

'Streamlined' Fair Opens In Ord Monday

Midget Drivers Promise Crowds Thrilling Races

Tuti Golota Sends Entry for Opening Races; Is Regarded As Topnotch Driver.

Ord's new 1-5 mile Midget speedway will provide thrills and spills galore for fair attendants next week.

The midget auto racers will contest for $1,700 in prizes. The time trials will begin promptly at one o'clock, and the first race will start promptly at two o'clock. Each day there will be ten races instead of the usual six, winding up with the special Nebraska Sweepstakes, which will prove more exciting than any race ever run in Ord.

The list of midget car owners who have sent in their contracts to race at Ord next week included twenty-three names Monday noon of this week. These drivers come from all parts of the United States, the list of states including Nebraska, Iowa, Colorado, Texas, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma and California.

Ord Men Drive Midget Racers?

The boys at the court house got to looking over the pictures Clyde Baker has of the racers who are coming here, and they have agreed that Chris DeHaven, Houston, Tex., is the living image of Bud Lashmett, and Darrel Wood of Omaha bears a remarkable resemblance to Dr. J. G. Kruml. So if you think you see either of these men driving midget cars next week, it will be a case of mistaken identity.

Iowa heads the list with seven entries, closely followed by Colorado with five. Kansas has three, Nebraska and Oklahoma two each, and Michigan and California, one each. Six Iowa entries are from Sioux City one of the leading midget racing cities of the United States, while four of the Colorado drivers come from Denver, another noted racing city.

Clyde Baker went to Sioux City Sunday to see the races there, and Joe Fohnestock, who is the official Ord starter, told him that he had talked with the racers at Kansas City last week and that six of them were planning to come to Ord. The fact that Fohnestock will start the races assures the boys that they will get a square deal here, and they have no hesitation in coming.

Two entries of more than usual interest arrived in the past few days. One is that of Tuti Golota, brother of the Tony Golota, who has won national fame as a driver on the Indianapolis speedway. The other is the entry of Danny Oakes of Los Angeles, who is rated as one of the greatest drivers in the west. Oakes drives a McDowell, while Golota's Brown Special is one of the most beautiful and expensive midget cars ever built.

Two drivers over Ord's half mile track are now in the midget racing game, and they will appear at Ord this year. One of these is Sam Hoffman of Sioux City, driving his own 13 with an Offenhauser motor. The other is Vic Felt of Denver, with car No. 35. F. O. Hal, with Jud Pickup of Denver as driver. Since many of the old timers decided to stay with the big racing cars, the rest of the drivers to appear in Ord this year will be new to Ord fans.

Wednesday morning: Carl Baudom of Chicago, driver of a Marchal Miller, one of the fastest cars in the racing game, has written Supt. Clyde Baker that he will be here next week. Baker also received a letter from Buck Whitman, speed ace from Sioux Falls, who has been winning consistently. And this morning a telegram came from Ted Duncan of Chicago, who wants to come to Ord next week.

Married in Ord.

Everett Franklin Greathouse of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Miss Lola Leah Simpson of Burwell were granted a marriage license Saturday by County Judge John L. Anderson, and shortly afterward Rev. Mearl C. Smith performed the marriage ceremony at the Methodist parsonage. The witnesses were Martin Gene Lewis and Miss Dorothy Cass, of Burwell. The contracting parties are both well and favorably known in Burwell. They will make their home at Cheyenne, where the groom is employed.

—Penny Supper Saturday evening at the Ord Christian church basement.

Council Urged To Speed Lake Project

A number of routine matters were considered and disposed of by the Ord City council at its meeting Friday evening, and in addition, several items of special interest were considered. The council entertained and acted favorably on a request from the Ord Fire Department that their rooms in the City Hall be returned to them by December first.

Speedy action was urged in the case of the lateral through Bussell Park. This was requested by the Irrigation District, which in turn is being hurried by the contractors, who are in a hurry to get the work done here. If the board cannot wait, the proposition will have to fall through, since the city does not want to undertake the project without WPA aid.

Mayor M. B. Cummins interviewed the Irrigation board this Wednesday morning, and they promised to hold off any definite decision relative to the lateral through the park as long as possible, hoping that some definite word may be received from the WPA by next week.

Chairman Johnson of the streets and alleys committee reported that the records showed that 3900 yards of gravel had been put on Ord streets Friday evening out of the total of 5000 yards called for in Harry Patchen's contract, and that the work was progressing in a satisfactory manner.

Applications from different tax payers, asking that lights be put in were considered, and also applications for changes in the present system of water mains to render more satisfactory service to customers. As to what further action was taken by the board, it is requested that all interested read the council proceedings, which will probably appear in the Quiz next week.

Max Schuyler, 41, Dies in Cheyenne

Max Schuyler, 41, resident of Garfield county until 15 years ago, passed away at his home in Cheyenne, Sept. 3, after a protracted illness, the immediate cause of death being heart disease. He is survived by his wife, who was a daughter of Thomas Jablonski of Elyria, and a sister of Mrs. John Zulkoski of Ord.

Also surviving are his mother, Mrs. J. H. Schuyler and sister Joy, of Fullerton, and a sister, Mrs. A. K. Coombs of Cotesfield, a son Don, and a daughter, Mrs. M. McCleis, who with his widow, live at Cheyenne, also two brothers, Roy, of Oxford, Nebr., and Lee, of Lincoln, Nebr. He was well known and highly respected in Burwell, his home for 26 years.

Farmers May Benefit By New Wheat Ruling

Many Valley county farmers may benefit by a new ruling affecting 1939 wheat acreage according to an announcement by the Valley County Agricultural Conservation Committee, made recently. A farmer whose 1939 wheat allotment is less than eight acres may plant up to eight acres of wheat for grain and still comply with the 1939 farm program.

If such a farmer harvests more than his allotment but not to exceed eight acres of wheat, he will earn no wheat payments. However, he will be eligible to earn a payment on his wheat allotment at the rate for such crops as oats or barley. In the event he prefers to stay within his allotted acreage, he will earn the regular wheat pay on his allotment. On the other hand, if he harvests more than eight acres of wheat for grain, the excess above eight acres will be deducted from other payments earned under the 1939 farm program.

The committee also pointed out that all Valley County farmers who stay within their 1939 wheat allotments will receive payments totaling 26 to 30 cents a bushel on the normal production of their allotted acreage. On a farm with a normal yield of 12 bushels per acre, such a payment would amount to $3.12 to $3.60 an acre.

With all these advantages for the farmer who stays within his allotted base, the committee urges every farm to give careful consideration to the program before planting a wheat acreage which exceeds the base assigned to his farm and automatically puts himself out of line for next year's program.

The drought of the past several years has demonstrated the fact that crop production in this county is at best a hazardous proposition and that the AAA program is the best assurance a farmer can have that he will receive some income for his labor.

—Ralph W. Norman drove to Loup City today, Wednesday, to attend to legal matters that required his attention.

Kearney Woman Uninjured When Car Hits Pole

Ord and Burwell Plants Put Into Operation While Line Is Repaired.

When a car went out of control between Ord and Elyria Wednesday evening at six o'clock and broke off one of the poles of the new high line, current was cut off for a time from all towns fed through the sub-station at Elm Creek. The car, driven by Miss Ida Kerol of Kearney, left the highway when the left rear tire blew out, crossed the ditch out of control and crashed squarely into the pole, which was broken off even with the ground, and also about four feet above the ground.

The breaking of an insulator caused two of the high tension wires to hit together, which threw out the master switch at Elm Creek. In a few minutes E. A. Holub of Elyria notified E. H. Dunmire of what had occurred. The high line was cut off at Ord, and the Ord and Burwell plants were started up at once. When the wrecker from the McCullough Motor company arrived, they found the car with the pole resting across the top, as shown in the above photo.

As soon as the car had been removed and the insulator replaced, high line service was resumed. The local current was used about an hour. As the picture shows the only damage to the car was the front bumper, grill and radiator, together with a dent in the top which can easily be removed. Miss Kerol escaped without injury, and the car was towed to Hastings the next day.

The accident, while serious, might have been far worse. No one was injured, the current was interrupted for only a short time, and the pole was replaced the next morning. Miss Kerol paying the damage. But it shows the importance of having an efficient city plant ready to start at an instant's notice. Without it, Ord and Burwell would have been without power for a much longer period of time.

Band and Boosters Advertising Fair

To advertise the fair, the Ord high school band is giving good-will concerts in neighboring cities. These trips are being sponsored by the fair board and by the business men of Ord. Tuesday night, a fifty-piece band, accompanied by approximately forty cars, driven by local people made a trip to North Loup and to Scotia, where short concerts were given.

Soloists accompanying the band were Mrs. Mark Tolon, Tom Springer, and Arthur Auble. At North Loup, James Birmingham sang a solo, "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky", accompanied by the band. Two Scotia girls presented a vocal duet, "Rosalie", which was also accompanied by the band. Tonight the band and the boosters will leave from the high school at 6:45 for Arcadia and Loup City.

Union Pacific R. R. Changes Motor Time

Effective today, Sept. 7, the Union Pacific motor will leave Ord at 10:40 A. M., and arrive in Grand Island at 12:50 p. m. The evening motor will leave Grand Island at 3:05 p. m., and arrive in Ord at 5:15 p. m. This makes the motor leave Ord 1 hour and 30 minutes later in the morning, and arrive 1 hour later in the evening. This change in time has been made because No. 16 has been discontinued, and the new time will make connections with No. 6 from the west.

Breaks in Current Get Monotonous

According to the automatic record on the dial at the light plant, there was a total of thirty interruptions in the power from the high line during the month of August. Most of these were only for a short time, the longest being seven minutes. The first serious break came last Wednesday evening. While unavoidable, these breaks are not a pleasant thing to have happening.

Two momentary breaks in current occurred Monday and a third, coming a few minutes before five o'clock, lasted 14 minutes. To safeguard housewives who were cooking supper, the local plant was turned on and run for an hour, in case another interruption should occur. Coming at the closing hour, this did not interrupt the Quiz mechanical department, but the photo-engraver had to quit until the power came back.

E. D. Bannister Dies at Aurora

E. D. Bannister, 76, died at the home of his son, William E. Bannister at Aurora, yesterday, Sept. 6, following a heart attack. He was well known in Ord, where he lived for many years. Since the death of their daughter, Mrs. Mayer, in June, he and Mrs. Bannister had made their home with their son in Aurora, where he had been receiving medical treatment for heart and kidney trouble. He had suffered a stroke of paralysis late last fall, and since that time had failed. He had been bedfast the past two weeks. At the time the letter was written to the Quiz final arrangements for the funeral had not been made but it was expected it would be held Friday with burial in Ord.

New Train Schedule Changes Mail Delivery

The new schedule of the Union Pacific motor, which, beginning today, arrives an hour later than heretofore, makes it necessary to change the delivery of mail to the business section. There will be two deliveries per day, but one of them will come early in the morning, when the first class mail arriving on the late train the night before will be delivered. The Quiz will be delivered around the square with the early morning delivery Thursday.

Steel in His Eye

Carl Nirmil, who is employed by the Inland Construction company, had three small pieces of steel get into his left eye Saturday, probably from the cables on the Le-tourneau, and had them taken out by Dr. Dean while in Omaha over the week end. He has been laying off a few days, but will return to work, as his eye is about well again.

Married by Judge

Thursday, Sept. 1, County Judge John L. Anderson issued a marriage license to Jessie L. Clement, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clement of North Loup, and Erma L. Coplen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Coplen, also of North Loup. Later, with Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Sheldon as witnesses, he pronounced them man and wife.

Mrs. John Sell Dies

Arcadia, Sept. 6.—Mrs. John Sell, who has been ill for the past two years, passed away this morning at her home. No arrangements had been made for the funeral as this was written.

—Ike Fischer of Utah came to Ord on the bus Wednesday morning.

Broken Pole Breaks High Line Circuit

Heavy high-line pole topples onto auto driven by Miss Ida Kerol of Kearney without even breaking a glass. The young lady lost control of her car when a tire blew out.

Four Good Showers Fall In Past Week

According to Weatherman Horace Travis, Friday's rainfall amounted to .41 of an inch, the shower Sunday was .23 of an inch, and that of Monday, .13 of an inch. This was the official measurement in Ord, but the fall varied greatly in the territory surrounding Ord, the heaviest being in the vicinity of Kent, between Taylor and Burwell, where another four inch downpour is reported.

Warned by past experience, the gates in the dams at Burwell and Ord were removed in time to permit the surplus water to pass thru without doing damage. The rain Sunday evening was fairly general being reported by people coming into Ord from all directions except toward Atkinson. However it is believed that section got a good rain Monday afternoon.

A fourth rain of .19 fell during the night Tuesday, raising the total amount of precipitation for the first week in September to 1.05 inches. Coming on different days, it soaked up the soil much better than a single rain of that amount would. More showers are predicted for today, and the prospect is for a generally wet month.

Pupils Give Piano Recital Friday P. M.

Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock half of the piano pupils of Mrs. J. W. Severns gave a recital in the studio rooms of the Auble Jewelry store. At the close of the recital Dick Mahan of Callaway delighted the audience with a group of numbers. Mrs. Mahan, a cousin of Mrs. Severns, is a senior piano student at the Kearney State Teachers college.

Rotary Club Meeting

Charles Shepard was the principal speaker at the Rotary club meeting Monday evening at Thorne's Cafe. He spoke on a trip he took to Mexico, of his research work in bacteriology, and other subjects. Other guests were James Milliken and Rodney Stoltz. Dr. F. A. Barta, Rotary president, was not at all satisfied with the attendance, and believes that since the hot summer weather is now over, there should be a full attendance at every meeting.

Paul Gard Pays Fine Wednesday, Is Released

Wednesday evening the balance still due on the $100 fine assessed against Paul Gard was paid, and he was released from custody.

The design for the tablet is being completed, and Wait Desch will send it in as soon as the wording is determined.

A paper is being circulated at the present time, and the funds for the purpose will soon be raised. At the session Tuesday evening Harry Wolf, coach of the Legion Junior baseball team, thanked the legion for their support through the season. He also stated that Supt. C. C. PRIMARY REMEDIES.

In county conventions all over Nebraska, both Democratic and Republican, there was an overwhelming sentiment for radical changes in the present primary system.

Just how this will be done is a matter of conjecture. Before suggesting a remedy it might be well to consider some of the objections that are being found to the law in its present form.

Perhaps the most glaring flaw this year was the multiplicity of candidates for the several offices, especially on the state ticket.

Rather than attempt to select a candidate from a group he did not know, many an honest voter refused to vote for any, thus leaving the selection of candidates to those who did vote.

A remedy that has been suggested for this condition is to limit the number of men who may file for any office. This would reduce the number of candidates, but would make it possible for one man to practically assure his own nomination by having a group of his friends file at the earliest possible moment.

In this case the remedy might prove worse than the disease. But the public is demanding that some remedy be found, and what the people want they will have.

A plan that seems to have merit is to permit as many as wish to do so to file for office, then hold the conventions before the primary and have the convention endorse the candidates which are best fitted for the job.

The multiplicity of candidates is not the only objection to the present primary system. Another objection that has always been made is that a man must call for a party ballot to vote in the primary.

The past month thousands of persons stayed away from the polls because they did not care to put themselves on record as being adherents of either political party.

No candidate should be considered the nominee of his party for an office unless he receives a majority of all the votes cast by that party at the primary, yet under the present system it is possible for a man to be nominated and yet receive not more than 25% of the party vote.

Terry Carpenter, successful Democratic candidate for Lieutenant governor in a field of 13, polled only 31% of the Democratic vote in winning the nomination.

However, the limit of something or other was reached by Floyd Bollen, who polled only 17% of the Democratic vote in a field of 9 in winning the nomination for railway commissioner.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Late Saturday and Harry (boss when Eugene is gone) wants to know why I haven't written this column. And here I am with nothing to write about.

Just how this will be done is a matter of conjecture. Before suggesting a remedy it might be well to consider some of the objections that are being found to the law in its present form.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Man of Influence. Are We Loyal? Short Shavings

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Are We Loyal? The man down this way who sold his nine milk cows a couple of weeks ago and bought a new car may not have been so foolish after all.

Besides the reverse profit from his adventure, he says there is a lot of work involved in draining those old cows every night and morning and he has become tired of it.

The question arose as to what the car would be worth in ten years from now and where the money would come from to buy the gasoline to run the car.

The one big trouble with the man was not altogether in the cows, but in the fact that in his several years of farming he has not had a crop. A crop would have helped feed those cows and then there would have been a good profit on the cows.

There are many men who think the dairy business has hit the skids. Art Hutchins says that the only reason the butter prices are as good as they are, is the fact that the government is pegging the price and buying butter.

Butter has come up against one of the hardest problems a business can face and that is butter substitute. Only the elite and sickly anymore eat butter, it seems.

Our people on relief use oleo almost entirely although their funds come from the taxpayer, many of which are trying to pay their taxes and bills with cream checks.

Children have so many things to learn. Kerry asked what the flags meant Monday, and I said they were for Labor Day.

Sammy Jensen worried about his Mama when she was ill, and was very happy when she was moved from the hospital to the Bratt home.

Man of Influence. In taking a ride with Yoc Jensen of Horace to his pasture east of Chas. Sterneck's and owned by Will Hansen, the other day, Yoc says Valley county drags the one mile of road every day just for him.

One would think in seeing that mile of road that is dragged so often and used so seldom that Valley county has more money than they know what to do with, but then when you turn south along a mail route and milk route and a road that leads to an important territory, one would conclude the county must be bankrupt and that if you do not creep the car along in which you are riding it will surely be "bankrupt".

It is all very mysterious and someone even suggested that Chas. S. or Yoc or Will H. has some esoteric influence on the powers that be and consequently get the road attention in place of where the work is really needed.

Short Shavings. I have been told by at least two good horsemen, men who are in the business, that a black horse is hard to sell anymore and will bring frequently thirty dollars less than a more brilliant colored one, like a roan or sorrel.

Barley that will go for malting purposes is worth 25c a bushel more than feed barley. Malt barley must be of good quality, usually having been grown on rolling land and never had its feet wet.

Next to hand shaking, nothing is so overworked as a woman's promise to start dieting. There is a vast difference between offering a man a suggestion and telling him how to run his business.

Ideal type is free of specks, bumps, or rough spots, well rounded, and not extra large. Crops judges are favoring corn with smooth kernels, slender and well matured ears.

In the livestock division, critics are picking their draft horses a trifle lighter. Beef cattle are wanted lower-set than ever. Sheep are also preferred close to the ground, but larger. Hogs are still chosen that have lots of size and stretch, but with somewhat thicker bodies.

Murray Rich, who lives south of town where the Creator made a mistake and left the land all on edge, says he has good corn and it is still green. There are a number of farms in that vicinity that were not rented this year, if someone is looking for productive land.

Something Different

Youngsters learning to telephone must be quite a trial to the telephone operators, but I suppose they put up with it cheerfully, remembering that each hesitant, hisping little voice will grow up to be another subscriber to their exchange and give more jobs to more telephone girls.

Lots of amusing conversations take place when these children learn to telephone, to tickle elders, telephone girls or anyone else who happens to hear a snatch of them.

Robert Rose telephoned his mother at Burwell one evening not long ago, the call coming all the way from Baton Rouge, La. His mother got quite a kick out of it when Robert expensively phrased a request all that long way: "Mother, send me some stamps, will you?"

Robert is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams of Ord. His mother was Gladys Williams of Ord, well known to many friends wherever the Quiz is read.

Children have so many things to learn. Kerry asked what the flags meant Monday, and I said they were for Labor Day. Then he wanted to know what that meant and I finally decided to answer that it was a holiday.

Sammy Jensen worried about his Mama when she was ill, and was very happy when she was moved from the hospital to the Bratt home. There he kept hearing everyone asking her how she was feeling, so he decided to take it up too.

Man of Influence. In taking a ride with Yoc Jensen of Horace to his pasture east of Chas. Sterneck's and owned by Will Hansen, the other day, Yoc says Valley county drags the one mile of road every day just for him. He says frequently he is the only man for days who travels the road and especially the last half mile.

Mrs. V. J. Thomas Has Had an Interesting Life

Mrs. V. J. Thomas, 90, of North Loup has witnessed three wars in which the United States was vitally concerned, the Civil War, the Spanish-American war, and the World War.

Mrs. Thomas was born in the village of Road, Somerset Shire, England. The village was strictly a farming village. During the day, the men in the village would work on the neighboring farms, and return home that evening.

One incident Mrs. Thomas particularly associates with the Civil War is that of a fourteen-year-old boy whose father insisted that he enlist in the army.

Robert is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams of Ord. His mother was Gladys Williams of Ord, well known to many friends wherever the Quiz is read.

Children have so many things to learn. Kerry asked what the flags meant Monday, and I said they were for Labor Day.

Sammy Jensen worried about his Mama when she was ill, and was very happy when she was moved from the hospital to the Bratt home.

Man of Influence. In taking a ride with Yoc Jensen of Horace to his pasture east of Chas. Sterneck's and owned by Will Hansen, the other day, Yoc says Valley county drags the one mile of road every day just for him.

One would think in seeing that mile of road that is dragged so often and used so seldom that Valley county has more money than they know what to do with, but then when you turn south along a mail route and milk route and a road that leads to an important territory, one would conclude the county must be bankrupt and that if you do not creep the car along in which you are riding it will surely be "bankrupt".

It is all very mysterious and someone even suggested that Chas. S. or Yoc or Will H. has some esoteric influence on the powers that be and consequently get the road attention in place of where the work is really needed.

The Dionne Quintuplets Thrive on Oatmeal

For many weeks every man, woman and child watched with tense interest to see what would happen to the Quints. The fate of these famous babies was a source of speculation and wonder. The Dominion of Canada, making their welfare a National obligation, put them in the care of a top-notch staff of child experts. The amazing result of this special care is that the Dionne Quintuplets are miraculous examples of the glowing health that science can give. Their diet is composed of things which do them good and which they like—such as oatmeal.

Oatmeal was given to these charming babies by the dieticians because oatmeal with milk contains such an abundance of body-building minerals, muscle-building protein, energy-making carbohydrates, and Vitamin B for keeping fit.

Vitamin B is the best safeguard against those dangerous enemies of childhood—nervousness, constipation, and poor appetite due to lack of that vitamin in the diet. Therefore the Quints thrive on Quaker Oats.

"WHERE BUYER AND SELLER MEET" THE WANT AD PAGE

MINIMUM CHARGE IS 25c
Want Ads cost 1c per word per week with 25c the least total charge per order. If your want ad contains 25 words it will run once for 25c, twice for 50c, etc. If it contains only 10 words it will run 2 weeks for 25c, 3 weeks for 30c, etc. "Blind ads", that is ads without name or phone number, cost double.

YOUR NAME IS IMPORTANT
A want Ad with the name of the advertiser will bring much better results than one which fails to give the name. Giving full information also helps, as does a price. Give a phone number if possible. The more you tell the quicker you sell.

RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seem' Things Eleanor Iwanski talking about a "Mysterious" Eddy from Columbus. Arden Clark finding a "new" girl in Hastings. (Nothing new, of course.) John Rogers giving Armona Beth Achen a thrilling (and how!) bike ride. Kathryn Minick reading "Little Orphan Annie".

(Definition: (by Tommy Doran) "Concession means three nights in a row." (So that's what the sign on Dargess' car means! And, incidentally Tommy, the word is succession.)

Three cheers for: The novel way that Viona Wolfe "ditched" Paul Kern from Burwell. The viddy good-looking bunch of Freshmen in school this year. (Add these to the beautiful new teachers, and I think the last year's boy graduates will go back to high school.)

Peaches and pairs: The nifty looking blonde or nearly blonde Senior girls. (And I do mean you!) Opal Kern of Burwell and that handsome young gentleman (Hm!) Capron Coe.

"Seem" more things: Those Wednesday night dances at the opera house. (Oh, Oh!) Bobby Klima and the little Timmerman girl, with Geraldine Noll acting as chaperone. The Burwell boys who delight in spying (through the windows, of course) on their pal and his girl-friend! Julius Vala surrounded by a host of young ladies. That's all! (Until after the dance Monday.)

Munn & Norman, Attorneys. NOTICE FOR PRESENTATION OF CLAIMS. In the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska. The State of Nebraska, ) ss. Valley County. )

Obituary.

Helen Audrie Pearl, daughter of Henry A. and Myrtle M. Pearl, was born at Hobart, Okla., June 6, 1903 and departed this life at Burwell, Nebr., September 1, 1938, at the age of 35 years, 2 months and 26 days.

At the age of three years, Audrie moved, with her parents, to Windsor, Colo., where the family resided until she was 11 years of age, when they moved to Carleton, Nebr., and later to Burwell, which has been the family home since that time. She attended the public schools at Burwell and Sargent, Nebraska, graduating from the high school at the latter place in 1924. Since that time, she has been one of the successful school teachers in Garfield county and just a few weeks preceding her death, she had completed the work entitling her to a life certificate in her chosen profession.

Early in life Audrie was baptized in the Christian church at Burwell, and has ever been a true and loyal worker in that faith. She was, by nature, of a sunny disposition, loving and kind, and though the cross of suffering she bore was heavy, never was she heard to complain, but was ever doing something to lighten the burden for others. She was loved by all who knew her, and her friends were numbered only by her acquaintances. Our loss is Heaven's gain, for she has entered into that haven of eternal rest. She lived for others, her pride and joy in life was to make others happy, and her ministry of service has been renewed in eternity.

She leaves to mourn her passing, besides her loving parents, one sister, Hazel Adams of Meridian, Ida., a brother Jesse L. of Burwell and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held in the Burwell Christian church Sunday at 2 o'clock p. m., with Rev. W. L. Goodell in charge. Music was furnished by the mixed quartette composed of Mrs. Arthur Langstrom, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Grunkemeyer and W. F. Wagner with Mrs. Francis Thomas at the piano. Pall-bearers were Jesse Williams, Fred Meyer, Melvin Gideon, Jr., Arthur Carlson, Alvin Carlson and Arthur Mohr. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery.

Edward F. Sime, county superintendent, has recently issued a statement of the financial condition of the rural schools of Garfield county. According to this report the condition has been greatly improved in the past 10 years, financially, with a better qualified teaching force and better equipment. In 1937 the indebtedness ran into a huge figure and 14 districts were issuing warrants, with one district having $2,000 of outstanding warrants. At the present time the total indebtedness for the 35 districts combined is less than $200. Ten years ago 122 children in this county did not have the privilege of attending a nine months' term of school. One district had 6 months, four had 7 months, and 7 had 8 months, while last year all except 6 children in the county attended a nine months school. In the county and district treasuries there is a credit of $9295 to the rural schools. This surplus is from old taxes as the 1933 levies have not as yet been applied.

All of the above three have indicated they would be here if possible. Among the forty drivers expected 28 had signed applications and said they would be here. Several more applications are expected this week end. A new entry this morning is Tuti Golota of Kansas City, who we are informed drives a Miller . . . said to be the fastest thing on wheels. Mechanical Cow Will Perform at Fair

Olive Miles and Company in "Cow Capers", will be one of the outstanding acts to appear at the Loup Valley Fair at Ord, September 12 and 13, it has been announced.

For more than a decade this trio of fun dispensers has been seen in the favorite vaudeville theaters, night clubs, and even in the nation's leading rodeos. In 1936 and again in 1937 they were featured at the World's Championship rodeo at Madison Square Garden in New York City, and at the famous rodeo at the Chicago Stadium where they filled a comedy "spot" on the program.

"Queenie" the cow, which is in reality Miss Miles' two partners, cuts capers all over the stage. "Her" milk at times comes in cans, and there are also moments when she gives her instead of milk.

Olive Miles and "Queenie" will appear as one of the free acts in the afternoon grandstand program, and will also be seen in "Swing-time Varieties" revue, the night show booked for this year's Fair.

The entire program of entertainment has been booked through WHO Radio Enterprises, Inc., of Des Moines, Iowa.

"SLUGGER" SMITH

By R. H. WILKINSON
© Bell Syndicate—WFO Service.

"NO MAN," said Elmer Stone, "was ever more proud of his sobriquet than David 'Slugger' Smith.

"Slugger was a small man, puny, almost emaciated in appearance—a friendly sort of person, the type of man toward whom you instantly warm without knowing why; a man, great of spirit and generous of heart.

"Sam Cook just called David, 'Slugger.' It was toward the end of the annual baseball game between volunteer Hook and Ladder No. 1 of Dexter and Hose 3 of Bartlett. David, an ardent follower of the big leagues, himself an enthusiastic player and a third baseman of whom all Dextertites were proud, stepped up to bat in the last half of the ninth, with the score 2 to 2, and slugged out a home run.

"Sam, who was seated beside me in the bleachers, exclaimed: 'What a slugger that guy turned out to be!' The name seemed to suit David fine. It was sort of catchy and somehow suggestive of the reason for its origin.

"There was, as usual, a celebration that night in the firehouse, and David was the hero of the hour. Sam proposed a toast to 'Slugger' Smith, and everybody cheered and applauded and thought the moniker well bestowed.

"David was ordinarily a modest and reticent type of man, but that name tickled his vanity. He grinned from ear to ear, and you could tell by the look in his eyes that he was mighty proud to be called 'Slugger.'

"That night after the celebration David went home and, emboldened by the flattery of his teammates (a boldness augmented by several generous mugs of Peter Sayles' very best home brew) woke his wife, Dora, from a sound slumber, and apprised her of the great honor that had been bestowed upon himself.

"It was, I suspect, the home brew that freed David's tongue, for Dora Smith approved not at all of her husband's enthusiasm and interest in the national sport. She frowned upon his association with such ordinary people as myself and Sam Cook. And since the day of their wedding, five years before, she had never ceased trying to convince him that baseball was a degrading and vulgar pastime.

"For Dora had social ambitions. She wanted to be somebody, to travel in smart company, to be distinctive and aloof. At that time Dexter had no group of people that could be classed as aristocrats, but Dora had dreams of such a group, with herself in the role of social lion.

"And so when David, with boyish enthusiasm and righteous pride, told how he had earned his sobriquet, his ardor was almost instantly squelched by cold and condemning stares, by harsh and cruel scolding, by unsympathetic and unfair upbraiding. Fortunately, David had fortified himself with enough home brew to dispel any oppressiveness which might have been his reaction to such a rebuff, and, more fortunately still, Dora had that evening received a letter, the contents of which had excited her to a high fever and left little room in her mind for other matters. Hence the tirade was cut unusually short, and David crawled into bed to dream blissful dreams of slugging home runs for Hook and Ladder No. 1.

"Dora woke him early the next morning. Fully clothed she sat on the bed's edge, and held the letter in her hand. Even to David's sleep-drooped brain was borne the knowledge that something important was about to happen. He rubbed his eyes, sat up and prepared to listen. Dora beamed.

"David, it's happened! We're rich."

"David blinked. 'Rich?' " "Richer than I'd ever dreamed. David, just listen to this: Uncle Thomas, my mother's brother, who lived in Boston, died two weeks ago, and bequeathed us his entire fortune. Nearly a million dollars!"

"David looked concerned. 'Say, that's a shame. Tom was a good egg. What ailed him?'"

"Dora's glance hardened for an instant, and then she was beaming again. 'Think of it, David, a million dollars! Think of what it means! Travel! Meeting smart people! Mingling with the highest of society! Oh, David, we'll be the envy of every one in Dexter!'"

"David wasn't exactly agog over the idea, and protested at giving up his job and accompanying his wife on a trip abroad. But he was a mild mannered man, easily persuaded in preference to asserting himself. During the next two weeks, while Dora was packing and making preparations for their tour, he went around town with a delectable look on his face, a look that brightened only when some one addressed him by his newly acquired sobriquet. If some one on the opposite side of the street shouted at him: 'Hi, Slugger!' you'd see a grin appear that would warm the cockles of your heart.

"We had to see David go. He was a regular fellow, liked by us all, a good mixer, an unselfish friend. He told us they were to be devoted to acquiring culture and a snooty attitude.

"And despite the fact that none of us could ever conceive of David as an aristocrat or anything more superior than the hero of Hook and Ladder No. 1's baseball team, we felt sad the day of his departure. Somehow it seemed he was stepping out of the role in which we had always known him and into another and stranger character.

"This fear was substantiated when, from one source or another, we began to hear news of the Smiths' social climb. Due mostly to Dora's determination and initiative they had advanced far and succeeded in making an impression on some of Europe's high society.

"This news was further supported when it became known that Dora had invested several thousands of dollars with a genealogy expert and acquired among other things, a coat of arms, and a large book containing details of the Smith family as far back as Capt. John Smith. A little later we were advised that mail addressed to Mr. or Mrs. David Smith would be ignored; if we wanted to communicate with Slugger we must address the envelope to D. H. Hatcher Smythe, which was, Dora discovered, the correct way of spelling and pronouncing the good old name.

"This latter information was disturbing. It forced us to admit that our conjectures regarding 'Slugger' Smith were wrong. He had succumbed at last, gone high hat, become an aristocrat, would undoubtedly look down with scorn and contempt upon his one-time cronies.

"Our last remaining hope was dashed asunder when one day the train from Boston deposited Slugger and Dora at Dexter's depot. Those of us who, as usual, were gathered on the platform to check up on the train's arrival, were saddened by what we saw. There was Slugger in a cut-away coat and striped trousers, carrying a little snow-white Pomeranian dog under his arm. He followed Dora across the station platform and looked right through us as if we had been so much thin air.

"It was sad. None of us addressed him. We would have felt uneasy doing so. He seemed strange and unreal; he wasn't the man upon whom we had bestowed the sobriquet of 'Slugger' and who had been proud of the honor.

"Several times we met this strange being about town during the next few days. And always he looked through us or failed to turn his face in our direction at all. We did not attempt to renew old friendship; we were too fearful of being humiliated and scorned.

"The thing might have gone on indefinitely had not Bob Terril, who had secured a position in Boston shortly after the Smiths departed from Europe, returned to town one day and confronted David in the post office that evening. Bob of course had no news of David, was not aware of the great transformation that had taken place in the one-time crony to us all, and at sight of him he let out a whoop and came across the floor. 'Slugger! I'm a son of an ox! By all that's holy, what is this, a masquerade,' he ejaculated again, and reached out and whacked David between the shoulder blades.

"And then something very surprising happened. Instead of spurning Bob's greeting with a look of scorn and contempt, an expression of serene happiness appeared on his face. He grinned from ear to ear and thrust out his hand.

"'Thanks, Bob,' he said, his tone husky, 'thanks. I—I was afraid every one had forgotten about that name of mine. I was afraid to speak to anyone; afraid they wouldn't call me 'Slugger.'"

Frozen Grasshoppers in Glacier for Many Years

Probably one of the most curious sights of the world is a glacier full of frozen grasshoppers. This is known as Grasshopper glacier, and is to be seen in Montana, observes a writer in the Montreal Herald.

The huge mass of ice, under the crush of which the grasshoppers are buried, is under the shadow of Granite peak, a 13,000-foot mountain. Millions of grasshoppers are embedded in the ice of the glacier, and no one knows how many thousands of years they have been there. Those near the surface are plainly seen through the clear ice.

Just how the grasshoppers came to be in the ice is a matter which has long perplexed scientists. One idea is that the insects were suddenly killed by a cold blast of air when crossing the mountains on one of their periodic flights southward. Falling, they became buried in ice and snow.

Laying Mash

Our Laying Mash sales have doubled in the last three weeks. You ask "WHY?" There are several reasons. First, it is impossible to buy a top grade laying mash at $1.60 except Noll's.

Second, many flock owners find it cheaper to buy Noll's Mash than to mix their own formula, and it is a better feed.

Third, there is less death loss in your laying flock and a higher egg production if fed Noll's Laying Mash.

Fourth, you do not buy a lot of high priced advertising and long freight haul. You just pay for good feed.

If you have not fed our feed ask about special price on 5 bag lots.

Exhibits Top All Previous Years for Sheer Excellence

Ag Exhibits Heavy If Weather Conditions Considered; Other Showings Large.

Those who have made it a practice to visit the various exhibits at the Valley county fair from year to year, are agreed that those this week were far above those of recent years, and that in many ways it was the best exhibit ever held. Due to the fact that some of all kinds of crops were raised in the county, there was a good agricultural exhibit, and the poultry was exceptionally fine.

This chance to be the first place visited by the reporter, who found the superintendent, Leonard Woods and his assistant, Dorothy Nelson so busy they hardly had time to tell about the various breeds of chickens on exhibit. There were a total of 217 entries in the chicken department, with nearly 600 individual birds, and they were all beauties. In fact, it is hard to understand how the judges managed to pick the best ones for the ribbons.

But plentiful as the chickens were, they did not have the building to themselves, by any means. There were 48 ducks present, of several different varieties, and 17 geese, all very fine birds. There were two pens of turkeys and one pen of guineas, or rather, one crate, as no pen could be found for them. There were 21 dozen eggs of many varieties, including the new New Hampshire Reds.

These eggs are of a very dark shade, and were laid by the New Hampshire chickens raised last year by George and Henry Lange from eggs imported from New Hampshire. These birds look somewhat like the well known Rhode Island Reds, but have distinguishing markings. They are claimed to be superior to them in many respects, and the Langes think they have a great future in Valley county.

One of the most interesting buildings on the grounds was the 4-H club building. In this building was an exhibit by the U. S. department of agriculture, in charge of Brennan Davis, of the forestation service. This exhibit showed two miniature farms, one with a shelter belt, the other without trees of any kind. The land in the latter was badly eroded, while the former, protected by a fine growth of trees, showed much less wear, and had fine crops growing.

There was also an exhibit of 15 different kinds of sorghums by the Valley County farm bureau, as well as a sample of each of the 23 varieties of hybrid corn grown on the Zimmerman place in Springsdale under irrigation. C. C. Dale was looking after this exhibit and was kept busy much of the time telling all about the new hybrid corn, how it is produced, and what may be expected from it.

Of special interest was the PWA exhibit of power, irrigation and rural electrification. This consisted of a relief map of Nebraska, inside a perfect imitation of a dynamo housing. The map showed the various Nebraska projects, which were outlined by rows of tiny colored lights, which turned on and off, to locate the different districts. This exhibit included a lot of photos of the bigger projects, but none of either the North or Middle Loup.

Mrs. Leo Nelson was in charge of the girls' 4-H club work. Under the heading, "Girls' Room, A Place to Live," there were two exhibits, one by the Pleasant Hill Wide Awakes, and the other by the Raggedy Ann Club. They showed a number of different articles that girls can make for their own rooms, and the handiwork in all cases was exceptionally neat and appropriate.

The Jolly Camarettes had an exhibit of fine cookery, and a book containing clippings from the Loyalist, the Quiz and other papers, showing what the club had been doing. The A. B. C. (All Better Cooks) club also had a fine showing of cookery of all kinds, and also a number of samples of canning. The S. O. S. club were unable to get all their exhibits to Ord because of weather conditions, but what they had was good.

The Valley Side Progressives had a large and varied assortment of articles under the heading, "Learning to Sew." The United Workers club exhibited a fine assortment of sorghums. Mrs. Kenneth Koelling is leader of the Valley Side Progressives, Norma Hall of the A. B. C.'s, Virginia Davis of the Raggedy Anns, Pearl Mulligan of the Jolly Camarettes, Mrs. Jennie Brown of the Pleasant Hill Wide

Collection Taken Up At Fair For Injured Race Driver

Calvin Niday of Denver, who broke his leg Tuesday noon when his car crashed into a light pole after it went out of control, has reason to believe that the people who attend the Valley county fair are just about the best people on earth. He got to Ord practically broke, and when this was learned, Joe Faehnstock, official starter announced the facts to the crowd, asking them to contribute whatever they wished. Fellow drivers passed thru the crowd with their helmets and the nickels, dimes and quarters fairly rained into them. When the money was counted, it was found that $107.38 had been raised which will probably take care of his hospital bill and get him back home.

6,500 Student Enroll At Nebraska University

Lincoln, Nebr.—Greater interest than usual attaches to the official opening of the 1938-39 school year of the University of Nebraska, on Thursday, September 15. In the first place, the university has a new chancellor—Dr. C. S. Boucher who came to Nebraska this summer from the presidency of West Virginia University. Also important is the fact that another large enrollment is assured this year. Before his regime at West Virginia, Dr. Boucher had been dean of the arts college at the University of Chicago and today he is recognized as one of the foremost educators and scholars in the United States. He succeeds Dr. E. A. Burnett, who is now chancellor emeritus.

CHANCELLOR C.S. BOUCHER

New students had their first opportunity of seeing and hearing their new chancellor at the annual freshman convocation Monday when they were introduced to university administrative officials and acquainted with the customs and traditions of the institution. A good many freshmen have been on the campus for several days taking medical examinations and the required psychological, English and algebraic tests. Registration was completed September 13 and 14 and classes began September 15. The current school year promises to be one of the most eventful, with some 6500 to 6600 students on hand and around forty new members on the instructional staff. School is definitely under way. The football team is already hard at work. Students are scanning their new textbooks, and professors are busy making their initial assignments.

In a short while construction activity will be resumed on the gift campus. Thanks to a $55,000 gift by Don L. Love, former Lincoln mayor, and a grant of $101,250 from the PWA, the university will have two new units added to Carrie Belle Raymond hall, women's dormitory. These new buildings, one of which will be named the Julia L. Love memorial residence, will be built to the north of the present dormitory and will house about 190 girls.

The new student union activities building, which was ready for student and faculty use early last spring, is already the center of campus gatherings. Its conference rooms, auditorium and ball rooms have been dated up months in advance, all of which is indicative of the busy months that are yet to come.

$3,000 Deficit Seen As 1938 Show Ends Wednesday Night

Rain Sunday Eve Cut Monday's Crowd; Shortage of Money Believed Factor.

Beset throughout by rain, wind and chilly weather, the 1938 edition of the Valley county fair came to a close Wednesday evening. As entertainment the fair was a grand success but financially it left much to be desired, the deficit being unofficially estimated by Secretary Edw. L. Kokes as $3,000. Receipts may fall short of expense by a greater amount than this when the final check-up is made; the deficit can scarcely be less than that, he said.

A rain totalling 1.26 inches fell in Ord Sunday night and as a result country roads were all but impassable Monday, resulting being that receipts on Monday—school children's day—were the lowest in many years.

The crowd Monday evening was a good one, as was Tuesday's afternoon crowd, but only a handful of people attended the fine Tuesday night show. Wednesday, when the weather was best of the three days, saw a goodly crowd present both afternoon and evening but before that the financial damage had been done.

Best program ever presented here, from an entertainment standpoint, was that given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the fair. Talent secured from the WHO Artists' Bureau, of Des Moines, was all good. Top acts in the opinion of the crowd being the Three Leonardos, the Three Varsity Cheers, and the Bouncing Peatties. The Swingtime Revue Monday and Tuesday evenings was splendid and the WHO Barn Dance Frolic Wednesday night left little to be desired. Midget races pleased the crowds both Tuesday and Wednesday. As related elsewhere, exhibits in all departments were excellent.

A shortage of money in central Nebraska due to a succession of small crops which culminated in this year's drought in August of course conspired with the unpleasant weather of Monday and Tuesday to keep people away from the fair. When decision to hold a fair was made late in June and talent was contracted, crop prospects looked excellent. By the time the drought became apparent too much money had been spent to permit of the show being cancelled.

Credit is due Secretary Kokes and other fair officials and superintendents for the splendid show they arranged and put on. It is unfortunate that central Nebraska people did not avail themselves of this opportunity for high quality entertainment in sufficient numbers to make the fair successful.

What will be done with regard to holding another fair now awaits decision of the board of directors. Should property of the association be sold, debts could be paid in full, it is thought, but of course if this is done there will not be any more Valley county fairs held—at least for many years to come. Only alternative to such action would be to borrow money to pay off debts in hope of next year's fair being more successful financially.

Lloyd Vodehnal Wins Stock Contest at Fair

Over fifty 4-H club members, high school vocational agriculture students, and rural school boys from over the county competed in a livestock judging contest at the fair grounds on Tuesday morning. Hogs, horses, sheep, beef and dairy cattle were judged. The contestants were required to give oral reasons for their placings with each kind of livestock.

First award in the senior division was won by Lloyd Vodehnal, Ord high school junior, who scored 870 points out of a possible thousand. Second money went to Maynard Schudel of North Loup high school, with 852 points. Third, fourth and fifth places were given to Eldon Kokes, James Flynn and Emanuel Smolik, all of Ord high school.

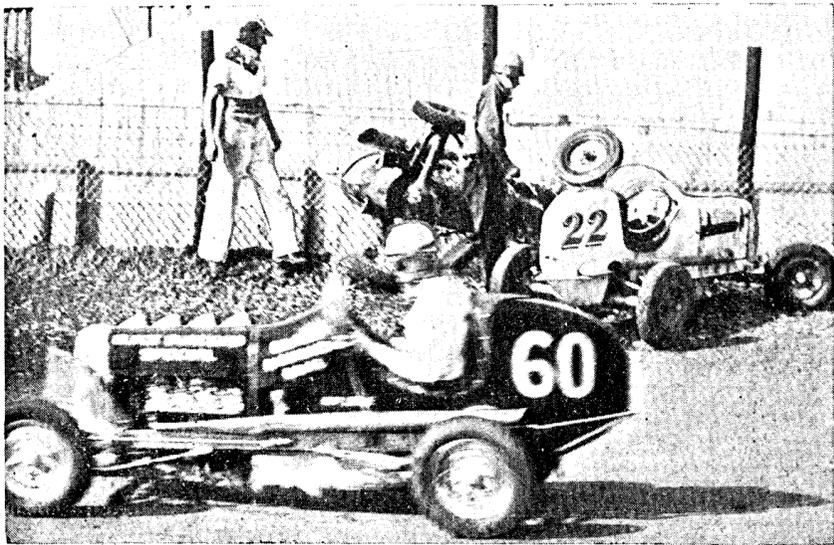

The younger boys' division was won by Richard Peterson, with Marvin Collins second and Don Clement third.

Cash prizes will be presented by the fair association to the high ranking contestants.

This organization has aims and principles similar to other business men's organizations, and is fourth largest in the world, the others being Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions in that order. This is the third club organized in Nebraska in recent weeks under a new expansion program. Kearney, Grand Island, Lincoln and Omaha will be represented at the installation.

Ord Township Library Has Many New Books

After being closed a month, the Ord Township Library opened again Sept. 1st. The Librarian, Mrs. Cecil Hansen, states that they have already received a large number of new books and that more are coming this week. She expects to have a complete list of them ready for next week's Quiz.

Rev. Mearl C. Smith Given York Pastorate

The Methodist conference held in Omaha over the week end closed Monday with the selection of pastors for the various churches. Rev. G. C. Robberson of Broken Bow was assigned to the Ord church, succeeding Rev. Mearl C. Smith, who goes to the church at York.

Rev. Smith served six years in Ord, coming from Benkeman in 1932. This is the longest pastorate served by any pastor of the Ord church. While he was here 183 new members were received into the church, and 105 persons were baptized. In that time he officiated at 39 weddings and conducted 132 funerals.

Rev. Robberson served several years at Broken Bow and before that time at Curtis. He comes very highly recommended. He is a married man, and Mrs. Robberson is an ardent worker in the church. They have two children, a son and a daughter. They are expected to arrive in Ord as soon as the Smiths move to York.

A special service is being arranged by the other churches of Ord, honoring the Smiths for their long and useful service here. This service will be held Sunday evening at the Methodist church, and the program for the occasion is given elsewhere.

Arcadia and Sargent each have new pastors, Rev. E. A. Smith going to Arcadia and Rev. V. Ray Bell to Sargent. Rev. Sidney McCaig is transferred from Arcadia to the western part of the state. Rev. E. H. Maynard exchanges pulpits with Rev. Paul L. Phillip, going from Fremont to Gothenburg.

Rev. J. Bruce Wylie is returned to Barwell and Ballagh, Rev. C. E. Austin returns to Ericson and Bartlett, Rev. W. C. Birmingham to North Loup and Davis Creek, and Rev. W. C. George to Scotia.

Check Your Social Security Card Well

Lincoln, Nebr.—Emphatic warning was given today by Nebraska Unemployment Compensation division officials that Social Security cards do not provide sufficient identification for cashing checks or other financial transactions.

Many reports have come to the Division of Social Security cards being lost or stolen. In some cases forged checks have been cashed or credit extended on the basis of possession of a Social Security card.

These numbers have no significance beyond use as identification of wage accounts established under state unemployment compensation agencies and the federal old age insurance program and should not be accepted by merchants as identification by persons who seek to open accounts or have checks cashed.

Neither should Social Security account number cards be regarded by employers as evidence that young persons may be hired in accordance with child labor requirements, the warning continued. Such Social Security cards frequently are lost or stolen and might easily come into the hands of the unscrupulous, it was pointed out.

Farmers Can Rent Acreage Thru F. S. H.

Word has been received that there are a limited number of vacancies on the eight farmstead projects operated by the Farm Security Administration in Nebraska. Claude C. Davis, county supervisor for that agency, said today. Projects are located at Scottsbluff, Loup City, Kearney, Grand Island, Fairbury, Falls City, South Sioux City, and at Two Rivers, which is twenty miles from Omaha.

"On all these projects," said Mr. Davis, "the successful applicants are offered an opportunity to take up residence in a new, modern home where they may raise garden, chickens, have a cow and a sow, and participate in a cooperative farming enterprise with financial and technical assistance from the Farm Security Administration."

Eligibility requirements are that the applicant must have a farm background, be a resident of Nebraska, be the head of a family and between 21 and 50 years of age, be unable to secure adequate credit from other private or public agencies and be of good character and ability. Mr. Davis said.

"To those families who have been victims of drought and depression for the past several years," said Mr. Davis, "these farmsteads offer a real opportunity. During the first few years residents on the projects lease the property under very reasonable terms. Later they will be given an opportunity to purchase."

Further information may be obtained from Mr. Davis, whose office is located at the court house, Ord, Nebr., or by writing to the Farm Security Administration at Lincoln, Nebr.

80 High School Boys Are Playing Football

With early practice well under way Coach Brockman announced that he has issued 80 uniforms to prospective Ord high gridlers this year. Building his team around a husky group of veterans Brockman hopes to build a team that will uphold the record set in the last few years. The team will be heavier this year than in former years with a lot of replacements but lacks experience.

Colored posters are being printed this week by the Quiz and will be on display tomorrow advertising the 1938 schedule which starts Friday, September 23 with Atkinson at Ord.

Milwaukee Racer Is Champ of Show; All Free Acts Good

Midget Races Crowd Pleaser; So Was WHO Talent; McQuinn Big Money Winner.

A great future for midget auto racing in Ord was presaged by the unbounded enthusiasm shown this week when the first races of the kind were presented to the public in central Nebraska. While the attendance Monday was not up to standard, due to the heavy rain the night before, and also perhaps to the fact that the fair opened earlier in the week than usual, the crowd Tuesday made the management smile.

The Blanche McKenney Hunter and McKenney Hippodrome and horse show was the feature attraction Monday, and elicited much applause from all lovers of high bred and well trained horses. Special acts by the three Leonardos, acrobatic team, Don and Carol, the skating sailors, Jaydee the Great on the high trapeze, Wade and Wade and the Great Hillyard featured the shows, both Monday and Tuesday.

The Hour of Smiles orchestra furnished special music for the acts on both the above days, and Olive Mills appeared with Queenie, the Cow, Bozo and Katherine, the knockabout artists also appeared both Monday and Tuesday. Miss Evelyn Sharp appeared doing stunts with her plane to the south of the grounds on all three days, and later made a personal appearance on the platform.

The WHO Swingtime Varieties Revue was the feature of the evening performance on the first two days, featuring the Hour of Smiles orchestra, the eight Dancing Debutantes, Patricia Patrick, the Bee Jay Sisters, and a variety of other acts, under the personal direction of Irving Grossman. The evening shows were voted the best ever seen in Ord.

One accident marred the midget auto races Tuesday, when Carl Nibay, driving Red 21, a car powered with an outboard motor crashed of the track when he leaned out to adjust the carburetor. His leg was broken, and he was at once taken to the Ord hospital where his leg was put into a cast. Coming at the noon hour, only a few saw the accident.

Despite the fact that this car was forced out, and also that several expected did not come, there were a total of 27 cars lined up when the hour came for the time trials Tuesday. Fastest time was made by Harry McQuinn of Milwaukee, who negotiated the oval in 16.86 sec. Second fast time was made by Charley Boye of Omaha in an Offenhauser, Blue 18.

Harry McQuinn won events No. 1, 6, 8 and 10 for a total of $295 prize money. Buzz Buzzard of Littleton, Colo., won event No. 2. Event No. 3 went to Carl Forburg, of Sioux City. Event No. 4 was won by Otto H. Ramer, of Omaha. The consolation, Event No. 5, was won by Car No. 22. The second handicap, Event No. 7 was won by car No. White 1. Event No. 9, the Australian pursuit race, was won by Walt Killinger of Denver, driving an outboard motor outfit.

Wednesday, the final day of the fair, opened cool with a rather strong north wind, giving ideal conditions for the final day of midget auto races. It was evident this was to be the big day of the fair as the crowd began arriving earlier than usual. The report of the exciting races on Tuesday had reached afar, and all roads leading to Ord were crowded with cars full of excited race fans.

They were not disappointed. Two cars were compelled to drop out due to mechanical trouble the day before, but a new car, 88, was in the races Wednesday, and the owner of X60, Chris DeHaven of Houston, Tex., got his car back into the races, thus making a total of 27 to take the time trials Wednesday, the same number as Tuesday.

Carl Forburg of Sioux City with his McDowell motored No. 7 springing the surprise of the day by turning in the best time trial at 15.95 sec.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovando

It is encouraging to note that the display of agricultural products at the Valley county fair was bigger than that of 1937 in practically all departments.

The most expansion occurred in the poultry house, where every cage was filled. There were many high grade birds, and fewer disqualifications than in previous years. The abundance of such reliable breeds as White Rocks and Leghorns is a credit to the good judgment of local poultrymen.

The livestock exhibit was about double that of last season. Big Percheron and Belgian drafters made an impressive display. Swine were quite numerous, because hogs are apt to make money this year, even where feed must be purchased. Dairy cattle were represented by all of the major breeds. Herefords had everything their own way in the beef division. And there were more sheep, all Hampshires, which are generally considered the best breed for this state, since they produce heavier lambs.

The crops exhibit was not so large, but had much which was of educational value. The county agents display of new sorgums and corn hybrids created a great deal of interest. There were sorgums for grain, sorgums for roughage, and sorgums for both. Among the corn hybrids, those with short stalks and well matured ears caught the eye of many a farmer.

HERE COMES THE BRIDE

By PAUL VANCE

THE little fruit steamer had just arrived from the States—a big event for Port El Sol, where everything is reckoned as "two boats ago" or "three boats from now."

The smelly sun-drenched wharf was a scene of mad activity. Dark-skinned shirtless stevedores sweated and swore as they carried enormous packages of merchandise from the ship to pile on empty flat cars or dump into waiting carts.

In the general office of the superintendent of the division, Mike Carew, was busily scanning the pile of letters that had just reached his desk.

He was a lanky young fellow under thirty, with gray eyes which twinkled merrily when not focussed intently on some object under scrutiny.

The letter he was reading seemed to absorb all his thoughts. Suddenly he looked up, also rising from his chair.

"Hang me for an egg-eating iguana!"

In one swift stride he carried the letter to the auditor's desk, where he slapped it down in front of another young man.

"Read that, Andy—and weep," he commanded.

"What's he done now?" queried Andy Benton, as his quick eyes scanned the sheets in a familiar bold hand.

"Got married," answered Mike curtly, much as if saying, "He's dead."

Andy picked up the letter for careful reading.

He was a big man about Mike's age, with a mop of fine red hair and sea-blue eyes.

A whimsical smile wreathed his face as he finished.

"So that's why he was in such a hurry to get away!"

"Yep," returned Mike. "He did it with malice aforethought. Let's see, when does he say he's coming back?"

Andy consulted the letter.

"In about three boats—Joe, the sheik. I knew he'd fall some time."

"Well, he's pulled a fast one on us, anyway. I suppose he figures we've forgotten all the tricks he's played us before. Say!"—Mike brightened. "Let's write him a letter that'll shoot a little worry into him. It's our only chance to break even with him."

"Fine! The girl won't need to know anything about it, and maybe young Joe will do a bit of whole some sweating."

As soon as office tasks permitted, Mike felt to work on the letter.

He remembered how this same gentleman Joe had quickly revealed himself as an incurable practical joker whose supreme pleasure it was to turn the trick on his two close pals, so that eternal vigilance became the price of peace for them.

And yet, Mike recalled, Joe hadn't been from Port Sol three days before he himself had lamented to his fellow-in-bereavement, "Andy, Joe's as necessary to us as fleas to a dog."

And Andy had answered, "Yes, we're miserable when he's here and wretched when he's away. He sort of makes us forget what a hole this is."

Thought and emotion in a fine blend wrought the letter which soon went forth addressed to Mr. Joseph Rogers, absent on leave in the United States. A few excerpts will suggest the character of the whole.

"There'll be a red-hot reception committee waiting for you at the dock, all right. There's Dolores, the commandant's niece, for one. Says you promised to marry her at the Baile de Independencia. Her lawyer-father claims that a promise made under the influence of champagne is binding. They will be there with all the necessary papers. Then little Margarita Ochoa says you asked her the same thing the same night. She will be there with that killer-brother, Ochoa Hernandez. He says he doesn't need any papers. I've been training that bunch of half-breed kids you always play Santa Claus to so that they'll shout 'Papa! Papa!' when you start down the gang plank."

"My advice would be for you to leave the wife in the States and come down yourself a boat or two ahead, just to get things kind of cleaned up. There are no company houses vacant and the G. M. says you will have to stay in the Paris hotel. A lousy place to spend your honeymoon."

Mike signed the letter with a grand flourish, and they mailed it together in high glee.

Little Joe was slated to worry—and how!

Another steamer-day arrived. Once more the remote port buzzed with activity. Mike sat at his desk scanning the fresh mail. Suddenly he seized an envelope then ripped it open eagerly, but his look of keen anticipation changed to one of consternation, which, as he read on, deepened almost to terror.

"Well, am I a bob-tailed olingo!" he moaned.

"What happened?" Andy came over.

Mike weakly held out the sheet of robin's egg blue stationery covered with feminine script.

"Read it and prepare for the here after," he counseled darkly.

Andy read, and then laid the letter back on Mike's desk as gently as if it had been a stick of dynamite.

"Gad, what a woman! Looks like you'd put your foot in it this time, Mike."

"Say!" shouted Mike, enraged by the holier-than-thou accent in his tone. "Where do you get that you stuff? Didn't you help write that letter?"

"You signed it," said Andy. "I wash my hands of the whole affair."

"Oh, yeah! And who said she was made outa star-dust—that her eyes had cabbaged the moon-beams?"

"I was only quoting from Joe's letter, as you are entirely aware."

"Well, Joe must have been drunk on tiger's blood. Say, Andy, can't you just picture the kind of forget-me-not of the angels she is? Tall and bony, wears specks, and has shark's eyes. One of those women that gobble at you like a turkey instead of swearing."

Mike gingerly picked up the letter and read again with interpolations of his own:

Your abominable letter addressed to my beloved husband, Joseph Rogers, by a happy coincidence fell into my hands. (Yeah, fell is the word, all right. I'll bet your octopagan tentacles search every pocket he has.) "If your intentions were as nefarious as this letter would lead one to believe, then fate was indeed kind to me in placing it in my hands." (Fate and who else?) "It is evident that you are trying to separate two tender hearts whom God hath joined together." (The Almighty would have to hogle me, old gal—um-m-m—let's see how she winds up—) "Unless you desist in your attempt to cause trouble between us, I shall surely show this letter to my dear husband, who has always spoken of you in the highest terms of affection and esteem."

I am, Sir, MRS. JOS. ROGERS.

A tight feeling caught Mike in the throat. If only the letter had reached Joe first, as intended, he would have read between the lines but now—what a chance for friendly festivity!

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rogers arrived two boats later. If his job had not required it, Mike would never have gone down to meet the boat. But as it was, he steered clear of the promenade deck where the passengers were congregated. Only once did he catch a glimpse of Joe and a tall straight female.

As he dodged down the companionway Joe spied him with a bunch of officials up forward and pounced on him like a hawk on a chicken. Without a "by your leave" to the astonished officials, he dragged him aft.

"Here he is, Myra!" he shouted. Mike chilled at the note of triumph in his voice, but decided to make the best of an awkward situation.

As yet he had only seen the bride's back, but Joe's last mighty shove forced him through the circle around her and placed him practically at her side. She turned to receive him.

Mike tried to speak, but could only gasp. He stood gaping at the slender blue-eyed woman who was Joe's wife.

"Kiss the bride, you old pirate," ordered Joe as he drew them together. As Mike remained in a daze he whispered, "Old dumb-bell, I wrote the letter. She knows nothing about it."

Just then Andy loomed up for his tenth look at the bride.

"Say, you two pikers," Joe called. "Where's the reception committee?"

Mike had to grin. Andy grinned sheepishly back. Again Joe had made them feel miserable and wretched for two weeks—and they still liked him.

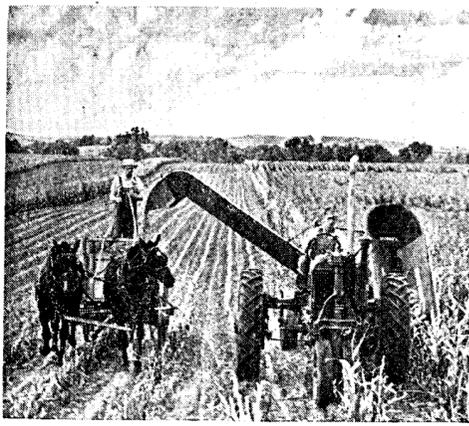

Early Transatlantic Flights

The United States navy seaplane NC-4 was the first heavier-than-aircraft to cross the Atlantic. This was in May, 1919. It left Rockaway, N. Y., with two companion seaplanes of May 8 and arrived at Lisbon, Portugal, on May 27. The trip was made with stops in Nova Scotia, New Foundland and the Azores. The first airplane to cross the ocean in a single flight was a British Vickers-Vimy biplane, flown by Capt. John Alcock, pilot, and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, navigator. It left St. Johns, N. F., June 14, 1919, and landed early the following day at Clifton, Galway, Ireland. The British dirigible R-34 was the first of its class to cross the Atlantic. It left Scotland on July 2, 1919, reached Mineola, N. Y., via Newfoundland, on July 6, and returned by the same route from July 9 to 12.

Speed of Electrons

In one second there pass through the filament of an ordinary 60-watt electric lamp so many electrons that if all the people in New York were set to counting them and if they counted out two a second without stopping a day and a night in 10,000 years they would still have a few to count.

Field Cutter and Pit Silo Make Silage the Cheapest Way

The field cutter, left, takes the corn from the row, cuts it into silage and delivers it to the wagon. The silage is unloaded, right, with a silage and tractor. The wagon is in the pit silo. Pictures taken on W. J. Stewart farm. Where the rows are as long as trees shown in the picture, it is easy to cut and store ten acres per day. It takes four to six wagons to keep up with the output, when the haul is not too long. This field made an average of from eight to ten tons per acre. The pit silo was made in 1933, and this is the fifth year it has been used. The silage is covered with dirt, which prevents it spoiling. It took three full days to fill the silo, putting in more than 200

onds, slightly slower than McQuinn's time of Tuesday, while McQuinn landed in second place. However, the position did him no good in the races, for McQuinn would not be denied, and was the big money winner in the Wednesday races, with $155.

His winnings for the two days amounted to $390. He won races 1, 6, and 10 the final day, making a total of seven races for the two days. Forberg won the second race. Frank Sands won the third race, and the Vic Felt car won the fourth race. Buzz Buzzard won the consolation and Chuck Andrews won the second handicap, and Eddie Krijbeck of Sioux City won the Australian pursuit race.

The personnel of the WHO band danced put on a number of songs between the races Wednesday, and the full program Wednesday evening. They were, Pappy Cliff Carl, Mayor Tillie Boggs, Louisiana Lou, Jerry, the yodeling cowboy, Glen Burkland, the Swedish Hillbilly, Grandpa Jitters, Dixie Flyer, the Banjo King, the three Borem Kids, and the Sunset Corners Symphony Orchestra.

The Ord band furnished music Monday and again on Wednesday, and the North Loup band furnished the melodies for Tuesday. Due to the high wind that was blowing all day Wednesday, Miss Evelyn Sharp found it impossible to do all the stunts she had planned to do. However, she did do a number of wingovers, and then appeared at the platform later.

Throughout the two days there were thrills and spills galore, but nobody was hurt, and very little damage was done to the cars. The crowd appreciated the midjet races and showed it by almost continuous applause. The drivers likewise appreciated the interest of the crowd and the courteous consideration they received from the fair board. All the drivers hope to be able to return to Ord in 1939.

RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seen things: Charles Thompson giving Betsy Kovanda a ride on his bike. Darlene Mason and Corina Cummings attending the show one night last week. A pretty little blonde thing from Burwell called Betty Manasil.

Nomination for: Snappiest and best looking dancing couple: Jack Janssen and his Ericson girl, Betty Belle Adams. (And can they dance!) Prettiest ticket seller: Vivian Cummings.

Seen things at Arcadia: James Milliken "mooching" a light for his cigarette from Charles Shepherd. "Smithy" teasing all the girls. (Probably just acting natural). Mavis Warden having an earnest talk with Dick Koupal.

Back in town: Sylvia Twanski and Joy Janssen walking arm-in-arm at the fair. Jack Tunniff and Alma Hansen. (Jack's waited a long time for her to come home.)

Prize dumbbells: The Arcadia girl who thinks "social security" is a bottle of mouth wash and a bar of Lifebuoy soap.

Three cheers for: Harley Eschman's viddy nifty looking make-up. (I still think he ought to use a darker shade.)

I wonder: Why Charlie Keown didn't come to school Tuesday morning. (I don't suppose Irene Dughugh had anything to do with it.)

Without doubt the most attractive room on the grounds was the flower exhibit. Mrs. Will Zablouddil, in charge, stated that there were at least one-half more than were on exhibit last year, and the quality was much better. A visitor from St. Paul stated that the flowers at the Ord fair were better than those at the St. Paul fair last week, which is certainly praise, for that fair is noted for its flower show.

Supt. Clara McClatchey said the exhibit of school work was the largest in years. It was so large that there was not room in the building to display it properly.

Among the exhibitors of horses might be mentioned Harry Bresley with his percheros; Everett Doetger, who dominated the field with his Belgians; and, most interesting of all, the little folks with their Shetland ponies. These were Marie Kovarik, Raymond Biemond, Kenneth Shibata and the little daughter of Lyle Abney, who received the most attention and applause of all.

Cattle exhibitors included G. G. Clement and sons, George Clement and George Bell, with Herefords; Harold Garnick and Mrs. S. and Wallace Coats and Rollin Marks with Jerseys, Earl Smith with his Holsteins, and Raymond Walters, who came all the way from Kearney to show his fine Guernseys.

The agricultural exhibit according to the superintendent, Henry Enger, was not much larger than last year, with the exception of the corn, but the quality was far above that of last year. It seemed that each exhibitor had taken special pains to make his showing the best possible. Practically all the available space was taken. The corn exhibit, both irrigated and dry land, was exceptional.

The home products showed a great variety of canned goods of all kinds. There was a show case filled with all kinds of bread, and another with a fine assortment of cookies and candies. There was an abundance of canned fruit in the junior canned goods department. On the opposite side of the fine arts hall was shown the third yearly exhibit by the Ord WPA sewing center.

This showed samples of all the kinds of garments made by the center. Of special interest was the exhibit of goods made from OD coats furnished by the government. These coats are furnished with the understanding that the government buttons must be removed and the coats remodeled into other kinds of garments. This is done, and some very fine coats and other articles can be made from them. The smaller pieces of cloth are then worked into quilts, so that nothing is wasted.

The regular fine arts exhibit was much larger than last year, Mrs. Edgar Roe and her assistants, Mrs. George Zikmund and Mrs. Fern Johnston having plenty to do to take care of all the entries and find room for them. A new exhibit is that of the Loup Valley Camera club, organized this spring. This consisted of a dozen or more enlarged photos, all of which were remarkably lovely.

—Mrs. Albert McMIndes and daughter, Miss Gladys were down from Atkinson Tuesday attending the fair.

—Supt. Clara McClatchey said the exhibit of school work was the largest in years. It was so large that there was not room in the building to display it properly.

Among the exhibitors of horses might be mentioned Harry Bresley with his percheros; Everett Doetger, who dominated the field with his Belgians; and, most interesting of all, the little folks with their Shetland ponies. These were Marie Kovarik, Raymond Biemond, Kenneth Shibata and the little daughter of Lyle Abney, who received the most attention and applause of all.

Without doubt the most attractive room on the grounds was the flower exhibit. Mrs. Will Zablouddil, in charge, stated that there were at least one-half more than were on exhibit last year, and the quality was much better. A visitor from St. Paul stated that the flowers at the Ord fair were better than those at the St. Paul fair last week, which is certainly praise, for that fair is noted for its flower show.

“Here's What I Expect An Advertisement To Tell Me!”

“Where Can I Buy It? Naturally, one of the first things I want to know about something I see in an ad is—where can I buy it? It isn't simply a matter of convenience and of saving time in planning my shopping, either! No, the name of the merchant, itself, often decides whether I buy or not. Invariably, you see, I give preference to stores whose ads I see regularly and often—I know those stores must have good value or they couldn't go on advertising year after year!

“What Will It Do For Me? I find it so much easier to make up my mind when the ad tells me facts about the merchandise! What is it? What will it do? How will it help me? Why do I need it? I want to know about color, weight, texture, material, style—I enjoy reading those things and I usually buy from the merchant who tells them to me.

“How Much Is The Price? Of course nearly every ad mentions the price but if an item has been marked down I want to know from how much. So many sale ads say ‘Was Higher’ . . . how much higher? I want to know how much I am saving and I want the chance of deciding for myself if the item is a real value or not. I have more confidence in the store that is consistently truthful and buy from such a store regularly—and my husband says an old customer is worth three new ones because new ones cost additional money to get!”

Read the Ads in THE ORD QUIZ... All of them help you to wise spending. Most of them help make wise Savings!

Written by REV. W. L. GOODELL

The Wranglers club met Monday evening for their regular meeting in the dining room of the Burwell hotel. Dr. R. S. Cram had charge of the first part of the program. He introduced Messrs. Burton and Brown of Grand Island, representatives of the Investors Syndicate, who presented a lecture by electrical transcription, accompanied by illustrated slides, on the subject "The Blind Spot of Science." The second part of the program in charge of O. W. Johnson, consisted of an address by S. K. Warrick of Scottsbluff, who is president of the Nebraska Non-Stock Cooperative Growers Association and director of the executive committee of the National Beet Growers Association and also field representative of the Midwest Wool Marketing Association including the territory of Nebraska to the Pacific coast. Mr. Johnson also presented A. F. Bates of Halsey, territory field man on soil conservation and Karl Ziegler of Burwell, chairman of the agricultural committee for Wheeler, Loup and Garfield counties.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cain drove to Lincoln last week and were accompanied home Wednesday evening by their little daughter Betty who has been a patient in the Orthopedic Hospital for the past four months. She will be able to remain at home with her parents until the first part of November.

The front of the Anstien Hald shop has recently received a new coat of paint and Clootie Tucker, assisted by his dad, Frank Tucker, did a nice job of lettering over the front entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. John Diehl of Los Angeles, Calif., were guests last of the week in the home of Mrs. Diehl's grandmother, Mrs. John Haas. Mrs. Diehl will be remembered by her Burwell friends as Miss Mildred Haas, who for several years taught in the Burwell schools. They were married Sept. 1 in Ogden, U. at the home of her parents. They were on their way to Los Angeles where Mr. Diehl is a cartoonist on one of the large newspapers.

Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Goodwin, who for the past two and one half weeks held an evangelistic meeting in the Full Gospel Tabernacle here closed their work Sunday evening and left Monday for Ord where they began a meeting Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Anderson and family and Mrs. Alaire Palliam attended the Howard County Fair in St. Paul Friday evening.

A number of old time friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. J. A. Herbst last Wednesday afternoon to remind her that it was their 59th wedding anniversary. The afternoon hours were passed pleasantly with visiting. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. James Keill of Dorchester arrived in Burwell Sunday to make their residence here. Mr. Keill is the new athletic director and instructor in the science and mathematics department of the Burwell high school. Mr. Keill is a graduate of Doane college in the spring of 1936 and the next year taught athletics and mathematics at Creston and last year taught athletics and science at Dorchester. During his college years he made the all conference team and in high school he made the all state honor roll.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Paddock and Russell of Montrose, Colo., and Mrs. J. S. Burrows of Ord were in North Loup Friday calling on Mrs. J. D. Ingraham, Mrs. T. J. Hamer and Mrs. C. J. Goodrich. Mrs. Frances Maxson accompanied them to the Chas. Brennick home for dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Paddock had the Montrose, Colo., county exhibit at the Colorado state fair at Pueblo just before coming to Nebraska and won third place. Mr. Paddock is employed in a Gamble store at Montrose. They had been to Omaha before coming here, called there by the serious illness of his father, Ernest Paddock who was suffering with a severe case of undulant fever but who was much improved when they left. The concert by the Ord band Tuesday night last week drew an extra large crowd and was much enjoyed. One number was directed by our own leader, Delmar Van Horn and James Birmingham sang, "A Gold Mine in the Sky." Mr. and Mrs. Glen Barber and Iris returned from Lincoln early Saturday morning. They received third prize on their Valley county exhibit which they had taken to the state fair. The Barbers have taken an exhibit down for several years and are to be congratulated on the honor of winning. Much time and money must be spent to make the showing they nearly always have.

At any rate, the money for social security is being spent for the everyday expenses of the government as fast as it accumulates, and nobody in authority denies it. The government does, however, put an I. O. U. back in the box for every dollar it takes out.—Nance County Journal.

Ord Artificial Ice Company's Plant Has Modern Equipment

The above views of the Ord Artificial Ice company show the various steps taken in making the ice used in Ord. Upper left Oakley Hather is filling the vats with filtered well water. Lower left the ice is partly frozen, and Horace Johnson is drawing the water from the center of each cake and replacing it with pure well water. This is because any impurities left in the water remain in the center. Upper right, Herbert Nelson is cutting ice with the power saw. Right center, Alfred Alberts is placing the huge cakes in the storage room. And, lower right, Archie Bell is delivering ice to the customer.

RESOLUTION. WHEREAS, after investigation and due consideration of needs for the completion of a North Loup-Arcadia gravel surfaced highway, the County Board of Supervisors of the County of Valley, and State of Nebraska, in regular adjourned session assembled, find that public good requires that the public road described as: Commencing at the southwest corner of the southeast quarter of Section 6, in Township 18 North, of Range 15 West, of the 6th P. M., in Valley County, Nebraska, and running thence West along section line for a distance of one-half mile, more or less, to intersect with now duly established and opened and traveled road; to be opened six feet in width, and is hereby ordered and directed that proceedings be taken, upon proper notice given to ascertain the damages, and open said road for public travel, as is provided by law.

The County Relief Director was then authorized to make commitments against Unemployment Relief Fund for Direct Relief, for amounts not exceeding an aggregate total of $90.00, upon motion duly carried.

The impending unemployment situation came on for discussion, after which supervisor Ball introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption, to-wit:

RESOLUTION. WHEREAS, an emergency exists for the reason that nature has cut crops short, and price conditions have been very unsatisfactory for the commodities which the people have to sell, and

WHEREAS, because of the limited farm income, seasonal farm labor has been reduced to a minimum, and

WHEREAS, with the near completion of the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation Project, a large portion of the participating laborers are now being released and without assignment, and

WHEREAS, there are no other Public Works Progress Administration projects in operation in this immediate vicinity, and

WHEREAS, because of limited funds, it is impossible to carry the large number of needy and destitute people on direct county relief, therefore

BE IT RESOLVED, that this Board of Supervisors in regular session assembled, petition Mr. Dwight F. Felton, State Administrator of the Works Progress Administration of Nebraska, and our members in Congress, the Honorable Senators George W. Norris, and Edward R. Burke, and the Honorable Representative, Harry B. ORD LIVESTOCK M.A.R.K.E.T

THE HEN-MAN

By R. H. WILKINSON

THERE exists in America a certain type of person who, born and raised in a city apartment, possesses what is known in the vernacular as a yen to own a small place in the country, firmly believing that he can buy a few chickens, raise a few vegetables and live there, commuting to and from his metropolitan job, for about one-third the cost of existence in his city apartment.

This is a splendid idea, especially that part about living one-third as cheaply as in the city. It has other advantages, too. There is, for example, the matter of fresh air, fresh dairy products, plenty of space to move around in, freedom from the hustle and bustle of city life.

It's a pity that the plan hasn't, can't and never will be developed profitably.

I mean the moving-to-the-country bug. Steve Bolton was attacked by the bug. Steve had become fed up on city life.

He was a bachelor, young and handsome, and was forever chasing about from party to tea to dinner, to theater, or any other of the dozen places where handsome and eligible young bachelors are welcomed.

Steve was fed up. He wanted a breath of fresh air; wanted to get up with the sun, drink in the crisp morning air, tend to the chickens and catch the 7:50 train to town and his broker's office.

He wanted to spend his evenings seated comfortably before a cozy fire, get in some good reading, go to bed at nine o'clock to sleep the sleep of the just.

Also, he wanted to economize. The cost of living in town wasn't giving Steve much of an opportunity to save for a rainy day.

This plan of Steve's was swell. Too bad it couldn't work.

Steve talked the idea over with Jim McDevitt.

Jim had tried the same thing once, but for some unknown reason was back in his city apartment.

Jim approved of Steve's idea without a moment's hesitation.

"Great scheme. You'll like it, Steve, out there. Fine way to live. Fact is, I'll have the missus buy her eggs from you. You can bring them in every morning. Help you get started."

Steve's dreams soared. He pictured himself laying aside a tidy sum from the profits of his eggs.

Good scout, Jim. Steve also called on Rus Whitcomb. Rus and his wife had tried the living-in-the-country idea, too.

And Rus, like Jim, approved and applauded. "Sure, he'd buy all the eggs Steve could raise.

Fresh eggs from the country! Boy, nothing could be better.

Later that same night Jim McDevitt called Rus Whitcomb on the telephone and the two of them held a gleeful conversation.

So old Steve had got the bug, eh? Well, let him find out for himself.

Won't do him any harm to get stung.

He'd never rest until he'd got the craving out of his system anyhow. Besides it was comforting to know there were other fish grabbing at that same live-cheaply-in-the-country bait.

On the following Sunday Steve chartered a drive-your-own car and motored out in the country.

Along toward mid-afternoon he chanced upon a little place in the town of Medvale that seemed to suit his exact purpose.

There was a white house with green blinds and a picket fence around the front lawn, in which a half dozen shade trees reared their selves.

Behind the house there was a barn, several outbuildings and a rather large hennerly.

The place was not more than a 15-minute walk from the railroad station, yet its remoteness from the traveled highway was far enough to make it ideal.

Steve hunted up the owner and was astonished and delighted to discover the place could be rented for less than one-half of what he was paying at his present apartment.

He sewed the thing up at once by making a substantial deposit and signing a six months' lease.

A month later Steve was established in his new abode and tremendously happy.

Two dozen Rhode Island Red chickens clucked contentedly in the hennerly.

Wood was stacked ceiling high in the barn.

Shrubs had begun to flower and the shade trees were bursting forth their buds.

Ah, yes, Steve was far happier than he ever dreamed he could be. He was going to bed early, getting up early, and reading a lot and learning a good deal about the hen business.

After the first week Steve carried with him each morning a half dozen nice fresh eggs and proudly handed them to Jim and Rus when he reached the office.

Jim and Rus received them so eagerly and praised him highly for his success and winked broadly behind his back.

Along about the first of May Steve's hens, or most of them, stopped laying.

After failing to solve the mystery himself, he consulted a neighbor and was told that the biddies were at this time of year usually interested in raising a family.

Steve thought this was great. He went home, gathered together all his spare eggs and put five of his hens to set.

The others he locked up in a barren anteroom to "break up" their family raising notion.

At the end of two weeks eight of the three dozen eggs Steve had set, hatched.

The young man was jubilant. He proudly summoned his neighbor, to display the result of his breeding efforts, and was told that five of the eight chicks were roosters, which wasn't so good.

It was about this time that monthly bills began to arrive at the hen farm, and after an evening spent in intensive figuring, Steve discovered that the cost of electric light, cooking gas, telephone and other incidentals of livelihood was quite as much, if not more, than the cost of the same conveniences in town.

It was two days after this that Steve learned, much to his disappointment, that the "fresh" cream milk and butter which he had been having left at his door each morning were shipped out of Boston on the night previous, and distributed in the country by a chain dairy products company.

Augmenting these startling revelations, Steve came to the conclusion that getting up with the sun every morning wasn't such a swell idea, especially if it happened to be a rainy day or if the air wasn't bracing because of the humidity.

He found, also, that the long quiet evenings were more or less pallid once you got used to them and that a month of reading had brought him up to date on current literature.

In fact, Steve began to know a longing for a fling at city life, for the evening at a night club or trip to the theater or a gay dinner party.

Startlingly, he discovered that after all, farming was a business and unless you devoted your entire time to it, it was pretty difficult to make it pay.

Which, incidentally, when you look at the thing squarely, is quite true of almost any business.

To add to all this, Steve one day awoke to the fact that Jim and Rus, who had had their fling of commuting from the country, were giving him what is known as a merry ha, ha.

They had, in a manner of speaking, put up a job on him. They wanted to see him get stung.

And when he finally admitted that this country idea was a lot of blizz, they would be all set to enjoy the situation with crude and raucous guffaws.

This knowledge was disturbing. Steve's ears burned at the thought of it.

And in the end he vowed to follow the instigators of the joke, and turn, if possible, the tables.

Thus minded, Steve on the day following brought as usual his half dozen fresh eggs to the conniving rascals who posed as friends and advisers, suggesting on delivery that, in view of the fact that eggs were scarce these days and because these from Medvale were strictly fresh, the recipients of the daily half dozen pay a little more than the amount asked at the corner delicatessen for less fresh hen fruit.

Jim and Rus agreed readily enough. Of course, fresh eggs were worth more money.

What was more, they were eager and anxious to give Steve a helping hand.

A week later Steve moved back to his city apartment and with a great feeling of relief settled once more into the comfortable routine to which he was accustomed.

But each morning for six months thereafter he paused at the corner chain store en route to the office, purchased two one-half dozen boxes of eggs at 20 cents the half dozen and later sold them to Jim and Rus for 30 cents.

Which explains why, in the early fall, when Jim and Rus, puzzled over Steve's continued success as a hen man, motored one day to the little white house in Medvale (the same house, incidentally, which first one and then the other had occupied during their venture in the egg-raising business) they discovered that Steve had quitted the place six months' previous, and were prone to guffaw when next they encountered the would-be hen-man, but merely to chuckle in good fellowship fashion and vow with him to warn all others against the live-in-the-country bug when it attacks friends and neighbors of the city.

Funeral of Former

Ord Resident Friday

Edward D. Bannister was born on August 29, 1862 at Clearwater, Minn. He grew to manhood near Eau Claire and Rice Lake, Wis. When he was about 25 years of age, he and some friends went to Washington state and helped in the building of the town Bellingham. Later he was cabinet maker in the navy yards at Bremerton, Wash. He also served as president of the carpenter's union while there.

In 1894, he came to Nebraska and engaged in farming near North Platte, and then went to work for the Union Pacific serving as foreman of the bridge crew for seven years on the North Platte division.

On February 11, 1898 he was united in marriage to Mary C. Wilberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Wilberg of Burwell, Nebr. To this union three children were born, Esther E., Edith Luella and William E. He came to Ord with his wife and son. The two daughters preceded him in death, Edith Luella on April 25, 1923, and Esther on June 2, 1938. He also leaves an aged sister and brother in Basin, Wyo., besides numerous other relatives.

In 1905 he moved with his family to Ord, Nebr., and he engaged in contracting and building. He took an active part in civic affairs, serving on the village board a number of years, also serving two terms as chairman of the board.

He withdrew from active work the past few years on account of failing health. He came to Aurora three months ago for a visit with his son and family, where he steadily failed, passing away Tuesday morning, September 6, at the age of 76 years and 7 days.

He became a member of the Presbyterian church of Ord about fifteen years ago, and later was transferred to Oshkosh, of which he was still a member. He was a member of the Masonic lodge for over forty years.

Laying Mash

Our Laying Mash sales have doubled in the last three weeks. You ask "WHY?" There are several reasons. First, it is impossible to buy a top grade laying mash at $1.60 except Noll's.

Second, many flock owners find it cheaper to buy Noll's Mash than to mix their own formula, and it is a better feed.

Third, there is less death loss in your laying flock and a higher egg production if fed Noll's Laying Mash.

Fourth, you do not buy a lot of high priced advertising and long freight haul. You just pay for good feed.

If you have not fed our feed ask about special price on 5 bag lots.

Cochran Promises Ord-Ericson Road Will Be Improved

Surveyors on Job in 10 Days, He and Tilley Assured a Delegation Monday.

Through the cooperation of Garfield, Wheeler and Valley counties, it now seems certain that the long desired improvement of the Ord-Ericson highway will become an accomplished fact at an early date.

A right-of-way has been secured to connect the Ord-Ericson highway with Highway No. 53 at a point about 6 1/2 miles west of Ericson, this being done through the efforts of prominent citizens of Garfield and Wheeler counties.

Monday morning Supervisors Henry Zikmund and Joe Jablonski of Valley county, Ign. Klina, Jr., and Alfred Wiegardt, representing the Ord chamber of commerce, drove to Lincoln, where they were joined by a delegation from Wheeler and Garfield counties including Messrs. Bartos, Lockhart, Patrick and Hoefner.

Conferences were held with Governor Roy Cochran and A. C. Tilley, state engineer, regarding improvement of the Ord-Ericson highway.

The delegation secured assurance from both state officials that the improvement will be made, and Mr. Tilley promised to have a staff of surveyors on the project within the next ten days with the idea of having the survey made and plans and specifications prepared for advertising and letting a contract as soon as possible.

As several weeks will be required for all this preliminary work it may not be possible to start construction before cold weather sets in, but assurance has been given that the work will be done early in the spring if not before.

Improvement of the Ord-Ericson highway from the Valley county line to Highway No. 53 will have several major advantages: It will give this section of the state a shorter route to the northeast part of the state over all weather road; it will give people of Valley county easier access to the popular Ericson resort; it will through its connection with No. 53 permit farmers and ranchmen to travel to Ord in all kinds of weather if they desire, and it will give Valley county people who live in the northeast part of the county a good route to Burwell.

Completion of the highway from the county line to Ord will follow later and in the meantime it is hoped that a graveling project may be secured.

Ag Teachers Convene At Ord September 24

Vocational agriculture teachers of District 5 will meet for a conference at the Ord high school this coming Saturday. Instructors from Ainsworth, Anselmo, Bassett, Broken Bow, Callaway, Litchfield, Loup City, North Loup, Ord, Sargent, Scotia, Springview and Stapleton will attend. State supervisors from Lincoln will also be present.

John Martin of Loup City is the district president and will take charge of the session. J. A. Kovanda of Ord is secretary.

White Spot Ads Are Read Far and Wide

Recently the Quiz received a letter from Henry Hahn of Hayward, Calif., in which he speaks of the advertising of the Allied Industries of Nebraska which tell of the fact that the state is free from bonded debt and from any taxes that seem a burden in many other states. He says that the people he hears speak of it have nothing but the highest praise for the management and foresight of the officials of Nebraska.

In California he says conditions are not the best. The canning industry, in which he is interested, seems to be about as hard hit as any. Labor trouble and high prices paid for raw materials last year stopped sales of much of the goods stored in warehouses. He closes with the wish that the weather man might be more generous with the people of Nebraska the coming year.

Inclosed with his letter is a copy of the P. G. and E. Progress, published by the Pacific Gas and Electric company, in which a favorable comment is made on Nebraska's advertisements that offer relief to taxpayers. The paper draws a striking contrast between Nebraska and the heavy and constantly increasing tax burdens in other parts of the country.

Broadcast Football Series. C. E. Harter, agent here for the Bankers Life Insurance company of Nebraska, has made arrangements for a series of ads publicizing his company's sponsorship of "Link" Lyman's football broadcasts this fall, the series of radio features to be called "Following the Huskers."

Knapp's Hardware Was Burglarized

Unknown Parties Broke Rear Window Saturday Night, Stole $200 Merchandise.

North Loup—(Special)—The Knapp Bros. hardware store here was broken into Saturday night and about $200 worth of merchandise stolen, the loot including several suitcases, flashlights, three small radios, two shotguns, a rifle, several clocks and watches and some shotgun shells.

The thieves gained entrance through a rear window and the robbery was not discovered until Sunday morning. Sheriff George S. Round was here Sunday and again Monday to investigate the burglary but so far no arrests have been made. The sheriff expressed the opinion that the thieves must have known exactly where everything in the store was, which leads to the belief they may have been local people.

Fred Cahill, jr., Tells of Legislative Research

Fred Cahill, jr., who during the summer has been doing research work for the Nebraska Legislative Council, was the principal speaker Monday evening at the Rotary club's dinner. The Council, a 15-man body, was created by the unicameral legislature to study legislative problems and serve as a fact-finding body for the legislature in the hope that its biennial sessions may be shortened to 60 days. Dr. Shumate, of the University political science department, heads research and under him young Cahill, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Cahill, has been employed.

The young Ord man holds two degrees from the University and leaves this week for Yale University to study for his doctorate in political science on a fellowship won on his splendid record at University of Nebraska. He expects to enter the college teaching field when he completes his course at Yale.

Another interesting speaker Monday evening was Dr. Morris L. Bridgeman, of Portland, Ore., a relative of Mr. and Mrs. George Allen. Dr. Bridgeman is a famous child specialist and his talk Monday eve was along the lines of his profession. He had been in Chicago attending a meeting of the American Medical association and stopped to visit the Allens on his way home, leaving Ord Tuesday.

Ord Boy Scouts to Meet. After a suspension of activity for a few weeks during the hot weather and the fair season, Boy Scouts of Ord will resume work again at once. Their next meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m., Sept. 27 at the high school, announces Scoutmaster Ralph Misko.

Wm. Shuman to Speak Here. Wm. E. Shuman, of North Platte, republican nominee for congress, will make a speech in front of the court house at 10:00 a. m. Thursday, Sept. 22. He is accompanied by an expert cornetist who will play one or two pieces preceding Mr. Shuman's talk.

The Valley county chapter of the Junior Red Cross will be privileged this year to work on greeting cards and holiday favors to be sent to veterans in government hospitals and to sailors and officers at Pacific naval bases. Mrs. E. L. Kokes is furnishing necessary information on the first project now to all school rooms enrolled.

Atkinson To Face Ord Team Friday In Season Opener

Coach to Put Heavy Team on Field but Experienced Men Are Few in Number.

Success of the Ord high school football team this year depends on the amount of support given last year's regulars by a fine crop of youngsters, Coach Helmut Brockman said Tuesday as he put final touches on the grid machine in preparation for Friday evening's opener against Atkinson at Bussell park.

The Chanticleer line-up will be heavy—an average of 160 pounds per man is likely—but experience is sadly lacking. The team is much heavier than last year's championship outfit but loss of such veteran backs as Tunnell, Barnes and Zukoski, as well as all-valley linemen like "Bub" Hughes and others, will be hard to overcome.

With a little game experience the Chanticleers will be hard to beat, believes Coach Brockman. Right now their defensive play is strong but whether they have a scoring punch or not remains to be seen.

The Atkinson-Ord clash will be a tough opener for the Chanticleers, although the 1937 squad beat the Holt county boys with ease, 48 to 0. The Atkinson team this year is practically unchanged and with a year more of experience, playing against a green Ord squad, the result may be different.

The game will be played under the lights and a big crowd of home fans is desired, as Atkinson will bring down a noisy crowd of rooters. The 70-piece Ord band will play during the game.

Loup Valley Basketball Tournament To Ord

The Loup Valley teachers' meeting was held at Arcadia Saturday for the purpose of arranging the basketball schedule, and also to discuss various activities and decide upon the places to hold these activities.

K. C. Softball Team To Play At Comstock

The Ord K. C. softball team is to play in a tournament at Comstock Sunday afternoon, and the Ord players are requested to report to either Syl Furtak or at the grounds in Comstock. They will play the winner of an earlier tilt between Sargent and Geranium.

The games are a part of the St. Wenceslaus celebration formerly held at Geranium. Ord players expected to report include Rudolph Kokes, Jake Lathrop, Frank Kruml, Ed Kruml, George Kruml, John Wojtaszek, John Kokes, Emil Sedlacek, Syl Furtak, Paul Adamak, Steve Carkoski and Dr. F. J. Osenowski.

California Ordites To Picnic Oct. 9

The Quiz is in receipt of a card from F. J. Bell, president, stating that all former residents of Ord and vicinity now living in California are to hold their regular semi-annual picnic in Bixby Park, Long Beach, Sunday, Oct. 9, 1938. All are requested to bring their lunch baskets well filled. There will be free coffee on the grounds. Any friend from Valley county having a friend in California, is requested to write and tell about the picnic.

Charles Sterneckner went to St. Paul and on to St. Libory Monday, where he ate dinner at the Henry Bremer home.

Head of Social Security Board to Speak Sept. 28

Leo W. Smith of Lincoln, Neb., manager of the field office of the social security board, will be in Ord Wed., Sept. 28, and will give a talk in the K. P. hall on the subject of social security, with special emphasis on the old age security program. This will be the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, the first of the fall series of meetings, and the general public is invited to attend and hear what Mr. Smith has to say. He will deliver his talk and then answer any questions that may be asked.

Sorghum Meeting at Ted King Farm Monday, Sept. 12

Jerome Srb Will Demonstrate 15 Test Varieties; Calf Clubs to Be Formed.

Jerome Srb, of the Nebraska agricultural college, will conduct a sorghum meeting at the Ted King farm in Vinton township on Monday, September 26 at 2:00 p. m., according to an announcement by the county agent's office.

The meeting will be held at the sorghum test plot where fifteen different varieties of grain and forage sorghums have been grown this summer. The varieties planted were Atlas, Sumac, Leoti, Black Amber, Grohoma, Hegari, Western Blackhull, Pink Kaffir, Greeley, Cheyenne, Kalo, Early Kalo, Day Wheatland and Sooner.

The meeting should be of interest to a large number of farmers as the plot shows the differences in growth and other varietal differences of the different sorghums considered the most suitable for this country. This test is one of a large number carried on by the agricultural college and farm bureau throughout the state. The results of these tests are to be calculated and summarized for the state and for the different sections of the state and are used in determining the suitability of the sorghums of the state and for the particular section.

Farmers are asked to remember the time and place, Monday, September, 26, 2:00 p. m., at the Ted King farm. The test plot is located just a half mile east of the junction of the Ord-Arcadia and North Loup-Arcadia highways and is identified by a large sign, so the place of meeting can be easily found.

Boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 20 years who are interested in baby beef club work will be interested in an announcement made this week by the county agent. Arrangements have been made to finance the purchase of calves for 4-H club members who will have feed available to feed out one or more calves. The money will be available at a reasonable rate of interest and the calves will be security for the loan.

Any boy or girl who is interested in this proposition or any who have both calves and feed available should get in touch with the county agent's office and get the details of the plan after discussing the matter with their parents.

It will not be necessary to have a lot of corn to feed because barley and grain sorghums can be fed ground in earlier stages of the feeding period with good results, and these feeds are more plentiful than corn.

The county agent is very anxious to know how many boys and girls are interested so that calves can be purchased as soon as possible.

Dorothy Eyerly Is Crowned '38 Queen Of Pop Corn Days

North Loup's Annual Event Attended by Large Crowds, Called Huge Success.

In spite of the coolness of the weather, which was very noticeable Monday evening, the 1938 North Loup Popcorn Day celebration was up to the high standard of former years, and was attended by large crowds on both days. The Fredericks carnival was located in the street, and did a good business, as did a number of locally owned stands.

DOROTHY EYERLY. Miss Dorothy Eyerly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford Eyerly was crowned Queen of Popcorn Days at a simple but colorful ceremony Monday evening.

Heralded by George Cox and LaVerne Hutchins as trumpeters, and preceded by Darlene Eberhart and Carol Leonard as flower girls and by Mrs. Kenneth Barber as last year's queen, her majesty came down the aisle to the platform attended by Grace Manchester, Frances Goodrich, Ersel Goodrich, Paul Jones, Jane Hoepfner and Frances Meyers.

Mayor A. L. Willoughby gave the charge to the new queen in a very fitting speech. Mrs. Barber relinquished the crown and scepter to her successor, and Dorothy was crowned queen for the year 1938-39. Miss Eyerly was a member of the class of 1933, North Loup high school, and was given the activities medal at the close of school. She is esteemed by all who know her, and a queen of whom all may well be proud.

The ceremony was preceded by several selections by the combined Burwell Community and North Loup bands, and followed by the Sinclair Trio playing a large number of unusual music instruments. A group of young people from Hastings college closed the program with solos, both vocal and instrumental, which were highly appreciated.

In the juvenile parade Monday afternoon there were several different groups, and a large number of entries in each group. The parade was preceded by the bands, and several selections were played during its progress by the Burwell Community band. Doll bugles came first, Beverly Knapp receiving first prize, Phyllis Meyers second, and Idonna Vodehnal third.

Tricycles came next in line, with Neada Creager taking first, Shirley Sample, second, and Janet Coleman third. Sharon Eberhart received second prize as the only entrant in the two wheeled cart

Earliest Frost in 20 Years, Travis Reports

Following a full week of cool temperatures, the first frost of the season crept in on the wings of a light north wind Sunday night, Sept. 18. According to Weather Reporter Horace Travis' records and those of James Milford before him, this is the earliest frost in 20 years. In 1918 a killing frost came on the same date, Sept. 18, and in 1916 the first frost came Sept. 15. The general average over a period of 23 years is Oct. 4.

The period 1929 to 1937 inclusive is marked by exceptionally late frosts, the average for that period being Oct. 10. The period before that time averages Oct. 1. The frost this year is 22 days ahead of the seven year average immediately preceding it. The frost nipped tomatoes, beans, sweet potatoes, and some kinds of flowers, but did not kill them entirely, except in very low places. It should tend to ripen late tomatoes, where the vines were not killed too much.

Morning Train Is Late, Truck Strike Blamed

The Union Pacific freight which brings morning mail to Ord was three hours late this morning, pulling in about noon, and as a result city and rural mail carriers did not leave the office until about 1:00. The general truck strike in eastern Nebraska has thrown a lot of "less than carload" business to the railroads, requiring longer stops at each point on the line, is given as one reason for the delay.

The train also brought up a big cattle shipment from Denver. Having the mail arrive so late is a serious inconvenience to business people who count on getting the mail in the morning and answering it in the afternoon; also for businesses like the Quiz, who get photo-engraving and supply orders for shipment the same day.

Sorghums Non-Depleting, Is the New AAA Ruling

That sweet sorghums are released for silage purposes in Valley and all adjacent counties and when used for such purposes are to be classified as non-depleting crops is the welcome ruling received from AAA officials this morning by C. C. Dale, county agricultural agent. The drought and subsequent loss of corn crop is the reason for this change in classification, Dale explains. Sweet sorghums must be cut in forage stage in order that land on which they were grown may be classified the same as for non-depleting crops.

Fair's Deficit Is Not As Heavy As Was First Feared

Final Check-up May Show Loss of Only About $1,000 and Continuation Hoped.

The loss incurred by the Loup Valley Agricultural Society in putting on the 1938 fair will not be as heavy as was feared last week, said Secretary E. L. Kokes Monday. A splendid crowd last Wednesday greatly helped greatly the evening crowd witnessing the White barn dance frolic from the grandstand was especially large.

Although all bills are not yet in and the final check-up has not yet been made, Secretary Kokes told friends Monday that he is hopeful the deficit may not exceed $1,000.

Possibility of refinancing the mortgage on the fair grounds and thus paying all outstanding bills, with the fair continuing next year, is hoped for by Kokes, although the board of directors has not yet discussed the proposition officially.

Payment of fair expenses is being held up until all bills are in. Given good weather all three days, there seems no doubt that the 1938 fair would have been a great success financially. The action of Grand Island interests in promoting an auto race program on the final day of the Valley county fair is resented by fair officials here, because it cut materially the crowd that usually comes from Hall, Howard and Merrick counties to see the races.

HUMAN KINDNESS.

In a week of notable events, both local and general, one incident stands out, and that was the response of the public to the need of Calvin Niday at the Valley county fair Wednesday afternoon.

He came to Ord with a good car and a prayer, hoping to win, but to put on his part of the show whether he won or not.

Tuning up his car, he let his mind wander for an instant from the all important business of watching where he was going. Once out of control, all he could do was to ride wherever the careening machine took him.

He was out of the races in Ord. But, worst of all, the crash that ruined his car broke his left leg as well.

Fellow racers helped him out of the wreckage and saw him on his way to the hospital. Later they made an effort to raise a purse for him, but the lives and finances of race drivers are uncertain.

Some times you are in the money, but more often you are not, and the best they could do was pitifully inadequate.

It was suggested that perhaps the crowd might appreciate an opportunity to contribute, but these boys of the oval track were skeptical.

They had seen this same idea tried before, and it had not gone over so well. People are so peculiar. They might like the idea and again they might get sore at the fair if it were tried.

Joe Fabenstock was so flustered when he got up to make the announcement that he got off to a bad start, and stumbled through his speech after the manner of a man who is uncertain how his remarks will be received.

But the circumstance has a deeper, more significant meaning. In spite of depression, debt and doubt, the great heart of America is ever ready to respond in time of need, and so long as this spirit exists the principles for which our forefathers fought are still dominant in the hearts of all true Americans.

CONVENTIONALITY.

Ninety-nine percent of all human activity is founded upon that age old surmise that it is the conventional thing to do. From the cradle to the grave we do things because others have done them before us, and we follow the same general plan of our predecessors.

In our youth we are taught to observe certain conventions, and we seldom deviate from those habits.

We thus become a mere cog in the great machinery of civilization, appearing to those we meet as no essentially different from thousands they have met before.

A business place in New England is run almost precisely as the same kind of business in California or Texas. The same goods are displayed on the shelves, the same type of clerk takes your order.

A motorist may visit every state in the union and find the same kind of service, the same kind of products, the same general type of construction at every service station he visits.

of hybrid corn, a new method of making an old crop pay better. Conventionally is all right to a reasonable extent, but in excess it has kept the Chinese from progressing as a nation for the past 4,000 years.

To do anything in a way different from the methods of their revered ancestors is considered by them as the rankest disrespect and for this reason the improved machinery and methods of the occident have found little favor with them.

The man who acts in any way different from his fellow men is a genius when and if he succeeds. Until that time he is either a crank or just plain crazy.

If your friends think you are queer, don't worry about it; it may be that you are fated to become a genius and give to the world something it has never had before.

The world has its ideas of what men should do and how they should act, and resent any change.

Columbus, Lindbergh, Edison and hundreds of other men of genius were unconventional, and they were considered crazy by their acquaintances until they succeeded.

Do not let the cutting remarks of your foolish but well meaning friends discourage you. If you have an original idea, do not give it up, or you will stay in the rut.

Henry Ford paid no attention to the jeers of his neighbors half a century ago. They quit jeering long since.

Yesterday we decided to go around by Boulder Canyon. It is twice as far but we went anyway. We found the cabin OK and then started down Coal Creek.

We got within four miles of the store when we were told we could not get through until five. We waited and then came down. WPA workers were working all along.

The five miles from the store to the mouth of the canyon was the worst thing I ever saw.

The five miles of road was all washed out the week before. The WPA workers have made the road just wide enough for one car or truck to pass over.

It is full of ruts and high centers. It took just one hour to drive the five miles in low gear all the way. These five miles just about shook us and the car to pieces.

There were whole hill sides that had slid down the canyon, taking everything in its path; big boulders strung everywhere, houses, animals and what not. Your brother John.

Long Beach Calif.—Tell Dick I was Corrigan yesterday. There was as big a crowd and as much "to do" as for the president. Love Mother.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Extracts From Letters Received During the Week.

Denver, Colo.—We have been having a lot of rain here the last ten days. It was about four years ago that we had a flood in Bear Creek that cleaned things all out.

This time it was worse than then. Also, this time, the storm covered a larger strip of country than last time. There was as much water there as down Coal Creek as there was Bear Creek. My cabin is on Coal Creek.

Last Saturday Herman, Lydia (Negley) and I decided to go to the canyon to see how the cabin was. We drove to the head of the canyon and were stopped there and told we could go no further.

We parked the car and walked up the canyon about a mile and there was no road at all where it had been. Boulders as large as wash tubs were all over where the road had been.

Trees a foot through were all chewed off and were lying all over. It was one of the worst messes I ever saw.

Dr. Aitkin has one and two funerals a day, right straight along day after day. Three Sunday, two yesterday, two tomorrow, one today. How he stands it is a mystery to me.

To commit again to the deaths. They are often elderly people, but the alarming note is the large percentage of middle-aged men. We can tell because the age is given in the papers and many we know.

It seems to be that the very uncertain business conditions are due to the fact that it is pretty generally understood that Roosevelt intends trying to run for a third term. There is nothing we can do about it but to worry along as we see it.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Stockman have known for quite a while that crossbred animals have advantages over purebreds for market use. But many have also believed that it is ruinous to use crossbreds for breeding purposes a second time.

This view probably developed from observing scrubby herds of jumbled mixtures, rather than true crossbred lugs.

A few swine raisers have suspected that the increased vigor of crossbred gilts might also make them desirable as brood sows. These men have gone ahead and raised outstanding litters of second-cross pigs from crossbred sows mated with purebred sires.

Sows that were half Chester White and half Duroc Jersey were bred to purebred Poland China boars at the Minnesota station. Pigs from this three breed cross reached market weight three weeks earlier than purebreds, and saved a half-bushel of corn apiece in doing it.

The size of litters was also increased by using the three breed cross.

Another method, known as criss-cross breeding, likewise gave excellent results. Sows that were half Duroc Jersey and half Poland China were bred to a Duroc Jersey boar. The female offspring from such matings were bred to a Poland China boar, and boars of the two breeds are thus being intermated for each succeeding generation of females.

The Minnesota station is very enthusiastic about three-breed crossing, and criss-cross breeding, as explained above. It is claimed that these two practices would save the state five million dollars annually in feed costs alone if generally adopted.

North Loup Editor Married at Friend

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cornell

In the Methodist Episcopal church at Friend, Neb., at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon was solemnized the marriage of Phyllis Gordon of Friend to Melvin Cornell of North Loup.

Mrs. Bauer presided at the organ and Myrtle Cornell played two violin solos. Mr. Bennett of Wesleyan University sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

M. R. Williams of Scotia and the groom waited at the altar for the bride who came in on the arm of her father, W. W. Gordon, lovely in ivory lace and an off the face veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansonia. The bridesmaid, Miss Kors of Beatrice, a sorority sister of the bride, wore hyacinth blue taffeta with a halo and face veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Rev. L. W. Bratt, pastor of the Friend M. E. church officiated in the double ring ceremony. After the ceremony while the wedding march was played the receiving line was formed at the back of the church with the bride and groom.

Attending the wedding from Ord were Myrtle and Myrtle Cornell, sisters of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Willoughby, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Zangger and Esther and Mrs. J. A. Barber, all of North Loup.

Among Those Present. Approximately 13,000 persons, enough to populate a small city, would otherwise have died in auto accidents during 1938, will probably live to welcome the New Year next January thanks, largely to the tireless efforts of such agencies as the National Institute for Traffic Safety, The National Safety Foundation, The Automotive Safety Foundation, thousands of newspaper editors, and the casualty insurance industry.

Get Into the Swim.

Next month, a week will be given to informing the public of the hazards of one of man's most destructive enemies—uncontrolled fire. Fire Prevention Week, which has been an annual event ever since it was proclaimed by President Wilson more than two decades ago, will begin October 9th and run through the 15th.

A few vivid figures illustrate the importance of the week. Each year fire destroys about $500,000,000 worth of property directly—and the indirect loss brings the total to the billion-dollar mark. Worse yet, it kills 10,000 people horribly—an average of 27 each day. This is what carelessness, ignorance and incompetence breed.

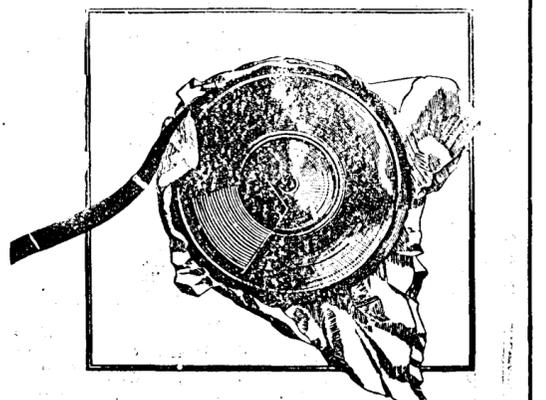

There isn't a hamlet in the country which won't be reached some extent through Fire Prevention Week activities. And there isn't a citizen in the country who can provide a sound alibi if he fails to absorb some of the simple facts and information that are all that is needed to prevent and control most fires. Governors of states and other public officials will take part. Insurance organizations will issue pamphlets, run advertisements in newspapers and periodicals and prepare window displays. Fire marshals and chiefs will speak. Every media of communication involving the spoken and printed word will be brought into play in a concentrated national effort to make the Week a success.

Believe it or not, fire prevention is fun—even as instruction in fire prevention is nowadays made dramatic and entertaining. It doesn't take much in either time or money. It does pay tremendous dividends. Mark down the date of Fire Prevention Week on your calendar—and get into the swim.

North Loup Editor Married at Friend

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cornell

In the Methodist Episcopal church at Friend, Neb., at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon was solemnized the marriage of Phyllis Gordon of Friend to Melvin Cornell of North Loup.

Mrs. Bauer presided at the organ and Myrtle Cornell played two violin solos. Mr. Bennett of Wesleyan University sang "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life".

M. R. Williams of Scotia and the groom waited at the altar for the bride who came in the arm of her father, W. W. Gordon. Lovely in ivory lace and an off the face veil. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansonia. The bridesmaid, Miss Kors of Beatrice, a sorority sister of the bride, wore hyacinth blue taffeta with a halo and face veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Rev. L. W. Bratt, pastor of the Friend M. E. church officiated in the double ring ceremony. After the ceremony while the wedding march was played the receiving line was formed at the back of the church with the bride and groom.

A reception was given in the basement of the church, which was decorated with flowers. Brick ice cream with pink molded wedding bells and white cake were served. A three-tiered cake was cut by the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Cornell left at once for Omaha for a short honeymoon and will be at home in the house on west main street, North Loup, that has been made ready. The bride's going away costume was grey wool with blue accessories.

Mrs. Cornell was music and English instructor in the North Loup schools two years ago and has many friends here. Mr. Cornell is managing editor of the Loyalist.

Attending the wedding from Ord were Myrtle and Myrtle Cornell, sisters of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Willoughby, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knapp, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Zanger and Esther and Mrs. J. A. Barber, all of North Loup.

Among Those Present.

Approximately 13,000 persons, enough to populate a small city, who would otherwise have died in auto accidents during 1938, will probably live to welcome the New Year next January thanks, largely to the tireless efforts of such agencies as the National Institute for Traffic Safety, The National Safety Council, The Automotive Safety Foundation, thousands of newspaper editors, and the casualty insurance industry.

The men and women who are directly responsible for saving these 13,000 human lives will receive little or no recognition for their tireless services. Their only solace will be found in dry statistics. They will not even receive the gratitude they so justly deserve from those whose very lives they have saved, because providence never labels its victims in advance.

In the first six months of 1938, highway fatalities decreased 22 per cent compared to 1937. And as the New York Times has observed: "Such progress is especially cheering in view of the enormity of the problem." The United States has what has been described as "the most enormous transportation system in the world with 3,000,000 miles of rights of way, 30,000,000 pieces of rolling stock and an average of 30,000,000 passengers daily."

There are two things that you can and should do to promote safety on our highways. Observe every safety precaution yourself and encourage others to do the same. Incidentally, next January if you are fortunate enough to be among those present, you might send up a silent prayer of thanks to the nations traffic safety workers—you just possibly are one of the lucky thirteen thousand.

Get Into the Swim.

Next month, a week will be given to informing the public of the hazards of one of man's most destructive enemies—uncontrolled fire. Fire Prevention Week, which has been an annual event ever since it was proclaimed by President Wilson more than two decades ago, will begin October 9th and run through the 15th.

A few vivid figures illustrate the importance of the week. Each year fire destroys about $200,000,000 worth of property directly—and the indirect loss brings the total to the billion-dollar mark. Worse yet, it kills 10,000 people horribly—an average of 27 each day. This is what carelessness, ignorance and incompetence breed.

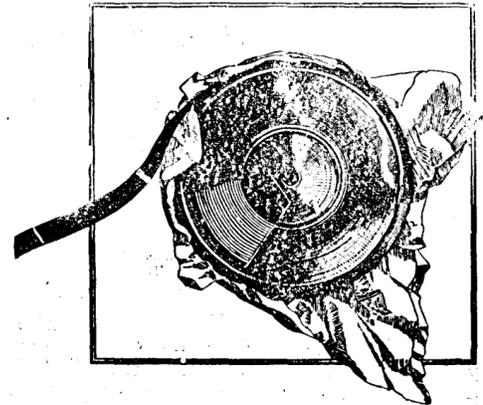

There isn't a hamlet in the country which won't be reached some extent through Fire Prevention week activities. And there isn't a citizen in the country who can provide a sound alibi if he fails to absorb some of the simple facts and information that are all that is needed to prevent and control most fires. Governors of states and other public officials will take part. Insurance organizations will issue pamphlets, run advertisements in newspapers and periodicals and prepare window displays. Fire marshals and chiefs will speak. Every media of communication involving the spoken and printed word will be brought into play in a concentrated national effort to make the Week a success.

Believe it or not, fire prevention is fun—even as instruction in fire prevention is nowadays made dramatic and entertaining. It doesn't take much in either time or money. It does pay tremendous dividends. Mark down the date of Fire Prevention Week on your calendar—and get into the swim.

RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seen't things; Norma Bredthauer playing chauffeur for a group of Grand Island boys Saturday. And especially for that good looking red-head. (Well, who wouldn't ride in that swell car when Norma's driving?) Marjorie Nauenberg standing on a street corner having a nice, long talk to with a good looking boy. (What, again?) A certain girl's Omaha boy-friend who missed getting her letters, and then got three of them on the same day. (Well, well.)

Three cheers for: Dean Blessing's novel hat. (If you've lost anything, you're almost sure to find it stuck in his hat some-where.) Jackie Meyer's favorite popular song, "Oh Gosh, Am I a fool?" (I must have missed that one, because I've never heard it.) Similes: Clyde McKinney of Burwell reminds me of Douglas Corrigan. It must be his brown jacket, and that peculiar grin of his.

Back in town; Pearl Sobon always gets the best looking boys. I saw her at the show Friday night with one of Leonard's college pals. Afterthought: We're going to miss the vim, vigor and vitality of a certain girl when she moves away. Anything new in the line of fun always originated with Margie Jean Smith.

A Million Dollar Upland Game Crop For Nebr. Farmers

Federal Aid Money May Become Available, Thru a New Plan Proposed By Storz.

Proposing to get federal aid money and have a separate license for hunting to provide the state with funds to hatch and stock the state with a greater variety and number of upland game birds, Arthur C. Storz, prominent Nebraska sportsman and Nebraska Chairman of Ducks Unlimited, draws attention to the mutual benefits to farmers and hunters that would result from this plan.

Upland game can be made a good paying commodity for many Nebraska farmers. The farmer and land owner can add to their income and the sportsman can be assured of some shooting at a price. A very good start in this direction has already been made in some states. Unless something constructive is done in Nebraska to bring the farmer and sportsman together on a fair basis, the ultimate outcome will be that our upland game will disappear as it has in the past.

There are several valuable upland game birds that have and can be reared artificially and can be used for stocking purposes. In Nebraska, the pheasant, chukar partridge, valley and mountain quail, as well as grouse, offer some fine possibilities provided the farmer and state game commission will cooperate and work out a constructive, well planned, workable program. In many states and particularly in Nebraska, a great many of the sportsmen are convinced that we must actually begin to farm game as we do any other crop. An abundance of upland game can be produced just the same as an abundance of corn, wheat, chickens, hogs or any other commodity.

No matter what you do, eventually you do not get anything for nothing. The results obtained out of business or farming are the results of intelligent management and planning, plus a fair investment to bring favorable returns. Our game crop can be made an exceedingly sound investment. Like any other crop, it cannot be allowed to go uncared for without any replanting or replanting. Just think what would happen to our wheat crops and corn crops if we didn't have intelligent planting and reseeding every year. Think what would happen to our livestock if careful management and breeding were not followed in that line.

And so it is with our upland game crop. Last year about 450,000 pheasants and about 500,000 ducks, and game birds, 5,000 geese were killed in the state of Nebraska during the hunting season. Figuring these birds at about $1.00 a piece, shows that we have taken out about one million dollars of food from our game crop. Duck hunting, of course, is limited to the areas that have suitable water, and to the areas that the duck hunt follows. Upland game of various species, however, can be produced in practically every section of the state.

The federal government, through the Bureau of Biological Survey, has set an excellent example and has made an excellent demonstration of what can be accomplished in bringing back game through a planned program. We have had practically a 500 percent increase in the duck crop in the last five years. The same and even better results can be accomplished with our upland game if we can get an equally well planned program for our state and provided our game commission were given an adequate sum to bring about the results that we all want. There are few states that are as favorably situated as the state of Nebraska. We have an average climate and a very large area; our state is 500 miles long and almost 300 miles wide. Our comparative population with some of the eastern states in relation to area is very small and therefore we have a much better chance of working out a fine program than some of the other states that are handicapped with small areas and large population. Pennsylvania, California, Wisconsin, Michigan, and a few other states which are highly populated, are off to a four or five year start over Nebraska in game propagation. Yet, they have demonstrated that such a program is successful and a splendid investment for the public.

Most every farmer has an acre or two of rough land which can be put to this use. Many other farmers, who participate in the Federal Crop Loan Plan, have been forced to cut down acreage on various crops that they planted hereofore. A few acres devoted to game planting can be made the most profitable crop per acre on the farm. If such a plan is worked out, the farmer's rights must be respected and any so-called sportsman who does not respect them should be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The game commission must furnish some signs for posting which would read as follows: "Hunting by permission only." "Temporary game refuge." and others of a similar nature. So that the farmer can charge for hunting on his property.

Our script law in which the game commission issued the 50c script for pheasants which the farmer can collect, is still on our statute books, although very few farmers, if any, are availing themselves of this privilege today.

A plan must also be worked out for the furnishing of suitable feed and cover plants in the localities where the birds are to be released. The state game commission would also furnish suitable brooders and suitable rearing pens to be placed with the various farmers who are interested in this program. Localities of sportsmen would raise enough money in the locality to feed these birds during their growing stages. They would be sent to the farmer in the chick stage from the state game farm. The local warden in each locality would supervise and check the raising of these birds and when they have finally reached the mature age, they would be banded and turned loose under the supervision of the local warden.

To work out such a program it would be necessary to furnish the game commission with more funds with which to work. There are only five states in the union having a hunting and fishing license fee as low as the state of Nebraska at the present time. Most of them have a license fee of $2.00 to $5.00, so you can see from these facts that the present income of the Nebraska game and fish commission will not be sufficient to put on a program and get results comparable or favorable with the forty-three other states that have a higher license fee.

The Biological Survey at Washington is also offering individual states federal aid money on a similar basis that is now offered on the highway program under the federal aid project. Next year it is possible for Nebraska to get approximately $75,000 in federal aid money for the Biological Survey. This money, if it is to be matched by an additional $25,000 fund from the state of Nebraska. This $100,000 that would then be available would have to be approved as a definite project, meeting the approval and rules of the Biological Survey. The state of Nebraska would also have to maintain this project in the future. Under the circumstances, it has been recommended that our hunting license be raised to $1.50. This would mean that there would be only a 50c raise for those men who just hunt, as they would have to pay $1.00 under the present regulation.

Also, most all fishermen in the state are anxious for an increased program on fish and it is proposed to raise the fishing license to $1.25 or a 25c increase over the present rate. The man who does both hunting and fishing is generally a pretty ardent sportsman and goes out a number of times a year and therefore gets more game and more fish than the average person who has only one activity. It is the general opinion from hundreds of interviews all over the state that in 99 percent of the cases, the sportsman would be glad to pay $2.50 for the combination hunting and fishing license.

If some such game plan is worked out and presented to the next legislature, it will produce a definite income for the farmer for the efforts he puts forth in raising a game crop. It would protect his rights as to trespassing and hunting privileges on his own land. It would also furnish the farmer with food supply for his own family. The farmer who does not want to participate in such a program is not forced to do so, yet the one who does, is protected and his rights are established.

Safeguard the Nation's "White Spot"

As Nebraskans, we are proud that our State is called the Nation's "White Spot," due to the fact that, unlike other States, we are not burdened with income taxes, sales taxes, and other special taxes.

As taxpayers, contributing in taxes on beer alone, more than $500,000 a year to Nebraska's operating budget, we are one of the State's biggest taxpaying industries. We are especially glad to make this contribution, because it is a major guarantee of Nebraska's continuance as the Nation's "White Spot."

We have therefore organized our huge taxpaying, grain-buying and employment-furnishing industry for the purpose of conducting our business in the public interest. We are certain that what is good for the public is good for us.

Our self-regulating program has been hailed as "unique in American industry." It has already been highly commended by civic leaders and leading newspapers throughout the State. We cordially invite you to support our program. By so doing, you will be helping to safeguard Nebraska as the "White Spot" of the Nation.

A Letter from Wm. E. SHUMAN Republican Nominee for CONGRESS

Dear Voters:

At the primary election I was nominated as the Republican candidate for Congress of this Fifth District of Nebraska, and the voters are therefore entitled to learn something about me and my views on national questions. So I am publishing this letter and may write and publish other letters in this paper later.

I was the first white child born in Cedar Rapids, Boone County, Nebraska, in the home of an early pioneer minister, in 1882. I have lived my entire life in this state, was educated in the public schools, worked my way through the College of Law of the State University and since graduating in 1904 have had an extensive practice in state and federal courts and before federal bureaus.

In 1923 I called the first meeting of the Lincoln County Taxpayers' League, was elected its first president and served as such for several years. I have also led in movements to secure reduction of rates for gas and electricity and had part in securing considerable savings to the people in North Platte in such rates.

Should I be elected I assure you that I will carefully and conscientiously study every proposed law and vote for or against it as I deem it for the best welfare of the people.

I do not believe that we have as yet a problem of over-production; certainly not so long as we have people who are underfed. I am opposed to the importation of enormous quantities of farm products from foreign lands while the American farmer is forced to reduce the acreages to be planted to corn and wheat.

I intend to campaign throughout the district and hope to meet as many of the voters as possible, in person.

Sincerely yours,
W. E. Shuman

Babka Shelterbelt Shows Value of Good Care

What a little care will do for trees in Valley county is demonstrated by this picture of a shelterbelt planting on the E. F. Babka farm. The trees were planted in 1936 by the U. S. Forest Service. Cottonwoods in the center strip are now 10 to 12 feet high while the honey locusts and American elms are about eight feet high. This strip is one of several planted by the Forest Service in this vicinity and proves that trees can and will thrive in this country, particularly when good care is given them.

Good Judgment. York county voters will have an opportunity this fall to say by ballot whether they approve continuance of the farm bureau. This newspaper cannot see how the decision can be anything but "yes" if good business judgment rules. York Republican.

A grant of $8,200 from the Public Works Administration as 45% of the cost of building an annex to the Ord high school building is sought in an application filed recently by the school district.

The building would be used to house the agricultural shop department and would be located north of the present high school. Total cost would be $8,000, of which $3,600 would be paid by the PWA if the application is approved and $4,400 by the school district by means of registered warrants. No bond election would be necessary.

Hugh M. McClure, of Kearney has been employed as architect to draw plans for the proposed structure and also had charge of making the application to PWA for funds on behalf of the Ord school district, the Quiz learns from Superintendent C. C. Thompson.

At present both the manual training and agricultural shop classes use the same rooms in the east side of the high school building, cramping both for space. The state department of education has recommended for several years that the two departments be separated so better work may be done by each.

Building an annex to accommodate the agricultural shop classes also would make available an extra class room in the high school building should such a room be needed, says Superintendent Thompson.

If the PWA grants the Ord district $3,200 to help build the annex, work must be started before Dec. 1.

Safeway Store Moves To New Location Sunday

For some time painters, carpenters, plumbers and electricians have been busy preparing the Pafetta building on the south side of the square for its new occupants. Mr. Pafetta himself was here all last week assisting in the work by taking care of any details that might have been overlooked. Sunday the building was ready for occupancy by the Safeway Store.

Early in the morning a crew of men began the task of transferring the large stock of merchandise from one building to the other and arranging it on the display shelves, and by night everything was in readiness to open in the new location Monday morning. Saturday morning the signs were taken down from the old location and an entirely new sign was put up across the front of the new.

The manager, F. V. Cahill, is very much pleased with the new location, and believes the move will tend to increase the business. There is more room, and a complete meat market, with a modern refrigerating plant, will be installed, with a man in charge who understands the business.

Furtak Barber Shop Is Moved Upstairs

Sunday the Furtak barber shop was moved to the room immediately above its former location, formerly occupied by Syl Furtak's sign shop. Syl, meanwhile, had moved his sign shop to the rear of the building, and the room had been papered and cleaned ready for its new occupants. John Lewis of course moved his shoe shining business to the upstairs at the same time.

Monday morning L. J. Mason was papering the former shop and Mazie's beauty shop, the partition having been removed between them, and when the decorating is done the beauty shop will occupy the entire basement room. This will fill a long felt want, as the proprietress has felt the need of more room for her increasing business.

In order to take care of more customers at one time, Mrs. Beck has employed two operators, Miss Ruth Collins and Miss Carol Resegule.

Milford J. Flood May Run for Congress

Last week Milford J. Flood presented a petition to the secretary of state, containing more than the necessary number of names to place his name on the ballot. However, all addresses were not given, as required by law, and it is not known at this time whether he will be permitted to run. Mr. Flood is a World War veteran, studied for the ministry, and taught school for a number of years. He is forty years of age.

Townsend Meeting Again.

A meeting of the Ord Townsend club is scheduled for Friday evening at 8:00 in the Brickner building just east of the Aulsebrook. There will be some special entertainment. All are cordially invited to attend.

Six Escape Injury In Highway Crash

Six people narrowly escaped serious injury at 6:45 p. m., Sunday when two cars collided on highway No. 11, twenty miles north of Burwell. Sheriff Raymond E. Johnson of Garfield was called to the scene about an hour after the accident, and reports the facts substantially as follows:

A car driven and owned by A. C. Nichols, Merrick county treasurer, of Central City, was coming south on No. 11 just south of the Frank Clark ranch. With Mr. Nichols was his wife and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Campbell of Palmer. They met a car driven by Joe Kokes and Lloyd James of Atkinson, and the two collided.

The Kokes car was badly damaged, the entire left side being side-swiped, while the Nichols car had a damaged front axle, left front wheel and fender. None of the six was injured except for bruises, but Mrs. Campbell had her false teeth broken. The Kokes car was brought to Ord by the C. A. Anderson Motor company's wrecker, where all who see it wonder just how so much damage could be done without injury to the occupants.

Grand Island Gets New KMMJ Station

It will doubtless be of interest to the people of this territory to know that station KMMJ, until now located at Clay Center, has asked for and been given permission to move to Grand Island. The station will continue at Clay Center for 90 to 95 days while preliminary plans are getting worked out.

The corporation will build a new vertical antenna at some point 6 to 8 miles from Grand Island, and will have to erect a building to house their transmitter. A down town building will be remodeled and fitted for radio studios and offices, which will take some time. This new location will place the station on continental air and rail lines.

Cosmopolitan Club Met Monday Night

The Ord Cosmopolitans met Monday evening for dinner at the City Cafe, this being their first regular meeting as an organization, following the receipt of their charter last Wednesday evening. Every member was present when President John Misko opened the session and introduced J. G. Masters as speaker of the evening.

Mr. Masters had with him a map of his own handiwork, showing the explorations in Nebraska and the states to the north and west, including the route of the Lewis and Clark expedition and the fur traders who succeeded them. Having made the early history of the northwest his life study, he was eminently competent to speak on this subject.

In addition to his knowledge of the subject, Mr. Masters is possessed of a pleasing and well modulated voice, and he held his hearers spellbound during the hour or more of his address. He had with him copies of his book, "Tales of the West," which he autographed and sold to the members.

W. W. Douthit Buys Ed's Beer Parlor

Subject to the granting of a beer license by the Ord city council, a deal was entered into last week between Ed Michalek and Walter W. Douthit of Greeley, whereby the latter becomes owner of Ed's Beer Parlor on the east side of the square. Mr. Douthit is now in possession.

He formerly was owner of the Greeley Cafe, and understands the business thoroughly. He is a married man and his wife and two sons will move to Ord today. They have rented the Collision house formerly occupied by the Ernest Horners, who recently moved to the Olsson house on south 15th street.

Ord Seed and Grain Company is New Firm

The Ord Seed and Grain Company is the name of the new firm which opened for business in the Kull building, formerly known as the Weekes Seed company. The members of the firm are L. W. Eschliman and E. Kull.

Mr. Eschliman is the manager and will have direct charge for the present, at least. The firm will handle grains and seeds of all kinds, with popcorn a specialty. In addition they will have a line of coal, flour, hay and commercial feeds.

Hear G. L. Insurance Man.

George Cowton, well known Grand Island insurance man, was principal speaker at the Rotary club's Monday evening dinner, his talk dealing with compensation insurance. Other guests of the club included Mr. Lewis and Mr. Murphy of Grand Island and E. C. James of Ord. Mr. Lewis is president of the Rotary club at Grand Island.

Sack Lumber Yard Site Is Choice Of Postal Officials

Gov't. Takes Option on Sack Property; Sack to Buy Out the Weller Yard.

Wednesday evening the Lincoln Star carried the story that the lots of the Sack Lumber and Coal company had been selected as the site for Ord's new $75,000 postoffice. The next day Mr. Sack received official confirmation of the selection. The local postoffice had not received any notification Saturday, but this is expected at any time.

The Sack site was not offered at the time the other bids were made, but he was later asked to offer it, which he refused to do until he could make arrangements for continuing his business in Ord, as he did not want to sell out and quit. Recently he made arrangements to take over the Weller yard in case his lots were selected, and so the material will be moved there.

The space offered by Mr. Sack includes all the yard with the exception of the office and the buildings directly back of it, a space 125 by 17 1/2 feet in size. This is amply large for the purpose. It is not known at this time when the actual construction work will begin, but Mr. Sack will soon begin the removal of his yard to the new site.

The consensus of opinion is that the site was well chosen. It is near to, but not on, the public square. It is on Highway No. 11, and at its junction with Highway No. 53. No. 11 is paved, and in all probability No. 53 will be soon. Traffic is light on the side street to the west, from which carriers will have access to the rear of the building. It is conveniently located with relation to both depots and the bus line, and is in the center of the city.

Large Crowd Attends Geranium Celebration

The annual celebration of the St. Wenceslaus church of Geranium which was held at Comstock Sunday drew a large crowd of people from all the surrounding towns.

The afternoon entertainment, which was free, consisted of two ball games and two plays, "The Man Who Came Back," and "Jeden Znas se must Ozenit." The plays were presented by St. Eulalia's club. A bingo game furnished considerable amusement for the folks. In the evening a dance was held. The ladies of the parish served dinner and supper.

New Methodist Pastor Preaches First Sermon

Rev. G. C. Roberson and family arrived from Broken Bow Wednesday evening, and moved at once into the Methodist parsonage vacated by Rev. Mearl C. Smith and family when they left for their new charge at York Tuesday. Rev. and Mrs. Roberson have two children, a daughter Sarah, who graduated at Broken Bow last spring and who plans to attend college later, and Frank, who is a sophomore and a valuable addition to the Ord football squad.

Rev. Roberson preached his initial sermon Sunday morning, the services being well attended, and made a favorable impression upon his hearers. Mrs. Roberson is much interested in church work and a valued assistant to her husband. They spent the past four years at Broken Bow, from which charge they come with the good wishes of their admiring friends for their success in Ord.

Nursery School Began Monday

The nursery school held its first session Monday with about twenty-three children present. Mrs. Geo. Work is head teacher, and her assistants are Mrs. Louise Zikmund and Miss Donzella White. The children arrive between 8:30 and 9:00 and are first given cod-liver oil and tomato juice. Then they are inspected for colds and diseases. After that they have their work to do. The rest of the time they are outdoors. Before dinner they rest for half an hour and after dinner they take their afternoon nap. At three-thirty their afternoon lunch is served, and then school is dismissed.

Will See Minnesota Game.

Judge E. P. Clements and Dr. F. A. Barta of Ord and Father Murray of Burwell are planning to leave early Friday morning for Minneapolis where they will be joined by L. B. Penner of Burwell and the four will attend the Nebraska-Minnesota football game. They will then go to Cullen lake for a week of fishing and bridge-playing, making their headquarters in Mr. Penner's cottage. Other Ord people who plan to attend the game at Minneapolis are Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Weekes, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McBeth, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Brockman.

Spine Injured In Automobile Upset

Arcadia—(Special)—Clyde Spencer, who is employed on the Middle Loup project, received a severe spinal injury Thursday while returning home from his work near Loup City. The car hit loose gravel and rolled off the high grade, pinning him beneath. At first it was thought that his back was broken but an x-ray taken at the Ord hospital showed no break. He was able to be brought home Tuesday, but must remain in bed for some time, strapped to a board.

Annual Teachers' Institute Attracts Large Group to Ord

J. G. Masters of Central High Principal Speaker Both Days; Many Others.

The Valley County Teachers' institute met Monday and Tuesday of this week, with all the Valley county teachers, twenty teachers from Garfield county, and all the normal trainers from the Ord and Arcadia high schools present. The registration of teachers took the time from 8:30 until 9:00 a. m. Monday.

J. G. Masters, principal of Central high school, Omaha, was the first speaker Monday morning, and he delivered a total of six addresses in the course of the two days, two each forenoon and one each afternoon. He is without doubt the best informed man on the early history of Nebraska and the northwest country now living.

His subjects in order, were as follows: The Qualities of the Great Teacher; The Story of the Oregon Trail; The Schools and the Community; What Can We Do about Democracy; Powder River Stories; and, John Colter Discovering the Yellowstone country and his Whirlwind Escape from the Blackfeet.

Magdalene Pickens, art supervisor in the Omaha school system had charge of the art work, and a period Monday morning was devoted to this subject, with lectures by Miss Pickens both afternoons and in the forenoon, Tuesday. She is a master of her subject, and the teachers enjoyed her lectures.

Mrs. Henrietta Bernstein of the Child Welfare department spoke Monday morning on the subject, "Child Welfare in Nebraska." In the afternoon Miss Esther Montgomery spoke on "Teacher Retirement." Her talk was followed by one on the subject of the "Junior Red Cross," by Mrs. Edward Kokes of Ord.

Tuesday two talks were given by Ralph D. Copenhaver of the University of Nebraska extension service. The one in the morning dealt with Recreational Programs, while in the afternoon he talked on "Homemade Games and Puzzles." These lectures were of great practical value to the teachers.

This year's institute was without doubt one of the most successful and inspirational ever held in Valley county, and a great deal of credit is due Miss McClatchey, not only for bringing this fine array of talent, but also for being able to interest so many teachers in the program. They now have a better idea of what a great teacher is, as summed up in the words of Mr. Masters:

"The great teacher is one with a genial liking for his fellows, who has a native gift for developing the best that is within them, one with a restless, inquiring mind, one who sees sharply and discerns values clearly, one who can fathom the spiritual meanings and qualities and the fineness of a personality. Above all, perhaps it is one who is altogether sensitive to the world's sadness, heartaches and woes, but who knows its joys, its beauties and delights as well."

District Agriculture Teachers Convene in Ord

The district agriculture teachers met Saturday in the Ord high school auditorium. Twelve of the fourteen teachers were present and each man gave a report on his district study problem. A short speech was given by Dr. H. E. Bradford of the University of Nebraska.

Fowler, Anselmo; and George West of Burwell.

Makes Hole in One.

North Loup Irrigation Project Inspected By Senator Norris

Given Spontaneous Welcome by People Of Ord This Morn

Band Serenades Norris, Then He Is Luncheon Guest; Will Tour Middle Loup Also.

Just a week less than two years after he guided the plow that first broke ground for the North Loup power and irrigation project, Senator George W. Norris returned to Ord—this time to inspect a project virtually completed and already furnishing water to irrigate a large acreage.

As was the case two years ago, Nebraska's senior senator received a spontaneous welcome from Ord's citizens.

He was met this morning at the irrigation office by Roy Hudson, district president, and by several of the directors, and escorted to the court house square where the Ord high school band serenaded him. A large crowd of citizens gathered to welcome him to Ord and impromptu speeches were made.

Although Ord people knew about the Senator's impending arrival for less than twenty-four hours, the welcome they gave him was a genuine and hearty tribute to the regard in which he is held.

Ralph W. Norman introduced Senator Norris to the crowd gathered in the court house yard as "the patron saint of the North Loup project," and as "the man chiefly responsible for the prosperity that soon will be general throughout the valley."

In a ten-minute talk Senator Norris responded, mentioning his pleasure at being able to return to Ord and say "I told you so" to those critics who blamed him for the slowness with which the Public Works Administration gave their approval to the project after it was proposed.

Senator Norris told about his efforts before the PWA to have the project approved, and how it was through his work that PWA heads consented to reconsider it after it was rejected. That reconsideration resulted in approval of the project and its present completion.

"I want to keep on doing all I can to help the North Loup project and hope to see the day when the debt charged against it by the government will be reduced," he stated.

The senator excoriated newspapers who criticized him while the North Loup was under consideration at Washington and said, "My own conscience has always been clear; I always knew in my own mind that I had done and was doing all I could to bring about the project's approval."

A picture of the prosperity completion of the North Loup project will bring to the valley was painted by Senator Norris when he compared it with the upper North Platte valley before and after irrigation went into effect there. "Ten carloads of coal, of furniture, of hardware will come into this valley two years hence where one comes in now; fifty carloads of grain and cattle will be shipped out where only one is shipped now," he said.

After the brief program from the courthouse steps, which was broadcast over the Aulsebrook address system, Senator Norris was taken on a tour of the project by Engineer-Manager Dummire, President Hudson and directors. Upon his return he was guest of honor at a luncheon in Thorne's cafe, about fifty Ord, North Loup, Burwell, Taylor and Elyria men attending the luncheon. From Ord he is scheduled to go to Arcadia to be conducted on an inspection tour of the Middle Loup project.

Loup Valley Press Meets Here Oct. 7th

The annual autumn meeting of the Loup Valley Press association will be held in Ord on Friday, Oct. 7, with a group of fifty or more editors present. Arrangements are being made to have dinner together at noon and the afternoon will be devoted to talks on problems of the profession. Principal speaker will be Fred W. Hill, publisher of the Hamburg (Iowa) Register, whose newspaper won the prize for best service to its community during 1937, awarded at a meeting of the National Editorial association in White Sulphur Springs, West Va., last spring. LaVern Dueney of the Quiz staff will discuss "News Photography." Mayor M. B. Cummins will welcome editors to Ord at their noon dinner. Officers of the Loup Valley group are Laverne Webster, of the St. Paul Phonograph, president, who will preside; and E. C. Leggett, secretary.

Calf Club Program Is Being Discussed

Because of the shortage of dairy cattle in this county as a result of the drought years, the Ord Cooperative Creamery and the county Farm Bureau have decided to lend their efforts to a 4-H dairy calf club program for boys and girls.

Arrangements will be made for financing the purchase of calves for those who are unable to finance the purchase themselves and who have feed available to carry on the project.

Small dairy heifers will be purchased in the dairy sections of Minnesota and will be distributed to club members. In this way the financial outlay will not be very heavy, and these calves should develop into profitable milk cows.

All boys and girls who are interested are requested to meet at the county agent's office Friday evening at 8:00.

It will be necessary to secure quick action in order that calves for the clubs may be purchased in October.

Will Never Again Be a Candidate

That he will never again be a candidate for any public office, nor will he accept any other office after his term as United States senator expires, was the statement made here this morning by Senator George W. Norris.

"There is not an office within the gift of the people that I would accept even if it were handed to me on a platter of gold," was the senator's statement.

"If God spares me to fulfill my term and permits me to live many years afterward, those years will be spent as a private citizen," he said.

Ord Boy Scouts Hold First Fall Session

The Ord boy scouts held their first session in a month at the high school Tuesday evening. They were given a month's layoff preceding the opening of the school attendance, and they are all brimming with enthusiasm. Scoutmaster Ralph Misko and Assistant Scoutmaster Ed Whelan were in charge of the meeting. Engineer E. H. Dummire was present by request, and made a talk which was highly appreciated. From now on meetings will be held at the high school each Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Ducks, Pheasants, to Provide Good Sport

The season awaited eagerly for months by exponents of the scattershot is almost at hand and from advance indications and prophecies the 1938 open season on both ducks and pheasants should provide more sport than have the past several seasons.

Sunrise on Oct. 15 is the "hop-off" for duck hunters while those who prefer the wary longtail must wait until 24 hours later before they venture forth.

Duck and goose hunting should be excellent this fall if reports from the northward are any indication of the waterfowl population. Moreover, local nimbros are pointing out, there is water in the Platte river this fall, which will give south-bound ducks an objective in flying down the Loup and Cedar valleys. For several years the Platte has been dry in autumn until after the season ended.

Building of blinds was a popular pastime on the North Loup Sunday, some sportsmen combining blind building with fishing or picnicking. Many sighted small flocks of ducks, among them many green-wing teal, which often are gone by Oct. 1, and if the fine weather holds another ten days it is probable that teal will fall victims on opening day.

Valley county's pheasant population also is larger than for several years but on the other hand several adjacent counties are closed to hunters so probably more sportsmen will flock in here than is usually the case. Wise pheasant hunters are now speaking with their former friends about places for opening day hunts and some are offering to furnish "no hunting" signs if the farmer will close his land to all except his local friends.

—George Baine, whose home is at Douglas, Wyo., passed through Ord Tuesday evening enroute for Burwell and hoping to get a job in the cattle country. He finds the cattle business these days isn't what it used to be.

HE BUILT WELL.

The new Dworak store is rapidly nearing completion, and when completed, it will certainly be a credit to our little city. Mr. Dworak informs us that he expects to move his stock in about three weeks. Ord Quiz, Oct. 1, 1938.

The above item in the Quiz of thirty years ago is a very pleasant reminder of an Ord business man who was much in the public eye at that time. A man who was as well known for his prompt and courteous service as for the high quality of his merchandise.

F. J. Dworak retired long ago from active business, but not until he had established a reputation for integrity on a par with the quality and durability of the building he erected to house his business at the northwest corner of the square thirty years ago.

Thirty years have passed, the most momentous the world has ever known. One World war has been fought, and another is in the offing. Science has developed some of the outstanding inventions of all time. And yet that building stands as strong as when the brick was first laid, a credit to the man who built it.

The past week in a tropical storm a huge tidal wave struck the south shore of Long Island and swept out to sea magnificent homes of the wealthy, for, as the Bible truly says, "They were builded upon sand." Last spring the wind blew out plate glass in the Dworak building, but the building was not disturbed for its founder builded well.

Mr. Dworak is not the only Ord merchant who builded well, but he is typical of the men of integrity who made it the city it is today. He is typical of the men who must carry on the work for which the old timers laid the foundation. A city is measured in the terms of the quality of its buildings and the character of the men who carry on its enterprises. Viewed in this light, Ord is a city of which we may well be proud.

NO LOCKED DOORS.
An Ord resident said recently: "I have lived in Ord a quarter of a century, and for more than twenty years I have never locked the door of my home at night. What greater endorsement could a city have to the character of its citizens? The locked door was unknown in pioneer days, but the day of the pioneer is past.

In an age when primal principles are giving way rapidly to modern ideas, it is refreshing to know that one custom of the frontier still endures. The pioneer left his door unlocked that the wayfarer might make use of his home when night or storm overtook him, and the stranger universally respected the trust thus placed in his honesty.

In Ord even the children leave their toys lying about, secure in the knowledge that they will be there when they go back for them. An Ord man may loan his lawnmower with the certainty that some day he will get it back. There is no likelihood that any visitor to our fair city in the future will be given the key to Ord. It was thrown away long ago.

GETTING IT BACK.
According to recent news dispatches, money has been pouring into the United States at a terrific pace in the past few weeks. Its owners apparently feeling that it would be safer here than anywhere else in view of unsettled conditions in Europe. By far the greatest amount of the money has been coming from England.

It has been suggested to the Quiz that the United States should hold this money and apply it on the war debts of those countries which have been owing us for twenty years, and have never yet found it convenient to pay. They have been taking care of our money for us for the past twenty years; why should we not take care of theirs for a while?

The idea is not without merit, and snacks of justice. Europe, with the exception of Finland, has in principle repudiated her debts to America. She has made poverty her plea for an extension of credit, and yet every country has found ample funds to increase its armaments, strengthen its borders and prepare for the eventuality of war.

and are content to view whatever happens from a gallery seat three thousand miles away from the stage of war.
It may be that this is because of what Europe owes us. People are like that. There comes a time when they realize that it is useless to put more funds into an enterprise that has already lost them money. If this is the case, and the debt that Europe owes us is keeping us from interesting ourselves in their affairs, let us hope they never pay it.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett
Nisswa, Minn., Sept. 22, 1938

Dear Quiz:
A letter from Eugene received this morning, wants to know if our typewriter, pens and pencils are all broken; if we have all broke a right arm; if we are all too sick to write. I am sorry, but it is a fact that I have been very careless about writing. But when you Quiz readers read this I expect to be back at my desk in the office and I will be there for a good many months before I get a chance to fish again.

And the weather here is really something to write home about. You, some of you have lived in Minnesota or Indiana or Michigan. If so you know what Indian summer means. And we had our squaw winter just ahead of it too, only it didn't get as cold as it did in Nebraska. So far there has been no frost here and I read in my World-Herald that Nebraska has had frost. It got down to about 40 here. Last Sunday morning we braved a cold north wind and went out onto our lake, as we wanted a mess of fish for dinner. While we were out it rained a little, sleeted a little, snowed a little, and all the time blew a gale, so the whitecaps rolled and we had to navigate our boat carefully to keep from getting soaked by the huge waves that persisted in slopping over into the boat. And we didn't get many fish, just a few bluegills and crappies.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallaway have been with us nearly two weeks and are leaving for their home at Harlan, Ia., tomorrow and they have caught lots of fish. Mrs. Hallaway was lucky and got and landed an 8-pound walleye and she is justly proud. Lou shipped it home in a box of fish; he is shipping another splendid box tonight so they will be there when he gets home. It will contain five nice bass, some good walleyes, some large crappies and bluegills.

And we have generally had good luck. We were skunked this morning at least we came in without any fish. But we caught four, one nice 3-pound bass, one walleye and two northern pike that would weigh somewhere between five and ten pounds. We didn't weigh them. The reason we didn't was because our stringer broke and allowed them to escape with 16 stringer hooks that were on the stringer. We had Ray Luther with us and yesterday morning he had a party of Chicago men with him fished the same water and got 9 nice bass and had more than a dozen other strikes. We didn't get the strikes because the bass were not hungry this morning, though it was a beautiful morning as one could ask for; no wind, just a gentle breeze to rattle the water a little; we were out there at the weed bed a mile from shore as it got light a little after five and had great hopes of getting a string of bass. We will try it again tomorrow morning, though it means getting up at 4 o'clock, eating a hurried breakfast of bacon and eggs and driving three miles to Pelican, then motoring out to the island where we want to fish.

Mr. Fenner is continuing his campaign for beautifying his place next door. The latest is a series of stepping stones which he has manufactured, commemorating the founding of the Cullen Lake Outing club and listing the names of the original cottage owners. He makes his stepping stones of cement, about 16 inches square and presses small stones in to the soft cement to form the letters and words. It is an original idea and makes a beautiful effect and will serve as a tablet, or rather a series of tablets for future generations to look at and, after the last present owner or descendant has passed on, for strangers to wonder about. These stepping stones are strung to make a walk out to the drive and also over to the gateway in the stone wall between the Fenner and Leggett cottages. In addition to this improvement, Mr. Fenner has built a stone wall across the front of his lot, made stone steps down that the center to get to his boat dock and made a cement walk on up to his front door. I am taking a picture of it and hope the boys at the office will be able to make a picture of it to use with this story. He tells us now that he is going to build an archway over the walk in front and hang an electric light on it, this to direct weary fishermen returning late from their quest for finny monsters. I have known a stranger in camp to have to land at a distant point, walk around the shore and get a car out on the shore with the headlights turned on to direct his party toward the proper dock. The improvement which Mr. Fenner proposes will do away with the necessity for this. The first big improvement that he made this year was to finish the upstairs compartment in his cottage with a ceiling and lining, nicely painted. Then he built a lot of furniture for it, then installed a lighting plant. About another year of making improvements like he has done this year and he will have to buy another tract of land on which to make improvements.

The Fenners are looking forward to the coming, next week, of Dr. Barta, Judge Clements and Father Murray, who will attend the football game in Minneapolis next Saturday and then come up here for a few days fishing and if this weather hold good they will enjoy the finest kind of fishing sport.
Mr. Humphreville drove in from Clarinda, Ia., this week bringing a party of friends for a few days fishing and Clarence Luther was wiring E. W. Augustine of Grand Island that the bass were striking on Hubert and we expect him to head this way pronto. Clarence had a party on Hubert this morning and they got 15 bass weighing between 2 and 5 pounds each, as beautiful a string of bass as one would care to look at.

++ Something Different ++

When we get children trained to expect to go to the court house and get free groceries, what kind of adults will they ever be? They will certainly grow up to be citizens with a "gimme" complex, they can't help it. So then we are only training more people to want more aid.

It is all very well to help people in dire need. I don't want them to starve any more than you do. But after they have been helped a while they take free aid as their just due. Why work when they don't have to?
A few days ago a little girl said to her teacher in Ord: "Miss So and so, do you ever go to the court house and get commodities? They have the loveliest commodities there."

We laughed about the tiny girl saying "commodities", but there is another side to the story that isn't so funny.
Or is it just my republican blood showing up?

I see quite a few irls being transplanted this fall. But you can't fool me; I know I haven't that many readers.

Another thing I thought about the auto races is the fair: that's one way to take your castor oil.

Mr. Fred Coe says I am crazy in regards to a cannery in Ord, and then gives about twenty reasons. He says it wouldn't work out.

Perhaps so. I read there is now a year's supply of canned tomatoes stored, so they won't be canned this fall.

And I also read, this past week, how they won't can most of this year's peach crop in California, and much of it will rot under the trees. Caused by too many peaches, and by too little price.

My father wrote a few lines from California the other day to illustrate the one about how small this world is.

He was waiting for a ferry at San Francisco, or Oakland, or thereabouts. Near him sat a lady, another waiter. To shift her packages, she put a bundle of newspapers on the floor. And my father was surprised to see the old Ord Quiz masthead looking him in the eye.

Then he began to talk to the woman, and I understood him to write that she was or had been an Augustyn. A kind friend had loaned her a whole pile of Quizzes to read, and she was logging them home.

When George Gowen began to write about training the children, I allowed a slightly skeptical smile to flit over my face. I guess I felt his wife should be writing it. But after reading more of George's child-raising ideas, I hereby publicly remove my hat to him. I thought he did nobly. And I thought his ideas sound.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT! The Best Show Short Shavings

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

The Best Show.
Of all the reports published of the Fair and Popcorn Days the most exciting and best show on the grounds was not mentioned. That was the wrestling match given each night by the carnival bunch, admittance ten cents a round, everyone invited, and occasionally, women free.

The hawkler climbs on the stand and brings a plug-ugly looking fellow, dressed in tights and a bath robe, and the hawkler puts on a little stunt and then offers that his man will take on anyone in the crowd to a wrestling match, and if the anyone wins, he gets a percent of the gate. Along about this minute, Chick Rother of Scotia, climbs up and offers to take the challenger on.

Chick Rother is a large bull-dog looking fellow with an underslung jaw and he acts the part well, making the most of his beautiful face. He glowers a few times at the challenger. Chick is no slouch of a wrestler. His brother told me he had spent all last winter wrestling in California and this coming winter has contracted to go with Joe Pesek for training and preliminary wrestles.

This fall he has been following these wrestling matches at the fairs, taking on the challenger at Loup City, Ord and North Loup. Some say it was all a put up job, but even if it was, they surely put on a good show and in each match that I attended, I felt I came as near getting my money's worth as I ever have.

The first night Pop Corn Days, Chick threw the challenger each time. For the first ten cents they wrestle for seven minutes. For the second or third time they wrestle to a finish. The challengers the first night were outclassed by Rother, he being a little too good for them. The second night a third fellow was imported and he came nearer being an equal for Rother.

The first round went for seven minutes. First a timekeeper was chosen from the ring. Then a referee was asked to volunteer. Clyde Keown acted the first night, and a Loup City man the second. Both are ex-wrestlers. They looked at the finger nails and gave instructions. About the only things prohibited were choking and poking out eyes. The men dived into each other like fierce bulls, making grimaces and threatening signs. They wrestled fiercely for seven minutes. They were not amateurs and were strong as oxen. It was highly exciting.

The second round was to be to a finish. Rother was a little bigger, but the challenger seemed a little quicker and more scientific. He got hammer holds and terrible wrist locks on Rother, time and again, Rother having to break them with a great deal of strength and pain. Finally, during one of these holds, when Rother's shoulders were nearly to the ground, the referee slapped the challenger's back, proclaiming Rother the loser for the first time.

A protest went up over the crowd that Rother was not down and that they were gyped. Rother mad for a minute, made a pass at the referee and the latter slammed Rother back to his corner. Then the challenger took it up and argued. The referee started to scrap the referee, and when the latter was trying to push the challenger back from Rother, the challenger dived into the referee and they had a wrestle for a minute, the referee getting a black eye out of the affair.

Finally the boss from the outside came in and quieted the bunch and said they would stage another match, this time to a finish, Texas rules, and this would be a match. We all gave our dimes anxiously at once, and the two went after it again, like mad lions, teeth gritted and fire in their eyes.

If Rother was careless with his hands the second round, he learned his lesson and the challenger did not catch him in any of those deadly hammer-locks again. It was only a short time, five minutes, when Rother pinned the challenger's shoulders to the floor. This last time the finish came a little too quickly in comparison to the first two rounds, so that I was suspicious perhaps it was framed. But I talked with Irvin Thelin and Clyde Keown, both men having been wrestlers in their day, and both said they did not think it was a cut and dried affair.

But even if it was, it was a good show just the same. Those men worked hard to give us the entertainment and they are welcome to my dime. A show that is a planned job and planned well is better than one not planned and one sided.

Short Shavings.
Pop Corn Days are a great time for romances. If one can not be started at that time, I would think, the person trying might as well give it up.

These romances develop fast too. The first day the boy hands his lady friend around town. As time goes on he arms her around. By night of the second day they will be wasting away at any corner, or even in front of us all without embarrassment.

I was over to Greeley Friday and it was commodity day. I had neglected to bring my basket, in fact I did not know of it all until someone there told me what the crowd had assembled for. I thought another Pop Corn Days were in session.

We Wonder Why.
AAA officials announced a few days ago that benefit checks would be ready for the farmers in October. That would be just before the general election. Surely, they wouldn't be thinking of trying to influence the farm vote.—Ablon News.

Pecenka-Furtak.

At eight o'clock this morning nuptial high mass was celebrated in the Ord Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Lawler officiating. The contracting parties were Miss Elsie Pecenka, daughter of Mrs. Joe Pecenka, and Syl Furtak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Furtak.

The bride wore a floor length dress of white satin and veil caught with a pearl coronet. She carried a white prayer book with lily of the valley streamers. The maid of honor, Miss Betty Jane Vogeltanz, wore a peach colored dress of chiffon crepe, and carried white carnations.

Norbert Wozny of Genoa, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. Mendelsohn's wedding march was played by Miss Angelina Wachtrle. The wedding breakfast was served to a few friends and relatives at the bride's home, after which they left for a short wedding trip.

The bride and groom were both educated in the Ord high school and the University of Nebraska. Mr. Furtak has been engaged in business for several years in Ord, while his bride taught the past two years in the Burwell schools. They are receiving the hearty congratulations of their many friends.

Sorghum Meeting Monday Attended By 128 Farmers

Leoti, Early Kalo, Atlas and Sooner Milo Appear Most Suitable for Use Here.

One hundred twenty-eight interested farmers gathered at the Ted King farm in Vinton township on Monday to inspect the sorghum variety test plot and listen to a discussion of the different varieties by J. V. Srb of the agricultural college.

Forage lbs. Head lbs.
Atlas	15,000-1,100
Sumac	13,400-2,000
Leoti	16,400-3,000
Black Amber	11,600-2,000
Grohoma	9,500-400
Hegari	11,200-2,500
Western Blackhull	12,000-3,200
Pink Kaffir	9,400-3,300
Greeley	7,000-2,200
Cheyenne	9,400-2,100
Kalo	8,000-2,600
Early Kalo	7,000-3,000
Wheatland	8,000-2,800
Sooner	7,600-3,000
Day	6,200-3,000

Some of the points regarding the different varieties as brought out by Mr. Srb were: Atlas which requires about 125 days to reach maturity is too late for the higher land in this section. The yield will be reduced if dry weather causes the plants to remain dormant for a time which will prevent maturity and cut the yield below other varieties. It is the heaviest yielder of forage of any sorghum if moisture is available throughout the season.

Early Kalo is a very sweet early variety, makes a good yield of forage, will mature here. Leoti Red has shown up very well in all tests in central and western Nebraska. It makes a high yield of forage and seed and matures early.

Black Amber, the old standby makes a fair yield and matures early.

Grohoma, too late for this territory. A dual purpose variety with semi-sweet stalks which does well farther south but uncertain for this territory.

Hegari, another semi-sweet dual purpose variety, an uncertain yielder. Good some years and poor in others. Too erratic for general planting.

Western Blackhull, makes a good yield of grain and forage, but rather late for this territory.

Pink Kaffir, yields a fair amount of forage and seed.

Greeley, also yields only a fair amount of grain and forage, grain hard to thresh.

Cheyenne or Sweet-Stalk, very popular with farmers in western Nebraska for both grain and forage. Does not yield as much forage as the forage varieties nor as much grain as the grain varieties.

Seed shatters easily and is well liked by sparrows and blackbirds, which often causes quite a loss.

Kalo, a grain variety, yields quite well but requires a longer season than other grain varieties tested.

Early Kalo, an early selection from Kalo. A high yielder of good quality grain, a close second to Sooner Milo in yield over the entire state last year. Does not lodge as much as Sooner.

Wheatland, a combine type, very short and stands erect very late in the season, yields fairly well.

Sooner Milo, made the highest grain yield over the state last year. Stalks inclined to lodge which causes some difficulty in harvesting. This tendency to lodge was quite noticeable in the test, about 10 to 20% of the stalks having fallen.

Day Milo, another short erect type suitable for combining, makes a good grain yield.

In general the sorghums yield more grain and forage than corn under adverse conditions. In the past few years the best grain sorghum varieties have yielded over twice as much as corn in Nebraska.

The feeding value of the grain is about 90% as good as corn.

The best forage varieties have yielded three and four times as much silage as corn, and are 90 to 95% as valuable pound for pound as corn silage. The silo is the place for forage sorghums.

The well known ability of sorghums to remain dormant during dry weather and then revive and grow again when the late rains come makes them very valuable in all sections where rainfall is uncertain.

RAMBLINGS OF THE YOUNG 'UNS

By Lillian Karty

Seen 'n Things: Allan Zikmund, Marilyn Dale, Dick Koupal and Eleanor Wolfe going to turn off Zikmund's windmill, and ending up in Comstock. (I never knew they had a windmill so far away.)

Ina Mae Warford attending the show Saturday night. (Don't ask me if she had a good time!)

Sounds in the night? For no reason at all "It's a dry drizzle." Regarding a skunk who refused to get out of the way of a car..... (as most skunks usually do) "That little fellow sure left his calling card." In front of a dance hall in Comstock.... "I'm going to be a wimp, I'm sprouting angels."

Three cheers for: The novel way that Mae Klein has of shutting people up with a look in the right direction. (Another one of these hypnotists!) The greeting for "Highline panochaar. (You know, "Hi, Gene!")

I wonder: If that certain Senior girl and her boy friend (an underclassman) had a very enjoyable time the other night?

Back in town: Jeanne Towne really missed her ride home Friday night. I wonder if it was Arden's fault? Lloyd Sack and John Rogers have invented a new way to attract attention. That is.... parading around the streets eating lollipops. (That's all you can expect from these freshmen in college.)

Afterthought: Dick Kokes looks viddy, viddy cute when his face gets red!

—Mr. and Mrs. George Watson left Sunday for a trip into the Dakotas. They will return Saturday.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

Donnie McBeth is having trouble with a badly broken elbow, but that doesn't keep him from seeing the funny side of life. He has the arm and his body in a heavy cast. The other day he said: "A boy hit me today, but he hurt himself worse than he hurt me!"

A couple of kids were pulling off a battle royal on the vacant lot west of the Keown building one day last week. A big kid acted as referee and then comforted the boy who got the worst of it. It reminded one of the good old days when fights were an every day occurrence.

When Fredericks wanted a new parachute for his balloon ascension act at North Loup, he came to Ord and had Will Misko build it for him. He tried it out at Popcorn Days, and told Will it worked the best of any parachute he ever had. So now Misko plans to take up parachute making as a sideline.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The sorgum demonstration conducted by County Agent Dale and Ted King on the latter's place last Monday attracted a large crowd of farmers. It was the finest exhibition of its kind ever presented in this part of the state.

The need for planting early varieties was illustrated vividly by the various test plots. It was also shown that a farmer desiring both grain and forage can do better with two separate varieties than with a single sorgum of the combination type. A third factor pointed out was that all sorgum seed needs to be treated for smut, preferably with copper carbonate dust.

Four grain sorgums appeared to be outstanding. These were Sooner Milo, Early Kalo, Kalo and Day Milo. Sooner Milo yields the most grain, and is followed quite closely by Early Kalo. A weakness of these varieties is their tendency to go down. Kalo bears somewhat less grain, but more forage. Day Milo was one of the top yielders in the Valley county tests; it is a very short sorgum that stands up well, and is suitable for combining.

Forage sorgums which looked the best were Leott Red, Early Sumac, and Black Amber. Leott Red is also a fair grain yielder. Early Sumac has sweet stalks, but the kernels are better. Black Amber is the farmers' old favorite, because it will produce stands the easiest of all sorgums.

Among the varieties tested out and found less desirable on account of lateness were Atlas, Hegari, Grohoma, Western Black-hull, Pink Kafir and Wheatland. Grohoma heads may also spoil due to husk tightness. Greeley sorgum falls to thresh clean. Cheyenne yields well, but shatters too easily.

This is one of a series of advertisements for the State of Nebraska appearing in TIME Magazine in the interests of the state's agriculture, labor and industry. The advertisements are being printed in all the daily newspapers of the state. This advertisement is one of the series which will be printed in the state's newspapers.

The Debtless State

* This is "The Sower." The statue crowns the dome of Nebraska's beautiful capitol building at Lincoln, a ten million dollar structure, paid for in cash as built. The Sower is symbolic of Nebraska's pioneer farmers, it represents the sowing of seed that produces NEW WEALTH, the seeds of economy in the midst of plenty. * How well the Sower has done his job is indicated by the fact that Nebraska does not have (never has had) a dollar of bonded debt to be paid in the sweet "by and by." How heavily state debts bear upon others is shown by the 1937 gross bonded indebtedness in 45 states of $3,186,043,409—an enormous grain on business, agriculture and labor in these other states. * FREE FROM DEBT, NEBRASKANS PAY NO INTEREST ON PAST EXTRAVAGANCES AND CARRY NO BURDENS OF THE FUTURE. Taxes are low, local governments are fast getting out of debt. Notwithstanding low taxes, Nebraska's public services are equal to or better than those in other states. Industry can expand in an environment of freedom from special taxes, a great market, abundant agriculture, helpful workers, excellent transportation, cheap fuel and power. Write for information on the "white spot."

Nebraska Offers:
No Income Tax
No Sales Tax
No Other Extra Taxes
No Bonded Debt
More Money for Living

Nebraska's constitution prohibits state bonds. Moreover, 77 of 93 counties have no bonds. Municipal debts are low, and steadily declining.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

September 27, 1928. Mrs. Rudolph Sorensen wrote the Quiz telling of the semi-annual Ord picnic in Bixby Park, Long Beach. A similar statement appeared in the Quiz last week. This has been a regular function for many years. Judge Hollingshead continued his good work of the week before by marrying another couple. They were Miss Hesse Viner and Frank Svoboda. This made five couples in two weeks.

Dr. Henry Norris purchased the practice of Dr. Percy Howes, and was to be found in the rooms formerly occupied by them under the name of Howes and Norris. History repeats itself. Ten years ago a new meat market was starting up in Ord, between the Detwilers and the Co-op oil company. In other words, the Siler building. Will Moon was the proprietor.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Coffin were making a visit to Ord after being away for a long term of years, and it was a great homecoming for them and their Ord friends. Among Ordinates who were attending college in various places the Quiz mentioned Edith Byington, Raymond Byington, Arthur Bailey, Harold Taylor, Richard Flynn, Chauncey Hager, Claude Roe, John Round, Syl Furtak, Elizabeth Caroski, Muriel Weekes, Raymond Abernethy, Kenneth Jensen, Lee Chaffield, John Misko, Richard Mutter, Evelyn Collins, Elma Kosmata, Carl Smith and Irma Parkos.

Ord was to have a farmers' short course, Oct. 8 and 9. The idea was to give ideas for getting every available acre into cultivation and thus produce more to feed the countries at war. How different from the present system!

Another call was made to America to give of their substance to Belgian aid. It was estimated that hundreds would starve unless aid was sent at once.

A win the war campaign was started with the boys, and all boys between the ages of 15 and 18 were required to register for work at home.

The DeWillo company, the first number of the Ord lecture course, was scheduled to show its wares at the Ord opera house Sept. 30. The Methodist Ladies Aid society was sponsoring the course.

October 1, 1908. Schwaner and McMillen put down a new well in school district No. 9, replacing the old one, which had ceased to function. Wells for schools were not so common in those days.

Rev. Joseph Markheimer, who had been pastor of the Midvale United Brethren church for a number of years, was sent by the general conference to work in Oklahoma, and Rev. A. R. Caldwell was to come from Swanton, Nebr., to take his place.

The editors of the Quiz, Journal and Loyalist had all been arrested for riding on free passes. The Quiz stated that none of the gentlemen even had a free pass, but the new law had to be enforced, of course.

F. J. Dworak, Frank Misko and Frank Fryzek were in Grand Island buying scenery for the new Z. C. B. J. hall.

September 30, 1898. This issue of the Ord Quiz was one of the most important of the time, as it contained a list of all the business men of Ord, together with a short biographical sketch of each. In checking over the list about the only ones that look familiar today are the First National Bank and Hotel Ord.

Samuel Fackler went to Omaha and bought a full line of new groceries for his store in Ord.

The Quiz was glad to report that Claude Goodenow was improving from his recent serious illness.

Know This Person?

It was a rather mean trick the Quiz played on its subscribers last week when we slipped in that picture of the little fat, chubby fellow for our old timer. Since then John L. Andersen has become long and angular, and county judge, to boot, and nobody guessed who it was. This week we have another old time picture. Guess who it is, if you dare!

WE ARE NEVER... UNDERSOLD on QUALITY MEAT

Often you see meats advertised at so-called "special prices" but before buying them you should always remember that the customer usually gets about what he pays for in meat. There are many different grades of meat on the market and oftentimes the housewife who has bought a "price special" doesn't discover until she gets the meat on the table and hears the comments of her family that her bargain in meat wasn't such a bargain after all.

We have one constant policy—"we will not be undersold on meat, quality considered." No so-called specials but day-after-day low prices. So, if you want quality meat and want to buy it at a fair price, come here.

John R. Easley.

John Robert Easley was born at Alexandria, Nebr., June 7, 1871 and died at Plattsmouth, Nebr., Sept. 19, 1938 at the age of 67 years, 3 months and 12 days. As a boy he attended the rural schools of Thayer county, later graduating from the Fairfield academy. He continued his education at the Nebraska Wesleyan University, graduating with the class of 1896 and later graduated from the Northwestern University school of pharmacy.

On Oct. 3, 1900 he was married to Miss Mable Beebe, and two children, Elizabeth and John were born to this union.

Mr. Easley was engaged in the drug and jewelry business at Alexandria and Fairmont and later in Sutton, where the family has resided for the past 25 years. His interest in social and civic affairs was extensive, having served on the library and school boards for many years. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist church and during his lifetime had served the church in many official capacities, also was a prominent Masonic worker, serving for a number of years as assistant Grand Custodian and held this office at the time of his death.

Surviving are his wife Mable, a son John of Lincoln, a daughter, Mrs. W. D. Cass of Arcadia, one brother, William M. of Alexandria, a foster sister, Mrs. Frank Smith of Tobias and two grandchildren, Phyllis Ann and Robert Easley of Lincoln.

Funeral services were held in Lincoln Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Dr. A. O. Hinson of Hastings, assisted by Rev. W. H. Wright of Sutton. Three songs were sung by Dr. D. L. Redfern of Lincoln. Burial was in Wyuka cemetery, Lincoln, with Masonic services by members of the Sutton lodge. Burial address was by Grand Custodian Lute M. Savage of Omaha.

Twenty-three visitors, coming from Lincoln, Omaha, Crete, Purdum, Dunning and Burwell were present at the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Congregational churches of the Loup Valley association, which was held in the local church last Wednesday and Thursday. Addresses were greatly enjoyed by a large crowd. They were given by Rev. E. Merle Adams, new superintendent of the Congregational conference, Dr. Bryan Stoffer, president of the Doane college and Rev. Frank Cary, missionary from Japan. A fried chicken picnic was served to a large crowd Thursday in the church basement. An interesting women's meeting was held Thursday afternoon. Rev.

Midnight Fire Damages Tavern in Southeast Ord

Fire of undetermined origin called the Ord fire department out shortly after midnight Friday night to the Kull property in south Ord known as John's Tavern. They found much of the wood on the inside badly charred and the interior damaged by smoke. The fact that the building was closed tight probably prevented it burning to the ground.

The place was occupied by the Vinnedge family of near Taylor, but they had gone home that evening to spend the week-end. The damage while quite extensive, is of such a nature that it can be repaired without tearing down any part of the building. The loss was covered by insurance, and the building will be repaired at once.

Shelby Light, Burwell, was the newly elected moderator for the coming year. The next annual meeting will be held at the Burwell church. The local arrangements were under the supervision of Rev. R. E. Howell.

Vernie Toops received word that Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Toops of Havana, O., are the parents of a baby boy born Tuesday. He has been named William Vernie.

Supt. and Mrs. W. D. Cass returned Thursday after attending the funeral of her father in Lincoln Wednesday.

Miss Myrtle Forbes of Portland, Ore., came last week for a visit with her parents and friends.

Orle Sorenson of San Francisco, Calif., son of Mrs. Mathilda Sorenson, Arcadia, and Miss Rinehart, also of San Francisco, were married Sept. 3, at the San Francisco Methodist church. Orle left and went to California about a year ago where he has been employed and there the young couple will make their home.

While a group of employees of the Roberts Construction Company were returning from work Wednesday evening, something went wrong with the steering device on the truck when they rounded a corner south of Arcadia. Charlie White, who was buried alive a few months ago in a cave-in was thrown out of the truck. He was rushed to Dr. Baird's office where examination showed that the ligaments in his right leg were badly torn and injured.

The first game of the season of football was attended by a large crowd at Broken Bow Friday, between Arcadia and Broken Bow, with a score of 6 to 0 in favor of Broken Bow. Arcadia only has three of the regular starters of last season. Two very essential things seem to be lacking in the local team, weight and experience. The squad is under the general supervision of principal Tuning, assisted by Orbach and Harris. The squad includes: Ackles, Anderson, Babel, Benson, Braden

Christ, Dalby, Dobson, Drake, C. Evans, E. Evans, Gogan, G. Gregory, Harding, Hascell, Hawthorne, Hickman, Hill, Holmes, J. Hughes, Huriburt Jones, Lee, Lybarger, Marsh, Marvel, Masters, Mather, Owens, Paben, Ritz, Rambo, Weddel, C. White, W. White, and Wajda.

Ord Wins Opener From Atkinson

Displaying a brilliant, though somewhat ragged, brand of football all the way, the Ord high team won easily from Atkinson Friday evening on the home grounds. From the start it was evident that the only question was how many points Ord would pile up. Most of the plays clicked with Arlen Zikmund, Charles Kocown and Don Dahlin, going through and around for good gains.

Toward the end of the game Coach Brockman sent in his entire second team with the exception of Zikmund, and they continued to gain almost as well as the first team had. When they scored as the result of a forward pass in the final minutes, the entire third team was sent in, and they battled the visitors on even terms until the whistle blew.

It was the opinion of all who witnessed the game Friday evening that the Chanticleers are headed for another valley championship, the principal danger being that of over-confidence. They will face a real test when they play St. Paul at that city Friday, as the Saints are rated as one of the fast teams this year. They lost to Central City Friday by a score of 13 to 7.

Zikmund, a last season's line-man playing in the backfield for the first time, was the leading ground gainer for Ord Friday evening, and is a powerful line plunger, with plenty of speed on the long runs. With the polish of a few more games he should make Ord fans forget in former years.

Perhaps the most astonishing fact of the Friday game was the unusual attendance at an opening game. Cars began to arrive as early as 7:00 p. m., and by the time the game began 125 of them had driven in and were parked around the south and west sides of the playing field. In addition a large number were left in the parking space across the creek to the east.

As they did last year, the members of the American Legion policed the grounds and looked after the selling of tickets. They reported practically no attempts to get in without paying. The band, under the direction of Dean Duncan, played a number of selections during the game, and also staged a parade on the grounds between halves.

How Neighbor Teams Fared In Football

North Loup pulled somewhat of surprise by defeating the much touted Wolbach team by a score of 12 to 6 Friday afternoon. Burwell, with a late start and a new coach, went down to defeat at Comstock 20 to 0. Broken Bow defeated Arcadia in what appears to have been a tight game, by a score of 5 to 0. Central City handed St. Paul a 13 to 7 defeat. The Kearney game was Kearney 6, Lexington 0. Ravenna defeated Shelton 32 to 6. Litchfield won an 8 to 7 victory over Mason City. Bassett defeated Ewing 7 to 0. A number of teams in this section did not see action last week-end.

Fullerton May Play the Ord Chanticleers

Negotiations for a home-and-home football contract with Fullerton high school, the first game to be played in Ord on Oct. 20 this year and the next game in Fullerton in 1939 are under way. The Quiz is informed by Ord school officials. Ord has an open date that week as has Fullerton. A contract for relations in basketball between the two schools also is being considered.

Fullerton is said to have an excellent football team, having defeated David City last Friday. Addition of this team to the 1938 schedule would give Ord six home games.

Apostles Figured Tough Foes for Ord

A tough test for Coach Helmut Brockman's lusty Chanticleer gridmen will be provided Friday afternoon when they meet St. Paul on the Apostles' field. St. Paul games are always hard-fought ones and this year will be no exception. Since the "modern" series of games between Ord and St. Paul began in 1925, the two teams have tied 0 to 0 twice, the Apostles have won six games and Ord has won five. Friday's game gives the Chanticleers a chance to tie up the series.

Scores of Ord-St. Paul games by years, according to figures compiled by Ralph Norman, follow:

1925—Ord, 47; St. Paul, 0.
1926—Ord, 19; St. Paul, 0.
1927—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 6.
1928—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 37.
1929—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 7.
1930—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 19.
1931—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 0.
1932—Ord, 13; St. Paul, 6.
1933—Ord, 7; St. Paul, 12.
1934—Ord, 7; St. Paul, 12.
1935—Ord, 19; St. Paul, 0.
1936—Ord, 0; St. Paul, 0.
1937—Ord, 19; St. Paul, 0.

Colwell was coach here in 1925, Rex Reed was mentor the next three years, Joe Krefel reigned for two years, Cecil Molzen served three years and then Brockman took over in 1934. In the first year of Brockman's term as coach his team was defeated by St. Paul but since then Ord has tied once and won two games, both by convincing scores.

The Apostles lost by one touchdown last Friday to the best team Central City has had in years and they are reported to be "pointing" for the Ordites, their traditional rivals in Loup Valley play.

A big crowd of Ord fans will accompany the Chanticleers to St. Paul Friday.

Night Blooming Cereus Blooms in Ord

The plant shown above is one of nature's greatest curiosities. It has odd shaped leaves which grow one from another, and when it takes a notion to bloom, the stem bearing the flower grows out from the edge of a leaf. The specimen shown above belongs to the Roy Whiting's. They have owned it for five years, and it finally took a notion to bloom last night. The blossoms began opening in the evening, and were five or six inches across when fully developed. They remained lovely all night, and then closed up about eight o'clock this morning. Those who saw the blossoms say that they are worth waiting five years to see.

Nearly one thousand pounds of popcorn were popped and given away. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Eislis presided at the popper. There were not as many exhibits in the woman's department as some years but the articles were of excellent quality. Selma Robbins received first prize on quilts and Mrs. Myra Hutchins second; Reatha Bridge, second on embroidered quilt; Mrs. Belle Cruzan first and Mrs. Leah Van Horn second on pieced quilts; applied quilts, Mrs. C.
