldon Darrah, Mr. Rasmussen opposing his entry into the family and his wife favoring him, according to the story told officers.

About ten days before the suicide Mr. Rasmussen told a brother that he proposed to take his own life and a few moments before the fatal shot he told a young daughter what he intended to do.

He then went into his bedroom, stripped off his shirt and undershirt, and placed the muzzle of a 310-gauge shotgun against his breast. Removing a shoe, he pulled the trigger with the big toe of his right foot. The charge of shot penetrated his heart and when his family rushed into the room Mr. Rasmussen was dead.

Sheriff George S. Round and the county coroner, Alvin B. Lee, were informed at once and made a routine investigation but because evidence of the premeditated suicide was so clear no inquest was ordered.

Anders Christian Rasmussen was born in Gylling, Denmark on Feb. 9, 1888, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Peter Rasmussen. In 1907 he crossed the ocean and came at once to Valley county, where the remainder of his life was spent. At the time of his death Thursday, Nov. 26, he was 48 years, 9 months and 17 days old.

On Aug. 11, 1915 Mr. Rasmussen was married to Ella Nielsen and to them five children were born, all of whom survive. They are Thomas, Elsie, Lillian, Thora and George. Also left to mourn are his widow, a half-brother, Andrew Rasmussen, of Denmark, and five brothers and sisters who are Mrs. Kareline Rasmussen, Hampton, Denmark, Peter and Martin Rasmussen, Ord, Mrs. Anna Petersen, of Gylling, Denmark, Mrs. Elsie Christensen, of Aarhus, Denmark, Otto and Soren Rasmussen, of Vejle, Denmark, Mrs. Christine Sorensen, of Thermopolis, Wyo., and Mrs. Johanna Knudsen, of Clark, Denmark.

He was preceded in death by his parents, one brother, Rasmus, and a sister, Christin. After coming to this country Mr. Rasmussen engaged in farming until 1929, when he and his family moved to Ord. He was a hard worker, always anxious to provide abundantly for his family, was a man of happy disposition, trusted and liked by all who knew him. He will be genuinely mourned.

Funeral rites were held Sunday, Nov. 29 at the Sowl funeral parlors, Clarence Jensen, student pastor of the Danish Lutheran church of Ord officiating. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Start Flooding Rotary Ice Rink

Some time this week the city water department will begin flooding the Rotary-sponsored ice skating rink being built north of the high school building. George E. Allen told members of the Rotary club Monday evening. Through the cooperation of the federal NYA, digging has been going on for several days. At first the rink will be sprayed slowly with water, giving it a chance to soak up thoroughly before water is poured in. The spraying process may go on several days. Two years ago this was not done and water seeped away beneath the upper layer of ice, rendering the rink useless for several weeks. By spraying the dry earth and then flooding slowly during freezing weather it is believed a heavy layer of smooth ice can be assured. The public generally will be invited to make use of this free rink at all times except during school hours, according to Rotary club plans.

Cage Practice Opens

Ord junior high opened the basketball season Monday evening as they held their first practice session in the grade school gym. Frank Lee, in charge of intramural sports, announced that about 25 boys turned out for the first practice.

Anton Beran is up from Lincoln and is spending a few days visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Beran.

My Own Column By H. D. Leggett

If you will remember to call 80 when you want Eugene Leggett or John Ward, you will usually save your time and ours. It is the business phone in the front office. 30 is the news phone in the back office where both Eugene and John have their desks.

Mr. Ward was put on the news desk a few weeks ago and is working hard to get his sources of news organized, so if you have a news item, just ask for 30 and for Mr. Ward. You would be interested to drop in some day and talk with Mr. Ward and see the card system he is getting set up to get the news. He is very anxious to get the name and address of everyone who will assist him in gathering the news for the big family of Quiz readers.

It used to be that when anyone made a trip or had company, all we had to do was to meet all trains and very few items of news escaped. But conditions are changed and the train news is nil. We do try to watch the bus, but most visits are made with the family auto and there is no way for us to get that news unless you, when you make a trip or have company, will be kind enough to tell us.

Sometimes I almost believe that my friend Frank Edgemoor is not very strong for the Unicameral form of legislature.

I heard one of the republican in-laws cussing yesterday because his in-law, a WPA worker, had been notified that his job was to end before December 15. Yes, he was one of the republicans who voted for Mr. Roosevelt for business or financial reasons, one might say.

Turkeys took a big drop in price this fall, so that many who raised them probably didn't much more than break even if they did that. Next year many who raised turkeys this year, will drop out and they may be a good price, so better raise some on the chance that they will bring a decent price.

I can remember that sixty years ago kids were well pleased if they got an orange and some candy in a sack, made of mosquito netting of bright color, that also contained popped corn. In fact the package and the candy and orange were added for good measure and were real treats in those days. Sometimes there was a woolen scarf or a pair of woolen mittens that mother had made by the light of a small oil lamp or a tallow candle, after we kids were in bed. But times have changed, have been changing all these sixty years for during all that time living conditions have improved, new ideas blossomed into gifts as ability to buy them came, and a Christmas of sixty years ago would be far from satisfactory to a majority of the children of 1936. One Ord store has already sold several of one particular toy at almost ten dollars each and we call these hard times. Sixty years ago ten dollars would have sufficed for toys for our family for several years. If those of us old enough to remember back that far, would think over old times once in a while we would all be better satisfied with the many blessings that we have now.

And now if you want to subscribe for a daily paper for the long winter evenings just ahead, let me have the business. It surely looks like war in Europe and Asia. The best informed writers admit that they don't see how it can be avoided many more months. Several nations are preparing for war feverishly and there is other big news with congress just ready to meet and the legislature in this state going into action. You will want a daily paper.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

Taxes Not So Sure.

The North Loup cheese factory is making quite extensive repairs, attempting to get them all completed before January 1 so as to avoid paying so much income tax. They are moving and building over the refrigerator, which has been a long needed repair, and building an expensive ceiling to replace one that had been made of composition material and had fallen to pieces. Painting and repair in general are in evidence. The refrigerator being moved will allow expansion of business, which has been held up the last year because they have been running full capacity much of the time.

All this is not the point I am trying to make. The directors feel they would rather spend their money this way than to pay income taxes with it. Of course they will have to pay some anyway but this expense will tower this tax considerable, as long as it is expense in form of repair and replacement and not addition to the factory.

Another way to avoid paying income tax is to raise salaries and all over the country we hear of salary increases. It has been told all this has been the aim of the government when the income tax was passed. In place of piling up more reserves for big industries, they will spend more money, pay larger salaries and help the general conditions. Not only does the tax paid in to the government help, but this feature of distribution of the wealth in place of concentration helps everyone, it is thought.

Many people think the income tax was the most equitable tax yet devised. The man who has, pays and those who haven't do not. It is a tax that cannot be passed on like property tax. The merchant cannot add the price of his income tax to the goods for if he did he would make more and have to pay more tax.

This scheme has some faults however. The expense of collection has usually been thought to be more than some taxes. More than that, the income is not as dependable as in property taxes. In good years the income is much larger than in bad. Another feature is that one year a business might make a big profit and the next year lose even more. The tax is not refunded for the loss.

Many people advocate the sales tax. In many ways it is nice and the goose does a minimum amount of hissing. But the poor people stand the bulk of the burden with this tax. For example, a man and wife with six children, even if they have no property and are very poor, are bound to pay more taxes than an old wealthy couple having a big income and who get their car out once or twice a year to drive to the county seat. Wealthy people are usually very frugal and do not spend. More than that, the sales tax is passed on and an untold the consumer pays it all.

Surely high land tax and property tax has been proven to be far from perfect. It apparently was one of the first thought of taxes and it looks like one of the last thought of taxes to be dispensed with. Many smart people think a happy medium would be better. Cut out about half or more of our real estate taxes and property taxes and substitute it with income taxes and sales taxes perhaps.

The luxury taxes, so to speak, are virtually sales taxes on tobaccos, liquors, cosmetics and many things that are not necessities of life. There is little complaint of these taxes and the income is tremendous. The tax on tobacco alone in a town the size of North Loup would run into the thousands of dollars.

The income taxes are apparently here to stay and no doubt will be more used in the future. No one objects to them only those people who are making money and each one of them howl enough for a dozen. One might gather without thought that these income taxes were making them poor, while actually those individuals are the only ones who are making money. The income tax is just one of the steps toward socialism, and there are many steps now days in that direction. We dread that word, but we are in the fight of the poor against the rich, and the poor are having the edge now days.

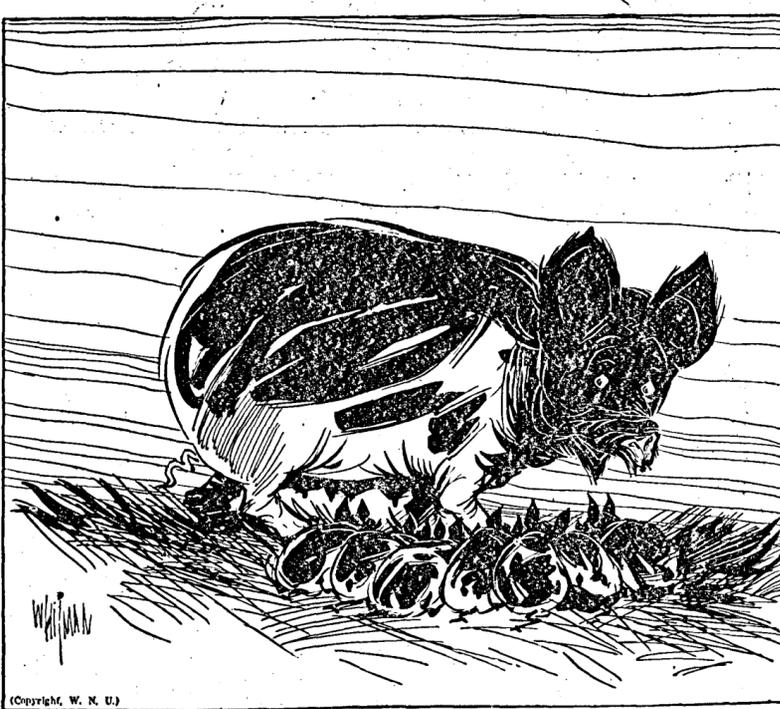

On Culling Hens.
I killed a laying hen the other day. I was so disgrained that I felt like never killing another or selling another, and only doing as a neighbor does with his chickens. They never sell any hens. Occasionally they eat one and trade a rooster for magazine subscriptions. The hens steal their nests, raise their brood, and die of old age.

A man told me the other day he was going to cull his hens and sell all those that were not layers. I said, "can you cull them and not miss any?" He answered, "You bet I can. Everytime." I'd like to take lessons from that man.

For years I have been trying to learn to cull my flock. I have come to the conclusion that there are a couple or three methods that are about as safe as any. Here they are. If you want to sell fifty of your hundred hens, open the coop in the morning and count out the first fifty. Sell those that are left. This is no joke. The active layers are rustlers and fly out first. The fat non-layers waddle out when there is not so much confusion.

Another way is to feed your hens in the morning and after they have eaten about an hour go to the coop and catch and sell all those that have gone back to the roosts. Another scheme is to go to the coop about three or four in the afternoon, depending on the season, and sell all that are on the roosts. You can feel assured you won't miss the layers far. I have sold my hens a number of times that way without bad results.

One Crop Not Affected by the Drouth

This laying hen that I killed the other day was moulting and was nearly naked. Her comb was shriveled and she was fat. She had spurs a half an inch long. She was gravid with eggs, one ready to have been laid and we put it in the case.

Last summer I sold my hens to the local merchant. He had made a study of culling hens and helped me cull them and we both were conscientious about it, handling every hen. I was getting about thirty eggs a day and did not want to sell any of those thirty hens. He did not have coops enough so we turned loose fifty hens and any that we had any suspicion were or would be layers.

The next day my egg gathering dropped to fifteen eggs and the buyer got six eggs from the hens he took. Catching the hens and scaring them no doubt caused some decrease in the egg production but the hens never laid more than fifteen the rest of the summer.

I killed two hens the other day and the second hen had tiny eggs, the biggest about the size of a pea. My wife insisted that hen would have laid inside of a week. I disputed. I had to give up on the first hen but I would not admit being wrong all the time. "How do you know?" I asked with a slight challenge. "I'll bet you new dress you never in your life killed a hen and found in her eggs that size and then kept track to find out if she laid within a week."

BACK FORTY
By J. A. Kovanda
The drift of people from country to city has been resumed. Last year was the first since 1930 in which the migrations of population resulted in a net gain for towns and cities. It indicates a return of more prosperous times to the urban districts.

During 1935 about 1,211,000 folks moved away from farms in this country. At the same time about 825,000 left the cities for farming areas. Thus it appears that farms last year furnished the towns and cities with a gain in population of 386,000 people.

In the preceding five year period, 1925-30, mainly one of urban prosperity, the farms lost people at the rate of more than a half million annually. Then came the depression and a back-to-the-land movement on the part of some 1,632,000 town and city dwellers between 1930 and 1935. And now that better times are in prospect for cities, the people are going back once more.

The trend of population from country to city hurts the farming areas. Folks who have been raised and educated at the expense of rural districts leave before the farmers can profit from their abilities. These folks take farm inheritance later on. They may also remove from the country its most intelligent citizens. Cities will probably continue to recruit their population from farming sections because of the much lower birth rate in urban districts.

Dunmire Is New Member.
E. H. Dunmire, engineer-manager of the North Loup power and irrigation project, last week was elected to membership in the Ord Rotary club. Other new members elected recently include C. C. Thompson, superintendent of the Ord schools, and Dwight Keyes, manager of the Brown-McDonald store.

Something DIFFERENT

I thought it was unusually nice of Mrs. J. P. Barta, what she did for Mr. Vanskike after his wife died, when they were trying to plan a funeral she would have liked.

Mr. Van knew his wife had several favorite hymns, but he couldn't remember the names of them. So Mrs. Barta took her hymn book across the street to his home, and sat there and sang to him. She started at the front of the book and hummed each hymn to him until he recognized his wife's favorites. Then the program of music for the final service was decided upon.

This kindly action is the kind of thing that makes one glad to live in a small town, glad to know all one's neighbors. I think it was fine.

Last year the Business and Professional Women's club of Ord wanted to give the public a party, feeling that they had often asked the public to buy tickets and donate to various causes, that the club wanted to have a real party, a free one. The "Rainbow Night Club" proved to be different, a lot of fun, and everyone said "Why didn't you charge us for this nice party?" It's a lot of fun, we'd have been glad to pay for this!

So this year, still attempting to raise money to give for library needs, the B. & P. W. club is going to take those friends at their word: going to try to have a nice dance and floor show, and charge for it. The money, as you probably suspect, to go to the library fund again. They want everyone to come, and pay, and have some fun. Local musicians have been asked to furnish the music.

While you are planning for Christmas for your family, don't forget to plan for someone less fortunate too. If you can afford expensive toys for your children, and fine gifts for your family in general, and if you cook a dinner that makes the table creek and fills the ice box with left-overs for two or three days, then don't you think you ought to share some of this?

How about checking over and putting in first class condition some old toys and old clothes, buying a few new ones to go with them, preparing a nice assortment of food for Xmas dinner, sending it to a less fortunate family than yours? Wouldn't your turkey taste a little better to you? Or ask over a lonesome couple to help you eat your banquet, give yourself a fine virtuous feeling!

The Red Cross and the Tuberculosis Association have always had an agreement. The Red Cross sold memberships from Armistice day to Thanksgiving day and the stamps to help stamp out tuberculosis did not go on sale until Thanksgiving day, then were sold until Christmas.

This year there was a slip-up in Ord. . . if this agreement still stands, and I am quite sure it does. The seals went on sale a week or two weeks before Thanksgiving, in place of after.

Dozens of children stopped at my door to sell seals, and I said "No, thank you", without looking at their seals, because I wanted to wait and buy tuberculosis stamps after Thanksgiving. I felt a little foolish when I found out I had carefully passed up opportunities to buy the little white seals with the double red cross sign on them.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM
With eggs mounting in price as they are, interest in sponge cakes and other dishes that don't call for so many eggs are gaining in popularity.
Hot Milk Sponge Cake.
Heat to boiling point one-half cup milk and one tablespoon butter. Beat two eggs slightly, add one cup sugar and beat well. Put in one cup cake flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and mix, add the boiling milk quickly. Lastly put in one teaspoon vanilla. Bake at a temperature of 350 degrees F. about thirty-five minutes. When the cake is removed from the oven spread with this icing: five tablespoons brown sugar, three tablespoons melted butter, two tablespoons cream and two cups of coconut or as much as you desire. Place under broiler, leave from two to five minutes, or until slightly toasted. This cake batter should be very thin.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week.
Farmers who attended the meeting to discuss building a new court house favored the plan by a substantial majority and also favored the issuance of 20 year bonds to pay for it. Mott Rathbun presided as chairman. A committee of seven composed of John Bremer, Geo. Kinsey, Ign. Klima, J. W. Gregory, Frank Adamek, E. P. Clements and Merrill McClellan was appointed to meet with the county board in making plans for the new building.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Ruhl celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary.

Company I, at the Mexican border, was hoping to be back in Ord by Christmas time, the border trouble apparently being settled.

Paul Jones was the victim of a hold-up who stuck a gun under his nose, then hit him over the head and rifled his pockets while he was unconscious.

Charlie Brown, a farmer who lived just over the line in Sherman county, was kicked by a horse and died.

E. Goodhand finished the government building at McCook and was back home while waiting for another big job to start.

For the second time Coach Reed's football team beat North Loup, score being 31 to 9, and Ord claimed the central Nebraska championship when Ravenna, also undefeated, declined to play a post season game to settle it.

25 Years Ago This Week.
Della, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Horner, was married to Carl Weber.

The Burlington railroad was proposing to rebuild the dam at Ericson and restore the lake which made that town such a popular place among fishermen.

A. J. Firkins was elected president of the fair association with O. P. Cromwell as secretary.

Mrs. Irene Tully sold her farm four miles north of town to a Sioux City company, the consideration being $40,000.

Reminiscences of Early Days

By W. A. ANDERSON

The spring of 1880 I sowed 3 or 4 acres to wheat of the Michigan White variety and was a good crop of as fine wheat as one could wish. I got H. C. Vincent, a neighbor 3 miles west to come with a grain cradle and help with the harvest. He doing most of the cradling and I doing the binding as I had never did much work with the cradle and it came awkward to me to swing it and lay the grain straight ready for the binding.

It took us two days to cut and bind about 3 acres. There was a small threshing machine, run by tread power, that would thresh out maybe fifty bushels a day if no accident happened to the machine and I got this machine owned by Chas. Muths to thresh out my grain. Bad weather came on at the time and it took two days to thresh out the wheat and boarding the men and team also made the wheat cost all it was worth. However the wheat was our wheat and we were sure of something to eat during the winter.

There had been a flour mill built by a man by the name of LaRue, near Ord and there I took my wheat and had it ground into flour. Homer Daggett was miller.

Along in June of this year some friends of ours came out from Iowa looking for a location for a sheep ranch. It was H. Hudgens and his wife, only recently married, and they proved to be very good company during the three weeks that they remained with us. One day we were out of meat and I proposed to Mr. H. we take a look for some deer to which he readily agreed.

I hitched up the team and we drove northeast to a big blowout on Section 12 near the county line in fact the north and south line between Valley and Greeley counties runs through this big sandhill blowout. This was one of my look out posts when hunting as one could see from it highest point over several miles of the lower Chocolate Cake, Molst.

Melt two squares chocolate and butter the size of an egg. Add one cup milk and one well beaten egg. Add one cup flour, one teaspoon soda, and one cup sugar which have been sifted together. Bake in a square tin in a moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Mrs. E. L. Yates.
Here is what O. O. McIntyre declares is the favorite dessert of all men. How about it?

Brown Betty.
Pare six medium sized apples and cut in small pieces. Butter a baking dish. Mix together the apples, one tablespoon lemon juice, three tablespoons sugar, one teaspoon cinnamon, one cup hot water, one cup graham cracker pieces, one-fourth cup butter, one cup brown sugar. Bake slowly for forty minutes. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

Mrs. J. D. Moul.
Cardinal Salad.
Dissolve two packages lemon gelatin in two cups boiling water, add one and one-half cups beef juice, one-third cup vinegar, one teaspoon salt, onion juice to taste, and two tablespoons horseradish. Chill, when slightly thickened, fold in one and one-half cups diced celery, two cups cooked diced beets, and one-half green pepper, chopped fine. Serves sixteen.

Mrs. Frank Gross, Albin.
The salad above is very decorative for a holiday table and is most delicious to eat.

36 VALLEY COUNTY YOUNG PEOPLE ATTENDING UNIVERSITY THIS YEAR

Ord Sends 24 Students To Lincoln; Uni's Total Enrollment 6,546.

Lincoln, Nebr.—Thirty-six students from Valley county are among the 6,546 students attending the University of Nebraska this semester. The Valley county figure shows an increase of three per cent over last year when thirty-five were registered. Four towns in the county are represented, Ord having twenty-four, Arcadia and North Loup five each, and Elyria two.

Those coming from Ord; Dorothy Lucille Allen, Koo Louise Aule, Fred Virgil Cahill, Jr., Hope Bartunek, Floyd Edward Beranek, Harold William Benn, Ruth Arlene Benn, Joe Cupl, Jr., Leonard William Cronk, Raymond Jay Cronk, Inez Clara Eberhart, Viola May Flynn, Beulah M. Gates, Mary Beth Hitchman, Wayne Edward Johnson, Marie Edith Kosmata, Kenneth T. McGinnis, E. Lloyd McGrew, Elmer Arthur Palmatier, Thelma Delle Palmatier, Harold A. Sack, Richard Ray Severson, Robert Earl Whitford, and Dorothy Dee Williams.

Arcadia registrants include: Vernon Leo Dalby, Orvis Ray Hill, Glenn Raymond Jameson, Frank Morris Kingston, and Joseph Donald Weddel.

Coming from North Loup are William Howard Cook, Kenneth Harold Eglehoff, Lois R. Kildow, Harold Lester Schudel, and Donald LeRoy Van Horn.

The Elyria students are Erwin August Dodge and Harold Eugene Garnick.

University records reveal facts about the students coming from Ord:

There are eight enrolled in the college of arts and science: Hope Bartunek and Dorothy Lucille Allen are freshmen, while Viola Mae Flynn and Leonard William Cronk are members of the sophomore class. Lloyd McGrew, a member of the Estes Cooperative, is a junior this year, as is Thelma Delle Palmatier. Fred Cahill and Kenneth McGinnis are seniors in the arts college; the former belongs to Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honor society. McGinnis is affiliated with Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity, is a first captain in the R. O. T. C., a Lieutenant commander in Phalanx, R. O. T. C. honorary, and as a regular on the University of Nebraska football team.

Robert E. Whitford, whose fraternity is Sigma Phi Epsilon, is a freshman in engineering this year. A junior in the college of pharmacy, Floyd E. Beranek belongs to Pharmaceutical club.

Elmer A. Palmatier is doing work in the graduate college; he belongs to Sigma Xi, honorary for science students, Phi Beta Kappa honorary for arts and science college students, and is a graduate assistant in the zoology department.

Information about those listing their homes as Arcadia: Vernon L. Dalby, a second lieutenant in the R. O. T. C., is an engineering sophomore, while Orvis Ray Hill is an arts college junior. Others in the college of engineering are Joseph Donald Weddel, freshman, Frank Kingston and Glenn J. Jameson, juniors. Kingston belongs to Farm House fraternity and the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. Jameson is corresponding secretary of Paldadian Literary Society.

Notes on North Loup registrants: William Howard Cook and Donald L. Van Horn are freshmen and junior, respectively in the agricultural college. Harold L. Schudel, also a freshman in the same college, has joined Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

This is the freshman year in teachers college for Kenneth Eglehoff, while Lois R. Kildow, a senior this year, is attending the university school of nursing at Omaha.

Elyria's two students, Erwin A. Dodge and Harold Eugene Garnick are both freshmen in the college of agriculture. Garnick is an outstanding member of the freshman football team at the university; he pledged Farm House fraternity.

With a record enrollment, the university presents a cosmopolitan nature. In addition to students from all parts of Nebraska and nearly every state in the union, many are registered from foreign countries including Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Canal Zone, the Philippines, Canal, Germany, and India.

A car accident in which both cars were damaged occurred at the northwest corner of the square Tuesday evening. Dr. C. W. Weekes had stopped at the stop sign, and was starting up again when he got into the path of a car owned and driven by Joe Lukesh. It appears to have been one of those accidents that are considered unavoidable. Luckily neither of the men was hurt, and the damage to both cars can be repaired.

least four hundred persons. Gould Flagg is chairman of the reception committee who will welcome the distinguished guests. Ign. Klina will be assisted in the registration work by Dr. F. L. Blessing and Horace Travis. The necessary tickets are all printed. Because some who come will not care to dance, the dance tickets will be good either at the dance or at the Ord Theatre. The public is invited to attend the afternoon session of the Legion at the convention hall, but only ex-service men are to register. The registration fee of $1 entitles the holder to attend the afternoon session, to a place at the banquet table, and to either the dance or the picture show afterward.

For ex-service men who do not care to register or who come in too late, tickets to the banquet only will be sold at 50c each. If an ex-service man wishes to come to the dance only, the price will be 50c, or if he comes with his lady friend, both for 75c. Joe John is chairman of the committee for decorating the conventional hall. Plans were made for obtaining additional parking space for cars in case of need.

At the Auxiliary meeting Tuesday evening the following committees were appointed: In charge of banquet tables, Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Williams. In charge of luncheon tables, Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Sowl. Committee to welcome distinguished guests, Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Harriet Faletta. Nine new members were initiated into the Auxiliary. They were Mrs. Gould Flagg, Mrs. Archie Geweke, Mrs. Charles Mason, Mrs. Joe Gregory, Mrs. Hollingshead, Mrs. Chester Barnes, Mrs. Cecil Ferguson, Mrs. Tom Springer, and Mrs. Alex Long.

The ladies are sending toys to the department headquarters at Lincoln for distribution to needy children. They also are sending a layette and two comforters. The Legion hall will be appropriately decorated for the Auxiliary convention, and Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Harry Wolf will be the committee to see that this is done. After the close of the meetings the ladies invited the Legionnaires down for a luncheon which was enjoyed by all. The total attendance for the meetings was, ladies 26, men 32.

Chris Beiers Spent Two Months in Europe, Says Germany Planning War

Chris going to his old home town of Bramminge, Denmark. This town, he says, is somewhat larger than Ord. He found that he was the only foreigner in town, the rest all being Danes. In spite of the fact that he spoke no other language for the first sixteen years of his life, he found it rather difficult at first to carry on a conversation in his native tongue, due largely to the fact that he has not talked Dane to any extent since he came here, and also the language has changed a lot with the coming of new inventions and ideas.

Chris had his camera with him, and he took a number of fine pictures, which all his friends are looking at with much interest. He has one photo showing his father's home in the suburbs of Bramminge, with apple and pear trees around the house and fruit showing on the trees. The house is built of brick and has a red tile roof, which is the prevailing style of building in Denmark. Other pictures show his trip across, with the waves rolling in as much as fifty feet high.

The political situation in Denmark has changed greatly since Chris left. At that time there were three political parties, the right and left, corresponding to our republican and democrat, and the socialist. Now there are eleven parties in all, and the balance of power is so evenly distributed that each of them has some representation in the Rigsdag, which is Danish for congress. This Rigsdag consists of a Landsting and a Folkething, believe it or not.

Chris says times are better in Denmark than they are just over the line in Germany, and believes that this is because Germany taxes her people much higher, using the money to build a huge war machine. He says that Hitler apparently has profited by the mistakes of Germany before and during the world war, and is building up one of the most powerful nations that Europe has ever known.

There is a great deal of unrest in Germany, but this is pronounced in France and in Belgium, both of which countries he visited. In fact, he left the latter place rather hurriedly because of the report that a large number of people were marching upon Brussels to demand their rights, and he was over there for pleasure only. He also visited Holland and the southern part of Sweden. He found many Masons in Denmark, some of whom had moved there from Germany due to the fact that all lodges were eliminated by the Hitler regime. However, they manage to hold meetings in secret, and so long as they are quiet enough about it, they are not disturbed.

A Dane living over the line in Germany was asked to give a sum of money to some certain cause, and refused to do so. This was repeated three times, and each time he refused. Shortly after this he received notice that he was no longer wanted there. He is living in Denmark today, Germany is building more and better roads right along, the idea being to be able to get from one part of the country to another in case of war as quickly as possible. All the main roads are concrete or some similar type, and they are made absolutely straight, so that one may drive for hours without even a curve. In Denmark all public roads are now surfaced, and Chris says he did not see a single dirt road in the whole country.

An interesting fact is that practically all the cars there are of American make, largely Chevrolts and Fords. There is a special Ford made for European trade of which he saw a number in Sweden.

They very closely resemble the Austin, and Chris says that it is an amusing sight to see the little cars go bumpity bump over the big cobble stones with which the streets are paved. Driving rules have been changed in most of the countries he visited, and people drive to the right the same as we do in America. In Sweden, however, they drive to the left, which is very confusing to a man who is used to the other method.

Denmark has quite a number of windmills of the typical Holland design, but they are not used to pump the water out of the land, but are used for the people and stock, the same as here. However they also have a number of very large mills which are used to grind corn and other crops. Another fact of interest is that most of the farm machinery in use is made by American firms. Most of the binders he saw were McCormick-Deering, McCorkick, or Deering, some were Osborne. He saw a large number of Johnmowers. They are much like the machines used here, except that they are mostly three foot cut. The binders are five and six foot cut, some even narrower, but the fields are small and they would not know what to do with a large binder there. He is living in Denmark today, Germany is building more and better roads right along, the idea being to be able to get from one part of the country to another in case of war as quickly as possible. All the main roads are concrete or some similar type, and they are made absolutely straight, so that one may drive for hours without even a curve. In Denmark all public roads are now surfaced, and Chris man named Joe Barr from Chicago, who was going over to install a printing press. Director Teslow, with direct, Shirley Teslow, was also one of the passengers. Chris took his car all the way with him, of course having to get a Danish license and plates for his car while he was there. He drove back from New York, and at once drove on to Chappell, Neb., for a short visit with his brother Hans Beiers. He returned to Ord Saturday and is more than pleased with the trip he took and the recollections he will have of the good times he had on the way.

First Aid Class Meeting Fridays

Leroy Frazier, local Red Cross first aid chairman, reports that the first lesson was given Friday evening to a class of twelve, there being thirteen enrollments and one absent. This first lesson was given in Dr. J. G. Kruml's office, but arrangements will probably be made yet this week for a permanent meeting place. If this is done before press day, announcement will be made to that effect. The committee is very much disappointed because more school teachers have not availed themselves of this opportunity to get instruction in this vitally important art. The cost is only the price of the text book, which becomes the property of the student, and which each one will want to own. The teachers can get this course now. They need the course, not once, but many times during the school year. This is especially true of the rural teachers, who have no help available when trouble arises, and who must depend on their own resources. Next Friday is the dead line for those who wish to start, so plan to be there. Other attractions, such as going home for Thanksgiving, probably drew several away last week, but no excuses like that will be allowed next time. The meeting time is 7:30 Friday evening at Dr. Kruml's office, unless otherwise announced.

may be obtained as stipulated above on the deposit of the sum of $5.00. The full amount of such deposit will be returned to each actual bidder, and $3.00 of such deposit will be refunded from other deposits, upon the return of the plans for Section VI only within thirty days after bids thereon are opened.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check on a solvent bank, or an acceptable bidder's bond with an authorized Surety Company, in an amount of five per cent (5%) of the total bid, which may be retained by the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District until a contract for the project shall have been awarded. Bid checks and bonds will be returned to the unsuccessful bidders when their bids are rejected; the bid check or bond of the successful bidder will be returned when a satisfactory performance bond shall have been furnished and approved by the Owner.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty days from the date set for the opening thereof. The work to be done under this contract is a part of a project financed under the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935 administered by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works.

The award of the contract shall not be effective until it has been approved by the Owner. The bond shall be in an amount of 100% of the contract. The contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, but the Board of Directors of the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District, Owner, reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive informalities in bids.

Charles Brickner Is Back From Car Trip

Charles Brickner recently returned from a long trip to the west and south, in which he covered more than three thousand miles of country. He left here on Sept. 9 and went first to Twin Falls, Ida., where he spent a week or more. From there he went on to Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Diego and Catalina Island. He spent some time in these places, and enjoyed several days of tuna fishing, which he says is real sport, which it takes a real man to handle. The fish they catch there will average about thirty pounds each, and it takes a lot of time and patience to get them in the boat. They charge $2.50 for a day's fishing and furnish everything. He also went over into old Mexico, and, on election day was in three states. He returned by way of highway No. 80 to Shreveport, La., and from there home. The only fault he has to find with the entire trip is that it was not long enough.

What Other Editors Are Saying

Hamburg, Ia., Reporter.—I. N. Wray of Maryville will be 97 years old on Sunday, and the annual celebration will take place this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Wray in this place. Relatives will gather in for the day, and Mr. Wray will be the life of the party, as usual.

Scotta Register.—Hunting on the Calamus Sunday four Scotians, Harry Miller, S. T. Grohosky, Frank Miller, and Phil Seefus, saw three deer. The deer were more numerous than the ducks, the men seeing but one of the latter. They brought home one duck, the same one.

North Loup Loyalist.—Donald Baker and Miss Frances Lindsey of Ord were Sunday dinner guests at the Fred Bartz home. Donald has sold out his farm stock and expects to leave about the first of December for California. His sister Inez Skadden and family are living in Stockton, and he will see them there and look for a location.

Howard County Herald.—Friends of Earl Rector and wife in this city are pleased to learn that he has been transferred from Staplehurst to Burwell. Mr. Rector at one time was a helper at the Burlington in this city. His wife was formerly Hazel Barnes, who held employment here, but whose home was in Cotesfield. He will be employed as helper in the Burwell station.

St. Paul Phonograph.—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor and Mrs. Alta Rogers motored to Lincoln Saturday to attend the football game. They also called on Rev. and Mrs. P. A. Davies during the afternoon. Rev. Davies was pastor of the Presbyterian church here for several years, and is confined to his bed with heart trouble. He is very cheerful and sent his regards and best wishes to his many friends in St. Paul. (He was formerly pastor of the Ord Presbyterian Church.)

Burwell Tribune.—The advanced class paid a visit to Mr. Bill Grunke's shop one day recently to observe the labor saving machinery in use and study the various phases of shop work as it applies to the farm. Mr. Grunke demonstrated various types of welding including the difficult spring weld, thin metal welding, corner welds and the drawing out of chisels and punches. He was able to show many phases of work our limited school equipment will not permit, as plowshare sharpening. (Bill Can Show 'Em.)

Friend Sentinel.—As yet no word has been heard as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Nick Earnest, farm woman living south of Milford, who was reported missing last week, having first disappeared on Oct. 28. Sheriff Greiner made a further investigation on Sunday, but was unable to obtain any information that would lead to any tangible conclusions. The only clue that would indicate any definite plan on the part of Mr. Earnest to suddenly turn up missing was a statement of the children that she urged them to go to bed earlier on the evening of the 28th.

York Republican.—News was received in York late last week that Milton Maurer and Jack Graham who left this city about a month ago bound for South American ports have encountered a new experience prior to sailing for the South American countries. For a week Graham and Maurer have been employed in Boston as strike breakers along the Boston water front which, like others over the country, has been at a standstill due to maritime labor troubles.

Benkleman Post.—A young man staying at the home of Ira Long failed in his effort to take Mr. Long's car without permission last Saturday evening, but his attempt resulted in the destruction of the car. After having been refused the use of the keys to the car, he had pushed the car down the land leading from the house and there attempted to wire around the switch, but he got the wires all twisted up and a short developed near the gas tank. Soon the car was ablaze and all efforts to save it failed. Mr. Long had gone to Lincoln to see the football game and was not at home when the accident took place.

Aurora R. epublican Register.—Attention, all you deer hunters. Are you planning to take a hunting trip this season? The grass may be greener, or the deer more plentiful, in other parts of the country, but we have at least some of the same thing right here in Hamilton county. A deer is probably the last thing we would expect to see running loose around these parts, but believe it or not, there is a large white tail deer with antlers about a foot long close to Aurora, or at least there was last Sunday. Clarence Singer saw it with his own eyes on the old Bob Laurie place six miles south of Aurora on the highway.

Works on Fast Trains.—John L. W. Nelson, wife and son Freddie came up to spend Thanksgiving with the W. A. Bartlett family. John is still in the railway mail service, working out of Omaha, and still runs to Cheyenne. However, he is now working on the new fast train known as the Denver Streamliner from Omaha to North Platte. He finds that there is not a great deal of difference between the work now and what it was on the slower trains, and the trip takes four hours, and a man can do only a certain amount of work in that time. He works the registers, which is not a heavy job, but carries more responsibility. From North Platte to Cheyenne he works on the Pacific Limited No. 2, a fast steam train, which carries six mail cars, and part of the time he is clerk in charge, which requires extra headwork. On the way back he works on the Pacific Limited No. 14 all the way back to Omaha. John has now been in the mail service twenty years, and says that he has only twenty-four more years to work until he can be retired at the age of 62.

BURWELL NEWS

Harley Nixon, Burwell well man was busy the past week running soundings for the irrigation dam which the Loup River Power and Irrigation district plans to throw across the river about a half mile north of the river bridge just north of Burwell. The first sounding, which went down to a depth of 19 1/2 feet, was a sand pump test, and he has now been ordered to go ahead with three hydraulic tests, the object being to find if the structure is the same all the way across the river. The sand pump test was made on a sand bar in the river, and in this test he penetrated the first layer of shale to the depth of eight feet, went through it and found about eight inches of gravel between it and the second layer of shale. This gravel was of uniform size, and had absolutely no sand in it. In fact it was ideal for gravel work of any kind if it could be made available for use. The first test shows conditions favorable for the building of the dam at the place specified, and it is expected that the other tests will prove that the strata are uniform all the way across the river.

Glenn Banks and John Maxfield went with Arthur Linke in his car to the western part of the state about two months ago, for the purpose of finding work. The boys recently returned and report that they found what they went after and in paying quantity, although the work was hard for men unused to it. Frank Malicky and son Marvin, and Raleigh Gross went in another car on the same mission. The six men all found work picking up potatoes for a former Ord man, Walter Perkins on his Word from Bob Hoppes, who is being treated in the University hospital in Omaha, is reported doing as well as could be expected, although his condition is very serious. His wife went down to see him over Thanksgiving. Bee Hoppes recently suffered another stroke, the third he has had, and is now practically helpless. He is at his home in Burwell, and very little hope is held for his recovery.

J. L. Jenkins, who lived to be perhaps the oldest man in Burwell by keeping everlastingly at it, will celebrate his 86th birthday on Dec. 9. He is as hale and hearty as many men twenty years his junior, and looks like he would pass the ninety mark with credit.

Mrs. F. O. Kellogg had a cousin, Mrs. G. Smith come to visit her from Pennsylvania. She was on her way home from Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg went down to Grand Island, brought her home with them for a four days' visit, and then took her back to Grand Island to catch her train east.

Mrs. J. J. Meyers' mother, Mrs. Fullmer, of Kearney, spent Thanksgiving with her daughter and family. She keeps a rooming house, and came as far as Arcadia with one of her roomers, the Meyers people going there for her, and taking her back again Thursday evening.

The Burwell football team wound up their mediocre football season in a blaze of glory by defeating the Taylor team at that place Thanksgiving day by a score of 24 to 0. For the first time this year the team really hit their stride, and they were masters of the field all the way. Billy Beat, shifty quarterback, made the first touchdown, and Francis Graves, fullback, accounted for the other three. They were helped by the entire line, which consistently ripped the opposing line to pieces. Beat and Graves are both juniors and more will be heard from them next year. The Taylor team was unable to make a single first down until the final quarter when in desperation they resorted to the air, connecting twice for good yardage.

Palu-Konkaleski

Miss Velma Palu of Arcadia became the bride of Lloyd Konkaleski of Elyria at the Sacred Heart church, which was banked with flowers, in Arcadia at 2 o'clock Wednesday, Nov. 25. Father Muldoon performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Stella Wardyn played the wedding march.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palu. She was lovely in a floor length white satin gown with a train. Her silk net veil, which carried a cap also had a train. She formed an arm bouquet of large white chrysanthemums and baby breath with lovely white silk streamers. Miss Pauline Palu, sister of the bride, wore a floor length gown of Nile green moire taffeta, and another sister, Miss Josephine Palu was dressed in a floor length gown of rose moire taffeta. Each had head wreaths of silver with matching silver slippers, and carried orchid chrysanthemum bouquets. The two sisters were bridesmaids. The maid of honor, a cousin of the bride, Miss Sally Lewandowski, was dressed in a floor length dress of peach moire taffeta, with silver accessories and carried a bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums. The ring bearer and flower girls were dressed in blue taffeta with matching accessories. The rings were carried in the heart of a pond lily.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Konkaleski of Elyria. He and his attendants, his brothers Edwin and Lewie Konkaleski, were attired in the conventional dark suits.

A wedding reception with turkey as the main course was held for 50 families in the evening at the home of the bride's parents. The home was beautifully decorated in white and silver bells. A wedding dance was held that night at the Wichman pavillion.

These young people will make their home on the groom's farm near Elyria. We extend hearty congratulations.

Chanticleers Best in Central Nebr., Cop Championships in Two Conferences

Have Massed 229 Points in 2 Years; 19 Victories Is Brockman Record.

Ord high school gridsters have completed another season filled to the very brim with joy as well as victories. During the 1936 football campaign the Chanticleers hung up nine victories without a single loss, and piled up 135 points against their opponents meager 6. Only one scoreless tie with St. Paul in the second game of the season and a lone touchdown scored by Burwell in the dying moments of a 33-6 win for the Chanticleers, mar the record of the 1936 season.

With the 6-0 victory over Loup City on Thanksgiving day, the Red and White complete a two-year record which gives the Chanticleers a record of 17 wins without a loss, scoring 229 points while their opponents made 12. Over a two year period the Chanticleers, under the coaching of Helmut Brockman and Burdette Cowel, have made an average of 14 points, or two touchdowns, per game.

Following is a very brief resume of the season's games. The season started with a proverbial "bang", the Chanticleers walloping Coach Ebnier's Scotia eleven 34 to 0. Following the Scotia game, the Chanticleers went against their next opponent of the season—St. Paul. In a dull, slow-moving game on the Apostle field, the Ordites were held to a scoreless 0-0 draw by Coach Fred Weeks' team. Next on the list was the strong Broken Bow eleven. Playing on the home field, the Ordites played a superior brand of football to win over the Indians 12 to 0.

Ord resumed its schedule by next playing Burwell, one of the old rivals of Ord high school. The Wranglers proved no match for the Brockman lads and went down under a stinging 33 to 6 lacing.

Ravenna received almost the same treatment as Burwell in the next game of the season for the Chanticleers. The Red and White poured it on heavy in this game to send Ravenna home with a smarting 26 to 0 defeat.

Playing Central City for the first time in the school's history, the Ord high gridsters proved themselves a surperior team by ringing up a 12 to 0 win over the Bisons. Intense cold made this game uninteresting, neither team being able to play anything but "straight" football.

Ord Sports Mentor Making Fine Record

Helmut Brockman, athletic coach of Ord high school is making a splendid record in the local school since he took over the coaching reins from Coach Moizen in 1934. Sharing with Mr. Brockman and the success of Ord high school athletic teams is Assistant Coach Burdette Cowel, who also has been in the Ord athletic system for three years. Mr. Brockman entered Elmwood high school in 1922 and was a very active participant in all high school sports, lettering four years in football, basketball and baseball. He lettered two years in track.

After his graduation from Elmwood high school in 1926, he entered Peru State College. Here he played football for four years, being first choice for all-state tackle for three consecutive years. In 1929 he was the captain of a championship football team. He was a member of the college basketball squad four years, playing the first two years at forward and the last two as center. In 1928 he was awarded a forward position on the all-state basketball team. Mr. Brockman participated in track for two years and took part in the shot put, the discus and the javelin throwing events. He received his college major in manual arts and biology, minoring in history and physical education.

Although a prominent part in the Peru athletic machine which kept him very busy, he found time for other college organizations, being vice-president of the Men's club, a member of the P Club and a member of the Y. M. C. A. as well as the Tri Beta Theta. His first years as a teacher were spent in 1930-31 at Valparaiso where he was principal and coach. From 1931 to 1934 he was in charge of athletics at Edgar high school. In 1931, he coached the championship Edgar team which was undefeated and scored 161 points to their opponents 2 points.

Another old rival—Arcadia—was next laid along the wayside with the other defeated teams as the Ordites emerged from the fray with a 6-0 victory. Gerald "Bud" Clark was the big reason for the Ord win, Clark seizing an Arcadia pass early in the fourth quarter to romp 40 yards for the winning touchdown.

With only two games left in the season, the Chanticleers next traveled to Sargent for a Loup Valley conference game. The Chanticleer team didn't "click" in their usual manner but edged out a 6-0 victory over Coach Copeland's boys.

The championship game with Loup City on Thanksgiving—will Ord fans ever forget it? The Red and White came back after the first half to outplay the Loup City eleven and prove themselves the true champions of the Loup Valley region with a 6 to 0 win.

Ord Closes Great Season With 6-0 Win at Loup City

Turkey Day Victory Gives Chanticleers Title to Conference Honors.

Both the Loup Valley and Mid Six conference football trophies were added to Ord's rapidly growing collection, as Coach Helmut Brockman's Ord high school gridsters defeated Loup City 6 to 0 on Thanksgiving day.

A summary of the weights of both teams (starting lineups) showed the Brownies held a 5 pound weight advantage per man over the Ord squad. The Loup City line held nearly 10 pounds per man weight advantage over the Ordites, although the Chanticleers held a slight edge in weight in the backfield.

Pass Set Up Pins. Ord's score came in the second quarter when Tunncliff threw a 15 yard pass to Zulkoski who carried it on for a total 30 yard gain. This brilliant bit of playing by the Tunncliff-Zulkoski combination set up the pins for the Ord score. A series of power plays saw Haskell smash through the remaining distance to go over for the winning touchdown. A pass play was no good as Ord attempted to convert.

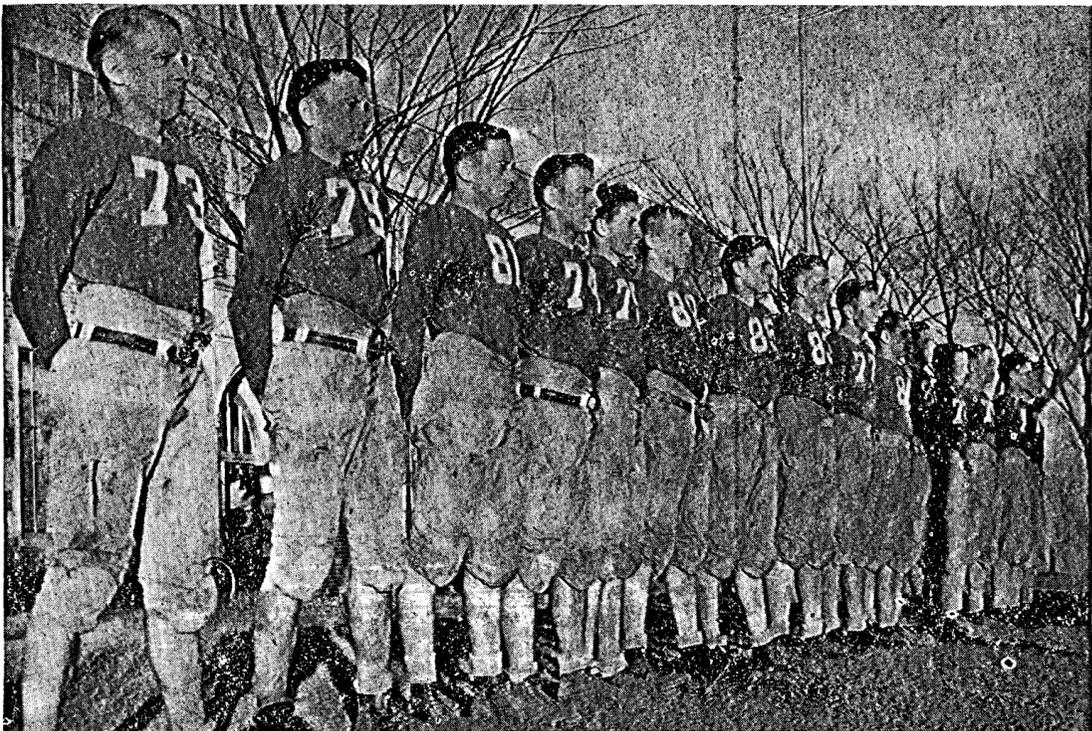

Coach "Bullet" Brown's Loup City eleven made a strong bid for a touchdown in the fourth quarter, the ball falling to go over the goal stripe by a fraction of an inch. The Brownies were also deep in Ord territory at the close of the first half, carrying the ball from mid-field to the 3 yard line, where the Chanticleer line put up a defense that could not be broken.

The following play by play account of the game, given by Kendall Wiegard, shows the Chanticleers as an underdog the first half and also shows how completely the Brockman coached team outplayed Loup City in the final half.

1st Quarter. Ord kicked off and Spelts returned to the Loup City sixteen. Spelts made a yard on a spinner. Then Plants gained three yards on a spinner. Spelts fumbled and Haskell recovered on the Loup City thirty-five. On the next play Ord was off side and was penalized five yards. Clark attempted a pass which was incomplete. Barnes hit the line for five yards.

Meet the Champs! Ord's Proud of These Chanticleers Who Went Through the Season Unbeaten and Won Pair of Championships

Two Years Of Undefeated Football Play By The Ord High School Football Eleven

Ord 94, Opponents 6	Ord 6, Loup City 0

In two years of play the Ord high school eleven has not been defeated, scored on only twice, and tied four times. In the past two years the conference deciding tilt has been played on Turkey Day between the same two teams, Ord and Loup City. In the past two years of play the Chanticleers have rolled up a total of 229 points against 12 points by their opponents. This makes an average of nearly 14 points per game, or two touchdowns.

Clark again tried a pass but it was not good. Haskell punted over the goal line and Loup City gained the ball on their own twenty. Spelts on a line plunge made four yards. Golus on a spinner got loose for eighteen yards giving Loup City a first down on their own forty-two. Plants on an end run gained two yards. Then Ord was penalized five yards for off side. Immediately Loup City was penalized five yards for off side. Spelts on a couple of spinners made gains of seven and eight yards. This gained them a first down on Ord's forty-two. Golus made four yards on a spinner. Spelts fumbled and lost nineteen yards. Then Loup City was penalized fifteen yards. Coming out of a punt formation, Spelts gained seventeen yards on an end run. Loup City punted and the ball rolled out on Ord's forty-three. Haskell hit the center but was held. Tunncliff gained a yard on an end run. Loup City was penalized five yards for off side. Barnes hit the line for a yard. Haskell punted out of bounds on the Loup City eleven. Loup City was penalized ten yards and Spelts punted. The ball was downed on the Loup City twenty-nine. Ord is penalized fifteen yards making it first and second yards for them. Tunncliff on a quarter back sneak gained twelve yards. Haskell hit the line for two yards. A pass to Haskell was not completed but because a Loup City player interfered with the receiver, the pass was ruled complete. This gave Ord a first down on the Loup City nineteen. Haskell hit the line for no gain. Cetak on a spinner gained a yard. Haskell was thrown for a two yard loss. Then Haskell dropped back to pass but finding no one open, he turned it into an end run which was good for twelve yards. This gave Ord a first down on the Loup City eight. Barnes hit off tackle for two yards but as the quarter ended, Ord lost those two yards on a fumble.

2nd Quarter. Clark attempted a pass which was incomplete. Then Haskell threw a pass over the goal but it was not good so Loup City gained the ball on their own twenty. Spelts bucked the line for four yards. Plants was caught behind the line of scrimmage for a three yard loss. Loup City was penalized fifteen yards and Spelts punted. A brilliant return by Zulkoski gave Ord a first down on the Loup City twenty. Ord was penalized five yards for too much time in the huddle. Barnes on a triple spinner lost a yard. Haskell lost another. Then Zulkoski snared a pass from Haskell that gained a first down for Ord on Loup City's eight. Haskell hit the line for four yards. Zulkoski crashed center for a yard. Haskell bucked the line and made it inches to go. On the fourth down, Haskell did one of his high dives and went over for the touchdown. Clark passed for the extra point but the pass was not completed. Clark kicked off and the ball rolled out of bounds. Again Clark kicked and again the ball rolled out. The rules give the ball to the receiver on their own forty. Immediately Golus broke loose and gained Loup City a first down on the Ord forty-six. Again he slipped loose and made a first down on the Ord thirty-three. Then Spelts made seven yards. Spelts hit tackle for seven yards making it first and ten on Ord's nineteen. Spelts goes off-tackle for five more yards. Curtis gained a yard. Spelts again carried the ball and gained three yards. Again Spelts hits the Ord line and gained a first down on the Ord eight. Spelts crashed the line for four yards. He was held for no gain and then fumbled. Ord recovering on their two yard line. Spelts almost fumbled Haskell's punt but returned to Ord's twenty-six. A neat lateral from Golus to Spelts was completed but called back. Next Golus passed to Janulewicz (The name must have stumped Ord) and the pass was good for eight yards. Again Golus pass and Clark intercepted, returning the ball to Ord's twelve. Haskell hit the line for three yards. Haskell punted and Spelts returned to Ord's forty as the half ended.

3rd Quarter. Loup City kicked off and Ord returned to their own twenty-six. Haskell hit the line for no gain. Tunncliff tried an end run but was held. Haskell punted and Spelts returned to the Loup City forty. Spelts hit off tackle for four yards. On the next play Spelts fumbled and lost seventeen yards. He was again thrown for a loss, this time nine yards. Spelts punted and the ball rolled out on the Loup City twenty-two. Haskell hit the line for a yard. Again Haskell buck the line but failed to gain. A pass by Tunncliff was incomplete. Haskell on an end run gained seven yards but as it was not enough Loup City took possession of the ball on their own fifteen. Spelts tried an end run with no gain. Golus crashed the line for seven yards. Spelts gained two more, then punted. The punt went out of bounds on the Loup City thirty. Barnes held even on an end run. Clark hit center for four yards. Haskell attempted a pass but it was not good. Haskell punted and Spelts was downed on the Loup City ten. Golus went through tackle for four yards and Spelts punted. The ball rolled out on the mid-stripe. Barnes lost six yards. Tunncliff gained two yards on an end run. Barnes hit center for four yards. Haskell punted out of bounds on the Loup City twenty-eight. Spelts on a spinner gained fourteen yards, gaining a first down on the Loup City forty-two. Curtis hit off tackle for five yards. Again he slipped through for seven more yards. This gave Loup City a first down on the Ord forty-five. Curtis on a spinner gained a yard. He tried a gain and gained four yards as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter.

Golus got loose and made eleven yards. Loup City now had a first down on the Ord twenty-eight. Spelts lost two yards on the next play. Curtis gained a yard. Golus slipped through for ten yards. Spelts gained four yards giving Loup City a first down on Ord's fifteen. Ord was penalized five yards for too many time out periods. Curtis broke away for four yards. Spelts made a yard which gave Loup City a first down on Ord's five yard line. Spelts made a yard. Golus made three more. Golus was held to no gain. Again Golus crashed the line but was held to a little less than a yard. The ball lacked a fraction of an inch of being over for a touchdown. Haskell punted out of danger, in fact he made a sixty-five yard punt which forced Loup City back to their own thirty-six. Golus passed and Tunncliff intercepted. Haskell lost a yard and Ord was penalized fifteen yards. Haskell gained four yards. Another fifteen yard penalty was inflicted on Ord and Haskell punted. Loup City returned to their own twenty-eight. Golus lost four yards. Spelts lost six. Spelts punted and Tunncliff made a fifteen yard return giving Ord a first down on Loup City's twelve. Tunncliff fumbled and Loup City recovered. Golus tried a pass from his own fifteen but it was incomplete. Golus was thrown for a three yard loss. A lateral from Golus to Spelts was completed for a four yard loss. Spelts punted and the ball is returned to the Loup City thirty-nine. Haskell busts loose for nine yards as the game ended.

It is a sorrowful thing to know that on a smoky day the sun is shining brightly ten miles out and the sky is heavenly blue. Cities could have that if they would firmly make up their minds.

Use By-Product

In the petroleum industry refinery acid sludge has been a most troublesome waste, but now sulphuric acid is obtained from it and reused in the industry.

Ord Church Notes

Methodist Church. Sunday school at ten, morning worship at 11. You will be welcome at these services. Friday, night Dr. Bert L. Story of Kearney will give an address on his recent trip around the world, using moving pictures which he took with his own camera. The address is free to the public. The hour is 8 p. m. A silver offering will be taken. An Epworth League Rally will be held Friday night in the Ord church, in which the local League will be host to about ten neighboring Leagues. They will entertain their guests with a supper at 6:30. A social hour will follow. At 8 o'clock Dr. Story gives his address and other social affairs follow that. A hundred or more guests are expected. New members will be received December 13. A large number of church letters have already been received. We will be glad to receive you by letter or profession of faith if you would like to unite with us. Mearl C. Smith, Minister

Christian Science Services. "God the Only Cause and Creator" is the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, December 6.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah 44:24: "I am the Lord that maketh all things; that stretcheth forth the heavens alone; that spreadeth abroad the earth by myself."

A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Isaiah 40: 26, "Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number; he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads, "Infinite Mind is the creator, and creation is the infinite image or idea emanating from the Mind. If Mind is within and without all things, then all is Mind; and this definition is scientific." (page 257).

Postmaster Alfred Hill went down to Omaha Friday to attend a meeting of postmasters there at which meeting the government Social Security plan was explained in full. The plan when fully worked out includes unemployment insurance. It means this in most states at the present time, and will in Nebraska when the legislature passes an enabling act.

About 80 per cent of Forms SS 5 has been handed in and the rest must be turned in through any one of the several channels given in the directions not later than Saturday night, Dec. 5, Postmaster Hill says. It is not optional with the employee as to whether he make out and return this form. The requirement is mandatory. There is no age limit, and anyone earning even a small amount is considered as coming under this act, and required to make out a form. Also it makes no difference whether the employee is working on a salary or a commission, the form must be filled out.

Additional Forms SS5 may be secured at the postoffice if needed. No administrative expenses come out of this fund, which all goes to the Social Security board at Baltimore to be invested in bonds. From time to time Congress will make any necessary appropriations for administrative expenses, thus leaving the social security fund intact. Any employers' forms SS 4 which have not yet been turned in should be mailed direct to the Social Security board at Baltimore, Maryland.

On the forms that have been turned in some mistakes are appearing. On line 1 the full middle name of the employee must appear, and the signature at the bottom of the paper is to be as usually signed. On line 4 must appear the name of the business, and not the name of the owner. On line 10 must appear the maiden name of the mother, and not the married name, as some have filled in. This is for purposes of identification. Employees who read carefully the sheet of instructions attached to Form SS 5 will have no trouble in filling out the form correctly. Remember, these forms must be filled out and turned in by Dec. 5.

Ord Legion and Auxiliary Members Will Entertain 6th District Dec. 16

Sessions Will Be Held At Z. C. B. J. and Legion Halls All Day.

Joint Banquet And Dance Are Planned

Attendance Should Hit 600, Is Belief Now; State Commander Coming

The program for the big 6th district convention of the American Legion which is scheduled to take place in Ord next Wednesday, Dec. 16 is now complete. Service Officer Alfred Wiegard, who has had charge of this part of the work, apparently has done a good job and there is little left to do but carry out the program as planned. The day's activities will be divided into two parts that of the Legion and that of the Auxiliary. The Legion's program is given below:

10:00 a. m.—Registration. At Z. C. B. J. hall.
1:15 p. m.—Convention called to order by District Commander Walter Raacke of Central City. Advancement of colors. Invocation by chaplain. Reading of convention call. Roll call of posts.
1:30 p. m.—Greetings from post commander and local officials. Response by District Commander Raacke. Appointment of convention committees.

1:55 p. m.—"Legion Topics" by Department Commander Verne R. Taylor. Greetings from the American Legion Auxiliary by Mrs. Franklin P. Bowersox, department president. "Talking Things Over" by Department Adjutant R. G. Patterson. "The Veterans Administration and the Legion" by H. G. Hooks, regional manager at Lincoln. "Rehabilitation Problems" by Department Service Officer Henry A. Kriz. "How About a Job?" by W. H. Andressen, veterans' placement officer. Federal Employment Service. Post Inspections by Department Junior Vice-Commander Nell Krause.

4:15 p. m.—Reports of convention committees.
4:30 p. m.—Election district commander.
5:00 p. m.—New business and announcements.
5:15 p. m.—Retirement of colors. Adjournment.
In the evening the banquet will be held at the high school auditorium, after which tickets given to those who register will be good either at the dance at the Z. C. B.

Five Public Sales Advertised Today

Five clean-up farm sales advertised in a single issue of the Quiz is something of a record for this or any newspaper, but that is the number that will be found in today's paper.

First comes the James Nevrlka sale next Monday Dec. 14 with an offering of six horses, ten cattle and the usual machinery and miscellaneous items. On the next day, Dec. 14, two sales will be held, the Rudolph Vaselek sale on the Mrs. Helen Hill farm north of Ord and the John W. Yost sale near Scotta.

On Wednesday, Dec. 16 comes the Henry Jorgensen sale, biggest of the week and probably as large as any that will be held this winter. Mr. Jorgensen, who is going to Brunning to enter the milking business, has been one of Haskell Creek's substantial farmers and feeders for many years and naturally has accumulated a great amount of personal property. His offering includes 52 head of cattle, 10 horses, machinery of all kinds, feed, miscellaneous articles and some fine poultry, 19 Hampshire hogs, etc.

Next Thursday, Dec. 17, will be held the sale of Chas. King & Sons who have bought a tractor outfit and will do tractor farming next year, therefore deciding to sell off horses, cattle, machinery and other property.

Read about these sales in today's paper and then attend all of them.

And just as we go to press Paul Hughes brings us his sale copy and reserves Tuesday, Jan. 5, as the date for his big clean-up sale. He will move to Iowa.

C. A. Hager Recovering.
C. A. Hager, who with Mrs. Hager recently went to Boston to consult the Lahey Clinic in regard to his health, underwent a serious operation there a few days ago. He was given a blood transfusion, and word received by Mr. and Mrs. W. Kurt Miller Wednesday morning says that he is getting along as well as could be hoped for. Mr. Hager went to the Lahey Clinic partly because they are considered among the best in the world, and also because his son Chauncey is a doctor there.

The Jolly Sisters met Dec. 8th with Mrs. Moser.

Washington PWA Officials Visit

K. Sewell Wingfield, head of the power division of the Public Works Administration at Washington, D. C., was an Ord visitor Tuesday, coming here to confer with E. H. Dunmire, engineer-manager of the North Loup project. Upon arrival he learned that Dunmire was in North Platte attending a convention of the state irrigation association. Mr. Wingfield was accompanied by Mr. Havens, PWA engineer on the Tri-County project at Hastings. The Washington man expressed approval with the progress being made on the North Loup. He is in Nebraska now especially to speed up loan funds for the two Loup projects by doing away with trustee indentures previously required.

Ord's Xmas Lights Will Be in Place By Friday Evening

Community Invited to Visit Ord, See the Beautiful Holiday Decorations.

People who visit Ord Friday evening will be favored with a first glimpse of the most elaborate and beautiful Christmas decorative and lighting effects in the city's history, it is promised today by a Chamber of Commerce committee composed of Dwight Keyes, Verne Weller, F. V. Haight and George Allen, who had charge of raising funds for and planning the decorations. About $250 was contributed by business men to bring visual holiday spirit to Ord visitors during the Yule-tide season.

Light Commissioner Allen, Chester Austin, W. L. Fredericks, Vern Stark and other electricians are rushing the work of decorating to completion now.

The lighting scheme will center about court house square. On top of the court house are being placed huge replicas of Santa, his reindeer and sleigh, designed and painted by Sylvester Furtak and lighted from every angle by powerful floodlights. From the top of the courthouse to the inner edge of the square are being strung long strands of colored lights, forming a gay canopy over the court yard. The canopy effect is extended by lights across the streets.

Lamp standards and poles about the square will be entwined with greenery and along the streets will be placed 100 Christmas trees, each completely lighted and decorated.

Window displays and decoration of business buildings by individual merchants will complete the holiday effect. All stores will be asked to have their windows specially decorated and lighted for Friday and Saturday evenings. The committee hopes that home owners will decorate also.

Visitors to Ord during the final week before Christmas will find all stores open every evening for the convenience of late shoppers. Ord stores have devoted extra thought and expense to making their stores beautiful and displaying extra-value gift merchandise this winter. Christmas shoppers, Ord welcomes you!

Banquet for Grid Players Postponed

Because it was found to be impossible to get any local organization to serve a banquet during the Christmas holidays, the banquet to honor Kenneth McGinnis and Ord's championship football team has been postponed until after the holidays. This decision was made by the Chamber of Commerce committee, Glen D. Auble, Ed Beranek and Orville Sowl, who were appointed to make arrangements. Several other obstacles to having the banquet on Dec. 22 were found. Ord stores have planned to remain open evenings during Christmas week, which would prevent business men attending. Also, University of Nebraska authorities advised that Coaches Dana Bible, Link Lyman and Ed Weir have no open dates before Christmas and one of these men had been counted on to speak and show pictures of Cornhusker football games as a program feature.

Plans are now being made to have the banquet either between Christmas and New Year's day or directly after January 1.

—Revival meetings are now going on at the United Brethren church at Midvale, and will continue through next week, every evening at eight o'clock. The evangelist is S. E. Taylor. Every one is invited to hear him.

Annual Roll Call Ends, Netted $462 For the Red Cross

Membership Drive Directed By Mrs. Lewis Was Most Successful Ever.

Red Cross receipts are the highest in Ord and Valley county that they have been for many years, with a total of $462.70 taken in during the drive, announces Mrs. Keith Lewis, active chairman of roll call. A concerted effort to secure new memberships, at $1 or more each, was made between Armistice day and Thanksgiving day. This is an annual event.

Thorough canvassing and splendid organization had much to do with the fine results secured, says Mrs. John P. Misko, the county Red Cross president, announcing herself vastly pleased with the donations and memberships won. Mrs. Mark Tolen organized the drive for the business district, and $180.25 was received. Helping her were Madams George Parkins, E. O. Carlson, M. F. Kosmata, J. W. Ambrose, W. Kurt Miller.

In the first ward, of which Mrs. Cecil Clark was appointed chairman, $46.25 was made for the Red Cross. Assisting were Madams H. W. Travis, Alfred Wiegard, Freeman Haught, Sam Marks, Jay Auble, C. A. Anderson, G. B. Flagg, E. L. Kokes, William Sack, Ormsby Petty, Rudolph Koupal, J. P. Misko.

In the second ward Mrs. Lores McMindes was in charge, and reported $34.25 given in that ward. She asked to help her call at each home Madams as Anderson, E. C. Leggett, John Andersen, Guy Le Masters, Alpha Hill.

In the third ward, Mrs. William Carlton secured $12.75, with two friends helping her. Mrs. A. W. Cornell's crew, soliciting Enterprise and Vinton townships, made $27.15. Gwendolyn Kellison, Madams Ed Verstraete, Edgar Roe and Alfred Burson kindly aided.

At North Loup H. H. Thorngate as chairman reported $74.80 received for the Red Cross. Mrs. Ina Collins helped with the North Loup canvass.

At Arcadia Mrs. Clyde Baird, chairman, reported $71 netted from the campaign which she and Mrs. Jess Marvel conducted. At Elyria Mrs. Charles Diugosh, chairman, secured $16.25, with the assistance of Miss Lucille Wozniak.

The Red Cross wishes to thank all who in any way helped conduct this most successful roll call, both those who donated money and those who worked so hard to make this fine result possible. Mrs. Keith Lewis and her fellow workers are to be congratulated on organizing and conducting a roll call so much more successful than usual.

'The Great Ziegfeld' A Truly Great Show

The Ord Theater has always carried the best of entertainment, but M. Biemond certainly gave his patrons a real treat the past week when he presented a show that is seldom seen outside of the larger cities. "The Great Ziegfeld" is perhaps the greatest spectacle of its kind ever presented for the approval of the American public. The acting throughout is superb and the costumes and scenery kept the spectators breathless with suspense throughout. A crowded house greeted each performance, and Mr. Biemond is more than pleased with the attendance.

36 Unusual Bibles Displayed Oldest Printed in Bohemia in 1540

Presbyterian Church Scene Of Fine Exhibit; 1st Bible Here in 1872.

In accordance with a nation wide plan, which was approved in Nebraska by Governor Cochran, Bible Sunday was celebrated in many of the towns of Nebraska on Sunday, Dec. 6. In Ord this took the form of a display of old and unusual types of Bibles, and Rev. S. A. Woodruff of the Presbyterian church is entitled to much credit for the large number of these types which he collected and had on display at the church. A large number of people were in attendance at the morning church service, Rev. Woodruff taking for his subject the development of the Bible through the past 3500 years. In all, 36 unusual Bibles were on display. These included old family Bibles in English, foreign language Bibles, and different translations of the Bible. Of special interest were two Bibles, one in Greek and the other in Hebrew.

The oldest Bible shown was one printed in the Bohemian language in Prague in the thirty year period from 1540 to 1570. This Bible, all printed by hand, required thirty years for its completion. Its printing was started less than one

Chrysler Officer Buys Three Ranches, Garfield Co. Agog

Burwell people and the ranchers of Garfield county are all agog over the large scale land buying operations of D. A. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., a vice-president of the Chrysler corporation. Wallace already has purchased about 22,000 acres of ranch land at a cost of $70,000 or more and rumor says he plans to expand his holdings to a great extent.

Ranches he has already bought include the DeLashmutt ranch, 3,060 acres, the Maddox ranch, 7,300 acres, and the McCarty ranch, 12,000 acres. All are in Garfield county.

Although Mr. Wallace is said to be bidding on other land to "square up" his holdings it is claimed he will operate the ranches independently of each other. His representatives already are bidding on livestock to stock the places and he also will import considerable purebred stock.

Although Wallace is a large stockholder and an executive in the Chrysler corporation his Garfield county operations are being conducted on an individual and not as a representative of the motor company. If rumor is correct in this instance he will have a million dollars invested in Garfield county when he finishes his program of buying land, livestock and building improvements.

Mrs. Ollis Dies, Funeral Is Today

Funeral rites for Mrs. Laura S. Ollis, 81, who passed away at her Ord home at 1:00 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 8, after being ill for a month after a stroke of paralysis, will be held this afternoon at the Frazier chapel, Rev. S. A. Woodruff, jr., of the Ord Presbyterian church, conducting. The services will start at 2:00 p. m.

The deceased was born Dec. 10, 1855 in Columbiana county, Ohio and grew to young womanhood there and in Missouri, where her parents moved. In Mercer county, Mo., on Sept. 6, 1879 she was married to Madison O. Ragan, who passed away ten years later. On Nov. 3, 1891 at Grand Island occurred her marriage to J. A. Ollis, sr., a pioneer Valley county farmer. Mr. Ollis died at his home here on May 15, 1914.

Children who survive Mrs. Ollis are Mrs. Wm. B. Petty, of Ord, Mrs. B. B. Reppert, of Madison, Wis., and Clyde C. Ollis, of Washington, D. C. One daughter, Mary Virginia Ragan, preceded her mother in death. Three grandchildren also are left to mourn.

The Ollis family were residents of Mira Valley many years, moving to Ord in 1905 and this city was Mrs. Ollis' home until her death Tuesday. In frail health in recent years, she was cared for by her daughter, Mrs. Petty. She was a member of the Presbyterian church, a saintly woman who will be genuinely mourned by many friends and former neighbors.

Gets Leave of Absence.

Arcadia—(Special)—Trustees of the Methodist church here have granted an indefinite leave of absence to Rev. L. E. Nye, local pastor, so he may do evangelistic work with the National Preaching Mission. In February he has been promised an appointment to Boston University by Bishop Oxnam, of Omaha. No arrangements for the church here have been made. Mrs. Nye, music supervisor in Arcadia schools, will remain here until the end of the term and then join her husband in Boston.

Reared in Ord . . . Won Fame at Lincoln

KENNETH MCGINNIS.

Kenneth, better known to his friends as "Kate" McGinnis, a nickname fastened on him forever by George Round, jr., is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McGinnis and was reared in this city. He graduated from Ord High, where he was prominent in athletics, and then enrolled at the University of Nebraska. Last year he won a letter as a member of the Cornhusker football squad and this fall he was a regular guard on Coach D. X. Bible's team. He is the first Ord boy to win a major letter at the state university. Ord will give a banquet honoring Kenneth soon after the Christmas holidays.

Rotarians Hear PWA Talk By Standeven

An interesting talk about the Public Works administration and the great work it is doing in Nebraska was given before the Ord Rotary club Monday evening by W. E. Standeven, the PWA administrator in charge of the North and Middle Loup projects. School houses, sewer systems, water systems, gravel, paving, swimming pools, city auditoriums and many other public projects have been built by Nebraska municipalities with PWA assistance, during the past four years, he said. Mr. Standeven devoted considerable attention to the five big public power and irrigation projects now being built in this state.

Other Rotary guests Monday included Charles Osborne, of Hastings, Richard Woltemeyer, of Kearney, Charles R. Wareham, and M. B. Cummins of Ord. Dwight W. Keyes was introduced as a new member.

Sub-Zero Weather Hits Sunday Morn

The first sub-zero weather of the winter came Sunday morning when Horace Travis' official thermometer registered six degrees below, unusually cold for such an early date as Dec. 6. The cold snap, which still remains in force, began Friday night with a light rain which changed to snow before morning. Only 32 inches of moisture fell, Travis reports.

Lowest temperature Monday was 13 above and the government thermometer registered 9 above Tuesday and 16 above Wednesday morning. Ice still blankets streets and sidewalks from the rain and snow Saturday so it will be seen that freezing temperatures have prevailed most of the time since.

Only Actual Farmers May Get RA Grants

Federal aid for farmers of Valley county extended through Resettlement Administration grants can only be obtained under certain conditions, Lores McMindes, local RA supervisor said today. "In the first place the farmer must be in actual need and have exhausted all other credit resources," said Mr. McMindes. "Secondly, the applicant must either live on a farm or actually have derived the major portion of his income from farming."

Mr. McMindes said lack of funds and an unusually heavy number of grant cases caused by the drought made it necessary that Resettlement limit its grant program to real farmers. "The farm laborer group recently dropped from WPA payrolls who are residing in towns and villages and whose farming operations are only casual and secondary obviously are not eligible," he said.

Ord Creamery Will Hold Session Today

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Ord Co-operative Creamery Company is being held at the court house today, Thursday, Dec. 10, at 2:00 p. m. A full attendance is urged by the secretary, Clarence M. Davis.

Mrs. Martin Fuss Is Typhoid Victim Died Here Sunday

3 Weeks' Illness Fatal To Young Alda Matron Who Formerly Lived Here.

After suffering three weeks with an illness which a Grand Island physician wrongly diagnosed as a nervous breakdown but which later proved to be typhoid fever, Mrs. Martin Fuss, of Alda, died in an Ord hospital Sunday, Dec. 6, at the age of 29 leaving her husband, three tiny children, her parents and other relatives to mourn her untimely death.

Mrs. Fuss was brought to the Ord hospital Saturday by her husband and her father, George W. Collipriest, of Lexington, after she had been ill three weeks at her farm home near Alda. Dr. C. J. Miller diagnosed her ailment as typhoid fever but the disease had progressed too far to yield to treatment, and her death came less than 24 hours later.

She was the former Miss Helen Collipriest and was born in Loup City on March 25, 1907, attending grade school there and in Madison and coming with her parents to Ord in 1920. Here she attended high school, grew to young womanhood, met and was married on March 20, 1932 to Martin Fuss. They made their home in Mira Valley three years and then moved to Alda, which has been the family home since. Three children, Robert, Helen and Ellen, all less than four years old now, came to bless the Fuss home and are left motherless by Mrs. Fuss' departure.

Other relatives are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Collipriest, her sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Kite, of Creighton, Mrs. Faye Blessing of Lincoln, and Mrs. Fern Draper, of Ord, and a brother James Collipriest, of Lincoln. One of the most popular girls who ever lived in Ord, Mrs. Fuss also is mourned by a great number of friends.

Funeral rites were held from Sowl's chapel Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. S. A. Woodruff, jr., of the Ord Presbyterian church, having charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Walter Hanne, of Lexington. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Ord Women Purchase Share in Newspaper

Two Ord women, both formerly employees of the Quiz, have purchased interests in a newspaper published at El Centro, Calif., by the Elite Printing Company, states an article in a recent issue of the Calexico, Calif., Chronicle, where both are now employed. Mrs. Edna B. Clements, once a linotype operator on the Quiz, and Mrs. Fess Stacy, former Quiz bookkeeper, are the women. Mrs. Clements has been in California fifteen years and Mrs. Stacy about ten. Both will remain with the Calexico Chronicle.

Seniors Swamp All Opposition to Win Inter-Class Meet

Dean Barta Scoring Leader For Winners; Best Freshie Team in Years.

The senior class, with a basketball team which included four let-termen, swept aside all opposition and secured first position in the annual interclass tournament. Both of the games played by the seniors were won by lopsided scores, defeating the sophomores 45-5, and walloping the juniors 29-10 in the finals. The consolation match was played Wednesday evening between the sophs and the freshmen, too late to appear in the Quiz.

Coach Helmut Brockman expressed satisfaction in the showing of the boys made in tournament play. The class teams were sponsored by faculty members, Jesse Kovanda sponsoring the championship senior quintet, Supt. Stoddard the juniors; Horace Johnson, sophomores; and Frank Lee, freshmen.

Following is a brief summary and description of the games:

Seniors vs. Sophomores.
The senior team ran wild in this contest, swishing the ball through the hoop from all corners of the court to pile up a 45-5 decision over the sophs. Dean Barta led the scoring for the seniors, making a total of 25 points.
Seniors ..... 10 30 33 45
Sophomores ..... 1 1 13 45

Juniors vs. Freshmen.
A "cocky" but nevertheless fast traveling and fast shooting junior quint scored a 30-5 win over the freshmen five. Don Tunncliff tossed in 14 points to lead the scoring for the juniors. Richard Piskorski and Dean Misko threw in two field goals each for the freshmen. The final score does not indicate the fine playing on the part of the freshmen team in this game. The freshmen having one of the best first year teams to appear in Ord high for a number of years.
Juniors ..... 10 18 27 30
Freshmen ..... 1 5 5 5

Seniors vs. Juniors.
This game was a battle from start to finish, 28 personal fouls being called during the game. With the score 12-4 at the half, the seniors came back in the third quarter to double their score on the juniors and to win 29 to 10. Dean Barta rang the bell for 12 points to lead the scoring for the seniors. Zikmund following close with 9 counters. Tunncliff and Zulkoski tucked in 3 points each for the juniors. The box score:
Seniors ..... 7 12 24 29
Juniors ..... 0 4 9 10

Seniors' (29)

	fg	ft	pf	tp
Haskell	1	0	4	2
Lakin	0	1	0	1
Zikmund	4	1	2	9

Clark	0	1	1	1
Petty	0	0	0	2

Referees: Burdette Cowl and Frank Lee.
Members of the various class teams are as follows: Seniors, Haskell, Lakin, Zikmund, Barta, Clark and Stone. Juniors, Tunncliff, Zulkoski, Cetak, Hughes, Vincent, Clark, Petty, Sack, Williamson, and Plate. Sophomores, Hitchman, B. Rose, R. Rose, Dahlin, Severson, Blessing, Johnson, Albers, V. Nay. Freshmen, Carlson, Misko, Hurlbert, Vincent, Piskorski, Tatlow and Stoddard.

Frank Osentowski Dies At Age of 94

Frank Osentowski, sr., one of Ord's oldest citizens, passed away at 8:35 Monday morning, Dec. 7, at the age of 94, his death being due to the natural infirmities of old age. Of robust health most of his long and vigorous life, Mr. Osentowski had been bedfast since last spring.

The funeral is being held at 10:30 a. m. today at Boleszyn church in the northwest corner of Valley county, this church being located on the farm where the Osentowski family lived for so many years before moving to Ord.

Mr. Osentowski was born in Poland but came to the United States as a young man. Married three times, two of his wives preceded him in death as did one son, Bohish. Besides his widow, to whom he was wed about 12 years ago, he is mourned by three sons, Frank, of Ord, Jacob, of Burwell, and Philip, of Elyria, and by two daughters, Mrs. Katie Bruha and Mrs. Alex Grabowski, of Ord. He also leaves relatives near St. Paul and in Michigan.
Father Sczumski, of the St. Mary's church of Elyria, will conduct the funeral rites today.

PURCELL-NEBRASKA LEADER.

Fifty years ago on Thanksgiving day a youthful editor started up in business in a little hamlet in Custer county, launching a little paper known as the Merna Record. This was put out on a hand operated one page army press. From that modest beginning Emerson R. Purcell has developed his chosen work until today he is the head of the printing company that puts out one of the best known papers in the state of Nebraska, The Custer County Chief.

It occurred to the other members of the Chief staff that it would be a clever idea to print a special edition of the paper in commemoration of this event, and last week this special edition was put out as the Surprise Golden Jubilee section of the regular edition. Moreover, it was done without the boss's knowledge or consent, as it was all assembled on the quiet, and the printing done while he was out of town.

The edition opens with some introductory remarks by Frank O. Edgecombe, editor of the Nebraska Signal of Geneva, one of the best known publishers in the west. In the final column of the same page is given a brief history of Mr. Purcell's work in the newspaper field. Mr. Purcell's picture graces the center of the page, while below is a statement from the members of the Chief family responsible for the edition. This is signed by Parke F. Keays, Hazel F. Birge, Everett R. Morrison, Harry C. Wright, David A. Weaver, Alvin M. Naab, Henry W. Miller and Jerry H. Wright.

A large part of the eight page edition is devoted to pictures, many of them of the early days, and showing the development of the newspaper business through the years. A reproduction of the first page of the first edition of the Merna Record is also shown, with the date, November 25, 1886 showing at the top, and as the statement. Purcell Bros., Editors and Publishers. Another pleasing feature of the edition is a cartoon contributed by Spencer, of the World-Herald.

On the back page are letters of congratulation from Senator George W. Norris and Governor Cochran, and a telegram from Congressman Harry B. Coffee. W. H. Plourd, president of the Nebraska Press Association and Gayle C. Walker, Director of the University School of Journalism add their letters of felicitation. Some early day pictures of the town of Broken Bow are included, which must be interesting to the citizens of the town today.

Among the interesting and praiseworthy achievements of Emerson R. Purcell, in addition to the running of a newspaper business for fifty years which is a notable achievement in itself, are his work in the Nebraska legislature both as a member of the house and as a state senator; his achievements as a member of Governor Arthur Weaver's state game, forestation and parks commission; his work in behalf of the state fair when he was a member of the state Board of Agriculture; his efficient administration as president of the Nebraska Press association. He was a member of the committee in the Nebraska house of representatives which first brought up the plan of a new capitol building.

In the words of Spencer, "The real measure of a man is not taken in cubits or height or pounds displacement, but in terms of service to his fellow men." It is men of Purcell's stamp that have brought the newspapers of Nebraska into the high esteem they hold in the state today. It is up to the younger journalists to carry on the high ideals of the pioneers of the craft. Emerson R. Purcell is still a man of power in the newspaper world, but soon inexorable fate will deem that another must take his place. Let us hope that, when that time comes, an efficient replacement may be found in the ranks of those with whom he has labored as publisher of the Custer County Chief.

LOCAL NEWS

While attending to business matters in Ord Saturday, C. R. Newbecker called at the Quiz office long enough to renew his Quiz to the end of 1937.

Alfred Mortensen writes from the VCC camp at Minatare sending in his subscription to the Quiz. Alfred recently put in his application for enrollment in this branch of the service, and was accepted and sent to Minatare a short time ago.

From the Wheatland, Wyo. Record we learn that Mr. Ainslee Davis, wife of the editor, is now in Scotia, Neb., where she was called by the illness of her mother. Mrs. L. M. Clark. Mr. Davis drove his wife to Cheyenne, where she boarded the streamliner, City of Portland, for Grand Island.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

My System.

Up above the kitchen table, within easy reach, is a wall pocket and in this wall pocket there should be a little book and with that little book should be a pencil. Here at this table I and my family eat most of our meals and as we relate the happenings of the day and as I think of something that might be of interest to the column, I make a few hieroglyphic marks in the little book. When the time comes to pound out this bunk, as some one referred to it, all I have to do is to grab the book and soon sally forth with $5 worth of copy.

So when H. D. mentioned John Ward's card system, the thought occurred that I tell of my high powered arrangement and show all my patient followers how easy it is to write this and toot my own horn a little, so I reached up with my left hand and scrambled in the wall pocket for the little book planning to make a note and then I found I could not find my book. It was gone and the pencil too. Hoping the blasted thing would turn up soon I did not buy another and trusted to my memory for this week's column and now is the time to write it off and no notes or memory either. As I sit here pondering, I wonder if John's cards ever get lost, and what he does if they do.

I must write something or there will be a big blank space in the paper, and perhaps it would be as well, but the bosses insist on something so here goes.

Meet Some Friends.

I remember seeing Deacon and Elmer Hornickel last week in the blacksmith shop and asking them if they had their corn out yet.

With attempted solemnity, but punctuated with occasional heehaws we conversed. They said, "Yes. All out."

"So soon?"
"Up before Thanksgiving. There was only one year, in 1934, that we got our corn out quicker than this."

And then John questioned, "Feeding this year?"
"Yup. Feeding 300 hens. Have more trouble getting the feed for those hens than I used to feed that many steers."

"Why aren't you feeding steers? Won't Leggett loan ya the money?"
"Nope. That's one reason."
Then Irvy Sheldon piped in, having been an onlooker, "Wouldn't think you fellows would be hard up. All good farmers and good republicans."

We were silenced for a jiffy. Then I questioned Deacon, "What ya doing this year? Shellin' corn?"
"Well," Deacon studied, "The sheller is out every day."
"Out by the barn, ya mean."

Bud Was Shocked.

And then I remember being in Knapp's hardware store when Deacon Cruzan came in. He was working for Rev. Hill repairing a little house in the northeast part of town that belongs to the Reverend. The Deacon asked Bud Knapp for a door lock. Bud produced the lock and asked the Deacon where it goes, meaning whom to charge it to.

The deacon turned in his haste to leave and replied quickly and none too plainly, "Goes to Hill."
And then seeing Ed Jefferies and he saying there are four of us to do the chores now at our place. He has three fine boys at home and nothing for them to do. He said he used to worry about his work and his corn shucking, over whether he would get it done or not and now he worries over where to find work.

And then hearing some farmers who had borrowed money from the government worrying over what they would have to live on and proclaiming that they were approaching dictatorship about as fast as one could think. They can neither buy feed or sell stock or do any business without first asking the brass collars in Ord.

And then hearing some merchants complaining about the prosperity that the new ditch has not brought yet. Up to date there has been no beneficial employment down this way and then one fellow asked one of the committee if there were not more people employed in the office than on the ditch.

Politics Again.

Then I met Dell Barber. He has the credit of being the only democrat in these parts who was elected in the last election. Someone said Harion Brennick is a democrat but he ran on both tickets. He and Norris were on the same ticket. Dell is the only purebred democrat. He ran for overseer. He got four votes, his opponent two. He can feel quite happy. He must have had two friends granting he and his wife voted for himself. And then perhaps he shouldn't feel so good. It might have been there were two people who were mad at his opponent and voted for Dell just for spite. Anyway Dell got elected by a two to one majority. And that's good enough. As good a majority good enough. As good a majority

And then as I walked on up the street I met a pair of Jakes. I said "Hello Jakes." They laughed a little and said, "You're right. And we're country jakes too." It was no one but Jake Barber and Jake Earnest happily visiting.

Now let me ask, can John Ward to any better if his card system gets mislaid? . . . Or any worse.

One Gate He Can't Crash

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

There is nothing at anywhere near the price that will give an absent loved one as much pleasure as the Quiz for a year and now is the time to make arrangements to have it sent. Then mail the receipt to the one to get the gift.

If you expect to compete in our "First 1937 Baby" Contest, you must have made preparations before this. Watch for the full particulars the last issue this month.

I have often wondered why it is that players and crowd don't crab at football umpire decisions like they do in baseball games, but I have never seen it done.

I expect we would be surprised if we could see a list in one bunch, of all who have deserted this community because of the continued drought and the end is not yet. And many going to Oregon and Idaho and Washington will be disappointed, for there is no place without its drawbacks.

I suspect the sympathies of most Americans is with King Edward of England in his fight against the snobbery of the so-called upper crust of English royalty, seeking to prevent his marriage with Mrs. Wallis Simpson. Being England's king is not such a desirable job and I believe Edward will give up the crown before he will throw Mrs. Simpson over.

If a new political party could be organized and made up of new material all honest and high minded, great things could be accomplished. At the present time political parties are mostly directed and run and managed by professional politicians, some of them none too honest. If the old parties are junked, are these more or less slippery gentlemen to be killed or being, still, good politicians, will they flock to the reorganized parties, and in a short time, again dominate them? And if not, why not?

I wonder if the scientists who claim that we are going to have a colder winter with more snow than last winter, know what they are talking about.

After I had bought a big turkey for Thanksgiving and had it filled with oyster dressing, my good friend Frank Gross sent me another fine, large bird, which I was forced to put in cold storage until this last Sunday. I am going to make it a point to go up to the Gross ranch some of these days and brag on his big drove of whiteface steers and see if he will send me a nice dressed steer. I admired his turkeys and got fine results.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Twenty million turkeys are coming to market this year. The figure sets an all-time high for a year's sale of turkeys, beating last season's production by five million birds. It is bringing prices down to where the average man can afford to buy turkey.

There are heavy supplies of all kinds of poultry this fall. Light chickens are more plentiful than a year ago, with corresponding lower prices. Ducks and geese are being offered in larger numbers and for less money. But the field of boosted production is led by turkeys.

There are several reasons. Turkey raising is not the risky job it used to be. The research of scientists has changed turkey breeding from a gamble into a business. Farmers have learned to keep their turkeys separate from chickens. Then the drouths have helped, because turkeys thrive on dry weather.

Turkeys are coming to market lighter than usual. Consumers have been begging for littler turkeys to fit small roasting receptacles, small families and small pocketbooks. High feed prices have also forced producers to send their birds to market younger and smaller.

In buying poultry, it is well to consider the percentage of edible meat to dressed weight. The cheapest fowl may not be the most economical if it carries a lot of waste. The following percentages are quite accurate:

Bird	Percent of Meat
Squabs	73.9
Capons	67.5
Turkeys	66.5
Geese	65.1
Fat hens	64.0
Fat broilers	61.0

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM

Hamburger is surely an inspiration to most cooks . . . they can make a number of palatable main dishes for dinner from it. Or they can thrill the children with good old hamburger sandwiches. Many meat loaves begin as humble hamburger, so do lots of "casseroles".

May we print your hamburger recipes, please?

Hamburger Loaf.
Mix well together one pound hamburger ground fine and salted to taste, one-half pound fresh lean pork or pork sausage, two green peppers or pimentos, one onion ground fine, one cup cooked oatmeal, one egg, one cup tomato puree or tomato soup. Shape into a loaf and spread thickly with bacon fryings, bake for forty-five minutes.

Brownies.
Beat two eggs, add one cup sugar, two and one-half squares of melted chocolate, one-third cup butter. Mix one-half cup flour with one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-eighth teaspoon salt, add to the batter. Lastly put in one-half teaspoon vanilla and one cup coarsely broken nuts. Bake thirty minutes at 325 degrees or medium heat, then bake in an oblong pan. Cut in squares when cool. May be frosted.

Chocolate Cookies.
Blend one cup shortening and two cups light brown sugar, add two slightly beaten eggs, one-third cup sour milk in which one teaspoon soda has been stirred. Sift four and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, six tablespoons cocoa and one-half teaspoon salt, add to the first mixture. Lastly add one-third cup nuts with one teaspoon vanilla. The mixture must be stiff enough to form in little balls in the palm of the hands. Press on a cookie sheet and bake. These may be frosted with powdered sugar icing.

Brown Sugar Frosting.
Boil three cups brown sugar and one cup water to soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add two tablespoons butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Let cool, then beat until thick like fudge, then thin with sweet cream until the proper consistency to spread.

Prune Bread.
Mix two cups of white flour, one cup whole wheat flour, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon baking powder, one tablespoon butter, one beaten egg, three-fourths cup milk, one cup prunes which have been washed, soaked, cooked with one tablespoon of sugar, then seeded and cut up. Also add the grated rind and juice of one lemon, one-half teaspoon salt, one-third cup nutmeats.

Christian Science Services.
"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, December 13.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 16:1: "Preserve me, O God: for in thee do I put my trust."

A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from Isaiah 43: 2: "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee: when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "God, without the image and likeness of Himself, would be without a witness or proof of His own nature. Spiritual man is the image or idea of God, an idea which cannot be lost nor separated from its divine Principle." (page 303).

STANDARD RED CROWN GIVES

ONE-SECOND STARTING

..WITH THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE WINTER MILEAGE

Hold on, Mr. Lichty. In depicting the fast start-up, fast warm-up and general speed of Standard Red Crown for winter, you're going too far.

Of course, a tankful of Red Crown goes far, also—for this brilliant new motor fuel gives the highest possible winter mileage.

What's more, it starts an engine in good condition, in one second, at zero.

Try this great winter gasoline.

GET SOME TODAY FROM YOUR STANDARD DEALER!

By the way . . . because Standard Red Crown does start an engine in a hurry and gives full steam ahead quickly, it is wise to use the correct winter grade of motor oil with it. Then you'll insure instant, full lubrication of all moving parts the second your engine starts turning. Standard's ISO-VIS "D" motor oil does a fine job.

BURWELL NEWS

Melvin Struve, music teacher of the Burwell schools, underwent a major operation for gall bladder trouble at the Cram hospital in Burwell Saturday. At the present time he is reported as recovering as well as could be hoped for.

Two Burwell young men are working in the sugar factory at Lyman, Nebr., and have been there since the opening of work about Oct. 1.

As usual Burwell got her Christmas decorations up in good season this year, the work of putting them up beginning Dec. 1 and the entire square being lighted last Saturday.

Mrs. A. Garska, with one of her sons as driver brought Mrs. O. W. Taylor, Mrs. Wm. McDonald, and Mrs. Elmer Freeland down to Ord on a shopping trip Saturday.

Next Saturday will be an eventful day in the life of little Dorothy Goodell, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Goodell, as Dr. R. S. Cram has promised her that on that day she can have the bandage off her thumb, which has been wrapped up since early in May.

Norma Hughes, who has been visiting at Paducah, Ky., for the past five weeks, returned recently bringing with her Eugene, five-year-old son of her sister Mrs. Allen Summerfeld to spend the holidays with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Adams.

Raymond Hahn and Wilson Shaffer went down to Ord Sunday afternoon to take in the sights, and took the writer back to his work. George Dawe was down to the sale at the Ord Livestock Market Saturday, and gave him a lift to Burwell.

Chris Haid had the honor of being Burwell's first licensed pilot, as he recently completed the fifty hours necessary to qualify for a private license.

William B. Hoppes, son of Josiah and Drusilla Hoppes, was born April 23, 1877, and died at his home in Burwell Dec. 2, 1936, being 59 years seven months and nine days old at the time of his death.

Mrs. Hugo Wins Divorce. In the district court at Burwell last week, with Judge Kroger presiding, a divorce was granted Mrs. Doris Hugo against Harry Hugo, whom she married May 29, 1917.

Burwell and Alfred of Tuthill, S. D., four sisters, Ora Jensen of Monticla, Calif., Nannie Heltz of Burwell, Elizabeth Post of Aurora, and Mabel Ball of Nellburg, Sask. Canada, one half sister, Minnie Lattimer Easton, of Ft. Scott, Kas. One sister and two brothers preceded him in death. There are numerous other relatives and friends.

Something DIFFERENT

Due to the ambition of some of our business men who went right out and got the money, Ord is going to have more and prettier street decorations for Christmas this year than ever before.

A really decorated city at the holiday season, done after the modern fashion, is something to keep the children up to view.

A little girl in Ord had a birthday, and invited a lot of little boys and girls to her home to a birthday party.

The young guests were somewhat alarmed when she met them at the door with "fit you didn't bring me a present you can't come in".

Over at Broken Bow Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Purcell approached their fortieth wedding anniversary rather quietly, with no more than the usual plans for the day customarily made by most couples who reach that goal.

But in the office of his newspaper, the Custer County Chief, more plans were perfected, planned to celebrate also fifty years spent in the newspaper business by the boss.

And believe it or not, but all this was kept secret, and Mr. Purcell did not know of it or guess it until the last minute. It was really thrilling.

Fred Howard will probably pop up and say the secret "kept" because they didn't let any women in on it.

Over in England, I have heard it said, it has always been good English to use the word "ain't", the contraction for "am not" so carefully omitted in the United States from all grammars.

Well, if you have always enjoyed saying "ain't", if you have delighted to say "et", whether Mr. Webster urged it or not.

Mrs. Hugo Wins Divorce. In the district court at Burwell last week, with Judge Kroger presiding, a divorce was granted Mrs. Doris Hugo against Harry Hugo, whom she married May 29, 1917.

Bill Becker Heads New Gov't Weather Station In Burwell

Nearly ten years ago Bill Becker, then a high school lad, first started out in the field of wireless and in that time he has made a reputation in his chosen field that puts his name high in the ranks of amateur station operators in the United States. Always mechanically inclined, Bill uses apparatus most of which he made himself. He is also well known for his proficiency for riding motorcycles and scouting airplanes around over Burwell. Naturally when the government decided to put a six-hourly weather station in operation in this locality, their first concern was to find a man who could and would handle the work as required by specifications. This required a location well isolated from the business section, and the Becker home at the west edge of Burwell is perfectly located to suit this requirement. During the Burwell rodeo this year V. E. Jaki, meteorologist from the Omaha airport, came to Burwell for the purpose of determining a location for the station. Upon recommendation of Oscar W. Johnson he went up to see the Becker brothers, Bill and Guy, and was so well pleased with them and the location that he at once made arrangements for a station there. This station, which will open now as soon as a government man arrives to set the instruments and give the signal, is to operate under the United States weather bureau, and the instruments are the property of the U. S. department of agriculture. The several instruments began arriving in September, and the last one got here last Friday.

Observations at this station will be taken every six hours and will be sent in by code, by telegraph. Bill will be in charge, but Guy will also learn all about what to do, in case Bill is incapacitated at any time. There are only two of these new stations in Nebraska, the other being at Chadron. They are parallel the east and west airway, and their reports will serve to give warning of storms from the north. The instruments consist of an anemometer, or wind velocity indicator, and a wind vane for telling the direction of the wind. These are mounted on a mast on top of the house, and are connected electrically with an instrument board in the station. By means of lights on this board the direction of the wind is shown, and a buzzer tells the miles per hour. The station was for hours, all without going outside the merrily Bill's shop, and is ten by ten feet in size, with a seven foot ceiling. It has a stove, so that it can be kept comfortable at all times. Another instrument already installed is the Psychrometer which is located in a weather shelter to the northwest of the station. It consists of two thermometers, one for telling the temperature, and the other for determining the dew point.

This is perhaps the most important instrument of all, as its readings show positively if airplanes are likely to encounter foggy conditions. When the temperature and the dew point are close together, it is a warning of fog. Instruments yet to be installed are the barograph, which not only shows the air pressure at all times, but makes a permanent record on paper, so that the pressure throughout the year is on record. The barometer, which is the most delicate and costly of all the instruments, is still in the box it was shipped in and will not be opened until the inspector arrives to install it. The surveyors who were in Burwell until recently ran a line up from the elevation mark in the court house yard and located a point on the wall of the station where the barometer will be placed. Another instrument which will be used, in case it is ever needed, is the rain gauge, which is at present on the lot of the Bank of Burwell, and which will be moved. Other duties which will be required of the boys will be the measurement of snowfall. The many friends of the Becker boys are glad to know that this deserved honor and responsibility have come to them.

Cochran's Concrete Gets Editor In Bad

Saturday, November 14th, 1936 will long be a Red Letter Day with the writer of this story, for it marks the day upon which I established a record which must forever still the taunts of Red Moger, Gus Krebs, Doc Latta and some other forty-five mile drivers who have maintained for years that the wreck upon which I pay taxes could not do thirty, even if it had a competent driver. On the Saturday mentioned aforesaid (you will forgive me if I occasionally drop into legal phraseology) the accused (that's me), drove past a number of kindly disposed servants of the state slaying their poor lives away upon the concrete highway, No. 6. So annoyed were they by the sight of an editor jolting luxuriously back in soft cushions and eyeing God's noblemen with critical eye that they hurried to the nearest police kiosk and proffered charges of speeding against me. The complaint said "Driving at an unlawful speed, to wit, 60 miles per hour on a public highway." (If I descend to the vernacular of us master criminals when I say that I could easily have beat the rap for in Nebraska 60 miles is not unlawful, forgive me.)

On receiving the complaint Sheriff Steinacher phoned me to report in the Filmore County capitol for trial. I did so immediately, though I must confess that the leave-taking of my wife and crying group of children near caused me to attempt to defeat the law. Between Mrs. Howard, urged me to face the court and bear up under whatever demands in restitution were made of me. She shackled me to the steering column of my car and headed it east. In due time I arrived in Geneva. From Charlie Sloan and Frank Edgcombe I received great gobs of sympathy, but nary a drink, and alone and unattended presented myself to the court, rather to the darned good looking young lady who recognized my plight and tried to cheer me up by playing the Devil's Dream upon an alleged noiseless typewriter. Came then the Judge and Court Attendants and with sinking heart I listened while the complaint was intoned by a lad who indicated plainly that he would much rather be doing a stint at golf than assisting in sending a helpless human being to his doom. There was a moment of silence following the reading of the charge, then kindly Judge Landgren wiped the mist from his eyes and asked me what sort of an answer I desired to make. Struggling to keep back my tears I told him I had but one desire and that was to be allowed to return to my family as quickly as possible. The books were searched and authorities consulted. Finally the court said ten and costs and Sheriff Steinacher stood at attention as I accepted the judgment and made settlement. From Judge Landgren I secured a handsomely embossed receipt. It shall be framed and hung in a conspicuous place in my office. It will serve two purposes. One is to refute the slander that I drive so slowly as to be a road menace, the other to make me withhold my youthful urge for speed and keep off of Roy Cochran's damnable temptations to daredevil Dans.—Clay Center Sun.

House in St. Paul Where Green Was Trapped.

EDDIE GREEN

EDDIE GREEN, St. Paul gunman and bank robber, who had the underworld distinction of active membership in the Dillinger and the Karpis-Barker gangs at the same time, invited death—and got it.

Circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of Green by federal bureau of investigation agents, who set a trap for him on April 3, 1934, at a house in St. Paul, were the subject of an under-cover inquiry recently by secret service agents.

The "ill-advised" secret service activities apparently were prompted by recurring rumors that G-men fired at Green without knowing his identity, that they only learned who he was by questioning him on his death-bed at the hospital, that he was a "minor hoodlum" who deserved better treatment.

Well, let's look at the record.

With the co-operation of Director Hoover of the F. B. I., I have gone thoroughly over the bureau's heretofore confidential files on the Green case and, I believe, have found the answer—officially—to the questions which puzzled curious secret service men.

In the first place, a study of the criminal record of Edward Green—alias Eugene Green, George Graham, Charles Ryan, George Green, Fred Rogge, Frederick Riley, Fred Graham and Eugene Riley—fails to support the rumor that he was just a bad boy who became involved innocently with big-time killers.

He started out as a small-timer—his first sentence having been served in the house of correction for grand larceny, but he graduated into such select gangland company as that represented by Frank Nash, cause of the Kansas City massacre; Verne Miller, one of the massacre "trigger men"; Alvin Karpis and the Barker brothers, of kidnaping note, and, finally, John Dillinger.

He robbed banks with the Karpis-Barker gang and with the Dillinger gang.

His home was the haven to which members of both gangs would flee in time of trouble, the "post office" through which they received their mail, the clearing house through which they kept in touch with one another, the headquarters where many desperate crimes were plotted.

At the time of his death he was custodian of much of the heavy artillery composing the arsenal of the Dillinger mob.

A second point supplied by the records is that Hoover's men knew exactly whom they were shooting when they opened fire. They had set their trap for Green and no one else.

A third point is that Green was shot only as a final resort—as he answered a command to halt by starting to run and reaching for his hip pocket.

The fact that he lived for eight days after the shooting and was conscious until a few hours before his death belies reports that he was "riddled with bullets."

Full details of the events which led up to the capture of Green are disclosed herewith, by permission of the F. B. I.

It will be recalled that on March 31, 1934, Dillinger, Homer Van Meter and Evelyn Frechette shot their way out of a St. Paul apartment house. A careful inquiry at this apartment provided G-men with the address of another apartment, on Marshall avenue, which they immediately investigated.

At the second apartment they learned that apartment 106 had been occupied by a man of suspicious habits until the day of the Dillinger shooting affray, and that the man had not returned since that time. His description tallied with that of Van Meter. The manager said the apartment had been rented two weeks before by a "Mr. D. A. Stevens" and that the latter had turned the apartment over to the man answering Van Meter's description.

The agents obtained permission to enter this apartment. They found a leather bag, a Thompson machine gun stock that fitted a stockless gun abandoned by Van Meter in his escape on March 31, a large quantity of ammunition, a revolver holster, a pair of field glasses, a two-foot piece of dynamite fuse and several "get-away" charts and road maps used in bank robberies.

While the agents were in the apartment, two colored women appeared and announced they had been sent to "clean the apartment." These women, upon interrogation, eventually admitted that the "D. A. Stevens" who had rented the apartment was really Eddie Green, for whom they had worked at a roadhouse.

They said Green and his paramour had called at their house that morning and asked them to go to the "Stevens" apartment on Marshall avenue and get a suitcase, a coat and some laundry. Their instructions were to take these articles to their home, where Green would call for them later that day.

Several agents were "planted" in the colored women's home. They were armed with rifles and automatic pistols—for they believed they were to face a desperate man, an associate of Dillinger and Van Meter. The latter pair had machine-gunned their way to freedom only a few days before. The agents were determined not to let another member of the gang escape.

One of the colored women was instructed to open the door and hand the bag to Green when he appeared, then step aside. Three agents were hidden at strategic places on the first floor, where they could watch developments through curtained windows.

Just before 6 p. m. a sedan pulled to a stop in front of the house. There were a woman and a man in it, Green and his paramour.

Green began getting out of the car almost before it stopped, ran up to the front door of the house and received the suitcase from the colored woman.

Then he turned quickly and dashed back toward the car, the motor of which had been left running.

As Green leaped down the front steps, the agent in charge of the squad commanded him to halt.

Instead of obeying this command, the F. B. I. files show, Green quickened his pace and, started by the command, reached toward his pocket as though to draw a gun.

That instinctive, menacing gesture was a fatal one—it was the signal for the agents to fire, or seek safety and let another gangster escape without so much as a struggle.

Actually, that impulsive sweep of Green's hand toward his gun pocket was a futile move. He had left his guns at home—and it proved to be quite an arsenal, when G-men found it later.

His woman companion was arrested and questioned. She had on her $1,155.

Green was found to have two safety deposit boxes containing $4,000 and $4,700, respectively.

Green, questioned at the hospital, made the following admissions to F. B. I. agents:

He had been downstairs in the St. Paul apartment when Dillinger and Van Meter made their sensational escape on March 31, 1934, fleeing during the confusion.

He had arranged for Dr. Clayton E. May, Minneapolis physician (since convicted of harboring Dillinger) to treat a bullet wound Dillinger received in the apartment house battle.

He had committed numerous bank robberies in association with the Karpis-Barker and Dillinger gangs.

He had participated two weeks before with Dillinger, Van Meter, John Hamilton, "Baby Face" Nelson and Tommy Carroll in the $52,000 robbery of the First National bank at Mason City, Iowa.

He was planning to rob a bank in Newton, Iowa, at the time he was shot.

Part of his long criminal record in the fingerprint division of the F. B. I. follows:

As Eugene Green, arrested by police, Milwaukee, Wis., August 11, 1916, charge, grand larceny; sentenced to six months.

As Frederick Riley, arrested by police, Des Moines, Iowa, suspicion of safebreaking; released to St. Paul police, who also wanted him for safebreaking and robbery; August 12, 1922.

As Eddie Green, received at State reformatory, St. Cloud, Minn., November 15, 1922, under sentences of forty and five years and transferred to Minnesota State penitentiary.

As Eddie Green, paroled from Minnesota State penitentiary, July 1, 1930.

As Edward Green, arrested at St. Paul, Minn., April 3, 1934, and charged with attempting murder of F. B. I. agent.

This was the "bad boy" whose death appears to have aroused the sympathies of some critics of the G-men.

Mrs. Marie Wozab Passes at Wilber

Mrs. Marie Wozab nee Seuffelt, was born Sept. 18, 1841 in Cifov, district of Meinic, Czechoslovakia, and died at Wilber, Nebr., Nov. 29, 1936 at the age of 95 years, 2 months and 11 days. She came to America at the age of sixteen with her parents. They settled in Manitowoc, Wis., where she married John Wozab, April 20, 1862, with whom she lived 71 years until his death in 1933 at the age of 93 years.

The Wozabs homesteaded near Wilber in 1869, and lived there until 1880. From there they moved to Wymore, where they were in business. From Wymore they moved to Ord, and lived here until 1925. They then moved to Lincoln for two years, and finally back to Wilber. They leave two children, John J. Wozab, and Mrs. Emma Mary Barta, both of Wilber. A grandson, John J. Wozab, Jr., lives in Ord and is employed in the Valley County Abstract office.

Fire At Ericson.

Fire starting in the back part of the building occupied by Austins Cream station, used by Mrs. Mousck as a dwelling, not only destroyed the building but also two other Ericson buildings. The others were Ed Ericson's garage and the Harding cream station. The fire started at noon Saturday and the three buildings were soon a mass of flames. This is a serious blow to Ericson and entails a loss of several thousand dollars.

Early Day Prairie Fire, Hail Storms, Blizzards Recalled By Woman Who Saw First Turtle Creek School House Built

BY MRS. GEORGE BURREL, East Bridgewater, Mass.

In the spring of 1876 my father, Andrew Morse, "took up" a home-stead on Turtle Creek—land joining, and just west of, the home-stead of A. S. Adams. I was born in April 1877—the first white child on Turtle Creek.

As I remember that little sod house, dug into a hill, facing the south was much warmer in winter than the new framed house, built some years later.

In summer my mother planted portulaca seed, brought or sent from Massachusetts, on the flat top or roof, and it was a mass of color, all shades, red, yellow, white and cream.

There were no floors to scrub in those early days but the clay, worn hard and dry, made a fair substitute for floor boards and could be swept clean. And when a garter snake was discovered making himself at home, under the table, where the family had just had breakfast, he was just swept out too. But rattlesnakes were a cause for anxiety and brought tragedy to some. A child of a neighboring family named Bronson was bitten by a rattlesnake and died—buried in that little cemetery on a hill near what is now Elyria. I have some rattles from a snake my mother killed with a garden hoe. She usually carried a hoe or a rake or a broom handle whenever she went to the garden or down the hill and across the creek for drinking water. A cool, bubbling spring had been found and with half of a barrel set around that we had good cold water. How good it tasted when we'd lie flat on our tummies and, face in the water, drink our fill. But it must be carried up the long hill to the "soddie".

Just once do I remember seeing an Indian and his squaw. My father had poor luck with his pigs and several had died from cholera.

A dead shoat looked good to those Indians and they carried it away with them. My mother had a little red shawl and a "cloud" that, to the eyes of the squaw was desirable, and the Indians were friendly enough, they could have whatever they fancied and everyone was glad when they left.

The next incident that left an unforgettable impression on my mind was a prairie fire. Father was away with horses and wagon and over the hills came that line of red flames, lapping, creeping toward us. Mother started a back fire as she'd been told to do if occasion demanded. The older girls had palls of water brought from the creek, and armed with an old coat and a gunny sack, did their best to help, but the fire spread and was more than they could manage when over the hill came a man who turned out to be my mother's brother, uncle Lute Wentworth, from her old home in Massachusetts. He had intended to surprise her and what a welcome surprise! He'd never seen a prairie fire but it didn't take long to put out the fires which had crept near the house and straw stacks. I remember when father came his eyebrows and beard were scorched and the poor horses had some burns. With neighbors they fought fire most of the night. We stumbled through the dark to carry warm biscuits and green tomato preserves to the men—and bread mother had baked using nice dry buffalo chips for fuel, though she was always a little afraid the food would taste. These chips made a nice hot fire, giving out pretty colored lights as it burned.

My father's brother, Ben Morse, came to Nebraska in 1874. A sister, Mrs. Gavin Craig settled in Scotia, near North Loup. Uncle Ben and Uncle Lute Wentworth were kindred spirits, both liked hunting, fishing and trapping. When Uncle Ben came and camped near our place it was a gala day for my sister and I if he'd take us fishing, which wasn't often as we made too much noise. He never slept indoors when there was a tent or a straw stack to be found. Uncle Lute had brought with him from Massachusetts a formula for a liniment and gave some to mother. It was a wonderful "cure all"—if we had a sore throat one drop in a teaspoon of sugar, when swallowed, brought tears but usually cured us. For cuts, a drop or two made us dance with the stings of it, but nobody had infections. Both uncles went up into the northwestern part of Nebraska and I think, into Dakota where the use of that liniment for an Indian Chief, whose hand was in bad shape, won them the undying friendship of the tribe. Just once the uncles came back to Ord, telling of their winter spent with or near the Indians. They told of eating bear meat, showed mother how the Indians had taught them to dress muskrat and other skins, also a way to cook a skunk for eating. She cooked just one. The family didn't care much for it.

In those early days my father would drive to Grand Island with a load of corn and wheat where the grain was ground into meal and flour while he waited. Once he drove to Niobrara and had to be away from home some days longer than expected, owing to a heavy snow storm or blizzard, followed by bitter cold weather. Mother and my older sisters had a tough time getting to the stock to feed them and a still harder time getting to the creek and chopping a hole in the ice for the animals to get water.

Our fuel was cornstalks dragged in from the field, covered with ice and snow. But if we had a few dried the fire started readily and then it kept one person busy cracking those cornstalks and stuffing them into the stove. When the stalks were gone, corn on the cob was burned, worth about 15c per bushel. That was good clean fuel. Of course we burned corn cobs too, after the pigs ate off the corn.

The memory of my first day at school lingers. The little sod school house built by the Turtle Creek fathers, where the Adams, Foght, Peterson, Wells, Karty and other children gathered to study "readin' written" and "rithmetick." Along in the summer of 1884, Uncle Will and John Wentworth built a new frame school house on a hill south of our place. A man they called "Shorty" Yeager worked on the building and Dwan McMichel too. The high winds blew it over twice before they got it raised. Other children came to that school. Page, Philbrick, Jensen, Bredthauer and Sorensen are names I remember. Before the first sod school house was built for the Turtle Creek youngsters my older sisters, Annie and Erle walked three miles or more to school and Sunday school, called Pleasant View school, later Sunnyside. John and Anna Keown, Lizzie Beaver, Ella Haass, Marfa, Elizabeth and Laura Miller and a brother Jorgen, also Rae and Dodge boys were among their schoolmates. Dr. Childs taught one term there, also a teacher called "Woody" Hunting. The winter after the little school house was finished the Turtle Creek mothers formed a literary society, and my mother wrote a play that was given there. The farmers with their families drove miles to see that play. I wonder if there is anyone living who reads this who can remember that play.

or the papers that were read at the "Literary".

—John F. Kates was the first superintendent. Most of us were so filled with awe when he made the school a visit that we could hardly answer the questions he asked. The teacher boarded around, a few weeks with each family. There were six in our family then and the teacher made seven, in a one-room sod house, and I think mother was real pleased when it was her turn to have the teacher. I now live in an eight room house, with balls, closets, bathroom, etc. There are five of us and all the modern conveniences, but I'm sure I have no room for a school teacher. To go back to 1885—wasn't that the year of the terrible hail storm?

All our cattle were up in the hills owned by George Meeks. Sather and the hired man, Charlie Slavicek had gone to drive them home. Before they could get back the storm came. The creek rose so fast that neither men nor cattle could cross it. The milk pails were on their side of the rising water, so they could milk the cows, drink some, feed pigs, etc., but the family had not a cow on the home side and my baby brother was dependent for his very life on milk from his bottle. He was trail and limp from the heat, so I was sent for milk to our nearest neighbor, Henry Wells. I was eight years old, and scared to death of the Wells' big black dog, Carlo. The hail stones were surely half foot to my knees. I was barefooted, too, but it melted fast and was better coming home with my precious tin pail of milk.

Whenever I've told about that hail storm there has been a feeling that listeners were thinking it was just a tall story, but last winter I had a chance to read the "Trail of the Loup", written by Harold Foght and published by W. W. Haskell of Ord. There was a fine account of that hail storm as well as a list of names of people and amount of damage done their property. So I know now it was even worse than I remembered. Hens and ducks and one of our sows with her litter of little pigs were swept by, mules, now and then a cow, but I think no human lives were lost. Uncle James Royal was stranded at our place for some days.

One hot summer day in that same year or the next, George Meeks and his wife and a young nephew were cultivating corn on land that joined ours. One of the sudden rain storms with lightning came up. The nearest shelter was an old sod house so all three ran their horses to get inside the old soddie before they were drenched. Mr. and Mrs. Meeks left their horses loose with reins dangling but young Mr. Ausland, having a team of young, lively horses, was afraid they would run away so braved the rain long enough to tie them securely to a nearby cottonwood. He had barely gotten inside when a flash of lightning nearly blinded him and that tree had been struck and both fine horses killed instantly. The same day, after the storm, our cows came home from the hills with old Bess the bell cow and leader missing. We found her a few days later. She had been struck by lightning too. She was the first cow my father owned in Nebraska, and a mother and grandmother. We were rather sad for a while. Then not long after that loss, Jim, the first horse father bought on coming to Nebraska met his death. A bull had wandered down from the hills back of us where the owner lived. He had frightened one of neighbors, chasing her indoors etc., and mother was rather anxious as father had gone to town to get some machine fixed, so we children were cautioned to keep near the house and watch little brother. The next day father would see that the owner of that cross bull took him home. But gentle old Jim was gored by the bull and Charlie came running to tell us and again I ran barefooted and scared to get Henry Wells to come with his gun to put our faithful Jim out of misery. The next day the owner of the animal sent his two children to drive home the trespasser. They gave him a few whacks with their stick and he went off meek as could be. But my father had lost a good work horse and we children had lost a friend.

There were so many losses and discouraging things to cope with for my father. He had contracted during Civil war days, when he had been in the saddle for 24 hours. Varicose veins too, so he ten after plowing all day. He would have to sleep in his boots because he couldn't get them off. So he just didn't make a success of pioneering.

One more memory is of the blizzard, of 1888, I think that was the year. We were living in Ord then and I was at school. The high school and the grades were in the same building. The teachers marshalled the older boys from the high school room to see that the smaller children got home safely. Richard Laverty carried me bodily just about all the way. We lived up over my Uncle Will's carpenter shop at the time, and now that I look back fifty years (almost, for I was ten) and remember that blinding storm, it seems to me that was a tough job, and if it isn't too late, I'd like to say, "Thank you, Dick."

Hemphill Is Elected President By Doctors

Dr. Allen of Omaha was the principal speaker at a meeting of Loup valley doctors held last Wednesday evening at the Thorne cafe. His subject was "Tuberculosis". Dr. W. J. Hemphill of North Loup was chosen president for the coming year, and Dr. R. S. Gram secretary. Other doctors present were Dr. O'Toole of Greeley, Dr. Haid of Arcadia and Drs. C. J. Miller, C. W. Weekes, F. A. Barta and J. G. Kruml, of Ord. The details of Ord were invited guests. Those in attendance were Drs. F. J. Osentowski, F. L. Blessing and George R. Gard. Dr. Earl Wise was also present and gave as his contribution to the program moving pictures of scenes in Alaska, especially of a hunting trip in which he participated.

Visits Here After Quarter Century

Albert Whitford, Mrs. Whitford, their oldest daughter, Mrs. Wickersheim and youngest son, Clifford, arrived in Ord on the train Tuesday morning for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Burson and other relatives and friends. It is interesting to note that this is the first visit they have paid to this section since leaving here 25 years ago. After going away from here they lived for a short time at Livermore, Calif., and then moved to Santa Ana, where Albert has been employed a little more than 24 years by the same firm. He is in the oil construction work, and has had steady employment, even through the depression. They will be here through the holidays, returning home shortly after Jan. 1. It is interesting that Mr. Whitford came into the Quiz office and while here met D. L. Williams, who had been away 23 years. The boss knew both men as soon as he saw them.

What Other Editors Are Saying

Arcadian.—Winman Wade McMichael was born in Wood county, Ohio, Jan. 8, 1854, and died at Arcadia, Nov. 30, 1936, at the age of 82 years, 10 months and 22 days. On Jan. 6, 1874 he was united in marriage to Elizabeth Courcen, who passed away Feb. 24, 1877. One child, Minnie May was born to them June 23, 1876. She died in 1923. After his wife's death Mr. McMichael came to Nebraska and engaged in the drug business with his brother Ezra. On Jan. 26, 1890 he was married to Julia Dubry at Arcadia. Three boys were born to this union. Their mother died when the youngest was about three years of age. The second son, Raymond, passed away in Lincoln in 1928. He is survived by two sons, Winman and Harry, both of Arcadia, and one brother, Ezra of Portland, Oregon, and seven grandchildren.

Kearney Hub.—The local WPA office has been asked to assist in locating Thomas B. Jackson, last seen or heard from in Kearney about three years ago. His sister, Mrs. Ione Jackson Flint, of Homing, Okla., is very anxious to get in touch with him. Jackson, 56, is about five feet eight inches tall, has brown hair and eyes, rather dark skin; weighs about 140 to 160 pounds; is very quiet and has worked as a miller and an engineer.

Grand Island Independent.—A red fox of fairly good size, engaged in a race with a fox terrier dog at the Ed Baasch farm two miles east of Grand Island Monday afternoon, but was too fleet-footed for the dog and succeeded in getting away. Mr. Baasch, working in a field picking corn, witnessed the chase. He is of the opinion that the fox may have its hideout along Wood River, which adjoins the Baasch farm, and plans a hunting party in that locality soon. According to Mr. Baasch, red foxes are frequently seen in eastern Iowa, but this is the first time this type of animal has been seen in this vicinity. It was larger than a fox terrier dog, beautifully colored, with a large bushy tail.

Dannebrog News.—"Look Out, it's loaded!" shouted Russell Hannibal to Leonard Hansen when the latter picked up a high powered rifle at the Phillips 66 station, Friday. About that time the gun went off, there was a rattling of cement chips and broken glass and four scared men wondered how badly they might be hurt. Barrie Nelson was hit on the leg and Virgil Scofield behind the ear, but neither hurt seriously. Hannibal wasn't hurt, and neither was Hansen, although his fright was probably the greatest. Apparently the bullet shattered when it hit the cement floor because it broke three glasses in the show case.

Hold rege Citizen.—Senator George W. Norris said Monday, "I am taking no part whatever in the organization of the legislature either in the election of its officers or the adoption of its rules. Senator Norris sponsored the constitutional amendment under which the unicameral legislature will begin to function Jan. 5.

St. Paul Phonograph.—J. A. Haggart, pioneer resident of St. Paul, passed away Saturday following injuries received when he was run down by an auto in California last week, where he and Mrs. Haggart had gone to spend the winter. The funeral services will be held from the Presbyterian church here on Friday, at 2:00 o'clock P. M. The Rev. Wm. J. Primrose will have charge of the services. R. A. Haggart, who had gone out to California following the fatal accident, and Mrs. J. A. Haggart, started home with the body of Mr. Haggart Tuesday and they will arrive here Thursday evening, where the body will be taken to the Haggart home for the funeral on Friday. The Phonograph joins with the many friends in extending heartfelt sympathy to the Haggart family in their bereavement.

Greeley Citizen.—Mr. and Mrs. Gus Allinder, son Frank and Miss Lillian Burke were injured Sunday evening when the car they were riding in crashed head on into another machine on Highway 16 near Clarks. Miss Burke suffered a broken ankle and severe body bruises. She will be unable to return to her school work for several weeks, it is reported here. Mr. and Mrs. Allinder and their son all suffered broken ribs and painful bruises. The party were returning to their home in Stromsburg after a visit at the Elmer Burke home here. Mrs. Burke is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allinder.

Palmer Journal.—Halph Harris of Sheridan, Wyo., arrived here Tuesday evening for a few days visit at the home of his mother, Mrs. F. M. Harris. (Mr. Harris graduated from the Ord schools thirty years ago.)

Bruning Banner.—Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Collison and sons were Mr. and Mrs. Will Jorgensen of Minden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jorgensen of Minden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jorgensen and Mrs. Hannah Jorgensen and Amelia of Ord. Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Apking were Mr. and Mrs. George Apking and children of Daykin, Miss Leanne Apking of Burwell, Mrs. F. W. Apking and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pape and Alma of Belvidere.

Wahoo Democrat.—Approximately 200 sportsmen participated in the annual wolf hunt held yesterday at Colon. The all day event netted only about one jackrabbit per man and a fine red fox. Eighteen square miles were covered in the three roundups during the day and a real dinner was served by the ladies of St. Joseph's church during the noon hour.

Loup Valley Queen.—Mrs. H. E. Jones and son came from Ord last week and will visit here a couple of weeks before joining her husband in Hopd River, Ore., where he recently went and now has a job with a newspaper.

Schuyler Sun.—Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Allen entertained at dinner Thanksgiving day, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Inbody of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Inbody, of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonough, of York, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Read and children Virginia, Lauralie and Dexter, of Sidney, Mrs. Lucy Inbody, of Fremont, Mrs. Mary French of Potter, Howard Rice of Sargent, and Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Tagg and son Bobby, of Schuyler.

Ravenna News.—These Burlington trainmen have a lingo all their own which might be misleading if you do not understand it. They tell us of a lady from out of town who was walking along the depot platform the other day, while Judy Knott and Ken Irwin were switching a freight train. The lady arrived just in time to hear Judy yell at Ken: "Jump onto her as she comes by, run her down beyond the elevator and cut her in two and bring the hind end up to the depot." The story goes that the lady turned and ran up the street yelling bloody murder, and ever since Sweeney has been cussing because he lost a cash ticket sale.

—According to the Custer County Chief, the Christian church of that place celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on Nov. 22. The morning sermon was delivered by Secretary John G. Alber. However, the Chief failed to give the list of charter members still living, if any, or the name of the first minister, or the last for that matter. His name, by the way is W. A. Baldwin.

—A pickup drove into the Ord Co-operative Oil company's station Thursday, which Archie Bradt says was filled to the limit with furs. The car was built especially for the purpose, boxed in on the sides and roofed over, with doors in the rear. It even had an extension forward over the cab. It bore a Cherry county number, and was literally packed with prime coyote, skunk, mink and muskrat furs, with a probable value of not less than two thousand dollars. The fur trade had much to do with the settlement of the west, bringing French fur traders into this section more than 150 years ago. Those who follow the game today find that it still brings them good returns.

Proceedings of the County Board

Regular meeting called to order by Chairman with Supervisors Jablonski, Desmul, Hansen, Zikmund, Ball, Johnson and Barber present upon roll call.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved as read.

Bank balances as of close of business November 30th, 1936, read as follows: Arcadia State Bank, $21,257.54; First National Bank, Ord, $40,537.31.

Supervisor Desmul then introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption.

RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS it is past eleven o'clock A. M., and there being no objections to or petitions for change therein, on file or in person, before this Board,

BE IT RESOLVED that the public road commencing at the northeast corner of Section 1, in Township 18 north, of Range 16 West, of the 6th P. M., and running thence west on north line of said section to the northwest corner of said section to connect already designated County Roads, and which said road was on the 10th day of November, 1936, designated as a County Road, be and the same is hereby conclusively established as a County Road.

AND WHEREAS, on same day and date, this Board by Resolution proposed to abandon certain portion of present County Roads, such portion described as follows: to-wit: Commencing at the Northeast corner of Section 1, in Township 18 north, of range 16, West, of the 6th P. M., in Valley County, Nebraska, and running thence south on section line about one-half mile, thence west along half section for about one mile to the west quarter corner of said section 1.

BE IT RESOLVED, that such portion of County Road as above described and proposed to be abandoned as County Road to become Township Road, be and the same is hereby conclusively abandoned as a County Road and turned back to Liberty Township to become a township road as provided by law.

Henry Desmul, Supervisor
Motion to adopt was seconded by Supervisor Hansen, and upon roll call, all supervisors voted "yes" and the motion was declared carried and said resolution duly adopted.

Supervisor Hansen then introduced the following Resolution and moved its adoption.

RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, the Middle Loup Public Power and Irrigation District has made known to this Board that many section and quarter section corners in Valley County, Nebraska, are lost, some by reason of road construction, maintenance and public travel and some for other reasons, and

WHEREAS, the establishment of such lost corners are necessary to said District for the establishment and construction of its main irrigation canals, and

WHEREAS, it is the duty of the County Surveyor to perpetuate existing corners of land surveys along the public highways, where such corners are liable to destruction either by public travel or construction and maintenance of highways, and

WHEREAS, it would be expedient and reasonable for the County Surveyor of Valley County, Nebraska, to establish such lost corners with the assistance of two competent chainmen to be furnished by said district.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of Valley County, Nebraska, and the County Surveyor of Valley County, Nebraska, is hereby ordered to establish all lost section and quarter section corners within that part of said District within Valley County, Nebraska, as may be necessary for the establishment and construction of the main irrigation canals of said District within Valley County, Nebraska, without fee provided and District shall furnish and supply without costs to said County, two competent chainmen for such work, to work under the direction and supervision of said County Surveyor. This resolution and order shall not affect those cases pending under Section 34-201, of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, for 1929.

S. V. Hansen, Supervisor.
Motion to adopt was seconded by Supervisor Ball, and upon roll-call, all supervisors voted "yes" and motion was declared unanimously carried and resolution duly adopted.

WHY IS STUDEBAKER flashing TO THE FRONT?

WHAT is behind Studebaker's Sensational Climbs? Studebaker knew that only one thing could focus on The Dictator and The President the attention and patronage of motorists. That one thing was—and is—better value—more for the money.

Comfort, safety and performance have been characteristic of Studebaker cars. But in this year's models the public has found these two outstanding bonus features: 1. Smart, modern, styling—charming interiors designed by Helen Dryden. 2. Amazing gasoline economy. And all this has been offered at prices so low that smart money has sensed the bargain.

John M. McAnulty Made Mason in Ord
 From the Evergreen Empire News, published at Alderwood Manor, Wash., the following items of interest are gleaned from the obituary of the late John Means McAnulty, son of George McAnulty, of Scotia, The esteem in which Mr. McAnulty was held in the community is admirably expressed in the following extracts from the obituary read at the burial service held at Everett, Wash., by Rev. H. F. Burgess:
 "Friends, we have assembled this afternoon to pay final tribute of respect and affection to the memory of John Means McAnulty, a native of Scotia, Neb., who passed away Monday at the comparatively early age of 51. He was raised on a farm, became a good student and while a high school pupil won a state championship. (This in spelling competition while in Ord High school.) He was also active in athletics.
 "John M. McAnulty was made a Mason by Ord Lodge No. 103, of Ord, Nebraska, in 1910. He also became a member of Doric chapter No. 50, Royal Arch Masons, of Ord, Nebraska. When he went west he became affiliated with Harmony Lodge, F. & A. M. of Lusk, Wyoming. The obituary devotes a full column to his lodge and other activities from the time he left Ord. He was a true example of the saying that he missed a man must make himself necessary.

 An interesting incident in connection with his life in the Ord High school would not be out of place here. In the state spelling contest, referred to above, McAnulty easily disposed of all his competitors, without hesitating for a moment over the spelling of any word. When McAnulty alone remained the teacher pronouncing the words tried in vain to find a word in the spelling books he could not spell. Finally in desperation a small dictionary was called into use, and for fully two hours he spelled every word as they came in the dictionary, without missing a single one. This may seem an astounding feat, but it is a matter of history.

Brief Bits of News
 —Assortment of felt hats, 49c each at Chase's Toggery.
 —M. Biemond and Sylvester Slominski of Loup City were in Tarkio, Mo., on a business trip last week.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kokes and children left Sunday for Pragus, Okla., where they will spend a week visiting relatives.
 —W. J. Hather, president of the Valley County National Farm Loan association of Ord, has been invited to attend a farm loan conference in Omaha on Dec. 16 and 17 as a guest of the Federal Land Bank. The invitation was extended by Charles McCumsey, president of the land bank, who said the purpose of the meeting is to bring about a closer working relationship between the bank and the cooperative associations through which it makes farm mortgage loans.

—Henry Marks reports that dogs ganged up on a yearling steer in his pasture. When he found the animal its shoulder was eaten out, but it was still alive. Such animals are as much a menace to livestock as wolves, and should receive the same treatment.
Errors in Wedding Story.
 In an account of the marriage of Miss Velma Palu to Lloyd Konkoleski, which appeared in the Arcadia section of last week's Quiz, several errors were made. The bridesmaids were the Misses Pauline and Josephine Konkoleski, of Wlyria, instead of the Misses Palu of Arcadia as stated. The groomsmen were Edwin Palu and Lewis Kaminski. We regret these errors.
Lou Brown Is Killed.
 Lou Brown, auto race driver who has competed on the Ord track several times, was killed in a race at Champaign, Ill., Sunday. His car hit a rail during a time trial and overturned several times. Brown's skull was fractured.

6 Lettermen, Good Reserves, Give Ord Prospect of Winning Cage Season

With the smoke of the 1936 football season not yet well cleared from the Chanticleer camp, basketball practice has been traveling along in low gear at the Ord school, only preliminary, warm-up, basketball practices being held.

Prospects for a good season are quite bright for the Chanticleers this year, as six lettermen from the 1935-36 quintet return to the fold. Coach Brockman has as a foundation around which to build his 1937 squad, Dale Hughes, steller guard performer; Gerald Clark, also an outstanding performer, playing the running guard position; Don Tunnicliffe, rapid moving forward; Harry Zukoski, excellent ball handler who takes care of a forward position; Dean Barta, scheduled to play the center position; and Harold Haskell, a good defensive as well as offensive player at the guard position.

Will Push Lettermen.
Three guards, two forwards, and one center—all with good, solid experience back of them from the 1935-36 campaign. Besides the returning lettermen, several players are showing up extremely well in the first practices and will make a strong bid for first string positions. Charles Cetak, lanky reserve on last year's squad, is figured as a serious contender for the pivot position. Edwin Hitchman and Raymond Tallow are showing up well.

Look Forward to Opener.
With a fine array of players and with the enthusiasm of the school over the new Mid Six conference, Ord basketball is expected to enjoy one of its most successful seasons. Fans are looking forward to the first scheduled game of the season with Sargent high school on January 5. It is very probable that Coach Brockman will schedule one or two pre-season games with non-conference opponents before the opener on Jan. 5.

A bigger and better schedule has also been arranged for the Chanticleers this year. Two new teams will appear on the Ord court this year, Spalding and Ansley both being scheduled to meet the Chanticleers on the Ord maple. Hastings, one of the big powers in Nebraska prep basketball, is scheduled to meet the Chanticleers at Ord on Feb. 5. Kearney, the other "big time" quintet to appear on the Ord schedule will meet the Chanticleers at Kearney on Jan. 8 in the second game of the season for the Ordites. Almost throughout the entire season, the Chanticleers will play twice a week, on both Tuesday and Fridays.

Following is Ord's record for the 1935-1936 season:
Ord 51, Burwell 12.
Ord 25, Ericson 9.
Ord 19, St. Paul 37.
Ord 28, Sargent 24.
Ord 30, Danabrog 19.
Ord 46, Scotia 23.
Ord 31, Loup City 16.
Ord 21, eKearney 26.

Ord 31, Ravenna 15.
Ord 34, Arcadia 21.
Ord 10, Hastings 41.
Ord 15, Broken Bow 22.
Ord 49, Sargent 9.
Ord 40, St. Paul 43.
Ord 49, Arcadia 13.
Ord 25, Lexington 41.
And here is Ord's tentative schedule for 1937:
Jan. 5, Sargent here.
Jan. 8, Kearney there.
Jan. 15, St. Paul here.
Jan. 19, Burwell here.
Jan. 22, Broken Bow there.
Jan. 26, Spalding here.
Jan. 29, Ravenna there.
Feb. 2, Arcadia there.
Feb. 5, Hastings here.
Feb. 12, Ansley here.
Feb. 16, 17, and 18, Loup Valley tournament.
Feb. 26, Loup City here.
March 4-6, district tournament.
March 10-13, state finals.

Greyhound Races Held In Ravenna

All roads led to Ravenna last Sunday afternoon as the first greyhound races to be held in Nebraska were conducted on the new $12,000 track of the Ravenna Kennel club. This was the first time big-time dog races have ever been held in the state.

Good old "Jawn" Pesek, the "Duke of Ravenna," is the man who is responsible for the advent of dog racing in these parts. The "Duke" is better known for his feats in the wrestling ring, but he is also known as the man who owns one of the best string of racing dogs in the universe. In his possession Pesek has nearly 550 dogs.

Witnessing the spectacle of five or six greyhounds chasing a fleeing mechanical rabbit—a rabbit which the hounds can never catch, unless the operator of the bunny goes to sleep at the switch, is indeed a thrilling one.
More than 100 dogs, some of the finest and best known in the sport, appeared on the Ravenna track. Special exhibition races were run by the world famous "Gangster," greatest money winner of the dog tracks; the equally famous "Nigger-Haft," holder of all world's distance speed records; and "Sinsatiwill," sensational year-old pup who made his first appearance in northern competition Sunday. Among the other great dogs who competed in the races were: "Buddy Andrew," "Dragling," "Flashy-Haft," "Princess In a," "Reckless Tom," "Gangster Capone," "Sonny Andrew," and "Just A Bear."

Lowered Utility Rates
Gov. Alf Landon forced lower utility rates in Kansas that are saving the people of the state about $1,000,000 a year

No. Loup Breaks 4-Year Drouth By 2 Grid Victories

Coach Wally Willis' North Loup high school football team broke a football victory drouth that had extended over nearly four years by winning two contests during the 1936 grid campaign.

The small but fighting North Loup eleven won two contests, lost three and tied three games this year. Wally Willis is coaching his first year at the North Loup school and with North Loup teams on the up-and-up perhaps they will again become a power in Loup Valley athletic conferences.

Season's record:
North Loup 7, Arcadia 30
North Loup 19, Cedar Rapids 19
North Loup 0, Wolbach 0

Sargent Hi Arranges Basketball Schedule

Although many teams in the Valley have several open dates left to be filled before the season's cage schedule can be announced, Coach Copeland of Sargent has his 1936-37 schedule completely arranged. The Sargent high school schedule is as follows:

Dec. 22, Arcadia at Sargent.
Jan. 5, Ord at Ord.
Jan. 8, Arnold at Sargent.
Jan. 12, Comstock at Comstock.
Jan. 15, Broken Bow at B. Bow.
Jan. 19, Anselmo at Anselmo.
Jan. 22, Taylor at Sargent.
Jan. 26, Loup City at Sargent.
Jan. 29, Burwell at Sargent.
Feb. 5, Merna at Merna.
Feb. 9, Taylor at Taylor.
Feb. 12, Ravenna at Ravenna.

Loses First in Two Years.

Elba took its first basketball defeat in two years on its home court last week. Mary's of Grand Island plastered a 41 to 29 defeat in the Elba quintet. At the half time the Islanders led the game by a narrow 16-14 margin and came back in the third quarter to know the Elba team under. The Elba team has as members this year Shaw, Kalm and Christensen at forwards, Lehn at center, and Schachts, Leth and Erickson at guards.

12 Nebr. Schools Undeclared In '36

Twelve Nebraska high school football teams rolled through the 1936 football season without tie or defeat. During the 1935 campaign only nine teams were able to hang up an undefeated and untied record. Imperial high school was the only team to go through two seasons in a row without tie or defeat.

Eight teams were undefeated but tied. Ord high school won all its games this year but one, a tie by St. Paul. Jackson high of Lincoln won all its games this year and was tied only by Falls City a year ago. It has won 17 consecutive games.

Grand Island, state champions, Jackson, Laurel and Peru Prep were the only teams unscored on for the entire year. Jackson has not been scored on in 12 consecutive games. The undefeated and untied teams for 1936: Bladen, Decatur, Grand Island, Imperial, Jackson, Laurel, Norfolk, O'Neill, Odell, Peru Prep, Ulysses and Wakefield.

Undefeated but tied: Alliance, Aurora, Fullerton, Ansley, Ord, Orleans, and Weeping Water.

Music Groups Plan Vesper Services

A vesper service will be given by the music and speech departments of Ord high school at the high school auditorium at 4:00 p. m. on Sunday, December 13.

Many school systems in Nebraska are using this method of presenting an interesting program before the public, although this is the first time a program of this type has been presented by Ord public schools. If the program meets with public approval, it is planned that several more will be given during the school term.

Selections which will make up the program are to be given by the high school orchestra, girls' glee club, small instrumental groups, vocal groups, several vocal solos, and a number of Christmas readings. All selections on the program will be of a classical and sacred nature. Included among the numerous songs to be presented by the vocal groups will be several Christmas carols, in keeping with the Christmas season.

Dean S. Duncan, supervisor of music in the Ord public schools, says that well over seventy students will take part in the special vesper program. A four-part version of "The Lord is My Shepherd" sung by the girls' glee club will be one of the outstanding selections to be given.

Honorary Co-Captains.
Harold Haskell, fullback, and Flno Zikmund, center, have been selected by team members as the honorary co-captains of the 1936 Ord football eleven. An "honor roll" of Loup Valley players will be announced soon, each team in the valley setting forth whom they believe were their best players during the 1936 season.

Marks Letters at Kearney.
Dean Marks, former Ord high school student and outstanding halfback on Ord grid teams, has lettered in football on the B team at Kearney State college. He was among seventeen other athletes recommended by Coach Howard Baxter for football letters.

Loup City Eleven Will Have Banquet

The Loup City Rotary club is sponsoring a grid banquet to be held Dec. 14 for members of the Loup City 1936 football squad.

Guest speakers for the Loup City banquet will include Gregg McBride and Link Lyman, University of Nebraska assistant coach, of Lincoln. Pictures of Cornhusker football games will be shown at the banquet by Link Lyman.

Cast for Christmas Play.

"Why The Chimes Rang" the one-act Christmas play which is to be presented in the high school auditorium on Dec. 22, will have as a cast the following students, selected by Miss Ellen Servine, sponsor of the Theoplan club which is in charge of the play. The cast: Mary Miller, Phyllis Munn, Harold Mella, Barbara Dale, George Radli, Armona Achen, Robert Williamson, Marjorie Coe, Virginia DeHart, Frances Duemey and Ruth Haas.

LOCAL NEWS

F. E. McQuillan made a business trip to Redfield S. D. last week, going up Monday and returning on Friday.

Mrs. C. W. Bebee and Mrs. Herman Swanson and her mother, Mrs. A. J. Swanson, went to Cloquet, Minn., Friday to visit a sister, Mrs. Will Pigman, who is very ill.

—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Struckman took Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mason to St. Paul Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mason's father, J. A. Haggart. The Struckmans visited with a niece, Mrs. Dale Fairburn and family of St. Paul.

—Elmer Lambdin who recently paid a visit to the J. B. Young family at Exeter, Nebr., reports that Mr. Young is not in good health, being confined to his bed most of the time. He is now about 75 years of age. Mrs. Young is as well as could be expected. Three of the children are at home now, helping to take care of their father. They are Carroll of Holyoke, Colo., Audrey Benkley, of Benkeman, and Gladys Palmer of near Fairmont. The Youngs have lived at Exeter for the past twenty years.

—Mrs. Earl Ball and son Delman, of Nelburg, Saskatchewan, Canada, are here for a short visit with friends and relatives. She is a sister of Willis Firkins.

—George Benn has a letter from Earl Barnes, now in Cincinnati, O., in which he requests photos of the old Morrow airplane, which was made in Burwell about 1910. John Ward has a number of negatives of this plane, and Mr. Barnes' needs will be supplied soon.

The Ord fire department was called Sunday evening to the Paul Duemey home, where a chimney burning out needed attention. The but Ed Maruska, who stays there, decided after watching the blaze shooting up out of the chimney that it might be well to have the department look the house over for possible defects.

Sale of Christmas Seals Is Now Open

Once again the public is asked to put the Christmas spirit into useful service to humanity in the purchase of Christmas seals. It is in keeping with the spirit of Christmas that the little health seal appears each year to travel into the homes in our country, our state and our community. They have become symbolic of the spirit of the Yuletide, and without them a Christmas season would seem incomplete. There is no worthier cause than this, the furnishing of funds for the fight against tuberculosis.

The 1936 seal will as always bear the picture of Santa Claus and it means just that to those individuals who are dwelling in the shadow of this frightful scourge of humanity. A Christ-

Reemployment Office To Serve Everybody

It seems to be the idea of most people that the function of the National Re-employment Service is to furnish labor for projects in which government funds is used. This is true, but it is also true that this service is not for that purpose only, but also to furnish help whenever and wherever needed. The function of the service is to relieve unemployment. Those who are registered for work are listed in the capacity for which they are best fitted, and there is no reason why anyone who chances to need help at any time cannot contact the re-employment office and obtain that help, says Richard H. Mills, manager. It often happens that some one in business finds himself in need of help for a short time. When such need arises, why not talk over your needs with the office, and they will furnish the help you need, at no cost to you. Get them by calling No. 238.

Please Facilitate Prompt Delivery By Early Mailing

With the holiday season now upon us, it might be well to consider the importance of prompt mailing of packages which you wish the postal department to deliver by Christmas day. Always there is a last minute rush which makes it doubly hard for all who are connected with the mail service in any way to deliver the best possible service. The volume of mail practically doubles in the two weeks immediately preceding Christmas, which makes it almost impossible to handle this huge mass of mail matter promptly and efficiently.

Therefore postoffice employees are urging that Christmas mail matter be mailed early and that special care be used in wrapping all packages. A good quality of wrapping paper and twine should be used, as packages are subjected to more wear and tear at this time of year. All packages containing perishable or breakable merchandise should be so marked and special care should be taken to see that both delivery and return addresses are readable.

Postal regulations require that written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be included in parcels without paying the higher rate of first class postage. However a first class letter may be attached to the outside of a package, provided each carries its own postage, and that each is properly addressed. The letter must be so attached that it does not obstruct the address on the outside of the package.

For their own protection, patrons should insure third and fourth class matter. Christmas cards may be mailed at the low rate of 1 1/2 cents each, providing the envelope is not sealed, and that there is no message written on the cards. Cards and letters may be mailed to persons within the local postoffice boundary for two cents, all elsewhere requiring the regulation three cent postage. All who may be contemplating the purchase of the series B. bonds, that is the baby bonds of the present issue, are warned that they will go off sale on Dec. 31. These are frequently purchased to use as Christmas gifts, and are ideal for the purpose, as they do not depreciate in value, do not get out of date, and are easily transferred into cash in time of need.

North Loup News

Hubert A. Weed. Hubert Weed, who had been critically ill several weeks but was thought to be much improved recently, passed away suddenly Monday noon while eating his lunch. Mrs. Weed and their granddaughter Venetta Roby were with him at the time. Rev. Claud L. Hill conducted the short services from the home at 1:45 Wednesday afternoon and also the regular funeral services at the M. E. church at 2 p. m., assisted by Rev. W. H. Stephens. Music was furnished by Mrs. Harold Hoepfner, Mrs. Ava Johnson, Roy Hudson and Dell Barber with Mrs. Ruth Hutchins at the piano. Pall bearers were from the I. O. O. F. lodge and the lodge had charge of services at the cemetery. The bearers were I. L. Sheldon, J. A. Barber, C. B. Clark, Geo. S. Mayo, Arthur Willoughby and Alfred H. Crandall.

Hubert Arthur Weed was born in Milton, Wis., May 2, 1870, and was the oldest son of Theodore Phillip and Sarah Ann Green Weed. When he was eight years,

Oct. 31, 1878, he came with his parents to Valley county, Nebraska. With the exception of the four years from 1885-89 which he spent with his parents in Blaine county, he has resided in Valley county since 1878. His parents at that time purchased the farm where Thurlow Weed lives. He received his schooling in Barker district. On Nov. 10, 1891 he was united in marriage to Fannie Wheatcraft, who survives him. They had two children Bessie and Irvie, both of whom are living, each having two daughters. After their marriage they lived on the home place with Mr. Weed's mother for a year and then they moved to town where he worked for Geo. E. Johnson for one winter. Later they lived for 9 years on the home place. In 1904 they purchased a farm south of town where they lived until they moved to their present location in town in 1926. At that time Mr. Weed started work in the Sheldon filling station and held this position until Nov. 3 of this year. Some years ago both Mr. and Mrs. Weed joined the Davis Creek United Brethren church and he was still a member at the time of his death. They have been associated with the Friends church since moving to town. Surviving beside his wife, children and grandchildren are one sister, Mrs. Myra Thrasher of Twin Falls, Idaho, and one brother Thurlow Weed of North Loup, and numerous neeces and nephews.

Mrs. G. L. Hutchins and Mrs. Chas. White received word last Tuesday that a son born to Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Fox of Gary, Ind., Nov. 28, had lived only a short time. Mrs. Hutchins left that night for Gary on the City of Denver from Grand Island. She has since written that Mrs. Fox is getting along nicely and was to leave the hospital last Saturday. The combination jitney supper and quilt and antique show held in the Frank Johnson building last Thursday evening was well attended and a nice profit was realized, which greatly reduces the debt on the community building.

Logan Garrison came up from Grand Island Sunday afternoon for a short stay at the Art Willoughby home. Thelma Willoughby accompanied him back to Grand Island where she is to take some tests at the beauty school.

The young married people's dancing club met last Thursday night at the Legion hall. A large crowd attended.

Ed Kull, Eddie Peterson Left Thursday In Aeronca Plane for Miami, Florida

Two well known and popular young men of this locality, Ed Kull and Eddie Peterson, are now enjoying the mild winter weather of that much advertised city of the south, Miami, Fla. Not long ago they bought a good used plane of the high winged monoplane type, made by the Aeronca Corporation, and have been getting it in condition to make the trip. They left Ord Thursday morning at 10:30, headed for Cincinnati. Their first stop was at Columbus, for fuel, and from there on their route is unknown as this is written. However, they planned to get to Cincinnati in plenty of time to start out with the fleet, which was scheduled to leave Saturday morning. It was expected that there would be at least two hundred planes in the fleet, which was to make the trip to Miami in two hops on Saturday and Sunday. The trip from Cincinnati to Miami and back was at the expense of the hosts, the Aeronca Corporation.

The plane the two boys flew has a cruising speed of about 85 miles per hour, and a top speed of 95 miles. It has a forty horse motor. The wings are painted red, and the fuselage black. Eddie is the 22 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Peterson of Ord, and holds a private license, with a flying credit of 138 hours at the time the boys left. Kull who is about forty years of age, holds an amateur license, and while he has less hours to his credit, is fully capable of handling a plane. Peterson was at the controls when they left. They will be gone about 15 days.

Kull has realized an ambition of twenty years in owning and operating a plane. He was a member of the old Company I, 5th Nebraska, in the Mexican border service, and on several different occasions asked Captain Clements to approve his transfer to the aviation. The captain did not want to lose him, and would not approve a transfer, and Kull went into the world war as a member of the infantry. On one occasion the boys at Llano Grande helped Kull build an airplane, for photo purposes, using a cot for wings, and various boxes and articles of tinware for the fuselage. Kull had his picture taken in this, after which the plane was wrecked and another photo taken of Ed in the midst of the wreckage with his clothing half torn off, and mud spattered on his hands and face to represent blood. When Ed gets back he promises that he will send for one of those old pictures, now in California, and let the Quiz print it.

The two older boys returned home. Mrs. Lawrence Mitchell has been having a siege of inflammatory rheumatism. Her mother, Mrs. Will Preston, has been helping to care for her.

George Hutchins and Ben Nelson were in Omaha on business Friday and Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Clifton were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bailey last Wednesday evening.

Francis Backemeyer, who recently quit farming and went to Elmwood to stay with his parents this winter, returned last week end to get some of his household goods. His mother and Mrs. Backemeyer accompanied him. They were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre entertained Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Clifton at dinner Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sayre spent Sunday with the Chas. Sayre family.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre were in Grand Island Tuesday afternoon on business.

Rev. K. H. Clifton of Western was a guest of his son, Dr. Gerald Clifton for several days this week. Rev. Clifton, who is a former pastor of the North Loup M. E. church, says that his choir of 35 voices at Western is going to broadcast from radio station KMMJ Sunday, Dec. 13 at 9:30 p. m. He hopes many of his friends will be listening.

Mrs. Roy Cox is in Ord caring for her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Horner who has been quite ill.

W. T. Hutchins is attending an implement dealer's convention at Omaha this week. Mrs. Hutchins accompanied him to Omaha and went on to Des Moines for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Louise Brennick and daughter accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Edward Christensen to Arcadia Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Claude L. Hill were in Arcadia Sunday and Rev. Hill preached at the M. E. church there at both the morning and evening services.

Rev. Hill announces that his subject for his sermon at the S. D. B. church next Sabbath Day will be "Why Be Baptized?" The choir under the direction of Mrs. Clara C. Holmes, is preparing a special program for the Sabbath preceding Christmas. A miscellaneous Christmas program will be given at the regular monthly church social Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Coleman and daughter Janet drove to Big Springs Saturday night for a short visit with the Merrill Sample's. They returned home Monday afternoon.

An eight pound son named Jerry Allen was born to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Grabhorn, of Blue Rapids, Kas., on Dec. 4, 1936. Mrs. Grabhorn was formerly Doris Whiting, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Whiting, of Ord.

LOCAL NEWS

—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glines and Clyde and grandson Ray were visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Higgins of Ord, Monday and Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Glines are from Nonpar-el, Nebr., and Mr. Glines is a brother of Mrs. Higgins.

—A meeting of Clifford Clark Post No. 298, American Legion, is being held this, Thursday evening at Burwell for the purpose of electing delegates to the 6th district convention at Ord, Dec. 16.

—Patients at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island Monday included, Mrs. Russell Kasson, of North Loup, admitted for medical treatment, and Charles Gross of Burwell, admitted for surgical treatment.

—D. L. Williams and wife of Womouth, Ore., arrived in Ord Sunday evening for a visit with the Tom Williams family. They came here from Palmer where they were visiting the H. C. Stokes family. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes brought them to Ord. Tuesday they went up to Burwell for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rose and son Robert. They had also spent some time visiting two brothers in Omaha and another in Peru. The D. L. Williams family left Ord thirty years ago, and this is the first time they have been back for a visit. They plan to spend a week or two renewing old acquaintances.

—Word received by Mrs. R. O. Hunter from her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Norris VanWie, of Hastings, is that she is rapidly recovering from her recent automobile accident, and will soon be able to remain out of bed. Mrs. VanWie was hit by a Grand Island car on the streets of Hastings a week ago Saturday, the car throwing her thirty feet, and hitting with such force that the fender and light were damaged. Mrs. VanWie escaped with no broken bones, but was badly bruised, and for a time more serious results were feared. Those who were there are of the opinion that it is a miracle she was not killed.

Nolls Biggest Producers 2nd Year, Manager Coe Tells Patrons Thursday.

The Ord Cooperative Creamery company, just completing its tenth year of successful operation, last Thursday announced payment of $12,494.63 to patrons and stockholders, in the form of an added patronage dividend of 4c per pound on butterfat bought during the year and 8 per cent interest to the stockholders upon their investment.

In addition, the creamery added $1,069.22 to its surplus fund, which now stands at $10,375.61. The 1936 patronage dividend of 4c per pound was the highest paid since 1930. Last year 3c was paid. Total of patronage dividends and interest also is higher this year than last, the 1935 total being only $8,794.98.

During the past ten years the Ord creamery, besides paying top market prices day in and day out for cream, eggs and poultry, has paid to its patrons and stockholders additional dividends to the amount of $140,000.00, thereby proving the great value of the cooperative plan of produce marketing.

Average daily price paid for butterfat during 1936, including the rebate, was 33c per pound. Gross receipts of butterfat showed an increase of 15 per cent over the previous year, poultry purchases showed a gain of 25 per cent and egg purchases a gain of 150 per cent.

All of these interesting facts about the Ord creamery were revealed to stockholders in annual session in the basement of the Masonic building Thursday afternoon by Manager Fred W. Coe, who has been in charge of the creamery since it was organized.

About forty members were present when President A. W. Cornell opened the session at 2:00. Reading of minutes of last year's meeting by Secretary Clarence M. Davis was the first business, this being followed by a reading of the auditor's report by Manager Coe. He then read his annual report, summing up the year's accomplishments.

"For the second successive year Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Noll, sr., were highest butterfat producers among patrons of the Ord creamery, Coe revealed. They produced and marketed 4,137 pounds, more than 1,500 pounds more than Roy L. Hansen, their nearest rival. Their rebate check amounted to $165.48. Other high butterfat producers were McLain Bros., John Lech, Chris Nielsen, Ernest Jensen, M. B. Cummins, J. W. Wheatcraft, F. J. Shotkoski, and Ign. Urbanski. The grand total of butterfat produced by these ten was 23,211.9 pounds and the total of their rebate checks was $298.49.

"Of course we can't all be big producers but if we only had 100 patrons producing as much as Mr. and Mrs. Noll we would make about a half a million pounds of butter per year," Manager Coe commented.

Another feature of the annual meeting was an interesting talk by Secretary Davis in which he mentioned that it was ten years ago on Dec. 9 that articles incorporating the company were signed. At that time stock to the value of $18,000 and $19,000 had been sold.

Neighbors Cut Wood.

A large crowd of neighbors went over to the Lynn Collins place in Mira Valley one day last week and helped get in his winter supply of wood. Lynn has been in poor health for some time, and had plenty of wood but no way to get it ready for use. His brother Oscar brought his tractor and power saw, and the rest of the boys had their axes and hand saws, and it did not take them long to pile up enough wood to insure a warm fire for the Collins family all winter. A real sample of the Christmas spirit, and it was heartily appreciated.

C. A. Hager Recovering.

According to word received here from Dr. Chauncey Hager, his father, C. A. Hager is resting as well as could be expected, and has a good chance for recovery. Mr. Hager submitted to an operation at the Lahey clinic in Boston some two weeks ago for the removal of an intestinal cancer, and for the first week the result was uncertain. However the tone of Chauncey's letter indicates that barring unforeseen complications he should recover. It will probably be a month at least before he will be released from the hospital.

Safes Broken Open At Burwell, Ericson

$350 Taken From Koupal & Barstow at Ericson; Several Other Places Looted.

Burglars got busy in Ericson and Burwell Tuesday night. At Ericson the safe of the Koupal and Barstow Lumber company was opened, and $350.00 taken. At the Farmers Mercantile Co., the safe was blown to pieces, and $25.00 taken. The only clue to the time at which the work was done is that some one heard a sound like a shot at about 10:30, which was probably when the safe was blown. The work at Burwell was probably done by the same outfit, and was doubtless later in the night. They got $150.00 from the Johnson and Troxell Lumber company, broke into the Burwell Lumber company's safe and scattered valuable papers all over the place trying to find money. They burgled the McDonald Coal Yard, taking little of value. The same thing occurred at the Bredthauer garage. Joe Flakus found his entire stock of cigarettes, of which he carries a large supply, taken with the exception of one carton which they evidently dropped on the floor without noticing its loss. While the officers are working on the case, nothing definite has been found out at the present time.

Choir Program At the M. E. Church

The annual program of Christmas music will be given Sunday at the Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. The choir is directed by Mrs. Pearl C. Smith. Mrs. Robert E. Noll is the pianist.

The program consists of miscellaneous numbers, solos, duets, quartets, chorus and instrumental numbers. New arrangements of old carols will be given. There will be traditional carols from many countries, including a Moravian carol, "Hark Now O Shepherds," rendered by a women's chorus.

Ord's 2 Aviators Still On Argosy

The latest word from Ed Kull and Eddie Peterson, who left last week on an airplane trip to Florida, came from Miami, which was the destination of the entire fleet. Mrs. Peterson and Edwin Dunlap each received a card written Monday, Dec. 7, and mailed at Macon, Ga., at which place the fleet had evidently stopped over night. According to these cards, they had left Cincinnati as a part of the fleet of 350 planes, whose owners were going to Miami as guests of the Aeronca corporation. The boys got lost from the fleet the first day out, due to foggy flying conditions, but found the rest of the group they were with at Chattanooga, Tenn. They went from Cincinnati to Chattanooga Saturday, and from Chattanooga to Macon Sunday. The word from Miami was written to Jack Jeffords, and stated that they had arrived there without mishap. They will probably arrive home the latter part of the week, and a more detailed account of the trip will appear next week.

Harold Benn Wins Honors.

Lincoln, Nebr.—Harold W. Benn of Ord, a sophomore in the college of agriculture at the University of Nebraska, was presented the Alpha Zeta award for being the highest ranking freshman in the agricultural college last year, at the annual honors convocation of that college. Alpha Zeta, a national men's agricultural honorary society, each year presents a gold medal to the freshman winning high scholarship honors. Winning this award is an outstanding achievement, as it is one of the most important honors to be won by an agricultural college freshman. Mr. Benn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benn, of Ord.

Klima Is Secretary State Clerk's Assn.

IGN. KLIMA, JR.
At the state meeting of county clerks and registers of deeds held in Omaha last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Ign. Klima, jr., was chosen as secretary-treasurer of the association for the second successive year. Len B. Harrison of Scotts Bluff county was chosen president, and Mrs. Lyon of Red Willow county, vice-president. Mr. Klima's picture was shown with the other two officials in the Omaha Bee-News.

Farmers Off WPA May Apply To RA

That group of farmers and laborers who have been obliged to quit work due to the termination of WPA work are not to suffer while their cases are being investigated, according to Cal A. Ward, regional director of the Resettlement Administration. It has been agreed that all cases dropped from the WPA may apply to the RA and must be accepted and receive a month's sustenance while their cases are being investigated. This is contrary to usual procedure, but the exigency of circumstances requires drastic action. When applicants come to the RA for assistance they must file WPA termination notices and declare need for further public aid.

New Ford Agency Established Here

Edwin L. Butler and L. Richtmyer of Broken Bow were in Ord Tuesday looking after business matters and making arrangements to move to Ord and take charge of the Ford agency here. They have just contracted to take the local agency for the Ford line and Tuesday were looking for a residence. They have leased the Frank Travis property, now occupied by W. F. Williams and his bus line business and will have possession as soon as Mr. Williams can secure another location. The gentlemen had hoped to get opened for business the first of January and may be able to do so yet, but they were fearful that it might be the 10th or 15th before they could get ready. Some remodeling has to be done and show room has to be painted and decorated and equipment for parts has to be installed before they are ready to open for business. They stated Tuesday that they would make announcement in the Quiz as soon as possible.

Swimming Pool To Be Built Later On

The Ord municipal swimming pool has been approved, and the project will doubtless be finished, but not at this time. Because the appropriation is running low, and also because such a project carried on in the winter would entail extra work, it has been postponed, and it is planned to start the work as soon as the weather will permit in the spring.

Ord Livestock Co. Has Good Sale Saturday

The sale last Saturday at the sales pavilion of the Ord Livestock Market was one of the best of the present season, and all who attended felt that the business is really going places under the new management. Mr. B. Cummins was the auctioneer, but he was ably assisted by his two business partners, C. S. Burdick and C. D. Cummins. Burdick had charge of the ring activities and was ably assisted by Ernie Foster, Frank Norman, Henry Geweke, O. C. Winder and others. Col. Ernest Weller of Atkinson was back on the job at the old stand for a day and did his full share in calling the attention of the buyers to the good qualities of the offering. During the afternoon 150 cattle, 200 hogs, 10 horses and 3 extra good colts were disposed of, all at good prices.

—Mr. and Mrs. Cal Nixon and daughter Elaine of Loup City were guests at the A. L. Crouch home last Thursday. They were accompanied by Merrill Crouch of Arnold, who remained here to visit his people until Tuesday.

Ord Stores Will Be Open Evenings; See Xmas Lights

City's Decorative Scheme Most Beautiful Ever; Holiday Trade Good.

To give the best of service to the holiday shopping public, stores of Ord have decided to remain open until 9:00 p. m. or later every day next week, starting Monday evening and continuing until Christmas eve. All stores remaining open will have their complete staffs on the job and every effort will be made to wait on shoppers expeditiously.

In former years only a few Ord stores have remained open evenings Christmas week but the service has been appreciated by the public, which is the principal reason all stores are staying open next week.

Another reason is that Ord's holiday lights and decorations are more elaborate than ever before and it is thought that people living at a distance will appreciate a chance to see the lighting scheme after dark and do their Christmas shopping at the same time.

Ord's Christmas lights burst into a blaze of glory last Friday evening and brought admiring "ohs" and "ahs" from the throats of all who saw them.

A real work of art is the set piece on top of the court house, designed and executed by Sylvester Furtak. Santa Claus, in a big sleigh loaded with presents, is seen driving his six reindeer through the air, the effect being accomplished by mounting the figures on poles of varying height. The figures are lighted by powerful flood lights.

The Christmas tree on the third story balcony at the court house is another beautiful sight and the whole effect is colored lights around the top and down the corners of the court house, with streamers of lights radiating from all parts of the square, also is beautiful in the extreme.

Most stores cooperated by decorating their windows and the exterior of their buildings. Christmas trees have been placed around the square and side streets and Ord has blossomed out as a real Christmas city.

A visit to Ord some evening next week will be well worth while solely because of the lighting scheme, to say nothing of the great flood of holiday merchandise assembled by Ord stores.

Business has been very good for the past two weeks, Ord merchants and they believe this season will set new volume records for sales of gift merchandise.

Klima Says Xmas Decorations Best

Ign. Klima, who was down to the county clerks meeting in Omaha last week, reports that he saw the Christmas decorations in many towns along the line and that he knows that the Ord display outshines them all. He says that all the towns he saw had a colored light display, some of them had a Christmas tree, and it all looked very fine. But none of them had a Santa Claus with his sleigh and reindeer. This crowning achievement in his opinion puts Ord in a class by itself, and whoever thought of the idea deserves much credit. More credit should be given the artist, Syl. Furtak, who made the outfit so lifelike that it really looks like real deer floating through the air. The kiddies all over town are begging their parents to be permitted to go up town almost every night, as it is a sight of which they never seem to tire.

—Mr. Otis Smith of Omaha was a guest Friday night of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kurt Miller.

Sen. Norris Got 40 Per Cent Of Valley Co. Vote

It is universally admitted that Senator Norris put over the North Loup irrigation project. Yet Valley county, which will profit most from the undertaking, was one of the few Nebraska counties that failed to give Norris a plurality vote. Voters are not always grateful. —Greely Citizen.

The records show that the Republican candidate for U. S. Senator received the lowest vote cast for a Republican candidate since 1918, and the Democratic candidate received only 651 votes, ten less than the next lowest on record of 661 votes, made in 1901. Norris, running by petition, got almost 40% of all the votes cast. How much more could a candidate expect?

Sentenced To Jail For Non-Support

Perry Chippy, who on July 23 was halled into county court on charge of non-support of his wife and two small children, at that time pleaded guilty to the charge and was paroled, under the conditions that he would turn his wages over to the court for the court to divide as seemed best between the defendant and the plaintiff. It appeared that he had not been doing so, and he was brought into court Wednesday where he was sentenced to twenty-five days in jail for non-support, and an additional five days for failure to obey the court's order.

In Judge Andersen's court M. L. Jensen entered a plea of guilty to a no-fund check charge, and was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $13.80.

Meyer's Granted $350 By District Court Jury

Judge Kroger came up from Grand Island and held a session of district court on Monday and Tuesday of this week. There was one case calling for the services of a jury, in which Ira E. Myers, plaintiff, was suing Leon Carosko for damages of $5,550.00 as the result of an altercation that occurred at Elyria in 1933. Mr. Kirkpatrick of York was attorney for the plaintiff, and John P. Misko for the defendant. The case went to the jury at 10:40 A. M. Tuesday, and at 2:55 P. M. they brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $350.00.

Coming Public Sales

The only sale which the Quiz has advertised for next week is the Lloyd Geneski sale on Tuesday the 22nd. This is going to be a good sale and the selling will start at one o'clock sharp.

Watch the paper next week for the large advertisement of the Paul Hughes sale to be held on January 5. Herman Rice is the auctioneer and he will be assisted by Charley Burdick. This is one of the big sales of the winter. There are two or three other sales planning early sales and no doubt one or more of them will be advertised next week also.

And there will be the usual stock sales at the week end, the Burwell Auction Co. sale on Friday and the Ord Livestock Co. sale at the sale barn in Ord Saturday; also the Rice sale of furniture etc. These sales are always advertised in the Quiz.

Court House Colorful Sight

Jos. Pecenka Takes Own Life Sunday

Retired From Business Short Time Ago; Had Been In Poor Health Recently.

Despondent following many months of ill health, Jos. Pecenka prominent business man and old settler of Ord took his own life Sunday forenoon in the absence of members of his family, in his home in Ord. He shot himself in the forehead, first adjusting a rope about his neck, doubtless with the idea that his suffering would be ended quicker, in case the rifle shot was not effective. A keen edged knife was also found on a nearby stool by Sheriff Round when he arrived. The act was done in a small clothes closet in the Pecenka home. Mr. Pecenka had long been a terrible sufferer from rheumatic trouble, and this suffering through several years has no doubt affected his mind to cause him to take his life. For Mr. Pecenka was a most likable man, always jolly and universally liked.

Joseph Pecenka was born August 2, 1870, in Vysoke Mito, Bohemia and died December 13, 1936, aged 66 years, 4 months, and 11 days. He lost both his father and mother when he was 2 years old and was left with one sister who died 8 years ago. At the age of 14 years he entered the meat business and was a master at his trade for fifty years.

He came to the United States in 1890 settling at Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he lived with his grandfather for two years. From there he went to Wilbur, Nebr., where he formed a partnership in the meat business. He came to Ord about 1895 and for 25 years was employed by James Misko in the meat business, then bought a half interest in the business and was in partnership for two years with Mr. Misko. In 1921 John Perliniski became a partner in the business by buying the Misko interest and the business was continued under the name of Pecenka & Perliniski until his poor health forced Mr. Pecenka to turn the management of the business over to his son Otto. Later they acquired the interest of Mr. Perliniski and the business has been continued under the name of Pecenka & Son with Otto Pecenka the active manager.

Mr. Pecenka was married to Mary Drahooupil at Ord on January 15, 1895 and she with their two children, Otto and Elsie and a host of friends are left to mourn his going.

Mr. Pecenka belonged to the Woodmen of the World, Royal Highlanders and was a social member of the Z. C. B. J. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, December 15 from the Z. C. B. J. hall with Rev. Phillip officiating and interment was in the Bohemian cemetery.

Quiz Editor In Hospital

Eugene C. Leggett has been having trouble for some time with an ear trouble. A mastoid operation some years ago left him slightly deaf in that ear and he had been suffering with earache, so on Tuesday, accompanied by Irma, went to Omaha for treatment from his former doctor and a phone call just as we go to press says he is in the Methodist hospital, and receiving treatments every three hours. Irma said he hoped to be released today.

—Hillcrest Hospital reports the following: Mrs. Wayne King was dismissed from the hospital Saturday. Mrs. George Urban was in for a tonsillectomy operation. Lawrence Mitchell of North Loup, a patient of Dr. Hemphill, is in the hospital with blood poisoning.

Dist. Commander Raecke Presides At Ceremony

Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, District President In Charge Of Auxiliary Meeting.

Yesterday the American Legion and ladies of the auxiliary entertained the delegates and visitors from the sixth district in the annual district convention. This is the event to which these two organizations have been looking forward for several months, and extensive preparations had been made to make the event a complete success. The affair went off according to schedule all through the day and far into the night, and all visitors pronounced themselves as highly pleased with the entertainment they received.

The ladies part of the program took place at the American Legion hall, and opened with registration of delegates and alternates as well as visitors from 8:45 to 9:30 A. M. Then the morning session was called to order by the district president, Mrs. Carol Mortensen, of Ord. This was followed by the advancement of the colors, salute and invocation by the chaplain. Next came the Preamble, "The Star Spangled Banner" sung in unison. The address of welcome was then given by Mrs. Frank Fafetta of the Ord unit and the response by a member of the Grand Island unit. Greetings were then extended the convention by Gould Flagg, mayor of Ord, by Cecil Clark, Post Commander of Ord, and by Glenn E. Runyan adjutant of the Valley-Garfield county council.

The report of the district president, Mrs. Mortensen, was next in order, followed by community singing "Salt and Pepper" initiation was followed by complimentary luncheon. Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Sowl were the committee in charge of the luncheon tables. The afternoon session opened with music by the Grand Island unit, followed by an address by Neil Krause, Junior vice-president of the American Legion. Greetings were then extended to department and district legion officers. Orville Sowl then obliged with several selections on his violin. An address by Alma Armstrong, National committee woman, followed. Mrs. McGlasson gave the Auxiliary program at the (Continued on page 5)

Stowells Inspects PWA Project.

Mr. George P. Stowells, Washington, D. C., chief engineer inspection division of the W. P. A. left Ord Wednesday morning after inspecting the local project. He was accompanied on the inspection trip by Mr. Joseph D. Evans, state engineer inspector for the WPA and by Mr. Joseph F. Cita, local engineer inspector of WPA. Mr. Stowells expressed himself as very much pleased with progress being made and class of work being done on the North Loup project and expressed the hope that contracts would be speedily let and work started all along the line so that work would be provided for all needing work. Mr. Stowells is the high up man just under Secretary Ickes. While in Nebraska he has been inspecting all WPA projects in the state.

Jess Sevenker III.

Jess Sevenker, who was down at the University hospital some time ago, was found to be suffering with a rare blood ailment, and has had 5 blood transfusions in the past three months. Recently he has been staying with relatives in Ord, but Saturday he again grew worse, and Tuesday afternoon he was again taken to the hospital, where it is hoped that something may be done for him. Mr. Sevenker has been farming for some time in Garfield county, but was forced to give up all work some time ago.

Start Potato Chip Business.

Two Ord young ladies, Myrnie and Ruthe Auble have bought a modern potato chip machine and are establishing a new business in Ord. "Vita Sealed" is a new kind of potato chip and the machine that makes them is quite an affair. With it potatoes, after being thoroughly washed, are automatically sliced, peeled and all, into several gallons of hot fat, taken out after a few seconds into a drying attachment, salted and sacked and ready to sell for a nickel. Nothing could be more sanitary and those who have eaten the new product say that nothing could be more delicious. The young ladies expect to market them largely through local mechanics and both retail and wholesale business will be done. See their ad on another page.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

I just read about a Nebraska town much smaller than Ord, which is building an artificial lake with WPA assistance. No big machine is being used, but the lake bed is being scraped out with teams and slips and many farmers with idle horses and men are being given work when they so badly need it. And Ord could not have a greater attraction than a nice lake stocked with fish. All that is needed is for some strong organization to take the lead and push the proposition.

Harry and his back room gang are putting all available time on the making of the 1937 cook calendars and I am going to mail one to everyone who is paid up to January 15. If you are in arrears you won't get a calendar. One dollar will pay for 6 months and 50c will pay for 3 months, in case you don't feel able to send the whole two dollars right now. Either amount will insure October, November and December explanations getting the calendar. Those who are back further and who have not written me regarding their subscription will be stopped January 1. I don't like to stop anyone's paper but when I send a notice and a postage free envelope to a subscriber in arrears and no attention is paid to the matter naturally I feel that they are not much interested in getting the paper.

The Quiz would like to do the printing for Ord business people. Some of it we don't get. The Quiz shop is employing nine people and we pay the highest wages of any business institution in Valley County. The money for the most part is spent at home. We don't expect more for your work than you can get it for but if we can furnish the same grade of work for the same money we do feel that we should have the business and this goes for the banks and county and city officials and all the business people. It may be hard for you to say "no" to the traveling salesman when he comes and hands you a fragrant cigar, but his only interest is to get the commission that your order will yield. When Val Pullen or Verne Well or Bud Auble or some other Ord booster comes around for a donation for this or that or the other, Mr. Salesman is not here to help. All he buys in Ord is an occasional meal and a few gallons of gas perhaps while my force buys three meals a day every day in the year from Ord merchants. Am I right? And am I wrong in asking for this business?

If the two big Omaha newspapers don't get to throwing anything more than verbal stones at each other we can probably get along with it.

So far three people have ordered the Quiz as a Christmas present. Nothing better could be found to send to parents, children or friends, than a copy of this paper for a whole year.

The entire Quiz force has been greatly disappointed at not being able to go on printing the engravings, like we did for a time while Mr. Jones was with us. His sudden leaving, which we did not know about until after he was gone, gave us no chance to be prepared.

We at once started an advertising man to learning the business and he is making fine progress. We have printed a few of his engravings the past two weeks and believe we have now overcome the worst of the difficulties he had to contend with and as the weeks go on we will be able to print an increasing number of engravings. We have a number of children left for the and belles department we hope to use each week and if you who have such pictures that you want us to print this department in the paper I'll know that you can begin to get in your pictures. For the past few weeks we have declined to print them because we didn't just when we could use them. Duemey is the name of the young man who we hope to get into a real artist for he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Duemey and is a student in high school.

The fight which persists among members of the Nebraska Rail-Commission is sickening. Men, chosen by the people, to bury their personal differences and work for the best interests of those who elected them, instead of doing that, they act like a bunch of kids and are a liability instead of an asset to the state. If someone would start a movement to have the people at the next election vote on doing away with the railway commission, that might be the best way to clean up the mess.

I am unable to understand why the government wouldn't find it good business to finance farmers who are about to lose their farms, at least those farmers where the history of the man is good and where his delinquency is due to crop failure, as is the case in this locality. I mean, finance him for the whole amount, that he now owes, at a very low per cent of interest and make the time, say, 15 years or 20 years. I believe in most cases the man would pay out, unless the drought persists for many years. In that case this country will of course be depopulated. Surely the government could afford to go a little further with a good farmer than a loan company could, yet at present the government won't go nearly as far as the loan companies did.

Something Different

Up in Burwell the girls organized, so I hear, an M. U. M. club meaning, Members Until Married. Down in Oklahoma a group of married men organized a club. To promote peace and harmony they pledged themselves to kiss their wives at least once a day; to tell their wives at least once each day that some particular dish she had planned and fixed was excellent; to tell their wives once each day, "I love you". At the end of a year, members reported the new club worked beautifully, were in favor of continuing the same.

Ord has more than fifty clubs, I think closer to seventy-five. These clubs are for various purposes. Some meet to sew, some to eat, some to sing and talk. Some of them want to play pinocchie, some of them high five, or rook or bridge. Some of them are project clubs, where ladies learn how to make candiesticks from old spoons or something equally touching. I once belonged to one, enjoyed it very much. Some of them meet to study, or to help the poor. Anyway, we do seem to have plenty of clubs, don't you think.

The government has announced a drive on clubs formed for the purpose of exchanging obscene literature and pictures through the mail, will try to exterminate them. Which is the first most of us knew about them.

There are Ord people who belong to chess clubs that match by mail, writing one another the moves. There are also Ord people who belong to shut-in clubs, invalids who find cheer in writing others who are also bedfast or helpless. These help to pass the time pleasantly and are a godsend to their members. Some of these cheer-up correspondence clubs are hooked up with radio broadcasts.

We do have artists in Ord, too. Joy Auble, who graduated from school last spring, plans to be a nurse, but I think she has some artistic talent, too. She drew the camels ornamenting the Auble Brothers window, having a pair of small postcard pictures to guide her. Covered with cellophane, they are most effective.

Everyone knows Sylvester Furtak's talent with pencils, pens and brushes, that paints signs on windows handsomely. But he is receiving many compliments since the decorations went up to top the occasion, for Sylv drew the reindeers, that sleigh and Mr. Santa Claus, painted them too. Everyone agrees he did an excellent job.

There are all kinds of artists. Some window trimming is artistry, to me. And some advertisements are very appealing to the eye, really art.

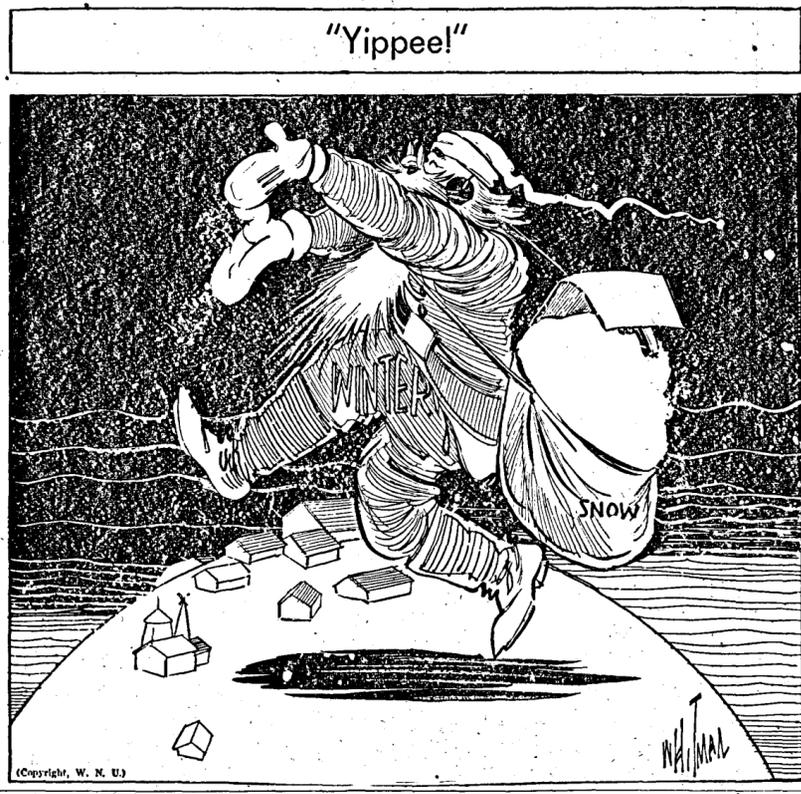

For children there are boxes with pieces of bright colored felt, to be stuck on a dark ground of felt to make pictures. It is surprising what pictures children produce, with these simple tools.

For older girls there are sewing wax pictures, feather pictures, painting on glass to do. There is finger painting for the kindergarten, the mental cases.

For older women there is "needle painting", really a relative of the lovely tapestries once made in France. The effect is carefully gained by making each tiny stitch of a variety of colored threads.

When finished it may show a map, a tree, a court scene, a Chinese garden, with hundreds of thousands of stitches involved. Crayolas make pictures now too. These bright, quick-to-do trimmings trim modern tea towels, or perhaps pot holders. When the wax is pressed with an iron, the colors are quite fast to washing.

Ord has people who are adept at nearly every one of these happy pastimes. Do you know them? The Campfire Girls want old toys. Do you have any to give away? Some poor child may need them more than your children.

that country families that have nothing need attention. Do you know of a Valley county family where the children "need" a real Christmas. Either food, clothing or toys? If you do, and will call me, I will see something is done for them. Call 245 and ask for Irma.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM

Cranberries have such a distinct, pleasing flavor, it is surprising they are not used more. Scandinavian cooks know they add a touch to nearly any meal, make jam and jelly and preserves of them, put them in pastries, serve them with beef roasts, know many delightful ways to use them that we do not.

New ways to use these pretty red berries are constantly turning up. What do you do with cranberries that makes your family especially pleased?

Cranberry Pineapple Pie.
Put one cup cranberries and one cup raisins through a food chopper. Add one cup sugar, one-half cup crushed pineapple, one-half cup pineapple juice, one teaspoon orange juice, one tablespoon flour. Bake between two crusts in a hot oven, 425 degrees F. for forty minutes.

Pineapple Gelatin Pie.
Soak two tablespoons gelatin in one-half cup cold water for five minutes. Heat one can of grated pineapple, add one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and the gelatin. Stir until dissolved, then chill. When the mixture begins to set, beat well and fold in whipped cream to suit the cook's taste. Turn into a baked pie shell and chill until thoroughly set.

White Cake.
Cream two cups sugar and one-half cup shortening, add vanilla to taste, then put in alternately one and one-half cups cold water, and three cups of flour which has been sifted with one tablespoon of cornstarch and three teaspoons of baking powder. Beat well after each small addition. Lastly add the stiffly beaten white of four eggs. This makes three layers. For filling cook two egg yolks with one cup cream, one-half cup sugar. When thick and cold add a small can of crushed pineapple. If too thick thin with some of the pineapple juice. Spread between the layers.

Barbecued Pork Chops.
Place six chops in a casserole. Pour over them a mixture made from one tablespoon flour, one-half teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon dry mustard, one teaspoon celery salt, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon salt, pepper to suit taste, combined with one-half cup canned tomatoes, one-half cup vinegar, one small grated onion. Bake one hour at 375 degrees F.

Steamed Brown Bread.
Mix one cup bran, one cup sour milk, one-half cup chopped raisins, then add one tablespoon molasses, one-half cup sugar, and one cup flour which has been sifted with one teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Put mixture into a greased can, cover tightly and steam three hours.

Judge Paine Now Grandpa.
Supreme Judge and Mrs. Bayard H. Paine are enjoying for the first time the title of "Grandpa and Grandma", with the announcement of the arrival of a six-pound baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bentley Paine, in Lincoln, yesterday afternoon. The name of the little Miss is Elizabeth Ann.—Grand Island Independent.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

90 Years Ago This Week.
While Mr. and Mrs. Mott Rathbun were away from home their farm house in Springdale burned to the ground. Plans for a new and modern home to be built in the spring were announced by Mr. Rathbun.

Warren Draper gave a birthday party, serving roast duck and all the trimmings as a midnight supper to a large group of friends.

The Burwell Tribune bought a new linotype and Oscar Nay, foreman of the Quiz shop, went up to install it.

Russell E. Hamilton, of Ord, got $10,000, George Hamilton, Tracy Hamilton and W. T. Hamilton, also of Ord, got $5,000 each from the estate of their relative, H. F. Hamilton, who died in Omaha leaving $150,000. He was a prominent livestock man there.

An ice shortage in Ord was feared because the ice pond was not cleaned in the fall and ice was said to be full of moss. Warren Draper who leased the pond from Ed Jensen denied this statement, saying the ice was usable.

Two of the triplets born to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lambdin passed away.

25 Years Ago This Week.
Congressman Kinkaid introduced a bill asking for a $135,000 government building at Broken Bow and the Quiz was insisting on a new postoffice for Ord also.

By rolling his wheat field in the spring, O. R. Hansen produced 557 bushels on 20 acres and more farmers were planning to try the rolling business next year.

Mike Prestel, long time resident of the Woodman Hall neighborhood died of cancer.

Ella Bond and her mother went to Moorhead, Ia., to visit for a few weeks.

The annual show of the Valley County Poultry Society was being held at the opera house and the secretary received a message of congratulation from the national poultry association, saying the list of prizes was better than many state shows put out.

Fred Bell came up from Omaha with a new Bulck for E. M. Williams.

BACK FORTY

The first cold storage locker plant was built in Oregon about five years ago. Today there are over 1,500 in service, mostly west of the Mississippi river. Several are being operated in Nebraska, some in towns smaller than Ord.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

The Old Man Country.
Of course we are interested in the King of England. American history only goes back 160 years before that English history is our history. We might call England our father country. At that date we threw off his guiding hand, told the old man a thing or two, blacked his eye a trifle and struck out for ourselves. We were the biggest boys. Even at that he could have whipped us easy enough but his neighbor, France was pounding him on the back. And we would have stuck by him even then if straw boss, King George had not been pricking us in the pants with a pin.

Be that as it may, we still clung to our early training. We pretended to hate the old man but we adopted his language and based our laws and system of government after his laws and systems that he had fought for centuries to establish. We continue to be English and are still more English than anything else.

There were a few of the old man's habits we did not keep. We had had enough of some of his stunts. One was that of having a king tossing monkey wrenches in to smooth running machines. We just quit the king business. England, instead had a few wars and showed the king to stand back. They were hard battles but they showed him and now the House of Commons is the boss. A little test has just been demonstrated, but the House of Commons won as they have long been winning.

Another point we backed up on was that the oldest sons inherited all the estate of the father. America was settled by second sons that had been left out. They said nothing doing. Our sons will all divide up, share and share alike.

But in the main we are beef eating English and don't let anyone tell you differently. Of course we are interested in those folks. They are the most like us of any nation. We have the most in common. Their government is the nearest like ours of any. English history until 1776 should be a requisite of study in our schools to show us why things are thus and so.

David Windsor.
The King of England now has few liberties. He cannot make a speech, or call Parliament or dissolve it without asking the Lord Mayor. He cannot take a trip or appear in public without wearing certain clothes set out. He cannot marry without Parliament approves.

He is paid five million a year and given much glory but there are certain requirements and he has sworn to them as he took his office. One of these obligations was that he should not marry anyone that violates the mores of his realm. Besides being out of his mores, Mrs. Simpson had been twice divorced and this shocked the staid English people the same as we would have been shocked if the President of the United States should have married such a woman. David Windsor, abdicating showed the characteristic English sportsmanship, but many of us wonder if he might not lose his kingdom and the woman too, eventually.

There is one thing certain, Mrs. Simpson is either a hellcat or a mighty poor judge of men. And David Windsor had been courting her long before she got her divorce and it looks as if there was love making even when she was living with her second husband. Naturally she was not wanted as Queen, and naturally Prime Minister Baldwin had almost unanimous support of the House of Commons and naturally his position has been more secure. Again the people won against the king.

Of course we are glad David Windsor abdicated and the ministry won the point. He was a very foolish man to allow himself to become infatuated with a married woman, and a woman that would bring trouble in his domain. She was very unprincipled to make love to a king where trouble would sure involve. There is self control in love as well as anything else. He was a very foolish man to allow a woman to interfere with the interests of a kingdom consisting of one-fourth of the world. And had he won this point he no doubt would have asked for more and the power of the people, built up by wars of centuries might have been set back to the wiles of a dictator like George the Third or Henry the Eighth. Stanley Baldwin had no such intention to allow the power of the people to slip to a playboy king.

Poultry Column.
I like to write about poultry. I have often thought I could write a poultry column. A few of my father supplied me with chickens to keep me out of mischief. Whether or they were worth the price I dare not say.

Nevertheless, from poultry is derived one of Nebraska's greatest farm incomes. Nebraska is one of the leading poultry states. Every farm has a few chickens. Every farmer and his wife are interested in them to some extent. All right then here goes.

In the first place the poultry house should be cleaned and cared for like buildings for any other stock. Dr. Van Ess, one of the greatest veterinarians of the country said 90 percent of the poultry diseases are caused from filth. Under the roosts should be fixed so the hens cannot get to the droppings or it should be cleaned often. Chas. Thrasher, who learned the poultry trade in Idaho, used to clean under the roosts every morning. Clean coops are necessary from the standpoint of health of the flock and also clean coops help keep the eggs clean.

If the coop is clean it should be kept quite tight and warm. Leghorns are more sensitive to cold than heavier breeds. Some poultry plants have heaters in their poultry houses and the owners think it pays. There is hardly, if ever, a day in the winter when it pays to turn the chickens out. It may seem warm but a hen is sensitive and turning the flock out will almost invariably shorten the egg gathering the next day.

A hen that develops the roup or sickness should be segregated at once and better yet killed and burned. A sick hen seldom recovers and if she does her recoup will be so long that she will eat more than she is worth. Leaving her with the flock only contaminates the rest.

Water dishes should be cleaned often. The self feeder made by the State Farm is the best I have seen. Its construction is simple and anyone can make it. Ed Christensen hired a carpenter to make some and the cost for labor and material was about $1.75 for a six foot feeder.

Now is wood cutting time and we should gather and sack some of the dry clean sawdust to bed the baby chicks in the spring. It makes very good litter, absorbing moisture readily and costs nothing. It has been said the chickens will eat it and die, or grow block heads or eventually lay wooden eggs, but this has not been true in my experience. For several years my brother and I have used sawdust with fine results. Don't think for a minute a chicken is fool enough to eat sawdust if it has good mash in a feeder.

Farmer's Vacation.
This time of year is lazy time for the farmer. Most of us do not arise only in time to get the kids off to school. It is especially true this year because there is no corn to shuck.

A little song we have devised at our home goes as follows, sung to the tune of "Amble," and the name Amble is changed to suit. It goes, "Mother, Mother m' schoy, what are yous waiting for now? Youse promised t' crawl out this mornin' by noon, it's never so late, and it's never too soon. Mother, Mother m' schoy, what are yous waiting for now."

John Jr. Surprises John Sr.
The report of the marriage of John Wesley Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ward, to Miss Pearl Marie Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ellis, of Omaha, the last week in August, has been confirmed by the groom's parents. The young couple hope to return to Burwell some time soon to set up housekeeping.—Burwell Tribune.

What Other Editors Are Saying

Retires After 27 Years.
Fred Urwiller has moved to Ravenna from St. Michael and will make his home here for the winter at least. Upon reaching the age of 65 recently, he retired from the mail route service at St. Michael. He had served in the service since 1909, and never missed his regular work until last year. The route has been taken over now by Mr. Jensen, who moved down from Dannebrog. Mr. and Mrs. Urwiller are living at present in the Miller Block.—Ravenna News.

Deer Fought Anudder Doodle.
Dr. Franz Sarga, Hungarian firebrand who is defying nine enemies because of insults to his wife, has a young follower in Alliance in the person of Virgil Roebuck, who also believes in combat.

Early this week young Roebuck stabbed a young adversary, Max Carr, in the left arm with a pocket knife in the heat of an argument between the two. The wound was not serious and Max will soon be "good as new."

Virgil, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roebuck, had a dispute with Max, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr, a few days before the knife incident. At that time Virgil planted a blow on one of Max's eyes and the result was a "shiner." But one clash was not enough. Mrs. L. H. Highland, police matron, and officer Dan Hoppes investigated the trouble. Mrs. Highland straightened things out between the two lads.—Alliance Herald.

Gobbie, Gobbie, Conck, Conck.
Paul Blood of South Morrill is the first Scotts Bluff county turkey grower to ship a full carload of dressed birds, individually grown, to eastern markets for holiday consumption.

The car contained 1,463 turkeys averaging 93 per cent prime. This rating was termed exceptional in a drought period by H. V. Anderson, manager of the North Platte Valley Co-operative Poultry association. By the end of this week Anderson said the association will have shipped 25 carloads of dressed birds to New York City.—Scotts Bluff Herald.

They Should Try a Dollar.
Fifteen years ago a woman employee at the City Hall at San Antonio, Tex., placed a penny on a desk just "to see how long it would stay there." It's still there although numerous janitors have dusted around it, and many have picked it up. They always put it back to the intense interest of the watcher.—Holdrege Citizen.

That Is A Long Time.
The 66th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Freas was quietly celebrated here yesterday at their home on north Kansas street.

Mrs. Freas will be 91 this month and Mrs. Freas will celebrate her 85th birthday next June. They came to Adams county to farm over 50 years ago. For two years they operated a hotel at Madrid, later returning here.—Hastings Democrat.

Hot Time For John Thomas.
John Thomas had a busy hour recently when a weed fire broke out on vacant lots near the Catholic church.

Thomas was employed by the city in trimming trees near city power lines. One large limb was resting on the power line and enough heat had apparently been generated to dry it out thoroughly so it would burn. When Thomas finally succeeded in cutting the limb it fell to the ground and the smoldering spot on it set fire to weeds before he could get down from the tree. After considerable work he extinguished the flames which were fanned by the brisk wind.—Custer County Chief.

They Should Never Do That.
A new racket has developed in this county, it is stealing of grain from farmers. Two such instances are now being investigated by Sheriff Edd Peterson. The first report is that Mads C. Madsen, near Nysted, who complained of losing 50 bushels of wheat. The other is James F. McCracken, who reports the loss of 30 or 40 bushels of rye Friday night.

The investigation will very probably reveal the identity of the person or persons connected with the theft. These two thefts were on farms upon which no one was living and is very evident that the parties responsible have knowledge that these places are unoccupied. Car tracks were left as evidence upon which the officers are working.—Howard County Herald.

People Afraid of Rain.
Farmers north of town, living east of section ten, awakened as usual Saturday morning but were soon electrified into feverish activity when it was discovered to be raining. Trucks, hayracks, wagons and in one instance even a wheelbarrow, were pressed into service in an effort to save household goods and personal property of the frightened people.

M. McNeil evacuated his home and hit for higher ground, and a rumor has it he will move his home to safer precincts, upon the hill as a precautionary measure against possible future danger.

Mr. Kbat has taken much care in building his dam and according to reliable engineering talent will withstand 5000 minute feet of water, however, farmers in the area, remembering the Johnstown disaster are looking into the future and are preparing for the worst.—Friend Sentinel.

LOCAL NEWS

—Dr. George A. Parkins went to Lincoln Tuesday, spent the day at the University, and in the evening addressed a meeting of optometrists at the Cornhusker hotel.

—E. C. James reports the arrival of a grandson, Fredrick Rothert, jr., to Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Rothert, of Auburn, Nebr. Mrs. Rothert will be remembered as Alice James.

—Ralph Haas of the Ord Sales Company reports the delivery of a Chevrolet pickup to the City of Ord on Monday of this week.

—Marcella Smith, county superintendent of Loup county, was in Ord Monday forenoon on her way to the state teacher's meeting at Lincoln, which is convening on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

—Miss Violet Exley, former cook at the Ord hospital, has gone to Gooding, Ida., where she will make her home with the Rev. C. E. Thurmond family.

—Fifty silk dresses, unusual values and only $1.98. All shades and sizes. Chase's Toggery. 38-11

—Mrs. Ray Harding went to North Loup Thursday to spend the day with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Harding.

—Ralph Hatfield is taking an enforced vacation from his duties as janitor at the high school, due to infection in his left hand. He had to quit work last Wednesday and will probably be off the job all this week.

—Jolly Side high school is holding a Christmas program Tuesday evening, Dec. 22, at 8:00 p. m. This school is also known as No. 10, and is located eight miles straight south of Ord. The public is cordially invited to attend.

—Relatives who came to Ord to attend the funeral of Mrs. Martin Fuss last Tuesday included Reinhardt Fuss, an uncle, and his two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blum and Mrs. Gus Blum. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Blum also came from York that day, as did Mr. and Mrs. Archie Fuss and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fuss, cousins of Martin Fuss. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blum of York were Ord visitors that day also, Mrs. Blum being a sister of Martin Fuss.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Allen and family, who were at Gooding, Ida., left there Thanksgiving day for Port Orford, Ore., where they will make their home for a time at least. They found work fairly plentiful in Idaho, but an early frost ruined the crops, and the prospect for winter was not the best.

—Word from Grace Ball, now of Portland, Ore., tells that she is now permanently located there with the Standard Oil Company, and is drawing a salary of better than $100 per month, with an opportunity for a raise soon. She first went out to Camas, Ore., where she was employed for a few months. Then she took a course in comptometry, which is the classical name for mechanical bookkeeping. Her many friends here will be pleased to learn that she is succeeding so well.

—From Ingleside comes word that the main building of the state hospital there is in a very dangerous condition, and that if something is not done about it soon, the entire building is likely to topple, in which event numbers of its 75 inmates, many of whom are bedridden would be either killed or injured. At the same time up at Fort Robinson there is one government building with a capacity of two to three hundred persons, in a perfect state of preservation, which is not being used for anything at the present time, and probably will never be used again. In addition to this there are a number of smaller buildings which are either empty or occupied by a quarter the number of persons they were originally intended to accommodate. It looks like a pity that a matter of location should prevent these buildings being used when they are so badly needed.

—Marle Kasson of North Loup was discharged from the St. Francis hospital at Grand Island last week after receiving surgical treatment.

—Nels Christensen and Floyd Tetschner who live fourteen miles up the Cedar river above Ericson were in Ord Saturday disposing of some pork on the hoof.

—Dr. Earl Wise went down to Grand Island last week and visited with Frank Terry and other friends from Monday to Thursday.

—John Wiberg and Tommy Conner were among those who came down from Garfield county for the sales Saturday.

—John K. Jensen was busy last week over near Sweetwater, straightening up some buildings that had been damaged by a wind storm. John was working for the Union Fire Insurance Co., the buildings being on a place owned by them.

—Mrs. Everett Petty and daughter Joyce returned the latter part of last week from Omaha where they had been visiting Mrs. Petty's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Staple, and her sister Mildred. While there Mrs. Petty helped them move to a new location.

—The writer acknowledges that a mistake was made in crediting a baby to Rev. and Mrs. Moore Bell of Friend last week. The source of information was reliable, but the informant was mistaken.

—The Dick Flynn family with two of the children were up from Blair Saturday and Sunday to visit their mother, Mrs. Marilla Flynn. The Frank Flynn's, the Carl Olfers and the Emanuel Vodehnals came in to visit them.

—Thursday Ed Gnaster took a business trip to St. Paul and Grand Island, coming around by Farwell on the way back, to eat supper with his parents at that place.

—A letter from I. E. Orcutt asks that the Quiz address be changed to 726 Lucard St., Taft, Calif. They are moving there and taking of the agency of the Willlys 77.

—R. W. Haas of the Ord Auto Sales company reports that he sold a master deluxe Chevrolet to Marlon Casteel of Westerville Thursday, and the same day sold a good used job to W. S. Williams, of near Ericson.

—Joe Rousek brought in a fair sized hog Saturday and sold it to the Peterson Hog Market. When Curt Wilson put the animal over the scales he was rather surprised to find that it weighed 630 pounds. Now if you have on hand a bigger one than that, let us hear about it.

—Elmer Brockman was down from Burwell attending the community sale Saturday. He took the occasion to add his name to the Quiz list. Likewise Frank Wegzyn of the Arcadia territory who was at the sale hunted up the writer and added his name to the growing family of the Quiz.

—Zach Harris was down from his farm near Kent, Nebr., Thursday on business. Mr. Harris for twenty years pulled a throttle on Burlington freights, his principal runs being from Omaha to Hastings and also from Lincoln as far west as Sheridan, Wyo. He retired from the service in 1910.

—A letter from Mrs. Hall Barnes states that she missed her Dec. 3 copy of the Quiz and would like another, as she can't get along without it. She says that she has been real sick but is able to be up most of the day now. She lives at Sheridan, Wyo., and says that pneumonia and autos are causing many deaths there.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Westberg of North Loup came up with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson, Thursday, and spent the day visiting old friends in Ord. Mr. Westberg is a photographer of the old school, and recalls that he first went into business in Ord in 1888, buying out the business of W. A. Anderson, who was then the valley's leading photographer.

J. L. Jenkins Now Past 86th Milestone

Away back in the middle of the 19th century, Dec. 9, 1850, to be exact, was born a man who was not only destined to live a long, long time, but also to have a marked influence in the lives of other young people whose birthdays came at a much later period. J. L. Jenkins found his greatest enjoyment and interest in education, and while the writer has no certain knowledge of it, no doubt much of his time before coming to this section was spent in educational work.

Mr. Jenkins first came to Valley county in 1902, and for the first two years lived at the Goodenow place and taught the Brick school, No. 14, southeast of Burwell. The next two years he lived in Burwell and taught the Willow Springs school. The next fall 1906 he was elected for the first of five 2-year terms which he served as county superintendent of Garfield county. He was out of the office in the years 1910 and 1911, and then went back in until 1916, when he again retired.

Called to work again by the county board in 1922 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Florence Alderman, he served from then until 1926. His total tenure of office in the county was sixteen years and five months. Mr. Jenkins has lived to be one of the last of that grand old school of educators who were the product of the horse and buggy days. That noble group who gave much and asked and expected little in return. In the upper Loup valley today there are doubtless many no longer young who owe much to Mr. Jenkins for his influence in days gone by, an influence that will be felt long after he has passed on. May he live long and enjoy more birthdays.

ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW!

—Buy furniture, the perfect gift, at Frazier's low prices. 38-11
—Bob Petty came up with Mrs. Everett Petty and Joyce when they came home from Omaha Thursday and visited a few days with the family. He is working at the Old Peoples Home in Florence.

—C. M. Davis was in Arcadia on business Saturday.

—Mrs. Carrie Lewis writes this week to renew her Quiz for another year. She lives at Rockport Mo., and will be remembered as a former Ord teacher.

In writing to renew her Quiz Mrs. L. R. Brantling of Bauxite, Ark., sends greetings to her Valley county friends. She was formerly Louise Misko.

Dr. H. N. Norris reports the following: Dr. Norris extracted tonsils for Frank Marsh Monday morning at the Ord Hospital. Frank Jobst had the same operation performed at Dr. Norris' office. Dr. Norris took Jess Worm's 14-year-old son to the Ord Hospital for an appendicitis operation.

Dr. C. J. Miller performed the operation, and the lad is doing fine.

—Mrs. L. W. Benjamin returned Saturday morning from her visit to her mother in Los Angeles. She had been there for several months taking care of her mother, Mrs. L. C. Richardson, who is diabetic.

She left her slightly improved. Mrs. Benjamin made the trip east on the famous streamliner. She left Los Angeles Thursday afternoon at 4:10 and arrived in Grand Island at 11:24 Friday night. This record almost equals that of the air liners.

Mrs. Raymond, formerly Marjorie Nielsen, Grandma Orcutt and May Helleberg called on Mrs. Benjamin the Saturday before she left. Grandma and Marjorie wished to be remembered to their old friends here.

Marjorie's husband is a furniture maker, and a very fine man. May Helleberg is plump and brown and looks the picture of health. She plans to return home about Dec. 31.

—Charles Zangger, who is employed in the Irrigation office, was suddenly stricken with appendicitis Tuesday evening, and was taken to the Ord Hospital, where Dr. C. J. Miller performed the operation at 2:30 A. M. He is recovering nicely as this is written. Mr. Zangger's parents are in California.

—Mr. Vedstead and son were here Monday of this week from Staplehurst, Nebr. He owns an interest in the old Jorgen Moller ranch, and was here partly in regard to it, and also because he is interested in the irrigation project. While here he had Roy Bailey take him up to Taylor to look over the proposed location of the ditches and dams. He apparently has a lot of faith in the ultimate success of the project.

—Spend your Christmas money wisely. Buy gifts that last at Frazier's Furniture Store. 38-11

—Mrs. Clara Sterneck, mother of Charles Sterneck, had the misfortune to fall in her son's home Monday, and was badly bruised, and probably suffered a broken rib. It is thought that in falling she hit against a chair.

She is in the Ord hospital at present, but is very cheerful, and is thought to be well on the road to recovery. As she is past 83 years of age, she is indeed fortunate not to be much worse hurt.

—Lloyd Zeleski of the Ord Motor company reports the sale of a Chevrolet town sedan to Silas Ash of Sargent, on Monday.

—C. M. Davis and E. L. Vogel-tanz made a business trip to Scotia Friday evening.

—Attorney Frank Edgerton of Aurora and Attorney W. A. Prince of Grand Island were in Ord Monday in connection with the sitting of the district court.

—Miss McClatchey is away at the state superintendents' meeting this week, and Charley Lane and Carl Sorensen got busy at once cleaning up the superintendent's office. It is also understood that the walls are to have a coat of paint before she gets back, if possible.

—L. G. Payzant brought in three old sows and sold them locally Tuesday. He told the writer that at the prevailing price of nine cents per pound he actually lost about three cents per pound on the corn he fed them. On the three hogs this figured out twenty dollars loss, and yet you will find people occasionally who figure that the farmer is better off than the man in town.

—Mrs. R. J. Clark reports that her aunt, Mrs. Carmel Gifford, passed her one hundredth birthday at her home in Tacoma, Wash., on Nov. 27. In remembrance of the occasion all her relatives that could be reached were asked to join in a postcard shower. It is not often that a person lives to round out a century, and Mrs. Gifford is to be congratulated. Reports say that her mind is exceptionally clear, and she is very active.

In writing to renew their Quiz Mr. and Mrs. Carl Unger of Ravenna say they don't want to miss a single copy of the paper and that they enjoy it all, and especially the North Loup and Davis Creek news. Mrs. Unger is a daughter of E. S. Post.

—Bargains in smokers, pictures, lamps, tables and everything at Frazier's. 38-11

—Fifty silk dresses, unusual values and only $1.98. All shades and sizes. Chase's Toggery. 38-11

—Mrs. Ross R. Lakin has been confined to her bed for several weeks and is slowly recovering from having her teeth removed. Dr. Gard removed the teeth at the Miller hospital.

—At a special council meeting held Friday the Ord city council revoked the beer license of Albert Kosmicki. This was as a result of his conviction on charge of selling beer to minors.

—C. A. Anderson of the Anderson Motor company announces the sale of a Chrysler Royal coupe Friday to Ernie Weller of Atkinson.

—Frazier's Furniture Sale is in full swing. Many popular priced gifts.

—Rev. and Mrs. B. A. Phillips and Mrs. Rud. Hamsa, all of Clarkson, were dinner guests at the E. L. Kokes home Tuesday noon.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fafetta, Jr. and Mrs. E. W. Gruber spent last Monday in Grand Island.

—Mrs. John Vacek and Charles Homolka of Western, Nebr., are in Ord, having come for the Pecena funeral.

—Alice Miller of near Ericson spent all last week visiting at the S. W. Roe home in Mira Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ferris and family were there visiting Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Roe and Howard took Miss Miller back home Monday.

Petska Hunts Coons for Pastime

James Petska relieves the tedium of his work in the First National Bank by taking his three coon dogs and hunting coons in the hills around Ord. He has been doing this for the past twelve years, and has managed to get a few of the animals each year. This week he reports a catch of the limit, three, last Friday night in the hills north of Ord, and on Monday he got two more. This brings his total for the year up to seven. He gets from six to fourteen per year, and finds it a very interesting sport. The three dogs he now owns are all experts at the game, and they range in age from three to eight years.

The nine directors elected at that time were A. W. Cornell, Orin Kellison, Ed Pocock, Chris Nielsen, Anton Adamek, Clarence Davis, Jos. P. Barta, M. B. Cummins and Henry Geweke. The first six of these men have been reelected from time to time and are still on the board. Barta and Cummins both resigned and Henry Geweke was removed by death. Their places were filled by L. D. Milliken, Earl Smith and Charles Clochon. President Cornell, Secretary Davis and Manager Coe have held these positions since the organization was perfected, and have proven highly satisfactory in their various capacities.

In reading his annual report Thursday the manager commented on the fact that there are now 90,000,000 pounds of butter in storage nationally, which is 16,000,000 more pounds than were in storage Dec. 1 last year and 14,000,000 over the five year average.

Based upon these statistics the outlook for butterfat prices is somewhat discouraging but Manager Coe gave it as his personal opinion that the price in 1937 will be about the same as in 1936.

There are certain possibilities such as war in Europe, government buying for relief purposes and inflation of currency which might cause a great increase in butter prices, he says.

Success of the Ord creamery was attributed by Manager Coe to the fine cooperation of local producers. "Every stockholder should be a field man, boosting for an organization not in its infancy but one that has stood the test, one that has prospered through a period of depression, one that has made its patrons and the community many thousands of dollars," he said.

"Go forth and talk cooperation to your neighbor who does not patronize the creamery, talk it from a standpoint of profit to him. Show him how much better you could both do by working together instead of working against each other. Try to get them to see the possibilities in this business if all the cream, eggs and poultry were sold through this organization," he concluded.

Midvale United Brethren Church. Church services with Rev. S. E. Taylor of Sterling, Colo., as evangelist are continuing all this week, with special services on Sunday, as follows: Sunday school at ten o'clock, preaching service at 11:00, basket dinner at 12:00, preaching again at two, the subject being "The First Resurrection and the Second Coming of Our Lord." Evening services at 8 o'clock will close the special meetings.

Bethany Lutheran Church. Sunday school at 10:00. Services at 11:00. Ladies Aid at 2:00 at the home of Mrs. Jess Mortensen. Luther League at 8:00.

Card of Thanks. We wish to thank our neighbors and friends for their assistance and many acts of kindness shown us during our bereavement. The flowers were beautiful and the sympathy extended will be gratefully remembered. Mrs. Jos. Pecenka, Elsie Pecenka, Otto Pecenka.

400 Attend Legion Meeting

Veterans' hospital at Lincoln. This was followed by an address by Mrs. Bowersox, department president. Phases of the child welfare program was the topic of Mrs. Elsie Diers, national child welfare chairman. The convention committee then gave its report. The election and installation of district officers followed. Adjournment.

All sessions of the Legion convention were held in the Z. C. B. J. Hall, which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion by a committee of the ladies headed by Mrs. Cecil Clark and Mrs. Harry Wolf. The registration of the delegates began at 10:00 A. M. with Ign. Kilma in charge, assisted by Dr. F. L. Blessing and Horace Travis. The forenoon was spent largely in getting acquainted with the delegates who kept pouring in from all parts of the district.

At 1:15 P. M. the convention was called to order by district commander, Walter Raecke, of Central City, followed by the advancement of the colors. The invocation was followed by the reading of the convention call and the roll call of posts. The convention then listened to greetings from the post commander and local officials. The response was given by District Commander Raecke, and was followed by the appointment of convention committees.

Next came "Legion Topics" by department commander, Verne R. Taylor. Greetings from the legion auxiliary were extended by Mrs. Bowersox, department president. "Talking Things Over" by Department Adjutant R. J. Patterson followed. "The Veterans' Administration and the Legion", by H. G. Hooks, regional manager at Lincoln, was of special interest. Rehabilitation problem were touched upon by Department Service Officer Henry A. Kriz. "How About a Job" was the question that concerned W. H. Anderson, veteran placement officer, Federal Reemployment Service. The final speech of the afternoon was "Post Inspections" by Nell Krause, Department Junior Vice-commander. At 4:15 the report of the convention committees was heard and was followed by the election of district commander.

The combined Legion and Auxiliary banquet was held at the high school auditorium, with places set for four hundred persons. Carl C. Dale was toastmaster. The program was opened by selections by the special high school orchestra, led by Dean S. Duncan, director. The introduction of distinguished guests followed, and also of the local officers. A girls' trio, Marjorie Coe, Ruth Auble and Dorothy Auble, followed by accordion selections by Homer Mauer. Next came tap dancing by Mavis and Jane, and then the speech of the evening, by H. A. Kriz, department service officer.

The dance was held at the Z. C. B. J. hall in the evening and was very largely attended. The music was furnished by Joe Puncochar and his orchestra. For those who did not care to dance arrangements had been made with the Ord Theater to accept the dance tickets at the show. A number of the visitors availed themselves of this opportunity. As the time of going Cromwell Says He Likes Kimball Co.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Cromwell were in Ord for a few days last week coming to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. L. S. Ollis.

While here Oliver took the opportunity to see as many of his old friends as possible in the time allotted.

So Oliver returned to his first love, and opened up a produce establishment in Kimball, which he has been running ever since.

In spite of adverse conditions he still has faith in Kimball county, and believes that it would be the garden spot of America if it would ever get to raining.

The Harvey Seng family, who went out there about three years ago when Mr. Seng was called from the agriculture teaching department of the Burwell schools to a similar job in Kimball, is doing well.

John Walford of Burwell has land near Kimball and goes out there every spring and raises chickens. He manages to get his early birds ready for the market by August first, and sells them, returning to Burwell in time for the rodeo, which he has never missed.

Big Diesel Engine Installed. The first huge 750 horse power Busch-Sulzer diesel engine unit purchased by the city of Wahoo arrived Monday and the work of installation is now in progress.

The addition to the power plant is being built on the south side of the main building under the supervision of Staudinger & Shusta, local contractors.

Woodman Hall

From all reports this is not the only household feasting on rabbits of which there is a good crop this year and fatter than our shoats.

A new daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Marshall last Tuesday morning.

Thomas Waldmann returned home from Omaha Tuesday evening where he underwent an operation for sinus trouble.

John Pesek purchased a Duroc Jersey male hog of Will Waldmann one day last week.

Our school and Dist. 49 will give a joint Christmas program Wednesday afternoon Dec. 23 at the school house in Dist. 49 where Miss Evelyn Bussell teaches.

Miss Minnie Holoun, in Dist. 53, is preparing a Christmas program for Tuesday evening, Dec. 22. Miss Mary Horner in Dist. 29 and all surrounding schools are preparing for the joyful season just approaching.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ptacnk and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radl called at Thomas Waldmann's Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Kamarad and family and Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Waldmann and sons Paul and Raymond and daughter Mildred were Sunday dinner guests at Ed Waldmann's.

Miss Isabelle Suchanek, who is taking a course in beauty culture at Cheyenne, Wyo., arrived home with relatives for a couple of days visit with home folks and to get acquainted with her new cousin at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Suchanek.

Charles Radl attended the auction sale at Sargent last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Waldmann and sons spent Sunday afternoon at Thomas Waldmann's.

He's a Real Tough Guy. "Rusty" Bradford of Mitchell, an outstanding high school athlete in the state last year, enrolled in the Wayne State Teachers college Wednesday morning of last week.

Constipation. If constipation causes you Gas, Indigestion, Headaches, Bad Sleep, Pimples, Itchy Skin, get quick relief with ADLERIKA. Thorough in action yet entirely gentle and safe.

Play at District 30.

A play entitled "Beards on a String" will be given by the community young people at the Hillsdale school district No. 30, next Wednesday evening at 7:30. The date is Dec. 23, and everybody is invited to attend.

Davis & Vogeltanz, Attorneys. NOTICE OF HEARING FOR DETERMINATION OF HEIRSHIP IN THE COUNTY COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA.

In The Matter Of The Estate Of Frantiska Kerchal, Deceased.

The State of Nebraska: To all persons interested in said estate, creditors and heirs take notice, that Flomena Kerchal has filed her petition in said court alleging that Frantiska Kerchal died intestate in Ord on July 27, 1934, being a resident and inhabitant of Valley County, Nebraska and the owner in fee of the following described real estate, to-wit: An undivided one-fourth interest in Lots 5 and 6 in Block 2, in Haskell's Addition to Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, leaving as her sole and only heirs at law the following named persons, to-wit:

Louis Penas, Sr., Antonia Lukesh Anna Bazant, Flomena Kerchal and Frances Janicek.

That said petitioner is interested in said real estate as an heir at law of said deceased.

And praying for determination of the time of the death of said decedent, determination of the heirs of said decedent, the degree of kinship and the right of descent of the real property belonging to said decedent, for a decree barring claims and demands that said decedent died intestate; that no application for administration has been made and the estate of said decedent has not been administered in the State of Nebraska, and that the heirs at law of said decedent as herein set forth shall be decreed to have succeeded to the ownership in fee simple of the above described real estate.

Said matter has been set for hearing before me on the 10th day of December, A. D. 1936, at the hour of 10 o'clock, A. M., of said day, in the county court room at Ord, Nebraska.

Dated at Ord, Nebraska, this 10th day of December, A. D. 1936. JOHN L. ANDERSEN, County Judge of Valley County, Nebraska Dec. 17-3t

Munn & Norman, Lawyers. Order And Notice For Appointment of Administratrix In The County Court of Valley County, Nebraska. STATE OF NEBRASKA.)

Whereas, Stella Petty of said county, has filed in my office her petition praying that letters of administration upon the estate of Laura S. Ollis, deceased, late of said county, may be issued to Stella Petty of Ord, Nebraska, in said county, whereupon, I have appointed Tuesday the fifth day of January, 1937, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at my office in said county, as the time and place of hearing said petition, at which time and place all persons interested may appear and show cause why said letters should not be granted as prayed for in said petition.

It is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to all persons interested in said estate of the pendency of the petition, and the time and place set for hearing the same, by causing a copy of this order to be published in The Ord Quiz, a legal weekly newspaper published in said county and of general circulation therein, three successive weeks previous to the day set for said hearing.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and official seal this fourteenth day of December, 1936.

JOHN L. ANDERSEN, County Judge. Dec. 17-3t

Munn & Norman, Lawyers. NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE. ## C. A. Hager Death In Boston Terrible Blow to Ord People

Prominent Ord Man Was Believed Recovering When Death Message Came.

Chauncey A. Hager sr., was born July 29, 1871 at Farmington, Pa., and died at Boston, Mass., December 19, 1936, being at the time of his death, 65 years, 4 months and 20 days of age.

Mr. Hager grew to manhood at the parental home near Farmington and was educated there and as a young man came to York county, Nebraska where he lived three years, met and married Janie Moul, and they came to Ord at once to establish their home. Mr. Hager taught school for the first few years after coming to Ord, working on Springdale farms in vacation time.

While at this work he was induced by Daniel Burke, who was salesman for the Standard Stock Food Company of Omaha, to take up the work of selling the same product and he soon became so proficient at the salesman job that he succeeded Mr. Burke, becoming district manager when Mr. Burke engaged in the lumber business. Mr. Hager sold stock food for several years. Later he engaged in the real estate and insurance business, invested his savings in land until he became a heavy land owner both in Valley county and in the western part of the state also.

He maintained a land and insurance office for many years and a dozen or so years ago changed the name to The Hager Agency and took in as partners J. G. Hastings and James Ollis, the firm being one of the strong business institutions of Ord.

Mr. Hager served as member of the school board and in other minor offices in the city, was always active in the Methodist church, being long on the official board, was a bank director and a director in the Protective Savings & Loan association. He served as a director and secretary of the fair board years ago, had for several years been a director of the chamber of commerce, and all down through the years he has been identified with every movement for the betterment of the community, the county and the state, and his advice was often sought by those interested in establishing new businesses.

No man could have passed who will be more missed by business associates or more sincerely mourned by all who knew him, than will Mr. Hager.

The Quiz has told in recent issues of his going east to undergo examination in the clinic where his son is associated; of how it was thought he was recovering as fast as could be expected. Only Sunday morning, Dec. 20, inquiry elicited the information that while they had not heard for some hours, they believed he was gaining. Then an hour later the message came saying he was dead.

The remains arrived in Ord Wednesday morning, being met in Grand Island by the Sowl service. Funeral services were held at the home at 10:30, his pastor, Rev. Mearl C. Smith, having charge and interment was in the Ord cemetery.

Deceased is survived by his wife, by one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Miller and by one son, Dr. Chauncey A. Hager, jr., of Boston, Mass.; by three brothers, John and Jake Hager of Pennsylvania and Harry Hager of Florida; by two sisters, Eliza Hager of Florida and Martha Weller of Pennsylvania, and by many friends.

Fair Dates Set For Aug. 24-27

Directors of the Loup Valley Agricultural Society held their regular mid-winter meeting last week and fixed Tuesday to Friday, August 24 to 27, as dates for the 1937 Valley county fair and auto races. Secretary S. W. Roe was elected delegate to the annual state convention of fair managers, with Henry Enger and Edward Kokes as alternates. Henry Jorgensen who is leaving soon for Bruning, resigned as a director but his successor has not yet been named.

Carolers Sing at Homes.

Over twenty grade school and junior high children were driven in cars to a number of homes in the community Monday evening where they sang numerous Christmas carols. Included in the group of carolers were Elizabeth Kovanda, Dorothy Kokes, Junior Larkin, Darlene Carlson, Lillian Rutar, Raymond Vogelitz, Billy Fafelta, Irene Auble, Margaret Petka, Maxine Sorensen, and Jean Carlson. Cars for the group were driven by Mrs. Emil Fafelta, Alfred Hill, Miss Inez Swain and Mr. Eddy. Miss Elliott and Miss Swain were in charge.

Xmas Carols Sung By M. E. Choir

The annual program of Christmas music was given Sunday at the Methodist church. The church choir of 23 voices was under the direction of Mrs. Mearl C. Smith with Mrs. Robert E. Noll as pianist. The program was well attended and appreciated.

A trio with Dorothy Jobst, Mrs. E. O. Carlson, and LeRoy Frazier as members sang "All My Night This Heart Rejoices" by Gebhardt. "And There Were Shepherds" by Wilson was the title of the selection presented by Dick Koupal and Allen Zikmund in a duet arrangement. Mrs. Mark Tolen sang the beautiful "In A Manger Lowly" by Daniels as a soprano solo.

"There's A Song in the Air" by Harrington was given by a girls' trio with Misses Dorothy Auble, Joy Auble, and Ruth Auble as members. A men's chorus presented two selections, "O'er Bethlehem's Plains" by Parks and "Silent Night" by Gruber-Moore. Dorothy Jobst, Virginia Cummins, Maxine Haskell and Wauneta Cummins made up the ladies' quartette which sang "Gloria" an old French carol.

The ladies' chorus under the direction of Mrs. Mearl C. Smith did exceptionally fine work with two numbers "Gesu Bambino" by Yon with the solo arrangement being sung by LeRoy Frazier and "Hark Now O Shepherds" by Luvaas, a Moravian carol from the 14th century. Mrs. Mark Tolen, Glen Auble, and J. R. Stoltz made up the mixed trio which sang "Star of Bethlehem" by Petrie.

The evening of Christmas music was brought to a close with the singing of the anthem, "Shepherds' Vision" by Rosa, by the entire choir. Flute obligato for this selection was played by Miss Joy Auble.

William Rendell Dies at Age of 71

William Rendell was born in England, Aug. 16, 1865, and died at his home near North Loup on Davis Creek, Sunday Dec. 19, being 71 years, 4 months and 4 days of age at the time of his death. As a young man of twenty he came to this country in 1885. He was married to Maria Gumb January 20, 1895. To this union seven children were born, one daughter dying in infancy. The surviving children are Morris E. Rendell, (Ord; Elsie B. Lee, Sterling, Colo.; Ellen E. Jeffrie, North Loup; Gayle Hayes, Sterling, Colo.; Anna Schult, North Loup and Wilberta Rendell, Sterling, Colo. Other relatives are a brother, Samuel Rendell, Saginaw, Mich., and two sisters living in England.

The Rendells came to Davis Creek in 1898, and he has lived on the farm there ever since. He strove to make himself useful in the community and held several positions of trust. For some time he was a board member of the school in Dist. 43. He affiliated with the Davis Creek United Brethren church, and in the work of the church he was made superintendent of the Sunday school for several years. He also held the position of trustee of the church over a period of years. He was a member of the Modern Woodman lodge. The funeral was held from the Davis Creek U. B. church yesterday, Dec. 23.

Rev. L. E. Reger, pastor of the United Brethren church, had charge of the services, and the body was laid to rest in the North Loup cemetery. The pall bearers were John Williams, William Eglehoff, Ernest Johnson, Edward Jeffries, Will King and Joe Fisher. A male quartet consisting of Allan Tappan, Paul White, Glenn Eglehoff and Bert Cummins sang several selections, with Mrs. Clifford Collins at the piano. Mr. Bendell was a man who did much for his fellow men, and was highly respected by those who knew him best.

Court House News.

Joe Zulkoski was arraigned in Judge John L. Andersen's court on Dec. 17, on a complaint filed Dec. 16 charging him with giving a no-fund check. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was fined $20 and costs amounting to $9.45, which he paid.

A license was issued by County Judge John L. Andersen on Dec. 17 to Leonard L. Christoffersen and Alice J. McClaughan, both of Ord. At the present time the ceremony has not been performed.

Anna D. Sedlacek was declared mentally deranged Saturday, and because of crowded conditions at Ingleside, the county was compelled to send her to Green Gables sanitarium at Lincoln. She was committed to the asylum once before about seven years ago. It is understood that her present condition is due to financial worries. It is hoped that the state legislature will see the need of improving the condition of the buildings at Ingleside. The cost at Green Gables will be more than double what it would be at the state institution, and it must all be borne by the county.

30 Bids On File, No. Loup's Biggest Letting Is Today

Officials Anxious To Finish Letting, Then Hurry Away For Xmas Holidays.

Thirty separate bids from a group of construction firms that includes some of the largest in the United States are on file at the offices of the North Loup project and this morning directors will open the bids and let contracts for digging of 68 miles of main canal.

Probably 75 or more men interested in the letting will be in Ord today, the group including contractors' representatives, state and national PWA officials, state highway department officials, agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Black & Veatch engineers and others.

Because tomorrow is Christmas and many of the men who come here today will have to drive long distances to spend the holiday with their families, directors of the district will rush the letting through with all speed possible.

On October 1 a contract for the first ten miles of canal was let to Litwiller Bros., of Seward, and this stretch of canal is now nearing completion. Work will start in January on contracts awarded today.

Construction of the first ten miles is costing the district about $1,000 per mile. District officials decline to estimate what the low bid today will be but point out that, although more contractors are bidding, some of the canal is in hilly country and much more dirt moving will be involved.

Units on which bids have been filed to be let today, are:

- Ord-North Loup canal, 6.36 miles.
- Burwell-Sumter canal, 12.75 miles.
- Burwell-Sumter canal, 12.73 miles.
- Taylor-Ord canal, 15 miles.
- Taylor-Ord canal, 19.15 miles.
- Taylor pump line, main lateral, 3.20 miles.

All canal in the district except the 10 miles already under construction is to be let today, unless directors reject some of the bids.

Next letting, probably some time in January, will be for cross drainage ditches and structures. E. H. Dunmire, engineer-manager of the district, said Tuesday that he is anxious to get this work underway at the earliest date possible because it will furnish so much hand labor. Much concrete culvert is involved and it is thought the successful bidder can be induced to install machinery and make this at Ord, thereby furnishing work for local men.

In all likelihood work on big structures such as bridges and diversion dams cannot start until early spring.

Kruml Rotary Speaker.

Dr. J. G. Kruml made an interesting talk before the Rotary club Monday evening, telling about his October hunting trip in the Rainy River district of Canada for ducks, deer and moose. It was the most enjoyable vacation of his life, Dr. Kruml says. E. H. Dunmire is a new Rotary member and spoke briefly Monday eve.

Ord Postoffice In New Classification

The Ord postoffice will advance to the $15,000 class in 1937 by virtue of having more than that volume of business in 1936. The office was in the $12,000 class in 1936, and went over the top for the new classification some time last week. This fact is very gratifying to Postmaster Hill as well as to the entire force, and can be taken to mean that business conditions are getting better. Postmaster Hill will receive a salary increase of $100 annually beginning in January.

Banquet to Honor Ord Team and Ken McGinnis Dec. 29th

C. of C., Rotary Club, Will Be Sponsors; Harold Petz to Show Movies.

Tuesday evening, Dec. 29, has been definitely decided upon as the date for a banquet honoring members of Ord's Loup valley and Mid-Six championship football team and Kenneth McGinnis, Ord boy who starred on the University of Nebraska team this year. Sponsors of the banquet will be the Ord chamber of commerce and the Rotary club.

HAROLD PETZ.

The banquet will be held at the high school auditorium, starting at 8:30. John P. Misko, chamber of commerce president, will be master of ceremonies. Thorne's Cafe will cook and serve the banquet. A program feature will be a talk by Harold Petz, former star end on the Cornhusker team and now a member of the coaching staff there. Petz will show movies of the Minnesota, Pittsburg, Kansas Aggie, Oregon State and other football games played by the University of Nebraska team this autumn.

All men and boys are cordially invited to attend this banquet, by means of which the community will publicly honor a number of local boys in whom Ord feels great pride. Tickets will be on sale today at the Beranek drug store and from chamber of commerce members who will canvass the business district. The committee in charge is Glen Auble, Ed Beranek and Orville Sowl.

Coroner's Jury Finds Manasil Drove Too Fast; No Prosecution Planned

Hundreds Attend Funeral Rites For Accident Victim

Betty Rogers Laid to Rest Tuesday Afternoon; Her Schoolmates Attend.

In the presence of a crowd of friends numbered in the hundreds, simple funeral rites were held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon for Betty Rogers, 12 years old, who was instantly killed Saturday, Dec. 19 when struck by an automobile driven by Leonard Manasil, of Burwell. High school boys were pallbearers and 7th grade schoolmates of the little accident victim attended in a group.

Betty was the youngest child and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rogers of Ord and was born here on Dec. 16, 1924. Her entire life was spent in this community and her circle of friends was unusually large for a child of her years. Though quiet and unassuming, she had that natural friendliness unspoiled by affectation, which everyone loves so much.

She was one of the most regular and punctual members of the Methodist Sunday school and had missed scarcely a day since she started attendin- as a small child. Some of Betty's most prized possessions were trophies given for unbroken yearly attendance.

In the Ord schools also Betty's popularity was great and her schoolmates and teachers alike were stricken by deep sadness Saturday evening when news of her tragic death became known.

Betty's devotion to her family, her mother, father and brother, was much stronger than usually seen in a child her age. Particularly noticeable to others was the companionship with her brother, John, two years older. They were inseparable companions, even after they reached the age when such companionship is rare.

She was an ambitious child, always looking for ways to help her mother at home and to earn money by outside labors such as taking a newspaper route, in the course of which work she made dozens of adult friends who admired her personality and her industry.

Besides her mother, father and brother, John, she is mourned by two grandmothers, Mrs. John C. Rogers, of Ord, and Mrs. Charles Mills, of Burwell, as well as by several aunts, uncles and other more distant relatives.

Rev. Mearl C. Smith conducted the funeral rites Tuesday and a male quartet composed of Dr. F. L. Blessing, Dean Duncan, J. R. Stoltz and E. H. Petty sang. The wealth of flowers sent by friends and admirers were arranged by Mrs. Robert Noll. Pallbearers were Edwin Hitchman, Richard Koupal, Boyd Rose, Russell Rose, Allen and Lloyd Zikmund.

Burial was in the Ord cemetery.

Campfire Girls Repair Old Toys

Paints of all colors, mussy aprons, and lots of shiny, bright toys—these are to be found at the Campfire Girls headquarters in the Dr. C. J. Miller home this week. The entire club has been meeting several times per week for some time to put old, broken toys into shape to be distributed to needy families in Ord on Christmas. It is planned by the Campfire Girls to have a caroling party Christmas Eve. Miss Martha Mae Barta is sponsor of this group of girls.

Improve Springdale Road.

County Surveyor H. O. Strombom says that the county's outfit of tools is being used at the present time over in Springdale. The county put in a fifty foot bridge across Spring Creek and the new bridge required a much higher fill than the old one. The county is furnishing the machinery and machine operators, while the WPA furnishes the teams and the men to handle them. The plan also calls for the rounding of the square corner east of the bridge, the Arnold boys having donated the necessary ground in order to have the work done and the road improved.

Attempted Holdup On Highway Foiled

An attempted holdup occurred on the highway four miles northwest of Ord about 7:30 Tuesday evening. A liquor salesman named Ross, who works out of Grand Island, was coming down from Burwell, and noticed a car stopped beside the road and a man standing near it. Thinking it might be some one in need of help he slowed his car down as he approached, at the same time picking up his 32 caliber revolver, which he keeps on the seat beside him when driving at night. As he stopped the car the man stepped up to the open window. Ross asked him if he was in trouble, and he replied, "No it's a holdup" at the same time reaching for the handle of the door. Ross fired, hitting him, he thinks, in the shoulder. The man had a gun in his hand, which was discharged, the bullet ranging backward along the side of the car. He also dropped the gun. At this time another man stuck his head out of the stalled car. Ross took a shot at him, and drove off, the second man taking several shots at him, one of which hit the car. Mr. Ross drove into Ord and reported to Sheriff Round, who at once went out to look over the ground for possible clues. He also notified to watch for a man needing the services of a doctor. Ross stopped at Petska & Mchalek's and while there reloaded his revolver, which Ed says was a very businesslike article. When the sheriff got back to town Ross had gone on to Greeley. His story is undoubtedly true, as the marks of the bullets were on the car, and if the man was as badly hit as Ross thought he was, it is likely that he may be found. The job has the earmarks of being done by local talent, as experts would hardly take a chance of holding up a traveler who might not have any money to pay them for the risk they run.

Other surviving relatives are her brothers, Joseph John, Eugene, Gre, John and Jacob John, of Ord, and James John, of Omaha; her sisters, Mrs. Frank Koupal of Ord and Mrs. Frank Kosmata, of Central City. Mrs. Novotny had been ill for the past five years, but had borne her afflictions with patience.

Mrs. Mary Novotny Is Buried Monday

Mary Borovka was born in Bohemia Jan. 17, 1863, and passed away at her home in Ord Dec. 15, 1936, being 73 years, 1 month and 1 day of age at the time of her death. She came to America in 1891, and was married to Joseph Novotny in Valley county in January, 1894. The surviving children are Mrs. Mary Hrdy, Walthill, Nebr., Miss Anna Novotny, Ord, and Charles Novotny, Kimball, Nebr.

The funeral services were held from the Sowl chapel Monday afternoon, Dec. 21, at one o'clock, Rev. Filipi of Clarkson having charge of the services. The pallbearers were Frank Kokes, Wilham Lukes, Frank Krikac, J. S. Vodehnal, A. F. Kosmata, and Albert Lukes. Interment was in the Ord Bohemian cemetery.

Miss McClatchey At State Convention

Miss McClatchey attended the state superintendents association last week, going down in her car Tuesday morning, and returning Friday. She reports a very enjoyable and profitable session. One thing is certain, and was agreed upon at the meeting, and that is that teachers salaries, while very low as compared with a few years ago, will not be raised in the near future. In fact only two of the entire session seemed to favor an attempted raise.

The superintendents were unanimous in opposition to taking normal training out of the schools at the present time. A very clever program which the session attended was that put on by the WPA recreation center. This is a marionette show which was built entirely by unemployed young people and is so good that Miss McClatchey hopes to be able to have them put on a performance in Ord next spring, if it can be done without too much expense.

A number of the superintendents were the guests of Dr. Rosenlof in his home Wednesday evening. Those present were from Broken Bow, Hastings, Nelson, Red Cloud, Beatrice, Albion Bridgeport and Ord. Dr. Rosenlof is an instructor in the University of Nebraska.

Betty Rogers, 12 Was Hit By Auto Saturday, Killed

Burwell Man Lost Control Of Car on Curve, Struck Tree, Then Girl.

Little Betty Rogers, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn W. Rogers, is dead.

At 6:00 Saturday evening she skipped happily home with a Christmas tree, planning to decorate it when she finished her evening task of delivering copies of a Grand Island newspaper to residents of west Ord.

An hour later Betty lay dead on the pavement of No. 11 highway, her face mangled beyond recognition. She was struck down by a car driven by Leonard Manasil, of Burwell, which entered Ord from the west at terrific speed, skidded from the paving, struck a bank, bounced ten feet into the air, caromed from a tree and hit Betty, who was just crossing the street.

Apparently she was killed instantly. Examination of the body by doctors after it was removed to the Sowl funeral parlors established that no bones were broken and that her death was due to the head injury. Evidently the Manasil car struck her as it flew through the air after striking the tree.

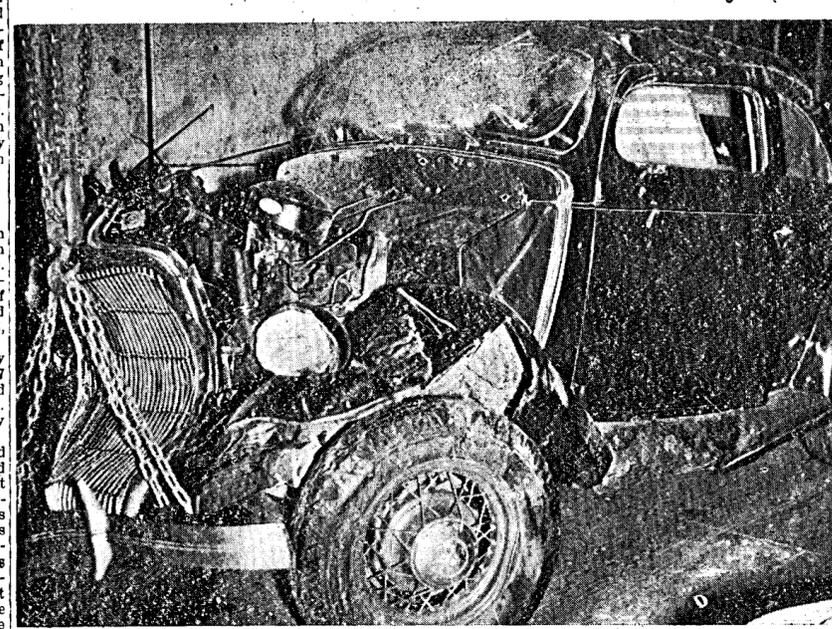

Tuesday evening a coroner's jury, after investigating the case, officially found that the little girl was killed by the Manasil car, but recommended that no criminal charges be filed.

It was the most tragic accident Ord has known in many years, more shocking in many respects than the little Wolf boy's death during the auto races in August.

There was not a single eye-witness to the tragedy, in marked contrast to Ord's last auto death which was seen by thousands of people attending the races.

Death Car . . . It Struck Girl Down . . . Driver Injured

Here is shown the Leonard Manasil car as it looked thirty minutes after the accident Saturday night in which Betty Rogers was killed. The car had been towed to the Chevrolet garage and this picture was taken by Lavern Duemey for the Quiz. How young Manasil escaped death or more serious injury when the car overturned three times after hitting a bank and a tree is a mystery to all who inspected the death vehicle.

Ord Stores Report Good Evening Trade

Quite a number of shoppers have taken advantage of the Ord stores being open evenings this week and business has been quite good during the evening hours, merchants say. People from a distance have been driving to Ord evenings, probably to see the beautiful Christmas lights which have gained fame all over central Nebraska. Today is the last chance for Christmas shopping and to accommodate last-minute buyers the stores again will stay open this evening. Ord stores will be closed all day tomorrow.

Coming Public Sales

Only public sale advertised in the Quiz for next week is the Nels Hansen sale, which will be held Tuesday, Dec. 29. Mr. Hansen has a splendid offering.

Watch next week's paper for advertising of the big Paul Hughes sale to be held Thursday, January 5, and for advertising of the William Vasicek sale a few days later, to be held over near Comstock.

—Frank Kokes of Burwell was down Wednesday taking treatments from Dr. Lee Nay.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Funny as it may sound, there are some things that I can't understand and one of them is, why dealers in merchandise won't advertise their wares. There are many reasons for doing so and not a single reason for not doing so, that I ever heard of.

I know that Quiz advertising gets results. I propositioned one Ord merchant thusly, I said "If you will use a certain amount of Quiz space each week and allow us to assist in preparing the copy, I will guarantee the results, you to be the judge." Guess the dealer thought he would have to hire more help if the scheme worked, for he didn't take me up on the deal.

Yet he can see his neighbor merchants using liberal space each and every week and several of them have been doing it for several years. They are good business men and successful and it is not likely they would continue to spend thirty or forty or more dollars every month if they didn't get results.

One Ord store has used more than four times as many inches of Quiz space in the last few months. It did formerly, yet its per cent. cost for advertising is smaller than it was formerly, because of the increased business which the advertising brought. Really, advertising is the cheapest thing a merchant can buy if it gets results. To get results it has got to be done right. "Bill Jones has the largest stock of groceries in the Loup Valley" advertising won't pay, but if Bill will handle good groceries, describe them and price them each week and keep everlastingly at it he will get the results he seeks, provided his prices are in line. People do like to be invited to come in and trade. If Bill Jones don't advertise, of course the people know, just the same, that he handles groceries, that is, if they happen to think about him at all, but knowing it just won't bring them in to buy his groceries when someone else is all the time asking them to come and trade elsewhere.

I have talked, recently, with three men who have been on WPA work and I am believing that it was a mistake to not continue this work, at least for the present. Time will be lost and confusion caused, in getting them transferred to some other kind of relief setup, for surely this great government is not going to let these people starve or freeze.

Also, I am wondering if it is not going to be necessary to defer until conditions are better, any great spending of money for the State University and other state schools. Present taxes are greater than the people can pay and taxes will have to be increased just to keep many from suffering. It is too bad that funds are not available for the state schools to do what they really should be able to do and also for the extension of state institutions where a great need exists. I really believe the need in the state institutions other than schools is really the greater need at present.

And I believe that any elective officer, who, in the zeal of the campaign, promised not to support any new kind of tax, should be absolved from his promise. It was foolish for him to make such a promise without first knowing the needs that would be presented. Conditions are different now than they were in warm weather. Crops didn't materialize as we hoped they would when such promises were being made. If, in order to take care of the needy, the special gas tax must be reenacted then that must be done and if it is necessary to increase the gas tax that must be done, new tax or not. Perhaps a gas tax is as fair a way as any to raise the money.

A whole lot of folks who do not have a car and who are living, now on the bare necessities, would be burdened by a sales tax. A few who depend entirely upon their truck or car to live, would be hurt by an increased gas tax. But on the whole I believe the people who buy gas are the best able to pay additional taxes. And the machinery is all set to handle that and no increase of cost of government would be necessary if the tax money needed is raised on gas.

I wish you all a Merry Christmas. I hope the winter will be mild. Surely we were never in better shape to stand a very mild winter.

Harry and his helpers in the back room are spending all available time on the calendars and I am hoping to have them ready to mail to all paid-ups the last days of this month.

Something DIFFERENT

I want to recommend to every Quiz reader the fine article Mr. Kovanda wrote this week. Please turn to "Back Forty" now and read it. I hope some of it sticks with you next time you go for a drive.

Everyone was saddened this week at the horrible death of a dear little girl in an automobile accident on the outskirts of Ord. No one will ever know exactly what happened and just how the tragedy occurred. Every man who visited the scene of the accident reconstructed it differently.

Such a death, almost on the eve of Christmas, and then the injuries sustained by the young driver, will make all of us think about our driving more. What a shame the lesson was so expensive in human life and hurts.

Friends of the little girl, Betty Rogers, have so many nice things to say about her. Nearly twelve years old, she was full of ambition, always trying to help. She and her brother John sold magazines, sold newspapers, delivered them, delivered milk, enjoyed every bit of it. I am told there were no two children in Ord more kind thoughtful and happy.

I am sorry for the young man too. Even if the accident were altogether his fault, I doubt if he needs any further punishment. Don't you think the driver of a car that kills someone always finds it just a little harder to forget it and to find happiness than the rest of us? I doubt if their smiles, their laughs are ever again so gay, or their sleep quite as sound as it was once.

Children surely enjoy Santa Claus. Ord children usually gain a glimpse of him at the churches, and this year were delighted to meet the old fellow in a local store as well.

Who do you nominate for Santa Claus, in Ord or nearby? Who do you think has the best figger for it, the best white chin-whiskers? Who would you select? Mr. Looburrow likes children, has a long beard, but he does not have the "round little belly" that we read about in the Night Before Christmas. . . . he makes a lanky Santa, would have to be upholstered.

Father Lawler has about the correct proportions, don't you think? But no white beard. Joe Pecenka had a cheery personality, quite a good figure for the job too. Emil Fuss' nice white whiskers always made me think of Santa, and J. H. Capron's benevolent beam and facial expression also made me think he would make a good Santa if he had let his mustache grow more and added a beard.

I don't think of Santa as a big man, do you? I think of him as plump, jolly, with very white whiskers. Someone with a cheerful expression; no one with a long face would ever do.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week. C. A. Hager went to Farmington, Pa., to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hager. All the Hager children except the Ord man lived near Farmington and were together for the occasion. Because of the great rush of Christmas traveling, the Burlington train didn't reach Ord until 1:00 a. m. There were 15 coaches out of Aurora, all crowded to capacity.

Mrs. E. C. James and six children went to David City to spend the holidays. Otto Murschel was appointed state pure food commissioner and was moving his family to Lincoln. Dr. and Mrs. O'Neill arrived in Ord to take over Dr. Barta's practice while he spent several months taking postgraduate work in Chicago.

Rodney Speltz, famous Burwell speed demon who had figured in several auto crashes, hit a lamp post in Ord at the conclusion of a trip which he claimed was made in 40 minutes.

Among Ord college and university students home for the holidays were Helen McComas, Floyd Collins, Henrietta Hawkins, Mable Smith, Zerna Haskell, Helen Corlett, Mary Mickelwait, George and Louise Misko, Emanuel and Lydia Gruber Robert Glover, Cecil Staple and Leonard Blessing.

Lee Nay, who had been out in Colorado working, returned to Ord. He spent several weeks with his parents while in Denver.

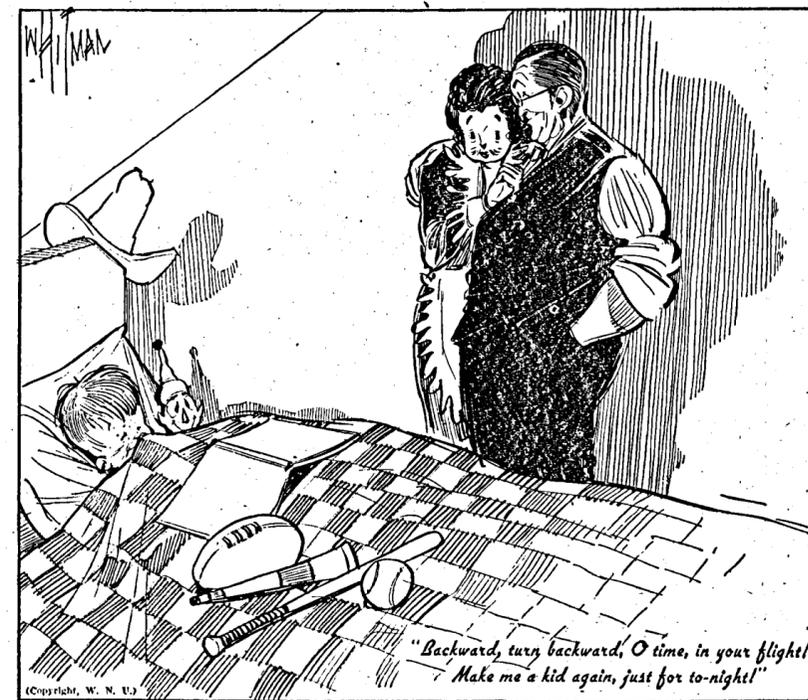

Walter Jorgensen broke an arm while cranking a car. 25 Years Ago This Week. Hundreds of snowbirds were found lying dead on the streets after a heavy snow storm. Seldom seen here in great numbers, it was thought a flight of these little finches came from the north just ahead of the storm.

Friends of old Bill Wearage gave him a happy Christmas by presenting him with a complete outfit of warm new clothing.

S. K. Jorgensen was badly hurt when thrown from a wagon box, landing on his head on a rail near the Union Pacific stock yards. His skull was fractured and he came close to having a broken neck.

Christmas Night

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

When folks start out for an automobile drive in the evening, their chances of getting into an accident are 4.4 times greater than they are in the daytime. This is the estimate of an engineer who reports that although three-fourths of the driving is done during the day, there are many more accidents at night.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

At a recent meeting of the Fortnightly club of North Loup, the program was of the customary feature of the season; simply a Christmas festival, an exchange of gifts, a program but no lesson. Two short plays were given, both written by Myra Thorgate Barber, one a light skit similar to Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, and the other a sad story of a woman who lost her baby and gave the blanket that the baby had slept in, the one remaining memento, to the Christ Child.

The last play was a very touching bit of drama written by our local artist, and had several of the audience weeping throughout the afternoon. The ladies were so pleased with it and the delectable sad pathos produced that the play was repeated at the parent teachers meeting and is to be given again at prayer meeting at the S. D. B. church Friday night so as to bring tears and sadness to other wise happy souls.

So disgusted with the afternoon was my wife that she wished she had not attended the meeting. Having once gone through the actuality of losing a fine child did not by any means bring her to the point of wanting to repeat the ordeal, even if it only was in pretense. The spirit and tenor of good cheer, happiness and Merry Christmas was entirely submerged. Fully appreciating the ability of the author in writing the skit in itself did not make it pleasant for my wife.

Some people enjoy to be sad, apparently. At a recent movie, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, the heroes were killed off nearly to the last man, and still the house was packed and repacked. A girl I knew, once in telling of a movie said, "Oh it was just wonderful. I sat through two shows. I cried all the time." And so it was with the play of Mrs. Barber. It must have been fine. It has been repeated twice and perhaps more. They must like it. Yes they must. But not I. They need not worry. There's one prayer meeting where I'll just stay at home and read about Old Scrooge and Tiny Tim.

No Presents.

I presume Mrs. Barber will simply say, raising her eye brow slightly, "Ah hum, he can't do so well anyhow," and true enough I can't. I can't and shall not try to make folks weep throughout the afternoon, but I know a man (I'll not mention his name) who did not believe in Christmas. He was a tall slender man with deep creases on his cheeks and forehead. He was a poor man too and worried from his poor pay and long hours having little time with his family. Some three weeks or more before the Yuletide, when his wife was fussing over presents he turned and informed her, "Now look here old woman, there's one person that you don't need to worry your head about. That's me. Don't buy me a darned thing. Get the daughter a few presents if you have to but you and I will dispense with the foolishness."

He helped her with the dishes that night and then she reached up on a self and took down a book and they read of Old Scrooge and Tiny Tim, who, "bore a little crutch and had his limbs supported by an iron frame . . . as good as gold," said Bob, his father. Somehow he gets thoughtful, sitting by himself so much and thinks the strangest things you ever heard. He told me coming home that he hoped the people saw him in the church, because he was a cripple, and it might be pleasant to them to remember upon Christmas day, Who made lame beggars walk and blind to see."

He went along his way, happy in the thoughts that his Christmas would be different than heretofore—buying foolish things for the wife she didn't need and she spending his money on nicknacks he never wanted like hair brushes, book-ends or shaving lotion. He believed he had dozens of book-ends, and dozen more wild colored neckties or socks that were too small. All Christmas foolishness. He had a satisfaction in seeing other people lugging home great boxes wrapped in colored paper and he being exempt from the ordeal.

Yes he was quite happy with his Christmas throughout the season until one day his daughter sought him out and pled that he buy a certain dress that hung in a certain store window on the street. Her mother had expressed herself as how pretty it was. "No," he stormed, "she'll have to make over an old one, go on home and forget it."

But as he passed that store each day he saw the dress, a navy blue affair with a small white collar that buttoned high and each day he tried to look away and forget it and hope it would be sold but it was not and he envisaged each time how nice she would look in it and tried to think it would not be so nice after all. She looked quite fair anyway in her made over dresses, made over time and again, and that was cheaper.

And then the 24th came. They had heard of the little play to be given at the church. They thought they might go but the wife refused with her slazy dress, and he with his tacky suit. It worried him all day as he worked those long hard hours on the irrigation ditch. He might have gone home another way but again that evening he passed the store with the blue dress. There it was yet, chic and clean as ever, and he remembered how his wife used to look long ago before they were married without the wrinkles on her face or the silver in the golden hair.

He was about to walk on when a couple of ladies stopped and began talking of the dress. They were stylish ladies and they considered buying it. Our friend reached for his purse, glanced and noted he had enough money to buy it and a dime to spare. He hurried in and made the purchase with a light heart and spring in his step he hastened home. "Mother," he said, "This is just a Christmas present. It's just a necessity. Here's a dress for you. Put it on and go to the play."

"Yes it is", she cried with delight, "It is a Christmas present. I'll make it that, and daddy dear, we'll both go tonight. I've a Christmas present for you too. Won't it be nice. It's been so long since we've gone together." She went to the closet and brought out a big flat box. "A suit for you Daddy. We've been saving nickles for a year for it. We did not know what to do when you said no presents."

The happy story would end here. It seems quite fitting we should not go on but still we must. Our heroine scampered to the bedroom and suddenly she came back. "I can't go tonight," she sobbed. "The dress has to be altered a little, daddy dear and I haven't time. The size is forty-two. I only wear thirty-two, you know."

No, this is not a sad story with a tragic ending. They did not know as you and I, patient reader, the nature of the play they missed. It was a sad story of death and sacrifice. They did not know that the spirit of cheer and merry Christmas were more complete in their home by the fire.

He helped her with the dishes that night and then she reached up on a self and took down a book and they read of Old Scrooge and Tiny Tim, who, "bore a little crutch and had his limbs supported by an iron frame . . . as good as gold," said Bob, his father. Somehow he gets thoughtful, sitting by himself so much and thinks the strangest things you ever heard. He told me coming home that he hoped the people saw him in the church, because he was a cripple, and it might be pleasant to them to remember upon Christmas day, Who made lame beggars walk and blind to see."

Slippery roads may also be a reason for the swollen accident toll in winter. But the proportion of auto deaths is higher in many southern cities where ice never ventures, than in some of the worst snow-bound towns of the north. Whatever the cause, a checking up on lights and brakes, and a little slowing down may prevent such mishaps. In the next four weeks, over the United States, around 600 people will be killed in automobile accident, if last year's record is kept up. It's worth some precautions to keep one's name off that list.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM

If there is anything that helps as many different dishes to be delicious as onions, I would like to know what it is. This lowly and often scorned vegetable is inexpensive, easy to find in the stores any time of year, easy to prepare. It is good in fruit salads, yes it is. It is good in vegetable salads, in almost every meat dish, in many sandwiches, as a vegetable in its own right. A year or two ago we ran a recipe for onion shortcake, served between biscuit layers, it was good too, rich and filling. Onions are good with liver, with bacon, good fried, excellent French fried. How do you prepare them? May we have the recipe to print, please?

Mazotte.

Fry five good sized onions in about one-eighth pound of butter. Add one can tomatoes, one can of peas, one-half pound cream cheese cut in small pieces, one pound of hamburger. Let simmer two hours, or more. Salt and pepper to taste. Prepare one package of flat noodles in boiling water, cooking twenty minutes, then strain and blanch. Just before serving add the noodles, place in a dish, grate cheese over the top and brown.

Cabbage Rolls.

Boil one small cabbage in salted water until the leaves are soft enough to roll without breaking, drain and cool. Cut the leaves into small squares. Mix together one cup uncooked rice, one minced onion, one pound ground steak, one beaten egg, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one and one-half teaspoons salt in a mixing bowl. Put a heaping teaspoon of the mixture on each square of cabbage and roll. Have ready a large kettle of boiling water, salted, and put into it a colander for keeping the rolls off the bottom of the kettle, as they burn easily. Lay them carefully in the colander,

I have water enough in the kettle to cover them. Cover and boil slowly for forty-five minutes or until the rice is done. Serve with drawn butter sauce.

Mrs. H. M. Grady, Shepherd Pie. Peel and chop an onion, fry in butter until golden brown. Add about one pound coarsely chopped cold beef or mutton. Season with salt, pepper. Line a greased baking dish with mashed potatoes and fill up with the meat mixture, over which pour meat stock or gravy to moisten. Cover with a layer of mashed potatoes, brush over the top with milk or a beaten egg yolk. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes.

Marble Cake.

Mix in the order given, two beaten eggs, one and one-half cups sugar, one and one-half cups sour cream, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda dissolved in the cream, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla, two cups of flour. Color one-third of the batter any desired shade, add a spoonful occasionally as the batter is placed in the baking tins.

Farmer Up in the Air.

Hay Springs is on the route back as the town with a lot of interest in airplanes. Last week Albert Hagedorn, well known farmer who lives just southwest of town, purchased a Curtiss Junior plane which he plans to fly shortly. Mr. Hagedorn has been taking lessons in flying at Alliance for some time now, and hopes to be able to fly his ship within a few months.

The plane Mr. Hagedorn purchased is a pusher type, with a top speed of 80 miles an hour. This type ship furnishes a lot of pleasure for enthusiastic beginning pilots.—Hay Springs News.

Women Always Get the Blame.

SIDNEY—Six months ago Fred Burchit stole an automobile in Sidney. Later he abandoned it but left a girl's picture behind. Police traced the girl to her home in Santa Ana, Calif., and then adopted a policy of watchful waiting. Last week Burchit appeared at his sweetheart's home. He was arrested and returned here. He admitted the theft and was sent to the reformatory for two years.—Alliance Times Herald.

Peace on Earth Goodwill Toward Men

At this gay and busy season we like to stop just a minute to remember our many blessings. Among them we would surely name first our many friends.

Let us remember too, the real meaning of Christmas. The spirit of that day is a precious one, so easily overlooked. Let us be generous to those less fortunate. Let us be thankful for what we have.

In the spirit of that First Birthday, let us sing, and mean it:

"Peace on earth, good will toward men!"

Funeral services for Clyde Currie, a former North Loup resident who passed away Dec. 11, in Brighton, Colo., were held at the Friends church Monday afternoon. Rev. Claud Hill of the Seventh Day Baptist church conducted the service. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet.

Clyde Derby Currie was born in Yates Center, Kas., Dec. 4, 1875 and passed away Dec. 11, 1936 in Brighton, Colo. In 1899 he went to Washington county, Kas., where he married Miss Lucy Baker. Mr. and Mrs. Currie moved to North Loup in 1905 and in 1907 Mr. Currie became the manager of the North Loup telephone company. From that time until 1928, with the exception of three years, he held the same position. Since 1928 he has made his home in Derby, Colo. Left to mourn his loss are his wife, Mrs. Lucy Currie, two sons Nelson D. and Harold G. Currie, one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Redlon, all of Derby, Colo., a niece, Mrs. Clifford Hawks of North Loup; three sisters, Miss Ethel Currie and Mrs. Alice Wilson of Fontana, Kas., and Mrs. Florence Weidlein of Los Angeles, Calif.; two brothers, Robert Currie of Bendena, Kas., and Sam E. Currie of Larned, Kas.; one grandson and numerous nieces and nephews and many friends in North Loup and Derby.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sayre and daughter Helen spent the week end in Lexington with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thorpe.

Plenty Action in Junior-Senior Basketball Tilt

"Going! Going! Go---!" There was action aplenty at the interclass basketball tourney last week as the seniors swamped the junior quint 29-10 in the finals to take the championship. In this photoflash picture snapped by Lavern Duemey, Harold Stone, senior forgyard had just shot the ball and Robert Williamson was having a hard time getting out from the jumble of legs formed by senior and junior players who were edging under the basket.

The S. D. B. Woman's Missionary society met with Mrs. W. J. Hemphill Tuesday.

Miss Viola Everett, who was called to Omaha last week because of the illness of a cousin, returned home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vodehnal and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bailey entertained seven tables of bridge Monday evening at the Vodehnal home.

Jack Currie and his sister, Mrs. Ernest Redlon, accompanied the body of their father here from Brighton, Colo. They arrived Monday morning.

The annual Christmas meeting and gift exchange of the Portnightly club was held last Thursday at the country home of Mrs. Frank Schudel. The program was in charge of the courtesy committee under the direction of Mr. I. J. Thelin. Two plays, written by Mrs. Myra T. Barber were presented. A saxophone solo by Mrs. Wm. Schudel, a piano duet by Mrs. Arthur Hutchins and Mrs. George Hutchins and the singing of a number of Christmas carols by the club, completed the program. Santa Claus then visited the ladies and left them each a nice gift. Delicious refreshments of sherbet, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Milligan of Dix, Colo., have come to North Loup to spend the remainder of the winter with his mother.

Those from out of town who came for the Hubert Weed funeral last Wednesday were Floyd and Harry Thrasher of Big Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Eystone and two daughters and Mrs. Boyd of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Post, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Unger and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Waddington of Cairo.

Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Hill were in Arcadia Sunday where Rev. Hill filled the pulpit at the M. E. church again.

Mrs. Josephine Abney expects to leave Thursday for Lohrville, Ia., to spend the rest of the winter with a cousin there.

Only thirteen members of the 20th Century club were present at their meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. Roy Knapp. The lesson on "Fitting the dress", was given by the leaders. Mrs. Floyd Hutchins presided in the absence of Miss Viola Everett. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Geo. Hutchins.

Mrs. Elvin Barnhart who underwent an operation for goitre in Omaha recently has returned home. Mrs. Alvin Tucker is helping at the Barnhart home temporarily.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Christensen visited his parents in Arcadia Tuesday.

The Nellie Shaw society of the S. D. B. church held an oyster supper and apron sale at the church Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Seegrift of Alliance are parents of a son, Richard Gail, born Sunday, Dec. 13. Mrs. Seegrift is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Weed.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Hutchins and Richard were Grand Island visitors Tuesday.

The Ben Nelson family were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Knapp Monday evening.

Mrs. Lloyd Manchester and daughter Connie and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Horner were up to Ord to see Mrs. Ernest Horner Sunday. Mrs. Roy Cox, who has been caring for her daughter has returned home and Delpha Williams is doing the work for the Ernest Horner's.

Last Thursday evening the Community club gave their annual banquet for the football team. Miss Blomenkamp and the domestic science girls served the banquet. George Hutchins acted as toastmaster. Representatives from various organizations and from the team made short talks as follows: Rev. C. L. Hill for the churches, Roy Hudson for the business men, Mr. W. D. Bailey for the school, Coach Wills and Everett Manchester for the team.

John Davis and Clifford Goodrich took George Pierce to York Monday where he entered the I. O. O. F. home.

Mrs. Elna Hurley and daughter Colleen left Friday for Parkdale, Ore., to be with Mrs. Clyda Chadwick who expected to go to a hospital soon for an examination and possibly an operation. They expect to stay until after Christmas.

Howard Beagle Here After 50 Years Finds Ord Changed For The Better

Howard Beagle, who as a young man spent the years from 1882 to 1888 as a resident of Valley county, returned last week on purpose to visit the scenes of his childhood and renew old acquaintances. He was the son of Henry Beagle and the family first lived over in the neighborhood of the Yale school house, where Howard attended school for a time. Among his old school mates there were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Williams and Mrs. Alec Norman of Ord, and Deo Hawley, of Arcadia. Mrs. Norman's name at that time was Nina Saville.

Mr. Beagle took the time to hunt up all these people, none of whom knew him at first but all of whom were delighted to welcome him back to the old town. Of the rest of the youngsters who attended the school there, all are gone. It was a sod school house, of which there were several in the county at the time. He now lives near Vancouver, Wash., where he owns a couple of farms, and is in position to end his days in comfort.

His father, Henry Beagle, was sheriff of Valley county in 1888, which as you may recall was the year of the great blizzard. A reference to the county records through the courtesy of the clerk's office discloses the fact that the following were the other county officials at the time: Clerk, J. A. Patton; Treasurer, Abe Trout; Judge, A. A. Laverly; Superintendent, S. A. Parks; Surveyor, Charles J. Nelson; County Physician, F. D. Haldemano; Coroner, C. D. McKinney. These names mean little to the present generation, but will recall early days to the old timers.

Mr. Beagle, remembering Ord as it was when he left it, was certainly surprised at the great changes that occurred in the 44 years that he had been away. He remembered driving livery for his father and Tom Trindle, who were in the livery business at the time, and whose place of business was on the wots where the Sack Lumber company now stands. He was here at the time the McCord Hotel on the northwest corner of the square burned to the ground. At that time the Ord school building was on the lot where the Thorne Cafe is now located. There was a rooming house on the Chevrolet corner at that time.

He enjoyed a visit with Judge E. P. Clements, who with his brother, E. J., was just getting started in the law business at that time. With very few exceptions the buildings around the square have been torn down or moved out, and new ones occupy their places. One notable exception is the Ord Hotel building, which was here then, and which is still in splendid condition, a monument to some early day architect who built for the future. He recalls that his father was elected sheriff in opposition to Steve Brace, who later won the job of sheriff.

Mr. Beagle visited also in Arcadia, where he found a few of the old timers who remembered him. He left Arcadia Sunday, bound for Chicago on a sight-seeing trip. Later he will return to the Pacific coast over the southern route, and then return home up the western coast. He certainly enjoyed his visit here in Ord, and his visit was a real pleasure to those who were fortunate enough to have known him in the days gone by.

There were several social gatherings in honor of the Williams' while they were here. They were invited to a six o'clock dinner at the Royal Bailey home on Thursday. Mrs. Williams attended an afternoon party in her honor at the Mrs. C. C. Shepard home. She also attended the party of the Christian church missionary society at Mrs. J. P. Bartas Thursday evening. They spent a day at Burwell as the guests of the B. A. Rose family. In fact they found the time entirely too short to visit all their old friends.

STANDARD RED CROWN GIVES ONE-SECOND STARTING

...WITH THE HIGHEST POSSIBLE WINTER MILEAGE

"Sorry, ma'am, but I aint any fault of our'n. This is the third time tonight that Red Crown has got us there before the fire even starts."

Strictly speaking, Standard Red Crown is not that fast. But it does start an engine in good condition, in one second, at zero. And it gives even speedier warm-up than last year's Red Crown which gave 35% faster warm-up. That means it gets you under way without stalling.

And, with all its speed, Standard Red Crown gives the highest possible winter mileage.

GET IT FROM YOUR STANDARD DEALER!

Suggestion: This Standard Red Crown gasoline starts an engine so quickly and gets you under way so speedily that the proper light grade of winter oil is advisable. Standard's ISO-VIS "D" motor oil, in the special winter grades, does the trick nicely.

John Louis Marlon.
The funeral of John L. Marlon who passed away last Saturday, December 5, 1936, was conducted from the Liberty church in Lee Park on Tuesday, December 8, 1936, Rev. L. E. Nye officiating.

Mr. Marlon was a farmer living about nine miles southwest of Arcadia. He was an active member of the I. O. O. F. lodge of Arcadia, the Odd Fellows having charge of the services at the grave in Lee Park Cemetery where the body was laid to rest. The pall bearers were John W. White, H. M. Brandenburg, Fred Stone, Lewis Larson, W. A. Armstrong and Frank Potter.

John Louis Marlon was born in Tuscola county, Michigan, May 2, 1868, and passed away at his home in Custer county, Nebr., December 5, 1936 at the age of 68 years, 7 months and 3 days. He has been a resident of Custer county since a lad of 14 years. He was united in marriage to Emily Louise Marsh, June 30, 1892, and to this union one son was born, Earl Herbert. Mr. Marlon was in poor health four years, the cause of his death being a stroke from which he never regained consciousness. He leaves to mourn, his wife and one, one sister, Mrs. Eva Kimball of Cordell, Okla., and other relatives, with a host of friends. One brother, Frank Marlon, preceded him in death.

The huge dragline purchased at Milwaukee which weighs 60 ton, with a two-yard shovel and 60-foot boom, cost $30,000, crossed the Middle Loup river between Arcadia and Comstock at the narrow, shoveling its own ditch out of the river as it moved. This machine is certainly a marvel, working 21 hours out of 24, moving 5 cubic yards of dirt per minute. There are also 2 big 60 horse power caterpillars with other equipment accordingly. They are digging 1 1/2 miles of ditch per week.

Many people are curious to inspect the marvelous work of man and machinery. Among those taking an outing Sunday were "Gramp" George Hastings, Sr., and George Hastings, Jr., Alfred Hastings and Lloyd Bulger, postmaster, motoring to Comstock, Sargent, Taylor, Burwell and Ord.

Dr. and Mrs. Burlight who have resided in Arcadia the past seven years are moving to Ragan this week. Dr. Burlight was pastor of the Congregational church for about three years and then as pastor of the Fundamental church.

Howard Beagle, of Portland, has been visiting old time friends in Ord and Arcadia the past week. The Beagles lived in Old Yale for many years and then in Ord. His father, Henry Beagle was sheriff of Valley county years ago. His sister, Anna lives in Arizona and Willie in Oregon. Mr. Beagle left Arcadia the first of the week to visit other places of interest on his return trip home.

The Progressive Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Kinsey. The subject was on fitting patterns. The next meeting will be Jan. 4, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Hastings, the subject "When We Go Shopping."

Mrs. Harold who has been very ill at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island the past four weeks is reported slightly improving.

Frank, a pioneer of Valley county, generally known as Perry Frank, passed away in Eugene, Oregon, Dec. 6, 1936, at the age of 89 years, after a long illness. His wife preceded him in death three years ago. He leaves one son and one grandson. His son attended the Ord schools many years ago. Mr. Frank was a lover of fast horses, which were very popular in pioneer days.

Mrs. Bertha Bryson and daughter Ferne, Mrs. Ida Brown and Miss Louise Elliott were Grand Island visitors Saturday.

BURWELL NEWS

Mrs. Elmer Brockman, who underwent a serious operation at the Cram hospital a week ago Thursday, is now getting along fine.

Carol Nixon is the new assistant in Art Adams soft drink parlor. Donna Ward went down to Schuyler last Thursday to take a job offered her there as waitress in a cafe.

Misses Janet Jenks and Helen Wagner were hostesses at the Wagner home at a shower for Ruth Anderson, whose coming marriage has been announced.

Mrs. F. J. Grunkemeyer returned recently from a several months visit with her daughter, Mrs. Hazel Lasemby, at Portland, Ore.

Twenty-five ladies of the Burwell Women's club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Moon in Sargent by the Sargent Women's club, Friday afternoon.

Friday word was received by Harold Clark of a stroke suffered by his father Jesse G. Clark at Santa Rosa, Tex. He left at once for the south, and shortly after he had gone word came that Mr. Clark had passed away. The Clarks were residents of Burwell many years, but left here for the south some seven years ago. They were among the several Burwell people who bought land at that time in the lower Rio Grande valley and they have lived there ever since. While they have not met with unusual success, at the same time they managed to make a living and hold their land, which is more than many of those who bought were able to do. Mr. Clark leaves one son Harold of Burwell, his wife at Santa Rosa, and other relatives. Another son, Clifford, was the first man from Garfield county to lose his life in the World War, and the Burwell legion post is named for him.

Were Married in Illinois.
The marriage of Mildred M. Wheeler and Floyd W. Worrell was solemnized in the Wyoming Methodist parsonage Tuesday afternoon of last week at 3:30. Rev. R. N. Johnstone read the single ring service. Mrs. Worrell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wheeler of Toulon and Mr. Worrell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Worrell of North Loup, Nebr. He and his bride will reside on a farm near Virginia, Ill.

A reception was held in the bride's home Tuesday night with 19 present. A shower was also held in the home of Mrs. David Gray Monday with 25 present. Decorations were pink and white. Refreshments were served. The honoree received many gifts. The Wheelers are well known in this section. Floyd first lived near Elyria, later living north of Burwell, and finally south of North Loup. The Mrs. Gray mentioned is doubtless a relative, as Mrs. Wheeler's maiden name was Gray.

Plenty of Water in Iowa.
A dream of several years was realized at Thurman on Sunday when a 91-foot well began spouting a six-inch stream of water on the land occupied by John Persell, about six miles southeast of Nebraska City on the old Sidney road east of the drainage ditch and the railroad tracks.

The water will be used by the Otoe Food Products company for irrigation purposes. It will be a great benefit to the Missouri valley area.—Hamburg, Iowa Reporter.

appointed manager of a Safeway store in Long Beach, Calif., according to word received by Mrs. Grunkemeyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Williams. Arlo has been out in California a little over a year, and has been located at Huntington Park. This appointment means that he will change his residence to Long Beach. Arlo's rise has been rapid, but undoubtedly it has been because he has made good. His friends here and in Burwell will be pleased to learn of his success.

McBride Recognizes 13 Valley Gridders

Thirteen Loup Valley grid players received recognition by Gregg McBride as he announced his All-State teams last Sunday. Positions on McBride's Roll of Honor were awarded after careful consideration of reports given by six hundred coaches, officials, sports writers and followers of the teams during the season's play. Selections were made from a group of 682 qualified players given to Mr. McBride.

"Harold Maskell, the pride of the Loup Valley region, a fine punter, good forward passer and line plunger, largely responsible for Ord's fine record the past few years. A cool player under fire, he was a capable director of the Chanticleers defense." Thus, McBride describes Harold Maskell, the only Ord boy to be placed on one of the All State teams, being awarded a halfback position on the fifth team.

Henry Brown of Arcadia high school who also received a position on one of the "all" teams is described in the following manner by McBride: "Harry Brown of Arcadia, cream of the Loup Valley crop, is a 165-pounder who was a demon on defense and moved back to the full back position on offense." Brown was given a tackle post on the fourth team.

Three Ord players besides Maskell received recognition on the honorable mention list. Don Tunnickliff, halfback; Dale Hughes, tackle; and Gerald Clark, halfback were awarded positions on the honorable mention list of McBride's honor roll.

A large number of other Loup Valley football players received honorable mention. Those to receive honorable mention from the Loup Valley district include Harry Wilson of Broken Bow, fullback; Wayne LeGate, St. Paul, end; Floyd Smith, Arcadia, halfback; Manchester, North Loup, halfback; Forrest Abbott, Sargent, tackle; Harold Mecjowski, Loup City, tackle, Ed Augustyne, Loup City, tackle and Lester Davis, St. Paul, end.

Loup Valley Quints Begin Hard Work

With the last particle of the 1936 grid season dislodged from their thoughts, Loup Valley basketball teams are holding practices daily and shaping up in fine style for the approaching 1937 season.

In past years there has been no regular "conference" with official standing being kept, however this year with the organizing of the new Mid Six circuit, a regular round robin style of tournament will be held. The Loup Valley Conference, as usual, will determine its champion by means of a tournament to be held on Feb. 16, 17 and 18.

Scotia Ready. Lots of enthusiasm and fair prospects confronted Coach Albert E. Meter at Scotia high school as practice began last week. Three lettermen, Capt. Bill Faith, Erwin Klein, and Leonard Ulrich, are out for the team. Besides these three others who have been showing up well in early practice sessions are Louis Farrell, Chet Grohosky, Clarence Hansen, M. Hansen, Van Jones, Dean Bredthauer, Bill McIntyre, Dale Mitchell and George Ulrich.

Burwell Gets Going. Two lettermen were all that reported for basketball drill at Burwell high this year, but prospects are nevertheless bright for a good team. The Burwell basketballers are looking forward eagerly to the completion of the new high school gym. Returning lettermen are Harry DeLashmutt and Francis. Others out are Alberts, Bangert, Beat, L. DeLashmutt, Balagh, Gideon, Goodell, Hoppes, Igenritz, Johnson, Kern, Maves, McKenzie, Meuret, Nelson, Owen, Quinn, Ridgeley, Sorensen, R. Sorensen, Simpson, Shafer, Sizemore, Weber, Wilson, Ziegler and Anderson.

Basketball practice began in earnest after the class tournament at St. Paul high school. The St. Paul team is working hard to get in shape for their first game with Dannebrog on Dec. 15. The seniors with a 58 to 12 decision over the freshmen and a decisive 43-6 win over the sophomores clinched the St. Paul interclass tourney.

Loup Has "Tough" One. Loup City high school will open its 1936-37 basketball schedule on Dec. 18, opening the season by playing the talented Kearney five on the Loup City maples. A fifteen game schedule has been prepared for the Loup quint, playing both Kearney and Lexington. With the completion of the new gymnasium and the greatly increased facilities for students, basketball is expected to arouse considerable more interest in Loup City this year. Coach Brown has most of his last year's team back this year, and appearing in practice are Wharton, Anderson, Jewett, Seibler, Janulewicz, Plants, Golus, Smith, Altwine, Elrod, Stephens, Gzehoviak, Grow, and the Mica boys.

Bow Team Inexperienced. Coach Ed Metz of Broken Bow high faces a difficult task this season having lost every one of his "first string" men by graduation last year. A fourteen game schedule has been prepared for the Indians this year, with eight games to be played by the seconds.

Basketball practice is in full swing at Arcadia high school in preparation for a strenuous cage season. Thus far, twenty-five candidates are reporting to Coach Tuning for drill work. Arcadia opens the season at Sargent on Dec. 21. Two junior high games have been scheduled, Ravenna on Jan. 5 and Ord on Feb. 2.

Brockman Slices Cage Squad to 20

Basketball activity in Ord high school settled down to a steady hum this week as Coaches Brockman and Cowel put the new squad of 20 members through offensive and defensive drill work. Light scrimmages have been held all week and the boys are rapidly forming into a fast working, smooth passing outfit.

The squad has been cut down to twenty members. With the small squad Coach Brockman has an opportunity to give more individual help to players.

Members of the "A" team include: Elno Zikmund, Harold Maskell, Gerald Clark, Dean Barta, Don Tunnickliff, Harry Zukoski, Dale Hughes, Charles Cetak, Don Severson and Donald Dahlin.

Those who were placed on the high school "B" team include: Edwin Hitchman, Boyd Rose, Russell Rose, Arden Clark, Raymond Tallow, Junior James, Jack Petty, Donald Vincent, Dean Blessing and Robert Green.

Town League at Arcadia.

An independent basketball league is being organized in Arcadia which will be operated in the same manner as the leagues in previous seasons. The league will be made up of the village and country lads who enjoy the game and will cost each individual $1 to join. League play will start as soon as either four or six teams can be organized.

Honorary Co-Captains Of Ord Eleven

Elno Zikmund, Harold Maskell. These two boys, Harold Maskell, who received state-wide recognition last week by being chosen on one of Gregg McBride's All State elevens and Elno Zikmund, a real fighter and second to none at the center position in the Loup Valley region have been selected by their teammates as honorary co-captains of the championship Ord football team for 1936.

Production Staff Announced.

The production staff of the Christmas play "Why the Chimes Rang" to be given at the high school auditorium on Dec 22 has been selected. The following people will serve on various committees: Wilma Krikac, Clay Nelson, Irene Whiting, Evelyn Sharp, Dorothy Aubje, Virginia Sack, Jack Janssen, Leonard Sobon, Laverne Duemey, Kendall Wiegardt and Laverne Lakin. Music will be provided by the high school music department.

Last Words Tell Why. At 115, Buck Evans, Negro who lives at Clay Station, near Temple, Tex., still enjoys good health and can read by moonlight. Evans, who was born in 1821, lives alone. —Kearney Hub.

Named On Nebraska Honor Roll

HAROLD MASKELL.

GERALD CLARK.

DALE HUGHES.

DON TUNNICLIFF.

These four members of the Ord high school football eleven represent some of the best football talent in Nebraska. Harold Maskell was awarded a halfback position on one of Gregg McBride's All State teams, Gerald Clark, Don Tunnickliff and Dale Hughes being given honorary mention.

Vesper Service Well Attended

A vesper service given by the music and speech departments of Ord high school was largely attended and received hearty approval by all who attended. The service was held in the high school auditorium Sunday afternoon by the music groups under the direction of Dean S. Duncan and the speech groups directed by Miss Ellen Servino.

Three numbers, "Land of Romance" by Frazee, "To A Wild Rose" by MacDowell and "Who is Sylvia" by Schubert were given by the high school orchestra. A small woodwind group composed of Eugene Puncocchar, clarinet; Angelina Wachtrle, bassoon; Barbara Dale, flute; Virginia Sack, horn; and Harry James McBeth, oboe very capably presented "Menuette" by Haydn.

Two selections, "Meditation" by Morison and "Andante Religioso" by Lautenschlaeger were played by a small brass group with Dick Koupal, baritone; Allen Zikmund, trombone; Mildred Smith, horn; Gerald Jirak, trumpet; and Lloyd Sack, trumpet, as members.

The large senior girls glee club sang three numbers, "Kooheec" by Ferris; "The Holy Season"; and "The Lord is My Shepherd" by Schubert, the latter selection being a difficult four-part arrangement which was handled very capably by the glee club.

Two soloists appeared on the program, Jerrine Burrows singing a soprano solo "A Friend or Two" and Boyd Holloway, tenor, singing the well known "Kashmiri" by Finden.

Two Thesplan club members, Wilma Krikac and Robert Williamson presented Christmas readings. Robert Williamson gave "The Christmas Story from Luke," and Wilma Krikac gave the selection "The Foolish Fir Tree."

Accompanists for all musical selections were Lorraine Kusek, Ruth Aubie, Norma Mae Snell, and Angelina Wachtrle.

Debaters Organize.

The first call for debaters was issued last week by Miss Ellen Servino with the following people responding: Norma Mae Snell, Lillian Kusek, Lillian Karty, Evelyn Johnson, Kendall Wiegardt, Richard Burrows, Vernon Malolepszy, Virginia Davis. Extensive plans for debate are being made at the present time by the speech department. It is planned that the debate squad will enter several tournaments in central Nebraska this year. Returning from last year's debate team are Richard Burrows, Lillian Kusek and Norma Mae Snell.

Newspaper Staff Has Xmas Party

Over 20 members of the "Oracle" staff, official publication of Ord high school, attended a special Christmas party for "Little Oracle" given at the high school last Friday evening.

The climax of the evening's entertainment was reached when Santa Claus, alias Laverne Lakin, Oracle editor, appeared on the scene with a bag of presents for "Little Oracle." After Santa had questioned "Little Oracle" as to whether he had been a good boy, what he wished for Christmas, etc., it was found that he wished to give all of his gifts to Oracle staff members. Surprises galore were found in the gift packages.

Guests of the Oracle staff at their party were Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard, Miss Bernice Slotz sponsored the party with general arrangements being in charge of Lillian Karty and Opal Miller.

Crop Control Plan and Soil Conservation

(By E. W. Moss)
There seems to be a great deal of uncertainty as to a plan for a long-time program for better land use and an adjustment of agriculture in regard to production and consumption.

There were certain things of exceptional value in the old AAA that should be carried in the new and long-time program, especially the commodity loan on grains. The conserving of soils should also be carried on in such a program. The production of crops must be kept in control in regard to consumption and a reserve for insurance against failure and famine. Now it would be necessary to combine all these things, so why not follow the following plan.

Appraise all land for productivity of the various crops, and determine cost of production of these crops for a ten year average in each community. The community figures could then be carried to a state convention and the average cost of production for the entire state could be set up.

The farmers would then farm the first year as they see fit and produce what crops they could. The following fall any crops that were selling below cost of production would have a loan value of cost of production under government seal. The farmer would have until April 1st, to liquidate his loan. If on that date the commodity was selling below cost of production he could settle by giving a bill of sale for the commodity. He would then have a right to redeem his grain by following a soil conserving practice on the number of acres it took to produce the grain according to his appraisal set up by his own committee. On the other hand, if he chose not to redeem his grain some of his neighbors might receive this grain for following similar practices on their land.

This would cut down expense of administering, as there would be years that nothing would be done as long as grains were selling above cost of production. When there was a surplus it would be kept in the county for a time when it would be needed.

When a surplus did really exist just the right number of acres would be retired to take care of it and the soil would be conserved on those acres.

If cost of production were set at a state average it would eventually cause the producers on the sub-marginal lands to quit producing grain and sow their land to forage crops and pasture grasses, as they could not compete with the better farms. The better farms would in turn be devoted more to grain and less to forage crops. This would help to work out a better land use program. In years when all things were normal there would be nothing to be done, but the machinery would be set up for an emergency if one did occur.

This plan would also provide for crop insurance whereas the cost of production would be set up for a ten year average, which ten years would include the usual amount of failures in big crops. It is evident that if we are to interest farmers with a program of any kind that we must cease to deal with visionary surpluses and handle actual ones. It is conceded by us all that since programs have started the only actual surplus that really existed was the one existing at the beginning of the year 1934. Which surplus, owing to nature's operation more than any program's operation, disappeared in the winter of 1934 and 1935. There is absolutely no doubt that the surplus can be ruinous to the farmer as well as every business. But let us first have our machinery set up to handle it, and then wait until we get one before we start controlling it.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This is the lesson-sermon subject for Sunday, December 20.

The Golden Text from Hebrews 1:10: "Thou Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundations of the earth and the heavens are the work of thy hands." A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from I Corinthians 8:5, 6: "For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many,) But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things and we in him."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key, to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "The universe, like man, is to be interpreted by Science from its divine Principle, God, and then it can be understood but when explained on the basis of physical sense and represented as subject to growth, maturity, and decay, the universe, like man, is, and must continue to be, an enigma." # BULLETS OF JUSTICE

By REX COLLIER

Copyright, 1936, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

Inspector Cowley's Chart of the Dillinger Trap in Chicago.

JOHN DILLINGER

JOHN DILLINGER would be alive today, in all probability—and in Alcatraz prison—but for one thing: a determination never to be taken alive by officers of the law.

With the permission of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, this writer has been privileged to delve into the grim files of the F. B. I. on the lurid case of the late public enemy number one.

I have seen for myself—and am able to reveal publicly for the first time—intimate details of the carefully laid plans which led up to the fatal shooting of Dillinger outside a Chicago movie house on the night of July 22, 1934.

Those plans, locked in a steel cabinet at the Department of Justice and guarded until now from any but official eyes, disclosed a number of interesting things bearing on the recently agitated question: Was the shooting to death of Dillinger justified?

1. Specific orders were issued by Hoover that Dillinger must be taken alive, if possible.

2. Four men were stationed on the sidewalk, near the theater entrance, with instructions to "seize Dillinger bodily as he passes."

3. By Hoover's order, relayed to the agents by Inspector Samuel P. Cowley, there were no machine guns, rifles or shotguns at the scene. The agents were armed only with pistols and warned not to draw them unless "absolutely necessary."

4. Dillinger quickly saw two agents starting to close in and seize him, turned to face them, bent to a crouching position, whipped out a .38 caliber automatic pistol and was about to fire when three agents beat him to the draw.

Unjustified? Well, of course, the agents could have let this known killer fire first, but in so doing, they would have endangered not only their own lives, but the safety of a gathering crowd of men, women and children emerging from the theater.

The circumstances surrounding the shooting of Dillinger have been the subject of an "ill-advised" inquiry by secret service men. They went to the Chicago police for information, it is said, but the Chicago police knew nothing of the plans.

Those plans were made in the Chicago office of the F. B. I. after telephonic conversations with Hoover at Washington. Only one other law enforcement agency was "in" on them. That was the police department of East Chicago, Ind., a sergeant of which had brought to the F. B. I. a woman who said she knew the whereabouts of Dillinger.

This woman was after $5,000 which the Department of Justice had offered for information leading to the capture of the gangster. After Dillinger's death, she calmly collected the money and signed an extraordinary receipt in which she released the government from any further obligation "whatsoever." More about that receipt later.

The woman was Anna Sage. Her identity was guarded closely by the G-men after Dillinger's death because they had promised solemnly not to "put her on the spot." Since Mrs. Sage herself has elected to disclose her connection with the case, the bureau no longer feels obligated to adhere to the promise of secrecy and consequently has given me the whole inside story of the Dillinger trap.

Mrs. Sage, well-known to police of East Chicago, told Inspector Cowley on the afternoon of July 21, 1934, that she had been attending movies with a man who had been introduced by a girl friend as "Frank Sullivan." The other woman's identity will not be disclosed. Her first name was Polly.

Mrs. Sage asserted she recognized "Sullivan" as Dillinger and asked him outright if he were not the much-hunted fugitive. Dillinger admitted his identity. She declared she accompanied Dillinger and Polly to the Marbro movie theater in Chicago on several occasions, and that she would be willing, for $5,000, to tip off the agents when another visit was planned.

Cowley and his men bided their time anxiously the remainder of that Saturday evening, but no further word came from the woman.

All available agents in the Chicago area were ordered to "stand by" in anticipation of the tip that would start them into action. The agents sat around restlessly in the Chicago office on Sunday until 5:30 p. m., when, by phone, Mrs. Sage advised that she, Polly and Dillinger would attend either the Marbro or Biograph theater, on Chicago north side, about 8 p. m.

Plans were made to "cover" both theaters. Two agents were assigned to the Marbro and two to the Biograph to watch all persons entering them and to flash the word to headquarters as soon as Dillinger was spotted. At 8:50 p. m. the agents at the Biograph phoned that Dillinger had just entered the movie house with Mrs. Sage and Polly. Polly, it should be explained, was wholly unaware of the approaching trap.

Cowley mobilized a force of sixteen agents and five policemen of the East Chicago department. A careful study had been made previously of the "layout" of the theater. Seven agents were assigned to guard emergency exits in the rear of the theater, while the others were stationed along the block in front, hidden in vestibules, areas and other points of vantage.

Among the four assigned to "seize Dillinger bodily" was Special Agent H. E. Hollis, who later was killed alongside Cowley by "Baby Face" Nelson. Names of all other agents are withheld. Hollis was standing at the curb, a few feet south of the theater entrance. Agent D was in the vestibule a little further south. If Dillinger walked to the south, it was the job of this pair to grab him as he passed between them. At the curb, about the same distance to the north of the theater, were two policemen in plain clothes.

Agent A, loitering in a vestibule opposite the point where Hollis was standing, was to light a cigar as a signal that Dillinger was emerging. Agent B sat in an automobile parked near Hollis.

Agent C was beside Agent D in a vestibule, about midway between the theater and an alley. At the curb, near the mouth of the alley, were Agents G and H, with instructions to watch for the cigar signal and then close in from the south. At the other side of the theater, near Policemen 3 and 4, were Agents E and F, who were to close in from the north. Across the street was the remainder of the detail.

Inspector Cowley kept moving back and forth along the block, surveying the situation. At the moment Dillinger appeared, Cowley was across the street, but he crossed quickly as his men closed in.

When Dillinger and the two women came out, they turned to the south. Agent A lighted his cigar.

The files show that Agent D said to C: "That is Dillinger with the straw hat and the glasses." As Dillinger passed, Agent L stepped quickly across the sidewalk to a position on the right of Dillinger, while Agent C approached him from the left. Agent Hollis, by prearrangement, moved in behind Dillinger.

As this maneuvering started, Dillinger became aware of the fact he was being surrounded. Affidavits of eyewitnesses agree that he reached quickly into his right trousers pocket—he was wearing no coat—and whipped out his pistol.

Immediately he began to crouch and dodge and was bringing the gun into firing position when Hollis and two other agents, in self-defense, drew their own pistols and fired. Dillinger fell without uttering a word and was dead when he reached a hospital. As the firing began, the two women ran.

Cowley met Mrs. Sage in Los Angeles on October 11, 1934, paid her the promised $5,000 and obtained her signature and fingerprints on a statement reading, in part:

"The U. S. Department of Justice did employ me to secure information leading to apprehension of John Dillinger, alias Frank Sullivan. I, Anna Sage, did secure and deliver personally to an official of the division of investigation, Department of Justice, information as to the whereabouts of the said John Dillinger at a particular time.

"I, Anna Sage, for and in consideration of the sum of $5,000 lawful money of the United States to me in hand paid by S. P. Cowley, known to me as an official of the U. S. Dept. of Justice . . . do hereby release the Department of Justice from all . . . debts, dues, sums, reckonings, covenants, contracts, agreements, promises, damages, judgments, claims and demands whatsoever in law or in equity . . ."

Prayer service Wednesday, 7:40 P. M.

United Brethren Church.
A blessed Christmas to all "For unto you is born this day in the city of David a saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Lk. 2:11.
The children's department of the Sunday school enjoyed a Christmas party and tree at the home of Clarissa McBurney last Friday evening after school. The party was sponsored by the teachers of this department.

The Christmas program given by the children last Sunday evening was greatly appreciated by the grown-ups. There was a good attendance and a nice offering for the Otterbein Home.
Following the Sunday school there will be a New Years' message at 11 o'clock.
Christian Endeavor at 6:30.
The evening message at 7:30.
Prayer and Bible study Thursday evening.

Christian Science Services.
The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches for Sunday, December 27, is "Christian Science."
The Golden Text is from II John 1:9: "He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son."
A passage from the Bible in the lesson-sermon is from II Timothy 3:16-17: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof for correction, for instruction in righteousness; that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

A correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, reads: "As adherents of Truth, we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal life. We acknowledge and adore one supreme and infinite God. We acknowledge His son, one Christ; the Holy Ghost or Divine Comforter; and man in God's image and likeness." (page 497).

New 1937 License Plates On Sale

The new car numbers are here and were placed on sale at the treasurer's office Wednesday of last week. They are black numbers on a light gray field and do not differ materially from those of 1935 except that the gray is lighter. One difference from last year is that the year appears before the name of the state. Treasurer Satterfield wishes all patrons to remember that in order to get your new license it will be necessary to bring the old receipt. Most people know this already, but occasionally one shows up who does not know it.

There is on display at the treasurer's office one of the most interesting displays to be seen anywhere in the state. In fact traveling men who visit all the county seats in the course of the year declare that it is the only one of the kind to be found anywhere they have been. It is the display of car numbers, beginning back in 1915, the first year that the state printed the numbers, and proceeding down the years to the present time. Before 1915 the state gave you a number, and you had to buy your own numbers and make up your own plate, of which there was only one at that time. The first plates contained the number, the abbreviation for the state, and the date. In 1920 the state issued a little plate containing the No. and the 1920, which was designed to put over the end of the 1919 plate to bring it up to date.

However this was found to be unsatisfactory, and they went back to the printing of full plates in 1921. In 1922 the first numbers with the number of the county appeared. The order of the numbers was arrived at by the number of cars in the different counties, and those numbers have been used ever since, although a check of the number of cars now would probably lead to a very different result than it did then. It is of interest to note that on only two occasions were loud colors used. This was in 1925 and 1933, when black letters were used on an orange background. It is probable that from now on gray and black will be the predominating colors on Nebraska numbers.

LOCAL NEWS

William Carlton fixed the Quiz furnace Monday, putting in a brick lining. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pierce are expecting their son Bill and wife home from Lincoln to spend Christmas. Bill is a junior at the University of Nebraska. Another son, Paul, is coming from Laurel, Nebr., where he teaches Smith-Hughes agriculture. They are all expected to arrive Thursday evening. The two weeks evangelistic services at the Midvale United Brethren church closed last Sunday evening. There was a fair attendance, and the meeting was reasonably successful, though not as much so as had been hoped. Rev. F. E. Taylor, who conducted the services, was a very interesting speaker. He left as soon as the work was closed for his home in Sterling, Colo., where he will spend the holidays.

What Other Editors Are Saying

The Days of '49. Gold Rush Saturday.—Saturday afternoon is the time for the first gift distribution on the Gold Rush plan, sponsored by the American Legion post in Hamburg. The affair will take place on the streets about 3 p. m., and everyone is urged to be present. Ask your merchants about the plan. Merchants and clerks will not be permitted to take part in the affair.—Hamburg, Iowa Reporter.

The Law of '49. Vigilantes Ready.—So much crime is being carried on in Wahoo that the local American Legion Post has revived the Vigilante committee, organized two years ago, and the guns and ammunition have been checked over. This crime wave is caused by local talent and the committee is ready to start hunting when the Sheriff gives the word, or sooner if they get a hot tip. Let's use the Vigilantes, that's what they are here for.—Wahoo Democrat.

And the Wild Animals, Too. The members of the Antelope project club and their families held a social meeting at the Charles V. Hervert home last Friday evening. The evening was spent playing pinocle with prizes being won by Mrs. Edna Hehner and Emil Harris first, and consolations to Mrs. Earl Harris and Herman Link.—Ravena News.

The Story of a Bird. While Ed Peters, who lives just west of Fairview church, was gone last Sunday, a pleasant fellow through a kitchen window, hit the wall on the other side of the room and was dead when the family returned. Broken bits from the two panes of glass, through which the bird, passed, were scattered about the room.—Central City Nonpariel.

A Bird of a Story. Horse Takes Watch.—Beaumontville, Quebec.—Several days after Raoul Belanger died of injuries received when attacked by his horse, a stable hand, tending the animal, found Belanger's watch imbedded in the horse's hoof.—Exchange.

The Old Customs, Also. Twenty-nine friends called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Rogers last Thursday evening in the nature of a belated informal charity party. Bridge was the diversion of the evening. A luncheon brought by the guests expressed their good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Rogers by presenting them with a beautiful wall mirror.—Schuyler Sun.

A Stiff Hunting Yarn. They are telling this one on Jas. Konopasek. After the first good freeze last week he decided to go rabbit hunting and he saw just one rabbit and not wanting to take chances, shot it while it was sitting in the bushes. After picking it up he discovered that it had either been scare stiff at the sight of a hunter, or had frozen stiff the night before by the cold weather.—Callaway Queen.

Mobby These Are Bison. A stirring scene of the old west was recalled a few days ago when ninety-eight head of buffalo were moved from their pasture at Potato creek to their new winter quarters a mile and a quarter away. Other animals which will remain in the summer pasture are twenty head of deer, twenty head of elk and 200 wild turkeys.—Sheridan Co. Star.

Yep, They Still Hunt the Coon. Jude Phillips has been having a lot of sport the last few weeks with his coon dogs. Wednesday we saw him carrying a fair size coon up from the river that he had captured the night before. He said that it made an even dozen that he had captured this season. Coon pelts sell all the way from three to fifteen dollars according to size and quality, which makes the sport doubly interesting.—Burwell Tribune.

And The Big Woolly Wolf. Plans were made Monday for a wolf hunt to be held at Wann on Tuesday, December 29. Captains for the hunt are: Emil Larson for the north side, Grover Draper, east, Oren Poppy, south and Oren Sanders on the west. Hunters are to meet at the Wann church at 9:30 a. m. No rifles will be allowed. They plan to cover territory north of Wann in the morning and south in the afternoon. The ladies aid society will serve lunch at the church at noon. Any proceeds will go to the aid and all Jack rabbits killed will be sent to the Child's Saving Institute in Omaha.—Wahoo Democrat.

Persecuted, or Prosecuted. All county attorneys of the state have been asked by the attorney general of Nebraska to warn merchants against giving lottery chances with purchases made in their places of business. The plan is illegal. He added that merchants who ignore this warning will be persecuted severely.—Palmer Journal.

Who Gives a (Beaver) Dam. While Iowa has several beaver colonies scattered throughout the state, one in particular is attracting many persons interested in wild life. Beavers have established themselves in the Maple river near Ida Grove. A dam across the stream has been constructed by the industrious animals which has backed up the water for nearly a quarter of a mile. So great is the interest in Iowa's wild life that a well-beaten path has been made from the road to the dam which is one-half a mile from the road. The path leads through high weeds, thick brush, low-hanging trees and several barb wire fences. Beaver have been reported along the Maple river several times in recent years but none have built large dams and become permanently located.—Iowa State Conservation Commission.—Hamburg Reporter.

Just Look What Haga Done! We, the 37 members of the 1936 football squad, three student managers and two coaches, take this means of thanking Walter Haga-done for his efforts in making this season a successful one. Did you know that for four games and one tie we got to see a picture show free sometime during the following week. This amounts to $10.50 per week, and five times that amount is $52.50. And yet the pleasure was only half Walt's. The other half was ours'. Again a most hearty vote of thanks from us to Walt.—Cozad Local.

This Was No Moolley Cow. UPLAND, Neb., Dec. 14.—Horns taken from the last buffalo to be killed in Franklin county are one of the prized relics owned by S. O. Hendricks, a resident of this community for sixty-three years and of Nebraska for sixty-seven. The buffalo was killed in 1874 by the late Bill Matthews, northeast of here. Although only sixty-nine, Hendricks is one of the earliest settlers here.—Kearney Hub.

Sounds Like A Habit. Stock Shipments—Friday—P. J. Rooney, two cars of hogs. Monday—P. J. Rooney, two cars of hogs. Wednesday—P. J. Rooney, two cars of hogs.—Greeley Citizen.

Scottfield and children called at Chris Nielsen's. Mrs. Pete Rasmussen visited with Mrs. Martin Michalek Tuesday. Alma Jorgensen was a guest of Mrs. Axel Jorgensen Wednesday night. Mrs. Walter Jorgensen and daughters Lorraine and Ina Pae and Mrs. Chris Nielsen and Ellen Nielsen were at Will Nelson's Friday afternoon.

Davis Creek News

Mrs. Lavinia Lunney received a bushel basket of nice grapefruit from Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson of Texas Tuesday. Mr. Johnson has 17 acres of grapefruit ready to pick. Mrs. Lunney, Mrs. Ida Arnold and children spent Wednesday of last week at John Williams'. Mrs. Esther Collins entertained the Barker neighborly club Wednesday. The ladies had a handkerchief shower for Mrs. Etta Weed at the club. Mr. and Mrs. Roy McGee and Joan were dinner guests at George McGee's Friday. Kenneth Eglehoff came home last week from the university for Christmas vacation. Mrs. Virgil Adamson and baby came Dec. 13 to spend a few days with her mother, Mrs. Iona Leach. Lawrence Mitchell was taken to the Weekes hospital at Ord Tuesday with a badly infected hand. He pinched his hand on Dec. 12 when fixing a tire, but it did not give him any trouble until Sunday evening when he went to the doctor with it. Monday he had much fever and was a very ill man. At this writing he is greatly improved and it is hoped he will be able to come home in time for Christmas.

Sunday visitors at Wm. Rendell's were Jack Gumb, brother of Mrs. Rendell, Albert Dawe, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dexter, a niece, and Willie Gumb, a nephew, of Mrs. Rendell, all from near Burwell. On Thursday Mrs. Frank Thomas of Burwell and Mrs. Robert Ballagh of Ballagh were visiting at Rendell's. They are also nieces. Mr. Rendell passed quietly away Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. His family were nearly all with him, as Mrs. Delos Bell and Mrs. Gaye Hayes of Sterling, have been there nearly two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Rendell have been tenderly cared for by their children and Dr. Hemphill. Mrs. Rendell is able to be up and around some now since having a siege of sciatic rheumatism. Mrs. Ina Collins expects her parents Thursday from Sterling, Colo.

The name, The Davis Creek Mixer, is the name of the organization at Davis Creek that meets once a month for a get-together and a good time. The mixer met Thursday night. Roll call was responded to by a poem, nursery rhyme or a joke, after which there was a duet by Grace Palser and Louie Axthelm, a paper by Mrs. Jorgensen, a reading by Gwendolyn Firtig and congregational singing.

(Crowded out last week). Charley Johnson took his daughter, Irma Seng and Charles LeRoy to Loup City Wednesday where they took the train for Lincoln. Mrs. Seng had planned to go the week previous but owing to the illness of her mother she remained until Wednesday. Mrs. Charley Johnson is feeling better at this writing. Will and Glenn Eglehoff hauled corn from North Loup last Thursday. Mrs. Glenn Eglehoff went down to help her mother, Mrs. Horner, can chicken. Ernest Johnson's are enjoying a new Parmat radio with a wind charger, which they expect to use to light the house. Lloyd Peterson was helping Ernest do the wiring Sunday. Dr. Hemphill was at Lawrence Mitchell's twice Monday. Lawrence crushed a finger Saturday while fixing a tire and Sunday evening it began paining him and Monday he was quite ill and had fever. It is hoped he will soon begin to improve. Mrs. Mitchell has been afflicted with rheumatism for about two weeks, in bed much of that time. However she is able to be about some now. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Eglehoff and Ernest Jefferies trucked hogs to Grand Island Monday, to the sale. Mrs. Marie Dishaw and an aunt from California visited their sister and niece, Mrs. Grace Palser Monday. Mrs. John Palser entertained the Methodist Ladies Aid Society Thursday of last week. Mrs. Elsie Bell and Mrs. Gaye Hayes came Thursday morning from Sterling, Colo., to help care for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rendell who are both ill and in bed. Mr. and Mrs. Will King of Ord were down to see them Friday. Mrs. King was one of Mrs. Rendell's first acquaintances when she came over here from England and they have been very close pals since. Monday Morris received a telegram saying Mr. Rendell's brother, Sam Rendell of Michigan, would arrive Tuesday. Mr. Rendell hasn't seen this brother in almost 40 years and it is hoped he might be able to visit some when he gets here. Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Adamson and Shirley came to Iona Leach's Sunday evening. Mrs. Adamson and Shirley will remain for a longer visit but Virgil and his mother expect to return soon to their home at Hill, Colo. Paul Carlson and Dale Hughes were guests at Ed Jefferies' Saturday evening. Saturday in Kearney at 2 p. m., at the Methodist parsonage occurred the marriage of Miss Leona Axthelm, oldest daughter of Louie Axthelm of this neighborhood, to Loyel Negley, son of Mrs. Negley of North Loup. Lloyd and Lela, brother and sister of the bride, were bridesmaid and best man. Rev. Story of the Methodist church of Kearney performed the ceremony. Leona took up her duties as housekeeper for her father 8 years ago when her mother died. She was only a girl of 14 years but she has been a wonderful help to her father and the family. She is a good cook and a good housekeeper. The best wishes of this community will follow her to her new home. A wedding dinner was given by Mrs. Henry Benn at her home Sunday evening. Mrs. Thomas of Burwell and Robert Ballagh from Ballagh were down to see the Rendells Saturday. They are relatives of Mrs. Rendell. Mr. and Mrs. Carol Palser accompanied her brother, Bing Beck to Grand Island Saturday to see her father who is in the hospital. He was operated on last week for gland trouble and is getting along nicely. Mrs. Lavinia Lunney and Mrs. Ida Arnold and children were dinner guests of Floyd Ackles' Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Chris Larsen entertained the Home Demonstration club Tuesday. Mrs. Ada Howe and Mrs. Calla Peterson are club leaders. They get the lesson from Loup City. Harold Finch and Miss Betty Upton were week end guests of his sister, Mrs. Clifford Collins. George and Donald Waller spent a day last week at Howard Manchester's. Mrs. Fern Larsen attended the funeral of R. D. Adams at Loup City Friday. Mr. Adams suffered a paralytic stroke about Thanksgiving. Since the death of his wife the fore part of September he has made his home with his son LaVerne, where he passed away last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Leach were supper guests at Will Wheatcraft's Sunday evening. Mrs. Wheatcraft received word last week that Mr. and Mrs. George Walkup had moved to Rockyford, Colo., and George is running a filling station.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Nelson of Wolbach are the proud parents of a baby girl, born Dec. 16. Mrs. Nelson was formerly Alma Worm, and both young people are well known here. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller, aunt and uncle of the new mother, drove to Wolbach to spend a few hours.

—William Moon is spending two weeks at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Herman Miller. He has been at Hastings, where one eye was removed several weeks ago, and Dr. Foote hopes to save the other eye, though Mr. Moon is given no hope of ever having vision in it again. Mr. Moon will return to Hastings after the holidays.

—Martin Kline and son Leo of Scotia were Ord visitors Friday and Leo called at the Quiz office to renew their Quiz for another year and to place an advertisement for this week. He says they have had good results from former ads in this paper. Mrs. Kline is a sister of C. F. O. and Gust Smith. Leo is in partnership with his father farming. He is taking advantage of the Ag. college short course and expects to attend the full week of agricultural activities in Lincoln next month.

—Dr. Glenn D. Auble reports the following items: W. M. Herzog, Grand Island salesman, was in Ord Thursday and Friday of the past week having his eyes treated; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Herbst of Burwell were down Friday for treatment. Mr. Herbst is troubled with cataract. Other patients of the week were Mrs. George Romine and Doris Pope, of Scotia; Mrs. M. L. Wright and W. M. Mathauer, of Burwell; L. W. Portis, of North Loup; and Alice Miller of Ericson.

—From the Arcadian we learn of the marriage at Broken Bow of Charlie Anderson of Arcadia and Mrs. Caroline Catlin, of North Loup. Mrs. Catlin spent the early years of her life on a farm near Burwell, and later the Catlins lived at Ord for several years. Mr. Catlin being employed on both the Journal and the Quiz. He was employed on the Loyalist at the time of his death several years ago. The Quiz extends these good people its congratulations.

—Schuyler Wilson, 48, of Randolph, county commissioner of the second district, Cedar county, was killed in an accident on highway No. 20 near Willis, Nebr., at 6:30 last Wednesday evening. The car he was driving collided with a loaded stock truck. Five months ago county clerk Joe B. Larsen and his twin daughters were fatally injured near the same place in the same kind of an accident.

—P. J. Mella took the ditch on a turn last week in an endeavor to prevent hitting a man who swung out too far, with the result that his car was overturned, and he and Herschel McGrew, who was with him, were somewhat bruised up. The accident occurred near Broken Bow. Except for some damage to the top the car was in good condition, and they drove back to Ord after getting it right side up.

—J. J. Brew of Lincoln was in Ord on business Thursday.

—C. W. McClellan was an Ord visitor Monday.

—Curtis A. Blakeslee of Arcadia was an Ord visitor Thursday.

—R. E. Wolcott of Grand Island was attending to business matters in Ord Monday.

—The Hayes Creek school, in which Miss Catherine Ollis teaches gave a Christmas program Wednesday evening, which was interesting and well attended.

—The W. S. Kings are planning a home coming for all their children this Christmas. The girls will both be home, and Irving, his wife and three children and Ted, will all be home, making a real celebration.

—Leonard and Raymond Cronk who are attending the state university, are both home to spend the holidays with their people, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kasal. They are both pre-law students, Leonard in his second year, and Raymond in his first.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rothert, of Auburn, are parents of a son born last week. Mrs. Rothert is the former Miss Alice James, of Ord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. James.

—Glen Auble will be in charge of the Burwell municipal band which is scheduled to put on a program of music at the Electric Theater on Jan. 4. There are 54 pieces in this band, and in addition to the regular selections, there are to be a number of specialties. The proceeds of the concert are to be used for the purchase of caps for the band.

—A card received by Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Peterson last week from their son Eddie, who is on a trip with Ed Kull in their Aeronca plane down in Florida tells of how he entered an air race at St. Petersburg, and took second place. He did not say how much he won, if any. The boys say they will be back sure by December 30, and possibly in time for Christmas.

—C. A. Schrader, manager of the local Council Oak store, states that each employee of the organization for the past year is receiving as a Christmas gift a check for 5 percent of the amount of wages he drew during the year. This includes all who worked for the store, whether on full time, or part time.

—Another good sale is reported by the Ord Livestock Market last Saturday. It was one of the best days for a long time, and a very large crowd was in Ord. The sales pavilion was well filled, and all the offering went at good figures. Col. Weller was here from Atkinson, partly on account of the sale, and also because of business interests.

—Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Mauer, of Champion, Neb., were seriously injured recently when the car he was driving to Omaha skidded on the ice near Millard and swung into an Indiana car. According to reports little damage resulted to the Indiana car, but the Mauer car was badly smashed, and both people were badly bruised. They were taken at once to an Omaha hospital, where they are reported recovering as rapidly as could be expected.

—The latest report from Ed Kull and Eddie Peterson came from Kentucky. They are on their way back from their epoch making trip to Florida as a part of the huge airplane fleet, and expect to reach Ord sometime between Christmas and New Years. The second place Eddie won at St. Petersburg was a spot landing contest, and he won $25.00, which he says may come in handy. Ed Kull flew away in such a hurry that he forgot to tell his parents in California of his intentions. In a letter received from Mr. Kull he says that he saw in the papers that Ed flew away in a "Rat Trap". He got the name wrong, however. It was an Aeronca.

—Jack Jeffords of Broken Bow and Carl Humphrey of Breswter went down to St. Louis with Chester Weekes in his car. They left here Monday evening and expect to be back Wednesday with a Curtis pusher plane, which they will deliver to a doctor in North Platte. The plane is to be used in hunting coyotes.

—Rodney Stoltz, who enrolled in September at a school of embalming in Minneapolis, is here to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Stoltz.

—M. Lorkosky, editor of the Howard County Herald, entered a Hastings hospital Dec. 21 to undergo an operation for the removal of cataracts. The operation was to be performed Tuesday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Chris Helleberg are in receipt of a letter from their daughter Mae, who has been spending nearly two months in California, in which she said she expected to be home Dec. 23.

—Mrs. Jake Peterson left by popcorn stage Tuesday for an extended visit to the west. Her present destination is San Francisco, but later she will visit at Santa Cruz, Long Beach and Los Angeles. She expects to be gone thirty days.

—Two carloads of Chevrolets came in Friday over the Union Pacific consigned to the Ord Auto Sales Co. One of these, a master coach, went to the Chevrolet dealer, Chris Hald, at Burwell. Another, a master deluxe, was sold to Clifford Weidenhafer, of Loup City.

—E. C. Leggett returned home last week end from Omaha, where he had been having an ear operation and treatments at Nebraska Methodist hospital. It is thought that his ear trouble is corrected but he will return Monday for another examination and treatments if they are found necessary.

—A Dec. 21 AP dispatch reports the following: "Oscar Almquist, Central City contractor, saw his nearly new sedan rolling down an Omaha street early yesterday. He gave chase, but before he could overtake the machine, it crashed into a tailor shop." Mr. Almquist is well known in Ord and better known in Burwell, where he has charge of the building of the new school building.

—Horace M. Davis, state fire marshal, issued the usual warning relative to the use of combustible materials in Christmas decorations and in the making of Santa Claus. The warning is timely, as every year there is much financial loss and in some cases loss of life through carelessness in this regard.

—Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Beeghly, of Kirksville, Mo., are here to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Beeghly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Andersen. They also may spend a few days at Arapahoe with Reginald's parents before returning to Kirksville where he is a student in the osteopathic school and she has employment as a stenographer.

Valley County Has Had Fifteen Clerks

The writer started something when he stated in last week's Quiz that Steve Brace succeeded Henry Beagle as Sheriff of Valley county. Several of the old timers called me down, and upon further investigation it looks as though the nearest Brace got to the job was to be an also ran. However, the incident proved two things: that the public reads the Quiz; and that they are interested in the affairs of early days. Starting this week, a record of the men holding the various offices of the county from the start in 1873 down to the present time will be given. This week we will give the county clerks as shown by the records.

According to the signature on the proceedings of the county board, E. D. McKinney was county clerk in 1873. W. D. Long held the office in the years 1874 and 1875. H. A. Babcock held the job from 1876 to 1883 inclusive, a total of eight years. A. H. Schaefer was clerk for the four years 1884 to 1887, inclusive. J. A. Patton had the job four years, 1888 to 1891, inclusive. George W. Hall was clerk for the two years, 1892 and 1893. Vincent Kokes held the position from 1894 to 1899, inclusive. Frank Koupal was clerk for the two years, 1900 and 1901. Alvin Blessing was clerk in 1902, 1903, 1904 and the first eight months of 1905, resigning in favor of his deputy Kit Carson, who held the job four months and was defeated by Rudolph Sorensen.

Sorensen had the job the four years, 1906 to 1909, inclusive. Otto Murschler held the only odd year term, the five from 1910 to 1914, inclusive. Bill Bartlett had the job four years, 1915 to 1918, inclusive. J. T. Knezacek tied H. A. Babcock's record by holding the job eight years, from 1919 to 1926, inclusive. Ig Klitma then proceeded to break all records and is now rounding out his tenth year on the job, with two years more to go. Next week will appear a review of the county treasurers of the county for the past fifty three years.

For Bookworms Only

"Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell is a romantic narrative of the Old South. It gives the history of Atlanta, Georgia during the great upheaval of the Civil War and the trying period of Reconstruction following the fall of the Confederacy. Author Mitchell carefully builds about Scarlett O'Hara a picture of the south at the height of its prosperity when cotton was king and then again at the depths of its misery when Sherman and the northern army completed their famous "March through Georgia." The daughter of a successful Irish immigrant and a kindly aristocratic mother, Scarlett was a handsome southern beauty reflecting the ease and luxury of the south at its best. She could win the heart of any man in sight except the shadowy Ashley Wilkes, cultured and dignified, who married her friend Melanie, also quiet and scholarly. Scarlett's grim determination to win over starvation and ruin make every page of the book throb with action—vivid, human.

Betty Rogers, 12 Was Hit By Auto Saturday, Killed

Several West L street residents heard a series of crashes as the Manasil car hit the bank, the tree and then as it came to rest at the edge of the paving, a twisted mass of steel.

B. J. Peterson, who lives on the north side of this street, heard the crash and was the first person to reach the scene. He did not see Betty, who was lying about 12 feet west of the car, but instead rushed to the car to see if its passengers were in need of help. Syl Furtak, Mike Kosmata and others who live in the neighborhood reached the scene within a few seconds and found Betty's body but identification was at first made only by a pack of newspapers, torn in two, that laid beside the body, so horribly mangled was her countenance.

Before rushing out Peterson had shouted at his wife to telephone Sheriff Round, who arrived within a few minutes. Clement Furtak got a couple of crowbars and pried open the door of the Manasil car to release young Manasil, who was wedged between the two seats, face down.

The young man had shouted feebly for help a few times but did not speak as rescuers took him out of the car. Dr. J. G. Kruml attended him later taking him to Hillcrest where he spent the night. His skull was fractured and he is said to be suffering from shock but there is no question about his recovery. Yesterday his arms were partially paralyzed. Due to the skull fracture and concussion he has no remembrance of the crash, relatives say.

Young Manasil's first mumbled remark, it is reported, was: "Did I hit a car or a truck?"

Within a few minutes after the accident a large crowd collected. Traffic was stopped while Sheriff Round and volunteer assistants examined the little girl's dead body, helped the young man from his car, took measurements for use later in fixing blame for the accident and removed wreckage. The car was almost totally wrecked, even the engine block being broken.

Monday morning County Attorney Alvin B. Lee empaneled a coroner's jury to hold an inquest and fix responsibility for the accident, if this could be done. Jurymen were Carl Dale, Fred Coe, Dr. J. W. McGinnis, J. R. Stoltz, Wm. Sack and Ben Janssen.

After viewing the body, looking at the Manasil car which had been taken to the Chevrolet garage and making an inspection of the scene of the accident, the jury went to the district court room and several witnesses were called.

So far as can be learned here is how the accident happened:

Leonard Manasil, a senior student in the Creighton college of law at Omaha, had returned home for the holidays Friday and immediately after supper Saturday left for Ord to keep an engagement.

The little Rogers girl had just delivered a newspaper at the Wm. Darges home and was crossing the street diagonally to deliver one at the Mike Kosmata home when the Manasil car, coming at great speed, rounded the corner to the west on the pavement.

Whether the driver saw the little girl as she crossed beneath a street light or whether he simply lost control of his car at the curve cannot be determined. Perhaps he saw Betty and attempted to apply the brakes, which threw him off the paving. Perhaps his car skidded on an icy spot. Any way, tire markings show that about 200 feet west of where the car finally came to rest his car left the highway and went into a ditch. It hit a 4-foot bank, bounced high into the air and struck a tree, scraping off a huge piece of bark. Then it bounced back toward the highway and struck the little girl.

It is believed that the car overturned three times, although it was resting on its four wheels when found. When it hit the bank it bounced about 45 feet before striking the tree, then bounced 42 feet back into the road before striking the little girl.

How fast young Manasil was driving when he attempted to round the curve cannot be determined either but a speed of 70 miles per hour or more is indicated by circumstantial evidence.

Witnesses at the inquest Monday included Don Harmon's 13-year-old son, who saw the Manasil car when it went by his home and rushed into the house to tell his mother how fast it was traveling. B. J. Peterson, Tom Williams, Syl Furtak, Mrs. Bill Darges, Clement Furtak and Mike Kosmata, all of whom heard the crash. Nobody actually saw the Manasil car strike the little girl.

Jurymen deliberated Monday afternoon after hearing witnesses and then adjourned until 9:00 Tuesday morning, convened and again inspected the place where the accident happened, and adjourned until 4:00 in the afternoon.

During the inquest the jury investigated thoroughly the possibility that the girl might have been killed by a "hit and run" driver who then sped from the scene, perhaps forcing young Manasil's car off the road, but no evidence could be uncovered to support such a theory.

At the hearing Tuesday afternoon a school girl was presented as a witness who had seen the accident. She told schoolmates she was standing on W street about two blocks east and saw everything that happened, officers learned, and hence they brought her before the jury. Under oath, however, she repudiated this story, stating that she was working at the Boquet hotel that evening and knew nothing about the accident except what she had been told. She admitted telling schoolmates she had seen it but apparently did so only to create a sensation.

Mrs. Ben Rose, of Burwell, was introduced as a character witness for young Manasil. In all her years of teaching school four of her students were outstanding, she said. She named them as Dr. Chauncey Hager and Dr. John Round, of Ord, Asa Anderson and Leonard Manasil of Burwell. Father Lawler and John L. Ward were other character witnesses called.

After hearing Mrs. Rose the jury retired and about 6:45 brought in the following verdict presented to this jury we find that Betty Rogers was killed about 7:00 p. m., Dec. 19, 1936, when struck by an automobile driven by Leonard Manasil. Said car was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed but since no eye witnesses could be found to establish the rate of speed we feel that a conviction could not be obtained by the evidence presented and therefore recommend that no criminal charges be filed unless additional evidence appears later. Said Betty Rogers was killed on West L street in the city of Ord, Valley county, Nebraska.

The verdict was signed by all six jurymen.

County Attorney Alvin B. Lee, who is ex-officio coroner for this county, said yesterday that the case is closed so far as his office is concerned unless new evidence appears.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fuss and Julia drove to Sumner Saturday where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Sohrwald. They returned home on Sunday night.

Ord Schools Hold Christmas Program

The annual high school Christmas program was held in the auditorium Tuesday morning, while the grade school gave its program in the main assembly room at the south school.

The Spanish class started the high school program by singing a number of Christmas carols in the Spanish language.

The "Thespian Four", a boy's quartet, with Leonard Sobon, Jack Jansen, Lavern Duemey and Laverne Lakin as members gave selections in modern "Hoosier Hot-shot" style.

"Why the Chimes Rang," a one-act play written by Elizabeth McFadden was presented by the dramatic department under the direction of Ellen Servino. The cast of characters for this play included: Mary Miller, Phyllis Munn, Harold Mellor, Barbara Dale, Armona Achen, Marjorie Coe, Ruth Haas, Robert Williamson, Virginia DeHart, Frances Duemey and Milo Bresley.

The grade school program consisted of each grade singing one or two Christmas songs. The "Thespian Four", boys quartet from the high school, also sang several numbers on the grade school program which were heartily enjoyed by the grade youngsters. Tuesday afternoon all grades met in the assembly once more where group singing was held and each child was presented with bags of Christmas candy given by the grade teachers.

The kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Ludlow, presented two programs during the past week, one program being given to the grade children and one especially for mothers. A Christmas play portraying the birth of Christ was given by the kindergarten class.

The girls gym class defeated the G. A. A. team 35-30 in a soccer game last Friday evening. Although the G. A. A. girls were leading at the half, the gym class staged a rally in the final canto to win out.

—Hillcrest hospital reports, Mrs. Carl Dietrichs of Arcadia underwent an operation on Dec. 16. Walter Linke, who has been in the hospital 61 days, has been put in a cast and will go home on crutches to spend the holidays. He is recovering as well as could be expected. Leonard Manastl was sent to his home in Burwell by ambulance Sunday. Myrnie Auble underwent a tonsilectomy Wednesday morning. Lawrence Mitchell of North Loup, who is in the hospital for bad blood conditions, is showing improvement.

—Arthur Mason came home from Greeley, Colo., where he has been engaged for the past three months as a member of Frank Dolezal's dance band. He will spend the holidays in Ord with his people, the Lawrence Mason family. He expects to go back to his job in Greeley in about a month.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ed Moyer, Cap Nelson, Don Miller and C. R. Packard went to Omaha Monday, the Moyer to visit his people who are both in Nicholas Senn hospital recovering from a recent auto accident. The elder Moyer has been able to be up for a week, but Mrs. Moyer will have to remain in bed for several days. However, they are both out of danger. Mr. Packard made the trip to bring home a new Terraplane.

—Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Norris are planning a real Christmas this year. With their daughter and his parents they will go to Blair to eat Christmas dinner with the doctor's sister, Mrs. Ted Lathrop and family. Saturday they will go to Omaha and eat a second Christmas dinner, this time with his brother, Bert and family. Sunday they will eat a third Christmas dinner with Mrs. Norris' brother, Walter Jensen and family, also in Omaha. They will come home Monday and eat rabbit, the doctor says. In such a case it is a good idea to have a doctor along.

Rev. Claud L. Hill North Loup Pastor

CLAUDE L. HILL.

Reminiscences of Early Days

One day while we were at dinner the fawns came rushing into the open doors and just behind was a large deer hound. I grabbed my gun and rushed to the door but as I was about to shoot I noticed a covered wagon coming up the road only a short distance away and soon the outfit came up and explained that they were looking for a location to homestead. As I did not wish them or their hound as neighbors, I gave them no encouragement to locate near us.

The fawns grew up and sometimes would stay out in the cornfield nearly all day. I knew that if some wild deer came along that they were likely to go with them and as I could not bear the idea of confining them I decided to dispose of them, as to kill them was unthinkable after having them for pets for so long.

One day an agent, selling nursery stock came along and spent the night with us and in the morning wanted to buy one of them. So I exchanged one for a bill of fruit trees and he took it away with him and gave it to a park in Omaha. The other was very lonesome without its mate and I had to put it on picket rope as it would go out looking through the corn as if expecting to find the other one. We called them Jack and Jill and they sure were beautiful pets for daughter Mabel.

One day Mr. Frederick, from Elm Grove, came up for a visit and I told him I was afraid my fawn would leave us now if any deer came by. He said that Otto Witte wanted to buy a fawn so when I went to Ord I met Mr. Witte and sold it to him for ten dollars which was a whole lot of money to us at that time as money was about the hardest thing to get in those days.

Our friends went on west after their visit and finally settled in Rawlins county, Kansas at Atwood. We heard from them by letter for several years and they had several children but finally passed on into the silence.

Later in the year a friend wrote us that he was coming out for a visit. That was in December and I decided we must have some meat when he came as we were about down to stewing the bones of the last deer I had killed. So one morning I got up early as the stars were still shining, saddled my horse and struck out east toward the rising sun. I shall never forget that ride as it was very cold 15 below zero and no wind whatever. There was hoarfrost over every weed and grass blade and as the sun rose I never saw a more beautiful sight than those sandhills covered with tall blue grass and white with the hoarfrost. It was very difficult to keep my feet warm on so cold a day. However to get off and walk would not do as being so much frost on grass would be worse so I had to move my feet in my shoes and keep up circulation.

After riding about 5 miles east I came to a basin or low swell of an acre or two in extent. As I rode into the basin I noted that the frost on the blue stem grass was brushed off and paths all through the grass made by passage of some animals and soon noted the beds where animals had lain overnight. I felt sure they were deer and a lot of them from the way they had wandered around in the grass getting their morning feed. I knew they could not be far away and so moved very cautiously. It was now about 8 o'clock and sun shone very bright but oh it was cold. Being no wind I knew any sound would carry quite readily through the still air and so every move was made without making any noise.

I had been going east when I struck this trail of game and now I followed the tracks through the grass to where the game left the basin. It led around in and among the sandhills for about a quarter mile. Finally I caught sight of a deer and at once dismounted and fastened my horse by putting a strap across his front feet which is termed hobbling. I had been moving towards the northwest while following the trail and as the light wind was from that direction it was in my favor and the game could get no scent of me and in the grass I made very little sound. I now had the game at my advantage and knew just what to do.

Proceedings of the City Council

December 4, 1936.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock P. M. Mayor Flagg presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Pullen, Guy Burrows, Frank Sershen, Joe Rohla, Jay Auble and Anton Bartunek.

The minutes of the proceedings of November 6th, 1936 were read, and by motion ordered placed on file.

The report of James B. Ollis, City Treasurer for the month of October was read, and by motion ordered placed on file.

The request of the Business and Professional Woman's club for a dance license was read. Moved by Auble and seconded by Rohla that the license be granted. Carried.

The request of the American Legion for a dance license was read. Moved by Sershen and seconded by Auble that the request be granted. Carried.

The request of Frank Kasil for a later closing hour for Pool Hall was read and discussed. It was decided to take no action at this meeting, the matter being laid over until the coming meeting.

It was moved by Bartunek and seconded by Auble that the City Clerk be authorized and directed to draw warrants on the General fund in the amount of $2,000.00 payable to First National Bank in payment for paving bonds of Paving Districts 2 and 3. Carried.

It was moved by Bartunek and seconded by Auble that the City Clerk be authorized and directed to draw a warrant on the Electric fund in the amount of $3,000.00, payable to the County Treasurer for paving bonds of Paving Dist. No. 1. Carried.

It was moved and seconded that the City Treasurer withdraw from the County Treasurer any moneys held by the County Treasurer to the credit of paving district Nos. 2 and 3. Carried.

The request of the First National Bank to substitute escrow bonds of Scottsbluff, Nebr., now held, for bonds of Seattle Municipal Light and Power bonds was read. Moved by Pullen and seconded by Sershen that the bonds be substituted. Carried.

The following Resolution was presented and read:

WHEREAS, on the 18th day of May, 1936 an on and off sale license to sell beer in the City of Ord, Nebraska, was granted by said City to Albert Kosmicki, and

WHEREAS, said license has been guilty of violating the Statutes of the State of Nebraska and the duly enacted Ordinance of the City of Ord relating to alcoholic liquors by selling beer to a person under the age of twenty-one years, and

WHEREAS, said Albert Kosmicki, did on the 19th day of November, 1936, in the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska, plead guilty of selling beer to a minor and was thereupon fined by said Court in the sum of $10.00 and costs taxed in the sum of $8.00, which fine and costs were forthwith paid by the said Albert Kosmicki and no appeal from said conviction taken or perfected.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the said Albert Kosmicki be ordered to appear before the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, in the Council Chamber in the City Hall in the City of Ord, Nebraska, on the 11th day of December, 1936, at eight o'clock P. M. and show cause why said license should not be revoked.

Be it further resolved that this notice be given the said Albert Kosmicki by the Chief of Police of said City by delivering to him personally a duly certified copy of this resolution.

The above resolution was offered by Councilman Pullen and seconded by Councilman Burrows. Motion carried.

The matter of the City purchasing a truck was brought up and discussed. The bids of L. W. Rogers, C. Gilroy, R. Bahensky and the Ord Auto Sales Co., were presented and read. After discussing the bids, the Council voted by secret ballot on the various trucks. Result of the ballot showed that the truck favored by the majority of the Council was a Chevrolet. Moved by Auble and seconded by Burrows that the City purchase a Chevrolet truck. Motion carried.

Check Shows Legion Meet Is Successful

A final checkup of the convention of the sixth district, American Legion of Nebraska, held at Ord last Wednesday shows that in many ways it was one of the most successful ever held in Nebraska.

There were twenty-nine of the posts in the district represented. Of the posts outside of Ord, Broken Bow was first in the number of registered delegates with nine. Grand Island, York and Sargent tied for second place with seven each. In speaking of this it must be borne in mind that the number of delegates from each post was regulated in the convention call in proportion to the number of legionnaires in each post.

The total registrations for the district were 162. Fidelity Post No. 38 of Ord broke some records for registration when fifty of the boys paid their dollar and got their badges, although only a small part of them were delegates. The registration figures must not be taken to represent the total number of persons who attended, as there were a large number who came along with the home delegation and did not register. Also there were many who came in the evening either for the banquet or for the dance.

The total number of persons who attended the session some part of the day was more than the total of four hundred figured on by the Ord post, and that is some record. A total of 315 plates were taken for the banquet. Much credit must go to Dean Duncan and his orchestra for their part in making the banquet program a success. Special mention must be made of the tap dancing by Mavis and Jane.

Rex Jewett, City Clerk.
G. B. Flagg, Mayor.
December 11, 1936.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, met in adjourned special session in the City Hall at 8 o'clock P. M. Mayor Flagg presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Pullen, Guy Burrows, Frank Sershen, Joe Rohla and Jay Auble. Absent: Bartunek.

The Mayor and Council then proceeded to consider the case of Albert Kosmicki.

State officer Buckley, Chief of Police L. H. Covert and Night Officer Roy Pardue were called as witnesses. The matter was discussed pro and con. The following resolution was presented and read:

WHEREAS, on the 4th day of December, 1936, the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, by Resolution, ordered Albert Kosmicki to appear before the said Mayor and Council on the 11th day of December, 1936, and show cause why his On and Off Sale Beer License should not be revoked, and

WHEREAS, said hearing has been had, at which evidence was introduced by both the said Albert Kosmicki and the City of Ord, and

WHEREAS, after hearing said evidence and after fully considering the matter, the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, find that Albert Kosmicki has been guilty of violating the laws of the State of Nebraska, and the duly enacted Ordinances of the City of Ord relating to alcoholic liquors by selling beer to minors and otherwise, and that on the 19th day of November, 1936, the said Albert Kosmicki pleaded guilty to selling beer to a minor in the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska, and was thereupon fined by said Court in the sum of $10.00 and costs taxed at the sum of $8.00, which fine and costs were forthwith paid by the said Albert Kosmicki and no appeal taken therefrom or perfected.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the license of said Albert Kosmicki dated May 18, 1936 be and the same hereby is revoked, annulled, and set aside, and be it further resolved that a copy of this Resolution duly certified by the City Clerk be forwarded to the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission at Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dated this 11th day of December, 1936.

Attest:
Rex Jewett, City Clerk.
G. B. Flagg, Mayor.

It was moved by Pullen and seconded by Burrows that the above Resolution be adopted as read. The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll and the following was the vote on this motion.

Yeas: Pullen, Burrows, Sershen, Rohla, Auble.
Nays: None. Motion carried.

There being no further business to come before the Mayor and Council at this time, it was moved by Pullen and seconded by Burrows that the Mayor and Council adjourn. Carried.

Attest:
Rex Jewett, City Clerk.
G. B. Flagg, Mayor.

who are the daughter of Legionnaires Warden and Bulger of Arcadia post. Carl Dale as toastmaster did himself credit. The decorations of the banquet hall by the ladies called for much admiration by the visitors.

When the doors of the high school were opened for the visitors the main lights in the building were extinguished, and the entire light scheme consisted of a row of large candles on each table, and strings of miniature electric lights, a feature that was furnished by the city and for which they should have special credit. The special lighting around the square and the display of welcome banners was a splendid gesture, and was highly appreciated.

The distinguished guests were: Dept. commander Verne R. Taylor, Dept. adjutant R. C. Patterson, Dept. service officer H. A. Kriz, Dept. Junior vice-commander Nell Krause, H. G. Hooks manager Veterans hospital, Lincoln, and W. H. Andresen, Veteran placement representative for Nebraska. Dist. Commander Walter Raekke presided at the sessions. Rev. Mearl C. Smith of the Ord Methodist church acted as chaplain. Legionnaires Robert Hall and Cash Rathbun acted as sergeants at arms.

The Methodist ladies aid served the banquet, in a manner that was a credit to any organization. The waitresses were members of the home economics class and did a splendid job under the direction of Mary Annabelle Williams, home ec. teacher. The new district commander is D. A. Webber of Kearney, and the next years meeting place is Broken Bow. To Alfred Wiegardt, upon whose shoulders fell the responsibility of putting the convention over, is due a large share of praise for its success.

However, Mr. Wiegardt wants it distinctly understood that what ever was done was not due to the efforts of any one man, or group of men, but to the help rendered by any and all who were called upon for assistance. The management had occasion to ask for help from many different sources, and in every case that help was forthcoming. The convention chairman has received many compliments on the arrangement and management of the convention, all of which he passes on to the public spirited citizens of Ord, to whom the credit is due.

A few records made at this convention are given here. More new members were turned in at this convention than at any other in the state. With these turned in the sixth district stands first in percentage of its membership. Fidelity Post No. 38 received a special citation from the National organization for having the largest number of paid up members in proportion to the number possible to obtain of any post in the state prior to Nov. 11, the closing day of the big membership drive.

The ladies auxiliary of the American Legion held their meeting in the American Legion hall. Registration started early in the morning, and a morning session was also held. Mrs. Gladowski of St. Paul, Mrs. Barber of North Loup and Mrs. Meyer of Ord were the registration committee, and a total of 101 women registered. Mrs. Carol Mortensen of Ord, district president, presided at the sessions, both forenoon and afternoon.

A luncheon was served for the ladies in the region dining room with Mrs. Flagg, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. Sowl in charge. This was one of the most pleasant features of the day. The afternoon session was largely given over to auxiliary problems, both local and of the district. At the close of the afternoon program the nominating committee made its report, and acting upon their recommendation the convention elected Mrs. Gladowski of St. Paul as the district president for 1937, and chose Broken Bow as the place for the 1937 convention.

Lloyd VanWies to California.
Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Van Wile and Virginia were guests of honor at a farewell party given Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pritchard. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rickel, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sticksels, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gates and daughters, Marsha and Dorothy, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. McDannel, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cook, and Mr. and Mrs. George North and son Tom. Gifts were presented to the guests of honor who will leave next week for their new home in California. Refreshments were served.—Morning Spotlight, Hastings.

BURWELL NEWS

About 20 ladies of the Burwell woman's chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Bess Langstrom, sang Christmas carols Thursday evening, Dec. 17. Through the courtesy of Mr. A. H. Meyers, who furnished a large truck, some 25 homes were visited. Thus several were made a little happier by the bit of Christmas cheer.

The Junior class of the Burwell high school enjoyed their class party Thursday evening, Dec. 17, in the basement of the Christian church. After playing several games, refreshments were served. Mr. West and Mrs. Hornby acted as sponsors for the class.

A daughter, who has been named Donna Beth, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cass Friday morning, Dec. 18.

Twelve girls of the Intermediate Sunday school class of the Christian church were entertained Monday evening, Dec. 21 in the home of their teacher, Miss Virginia Rose Hemmett. Several Christmas games were played and then refreshments were served before departing for their homes the guests exchanged Christmas gifts. Mrs. W. L. Goodell was an invited guest.

Bob Hoppes returned from Omaha recently where he underwent a major operation. He is at his home in Burwell where he is gaining back his strength again.

Prof. Struve, instructor of music in the Burwell schools was able to leave the Cram hospital Sunday, after undergoing a major operation recently.

Mrs. Gerald Dearmont suffered painful injuries Saturday evening when she was thrown out of a vehicle while returning from Burwell. She suffered a severe scalp wound, also a dislocated hip and shoulder, and a painful injury to one limb. She was taken to the Cram hospital where she is slowly recovering.

The Workers Society of the Christian church met with Mrs. W. B. Johnson, sr., Thursday afternoon, Dec. 17. A short Christmas program was presented, after which refreshments were served. A pyrex baking dish was presented to Mrs. John Ward, who is leaving to make her home in Ord, and who has been a very faithful member of the Workers Society during the years she has lived in Burwell. Real Christmas cheer was spread by the ladies who brought so many good things which were then taken to the home of the minister, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Goodell.

Eldon Key, who lives about 8 miles east of Burwell, was taken to the Cram hospital Saturday evening for treatment, having accidentally come in contact with a buzz saw. He suffered painful injuries to one arm.

A Christmas program under the direction of Mrs. W. L. Goodell was given Sunday evening, Dec. 20, in the Christian church. The church was well filled and everyone entered into the real spirit of the Christmas season.

Mid Six Schools Book Big Teams; Season Open Jan. 5

Although several early non-conference games have been played by Mid Six teams thus far in the season, it will not be until Jan. 5 that the conference gets underway in earnest.

On Jan. 5 Arcadia goes against Mason City on the home floor in non-conference clash. Broken Bow will have it out with Merna on the Indian court. Loup City will take on Sargent on the Ord floor in the opening game of the season. Ravenna travels to Kearney and St. Paul lays idle.

In glancing over the schedule of the Mid Six teams it would be well to notice the high class competition that these Loup Valley teams are playing this year. Coach E Metz's Broken Bow Indians have scheduled games with Lexington, Gothenburg and Cozad. Loup City has both Lexington and Kearney on her slate while Ord plays Kearney, Spalding and Hastings. Ravenna has a good schedule with Grand Island, Kearney, and Lexington on the list. St. Paul will go against the Fullerton and Grand Island quints.

8 Veterans at Ansley.
Eight lettermen are members of Coach Charles Foster's Ansley high basketball squad this year. The returning veterans include Captain D. Patterson, L. McGowan, L. Patterson, M. Dobesh, I. Ferguson, C. Glover, G. Paster and G. Hixon. Ord high school's basketball team will meet this team on the home floor on Febr. 12.

Scotia Court Five Loses To Ericson

The Scotia basketball five started the season rather poorly, losing to Ericson 24 to 21 on the Scotia court. The score at half time was 11 to 5 in Ericson's favor. Capt. Bill Faith, Chet Grohosky, Luke Farrell, Marius Hansen, Dale Mitchell, Vance Jones, and Donald Lehn played for the Scotia Tigers.

Comstock Defeats Scotia.
Comstock high school turned on the heat last Friday night to win from Scotia 32 to 23 in the opening game of the season for the Comstock quint. The Comstock team has some very promising players and a very promising team. About twenty-five men are out for basketball.

St. Paul Quint Defeated.
The St. Paul "Wildcats" opened their basketball schedule last week by taking a stinging defeat at the hands of Dannebrog with a final 32-16 score.

LeGate was unable to play his usual brilliant game as he was nursing a sprained ankle. Pyne, another outstanding Apostle, was on the bench suffering a football injury. Dannebrog turned on the power and ran up a good lead late in the first quarter, after that St. Paul was not able to head them off.

Basketball Scores.
Kearney 34, Loup City 4.
North Loup 65, Ashton 0.
Comstock 32, Scotia 23.
Ericson 24, Scotia 21.
Grand Island 17, Ravenna 12.
Kearney State 35, Nebr. "B" 32.
Dannebrog 27, Elba 19.
Cairo 24, Ravenna 11.
Dannebrog 32, St. Paul 16.
Comstock 28, Dry Valley 12.

Changes Made In 1937 Cage Rules

By Helmut Brockman.
Several changes in the official basketball rules for the 1936-37 basketball season have been made by the national rules committee. These new rules change will be of interest to all fans, students and players.

The most important changes are summarized as follows:
Around the present center circle there is to be a concentric circle 12 feet in diameter. This larger circle, conforming in size to the circles around the free throw lines, will serve as a restraining line for players not engaged in the center jump, to prevent crowding and rough play.

In case a foul occurs simultaneously with the gun to end the first or third quarters the new quarter will be started by the administering of the penalty.

The number of allowable charged time out periods is increased from three to four. The fifth time out now becomes an excess and the penalty is the same—one free throw for each excessive time out. Substitutes may communicate with their team-mates immediately after reporting to the referee. The incoming player and his teammates must be responsible for locating his particular opponent and for passing along information relative to changes in the line-up, without the help of the referee. The new rules provide that merely striking the hands while they are in contact with the ball does not necessarily constitute a personal foul.

Sport Shorts

Boy! Did the crowd ever applaud when "Kate" McGinnis began sinking baskets between the halves of the Ord-Burwell practice game. From the number you swished through the hoop, Kate, we should judge that you're a jack-of-all-trades when it comes to sports.

And did the crowd applaud when Evelyn Barta came to the rescue of a small kitten that had found its way into the building and out into the midst of the basketball floor!

Chester A. Carkoski, Hartington high school coach, officiated at the two Wayne Teachers college basketball games during the past week, working the Midland tussle and the Omaha U game. Proof that the Hartington coach earned his salary in the Omaha game was the box score which showed 42 personal fouls had been called and seven players had been ousted from the game—Cedar Co. News.

The senior class team won the class tournament from the sophomores Thursday night by a large margin. The first of the class tournaments were held last Wednesday night.

In the finals the Juniors won from the Freshmen therefore taking third position. The seniors won the championship, winning all their games by large margins.—St. Paul Wildcat.

Sargent high school reserve basketball team opened the 1937 basketball season by handing Brewster a 23-15 setback. Emerson of Sargent won high point honors for the evening with 10 counters. Sargent led the visitors by a score of 15 to 0 at the half way mark.

Comstock met and defeated the Dry Valley basketball team in a very fast game of basketball in the Comstock gym. Comstock won 28 to 12.

Kelley Boswell, former Kearney state college and Ravenna high school basketball star, is playing with the Santa Fe Trails of Kansas City in the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league, fastest cage circuit in the world. This team won the national championship in 1935.

A crowd of about 100 was in attendance at the annual football banquet held for Loup City football men last week. The banquet was held in the Frederick hotel, with Gregg McBride, Lincoln sports writer, as the principal speaker of the evening. Moving pictures of several Nebraska Uni football games were shown.

Eddie Dugan of Greeley announces that the amateur boxing tournament which was to be held Monday, December 21, will be held a week later. The date was set for Dec. 28 in order to allow time for the granting of a license by the state boxing commission.

Donald Day and John Brittain, jr., won medals at the grade school basketball tournament held in Palmer last week, as being outstanding players. The St. Paul grade school boys beat Dannebrog at the Palmer tournament. Later in the tourney St. Paul was defeated by Palmer and Central City. Palmer won first place Fullerton, second and Central City, third.

Arcadia junior high will play two basketball games this year. They meet Ravenna at Arcadia on Jan. 5 and will play Ord junior high on Febr. 2.

Wayne LeGate and Quentin Lynch were unanimously elected co-captains of the 1936 St. Paul Wildcat football squad.

which had played terrible ball the week before, losing 24-11 to Cairo, played good defensive basketball to lead a nip-and-tuck race throughout the game. The Ravenna quint was leading the Islanders 8-3 at the half.

Both teams played ragged ball and missed lots of set-up shots. The Ravenna team was composed of Svanda, Baughman, Hamilton, Majer, and Meek. Jack Dyas, of Kearney, refereed the game.

Chanticleers Win 2 Practice Games

"Rarin' to go!" and they certainly appeared to be as the Chanticleers got into shape last week by playing two practice games with Arcadia and Burwell teams, winning both with ease.

Thus far, the first string line-up sees Dean Barta holding down the center position, "Bud" Clark and Dales Hughes at guards and Don Tunnichiff and Harry Zukoski at the forward posts.

The Chanticleer cagers will take a week's rest during the Christmas holidays and will go back into training under the direction of Coach Brockman a day or two before New Year's.

Junior high basketball under the direction of Frank Lee, are holding workouts daily after school in the grade school gymnasium. Starting the season with about thirty reporting, Coach Lee has cut the squad to 16 members. Several games with other junior high teams in central Nebraska have been scheduled.

Island Cagers, Rally, Win.
Finding the range in the last half, Coach Roy Mandery's Grand Island high basketball team rallied to take a 17 to 12 win from Ravenna high. The Ravenna team

A short time ago Mr. Rutar sold his entire equipment to a concern in Iowa, and has ordered and will soon install the most modern electric hatching equipment on the market. The capacity of the new incubators will be 60,000 eggs per hatch. This is one of the most complete and convenient outfits to be obtained and will make the Rutar Hatchery one of the leading ones in the state of Nebraska. It has the added convenience of being planned to hatch turkey eggs as well as hen eggs, and in this respect will fill a long felt want in this part of the state.

Writer Missed The Engineers of Ord

In a recent story of the years of service of a number of Ord and Valley county officials the writer pleads guilty to overlooking three men who have labored continuously over a long period of years in order that the citizens of Ord might read the Quiz in the evenings in comfort. They are the city engineers, who are among the most necessary, if not the most noticeable adjuncts to our local civilization. Way back in the dark ages, about the time the eighteenth amendment doomed the saloon, Harry Dye started his labors for the city of Ord. He has been on the job steadily ever since, and next spring will have a total of seventeen years to his credit. Anton Johnson is a close second in years of service, having already accounted for fourteen years and busy on the fifteenth. Jis Mortensen started in with the city more than twelve years ago, and has been on the job ever since. If any city in Nebraska, or in the United States for that matter, can show a better record for service than this, we will have to be shown.

Farmers To Discuss Hybrid Seed Corn

Nebraska farmers attending the annual organized agriculture meetings at the Nebraska college of agriculture January 4-7, are going to have an opportunity to discuss in detail the possibilities of growing hybrid corn and plans for seed supplies for 1937. The discussions will feature the Crop Grower's program on Jan. 6. Valley county farmers are invited to participate in the meetings. Since there is more local interest in the growing of hybrid corn than ever before, some producers will be interested in the talks. A number of Valley county farmers tried the growing of hybrid corn in 1936, but drouth conditions prevented the maturing of the crop.

It is not known at this time how many of which farmers will be in attendance at the meetings but it is certain that a number are going. M. T. Jenkins, agronomist in charge of corn investigation work for the U. S. Department of Agriculture is to appear on the Crop Growers program in discussing the progress of corn hybrids in the corn belt. T. A. Kiesselbach and P. H. Stewart are on the same program. The farmers of Valley county are interested in the growing of any kind of corn, and believe that one full corn crop would do more toward getting us out of the depression than all the ideas that Washington ever thought of.

Ord Man a Suicide Christmas Evening Was Ninth In 1936

Former Truck Driver Shot Self Thru Head With Small Revolver.

A great shock came to the community, dampening the joy of Christmas morning, when it was reported early that day that Pete Ruzicka had taken his life the previous evening. He retired to his room on the upper floor of the Misko building about eleven o'clock Christmas eve. Shortly thereafter Joe Sershen, who occupies the room next door, heard the sound of a gunshot. He called Officers Covert and Pardue, who entered the room and found that Ruzicka had shot himself with a small caliber revolver. He was still living when found, and was taken by the officers in the Sowl ambulance to the Weekees hospital, where he passed away at 12:30 a. m. Christmas morning. The only cause that can be given for his rash act was loneliness in the midst of Christmas cheer.

Pete Ruzicka was born in Valley county, October 10, 1900, and passed away Dec. 25, 1936, being 36 years, 2 months and 15 days of age at the time of his death. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ruzicka, and his entire life was spent in Valley county. He is survived by three full brothers, Emil Ruzicka, James Ruzicka and John Ruzicka; by four half-brothers, Frank and Anton Ruzicka, and Charles and Joe Dansky; by six half-sisters, Mrs. Molly Hulinsky, Mary Hulinsky, Mrs. Frances Petrk, Mrs. John Sershen, Mrs. Josie Nekuda and Mrs. Emma Hovorka. Funeral services were held from the Sowl chapel Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. Mearl C. Smith in charge, and interment was made in the Ord cemetery.

Mr. Ruzicka was the ninth person in the Ord community to commit suicide during 1936.

Valley Has Had 13 Co. Treasurers

Last week a list of Valley county's fifteen clerks was given together with their tenures of office. This week the list of treasurers is in order, and a check-up shows that there have been thirteen in all, one of whom held the office for a total of thirteen years, and another less than thirteen days, due to his untimely death. E. D. McKinney was the first treasurer, holding the office for the years 1874 and 1875. Peter Mortensen followed with a tenure of eight years, starting in 1876 and ending with 1883. A. D. Robinson was treasurer for the four years, 1884 to 1887.

Abe Trout also held the job four years, from 1888 to 1891, and I. S. Fretz the following four years, from 1892 to 1895. Henry A. Goodrich had the job in 1896 and 1897. W. B. Keown held it four years, from 1898 to 1902. W. L. McNutt was also a four-year man, from 1902 to 1905. S. J. W. Brown likewise had a four year term, 1906 to 1909. Lafa Paist's first tenure of office included the five years from 1910 to 1914. Irl Tolen came in for a four year term, 1915 to 1918. Lafa Paist's second tenure extended from 1919 to 1926, when E. M. Brown was elected, only to be called by death after only a few days in office. Lafa Paist then served until December 1927, when George A. Satterfield was appointed to take his place, and has been elected to the job ever since. His record in nine years already served with two more to go is the longest continuous record in the county.

Former Valley Co. Man Dies In Stuart

Jesse W. Myers of Chambers, Nebr., died at the Wilson hospital at Stuart, Nebr., Dec. 24, being 49 years and 29 days of age at the time of his death. He had undergone an emergency operation for appendicitis, to which there were added diabetic complications. He was born in Seward county and spent all his life in various parts of Nebraska. He moved his family to Valley county, Nebraska in March of the year 1920. He made his home here until March 1935, when he moved to Chambers. He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, Mina Myers, two sons, Joseph and Marion, and one daughter, Mrs. Russell Waterman. Two little grandsons, Donald and Marvin Waterman of Ord, three brothers, Ed Myers of Chambers, John Myers of Cushing and Thomas Myers of Fullerton. He also leaves many relatives and close friends in Ord and Cushing, Nebr. The funeral services were held in the Methodist church in Chambers and interment was made in the Chambers cemetery.

Mrs. Harold Nelson Dies at York, Nebr.

Word was received here Monday that Mrs. Harold Nelson of York had passed away at a hospital in York, Nebr. Mrs. Nelson was taken from her home near York, Nebr., to the York hospital, where, on Christmas day, a baby girl was born, a Caesarian operation being necessary. The mother passed away early Monday as a result of a heart attack. Her mother, Mrs. Katie Marks, went down to York on Christmas day and remained with her daughter.

Mrs. Nelson has one sister, Mrs. Will Schauer, jr., and many other relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Schauer went down Wednesday, and other relatives are expecting to attend the funeral Thursday if the weather permits. The funeral will be held from the Baptist church in York Thursday afternoon. A complete obituary will be given in the Quiz next week.

600 Farmers Will Be Getting Relief By Spring of 1937

RA Now Paying $20 Monthly to 330 Clients, County Board Is Informed.

Between 500 and 600 Valley county farmers will be receiving Resettlement Administration grants of $20 each per month before the winter is far advanced, the county board of supervisors was told Tuesday afternoon by Lores McMinded, local R. A. chief. At present 330 farmers are getting grants and the number is increasing daily.

Monthly grants are being made in this area as drouth relief, McMinded said, and farmers previously on WPA are rapidly being transferred over to his agency. He asked the county board to pass a resolution by which RA clients might be put to work on county projects to earn the $20 per month given them, instead of having it be a dole, but the county board deemed it inadvisable to use RA clients because of the cost of compensation insurance they would have to carry on all such workers.

Supervisors pointed out that little work can be done on bridges and highways during the winter and that it might be impossible to use RA clients to any extent. If county projects on which labor is needed develop during January or February they will pass the resolution and put RA clients to work, supervisors told McMinded. They appreciate the work being done by the RA and will cooperate with this agency whenever possible, they said.

"We will go ahead with our program whether you furnish work for our clients or not," McMinded said. "If work isn't available the $20 per month will continue as outright grants." Whenever the county, any township or municipality can use RA labor and will pay the premium on compensation insurance RA clients will be required to work out their grants, probably at the rate of $3.00 per day, he said.

Not only drouth-stricken farmers but farm laborers as well are included in the RA relief program, he said. Any person who can prove that the major portion of his income for the past two years was derived from farming, and who is now unable to secure work or is unable to subsist because of last year's drouth, is eligible for the $20 monthly grants, he said. The local office will investigate carefully all applications made.

On Dec. 8 an event occurred which missed the eagle eye of the Quiz reporter for a week or so, but it is of too much interest to pass unnoticed. On that day friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Brox gathered at their farm just across the river to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Those present on that occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Siler and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Siler, all of Burke, S. D., Mr. and Mrs. Vance Jones, Mrs. Sadie Schilling, and Mrs. Louise Johnson, all of Scottia, and also a large number of Ord relatives and friends. They not only came but also brought many lovely presents, which were highly appreciated.

Alumni Quint To Play Ord Cagers

Ord basketball fans will get their first "squin" at what the 1937 edition of the Ord basketball quintet can really accomplish on New Year's morning at ten o'clock. With the coming of the holiday season and the inevitable return of Ord high school alumni to the home town, Coach Brockman has arranged a "pre-season" contest between his quint and an all-veteran alumni crew.

Alumni who will probably see service in this game include Paul Blessing, who is making a strong bid for a position on the Kearney State Teachers team this year; Leonard Greathouse, regarded as one of the greatest basketball players ever turned out in the local school; Richard Severson and Jack Tunnicliff, two great defensive men and several other outstanding players.

Marshall-Bialy.

Harry L. Marshall of Ft. Moran, Colo., and Susanne Bialy of Ord, Nebr., were married by County Judge John L. Andersen Saturday, Dec. 26.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. Rahlmeyer drove to Kearney accompanied by Reuben Cook, taking Mrs. V. L. Mayden on her way home. Reuben attends college at Kearney.

State Will Clamp Down On Traffic Carelessness Now

Grand Island Case Shows Days of Mere Warnings Past; Will Prosecute.

Failure to stop his gravel truck before he pulled out on highway No. 281, just south of Wood River, yesterday afternoon, cost Peter W. Gelsinger, 209 East Fifth street, a total of $15.16 when he pleaded guilty this morning before Justice of Peace Paul Holmberg to violation of the state law requiring a full stop before coming upon a state highway.

Justice of Peace Holmberg imposed the minimum fine this morning after Gelsinger had said that illness had kept him off his job as a hauler for the Third City Sand and Gravel company from December 9 to 21. The fine was $10, and costs amounted to an additional $5.16.

Gelsinger was arrested yesterday afternoon by Deputy State Sheriff Manley Davis who told the court this morning that Gelsinger came from the gravel pits on the east side of the Hastings highway and pulled upon the highway without stopping.

The complaint was filed by Davis through the office of County Attorney Lloyd W. Kelly.

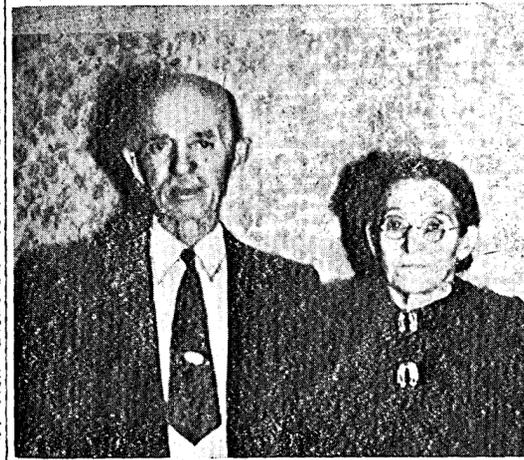

Sheriff Dan Sanders asked Gelsinger this morning to carry the word to other truck drivers—and motorcar drivers also—that the day of mere warnings was past, and that in the future all violators would be prosecuted, if apprehended.

Deputy State Sheriff Davis supported the stand taken by Sheriff Sanders, and said that State Sheriff William Flake only a few days ago issued instructions that prosecution must follow all known violations, and that efforts must be put forth to stop the violations.

Newspaper statements asking motor vehicle drivers to obey the state law have not had the effect of impressing necessity of obeying the law upon all truck drivers, but a fine or a jail sentence makes it impressive, Sheriff Sanders said this morning.

"You and I went to school together, but that doesn't make any difference," Sheriff Sanders told Gelsinger this morning. "From here on, I'll crack my own brother, if I catch him passing up a stop sign."—Grand Island Independent.

Mr. and Mrs. Sol Brox Married 50 Years

They lived there until 1892, when they came to Valley county. Since that time they have lived within five miles of Ord all the time, and for the past 25 years they have made their home on the farm just across the river from Ord. Their only child is their son Almond, who is married and lives in Ord, serving capably as Valley county assessor. Mrs. Brox showed the writer a very interesting clipping from a paper printed at Rock City, Illinois, in 1882, which tells of the golden wedding celebration of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer on March 25. This antedated the Ord Quiz by more than a week.

The Brox's can recall many of the historic events of early days of the town. Mr. Brox was in Seward county at the time of the grasshopper invasion in 1884. He is sure of the date, as he moved to Holt county in 1884. They had been married a little more than two years when the great blizzard of 1888 struck, and when it was over it was necessary to tunnel their way out through the snow. They also recall with many thrilling experiences with prairie fires. In spite of their advancing years, they are still thankful for a fair state of health, and what is more important, a full share of the contentment that should come with age. May they live to enjoy many more anniversaries.

Arise Before Sun to Buy 288 Bargain Dresses

When the Brown-McDonald company advertised last week that 288 dresses worth $1.49 each would go on sale at 9:00 Tuesday morning and that the first woman in the store could buy one for 1c, the second for 2c, and each successive arrival could buy a dress for 1c more, Manager Dwight W. Keyes thought women would be much interested but didn't expect a crowd to arrive before daylight that morning. That was the case, however.

At 6:30 Tuesday morning first bargain hunters began to arrive and when the Golden Rule store doors opened at 8:00 o'clock, a rush of women, waiting outside, rushed in. Before nine o'clock tickets had been handed out to 185 feminine customers. The entire 288 dresses were sold by early afternoon.

It pays to use novel merchandising ideas and it pays to advertise them in the Quiz, is Manager Keyes' conclusion.

Selma McGinnis Wed In Indiana

A telegram received by Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McGinnis announces the marriage of their eldest daughter, Selma, to Grant VanNess Duenbury at Ricamond, Ind., Saturday, Dec. 26. They were accompanied by the bride's sister, Beulah. Miss McGinnis has been employed in Dayton, O., for the past three years as city dietitian. Her husband is district supervisor of Wearere Aluminum salesmen, with headquarters in Dayton. Miss McGinnis is a graduate of the Ord high school, class of 1927, and a graduate of the Kansas state agricultural college, 1933.

Gravel Sargent Highway.

County Surveyor E. O. Stromborn reports that work started on the graveling project on the Sargent highway just west of Ord Monday morning. Two trucks and the men to handle them are furnished by the WPA and the county is furnishing the gravel. It is planned to gravel about three miles, which will include the hill which was graded a short time ago.

Ord Merchants To Welcome 1st Baby With Many Gifts

Parents Invited to Report Early 1937 Arrivals, 1st to Get Prizes.

Fortunate will be the first baby born in Valley county in 1937, because twelve Ord merchants today advertise in this newspaper that they have gifts for the first-born.

Stores participating in the offer include the Brown-McDonald company, Chase Toggery, Auble Bros., Springer Variety, Ed Beranek, Stoltz Variety, Carl Sorensen drug store, Frazier furniture, Kokes Hardware, A. B. Capron, Frank Piskorski and Russell Pharmacy.

Among the gifts are a complete layette, silk and wool hosiery, a baby ring, hot water bottle, record book, bath set, baby chair, baby powder and many other articles.

To be eligible for the prizes, parents of early 1937 arrivals should notify the Quiz within twelve hours after the baby's birth. The report must give the exact date, hour and minute of birth, name of the attending physician, name of the parents, where they live, sex, weight and age of the baby.

As soon as Valley county's first 1937 baby is definitely determined the Quiz will issue a letter of credentials to the parents, who then may go to the various stores offering prizes and claim them.

Without doubt name of the winning baby can be announced next week.

Store Burned While He Visited in Ord

Recently Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Williams, former Ord residents, were here for a visit with Mr. Williams' brother, Tom Williams, returning about two weeks ago to their home at Monmouth, Ore. In response to a message that their store there burned to the ground with property damage of $5,000, only $500 of which was covered by insurance. They returned to Monmouth to learn that officers investigating the case had established the fact that a trusted employee in the Williams store looted it, then burned it to cover the robbery. Some of the stolen merchandise was found in his possession, he admitted guilt and was sentenced to serve three years in an Oregon prison.

Farmers Invited To Attend Meeting

A meeting of special interest to the farmers of the Loup Valley, especially to those who have land under the ditches now under construction will be held in Ord on January 14. This will be an all day irrigation session, and will deal with what the farmers can do and should do to prepare their land for irrigation. Two speakers will address the meeting, Ivan Wood of the state agricultural college will speak along the line of preparation of land, and Paul Stewart of the agronomy department will speak in regard to the kind of crops best suited to irrigation. The complete program together with the place of meeting will be printed next week. Watch for it.

Farm Bureau Notes

County Agent Carl C. Dale and the members of the conservation committee, Arthur Mensing, Ed Schudel and Charles Veleba, went to O'Neill Wednesday to attend a district meeting on the soil conservation program for 1937. This is a very important session as it is the opening of the campaign for 1937, and it is hoped that much may be accomplished along this line in the new year. A full report of the meeting will be given next week.

In County Court

On Dec. 23 Eugene White of Burwell was brought into court charged with intoxication and was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $6, which he paid. Frank Tauer, also of Burwell was charged with driving a car while intoxicated. He was given a jail sentence of 25 days, and must pay costs of $6. In addition he had his driver's license revoked for a period of one year, and must give bond before he can secure another license at the end of that time. It developed that he was driving his sister's car. He and White were in the car when Tauer drove it down the sidewalk on the west side of the Auble Bros. building, going along the sidewalk all the way to Frank's filling station, where they drove northeast through the driveway. Marshal Pardue saw the performance, followed them in his car and arrested them.

Louis Fuss Died Early Wednesday

Louis Fuss, who has been in poor health for some time, passed away at Hillcrest hospital at 5:30 Wednesday morning. His passing was a great shock to everyone as he was well known in Ord and vicinity, where he was very highly esteemed. He has been troubled with diabetes for some time, and this condition was complicated by internal ulcers. About a month ago he was injured, and this injury was the final blow that resulted in his death.

Louis was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Fuss, formerly of Mira Valley but more recently of Grand Island, and was married to Rose Bredthauer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Bredthauer. In addition to these relatives he leaves to mourn his passing two sons and a daughter and a large number of other relatives.

Funeral services will be held from the home Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, and at the Mira Valley Lutheran church at 1:30, and burial will be made in the Scotia cemetery. The pastor Rev. Wm. Bahr, will have charge of the services. A complete obituary will be given in next week's Quiz.

Football Banquet Well Attended

Ord Squad and Kenneth McGinnis Honored By Ord Business Men.

Over 150 Ord football enthusiasts attended the honorary football banquet sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary club which was held in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening.

KENNETH MCGINNIS.
Honorary guests included Kenneth McGinnis, star on Coach D. X. Bible's 1935 and 1936 Cornhusker eleven and the entire Ord high school championship football squad which captured both the

First National Bank Declares Dividend

The past five years of depression have been a problem for the banks as well as all other lines of business and in that time few, if any, banks have declared a dividend. This year, however, the First National Bank takes pleasure in stating that a dividend of ten per cent has been declared on common stock. This may be taken as one of the many signs the long period of depression is drawing to a close, and that we may hope for better conditions in the future.

Membership Drive By Safety Council

The Nebraska State Safety Council, organized in 1936, is a non-political, non-sectarian organization and must rely upon the sale of memberships in the organization at 25c each for any financial aid it is to receive.

A membership campaign, to support the Nebraska State Safety Council, is to be conducted in Valley county next week. Every motorist in Valley County will be solicited to purchase a membership in the Nebraska State Safety Council. A membership card will be issued to the purchaser, accompanied by a windshield sticker for his car, to identify him as a member of this organization.

This membership campaign will be conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary of Ord, and the Auxiliary urges every motorist to purchase a membership and thus support this worthy cause. The Nebraska State Safety pays no executive salaries. Every dollar collected through the sale of memberships in the organization is expended in the interest of safety.

The material reduction in accidents in Nebraska this year, as shown by the record, indicates the effectiveness of the work of this organization.

Southern Firm Bids $100,650 on Canal Work, Gets Contr'ct

Jackson, Miss., Contractor To Construct 68 Miles; Right-of-Way News.

The Edward W. Morgan Co., Inc., of Jackson, Miss., was the low bidder on the entire 68 miles of canal to be dug in connection with the North Loup project and last Thursday morning their bid of $100,650.04 was accepted by directors. As soon as the bid is approved by the Public Works Administration a contract will be given to the Morgan people.

Within sixty days after the contract is signed, the southern contractor will be required to have his equipment on the ground ready to start work and he must push the canals to completion with all possible speed.

The Edward W. Morgan Co., Inc., is said to be one of the largest construction outfits in the country, and will bring sufficient equipment to Ord so that work may start on all canals at the same time. Quite a number of local men will be given employment when work starts.

About 75 representatives of various contractors, state and federal agencies, etc., were in Ord for the big letting Thursday. Twenty-four bids were considered by directors of the district. Some contractors bid on the whole 68 miles, some on only one of the five sections of canal and some on two or three sections, but a compilation of bids found the Jackson, Miss., firm's bid of $100,650.04 considerably the lowest.

Next lowest bidder was Mike Haase, of Kansas City, with $104,192, and third lowest was Morrison-Knudsen, of Jefferson City, Mo., with $113,888.50. Bids from California, Texas and Colorado and other states, as well as many from Omaha and Lincoln firms, were on file.

The Edward W. Morgan company had no representative here but was notified by telegraph that its bid was low.

While not entirely completed, right-of-way signing on the various canals is progressing rapidly, a summary furnished the Quiz by E. H. Dumire, engineer-manager, proves. A total of 77.95 per cent of the required acreage on all canals has been signed.

On the Ord-North Loup canal 180.46 acres has been signed, with 32.92 remaining to be optioned. On the Taylor-Ord canal 350.34 acres have been signed, 79.88 acres yet to sign. On the Burwell-Sumter canal 206.03 acres have been signed, 95.66 acres yet to sign. Percentages of acreage signed on the various canals follow: Ord-North Loup, 84.72; Taylor-Ord, 81.47; Burwell-Sumter, 68.29.

Wm. Bisher, Taylor, Invents Sand Trap

William Bisher of near Taylor was in Ord Thursday on business. He and five of his neighbors had a bid in on the pump ditch just below Taylor, expecting to do the work with teams and slips in case they were given the contract. While he had hoped to get the job, he said that if they could get the water on his land he would get along all right. Mr. Bisher has eighty acres which will be under the ditch and he is a very ardent booster for the project.

Mr. Bisher remembers the ditches of the early days, and says that the chief cause of their failure was the difficulty of keeping the sand from filling them up. Being of an inventive turn of mind, he has devised and patented a principle which he says will turn the sand back into the river and keep only clear water in the ditches. It is automatic in operation and needs no attention after it is once installed.

Last spring he made a trip down to Boelus, where he found the ditch so filled with sand that no water would run into it. If the idea is as good as Mr. Bisher claims it is, the one big objection to irrigation in the Loup valleys should be overcome. A. R. McMinnans of Burwell has a small model of the device on display and those who have seen it say that it really does the work.

McBeth Car Damaged.

At the noon hour Tuesday two cars collided on the northwest corner of the square with resulting damages to both. Ladislav Kvetensky of Elyria, headed north did not stop for the stop sign, and hit Lyle McBeth's car, going east, damaging the right rear fender and turning the car part way round on the icy pavement. Kvetensky's car blew a front tire and both front fenders were damaged. As he was clearly in the wrong he settled the damage to McBeth's car amounting to $20.00 and both are glad the damage was no worse.

My Own Column By H. D. Leggett

The sudden passing on Christmas day, of Arthur Brisbane strikes sorrow to the heart of millions of admiring readers. The highest paid newspaper editor in the world, he had the faculty of presenting the news of the world briefly, but in such a way that a reader could see a picture of the thing written about. There is no one at present writing for the newspapers, who has the ability to gather the news and present it in clear simple language, as could Mr. Brisbane.

On another page is a story clipped from a recent issue of the Grand Island Daily Independent, in which the sheriff of Hall county says he is going to enforce the traffic laws and warns violators that no favors will be shown. The state sheriff is also quoted as having given orders that traffic laws be enforced. Inquiry in Ord indicates that the public believes that not much effort is made to enforce the speed laws here. If a campaign is not put on now to curb fast driving and if another serious accident occurs, then it will be easy to place the responsibility.

I presume arrangements have already been made to slow up the traffic on the pavement which passes through Ord. If such arrangements have not been made, I am sure that they will be at once, for another such accident as happened a few days ago must not be repeated. Several who live on that strip of road would welcome a chance to move off. One family did so some months ago because of the fear that some of their children would be victims of the speed demons who constantly drive up and down that road.

A few arrests of flagrant violators with the publicity that would surely result, would soon be heard over the whole country and Ord would slow down. One of the worst offenders live in Ord and they should be caught, then farm-visit visitors, if they get a complaint. It would be a shame however, to miss the sports at home who offend from a distance.

Edward Manastl is the sort of man that I have been reading to believe he is, he has learned a lesson that will never permit him to again drive an automobile at an unreasonable speed. He will probably drive down the Ord highway many times but he will never drive into Ord from the west without a shudder. If he is the sort of boy that he should be and that I believe he is, he will carry the memory of his terrible accident with him as long as he lives.

The 1937 cook calendars? Sure. You may not get them till after you read this but it won't be long now. The automatic printing press has been running nine or ten hours a day on them for several days. There are more than one hundred thousand in existence in making up the 1937 calendar and it takes quite a while to run that many through the press. By the way, why not start now and send us some recipes for the Cook's Column-Yum. I heard my Missus tell me that meat loaf recipes had been neglected and a few of those are in order right now.

During the recent campaign much was said about the farm tenancy or renter problem and speakers for both political parties agreed that something ought to be done about it. President Roosevelt has started to do something by appointing a commission, headed by Secretary Wallace, to study the problem and make a report. The daily press says in speaking of the committee, "farm leaders, teachers in agricultural colleges, welfare workers and church leaders, were named." It might not have been a bad idea if someone had thought to put a real dirt farmer on the committee.

It is a funny thing. When a commission is to be named to study religious matters only doctors of divinity are named; when educational matters are to be studied teachers are the only ones named; when matters of health are to be given an airing doctors of medicine are the only ones thought of; but when a farm problem is to be studied real farmers are not thought of but men from all the other avocations are picked. Perhaps the powers that be think the farmers need to stay home and slop the hogs.

There is nothing in a name. A man at Ocala, Fla., has just talked himself to death and his name was Stillman. Had he been a woman no one would have expected him to be still and talking himself to death would have occasioned no surprise in fact it is surprising that a lot of women don't go the same way. Inflammation of that part of the brain which controls speech caused Mr. Stillman to talk steadily for 18 days and he died from exhaustion. Now I suppose the women will be sore.

Peiping, China, has just received 2,000 coffins ordered for incurable drug addicts who will be put out of their misery right after the beginning of the new year. All are treated at government expense and a cure is effected if possible, but if they cannot be cured they are executed. The daily press a few days ago showed pictures of eight of "the best known and most successful pickpockets in the United States." They were rounded up at Kansas City where they came to operate during the national convention of one of the political parties. Guarded until the convention was over they were turned loose to go their several ways and rob right and left.

Senator Dick Regan of Calumet oldest member of the unicameral legislature announces that he will introduce a bill to extend the debt moratorium two years more. Senator Regan was one of the leaders of the last regular and special session and will take high rank in the new legislature. I believe such a bill will be passed and made into law by the signature of Governor Cochran speedily. With two crop failures and only one good crop in ten years in central and western Nebraska and with several other of the short crops mighty slim, it is not surprising that there is great need for such a moratorium. Had good crops been the rule even the last two years it would not have been necessary.

I am very much gratified at the progress our young artist, Lavern Duemey, is making. You noticed that we had some good engravings last week and we have got some more this week. It is only going to be a few weeks till we will be able to print lots of engravings. I hope we may have from eight to a dozen each week.

Judge E. P. Clements is quite an authority on cooking, in fact he is a pretty good cook himself. In discussing the merits of various dishes while eating the Christmas dinner, the question of gravies somehow came up and the Judge gave it as his opinion that it was almost, if not quite, a crime not to make gravy to serve with a baked fowl. Arrangements will be made to have a law passed to stop the practice of serving baked fowl without gravy, if there is such a practice.

A time honored custom in the Leggett family at this season of the year, is buckwheat cakes and home made pork sausage for breakfast, so one day lately I got a sack of what the storeman said was pure buckwheat flour and a package of yeast-foam. Not having any home made sausage I told the Missus to set the cakes and I would go down and get some of Otto's Best. But before I got to do that my good friend Bert Cornell came in and handed me a nice package and said, "Homer, there is some real home made sausage for your breakfast." And was it good. Good buckwheat cakes with home made sausage and a liberal amount of the sausage gravy sloped over the cakes. After the first dozen or so I like to add a half teaspoon or so of maple syrup to each helping of cakes. With a couple of cups of black coffee, I claim there is no better breakfast. Thanks Bert.

E. C. Helbig Writes.
In a letter received this week from E. C. Helbig of Morrill, Neb., he asks the Quiz to correct an impression that might have been implied in an article printed some time ago. The fact is that Mr. Helbig is getting along very nicely when conditions over the country are considered. Any adverse conditions he has met with are not of a serious nature, and are due to drought conditions, which while not so noticeable there, nevertheless have an effect. His difficulty is that he has been unable to collect money due him, and therefore cannot fulfill the contract he entered into there.

For this reason they are looking for a new location, and plan on locating in the Riverton country in Wyoming in the spring. This is one of the most prosperous of the new communities of the west, and the writer joins with the many friends of the Helbigs in Ord, North Loup and Burwell in wishing them the best of success in their new location. They have been reading with regret of the death of many of their old friends here, and wish to extend their sympathy to the bereaved families.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to take this means of extending our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their assistance and many acts of kindness during the illness and after the death of our husband and father.

Something Different

Through the direct work of the Red Cross, numbers of nice Christmas dinners were presented to those who lacked them. Some of the donors simply selected the groceries and had them put in a box; others went to more work, making pies, cooking the meat, etc. Toys for the children were stacked on top of most of the baskets before they were delivered.

Those who gave Christmas dinners did not all give the same kind of food. Some practical givers thought the box simply had to include flour, sugar, eggs, potatoes, butter as well as the meat, vegetables, fruits and candies, most of them contained. Some givers included hominy, rice, navy beans, macaroni, those good old economical foods that go so far, have lots of nourishment for little money.

Other boxes went to the other extreme, containing only the delicacies accustomed to be found on the Christmas table, celery, cranberries, turkey pie, etc. Mrs. John Misko spent more than a day at the telephone to secure dinners for all those who needed them. Mrs. William Carlton delivered a great many of them, furnished what information she could as to the ages of the children, provided what suitable toys she could from the many brought to her.

Mrs. Carlton was still delivering Christmas baskets Christmas morning, five or six of them yet awaiting delivery. She had spent most of the day before at the same task.

It is significant of something or other, I suppose, that some of the Ord families commonly called well-to-do, reputed to have the most in material possessions, to be making the best living, declining to provide an extra Christmas dinner for a needy family, no matter how small a family.

A number of Ord business men have been spending pre-Christmas evenings in the basement of Orville Sowl. There they took old toys, collected from many friends, and made them into newer ones for new little friends.

Some toys were taken all apart, had new internals, springs and what-not put in them. Others only needed a new string, a wheel or two. Most of them looked better after a fresh coat of bright paint.

More than one hundred toys received this face-lifting treatment. Little Ord Campfire girls did much the same thing.

A year or two ago I wrote about the dolls that really drink from bottles, really wet their diapers. Out of it the principal thing I got was a smart crack from Fred Howard (Clay County Sun) about "they had a live model like that at their house."

For Christmas Cora Lee Anderson received one of these dolls. It was what she had been wanting, and she was tickled to death. But her elders were considerably amazed to watch her train this dolly.

Cora Lee, a modern child, gave her doll milk or water, as per the instructions with the doll. But after twenty-four hours or so, the doll ceased to need any more dry diapers. For the little five year old Doll-mama would whisk off the dolly's diapers, carefully set the dolly on her little pot.

Invitations are out for a New Year's afternoon tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Whelan, it being the Whelans' custom to entertain their friends in this manner each year.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

20 Years Ago This Week.
An oil stove set fire to the bathroom of the Huff apartments, over the Huff garage, and for a time it looked like the whole building would go up in smoke. Fast work on the part of the family finally extinguished the fire before it spread.

A flashlight, box of golf balls and keys kept in the cash register were stolen from the Johnson drug store. New locks were fitted so the keys could not be used to enter the store another time.

Valley county's new officials were taking their places, the group including Roy Hagemler, elected clerk of the district court to succeed L. R. Bright, George S. Munn, new county attorney, Wilson Bell, new sheriff, and H. L. Cushing, new school superintendent. I. T. Tolson was re-elected county treasurer and retained Will Heuck as his deputy and Wm. Bartlett was re-elected county clerk. Judge Gudmundsen also won reelection.

The K. of P. lodge held open house on New Year's day, a feature of their program being music by a quartet composed of P. C. Winslow and W. A. Wright.

H. B. Campbell sold his 80 acre farm at auction, Nels Sorensen being the purchaser. Blind Ed, well known Ord character, got pretty well tanked up and was saved from death by Chris Helleberg, who found him wandering aimlessly down the railway track just as the evening train was arriving.

The Union Pacific announced that a new motor train with two compartments seating 100 passengers comfortably would be put on the Ord run, during January. Mrs. James Misko was at the depot to meet a brother, Philip Barnhart, whom she hadn't seen for eight years.

25 Years Ago This Week.
New postoffice fixtures arrived and plans were made to move the office into its new quarters in the Milford building by the following Sunday.

For the first time in 14 years the Geo. F. Siler family held a reunion with all members present. Ed and Will came down from South Dakota and Mrs. Luse from Oklahoma for the occasion. Will Ramsey and John Haskell, on a dare exchanged early in the fall, were sleeping in tents every night during the winter. Weather had been below zero much of the time but neither had missed a night in the open.

C. H. Cromwell died after an operation at the Mayo hospital.

Thirteen Ord women organized a "needle and tongue" club, the frankly avowed purpose of which was to spend alternate Friday evenings in sewing and conversation. Members were Madams Capron, Bundy, Davies, Frick, Kokes, McNutt, Marschel, Mutter, Parks, Partridge, Staple, Timm and Work.

A sleigh ride party was given for Frank Noy three sleighs being used. An oyster supper at the James Noy home followed. The class of 1911 was given a reception at the G. W. Newbecker home, hostesses being Ruth Hoepfner and Ruth Work.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the neighbors and friends who were so kind and assisted us in every way possible during and since our terrible bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Rogers and John.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams, Chris Beters and C. B. Gudmundsen were Christmas eve guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Kuehl.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

Trees.
It will soon be time to order trees for planting. The country has been so denuded the last few years on account of drought and lack of money to buy fuel that it stands in hand for everyone to plant a few trees for the next fellow, in payment to the man who forty years ago planted and saved the young trees so we could have them now.

From experience we know better what to plant than they did in early days. We know the box elder is not a long lived tree. The American elm has proved to be unable to stand the drought of the last few years. In cutting down the huge elms in front of Mrs. E. J. Babcock's the rings showed them to be about 43 years. But who wants to plant and nurture a tree for 43 years only to have it die of drought.

The ash is not a long lived tree but makes fine fuel. The maple does not usually live long here. We are simmered down to a few varieties, most of which are natives of this country.

Old timers will tell us that the only trees that were here in the beginning were the hackberry, the cottonwood, the elm, ash, scrub oak, box elder, willow along the river and the cedar.

Very few hackberries have died in this drought. In a sense the hackberry is a native. The cottonwood has stood the hazards if they were planted on low ground. There are no trees that grow as swiftly as they. Everyone speaks a good word for the new tree, the Chinese elm. It is a little different than the American elm, growing straighter and has a smaller leaf. Apparently it is very drought resistant. As yet it is an experiment.

When it comes to conifers it is only safe here to plant the cedar. The cedar is not popular but many think they would rather have a live cedar as a wind break than a dead spruce. If we must have a spruce, the blue is the most hardy. It is also the most expensive. It is not the drought alone that kills the spruce and pines, but the heat. Their native ground is the cooler mountains. We may have a hot summer anytime. Many old timers think this country would have been all covered with cedar had it not been for fires. There has been very few of them die in the last few years. They are natives. They know how to take the gaff.

We should select our variety of tree with much thought, and largely from the standpoint of hardiness and longevity and not from sentiment, whim or desire. We are not in a position in this country to be choicy for we have found this not to be a tree country and all varieties will not grow here. We plant a tree in our yard, hoping it to be a more or less permanent thing, giving comfort and pleasure to us for many years and to perhaps last on for the next fellow. In timbered countries trees live on and on hundreds and even thousands of years and are often more treasured and valued for the associations they have witnessed than the ground they sit on. It is not worth the effort to plant a tree, water it and care for it, just to have it die in ten years or forty-eight years as Mrs. Babcock has had to experience. Those trees her husband struggled with and prided in and it seems like Mrs. Babcock is losing part of her life to have them die. We may have another drought again.

Small trees should be cultivated the first few years and fenced from livestock. A person just as well save his effort as to plant trees and then allow livestock to Room in the Florida House in Which "Ma" Barker Was Killed.

"MA" BARKER

THE G-men killed a woman—a mother—in their famous siege of the Karpis-Barker gang's hideout on Lake Weir, Florida—but what a woman!

As a mother, she had taught her four boys how to rob, kidnap and murder.

She had given them private lessons in the fine art of loading and firing a Thompson submachine gun.

She had plotted crimes for them, obtained paroles for them, chided them when they bungled a job, patted them on the back when they carried out her carefully planned outrages.

Screaming with rage, she had turned a machine gun on agents of the federal bureau of investigation who called on her to surrender at Lake Weir—and she died with that gun, still smoking, in her hands.

Such was the "untimely end" of Kate Barker, known to the underworld of the midwestern "crime corridor" of a few years back as "Ma."

"Ma" Barker died with her bank-robbing, kidnaping son, Fred, in a palatial eight-room frame house rented by the Karpis-Barker gang near Oklawaha, Fla.

From the agent who led the raid on that house and from data in the files of the F. B. I., this writer has obtained a first-hand official account of the spectacular end of Kate and Fred Barker, and of the incidents which led to discovery by the G-men of the Florida fortress.

The trail leading to the Barkers began when experts in the technical laboratory of the F. B. I. identified fingerprints, found on gasoline cans in the Bremer kidnaping, as those of Arthur ("Doc") Barker, paroled murderer and son of Kate.

"Doc" Barker had a sweetheart in Chicago whose name was learned by the F. B. I. agents investigating associates of the gang. For six weeks agents shadowed her.

Finally, the long vigilance was rewarded. "Doc" Barker arrived at the girl's apartment one day, but the agents waited in the hope that other members of the gang also would appear. For four days thereafter, the agents trailed Barker and the girl on pleasure jaunts and shopping tours about Chicago—and on several occasions they were seen to enter another apartment, not far away from the girl's.

Agents were "planted" to watch the second apartment, on Pine Grove avenue. They saw two men and two women come and go from this apartment at various times—but the men were not known to the G-men.

On January 8, after "Doc" Barker had been seen in his girl's apartment and the other quartet had been "checked in" at the Pine Grove avenue place, it was decided to raid both apartments simultaneously, or nearly so.

Just before the hour for the raids, Barker and the girl emerged from the latter's apartment, and waiting agents, with drawn guns, closed in on them. "Doc" Barker started to run, slipped on some ice, fell to the ground and was seized before he could arise. The girl was taken without a struggle. It was not necessary to fire a shot.

The couple was taken to the F. B. I. office quietly, and the agents hurried to aid their fellow officers at the Pine Grove avenue flat.

The inspector in charge went into the lobby and called over the house telephone to the apartment upstairs in which it was believed members of the gang were living. A woman answered. He asked for "Mr. Bolton," meaning Byron Bolton, known to be a member of the Karpis-Barker mob. The woman asked who was calling, and the inspector thereupon identified himself as a federal agent and demanded that everyone in the apartment come down the steps with uplifted hands.

There was a frightened outcry as the phone was hung up.

A moment later, the door of the apartment was opened and two women came down the stairs, with hands raised high above their heads. They were followed by Byron Bolton, likewise evidencing submission.

The trio was asked why the other man did not come down. The inspector warned that resistance would mean gunfire and that the apartment building was completely surrounded by armed agents.

One of the women, frightened by this warning, shouted a plea to "Daddy" to surrender. "Daddy" was Russell Gibson, alias "Slim" Gray.

Gibson meanwhile put on a bulletproof vest, picked up a Browning automatic rifle, turned the lights out in the kitchen and stepped onto the back porch. Agents saw him and called on him to surrender.

Instead, Gibson opened fire with the rifle in an effort to clear the way and started to run down the back steps. An agent stationed at the rear returned the fire, and Gibson fell the remainder of the way down—fatally wounded.

In the apartment were found three Browning automatic rifles, two .351 automatic rifles, four automatic pistols, a sawed-off shotgun, steel vests and a large quantity of ammunition.

Most important of all, however, was a torn letter found in the apartment. The salvaged portion of the letter was not signed and had no address, but it referred to the pleasant life the writer was leading in Florida. It mentioned a lake with a houseboat on it and an alligator in it. The alligator, it said, was named "Old Joe."

With no more clues to follow than these, F. B. I. agents began a search for a lake in Florida with a houseboat and an alligator known as "Old Joe."

Believe it or not, the third lake visited by the agents answered the description given in the letter, completely.

Houses fronting on this lake were investigated discreetly and one was found that had aroused suspicions of neighbors because of "strange goings-on." The occupants were described as a stout old woman of disreputable appearance, her son and daughter-in-law—"Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn"—and two other couples. The other couples, it was learned, had departed in an automobile that morning. The description of the old woman and her son fitted "Ma" and Fred Barker.

More agents were rushed to Oklawaha by plane and automobile and plans were made to raid the house the next morning at dawn.

At 7 a. m., it was light enough to see the figure of a man sleeping on a cot at the front door. The inspector in charge of the raid stepped forward toward the front porch and shouted a demand that the occupants come out of the house, hands raised.

Fred Barker jumped from the cot and ran upstairs.

The agents heard "Ma" Barker's raucous voice yell:

"All right—go ahead!"

The inspector shouted: "O. K., come on. Fred first. You'll come out first, Fred, if you have the nerve!"

Immediately, "Ma" Barker was seen to step to a window and open fire with a machine gun on the inspector, who jumped behind a shed.

Fred simultaneously began firing a powerful automatic rifle at an agent who had taken refuge behind a small tree.

"Ma" and Fred began to concentrate their fire on the agent behind the tree near the shed. Seeing that the agent—a trusted companion—would soon be killed by the rifle bullets, which were easily capable of penetrating the tree, the inspector deliberately dashed from behind the shed to draw the fire away from the agent.

Running and dodging across the lawn for a few feet, the inspector threw himself headlong toward the front porch of the house and rolled over and over as bullets from "Ma's" machine gun threw dirt in his eyes and whistled around his ears. By getting close to the house, he was able to get out of range of fire, as the Barkers would have had to expose themselves in the window in order to aim at him.

Before long, the firing from within the house ceased, and, after several hail had gone unanswered, the agents entered the bullet-riddled house.

Fred Barker had fallen on his face, with a .45 caliber automatic in his hand.

"Ma" Barker lay on the floor, still caressing her machine gun, which she had reloaded with a 100-shot drum. The drum had been partly used up.

In the house, the agents found another machine gun, three rifles, three automatic pistols, a number of bullet-proof vests and a large quantity of ammunition.

The two couples who had departed not long before the G-men arrived, it developed later, were Alvin Karpis and Harry Campbell and their women.

A few days later, they shot their way out of a police trap at Atlantic City—only to be hunted down and captured eventually—without gunfire—by J. Edgar Hoover and his men in sensational raids at New Orleans and Toledo.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD

—Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Nordstrom of Comstock visited in Ord Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spray and son Ronald are on their Christmas vacation, and are visiting her people at Gering, Nebr.

—Mrs. Cecil Clark was taken to the hospital Wednesday and had several teeth extracted by Dr. F. L. Blessing.

—Mrs. Maude Clement of North Loup spent three days in Ord visiting relatives, returning home on the bus Monday.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schrader left Monday for Bloomfield, Nebr., for a short vacation. They planned to visit at Pierce and Norfolk also if the weather permitted.

—Miss Helen Russell, who has been in Ord two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Russell, went back to her school work at the Nebraska Central college at Central City Tuesday.

—Through error the name of Mr. Rendell's daughter was printed by the Quiz last week as Mrs. Elsie B. Lee. It should have read Mrs. Elsie L. Bell, of Sterling, Colo. We regret the error.

—James O'Neal of Holyoke, Colo., was in Ord Wednesday of last week for a few hours visit with his brother, F. P. O'Neal and family. He was on his way to Orchard, Nebr., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brayton over Christmas.

—Miss Verna Stowell, who has been teaching the Sumter school handed in her resignation at the close of the 1936 school work. Her place will be taken by Miss Wilna Schoning when school opens after vacation.

—Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Jurgensen of Fullerton came up Christmas eve for a visit with her sister, Mrs. August Petersen. Sunday they all went up to Burwell and ate Christmas dinner with their brother, Lloyd Alderman and family and other relatives.

—Miss Angela Szumski, who has been making her home with her brother, Rev. Szumski, at Elyria, left by train for Dupont, Pa., last week to visit her parents. She will return to Elyria in February. Father Szumski accompanied her as far as Omaha and spent Christmas with friends.

—Relatives here last week to attend the funeral of C. A. Ager included Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hager and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Moul, all of York; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Moul, Roy Hager, John Hager and Gale Hager, all of Lushton. His son, Dr. Chauncey A. Hager, jr., expects to return to his work with the Lahey clinic in Boston on Friday.

—Misses Clara and Vera McClatchey spent Christmas with their sister, Mrs. C. E. Jenkins and family at Polk, Nebr. While there they phoned to another sister, Gladys Walters in Washington, D. C. and learned that she was entertaining three former Ord women, Nell Storer, Jessie Ferguson and Lora Smith.

—Two exchanges, the North Loup Loyalist and the Atkinson Graphic, came out on Christmas day, which came on their regular publication day, Friday. They are to be congratulated. It may mean some inconvenience to the force, but it earns them a reputation for regularity and dependability that more than offsets this minor detail.

—A Christmas party was held at the Ralph Burson home which was a sort of homecoming for all the Bursons. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burson and family, of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. John Burson, of Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. George Burson, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burson, Mrs. Joe Burson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitford and son Clifford, of Santa Ana, Calif., Mrs. Oliver Wickerheim, of Orange, Calif., and Miss Alice Burson.

—A farewell party was given at the George Burson home Sunday, the following persons being present: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Garner and daughter of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack VanCleve and children, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitford and son Clifford, Mrs. Oliver Wickerheim, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Burson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gray, Miss Clara Wilson, Jimmy Nelson and Joe Fryzek. Mrs. Wickerheim, who is a daughter of the Whitfords, left with her brother Clifford for California Monday and Mr. and Mrs. Whitford will leave the latter part of the week in case her father improves.

An unusual Christmas was observed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Duryea Friday, December 25, when his children were all assembled with their families to celebrate Christmas and the twenty-fifth wedding anniversaries of Mr. Duryea's two daughters, Lillie and Daisy. His son Abe jr., was married seven years ago. All three children being married on Christmas day. This is the first time the children have all been home to celebrate for ten years. The same decorations were used, and seating arrangements at the dinner, as nearly as possible, the same as they were 25 years ago in the same house. The dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Russell, Jean and Joe of Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rider and Carl of Fort Scott, Kas., Mrs. R. D. Lindsey, Peggy, Alma, and Alene of Glendale, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Abe Duryea, Jr., Leta Rae, Bonnie and Bobbie of Bingham, Nebr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Russell and Donnie of McCook, Nebr., Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Junk of Ansley, Mrs. Olga Varney and son Euclair of Ansley, Everett Duryea of Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Duryea and Al Duryea, all of Arcadia. Open house was held from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon for all their friends and a very large number called to meet them and extend happy greetings. Orangeade with white and dark cake were served all the calling guests. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Russell operated a bakery in Arcadia about 20 years ago. Mr. Rider had charge of the newspaper for several years in Arcadia.

Skating Season Attracts Interest

"Come on folks, dig those old ice skates out of the basement and let's go skating!"

With the mercury doing a diving act in the past week, numerous Ord people—both adults and children—have dug skates out of the attic, the basement or the garage, had them sharpened and away they go!

Most of the skating thus far has taken place on Dane Creek or the well known Patchen ice pond. As soon as the Rotary club-sponsored ice skating rink is completed, this will undoubtedly attract the largest portion of the Ord ice skaters.

P. C. T. Stage Depot Into New Location

On about January 1 Wilford Williams will move the P. C. T. bus depot to the new location, which will be two blocks east of where it has been for the past fifteen years. It will be in the building now occupied by A. J. Meyer as an implement building.

This building belongs to a man named Doryhan in Grand Island. He was up a few days ago making arrangements to have the building put in shape for its new purpose. In some respects this will be a better location for the depot than the present one, as it is only a block off No. 11 as it comes into town from the south, and there is less traffic congestion, which has been more or less of a problem for some time. This move was made necessary when Broken Bow men leased the Travis building for the purpose of opening a Ford sales and service establishment.

At the close of 1936 it might be of interest to the public to know some facts about the bus business out of Ord. Williams gives out the following figures for the past two years: Total paid fares in 1935, 6,501. Total paid fares in 1936, 7,205, or a gain of 704 over 1935. These figures do not include any cases where a bus was chartered. The amount of gasoline used for 1936 totals 11,172 gallons. This figured at the current price of about 20c makes the cost of gasoline alone more than $200 per month.

Loup Valley and Mid Six football trophies for the 1936 season. John Williams and Fred Shirey, representatives from the University of Nebraska, were present with movies of Cornhusker games played this fall. Harold Patz, Cornhusker was unable to attend the Ord banquet, leaving this week for the coast to film the East-West grid classic on New Years.

C. C. Dale acted as toastmaster for the evening's ceremonies and cleverly introduced each individual on the program. After the toastmaster's introductory speech, head coach Helmut F. Brockman was introduced who in turn presented each of the players on the 1936 Chanticleer football squad. Kenneth McGinnis gave a short speech in which he thanked the Rotary and Chamber of Commerce for the splendid banquet and praised the Ord football team for its excellent record.

At this time the Mid Six athletic conference football trophy was awarded to the Ord football team. Harold Haskell, honorary co-captain, received the trophy as a representative from the entire team. The Loup Valley conference football trophy was not awarded at this time because, as a matter of custom, this trophy is given to the winning team at the close of each Loup Valley basketball tournament.

Fred Shirey, who played two years at tackle position on the Cornhusker eleven, gave a short address in which he stated that any team which has completed a two year stretch of undefeated play like the Chanticleers have just completed, has "worked hard and long, with the co-operation of every single member." John Williams, better known to fans as merely "Johnny" and who has played every position on the Husker team at some time or other, commended the Ord team on its fine record and the quality of football that Coach Brockman is teaching Ord gridmen. Following the speeches, movies of the Pittsburgh Indiana, Chicago, Oregon State and Iowa State games were shown by Johnny Williams. The movies, which could be run backwards as well as forwards, provided much entertainment as well as showing expert football playing in the making.

Decorations were all completed in the official school colors—red and white, with the main table decorations being formed by candles joined together with crepe paper to make tiny goalposts. A girl's trio composed of Dorothy Auble, Ruth Auble, and Marjorie Coe sang two selections "Organgrinder's Swing" and "When Did You Leave Heaven." Arthur Auble, accordionist, accompanied by Keo Auble at the piano, played dinner music for the banquet.

Peterson Ahead In Checker Tournament

The first of a series of checker games was played at the Clayt McGrew shop Tuesday evening, with ten players in the competition. When the smoke of battle cleared away C. Peterson led with a total of 135; Ed Burrows was second with 125; Clayt McGrew, Nels Bossen and a gentleman from Mira Valley whose name got lost in the shuffle each had 120; LaVerne Burrows and Bud Bell each had 115; Raymond Burrows had 80; Harry Foth had 75; and Jake Beehrle brought up the rear with 25. The boys forgot to tell the writer how they figured the score, and if each point represents a game they must have been going some. Another series will be played next Tuesday evening, and any who wish are invited to attend.

F. M. Vodehnal has one of the most interesting trades of the community, and a very sweet one, too, that of manufacturing honey. To help distinguish the hives, he has painted a lady's name on each hive. Just recently he showed me a shipment of honey container labels he had received, 1,000 in all. They are very attractive and are seen in many Ord stores on his product.

Married Fifty Years. The Omaha Bee for Wednesday contains a picture of Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Hosman, who will have been married fifty years on Feb. 3. They took time by the forelock and held open house while their children were home on Wednesday. Rev. Hosman is 73 and his wife 67 although they hardly look to be that age. At one time he was pastor of the Ord Methodist church, and his son, E. M. Hosman was superintendent of the Ord school for several years.

Chanticleers Open Season Tuesday Against Sargent

Coach Helmut Brockman's Ord high school basketball team will open the 1937 cage season next Tuesday evening as they meet Sargent high on the Ord court. This is the second game of the season for the Bulldogs and the first conference game of the season for the Ordites, although two unofficial practice games have been played by the Ord quint.

Coach Copeland's Sargent crew opened the season about two weeks ago by winning a double header from Coach Tuning's crew. Sargent in this game started off with a bang, Mauler registering two points in the first five seconds of play. Throughout the game the Sargent team played fast, aggressive, heads-up basketball. Petet is the eagle eye of the team, this man swishing 13 counters through the ropes in the Arcadia tussle.

Chanticleers in Shape.
Under the capable tutelage of Coach Brockman the "A" squad of the Chanticleer basketball forces has been holding workouts daily during the holiday season in order to keep in shape.

The quint that will start the game Tuesday night will probably be made up entirely of last year's lettermen—a veteran outfit. Dean Barta will probably get the whistle for the center post, Don Tunnicliff and Harry Zulkoski will be seen at the forward positions, and Dale Hughes and Gerald Clark will take charge of the guard positions.

Other members who will undoubtedly see action for the Chanticleers are Elno Zikmund, Harold Haskell, Charles Cetak, Don Severson, Don Dahlin and Edwin Hitchman.

Second Team to Play.

The opening game will be a double-header, both first and second teams will see action. In the initial tilt of the season for the Sargent quint they set down the Arcadia second stringers to the tune of 36 to 10. This game which will be a preliminary event will probably see the following Ord boys seeing service at times during the game: Boyd Rose, Russell Rose, Arden Clark, Raymond Tatlow, Junior James, Jack Petty, Donald Vincent, Dean Blessing and Robert Green.

Game is "Feeler."
This opening contest is regarded as a "feeler" by the many Ord fans. The strength of the Ord five this year is as yet unknown but it will receive a severe trial on Jan. 8, three days after the Sargent game when the Chanticleers travel to Kearney to play the Fearcats.

St. Paul Beats Elba.

Smarting under a 32-16 defeat handed them the week before by a fast Dannebrog quint, Coach Fred Weekes' Apostles won their second game of the season by rolling over Elba, 37-27. A shifted lineup with Davis at center, Moravec and Q. Lynch at forwards and LeGate and Christensen at guards was the combination which turned on the heat in the third quarter to give the Wildcats their win. Davis and LeGate led the scoring. The second team made it two wins without defeat by downing the Elba seconds 29 to 11.

Burwell Awards Letters.

Sixteen boys have been awarded football letters at Burwell high school. Boys who had played seven quarters or more were awarded letters. Leo Butts has been selected as honorary captain of the Burwell quad for 1936.

Lettermen include: Leo Butts, Francis Graves, Robert Bangert, Billy Beat, Billy Banks, Stanley Owens, Rubeen Sorenson, Maynard Sitton, Wilson Shafer, Carol Demaree, Leslie DeLashmutt, Harry DeLashmutt, Billy Grunkemeyer, Dale Sizemore, Billie Anderson and Rex Ilgenfritz.

The 1937 holdout season was open ahead of schedule last Wednesday because Charles "Red" Lucas figured the Pittsburgh Pirates didn't play Santa Clause. Lucas said his baseball employers took a great deal of joy out of his Christmas when they made out his new contract. There was a raise but Red argued it wasn't enough.

Gold "Cotton Bowl" watches will be presented to 60 members of the Texas Christian and Marquette football squads after their New Year's day clash at Dallas, Tex. The winning team of the Cotton Bowl classic will be given a gold trophy, three feet high, for its trophy chest.

Five outstanding newcomers have reached championship or record smashing heights during 1936. Baseball—Joe DiMaggio, freshman outfield star of the New York Yankees, and Bob Feller, American league strikeout king in his first year with Cleveland.

Track and Field—Glenn Morris, world champion in the decathlon in his first year at all-around competition.

Golf—Pam Barton, British girl who lifted the American women's crown after capturing the British title.

Polo—Stewart Iglehart, now rated with Tommy Hitchcock at 10-goal peak.

They are still arguing about Larry Kelley's famous "soccer kick" against Navy. Motion pictures of this year's No. 1 freak play indicate it wasn't accidental at all. So what?

Prep teams that look like state champions even before the season starts are Hastings, Norfolk, Jackson high of Lincoln, Omaha South, Lincoln high, with possibly the state champs at the present time—Creighton Prep of Omaha. Just wait and see.

John Pesek is in Florida with his dogs. After a month on the winter racing circuit, "Jawn" says he will return to Nebraska for several westling bouts.

Quite a howl was raised by fans who attended the John Pesek vs. Congorilla wrestling match in Grand Island two weeks ago. Philip Barnes, sports editor of one of the Central City papers, says: "It was the most disgusting thing I ever saw. Neither of the men was working and that masked marvel fellow by the name of Congorilla was only 325 pounds of lard. They say he had never been thrown before. That's because he never wrestled before."

Nebraska's cut on the horse racing business during the year ending December 1, amounted to $33,480. W. H. Pansing, the state accountant, reported to Governor Cochran, in an audit of the Nebraska racing commission activities.

When the coach of the Elmore high school basketball team yells "Olson," he summons the who's squad. There are five Olsons on the first team. A and M. C. at forward, C. and R. at guard and D. at center. Whatta' combination!

Ever wonder how long it might take a person to run up the 12-mile automobile road leading to the top of Pikes Peak? Lou Wille, 24 year old Denver bridge worker did it in 3 hours, 55 seconds in winning a bet.

Christmas presents to the American league's 12 umpires were "substantial" increases boosting their salaries over pre-depression levels. Those poor "umps" really earn their dough though. Besides being constantly cussed and discussed, and being hit by pop bottles, getting black eyes—yours truly wouldn't have such a job at any price!

No, the new idea tried out by the Loup Valley Athletic Association this year in presenting a "Loup Valley Honor Roll," is not nearly as interesting to sport fans as the old system—that of selecting an "All Valley Eleven" with an honorable mention list. Sure, by this new method more boys get their names mentioned but it doesn't settle or even touch upon that question "Who were the best eleven football players in the Valley? Some say it isn't possible to select the best eleven men in the conference but by taking a summary of referees' and coaches' choices for an "All" team I believe it very possible. Isn't that so, Oscar?

Farwell high school is again a member of the Mid-Loup Valley Conference with Ashton, Boelus, Elba and Rockville. A round robin schedule is to be played and the team with highest number of games won at the end of the season will be awarded a trophy.

Here is a new one: At Palmer, Nebr., the Palmer high school quintet has a basketball classic of its own special brand once a year. It is called the "Little Brown Jug Game" and is played annually between the Palmer and Elba high school teams. The winner takes the prize—a small but substantial brown jug—in the newspaper clipping from which this information was gleaned it wasn't stated as to what the jug contained.

The G. A. A. Girls at Dannebrog are working up a feature which they intend to present between the halves of a basketball game soon. Under the direction of Miss Doll, sponsor, the girls have started work upon learning the element steps of tap dancing. All ye editor wants to know is when they're going to give a performance!

If you want to rake in a little do-re-me to pay off those pressing Christmas bills just put a little money on the following selection: ye editor has made for the "Bowl" classics to be played tomorrow. On second thought if you really want to get some money you'd better do as all my friends do—play your money just exactly opposite to what I tell you! Are you ready? Here they are:

- Rose Bowl—At Pasadena—Pittsburgh vs. Washington—4 to 5 and take Pitt.
- Sugar Bowl—At New Orleans—L. S. U. vs. Santa Clara—5 to 2 on L. S. U.
- Cotton Bowl—At Dallas—Texas Christian vs. Marquette—Marquette, by 6 to 5.
- Shrine Game—At San Francisco—East against West—Ouch! East 3 to 2.
- Orange Bowl—At Miami—Mississippi State vs. Duquesne—Close but Duquesne by 6 to 5.
- Charly Game—At Santa Barbara—Santa Barbara State vs. New Mexico State—Tie game, flip.
- B. B. Indians Lose.

The Broken Bow high school basketball team did not make a very good start on the 1936-37 season as the Indians went down to defeat to Anselmo high 14 to 10. The Broken Bow team is inexperienced this year although Coach Ed Metz expects to develop a good team by the close of the season. Both of the Broken Bow teams will meet Merna high teams here on Tuesday evening January 5.

Spalding Cagers Heavy Scorers

During the past few weeks the Spalding high school team has come into the prep spotlight of Nebraska, mainly because of their overwhelmingly large scores over opponents.

The Spalding team has totaled 314 points to their opponents 46 in four games. This makes an average of 63 points per game for the Spalding quint. The five victories to date are Spalding 46, O'Conner 10; Greeley 6, Spalding 101; Spalding 55, Ericson 13; Bartlett 10, Spalding 61; Ashton 2, Spalding 51.

Hottentots Triumph Again.

Although a picked team selected by Coach Metz of Broken Bow high school did their best, the Harlem Hottentots downed the Broken Bow team 45 to 37 in a game that was staged in the high school gymnasium. The Hottentots combined baseball, football, and boxing with their basketball playing and kept the crowd in an uproar.

run to them. In the winter they must be protected from rabbits eating the bark. One rabbit can ruin a whole windbreak in a short time.

It is much work in this country to grow a nice tree, but they will be worth it some time—to someone.

Which?

The question arose at our house as to which we better attend, inasmuch as we are so poor we cannot attend both, moving picture shows or parties. The kiddies, of course, proclaimed for the movies. We stood neutral, naturally wanting to always do the best.

In the first place, they argued, at the movie, you are ever invited and welcome. You never need worry that you are invited from necessity or to pay a debt for some other party where you were the host. One never needs agonizing throughout the night as to why some supposedly fine friend left you out. In fact you are never left out.

Going a little further on the subject, one does not need worry, they claim, about your clothes, as long as you are lawfully covered. No one cares a whoop if your dress buttons tight about your neck or is above the knees or below. No one looks askance at your unshined shoes, and if your hands are soiled with grease, and your nails black until they are beyond repair, still no one cares. In fact your feet can stink or your eyes dream and no one will do more than move over a seat.

Again, they say, you do not have to sit and be nice to someone you know does not like you, and on the street snubs you, someone you do not like and snub. At the movies if you see those folks you simply take another seat and both are happy. At the party neither are happy, in fact everyone is uneasy with tension, wondering what mean thing one or the other will say next, and if it is not mean, the people at the party try to decipher some hidden cynical meaning.

More than all this, the kids claim, one is never called down at the show for forgetting trumps, for trumping your partner's ace, for bidding too high or not high enough and there is never any argument with the good wife going home telling her, "any fool would have known better than to have played thus and so. I'd have gotten the prize if you had just finessed." In fact the kids say, "there is just as good chance of winning a prize for you at the movie as at those bridge parties."

And last but not least, they argued, we can go to the shows. The wife and I were quite convinced, and determined to evermore refuse all invitations to bridge parties. Yes we were going to refuse the invitation after going to the next party. Perhaps we shall go to two more, or three more, and by that time will be our turn again, and in that case perhaps we better just go around again.

Chickens Again.

George Maxson says every few days he has to pick out a few hens and sell them so as to get money to buy feed for those that are left. That's all right but I wondered how he'd buy the feed when all the hens are gone.
