

First Irrigation Monday Hampered By Ditch Break

Crowd Present but Water Had to Be Shut Off While Repairs on Ditch Made.

A break in the east bank of the Ord-North Loup canal at the corner of the Misko farm proved a serious handicap to the irrigation demonstration scheduled to be held on the Schauer and Zangger farms at 1:30 Monday afternoon but a large crowd was present to see County Agent C. C. Dale and L. E. Walford, water master of the project, explain the science of irrigating and they were not wholly disappointed. Although only a trickle instead of the anticipated flood arrived through the lateral to the Zangger farm, Dale and Walford demonstrated proper methods of irrigating a listed field and flooding a field of small grain.

Engineer-Manager E. H. Dunmire, Lewis W. Hudson, president of the district, and several of the directors helped with the demonstration. In the crowd were several old-timers who farmed under the old ditch forty years ago.

The break, not a serious one, occurred some time during Sunday night and headgates of Hardenbrook dam had to be raised to reduce volume of water in the ditch while repairs were made. By the time the break had been repaired it was noon Monday, and though dam headgates were lowered soon after that hour the head of water did not get down the ditch to the Zangger farm until late Monday afternoon, after the demonstration had ended.

Another handicap was the state highway bridge being built across the canal on the Roach place, a mile below Zangger's farm. Water had to be checked above this bridge so as not to interfere with workmen. It had been expected that this bridge would be finished last Saturday but rainy weather stopped the work for a couple of days. The bridge will be completed today, it was thought Monday.

Considerable land adjacent to the Ord-North Loup canal will be under irrigation before the week is over, officials of the district think now. About 400 acres of land is contracted for sugar beets in this area this spring, and owners of the land are anxious to have water at once. Several families of Mexicans arrived Monday, both here and at Burwell, under contract to work in the beet fields.

Minor damage to Hardenbrook dam was done by rain storms last week but the city gravel pump Monday filled in a small hole in the earth breastwork east of the dam while workmen restored steel interlocking piling that had pulled loose at the west end of the dam. Irrigating work now being done in the Ord-North Loup canal area is the first actual use made of the North Loup project but as summer progresses more and more land will be brought under irrigation until, by fall at least, the whole $30,000 acres in the project will be irrigated.

National Air Week Plans Developing

Since last week the plans for National Air Week have developed a new phase. Postmaster Alfred E. Hill announces that air mail will be carried into Ord May 19 as well as carried out. This means that all who so desire may have letters sent in to them by friends on that date. Those who wish to have the Ord air mail letter and insert mailed back to them at that time may enclose it in another envelope and mail to the Grand Island office a day or two before the time it is to be mailed back.

The American Legion is cooperating with the postoffice department in the sale of the cachet stamped envelopes and inserts. A special box for air mail intended to be mailed out May 19 will be provided in the lobby of the postoffice, and similar boxes will be placed at different places about town. If you have letters for mailing on that date, do not mail them in the regular mail ahead of time, as they will in that case be mailed out at once.

Parker-Watts Circus Will Appear in Ord

The Parker & Watts circus, claimed to be successor to the old John Robinson circus which was one of the largest on the road, will give afternoon and evening performances in Ord on Friday, May 20, and since it is the first big circus to appear here in many years the announcement will create much interest. The Parker & Watts circus claims to be the only large circus still offering a free street parade. An advance agent for Parker & Watts was in Ord recently to make arrangements for the necessary licenses.

Farmers Get Primary Lesson in Actual Irrigating

Lined up along both sides of a field lateral on the W. O. Zangger place Monday, this group of irrigation-minded farmers got their first lesson under practical farming conditions Monday afternoon. County Agent C. C. Dale and Watermaster L. E. Walford were instructors. Dozens of questions were fired at these men by farmers, nearly all of whom will have land under irrigation later in the summer as the lateral system of the North Loup project is completed.—Quiz Photo.

Mayor Cummins Doesn't Favor Granting More Liquor Licenses

No Night Clubs Are Wanted Either, He Tells Dealers and Ord Police.

That he does not favor granting any more beer or liquor licenses in Ord and will try to prevent starting of any night clubs here was the statement made by M. B. Cummins, newly installed mayor, at a meeting of liquor licensees and city policemen held in the city hall Monday evening. Mayor Cummins asked licensees to "cooperate" in obeying all state and city laws, and pledged that Ord's police will do nothing to hamper operation of those dealers who conduct their places in a lawful manner. The meeting was called at the request of beer and liquor dealers and was attended by Ed Michalek, Frank Fafelka, Gertrude Knebel, Mr. and Mrs. John Sharp, Frank Kasal, F. E. McQuillan and Glen Johnson, all licensees, and by Policemen L. H. Covert, W. E. Lincoln and Nels Hansen.

"Remember, you operators are doing business in Ord through permits issued in accordance with laws of the state," said Mayor Cummins in opening the meeting. "This law is here to guarantee that your investment will be protected, provided you yourself do not forfeit that protection by disobeying the law."

"I am anxious that every financial interest of this city be successful, and I want you operators to realize that cancellation of your permits would be a financial calamity to you."

Mayor Cummins then asked licensees to "cooperate" with the city administration by obeying all regulations relating to conduct of their businesses, particularly as to closing hours, sale to minors and sale to intoxicated persons.

He promised that, if policemen find it necessary to arrest persons who are on the premises of licensees, they will go to the licensee first and ask that the person causing disturbance be sent outside, thus making arrests on the street rather than on premises of licensees.

"This administration wants cooperation, not domination," Mayor Cummins stated. "The liquor law was put on the statute books to furnish you permits to do business under, and thus it not only governs but also protects, when the operator obeys its provisions. I realize that you all desire a fair return on your investments and that is the reason I do not favor any more permits."

"Too many permits results in chiseling, spiking, disregard for age limits and selling to patrons who are already intoxicated, and thus paves the way for cancellation of the permit of the person so involved and also throws a reflection on every other lawful operator in the city."

Mayor Cummins called attention to the fact that he is and has been throughout his life "dry" personally, but said that he will give a fair deal to every licensee who operates in accordance with the liquor laws, as long as liquor may be legally sold.

Allen Will Leave For East Sat'day, Load Diesel Engine

May Take 4 to 6 Ord Men to Help With Loading; Will Be Gone Ten Days.

Last obstacle to Ord's purchase of a used diesel engine at Franklin, Pa., was passed last Thursday when Richard Hunter, attorney general, in response to a telegraphic request from Mayor M. B. Cummins, ruled that advertising for bids had been done in a legal manner and that the city council's 4 to 3 delegation of authority to its mayor and clerk to sign the contract was entirely legal. Owners of the engine, the Atlantic Refining Co., were at once notified through their St. Louis representatives that Ord was ready to buy the $18,700 engine.

According to his present plans, Light Commissioner George Allen will leave for Franklin, Pa., either Saturday or Sunday to supervise dismantling and loading the big engine for shipment to Ord, the city council having directed him to do so.

Negotiations with a Franklin contractor for loading the engine are now under way and if a deal is made with him Mr. Allen will take only one or two men east with him. If unable to make a satisfactory deal, Allen will take four to six Ord men along and this crew will do all the work themselves. Price asked by the contractor now is thought to be too high but city officials are making a counter-offer and he may reduce the price.

The Ord men will be gone about ten days, if the work goes as rapidly as they expect. Within sixty days the engine should be ready for use in the Ord plant. A concrete base for it will have to be built, as was done for the two smaller diesels bought a couple of years ago. Total cost of the engine, installed in the Ord plant, will be about $23,000.

When this engine is installed the municipal plant will be ready for all emergencies that may arise and Ord people may look forward to trouble-free service regardless of high line breakdowns or other difficulties.

Rainfall .73 of Inch Fell Tuesday Evening

Beginning about supper time another slow steady rain fell Tuesday evening until about ten o'clock, giving the soil one of the best soakings it has had for years. A total of .73 inch of moisture fell, and did as much good as twice that amount in a heavy fall. A remarkable fact is that all our rains to date have been the slow, easy kind. According to radio reports this morning, rain was pretty general over the state, and surrounding states.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Severson Were Married In Ord Sixty Years Ago, Lived Here Since

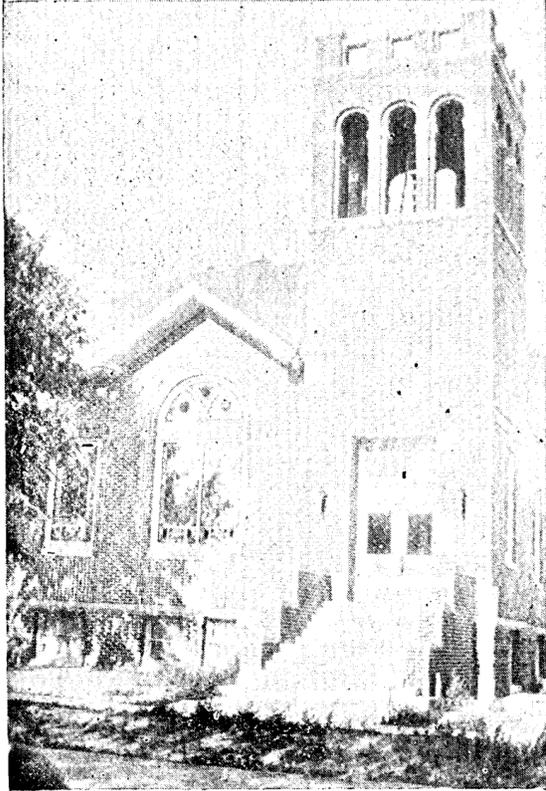

Wednesday the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Severson on East J street was the scene of a happy gathering when the children, both from Ord and from the western part of the state together with a number of near friends and neighbors, helped this venerable couple celebrate the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. Not all the children were present, as Mrs. Hazel Smith, of Janesville, Wis., was here last fall, and did not make the trip at this time.

This was the second real anniversary celebration the Seversons have had, and they enjoyed every moment of it, especially when the Quiz photographer arrived to take their pictures. They received a number of lovely presents and of course there were all kinds of good things to eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Severson were married in Valley county at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kaiser, April 27, 1878. S. S. Haskell, then justice of the peace, performing the wedding ceremony.

Arcadia Methodist Church to Observe 50th Anniversary with "Note Burning" Services

The 50th anniversary of the Methodist Episcopal church of Arcadia, whose modern church building is pictured above, will be observed Sunday, May 8, with special services of which a feature will be burning of the note paid off April 1, which was the final debt owed on the church structure.

Dr. Harry E. Hess, superintendent of the Omaha Methodist hospital, will speak at the morning service at 11 o'clock Sunday. At 12:30 a covered dish dinner will be served in the church parlors. In the afternoon a musical program will be presented, visitors will be greeted, old-time members of the church honored and the note-burning service performed. The evening address will be given by Dr. Paul M. Hillman, of Kearney, district superintendent. The Ord choir will be guests in the evening. The Arcadia pastor, Rev. S. L. McCall, cordially invites the public to attend all the anniversary services.

The first Methodist church building in Arcadia was erected in 1887 on lots north of the present brick church, the lots being presented by Parl Round. Before this building was built, Methodists held services in private homes of pioneers, among them being the John Wall and Samuel Hawthorne homes. Services occasionally were held in the village's first school building south of the Vermillion house.

Early members of the church included Mrs. W. B. Reynolds, Mrs. M. L. Fries, Mrs. John Wall, George Kinsey, John Lennox, Dr. A. E. Bartoo, Mr. and Mrs. Porney, Charles Lane and E. T. Gardner.

About one year after the first church was built in 1887 a board sidewalk was built from Main street to the church entrance. The old church building was sold eight years ago to Harry Bellingier and moved to a lot one block north of the Retteumayer store. Since Arcadia's big fire in April, 1937, the Strathdee general merchandise store has been conducted in the old building.

The present brick church of which all Arcadia people are proud was started when Rev. W. H. Hendrickson was pastor but was retarded for a time after the basement was finished. It was completed and dedicated in November, 1930, during Rev. R. O. Gaither's pastorate.

Spalding Man Buys the Koupal Grocery

J. L. Langer, experienced grocery man from Spalding, is the new owner of the grocery store operated here for many years by A. S. Koupal, the deal being completed last week. Tuesday a new stock of groceries arrived, to be added to the stock already in the store, and this week Mr. Langer will hold his formal opening.

In business at Spalding six years successfully, Mr. Langer bought the Koupal Grocery because of the larger opportunities Ord offers. He is married, has two children, 1 1/2 years and 8 months of age, and the family will be settled in their new home in Ord this week.

Parents Approve Trip So Music Students Will Go to Omaha

Last week, letters were mailed to the parents of all children in either the band or orchestra. These letters explained the details of the trip to Omaha that would be made by these music groups, and estimated the expense that each child would have to pay. Postcards were included in the letters, on which the parents were to tell whether or not they were in favor of the trip, and if they would allow their children to go providing a majority of the rest of the parents were in favor of the trip. Most of the postcards were returned to Mr. Thompson, the high school superintendent, and not one complaint was found among them. Undoubtedly this is the deciding factor, and the music groups will go to Omaha.

Cetak and Zikmund Pace Ord to Win in Loup Valley Meet

9 Records Fall as Athletes Competed Here Tuesday; Ord Had 58 1/2 Points.

Paced by Charlie Cetak and Allen Zikmund who pled up 33 points by their own efforts, the Ord track team came through to win the annual Loup Valley conference track and field meet with a total of 58 1/2 points. Nine new records were set in the fourteen events of the senior meet. The meet was held on the fair grounds in Ord.

Cetak's performances included victories in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, and he also anchored the Ord relay team. He set a new record in the 220 and had a new record in sight in the 440 until it developed that an error had been made by officials in placing the finish line. Officials decided to give Cetak a chance to rerun the race at a later date, to permit a new record going into the Loup Valley books.

Allen Zikmund's scoring included first places in the discus throw, in which he set a new record of 122 feet 5 1/2 inches, the shotput and the high jump, and a fourth place in the broad jump.

St. Paul brought a "one-man track team" in the person of Walter Nielsen, who won the two hurdle events, setting new records in both, and placed in several other events. Other St. Paul athletes couldn't compete because of a scarlet fever epidemic there.

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Hjatt, daughter of Mrs. Charles Hollingshead, to Donald Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray, was solemnized Friday morning, April 29th at 8 o'clock in the parish home of Father Muldoon at Scotia, Neb., who read the service, using the double ring ceremony. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Rowland of Ord, sister of the bride, Miss Leona Dietz and Gerald Murray, brother of the groom. The bride wore a brown suit with luggage-tan accessories. Her sister wore a blue dress, with accessories in gray. The groom wore a conventional blue suit. She taught in the rural schools 2 1/2 years and spent the past winter at home in Arcadia. In her school work having gone through the Arcadia school from the kindergarten, she was active in class plays, G. A. A. and commercial contests, and an honor student. Mr. Murray attended the first 8 years of school in the graded country school, finishing the four high school years in Arcadia where he was active in athletics and class plays, graduating in the spring of 1931. For several years he farmed with his father. The past 1 1/2 years he has managed the Standard Oil filling station. Immediately after the wedding they motored to Omaha for a few days. Miss Elizabeth Murray taught for Mrs. Glen Beerline Thursday and Friday while she accompanied her husband to Iowa.

Tuesday the delinquents entertained the non-delinquents of the Up-To-Date club which closed their meetings of study until some time in October. Each member met another member at a designated place and later assembled at the State Bank corner where they were blindfolded and assisted into cars which were driven around places in town and a distance in the country, guessing all the time where they were going. At last they were taken to the Community Park where a banquet luncheon was placed on the table in the dining room hall for 14 ladies. Each invitation, a clever rhyme, was read and at the close of the meal Miss Evelyn Hjatt was rendered a surprise in the form of a miscellaneous and towel shower.

Leander Williams, Patriarch of North Loup, Will Celebrate 97th Birthday on May Sixth

North Loup—(Special)—Friday, May 6, will mark the 97th milestone in the interesting life of Leander Williams, known to his intimate friends as Uncle Lee. This marks him as the oldest man in Valley county, and so far as known, in this portion of Nebraska. To reach the age of 97 years is a remarkable feat, but to reach that age and still possess good eyesight and hearing is still more remarkable.

LEANDER WILLIAMS.

Born in New York state, his earliest recollections include the death of his father when he was four years old, and the hardships the family endured. He helped make lye by leaching wood ashes, and used the lye to make the family soap. At the age of eight or ten he was often left in the sugar bush alone in charge of the sap buckets. He remembers well that once when gathering the wooden buckets at the house to take to the bush, he accidentally took a sauerkraut bucket and so ruined a batch of sap.

He drove oxen many miles, walking by their side, once walking from Nile, N. Y., to Alfred Station, a distance of 30 miles, driving a cow and a calf which he had collected the money and the next day walked home. Farming and lumbering were the two most important industries of his boyhood and he was good at both. He raised many acres of wheat, which he gathered with a cradle, harvesting about three acres per day.

He had very little schooling, but one year he attended Richburg Academy. Forty-five minutes of the school day was spent in penmanship. At the age of 21 he moved to Wisconsin and in 1871 came with his wife and baby girl to Orleans, Neb. In 1876 he homesteaded near Orleans, where there was no one but Indians. He and his wife saved the logs for their house and hauled them across the Republican river.

In 1887 he came with other families of the Seventh Day Baptist church to North Loup, and, except for a few years spent in Arkansas, North Loup has been his home since that time. When he was past eighty he spent a winter in Florida, and when past ninety visited a brother in Wisconsin. His summers are usually spent at the home of his son Henry in Mira Valley, and his winters at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stillman. At both homes the woodpile furnishes his daily recreation. A family dinner in honor of his birthday will be held at the A. M. Stillman home Saturday and if all are able to attend there will be three children, twenty grandchildren and four great-grandchildren besides many other relatives present to congratulate this patriarch of North Loup. The picture of Mr. Williams shown herewith was taken a short time ago by Rev. W. C. Birmingham.

Jewelry sure is desirable.

An assistant carpenter working over head dropped a hammer on the boss. The boss looked up and said "Please be careful with your hammer."

We are always courteous to our customers.

Wife: "Do you know dear that it was exactly 47 years today since we were engaged?"

Prof: "Goodness, don't you think it is about time we were getting married?"

An anniversary is a good time to have the wife's diamond put in a nice new modern mounting.

A merchant put in his will that he wanted six of his creditors for pallbearers so they could complete the job of carrying him.

Credit sure is a problem.

We now have in stock those new Bulova wrist watches we were expecting. Only four more weeks until graduation time.

Absent minded Prof: "Goodness, don't you think it is everything and the value of nothing."

A high school girl was conversing with an astronomer and asked him what he did in life. He replied "I study Astronomy."

"Dear me," said the girl "I finished astronomy last year."

We still think she should have a wrist watch when she graduates.

Making yourself understood means making sense. Making cents means manufacturing money means twenty years in jail. So how are you going to make people understand.

It is understood that we cater to quality rather than bulk.

Something Different

D. A. Moser has, as usual, a bed of lovely tulips before his house.

And he was very proud of the tulips, but prouder still of the rose tree of China, which bloomed in his front yard about ten days ago.

Everyone who hears Virginia Sack sing admires her lovely voice and those who hear her speak or "elocute" rave about her ability in that line.

Ord people certainly win their ways to far corners of the earth to see unusual sights and secure unusual possessions.

Dr. Earl Wise, who wears a handle on his name because he is two kinds of a doctor, both dental and medical man, reports back to Ord every few years to see his father, bringing with him hundreds of dollars worth of trinkets which he gives or sometimes sells to his friends.

Mrs. Charles Bals and her husband both come from Belgium and her past is interestingly reflected at the windows of her Ord home.

Mrs. Charles Partridge springs from a background as unusual as many a movie plot. Her father was a tavern keeper who had been forced to flee from his native Russia, and as a little girl she remembers Poland and Germany.

lace Doe of Arcadia travelled there, and since Ray Wolf and his family decided to live there.

Delbert Chapman, son of Mrs. Florence Chapman, is a high ranking petty officer in the navy.

Bess Stacy and Edna Clements settled down on the Mexican line. The California house in which they lived for years had Mexico for a back yard, and the girls thought nothing of sleeping in sheets wrung out of cold water.

Dr. Kruml manages to go moose hunting up in the beautiful but wild Canadian Rockies almost every year. Dr. Miller has also gone there to hunt, his hobby, and then sometimes he goes south into Mexico to see what he can find to shoot.

Then on the other hand Jim Misko deserted a European army term he was forced into serving, swimming rivers and doing all the Horatio Alger tricks to win his way to success and eminence in a strange land.

First National Bank Undergoing Repairs

The First National bank building has been undergoing a general overhauling. When the building was built thirty years ago, it was necessary to build the sidewalk along the west side before the dirt had been thoroughly settled.

Saturday Noble Ralston set the stone in place, and Tuesday John Mason replastered a part of the rear basement. He is also to plaster the entire east wall next to the Pecanka meat market.

Frank J. Stara, one of Ord's first merchants, was 75 years old Saturday. Time has been kind to him and he does not look his years. Today he takes as keen an interest in civic affairs as he did when he first came to Ord 55 years ago.

THE PENDULUM SWINGS.

One of the well known mechanical principles of our universe is the pendulum, the swinging of which is controlled by definite and well known laws.

Unseen because unlooked for, the principle of the pendulum is to be found in every walk of life.

Politically, the United States swung from Democracy to Republicanism in 1896, as history shows.

Twenty-one years ago the pendulum of public opinion in America was swinging toward war.

Fifty years ago and more, railroads were essential to our scheme of life, and because they were, the public had to make concessions to get them to deliver service.

Fortunes were made by the railroads in those early days. They regarded their own freight, express and passenger rates, and the owners of railroad stock became millionaires.

Forty years ago the world believed in making it difficult for a young man to obtain an education.

The men of the older generation can recall the days when the corporations had the laboring men under the heel of oppression.

The grandfathers of the present generation came to this western country to carve a home in the wilderness.

never to return. The pendulum has swung. Going back to those same pioneer days, Peter Mortensen and hundreds of other men of the same heroic mold walked to Grand Island to get their plows sharpened.

About 2500 years ago Greece was the center of culture of the then known world. Their concept of the beautiful was so grand that it is difficult for the people of the present era to understand why the government did not continue to exist through the ages.

The names that stand highest in history are not those of builders but of those who sought to destroy. Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, their names are household words, but their aims were destructive, rather than constructive.

Politically, the United States swung from Democracy to Republicanism in 1896, as history shows.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

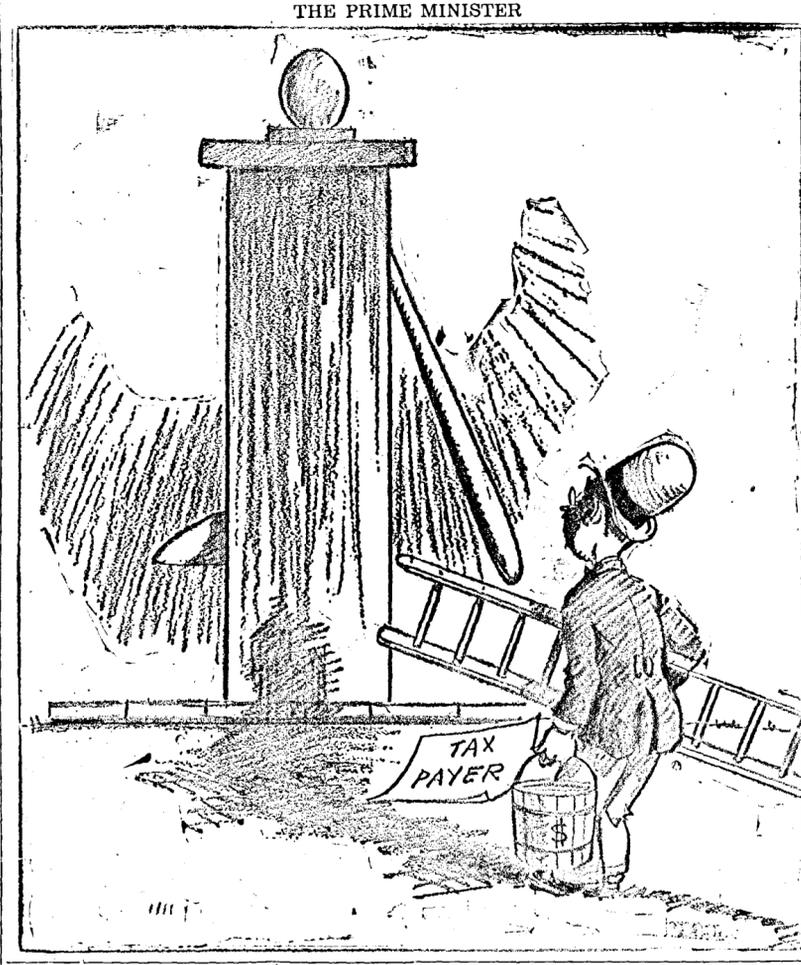

A number of people have notified me in time, when a change was to be made in their Quiz address, so the change could be made without our having to pay the government extra postage for a notice.

I am going up to Cullen Lake pretty soon now and I am going to take a good camera along and try to get some pictures that can be used in illustrating my stories to the Quiz this summer.

There seem to be more and more people all the time who are becoming convinced that the lend and spend program of the government is wrong.

It would be very interesting to know just how much money is being spent by the administration for pure propaganda.

Please remember these prices for the 'World-Herald. It is a big paper with lots of pictures and news of the whole world. You cannot get as much for your money in any other newspaper in the world.

Phone 17 if your World-Herald is about out and it is not convenient for you to come in for a few days, and we will take care of the renewal for you.

It is pretty well agreed that too much eating of the wrong food and too much worry kill many people before old age gets a whack at them.

You know everyone has to have a lot of alibis handy. I honestly believe, in fact I know, with business the way it is, that I should stay right at my desk and attend to business instead of going to Cullen Lake.

And aside from the above alibis many people tell me that they enjoy the fish stories that I write to the Quiz and I have worked that angle plenty hard in convincing the boys that I should go to Cullen Lake early and often.

They are telling a good one on one Ord fisherman. He has been out of work and has spent much time fishing below Hardenbrook dam and was proud of his record of fifteen each day he went until one day last week when he found that ten instead of fifteen was the limit.

And now I am going to ask those of you who are in arrears, to send me $1 to apply on your subscription, if it is at all possible.

Soil Conservation. There was a good deal of walling on the streets Friday over the Soil Conservation contracts prepared by the committee and by Henry and many of the men were refusing to sign.

One man who had a fine farm rented of an insurance company was in a quandry over plowing up his small grain and only having fifty-five acres of his half section into corn, and letting part of his fine land lie idle.

Many people are wondering the good accomplished at the tract meets held in different towns in the county, outside of drawing people into town to do trading.

Another point along the same thought and too, not the same, is the fact that there are not nearly so many school children now as ten years ago and especially twenty years ago.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT Wage-Hour Action May Be Spurred by G. O. P. Hope of Labor's Support

WASHINGTON.—The outlook for wage-hour legislation this session is not rosy.

Republican congressmen from the north hope to rally labor support to their candidacies in the next election if they can get a wage-hour law passed without northern-southern wage differentials.

AST year the Senate passed wage-hour legislation which created a five-man board on which both the south and the north would be represented and which would be empowered to set wage differentials.

This year the Norton bill originating in the House labor committee, of which Congressman Mary Norton is chairman, provides for no wage differentials. A flat minimum wage of 25 cents an hour except for farm labor and a maximum work week of 44 hours would initiate it.

It is customary for farmers to buy sires which are unrelated to the home flocks or herds. But they often wonder if some of their own bulls or boars could not be kept for breeding purposes with just as good results.

The Oklahoma station has been inbreeding swine since 1923. These pigs, some of them inbred for eight generations, are being compared with outbred pigs to determine whether or not inbreeding is harmful.

Unselfishness Among Christians

THE International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 8. Text: Mark 9:30-41

THOUGH we should not like to feel that the ruthless spirit and power of dictators who are threatening present day democracy in various parts of the world are in any way related to our personal life and conduct, we may derive a lesson from this phase of current history.

Jesus had called to Him a group of disciples. Drawn by His presence and His teaching, they had, as one of them said, "left all and followed Him."

Mother Cat Adopts Baby Rabbit at Long Farm

This baby jackrabbit lost its own mother but is growing to full jackrabbit-hood under the tutelage of a mother cat on the Leo Long farm east of town. The baby rabbit had just been given a tongue-bath by its foster-mother when this picture was taken.

Recently the Long cat gave birth to one kitten and a day or two later, while working in the field, Mr. Long found the baby rabbit. He took it to the house and presented it to the mother cat, who promptly adopted it as her own. She feeds the bunny, bathes it and otherwise treats it just as she does her own kitten. In the daytime the baby rabbit will attempt to leave the box in which the mother cat and kitten reside but the cat promptly returns bunny to her side. Several years ago the Longs raised five baby rabbits in this manner.—Quiz Photo.

Beware of Cutworms.

People who have set out tomato plants in the past week report serious loss from cutworms. The loss ranges from ten per cent to practically total in some cases. Clyde Baker set out 24 and found 17 of them cut off the next morning. This loss can be prevented in a number of ways, the most common of which is to put something around the plant, being certain first that there are no worms inside the container. No. 3 tin cans with both ends cut out, and set into the ground about half their length are a good preventive.

Round oatmeal boxes can be cut in two, and used in the same way. Cardboard can be rolled into a circle and set around the plants, or they can be wrapped up in a newspaper, leaving the upper part standing up so the worms cannot crawl over. But the latest idea, told by W. B. Paddock, who says he has been informed it is effective, is to put a toothpick upright beside the plant stem. The worm coils about the plant, and does not cut it off unless it can do so. The toothpick prevents it from coiling.

Card Was Delivered.
Miss Edna Sherman, who is in Colorado at the present time, wrote a postcard to her mother one day last week, and forgot to put any address on it. It happened that she used the word Ord in the text of the message, however, and spoke about a girl named Twila. In due time the card came through, with the notation, "Try Ord, Nebr." on the face. When it was received by the Ord office they noted the name "Twila" on it and delivered it to Mrs. Joe Rowbal, who happens to be an aunt of the young lady, whose mother is Mrs. Edgar Sherman of Burwell. Like the Royal Mounted Police, the postoffice department always delivers the goods.

Allen Zikmund Tosses Discus 122 Feet 8 Inches, Wins First at Kearney; Other Ord Boys Place

By Edwin Hitchman. The Ord track boys made a good showing at the Kearney Relays Friday, even though their competitors were from much larger schools such as North Platte, Kearney, Lexington and Gothenburg.

Cetack captured third in the hundred yard dash being beaten by his Callaway rival, Jack Bengler. Cetack's time was 10.3 seconds, while that of his rival's was 10 seconds flat.

Comparing these records with those of local meets, you may readily see what the Ord boys do in tough competition. In the Mid-Six meet held last Tuesday, Cetack took first in the century run with 10.9 seconds, while he took third at Kearney with 10.3 seconds.

Some of the men who gave such difficult competition are men like Jack Bengler of Callaway who took first in the century with 10 seconds flat, first in the 220 yard dash with 22.2 seconds, first in the broad jump with 20 feet, 5 inches, second in the high jump, and is anchor man on the relay team.

In the evening the drama, "God's Acre", was presented by the Mira Valley group and a message, "The Price of Vision", was given by Rev. Leonard L. Patterson, pastor of the Taylor Evangelical church. A thrilling ride home at night through the wind and rain climaxed a day of blessing which will long be remembered by everyone present.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Early Spring in Ozarks.
Ozark, Mo.
April 26, 1938

The Ord Quiz:
As I promised Mr. Leggett I would write about our home in Missouri, I will keep my word.

We all enjoy the Quiz every Friday. There is a scramble to see who gets it first. We have been enjoying a warm mild spring, although your snow storm extended within thirty-five miles of us. U. S. highway 65 was blocked with snow. We had only a trace but reports are that it hurt the fruit crop fifty per cent. Grass is plentiful and we have had good pasture all through April. Wheat that was not pastured is knee high. The cold spell set the oats back, but they look good. Corn planting is in full swing. I have my ground ready but as I expect to fertilize my corn, I am waiting for good warm weather. A good per cent of farmers use the commercial fertilizer and think it pays.

Very little alfalfa is grown. Lespedeza, timothy, red tops and white clover are grown extensively. Nearly every farm has a flock of sheep. The lamb crop is large and the price is not so high as last year.

I should judge seventy-five per cent of the cattle are Jerseys. Nearly everyone sells whole milk. The Farmer Cooperative of Springfield that I sell to has seventy-six trucks. The bodies are all painted alike, they are dust-proof and insulated. This creamery makes nothing but sweet cream butter. It sells for about five cents more per pound. This company aims to pay 6% to its patrons. I went to the union stock yards at Springfield today with a load of hogs. I got the top price. There were several hundred veal calves. The male calves are mostly vealed and sold before they are 8 weeks old. They should weigh 200 pounds or over. They have been bringing about $20 per head. The hogs are of a short maturing type and fatten quite young.

Farmers are generally signing up on the government soil program by sowing grass. The benefit payments are quite good.

The Collins families live about a mile and a half southwest of us and they farm land across the fence so it seems like Nebraska. Two of our close neighbors are from Nebraska, another from Kansas. Mr. Gaither, a brother of the former Representative Gaither of Arcadia is a close neighbor. He was a former Nebraskan.

The country is quite beautiful with so many trees and flowers. I suppose my letter is getting rather lengthy and it might crowd out George Gowen's articles and I wouldn't want that to happen as we all enjoy George.

Yours sincerely,
Morris E. Rendell.

Luella Arnold Badly Hurt.
Dear Sirs:
Enclosed you will find $2.00 for the Quiz as I don't want to miss a single copy. I like to read about my old home town. Also you will find a clipping of a car accident our daughter Luella was in. Several friends have written since they heard about it. With no doubt a number wondering how she is getting along and how it all happened. I will send you the clipping and picture of the car she was in. She is getting along fine so far, although she sure has suffered a lot, as she had her left leg broken in three places, her left jaw broken and her nose broken in two places. She feels lousy at that as she won't have any scars and her nose is as straight as ever. The doctors say the leg has a good set. They are putting it into a new cast today, and she will soon be home we hope. It happened April 2. Wishing Valley county good luck this year, I will close.

Yours truly,
Mrs. Elva (James) Arnold
(Editorial Note. The clipping states that the wreck was caused by a Mrs. Zeta Garner, who was later arrested for driving while under the influence of liquor, driving down the middle of the road, shearing off the fenders of a car just ahead of the car in which Miss Arnold was riding, and crashing head-on into the second car, the front end of which was badly demolished.)

—Jim Ballard and Ray Dowers of Sargent attended the Saturday sales in Ord and were shaking hands with old friends here.

Miss Minnie Kaiser came to Nebraska in November of the year 1876 with her father and mother. There were also two sisters at that time, Rose, now Mrs. Frank Glover, and Fannie. The Kaiser's first house was a willow shed built near Ord. Minnie began working for Mr. Mitchell, who was a lawyer, some time the first year, and worked for him a year. She then went to work for S. S. Haskell.

At that time the Haskell's ran a hotel, a store and the postoffice, in the store and their home. All of these were northeast of the square. She worked for the Haskell's a year, and it was while there that she became acquainted with Ole Severson. Their first home was a board shanty built by Ole near where the Gruber brick yard is now.

Ole was a painter by trade and a good one, but he was also interested in other lines of work. Among the jobs he remembers painting were the Haskell Hotel and Milford's store. He went into the meat business with a Mr. Thompson. Most of the meat was venison and other wild game, with once in a while a pig. Ole soon quit the meat market and started a furniture store, but all the while he did painting and played for dances.

The interesting things that Mrs. Severson remembers happened while she was employed at the Haskell Hotel. Life there was so interesting and so wonderful. There were lots of homeseekers coming to Ord, looking for claims. The hotel had a good business. Herb Thurston, Valley county's first sheriff, had a blacksmith shop near them. The two girls in the hotel, Minnie and Jennie, later Mrs. Peter Mortensen, had lots of work to do. Sometimes they helped in the store and the postoffice.

Once a young fellow stole a horse, and Sheriff Thurston arrested him. He was but little more than a boy. Ord, or Chin City, had no jail, only a shed for a jail, and the prisoner escaped. The settlement was called out to hunt for him. They scoured the hills and the valley and caught him. Some of the men wanted to hang him. They got a rope and were preparing to hang him, but Mrs. Haskell and her two helpers and the more sober men finally persuaded the mob to let the law take its course.

At another time an earthquake occurred. It was hard enough to shake the tin dishes off the shelves. It shook Herb Thurston's hammer off the anvil. Minnie has a vivid memory of the time when Hans Thusen was murdered by Gotfredsen, of the prisoner's wife, a young mother, and her grief over the crime. Then there was a young woman by the name of Redfern who drowned herself in the river, leaving a sad memory on their young minds.

Prairie fires occurred every year and one fall a fire came over the hills from the south onto Ord. Mr.

Haskell mounted his horse and rode down toward where the fire house now is to set backfires to protect the hotel and other buildings. The wind rose and the fire came on so fast that he was trapped. Soon the horse came back badly scorched, whinnying at the gate. They were afraid Mr. Haskell had been killed, but he too soon came back with his clothes and skin badly burned. He had jumped into the river, and so saved his life. Ole bound up his burns the best he could.

The second year after they were married they lived in a two room house. Ole and Minnie in one room and Mr. and Mrs. Chin Stacy in the other. Mr. Stacy was the man in whose honor General Ord suggested called the settlement Chin City, as he had a very long chin. Mrs. Severson tells that at one time Buffalo Bill came to Haskell Hotel, he and his Indian scouts. The Indians all wore blankets. One of them wore a crest of feathers.

The above items are but a few of the many exciting experiences through which this venerable couple passed in the early days of the country, and are the ones that made the most vivid impressions on their minds. They are here given that the present generation may know some of the incidents of pioneer life, and draw a contrast between those times and those of the present. A few events that might otherwise be lost to history may thus be preserved.

Light Rain Fell in Ord Sunday Night

The official rainfall in Ord Sunday night was .20 of an inch. It came following one of the most disagreeable days of the year, with a high south wind whirling dust everywhere. The storm was accompanied by an unusual amount of electricity and its presence in the air made the radios practically useless most of the day Sunday.

Burwell reports .18 inch, with only a light shower at North Loup. Elyria fared somewhat better, with reports of all the way from one-half to three fourths of an inch. The rain was sufficient for present needs, but heavier rains will be needed soon, as the winter wheat is about ready to start jointing.

Litweiler Co. Gets Almeria Contract

According to an item in the Sargent Leader, the contract of the Litweiler Construction company of Lincoln was approved by the Almeria Public Power and Irrigation District for the excavation of 130,000 cubic yards of dirt in the building of an irrigation canal. This canal will begin on the south side of the North Loup river at a point twelve miles west of Almeria, and will extend to a point 1 1/2 miles east of Spring Creek, a total distance of about fifteen miles.

This ditch will furnish water for the irrigation of from 2,500 to 3,000 acres of land. It is a privately owned ditch. The directors are J. H. Roblyer, J. R. Ferguson, Howard Cole, Ed Cook, Mrs. Jake Strohl and Mrs. Strong. The first three are president, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of the district. The surveying was done by Allie J. Van Antwerp, of Custer county. A. C. Vandiest is manager and states he will purchase the first $2,500 of the company's bonds.

Indian Chief Was Ord Visitor Tuesday Night

Chief Big Star and son Louzo, not yet nine years old, spent Tuesday night in Ord. They were on their way from Dayton, O., to their home at Pine Ridge, where they were called by the serious illness of the chief's daughter. Big Star and his son are members of a wild West vaudeville troupe and are experts in various cowboy attainments, the boy being a fine performer in twirling ropes. Both are expert riders.

The chief stated that he was well acquainted with Claude Roe, who is instructor in agriculture at the Oglala Indian school, and also knew Charley Rock, who has been in charge of most of the Indian groups that have come down to Burwell to attend the rodeos there. In fact, he said that he was one of the party that came down in 1930, and that he had very pleasant recollections of the splendid way in which they were treated while there.

Loup Valley Camera Club Met Monday Eve

The members of the Loup Valley Camera Club met Monday evening at the American Legion hall for the study of the first regular lecture of the series and the showing of the first group of sixteen slides. Counter attractions kept a number from attending, but a total of fourteen were present and an interesting and instructive time was had by all. The lecture was built around the first set of slides, which were designed to illustrate the right and wrong way of taking pictures. Lewis Moore arranged for the loan of the projector belonging to the Burwell Methodist church and brought it down with him. The pictures were all splendid specimens of photographic art, and were well worth the while of all who saw them. The lecture accompanying the slides becomes the permanent property of the club. Mrs. Moore accompanied her husband, and Mrs. Andersen came with John, so two visitors were present.

Omaha Firm Gets Laterals Contract On $167,004 Bid

No. Loup District Will Save
$36,750 on Final Job in Irrigation Canals.

One hundred and fifty miles of lateral canals, including the Taylor pump line, will be built by the Inland Construction Co., of Omaha, for the North Loup river public power and irrigation district, announced district officials Friday after awarding a contract in the sum of $167,004.50. Work is expected to start within two weeks.

Laterals, by means of which water will be transmitted from main canals to 30,000 acres of fertile North Loup valley land, are the only irrigation structures yet to be completed. Checks and turn-outs are now in process of construction by the W. J. Assenmacher company.

In awarding the contract to the Inland company, which also built timber bridges for the district, officials were able to affect a saving of $36,750. Estimate of cost made by Black & Veatch engineers was $203,754.50.

Having much of their equipment already on the ground enabled the Inland people to make a lower bid than they ordinarily could do, it is explained; moreover, slackness in construction work this spring makes contractors more anxious for work than is usually the case.

Others who filed low bids last week were the Assenmacher company, whose bid was $198,721.14, and Orshek & Christensen, of Fremont, whose bid also was under the estimate made by engineers. Others bidding included Cochran Construction Co., Lincoln, Zybach & Trowbridge, of Columbus, and Chambers Construction Co., of Lincoln.

Before awarding a contract, President Roy W. Hudson, Engineer-Manager Dunmire and a committee of directors drove to Lincoln for a conference with Douglas Wright, acting PWA engineer in charge of Nebraska public power projects. Wright complimented them on the splendid bids filed and gave them authority to go ahead and award a contract to Inland for the entire lateral building job, including the Taylor pump line.

When laterals are completed the North Loup project will be ready to function 100 per cent when supplemental irrigation water is needed. Most acreage in the valley will get water at critical periods in July and August, it is now believed, and all acreage in the project will be under irrigation before the summer ends.

City Will Enforce Traffic Regulations

Warning that traffic regulations will be enforced in Ord but that everything will be done to make observance as easy for visitors as possible is given this week by M. B. Cummins, mayor. Except in cases of flagrant violation of traffic rules, no arrest will be made until a first warning has been given, he says, and every consideration will be shown out-of-town visitors at all times.

Local people who have been driving on the streets at excessive speeds are asked to cooperate by slowing down, and thus avoiding arrest.

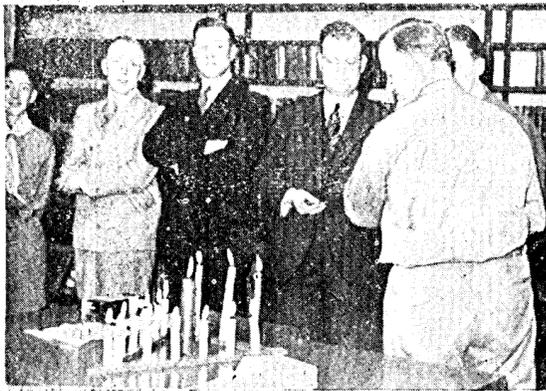

"No U turn" signs are to be painted at once on the pavement at the four corners of the square and also on the curbs at each side, so they can be easily seen by all drivers. U turns on the square are not permissible, according to city ordinance, but this ordinance has not been enforced strictly in the past. As soon as these signs are painted and regular visitors in Ord have had a chance to become familiar with them, arrests of violators will be made, says Mayor Cummins.

He also warns that several young people in Ord, under the age of 16 and not holders of driving licenses, are driving cars in the city. State patrolmen have orders to arrest children driving cars and to avoid arrest Mayor Cummins warns parents to see that their less-than-16 young people do not drive the family automobiles.

Harvey Mann Visits Ord, Away 25 Years

Harvey Mann, who came to Ord 51 years ago, and lived here for many years, the greater part of which he spent as expressman on the Ord-Grand Island branch of the Union Pacific, dropped into Ord Monday and spent some happy hours visiting with old time friends. He and Mrs. Mann are now living in Lincoln, as he reached the retirement age many years ago. He is still hale and hearty in spite of his years. His chief regret while here was the fact that so many of the friends that he used to know had passed on, and he named a number of men who were prominent in business in those days who are no longer here. Mr. Mann left this morning for his home.

They expected to be gone 10 days.

In the group were Mr. Allen, Ray Atkinson, Chester Austin, Lawrence Berger, Alvin Jensen and Noble Ralston. The Ord men will do all the work in connection with loading the diesel, a deal with a Pennsylvania contractor having fallen through. A truck load of equipment was taken along to assist with the work.

Broken Bow Scouts Conduct Investiture Service at High School Building.

Monday evening was an important date for members of the Ord troop of Boy Scouts and for the Ord Rotary club, sponsors of the troop, for it marked formal investiture of 22 Scouts and presentation of the troop's charter. At the high school building at 8:00, 13 Broken Bow Boy Scouts under the leadership of their scoutmaster, A. V. Grass, conducted the investiture ceremonies.

A triangle of lighted candles, six candles forming each side and three candles the end, exemplified the three points of the Boy Scout oath, while a large candle in the center of the triangle exemplified the spirit of Scouting.

There are 23 members of the Ord troop but certificates and badges have arrived only for the first 22 who passed their tests and these were presented to the boys Monday night. Scoutmaster Ralph Misko also was given his certificate. The assistant scoutmasters, Wilmer Anderson and Ed Whelan, were present and assisted with the ceremony. E. L. Vogeltanz, president of the Rotary club, was present with the charter issued by the Boy Scouts organization to recognize official existence of the Ord troop of Scouts.

A few parents and several members of the Rotary club comprised the audience witnessing this investiture service.

Valley County Now 'Green Spot' of the Noted 'White Spot'

6.60 Inches Rain in 1938 So Far, Pastures and Small Grains Looking Great.

22 INCH RAIN TUESDAY.
A fine shower of 22 of an inch fell in Ord Tuesday night, after the weather story below was written. So far as can be learned the rain did not extend far to the north but was much heavier south of Ord. It was accompanied by considerable lightning. This rain brings total 1938 moisture here to 6.83 inches.

"Green spot" of the nation's "white spot" might well be the title claimed by Valley county because of general rains which have fallen throughout April and May and particularly during the past ten days.

Not in many years have early crop prospects been so favorable as this year. Soil, soaked to a depth of 2 to 5 feet in different sections, already has enough moisture to assure an immense first cutting of alfalfa and a huge crop of small grain, is the opinion of many farmers.

Rainfall for 1938 to date totals 6.60 inches, just about what it should be for a normal year, taking the fifty year average as a basic figure.

According to the records of Horace Travis, official weather reporter for the government, Ord received 32 of an inch in January, .77 of an inch in February, 1.73 inches in March, 1.53 inches in April and 1.85 inches in the first third of May.

The moisture in January and February compares favorably with the 50 year average, states Mr. Travis, and March rainfall nearly doubled the 50 year average of .94 of an inch. April's moisture total was considerably short of the fifty year average of 2.69.

The fall of 1.85 inches for the first third of May is well ahead of the average of 3.35 inches for the entire month, as revealed by inspecting the records kept here since 1889. Heaviest May rainfall on record was in 1923 when 9.08 inches fell and lightest was in 1934 with only .40 of an inch. Other light years were 1894 with .69, 1897 with .72 and 1920 with .78.

Two fine rains fell during the past week, the first commencing

International Contest Is Won by Ord Girl

JEAN FERGUSON.

Miss Jean Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ferguson, received a telegram Tuesday afternoon stating that she had won first place and a prize of $10.00 in the first annual international book-keeping contest, sponsored by the Business Education World, leading business and professional journal serving business education. They requested that she rush her photograph to New York immediately.

This contest was entered by students from universities, colleges, business colleges, and public and private high schools throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii. It is a great honor to Miss Ferguson, her teacher Miss Olivia Hansen, and to Ord high school, to take top honors in an international commercial contest of this kind.

To quote from the May issue of the B. E. W. Journal, "The mail carriers have stopped looking worried, they simply look resigned! Over 6,000 schools have already sent in their contest papers. It is a conservative figure to say that over 60,000 individual papers have already been submitted."

Miss Ferguson is a senior in high school this year. She also won first in the nation-wide contest during December.

Legion Commander Mails 1st Letter by Air

First letter mailed in the air mail box provided for that purpose in the lobby of the Ord postoffice was Tom W. Springer, commander of the Ord Legion post, which is sponsoring Air Mail Week in Ord. Next Thursday, May 19, all letters mailed between now and then in this special box will be carried to Grand Island by a plane flown by Miss Evelyn Sharp, and from Grand Island will go out over the regular air lines to all places in the nation.

The Legion is sponsoring sale of special air mail envelopes bearing a cachet which shows the central Nebraska air mail district and also bears a picture of Evelyn Sharp. Over 2,000 such envelopes already have been sold and total sale will be about 3,500, says Alfred Wiegard, chairman of the Legion committee selling envelopes. With each envelope sold is given an insert prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and giving information about Ord and the North Loup project.

Ord people may aid in advertising this community and also help to bring about permanent air mail service to Ord by mailing air mail letters to leave Ord on May 19.—Quiz Photo.

Judge Bayard H. Paine, of the Nebraska supreme court, will deliver the commencement address on May 26, announces Superintendent C. C. Thompson. A noted orator and a favorite with Ord audiences when he served this district as jurist before his elevation to the supreme court, Judge Paine's address should be popular with the students and with Ord people generally.

Air Mail, Circus, Bargain Days, In Ord May 19-20-21

Whole Valley Region Urged to Visit Ord Next Week;
Will Be Much Doing.

Most interesting three days Ord has seen in a long time will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 19, 20 and 21, when several events of general interest and importance take place and merchants of Ord will cooperate by putting on a 3-day bargain event that will be "tops" for the spring season.

Next Thursday, May 19, is the important day of National Air Mail Week, for on that day Ord will have its first delivery and pick-up of air mail in history. At 7:30 in the morning and again at 1:30 in the afternoon air mail letters will be flown out of Ord by a plane piloted by Miss Evelyn Sharp, youngest licensed aviatrix in the nation.

According to Postmaster A. L. Hill, people who want to mail air mail letters on the morning mail should have them in the postoffice by 7:00 a. m., at which time the air mail sacks will be locked and trucked out to the Mortensen pasture where Miss Sharp's plane will land. Sacks for the afternoon plane pick-up will be locked at 4:00 so all air mail to go that afternoon must be mailed in advance of that hour.

Miss Sharp's plane will bring air mail letters from Grand Island to Ord, as well as taking them from Ord to Grand Island. Other stops on her two round trip flights include: Greeley, 8:02 and 2:02; and Grand Island, 8:48 and 2:48. These departure and arrival times will be observed to the minute, unless weather conditions make maintenance of schedules impossible, say postoffice officials.

No doubt many people will want to be at the flying field to watch Miss Sharp's plane depart, for in a way this flight is making history in the North Loup valley. It is the first time air mail has ever been sent from here by plane under government sanction. Establishment of permanent schedule of air mail for smaller communities like Ord is hoped for.

Cooperating with the postoffice department in its plans to make May 19 a big occasion, the Ord Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a band concert and program that afternoon at 2:30 in the court house square. It will be the first outdoor appearance of the Ord band led by Director Dean S. Duncan this spring. Regular band concerts do not start until Decoration Day.

Friday will be another big day in Ord since it marks the coming of the Parker & Watts circus, which will give afternoon and evening performances and present a free street parade during the noon hour. This is the first big circus to visit Ord in a number of years and without doubt a great crowd will attend its performances. The Parker & Watts circus is claimed to be the successor to the famous John Robinson circus, largest show that ever visited Ord. Other towns to be played in Nebraska by Parker & Watts include Broken Bow, Crete and Alliance.

To help advertise the bargain days event that Ord merchants will put on next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Quiz will, at the request of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce, issue this week's paper somewhat earlier than usual. Present plans are to have the paper entirely printed Tuesday night and in the mail Wednesday morning, so every Quiz subscriber in this territory will receive his paper by Wednesday night.

Correspondents and advertisers are urged to cooperate in this attempt by having their copy in at least 24 hours earlier than usual next week.

Petska Delegate To National Convention

At the Knights of Columbus state convention, which met in Omaha Monday, James Petska of Ord was honored by being selected as a delegate to the national convention, which will meet in Cincinnati in August. This is the first time that Ord has ever been honored by being given a representative to the national conclave.

Ord was on the honor roll this time for the second successive year, the only others on the roll this year being Omaha and Hebron. Those who attended the convention from Ord were James Petska, Steve Carkoski, Dr. F. J. Osentowski, Ed Osentowski and Syl Furtak. All went down Monday morning and returned that evening except Petska, who drove down with his family Sunday.

The auditorium was decorated to represent a ship's lobby. Chairs were covered with white burlap decorated with blue anchors. Hostess for the evening was Miss Jerrine Burrows. Langer Grocery Has Splendid Opening Day

J. L. Langer, proprietor of Langer's Cash Grocery which opened here Saturday in the building formerly occupied by Koupal's Grocery, states that he had an excellent opening day's business in spite of the inclement weather and the smaller than usual crowd that was in town. A steady run of trade was had throughout the day, he says.

A number of prizes were given away by lot to opening day patrons, the first prize being won by Mrs. Chris Kirby. This was a Dutch oven. Mrs. Seton Hanson won a 3-kettle convex, Mrs. J. W. Severns twin table lamps, Mrs. Novak a chromium plated skillet and E. V. Wadas a wooden mixing bowl.

Assistants in the Langer store Saturday were Anton Gnaster, Mrs. Langer and Jake Lohrop. Gnaster will be a regular clerk at the store and Mrs. Langer will be in the store at rush periods. Other employees will be used on Saturdays and at other busy times.

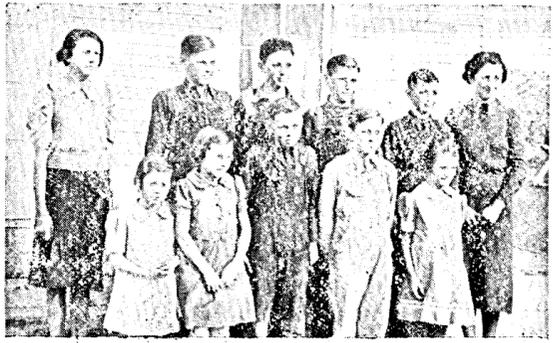

Mr. Langer says he can see already why Ord has the reputation of being such a good business town and believes he made a wise move when he bought the Koupal grocery stock and came here from Spalding where he had been in business several years.

Clifford Goodrich Ready For Rain

Clifford Goodrich, North Loup rural mail carrier, believes in being prepared for any and all kinds of roads. He recently purchased the car shown above and fitted it up as a car to use when driving his route in muddy weather. Removing the pneumatic tires he had a blacksmith fit it with wood felloes and steel rims with tractor-like lugs for treads. To soften the vibration when driving over hard surfaced roads he had pieces of rubber cut from old casings riveted between the lugs. Now with only 1 1/2 miles of his 53 mile route hard surfaced he does not fear muddy roads as he hasn't found any road slippery enough yet to cause these wheels to lose their footing. With what looks like a rainy season ahead, Goodrich won't have to worry about making his trips on time.

Sumter Wins Second in Poster Contest

The thrill that comes once in a lifetime came to Miss Kathryn Romans, teacher of Sumter school No. 68, when it was announced that the poster made by her school, pictured above, had taken second place in the Fifth district in the contest carried on in connection with Air Mail Week. No doubt it was even more thrilling to the pupils who did the work when they heard about their success. It is not known just how many schools took part in this contest, but all grade schools in the district were eligible, and it is supposed that there were several hundred in the contest. For a country school to win second place in so large a contest is a real event and a credit not only to the winning school and the teacher but also to the entire county. Four students collaborated in making the winning poster. They were Camilla Edwards, eighth grade; Joe Novak and Richard Rathbun, sixth grade, and Melvin Edwards, fifth grade. So far as is known the only prize this wins for the students is honorable mention, but even this is a real honor and makes the work well worth their while.

Judge Paine to Speak At Ord's Commencement

BAYARD H. PAINE. Judge Paine, for many years a resident of Grand Island and judge in this judicial district but now a Nebraska Supreme court jurist, has accepted an invitation to deliver the Ord high school commencement address on Thursday, May 26. The commencement program will be held at the high school auditorium. The complete program will be announced next week.

Mrs. Frank Kasal Hurt In Accident

Monday papers carried the story of the injury of Mrs. Frank Kasal of Ord, who was in an automobile accident on West O street in Lincoln Sunday. She was in the St. Elizabeth hospital in Lincoln Monday recovering from shock and bruises. She was being treated by Dr. R. C. Olney, who said she had suffered no fractures and that her condition was not serious. Hospital attendants reported her as resting comfortably Monday.

Mr. Kasal returned on the train Tuesday morning, leaving Mrs. Kasal to recuperate in the hospital. Her sons will bring her home in the car, which is being repaired, at the end of this week. Frank states that the wreck occurred about four miles west of Lincoln while they were passing over some rather rough brick paving, after dusk and in the rain. He thinks that he turned the wheel too far in keeping clear of the right side of the paving, the car crossing the highway and going into the ditch on the left side of the road, where it turned over on its side.

Frank escaped almost uninjured the only mark being a bruise across the bridge of his nose which slightly blackened both eyes. He said his wife suffered some torn ligaments in her back and was bruised and shocked, but was otherwise uninjured. He feels that they were lucky to have escaped without more serious injury.

For Air Mail Use Only.

It seems that the men who sold the air mail letters in Ord gave some people the wrong impression as to their use. They stated that any envelopes left over May 19 could be used for mailing later, but they meant, of course, that they must be used for air mail only. The air mail envelopes cannot be used for sending letters through the regular mail, as the object in using the envelopes with the colored borders is to facilitate the work of the mail clerks in rushing the air mail letters, and their use for common mail would nullify the object for which they were designed.

State Patrolmen Do Not 'Hide Out,' Says Lieut. Schrien

All Arrests Made Openly, He Tells Ord Audience; Is Courtesy Patrol Also.

The Ord Chamber of Commerce had Captain R. E. Weller of the highway patrol scheduled to speak to them Wednesday evening on the subject of the highway patrol, but due to his inability to be here, Lieut. Schrien came instead. Due to several counter attractions the attendance was not as large as could be hoped for, but the interest in the meeting was keen.

Lieut. Schrien told the story of the setup of the patrol, beginning with when the applications were first acted upon. There were a total of more than 3,000 applications, all of which were gone over in the office and those unfitted in any way for the duties were culled out first. A total of between 600 and 700 were called in for personal interviews, and from this list more than 100 were selected for training.

From this list 66 were selected for actual duty, this being the number for which funds were available. He said that, while most persons had the idea that the main function of the patrolmen was to make arrests, as a matter of fact their main function on the highway was courtesy. For example, should a patrolman find a carful of ladies and children with a tire down, it is a part of their work to help them out of the difficulty.

If a car is found in the ditch, they are to help the owner get back on the highway, if it is possible. When the patrolmen were first sent out they had instructions to make no arrests except in the case of flagrant violations of the road laws, such as driving while intoxicated. In the case of minor offenses warnings were to be given, and this was done in some cases as many as three times before drastic action was taken.

As a result, during the first month only about fifty persons were arrested by the patrol. Since that time the number has increased until the past month has seen from 600 to 700 arrests. Most of these arrests were for driving while intoxicated, and convictions were had in all cases but three or four, proving that the patrolmen do not arrest until they are practically certain the law is being violated.

The state patrolmen do not hide out along the highway, as many seem to think, but patrol the highways and make their arrests openly. If obliged to leave the car at any time it is always left where it may be seen. Lieut. Schrien had a movie projector outfit with him, which showed pictures with sound of the patrol in operation, and of traffic conditions in the more crowded sections of the state.

Large Crowd Attends the Senior Class Play

The Ord high school auditorium was well filled Tuesday evening when the play, "The Black Flamingo," was presented by 1938 graduates of the Ord school. The play, a fast moving mystery centered around a diamond necklace belonging to the queen of France, combined the elements of humor, tragedy and adventure so well that those attending were on the edges of their seats most of the evening.

Splendid work in leading parts was done by Robert Williamson, as Bourien, the chief cutthroat, by Arden Clark and Simon Danczak, violinist and nobleman respectively, by Harry Zulkoski, as Count Cagliostro, a sorcerer, and by Ernest James and Virginia Sack, as an inn-keeper and his wife. Comedy parts were played by Dale Hughes and Jane Ferguson in able fashion and strong support was given the leading characters by Frances Duemey, Jerrine Burrows, Lloyd Sack and Don Tunncliffe.

Director of the production was Miss Ellen Servine, who was assisted by Miss Olivia Hansen, senior class sponsor. Proceeds of the play will be used by the graduating class in defraying expense of certain commencement week activities.

Leads Farmers' Protest Group For Sunday

Pershing Back to Good Health

Fishin' Fever Lures Boyhood

Smartness from the nuge posse on the tiny veiled hat to the open toe tips of buckled shoes is exhibited in the Sunday "go to meetin'" costume of Mrs. William Kavanagh, pictured as she left morning services at St. Bartholomew's church in New York City. The dark three-button coat with leather belt, fur collar and matching accessories served as Mrs. Kavanagh's Easter outfit.

With vacation time approaching, American boys are stealing moments from study for play at the old fishin' hole just like the New Jersey lad pictured above. In typical fashion, Dick Dennen forgets neatness to use his hat as a landing net, while Richard Morris claims a half share in the fish for duty on the business end of the rod. To the speckled trout go the dubious honors of being 1938's first catch.

News of the Week in Pictures

If a heart-to-heart talk over world problems will stop war, Abe Pickus of Cleveland will grab the trans-Atlantic telephone any time peace is threatened. Pickus is pictured above as he chatted with President Albert Lebrun of France when that country was in political turmoil recently. Hitler, Franco, Chamberlain, and the Italian foreign office all have listened to Pickus.

Leads Farmers' Protest Group

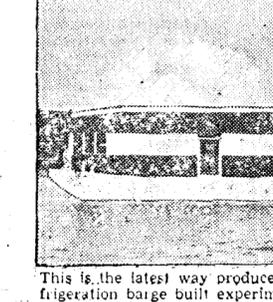

As president of the newly-formed Corn Belt Liberty League, Tilden Burg of Sciota, Ill., above, will carry the banner denouncing crop limitation clauses of the government's agricultural program. The organization came into existence when 1500 farmers invaded the Macomb, Ill., courthouse to register their protests against "compulsory" features of federal crop control.

Pershing Back to Good Health

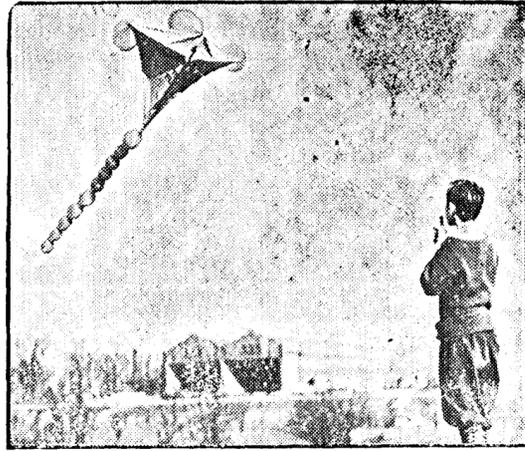

Fit as a fiddle after a long uphill battle against the effects of a heart attack, General John Pershing is pictured as he journeyed from his Tucson, Ariz., home, site of his convalescence, to New York to attend his son's wedding. The photo is the first of Pershing since his recent illness.

Floating Refrigerator for Mississippi Valley

This is the latest way produce of Mississippi and Ohio valley farmers will go to market—on a refrigeration barge built experimentally by the TVA in conjunction with the University of Tennessee. Fruits and berries are frozen in a special six-minute process and then loaded aboard the barge—capacity, 350,000 pounds—for shipment to Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Pittsburgh and other mid-west points.

Height of Kite Flying Fashion

Spring breezes find kites in the air and the boy with the highest flyer is the envy of all his comrades. So 12-year-old Raymond Kuhn, pictured in action should be the pride of his East Cleveland, O., neighborhood. Usually 12-year-old boys have ceased to play with balloons, but Raymond made practical use of them, fashioning a tail of 10 long balloons and attaching three of the round variety to the top of the kite. And now she sails!

WHITE NAMED NO. 1 EDITOR

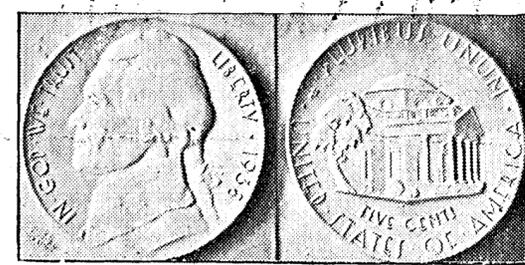

Named leader in a fight to maintain freedom of the press as president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, 70-year-old William Allen White, probably the most famous small city editor in the world, flashed an appropriate Washington, D. C., convention smile. The silver-haired publisher of the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette succeeds Alfred H. Kirchner of the Buffalo (N. Y.) Evening News.

DAWES AND PIPE GO TO HOSPITAL

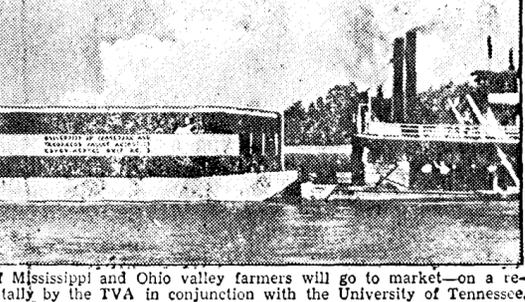

Switzerland's hospital in New York had a hard time getting Charles G. Dawes' famous underslung pipe away from him when the former vice president underwent an emergency operation for acute appendicitis. The 72-year-old warrior, once ambassador to England, bowed to illness after attending the wedding of Gen. John J. Pershing's son. He's seldom pictured without his smoking apparatus—and the photo above is no exception.

Five Cent Idea Captures $1000

This winning model for "heads" and "tails" on the new Jefferson nickel will be very familiar to you soon. Submitted by Felix Schlag, Chicago sculptor, the design won a $1000 national competition. Ed Bruce, chief of the division of painters and sculptors of the Treasury Department, and Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the U. S. Mint, are shown checking through the long lines of plastic entries preliminary to the final selection.

Hurt As Bottle Explodes

Mrs. L. W. Benjamin, who is in Los Angeles caring for her mother who is ill, had a very peculiar accident. She was washing some milk bottles and after washing them, rinsed them with hot water and walked out onto a porch with them. Just as she reached the porch one of the bottles exploded, cutting her hand badly between the thumb and first finger on the left hand. She fainted and when she recovered consciousness her hand was bleeding profusely. A surgeon was called and took her to a hospital to dress the wound and it was found that an artery had been severed. She will be unable to use that hand for some time.

Sumter Wins Second in Poster Contest

The thrill that comes once in a lifetime came to Miss Kathryn Romans, teacher of Sumter school No. 68, when it was announced that the poster made by her school, pictured above, had taken second place in the fifth district in the contest carried on in connection with Air Mail Week. No doubt it was even more thrilling to the pupils who did the work when they heard about their success.

It is not known just how many schools took part in this contest, but all grade schools in the district were eligible, and it is supposed that there were several hundred in the contest. For a country school to win second place in so large a contest is a real event and a credit not only to the winning school and the teacher but also to the entire county. Four students collaborated in making the winning poster. They were Camilla Edwards, eighth grade; Joe Novak and Richard Rathbun, sixth grade, and Melvin Edwards, fifth grade. So far as is known the only prize this wins for the students is honorable mention, but even this is a real honor and makes the work well worth their while.

We Want to Get Rid of a...

Big Headache

That's what this group of "cheapies" is to us, some of them have been around the garage so long. They're worth far more than we're asking for them that we promise you. One of these cars, priced at $50, had a $40 motor overhaul and two new tires just before we took it in trade. Another has new rubber all around. We refused an $85 offer on the pick-up not long ago—to our present sorrow—because we thought and still think it worth $100 of anyone's money. But that's the way it goes.

Read these prices—come in and look at the cars—and if you need a cheap used car for any purpose you'll be sure to buy:

We guarantee that every one of these cars will start right off when you step on the starter. We know each car will give a whole summer of trouble-free transportation to its buyer.

Above are shown Mrs. J. J. Pigman, pioneer of the upper Haskell Creek neighborhood, and the old soddy which was a home to her and her husband and their children for many years. Mrs. Pigman no longer lives in the old home, but makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charley Marshall, a short distance to the west. However she keeps most of her personal effects in the old house, and manages to go over every few days and see how everything is getting along.

Among her effects may be found a number of books published in the early days, which have been given the best of care and are still in splendid condition.

The sod of the building is slowly crumbling away, and it is only a question of time until some of the walls will fall down, but as it stands today it is a typical sample of the early day soddy, and is well worth a trip up the Haskell Creek road to visit it.

71 Ord Students Will Go to Omaha For Music Contest

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McKinney left Tuesday morning for Colome, S. D., where they will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Daniel have moved from rooms north of the Gamble Store to the house vacated by the McKinney family, in the northeast part of town.

Mrs. John Ward of Ord came Monday and is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

The Burwell Municipal band has ordered 40 uniforms and also uniforms for the band leader and drum major. The first public appearance of the band will be made May 24, at the dedication service for the Burwell dam and it is expected that the suits will be here for that occasion.

Car taking musicians to the national contest will be driven by Mr. Duncan, Mrs. Joe Puncoschar, C. C. Thompson and Emil Fafaita, who are going to Omaha today; and by James B. Ollis, Don Stewart, F. P. O'Neal, C. W. Hitchman, L. J. Auble, L. D. Milliken, George Nay, Wm. Sack, Dr. C. J. Miller, L. J. Smolik, Alfred Wiegard, E. L. Vogelanz, M. Blemond and F. J. L. Benda, who leave tomorrow.

The Castle Hotel will be headquarters for the Ord delegation, rooms for all students who do not happen to have relatives living in Omaha having been engaged there. Forty-eight students will be quartered at the Castle Hotel.

Ord's clarinet quartet, made up of Eugene Puncoschar, Lyle Flagg, Opal Miller and Myrtle Auble, will play Thursday, as will Ruth Auble with her tuba solo, Eugene Puncoschar with his clarinet solo, and the brass sextet composed of Allen Zikmund, Lloyd Sack, Gerald Jirak, Ruth Auble, Virginia Sack and Dick Koupal. Other groups will play Friday.

All contestants will be given tickets so they may attend all musical programs during the contest, as well as artists' programs that have been specially arranged, free of charge. Chaperones will be admitted to programs at a nominal fee.

High school musicians from several states will compete in this District 9 national contest and school heads believe the trip will be most beneficial to the Ord students, whether they win or not. All are determined to make a creditable showing and their record at smaller contests this year indicates they will do so.

The Yo-Yo Craze Is Sweeping Ord

The song Ord youngsters are singing may not be "Yo-Yo and a Bottle of Rum," but they have found a treasure in the new yo-yo fad that is sweeping the town. Kiddies from kindergarten vie with high schoolers and even with some past the school age in showing what they can do with these amusing and interesting toys. The two shown in the above picture are both local and long distance yo-yo artists, and the only limit to their ability is the height they can get above the ground. Earl Barnes, left and Jack Janssen, right, can handle yo-yos with up to twenty feet of string. They'll have us granddaddies doing it yet!

—H. T. Frazier drove to Omaha Monday to attend the state funeral directors convention, and was expected to return home this evening. He also planned to make purchases for the store while there.

won the right to compete in the national contest, but only after a vast amount of arranging and by means of sacrifices by many individuals was the trip made possible.

Parker & Watts Coming To Ord

The advertising men of the above named circus were in the city this week plastering the barns and fences with gaudy pictures of the circus. The Parker & Watts Circus needs no introduction to the circus going public of Ord. The circus is presented in three rings and a hippodrome oval, there are cages and dens of rare wild beasts, camels, elephants, and scores of America's most beautiful horses. As a prelude to the circus proper a beautiful spectacular pageant is presented which is a condensed version of the magic book "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp" with all of its charm, magic and romance, superb beyond belief, indescribable, a triumph among colossal productions. There are 26 famous funny clowns who furnish the fun, one hundred new acts, features and thrilling sensations presented by the champion acrobatic stars from six foreign nations. A few of the featured performers are Miss Dorothy Hobart, greatest lady equestrian of all time; the famous Brock troupe sensations of the air; celebrated Conner-Henry troupe, dancing, bounding, somersaulting wizards of the tight wire; the Rickhoff troupe of international bare back riders Andy Calino, the largest man ape alive; Col. Kit Carson, Jr., Western movie star and famous Indian scout in person, the only living son of Kit Carson and the last of the famous Indian scouts who took part in the last Indian war under the personal direction of Col. W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) at the Pine Ridge Agency on Wounded Knee Creek during November and December of 1890, who is without a doubt the most picturesque western character and the real ideal of the American boy. And no doubt there will be one of the largest crowds to ever attend a circus in Ord on show day. The Parker & Watts Circus is one of the very few remaining larger circuses who still believe in the old time street parade which will be held on the down town streets at high noon. There will be plenty of free parking space on the show ground and admission tickets include the circus, menagerie and a seat. Performances are called at 2 and 8 p. m.

Appearance of River Bottom Area at Southeast Corner of Ord Changed when Headgates of Hardenbrook Dam Are Lowered to Divert Water Into Ord-North Loup Canal

Burwell has a permanent lake as result of the building of a dam north of town for irrigation but Ord doesn't fall far short of having a lake of its own, as this picture proves. When headgates of Hardenbrook dam are lowered to divert water into the Ord-North Loup canal, the river back up and floods low lands of the river bottom above the dam, doubling width of the river. In the left foreground can be seen the dike thrown up recently from a point near the dam to a point near the ice house, to prevent water spreading to the railroad grade and later to serve as a road to the dam. Clumps of trees, partly under water, mark the edge of the river when headgates of the dam are open. The dam itself can be seen in the foreground, right.—Quiz Photo.

Junior-Senior Banquet.
The Juniors of Arcadia high school gave the seniors a banquet at 7:00 Friday evening, May 6, at the Methodist church parlor, covers being laid for 91. The theme was Dutchland. The tables were arranged in the form of a Dutch windmill. The center decorations were bouquets of tulips and white spirea. The favors were little Dutch boys and girls. The place cards were little Dutch shoes and the menu cards windmills with the printed program and menu. The twelve waiters and waitresses, dressed as Dutch boys and girls, were Frances Milburn, Ida Sell, Mavis Warden, Maxine Woodworth, Beulah Nelson, Patty Rettenmayer, Max Hickman, Orrin Kingston, Harold George, Junior Benson, Edwin Christ, Elwood Evans.

The program at conclusion of the banquet with John Hawthorne as toastmaster included talks by Carolee Brown, Dorothy White, Mr. Evans, Phyllis Lutz, and Don McMichael.

At 9:30, the faculty, juniors and seniors, went to the high school auditorium for the presentation of the king and queen, a short skit by the Dutch boys and girls, and the dance.

The bleachers were lined with rows of tulips. The streamers were draped canopy fashion from the corners of the auditorium to the center of the room. Picturesquely placed, all the sides were windmills. The king and queen, Floyd Smith and Viola Nelson, were then presented. The queen carried a bouquet of tulips and ferns and descended to the auditorium floor from the stage and lead the grand march. Other couples soon began dancing and the junior senior prom was under way. There were 15 special dances: Grand march, girls' tap dance, boy's tag dance, solo dance and balloon dance. Music was rendered by Tommy Dorsey, Wayne

King and others. Miss Elizabeth Ockerman played the Home Sweet Home march.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Downing, who have been in Omaha the past ten days where Mr. Downing received treatment for his jaw bone, returned home Saturday, Clyde Baird having met them at Grand Island. During the past week, in the vicinity of Arcadia we have received 3.23 inches of moisture. The first came on Sunday, the last day of April, .18 after a severe wind and dust storm. Tuesday evening a heavy rain of 1 inch, Friday an all day rain, which turned to a heavy snow in the evening about 10 o'clock and lasted until noon Saturday. Saturday night it froze but did not seem to do a great deal of harm.

with a steady drizzle Friday and continuing through the night and forenoon Saturday, during which time .36 of an inch fell. The rain turned to soft, wet snow about 9:30 Friday evening and continuing as snow, melted almost as fast as it fell in Ord.

At the Joe Holoun farm near Comstock snow accumulated on the ground and Saturday morning Mr. Holoun estimates 6 to 8 inches in drifts, some of which could still be seen Monday afternoon. Reports of similar snow fall come from Valley View and other points north and west of Ord.

Sunday a light thunder shower amounting to .25 of an inch passed over Ord and extended into Mira Valley. This also included light hail, which did no damage.

Burwell reports slightly less than an inch of rain Friday and Saturday but only a trace Sunday, making the total slightly less than Ord's. North Loup has had more than Ord, Arcadia has had slightly more, and in the valleys of Davis and Mira creeks considerably more has fallen than in Ord.

According to Walter Noll and other farmers of Midvale and Mira Valley sections, the last two rains

—although they came slowly—have run off to a considerable extent, showing how thoroughly the earth is saturated.

Farmers now are hoping for a few days' respite from rain so their fields will dry up enough to get the corn planted. A fine start for corn is predicted.

A light frost was noted in the river valley Sunday morning, blackening beans and potatoes but otherwise doing little damage. Fruit was not hurt, apparently.

Grasshopper hatching has been deterred by recent wet weather but, according to County Agent C. C. Dale, grasshoppers will not be killed by such weather. Experiments have proved that even severe freezing weather does not kill hoppers after they are hatched, nor does it bother the eggs. Mr. Dale does state that moist weather is helpful in one way, by permitting all vegetation to get a big start on the grasshoppers. If there is plenty of moisture during the season he does not anticipate serious grasshopper damage to crops, as there will be plenty of weeds and grasses for them to feed on and they prefer such feeds to growing crops. The county farm bureau has plenty of poison bran and whenever grasshopper damage starts a poisoning campaign will be inaugurated.

Considerable cutworm damage also is being reported but a few bright, hot days will clear this menace up also.

Truly, Valley county is the "green spot of the white spot" this year.

Patterson-May.

Easter weddings included that of Miss Betty E. May, daughter of Mrs. Leah May, of Denver and Thurman A. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Patterson of Denver, formerly of North Loup, Neb. Both young people have lived in Denver most of their lives. The bride has worked at the Daniel and Fisher store for over thirteen years and the groom has been employed by the Fernz Roof and Tile company for over two years, until last June when he took a position as salesman for the old Homestead company at Pueblo where he is now employed.

The wedding was a quiet affair, attended only by the relatives and closest friends. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lloyd Nickel at the United Brethren church in Pueblo at 2:30 o'clock among the Easter decorations.

They were attended by Mrs. Phoebe May, sister-in-law of the bride and Les Flood, friend of the groom. They are at home in an apartment at 816 West Twelfth Street in Pueblo, Colo.

Car Owners Receive Highway Survey Cards

The Nebraska department of roads and irrigation in cooperation with the United States bureau of public roads, mailed questionnaire cards to all vehicle owners in Valley county last week.

From the answers on the cards returned they hope to obtain more exact information as to the source of motor vehicle revenues. The state's entire income for building and maintaining the highways comes from such revenues and while the total amount is known, the state and bureau expect to be able to determine how much is paid by rural and town or city residents in each county.

Considerable attention is being given the farm-to-market and feeder roads which is of vital interest to the counties and residents of the counties. The information obtained on the questionnaire cards will be of great value to both the counties and the state in planning and the sequence and location of future projects and will have considerable bearing on future appropriations both state and federal.

The information on the cards cannot be identified with the individual submitting it. The cards will require no postage as they carry a mailing permit. The success of the survey depends upon the number of cards returned. It is to the personal interest of all motor vehicle owners in the state that the most complete returns be made of the present request of the department of roads and irrigation. Your prompt and careful consideration will be of value, not only to the state generally, but also to each county and local community.

This will be print criticism week, and each member is to bring one or more prints for examination and criticism by the club.

George Jensen, chairman of the print club, will assign the first class of pictures the club is to take at this meeting. All members are urged to be present and get this assignment, which will be one of the most interesting assignments that will be made this year. If you have not already joined the club you are urged to do so at once.

ORD DOG OWNERS

Don't Delay Any Longer About Getting A Dog License

Under Ord's city ordinance relating to dogs, owners of Dogs are required to purchase licenses for them between May 1 and May 10 each year—cost being $1.00 per license—and all dogs not licensed on May 10 are likely to be shot.

Forty-nine dog owners already have licensed their dogs. This is more than have purchased licenses in any full year prior to this year.

Ord's dog ordinance is going to be enforced strictly this year, which means that since May 10 any dog running at large which has not been licensed is likely to be shot on sight by Ord's police officers.

To give every Ord resident a chance to get a license and metal tag for his dog, before shooting of stray dogs starts, I have directed police officers to defer shooting dogs for a very few days.

If you value your dog go to the city hall at once and get a license for him. You will have nobody except yourself to blame if he is shot and killed by the police.

May 13, 1938. There was much comment in the papers of the time because the United States had no workable national hymn.

May 7, 1908. B. A. Hutchins was appointed marshal of North Loup, and D. L. Resseguie street commissioner at the first meeting of the village board.

Heavy rains during the first week of May improved the county's outlook for a good crop.

Better than half a column of small print was used to describe the talent for Ord's 1908 chautauqua program.

The new council consisted of Taylor, Williams, Stover, Gruber, Sershen and Stevens.

Hard frosts had completely destroyed the county's fruit crop, which was a real calamity in those days.

The fixtures were moved out of the White Front Saloon to make room for a barber shop which was to open there soon.

Work on the new opera house building was well under way, and it was predicted that it would be ready for occupancy in ninety days.

A prairie fire swept the country from north of the Loup river in Blaine county to within a few miles of Burwell.

Miss Ella Brown, daughter of E. R. Brown of Sargent but formerly of Ord, was married to Richard Ward of Clinton, Ia.

George M. White graduated from the Kansas City dental college, but had not yet decided where he would hang out his shingle.

PLEASEING THE WOMEN

It isn't difficult to sell meat to men, but when it comes to selling meat to women, that's a different proposition.

Women know their groceries, and their meats too, and to pass their rigid inspection MEAT MUST BE GOOD. And it must be prepared and sold under conditions of absolute sanitation and cleanliness.

Our policy is to please women on all these counts and at the same time keep prices at the lowest level possible.

We want women to feel that they can buy here with confidence—that they can send the children here for meat and feel sure they'll bring home the best.

THEN AND NOW.

Einstein was right. Everything is comparative. The only trouble with us is that we always compare present conditions with those that immediately preceded them, and such comparisons are odious. It is for this reason that we compare present conditions with those of ten to twenty or even thirty years ago, and believe that this is the worst state of affairs that our country has ever known. We need to be raised up high enough to get a broader point of view.

Let us look about for periods of our nation's history comparable to the present time. Although there were a number of periods of depression prior to that time, we find one ideal for comparison in the Virginia colony just 260 years ago, in 1678. It was immediately following the departure from the colony of the notorious Governor Berkeley, who had ground the colonists under the heel of oppression until he was removed by the equally disliked King Charles II of England.

The people had high hopes of improved conditions, but were doomed to disappointment. Speaking of Berkeley, Charles said, "That old fool has taken away more lives in that naked land than I for the death of my father!" Consequently he tried to do even worse than Berkeley had done. What few liberties laws there were on the statute books were repealed, and only freeholders were given the right to vote. Thus the poor man was taxed as heavily as the rich, but unless he was a landholder he had no vote.

Culpepper was appointed governor, and he extorted every cent he could from the colonists, quartering soldiers in the towns to enforce his demands for tribute. He even defrauded the soldiers of their wages. The condition of the Virginians was wretched in the extreme. All the wealth they could accumulate was confiscated, with the result that many starved to death, and hundreds of others died of cold and exposure due to lack of proper food and clothing. That was a DEPRESSION.

But perhaps that was too long ago, and you think the comparison is unfair. If so, let us move down the vista of time a hundred years to the winter of 1777-78, in the colonies were striving to throw off the yoke of oppression. The place was a village on the Schuylkill river 24 miles west of Philadelphia, known to history as Valley Forge. Washington with 11,000 troops went into quarters there in December, 1777.

There, as had happened many times before, hundreds of men died of cold, and at one time more than half the army was unfit for active duty. Their plight was little worse than their people at home, many of whom died of starvation and exposure, for their resources had been taxed to the utmost to keep the army in the field, and the British armies had taken heavy toll of what remained. Many went without shoes, leaving blood stained foot prints on the frozen ground.

But you may well say that in both these cases the people were not governing themselves, and the comparison is unfair. Let us take then, a period in our national history about one hundred years ago. This period included what is known as the "Crisis of 1837." Monetary conditions were then worse than

Jots 'n' Jest

PREDICTION: Dizzy Dean's enrollment in a Chicago Cub uniform will do nothing to diminish the Windy City's traditional reputation.

Soon farm families will have more than the locust and boll weevil to worry about. The "jitterbugs" will be coming home from college.

There's a Friday the 13th in May. After which, whee, because the editor won't have to think up any more hard luck gags until 1939!

Now that anti-peddler laws are being put into effect in many small towns perhaps the family will eventually accumulate enough footwear to use up that drawer full of shoe laces.

they are today. Old timers told of working all day in the harvest field in these days for 25c per day, cradling three acres of wheat by hand. Corn bread and molasses was the staple food of the average family, and with some even potatoes were considered a luxury. Many a family had but one pair of shoes between a large family of boys, and the younger ones would run thru the snow barefoot from the house to the barn to do the chores. The women worked early and late, often by the light of a log fire, spinning yarn and weaving it into cloth, that their children might not have to go naked.

Possibly even one hundred years ago is too long a time to suit the reader. If so, let us take the colonization period of the Loup Valleys with its grasshoppers, prairie fires, blizzards and drouth. Perhaps you would have preferred to live in those days, when nobody had any money, and merchandise of various kinds was the medium of exchange. That was the period when Holliday bought the goods for his Ft. Hartsuff store on time, sold on time, and hoped that the settlers would be able to pay him. They were not, and Holliday was sued no less than ten times by his creditors for his inability to pay. That was in 1874, when the grasshoppers took the entire crop, and the settlers were not even able to pay in produce, as they had hoped to do. Eventually he managed to pay all his debts, but it took several years. Times were hard then, but history does not record that a beneficent government opened its coffers and paid large amounts to the aged and unemployed, as they are doing today.

Last let us consider the drouth period of 1894, which a large number of readers may readily recall. One family lived all winter on mush and corn bread, with the milk from one cow. When the cow went dry they got along without milk for a time, until a neighbor decided to share his milk supply with them. One family bought 25c worth of sugar in November and it lasted 5 people until after the first of March. Thousands of people kept from freezing by burning prairie coal.

In 1894 many a family got along a month on far less money than most people are allowed per week now. If you don't believe it, ask those who did. They didn't have much fun in those days, with no motion pictures, radios, telephones, football games, band concerts, and the thousand and one other pleasures and conveniences of modern life. But they were content for they knew nothing of them. Yes, everything is comparative. It is all in our minds. We are only as bad off as we think we are.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett
One thing I notice, and that is that the boys around home are paying their subscriptions about as good as those who moved to other states and I also notice that a lot of folks are paying for a year now who used to pay for six months at a time, and a lot of those who had to pay for three months at a time, are now paying for six months in advance. Must mean a little improvement in conditions.

And I also know a lot of folks who are going to be picking peas and beans and beets and other things out of the garden pretty soon, at no cash outlay, who, for several years, have had to pick them out of the store at so much per can. And the home grown garden sass is lots better too.

Col. Weller is talking of going up to Cullen Lake for a while and wants to know if he can get a place to raise garden if he decides to go. I presume he intends to have his wife do the work.

I wasn't going to write this blurb this week but Eugene said I had better get busy if I wanted to stay on the pay roll. Probably when you read it you will wish I hadn't written it, but I want to go to Minnesota some time next week and while I could probably hitch-hike, it might not be so good for the Missus, so I am going to write it and hold my job.

I am practicing up on taking pictures and expect to send you some actual proof of any big fish stories I may tell. Anyhow, I want you to all remember that any fish stories that I write will be the strict truth. I sure don't want to get the kind of reputation that Guy Burrows, John Klein, Charley Sticher, Lou Pierce and some of that gang have, of drawing the long bow when I tell about my fishing.

By the way if some of you guys who are back considerable on your subscription, will come in during the next week with a dollar to apply, it will help in buying snake-bite medicine and other necessities for the trip.

And a lot of you folks who moved west this spring, take notice of what fine rains we are getting. It almost makes me believe that it was you guys who were causing the drouth.

One of the real estate dealers came in Saturday and wanted 50 farm leases. I suggested that it was pretty late for him to stock up with that many and he said that since the rains a lot of farmers were willing to take a chance on renting some of the idle land adjoining them.

We may get a whale of a crop this year and it may be cheap on account of quantity, but I believe if I was a farmer I would rather have the cribs and bins all full of cheap grain rather than no crop and a high price for it. Always, within three years and usually sooner, a cheap crop is worth a good price and there are still a lot of farmers who can hold at least a part of their crop for decent prices in case it is cheap this fall.

I will appreciate having your daily paper subscriptions and when I am gone Eugene will take care of it for you.

I want to invite all Valley county candidates to let us make their engravings this spring. You will want campaign cards, can hardly campaign without them, and we will be glad to make them for you too. Bring us a good picture and in an hour or two we will turn out an engraving the equal of any you can get anywhere. I hope brother publishers in the surrounding towns will also remember to send their engraving orders to our engraving department. We guarantee to give them satisfaction.

But I don't want to try to make an engraving for George Gowen, as we only have one machine and don't want to get it busted.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The killing frost of last Sunday occurred on about the average date for the last killing frost in Valley county. But it was the latest severe frost to visit this locality in several years.

The latest that a killing frost has touched most of the state is May 27th. This was in 1907, when the freezing temperature covered nearly all of the southern and eastern counties.

In the northwestern part of the state such heavy frosts have occurred in June, and in 1902, one came on June 21st. The last killing frost happens as a rule in the southeastern section during the last ten days of April, but comes gradually later northward and westward. It occurs near May 1st in the greater portion of the southern and eastern sections, and from May 10th to 15th in the more elevated portions of the north and west.

Light frosts, not strong enough to cause serious injury, have come to Nebraska in the last days of August, and more often in early September. Damaging frosts are to be expected during the latter half of September. The average date at Ord for the first killing frost of autumn is October first.

The earliest frost in the records of the past fifty years was September 12th. This frost came in 1902, and froze corn over the entire state.

When frosts occur, the temperature at the ground may be 10 or more degrees lower than where the thermometers are hanging. The average number of days between frosts ranges from 160 days in the southeast to 130 days in the northwestern part of the state. This is usually called the growing season.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

It's A Rainin'. For my friends like Morris Rendell and the Collins' in Missouri, my brother, sister and mother in California, Browns, Allen Tappan and Ed Jeffries in Washington and Oregon, Hish's and Lloyd Wheeler in Illinois, and the many others who have left principally because it seemed like it never rained in this country, I will say that now they might come back and see an old time wet spring. It has been many years since we have had as much rain in April and May as we have had so far. I just came from the garden where I was surveying the fruit. The tomatoes stood in water, I sank into the mud six inches, and the rain was still pouring down.

A new spirit prevails among us all. Last week when the rain was pouring steadily I had a sick horse. I called Dr. McGinnis and apologized when I spoke saying, "This is a heck of a day to have a sick horse." "No," Dr. corrected. "No. I'd say this is a fine day." It has been many years since the small grain has looked so fine as it does this spring. The wheat and rye are a foot high and many are worrying that it is so luxuriant that it will surely lodge. The alfalfa is nearly knee high and has another three weeks to grow. There has been pasture three weeks. More than this the water in the new ditch is ready to be poured on the land in the valley.

There is some difference in opinion as to how deep the sub-soil has been soaked. In the fields, naturally, it is wet further down and in Mira Valley, where they had one good rain the rest of us did not get, the men there claim it is wet down four or more feet. However, some of the men in this vicinity have been planting trees and fence posts, and in most places find dry dirt at about the bottom of the post hole. Our soil has been frightfully dry for a long time and it takes more than one gentle rain to restore the moisture.

Real Service. To illustrate the service rendered by some of the Ord business men I guess I better mention an incident that happened to me last week. About three weeks ago my wife asked me to stop at a man's house in Ord by the name of Austin and buy a package of sewing machine needles. She has a peculiar breed of a machine and has been unable to buy needles at the store that will work.

I stopped at his house and Mrs. Austin said he was out of town but would be back in a week or so. She took my name and address and said she would have him mail me a package.

Something went askew, for we did not get the needles. Then one day it turned out he came home, a little unexpected and his wife had gone to Burwell. Mr. Austin saw my name on a slip, and it being a rainy day and he having no other work, he thought he would drive to N. L. and see what I wanted. When he got to N. L. he found I lived four miles in the country. It was raining and was very muddy, but he had come this far so he proceeded the last four miles in the mud, very nearly getting stuck several times.

++ Something Different ++

Last year all our conversation held the remark, "It just can't rain in this country any more". This year I believe it is about to be changed to "It just can't stop raining, can it?"

There never was a prettier drive than that down the valley to Grand Island, when the countryside is green.

SUN SPOTS

WASHINGTON LETTER

Administration Presents Statistics Answering Crop Control Rebellion

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON. — Despite the noisy rebellion of some farmers who don't like the restrictions imposed by the new agricultural control policies of the administration, the Department of Agriculture feels confident that participation of farmers in the corn belt with this year's program will show an increase of nearly 10 per cent. The Corn Belt Liberty League, growing out of a mass meeting of some 3000 farmers in and near Illinois recently, drew up a 12-point protest to express dissatisfaction with the 1937 Agriculture Adjustment Act.

TWO points which had the widest appeal were: (1) It is unfair discrimination for the government to restrict the production of American corn and at the same time import corn from the Argentine at world prices and at serious detriment to the American market; (2) The New Deal plan allows southern cotton planters to replace their restricted cotton acreage with corn. This creates new competition and penalizes the natural corn growers of the corn belt. The Department of Agriculture points to corn imports for the period from July 1936 to January 1937 which came to 24,225,000 bushels, and at imports for the same period this year which had dropped to 1,548,000 bushels. Corn exports, on the other hand, which were only 51,000 bushels from July 1936 to January 1937 jumped to 18,987,000 for the same period this year. In 1937 we used 2,343,258,000 bushels of corn for grain domestically, and there was a carry-over of about 180,000,000 bushels which has been the average for the past 10 years. The department feels this should be increased to more nearly 350,000,000 bushels.

THE department is asking farmers to plant 94,595,000 acres of corn this year, as against 96,483,000 harvested last year. The average yield is 25 bushels to the acre. The department answers protests against increased corn competition within American borders by pointing to the fact that from 1928 to 1932 the average corn crop of the 12 states known as the "cotton south" was 29,000,000 acres, and that in the year 1936-1937 there was no noticeable increase. All 48 states have produced some corn for the past 10 years.

east of the highway as you start home to Ord. You will miss it unless you look carefully, and it is worth seeing. The pools and rocks and flowers are inspiring enough to make you dash home, grab the spade and start standing your own lawn on end in an effort to build one here.

Driving through other towns helps us to come home and see the beauties of our own...also what needs fixing. Driving from the east into Grand Island, what could give a gloomier picture than the dark, smoked round house, blackened fence falling over.

Leaving Columbus for Grand Island, what could give more delight than a glimpse of the lovely park created beside the highway? Going through Fullerton and some of the other eastern Nebraska towns, the Illacs couldn't be showier.

To enter a town past the city dump, and assorted backyards and barnyards surely does not give a visitor much of a first impression. Nor do most filling stations and hog dog stands add to the attractiveness of a city boundary. Junky old buildings that need tearing down or repainting and rebuilding are one thing Ord does have plenty of...cracked, broken, bumpy sidewalks another...if we could fix up a few of these, our city would improve immensely.

For Ord is a place of smooth green lawns, and many well kept homes and yards. Our square has few empty old buildings, many of our vacant lots are neatly tended gardens, and our aspect in general is very pleasing, don't you think so? One time of the year when Ord

Spiritual Vs. Material Wealth

SEEKING an approach to eternal life, a rich young man came to Jesus—but when it was suggested that he give his treasures to the poor, he went away sorrowful. Here is a story which has laid a firm hold on life and literature.

Not all factions, however, have received the message or taken it into a practical application toward life. We have tended to whittle away the meaning of the story until it has very little meaning at all.

So far as his outward life was concerned, the young man was evidently as good as he professed to be. Jesus did not question the sincerity with which he said that he had observed the commandments from his youth. Yet Jesus found one thing crucially lacking in this young man.

With all his goodness, he had not found the spiritual joy and happiness of a great adventure. His very possessions, instead of being a means of enriching his life, had become a barrier between him and life's true goal.

It is instructive that Jesus not only urged this young man to give his possessions to the poor, but that He also invited him to come and follow Him. It tells us a great deal concerning the young man. He was evidently capable of something more than ordinary service; and it was because of this great possibility of what he could become that his failure to sacrifice the one thing that kept him away was so tragic.

If the young man had been incapable of less heroic life, Jesus is very attractive is when the banks of spirea are white beside almost every house. We may sneer at spirea, because it grows so easily and so commonly, but we should be grateful for it. It will grow on the north side of a building, and dry weather will hold it back somewhat, but it does not die out.

There are lots of pretty flowers that are not expensive, that we may all enjoy. Golden glow, the old-fashioned, spreads and thrives if given a half chance. Bachelor buttons, baby's breath, neither of them can be killed out, but struggle along year after year. Iris need no attention. Moss roses will come up year after year in the same place, so will flax, greeting the world with new blue blossoms each morning.

Petunias are easy and cheap to grow, as are morning glories and nasturtiums, and zinnias. And California poppies. I have even seen lawns bright with dandelions that I thought were pretty—you don't suppose I have a temperature, do you? —Irma.

In a fury of hero worship at Hitler's 49th birthday parade, Minister Frick climaxed his adoration: "Adolf Hitler is Germany and Germany is Adolf Hitler!" Let's see; who was it said: "Franklin Roosevelt is the Democratic Party?"—Central City Nonpareil.

The president says operation of the social security act shows it was "soundly conceived," and he proposes to have it extended to do more for oldsters. It is a sure way to raise funds, and has proved a source of joy to the administration in meeting sundry needs.—Wayne Herald.

There is no evidence that Jesus required from all the well-to-do people, with whom He came in contact, the sacrifice of all that they had. He did demand of them that they should use what they had for the glory of God, and He rebuked those who held their possessions and treasures for themselves and who were not rich toward God and toward their fellowmen.

But we must not take the teaching of Jesus and make it of little or no effect. THAT man is not truly Christian in the modern world, any more than in the ancient world, who hugs his possessions to himself and refuses out of his abundance to meet the need of his fellowmen.

Jesus said that to those who made the supreme sacrifice there would come a richness of blessing. How true that is—not only in relation to the individual, but also in relation to the world in which noble disciples have lived. Think how much poorer the world would have been if St. Francis of Assisi had turned away and failed the Master, as this young man failed!

There is a tradition that identifies the rich young man with Joseph of Arimathea, who afterwards begged the body of Jesus and gave it burial. It is a tradition—which one would like to believe—that the young man did come in time to the place where he could make the supreme sacrifice for the Master.

Rain-fall in May Now Totals 3.61; 2 Dams Damaged

3 to 6 Inch Rain in Taylor Area Wednesday Results in About $600 Damage.

Heavy rains last Wednesday during the night added 1.30 inches to the total rainfall for Ord, making a grand total of 8.12 inches so far in 1938. While the rain in most places through this section fell slowly and steadily, it assumed cloudburst proportions in the region between Burwell and Taylor. The amount there was reported all the way from three to six inches.

Burwell was notified of the heavy rain, and the watchman at the dam remained there until quite late watching for the coming flood. After a while he decided that everything was safe and went home. The flood arrived shortly after midnight, and did considerable damage before workmen could make arrangements to dispose of the surplus water.

Water flooded over into the ditch and followed it down to the place farmed by Frank Blaha. Here a gate was being put in, and this held back the water, causing it to wash out a part of the embankment and run down across the field to the river. The flood waters brought down a large quantity of debris which collected against the dam and the gates and had to be disposed of. Steel structure of the Burwell dam was bent.

Ord was forewarned of the coming flood, and men were on the job to take the necessary steps to lower the water level. Several cuts were made in the wing dam at the east end of the main dam, and these permitted the surplus water to get away fast enough to protect the main dam. However, Engineer Dunmire and his crew spent an anxious day or two while the flood was getting down stream.

Total cost of repairing damage done to dams and canals by the rain will not exceed $600, believes Engineer Dunmire. Most costly damage was at the Burwell dam, where repairs will cost $400 or more. Wash-outs in the canals are likely to recur after heavy rains until the canal banks have become thoroughly soaked and seasoned, the engineers think. The canals were dug during a very dry period last year and not until this spring has there been enough rain to settle and pack them.

Saturday was clear, with a high northwest wind much of the day, and was followed by a fine day Sunday. Sunday night another light shower fell, and weather Monday and Monday night was misty and rainy, total rainfall for the two days being .18 of an inch.

Total May rainfall up to noon Tuesday is 3.61 inches in comparison with a 50-year average of 3.25 inches for the entire month of May, according to Horace Travis' figures.

Crop prospects are wonderful, though farmers are beginning to hope rains will halt for a while so corn planting may be completed.

Flood Waters Pour Over Top of the Ord Dam

When high water caused by a rain of from 3 to 6 inches between Taylor and Burwell reached Ord early Thursday morning, water poured over the top of Hardenbrook dam and through furrows cut in the earth breastwork during the night by workmen directed by Engineer-Manager E. H. Dunmire. Cutting these furrows lessened the weight of water and prevented damage to the concrete portion of the dam. It will be a comparatively cheap operation to pump sand and gravel into the cuts and restore the earth dam, engineers say.

High School Golfers Will Compete at Ord

The annual golf tournament of the Mid Six high school athletic conference will be held in Ord Saturday, May 21, announce Ord high school officials. Last year the tourney was held at Broken Bow and was won by Ord, the individual champion being Russell Rose. Schools that will compete include St. Paul, Broken Bow, Arcadia, Loup City, Ravenna and Ord.

Evelyn Sharp Wins Her Pilot's License

Friday the 13th did not prove unlucky for Miss Evelyn Sharp, Ord's nationally known airplane pilot, for on that day she received notification of the fact that she had passed the required tests, and was entitled to do commercial flying. The presentation was made Friday at a banquet given in her honor by another Ord lady, Miss Delpha Taylor, secretary to Supreme Court Justice Bayard H. Payne.

Mrs. Helen Carman, secretary to Charles S. Doyle of the State Aeronautics commission, made the presentation. Evelyn is the only commercial licensed flyer of her sex in the state at the present time, following the removal of Mrs. Louise Tinsley Miller from Alliance to Torrington, Wyo. She won her license on her second examination, and is without question the youngest woman in the United States to hold a commercial pilot's license.

Fair Board Names Superintendents

At a recent meeting of the Loup Valley fair board committees were appointed and superintendents selected to look after the different phases of the Loup Valley Fair and Races this year. The committees are: Entertainment, Val Pullen; Henry Enger, Dr. J. W. McGinnis; advertising, Ed Kokes, Henry Jorgensen, Dave Arnold; premium list, R. Clara Clement, Henry Enger, Henry Jorgensen. Heads for the several departments were selected as follows: Cattle, Kenneth Koelling; horses, Dave Arnold; hogs, Don Round; poultry, A. R. Brox; agriculture, Henry Enger; fine arts, Mrs. Edgar Roe; home economics, Mrs. A. W. Cornell; flowers, Mrs. Will Zablouil; schools, Miss Clara McClatchey; races, Clyde Baker; superintendent of track, Val Pullen; superintendent of grounds, Dr. McGinnis; superintendent of 4-H clubs, Vincent Jacobson.

Many of these superintendents are experienced in their lines, and some are new to the work, but it is generally agreed that they are well chosen for the work they have to do. The entertainment committee has most of the talent lined up for this year, and they have done remarkably well in getting value for their money. The advertising committee has already done some work along this line, although the bulk of the publicity will come later. With the prospects for a good crop, the fair should be one of the best in years.

L. S. Larsen Injured. While using a hay rake Tuesday of last week L. S. Larsen was quite seriously injured when the team ran away with him, one of the teeth of the rake puncturing his stomach. He is recovering under the care of Dr. J. G. Kruml at the Elliott Clement home in Ord.

Charlie Cetak Is Best Sprinter At State Track Meet

Wins Century, Furlong, in Top Class; His Time Better Than Gale Merry's.

Preferring to take their chances in Class A, the class in which all the larger schools in Nebraska were entered, Ord athletes came through at the state track and field meet held in Lincoln on Friday and Saturday. Coach Helmut Brockman took with him Charles Cetak, Don Dahlin, Edgar Barnes, Dale Hughes, Gerald Jones and Allen Zikmund.

Cetak came through with a beautiful performance in the century trying for first in the preliminaries with Gale Merry of Bayard Friday, and beating his time by a tenth of a second Saturday. Charles ran the event against a strong wind Saturday in the time of 10.3 seconds to become a gold medal winner. He also won the 220 yard event in Class A, and tied for second place in the four classes with a time of 23.4 seconds.

Cetak's win in the 100 yard event caught the sports writers and photographers by surprise, as they had conceded it to Merry, with Jack Benger of Callaway a

Valley County 8th Graders Number 114

Mrs. Sara Hawkins of Midland College, Fremont, will give a miscellaneous program at the annual eighth grade commencement exercises to be held in the Ord high school auditorium Monday evening, May 23. The musical part of the program will be under the direction of Mr. Duncan.

Those who finished the examinations in April will be on the honor roll, and the names of those holding high averages will be announced at that time. One hundred and fourteen will receive their diplomas and will be present as guests at the program. The names of the successful students will be given next week.

Loup Valley Men Head Postmasters

Two Loup valley men were honored by the convention of Nebraska postmasters at their session at North Platte Wednesday evening and Thursday. The attendance totaled nearly 200 from all parts of Nebraska. Harrison Parkman, postal department purchasing agent at Washington, D. C., was the speaker at the concluding session Thursday, at which Omaha was agreed upon as the location for the 1939 convention.

Postmaster Alfred L. Hill of Ord drove over Wednesday to attend the meeting. Officers were selected as follows: President, J. F. Webster of St. Paul; Kathryn V. McCusker, Ogallala, R. E. Harmon, Auburn, and Mrs. Fredericka W. Weber, Wahoo, were chosen vice-presidents; Frank A. Moon, Fairbury, is the new state director, and Alfred L. Hill of Ord is the new secretary.

Hill, A. E. Gustavson of Grand Island, Parkman, Webster, Dr. A. A. VanDyke of St. Paul, Minn., and Louis F. Ester of Omaha, spoke before the convention adjourned. Detailed instructions for handling "air mail week" letters this week were given by Harley Moorhead of Omaha. Secretary Hill discussed "Appointment and Re-appointment of Postmasters." President Webster discussed the advantages of district associations.

Dale, Veleba, At Insurance Meeting

C. C. Dale and Charles Veleba drove down to Central City Monday to attend a meeting in regard to the wheat insurance program. They returned to Ord with the impression that the program might be a grand thing for wheat growing areas, but that its value in Valley county is more or less problematical.

With the limited wheat acreage this county has had in the past, it would not apply to many farmers. Further, the risks are higher here, which would make the premiums higher than the average farmer would care to pay. Risks mentioned specifically by Mr. Dale for this year included hail, rust and lodging of the grain, all of which are easily possible with existing weather conditions.

Charles T. Lickly Killed By Horse

The Ord community was shocked Wednesday evening when the word came by telephone that Charles T. Lickly had been killed that afternoon when his horse fell with him. He and Tom Dobrovolsky, jr., had been rounding up cattle, and it is believed that his horse fell with him, probably hitting him with the horn of the saddle. He did not die instantly, for he got up, holding his stomach, and made the remark that the horse had about cut him in two. Mr. Dobrovolsky went on looking after the stock, and when he looked back shortly afterward he saw the horse standing but no signs of Lickly. When he rode back he found him dead. There was not a broken bone or a bruise on his body, but the doctors are of the opinion that the saddle horn

Jack Ream Orchestra Plays Thursday Under Softball Team Auspices

Sponsored by the softball teams of Ord, who will share in the proceeds, the famous Jack Ream orchestra will play for a dance Thursday, May 19 at the Ord dance hall managed by Emil Dargatzis. Ream's orchestra is a comparatively new one but Ream himself is nationally known as a trumpet player, having appeared with the Morton Downey band and also with the orchestra that played in Rudy Vallee's picture, "Sweet Music." A big crowd from all over the Loup Valley region is expected in Ord Thursday for the Ream dance.

Mail Planes Come To Ord Thursday, Circus On Friday

Double-Barreled Event Cause of 3-Day Bargain Carnival Under Way Tomorrow.

Thursday is the important day of National Air Mail Week, with mail planes scheduled to arrive and depart from Ord for the first time in history, on Friday the Parker & Watts circus comes to Ord to give a free street parade and two performances under the big top, and in honor of this double-barreled event, Ord merchants today announce a 3-day bargain carnival unique in Ord's history.

Most of the important business firms of Ord are taking part in this bargain carnival, as a scrutiny of the advertising in this issue will prove. There will be bargains in food, bargains in clothing, bargains in almost everything that people use.

People of the North Loup valley are invited to pay Ord a visit Thursday, Friday or Saturday this week; more than one visit if possible.

On Thursday, the Aeronca plane flown by Miss Evelyn Sharp, who last Friday was given a commercial transport pilot's license by the federal government, thereby becoming America's youngest fully licensed female pilot, will carry air mail to Grand Island at 7:30 a. m. and again at 1:30 p. m. The plane will arrive from Grand Island with air mail at 1:00 p. m.

Thousands of letters are being mailed in advance to go out of Ord on one of these history-making flights and people everywhere are invited to visit Ord Thursday and mail letters by plane. Special envelopes bearing a cachet showing Evelyn's picture are available at the postoffice and other places in Ord.

In mid-afternoon a brief program in the court house yard will be given for the entertainment of visitors, if weather permits.

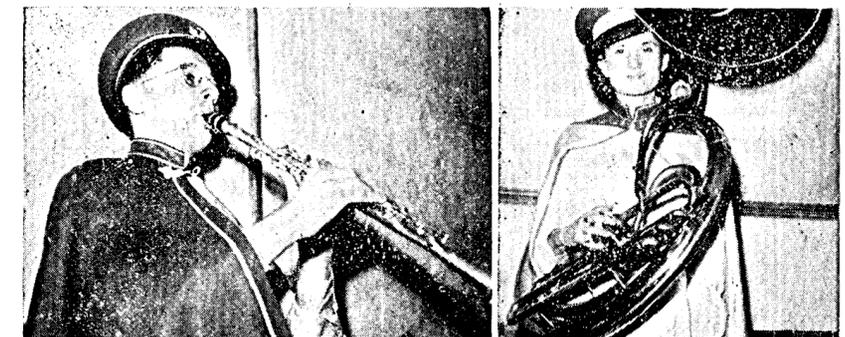

On Friday, the big Parker & Watts circus is scheduled to arrive early in the morning from Grand Island where they show the day previous. Their special train will be shunted to a side track of the Union Pacific and unloaded.

At noon or a little later the circus will give a parade through the business district and their afternoon and evening performances are to be presented on the John Moudry place east of Bussell park. Parker & Watts claim to be the only big circus still giving a free street parade; they have five acres of tents and their circus and wild animal show is claimed to be second to none. Lincoln, Crete, Alliance and Broken Bow are a few of the other cities where this circus will play in Nebraska. It is the biggest circus to visit Ord in at least ten years.

Throughout the week end, Ord stores will greet visitors with a flood of special bargains and "stock up for the summer" is advice offered to Quiz readers.

Quiz Is Printed Early. Because of National Air Mail week the Quiz is being printed Tuesday night instead of late Wednesday afternoon as is customary. Readers are asked to overlook absence of a few regular news departments and features that had to be left out because of necessity for haste in printing.

ORD MUSICIANS MAKE SPLENDID SHOWING AT NATIONAL MUSIC CONTEST HELD IN OMAHA, WIN THREE SUPERIORS

All Ord musicians who attended the national music contest held in Omaha Friday and Saturday of last week made a very satisfactory showing, according to Dean Duncan, Ord music director. Two soloists, Ruth Auble with the sousaphone and Eugene Puncocchar with the clarinet, picture above, represented Ord, and both made superior ratings. The Ord clarinet quartet, consisting of Opal Miller, Myrnie Auble, Lyle Plagg and Eugene Puncocchar, was also rated superior.

The brass sextet, Lloyd Sack, Gerald Girak, Virginia Sack, Allen Zikmund, Dick Koupal and Ruth Auble, won an excellent rating, as did also the Ord band. The Ord orchestra was rated good. In addition to this Margie Smith and Marilyn Dale played their violins in the festival orchestra, which was made up of students from various schools all over the district. Dick Koupal, Eugene Puncocchar, Jerrine Burrows, Virginia Sack and Ruth Auble sang in the festival chorus of 600 voices.

About 100 high school musicians and school patrons attended the contest from Ord. Headquarters for the Ord group was the Castle hotel, and Supt. Thompson says the management of the hotel did everything possible to please Ord people and make their visit pleasant. The Castle was remodeled recently and now is second to none in Omaha.

Musicians from all parts of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Colorado and South Dakota participated in the various events, and Ord's young people are to be congratulated on the splendid showing they made against such competition. The grand finale of the contest took place Saturday evening when the festival orchestra and festival chorus put on a special program of music under the direction of noted band and chorus leaders.

AIR MAIL WEEK

If a member of the past generation had suggested such a thing as holding a celebration for Air Mail, he would have been committed to the home for the feeble minded. Yet this week we are in the midst of a celebration...

Why should we wonder at the airmail service, which has grown to be an essential part of our life as a nation. Big business, realizing the value of time, uses air mail for the transportation of its more valuable business and has done so for years...

Twenty years does not seem a long time, and yet if you drop back two decades you find a people who knew nothing of that most common household necessity of today, the radio. Unknown then, and scoffed at in its infancy, the radio has grown in much less than twenty years to be an almost essential part of our scheme of existence...

Other inventions have come to be a part of our regular life in less than twenty years. Even ten years ago the sending of photos by telegraph or radio was still in the experimental stage, and it was freely predicted that it would never come into common use...

It is interesting to note that the greatest progress in the past few years has been made in the line of communication and rapid transportation. Super trains cross the continent at speed undreamed of a few years ago, yet they are slow compared with the speed of the airplane, and it is a very slow proposition compared with the radio, the telephone and the telegraph...

The inventor who speeds up transportation in any way is considered a benefactor of mankind, for he has in a way lengthened the span of human existence. If a man can accomplish in one day what it formerly took him two days to accomplish, he has an extra day in which to live. In the early days of our nation, it took six months to get word to California, by way of Cape Horn. The pony express cut this down to six weeks or less. The iron horse cut this to six days. The airplane has now cut the time to a little more than six hours...

The Postoffice Department, through the use of the air mail has brought every part of the United States within 24 hours of us here in Nebraska. For an extra three cents you can more than cut the time in half that it takes your letter to arrive. It gives you more time for decision before mailing your reply to an important communication. It gets your letter there just when you want it to arrive. Because it is relatively more important, your airmail letter commands immediate respect and attention. If results mean anything to you, by all means use the Air Mail!

A WORD TO THE GRADUATE

Early in life the average person is imbued with the desire to get out and see the world. Later his ideas change, and he wants the world to see him. But he forgets that, in order to be in the limelight, he must make himself worthy while. About the time his thoughts are most needed in school he lets the sight of a real checked, fair haired girl across the aisle distract his attention from the task of filling up his thought reservoir. He lets the square root of x-1 equal a rude caricature with the explanation, "This is Maymie," written under it. And he isn't selfish about it, either. He loves them all. As times goes on he singles out those who particularly appeal to his taste until the number decreases to unity. When this occurs he usually finds that the decision was made too late and he has it all to do over again. The boy of sixteen has no settled ideas of what his future may be. He entertains ideas of being a highwayman or a missionary, and often on alternate days or different hours of the same day. There is no need of rushing matters. He has plenty of time.

He thinks that a general education will fit him alike to lead and to follow, to rule and to be ruled, to teach, to preach, to labor, to fight, to destroy. Give him time. He will try them all and then select the occupation most to his liking. Thousands of young men who are drifting along from year to year with no settled aim or purpose in view are realizing the fallacy of this doctrine. Ambition is a splendid trait of character and should be cultivated in youth. But it is beyond the amplitude of one mind to follow two lines of work and meet with the highest success. In this specializing age the importance of selecting a trade or profession early in life cannot be over estimated. Your life's work requires a life of special preparation. You cannot play football without knowing the rules of the game, and the awkward youth is no match for the one who has mastered the art of self defense. If special training is essential along this line, how much more it must be needed where mind contends with mind for the mastery. The future of our nation depends upon the boys and girls of today, and definiteness of purpose is one of the prime essentials for both national and individual success.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

I had thought to be on Cullen lakes before you folks read this department this week, but a letter from Ray Luther, the guide, advises delay in my coming up there. He says it has been raining almost steady for three weeks, that is, it was raining when it wasn't snowing. Then he no doubt remembered how little dependence I put in what he says, on account of his being a fisherman, he clipped a couple of stories from the Brainard daily paper which tell of the continuous rains, to prove his statements to me. Ray says the water in our lakes is the highest it has been since 1915 which is some water. That was before I started going up there, but the old timers there have told me about the high waters in those years and I shall be interested to get up there and see them. And I will be able to tell them some rain stories of my own about Nebraska if it keeps on like it has been going lately.

My instructions are to have this copy on the editors desk pronto so I am writing it Thursday morning. I have just learned that it rained 1.30 inches last night and as it is very dark and threatening this morning, it may rain some more before it clears up. One farmer told me this morning that it would be a week before he could plant corn if it quit raining now. It may even happen here that we will be wishing for it to stop before it clears up.

Much of the drudgery of fishing is going to be done away with for a new method of catching fish has been discovered. I don't know who thought of the idea but Dr. Kruml is said to have tried it and he says it works fine. The fisherman provides himself with a stout stick and a package of dried peas. He goes to the river or lake and lays a row of the peas along on the sand at the edge of the water. Then when the fish comes out to take a pea the fisherman hits Mr. Fish on the head. And that's that.

Mark Woods of Lincoln has a 100-acre field of asparagus on the Missouri bottoms opposite Nebraska City, from which he is now harvesting a crop of asparagus, all sold on contract to the Nebraska city canning factory. It is not early as yet to know what the returns will be, but the crop this year is of the highest quality. Last year the net returns from the tract was $70 per acre. Now I see no reason why Ord should not have a canning factory nor why 100 farmers on this valley should not have one acre each of asparagus. Then there are other canning crops which the soil of this valley will produce in abundance with water. Hundreds of people could and would be given employment in such an industry. It might be of value, under present conditions, for the chamber of commerce to secure and put out some information. The late Bert Hardenbrook had a friend at Fremont who was engaged in the canning business, who was anxious to come to Ord with his canning factory and I have no doubt, if Mr. Hardenbrook had been spared to this valley he would be promoting such an enterprise right now.

I have found out, through 45 years in business for myself, that the right thing to do when a misunderstanding comes up, is to get the parties together and thrash the whole thing out. Ninety-nine times in a hundred all differences are quickly and easily settled and everyone feels better. As a rule no question is onesided. In misunderstandings, usually there is fault on both sides and when the thing is settled all hands feel better. More cases of stomach trouble are caused by worry than by hard work and the sooner adjustments are made and worry is stopped the happier all hands are. After being away from Ord for 20 years I am not surprised that Harvey Mann would say that he hardly knew the place. And I was gratified when he told me that he thought Ord was the finest and prettiest town that he had been in and he has traveled much. And how well I remember the old days, more than 40 years ago, when I went "braking" with John Ratcliff and Levi Hamilton between Ord and Grand Island. I had just come from Michigan and had not as yet landed a job and I had quite an idea of becoming a railroad man. Harvey was baggage and express man we jokingly called him the baggage smasher in those days. He came in for a visit the other day while renewing old acquaintances in Ord. He is 80 years old and looks to be 60 and is feeling fine. I hope he will come again. Of course he didn't find a great many of those with whom he used to play chess. He came to Ord seven or eight years before I did but I have stayed 23 years longer so we are more than even and I hope he comes visiting again.

There is nothing dearer to the heart of a little boy or girl than their pet dog and it is a cruel father who will not see to it that the pet is provided with a metal tag such as the city requires. Kerry says Buck has a new lock. Folks, get your child's pet a lock. It will be cheaper than the tears of anguish the children will shed if, some day, the dog comes up missing. Well toward a hundred people in Ord have already bought the lock and the time or dead line, is past. No use to take chances. The law can't personally know all the dogs in town and the orders are to get all that do not have a tag. It is unfair for one to pay and the neighbor not to do so.

It Takes Luck Too.

The North Loup Loyalist gives a list of the graduating class and as customary, the two brightest pupils are named, and then the list is continued on in their rank to the lowest. It is a fine boost for those bright students, but not so hot for those at the end. It is true that we cannot all be first and perhaps it is an honor, in a way, that these children are able to graduate at all from the courses offered.

But, pupils who trail, according to the list, toward the foot of the class, have heart. Those at the head of the class learn easier and have an advantage, without doubt. But if they do not continue their work, and succeed more than the average in later life, they will be bigger failures, without doubt.

Bear in mind that it takes more than the ease of learning to succeed. Of course that helps, but the woods are full of successful men and women who were in the lower brackets of learning. Hoover never graduated from high school and flunked in English in college. Edison was kicked out of school and one teacher said he never would amount to anything. I have heard the valedictorians of our little school named off several times, and it is a question if they have succeeded, in the end, as well

Perhaps Knows Too Much.

I was a little amused at an instance at Horace the other day. Yoc Jensen, last year, was head of the Soil Conservation Committee in Wallace Creek and could have had the job again but he refused. He now is on the committee but not as chairman. He is well liked and other people run him in place of her running.

He told me he was going to resign the position. He had various reasons, but one of these was that he did not have the education necessary and also that he did not have time. Be that as it may, he has education enough to be one of the biggest farmers, if not the biggest, in Greeley County. The land that he operates varies of course, but sometimes to over two thousand acres, pasture and all. He has thirty-two horses and mules, good ones too, and he works all of them at times. He has acres of machinery, tractors, and equipment, two to five hundred head of cattle and milk cows. He put a hundred acres of corn last year into a silo.

And still this man says he has not education enough to be on the Soil Conservation Committee. Heavens help the committee.

A New Industry.

Two weeks ago Sunday one of the prominent business men called up the town marshal and told him there was a bunch of gypsies at the tourist camp and asked that he tell them to move on. It happened when the marshal investigated that these people were Mexicans who had arrived to work in the beet fields in the valley. There were forty some packed into one truck. They had come from the south to Minnesota. Arriving there they found there had been a mistake in the orders and they were routed back here.

Considering the ride they had, they were not a bad looking group at all. They were all ages and few of them could talk English. The leader, or boss, was a young fellow who wore an oil station cap and could talk English. He was a little extra nice looking and might be a catch for most any senorita. They contract to care for the beets by the acre, and so they say, the pay amounts to about $1.50 a day. They are expert beet workers however, and the women and men both work in the field. Children under fourteen cannot, and from fourteen to eighteen only eight hours.

The beet grower must furnish a cabin for them, with beds and stoves and guarantee the grocery bill for the first month, or until the first work check comes. The beet sugar company advances money for the labor if the beet grower wishes. It looks like a new crop in the valley.

Cook's Column.

At the school picnic last Friday, among the many other cakes and pies and pans of viands that looked anything but like starvation, there was a chocolate cake with frosting flavored with peanut butter. As soon as the fact became known that cake disappeared first, and that poor lady did not have one piece to take home. The ladies there remarked about it and a couple tablespoons of peanut butter will do the trick and the peanut butter flavoring works equally well with white frosting as it does with the chocolate.

Short Shavings.

Reading the boss' column sort of has me buffaloed. I never go fishing and of course that don't interest me, and then I never pay my subscription if I can help it. And in regard to making an engraving of my picture, I'll say that I am not particularly anxious to have it done. But if there was a guarantee connected with the machine, or if there was some politician who needed an engraving that you were a little dubious about, I would be willing to test the machine out.

Something Different

At last our part of the country is winning a few words from the authors. For a long time there have been no books to speak of with a mid-western background, excepting those of Bess Streeter Aldrich and Willa Cather. While Nebraska was a part of the pony express region, it was often told about in song and story, but then we were forgotten. Now we are being written about again. But it seems to be chiefly from the angle of pests and plagues and hardships. They write of our droughts, our big blizzards, our grasshoppers, the hardships of the early homesteaders, the hardships of raising sugar beets, and so on. But these books are interesting, and I should think would be particularly interesting to all who live in this region. There is "Second Hoeing", about a family and their beet raising in northern Colorado. There was "Old Jules", and his dreams of the flowers and fruit that might be raised in the sandhills south of Gordon and Rushville. There is "Slogum House," ably written by the same author, a Nebraska girl.

And the Saturday Evening Post just finished running a serial called Free Land, a homestead story by Rose Wilder Lane, the scene laid in the southern edge of South Dakota, reminding one much of the homesteading troubles in early-day Nebraska. And there are others. I hope the flavor of Nebraska left in the mouth of the reading public will not consist wholly of the tragedies of nature, dust, grasshoppers, floods, etc. Like the dismal quality associated with literature from Russia.

For Nebraska has a lot of beautiful views that are not often shown, like mountains and rocky coasts and caves. But we have a host of beautiful views of farm land, many quiet streams and lakes, tranquil beauty that is fine to live with day after day. The sandhills are often lovely, when they are green, when they

Possible Low Wheat and Corn Prices Worry Government's Farm Officials

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

WASHINGTON.—AAA officials are much more concerned over the threat of a "farmers' revolt" next fall because of possible low prices for wheat and corn than they are about the current dissatisfaction with this year's farm program. It would be embarrassing to the administration if such a demonstration were to coincide with the fall elections.

AGRICULTURE officials minimize the importance of farmer objections raised at this time. For one thing, they are not widespread. Most of them are raised against individual drastic cuts in acreage allotments which the administration explains were necessary if the farm program were to succeed. Cotton farmers are disgruntled because a bad price situation has resulted from last year's over-size crop. Some farmers have complained of difficulty in understanding the intricacies of the new program. Corn farmers, who because of the 1934 and 1936 droughts were not required to reduce acreage and are so now for the first time, are, in many cases, resentful of the innovation.

TOBACCO and rice planters join the chorus of voices raised against individual allotments. AAA officials admit there are bound to be inequities and instances of favoritism or discrimination in a program so big as to be unwieldy. County committees usually keep a small reserve of unallotted acreage with which to rectify mistakes and keep harmony in camp. Farm officials feel confident that the farmer generally can be "educated" to a happier acceptance of the part he is asked to play in the picture of future balanced farming. They depend on most farmers to become reconciled to their allotments in time, but they are aware that trouble is likely if the program doesn't keep prices up.

The Church and the State

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 22 Text: Mark 12:13-17, 28-34

SOME of those who possess ecclesiastical power have been too willing in the past to unscrupulously oppose those who fail to recognize their authority or go about Christian teaching without their official sanction. This in spite of the fact that such action amounts to a discrediting of Jesus Himself.

The Pharisees of the time of Jesus were very strict people. Most of the earnest, high-minded religious life of the time was among these Pharisees; but there was a tendency among them also, as there has been among strict religious people, to measure everybody by their own ideas and standards and to condemn those who were not orthodox, or with proper authority.

When Jesus came as a teacher, speaking to the people out of His own authority, and in some respects using a language to which the Pharisees were not accustomed, laying all the emphasis upon reality and very little upon form and doctrine, the Pharisees began to criticize Him; and when Jesus did not yield to their criticisms, they were aroused in opposition to Him.

So it was—we are told—that certain of the Pharisees and some of the Herodians sought to catch Him in His talk. They knew that many of their time were strongly opposed to the power of Rome, and it seemed that a very good way to trap Jesus would be to ask Him whether it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not. Jesus, knowing how hypocritical was the question, turned the matter against them by calling for a coin. When He asked whose image and superscription was on the coin, they could do nothing but reply, "Caesar's."

Jesus very naturally said, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

It is unfortunate that these words of Jesus have been persistently misunderstood. The implication has been that certain things belong to the state, and other things to God. Jesus was using the coin to trap these questioners, who had set out to trap Him. But underneath all question of man's recognition of the state is his primary duty to God. So it was that there came a time very quickly in the life of the early church when Christians had to deny the authority of Caesar where it conflicted with the authority of God.

It is this conflict that is again so strongly emphasized in our modern world.

It does not arise where the laws of a state are just and right. We should never have the question here in our land, when we have separation between church and state, but our very separation between church and state might lead to conflict if the state demanded of men something that was against their consciences.

As a matter of fact, our country is in far greater danger from people having too little conscience than it is from people being too conscientious. The tendency in all these matters is to resort to force and persecution where good judgment and concern for the welfare and liberty of others would provide easy solution.

QUIZ VISITS RURAL SCHOOLS

Last but far from least among schools of Valley county who have been visited during the 1937-38 term by the Quiz photographer and their pictures reproduced in the Quiz is the Vinton school, Dist. 23, taught by Miss Wilma Severns. Pupils at the school are: Back row, left to right—Elaine Gross, Lois Hansen, Shirley Hansen, Miss Severns; front row—Ray Gross, Harold King, Mary Ellen Marks, Eva King. One student, Thelma King, was absent when this picture was taken. It has been a pleasure to the Quiz force this year to print pictures of all Valley county's teachers and school children. We believe every school has been pictured but if we have inadvertently missed one, patrons of that school will convey a favor if they will immediately call our attention to the oversight so the picture may appear in our next issue.

Mrs. Madsen and Mrs. Mildred Roach of Clark, and Mrs. Hattie Blair whose home is in Washington state were guests Saturday in the E. E. Davis home. Mrs. Roach and Mrs. Blair are daughters of Uncle Marlon Davis who lived at Ord for many years. Mrs. Blair has been visiting her sister at Clark.

—Injured in an auto accident near York Monday, John Long, Jr., was brought home and that evening Dr. C. J. Miller reduced a compound fracture of both bones in Mr. Long's right forearm. He was given emergency treatment at a York hospital before coming to Ord.

—J. H. Whiting went up to Burwell Saturday evening and spent the night with his friends, the Schreiber brothers. He took time to look over the dam and lake, and voices the opinion that it has a great future as a pleasure resort.

—An eight pound girl named Janice Rae was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melia Saturday, Dr. W. J. Hemphill of North Loup in charge. Mrs. Melia is at the home of her mother, Mrs. Louise Zikmund. Mrs. Leota Underburg is the nurse in charge.

—For this week end we offer 150 extra special values in cotton house and street frocks, exquisitely styled, in sizes 12 to 52, at $1.00 each. Chase's Toggery. 8-11

—Mrs. Eddie Poncet and son of Modesto, Calif., arrived in Ord from Fremont, where she had been visiting relatives, and spent the time from Friday until Tuesday morning as a guest in the Daryl Hardenbrook home. From Ord she returned to California.

—Joe J. Novotny, a son of Joe Mike Novotny, was operated late Sunday evening by Drs. Miller, Smith and Round. He was suffering from a ruptured appendix and peritonitis. Tuesday his condition was said to be satisfactory though serious.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sternecker autoed to St. Paul and Dannebrog Monday, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Moore. The two ladies are sisters. On the way down they saw a number of men at work planting corn, but there were some heavy showers during the forenoon, and on the way back they saw only one man at work, and he had a rain coat on and was working in a heavy mist.

—Orville Sowl returned from a three months' trip to California Thursday evening. He said that this winter was an ideal time to see the state at its worst, and came back convinced that it is no place for a man to go to make a living unless he has some special line of work in which there would not be too much competition. The Sowls expect to move to Grand Island for the present on or about June 1, as the house they occupy is rented to Dr. and Mrs. John Round, effective that date.

Air Mail Notes

The committee which has been in charge of the sale and distribution of all mail envelopes reports that 3800 have already been sold and that the sale is continuing. The members of the committee are A. A. Wiegardt for the Chamber of Commerce, Horace Travis for the American Legion, and Guy Lemasters for the postoffice department.

Those who have not yet purchased their envelopes should see one of the members of this committee or purchase their supply at one of the three Ord drug stores. According to the committee, the response by the public during this sale has been remarkable, and the number of sales to date has exceeded their expectations.

The time to secure these letters and get them mailed is limited, as they must not be mailed later than very early Thursday morning to connect with the first air mail Thursday. Of course it will be possible to connect with the afternoon air mail up to noon or later.

Known By Its Paper.

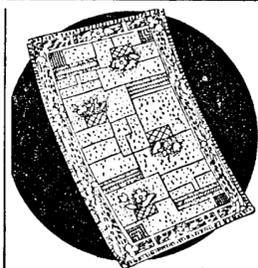

A badly printed, skimpy newspaper is a community's worse advertisement. But skimpy patronage can provide only a skimpy newspaper. That the JOURNAL is definitely not a skimpy newspaper is the best answer we can think of to the question of whether or not Fullerton business establishments appreciate a newspaper that is trying at all times to serve their interests to the utmost.—Nance County Journal.

Not So Gloomy.

Mr. Gallup's political prophecy says that if the election were held today the democrats would lose 80 congressional seats. The democrats could well afford to lose some of their so-called democratic congressmen without loss of party morale. Now if Mr. Gallup would go a step further and indicate just which democrats are to be defeated we might be reconciled to his gloomy prophecy.—Wahoo Democrat.

Arcadia News

Written by Mrs. Edith Bossen

The marriage of Miss Mary Caroline Waterbury, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Waterbury of Annsley, to William H. Bulger, youngest son of Mrs. Eva Bulger of Arcadia occurred on Sunday, May 8, 1938 at the Methodist church in Broken Bow at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. H. C. The business meeting was opened by the favorite song, "Count Your Many Blessings," selected by Mrs. Easterbrook followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Augusta Mathers. BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The hatching season is about over, and now is a good time to part with the old roosters. Young cockrels will fertilize eggs next season as well as the old birds, and it will cost less to feed them through the year.

Anyone can get more money for eggs during the summer by separating male birds from the flock. Male birds make fertile eggs which start to incubate as soon as they are laid in warm weather. Hatch spots develop, and these may become blood rings within two days. Blood ring eggs are unfit for food.

Nebraska eggs have a poor reputation, and are often discriminated against on eastern markets. One-third of the bad eggs going out of this state are partially hatched fertile eggs which have become warm enough to begin to incubate. Summer heat has the same effect on these eggs as the hen or incubator. Infertile eggs keep five times as long as fertile eggs in hot weather.

It costs as much to produce bad eggs as to produce good eggs. The loss from bad eggs comes back to the farmer in less demand and lowered egg prices.

Eggs belong to the same food class as milk and meat. They are almost as perishable. Dollars can be added to egg market returns by having clean nests, keeping the eggs cool, and making widows out of all the layers.

Poor Sportsmanship. What a poor new deal Governor Marland of Oklahoma demonstrated himself to be in his attempted snub for former president Hoover when our only ex-president visited that state. Can it be that discourtesy to an opponent is an asset in new deal circles?—Knoxville, Ia., Journal.

LOCAL NEWS

—Bill York came down from his Garfield county farm Thursday and paid one of his very infrequent visits to Ord. This was the third trip he had made since 1935.

—Clarence W. Wineteer, Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Matern and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Key, all of Burwell, were Grand Island visitors Tuesday.

—W. E. Rice and Mrs. Ida Steffin spent Wednesday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joe Kuklish and family. The small daughter was celebrating her second birthday.

—Mrs. Keep received a big box of lettuce, radishes, onions and roses from Walter Alvord one day last week. They were raised on Mr. Alvord's farm near Adrian, Mo., and were very fine.

—Those who bothered to stay up late Friday evening had the pleasure of seeing a perfect eclipse of the moon, which began about one o'clock, finished about three hours later, and was total for about an hour. Weather conditions were perfect, as there was not a cloud in the sky, at least, not in the Ord territory.

—John Hedge and Miss Celeste Bates of Lincoln stopped to spend a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen Sunday evening, enroute from Mason City to Lincoln.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Powell of Arnold, accompanied by Bud Dunn, Jimmie Morrow and Roland Potter, spent Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Yodehnal. Friday morning Mr. Powell and the boys competed in the state track meet. Mrs. Powell remained at the home of her parents until Sunday when Mr. Powell stopped for her on the return trip. Both Mr. and Mrs. Powell have recently been elected to teach in the Arnold schools again next year.

—E. H. Yodehnal of Iowa City, Ia., spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Yodehnal. He had come up from York where he had spent several days assisting his former employer, the Towle Motor company. He drove to York and from there took a bus for Iowa City.

—W. E. Rice, Mrs. Ida Steffin, Clarence Wineteer and Mrs. Ruth Rehder, all of Burwell, attended the picture show at the Ord theater Wednesday evening. Mr. Wineteer and Mrs. Rehder were returning from North Platte, where they had taken Mrs. Tom Owens and her youngest daughter. They had been called there by the news that another daughter, Viola Owens, was to undergo a major operation.

—Mr. and Mrs. Glen Potter arrived Thursday from Weston, Ill., and remained until Saturday visiting Mrs. Potter's mother, Mrs. John Reade. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Spethman of Weston, and Mrs. L. D. Burham of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived. The ladies, who are sisters of Mrs. Reade, will remain indefinitely, but Mr. Spethman left Sunday for home.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Heitz came down from Burwell Saturday, bringing their daughter, Mrs. Stanley Davenport, who left for her home in Nampa, Ida. She had been here three weeks visiting. They visited while here in the Bert LeMasters home. Mr. Heitz and Mrs. LeMasters are brother and sister.

—Mrs. Ella Lickly of Morris, Ill., arrived in Ord Saturday to be in attendance at the funeral of her nephew, Charles Lickly Sunday. Sunday she took Mrs. Charles Lickly up to her home in Holt county, where she expected to remain for a time, and also make a trip up into Dakota. She will return to Ord before going back home.

—Mrs. Spencer Waterman got back from Escondido, Calif., where she had been called by the serious illness of her mother. Spencer drove to Grand Island last Tuesday and brought her home. She left her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Oliver, somewhat improved in health. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecil Oliver, who had an operation several months ago, is not so well. She also visited her brothers, Dean Oliver at Escondido and Neil at Wilmar while she was there.

—Mrs. George Lange brought to the Quiz office clippings from Illinois papers telling of the honoring of nearly 400 boys at a special service in Chicago for their work as a part of the safety patrol. The youngsters hailed from 27 counties of Illinois and Indiana. Every one of the boys had won a medal for outstanding bravery. Mrs. Lange was especially interested because her grandson, Carl Mueller, 13-year-old boy of La Grange, Ill., and student in the St. John's parochial school, was one of the boys so honored. Carl had saved a first grade boy who had ducked under his outstretched arms and had run into the path of an oncoming car.

—In Monday's Believe It Or Not appears the story of the ship of the desert, a boat that once plied the waters of Goose lake in northern California, but is now resting on the dry bed of the lake. Jake Hoffman and O. B. Mutter were there about thirty years ago, at the time of the Seattle Exposition, and also were a part of the crowd that went up from Alturas, Calif., by way of Goose Lake and this boat to the land, which was located along the south edge of Oregon and was a part of the land of the Oregon Valley Land Company. At that time the lake was forty miles long, 8 to 12 miles wide, and forty feet deep in places. The town of Lakeview was located at the north end of the lake, and was accessible only by way of the lake. It had a population of 3,000 then, but it is now only a little over half that number, and a road now leads into it from the northwest.

NOTICE!

As Memorial Day is now approaching, and as there are to be appropriate services on that day, conducted by the American Legion, it is the desire and request of the Mayor of this city that you attend these services and by all of us so doing, we may pay a part of our obligation to those who have fallen and passed on and we may also pay the proper respect to those who are still with us, who have seen military service, and to those brave pioneers whose hair is turning silver, who have rendered to us a public service by their wise counsel and their splendid example of true patriotism and forbearance.

Parker & Watts Circus
One of World's Biggest

The circus: Lions, tigers, pumas, camels, elephants, clowns, acrobats, tumblers, peanuts, pink lemonade and horses, horses, horses. The great Parker & Watts circus will exhibit in Ord on Friday, May 20. With nearly 500 people traveling with the show, in addition to three score advance men, an official of the circus here last week furnished some statistics. Scores and scores of horses are carried, innumerable head of ring stock, a menagerie filled with cages and dens of rare and wild beasts, herds of elephants; in fact you will see every kind of an animal from the animal kingdom.

The menagerie of the Parker & Watts circus is one of the outstanding features and is nothing less than a travelling university of natural history worth driving many miles to see, which is included in the admission ticket to the circus without extra cost.

Twelve tents covering acres of ground are used to house this transient city. The performers represent the champion arenic stars from six foreign nations. As a prelude to the circus proper a beautiful spectacular pageant is presented entitled "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp" with all the charm, magic and romance which is a gorgeous glittering, condensed version of the Fairyland magic book. Superb beyond belief, indescribable, a triumph among colossal productions. It is the crowning spectacle in the long, eventful career of the Parker & Watts Circus.

Great companies of trained singers, orchestras of vast size, grand golden tongued organs, cymbals and trumpets will be heard. The Parker & Watts circus has spent countless dollars in building additional equipment for a grand free street parade stretching blocks in length with rumbling wagons of red and gold and scores of other vehicular apparatuses will be seen in the picturesque street parade. Cumbrous elephants, humping camels from the great desert and tooting steam calliope will invade the business district at high noon. Performance at 2 and 8 P. M., doors open one hour earlier. One ticket admits to circus, menagerie and a seat.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The hatching season is about over, and now is a good time to part with the old roosters. Young cockrels will fertilize eggs next season as well as the old birds, and it will cost less to feed them through the year.

Anyone can get more money for eggs during the summer by separating male birds from the flock. Male birds make fertile eggs which start to incubate as soon as they are laid in warm weather. Hatch spots develop, and these may become blood rings within two days. Blood ring eggs are unfit for food.

Nebraska eggs have a poor reputation, and are often discriminated against on eastern markets. One-third of the bad eggs going out of this state are partially hatched fertile eggs which have become warm enough to begin to incubate. Summer heat has the same effect on these eggs as the hen or incubator. Infertile eggs keep five times as long as fertile eggs in hot weather.

It costs as much to produce bad eggs as to produce good eggs. The loss from bad eggs comes back to the farmer in less demand and lowered egg prices.

Eggs belong to the same food class as milk and meat. They are almost as perishable. Dollars can be added to egg market returns by having clean nests, keeping the eggs cool, and making widows out of all the layers.

Poor Sportsmanship.

What a poor new deal Governor Marland of Oklahoma demonstrated himself to be in his attempted snub for former president Hoover when our only ex-president visited that state. Can it be that discourtesy to an opponent is an asset in new deal circles?—Knockville, Ia., Journal.

John G. Kellogg, An Early Settler, Dies In Pasadena, Calif.

Came to No. Loup Community in 1871; Funeral Held at Scotia Monday.

John Gage Kellogg was born at "Gages Corners" in Lake county, Ill., on Jan. 15, 1846 and died at his home in Pasadena, Calif., May 11, 1937 in his ninety-third year.

As a young man, Mr. Kellogg left his home in Illinois to become a pioneer in Nebraska, and in the fall of 1871 came with A. M. Stewart, S. C. Scott, Dan Benson and Alonzo Shephard into the North Loup valley to become one of the earliest settlers in this immediate vicinity. Of those who came in that early party he was the last survivor.

It was here that on Jan. 30, 1879 he was married to Isabelle Rose Scott, and together they lived on the Nebraska homestead for forty years. Here his children were born and here he participated in the development of a new country seeing it grow from rude beginnings to what it is today.

Nineteen years ago he and Mrs. Kellogg moved to Pasadena and there in 1929 they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. It was during a visit to the old home two years later that death came to Mrs. Kellogg, and she was buried in Mt. Hope cemetery that John Kellogg had helped lay out years before and in which he had planted pine trees. It seems particularly fitting that his last resting place should be there beside her in this community with which he has been so actively identified.

Most of the friends gathered for his farewell services knew John Kellogg in his Nebraska days, some perhaps have visited him recently in his Pasadena home. There on Jan. 15 of this year, his friends gathered to congratulate him on his ninety-second birthday, and during the next month he was able to read with interest the following books which they gave him, A Biography of Madam Curie, Amelia Earhart's Last Flight, and two novels, The Great American Family, Miss Bishop.

Not only did his mind remain keen but he kept physically active. Until the last two months of his life, he was a familiar figure on his corner, where he worked in his yard and greeted his neighbors as they passed by from day to day.

By all the friends both old and new he was loved and honored for his kindly disposition, his sterling integrity, high sense of justice and unfading wit and humor, whose children do, indeed, rise up and call him "blessed".

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from the Methodist church at Scotia by President Carrell of the Central College, assisted by Rev. C. L. Hill.

Rev. Hill said that since sixty-six years ago on May 13 when the first religious service was held in the valley across the river from the Kellogg homestead, Mr. Kellogg had always stood for the best interests of the colony and people, whether of his own faith or another. Mrs. Kellogg was a member of the board of trustees of the Friend's church of North Loup at its organization and Mr. Kellogg was for years a member of the school board.

Music was furnished by Mrs. Esther Babcock, Mrs. Ava Johnson, Dell Barber and Albert Babcock, with Mrs. Nina Johnson at the piano. Bearers were Otto Bartz, Clifton McClellan, Clyde Keown, Francis Vanskike, H. L. Klingensmith and Edwin Schudel.

Mr. Kellogg is survived by one son, Ashael of Chicago, who was with his father at the time of his death, and by four daughters, Mrs. Grace Smith of San Dimas, Calif., Mrs. Mary Peckham of Pittsburg, Pa., Florence and Portia of Pasadena, and one sister, Miss Hope Kellogg who has made her home with her brother for some time.

Mrs. Grace Smith and Portia accompanied the body here from California and Mrs. Mary Peckham met them in Grand Island Monday. All were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Klingensmith Monday night and Tuesday left for Omaha and Central City. Mrs. Peckham returned to Pennsylvania and the other ladies will go back to California in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartz, Mrs. Fred Bartz, C. W. and Fanny McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McClellan, Mrs. Sara Gogin, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schudel, Mrs. E. J. Babcock, Mrs. J. A. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Mark McCall and Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Hill were among the North Loup people who attended Mr. Kellogg's funeral at Scotia Monday.

dark horse. As a result they found themselves without a picture of Cetak winning in 10.3, but showed pictures of Merry winning in 10.4 in class B, and Bengier winning in 10.9 in class C. Cetak's only picture appeared among the gold medal winners in Monday's State Journal.

Allen Zikmund made a fine toss of the discus Friday to remain in the ranks of the qualifiers, and boosted his mark Saturday to 120 feet to take second place in the finals. The Ord relay team of Hughes, Dahlin, Barnes and Cetak, ran the 880 yard event in 1 min. 35 sec. to take fourth place. Jones, distance runner, ran up against heavy competition and failed to place.

The Ord athletes accounted for 14 points to place fourth in Class A. Scottsbluff came first with 23 1/2 points, Fremont second with 22 1/2 points, Omaha Central third with 18 points. Trailing Ord were Lincoln, Lexington, Omaha Benson, Alliance, Madison, Beatrice, North Platte, Auburn, McCook, Kearney, Omaha Tech, Grand Island, Norfolk, Albion and Fairbury, in the order named.

In the all-around competition Ord placed sixth with 7 1/2 points, all of which were accounted for by Cetak, who was second only to Henry Rohn of Fremont and Merry of Bayard, each of whom had 3 points. Schools finishing ahead of Ord in the final figures were Bayard, Fremont, Nelson, Mitchell, and Gothenburg, in the order named. Burwell placed fifth in class C, and St. Paul eighth and Arcadia tenth in class B. St. Paul and Arcadia placed in the final figures, but Burwell lost, out.

Walther League Rally Is Held at Kearney

Eighteen members of the St. John's Walther League of Mira Valley drove to Kearney Sunday where they attended the annual spring rally of Zone 11. The invitation of Ord delegates to hold the fall meeting in Ord was accepted and this rally will include not only Walther leagues but also Bible schools of Zone 11.

At the Kearney meeting the morning inspirational services were conducted by Rev. E. O. Potratz, pastor of Zion Evangelical church. The morning service was broadcast.

At the afternoon business session Otto Ruff, of Kearney, was re-elected president, Mr. Rathke of Buffalo as vice-president and A. R. Brandhorst of Kearney secretary-treasurer. Rev. O. F. W. Pittack spoke on behalf of the district. A concert by the State Teachers college a capella choir under the direction of D. E. Appelman was very well rendered. Later delegates were taken on a motorized tour of the Kearney parks and state institutions by the chief of police.

A 5-act comedy, "The Man in the Green Shirt," was presented in the evening by the Zion Walther league.

The regular mid-month meeting of the Loup Valley Camera club was held Monday night at Syl Furtak's Sign Shop, with a fairly good attendance in spite of the threatening weather. At this meeting a number of pictures taken by the members were brought in for criticism, many of them being fine examples of the photographer's art.

Of special interest was a picture taken by Kendall Wiegardt at the Ord Theater at the time the Dionno quintets were thrown upon the screen. This picture was taken under rather difficult conditions, but the result was very satisfactory. The assignment for the next picture criticism meeting, held the second Monday in June, will be pictures of water in any form, the pictures to be taken between now and then.

Loup Valley Camera Club Holds Meeting

At class night the valedictorian's address will be given by Miss Opal Miller and the salutatory by Miss Jean Ferguson. The class poem is to be read by Miss Virginia Sack, the class history given by Miss Lillian Karty, the class will be Miss Virginia Davis and the class prophecy by Miss Jane Ferguson. Other numbers on class night will include the introduction by Robert Williamson, a cornet solo by Lloyd Sack, a vocal solo by Jerine Burrows, a piano solo by Ruth Auble and selections by a mixed quartette—Virginia Sack, Vernon Malopelzky, Ruth Auble and Arden Clark. Gerald Clark will present the Haskell-Melia award.

Judge Bayard H. Paine, of the Nebraska supreme court, is to give the commencement address next Thursday, May 26, as previously announced.

Joe Zikmund, Mayor of Brainard, Is Ord Visitor

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zikmund of Brainard drove up to Ord Saturday and visited until Monday with Mrs. Zikmund's brother, J. T. Knezacek and husband. They had driven up to Grand Island Friday evening, where Mr. Zikmund was scheduled to referee the wrestling match between John Pesek and Steve Savage. There was a large crowd present, but because of the weather conditions, the doctors would not permit the match to be held, as it was an outdoor affair at Burnett park.

Mr. Zikmund had frequently heard of the Quiz as one of the outstanding newspaper plants of the state, and made a call and looked over the entire plant. He was highly pleased with everything he saw and stated that the reports he had heard had not been over rated. Mr. Zikmund was formerly a wrestler, and is called to officiate as referee in many of the top notch events in this section of the country. He has been mayor of Brainard for several years.

Commencement Program Thursday Ends School Year

Judge B. H. Paine to Speak, 68 Ord Students Will Get High School Diplomas.

For sixty-eight Ord boys and girls, Thursday, May 26 is a most important date, for it marks the close of their high school careers. At the high school auditorium, at 8 o'clock in the morning, diplomas will be presented to this group of 68 by Dr. C. J. Miller, president of the board of education, after a commencement program featured by the address of the Hon. Bayard H. Paine, justice of the Supreme court of Nebraska. The past week has been a busy one for the Ord graduates, with the junior-senior banquet Thursday, baccalaureate sermon Sunday by Rev. Mearl C. Smith, a tea for senior girls given by the Business and Professional Women's club Sunday afternoon, the class picnic Monday, class night Tuesday and various smaller affairs filling in the odd moments.

But for all the graduates, commencement exercises Thursday, with actual presentation of diplomas, is the culminating event of the year and of their school lives.

The commencement program will start with the processional played by the high school orchestra while seniors, in caps and gowns, march into the auditorium. The invocation will be given by Rev. Clarence Jensen and a mixed vocal group will sing Cadman's "Service."

Then comes Judge Paine's address, followed by a selection by a clarinet group, Mendelssohn's "Carnetia," Fred L. Stoddard, high school principal, will present the class, and awards will be made by Dr. Miller.

Four honor students will receive special awards: Miss Opal Miller, valedictorian, who will receive a scholarship good at any of Nebraska's church colleges; Miss Jane Ferguson, salutatorian, who will receive a scholarship to any of the normal colleges; Lonnie Nelson, winner of the $100 Union Pacific scholarship in agriculture; and

Parker & Watts Show Fails To Reach Ord

It was a source of keen disappointment to the little folks, as well as to a lot of people not so little, when the Parker & Watts circus failed to arrive Friday to fill their scheduled engagement in Ord. The cook tent arrived during the night and was ready for business early in the morning, but they later got word to tear it down and move on to their next stop, Broken Bow.

Many and conflicting rumors were afloat as to the reason, and to find out what the management had to say, Tom Springer, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, sent them a telegram asking for the facts. He received the following in reply:

"Could not get heavy trucks over slippery hill roads. Very sorry unable to show in Ord and are putting Ord on our itinerary for next year. Sheriff did not interfere in any manner. Regret that such rumor was started. Parker & Watts Circus."

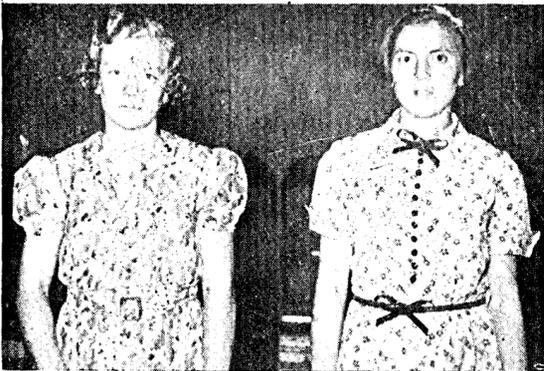

The slippery hills alluded to were north between Midway and Elba, it is understood. However, other trucks passed over this same stretch of road that morning, and did not know that it was slippery. If so they should have been no more slippery nor difficult to get over than the same type of hills west of Midway on No. 16 over which they passed to get to Broken Bow.

There was a large crowd already in Ord, and hundreds more would have come had the word not been broadcast that the show was not coming. Local people did what they could to entertain the disappointed visitors. Director Dean Duncan had the Ord high school band out on the street at about 2:00 p. m., and they entertained with music for an hour. Manager M. Blomend put on a special matinee at the Ord Theater, and helped entertain the crowd, all of which helped take away the sting of disappointment.

Tornado Wrecks Pete Rasmussen Buildings

What apparently was a small tornado passed through the territory north of Ord last Tuesday evening. At the Pete Rasmussen place it took the roof off the garage and tore down several sheds doing quite a lot of damage. It was accompanied by a fine rain, which was much heavier further north. The same evening a tornado passed through the north part of Garfield and Wheeler counties, about ten miles south of Chambers, doing about $50,000 worth of damage. John Boettger, formerly of Ord, lives in this section, but doubtless escaped damage, as his relatives have had no report from him at this time.

Best 8th Grader and Girl Who Never Missed

Here are pictured two of Valley county's eighth grade graduates who were honored at promotion exercises held in Ord Monday evening. At the left is Miss Mary Fish, whose scholastic average of 97.8-14ths was the highest among 114 graduates. At the right is Doris Nelson, who was never absent nor tardy from school during eight years of attendance at District 20.

Mary Fish Winner County's Highest 8th Grade Honors

Dist. 14 Girl Had Average of 97.8/14ths; 114 Students Given Diplomas Monday.

Mary Fish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Devillo Fish and student at District 14 taught by Mrs. Helen Sevensen, was honored at Valley county's 8th grade graduation program Monday evening as the best 8th grade student among the county's 114 graduates. Mary had an average of 97.8-14ths in all her studies.

The exercises for 8th grade graduates were held at the Ord high school auditorium, which was crowded with parents and friends of the graduates.

Miss Wilma Severns played the processional while graduates marched in, and Rev. Mearl Young gave the invocation. Principal feature, readings by Mrs. Sara Hawkins of the dramatic department, Midland College of Fremont, was interspersed with a vocal solo by Jerrine Burrows and selections by the various Ord high school music units, including the boys' quartet, the clarinet quartet, the brass sextet and a sousaphone solo by Ruth Auble.

Introduction of honor students and presentation of awards and the presentation of diplomas by Miss Clara McClatchey, county superintendent of schools, closed the program.

Graduates, in addition to the honor students named above, are listed here. Those whose names are preceded by one star completed all examinations in April and those with two stars had average grades between 90 and 94 per cent:

Miss Evelyn Sharp Honored at Rotary

At the dinner of the Ord Rotary club Monday evening, Miss Evelyn Sharp and her mother, Mrs. J. E. Sharp, were guests of James Misko, who introduced both and in a tribute to Miss Sharp outlined the steps she has taken in becoming the nation's youngest aviatrix holding a commercial pilot's license. After studying under Jack Jefford, the Ord girl entered a Lincoln flying school and crowded twelve months' work into four months in studying for her license, which she holds at the age of 18. When Evelyn was 15 1/2 years old, said Mr. Misko, she secured not granted to students younger than 16, and over since she had been America's youngest licensed aviatrix. Rotarians gave an ovation to Miss Sharp after Mr. Misko's introduction, and she was again applauded when she said that Ord always will be her home and that she hopes to bring fame to this city by her achievements in aviation, which she will make her life's work.

Other guests of Rotarians Monday evening were Drs. C. J. Miller and J. N. Round, who were introduced by Clarence Davis and responded briefly.

Decoration Day Services Monday

At the close of Rev. Smith's talk the high school quartet will sing a selection, which will be followed by the salute to the dead, by the firing squad, the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the band, and the sounding of "taps." All are cordially invited to be present at this service.

Arcadia Girl Winner in Nat'l Music Event

MAVIS WARDEN.

Miss Mavis Warden, 15-year-old daughter of Editor and Mrs. Stanley B. Warden of Arcadia, was Valley county's only winner of a "highly superior" rating at the national music contest held recently in Omaha. Moreover, the Arcadia girl was the only "highly superior" winner in the medium voice group in which she competed.

Miss Warden sang Mozart's "Alleluja," for her vocal solo and 21 other girls sang in the same contest. Of the group 12 rated "excellent," four "superior" and Miss Warden "highly superior," the foremost ranking given by Noble Cain, director of the NBC capella choir in Chicago, who was the judge. Miss Elizabeth Ockerman, director of music in the Arcadia schools, played Miss Warden's accompaniment.

Floyd Beranek Wins Lehn & Fink Medal

Floyd Beranek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. Beranek of Ord, was honor guest at a banquet of the University of Nebraska college of pharmacy last week and was presented with a gold medal offered annually by Lehn & Fink, nationally known pharmaceutical manufacturers, to the pharmacy college senior who led his class scholastically during his four year course. Floyd having the highest average in the pharmacy college for four years, was presented with the medal. Commencement exercises at the University will be held Monday, May 30, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed F. Beranek and daughter Mary plan to attend.

Letters Sent Long Distance From Ord

Postmaster Alfred L. Hill reports two long distance air mail letters went out of Ord by the first air mail Thursday. One went to Shanghai, China, and the other to Burma, India, and each required 70c postage. Archie Bradt received a letter mailed at Red Cloud at 8:30 a. m. and which came to Ord in the mail plane 2 1/2 hours later. It was pouched to Grand Island, handled there and still made an average speed of 60 miles per hour for the total elapsed time.

Hopper Poisoning Campaign Starts This Week--Dale

Farm Bureau Puts Men To Work Mixing Bait Tuesday; To Cost 20c Per Bag.

A grasshopper poisoning campaign is expected to start in Valley county this week, said County Agent C. C. Dale Tuesday as four men employed by the farm bureau started mixing the poison bait at the Blessing stockyards. Grasshopper hatching is well under way and now is the time farmers will realize most benefit from spreading the bait, Dale believes. Full directions for efficient poisoning may be secured at Dale's office in the court house.

Mixture being used is the standard one used last year—sawdust, bran, and sodium arsenate—but to it is being added a quantity of molasses so farmers who wish to may use the bait for cutworm control as well as to poison grasshoppers. For cutworms the bait is spread in the fields, for grasshoppers it is spread along the fence rows.

Ingredients used in the bait are furnished free by the government and only cost to the farmer is cost of mixing, for bags, storage, etc. Cost will be about 20c per 50 lb. bag, possibly a trifle less, says County Agent Dale.

Only a few orders for grasshopper bait are now on file and farmers who wish the poison should place their orders at once, as only enough bait will be mixed now to supply the demand.

Ord's Dog Poisoner Now Being Sought

A week ago Friday Ed Michalek's dog became violently ill and was taken to the McGinnis and Ferguson veterinary hospital, where it expired almost immediately. Dr. J. W. McGinnis made an examination and stated that it was a clear case of strychnine poisoning. The Joe Puncchoir dog also showed symptoms of poisoning the same day, but prompt action saved her life. Strychnine was also used in this case. A chicken in the same neighborhood also died from the same cause.

Very little was said about the matter at the time, the authorities hoping to be able to locate the miscreant who would commit such an atrocious act. It is understood that the case is not yet closed, and that it is possible some action may yet be taken. It is understood that both dogs were carrying their 1938 tags and were thus entitled to protection. But there is no protection against a criminal who will put out poison for his neighbor's dogs and other animals to pick up. There are little children in the same part of town who play out of doors, and it would be an easy matter for them to pick up poison thus scattered. A death in such a case would be a plain case of first degree murder. In the eyes of the law there is no one so despicable as the person who strikes in the dark, whether his victims be animals or human beings. It is hoped that the identity of the poisoner may yet be learned.

Poppies To Be Sold Saturday, May 28th

For the past week or more posters have been displayed in the windows of Ord business houses, boosting the sale of poppies. May 28. These posters were made by the Ord grade and junior high students, and prizes were awarded by the Ladies Auxiliary for the best ones. The work of these artists is highly commendable, and it is well worth your while to stop and look them over. Next Saturday is the day when poppies will be sold. Mrs. Bob Hall is in charge of the work, and will be assisted by a group of ladies, and also by a number of little girls. This is the system that has been used in the past, and seems to meet with public approval. The need of funds is greater this year than ever, so do not fail to buy a poppy on Poppy Day.

—Word from Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark is to the effect that they hope to be back home from Excelsior Springs Saturday of this week.

2,500 Letters Mailed Here Thursday As Evelyn Sharp Makes First Air Mail Flights in the History of Ord

The Air Mail Flight in Pictures—

From the Quiz camera come these views of Ord's first air mail flight Thursday. In the top picture Postmaster A. L. Hill hands the pouch of letters to Evelyn Sharp, just before she took off on her morning flight. In the middle picture Mark Tolten, postoffice clerk in charge of air mail, sorts part of the letters mailed by Ordites, preparatory to tying them in bundles to go into the mail pouches. In the lower picture Miss Clara McClatchey, president of the Business and Professional Women's club, is shown presenting a gold locket to Evelyn, who is an honorary member of the club.

Jorgensen Files For Supervisor

Henry Jorgensen threw his hat into the political ring last week when he filed for supervisor in the first district, comprising Noble, Elgin and Eureka townships. Mr. Jorgensen is running on the democratic ticket, and so far is opposed by the present incumbent, Joe Jablonski. Henry is at present a member of the fair board, but this is his first bid for elective office.

Joseph V. Novotny, 30, Dies in Ord Hospital

A ruptured appendix, followed by peritonitis, took the life Saturday, May 21, of Joseph V. Novotny, 30, who died in the Ord hospital after a five day illness following operative treatment. Surgeons gave him three blood transfusions in an effort to save his life but a toxic condition developed and he passed away. Funeral rites were held at Geranium Catholic church Monday, Father Szeszeny singing solemn requiem high mass, and interment was in the Ord Catholic cemetery. Father Lawler assisted Father Szeszeny in conducting the last rites.

Mr. Novotny was born in Lucec-Kraj, Czechoslovakia, on May 20, 1908 and at the age of 2 came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mike Novotny, to the United States. His entire life was spent in Valley county, where he has helped his father in farming since he reached manhood. The respect and affection of the whole community was his.

Besides his parents he is mourned by three sisters, Mrs. James Lipert, of Plattsmouth, Mrs. Paul Koudeika, of Clarkston, and Lillian, of Ord and by two brothers, James, of Grand Island, and John, whose home is here but who had been in California, returning only a few hours before his brother's death. Five nieces and a host of friends also mourn him.

First Band Concert To Be Given June 1

Dean S. Duncan, director of the Ord band, announces that the first concert of the season will be given from the front of the Valley county court house next Wednesday evening, June 1. He promises the Quiz a copy of the program to be printed next week.

Morn Was Foggy But Ord Flights Went on Schedule

Cushing Plane Grounded Here, Mail from Other Points Brought by Auto.

National air mail week now is history, and Ord's participation in it must be written into the history books as an unqualified success.

Twice on Thursday the little orange-colored monoplane flown by Miss Evelyn Sharp buzzed away from the Ord airport with sizeable pouches of letters mailed by Ordites to friends and relatives scattered all over the United States and even in foreign countries. Twice Miss Sharp flew back to Ord, once with a load of mail, and not a single untoward incident marred either flight. So calmly did she take her history-making task that seemingly she might have been "flying the mail" for many years.

Fog cloaked the government-licensed airport in the Mortensen pasture at 7:00 a. m., when Miss Sharp was due to arrive to pick up her first pay load. The youthful pilot, granted an unrestricted commercial license only a few days before by United States inspectors, thereby becoming the nation's youngest aviatrix, could not find the landing field in the fog, so she flew back to North Loup and refueled. Then she again flew to Ord, this time finding a hole in the fog and landing her plane safely.

About 100 people were there to greet her, including Postmaster Alfred L. Hill, assistant postmaster Guy LeMasters, and clerks Roy Severson and Dale Norman. The postmaster's car, with its pouch of air mail letters, was marked by having the U. S. flag draped across its top.

When Evelyn stepped out of the plane she was greeted on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce by Alfred Wiegardt, secretary, by Tom Springer, commander of the American Legion post, and by Miss Viola Crouch, president of the Business and Professional Women's club, of which she is an honorary member. Also present were E. L. Kokke, representing the Loup Valley Agricultural Society, Miss Clara McClatchey, county superintendent of schools, and many others.

Wearing breeches, boots and jacket of the type usually worn by air mail pilots, but with a colorful bandana tied across her hair as a concession to her sex, the little Ord girl who has done so much to make Ord famous was photographed by press photographers and members of the Loup Valley Camera club.

Immediately after her arrival, Miss Sharp was presented by the Business and Professional Women's club with a gold locket and chain, the presentation being made by Miss Crouch. Mail Clerk Severson presented her with several air mail letters to be addressed by her personally.

As there was practically no wind Miss Sharp landed her plane from the north and a few minutes later, the brief ceremony over, she took over for the south with a 33-pound sack of air mail letters. The take-off time was 7:50 a. m., twenty minutes behind schedule.

As soon as Miss Sharp left, cars started to leave the field but another plane was seen coming in so many people returned to greet Frank Cushing and Lawrence Enzinger of Hastings, pilots of the Grand Island-Spalding-Burwell

Fan Letters Do Not Worry Evelyn Sharp

Since Miss Evelyn Sharp received her transport license, and especially since she flew the air mail as a part of the national celebration, she has been receiving dozens of letters every day from fans all over the country. To date she has received about 150 letters since she flew the mail Thursday, and they are from all parts of Nebraska, and from practically every state in the Union.

She is especially proud of two letters, one from Mrs. Roosevelt and the other from Governor Cochran, but she thinks just as much of the ones she has received from more humble admirers. She has a book she prizes very highly. It is a copy of the Airpost Journal, a stamp collectors' magazine, which contains her picture and the story of her being air mail pilot for a day.

Already she is finding herself in demand to fly at different places, and has accepted an offer to fly at Yankton, S. D. next Sunday. The following Sunday she will fly at Norfolk. She has received a large number of offers from all parts of the country, but is checking them over carefully before accepting any of them.

THE MEASURE OF MAN.

"Don't measure a man by the clothes he wears
As he walks our busy thoroughfares:
For clothes wear out, or get too small,
Some people wear no clothes at all:
There's a heap of truth in the poet's words:
'Fine feathers do not make fine birds'."

Truly great men seldom come from the top of the heap. The clever gambler knows how and when to deal a card from the bottom of the deck. Fate just as frequently deals from the bottom of the deck in choosing men of destiny. Occasionally a man reared in the lap of luxury may make his mark in the world, but as a rule complications of wealth and opportunity are too difficult to overcome.

The man from the humble walks of life finds it easy to rise for the very good reason that he is already at the bottom, and can't go down. There is only one direction in which he can go, and that is up. Many fall to rise, partly because they do not have the opportunity, but more because they do not have the ambition. But given the ambition and reasonable chance, a man is bound to rise.

On the other hand, the man who is born in the lap of luxury is more to be pitied than blamed. He is not responsible for his environment. He has always been surrounded by conditions that tend to kill any latent ambition that he may have. Further, since he is relatively near the top, he finds it easier to go down than up. He may have ten chances to one that comes the way of the poor man, but he does not see them.

We do not know why it is that so many men rise from the depths to positions of great responsibility, but history shows us that it is so. For every one born to wealth and position who made good it is easy to find ten who climbed up from the depths. From this we must conclude that the opportunity is not so essential as the ambition to better one's self. Ambition may make the opportunity, but the opportunity seldom whets the ambition.

To attain a worthy success in life a man's ambition must be for things worth while. Some of the greatest men in history were great successes in their chosen field, but they were rank failures in the eyes of the world. Alexander set out to conquer the world, and attained his purpose. Yet in the height of his success he fell a victim to his depraved appetite. He did not start from the bottom. Had he done so, he might have had a worthier ambition in life.

Like Alexander, Julius Caesar saw nothing but worlds to be conquered, for he was born a patrician and his greatest ambition was to rule the rabble. He died from the knife thrust of the assassin, but not until he had given the world the Julian calendar, which was of more practical value than all the wars he carried on. His Commentaries are considered among the most valuable records compiled in his time.

Napoleon did not come from the bottom of the heap, but of a family of moderate wealth, who were able to satisfy his desire to become a great warrior. He spent the greater part of his life in wars of conquest, carried on more for the glory of Napoleon than for the benefit of humanity, and ended his days a prisoner on the island of St. Helena. His great campaigns did much to depopulate and impoverish Europe, but his Code Napoleon gave to the world a great set of laws.

Columbus came from the bottom of the deck. His father was a wool comber. He was so poor that the exact location of his birthplace is a matter of doubt, and he died in such obscurity that the place where his bones lie is still in dispute. But from that obscure beginning he rose to be the greatest explorer of all time, and to be of more real service to the world than a hundred great warriors have been.

George Washington, belonged neither to the very poor nor the very rich, but was born of parents of moderate wealth. He had the natural ambition to do things worth while, and the family had money enough to equip him for the position he wished to occupy. If he had been a man of Napoleon's stamp, he would either have sided with England, or he would have been the first Emperor of America.

But the American who truly came from the bottom of the deck, and who rose to the greatest height was Abraham Lincoln. He was an instrument in the hands of God to blast slavery from our land and leave the United States a united people. He too died by an assassin's hand, but not until he had risen from the lowest depths to the highest position in the gift of the people, and his example will ever be an incentive to youth to accomplish higher and nobler purposes. The measure of a man is not where he starts, for that is a province over which he has no control. The things that really count are how far he travels, and in what direction. It is not always a pleasant task to do what is right, for he who faces toward the sun must of necessity see a multitude of shadows. It is not easy to be forever climbing the hill, but the view that unfolds before you when you reach the top amply repays you for the toll in the heat of the day.

Two Chickens, Two Shirts.

(Norfolk Daily News.)
A postal card received by a Norfolk man from a friend in Lincoln carried a lesson in modern economics so clear and simple that it is repeated for the benefit of The News readers. Here it is:

A MODERN FABLE.
Once upon a time there was a farmer who sold two chickens. With the proceeds he bought two shirts.

So the farmer had two shirts and the city man had two chickens. Then came along the New Deal, and told the farmer he should get more money for his chickens by making them scarcer—he must not raise so many, and then he would get more income. The New Deal also told the working man in the city that he must work fewer hours and get more money for making fewer shirts. That, of course, caused shirts to cost more.

Then the farmer brought one chicken to market. He got as much money for it as he had previously gotten for two chickens. He felt fine. He went to buy some shirts, but he found that shirts had also doubled in price. So he got one shirt.

Now the farmer has one shirt and the city man has one chicken, whereas without the New Deal the farmer could have had two shirts and the city man could have had two chickens.

This, boys and girls, is called "the more abundant life."

Something Different

Some of the boys at the big music contest in Omaha found out that Jack Dempsey was staying at the Castle hotel also. Wild to see or touch or speak to this idol of boyhood, they tried to contact this idol of boyhood.

Harry James McBeth attempted to call the big mauler on the telephone, but was very disappointed to learn that the management had strict orders not to ring that room. The famous Dempsey was either there incognito or was attempting hood, they tried to contact him.

Recently I said to a friend that I had read stories of mothers who never raised their voices while raising their children, but I had never known anyone who was able to do it. My voice goes up and down like the whine of a buzz saw. Someone promptly spoke up, telling of a neighbor who had four children and controlled them well, but always calmly and without showing excitement.

Then came the argument. Another young woman said she wouldn't care to be the kind of a mother who never raised her voice, as she was afraid it would make life too colorless for the children. And she didn't think they would enjoy having such a phlegmatic mother. What do you think?

Out in Alliance they have one idea which I consider well worth copying. I wish we could do it in Ord.

Come spring every year, they examine school children and recommend needed attention in the way of eyes, tonsils, what-not. But more unusual, they examine also the four and one-half year olds who will be kindergarteners in the fall, and also try to see that these smaller children are started at school while in the pink of condition.

Our doctors have been splendid to do as much for Ord school children as they have. It is fine to think how well protected they are against diphtheria, for example. It is fine to know that Dr. Parkins has studied the lighting of the Ord

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

A New Program.
I heard a person suggest the other day, that the government, in that they are in the pump priming business again and seem to be determined to put money out in trillions, institute a car conservation program along with the soil conservation scheme.

Conservation is hardly the right word so perhaps a Car Replacement program would be better. The law seems to require now that all cars, not relatively new, without windshield wipers and other nick-nacks be put into discard, so a program of that nature would be very welcome.

It might be run along the same line as the agriculture program. Money might be put out to every car owner to buy a new car with, and the stipulation might be something to the effect that he could or couldn't (it wouldn't matter which) drive his car over so many trillion miles.

Now a program of this sort has many advantages even over the Soil Conservation program. In place of raising cane as the farmers are resenting so much about in that they cannot understand what good so much cane raising will do for anyone, if we took our new financed car out and raised cane all over the country, the raisers would at least be having some fun out of it, besides helping the gasoline industry.

It would put thousands (no trillions) of old cars in the junk heaps to be made into ammunition for the Japs and Spaniards, and would put trillions of men at work building new roads, cars and pumping (already primed) gasoline into the cars. It would put trillions of dollars out into the country so people could start earning and start paying taxes so as to balance the budget for this program, that some say will take a trillion years to pay. It would come as near an equal distribution of the treasury as any method yet devised.

There is only one objection to this program that I have heard voiced. If everyone took advantage of this program, it is wonderful who is going to have time to stay at home and work with all the cane there is to be raised.

The Coming Word.
I presume you wonder why I use the word trillion. A circus man in town the other day posting bills explained it to me. He said we use to talk in millions and billions but Franklin Roosevelt has started us to using trillions. That is the coming word.

He said, "I voted for him once, —maybe the other man wouldn't have done any better, but he at least wouldn't have piled up debts for our grandchildren to pay. If I had a chance I'd vote for the other fellow now to start paying off."

Much Wind, No Water.
Like the man who bought a motor and then had to get a car to go with it is the tale revealed this week concerning one of Blair's better-known street corner farmers. Eight years ago, when prices were down to bedrock, this "farmer" ran across a spectacular bargain—a windmill for only $75. He bought it and set it up on his farm. For eight summers now the windmill has fanned the breezes idly, waiting for a well to be dug underneath it!—Blair Pilot-Tribune.

Looks Like the End.
And looking at the Agriculture Soil Conservation program in a more serious light, the whole thing appears like it is going to be a complete failure in this section of the state at least. The corn acreage has been so drastically cut down by the committee, it seems like, most of the men are not signing up. Almost every other man you meet says he just can't do it. One man on a quarter was allotted only fifteen acres of corn and fifty of cane. All such men are not signing besides

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

High Production Forebodes Trouble for Government's New Farm Program

WASHINGTON—All the signals indicate trouble ahead for the new farm program. It provides for national acreage allotments with bonuses to farmers who voluntarily comply. But if production overruns the boundaries set by AAA, farmers will be asked to vote on compulsory marketing quotas.

The necessity for this step, with the penalties it will impose on farmers who sell in excess of their individual quotas, may appear when several of the major commodities are harvested. NO marketing quota is provided for the 1938 wheat crop. But the supply is estimated at 1,150,000,000 bushels, which will mean a carry over of 400,000,000 bushels. The normal supply is about 900,000,000 bushels so wheat loans on the 1938 crop would seem inevitable if a price slump is to be prevented.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

A new poison-bait compound for grasshoppers was developed last year by the Wisconsin station. It is said to be just as effective as the bran-molasses mixture, and has the advantage of being cheaper where sawdust is plentiful.

This formula consists of 1 bushel of sawdust, 1 gallon of whey from cheese factories, and 1 pound of arsenic. The sawdust and arsenic are thoroughly mixed together. Then the whey and enough water are added to make a wet, crumbly mass that can be broadcast easily.

The chief advantage of the above formula for this state is that no farm animals or chickens will eat it. The 'hopper poison which the government furnishes here is about as cheap, but may injure animals if left on a pile.

Whatever poison is used, the cheapest and best job can be done by scattering it early in the season. A hundred pounds spread in May or June will kill as many grasshoppers as a ton later on. And there will be plenty of grasshoppers to destroy, as they are hatching nicely.

Poison bait sometimes fails, but it is the best way of eradicating grasshoppers that has been developed so far. If put out properly and persistently, it will generally do the job.

There may be plenty of weeds for the grasshoppers to feed on this summer. But if the pests are not destroyed, they will lay eggs next fall and cause another epidemic in 1939.

Strips of sorghum crops planted around cornfields will help to keep the 'hoppers out. Grasshoppers will not eat sorghum if they can find anything else to feed on.

The Personal Factor in Religion

The Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for May 29. Text: Mark 14, 3-11; 27-31.

DEEP, intriguing questions with a significant application to modern life are raised in the New Testament story of the alabaster box which a grateful woman presented to Jesus. They involve a dramatic presentation of personal servitude to Christ.

Here is this story of the woman who anointed Jesus with precious ointment as He was being entertained at the house of Simon, the leper, in Bethany. What deep, and in a measure difficult, questions it raises, and yet how closely related they are to all of life in every age!

The alabaster cruse of ointment of pure nard, which the woman brought, was very costly, and of course there was great indignation among those who murmured about the waste of such precious stuff.

"It might have been sold," they said, "for above 300 shillings, and given to the poor." Instead of complaining to Jesus, they evidently addressed and abused the poor woman. But Jesus heard their murmurings and interfered. Surely the Master who had such concern for the poor would rebuke her and would tell her that she could have made better use of the ointment. But, no! Jesus commended her for what she had done. He looked beyond the material aspects of the thing to the spirit of what the woman had done and to her purpose.

It is doubtful whether these disciples who murmured

Legion Does Nicely On Air Mail Sales

As is generally known, the National American Legion co-operated with the Postoffice Department in the observation of Air Mail Week, and for this reason the Ord American Legion post co-operated with the Ord postoffice in the sale of envelopes, cachets and enclosures to be used for Ord's first air mail.

The public co-operated wonderfully in this work, the sales exceeding the committee's expectations. These were sold at a small profit, and it is only fair that the public should know how much net profit was made, and to what use it will be put. A. A. Wiegardt states that a total of about forty dollars was made, which will be expended as follows:

First, there is the item of $5.00 to pay on gasoline for the plane. Next, a part of the money will be used in sending Don Dahlin to the Boy's State at Lincoln in June. Then, as is well known, Ord has a junior Legion ball team this year, and this will require the expenditure of funds for its support.

The statement was made one day recently that the American Legion should have plenty of funds, when each of nearly one hundred members paid in $3.00 as membership fees. This is true, but it is also true that two of those dollars paid by each member go to the National organization, leaving a total of less than $100.00 per year left at home from this source.

You may rest assured that every dollar taken in from any source by the Legion is used for some worthy cause. Any properly authorized person is at liberty to look over the financial record of Fidelity Post No. 33 whenever there is an occasion to do so. The Legion stands ready to render any assistance possible at any time for any worthy cause.

F. J. Richtig, Miracle Man From Clarkson, Visited Ord Friday With His Famous Knives

F. J. Richtig, the man who made Clarkson, Nebr., famous with his new methods of tempering steel and using it in the manufacture of knives, was in Ord Friday with his display, and entertained large crowds all day long with his seemingly impossible feats of cutting metal of all kinds with his wonder knives. The above picture by Lombard shows him and the crowd that stopped to see him.

He made Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" in November, 1936, and the Nebraska Curiosity Corner, Nov. 20, 1937. His picture appears in the April, 1938, issue of the American Ironsmith, with a story of his knives. A long article about him appeared in the Jan. 29 issue of the Nebraska Farmer. He has a personal letter from Robert Falconer, editor of the American Ironsmith, commenting on his knives.

The secret of the famed Toledo blade, which could cut into metal and still retain a sharp edge, has been re-discovered by Mr. Richtig, or at least something very closely resembling it. He cuts iron and steel with his knives, and then uses the same blade without sharpening to cut paper, believe it or not!

—Writing the Quiz, Truman Freeland tells of being called to examine a human skeleton partly uncovered in a blow-out on the Edward Mober place northeast of Burwell. They found a skull and several other bones, apparently of a person in the prime of life. In the grave were a clam shell, a flint arrowhead, what appeared to be a metal needle and a piece of lead. He thinks it probable that the remains had been there for centuries.

Ruth Flynn Is Married.

From the Blair Pilot-Tribune the Quiz learns of the recent announcement of the marriage of Miss Ruth Flynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Flynn of Blair, to Dick Lippincott, also of Blair, last Dec. 27. The ceremony was performed at Nebraska City by the Rev. Walter H. Jackson, former pastor of the Blair Methodist church, and was kept secret. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flynn of Lincoln, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, accompanied the couple to Nebraska City and served as witnesses. The bride is a graduate of the Ord high school, later attending Kearney State normal and Dana college at Blair. She has been a teacher for several years. Mr. Lippincott is prominent in 4-H club activities in Washington county. They will make their home in Blair.

Attended FSA Conference.

Allbin Novy, county rehabilitation supervisor, and Joseph Ramackers, his assistant, returned Friday from North Platte where they attended a FSA conference presided over by L. A. White, state FSA director. Collection of due payments on FSA loans will have an important part in the program this year, Novy says, and farm income over and above family needs is to be applied on repayments as they become due. Expected good crops this season should mean substantial repayments. White told the 45 county supervisors attending the conference. About 10,000 Nebraska farmers are FSA borrowers, with loans exceeding $8,000,000.

NOW—A COMBINE THAT VALLEY COUNTY FARMERS CAN AFFORD TO OWN

Allis-Chalmers

ALL-CROP HARVESTER

They used to say that Valley county grain fields weren't large enough to make combine harvesting pay. That's all changed by the new Allis-Chalmers All-Crop Harvester, on display at our garage.

The All-Crop has harvested successfully 83 kinds of grain, grass and vegetable seeds without change of cylinders or concaves or any costly extra equipment. It will harvest grain standing or down, weedy, wet or dry. Its cost of operation is less than any other make. One man operates it. Definitely proved to waste less grain. One agricultural college has made 14 different tests; each test saved more than 99% of the grain and the average was 99.57%.

The All-Crop cleans the grain better and consequently you get the highest elevator test and the best price for your grain. The cost of up-keep is low, consequently low depreciation and of long duration. The All-Crop will harvest from 2 to 3 acres per hour, depending on rate of travel.

And the cost? So low you won't believe it!

The All-Crop has no honest challenger; see it today at the...

A Haven for Tax-ridden Industry

★ Nebraska's thrift in its state government extends to local subdivisions. For example: Local communities have cut their bonded indebtedness, in 6 years, from 110 millions to 75 millions. ★ The low average property tax of only 2.18 mills supports the general activities of the state government. THE ENTIRE PROPERTY LEVY IN NEBRASKA (STATE, COUNTY AND ALL LOCAL SUBDIVISIONS) HAS BEEN REDUCED FROM 66 MILLIONS TO 44 MILLIONS IN TEN YEARS. ★ How government efficiency, a balanced budget, and refusal to accept any new form of taxation help the taxpayer is strikingly shown by the records of a great industry serving most Nebraska counties and the neighboring states. This industry's total property levy FROM ALL SOURCES in Nebraska is between 19 and 20 mills per dollar of valuation; and in the four neighboring states WHICH LEVY EXTRA TAXES the property levy alone for this industry is, respectively, 22 mills, 22 mills, 29 mills, 32 mills per dollar of valuation. ★ NO OTHER STATE CAN MATCH THIS TAX RECORD. ★ Industry, labor and agriculture flourish without heavy tax handicaps. Nebraska offers market, labor, transportation and power advantages. Write for full information.

Nebraska Offers: No Income Tax No Sales Tax No Other Extra Taxes No Bonded Debt More Money for Living

America's "White Spot"

Nebraska's constitution prohibits state bonds. Moreover, 77 of 93 counties have no bonds. Municipal debts are low, and steadily declining.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

This is Monday morning, May 23 and I am writing from the Leggett cottage on the east end of Middle gulien lake. I didn't have a thing to write about last week end before leaving Ord and thought I would forget to write this department for this time. Perhaps this won't get to Ord in time to be used anyhow. We have just had a nice breakfast, consisting of bread and butter, sliced bananas, some of that nice pork loin that Otto had boned, cured and smoked for me. That was my own invention last year, at least I never was able to buy it in the market until I suggested it and had one. I made a mistake the first one I had cured by not having the bone taken out and it was hard for me to slice it, as my hand saw was unwieldy for such work. The next time I asked John Gross if he could debone it, he could and did, and I find it superior to ham.

We left Ord Saturday right after dinner. The kids vied with each other to show us a good time the last few days, inviting us to most of the meals. They knew we were busy packing and getting ready for the trip. Flora had us for breakfast Saturday and Irma made dinner for us and it was 12:40 when we drove away toward Minnesota, and a delightful day.

We made the trip without accident or unpleasant incident and with a few less miles than on any other trip, the speedometer showing 585 miles when we arrived at camp at 4:30 p. m., Sunday. We drove into the Green Gables camp just south of Sioux Falls, S. D., Saturday evening just as it was time to turn the car lights on. There are many cabins in this fine camp, with a little store near the entrance where one can get most anything wanted in the way of eats or drinks. We found a place to our liking and as we were tired and had nothing else to do, we were soon in bed. It was pretty cool and as we didn't understand keeping the coal oil stove running on low, we turned it out and before morning everyone was shivering. Then I lighted the oil heater and we were soon comfortable, but it was 5 a. m., broad daylight, and as we knew we couldn't sleep any more, we got ready and started driving north and east. We had a hearty breakfast at Pipestone, Minn., at about seven a. m., then didn't have another meal until we got it in camp. We did stop for coffee and a sandwich with hot cocoa for Shirley. I always get sleepy driving if I eat too heartily.

And now I am going to tell you how beautiful the country looks everywhere. We have seen three springs this year. One in Nebraska where the tulips and lilacs and such flowers are out of bloom for this year. When we got to South Dakota and going through southwestern Minnesota, those flowers and the spruce are in full bloom. Here in this part of Minnesota they are not yet in bloom and we will soon be seeing our third spring for 1938. The crops everywhere are wonderful. Rye is leading, now, all the way from Ord to Little Falls, Minnesota. I never saw northeast Nebraska as beautiful as it is now. Farmers are trying to get their corn planted but many fields are too wet. There seems to be a large acreage of small grain all the way and it is all a wonderful dark green and could not be more thrifty. I think considerably more than half the corn ground is listed until we got onto 81 highway and from there north to Yankton most of the farmers seem to checkrow instead of listing. I wonder if this is because that country is all hills. The ground is practically all farmed in spite of the big hills.

We noticed that South Dakota farmers mostly checkrow instead of listing also, and their ground is mostly level. There is a large acreage of winter wheat in the part of South Dakota that we go through, they raise considerable flax and the flax acreage extends for a couple of hundred miles up through Minnesota. I have never seen southeastern South Dakota look so fine. Lots of it is under water now, as it had been raining for a week and must be soaked down as it has not been for years. And the rain has continued all the way. At Montevideo where I stopped for gas the station attendant said that Sunday was the first Sunday this spring that it had not stormed and there was water everywhere. I have been driving up this way for 18 years and have never seen so much water everywhere. Minnesota farmers are really worried about the wet weather. Over the last 100 miles spring planted grains are just nicely up but have not made much growth as yet. Much rye is raised in this section and it is looking good. The winter here was mild, not much snow, but there is a small lake everywhere that there is a little depression in the land. Meadows and cornfields of last year are mostly lakes and it is going to be a long time before crops can be put in where a good crop of corn was raised last year and haystacks are setting in the middle of lakes everywhere.

Sunday evening here was considerably warmer than Friday evening there is a cold northwest wind and a little fire in the heating stove feels mighty good. Our flowers and trees seem to have stood the winter well and some real early rock garden flowers are in bloom. A woodchuck has developed a taste for delphinium salad and has eaten the tops off a couple of our finest clumps and I am afraid there is one chuck that is going to have a lot of trouble unless he mends his ways. I think the flowers will grow again but

Ernest James Wins Haskell-Melia Award

The class of 1937 established what is known as the Haskell-Melia scholarship award. The class purchased a plaque in memory of the two members of the class who met death in a car accident. On this plaque there is room for the names of ten senior boys, and one member of each senior class for a period of ten years is to be selected to have his name engraved on the plaque.

The award is based on four points: participation in school activities character attitude toward school and classmates; and scholarship. The teachers, in checking over these requirements, awarded the honor to Ernest James. He was a member of the football team, student manager of basketball, took part in the contest one-act play, took a part in the senior play, and was in the upper 10% in scholarship.

Mr. Chuck will have to watch his step in the future. We enjoyed watching his antics last year and this is the first time he has ever done damage and we hate to kill him.

Our yards and trees have never been more beautiful and I sat on the front porch for an hour last evening, just before dark, enjoying the sight. The Fenner yard just north of us, is green and pretty but a large jackpine tree just back of his garage has been blown over and he will have a job of wood cutting when he comes, before he can get into his garage. That is the only sign of damage I can see in this end of camp.

At the Augustine cottage, further north in camp, I notice a big pile of peeled poles and am told that he is going to have his place all fenced. He had the work started last year. The water in the lake is way up on the bank from what I have ever seen before and I am told that the dam at the lower end of Gull is wide open, so a little later when it quits raining and the dam is closed, the water level should remain higher than usual all summer. I am told here that all lakes were filling up before the rains started and people were wondering where the water came from. It seems like the general water level is rising. Lake Benton which went dry several years ago and where the lake bed has been farmed for the past few years, is a large lake full of water again and we were greatly surprised when we drove by there and saw it.

Well this letter is long enough for this time. Walleyes are biting and I will be giving them a try soon and perhaps, next week, I can again think of something to write about.
Dad Leggett.

We are ready to announce that the group piano classes are a reality and will start the first week in June. Children from 6 to 10 years of age will have an opportunity to get class instruction under Miss Austin of the Grand Island Conservatory.

The Oxford method of class instruction will be used and it so happens that Miss Austin took part in the experimental work on this course a few years ago at Northwestern University.

There are now 21 enrolled who will be divided into groups of six.

Another group could be handled if there are others who would like to enter. It is not necessary to have a piano to take this work.

The less people speak of their greatness, the more we think of it.

You'll find this market has steaks that are especially good for outdoor cooking. Our wieners can't be beat for tastiness. Or we can provide you with a tongue to cook and slice at home, or practically anything in the meat line.

Cheese, pickles, condiments of all kinds are here also. We're at your service, folks.

MEMORIAL '38

If cross-marked soldiers' graves could loose their dead,
Or if the battle's heroes could return,
Would time reveal the lesson which they left
For us to learn?

A headline flash from war-torn, shell-scorred field;
A radio predicting future strife—
Would these renew within the soldier's soul
His thirst for life?

At least a few who died in man-made wars
Believed their sacrifice would carry through
To gird the whirling globe with lasting peace—
And we believed it, too.

With courage red they finished up their task;
Our challenge is a current situation.
Not just memorials on this day,
But dedication!

"Everybody likes zip and pep with plenty of get-up-and-go energy", says Standard. They like it in people—they like it in music—they like it in games—and they certainly like it in their cars. And, according to 1938 streamlined America, there's one good way and one good word that describes it all—"UMP-FF!"

That's what it takes and that's what Standard believes motorists will find in the Special Summer Red Crown Gasoline, now on sale. They have, therefore, released to Nebraska newspapers a series of "More Ump-ff!" advertisements, each and every one fairly bubbling with personality, humor, human interest, fast moving copy and convincing facts. Be sure to watch this newspaper for future ads. According to advance information, you are doubtless going to enjoy them.

In line with Standard's rigid advertising policy, there will be no false claims or exaggerated copy

Send Me 'Them Pants'. Box 515, Three Forks Mont. May 13, 1938. To the Ord Quiz: This is airmail week and I thought that inasmuch as I had to draw the cachet for the airmail letters this week I had better send you one and so I shall enclose one in this letter so that in the event the one on the envelope gets spoiled you will still have one to make a spit ball of, or something.

Have been asked to make the commencement day address at Sheridan and of course am all puffed up. Think it is going to be a darned good speech but don't know for sure just what kind of speech it will be as my wife has not finished writing it yet.

My wife and I got to talking over how I should dress and we started kinder at the top and decided that I should wear a necktie and a white collar. Got me a collar like Bud Shirley used to wear when he made the speech at the Kiremen's ball and then I got that purple tie, you remember the one John Haskell was married in. It is a little faded but the purple still shows and John had split a little soup on it but that has worn off in the years.

Then we decided on me wearing a double breasted blue coat on account that that is the only coat I have. I got pants to match it but my wife thinks I would look dignified if I could get me a pair of striped pants, light gray and dark gray.

Well, I looked all around and I can't seem to find any of that kind of pants, guess they don't make them any more. So that is where you come in. I know that there is such a pair of pants some place there in Ord and I want you to find them for me and send them to me for May 27.

I think it was in 1897 that North Loup won a baseball game and Jake Earnest was the manager of the team and he felt so good about it that he went out and bought himself a pair of striped pants. He wore them several times to lodge and church and to a box supper where he spilled some chicken gravy on them.

Then the next thing I knew was when Bud Auble borrowed them to be baptized in but the Baptist preacher refused to baptize Bud because he said an Auble is just a natural born Methodist and it makes no difference if you should baptise him as a Baptist he would still be a Methodist. Like you could take a Leggett and register him as a Democrat but that would not make any difference, he would still be a Leggett and he would still be a Republican. So anyway the preacher would not baptise Bud and I don't know whether or not he was ever baptised.

Then Clarence Davis came to Ord, a young attorney right out of college and he had a blue suit and a lot of dignity and he could say big words and there used to be folks in Ord who claimed that he could spell some of them too and one feller even claimed that Clarence knew the meaning of some of them. But be that as it may, he was not winning his jury cases. So one time I went into the courtroom and Clarence was the defending attorney in a rather spectacular case and he was just going on to make his plea to the jury and I called him off to one side and whispered in his ear. I says, "Clarence" I says, "You should have a pair of striped pants on with that blue coat." I says,

Well, Clarence he rushed out of the court room and presently he was back with them same pants and you should have seen the impression he made on that jury and you should have heard the speech he made and the big words he said and he said them right out like he knew the meaning of them and could spell them even.

Now the next I heard of them pants was when Cash Rathbun was married in them after the war and I have sort of lost track of them since and want you to find them for me and be sure and get them here in time for me to make my speech in them.

As I was saying, I don't know just what I am going to say yet as my wife has not finished writing it but I know what I am going to wear if I can get it and that is a white collar and a purple tie and a blue serge suit coat and striped pants and spats. Now all I am asking you to furnish is the pants.

When an ardent New Deal Democrat will humble himself to write to a Stand Pat Republican for a pair of pants that is something for Ripley and I think the least you could do for old times sake would be to find them pants and send them to me.

Yours very truly, Merritt H. Fuson.

I was a surprised Automobile Owner!

"Enthusiasm prompts me to tell of my satisfaction with my new Ford V-8 De Luxe Fordor Sedan. After the first drive I was a surprised automobile owner—and my surprise and satisfaction increase each time I drive it. For one thing, I am receiving better than 19 miles to the gallon of gasoline; and that's pretty important to a man who drives as much as I do.

"Another thing, every one I have shown this car to has expressed pleasure with its appointments and other features—and it naturally pleases one to hear so much commendation of his choice in an automobile. "When it comes to performance—well, I could write a book on this subject! It's perfect, that's all."
