$5,000 BREAK IN FLUME NEAR ELYRIA

Taylor-Ord Canal Out of Commission Next Thirty Days

45-Ton Mass of Concrete Was Washed Out Wednesday; Steel Flume Damaged.

A break in the Taylor-Ord irrigation ditch a mile north of Elyria last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 caused a serious financial loss to the district, and also precluded the chance of any of the farmers between Elyria and Ord getting water in time to help the corn crop this year.

The break was not due to any carelessness on the part of officials. Harold Hoppes, who is the ditch inspector in that sector, had passed over the flume in the morning, and had come along on his return trip at about 1:30 in the afternoon. At that time there was no indication of a break at the south end of the big canyon flume where the break later occurred.

A leak had developed at the next flume south, the one that passes over the Ed Dubas barn, early that morning, but this was repaired. The first intimation anyone had that a break was impending was at 3:30, when Lyman Kern, accompanied by Messrs. Shelton, Schieler and Eberle, all of Burwell, came along and found the water leaking through the concrete.

All breaks in the past have been due to water following around the concrete at the sides, and have been comparatively easy to stop but this came through beneath almost the exact center of the 45 ton mass of concrete which unites the flume to the ditch. Because of its location and also because of the nature of the soil, it was impossible to stop the leak.

When the men found that the break could not be avoided they went at once to the nearest cutoff, about five miles up the ditch, and shut the water off there. As the dirt washed out the concrete settled down, pulling the end of the flume down with it, and buckling the steel structure on which the flume rested.

The water, running down this incline, gained added force and washed out a huge hole which is about 80 feet long, 40 feet wide and forty feet deep, spreading the clay over the stubble field below the flume. The water ran down through Ed Dubas' cornfield, and flooded across Highway No. 11 in several places.

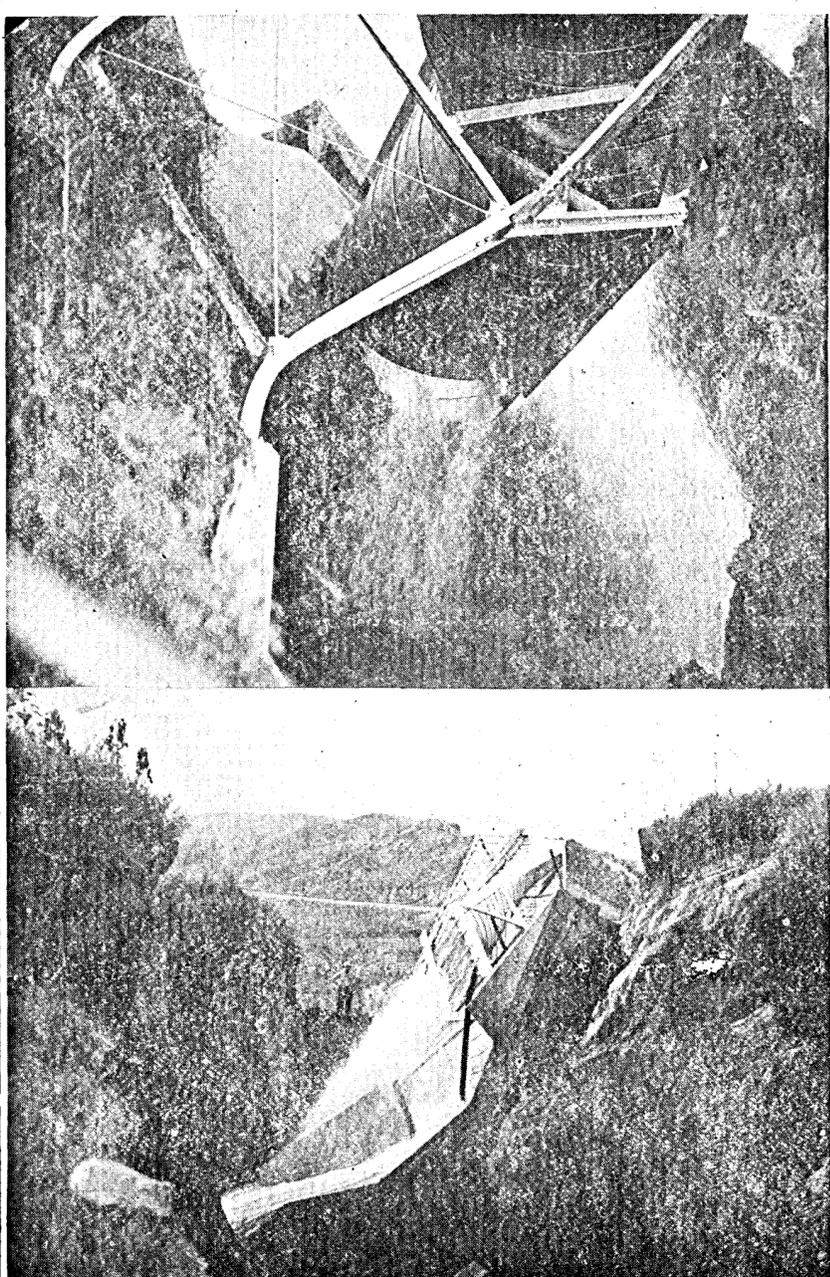

An estimate places the damage and the cost to replace the flume at $5,000, and it will probably be thirty days before the work can be refinished. The board at once asked for authority to make the necessary repairs. Monday PWA Engineer Earl Ketchum of the Kearney office was in Ord and checked over the damage done.

Red Cross Swim Classes Are Making Progress

The Red Cross swimming and life-saving classes are working hard to complete the necessary work in order to take the tests offered at the end of the season. In the three classes of school students class 1 has learned to float and is working on a stroke. Class 2 is practicing hard on the American crawl, and class 3 is learning the scissor kick and frog kick. The adult class meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The committee in charge are making plans to sponsor a water carnival the last week of the course, the middle of August, to show parents and patrons what the students have accomplished in swimming and in knowledge of water safety as well. That week the regulation Red Cross awards will be made. Arden Clark and Evelyn Sharp, the instructors, have been assisted by Gerald and Orville Stoddard serving as guards with each class.

In class 1, which has an enrollment of over 60 they are also assisted by Mrs. Hilding Pearson. A group of interested patrons have also kindly contributed their services in giving transportation for the various classes. The management render thanks to Mrs. O. E. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Fafetta, Mrs. Hilding Pearson, Mrs. Mark Toljen, Mrs. L. W. Wilkerson, Mrs. Horace Travis, Mrs. John Misko, Mrs. Bud Husbands and Mrs. Carl Sorenson.

Here are two views of the steel flume north of Elyria, built to bring water of the Taylor-Ord canal across a deep canyon. Wednesday afternoon water washed beneath the 45-ton mass of concrete at the south end of the flume, creating a hole eighty feet long and forty feet deep, and into this the concrete settled. The flume was greatly damaged, as these pictures prove.

The top picture, taken from the north just after the break became known shows water still pouring from the broken flume. The bottom picture, taken from the south, shows the enormous hole dug by the water.

E. H. Dunsmire, engineer-manager of the North Loup district, said this morning that the W. J. Assenmacher Company would be employed to repair the break, that repairs have been approved by the PWA and money was made available, and that the work will be completed within 30 days.

John Sebesta Finds Very Unusual Snake

John Sebesta has found and killed a large number of snakes of all kinds during his lifetime, but a few days ago he found a snake that had him puzzled. It was a water snake of reddish color. When he killed it he noticed that it was unusually thick for its length, so he opened it to find what it had eaten. He found, instead of the frogs he expected to find, that the snake contained no less than 38 tiny snakes, fully developed and ready to be born. The little snakes were each 7 inches long. While many snakes lay eggs which later hatch in the sand, a few kinds have their young alive, and this was one of that kind.

Tuesday Hottest Day of the Entire Summer

A temperature of 105 registered at mid-afternoon Tuesday on the official government thermometer kept by Horace Travis made this day hottest of the entire summer. Other thermometers caught the temperature Tuesday as high as 112 but the Travis mark will go into the official records. Monday was 101, Sunday was 99, he says. Corn is showing the effects of these three hot days and unless rain comes soon the crop will be greatly curtailed. This morning is much cooler and the weather forecast indicates rain.

Townsend Meeting Thursday Evening

A meeting of the local Townsendites, as well as all who care to attend, whether members or not, will be held in the American Legion Hall Thursday evening. Some special entertainment is being planned.

Petska's Store In New Home Sunday

Sunday bright and early Jerry Petska had a group of men busy transferring his grocery department to his new store one door west of the old location, and so well did they work that everything was ready to open in the new place Monday morning.

Loup Valley Camera Club Enjoys Outing

Sunday the Ord members of the Loup Valley camera club went to Burwell and spent the day at the new Burwell park, at Pebble Creek and on Lake Burwell, enjoying the scenery and taking pictures right and left. Those in attendance were John Anderson and son Donald, John L. Ward, George Jensen, Joe P. Fajmon, Lavern and Frances Duemey, Elton Weller and Jack Janssen, all from Ord. It was Moore of Burwell acted as host and took the group for a ride on the lake in his motorboat. John Anderson and Lavern Duemey furnished the transportation for the Ordites.

Fire Tuesday Destroys Big Load of Bundles

A fire of unknown origin destroyed a load of bundles and a hay rack on the Charles Bals farm Tuesday afternoon. When the fire was noticed the men unhitched the team and tipped over the hay rack in order to prevent further damage. This field of wheat belonged to Ed Kolar, who has rented the place.

Red Cross First Aid Given by Little Girls

Friday Alice Jean Owens, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Owens, stepped on some sharp object at the Hastings and Ollis corner, making a cut in the bottom of her left foot that bled profusely. Her companions, Beryl Owens and Doris Easterbrook of Arcadia, the former a cousin, took charge at once and carried the injured girl over to the city hall, where they succeeded in stopping the flow of blood, and then carried her to her home in southeast Ord. City Clerk Jewett offered to help them, but was told that they could take care of the case. He says they worked in an efficient manner, showing that Red Cross first aid training in the schools is very much worth while.

Married by Judge Andersen.

July 27 Vernon W. Mattern, 29, of Burwell, and Hilda V. Ballard, daughter of Harry Ballard, also of Burwell, were granted a marriage license, and immediately after were married by County Judge John L. Andersen, with the groom's brother and sister, Floyd and Edna Mattern as witnesses. The groom is a farmer living north of Burwell, and is a candidate for sheriff. The bride is well and favorably known, and their many friends, some of whom live in Ord, wish them a happy married life.

No. Loup District Now Selling 'Juice' to Ord and Burwell

Permanent Hook-up Monday After Few Days of Testing; Fairly Satisfactory.

After four days of tests, the municipalities of Ord and Burwell Monday morning began buying electricity from the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District, under contracts signed almost a year ago, and after 2 1/2 days of using the high line system the consensus of opinion among citizens seems to be that the new system is "fairly satisfactory."

Ord went on the North Loup project's high line at 8:00 Monday morning; Burwell at 11:30 a. m. the same day.

For about 15 minutes last Thursday the Ord power load was switched onto the high line and again at brief intervals Saturday and Sunday.

Since taking electricity from the high line there have been several momentary interruptions in the service, something almost unknown during the many years Ord has had its own electric plant, but there has been no serious trouble thus far. Three diesel engines at the Ord plant are ready to take over the load in case of a high line break or other trouble, and Burwell has two diesels for use in the same kind of emergencies.

According to George Allen, light and water commissioner here, the frequency of the high line electricity is quite steady but the voltage is running 6 or 7 watts low.

Electricity being used here at present is coming from Columbus but later as the electric works of the Sutherland project get into operation Ord and Burwell will be served with electricity from North Platte.

WPA Representative Interviews Council

E. M. Golden, WPA fieldman for Nebraska, was in Ord Thursday morning interviewing the mayor and members of the city council and also inspecting prospective local WPA projects. Those he examined were the proposed lake in Russell Park, and the Ord Township Library property. He expects to be in Ord Friday evening, when he will appear before the council meeting and explain not only how the WPA stands with Ord, but also how it stands with all municipalities, there being no favors shown one over another.

Marijuana Outlawed But Still Thriving

Outlawed by official action of the United States government, the Mexican plant known as marijuana still thrives almost everywhere. Here is shown Frank Johnson, North Loup postmaster, examining a marijuana plant growing in that village. There also is much of it in Ord and in rural communities many pastures have marijuana growing. It is a narcotic and the government is trying to stamp out the use of it.

Free Evening Gate At Loup Valley Fair

No gate admission will be charged during the Loup Valley fair in Ord this September, directors decided at their meeting Monday evening. Usual admission will be charged people who wish to occupy grandstand seats and see the evening programs, which will be better this year than they ever have been before. But people who simply wish to visit the grounds, take in the carnival and see the exhibits will not have to pay.

—Dr. and Mrs. Reginald Beeghley left Tuesday evening spending the night with the Frank Andersons in Lincoln. Today they drove on to Abilene, Kas., and the next day they will go to Sarcoxie, Mo. where a position is open for a doctor.

Paul Duemey Injured, Loses 2 Qts. of Blood

While pushing Albert Haught's car to start it early Sunday morning, after a night of fishing near Sumter bridge, Paul Duemey fell and cut a gash in his arm on a sharp stake along the roadside, the stake severing an artery in his forearm. Before he could be brought to an Ord doctor he had lost an estimated two quarts of blood and was in serious condition.

Drs. Round and Miller sewed up the artery and administered glucose solution intravenously and Monday Paul's condition was greatly improved, though he was still very weak.

With him on the fishing trip were Harlan George and Albert Haught. The battery in Haught's car went dead and the men were pushing the car to start it when Duemey fell and was hurt.

Mrs. Rowbal Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Mrs. Billy Rowbal, who with Billy and their two children moved to California a little over a year ago, was struck by a hit-run driver in Oakland, Saturday, July 23, as she stepped from a street car a few blocks from home. Thrown 30 feet across an intersection she was picked up and rushed to a hospital, where it was at first believed that she had suffered a fractured skull. The doctors did not expect her to live until morning.

Mrs. Rowbal suffered a bump and gash on the back of her head, a broken leg, and a badly bruised body. She is unable to move either of her lower limbs or raise her head from the pillow, but the doctors say she will recover. It was 12 o'clock, four hours after the accident occurred before her relatives learned why she had not come home.

It was from a policeman who was looking for her people that Billy learned where his wife was and what had happened. Identification was very difficult as Mrs. Rowbal had nothing with her by which she could be identified. The doctors say it is a miracle she is alive today. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rowbal of Ord. Forty-eight hours after the accident police arrested Frank McGuire, mill and lumber foreman, owner of the car which hit Mrs. Rowbal, and he implicated Mrs. Helen L. Hein as the driver of the car at the time of the accident. She had previously served a 30-day sentence for driving while intoxicated.

Ellis Carson Innocent Of Reckless Driving

A number of matters of interest were brought up in Judge John L. Andersen's court Friday. In the first case to be heard, that wherein the Co-operative Oil company of Sargent was suing John S. Hoff for the value of gas and oil they claimed was delivered to the defendant, the judge found in favor of the plaintiff, and the settlement was made on the basis of fifty cents on the dollar.

The goods mentioned included 145 gallons of distillate and 15 gallons of lubricating oil, allegedly delivered at the Hoff farm June 22, 1936, by Ed Holloway, who was agent for the company at that time. The company was represented by W. C. Birginal of Sargent, and Mr. Hoff by Davis and Vogeltanz of Ord. A number of witnesses were called on each side.

The case of The State vs. Ellis Carson, wherein Carson was charged with reckless driving on the afternoon of June 29, was heard at length and Judge Andersen decided that he was not guilty of reckless driving, as charged. The charge was brought by State Patrolmen Zink and Lambert, and County Attorney Alvin B. Lee was attorney for the state.

Davis and Vogeltanz appeared for the defense, and testimony was given by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stairs of Calloway and W. J. Hather of Ord, who were with Mr. Carson at the time the alleged offense occurred. The state claimed that the curve around which Mr. Carson was driving was partially obscured, while defense testimony was that it was not blind.

Mortgaged Car Is Taken Out of State

Acting on a telegram from Cefterino Quintana, sheriff of Las Vegas, N. M., Sheriff George Round picked up J. C. McGough, an employee of the Inland Construction company. It seems that Mr. McGough was purchasing on payments a Pontiac sedan and a factory built house trailer, and that he moved them out of the state while behind on his payments.

Mr. McGough agreed to pay the expense of returning the outfit to New Mexico, and was released. Saturday a representative of the finance company arrived in Ord and took charge of the car and trailer. He left for home with them Sunday. It seems that the gentleman bought the car in good faith, but was unable to keep up the payments on his wares.

He will select the site and send his recommendation to the department, who will notify the owner, who then has thirty days to clear his title to the property.

Frederick Carnival Signed for the Fair

The Frederick carnival, one of the largest on the road in the middle west, has been signed to appear at the Loup Valley fair this September, according to Ed Kokes, secretary of the fair association. Eight rides, seven shows and thirty-five concessions of various kinds are included in the Frederick company.

Ord Defeated At Scotia Sunday Eve

The Ord softball team went to Scotia Sunday evening, the first team losing by a score of 6 to 1, and the second team dropping an extra inning thriller by a score of 3 to 2. Scotia has an edge in the games they have played Ord this year, winning on their home grounds, and losing at Ord. A gang of softball enthusiasts are busy today arranging the softball grounds for future games. Several out of town games are being arranged as well as the regular inter-city games Tuesday evening.

In "This Curious World"

GENERAL E. O. C. ORD. The man for whom the village of Ord was named in the early days of our existence, Gen. E. O. C. Ord passed to his final reward from the effects of yellow fever in Cuba, July 22, 1853. In the Aug. 10 issue of the Ord Quiz for that year there appeared an article which first appeared in Harper's Weekly, extolling the qualities of General Ord in the following words:

General Edward O. C. Ord died of yellow fever at Havana on the 22nd of July, in his 66th year. He had taken passage from Vera Cruz to New York on board the steamer, City of Washington, but when the vessel arrived in Havana, was removed to a private hospital in company with ten other persons suffering from the same disease. He served his country with distinction in the Seminole War in Florida, and during the war for the Union. The battle of Kearsville was fought under his leadership in 1861, and he was severely wounded at the battle of Hatchie, and at the assault on Ft. Harrison.

Having been several times promoted for gallant and meritorious service, he became commander of the Department of Virginia and North Carolina in 1865, and led the army of the James in the victorious engagements that ended the rebellion. For several years his name has been on the retired list.

"I had the honor to serve with him," writes his former aide-camp, the Rev. S. S. Seward. "Nearly four years, and I can truly say that I never saw him under any circumstances lose his self control or forfeit for an instant his character as a courteous gentleman. Even his rebukes never gave offense while his consideration for others never failed him even in the face of the enemy."

"He was as brave as a lion and as gentle as a woman. In camp and on the march he was exceedingly careful of his soldiers, providing for their comfort, their clothing, their rations, and their medical attendants with almost paternal care, and he showed equal solicitude for the sick and wounded. My respect and appreciation for him have grown."

"My appreciation of his genuine worth has increased with the years and I desire to testify to it as fully and publicly as possible. I would not take upon myself to do even this if I did not believe that it would find a warm response in the heart and mind of every officer and soldier who served under him and enjoyed a reasonable opportunity of knowing and understanding his character."

The above eulogy of a truly great man might have been lost to the present generation had not the owner of the Quiz, W. W. Haskell, chosen to publish the article in full, so that it could be found in the files and again published 55 years later. With the interest that is being aroused about General Ord at the present time, this will be in no danger of reaching oblivion.

TO REPEAL THE LAW. The recent unicameral legislation, the first of its kind in the state and in the United States, put our statute books a law providing for the establishment of a highway patrol, and the testing of cars, the object being to lessen the ever increasing toll of human life exacted by the automobile. That the law had done so is proven by statistics.

After only a few months of the highway patrol, and with the proposition of testing cars hardly entered into, a marked improvement in the mortality rate on our highways has been observed. Yet, before the law has been in force long enough to prove its full worth, an organization has been formed in the state to secure the repeal of the law.

The principal objection seems to be to the car testing proposition, which has its disadvantages, no doubt. For example when a city the size of Ord finds by actual survey that a testing station will not pay its own way, it means that those who wish to comply with the law must drive a long distance to have the necessary tests made.

ford a better car, would have to go without. Yes, there are two sides to the question. But, on the issue of safety, there is only one. Our new law when enforced will guarantee two things: All cars on the highway will be mechanically safe, or more nearly so than they are at the present time; and fear of the highway patrol will cause most of our drivers to drive more safely.

Two more things are needed: A law protecting the public from the man who can and does pass the driver's examination, but still lacks the common sense to drive as he should; and some means of keeping cars that have been adjusted at the testing station from getting out of adjustment in a few days. These are highway hazards for which there seems to be no law.

Whether the law is good or bad should be determined by its effect upon the mortality rate. Any law that tends to decrease the highway death rate cannot be wholly bad. The Quiz has not had to record a fatal car accident in this section since the patrol started its work. On this record it is only just that the law should remain in force until it has been thoroughly tested.

WHAT'S IN A NAME. The lists of names of the men who are candidates for office in the various counties of the state are extremely interesting. They tell much about the early history of the counties, and from whence the original stock sprung, for many of these candidates are descendants of original settlers in their community. In some counties one race is dominant, for the reason that most of the early settlers came from that part of the world.

For instance, in Howard county we find such standard Scandinavian names as Jacobson, Olsson, Petersen, Rasmussen, Ender, Lem-burg, Olsen, Thomsen, Peterson and Nielsen in the list. This is as it should be, for a large percentage of the inhabitants of Howard county are of Scandinavian descent.

Greeley county presents as might be expected, a large percent of Irish names, among which we find Faherty, McNeil, Gilroy, McIntyre, Brennan, Murphy, Barry, Kerrigan, Duffin and Emery. In Saline county we find a predominance of Bohemian names, among them, Vozab, Wank, Borcky, Hroch, Tobiska, Mekota, Slepicka, Belka and Shinerda.

Here in Valley county we have a mixture of names from different nationalities, such as Jablonski, Jorgensen, Zikmund, Hohn, Christensen, Lee, Barber, Bellinger, Hansen and Lueck, all candidates for supervisor; Klima, Ciemny, Satterfield, Wiegardt, Lee, Misko, Jones, Stone, Round, Blessing, Bouda, Peterson, Brox, Stara and King, all candidates for county office.

But the thing that matters is that when we go to the polls to vote we pay absolutely no attention to where a man's ancestors came from. We are interested in the candidates as our neighbors and friends and one hundred per cent Americans. Every white person in America has ancestors who came from some foreign land, but we find no room here for race, class, religious, or any other kind of prejudice. That is what has made our state the greatest nation on the earth, and what will keep it so.

My Own Column By H. D. Leggett

Dear Quiz: I may lose my job as Cullen Lake reporter for the Quiz if I don't get busy and write a letter for the coming week, even if I would rather go fishing or swimming, or just sit on the porch and smoke my pipe. And this time I am going to tell you about a very enjoyable trip that we just returned from last evening.

We planned a trip up the north shore of Lake Superior as far as Grand Marais, which is just 235 miles northeast from our camp. We drove out on schedule at 7 a. m. yesterday and got home at five p. m. yesterday (Thursday) using three days for the trip.

The party consisted of Judge and Mrs. Clements and Lena, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fenner, Mrs. Nettie Burke, the Missus and yours truly. We went in two cars, Lena and Mrs. Burke with us and the Clements and Fenners together. We put up a little cold snack for the noon day lunch which we planned to eat in the beautiful municipal park at Two Harbors, 30 miles north and east of Duluth and we drove into the park just as the noon day whistle sounded. If I hadn't been able to look around I could have easily believed I was in Ord for it (the whistle) sounded just as ours does.

Oh yes, the snack. It consisted of a pan of baked beans cooked with pickled pork, such as no one but Otto Pecenka and his force can prepare. There was also a dish of sliced corned beef, and a part of a boiled ham, both from the Pecenka market. We had vegetable salad, sliced tomatoes, bread and butter sandwiches, cheese and pickles, cake and hot coffee which we took in several thermos bottles. Someone was afraid we were going to starve but we didn't and we didn't eat half the food we had with us. We had a table back from the edge of the rock ledge 30 or 40 feet, where we could overlook the lake and as we ate a couple of big steamers drove past. It was sure a beautiful place to enjoy our dinner.

After dinner we packed up and drove on up the shore road, often stopping to look at a waterfall or see one of the several beautiful state parks along the road and it was between 4 and 5 p. m. when we arrived at the Hans Toffey tourist camp. And we were lucky for I had wired the Saturday before to have a couple of cabins reserved for us, otherwise we would have been unable to get in. There is a tremendous tourist business at this time and Mr. Toffey says all his 14 cottages are filled every night. He also says all the other cottages there and there are several camps, are always full. There are hundreds of cottages along the whole 110 miles between Duluth and Grand Marais and from the cars parked I judge that they are all doing a good business.

Wednesday morning we chartered a launch and went out fishing for lake trout. It got pretty rough before we came in, rained most of the time we were out and we only got one small trout caught by Judge Clements. In the afternoon Mr. Fenner went out with another boatman and came in with five nice trout. We made arrangements to go out again Thursday morning and I was the lucky one, getting three nice ones, the largest trout weighing 6 1/2 pounds. It was real sport. Mrs. Fenner and Lena went with us on this trip and enjoyed it very much. The wind didn't come up much and it was much warmer than it was the morning before. I plan on making another trip to Grand Marais, probably in September if I am here and can get away. They tell me the fishing will be much better then and we will be more likely to get a larger one.

We all think that lake trout is the finest fish to eat that we ever tasted. We have been buying a few for several years but this is the first time I have been able to catch them myself. I notice that the Lakins are in their cottage up near the north end of camp but have not had time to visit with them as yet. This was wash day with us and I was a high private in the rear ranks on the job. I furnished the power for our Armstrong washing machine.

The Dumcans arrived early this week and are in my other cottage and say they are having a fine time. I notice the children spend a lot of time in the water. Mrs. Simpson and grandson Bud arrived from Omaha since I wrote last week and are occupying the Simpson cottage. There is a family of Des Moines people in the Mackowsky cottage at the south end of camp. Mr. Fenner has been painting his new workshop-wood house and is putting the corner boards and other trimming on today. Mr. Augustine is having a lot of shore work done at his place with Oscar Wallin chief landscaper. The Bowman's arrived the first of the week from Clarinda, Ia., and while I haven't seen them, I know by the noise that they are having a good time.

Fishing here. Well, it is not so hot right now. It is like up at Grand Marais, they are not striking good right now, still, everyone gets more fish than they can use and no one wants to be given any. Everyone wants to catch his own. So what would we do if fishing was better? No, you can't go out and catch a big one any time you want to do so. Judge Clements went over to Pelican one day last week and the only fish they got was an 8 pound walleye. Big fish are often caught but mostly it is an accident when they are. Anyone is liable to get hold of a big one while fishing bluegills. Most of the big ones hooked at such times get away for they are too big for the tackle and inexperience of the average fisherman.

Next week Flora and I and the grandchildren are coming and I am glad. Those little girls have a lot of fun here and I think their mother will gain back her strength fast here and they will all have a good time. I'll say he will be unable to stay longer than three or four days. I may decide to come home with him to help Eugene out for a couple of weeks.

H. D. Leggett. IT HAPPENED IN ORD. Deacon, of the Deacon and Clint shop, recently built and painted a very neat sign advertising a business. He asked the advice of onlookers as to the spelling of the word "mechanical" and they watched him while he painted the word "hospital," but did not even notice that the line read, "Mechanical Hospital." Deacon says it attracts just as much attention that way, and most people don't notice it is spelled wrong, anyway.

Jack, the buff and white tomcat who makes his home almost anywhere along the west side of the square, has quite a history. It seems that he once had a happy home at the S. W. Roe farm, but developed the habit of picking up a young chicken occasionally. A neighbor offered to take him, as he had no chickens, but the next day Jack was back home. Mr. Roe then brought him up to the hill south of Ord and turned him loose. A day or two later he showed up in the Farmers Store, and he has made that locality his stamping ground ever since.

When John Ward of New York made the headlines last week, the Ord Quiz came in for a lot of kidding. The boys have figured out that if he was the one the papers meant, the building he jumped off must have been one of those John Haskell and his crew have been constructing. Be that as it may, the Irish have certainly been hogging the headlines lately, what with Corrigan's hop and Ward's hop.

E. M. Adams was a bus passenger Saturday evening returning to Burwell from Doniphan, where he lives. He has been in Burwell visiting his brother A. C. Adams, and will work for him in the pool hall until after rodeo.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT! Written by GEORGE GOWEN

For Those Away. We All Know. About the most common topic of conversation these days outside the weather, is that of grasshoppers. The town people, with a small garden, are even more excited and concerned over the beasts than the farmers.

In many ways, the darned hoppers are a menace, although the talk of them and the fear of them is far greater than the damage they have yet performed. Most everyone thinks they have thinned down in numbers the last week or so, although in spots, there are plenty yet.

As with other forms of livestock, the hoppers have their preference as to what they eat. They seem to be very fond of rye. One man said that he was fortunate, for nothing else liked rye. The hoppers will leave wheat and eat the rye in the fall and in the spring the same with the grain. They like oats better than barley and that is one reason the yields of barley was greater in most instances than the oat yield.

About the greatest damage the hoppers do is that of eating new seeding alfalfa. There has been a number of pieces of alfalfa sown this last season, and in every instance there was a good stand come up, but I have not known of a piece but what the grasshoppers killed. This is a very serious affair to us people, for alfalfa has been one of our best crops the last forty years.

Although small patches of corn have been eaten, like sweet corn in the gardens, generally speaking the hoppers have not damaged the corn. It is possible that sweet corn is relished more than field corn. Some fellows were saying that the hoppers are very fond of sudan grass. It is a shame the stuff does not kill the hoppers like it does the cows.

There is a great variance of opinion about the spreading of poison. Some say they find thousands of dead hoppers and others say their hoppers will not eat the poison. I don't blame them. I wouldn't eat it either if I could help it.

Also, some places the hoppers are thicker than others. There is a difference in the species besides, some large with wings, some small, and of a great assortment of colors.

They are a wise looking beast and act wisely too. Gus Wetzel keeps their vegetable cellar locked and the other day Mrs. W. found a giant hopper trying to pick the lock. One becomes thoroughly disgusted at them hopping in his face, every which way and in his ire tries to step on a few as he paces along. But this can't be done. At least very often. Just as the foot is to flatten down on Mr. Grasshopper to send him into grasshopper eternity, hop he goes, and your step has been wasted effort. I don't blame him for that either.

Chickens do very well on hoppers as a dessert. People who have many chickens have no hoppers where the chickens run. Many people are nowadays herding their chickens into their gardens. That all seems strange for in days gone by we all went to great exercise to shoo the chickens out of the garden. Times do change.

Many people argue on that score that we should do everything we can to encourage the bird population such as pheasants, quails and the like. In place of that, they say with the open seasons for hunting pheasants, we are doing all we can to discourage the bird population. If we could only get our sportsmen in the notion of hunting crows, grasshoppers, gophers and such as they are in hunting pheasants and ducks—but it isn't the game the fellows are after that causes men to get up at three o'clock in the morning and tramp through the weeds and snow and brambles, it is the sport of it all.

Bargains. While I was helping Claud Thomas fix a hay rack the other day a black-haired man drove a fine car into the yard. On the car was a Texas license, he wore leather boots inside his trousers and a blue serge shirt. He was not a bad appearing man, a little dark perhaps, and he inquired about the road through the hills.

After getting his information he asked casually if Claud would be interested in buying oriental rugs. Twenty-five dollar rugs he would sell for five dollars and two hundred dollar fur coats for twenty-five dollars.

Claud did not even look at his goods and the man drove on. I told my wife of it all when I got home and she said immediately that probably either they were stolen goods (he was a fence) or they were smuggled goods. Perhaps the stuff had been smuggled in at the gulf somewhere and he was disposing of it. She knew because she had been reading an article or two of it in the magazines lately, how there are men about doing just such.

We're Still Here. In Ord the other day I heard much consternation from several Ord men about the fact that the Ord telephone directory does not contain the North Loup numbers. In each case these men had to send to North Loup to get a directory such as they needed which contained both Ord and North Loup numbers. One man even proclaimed, "It's a hell of a note." I presume the telephone people had come to the conclusion that North Loup had just dropped out of existence. Well, it will have to be admitted it is dropping, the out-of-town bakeries having whipped out one more business last week, but we are still making a gallant effort, we that are left at least.

Much Talk About the Grasshoppers No. Loup Telephone Numbers Needed

Now there is Vern Robbins left yet, the biggest horse buyer in the land and sure enough going to be one of the two high for the un-cameral. His number should be in the Ord directory. Then there's Jake Barber on the county board and the two Eds who are trying to get his job. Everyone should have their numbers handy for we might want to get aid from one of them. Then there's Roy Hudson who is president of the irrigation board. We might want to file a complaint and I am sure he would be glad to hear it.

Then there is the editor of this column. His number should by all means be included, so people can call up and give him dope for the next issue, and call up and give him compliments and encouragements; but by no means should his number be included that the people might call up and give him hell. His wife and neighbors can take care of that without benefit of the telephone.

The Quiz Forum

Boosting for a Lake.

To the Editor of the Quiz: Once again and perhaps for the last time the writer has a few words about a lake for Ord. Some forty or more years ago an agitation was begun for a lake. Money was raised, an engineer employed and a survey made. The plan at that time was to make a lake just north of Dane Creek. By building a dike about one-fourth of a mile long for a dam, a lake of about ten or fifteen acres could be made.

The water to fill it would be brought from the river in a canal whose entrance would be near the Mortensen property and along the edge of the foothills back of the river. Such a plan was found entirely feasible and would give a drop or head at Dane Creek of 14 feet, which could be used for power purposes. The report of the engineer, a man from Central City, said it was practical and feasible and the cost could be determined by the size of the lake.

He went away and promised to make a full report. He never made the report in full but from what he said the expense was more than the interested citizens felt could be incurred. At the same time a survey was made proposing to dam Dane Creek near the old Reams brickyard and make a lake. It was found that the water in Dane Creek would be backed up a mile and there would be damages to pay.

About that time there was a cloudburst in the west part of the county and Dane Creek got so high that it was washed out. This plan also was abandoned. This incident history and few may recall the efforts made to make a lake. However, when Mr. Buswell deeded the park to the city he expressed a hope that a lake could be constructed in the park.

The park board was more than willing, but the question of water, which seems to be necessary for a lake came up. It was plain that the opportunity for making a lake was there and pumping the water from the creek was suggested, or perhaps an artesian well could be obtained. All ended in talk and though a survey was made showing the entire feasibility of the project, nothing was accomplished.

Several years ago the writer was on a visit to friends in Sterling Colo. In the evening they took me out to their park about three miles from town. A fine grove of trees, and they were constructing at that time a lake for the park. The irrigation canal came along the bluff right by the park and they were putting in a dam across a canyon which would make a large swimming pool of perhaps 200 by 500 feet.

They were already at that time running the water into the pool, which would have a depth of 5 to 20 feet when completed. To the writer it appeared as the finest proposition ever. I did not dream at that time that the same opportunity would come to Ord, as an irrigation scheme for the Valley seemed far away. Now the opportunity has come, and if Ord does not take advantage of it and have a lake made in the park at so little expense, I will lose confidence in our city of which I have been a resident for more than fifty years.

Other towns in our state are proposing to build swimming pools at an expense of from $25,000 to $40,000, and no such method of sanitation as a lake in Buswell park would have. Anyone can see what a beautiful lake can be made and what a boon to Ord it would be in all the years that are to come. A wonderful place for skating in winter and as a summer resort unexcelled when a gravel beach is made and shade trees are growing along its borders. Then Mr. Buswell's dream will come true.

E. B. Stewart Demonstrates Advantages of Irrigation in Corn Raising

A Valley county farmer who believes in irrigation, even of the pump variety, is E. B. Stewart of Springdale, and in a 40 acre field on the river bottom he is demonstrating just what kind of a corn crop can be raised in the fertile soil of his community when water is plentiful.

Instead of pumping from a well, Mr. Stewart pumps from a small creek, using an Allis-Chalmers tractor for power. He has an eight inch pump and raised the water about 50 feet to put it on his field. In the picture at upper right, Mr. Stewart is shown at work guiding the water in his corn field, and at upper left is shown the main ditch through the field. Corn on the Stewart farm averages 9 to 10 feet in height and some of it is 11 feet tall, as Mr. Stewart proves in the picture at center, below. And it has plenty of big ears, too, one of them being seen in the picture at lower right. The tractor, belt, pump and the 8-inch pipe used are seen in the picture at lower left.

Wednesday afternoon, starting at 1:30, the Congregational ladies held a "Tourist" party for the benefit of the Aid. Groups of ladies met at the church basement, which served as a depot, with Mrs. Inez Lewin acting as "porters" for the taxis and taken at intervals to the "Sunshine Inn" or home of Mrs. D. O. Hawley, by the northern route. Here they were met at the door and presented with a yellow flower and served an iced orange-lemnade. They were then taken by the southern route to "Flavor Lodge", of home of Mrs. Kermit Erickson where they were given flower bouquets. A lovely musical program given by groups of young ladies was greatly enjoyed. Two young ladies dressed in formals were seated at a lovely flower adorned table and served another iced drink and a vegetable open-faced sandwich to two other young lady servers also dressed in formals who in turn served it to the guests.

They were then taken by taxi to the places of interest and finally landed in "Holland" which was at the Community Park. There they were met and escorted various ways to the dining hall by "Dutch boys". Each was presented with a gift from Holland. The dining hall was beautifully decorated with tulips and crepe paper. ## RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seein' Things: The old adage is "Three's a crowd," but Dean Barta doesn't seem to believe in adages. Especially with Phyllis Dodge and Alberta Flynn along. Eleanor Wolfe and Dick Koupal together. Ditto LaVerne Nelson and Jean Dahlin. See one and you see the other along).

Prize Dumbelles: The Burwell girl who thinks a traffic jam goes between bread. And then there's the Ord girl who thinks that people who come in without knocking are "step-ins."

Around-the-town: Jack Janssen seemed to have been pretty mad Sunday when he found out that the girl-friend, Betty Belle Adams of Ericson, was with Johnny (Somebody) of Greeley. Two young Ord men are going into a big business venture. It's going to be the Dubas-Darges Carnival. The boys plan to go to all the local fairs with their show.

Daffynotion: A tack is something that sits on one end, and you sit on the other end. (It's usually the sharp one, too.)

FOR STATE SENATOR

I am a candidate for the office of state senator from the 29th district, made up of Valley, Howard, Greeley and Wheeler counties, and solicit your support in the coming campaign. If elected, I will give fair service to everyone in the district. No one or any group has any hold upon me, and will not be able to force me to vote against the wishes of my constituents. I make only one promise and that is impartial consideration upon every measure before the legislature. I am in favor of the old age pension of a dollar a day, and more if necessary, advocating that pensions should be paid directly either by the state or federal office, and amount should be the same every month. I will sincerely work for this issue. 18-2t

W. A. "JAKE" JACOBS, St. Paul.

CLARENCE BLESSING.

I am not mad at anybody, so I'll just talk about myself. I realize there are hundreds of voters in Valley county that would make just as good a sheriff as I would, and who are just as much entitled to the job. However I have my hat in the ring. I have only one promise to make and that is, if I should be elected I will endeavor to learn the duties of the sheriff and try to perform my duties. I have lived in Valley county 53 years. I am anxious to get every vote that I can get, yet I'd like to make it impressive that I'd much rather lose your vote than your friendship. 19-1t Clarence Blessing.

1. He is a resident of Ord.
2. He knows the needs of this locality.
3. He is naturally interested in this vicinity.

If he is elected, he will do his best to represent the needs of the entire district. In doing so, do you believe he will forget the needs of the home part of this district? Of course not.

If Charley is nominated next Tuesday and is elected this fall, you can be sure that he will watch the interests of the taxpayers, and he will do everything he can to avoid any money being spent that isn't absolutely needed 100%. His years in this locality convinces one that he will do so and will do his level best to live up to what he has promised in his platform, which he has given out, and which has been in this paper.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Chas. Sternecker

Candidate for Representative.

MY PLATFORM

I will not make a lot of promises, never was a "yes-man" or a "rubber stamp." During the past forty years I have held various positions of trust, which I filled according to law and the dictates of my conscience in such a manner that none could truthfully say I betrayed them.

We need more common sense in our governmental affairs and less politics.

I own land, pay taxes, and believe that the farmer, laborer, and businessman's interests are mutual. I am opposed to any new taxes unless some old ones are eliminated to reduce the tax burden of the farmer. I believe there is plenty of room for economy without hurting anyone but the grafter.

The needy must be cared for, and the farmers should be given a chance to get a fair return for their work and investment.

I believe in fairness and justice to all.

If you agree with me, then I would like your support, and in return I pledge that if elected, to do the work in such a manner that I can meet you in the future with the same clear conscience I have my friends in the past.

I invite your suggestions and criticisms.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The season has arrived when pastures are getting parched, and cows are giving less milk. Most pastures have been largely weeds, and now even these are drying up. At the same time, large quantities of oats are being stored on farms where there is a shortage of livestock to feed. Oats are worth less than ten dollars a ton, which is the usual cost of hay. There is no better grain than oats for dairy cattle; it should be more profitable to market the oats as butterfat than to sell them for fifteen cents a bushel.

Midsummer is often the most critical time of year for dairy cows. As much loss comes from lack of feeding during this period as occurs through improper feeding in the winter time.

When cold weather arrives the farmer expects to feed his stock and is prepared for it. But as long as the cattle are on pasture, and field work is pressing the tendency is to let the cows get along the best way they can.

If milk production is allowed to fall off one-half in August, the cows will produce but a small amount next winter when cream prices are up. It is almost impossible to restore the milk flow after it has been allowed to run down from lack of feed.

Dairymen commonly cut green corn and haul it to the cows, when pastures become short and grain prices are high. Perhaps the best of all feeds for late summer is ensilage, where farmers are lucky enough to have it.

spoken of as a "strawberry tongue." About twenty-four hours after the onset of the above symptoms a diffuse scarlet rash comes out on the skin. First, over the sides of the neck and front of the chest but rapidly spreading downward over the whole body. The face is seld on the seat of rash. Peeling of the skin soon begins where the rash first came out and follows to every place the rash has been. On the thin parts of the skin it may be fine powdery peeling but on the palms of the hands and soles of the feet it is usually in large flakes. As the rash fades in color and peeling begins, the fever begins to fall and in two or three days reaches normal. Patients with scarlet fever may die within a few days because of the primary severity of the disease itself. More die of complications than of the disease directly. The complications are numerous, involving the ears, mastoids, joints, pettenum, bones, etc. The complication most feared is acute Bright's disease. This is due to the action of the poisons of the disease in the kidneys. It may occur in any case, even the mildest, commonly called scarletina. It comes twenty-one days after the onset of the disease and often after the patient is supposed to have recovered. The family physician will always be on the lookout for this complication and will examine the urine from time to time until this period is well past. Besides the usual treatment for sick people with a fever, we now have serum for the prevention and treatment of scarlet fever. This is very successful in modifying the course of the disease. It may be followed by rather severe serum reactions. For this reason, serum from the blood of a patient just recovered from the disease may often be better. It will protect against the infection or modify the course of the disease without any serum reaction. A Chinese Puzzle. The list of candidates whose names appear on the primary ballot to be voted August 9th will be found in another place in this newspaper. Most voters will find it a baffling enigma. They will not know much more about it when they are through reading it than before they began. It is just another example of the futility and frustration of the present primary law.—York Republican. Doyle And Frost Are Unicameral Winners

Vern W. Robbins Third Man; Round, Stone, Nominated

Greeley County Man Got Big Vote Here; Mortensen Was Given Local Favor.

John F. Doyle, with a total vote of 1,532 in three of the four counties of the 29th unicameral district, was apparently high man in the legislative race.

Vern W. Robbins, Valley county's leading candidate, polled 955 votes in the three counties and was in third place.

Votes of all unicameral candidates in Valley county were as follows: Robbins, 495; Doyle, 333; Frost, 299; Sterneckner, 233; Jacobs, 130; Hunkins, 84; Bahensky, 59; Ender, 25; Keating, 20; Lemburg, 18.

In the three counties reporting Hunkins was 4th with a total of 753, Bahensky was 5th with 481, Lemburg 6th with 440 and Sterneckner 7th with 417.

No attempt can be made this week, because of the lateness in which returns came in, to give a vote of the county by precincts on any candidates.

George S. Round with 523 votes polled more than his three opponents combined in traditional fashion to capture the republican nomination for sheriff.

A close race resulted in the contest for republican assessor but A. R. Brox, present assessor, coasted in with 324 votes to 287 for Chas. King and 267 for Henry A. Stara.

Supervisor district results follow: 1st district, democratic—Joe Jablonski 152, Henry Jorgensen

22 Firemen Respond To Call For Blood, Paul Duemey Improved

To save the life of Paul Duemey, who was in critical condition after his accidental injury when he fell on a stake and cut his arm so severely that he lost two quarts of blood, 22 Ord firemen responded Friday to their fellow member's need for a blood transfusion and offered themselves as donors.

Saturday the first transfusion was performed, Alvin Jensen being the donor, and Duemey immediately became stronger.

Mr. Duemey's injury occurred Sunday, July 31, near the Sumter bridge. He had been pushing a stalled car with his own when the bumpers became locked.

It is estimated that he lost two quarts of blood before the week was stopped. Through the week he remained quietly in bed, and was thought to be well on the way to recovery.

Firemen Would Ask District To Move

At the meeting of the Ord city council Friday evening, Chief Cecil Clark and Secretary Mark Tolen, of the Ord fire department, appeared and presented a request that the mayor and council instruct the North Loup Irrigation district officials to vacate their offices upstairs in the city hall.

Considerable discussion ensued, during which it was pointed out that at the time the fire department gave up their quarters and permitted the city to rent these rooms to the district, the rental period was to be approximately one year.

Mayor M. B. Cummins was instructed to discuss the matter with district officials and see when they expect to be able to vacate the rooms without seriously handicapping their activities.

3 Men Jailed, 1 Fined, For Liquor and Wife Beating

Judge Has Busy Day Friday, Again Upholds Right of Law To Arrest Violators.

County Judge Andersen had a busy day Friday, and it was an unlucky day for four offenders, three of whom are now serving jail sentences.

Thursday evening Marion Jensen and son Ray, of Horace, and Lee Timmons of Scotia brought to Ord a shaft from a threshing machine, which they took to the Work repair shop to have welded.

The three men pushed him around, making threats, but he finally succeeded in getting them outside the shop, whereupon he shut the doors and locked them, and then called the police.

Timmons hid in the weeds on the Blessing lots east of the shop, but was later found. He resisted arrest, had to be carried upstairs to the jail, and tried to bite F. J. Cohen's hand, but did not succeed in doing so.

Marion Jensen acted peaceable and for this reason was let off with a fine of $10.00 and costs of $8.00, which he paid and was released, when the hearing was held before Judge Andersen Friday.

Prevent Ditch Break Near Kent Thursday

Quick thinking on the part of Howard Dunbar of Taylor and also Miss Mary Ann Bartz of the Ord Irrigation office prevented a serious break in the Taylor-Ord ditch, Dunbar, who is walking ditch in the vicinity of Kent, discovered the impending break while about his duties, and at once phoned to the Ord office, telling the location and nature of the trouble.

Miss Bartz at once sent out a call for L. A. Walford, who is water master for the project. He got all the help available and set out at once for the location of the trouble, which was at the end of a flume across the Brownish canyon near Kent. They arrived in time to get the leak stopped before there was a serious washout.

It is estimated that, except for labor, the entire cost to repair the break will not exceed $5.00. The repairs have been made already, but a full head of water cannot be sent down the ditch until it has been proven that the weakened place will stand the strain. The water should be flowing as usual by the time this is in print.

Mr. Walford states that this is not the first time that prompt action has saved expensive repairs and more expensive delays. The ditch crew labors almost incessantly to safeguard the ditches, and in many cases neighboring farmers have given valuable information as to the condition of the ditch. These efforts to help are appreciated, as the matter of time is an important factor in case of a break.

Councilmen Vote 'Yes' to Water, 'No' to Bussell Lake

Lake Would Cost City $1,500, Too Much Now, Majority Opinion Decides.

Voting "yes" unanimously on the proposal to bring irrigation water via a lateral from the lower end of the Taylor-Ord canal through Bussell park, the council at the same time voted 4 to 3 against the proposition of building a lake in Bussell park at the present time.

Bringing water through the park will cost an estimated $400, councilmen were told, whereas the lake will cost $8,000, all of which except $1,500 would be paid by the WPA. But the condition of the WPA. But the park and general funds are not in condition to stand the expenditure of $1,500 for a lake now, it was thought by a majority.

Councilmen voting for the lake were McGinnis, Biemond and Dworak, with Sershen, Johnson and Rohla voting "no." Mayor Cummins broke the deadlock when he voted "no."

It was pointed out that, if water is brought through the park this year, the city may at some future time build the lake if funds and popular sentiment warrants such building.

Poultry Dressing Plant Ord's Need

Speaking before the Ord Rotary club Monday evening, Lawrence M. Loft pointed out that this city is being discriminated against by packers on poultry prices and expressed the belief that a poultry dressing plant would solve the problem.

In a well worded, pithy and interesting talk, Mr. Loft traced history of the poultry business in Ord. Decline of the live shipping industry due to racketeering in the great New York market hurt and finally eliminated this great business, he said, and with it uniformity of prices paid at outstate points began to decline.

A good many times Ord buyers pay more than they are authorized, thus cutting their own profit, thus more business to town. A dressing plant is the most feasible solution, he thinks.

By motion of the club, Secretary George R. Gard was instructed to write letters to leading packers such as Fairmont and Omaha Cold Storage to see what can be done about getting a dressing plant here.

Temperature Does a Nosedive to Only 70

After ten days of uninterrupted heat, the temperature did a nosedive during the night and this morning registered 70, officially bringing relief to Ordites and temporary succor from burning to the corn fields. But only a trace of rain fell in Ord last evening and none is in prospect, according to Horace Travis' barometer.

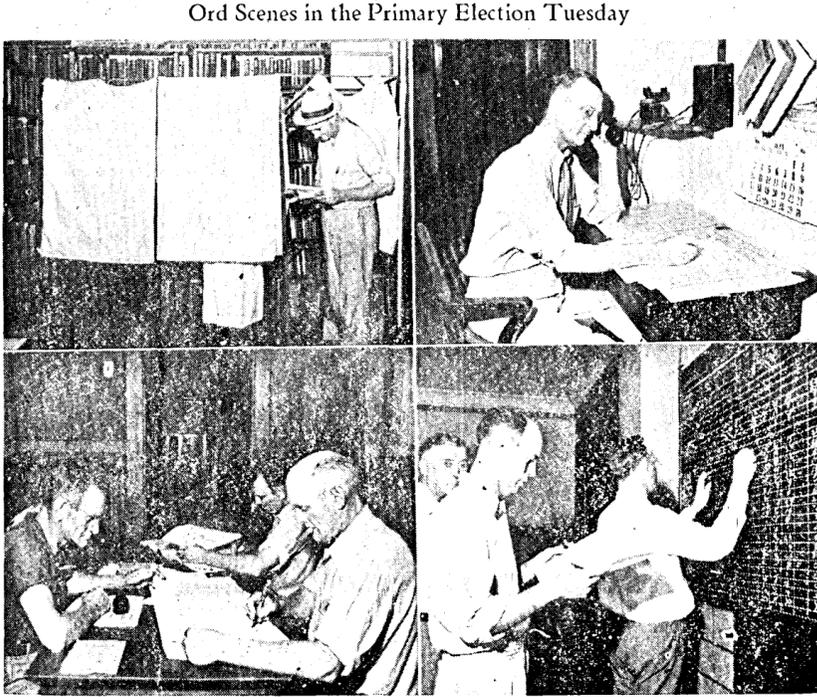

Highest temperature during the August heat wave was 102, registered Tuesday. Monday showed an even 100 while each day before ranged between the 96 and 100 mark.

Extremely severe damage has been done to corn fields by the heat and drought, estimates on various fields ranging from 25 percent to total damage, except in irrigated areas and in creek and river bottoms. Considerable more corn will be raised if rain comes soon, which is the prayer of most Quiz readers.

High Line Service Causes Complaints

Momentary breaks in electric service since the city hooked onto the high line are causing a flood of complaints from Ord people. It was said at the city office this week. People are particularly bitter against the type of service given Sunday afternoon and evening, when lights and power went off several times.

Probable reason was a storm in the Hastings area, through which the grid system furnishing electricity to Ord passes. It is hoped that certain changes can be made in the high line system to improve service. City electric men are powerless to improve the situation since diesels at the plant will not be started unless power is off 15 consecutive minutes.

Though the rain last night here was only a trace, more short breaks in service occurred, the lights being off for intervals of 1 to 6 minutes at least four times.

Top Notch Radio Talent Lined Up For Last Evening

WHO Earn Dance Brings Famous Talent to the Loup Valley Fair Sept. 14.

An outstanding program for the last night of the Loup Valley Fair, Sept. 14, has been lined up, announces Edward L. Kokes, secretary, this program being the WHO Barn Dance Frolic from the radio station at Des Moines.

Included in the program will be Boggs & Cliff, who have been released for a few days from a commercial program broadcast over the Cornbelt network, including station WOW where they have appeared as Hazel and Filbert McNut. A great many housewives listen to this broadcast every morning it is on the air.

Other Barn Dance features will be Jerry, the Yodeling Cowboy, who is one of WHO's most popular stars; Louisiana Lou; Glen Birkland, the Swedish Hillbilly; Grandpa Jitters' famous sand dance; Bob Mulcahy, who is the junior champion rope spinner of Iowa; the Norem Trio; and the Sunset Corners Five.

Topheavy with talent also for the daytime programs and at programs on the evenings of Sept. 12 and 13, the Loup Valley fair will without a doubt be the finest ever offered here. The midget auto races two afternoons also are destined to prove more exciting than auto races here in previous years, believes Secretary Kokes.

Entry days, which so many people have been inquiring about, have been set as all day Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10 and 11, so as to accommodate all entrants and avoid any last minute jams.

It has been decided to move the east bleachers around to the south side of the new 1-5th mile midget track, the secretary reports, and the work will start soon. This is the "backstretch" of the new track. Clyde Baker, superintendent of the races, got out his programs this week and they are being mailed all over the country. $1,700 in prizes will be paid for the 2-day program, making this one of the highest paying race meets in the country. He confidently expects 40 or 50 midget cars to be entered in this meet and the number may be even larger.

Syl Furtak Draws Booster Posters

The University of Nebraska extension service is putting out a series of timely bulletins from month to month. The latest of these is for September, and contains "Facts Homemakers Should Know." Of special interest to Ord people is the fact that the design used for the front cover was drawn by Syl Furtak, and we are told that a number of booklets to be issued will have his designs on the cover.

Burwell Rodeo Is Off to Fine Start

With the dust settled by 33 of an inch of rain that fell late Tuesday night, the Burwell rodeo is off to an auspicious start today. Roads leading to Burwell have been crowded with cars since early morning, and it is expected that the crowds will be larger than last year.

The usual number of cowboys are on the job to win the prize money, and the racing stables are filled with the usual assembly of fast horses for the races. The Indians are on the grounds and are attracting much attention. The Miller Bros. carnival was set up and many of the concessions did a good business last evening.

The Hartzler public address system will be used to announce the winners in the various events. The independent concession space is practically all taken, and rooms in town are at a premium. Quite a number have brought their own camping equipment and are camping wherever they are permitted to do so.

It is of course too early to announce any of the results in the contests, as the paper goes to press about the time they start, but the cowboys are predicting unusually fast time this year, as there are several top notch men in each of the three main divisions of the wild west performance. The officials also predict that the first day crowd again indicates a financial success for the rodeo.

Midget Racing Cars Dangerous to Drive

Midget cars are dangerous to drive, according to Supt. Clyde Baker of the Loup Valley Races. People are killed in them, although the mortality rate is not as high as it has been in the past with the larger cars. Two men were killed in the Sioux City, Ia., races last year. Many of the old drivers, who once drove the larger cars are turning to midget racing for new thrills.

Among these are such famous drivers as Vic Felt of Denver. Sam Hoffman of Sioux City, Pat Cunningham of Los Angeles, Curly Freeman and others. These miniature cars are motored with all types of engines from motorcycle motors, Dreyers, Offenhausers, McDowells, Stars, and many other famous makes of engines.

They are allowed up to 140 cubic inches piston displacement, and a car is not to be over 110 inches long with a wheel base of only 76 inches. They have ten or twelve inch wheels, with 12x40 tires. The races are not put on by any promoter, and the men get only what they earn. They run along the same lines as the big racers, and take time trials in the same way, only that the time trials will start in the afternoon.

Cochran, Warner, Lead for Governor; Carpenter Is Strong

Light Balloting Is Rule Over the State; Two Local Men Have Conceded Defeat.

Governor Roy L. Cochran was renominated by democrats for governor by a big majority, early returns indicated this morning, while Charles J. Warner, of Waverly, apparently will be the republican standard bearer.

Radio reports say that Cochran is polling as many votes over the state as his four rivals combined while Warner seems to have a safe lead. In Valley county Cochran polled 500, Freeman 39, Bartzatt, 13, Radke 118, and Swanson 103. Valley county republicans gave Warner 314, Gednev 173, Ross 182 and Thomas 120.

A surprise of the race was the remarkable showing being made by Terry Carpenter in his race for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. The Scottsbluff man was leading all his rivals by a big margin. Valley county democrats gave Carpenter 306 as compared with 101 votes for Tomek, his closest competitor.

C. J. Mortensen, Ord's candidate for the republican nomination for state treasurer, was running in third place this morning with Dr. T. W. Bass leading and apparently nominated. Larson was fairly close.

Another Ord man, Irl D. Tolen, seems to have lost the democratic nomination for railway commissioner to Floyd Bollen, present incumbent, though returns were coming in so slowly that Bollen's nomination was not conceded. Valley county gave Tolen 353 votes as compared with 90 for Bollen, closest to him here.

The race for non-political supreme court justice was still a "loss-up" at last reports with Robert G. Simmons leading and Judge John W. Yeager and C. A. Sorenson still in the running. Simmons, who is well known in Ord, got 670 votes in Valley county while Sorenson got 391. Only other candidate in this race to get any considerable vote here was Payne with 152.

Charles W. Taylor, state superintendent of schools, drew the biggest vote of any candidate in Valley county—965—and seems to have been high man over the state also. It is not yet certain whether Krula or Muir will be the other candidate but probably the latter.

The ballot this year was the longest in history, with so many candidates in practically every race, that returns were coming in to Lincoln, slowly and even the radio stations were not predicting winners in any except the most important races.

Next week the Quiz will print a list of the nominees on both tickets in each race for state office.

Ford Agency Bought by McCullough Motors

A deal was announced this week by the terms of which McCullough Motors, long-time Ford dealers at Central City, become owners of the Ford agency in Ord, formerly owned by Lewis Richtmyer. The manager will be Gus Schoenstein, who comes to Ord from Grand Island where he has been associated with McGuire Motors. The Ford agency in Ord has been quite active for some time but McCullough Motors have the name of being a live-wire outfit and the firm should be an asset to Ord.

Speed Boat Regatta At Lake Ericson Soon

Probably the first speed boat races ever to be held in this section of the country will take place at Lake Ericson on Sunday, August 14. Several of the finest speed-boat drivers have been contracted for that day. In addition to this there will be high diving, a surf-board riding exhibition and airplane rides. Miss Evelyn Sharp, Ord's young aviatrix, will probably be assisting with the airplane rides.

Firemen Answer Night Call

The Ord fire department was called out about 12:30 Monday eve to extinguish a blazing carload of lumber on the Union Pacific tracks near the depot. How the fire started is unknown. Firemen had little difficulty in putting out the blaze. The car was made up of sheeting, finish lumber and shiplap and had been on the tracks a couple of days. Value of the carload and amount of damage done could not be estimated as yet. Mr. Weiler said this morning. Part of the lumber was unloaded the day of the fire.

next year may bring. But as we get farther away from the days of our youth, distance lends enchantment to the view until the distant past is a veritable fairyland.

George Washington lived in a great era of our history, but he died before the first steamboat made its trip up the Hudson. John Adams and Thomas Jefferson lived fifty years after the Declaration of Independence, but not long enough to see the first railroad train in the United States.

John L. Sullivan, who loved his liquor, died before the 18th amendment went into effect. Theodore Roosevelt knew nothing of the mysteries of radio. William Jennings Bryan passed on before Lindbergh made history by flying the Atlantic, and before the era of the talking pictures.

We are forever standing on the brink of that mighty abyss known as the future. What it holds for us we cannot know but the least we can say is that it is good to live in such an age. The man who longs for the good old days is foolish for the surprises that unfold before our eyes from day to day are more worth while than all the centuries of past history.

History, which is only a record of events, is cumulative and he who lives last lives fullest, for he has at his finger tips all that has happened in the past, which is being added to in the events of the world that occur from day to day.

The coming decade will unfold greater miracles than have come to pass in the last century, and many of us will live to see them.

Thirteen Democrats wanted to run for lieutenant-governor. The chances are the winner received not more than one-fourth of the Democratic vote.

In Nebraska we did fairly well, but in some places more than fifty persons were candidates for an office only one person was needed to fill. To select intelligently from such a list is a physical impossibility.

NO "GOOD OLD DAYS." One of the favorite indoor sports of a lot of people is to twiddle their thumbs and sigh for the "good old days."

Why not be honest with ourselves, and admit that there are no "good old days?" Those days are but a figment of the imagination.

But there were no good old days. Since the dawn of time the history of the race has been one of constant progress. Hence it follows that the present time must be the greatest that the world has known.

To sigh for the good old days is the prerogative of those on the shady side of life. As the future prospect dims, the retrospect now brightens. Youth is ever looking for the brighter tomorrow, the pleasure that tomorrow, next week,

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

It Takes Smarter Men Than I. For folks with no more brains than I have, this present primary system of nomination is the bunk.

Usually my wife and I read over the sample ballots in the paper and decide for whom to vote. If there is any dispute we compromise and vote her way.

Robt. Ross a man 70 year old, a WPA worker, an ex-livier man (that is no disgrace either) and an eccentric, has run for some prominent office for years, his name appearing no differently on the ballot than the smartest man of the state.

Several other men by the name of Marsh have run on the strength of the name, (this man's nephew for one) and got elected without frequently there were no qualifications at all.

The 10 per cent loss was about doubled when oil sprays were used to protect the cows, especially in hot weather. The sprayed cows developed fevers, their body temperatures rising to around 105 degrees.

The commercial sprays seemed to interfere with the animal's heat regulating mechanism. Washing the spray off brought relief, but a week elapsed before the cow's body temperatures and respiration came back to normal.

While sprays may be necessary if cows will not stand to be milked, the above investigations teach that their use cannot be justified on economic grounds. The loss in milk production caused by files is usually overestimated.

Should I vote in Valley county there would be 34 names to choose from. The first man on the list I cared or knew a bit about voting for was our friend Grand Mortensen.

Three cheers for: The cute little number that was dedicated to Beth Guyger and Charlie (Pussyfoot) at the dance Wednesday. I don't blame Beth for being angry.

Out of town visitors: Girls coming here from different towns seem to be quite popular with the Ord boys. For instance: Kathryn Mimmick's sister from Columbus, and Jeanne Towne from Oregon.

Back in town: Lyle Klagg says that business has been rotten since 1929. (My, he must have a marvelous memory!) Marjorie Neuenburg with good-looking company Saturday. Rodney Stoltz looked very fetching Tuesday when he was washing the car and wearing only a pair of white trousers.

There was a man in town the other day, when the wind was blowing hot and hard, crossing the street from the lumber yard toward the grocery store, apparently coming from the tourist camp, and he was whistling in loud tones, Yankee Doodle. He could be heard all over the street.

I said to Irvy Sheldon, "It is self evident that that fellow is not a farmer in these parts." "Or an oil station operator either," Irvy added.

"Stonewall" Jackson, who lives south of town on Will McDermott's place wanted to move to another house. His rent was paid but Bill had been nice to Stonewall and he couldn't bare the thoughts of moving away and leaving Bill without a tenant.

I met P. N. (Pinochle) Moody in Scotia the other day. He lives far up north of Horace and jokes but never smiles and one is a good guesser to know the spirit of which he talks. It is said that they keep only one Republican in Greeley county and keep him for seed.

It is popularly assumed that files cause milk cows to drop off in production. It is also believed that such losses can be checked by spraying. That both ideas are in exact has been shown by the University of California.

The former idea was disproved 30 years ago, when it was first demonstrated that the production of dairy cows is not materially lessened by files. At California the loss was under 10 percent even where cows were shut up in screened stalls with dense swarms of stable flies, horn flies and house flies under conditions many times more severe than would be found out in the pasture.

While prevention of this disease is not as important as of many of the others it is often very convenient to avoid it, and in young males it is safer not to have it. It is generally considered possible to avoid the disease if serum from the blood of a recently recovered patient is given in sufficient amounts before the seventh day after exposure.

While sprays may be necessary if cows will not stand to be milked, the above investigations teach that their use cannot be justified on economic grounds. The loss in milk production caused by files is usually overestimated.

Should I vote in Valley county there would be 34 names to choose from. The first man on the list I cared or knew a bit about voting for was our friend Grand Mortensen.

Three cheers for: The cute little number that was dedicated to Beth Guyger and Charlie (Pussyfoot) at the dance Wednesday. I don't blame Beth for being angry.

Out of town visitors: Girls coming here from different towns seem to be quite popular with the Ord boys. For instance: Kathryn Mimmick's sister from Columbus, and Jeanne Towne from Oregon.

Back in town: Lyle Klagg says that business has been rotten since 1929. (My, he must have a marvelous memory!) Marjorie Neuenburg with good-looking company Saturday. Rodney Stoltz looked very fetching Tuesday when he was washing the car and wearing only a pair of white trousers.

There was a man in town the other day, when the wind was blowing hot and hard, crossing the street from the lumber yard toward the grocery store, apparently coming from the tourist camp, and he was whistling in loud tones, Yankee Doodle. He could be heard all over the street.

I said to Irvy Sheldon, "It is self evident that that fellow is not a farmer in these parts." "Or an oil station operator either," Irvy added.

All you folks who feel you have some talent, musical or otherwise, should remember that at the Pop Corn Days the big wigs plan a Major Bowes Amateur hour without Major Bowes, of course, and her sister Rose Ellen dressed very attractively in identical dresses. Cute! Afterthought: Nice flop Emil Krikac and Kathryn Mimmick took on the dance floor Wednesday.

MEDICAL FACTS

Sponsored by 4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

Mumps is a specific infection involving the salivary glands, usually the parotids, that is, those that lie in front of and below the ear. It, like measles and infantile paralysis is due to a "filterable virus."

Like measles, scarlet fever and many of the other diseases which begin their activities in the mouth, nose and throat, this organism enters the person with droplets of saliva thrown out by the patient in coughing, sneezing or talking. It first attacks the membranes of the mouth then spreads up the ducts to the salivary glands.

In about eighteen to twenty-one days after the virus enters the body the first signs of the disease begins, usually with a small painful swelling in front of one or both ears. Eating is painful and the swollen glands tender.

If there are no complications the disease quickly subsides and all symptoms disappear, though quarantine is maintained a variable period, from two to three weeks or until all swelling and other signs have gone away.

The most serious part of mumps is the complications. The most common of these is orchitis or inflammation of the testicle. If both are involved it leaves the individual sterile. In girls or women it may involve the breasts or ovaries, though this is somewhat unusual.

Another complication is meningitis or encephalitis. The first of these is an inflammation of the membranes covering the brain itself. Fortunately, this is mild and prompt recovery is the rule.

In a few instances it has attacked the pancreas. This makes the patient very critically ill and afterward may lead to diabetes. Fortunately, this is a rare complication.

While prevention of this disease is not as important as of many of the others it is often very convenient to avoid it, and in young males it is safer not to have it. It is generally considered possible to avoid the disease if serum from the blood of a recently recovered patient is given in sufficient amounts before the seventh day after exposure.

Your family physician knows about the usefulness of this treatment and in any epidemic undoubtedly will be able to obtain serum from cases that have recently recovered.

About Ft. Hartsuff. In the issue of the Ord Quiz for Aug. 3, 1933, there appears the following relative to Ft. Hartsuff: On Wednesday last A. M. Robbins received a letter from Senator Charles F. Manderson inclosing the following order from the War Department respecting the settlers on Ft. Hartsuff reservation. Much credit is due Senator Manderson for his efficient services in their behalf:

Headquarters of the Army, Adjutant General's Office, Washington, July 26, 1933. To the Commanding General, Military Division of Missouri, Chicago.

Sir: Referring to your endorsement of the 11th and 17th lists, on communications from Hon. Chas. F. Manderson of Omaha, Neb., in the matter of settlers now residing on the military reservation of Fort Hartsuff, the General of the Army directs me to inform you that this reservation having been abandoned, and reported to congress for relinquishment, the Secretary of War has decided to take no action with reference to the parties referred to.

I am, Sir, very respectfully your obedient servant, Chauncey McKeever, Acting Adjutant General.

The above serves to throw a great deal of light on the subject of Ft. Hartsuff, which for several years has been the center of social as well as business activity in the upper Loup valley. Planned in 1874, built in the following two years by men who had lost their crops in the grasshopper raids, and finally abandoned before 1880 is the story of the hectic existence of this outpost of civilization.

What has puzzled the younger generation was what happened to the reservation and its buildings when the government let go of them. From the above it appears that settlers squatted on the land following the removal of the soldiers, doubtless using the buildings for their homes, and that, by right of squatter sovereignty, those on the land acquired title to it.

The pitiful part of it all is that this land was once owned by the government, which simply threw it away. Had the United States retained title to this property, there would be no problem today about the acquiring of Ft. Hartsuff for a federal reservation. Further, had it been government owned, the buildings would have been kept in good condition all through the years. But the statesmen of that day could see no farther ahead than we can.

Noted Doctor Here. Dr. James Duxbury of Killarney, Manitoba, was in Ord Friday evening with members of his family on his way back from a trip to the east. He had with him his son, Norman, and daughters, Gladys, Doris and Marian. Miss Doris had been attending a school of art in Chicago and the trip was made partly to bring her back to Canada. They came to Ord from Seward, Nebr., where they had gone to visit a friend of the ladies. Leaving Ord, they planned to stop for a short time at Pierre, S. D., to visit an old friend, Gen. Burke O'Brien, who is official guide at the capitol building there. The general recently returned from the encampment at Gettysburg.

Leaving Ord, they planned to stop for a short time at Pierre, S. D., to visit an old friend, Gen. Burke O'Brien, who is official guide at the capitol building there. The general recently returned from the encampment at Gettysburg.

While here Dr. Duxbury displayed a pamphlet of the North Dakota State Historical society, which contained an article of which he had a right to be proud. It was the diary of William H. Cleland, of Waikaraiti, later Ontario, Canada, and was entitled, "Across the Plains in 1863-1865."

This diary was found in the pockets of a coat belonging to Mr. Cleland after his death in 1914, and Dr. Duxbury, who was his son-in-law, copied it and prepared it for publication. The journey started May 23, 1863, and was made by boat and train to St. Paul, Minn., which at that time was the head of navigation of any kind on the river, and the end of the railroad.

He left there with ox teams and an army escort June 8, and in the course of the next two years traveled across western Minnesota, Dakota, and Wyoming and Montana, and on to the Mormon settlements in and around Salt Lake City. On the way back he came by way of Omaha, Des Moines and Chicago.

Every step of the journey is covered in detail in the diary, and a number of interesting historical facts are corroborated, and new ideas brought to light through its pages. Dr. Duxbury and his family were very interesting people to meet, and were favorably impressed.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD. It happened to an Ord guy, but not in Ord. Some record!

Then there is the one about the young man and his lady friend who attended the Ord theater and sat throughout several hours of pictures. They must have enjoyed the show, for, when a friend the next day spoke of the lights being off several times during the evening, he said: "Were they? I didn't notice!"

From a 43-acre field they harvested 1,100 bushels of wheat. Their grain was of the black beard variety which grasshoppers do not damage to any extent.

A 12-foot combine was used in harvesting the wheat and it was done rapidly.

The Winner country is looking splendid this year. Mr. Auble reports. Small grains made a good crop, hay land and pastures are in fine condition and gardens look good, he says.

Chris Nielsen, farmer, is harvesting a huge crop of wheat this year, having something like 900 acres which made a good yield.

Jay Dee the Great

One of the Many Spectacular Acts At Valley Co. Fair

Among the spectacular attractions designed to thrill grandstand audiences at the Loup Valley Fair in Ord this year will be the performance of Jay Dee the Great, known as one of the greatest high aerial trapeze contortionists in show business.

Jay Dee presents a wierd and terrifying appearance in his life-like ape costume as he disports himself on the high trapeze in a series of antics and feats of balance defying description. Working on three different sets of high trapeze, without protecting nets, his contortion and balancing performance is unbelievable climaxing with complete dislocation of shoulders while in contortion posture.

This great aerial performer will appear September 12 and 13 among other free acts, also furnished through WHO RADIO ENTERPRISES, Inc., of Des Moines, Iowa.

"I DON'T BELIEVE IT"

By R. H. WILKINSON

GUS WILLIAMS has a habit, when some one is telling a story, of saying, "I don't believe it."

Gus doesn't mean anything by it. He doesn't intend to be rude or contrary. It is just an expression which, for some unexplainable and forgotten reason, he has adopted and injected into his casual conversation.

Whenever the Rogers attend a party, Lacey is always called upon to tell a story. He expounds at great length. He is a much traveled young man and has many interesting tales to tell concerning his own experiences.

Gus Williams is as interested a listener to Lacey's stories as the next man. And because of the fact that Gus and his wife and Lacey and his wife are very close friends, it naturally follows that the two couples are in attendance at many and the same parties, hence most of Lacey's stories have been heard by Gus and his wife on more than one occasion.

Seedling Trees Bearing Huge Crop

Above is shown a photo of Bert Lemasters and one of the seedling trees in the yard at his home in Ord. He planted seed from which these trees grew, and they are rewarding him this year with an almost unbelievable yield. He got the start for his orchard by digging up a seedling apple tree he found growing at the edge of the courthouse yard many years ago.

Vern W. Robbins Third Man; Round, Stone, Nominated

45; 3rd district, democratic—Henry Zimmund 55; Harvey Hohn, republican, 134; 5th district—Ed Christensen, democratic, 50; J. A. Barber, 95; Ed Lee 92, republican; 7th district—Bellinger 92, Lueck 50, democratic; S. V. Hansen, 105 republican. The Barber-Lee race was a corker, each man being ahead at times as different township returns came in.

Totals in the race for North Loup Irrigation district directors were: Roy C. Bailey 455; Ralph Brownell 376; William Sack, 490; W. O. Zanger 556; Val Pullen 288. To fill vacancy—Dr. F. A. Barta, 319; W. J. Hather 587. For Middle Loup District Directors—Ray Lutz 216; Fred Murray 254; Martin F. Lewin, 223; W. G. Bilingual, 29; W. Spooner, 107; J. G. Emry, 148; Ernest G. Stone, 131; H. S. Kinsey, 214; A. B. Outhouse, 162; J. E. Bowman, 142. To fill vacancy—C. W. Starr, 249; John J. Murray, 238; John R. Long, 166; J. P. Leininger, 177; Don Round, 268; Walter E. Gibbons, 242; W. F. Dunbar, 202.

The way Harry Coffee ran in Valley county and over the district was very gratifying to his friends. Democrat voters here gave him 572 votes as compared with 100 for McDermott and 72 for Heaton. Reports indicate he maintained a margin of 3 1/2 to 4 to 1 over his closest rival over the 5th district.

Recently Lacey reached a point where he found himself fighting a desire to leap at Gus and plant a well directed blow across his mouth, to tear his hair and scream curses that would give full expression to the annoyance he felt.

But Lacey is a well-mannered man and travels in correct society, hence convention and propriety forbid such an outburst. However, convention and propriety cannot prevent Lacey from thinking, from gritting his teeth and muttering foul oaths when in the seclusion of his own bed chamber.

He has, also, taken to brooding about the matter. Of course, he realizes that the thing has become an obsession with him; that he has allowed it to magnify itself and assume large proportions.

Last week an old friend of Lacey's, Miguel de Gomez, an adventurous young Mexican, with whom Lacey has shared some exciting times during a recent sojourn below the border, terminated a motor trip from Sonora at the Rogers homestead and, being warmly received, succumbed at last to Lacey's urging and decided to remain a week.

Of course the Rogers were delighted. To begin with Miguel was a direct descendant of a great Spanish family and was considered one of the wealthiest men in Sonora. He was also extremely handsome.

Rotary Club Asks Cochran, Tilley, For No. 11 Paving

Agitation Revived to Secure Highway Action in 1938; Support Is Needed.

Agitation to bring about surfacing of No. 11 pavement was revived this week by the Ord Rotary club, which through its president Dr. F. A. Barta wrote to Governor Roy Cochran and A. C. Tilley, state engineer, to inquire what the state has in mind for the highway at this time.

The letters pointed out that Tilley said last November that the road would be oiled or paved as soon as funds became available for extending Nebraska's paved road system. Extra federal funds available now as the result of the government's "spend-lead" program should make the project possible, the Rotary club believes.

Dr. Barta thanked both Cochran and Tilley for the railroad crossing elimination project between Ord and North Loup, but in strong terms advised the necessity of a hard-surfaced highway between St. Paul and Burwell.

No major improvement has been made on No. 11 during Cochran's administration, it was pointed out. Other community service clubs in the North Loup valley, as well as individuals, are invited to join with the Rotary club in pushing this important work until state officials see the advisability of connecting this valley with the rest of the state by an all-weather highway.

Fragments of Blasted Tree Damage House

North Loup—(Special)—In making a lateral across Mira creek on North Loup, it was found necessary Monday to blast out two large willow trees. The noise was terrific, but people living in the vicinity found nothing unusual until the next day, when Mrs. H. G. Westberg walked around to the side of her home facing the location of the blasts. She found several holes broken in the siding and several pieces of tree lying on the ground, the largest of which was 18 inches in circumference in the largest place and 21 inches in length. The Westberg house is located about a quarter of a mile southwest of where the blasting was done.

Raymond Hunt Died Thursday Morning

Following a long illness during which hopes were held for his recovery, Raymond G. Hunt passed away Thursday morning, Aug. 11, at the Ord hospital, at the age of 63 years, 3 months and 2 days.

At the age of 12 he came with his parents to Nebraska, where they located on a farm in Valley county ten miles southwest of Ord. There he grew up and received his schooling. Reaching manhood he engaged in farming in the same community.

Thirteen years ago he moved to Ord, where he made his home until the time of his death. He leaves to mourn his passing one brother, Charles Hunt of Ord, one half-brother, Lloyd Hunt, also of Ord, and one nephew, Harold Hunt.

NYA Funds to Help Some U. of N. Students

Lincoln, Neb.—University of Nebraska students whose scholastic averages are favorable and who need additional financial assistance to continue their higher education, will find NYA student funds available again this school year, it was announced by officials of the University. Edgar J. Boschert, assistant purchasing agent, received notification that the National Youth Administration will appropriate enough money to provide 558 students with $15 per month for nine months, a figure based on 9.3 per cent of the university's resident enrollment as of October, 1938.

University officials, however, indicated funds would be divided so that approximately 700 worthy students would be able to receive assistance during the present year, about the same number as for last year. The amount a student is given will depend upon his financial need and his scholastic record. Both graduate students and undergraduates between the ages of 16 and 24 are eligible to apply for NYA grants.

Students who intend to apply for government aid are advised to write in at once for application blanks which may be secured from the office of the Dean of Student Affairs. Many have already done so. Students in the past have benefited in more ways than one from their work experience on NYA jobs. Some have gained valuable experience as office secretaries, research assistants, and reporters, while many of the men have been assigned to the museum staff where they are taught how to work with fossil bones. An attempt is made to give the student the type of work in which he is most interested.

Park Improvement Program Decided Upon Tuesday Eve

Croquet, Horseshoe Courts to be Installed with NYA Help; Other Changes.

Meeting with the special tennis court committee of the city council, two members of the park board and Mayor Cummins, the NYA supervisor for this district, L. C. Barrett, laid before the group a plan for park improvements at Bussell park and the plan was accepted.

Using NYA labor, horseshoe and croquet courts will be laid out at the south edge of the park near the tennis courts already installed. The courts will all be lighted so play may go on during evening hours. Other park improvements proposed by Mr. Barrett include a rustic foot bridge across Dane creek, removal of a number of dead trees, cleaning up weeds and otherwise beautifying Bussell park. Cost to the city will be very slight.

Taylor Man Hurt In Sideshow Fight

Burwell—(Special)—W. I. (Pete) Moon, of Taylor, suffered deep lacerations about the head Friday as result of a fight in the tent of one of the "girlie-girlie" shows at the rodeo. His assailant supposed to be Jim Ross, one of the Hawaiian guitar players with the show, and he allegedly struck Moon over the head with a wrench six or seven times because Moon refused to leave the tent after the performance and refused to pay additional admission for an "after show" the girls were about to present to a male audience.

Officers seeking Ross for striking Moon discovered that he had left town. A day or two later Sheriff Johnson received a wire from Onawa, Ia., officers that Ross had been seen there but he has not been caught as yet. His home is said to be in Seattle, Wash.

Duemy Sneezed, Had to Go Back To Hospital

A hard sneeze Tuesday afternoon was the cause of Paul Duemy having to return to the Ord hospital where, according to Dr. J. N. Round, he will be cared for several days. The sneeze broke open the artery in his arm and he lost considerable blood before the flow could be stopped. His condition this morning was said to be fairly satisfactory and doctors do not think it will be necessary to give him another blood transfusion right now.

Evelyn Sharp Has Her Picture Taken . . . and So Does World-Herald Photographer Langevin

Ord readers of Life, the picture magazine, should not be too surprised if in the near future they see Ord's famous young aviatrix, Evelyn Sharp, pictured in its pages, for Tuesday Eldon K. Langevin, chief photographer of the Omaha World-Herald, spent the day taking pictures of Evelyn and hopes to sell the lay-out to Life. His pictures will appear in the World-Herald also.

To show the hobbies of the Ord girl who is America's youngest licensed pilot, Mr. Langevin took pictures of her in riding costume, as a fisherman swimmer and in hunting garb, as well as in her flying clothes with her new airplane, a Curtiss Robin purchased at Grand Island Monday.

While Mr. Langevin was photographing Evelyn with gun and dog, the Quiz photographer LaVern Duemy managed to get an interesting study of the two, which is shown above.

Loup Valley Fair Pioneers In Use Of Midget Races

Track Only One in Nebraska Outside of Omaha; Thrills Assured With Midgets.

Only track in Nebraska for midget auto racing except a track installed recently at Omaha is the one-fifth mile midget track put in on the fair grounds and the Loup Valley Agricultural Society is really pioneering in the use of midget races as an attraction. But the fair board isn't taking much of a chance because midget races have provided thrills for everybody wherever offered.

The midget races started on the Pacific coast and have become so popular they are spreading over the entire country and displacing other dirt track racing in popular interest. Most kings of the dirt track game are turning to midget racers for more excitement, more speed and more profits.

Sioux City was the first place in the central west where midget races were offered and races one night weekly have been and are still being held there. Drivers like Sam Hoffman and Pat Cunningham, favorites here when they drove regulation size cars, are "cleaning up" with midgets, winning consistently and offering big Sioux City crowds such thrills as they never had before.

Accidents, crashes, spills are frequent in midget racing; there is no "follow-the-leader" racing, because any car is likely to pass any other at any point on the track. Almost as fast on the straight-aways as regulation size cars, the midgets have faster pick-up and require less distance in which to pass and turn. Though mishaps are frequent, fatal or serious accidents occur infrequently in the sport.

Midget racers are not "toy cars" in any sense of the word, as some people suppose, but are powerful racing cars that often cost their makers hundreds, even thousands of dollars, to build.

The sport is a new one and in pioneering it in central Nebraska fair directors feel they are starting an entertainment feature that will prove popular for years to come.

—George Zimmerman and his cousin, Mrs. J. Wolfe, were Burwell visitors in Ord Monday.

WPA Says Will Not Work on Lateral Unless Lake Is Built

Gyger Notifies City Project Not Big Enough Unless the Lake Is Included.

That the Works Progress Administration will not accept a project to place an irrigation lateral from the lower end of the Taylor-Ord canal through Bussell park unless the city includes also the lake project, was the message conveyed by Mark Gyger, district engineer, to Ord city officials this week.

Without the lake the project is not large enough to make it worth the WPA's while and WPA heads also feel that the irrigation lateral alone will not have sufficient permanent value to justify its expense.

Recently the Ord city council by a vote of 4 to 3 rejected the lake plan but approved a proposal to run the lateral through the park, thought being that water would thus be available for building a lake in future years should it be the desire of Ord's citizenry to do so.

Cost of the entire project would be about $8,000, of which all but about $1,500 would be paid by WPA. The irrigation lateral alone would cost about $2,500, of which $400 was to be paid by the city and the balance by WPA.

This seems to put it squarely up to the council, if Ord is ever to have a lake in Bussell park, to take favorable action on the project now. Councilmen at their last meeting expressed the opinion that the city does not now have $1,500 to spend on the project. If no further action is taken by the city it seems that the whole lake plan is dead, unless the WPA can be induced to modify its ruling as regards building the canal at this time.

This matter will be considered at a special meeting of the council Friday eve, says Mayor Cummins, and citizens are invited to attend and express their views.

Red Cross Swimming Classes Will Compete

Friday afternoon at 2:00 the Red Cross swimming competition will be held at Anderson Island Park. Those who pass certain tests will be taken to Burwell Saturday afternoon to try their skill in the still water of the pool there. Thursday the adult swimming class is to be taken to Burwell.

County Vote Was Canvassed Monday

The work of canvassing the vote in the county was done Monday, County Clerk Ign. Klima having for his assistants Mrs. Ruth Haskell and Herman Miller. The law provides that when the county clerk is a candidate for office the vote on clerk must be canvassed by the county judge. Tuesday the vote on clerk was checked over by Judge John L. Andersen and his assistants, Lawrence Mason and Mart Wiegardt.

Orville Sowl to Open Grand Island Mortuary

A new funeral establishment complete and up-to-date in all details will soon be opened at Grand Island by Orville H. Sowl, it was learned recently by Ord friends. Contracts have been let for construction of a new building to house the mortuary and it will be the finest in central Nebraska. Since he sold his Ord funeral parlor to H. O. P. Anderson and W. M. Anderson, Mr. Sowl has been seeking a new location. For a time he planned to locate on the west coast but decided to remain in central Nebraska. Since June the family has been living in Grand Island.

Fair Premium List in Today's Issue of Quiz

People who plan to exhibit at the Loup Valley Fair on Sept. 12-14 should carefully save this issue of the Quiz, for in it appears the entire list of premiums to be paid. The fair board also has arranged to have 500 extra premium lists printed so anyone who doesn't take the Quiz or needs an extra mail secure a list from Secretary E. L. Kokes.

Attractive premiums will be paid in all departments and there are many added features this year, as a study of the list will disclose. Particularly in boys' and girls' 4-11 club work will there be some interesting contests.

THE SWEAR BOX.

In an eating establishment at Enterprise, Oregon, they have what they call a swear box. It is a box with a slot in the top, and whenever a customer swears in the place, he has to put a nickel in the box, the sum going to local charities.

In fact, if all communities were like some we could name, the fund would go a long way toward paying off the national debt.

A nickel fine for those who snore in church would bring in a tidy sum, as well as a nickel for those who do not go to church at all.

The kids who insist on wisecracks in the picture show should also contribute their share, and the fellow who gets the daily paper first and leaves it scattered all about.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR? For some little time now the press has been full of incidents occurring on the Russo-Manchurian border, all of which or any of which would seem sufficient to lead to actual warfare.

Yet we are now assured that this state of affairs has been going on for two years or more, and that the principal reason we did not hear of it sooner was the fact that there were no war correspondents in the area to give it the necessary publicity.

As it looks from a distance, the area under dispute has never been considered of sufficient importance to have a definite boundary line determined between the two nations.

The trouble over this boundary antedates the undeclared war in China, and for a long time the armies of both nations have been facing each other across the illly defined boundary.

It is doubtful if any major conflict will develop from this boundary dispute. At the present time Japan is in no condition to carry on another war, as she is having all she can do to stay where she is in China, and is threatened with revolt at home.

On the other hand, Russia, much as she would like to take a hand in the eastern scrap while Japan is otherwise engaged, knows she cannot do so without running the risk of trouble with Germany, which is watching every move she makes.

So we have the refreshing situation of two nations anxious to fly at each others throats, but neither willing to make the plunge. In fact, the entire world today is predisposed toward peace, just as in 1914 it was leaning toward war.

At the present time not a day passes without some nation being given fully as good an excuse to start a war. England has had dozens of reasons for starting war, against the Spaniards, both nationalists and loyalists, and against Japan, yet every move has been for peace.

The United States has met with losses in China, but there has been no talk of war, and there will be none. All nations realize that another world war would mean bankruptcy for the entire world.

It is an encouraging sign when it takes more than a slap on the wrist to precipitate a fight. After all, nations are only quantities of human beings grouped together.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett August 10, 1938.

I am sorry to hear from Eugene that the dry, hot weather has greatly injured the corn. I do wish Valley county could have some of the rains we are getting here.

"Fishing is good but catching is poor" as Irma has said. We can get all the pan fish we want of course but the large walleyes are not striking.

The campaign of these two men has been very fine. To my knowledge neither man has said a word against the other man. Each man has been anxious to be nominated and has canvassed the entire district.

There has been much speculation as to why Vern Robbins did not carry his own county. It is too bad, for if he had done as well in Valley county as Doyle did in Greeley or Frost in Howard, he would have been in the lead, and Valley county would have had a chance to be represented in the legislature.

Some people thought Vern did not come out strong enough on the promises for bigger and better pensions. All he said was that he felt the relief needed changing and for better. An organization in G. I. sent him a questionnaire to sign and in that Vern would not promise big pensions, they said they would black ball him.

Some people thought perhaps Vern was a little too well known. Horse buyers, especially when horses are cheap, are not always popular. But others thought people would surely see that he would not be trading horses in Lincoln, that he would be trading to get us roads and keep our taxes down, and do a good service like he did as supervisor.

Well, it's over and we don't know exactly why it went like it did, but it did. Valley county has been without a representative before and can again. More than that, I've seen Vern several times since Tuesday and he is weeping less than the rest of us.

A Government Job. Nine of us, at $3.90 a piece ran the election and our job of receiving and counting fifty-five votes. The day consisted largely of telling stories and fighting files.

The women, Mrs. Acker, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Albert Jetterles had a terrible time keeping the files from slipping their ankles. These women even claimed the files bit right through their shoes.

I suggested they apply a little fish oil as I do on a cut of mine that has been cut, but Vern Thomas and Carl D. Jensen suggested that the women wash their feet too often, and that for a few weeks before the next session, these women dispense with that foot washing ordeal. The results might be of the same order as the fish oil and cheaper. Water costs in Horace, you know.

Mrs. John Zulkoski was a bus passenger to Elyria Monday. She went there to visit her father.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

We Should Always Vote.

A Government Job. Short Shavings.

There is one reason why a person should always go and vote and this reason seems to many people, paramount over all others. That is, that the vote of some candidate might be so near a tie that the one voter would change the result and that voter would be responsible for the defeat.

Such was the case last week with Ed Lee and Jake Barber, candidates for county supervisor. At last report, Jake was two ahead. If one is running for office and must be beaten, it is better that he be beaten by enough votes so that he feels he could not have won regardless and that really the best man came out ahead.

In such close contests, there is always the feeling with the loser that had he tried just a little harder, or if a certain man had not failed him by not coming to the polls, he might have been elected.

On the other hand, a man like Jake, who wins by only two votes, is not sure of his ground and has the feeling, although he is actually ahead, he may not have even half the people for him.

The campaign of these two men has been very fine. To my knowledge neither man has said a word against the other man. Each man has been anxious to be nominated and has canvassed the entire district.

Everyone on the board except me forgot their glasses, so accommodating that I always am, I loaned each one each time they had to write a name, my sixteen dollar pair. Each proclaimed my glasses worked fine, as good as their fifteen cent pair they left at home. It was all right if I hadn't been a little afraid they'd wear mine out before night came upon us.

To finish the day off properly we of the receiving board to be helpful signed up the time sheets for both boards, which made the counting board very happy, in the reverse.

Short Shavings. M. H. Tellman, who was nominated with colors flying again for commissioner from the west side of Greeley county once studied engineering in Denmark, and it is said he knows exactly before he starts work what a road or a new bridge is going to cost.

The story goes about him that he had a new bridge to build and he took his pencil and paper and figured out to the last spike, all the materials that were to go into the bridge. After this was done he ordered everything sent to the place of construction.

In a few days he was out to see the bridge that was near completion. Upon arrival the bridge builder told Tellman he needed a few more spikes, that there was not enough. Tellman knew there was enough spikes sent out. He looked around and saw a few bent ones and was disgusted at the wastefulness, so he ordered his workmen before he paid them, to straighten out those spikes and use them—then there would be enough.

Keeping a scrapbook we think of as being a form of child's play, but have you ever stopped to consider the ways in which you might utilize this habit to your own pleasure or advantage?

One clever young bride I know began a scrapbook in which she pasted favorite house plans. Over these she pored for hours, studying details and advantages of closet space over hallways and powder rooms. Now, married less than two years, she is living in a new home that is a dream of convenience and space-saving.

A very progressive beauty shop owner I know keeps two scrapbooks, she tells me. One large one she hands to patrons, for its pages always contain many lovely new hair styles, and the details the operator needs to have in order to duplicate them are usually on the same page. Having loose-leave, this book is easily kept up-to-date.

Her second scrapbook this beauty shop owner devotes to money-making ideas she clips or reads about, plans for direct mail advertising, tricks to improve her shop, the work or her business. She says both scrapbooks have proved their value to her, over and over.

A young woman who wants above all to be the best mother possible for her small daughter has a hobby of keeping a scrapbook to help her. In it are games, many play time suggestions, pictures of things to do, easier ways to teach a child what she must learn. And this mother not only has made a brilliant success of her own child-raising, as far as she has gone, but excels as a Sunday school teacher or as a birthday party hostess.

An older woman friend has a handwork scrapbook, each page filled with patterns to crochet or knit. Usually only the stitches are shown. Then, to make a lovely dress, for example, she buys a simple dress pattern, crochets her pieces to fit the pattern. When neatly sewn together, her dresses and coats are works of art.

Livestock breeders in Kansas are complaining about the decrease in sales to other states since Kansas started the port of entry system. Now Kansas is completely surrounded by states which have adopted similar legislation. Fewer trucks will pay to cross the state line, especially to Oklahoma or Missouri, where the tax is prohibitive.

Peace growers in South Carolina saved their fruit from rotting on the trees last year by getting the state's license requirements relaxed on foreign trucks. Several other New England states have run into serious difficulties in trucking farm products to outside markets, much to the amusement of the railroads.

The constitution says that states cannot impose duties and imposts on products from other states. But it doesn't prevent eighteen states, including Nebraska, from surrounding themselves with border patrols to keep out the hated merchandise of their sister states. The vast, free market system under which this country developed is being dropped in favor of protection for home state industries.

With dry weather having caused much damage to the corn crop in Valley county, many farmers are planning to conserve this damaged corn by filling their silos and it now appears that the large number of trench silos constructed during the past three or four years will again demonstrate their value.

Despite the fact that livestock numbers in the county are low, corn which has formed very little grain can be profitably stored in the silo for future use because it will keep indefinitely in the silo. Many farmers have used silage which had been kept for several years with very good results. At one experiment station silage which was stored in 1922 was fed in 1936, just fourteen years later. It was slightly darker in color and stronger in flavor than fresh silage but cattle ate it readily and feeding resulted in an increase in milk production.

Much of the damaged corn should be put into the silo immediately since it deteriorates rapidly when left standing in the field. The stalks are likely to fall down and the leaves blow off. Rain will not help corn which has reached this stage but on the contrary it only hastens the process of deterioration. The sooner such corn is put in the silo, the greater its feeding value will be.

There will be a livestock judging contest at the Valley county fair open to all school boys in Valley county. This contest will be held Tuesday, September 13, at nine o'clock. Two divisions will be held. Group 1 for high school boys, and group 2 for grade school boys. Prizes for each group are $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c and 25c.

Oral reasons will be required of Group I. No reasons will be given in Group II. —Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. McClary and son Blaine of Poole, Neb., were guests in the John Boyce home the past week.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The sale of farm products is hampered by the tax barriers and ports of entry that many states are building around themselves. Colorado potato growers had to let their harvest decay in the cellars recently because of the heavy tax on interstate trucks. Outside truckers wanted to come in and move it, but the cost of crossing the border was too high.

Thank You!

To my friends throughout the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District I want to say "thank you" for your fine support of my candidacy for director at last week's primary. My vote everywhere was a fine one, particularly in the upper end of the district. I hope all my friends in the district will continue to support me and will turn out and vote for me at the general election in November.

RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seen' things: Clark Anderson still sore from that lovely hitchhike back from Kansas. Harold Pray acting very disappointed when he found out that Maxine Severns' veddy best boy-friend from Washington was back in Ericson. Jackie Meyer, Eleanor Wolfe, and the two Burwell boys drinking pop in front of the New Cafe about 11 o'clock Saturday eve.

Home thoughts from Burwell: The boys working in the Dubas-Darges stand seemed to be having O.G.T. (one grand time) with Alaire Pulliam. Frank Hansen of Burwell hiding behind the alias of "Homer John, the Blacksmith." Ever hear of a blond blacksmith hardly strong enough to lift a 100 lb. weight? Myrtle Able having a very nice time with Billy Goodell. Where was Dahlin? Bob Jablonski and a stunning brunette. (and I thought he preferred blondes!) Paul Kern with that wistful look in his eyes. Wonder why? The boys in general eyeing the cute little girls from Broken Bow in their cute little Scotch costumes.

Wonder why? Everyone calls everyone else "Rose" in Burwell. Pete DeLashmuit had that sour look on his face when one of his Burwell pals politely asked him if he was going to Ord Thursday.

There ought to be a law against it. Friday night Dale Hughes, enjoying the sights at the rodeo, nonchalantly sauntered past one of the gypsies tents. Suddenly one of the gypsies ran out and yelled, "Hey you, with the finger wave, come here!"

Back in town: Seems the dance Monday was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Jack Janssen with Betty Belle, cutting his Greeley opponent entirely out of the picture. Dorothy Ann Zikmund and a nice looking escort. Smiley Barnes looking very fetching with that lump on his jaw. (It gives him a background.) Severson attempting to work some of the tricks that he saw in a magazine. That man Charlie Valenta again!

"I'M TOUGH! I EAT QUAKER OATS EVERY DAY!"

WHY is it you so often find the sturdiest, healthiest youngsters and grownups have been "brought up" on Quaker Oats? Because oatmeal is the richest of all whole grain foods in strength-giving proteins. Proteins, you know, are the vital food elements best for building muscle, firm flesh, and lasting strength. It's richer than other thrifty cereals too in phosphorus for teeth and bones, in iron, and in important Vitamin B<sub>1</sub>, the nerve-digestive-appetite vitamin which children and every body need supplied to them every day! So serve delicious Quaker Oats often to help fill out your growing boy or girl with the sturdy "tough" kind of muscular flesh and improve your own general well-being. Quaker Oats saves money, too... often cuts breakfast costs to half of more expensive foods... and you can have it ready in only 2½ minutes! Get a package of Quaker Oats at your grocer's today!

ANOTHER MODERN GIFT of science being used to improve the Optical Profession. ARTIFICIAL DAYLIGHT In our office now your eyes will be examined in a lighting effect equal to daylight on an average day. This is far superior to the past system of ordinary electric lights and even superior to daylight because there is absolute control of intensity as compared with the unevenness of bright days and cloudy days and the time of day. The average person uses his eyes eighty percent of the time by daylight and this fact must be considered in getting the most accurate results in an eye examination and fitting. It will be worth while to step in for a minute and see how it seems to be in daylight within closed doors. DR. GLEN D. AUBLE OPTOMETRIST Ord, Nebraska

My Appreciation---

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all the voters in Valley county and the 29th District who supported me in the last Primary Election for the nomination of State Legislator from this district, and I wish to personally thank the voters of Valley county that interested themselves in my campaign which in a large degree was responsible for the nice vote I received in Valley county.

As to my opponents in Valley county, Mr. Robbins and Mr. Sternecker, I have high regard for both of them as they carried on a clean campaign and not one bit of dirty politics was in evidence. I earnestly solicit the support and help from the Valley county voters in the November Election.

Burwell Lumberman Was Nicknamed "Pard" by Nigger Amos and Has Been So Known Ever Since

By Lillian Karty.

H. J. Coffin of Burwell is still wearing the nickname tagged on him by Nigger Amos, one of the best-known characters in the early history of the Loup valley.

"Pard" Coffin was born in Boston, Mass., on January 11, 1860. In March, 1878 he came to Schuyler. From there, he moved to Enmond, and in March, 1884 he arrived in Gardfield county where he has lived ever since. The county at that time was typically western. There were no towns. The place where Burwell is now situated was in Wheeler county.

Upon his arrival here, Mr. Coffin started farming. He had purchased a cattle ranch and a farming place in "The Forks." But let him tell the story of his meeting with Nigger Amos in his own words.

"One evening after I had just come here in 1884, a colored man weighing about 200 lbs. came into my place one evening and wanted to know where Haskins was. I had bought Haskins place, and Haskins had moved to west, Ainsworth. He said that a cattleman had sent him and told him to stop at Haskins. He had thrown 1500 head of cattle into "The Forks" and wanted to know if he could stay with me. I said, "Sure, if you think you can behave yourself." He said he guessed he could, so we hung up together. One night while I was cutting up potatoes to plant, a man named Carlyle dropped in. I heard talking outside and finally Nigger Amos says, "Come out here, Pard, a man wants to see you." So I went out, and Nigger Amos, when introducing us said, "Dis am Pard. What do ya think of him?" Carlyle looked me over and says, "Oh I guess Pard's all right." Ever since then I have gone by the name of "Pard."

"In the early days," continued Mr. Coffin, "all the people in the North Loup valley were just like one big family. If they came to see you, and you went home, they would cook what they could find for dinner, clean up, and leave things just as they had found them."

"Why did I leave farming for the lumber business? Well, I had been overheated in the fields several times, and when I got a chance to buy the lumber yard, I figured that I would rather be a lumber man than a 'punkin-busker and a cattle-puncher.' I bought the lumber yard in 1892."

This is an interesting fact, because today, after 46 years, "Pard" Coffin is still running the same lumber yard.

Attempting to find out his views on politics, I asked, "What are you, Mr. Coffin, a democrat or a republican?" After some time he replied, "Well, I'm supposed to be a Republican, but if the Democrats have the best man, then he's the man that gets my vote." "And what," I asked, "do you think of the WPA?"

"Oh, the WPA," he replied. "Well, some of these institutions are all right, but I think personal incentive is the basis of the prosperity of this country."

H. J. Coffin of Burwell is still wearing the nickname tagged on him by Nigger Amos, one of the best-known characters in the early history of the Loup valley.

The Horace-Greeley road sign north of North Loup was pictured in the Curiosity Corner of the Nebraska Farmer for Aug. 13. It has been featured on a number of former occasions, but in this case the drawing shows a road running east and west with the sign pointing east, but does not show highway No. 11, which runs north and south. Speaking of marijuana plants, there are enough growing along the south side of the Burwell-Sumter ditch at Burwell between the dam and the road leading to the Glenn Lakin place to supply cigarettes for half the people in the valley. The chances are that the people who have seen the weeds growing do not know what they are, or they would have been destroyed before this.

Miss Wilma Mayfield, who has been attending the rodeo and visiting relatives in Burwell, passed through Ord Saturday on her way to her home in Lincoln. Harold, Carlisle and Morris Williams of Grand Island came to Ord on the bus Saturday to spend the week-end with their grandparents. They were accompanied by a friend, Bill Kunhart. Mrs. Margaret Milligan arrived in Ord Wednesday evening from her visit to her children in Long Beach, Calif. She spent nearly two months there. Glenn Banks was a visitor from Burwell for a short time Wednesday evening. He reported a better first day crowd at the rodeo than last year. Miss Viola May Flynn has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Flynn, the past ten days. Thursday Miss Lucretia Thelsen of Osmond arrived and remained as her guest until Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cremeen of Arcadia were in Ord Saturday accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Clinton Frank of Iowa, who have been visiting them. Mrs. K. W. Peterson returned from Lincoln Saturday evening, where she had been visiting Kene's brother and family, the C. E. Petersons. Vernon C. Balle, postal inspector who has been inspecting the proposed sites for the new post office, returned to his home in Omaha on the bus Friday. Mrs. Jacob John, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Joe Veleba in North Loup, returned to her home in Ord Saturday morning. Shorty Rhodes and Spud Cass who have been employed in the construction of the new Ord-North Loup highway, were in Ord Saturday evening and reported that the road would be ready for graveling in another day or two. R. E. Lawton of Craig, Colo., came to Ord Friday morning to visit friends and relatives. He has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Wm. H. Maxson of North Loup. He spent the day in Ord visiting his cousins, Theron and Jake Beehrle. Mr. Lawton lived in Ord twenty-eight years ago. Mrs. Jess Reeves of Norfolk passed through Ord Thursday on her way to Burwell. She planned to attend the rodeo and also to find employment as a practical nurse in this part of the state. She says that crop prospects around Norfolk look much brighter than they do here. Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Schwarzel of Meadville, Pa., arrived in Arcadia Tuesday evening. They were brought over from Kearney by Floyd Arnold and Ord Twombly. Wednesday they drove to Burwell to attend the rodeo, and on the way home stopped in Ord during the band concert to visit old friends. Mrs. Schwarzel is the former Flavia Twombly. Clyde McCormick, field representative of the Harrison nurseries of York, Neb., was in the valley some time visiting the farmers. He has been covering this territory for the past three years, and has been with the company twenty years. Roy Pardue spent the latter part of the week in the Ord hospital, where he was found to be suffering with a severe heart attack. He was taken to the hospital Thursday and to his home Saturday morning. Sunday he suffered a second attack, and his condition at the present time is not the best. The Horace-Greeley road sign north of North Loup was pictured in the Curiosity Corner of the Nebraska Farmer for Aug. 13. It has been featured on a number of former occasions, but in this case the drawing shows a road running east and west with the sign pointing east, but does not show highway No. 11, which runs north and south. Speaking of marijuana plants, there are enough growing along the south side of the Burwell-Sumter ditch at Burwell between the dam and the road leading to the Glenn Lakin place to supply cigarettes for half the people in the valley. The chances are that the people who have seen the weeds growing do not know what they are, or they would have been destroyed before this.

VALLEY COUNTY SCHOOLS
CLARA McCLATCHEY, Superintendent

Arrange all exhibits on the cards so they will hang the long way.

Fasten exhibits on the cards with metal paper brads. These will be furnished to you at the office if you ask for them. Do not glue or paste any exhibits on the cards. Exhibits should be fastened at the bottom as well as at the top.

In marking the exhibits use the following form:

Name.....
Grade in School.....
Class C1 or D5 etc.....
District No.....

This form should be on the individual exhibit or on a slip of paper fastened to each exhibit.

Your whole exhibit will make a better showing if you use care in arranging the exhibits so that they are not crowded on the card. If you have posters too long to go on one card arrange them on two cards that can hang side by side.

Each year the question arises as to what disposition should be made of prize money. In my opinion the prize money should be considered school money and used to purchase something useful for the school. Try to instill a group pride in your school exhibit as well as individual pride.

Would Serve Ord By Proposed $25,000,000 Gas Pipe Line

Kansas Co. Asks RFC for Funds To Finance Project

Pipe Line Would Run North to Minnesota Iron Range and Serve New Territory.

Thirty-six Nebraska cities and towns will be in line for natural gas service if a projected $25,000,000 natural gas pipe line linking the southwest Kansas "dustbowl" fields with the iron ore ranges of northern Minnesota is carried through. Ord is one of these communities.

Now before the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at Washington is an application by the Kansas Pipe Line & Gas Company for a $20,000,000 loan to supplement private capital already pledged to the undertaking.

The Ak-Sar-Ben Gas Company, who secured a franchise in Ord a couple of years ago, is interested in the project. The franchise has now expired, however.

More than 100,000 Minnesotans already have pledged support to the project, and action currently is being had by officials and civic and commercial organizations of South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, North Dakota and Montana cities and towns.

The Ord Chamber of Commerce and Rotary club have requested RFC to approve the loan.

Although the principal purpose of the line is to make possible utilization of two of the nation's vast reserves of natural resources—the 57,000,000,000 tons of low-grade iron ore on the Mesabi and Cuyuna ranges of Minnesota, which can not now be utilized because of high fuel costs, and the almost limitless quantities of natural gas in the Hugoton Panhandle field.

Along the pipe line, through Nebraska, the gas would be available for a great variety of commercial and industrial purposes.

In many Nebraska communities natural gas is used for alfalfa dehydrating plants, which constitute an expanding item of agricultural industry. Kin-dried alfalfa contains 200,000 vitamin units per pound, while sun-dried alfalfa contains only 25,000 units. From 50 to 60 percent of the weight is eliminated by moisture removal, thus lowering freight costs.

Other semi-agricultural uses to which this low-cost fuel is being put elsewhere, and for which it could be used in Nebraska areas not now served by gas, include:

Manufacture of brick and tile from clay.

Development of canning factories, enabling farmers to diversify crops and market their products.

Conversion of corn into products such as starches, syrups, alcohol, etc.

Charley Slavicek Dies in Chicago

Charley Slavicek, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Slavicek, was born in Tabor, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 28, 1886, and died in Chicago, Illinois, Aug. 15, 1938, at the age of 51 years, 9 months and 17 days. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kokes went to Chicago and brought the body to Ord for burial.

In 1872, when he was 6 years of age, he came with his parents to America, locating in Cleveland, Ohio, where they lived for 14 years. In 1886 the family moved to Nebraska, locating in Valley county on a farm west of Ord in Michigan township. They were among the first settlers in that locality, and experienced the hardships of the pioneers.

While his people continued to live there, Charley did not take to the farm, so after two or three years he decided he would return to the city life in which he had spent his boyhood years. He went to Chicago, where he became an expert mechanic and was employed as a boiler-maker. The remainder of his life was spent in Chicago in this occupation.

His death was caused by heart failure. He never married, and so leaves no immediate family. One brother and four sisters survive. The brother, Joseph Slavicek, resides in Hastings, Neb. One sister, Mrs. Anna Thompson, lives in Lincoln, Neb. Three sisters, Mrs. Mary Kokes, Mrs. Julia Krifcak and Mrs. Lena Zikmund, all reside in Ord.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2:00 from the Frazier Funeral Parlor in Ord. Rev. Mearl C. Smith being in charge, and the body was laid to rest in the Ord cemetery. The pall bearers were J. J. Waldmann, Frank Kokes, Sr., Jacob John, E. W. Gruber, Matt Kosmata and John Kokes.

The above map shows how a projected $50-mile natural gas pipe line would link two of the nation's vast natural resources—the natural gas of the southwest Kansas "dustbowl" area with the unlimited low-grade iron ore reserves of northern Minnesota—in an economic partnership which would provide employment for many thousands of men, and create a commercial and industrial stimulus along its entire length, including 36 cities and towns in Nebraska.

Council Approves Park Improvement

At an adjourned meeting of the Ord city council Friday evening the council empowered Mayor M. B. Cummins to sign an application to the WPA to set aside $10,000 for park improvements. This is the initial step to carry through a general plan of park improvement.

Formal application has been made, requesting the WPA to set up funds to be used on this project. The proposed work at the park will be built in units, of which the lateral to carry irrigation water through the park will be the first.

The lake and any other work in the park that the public may require may be built in similar units. Because of the changes made in the plan, it was necessary to submit a new project to Washington, and 5 to 6 weeks will be required for official approval.

Midget Auto Race Interest Growing

Race Superintendent Clyde Baker is authority for the statement that inquiries from race drivers are coming in this year better than ever before. Most of them live on the excitement of the game, and they find the racing in small cars much more exciting than with the larger ones.

Mr. Baker contacted a number of the midget car owners in the past two weeks while in Colorado, when he attended the midget races being held in Denver. He found them all very enthusiastic over the midget racing idea, which is drawing bigger crowds than the racing with bigger cars did.

They say that the thrills and spills of the smaller track keep the crowd in constant suspense all through the races. Because of the shorter track the cars spend most of the time jockeying for position on the turns, which is the part of the races that gives the crowd a thrill.

While in Colorado Mr. Baker sent entry blanks to midget car owners in Cheyenne and also to Oklahoma City, and of course contacted all the drivers at the races in Denver, of which there were a large number. The owners of several of the better cars have promised to bring them to Ord this year.

Among them are Ray Sherman, Ray Leslie, Walt Killinger (two cars), and I. M. Buzzard, all of Denver, and Buz Buzzard, of Littleton, Colo. I. M. Buzzard is now the high point man at Merchants' Park in Denver, where the midget races are held.

Inquiry has been received from Harry M. Quinn, who holds the 1937-38 national championship at Chicago, is mid-west champion, and who also was 7th at Indianapolis in the 500 mile classic on Memorial day. The entry blank of Chris DeHaven of Houston, Tex., who drives a car with an outboard motor, has been filled out.

Les King, with Eddie Krifcak as driver, will be seen at the Ord races this year. His car holds the 15 lap record at Atlantic stadium in Los Angeles, and also the eight lap record at Gilmore Stadium, also in Los Angeles.

Vern (Dutch) Anderson came in on the Union Pacific Tuesday evening and went on to Burwell on the bus. He had been to Grand Island to see about getting back to work with the railroad, as he is on the extra list.

Officials Active In "Streamlining" Valley Co. Fair

Snappy, Modern Program Is Aim of Fair Heads; Night Shows to be Big Feature.

"Streamlined" is the modern word that best describes the 1938 Valley county fair to be held in Ord on Sept. 12, 13 and 14, for the fair officials have been active in planning features that will appeal to everybody who likes the kind of entertainment popularized by stage, screen and radio.

The 1938 show will be fast-moving entertainment from Monday noon, Sept. 12, until 11 p. m. Wednesday when the final night show closes and people may attend every afternoon and evening performance confident they will be seeing something new all the time. There will be no day-after-day repetition of free acts; instead, new ones will be offered at each program, under an exchange arrangement with a fair in western Nebraska by which acts are switched daily between the two.

Midget auto racing, the afternoon feature Tuesday and Wednesday, is the last word in thrills as anyone who ever has seen the little cars go will testify. Almost as fast as regulation-size racers, driven by daredevils who take their lives in their hands every time they start a race, these little cars are sure to make a hit with the fair crowds. At Denver, Sioux City, Omaha, Los Angeles, Miami, the Roosevelt Speedway and other places where midget racing has been tried, it immediately caught on in popular favor and has practically forced the old auto races out of existence. First midget races in Nebraska outside will be those held in Ord this year.

For people who like fine thoroughbred racing and high school horses, the Blanche McKenney Hunter & McKenney Hippodrome horses on the first afternoon will be a popular feature.

And for night programs the fair management has booked, through WIO Radio Enterprises of Des Moines, a fast-moving vaudeville show known as the Swingtime Varieties Revue, to give two evening performances, and the WIO Barn Dance Frolic for the final evening performance. There are forty singing, dancing and vaudeville artists in the Swingtime Revue cast; about 20 in the Barn Dance Frolic.

To increase seating capacity, the fair board has made arrangements to place 1,000 folding chairs on the track between the main grandstand and the stage during evening shows only. Center section of the grandstand will be reserved; popular prices will be charged for other seats. The reserved seats will be going on sale soon and it may be a good idea to reserve seats early, as all central Nebraska will want to see these great night shows, seen here for the first time.

Many vaudeville acts have been secured to help entertain crowds during the afternoon programs, among them being JayDee the Great, Don and Carol, the Skating Sailors, Wade and Wade, acrobats, the Three Leonardos, Paul Mix & Co., Olive Miles and Queenie, the Cow, the Great Hillyard, and a host of others.

The whole program is "streamlined" for finest entertainment and Valley county people may well be proud of their 1938 fair. No show in Nebraska this summer will offer more for the spectator's money.

Laverne Lakin has been confined to his home this week with tonsillitis, coming down with the complaint Sunday evening.

Break in Dam Tuesday Caused by Raising Stop Box

The raising of a stop box on the Ord-North Loup irrigation ditch south of North Loup Tuesday afternoon caused the water to raise about two feet higher than it was supposed to be, with the result that the lower bank of the ditch gave way under the added pressure and the water ran out into a canyon. When the stop box was inspected shortly before noon it was all right, but some one meddled with it after that time.

The irrigation officials are anxious to learn the identity of the miscreant, who, by raising the box caused the break, and delayed irrigation below the point of breakage. If incidents like this continue the board will have to forbid anyone trespassing on the property of the district in order to protect the property and the rights of those who are using the water.

The break was discovered about 6:00 p. m., and was reported to Ord by Ed Parkos, one of the men in the group who made the discovery. Mr. Parkos stated that a good sized stream of water was already running through the lower bank of the ditch when first discovered, and that nothing could be done to stop it. The water continued to run through until the ditch was emptied cutting a large hole in the bank, as shown above.

Three Persons In Accidents, 1 Hurt

North Loup—(Special)—Mrs. N. C. Madden fell through the trap door to the cellar, which is located in the kitchen of her home, Thursday. She had been down cellar for something and went to the back room of the house for last week's Quiz to look up an item she was discussing with her daughter, Frieda.

She came out reading the paper and walked into the hole. Frieda started down to help her mother, and fell on a step that Mrs. Madden had broken. Neither lady suffered broken bones, but Mrs. Madden has been in bed since with a cold on her lungs and a return of heart trouble.

Dr. W. J. Hemphill took Silas Morrow of Greeley, to St. Francis hospital in Grand Island Monday. Mr. Morrow was thrown by a horse and suffered a broken pelvic bone and other injuries. The Morrow family lived some years on the Gowen ranch in the Riverdale district, and are known to many in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sternocker and Clara were over to Ansley Friday and spent the day with Mrs. Sternocker's sister, Mrs. Con Shrecker, who lives on a farm. They found the corn crop very poor there.

Swimming Classes End for Season; 178 Were Enrolled

3 Given Red Cross Award for Advanced Work, 40 Given Beginner's Buttons.

Saturday afternoon the local Red Cross swimming season was brought to an official close when Arden Clark, the summer's instructor, took eight cars of junior members to Burwell to swim in the river below the dam there. Some 32 young folks enjoyed the outing there as a reward for good attendance and commendable progress in the six weeks' course of classes. All those who cared to were also given the opportunity to take the regulation Red Cross tests for the awards.

Everybody had a good time in the water there and considered it an interesting experience to try out their newly acquired knowledge in quiet water. The students had only the river in which to practice their strokes during the summer, and rapid and uneven current in a river does not permit the best progress in learning the strokes.

The first or beginners' award requires the student to jump into water over his depth, swim 25 feet turn and swim 25 feet back. This button was awarded this season to the following: Beverly Davis, Charles Draper, Doris Klima, Hilda Lola, Maxine Wardrop, Matilda Wegrzyn, Cerella Wegrzyn, Edwin Jirak, Norma Long, Marilyn Long, Billy Husbands, Patty Roberts, Donald Sorensen.

Arrested at Elyria. Melvin Fox was arrested at Elyria Sunday evening when he was causing a disturbance at the dance hall, and resisted the officers who tried to get him to leave. Brought before Judge John L. Andersen Monday, he entered a plea of guilty as charged and was sentenced to serve 5 days in jail. He was also warned that an officer's word is law and must be obeyed.

Axel Not Badly Hurt. This morning Clyde Baker received word that Lloyd Axel who was injured at Roosevelt raceway at Long Island last week, was not badly injured as at first feared, and that he would be able to be present at the races to be held in Ord Sept. 12, 13 and 14.

Band Concert Tonight Again Offers Soloists

Paul Gard Makes 'Not Guilty' Plea on Peeping Charge

Carkoski Signs Complaint, Ord Boy in Custody; $100 Bond Required by Judge.

Upon the complaint and information of Steve Carkoski, made in the name of the state of Nebraska in police court this morning, Paul Gard was arrested by Chief of Police L. H. Covert and Night Officer W. E. Lincoln, and charged with going on the Carkoski premises to look and peep.

Young Gard is alleged to have been seen looking in at the window about 11 o'clock at night by Mr. Carkoski, who fired a revolver not with the intention of hitting him but to frighten him away. Gard then ran, says Carkoski. Some of the neighbors, aroused by the gun's report, are said to have given chase.

The West M street neighborhood was considerably aroused over the affair, several neighbors of the Carkoski family claiming they had been annoyed by a window peeper whom they claim to have recognized as young Gard.

The misdemeanor occurred Tuesday night and Wednesday morning officers interviewed several people who were aroused by the disturbance. The arrest of young Gard then was made and the charge filed by City Attorney Clarence Davis.

Arraigned in Police Judge John L. Andersen's court, Gard entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over for hearing, his bond being fixed at $100.00. Bond had not been arranged at noon today and Judge Andersen was waiting until bond was filed before setting a date for the hearing.

2-Day Heat Wave Summer's Worst

Hottest two days of the summer were Monday and Tuesday, when the official government thermometer registered a high of 104 Monday and 103 Tuesday. The heat wave was broken about 1:30 Wednesday morning when the wind changed into the north and brought relief.

Unofficial thermometers caught the temperature Tuesday as high as 110 but the mark of 103 will go into the records as official. At Burwell Tuesday the official mark was reported as 108 while Grand Island is reported to have had 110.

No rain has fallen yet in the Valley county area and the corn crop is now almost beyond aid, though some late planted corn might still be benefited by moisture. Creek and river bottoms fields will produce 15 to 20 bushels per acre, it is claimed; the sand flats will have a fairly good crop; and, of course, irrigated fields will yield up to an estimated 70 bushels per acre. Farmers are hoping for moisture so fall plowing may be started.

Two Escape Injury When Car Upsets

H. C. Carr, Ford dealer from Bassett, and a companion, D. Stahl, narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday, at 10:00 a. m., when their car skidded in gravel on a turn west of Sioux Creek and overturned. The top was crushed in at the back and bulged toward the front, and Mr. Stahl found himself lying in the road when the car stopped.

The two men were enroute from Bassett to Crete, Neb., where they were going to bring home a car for a customer, and were traveling rapidly, but not dangerously as they made the turn in the highway about a mile west of Sioux Creek, seven miles west of Burwell. Mr. Carr said a wheel went into a rut, and in trying to pull out of it, he turned too short.

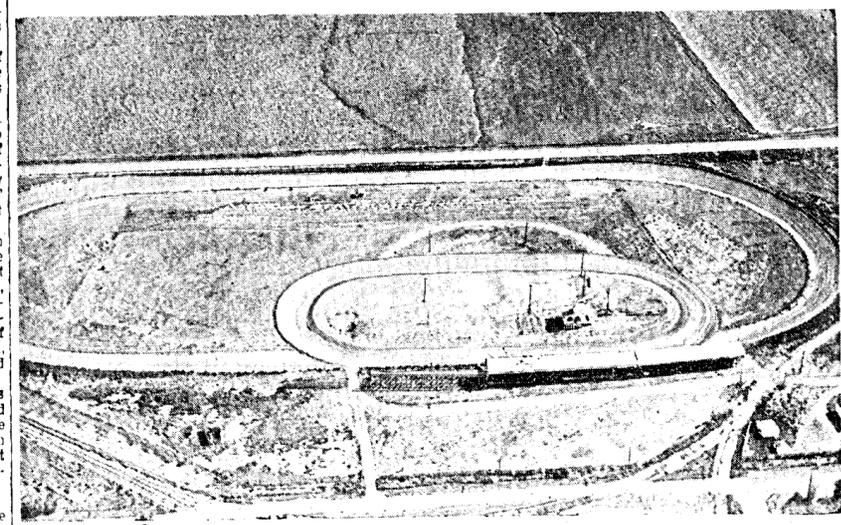

Both men were badly shaken up, but the only injury either suffered was that Carr had the bones in his left wrist bruised and possibly fractured. They started back to Bassett, but finding the car would run all right, they decided to go on to Crete and get the other car. They stopped in Ord at noon and Dr. P. A. Barla put Mr. Carr's arm in splints.

Joe F. Dworak New North Side Butcher

By virtue of a deal closed Saturday evening, Joe F. Dworak, farmer living northeast of Ord, has leased the north side butcher shop of Anton Stepanek of Taylor, and the place is getting a general overhauling this week. Mr. Dworak expects to have the place ready to open for business Sept. 1.

Jim Cetak will be employed by Mr. Dworak. He has had six years experience in the butchering trade, and will make a valuable assistant. Mr. Stepanek believes he has found a good man and that he will do well in this new line of work. Read Mr. Dworak's ad in next week's Quiz.

Ord's New Semi-Banked Track for Midget Racing as Seen from the Air

How the new 1-5th mile speedway for midget racing compares in size with the old 1-2 mile track is shown by this unusual air photo, taken by Lavern Dremey from Evelyn Sharp's plane last week. With all action taking place directly in front of the grandstand, midget racing should prove more popular than any feature ever offered here. And don't be fooled by the size of the semi-banked speedway. Those little cars really travel!

THAT WANDERING SPIRIT.
We owe all the great discoveries of the ages to the spirit of the wanderer in man. The man content to remain at home and be satisfied with his lot never made any great contribution to the world.

Until the years of depression Valley county and Ord were peopled largely by the descendants of the early settlers, who followed the same trades or professions, lived on the same farms, and did much the same things their fathers did.

PREVENT HOME FIRES.

kinds of trash, such as wall paper, newspapers, old clothing and other combustible material thrown up through the attic door and piled all over the wiring.

NEBRASKA INGENUITY.
Early Nebraska was not lacking in inventors, say research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA.

Make Your Child a Coward.
In drifting into town the other day I noticed a half a dozen little children from two to five years old playing with a pitchfork.

My special haunt is of children running behind horses, and I have reason for that perhaps. My boy is quite a horseman and helps me considerably but he is never supposed to walk behind them.

North Loup

Written by MRS. ETHEL HAMER

Mrs. C. B. Clark, Nettie and Bessie Eberhart spent Friday in Lincoln.

Darlene Eberhart celebrated her ninth birthday Thursday afternoon by having a number of her little friends spend the afternoon with her.

While fishing at the bayou early Saturday morning Mrs. Gus Eislle saw one of the older members of the beaver family and a young one. Several people have spent long hours watching for them but true to their shy nature, they are seldom seen. They seem to have established a permanent home on the Stude place in the old mill race.

Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Stewart accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Burrows of Ord left Friday night for Montrose, Colo., where they will spend a week with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Padlock and son.

Nearly all of the people who have been living in North Loup while employed on the new highway to Ord moved late last week to Cambridge. Allen Sims, who has been working for the company drove the auto patrol and the scoop to Cambridge and will be employed there for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Roby and daughters were Friday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arley Street.

Mrs. John Jordan came up from her home at St. Paul Wednesday.

In the absence of Melvin Cornell Avona Nolde gave the regular weekly announcement over the public address system at the Loyalist office Saturday night. Mr. Cornell spent the week end at Friend.

Sunday's State Journal carried a picture of Miss Phyllis Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Gordon of Friend, Neb., whose engagement to Melvin Cornell of North Loup has been announced. The following is taken from a letter Mrs. Otto Bartz received recently, dated July 18, from her brother, Chas. Cleary, who is in Alaska looking for medicinal moss.

Dear Edith:
I am in my tent on the knoll above 12th of July creek, about 175 miles from the road at Whitehorse-Yukon. We came here from Skagway, Alaska, over Whitehorse pass and the trail of 593 to Whitehorse and Five Finger rapids over the old Klun-wa-ne trail to Champagne landing the first night, Bear Creek on the pass of the Cultus river next, and then Kloo Lake, a trading post on a glacier, operated by Frank Sketch, whose partner was eaten by wolves two years ago. These wolves, some grey and some black, leave a track as large as my hand. I've got a true bear story that will make you shiver if I tell you, anyway a .22 rifle is not near big enough and it's a lot better to carry the 300 Savage and throw rocks at Ptarmigan than to have to use rocks on a bear the size of a horse.

When I first got here we had 22 hours of sun, now I can notice a difference. The sun just set at 9:30 p. m., and it is getting cold. I have a moose cached in a glacier—as we live mostly on game and sour dough bread which I have to bake as Shorty can't cook and the Indian with me is as bad and not so clean.

This is a beautiful country, very hilly, lots of snow, glaciers under most of it and frost down some 70 feet, Eskrigge, the Indian guide tells me. The top surface is moss, some 2 feet deep. It is slightly timbered, with hundreds of lakes and muskeg swamps. We are near the timber line and mosquitoes are numbered by the millions, at times so thick one has to be careful not to breathe them. We keep a smudge pot going most of the time in camp. I wear wool under buckskin, work mostly in hip boots and wear moccasins of dry enuf. Game is quite plentiful here, grayling alive in the creek and some lakes with huge trout. From here streams flow all four directions and empty in four bodies of water. The surrounding country is the range of moose and caribou.

Mr. Cleary grew up here and lives now in Santa Ana, Calif. He went with a doctor friend, who has returned to the states, to Alaska. One companion and an Indian guide and Mr. Cleary make up the camp.

The second, or swimmer's award, is considerably more difficult. It requires the candidate to: tread water for 30 seconds; float motionless; complete a dive, either fancy, plain, or with racing start; swim fifty yards using the side and any other standard stroke; swim fifty feet on his back; surface dive in from six to eight feet of water and recover an object; and finally, to witness a life-saving demonstration of artificial respiration.

Don ubiton, the guard at the Burwell swimming pool, who kindly assisted in giving the tests, performed this demonstration on Arden Clark for the benefit of the entire Ord delegation. The following received the swimmer's button Saturday afternoon: Eileen Joe Jablonski of Elyria, Charles Thompson of Ord, and Donald Ericson of Burwell.

A number of the students making the trip from Ord passed 3 to 4 of the tests for this award, and can build up on this ability and complete them by the end of next year's swimming course. The entire swimming group made a fine showing this year. The enthusiasm was fine and the management appreciates the fine cooperation of parents and patrons. Special thanks are due Mrs. Hilding Pearson, who assisted in coaching the Class 1 of beginners throughout the season.

The attendance was satisfactory. There was a total enrollment of 17, of which an average attended 12 to 14 of the 18 lessons. Rogene Nielsen, Shirley Wilson, Rogene Wilson and Irene Johnson had perfect attendance. The following drove their cars to take the crowd of 43 to Burwell Saturday: Mrs. Leo Long, J. H. Jirak, Hilding Pearson, Mrs. Frank Pafetta, Mrs. John Misko, Mrs. Sam Marks, Martina Biemond and J. A. Kovanda.

The instructor, Arden Clark wishes to express his appreciation to all who helped in any way to make the season a success. He is grateful to Gerald and Orville Stoddard, Norma Mae Snell, and Evelyn Sharp for their assistance with the classes, and wishes to thank all who provided cars to take the pupils to the river, and also to Burwell.

—Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Hardenbrook drove to Fremont Saturday and visited until Sunday evening.

Large Crowd Enjoys Ord Band Concert

Pleasing features of the concert by the Ord band Wednesday evening were the bassoon solo with band accompaniment by Miss Angelina Wachterle, and the vocal solo by Miss Virginia Sack. Allen Zikmund was to have sung two baritone solos, but was unable to do so because of throat trouble.

The bassoon solo, "Gaiety Polka," was an experiment, and it proved a pronounced success. The public is hoping that it may be repeated at a later date. Miss Sack is well known, and her singing always pleases her hearers. These special features are drawing music lovers to Ord each band concert night.

Most unusual is this part-Persian cat in that it has six toes on each front foot. The cat is owned by Mrs. Hazel Bartlett of California, who was called to North Loup recently by the serious illness of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George McGee, and brought her pet along. The kitten has the regular four toes which all cats have and where in the normal cat there is a thumb-like toe which does not bear on the surface except when sharpening claws, etc., this kitten has two toes tied together, and they bear on the ground all the time.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The farm outlook, as forecast recently by economists, is given for certain crops and livestock, in the following paragraphs.

WHEAT—There is a record world wheat crop, and a large harvest in this country. With export prospects unsatisfactory, the national carry-over may exceed all previous figures, and prices are apt to stay low.

HOGS—It is thought that the bottom on hogs will be around 7 cents. Supplies will be larger yet under pre-drought numbers. Exports have increased while imports have dropped off. Cold storage stocks are down. The corn-hog ratio should remain favorable, as it takes about 7 bushels of corn and 40 pounds of tankage to make 100 pounds of grain.

CATTLE—With hay at five dollars and plenty of grain, rather heavy feeding of cattle may take place next winter. It is believed that beef prices for next year will hold up fairly well. Feeders may be bought too high again this fall.

DAIRY—Milk production is up, feed supplies are abundant, and storage holdings of dairy products are heavy. No unusual rise in prices is looked for.

LAMBS—Sheep men are not very enthusiastic, because many lost money recently. Slaughter supplies will continue large this fall, but slightly better prices are anticipated later on.

POULTRY—The seasonal advance in egg prices may be greater than usual during the remainder of 1933. There are more chickens than last year, but the cold storage movement has been light. The egg-fed ratio will be better, which may not be saying a whole lot.

Wife of Former Ord Man Coined American Women Sokols For The Quiz

All-Sokol Slet and Describes Their Trip to Czechoslovakia For The Quiz

BY MRS. L. PRINCE.

On June 1st, at noon, the American delegation of Sokols sailed on the S. S. Aquitania from New York. Within a very short time we left the Statue of Liberty and the Eastern shore of the United States behind us.

There were 410 American Czechoslovakians of which about 60 were men and women gymnasts aboard ship. The S. S. Europa which sailed about June 4th brought an additional 30 or so Slovak gymnasts along with a score of other Slovak Sokols.

We arrived at Cherbourg on June 7th where we boarded a special train for Prague and the next afternoon about 2 o'clock we crossed the border at Cheb into Czechoslovakia. Here in Cheb was our first official greeting and every town along the route of the train turned out to greet the American Sokols with music and song. We arrived in Prague at six in the evening where the Czechoslovak Sokols welcomed us into their midst. The delegation then marched from the Wilson Station to Vaclavske Namesti, then down this wide thoroughfare to Narodni Trida and on to Tyršov Dům. All along the route the people welcomed us with "Na Zdar!" and "Long Live America!" At Tyršov Dům, the home of the Sokols, greetings and thanks were exchanged, after which the National hymns were played. The tumultuous greeting which was accorded the American visitors in Prague will long remain in the memories and hearts of all of us who were there. All of Prague was decorated with banners, lights and flags.

The activities of the Sokols in recent years may be divided into three separate periods of Sokol history, each rich in deeds and events which determine its specific character. In the sixties of the last century, after the exhaustion and the period of the whole nation's lowest vitality, the Czech nation awoke to a remarkable spiritual and moral strength to the will not only to live, but to live honorably. Out of this youthful glad exuberance of national strength arose the National Sokol Organization, which on a foundation of equality and fraternity, strives to further the harmonious cultivation of the body and mind of the nation, in the spirit of Czechoslovak history and its democratic traditions. The founders of the Sokol organization, Dr. Miroslav Tyrš and J. Fugner, set the Sokols a definite task—to bring the nation to the highest possible level of physical and moral health, true liberty and freedom, so that it might flourish and develop its national characteristics. After the death of Dr. M. Tyrš, the second period of Sokol history began, continuing in the spirit of his legacy. A further task was to draw the attention of the world to the small but tenaciously individual nation and its struggle for cultural and political liberty. The third period of Sokol history was early interrupted by the World War, which brought liberty to the whole Czechoslovak nation. It was then that the Sokols' hard task of organizing and creating the Czechoslovak nation's new life began.

Every sixth year a Sokol Slet or Congress made a milestone in the history of Czechoslovakia—a survey of the Sokols' past activities and a proof of the profound influence of the Sokol idea on the organism of the whole nation. The Sokol Slet are the Sokols' and the whole Czechoslovak nation's most important manifestation—their greatest and finest athletic event in the world. This year's Slet, the tenth, showed the Sokols' love for their republic and their liberty, and demonstrated the whole nation's readiness to defend it against all attacks. The Tenth All-Sokol Slet outshone all its predecessors, and was held during the celebrations of the twentieth anniversary of Czechoslovak independence.

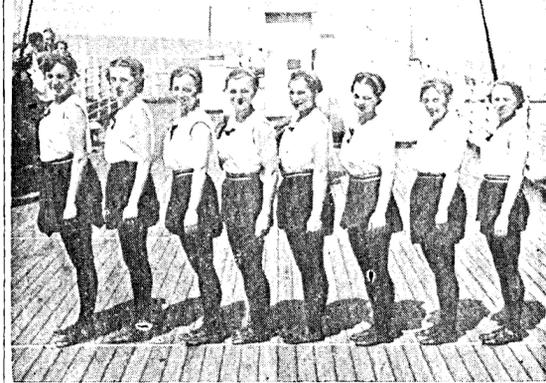

The Slet was opened on October 28th, 1937, the anniversary of the proclamation of Czechoslovakia's independence, by Sokol relays which brought the news of the opening of the Slet into all parts of the Czechoslovak Republic. The vast scale of this relay run is best demonstrated by the fact that 203,615 Sokols took part.

The second event on the program of the Slet was the "Winner Slet Games", held in the High Tatras Mountains at the beginning of February, 1938. These games included skiing, ice hockey, and many other winter sports.

In April, a concert held in Smetana Hall, Prague, entitled "The Sokol Movement in Music and Song" was the third event on the Slet program.

The American Sokols of course were unable to take part in the events up to this time. However, shortly after our arrival in Prague, on June 12th, we witnessed the public drill by intermediate school pupils. On June 19th, the Sokol school children took part in the Sokol Slet. This was really their first Slet for in previous years participation of Sokol school children from all parts of the Czechoslovak Republic was not usual. The red shirts and tan trousers of some 14,000 boys and the tan blouses and red skirts of about 17,000 girls made a very beautiful and changing picture when they performed their mass drills.

June 26th was the "Dorost Day". Dorost are the juniors—boys and girls ranging from 13 or 14 to 18 years of age. Both have to be recommended for excellent performance that day. The girls especially are to be congratulated for their work. The first group of girls performed a series of twelve national dances around 260 many colored maypoles. The dances were selected so as to include specimens from all provinces of the Republic. The second group of girls gave a performance entitled "Yellow Flowers". This was a simple drill yet contained movements beneficial for the development of growing young womanhood. Two days preceding their exhibition, these juniors competed in athletics, swimming, and games contests.

Then on June 30th and July 1st, we were very interested spectators watching the Czechoslovak men's and women's team compete for the world's all-round gymnastic championship. Among the nations competing were the Swiss, Yugoslavs, Bulgarians, Poles, and French. This competition was sponsored by the International Federation of Gymnasts. Both the Czech teams won their respective championships.

The Americans took part, on July 2nd, in the gymnastic and athletic contests for men and women sponsored by the Czech Sokols. The American Czech team of men won second place in the intermediate class against a field of some eighty odd teams. The women's team under the able coaching of Mrs. L. Prince also placed second, in the senior division, while the American Slovak team of women placed fourth.

July 3, 4 and 5 were the jubilee and final days of the Slet. Well over 30,000 men displayed a mass calisthenics drill each of these days. Another group performed a drill on the theme, "The Oath to the Republic". The women's mass drill represented health, strength and beauty and was performed by an individual group of 17,000 women of each of these days so every member would have an opportunity to drill at least one of the main days. Thirty-three American Sokol women were among those who drilled on Sunday, July 3rd. The Sokol women also performed special exercises with red and white balls which were very pretty and the formations called for precision and a good memory.

The round dance for 30,000 women was an entire novelty in gymnastics, a complete revolution in the movement of large masses. What, in simple drill constitutes a necessary condition of success, is in the round dance completely banished. The arena was sprinkled with women gymnasts like a meadow full of flowers; each moving freely, but the apparent chaos concealed firm control lying in the self-discipline of each individual. Those for whom no marks on the field remained free marched off the field leaving the remainder of 17,000 to continue with the balance of the exercises. The formations were magnificent.

Other nations among which were the Roumanians, Bulgarians, Yugoslavs, French and Americans as guests participated on one or the other of these days. Some in their national costumes and others in their regular or dress gym uniforms. The Americans performed on July 5th in a deluge of rain and were given an ovation at the end of their exercises like no one else had received. The stadium which held about 250,000 spectators was filled to capacity each of these days.

On July 6th the army display was a magnificent conclusion to the great Sokol festivities. All units performed, including some supreme demonstrations of aerial acrobatics. Delegations from the armies of Czechoslovak allies gave displays of their strength and preparedness.

The morning of July 6th found a festive procession of the Sokols marching through the streets of Prague. The procession which lasted about five hours showed many national costumes from all parts of Czechoslovakia as well as the regular Sokol uniform. The guests also took part.

The American Sokols were guests of President Edward Benes at a tea Thursday afternoon, July 7th. The following day we left for a two weeks tour of Cechy and Slovensko, touching the high spots of scenic and historical interests. And in each city or town we visited, the local people were genial hosts and were delighted that we honored them with a visit. The country shows rapid progress in all fields whether manufacturing, building, mining or any other.

After a farewell banquet given the American gymnasts by the Czechoslovak Obez Sokolska, we entrained for Paris where we spent several days seeing the sights. We arrived there just a day or two after the departure of the King and Queen of England and so were fortunate to see the many decorations and festoons which were still up over the entire city in their honor. Among some of the points of interest we saw in Paris were the Eiffel Tower, Triumphant Arch, the palace and gardens at Versailles, and the Louvre.

From Paris we started back home by way of Cherbourg and again on the S. S. Aquitania, leaving July 27th and arriving in New York, the morning of August 2nd. Here the teams disbanded, each member going home.

Corn "Ruined" by Hail on June 12 Will Make An Excellent Crop on the Joe F. Dworak Farm

When the big hail storm and flood hit the sand flats on June 12, the listed corn on Joe F. Dworak's farm was literally pounded into the ground and his field presented the appearance shown in the upper photo, taken right after the storm by LaVern Duemey, the Quiz photographer. It looked like the crop would have to be replanted or it would make nothing. But by the time the field had dried up enough so replanting could start, the corn was showing signs of life and Mr. Dworak decided to "take a chance" and not replant it.

The lower picture, taken last week by Photographer Duemey, is the identical field pictured above but the "ruined" corn made a wonderful comeback and in spite of hail and recent drought will make 20 bushels or more per acre. Stalks are six feet tall, there are plenty of ears and the ears are well filled out.

"Hailed Land Yields Well," Says Mensing

Arthur Mensing brought to town some ears of corn, Wisconsin No. 9, which turned out surprisingly well, considering that the territory was devastated by hail June 10. This is a small eared white corn with a white cob, and matures very early.

Mr. Mensing has on exhibition corn that grew from the original planting, and also an ear from a planting made following the hail storm on June 12. The ears appear very much alike, and are practically out of the way of frost just ten weeks from the time of the last planting.

The field will not make a big crop, but he expects a yield of 15 to 20 bushels per acre from a field that did not look worth trying to save following the hail. Corn all up and down the Dry Cedar valley is said to be showing remarkably well, and one cannot help wondering that the yield would have been had there been no hail.

Oats was cut down level with the ground in the same storm. The oats on the Cronk place, pictured in the June 15th Quiz, came on and made a crop worth cutting. Joe F. Dworak had a field of oats in the midst of the storm which later was threshed and made 500 bushels, not bad for a crop ruined by hail.

When You Buy Beer

... it will pay you to patronize a reputable dealer. Why? Because reputable dealers are the bulwark of the Nebraska brewing industry, which spends millions of dollars annually in state and municipal taxes, in farm products, in supplies of allied industries. These millions constitute a huge investment paying regular dividends in economic benefits to the state and lessening your tax burden. To patronize disreputable dealers is to jeopardize your own pocketbook.

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock p. m. Mayor Cummins presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: J. W. McGinnis, Joe Rohla, Frank Johnson, Frank Sershen, Joe Dworak and Martinus Biemond.

The minutes of the proceedings of July 1, 1938 were read and by motion ordered placed on file.

Fire Chief Cecil Clark appeared before the Council with a request that the Mayor and Council contact the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District with a view to ascertaining when the N. L. R. P. I. would vacate the offices at present occupied by them. The matter was referred to the Mayor.

M. E. Gyger, local WPA engineer appeared before the Council and spoke on using the WPA to put a lake in the Ord City Park. He outlined costs and spoke on the feasibility.

A. J. Shirley appeared and spoke strongly against putting in the lake at the present time, recommending several matters that appear more important than the park lake.

It was moved by McGinnis and seconded by Johnson that the insurance on the plant be expanded to include the new engine on the present policy. Carried.

The application of Steve Caroski for an electricians license was presented and read. It was moved by Johnson and seconded by McGinnis that the license be granted. Carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Sershen who moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by Johnson. After discussion the Mayor ordered the roll called. The result was that McGinnis, Johnson, Rohla, Sershen, "Nays" and Biemond voting "aye", "nay" and Biemond none, the Mayor declared the resolution unanimously adopted.

Be it resolved that the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, that whereas a proposition has been made by the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District and Work Progress Administration (WPA) with reference to taking certain irrigation water by the City of Ord and the running of the wastewater of the Taylor-Ord canal of said district through the Park of said City, known as Bussell Park and the emptying of the same at a point in said Park into Dane Creek with the view toward using said water for a lake or swimming pool in said park at some future time, if desired, without expense for such waste water, and whereas the Works Progress Administration would do the work connected with such project if the City furnishes certain materials or the cost thereof, now therefore be it resolved that the Mayor and City Clerk be authorized to enter into a contract or agreement with the said district, and also with the WPA for the same, and for the construction of the necessary ditches and structures for such purpose.

Attest: M. B. Cummins, Mayor. Rex Jewett, City Clerk.

The following resolution was introduced by McGinnis who moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by Dworak. After discussion the roll was called, and McGinnis, Dworak and Biemond voted in favor thereof, and Johnson, Rohla, and Sershen voted against the same, and it appearing that the vote was a tie, the Mayor announced that he would vote against the same at this time, and he declared the motion to adopt the said resolution lost.

Be it resolved that whereas a resolution has been adopted authorizing the Mayor and Clerk of the City of Ord, Nebraska, to enter into contracts for the waste water of the Taylor-Ord canal of the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District and WPA to run through the Bussell Park of the City of Ord and for the construction of ditches and structures for such purpose, and whereas the purpose of said water in running through said Park is partially so that a lake or swimming pool might be constructed in said Park, and now, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, that the Mayor and Clerk of said City of Ord, Nebraska, be authorized to enter into a contract for the same with said District and also with WPA for the construction of said lake or swimming pool and the use of such water for such purpose.

Tuneful Act One Of the Fair Features

In a fast offering known as "Tunes and Tangles," Paul Mix and Company will be seen at the Loup Valley fair at Ord on September 12 and 13.

The act is a combination of catchy songs sung by Olive Miles, and fancy and trick roping by Paul Mix, who has been featured at most of the nation's foremost rodeos.

A cousin of the famous movie actor of the same name, Paul Mix has been in the business of entertaining the public for many years. His lariat spinning presentation contains many novel turns never attempted by any other act.

In 1935 and again in 1936, Paul Mix and Company were featured at the world's championship rodeo at Madison Square Garden in New York City. ## Paul Gard Pleads Guilty to 'Peeping' Charge, Fined $100

Ord Boy Unable to Pay Fine, Must Spend Fifty Days in County Jail.

Paul Gard, arraigned in Police Judge John L. Anderson's court Wednesday on a charge of going on the Steve Carkoski property to look and peep, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. In the same court Friday noon he asked to change his plea to guilty, and was assessed a fine of $100 and costs, the maximum penalty permitted by law for this offense, which does not call for a jail sentence.

However, since he was unable to raise the amount of the fine, he is laying it out in jail. The ordinance provides that the amount allowed per day be $2.00, and as the action took place in police court, it is understood that this will be the amount allowed. The allowance for a fine in county court is $2.50. In any case it will mean forty to fifty days for the fine, and about four days for the costs.

This conclusion of the case brought a general feeling of relief in Ord, where a large number of persons have been disturbed by a window peeper in the past, and many were practically certain who the guilty person was. Besides the general disturbance in the city, there has always been the risk, for several of those disturbed in the past have threatened to shoot on sight. It is believed that this may prove a wholesome lesson, and that the offense will not be repeated.

Robert L. Cushing Wed In Michigan

The following item from a paper of Calumet, Mich., tells of the marriage of Robert L. Cushing, who was born and grew to manhood here, graduating from the Ord high school, class of 1930.

In a pretty wedding ceremony solemnized Friday afternoon, Miss Enid Gillet, daughter of Mrs. H. N. Gillet, of Laurium, became the bride of Robert Leavitt Cushing, of Lincoln, Neb., son of Mrs. Marion Cushing of Ord, Neb. The wedding was performed by the Rev. Leonard Calvert pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Malerle, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, at 142 N. Peawick street.

Attending the bride and groom were Miss Bessie Watt, of Ontonagon, and Karl Manke of Minneapolis, Minn.

The bride wore a dress of brown sheer crepe, with a fitted velvet jacket, hand-embroidered in woolen flowers. She carried tallman roses.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held at the Malerle home where a wedding dinner was served in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing left yesterday for a short wedding trip and on their return will make their home in Lincoln, Neb., where Mr. Cushing will be a member of the research staff of the University of Nebraska during the ensuing year.

The bride is a graduate of Calumet high school and the University of Nebraska. Mr. Cushing also is a graduate of Nebraska University and is a member of the Farm House fraternity and Sigma Xi, honorary science fraternity.

Ord Trims Spalding In Post-Season Game

The Ord Legion Junior baseball team went to Spalding Thursday to play the first game these teams had an opportunity to play. They were unable to get together for the two scheduled games during the season. Allen Zikmund started on the mound for Ord, with Wayne Johnson catching. He performed creditably until the first of the third inning, when two got on and a home run brought in three scores.

Henry Misko, jr., went in with one out in the third inning and finished the game, 9 of the 14 put outs being by the strike out route. He did not allow a single hit and allowed one walk in each inning. Dean Bresley, after striking out twice, got a home run in the big fourth inning when the bases were loaded. A total of seven scores were made in the inning. The final score was 9 to 3 for Ord.

The Methodist ladies will hold a bake sale Saturday, Sept. 3, at Pecena's Market.

Two gentlemen from North Loup gave the band and the leader, Dean Duncan, the highest commendation, and said the music was as good as any they had listened to for a long time. Such praise from a music-conscious town like North Loup is praise indeed. ## Sam Hoffman Signs Contract To Drive Midget At Ord Fair

Popular Sioux City Driver Has Been at Fair Every Year Since First.

Here are three dates that you want to put down right now in your important memoranda: Sept. 12, 13 and 14. This year other plans have been made for your entertainment on the first day, and you are assured of one of the most enjoyable days you have ever experienced at the Valley county fair Sept. 12, when the Blanche McKenny-Hunter and McKenny troupe of trained horses will be on exhibition, together with a full program of stage entertainment.

Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 13, the Valley county fair will inaugurate an entirely new feature in the midget auto races. After some twelve years of racing with the larger cars, the board deemed it wise this year to turn to this new racing feature which has taken the country by storm wherever shown. Just as Ord was the first town outside to try the larger racing cars, so now the Ord track will be the first in the state outside the larger cities to try the midget racers.

Wherever these races have been run, they have been acclaimed to be the most exciting entertainment ever devised. Instead of one man taking the lead at the start of a race and holding it all the way, it is not unusual for the drivers of midget cars to pass each other a number of times in a single race, as the short turns at the ends of the track and the low banks make it anybody's race.

A number of fast drivers were mentioned last week, but here are several more that should land in the money every day. First and foremost is the old reliable Sam Hoffman of Sioux City, former driver of big racers on the Ord track, who is one of many to turn to midget racing for fresh thrills. His car is powered with an Offenhauser motor, and as the picture on this page shows, it is certainly a beauty.

Car No. 18, owned by W. J. Werner and piloted by Charlie Boye, both of Omaha, Neb., may be one of the big winners. It is also powered with an Offenhauser engine, and should run fully as well as the Hoffman car. Carl Forger of Sioux City, Ia., is both owner and driver of a car powered with a McDowell engine, recognized as one of the best on the market. His car is No. 7.

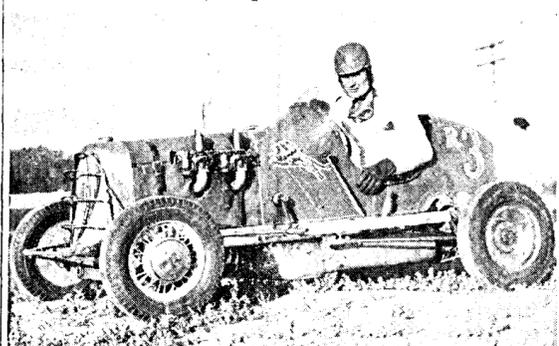

Pip Henson, driver and owner of a car with a special Willys motor, comes all the way from San Antonio, Tex., to have a try at the new Ord track. San Antonio is where the toughest cowboys hail from, and Henson is said to have followed that vocation until the broncs got too tame to suit him. Whether it is true or not, he can be depended on to put plenty of fight into the Ord races.

William Kelly Dead.

William Kelly, husband of the former Gertrude Gubowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grabowski, was instantly killed when hit by a truck near his home in Boston, Mass., Aug. 20. Mr. Kelly was driving a car to a customer at the time of the accident. The funeral was held at Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22. Left to mourn are his wife, four brothers and three sisters and his mother.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, jr., returned Monday from their wedding trip to Omaha.

Sioux City Cop Will Drive At Fair

Sam Hoffman, a big money winner at former Ord fairs, will bring an Offenhauser Midget to the Ord races next month.

On August 29th, Rutner entered a plea of guilty and was charged five dollars fine and twenty-two dollars in costs. He had taken up the check before the trial.

Mira Valley Young Lady Died Sunday

Funeral For Sophie Kirby Held Tuesday at Pearson-Anderson Chapel.

Sophie Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kirby was born Aug. 15, 1913 and passed away August 28, 1938 at the home of her parents in Mira Valley.

She was operated on for appendicitis and was thought to be recovering. She returned home from the hospital, but was taken seriously ill a week ago Saturday. In spite of all medical skill and loving care, she departed from this world at 1:10 Sunday morning at the age of 25 years and 10 days.

Besides her father and mother she leaves to mourn two sisters, Dorothy and Lillian; two brothers, Chris and Arthur, her fiancé, Harry Burke, whom she was to have married in the spring, two nieces, several aunts and uncles and a large number of distant relatives and friends. An infant sister preceded her in death.

She was a happy disposition, always smiling and never complaining, a friend to everyone. She will be greatly missed by all who knew her and her place can never be filled.

The funeral was held at the Pearson-Anderson chapel, Tuesday afternoon with Rev. Clarence Jensen officiating at the services. Pallbearers were Edward Gross, Melvin Williams, Willard Conner, Richard Burrows, Joe Fryzek, and Alfred Burson. A group composed of Misses Vivian and Wauneta Cummins and Bert Cummins and Bob Noll sang several hymns. They were accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Bob Noll.

—Miss Mary Ann Bartz severed her connection with the irrigation project Friday and plans to attend Nebraska University this school year. She plans to find employment in Lincoln to help with her expenses.

World War Buddies Of Company I Hold 5th Annual Reunion

26 Former Army Men And Families Picnic At Ord Park Sunday.

Twenty-six members of old Company "I" met Sunday at Bussell Park in the fifth annual reunion of the company. With their families a total of 83 persons were present. Each family brought along enough fried chicken and other good things to eat for themselves and some to spare, with the result that there was more than they could possibly eat.

W. W. (Dad) Brown insisted on the privilege of furnishing the drink, and had all the koolade and cold tea that anyone could ask for. The main table in the park was covered with paper for the occasion and it was found that this made only room for the grownups, the children having to use another table, which was also well filled.

Following the dinner the men got together and listened to the reading of a number of letters which secretary C. W. Clark had received from members who could not come. Included in this list was the Alec Haldeman family of Jamestown, Mo.; the Leonard Medlar family of Payette, Idaho; the Roy Sanders family of Oshkosh, Neb.; and Clinton C. Shaw of Walford, N. D.

At the suggestion of Charles M. Roberts of Lincoln it was voted by the members to change the time of the annual picnic to the Sunday before Labor Day, for the reason that Labor day is always a holiday in the cities, and persons coming from a distance could thus have an extra day to make the trip, thus preventing any loss of time from work.

Those present from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Mel Gideon and family, and John Ppal, of Burwell; Mr. and Mrs. George Dworak and son of Bellwood, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jensen of Albion; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCarthy and daughter Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Doyle and sons of Greeley; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Poling and three children of Burwell;

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Frederickson and 2 sons, of Cushing; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johannes and family of Dannebrog; Mr. and Mrs. Emory McDowell and son, and Charles M. Roberts, of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Roy McGee and children of North Loup; Mr. and Mrs. Don Harmon and sons, of Page; and, last, but not least, Charles Augustus Peter Lovejoy (Bill) Lewis of O'Neill.

From Arcadia were Mr. and Mrs. Ora Masters and Miss Maud Masterson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gregory and sons, George Scott and Lloyd W. Burger. From Ord: Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Kull, W. W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wiegardt and family, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Holt and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark and son, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gates and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gates, Roy Pardue, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Ward and Donna.

Mrs. Jos. W. Urbanovsky Passed Away Tuesday

While not entirely unexpected, the community in which she had lived was greatly shocked Tuesday when word was received that Mrs. Joseph W. Urbanovsky had passed away shortly after midnight. She had been ill several weeks and little hope had been held for her recovery. The body was brought to the Frazier funeral parlors in Ord early Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Helen Ann Urbanovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brub, was born near Burwell, Jan. 14, 1911, and passed away at the Cram hospital in Burwell, Aug. 30, 1938, being 27 years, 7 months and 16 days old at the time of her death. During her illness several blood transfusions were resorted to in a vain effort to save her life, the blood being furnished by her father.

Funeral services are to be held from the Z. C. B. J. hall in Ord tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Mearl C. Smith in charge, and burial will be made in the Ord cemetery. A more complete story of Mrs. Urbanovsky's life will be given in the Quiz next week.

Norman, Geweke Head County's Two Political Parties

Some Changes Made In Committees At Conventions Held Last Thursday.

Thursday, Aug. 25, was the date set by law upon which the party county conventions must be held. By special agreement both conventions were held in the district court room, the democratic in the morning and the republican in the afternoon.

The Republican caucus was called together by the chairman, Archie Geweke, who was elected temporary chairman and Clarence M. Davis secretary of the meeting. The organization was then made permanent for the meeting, and Mr. Geweke was made chairman for the coming two years. For secretary for the two year period Gould Flagg was elected.

Mrs. Arthelia Ramsey spoke briefly of the good reports she had heard of Charles P. Warner, Republican candidate for governor. John P. Misko, candidate for county attorney, and S. V. Hansen, candidate for supervisor were called upon and each spoke briefly, as did Gould Flagg.

Delegates were then chosen for state convention, as follows: E. C. James, A. E. Hayward, Mrs. Arthelia Ramsey, C. W. McClellan, Alvin Jensen, Gould Flagg, C. M. Davis, Chas. Belers, S. V. Hansen and Archie Geweke. A. E. Hayward, who had been called to Chicago on business and was unable to be present, was the unanimous choice for treasurer.

Thirty-three were present at the opening of the session and later arrivals increased the number to forty. The convention voted to give the delegates a free hand on any proposed change in the present primary law. Committeemen and committeewomen for the several townships have been selected with

THE PRIMARY EVIL
The following editorial printed last week in the Nance County Journal is so good and so timely that we feel justified in reprinting it here.

Robert G. Ross, erstwhile liv- ertyman of Lexington, was a candidate for president of the United States several years ago. As editor of the News-Journal at that time we wrote to him, asking for an expression of his views for the benefit of our readers. The answer we have before us, and we quote in part:

"Republican candidate and a yankee american thoroughbred laboring man for most of 40 yrs engineer steam boat cook, grocery and drug clerk and studied for a doctor and also cowboy keeps statutes of Nebraska and also u. s. statutes. he is scotch irish and english french mostly irish and a daredevil in platform and oratory line raised in Ohio and Kentucky on Ohio river. you need candidates with pep in them for nominations this fall that got a mouth and Brains and nerve to use it vote for Robert G. Ross."

Mr. Ross, who likes to run for office thoroughly and frequently conducted his primary candidacy for governor of Nebraska this summer in connection with his labors on the WPA. But before any Nebraska citizen registers any feeling of superiority to Mr. Ross he should learn that 20,065 of them voted for him for governor early this month.

Permit the Quiz to add that Mr. Ross ran third among the four candidates in Nebraska on the Republican ticket for governor, and believe it or not, he ran a good second right here in Valley county, the vote being, Charles J. Warner, 379; Robert G. Ross 134; Kenneth H. Gedney, 136; and Vernon R. Thomas, 115. What else can be expected when even the best informed men in our community knew little or nothing about the majority of the candidates?

For Auditor of public accounts there were three republican candidates. Ray C. Johnson was high man, with Charles F. Greenburg of Lincoln second, and O. M. Campbell of Lincoln third. Just what is the magic of the name Johnson we do not know, but he was the nominee. Ever hear of Greenburg? Perhaps not. County Clerk Igu. Klima, Jr., states that he is the man who has audited the books of Valley county several times, and is one of the best men in the business, but how many men knew about it.

There is no doubt about it, our present primary system must be altered to permit the average citizen to vote intelligently. The average man, busy with his own affairs, cannot take time to check up on the qualifications of as many as thirteen men, all running for one office. The county state Thursday, both Republican and Democratic, strongly favored primary election reform, and reform must come.

THE HIGHWAY PROBLEM.
In police court in Hastings last week one Frank Smith was required to pay costs of $4.75 on a disorderly conduct charge, and is laying out a fine of $20 in jail. The charge against him was that he threw a can of salmon through the windshield of a passing car. A woman and her baby were cut by the flying glass.

As a reason for his act, Smith stated that autoists in south Hastings were using Highway No. 281 as a speedway and deliberately crowding all pedestrians off the highway and that, if they did not get off the highway and were run over, it would just be listed as another accident. He threw the can after several cars had come close to hitting him.

There is justice in Mr. Smith's plea, but unfortunately, he belongs to a species of human being now rapidly becoming extinct. About ninety percent of the traveling public goes places by auto, and has no sympathy to waste on the man who cannot afford to drive a car. Justice laughs at the man who has to walk, but punishes him if he tries to enforce his rights.

The man who travels a mile a minute in a modern car has little in common with the man who can walk four miles per hour. The fact is that about half the car owners cannot afford to own a car, and skimp themselves to get the money to buy gas, and the man who walks is living within his means. But our modern highways were made for cars, and everything else should keep off.

The cars did not have such an easy time in the old days. One of the earliest rules regarding them was that when a car travelled the roads at night a man must walk in front carrying a lantern. We wonder how that rule would work now, and just who would want the job of carrying the lantern. In some congested areas provision has been made already for the man who has to walk.

We will have the pedestrian with us always, for there will be those who are too honest to drive a car they are too poor to own. On our busy thoroughfares a place should be provided for those who must walk. They furnish a large percentage of our highway fatalities, and they are not killed or injured because they want to be. A footpath along the highway would not cost much, and would prevent many deaths and injuries.

My Own Column
By H. D. Leggett

Jack Pine Lodge on Middle Cullen Lake near Nisswa, Minn. Aug. 26, 1938

Dear Quiz:
I have neglected writing because there didn't seem to be much new to say and there isn't now, but I am afraid Eugene will quit paying my grocery and bait checks if I don't write this department occasionally. It is 10 a. m. and I am sitting at a table on the front porch to write. It is plenty cool, about 60, and I had to go in and get my wool shirt to be comfortable. I am overlooking the lake and there is a gentle breeze from the southwest and the sun is shining brightly. I just heard Flora say, over the stone wall to Mrs. Fenner, "Isn't this a grand day," and our neighbor agreed.

Hi arrived Tuesday bringing my Deeo plant with him and as soon as he had dinner he started installing it. He had sent directions for the base a few days before and I got that ready and did a 100 per cent job of it, for we set the plant onto the bolts and it was a perfect fit. In about two hours he had a line run into the house and a couple of lights hooked up and the next morning he put in two more and we have electric lights just like at home and just as good. As a matter of fact I think they are a whiter, clearer light.

Hi and Flora and Ed Michalek and Myrtle fished for walleyes on Pelican yesterday, going over morning and evening and caught and brought in 31 pike, the largest 7 pounds. It is needless to say that they were delighted with their good luck. The boys are over there again this morning, going at 5 a. m. and it is such a fine morning that I presume they will again have good luck, though the best pike seem to be taken when the water is rough. The Michaleks plan on leaving for Ord Sunday I understand. They have been here two weeks and say they will sure be back next year.

Mr. Fenner had a Kolar electric plant installed this week and now has his cottage nicely lighted. There was some strife between him and me as to who would get his plant in first and in a way we both beat. I was lucky enough to have my plant arrive in camp 24 hours sooner than his did and we got a couple of lights in, but he has his plant completely installed and mine will not be finished up until Lou Holloway comes up from Harlan, Iowa the first week in September to do the wiring. So you see that while, technically, I beat, really Mr. Fenner is the winner. But I really think I have got the best light plant, but don't want him to know I said so, for he might make me take my tools out of his work shop.

You see Mr. Fenner built a fine work shop this spring right back of his cottage and just over the wall from my back door. He has a nice cement floor, plenty of light, a good work bench and vice and a lot of carpenter tools. I also have quite a lot of tools but no good place to use them. He suggested that I bring them over and keep them in his shop and that we both use any of the tools. He fixed a nice place in one corner for the exclusive use of my tools and now I know where they are and try to always put them back in place when done with them. It is a great convenience to me and that is why I don't want him to find out about my having the best light plant. I may even have to run a wire over to his shop from my plant so we can have a good light to work by.

We had a fine rain yesterday morning and before that it was getting a bit dry, though we had good rains a week before. Everything here is looking fine. A good corn crop is assured and potatoes are splendid and this is a potato country. We get the finest kind of strawberries in abundance for 25c a quart picked fresh every day. Red Raspberries have about petered out, though there are a few yet and blueberries are being shipped in from the north. But this candy seen under tomatoes that were getting here at 24c per pound and there is lots of sweet corn, in fact we can get all kinds of fresh garden stuff any time we want it at a very reasonable price.

The Simpson and Augustine families left this morning for their homes at Omaha and Grand Island and that leaves just the Penners and we people. The Andersons will be leaving for Ord very soon and then we will be lonesome. The Penners plan on staying to the middle of October and at that time expect to be visited by Judge Clemens, Dr. Barta and Father Murray of Burwell for a few days fishing. If the weather is good and conditions at home permit we shall also stay on into October.

H. D. Leggett.
When the above story was written and mailed to The Quiz I didn't expect to be in Ord before it was printed, but a wire from Eugene, asking me to be on hand Monday morning to take charge for a couple of weeks, changed my plans and instead of fishing for big wall-eyes and getting little ones in Pelican lake, I am here at the desk. Business in the eastern part of the state called Eugene out of town and made my presence here necessary. I will return to Minnesota as soon as possible to help entertain expected guests and to finish up some work already started and expect to be back in Ord for the winter about September 22nd, when the lease on our apartment expires. The weather up there was all that could be desired when we left there Sunday morning at nine o'clock. Hi Anderson accompanied me home, leaving his family there for another two weeks and he will go up then and bring them home.

++ Something Different ++

Now that Ord people have seen how it seems to have a lake... you have tried out the one at Burwell... I should think some of the opposition to a lake in the Ord park would be dissolved. The pleasures of fishing, swimming, motorboating and sailing, surf-boarding, diving and probably hunting on it would be right at our doorstep, within easy walking distance of Ord.

For many a year far-sighted citizens interested in the improvement and beauty of Ord have considered the project of building an artificial lake close by, says W. A. Anderson. This time the project has been simplified, and the government would be helping to create it.

Ord people do not seem to be able to pull together for a common goal. Time after time some beautification or improvement project is brought forward, enthusiastically endorsed by planners of the town, only to be defeated by three or four elements pulling in as many directions.

Like the two calves on one rope pulling for two opposite buckets, who finally walked together to finish up contents of both buckets, Ord needs to stop bickering and cooperate.

There never was and there never will be, another person who thinks all your ideas are good, or mine either. But some of your ideas must surely be worthwhile, and mine too, if we can get along long enough to put them over.

Hard times or not, there always seems to be money to fritter away on corn games, carnival junk, side-show attractions, places where we take a chance on getting anything at all for our money.

Then why object so loud and long to adding one dollar to your tax bill, with improving Ord the certain result? A lake in which to swim and fish is surely worthwhile.

The money used for a chain letter for instance... how do you know you will ever get anything back? And certainly those ladies named at the top of the sheet aren't just the five you would like to present with hankies or tea-towels, now are they? You are taking a chance.

Take a sure chance, add forty or fifty cents a year to your taxes and lose the money; but KNOW you are going to see Ord have a fine little lake for that tiny investment of yours.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!
Written by GEORGE GOWEN

We Are Having an Experience.
It seems to be beyond question now that we are in the throes of an attempt at dictatorship. Heretofore, the mention of a dictator in the United States has been a joke. But political students have long said that a dictator under the United States system of government is not out of the realm of possibilities. We know for sure that it is not, for Huey Long, in Louisiana, until he was shot, was as much a dictator of his state as Hitler or Mussolini.

Skeptics and strong anti new dealers have maintained for six years that Roosevelt had aspirations of a dictator. They pointed to the agriculture program and the N. R. A. and other illustrations. Few took much stock in the idea and we voted even more power to our executive.

Most any person might have been satisfied with the power that our president had. There was an overwhelming majority in both houses of Congress and the country seemed to be back of him. What more could one want? Well, one is never quite satisfied with a good thing. We always want more.

He had the executive and legislative with him but not the judicial. He tried to bring that to his way by the so called "packing" of it. Had this been done, any bill he might desire would have gone thru. Congress might have voted him king.

Having failed in that, he goes now to the country and is attempting to influence the voters to elect a Congress that will pack the court. If he succeeds the people in the United States may well expect anything. It all will depend on the disposition of the man in office. Some dictators are fine and wonderful rulers and some are not. More often not.

But dictatorship seems to be the style now days. It was under these same schemes that Hitler, Mussolini, Huey Long and others gained their strength. A little at a time, until suddenly they blossomed out with full power. In every case they appealed to the hungry masses, promising them everything and that they had no desire to be dictator. In almost every case they were spell binders. When their strength was finally won, heads were rolling.

If this is what the American people want, and is what they vote for in the next two months by putting men in office who will only act as the president says, we may expect most anything. We may be better off, we may be worse, but we (the people) will have little to say. More than likely there will be war and greater armies established, for it is through the military that they show off, and war and the horrors of it make more pages in the history books. Dictators like to think of their names along with Caesar, Napoleon, Lincoln, Alexander.

And fellows like me will not be writing such pieces for we will think too much of our necks.

For County Agents.
The best field of corn on my way to town, outside of some that has been irrigated, is on the forty belonging to Claud Thomas just east of Gus Wetzels. The stalks are yet green and the ears hang big.

Three of a mile from his house and never in the history of the country has there been spread a pound of manure on it. For years there has been nothing but corn planted on this land and this corn was planted in the same old rows year after year.

His land near home has been fertilized repeatedly and so has the land straight across the road to the south, but both fields have dried up weeks ago. Every year this forty has produced corn except 1934 and in '35 the field went 25 bushels to the acre. It is not river or creek bottom land and Claud never considered it as good soil as his other, the west part of it being quite sandy.

It just goes to show that fertilization and fine farming does not seem to always pay in this semi-arid land. Many people are wondering if the Great Creator ever intended a lot of this land of this marginal rainfall region to be farmed at all. We are just on the edge of the corn belt and sure practices that might be beneficial for farmers farther east, do not apply here.

BACK FORTY

Almost everyone will agree that young people should go to high school. And next Monday almost all of them will go. They will travel in cheap autos, on bicycles, horseback, and afoot. They will search for inexpensive boarding houses, rooms in which to "batch," and odd jobs to do.

Ord high school will draw the biggest share of the youngsters from this valley. They will choose Ord because it has a better school system, because it is the logical trading center for their parents, and because more of them have folks at Ord with whom to stay.

Here the boys and girls will be given a wider selection of courses from which to choose. They will be housed in the largest and most modern and fire-proof building in this section of the country. They will be taught by more instructors, instructors with greater training and experience than in most small high schools.

These instructors are considerate. They know that it is hard for children, who have been outdoors all summer, to sit for long hours and force their minds to unfamiliar tasks. They understand that it is sometimes difficult for children to adjust themselves to the teachers and to the other students.

Parents may bring their youngsters to school and trade in Ord at the same time. Its numerous markets offer many advantages. Complete professional services are at hand, medical, legal, financial, dental, and otherwise. Business may be transacted at the courthouse. Wholesome recreation and activity are available; all of which make Ord the ideal school town for this locality.

This was it: "Please excuse Mary from school Wednesday and Thursday for she was showing her calves at the fair."

Now that a New Yorker has invented a liquid to be sprayed in a bathtub before you turn the water on, which makes it impossible to fall down, except on purpose, we suggest that someone invent a spray for toys that would make them crumble instead of acting as roller skates. ### Allen Wedding Quiet.

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Chase of Loup City, Miss Sybil Chase became the bride of George Allen, jr., of Ord at noon Saturday. Simplicity was the keynote throughout, the house being decorated with a profusion of garden flowers, and only a few witnesses present. Rev. Allen of the Baptist church of Loup City was in charge of the single ring ceremony, and the bride and groom were unattended.

The bride chose an attractive dirndl styled frock of dark red velvet, with white yoke, high shouldered sleeves, very full skirt. The dress was street length. For a going away costume, Mrs. Allen wore black crepe, with a black velvet hat and matching accessories.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. George Allen of Ord and their son Galen and daughter Dorothy, Dr. and Mrs. Walker of Omaha, Miss Grace Dreher and Wayne Southwick of Friend, the parents of the bride and her sister Wilda Chase. Her brother Athelbert and family. A wedding breakfast followed the marriage, after which the young couple left at once for a brief wedding trip.

Stewart Dairy Equipment Most Modern

Speaking of the horse and buggy days probably when President Roosevelt mentioned horse and buggy days in connection with the supreme court fight some months back, he probably didn't have W. E. Stewart in mind at all, but it was in the horse and buggy days that Mr. Stewart started The Riverview Dairy.

It was back in 1915 or 1916 probably that Mr. Stewart got his first Jersey cows and he had, at that time, the idea of building up a Jersey herd. Soon it became noised about that the Stewarts had exceptionally fine cream and people from Ord began going out there to get a supply of that good cream along in 1918. About 1920 Mr. Stewart began delivering cream and sometimes a few quarts of milk in Ord. He used a horse and buggy for the purpose and his rig was a familiar sight on the Ord streets in those days.

W. J. STEWART But as the business grew, Will grew older and in a few years he turned the business over to the boys, Ray, Fay and Don. The finest Jersey blood was added to the herd and later Guernseys were also added. A modern dairy barn was built. The horse and buggy days were past and a car was used with which to deliver.

A late model milking machine was added; a refrigerating plant was put in; a few months ago one of the newest type machines for pasteurizing the milk was added to the equipment. This late model machine, a thousand pound model, is the last word in that kind of dairy machinery and is said to retain practically all the natural freshness and good flavor of the natural milk. All these new machines are made possible because the Stewart ranch is on the power line and gets the same service as Ordites now get.

Will Stewart is past the age when he can get into the work harness as he used to do and push the work, but he takes the same interest that he did when he started the business and he is blessed with three sons, mentioned above, who have not only the ability but the will to push the business to the limit. Improvements are made as fast as the business warrants and more improvements are planned for the future.

At present the Stewarts are milking 24 head of cows, the present capacity of their dairy barn. They have others coming on and more room will have to be provided soon if the business continues to grow as it has in the past. Ray Stewart has charge of the farm operations. It is his job to see that plenty of the finest dairy feed is made ready for the cows the year around while Fay and Don look after the mechanical work and delivery of the product. The picture above shows the two boys at work; also a neighbor girl who assists with the work. Fay Stewart says they have customers who have been with them steadily since the dairy was first started many years ago and naturally they are very proud of such loyal customers.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

The best item in the list did not happen in Ord, but it properly belongs here. Miss Lillian Karty was one of the crowd that visited Ericson Sunday. While riding in one of the speed boats her dress got too close to the exhaust pipe, and caught fire. She burned her fingers putting the fire out and ruined a perfectly good dress, but feels lucky to get out of the affair so well.

While on the subject of fires, Bosco (Tuffy) the Tunnick bull dog, should be made an honorary member of the fire department, as he makes it his business to see that cigarette stubs thrown on the sidewalk are put out. He watches for them, and will not quit the job until he is certain the fire is all out. Bill taught him this useful trick, and it is an interesting sight to see him at work.

Sunday when Mrs. Joe Rohla was playing pinochle with a party of six others, she drew a double run and double pinochle, a total of 1800 points. As the double deck contained 80 cards, each would receive 11 cards with three left over for the bidder. It takes twelve cards to secure the above hand, so it would be interesting to try to figure what chance she stood of drawing such a hand.

In all other baking classes a 49-pound sack of OMAH WONDER FLOUR will be awarded for 1st prize and a 24 1/2-pound sack of OMAH WONDER FLOUR will be awarded for a second prize.

 FOR
 CREAM · POULTRY · EGGS

Last Thursday, Aug. 25th, the price of Butterfat in Ord was 21c, Heavy Hens were 11c per pound and Merchants were paying 17c per dozen for eggs when traded for groceries.

FRIDAY MORNING WE PUT
 Butterfat up to 22c per Pound

We have been reliably informed that on that same day buyers in Sargent and Comstock were paying 18c and other nearby towns were paying from 18c to 21c. Some of the Ord buyers had instructions from their companies to get the price down to 18c.

There is no reason for an 18c butterfat price when Chicago Standard Butter is selling at 25c per pound, but if there were no Cooperative Creameries in this part of the state, that is what you would be getting for your cream. A representative of one of the Big Omaha creameries protested our paying this price and said it was liable to put the whole territory out of line. Our answer was, that if 22c was too much for them to pay that we would be glad to buy their cream at that price.

By the time you read this article, we expect that prices in other towns will be higher than they were last Friday because they will have heard of the 22c price in Ord, but if we had been willing to pay 18c per pound we believe the entire territory would have been lined up at 18c.

Fifteen years ago when there were very few Cooperative Creameries in Nebraska and the Centralizers had control of the cream business of the state, the station price of butterfat was sometimes 10 to 12 cents below Chicago Standards. In the early days of the Cooperative Creameries, large annual dividends were possible because of this big margin of profit. Today the margin of profit is less and a Cooperative Creamery must have a good volume of cream in order to return annual dividends to producers.

With dry seasons and poor crops our volume has been reduced but there is still enough cream produced in this community to keep our plant busy and profitable. Remember the profits are returned to the producers.

If you are not selling your cream here we invite you to do so and assure you that by so doing you will help yourselves and all other producers to get more for butterfat.

For almost twelve years the Ord Cooperative Creamery has PAID ANNUAL PREMIUMS to Cream Producers and during most of the time has paid above State Price for daily door deliveries.

The Cooperative Creamery is the only organization in the field that is interested in getting all the money possible for the producers of cream. Why sell your cream to some organization located in a distant city, when one of the good Cooperative Creameries of Nebraska is located right in your own home town.

EGGS

OUR PRICE TODAY—PER DOZEN

Specials 22c Firsts 17c Seconds 15c

Many of our customers are averaging over 19c per dozen cash. With a spread of 7c per dozen between the top and lower grade it surely is worth while to give laying hens good care, gather eggs often, keep eggs in a cool place and deliver them twice a week.

While Ord merchants are paying 17c per dozen in trade you will find prices in nearby towns as low as 14c cash. The fact that we buy eggs on grade and pay a high price has been an influencing factor in keeping Ord merchants' trade-in price higher than in nearby towns.

We can handle more eggs and you will find it profitable to sell here. Perhaps we can suggest something that will help you produce better quality eggs so that you may receive the PREMIUM that we pay for SPECIAL EGGS.

POULTRY

Last Friday we raised the price of Poultry one cent a pound on all grades. That was not a big raise but averages about a 10% price increase. Since then the price of hens has gone up another cent. A little real competition is a fine thing for you people who raise poultry.

The fact that your Cooperative Creamery tries to keep paying prices on poultry as high as possible is not known by all poultry raisers. That is why we are using this space to give you the facts.

Mr. Farmer:—
 We appreciate just how important these produce checks are going to be to you during the next twelve months.

Won't you work with us so that they will be as large as possible.
 Don't expect us to perform miracles, our profits don't automatically jump when you sell us the first can of cream, nor can we control prices at the big terminal markets.

What we need is your patronage the year around and if it is forthcoming we feel sure that you will realize that you have received
