

Farmer Jury Chosen In Ord Murder Trial

Jim Lee 'Shot Low, Didn't Want to Hit Anybody,' Is Claim

Statements by Lee and Davis, Testimony of 2 Boys, Only Events of Morning.

Twelve men filed into the jury box at nine o'clock this morning—there to sit until all of the evidence in the James Lee murder case has been heard. They will then retire to decide that all-important question of "guilty" or "not guilty," and if the former, recommend what degree of punishment shall be meted out.

An expectant pause fell over the courtroom as the jurors seated themselves. Judge Kroger announced, "County Attorney Lee, you may proceed with the opening statement."

"James Lee purposely and premeditatedly did shoot Gail Hiner with a rifle, and as a result thereof the said Gail Hiner died on Oct. 6, 1937."

This charge was made by Co. Attorney Lee who represents the State of Nebraska in this case, assisted by the law firm of Munn & Norman.

Among statements made by Attorney Lee in his opening speech were: "On Oct. 4 Gail Hiner and Melvin Moore set out after eating supper to hunt rabbits along the riverside and were joined in their hunting party by another friend, Arlie Worm. As they were walking on the Lee property, Lee fired at them without warning, fatally wounding Hiner and seriously injuring Arlie Worm. The State will give proof in this trial that James Lee committed first degree murder."

In the opening statements by the defense, Attorney Clarence M. Davis gave a brief history of the prisoner. Lee is 55 years old, his father

3,611 Licenses Issued.

A. W. Pierce, head of the auto license bureau, reports 3,611 licenses were issued up to 5 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 30, when the bureau was supposed to close. However, that day word came from Lincoln to keep the bureau open until Saturday, Dec. 4, so up to that time people may still get licenses from Pierce. On Dec. 10, 14 and 29 state patrolmen will visit Ord, give examinations and issue licenses to late comers.

Scotia Farmer Has An Arm Amputated

Scotia—(Special)—One hand and wrist terribly mangled in a corn shredder, Irvin Shoemaker, farmer living near here, was taken to a hospital in Ord Saturday and the hand was amputated by Dr. C. W. Weekes, assisted by Dr. Kafka. Amputation of the lower arm was found necessary also. Mr. Shoemaker is reported to be recovering.

Johansen Quitting.

Edw. Johansen will hold a clean-up sale on the farm Monday, December 6. This is a good sale and a complete list of the offerings will be found in another column this week. Mr. Johansen is quitting at this time because of the condition of his wife's health and later expects to go to the northwest part of the United States to locate.

Foral Not Guilty.

In the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Mathew Foral on the charge of defacing a brand, a Custer county jury found the defendant not guilty. This case met with much publicity at the time, as it was one of the first brought in this section for a long time. Mr. Foral was able to show to the satisfaction of the jury that he placed the brand on the calf believing it to be one of his own.

Orin Kellison Buys Share With Beiers

A business deal of more than usual interest was announced Friday when Orin Kellison, a leading farmer of the Midvale neighborhood, bought a half interest in the implement business of Chris Beiers. Mr. Beiers has been in business at his present location for several years and has been getting his share of the business. However, the past few years have been tough on the farmers upon whom the implement man must depend for his trade. It is hoped that the coming year may mean better crops for the farmers of Valley county, for when that time comes the rural buying power will return. Mr. Kellison has selected the date of Dec. 17 for his clean-up sale, and plans to be in Ord and actively engaged in business by January 1.

Valley County's First Murderer Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

Hans Thusen Shot, Killed, In 1881; Case Now On 2nd In County History.

That the Lee murder trial now being heard in Ord is the second, not the first, in Valley County's history was learned last week as soon as the Quiz was issued, when old-time residents of this city including Mrs. Florence Chapman and W. A. Anderson immediately challenged a statement that no previous murder trial had been held here.

A search of the records of his office by Alfred Wiegard, clerk of the district court, had failed to reveal that a previous murder trial ever was held but when Mrs. Chapman and Mr. Anderson supplied approximate dates, a new search disclosed a few facts, which augmented by the memory of Mr. Anderson, enables us to supply this account of the first trial:

On Sept. 12, 1881, a grand jury indicted Neils Gottfredsen of murder in the first degree of Hans C. Thusen on May 13, 1881. From evidence given at the inquest and trial and from corroborative evidence given by W. A. Anderson, it appears that the two men were neighbors living about five miles west of Ord, and that they quarrel over the boundary line between them. They were at Gottfredsen's place at the time and he ran into the house, coming out with a muzzle loading shotgun which he fired at Thusen from a distance of perhaps twenty feet.

Thusen was killed instantly, receiving numerous deep wounds in his face and the front of his body, some of the shot going in to a depth of five inches. An inquest was held by Sheriff Herbert Thurston, acting coroner, the same day, with F. L. Harris, John F. Kates, John Case, James S. Bussell, S. A. Stacy and W. E. Freeman as members of the jury. Dr. J. M. Klinker was called and examined the body to give expert evidence as to the cause of death. The jury found that Thusen came to his death from gunshot wounds from a gun fired by Gottfredsen.

The murderer was arrested and brought before Justice of the Peace Z. H. Pates, who was duly elected justice of Ord precinct. The justice bound him over to the district court and remanded him to the custody of Sheriff Thurston. Either

Ord Young People To Music Clinic

Director Dean Duncan took Ruth Auble, sousaphonist, Dick Koupal, baritone, and Angelina Wachtre, bassoon, and also Virginia Sack, Marjorie Smith and Jennie Burrows as vocalists to the Nebraska Bandmaster's Clinic and also the Choral Association which met in Wayne Friday and Saturday of last week. The idea of this clinic is to give students an opportunity to study under some of the best band leaders and vocalists possible to obtain. The members of the band were given an opportunity to show their ability, and were given a rating accordingly. Miss Auble won first chair in her division, while Miss Wachtre and Mr. Koupal took second in their divisions. The rating of the vocalists was not so well defined, but the Ord entries rated very well. There were a total of about 75 schools of the state represented at this clinic. The groups studied hard several hours each day and Saturday evening a public concert was given which was largely attended. By mutual agreement the Nebraska Bandmasters association was dissolved and reorganized as the Nebraska Music Education association. The advantage of this is that next year there will be a clinic for band, orchestra and chorus all under one organization. Mr. Duncan speaks very highly of the concert, in which the chorus gave seven selections and the band nine, three under each of three directors of world renown.

Mid-West Papers Elect Ord Editor As Vice President

7 State Advertising Group Organized Saturday At Des Moines, Iowa.

Representatives of the Class A weekly newspapers of seven states held a meeting Saturday in Des Moines, Ia., and that evening announced completion of an organization to be tentatively titled Mid-West Associated Newspapers, purpose of which is to sell national advertising on a group basis. States represented were Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Kansas and Missouri, and Minnesota is expected to become a member of the group at once. Newspapers to the number of 442 hold membership at present, 37 being located in Nebraska. More of the larger weekly and small daily newspapers in this and other states will be admitted to membership later.

Officers of the group selected at Des Moines include Tom B. Purcell, of Iowa Falls, Ia., president; E. C. Leggett, of Ord, vice-president; and Fred Hill, of Hamburg, Ia., secretary-treasurer. Guy Ludt, of Wahoo, Neb., will represent Nebraska on an executive committee which has one member from each state. Nebraska representatives at the meeting included Messrs. Leggett, and Ludt, E. R. Purcell of Broken Bow and N. B. Pont, of Stanton. President T. B. Purcell and Roy Klippinger, of Carmel, Ill. will leave at once for New York City for conferences with executives of tobacco, food and motors companies, in the hope of securing new advertising schedules to start with the next year.

Two Wahoo Men Buy Business Of Orville H. Sowl

Will Take Possession Jan. 1; Sowl Plans Move to West Coast Account Health.

Surprised were Ord people Monday when announcement was made that a deal had just been completed by the terms of which Orville H. Sowl sells his funeral business to Hilding O. Pearson, of Wahoo, and Wilmer M. Anderson, formerly of Wahoo but more recently of Los Angeles, Calif. The two Wahoo young men will take over the Sowl establishment in Masonic building on Jan. 1.

For several years Mr. Sowl has been a sufferer from sinus trouble and to correct this condition has undergone many operations. While each operation helped to some extent, he is informed by his physicians that complete relief is not to be had unless he moves to a climate where the air is free from dust and full of moisture. This he plans to do.

In a letter of appreciation published elsewhere in this issue Mr. Sowl states that the young men who purchased his business are his pick from a score or more who have tried to buy his business. Mr. Pearson, who is 25 years old, served a five year apprenticeship at the Wadlow Mortuary in Lincoln, then studied embalming at the Worsham school in Chicago, and passed the Nebraska board examinations in 1934. He has since been employed by the Wadlow Mortuary. Mr. Anderson, who is 23 years old, served an apprenticeship at the Erickson mortuary in Wahoo, attended the Hohenshuh-Carpenter school of embalming in St. Louis, passed the Nebraska examinations in 1934 and worked for a year at the Bolland Mortuary in Hastings before going to Los Angeles where he is now employed. Neither young man is married.

According to the agreement signed Monday, Mr. Sowl will continue to conduct the business during the month of December and on Jan. 1 it will be taken over by the new owners. Mr. Pearson is here now and will work with Mr. Sowl during December while his partner, Mr. Anderson, is expected to arrive within a week or two. After Jan. 1 the establishment will be known as the Pearson-Anderson Mortuary.

Twelve years ago Mr. Sowl and family came to Ord and he purchased the business conducted for many years by A. M. Daniels, which was then located in a frame building south of the square. When plans for a new Masonic building were discussed Mr. Sowl signed a long-term lease for use of the ground floor and had it built to his specifications. He installed entirely new equipment and the funeral parlors when completed were among the most modern, beautiful and dignified in Nebraska.

In business, church and social circles the Sows have been active and their decision to leave Ord is a matter of great regret to their many friends. He is an accomplished violinist and Mrs. Sowl a fine pianist and their music has been featured at many social gatherings. Mr. Sowl has been a prominent member of the American Legion, served as president of the Rotary club and has been active in chamber of commerce affairs.

While their plans are incomplete, the Sows probably will remain here for 60 to 90 days after which they may locate on the Pacific coast. Both the Pearson and Anderson families are respected in Wahoo. Mr. Pearson, sr., being a retired farmer and Mr. Anderson owner of a restaurant there. Both of these gentlemen were in Ord Monday with Hilding O. Pearson, discussing terms of the deal with Mr. Sowl. The young men are welcomed to Ord and without doubt will become prominent in community affairs as both are able and energetic men.

Cut Reemployment Office Personnel

A drastic cut in the personnel of the Reemployment office at the court house went into effect Dec. 1, orders coming only the day before from Washington to lay off all employees except Director R. H. Mills. Affected by the order were Dallas Berney, of Bartlett, Claris Bellinger, of Arcadia, and Miss Helen Hilton, of Broken Bow.

Annual Convention Taxpayers Leagues

The annual convention of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues will be held at the Pawnee hotel in North Platte, Dec. 6 and 7. Frank G. Arnold of Fullerton is the president of the organization. C. E. Goodhand of Ord is a member of the committee on constitution and by-laws, and H. D. Leggett is a member of the publicity committee, as is also J. F. Webster of St. Paul. C. E. Taylor of St. Paul is on the finance committee, S. T. Grohosky of Scotia and Frank A. Johnson of Burwell are members of the resolutions committee.

Lee Calm in Early Stages of Hearing

Here is seen James Lee, on trial for the melon patch slaying of Gail Hiner, as he was led into the court room Monday morning by Sheriff George Round. Clad in a gray shirt and dark necktie and in clean trousers, Lee appeared calm during the early stages of the hearing. He sits beside Clarence Davis and Ed Vogelstanz at a long table facing the judge and jury and right behind him sits Deputy Sheriff F. J. Cohen, in whose charge Lee will be throughout the trial which will either make him a free man or send him to the penitentiary for a long period of years.

Old Toys Wanted! Santa Claus to Have Work Shop in Ord

The local Red Cross is sponsoring a new project in the community to be completed between now and Christmas. A group of N. Y. A. young people will be given part-time employment preparing toys for Christmas boxes and baskets. The work will include repairing and renovating old toys that are donated and the making of new toys and novelties from materials furnished. The American Legion will give the use of the Legion hall. The Business and Professional Women's club is contributing $10 for fuel and supplies. All old toys, no longer a pleasure to your family, can be put to fine use to make other children happy. All materials that might be combined to make or finish toys will be appreciated. One of the workers will be ready to call and gather them any time. Mrs. E. L. Kokes is chairman of the supervising committee.

Minister and Wife Injured in Lincoln

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Adams of North Loup were both badly injured when hit by a car while crossing a street in Lincoln Friday evening. They were walking and neither saw the approaching car until it was too late. The accident happened during the big kiddies parade that was held there that evening. Rev. Adams is the Evangelical minister for the North Loup and Mira Valley churches, and he and his wife were in Lincoln visiting a daughter, Mrs. Leah Gofer, Sunday noon Mr. and Mrs. Archie Geweke, Mr. and Mrs. Will Foth and Mrs. Harry Foth drove down to Lincoln and visited Rev. and Mrs. Adams in St. Elizabeth hospital, where they were taken following the accident. They found that Mrs. Adams had suffered a broken ankle and her husband had a badly bruised shoulder, but it was not definitely known whether any bones were broken or not.

Red Cross "Over the Top" by $130

The 1937 annual roll call of the Valley County Red Cross, which closed on Thanksgiving day, went "over the top" by $130, reports Mrs. Ed Whelan, county membership chairman. Quota assigned to county was $100 and total of receipts when all reports were in was $230. It was the most satisfactory roll call in the history of the Red Cross organization here. Next week a complete list of members will be published.

Allen Car Was Wrecked.

Thursday evening the Allen car, driven by George Allen, jr., was damaged when it struck an electric pole near the Ord river bridge. Neither young Allen nor the only passenger, Miss Sybil Chase, was injured. The car is in the Anderson garage for repairs.

Ord's Christmas Decorations Put In Place Monday

Greenery and Colored Lights Again Transform Business District of City.

Early this week employees of the city light department again went to work at an annual task—that of transforming the business district of Ord into a fairyland of greenery and colored lights in honor of the approaching holiday season. The work has been completed and Friday the lights will be turned on, to burn each evening until January 1.

The same decorative scheme as last year is being used, says George Allen, and will include festoons of greenery and strings of color lights to make a canopy over the court yard, Christmas trees set around the inside of the square and strings of colored lights across streets in the business district. Santa Claus and his reindeers again will be seen about the court house and holiday banners will hang from light posts around the square.

Although the weather man is failing to cooperate by furnishing snow, it must be remembered that Christmas is only a few short weeks away. Stocks of Christmas gift merchandise and toys have arrived at most stores and the whole town begins to present an atmosphere distinctly "Christmas-y". Store decorations are being put in place this week.

Plans for the community Christmas tree being sponsored by the chamber of commerce are going forward and date of this great event when the kiddies will be given candy and other presents is to be announced soon.

By all means visit Ord Friday eve bringing the children and see the lights turned on; see the town burst into the brilliance of red, blue, green and orange from thousands of colored electric bulbs.

And don't delay any longer in starting your Christmas shopping, which naturally can be done to good advantage in Ord.

Kruml Office Will Add Relief Worker

To qualify for state and federal money to pay old age, aid to dependent children and blind benefit payments it will be necessary for the Valley county assistance office to add another person to its staff, announces Director Frank Kruml, and he is now accepting applications, on blanks which may be secured at his office. At present there is much demand for people experienced in public welfare work and if more qualified applicants are found here than are needed their names will be kept on file at the state office so other counties may select from them.

2 Days Required To Empanel Group Decide Lee's Fate

State, Defense, Agree on 12 Men at 5:15 P. M. Tuesday; Are Sworn In.

A jury composed almost exclusively of farmers will decide the fate of James Lee, 55-year-old farmer and WPA worker who is on trial here on first degree murder charges in connection with the death October 6 of Gail Hiner, 14-year-old son of Henry Hiner.

After two days of effort the following twelve men were selected as jurors and sworn in at 5:15 p. m. Tuesday:

- Charles Sobon, Elyria.
- Vere Leonard, Ord.
- D. W. Nordstrom, Arcadia.
- Harvey Hohn, Ord.
- Joe Skolli, Comstock.
- Wesley Eberhart, Ord.
- Merrill Anderson, North Loup.
- Edward Nelson, Arcadia.
- John Wozab, Jr., Ord.
- John S. Vodchmal, Ord.
- John Nelson, Elyria.

County Attorney Alvin B. Lee and his assistants of the prosecuting staff, George A. Munn and Ralph W. Norman, and the two defense attorneys, Clarence M. Davis and E. L. Vogelstanz, questioned no less than 57 men before the twelve named above were selected to hear the evidence and decide Lee's guilt or innocence.

When the jury was finally chosen the prosecuting staff had exhausted all of the ten peremptory challenges allowed it by statute and the defense had used ten of its allotted twelve.

Eleven of the twelve jurymen are farmers, only exception being John Wozab, jr., who works in the J. T. Knezacek real estate agency in Ord.

Since the defendant is a farmer and the crime which he is alleged to have committed occurred in defense of his patch of melons, the fact that the jury is predominantly of farmers is regarded as favorable to the defense.

Selection of the jury was for the most part quiet routine work, but the court room was crowded to capacity throughout the proceedings.

Biggest sensation of the two days came Monday afternoon when County Attorney Lee announced that if the jury finally selected should find James Lee guilty the state will not ask that the death penalty be inflicted but will instead ask that he be imprisoned for life.

From 10:00 Monday morning when Sheriff George S. Round led the alleged slayer into the court room and turned him into the custody of Deputy Sheriff Fred J. Cohen, who will remain seated beside him throughout the trial, it was apparent that difficulty would be encountered in selecting a jury.

The original group of prospective jurors, drawn by lot from the list of 50 compiled in July by county supervisors, was composed of Charles Sobon, Adolph Kokes, D. W. Nordstrom, Frank Zulkoski, Henry Desmul, Jake Osenkowski, Walter Noll, J. S. Vodchmal, Adam Bartusjak, Halsey Schultz, Fred Hunt, Otto Graul, Joe Lola, Val Pullen, Edward Nelson, Merrill Anderson, James Wachtre, Henry Desmul, Ed Lee, Clarence Clement, Frank Blaha, Cecil Wolf, Noble Ralston, Henry Geweke and LeRoy Frazier.

Immediately upon opening of court by Judge E. G. Kroger, Ralston, Geweke and Frazier were excused from service by reasonable excuses and Wolf was eliminated because he is serving a jail sentence.

Twelve of the remaining 20 jurors then were seated in the jury box.

In Police Court.

John Doe and Richard Roe, real names not supplied, were brought into Police Judge John L. Anderson's court Thursday on a charge of intoxication. They were found guilty as charged and paid a fine of $10.00 and costs of $3.50 each. Their home is in Loup City. John DeBolt, James Kozeal and James McNamee, found intoxicated on Thursday also, were haled into the judge's court Friday, where DeBolt and Kozeal each drew a fine of $10.00 and costs, while McNamee received a sentence of 30 days at hard labor. The reason for the heavier sentence was that McNamee adopted a very mean attitude toward officers, using bad language toward them, and also continued the same attitude when arraigned in court. DeBolt and Kozeal were unable to raise the money and are laying it out in jail.

OLD DAYS COMING BACK?

For years now we have heard people expressing a longing for the good old days. Most of them know of the good old days only from hearsay, but they are longing, just the same.

This is not a temperance lecture, but a statement of facts as they stare us in the face today. If you don't like this article, don't blame the writer, for facts are hard to refute.

When repeal arrived we were in an era known as the 3.2 times, and there are people today who actually believe that beer is still 3.2, when as a matter of fact it is anywhere from two to four times that strong.

In the old days two things discredited the liquor business, the crooked tavern keeper and the drunkard. Ord's liquor dealers are running their business according to law, but we still have the drunkard.

The pendulum which swung toward license in 1932 is rapidly swinging the other way, and the midnight closing law and the drunkards are giving it impetus.

NEIGHBORLY SPIRIT.

The old time lend-a-hand spirit of pioneer days seems to have carried over rather well into 1937, according to a story and picture shown in last Sunday's Lincoln Journal.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS

In Europe it is nothing unusual for children to attend school wearing gas masks. Which reminds us that citizens of Ord wore cloth masks during the flu epidemic, and the home guards were supposed to enforce the order.

The trend of the accident record today is toward more accidents, with fewer fatalities. There is a reason for this. The old style car with the top that collapses whenever hit, is getting scarcer as time goes on, and the greater part of our fatalities occur in cars without the turret top.

Another severe blizzard hit Ord Friday evening, and the thermometer dropped to 20 degrees above. A few more storms like that and the winter will be half over before we know about it.

Kirby Had Good Corn.

Another Ord farmer who had an excellent corn crop this year is Albert Kirby, who farms the old Fred Dowhower place near Turtle Creek. He recently finished picking corn and found his crop from 35 acres to total 1,150 bushels or almost 33 bushels per acre.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Constructive criticism should and usually is, helpful to any one in any business. It is always helpful if the manager of that business is the right sort, for everyone is anxious to improve the service he is giving or selling to the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is hearing the railroads of the United States at this time on the subject of freight rates. An increase in freight rates on many things is being asked and the hearing to determine the need for the approximately 15 per cent increase.

I believe I am safe in saying that it is the policy, or at least the idea, of the government, that every business should charge for its service or goods, sufficient to at least pay cost of operation, including a fair rate of interest on the investment.

I suspect it will be pretty hard sledding for the Jewel Tea man in Ord, whoever he may be, for a time now. Well, it is well. Ord women should know that they can buy groceries from their home merchants just as cheaply as from some traveling fakir.

Something Different

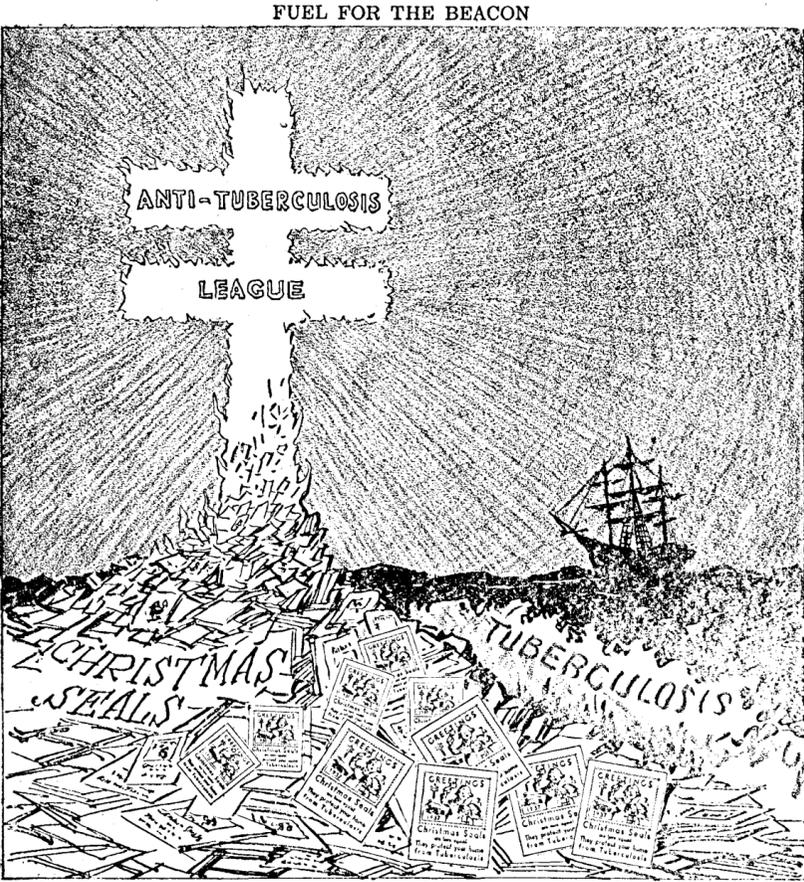

If there is anything more universally interesting than food, any subject more certain to start discussions, I don't know what it is. No matter to whom you are speaking, mention a dish, any sort of food, and the battle begins to rage.

The only serious argument I ever had with Mrs. H. D. Leggett, that very superlative cook and my esteemed mother-in-law, was whether or not gravy should be made with browned flour. I held the flour should be white, she liked hers browned in the pan, and we are both of the same opinion still.

I have heard cooks argue that ducks should be pot roasted and then finished in the oven. I have heard them argue that buckwheat cake batter, old-fashioned kind, should be only thinned down with milk. . . . and when to put in the salt and soda. . . . that is another fine point.

By the way, I think George slipped last week when he said, in his story about Floyd Hutchins' dairy, that we can't all do as Floyd does. He assumed that there were not sufficient milk customers. Sure, George, but there are many things besides producing milk. We mustn't be copy cats. Think up something else to do.

There was a time when almost anyone could make money but that day is past, perhaps forever. At least it is going to be some time before the conditions are like they were in the years between 1912 and 1920. It takes more hard work, closer attention to business, less gadding, in these days of depression or recession or more abundant life or whatever this period should be called, to make a go of it.

dividual is willing to make the necessary effort. One great trouble these days is the cost of the overhead. We didn't used to have so much overhead.

As a rule the young man who eats and runs away to beat his board bill, gets caught and has to pay the bill and about three times as much more in fines and costs. But that is good for him, for, also as a rule, such young men spend much of their earnings for booze and it is much better for them to spend their money in fines which goes into the school system, than for booze to put into their own systems.

Gus Buechler, editor of the Grand Island Independent, had an experience a few days ago that many train fans would give an eye for, theoretically at least. A North Platte he attempted to buy a ticket on the steamliner for Grand Island, only to be told every seat was taken.

Then Mr. Buechler went to the dispatcher and explained how important it was that he be back in Grand Island for a certain appointment, how he simply must get back, and begged to be allowed to stand up and ride home. Anything, just to get back to Grand Island in time. The dispatcher promised to do his best.

At train time, Mr. Buechler was handed a pass and costily tucked into the cab with the engineer. He had the fun of watching the train driven to Grand Island, with many explanations from the engineer himself. He arrived home safely of course, but much more thrilled than he would have been at a mere passenger trip on the same train.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowes

We Are Taking Slides. I can't help but think that the foreign policy of the government of not selling arms to belligerent nations is all wrong. This rule has and does only aid the stronger nations. During war we should sell freely to all nations and especially the defending or weaker nation.

In the instance of China and Japan, Japan has been preparing for this conflict for a long time. She does not need to buy the arms for she has them in great quantities, purchased from us and others in peace times. But China, who has not prepared, is whipped at the outset, for as soon as they start war, even in defense, we cease to sell them arms and consequently help the Japs.

It seems to me to be the greatest of outrages, equal only to that of Alexander perhaps that the Japs should be allowed to step over and slaughter the Chinese people as is being done. For a deed not half as bad, we condemned the Germans, their biggest crime being that of crossing a neutral country. We stand by now and even aid the Japs by refusing to sell arms to the innocent, peace-loving people who are trying to save their country. In the world war we eventually organized an army and put them in the field to stop the invaders and "save the world for Democracy."

Putting an army in the field would not be the only way to aid in stopping a blood-thirsty maniac. Embargoes and boycotts have a far reaching effect. But there are two countries, two big portions of the world, who were not "Saved for Democracy" with Germany and Italy we run into more snarls. Yes, we run into such troubles that all we do is to stand back and let them kill and capture and destroy. No, I guess we are not our brother's keeper. Not yet for a few centuries at least.

Upon the purchase of a ticket on the railroad to Los Angeles a couple of weeks ago my mother could not help but recall the difference between the train service over that of twenty years ago when she made the trip.

Twenty-seven dollars paid for the ride on the Challenger. She could stop off enroute. She asked the agent if she would have to spend money for tips to get proper service. "No," he blurted. "There would be nothing to tip for. Everything is furnished free of charge. You have pillows furnished, well ventilated cars, luxurious cushioned seats, lights dimmed at night, stewards and porters. You needn't take a lunch. The diner service is as cheap as any restaurant."

How different over the trip we made twenty years ago!

and in telling the tale to friends declared: "Apples never did agree with me."

One of the little Whelans, asked how he felt immediately after a huge Thanksgiving dinner answered that he was too full, his stomach hurt.

Then he decided to enlighten his audience and continued: "But I know why; I ate too many raisins yesterday!"

Little Duane Wolf has many of his elders bested. Duane is two years old, and he has twin sisters nine years old. Hardly anyone can tell Arlene and Maxine apart, they are very much identical. They are accustomed to being called by the wrong name, or more often to answering to the title of Twin or Twinnie.

But little Duane has some systems figured out, and he calls the twins by name at will. Friends try to confuse him and get him to call the twins wrongly, but Duane can't be fooled. Every time he names his sisters correctly.

For the Bulletin Board. At the North Loup-Cedar Rapids game a few weeks ago a C. R. lad was terribly hurt. He did not die and recovered and so the incident is hardly worth mentioning. No one was tackling him and that made it better. He brought it all on himself. Three men brought him in a car, prone and passed out, sweat running from his head, to the doctor's office where I helped lug him onto the table. There the doctor worked over him for a long time, intermittently, feeling his pulse and looking under his eyelids. The lad was there all during the game and just at nightfall I stopped in the office again to see how he was. He was still stretched out but the doctor said, "He's coming out of it, but he had a pretty hard rap."

At the Scotia game, among other things a N. L. lad was sloughed in the eye by a fist. He was hurt so he nearly cried and his knees trembled. But that was all right. Recently, upon departing to play a larger team, a coach (I'm not telling of what town) informed his lads if they did not get penalized at least twice for ruffing it, he'd punish them when they got home. They only got penalized once.

I recently asked a football lad why his team didn't win any more games. He didn't know. Finally I insisted that the coach claimed was the trouble. "He is on the job," I said, "and an expert. What does he say? Are you too small, or not fast enough, or what?" The boy replied, laughing, "The coach says we're yaller."

A father of a local football lad was glad the season is over. He was trying to cut wood and wanted his boy to help after school but getting home at seven was too late to help. I was wondering if the lad would cut wood with the same gusto and in the same dazed of getting hurt as he played football. Yes, I'm a wonderer.

usually organized an army and put them in the field to stop the invaders and "save the world for Democracy."

Putting an army in the field would not be the only way to aid in stopping a blood-thirsty maniac. Embargoes and boycotts have a far reaching effect. But there are two countries, two big portions of the world, who were not "Saved for Democracy" with Germany and Italy we run into more snarls. Yes, we run into such troubles that all we do is to stand back and let them kill and capture and destroy. No, I guess we are not our brother's keeper. Not yet for a few centuries at least.

Upon the purchase of a ticket on the railroad to Los Angeles a couple of weeks ago my mother could not help but recall the difference between the train service over that of twenty years ago when she made the trip.

Twenty-seven dollars paid for the ride on the Challenger. She could stop off enroute. She asked the agent if she would have to spend money for tips to get proper service. "No," he blurted. "There would be nothing to tip for. Everything is furnished free of charge. You have pillows furnished, well ventilated cars, luxurious cushioned seats, lights dimmed at night, stewards and porters. You needn't take a lunch. The diner service is as cheap as any restaurant."

How different over the trip we made twenty years ago!

For the Bulletin Board. At the North Loup-Cedar Rapids game a few weeks ago a C. R. lad was terribly hurt. He did not die and recovered and so the incident is hardly worth mentioning. No one was tackling him and that made it better. He brought it all on himself. Three men brought him in a car, prone and passed out, sweat running from his head, to the doctor's office where I helped lug him onto the table. There the doctor worked over him for a long time, intermittently, feeling his pulse and looking under his eyelids. The lad was there all during the game and just at nightfall I stopped in the office again to see how he was. He was still stretched out but the doctor said, "He's coming out of it, but he had a pretty hard rap."

At the Scotia game, among other things a N. L. lad was sloughed in the eye by a fist. He was hurt so he nearly cried and his knees trembled. But that was all right. Recently, upon departing to play a larger team, a coach (I'm not telling of what town) informed his lads if they did not get penalized at least twice for ruffing it, he'd punish them when they got home. They only got penalized once.

I recently asked a football lad why his team didn't win any more games. He didn't know. Finally I insisted that the coach claimed was the trouble. "He is on the job," I said, "and an expert. What does he say? Are you too small, or not fast enough, or what?" The boy replied, laughing, "The coach says we're yaller."

A father of a local football lad was glad the season is over. He was trying to cut wood and wanted his boy to help after school but getting home at seven was too late to help. I was wondering if the lad would cut wood with the same gusto and in the same dazed of getting hurt as he played football. Yes, I'm a wonderer.

Football is a wonderful game. There is no sport that I know where every member of the team has to do his part like football. It requires universal team work all

WASHINGTON LETTER

Financing New Farm Bill Adds to Worries of Special Session

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The fight in Congress over the new farm bill is on. But agriculture officials here do not expect any final action on farm legislation until the regular session which will follow the current or special session. They believe Congress is willing to give the country a new farm law, but that there will be debate and delay before a decision is reached on the point of how the cost of farm legislation shall be met.

When the Senate bill reached the floor, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan Republican, pointed to the section on appropriations which reads in part: "Beginning with the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1938 there is hereby authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year for the administration of this Act and for the making of Soil Conservation Act payments and parity payments under this Act such sums as are necessary."

Senator Vandenberg protested that the bill as presented to the Senate does not specify how much money is needed or for what purpose it is to be used. Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, amused his colleagues more than informed them with his answer "Well, I don't know what the new farm program will cost. It will be on a sort of sliding scale."

Whatever is finally agreed upon as a fair estimate of the cost of the new farm legislation, there will be much difference of opinion over whether it should be paid for by processing taxes or by a general sales tax. Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture Committee is in favor of a processing tax while Chairman Ellison D. Smith of the Senate Agriculture Committee is opposed to this method. It is fairly representative of congressional sentiment on the question that one of the secret votes taken in the House Agriculture Committee to decide whether a processing tax on wheat should be recommended was 14 to 8 against that measure.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and agriculture officials believe a processing tax is the way out. With the assurance that there will be $500,000,000 to spend on the farm program and the fore-knowledge that it will cost from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 more to complete the program, they reason that a processing tax would raise the necessary funds by building up the consumer-price of commodities for which the market price is low.

To objections that this is unfair to the consumer their answer is that any price increase is a tax on the consumer but that it is better for the consumer in the end to be required to pay 1/2 cent more for a loaf of bread because a processing tax on wheat had been imposed, than to pay a sales tax of 1 cent more for every loaf of bread. This widespread tax on sales they insist boosts the price of farm products and manufactured articles alike, and in many cases increases prices which are already unreasonably high.

There is provision in the Senate bill for payments to farmers who cooperate in soil conservation programs, and its authors claim for the law that it will provide an adequate and balanced flow of cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice in interstate and foreign commerce. The methods suggested for achieving that end so closely resemble those employed in the outlawed Agricultural Adjustment Act that the question of its constitutionality is certain to be brought up frequently in the fight ahead.

Lloyd Wheeler was in town visiting the other day from his new home in Illinois and he says he is getting along there and has a crop. He said when I made my trip to South Bend, Ind., last year with Frank Schudel I drove by his place and if I had stopped he would have paid up his subscription to the Quiz. I'll surely stop next time and have dinner too.

In looking over a Holstein steer I am fattening to butcher by and by, Bill Schudel said that breed would fatten as good as any. The only trouble is that the good cuts aren't there. They are somewhere else. Well, now. Can you figure that out?

For some elective office at school, my son Dick told his sister that he hoped so-and-so would be denominated.

The Thanksgiving party at the Clyde Baker home consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Baker and Sylvia, Mr. and Mrs. Rogan Benson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Don Fisher and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Collins, Lowell Jones, Kenneth Egloff and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Cummins and family.

Christians Promised Rest

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 5. Text: Matthew 11:28-30; Hebrews 4:1-11.

PROFESSED leaders and masters of the world have made glittering offers to their followers, but only Jesus has promised rest to the heavy laden.

Monarchs and military leaders have offered men glory, and they have found the response of millions who would suffer and die for an intrepid and attractive leader.

Masters and demagogues of finance have offered the allurements of wealth; and they too have found a response from the masses who too trustfully have yielded themselves to be shorn of what they had.

North Loup News

A. L. Crandall

Alpha Lathier Crandall was born at Milton, Wis., on December 1, 1851 and passed away at Omaha, Nebr., November 24, 1937 at the age of 85 years, 11 months and 24 days. He was the oldest son of Horace H. and Mary Boonhour Crandall and was a direct descendant of Elder John Crandall who came to the colonies in 1630 and played a prominent part in early church history.

When Mr. Crandall was still a boy the family moved to Farina, Ill. which was his home until he came to Valley county in the fall of 1878 and identified himself with the Seventh Day Baptist colony. Soon after settling here he took a homestead in Mira Valley.

He was married to Miss Genia Rood on May 22, 1882. To them were born four children, Ora, Mrs. P. E. Clement of Omaha; Paul R. of Battle Creek, Mich.; Mary Hazel, Mrs. J. L. Stewart of Omaha; and Horace Charles of Curtis, Nebr. He is survived by all of these, ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

As a young man he was baptized into the membership of the Seventh Day Baptist church. In the fall of 1892 he moved his family to the vicinity of North Loup and his home has been in or near the village since then until in April 1937 when his falling health made it advisable to care for him in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Stewart in Omaha.

Mr. Crandall was possessed of a genial nature and a quick wit which made him friends wherever he went. He had a sound and wholesome philosophy and a wealth of wisdom which carried him thru the vicissitudes of his long life, unworried and happy. His beautiful acceptance of what he felt was his last illness and his uncomplaining patience during the months of his helplessness were as a benediction to those who are left to carry on. "He is not dead, but sleeping."

His body was brought to North Loup where farewell services were conducted from the Seventh Day Baptist church by Rev. Mearl Smith of Ord and burial made in Hillside cemetery. Music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Sterling Manchester, Delmar Van Horn, Albert Babcock and Russell Barber. Pallbearers were J. A. Barber, L. L. Lewis, Melvin Williams, Mills Hill, H. H. Thorngate and Henry Williams. Funeral service was in charge of N. J. Keating.

Celebrates 88th Birthday

A family gathering honoring the 88th birthday of Mrs. Emma Thomas was held at her home Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thomas, Carol and Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Van Creager and two girls, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dutcher and two boys and Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Ingerson and three children present. A large birthday cake baked by her daughter Maud, properly decorated with candles, was shared by all. The two little Ingerson girls, Sylvia and Judy sang, Happy Birthday to You, to their great grandmother.

Born in the village of Road, Lamerset Shter, England, Emma Rodaway Thomas came to America at the age of eleven years, just at the beginning of the Civil war. Her father had preceded the family and had a home ready in Columbia county, Wis., where they lived for six years. In 1867 they moved to Nebraska settling near Nebraska City where Mrs. Thomas attended school and later taught for three terms. She, as well as her brothers and sisters, gave their earnings to their father to help build the new frame house on their homestead twenty miles from Nebraska City.

In 1870 she married V. J. Thomas who had a homestead near her fathers. Here they lived most of the time till 1883-54 years ago when they moved to Valley county settling on the farm near the 42 schoolhouse which they still own. Since 1916 they have lived in North Loup. Mr. Thomas died several years ago. Mrs. Thomas enjoys very good health for one of her age and take much comfort with her grandchildren and great grandchildren. Her chief pastime is making braided rugs, she being much better at it than many who have their eyesight. Her daughter Maud lives with her and cares for her faithfully. She has had eight children, four of whom are dead, twenty-one grandchildren and thirty-six great grandchildren. Of her father's large family only Mrs. Thomas and her youngest brother are left.

Dr. Chancey Hager Writes From Denver

This week the Quiz is in receipt of a letter from Dr. Chancey A. Hager, who is opening an office at 707 Republic building, Denver, Colo., on Dec. 1. He plans to practice medicine and surgery, giving special attention to gopher surgery. Ord friends have watched the doctor's advance in his chosen work with special interest, and his class and schoolmates here in Ord are glad to know that he is now located in an office and a practice of his own.

Dr. Hager graduated from the University College of Medicine in 1933. This was followed by one year rotating internship at Jersey City, N. J. He then had two years of surgery at Bellevue Hospital in New York City, being house surgeon the second year. From there he went to the Labeys Clinic in Boston where he was a surgeon for 1 1/2 years.

Mrs. Margaret Kurtzmann, who died in the Norfolk state hospital Thanksgiving day at the age of 92 years, left as her entire estate a large painting entitled "Christ Bearing the Cross" which she and also her husband before his death claimed was a genuine Raphael.

Since she was committed to the hospital in 1904 the painting has hung in the district court clerk's office at Blair. Kurtzmann's principal confidant was L. C. Eller, former county judge. He told Eller his wife had belonged to royalty in Germany and that they had eloped, with the bridegroom carrying the prized painting on his back. Mrs. Kurtzmann told that the painting had been acquired in the 17th century by her ancestors. The above story is of special interest to Ord people because of the fact that C. M. Hitchman of Ord was appointed guardian for Mrs. Kurtzmann.

ANNOUNCEMENT

TO MY FRIENDS:

I have sold my business to Hilding O. Pearson and Wilmer M. Anderson of Wahoo, Nebraska who are my pick of the score of men who have tried to purchase my business. When you see them you will agree with me that they are two fine young gentlemen and from all records of their past I know they are well qualified to succeed me in this work.

However, altho' I have sold out, still I shall retain and conduct the business until January 1, 1938 at which time possession will be given my successors.

Permit me to pause here a moment to tell you how I have appreciated all the fine things you have said about my work and the confidence you placed in my ability to help when trouble over-whelmed you and the future seemed so dark. Each year the ever widening territory where my professional services are called for proves one thing to me—that as time marches on your faith in me has not faltered and it is with a saddened heart that I break the bonds of friendship that have cemented us together these many years. I shall indeed miss all of your friendly greetings.

The young men who follow in my footsteps on January 1st, I sincerely believe are fully as capable as I to carry on my work to help lift the load that must inevitably come to some. I trust that when this unhappy hour arrives that you give them the same consideration you have extended me.

While most of you associate me with sorrow, still I hope you remember me as one who, while mingled in your sorrow, only wished for your happiness over-flowing. And as the Yuletide approaches may your hearts be cheerful with a feeling that all the unpleasant things and times have passed and only the good shall come to you in the future.

A Letter From Santa Claus:

North Pole
November 27, 1937.

Hello every little Boy and Girl:

I have been thinking of you for nearly a year and wondering what kind of children you have been and if you have helped mother and father and if you have been kind and gentle to every one since last Christmas.

Not long ago I flew over your homes and watched some of you on your way to school and you were so sweet to one another that I knew you were the same nice children I gave presents to last Christmas so I have decided to come and bring you presents and good things to eat again this year.

I want every little boy and girl who reads this letter to tell about it to their little sisters and brothers and little friends who do not read yet, and find out what they want for Christmas, then I want those who read it to write to me telling what these little folks want and also say what they want for themselves, so I will not have to think so hard. Address your letter or card to "SANTA CLAUS", Ord, Nebraska and I will try to answer every one personally.

It has been so cold here at the North Pole and there has been so much snow that my reindeer "Blixen" is awfully sick now. All the others are well and just prancing around my house waiting for the day when I start on my journey to deliver presents to all the little children everywhere. But I am not sure "Blixen" will be well enough to drive and if he isn't I don't know just how I will come. If any of you know what to do to help Blixen get well be sure to write and tell me in your letter.

Well, this is all for this time but I will write another letter next week and you can read it in the Quiz and tell me more about my visit to Ord. Be sure to write.

Good bye,
SANTA CLAUS

BURWELL NEWS

Crouch-Langstrom.
A very quiet and impressive wedding ceremony took place last Thursday morning at ten o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Langstrom when their daughter Dorothy Bess became the bride of Arthur Donald Crouch of Omaha. Mrs. Elsie Hansen sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Francis Thomas. On the arm of her father the bride entered to the strains of the wedding procession played by Mrs. Thomas. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. John R. Hansen of Council Bluffs, Ia., as bridesmaid and the groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Chas. Crouch of Lincoln. Rev. J. Bruce Wylie, minister of the Methodist church read the lines of a simple ring ceremony which united the young couple. The bride was beautifully attired in a brown ensemble with white corsage and the bridesmaid wore a gown of black and white with a pink corsage. The groom and best man wore the conventional blue with white boutonnieres. After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room with Miss Ruth Langstrom, sister of the bride, at the punch bowl. The bride cut the three tier wedding cake which was beautifully decorated in pink and white. Out of town guests were Mr. Charles Crouch of Lincoln, Mrs. A. Anderson and son Harry and Miss Harriet Wallski of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. G. Mahon, Mr. and Mrs. James Stoddard and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hansen of Council Bluffs, Ia. She appeared in a dress of dupion enchantment velvet, made with a shirred bodice, caught at the neckline with a medallion of seed pearls. The long sleeves formed points over the hands, and the floor length skirt made with a slight train. The finger tip veil of illusion net was circular style caught into a wreath of peonies and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white roses and swansonia. Serving as maid of honor was Miss Doris Weller of Los Angeles, sister of the bride, who wore a dress of Wallis blue, made floor length, with puffed sleeves and shirred bodice. Her arm bouquet was of Ophelia roses. Hugh S. Hallett, of Lincoln, served as best man.

box and attorneys began examining them. County Attorney Lee handling the questions for the state and E. L. Vogeltanz for the defense.

Early in the day two men were excused when they admitted having formed opinions in the case. Said Val Pullen, of Ord: "I believe the man is guilty and will continue to do so until he is proven innocent." Joe Lela, who also admitted having formed an opinion, was the second man excused from service. Their places in the box were taken by Fred Hunt and Otto Graul.

Among questions asked by County Attorney Lee of all the men he examined were: Where do you live? Are you a voter? How old are you? Married? Any children? Have you served on a district court jury in the past two years? Do you have a suit pending in this court? Are you related to this defendant, by marriage or otherwise? Have you acquainted with the defendant? Have you heard about the case, or read about it? If so, where? Have you formed an opinion? In making a final decision would you follow the court ruling or your own personal opinion?

Before noon it became apparent that it would be impossible to secure a jury from the group of 23 called originally, seven of whom had already been eliminated before defense examination started, and Judge Kroger directed that 15 talesmen be called. Since both Sheriff George Round and Deputy Sheriff Cohen were material witnesses and therefore ineligible to call the jurors, County Clerk Ign. Klima, jr., was designated acting sheriff and directed to summon the new venire.

Men summoned by Klima who reported immediately after the adjournment were Jess Marvel, Paul Duemev, John W. Vodehnal, Roy Williams, Jack VanSlyke, Joe Rohla, Bryan Portis, Anton Radli, Wm. Treptow, Steve Kapuska, Ray Hill, Edw. Waldmann, Harvey Hohman, Hansen and Herman Timmerman.

Of these Paul Duemev was released because he is a volunteer fireman, Bryan Portis because his home is in Greeley county and Stanley Swanek failed to appear as ordered.

Questioning of members of the original panel by the defense started and soon five more men had been dismissed for prejudice, or having formed opinions, these being Henry Desmull, Walter Noll, Frank Blaha, Clare Clement and Jess Marvel.

At this stage County Attorney Lee made his announcement that the prosecution would not seek the death penalty for Lee should a jury find him guilty but would move for life imprisonment.

Throughout his examinations Defense Attorney Vogeltanz asked a series of prepared questions seeking to discover if the men might permit their opinions to be influenced by the fact that his client is of mature years while Gall Hiner was only 14 years old; if any had ever expressed opinions of the case; if any are acquainted with Arlie Worm or Melvin Moore, young companions of the Hiner boy on the night he was shot; if any knew Gall Hiner. Each talesman questioned was asked if he felt his mind to be in the condition that he would wish a juror's mind to be in should he be faced with a murder charge.

At close of the afternoon session the defense used four of its twelve peremptory challenges to eliminate from the jury Adam Bartusiak, Jake Osentowski, James Wachtrle and Ed Lee.

When the Monday session closed men in the jury box were Otto Graul, Fred Hunt, Adolph Kokes, Halsey Schultz, D. W. Nordstrom, Chas. Sobon, John S. Vodehnal, Frank Zulkoski, Merrill Anderson, Edward Nelson and Roy Williams. A few talesmen had not been questioned.

At 9:30 Tuesday morning court again convened and work of getting a jury satisfactory to both prosecution and defense was continued. During the session Ray Hill and John W. Vodehnal were excused for cause and three, Otto Graul, Jack VanSlyke and Frank Zulkoski on direct challenge, the places of these three being taken by Ed Waldmann, Steve Kapuska and Harvey Hohn. Joe Rohla was dismissed for prejudice, Anton Radli, Wm. Treptow and Halsey Schultz upon peremptory challenge.

Court was dismissed a half hour early, at 11:30, and Judge Kroger instructed that another group of 15 talesmen be called by Klima. A dispute ensued with the defense objecting to the method of picking the talesmen but the judge overruled the objection.

Promptly at 1:30 court again convened, County Clerk Klima having succeeded in summoning a group of new talesmen. Among them were Frank Johnson, Dave Arnold, John Nelson, Anton Adamak, Claris Bellingier, M. F. Kosmata, J. G. Ginzski, Frank McDermott, Joe Skoll, Martin Wiegardt, Stanley Swanek, Leonard Parks, Wilbur Holmes, Wm. Stino and John Wozab, jr.

From this new group five were promptly dismissed when they revealed having formed opinions, the five being Leonard Parks, Frank McDermott, Dave Arnold, Martin Wiegardt and Wilbur Holmes.

Eliminated by peremptory challenge were Herman Timmerman,

R. Williams, Leo Hansen, Steve Kapuska, Frank Johnson, Ray Hill, Adolph Kokes, Claris Bellingier and Ed Waldmann, and Judge Kroger excused Wm. Stino because he is hard of hearing.

These eliminations left ten jurors already selected as satisfactory to both sides and Judge Kroger directed at five o'clock that a new venire of five men be called. These included Vere Leonard, Harry Bresley, Wes Eberhart, Edw. Davis and Ray Pester. Bresley and Kosmata upon challenge, and upon the acceptance of Leonard and Eberhart the jury was announced as complete. Neither Davis nor Pester was called for questioning.

Before adjourning the afternoon session Judge Kroger swore in the jury and each was warned not to discuss the case or listen to any "advice" that might be given by outsiders while they are serving on the jury.

Six of the original 24 men called Monday were chosen on the final jury while the other six jurors were selected from the 34 talesmen summoned during the proceedings. Jurors will not elect a foreman until all the evidence has been given and they are ready to begin to make their decision. Bailiff of the court is A. J. Cook.

Meat PRICES ARE DOWN

• We are pleased to advise our friends and customers that recent drastic reduction in the market price of livestock, particularly of hogs, is being reflected in the prices we are able to quote on fresh meats. For instance pork chops for which we had to get 35c per pound not very long ago are now quoted at 23c per pound. All other pork products are correspondingly lower. There also has been a nice drop in beef prices.

• It is our aim, always, to sell you meats at the lowest price quality meats can be sold at, and these reductions will make it possible to EAT MORE MEAT than you would otherwise have been able to do.

Brockman Gridsters Collect Third Football Crown; Defeat Brownies, 6-0

One of Largest Crowds in Loup Valley Sport History Gazes On As Brockman Crew Downs Loup City Squad; Complete Undeclared Football Season.

Two football championships—the Mid Six and Loup Valley—were awarded to Coach Helmut Brockman and his mighty Ord Chanticleer football eleven as they trod over Loup City 6 to 0 last Thursday. Approximately 2000 sport fans from every section of the Loup Valley region looked on as the Chanticleers chalked up their victory over the heavy Loup City team. It was the third straight year that the Ordsters have seized the Loup Valley title and the second consecutive time that they have secured Mid Six honors.

Injuries On Both Teams.

It was a battle to the finish—this game between the two top contenders for Loup Valley and Mid Six conference football honors. Both teams did their best to win; by hook or crook.

Both teams were beset by injuries. Loup City had several valuable men who were injured and should have been sitting on the sidelines instead of playing. The entire Ord backfield as well as several linemen were unable to give creditable accounts of themselves because of injuries. Barnes, Ord back, received a head injury early in the first quarter which left him groggy for the remainder of the game.

Loup City Threatened.

Loup City's squad made their most formidable attack in the first period of the contest. Their opportunity came when they recovered an Ord fumble on the Ord 25 yard line. From this point they moved down to the 10 yard marker.

It seemed certain at this time that the Loupers were about ready to break the unscored-on record which had been built up by the Chanticleers. Ord took time out at this critical moment when Barnes collapsed on the field because of a head injury received on the preceding play.

Whether the time out had anything to do with it or not, the Ord defensive began to click at this point and the Loup City crew was held in check on the 10 yard line.

Aerial Attack Works.
In the second quarter the Ordsters had the wind to their backs and they were able to get back some of the yardage they had lost because of punting in the initial quarter.

Ord's first break came early in the second stanza when they recovered a Loup fumble on the Brownie's 40 yard stripe. Barnes gained valuable yardage with his line plunging. As the Ordsters moved closer to scoring territory they opened up an aerial attack which left the Loupers standing aghast. The scoring thrust was made when eagle-eyed Tunnlicliff tossed a soaring 20 yard pass into the waiting arms of Allan Zikmund, alert end, who slipped the ball in to pay dirt.

Opportunity Cut Short.
Ord would have scored again in the second period but the opportunity was cut short by the half whistle. The opportunity offered itself when Golus, Loup quarter, fumbled an Ord punt and it was recovered by an Ord player. As the Chanticleers prepared to push forward from the 10 yard line for a touchdown, their hopes were sent shattering by the whistle which ended the first half.

Play at Standstill.
Most of the third quarter was played in mid-field neither team being able to gain against the other's defensive. Cetak and Zulkoski were the bright spots of the Ord attack in this quarter, both of the boys turning in brilliant performances. A punting duel was taken up between the two teams with Loup City getting the better end of the fight.

Play Gets Rough.
As the close of the game drew nearer and nearer, play got rougher and rougher. If referees had implied penalties for each bit of undue roughness which they saw, the game would probably have ended sometime in the night.

In this quarter the Loup offensive seemed right on the verge of clicking but was brought to an immature death as the Ord defensive tightened down. Barnes again exhibited some fine work in this final quarter, behind some fine blocking done by the line and his fellow backfield members. Twice in this period, Ord men got off on touchdown fumbles which were both shattered by the referee.

Superior Ord Line.
Despite the fact that the Loup line held about a 20 pound per man weight advantage it must be said that the Chanticleer forward wall did superior playing. Tatlow, "iron man" of the Ord team, exhibited some beautiful blocking as did Ernest James, stellar tackle. Hughes was poison of super strength for the Brownies, on offensive as well as defensive. Hitchman and Keown took turns at playing one of the end positions, both doing fine work. Zikmund was a pass-snagging "son-of-a-gun". Everett Williams held down his position in a very enviable manner.

—Try a Quiz Want Ad. They get results.

This talented group of Ord football players ended their high school playing careers last Thursday in the final game of the season with Loup City. Barnes, Zulkoski, Hughes, Tunnlicliff, and Cetak have all made enviable records during their four years of participation in the sports program offered by the Ord school. Several of the boys shown in this group have lettered in all four years of their attendance at the local school.

Biggest Grid Crowd In Ord History at Turkey Day Clash

Gate receipts of about $310 at the Ord-Loup City clash here on Thanksgiving day are reported by C. O. Thompson, superintendent of schools, which shows that the crowd was the greatest ever present at a football game in Ord. Previous high receipts reached a total of only $150. A large delegation came from Loup City and other towns, as winner of this game would be crowned champion in both the Mid Six and Loup Valley conferences.

Twenty-six Games Without a Defeat Is Ord's Record

Ord Teams Amass 514 Points To Opponents 12; Best Record In State.

As the Ord football eleven closed the 1937 Ord high football schedule with a 6 to 0 verdict over Loup City, they completed a record for a high school team which is not equalled in the State of Nebraska at the present time. For three years Chanticleer football teams, under the expert direction of Coach Helmut Brockman, have marched forward without a single loss to mar their record. Twenty-six wins in a row—that's something worth bragging about!

Vincent Plays With Brownies

Of interest to Ord fans was the playing dope by Don Vincent, former Ord boy, on the Loup City team. Vincent played left guard on the Brownie squad and although he was the lightest man on the Loup line, he made a fine showing. Don was out for football at Ord early this year but was ineligible to play with the Ord team because his parents lived in Loup City.

Ord Chanticleers Listed Among Ten Leaders in State

Listed, among the ten leading teams in Nebraska in the World-Herald Sunday were the Ord Chanticleers, coached by Coach H. P. Brockman. Mythical state championship honors were divided by the World-Herald between Lincoln Central and Scottsbluff, and the eight other teams given credit as leaders were Curtis Aggles, Fremont, Omaha Central, Falls City Superior, Grand Island, Ord and Omaha Benson.

While not convinced that any high school team in Nebraska should be rated above the Chanticleers, Ord people naturally are pleased at this recognition given. Since post-season games among prep schools were banned in Nebraska the actual champion cannot be decided and Ord people will continue to think of the 1937 Chanticleers as state champs.

Nebraska Clinches Big 6 Grid Title

From the 23 yard line in the closing seconds of the first half, a place kick boomed off the educated toe of Lowell English, Cornhusker guard, and went squarely between the goal posts, the three points thus accomplished being Nebraska's margin of victory over the Kansas State team at Manhattan Saturday. This 3 to 0 win clinched the Big 6 title for Nebraska. The game was played on a snow-covered field and was witnessed by only 6,000 fans.

Arcadia Gridsters Complete Highly Successful Season

Although beset by injuries which hampered their progress all season, Coach Tuning and his Arcadia football eleven have never-the-less completed a successful season—an old tradition with Arcadia football teams.

Cetak Plunges for Nice Gain as Brockman Clan Downs Loup City, 6 to 0

It was in the second quarter that the Ordsters "got that old feeling" and really began to "click." This was the start of a sixty yard march down the field which resulted in touchdown on a beautiful pass from Tunnlicliff, quarter, to Zikmund, end. Note the fine blocking exhibited in this picture on the parts of Zulkoski and Tunnlicliff. Tatlow may be seen as he came through to aid in clearing the path for Cetak.

other step in the direction of the top rung of the Mid Six conference. It was a cold, gloomy night as the black-clad Ord team went out to meet Burwell in the fifth game of the season on the Ord gridiron. The team had grown sluggish after two weeks of idleness and as a result they won out over Burwell Wranglers by the not-too-impressive score of 8 to 0.

Ravenna was set to give the Ordites a drubbing as the Ord eleven met the Ravenna crew in the third Mid Six game of the season under the lights at Ravenna. As the smoke cleared off the field, Ravenna fans were to be seen weeping as they read the final score of Ord 26, Ravenna 0.

Next came Central City, a non-conference opponent and a team which was out to crack the undefeated record which the Ordsters were boasting. Their attempts to win over the Chanticleers were futile however, as Ord won, 7 to 0. Arcadia always had given the Ord team a hard fight in the past but in the 1937 fray they wilted in short order before a superior Ord offensive. Coach Tuning's men faded out of sight on the wrong end of a 23 to 0 score.

Much trouble was expected from the Sargent team and although they put up a good fight they were unable to stop the Ord eleven as they plowed through for a 13 to 0 win over the Sargent lads.

Loup Valley sport followers had long looked forward to the final game on the Ord schedule—Loup City. Could the Brownies stop the winning streak of the Ord football machine? Coach Brown's men tried hard enough, but they played a losing battle as they lost, 6 to 0.

Noyes Stars But N. L. Team Loses 20-0 To Tigers

By H. E. H. (Scotia Register)
Scotia—(Special)—Scoring a 20 to 0 win over North Loup here Thursday afternoon the Tigers continue to reign supreme in the annual Turkey Day classic between the two schools. A good sized crowd witnessed Scotia register its first Loup Valley conference triumph this year.

"Lady Luck" greatly aided Scotia in chalking up its first touchdown. In the middle of the opening period the Tigers took the ball on the North Loup 45, and in four plays advanced to the 13 yard line. A pass into the end zone was batted into the air by two players and landed in the arms of Clarence Hansen. A line play added the extra point.

After tallying six consecutive first downs North Loup's offense bogged down, one yard short of a touchdown. The Tigers advanced the oval from the Scotia 35 to the North Loup 8 in the third period. The 65-yard march culminated in a touchdown as Farrell plunged over from the two-yard stripe. Tuma added the extra point.

Scotia's final touchdown came shortly after when Noyes fumbled the kickoff and the Tigers recovered the oval on the yard mark. Murphy plowed through the line for the necessary margin. Capt. Bredthauer's attempted drop kick was wide.

In the final period a determined North Loup eleven, on a 63-yard sustained drive, pushed the Tigers back to the three-yard line before they were halted. Scotia's aerial attack in the closing moments of the game was stopped on the North Loup 11 by the battling Loup team. Capt. Dean Bredthauer tackled on the Scotia eleven, and Laverne Noyes, North Loup's fullback, were the outstanding performers. Six North Loup players and nine Tigers closed their high school grid careers in Thursday's contest.

being a resident of Greeley county and a Civil war veteran. When Lee was only a small boy his parents separated, a brother caring for him for some time. It was not until he was 30 years of age that he settled down and began to farm. He became married and three children were born, two of whom are living today. In the past few years Lee has made his living by working on a federal relief project and selling the produce from his two or three acre farm.

One statement made by the defense created a ripple of excitement in the court room when it was stated that "Lee shot low, with no intent of hitting anybody." The defense also claimed that the three boys, Arlie Worm, Melvin Moore and Gail Hiner were in the act of taking melons when shot at by Lee. Later the Moore boy admitted their intent of taking melons upon the witness stand.

First witness called to the stand was Melvin Moore, 15, sometimes known as Melvin Holt. Upon questioning by Lee, Moore said he carried a .22 rifle on the hunting expedition and that there were no other firearms in the group. Only one shot was fired according to Moore, this being at what they thought was a rabbit but it turned out to be a stump. This shot was fired in the opposite direction from the Lee farm. Moore stated that he and Hiner accompanied Worm to the Lee melon patch, although they were not too anxious about doing so.

As they were going through the patch two shots were fired. Moore, who was in the lead turned around to find Hiner sinking to the ground crying, "I'm hit! I'm hit!" Hiner was assisted out of the patch by Worm and Moore, as his strength was going rapidly. He kept complaining about a terrible stinging in his back, thinking that he had been shot with a shotgun loaded with salt. The three boys went down the river for a short distance, to the Ulrich sandpits, and there removed their clothes and crossed the river. Nearly all the strength had been sapped out of Hiner in getting to the river side. After getting across the river, the three boys started for the Keller home, meeting Arthur Carlson and Harvey Dahlin on the way. These two boys aided in getting Hiner to the Keller residence where Dr. F. A. Barta was immediately called.

Melvin Moore admitted that he had made a trip to the Leo melon patch before, about a month and a half earlier. Upon cross-examination by Att. Davis, Moore stated that he did not see any of the boys attempt to pick up melons; he also said that he did not see any melons in the patch.

Arlie Worm was also called to the witness stand and gave a story much like the one given by Moore. He did not know he was hit until he had reached the river side and was ready to cross.

The two boys were the only witnesses called this morning but this afternoon several more are expected to give their testimony. Dr. C. J. Miller, Dr. F. A. Barta, Orville Sowl, the officers who arrested Lee and probably J. C. Whinnery, a ballistics expert from the Omaha police force.

Lee Given Ten Year Prison Sentence

Ord Jury Finds Ralph Manchester Guilty of Felony

Threw Knife at North Loup Marshal, Is Charged; Will Be Sentenced Monday.

After deliberating on the Ralph "Toughy" Manchester case far into the night, a district court jury returned to the courtroom in the wee hours of Tuesday morning with the verdict of "guilty."

"Toughy" will appear before Judge Kroger next Monday morning, Dec. 13, when sentence will be passed upon him. The usual penalty for a felony is 1 to 5 years in prison, but because Manchester has served time in the state penitentiary before, his sentence this time may be heavier than usual.

Charge to which young Manchester had pleaded not guilty was "assault with intent to do great bodily harm."

Court was called to order Monday morning and the case moved along rapidly the entire day. It took only 45 minutes to empanel a jury, the jurors being: Val Pullen, Fred Hunt, Chas. Sobon, A. J. Kokes, W. C. H. Noll, John Vodehnal, Edw. Nelson, Otto Graul, Henry Desmul, James Wachrie, Frank Blaha and Clarence Clement.

Four witnesses were called to the stand by the county attorney, Alvin Lee, all of whom told about various threats Manchester had made to people, including his own mother, within the past few weeks. Witnesses were James Coleman, Mrs. Elsie Manchester, Wayne Manchester and Mrs. Anna Drawbridge.

Mrs. Elsie Manchester, "Toughy's" mother, took the stand and said that her son had several times threatened to "lash her throat." On one occasion she told him that she was going to call his father and Manchester declared that, "if you do, you'll never live to tell about it."

Marshal James Coleman's story of the affair was that a report had come to him that there was trouble at the Manchester home in North Loup and that "Toughy" was the big cause of the trouble. He went to investigate. Upon arrival at the Manchester residence, he knocked on the door and quietly said, "Come on out, Ralph, I want to speak to you." Ralph answered, "Just a minute."

Luckily for Coleman, just as the door opened he stepped back a foot or so. Manchester had picked up a deadly-looking butcher knife from the table inside and upon opening the door he threw the 14-inch bladed missile through the screen door at the officer.

Coleman immediately went into action, overpowered Manchester, and brought him to Ord where he has been in jail since the event occurred on Friday, Nov. 5.

Manchester himself was the only witness to go on the stand for the defense. A Willoughby was summoned by the defense as a witness but upon questioning it was found that he knew nothing about the case and therefore was not put upon the stand.

Ralph W. Norman was assigned by Judge Kroger as lawyer for the defendant. In his plea Norman painted the picture of the life that Manchester has lead since birth, saying that the boy never had a decent chance.

It was in December, 1935, that Manchester was arraigned before the county court for removing mortgaged property. Pleading not guilty in county court he was brought up for trial in district court and was sent to the state penitentiary at Lincoln for a 1 to 2 year term by Judge E. P. Clements. This was the only time he served in the state prison although he has "laid out" sentences in the county jail several times and also spent some time in the boys' industrial school at Kearney.

Father Gils Here. During the absence of Father M. A. Lawler on his trip to Pennsylvania, his place in Ord has been supplied by Father Gils of the Hastings diocese. He conducted the services Sunday, and is also conducting the special services at the church today. He expects to leave for home tomorrow and Father Lawler is expected back from his trip Friday.

Evelyn Sharp To Aid Santa Claus

Miss Evelyn Sharp, Ord's young aviatrix, will play helper to Santa Claus this year by flying him in her plane to various towns in the Loup Valley sector where Santa will distribute candy and toy airplanes.

Evelyn's Taylor Cub plane is rather small for this type of work so she plans to rent a 5-place Stinson from the Norfolk airport. This will allow her to carry Santa and two or three hundred pounds of candy and toys with ease.

At the present time three towns are negotiating strongly for this service and several others have expressed their interest in the matter.

Mercury Dips To -6, Coldest of Season

Coldest temperature of the winter was registered this morning, when unofficial thermometers gave it as 6 degrees below the zero mark. It was the first minus reading of the fall. A light snow fell Monday night but the weather has been generally clear for several days. Forecast is for a continuation of the sub-normal temperatures.

Rotary Club Has 100% Attendance

First 100% meeting had by the Ord Rotary club in almost 1 1/2 years occurred Monday evening, when all members except Clarence M. Davis and Dr. George A. Parkins were present and these two made up their attendance in Lincoln. E. L. Vogeltanz president, announced his pleasure at this fine record and urged Rotarians to be present 100 per cent of time during coming months.

Roy Randolph, engineer in charge of highway maintenance in this district, was the speaker Monday. He succeeds R. N. McAllister, who was transferred to the Grand Island district about October 15 after living in Ord several years.

Snow removal is his department's biggest winter maintenance problem, said Mr. Randolph, costing $134,000 in the state last winter and $275,000 the previous winter. This fall four new rotary snowplows on 7 ton trucks were bought and put in service to augment four already owned. Nearest rotary plow is at Grand Island. Nearest v-type plow, which are mounted on 4-1/2 ton trucks, is at Ashton, and will be used to keep No. 16 open to Midway and No. 11 to Ord. A new pneumatic-tired road maintainer has been stationed at Ord since his arrival, speeding up local maintenance materially, said Mr. Randolph.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Costello, of Ewing, were Sunday visitors at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Barta.

Farm Experts Will Speak, Prizes, Free Pancakes, Dec. 14-15

Fine Program Arranged for Ord Farmers Fair; Women to Be Guests at Matinee.

Entertainment and free feeds, valuable prizes and events of special interest to women, as well as several speeches by nationally known farm authorities will feature the free "farmers' days" which take place Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 14 and 15, at the Bohemian hall in Ord. All farmers, not only those from Valley county but from surrounding territory as well, are invited to be Ord's guests on those days.

The "farmers' fair" is sponsored by the Ord chamber of commerce and the Valley county farm bureau, cooperating, and C. C. Dale, county agricultural agent, is general chairman in charge. A chamber of commerce committee composed of E. S. Murray and F. E. McQuillan reports donations of over $100 by Ord business men to pay expenses in connection with the 2-day program.

Everything will be free to farmers and their wives both days; no attempt will be made to sell anything and nobody will be asked to spend a penny.

Speakers will include C. W. Watkins, extension forester from the college of agriculture, whose topic is "Tree Planting As an Aid to Erosion Control and Moisture Conservation"; Elvin Frolk, extension agronomist, who speaks on "Grain Sorghums for Central Nebraska," whose talk will be followed by a discussion lead by Charles Velaba; Walter Tolman, extension agent in animal husbandry, whose topic is "Feeding Grain Sorghums," and Ben W. Harrington, of Franklin who will give results of a grain sorghum feeding test being conducted there. F. E. Mussehl, poultry expert from the college of agriculture, who will talk on "Poultry Problems"; W. H. Schudel, of North Loup, who will discuss "Experiences in Growing Turkeys"; Ivan D. Wood, extension engineer, whose topic is "Soil and Moisture Conservation Practices" followed by a discussion lead by Henry Zikmund; and M. L. Flock, extension dairy specialist, who will talk on "Feeding Milk Cows on Emergency Rations."

All farmers and their wives will be asked to register each morning for the prizes, which include an Avery cream separator given by the Ord Cooperative Creamery, a diamond ring given by Auble Bros., four 25 lb. sacks of early Kalo given by C. C. Dale, and ten 15 lb. sacks of Sooner Milo given by E. S. Murray.

Entertainment features include a showing of his "round-the-world" movies by Dr. Earl Wise, music by a Little German band from Burwell and music by a quartette known as the Farm Hands, composed of Leonard Sobon, Laverne Lakin, LaVern Duemey and Jack Janssen.

From 12:00 noon until 1:30 all farmers and their wives present are invited to be Ord's guests at dinner in the basement of the Masonic hall. Ed Mower and a group of assistants will serve pancakes, syrup and coffee to all visitors, free of charge.

At 1:30 Wednesday afternoon M. Biemond, manager of the Ord Theatre, will be host to all farm women attending the meeting at a matinee, when a splendid feature-length film and several short features will be shown. This is absolutely free to all ladies registered at the "farmers' fair."

This event is Ord's most ambitious attempt to show farmers of this territory a good time and also provide instruction in modern, drought-conditions farming, and every farm family should make an effort to be in Ord for both days. The program will start at 10:00 a. m. daily and continue until 4:00 p. m., closing at this early hour so farmers may get home and get their chores done before dark.

See the complete program elsewhere in this issue and plan now to attend Ord's free "farmers' fair" next Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 14 and 15, at the Bohemian hall.

George Owen's Son Visits After 20 Years. For the past twenty years George J. Owen, sr., had not heard from his son George J. Owen, jr., and was not certain where he lived or even that he was alive. Some time since Marshal L. H. Covert received a letter from George jr., asking about the whereabouts of his father. The marshal answered it telling him to write him at Ord. A few days later George, sr., received a letter from his son, and Saturday he and his wife drove up from their home in Omaha and spent Saturday and Sunday visiting his father. George, sr., says that those two days were one of the brightest spots in his entire life.

Jury Which Heard 2nd Murder Case in County's History

A difficult task faced this jury, which last week had to decide the guilt or innocence of James Lee for the slaying of Gail Hiner and fix the degree of punishment which should be meted out for him. Their task was somewhat simplified when first degree murder charges were dropped, leaving only second degree and manslaughter as possible verdicts. Saturday morning they returned a verdict finding Lee guilty of the crime of manslaughter. Jurymen were, rear row left to right, Harvey Hohn, Wesley Eberhart, J. S. Vodehnal and directly behind him John Wozab, Jr., Charles Sobon, Vere Leonard, Edward Nelson and D. W. Nordstrom. In the front row, left to right, are Merrill Anderson, Fred Hunt, Joe Skoll and John Nelson.

Stand-By Diesel Purchase Talked By City Council

Special Meeting Tuesday Eve 'Resolution of Necessity' Passed Unanimously.

Purchase of a third diesel engine to serve as stand-by equipment in the Ord municipal light plant is under consideration by the city council and Tuesday evening, at a special meeting called for that purpose, Mayor Flagg and councilmen passed a "resolution of necessity" to make legal the purchase of such an engine if suitable opportunity presents.

"This meeting wasn't called for the purpose of buying a new engine," said Mayor Flagg as the meeting opened. "We don't know for sure what we want or where we can buy it. All we want to do tonight is pass this ordinance so we can buy the engine 30 days or 60 days from now if we find one we want."

The plan is to buy a second hand diesel, probably a large one that has seen much service but is in good condition, for $16,000 to $20,000. Mayor Flagg tells the council. A committee has been investigating such diesel equipment several weeks and suitable engines have been located in Texas, in Kansas and in Pennsylvania.

Uncertainty of high-line service under the contract to buy power from the North Loup power and irrigation district is one reason purchase of a stand-by diesel seems necessary, say city officials. Another reason is that the old Skinner steam engine which was used prior to purchase of the two diesels now in service was sold recently to a laundry company in Fort Worth, Tex. Purchase price was $8,000, of which the laundry outfit paid $500 in cash. Balance is to be paid March 1 when the engine is loaded on cars for shipment to Texas.

Irrigation Ditch Breaks Near Longs

A break in the irrigation ditch near the Long farm southeast of Ord became apparent Friday, and diversion of water from Hardenbrook Dam has been suspended until repairs can be made. About 30 cubic yards of dirt will be needed to repair the wash-out. Water flooding from the ditch did little if any damage.

Since headgates were installed at Hardenbrook Dam diversion of water has been carried on, partly to season the Ord-North Loup canal and partly to allow farmers whose land lies adjacent to the ditch to flood some of their fields and thus provide sub-sol moisture for next summer's crops.

No laterals have been built yet but Engineer-Manager E. H. Dunmire is hopeful that the PWA will permit him to advertise within two weeks for bids on turn-outs, or headgates, for the entire canal system.

Ord Basketball Teams Organized

A basketball meeting was held at the Ord Sign Shop Tuesday evening, with a very good attendance of persons interested in starting a town league. Three teams are already planned, with a fourth to be arranged for at a meeting to be held Thursday evening. Those definitely decided upon were: Ord Theater, Bill Tunnicliff, Jr., captain; Safeway team, Jack Tunnicliff, captain; the K. of C. team, with Dr. F. J. Osentowski and Syl Furtak as captains. From these teams a town team will be evolved to play games with teams from neighboring towns. John R. Haskell is secretary of the town team. Arrangements have been made to play in the Ord opera house. At the meeting Thursday a number of details not completed at the first meeting will be considered. Any who wish to play are requested to notify any of the captains or Mr. Haskell.

After several weeks absence from our columns the Burwell Auction company is back this week with a most interesting advertisement which farmers and stockmen especially will want to read.

Relocating No. 11 Doubtful--Price Of Land Unreasonable

So Says State Highway Agent After Week Here; Official Report Sought.

High hopes held by people of the North Loup valley that No. 11 highway might be relocated next spring, so hard surfacing might follow, apparently are shattered by the report which F. W. A. Roehrkasse, a representative of the Nebraska department of roads and irrigation, carried back to Lincoln Tuesday.

Roehrkasse spent a week in Ord viewing the new route proposed and "dickering" with farmers for right-of-way, and Monday told Ign. Kilima, jr., Valley county clerk, that right-of-way cannot be secured at a price the state can afford to pay.

He was especially trying to buy right-of-way between the two railway crossings in Olean neighborhood, federal funds for which are available under the government's grade crossing elimination program.

That the state highway department make an official report of

'38 License Plates Arrived Last Week

The 1938 license plates were received by the county treasurer's office the latter part of last week, but will not go on sale until about Dec. 20. The exact date will be given later. The new plates are identical with those of 1936 with the exception of the year. They are black with aluminum figures. The state has found that these two kinds of paint are the most durable and economical and they will probably be used right along, alternating the colors each year.

Quiz Broadcast Is Creating Interest

The Quiz' fifth weekly broadcast, given out over the Auble Bros. public address system Saturday at 3:00 p. m., excited more interest and comment than any given to date, in spite of the chilly weather. Large crowds stood in every sheltered spot and listened to every word with interest. The full report of the James Lee murder trial, which had been acted upon by the jury early that morning was the special cause of interest. These broadcasts are a regular feature from the Auble public address system every Saturday at 3:00 p. m., and are put on for the benefit of the farmers especially, many of whom have not heard the latest news in local affairs.

'Guilty' Was Verdict Of Jury Saturday In James Lee Case

Slayer of Gail Hiner Given Long Prison Term; Man- slaughter Is Verdict.

James Lee, found guilty of manslaughter Saturday by a district court jury for his "melon patch" slaying of Gail Hiner, 14, Tuesday morning was sentenced to serve ten years in the state penitentiary at Lincoln by Judge E. G. Kroger.

Before pronouncing sentence on Lee, the judge said to him, in part:

"The court feels, under the evidence submitted, that the jury which heard your case would have been justified in finding you guilty of murder in the second degree . . .

"I feel, and I believe you feel now, that all the watermelons in Nebraska are not worth the life of a 14-year-old boy . . .

"The court was not impressed by your defense--neither by your plea of self-defense nor by your plea that you were defending your property . . .

Lee had been instructed to arise and stand before the judge as sentence was pronounced and at one point he interrupted Judge Kroger, his words being all but inaudible to people sitting a few feet away. Apparently he again denied shooting with intent to hit the boys, or to kill them, for Judge Kroger answered him:

"I don't know that you tried to kill these boys whom you saw in your melon patch; I don't believe you did. But I do believe you tried to hit them. The evidence shows, that with all the universe to point your rifle at, you fired two shots and hit two boys. Your actions surely indicate that you were trying to hit them."

In dramatic contrast to the huge crowds that surged through court house corridors and filled the court room throughout Lee's trial last week, only a handful of court house attaches were present at 10:00 Tuesday when Lee received sentence.

First E. L. Vogeltanz, attorney for Lee, filed with Alfred Wiegardt, clerk of the district court, motion for a new trial, citing several alleged errors and irregularities in conduct of last week's trial.

As a basis for asking declaration of a mistrial, Attorney Vogeltanz called Alfred Wiegardt to the stand to testify regarding a disturbance in the court room Friday afternoon when Special Prosecutor George A. Munn was making his final plea to the jury.

Under questioning, Wiegardt related that a man (later identified as William Sevensker) arose in the rear of the room and in a loud voice said: "Let me on the witness stand--I'll tell them plenty."

He further testified that Sevensker was removed from the court room and locked up by the bailiff A. J. Cook, upon order of Judge Kroger.

The prosecution countered with testimony by County Attorney Alvin B. Lee to the effect that he was sitting closer to the jury than was Wiegardt and yet could not distinguish words uttered by Sevensker.

After defense and prosecution had completed their testimony regarding the Sevensker incident, Judge Kroger dictated for the record a statement of the incident. In the opinion of the court, words

Hundreds of loads of fire wood are being sawed and hauled by wagon and truck from the hills north and west of here, many passing our door each day. This is all native timber, mostly ash and elm which has been growing unmolested for the last fifty years but killed by recent years of drought. Fifty years ago when this country was being settled these same canyons yielded timbers for rafters and poles for the erection of soddies as well as fire wood for the early pioneers. The hauling then was done by ox teams. Since then the timber has thrived unmolested. Most of this timber no doubt will never be replaced and this land is now heavily pastured and stock will destroy the young trees even with abundant moisture.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radil were Sunday dinner guests at Albert Ptacnik's.

A party was given to relatives and friends Sunday evening, Nov. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hrebec in honor of the marriage of their daughter Anna to Albert Kamarad, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kamarad. The young couple will reside on a farm in Eureka township.

'Guilty' Was Verdict Of Jury Saturday In James Lee Case

uttered by Sevener neither helped nor hurt the cause of the defendant and could not be regarded as prejudicial to Lee's interests, he said.

Judge Kroger then announced that Vogelanz's motion for a new trial would be overruled, and asked if attorneys were ready for him to pronounce sentence.

For the record, which later will be scanned at Lincoln by the board of pardons and paroles, County Attorney Lee asked permission to introduce evidence regarding Lee's past record of shooting at people whom he suspected of invading his melon patch. Over objections by Vogelanz, this privilege was granted by Judge Kroger.

County Attorney Lee then stated that about 10 years ago James Lee shot and struck in the leg with a bullet a Woolery boy; that in the summer of 1934 he shot twice at John Jelinek, one bullet striking Jelinek in the shoulder and the other creasing his scalp.

George A. Munn, under oath, testified for the record that he was county attorney in 1934 when the Jelinek shooting occurred and that James Lee admitted to him at that time, in the presence of Ralph W. Norman, that he shot at Jelinek with the intention of killing him.

Other events of the hearing included a plea by Vogelanz that his client be given a light sentence and a plea to the same effect by Lee himself. Then came pronouncing of sentence by Judge Kroger, who inflicted the heaviest penalty possible for the manslaughter charge on which Lee was convicted by the jury. He could have sentenced Lee to any sentence from 1 to 10 years, or an indeterminate sentence, but instead gave him a flat ten years.

Attorney Vogelanz asked that execution of sentence be deferred until Dec. 13, to give him time to perfect an appeal should he decide to file one, this request being granted by the judge, who said he would fix the amount of bond on the same date if Davis & Vogelanz should file an appeal.

Lee will remain in the Valley county jail until next Monday and then, if no appeal is filed will be taken to Lancaster to begin serving his 10 year sentence. If the case is appealed, and if he is able to furnish bond, he will be at liberty pending hearing on the appeal by the supreme court.

Cost of the Lee case to Valley county will be about $900, says Alfred Wiegand, clerk of the district court, in addition to which the county must pay fees to be fixed by Judge Kroger to Munn & Norman, who helped with the prosecution, and also to Davis & Vogelanz who were assigned to conduct the defense by the court, since Lee was unable to furnish counsel himself. Total cost of the case to taxpayers may run as high as $2,000, depending upon fees paid to the four extra lawyers involved.

Jury that heard the Lee case was composed of Charles Sobon, Vere Leonard, D. W. Nordstrom, Harvey E. Eberhart, Merrill Anderson, Edward Nelson, John Wozab, Jr., John S. Vodehnal and John Nelson. After hearing the evidence and retiring to their room they elected John Wozab, Jr., as foreman.

At the beginning Lee was accused of first degree murder but before the jury was empaneled the prosecution announced it would not ask that the death penalty be inflicted. On the closing day of the trial, before the case went to the jury, Judge Kroger granted a defense motion removing first degree murder from verdicts that could be found by the jury. Instead, he instructed the jury to consider only a second degree charge, which carried with it manslaughter. The final verdict was the one chosen by jurors. A complete account of the trial will be found in the second section of today's Quiz.

and inclose it in parcel post packages. Special delivery charges are 15c up to two pounds, 25c from that up to ten pounds and 35c above ten pounds.

While airmail is not used a great deal during the Christmas holidays, it might be of interest to note that mail posted in Ord in time for the afternoon mail will reach either coast by airmail the following day. Packages inclosed in the thin Christmas paper should be wrapped in another layer of stronger material, as some of this paper is too flimsy to give necessary protection.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, postoffice box, or rural route number and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left hand corner of any piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be inclosed inside the parcel. Do not mail Christmas greeting cards in red, green or other dark colored envelopes, or in very small envelopes.

No parcel may exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined nor exceed 70 pounds in weight. Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels. Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special Handling" will be given the most expeditious handling, but not special delivery, upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the proper charge.

The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day, if mailed at the proper time. Special delivery service means immediate delivery at the office of address. Use special delivery stamps, or, when ordinary stamps are used, write "Special Delivery" on the envelope of wrapper immediately below, but never on the stamps. Special delivery is for speed and not for safety.

To insure safety of valuable parcels, use the registered mail, and insure such parcels at their full value. The cost is not high, and you are insured against loss. For information on any points not made clear, or not touched upon above, it would be well to consult your postmaster. As a final suggestion it might facilitate matters to stick the stamps on your own parcels.

Roehr's findings was the request made by Mr. Klima, and it is promised a letter embodying his report will be sent at once. Statements made here are not official but it is understood that the agent offered farmers in many cases as much as 50% more for their land than the North Loup Irrigation district paid them for slices of the same land, and found few willing to sell.

It was no use, Roehr's findings is understood to have told Klima. Not only did farmers demand what he called "unreasonable prices" for right-of-way but they also demanded damages. The state, explained Roehr, feels that damages should not be allowed since the land tracts in question already have been cut into, or damaged, by the railroad and irrigation ditches and according to the state's views there could be no further damage done by the building of a new highway.

Upon purchase of right-of-way it was planned to run No. 11 parallel with the Union Pacific track, thus doing away with a number of dangerous curves. At present the road has eight curves, most of them sharp, and also two railway crossings, in the 14 miles which separate Ord and North Loup.

Had the state been able to secure right-of-way, bids for the relocated road would have been asked on January 4, at which time several big highway contracts will be let. Surveying for the new route was done some time ago and plans for it have been drawn.

The move to secure hard surfacing for No. 11 highway was started a few weeks ago by the Ord Rotary club and immediately the Wranglers club of Burwell, the Junior chamber of commerce at Grand Island, the Ord chamber of commerce and other business groups up and down the valley joined in the request, which was sent to Governor R. L. Cochran and State Engineer Tilley.

As a necessary preliminary to paving, pointed out County Clerk Klima to Ord chamber of commerce members in November, the Ord-North Loup lap of No. 11 will have to be straightened. Now that relocation and straightening are, apparently, held up by the report which Mr. Roehr's findings will make to his superiors at Lincoln, it seems extremely doubtful that any improvement to the highway will come within the next year.

Sale of this old engine for $8,000 is regarded as an extremely good piece of business, inasmuch as the city of Wahoo recently sold a similar outfit for only $1,800. A steam engine is of little use as stand-by equipment, explains George Allen, light plant manager, because it takes 6 to 8 hours to get up steam. Should an emergency arise such as a breakdown of one of the city's diesels, Ord people might be without electricity several hours while steam was being generated.

"By taking this $8,000 and putting another $8,000 to $10,000 with it, we can have a diesel plant that will serve our needs for years," says Allen. "Even when the high line is built we'll need a stand-by plant to give us electricity during emergencies and our present plant without a stand-by unit might not be able to carry the load."

Present plant capacity is 500 k. w. with both engines running, and present top load is 400 k. w., according to Allen, which means that both engines have to run at once during the periods when electricity is used most each day. Should something happen to one of the engines right now it would mean that the city's needs could not be served.

When the two diesels now in use were bought the city paid cash for them. Since then a large surplus has been built up in the electric fund out of plant earnings and this surplus would be used to buy a new diesel, should one be bought. In fact, one clause of the "resolution of necessity" passed by the council Tuesday evening provides that the city must pay for any new equipment out of light plant earnings and not from taxation.

Another engine may not be bought for some time, even though the resolution authorizing its purchase has been passed. In 1933 a resolution to buy diesels was passed by the council but they were not bought until 1935, almost two years later, it is pointed out.

Blissful Ignorance.

"What's that?" asked the attractive young thing.
"A milking machine."
"And tell me, please, does it give as good milk as the cows did?"—Exchange.

Woodman Hall

Another cold wave reached us, the thermometer registering zero Sunday morning. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vodehnal last Tuesday morning. Arnold Kerbel of Spencer, Nebr., accompanied by a Mr. Kucera of South Dakota visited on his farm, which is occupied by Eldon Lukesh last week. They left for Omaha and other eastern points last Friday morning. Hundreds of loads of fire wood are being sawed and hauled by wagon and truck from the hills north and west of here, many passing our door each day. This is all native timber, mostly ash and elm which has been growing unmolested for the last fifty years but killed by recent years of drought. Fifty years ago when this country was being settled these same canyons yielded timbers for rafters and poles for the erection of soddies as well as fire wood for the early pioneers. The hauling then was done by ox teams. Since then the timber has thrived unmolested. Most of this timber no doubt will never be replaced and this land is now heavily pastured and stock will destroy the young trees even with abundant moisture. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radil were Sunday dinner guests at Albert Ptacnik's. A party was given to relatives and friends Sunday evening, Nov. 23 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hrebec in honor of the marriage of their daughter Anna to Albert Kamarad, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kamarad. The young couple will reside on a farm in Eureka township. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Waldmann and sons were Sunday afternoon visitors at Rudolf Johns.

'Guilty' Was Verdict Of Jury Saturday In James Lee Case

uttered by Sevenker neither helped nor hurt the cause of the defendant and could not be regarded as prejudicial to Lee's interests, he said.

Judge Kroger then announced that Vogeltanz's motion for a new trial would be overruled, and asked if attorneys were ready for him to pronounce sentence.

For the record, which later will be scanned at Lincoln by the board of pardons and paroles, County Attorney Lee asked permission to introduce evidence regarding Lee's past record of shooting at people whom he suspected of invading his melon patch. Over objections by Vogeltanz, this privilege was granted by Judge Kroger.

County Attorney Lee then stated that about 10 years ago James Lee shot and struck in the leg with a bullet a Woolery boy; that in the summer of 1934 he shot twice at John Jelinek, one bullet striking Jelinek in the shoulder and the other creasing his scalp.

George A. Munn, under oath, testified for the record that he was county attorney in 1934 when the Jelinek shooting occurred and that James Lee admitted to him at that time, in the presence of Ralph W. Norman, that he shot at Jelinek with the intention of killing him.

Other events of the hearing included a plea by Vogeltanz that his client be given a light sentence and a plea to the same effect by Lee himself. Then came pronouncing of sentence by Judge Kroger, who inflicted the heaviest penalty possible for the manslaughter charge on which Lee was convicted by the jury. He could have sentenced Lee to any sentence from 1 to 10 years, or an indeterminate sentence, but instead gave him a flat ten years.

While airmail is not used a great deal during the Christmas holidays, it might be of interest to note that mail posted in Ord in time for the afternoon mail will reach either coast by airmail the following day. Packages enclosed in the thin Christmas paper should be wrapped in another layer of stronger material, as some of this paper is too flimsy to give necessary protection.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, postoffice box, or rural route number and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left hand corner of any piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. Do not mail Christmas greeting cards in red, green or other dark colored envelopes, or in very small envelopes.

No parcel may exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined nor exceed 70 pounds in weight. Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels. Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special Handling" will be given the most expeditious handling, but not special delivery, upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the proper charge.

The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day, if mailed at the proper time. Special delivery service means immediate delivery at the office of address. Use special delivery stamps, or, when ordinary stamps are used, write "Special Delivery" on the envelope of wrapper immediately below, but never on the stamps. Special delivery is for speed and not for safety.

To insure safety of valuable parcels, use the registered mail, and insure such parcels at their full value. The cost is not high, and you are insured against loss. For information on any points not made clear, or not touched upon above, it would be well to consult your postmaster. and inclose it in parcel post packages. Special delivery charges are 15c up to two pounds, 25c from that up to ten pounds and 35c above ten pounds.

While airmail is not used a great deal during the Christmas holidays, it might be of interest to note that mail posted in Ord in time for the afternoon mail will reach either coast by airmail the following day. Packages enclosed in the thin Christmas paper should be wrapped in another layer of stronger material, as some of this paper is too flimsy to give necessary protection.

Addresses should be complete, with house number and name of street, postoffice box, or rural route number and typed or plainly written in ink. A return card should be placed in the upper left hand corner of any piece of mail. If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if tag is lost, and a copy of the address should be enclosed inside the parcel. Do not mail Christmas greeting cards in red, green or other dark colored envelopes, or in very small envelopes.

No parcel may exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined nor exceed 70 pounds in weight. Postage must be fully prepaid on all mail. Written matter in the nature of personal correspondence cannot be enclosed in parcels. Parcels of fourth-class matter endorsed "Special Handling" will be given the most expeditious handling, but not special delivery, upon payment, in addition to the regular postage, of the proper charge.

The use of a special delivery stamp will assure delivery on Christmas day, if mailed at the proper time. Special delivery service means immediate delivery at the office of address. Use special delivery stamps, or, when ordinary stamps are used, write "Special Delivery" on the envelope of wrapper immediately below, but never on the stamps. Special delivery is for speed and not for safety.

Roehrkas's findings was the request made by Mr. Klima, and it is promised a letter embodying his report will be sent at once. Statements made here are not official but it is understood that the agent offered farmers in many cases as much as 50% more for their land than the North Loup Irrigation district paid them for slices of the same land, and found few willing to sell.

It was no use, Roehrkas is understood to have told Klima. Not only did farmers demand what he called "unreasonable prices" for right-of-way but they also demanded damages. The state, explained Roehrkas, feels that damages should not be allowed since the land tracts in question already have been cut into, or damaged, by the railroad and irrigation ditches and according to the state's views there could be no further damage done by the building of a new highway.

Upon purchase of right-of-way it was planned to run No. 11 parallel with the Union Pacific track, thus doing away with a number of dangerous curves. At present the road has eight curves, most of them sharp, and also two railway crossings, in the 14 miles which separate Ord and North Loup.

Had the state been able to secure right-of-way, bids for the relocated road would have been asked on January 4, at which time several big highway contracts will be let. Surveying for the new route was done some time ago and plans for it have been drawn.

The move to secure hard surfacing for No. 11 highway was started a few weeks ago by the Ord Rotary club and immediately the Wranglers club of Burwell, the Junior chamber of commerce at Grand Island, the Ord chamber of commerce and other business groups up and down the valley joined in the request, which was sent to Governor R. L. Cochran and State Engineer Tilley.

As a necessary preliminary to paving, pointed out County Clerk Klima to Ord chamber of commerce members in November, the Ord-North Loup lap of No. 11 will have to be straightened. Now that relocation and straightening are, apparently, held up by the report which Mr. Roehrkas will make to his superiors at Lincoln, it seems extremely doubtful that any improvement to the highway will come within the next year.

—J. H. Whiting returned recently from the Hood River country in Oregon, where he and Archie Negley went some time ago. Mr. Negley is still out there, but Mr. Whiting expects to remain here for the present at least.

Jury that heard the Lee case was composed of Charles Sobon, Vere Leonard, D. W. Nordstrom, Harvey Iohn, Fred Hunt, Joe Skoll, Wesley Eberhart, Merrill Anderson, Edward Nelson, John Wozab, jr., John S. Vodehnal and John Nelson. After hearing the evidence and retiring to their room they elected John Wozab, jr., as foreman.

At the beginning Lee was accused of first degree murder but before the jury was empaneled the prosecution announced it would not ask that the death penalty be inflicted. On the closing day of the trial, before the case went to the jury, Judge Kroger granted a defense motion removing first degree murder from verdicts that could be found by the jury. Instead he instructed the jury to consider only a second degree charge, which carried with it manslaughter. The final verdict was the one chosen by jurors. A complete account of the trial will be found in the second section of today's Quiz.

Sale of this old engine for $8,000 is regarded as an extremely good piece of business, inasmuch as the city of Wahoo recently sold a similar outfit for only $1,800. A steam engine is of little use as stand-by equipment, explains George Allen, light plant manager, because it takes 6 to 8 hours to get up steam. Should an emergency arise such as a breakdown of one of the city's diesels, Ord people might be without electricity several hours while steam was being generated.

"By taking this $8,000 and putting another $8,000 to $10,000 with it we can have a diesel plant that will serve our needs for years," says Allen. "Even when the high line is built we'll need a stand-by plant to give us electricity during emergencies and our present plant without a stand-by unit might not be able to carry the load."

Present plant capacity is 500 k. w. with both engines running, and present top load is 400 k. w., according to Allen, which means that both engines have to run at once during the periods when electricity is used most each day. Should something happen to one of the engines right now it would mean that the city's needs could not be served.

When the two diesels now in use were bought the city paid cash for them. Since then a large surplus has been built up in the electric fund out of plant earnings and this surplus would be used to buy a new diesel, should one be bought. In fact, one clause of the "resolution of necessity" passed by the council Tuesday evening provides that the city must pay for any new equipment out of light plant earnings and not from taxation.

Another engine may not be bought for some time, even though the resolution authorizing its purchase has been passed. In 1933 a resolution to buy diesels was passed by the council but they were not bought until 1935, almost two years later, it is pointed out.

Newsprint $10 Ton Higher January 1

Newsprint, on which all daily and weekly newspapers are printed will be from $7.50 to $15.00 per ton higher starting January 1, the grade used by the Quiz being quoted at $10 per ton higher than the price in effect during the past year. A gradual increase since 1932 already has upped the price $20 per ton from its depression low.

To meet the emergency created by this higher cost, newspapers generally are increasing both subscription and advertising rates. Daily papers that formerly sold for the streets for 2c are now asking 3c, 3c newspapers are generally raising the price to 5c, and many dailies also have increased mail subscription prices.

As reported by the Publishers Auxiliary and the American Press, national trade papers, weeklies also are being forced to increase prices. Hundreds of $1.50 per year papers have increased to $2.00 and thousands of weeklies that formerly sold at $2.00 per year have raised to $2.50.

Shortage of pulp wood and a coalition of Canadian mills which supply most of the good quality newsprint used in the United States are blamed for the increases which start January 1.

Star Witnesses in Lee Murder Case

These two boys, Melvin Moore, left, and Arley Worm appeared on the witness stand several times during the Lee murder trial last week against Lee by the state. Worm was stricken in the knee with a bullet and gave testimony which formed the basis of the evidence brought while Moore escaped from the melon patch without an injury.

Savage Must Lose Job Held Two Years

Through a friend of his who happened to be in Ord a few days ago the Quiz heard the sad news that Donald Savage has found it necessary to give up his work as commodity clerk for the Garfield county assistance office. He has held this position with credit for the past two years, but of late his hearing has become so bad that it is almost impossible for him to carry on a conversation with his clients.

Savage is one of Burwell's talented young men, having a penchant for any kind of mechanical work, and has quite a collection of tools with which he has done some very fine work in the past, and with which he hopes to do a lot of work this winter. In normal times he would not have to worry about a job, as the quality of work he turns out would keep him busy filling orders all the time. But today there is little or no market for his work.

Savage's troubles started several years ago when he was hit in the head by the lug of a truck tire blown off the rim of a truck with all the impetus 100 pounds air pressure could give. His skull was crushed and some of the brain matter destroyed. He also lost the left eye. The doctors said at the time that he could not have survived had it not been for his superb constitution. He eventually recovered, but it is supposed that the blow affected his hearing, which is now almost entirely lost. But Don Savage will not give up. He has been down before, but never counted out.

Ord Township Library Report.

The report of the Ord Township Library for the week ending Dec. 8 shows two new books received, both of special interest. The first is "Why Stop Learning?" by that famous writer of a number of brilliant books, Dorothy Canfield Fisher. The other is "The Personality of a House", by Emily Post, daughter of the famous architect, Bruce Price. It is also called the Blue Book of Home Design and Decoration. Like her famous "Etiquette", this new book of Mrs. Post's will be an authority in its class. It is delightfully original in its way of approaching the subject. It not only tells how to plan and build a new house, but also how to put added charm and distinction into an old house. The major part of the book is devoted to the interior, the best decorative effects, the best rugs, hangings, etc. Ord housewives who are planning improvements in their homes will find this book invaluable.

Mrs. Krahulik's Brother Dies.

John Vnuk, brother of Mrs. Frank Krahulik, passed away at his home at Dodge, Nebr., and Mrs. Krahulik, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Krahulik and Mrs. Anna Parkos, left Wednesday to attend the funeral, which was held there Thursday. Mr. Vnuk had never lived here, but had visited a number of times. The party returned home Friday.

Elect Frank Prince Head North Platte Valley Association

Frank C. Prince, superintendent of the Bayard schools and an enthusiastic valley booster, was unanimously elected president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the North Platte valley at the annual meeting held in Mitchell Monday night, Nov. 29. Other officers unanimously elected were O. B. Adcock, McGrew, vice-president; William Fuerst, Bayard, secretary; and A. B. Jones, Mitchell, treasurer. The business session was held in the Legion hall at Mitchell, following a chicken dinner in the basement of the Federated church. The selection of Mr. Prince to this position is a signal honor, and shows the confidence the citizens of the valley have in his ability to make good. He has made good for many years as head of the Bayard schools. He is a Valley county product, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prince who live northwest of Ord on Dane Creek, and is very well known and popular here.

Beating Board Bill Costs Zimmer $30

Edward Zimmer was haled into Judge John L. Andersen's court Monday at the instance of F. E. McQuillan on charge of beating a board bill, the specific instance being a meal ticket in the amount of $4.50. Upon his plea of guilty the judge assessed a fine of $30.00 and costs of $7.00 which he paid and was released. This is the third time Zimmer has figured in the courts here, and once he was held for Lincoln authorities. It is his second offense in beating board bills, the first being that in which the complainant was Mary K. Sharp, and the date Oct. 28. At that time he was fined $30.00 and costs of $8.00 and warned to expect a more severe sentence in the future. Last week Judge Andersen announced that too many people are beating board bills in Ord and that he intended to make the fine for this offense heavy enough in the future to put a stop to the practice. Because of this fact and also the fact that it was the second offense on the complaint of beating board bills, Zimmer was given a much heavier fine this time, and was again warned. If he is again brought before His Honor he may expect to get the limit.

Zimmer has been employed on the project here most of the past year by the Bushman Construction Company of St. Joseph, Mo., as chief carpenter and has been drawing good wages all the year.

Will Play in "Messiah"

Dorothy Auble of Ord will take part with 89 other Hastings college choir members in the Christmas presentation of Handel's "Messiah" under the direction of Hayes N. Fuhr, head of the music department. The program will be presented December 16 in the college gymnasium at 8:00 p. m.

Three Pairs of Twins in Ord Grade School

Only three pairs of twins attend the grade school in Ord, a check of the records disclosed Monday, and here are two of them. At the left are Maxine and Arlene (or Arlene and Maxine) Wolfe, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe, and at the right are Jeannice and Jeanne Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fox. The Wolfe twins, who resemble each other so closely not even their closest friends can call them by name correctly, are 9 years old and the Fox twins are 7 1/2 years old. The other twins in the Ord grade school are Doris and Dean Gross, almost 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Gross.

The Mella twins, Martin and Marvin, 14, are the only other pair ending school in Ord and they are students in junior high, in the building.

YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH.

Fifty-three years ago the Quiz was one of the leading papers of its time, just as it is today.

The Quiz of fifty-three years ago was an eight page paper. It had five columns to each page and the columns were sixteen inches long.

The Quiz of fifty-three years ago was of the half and half style. That is, half of the pages were home print and the other half were patent.

On the four pages of home print of the Quiz of 1884, there was 40% news and 60% advertising.

A few other important changes that time has brought in the Quiz. In the early days practically all the state and national news in the county paper was brought through the patent inside, and some of the items were all the way from two weeks to two months old when they were finally received and read by the patrons of the paper.

To add to the expense there were a number of newspapers in each town. In Ord there were The Valley County Journal, The Standard and the Ord Weekly Quiz.

Here are a few more comparisons, figured in the rough, as exact figures cannot be obtained. The cost of printing equipment carried by the Ord Quiz today is not less than ten times as much as that of the Quiz of 53 years ago.

The early day papers carried no cuts made from photographs as we use them today. None were used for local news stories, and if an advertiser wanted a cut to illustrate his business he furnished a picture, which was sent in to Omaha or farther and the cut was made and returned to him.

Despite the contrast in the old and new ways, the early day printer was not to be despised. His ability and energy did much to make up for his lack of equipment.

Business Needs Encouragement. We are convinced that if recovery is to continue, small business needs encouragement and large business needs assurance.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

I am one of those old fashioned guys who likes to stay at home in the evening, after a hard day's work (yes, laugh, darn you). The Missus likes to have me help her listen to the radio and while I am not too crazy about it, I do quite a lot of it.

But the other evening she ran out on me and went to the picture show. I wrote some letters, posted up the week's advertising, mailed a few sample copies of the week's issue and then got to looking over the paper. I used to write most of what the correspondents didn't write, did it for a long time, but have quit and this column is all that I write any more.

Eugene and John and Laverne now do what I used to have to do. That's no slam at them for they write lots more than I did and it is lots better written. I started with the front page and the first thing I noticed was the picture on the front page and it took a little time to figure out which was the criminal and which was the sheriff.

I read the headings and most of the stories; then I turned page after page and read the advertisements. I looked at more pictures and decided that young Duemey was making steady improvement in his work of making engravings for the paper. I found the stories written by the office force interesting and I enjoyed Gowen and Kovanda, Mrs. Hamer and Mrs. Bossen and the Goodells. I read the Taylor department, the Woodman Hall news, still written by Mrs. Waldmann who started the work more than 30 years ago.

I wondered how many headed stories there were in the paper but didn't stop to count them. Then I wondered how many hundred little, newsy items there were. You would be surprised if you started to find out. The Missus didn't come so I got to wondering how many errors we had made and started to hunt them.

Of course I found some and then I picked up the daily, one of the best in the country and found that it, too, had many typographical errors. I guess my judgment might be a little bit biased, but I decided in my own mind that the Quiz force had turned out a pretty creditable issue last week. Of course it was not free from errors; it never was; it never will be.

I wouldn't for the world be accused of bragging but I am a pretty good cook. I usually get breakfast and I am not a believer in a cup of coffee and roll breakfast. I snore so hard all night that I am always hungry in the morning and that's no joke either. So while the Missus fixes the oranges or grapefruit or tomato juice I fry some bacon and eggs or potatoes and make the coffee and toast.

The other morning I awoke early and was hungry, so hungry that I couldn't go to sleep again and I got to planning a new dish. I remembered that we had potato soup for supper the night before, that there was some left and that Mrs. Burke said, when she was clearing the table, that she was going to pour the milk off and save the potatoes. So I decided to invent a new breakfast dish.

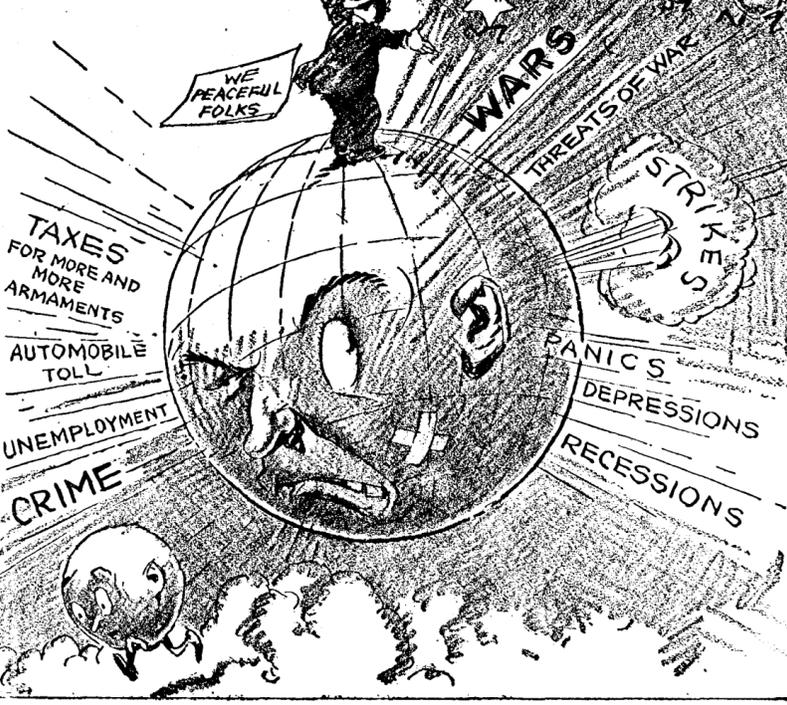

I think I got another joke on George Gowen last week. Perhaps I was overdoing it, but you know the old saying, George, "Necessity is the mother of invention."

I think that about the most worthless pastime one can have is talking politics. It just doesn't get you anywhere.

Experts should devote their efforts toward some means of keeping snow off the city dwellers' sidewalks and distributing it on farmers' fields.

BAD COMPANY PERHAPS?

NEWS ITEM: SCIENTISTS SEEK EXPLANATION FOR EVIDENCE THAT WHOLE UNIVERSE IS RETREATING FROM THE EARTH.

I know a guy who hasn't done anything else for years and what has he got to show for it. And I often hear men say he is a damned pest. Oh no, he doesn't live in Valley county.

It amuses me to hear people cuss Roosevelt for spending so much money and then, the minute he orders a few sap suckers laid off with the idea of balancing the budget, how they do howl.

People seem to think the government can stop spending money and balance the national budget and at the same time keep spending money. It can't be done, either in private life or in government life.

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas has proposed a 6-point program which he thinks will keep this country out of war and it seems mighty sensible to me. Here it is:

- 1-Keep out of the League of Nations and all alliances and understandings with other nations that would mean policing the world.
2-Keep our ships at home, after giving our own people time to leave the war zones.
3-Keep our soldiers at home.
4-Keep our dollars at home when invited to finance other nations' wars.
5-Carry out the neutrality act.
6-Pass a constitutional amendment giving the people the right to vote on going to war.

So many people ask me when the laterals below Ord are going to be started; whether I think the farmers will have water for 1938; what is delaying the work. I don't know. I understand that the government held up the contract for the laterals below Ord pending the signing of contracts by Ord and Burwell to buy their electric juice from the Columbus project.

It does seem as though something should have been done about Mr. Lee and his gun before the wasteful death of Gall Hiner, a nice little boy. Brandishing a gun is a poor idea, but if it was necessary to use a gun, it could have been loaded with something less deadly.

And as Mr. Lee had taken potshots at prowlers in his melon patch once or twice before, it is too bad we didn't grasp the idea that it would be better to forbid him the use of a gun.

Each divorced two times already. A Negro couple from Omaha was married here Tuesday by County Judge John A. Carrigan, making it the third matrimonial venture for each. The two were Robert Franklin Adams, 39, and Althyn Artie Carmichael, 33.—Blair Pilot Tribune.

Something Different

Our interest in the misfortunes of others is appalling isn't it? Look at the enormous crowd that thronged the courtroom during the trial of James Lee for the shooting of Gall Hiner.

Of course we must protect our own property; yet never shoot children in order to do it. The second fact does not necessarily follow the first.

The person who betrays annoyance when pestered by others usually gets more of the same treatment unless he can take it with a grin. I guess this has always been so. Witness the cruelty of a bunch of school boys to another with a deformity or a handicap.

I remember when I was young, about a million years ago, a lady who was so W. C. T. U. ish as to be almost obnoxious. And every Halloween found the town boys, and sometimes girls too, piling beer bottle cases high before her front door. And how she would rave. The more she stewed, the more undesirable things were thought up "to get even with her".

It does seem as though something should have been done about Mr. Lee and his gun before the wasteful death of Gall Hiner, a nice little boy.

And as Mr. Lee had taken potshots at prowlers in his melon patch once or twice before, it is too bad we didn't grasp the idea that it would be better to forbid him the use of a gun.

A bulldog in that melon patch, barbed wire fence and gate, several other solutions could have been used. And Mr. Lee could have slept at night, and Gall would not have to sleep so long.

Kerry and I went to school to see a program at Thanksgiving time. We had a lot of fun watching Shirley be a grandma in cap and apron. I never would have known her if she hadn't turned around and giggled right at me, behind her hand.

All the children were stuffed into their Sunday best riggings, scrubbed and curled. And they went through their carefully coached paces to the glory of their teachers. Most of them were self-conscious, some earnest and oblivious to the big crowd.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

A few weeks ago my wife had for her lesson in the club certain phases of world peace movements. She spent all her spare time for months at it.

There are some forty organizations in the U. S. working for peace. With all the wars in progress at the present time, and all the extensive preparation for war over the world, the question arises as to whether or not this work of peace is in vain.

In our immediate vicinity our lives and interests seem not to require work in the interests of the peace, but some of us older ones need only to stop and think back twenty years and we see how seemingly over night we were hearing strains of martial music and the beat of drums, the sound of tramping feet, and we know what happened then might happen again if our heads are not kept steady and if the glamor rather than the horrors of war are portrayed.

One of these forty organizations is called World Peaceways, headed by Mrs. Estelle Sternberger. This organization conducts its efforts through magazines, newspapers, (Continued on Page 13.)

Last spring the unicameral legislature passed a bill to eradicate four noxious weeds. This new law prevents the sale of seed or feed containing seeds of bindweed, puncture vine, leafy spurge or Canada thistle.

It also compels owners of threshing separators, combines, trucks, and wagons to clean their equipment after threshing grain on farms infested with noxious weeds. The cleaning must be done in such a way that noxious seed is not spread to the next threshing place.

Farmers are prohibited from selling hay, grain or seed having in it bindweed, puncture vine, leafy spurge or Canada thistle. Nor can they haul infested material on public roads, except in vehicles that will not leak or scatter.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT Labor Board Decisions Influence Union Support of Wage-Hour Bill

WASHINGTON. — Paradox of the wage-hour legislation pending in Congress is the opposition of one faction of organized labor and the half-hearted support of another of the measure designed to benefit the working man.

Led by President William Green, the American Federation of Labor is actively fighting the bill, feeling perhaps that the new law would benefit the rival Committee for Industrial Organization more than the A. F. of L., a feeling based upon activities of the National Labor Relations Board, inaugurated by the Wagner Act.

Decisions of the NLRB explain why Green, who led the lobby for the enactment of the act creating the board, and later campaigned for the first wages-hours bill, has changed his tactics. The A. F. of L. claims the NLRB has favored the C. I. O. in ruling on collective bargaining disputes and Green is unwilling to trust administration of the new legislation to a similar group.

LUKEWARM indorsement of the measure by C. I. O.'s John Lewis may be influenced by the fear that the bill, by benefitting low-paid and unorganized workers, might make union organization more difficult.

But Lewis has been subjected to pressure from clothing and textile workers' unions, who demand minimum wages and restricted hours, and regulation of sweat-shops and low-wage competition.

Building and metal trades unions of the A. F. of L. have lobbied against the wage-hour bill, in the apparent belief that higher wages for unskilled workers may impede pay increases for skilled craftsmen.

ALMOST unnoticed in the fracas has been the NLRB decision on two phases of the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. fight, and the first split in the board, favoring by a 2-1 vote a fundamental principle of the Federation. In one case the NLRB held that craft unions may be permitted to separate from industrial unions, even in predominantly industrial production plants, and in the other declared that a company may not restrict its workers to membership in an A. F. of L. union.

Over C. I. O. protests the board ruled that employees of the Allison-Chalmers company may vote separately on whether they wish to be represented by Federation craft unions or by the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers. The U. A. W. representation would cover the entire plant, while the Federation groups would be concerned only with the members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, both controlling majorities in their respective crafts.

In the other case in question the board has ruled against the A. F. of L. as the "favored" union in the Consolidated Edison and affiliated companies of New York. The company was ordered not to put into effect contracts with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, giving that union sole collective bargaining rights, and was forbidden to urge workers to join that group or to restrain employees from affiliation with the C. I. O. United Radio and Electrical Workers of America.

Green declared the decision "outrages the provisions of the Wagner Act," while Consolidated Edison's Chairman Floyd E. Carlisle promised to observe the terms of the contracts until they were invalidated—if ever—by a Federal court.

Coloring the whole attitude of organized labor toward government boards, these decisions may profoundly influence the outcome of labor legislation under consideration in Congress.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS. The toughest man that ever lived will some day meet a man tougher than he is. Lots of people who figure they are hard boiled as a matter of fact are really about half baked.

We like the optimism of the Elyria man who said that his town has a greater future than Ord, and as his reason that it had a lot more room to grow without running into the hills or the river.

A Valley county man listing his 150 acre farm for sale, said that 120 acres were in cultivation. The agent asked him if he had any pasture and he said that he once had 40 acres of pasture, but it was now a 40 acre weed patch.

We should change the laws to permit charging a good price for seats at a murder trial. At a dollar a throw every available seat would have been taken, and the money would help pay the expense.

Fifty years ago the railroads were making Ord the metropolis of the North Loup. Today most people have forgotten that there are railroads. They travel by car or bus, have their goods shipped in or out by truck, and telephone instead of using the telegraph. How times do change!

In the '70s A. Ward returned from a surveying trip to the north part of the state to learn that his wife had died three weeks before. Today the news would travel across the United States in three minutes.

In the '70s the lowlands of Valley county were covered with a growth of bluestem so tall that it was all a man could do to see over it. Today most of the bluestem is gone, and with it most of the buffalo grass. It will take a generation to rebuild the county's pastures.

Comradship in Christianity

UPON the fellowship of Christ and His disciples Christianity had its foundation. Jesus surrounded Himself with earnest men, who were devoted to Him and His teachings. Inspired by His example, these disciples went forth to tell others of the Master and to bring them to Him.

ALL love is mystical in its nature. That is, there is something about it that is instinctive and intuitional, deeper than words and actions; though love would not be very real if it did not find expression in words and in actions.

This earthly fellowship with Christ is the symbol and forecast of a larger heavenly fellowship, in which the ideals of love and truth and righteousness will find their fulfillment. We live in a world which, despite many loving and devoted souls, is still marred with sin and hate. But in this other heavenly world there will be the society of those whose hearts and lives are purified and who live in the glory of a great experience from which all evil passion and hate have vanished.

—In the March of Time feature at the Ord Theater Tuesday and Wednesday was given the story of Bill Watts, counterfeit dealer de luxe, and the way he was finally apprehended and brought to justice. A story of the same man appeared in a recent issue of Liberty magazine. Bill Watts was a very respectable man about 1913 and 1914, and was running a drug store in Elba. At that time he was very well known by three present Ord men, L. M. Loft, and Emil and Frank Fafeita. From Elba he went to Fullerton, where he got started in the counterfeiting game, which he carried on there and at Columbus. He would put out a supply of the queer occasionally, and then quit until the excitement quieted down. It was after one of these occasions when he had put out a large quantity of false money at a New York race track, that the authorities finally caught up with him.

Grasshoppers Hop Gaily in December
 Ben Hackel was in the Quiz office Saturday and told a very interesting incident that occurred the day before when he and Ted King were out on soil conservation work and looking over an alfalfa field to the west of his place, in a territory that was hard hit by the grasshoppers all summer. They noticed little black specks moving in front of them as they advanced into the field, and thought at first it must be the stickers flying from the Russian thistles. Closer investigation disclosed the interesting fact that they were millions of tiny grasshoppers, apparently hatched out by the warm days of the past week. They ranged in size from tiny specks to some about a quarter of an inch long. Their numbers would indicate that most of the late crop hatched, and it is certain that the present crop will not have an opportunity to grow large enough to lay eggs for another crop. This condition indicates that there should be a very light crop of grasshoppers early in the season next year, which should be a source of gratification for the farmers who were hit hard by them last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Display Ribbons

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Urban, who farmed in this section for 29 years, are shown above displaying the 94 ribbons which Charley's Chester White hogs won at the fair during the years 1917 to 1923, inclusive. These are not all the ribbons they won for him, but all that he had arranged for display. The list includes sweepstakes ribbons for 1919, 1920 and 1921; grand champion ribbons for 1922 and 1923; and senior champion for 1923. On the canvas there are 42 first prize ribbons, 31 second place awards and 15 third place. The first year Charley farmed he had both white and black hogs, but has had only the white since that time. This year he had a Chester White which weighed 735 pounds at the time of his sale, and which will not be two years old until March 20. The Urbans are leaving soon because of Mrs. Urban's health, but they still have faith in Valley county and would rather live here than any place else.

She became a member of the S. D. B. church soon after coming to North Loup, remaining a member until the time of her death. She was a devoted wife and loving mother. Her cheerful smile and loving words will be sadly missed by her family and friends.

After a brief home service the funeral was conducted by Rev. W. C. Birmingham, the Methodist pastor, at the S. D. B. Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Burial was in North Loup cemetery.

Music was furnished by a quartette consisting of Albert Babcock, Dell Barber, Maxine Johnson and Mrs. Merton Barber with Mrs. W. G. Johnson at the piano and Mrs. J. A. Johnson at the organ. Bearers were John Yost, C. J. Goodrich, I. L. Sheldon, Earl Howell, W. S. Burgess and Martin Watts.

People from out of town attending the services were Roy Mason, Fred Leith, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leith, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Leith and James Blair, from Silver Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Tobias and Grover Valentine from Central City, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Blair from Fullerton and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Long from Albion.

Derwin White returned Monday from Ft. Collins, Colo., where he has been working for some time.

Mrs. Della Manchester spent Friday and Saturday nights with her sisters, Mrs. Fanny Weed and Mrs. Edna Post. She is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Waller this winter.

Rev. Birmingham and son James, Mary Frances Manchester and Birdine Ingerson went to Kearney Monday to attend a three-day youth workers conference. Rev. Birmingham being dean of the district went as a delegate of the district while the young people represent the Epworth League. Bishop Oxnam will be among the speakers.

Mary Frances Manchester entertained the Junior Fortnightly club on Friday afternoon. A gift for Mrs. N. J. Keating, Jr., was made and a dainty lunch served by the hostess.

The Standard Bearers held a bake sale in Manchester's meat market Saturday afternoon and evening.

Davis Creekers Cop Another.
The Davis Creek farmers, composed of Poth, Knapp, Mulligan and Burrows, beat the Loup City checker artists by the score of 40 to 24. The Loup City players were John Long, I. L. Conger, August Sundstrum and Robert Lewis.

PORK CHOPS AND ESCALLOPED POTATOES
Brown thick pork chops in a hot skillet on top of stove. Sprinkle with flour and casserole dish. Sprinkle with salt and almost cover with milk. Season with salt and pepper. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (325° F.) until chops and potatoes are done, about forty-five minutes.

MEAT
... the Center of Every Well-Planned Meal

Pork, especially, is lower in price right now than it has been so this is a splendid time to try out the recipe as given above. We have a generous supply of lean, tender pork loins from which the fat has been closely trimmed. We'll gladly cut chops for you in any thickness you prefer.

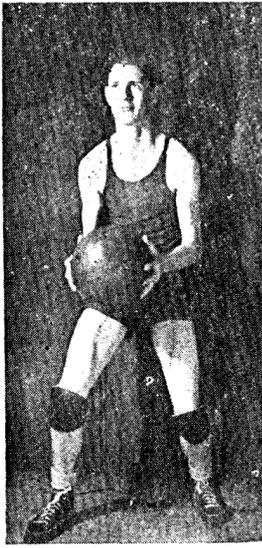

For all fresh, smoked or pickled meats try our market first. You'll be pleased, we feel sure.

8 Veterans Back On Ord Cage Team

Tunnicliff, Hughes, Cetak Seem to Have Berths Cinched; New Rules Out.

Basketball prospects are brilliant this year at Ord high as eight veterans from the 1936-37 squad return to the fold. Returning lettermen include Dale Hughes, Don Severson, Don Tunnicliff, Don Dahlin, Harry Zulkoski, Edwin Hitchman, Charles Cetak and Arden Clark.

Practice got under way at the high school early last week, with a large number of boys turning out for duty. From the returning eight lettermen and a long list of enthusiastic but "green" boys who desire to play on the Ord high cage team this year, Coach Brockman is faced with the problem of building up a quintet which can equal the records made by his teams in the past two years.

All returning veterans have had much experience on the cage court. Tunnicliff, coming directly off the gridiron, gives all indications in practice sessions that he can hold down his forward position against any opposition. Don Dahlin is showing up beautifully at the other forward post, keeping pace with two other candidates for this post, Harry Zulkoski and Don Severson. At the guard positions there are several good men. Dales Hughes has one of the guard berths cinched. The other position may be played by Edwin Hitchman, or Tatlow, or Clark. At the pivot post Charles Cetak will probably get the first call, Arden Clark will probably be second in line.

Two changes made in the basketball rules will change the methods of playing somewhat this year. There is one rule which will speed up the game to almost an unbearable point. There will only be four "tip-offs" during the course of a game. After a team shoots a goal, the ball is immediately taken out under the basket by the opposing side. It will not be returned to the center as usual, which usually gave the players a few seconds of rest. It does away almost entirely with "tip-off" plays in which the team with the tallest center has a decided advantage. If a "held ball" is called by the referee, the two players immediately move from wherever the ball was held into the center of the nearest free throw ring. The players jump for the ball from this point each time that a held ball is called. This will probably lead to more scoring, as the ball will be close to the basket, ready to be tipped in by some player.

Greathouse Makes Good.
Leonard Greathouse, former Ord high school ace, has been receiving considerable mention in the state papers, sport writers commenting very favorably on his playing with the Peru team. "A tower of strength" was the comment on Greathouse by the World Herald. Quoting the Herald—"Peru's Leonard Greathouse was perhaps the best all-around wingman in the state."

billboards, movies and radio programs, much of the work being donated or sponsored by some interested party outside the organization. Some very striking organizations have been put out by this organization with the aim to sell the desire for peace and the hatred for war by means of startling terms and vivid pictures. One poster showed a baby lying helplessly on a butcher's block beneath which was written, "Nice fresh babies 79c a pound." So breed mothers breed for the glory of your heroic leaders. Another which most of us have seen is that of the fine looking young man tied to the barrel of a cannon to be blown to bits. Many of the horrible war pictures seen lately may have been supplied by this organization.

It has been said that munition manufacturers have a great deal to do with the peace or war movements. One incident will illustrate. It was related that some people were visiting a munition plant. On one side of a large room were lined up piles of guns with the stocks painted a bluish grey and on the other side were piles upon piles of guns with a light green stock. Upon inquiry of why the different colors the answer came, "The greys go to Paraguay; the green to Bolivia."

Another institution that holds a greater power in the peace situation than might be expected is the insurance companies. Their rates are high on ships and cargoes transporting supplies from neutral to belligerent nations. If they would refuse this profit and let the shipping companies run their own risks, after a few ships were lost, enough to balance the profits.

Many think that education holds the fate of nations in her scales. If peace is to be maintained, right education must point the way. It deals not alone in our public school system and colleges but it creates public opinion. But this public opinion must be tempered with reason if our democracy is to be safe. Through the ignorance of people, militaristic forms of government are established and maintained. Germany with its education among the higher classes is goose-stepping its way to want and poverty because the education of the people in the lower levels is stifled and suppressed. Italy, with its contented illiterate masses, is leaving its mind power to only a few leaders. China has given little heed to education and consequently is unable to cope with what faces them. It is the military class alone that is promoting the war of Japan.

Further proof that the educated people do not like war, unless it is the profits from it, is the fact that in all our major wars, we, United States, an educated nation, had to finally resort to the draft to get the type of manhood they wanted. Throughout our history runs the tale of the father who hired someone to take his son's place on the battlefield. More than that, the generals and men educated to the arts of the game keep in the rear, out of range of the blood shed. It is not a pastime that understanding people seek.

Perhaps if war meant war to us rather than stirring music, immaculate uniforms, gay flags and marching feet; if it meant a funeral march, a shroud spattered with blood, flags at half mast and feet that would never stir again, perhaps we would think more than once before we enter it. Men who have served time in the trenches know best what it is to see their buddies blown into bits, yes, they are the ones who really know.

Nations must be educated to the arts of peace as well as individuals. Between Canada and United States their remotest thoughts are of war.

The Scandinavian countries have enjoyed peace for centuries and do not have the aftermaths of debts, pensions, cripples, war hospitals and such. Certain countries of South America never war. They have learned the folly of it. These countries have learned there are better ways of settling differences.

The costs of these peace programs is insignificant in comparison to the costs of war. If only a small portion of the money spent in preparation for war were spent for the causes of peace this world might be a better place to live. In a recent year our government spent nearly $10.00 per capita for every man, woman and child in the United States for war preparation. It has been estimated by peace advocates that if every person would give 5c it would produce one million dollars and that would be sufficient for the nonce. We spend billions for war and pennies for peace.

We cannot end war by war. Can we end war by education?

An army plane passed over Ord Friday afternoon, Nov. 26 headed down the river. At the time no one here knew who it could be or what he wanted. It was later learned through the exchanges that it was Earl Signer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Signer of Ericson, who flew over his parents' home and dropped them a note, asking that they meet him at Grand Island, as army planes are not permitted to land at unlicensed fields except in case of emergency.

Ord a Flourishing Town 50 Years Ago

February 29 does not come very often but when it so happens that a weekly paper is put out on Feb. 29, is very unusual. This happened in the year 1884, and in honor of the occasion Editor W. W. Haskell of the Ord Weekly Quiz put out what he claimed was the largest edition of any paper ever put out in the North Loup valley. It consisted of the regulation eight pages, half home print, and an insert of two pages, all home print, and was remarkable in its way as it gave more data on Ord and North Loup than could be hoped for.

Under the heading of "Ord's Business Houses—A Trip Around The Square" Editor Haskell writes the following, which is necessarily abridged:

"A. S. Martin keeps a good meat market next to the postoffice, and also has a stock of fine groceries, canned goods, nuts and confectionery.—Dr. Bickford, the new drug store man, keeps an exclusive stock of drugs on the south side of the square.—George Stover is still conducting his dry goods and grocery business in the same rushing manner as before.—E. D. Cheesbrough has put up a good brick store building and added a new line to his stock—Fisk and Emerson are the boss harness makers of the place.

"C. M. Pierce, proprietor of the South Side Bakery, has just opened up a bakery on the south side of the square.—Ord has one good, reliable shoemaker, W. B. Carey, who came here last fall, and has kept pegging away ever since.—Stacy's Meat Market is a very neat and well stocked shop and is doing a good business.—Cleveland Bros. have been here only a few months but have already worked up a big trade in general merchandise.—Henry Nelson is the only furniture dealer in town. His store is situated southeast of the square.—W. Weaver and Co. the pioneer hardware dealers in Ord still hold forth in their old stand.

"Aaron Russ is now running the blacksmith shop formerly used by Frank Hekett, under whom he learned his trade.—Fred Witte has been the proprietor of the Pioneer Drug Store for something over a year.—Joseph Slobodny is an exclusive dealer in farm machinery and horses to work with.—S. A. Pratt, the blacksmith, is running a good shop in the north part of town.—C. F. Way's livery barn is the largest barn in town and is constantly filled.—D. C. Bell and Co., the old reliable lumbermen, have been in business here for nearly four years.—A store Ord can well be proud of is the fine millinery store of Miss M. E. Day.

"Grimes and Johnson is the name of a new real estate firm. They are old settlers in this locality.—Our list of business men would be a long way from complete without H. A. Walker, the head end of the Ord Drug Store.—B. C. White is one of Ord's first merchants. In the spring he will build a three story brick.—The Ord City Bank is now owned exclusively by our own citizens. Messrs. Babcock, Mortensen, Hale and Percival.—Mortensen, Babcock and Combs is the well known firm dealing in all kinds of real estate.

"And at last we come to the mammoth store of G. W. Milford and Co. This is a comparatively new firm in town. Their store was built the fore part of last summer and immediately heavily stocked with an excellent grade of dry-goods, groceries, boots, shoes, hats, caps, crockery, notions, etc. The building, which is the largest and finest this side of Grand Island, is 30 by 70, two stories high, with a 30 foot addition on the rear end used as a flour and feed store, which they keep constantly filled."

This ends the list of Ord stores as given by Mr. Haskell. The last paragraph is given in full to show the changes time has brought to Ord. The Milford store was then new, and the leading business place in Ord. Today the original Milford building still stands, 30 by 70 feet in size, two stories high, just as described above, but it is now a ghost of the past, awaiting the time when it will give way to a modern structure owned and occupied by a middle aged Ord man can recall the time when Boss Milford was one of the dominant figures in the life of the town and more or less a hero to the small boys who dropped in to buy a shirt or a pair of shoes. Such was the Ord of fifty years ago, the capital city of our forefathers, a city nobly planned.

Salvation Army Workers to Be Here

By letter from the Omaha headquarters of the Salvation Army the Quiz is informed of the fact that representatives of their organization will be in Ord within the next ten days for the annual drive. Those who will come are Captains Catherine Smith and Alexander Martin. This is for state work, which includes Salvation Army hospital work and state emergency service, of fifty years activity.

Ad brings results.

R. E. Psota was in the Quiz office Saturday and told of the remarkable results he obtained by running a want ad for his male hogs in the Quiz, and also in the want ad column of three other papers. His buyers came from a large territory, and included Edward Dubas of Burwell, R. C. Kokes and Koll Bros., of Ord, C. W. McClellan of North Loup, R. W. Toogood of Scotia, Robert Christensen of Cotestfield, C. P. Nielsen of Elba, James Slegel of Comstock, J. W. Morrison of Loup City, and J. H. Hohman of Aupley.

Santa Claus Will Visit Ord, Give Candy to Kiddies

Ord Chamber of Commerce Has Arranged for His Visit; Tree in Court Yard.

Next Wednesday, Dec. 22, will be an important date of the holiday season for children of Ord and vicinity, for on that date Santa Claus will visit Ord. Not only will he be present in person, but also he will give to every boy and girl who comes to Ord that afternoon a sack of candy and peanuts.

Santa Claus' visit to Ord has been arranged by the Ord chamber of commerce, through a committee headed by Dr. J. G. Krumi, who is assisted by Orville H. Sowl, E. L. Vogelanz, Dr. F. J. Osentowski, Wm. Darges and Fred Cahill.

To Rural Teachers:

The Chamber of Commerce party on the afternoon of December 22 is primarily for children. We especially would like to have the children from the country attend the party. In choosing a date we found that most of the country schools would not close for vacation until the 24th, hence any day of the week would find the schools open. We wish to take this opportunity of asking all the country schools to close at noon on Dec. 22nd, so parents may bring their children to Ord for the free party and treat.

JOHN P. MISKO, president.

How Santa will reach Ord has not been definitely decided but probably he will come by airplane. Anyway, at 2:30 in the afternoon, he will make his appearance on the upper balcony of the Valley county court house and then descend to the Christmas tree which has been erected on the court house steps. From there he will distribute candy and nuts to all children attending the party.

Children from 3 to 14 are particularly invited and urged to attend this Ord chamber of commerce Christmas party.

Ord schools will be closed, as the annual Christmas vacation starts Tuesday, Dec. 21, but since most rural schools will not close for vacation until Friday, Dec. 24, teachers and school board members are urged by chamber of commerce officials to dismiss their schools Wednesday afternoon so the children may visit Ord.

Don't forget the chamber of commerce Christmas party next Wednesday afternoon. See that your children have a chance to attend.

Chanticleers Open Season With Win

Led by Don Tunnicliff, Coach Helmut Brockman's Ord high quintet swept through to victory in the opening game of the season Tuesday night as they downed Comstock, 26-15.

Local fans were somewhat surprised. It was believed that the Comstock quint had been signed to play Ord as a "warmer-upper" for the Chanticleers before the season really got under way.

At the half the score was tied up, 10-10. The rangy Comstock crew had a terrific height advantage and the Ord offensive was held well in check throughout the game. It was in the second half that the Ordsters began to hit the hoop and went into the lead for the remainder of the game.

The "first string" line-up, judging from the play Tuesday night reads something like this: Forwards—Don Dahlin, Don Tunnicliff, Don Severson and Arthur Carlson. Centers—Charles Cetak, Huriburt. Guards—Harry Zulkoski, Dale Hughes, Edwin Hitchman, Piskorski.

Thursday night the Chanticleers will swing into action again as they meet the North Loup five on the local floor.

—Charles A. Green of Burwell was in Ord on business Tuesday.

Kamerad Released To Attend Funeral Of His Wife

Faith in Frank Kamerad, 80-year-old Comstock man who is serving a 2-year sentence in the Nebraska penitentiary for arson, was expressed by prison authorities when they paroled Kamerad so he could attend the funeral of his wife, Mrs. Mary Kamerad, here.

Unguarded, Kamerad traveled to Ord on the bus, arriving Thursday evening, and remained until Monday, when he went back to Lancaster and resumed serving his sentence.

Red Cross and NYA Are Helping Santa By Repairing Toys for Needy Children

There will be plenty of toys to make underprivileged children in Valley county happy this Christmas. Pictured here are three workers in the Red Cross toy shop who are repairing and repainting hundreds of toys which will be distributed in a short time to needy homes in this district. From left to right they are: William Turek, Edward Proskocil, and Ilene Weller.

Work Being Done At Legion Hall: More Toys Needed

353 Children Made Happy In 1936 and Need Said to Be Greater This Xmas.

Curly-headed dolls, shining model airplanes, small horns of rainbow hue—these and a hundred other toys may be found in the basement of the American Legion hall where the Ord Red Cross chapter has established a huge toy repair shop.

Boxes upon boxes of toys line the room awaiting repair and distribution by the relief office to underprivileged children who might not otherwise be visited by Santa Claus this year.

Although every effort has been put forth by members of the local Red Cross chapter, there are still not enough toys to go around and more will have to be secured if every needy child in Valley county is to have a "Merry Christmas."

However, the Red Cross workers are not dissatisfied with the results they have had thus far. They have many more toys now than they had at the same time last year.

There are more model cars and airplanes than anything else in the hundreds of toys that have been donated thus far. Dolls without clothes—that's the problem that the repair shop workers are facing now. There are plenty of dolls on hand but they all came to the shop in ragged condition. If the dolls are to be used there will have to be some hasty sewing done within the next week.

Last week the workers spent their time in preparing the toys, this week they are painting the toys. The project will be brought to a close at the latter part of next week. Three hundred and fifty-three children within a radius of ten miles of Ord were supplied with toys in 1936; this year many more children will be taken care of, it is believed.

As toys come into the shop they are repaired, if possible. If repairs are impossible the toys are set aside, as it may furnish parts with which to repair something else. After a toy is repaired it is sandpapered and painted—ready for Santa's pack. Cloth and stuffed toys are given a thorough cleaning.

The Red Cross is sponsoring the project, being assisted in the work by the Business and Professional Women's club, the American Legion, and the National Youth Administration.

All toys should be contributed by the end of this week so that they may be repaired by Christmas. Anyone wishing to donate toys may leave them at the Legion hall. Toys will be distributed a day or two before Christmas by the Ord relief office.

Middle Loup Would Buy Power Company

Arcadia—(Special)—At a meeting of public power district officials in Lincoln Tuesday, H. C. James, general manager of the Middle Loup district, served notice that the Middle Loup wants the opportunity either to buy or lease that portion of the Western Public Service company's holdings which lie within the district, if and when the Western Public is bought by the public power districts.

Properties affected include a generation plant at Loup City and distribution systems in several towns and villages. No action was taken on James' proposal but he asked to submit a written proposition approved by Middle Loup directors.

Dr. Nay to Serve Two 3-Year Terms

On Thursday, Dec. 2, according to the Albion Argus, Dr. W. R. Nay of Albion was taken to Lancaster by Sheriff Smoyer to begin serving a 3-year penitentiary sentence for allegedly performing an illegal operation, on which charge he was found guilty in district court. The sentence was imposed by Judge Louis Lightner.

As soon as his sentence in Lancaster is completed, Dr. Nay must serve three years in a federal prison because he was found guilty on a narcotics charge by Judge Donahoe in federal court at Omaha.

Both the illegal operation and narcotics sale took place while Dr. Nay was practicing his profession at Albion.

Funeral Today For Mrs. John C. Rogers Who Died Saturday

Widow of Prominent Ord Land Owner, Banker, Had Been In Failing Health.

In failing health for several months, Mrs. John C. Rogers, 76, passed away Saturday morning at her home in Ord and this afternoon at 2:00 funeral rites will be held in Sowell's chapel, Rev. Mearl C. Smith in charge. Interment in the Ord cemetery beside her husband will follow.

Mrs. Rogers was one of Ord's most highly respected women, having lived in this community almost fifty-five years.

She was the widow of John C. Rogers, who died May 22, 1935. Mayor of Ord for two terms, a director and president of the Nebraska State bank, Mr. Rogers was one of this community's wealthiest and most prominent citizens. He owned nine farms comprising 3,300 acres at the time of his death.

Mrs. Rogers was born in Kewanee county, Illinois, the daughter of Eli and Narcissa Hopkins, on April 10, 1861, and her girlhood was spent in Illinois. On Dec. 23, 1879 occurred her marriage to John Rogers, who had been a playmate in childhood, and for four years following their marriage the family home remained in Illinois.

In March, 1883 the Rogers family moved to Nebraska and located on a farm in Vinton township where they continued to reside until 1916. Then they moved to Ord and Mr. Rogers engaged in the implement business. This city remained Mrs. Rogers' home until her death last week.

Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, six girls and three boys. An infant daughter died August 21, 1894. One son, John C., jr., died January 4, 1911. A daughter, Iva Pearl, died August 7, 1935.

Surviving are six children, Mrs. Edna Burrows, and Eva M. Rogers Ord; Mrs. Elizabeth Honeycutt, Lake Stevens, Wash.; Mrs. Sadie G. Rapp, Broken Bow; R. Jay Rogers, Buhl, Ida.; L. W. Rogers, Ord. One brother, D. R. Hopkins, lives in Moran, Kas.

There are eleven grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. To neighbors while the Rogers home was in Vinton community Mrs. Rogers was known for her kindly deeds and hospitable spirit. Since moving to Ord, though she was essentially a home-loving woman, devoted to her family, she also was generally respected and loved.

She united with the Methodist church of Ord in 1925 and as long as her health permitted she was a regular attendant at services and took part in the activities of the church.

James Lee To Ask Neb. Supreme Court For "Writ of Error"

Bond Set at $10,000 Monday by Judge Kroger; County Must Pay the Costs.

In district court Monday James Lee filed notice of his intention of appealing to the Nebraska supreme court for a "writ of error" reversing the judgment and conviction which was handed down last week by Judge E. G. Kroger after a jury found Lee guilty of the crime of manslaughter.

Lee was tried on first degree murder charges for fatally wounding Gall Hiner with a rifle when he found the 14-year-old-Ord boy in his melon patch. First degree murder charges were dismissed by order of Judge Kroger and the jury then found Lee guilty of manslaughter. Judge Kroger sentenced Lee to serve ten years in prison, the maximum sentence possible on this charge.

Monday after Lee's attorneys, Davis & Vogelanz, had filed notice of his intention to appeal, Judge Kroger fixed recognition bond in the sum of $10,000 and gave Lee until the end of the present court term, March 14, 1938, to furnish bond and perfect his appeal. Under the Nebraska statutes, sureties on a bond in a criminal case must prove their worth as double the amount of the bond, so in reality signers of Lee's bond must put up $20,000 before he can secure his liberty.

Another development in the case Monday was filing of an affidavit by Lee that he is without funds to pay costs of the appeal so, as provided by law, Judge Kroger directed the court reporter and clerk of the district court to furnish his attorneys with copies of the evidence and pleadings, and to make up for him the transcript and bill of exceptions. The judge ordered Valley county to pay all the expense of so doing, which also is provided by statute.

Taxpayers of Valley county will have to pay all expenses in connection with Lee's fight for freedom, including the fees of his attorneys. So far, cost of the case, no attorneys' fees included, has been over $900.

The supreme court does not call any witnesses, deciding the appeal on a transcript of evidence submitted at Lee's trial here.

If he is unable to furnish bond, Lee will be held in jail here until the case is docketed by the supreme court, which probably will be in two or three weeks. Lee then will have 10 days longer in which to provide bond and if he fails to do so will be taken to the penitentiary until the case is heard by the court, which will be in 6 or 7 months.

Should Do Nothing To Hamper Project, City Heads Decide

Ord and Burwell Decide Buy Juice As Contracts Provide for 2 Years.

Notified last week by E. H. Dunmire, engineer-manager of the North Loup project, that construction of power lines from Olean to Burwell will commence at once and that the North Loup district hopes to be ready to sell electric energy to Ord and Burwell within thirty days, officials of the two municipalities held an informal meeting in Ord Monday afternoon to discuss the situation.

Decision reached was that no action that might embarrass or

Youth Must Serve 15 Month Sentence

Ralph Manchester Taken to Lancaster Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff.

Ralph "Toughy" Manchester, who was convicted last week in district court on a charge of assaulting Marshal James Coleman with a knife, must serve fifteen months in the Nebraska penitentiary, he learned Monday. Sentence was pronounced by Judge E. G. Kroger.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Kroger said to Manchester that he was giving him a minimum sentence but that he must bear in mind that he has served time before and, the next time he gets in trouble, he is likely to face trial under the habitual criminal act.

Tuesday morning the North Loup youth was taken to Lincoln by Deputy Sheriff F. J. Cohen.

Huge Crowds at Ord 'Farmers Days'

Poultry and Dairy Problems Discussed At Today's Session

Redditt, Schudel, Wood and Flock Are Speakers; Free Movies This Afternoon.

Jack Redditt, extension poultry expert from the University of Nebraska, substituted on this morning's "farmers days" program for Prof. F. E. Muschel, who was unable to come, and gave a splendid discussion of "Poultry Problems."

"You farmers should bear one thing in mind when raising poultry," said Redditt. "Consumer preferences should dictate what type of chickens you should raise."

He was heard by a group of about 700 farmers who crowded the Bohemian hall to its absolute capacity leaving an overflow crowd in the hallways and on the sidewalk. It probably was the largest group of farmers ever gathered at one hall in Ord.

"We hear a lot about Leghorns," Redditt stated, "but in my opinion there is only one Leghorn and that is the single comb White Leghorn." This type of Leghorn has been so improved in recent years that at present it is far superior to any other variety of Leghorn.

Too rapid hatching of eggs will create inferior chickens, the speaker said. For the utmost in quality chicks should be hatched out early in the spring. Extreme care should be practiced when culling chickens as careful selection in culling will make a wonderful increase in the average egg production of any flock, while holding expense of feed and care to a minimum. Feed is a determining factor in the quality of eggs turned out and quality feeds should always be used, stated Redditt.

The program was slightly behind schedule this morning but afternoon speakers are all in Ord and the program today will be completed as advertised.

Burwell Lumberman, Ill Several Weeks, Passes in Lincoln Hospital at 12:45.

Frank E. DeLashmutt, well known Burwell lumberman, passed away at 12:45 this morning at Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln. He underwent an operation some time ago, and was brought home, but his system did not respond readily, and he was taken back to the hospital, where he grew worse until the end came.

Frank E. DeLashmutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doug DeLashmutt, was born at Pacific Junction, Ia., June 18, 1890. He received his education in the schools of Pacific Junction and in Boulevard North Side high school, Denver, Colo. He served as a private in the World war.

June 18, 1919, he was married to Frances Coffin of Burwell. To this union three sons were born, Harry, Leslie and Keith, who with the widow survive him. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug DeLashmutt and two sisters, Mrs. L. J. Hummel and Mrs. L. H. Johnson of Burwell besides a large number of other relatives and friends.

He was a member of the Nebraska Lumber Merchants association, the Burwell Wranglers club, the Masons and the Eastern Star.

World-Herald Price Goes to $10 on January 1

This morning the Quiz, which recently was appointed mail circulation agent for the Omaha World-Herald in Valley and Garfield counties, received notice that, effective January 1, price of the World-Herald will be increased to $10.00 per year for the daily and Sunday papers. The new price is an increase of $3 per year over the old rate.

Up to January 1, through this office, you may renew your World-Herald subscription regardless of when it expires for only $7.00 per year. If you are not now taking the World-Herald but plan to subscribe later, better let us send in your subscription while the $7.00 per year price is still in effect.

Advancing costs of print paper and other materials, and increasing wages for union labor, are given as reasons for the increase. Most other big daily newspapers already have increased prices to $11 to $14 per year.

State May Condemn Route for Highway, Go Ahead Jan. 4th

So Rohrkasse Told Jackman, and Other Farmers; Denial Prices "Unreasonable."

That the Nebraska department of roads and irrigation may decide to condemn right-of-way for relocation of No. 11 highway and go ahead with construction next spring was the statement made last week to A. H. Jackman, North Loup farmer, by F. W. A. Rohrkasse, who was here seeking to acquire right-of-way for the new route proposed.

Visiting the Quiz office Saturday, Mr. Jackman denied that owners of land in Olean and District 42 neighborhoods asked "unreasonable prices" for right-of-way, so the Quiz launched an investigation to determine what, if anything, is likely to hold up construction of the much-needed highway.

Right-of-way sought by Rohrkasse starts with the Wm. Schauer farm and others who own land on the proposed route are W. O. Zanger, the Cunningham Estate, of which Martin Roach, of Patterson, Ia., is administrator, A. H. Jack-

Junior Class Play Monday, Dec. 20

"The Comic Supplement" play to be presented by the junior class of Ord high school on Monday, Dec. 20, is a fast moving comedy in which a mother-in-law tries to dominate the lives and affairs of several people. This results in a regular matrimonial mixup.

Miss Servino, director of the play gave her opinion of the play in these words, "I have an exceptionally fine cast, and production staff and it's going to be a grand little play." Other members of the cast were asked their opinions of the play. Dick Koupal, who plays the part of Art Armstrong, the man with the matrimonial troubles says, "It's delightful, delicious, and funny." Eleanor Wolfe, playing the part of Sheila Stover said "It's just one grand junior class play." But probably the best summary of the play was given by Gerald Hatfield when he said, "It's a good play in any man's language."

Sorghums Praised As Drouth Crops By Uni Speakers

800 Enjoyed Movies, Talks, Ate Pancakes Two Days As Guests of Ord.

Recommending that every farmer plant 5 or 10 acres of some variety of grain sorghum, as assurance of grain and roughage during drouth and semi-drouth years, Elvin Frolik, extension agronomist at the University of Nebraska, made the principal talk at Ord's "farmers days" program held Tuesday. A crowd estimated at 800 heard him and the other Tuesday speakers, who included E. G. Maxwell, a forestry expert, Charles Veleba, chairman of the Valley County Soil Conservation program, and Walter Tolman, extension agent in animal husbandry.

"Farmers' days" started auspiciously Tuesday in spite of a light snow-fall the previous night which left roads slippery. By 10:00 a. m., hour when the 2-day program was expected to open, the Bohemian hall was comfortably filled. More and more farmers and their wives arrived as the day progressed and by 1:30 p. m. all seats were taken and standing room was at a premium.

Dr. Earl Wise's "round the world" movies were the first feature and before the appetite of the crowd for unusual scenes was satisfied the dinner hour had been reached and passed. Farmers were high in their praise of these pictures, in fact several were heard to say that if Dr. Wise would repeat the showing today they'd like to see them again.

At 11:30 serving of pancakes, syrup and coffee started at the Masonic hall, people being sent over from the Bohemian hall in batches of about 100. Ed Mouver had several assistants but proved unable to bake pancakes fast enough and about 150 people were sent by committee members to various Ord restaurants where they were given dinner. About

China's Shrine in Hands of Invader

Beauty seldom means much to grim men of war—relentless fighters such as the Japanese pictured in top photo—advancing cautiously over ruins of destroyed houses as they pushed past the magnificent tomb of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the Chinese republic, and on to Nanking. The imposing mausoleum, shrine of all China, shown in lower photo, was almost the only structure left unburned by Chinese retreating to Nanking's walls. They said: "even the Japanese will not desecrate this tomb."

600 people were fed at the Masonic hall itself.

E. G. Maxwell, junior extension forester, was the first speaker in the afternoon, substituting for Clayton W. Watkins, extension forester, who could not be present.

"Tree Planting As an Aid to Erosion Control and Moisture Conservation" was Maxwell's topic, and he discussed the subject in much detail.

Reasons why trees should be planted, according to Maxwell, include their use for windbreaks, for post production, for wood lots, as an aid to wild life, and for beautification. Trees conserve moisture and hold the soil. Especially in gullies should trees be planted in Nebraska to stop the drastic land erosion that has been going on for the past several years, declared the speaker.

"Chinese elms are one of the best 'all-purpose' trees for our state," said Maxwell. "For general purposes they are hard to beat." He also listed red cedars as good and praised a type of tree new to Nebraska, the Kentucky coffee tree. Studies made of this tree at the university have shown it to be unusually sturdy and drought resistant, he declared.

The talk made by Agronomist Frolik, who followed Mr. Maxwell, was of especial interest to all farmers, as most people in this part of the country have experimented or want to experiment with sorghums and naturally want to know what kinds the University school of agriculture considers most suitable for use here.

Cheyenne Sorgo was mentioned by Frolik as perhaps the best all-around sorghum available. He also praised Atlas Sorgo.

"Grain sorghums are not new in Nebraska although there are many new varieties," he stated. Sorghums may be divided roughly into two classes, the grain sorghums and the forage sorghums. Among the many forage sorghums Atlas Sorgo is the highest yielding but is a later variety. Cheyenne Sorgo and Black Amber are earlier varieties and also are quite satisfactory.

Listed among the grain sorghums is the Sooner Milo, which yielded higher than any other sorghum in the state this year. This is often called "60 day milo." Early Kalo is a little later variety and certified Kalo seed can be procured readily in Valley county since there are two certified growers here, declared Frolik.

He advised farmers not to be over-zealous about the sorghums, as they are not a final solution to drought problems. Although they require much less moisture than corn they should not be planted as a substitute for corn, other than in comparatively small fields as insurance of some feed crop if corn is a failure. Sorghums too may fail to produce well if weather conditions are too adverse, he stated.

One big advantage of sorghums is that, with exception of sudan grass, they are almost totally grasshopper-resistant.

Difficulties may be encountered by the farmer who grows sorghums because there is hardly any demand for the roughage obtained from them—each farmer therefore roughage he raises. Harvesting and storing the sorghums also presents certain problems.

Sudan grass is the only sorghum recommended by Frolik for pasturing cattle, as there is too much poison (prussic acid) in the other varieties. When cut and properly cured there is no danger, however.

Following Mr. Frolik, Charles Veleba related his experience with the sorghums this year and told methods he used in planting and harvesting his crop. Although it was twice hailed on, Veleba stated that the yield of his sorghum was most satisfactory and that he thinks so highly of it that he will plant twice as great an acreage to this crop next season.

"Feeding grain sorghums" was the topic upon which Walter Tolman, extension agent in animal husbandry, spoke.

"For feeding purposes, grain sorghums may be compared to wheat as they are very similar," he stated. If sorghums are fed additional protein material such as skim-milk must be fed right along with the sorghum grain.

"These dry years have taught us that sorghums can be worked into the picture splendidly, to 'back up the line' for corn," he said.

"Sorghum seed is very similar to corn in composition. Both are high in starch and relatively low in protein. Sorghums contain slightly more protein than corn. Livestock feeding comparisons have been made with these two grains. Where ground and fed the grain sorghums have usually shown a replacement value of at least 90 percent."

"Very few people realize the relatively high value of sorghum seeds. Undoubtedly, more farmers in Nebraska would grow grain sorghum if they knew how the seed could be used to advantage or that there would be a dependable outlet for such surplus as they might produce."

"We are starting at the Nebraska experiment station a number of feeding tests in which we will make corn and grain sorghum comparisons. We hope commercial livestock feeders of Nebraska next fall will see fit to be in the market for surplus grain sorghum seed should there be a considerable amount of this grown in the state."

"Cattle, hogs and sheep all are being used in the experimental tests. Hog tests are under direction of Prof. William J. Loeffel. A ration of yellow shelled corn together with protein and mineral supplements is fed to the check lot."

"One lot gets whole white kafir, another gets white kafir coarsely ground and another white kafir finely ground."

"Forage sorghums grow into tall, leafy plants which yield a large tonnage of sweet, palatable forage with a somewhat lessened amount of grain. These sorghums make splendid silage and fodder."

"The department of animal husbandry for the past 10 years has been growing Atlas sorgo. It is a splendid yielder and probably over a period of years can be counted upon to outyield corn by 50 percent."

"In experimental work conducted with wintering stock we have found ensilage made from Atlas sorgo to possess a value of fully 90 per cent that of corn ensilage. Considering the much larger yield per acre, we found that the amount of gain put on calves and yearling steers per acre of feed land was materially greater where sorghum silage was used."

A report on feeding tests made with grain sorghum by the Hevner Serum Co., at Franklin, was scheduled to be given by Ben W. Harrington of Franklin but he found it impossible to come so this portion of the program had to be postponed.

Especially enjoyable Tuesday was music by a "Little German Band" from Burwell, directed by Melvin Struve. Members of this band are Rex Ilgenfritz, Billie Goodell, Billy Grunkemeyer, Russell Troxell and Carroll Demaree. Organized only a short time ago, this "German Band" is taking the country by storm.

C. C. Dale, Fred W. Coe, Glen Auble, E. S. Murray and other members of the committee putting on the "farmers' days" program for the sponsors, Valley County Farm Bureau and the Ord chamber of commerce, said last night they were very gratified at interest being shown.

"Attendance was much larger than we had hoped for," said Mr. Coe. "We are especially glad to see so many farmers present from Garfield, Loup and other counties, as well as from Valley."

The crowd today is expected to be larger than that of yesterday because drawing for the prizes, which include a diamond ring and an Avery cream separator, will take place this afternoon. Another feature of today is the free matinee for all farm wives which is being given by Manager M. Biemond of the Ord theatre. All farm women who come to Ord are invited to be his guests this afternoon. By 10:15 this morning about 500 farmers had registered at the hall, indicating today's crowd will be larger than yesterday's.

Speakers today include Professor Jack Reddit, poultry expert, who discussed poultry problems this morning. His talk was followed by "Experience in Growing Turkeys" by W. H. Schudel, of North Loup.

This afternoon Ivan D. Wood, extension engineer at the university, will talk on "Soil and Moisture Conservation Practices," which will be followed by a discussion led by Henry Zikmund. Later M. L. Plock, extension dairy specialist, will speak on "Feeding Milk Cows on Emergency Rations."

Music by a quartette and the free pancake feed at noon are entertainment features of the day.

Ord business men sponsored "farmers' days" as a gesture of good will toward their farmer friends. Everything is free; nobody will be asked to spend any money for anything either day. So far "farmers' days" have been a grand success and it is hoped they may be made an annual December event in Ord.

as it would necessitate a breach of contract by both municipalities.

"It is irrigation that we want—not power—and the only reason we agreed to take power was to assure getting irrigation," said an official present.

Contracts signed by Ord and Burwell obligate each town to buy electricity from the district when the district is in readiness to sell it, for a period of 30 years; but, should the irrigation project not be completed within a 2 year period then the contract is void.

Some time ago the North Loup district called for bids for construction of a power line from Olean to Burwell, passing through Ord, and the John F. Kerns Co. of Omaha was the low bidder with a bid of $4,888.20. This bid has now been approved by the PWA, the contract has been signed, and it is understood that the Kerns company will start construction immediately.

The North Loup district, says Mr. Dunmire, has made arrangements with the Western Public Service company to have electric energy brought over company lines to Olean, for transmission to Ord and Burwell. The agreement is to be in effect only temporarily, until the district can finance and build a power line from Elm Creek or Grand Island to Olean. Dunmire was in Scottsbluff Monday conferring with officials of the Western Public Service company relative to this agreement.

Officials of the North Loup project are hopeful that they will be permitted by the PWA to advertise for bids for construction of headgates or "turnouts" on all canals within a week or two, and get this work done during the winter, so the lateral system may be built in the spring. Engineer-Manager Dunmire has not given up hope that part, at least, of the acreage within the district will be under irrigation early next summer and that all of it will be brought under irrigation as the season progresses.

hamper North Loup district officials in completing the project should be taken by either Ord or Burwell.

In other words, both Ord and Burwell will live up to the contracts they signed late in August, in every detail, it was unofficially agreed.

Present at the meeting Monday, so far as the Quiz can learn, were Claude Becker, mayor, E. Hansen, light commissioner, and Leonard Johnson, city clerk, from Burwell; Gould B. Flagg, mayor, Ralph W. Norman, attorney, and George Allen, light and water commissioner, from Ord.

The suggestion was made that, because so far no contracts have been let for construction of irrigation laterals and it therefore appears that irrigation may not be available for the crop season of 1938, it might be advisable to notify the North Loup district, through Mr. Dunmire, that neither Ord nor Burwell will buy juice until they are given assurance, through letting of contracts for laterals, that the irrigation works will be completed on time.

Discussion revealed that this position is not feasible, inasmuch man, Paul Robinson of North Platte and Charles Bridge.

Questioned by a Quiz reporter Tuesday, Mr. Schauer said he had no difficulty in reaching an agreement as to price with Rohrkasse. For the new road the state will need six acres of his land, said Schauer, including land for borrow dirt. "We are ready to sign if the others agree," said Mr. Schauer.

Rohrkasse's proposition was "satisfactory" to both Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Zangger, they said Tuesday. About ten acres of their land will be used by the state if the deal goes through. Price offered by the state is regarded by the Zanggers as "fair". Since the road goes along the railway track through their farm their property will not be damaged to an extent greater than price offered by the state for the ten acres.

To get right-of-way through the Cunningham land condemnation proceedings will have to be reported to anyway, the Quiz learned from Mr. Zangger, since the heir is a minor. There should be no difficulty in securing this right-of-way, Zangger believes.

A cement building used for dairying purposes will have to be rebuilt on the A. H. Jackman farm if the road goes where the state desires but Mr. Jackman says he discussed this matter with Mr. Rohrkasse and found him willing to pay reasonable damages for such rebuilding. He regards the price offered him for right-of-way as "fair," Mr. Jackman says. It is over twice as much as the irrigation district paid him for similar land.

Paul Robinson of North Platte, is understood to be willing to sell right-of-way through his farm though he had not been seen by state highway officials when Rohrkasse left Ord last week.

Only land owner who refused to sell right-of-way is Charles Bridge, who told the Quiz Tuesday that the price offered is only about half what he paid for the land. The highway would go through his best farm land, taking about eight acres, he said; further, it would run within 45 feet of his house and many fine trees would have to be removed. He feels he is entitled to damages.

Question of who will pay expense of laterals under the new highway is another matter undecided at the present time. On the Jackman, Robinson and Bridge land, irrigation water will have to be led beneath the new highway by cement culverts. Blueprints for the highway as prepared by state engineers show that the laterals are provided for and it seems likely that the state expects to pay cost of getting irrigation water across or under the new roadway No. 11 highway between the Schauer and Bridge farms are available under the federal grade crossing elimination program, so as soon as right-of-way is secured either by purchase or condemnation construction can be started. It is hoped that the state will reach an agreement with Mr. Bridge soon, and that other troubles will be ironed out.

R. O. Hunter Substitutes as M. E. Preacher

A very unusual service was held at the Ord Methodist church Sunday morning, when R. O. Hunter took the place of Rev. Mearl C. Smith in the pulpit and delivered a very satisfactory address. Rev. Smith was unable to be present at the service due to a severe attack of the flu, but through the courtesy of Auble Bros., was able to listen in on the service. Microphones were installed both for the speaker and for the choir, and a receiving set was placed in the parsonage. Rev. Smith enjoyed the services very much, and stated that the music sounded even better over the "mike" than it ordinarily does from his location in the church.

Mrs. Frank Kamerad Dies At Age of 75

At the National hall Friday at 1:00 p. m., funeral services were held for Mrs. Frank Kamerad, 75, who passed away at her home in Comstock on Dec. 7 after a long period of ill health. Rev. B. A. Filipp, of Clarkson, conducted the last rites and a quartet composed of Mrs. Glen Auble, Mrs. E. O. Carlson, Rev. S. A. Woodruff, Jr., and John R. Haskell, sang. Interment was in the National cemetery.

Marie Kamerad was born August 2, 1862, the daughter of Caspar and Mary Kresak, in Bohemia, and grew to womanhood there. Announcing TWO NEW FORD V-8 CARS FOR 1938

THE DE LUXE 85 HORSEPOWER

DE LUXE FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase; 85-horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Mohair or Broadcloth upholstery; Walnut-finished trim; Twin horns, tail lights, sun visors; Clock; 6.00" black tires, white side-walls are extra; 8 body types; 6 colors.

THE STANDARD 60 OR 85 HORSEPOWER

STANDARD FORD V-8... 112" wheelbase; 85 or 60 horsepower engine; Improved Easy-Action Safety Brakes; Center-Poise Ride; All-steel body; Broadcloth or Mohair upholstery, Mohair extra in '60'; Mahogany-finished trim; One tail light, sun visor; Twin horns; 3 body types; 3 colors.

FORD offers two new cars for 1938—the Standard Ford V-8 and the De Luxe Ford V-8. They are different in appearance—but built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence—on the same chassis.

Because people liked our 1937 car so well, they bought more than of any other make. They liked its looks, its smooth performance, and the way it handled. We have improved on that car in the newly styled Standard Ford V-8.

But some folks wanted still more size and style, with the same Ford advantages. For them, we designed a new De Luxe line.

The De Luxe Ford V-8 Sedans are longer with more room, larger luggage space, and finer appointments all around.

De Luxe cars are equipped with the 85-horsepower engine only.

The Standard is even lower priced than the De Luxe. It has graceful new lines and well-tailored interiors—with a choice of engine sizes—85 or 60 horsepower.

Before Ford made V-type 8-cylinder engines available to every one, they were used only in expensive cars. Since then, four million Ford owners have learned the genuine enjoyment of driving an eight-cylinder car with all-around economy.

The thrifty "60" engine, especially, makes possible in Standard models a very low first cost and equally low operating cost. With two distinct designs, two engine sizes and two price ranges, you'll find a 1938 Ford car to fit your needs exactly.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.)—Coupe, $599; Tudor, $644; Fordor, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.)—Coupe, $629; Tudor, $669; Fordor, $714. De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only)—Coupe, $689; Tudor, $729; Fordor, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $719; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Ord Township Library

On a table at the Ord Township Library may be found a few books between book ends, before which is a card on which is printed, "Have You Read These?" Each book in this list is sufficiently unusual to excite the interest of anyone at all interested in books. The first is the Bible. It is a King James version edited and arranged by Ernest Sutherland Bates. Instead of following the form of all the Bibles of former years, it is arranged much as are the books of modern days, with all the prose properly paraphrased, and all poems, including the Psalms and Proverbs in full and many of the other Old Testament books in part, written as poetry, which greatly improves one's ability to read and understand.

The Book of Culture, the basis for a liberal education, was written by Ethel Peyser and published in 1934. This book tells briefly about all the great writers of all time, with some samples of their work. It deals also with sculpture, art, music, architecture, philosophy, astronomy, chemistry, history, and the motion picture and radio. Few casual visitors to the library have any idea of the scope taken in by the books within its walls.

Of a different type is Practical Amateur Photography, by William L. Davis. The author explains in detail every part of this fascinating subject. No amateur can afford to waste his time and material taking pictures without first reading this book. Coronado's Children, by J. Frank Doble, is a tale of lost mines and buried treasures of the southwest, beginning with the tale of Don Bernardo de Miranda in 1756, and going on down through the history of the old west. It is a book that should have a great fascination for young men.

Last in the list, but perhaps most important of all, is "Let's Travel Safely", by Thomas Allen. It is a plea for safe and sane use of the highways, with studies of traffic problems and their solution. Other chapters include instructions on the use of the highway, rules for pedestrians and operators of vehicles, rules of the right of way, and speed regulations. It is a book every driver may read with profit. When you go to the library don't fail to look over the books labeled, "Have you Read These?"

"How much for green peas?" "One dollar a pound." "But that's robbery!" "No. Don't you know the public wants peas at any price?"

Madison Square Cemetery Place of Beauty

Gil Dilsaver in the family plot in Madison Square cemetery, of which he is caretaker.

Charley Swanson and the family monument he built from stones gathered in seven states.

The territory directly west of Taylor, beginning about four miles out and extending over an area of about ten miles east and west and six miles north and south is known to fame under the name of Madison Square. The town of Burwell owes much to that territory, for the Crams and the F. A. Johnsons came from there originally, being descendants of early settlers of that place.

In spring and summer it is a beautiful view with its grassy hillsides and its fields of grain ripening for the harvest, for Madison Square, they say, has never had a total failure. It is worth anyone's while to make a trip through the valley in the spring for the general view alone, but there are some spots that merit special mention, not the least of these being the Madison Square cemetery.

This cemetery would not look out of place as the resting place of the dead from a small city, for it is beautifully located and has had the best of care for years. Gil Dilsaver is the man who should have credit for most of the work that has been done there, as he has trimmed the cedars for years, and today they show a symmetry that is an honor to the man who did the work.

Another contributor to the beauty of this city of the dead is Charley Swanson, once of Madison Square, but now living in Sargent. He is a busy man but finds time from his duties to take a trip out to the cemetery occasionally to do his bit in keeping everything looking all right. His special contribution is the lovely monument shown above.

This monument, as well as the coping around the lot and the crypt covers shown in the above photo, were all made by Mr. Swanson, who used a concrete base with a layer of lovely stones of all kinds around the outside. These stones were gathered by Mr. and Mrs. Swanson over a period of years on trips made to different parts of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Swanson are both alive and in good health, but they have the satisfaction of knowing that some day they will rest under a monument that is unlike anything to be seen anywhere else. The unusual thing about this cemetery is that there is no well, and those who tended it have had to depend upon nature which has been very fickle the past few years.

Arcadia News

The occasion was in honor of Mr. Hastings' birthday and Miss Helen Starr's birthday, Dec. 9. He is very active and enjoys good health, taking an interest in social affairs and business. He is proud that he has seen 90 years and the greater number of them in Arcadia, where he has been in business and seen many improvements in the little village.

Christmas announcement. Dear Paid Up Subscriber: You couldn't find a nicer Christmas gift to have sent to a son or daughter or other relative or friend than 52 copies of the Quiz. You may have overlooked the amazing offer we made last week, to send the paper for a whole year, 52 weeks, to anyone in the state of Nebraska that you wish it sent to, for only one dollar. That is an offer that you can't afford to overlook or pass up. And you only have a few days in which to take advantage of it. We can't send it outside the state for that price. We agree to stop it promptly at the end of the year paid for. This amounts to a $1.00 Christmas present from us to you because you are a paid up subscriber if you take advantage of this offer. Why don't we extend this offer to those Quiz subscribers not now paid up? Because, manifestly, if they can't pay their own subscription they couldn't subscribe for someone else. Surely there are several hundred Quiz subscribers who will want to take advantage of this offer to send the Quiz for a whole year for one dollar, to some neighbor, friend or relative. California Baby Has 12 Grandparents

Too young to realize how well she is supplied with grandparents is the baby in this picture, little Barbara Mae Hecht, who has four grandparents, seven great grandparents and a great grandmother living. Nine of them are seen in this party, members of which are: Left to right, front row—Mrs. J. B. Nay, Mrs. Frank Nay, Mrs. Evidene Hecht and baby Barbara Mae and husband, Mrs. Hecht, sr., Mrs. Mitten; and in the back row, J. B. Nay, Frank Nay, Mrs. Alice Vincent, Mr. Hecht, sr., and Mr. Mitten. Repairs Needed at Hardenbrook Dam

'Link' Lyman Speaker For Ord's Banquet

Roy "Link" Lyman, line coach at the University of Nebraska, will be principal speaker at a banquet given by the Ord chamber of commerce in honor of Ord high school's championship football team and the Ord coaching staff, in the high school auditorium on Wednesday, January 5.

At first it was hoped to have the banquet in December and have Major "Biff" Jones as the speaker but there were no open dates in his schedule before early spring. Lyman, his chief assistant, also was booked up until after the holidays and January 5 was the first date it was possible for him to visit Ord, so this date was selected for the banquet.

Coach Lyman will bring with him movies of various Cornhusker games and will show them at the banquet, which will be open to the public.

Nimrods Must Fill Out Applications

Nebraska nimrods next year must fill out written applications for hunting, fishing or trapping licenses, announces Frank B. O'Connell.

This change was ordered by the Game, Forestation and Parks Commission for three reasons: To prevent non-resident hunters taking advantage of the lower priced licenses in the state; to procure good and needed statistics about hunters, fishermen and trappers in Nebraska; and to determine whether hunters are physically able to carry and use firearms.

There will be no delay in getting the licenses as they may be procured at the usual places and no approval of the application is required.

Ravenna Schedules Thirteen Contests

A schedule of thirteen games, besides two tournaments lies in store for the 1937-38 Ravenna basketball squad. During the season the Ravenna-ites will meet Lexington, Kearney, Holdrege and Broken Bow.

Prospects for a successful season are bright. Leonard Larson, former Hazard star, and Bud Capellan, former OCC performer, will both be eligible to play after the first semester is over. These two men plus two veterans, Bob Hamilton and Jack Smith, will make up a combination difficult to defeat.

All-Opponent Eleven. The Comstock News has listed the following boys on their "All-Opponent Eleven" for 1937:

Ends—Brass, Sargent; Mitchell, Scotta.
Tackles—McCall, Arcadia; Shue, Litchfield.
Backs—Smith, Arcadia; Emerson, Sargent; Ferguson, Ansley; Newhouser, Litchfield.

Select Grid Queen. Miss Lucille Fiebig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fiebig was chosen "Grid Queen" for 1937 by Loup City high school students last week. The queen was chosen from a group of five girls selected by members of the football squad, the final choice being made by a general vote. Louise Golus, Loup City quarterback, was selected by his teammates as honorary captain of the 1937 squad.

Dannebrog Team Begins To Shape

Basketball practice has been going on in earnest at Dannebrog for the past month with several scheduled games having been played. In a pre-schedule game with the Dannebrog town team the Eagles lost out by the close verdict of 19 to 17.

Players who are showing up well are R. Adams, forward; H. Hald, forward; J. Nelson, guard; and L. Hansen, guard. Other boys who are out for the team include: P. Christensen, forward; K. Nelson, center; K. Thompson, center; G. Hansen, guard.

Ericson Loses Three

Since the 30th of November the Ericson high school basketball team has lost three contests. Scores of games thus far have been: Bartlett 27, Ericson 14; Primrose 35, Ericson 14; Spalding Academy 35, Ericson 15. Delbert Davis and Edward Booth, two forwards, have been outstandingly good in games played thus far this season.

St. Paul Five Meets Stiff Competition

Included on the St. Paul basketball schedule this year are three of the "better" teams of Nebraska high school prep circles—Hastings, Central City and Grand Island.

Over 40 boys have turned out for practice at the Wildcat camp, but only two lettermen from the 1936-37 squad return to the line-up this year. Walter Nielsen, one of the lettermen, will be out for the first of the season with a broken finger suffered in football. Southard is the remaining veteran.

Promising material, returning from last year's squad, consists of Donald Lynch, Robert Stone, Ed Hanisch, Jim Davis, Orville Thomson, Eudell Nielsen, Robert Hanisch and Arthur Scull.

Gridders Gain Weight. In checking over the weights of the Scotia football team before and after the 1937 football season it was found that the 26 gridsters gained a total of 207 pounds, for an average of eight pounds per player.

Program at Dist. 30. A Christmas program will be held at 8:00 on Tuesday, Dec. 21, at District 30 school, says the teacher, Miss Mildred Hrdy. Children will give a program, followed by a playlet given by patrons. The public is invited.

Barnes, Hughes, Cetak, Given All-State Honors By McBride

EDGAR BARNES.

DALE HUGHES.

CHARLES CETAK.

Two Ord high school gridsters received high honors Sunday as the annual All-State awards were announced by the Omaha World-Herald and the Sunday Lincoln Journal and Star. Edgar Barnes, Ord fullback, received highest honors of the trio, being given a full-back berth on the World-Herald second team. Dale Hughes, along with Barnes, was placed on the Roll of Honor in the Journal and Star. Charles Cetak, another Ord ace, was given honorable mention in both the Herald and the Star. Pictures of both Hughes and Barnes appeared in the Sunday Journal and Star.

Gregg McBride who made all selections, was high in his praise of Barnes, saying, "Barnes was a hard hitting fullback who blocked and tackled with plenty of decision. During the season he scored 73 points. Barnes was the key man on an Ord eleven which was not scored upon."

This is the greatest number of players from the Ord school that has ever gained All State recognition. Only 12 out of the 51 schools represented in the selections placed more than two men on the honorary lists.

Those to be placed on the Herald All-State team were: Sid Held, Lincoln, end; Eldis Samp, Kearney, tackle; Dick Sundberg, Omaha Central, guard; Tom Brock, Columbus, center; Everett Kiefer, Fall City, guard; Edwin Samuelson, Grand Island, tackle; Dick Luther, Cambridge, end; Sam Neely, Scottsbluff, quarterback; Douglas Hudson, Curtis, halfback; Bob Brown, Omaha Benson, halfback; Everett Nitchie, Holdrege, fullback.

Several other gridsters in Loup Valley and Mid Six conferences were recognized by McBride. Floyd Smith, brilliant Arcadia player, was given a fullback position on the fourth team. Honorable mention awards went to: Bob Hamilton, center, Ravenna; Ed Augustyn, tackle, Loup City; Parsh Amost, back, Sargent; Roger Dowse, back, Comstock; Francis Graves, back, Burwell; Louise Golus, back, Loup City; Walter Nielsen, back, St. Paul; Russell Emerson, back, Sargent; "Chick" O'Neill, back, Ravenna.

Chanticleers Play No. Loup Thursday

Ord basketball fans will get a second chance to see the 1937-38 Ord high school basketball quintet in action this Thursday night when the Chanticleers will have it out with North Loup on the local floor.

Coach Wally Wills of North Loup has three lettermen on the North Loup squad this year, including Noyes, Sims and Annays. Several other boys have shown up good in practices, promising candidates being Walter, Birmingham, Hoepner, Weed, K. Waits, Goodrich, Cox and Palser. North Loup defeated Ashton last week.

After the Tuesday night scrimmage with Comstock, Coach Brockman may change his line-up in an effort to locate his "top" combination. At any rate, Ord fans are planning to attend the game Thursday night in big numbers as this will be their last chance to see the Chanticleers in action for nearly a month. Next contest of the season for Ord will be on Jan. 7 when Kearney plays at Ord.

Seventy Loup City Cagers Turn Out

With three groups working out daily, the first and second team squads and the juniors, a total of about 70 boys are out for basketball practice at Loup City this year. Early practices indicate that the 1938 quintet will be exceptionally fast.

Returning to the line-up from last year's squad are Archie Ellrod, Louie Golus and the Maca brothers, Henry Czechovak and Boyd Grow, both of whom played last year, will not play this year because of injuries received in football.

Basketball interest has grown by leaps and bounds at Loup City since the construction of a new auditorium last year. Three different tournaments, including the Loup Valley, were held at Loup City during the 1937 season.

Under Contract To St. Louis Cardinals

Cecil Feehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Feehan of Greeley, is under contract to play ball for the St. Louis Cardinals or any team that uses players from their farm. Young Feehan, only 19 years of age, played with several ball clubs in Kansas last year, handling the catching position to perfection.

Something DIFFERENT

Now Men, stare a few facts in the face. I want to state that women are not hard to buy Christmas presents for! And I want to prove it. To help you. Read my tips and become a Christmas-time Romeo.

There are rafts of gifts that women welcome. Firstly, consider that personal gifts are always a delight. And secondly, if she keeps house, gifts for her home will please her. And thirdly, if she does her own work, don't ever decide she won't be glad to own some new and modern working equipment for her Christmas present.

Now, for the personal gifts. Perfume is a flattering gift, a luxurious gift. Buy the finest perfume you can afford, even if it is only a wee bottle. Or get her a compact. Any personal gift that is unnecessarily nice, nicer than she would buy for herself, she will be thrilled to find in her stocking Christmas morn.

A nice pocketbook, or gloves to keep her fingers warm while she skates and a scarf and cap to match... get them in the bright colors now so fashionable if she is young and full of vim. If it is for your mother, buy her dress gloves, or if she needs warm ones get those.

Anything she longs for, or once had but has worn out, anything she "always liked"... those are gift ideas for you.

Silk stockings, or a box full of lovely underthings, what's the matter with that thought? A new dress, there's another. Show me the woman in this part of the country who wouldn't be happy to win a pretty new house dress! Or lounging things, they have never been prettier, robes with z-zippers, or pajamas, whatever she likes best.

Dressing table equipment, or travelling bags... more thoughts I offer to you free of charge. A picture of yourself, if you are sure she is really fond of you! Are you positive?

That doesn't exhaust the personal ideas by any means, but surely it should offer you a tip or two. Then for her house, what does she need? Is it a comfortable new rocker? Buy her a rocker, if that's what she likes, and don't be so darned fashionable.

Maybe she loves flowers, and there are some new kinds of her favorite she wants for the bay window. Or perhaps a flower stand. An indirect lighting lamp will save her eyes a lot, and maybe her eyes could use a little saving after all the use they've had.

Pillows, perhaps a mattress for her bed... what is it your wife is hankering for? You should know, after being with her 364 days since last Christmas. A new radio would surely add to her pleasure a thousand-fold if she stays home a good deal, or is a shut-in. Perhaps installing a telephone would be a real Christmas present for the whole family, had you thought of that?

—OO—

And equipment. I meant it. Women do like to get a new washing machine for Christmas. If the old one broke down a while back, or won't wring the clothes now, or isn't strong enough to do the big washings. Nothing was ever invented to save women so much backache. A new electric iron, does she need that? Or a new range, or maybe a sandwich grill is what she has been wanting.

A set of dishes is not to be sneered at. Or a new tablecloth either, or the dining table to go under it. Or possibly the kitchen needs papering, she might like that, too, or you could go farther and remodel that unhandy kitchen. Had you considered that? Of course you could build her a new house too, but that is a bit extreme in our drouth-ridden country this year, isn't it? I fear I went too far on that last one.

A book if you know her taste, or a subscription to a magazine. Or just perhaps a subscription to the Quiz?

And now, having substituted for Mr. H. D. Leggett, I will close. With love and kisses, hoping you wear a size 14 stocking and that Santa will fill it with a scoop shovel.

—Irma.

THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS.

Each Christmas-tide brings up a question which no doubt is an old as Christmas itself, and today the children all over our land are asking themselves "Is there a Santa Claus?"

In the final analysis, Santa Claus is a spirit, the spirit of giving, and it was that spirit that took three of the wisest men of their day on that long winter journey into a far country to be the first to worship the Christ and lay their gifts at his feet.

These representatives of three of the greatest nations of that day were not ashamed to be the first to play Santa Claus, and they started a custom that has persisted ever since and which will continue so long as time shall last.

From that first Christmas eve mankind began to adopt the idea of giving gifts to their families and friends on Christmas eve and as time went on people gave to this spirit various names, those best known to us being Santa Claus and St. Nicholas.

Today all little folks and their parents believe implicitly in that spirit, under whatever name it may be known. But there comes a time in the lives of many of our young men and women when they think it smart to shout to the world "There ain't no Santa Claus!"

The man or woman who denies the existence of the spirit of service, the spirit of giving good gifts to friends, is treading on dangerous ground. He is putting himself on a par with the person who insists on telling everybody he sees that there is no God.

For the spirit of giving and belief in a supreme being must ever go hand in hand. The fundamental of giving was set forth by Christ when he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The spirit of Santa Claus is more alive in Valley county today than for several years. The annual Red Cross drive went over the top with a goodly margin to spare. This money given in the spirit of Christmas time goes to help the unfortunate in time of need.

The need is greater today than it has been for years, and Mr. and Mrs. Citizen realizing that need, sacrificed more that humanity might not suffer.

So, little folks, when some wise young man who should know better tries to tell you there is no Santa Claus, tell him to take the Bible and read the story of that first Christmas eve, and chances are he will change his tune.

The fellow who doesn't believe in old Santa has outgrown the age in which he does all the receiving and is at the age where he should do some giving. He is an unbeliever because he is too stingy to give.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS. Of special interest to Americans should be Brazil's long and unsuccessful attempt at control of their coffee crop.

It seemed plenty cold for a few days. But ten years ago on Dec. 6 the thermometer dropped to 20 below. Doesn't that make you feel warmer.

By H. D. Leggett

I have got some notions about educating young men and women that don't coincide with the views of most people, I suspect. I believe that a whale of a lot of young people are being over-educated. By that I mean that they are pushed through college, often against their will, the dominating thought of the fond parents being that they don't want their children to "have to slave as we did," is the way they put it.

In this connection, to say that all are created equal is bunk. We all know it is not true. A young man or woman, starting out with a definite goal in mind, will always make more or less of a success regardless of education. Having that definite goal and the ability and a determination to reach it, the way is smoothed by having the education.

Lacking the necessary ambition or mental ability, many times the higher education has spoiled a laborer by making him believe that the world owes him a white collar job. And to prove my point, that having ability and ambition, he will arrive, I am reprinting the following brief story about Walter P. Chrysler.

"Every young printer should read the life story of Walter P. Chrysler. Not that Mr. Chrysler ever was a printer, but he always was and probably continues to be, a great workman. Here is a story of a poor youngster who plunged into work wholeheartedly. He wasted no time fighting for shorter hours, and he never once thought of limiting production. He was determined to make a success of his life, and he had sense enough to know that only those who are great producers achieve conspicuous success.

In the beginning he made his own tools. He learned how to fashion things with his own hands. "Not content with what he might learn from his fellow workmen, he took correspondence courses, read books, and wrote countless letters to people who were in position to give him additional information.

It was not by mere luck or chance that when he was in his thirties he had charge of millions of dollars' worth of railroad equipment. His was the controlling voice when the Chicago Great Western Railway bought new engines, cars, coal, and other things. "Young Chrysler also had vision. He wasn't just a railroad. He thought in terms of transportation. That's why, with only $700 in the bank, he borrowed $4,300 with which to purchase a Locomobile.

He bought that automobile, not because he wanted to speed around the country or to show off, but because he wished to take it apart and put it together again over and over, thus learning how the best automobile of that time was made.

"Later on he quit a $12,000 job and took one at $6,000 a year because he felt there was a greater future for him in the automobile field than in the railroad job with which he had started. "One of the things he learned by experience is that men who receive their technical training in college lack something valuable which he picked up working in the shop. These college trained men, he found, were ineffective when they tried to interpret what they knew and what they wanted done to the rough fellows in the shop. Young Chrysler had, inside himself, the essence of the shopworkers' knowledge and something more. He could get out on the floor of any shop, walk into any roundhouse, and do any man's job with calipers or hammer or turret lathe. He had not been handicapped at all by the overall route he had followed.

"What this country needs is an increasing number of young fellows who will combine college training with actual work in shops. They should start working with their hands when they are youngsters, just as Walter Chrysler did. His success certainly is a most powerful argument in favor of the apprentice system."

Having such a delicate appetite that I have resorted to artificial means of whetting said appetite in order to be able to eat my meals, I have formed the habit of reading cooking recipes. My mother was one of those old fashioned, wonderful cooks and my Aunt Alice trotted in the same class and believe you me, the women had to trot those days, in order to get the housework all done, for the modern conveniences of today were unknown 60 years ago. But what I started to talk about was beans. Baked beans if you please. I just read two recipes for cooking baked beans and the other made me mad.

When my mother cooked baked beans she first picked over the beans the evening before and put them to soak in a kettle or pan of water, setting them on the cook stove in the morning and letting them simmer an hour or so. Then she would put a teaspoonful of baking soda in the pan, stir the beans up and let them simmer a few moments and then pour the water off and put the beans into the kettle where, already, a liberal chunk of nice pickled pork had been cooking. The pork and beans were kept cooking till about an hour before noon, (dinner time, not lunch) then they were taken off and put into a big pan with the hunk of meat centered in the pan and sticking up above the beans, and they were baked until noon.

Trouble with most of the old silent film stars hanging around movie studios is that they won't talk

THE LITTLE HOUSE WITH THE BIG CHIMNEY

Of course the beans were mushy and were they good. And are they good. For the Missus, also an old fashioned cook, follows the same method, only she adds a little sugar and some dry mustard well stirred into the beans, which greatly improves them. But what makes me mad is, that all these modern recipes say to cook the beans till they are done but not enough to make them mushy. They want them to stay whole. Barton Clement didn't even want them soft. He wanted to hear them rattle as they dropped into his stomach.

What President Roosevelt has been looking after, and is still looking after is votes and he shows mighty good political judgment in catering to the poor rather than the rich; there are so many more of them. And any turn which he now seems to be making to the right will no doubt soon be changed to the left.

I hope that, at least by the first of January Quiz readers will again send in recipes in sufficient numbers so Irma can start the Cooks Col-Yum-Yum.

"Millionaires and professors don't win elections," republican governor Aiken of Vermont told republican party leaders the other day. But I was under the impression that professors won elections for the democrats the past few years.

"What does the government mean by a balanced budget?" said a man to me the other day. I had to reply that a balanced budget was just the same anywhere, government, state or private business. A balanced budget is when you take in as much as you spend. That is all there is to it. The government is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars more every day than it takes in. It has been doing just that for six years or nearly that. The only way I could do that would be to borrow the money. You all know what would happen pretty soon. The only way the government can do it is to borrow the money and if it keeps doing it long enough the same thing will happen that would happen to me. And that is just what people who have money with which they could go into business and give employment to those needing it, are afraid of. They prefer to put their money in tax free securities. And now many of them are getting panicky about the safety of even those investments.

A Poor Alibi. A big inch and a half spread across the Sunday Journal and Star says "Huskies hold Oklahoma O-O." What a poor alibi. It should have read "Oklahoma hold Huskers O-O." Sports writers should not be blinded to the fact that the tie they gloat over was a tragic defeat for the Huskers. Our early football education was neglected, but even so we realize that when a team comes out of the southwest that has only won from us twice in sixteen years, and holds the 1937 Huskers to a tie, that it is far from being something to crow over. We don't like to disparage the efforts of the Huskers, but we might as well be honest with ourselves and admit a kicking such as we got last Saturday.—Wahoo Democrat.

The Comes. The comic page of the newspaper is of interest to almost everyone. Some read it first, some read it last, but nearly everyone reads it. It all seems rather peculiar for nine times out of ten the jokes are no jokes at all.

Art Hutchins reads them first because he likes that part of the paper best. My mother reads them last like she eats her cake, for the same reason. I knew of a minister a few years ago who ceased taking the daily because his ten-year-old boy had become so fascinated over the funnies. The minister may as well have taken the paper for the boy, after that, secretly stopped at the neighbors each night and read them. For the most part the comics are positively harmless.

The choice of the funnies varies with the people. My father liked

A Piece of News, Related.

A little item of news that seemed to have missed publication was told to me by Gifford Hutchins the other day. Gifford is the traveling salesman for the Aermotor Windmill Company, his territory that of northern Iowa and northern Nebraska. He drives a 1937 Plymouth and while approaching Des Moines one rainy evening at about forty miles an hour he felt his wheels slip. He presumed, afterward, that he must have applied his brakes. He does not know for sure. What he does know is that he skidded to the side of the pavement and tipped over. It was all done so quickly he does not know the details but a lady who happened to be an eye witness said the car rolled over twice. Anyway at the end of the tumble he was right side up, in the ditch and unharmed.

He climbed out and looked his car over. The tires were still intact, every fender was bent badly, and both axles were sprung. There was not a glass broken, except the windshield and it was shattered. The top was jammed some. A crowd immediately assembled and an oil station man near said the reason he skidded perhaps, was that oil had been spilled on the pavement there.

G. L. stepped back into the car and drove it up out of the ditch. He was of a mind to drive it on into town, or try to, but a truck came along then and took him in. He told the Plymouth Garage to go after his car. He went to bed and went to sleep.

The next morning he collected his insurance, traded the wreck for a new car almost identical to the old one and by noon was on his way again selling windmills. That afternoon he was to meet his brother and he did that and forgot to tell him of the accident until the next day.

He returned home the end of the week. The car was so near the same that his wife did not know of the trade, nor the tip-over until they were ready to go to church and she noticed the choker had a slightly different handle. Asking about it reminded him of the affair and he explained the reason for the new car.

He was not harmed in the least but still there was something funny about it all. On the back of his coat was a chunk of mud and as yet he does not know where it came from.

It Takes Some Constitution. Exactly 107 proposals to amend the Constitution are now awaiting congressional action. Fifteen would make declaration of war impossible without a popular vote. Thirty-two would affect the nation's court set-up. Ten related to the election laws. Nine would permit Congress to aid farmers. Eight would alter tax laws. Seven would bar child labor. Six would change the method of amending the Constitution, and five would permit wage-hour legislation.—Ravenna News.

Roosevelt Plans Housing Boom to Free Capital, Aid Business

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—Hoping to stir business out of its lethargy the President suggests a 16 million dollar housing boom, and will do his part by conferring with leaders of labor, industry, and finance to try to get the costs of building materials and labor down to a level that will invite capital.

As further inducement the administration has proposed changes in the FHA law, and some method of bolstering the housing market such as capital gains tax exemptions and taxation of income from tax exempt bonds.

Dammed up funds of insurance companies and mutual savings banks are ready to be released into a proper channel and a housing boom might provide that outlet. It is possible private capital will continue to shy away from administration-sponsored projects or fields in this case it might become necessary for Roosevelt to start a large scale housing program of his own with federal money.

If this happened and if private capital relented, there remains the uncertainty as to how much consumer response there would be to new housing. The National Housing Committee has decided to withhold its report on the available market for houses for a while.

But when that report is published it will show the number of families in various income brackets as related to the rent they are able to pay. Theoretically, an income of $50 a week can pay a monthly rent of $50 on a house the average cost of which would be about $5000. About 85 per cent of all housing units built in the period from 1930-1937 cost an average of $5000.

The report will show too that there is a sizable shortage of proper houses for people who earn less than $50 a week, and so a need for houses costing less than $5000. This bears out the President's contention that cost of construction and rents for new houses must be lowered if a building boom is to be encouraged. The National Housing Committee, which has Monsignor John A. Ryan as chairman, and industrialists and labor leaders as members, has done an important job of research in uncovering the state of the housing market.

Their survey shows that low income groups and high income groups have come out of the depression more quickly than the man who buys an average modestly priced house.

If investors and investing institutions continue to avoid heavy investments in housing, and government stimulus is necessary, then it is generally agreed the size of the monthly payment and of the down payment must be reduced.

Those people who can make a 10 per cent, but not a 20 per cent down payment, may be persuaded to buy or build if FHA raises the insurable limit on loans from 80 to 90 per cent. That is one of the many inducements under consideration.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The agricultural outlook for 1938 has been issued from various sources. Prices received by farmers are expected to average lower. Costs of building materials, machinery, wages, and fertilizer will be higher. Feed should be cheaper, and most other costs about the same. Livestock producers face a more favorable prospect than growers of cash crops. The outlook for more important products is given below.

Dairying: There will be fewer milk cows and prices may be higher. The dairy outlook is better than that of any other farm enterprise.

Beef: Fewer cattle will be sold in 1938, but prices should be somewhat lower.

Pigs: More pork will go to market, and prices will be lower than in 1937.

Eggs: There may be fewer chickens on farms, and higher egg prices a year from now.

Wheat: Most signs point toward a larger world wheat crop and lower prices in 1938.

Potatoes: Little change in acreage or price is predicted for 1938. This year's potato crop is the fifth largest on record.

Cotton: Lower prices and a somewhat reduced acreage are in prospect for 1938.

Sheep and lambs: Lamb prices are expected to hold up better than those of other meats. Next year's supply will not differ greatly from that of 1937.

Wool: The forecast is for a somewhat bigger supply and a cheaper price next year.

Horses & Mules: Prices should continue to be fairly good. Mules will be scarcer and higher than horses.

Turkeys: A somewhat larger hatch next spring and possibly lower prices are expected in 1938. Alfalfa and Clover Seed. The supply is small, and fairly high prices for 1938 are indicated.

An Unsolved Mystery. The sedan was parked at the side of the road and as the man drew near he could hear noises of a furious struggle within. He could hear a rustle, possibly of silk, and the muffled panting of a man. The body of the car swayed slightly to and fro. He heard a curse and again the muffled panting. He crept softly around to the side and looked into the window and saw a man trying to fold a road map the same as it had been.—Hamburg News.

The Story of the Nativity

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 19.

Text: Luke 2:8-20.

NEVER old, although it has been retold for centuries, is the story of the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem, of the shepherds watching their flocks and the glory that shone upon them as the angel announced the glad tidings.

It is a story for children, a story that has above all others emphasized to the world the value of the child and the romance of the newborn Babe.

But it is much more than a story to tell and to teach to children. It is a story for adults, and for those of all ages. It is the story of the birth of a Savior, of the coming into the world of one who revealed divinity in human form, and who brought into the realm of human words and action all that is highest.

It is in Jesus of Nazareth that God and man meet. Human life has revealed nothing higher or better than the life that came into the world with the birth of the Babe in the manger in Bethlehem. The world is not given so much today to speculations concerning Him as it once was. We do not know and we cannot understand our own souls; and much less can we understand the mysteries of this divine being in human form.

There is nothing in His age or environment to account for Him. He comes as the gift of God to man. He came to tell men of another world of divine relationships of love and kindness, a world of different values where men were not seeking their own ends, but where they were living with a sense of the welfare of all. It was a world that could be realized only as men learned to love one another, and even their enemies.

But this love, so different from the world of selfishness and greed, He brought into the world of actual relationships with men. He lived the things that He taught, and He inspired other men to live in the same way.

We do not know much concerning these shepherds, but we do know considerable concerning the lowly men that this Babe, when He had grown to manhood, made His companions and His friends, the apostles of His teaching to the world, and the founders of His church.

Surely, we must think of these shepherds as men of the same sort, humble people whose lives were not occupied with aspiration after wealth and power, who lived healthy, simple lives in the fields with their flocks, and who had much time to meditate upon the wonders of the fields and of the starry heavens.

It was to such men whose hearts were pure and simple and attuned to hear divine music that the messenger came on that night in the Judean hills; and the shepherds, though they loved their flocks, journeyed into the town that they might visit the mother and her Babe.

They shared the glory of that new birth into the world; and we, if we are wise, will humble our hearts like these shepherds.

We cannot journey to Bethlehem or see the Babe; but we can know the beauty of the Savior and we may have the mystic joy and comfort of His presence.

Creamery Patrons Paid 3c Dividend On All Butterfat

Ord Co-op's Volume 24,000
Lbs. Lower Than in 1936;
Noll Big Producer.

Patronage dividends totalling $7,600 at the rate of 3c for each pound of butterfat purchased during the year were paid last Thursday by the Ord Co-operative Creamery Co. after the annual meeting of stockholders held at the Legion hall in Ord. At the same time interest checks totalling $1,738 were distributed to stockholders, 8 per cent being paid as in former years.

Volume of butterfat bought by the Ord creamery in 1937 was 326,683 pounds, which is 24,000 pounds less than in 1936. Short pastures and curtailment of milk cow herds by another drought year are blamed for the decrease by Manager Fred Coe.

"If we had been able to buy 100,000 pounds more of butterfat we could easily have paid 4c per pound patronage dividend today, instead of 3c," Manager Coe told stockholders Thursday. "Our overhead expense and all fixed charges are constant and salary expense of processing 100,000 pounds more would have been no higher."

Lots of weed-flavored cream during the summer months, which had to be sold as second grade butter, is an item also mentioned by Manager Coe as a cause of the creamery's lower dividend.

However, the report of VanBoskirk & Remington, certified public accountants who each year audit the creamery's books, show that 1937 was a profitable year and that the creamery has been a great profit-maker ever since it was established eleven years ago.

Patronage dividends in 11 years have totalled $127,981.24; stock interest in 11 years has totalled $18,866.23. A surplus fund of $19,497 has been built up. Total operating profit of the creamery since it was founded has been $157,244.93. At the same time says the report of auditors, the physical plant has been materially improved and adequately depreciated.

"From all statistics and outlook, farmers can expect pretty good prices for cream for the next few months, probably for the next two years," Manager Coe told stockholders Thursday. At the present time there are 24,000,000 pounds less butter in storage than a year ago.

Among patrons of the Ord creamery C. W. Noll again was highest butterfat producer this year, selling 4,271.3 pounds, or over two tons. He received a dividend check for $128.15. Next highest producer was McLain Bros., with a check for $89.82. Other high producers were R. L. Hanson, E. J. Shotkoski, Chris Nielsen, E. B. Stewart, Wm. Toban, Ernest Jensen, J. W. Wheatcraft and Aagaard & Sons.

At the annual meeting Thursday three directors, Orin Kellison, Clarence M. Davis and Charles Clochon, were re-elected. Directors have not yet held their annual meeting to elect officers.

Ord Schools Close Until January 3rd

Ord grade and high schools closed their doors Tuesday evening and will remain so until Monday, Jan. 3 when school will once more open.

Programs were held at both the high school and the grade school on Tuesday. Tuesday morning at the grade school was spent in carol singing and the program was brought to a climax Tuesday afternoon by a personal visit from Santa Claus to each room in the school.

Group singing of Christmas carols was featured on the high school's program, with a one act play "Why the Chimes Rang" being capably presented by a group of high school dramatists.

Gauging Records of Loup Rivers Kept

During 1937, according to records of state-federal gauging stations near St. Paul, average discharge of the Middle Loup river was 1,048 second feet, which was 86 per cent of the average yearly flow for the nine years in which records have been kept. For the North Loup river, average flow was 754 second feet, which was 83 per cent of the annual flow for the past nine years.

Highest discharge for the Middle Loup in 1937 was 8,500 second feet, lowest was 102 second feet. Highest North Loup flow was 4,150 second feet, lowest 433 second feet.

The Middle Loup's highest year was 1935 when average flow was 1,460 and 1934 was the lowest with 1,020. For the North Loup, highest average flow on record was in 1932 with 1,030 second feet and lowest was 1934 with 733 second feet.

Two Found Guilty, Pay Heavy Fines

Alfred Worholoski was found guilty of beating a board bill at a session of County Judge John L. Andersen's court Friday, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $10.00 and costs of $11.20. He laid out one day of the amount and then paid the balance in cash. The complaint was filed by John's New Cafe Thursday, and that evening Worholoski came in and paid the amount of the bill. However, this did not excuse him from appearing in court, as the complaint was already on file.

Jack Story of Butte, Nebr., was haled into Judge John L. Andersen's court Saturday on a charge of transporting 370 bushels of corn by motor truck on public highways in Nebraska and offering the same for sale without having an itinerant merchant's license. On his entering a plea of guilty as charged, he was fined $25.00 and costs of $8.00. He has a store at Butte, but the corn in question was bought in Iowa and brought to Ord without first being taken to the store.

Henry Marks Hit By Swoboda Car Injured Slightly

Taken to Hospital Tuesday
Eve for Examination But Went Home at Once.

Scratches and bruises were the extent of injuries suffered by Henry Marks Tuesday evening when he was struck and knocked down about 7:00 by a car driven by Raymond Swoboda.

The mishap happened on the John Misko corner, near the grade school building. Mr. and Mrs. Marks were walking from their home to the home of their son, Sam Marks, and stopped on the corner while a car coming down the hill passed them.

Not noticing the Swoboda car, which was coming from the south on No. 57 highway, Mr. Marks stepped out into the street. The car hit him, knocked him to the pavement and he was dragged a few feet, though young Swoboda stopped the car at once.

Mr. Marks was able to walk to the Ord hospital, though he apparently suffered a slight concussion and did not remember afterward that he had walked. Examination by Dr. C. J. Miller disclosed that no bones were broken and that his injuries were superficial, so Mr. Marks went to his own home.

After assisting Mr. Marks to the hospital, young Swoboda at once hunted up Sheriff George S. Round and reported the accident.

Junior Class Play Is Aably Presented

Aably presented was the 3-act farce, "The Comic Supplement," by a cast of junior students in Ord high school in the school auditorium Monday night, and a large crowd was present. Juniors realized a nice profit from their dramatic efforts, and proceeds will be used to entertain high school seniors next spring at the annual junior-senior banquet.

The comedy dealt with the struggles of Art Armstrong, a young cartoonist, who cannot sell his cartoons, and the mix-up that ensues when his agent invites the cartoonist's mother-in-law to live with them, believing Armstrong will thus gain new inspiration by copying every word his mother-in-law utters, Armstrong obtains great fame. Live interest is provided by Allen Armstrong, brother of the cartoonist, and Sheila, his sister-in-law.

Players included Dick Koupal, Lucille Lewis, Vera Severns, Lloyd Zikmund, Martina Biemond, Margie Jean Smith, Eleanore Wolfe, Gerald Hatfield, John Rogers and Mae Klein. Miss Ellen Servine was coach and director.

Honor Departing Members at Hall

About two hundred were present at a celebration held at the Z. C. B. J. hall Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Urban and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Korbelic, members of the Sosedka Beseda lodge who are leaving Ord. A splendid banquet was served. Pete Svoboda came up from Schuyler for the occasion and brought a lovely bouquet of flowers for Mrs. Urban. President Anton Adamek of the Z. C. B. J. lodge gave the principal talk of the evening, which was highly appreciated. Mrs. John Beran played the piano while Joe Turek sang two songs in the Bohemian tongue. The Lukesh orchestra played during the evening. In all it was one of the finest affairs of its kind held for years.

Peter Slosser has returned from Colorado where he has been for some time and had his Quiz sent to his old home at Comstock.

Henry Lee Wins Cream Separator At Farmers' Days

Other Prizes Well Scattered Over County; School Was A Grand Success.

Farmers' days, the first attempt of Ord business men in a good many years to entertain and instruct farmers of this community on a strictly "no-profit" basis, closed last Wednesday afternoon and the entire affair was called a "grand success."

Crowds present both days were much larger than had been expected or planned for. Tuesday at least 800 people were present in the afternoon and Wednesday a conservative estimate places the crowd at 1,000.

Henry Lee, farmer of the North Loup community, won the 750 lb. capacity Avery cream separator given as a door prize by the Ord Co-operative Creamery. Mrs. Elmer Hornickel won the diamond ring given by Auble Bros. Six prizes of 25 lb. bags of early Kalo seed offered jointly by C. C. Dale and Chas. Veleba were won by W. J. Cook, H. C. Fisher, Helen Adamek, Katherine Greenwald, Matilda Kusek and J. C. Anderson. Ten 15 lb. bags of Sooner Milo seed offered by E. S. Murray were won by Mrs. Irving King, J. W. Vodehnal, Lumir Placnik, Floyd Wozniak, Lumir Stch, Ed Skala, Leonard Tolen, Mrs. Dan Pishna, George Brandenburg and Jim Guggenmos.

A feature of the 2-day event was the matinee for farm women given by M. Biemond, manager of the Ord Theatre, Wednesday afternoon. About 400 women were guests of Manager Biemond and enjoyed a full length feature picture, "Confession," with Kay Francis in the leading role.

Capacity of the Masonic hall was taxed to an extent even greater than Tuesday at the "pancake hour" Wednesday noon, but Ed Mauer and his assistants succeeding in feeding a large percentage of the crowd with pancakes, coffee and syrup. Overflow crowd was again sent to various Ord restaurants.

Talks Wednesday afternoon were most valuable, probably the most important to farmers of this community being the discussion of "Soil and Moisture Conservation Practices" by Ivan D. Wood, extension engineer from the University of Nebraska. After hearing Wood a number of farmers said they expect to try contour tillage the coming season. Wood illustrated his talk with slides.

Another important discussion was that of M. L. Plock, who spoke on "Feeding Milk Cows on Emergency Rations," which was interesting to farmers of this dairying community who are faced with the problem of keeping their cows through the winter with a shortage of grain feed.

A real hit was made by a quartette composed of Laverne Lakin, LaVern Duemey, Jack Janssen and Leonard Sobon, who sang three times during the afternoon.

Two Killed Hunting Coyotes With Plane

Santa Appears, Gives Children Candy At Father Lawler's Annual Xmas Party

Jolly old Santa Claus, impersonated in this instance by James Peteka, Jr., was a popular visitor at the party given annually for children of his parish by Rev. M. A. Lawler, of the Ord Catholic church. The party was given Sunday afternoon. A program given by the children's choir of the church was enjoyed, as was a brief skit, and then the entire gathering sang "Silent Night." Candy and oranges then were distributed by Santa Claus, who is seen here with three of his little friends.

Weller Coal Bins Ablaze, Fire Damage Fixed at $1,500

A bin of slack coal caught afire as result of spontaneous combustion early last Thursday morning and before the blaze, seen here at its height, was extinguished, damage of $1,500 was done, all of which was covered by insurance. The coal shed is owned by the Weller Lumber Company.

Anton Johnson, engineer at the city light plant, first saw the blaze and sounded the fire alarm at 5:15 a. m. Two Ord fire trucks were on hand within a few minutes. With the aid of their new equipment truck and its equipment worked "perfectly."

In spite of the early hour a huge crowd of adults and youngsters rolled out of bed to share in the excitement. This was Ord's first major blaze since Hillcrest Hospital was destroyed.

Debris has already been cleared away by workmen employed by Verne Weller but only about half of the coal shed will be rebuilt.

Hackett to Manage G. I. Seed Company

Chester Hackett, for several years chief assistant to Robert Noll in operation of the Noll Seed company, is moving his family to Grand Island this week and on January 1 will take charge of the Lee Seed company, old established seed firm of that city. The Lee interests have been purchased by the Griswold Seed company of Lincoln, which firm looked around for the best man available to manage the Grand Island branch and selected Mr. Hackett because of his character, ability and long experience in the work.

L. V. Lee, former owner, owns several farms near Sac City, Ia., and retires from the seed business to assume management of them.

Highway Department Leases Garage Bldg.

Workers under the direction of E. Hower were busy last week widening and making higher the street entrance to the old Milligan garage building, which has been leased by the Nebraska highway department for storage of maintenance equipment, which also will be repaired there when needed. A couple of old sheds previously were used to house maintenance machinery and this brick building will be ideal for the purpose. E. C. Weller, of Atkinson, is present owner of the building.

State Officials 'Passing the Buck' On No. 11 Highway

Right-of-Way Easy to Secure,
Survey Here Shows; Klima, Wiegardt, to Lincoln.

Believing that A. C. Tille, state highway engineer, and other officials of the highway department are again "passing the buck" so far as improvement of No. 11 highway between Ord and North Loup is concerned, County Clerk Ign. Klima, jr., Alfred Wiegardt, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and such land owners as may be willing to make the trip, will drive to Lincoln soon for a "show down."

When F. W. A. Rohrkasse, of the right-of-way department, visited Ord a few weeks ago, he told Klima farmers in Olean and District 42 neighborhoods asked "unreasonable prices" for right-of-way and he could do no business with them.

A survey made by the Quiz revealed that all land owners with the exception of Charles E. Bridge had told Rohrkasse they would accept the state's proposition. Saturday, visiting the Quiz office, Mr. Bridge said he would not hold up the new road; that he did not refuse to sign and that he is ready to make an agreement to sell right-of-way.

In Omaha attending a convention last week, County Clerk Klima talked to State Engineer Tille and also to Mr. Williams, his chief as-

Feature Movie Scheduled For Showing in Ord

Ord theatre-goers are to receive a treat this week when Metro Goldwyn-Mayer's lauded musical picture, "The Firefly," will be shown at the Ord Theatre.

Jeanette MacDonald plays the star role and is well known to movie fans throughout the country for her fine performances in previous hits such as "San Francisco," "Naughty Marietta," and "Rose Marie."

Allan Jones, now regarded as the leading male singing star of the screen, will play opposite Jeanette MacDonald. He replaces Miss MacDonald's former singing partner, Nelson Eddy, in a very suitable manner.

"The Firefly" is not only a dancing and singing masterpiece, it is also a powerful story of dramatic romance, intrigue, spiced throughout with dangerous love. Its background of the Napoleonic war waxes it with swift action and breathless suspense.

Thirty sets were required to make the picture and thousands of extras appear in the spectacular scenes. It is based on the original stage operetta, "The Firefly," and the music by Rudolf Friml is superb.

In the picture MacDonald will sing three songs; Jones two; the remaining two are star duets. Jeanette MacDonald will sing "Love is Like a Firefly," "When a Maid Comes Knocking at Your Heart," and "He Who Loves and Runs Away." Allan Jones will sing "A Woman's Kiss" and "The Donkey's Serenade."

Howard Alvord Seriously Hurt

Howard Alvord, 40, of Bassett, was seriously hurt Tuesday when the gasoline transport he was driving collided with a car in which Elmer Rathbun, 76, and Mrs. Rathbun, 70, both of Seward, were riding. Mrs. Rathbun was killed. The accident happened near Strang, Nebr., and Mr. Alvord was taken to a hospital at Geneva.

In former years Alvord lived in Ord and he is a half-brother of Archie Keep, who drove to Geneva this morning to see him.

According to the story told highway patrolmen by Alvord, the Rathbun car was on the wrong side of the road and he was forced into the ditch in a vain effort to avoid a crash. Officers said there will be no inquest.

Of Young Mira Valley
Farmer's Death Saturday.

The residents of the Mira Valley community were greatly shocked when it was reported late Saturday evening that Arthur Nass, 32, had passed away suddenly at his home. Mr. Nass had attended the sale at Ord Livestock Market that day, afterward going home and doing his chores. He then ate supper, about 8:30 ate some candy and then went to bed.

He and his mother, Mrs. Hulda Nass live together on the old home place. Shortly after nine o'clock Mrs. Nass went to bed, noticing that the light in Arthur's room was out. Shortly after this she saw that the light was on again, so she went to his door and knocked, asking him if anything was wrong. Receiving no answer she opened the door and found her son lying dead on the bed.

He was grasping the frame of the bed with both hands, apparently in agony. In his struggles he had kicked off the feather tick, but was still beneath the covers when found. Mrs. Nass at once called John Bremer, who lives a mile west. He came at once, but of course nothing could be done, as life had been extinct some time. It is believed his death was due to heart trouble.

For some time past Arthur had been afflicted with sinus trouble, and had an operation for it some time ago. This did not effect a cure, so he was planning his work so that he could return in a short time after he had sold his cattle and have another operation. In all probability the chronic sinus trouble had affected his heart.

Arthur Gustave Nass was born June 8, 1905, and was baptized Oct. 8, 1905 by R. Hellwege, pastor of the St. John's Lutheran church. He was confirmed in the Lutheran faith at the age of 14 years. His entire schooling was received at Valleyview school. He was born on the place one mile south of this school, spent all his life there and died there.

The funeral services are being held from St. John's church this afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Wm. Bahr in charge. The pall bearers are William Bremer, George Bremer, Julius Rachuy, Walter Foth, Will Foth and Harry Foth, all neighbors and boyhood friends. Preceding the church service there is to be a short service in the home.

Arthur Nass leaves to mourn his passing, his mother, Mrs. Hulda Nass, five sisters, Minnie Nass and Mrs. Meta Eder, of St. Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Helen Gregory of Clovis, N. M.; Martha Nass of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Della Nass of Lander, Wyo.; two brothers, George Nass of Ord and Herman Nass of North Loup. Two sisters, Mrs. Frieda Stanger and Ruth, died before their brother, and his father passed away in 1918.

Ord Stores Open 2 Evenings, Close All Day on Christmas

Ord stores, or most of them at least, are planning to remain open this evening and again Thursday evening but will be closed on Christmas eve and all day Saturday, according to Wm. Heuck, chairman of the retail committee of the chamber of commerce. The banks, creamery, the postoffice and other Ord places of business also will be closed throughout Christmas day.

Late Christmas shoppers may count on finding most retail stores open tonight and tomorrow night for the benefit of people who work during the regular hours and thus have no opportunity to shop.

Noted Orchestra Will Play in Ord

Harry O'Nan and his orchestra with their much-lauded "rockin' rhythm," will play for dancing enthusiasts from all sections of the Loup Valley on Monday, Dec. 27, at the Ord Dance Hall.

Proceeds gained from the dance will be used to support the Ord City Basketball League, which has been organized only a few weeks. Advance ticket sales are very satisfactory, reports Emil Darges, Ord dance hall manager, saying that the dance will be "the biggest of the season."

Harry O'Nan has one of the better orchestras in the midwest and an evening of dancing that will be unique, entertaining and delightfully pleasing is assured to all who attend.

Broadcast Friday. Because Saturday is Christmas day the weekly Quiz broadcast will be given over the Auble public address system Friday afternoon at 3:00 instead of Saturday. Please note the change and be ready to listen in Friday afternoon.

Heavy Burdens for Ord Mail Carriers

Tuesday the morning Union Pacific due at 7:35 did not arrive until 11:00, which meant that carriers could not start their day's work much before the noon hour and perforce had to continue until dark and later. Lateness of main line trains due to heavy Christmas traffic is blamed for lateness of branch line trains.

Assistant, Tilley told him "unreasonable prices" asked by farmers here is the only thing holding up immediate construction and promised to write Klina, immediately upon his return to Lincoln, the exact status of the new highway.

This letter arrived only this morning, and in it Engineer Tilley seems to reverse the statement made by Rohrkasse, who said here that he "offered farmers up to 50 per cent more than the irrigation district paid" for right-of-way:

Tilley's letter follows:
"Dear Mr. Klina:

In accordance with our conversation recently, we are writing this letter to outline our position regarding the purchase of right-of-way for the relocation of state highway north of North Loup.

Inasmuch as the irrigation district has purchased right-of-way in this vicinity at a nominal price, it would not appear to be good policy for the State Highway Department to pay a higher price for exactly the same sort of land. While it is true that a portion of this land may be under irrigation at a later time, this condition does not exist at this time and therefore, claims of the land owners that their lands have been greatly increased in price is not consistent.

We appreciate your interest and help in this matter and our right-of-way office will co-operate with you at all times and we hope that the land owners affected will see our reasoning and that all contracts may be secured soon.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) A. C. Tilley
State Engineer"

That the state engineer's position is entirely wrong in this matter and may be adopted solely to delay relocation of the highway is the belief held here, and to iron out misunderstandings and try to find out where the trouble lies, Klina, Wiegand and others who may care to go are planning to drive to Lincoln soon, possibly Thursday, to interview highway officials.

It is pointed out that right-of-way for irrigation ditches was sold by farmers at prices lower than the value of their land because they are so anxious to get irrigation, also, that the irrigation ditch follows the hill line and seldom goes right through the heart of a farm as does the new highway.

For the past two years the state highway department has promised re-relocation of the Ord-North Loup section of No. 11 highway, always finding excuses to postpone the work. Belief here is that Tilley is now seeking to place blame for delay on local people. Funds for the work have been available ever since the late Alvin Blessing represented this district in the state senate.

While in Lincoln the Ord men also will discuss with Tilley possibility of having the Ord-Ericon highway completed next year.

North Loup People Serving in China As Missionaries Having a Trying Time

North Loup—(Special)—In the China Mission Bulletin published by the Seventh Day Baptist church in Shanghai appear letters from two former North Loup people, Dr. H. Eugene Davis and Dr. Grace Crandall, who are serving their church as missionaries there.

BURWELL NEWS

William R. Wright.
William R. Wright, son of Rufus L. and Mary Jane Wright, was born May 5, 1862 in Ocean, New York and passed away December 15, 1937 in Grand Island, Nebraska at the age of 75 years, 7 months and 10 days. He spent most of his early life in the community in which he was born. On March 9, 1885 he was united in marriage to Flora I. Hills of Allegany, New York. In 1889 he, with his wife and one daughter, moved to Nebraska and located at Almeria in Loup county. In the spring of 1893 they moved to a farm seven miles southeast of Burwell and remained in that community until 1901 when they settled on the farm three miles southeast of Burwell where he made his home until his passing. He was preceded in death by his wife on July 22, 1925 and the eldest daughter Edna on July 30, 1920. Mr. Wright was always interested in every public enterprise and was among the first ones to work on the original irrigation ditch just south of Burwell, which was completed about 1900. He was vitally interested in the present irrigation projects, and his one ambition was that he might live to see water running in the new canals. He was one of the most progressive minded men in the community. Those who knew him best will remember his kindly disposition and will always cherish his friendly handclasp in greeting. He is survived by one son, Merritt L. Telegrams and cablegrams from every section of the United States and from every point in the world are now flooding the Ord Western Union offices. For the Ord offices, the Christmas holiday season furnishes the "big business" rush of the year.

Al Fisher takes care of all the sending and receiving of telegrams at the Union Pacific office while Henry Frey handles the work at the Burlington station. When both of these operators were interviewed this week they gave some very interesting information.

Race drivers and show people supply a big business for the telegraph offices whenever the Ord fair is held. During the harvest season farmers and implement dealers keep the wires "hot" with orders for harvesting machinery repairs. On an every day average however, most of the telegrams handled by the Ord offices deal with delayed shipments of goods, rush orders for merchandise, and price quotations from manufacturers.

Together, the two Western Union offices in Ord handle approximately 60 telegrams every day of the year, sometimes many more, sometimes less. Both of the offices work on a commission basis, Western Union giving them a percentage of the earnings which they take in.

They are used principally for holiday greetings. Listed on blanks of paper at the offices are dozens of "ready-made" greetings—all numbered. To send one of the canned messages, you pick out the greeting which suits your fancy and the operator sends the number of the selected greeting to the address which you give him.

When the number of the greeting arrives at its destination, the telegraph operator looks through his files, finds the message which corresponds with the number which he has received, types down the message on a special holiday blank, slips it in a brightly colored envelope and sends it out by special messenger. Because only the number, and not the message itself, has to be sent, the Western Union company sends such messages to any point in the United States for 25c.

H. G. Frey has worked in Ord at the Burlington office for 19 years and Fisher has been in charge at the U. P. office for seven years. Both of the operators agree that a downtown W. U. office will not be established in Ord until the population rises at least to the 5,000 mark.

To learn the telegraph operator's business takes from one to three years and a good operator can send or receive steadily at the rate of 45 or 60 words per minute.

QUIZ FORUM

Objects to Diesel Purchase.
To the Editor of the Quiz:
On October 1, 1936 I was one of probably 1,000 people who heard Senator George W. Norris announce that there had been appropriated funds to build the North Loup Public Power and Irrigation project. But why did he mention power there was no power production included, for if there had been there would not have come a slip of a cog?
When a high salaried gentleman announced in the Ord Quiz that if Ord and Burwell did not buy the Columbus power that the work on the so-called irrigation and power project would stop on September 1, 1937, now tell us Ord's power consumers why you are satisfied to pay more for power to some other power company than your reliable home Ord power plant produces.
And now why equip the Ord municipal power plant with more machinery when the plant is supposed to cease producing power only at times when some other power company fails to supply us with power?
Do you still like it?
ALBERT R. LUKESH.

Budget Law Drew Fire at Convention

County Clerk Ign. Klima, County Engineer Harold Strombom, and Supervisors John Bremer, Joe Jablonski and S. V. Hansen, all attended the meeting of county clerks, registers of deeds, county supervisors and commissioners and county highway commissioners that was held in Omaha Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. While a large number of interesting facts were presented at the meetings, chief interest seemed to center on the new budgeting law. This law was passed by the last legislature, and, like all laws that contemplate any radical change, it has its bad features. The consensus of opinion is that the law, while right in principle, is practically unworkable in the present financial condition of some of the counties, Douglas in particular. If all the counties were out of debt, there is no doubt that the law would be a success, but it is difficult to apply a cash basis law to counties heavily in debt. Clerk Klima believes that the law will work out in time, but that some changes will be necessary. Lynn Paine, serving his first year as county clerk of Custer county, was elected president of the county clerks' organization, and Mrs. Mabel Rice, register of deeds for Buffalo county, of Kearney, was elected vice-president. Ign. Klima was again the choice for secretary-treasurer, this being his fourth term.

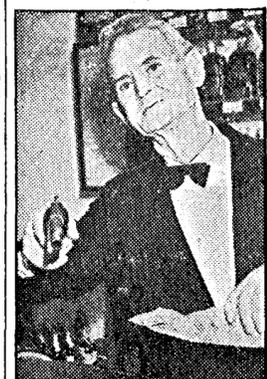

Red Cross Plans Christmas Cheer

For some time past the NYA young people have been busy repairing and repainting toys in the basement of the American Legion hall, and have a grand total of 393 articles ready for distribution to the little folks, in addition an extra twelve dolls are being made. The work to be finished tonight. All who have been approached have been very generous in contributing to this cause. There may be some who wish to make gifts of groceries who have not yet done so, and they are requested to bring them to the Legion hall tomorrow Thursday, as the committee will be there making up the baskets at that time. The need is great this year, and the committee is endeavoring to make this as merry a Christmas as possible to those who are in need.

North Loup News

The high school chorus presented the operetta "Merry Christmas" Wednesday night in the auditorium. The plot centered around the birthday celebration of Sylvia Dale (Harriet Manchester) which occurred on Christmas Eve and was well acted by all characters. The part of the butler, James Oysterhouse (Wayne Babcock) and Hans (Darwin Sheldon) were very well played as were Molly the cook (Edna Hawkes) and Mike (James Birmingham). All players were well suited to their parts and while the most of the voices are weak they show possibilities that training will bring out. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra and several selections were played by a trombone quartet consisting of Warren Brannon, Everett Barrett, Lynn VanHorn and George Maxson, jr.

Friday the grade rooms all had Christmas trees and the first primary room gave a short program. At 2:30 all pupils went to the assembly where each room had a part in singing of Christmas songs. Pupils will have two weeks vacation, school to take up again Jan. 3rd.

Miss Bloomkamp went to Lincoln Friday afternoon and Miss Kosch to St. Paul. Supt. Willis will spend his vacation at Fremont and Mr. Kauer at Kearney.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill McClellan and Fanny McClellan went to Grand Island Thursday where they met Mrs. Sara Gogin who had come from her home at Redlands, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervie Weed went to Grand Island Thursday to see Mrs. Weed's mother, Mrs. Carpenter. They returned Friday bringing Mrs. Carpenter home with them for a few days' visit. The little girls stayed with Mrs. Clark Roby while their parents were gone.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawkes came over from St. Edwards for the day Saturday. Saturday night they and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hawkes, Mrs. Jimmie Hawkes and Edna had supper and a Christmas tree at the Clifford Hawkes home. Kenneth Hawkes teaches music in the St. Edwards school and had to return to his work Saturday night.

THE ORD QUIZ

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska The Quiz is $2.00 a year.

H. D. Leggett - Publisher

Entered at the Postoffice at Ord, Nebraska, as Second Class Matter Under Act of March 3, 1879.

CREATURES OF CUSTOM.

An old friend, the late Charles Prien of Mira Valley, used to tell a clever story that went something like this: In the little village of (shall we say) Hassenpfeffer, in Germany, the villagers were prone to do everything much as their forefathers had done them, not varying the procedure in any particular. It thus happened that they were getting wood down from upon the mountain side as had been done for hundreds of years.

Their custom was to go up the mountain side, select the tree they wanted, and carefully fall it so that it landed with the top up the slope. Then they would top off the branches, hitch oxen to the butt end and drag it down the mountain to the place they wanted it. This was heavy work, and sometimes required the use of several yoke of oxen. But it was the way their fathers did, so why should they change.

One day while they were cutting down a tree they met with a mishap. A heavy wind came up and caught the tree at the wrong moment, with the result that instead of falling the usual way, it fell crosswise of the slope. They held a consultation, and at length decided that the best thing to do was to block the trunk up from below, cut off the limbs and then haul it down the hill as usual.

But when they got the limbs cut off the weight of the log pushed the blocks into the ground and the log started to roll down the hill. They all stood aghast, for no log had ever done that before. They watched it go rolling down the slope at terrific speed, and at length it came to a stop almost at the exact spot that they had expected to haul it. It went down in a tenth the time, and provided its own transportation. The villagers had learned a lesson, and since that day they roll their logs down the mountain instead of having to haul them.

We laugh at the simple folk who took so long to learn the simple fact that a log will roll down hill, and yet we are doing some things just as silly right here in Nebraska today, and we cannot use ignorance as an excuse for doing them. We know better, and still continue in the same old rut.

One of these customs is the antiquated system of county government under which we live today. It was good enough for the pioneers, for they had neither the good roads, nor the speedy vehicles in which their descendants travel. A county 24 miles square looked bigger to our forefathers than one 96 miles square would look to the modern automobile. Ten or a dozen counties in Nebraska would be plenty now, and would cut county expenses, but who is doing anything about it?

Some years ago Valley county constructed a magnificent court house at the cost of more than a quarter of a million dollars, a building large enough to handle all the legitimate business of a county ten times as large as ours. Yet today the county is so small that a man in a car can reach the county seat from any corner of the county in one hour. Valley county people today could transact their official business in Grand Island in less time than people could in Ord fifty years ago.

Today if a sheriff starts out in pursuit of a lawbreaker he will be beyond his jurisdiction in an hour or less. The state recognized this handicap a number of years ago, and appointed a number of state deputy sheriffs in order to extend their powers. In many of our counties the valuation is so small that the county assessor cannot depend on his job for a living, yet with four times the valuation the salary would be only double, thus saving one-half on this item alone.

The only excuse the small county has for existing today is local pride, which was the motivating force in the fight against Senator George Norris' unbecoming idea. That idea is still the brunt of attacks on all sides, principally because it was not established by precedent. The human race despises innovation. We get into a rut and we like to stay there. We resent the interference of the reformer who wants us to try out something new.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS.

At last Russia has held an election in which the results were predetermined, as are all things in that country. The idea was to give the people the privilege of voting, but it is to be hoped that none of them are so ignorant as to think that they were exercising the right of franchise. In some respects the election resembled the one we held in 1936, except that opponents to the winning side here did not face a firing squad when it was over.

Three events in a man's life loom up as the most important, and invariably appear in the obit of every married man. His birth, his marriage and his death. And the man has no say whatever about any of them. His parents take charge of the first, his bride and her relatives take charge of the second, and the doctors have charge of the third. In the first and last cases he is too weak to protest, and in the middle one he is too silly to care.

England held up her hands in horror at the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, forgetting her own conquest of the Boers in South Africa, France, the great Napoleon forgotten, is properly indignant over the conquests of Franco in Spain. The United States is aroused over the Japanese undeclared war in China, but what about the Indians and the countless herds of bison that once roamed the plains at will? Only time will prove what is right.

Then there was the absent-minded professor who wound up the cat, put the clock in bed and locked himself outdoors, after which he spent half the night running around the house on his hands and knees yowling to attract his wife's attention. The above example reminds us of the efficiency of some of the methods that have been tried to date to get us out of the depression. A ham from one of those slaughtered little pigs would make good eating this winter.

In two days some fifteen hundred farmers and their wives accepted the hospitality of Ord business men last week, ate an undetermined number of pancakes, drank large quantities of coffee, attended four fine programs, and everybody had a splendid time. This is as it should be. For several years the farmer's have been giving their best and the returns have been entirely inadequate. They should now feel that they are not bucking up against it entirely alone.

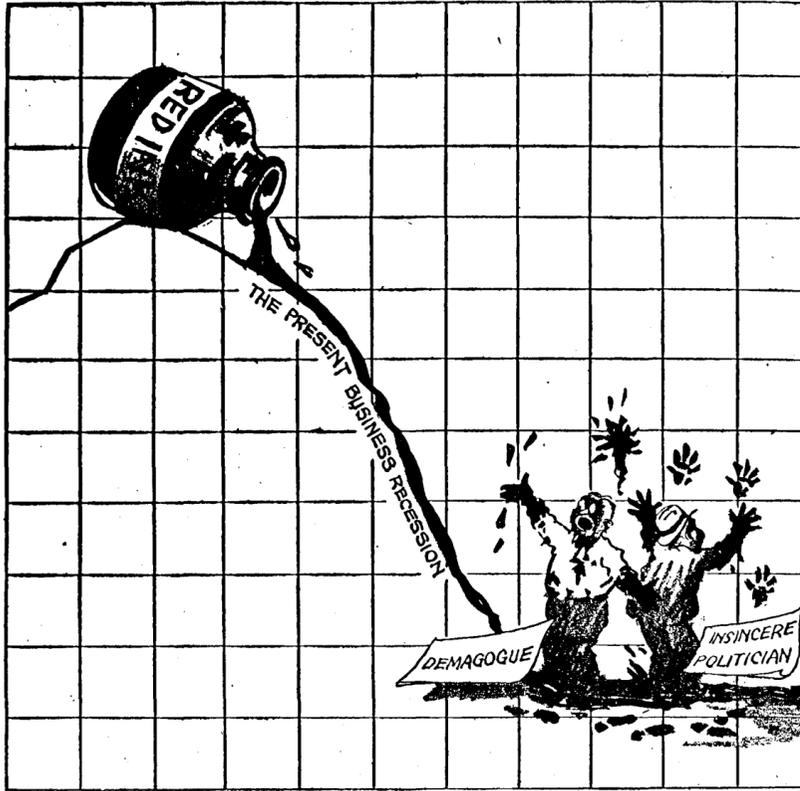

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

I feel that the farmer days of last week, promoted by the Farm Bureau and the Chamber of Commerce, were worth while. In order that the record be kept straight, I might say that Fred Coo was the real promoter, for he was the first to suggest it and outline it as it was later carried out. I had numerous farmers who attended and enjoyed the programs tell me that they surely appreciated the interest that Ord took in the matter and in making it a success. In the first place the event was not proposed or carried out with a view of getting the farmers into Ord to sell them merchandise. The business men of Ord know that the majority of farmers in this trade territory spend their money in Ord anyhow. They also knew that the farmers who came to attend those meetings could not, on those days, have time to do much trading. They know, now, that most of those same farmers have been back in Ord since the meetings, doing their holiday shopping and other necessary trading. The real purpose of the meetings was to give the men from the state department who are expert in the growing and use of crops that may be successfully used to take in part the place of corn during our dry years, a chance to explain the same to a large group of Valley county farmers. The Quiz was, of course, glad to help give wide publicity to the event and the result was that many from all parts of Valley and adjoining counties attended. I am so sold on the project that I think it should be a yearly event and I think the state department should increase their interest to the end that we have on future programs the very best in the way of speakers that are available. There were some disappointments this year when men advertised as speakers did not come and the state press told of their being at other points. It is error on the part of the state department not to supply the talent advertised.

As a rule I am not in favor of having petitions circulated and signed. As a rule it doesn't mean much. Many people will sign a petition without reading it or knowing or caring what it is about. However, one petition is being circulated which I believe should be largely signed and if it is I believe it will have some effect. I refer to the petition the Veterans of Foreign Wars are circulating urging the government at Washington to take every necessary precaution to keep out of another foreign war. We are probably dangerously near to a foreign war right now, unless matters with Japan can be smoothed over. If the petition now being circulated does not ask and demand that this government withdraw its war ships and soldiers from the war zone then I believe it should. At the present time this country has stationed in the far eastern war zone one soldier for every two American citizens that are there and the cost of keeping these soldiers there amounts to something like ten million dollars per year. It is claimed that this ten million dollars represents as much or more than the profit on the business which we do with that section amounts to. Be that as it may, there would seem to be far less chance of getting into trouble over there if we ordered all soldiers and ships home until the war between Japan and China is over.

In my judgment, if fat girls would depend more upon their dispositions to get by and less upon their figures, they would be far happier and healthier and their associates would be far happier.

In writing me from Albion to renew the subscription of her father, Mrs. C. D. Langrall, formerly of Arcadia, says that while her father never visited Ord and does not know anyone here, he reads and enjoys the Quiz every week, for its stories, its features and its pictures.

Mrs. Gertrude Kelly writes this week from her home in Brighton, Mass., to renew her Quiz for another year and she very graciously says that she would be terribly lost without its weekly visits. She says that even back there business is terribly slow and that many of the large department stores are closing after Christmas.

A friend from California, writing to renew her paper, asks that her name be not mentioned but she says that conditions there are very bad; that many people are being laid off and are unable to find work. She says that the claim is made that fifteen hundred people are arriving daily in her city alone from the east and that a large percent of them are coming because they didn't have anything to do where they were and came, hoping to find employment in a climate where they could live without spending largely for fuel. She says she doesn't know what these people are going to do or what Los Angeles is going to do with them. And I have had several similar reports from former Valley county people from Washington and Oregon as well.

I kind of decided, in my own mind, that, in the future, I wouldn't mix in among the sparkling and scintillating gems which I write for this column, anything about subscriptions. It was after that awful job that George Gowen gave me that I decided that. But I just hate to close this discourse without saying that you subscribers are overlooking a bet if you fail to make some son or daughter or former or present neighbor or friend happy the next 52 weeks by failing to take advantage of our wonderful Christmas offer. One dollar for 52 weeks of the Quiz is a real Christmas gift.

Jots in Jest

ECONOMISTS point to increasing cigar sales as sign of prosperity, supporting New Deal assertions that the depression has gone up in smoke.

Santa has a good reason for coming down the chimney. Think of all the bill collectors he'd let in the front door.

A chemist has discovered a gas that sobers a drunk instantly, giving the imbiber the same return on his investment as a venture into the stock market.

Evidently, the modern woman, buying the new style over-size hat, wants to get the most for her money.

Something Different

Men are the ones who are difficult to buy gifts for, no fooling they are. Every Christmas millions of women perspire freely while trying to find gifts for men that the recipients will like.

And are those men hard to buy for. Men like my father, for instance. He doesn't smoke, he doesn't drink, he doesn't chew, and because of trouble with his eyes can no longer read much. He used to play cards a little, but has quit that. And he buys what clothes he wants for himself. And he is on a diet and does not welcome any kind of food gifts. What is there left to buy for him?

Take Mr. Leggett, senior. He is another tough customer to buy for, as he hasn't any vices to cater to either. He does make a hospitable effort to smoke when others come in his office, visit him and pull out tobacco, but the habit very successfully eludes him. He buys the clothes he wants, many of them specially made because of his size. Hobbies, with him, are fishing and eating, I would say. And he has practically every contraption to aid in doing either, or at least, owns all those he really wants. Once I bought him shaving soap, considering this a rare inspiration.

Only to learn what? That he goes down town for his shaves. Ho, hum... What to buy him? All he wants to do is work, and I think he possesses all the tools, holders, letter-openers, pen clutches and other goofy devices to clutter up the top of his desk it can hold. See, isn't he tough to buy for?

No wonder men receive a bunch of fool junk for Christmas, since we want to give them something, and have such a time finding it.

So I have compiled a helpful list for you, women. I know you are still dashing pitifully about, hoping for a last minute inspiration.

Had you thought of paying for a nice tonsilectomy for him? That would be something different. Oh, he's had his tonsils out. Too bad. Well, a Diesel engine, now that is now isn't it? Does he have one of those?

Or going to the other price extreme, an alarm clock. I doubt if he'll bless it, many a morning, but you can only try.

Grass seed, how about that? Doesn't the lawn need doing over? Clever, hey?

Perhaps more in the spirit of this season would be a nice big snow shovel, with an enormous red cellophane bow on the handle. I know this gift won't be duplicated Christmas morning.

A lawn mower. I should have put that with the grass seed. They would make a fitting pair of gifts.

A smoking jacket. Old stuff, you say. Well, he still smokes.

A ton of coal might be welcome. If it is paid for by you, and not on the customary first of the month by him.

Or you could fall back on a necktie. We have done it before, girls.

Like George Anderson. His wife once gave him a card table. George didn't think much of it, or so he said.

And informed Laura she would get a fine set of wrenches for her next Christmas present, that he had long wanted. And for her birthday following, he proposed to give her the case for the wrenches —Irma.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

In writing of Floyd Hutchins and his small dairy and the fact that he is making it pay, I must agree with Hank, that there are other things one can do. I recently met a man who is making his chickens pay and they are now keeping him off relief. (The editor will tell you his name if you ask.)

He raised four hundred white Leghorn pullets this summer. He borrowed a hundred dollars to start the thousand chicks April 1. He had 250 hens. He kept these laying and culled them every week. He kept a hook handy and when he saw a bad hen she was caught and sold. The cockerels were sold and sold. The hens were mostly gone by fall. A strict account was kept and he had made $200.00 by fall, involving the old hens in the spring at 50c each and the 400 pullets on hand at the same price.

He built his hog house into a chicken coop. He went to the dealer and bought three water fountains (with heaters) and a cluster of nests agreeing to pay a dollar out of each case of eggs until the equipment was paid for. He built dropping boards with wire under the perches to keep the hens' feet clean. He insulated the building with straw and plugged up all the holes he could find.

He shut his hens up Oct. 1 and did not turn them out again. He built feeders and gave the hens a full ration of mash and then corn at night just before dark. From the 400 pullets he was getting about twenty eggs and no more. They were old enough to lay better. He found they would not eat hardly any of the mash but were ravenous for the corn. He was almost discouraged and of a notion to take the hens to town and sell them when one of his best friends, Bill Schudel, happened around.

Bill is a turkey expert but knows a few things about chickens too and he advised our hero to wet the mash. It was the first of November. The hens were eating a dollar's worth of feed and laying thirty cents worth of eggs. For a man with his back to the wall anyway, this financial venture was a little too much.

The next morning he took some warm water and skim milk and stirred up some mash and fed his hens. He found they ate this feed. He knew the dry mash was no good, that the hens would hardly eat it. He knew what the trouble was now.

Within a week the hens had doubled their eggs. Every morning, excited over the results, he fed the mash and then the corn at night again. And every day the number of eggs increased until last week they were laying 144 a day, or more than two cases a week. Even this is not as good as they should do but within three weeks after wetting the mash the hens had changed from a loss to a profit.

Good commercial plants will make their hens lay fifty per cent. Most of them use lights which our friend does not. Some keep the coops lighted all night and hens are jumping down and eating and drinking all night. With the days so short a hen gets pretty hungry by morning.

But back to our local man, he

Demands for More Relief Mount as Employment Hits New Slump

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—WPA rolls will be increased to a peak load of almost 2,000,000 persons by the first of the year, which Administrator Harry Hopkins says is the maximum possible to carry with the 1937-38 appropriation of $1,500,000,000. Present WPA employment of 1,575,000 is to be increased by 350,000 in the next few weeks.

This anticipates an additional appropriation for WPA by Congress. Congressmen who spend the holidays at home will in many cases be told they must come back here and bring pressure for new federal help to share local relief burdens.

While those who know what the federal unemployment census indicates at this point are reluctant to tell, it may be said that when compilation is complete it will reveal unemployment figures much higher than earlier official estimates.

Officials here continue to be vague about the known number of unemployed, but secretly government statisticians and economists have been making a real effort to find out how much relief will cost the government next winter and spring.

The result of their studies indicates that since September of this year some 1,500,000 persons have lost their jobs, and about 1,700,000 have kept their jobs but had their working hours and their pay reduced. It is expected that in the period from September to January 1938, almost 2,500,000 persons will have been forced to step from the ranks of the employed to the ranks of the unemployed.

Much of the lay-off since September has affected the laboring classes, with about 950,000 persons thrown out of work in factories, about 275,000 in the construction industries, and about 210,000 in the transportation and mining industries.

Many working in retail, wholesale and mail order trade will be laid off after Christmas. It is expected that agricultural unemployment, which is largely seasonal, will amount to 450,000 by the middle of January.

On the gloomy side, some people who have had access to facts and figures and studied the situation expect that we will face the new year with some 3,000,000 "new unemployed."

Just where the funds, necessary to meet this new need, will come from remains a problem over which congressmen can ponder during the Christmas recess. The demand for larger appropriations for relief is certain to be among the first legislation taken up in the January session.

now is the happiest you can find, for his little enterprise is keeping him away from the court house. The feed for these hens is closely as follows: corn two-thirds of a bushel at 40c, 50 pounds of mash at 50c and incidentals such as grit equipment etc., at 10c or a total of about $1.30. Eleven dozen eggs at 21c is $2.52 or over a dollar a day profit. A dollar a day is just that much more than nothing in these times and more than a grant would probably be.

Another interesting experience was the fact that before he shut his pullets up in the fall he was losing three or four a day from one cause or another. Some seemed to get the roup, some were just too stubborn to live. He fed and watered them well but they drank out of the sewer and scratched after the cows continually.

When he shut them up he killed about a dozen dumpy ones. He never fed the others again except in the feeders where the hens could not get their feet. The fountain water, of course was clean. He weighs the coop once a week and often. He closes the coop very tight and warms at night and only opens the doors on warm days. He has lost but five hens since he shut them up and two of them went blind. It just proved to him the hens were better off in the coop than out.

Although I said not all of us can run a dairy such as Floyd Hutchins, on the other hand there are few of us who cannot do as this man is doing. Even chickens might beat going on relief.

We Are Improving. In spite of the repugnance many have for the relief act, we hardly see a person who does not approve of the old age pension. Even after a year's experience, it seems to be one of the nicest laws ever enacted.

Many old folks, unable to work, before the act, were actually in want. Frequently their children, although willing to keep their folks, could not do it for they could barely keep themselves. It is never best for two families to live together even if they are in laws. Many of the unappetizing people I know are those who are forced to live where they are not wanted.

One old couple I know were supported by their children who gave them money. The money did not always come. They were in frequent want and in ever disgrace begging for more. Now the $30 keeps them and they can hold up their heads again.

Another old couple, decrepit and doddery, were nearly scavengers seeking wood and aid and their names were published with the papers. They were a fine couple, had raised a big family, and were down and out in spirit as well as purse. Now they hold their heads up, pay their bills and pay their taxes.

Let us hope we never again let our public coffers get so low that we cannot care for our aged.

No Need. Something was said about Japan apologizing for sinking the Panay. My lad was busy with a picture book but he heard a little. He asked, "Did they apologize to China too?"

Kids do ask the biggest fool questions.

Devotion to Christianity

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 26. Text: Philippians 1:12-26.

It is most appropriate that, on the day after Christmas when we have been celebrating God's gift to the world in Jesus Christ, we should consider the Christian's loyalty to his faith.

We do not learn the meaning of Christmas or its lesson until our own hearts have been opened in the spirit of giving. Though we have not the words recorded in the direct sayings of Jesus, Paul's report of the words of Jesus, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," expresses the very heart of the Christ life and the Christ message.

Our lesson sets before us the truest and most real form of giving, the gift of a man's life in consecration to the gospel, and in loyalty to Christ.

Paul was so sincere about the spreading of the gospel that he could rejoice even in his own imprisonment and persecution, knowing that the word of God was being spread abroad.

He realized also that his own fortune under tribulation was an inspiration to others. He could say truly that for him to live was Christ, that his whole being was devoted to his Master.

This loyalty and devotion had so dominated Paul's every thought word and action that he had no fear of anything in life, and no fear of death. He lived in a world of spiritual realities that death could not destroy. He had the profound faith that even in death he would gain through a closer relationship to his Lord.

It should be remembered in this lesson that Paul was writing to Christians who were in the midst of discouragement and persecution, in a city where he himself had been cast into prison. It was in this city of Philippi, in his missionary journey to Europe, that Paul had been arrested and thrown into the inner prison with his feet fast in the stocks, and it was here that the prison doors had been opened and the jailer had thrown himself at the feet of Paul, inquiring, "Sir, what must I do to be saved?"

We need to read this lesson of Paul in the light of the places and backgrounds and experiences of his missionary journeys. These Philippians understood perfectly well what he meant when he spoke of the things that had happened to him, making for the progress of the gospel.

In reading all Paul's Epistles, we should consider carefully the city and the particular Christians to whom they were addressed. A good plan is to read the Book of the Acts at the same time as the Epistles, tracing Paul's missionary journeys and his experiences in the founding of the churches to which he later addressed his letters.

Ross Kildow Killed.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo of Ord received word the past week of the death at Corvallis, Mont., of Ross Kildow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Kildow, formerly of North Loup but now of Corvallis. His death occurred in a car accident caused by one of the passengers throwing a lighted match out of the window, the driver losing control of the car, which went over a high embankment.

Floyd Beranek and Dean Barba returned home from Lincoln Friday where they have been attending the University of Nebraska.

Teeter-Tottering at Rural School Dist. 71

Some schools may have their "go-carts" or their "merry-go-rounds" but the students at Dist. 71 will stick by that old favorite—the teeter-totter. Miss Mildred Timmerman teaches at 71 and says that the children really enjoy "teeter-tottering."

Extra Appendix.

The Sargent Leader of last week contained a very unusual story of Ralph Huffman who underwent an operation at a hospital in Gillette, Wyo., some time ago. When the doctors operated they found that he had two appendices (perhaps it should be appendices). He is now recovering at his home in Sargent.

James Milliken is expected to come home from Annapolis Naval Academy on Thursday, December 23.

Mrs. Fred Brink Dies at Ogallala

From the Grand Island Herald the Quiz gleans the following information relative to Mrs. Fred Brink. Her husband, his father, Earl Brink, and his uncle, Dr. C. A. Brink, all lived in Ord many years ago, and will be remembered by the older generation.

Mrs. Earl Brink, 112 West Tenth street received word Sunday of the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Fred Brink, of Ogallala, which occurred earlier in the day. She was formerly Alice Stewart of North Platte, and came to Grand Island as a young woman. She married Fred A. Brink Dec. 20, 1916. She leaves to survive her death her husband and two sons. The funeral was to be held in Ogallala Wednesday afternoon and burial was to be in North Platte.—Grand Island Herald.

Kolbaba Approved.

The Wahoo Democrat has the following to say in regard to Prof. Frank J. Kolbaba: "The trustees of the local Czech lodges have elected Prof. Kolbaba, noted Czech scholar and violinist, to inaugurate a Czech school, the curriculum to include writing, reading, history and singing for both beginners and advanced students. Classes will be held every Saturday at 9 and 12 a. m."

Mr. Kolbaba is a noted violinist and writer, a pupil of Sevcik. He has taught the violin over a large part of the United States.—Prague is indeed fortunate in being able to obtain the services of so noted a teacher and the parents of Czech heritage should not have to be urged to interest their children in taking this opportunity of learning the Czech language."

Ord Township Library.

For the week ending Dec. 20 one new book was received by the library, but it is one which will doubtless see much use. It is Addison E. Sheldon's latest work, "Nebraska, Old and New." It consists of history, stories and folklore, from the earliest known inhabitants and explorers down to the present time. Naturally it is largely a story of the life of the Redmen on the Nebraska plains. It is a book of nearly 500 pages packed with stories of interest.

Especially for Christmas time is the large book called "Christmas" which comes out in annual volumes and contains Christmas literature and art. It contains a large number of poems and prose selections telling the story of Christmas, and also contains copies of some of the most famous of Christmas paintings, as well as a number of photos along the same line.

A number of books especially recommended for Christmas reading by the librarian, Mrs. Cecil Hansen, include Precious Jeopardy, by Lloyd Douglas, Little Mixer, by Sharon, Holly Hedge, by Temple Bailey, By The Christmas Fire, by Samuel M. Crothers, A Christmas Carol, by Charles Dickens, and The Unknown Quantity, a collection of Christmas stories, by Henry Van Dyke.

A special price on small coaster wagon. All metal body, rubber tires and steel tongue, special at 79c. See them at Frazier's Store. 39-11

6th Graders Sang Christmas Carols

A group of twenty 6th graders under the direction of Miss June Schneider sang Christmas carols to a large number of Ord shut-ins and others Thursday evening. Because the places to be visited were widely scattered, cars were used in taking the children from place to place. Those furnishing cars were Supt. C. O. Thompson, Miss Ludlow and Miss Swain.

The youngsters who went were Don Auble, Raymond Biemond, Priscilla Flagg, Mary Sack, Loyal Hurlbert, Donetta Johnson, Darrell Johnson, Keith Kovanda, Marilyn Long, Rosalie LeMasters, Reva Lincoln, Hilda Lola, Bobby McBeth, Charlene Munn, Roberta Stoddard, Eddie Tunnell, Junior Wilson, Marjory Zulkoski, and Virginia Thompson.

Places visited included Mrs. Nejs Peterson, where they sang for her and Miss Hayes; M. Biemonds, Mrs. Nellie Coombs, Mrs. W. B. Weekes, Mrs. F. L. Blessing, Mrs. Ada Munn, Rev. S. A. Woodruff, Mrs. Vincent Kokes, Mr. and Mrs. Dayt. Auble, Mrs. Peter Hallen, Mrs. Charles Goodhand, Mrs. Jameson and Mrs. Arnold, Rev. Mearl C. Smith, who happened to be away from home, Mrs. Mattley, Mrs. Chris Helleberg, Matt Kosmatas, Mrs. Minnie Carltons, where she had a cross decorated with colored lights which she brought to the doorway, Mrs. E. N. Finley, Bert LeMasters, Mrs. Veleba, Ole Seversons, Miss Barbara Lukesha, Miss Inez Swains, and finally to Mrs. Leo Longs country home.

At Biemonds, Mrs. Halleus, Kosmatas, Mrs. Finleys, LeMasters, Lukeshas and Swains, where their coming had been anticipated, the singers were given treats of various kinds, which were heartily appreciated. Mrs. Veleba did not have any candy on hand, but made up some and sent it up to the school Monday morning. All connected with the idea had a grand time, and believe that carol singing is one of the finest ways of spending an evening.

Aviator Visits Here.

Friday evening Rudy Koupal received a call from a cousin, Fred Koupal, who had landed his plane at Grand Island, and wished to come up to Ord to visit his relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Koupal and his sister Mary drove down after him and brought him to Ord to spend the night. The next morning Mary and her father took him back to Grand Island. Fred Koupal is in the employ of the Trans-continental Western Airways. He has worked for them in the airport for six years, and has been flying transport planes between Chicago and New York and between Chicago and Kansas City since September. He has been transferred and was on his way west to fly over the route between Los Angeles and Albuquerque.

Jens Hansen Village Blacksmith 25 Years

This week Jens Hansen, well known Ord blacksmith, rounds out 25 years of service to the public in the shop just east of the Noll Seed Co. A quarter of a century ago Anton Wiegardt, father of the Wiegardt brothers, formed a partnership with Hansen and they bought the property, which consisted of a barn and a small house on the corner east. They remodelled the building to suit their purposes.

Six years later, in 1918, Mr. Wiegardt retired and returned to Elyria to make his home for a time. Later he came back and worked for George Work one summer. Hansen bought out his partner, and twice since has remodelled the house until today he has a very neat home there, which he always keeps in perfect condition. In the shop he has added welding equipment and a large lathe, thus keeping up with the times.

Jens Hansen first came to Ord May 11, 1909. For 1 1/2 years he worked on the Jorgen Moller place northwest of Ord. Then he came to Ord and worked for Fred Hather in the blacksmith shop that stood on the site of the Service Oil company's station. Sept. 23, 1911 he was married to Dagmar Lund. They have three children, all of whom are graduates of Ord high school. Hans, who grew up in the blacksmith shop, is also an expert smith, and a wizard with the welding machine.

The oldest daughter, Edith, is married and lives in California and Alma, 19, is living at home. Like all other men, Mr. Hansen has had his ups and downs, but he has never permitted trouble to get him down and keep him there. Today, in spite of drouth and depression, he still finds himself able to make a living and enjoy some of the comforts of life. Everything he has according to his own statement, he owes to his hundreds of farmer customers, who have kept him busy most of the time for a quarter of a century.

Home From State University.

Floyd Beranek and Dean Barta came home from Lincoln for the holidays Friday afternoon. Kenneth Koelling is home to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koelling. C. M. Hitchman drove down Saturday to bring home his daughter, Mary Beth, and brought also Harold Benn and Inez Eberhart of Ord and Dorothy Pierce of Burwell. Ruth Benn came up on the train Saturday night. The Cronk brothers, Leonard and Raymond, arrived the latter part of the week. Harold Sack arrived Thursday. Fred V. Cahill is doing extra work this week, and expects to get home Friday. Viola May Flynn is also expected home at that time. Dorothy Allen got home the latter part of last week. All these young people are students at the University of Nebraska.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Considerable grain sorgum was produced in this locality during the past year. Most of the boys studying agriculture at the high school had first hand experience with this new crop, when they raised their own sorgum patches last summer.

The students obtained seed from the county agent, who gave each boy enough to plant an acre, and supplied additional amounts at cost. The seed was certified Early Kalo, and Cheyenne, the finest available.

But most of the stands grew either too thin or too thick. As a result, the yields were only fair, although better than corn in most instances. Some yields as reported by individual students are as follows: 0, 2, 3, 5, 5, 7, 8, 10, 10, 10, 12, 16, 17, 20, 21, 23, 25, and 30 bushels per acre. Others did not give their yields because they could not get the sorgums threshed. The past season's experience with sorgums taught at least two things—that seeding must be thinner, and when the ground is warmer. A lot of farmers will list 3 pounds to the acre next summer instead of 4. Others will plant later and with a special plate.

Several farmers put in what they thought was a certain variety, and got something else. Only certified seed should be used, because sorgums will cross-breed very readily. There is some good certified seed for sale around Ord.

All-Night Session.

A dice game, they say, was in full progress the other evening and gave promise of lasting all night. Finally one of the group was "cleaned," and prepared to leave. "Say," remarked one of the players to the victim, "if you're going home, lock my door on the way." —Blair Pilot Tribune.

Kiddies Who Wrote Santa 10 Years Ago Good Citizens Now

The Quiz has proof that kids who believe in Santa Claus grow up to be citizens worth while. Ten years ago the Quiz was printing letters to Santa written by these future citizens, some of whom were too small to write the letters for themselves, and others up to ten or twelve years of age. The list of those writers today reads like a "Who's Who" of the young people of Ord, and any young man or young lady whose name appears in the list below has a right to be proud.

From Ord there were: Harold Koelling, Everett Gross, Gerald Richard (Bud) Clark, Virginia May Clark, Catherine, Elwood and Richard Miska, Melvern Ferris, Edward McCarville, Irene M. Urban, Glen Stevens, Lucille Lakin, Paul Perella, Bertha and Baby Daner, Bud Holloway, Ruth Kessler, Mary Ann Dlugosh, Don Kohl, Lillian Kirby, Edward Gross, Lucille and Margaret Lewis, Dicky Koupal, Mae Klein, John Rogers.

Jane and Jean Ferguson, Eugene Puncocchar, Donald Severson, Allen Zikmund, Amy Thompson, Eloise Norris, Alice Samula, Ger-ald Hatfield, Viola Skoll, Virginia Davis, Sarabelle Turner, Florence Furtak, Milo and Jean Bresley, Johnnie Knecht, Charlotte Johns, Luella Jones, Eldoris Gzinski, Della, Myrtle and Eva Hulbert, Elizabeth Wiberg, Harold Barnes, Earl, Edgar, Richard and Ruth Cook, Dale Leonard, Edna Smollik, Fay Cook, Harold Leonard, Mildred Abrahamson, Theodore Knecht, Earl and Edgar Barnes.

Glady and Everett Boyce, Ger-ald and Eldon Turner, Laurine, Roland, Bennie and Bernice Zulkoski, Emma Jeanette Hughes, Dorothy Ferris, Alvin Vodehnal, Mary Ann Vodehnal, Erma and Blanche Ruzicka, Kenneth and Lola Koelling, Jack and Joy Janssen, Hazel and Stanley Barr, Henrietta and Joe Kretlek, and Vera Severson; from Comstock, Alma Masin, from Sargent, Lillie Fajmon, from Elyria Mary Vsetecka, from Arcadia, Delmar Dalby;

From Burwell, Mike Hulinski and Edward Bruha; from Ericson, Ray Cropp and Paula Mae Lewis; from North Loup, Donna Bell, Anna Fisk, Virginia Rathbun and Morris and Nell Rathbun; from Loup City, Rose Oseka, Adeline Mostek, Adolf Oseka, Clara Oseka, Loomney Jarros.

There is the list taken from the final paper before Christmas ten years ago. Note the list includes great football stars, thus showing that belief in Santa does not make a sissy out of a boy. It includes those who have gone far in music and in other departments of our schools, proving that those youngsters who had faith to believe in Santa, also had faith in their parents, their teachers, their school and themselves.

J. Morten Andersen Tells Thuesen Case

"From J. M. Andersen of Ashton, Ida., comes this interesting letter, which is printed as written by Mr. Andersen:
Reading over Valley county's first murder in your last issue, Dec. 1, I would like to set forth a few facts in this case, as father, Niels Andersen, and I saw the fight at a distance of 40 rods, which led to the murder of Mr. Thuesen the next day, May 3, 1881. This was the most dastardly, cold-blooded murder case ever tried before a criminal court in Nebraska. The case was framed from the start by the defense. The prisoner was in custody of the sheriff, and had the liberty to run at large, charge, boy for the house, seeing friends pass by, would meet them on the street with a glad handshake and a cigar.

Mr. Godfriesen came to Valley county with the John Fogth family on Turtle Creek, from Wisconsin in the spring of 1880. He was the trouble maker of the Danish colony; was an undesirable in Denmark and deported to this country, as was the custom of the European countries those days. He lived on Chris Frey's homestead while Mr. Frey was in Schleswig. The farm now owned by J. J. Beehrle was his timber claim, the 1/4 section south of the J. J. Beehrle's was his homestead, afterwards owned by Knud Mortensen.

Mr. Thuesen, at the time he was shot, lived on the Niels Andersen timber claim which joined the Godfriesen homestead on the southeast corner. They did not quarrel over boundary lines, as there were none to quarrel over. Mr. Thuesen's homestead was 3 miles west of the Godfriesen homestead. Mr. Thuesen, wife and family worked for Godfriesen, building dugouts, viz: house, stable and granary and dug a well.

The day before the shooting they had a fight on the N. E. corner of his timber claim. Thuesen was a powerful man and gave his antagonist a good thrashing. Mr. Godfriesen went for home on high gear, as he had moved onto his homestead two months before. Mr. Thuesen came to our place, said to father, I have given him a good licking, I guess he will let me alone from now on. Mr. Thuesen had some carpenter tools, spade and wheelbarrow in his granary.

The next day Mr. Thuesen, wife and oldest daughter went over to the Godfriesen place to get their belongings. They went to the house to get permission from Mrs. Godfriesen to get them. Mr. Godfriesen was plowing north of the house, over the hill. After they left her at the house she went to the top of the hill, gave a signal to come. He came down the draw on high, with an old army musket in his hand loaded with a double charge (No. 4 shot and buckshot) like a mad bull. In the meantime Mr. Thuesen had gotten his belongings to the road and had a spade in his hand. Turning his head toward Godfriesen, Thuesen said to his wife, "For God's sake he is going to shoot." He raised his spade to shield his head. One buckshot entered his left eye, went clear through his head. He died instantly. They were about 60 yards apart.

While Mrs. Thuesen went to her husband, raised his head to stop the blood flowing from his eye with her handkerchief Godfriesen went back to the house to reload his musket and suddenly appeared on the scene to kill Mrs. Thuesen and daughter. They begged for mercy, promised not to go to Niels Andersen, he knew what would happen to him if they did. Then they ran away, had about one mile to where we lived on the Pete Andersen farm. Father was cultivating corn, met Mrs. Thuesen at the road, blood from head to foot. He unhooked the team, dropped the harness from his riding horse and went for the sheriff. In the meantime Mr. Godfriesen was on his way to give himself up. They met him, father said to the sheriff, "You had better put him under lock and key". Dr. J. M. Klinke, Otto Witte, Hans C. Sorensen and Niels Andersen were the first on the scene.

Mr. Godfriesen was lodged in jail in a room over the Dr. Harter store. He was handcuffed, doors and windows boxed. Thurston said to the Danes, "He is there for you if you want him." The reply was, "We will let the law take its course, we want him punished." Shortly after his preliminary trial he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. In about 2 months or so the store burned.

He was an ideal prisoner, lead to believe by the defending attorney, A. M. Robbins, he would clear him on a self-defense charge. Judge Herman Westover was prosecuting attorney at that time, made himself a reputation, had the good will of the Danes thereafter.

Tropical Lizard Found Near No. Loup By Sims; Escaped from Show, Is Belief

A side light on the carnival that was a feature of North Loup Popcorn Days cropped out when A. L. Sims, state highway maintainer of North Loup found a rare reptile some weeks ago beside the road near the golf course southeast of North Loup. It proved to be a lizard of the species Ctenosaura acanthura and was undoubtedly the one that was lost by a side show that came to Popcorn Days.

Rev. W. C. Birmingham of North Loup took some pictures of this unusual specimen, one of which is shown above, with Mr. Sims holding it on a card. This lizard is known as the Snake King in Texas, and is also called Chinese Dragon, Iguana Iguana, the Iguana Tuberculata. It is found only in the territory from Tehuantepec to extreme southern Arizona, so the North Loup specimen must have been carried here.

Mr. Godfriesen was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary at Lincoln. He was pardoned only 10 years later. He never showed up at Ord. His property the lawyers got all. His wife was penniless, deported to Denmark where she belonged.

Mr. H. P. Thuesen was a good man, kind, honest and precise who lost all his worldly belongings in the Limfjord flood in Denmark in the year 1879. He landed in St. Paul, Nebr., in the summer of 1880, almost penniless, with five children. He met Mr. Godfriesen there, who brought him to Ord. One child was born on Niels Andersen's timber claim. His children grew to manhood and womanhood, by hard work and Danish thrift they left their mark and are topnotch citizens.

Ord Man Killed by Burlington Motor

Bassett Transport Driver, Former Ord Man, Fatally Hurt Near Strang.

At 9:00 a. m. on Christmas day, Howard Alvord, 48, died in a Geneva hospital of injuries received in a car-truck accident which occurred on highway No. 81 two miles south of Strang at 6:30 last Tuesday morning. Alvord, for many years a resident of Ord, had been living in Bassett and was driving a Bassett gasoline transport truck at the time of his death.

As a result of the accident Mrs. Elmer Rathbun of Seward was instantly killed, and Alvord, as stated above, died later. Mr. and Mrs. Rathbun were driving south on the highway and Alvord was coming north loaded. Although the car and truck collided it is thought that Mrs. Rathbun was killed when she fell out of the car before the collision. Mr. Rathbun was too confused to be able to give details of the accident.

As local officers and state highway patrolmen reconstructed the accident, Mr. Rathbun was driving south in a Buick coupe, and struck the abutment at the north end of the bridge. This threw his car across the cement sided bridge. Mrs. Rathbun was thrown out when the car struck the east side of the bridge. Apparently the car struck her head or the wheels passed over her, killing her instantly.

The car then zigzagged across the bridge, landing directly in front of the transport about twenty feet across the bridge. To avoid hitting the car Alvord turned his tractor directly into the side of the bridge. It skidded along the cement structure to the end and then plunged twenty feet off the embankment. How any man could escape instant death in the wreckage was a miracle.

The relief driver, W. A. VanBuren, was asleep in the compartment behind the driver, and was thrown about twenty feet into a pasture, but was not seriously injured. The tank remained intact and but little of its load of gas was spilled. The body of Mrs. Rathbun and the injured man were both taken to Geneva, where Alvord was placed in the general hospital. After the examination the doctors gave little hope of his recovery.

A cousin, Archie Keep of Ord, drove away as soon as he got word of the accident, and a brother, Walter Alvord of Adrian, Mo., soon arrived. The brother and Mr. Alvord's wife, and a daughter, Lucille Ruhl of Grand Island were present at the bedside at the time of his death. The body was taken to Bassett where funeral services were held Monday at 1:00 p. m. in the Bassett Methodist church.

Attending the services from Ord were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burdick, Mrs. Edith Jones, Mrs. Rex Jewett and baby, Nate Sinkler, Miss Eva Bartusiak, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Keep. Walter Alvord and Mrs. Lucille Ruhl were also present. A sister, Mrs. Ed Walker of Newport Beach, Calif., was unable to attend. Howard Alvord was born June 13, 1889, a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Alvord, and with his parents lived for many years in Springdale, later living in Ord.

Free Electricity Again at Burwell

Burwell—(Special)—For the fifth successive year, and probably for the last time, electricity users of this city were given current free in December. Each consumer received from the city his light bill for December marked "Paid in Full," and with the words "Merry Christmas" stamped upon it.

Total amount of Burwell light bills in December approximates $1,500, so it can be seen that the municipal plant's gift is a real one. Burwell electric consumers appreciate this gift, which is made possible in large measure by the efficient management of Elsie Hansen, plant superintendent.

Since Burwell soon will commence buying electric energy from the North Loup power and irrigation district instead of producing it locally, it is doubtful if the free December current can be given in future years.

Stores Will Close On New Year's Day

Most of the Ord stores will again be closed on Saturday, Jan. 1, which is New Year's Day, as they were on Christmas day. Banks, the creamery and cream stations, department stores and most of the groceries will be closed throughout the day. Do your week-end buying on Friday.

Will Milk 100 Cows.

Davis Creek—(Special)—Clifford, Charles and Arthur Collins, Morris Rendell and Archie Jefferies returned from Ozark, Mo., just before Christmas, and the Collins' have rented a dairy farm there. It is located near a sanitarium and the Collins families expect to live together and milk about 100 cows. Five families from this neighborhood soon will be living in the same Missouri community within three miles of each other. Archie Jefferies expects to live in the tenant house of the farm rented by Morris Rendell.

Football Banquet On January 5th To Honor Champs

Whole Ord Squad Guests At Dinner C. of C. Plans; 'Link' Lyman Speaker.

Ord high school's 1937 football team, champions of both the Mid Six and Loup Valley conferences for the third successive season and unscathed on in their last nine games, will be honored next Wednesday evening.

The affair is being sponsored by the Ord chamber of commerce and the committee in charge includes Dr. F. A. Barta, Tom Springer, Joe Puncocar and Orville H. Sevl.

Principal speaker will be Roy "Link" Lyman, line coach at the University of Nebraska, who will be accompanied to Ord by one of the assistant coaches and will bring movies of exciting episodes during Cornhusker games this fall.

C. C. Dale will serve as toastmaster at the banquet and talks will be made by Coach H. F. Brockman, Assistant Coach Frank Lee, and probably by Dale Hughes and Harry Zukoski, honorary co-captains of the Ord team. Music will be furnished by an orchestra directed by Dean S. Duncan and musical specialties also will be arranged to entertain diners.

The banquet is public, which means that any men, women, boys or girls who desire to attend may purchase tickets, which go on sale today. Attendance of 300 is confidently expected, as the whole populace of this city desires to honor the Ord football team in view of its wonderful record in recent seasons.

New Highway Patrolman.

George Lent, of Cotesfield, will be the new highway patrolman on the Ord patrol, starting Jan. 1. He is a veteran in the work at Cotesfield. J. L. Higgins, present patrolman, will be transferred elsewhere but has not yet received his assignment. The Lent family will live in the Wm. Carlton house.

Hottentots Will Play Ord Saturday

Talking to the manager of the Harlem Hottentots via long distance telephone Tuesday afternoon, officials of the Ord Basketball League reached an agreement whereby the Ord Town Team will meet the Hottentots on Saturday night, Jan. 1.

Manager of the Hottentots expressed regrets for the failure of his team to appear last Saturday, saying that the entire crew had been in a car wreck in Des Moines. It was promised that the Harlem sharpshooters would be in Ord by noon, Saturday.

Thursday night of this week, the Ord Town Team will play their first game of the year with outside competition as they meet Farwell on the Ord floor. Farwell has built up a reputation during the past five years for the fine town teams which they have turned out and the game Thursday night should be a good one.

Results of league play Tuesday night show that "Ed's" team, formerly the Safeways, skinned over the Ord Auto Parts 23 to 12. The official scorebook discloses that the K. of C. five won over the Ord Theatre 8 to 7, although several are disputing the decision, declaring the final score to be 9-3 in favor of the Theatre quint.

Ord Merchants To Welcome 1st Baby With Many Gifts

Parents, Doctor, Asked Report Early Arrivals, First Will Receive Prizes.

As has been the custom here for several years, merchants of Ord again will welcome the first baby to be born in the New Year with a group of suitable gifts.

Stores participating in the offer include the Brown-McDonald Co., Chase Toggery, Aulsebrook, Ed Beranek, Springer Variety, Stoltz Variety, Carl Sorensen Drug, Frazier Furniture, Kokes Hardware, Ord Cold Storage, Beuck-Dugan Oil Co., and Russell Pharmacy.

Among the gifts are a layette, silk and wool hosiery, a $1.00 starter for a savings account, baby ring, hot water bottle, baby chair and many other articles. Nor are the parents left out, for they will receive certain presents including ice cream, fresh frozen strawberries, gasoline and motor oil. Even the attending physician will receive gifts from one of the twelve merchants participating.

To be eligible for the prizes, parents of early 1938 babies or the doctor should notify the Quiz within 12 hours after the baby's birth. The report must give the exact date, hour and minute of birth, name of the attending physician, name of the parents, where they live, sex, weight and age of the baby. The name given the baby should be reported if possible.

As soon as Valley county's first 1938 baby is definitely determined the Quiz will issue a letter of credentials to the parents, who then may go to the various stores offering prizes and claim them.

Last year the first 1937 baby was James Alton Kasson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kasson, and he was born at 1:25 p. m. on Saturday, Jan. 2. His birth was reported to the Quiz just nine minutes later by the doctor in charge, Dr. C. W. Weekes. James Alton weighed 8 pounds at birth. The Kasson family now live in North Loup.

Who will be the first baby born in Valley county in 1938?

James Lee Children Go to McManus Home

Deputy Sheriff F. J. Cohen took the James Lee children Friday to the home of James McManus and his sister in Greeley county near Horace, where arrangements have been made to keep them for the present, at least. The Lees stayed at the McManus home for years and they kept the boy, Lawrence, for some time after James and his daughter Mildred found a place to live elsewhere.

Mrs. Norris Hurt In Car Accident

Ben Dahlin, who was in Omaha for Christmas, saw Dr. H. N. Norris on the street there and learned from him of an accident that befell the family Friday while on the way to Omaha from Kansas City to spend Christmas with relatives. The Quiz is not in possession of full details, but it seems that the car and a truck met and in the collision Mrs. Norris received a number of bad cuts about the face. Dr. Norris and their daughter, Eloise, escaped with minor hurts. Driving conditions were bad at the time because of the sleet, which was doubtless a contributing factor to the accident.

Wardrop Returning, Illinois Too Rainy

The C. D. Wardrop family may return to Ord in the spring, according to word received by Joe Karty of the Karyl Hardware. Mr. Wardrop said they found business at Golconda, Ill., where they went, as bad as it was here, or worse. There were more people out of work, and everybody was complaining hard times. The merchants all claim that trade there is very poor. Mr. Wardrop says it rains there all the time, and that there has been only one day of sunshine in a month. It is either cloudy or raining all the time. He wishes that some of it could fall on Nebraska. He closes by saying that they will be seeing us in the spring, as the weather is now too unsettled to start out.

—Rev. and Mrs. Mearl C. Smith went to Lincoln Tuesday on a combined business and pleasure trip, returning Wednesday.

Impact of Motor Train 'Flattened' Car Driven by Kokes

Here's what happens when a train strikes a car at a railway crossing. Smashed almost flat, as this fine Quiz photo shows, was the Chrysler car driven by Wm. Kokes when it was struck near Burwell Friday by the Burlington motor. The heavy engine was literally crushed, fenders and running boards torn off, the sedan top converted into jagged splinters of wood and shreds of steel, every bit of glass broken—in fact, the car was flattened by the impact. Yet ten sticks of dynamite carried in the car by Mr. Kokes for use in blasting ice of the river should a jam develop did not explode!

Williams to Try Secure Route For No. 11 Highway

Chief of State Department Will Arrive Today, Try Buy Right-of-Way.

Relocation of No. 11 highway between Ord and North Loup moved a step closer to reality Monday as result of a visit to Lincoln by Ign. Kilma, Jr., county clerk, and Alfred Wiegardt, secretary of the Ord chamber of commerce. A rehearing of the highway proposition was held at their request by A. C. Tilley, state highways chief, and facts brought out will result in the visit to Ord today of A. G. Williams, chief of the right-of-way division of the highway department.

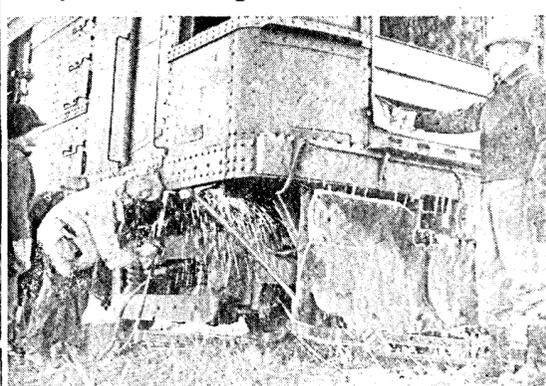

Mr. Williams will come here personally and make a sincere attempt to buy right-of-way in Olean and Dist. 42 communities, and if he is successful a contract for construction of the new road will be let in February, Kilma and Wiegardt were promised by state officials.

The state engineer now is convinced that he was not given a true picture of the right-of-way situation by F. W. A. Rohrkasse, who reported a few weeks ago that farmers wanted "unreasonable prices" for the land needed.

After Rohrkasse's unfavorable report, a survey made by the Quiz revealed that all resident land owners are willing to sell right-of-way to the state at fair prices.

If right-of-way is bought today or tomorrow by Williams, and construction contracts are let in February for the new highway, work will be started in the spring and pushed to early completion. Once this section of the highway is straightened a bituminous surface from St. Paul to Burwell will be only a matter of time, probably a year or two.

Only Minor Damage Done to Burwell Motor

A shallow dent in the cab and a wrecked bumper, usually known as a "cowcatcher," were the only damages suffered by the Burlington motor Friday when the Kokes car was wrecked and Mr. Kokes killed. Here workmen cut bolts holding the cowcatcher to the train, so it can be removed. Anton Zalud points to a mound of broken glass lodged on the front of the train—fragments of the windshield of the Kokes car.

Otto Murschel Dies At California Home

After an illness of about a month, Otto Murschel, 69, passed away Thursday, Dec. 23, at his home in Lomita, Calif. The Quiz learns through a newspaper clipping mailed by Fred J. Bell. For some time Mr. Murschel had been working as a timekeeper at the Pacific Coast Club. He is survived by a brother, George J. Murschel, of San Francisco, and by a sister. Funeral services were held Friday and entombment was in the Angeles Abbey Mausoleum.

Long a prominent resident of Ord, Mr. Murschel moved to the coast about twenty years ago. He always was active in politics while in Ord, being democratic leader in the city and county, and held the office of county clerk and clerk of the district court. The Murschel family lived in the home now owned by Miss Mamie Smith and Mrs. Bert M. Hardenbrook.

William C. Kokes Drove In Front Of Train Near Burwell

Dynamite in Car Failed To Explode Though Collision Hurlled Car 200 Feet.

William C. Kokes, 37-year-old Ord man, was killed instantly last Friday at 11:40 a. m. on the C. B. & Q. railroad crossing at the south edge of Burwell when the Chrysler car he was driving was struck by the Burlington motor, which was pulling into Burwell 2 hours and 12 minutes late.

The car was carried 200 feet west of the crossing on the cowcatcher of the motor train, finally falling off on the north edge of the grade. It was a crumpled, twisted mass of steel and wood, every piece of glass shattered and was said by all who saw it to be the worst wreck in Burwell's history.

Crumpled in the front seat was found the body of Mr. Kokes, almost every bone broken, the head shattered and chest caved in. Apparently he met death at the instant of impact and probably never knew what had hit him.

Frank Malicky, who operates a service station a few rods north of the crossing and who was inside the station when the accident occurred, said he heard the whistle of the motor sounding for some time before the motor reached the crossing. At about the same time he heard a car passing the station, and an instant later heard a terrific crash which vibrated the station.

Looking out the south window of the station, Malicky saw what had taken place and immediately called Sheriff Raymond Johnson and Dr. Roy Cram, who were among the first to reach the scene.

Melvin and Marvin Malicky, who were at the station, were first persons to reach the car and found the mangled body of Kokes in the seat. The body was removed by Sheriff Johnson and Dr. Cram and taken to the Mitchell funeral home. Relatives at Ord were notified and early that afternoon a Frazier hearse took the body to Ord.

R. J. Wallick, of Aurora, was motorman of the train and F. G. Bryan, of Lincoln, was conductor. In the cab with Wallick was W. F. Buck, chief electrician for the Burlington railroad.

Both Wallick and Buck say they saw the Kokes car long before it reached the crossing, and because the car was proceeding at a speed they estimated at 8 to 10 miles per

New Owners Take Charge of Sows

On January 1 the new owners of the Orville H. Sowl mortuary, Hilding O. Pearson and Wilmer M. Anderson, who came here from Wahoo, will take charge of the business. They bought it early in December and since then have been here most of the time assisting Mr. Sowl, who retained possession until end of the year.

Both of the young men are pleasant gentlemen to meet and have made many friends in Ord. Both are thoroughly experienced and competent funeral directors and embalmers. Both have held Nebraska licenses since 1934 and prior to that time served apprenticeships in well known Nebraska mortuaries and attended recognized schools of embalming. Mr. Pearson was with the Wadlow Mortuary at Lincoln five years, then attended the Wadlow school in Chicago, and has since been with the Wadlow people. Mr. Anderson worked at the Ericson Mortuary in Wahoo, attended the Hohenshuh-Carpenter school in Kansas City, and then worked a year for the Volland Mortuary at Hastings.

Yesterday Orville Sowl told the Quiz that his plans are still indefinite but that he will be in Ord for several weeks before going to the west coast, where he hopes to locate.

THROTTLING CHRISTMAS.

Christmas has been one of the greatest events of the year among most of the nations of the world since its establishment more than 1900 years ago. All religions founded on Christ have made it the time of greatest rejoicing of the entire year. With it have grown up customs which have become a part of the celebration, differing somewhat in different countries, but all much along the same lines.

Among these may be mentioned the singing of Christmas carols, the Christmas tree, and Santa Claus. The past week all these have had a prominent place in every land where the Christian religion predominates. Twenty years ago these countries were much more numerous than they are today. Until recently even un-Christian Japan permitted the use of Santa Claus's and Christmas trees.

Twenty years ago Russian autocracy was overthrown, and from the ruins emerged the first great communist state. More than the czar was overthrown. The Christian religion was overthrown as well, and with it the celebration of Christmas, Santa Claus, Christmas trees, and Christmas carols as well. From a deeply religious nation Russia became a nation with no religion at all.

Shortly after Hitler founded his Nazi state eleven years ago he began a systematic persecution of both Jew and Catholic, which he has kept up ever since. News reports last week told of how Germany through its ruler, Hitler, substituted for Christmas the celebration of the winter solstice, Dec. 21, and it is said that the ceremonies consisted largely of burning wreaths to the memory of fallen military heroes.

In the homes it was permitted to have Christmas trees, but instead of the Star of Bethlehem that formerly adorned the top of the tree was substituted the swastika. The singing of Christmas carols, a rite in which the German people once took the greatest delight, was barred. The more a man depends upon himself, the more likely he is to leave God out of the picture entirely, as Hitler is doing in Germany.

Until this year it has been the custom in Japan to have Santa Claus in the department stores and elsewhere, largely for business reasons, and also to promote good feeling among the Christian nations with which Japan had to deal. This year Japan followed the lead of Germany and there were no old Santas, no Christmas trees, no Yuletide jollity of any kind.

Germany, the homeland of Martin Luther, greatest of all reformers, under Hitler has taken a tremendous step in the wrong direction. It is to be feared that the influence of 400 years of Christian teaching may all be destroyed during the life of one man. Germany, once a country of religious tolerance, is today intolerant of all religions.

Russia and Germany are diametrically opposed, the one communist, the other Nazi. Yet in two particulars they are identical. Both nations have placed a ban on religion, and in both countries the true will of the people is throttled. For this reason both nations are doomed, for no nations that have forsaken God have long endured. They are permitted to exist for a season, but in His good time they will be destroyed.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

This spasm just about ends my efforts along the writing line for 1937 and next week I will be starting the new year. We haven't any of us been very prosperous in 1937 (I am talking about Valley county folks) because the farmers didn't raise a crop. Still, I am sure that we have a lot to be thankful for. I have been reading about the share croppers in some of the southern states and compared with most of them, the hardest up among us are sitting pretty. So I say we have a lot to be thankful for, because most Valley county folks have enough to eat and can keep warm this winter. I am wishing you all a happy new year and a more prosperous 1938. And I believe we will all have it, too. I believe we are going to have a good year. I think we will raise a crop this coming year of 1938 and that we will approach Christmas next winter with vastly brighter prospects than was the case this year.

While paying his subscription for the coming year, the other day, a friend said "Hank, I wish I was sitting as pretty as you are," meaning, of course that he believed I was sitting on top of the world. I happen to know that man's circumstances pretty well, and while he is not rich by any means, he has nothing to worry about. He is too old to start in to amass a fortune, but he has enough to live on in comfort longer than he will live even if he stays with us quite a ways beyond his allotted time. He admits that he has no debts. He has no pay roll to meet. He has no family, except a fine wife, to depend on him for a living. All he has got to do is to live fairly economically and not work any more than is necessary to keep in good health. So why should he envy a guy who owes quite a lot; who is as old as he is; who has a large investment in a business that won't show one per cent interest on the investment in 1937; who has better than $40 to raise every one of the 365 days of the year to pay expenses before he has anything for himself? I told this good friend that the far hill always looked the greenest. I also told him that if he had the things to worry about for a month, that I have, he would soon be ready to change back to his present job of having a good time.

I got a Christmas letter the other day, with this sentiment in it: He has no enemies, you say! My friend your boast is poor. For he who has mingled in the fray of life, And fought the fight the brave endure Must have made foes. If he has none, Then small the work that he has done!

He has smote no traitor on the hip, He has dashed no cup from perjured lip, He has never turned the wrong to right, He has been a coward in the fight!

If you don't think that is true, Just look around among your acquaintances. Pick out those who have no enemies and then try to figure out what they have done to make the world or the community better.

In advertising our special subscription drive for new subscribers I told you all that I hoped to add 200 new ones to the list. I needed the extra 200 to bring our weekly press run above the 3,000 mark in order to get more and better foreign advertising contracts and also to better serve our local advertisers. When I counted up Christmas evening I found that we had added just 239 new ones. That was more than I expected. Only three or four people attempted to take advantage of the offer to extend their own subscription and mostly they did it as a joke or to kid me a little. So far as I know only one subscriber did a dishonest act to take advantage of me and he is not getting away with it. I am sincere in saying that I do wish I could have extended the one dollar privilege to all subscribers this hard-up Christmas but that would have been financial suicide which couldn't be thought of. But allowing subscribers to send the Quiz for a year to non-subscribers did do a wonderfully good work, for it enabled 239 nannies to read the Quiz during 1938 who otherwise could not have done so and it made it possible for a good many regular subscribers to send the paper for a year, to a relative or friend when they would not have felt able to do so at the regular price of two dollars. I also figure that it is a permanent asset to the Quiz because past experience shows that about 80 per cent of such new subscribers remain for years as regular subscribers.

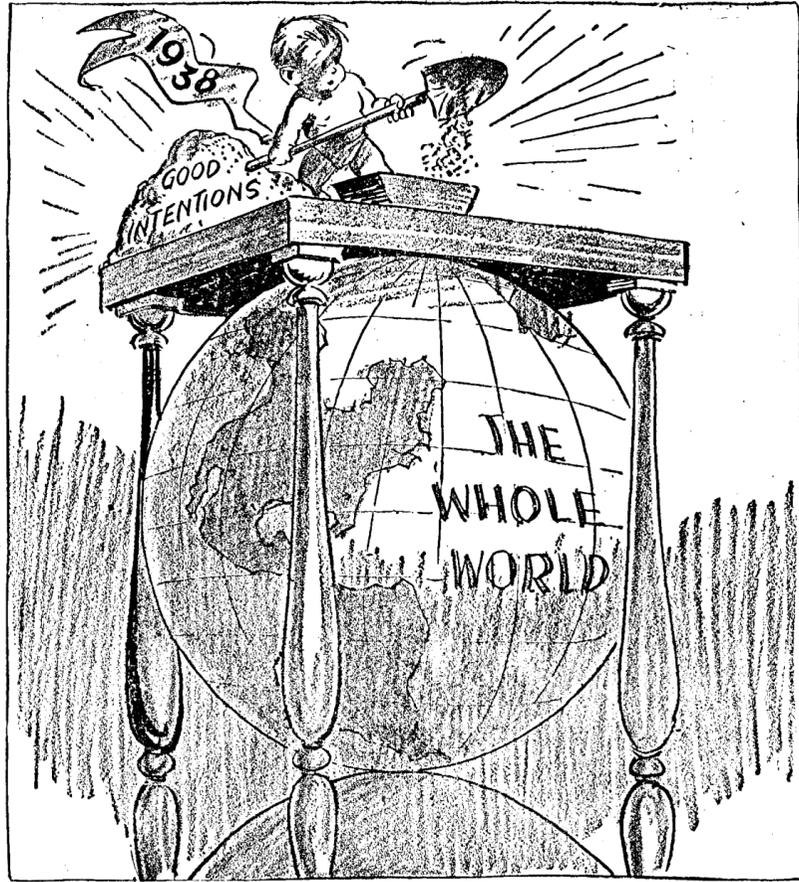

Castor Oil for Hoppers. It has been discovered that castor beans prove fatal to the internal works of a grasshopper, and thus all needed to safeguard a field against invasion by the infernal pest is to surround it with rows of castor beans. Hoppers seem to prefer castor beans to other vegetation, and so they are easily led to their doom.—Wayne Herald.

FILLED UP EVERY YEAR

Something Different

I thought we were awfully smart, Kerry and I, when we amused ourselves for a morning a few days ago, making Christmas tree ornaments out of the pretty gilt paper in the "get-well-quick" cards I received this fall. Kerry was tickled to death with the bright chains we pasted together, the stars we made.

That is, I thought we were awfully smart until the gilt paper fell apart and the chains reverted to little strips. It seems gilt paper just won't paste.

Keith Lewis has been telling every one that the Quiz has at least one honest workman on the force, since an experience he had with George Gowen. You know, Gowen of the famous "Care of the County Board" column?

Mr. Gowen walked into the Penney store and asked if they would trust him for $5. This request brought forth some peculiar glances from those who heard it, for all Penney store business is strictly cash.

Then Mr. Gowen explained they would have to trust him for the $5. It seems his wife received two fives, stuck closely together, when she was given change a few days before that. Two fives in place of one. And Mr. Gowen had forgotten to bring the extra $5 back, though he explained his intentions were extremely honorable. Next visit to Ord Mr. Gowen delivered the $5.

Did you notice an odd fact about the picture of the two pairs of twins that was printed in the Quiz an issue or two ago? I did. Both sets of twins bore the names of animals. One pair of little girls were Wolfe twins, the other pair of twins had Fox for a last name. So if your last name is also an animal name, better look around the house and see if your family includes a set of twins too.

Dr. F. L. Blessing had more fun Christmas eve, impersonating a certain very popular saint and personage who is commonly reputed to do all his calling that one evening, stopping only at the homes of the goodliest little boys and girls.

This is the second year Dr. Blessing has enjoyed himself thus. Reports have it that he is occasionally a little bit stumped, however. As for instance at the Harry McBeth home when Donnie Hill inquired as to whether he was going to get that wagon? (How should Santy know?)

And say she's a martyr and slave, But the fisherman's pal is an adventurous gal And should be listed among the brave.

If your husband has ever been bitten By the well-known fishing bug, He's contracted a disease that is fatal And will last 'till his grave is dug.

I have sat in a boat with my ears-laps pulled down By the cold melting rain have been kissed.

Had my husband look at me square in the eye And declare it was only a mist. We have fished with all kinds of tackle, Sometimes never getting a bite, We have changed from one lure to another And none of them seemed to be right.

Shannon spinners, sand crabs and crawlers, Worms, Pickle Minnows and spoons, We've had a try at each fish bait, Just like a couple of loons. The seats of the boats have been harder than rocks, I'm sure I grew callouses sitting Hour after hour pulling hard at the oars, My fast-falling strength not admitting.

We get up before sunrise and seek out the spot Where the wily bass come for their breakfast, I row quietly by each pond lily stretch While he gets his pole ready to cast.

And after what seems hours of waiting With a splash and a jerk of the hook, The fisherman brings up a beauty Which his proud smiling pal longs to cook.

She forgets all the hardship and waiting And goes home with him tired and glad That her husband likes to go fishing Instead of pursuing things bad. The funniest part of the story Is the part to be told at the last, The fishing bug's bitten the fisherman's wife And he's now teaching her how to cast.

Shoes No Gude. In a shoe store in Tennessee the boss saw a Swedish clerk throw a brand-new pair of shoes in the waste basket. "What's the idea of throwing those shoes away?" he asked, indignantly. "They bane no gude," replied the clerk. "I try them on six fellers and they don't fit anyone." —Nebr. Legionnaire.

One Pupil School. Hidden Hollow school, nine miles north of Sumner in Custer county, has reached its lowest enrollment. The one and only pupil is Mary Lou Mason, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mason. This is Mary Lou's third year in school and she is enrolled in the fourth grade. Miss Clara Stewart of Sumner is the teacher. —Custer Co. Chief.

American Eagle Caught in Trap. Spalding—An American eagle with a wing spread of six feet, was found at the Matt Bloom farm, caught in a trap by one foot. It was brought in to the school and we are informed that Mr. Carr plans to have it mounted.

CARE OF COUNTY BOARD

By George Gowen

Not So Bad. Lyle Abney, who lives near Sumner, is the owner of the second best hunting dog in the state. It is a registered English pointer bitch and won second place in the meet at Ashland last week, the contest sponsored by the Missouri Valley Gun Club.

A few years ago Floyd Megrue loaned Lyle a purebred pointer bitch, from which Lyle raised his prize winning dog. Floyd now lives at Tekamah and the contest was to be at Ashland and Floyd is a member of the gun club. He knew that Lyle's dog was a good one so he asked Lyle to send her down and he would enter her in the contest. This Lyle did. In the preliminaries Lyle's dog won fourth and in the derby following, she took second.

The contest is held on the game reserve near Ashland. The preliminaries are simply to eliminate the dogs that are not good enough to stand a chance in the final derby. The qualifications are only that the dog be a registered bird dog of some breed. Some of the different points to be judged are the quickness that the dog scents the pheasant, the point that the dog makes, the discipline of the dog, the retrieving, whether it tends to its own business and does not quarrel with the other dogs. The color or looks of the dog make very little difference. It is the training of the dog.

Lyle says that with a well bred dog, the training is not difficult. It was as natural for his dog to hunt and point and retrieve as it was for it to eat. On the other hand, Lyle says, to teach a bird dog to drive cattle would be as foolish as to teach a shepherd to be a good hunter.

Lyle has a pup from his champion dog and sired by Carl Dale's dog, that Lyle has hopes will be the making of another fine hunting dog. Lyle also has a Newfoundland retriever that he uses for duck hunting. A good water dog is usually not so good for birds and visa-versa.

Drama! Drama! Irvy Sheldon and I are story book fans. We read detective and adventure stories with gusto, both true and fictional. But we have remarked time and again that the true are worse, (or better as the case may be) than the fictional. Should the writer put into the fictional what actually happens in the true, the reader would say it was a lie and the writer has overdone things in that story.

Now there is running a true story serial in all the dailies that will hold its place in history everlasting. Should it have been written in fiction we would say those things just don't happen in real life. Just in story books.

The greatest short story ever written, probably, is that of the prodigal son. Now another prodigal son is coming home. Years ago he became wild and ran off to Russia from his Chinese father, marrying a foreigner, taking up foreign ways, learning foreign warfare. He has seen his father once since but returned to the hills.

Now his father is in great trouble. The mad men from Japan with their stunner guns, and their gas and great birds have laid waste to the father's land. They have

Jobless Insurance Due Real Test as States Fight Business Slump

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—It is expected that shortly after the first of the year 1,000,000 unemployed men and women will troop into the offices, already set up in 21 states and the District of Columbia, to get applications for unemployment insurance benefits under the Social Security Act. Leaders of industry and government alike are anxious to know how much of the depression slack will be taken up by these benefit payments, but there will be no real movement of funds until March or April, so no immediate increase in purchasing power is to be expected. There will be a delay in each case even after the jobless are properly registered, when an attempt will be made to find work for them. If no work can be found and investigation proves they are eligible, unemployment benefits will begin.

UNEMPLOYMENT compensation laws already in effect in 22 states cover about 11,500,000 employes, and by July, 1939, when the last state starts paying benefits, some 20,000,000 employed men and women will be covered. For two years employers, and in some states employes, have been taxed on a graduated scale from 1 to 3 per cent of payroll or salary. By the end of January, 22 states will have contributed the amount required before payments can begin, and will have $500,000,000 on deposit with the Treasury in an unemployment trust fund.

Chief differences in various state unemployment insurance laws are that in some cases agricultural labor, domestic servants, public servants and casual labor are excluded from benefits. Also, in some states those who employ a small number of persons, sometimes eight, sometimes four, sometimes one, are exempted.

States require for eligibility variously from 12 to 20 weeks of employment within the 52 weeks prior to registration. The period over which benefits are to be paid varies from 12 to 20 weeks, and the amount paid will in most cases be the equivalent of half a full week's pay, but never more than $15 a week.

FIRST of all, a prospective applicant should have a social security number, then he should make application at the nearest public employment office on and after January 3.

The state deposits and the unemployment trust fund will be put to a real test when applications begin pouring in, but both state and federal officials are optimistic about this new experiment in cushioning the shock of the business recession.

POINTLESS PARAGRAPHS.

What fools we mortals be! Twenty years ago there was a craze against anything made in Germany, and most of us pledged ourselves to use no German made goods. Then Japan was all right. Today Germany suits us fine, but we don't want Japanese made goods. As a race the American people are the most inconsistent in the world.

Twenty years ago there was a big agitation to "Speak American Only". Today foreign languages are spoken fully as much in the United States as they were twenty years ago. Go into any of the large cities of Europe and the leading shops have clerks who will converse with you in the English language. They know it is good business.

Santa Claus may not be a crook, but he has many aliases. In Holland he is St. Nicholas. In France they call him Le Pere Noel, and Father Whippor travels with him to punish the bad children. Father Christmas is the holiday saint of Sweden and Norway, but the children have to sing to him before he leaves them any gifts.

In Denmark little gnomes with red caps do the work of Santa Claus. The red caps make them invisible to the children. Santa's wife, named Befana, a witch like woman, comes to Italian children. In Germany Kris Kringle formerly looked down the chimneys, located the wooden shoes and dropped the presents into them. Let us hope he managed to come this year to many of them.

In Ireland lighted candles are placed near an open window, as it is hoped the Christ child may come in. There is always food on the table for him. In Poland it is thought that at the hour of Christ's birth the animals have power of speech. Gifts for the children are left at the church. The Kolyada, a girl dressed in white visited each Russian house when she was permitted to do so, and presented the gifts.

Shoes are left on the doorsteps in Hungary. The good little folks get sugar, the bad ones switches. St. Mikulas of Bohemia is accompanied by an angel and a devil, who point out the good and the bad children. St. Basil delivers toys in Greece. Spanish children leave tufts of straw near their shoes when they start to church Christmas morning. Santa leaves the presents and the reindeer eat the straw. In England Father Christmas is the man who delivers the gifts.

The Spirit of Christian Service

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 2. The Gospel of St. Mark: A Preview. Text: Mark 10:35-45.

THE Gospel of St. Mark will form the basis of lessons for the first six months of 1938. The text of the first discussion, which forms an introduction to the series, is taken from the middle of the Gospel. Subsequent lessons will be based upon texts taken from chapters in regular sequence.

The general title of these lessons is "The Gospel of Service," and this introductory lesson has to do with the spirit of the Christian disciple, and with the nature and privilege of service following the example of Jesus Himself.

Primary in all moral life and especially in Christian living is the matter of motive. There are many ruling motives in life. There is the motive of gain, or of self-interest, which may be very low and sordid, or which may be more refined and enlightened.

There is the motive of the love of place or of fame; there is the motive of the love of power; and there are many other motives which consciously, or subconsciously, may influence men in their thoughts and actions.

IN our lesson, by way of contrast with the Christian motive and to bring out strongly the reality of Christian service, we have two sons of an ambitious mother, who request that the positions of honor and pre-ferment, when Jesus comes in His kingdom, may be given to them.

They have not realized the spiritual mission of Jesus; and thinking chiefly of a kingdom which they assume Jesus is going to establish as the Messiah, their request is that one should sit on His right hand and the other on His left hand when He assumes the throne.

Jesus reminds them that they do not know what they ask. He inquires whether they are willing to drink of the cup that He drinks, and be baptized with the baptism that He is baptized with, apparently having in mind the persecution and ultimately the crucifixion that await Him.

But James and John, the so-called Sons of Thunder, are insistent. They declare that they are able and willing to assume all the rigors of the kingdom. Jesus accepts their declaration of ability and loyalty; but He assures them that the places that they ask are not His to give.

NATURALLY, the 10 other disciples, when they heard of this effort of James and John to secure the foremost places, were very indignant. And it is to this indignant company of disciples that Jesus declares the law of His kingdom.

It is a kingdom of love and righteousness very different from the kingdoms of the world, those who lord it over others are called great ones; but there is a different standard in the kingdom of Christ. There, greatness is measured by the extent to which one has given his life to the rule of love, and become a ministering servant to his fellowmen.

"Whoever will be first among you," says Jesus, "shall be the servant of all."

This plain and simple teaching Jesus enforces concerning His own life. He is not asking other men to assume a way of life and duty that He Himself has not undertaken. Rather, He sets His own life and purpose as the example.

"For the Son of man also came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."

A program was very nicely given by a group of children under the direction of Mrs. Minnie Carlton. A chicken supper was the feature of the evening, being served cafeteria style, with the children given the honor of being served first. Candy and popcorn balls were distributed to the children at the close of the party.

Presbyterian Church.—The Christmas program of the Ord Presbyterian church was held Thursday evening. The program was centered around the Christmas story, with persons presenting the various scenes of the first Christmas night, including the angel appearing to the shepherds, the scene at the manger, the three wise men, and readers giving the accompanying text. As it was a white gift Christmas, following the visit of the wise men, the children brought their gifts, after which the older people brought theirs. These gifts were used to make a merrier Christmas to others in need. The program was in charge of Mrs. S. A. Woodruff. Tuesday evening Mrs. F. V. Cahill, Mrs. O. E. Johnson and James Ollis held a very entertaining party for the members of their classes in the basement of the church.

Pentecostal Church.—Owing to the fact that the pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Lester Dickinson, left Monday, Dec. 20 for a vacation and to visit relatives in Kansas and Oklahoma, there were no special services during the holiday period. The Dickinsons are expected home Saturday.

Chanticleers Leave For Curtis Friday

Ord high school's cagers are holding work-outs daily at the high school gymnasium keeping in shape and preparing for battle with the Curtis Aggies on Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 at Curtis.

At least ten members of the cage squad, probably twelve, will make the 200 mile trip to Curtis. Private cars will be used in making the trip and the return trip to Ord will be made Sunday, Jan. 2.

School officials are hoping to secure Curtis as a permanent opponent on the Ord basketball schedule through this game. No attempt will be made to get the Curtis school on the Ord football schedule as the schools are too far apart to permit the traveling of such large groups.

For the first time since 1921, the annual Custer county track and field meet will not be held in Broken Bow. This was decided at a meeting of the Custer county Schoolmen's Association held at Arnold recently.

The removal of the county track meet leaves Broken Bow without any major high school athletic tournaments. The lack of suitable basketball courts has made it impossible for officials to invite the Custer basketball tourney to Broken Bow.

Hottentots Fail to Make Appearance

Many basketball enthusiasts in the Loup Valley sector were disappointed Saturday when officials announced that the Harlem Hottentots crack negro quintet, would not be on hand to play the Ord town team on Christmas night, as scheduled.

The Hottentots are regarded as one of the best negro quints in this section of the country and it is very difficult to schedule a game with them. Sport fans will remember several towns who last year had games scheduled with the Hottentots but at the last moment received telegrams stating that they would be unable to play. Ord officials say that an attempt to play a game with the negroes will be made again, later in the season.

"Streamlined" Football.

Six-man football is what one might term as the "streamlined" version of the game. It is fast, full of thrills and an accurate passer can really "go to town." One of the players from the Hardy, Neb., team, champions of Nebraska six-man football, made all-American.

This game is probably one of the most strenuous of all sports. It calls for real endurance, speed and ability. Being short, the usual power plays of eleven-man teams is less dangerous to players. Speed, rather than beef is what makes six-man football a real game.—Central City Nonpariel.

New sweat suits of brilliant scarlet and white have been purchased for the Arcadia basketball team this year, being worn for the first time of the season last week when the Arcadians met Sargent on the Arcadia floor.

(Dec. 30 and 31, in Ord, Nebraska)

This is one of a series of advertisements for the State of Nebraska appearing in TIME Magazine in the interests of the state's agriculture, labor and industry. The advertisements are being reproduced in the weekly newspapers of the state free of charge. We urge you to clip this advertisement and mail it to your industrial friends living outside of the state.

"The White Spot"

★ If you were to chart the United States in terms of new, extra and unusual taxes you would get the startling result shown by this map. Nebraska alone has NO income tax, NO sales tax, NO luxury taxes. Its debt-free state government levies nothing to pay interest on bonds because NEBRASKA'S CONSTITUTION PROHIBITS STATE BONDS. ★ Every other state has one or more extra levies not found in Nebraska; taxes that increase the cost of living and place oppressive burdens on agriculture, labor and industry. Here is an impressive example: Thirty-seven states now collect some form of income tax. Nebraska does not. ★ The policy of Nebraska is "no new forms of taxation." Thrifty Nebraska pays as it goes, limiting a modest property levy to the ability of the people to pay for proved needs. By this policy Nebraska has REDUCED its property tax, state and local. Encouraged by this fair tax policy, INDUSTRY CAN GROW ★ Nebraska also has excellent transportation to a growing market, co-operative labor, cheap power and fuel. Learn more by writing to

Ord Township Library.

New books received for the week ending Dec. 27 include the following: "The Movie Made Children" by Henry James Forman, a book copyrighted four years ago, has gone through its seventh printing, thus attesting to its popularity with the reading public. "Think For Yourself" by Robert P. Crawford, a this year's copyright, asks the pertinent question: "Do you think, or only think that you think?" It defines and describes four kinds of thinking and tells of the power to create and the process of creative thought.

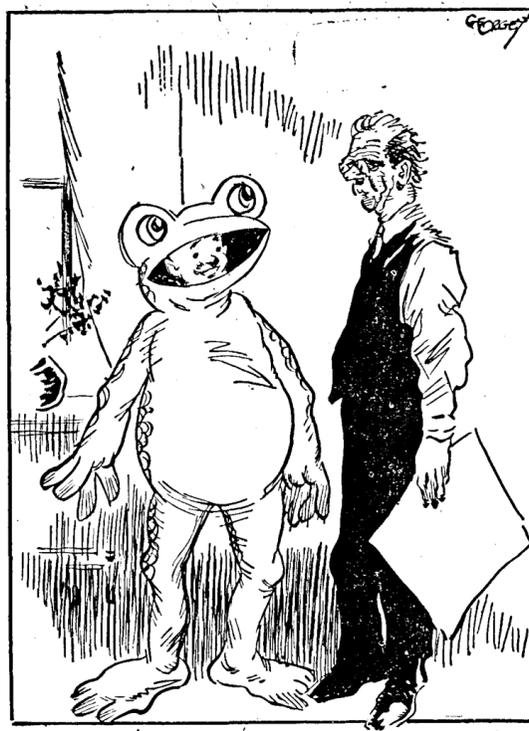

"The Complete Book of Gardening," by ten well known authorities, will doubtless be of great interest as soon as spring opens up, although it is difficult to arouse interest in a subject which has been so hampered by drouth conditions. A book that should be popular with all of us is "Take It Easy," the art of relaxation as written by Walter B. Pitkin, the well known author of "Life Begins at 40". It is the art of putting work and worry out of your mind instantly and relaxing completely.

A timely book about a race in which we are all interested is "My Country and My People," a story of the Chinese people by Dr. Lin Yutang. He is an eminent educator and the author of several Chinese textbooks as well as books in the English language. It is told somewhat along the lines of the "Hoosier Schoolmaster."

"The Autobiography of Andrew Carnegie," the great Scotchman who did many things and did them well, is a great literary product. He shows rare literary style, and could doubtless have made a success of writing had he chosen that field.

killed the women and children, burnt the buildings, sunk the ships, destroyed the railroads that have taken years to build. These men are mad with the sight of blood like hungry wolves are of a fallen beast.

The father has had to fight and fall back and fight and fall back. He cannot win against that mad onrush. His back is to the wall, he does not know which way to turn and then he hears his son. Out of the hills he comes with a hundred thousand of the fiercest fighting men in Asia. He is bringing supplies from Russia, and all along the route the citizens are building a road for him.

In our serial we are there now, waiting for the son, to see if he cannot push those Japs back to their own land. Drama! Drama! We hold our breaths. We know, however that even if the son does not send the enemy home he is making the Japs spend more money, and more men, he is endangering their hold, bankrupting them while in his own land he is binding the ties that will do more than any other thing to make a nation of his homeland.

Melvin Cornell attacked Elmer Kirk and tried to get the latter to subscribe for the Loyalist. Elmer is one of the most ardent of the ardent New Dealers. He told Melvin he would take his paper if Melvin would get George Gowen to write for it. Melvin said, "No, if I did there wouldn't be anyone take the paper." Elmer answered, "Yes there would. If George wrote for your paper, every democrat in the country would subscribe."

Irvy Sheldon says if the U. S. would go down to Texas and get a couple of those cowboys he reads about in the Wild West magazines or a couple detectives like are in the Det. Mags, and send them to China they would run those Japs home in a week.

Beginning next Friday night we can expect a fearful cold spell to occur and continue throughout the week. Why do I say that? The S. D. B. church people are planning on a preaching mission and I never saw it fail yet but that on those occasions the weather man put on a show. Nevertheless, weather man or no, those who brave the storms can feel assured there will be no disappointment in the preaching and there will be music worthy of any gathering.

hour they expected the driver to pull up at the edge of the crossing and stop. Instead, he drove squarely onto the crossing just as the motor reached there. Evidently he never saw the train nor did he hear the whistle, which Wallick says he sounded continuously.

According to all three trainmen, the motor train was proceeding at a speed of from 25 to 30 miles per hour.

As soon as he realized a collision could not be avoided, which was only an instant before the crash, Motorman Wallick applied the air brakes but the motor could not be stopped short of about 500 feet from the crossing. So quickly were the brakes applied that they were burned out. Only other damage to the motor was to the cowcatcher, which was damaged so greatly that workmen had to cut it off with oxy-acetylene torches before the motor could proceed.

"I've been railroaded 20 years and this is the first accident I was ever in where a human life was lost," said Motorman Wallick, conductor Bryan, also a veteran Burlington employee, likewise said it was his first collision with a car or truck.

Only other witnesses of the collision, so far as could be learned, were Mr. and Mrs. Ingraham, who were driving their car a short distance behind Kokes. He was driving slowly and they thought he saw the train coming. Mr. Ingraham says they saw and heard it some distance before they reached the crossing, he says.

Mr. Kokes, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kokes, had lived in or near Ord most of his life. He formerly operated an implement business here but for the past few months had been employed by the Inland Construction Co. of Omaha, who are building structures for the North Loup Irrigation project.

Friday morning he drove to Burwell on company business, one duty being to inspect a threatened ice jam at the dam near Burwell, and in his car was a considerable quantity of dynamite and a box of percussion caps. After the wreck ten sticks of dynamite and the caps were found in the car. Had it exploded car and motor also would have been blown out of existence.

The death of Mr. Kokes in this manner was one of the greatest tragedies of 1937 in the Ord community; particularly shocking because Mr. Kokes was a husband and father of small children and because he was so widely known and generally respected.

He is survived by the widow and two children, Dorothy 12, and Donald, 9, by his parents.

At 10:00 this morning, funeral rites were held. The Knights of Columbus lodge, of which Mr. Kokes was a member, marched in a group, in lodge regalia, to the Kokes home and accompanied the funeral cortege to the Ord Catholic church where Rev. M. A. Lawler directed the last rites. Interment was in the Ord cemetery.

290 Direct Relief Cases Now, Peak Load 388-Kruml

Director Tells Rotarians of Relief Problems; Valley County "Busted" Now.

Discussing relief problems in Valley county as guest speaker at the Ord Rotary club's dinner Monday evening, Relief Director Frank Kruml stated that the direct relief load here now is 290 as compared with its former "peak" load of 388 families. The load may be larger before this winter ends, he intimated.

The relief situation here since Aug. 1, 1934 when the FEIRA went into existence was outlined by Kruml. Under the old FEIRA setup, Valley county made a 1 mill levy for relief purposes and the federal government agreed to pay all costs above the amount of money raised by that levy. Total cost of direct relief to the county during all of 1936 was only $6.36, he said, which figure does not, however, take into consideration

At his son's home he was further surprised when he met his daughters, Vira and Lena, neither of whom he had seen for twenty years. They are both married, Vira being Mrs. Nicholson, but George could not recall the name of Lena's husband. He was with her only a few minutes, as her husband had caught his right arm in some machinery just before Christmas, and lost most of the member. George reports that he had a wonderful time and one of the best Christmas celebrations he ever had.

If you are interested in this new seed corn come in and ask for bulletin on it. It has proven to outyield common corn and will stand much more dry weather. Owing to a limited amount of this seed available we should have orders in by Jan. 15th and corn will be delivered in April. Order now.

SORGHUM SEEDS
We will still book forage seeds at the very low prices advertised a couple of weeks ago. Why not buy a part of your seeds now for May delivery. You can get a very low price and probably save some money.
