Fair Board Faces Deficit But Will Pay All Premiums

Drouth, Hot Days, Cut Crowd All Week; Fair Splendid Considering Conditions.

Faced with a deficit that may run as high as $2,000 when all expenses are tabulated, directors of the Loup Valley Agricultural society are determined to pay premiums and other expenses in full, the Quiz was told by President C. W. McClellan, of North Loup, this morning. A clause in the premium list as published would permit prorating of premiums in accordance with money available but this will not be done, the president stated.

Drouth conditions and hot weather cut attendance even below expectations of fair officials, though attendance of out-of-town people was extremely good, reflecting the fine work done by the advertising committee. A daily check-up of cars attending the fair, by counties, was made and reveals that Greeley, Sherman, Custer and Howard county people attended in large numbers, as well as from counties farther away. Attendance from Garfield county was very small, which was disappointing to fair officials in view of the fine way Valley county people patronized the Burwell rodeo.

As entertainment, the 1937 fair ranked high. People generally expressed satisfaction with the races, which attracted the finest cars this year that ever have competed. Although the Plantation Four, negro singers, proved disappointing as an attraction, the Aerial Lazellias gave an act of high calibre and a quartet of local boys, the Thespians, proved a real hit, singing several numbers every afternoon and evening. Music by Burwell and Ord bands was of high quality.

Conditions considered, exhibits in all departments were commendable and superintendents are well pleased with the fine spirit shown by exhibitors. To encourage larger exhibits at future fairs, officials determined not to invoke the prorating clause and intend to pay premiums in full, though it may be necessary to extend payment over a period of several months. Deficit now facing the fair includes about $1,000 in permanent improvements made this summer, including the new band stand, fences, gates, etc., so the entire loss of $2,000, should it reach this figure, cannot be charged against the 1937 show.

Because Secretary S. W. Roe is in Omaha, the Quiz could not secure latest figures on attendance and receipts but by next week they may be available.

Friday "Ord Day" At Celebration

The management of the big irrigation celebration being staged at Arcadia Friday and Saturday has designated Friday as "Ord Day" as well as American Legion day, and has extended a special invitation to the people of this section, as well as to Legionnaires from all parts of the valley to be present on that day and help make the celebration a success. Because of the double invitation extended them, members of the Ord Legion post and auxiliary are making a special effort to have a large delegation present to take part in the big parade Friday. The Legionnaires are requested to wear their caps and whatever other regalia they may have.

The feature of "Ord Day" will be the Ord band, which will march in the parade and also play during the afternoon. Added Ord attraction will be the Auble public address system with Arthur Auble in charge and two dancers sponsored by Auble Bros. In the evening the Thesplan quartet, two members of which are on the Quiz force, will sing a number of selections. This quartet is sponsored by the Ord Quiz. A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to go to Arcadia Friday to be at the high school ready to leave promptly at eleven o'clock. If you have room in your car for others, please notify Alfred Wiegardt as a number wish to go who do not have cars.

Light Rain Falls, More Needed Badly

A drizzling rain totalling .35 of an inch in Ord, .75 of an inch in Burwell and up to 1 inch in rural communities, fell Saturday night and Sunday, freshening pastures and bringing temporary relief from hot weather. Much more is needed before fall plowing and seeding can be done.

Kruml Wins by Fall.
Lou Plumber of Chicago was a victim of Ed Kruml of Ord at Krug park in Omaha Monday night in a feature wrestling match. Kruml won the match by a fall in a time of 23 minutes.

Paula Jones, North Loup Miss, Is Crowned As "Miss Valley County"

To Miss Paula Jones of North Loup, representing the Sheldon Service Station, went the honor of being awarded the title of "Miss Valley County" last Wednesday evening. Marjorie Coe, representing the J. C. Penney store, was awarded second in the beauty pageant sponsored by the Ord Business and Professional Woman's club. Patsy Rittenmeyer of Arcadia took third.

MISS PAULA JONES.

As winner of the contest, Miss Jones was awarded a free, all-expense trip to the official state pageant, at Lincoln during the state fair.

Over sixty girls representing business firms from Ord, North Loup and Arcadia took part in the contest which was judged by out-of-town judges. The method of elimination of the girls from the contest varied a little from last year's procedure but otherwise the contest was conducted in the usual manner. Dale Norman served as announcer.

Judging was made on four points, poise, posture, figure and natural beauty. Street dress was required, although girls will wear formal in the state contest.

Martina Blemond, 1936 winner, presented Miss Jones with an enormous bouquet of flowers at the close of the contest, when the winner was announced.

Miss Jones is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, a graduate of North Loup high school in 1935 and she plans to enter the University of Nebraska this fall. She is an intermediate blonde, with large blue eyes and light brown hair. For the pageant she was attired in a dark blue net dress which set off her beauty very well. Last fall Miss Jones was Popcorn Queen at the North Loup celebration.

Marjorie Coe, the Ord miss who was awarded second place honors, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coe.

A. W. Pierce Named Examiner Under Nebr. License Law

New Motor Vehicle Law Goes Into Effect Today; All Must Get Licenses.

A. W. Pierce, of Ord, has been named examiner for Valley county under Nebraska's new motor vehicle law passed by the unicameral legislature last spring, which goes into effect today, September 1. During the next three months, Pierce expects to issue 4,500 drivers' licenses to Valley county people.

In a statement issued Monday, Pierce says: "To comply with the new motor vehicle law, every person 16 years old and older must pass an examination and be issued a license before he is eligible to drive in this state. These licenses must be obtained during the period from Sept. 1, 1937 to Jan. 1, 1938.

"One or more examiners have been appointed in each county; in Valley county the examiner's office will be in the court house at Ord.

"Drivers who have their old licenses and present them to the examiner will be charged 75c for their new license; Drivers not having their old license in possession will be charged $1.00. The new licenses are good for two years, after which they must be renewed. Every driver must pass a test before license is issued. "It is estimated there will be 4,500 licenses issued in this county, so please help all you can by coming to the office soon, as we will have to hurry to finish the job in three months. The office will be open every day from 8 to 5 o'clock except Sundays and holidays.

An analysis of the new motor vehicle law shows that every driver must pass an eye test given by the examiner before he is eligible for a license; a written examination on rules for driving and a test in actual driving also may be ordered by the examiner if he thinks it necessary.

The new law will be enforced strictly by Nebraska's new state highway patrol force and it is imperative that every person have a license before Jan. 1, as arrests will be made after that date of persons who have no licenses to drive.

CCC Enrollments To Be Increased

October will enroll the largest number of boys for CCC since this organization has come into existence, says Frank Kruml, assistance director here. This large enrollment is made possible by the change in regulations and number of months of previous enrollment for eligibility. Applications are being taken by the county assistance office at Ord. The October enrollment will be called some time after the first of October. Any boys interested in CCC should make inquiry at the county assistance office for further details.

—Bill Fisher of Springdale took the opportunity to make the trip out to Ogden, U., with Ralph Hans when he left Tuesday morning. He was going out there to look for work.

Albion Osteopath Pleads Innocence

Accused of performing an illegal operation, Dr. Wilbert R. Nay, of Albion, pleaded not guilty at a preliminary hearing in justice court at Albion Tuesday morning and was released under bail of $500 pending a formal preliminary hearing Friday. Dr. Nay is a former Ord man but has practiced his profession of osteopathy in Albion for the past 12 years.

Old Settlers Will Picnic Sept. 12th

Through courtesy of Miss Maude Goodenow the Quiz learns that the regular fall picnic of the old settlers will be held at Bussell park, Ord, Sunday, Sept. 12. All old settlers and their families are urged to attend and bring basket dinners. Miss Goodenow is chairman of the program committee and is arranging a tentative program, which will be published in the Quiz next week. She is assisted by several other members of the committee and a fine program is in prospect. It is planned to have a number of old timers on the program and allot a short period of time to each. Zach Harris of west of Burwell is president this year and A. I. Cram of Burwell is secretary. It is understood that any old timer now residing elsewhere who wishes to attend will be considered an honored guest. Further, it is understood that the pioneers of the Arcadia neighborhood are welcome to attend and assist in the program. Watch for the announcement next week.

Leading Citizen Lost to Arcadia In Lewin's Death

Was Treasurer Middle Loup Project and Active In All Civic Affairs.

Arcadia—(Special)—This community lost one of its foremost citizens Friday, August 27, in the sudden death of Newton A. Lewin, 58-year-old banker, lumberman and treasurer of the Middle Loup project. A heart attack was responsible for his demise.

Mr. Lewin was born in Woods Park, near Comstock, on Jan. 18, 1879, being one of the first children born in Custer county. Educated in Longwood rural school and in the high school at Ord, he later attended Drake University for a time.

In youth Lewin was a prominent baseball player of this section, being known far and wide as "Farmer" Lewin. After his active days as a pitcher were over he continued his interest in the game and served as umpire for many contests, his fairness and knowledge of baseball being recognized by all.

On June 23, 1909 he was married to Miss Inez Fries, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Fries. He is survived by the widow, one son, Martin, two daughters, Mrs. Coralyn Crist and Mrs. Elizabeth Swanson and one granddaughter, JoAnn Crist, all of Arcadia; also by three sisters, Mrs. E. H. Fuller, Clearwater, Nebr., Mrs. P. L. Clark, Los Angeles, Mrs. Ray Poole, Omaha, and two brothers, Forrest E. Lewin of Shingle Springs, Colo., and W. A. Lewin, Craig, Colo.

Mr. Lewin managed a lumber yard here 23 years, was financially interested in the First National bank and was active in all community affairs. He was a member of the Arcadia Community club, belonged to both the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges in Arcadia and was a member of the Encampment and Patriotic Military departments of the Odd Fellow lodge at Loup City.

In youth a member of the Christian church at Comstock, Mr. Lewin later transferred his membership to the Congregational church of Arcadia. Funeral rites were held from the home Sunday with Rev. Howell and Rev. McCaig officiating, interment in Arcadia cemetery following.

Ord Myny Plant Has Biggest Production

Last Saturday, August 28, the Ord municipal electric plant generated 5,760 kilowatt hours of energy, largest single day production since the plant was built, the Quiz learns from George Allen, light and water commissioner. Moreover, total number of kilowatt hours generated during the month of August was about 150,000, making it the largest month in the plant's history. Use of electricity in Ord has been increasing monthly since early spring and at the present rate will exceed 1,500,000 units during the present year.

$30,000 On The Hoof

A herd of over 300 Hereford feeders, representing some $30,000 and owned by Archie Geweke and Bill Foth, are shown in this striking aerial photograph by Laverne Lakin. They were being driven from a summer pasture near Atkinson.

Nebraska cattlemen hurried thousands of their cattle out of Holt county following rumors that the section might be put under anthrax quarantine. Three counties to the east of Holt have been under government supervision for some time.

Cedar, Boyd, and Knox counties are under quarantine. In order to make certain that livestock breeders observe the restrictions of the quarantine which went into effect the last day of July, patrolmen keep 24 hour vigils on all highways leading out of the counties. No livestock can be brought into or out of an infected county, although it can be transported within the county or into other counties where the ban is in effect. Bodies of dead cattle are immediately burned in the infested counties to prevent birds and flies from spreading the disease.

The cattle pictured above are being fed in the Mira Valley district, chiefly upon ensilage. After a few weeks feeding the cattle are to be put on the market for an increase in value which may range from $5,000 to $15,000 more than their present worth.

Will Nelson Finds Marijuana Plants

A patch of marijuana, or wild hemp, against which federal narcotics officers are making a nationwide fight and which has been found growing in several Nebraska counties, last week was discovered by Will Nelson in his pasture. A few stalks of marijuana are also growing near the Union Pacific loading dock in Ord and undoubtedly he grows in many other places in Valley county.

Marijuana, originally from Mexico, is quite a common pasture weed in eastern and central Nebraska, the agricultural college reports. It is harmless to livestock but when dried, crumbled and smoked in cigarettes by humans is one of the most powerful narcotic agents known.

The weed should be destroyed wherever found to prevent its spread, say federal officials.

'Hazing' Must Stop, Says City Attorney 10 Boys Questioned

Older High School Boys Are Picking on New Students, Arrests May Follow.

Unless "hazing" of 12 and 13 year old boys by older students of the Ord high school ceases at once arrests will be made and prosecution will ensue, warns Ralph W. Norman, city attorney. Ten boys who have been taking part in the "hazing" of prospective freshmen are known and were questioned by Norman early this week.

For several weeks this group of older boys—junior and senior students in Ord high school for the most part—have made a practice of bullying younger boys. Almost every night a younger boy has been caught, hauled into the country and made to walk back to town. Some have been slapped and otherwise abused by older students.

So far no serious harm has resulted from the practice, which the boys do as they describe as "an initiation to high school," but younger boys are terrorized and parents of several have been worried when their boys failed to come home until 11, 12 or 1 o'clock after being taken on one of these "hazing parties."

Fearing that serious injury to a younger boy might result should he be hit by a car while walking to town, or fall down and break a limb, City Attorney Norman is determined to stamp out the practice.

Younger boys who have been "hazed" usually refuse to reveal names of their assailants, having been warned of dire trouble to themselves if they "squawk." From other sources, Norman learned names of most of the boys involved and early this week had them brought to his office by Chief of Police L. H. Covert. Warned that they would be arrested if they continue to "haze" younger children, most of the boys have agreed to stop the practice.

No further warning will be given, promises the city attorney. In future prosecutions will be made whenever evidence of hazing is secured.

Eighty-Eight More Hours for Evelyn

Evelyn Sharp, Ord's young aviatrix, said Wednesday morning that she has only 88 more hours to fly to complete her total 200 hours of solo time to be eligible for a transport license.

She has already taken "up" over 80 passengers in a little over two weeks. When the plane was purchased she had 130 hours to complete, so in two weeks time she has spent 42 hours in the air.

Flights made this week included several trips from Ord to Hastings and the return trip, also trips to Dannebrog and Comstock and one to Grand Island.

Schrader Promoted; Bragg New Manager

Chris Schrader, manager of the Ord Council Oak store, has been promoted to charge of the oldest store in the chain at Columbus, and left today for his new duties. The new manager, A. R. Bragg arrived from LeMars, Ia., today and is now in charge. The rest of the personnel will remain the same as in the past. The new manager is no stranger to this section as he is a son of Charles Bragg, who was a lawyer for many years in Burwell, and a sister, Mrs. Harry Maitland, still lives there. Mrs. Earl McGrew, another sister, and a brother, Bill Bragg, are living in California, and are both well known here. Mr. Bragg came here alone, leaving Mrs. Bragg at Sioux City, but they expect to move their goods to Ord and to the apartment formerly occupied by the Schraders some time next week. The Schraders were popular here, and their many friends wish them success in their new location.

Present Awards Thursday

Last meeting of the swimming classes on Thursday afternoon, usual hours, will include the making of awards to the students who qualify. A goodly number are eligible for the Red Cross student pin. In case of cool weather or unsuitable swimming conditions this last class is called for Friday afternoon. This will bring to a close the summer's classes.

250 New Books In Ord Library Open This Week

Remodeling Almost Completed, Patrons Invited to Visit Library Saturday.

Ord "book worms" are going to be kept busy during winter months if they plan to read even a small number of the 250 new books just received by the Ord public library. The library was closed during August but will reopen this week.

Most of the books were purchased with money taken from the library fund, though few were donated. Two hundred of them are suitable for adult reading but the children were not forgotten as 50 new books were secured for this department.

All books are of the latest edition and all types are to be found in the group. Some of the modern authors include Zane Grey, Ruby Ayers, Grace Livingstone Hill, Patricia Wentworth, Louisa Houch, E. P. Oppenheim, B. M. Bower, Alice Rosman, Max Brand, Temple Bailey, Arthur Stringer, Williams Hein, James Oliver Curwood, Jackson Gregory, Agatha Christie, and Martha Ostenso.

Some of the latest books: "Drums Along The Mohawk" by Walter Edmonds; "The Years," Virginia Wolf; "Bang and Yin," Alice Hobart; "Best Short Stories of 1937," O'Brien; "How to Win Friends," Dale Carnegie; "Secret of Achievement," Walter Pitkin; "Tall Tales," Lowell Thomas; "Orchids On Your Budget," Marjorie Hillis; "How to Develop Your Personality," Shellow.

Besides the many new books, another big change may be noticed by library patrons. Many new book shelves and a new magazine rack have been built and installed. Township Librarian Mrs. Cecil Hansen says that complete remodeling and reorganization will be complete by this Saturday.

Students Registered.
Registration of students for the Ord high school is being made this week, the seniors registering Monday, the Juniors Tuesday, and the Sophomores and Freshmen today. The work has been progressing nicely and it looks as though there would be a larger registration than for last year.

Colorado Driver Wins $850, Sets New 12-Mile Mark

No Serious Injuries During Meet Though Four Cars Were Wrecked.

Wrecks galore, though no driver was seriously injured, faster, more consistent speed, though track records were never endangered, and closer, harder fought races throughout marked the 3-day automobile speed classic held during the Valley county fair in Ord last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

One of the big improvements toward better races noticed in this year's program was the fact that prize money was more evenly divided among the large group of drivers and owners than ever before.

Axel Big Money Winner.

Lloyd Axel, driving the car owned by Vic Felt, No. 3., was the big money winner of the race meet this year. During the three days racing, Axel won approximately $550 in prize money. Jole Chitwood, driving a Morgan-Miller, No. 34, was second high in the money-winning column as he collected over $500.

Sam Hoffman, piloting car No. 14 owned by C. E. Johnson of Lincoln; Morris Musick, driving an Iddings Special for John Iddings of Detroit and Johnny McDowell wheeling the Winfield R. A. Special owned by Joey Kent of Glendale, California—these were all big money winners, ranking in their winnings in the order listed.

Cunningham Injured.

Worst wreck of the three day meet occurred on the second day of racing when both "Chief Wahoo" Chitwood and Pat Cunningham went through the west fence together.

Car 7, owned by Joe Turco of Omaha, dropped part of its engine when a rod went out, spilling parts over the entire track. Chitwood's 34 hit a piece of metal, blowing out a front tire. Unable to control his car, he shot through the fence, Cunningham was forced to take the fence to prevent hitting Chitwood.

Neither car was damaged badly. Chitwood racing in the next race with his own car, Cunningham didn't fare so good. Taken by ambulance to the hospital, x-rays were taken, and although no bones were broken, ligaments in both legs were badly torn and bruised.

Several exceptionally fine races were seen this year. One of the closest, tightest, hardest-fought-for, races ever witnessed was Event two on the second day. Chuck Boye, one of the greatest "fence-riders" ever seen in this section of the country, got "hot" in this race and showed his tail in grand style to Hoffman, Axel and Chitwood, who placed second, third and fourth respectively.

Event 2 on the last day was also a hotly contested race. Gilbert driving a Dreyer Special lagged along throughout the race and after the

It is different here. In America the farmer is one of the best informed men in the nation.

In a neighboring town recently a group of young people, on pleasure bent, drove through a filling station in the town, and in so doing did damage to the property.

THE PLAGUES OF EGYPT.

Since drouth and depression set in a few years back, Nebraska has gone through a number of plagues which can be likened to those visited upon Egypt in Bible times.

To date we have had the drouth, to which all our other ills may be attributed in some manner.

We have had plenty of hail this summer and the locusts have taken heavy toll, as have the grasshoppers.

COMING BACK TO THE FAIR.

The following story is vouched for by a citizen who happens to know it actually happened: A group of people were eating supper in an Ord cafe Thursday evening.

Perhaps the agricultural fair could have been better, but it was a splendid display considering drouth conditions, and was worthy of more attention than it got.

Dear Quiz: This is a quiet place this week and there is not much to write home about.

Mr. Fenner is busy gathering and shelling out hazelnuts, has brought in numerous bushels and it will take a lot of bushels of the nuts with the hulls on to make a bushel of the shelled nuts.

The Birches is empty but the next cottage south, the Mackowsky cottage, has three young ladies from Des Moines, Mary Mackowsky and two of her girl friends.

Mrs. Simpson is in her cottage, second to the north. She is alone most of the time but her friend Mrs. Johnston is over often.

Perhaps the agricultural fair could have been better, but it was a splendid display considering drouth conditions, and was worthy of more attention than it got.

Surely it is remarkable when a man 70 or 75 years of age is as full of vitality as Judge E. P. Clements. He enjoys life with so much more gusto than many men half his age.

And swimming isn't all Judge Clements can do. He has one of the most attractive yards in Ord, working in it early and late and all day long when his judicial duties do not call him away.

He is an inveterate bridge player, tackling the toughest bids with as much grit as any bridge shark, often making them take. And when younger bridge players are tired and ready for bed, Judge Clements often pleads for "just one more rubber".

When not holding a term of court some place, the family are fond of travelling, and have seen considerable of this country. They usually go west, as three sons and a daughter have located westward from Ord.

Reading fascinates the Judge, and he passes many hours that way. His wire haired terrier, Smoky, seems to need a lot of training and attention, and gets it. Show me a man with more hobbies than this, at all of which hobbies he is most capable.

Yet his court work does not suffer, on the contrary is better than ever. Judge Clements has a record of the fewest reversals of his cases of any Nebraska judge now on the district bench.

This year the farm people will make greater sacrifices than ever before in order that their children may be educated.

In some ways this will be an unusually good year for attending high school. Young folks won't have much else to do, and it is going to be difficult to get any kind of a job in the future without a high school education.

School days are again drawing near, and many rural parents face the problem of getting their children to high school.

Whether we are for or against Roosevelt and his policies, I think Nebraskans will not like it if he wanders out this way to tell them how to vote.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Housing Experts Criticize Congress for 'Fumbling' Wagner-Steagall Bill

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. — Last-minute endorsement of a conference report on housing was admittedly one of the major accomplishments of the first session of the 75th Congress, but housing experts here are accusing Congress of having fumbled the Wagner-Steagall bill in passing it back and forth between the House and Senate.

The bill was bootled about because the Senate wanted to make it possible for the Government Housing Authority to make 95% loans to local authorities, and the House wanted the loans cut to 85%.

The bill as passed provides that the federal Authority may lend 90% of the cost of a low-cost housing project, the remaining 10% to be contributed by the local Authority.

The community is to borrow from the government for its projects at the going rate of interest plus half of 1%.

THE Authority may lend up to $100,000,000 the first year, not more than 10% of this amount to any one state.

The bill also provides that the government cannot lend money to a local Authority if the housing project it sponsors costs more than $4000 per family unit.

The bill further specifies that the subsidy payment to a local Authority cannot be more than the going rate of interest plus 1% of the original loan.

Local Authority borrowers are allowed under this measure to offset the return of subsidy payments they have received, with tax exemptions.

Probably the best feature of the bill is that it compels the borrower community to clear as many undesirable family units as it builds with government help.

—In writing from Tekamah, to renew his subscription to the Quiz, Floyd (Flop) Megrue says that there is a lot of baseball being played there and that he is doing his full share. They then drove down to San Francisco, and then to Berkeley, where they visited Mrs. Ambrose's brother, F. J. Post, who many of the older people will remember. He is in the watch repair business in Berkeley. They stopped at Santa Maria, where they visited Mrs. Wayne Witzel, the former Edith Bell. At Los Angeles they visited Marie Hall and the W. A. Brown family. They visited Mrs. Jorgen Moller and family at Escondido. Two of the Moller boys, Rolf and Sigurd, have a florist shop in Los Angeles, and are doing well. The daughter Astrid, who is now married, is working in a telephone office. The other daughter, Gerda, is employed in a bank. The youngest son, Eric, is married and is holding a federal job. Returning by way of Sacramento they visited Virginia Fillingim, who formerly lived here, and whose father now lives at Madison, Neb. At Oroville they visited an uncle, I. B. Post, who is the last of the older Post clan. He left Ord in 1877, but recalled many of the old timers, including W. A. Anderson, J. H. Capron, and many others now departed. He told of the trip he made to the coast in 1877. He said the railroad hitched the pullman car to a through freight, and it took a total of 9 days to make the trip from Grand Island to San Francisco, a trip now made in about thirty hours. Frazier, lives, and they visited a day or two with him. From there they took a trip to Ocean City, just south of Atlantic City and spent some time on the board walks there. They made a trip from there to Detroit, where for three days they inspected the Ford factory, village and museum, the size of the latter being almost beyond belief. They crossed to Canada on the bridge and returned by the tunnel. They watched a double header between the Tigers and White Sox, and saw Goose Goslin knock a home run. In New York City they looked over the RCA building, and from its top saw the sun go down and the lights of the city come on, a sight never to be forgotten. They drove to Boston, visiting Yale and Harvard universities. At Boston they saw Paul Revere's home, and the post to which he tied his horse. They drove through Lexington and Concord and on up into New Hampshire and Vermont, chancing to be at Bennington on the 160th anniversary of the battle there Aug. 16, which is known as the turning point of the revolutionary war. The route from there took them into New York state, where they stayed all night at Hyde park. They drove down the Hudson on the east side of the river and visited West Point. Returning to Norristown they went deep sea fishing and caught 93 fish of 12 different kinds. Other historic places they visited were Annapolis, Washington, Alexandria and Mt. Colorado Driver Wins $850, Sets New 12-Mile Mark

"big shots" had either wrecked or broken their cars, he gunned in for a first place. After leading for 23 laps in the final day's sweepstakes, Sam Hoffman dropped out of the running with engine trouble enabling Axel to take first.

Wrecks Galore.

On the first day both H-2 and 22, two of the slower cars competing, caught on fire. H-2 was taken out of the races for good, although 22, owned by Martin Lahr of Sioux City, remained in the running for the remaining two days. A Rajo Special owned by Wallace Wood of Beatrice tore through the east side fence during the time trials Thursday. The car was almost completely wrecked, although the driver escaped injury.

X-3 driven by Chuck Lange threw a wheel the last day. This was rather unlucky for Lange as he was leading the entire field and would certainly have won if his car had held up. Some beautiful driving was exhibited by Lange as he held his car under control with only three wheels to avoid hitting the fence.

Sam Hoffman and Lloyd Axel were chief contenders for time trial honors. Best time trial of the meet was turned in by Lloyd Axel on the first day when he skinned around the track in the fast time of 23.87. Sam Hoffman made second best time, 23.32.

Time trials on the second day were much slower than usual. The half-mile was just wet enough to make high speeds exceptionally dangerous and a bad pit had formed on the east corner making it a real "death curve." Best time for the day was 25.24, turned in by Axel.

Set New Sweepstakes Record.

A new record for the 12 mile Nebraska sweepstakes was set on the last day as Lloyd Axel drove the 24 lap event in a time of 10:14.37 or an average of 25.59 per lap. In order to get this high average speed fans estimate that Axel cruised along at about 90 miles per hour on the straight-aways.

In brief form, winners in the various events during the three day period are as follows: Five mile preliminary, Johnny McDowell, 1st day; Morris Musick, second day; Johnny McDowell, third day.

Event 2, Five mile preliminary, Everett Saylor, first day; Chuck Boye, second day; Clyde Gilbert, third day.

Event 3, five mile preliminary, Morris Musick, first day; Ted Parker, second day; Ted Parker, third day.

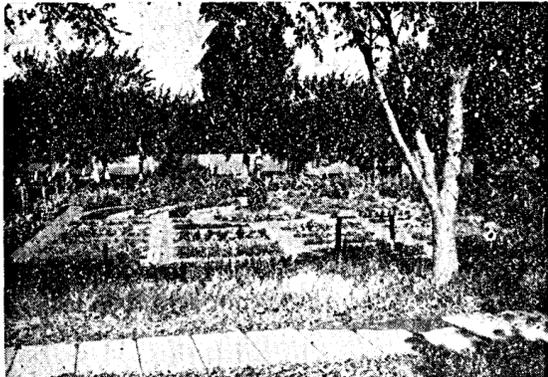

Event 4, Five mile dash, six fast cars in time trials. Lloyd Axel, first day; Lloyd Axel, second day; Sam Hoffman, third day.

Event 5, Four mile consolation or matched races, Clyde Gilbert, first day; Geo. Chitwood, second day; and Morris Musick, third day.

Event 6, 12 mile Nebraska sweepstakes. Geo. Chitwood, first; Lloyd Axel, second; and Johnny McDowell, third; first day. Lloyd Axel, first, Sam Hoffman, second; Everett Saylor, third; second day. Lloyd Axel, first; Geo. Chitwood, second; Morris Musick, third, last day.

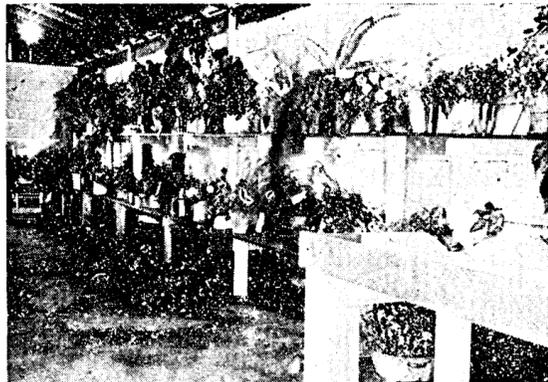

Mrs. Olof Olsson, who about two weeks ago underwent a major operation performed by Dr. C. W. Weekes at the Ord hospital, is reported recovering and will be able to go to her home within a few days. Miss Josie Kriz is her special nurse.

Flower Garden In Ord's Bussell Park

Careful planning and equally careful selection of plants coupled with unceasing care by A. J. Shirley has made the flower garden at Bussell park one of the beauty spots of Ord. If you have not seen this view recently, drive down to the park and look it over. It is well worth while.

Splendid Flower Exhibit At Ord Fair

Here is shown one of the exhibits at the Ord fair last week that attracted a great deal of attention. It is the exhibit of flowers, of which Mrs. Will Zabloudil was superintendent. The agricultural exhibit as a whole was exceptional, considering 1937 weather conditions.

Dog Rides Surf Board Like Veteran

It isn't every dog that can ride a fast-moving surf board with the cool nonchalance of Rex, above, German shepherd partner of pretty Arnett Webster of Waycross, Ga. The sea-going canine, shown skinning over the water at Atlantic City, jumps from a speedboat and mounts the board with the greatest of ease—with far more in fact than a lot of two-legged aquaplane enthusiasts.

Andy Practices Future Chore

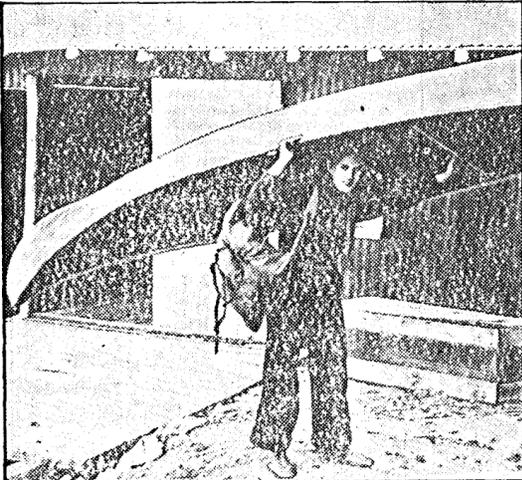

Practicing up for what evidently lies ahead, Charles Gorrell, Andy of the Amos 'n' Andy radio team, is shown above going through some kitchen calisthenics on a few dishes held by Alyce McLaughlin, whom he will marry Sept. 11. The two met years ago in Chicago when Gorrell was a booking agent and Miss McLaughlin was appearing in vaudeville.

They've Reason to Be Smiling

There was only one thought in the minds of the happy-looking group pictured above—vacation. Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead is shown as he was surrounded by capital page boys immediately after Congress adjourned. Time-tables and vacation resort literature already had been scanned before the picture was taken.

Co-ed Serves as North Woods Guide

Nineteen-year-old Marie Sarkipato, above, who will enter college this fall, doesn't let the fact that she is a girl put a crimp into her activities during the summer. On vacation near Ely, Minn., she acts as a guide for parties of women sports and wildlife lovers sojourning in the north woods. Marie is an expert swimmer, a registered Red Cross lifesaver, and wields a vigorous paddle. She is shown ready for a trip into the woods.

Couple Married in Reformatory

When Evelyn Steel, right above, 17, invited Hercule Cook, left, 21-year-old grocery clerk, to a "date night" party for honor girls at the Tecumseh, Okla., state training school, he proposed to her. To complete the romance they were married a short time later in the reformatory and are shown just after the ceremony was performed. For a wedding present the bride received a parole.

Use Gun to Call Alpine Natives

Whenever it is necessary to summon natives of small villages in the Austrian Alps to important meetings, the odd, funnel-shaped gun, above, known as "the thunderer," is fired with a deafening roar that reverberates for miles around. It is pictured as it was set off to call mountain-folk to the annual Alpine festival at Ebensee, Austria.

Heel and toe movement, plus a touch of "truckin'" are included in the dance, meant for high school and college "consumption."

Versatile Gobs Rehearse Show

Handling 2000-Pound Aerial Bomb

Possessing enough destructive force to completely demolish a large building, the 2000-pound aerial bomb, above, is delicately handled with a crane as members of the 10th Ordnance Service Company at Langley Field, Va., prepare to instruct men from various units of the air force in the loading of ammunition. Everything from deadly bombs the size of those shown stacked above, to signal flares will receive attention at the Ordnance school.

Does More Than Scratch the Surface

When the immense plow, above, which was built in California, rumbles across a field it takes a mean bite of earth. The largest plow in the world, with wheels six feet in diameter, it can turn half an acre of soil an hour to a six-foot depth, with a furrow four feet wide. The plow is designed to bring rich loam to the surface and requires two tractors furnishing 190 horsepower to pull it. The size of the implement is apparent in comparison with the girl who sits on one of its wheels.

Foreign Invaders Threaten U. S. Pilots in Gold Cup Boat Races at Detroit

BY IRVING DIX

ONCE again the sports fans' appetite for speed and more speed will be satiated by the knights of the roaring motor, who on land water or in the air, provide the thrills which ride only on the thunder of an exhaust line and the whistle of the wind.

For the 34th time, the dare-devils who crouch low behind the wheel and feel the sting of cold spray being whipped back into their faces, will pilot their speedy crafts over the Detroit river at Detroit, Labor Day, in this year's renewal of the colorful Gold Cup races.

And for the first time since its inception in 1904, the famed event will take on an international aspect, with foreign boats being allowed to enter because of a concession made by the American Power Boat Association. Every foreign boat entered, according to the ruling, must be affiliated with some American yacht club.

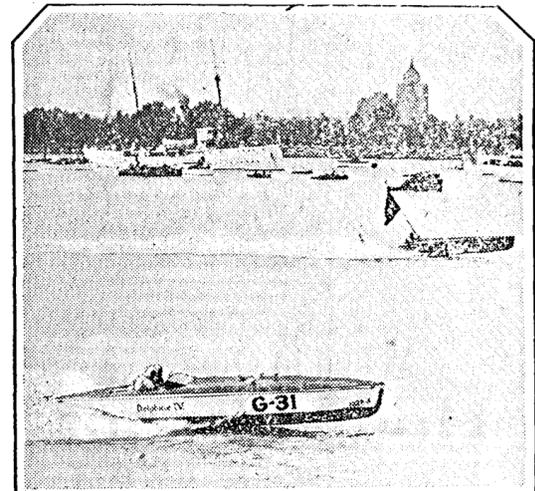

Count Theo Rossi of Italy, one of the leading contenders, has listed his two boats, Alagi and Aradam, under the colors of the Oakland, Calif., Yacht Club, while Maurice Vasseur of France will fly the pennant of the Detroit Yacht Club.

In all probability the speed will be stepped up considerably over that of last year, when slightly more than 47 miles an hour was the best Horace Dodge's Impshi could do in winning the event.

Early in August Count Rossi's Alagi was clocked in a fraction over 90 miles an hour in a practice run over Lake Maggiore, near Stresa, Italy. And Aradam was caught just a little under that incredible speed.

The three boats entered by the Frenchman Vasseur are capable of doing 70 miles an hour, all of which only adds to the distressing problem confronting the Americans.

Heading the list of home-grown entries will be the 1936 winner, Impshi, and another Dodge boat, Delphine IX. Both craft have revealed new speed and power in tune-up runs on the Detroit river, but experts show no great enthusiasm over their chances to skim home

Notre Dame, piloted by Cell Perry, is another nominee who may turn in a surprise performance to capture the historic as well as beautiful gold cup—but a big surprise, indeed, it would be, if she succeeded.

MISS MAUD RUTHERFORD, the only feminine entrant in the event, will handle Ma Ja II: E. A. Wilson's Canadian hope, Miss Canada II, rounds out the sixth and last of the foreign challengers.

The Gold Cup course, laid out in the Detroit river between Belle Isle and the mainland, is three miles long, with two lengthy straightaways and a pair of sharp turns at the east and west ends.

The race will be run in three heats, with each to be 30 miles, or 10 laps. The ultimate winner will be determined by the point system on heat positions.

Ace Stunt Flyer Hurt on Train

It must have been with a slight feeling of humility that Maj. Al Williams, above, went to a hospital in New York with an injured knee. The former navy speed king, shown smiling and pecking at his portable typewriter, while lying abed, has avoided injury any number of times in the air, but when the train jolted on recent trip he went flying from his berth. able. It is very deep, so deep that the bottom has not been located in many places. The deepest place actually measured is 1900 feet. It is so deep that the water which is never above 50 degrees in summer, will not freeze in winter. Old timers will remember the Daniels family who lived in the early days in the first house north of the Vinton townsite. Mrs. Daniels was a sister of J. C. Rogers and his brothers. The elder Daniels generation is gone, but four of the younger people live in Oregon, where the Rogers family visited them. They are Theron and Hillis Daniels, Verna Johnson and Fordyce Kent. They were the only former Ord people they met on their trip, and they did not even see a Nebraska 47 car in all their traveling. They found that they could buy the finest beefsteak in Canada at 12 1/2¢ per pound, while the same quality just across the line cost 40¢ a pound. The shops in Canada sell meats either raw or cooked, and the cooked either hot or cold to suit the customers fancy.

Irrigation Ditch Worker Dies in Car Crash Near Elyria

Ed Bruen Killed Thursday As Car, Truck, Collide; Was Driving Too Fast.

Excessive speed is blamed by Sheriff George S. Round and other Valley county officials for the car-truck collision in which Ed Bruen, 35-year-old tractor operator on the North Loup irrigation project, lost his life north of Elyria about 9:30 Thursday evening.

Bruen, who worked for the Hills Construction Co., was driving to Ord from their camp two miles south of Burwell, and apparently was travelling at a high rate of speed when he sideswiped an ice cream truck driven by Fred H. Harbuttle, of O'Neill. The crash occurred three miles north of Elyria. Bruen was killed instantly but Harbuttle was unhurt.

Questioned by Valley and Garfield county officials, who reached the scene of the wreck, Harbuttle said the accident happened about as follows:

Harbuttle had stopped in Elyria and served a customer shortly before and was enroute to Burwell, where he planned to serve two more customers and then spend the night. He was not driving rapidly, his speed being from 35 to 40 miles per hour, he told officers.

Just as he drove over a raise in the highway the lights of Bruen's car struck his face, blinding him for an instant. He dimmed his own lights and swung closer to the ditch. Bruen did not dim his lights, claims Harbuttle, and as car and truck came closer together he realized the two were likely to collide but it was too late for him to do anything about it.

The Bruen car hit the fender of Harbuttle's truck just back of left front wheel, bending it back, and then struck the corner of the box. From the point of contact pieces of the upper part of Bruen's car were scattered down the highway for 150 feet to the place where the chassis finally stopped right side up and crosswise of the road.

Bruen's body was found beneath the chassis with a large hole in the top of the head and the left arm in the window. The skull injury which caused his death apparently was caused when his head hit the corner of the truck box.

First officials to arrive at the scene were Dr. Roy S. Cram and Sheriff R. E. Johnson, of Burwell. They dragged Bruen's body from the wreckage and ascertained that he was dead. Soon came Sheriff Round, county Attorney Alvin E. Lee and Marshal L. H. Covert of Ord, and after an investigation Lee, who is coroner for this county, permitted Bruen's body to be brought to the Sowl funeral parlors in Ord.

The truck driven by Harbuttle and owned by Frank Pelley & Son, of O'Neill, was in running order and was brought to Ord. Harbuttle remained here until the arrival of his employer the next day. There was nothing to indicate that he was in any way to blame for the tragedy and he was allowed to proceed Friday afternoon.

The man killed is said to have come here from Paxton, where he had worked on the Sutherland project, and was a skilled tractor operator. His family, consisting of a wife and four children, live at Central City. Thursday Mrs. Bruen came to Ord and after a conference with officers said she did not want an inquest held. A hearse from the Solt Mortuary, of Central City, came to Ord after Bruen's body and funeral services were held in Central City Sunday.

Judge Kroger Annuls Marriage of Minor

District Judge E. G. Kroger of Grand Island was in Ord Tuesday and took up a large number of cases that were on the docket. Five cases for naturalization were heard, Valenty Novak, Astrid Kristine Johnson and Mary Puxa being granted naturalization, and Arthur Simeons and Joseph Proskocil being continued for the reason that they were not sufficiently versed in the laws and customs of the United States.

Mrs. Mike Sowokinos, who filed a petition for divorce in district court Saturday, Sept. 4, had a hearing on temporary support money, suit money and attorney fees. Her husband was ordered to pay $5.00 per week support money and $10.00 costs, and the hearing on attorney fees was continued.

The marriage of Arvella Danzeck to Thomas Danzeck was annulled for the reason that she was not of legal age at the time of her marriage and the consent of her parents was not obtained. A number of foreclosure hearings were also had.

The Will Treptows and Emil Zikmunds were guests at the Will Misko home Sunday evening.

Bradstreet Spoke Saturday Night

Tom Bradstreet of Grand Island, state committeeman for the Townsend club movement, spoke from the court house steps at Ord Saturday night, explaining the principles and workings of the Townsend plan. A fair crowd was in attendance, but was not as large as the local Townsdenites had hoped due to the counter attractions of the Arcadia celebration and the community sale. He and Mr. McKee, also of Grand Island, arrived from Burwell shortly after 8:30, where they had spoken to a fine crowd at about 7:00 o'clock. They brought their own public address system, which, while not as large as some, was amply adequate for the purpose. At the close of the meeting a county committeeman was chosen, Frank T. Johnson being the choice of those present. He in turn will appoint assistants for the different townships, and it is believed the entire county will be canvassed in less than six weeks.

306 Students Now Enrolled in Ord Hi

First Day Registration Was Largest in History; Many Improvements Made.

Highest first day registration in the history of Ord high school was recorded as doors were swung open for the 1937-38 school term Monday morning.

Although registration is not yet complete, officials predict that about the same number of students are attending this year as last. Attendance at the grade school is approximately the same as last year. Tuesday morning registration records showed that 150 non-resident students had already signed up for work at Ord high school. A total of 306 students have enrolled in senior high school, taking in grades nine to twelve inclusive.

Students in each grade are as follows: Seventh grade, 49; eighth grade, 33; ninth grade, 82; tenth grade, 65; eleventh grade, 96; and twelfth grade, 70.

Many improvements were noticed by teachers and students as they walked into school Monday morning. At the high school a new trophy case of modern design has been set up in the front hall, replacing the old cabinet which has been in the school since it was built. Two new electric stoves had been purchased and placed in the home economics department. At the grade school, two new drinking fountains have been installed; all doors have been changed to meet state fire law regulations; new bulletin boards have been placed in a number of rooms; and interiors of every room in the school have been repainted.

Junior high and senior high school teachers now employed include C. C. Thompson, superintendent; F. L. Stoddard, principal; Viola Crouch, Barbara Hansen, Jesse Kovanda, Frank Lee, Elizabeth Lukes, Loretta Murphy, Helen Myers, Esther Schoenleber, Ellen Servine, Bernice Slot, Keith Wolfe and Dean Duncan.

Old Settlers Are Meeting Sunday

Arrangements are being perfected for the old settlers' picnic which will be held at Bussell park Sunday, Sept. 12. The park is plentifully supplied with benches and tables, which was the reason for changing the location from the one originally voted for, Clements' grove near Burwell. All old timers of the North Loup from one end to the other are welcome to attend, and also any from the Middle Loup who care to come. Old timers who are now living elsewhere and choose to come back at this time will be treated as honored guests. Miss Maud Goodenow is in charge of the program and because of the fact that the full program will not be obtainable in time, it will not be printed in the Quiz. The program in the main will consist of a large number of short talks by old timers, perhaps the most interesting feature being the reading of the story of Buckshot Charley White. For dinner each family will bring a basket, and all will be placed on the tables so that each one can help themselves. Those who are alone will doubtless find that there is enough on hand for everybody. A suggestion that will probably be carried out at this meeting is the forming of a regular organization and the charging of a small annual fee to take care of any incidental expenses. It is also suggested that someone be made historian to gather and compile all the early day facts possible and get them into shape to form a permanent record. It is doubtless true that many incidents of historic value are being lost because this has not been done in the past.

Project Clubs Will Meet Next Wednesday

A meeting of the presidents, social leaders and reading leaders of women's project clubs has been scheduled for Wed., Sept. 15, at the American Legion hall at Ord. The meeting will start at 10:00 a. m., and last until 3:30 p. m. A covered dish luncheon will be held at noon. Ellen Brown, Mrs. Gaines and a representative of the Nebraska Library Association will be present. Any project club interested in this reading project must have a representative present if they are to receive the reading circulars. Clubs in adjoining counties are welcome to send delegates.

Doctor Free on Bond. In court at Albion Friday, Dr. W. R. Nay, accused of performing an illegal operation, stoutly maintained his innocence in filing a plea of not guilty. He waived preliminary hearing, and was bound over for trial in district court, bond being fixed at $1,500.

Arcadia Girl First Polio Victim; Need For Serum Is Felt

Co. Physician Kruml Asks All Past Polio Sufferers For Donations of Blood.

With appearance of a case of infantile paralysis in the Arcadia area, indicating that the epidemic now prevalent in Omaha may be spreading throughout the state, Dr. J. G. Kruml, county physician, urges Valley county people who have had the disease and recovered from it to donate blood for the manufacture of convalescent serum, greatest help in fighting the disease.

Only place in central Nebraska equipped to make this serum is the St. Francis hospital at Grand Island. Local people who recovered from infantile paralysis may go there and let hospital attaches remove a small quantity of blood from their veins for use in making serum and may save a life by this humanitarian act.

So far the only victim of poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, in Valley county is Pauline Hawley, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawley, who live 4 1-2 miles from Arcadia. She is said by Dr. J. G. Kruml to be very ill. Dr. Amick, of Loup City, is her physician.

Slightly ill with what her parents thought was only a common cold, the little girl is said to have attended the celebration held in Arcadia Friday, later becoming very ill. Dr. Amick at once diagnosed her ailment as polio and Dr. Kruml concurs in the diagnosis.

Early symptoms of polio closely resemble those of a common cold or influenza, the county physician says. Running nose, fever, upset stomach and diarrhea, usually accompanied by stiffness of the neck, are early symptoms. Early diagnosis of the disease is extremely difficult because the symptoms so closely resemble those of more common childhood diseases.

In Omaha there are more than sixty cases of polio, schools are closed, public gatherings of children prohibited and every effort being made to stamp out the disease. Although polio is more or less prevalent over the country, only a few cases have been reported in Nebraska outside the Omaha district. There is only one known case in Grand Island.

Should a case of polio develop in Ord it is thought by Dr. Kruml that schools should be closed immediately, though this decision would rest entirely with Mayor Gould B. Flagg and the city physician, Dr. H. N. Norris. Kruml discussed the matter with Flagg Monday. Children under 18 should be kept away from churches, theaters and other public gatherings now, the county physician believes.

Dr. Kruml is hopeful that several Ord people—former infantile paralysis sufferers—will volunteer to go to Grand Island and give blood to be made into convalescent serum. There is a great shortage of such serum in the state, he says, and should cases of polio develop here Ord doctors would have to call upon the St. Francis hospital for serum, which they no doubt could do if blood is provided by local people.

Guided Blind Man While Drunk; Fined

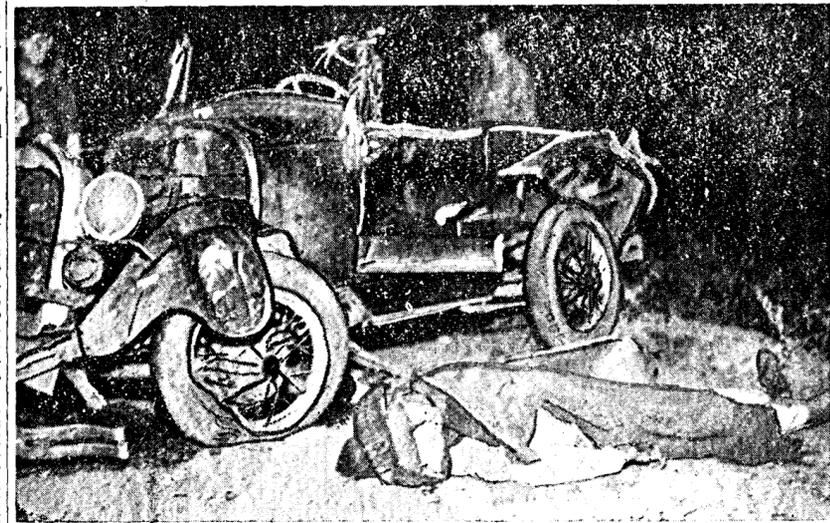

Friday evening John Bruha was found in an intoxicated condition on the public square, and was placed under arrest. Saturday morning in Justice of the Peace A. Brown's court he entered a plea of guilty as charged, and was assessed a fine of $7.50 and costs of $6.45, which he paid. What called the attention of the public to his condition was that shortly before his arrest he was trying to act as guide to Joe Turek, who is blind, but who seemed to be more certain of where he was going than did Bruha.

Three students took tests for special swimming awards, which they won. Those to win special awards were Dean Blessing, Dobby Klitma and "Bus" Petty.

Car Collides With Truck Near Elyria—Ed Bruen Dies

Death again rode the Ord-Burwell highway Thursday night, this time in the tonneau of a car driven by Ed Bruen, tractor operator on the irrigation project. When Bruen's car sideswiped a truck, Bruen was killed. Here is shown the wreckage of his Model A Ford, just after the body was removed. Excessive speed is blamed for the accident.—Quiz Photo by Duemey.

Grace Lee Named District Agent, Goes to O'Neill

Valley County Farm Bureau Finances Do Not Permit Keeping Home Agent.

Miss Grace Lee, who since January, 1936, has served as home extension agent for the Valley county farm bureau, has been appointed district agent with headquarters at O'Neill and on Sept. 15 will go to that city, according to word received by farm bureau officials. Valley county is included in the district which Miss Lee will serve and she will continue to hold leaders' training meetings for women's project clubs and training meetings for girls' 4-H club leaders in this county under the new set-up.

The Valley county farm bureau was very anxious to keep a home agent in the county and Don Rounds, president, wrote Assistant State Director H. G. Gould to that effect, but because local finances were not sufficient to pay mileage, salaries of office assistants and for supplies, the request was denied. Under the new arrangement Valley county will not be required to pay any mileage expense in connection with Miss Lee's work.

According to President Rounds, the situation was brought about by the state conservation committee insisting there should be a distinct line drawn between the work of the conservation office and the county farm bureau office, and refusing to pay the salary of anyone employed by the conservation association who might also work for the county farm bureau, as was done in Valley county.

This ruling forced the farm bureau to provide its own office help and insufficient funds are available to do this and carry all other necessary expenses with both an agricultural agent and home agent in the county, hence Miss Lee's removal resulted.

Interest in girls 4-H club and women's project club work has increased greatly under Miss Lee's guidance and farm bureau officials are regretful that she will no longer be in Valley county devoting all her time to such work.

S. D. B. Missionaries Are Believed Safe

North Loup—(Special)—Mrs. G. L. Hutchins has received word indicating that the group of S. D. B. missionaries in China are believed to be safe. Eugene Davis, head of the group, has cabled S. D. B. headquarters at Plainfield, N. J., for funds for the return of four of the group to the United States from Manila, where they went on refugee ships. In this group are Miss Susie Burdick, her nurse Miss Chapin, Miss Miriam Shaw and Miss Marcia Davis.

No mention is made of Mrs. Eugene Davis, last reported to be on a refugee ship bound for Manila, but it is believed she will remain there pending the arrival of her husband, who remained in Shanghai. It is thought that Mr. Davis and Dr. Grace Crandall are the only North Loupers remaining in China and that Dr. Crandall is not likely to leave under any circumstances because of her two adopted Chinese daughters.

Four Fined, Jail Sentence For Long

Tuesday morning Judge John L. Anderson had a nice business for one hour. During the period from 10:00 to 11:00 a. m. he heard four county cases, and performed a marriage ceremony. The cases heard were as follows:

Nebr. vs. Donald Long, resisting and abusing an officer, Fred Stone, Arcadia marshal on Sept. 4, was sentenced to 45 days at hard labor, and to pay the costs amounting to $10.76. The jail sentence was imposed because Long had been in court on a former occasion, in August, 1935, and was given a due warning at that time. The judge intends from now on to make the sentences plenty heavy for those who resist and abuse officers in the performance of their duty.

Marshal Stone also arrested A. J. Wetzel at Arcadia Sept. 5, shortly after midnight. He was wandering around in an intoxicated condition, trying to find his car. When found the car was inside the roped off area and had evidently been driven up the sidewalk to get it there, although Wetzel had no recollection of the incident. He drew a fine of $10.00 and costs of $9.76, which he paid Tuesday.

Monday Harold New and Harold Treadway engaged in an altercation at the Beck-Dugan Oil company's station, over the question of the breaking of the glass in the window of a car. A few blows were struck. Marshal Covert placed them under arrest. Tuesday in Judge Anderson's court they entered a plea of guilty to charges of assault and battery, and paid fines of $5.00 and costs of $8.00 each.

Tuesday evening Fred Rosseau was arrested and this morning paid a $10 fine and costs of $8.00 on an intoxication charge.

Davis Creek Got 4 Inches of Rain

Largest amount of moisture reported in Valley county's Friday night and Saturday morning downpour was at Davis Creek, where 4 inches fell. Ord received only 1.14 inches, lightest rain reported. Upwards of 2 inches fell throughout the county, coming so slowly that most of it soaked into the ground. Soil is now wet to a greater depth than at any time during the past ten months, say farmers who have been digging post holes and doing fall plowing. Planting of big acreage of winter wheat is being planned, due to favorable moisture conditions.

Plane Falls 150 Feet Into Canyon 1 Killed, 1 Hurt

Fred Martinson Farm Scene Of Fatal Crash Sunday; John Abrahams Dead.

John Abrahams, 41, is dead and his brother, Guy Abrahams, 47, was taken to the Ord hospital with a broken back and other injuries as result of an airplane crash in a canyon on the Fred Martinson farm 10 miles north of Ord at 12:30 Sunday afternoon. Guy Abrahams is expected to recover.

The Abrahams brothers, who formerly lived in Valley county but had made their home in Lincoln for some years, were coming here to visit their sister, Mrs. Martinson. The plane was owned by John Abrahams, who had been flying five years and was regarded as a skilled amateur pilot.

They reached the Martinson farm north of Ord soon after 12 o'clock and circled three times around a flat-topped hill where they planned to land. Members of the Martinson family watched the plane as it circled for a landing, except Mrs. Martinson who was setting the table for a dinner prepared in honor of the expected visit of her brothers.

On the third circle the pilot cut off his engine and glided in to land, crossing a canyon about 300 feet deep. Suddenly the plane began to sideslip and fall, evidently caught by an air current from the canyon. The pilot started his engine and tried to pull the plane out of the sideslip but failed and the plane crashed to earth about 150 feet below, bouncing 25 feet into the air and then settling to the ground.

Mr. Martinson rushed to the scene, reaching the wreckage within an estimated three minutes, and found the pilot John Abrahams and his brother Guy pinned in the cabin. John was dead, apparently killed instantly, but Guy was alive and conscious. Dr. F. A. Barta and the Sowl ambulance were called.

A fractured skull was the direct cause of John's death, the doctor found, though he also was terribly crushed and probably would not have survived even if his skull had not been fractured. Lifted from the wreckage, Guy Abrahams was found to be paralyzed from the waist down, leading doctors to believe his back broken.

One of the plane's gas tanks was broken and the plane was saturated with gasoline but did not catch fire. The motor was still running after the crash. Guy Abrahams suffered severe gasoline burns on his back.

Sunday evening Chas. F. Doyle, state aeronautics commissioner, and C. E. Montague, federal aeronautics inspector, arrived from Lincoln to inspect the wreckage and discover cause of the crash. Both informally expressed the opinion that an air current from the canyon pulled the plane downward and that no structural defect was involved. The plane was a Rearwin cabin monoplane manufactured in Kansas City and was valued at about $3,000. John Abrahams bought it about five months ago.

In Lincoln Tuesday, Doyle was quoted as saying that Pilot Abrahams evidently misjudged the distance of his glide and could not reach the top of the hill.

The Abrahams brothers have visited at the Martinson place before and about six weeks ago came here by airplane and landed on the hilltop which they were trying to use as a landing field Sunday. John Abrahams was an employee of the Lincoln light and water department and Guy Abrahams is a farmer who lives about 12 miles from Lincoln.

Monday afternoon Dr. C. J. Miller took x-ray pictures to determine extent of Guy Abrahams' back injuries and Dr. Barta disclosed that one vertebra in the upper part of the spinal column was badly fractured. This morning Mr. Abrahams said he was feeling the best he has since the accident and, barring the development of pneumonia or other complications, it is thought that he can be taken to Lincoln within a few days.

A delicate operation by an orthopedic specialist will be required to remove bits of broken bone and set the fractured vertebra, said Dr. Barta, who is taking care of him here.

This morning the body of John Abrahams was taken to Lincoln for burial.

4-H Picnic Called Off. Due to the fact that the Valley county fair board is unable to pay fair premiums until later in the fall, the all-county 4-H club picnic which was scheduled for Saturday will be postponed, says Miss Grace Lee. Later, fair premiums will be mailed to each individual winning a prize, or another picnic will be scheduled at which time the checks will be delivered.

Mile-Long Parade Features Arcadia Ditch Celebration

1,200 People Attended Friday Events, Saturday Show Was Hampered by Big Rain

Arcadia—(Special)—A parade more than a mile long headed by the Ord band was the opening event of a two-day "irrigation celebration" held here Friday and Saturday. The crowd Friday afternoon was estimated at 1,200 and almost as many attended in the evening. Saturday's crowd was cut by a rain totalling 2.25 inches but all events went off according to schedule.

More than twenty beautifully decorated floats took part in the parade Friday, Anton Nelson being in charge. Forming near the depot, it extended to the bridge near Marvel's garage, a distance of slightly over one mile, and was regarded as the best parade Arcadia has ever seen.

Afternoon events Friday included contests, free acts and a band concert; in the evening the Thespians quartet sponsored by the Ord Quiz and a group of tap dancers sponsored by Aule Brothers added free acts and the Ord band in entertaining. The day was designated as "Ord day" and a big crowd from the county seat was present. Softball games, a dance and a show by the Hazel McOwen Players closed the evening. Several speeches by officials of the irrigation district and others were made from the platform.

In spite of the heavy rain Saturday, races and vaudeville acts were given and the dance and shows proceeded in the evening. A special feature was a roller skating act, enjoyed by all present.

The celebration was regarded as supremely successful, due in large measure to the careful planning and energetic work done by S. B. Warden and other members of the celebration committee. It is planned to make this celebration, commemorating approval by the PWA of the Middle Loup project, an annual September event.

American Legion Sponsors 'Ord Day'

At the regular meeting of Fidelity Post No. 38, American Legion Tuesday evening, a movement was instituted toward the observance of Oct. 1 as "Ord Day". This date was taken because of the fact that it is the birthday anniversary of the man for whom Ord was named, General E. O. C. Ord. Because of the fact that Ord has had plenty of celebrations the past summer, it was not deemed best to make any effort for a big celebration this year, but rather to turn the efforts of the past toward a real celebration in 1938.

The proposition was sprung on the membership as somewhat of a surprise but at the close of the session, after a number had time to think it over, it was agreed that it would be a good idea to sponsor a small observance this year, and this will be planned in detail at the regular October meeting, which will come Oct. 5. The idea is being developed, and the officers of the post would welcome suggestions from the members, as well as from other residents of Ord, as to what should be done to make the observance a success.

Chanticleers Karin' to Go, Here Are Some Early Birds

Nearly 40 football suits were checked out by Coach Brockman to eager Chanticleer footballers last week. Each day's practice since that time has seen a few more turning out. By the end of this week the list is expected to reach the 65 mark. As this photo was taken early last week, there are very few regulars to be seen, almost all the lettermen did not turn out until this week. Most of the boys in this group are freshmen or "soph's". Although they are considered rather "green" by the regulars, all of them show an unusually large amount of football talent.—Photo by Lakin.

Brockman Loses Ace Letterman

DICK KOUPAL Coach Brockman received his first big setback of the 1937 football season Tuesday when it was announced that Dick Koupal, ace end player on the '36 Chanticleer squad, would not play this year. Koupal, a junior this year, was outstanding last year, the passing combination of Clark to Koupal being a real threat to opposing teams. He will devote all of his time this year to his musical activities.

Stripping Cornfields Causes Erosion

Stripping drouth-damaged cornfields of all vegetation in an attempt to save all possible livestock feed may cause severe wind erosion. Fields having a thick growth of weeds are in no danger of blowing, even though all corn is removed. Where fields are clean, harvestings of stalks leaves the soil in a dangerous condition. Three practices are advocated to overcome the soil blowing later in the year. If stalks are of good size and there is a good stand, leaving one-rod strips of uncut stalks every five or ten rods will help materially to reduce the force of the wind next to the soil. A great number of farmers are acquainted with this method already. However, where the stand is thin and the stalks small this practice is not effective. Under "normal" conditions, one of the most practical methods of protecting the land is fall seeding of rye or wheat. Listing of the land is another method. This should be done on the contour if possible, thus helping to hold rainfall or melting snow in the spring. Sub-soil gains additional moisture in this manner. Contour listing has several weaknesses which need to be guarded against. One of its worst faults occurs when low places in natural draws are listed across, causing runoff water to erode, carrying away valuable soil. Lifting of the lists out of the soil when crossing draws is advocated to prevent such from happening.

Last Teachers Selected. The list of Valley county rural school teachers was completed this week when Miss Barbara Ranz was named instructor at District 59 and Mrs. Bernice Canedy was chosen to take over the grade room at the Barker school.

Proceedings of the City Council

August 11, 1937. The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley county, Nebraska, met in adjourned session in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Mayor Flagg presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following councilmen were present: Val Pullen, Guy Burrows, Frank Serhsen, Joe Rohla and Frank Johnson. Absent: J. W. McGinnis.

Mr. E. H. Dummire and a number of business men appeared before the Council with reference to the proposed contract to purchase electrical energy from the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District. Mr. Dummire and several others spoke briefly in favor of signing the contract. Mayor Flagg objected to the City signing the contract, contending that the contract should set out the amount of deficiency arising from the irrigation proper, as not exceeding $25,732.00, which amount of deficit has always been understood would have to be made up through the sale of electrical energy. He further contended that under Section 13 of the offered contract, the District could at the time the rates are readjusted, manipulate their costs to show a deficiency larger than it actually should be, and thereby prevent the City from obtaining a lower rate for electrical energy.

After discussing the matter at length, and over the objection of the Mayor, the following resolution was offered.

RESOLUTION. A RESOLUTION APPROVING AND ACCEPTING THE CONTRACT OF THE NORTH LOUP RIVER PUBLIC POWER AND IRRIGATION DISTRICT FOR THE SUPPLYING OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO THE CITY OF ORD, AND AUTHORIZING THE MAYOR AND CLERK TO EXECUTE THE SAME IN BEHALF OF THE CITY OF ORD.

WHEREAS, the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District has submitted to the City of Ord a contract for the supplying of all the electrical energy needed by the City to supply its customers, and,

WHEREAS, the said contract has been examined and found acceptable.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Mayor and City Councilmen of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, in an adjourned regular session, that the Contract between the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District and the City of Ord, Nebraska, dated August 11th, 1937, for the furnishing of electric energy to the City of Ord, be and the same hereby is accepted and approved and the Mayor and Clerk of the City of Ord are hereby authorized to execute same on behalf of the City of Ord.

The above Resolution was moved by Councilman Pullen and seconded by Councilman Serhsen, and

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

This is another of those weeks when there is not much to write about, but Eugene will be looking for a letter so I must try. In the first place it has cooled off. The trees across the lake show a tinge of fall colors but it don't look like they would get colored up as we like to see them, while we are here. It will take a frost to do that. So far there is no frost but there is a fall feel to the air and there may be a frost before we leave about the middle of this month.

With the going of the Augustines the Fenner, Leggetts and Mrs. Simpson are all that are left in camp and it is real quiet around here. Today the Fenner's are over on Gull walleye fishing. Mr. Fenner has busted himself gathering hazelnuts and shucking them and has had a real fight with the red squirrels to keep them from stealing his nuts after he went to the work of gathering them.

For the first time this summer the walleyes are striking on Gull lake. It is almost unheard of thing for a whole season to pass as it has this year, without being able to catch walleyes on Gull and resort keepers over there say it has cost them plenty of business. Former guests write up and say "When the walleyes start going good wire us and we will come," and all summer they have been unable to send the wire and many former guests who like to fish walleyes have not come up this year.

Today Ray Luther is laying a new roof on the Mrs. Simpson cottage. The cottage was built fifteen years ago. Next week he is going to lay a new roof on the Leggett cottage, the one laid sixteen years ago, being pretty well worn out. It leaks in a dozen places and takes constant watching and patching to keep it so it will shed most of the rain.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Bussey of the Natatorium Laundry Co., of Fort Worth, Texas, appeared before the Council and offered to pay the sum of $7,000.00 for the engine and generator. After consideration and discussion Councilman Pullen made the following motion which was seconded by Councilman Johnson.

MOTION. That the City attorney shall draw up papers offering the Skinner engine generator for sale to the Natatorium Laundry Co., of Fort Worth, Texas, for the sum of $8,000.00 f. o. b. Ord; terms being 10% upon acceptance of contract, balance upon loading of the equipment, delivery to be not later than March 1, 1938. Upon roll call there being five yeas, and no nays, the motion was declared carried.

There being no further business to come before the Mayor and Council of the City of Ord at this time, it was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn. Carried.

September 3, 1937. The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Mayor Flagg presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Val Pullen, Frank Serhsen, Guy Burrows, Joe Rohla and Frank Johnson. Absent: J. W. McGinnis.

The minutes of the proceedings of August 6, August 11, and August 6, 1937 were read and by motion ordered placed on file.

The request of the Ord Volunteer fire department for additional nozzle equipment was read. After discussing the matter, the matter was put to vote. It was moved by Pullen and seconded by Burrows that the request be allowed. Motion carried.

The matter of taking the new city fire truck into the country in response to calls from farmers was brought up. After considerable discussion, it was decided to take no action, the matter being left to the judgment of the firemen.

The request of the Fire Department for more fire hose was presented. It was discussed pro and con. Moved by Pullen and seconded by Serhsen that the Fire Committee with power to act attend to the purchasing of 300 feet of approved fire hose. Carried.

It was moved by Pullen and seconded by Serhsen that the City Clerk on behalf of the Mayor and Council extend to the Library Board of the Township Library their congratulations and compliments on the newly decorated library room. Carried.

Engineer Clyde Burdick appeared before the Council with a view to ascertaining the wishes of the city as to graveling the streets using WPA labor. Inasmuch as this project was started the past year, and remains unfinished, the consensus of opinion was that another attempt to finish it would be in order. It was moved by Johnson and seconded by Rohla that the Road Committee with power to act attend to the graveling. Carried.

Why Not An Emergency Landing Field For Ord

There are two pertinent reasons why Ord should have an emergency flying field. The cut above illustrates the first reason. Two months ago airmail was established between Omaha and Scotts Bluff, the planes making the hop of more than 400 miles without a stop. In case of trouble an emergency field at Ord would prove very useful. The other reason is that Ord's own aviatrix, Evelyn Sharp, has her own plane now and is putting in a lot of time piling up hours in the air, which she needs to obtain her transport license. The field now in use is very satisfactory, but is not designated on the airways maps as an emergency field.

War Department Provides Free 'Vacations' for Thousands of Boys in C.M.T.C. Units

FROM farm and city, factory, office, shop and school each summer come approximately 35,000 American youths who enjoy a 30 day vacation on Uncle Sam's expense account.

These vacations were made possible in 1920 when Congress, in passing the National Defense Act, paved the way for the establishment of the Citizens' Military Training Camps, attended by men between the ages of 17 and 25.

In 1913, Gen. Leonard Wood chief of staff, U. S. Army, declared that America's training system was not at all adequate, and started a camp movement for cadets from colleges offering military training. Eastern businessmen soon became interested and went off to camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., paying their own expenses. When America entered the war, Plattsburg became an officers' training school.

As an outgrowth of General Wood's idea was born the C. M. T. C. Each of the nation's nine corps areas contains one or more camps to which boys in that area may go. Able to present to take care of not many more than 35,000 boys, it is the hope of the War Department to some day train 100,000 youths each summer.

For 30 days the boys receive military and citizenship training from competent instructors. Hard work and play go hand in hand and dull moments are rare.

From the time the boys hear reveille at 5:40 a. m. until taps is sounded at night, there is something to do—and learn.

THE first few days are concerned with setting up drill, sanitation problems and rudimentary military tactics. Gradually they branch into military maneuvers, learn how to handle guns, big and small, ride horses, are taught higher mathematics for advanced gunnery, learn telephone and radio communication and a hundred and one other things which are part of the army's work.

Sports of all kinds, including boxing, wrestling, swimming, baseball, and tennis, are included in the daily program, as are courses in civics and citizenship training.

Beginners are subjected to the basic or first year course, and if they wish to further their military education, take successively the "red" and "white" courses, or second and third year training. Upon completion of the "blue," or fourth-year final course, it is understood that the enrollee wishes to take the examination for a commission in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

Coincidental, but in no way part of the C. M. T. C. activity this summer, is another phase of the War Department's military training—the U. S. Army war games, in which many "graduates" of C. M. T. C. units who hold reserve officers' commissions, take part.

The war games held this summer by the fourth army represent the greatest troop movement in the United States since the World War. More than 55,000 men started the maneuvers held in midwestern and western states comprising the seventh and ninth corps areas.

The valuable training in mobilization, strategy and tactics received under theoretical battle conditions is worked out by a system of attacking and defending forces. And the army even goes so far as to supply umpires to decide which side wins.

Probably the primary purpose of the gigantic maneuver, the third of its kind since 1918, is to bring together the National Guard, the regular troops and the Reserve Officers' Corps to the point where, in time of war they could work in harmony with the highest degree of efficiency.

rolled in the Taylor school this semester. There are 12 in the first grade, 18 in the second, 15 in the third, 10 in the fourth, 10 in the fifth, 7 in the sixth, 14 in the seventh and 9 in the eighth, with a total of 95 in grade school. There are about 123 in high school, 32 freshmen, 33 sophomores, 35 juniors and 30 seniors.

Several new classes have been added this year. They include general English, several shop courses, advanced home economics, three classes in dramatics, girls' chorus, and band. The first week several changes were made in the schedules. No class officers and sponsors have been elected as yet.

The building has had several improvements during the past summer. A new roof was put on, the home economics room and rooms 1 and 2 had their floors and desks sanded and varnished, and a new water pump was installed to supply a bigger demand of water for the school.

With a new coach, Mr. George, and several lettermen returning, Taylor aims to produce a successful football team this season. At the beginning of the school year 32 boys reported for practice. The first week was spent taking exercises, getting in condition for the season.

Miss Bessie Edney is teacher of the first and second grades. Although she is listed as a new teacher, she has taught in the Taylor school for seven years, taking one year's vacation last year.

Nine students from other towns are attending the Taylor high school this year. Betty Thompson formerly of Valentine, has joined the senior class; five juniors, Esta Dunbar from Cody, Thelma Harden from Almeria, Mary Conger, Colleen and Carol Simon from Brewster, Gertrude Hulbert from Burwell and Luchien Dasher from Olney, Ark.

Miss Dorothy Gill Conducts Cooking School Oct. 4-5

Quiz, Light Department, Will Cooperate to Bring Noted Cullinary Expert to Ord.

When a gray-haired granny undertakes to teach the sweet young thing how to cook, that's not news. But when a young modern girl can show granny a thing or two about the kitchen arts, that is news. And Miss Gill, the personable and attractive young lady who is coming to Ord to conduct a big free cooking school is prepared to do just that.

"Please don't let the women of Ord get the wrong idea," writes Miss Gill. "I know there are no better cooks anywhere than you'll find right here in Ord. And I don't expect to teach anybody how to cook. Ord women already know how. But I do hope to present some new and interesting recipes, some culinary short-cuts, and new ways of doing old tasks."

Miss Gill came well equipped to bring her listeners the latest tricks in homemaking, for she has been conducting cooking schools for the last several years, and has lectured before capacity audiences in Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, South Dakota, Minnesota, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico. Perhaps "lecture" is hardly the right word, for the chief charm of Miss Gill's cooking school sessions is their informality. Miss Gill has a ready infectious wit which delights her listeners and makes them feel at home. She makes her audience enjoy themselves and has a good time herself while she's doing it.

Miss Gill has a clear and pleasant speaking voice and can be heard easily and distinctly.

Miss Gill received her training in the home economic department of the Nebraska where she took her degree. For the last several years she has been doing special work in the test kitchens of Omar Mills, whose Omar flour she will use in the school.

School will "take up" on Oct. 4 when Miss Gill opens the first session in Ord. The school, sponsored by The Quiz and the municipal light department of this city, in cooperation and supported by local firms, is absolutely free, and every woman in this vicinity is invited to attend. In addition to the lectures and demonstrations given by Miss Gill, there will be drawings for the food articles prepared during the session and for special merchandise prizes.

June 1st and was ready to harvest about August 20th, fully matured. It will yield this year from 10 to 60 bu. and adjoining fields of corn will make nothing, and adjoining fields of other sorghum crops are not nearly so good. I should like to see every farm in Valley county try 5 to 10 acres next year. The grain is almost equal to corn in feeding value, the forage is good feed, and will produce grain when corn fails. I will have a limited amount of this seed to dispose of in the near future, and if you will let me know the amount of seed you wish, I will save it for you. First come, first served.

GET OUT OF CHINA.

Regardless of how the public sympathies may lie in the Eastern crisis, the United States has no right to interfere in the undeclared war now in progress over there.

The situation is no different there. Those foreigners who went to Shanghai and built up businesses there did so because they knew they could make big money at it, and so long as they could keep piling up funds they did not ask the United States for help, and they did not pay to the United States any taxes on the property they owned in China.

OLDER MEN ARE THE BEST. A survey issued by Charles F. Stech, market and sales analyst on New York City, shows that salesmen and sales ladies in the fifties produce the most results.

That was theory. Now comes a practical man with page after page of incontrovertible facts proving the inefficiency of the older man. Those organizations that in the past have made 40 years the age limit for persons entering their employ, may now be forced to change their rules.

NO MAN IS PERFECT.

No man has ever attained perfection, nor has he come anywhere near it. He cannot, for he is living in a world peopled by imperfect. A newspaper that would print only that which could positively be verified in every particular would be a byword and a hissing in any community.

Out of several hundred items in the Quiz last week the editor has been informed in no uncertain terms that three were incorrect in some particular. In one of these cases the fault was with the informant, who knew, but did not give the information correctly.

The California thief who strips his victims of their clothes is providing a swell excuse for the husband who loses his all in a poker game.

Simple Theory. Einstein's theory of relativity is hard to grasp, but Uncle Ezra says his theory of it can be explained in four simple words: "Don't live with them."

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gonca

One Drink--$19.00. From Frank McDermott comes the following story, of which he says he was fleeced out of $19.00. He was driving alone toward Scotia after night and saw ahead of him the lights of a car and the lights of another leaving. He started to drive by when he discovered the car parked on the wrong side of the road. It was too late then and he banged into the car.

Three people jumped out. Frank wanted them to leave the car where it was to show that Frank was right and they were wrong but one of the people moved the car at once. It had been in the ditch. Others gathered and the county judge and city marshal were called and the whole eight swore out a claim that Frank was drunk while driving.

Frank claims he was not drunk. He had had only one glass of beer. More than that, folks that know Frank never heard of him getting drunk and he has the reputation of being a fine fellow. Nevertheless, the eight, to save themselves getting into trouble for being parked on the wrong side of the road, instigated the affair, took Frank to Greeley and fined him, the entire cost amounting to nearly $19.00. More than that, Frank might be in danger of a damage suit. His testimony against eight would not mean much in Greeley county.

But the point I was trying to make is the one glass of beer. Many claim one glass will not make a person drunk. But if he never drank at all, the drunken charge could not have been brought. I can think of many men, if someone would say they were drunk, that someone would be laughed out of court. They just don't even drink the one glass.

One Good Crop.

The new town marshal, Jim Coleman, this last month killed twelve dogs. The month before five. He gets a dollar each bonus for the dogs he kills, and that twelve dollars sweetens his salary up very nicely. But he says as yet he does not seem to make any headway. It looks like there are as many dogs as talls.

Ollie Penton tells of his experience with the dog population the first month he was city marshal a few years ago. When he was sworn into office, at the same meeting, the city dads passed the resolution that everyone who had a dog must buy a dollar dog tax. All other dogs must be slain. That first month Ollie sold 42 dog tags and killed 36 dogs.

When the board met again Ollie put in his bill for $36.00 for killing dogs. And Ollie says, "Maybe you think that board didn't get back and howl at paying the $36.00. I thought for a while they were not going to allow the bill."

Then Ollie went on to say that there was one cream station man who had a bulldog and he would not buy a license. Ollie asked him several times about it and each time the man would simply answer, "Ah you won't ever kill that dog." Finally Ollie stopped in and said, "How about it? Have you got the dollar for the tag?" Again the man made a joke of the license so as Ollie stepped out the door he tied a string on the dog and lead him off.

"Was the man mad?" I asked. "He was just as mad as a person could get," Ollie said, "but it was too late. I couldn't let that dog lay around on main street and tax all the others."

Five Dollars an Hour.

Another incident with town boards was one time, one cold day, something went wrong at the top of the water tower. The man then in charge was afraid to climb up and repair the trouble. He scouted about and found a man who had the nerve to climb up and tend to the repair. The board had to ask several for it is not everyone who will do that kind of work.

It was not a long job. Simply climb to the top, and as I remember, thaw out a frozen pipe, hang on tight and play with the clouds. In an hour or so the steeplejack was down.

But when the board met he put in his bill for $10.00. The board howled and stormed around, and so did the water man, at that exorbitant charge for a couple of hours work. The mechanic insisted he was the only man in town who would do it and their own employee did not have the nerve, and neither did any one of the board. The bill was finally allowed but not until after an ardent discussion.

Little Vignettes of Big People.

In speaking of the beer parlor, I heard a man say, that is one place he had never been in to take a drink. I asked why--if he didn't like Bill Stine.

"Yes," he said, "Bill's a fine fellow. But it's the principle of the thing. I make a practice of never trading in the home town." From a member of the school board: We always act conscientiously and to the best of our judgment. It is a gamble whatever teacher we hire. We hesitate to fire a known teacher with a few faults for one we know nothing about that may have many more.

Beat two eggs with two cups sugar, which has been blended with three-fourths cup butter. Add a pinch of salt, then stir one teaspoon soda into one-half cup buttermilk and add. Put in enough flour to make a batter just thick enough to roll out thin and cut.

Something DIFFERENT

A good deal of the news just now is quite disgusting to me. Admitting I don't know lots about it, still I am not at all in sympathy with the Japanese. It looks to me as if the Japs decided Italy got by with the conquest of Ethiopia, so why can't we take a hunk of China if we wish?

And I'll be darned if I will buy a single other thing stamped "Made in Japan." I do without first, thank you.

Another disgusting series of news stories has to do with the crime and moral squads of the Omaha police. Every day some commissioner calls another a bluffer, a liar, declares if I had My May, Omaha Would Be Cleaned Up! Each one passes the buck, swaps a couple of detectives for a pair of policemen, makes a few public remarks about the situation being the fault of someone else. A big windy smoke screen, very black.

They are like swimmers under water. We may not know exactly what they are up to but all have a fair idea. It is quite clear to even the dumbest out-state citizens.

Another thing I got out of the newspapers was a story about a new process being begun in Omaha just now to clean, dress, singe and thoroughly prepare for cooking nice chickens. They are scrubbed, inspected, giblets wrapped in a parchment and tucked back inside them, then cellophane packed and shipped to eastern markets. All ready to cook.

Why isn't Ord and Valley county an ideal place for a few chicken packing plants like this? We could use some new crops and ideas for some of our farmers, who are tired having corn burn up year after year, and seeing the wheat blow out.

Ord needs some new businesses, the farmer needs a new job. Valley county farms look like a prospective Chicken's Paradise to me. Wouldn't this idea work?

Over at Broken Bow is a fine hotel. But it advertises with one of the quite most quaint signs seen anywhere.

THE COOK'S COL-YUM, YUM

We have never received many buttermilk-using recipes. Do you have any? And do you use honey in many recipes? And what about pumpkin? We would like to receive some unusual, some good, recipes with these ingredients, please.

Pumpkin Cake. Cream one-half cup butter and one and one-fourth cup sugar, add two beaten eggs. Sift two and one-fourth cups cake flour, or two cups of all-purpose flour with three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon each of salt, nutmeg, ginger and cinnamon. Mix one cup cooked pumpkin with three-fourths cup milk, one-half teaspoon soda, add to the batter alternately with the flour mixture. Put in one-half cup broken nuts, bake in a loaf in a moderate oven.

Buttermilk Cookies. Beat two eggs with two cups sugar, which has been blended with three-fourths cup butter. Add a pinch of salt, then stir one teaspoon soda into one-half cup buttermilk and add. Put in enough flour to make a batter just thick enough to roll out thin and cut.

Dill Pickles. Wash cucumbers and pack them in jars with one head of dill to a jar. Mix three quarts of water, one quart of vinegar, and one cup salt. When boiling pour over cucumbers and seal. This much liquid will cover about six quarts of dills.

Mrs. Seton Hanson. Dinner En Casserole. Saute one onion and one green pepper in two tablespoons shortening. Cook a few minutes and add two cups of left-over cooked meat, two hard cooked eggs, one-half cup rice or green olives chopped, one-fourth cup raisins. Put in one cup left-over gravy or a sauce made as follows: one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon shortening, one cup meat stock or milk. Pour over the above ingredients after they are placed in a casserole. For a variation cover with this crust: one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one level teaspoon baking powder, cut in one-fourth cup shortening and add ice water slowly until flour is all combined. Cover as for pie and bake twenty minutes at 450 degrees.

Six Layer Dinner. Peel and slice two cups of potatoes in the bottom of a baking dish, then put in one cup sliced onions, then one-half cup uncooked rice. Add one-half cup green peppers chopped, salt and pepper to taste. Last put in one pound of raw ground beef and pour one pint of tomatoes over the top. Cover and bake slowly two and one-half to three hours.

BACK FORTY

The present epidemic of horse sickness is adding to the great scarcity of draft animals. Prior to the outbreak of encephalitis, horse numbers in our county, state, and nation were the lowest since 1898. Many colts are being broken as two year olds because of the shortage.

There seems to be an abundance of colts on farms in this vicinity. It indicates that local farmers are running short of work animals, and the same situation may be found to exist generally.

The horse shortage is further aggravated by the advance ages of those left. About two-thirds of the drafters now used are smooth-mouthed. The present rate of colt production must more than be doubled if our horse population is to be maintained. One horse colt is needed from about every seven mares, and one mule colt from every ten mares to provide an adequate supply for the future.

Since 1930, the horse population of Valley county has been decreased by over two thousand head, and its mule population has been reduced about one-half. Nebraska likewise has nineteen thousand fewer head of horses this year than last, according to an estimate made before the malady of sleeping sickness broke out.

Imports of draft horses from foreign countries. In 1935 were double those of 1935. The animals shipped in were mainly Belgians, Percherons, and Clydesdales, in the order named. Such imports are too small, however, to be of much significance.

With sufficient roughage feed available the colt crop is going to be the year's most profitable crop on many farms. Horse prices will undoubtedly be high next spring, and more farmers will turn to tractors.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Congress Frustrates F. D. R.'s Efforts to Replace Spoils With Merit System

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. — Roosevelt's long losing fight for his court bill obscured the fact that on another front he was suffering defeat of his desire to replace the spoils system with the merit system in government service. Behind the smoke screen of the court battle, Congress was quietly bringing as many high bracket jobs as possible under political control.

Typical of Senate knifing of the merit system was the difference between the Senate and House wage bills. The Senate insisted all employees of the wage-hour board earning more than $4000 a year must be exempt from civil service, and will be eligible for their jobs if they have enough political backing to get Senate confirmation.

A version of the government reorganization bill for which the late Joe Robinson was responsible, would exempt about 1000 career men in the government, mostly bureau heads and division chiefs, now covered by civil service. It was Roosevelt's original plan to strengthen the merit system vastly, and apparently it was his dependence on Robinson in the court fight that made him allow a strong civil service bill to be perverted into a strong anti-merit system bill.

Robinson's version of the reorganization bill would involve the removal of hundreds of veteran federal high officials and replacement by political employees to the extent that even the eight main divisions of civil service would be manned by politicians.

UP to now the Senate, almost unnoticed, has voted itself the power to pass upon the men making $5000 or more a year in WPA, Resettlement, FWA, Social Security Board and the Bureau of Archives. At least five acts of Congress have passed this session with civil service exemptions written into them.

About 81 lawyers and technical experts of Social Security Board were affected by the spoils attack. They all went without pay for a month, and while the Senate leisurely checked on them, were nominally unemployed. All but one of this group have been approved now, but the confirmed employees are virtually compelled to feel under political obligation to their various senators.

The original Guffey coal act placed all employees under civil service, but the new Guffey act puts only the clerical staff in Washington under the system. Employees of the administration which will supervise the new farm tenancy bill were exempted from civil service. So were those of the Disaster Loan Corporation for flood relief.

Both the Senate and House tried to keep employees of the Railroad Retirement Board under political control, but Roosevelt protested this so vigorously that he won his point.

AN ironical defeat for the original administration plan was the removal of 800 C. C. boys from civil service protection. When the bill extending the C. C. C. three years came up, the Senate tried to put the technical and supervisory jobs under civil service, but in this case the House wouldn't go along.

Then some 6000 jobs on the Soil Conservation Service were taken out of civil service. About 800 of these jobs were held by junior assistant technicians, C. C. C. boys who had been given their titles as part of an experiment.

Roosevelt wanted to make C. C. C. a sort of career service school for the government and had the Civil Service Commission give special examinations to 1000 C. C. boys. The 800 who passed the exams now lack civil service status.

Religious Homes Needed by a Nation

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 12. Text: Deuteronomy 6:4-5; 11:18-25.

RELIGION in the home is the foundation upon which the nation is built. Home life is the greatest determining factor in the quality of a nation's life.

The Bible is a great textbook of home and family life. The Hebrew scriptures would seem to be almost unique in the ancient world in the high idealism that they attached to family relationships. Among pagan peoples who even had thoughtful culture, it was not thought inconsistent with good practice to expose the weak and the aged to death; but Hebrew children were taught to love and honor their parents, and the Hebrew scriptures again and again bear evidence of the deep affection of parents for their children.

At a later time the Jews are foremost in education, and the Jewish boy of 12 in the time of Jesus had a training that would compare favorably with what the boy of today receives under a modern educational system.

In some respects, perhaps, the training was deeper and more effective. Here in this lesson from the early life of Israel, there is strong insistence upon the teaching of children in the home, the training of them in the great traditions and principles of their national religious life, and the strengthening of them for all the duties and responsibilities of life.

There is a sort of imperialism in the note in this lesson in the idea of a strong nation disposing other peoples and driving them out; and all this does not measure very properly with the ideals of New Testament religion, which is the religion of love even to enemies, and the religion of mercy and justice.

But apart from this imperialism of an unadvanced age, the sort of imperialism that is still too rampant in a world that has not progressed to the heights of New Testament teaching, the teaching of this lesson is sound in its suggestion that the strength of a nation depends upon the relationships of its people in their home and daily life.

WE read an ancient lesson in terms of Christian fulfillment of Old Testament ideas. What makes a Christian home? First of all, a sense of the responsibility of parents to God. A home cannot be Christian where parents themselves do not love and worship the Great Father. Where parents love God, they will love their children truly and deeply. They will have the same love toward their children that God has, even toward his erring and wayward ones.

Where a home is truly Christian, children will love and honor their parents, and there will be an attitude of accord and helpfulness toward one another. One of the saddest things in life is to see brothers and sisters trudging the very name of brotherhood. Our great words—fatherhood, motherhood, brotherhood—are embedded in the conception of the ideal home.

The great question confronting us in church and in state is how increasingly we can make our homes ideal homes, until all the homes of the nation become filled with the right spirit and the nation itself is one great home and family.

Bees Are 'Orphans'

These bees, which paid a visit to the Hager home last Thursday and made themselves at home beneath the cornice on the north side of the house, are real "orphans." Nobody claimed them and nobody wanted them, as they can make no more honey this year and would have to be fed all winter. Due to the drought, the bee situation throughout central Nebraska is serious, says Frank Vodehnal, state inspector. Since few hives contain enough honey to feed the bees through the winter, death loss is likely to be heavy.

Joe Jablonski and son Leon called at the Ed Greenwalt home Monday evening.

Few Opportunities For Drouth Victims On Pacific Coast

60,000 Farm Families Went There in 1936, No Place For 1937 Emigrants.

From the Dayton (Wash.) Chronicle.

"Twelve thousand farm families or roundly 60,000 men, women and children left the 'dust bowl' areas of the great plains and settled in Oregon, Idaho and Washington between January 1936 and July 1937 according to resettlement administration survey of the drouth influx announced Walter A. Duffy, regional director.

"Conservative estimates of county rehabilitation supervisors, based on school and car registrations, contacts with county agents and relief officers and rehabilitation loan applicants, report 7400 drouth families in 1936 and 4600 the first six months of 1937 as permanently or temporarily settled in the three states," Duffy said.

"Coming in the face of improved conditions in many sections of the drouth areas and the scarcity of available developed farms in the Pacific northwest, Duffy attributed the growing influx to optimistic reports of conditions here sent back to drouth areas by 1936 settlers, to the American tradition of westward migration for new opportunities, real estate advertising campaigns and to strict transient and labor laws in California.

"Less than 5,000 of the 12,000 settling in the three states have succeeded in locating on a farm through a purchase contract, lease or other tenure agreement, the survey revealed. Seven thousand are reported as settled temporarily in shacks, on abandoned farms, in tourist camps and in vacant buildings found in the different communities, existing as best they can on seasonal farm labor or other available employment. Many of those able to locate on farms are in non-agricultural outcoter and sagebrush areas where living will be precarious at best.

"Passing through or in a transient state, county supervisors listed 1600 in 1936 and 3400 this year, showing that relatively fewer of the 1937 migrants have been able to locate permanently or even temporarily. As this group of 7000 families was more or less on the move, considerable duplication may be represented in the estimate. However, no attempt was made to list single transients or other than bona fide farm families.

"The problem of assimilating farm families from drouth areas becomes serious when it is recognized that it is practically impossible to rent or lease an economic farm unit in the Pacific northwest without replacing present operators," explained Duffy. "Few new settlers can finance purchase and development of unimproved lands or purchase of good farms from their present operators.

"Their only alternative is to locate on cheap outcoter or sagebrush lands in submarginal areas where successful operations are impossible, or compete with local labor in farm and urban districts. This competition is already being protested by local labor groups. They cannot be returned successfully to their states of origin and indications are that an overflow of drouth settlers in California is already moving northward."

"Duffy said tentative estimates reissued in July by the U. S. department of labor report that drouth in the great plains, coming after years of depression, has forced more than 200,000 persons to migrate to other states and that further migration is expected because half a million persons are still dependent on federal grants for their existence. Most of the population movement has apparently been to the Pacific northwest and California."

Mrs. Fish Suffers Stroke During Night

Her friends will learn with sincere regret that Mrs. John Fish was stricken with paralysis at her home in northwest Ord some time Saturday evening. Her grandchildren have been staying there and attending school, but went home over the week end. She locked her doors as usual Saturday night and when neighbors found the door still locked at a later hour than usual Sunday morning they forced their way in and found that she had suffered a stroke and was unable to move or to tell them what had occurred. She is in a very serious condition at this writing, and because of her advanced age, 89, is not expected to recover.

Wayne King Will Sell

Wayne King is advertising a clean-up sale to be held on Thursday, Sept. 23, and is planning to quit the farm and probably go west. His offering of livestock and machinery is a good one and includes also ten head of cattle consigned by John Hebece.

Puget Sound Salmon Caught By E. Ollis

Elmer Ollis, of Lincoln, who is vacationing at Seattle, sends this picture showing a couple of king salmon caught by him recently in Puget Sound. These fish weighed about 5 pounds each and are regarded as the best size to eat, though many larger ones are caught. Mr. Ollis is a former Ord man.

Plane Crash Victim To Veterans' Hospital

Douglas Guy Abrahams, whose back was broken in an airplane crash here a few days before, was taken to the Veterans' hospital at Lincoln in the Sowl ambulance and he will undergo treatment and probably an operation. Abrahams served during the World war and therefore is eligible for hospitalization at government expense.

The Lincoln farmer's condition was said to be "improved" after several days in the Ord hospital under the care of Dr. F. A. Barta and Dr. C. J. Miller. No internal injuries developed as result of the crash in which his brother, John, was killed. However, his recovery will take months, if he ever completely recovers from the injury which now paralyzes his body below the waist.

355th Infantry Reunion Is Held

The reunion of the 355th infantry took place at North Platte Sept. 12 and 13. There are quite a number of the members of this famous regiment in this locality, and a number of them were in attendance. Those from Ord were Emil Fafefita, Co. I, Frank Fafefita, Jr., Co. A, John Snawerdt, Co. I, Alfred Hill, Co. E, Chas. H. Wareham, H. Q., and Glen Johnson, Co. E. From Burwell, Ferd Wheeler and Stanley Mitchell, Co. E, Tom Banks, Supply Co., and Roy Ulm, company not known. There were a total of 500 registered, which is the biggest attendance to date. Sunday the men met in church services with their chaplain, Alonzo F. Cagle of Owensboro, Ky., in charge. In the afternoon they all joined in a parade, with a banquet in the evening and the showing of moving pictures of the regiment in action. Two events were commemorated. Sunday was the 19th anniversary of the St. Mihiel drive in which the 355th took part, and Monday was the birthday of General Pershing. The men from Ord said that North Platte used every effort to make their stay there a pleasant one.

Fremont Firm Low Bidder

The Fremont firm of Orshek & Christensen, bidding in combination with the Fremont & Overland Sand & Gravel Co., of Stromsburg, were low bidders on the job of graveling 4 miles of the Ord-Ericson highway. Their bid of $860 was accepted. Homer Drake, of Gibben, was awarded a contract to travel 5.7 miles of the Burwell-Ericson highway on his bid of $1,314.

Patchen Oil Station Leased By Adamek

Frank J. Adamek, jr., has leased the station at the northeast corner of 14th and M streets from the owner, Harry Patchen, and took charge Tuesday morning. He is well known in Ord and was employed by C. D. Wardrop in the Gamble store until he sold out recently. Adamek will handle the well known Sinclair products. He will also take care of the ice business from the building located on the east end of the lot.

Richard Rowbal went down to York with Rev. and Mrs. Earl Cummings, who had been up for a visit with the Rowbals. He expected to return in a few days.

Old Settlers Held Fall Picnic Sunday, 86 Signed Roster

McAnulty, Ward, Head Committee For Permanent Organization.

Under ideal weather conditions the 1937 old settlers picnic was held at Bussell park Sunday, Sept. 12. While the attendance was not as large as could be desired, interest was keen and the program was one of the finest ever put on. The program was made more enjoyable by the use of the Aule public address system, which was installed by Aule Bros. as their contribution to the success of the meeting. It made it possible for visitors to sit wherever they pleased in the picnic grounds and yet hear every word of the program distinctly.

These picnics, which were instituted July 4, 1899 at the A. M. Stewart grove on the occasion of the Stewart silver wedding anniversary, have been held practically every year since that time. Today there are only a few of the first generation of old settlers left, but they make up in enthusiasm what they lack in numbers.

Names signed to the minutes of the original meeting and the dates of arrival are as follows: A. M. Stewart, 1871; Mrs. A. M. Stewart, 1872; John G. Kellogg, 1871; Mrs. John G. Kellogg, 1872; William S. Freeman, 1871; Mrs. Freeman, 1871; D. C. Bailey, 1872; Frank Cushing, 1872; W. B. Weekes, 1875; and Mrs. W. B. Weekes, 1877. Mrs. Weekes is the only one of these now living.

The program Sunday was in charge of G. W. McAnulty of Scotia, who was introduced by the president, Z. C. Harris of Taylor. The secretary, A. I. Cram of Burwell announced the program. It was opened by a prayer by Mrs. Mickel of Omaha. Mrs. Arthur Laugström of Burwell led the singing of familiar songs. A talk by Truman Freeland, oldest Garfield county pioneer was much enjoyed.

A feature was the reciting of original poems by W. H. Cronk, which were not only gems of poetic art but also drew a splendid picture of pioneer life. More singing followed and then Clarence M. Davis read excerpts from the life story of Buckskin Charley White, pioneer of the North Loup before the coming of permanent settlers. This was followed by remarks by W. A. Anderson and John Ward.

Mr. McAnulty then brought up the proposition of the purchase of old Fort Hartung for a park and suggested the selection of a committee to take up the proposition. Requests for opinions brought out discussion of the subject by Mr. Freeland, Horace M. Davis of Lincoln and W. J. Cronk. They all agreed that some plan should be worked out for the purchase of the fort and that the matter should not be delayed.

The committee for permanent organization was then chosen, with G. W. McAnulty as president and John L. Ward as secretary. Other members of the committee are Horace M. Davis, representing North Loup, Clarence M. Davis, Ord, R. B. Miller, Burwell, and Thurman Smith, Taylor. A motion was then made to have a committee of three on resolutions, but the selection of this committee was left to the permanent committee.

A total of 86 settlers, most of them here forty years or more, signed the visitors roster. This included the names of 25 who came to the valley or were born here before 1880. Visitors included Mrs. Christine Anderson of Omaha, H. N. Mattley and Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Davis, all of Lincoln. From the Middle Loup were the Hawthorne family of Arcadia, and Anton Guggenmos of Sargent.

Valley County Cars Below '36 Average

According to records given out by State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith, the average motor vehicle value for the state is given as $125.16, as compared with $108.77 for 1936 and $82.95 for 1935. The average value in Valley county for 1937 on 2529 vehicles is $92.89, or about half way between the valuations of 1935 and 1936 for the state. This lower valuation is no reflection on County Assessor A. R. Brox, as the valuations are taken from a valuation book sent out by the state and must therefore be correct. It does show, however, that the drouth has had a very decided effect on the purchase of better cars in Valley county. The average man is not able to afford a new car, and is still driving his old one. The counties with high average car valuations are either located in the southeastern part of the state, or else have large cities which tend to raise the car values.

Hereford Sale at Burwell

J. W. Peters, of Sargent, is holding an auction sale of 120 head of registered Hereford cattle at the sale yard in Burwell tomorrow, Sept. 16. R. Clark Clement of Ord is sale manager. Cols. A. W. Thompson and Roy Alder are the auctioneers.

Mrs. Fenner Catches 13 Pound Walleye, Beats Husband

Not a bit awed by the prowess of her husband, who two days before had caught a 9 pound walleyed pike in the waters of Pelican Lake, near Niswaw, Minn., Mrs. L. B. Fenner of Burwell Sunday pulled a 13 pound walleye from the same fishing place. It was the largest walleye caught near Niswaw this summer. On the same trip Mr. Fenner caught an 8 pound fish.

The Fenners shipped their 13 pounder to their friends, Judge and Mrs. E. P. Clements, of Ord, and it arrived Tuesday evening.

Motorists Slow In Taking Out Permits

About 500 Issued To Date, Says Pierce; Nov. 30th Is Final Deadline.

Before Nov. 30th, almost 5,000 Valley county motorists must secure drivers' licenses under the new Nebraska law which went into effect two weeks ago, but to date only about 500 permits have been issued, says A. W. Pierce, examiner for this county. If the work is to be completed within the period allotted they must be issued at a more rapid rate, the states.

After Nov. 30, persons not having the new permits will be subject to arrest if they drive a car or truck. Not only the state patrol force now being established but all present peace officers will be empowered to make such arrests.

Mr. Pierce has established offices in the basement of the court house in Ord and has appointed Thomas Williams as his assistant. Qualifying for a driver's license takes only a few moments if the applicant is physically sound, has good eyesight and is reasonably familiar with rules of driving. Cost to persons holding permits under the old law is 75c; for new applicants it is $1.00. Get your driver's license now and avoid possibility of trouble later.

Free Glider Offer For Quaker Oats

Due to the splendid results obtained by the use of this newspaper in advertising their products a few months ago with a Dick Darling Trick Book used as a premium, The Quaker Oats Company is about to launch another campaign here. To insure the success of this advertising, all the grocers in this trade territory, as well as those in Ord, are cooperating with the Quiz in this second big promotion.

The first advertisement of this new campaign, when it appears on Sept. 22, will carry the names of the grocers who handle Quaker Oats in Ord and surrounding community. In addition to this, the Ord Quiz will furnish one Wright-Dayton Monoplane Glider free for two trademarks (the picture of the Quaker Man) from the large packages of Quaker Oats or four trademarks from the small packages of Quaker Oats. Simply bring your trademarks to this office for the Glider.

The dealers will also mention Quaker Oats in their advertising that week to remind their customers of Quaker Oats and the monoplane glider offer.

Victim of Sleeping Sickness Improving

Charles Brickner was moved from the Ord hospital to the Charles Kingston home Tuesday evening, where his sister will look after him. He is suffering from sleeping sickness, but seems somewhat improved. He is very weak, but otherwise seems on the way to recovery. He was first taken ill a week ago Friday, and finally went to the hospital last Tuesday evening. His son Roland and wife, who came here from Idaho to visit him, left Tuesday night for Kansas, where they will visit her relatives, later returning to Idaho.

Marijuana Plants Are Real Thing

W. A. Anderson believes in proving all things, so when no local authority was certain that the plants growing in his yard were the real marijuana he had J. A. Kovanda send in a sample to the state university. They report back that it is the genuine article and should be destroyed wherever found. It has been reported that the weed is growing in a number of places in the county, and so it is doubtless prevalent nearly everywhere. If you find any weeds you are not certain of, they should be destroyed.

Rev. Smith Reassigned, At the Methodist conference which closed at Fremont Monday, Rev. Mearl C. Smith was re-assigned to the pastorate of the Ord church, which is pleasing news to Ord Methodists.

New Recipes Will Be Demonstrated At Cooking School

Miss Dorothy Gill, Famous Home Economist, to Conduct Sessions Two Days.

The old saying, "There's nothing new under the sun" is due to be disproved Oct. 4-5 when Miss Dorothy Gill presents her new recipes at the Ord Quiz-City Light Department School, to be held in the Masonic temple.

Miss Dorothy Gill led to an old basic recipe which make it become suddenly an amazingly different creation.

Ord homemakers weary of fixing the same old things the same old way will enjoy the program which Miss Gill has prepared for the cooking school. There will be old favorites aplenty on her list of recipes, but they have been embellished with modern touches which make them even more popular than before.

"To satisfy the homemaker of today, a recipe must have three qualifications," says Miss Gill, "(1) It must be economical, (2) it must be practical and easy to make, and (3) it must be 'new and different'. A recipe so expensive it must be reserved for very special occasions will never be very popular. Neither will a recipe which requires a great deal of time and effort to prepare it. The modern housewife is not willing to spend so much time in the kitchen as her grandmother did. She wants dishes she can fix in a hurry. That is why we have eliminated expensive and impractical items from our program. Every housewife has felt that restless urge to vary her menus with something 'new and different'. The old standbys, no matter how delicious they may be in themselves, seem sometimes stale and unexciting. To satisfy that urge for the new and unusual, we have worked out a number of recipes which I think will be new to Ord dinner tables."

Copies of Miss Gill's recipes will be distributed at each session of the cooking school, although she suggests that everyone bring a pencil in order to take down additional notes.

Evelyn Sharp Will Be First To Land On New Arrasmith Field

Miss Evelyn Sharp is in receipt of a letter from the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce, telling her that they would like to give her the honor of being the first to land on the new Arrasmith field, and for her to advise them when she could come. She at once informed them that she would come any time that suited their convenience. Wednesday noon the date had not been definitely determined upon. This is a signal honor to Miss Sharp, and to the entire community.

Flying at every possible opportunity, Miss Sharp has only 35 hours to go before she completes her total 200 hours in order to qualify for a government transport license.

On Sunday Evelyn flew six and one-half hours, the most flying she has done in a single day since the start of her flying career. Nearly 30 local people were taken "up" in the new Taylor Cub during the course of the afternoon.

Invitations are out for the dedication of Arrasmith Field, Grand Island's new airport, on Tuesday, Sept. 28. This will be followed by an air show Sept. 29. A cordial invitation has been extended to Ord by the Grand Island mayor and city council, Post 53, American Legion, the chamber of commerce and the junior chamber of commerce. Because of the fact that Dr. Arrasmith, head of air navigation in Nebraska, is a Legionnaire, a number of the members of Fidelity Post No. 33 of Ord plan to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Marriage Licenses

County Judge John L. Anderson issued a marriage license Monday to Walter A. Sydzyski, a farmer from Burwell, and Florence Jablonski of Elyria. No return had been made Wednesday morning.

Tuesday Frank A. Cerny of Sargent, Neb., and Mary A. Proskocil of Comstock received a marriage license. Later they came back and were married by his honor with Emily Proskocil of Omaha and Bill Morse of Comstock as witnesses.

Plums Like Grapes

From all parts of the county come reports to the effect that the crop of wild plums is one of the largest and finest in years. Above is shown Joe Marks displaying some bunches of plums that he picked out on Mira Creek. They look more like grapes than plums. In lieu of other fruit, cellars in Valley county should harvest a full quota of plum products this year.

Many Attractions At Popcorn Days

Next and last, but by no means least of the county town's celebrations is that of Popcorn Days at North Loup. It is the one celebration that our neighboring town can call strictly her own, and is unique in that it is the only one of its kind, so far as known, in the world. For some forty years North Loup has carried on this jubilee, and each year huge crowds have enjoyed the hospitality of one of the most friendly towns in the west. The committee has arranged an amateur contest, horseshoe pitching contest, softball games for both afternoons, a balloon ascension by Dore Devil Fritz each day, parades, music, singing, dancing, rides, bingo games and side shows for the annual celebration Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 20 and 21. Fredrick's carnival company will be on the grounds. The queen will be crowned Monday night.

Those desiring to enter the amateur contest should contact Harry L. Gillespie at North Loup either personally or by letter. There will be two groups, those children up to high school age in one, and high school students and adults in the other. As usual, those who attend the celebration will get all the popcorn they care to eat.

Dr. H. N. Norris Will Take Special Course

Dr. H. N. Norris left for Kansas City, Mo., Tuesday noon, where he expected to take about 13 months special work in study of the eye, ear, nose and throat. He said he would be back to Ord at Christmas time, and also promised to write in regard to anything of interest. He has ordered his Quiz sent to Kansas City, so that he will thus keep in touch with what is going on in the old home town.

Husband Insane, Asks Annulment

Charging that Elwood Stanton, whom she married on August 17, 1937, is congenitally insane and has been treated for insanity at state institutions at various times, Hazel Barr Stanton filed suit for annulment of her marriage in district court Monday. She had known him only a brief time before they were married and did not know of his insanity until afterward, Mrs. Stanton says. She charges that her husband, his mother and sister practiced fraud in that they knew of the insanity and did not inform her. She asks restoration of her maiden name, Hazel Barr. John P. Misko is her attorney.

She is represented by John P. Misko.

Hans Andersen A Suicide; Body Found This Morn

Retired Grocer Disappeared Tuesday Afternoon, Search By Officers Futile.

In the McGrew canyon about two miles from Ord, the body of Hans Andersen, 63-year-old former grocer, was found by his son, Vernon, at about 8:30 this morning, after a search that began early Tuesday evening and was carried on most of the night. Mr. Andersen had committed suicide by monoxide gas.

Leaving a note to say he was "going fishing," Mr. Andersen disappeared about 3:30 Tuesday afternoon. He had been in ill health for several years and lately had been very despondent, so when members of the family discovered that he had not taken his fishing tackle they began a search for him.

His sons, Judge John L. Andersen and Vernon Andersen, with the help of friends, spent the early part of the evening looking for him and about 1:00 officers were notified. Sheriff George S. Round, Chief of Police L. H. Covert and Night Marshal Roy Pardue assisted in the search, which proved futile because of the darkness.

Mr. Andersen's body was found this morning in a pocket in McGrew's canyon, which is southeast of Ord. He had driven his car about 100 yards from the road and turned it around, then leaving the engine running, had draped a blanket over the rear of the car and laid down with his head near the exhaust pipe. Gasoline tank of the car was empty when found, so evidently the engine ran several hours.

Last person known to have seen Mr. Andersen alive was an attendant at the Clement filling station, to which he went for gasoline about 4:00 Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Andersen appeared excited at that time, officers learned.

Since the case is so clearly one of suicide, there will be no necessity for an inquest, decided Coroner Alvin Lee and County Physician J. G. Krumi this morning. Dr. Krumi, after examining the body, said death occurred hours earlier but he could not definitely establish the time.

Mr. Andersen is survived by his wife, by three sons, Judge John L. Andersen, Vernon Andersen and Frank Andersen, of Lincoln, and by one daughter, Mrs. Reginald Beeghly, of Kirkville, Mo.

Hans, as he was known to practically everyone in Ord, had many friends and no enemies. Formerly a farmer, he had lived here many years and ran a grocery on the east side of the square until about five or six years ago. Fishing was his chief hobby and he spent many hours at this sport, almost until the time of his death. In recent months he suffered two strokes, which no doubt affected his mind as well as his physical condition to some extent, but naturally his suicide was a great shock to family and friends. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Will Play Baseball Under Lights Here

Something new is going to be tried out tonight after the Kittenball game between the K. C. and Safeway softball teams. For the first time, Ord fans are going to try to play baseball under the flood-lights. Everybody is in doubt about being able to play the game under the lights, as they think it will be impossible to see the ball. However, the question will be settled once and for all tonight, as two baseball teams will meet in a practice game on the fairgrounds diamond.

J. W. Penas, J. P., Settles First Suit

In the Quiz some two weeks ago appeared the story of the first wedding ceremony performed by J. W. Penas, duly elected and qualified justice of the peace of Rockford precinct, Garfield county. Saturday it became his honor's duty to try his first suit. It was a case in which H. J. Coffin brought suit against Guy Anderson for a settlement of financial matters between them. Both agreed that money was due, but the amount differed, and the suit was brought to clarify the situation. County Judge B. A. Ross appeared in behalf of Coffin, while Runyan and Pearl, the former being county attorney the latter county treasurer appeared for Anderson. After hearing all the facts in the case Justice Penas took the case under advisement, and had not yet handed down a decision Wednesday morning. It is very unusual to find a case in court in which all the lawyers concerned are also county officials.

THAT THIRD TERM BUGABOO.

The talk of a third term for Franklin D. Roosevelt keeps cropping up like the ghost of Banquo at the banquet. There was no excuse for starting the idea in the first place, and there is no reason for keeping up the battle of words on the subject.

Twelve men have held the office of president for at least a part of two terms. They were Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland, McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Wilson, and now, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Of these Lincoln and McKinley were elected for a second term, but served out only a small part of it when they were assassinated.

In the beginning the hearts of the American people turned to one man. George Washington was the only unanimous choice for president. At the close of eight years he was unwilling to serve a third term, although affairs in the nation were in good condition and he was as popular as ever.

Madison's second term closed in the midst of an industrial depression following the close of the war of 1812, which would have made it impossible to elect him had he chosen to run.

Theodore Roosevelt, the only candidate who had even an excuse for asking for a third term, tried it in 1912, with the result that he split the Republican party and turned the country over to the Democrats for a period of eight years.

Finally, all this talk of a third term is premature. There is no need to bring up the proposition of presidential candidates before 1940. America's statesmen are doing what they can to meet the crises of the present and are letting the future take care of itself.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS. The fellows who invented chewing gum and all-day suckers were only trying to relieve the unemployment situation.

Many Nebraska cities are now offering free water to their patrons to use in saving the trees. Maybe it should have been done earlier to help the indigent lawns and adolescent gardens.

Maybe the old time girl did not spend as much for clothes as the later models, but she certainly got more for her money.

John L. Lewis plans to go the miracles of the Bible one better. He hopes to mould organized labor and the farmers into one in a new party, and actually believes he can do it.

The board of directors of the Eastern Nebraska Public Power district passed a resolution to eliminate four of its ten members, including Mrs. Mabel Gillespie of Gretna.

THAT 'MORE SPEED' MANIA.

The American chemical society announces the perfection of a new motor fuel called Iso-Butane which will make speeds of 150 miles per hour possible as soon as highways are developed that will permit this speed.

The crying need of the country today is not more speed, but less. In the face of the fact that 1,000 persons were killed over the Labor day week end, it should be easy to convince people that a lower rate of speed is imperative, but it is not.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

A Bonanza—Or Is It? The story was told on the street the other day while I was loafing that Dr. Ferguson made a trip to North Loup and a few miles beyond making six stops doctoring sick horses and for each stop he charged six dollars.

Along the same line of reasoning was presented by Gus Wetzel. Gus used to think that in dry years when other's gardens were poor, then the time he profited. He profited by other's misfortune.

But he says he is beginning to think differently. People are getting so poor they cannot buy his stuff no matter how cheap it is or how badly they need it.

And one thought leads to another. Two years ago when I was the Roving Reporter I complained to the boss it was hard to sell his paper because people were so hard up.

This extended drought has been hard on the land owner whether his land is mortgaged or not. One friend of mine pays about $800.00 taxes a year. Four or six years ago no income from his land would begin to get tiresome to even well-to-do.

Should Be O. K'd First. The land encumbered with poor preachers. I have long thought that the sermons spewed out to the suffering listeners was one of the main reasons more people do not go to church.

In the first place the story (sermon) should be written well, (presented well). In the first line, or very near that, there should be something to stir the reader's (congregation's) interest.

The story (sermon) should be presented in scenes, like as if it were thrown on the screen. Statements will not do. There should be pictures.

ONE OR THE OTHER—BUT WHICH?

First person stories (illustrations are very hard to write (tell) and a small per cent are used. They sound too braggart. Third is better.

Nothing should be brought into the story (sermon) that does not have a direct bearing to the final point or theme to be presented. This is the most important point.

Any let down in the suspense is fatal. The reader (listener) must be carried to the end, eager all the time for the next line (sentence).

At dramatic points the writer (minister) can spend more time and carry the reader (listener) for a few hundred words.

Short stories (sermons) are by far the best and easiest to sell (to please). Four to five thousand words (20 to 25 minutes) are the popular lengths. What one will read (listen to) without tiring at one sitting.

The body of the story (sermon) should be full of thrills and suspense, holding the interest to the last.

When the writer (Preacher) comes to the end he should stop and not go on with another story (sermon), or tell it the second time.

The villain should always be brought to justice. (The good should always prevail). There should be a warm friendly feeling left with reader (congregation).

The intelligence of the reader (audience) should never be insulted. Some of your audience may be better educated than you. Controversial subjects that might bring dispute (such as the menace of Lewis to the country) should be avoided.

Character should be displayed throughout the story (sermon). The hero (minister) should be one that people generally like. Odd or senile characters do not make as good heroes.

Tragic endings are seldom used and seldom popular with stories (sermons). Long descriptive passages are taboo. They cause the reader (audience) to skip the paragraph or to buy another magazine (to sleep or find another church). The editor (people) wants action.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

New Deal-Sponsored Co-Operatives Appear to Be Gaining Headway

WASHINGTON—Although Rexford Tugwell's pet dream to scatter over the countryside hundreds of model rural homestead projects was shattered by the new Farm Tenancy Act, the town of Greenbelt, Md., modeled by the former brain-truster, will become the first attempt in the United States to run the business of a whole community on a co-operative basis.

Stores, garages, movies, and all other business establishments in this community of 900 families will be owned by their customers under an agreement between the Consumer Distribution Corporation and the federal government.

President Roosevelt has a real interest in co-operatives. The study made by commission of three presidential appointees sent to Europe to report back on co-operative methods in use there is now complete.

There are six true co-operatives in operation now, three in West Virginia, one in Pennsylvania, one in Tennessee and one in New Jersey. In the state of Nebraska there are eight Resettlement projects which have some co-operative enterprise.

The method used to encourage co-operatives is to send an agent into an area in need of rehabilitation and to determine whether the residents of the community have the spirit of voluntary co-operation. If it is decided that the project will have practical results, it is then established with federal money.

The community elects a councilor whose duties are similar to those of a mayor, and who in addition collects rents and out of the collections pays the government a fixed sum as return on its loan. He is also responsible for dividing equitably the profits from any co-operative enterprise in which the community engages.

RESETTLEMENT projects in West Virginia originally were designed to remove unemployed miners to farm land, but when it was discovered that they were not adaptable to that life, Resettlement Administration made loans to set up co-operative dairies, canneries, livestock and poultry farms, as alternatives.

At Reedsville, W. Va., the Resettlement project was established near a shirt factory and a vacuum cleaner factory, both privately owned, and which provide work for the people who occupy Resettlement houses. In this case the only co-operative activity is small-scale farming and the processing and marketing of farm products.

Groups or individuals receiving help from Resettlement Administration are not compelled to produce co-operatively as in quarries, saw mills, dairy farms, poultry or livestock farms, or to process co-operatively as in canneries and wood working shops. These people may own their own farms and livestock, for example, but get a loan from Resettlement Administration to buy farm machinery or sires for livestock improvement, which they will use and pay for jointly.

THERE has been little protest against government-financed co-operatives, chiefly because the people benefited by co-operative enterprise had little or no purchasing power before they received government help.

Loans made to co-operative associations can be amortized on a generous basis. In some cases the community has as long as 40 years in which to pay for its project.

Equine Encephalomyelitis Reports on sleeping sickness among horses as given in exchanges show that the disease is more or less prevalent all over the state. Spalding reports Harold Sherborne losing two horses. Greeley reports 136 cases and twenty-two of the animals had died. Friend reports terrible losses, and that the horses are dying so fast that no accurate record can be kept of all the losses. It is estimated that 22 horses per day are dying there. 150 cases are on record in Kimball county, but only four deaths are reported. The farmers are housing their horses in potato cellars and using ice packs in combating the disease. From the Nebraska Bureau of Animal Husbandry comes a warning to beware of fake remedies. There are only two recognized products on the market, and these can be bought only through reputable dealers and veterinarians.

The optimist believes his friend will lend him money. The pessimist is one who has tried it. Advertising is the yeast which makes business rise. It will work in Ord just as well as anywhere else in the world.

Card of Thanks. We wish to thank our many friends for their acts of kindness and help during our recent bereavement. Mrs. Carrie Flakus and family.

A Nation's Choices

THESE things have not changed. Nations and peoples today are confronted with exactly the same choice and with exactly the same consequences. Wrong and evil courses in modern America are just as sure to curse American society as they were in the life of an ancient people, while the tuning of our hearts and minds to right principles and sound conduct will bring us blessing just as truly as the blessing that ever fell upon any people devoting themselves heart and soul to truth and right.

'Uncovered Wagon' Chugs 22,000 Miles

When Miguel Divo, above center, and Paco Delcasty, right, left Buenos Aires, Argentina, in their gaily decorated "uncovered wagon" Jan. 3, 1935, they knew they wouldn't be gone just over the week-end, for they were headed for New York. Pictured with a friend as they stopped off in New Orleans, they had already covered 22,000 miles. Traveling over mountain plateaus and desert valleys they followed much of the route which some day is hoped to be the great Pan American highway, linking North and South America from Buenos Aires to Fairbanks, Alaska. Frequently they were forced to take the car apart to surmount difficulties of the terrain over which they journeyed.

While in Omaha they made arrangements whereby they are opening an office within two blocks of University hospital. The crop failure here made Dr. Clifton feel he could do better in a bigger place. They have made many friends while here who will regret to see them go and North Loup will again be without a dentist. Their office has an apartment joining it and Mrs. Clifton will assist him as she has here. They expect to get moved this week and be ready for work in their new location by Oct. 1.

Inez had the dread disease when a very little girl and never fully recovered.

BACK FORTY

Weed patches appear most unsightly in autumn, and folks often try to destroy them at this time. It is rather late to cut weeds now. Enough seed will drop off and ripen to produce a similar stand next year. Most weeds can be killed the easiest if they are mowed at blooming time, before any seed has started to form.

The puncture vine is typical of these pests. It generally gets by unnoticed until late summer. Then it has matured seed burs that fall off at the slightest jar, making eradication difficult.

The most publicized of our common weeds this season is wild hemp or marijuana. It has not generally been known that this weed is the marijuana plant from which the drug marijuana is obtained, or more of it would probably be used than there is at present. Hemp is so prevalent, especially in eastern Nebraska, that eradication measures are almost out of the question.

It is not too late to destroy perennial weeds with chemicals. Little white morning glory or bindweed can be poisoned most successfully in September and October. Dry sodium chlorate may be scattered over the small bindweed patches, and it will be carried to the bindweed roots by rains. A square rod of bindweed needs two or three pounds of chlorate. Large patches can be starved out more economically by cultivating them every week during the summer.

Canned Foods are "Nature-fresh."

America's contribution to fine living...

Today's housewives appreciate the amazing short-cuts that canned foods bring to the kitchen—thanks to modern canning methods and the fertile lands of the Golden West. Delicious fruits and vegetables, picked at the peak of their natural goodness, packed in containers by methods which retain their flavor and freshness—tasty tuna and salmon straight from the ocean or rivers—flavorome preserved meats prepared under government supervision—rich condensed or evaporated milk from cows pastured on the west's abundant fields!

All these splendid foods—and many more—are available the year round at your neighborhood store as nature-fresh as the day they were sealed, in tin or glass, because modern methods of preservation keep them so!

The progressive Union Pacific Railroad plays an important part in serving western canners and eastern consumers. Cans and jars are sturdy containers, but Union Pacific treats them with the same care it gives to fragile commodities. In winter months, shipments are protected by heater service, and by refrigeration in hot summer weather. Prompt, safe, dependable transportation every day, every year. Last year Union Pacific moved nearly a half million tons of canned food products to America's markets.

Smart Tweed for Early Autumn

Smart coats, like the one worn above by Marsha Hunt, designed to slightly resemble dresses, will be one of the fashion features for early fall. Made of gray tweed, the coat is interestingly decorated with square patch pockets and has a chic, beltless line. A black felt beret, black suede shoes, and black gloves and bag are ideal accessories.

As Horrors of War Continued on Shanghai Front

Non-combatants as well as active participants, suffer alike in the Chinese-Japanese struggle in the Far East, as may be seen in the photos above. At left, pathetic refugees stand by and watch the flames from burning buildings light up the sky over a village on the outskirts of Shanghai, which had been shelled by Japanese guns. Right, Japanese soldiers are shown carrying a dead comrade over an improvised bridge on the way back to their lines.

Something DIFFERENT

Considerable building and remodeling seems to be going on in Ord, a promising sign even if we have just had another drouth-year crop. Porches and roofs are getting new tops and touches, getting squared up and perkier-looking. Here and there some shutters, some paint, have given a new aspect.

For many years houses have looked like people to me. Some have sleepy eyes, some have over-hanging brows. One house here in town wears his hat too high. . . . can you find the one I think of?

Judge John Andersen and his wife have done most of the improving of their place themselves, and how they have worked. It now boasts a cement terrace, green shutters, red window trim, a wee front stoop. Not to mention a cellar it once didn't have.

Last year they made a lily pool. Now John is fixing up the yard, digging out iris, putting in more lawn.

Perhaps the reason Ord presents such a tidy, attractive face to the world is because so many places are home-owned. Places to rent are rare in Ord. . . . which is probably why so many are owned, if you can follow me.

I thought it was terrible when the library shut up for a month. I couldn't imagine what book-worms would do when deprived of the opportunity to swap for a whole month.

But when it opened up with so many new books and well rebound old favorites, well, perhaps it was worth it. Maybe we should encourage the library to shut up oftener!

The opening of school brought the usual crop of cute sayings by new kindergarteners. For instance, the teacher, Miss Ludlow in this case, was going slowly down the roll, in an effort to get the new names just right. Slowly and carefully she separated the words "Bobby . . . Joe . . . Dworak", she pronounced.

The proud possessor of the name spoke up without a pause. "Isn't that a spiffy name?" he queried of the room at large.

Too late for publication in last week's Cook Col-Yum, came this pickle recipe, furnished by Mrs. M. E. Benjamin. And then in some manner it was overlooked when this week's column was written. So I print it here:

Ground Cucumber Relish.

Measure one gallon of cucumbers, grind with peeling. Ones too large for dills may be used by removing the seeds. Also grind four large onions, two red peppers, two green peppers, and add a handful of salt. Mix well, let stand an hour. Drain well and add one cup water, two cups sugar, three cups of vinegar, and one teaspoon each of mustard seed, celery, tumeric and salt. Boil ten minutes and seal hot.

Notice to Landowners

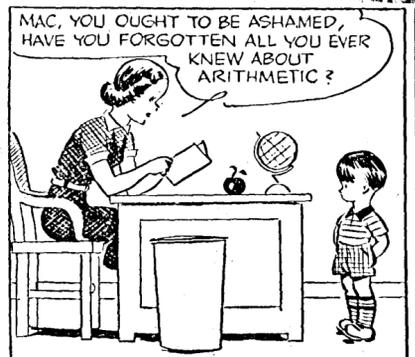

The statutes provide that it shall be the duty of all landowners to mow the weeds along public roads, between the fifteenth day of July and the fifteenth day of August, and that in case this is not done, it shall be the duty of the road overseer to mow such weeds and charge the expense of same against the land owner.

However, this year, we have not as yet enforced this law because of the grasshoppers which inhabit such places, but it is now getting to the time when this should be done, and we shall appreciate the cooperation of all land owners in this matter.

Let us have all of our weeds mowed before the first of October.

Chanticleer Eleven To Be Light, But Fast, Says Coach Brockman

Squad Begins Take Shape, Several Promising Boys Are Out For Team.

Despite the fact that several of Coach Brockman's top notch football performers of last year have not yet turned out for grid duty, prospects for another successful football season look rosy.

Ord will again compete in two athletic conferences, both the Mid Six and the Loup Valley. Whether the Ordies can pull out ahead for wins in both conferences, as last year, is a problem about which more can be told after the first game.

Loses Lettermen.

Starting with about 40 boys for the first practice, the list has been growing daily until now about 65 boys are turning out every night. Three lettermen have stated they will not be on hand for duty this season. They include Dick Koupal, flashy end; Emil "Spider" Krikak, top-notch candidate for a quarterback position this year and Eugene Funcher, a good half-back on the second string in 1936. Don Vincent, fighting guard, a regular last season, will not be able to play because of eligibility trouble.

Strong Candidates.

All of the boys are going "great guns" in practice and if several of the newcomers continue at their present pace, will be assured of a place on the team before the season has progressed far.

Allan Zikmund, a junior, was induced to come out for football this season and will undoubtedly find an end or backfield position before long. Bigger and heavier than last year, Raymond Tatlow is slated to go places. He plays a guard position. Don Dahlin is a strong candidate for one of the halfback posts. Boyd Rose has developed a neat pass and will make an excellent reserve center.

Plenty of Experience.

Lettermen upon whom "Brock" is depending a great deal include Charles Cetak, end; LeRoy Zikmund, tackle; Dale Hughes, center or tackle; Don Tunnell, quarterback; Edgar Barnes, halfback and Harry Zulkoski, halfback. Other boys who have plenty of experience and were awarded letters last year include Everett Williams, Raymond Tatlow, Edward Gross, Harvey Krahulik, Edwin Hitchman, Robert Jablonki, Russell Rose, Boyd Rose, Don Severson, Don Dahlin, Charles Keown, Junior James, and Jack Petty.

Practices have been light thus far, summer softened muscles are being worked back into shape gradually. No scrimmages have been planned yet, as fundamental drill work will take up most of the grid days time for at least another week.

Team Takes Shape.

On paper, the strongest candidates at the present time for the 1937 Chanticleer team include: Ends: Charles Cetak, Allen Zikmund, Robert Jablonki, or Raymond Hurlbert.

Tackles: Junior James, Edward

New Football Suits Purchased For Chanticleers

When the Chanticleers dash forth under the lights for the first home game of the season, Oct. 1, Ord grid fans are going to be surprised . . . pleasantly surprised.

Twenty-two complete football suits have just been purchased and are on hand to be worn by the Chanticleers in the first game of the season.

Suits are black in color, black pants, black jerseys with large white numbers on front and back, white helmets with black stripes, red socks. Pants are made of whipcord, the jerseys of a shiny silk-like material. Outfits are to be worn only at games, thus it is planned that they will be used by Ord football teams for several years.

Gross, Everett William or Russell Rose.

Guards: Leroy Zikmund, Charles Keown, Raymond Tatlow or Edwin Hitchman.

Center: Dale Hughes, Edwin Hitchman, or Boyd Rose.

Quarter: Don Tunnell or Arthur Carlsen.

Halfbacks: Edgar Barnes, Don Dahlin or Don Severson.

Fullback: Harry Zulkoski or Charles Keown.

Complete list of boys out for drill work include:

Sargent Has High Hopes.

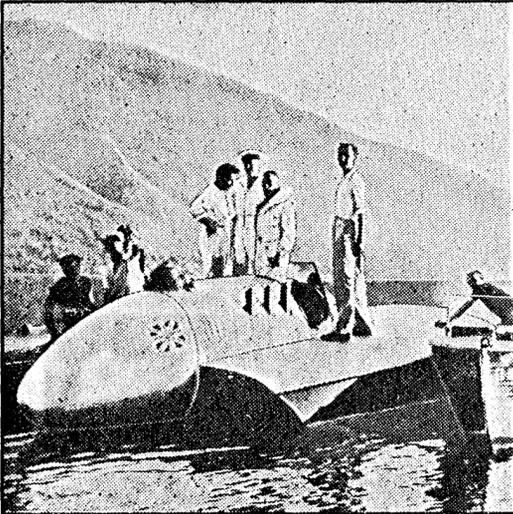

Coach Copeland has eight lettermen to brighten Sargent high football hopes. The 1937 eleven will be formed around Ames, Campbell, Coslor, Dreller, Gibson, Haumont, Johnson and Mason.

A large group is turning out for practice and promising players include Emerson, Chalups, Crawford, Holmes, Hale, Visek, and Manning.

School Purchases Radio.

A combination radio-victrola was purchased Saturday by Dean S. Duncan and C. C. Thompson, who made a special trip to Lincoln to complete the deal. The new machine will be used in the grade school music department.

Eclipses World Speedboat Record

Streaking over the calm waters of beautiful Lake Maggiore in Switzerland at an average speed of 126.677 miles an hour for two runs, Sir Malcolm Campbell's Bluebird, above, broke the listed world speedboat record of 124.86 miles an hour set by Gar Wood of Detroit in 1932. The British speed demon is shown above, bare-headed, at center right, just before he started on his record-shattering effort.

Loup City Eleven Heavy This Year; May Sieze Title

With a team so heavy that the other Mid Six and Loup Valley squads will look like midgets, Coach "Bullet" Brown of Loup City is looking forward to a title winning football season.

Veterans who will perform on the Loup City forward wall include Andrew Augustyn, an end weighing 170 pounds and standing six feet two; Ed Augustyn, 193, at tackle; Wharton, 165, at guard; Maciejewski, 182 pound tackle; Maca, an end who tips the scales at 180 pounds with a height of six feet four; and Spelts, 215, taking care of the center position.

A line made up of these "lads" will average 175-180 pounds and they're all fast. Loup City fans are predicting that this line will practically make "hamburger" out of opposing teams. Loss of Dick Spelts at quarter, Selber and Plants, blocking and running backs, will be keenly felt by the Brownies this year. Nine lettermen go to make up the team.

"Jawn" Pesek Plans Trip To The East

It's been "Farmer" John Pesek this summer—the "Nebraska Tiger" having deserted his wrestling lights for a pair of overalls and a denim shirt.

However, the hay is now cut and stacked, grain is out of the way, and a patch of watermelons which "Jawn" says he planted "just for family use" yielded hundreds when he expected dozens.

"Old Jawn" plans to shed his work clothes and get back into the swing of bigger business matters this week. He will go to Boston where his famous dogs are now racing. Hardly had John got through settling an argument with government officials about his importation of foreign birds, than a group of gentlemen from the income division called on him. After a thorough inspection of the business books, John was given an "O. K." by the government agents.

Ord Day Oct. 18th.

Through some mischance last week the "8" got dropped out of the date in the story of Ord Day, and thus it read Oct. 1. Please keep it in mind that the date of General Ord's birthday is Oct. 18, and that this is the date that the Legion plans to boost for as Ord Day. The sentiment for such an observance is strong, not only with the Legionnaires, but with the business men and the public in general. No very extensive or expensive celebration is planned for this year, and the question of how much and what shall be done is still an open one. If you have any suggestions that might help to make the occasion a greater success, your ideas will be appreciated.

Ralph Harris Writes.

A member of the Quiz force received a fine letter from Ralph Harris, whom the old timers will readily recall. He lived here up to about 25 years ago, and was a member of the Ord high school, class of 1905. He has been located in Sheridan, Wyo., for the past 16 years, and is employed in the railway mail service. He says he did not like it there so very well at first, but has finally become acclimated, so he does not expect to apply for a transfer although he would have one if he so desired. He admits that he is only a mail clerk, and about the only part of the work he has not done is to wash the dirty mail sacks. At that he no doubt finds the two hundred per mighty fine in these times.

Fall Feeders to Meet.

The annual fall feeders meeting will be held at the North Platte Substation, Friday, Sept. 24. Among the speakers are Marvel D. Baker, North Platte, E. M. Brouse, Valentine, W. J. Loeffel and H. J. Gramlich of Lincoln. Lowell Sarnes of Lexington, Byron Cochran of Sutherland, Alva Hecht of Kearney, Byron Demarest of Omaha, and Dr. F. D. Keim of Lincoln. An exceptionally good program has been arranged, and it would be worth any feeder's time to attend.

Field Day Picnic.

The 28th annual planting and field day picnic will be held at the Bessey nursery of the Nebraska National Forest on Sunday, Sept. 19. Last year's meeting was such an outstanding success that a very complete program has been arranged that will cover every phase of the work, together with all club exhibitions and demonstrations. This will be one of the outstanding meetings in the state and will be very largely attended.

Large Grasshopper Flight Seen Friday

The largest grasshopper flight of the season, so far as known, passed over Ord around the noon hour Friday. The flight was headed south, aided by a fair breeze. The main part of the flight seemed to be high in the air, but numbers of the smaller insects were nearer the ground, probably unable to keep up with the more mature ones, and quite a number of small hoppers dropped in Ord streets. It is supposed that they had traveled a long distance, which would account for the number that were dropping out.

Brief Bits of News

—Mrs. Katie Marks was Monday to Polk from Friday until Monday morning to visit her son-in-law, Harold Nelson and little granddaughter.

—W. S. King reports receiving a letter from their daughter, Clarabelle, who recently returned to her school work at East Chicago, Ind., in which she says that the schools there have not been closed because of infantile paralysis, as have the schools in Chicago. The other daughter, Grace, has returned to her school work at the Mississippi state university. During the summer she was supervisor of a recreation center in the mountains of North Carolina, and there were 1200 there during the final week. —Willis Bridge, who had been working for a magazine company out of Denver, Colo., and later at Ogden, U. S. is now home for a two week's vacation and is visiting his parents near North Loup. He is uncertain whether he will return to Ogden and take a job offered him in a store there, or remain here and work in an Ord filling station.

Bolt Hits Cow.

Denton, Md.—While Robert Dulin, 25-year-old farmer, was milking the last of six cows, an electrical storm broke loose. A bolt of lightning struck his barn, set it afire, killed the cow he was milking, which fell on Dulin, pinning him beneath it. With fire roaring through the frame structure, Dulin managed to wriggle himself clear of the animal and get out of the burning barn.

Entering a farm silo, especially a pit silo, while it is being filled or shortly after, is dangerous because of the possible presence of suffocating gases. Each season brings tragic results from this cause. Running the blower in the partly filled upright silo for short time so as to cause the circulation of fresh air will usually dispel the suffocating carbon dioxide and make it safe to enter.

The accident victim was happy when the court awarded him $10,000 for his injuries that he threw away his crutches.

Middle Loup Project Work Project Progressing Satisfactorily

Construction is proceeding at a rapid pace on the Middle Loup power and irrigation project, which was approved by the Public Works Administration at about the same time the North Loup was approved and will cost approximately the same amount to build. Sixty thousand acres of land in the Middle Loup river valley may be irrigated by this project. Although no electric energy is to be produced by the project, it will purchase electricity from the Columbus project and re-sell to municipalities in central Nebraska, profits helping to defray irrigation costs. Sargent and Arcadia already have signed to buy juice and two more cities are expected to sign soon after which bond money will be released for use. So far construction is being carried on with grant money. Through the courtesy of The Loup City Times, these pictures of structures that are part of the project are published in The Quiz. The top photo shows the diversion dam located west of Sargent. A dragline and some of the steel piling to be used at this point may be seen in the background. The lower photo shows an eight foot concrete siphon being put into place with the aid of machinery. This siphon will carry water from the ditch directly under Loup City, pouring it out into a ditch below town. The siphon is one of the most expensive pieces of construction and is practically completed. In most respects the Middle Loup is similar to the North Loup project and people of both valleys may rejoice in the knowledge that when these two undertakings are finished drouth will be ended.

Maxine Johnson Is Beauty Queen Of Popcorn Days

22-Year-Old Brunette Given
Crown Monday Eve; Night
Crowds Were Large.

North Loup—(Special)—In the presence of an enormous crowd, Maxine Johnson, 22-year-old brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, was crowned "beauty queen" of Popcorn Days Monday evening, the coronation ceremony being the climax of a splendid first day program. Miss Johnson was chosen by popular vote of the community.

Popcorn Days, annual celebration of this village, closed Tuesday night and was generally regarded as the most successful celebration the town has ever held. Night crowds, especially, were very large.

A high spot of the Monday program was the juvenile parade headed by the high school band. In the doll buggy group prizes were won by Beverly Knapp and Phyllis Meyers, in the push cart group Jimmie Williams was winner, while in the coaster wagon group prizes went to Ronald Goodrich and Theron Barber. Janet Coleman placed first among the tricycle entrants and Colleen Hurley in carts. Sweepstakes prizes went to Phyllis Babcock and Richard Gowen, with their covered wagon and team of oxen.

In the amateur hour Monday afternoon there were nine entrants and Jane Hoepfner won first with her solo, "Wake Up and Live," Mary Davis second with her whistling solo, "Bird Call," and Genevieve Hoepfner third with "A Perfect Day." Tuesday at amateur hour first place went to Marion Maxson and second was a tie between Gerald Manchester and Belva Babcock.

MAXINE JOHNSON.

Another interesting feature was the parade Tuesday, won by North Loup rural school with their float depicting the cartoon character, Ally Oop. Olean school took second with Popeye. Among 2-room schools North Loup took first and Barker second. Among high schools North Loup won first and Scotia second. In the club division the Portlighthly club won first and the NoLo Study club second. Roy Cox won first in Industrial floats for his windmills and the cheese factory second.

The Monday night program was a miscellaneous one consisting of musical numbers, tap dancing, entertainment by the Singing Sinclairs, an act by Maxine Fredericks and her trained dogs, as well as acrobatic acts by Miss Fredericks, all of which preceded the coronation of Maxine Johnson as queen.

The royal party consisted of the buglers, flower girls, attendants, scepter bearer and Mayor William Vodehnal, who crowned Miss Johnson. Costuming and the coronation were in charge of Mary Frances Manchester and were beautifully done.

Monday night Daredevil Fritz made his balloon ascension, landing with his parachute about a mile north of town. The balloon could not be found so Tuesday night's ascension was cancelled. About dark Tuesday night Gilbert Babcock found the balloon in his pasture and claimed the $5.00 reward.

Frederick's carnival company had rides, shows and stands galore up and down main street and many people, of course, were interested in this feature. Throughout the two days an abundance of popcorn was given away, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bisele presiding at the popper.

Leggetts Return from Summer in Minnesota

After spending the entire summer in their cottage at Cullen lake, near Nisswa, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Leggett returned to Ord Friday. Both are enjoying excellent health, thanks to their many weeks out of doors. Publisher Leggett is back at his desk in the Quiz office and expects to be in Ord all winter.

American Sugar Co. Installs Beet Dump

That some of the corporations are certain that water will be flowing in the ditches of the North Loup irrigation project at some time in the near future is proven by the fact that the American Crystal Sugar company has a crew of men busy in the valley installing beet dumps. At Olean a beet dump has been installed, a scale house is about half finished and the scales are already in position. At Burwell a similar plant is being installed, with the exception of the scale, which is not necessary in Burwell, as there are plenty of scales available. The plant at Burwell is located just south of the Meyer elevator, some of the coal sheds having been torn down to make room for the dump. Mr. Gavin Burwell agent, states that the dump was needed for this season, as there will be 20 to 30 cars of beets to ship out this year. A. H. Meyer has some on his ranch east of Burwell, and L. A. Butterfield has some on his irrigated farm south of town. Three or four other farmers have small fields. There will be a large amount of beets planted in the upper Loup valley next spring if there is any assurance that the water will be available in time to do any good. The American Crystal sugar company has its headquarters in Denver, and owns the sugar factory at Grand Island, to which point the beets from this territory will be delivered. When and if the business justifies it, we may be certain that a factory will be built here to process the beets, save shipping charges, and leave the pulp here for feeding to stock.

Ord Elevators Being Improved

Extensive improvements are being made on two elevator properties in Ord, the Jones Livestock & Grain company's property and the elevator owned by the Farmers Grain & Supply company.

The Jones people have moved their warehouse from the Union Pacific trackage to a point directly south of their elevator, on the Burlington tracks. Soon they will move their office building to the same location, thus consolidating various phases of their livestock buying and feed selling business. A new truck scale will be installed also, taking the place of the wagon scales so long used. All buildings will be repainted when moving work is finished, Mr. Jones tells the Quiz.

At the Farmers elevator the driveway is being widened to accommodate large trucks, which required quite extensive rebuilding. Several men have been working on this job and probably will not be able to finish it before the last of this week.

Sedlacek Goes to Wahoo.

Lumear Sedlacek, who has been employed by the Ord Council Oak store for the past six months, received a long distance call Tuesday morning, ordering him to report at Wahoo as soon as possible. He left Wednesday morning. He did not know just what his new duties would be but was certain that it was an advancement and that it would carry an increase in salary. Sedlacek is very popular in Ord and his friends are glad to know that this opportunity has come to him.

Kind of poisonous weeds found in Valley county, among them being marijuana.

A prize drawing for a radio and electric refrigerator was held Tuesday night, with Harold C. Fisher and H. H. Clement winning the prizes.

Frederick's carnival company had rides, shows and stands galore up and down main street and many people, of course, were interested in this feature. Throughout the two days an abundance of popcorn was given away, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Bisele presiding at the popper.

Auto License Exams Coming In Too Slow

According to Examiners Pierce and Williams, applicants for examination for auto licenses are coming in entirely too slow to enable the examiners to finish their work in the required time. Tuesday there were only 770 examined, when there should have been 2000. It should be understood that the applicant does not have to get his license at once, but has until Dec. 1 before he must get it. The important thing now is to take the required examination at once so that there will not be too great a rush at the finish. The law provides that anyone who drives a car after Dec. 1 without the required license is subject to a fine of $100.00 or a jail sentence of 90 days, or both, at the discretion of the court. Moreover, there is no chance of drawing a lighter sentence, as the law is specific. The only way to obtain a license after Dec. 1 is from a patrolman, and he will issue them only one day of the month. It will be far better to attend to this matter now than to wait and take the harder way later on. Out of the 770 so far examined there have been 11 rejections, which is about the average for the state, so far as has been reported.

Three Men Fined In County Court

As a result of imbibing too much liquor at Elyria Sunday evening three men got into the toils of the law, two for assault and battery, and the third on a charge of drunkenness. John Hill and William Kearney engaged in a fight, and when the marshal, Anton Swanek, tried to arrest them, they ran away. They were later caught and brought to the jail at Ord where Monday in Judge John L. Andersen's court they entered a plea of guilty as charged, and paid a fine of $5.00 and costs of $10.72. All fines and costs were paid and the men released. The officials are serving notice that contempt of the law, shown either by running away or by abusing an officer, will be hit harder in the future. There is no reason or excuse for such actions and they will not be condoned in any manner.

Geranium Church Will Celebrate

The Geranium Catholic church will hold the annual St. Wenceslaus celebration on Sunday, Sept. 26. Dinner and supper will be served. The program will consist of a Bohemian play and an American play. There will be a softball game between the Ord K. C.'s and Geranium.

Car Hits Bridge, Wrecked.

Returning from North Loup at a late hour Tuesday night, a car driven by Leon Cieny of Elyria crashed into a steel bridge near the Jackman place on the Ord-North Loup highway. The right side of the car was totally demolished where it struck the steel framework of the bridge. One of the steel bridge railings was driven completely through the car body. Mr. Cieny was not injured.

Omaha Firm Will Begin Construction Of Timber Bridges

Inland Opens Office in Ord,
Unloading Materials; Contract of $143,000.

The Inland Construction Co., of Omaha, this week rented the Bailey building west of the Farmers Store for use as an office, made arrangements with the county engineer to use the county's material yard near the fair grounds for storage, and are starting work on a $143,000 contract to build timber bridges farm crossings and overhead timber structures for the North Loup district.

Contract for this work was awarded to the Omaha firm last spring in the same letting in which the Assenmacher company, Western Asphalt Paving Corp., Bushman company and Orshek & Christensen secured contracts for other phases of the project. These contractors began work promptly and now have almost completed work.

The Inland people failed to start work in June, when they received a work order, because they contended they should receive extra compensation for driving piling instead of using set piling. The district maintained, on the other hand, that the Inland bid did not provide higher compensation for driven piling. A petition asking the district court to clarify this point was filed last week here by attorneys for Inland, but in the meantime they will proceed with the work.

A few men are being used unloading material for them now and they have requisitioned a large force to begin work Sept. 27. Eight car loads of piling and other bridge materials are said to be in transit.

E. H. Dunmore, engineer-manager for the North Loup project, hopes to advertise soon for bids on all laterals, so work on these may be started this fall.

Tuesday in Lincoln the district made a tentative agreement with the Western Public Service company to have that company transport electric energy on its lines from the Platte Valley district to a point near Elm Creek, where it will be picked up by a transmission line built by the North and Middle Loup projects and brought to towns within these projects. The arrangement, if completed, will be only a temporary one.

Ord Man Figures In Rescue of Boys

Two Cheyenne youths yesterday counted luck as their most valuable asset after being rescued Sunday from a ledge near the summit of a 500-foot mass of rock at Vedauwocien, 16 miles east of Laramie. "I guess we're just lucky," said Neal Large, and his companion, Clifford Pratt, agreed. Both are 15 years old.

The pair were lifted from the ledge and to safety by a rope in the hands of John Shultz and his brother George Shultz, Joseph Chaplinsky, all of Cheyenne and J. V. Suchanek of Ord, Neb., all of whom were enjoying an outing at the glen with their families.

"We were starting down the rock by a different route," Neal said, "when Clifford slipped and fell to the ledge. I jumped down after him to see if he was hurt." Neal continued, "When we started to find a way out we found there was no way up or down."

The youths' cries attracted Mrs. Frank W. Pratt, mother of Clifford, and the four men. The rescuers descended on the rock to a ledge 15 feet above the boys, from where the rope was dropped.

Each was lifted by tying the rope about his waist. (The above clipping was contributed by Archie Keep to whom it was given by Gilbert Gaylord of Medicine Bow, Wyo.)

How To Lighten Kitchen Tasks Is Theme of School

Miss Gill Will Demonstrate
Many Short Cuts in Ord
October 4 and 5.

Homemakers who begrudge long hours spent in the kitchen are invited to attend the Quiz-City Light Department free cooking school, to be held Oct. 4-5 at the Masonic hall. Miss Dorothy Gill, who will conduct the school, has many new tips on how to lighten household chores and how to make the work of preparing three meals a day much easier.

"Kitchen equipment is extremely important," says Miss Gill. "A workman is often no better than his tools. There has been a great deal of progress made in the last few years in the designing of kitchen equipment, and the wise housewife takes advantage of it."

When the doors open for the Cooking School on Oct. 4, one end of the basement room at Masonic Hall will be converted into a modern model kitchen. All of the equipment is being furnished by the light department and by local firms.

"It is surprising how much we can add to our kitchen efficiency by the use of simple inexpensive gadgets," says Miss Gill. "The ingenious use of a little wire or tin by some enterprising inventor makes all the difference in the world between an inconvenient and annoying chore and a job neatly and efficiently done."

Miss Gill will demonstrate many new and helpful "gadgets" when she opens her Cooking School sessions and will show what part they play in making kitchen work easier. Miss Gill has made a thorough study of the problems presented by household drudgery and will have many suggestions for lightening the tasks of the homemaker. In addition, she will offer many new and interesting recipes which every woman in Ord will want to try.

Miss Gill is well qualified to speak on household problems, being a graduate of the Home Economics Department of the University of Nebraska, and for several years having conducted schools throughout the middlewest. She is a charming and entertaining speaker and has a message of real value for Valley county homemakers.

Irrigation Produces Corn.

For the first time in history the Nebraska cornhusking contest will this year take place in a pump irrigated field. The tract selected consists of 100 acres in Buffalo county near Kearney, and it is stated the field will average 55 bushels to the acre. This is some corn production for Nebraska for this year, and the owner has ample cause for self congratulation.

Buffalo county was one of the pioneers in pump irrigation, and the plan is said to have been highly successful there. There will be plenty of corn in the field to supply the contestants, but it is feared that many of the counties of the state which have in the past furnished entrants are now without sufficient supplies of the grain to make elimination contests interesting.

In the Buffalo county situation is found still further demonstration of the fact that lack of water is the only thing that can prevent Nebraska producing. All of the state was hot during that blistering week in August that saw the hopes of so many farmers blasted, but those fields that had had sufficient moisture resisted the blast, while those that had been insufficiently supplied were ruined.

When the great dam near Keystone shall have been completed, there will be ample flow in the Platte river to supply irrigators at all times and the troubles of those in the valley of that stream will have been put to an end.—Lincoln Star.

Sudan Is Quick Death.

Mills-Kennedy.

One of the most interesting weddings to be held in the valley for some time was performed by Rev. Mearl C. Smith of the Ord Methodist church Tuesday at 2:00 p. m. when he said the words that made Mrs. Irene Kennedy the bride of Dr. George L. Mills of Hot Springs, N. M.

Mrs. Kennedy was the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Goodnow, who were among the earliest settlers in the upper North Loup valley. She has the distinguished honor of being the first white child born in that section of the valley.

Daughter of pioneers, she passed through the vicissitudes of early days, and knows the privations of drought, prairie fire, grasshoppers, blizzards and other difficulties that beset the pioneers.

Dr. Mills is not an entire stranger to the Loup valley, as he was at one time employed on the Burlington. Since then he has become interested in mineral water baths and treatments at Hot Springs, and this has become one of the most popular resorts in the entire United States.

Dr. Arrasmith Noses Over Plane While Attempting to Land

Dr. W. W. Arrasmith and his father-in-law of Grand Island escaped serious injury Tuesday morning when their plane nosed completely over as they attempted to land on a ploughed field east of the Burwell rodeo grounds.

Spectators say the plane had lankled and was rolling smoothly along the soft dirt field when suddenly the plane bounced up, the engine dove into the ground and the plane turned over.

As the plane was going slowly when it turned over, no damage was done to the plane except to bend the propeller. Some unusually large clumps of hard dirt located in the field was probably the cause of the ship's turn-over.

Dr. Arrasmith was flying to Burwell for a medical consultation with Dr. Roy S. Crum. BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

An article from the Dayton, Wash., daily was reprinted in last week's Quiz. It was written to discourage folks who think they can go out and rent farms or locate jobs in the Pacific northwest. A few additional facts regarding western migrations may be of interest here.

Throughout the history of the great plains, its population has been a very mobile one. Families have gone out, and families have moved in, just as they will return again with the next cycle of wet years.

Back in 1890, drought struck this area and much of the farm population moved away from Kansas and Nebraska. After ten arid summers it started to rain once more. Enough new settlers then came in from the east to more than offset the previous losses. Farmers have likewise emigrated out of Texas and Oklahoma during the dry years there between 1910 and 1920, but they have later immigrated back. Again, since 1930, a million persons have moved away from great plains farms, most of these leaving last year. Many more plan to go this fall.

To folks who are locating elsewhere there is every wish for success. Many ex-Nebraskans have improved their circumstances by going to other states, and it is hoped that their more recent followers will not arrive too late. Those who know of a definitely better place should go there, especially if they have promise of superior jobs.

But colonization experts are not recommending any wholesale exodus to the Pacific northwest. They tell us that the desirable farms are all occupied, that the better jobs have been taken, and that living quarters are scarce. Newcomers are at a disadvantage in strange surroundings. Traveling families lose their sense of responsibility to the development of any community. Moving is expensive. The restless, shifting citizen who frequently changes residence seldom prospers.

It is the permanent, well established home that withstands emergencies. The farmer who sticks to the middlewest will have the advantage of cheaper land, greater choice of farms, more liberal terms of rental, and less competition. He will be all set to recoup his losses with the return of more favorable seasons. He will be here when they start moving back.

Amity Cemetery Meeting Oct. 7

Mrs. H. F. Wagner, of Ericson, requests that the following announcement be published: "The fence of the Amity cemetery northeast of Ord is badly in need of repair and as there is no association or money for keeping it up we are asking all who have loved ones resting there or are public spirited enough to want to help us, to come to the cemetery Thursday, Oct. 7 prepared to help fix it. The posts will have to be donated so if you can bring some do, also tools to work with. Maybe if you can't come you can hand or send someone you know will bring them, the price of a few. Ladies, why not come along and we will put all the graves in good shape too. We will need tools also and small boards for markers."

At the dedication dance to be held in the Arrasmith field hanger, featuring "Little Jack Little" and his orchestra, officials plan to hang Evelyn's new plane in the top of the room, completely surrounded by flashing lights.

Wolbach & Son have extended an invitation to Miss Sharp, asking her to make her headquarters at their store during the two days. Although plans are not yet complete, Evelyn will fly to several Nebraska towns the latter part of this week distributing from the air bills advertising the dedication and air show.

Hot Grid Battles In Both Conference Seen by Coaches

Loup City's Heavy Team Is Given Edge Over Ord, The Defending Champs.

Intensive work is being put in by all Loup Valley coaches to produce winning grid teams this fall as two sport conferences—the Mid Six and the Loup Valley conferences—start out early for what promises to be one of the hottest football races in Central Nebraska sport history.

The Ord Chanticleers, winners of both the Loup Valley and Mid Six football crowns last year, are holding daily workouts 65 strong under the supervision of Head Coach Helmut Brockman and Assistant Coach Frank Lee.

With a team that will average about 175 pounds, Coach "Bulle" Brown of Loup City has a wicked gleam in his eye. Runners-up in both circuits last season, dopesters are giving the "Brownies" more than a little edge to sink the champion Ord eleven.

Eight lettermen are reporting to Coach Wallace W. Willis at North Loup high this season, with a large group of new material that is going places in a hurry.

Coach H. C. Ebmeyer at Scotta looks forward to the forthcoming season with a pessimistic eye as only eight lettermen return. With thirty boys reporting daily, he thinks however that his team will meet with "fair success" this season. Prospects for a winning team are looking up at Broken Bow high. In spite of the loss of a veteran, Harry Wilson, the line will be one of the heaviest that Metz has had while coaching at Broken Bow.

Central City, one of the two non-conference teams to play Ord this year, has a large squad out for practice, which is plentifully sprinkled with veterans.

Despite the fact that only six lettermen return to the fold at Arcadia this year, Coach Tuning is drilling his men extra hard and says that Arcadia will be in the running from start to finish. The Arcadians finished third in the conference last year.

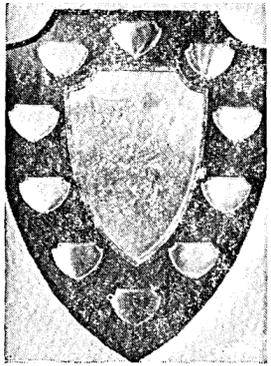

An unusually large number of boys are turning out for practices at Burwell high. W. E. Riggs, a new coach, feels confident that his team will make a good showing this season.

Coach Copeland has eight lettermen to brighten Sargent high football hopes. The 1937 eleven will be formed around Ames, Campbell, Coslor, Dreier, Gibson, Haumont, Johnson and Mason.

A much heavier and better team will represent Ravenna high. Coach Stan Johnson has a squad of about 25 men out and practices are being held each day of the week. Smaha and Chick O'Neill, ace backfield men, are showing their heels to everything and are slated to gain honors in central Nebraska football this year.

Comstock high school is looking forward to one of the best football seasons that it has ever experienced. An eleven game schedule has been arranged for the Comstock gridlers, including a number of non-conference games.

Memorial Trophy Presented to School

Pictured here is the Haskell-Melia Memorial Trophy given to Ord high school by the graduating class of 1937 in honor of their two classmates, Harold Haskell and Harold Melia.

Given a prominent position in the new trophy case at the high school building, it is planned that each year one boy member of the graduating class shall win the honor of having his name engraved on this trophy.

In order to be eligible, the boy candidate must make a minimum of 15 points in his senior year in at least two fields. Points will be awarded in athletics, music, dramatics, declamatory, debate, publication, student council, senior class officers, all clubs, and scholarship. A list of boys eligible for the honor will be submitted to the faculty members at the end of the school year and a secret ballot will be cast to determine the winner. Final selection will be made upon the candidates' participation in school activities, character, attitude toward classmates and scholarship.

—Elwin Dunlap and Olof Olson went down to Ashton Monday evening to do some refrigerator work there.

—Ed M. Tunnelliff was down from Burwell from Sunday evening until Tuesday visiting with his son Bill and family. Bill took him home Tuesday.

Chanticleers Brewing Trouble for Atkinson

This Chanticleer huddle spells trouble for Atkinson with a capital "T". For the past week Coaches Brockman and Lee have been holding short chalk talk periods to illustrate both old and new plays. We don't know what play is written out on the blackboard in this picture but from past experience we'll bet that it's a good one!

Ord To Open Grid Season Friday Eve

Atkinson Will Be Opponent of Chanticleers in the Season's Opener.

Coach Helmut Brockman's Ord Chanticleers will shove off into the stormy waters of the 1937 grid season Friday night as they meet Atkinson under the lights on the Ord field.

Atkinson, "King of the Niobrara Conference," has a string of football victories that extend over several years. Early reports say that the Atkinson lads have a team that will give any team in Nebraska a run for their money. This is the first meeting of the two teams and the game will show fans just exactly what Ord has in the way of a football team this season.

Aside from the fact that the Ord-Atkinson clash is slated to be a red-hot football contest, there are several other features which will make the opener doubly interesting.

For the first time, Ord fans will see the Chanticleers decked out in their new football suits. Twenty-two suits were purchased recently and both teams will suit up for the game.

Ord's 60-piece band will make its first appearance of the school year as they parade between halves of the contest. Much work has been put in by the band and is expected to perform to perfection Friday night.

Chanticleers Ready. Drill work in the Chanticleer football camp reached its peak early this week, practices being doubly hard in preparation for the early Friday game. Scrimmages have been taking up a great deal of time.

Several new types of plays have been worked out by the Ordsters, all the old plays have been checked and double checked, and everything is ready to go.

Starting Line-Up Problem. Who is going to appear in the starting line-up? That's a question which has everyone guessing. During practices this week Coach Brockman changed his men from position to position attempting to find a combination that would "click".

Those who will probably appear in the starting line-up include: Charles Cetak, Junior James, Leroy Zikmund, Dale Hughes, Raymond Tallow, Russell Rose, Allen Zikmund, Don Tunnelliff, Edgar Barnes, Don Dahlin, Harry Zulkoski.

Gopher Game Oct. 2 Is Complete Sell-Out

The Nebraska-Minnesota game at Lincoln on October 2 is attracting so much attention that it will be broadcast on coast-to-coast hook-up by both the National and Columbia chains. Ted Husing, famous Columbia sports announcer, will represent his chain at the game. All seats in Memorial Stadium have been sold for this game.

An old time high school coach has this to say of the University of Nebraska opener: "Nebraska lettermen in making them tough when they picked Minnesota for their opener; ditto Minnesota. Both will be at a disadvantage as neither will know what the other has up his sleeve. Nebraska has a new coach and not having played before this season they will not know what the other has. Jones is holding all practice sessions behind locked gates. Some say Nebraska is short a fullback and are still looking for one of Francis' stripes. Don't worry. Biff has not been in the coaching game for years just for fun. He is not taking any chances of Minnesota knowing just what he has got."

That's News.

Monoplane Gliders Offered To Ord Boys and Girls

Grocers Will Explain Full Details of This Offer

The Ord Quiz through the courtesy of The Quaker Oats Company is offering every child in Ord the latest model Wright Dayton Monoplane. And what fun the kiddies will get out of this wood constructed glider. Launched with a rubber band it will fly far and high... loop-the-loop... bank... glide... and land like a big plane.

Furthermore, every boy and girl can be an ace pilot of this Monoplane Glider because of its self-operating feature. For example—in one of the stunt performances this feature permits the plane to automatically adjust itself from a straight-away-flight into a loop. Then it straightens out and glides to the ground.

But in addition to having loads of fun with this glider boys and girls can really learn the fundamental principles of the man-sized planes. For this glider was designed by one of the famous Wright Brothers. Information on how to get the Monoplane Glider free with Quaker Oats trademarks is available at all grocers.

J. Bell, and said he could not recall them from the pictures, although the names brought back memories of early Ord days. He was a resident of Ord from 1884 to 1913, and speaks of one of his old partners, R. C. Bailey. He recalls the hail storm of 1885, and the blizzard of 1888. He says the people there won't believe his weather stories, but that they think nothing of dipping fish out of Sandy river with buckets, gunny sacks, bird cages, shovels and even with their hands. He says his wife, who came to Ord as a bride in 1890, passed away last October, and that he fell downstairs backward the same month and broke his neck and back. He is still on the shelf, and this was the first letter he had written.

—About Ft. Hartsuff, John L. Ward, Ord Quiz, Ord, Nebraska.

Dear Mr. Ward: Answering yours of September 14, I am exceedingly glad that you are again pushing the Fort Hartsuff Park proposition. It took thirty years of pushing to acquire the site of old Fort Kearney and I was in the pushing column all the way.

We finally did this at Fort Kearney: We organized an active militant Fort Kearney memorial group chiefly centering in Minden and the city of Kearney. We got some real strong men and women. The organization got an option price on eighty acres of land which was in process of foreclosure. They then started out to raise about $6,000.00. It was done. They issued certificates of honor in the campaign, my certificate for $10.00 hangs on my office wall. Some good sized checks were secured. I think about two thousand $1.00 contributions were secured. You know how much work that represents, but the money was finally raised and paid. The property was then donated to the State of Nebraska, accepted by an act of the legislature and the formal action of Governor Weaver. You will find the story of the final triumph of this movement in Vol. XXI of our publications, which is in your library.

I would try to come up to Ord October 18th, if I could be of real service to you.

Very sincerely yours,
A. E. SHELDON, Superintendent
Nebraska State Historical Society.

Special Notice To Delinquent Quiz Subscribers

Over 500 Subscribers Now In Arrears; Are Asked
To Pay Up.

We take it that you know if you are in arrears on your Quiz subscription. We also believe that most of you who are in arrears, have allowed it to slip your mind and that most of you don't know how much you are back. There are this week, 517 now getting the Quiz who are in arrears. About half of them only a month or two and the balance of them back through the past few months with only a very few back a year or more. Another 250 will expire October 15. Now we are unable to carry these past due subscribers and something will have to be done. In order that there may be no misunderstanding we have carefully checked the list and have just finished cutting all new stencils on those who are in arrears, showing the date of expiration. Of course if you are very much back this doesn't look so good for it is against the postal laws for us to so carry you. Heretofore we have not shown the date of expiration on the paper because of the cost of the stencils and the extra work of cutting them each time a subscription payment is made. As I say, we have cut new stencils showing you when you are paid to, if you are in arrears. Look at your name up in the corner of your paper this week, or on the wrapper if you are a distant subscriber, and do something about it at once if you want the paper continued to your address.

Occasionally some hard boiled guy who doesn't appreciate favors, has told us we should stop the paper when it is out. We know this and the only reason we don't do so is because we want to be human and kind to our customers. After all there are not many crooks on the Quiz list. But it costs too much money to send repeated notices, allowing you to pay when and if you get around to it and we do lose a considerable per cent. As we have often said, anyone who really wants the paper, can manage to pay for it in advance. We have accepted a dollar for six months or even 50c for three months in the past. You can see, when we have to cut a new stencil each time a payment is made, that we should not be asked or expected to do this four or even two times a year. Buying the stencils in five thousand lots, which means a considerable outlay of cash, they cost us 1 1/2c each, so if you can possibly do so, please pay for a year at a time. As fast as expirations occur and payment is made we will cut new stencils showing date you are paid to and at the end of 12 months more all subscribers will be so marked. In the mean time we will continue to send you a government postcard the first of the month in which your paper expires. We are not going to continue to send soliciting notices asking you to pay up month after month as we have been doing. You can see when you are paid to and you can come in and pay us or send it in and we will mail a receipt. Not hearing we will use our own judgment as to when to take your name off the list.

Shower of 'Hoppers' Fell Thursday Eve

When the wind turned to the north Thursday evening, bringing to an end the unseasonable spell of hot weather, it brought with it a shower of 'hoppers'. It is believed that the insects were in flight when the wind hit them and they came down to the ground to get away from the wind and cold weather. F. J. Cohen said that he and his wife drove all day Wednesday thought dust borne by a strong north wind as they returned from their trip east. At times the dust was so dense that they had to drive with the lights on.

New Quiz Feature Starts This Week

Starting with this week's issue, a new feature is presented to readers of the Quiz. Each week pictures of one, two, or possibly three Valley county rural schools will be printed. Each photo will be accompanied by a suitable story telling about each school. Two Quiz representatives, LaVerne Lakin and LaVerne Duemey, are in charge of the new feature and wish to announce to all Valley county teachers that visits to their schools will be made on Thursdays of each week. Teachers will be notified by letter ahead of time as to when a visit will be made to their school so that any preparations necessary can be made. County Superintendent Clara McClatchey has given the plan complete approval, saying that it is "a very worthy project."

As there are nearly 75 rural schools in Valley county, the feature will probably run throughout the winter and up to the final week of school. First school of the series, Dist. 54, appears this week. This school is located three miles northwest of Ord and is being taught by Miss Clarice Kusek.

Ord's Flying Girl Applies For License After 200 Hours

Hoped to Take Exams On
18th Birthday; Must Wait
For Two Weeks.

By LaVerne Lakin.
Evelyn Sharp brought her three year flying career to a climax late last Friday afternoon as she set down on the Ord airfield to complete her two hundredth hour in the air. Last week Evelyn suffered a disappointment when government officials notified her that it would be impossible for her to take her examination for a transport pilot's license on Oct. 1, her eighteenth birthday, as previously planned. Arrangements at the present time call for her to take the test on Oct. 15. It is believed that the exam will be given at the new Arrasmith airport in Grand Island with Government Inspector H. Montee in charge.

Right now, Evelyn is "digging" into her instruction books, studying for hours on the different phases of aviation, including meteorology, navigation, airplane engines and construction. A written test on these topics will be given, and high grades must be secured before a transport license will be issued by the government agents.

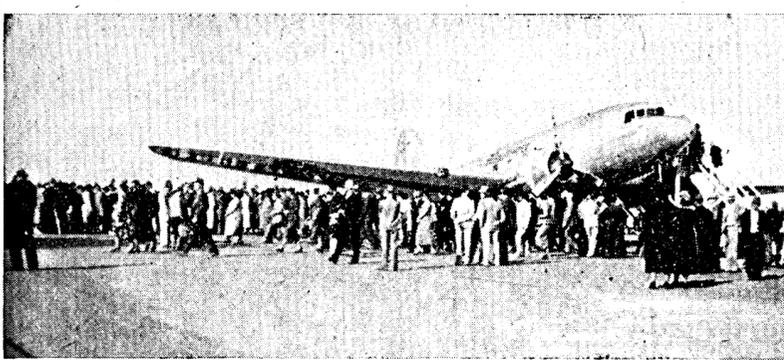

A serious blow to her rapid progress was handed Miss Sharp when her instructor, Jack Jeffords signed a contract recently with the Pan American Airways to fly to Alaska. Arrangements had been made whereby Evelyn was to have gained actual experience under Jefford's supervision in the shops at the Hastings airport. This would indeed have been a great aid, as the various types of planes and motors would be right at hand for examination and study.

Many Attend Dedication of Grand Island's New Airport

American Legion Favoring Ord Day

Wednesday evening was the occasion of the American Legion annual "whindling" which is a boost for membership for 1938. Forty-four members were present when the business session opened. Several matters were brought up for consideration. The first proposition was the polting of the grounds for the football games, and it was decided to accept the offer of the high school and take care of the home games. Fourteen volunteers were called for to look after the work for Friday night's game. That number were easily obtained.

Next was brought up the proposition of holding a program on Ord Day, Oct. 15. The offer of Hon. Addison E. Sheldon to come if he could be of service was considered. John Ward was asked to write Mr. Sheldon and find out what the expense would be. A committee consisting of Ed Vogelitz, Horace Travis and Iga. Kilma was appointed to take up the matter and make arrangements for the program if deemed advisable.

Service Officer Alfred Wiegardt then brought up the matter of attending the dedication services at Arrasmith field, Grand Island, and it was decided to have every legionnaire possible attend. Wiegardt had nine guest ribbons on hand, and had the assurance of the Grand Island post that more would be available if needed. The sentiment of the meeting was strong for making as impressive a showing as possible.

Two Divorce Cases Started Wednesday

In the district court two divorce actions were filed today, Wednesday. In the first Dorothy Wetzel is asking divorce, and maintenance and custody of two minor children from A. J. Wetzel, whom she married at Greeley, Nebr., July 25, 1931.

In the second Esther Manchester is asking a divorce, and maintenance and custody of four minor children from Clarence Manchester, whom she married Oct. 15, 1927, at Grand Island, Nebr. John P. Misko is attorney for the plaintiff in both cases.

The work of remodeling the Kull building for its new occupant is going along rapidly, and it will probably be ready to move into in another week.

Senator Edw. Burke Principal Speaker At Airport Opening

Evelyn Sharp Headquarters
At Wolbach's; Many People
Asking For Autograph.

Five thousand people were on hand Tuesday to see Grand Island's half-million dollar municipal airport formally dedicated. Delegations representing aviation interests and enthusiasts from all corners of the state were present at the dedication.

Many people from Ord and the Valley county area attended Tuesday's activities at Grand Island and many more were reported as planning to attend the air show today. A special delegation of Ord Legionnaires attended the dedication Tuesday, being honored guests of the Grand Island American Legion post.

Evelyn Sharp, Ord's 17-year-old aviatrix, was at the dedication ceremonies and the huge crowd displayed a great interest in her and her new Taylor C-65 monoplane. Ordites report that one of the general questions to be heard amidst the crowd at the airport was, "Where is Evelyn Sharp and her plane?" Today, Miss Sharp is making her headquarters at the Wolbach & Co. store, where she will give her autograph to her many admirers.

Ord Legionnaires were presented with special "honor" badges by the Grand Island Legion which gave them many special privileges. Nearly all Ord people who attended Tuesday or who will go today are wearing special "Evelyn Sharp" ribbons which were distributed in this territory by Wolbach & Co.

Dedication ceremonies began with the firing of a salute, signaled by the pressing of a golden telegraph key in the fingers of Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, in his office in Dayton, O. Sen. Edward R. Burke was the principal speaker of the dedication exercises and he spoke of the great military and commercial possibilities of the new Arrasmith field. High tribute from Burke was paid to Dr. W. W. Arrasmith of Grand Island for whom the field was named. Considerable portions of his address were devoted to Nebraska's agricultural problems, particularly irrigation.

Chairman of the dedication services was Harold C. Mench, Grand Island American Legion post commander. Other speakers on the Tuesday program included Gov. R. L. Cochran, Gen. Stanley A. Ford of Omaha, seventh corps area commander; Mayor Thos. Dillon; George Cowton of Grand Island; William L. Slatery, Washington, D. C., comptroller of the postoffice department; Owen A. Keen, Washington, assistant postmaster general; S. A. Cisler, Washington, supt. of the railway mail service; Mrs. Charles G. Ryan, Grand Island, democratic national committee-woman and Dr. Arrasmith.

Sargent Man Hurt In Silo Accident

North Loup relatives of Alva Barnhart received word Sunday that he had fallen from the top of a deep silo, located near his home in Sargent, striking his neck and shoulders on a huge timber in the bottom.

Frank Frank Dies.
A letter from Mrs. Margaret Peters tells of the recent death of Frank Frank, who lived here about 25 years ago, and moved to Dakota about that time. He died very suddenly while sitting in his home talking to his wife. It is understood that he had a heart attack.

VanDecars Escape Injury in Accident

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. VanDecar, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Zikmund and Miss Verna Stowell, had a lucky escape from serious accident when their car overturned into a ditch following a tire blowout near Freeman, S. D., Monday of last week.

They were traveling north on highway No. 81 when the right rear tire blew out, throwing the car out of control. The car went over the grade on the right side of the road, tipping over into the ditch. The car was quite badly damaged, but the occupants escaped with minor bruises.

It was thought at first that Mrs. VanDecar was seriously injured, as a small cut on her forehead bled profusely. The ladies were taken back to Freeman for first aid. Another car was procured at Freeman and the party went on to Canistota, whither they were bound to take a week's treatment from Dr. Ottman. They returned to Ord Saturday afternoon. Friday C. A. Anderson went up to Freeman and brought the damaged car back under its own power.

Standard Offers A New Gasoline

Effective September 21st, Standard of Nebraska announced and marketed a new 1938 Red Crown gasoline. This new gasoline is made available to the motoring public only after months of laboratory testing and extensive refinery readjustments.

This new Red Crown gasoline will have a higher octane rating which will result in these highly important features: Higher antiknock; greater power; longer mileage; faster starting. And it will be delivered to motorists at no extra cost.

Giant newsboy displays, nine feet tall, will help Standard dealers announce the new gasoline. This is believed to be the largest display of its kind ever used in Nebraska. Because of the lifelike appearance, these newsboys will attract considerable attention throughout the state.

And, once again, this newspaper has been chosen to carry Standard's advertising. All ads will be localized carrying the names and pictures of local dealers in our community, selling the new Standard Red Crown gasoline. Motorists will be invited to try a tankful and judge the merits of this product in their own car under their own driving conditions.

Mrs. E. C. Leggett Recovering From Major Operation

Mrs. E. C. Leggett, the "Irma" so well known to all Quiz readers by her popular "Something Different" and Cook's "Col-yum-yum," is, this morning believed to be out of danger at Nebraska Methodist Hospital, Omaha, where Saturday she underwent major surgical treatment. Her physician, Dr. L. O. Hoffman, gave her a third blood transfusion yesterday and says no more should be required. Barring the slight possibility of infection, Mrs. Leggett should be definitely out of danger. Dr. Hoffman says. She will probably be in the hospital ten days or two weeks longer. Mr. Leggett has been with her since she became ill last week.

Mrs. Leggett went to Omaha last week to be with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Wilcox of Ansley, was taken seriously ill soon after arriving. Dr. and Mrs. Wilcox are the parents of a fine 6 1/2 pound boy born Saturday evening.

Evelyn Sharp Guest of Rotarians Monday

Miss Evelyn Sharp was guest of honor at an Ord Rotary club meeting Monday evening at Thorne's Cafe. She gave a very fine talk of 25 minutes on the subject of aviation. Members were told of the various kinds of licenses issued for aviators and the requirements for each of them. Miss Sharp related a number of her flying experiences and explained about flying under various conditions, such as with the wind, against the wind, and across the wind.

Miss Sharp has now completed her 200 hours of flying required to obtain a transport license, and is studying the various problems of air navigation, meteorology, and the construction of airplanes and their general operation. Also the mechanism and repair of engines, which is a part of the examination she must take.

Miss Edna Smolik Crowned Queen At National Hall

Many From Ord Attend Annual St. Wenceslaus celebration; Enjoy Program.

Sunday was a big day in the Geranium District as the annual St. Wenceslaus celebration was held at the National Hall, nine miles west of Ord.

One of the largest crowds that has ever turned out for the all-day celebration was present at Sunday's festivities. The committee in charge of the celebration did a fine job in planning celebration activities and as a result all who attended were busy from the moment they arrived until the moment of their departure.

Climax of the day's celebration was reached at ten o'clock Sunday evening when Miss Edna Smolik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Smolik, was crowned queen of the celebration. Miss Smolik was given this honor for being the most active member of the St. Eulalia's club since its organization.

EDNA SMOLIK.

Attendants to the queen were Paul Krikac, Jackie Waldmann, Lillian and Norman Genski, pages; with Emanuel Sedacek carrying the crown. Miss Smolik was presented with the crown by the king, Leonard Piacnik. After the coronation, a solo dance was given to the King and queen.

One of the big features of the afternoon schedule was a special program arranged and presented by St. Eulalia's club. Included in the enjoyable program was an American play, a Bohemian play, and several musical specialties which showed real merit. This part of the program took place directly after a delicious dinner had been served to the guests by Geranium ladies.

Attractions which were of special interest to the men were wrestling matches, a hotly contested softball game, a horseshoe pitching contest and an athletic arena. E. E. McQuillan of Ord was on the grounds the entire day with his public address system, which gave a finishing touch to all of the outdoor attractions.

A baseball game had been scheduled for the afternoon but by the time all the other events on the program had been presented, it was too late for the game. In the softball game between the Ord K. of C. team and the Geranium K. of C.'s the Ordites won by a score of 12 to 6. A horseshoe contest was held at the same time as the softball game.

Bingo stands, ring throws, and other similar contests were conducted during the course of the day. The following people were winners of a drawing Sunday afternoon: Mrs. Joe Klat of Ord, a quilt; Joseph Petska of Geranium, a pillow; Adolph Kokes of Olean, a mirror; Thomas Waldmann of Geranium, a kitchen stool and Ed Radil of Geranium, a rug.

A tremendous crowd turned out for the closing event of the celebration, a dance that evening in the hall. The large hall was filled to the capacity and at one time there were so many people present that they were forced to stand outside because of lack of room. A local dance band, "The Orioles" furnished the music for the dance.

Cooking School Postponed To October 19 & 20

Miss Dorothy Gill Will Conduct Two Day Session at Later Date.

The cooking school, sponsored by the Quiz and the Ord City Light people, which you have been reading about the last couple of weeks, has been postponed until October 19 and 20. The change was made necessary because of the illness of Mrs. E. C. Leggett. The cooking school arrangements had all been handled by Eugene C. Leggett, to one else in the office being familiar enough with the matter to complete the arrangements, when we found Monday of this week that he would not be able to be in the office before the latter part of the week. The school was scheduled for next week and all advertising and arrangements had to be completed this week if it was to be held. Miss Gill, mentioned in the stories the past two weeks, will be on hand for the school Tuesday and Wednesday, October 19 and 20. Watch for the further announcements before that date.

Auto Examinations At No. Loup, Arcadia

Arrangements have been made to move the Drivers License office from Ord to North Loup on October 7th, 14th, 21st and 28th and to Arcadia on October 5th, 15th, 22nd and 29th. The office at Ord will be closed and drivers will be examined and licenses issued at North Loup and Arcadia on the above dates.

This arrangements is being made to better accommodate the citizens of Valley county in securing their drivers licenses. The office at Ord, except on the above dates, will remain open until December 1, 1937, at which time it will be discontinued. Drivers are urged to secure their licenses at their earliest convenience and avoid the inevitable confusion of a last minute rush.

Work Begun Monday On New Petska Front

Monday work was begun on the new front for Jerry Petska's store. Charles Goodhand has the contract and is assisted by Andy Purcell and James Zukoski. The old front is already taken out, and the new front will be put in with a center entrance, thus giving more window display room. Jerry has felt the need of this improvement for some time, and decided that this was as good a time as any to make the change. It will require about two weeks time to complete the work.

The history of the front just removed is interesting. It will be recalled by the older generation that it was put in by Cornell Bros., some 25 or 26 years ago, and that at that time the front was planned to set out one foot beyond the line of the building into the street. W. W. Haskell asked for and was granted a temporary injunction in county court in the fall of 1911. This injunction was made permanent in April, 1912, in district court, Judge Hanna presiding. Haskell held that it damaged his building just east and the court upheld him.

Hurry! Hurry! Say License Examiners

A total of 1051 had taken the examinations required under the new law for acquiring driver's licenses, at mid-forenoon Tuesday, according to A. W. Pierce, examiner. This means a total of about 250 since the same time last week. At this rate for the nine weeks remaining, there will be a total of 3571, or about $50 short of the total. It is evident that the work will have to be speeded up to nearly 400 per week to get through in the allotted time. The examiners are ready. It is up to you auto drivers.

Middle Loup Case Appraised Tuesday

The case of the Middle Loup Public Power and Irrigation district vs. George J. Parker, his wife, Cora E. Parker, and Valley county, was settled in court Tuesday. The district was asking for right of way across land owned by the defendants, the amount of land involved being 5.52 acres. The district was represented by its attorney, C. M. Sorensen of Lincoln, and the Parkers by Davis and Vogelitz of Ord. The appraisers were R. B. Williams, Brady Masters, Earl Drake, Claude Dalby, and Ernest C. James. The amount of damages was fixed by them as follows: to Mr. Parker, $2,476.00; to Mrs. Parker, $1.00; and to Valley county, (taxes) nothing.

VOL. 54 NO. 27

Special Notice To Delinquent Quiz Subscribers

Over 500 Subscribers Now In Arrears; Are Asked
To Pay Up.

We take it that you know it if you are in arrears on your Quiz subscription. We also believe that most of you who are in arrears, have allowed it to slip your mind and that most of you don't know how much you are back. There are this week, 517 now getting the Quiz who are in arrears. About half of them only a month or two and the balance of them back through the past few months with only a very few back a year or more. Another 250 will expire October 15. Now we are unable to carry these past due subscribers and something will have to be done. In order that there may be no misunderstanding we have carefully checked the list and have just finished cutting all new stencils on those who are in arrears, showing the date of expiration. Of course if you are very much back this doesn't look so good for it is against the postal laws for us to so carry you. Heretofore we have not shown the date of expiration on the paper because of the cost of the stencils and the extra work of cutting them each time a subscription payment is made. As I say, we have cut new stencils showing you when you are paid to, if you are in arrears. Look at your name up in the corner of your paper this week, or on the wrapper if you are a distant subscriber, and do something about it at once if you want the paper continued to your address.

Occasionally some hard boiled guy who doesn't appreciate favors, has told us we should stop the paper when it is out. We know this and the only reason we don't do so is because we want to be human and kind to our customers. After all there are not many crooks on the Quiz list. But it costs too much money to send repeated notices, allowing you to pay when and if you get around to it and we do lose a considerable per cent. As we have often said, anyone who really wants the paper, can manage to pay for it in advance. We have accepted a dollar for six months or even 50c for three months in the past. You can see, when we have to cut a new stencil each time a payment is made, that we should not be asked or expected to do this four or even two times a year. Buying the stencils in five thousand lots, which means a considerable outlay of cash, they cost us 1 1/2c each, so if you can possibly do so, please pay for a year at a time. As fast as expirations occur and payment is made we will cut new stencils showing date you are paid to and at the end of 12 months more all subscribers will be so marked. In the mean time we will continue to send you a government postcard the first of the month in which your paper expires. We are not going to continue to send soliciting notices asking you to pay up month after month as we have been doing. You can see when you are paid to and you can come in and pay us or send it in and we will mail a receipt. Not hearing we will use our own judgment as to when to take your name off the list.

Shower of 'Hoppers' Fell Thursday Eve

When the wind turned to the north Thursday evening, bringing to an end the unseasonable spell of hot weather, it brought with it a shower of 'hoppers'. It is believed that the insects were in flight when the wind hit them and they came down to the ground to get away from the wind and cold weather. F. J. Cohen said that he and his wife drove all day Wednesday thought dust borne by a strong north wind as they returned from their trip east. At times the dust was so dense that they had to drive with the lights on.

New Quiz Feature Starts This Week

Starting with this week's issue, a new feature is presented to readers of the Quiz. Each week pictures of one, two, or possibly three Valley county rural schools will be printed. Each photo will be accompanied by a suitable story telling about each school. Two Quiz representatives, LaVerne Lakin and LaVerne Duemey, are in charge of the new feature and wish to announce to all Valley county teachers that visits to their schools will be made on Thursdays of each week. Teachers will be notified by letter ahead of time as to when a visit will be made to their school so that any preparations necessary can be made. County Superintendent Clara McClatchey has given the plan complete approval, saying that it is "a very worthy project."

As there are nearly 75 rural schools in Valley county, the feature will probably run throughout the winter and up to the final week of school. First school of the series, Dist. 54, appears this week. This school is located three miles northwest of Ord and is being taught by Miss Clarice Kusek.

Ord's Flying Girl Applies For License After 200 Hours

Hoped to Take Exams On
18th Birthday; Must Wait
For Two Weeks.

By LaVerne Lakin.
Evelyn Sharp brought her three year flying career to a climax late last Friday afternoon as she set her flashing Taylor Cub plane down on the Ord airfield to complete her two hundredth hour in the air. Last week Evelyn suffered a disappointment when government officials notified her that it would be impossible for her to take her examination for a transport pilot's license on Oct. 1, her eighteenth birthday, as previously planned. Arrangements at the present time call for her to take the test on Oct. 15. It is believed that the exam will be given at the new Arrasmith airport in Grand Island with Government Inspector H. Montee in charge.

Right now, Evelyn is "digging" into her instruction books, studying for hours on the different phases of aviation, including meteorology, navigation, airplane engines and construction. A written test on these topics will be given, and high grades must be secured before a transport license will be issued by the government agents.

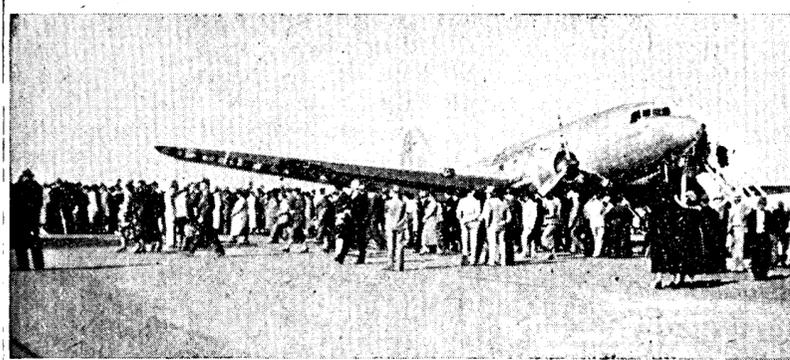

A serious blow to her rapid progress was handed Miss Sharp when her instructor, Jack Jeffords signed a contract recently with the Pan American Airways to fly to Alaska. Arrangements had been made whereby Evelyn was to have gained actual experience under Jefford's supervision in the shops at the Hastings airport. This would indeed have been a great aid, as the various types of planes and motors would be right at hand for examination and study.

Many Attend Dedication of Grand Island's New Airport

American Legion Favoring Ord Day

Wednesday evening was the occasion of the American Legion annual "whindling" which is a boost for membership for 1938. Forty-four members were present when the business session opened. Several matters were brought up for consideration. The first proposition was the poling of the grounds for the football games, and it was decided to accept the offer of the high school and take care of the home games. Fourteen volunteers were called for to look after the work for Friday night's game. That number were easily obtained.

Next was brought up the proposition of holding a program on Ord Day, Oct. 15. The offer of Hon. Addison E. Sheldon to come if he could be of service was considered. John Ward was asked to write Mr. Sheldon and find out what the expense would be. A committee consisting of Ed Vogeltanz, Horace Travis and Ign. Kilma was appointed to take up the matter and make arrangements for the program if deemed advisable.

Service Officer Alfred Wiegardt then brought up the matter of attending the dedication services at Arrasmith field, Grand Island, and it was decided to have every legionnaire possible attend. Wiegardt had nine guest ribbons on hand, and had the assurance of the Grand Island post that more would be available if needed. The sentiment of the meeting was strong for making as impressive a showing as possible.

Two Divorce Cases Started Wednesday

In the district court two divorce actions were filed today, Wednesday. In the first Dorothy Wetzel is asking divorce, and maintenance and custody of two minor children from A. J. Wetzel, whom she married at Greeley, Nebr., July 25, 1931.

In the second Esther Manchester is asking a divorce, and maintenance and custody of four minor children from Clarence Manchester, whom she married Oct. 15, 1927, at Grand Island, Nebr. John P. Misko is attorney for the plaintiff in both cases.

The work of remodeling the Kull building for its new occupant is going along rapidly, and it will probably be ready to move into in another week.

Senator Edw. Burke Principal Speaker At Airport Opening

Evelyn Sharp Headquarters
At Wolbach's; Many People
Asking For Autograph.

Five thousand people were on hand Tuesday to see Grand Island's half-million dollar municipal airport formally dedicated. Delegations representing aviation interests and enthusiasts from all corners of the state were present at the dedication.

Many people from Ord and the Valley county area attended Tuesday's activities at Grand Island and many more were reported as planning to attend the air show today. A special delegation of Ord Legionnaires attended the dedication Tuesday, being honored guests of the Grand Island American Legion post.

Evelyn Sharp, Ord's 17-year-old aviatrix, was at the dedication ceremonies and the huge crowd displayed a great interest in her and her new Taylor C-5 monoplane. Ordites report that one of the general questions to be heard amidst the crowd at the airport was, "Where is Evelyn Sharp and her plane?" Today, Miss Sharp is making her headquarters at the Wolbach & Co. store, where she will give her autograph to her many admirers.

Ord Legionnaires were presented with special "honor" badges by the Grand Island Legion which gave them many special privileges. Nearly all Ord people who attended Tuesday or who will go today are wearing special "Evelyn Sharp" ribbons which were distributed in this territory by Wolbach & Co.

Dedication ceremonies began with the firing of a salute, signaled by the pressing of a golden telegraph key in the fingers of Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, in his office in Dayton, O. Sen. Edward R. Burke was the principal speaker of the dedication exercises and he spoke of the great military and commercial possibilities of the new Arrasmith field. High tribute from Burke was paid to Dr. W. W. Arrasmith of Grand Island for whom the field was named. Considerable portions of his address were devoted to Nebraska's agricultural problems, particularly irrigation.

Chairman of the dedication services was Harold C. Mench, Grand Island American Legion post commander. Other speakers on the Tuesday program included Gov. R. L. Cochran, Gen. Stanley A. Ford of Omaha, seventh corps area commander; Mayor Thos. Dillon; George Cowton of Grand Island; William L. Slattery, Washington, D. C., comptroller of the postoffice department; Owen A. Keen, Washington, assistant postmaster general; S. A. Cisler, Washington, supt. of the railway mail service; Mrs. Charles G. Ryan, Grand Island, democratic national committeewoman and Dr. Arrasmith.

Sargent Man Hurt In Silo Accident

North Loup relatives of Alva Barnhart received word Sunday that he had fallen from the top of a deep silo, located near his home in Sargent, striking his neck and shoulders on a huge timber in the bottom.

At first it was thought that his back had been broken, but doctors have since decided that only a vertebra is misplaced. He suffers many bad bruises.

Frank Frank Dies.

A letter from Mrs. Margaret Peters tells of the recent death of Frank Frank, who lived here about 25 years ago, and moved to Dakota about that time. He died very suddenly while sitting in his home talking to his wife. It is understood that he had a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeJung and family of Clay Center, Nebr., who came Wednesday to attend the funeral of their father, Gust Poth sr., returned home Friday evening.

VanDecars Escape Injury in Accident

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. VanDecar, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Zikmund and Miss Verna Stowell, had a lucky escape from serious accident when their car overturned into a ditch following a tire blowout near Freeman, S. D., Monday of last week.

They were traveling north on highway No. 81 when the right rear tire blew out, throwing the car out of control. The car went over the grade on the right side of the road, tipping over into the ditch. The car was quite badly damaged, but the occupants escaped with minor bruises.

It was thought at first that Mrs. VanDecar was seriously injured, as a small cut on her forehead bled profusely. The ladies were taken back to Freeman for first aid. Another car was procured at Freeman and the party went on to Canistota, whether they were bound to take a week's treatment from Dr. Ottman. They returned to Ord Saturday afternoon. Friday C. A. Anderson went up to Freeman and brought the damaged car back under its own power.

Standard Offers A New Gasoline

Effective September 21st, Standard of Nebraska announced and marketed a new 1938 Red Crown gasoline. This new gasoline is made available to the motoring public only after months of laboratory testing and extensive refinery readjustments.

This new Red Crown gasoline will have a higher octane rating which will result in these highly important features: Higher antiknock; greater power; longer mileage; faster starting. And it will be delivered to motorists at no extra cost.

Giant newsboy displays, nine feet tall, will help Standard dealers announce the new gasoline. This is believed to be the largest display of its kind ever used in Nebraska. Because of the lifelike appearance, these newsboys will attract considerable attention throughout the state.

And, once again, this newspaper has been chosen to carry Standard's advertising. All ads will be localized carrying the names and pictures of local dealers in our community, selling the new Standard Red Crown gasoline. Motorists will be invited to try a tankful and judge the merits of this product in their own car under their own driving conditions.

Mrs. E. C. Leggett Recovering From Major Operation

Mrs. E. C. Leggett, the "Irma" so well known to all Quiz readers by her popular "Something Different" and Cook's "Col-yum-yum," is, this morning believed to be out of danger at Nebraska Methodist Hospital, Omaha, where Saturday she underwent major surgical treatment. Her physician, Dr. L. O. Hoffman, gave her a third blood transfusion yesterday and says no more should be required. Barring the slight possibility of infection, Mrs. Leggett should be definitely out of danger, Dr. Hoffman says. She will probably be in the hospital ten days or two weeks longer. Mr. Leggett has been with her since she became ill last week.

Mrs. Leggett went to Omaha last week to be with her sister, Mrs. Dr. Wilcox of Ansley, was taken seriously ill soon after arriving. Dr. and Mrs. Wilcox are the parents of a fine 6 1/2 pound boy born Saturday evening.

King Has Good Sale.

On most of the goods the bidding was spirited, and the stock brought good prices. Mr. King is expecting to go into business in North Loup.

Evelyn Sharp Guest of Rotarians Monday

Miss Evelyn Sharp was guest of honor at an Ord Rotary club meeting Monday evening at Thorne's Cafe. She gave a very fine talk of 25 minutes on the subject of aviation. Members were told of the various kinds of licenses issued for aviators and the requirements for each of them. Miss Sharp related a number of her flying experiences and explained about flying under various conditions, such as with the wind, against the wind, and across the wind.

Miss Sharp has now completed her 200 hours of flying required to obtain a transport license, and is studying the various problems of air navigation, meteorology, and the construction of airplanes and their general operation. Also the mechanism and repair of engines, which is a part of the examination she must take.

Climax of the day's celebration was reached at ten o'clock Sunday evening when Miss Edna Smolik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Smolik, was crowned queen of the celebration. Miss Smolik was given this honor for being the most active member of the St. Eulalia's club since its organization.

What this new field means to Central Nebraska can only be guessed at, since there has been no similar event in history from which to draw a comparison.

Coming generations will see more marvelous things by far as the result of having the new airport at Grand Island.

It is doubtful if planes will ever be made to make the entire hop without a stop, as it would not be practical.

From Grand Island these planes routes will ramify in all directions and deliver passengers from either the east or west coast that have landed at Arrasmith field.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The trend toward more small grain or other diversified crops, and less corn is shown by the rather large winter wheat acreage being drilled in this locality.

Farmers are not sowing winter wheat because of any rosy prospects for big yields next season.

Wheat ripens during June, which is our wettest month. It has more chance than corn to escape the mid-summer ravages of grasshoppers and drought.

The farmer who plants some of his land to fall grains has his farm work more evenly distributed through the year.

Fall grains nearly double the farmer's chance of raising something on a certain field or farm.

Here our big problem with wheat is to get it through the winter. While some of our fall grain may have been planted on the strength of sheer optimism or in desperation, there is yet the possibility of late rains and heavy snowfall.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

I got so used to walking in the sand around the Minnesota lakes this summer that it is hard work to walk on the Ord sidewalks.

One of the things I shall regret is that I missed being here to have a visit with my old friend, Fred Bell when he was here this summer.

If I wasn't afraid of running into a lot of unusual weather I think I would make a trip out to California and visit him and a lot of others.

If you didn't read "The County Board" last week do so at once. It is one of the most interesting pieces my friend Gowen has written and will do a lot of good.

Fred Coe suggests that an old fashioned Farmers Institute should be held in Ord late in November or early in December this fall, more than county wide in scope, three or four days.

In spite of the fact that this is late September we are having hotter nights than I saw in Minnesota all summer and they raised a corn crop too.

But Valley county farmers with from a hundred to several hundred acres in corn, would laugh at the little patches which northern Minnesota farmers call corn fields.

I hear of one Valley county farmer who practiced contour farming this summer and has quite a lot of corn while his neighbor over the fence, farming in the same old way has none.

Business men in every other line of business have had to meet and adopt new methods and those who didn't are not in business and I guess farmers are no exception to the rule.

How long would a newspaper last if pictures, most of the news, local and from over the county was cut out and the columns were filled up with long editorials, mostly political, abusing the other party?

I am not deprecating editorials. John Ward is writing some good ones every week and I think every county weekly should have a small editorial department, but it should be a very small part of the paper and all abuse should be left out.

I have no doubt the time will come when the newspaper will be looked upon as a public utility the same as the telephone or the electric light. It is really a public necessity and hundreds of Quiz readers have told me that this paper would be mighty hard to get along without.

That is the reason I have continued to send quite a lot of papers after the time paid for had expired. Of course that cannot be kept up indefinitely. I had hoped those who are in arrears would appreciate the favor shown them and at least send us a part of what they owe. Anyone reading the ads and taking advantage of the prices quoted can easily save several times the price of the paper.

The Old Days. A friend of mine was visited by the stork a few weeks ago and this bird left him and his wife a fine young son. That was all well enough, and even if it was his sixth, I believe, should I give my

There is some inconsistency in the laws governing the driver's license. There are no questions asked as to whether a person is a drinker of liquor or not.

One man who was granted a license started home one night and seeing a red light ahead drove wide to the right of it. He did not tip over but when he finally got his car stopped he discovered he was at the fish corner on the highway and had turned out for that danger light ahead, thinking it was a truck. But he could easily enough pass the examination for a license.

In a way it is amusing. We grant licenses to sell liquor and pass laws against drunkenness, and driving while intoxicated. Jim Coleman said, "If I arrest everyone who is drunk Popcorn days, the fall would not hold them. The people license the stuff. We have to put up with it. If the drunk is happy and not causing trouble, we won't bother him. It is just when he is disturbing the peace—fighting or disobeying the laws—that we pick 'em up. If the people don't like that they better not license the sale of the liquor."

Something must have gone wrong suddenly with the system.

Last year a lady was trying to use the megaphone to broadcast a reading and she was having difficulty holding the mike as she should. Her voice was not getting out. Someone has told me that a piece of sassafras wood makes an ideal walleyed pike rod and I need one and would like to make one this winter. The fly in the ointment however, is that there is no sassafras growing in this country.

What Does the Angry Mob Say? Jess Gillhan from over by Greeley stopped to see me today. We have been friends for a long time and naturally we fell to talking of our financial worries. He said I should go to Greeley at once and apply for a grant.

He said that last week over six hundred farmers of Greeley county met. They spent seventeen dollars on sending telegrams to the President, to congressmen and others, asking for aid and telling their troubles. Congressman Karl Stefan wired back that the money was appropriated and on hand for grants for people in distress such as the farmers in that section and if they did not get it it was the fault of the local committee in charge.

But that is off the subject. The doctor was at the place when the stork arrived, and otherwise this man had no outside help in his home. It was like days of old, so Claud Thomas said. No one ever thought of the expense of a nurse or a hospital when he was a boy. If the father was too busy to help in the house, a grandmother or neighbor would help for a few days. This friend of mine could think of no way he could make ten dollars a week any better than the job of acting as nurse in his own home.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Action on Delayed School Aid Plan Seen at Next Session of Congress

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—The nation's school children trooped back to classes this year with the question of future government aid for state and local educational programs still undecided.

There are indications that the next session of Congress may deal finally with the problem which was sidetracked by an economy drive in the recently concluded session.

Four years ago the cry "Schools out" went up, and it was evident that many communities could not hope to open their schools again unless help came from Washington.

The government has always assisted the states in a program of public education, at an average cost of $20,000,000 a year before the depression.

At the last session of Congress, the Harrison-Fletcher-Black bill for placing government aid to education on a permanent basis was introduced and favorably reported by the Senate Education committee.

The measure proposes an original expenditure of $100,000,000 for grants to states. This appropriation would be increased $50,000,000 a year for four years, and after that would be stabilized at $300,000,000 annually.

Criticism of the bill is directed mainly at the population basis proposed for the distribution of federal money. Objectors to this feature maintain that grants to states on the basis of child population, regardless of states' ability to support their own educational programs, would not eliminate the existing inequalities in educational opportunities.

When the bill was shelved, the President asked his special advisory committee on education to prepare a report for him before Congress met again. The committee was organized in September, 1936, to make a survey of vocational education. It is composed of five government officials, three offices of labor organizations, four business men, seven educators, a sociologist, a home economist and an agricultural economist.

Last April, at Mr. Roosevelt's request, the committee put aside its study of vocational education to consider the relations of the federal government to state and local conduct of education. With a staff of 75 trained research workers, the study is being hurried toward a December deadline.

Several members of the committee are on record in favor of the Harrison bill as it is drafted. Others, opposed to the population basis, will make substitute recommendations.

An official of the National Education Association, which is behind the bill, says, "the population basis is the only one for which the government can use its own figures."

This refers to the 1930 census, as against records kept by localities of average daily attendance or enrollment. He also says that "the only alternative is to use the figures submitted by the very persons who would most benefit by what they get from the government."

It is expected, however, that early in the 1938 session the President will send a message to Congress creating permanent federal subsidies to keep the nation's schools open in good years and bad alike.

get a kick in his heels and makes the wife take a tighter grip to the arm.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS. An exchange comments that the sleeping sickness is no new thing, but that WPA workers have been afflicted with a mild form of the disease for some time. Why single them out. We're all getting lazy.

The land at Buhl, Ida., has been sinking slowly for the past three years, according to newspaper reports. Land has been sinking here ever since it hit the peak at the close of the World war, but nobody seems to be able to stop it.

According to another exchange, the man who asked for the privilege of living by the side of the road so he could be a friend to man is moving back into the field. He has put up with the dust and noise for years, but the other morning when he awoke from his slumber and found the wreck of a car on his front porch and a corpse in his front room he decided that was going entirely too far.

Senator Burke overtrained in the supreme court battle last week when he devoted practically all his time at Rushmore, S. D., in talking of the supreme court issue instead of taking up other phases of our national constitution, as it was intended for him to do. That issue is right in its place, but is all wrong out of place, as it was at the 150th anniversary of the Constitution.

Chicago has run into a new dilemma growing out of the crazy daylight saving idea they had a number of years ago, that of turning all clocks ahead an hour, and commonly known as daylight saving time. It has been found that twenty thousand youngsters born since 1920 have been celebrating the wrong birthday. They were born between midnight and 1:00 a. m., but the change in time made them born the day before. If the wise men who concocted the idea had left the clocks alone and had changed the hours for working instead, this mix-up would never have occurred.

God's Way of Dealing With Us

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 3. Text: I John 3:1-6, 18-24.

VARIOUS passages in the New Testament provide the basis for our coming three-month course of studies in the Christian life as we return from the far-off scene of the early life of Israel.

We have seen how the great and basic moral and spiritual principles emphasized and illustrated in the early history of Israel and in the leadership of Moses have applied to our own time. But in this lesson on Christian sonship we have a striking illustration of the way in which the New Testament fulfills the Old and goes beyond its teaching in lifting us to a higher plane of vision and privilege.

We ought, of course, to remember always the words of Jesus, that he had come not to destroy, but to fulfill. In many respects, his teaching and his emphasis alike were new.

Where moral leaders of early Israel had said, "An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth," in itself some real progress in justice from the blind vengeance that would demand a life for a tooth, or a life for an eye, Jesus had said, "I say unto you that you resist not evil."

He taught men to love their enemies, where in the ancient story enemies were only to be fought and cast out, or killed.

BUT Jesus did not give this new emphasis and teaching as a denial of the old; rather it was a fulfillment bringing up the ancient teaching to a higher plane and a higher light. There is the justice that measures the reward of evil exactly according to the amount of evil done, but there is also the justice that is patterned after the mercy and grace of God. It is this higher element of mercy and forgiveness that we have brought to light in the conception of the Christian life.

We have had a lesson from the life of Israel on the need that a nation has for religious homes. Here this old matter of home and family life is lifted up into a divine atmosphere. The writer of this lesson calls on us to behold "what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the children of God."

Could there be anything higher or more sublime than that men are the children of a loving and gracious father, who really cares for them, and whose love and grace become the example and pattern for their own attitude and their dealings with one another?

Here we have not only a fine and beautiful teaching concerning family life, but we have the revelation of the very highest ideal.

The test of the reality of this sonship of God is whether we have in ourselves toward others the love that God has for us. The 10 commandments are not lost out of our lives, nor are they weakened, but they are lifted up into this great positive higher commandment, "that we should believe in the name of Jesus Christ, and love one another."

This is God's commandment, but it is first of all God's way of dealing with us.

In June, 1892, he came to Nebraska and settled in Valley county, remaining here until the time of his death. He had a stroke Nov. 11, 1935 and was partly paralyzed since that time. He was a patient sufferer during his lingering illness until called to his heavenly home. He suffered a second stroke Sat. Sept. 19, 1937, which caused his death the following Tuesday at the age of 69 years, 3 months and 21 days.

He was converted at the age of 13 in the Lutheran faith and lived a Christian life until the time of his death. He was united in marriage with Miss Anna Doester Sept. 19, 1901, and to this union 10 children were born, 2 passing away in infancy. He is survived by his wife, 5 daughters, 3 sons and 9 grandchildren. His daughters are Mrs. Edna Biberdorf, Willow City, N. D., Mrs. Freda DeJung, Clay Center, Nebr., Mrs. Erna Smith, Mapleton, Ill., Mrs. Bertha Stone, Scottsbluff, Nebr., Mrs. Ed Smith, Lisco, Nebr., Alvin E. of West Plains, Mo., and LeRoy W. and Gust Jr., of Ord, Nebr.

McGrews Return From Western Trip

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Clay McGrew and sons, Lloyd and Herschel, returned from a three weeks' trip to the west. They left Ord in Herschel's car Sept. 3 going north from Taylor into Dakota and through the Dakota Bad Lands into the Black Hill country, which they looked over pretty thoroughly.

They next went north into Montana and west until they reached Yellowstone Park, which they entered from the northeast corner. They looked into every interesting corner of the great national playground. From there they drove over into Idaho. They hunted up the Woolerys, and while they were in the yard talking with them cars containing the Firkins and C. H. Balle families drove into the yard looking for them. They had heard that the McGrews were coming, and were out looking for them. They drove out to the Ralph Balle home and woke them up out of bed. They went into Washington over No. 30 and down the Columbia river drive, which is rated as one of the finest in the world. There they saw the timber, the boating on the river and the dams, which are worth the trip in themselves.

From Portland they went north to Olympia, and then to Oakville, where Mr. and Mrs. McGrew homesteaded back in 1890. Clay did not hope to find anyone there who would remember them, but they found twenty or more who still recalled them. The land in that territory has grown remarkably in price and productivity. The boys asked their father why he ever came back to Nebraska, and he found the question hard to answer. At Hood River they visited Howard Jones, who has a good job with the Hood River News. They followed the coast highway all the way down through California, going through the redwood forest and found it a very winding road, but one full of scenic beauty. At Long Beach they called up Mrs. E. M. Williams, who told them where F. J. Bell lived. Fred took them all around the city, and they saw so many old-time Ordites that it would take a long time to name them all. They saw all the Bells, the Harberts and Roy Drakes. They went down to the city market and shopped there.

Merchants in Long Beach are permitted to set up their stands three days of the week from 6:00 to 1:00 A. M., and then must tear them down and take them away. They visited the Nays, Oscar, J. B. and Frank, all of whom are doing well. Clay spent some time at Saugus, where he worked on a ranch some 15 years ago. This is where James Ward is located, but they did not know it, and did not look him up. Clay still hopes to spend his remaining years in the Pacific northwest, where you can have all the fruit and vegetables you want for the asking, and where fuel is without money and without price.

Giant Jackhopper Killed by Hunters

George Cummings, early day school master of Valley county but now a resident of Malta, Mont., is a big game hunter, as the above picture proves. When he first went up to that big game country deer and elk were plentiful in the out of the way places, and it was nothing unusual for George to come in from a hunting trip with an elk and a couple of deer hanging from his belt.

That day is past, and for several years jackrabbits furnished the sport for hunting parties. More recently even this sport lost its zest and if it had not been for the invasion of the Canadian jackhoppers last summer, most of the sportsmen would have given up in disgust. The jackhopper is not unlike the jackrabbit in size and the build of his hind legs, but it is very difficult to shoot them because of their habit of either running, hopping or flying as the notion strikes them.

It takes a man with plenty of nerve to hunt them, and a quick eye and steady hand are required to bring them down. Their flesh is much esteemed as food, having about the flavor of choice beef steak, and an eight pound jackhopper like the one shown in the picture will furnish plenty of food for the average family. A full sized one has been known to cut off fence posts and telephone poles with a few bites of its powerful jaws.

Mr. Cummings says that there is no danger in hunting them unless one has been wounded, in which case the hunter must be careful, as a wounded hopper can inflict severe wounds with its mandibles, or it can kick a man half way down the mountain side with one blow of its hind legs. It is customary for half a dozen men to hunt them together for safety, taking along a truck to haul home the game.

Next to it will be carved a head of Theodore Roosevelt. The figures of Thomas Jefferson and George Washington already have been completed on the same level.

Brockman Worries Little About His Two End Positions

At first Coach Brockman, Ord high's sport mentor, was a little worried about losing a good end player from last year's squad. After last Friday night's game—it bothers him no more.

CHARLES CETAK.

Charles Cetak, who measures exactly six foot two and tips the scales at 160 pounds, is one of the biggest causes for Brockman's ease of mind. "Charlie" is playing his third year of football for the Chanticleers and is recognized as one of the best all-around players on the squad. A heavy burden lies on his shoulders this year, as he is one of the vital parts in the Chanticleers aerial attack.

During his three years of Chanticleer football playing, "Charlie" has gained the reputation of being the "rarest man on the squad." He is par-excellent on both offensive and defensive play, and he has a special idea on tackling which is certainly tough on Ord's opponents. Working with Cetak this year will be one of three other end players: Allen Zikmund, Robert Jablonski or Raymond Hurlbert. Jablonski was a letterman last year and will see plenty of action this season.

Artichoke Company Propose To Build At Arcadia, Burwell

L. W. Ringsby of Gering and L. J. Auble of Ord have been in Burwell for the past week, and as a result an agreement was reached whereby the United Artichoke company will build a de-hydration plant there this fall at a cost of approximately $35,000.00. It is understood that the location has been decided upon, but the company is not ready at this time to give out that information. The necessary machinery has been purchased and will be shipped in a very short time. Work will start as quickly as possible and will be rushed, the intention being to have the plant ready for operation by Nov. 15, if possible, according to Mr. Auble.

Similar arrangements have been made at Arcadia, and the work there is to be carried on at the same time. There are about 2000 acres of artichokes in the two valleys, and it is hoped that 60 percent of the crop can be put through the factories this fall. Oscar B. Krenz, head of the Krenz Copper and Brass works of San Francisco, is the new president of the Artichoke company.

Bee-News Sold To World-Herald

After being continuously published in Omaha for 66 years, the Omaha Bee-News printed its last editions Tuesday of this week and suspended publication because the paper, good will, subscription list and all equipment had been sold to the World-Herald. It is claimed that the Bee-News had lost its owner, William Randolph Hearst four million dollars since he purchased it from Nels Urdike in August, 1928. Mr. Hearst made other bad deals but it is only recently that he ever sold a bad investment. It is said now, that since he is growing old he desires to get all business matters on a sound foundation and those properties that do not make money, are being sold.

The Bee-News was established as the Bee by Edward Rosewater in 1871 and sold by his son Victor to Nels Urdike, an Omaha grain man, in 1920. It became the Bee-News in 1927 when Mr. Urdike bought the News. Urdike soon found he had a white elephant on his hands and was glad to sell to the Hearst syndicate when the opportunity offered. Great improvements were made in the plant and the Bee-News has been a wonderful newspaper but competition was too strong from the World-Herald, to allow a profit to be made. There is not sufficient business to be had in Omaha to make two such good

To Have And To Hold. As Art Zimmerman, who is county agent for Moorman's Mineral feeds, was driving along the road, two chickens couldn't make up their mind which way to cross. Result, two dead chickens. Art picked them up and put them in his car and then started to drive into the nearest farm yard. A woman, accompanied by a somewhat vicious police dog, stood at the door. "You needn't stop," she called. "You haven't got a thing we want." "Okay," called Art as he drove off. "I just wanted to pay you for a couple of fine hens."—Red Oak Express.

Valley County Farmers Now Busy With Their Fall Planting

Many farmers in Valley county are busily engaged these days doing their fall planting of winter wheat. Last year numbers of farmers planted wheat and were extremely fortunate in having a good crop. With small grain harvest amounting to practically nothing this year, many farmers are taking a fling at planting winter wheat.

In the top photo is Emory Zent and his farmhand, finishing eighty acres of planting. The bottom picture is a "candid" shot of Mr. Zent, taken as he poured his wheat into the seeder box.

Zent has tractor farmed for two years and says that as far as he is concerned "there is no other way." He has farmed in Springdale for the last 5 years and in the Mira Valley district for period of nearly 14 years.

Some of the winter wheat planted in Valley county extremely early is already out of the ground and looks like it is in fine condition. Most of the planted wheat however will shoot out within a couple of weeks.

John S. Hoff reports that he has 52 acres of wheat up and looking fine. It was planted on Sept. 18, 19 and 20. Other farmers also report that wheat is making a fine start, especially on summer fallow, such as that of Mr. Hoff.

The Ord Quiz Offers Monoplane Glider To Youngsters

Grocers Will Explain How to Obtain Them

The Wright Monoplane Glider that is being offered to boys and girls of Ord was designed by one of the famous Wright Brothers. Patented after the famous giant monoplanes, the glider is similar not only in appearance but also in performance. For it will fly far and high, loop-the-loop, bank, glide and land like a big plane.

The Wright Dayton Monoplane Glider has a self-operating feature that permits the plane to automatically adjust itself from a straight away-flight into a loop. And it is this automatic feature that makes it easy for any boy or girl to handle the glider like an expert pilot.

Details on how to obtain the Monoplane Glider, offered through the courtesy of The Quaker Oat Company and the Ord Quiz is available at all grocers.

The old feller was peddling CIO tracts and trying to make a living giving them away. Asked how he lived before he got this work, he said he was in the asylum four years. Later he wrote pieces for Father Coughlin's paper, organized Townsend clubs, served as re-fer investigator, drew an old age pension and rounded up votes for Jim Farley in 1936. He says the national bank act is unconstitutional and that the supreme court should be abolished. The asylum officers can have him back if they want him.—Fairbury Journal.

Captured 529 Coyotes in 25 Years

It is expected that many a coyote heaved a sigh of relief last week when Wayne King, trapper in the Springdale district for nearly 25 years sold his farm and moved to North Loup. Specializing in coyote trapping, King caught 529 coyotes in the 25-year period of trapping as well as an uncountable number of other animals such as coons, muskrats, skunks and badgers. This photo shows a man loaded down with the results of one week's work on the "trap line."

Coyotes Scarce, Quits Trapping

It's going to be a lot safer for coyotes this winter.

This decision was reached when Wayne King, a trapper in the Springdale district for 25 years, announced that he was giving up the coyote trapping business and was turning to the field of professional welding. He is now located at North Loup.

During his 25 years of trapping, Mr. King, combination farmer and trapper, has caught a total of exactly 529 coyotes. Although it is very hard to believe, King says that he has never dug out a coyote. Never has a small coyote "pup" been caught in his traps.

Largest coyote ever caught by King was last winter when he captured a coyote which measured 68 inches from the nose to the tip of the tail. According to Mr. King, coyotes are becoming fewer and fewer each year, last year there were so few that only about 15 were caught during the entire winter. Not only coyotes, but also smaller game is becoming very scarce, says King.

Chanticleers Blow Off the Lid With Lop-Sided 47-0 Win Over Atkinson

Well Balanced Team Displays Brilliant Aerial Attack; Look Promising.

Despite a chilly fall eve, Ord high school's 1937 grid machine fired away on all eleven Friday night as they whitewashed Atkinson 47 to 0 in the opening game of the season on the Ord field.

Unusually brilliant aerial work was displayed by the Chanticleers. Several passing combinations were given a trial during the game and nearly all of them made good. The combination of Zukoski to Barnes was one of the best of the evening. Barnes continually breaking away for long runs.

This year's team is one of the best-balanced elevens that Ord high has every turned out. Several spots in the line are a little weak yet, but this will all be cleared up in a week or two.

Any doubts which fans may have been harboring about whether the Chanticleers were going to have a football team or not this year were done away with Friday eve. Starting from the opening whistle, the Ordites dug in with their cleats and drove ahead at full speed until the final whistle of the contest. It was only a few moments after the game started that the black-clad Ordsters shoved the ball across the stripe for the first touchdown.

Few substitutions were made the first half, the first stringers doing all the work. It was a different story during the final two stanzas. Nearly every boy in suit was given an opportunity to show his ability the second half. Reserve power is going to be strong this year. First and second and third teams did equally well in holding the Atkinson gridlers in check the final half.

Starting line-up:
Atkinson
Zikmund, A. Ke. Johnson
James I. Garwood
Zikmund, L. G. Glig
Tatlow R. Tracy
Cetak R. Hickok
Zukoski R. Harshfield
Barnes F. Boucher
Hughes R. Crippen
Tunncliff Q. Jungman
Rose, B. C. Riley
Keown L. Petersen
Officials: Referee, Gardner, Broken Bow, Nebraska; umpire, Hendrickson, Gates, Nebraska; headlinesman, Davis, Broken Bow.

"Link" Lyman Opens Third Radio Season

Once more, Roy "Link" Lyman, University of Nebraska Line Coach, will take Nebraska football fans behind the scenes where he will describe the games as witnessed from the coaches bench. This radio program will again be sponsored by Standard Oil Company of Nebraska and brought to radio listeners over WOW, Omaha and KFOR, Lincoln, every Friday and Saturday evenings, 6:45 to 7 P. M. Central Standard Time. Coach Lyman opens the broadcasts on Friday evening, October 1st. A highly entertaining program is being planned for the curtain raiser.

In addition to the radio broadcasts, football fans are invited to their nearest Standard Oil Dealer and procure, free, a football album called, "Following The Huskers." Action pictures will be released every week, giving most interesting highlights of the games, along with full explanation of how the play or score was made. These may be pasted in the album so that by the end of the season, fans have an excellent collection of football pictures. This plan was instituted during the 1936 football season, and because of its popularity among Nebraska people, is made available for 1937 football, through the courtesy of the Standard Oil Company.

Ball Players in Collision.

"Tibby" and "Sonny" Jacobsen, the two Dannebrog boys who have signed up with the New York Yankees, narrowly escaped serious injury last week as their car collided head-on with a truck near St. Paul. "Tibby" was injured the worst, suffering injuries to his knees and to one ear.

Richard Rowbal is now employed at York, where he has a job with the Gillen Baking Co. He went down Wednesday afternoon.

Ord Will Battle St. Paul Apostles On Home Field

Ord high school's Chanticleers will enter the Mid Six trophy race for 1937 this Friday night when they meet St. Paul in a game under the lights on the Ord field.

This is scheduled to be one of the hottest home contests of the season. Last year the Ord team was held to a scoreless tie by the Apostles—the only mar on the Ord record in 1936. Like the elephant, the Chanticleers never forget, and unless the St. Paul gridlers are very careful they are liable to find themselves on the short end of a tremendous score.

This will be the first Mid Six game of the season played by either team and also the second game played thus far this year by either eleven.

Last Friday the Apostles met Central City's heavy team and were set back with a neat 13 to 0 score. In 1936 the St. Paul lads scored a 6 to 0 win over the Bison.

White Central City was mixing with St. Paul, the Chanticleers were pouring it on in grand fashion as they ploughed under Atkinson, 47 to 0.

In the 1936 game between Ord and St. Paul, Ord threatened to score against the Paulites several times but each time the ball was carried within scoring distance, the Apostles put up a defense which the Ordites were unable to penetrate.

Basketball Tournery Given to Burwell

This year's Loup Valley basketball tournament will be held in the new Burwell high school gymnasium. This decision was reached recently at a meeting of Loup Valley high school officials.

Dates for the tournament will be February 16 and 17, according to present plans. Burwell's new gym is recognized as one of the best arranged and equipped in the Loup Valley region. Features of the gym include ample seating capacity to take care of any crowd, the very latest lighting equipment and a hard wood floor, built to meet all official regulations.

Legion Polices Games.

Members of the Ord American Legion had fine success last year in policing home football games and are taking care of this work again this season. Arcadia's American Legion is doing similar work at all of their home football games.

How Ord's Lighted Football Field Looks to the Camera Eye

Ord's lighted football field located in Bussell Park makes a beautiful sight at night when the huge floodlights are turned to "full power." As you can see by this photo, there's always a good crowd at Ord football games. If the camera could have been turned to take in both sides of the field you would indeed have a colorful sight. On the opposite side would be another long line of fans crowding along the fence, a set of bleachers crowded to capacity with pep club members and fans, with the flashy 60-piece Ord band at the nearest end, rigged out in their glowing red and white uniforms.

Two Loup Valley Tilts This Week

Loup Valley and Mid Six football will go into it's second week of play this Friday as nearly all of the teams see action.

Two Loup Valley tilts are on the slate for Friday. Taylor will battle it out with Scotia on the Scotia field while Arcadia will meet North Loup on the Loupers gridiron. Scotia is favored to win over Taylor while Arcadia will undoubtedly win by a large margin over Coach Willis' North Loup squad.

Only one Mid Six clash is on tap for this week, St. Paul meeting up with their old rivals, Ord. Ord is favored to win.

A number of non-conference games are to be played including Ansley at Loup City, Broken Bow at Sargent, O'Neill at Burwell, Mason City at Comstock, and Litchfield at Ravenna.

Grid Season Starts Popping.

The 1937 grid season started popping in a big way last Friday in the Loup Valley and Mid Six circuits.

Biggest surprise served to fans was the unusually large score that Coach Tuning's Arcadians ran up in winning over the Metz coached Broken Bow eleven. It was reported that the actual score of the game was 24 to 0 in favor of Arcadia, although state papers printed it as 19-0.

St. Paul caught it in the neck as Central City marched over them to the tune of 13 to 0. Last year the Apostles won 6 to 0. Ravenna lost to Shelton in 1936 by the score of 6 to 0, Friday the Ravenna-ites poured it on the Shelton lads 20-6. The game between North Loup and Wolbach was postponed until a later date. Loup City trounced Sargent, 12 to 0 in the opening game of the season for the Brownies.
