PASSING THE BUCK.

Do you remember when you were a little kid in school and played a game called "Tag"? Just one of those simple games in which the juvenile mind delights, and in which one youngster had to chase around until he caught another one, and when he did, he chortled that well known remark, "You're it!"

This trait of character has been inherent in the human mind ever since Adam tried to place the blame on Eve, and since Cain asked the Lord, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

In pioneering days in any country, this trait is held in abeyance, for on the frontier a man must stand on his own feet, take his successes as a matter of course and his defeats as something that cannot be avoided.

With the coming of civilization and its more complicated ways of living, the tendency to shift the responsibility becomes more noticeable. The village trustees begin to show a tendency to put the blame on some one else.

In county government it is not so easy to cover up, because the officials are closer home, are personally known to their constituents and are usually more closely watched.

For example, the alarming increase in the national debt is attributed to a number of sources. Naturally the republicans blame it on the democrats, who in turn blame it on economic conditions.

In times such as we have had to face for the past decade, there is more of a tendency than ever to put the blame on some one else, or at least to disclaim any responsibility of our own.

There are so many things wrong with the country for which people are blamed. It is so much easier to claim we know nothing of the proposition than it is to tell the truth and implicate ourselves, or some one who might retaliate.

This Pass the Buck spirit is not confined to governmental affairs alone. We find it cropping out in the church, the lodge, the school, and in every phase of our social life.

NEW CITIZENS' DAY.

line has been more sharply drawn the advantages of citizenship are more easily seen.

The plan to honor our new citizens is a good one. Now that they have done their part, it is fitting that we show them that this move in the right direction is appreciated.

However, there is another class of our citizenry to whom fully as much credit is due. We have with us that group of persons who have become citizens by virtue of living in our land for the period of 21 years, whereas the time required for those of foreign birth is but 5 years.

Dear Quiz: We arrived here at about 3 a. m., yesterday, May 31st, and the temperature was 90 that early and higher during most of the day.

We left Ord a few moments before six Tuesday morning, stopping first at the Frank Gross ranch for a little chat with Mr. Gross. Found him well and eating breakfast. I never saw the sandhills looking better. Frank has 512 head of 2-year old white faced steers and those I saw look fine.

When Eugene was at Niobrara recently he was told that he should drive over to Santee and see the Devils Nest state park, and rather regretted not doing so.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT! Short Shavings

Short Shavings.

Bert Sayre told Frank Schudel that a man told him one time that in years when there were no wild plums, that year there would be a good grain crop, and when there would be no grain crop, there would be a good wild plum crop.

Bert said he watched that rule for several years and it turned out to be true those years, and also the last few years when everything else seemingly failed, we had a good wild plum crop.

This year there will be no wild plums, so following that rule we'll have a grain crop. Bankers take notice, I'd like to borrow a little money until after harvest.

Fidelio Davis took his shears out to the barn to clip the wings of a few old hens that were hopping into the garden. Completing the task he laid the shears on the bumper of his car and deposited the hens in their proper place.

That afternoon he and his wife drove down town and upon his arrival there, Claud Thomas noticed the shears still lying on the bumper.

Charley Krewald goes fishing frequently in the creek back of his home and some time ago he caught one of his feet. Charley, being a kindly natured fellow, carefully unhooked Mr. Missingclaw Turtle and returned him to the pond.

Since that first time Charley has caught and turned loose that same turtle four times.

Hank Harris, living north of Scotia, has three baby mules and every one of them is a molly mule.

Rev. George B. Shaw, who years ago was minister of the S. D. B. church in N. L., wrote a letter for the S. D. B. paper and I'll quote the following paragraph from it.

"I doubt if Pres. Bond knows there is something in the Bible about young ladies smoking cigarettes. He will find it in Genesis 4:64. Use King James version."

This is Genesis 24:64, direct from St. James Bible, "And Rebekah lifted up her eyes, and when she saw Isaac, she lighted off a camel."

Mrs. Alfred Christensen has a box of wrens near her window where she can watch them. She says the wrens are very domestic with their housekeeping and family raising.

She says they tear everything out of the house and sputter and quarrel over the task something fearful. Of course they would if Old Man Wren tried to help, or if he didn't try to help either.

The question arose at the rehearsal of the Children's Day exercise at the S. D. B. church as to which way a scroll should be unrolled.

getting our keys and found them just getting breakfast.

We found everything at camp in ship shape just as we left it last September. Most of the day was used in getting things organized.

The cottage had to be moved after being opened up. We covered the porches with red rosin paper last fall and very little dust got in. The yard is a mass of blue grass growing up and gone to seed and Oscar is coming this afternoon with his scythe to mow it off.

Almost everyone in the neighborhood has been having the flu and some of them are not very well yet. There is only one missing since we went home last fall. Mrs. Luther, mother of Ray and Clarence Luther, passed away in the winter. A month later the Clarence Luther residence burned and they lost all their personal belongings also.

We are the only ones in camp. Rumor is that the Mackowsky's are to be here soon. With the weather so nice here, I shall expect to see the Penners driving in soon. Everything looks fine around their place. I walked up to inspect the Michalek place, formerly the Laklin property and everything seems fine there, in fact not a thing in camp has been disturbed. I forgot, last fall, and left light bulbs in the sockets in the outdoors lights and when I switched on the lights.

Among the last things we did last year was the installing of a Delco light plant and I was wondering whether it would run this spring after being left for so many months. New batteries were shipped up and we connected them up yesterday afternoon, pushed the switch and bingo, she went right off the first thing without a bit of trouble and Ray said, "Well, that is some lighting system."

Well I guess this will do for this time. I am going to try to get some pictures to illustrate my stories with soon. I am glad to be here and shall enjoy it but I would enjoy it lots better if those five little grandchildren that I am used to seeing every day, were here also. H. D. Leggett.

and read. One group said it should be held perpendicular in front of the eyes, rolling and unrolling it up and down and the other said it should be rolled laterally, that is crossways.

As yet we are not sure, in as much of us live in the days of scroll reading, but the dictionary showed a picture as if the lateral reading was proper.

Art Babcock, upon seeing me trying to feed an especially obstreperous calf was reminded first of the story of the patient and the pious preacher who was going to show the young man how to feed the calf.

We all know that old yarn, and then Art was reminded of a man he knew who in his younger days was far from being the Heavenly speaking man that he might have been. At middle age he was converted and took up the ministry as a profession.

It happened that this man and his son John were confronted with the task one day of setting up a stove. They had a peck of trouble, the stove pipe not fitting as it generally does not do, and it tumbling about on the floor, leaving nice little daubs of soot hither and yon.

After a protracted effort, and this newly ordained minister and his son had just about completed the task, some little thing broke loose again and down came the stove pipe, throwing soot all over the two men.

"Damn it," the son John said, having gone about the limit of his endurance.

His father stopped, placed his hands on his hips and looked at the boy. After a minute he said, "Thank you, my lad, thank you."

Between the telephone companies of the two towns of N. L. and Ord there still seems to be a state of war. I cast no opinion whatever as to which company is the most to blame, or which is at fault in any way, but I do say that it is and the public will suffer most in the end.

This seems to be the ruckus now. The printer of the N. L. directory went to Ord the other day to get a list of the Ord telephone numbers and the company in Ord would not give them and said their book and numbers were copyrighted and the N. L. printer had no right to print them. Just why those numbers would not be given I did not find out but I was informed that in return the N. L. exchange will not give the Ord people their numbers.

This probably will not worry the Ord (or Central) telephone company materially, for they did not print the N. L. numbers last year.

It is thought and alleged by some people that the upshot and the origin of this nice little squabble is the fact that the Ord telephone company wants to charge toll between the towns and the N. L. company, by some arrangement or another, is able to keep them from it.

I, speaking the statements of a number of people of both Ord and N. L., sincerely hope both sets of numbers will be printed in both books and peace again will reign.

BACK FORTY

Straw-mulched potato patches are seen quite commonly this spring. Frank Knapp and Charles Stiehler have each planted an acreage under straw on the latter's place east of town. Archie Mason has put in a mulched patch on his farm. A few straw-covered potato rows are growing in Oscar Goff's suburban garden. There are also a number of others.

Perhaps the best plan is that of Frank Hlavinka, who is using both methods. By raising both mulched and cultivated patches, he is more nearly assured of getting some potatoes to eat.

A mulched patch will outyield a cultivated patch 3 years out of 5. Applying straw is less work than cultivating if the straw stack is handy. The straw keeps down the weeds, and leaves the land in better condition for the next crop. Soil under straw retains over twice as much rainfall and stays several degrees cooler than cultivated ground.

The straw mulch may be applied at planting time, or after the potatoes are up. Straw makes a better mulch than paper or other commercial products. Its use results in potatoes that are freer from disease, can be used for seed, and will command a higher market for table use.

Straw mulching is sometimes practiced with tomatoes. Its use around other crops is generally not recommended.

Straw will not discourage potato bugs. These pests are abundant in almost every field, and should be sprayed against with arsenate of lead.

Valleyside Progressives. The Valley Slide Progressives 4-H club held their first meeting at the home of their leader Mrs. Clair Clement May 25. After the business meeting the next lesson "Planning the 4-H Girls Summer Wardrobe," was assigned and discussed.

Following the meeting the hostess served a delicious lunch of ice-cream, cake and pink lemonade. There are eight members enrolled. The next meeting will be held at the home of Kathleen Clement on June 8. Roberta Cook, News reporter.

Senator Harrison decides to risk a battle with the President over revision of taxes. President still hopes to prevent action. Sooner or later congress will take profits out of war. Opinion in Washington is that President could force his own renomination, but that he could not be reelected.

WASHINGTON.—President Roosevelt is on the defensive, with congress carrying the ball for tax revision, that will encourage business. Capitol Hill is following Pat Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, who has long favored adjusting taxes in the hope of regaining prosperity, and has decided to risk a battle with the White House if necessary.

The lines are drawn. The President is still hoping to prevent action. A hasty glance over recent references to taxation by "Dear Alben" Barkley will show the real views of the White House. Barkley consults the White House before salting his soup. No congressman thinks Barkley was talking out of turn when he predicted mere continuance of the nuisance taxes plus freezing the social security taxes.

The clash between Harrison and Barkley excites the politically minded, which means all of congress, because Roosevelt's strength thrown to Barkley made him Democratic leader of the senate, by a majority of one, over Harrison.

John W. Hanes, undersecretary of the treasury, is applauding Harrison whenever he thinks Corcoran and Cohen are looking the other way. Henry Morgenthau approves Harrison's course also, but his deep loyalty to Roosevelt prevents open enthusiasm.

The big question mark is whether Roosevelt will risk vetoing a pro-business tax bill which will scrap some of his dearest brain children, especially the remnant remaining of the tax on undistributed earnings. Much is involved, including the possibility of a rift between the President and Harry Hopkins. Rumors are rife that Hopkins expressed considerable disappointment over the early demise of the appeasement program in his recent talk with the President and Justice William O. Douglas.

Surprise That Harrison Should Become So Militant

Hopkins is just as sore as the President over the defiant stand taken by the United States Chamber of Commerce, but he does not want the President to kick all big business in the fact just because neither likes the resolutions adopted by the chamber. The chamber, Hopkins is said to have urged on the President, is not really the voice of all business—not more than a modicum of it, as a matter of fact. But Hopkins faced an angry and much-quoted President.

The left-wingers had been working up Mr. Roosevelt's ire with considerable adroitness, using the chamber's unfortunate language as salt on his wounds, and taking advantage of the absence of Dr. Hopkins' pacifying liniment.

Development of the situation came as a surprise to most of Washington. Everyone knew that the President did not want any serious tax revision, and knew why he did not want it. The President was eager to retain that penalty on undistributed corporation earnings. He had been advised that there was not a chance of retaining it if it ever reached a vote.

The surprise was that Senator Harrison should become so militant. Not because his ideas about tax revision to encourage business were secret, but because it was thought he had little desire to make a hopeless fight against the President. Also that he believed the President eventually would be forced to yield in order to produce sufficiently better business conditions to make Democratic success possible in 1940.

Sooner or Later Congress Will Take Profit Out of War

It is very difficult to run counter to the contention that the profit should be taken out of war. For that reason it is very likely that, perhaps not at this session of congress, but sooner or later, congress will pass some such legislation as that proposed by Sen. Josh Lee, or by Sen. Homer T. Bone.

The country has been thoroughly sold on the idea that a group of wicked international munitions makers are always stirring up trouble and provoking war in order to make profits. There is just enough proof of the contention to make it politically dangerous to go against it.

The difficulty, as practical army and navy men see it, is that in order to prevent someone from making a profit the country may, to just that extent, curtail its own power to make war. To put it another way, taking the profit out of war may succeed, but the effectiveness of the country in war may be impaired sufficiently by the restrictions and taxation involved so that the war may drag on for twice as long as it otherwise would.

This is on the old patriotic assumption, of course, that eventually the United States would win any war in which it was engaged. It does not contemplate the other possibility—that the United States by this impairment of its fighting effectiveness might lose the war. It would Remove a Very Potent Cause for War

Actually, when war comes, no matter whether it is brought about by people anxious to make a profit or by some causes which even the munition makers could not control, there will be an overwhelming desire to take advantage of every ounce of effectiveness possible. It will be desired—and almost compulsory—that every man, woman and child shall do his or her utmost to help win the war.

There would be scant consideration given, for example, to any proposal to hold down the number of hours men or women might work in munition works, if our army or navy were in a life-and-death struggle which might depend on an adequate supply of ammunition. As were the French, for example, during the Verdun fighting.

The danger of the proposal is not what would be the temper of the people after war came, but that the prospect of taxing all the profits which might be made might discourage adequate preparation for war supplies, by private investors, before the war came.

Believed President Cannot Win if He's Renominated

A majority of Democrats in Washington, according to a canvass made by the astute political expert of the Washington Star, G. Gould Lincoln, believe that President Roosevelt can force his own renomination if he chooses, but a considerable number believe that he can not be elected if renominated.

Those who believe that he can force his own renomination, according to Mr. Lincoln include both New Dealers and conservatives. But as to whether he can be elected if renominated the line of cleavage is clear. Those who are New Dealers believe Mr. Roosevelt can break the anti-third term tradition. Those who are conservatives believe almost universally that he could not be elected.

In fact many of them, still according to Mr. Lincoln, are talking about setting up a third party, with old line Democrats, as candidates and an old line Democratic platform in the event that Mr. Roosevelt does force his own renomination.

This writer believes that Mr. Lincoln's reporting is excellent—that it gives a perfect picture of the situation as it is at present. But this writer differs as to the projection of the present situation. Actually it seems most unlikely—unless there is some change not now visible on the horizon—that Mr. Roosevelt will be able to force his own renomination.

Take the one element of the picture that practically all of the conservatives believe that Roosevelt would fail of election if he did win the nomination. And then ponder a moment on the recent activities of the Democrats on Capitol Hill. Even more important, ponder on the way many of the Democratic senators and representatives are talking.

Find Many Democrats Would Prefer Another Candidate

The point is that a great many Democratic senators and representatives would prefer some other Democrat than Roosevelt for the four years beginning in January, 1941. In fact they would prefer a Democrat who agreed more nearly with Vice President John Nance Garner, or with Sen. Harry Flood Byrd. But they would much rather have Roosevelt continued in the White House than for a Republican to take his place.

This is positively not true of all of the Democrats on Capitol Hill, but it is true of quite a sprinkling.

Now suppose the conviction spreads among this group that Roosevelt might win the nomination, but would not be elected if he did. The inevitable result would be that every one of this particular category of Democratic leaders would be very anxious to have Mr. Roosevelt defeated for the nomination.

Roosevelt's chief strength at the moment, so far as getting the nomination is concerned, is the belief of so many Democrats that if he were defeated for the nomination, and a conservative Democrat named, that the New Dealers would bolt, thus throwing the election almost surely to the Republicans.

But this fear would be completely offset if the conviction should grow that the nomination of Roosevelt himself would not result in the continuance of the spoils of office in the hands of the Democrats.

The picture would then be that every conservative Democrat leader would be fighting to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for renomination with the thought that if the Democrats are going to lose anyway, it would be better to leave control of the organization in the hands of the conservatives. But—much more important in that is the serious doubt that there would be a third party movement of New Dealers if a conservative should be named. In fact there is as much bluffing all round the board as though the game were poker and not politics.

In 1901, according to research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, the United States census bureau reported that the greatest sheep breeding establishment in the world was located at Taylor's ranch, near Abbott, about 20 miles east of Ravenna.

Safety for those at Sea was the Foundation of Radio

EARLY experimenters in radio were prompted chiefly by the desire for communication with ships at sea. When international radio communication was perfected the marine services which gave it birth were not impaired. On the contrary they progressed constantly through the additional discoveries of research workers.

From its very beginning the Radio Corporation of America has been intimately identified with radio research. The men who organized this company were fully aware that important as radio was to mariners, its possibilities for public service could be vastly extended.

The constant and extensive research which RCA Laboratories have conducted for nearly 20 years has been largely responsible for such accomplishments in radio as network broadcasts, electrically tuned radios for the home, Victor Higher Fidelity phonograph records, Photophone sound for motion picture producers and theatres. This research is also bringing closer the general availability of television.

Talk by John Haskell

John R. Haskell was the guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Ord Cosmopolitan club at the City Cafe. As is well known, Mr. Haskell is a man of large experience in the raising of pigeons of all breeds, and he gave a most interesting talk on the various types of birds and their characteristics.

He spoke especially of that quality in the homing pigeon which enables it to find its way home under most difficult conditions, a fact that the greatest scientists have been unable to explain. He talked also of the tumbler, who have a ludicrous habit of falling over backward. Following his talk Clarence Cuckler, Hastings merchant, was introduced. He attended as the guest of his brothers, Harold and Virgil.

John P. Misko, president, and Hilding Pearson, secretary, of the Ord club were absent, and Dr. F. L. Blessing acted as president for the evening. The officers were in Grand Island attending the district meeting of Cosmopolitan clubs being held there Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. For this reason the attendance was somewhat less than usual.

Jensen Shows Samples of Corn from Minnesota

J. B. Jensen, who visited in Ord last week after an absence of 29 years, brought with him samples of corn raised at Jackson, Minn., which he showed to a number of people here. When he left he gave a couple of ears to the Quiz office, and they can be seen here by any one who is interested.

They are Golden Jewel, a 4-II club corn, and Longfellow, an early maturing yellow corn with white top. Both samples are fully matured and decidedly firm, much more so than most corn raised in Nebraska. Mr. Jensen believes the smaller varieties will produce more corn under drouth conditions.

Young People Entertain. Last Sunday evening the Y. P. S. of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a fellowship supper before the regular 7 o'clock meeting. Capron Coe and Cornelius Diamond had charge of the program which was conducted "Professor Quiz" style. Three young people were welcomed into the society as new members: Patricia, Joyce and Philip Wagner who have lived in Hastings and have been active in the Presbyterian church there.

Delma Palmatier Wed to Leonard Manasil

In a pretty setting of spring flowers the marriage of Miss Delma Palmatier, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Palmatier of Ord, and Leonard Manasil, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Manasil of Burwell, was solemnized at 9 a. m., Thursday, June 1, at a nuptial high mass at Ord, with Rev. M. A. Lawler officiating. Schubert's "Ave Maria" was sung by Mrs. William F. Manasil and Miss Virginia Beck played the accompaniment. The bride appeared in a powder blue ensemble with white accessories, and wore a shoulder corsage of gardenias. She carried a pearl rosary. Miss Betty Manasil, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor, and wore an ensemble of ashes of roses with white accessories. Miss Manasil wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations. She carried a crystal rosary. William F. Manasil brother of the groom, was best man. After a short wedding trip the bride and groom will reside at Kearney, where Mr. Manasil is a salesman for the United States Rubber company.

Hemming Hautala & Ailie Visit Ord and Entertain

Hemming Hautala and daughter Ailie arrived in Ord at 10 p. m. Friday to pay a short visit to their many friends here. Prof. Hautala was music instructor in Ord some ten years ago, and had a very pleasant time visiting with the youngsters who took instruction under him at that time.

He runs a music store at Chisholm, Minn., and also has charge of two bands. His son Ivar, whom many will recall as the fourth best cornetist in the United States when in Ord, runs a music store at Hibbing, Minn. The daughter, Ailie just completed her school year at Alcester, S. D., where she teaches music.

Saturday an informal program of music was put on in the evening over the Auble Bros. public address system. Miss Lillian Karty opened the program by singing a number of selections. Miss Hautala played a number of pieces on the cornet to the great enjoyment of the large crowd that congregated outside, at times nearly blocking the street to the west. Miss Virginia Sack closed the program with several popular songs.

Although made up almost on the spur of the moment, the entire program was one of the best put on in Ord for some time, and was highly appreciated by those who heard it. The Hautalas remained in Ord until Monday evening, when they left for home, assuring their friends that they would return for another visit at some future time.

Priscilla Flagg, Reporter

Cornfed Pig Club.

The members of the Cornfed Pig club met in regular session Saturday night at the county agent's office. Because of the rush of farm work, only five members were present. Lessons 3 to 10 were discussed at this meeting. The next time lessons 11 and 12 will come up for discussion. The meeting will be held July 3. The members plan to go to the district judging day, which will be June 27 at Broken Bow.—Ted Krason, reporter.

Nimble Finger Club.

The Riverdale Nimble Finger club held their third meeting June 1 at the home of their leader, Mrs. Alfred Christensen. The girls discussed patterns and material suitable for undergarments. They plan to start on their new undergarments this week. A demonstration on first aid was given by Geraldine Gowen. The members and the leader discussed first aid in the home at this meeting. The next meeting will be June 8.—Olive Marie Brown, news reporter.

—On Thursday of last week Lyle Flagg entertained sixteen friends at a lawn party.

Nebraska Leads Again

Nebraska, known everywhere for its social and economic leadership, became the testing ground one year ago for an experiment unique in the history of American industry—the self-regulatory program of the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee.

Organized to shut off the beer supply from outlets operating against the public welfare and to the detriment of the large majority of law-abiding retailers, our program won the instant approval of state, county and municipal officials, community leaders and the public press.

No longer an experiment but a proved success, thanks to the cooperation and efficiency of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission, this plan for self-regulation has been used as the model for other state self-regulatory programs under the sponsorship of the United Brewers Industrial Foundation. Similar programs are now functioning in Kansas, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina and Maine. The Foundation plans to extend this work gradually, as facilities permit, throughout the country.

The announcement of our program on June 5, 1938, was widely hailed in Nebraska as our definite pledge to work shoulder-to-shoulder with law-enforcement authorities on behalf of the public interest.

Now, as our second year begins, we renew our pledge to assist the forces of law and order in eliminating anti-social conditions surrounding the sale of beer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Massey and daughter, Mrs. Knud Peterson returned home Friday evening after visiting a cousin of Mr. Massey's in Sloan, Ia., who celebrated his 80th birthday last Monday. They also visited relatives in Decatur and Rosalie on the return trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pulliam and family left Monday for Stratford, Ia., where Mr. Pulliam has had employment for the past several weeks. They plan to make their home in Iowa during the summer while Mr. Pulliam is working on the highway.

While W. G. Hall was enjoying a motor boat ride on the lake last week he had the misfortune of losing a very expensive pair of glasses when the boat made a sharp curve.

A small twister did considerable damage in the northwest part of town Thursday afternoon. A large brooder house on the Loren Jurgensen place was blown over four times and almost completely destroyed. Twenty two baby chicks which were two weeks old were killed. A large barn on the Fr. Meyers farm was also struck by the same little tornado and was moved a few feet off the foundation. A hard rain followed the windstorm.

Mrs. Ralph Brownell and Chas. Green drove to Lincoln Saturday and Bob Brownell, who has been attending the University of Nebraska, returned to Burwell with them for the summer vacation.

Last week Cap Nelson was offering the Ota Bailey car for sale at a bargain price. This car was the finest in Ord when it was new in 1926, and cost $2,665.00, which was some price for a car, even in those days. Cap said he would gladly sell it for one per cent of the original cost, or $26.65. Later John Rogers started tearing it down with the idea of rebuilding it into a truck. If people got out of date as fast as cars do, a lot of Ord people would be laid on the shelf.

A certain young man of Ord is making quite a name for himself for his ability to imitate the conversation of Donald Duck, the well-known movie actor. It is said that he will be called upon to start his act this week as a special feature of Old Rooster Days.

By the way, is there any special significance in the fact that Old Rooster Days immediately precede pioneer week?

Now that Mrs. Keep has gone out of the cafe business, there is something that should be told. In all the years that she has been in business she has made it a point to see that nobody had to go hungry just because of the lack of funds. This is especially true in the case of many a youngster who came to the kitchen door with a healthy appetite. Not a single one was ever turned away without of the fasts that makes the leaving of the Keeps a matter of regret to all who knew them.

Moudry-Pecinovsky.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Ord Catholic church at 7 a. m. Tuesday, June 6, when Miss Emma Marie Moudry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Moudry, became the bride of John Raymond Pecinovsky of Protivin, Ia.

The bride wore a beautiful white heavy crepe back satin dress with long train. Her veil was long with wide Chantilly lace, which hung in two wide scallops at the bottom. The veil was carried by her niece, Miss Thelma Moudry, who was dressed in rose and blue taffeta, and her nephew, Adrian Kluna, who wore a dark blue suit.

The bride's attendants were Miss Mildred Mae Moudry, sister of the bride, Miss Wilma Kluna, niece of the bride, and Miss Mildred Bouška of Emmetsburg, Ia. They were dressed in peach color chiffon gowns and each had a peach headband in her hair. The groom's attendants were Cyril Bouška of Protivin, Ia., Frank Drudik of Comstock, and Ign. Fencel of Cresco, Ia.

A twelve o'clock dinner was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents. In the evening the couple gave a dance at the Ord Bohemian hall to their many friends. The beautiful wedding cake with peach and white decorations and with a miniature bride and groom was baked by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna Moudry, of Protivin, Ia.

The bride is well known in this community, as she has been dental assistant to Dr. F. L. Blessing for many years. The young couple will make their home in Lawler, Ia., where the groom is in business. This summer they plan to attend the San Francisco exposition on their wedding trip.

Surprise Shower.

A group of friends met at the Reuben Cook home Thursday afternoon for a surprise shower. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married some time ago, but the marriage was announced recently. Those attending were Mrs. Alvin Travis, Mrs. Stanley Gross, Mrs. E. O. Hackel, Mrs. Ed Verstraete, Misses Beulah and Lila Parker, Mrs. Rollin Marks, Mrs. Irving King, Mrs. Harry Poth and children, Mrs. Emil Kokes and Mrs. E. P. Cook. May lovely presents were received.

Married November 25.

Announcement was made recently of the marriage last Nov. 25 of Miss Virginia Craig, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Craig, and Glen Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Watts. They were married on the above date at Minden. Both young people are well known in the community north of Ord in which they live, and their friends are wishing them happiness.

DeHart-Lofflin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. DeHart of Ord announce the marriage of their daughter, Virginia Mae, to W. Henry Lofflin of Lincoln, Neb., son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Lofflin, County Club Place St. Joseph, Mo. The couple were married Wednesday, May 31, at 2 p. m., by Rev. J. F. Webb, at the Robert E. Lee hotel in Kansas City. The bride wore a dress of blue chiffon, accented by floral corsage of white gladiolas, blue delphiniums and pink roses. They left Saturday morning for a month's tour of the west coast after which they will return to Lincoln where Mr. Lofflin has been employed as luggage buyer for Rudge and Guenzel company.

Jolly Sisters.

The Jolly Sisters met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. A. Moser. Due to various causes, three of the members were unable to attend.

Radio Bridge.

Mrs. F. A. Barla was hostess to the Tuesday evening meeting of the Radio Bridge club at the Onyx. Guests were Mrs. C. R. Wareham, Miss Eunice Chase and Mrs. Tamar Round. The meetings of the club will be held regularly at the Onyx every two weeks.

Tuesday Pinochle.

The Tuesday Afternoon Pinochle club met yesterday with Mrs. Ben Janssen. Mrs. J. L. Langer was a guest. High score was held by Mrs. Joe Gregory, and second high by Mrs. J. L. Langer.

Your meeting may be included - Telephone 30

The Jolly Sisters are meeting today with Mrs. D. A. Moser. The Everybusy club meets tomorrow with Mrs. Ernest Horner. A new member will be selected to take the place of Mrs. J. S. Burrows, who recently moved away.

The H. O. A. club is meeting Friday afternoon for a picnic at Bus-sell park.

4-County Medical Group Met in Ord Tuesday Eve

The meeting of the 4-county medical society was held in Ord Tuesday night at the Thorne Cafe. The speaker of the evening was Dr. F. L. Simons, an associate of Dr. Albert Tyler of Omaha, x-ray specialist. His talk was on the use of x-ray in the treatment of cancer, and he illustrated it with colored motion pictures. He also showed a travelogue of colored slides showing points of interest from coast to coast, for the entertainment of the ladies.

Present from out of town were: Dr. and Mrs. Brannen from Greeley, Dr. and Mrs. Holm from Wolbach, Dr. and Mrs. Cram from Burwell, and Dr. and Mrs. Hemphill from North Loup. From Ord were Drs. Miller, Kruml, Barla and Round and their wives.

Ord Hospital Notes.

Mrs. Anton Beran underwent a major operation Friday.

Mrs. L. L. Key of Burwell is again a patient in the hospital.

Mrs. Earl Blessing was able to be taken home Monday.

Frank Vala is a medical patient in the hospital.

Shelterbelt Trees Planted Near Ord Will Stop a Lot of Wind

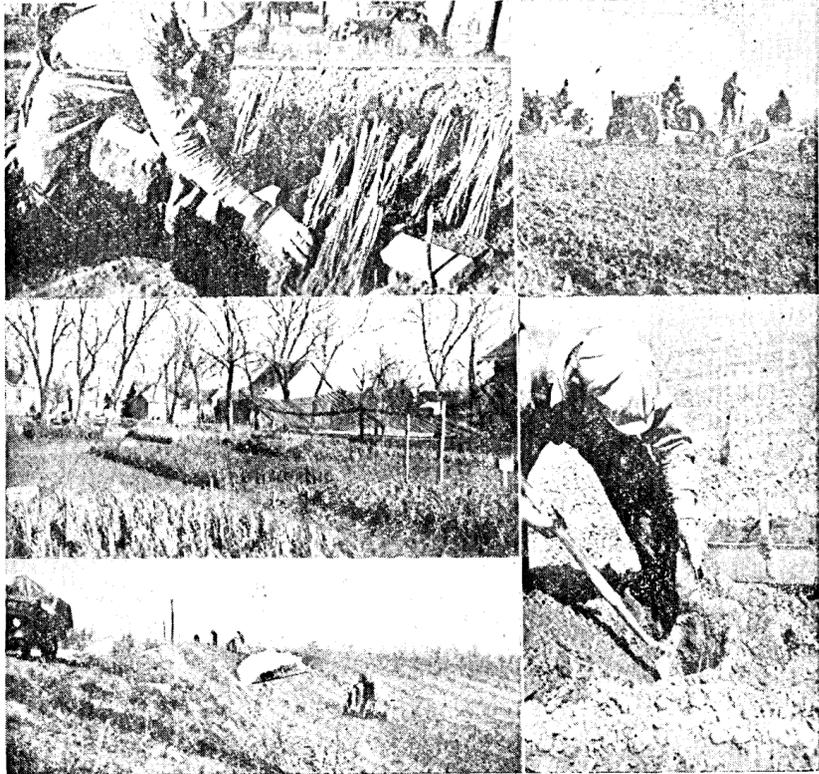

Figure it out. Sixty two miles of shelterbelt trees planted in Valley, Loup, Garfield and Greeley counties and that part of Custer county around Sargent. Say they grew to a height of thirty feet in the next ten years. Multiply by twenty, which represents the distance out that tree protection extends. You get approximately 36 rods. In a mile that would be 72 acres.

And for 62 miles it represents 4,464 acres for the protection on one side of the belt only. There are many cases in which farms on each side of the belt derive protection. Perhaps you think that is a little optimistic. But consider that between 60% and 70% of the trees survive as they have in the past four years of planting, and it is still a pretty good acreage.

But if you are a mathematics shark, work on the cords of fire wood, amount of fence posts, feet of lumber, and intangible advantages, such as stock protection, recreational values, and game improvement conditions that a shelterbelt brings.

Another good way to figure values is to get out on a load of hay, and try to unload it for the stock when it is ten below zero and the wind blowing a stiff gale. It may then be too cold to figure much, but the odds are that it would be much easier to figure in just a quarter of a mile of those 62 miles of trees.

Another value, not quite so apparent, but which has close to home, is the fact that the planting program employed five crews of men, one crew of which is located in Ord, for the past 2½ months, and will continue to operate four crews part of the summer. This means, besides the WPA payroll, purchases of gas, repairs, and miscellaneous necessities from local merchants.

The pictures: left, top to bottom, (1) heeling-in planting stock; (2) a view of the heeling-in bed where trees were stored three blocks west of the high school; (3) the planting crew finishes a row on the John Bremer belt in Miria Valley. Ordinarily each man takes one of the ten rows to plant. (4) Walt Fuss and Dutch Clement hitch their tractors together to pull the subsoiler on the Clement strip. (5) Planting a tree.

Summer Music Classes Will Start Next Week

Summer school music classes will start Monday, June 12, at the high school building, and will be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until further notice. This summer course is free and is designed to assist music students who are interested in further musical study during the summer months. If attendance justifies this summer program will be in force for the next few weeks.

Monday at 8:30 a. m. is for advanced members playing in the city band. At 10 a. m. the junior band, for all members of both junior and senior bands. Tuesday at 8:30 a. m. will be devoted to the members of the stringed section of the orchestra only. At 10 a. m. Tuesday, the orchestra stringed group and elementary violin students.

Wednesday at 9 a. m. will be the mixed chorus. This is a new feature of the summer course. It is hoped that enough members of the junior and senior glee clubs will attend to make a well balanced group. Announcement will be made publicly if, after one week, it is found necessary to change this schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. August Waterstraet of Burwell were visitors in Ord Tuesday afternoon.

MEDICAL FACTS

Sponsored by 4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

A pharmacologist is a scientist who studies the action of drugs and chemicals on the various organs and tissues of the animal body, or upon the body as a whole. This branch of science has been established for about one hundred years. During this hundred years those who have followed this science as a life work have accomplished a great deal but they have fallen behind with their work about three thousand years. There are now about 255,000 organic chemicals known to scientists. The pharmacologists know a little something concerning about 9,000 of these. The remainder have not been studied at all, in relation to action on animals. Among them there may be hidden more wonderful medicines than any we now have.

A fair example of this lag in the study of possible medical preparations is a drug recently brought to the attention of the medical profession for the cure of certain kinds of streptococcus infections. You may have read in the newspapers during the past two years about the drug, sulphamimid. In fact, this chemical was prepared by the chemists about thirty years ago and is only now well enough known to become useful to doctors and their patients.

Albumin or protein, one of the purer forms of which is the white of egg, is the one food element that we cannot live without. We may leave all fat, starch and sugar out of our diets and remain healthy but not so with protein. Proteins are made up of combinations of simpler chemical substances called amino-acids. The difference in various proteins or albumins is in the number and kinds of amino-acids they contain. Our bodies demand a supply of all these amino-acids so some of those we need, are termed incomplete. These will not keep us healthy if we limit our protein intake so we do not get all the necessary building blocks, or amino-acids. The protein of milk is called casein. It is a complete protein containing all the amino-acids we need to rebuild our own body proteins. On the other hand, gelatin is an incomplete protein. It is easy to digest and is good food, but if a person should take no other albumin than gelatin he would become weak and anemic and could not survive in a healthy condition.

We are accustomed to think of milk as a liquid food but in its raw state it is really a solid food. By this I mean it forms a large tough curd in the stomach which is essentially a solid. Boiling it, or adding one of a number of substances, makes the curd small, less tough and more easily digested, hence is better for the sick person. The substances which may be added for this purpose are lime water, citrate of soda, egg, malt sugar, gelatine, or lactic acid.

Raw eggs are more difficult to digest than partly cooked eggs. In fact, any food partially cooked is easier to digest than when eaten raw.

A group of people suffering from hay fever demanded of their state (Texas) legislature a law making it a crime to grow ragweed. Their leader, Esther Mitchell, declared, "If 30,000 hogs, cows or mules should suddenly be hit by something similar (to hay fever) experts would be here from Washington in droves."

At an irrigation convention held in Gering in 1894 it was suggested that the Nebraska "panhandle" be annexed to Wyoming. The purpose of the annexation, say research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, was to take advantage of the supposedly better irrigation laws of that state.

Matchett-Arnold A pretty, and impressive ceremony took place Sunday, June 4th, at 4 p. m. when Miss Opal Matchett became the bride of Mr. William Arnold. Lowell Finney sang, "I Love You Truly" as Mrs. Finney played the accompaniment. To the strains of the wedding march, Mrs. Finney, at the piano, the bridesmaid, Esta Mae Arnold, sister of the groom and Thomas Matchett, brother of the bride marched to the altar followed by the bride and groom. Rev. R. E. Howell, pastor of the Arcadia Congregational church officiated using the single ring ceremony which took place under the double door arch beautifully decorated with greenery and hanging bells. On either side were large wicker baskets filled with peonies and baby's breath. To the background and on the piano were bouquets of flowers and lighted white candles.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Matchett of Loup City. She was beautiful in a floor length gown of pure white net, fashioned on basque design with wide flare over satin slip. She carried a bouquet of pink tea roses and baby breath tied with white satin ribbon. A wreath of mock orange circled her natural neck line curls. She wore a necklace of long pearls of her mother's carrying the motive, "something old". In her hand was a large flowing pale green silk handkerchief. She graduated from the Loup City high school in 1936 and attended college at Kearney one year. The bridesmaid, Miss Esta Mae Arnold, only sister of the groom was dressed in a gown of gold satin floor length fashioned on princess lines with large puffed sleeves.

The groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Arnold, who live nine miles east of Arcadia where the wedding took place. Mr. Arnold wore a gray suit and white shoes. He graduated from the Arcadia high school in 1936 and attended Kearney college two years. He has a position with the Lincoln Tent and Awning company stationed at Omaha where they will make their home.

Jones-Tiffany.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon June 4, 1939, to the strains of Lo-hengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Lowell Finney, Miss Ava Jones became the bride of Eldon Tiffany at the Methodist church in Arcadia, in the presence of relatives. Rev. E. A. Smith performed the ceremony, using the single ring service. Preceding the ceremony, Mr. Lowell Finney sang, "At Dawn" and "I Love You Truly" Mrs. Lowell Finney accompanied at the piano. The bride wore a dusty rose lace costume of street length with natural lines and luggage tan accessories. She was carrying a hand bouquet made up of pink rosebuds. Her first bridesmaid, Miss Verna Jones, sister of the bride, wore a street length dress in powder blue and also wore a wrist bouquet. Delivan Kingston acted as first attendant of the groom and Orin Kingston was second attendant. Darwin and Armand Lueck acted as ushers. A reception was given in the church parlor following the ceremony. Ice cream and wafers were served the guests with Misses Mildred and Blanche Chittcock, Winona and Julia McMichael waitresses. They wore pink tea aprons and headbands to match.

A color scheme in pink, blue and white was used for the tables and for the decorations on the wedding cake which was baked by Mrs. Walter May, aunt of the bride. The bride and groom left after the reception for a wedding trip to Colorado Springs and other western places. The bride wore a blue suit with rose colored accessories and the groom wore an oxford gray suit.

Mrs. Tiffany is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Jones of Arcadia. She graduated from the Arcadia high school with the class of 1935. For the past three years she has been teaching in a rural school. Mr. Tiffany is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Tiffany of Arcadia, graduating from the Arcadia high school with the class of 1937 and has since been in partnership with his father on the farm. They will make their home in rooms at his parents' home.

Out-of-town relatives at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones and family, Mrs. Hannah Jones, Miss Wauneta Cummins, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jones and family all of Ord, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steel, Mr. and Mrs. Miner Steel, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chapman, all of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Whitehead and Beverly of Omaha.

Miss Verna Jones came from Omaha on the motor Tuesday morning to visit home folks and to attend the wedding of her sister.

IN APPRECIATION

Having been in business in Ord under the name of Thorne Cafe for 17 years, and having in that time enjoyed a fair share of the business of this community, we feel that the public is entitled to a word of appreciation from us. It has been a pleasure to make your acquaintance, and we are leaving with regret. We thank you.

Mrs. Laura Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Keep

Having leased the Thorne Cafe, for a few months, beginning June 1, I expect to continue the business under the same name and in much the same manner as in the past. Customers, both old and new, will find the same courteous treatment to which they have been accustomed.

'If a Wish—'

THERE was an electric silence in the lovely room, broken only by the crackling fire and the soft ticking of an old banjo clock. The man, standing with his back against the mantel of the big roomy fireplace, searched the face of the girl anxiously as though to read there the answer to his fears. Lindsey Putnam had been "going with" Phyllis Rand ever since school days, and Lin had just confessed to Phyl that he was head over heels in love with the lovely, fiery, exotic Adele Thornton!

"It's not that I like . . . love you any less, Phyl; you'll always be the most perfect girl I ever had . . . it's just that Adele seems to sweep every sane thought from my head. She . . . well, I guess it's true that I am crazy over her! I can't seem to think sensible thoughts any more . . ." Then the girl seemed to stir from her reverie, and, although he was not so sure about her eyes, they seemed hurt. Her mouth smiled gravely, and she rose and went over to him, laying her slim brown little hand on his sleeve as she said softly: "Lin—there's nothing I can say other than that I hope you'll be ever so happy! If a wish could make it so, I'm sure you'll be happy and contented with—the girl of your choice!"

Afterward—when he was striding home, Lin recalled that she had not spoken Adele's name, had, instead, worded it "girl of your choice," and he smiled tenderly at that thought; they were both of them so wonderful, so adorable. Phyl, like a keen, straightforward young boy, hiking and hunting and fishing; playing tennis and golf and riding with him over dangerous mountain trails, and Adele, soft, ultrafeminine, with her girlish gowns and helpless ways, and pretty, appealing manners.

With the door shut on Lin's retreating form Phyl flung herself into the deep cushions of the shabby old divan before the fire, and the hot stinging tears coursed down her tanned face for the first time since she could remember. How could he do it? How could he go around with her all these years, making the flower of love in her heart grow stronger and deeper rooted, only to tear it up casually and go after another girl? Was he quite crazy to think that their friendship could go on after he had given his heart to Adele? Didn't he know that these feminine women had nothing to divert their minds from such things as jealousy? Of course Adele's first action of proprietorship would be to suggest that he see less of dear little Phyllis!

Two weeks later, after Phyl had repeatedly turned down invitations to hike with Lin, or play golf or tennis, or ride over Pitcher mountain with him, on the grounds that that was Adele's privilege now, she opened the door one rainy fall day and found Lin standing on the windswept porch, a bunch of sunac in his hands and a comical expression on his face.

"Gosh, Phyl," he murmured as she took his dripping coat and hat, "it seems like home here. I know how crazy you always were over sunac . . . I remembered." Phyl had to force herself to drag forth the usual: "You should be giving them to Adele . . ." to which he replied dryly: "She hates 'em; likes only nice hot-house flowers that aren't messy." Phyl almost grinned as she took the sunac and went to find a vase for it.

"May I come again?" he pleaded after she had given him hot chocolate and sugar cookies and a golden wedge of squash pie.

"You'll find out it's a mistake, Lin, Adele won't like it!" remonstrated Phyl doubtfully.

"Well, there are so many things she doesn't like that one more thing added to the list won't make much difference," he growled; "why . . . don't you like me to come, Phyl?" he added wistfully, and Phyl fought to make her voice sound impersonal and even, as she assured him that it was always a great pleasure to have him come—to talk over old times.

"We did have such wonderful times together, Phyl," he mused, staring at the dancing fire.

"Didn't we?" she said, catching her breath softly.

"Oh Phyl . . . men are such fools . . . couldn't we go on . . . having good times as we used to?" he asked brokenly, his eyes telling her what he couldn't say.

"I . . . oh, Lin . . . I'm afraid . . . it's been so hard . . ."

"Afraid of what?" he asked gently, moving over to stand very close to her.

"Afraid I couldn't be strong enough to give it all up again," she muttered through clenched teeth.

"Need we . . . ever break up again, Phyl? It'll always be you with me, and nobody else . . . oh, my dear . . . let's not be blind again. You've been the girl of my dreams . . . always!" he cried as he swept her into his arms and she burrowed her hot face into the cool dampness of his rough overcoat.

So . . . Lin was happy, as Phyl had wished . . . and he had the girl of his choice after all. And Phyl? There never had been any question of choice with her; there never had been anyone but Lin . . . and there never would be, either!

Legion and Auxiliary.
The Ladies Auxiliary held their annual election of officers at the hall Tuesday evening with the following results: president, Mrs. Harry Wolfe; 1st vice president, Mrs. J. L. Langer; secretary, Mrs. Joe Gregory; treasurer, Mrs. V. W. Russell; chaplain, Mrs. John L. Ward; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Tom Springer; rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. C. D. Wardrop; child welfare chairman, Mrs. Bob Hall; historian, Mrs. A. A. Wiegardt; sickness and relief chairman, Mrs. Alfred L. Hill; and executive committee, Mrs. Dean S. Duncan, Mrs. Keith Lewis and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen.

At the Legion meeting Legion Junior baseball was discussed. Wm. Heuck, who had been chosen as manager, made a statement to the group saying that it would be impossible for him to take charge of the work, but that he would be glad to assist in any way that he could at any time. Harry Wolf, last year's manager, will also help, and a number of others promised to assist. The diamond is to be made east of the midjet race track at the fair grounds, and first practice is scheduled for next Monday afternoon at 4. The managers issued a call for every kid big enough to wear a glove to be on hand.

A vote of thanks was given Igu. Kilma for his work in planning the successful Decoration Day services. A letter of thanks was to be sent also to Rev. G. C. Roberson, Rev. Mamie Young, Pearson & Anderson, and to any others who helped in any way to make the program a success.

Following the meetings the men were invited below to partake of the lunch, prepared by Mrs. Kilma, Mrs. Divan, Mrs. Gyger and Mrs. Lewis, and served cafeteria style. Before and during the lunch the group was entertained by Miss Angelina Wachtire and Miss Christina Petersen with piano and vocal selections. Mrs. Cochran acted as installing officer for the ladies meeting, and Tom Springer acted as commander at the men's meeting until Bob Hall arrived. The next meeting will be on Monday, July 3rd.

Softball Meeting.
A meeting is called for tomorrow Thursday evening, at Thorne's cafe for the purpose of forming a softball league. All enthusiasts, both men and women, who care to play or who are interested in any way, are urged to be present at 8, when the meeting will begin.

Saturday Sale

AT THE SALE RING IN ORD
SALE STARTS AT 1:00 O'CLOCK

We had another heavy run of hog consignments but not so many cattle in last Saturday's Sale.

We had some very good milk cows, and the demand was good. I have personal orders for several more good cows, that are young and that would freshen in the next 3 or 4 months.

There was another good market on light weight replacement cattle.

The fat hog market was strong, and we had a lot of hogs. The pig market, I thought, was weaker. There is a demand for several horses that would run from $40.00 to $65.00 in price, and the buyers were here from a long distance, that wanted these horses to work.

Consign your stock to this market, and we will do our best.

THE ORD QUIZ, ORD, NEBRASKA WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 1939

Vol. 57 No. 12

Work Commences Soon on the New Ord Postoffice

Department Advertising Now for Bids; Size 60x80, with Full Basement.

With the advertising for bids for Ord's new postoffice which appeared for the first time in last week's Quiz, the building of the office in Ord this summer becomes a certainty. The government takes its time in matters of this kind, and in the past few months many have expressed impatience at the delay and some have even doubted if the office would be built at all.

However, the complete plans and specifications have been received and are on file at the office of Postmaster Alfred L. Hill. There are no less than 29 sheets of blue print 24x36 inches in size, with drawings covering every conceivable part of the construction. Most of these drawings were made and checked March 6, 1939, but some were made before that time and some since.

The size of the building is approximately 60 feet east and west, and 80 feet north and south, and is located near the center of the lot, equidistant from the east and west sides. The distance from the front walk to the building proper is 20 feet, but the front entrance and areaways on each side of it project about five feet. These areways and those on the west and east side are for letting light into the lower, or first floor, which is almost entirely below the ground.

There are two stories, and the one below is divided into a number of offices, which will probably be occupied by the Valley County Farm Bureau. There are also several storage rooms, two wing rooms where the extra employees will stay when not on duty, toilets for men and women, and at the rear beneath the loading platform is located the fuel room.

The main entrance will be in the middle of the south side of the building and in the middle of the lot. A short walk leads to the building and four steps each one foot wide lead up to the landing outside the door. The front door is double and leads to a vestibule with inner doors located at the northwest and northeast corners.

Within these is the lobby, and facing the door are the general delivery, parcel post, registry and postal savings windows. This is a marked advantage over the present building since anyone working to the rear of the windows can at once see when a customer is in the lobby. The rooms are separated from the main workroom in the rear by a metal mesh.

In this room will be located the tables of the rural and city carriers the arrangement of which is left entirely to the local postal force. Just back of it are two stairways leading to the basement, and between them is the corridor leading to the loading platform beneath the marquee in the rear. The mail will all be hauled in from this platform on trucks, and hauled back out in the same manner.

A great diversity of materials will be used in the finish of the different rooms. The lobby will have marble wainscoting, and the floor will be laid with alternating squares of colored terrazzo. The work room will be provided with a wood floor, since this is one part of the building that will have to be replaced in the course of time. The toilets will be finished with tile.

In fact, due to the diversity of materials used and the complicated nature of the many drawings, it would be difficult for anyone not an expert builder to give more than a sketchy idea of how the building will look when completed. From time to time after the work is started the Quiz will endeavor to keep the public informed on what is being done.

Severson Gets 25 Days For Beating Board Bill

The hearing in the case of Virgil Severson, charged with beating a board bill, was continued at the request of the defendant until Tuesday, as he hoped to obtain an attorney for his defense. On Tuesday afternoon in Judge John L. Anderson's court he decided to enter a plea of guilty as charged, and was sentenced by the court to 25 days at hard labor.

The charge was made by Mary K. Sharp, and the amount involved was $42.90. Following the trial he was again placed under arrest on a no fund check charge. On June 9, after the board bill action was filed, he had given a no fund check to Bill Burrows in the sum of $10. He was not ready to plead at the time, and the case will come up later.

—Wednesday noon five young people will leave for a week at the Presbyterian Youth Conference at Lexington. The Sunday school is sending Warren Allen and the young people's society is sending Patricia Frazier, Phyllis Munn, David Milliken and Cornelius Bismond.

Irrigated Potatoes in Bloom Near Arcadia

Nearing full bloom is this five acre field of potatoes on the Floyd Bossen farm near Arcadia, and the field was being irrigated for the second time when this photo was taken by Dr. J. W. Baird. Inspecting the field are Mr. Bossen and W. J. Ramsey, Arcadia druggist. The potatoes were planted April 15. This field is one of several fine potato plantings in the Middle Loup project.

Clement Appoints Committees for '39 Valley Co. Fair

McClellan, McGinnis, Enger to Plan Entertainment for the September Show.

At the meeting of the Valley county fair board held at the office of the secretary, Ed Kokes, Wednesday evening, President R. Claire Clement appointed part of the committees for 1939, and also appointed the superintendents of the various departments. All appointments made were confirmed by the board.

For the committee on entertainment he appointed McClellan, McGinnis and Enger; for premium list committee, Round, Jorgensen and Dale; for budget committee, Beiers, Jorgensen and Clement; and for advertising, perhaps the most important committee of all, Enger, Baker, S. Fjrtak, Jorgensen and McClellan.

The following is the list of superintendents, which does not differ materially from that of last year: Horses, Dave Arnold; hogs, Don Round; poultry, Leonard Woods; agriculture, Henry Enger; fine arts, Mrs. Edgar Roe; home economics, Mrs. Sadie Cornell; flowers, Mrs. William Zaboludil; races, Clyde Baker; schools, Miss Clara McClatchey; track and grounds, Dr. McGinnis; concessions, Chris Beiers; and 4-H clubs, C. C. Dale and Mrs. Leo Nelson.

Ord Legion Juniors At Greeley Today

Ord's Legion junior baseball team is opening the season today, playing against Greeley at the latter town. The boys have had little time for preparation, as they held their first practice Sunday afternoon. It was at first planned to try to make a diamond on the east part of the place inside the old race track at the fair grounds, but this proved a big job, and even when finished the place would not have been well suited for the purpose.

In their dilemma an ardent sport fan, Fr. Lowler, came to their aid by offering the use of the lots about two blocks west of the Catholic church, used in the fall as a practice field for football. This is being smoothed off and the backstop is being brought up from the fairgrounds. It is already a good practice ground, and when finished will make a fine playing field.

As stated last week, Wm. Heuck felt that his time would not permit taking full charge of the team, although he was willing to help all he could. Harry Wolf, last year's manager, also felt that he could not devote full time to the job. A new man has come to the rescue in the person of L. Shunkwetter, former league player himself, he is devoting all the time he can to helping out and he really puts the life into the game for the youngsters.

Complaint Filed Against R. N. Rose on Saturday

A no fund check complaint was filed Saturday in Judge Anderson's court against R. N. Rose by Bud Lashmet. The check in question is said to have been given Jan. 9 in the sum of $32.51, payable to the Phillips Petroleum company. Mr. Rose entered a plea of not guilty, and the date for the hearing has been set for next Tuesday, June 20.

Buy Interest in Magazine From Calexico, Calif.

From Calexico, Calif., comes word that Mrs. Bess Stacy and Mrs. Edna Clements, formerly of Ord, have purchased an interest in the Desert Publishing Co., of El Centro, publishers of the Desert Magazine. They also own an interest in the Calexico Daily Chronicle. The Desert Magazine, founded 20 months ago, has enjoyed a phenomenal growth and now circulates in every state of the union and 14 foreign countries.

Nebraska Given Safety Award; Ord Mentioned

A National Safety council plaque recognizing Nebraska's citation as second place midwestern group winner in the national traffic safety contest for 1938 is to be presented at a Lincoln Chamber of Commerce luncheon next Thursday. Awards to Lincoln, Alliance, Fairbury and Falls City, cities of the first class, will also be presented.

Recognition will also be given the following 25 cities of more than 1,000 population who had no auto fatalities in 1938: Arapahoe, Atkinson, Beaver City, Bellevue, Benkelman, Cambridge, Deshler, Franklin, Fullerton, Geneva, Humbolt, Hemingford, Minatare, Minden, Mitchell, Ord, Osceola, Pender, Pierce, Red Cloud, Rushville, Sutton, Wakefield, Weeping Water.

This record for Ord is the more outstanding when it is understood that the majority of the above towns come between 1,000 and 2,200 mark in population. Nebraska has 19 cities of between 2,000 and 3,000 population and only three, of which Ord is one, had no auto fatalities for 1938.

Ord Woman Passed Away At Hospital, Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Vincent Suchanek Was 67 When Death Came; Lived in Valley Co. 32 Years.

Mrs. Vincent Suchanek passed away late Saturday at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island, to which place she had been taken June 1, when it was felt that she needed the care a large hospital affords. The body was brought to Ord by Pearson and Anderson, the funeral services were held on Tuesday at 10 a. m., from the Ord Catholic church.

Mary Blaha, daughter of Matt Blaha and Theresa Pokorny, was born at Brno, Moravia, Dec. 14, 1871. With her parents she came to America in 1874, coming directly to Howard county, Nebr. There she grew to womanhood and received her education. She was married to Vincent Suchanek at Warsaw (now Midway), Nebr., on Feb. 11, 1889.

They lived in Howard county until about 32 years ago, when they moved to Valley county to a farm in Geranium township. This was their home until 1935, when they retired and moved to Ord. To this union were born nine children, three sons and six daughters.

She is survived by her husband, her sons, Joe and William of Ord and James of Hastings; her daughters, Agnes Desmull of Ord, Lilly Petska of Arcadia, Mary Desmull of Ord, Stacey Shultz, Emma Shultz, and Alice Zaboludil, all of Cheyenne; three sisters, Mrs. Albert Hisek of Ord, Mrs. Kathryn Ambrose and Mrs. Manasil, of St. Paul, and one brother, Joe Blaha of St. Paul.

Changes of Time for Union Pacific Trains

Changes in arrival and departure times of Union Pacific trains went into effect Saturday, June 10, announces Ed Johnson, depot agent here. No. 536 now leaves Ord at 8:50 a. m., instead of at 10:10, and arrives in Grand Island at 11:00 a. m. No. 84 leaves Ord at 3:55 p. m., instead of 3:40, arriving in Grand Island at 6:30 p. m. No. 535 now leaves Grand Island at 1:45 p. m., and arrives in Ord at 3:55 p. m., instead of at 5:15. No. 83 leaves Grand Island at 5:30 a. m., and arrives in Ord at 8:20 a. m., this time being unchanged from the former schedule.

The Union Pacific railroad has restored No. 16 to service between Grand Island and Omaha and No. 636 will make connections with No. 16 at Grand Island, leaving there at 11:15 a. m., and arriving in Omaha at 3:00 p. m.

New Bait Spreader In Use Combatting the Hopper Plague

Farm Bureau Has McBurney Build Machine to Spread Thirty Foot Swath.

In order to successfully combat the grasshopper plague, the county agent recently had Deacon construct a new type mechanical bait spreader from plans furnished by the extension service. It is made from the rear half of a Model T ford chassis, with the drive shaft set perpendicular. A steel disc is fastened to the top end of the cut off drive shaft, with blades welded to the top for the purpose of scattering the bait.

A large steel drum is set above this for a hopper, and an agitator extends into the bottom, causing the bait to fall as needed. This outfit is made to pull behind a car, and at average speed will spread about thirty feet wide. With this outfit it is possible to cover 30 to 50 acres thoroughly in an hour's time. It was tried first on the Alfred Bartunek farm, and on Friday it was being given a tryout on the Henry Benn farm.

Because of a large acreage to be covered in a limited time, another one has been ordered and Deacon expected to have it ready for use early this week. The farm bureau does not expect to make a profit on the venture, which, like all work originating in the office, is on a strictly cooperative basis, but it is necessary to make a small rental charge to cover the cost of construction.

The grasshoppers are developing in several parts of the county in numbers sufficient to cause serious concern. With the continued rains and the prospect of raising a crop this year, farmers are anxious to rid themselves of the pests. Every rain helps a little, as it is a well known fact that rain and grasshoppers do not get on well together, and cool days, such as we had on Saturday, dispose of many more.

Rosalie McBeth Granted A Divorce From Husband

Saturday in Judge E. P. Clements' court Mrs. Rosalie McBeth was granted a decree of divorce from Lyle P. McBeth, same to take effect in six months, the plaintiff to have custody of the minor child, and the defendant to pay all costs of the action, including the plaintiff's attorney fees in the sum of $100. Davis and Vogelanz were the attorney's for the plaintiff, and the action was not contested. Property settlement was made out of court.

Paul Gard Fined on Fishing Charge

Norman Wolfe, deputy game warden, arrested Paul Gard June 7 on a charge of illegal possession of fish. He had sunfish which he was using for bait, in quantity far in excess of the permitted number which is fifteen. Upon his plea of guilty he was fined $10 and costs, amounting to $4.75, which he paid and was released. Clarence M. Davis appeared in the behalf of Mr. Gard.

More Boys to CCC Camp In July, States F. Kruml

Another enrollment of CCC boys will be sent to camp in July, according to Frank Kruml, county assistance director. The number allotted to Valley county has not yet been announced, but the office will be notified within the next few days. In the meantime all young men who desire to make application for this work are urged to do so.

Ord Men Catch Large Sturgeon in Loup

This fish, captured by Harry Wolf, left, above, with the assistance of Ed Hitchman and H. F. Brockman, right, is one of the largest fish ever caught in the vicinity of Ord. It is a sturgeon, was 43 inches in length and weighed 17 pounds. It was caught on a set line a short distance below the Burlington bridge. When Harry saw what he had caught he turned the line over to his friends, waded into the river and literally rode the fish to shore. Several sturgeon are caught here each summer but usually they are small.

Man-Made Snow As Cold As the Natural Kind

Even identical twins like Maxine and Arlene Wolf enjoy a snow fight when snow is found in June, even if it's the man-made kind. And when the Ord Cold Storage cleaned its freezing pipes Monday and hauled about a ton of "snow" outside, the twins soon discovered that artificially frozen snow is just as cold as the kind that falls in winter. Here the Quiz photographer caught Maxine (or is it Arlene?) playfully dropping a handful of snow down Arlene's (or Maxine's) neck.

Deposit of frost is removed from the freezing pipes at the cold storage plant twice a year, says Frank Piskorski. Temperature in the cold room can't be lowered so hammers are used to pound the frost from the pipes. Twelve hogsheads of snow were removed Monday and snow-fights raged for a while when children discovered the June snow. Later rain fell, melted the snow and put an end to the fun—Quiz Photo.

Ord Steam Laundry Leased to Dahlins

By virtue of an agreement entered into last week Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dahlin have leased the Ord Steam Laundry from Mr. and Mrs. Guy Burrows. For several days the owners have been helping the lessees in getting acquainted with the business and the location of the various customers.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrows have been running the Ord laundry for more than three years, and have had the knack of satisfying the customers. As soon as the business is turned over they plan to take a vacation trip of two or three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Dahlin are well known to the people of Ord, having lived here the greater part of their lives except a period of ten years spent elsewhere. They returned to Ord 2 1/2 years ago, and for nearly a year Mrs. Dahlin has been assisting in the laundry. They plan to keep the same help as in the past, which will help to assure satisfactory work.

Stolen Car Found By Sheriff George Round

Sunday morning Sheriff George Round picked up a car about four miles north of North Loup belonging to William Lanka of St. Paul. It had been stolen from its parking place on the streets of St. Paul about 10 p. m., Saturday evening.

Sunday Sheriff Jacobsen came from St. Paul and took the car back. It is believed that the car was stolen by a man in army uniform, as such a man was seen looking the car over shortly before it disappeared. At about 1:30 a. m., Sunday morning he was seen walking up the pavement in west Ord, apparently bent on hitch hiking his way to the northwest. The car had not been damaged in any way, but had been abandoned when it ran out of gas.

—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oliver took their daughter, Greta, to Scotia Tuesday for a tonsil and adenoid operation.

—Miss Lorrylou Ball, 3 1/2 years old, has come to spend a month or six weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Murray. They brought her home with them from Beatrice last week.

Rotarians Hear Talk on Air Conditioning

Members of the Rotary club enjoyed a talk on the theory of air conditioning Monday evening the speaker being C. I. Reed, of the Reed Manufacturing company, of Amesley, who was in Ord installing air conditioning units at Chase's Toggery and in the office rooms of the Beranek building.

There are three types of air conditioners, refrigerative, water cooling and evaporative, said Mr. Reed. The latter type is manufactured by his concern and is suitable for regions where humidity is low, like in central Nebraska, but not for the sea coasts and lake regions or extremely low altitudes where humidity is high.

Normal humidity is 50 to 60, Reed said, but in the recent dry years average humidity here has been 20 to 30. Evaporative coolers add water to the air, and since heat is required to evaporate the water the air is thereby cooled. Dozens of the evaporating type of unit are in use in this part of the state, he said.

Pioneer Week Now Being Celebrated

Pioneer week is being celebrated in Ord this week, and old time exhibits are on display in a number of Ord windows. They are well worth seeing, and you are advised to take the time to look them over. The windows in which they will be found are Pecena's Market, Beranek's drug store, Springer's Variety, Stoltz Variety, Russell's drug store and Hastings and Ollis.

If you have anything that will add to the attractiveness of these displays, it is not yet too late to have it put in place in one of the above windows. The exhibits will remain on display until Sunday evening. Burwell and Taylor are also making extensive displays. Burwell has rented a building for the purpose with people on hand to explain and answer questions, and Taylor is making their display in connection with the Trail of the Loup picnic.

This picnic, which is in reality the Old Settlers' picnic under a new name, is to be held in the park at Taylor next Sunday, June 18, and everyone living in the valley is cordially invited to attend. In addition, any old settler from any other part of the state who feels like attending will be made to feel right at home.

The Loup Valley Historical Society, under whose auspices the picnic is being held, wish to make it clear that there are no restrictions as to who is entitled to attend. Whether you have lived in the valley one year or fifty makes no difference. You are welcome.

The program has not been received by the Quiz, but it will include a number of talks by pioneers among them George W. McAnulty, president of the Loup Valley Old Settlers' association, and Thurman Smith, president of the Loup Valley Historical society. Clarence M. Davis, Rev. Claude L. Hill, Miss Maude Goodenow and others. The music for the day will be furnished by the Loup Valley band and the Comstock band.

—Harold W. Taylor of St. Paul was in Ord Tuesday evening, proudly displaying a fine sideburns and goatee that he is raising as a boost for the 4th of July celebration at St. Paul on the 3rd and 4th of next month.

Suicide Attempt by Frank Norman Sunday Is Failure

Ord Livestock Buyer Shot Himself Near Heart But Will Live, Doctors Say.

At about 9:30 a. m. Sunday word was received by the authorities that Frank Norman had shot himself at his home in northwest Ord. Marshal L. H. Covert and Sheriff George Round went out at once, Mayor M. B. Cummins, Corwin Cummins and Bob Hall arriving at about the same time.

They found Mr. Norman lying on the floor of the garage in a pool of blood, with the .410 shotgun with which he had committed the act lying on the floor beside him. He was terribly wounded, but still conscious when found. The Pearson and Anderson ambulance was called and he was taken at once to the Ord hospital.

Examination at the hospital showed that he was shot through the left chest and to the left of the heart and had lost considerable blood, but that no vital organ had been injured. Since that time he has gradually improved, and, barring unforeseen complications, he should recover.

Just what prompted him to his rash act is not known, but it is believed that financial worries were a contributing factor. He has been a buyer for the Ord Livestock Market for many years, and is recognized as a shrewd and capable buyer and a good judge of livestock.

Boyd Rose Winner of Club Tourney

Hi School Golfer Beats Frey 3 and 2 in Top Flight and Was Medalist.

Playing in top form, Boyd Rose, high school golfer, Sunday won the annual tournament of the Ord golf club when he defeated veteran player Henry Frey 3 and 2. He previously had chalked up a 34 to take medalist honors.

Frey gained the finals in the top flight by beating Mark Tolen 3 and 2 while Rose was polishing off Alfred Wiegardt by the same score.

Second flight winner was Gould Flagg, who beat John Misko 2 up; third flight honors went to M. Biemond, who beat Glen Auble 3 and 2; fourth flight was won by Syl Fjrtak, 3 and 2 over Cronk, and the fifth flight went to Ralph Misko who beat Joe Jirak 3 and 2. Nineteen golfers played in the tournament, first to be held on the Ord course this year. Pro Bud Shirley has the course in fine shape aided by recent rains, and there is a distinct revival of golfing interest in this community.

George Miller Was Found Dead Sunday

Funeral Being Held Today for 62-Year-Old Ord Man; Heart Disease Cause.

Funeral services for George Miller, who passed away suddenly, Sunday evening at his home in the Jones rooming house in Ord, are being held this afternoon at 2:00, with Rev. Mamie Young of the United Brethren church in charge. Mrs. Mark Tolen will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Noll. The pallbearers will be George Round, L. H. Covert, F. J. Cohen, Jim Wozniak, Joe Serlsen and Walter Thodal. Burial will be in the Ord cemetery.

George Miller is believed to have been about 62 years of age. He had lived in Ord for many years, where he was always found doing something. Of late years he did a great deal of work for the city, and county, taking care of the courthouse lawn in the summer and shoveling snow off the sidewalks in winter. His last job was digging up the two weeping willow trees in the court yard.

For years he had known that his heart was weak, and he had been warned to refrain from hard work, but he felt that he would rather work and take the risk. Just when he died is not known, but he was found Sunday between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Sunday lying on his bed in his room, his hands folded across his breast as if asleep. F. J. Cohen made the discovery and notified the proper authorities.

Mr. Miller is survived by a sister, Mrs. T. L. Cleary of Milwaukee, Wis., and two brothers, Evan, of Anoka, Minn., and Lewis, of Robbinsdale, Minn. It is also understood that he was married at one time, but that he was separated from his wife many years ago. While in Ord he lived the life of a quiet, inoffensive citizen, and he will be missed sincerely by all who knew him.

PIONEER WEEK

Beneath the blazing July sun a man is toiling in his field. He is cutting his crop of wheat, with a scythe. He has happened to be a little more content than he could cut it with a cradle, but for want of something better, he uses the scythe. It isn't a large field, for he had only a few acres plowed last year when one of his oxen got sick and died. The sun is hot, but he does not care, for it takes hot sun to make his little cornfield grow, and he needs all the crop he can gather.

At the end of the field he stops to rest and wipe the sweat out of his eyes in order that he may see to continue. As he gazes across the hills to the southwest, he notes clouds of heavy, dark smoke rising above the horizon. Harvesting is over for the day, for that smoke means that the dreaded prairie fire is approaching, and he must at once begin the fight to save his crop, his home, his family and perhaps, even his life.

After a terrific battle in which the entire family and all the neighbors join, the danger is turned aside, and he completes his harvest, with the shocks of golden grain standing thick on his little field. There is enough to keep the family in flour for the coming year, perhaps enough to have some to sell and buy other necessities. Possibly he can buy a few luxuries such as white sugar for the table, tobacco for himself, a few yards of calico from which his wife can make a new dress.

But the next day a heavy black cloud appears in the west, the lightning flashes continuously and the storm rolls forward. Before it seems possible the rain is falling in sheets, and worse, hail is beating upon his wheat field, beating the shocks into the ground, breaking the window panes out of the shack. The corn, on the other side of the house is missed, but the crop of wheat is ruined.

But the toiler does not despair. That five acre field of sod corn looks fine, and the hail did not hurt it. The rain that fell there is enough to guarantee a good crop, and one can live on corn meal and sowbely. Day by day he watches the corn grow and ripen, until one day in August another cloud appears in the sky, but it is not rain. It approaches, and soon grasshoppers by the million begin dropping to the ground in his cherished cornfield. In a few hours all is gone and the hoppers fly away to other fields.

Does the man give up? He is a wondrous fool, for he keeps right on building castles in the air. His wheat gone, his corn gone, he still has the old sow and her half grown litter of pigs. He can borrow enough money at three per cent a month, to buy what he has to have. So he goes to the man who has the money, gives him a note with the ox for security, and has enough to keep him through the winter.

But in September the old sow develops a cough. He uses what simple remedies he knows of, but she soon dies, and her pigs get sick one by one, until all are dead. Well, what of it! Venison is better anyway, and the trusty rifle is hanging on the wall ready for just such an emergency. So with his gun he keeps his family alive until winter comes.

But this winter is different from others, which were bad enough. It starts early, and the snow accumulates. The weather becomes bitter cold, and at times the family finds it necessary to remain in bed, because it is too cold to stay up, and there is not enough fuel to keep warm. Just enough fuel is used each day to cook the meals, and each day the man goes out and hunts what wood he can find along the creek.

At length spring comes, and with the bright sunshine his hopes rise once more. He can borrow enough to plant his crops and the harvest will take care of everything when it arrives. That one ox can handle the work on his small acreage. But about the time he is ready to begin sowing, the man whom he gave his note steps in and takes the ox. A neighbor proves to be a friend in time of need, and offers to loan him one of his milk cows to do his plowing.

By many and devious ways he manages to plant and harvest a crop, such as it is. Part of it has to go to neighbors to replace that which was borrowed, and more has to be sold to pay other expenses incurred in the past year. That fall he gets a job with a crew of surveyors and is away from home for five weeks. When he gets back he finds that his wife died the week after he left and the neighbors are looking after his children.

This did not all happen to one man of the pioneer days, and it did not all happen in one year. It is rather the combined experiences of that great group of men who came to Central Nebraska in the early seventies, and who remained until nature at last was conquered and the land claimed for civilization. It is a picture of pioneering at its worst, and is written for a purpose, to make the public more content with present conditions.

When we find that the grocer has delivered the wrong kind of bread, or that he has sent a loaf that has to be sliced, it may make our lot easier to realize that many a time the pioneer did not have any bread in the house nor the wherewithal to make it. When we cannot find the can opener, we might do well to recall that our forebears did not have anything that came in cans except perhaps lye and baking powder. He raised his garden crops and fruit, or got along without them.

When we find that our best suit of clothes is becoming thin because we have spent too much time sitting around waiting for the government to do something for us, it is then a good time to think of the man who lived in that little old sod shanty, who wore his clothes, patched them, then wore them some more and patched the patches. When his wife ran out of patching material, he acquired the habit of always facing toward every person he met.

When the car is out of gas and the children have to walk a full mile to school, just remember the days of your own youth, when many of you had to walk three times that far, and often without overshoes and mittens in winter. Go back a little farther to the time when there was no public school and the children had to gain what little education they could from such books as their parents had brought from the old home in the east.

If the electric current is shut off for a few minutes it is a dire calamity in these modern days. The housewife cannot cook, and the actual soon spoil in the electric ice box. If it happens at night, you have to light a kerosene lamp, worry about lack of electric current. She cooked her meal with whatever fuel she could find, including buffalo and cow chips, including the butter in the well to keep it fresh, and used a candle in case the lamp was out of kerosene.

Now of days we go on camping trips to enjoy the pleasures our forefathers enjoyed in conquering the wilderness, but we do not really pioneer. We have our camp stove to save building a regular camp fire. We take ice along to keep the food fit to eat, and usually camp in a park or camping site which is supplied with electric lights. We are in the great outdoors, but we insist on taking all the comforts of civilization with us.

The pioneer had a great advantage in his natural surroundings, for he, too, was natural. He did things in a natural way because it was the only way he knew. He was scrupulously honest, because one cannot live under such conditions and be dishonest. He was kind and considerate for those who were in need of help, because he lived close to nature and to nature's God.

This week we are setting aside a time in which to honor the pioneer, and what he meant, and still means, to this part of the west. Long ago the frontier faded into the west, and today there are no natural frontiers. But we are still living on the foundation laid by the first settlers of our state and our community, and the house in which we live is not built upon the sand.

We can best do honor to the settler by emulating those characteristics for which he became famous. The settler was patient, and in these days of doubt and depression patience is a cardinal virtue. The settler was kind, and the world has greater need for kindness today than it ever had before. The settler was reverent, and today we need to revere God, to respect our fellow men, their rights, and their property.

Today we do what we do for two motives, the hope of reward, or the fear of punishment. The pioneer did what he did because he knew it was the right thing to do. He may have hoped for a reward, and he might have feared to do wrong, but he was animated by far higher motives than are people of today. We can show our appreciation of the solid foundation he laid for us by building thereon a structure of which he need not be ashamed.

County Judge Reports Many Weddings in June

John L. Andersen, county judge, believes that the present month of June will set a new record for weddings, if the present rate of licenses continues. A total of six licenses have been issued since the Quiz went to press last week. In addition to those mentioned specifically in other items, the following couples were married: George R. Cook, O'Neill contractor, was given a license to marry Miss Evelyn N. Stewart, of Lynch on June 12. Later, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Cook as witnesses, the couple were married by the judge. The groom is a brother of Robert Cook, manager of the Ord Council Oak store. Clyde Henning, farmer from Loup City, and Miss Ruth Roach of Grand Island were granted a license on June 10, and the same day they were united in marriage by Rev. Wm. Bahr of St. John's Lutheran church. Alfred Bangert and Mrs. Wm. Bahr acted as witnesses.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Makes Suggestion Fire and Brimstone A New Service Short Shavings

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

The Mayor Makes a Suggestion. Mayor M. B. Cummins suggested, in regard to the ruckus between the telephone companies of Ord and North Loup, and in regard to the new directories that are about to be made, that if the advertisers in the two towns would just back up and refuse to advertise one penny's worth unless both lists of numbers are included in both books, it might be possible for the squabble to cease.

For the public and especially the business men, to have these numbers missing from the directories, is a gross inconvenience. It is as much an inconvenience for the Ord numbers to be left out of the N. L. directories as with the N. L. numbers out of the Ord directory. It necessitates the asking for information every time a call is made between the two towns. In as much as the N. L. people do so much business in Ord, the town of North Loup is more like a suburb and one person suggested perhaps an annexation might settle this and other difficulties.

Dr. McGinnis and the Mayor were discussing the telephone directory situation, interspersed with city affairs, when I happened along. Dr. McGinnis feared that an advertising boycott as the Mayor suggested would be too late as he had in mind that the advertising space had already been sold for this year. But he thought the idea a good one to remember for another time and the proposition should be poised around so the advertisers would be prepared.

We are all hoping they will bury the hatchet and no such thing will be necessary.

Fire and Brimstone.

My 10 year old son came to me the other day and asked me what the devil is. He had heard me and others speak of the devil, like "going to the devil," or "the devil in him" and my last remark was that a certain woman was a "she-devil."

I had not realized that I had been so free in the use of the word devil but I was more surprised that my ten year old son did not know who this man was. He is in the fifth grade in school and seldom is it that he misses a day in Sabbath school, and still with all this education, no one had informed him what the devil is.

He is well versed on who Jesus and God are, and many characters of the Bible, even better so in many cases than his Pa. But when I used to attend Bible school I was taught that with my actions I would choose one or the other, God or the devil, and should I choose the latter course, the eventual outcome would be fire and brimstone and the devil himself, with horns and a tail and also a pitchfork to prod us back into the fiery blast.

It seems to be a new system of teaching religion and perhaps it is for the best. I cannot see but the youngsters behave as well now days as when I was a young hollon knowing full well the devil was waiting for me and urging me on toward his everlasting punishment. I remember Art Babcock saying years ago that you cannot scare a boy into Heaven, and I believe he is right.

I have known several men who made brags that they were going to hell. They were calling the bluffs put out by the religious folks who were trying to scare them into good behavior. These men were not so bad either, as men go but it was not the reward of Heaven that was keeping them straight.

It occurs to some of us that a consciousness of honesty and goodness should be developed in children's minds and a will power that they will act on that consciousness. There should be a consciousness developed that they should do good works for goodness sake; should do good for the sake of others, striving always to help the other fellow along as well as yourself. The one scripture that seems to supercede all others, even better than the "do unto others as you'd be done by," is that one of Luke 17:33. "Whoever shall seek to save his own soul shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for others shall save it."

A New Service.

The Nebraska State Bank has a picture machine that they use to photograph every check and transaction made in the bank. They take a picture of both sides of every check and draft that is run thru the bank, and also every statement, and then at a later date, should some deal arise of question, even if the check has been lost, this picture can be found and the proof given.

It is really a small movie. The photograph is made on a very small film and after the picture is taken, a white mat may be placed below the film, different lights turned on in the machine and off in the room, and the picture flashed on the screen. When these films are complete they are taken out, sent and developed, marked and filed away for future reference should the need arise. It is just something new under the sun.

Short Shavings.

If one can leave the marks, you can tell by looking at the wrappers how old the bread is that you buy. One bakery puts little red marks across on the bottom of the wrapper. One mark is for Sunday, or one day, two for Monday, etc. Upon watching these marks we have found that we buy bread many days old sometimes. A person can tell too, by the feel of the loaf. Another bakery has letters printed in an obscure place to indicate the day the bread was baked. I heard a group of men talking the other day of the many rabbits and the destruction they are doing to the crops. The rabbits are especially destructive to the sugar beets, being very fond of the little plants as soon as the sugar begins to form.

Several complained that the cottontails were eating their gardens and flower gardens too. One man said that it was impossible for him to grow beans anymore because of the rabbits, and even people in town were complaining. One or two of these same men were of the big pushers in promoting the coyote hunts last year, and coyotes are the natural enemies of the rabbit, but why bring that up?

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Reviewed by CARTER FIELD

Insiders are convinced the President is working on a phase of political strategy for the next election... New Deal starts all over again... Frank Murphy looming as white hope of the New Deal... President expected to win his battle to continue his spending policy.

WASHINGTON.—Insiders are convinced that President Roosevelt, far from having a change of heart on the principle of taxing undistributed corporation profits at a higher rate than those paid out in dividends, is now working on a broad phase of political strategy aimed at the presidential election next year.

The proof, they say, will be revealed by comparing two speeches given carefully. The first is that delivered at the American Retail Federation banquet by President Roosevelt. The second is the outline for tax revision aimed at revising business laid before the house ways and means committee by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

It will be noted that Mr. Morgenthau suggested repeal of the last vestige of the special tax on undistributed corporation earnings. It is known that the President is privately strongly against this revision. It is further known that Morgenthau would not think of saying anything publicly against his chief's will.

The answer to this apparent contradiction is that the President has decided to give business the opportunity it has demanded—to revise the tax law, or rather permit its revision, just as business spokesmen have been urging.

Then, if business does not revive spectacularly, if it does not absorb millions of unemployed now on government rolls of one sort or another, the President can say to the country: "We gave them everything they said they needed—even things we knew they ought not to have, in order to test this thing thoroughly. Now we know that business CANNOT or WILL NOT function in such a way as to take care of this situation. The government, therefore, must take care of these people. We cannot let them starve or freeze. And we will not support them by the demoralizing dole."

New Deal Starts All Over Again With Critics Stunned. So the New Deal starts all over again, with its critics deprived of the answer they have been making for at least four years—that business would revive if the government would just let it alone—knocked into a cocked hat.

If business should revive, the New Dealers figure that "reform" would merely be delayed until after the election. Actually they would like to see this, not because they do not believe their reforms are good, but because the present business situation has them considerably worried. They are just a little disturbed by the growing conclusion in the country, as evidenced first in the purges, then in the 1938 election, and more recently by polls, that the New Deal has not been so hot, in that it has added billions to the national debt while the number of unemployed apparently is as great as it was at the depth of the depression.

Good times next year would make a Democratic victory, both as to the presidency and as to congress, much more likely. In fact plenty of shrewd observers think the Democrats will have to fumble the ball rather badly to lose the next election if business is good and obviously growing better. Parties rarely lose elections in good times. It is economic distress, almost invariably, which beats the party in power, if one expects the rare campaign in which some issue moves the people more deeply than their pocketbooks. Sometimes there is very little rhyme or reason in this, but it is generally true.

Moreover the Republicans are not in good shape, despite their astute leadership on Capitol Hill. They are hopelessly divided on issues. Even in congress this is apparent. Now Frank Murphy looms As New Deal White Hope. Attorney General Frank Murphy is looming more and more as the white hope of the New Deal for the presidential nomination next year if Franklin D. Roosevelt does not "choose" to run. Murphy is the third candidate to be trotted out by the hundred percenters. The first was Robert H. Jackson, now solicitor general. President Roosevelt was very anxious to have Jackson run for governor of New York last year.

Had Jackson run and been elected, he would now be governor of New York, and in a position not only of being able to do things, and keep in the limelight, but of having carried the Empire state in a year/which was not too good for the Democrats. Of course, Jackson might not have been elected had Roosevelt prevailed on the leaders to nominate him, but the interesting thing at the moment is that the New York leaders turned thumbs down on him, and have never regretted their decision. After Jackson's elimination—for it could scarcely be considered anything less—Harry L. Hopkins became the white hope of the New Deal. This movement involved also a bit of business appeasement. At the moment the New Dealers were rather thoroughly convinced that they must have a business revival if they were to be kept in power after their year.

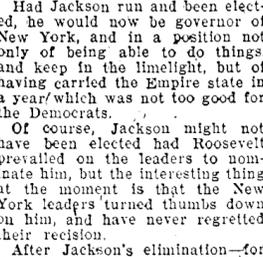

Then Mr. Health Put Harry Hopkins Out of the Picture. Two things happened to that. No one is sure precisely which of the two was the chicken and which was the egg, but one was that Hopkins was out of the picture on account of his health, and that while he was out of the picture the spenders and business baiters climbed into the saddle again—and are still there as this is written. Maybe if Hopkins had been well enough to fight the program with regard to business he certainly stood for when he was seeking confirmation as secretary of commerce things would have been different. Or maybe if the New Dealers had not become convinced that Harry's constitution would not permit the strain of running for the presidency things would have stayed put. It is difficult to tell. Perhaps even Roosevelt does not know the answer to that. Be that as it may, most New Dealers will tell you confidentially that they do not think Hopkins' health permits his consideration for the candidacy next year. Meanwhile Murphy is busily engaged not only in building himself up before the country, but in doing it in such a way as to overshadow the similar exploits of Thomas E. Dewey. President Will Win Battle To Continue Spending Policy. President Roosevelt will win the battle he forecast in his address before the American Retail Federation. The spending policy will continue, despite grumbling from conservative leaders, not only among the Republicans, but in the President's own party. There will be no reduction in the total taxes paid by business. In fact there is likely to be at least a small increase assuming that there is any tax revision at all. Some of the nuisance taxes on business may be repealed or revised, but if they are then the flat corporation income taxes will be boosted, so that the net effect will be to make successful companies pay more, though to ease the burden slightly on unsuccessful companies. There will be no marked curtailment of government competition with business. Unemployed will continue to be aided by work relief instead of by a dole, and social security benefits will be greatly extended. But in winning the battle Roosevelt runs a serious risk of losing the war. The chief reason why there will be no balancing of the budget, in fact increased spending, is not in sympathy on Capitol Hill with the President's economic theories, but the age-old desire for pork, and the necessity for log-rolling to get it—hence bigger and bigger appropriations.

Roosevelt Has Pork on His Side for the Moment. This sentiment against spending and the New Deal economic policies is not strong enough, yet, apparently, to insure revision of government spending. But it would be tomorrow if the pork element could be eliminated. Thus Roosevelt has pork on his side, for the moment, but the bigger the pork spending the more eager will the congressmen be to swat the next Roosevelt spending proposal which is not sufficiently greased. The defeat by the senate of the Florida ship canal is a perfect example of this. The Florida senators did their utmost to include the Florida canal in a logrolling combination, and as a matter of fact had more success than appeared on the final roll call. But Senator Arthur Vandenberg did such a good publicity job in branding this project that even Pat Harrison, whose state of Mississippi is interested in the canal, had to go to Sen. Claude Pepper and beg to be excused! Harrison had been making quite a play for this particular expenditure would have put him in an inconsistent position, to put it mildly. All of which spells more strength for the conservatives at the convention next year which will nominate the Democratic candidate for President. It explains the enormous apparent popularity for John Nance Garner, despite Garner's cloistered vocal chords. It explains the utter collapse of incipient booms for every New Dealer who has been put forward as Roosevelt's possible successor.

It explains the desperate efforts of the President to win Sen. James F. Byrnes, who has been rather vocal about the government's spending policy. —Try the Quiz Want Ads. They get results.

—Miss Lila Austin, who attended North Central Bible Institute at Minneapolis the past year, will not be home for vacation as she is employed in Chicago.

What these door to door peddlers don't think up! A few days ago one of them wanted "to board and room out" whatever repair work I could give him. And he had never seen me before, never been inside my house, did not know a thing about my cooking. How did he know we did not have bed-bugs, cockroaches, a lot of dirt? What morons they must think mid-westerners are. First they all went to college, then they all wanted to win a contest and only needed to sell one more. Now they are going "to board and room it out."

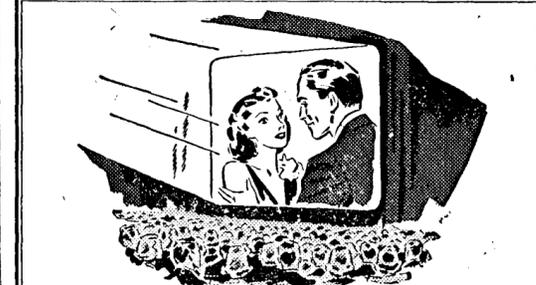

No doubt some of these people are deserving and need to make a living as badly as you or I, but it is difficult to feel sympathy for them after hearing of some of the antics they perform. There are still reverberations of the woman who claimed to be a former Ordite, and a Lincoln resident, and a P. E. O. and a dear friend of So-and-sos. She afflicted Ord last summer, took in a good many with her friendly air. A couple of weeks ago a crew of magazine subscription solicitors rummaged through the town during their "year local newspaper." They were not, and never had been, and could have not been prosecuted for the false statement they made. One of them made a statement to a friend while I was present, so I know I am not stating rumors in this instance, but the truth.

—oOo— This must be old-home week or something. Burwell is quite elaborately showing old things this week. One afternoon was detected to lamps, for example, and another to old gowns and bonnets, each day something different, but always something old. The program was inspired by historically interested citizens, and is well worth attending if you have time to drive up the valley tomorrow or the next day.

—oOo— Wednesday night at the band concert in Ord, tonight, several young ladies will model old-time gowns and hats from the court house platform. It is also inspired by the Loup Valley Historical Society, the old-timers club.

How Radio Helps You Enjoy the Movies. As you listen to the voices of your favorites of the screen you are benefiting by another of the many-sided sciences of radio. The recording and reproduction of motion picture sound is based to a large degree on radio principles. As is true of every branch of radio, RCA Laboratories play a great part in motion picture sound. RCA Photophone, known as the Magic Voice of the Screen, is used by leading producers in the making of sound pictures. It is the equipment for reproducing sound in more than 5,000 theatres. Photophone recording is done by ultra-violet light, to which photographic film is particularly sensitive. As a result the "sound track" is of exceptional accuracy. When you go to the movies look for the Photophone plaque. It is the sign of the finest motion picture sound. When you buy a radio remember that only an RCA Victor is backed by the same skill which produces Photophone Sound, and which is responsible for so many of the other great modern advances in radio.

A Beautiful Service Need Not Be Costly

For some time we have been showing the way to finer funerals, complete in every detail, at a cost unusually low. Perfection cannot be measured in dollars and cents. We make no price distinction in matters of service. Our one desire is to give a service of simplicity, distinction, beauty, and dignity. PEARSON-ANDERSON FUNERAL DIRECTORS

Miss Helene Starr, Popular Arcadia Girl, Was Married June 10 to Grant Young Man

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 10, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Starr in Arcadia, when their eldest daughter, Miss Helene, became the bride of Wendell Adams, of Grant.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. E. Howell, of the Congregational church. Preceding the ceremony Wm. Pfeiffer, of Hastings, sang two numbers accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Pfeiffer.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Pfeiffer, the attendants entered the room. They included: Lucille Starr, maid-of-honor, in a blue formal gown; Evelyn Adams, in a pink formal, Theone Adams, in an aqua formal, the two bridesmaids; Don Hamill, of Sterling, Colo., the groomsmen; Raymond Mercer, of Gibbon, and Lee Todd, of Max, the ushers. All took their places under an arch made up of white twined with ferns and sweet peas, with a white bell hanging in the center.

On the arm of her father the bride descended the stairway and took her place beneath the arch, as the groom entered from another entrance.

The bride was beautiful in a white net floor length formal with puffed sleeves, finger tip veil and orange blossom coronet. She wore her grandmother's pearls and carried an arm bouquet of white lilies of the valley and swansonia. Little Jo Ann Christ, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and carried the two rings on a white satin pillow. She was adorable in a blue organ-die dress.

The house was beautifully decorated with large ferns and home grown flowers and roses in baskets and vases.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served in charge of Mrs. C. C. Hawthorne, who was assisted by Mrs. Roy Norris, Mrs. S. B. Worden and Miss Neva Hawthorne.

The wedding party were the parents of the bride and groom, also Eddie Waltemath, of Curtis, Mrs. Inez Lewin, Martin Lewin, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Swanson, C. C. Hawthorne, John Hawthorne, Mrs. R. E. Howell and Norman, as well as the bridal party.

Open house was held from 2 until 4 p. m. and about fifty friends called to greet the bride and groom.

MRS. WENDELL ADAMS

A two course luncheon was served. Mrs. Lewin poured tea, assisted by Mrs. Melvin Swanson. Mrs. Adams, mother of the groom, in a pink lace dress, and Mrs. Starr, mother of the bride, in a blue lace dress, were seated near the gift table.

The bride was graduated from Arcadia high school in 1932 and from Hastings college in 1936. Following, she taught in the Arcadia schools two years and since has been employed in Chicago, where she will continue her work. Mr. Adams, a 1932 graduate of Grant high school and 1936 graduate of Hastings college, is a senior at Northwestern Medical School, Chicago.

A long time ago the old school house at Dist. 9 was sold and moved to the S. W. Roe farm and a new school took its place. All these years the writing on the old blackboard has been left. It was nearly gone in spots, and was traced over for the above photo. The words are correct, but the date at the top was so faint that it may not have been correctly copied, but it has been there at least a quarter of a century.

Power Difficulty May Be Settled Soon

Early settlement of the electric controversy between the city of Ord and the North Loup power and irrigation district is forecast this week by representatives of both sides of the controversy. A meeting of the power committees was held in Burwell the latter part of the week and negotiations will proceed.

From a reliable informant the Quiz learns that only one little word stands in the way of an immediate settlement. Guy Laverty, attorney for the district, insists that the word "provisions" be included in the new agreement, when referring back to the old 30-year contract. Dr. J. W. McGinnis, chairman of the power committee, wants the word "rates" used, as he claims that only the rates provided for in the old contract are retained in the agreement now under discussion.

A "buy and sell" arrangement is the basis of negotiations, the Quiz learns. The city of Ord would operate its own plant, sell electric energy to the district and buy it back at a slightly higher price, thus enabling the district to operate.

K. Sewell Wingfield, PWA administrator, was here from Kearney Tuesday and one of the district directors tells the Quiz that he expressed approval of the negotiations now under way.

First Telegraph Station Located at Brownsville

Nebraska, say research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, was located at Brownsville, August 29, 1860. Ex-Governor Furnas was editor of the Brownsville Advertiser at the time the telegraph office opened for business. He sent the first message to the editor of the St. Joseph Gazette asking about the weather and about the latest political news. The following reply was the first telegraph message received on Nebraska soil:

—Misses Zola Barta and Daisy Hallon, who are attending summer school at Kearney Normal, were week end visitors in Ord. They were accompanied here by Miss Kusek, of Elyria, who went on to her home.

3 Rains Enhance Crop Prospects

Three rains have visited parts of the valley in the past week. Thursday evening a storm formed almost directly above Ord and moved to the southeast. The fall was very light here, but a good rain is reported that evening from North Loup and most points south and east.

Friday evening there was a general rain all over this section of Nebraska. This was the first rain that gave the Arcadia territory its full share of moisture, all earlier rains hitting that section being much lighter than at other points. The amount in Ord Friday was .53 of an inch according to Horace Travis. Another general rain arrived at 6 p. m., Monday, it came slowly and steadily and continued until about midnight. The amount recorded in Ord was .79 of an inch, and reports indicate that this was a fair average for the territory around Ord. As on Friday, the rainfall was much heavier to the south and southwest.

Farmers are of the opinion that there will now be some small grain, even without any more rain, and the ground is now in splendid condition for a rapid growth of corn. In level fields moisture can be found to a depth of several feet. The extremely cold weather Saturday and Sunday may have destroyed many of the smaller grasshoppers, it is believed.

—Elmer Dowhower returned from Hot Springs, Ark., Tuesday evening. He had been there since November, and reports that he feels very much improved in health.

Saturday Sale

SALE STARTS AT 1:00 O'CLOCK

Last Saturday's Sale, there was a small consignment of stock, but in a way we were glad. Because, it shows a healthy condition of our trade territory, and an abundance of feed. Of course, this made a broad demand for all classes of stock. The buyers want cattle, and more cattle, from 500 pounds down. You people that have them to sell, will do well to bring them to this market. The fat hog market as you know has been declining but I still think that these pigs under 100 pounds at the present price of grain are a good buy. And, will show a splendid profit when fed out.

It looks like 100 head of cattle in Saturday's Sale. Including: 20 head of coming yearlings and 15 head of heifers, 35 bucket calves, balance stock cows, bulls and milch cows.

We will have a few good horses for Saturday's Sale, and we are trying to build up a horse market that will be reliable and one that the buyer can depend on.

75 head of hogs, including shoats and weanling pigs.

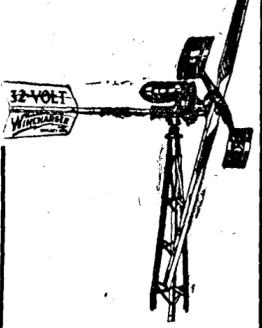

We had a market last Saturday on top fat hogs, of 30c off Omaha top which we think should be appreciated by the hog raisers of this territory.

Consign your stock to this market where every consignment either large or small is appreciated by this management.

Written by MRS. ETHEL HAMER

Donna Cox, Martha Miller, Mrs. Vere Leonard and Mrs. John Raglan were the committee in charge of the children's day program given Sunday morning at the Friends church. An abundance of beautiful flowers decorated the platform and made the children's songs and recitations more enjoyable. Mrs. Edwin Miller and Mrs. Anna Tappan returned on the Saturday evening bus from Central City where they had been attending the Friends yearly meeting. A club dance was held at the Legion hall Thursday night with a good crowd attending. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mills and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. DeVilbriis of St. Paul attended. Mr. and Mrs. Asa Clement returned from Omaha Thursday evening. The Floyd Wetzels, Greeley Gebharts, and the Martin Mrickvas spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Wetzel helping them celebrate their forty-sixth wedding anniversary. Rev. W. C. Birmingham went to Lexington Thursday to help plan for the Epworth League institute which will begin June 28. Joel accompanied him to Kearney and hitch-hiked to Beatrice from there. He wrote that he arrived at Beatrice at five o'clock the same evening, having had seven different rides. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Regier and Michael spent the week end at Henderson with the J. K. Regier's. The George Maxson family were supper guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Regier. W. O. Gillespie and Mrs. H. L. Gillespie returned Thursday from Tobias and York. Monday H. L. and W. O. Gillespie left for a short business trip to Douglas, Wyo. and after their return W. O. Gillespie will go to his home at Murdock and plans to accompany his daughter to Canada where they have a summer camp. Mrs. Inez Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Mills Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon and children were Thursday dinner guests of Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Hill. Sunday evening Rev. and Mrs. Hill and Teddy were supper guests in the Mills Hill home and all attended the show afterward. J. F. Earnest spent last week at the Guy Earnest home near Ravenna. The Guy Earnest family brought him home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George S. Mayo were guests at a picnic supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills Hill Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harmon returned to their home near Scottsbluff Monday and planned to go on to Boulder, Colo. where Mr. Harmon will attend summer school. Ed Wells is working on the road near St. Paul and stays in St. Paul. He spent Sunday afternoon at home. The annual meeting of the North Loup high school alumni association was held Tuesday night in the Seventh Day Baptist church basement and was attended by twenty-seven alumni. A number of other attractions the same night made the crowd smaller than common. A covered dish supper to which all contributed was served at 7:30. Willis Miller acted as toastmaster, making a "man on the street" program by interviewing a number of old graduates. Betty Jo Manchester gave a reading and a short roll call was held, each member giving the year of their graduation. Following the program the business session was presided over by president Marcia Rood, with Vesta Thorngate acting as secretary, pro-tem. The class of '39 turned over their funds to the association and were made members as a whole. Officers elected for the coming year are: president, Jessie S. Babcock; treasurer, Selma Robbins; executive committee, Willis Miller, Lois Barber and Ersel Goodrich. The matter of holding a chauntauva was left to the executive committee. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Baker of Ord who have never missed a meeting and Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Moulton of Battle Creek, Mich., were out of town guests. About fifty people attended the called township meeting held in the town hall Tuesday evening, June 6. The meeting was called to vote on a one mill levy for the townships share of the proposed new community building but was adjourned till June 20 that a written legal opinion might be obtained. If it is possible to do so the old town hall will be torn down and the material in it used along with that in the present community building and the old hotel. If the township is not able to act on the matter the village board will likely go ahead soon with the building. The grant for the proposed building was made some time ago and the plans have been made and can be seen at the office of the North Loup Lumber company. Eva Sheehan and Ethel Jeffries left early Saturday morning for Los Angeles. They picked up three passengers, a young lady from Lincoln and two young men from Giltner in Grand Island, and when last heard from were making excellent time on the trip. They plan to be in California till the latter part of the summer. Wanda Tucker is staying with Mrs. Spelling while Mrs. Sheehan is away. Ann Johnson spent the weekend with friends in Kearney. Arvona Noldo and Byron Fuller were home from Kearney over the weekend. A rain that amounted to .12 of an inch fell Tuesday night and another .64 Friday night. A cold wind blew all day Saturday and most of Saturday night and in some places there was trace of frost Sunday morning. Some bean and tomato vines were black. This is unusually late for frost. More showers Sunday made a total of 1.30 inches in a week. Allen Sims who is working on the road near Litchfield spent the weekend at home. Dr. and Mrs. Crosley, Dorothy Maxson and Elston Shaw, all of Milton, Wis., attended the services at the Seventh Day Baptist church Saturday morning. They were enroute to Boulder, Colo. where Miss Maxson, who teaches in the Union High at Milton, will attend summer school and the other members of the party will enjoy a short vacation. They had spent Friday night in Fremont, drove to North Loup for church services and resumed their journey after church. Iris Barber left Wednesday for Battle Creek, Mich., where Mr. and Mrs. Melton Barber had found employment for her. A mother-daughter banquet served Thursday evening in the parlors of the Methodist church was attended by sixty mothers and daughters and was ably served by the fathers and sons. The menu was: rice, potatoes, creamed chicken, creamed peas, vegetable salad, rolls, butter and jelly, angel food cake with whipped cream and strawberries, coffee and tea. The room was decorated to represent an old-fashioned garden and the program carried out the same idea. Mrs. M. R. Cornell acted as toastmaster. Mrs. Stella Kerr spoke on "planting and cultivating." Mrs. D. S. Bohrer on "What grows in my garden." Betty Jo Manchester told of the Forget-me-nots, Florence Hudson of the Rosebuds and Nettie Clark of the Lilies in their gardens. Mrs. Grace Holman and Hazel of La Mesa, Calif., Mrs. Lois Lincoln of Scotia, Mrs. Robert Harmon of Sunflower, Nebraska, Mrs. Inez Hill of Calif. and Inez Hill of Sunflower were out of town guests. The North Loup and Scotia Methodist Sunday Schools had a picnic at the Alfred Christensen farm Friday which ended a contest between the two Sunday Schools. North Loup being the loser and providing the place, entertainment and the drink. Mrs. A. C. Hutchins, Mrs. Betty Manchester and Mrs. Ivan Canedy acting as the committee in charge. Sandwiches and a covered dish were brought and both groups furnished an abundance of ice cream. Blest Be the Tie That Binds was sung before the dinner was served and after dinner Mrs. Canedy had charge of games and sports that took up the afternoon. About one hundred and fifty were present. Ben Nelson returned Sunday from Ainsworth where he had been for several days looking after his cattle. Mrs. Ben Nelson goes to Ord each day to take Miles to Dr. Parkins for eye treatments. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Garrett of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Garrett of Tulsa, Okla., were guests of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Jennie Hawkes, Thursday and Thursday night. They were enroute to Chicago to their home. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawkes of St. Edward also came over Thursday and all enjoyed the day at the Clifford Hawkes home. Mrs. Wm. Graff kept the Ideal Cafe that Mrs. Hawkes and Edna might have the entire time with their guests. A children's day program which was in charge of Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Reuben Malstrom, Mrs. Floyd Ingerson and Harriett Manchester was given at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Decorations for the occasion were arranged by Mary Frances Manchester and were very appropriate. A class of eighteen who have been taking a course in church membership were received into the church. Eleven of the number were baptized.

There is to be a Townsend club meeting Friday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. There will be a penny supper and the ladies are to bring cookies. Leafy spurge is one of four weeds condemned by an act of our state legislature in 1937. At that time a bill was passed which prohibits the sale of seed or feed containing bind weed, puncture vine, leafy spurge or Canada thistle. These weeds and four others make up a group that agronomists have outlawed and designated as noxious. The second four are quack grass, wild mustard, field dodder and wild oats. Perhaps the milk-tapping pennygrass should be listed also. All of them grow here. Townsend Club Meeting.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda
A new weed, leafy spurge, has invaded Valley county. This noxious perennial is establishing itself in a sturdy patch along the highway west of Bussell Park, and may also be found in other places nearby. Leafy spurge is said to be worse than bindweed in the northern section of Nebraska. Its presence locally was unknown until recently. Last season the state weed experts informed the writer that no patch existed nearer than Grand Island.

This weed reproduces itself by creeping rootstock as well as by seed. The creeping rootstock send out shoots and roots every few inches to start new plants. It crowds all other vegetation out, and depletes the soil of moisture to a great depth. Leafy spurge is hard to kill. Only sodium chlorate or clean cultivation will destroy it. The ground must be tilled about three times a month when using the latter method. Leafy spurge is one of four weeds condemned by an act of our state legislature in 1937. At that time a bill was passed which prohibits the sale of seed or feed containing bind weed, puncture vine, leafy spurge or Canada thistle. These weeds and four others make up a group that agronomists have outlawed and designated as noxious. The second four are quack grass, wild mustard, field dodder and wild oats. Perhaps the milk-tapping pennygrass should be listed also. All of them grow here. Townsend Club Meeting.

BECAUSE LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY- They Choose Firestone CHAMPION TIRES
FIRESTONE WINS 20th Consecutive Victory In Indianapolis 500-Mile Race
A merciless sun beat down upon the speedway as Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Champion Tires. The blistering brick of the main stretch and the granite-hard surface of the turns and the back stretch put tire safety to the test supreme! Record after record was shattered. Speeds reached as high as 160 miles an hour on the straightaways, as 33 of the fastest drivers in the world waged a breathtaking battle for gold and glory. Never before in all the history of the motor car have tires been put to such a torturous test. And never before has any tire so firmly established itself as a Champion in construction and performance, as well as in name. Here is dramatic proof of the extra strength which the revolutionary new Safety-Lock cord body provides in Firestone Champion Tires—of the extra protection against blowouts assured by the new and advanced Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process—of the extra mileage resulting from the tougher, wear-resisting rubber compounds in the sensational new Gear-Grip tread. No longer can there be any question of which tire is safest. One tire—and only one—provides these exclusive safety construction features. One tire—and only one—has been on the winning cars at Indianapolis for 20 consecutive years. Motor car manufacturers enthusiastically adopted the Firestone Champion Tire for their 1939 models. Order your new car equipped with this amazing tire. Or drive in and let us equip your present car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the onetire—and only one that is safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway. Mr. Orrington Reads Rooster Days Ad

Above is a very fine photo of Mr. Buff Orrington as he donned his glasses and read with interest the Rooster Days ad in the Ord Quiz. Later he made a great record for himself by eating no less than 550 kernels of corn. It was a great effort on his part, and he put on a real show for a large crowd until he gave up only twenty kernels short of the 600 kernels allotted to him. For his guess of 559 kernels, Wayne Johnson won the alarm clock offered by Auble Bros.

O'Toole and Family Attend Theater

Family night at the Ord Theatre was a grand success, but most families preferred taking the whole family for 30c to bringing a rooster, so the supply of roosters taken in there was limited. The special feature, "The Oklahoma Kid," was of a type to please both young and old. The bewhiskered farmer and his wife, who were soon recognized as B. C. Boquet and Elwin Auble, and their original rig and large family of youngsters all helped to add to the merriment Thursday evening.

The total purchases of old roosters for the eight places that purchased them was about 7,500 pounds, according to figures furnished by Manager Fred Coe of the Ord Co-operative Creamery. This is not a large amount, but two contributing factors accounted for the reduction. One was the fact that many farmers do not keep roosters, but buy baby chicks instead, and the other, that many roosters were eaten because they are cheap and other meats are high.

QUIZ FORUM

Shouldn't Buy Moudry Tract. Ord, Nebr., June 10, 1939

To the Quiz: I read with much interest the item in the Quiz this week in which the mayor and city council have decided to buy the Moudry tract of land for an athletic field.

First, I want to admit that I am not a resident or taxpayer in Ord, and for that reason perhaps it is not any of my business what is done about an athletic field. But when I read the item in the paper, I could not help but wonder if it is not another case of the tail wagging the dog.

About thirty years ago Mr. Bussell gave the city of Ord the park, it being understood that it was for the use of the general public, all of them, and not just a few. Ever since the golf course was laid out, the greater part of the park has been used by the golf players, practically to the exclusion of others in that part of the park.

At different times there have been baseball diamonds laid out and it proved to be an ideal place for that game. The past few years the football field has been there, and the games have attracted large numbers of people, all of whom were impressed with the fine setting for a football field.

It seems to me the 95% that do not play golf should have as much to say about where football and similar games should be played as the five percent do. There is not a finer location for an athletic field in Nebraska than where the field now is in the park, and I believe the majority of the people of Ord are in favor of keeping it there.

Why not put it to a vote and find out what the people want before spending a large sum of money developing a new field? I think that this would be the only fair way to handle a case of this kind.

It will cost Ord at least $2,000 for the new field, together with a lot of WPA funds. Why not get up a project to erect a stadium where the grounds now are in the park? It would cost no more, and when it was completed Ord would have something of which she could really be proud.

Anyway, as an outsider, I feel that the citizens of Ord should be consulted on a matter of so great importance as this.

Yours truly, A READER.

Pretty Double Wedding At Geranium Church

The Geranium Catholic church was the scene of a pretty double wedding in which Miss Edna Smolik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smolik, became the bride of Leonard Ptacnik, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ptacnik, and Miss Lillian Vincent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Vincent of northwest of Sargent, became the bride of Emil Smolik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Smolik. The couple were united at a nuptial mass.

A double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Sindowski. The couple were attended by Alice Holoun and Bill Petska and Emily Visek and Emanuel Smolik. The bridal party left the church amid a shower of rice and the clatter of tin cans, which adorned the bridal parties cars. After the ceremony a dinner was served to the immediate relatives and the pastor at the Lew Smolik home. A dance was given at the Bohemian hall in the evening a large group of friends danced to the music of the Joe Lukesh orchestra.

Wauweta Cummins Marries.

At 3:00 p. m. Saturday, June 10 at Broken Bow occurred the wedding of Miss Wauweta Cummins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Cummins, to Lowell Jones, son of Albert Jones. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. C. Staley in the Methodist parsonage. Miss Virginia Clark and George Knecht were their attendants.

The bride was attired in a violet dress with tuchsia accessories and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The bridesmaid wore lavender with white accessories.

Mrs. Jones is a graduate of Ord high school, class of 1935, and for three years taught in the rural schools of Valley county. Mr. Jones was a 1936 graduate of Ord high school.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for western Nebraska to visit friends and after June 25 will be at home on the old Kingsbury Hoff farm nine miles southwest of Ord where a new house is being completed.

Wheat Bases Being Set For 1940 ACP Program
The Agricultural Conservation Program is busy now setting wheat basis for 1940, and 3% of the county allotment will be used, if necessary, for new wheat farms. Any farmer who has not raised wheat since 1936 may request a wheat base for 1940. Any farmer requesting a wheat base for 1930 must state why or give a good reason for a wheat base. Anybody who is interested in wheat for 1940 should inquire at the ACP office.
The office has been checking ACP compliances and the farmers so far have planted within their acreage allotments. The work of checking began last Tuesday and the first check will be completed by July 1 if possible. The aerial maps are being used in making the check and farmers are showing a great deal of interest in the photographs of their farms.

Meet Ichneumon!

The strange looking insect in the fine photo is an Ichneumon, sometimes improperly called Ichneumon fly. It is not exactly a fly, but at first sight looks more like a mosquito with an abnormal thyroid gland. At the moment it, or rather, she, posed for the above photo, she was busy laying eggs. The peculiar looking arrangement with the high arch is called an ovipositor. The point makes a hole in the ground and the eggs are forced through it and planted where they hatch later. Most Ichneumons deposit their eggs in the bodies of other insects. When they hatch, the larvae make a quick end of the insect. The grasshopper is one of the insects subject to attacks by the Ichneumon. There are perhaps fifty varieties of this insect, and all of them are useful. Some are large and some very small, but they all look much as the one above does. So if you happen to see any of them, do not destroy, for they are a true friend of man.

Comstock Will Celebrate

At least one town in this territory will celebrate the 4th of July the Comstock Businessmen's club deciding to do so at a recent meeting held at the Mutter cafe. Committees have been appointed to have charge of the various arrangements. The finance committee got busy at once, and announce that the required amount of funds has been raised. Those who have celebrated in Comstock in the past say that it is a real town to show visitors a good time.

Max Foth Passes At Ed Cook Home

Max Foth, a long time resident of the Mira Valley neighborhood, passed away at the Ed Cook home at 3:15 Friday afternoon, after an illness which kept him in bed for a week. He had never married, but made his home with friends in the valley, where he was employed most of the time he lived here.

Mr. Foth was born Nov. 27, 1877, at Reden, Germany, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gotfrey Foth. He came to America as a young man, and was employed in a shoe factory in Milwaukee for seven years, a trade he learned in Germany. He came to Mira Valley more than thirty years ago and has made his home here since that time. He worked for Will Koelling 16 years.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. C. Matthews of Scaapooe, Ore., one niece, Mrs. Freda Gerlicke of Berkeley, Calif., one aunt, Mrs. Emil Foth of Ord, and numerous other relatives.

The funeral, with Pearson and Anderson in charge, was held from the Mira Valley Evangelical church Monday at 2 p. m., with Rev. J. A. Adams, the pastor, in charge of services. Music was furnished by a male quartet. Mrs. Archie Ge-weke and Mrs. Alfred Burson had charge of the flowers. The pall bearers were all old time friends: John Bell, Edward Lenz, John Frieb, E. P. Cook, George S. Boettger and Will Koelling.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

It rained about show time at Hugo's Friday evening, and somebody had his car parked on the west side of the lot, just north of where the ticket wagon was located. He couldn't back out after the show because of the mud, so he drove across the walk and down the diagonal path to the southeast corner of the lots, then out into the street there.

Asa has a habit of doing exactly as he is told at the Quiz office, but sometimes he almost overdoes it. One evening recently the clock ran down, and he was asked to set it. He did so, and the next morning it was still at the same place, as as he did not wind it nor start it.

Last week the public had two opportunities to see very unusual natural phenomena. On Thursday evening after the rain two complete rainbows of surpassing beauty were seen in the southeast. Friday evening two nearly complete rainbows appeared in the southeast at sun down and the upper part remained visible after the sun had sank too low to show the part next to the ground. On the bus Friday afternoon were about 20 guinea pigs which were being taken to the Norton Laboratories at Grand Island. They were raised by Clifford Anderson of Burwell, who finds them interesting and profitable.

Freighters Cooked Own Meals in Early Days

In the days before the railroad crossed the plains supplies came to forts and trading posts in large freight wagons. Often the freighters spent several days, or even weeks, on the trail. They cooked for themselves. With scant supplies of food and fuel, and sometimes even of water, they had to make of their cooking, according to research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, a fine art. The following incident, as witnessed by an early eastern hunter on the western plains, is typical of the cooking of these old-time freighters.

The freighter, according to the hunter, who came upon him one evening as he was getting supper, had staked out his mules and was busy splitting up wood in small sticks. An old hand at freighting, the man knew how many steps he would have to make where he could get no firewood. For each he carried a piece of pine timber 6 x 6 about 3 inches long. Having cleared a spot on the prairie, he twisted up a handful of dry grass and laid it down with eight or ten small sticks over it. Then he stood a sheet of tin behind the pile to act as a wind-break. In a minute the fire blazed under bacon and coffee.

He poured flour in a can, put in salt and baking powder and stirred it vigorously with a spoon. When the meat had cooked, he took it out; into the hot grease he poured this mixture of flour and other things that was to become "bull whacker's bread," or "scrugene."

When the dough had been smoothed out in the frying pan he propped the pan beside the fire, where it remained until the dough was brown on one side. He turned it as one turns flap-jacks.

His whole meal consisted of the bull whacker's bread, bacon, and coffee, with bacon-grease for butter and sorghum for sweetening. The next morning he had a meal much like his supper, and left early.

Now you can have the Independence of an All-Crop Harvester. Two sizes of the All-Crop Harvester. Model 40 (upper) $345. Model 60 (lower) $625. The size of your farm makes no difference! There is now a one-man ALL-CROP HARVESTER for your size farm, for your tractor, for all the grains, beans and seeds you grow. You can forget about the old days of binding, shocking, threshing, big bills, delay, risk, worry, feeding gangs of men. You can grow soil-conserving crops like grasses and legumes—and harvest valuable seed. You save down, tangled crops; save straw if you need it. All this—besides saving up to 10 cents a bushel in harvesting cost! See us NOW! THIS IS AN IDEAL YEAR TO BUY AN ALL-CROP HARVESTER. Most grain is very short in the Loup Valley region and the All-Crop Harvester is the best machine on the market for harvesting short grain. NO GRAIN TOO SHORT is All-Crop's claim, and we are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Much grain is weedy, also, but that makes no difference to the All-Crop. You'll have no dockage because of weed seeds in the grain if you harvest the All-Crop way. Terms can be arranged, of course. ANDERSON MOTOR COMPANY, ORD, NEBRASKA. Annual Picnic of Old Settlers Was Largely Attended

Most Successful Ever Held in Point of Interest; 1940 to Taylor Also.

Sunday the Trail of the Loup picnic was held at Taylor, and was one of the best old settlers' picnics ever held.

They represented a large part of Central Nebraska, with a fair delegation from Cotesfield, a fine attendance from Sargent, representatives from Anselmo and Brewster, and a good representation from all towns between.

The preliminary part of the program was held in Taylor Hall, where a large table was arranged in a U shape for the honored guests and a dinner was given in their honor.

In the meantime other groups were eating their picnic dinners in the park, which is one of the finest of the kind in this part of Nebraska.

While the program was going on in the hall the Loup Valley band, under the direction of Glen Auble, was furnishing music from the stand in the center of the park.

A. J. Auble was on hand early with his public address system, which was put up high in the trees making it possible for every one in the large crowd to hear the program.

Mr. Van Diest then read a story of the early days of the North Loup valley and Ft. Hartsuff written by Thurman A. Smith of Taylor and recently published in the Grand Island Independent.

Cahill Tells Rotarians About Yale University

Fred Cahill, jr., a graduate student at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., who is spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cahill, gave a talk about life at Yale before the Ord Rotary club Monday evening.

In a sometimes humorous, occasionally cynical but always interesting manner, young Cahill described the famous university. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, from which he also holds a master's degree and is now working for his doctorate in political science at Yale.

County Assessor Brox Gives Annual Summary

In a summary of the assessment work given the county board by County Assessor A. R. Brox a number of items of general interest appeared. The total number of schedules this year was 2,921, as compared with 2,925 for last year.

The total tangible valuation this year is $1,648,150, as compared with $1,459,250 for last year, a gain of $188,900, or a net increase of 10.6 per cent.

This is in line with the general trend that when tangibles show a gain the intangibles show a loss, and vice versa. There are 2,623 motor vehicles taxed this year as compared with 2,606 in 1938.

George White, Arcadia, Dies of Heart Attack

Wednesday afternoon the Arcadia community was shocked when it was learned that one of its best known and most popular citizens had passed away suddenly of a heart attack.

Dr. Joe Baird was called, but nothing could be done, as he was already dead. He was a widower, his wife having passed away about 15 years ago, and leaves six children, four of whom are at home.

Mrs. Thomas Redlon Buried at Lead, S. D.

Through the courtesy of Clarence M. Davis, the story of the recent death and burial of a former North Loup woman, Mrs. Thomas Redlon is made available to Quiz readers. The Redlons, who lived for many years at North Loup, moved to Lead, S. D., where Mr. Redlon who had been elected municipal judge, passed away on July 27, 1938.

Mrs. Redlon was living at Seattle at the time of her death on June 7, and the body was returned to Lead where interment was made in the Masonic cemetery beside the body of her husband, the commitment rites of the Episcopal church being conducted at the grave.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Anderson are parents of a son born Tuesday morning with Dr. C. J. Miller in attendance.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Loeffler Held This Morning

Ord Woman Who Celebrated 60th Wedding Anniversary Last Week Dies Sunday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anton Loeffler, who passed away Sunday afternoon, were held from the Ord Catholic church at 9:00 a. m. today, interment being made in the Ord cemetery.

Helen Sand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Sand, was born at Ft. Madison, Ia., June 22, 1860, and was only four days less than 79 years of age at the time of her death.

The funeral is to be held from Bolesyn church west of Elyria tomorrow morning at 9 a. m. Rev. Shumski of Elyria in charge. Mr. Baran was born May 18, 1874 in Poland, and was 65 years, 1 month and 5 days old at the time of his death.

With the 1939 assessment records for Custer county practically complete with the exception of any minor changes which may be made by the board of equalization, the valuation of all tangible property is shown as $4,255,910 as compared with $3,370,425 for 1938.

Custer County Showing Increase in Valuation

Severson Refuses to Work: 'Bread and Water Only,' Says Co. Judge

Last week Virgil Severson was sentenced to serve 25 days in county jail at hard labor when he was found guilty by Judge John L. Andersen of defrauding Mrs. Mary K. Sharp of a $42.90 board bill. Monday morning, when assigned to help Custodian Dave Haught with lawn work, Severson refused to labor.

Throughout Monday, Tuesday and so far today the young man has been getting only bread and water. Regular meals will be resumed when he expresses a willingness to work, Judge Andersen says.

Stanley Baran Dies Of Heart Ailment

Stanley Baran, farmer who has lived west of Elyria for many years, passed away Tuesday at four minutes past noon at his home, the cause of his death being heart failure, aggravated by tooth trouble.

The funeral is to be held from Bolesyn church west of Elyria tomorrow morning at 9 a. m. Rev. Shumski of Elyria in charge. Mr. Baran was born May 18, 1874 in Poland, and was 65 years, 1 month and 5 days old at the time of his death.

Lee Appeal Case Is Being Heard By Judge L. Lightner

County Attorneyship is Again Under Fire; Judge Asks Contestants for Briefs.

Alvin Lee's appeal from the decision of the county judge in the case wherein John P. Misko contested Lee's election to the office of county attorney is being heard in the district court here yesterday and today.

The only witness called Tuesday by John Misko was Ign. Klima, who testified as to the condition of the ballots when received. Considerable time was spent and stipulations were made relative to the official count, the recount and the votes contested.

Witnesses called by Lee today included Selma Robbins, G. W. Drawbridge, Gilbert J. Myers, Joe Absolon, J. H. Eyerly, Murray Rich, A. R. Brox, A. W. Pirce, Ign. Klima and Dave Haught. Mr. Haught was on the stand at twelve, and was the last witness to be called before noon.

Evidence closed this afternoon at 1:15. Contestant was given ten days to file a brief. Contestee was given ten days thereafter in which to file a reply brief.

St. Paul Boosters in Ord Tuesday, June 27

Headed by a St. Paul band of 40 pieces, a caravan of fifty cars will be in Ord at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday, June 27, to advertise the golden jubilee celebration of the St. Paul fire department which will be held in St. Paul two days, July 3 and 4.

The delegation is visiting 23 central Nebraska towns. Members of the St. Paul Whisker club will pass out treats to the children in each town.

Knights of Columbus Hold Annual Election

Thursday evening the Knights of Columbus of Ord met and elected the following officers for the coming year: Grand knight, Syl Purtak, deputy grand knight, James Petska, chancellor, Joe Petska, treasurer, Frank Kapustka, Advocate, Leonard Placnik, warden, Frank Krikac, recorder, E. L. Vogeltanz, inside guard, Dr. P. J. Ostrowski, and outside guard, Steve Garkoski.

The offices of financial secretary, lecturer and chaplain are appointive. A new financial secretary will be installed due to the fact that the newly elected grand knight is financial secretary. Emil Sedlacek is present lecturer and Rev. T. C. Murray of Burwell is chaplain. Due to the fact that the present grand knight, Dr. J. G. Kruml, was recently elected state secretary of Cosmopolitan clubs, he asked to be excused from further service in the office.

Stoddard, Carlson, Speak At Cosmopolitan Meet

Gerald Stoddard, who attended the recent session of Boys' State at Lincoln through the courtesy of the Cosmopolitan club, was the guest of the club at their meeting Monday night, and gave a most interesting account of the work done there. Government in all its branches was carried on at the camp, and the boys were kept busy in meetings and recreations from morning until night.

LeRoy Frazier, in charge of entertainment then introduced E. O. Carlson, also a guest, and he gave a brief summary of the history of butter and buttermaking, showing that it was first used as a cosmetic. He showed how the use of butter as a food had increased with the invention of modern machinery, and especially since the idea of using pasteurized cream had been introduced.

Another Soaking Rain Fell On Tuesday Night

Beginning with a very light shower Tuesday noon, more rain came about 5 p. m. and still more early this morning until a total of .67 of an inch of moisture had fallen, according to the report of Horace Travis, weather man. Like all the rains this year, it came slowly, and practically all of it soaked into the ground. It arrived just when it was needed, as the surface soil was becoming quite dry.

Saturday was the one really disagreeable day of the past week, the wind blowing with terrific force from the south and sending clouds of dust along the streets and roads. The temperature rose to a high of 94 degrees. During the day gardens were damaged by the wind, and many limbs were blown off the trees.

Softball practise was rained out Tuesday night, and has been postponed until tomorrow, Thursday, night. All those interested in the same are cordially invited to be at the fairground diamond at 7 p. m.

Chas. Sheppard, St. Paul, Killed by Truck in Omaha

Mrs. David Wigent of Ord received word from her son Will Saturday, that his wife's brother, Charles Sheppard of St. Paul, Neb., had been run over and killed by a truck in Omaha. Will and his wife and daughter were on the way to Ord from Chicago for a visit when the accident occurred.

The body was brought to St. Paul where funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Harkness drove to St. Paul Tuesday morning to attend the funeral. Following the funeral Mr. and Mrs. Will Wigent and daughter were to come to Ord for a visit with his mother, sister and other friends and relatives here.

SUBMARINE DISASTERS.

Last week the country was shocked for the third time by the news that a large submarine had sunk with all on board. This time it was a French ship, the Phoenix, and it appears that the fate of the entire crew was sealed from the moment the ship went down.

In the case of the American boat, the Squalus, equipped with the latest in life saving apparatus, more than half of the men were saved. The Thetus, not so well equipped, saved but four of its crew of more than one hundred.

Then, as now, the fault is not with the German people. The democracies today are not dealing with the German people, but with the Hitler government that controls the people. It may be that this vast and powerful organization had nothing whatever to do with the sinking of these ships, with the attendant frightful loss of life.

There is an opportunity for all fishermen in this section to have a try at the mullets and find out what they can do in the line of getting the biggest ones. A mullet is a mullet, you know, and is a fine fish to catch, in view of the fact that they never cut your line.

MULLET FISHING.

A certain very fine old lady of New York state claims to be the champion mullet fisherwoman of America, and advances as proof the fact that she recently captured unaided a member of that fish family that tipped the scales at 14 pounds.

So here is an opportunity for all fishermen in this section to have a try at the mullets and find out what they can do in the line of getting the biggest ones. A mullet is a mullet, you know, and is a fine fish to catch, in view of the fact that they never cut your line.

PROSPECTS FOR CROPS.

For the first time in ten years crops in Valley county look much as they used to do before the days of depression, drought and demerol. Go where you will, all the crops are promising large returns for 1939.

There is one fly in the ointment, however, and that is the fact that there is very little grass in the upland pastures. In most places the continued dry weather killed out all the native grass and all you see on the hillsides is either weeds or some type of grass that the cattle do not care for.

Along with the prospects for a crop comes another encouraging sign, and that is the higher morale of the farmer. He is always the greatest optimist in the world, as well as the greatest gambler, for he plants his seed with no certainty that he will raise a crop.

JUNE, THE DAIRY MONTH.

We are now in the midst of the month of June, officially designated as "Dairy Month." In this connection it might be well to take a look at some of the things that are being done in high places which have a decided effect upon the dairy industry.

For example, the U. S. bureau of prisons has decided to buy no butter for the coming year, but to use oleomargarine exclusively for table use and cooking in all penal institutions. An endeavor is being made to pass a bill in congress which will prohibit the use of funds for the purchase of oleomargarine.

Representative Griswold of Wisconsin, the nation's leading dairy state, says that imports of Canadian farm products and the threat that these imports will be increased is the direct cause of the present disastrous condition of the agriculture and dairy market.

Along with all other lines of the farm produce the dairy industry is suffering from the bugaboo of over production. There is not so much competition from foreign countries in butter, but the cocoanut product is entirely foreign, and much of the oleo is made from hogs shipped in from outside the United States.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Nisswa, Minn. June 13, 1939
Dear Quiz Readers:
I like to think that some of you were disappointed last week, because this department was missing, but presume that my mention of the matter will be the first you know of it not being in.

We left camp at six a. m. Thursday, June 8 and drove to Duluth where the first stop was made for gas and some small purchases, then on to Gooseberry state park, where we stopped for a picnic dinner that we had prepared and taken along. There is a large stone building in the park with a public kitchen on one side, where built in, or stoned in, iron stoves and ovens makes camping a pleasure.

There is running water with enameled sinks and faucets, plenty of stove wood piled in where it is dry and everything is convenient. The openings are large arches, making the building plenty airy on a cold, windy day. The floor is cement and picnic tables and benches fill the large floor.

Tables and benches all around outside under the trees and one can have sun or shade just as they like. Last Thursday was warm and we chose an outside table partly in the sun and partly in the shade so all could be pleased. We made a big pot of coffee and greatly enjoyed that for dinner, as we ate breakfast shortly after five a. m., and it was noon when dinner was ready.

The next stop was at Manitowish river and we hiked up the stream and over a very high bluff to see the falls of the same name and were well repaid. Ray and I took trout rods along and he did some fishing, getting one nice brook trout of a pound or better and several small ones but it was swift water and slippery rocks and hard climbing.

Friday morning bright and early, we, Ray and I, armed with trout rods and worms (too early in the season for flies) were ten or twelve miles northwest of Grand Marais followed the most highly recommended brook and started fishing, he going up stream while I went down. And such a place to fish, and such mosquitoes. It was a tangled swamp, the place being full of brush, fallen and rotted logs, in many places the water would be out of sight under the tangled mass for a rod or more, but there were trout there and at the end of three hours I came out with my limit of 15, none large but all eating size. Ray says the small ones are better than the large ones to eat.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Reviewed by CARTER FIELD

No longer any doubt that Garner is a real candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. Democratic leaders are doing their utmost to prevent further opening up of the general tax situation. I. C. C. hearings disclose that Canadians have grabbed the shipment of the bulk of American-grown wheat.

WASHINGTON.—It is now obvious that John Nance Garner is a real candidate for the Democratic nomination for President next year whether President Roosevelt does choose to run for a third term or not. Incidentally, there is one mystery about Garner which ought to be cleared up right now.

It was to get around this difficulty that the newspaper men while Coolidge was President, invented the mythical "White House Spokesman." Lots of people throughout the country assumed that there really was a "Spokesman." They were right. It was Calvin Coolidge.

There was a slip-up on this, incidentally, a few days ago in connection with the Hatch bill to outlaw participation in the election of government workers in the elections of federal officers (the original bill would have made possible participation in primaries and the election of delegates to national conventions as well).

But while the old New York World attacked Coolidge bitterly for putting out propaganda under quotation marks assigned to the "White House Spokesman" present critics of Garner, in magazine articles and elsewhere, are attacking the vice president on the other flank.

Another type of comment from New Deal sources which Garner has had to take, or break his rule by denying, is that he is really in full sympathy with the New Deal, and that all the newspaper stories about his being the brains behind some of the anti-New Deal strategy on Capitol Hill are the bunk.

One abundant crop here seems to be woodticks this season, as we find plenty of them almost everywhere we go about in the grass. Their season is about over however and, anyhow, they seem to be harmless hereabouts. But finding one makes us feel for hours that we are covered with them.

-A. W. Frederick and son Wesley of Burwell were visitors in Ord Saturday.
-Mrs. Mattie McDonald Davis, widow of the late Herb Davis, well known here and at Burwell, arrived here Monday and will spend some time visiting friends in both towns.
-Gilbert Konvalin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Konvalin, arrived in Ord at 10:30 Friday evening, and will visit friends and relatives for about two weeks.

Business Interests Hold Their Fire for the Senate

As a matter of fact, however, most business interests having an idea that they might get somewhere in the tax changes are not figuring on the house at all.

For example, if their proposition is contained in the house bill as it is passed, then all they have to do is to watch to see that the senate does not strike it out. Anyway, they would have a chance in conference when the drafts of the bills as passed by the house and senate are adjusted by the conferees.

Important Facts Gleaned At I. C. C. Freight Hearing
Nobody paid much attention to hearings conducted by the interstate commerce commission in which the operators on the old Erie canal—the New York Barge canal—were to be exact—testified against the cut in freight rates on grain by the railroads from New York to Buffalo.

What the railroads did was to reduce the rate per bushel on grain from Buffalo to New York from 6.7 cents to 5 cents flat. The canal operators claimed that this would ruin them—that they had to have a differential under the railroad rates because of the longer time required, higher insurance, etc.

But the truth is that any reputable newspaper man in Washington has very little difficulty in finding out where Garner stands on anything though he will come home without the bacon if his editor insists on quotation marks.

Another type of comment from New Deal sources which Garner has had to take, or break his rule by denying, is that he is really in full sympathy with the New Deal, and that all the newspaper stories about his being the brains behind some of the anti-New Deal strategy on Capitol Hill are the bunk.

Something Different

Did you notice there were wolves all over the front page of the Quiz last week? Up at the top in a picture full of snow were Ariene and Maxine, the Wolfe twins.

At the bottom of the same page was Harry Wolfe, their father, with a fish and some other fellows! Also quite a few Cummins in the paper lately. One Cummins bride and then a second ditty, not to mention several pictures of Bert Cummins buying popples, talking to the neighbors, etc.

The flower, name unknown, festoons a dining room window with large pointed waxy-looking leaves, and many a head of white blossom. The flowers are difficult to describe, but beautiful, each head being made up of many small white star shaped flowerets with a smaller reddish center.

Visitors to this community and old-time residents back for a visit always remark about one thing—that good weiners and bologna they get to eat in Ord!

Mike Perliniski missed the good weiners and bologna made in the Pecenka and Perliniski meat market in Ord so very much that he sent back to Ord for a shipment. Mike hollered about the poor taste these meats had when he bought them in California markets, and wrote that his mouth was watering for the Ord products.

So when you are counting your blessings, those available because you live in Ord, include the good food we have here, especially our weiners and bologna.

It rather seemed to me the fellow who wrote the Quiz about the desirability of using Bussett Park for a more varied program of amusements, in place of busily acquiring a new athletic field in west Ord, proved his point.

What did you think? The letter ran in last week's Quiz, look it up and read it if you missed it before.

OBITUARY

George White, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner White, was born at Cairo, Nebr., June 14, 1887. While yet youthful, his family moved to Wood River where he grew to manhood. On January 4, 1910 he was united in marriage with Sophia Mullen. This union was blessed with six children: Evelyn, Kathryn, Margaret, Dorothy, Belva and George.

In 1911 Mr. White moved from Wood River to Lexington. He resided there for seven years; then moved to Arcadia and has resided here since.

Mrs. White died February 18, 1935. Since the death of his wife Mr. White has constantly kept his family together and has had the joy of seeing the children come to majority under his sheltering roof. His devotion to his family has been outstanding.

He is survived by all his children, three grandchildren, seven sisters and five brothers. His sisters are Mrs. C. A. Wickard of Friona, Tex., Mrs. Robert Willy, Baldwin Park, Calif., Mrs. T. F. McDonald, Aurora, Neb., Mrs. Will Burdmoor, Wood River, Nebr., Mrs. Jess Sare, Omaha, Nebr., Mrs. George Mennally, Grant, Ia., Mrs. Earl Stone, Los Angeles, Calif. The brothers are Harry C. of Grand Island, Ben of Kearney, A. C. of Hastings, Fred of Los Angeles, Calif., and Carl of Long Beach, Calif.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 10 o'clock in the Methodist church, Rev. E. A. Smith officiating. Burial was at Lexington by the side of his wife. Pall bearers were E. H. Rambo, A. C. Mathers, H. Woody, Fred Stone, Ray Pester and Fred Milburn.

RCA Service Includes Victor and Bluebird Records
The phonograph record was originally hailed as one of the wonders of all time. Today, Victor and Bluebird Records are better and finer than ever. Their superb quality is due in large part to the application of radio principles discovered in RCA Laboratories. By applying radio discoveries to the making of records, and to the RCA Victrolas used for reproducing them, a faithfulness of sound is attained which surpasses anything for which the original inventors of the phonograph dared to hope.

She is able to hobble around but the break is quite painful. Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dworak, sr., are leaving Friday by auto for Omaha where they will visit their son, Joe L. Dworak and family, and their daughter, Mrs. Charles Severn. They also plan to visit several days at Bellwood with George Dworak and family. Mr. and Mrs. Leland Barrett and daughter Dyck Lorraine and his mother, Mrs. H. C. Barrett of Lincoln returned Sunday evening from a trip to Little Rock and Hot Springs, Ark., and Kansas City, Mo., where they were visiting relatives. They left Ord June 9. Norman Not a Buyer for the Ord Market A correction in last week's item about Frank Norman's attempted suicide is requested by M. B. Cummins, owner of the Ord Livestock Market. The item stated that Mr. Norman is a buyer for the market. This was not correct, states Mr. Cummins, as the Ord market has no buyers out. Mr. Norman bought livestock on his own account and consigned them to the market for sale, but did not represent the market in any purchases, says Mr. Cummins. Quiz Want Ads get results.

R - R SERVICE STATION Richard Rowbal, Prop.

What should a funeral cost?

That is a question people often ask us. And in reply we always answer: "What you choose to pay depends entirely upon your own wishes, for you know best what you can afford. We offer services at prices as low as any available elsewhere. Our services are just as complete in every case." And that is true. We provide the same high standard of service for every funeral. Whether the rites are simple or elaborate, you decide. We think you will agree that this is a just, sensible policy.

He is using the new drug, sulphapyridine, in treating her, and said that her temperature was normal yesterday and that he has hopes for a complete recovery in spite of her advanced age. This drug was developed in England and is almost a specific for certain types of pneumonia, doctors say.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Vodehnal and children of North Loup were in Ord on business Tuesday afternoon. The daughter, Idona Ann, had her fourth birthday on Monday.

—All summer hats are now priced from 50c to $1.98. Chase's Toggery, 13-14c.

—Oscar Nay, who has spent the past winter in San Diego, arrived in Ord Tuesday and spent a few hours with relatives and friends, leaving in the afternoon for Elgin where his brother's ranch is located. He came to Nebraska from Bayport, Minn., where he had been visiting, and from Elgin planned to go to Del Rio, Tex., where he is interested in an oil well being drilled under the direction of Charles Detweiler, former Ord man. Oscar has forsaken the printing profession he followed so many years. This winter he has been manufacturing auto trailers at San Diego but he is financially interested in oil wells in Oklahoma and Texas and spends much of his time in that work.

—Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Miller and daughter Mary returned Friday from Sheridan, Wyo., where they spent several days following the wedding of Miss Dorothy Williams and Vern Weller, which took place at Casper, Wyo., on June 10. Dr. Miller enjoyed a very successful day of trout fishing in the Big Horn mountains near Sheridan.

Round Park News

Mr. and Mrs. John Pesek, sr., were last Sunday evening visitors at Joe Kamarad's.

Mrs. John Kamarad, sr., who has been staying at the Steve Gruber home near Sargent, helping to care for the new baby girl, returned to her home last Sunday. The new baby has been named Carol Ann.

Joe Kamarad, Evelyn and Richard and Raymond Waldmann autoed to Hastings last Wednesday where Richard, who has been having considerable ear trouble, was taken to a specialist. He was obliged to stay there for further treatment, the rest of the party returning home the same evening.

Mrs. Will Waldmann accompanied them as far as Grand Island where she consulted an eye specialist and also visited with relatives. She returned home with the rest of the party the same evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown and their mother, Mrs. Louisa Brown spent Sunday with Mrs. Brown's parents, the Hall family, of near Anselby.

Several from our community autoed to Taylor last Sunday afternoon taking up some members of the Comstock band, who in company with the Burwell band furnished music for the old settlers' picnic held at that village that day.

Joe Kamarad autoed to Hastings early Sunday morning after his son Richard, who has been receiving treatment from Dr. Foote. We are glad to state that he is getting along nicely.

Quite a number from this neighborhood attended the surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. John Kamarad, jr., at the Jungman hall Sunday evening.

Joe Kamarad and son Richard called at James Sedlacek's for cane seed Sunday evening.

Low Redja vaccinated some pigs for John Pesek, sr., last Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pesek, jr., spent last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Pesek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruzicka of near Sargent.

A fine rain of 3/4 of an inch fell here last Monday evening and night which was greatly appreciated. However we again need rain for pastures and small grain. The grasshoppers are getting real bad as in many places such as alfalfa fields and pastures which are now beginning to dry up the hoppers are moving into corn fields and the small grain fields in swarms. Most people are spreading poison bran, but as they are getting so thick it does not seem to do a lot of good and the outlook for the farmer now looks rather bad.

—Frank Norman is recovering from self-inflicted gunshot wounds and soon will be able to leave the Ord hospital. An operation was performed Saturday and shot and wads from the 410 gauge shotgun shell were removed from his back and side.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY YOUR All-Crop Harvester

We have just 15 of these 1-man combines on our floor and when they are sold we will be unable to fill further orders, for the Allis-Chalmers factory is now behind in production.

This is the year to buy your All-Crop Harvester. With short grain, weedy grain, ordinary methods of harvesting won't do the job properly. No grain is too short for the All-Crop; even down grain doesn't feaze it. And it will do a CLEAN JOB of harvesting any kind of grain or seed crop.

Come in and let us show you the All-Crop and tell you the All-Crop story. Terms can be arranged if you desire.

For you THE INDEPENDENCE OF A ONCE-OVER HARVEST

FOR 1-PLOW TRACTOR WITH POWER TAKE-OFF

Now you can have a "family harvest" on your farm. The new, smaller size, Model 40 All-Crop Harvester is designed for 1-plow tractor power. Harvests up to one acre an hour. Handles all small grains, beans and seed crops—a once-over harvest.

FOR FULL 2-PLOW TRACTOR POWER

The popular Model 60 All-Crop Harvester is operated by a full 2-plow tractor with power take-off. Harvests all your small grains, beans and seeds.

TWO SIZES OF THE ALL-CROP HARVESTER

Harvest independence is now a reality—for ALL farms. Regardless of your acreage . . . you can now have all the benefits of a one-man, once-over harvest—labor-saving benefits, cost-cutting benefits, profit benefits! Without extra help and without depending on custom outfits . . . you can cut and thresh your own crop with the size of All-Crop Harvester best suited to your farm. You have the seed of soil-building crops with the All-Crop System of Farming. You save several cents a bushel on your harvesting and threshing. See us NOW!

It did not bother him very much at first, but it has grown worse, and the first of the week he had to get about with the use of crutches.

RUPTURE

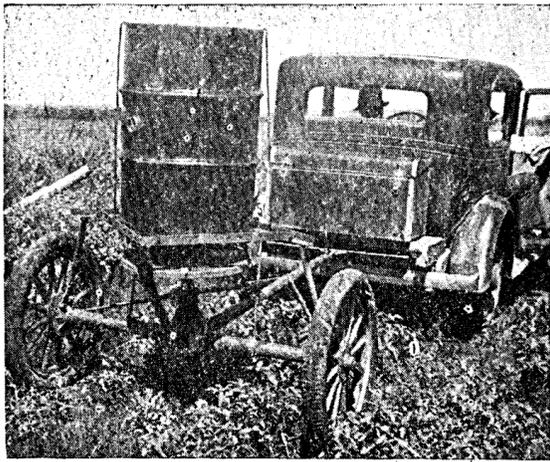

SHIELD EXPERT HERE

H. M. SHEVHAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Yancey Hotel, Grand Island, Saturday and Sunday, only, June 24 and 25, from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Mr. Shevhan says: The Zoetie Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, and strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments. Mr. Shevhan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

Add: 6111 N. Richmond St., Chicago. Large Incisional Hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

New Machine Will Kill Millions of Hoppers

With this home made bait spreader built by Virgil (Deacon) McBurney to specifications furnished by the Valley county farm bureau, millions of grasshoppers will be killed this summer. Pulled behind a car going at average speed, this machine spreads poison over 30 to 50 acres in an hour's time. A 30 foot strip of poison bait is laid down at once. A second machine is being completed at the McBurney shop. The farm bureau makes a small charge for use of the bait spreader and it is constantly in use on Valley county farms.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. McBeth of Spalding were in Ord Sunday visiting relatives.

—Miss Alice Mathauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mathauser, is now taking a 9 weeks normal training course at Kearney.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yount and children of Grand Island were in Ord Sunday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Puncocar.

MEDICAL FACTS

4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

With the coming of hot weather there is the danger of the bad effects of heat on the human body. It seems that each season has its own perils and discomforts; the colds, influenza, pneumonia and other infections of like kind so common in the cold months make way for heat stroke, heat exhaustion and many disturbances of the digestive tract in the hot months.

A question often asked is, "What causes one to be overcome by the heat?" Another concerns what things one may do to avoid the bad effects of heat. The answer to the first question naturally leads to some thought about the production and dissipation of heat in the human body. That the human or animal body constantly produces heat is obvious. One need not go into the "how" of this. Since the temperature of the body is always maintained within certain narrow limits, there must be a daily and hourly loss of heat that practically equals that produced. If this were not true the temperature of the body would be subject to great variation, often above or below the limits consistent with health or even life itself.

Since the body temperature normally varies only one to one and one-half degrees Fahrenheit thru the 24 hours of the day, there is obviously a regulatory mechanism in the body to control the heat loss. About two-thirds of the heat loss is by way of the skin, much like the heat that comes from a radiator. Of course, the blood keeps bringing heat from the internal organs to the skin like the water in the pipes brings heat from the furnace. Changing the amount of blood coming to the skin would then regulate the heat lost in this way.

You are all familiar with the cooling effect of evaporation. If a canvas bag full of water is hung in the sunshine, just enough water comes through the canvas to permit constant evaporation from the surface. Since evaporation requires heat, some of which is extracted from the water in the bag, this water stays cool. Sweating is the way the human body provides for this cooling effect of evaporation. It is common knowledge that a person with a fever is hot and dry but the moment sweating can be induced the body temperature begins to fall.

Sweating has some other effects which may be harmful when excessive. One of these is the loss of salt. All sweat contains salt but muscular effort and very prolonged sweating increase the amount of salt in the sweat. This salt loss may be so excessive as to change the reaction of the body tissues and fluids and in itself be responsible for heat exhaustion.

From these considerations alone, one can figure out most of the things to do to avoid the bad results of hot weather. We can list most of them in a sentence or two: Physical exertion during the hot weather should be less strenuous and prolonged than in cool weather. The clothing should be such as to permit easy heat loss from the body both by radiation and by evaporation. Water loss should be made up but one should not over-drink. There seems to be a tendency to drink more than is necessary. Hot liquids often stop the excessive thirst better than very cold ones. The loss of salt thru sweating should be made up by taking about a level teaspoonful of salt more than usual each day. Protect the head and the back of the neck from the direct rays of the sun. When the air is not only hot but moist and steamy, double the precautions.

—After spending several days visiting with her sisters in Ord, Miss Myrtle Milligan returned to her home in Grand Island Thursday morning.

—Adam Radke of Big Springs was here last week helping his son Al of near Elyria get a bunch of cattle ready for shipment. He left for home Friday.

"I thought I knew all about automobiles!"

A LOT of folks have had their eyes opened wide by a ride in a 1939 Ford V-8. They just didn't realize how much more value and how many improvements we've put in this car the last few years.

Today's advanced Ford is a product of progressive engineering, fine materials and honest construction. It is backed by an experience of building far more cars than anybody else in the world.

One ride in today's Ford — with its smooth 8-cylinder engine, stabilized chassis, hydraulic brakes — will prove it's the modern car in the low-price field.

been done, and suggested that the following resolution be adopted:

"Be it resolved by the Loup Valley Historical society and the pioneer groups gathered at Taylor in the North Loup valley of Nebraska on June 18, 1939, that

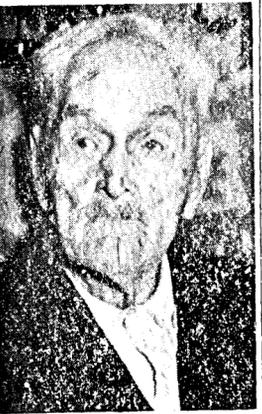

"Whereas there still remain some of the original historic buildings of the pioneer fort located in the North Loup river valley, known as Fort Hartsuff and

"Whereas there is an urgent need that the said pioneer fort be preserved for the present and the coming generations as a memorial to the brave pioneers of central Nebraska and the West and as a recreation grounds for those who are to come, now

"Therefore be it resolved that the said site of this outpost be preserved and placed in public control and that it is the sense of this gathering that the same should be acquired for some public government use by the government of the United States at once before time further damages and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to our representatives in Congress and to the President of the United States with the confident hope that some way be found to purchase and preserve this early historical monument, and that copies hereof be given to the press."

This resolution was almost unanimously adopted.

Old Timers Seen At Taylor Picnic

JOHN M. LINDSAY, 91, the North Loup valley's lone Civil War veteran, was in attendance. He lives at Burwell.

C. N. THOMPSON, 95, addressed the crowd through the "Mike". President George W. McNulty listens approvingly.

brought to Taylor in a car by relatives and the car was parked near the speakers' stand. At the close of the introduction the band played "America" as a tribute to Mr. Lindsay.

Young and old contributed to the program. C. N. Thompson of Burwell, 95 years old, spoke briefly, and a short time afterward little Gerald Lenstrom, 7, a member of the Comstock Community band, played the "Warming Up March" as a trumpet solo.

Mrs. Emma Hansen of Ord was introduced and in behalf of the Ladies of the G. A. R., she presented the North Loup Valley Historical society with an American flag for use at the future meetings of the organization. J. P. Murray, of Sargent, former legislator, was called upon and gave a short talk.

In fact, so much of interest was going on throughout the afternoon that it was impossible to keep track of it all, and no doubt some items will be missed. Also lack of time prevented getting the list of persons in charge of the arrangements, but it can be said with all candor that the visitors were royally entertained, so much so that it was voted to hold the 1940 picnic at Taylor.

Because of the lateness of the hour it was decided to defer the election of officers to the North Loup Valley Historical society until the next meeting, which will be held in Burwell July 23. The present officers are: Miss Maude Goodenow, pres., Miss Anna Cameron, vice-pres., Miss Alta McMillan, sec'y., and Robert Draver, treas.

Wednesday Band Concert Featured Solos, Parade

The third band concert of the season was given Wednesday evening, and proved most interesting, featuring as it did several fine solos and an early day fashion parade. The first solo featured Allen Zikmund as soloist in "Miss Troubadour," a slippery rag. Miss Virginia Sack sang the solos in the two popular numbers, "My Reverie" and "The Umbrella Man."

Most pleasing was the fashion parade of old time costumes put on under the direction of Mrs. C. J. Mortensen. Mrs. Edward Kokes, Mrs. Dean Duncan and Mrs. Frank Fafaita, Jr., exhibited costumes owned by ladies in Ord. Misses Eleanor Wolf, Marilyn Dale, Alberta Flynn and Eloise Norris exhibited costumes loaned for the occasion by ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary of Omaha.

The evening was ideal for the occasion, and one of the largest crowds to attend a band concert in Ord was present and had a most enjoyable time. The success of the fashion parade, according to Mrs. Mortensen, is due to the co-operation and courtesy of Mr. Duncan and the band in granting them a place in the program and she wishes to express her appreciation in behalf of those who participated. Because of the fact that it was flag day, the concert closed with "The Star Spangled Banner."

It Happened In Ord.

When Ign. Klima decided to tear down the old house in which he has been living, his son Bobbie kept looking about for any relics that might show up and was rewarded by finding a copy of the North Loup Loyalist of Oct. 5, 1917. It contained the account of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Davis, and the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hutchins, also the obit of Wm. D. Barnhart. Babcock's garage was advertising the Saxon Six for $1200. Frank Johnson was selling Big 4 and Peerless flour at $3 per sack.

The Strand was running Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, the features being "Idolators," "Filling His Own Shoes" and "The Haunted House". The Popular Store was selling Curlee clothing, which looks very much out of date today. The paper had been mailed to one T. A. McFarland.

Some weeks ago Bobby Gruber had a tomcat of which he was very proud, but the cat became cantankerous, so George Round took him along on one of his trips to the wide open spaces, and threw him out at a place where he thought he would stay. Five weeks later when the family got up, Mr. Tomcat was on the porch, meowing for his breakfast. Evidently the cat won, for he is still alive and happy.

Burwell Dam and Highway Bridges Go Out in Flood

6 Inch Rain Near Taylor Was Cause of Disaster Early Sunday Morning.

The worst flood to hit the Burwell area in years came Sunday when, after torrential rains between Almeria and Taylor, a wall of water eight feet high hit the irrigation dam north of Burwell, washing out the dirt embankment and letting out water of the lake. Flood waters then inundated the Burwell park to a depth of four feet, washed out the cement bridge on No. 11 highway north of Burwell and poured down the river upon Ord.

Forewarned, workmen employed by the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district labored throughout the early hours of the morning to save Hardenbrook dam and by noon when the crest of the flood passed Ord it was apparent their efforts would be successful.

Damage sustained at the Burwell dam and to highway bridges in the Burwell area was the most serious effect of the flood.

At first President Roy Hudson estimated cost of repairing the Burwell dam at $10,000 to $15,000. Later, a careful survey was made of the damage and Tuesday morning C. R. Wareham, general manager of the district, said the cost would not exceed $2,500 to $3,000. The Litwiler dragline has been hired at $6.00 per hour to replace dirt washed away and is running on a 24-hour basis with three operators working in 8-hour shifts. Damage to the dam will be repaired by the end of the week and water again will be available for irrigation purposes along the Burwell-Sumter canal, Wareham said.

The diversion dam at Taylor was not damaged and except for two or three minor washouts on the main canal the Taylor-Ord irrigation system is intact. Due to prompt action at Ord there was little damage here either, although workmen under Watermaster L. E. Walford found it necessary to dig a deep trench at the mouth of the Ord-North Loup canal to run water back into the river.

A big crowd gathered at the railway bridge, at Hardenbrook dam and at the Ord highway bridge to watch the rising waters. Logs, drifting masses of wreckage, picnic benches from the Burwell park and even some small buildings were seen floating down on the crest of the flood.

The rain began in the Taylor area about 10 p. m. Saturday but not until 2 a. m. did it assume cloudburst proportions. Then, within the space of a few minutes, an estimated 6 inches of rain fell. At one point between Taylor and Burwell residents estimated rainfall at 10 inches. Burwell got only 1.06 inches and Ord only .32.

Damage to the picnic grounds and park at Burwell was extensive as flood waters from the broken earth dam poured across the park. Tons of gravel and river sand were deposited in the park, small trees were washed out, deep furrows plowed in the earth by the rushing waters. Monday Mayor Becker and other city officials were making a survey to decide best course to follow in restoring the park.

The park was improved in recent months as a NYA project. Yesterday Leland Barrett, NYA area supervisor, said that $3,500 for labor and $1,000 for materials was spent at the park and that all the labor and most of the material is a total loss as result of the flood.

The cement highway bridge near Burwell has stood for years but the heavy center span was lifted by the flood waters and deposited in the river bed. It is probable that no attempt will be made to restore this bridge. The state highway department, it was reported at Burwell Tuesday, will build a new bridge at a point directly east of Burwell and both the Ord-Atkinson and the Burwell-Ericon highways will be rerouted to miss Burwell and use this new bridge. Surveys for the rerouting and plans for the bridge have been made for some time and it is likely that work will start soon, say the north officials.

Two bridges north of Burwell also were washed away, as were numerous smaller bridges across the North Loup and Calamus rivers between Brewster and Burwell.

The Middle Loup valley, particularly the town of Sargent, had a serious time Sunday also. Three inches of rain fell at Sargent and northwest of there about six inches which came flooding down the Middle Loup. Dozens of basements were flooded in Sargent and at one time water three feet deep was pouring down the main streets. When the crest of the flood reached Arcadia it lapped at the flooring of the No. 57 highway bridge but did not damage the structure. Some canal washouts on the Middle Loup project are reported. An estimated $1,000 damage was done to the Sargent school house.

Judge Rules 'No Cause' In Rose Check Action

The case of Bud Lashmett vs. R. N. Rose, wherein it was alleged Mr. Rose gave a no fund check in payment for merchandise was heard in Judge John L. Anderson's court Friday, and it was decided that there was no cause for action and the case dismissed. In the case of Virgil Severson, who preferred to go on a bread and water diet rather than perform hard labor, all went well until Friday morning, when Severson decided he would rather eat and work. However, he did not feel like working until Monday morning, when he went to work, and has been keeping at it steadily since that time.

Farmers Racing Hoppers for Crop

Insects Damaging the Small Grain So Extensively Many Cutting it While Green.

A vast increase in the grasshopper population has been noted in the past two or three weeks and reports of crop damage are coming in from all parts of the county, particularly from the west and south-east. Wheat and barley, now almost ready for harvest, are the particular target of the hoppers, though heavy damage to corn also is reported.

So seriously are hoppers hurting small grain that many farmers began cutting this week, even though their grain would benefit by staying another week in the field. Farmers who plan to combine their grain are regarding the hopper problem with most concern for they must let the grain ripen before harvesting it.

Although short, most of the grain will make a good crop this year if it ripens fast enough so it may be harvested before the grasshoppers get it.

St. Paul Boosters Well Pleased With Reception in Ord

Visited Ord Tuesday Noon 100 Strong to Advertise 4th of July Celebration.

The St. Paul boosters arrived in Ord at noon yesterday and remained a little more than an hour. They were out boosting for the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the St. Paul fire department, which will be held there July 3 and 4, in the form of one of the biggest celebrations that city has ever known.

Ordites were notified as to when the boosters left Arcadia, and a number of cars, headed by the new Ord fire truck, were on hand to escort the visitors into Ord. Directly behind the fire truck was the Ferris 1914 model Ford, spick and span with a fine new coat of black enamel.

In charge of the visiting group was Ed G. Paulsen, St. Paul fire chief, who stated that there were 22 cars with well over one hundred boosters making the trip. As might well be expected, plenty of whiskers were on display, some crops being most becoming and others quite the reverse. A number of ladies were becomingly dressed in costumes of long ago.

The group was accompanied by the St. Paul 35-piece band, which played a number of selections on the street and also indulged in some marching maneuvers. Vance Lind, the radio man, was very much in evidence. Also present were August Mudloff, treasurer, and Richard Keating, funeral director and also secretary of the fire department.

Dr. Hanisch did his bit to add to the merriment, as did Clarence Fleharty, music teacher, who led the band and did sundry other stunts between times. Chief Paulsen said that in addition to the attractions listed on the bills, there would be a full fledged carnival right on the main street. He was highly pleased with the reception at Ord, where the crowd was the biggest of any place they had visited.

Wednesday Night Ideal; Band Concert Popular

The fourth band concert of the season was given Wednesday evening under the direction of Dean Duncan. A light shower delayed the starting time a few minutes, but served to clear the air, and the air was delightfully cool and refreshing. In fact, all concert nights so far have been fine.

A number took advantage of Mr. Duncan's suggestion to bring their chairs and place them on the walk in front of the court house, and more are invited to do so. In the absence of the seats from the court house yard your own chairs will enable you to enjoy the concerts in comfort.

The program was well balanced, with some old time favorites mixed in with the more modern pieces. Features were "Soloettes," a trio for trumpets, featuring Dean Barta, Gerald Jirak and Gerald Stoddard, and "Sweethearts," with Mrs. Mark Tolen vocalist and the band playing the accompaniment.

Softball Practices Held Tuesday and Thursday

Ord softball enthusiasts held a couple of good practices at the fair grounds, the first on Thursday evening, when a large number reported and a fine practice game was played. The attendance last night was not so large but the interest is keen, and a number of good games are being planned for July. The lights have not yet been put up, but will doubtless be in place soon.

Quiz Camera Shows What Happened When Flood Waters Hit Burwell

The concrete bridge across No. 11 highway north of Burwell as it looked after flood waters wrecked it Sunday morning is shown in the top picture while below a view of the earth fill taken out by the flood is shown.

Burwell's volunteer firemen tried to save the earth dam during the morning hours Sunday but the force of the water was too strong and a 60-foot gap was broken in the dam, waters rushing through and inundating Riverside Park. Five hundred lineal feet of earth were washed away by the flood, worst in Burwell's history.

75 4-H Members to Judging School

Fifteen carloads of Valley county 4-H club members, 75 in number, went to Broken Bow Tuesday to attend the judging school held there with instructors from the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. Instruction was given in animal husbandry, home economics, crops and dairy products judging. County Agent C. C. Dale accompanied the Ord delegation. Other groups were there from Buffalo, Sherman, Custer, Loup and Garfield counties.

Norfolk Man is Fined on Charges of Intoxication

A man giving his name as John Ratslaff of Norfolk was picked up in an intoxicated condition Tuesday afternoon by F. J. Cohen, deputy sheriff. This morning before John L. 34 Sign Up for New Czech Organization

There was a very good attendance of Czechs at the Z. C. B. J. hall at Ord Sunday afternoon, held for the purpose of organizing a branch of the National Czech Alliance of America. A program was given, as advertised, but this was not as complete as had been expected, due to the fact that the organizer from the head lodge did not arrive.

About sixty persons were present, and there were representatives from Comstock, Burwell and Taylor. Thirty-four members signed up at the meeting and more will be signed up at future meetings. It is not known just when the organization will be perfected but those interested are enthusiastic, and are looking forward to a very much alive organization in Ord.

Cosmopolitans Elect Officers for Coming Year

The Ord Cosmopolitans met at the City Cafe Monday night for their regular session. In the absence of the president, John Misko, Dr. F. L. Blessing acted as chairman. The report of the secretary, Hilding O. Pearson, was read and accepted, showing that funds in excess of $800 had been received during the year and disbursed in various worth while projects. This was the last meeting until September, and was the annual election of officers.

President Misko arrived just in time to take charge of the meeting for the election of officers. Those elected were Dr. J. N. Round, president, Hilding O. Pearson, vice-president, Max Pearson, secretary-treasurer, LeRoy Frazier was elected to membership on the board, succeeding Dr. Round. The other members are Harold Taylor and Dean Duncan.

Notice to Correspondents and Quiz Advertisers.

Rotarians Enjoy Farmers Meeting

Absences from the city cut deeply into attendance of the Ord Rotary club but a fair representation was present, including eight farmer guests, and a program given by C. R. Russell and W. H. Herzog, of Grand Island, representatives of the International Harvester company was enjoyed. They showed an interesting movie devoted to the invention and development of harvesting machinery. All the farmer guests were introduced and A. W. Cornell spoke briefly.

Legion Junior Team Loses Close Contest to Greeley

Playing their first game at home, and very apparently affected by stage fright, the Ord Junior Legion team dropped a fairly close game to Greeley on the new diamond near the Catholic church Sunday afternoon. This is the same team the boys defeated by a score of 12 to 6 in their first contest at Greeley, and on that occasion they gathered 14 hits off the much touted Wibbels and his successor McCoy.

Sunday the best they could do was two hits, but they managed to develop these into four runs, while Greeley got their 7 runs with 5 hits. Greeley had two errors and Ord three. The Greeley pitchers walked eight men and hit two, while Zikmund and Misko, for Ord walked six men and hit three. Zikmund pitched the first 5-1-3 innings, while Misko finished the game. The boys are playing St. Edward here this afternoon, and much depends upon the outcome of the contest.

Makes 'Hopper Catcher.'

J. D. McCall has fixed up a grasshopper catcher consisting of metal troughs in which oil is placed, the contraption being bolted on the front bumper of a car. In a trial run through an alfalfa field on his farm Sunday evening eight bushels of grasshoppers were picked up by the contrivance.

Heavy Rain, Hail, Cause Damage Near Cotesfield Monday

Edge of Storm Hit No. Loup But Was Worst in Chalk Hills and Southward.

Flood waters that poured across the Union Pacific railroad embankment and ridges of hallstones two feet deep were reported after the storm that hit between 2 and 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in the region between North Loup and Elba.

A railroad bridge across a canyon in the chalk hills was so much damaged that no trains could cross it Monday afternoon or Tuesday. Piling beneath the bridge was washed away and a work train with piledriver was sent up from Grand Island, getting the bridge in shape for use by Tuesday evening.

Hail damage to crops was extensive. The storm seemed to center around the chalk hills region but was bad near Cotesfield where small grain was ruined and corn stalks stripped of all leaves. Tuesday morning, 18 hours after the storm, deep piles of hail were observed along the highway and in fields.

No. 11 highway was washed badly on the hills and low places were deep in mud. Traffic was halted two hours Monday while flood waters several feet deep washed across the highway west of Scotia.

At Scotia 3 inches of rain fell and at Cotesfield the fall was said to be heavier. North Loup had only 1 1/2 of an inch, Elba had none and Ord had none. Some hail fell at North Loup but not enough to do any damage.

South of North Loup the storm was worse, beginning near Barker and going east beyond the Harry Klingensmith place and south as far as Murray Rich's. Small grain in that area was ruined but corn may survive the pounding it took from hail that fell for more than a half hour. Many chickens were killed.

Federal Funds Allotted For Water Improvement

By virtue of an allotment approved June 15, the City of Ord has been granted federal funds in the amount of $4,000 for the purpose of improving the present water system. This includes approximately 1,500 feet of 8 inch water main, which will extend north and south on 17 street from H street to N street, and also 4 inch main west on M street between 17 and 18 streets.

New hydrants will be installed at the corner of 17 and M, 17 and L and 17 and J streets. This work is being done for a three-fold purpose. First, this will supply water to customers not now accommodated, including the new post-office; second, it is being done to conform to the requirements of the state fire inspector to furnish adequate protection in case of fire in this section of the city; and third, in conformity with the policy of using water earnings to improve the water system.

Notice to Non-Resident High School Pupils.

Application for free high school tuition should be made by July 1. Any non-resident pupil who has not already made application for tuition for the year 1939-1940 may secure application cards from the county superintendent's office. Clara M. McClatchey, Co. Supt. 14-1tc

Dairy Experts Visit Here.

Professor Davis and F. A. Morgan, of the dairy department, University of Nebraska college of agriculture, were Valley county visitors last week, calling on dairymen of this vicinity. While here they inspected the Jersey built by the E. S. Coats farm, owned jointly by the university and Mr. Coats, and took one of hisifers to Lincoln. She will be put on a U. S. milk and butterfat test sponsored by the American Jersey Cattle Club. From here Davis and Morgan went to Broken Bow.

Change in Bus Schedule.

According to a change contemplated for the afternoon bus to Grand Island, it will leave Ord after July 1 at 3:10, instead of 2:35, as at present. This will make better connections out of Grand Island and also give more time to spend in Ord.

Evelyn Sharp at Cozad.

Miss Evelyn Sharp and her father were in Cozad all last week, where she put in her time carrying passengers when the weather permitted. She was a guest of Miss Verna Nielsen while there. Tuesday evening she was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cozad Rotary club.

—Mrs. Ben Janssen drove to Grand Island Saturday taking with her Mrs. L. J. Mason and daughter Helen and Mrs. Bertha Mason and daughter Bernice. They remained in Grand Island while Mrs. Janssen drove to Hastings to visit Ben's sister, who is in a hospital there.

THE CHINESE SITUATION.

Until last week the United States was but mildly interested in the controversy between China and Japan. Our statesmen may have viewed the situation there, where undeclared war has been going on for these many months, with regret, but certainly not with alarm.

But last week a far different situation developed. Angered because they believed the British concessions had been protecting Chinese who had taken reprisals upon the Japanese, they moved to isolate these holdings and starve them into submission.

Japan had hoped to maintain an attitude of studied politeness toward the United States, thus keeping her in a friendly mood while she coerced England and France into seeing things her way.

In this the United States acted in conjunction with Great Britain. Instead of keeping the two countries separated, Japan took the one sure course to unite them in a common cause.

All the greater European nations as well as the United States have valuable concessions in the greater cities of China. History shows that these were not taken by force, but rather by friendly co-operation and an understanding developed over a long period of years.

It is of special interest to note that the British have had a friendly interest in China for more than 300 years. In 1637 the first British vessel arrived at Canton.

The first treaty was signed between Russia and China and the same year the British established a trading post at Canton. In 1733 the Chinese sent an embassy to St. Petersburg.

Macartney's Embassy, British, arrived at Peking in 1793, and in 1816 the Amherst Embassy arrived at Peking. In 1842, nearly a century ago, the Anglo-Chinese treaty of Nanking was signed, Aug. 20.

The following year on Oct. 3, the British Commercial treaty was signed, and the port of Shanghai was opened to commerce Nov. 17. The first American treaty with China was signed July 3, 1844.

Tientsin treaties with the American, British, French and Russian governments were signed in June, 1858. A submarine cable to Shanghai was opened in 1871. In 1876 the Japanese first appear officially in the Chinese picture when they sent a naval expedition to Korea in January, and the next month a Japanese-Korean treaty was signed, having been promoted by force of arms.

The first Chinese envoy to the United States was received in 1878 and the American-Chinese Immigrant treaty and the American Commercial treaty were signed in 1880. Chinese and Japanese troops staged a battle in the streets of Seoul, Korea, Dec. 5, 1884. From this time on until 1932 no less than six agreements were reached by China with England, four with France, one with Portugal, two with America, three with Russia and two with Germany.

fined. England will not tolerate any further interference with the rights of its citizens in any of its concessions in China, and if Japan continues a state of war is inevitable. It is highly probable, however that Japan will change her tactics and thus avert the crisis. It is highly probable that her present course was dictated by the axis powers of Europe, seeking to create a diversion while the German-Polish dispute is going on.

It seems to be just another move in the game of bluff that is being played in various parts of the world today. Germany bluffed her way into the Rhineland, Sudeteland and Czechoslovakia. She tried the same tactics on Poland but stopped short when that nation put up a bluff of her own. To date Japan has fought China and bluffed the other nations, but now that the showdown has come, it looks as though her bluffing days were at an end.

COMMUNITY COOPERATION.

There is a spirit abroad in our land, and that spirit will accomplish more than anything that has been tried in the past. It is Community Cooperation and it is inspired by community spirit. The North Loup valley has always been noted for its spirit of cooperation, but today that spirit has reached a height never before attained.

Towns are made up of individual groups, which in turn are composed of single individuals. It is the individual's first duty to look after his own welfare, but he must have a vision beyond that if he expects his town or his community to succeed. But if he hopes to see his part of the state make the greatest success, he must have a still broader view.

Today more people than ever before have that broader point of view. They have been inspired by a vision of what the preservation of Ft. Hartsuff will mean to coming generations, and they are working toward that end. They are giving freely of their time and energy that the vision of the few may become the reality to the many.

The session of the Trail of the Loup picnic held at Taylor June 18 was a source of inspiration to all who were so fortunate as to be present. It was a success beyond the fondest hopes of those who were hosts to the one and only course open to them, that of backing up those rights with force. Not only were American forces and ships kept in the harbors contrary to Japanese orders, but other ships and men were ordered into the area.

Most encouraging was the fact that, while the old timers were present in large numbers, hundreds of the younger generation were also there, and their enthusiasm equaled that of their elders. If these picnics are to be a great success in the future the responsibility rests squarely on the shoulders of the young people, for the old settlers will soon be gone.

Last, but by no means least, is the wonderful cooperative spirit of the press. No movement can hope to succeed without the help of the newspapers and editors from all over Central Nebraska not only gave the picnic publicity before-hand, but also used plenty of space telling about it after the picnic was over. This is as it should be, for the preservation of Ft. Hartsuff will be a benefit to all this section of the state.

Foremost of those who gave of their time and energy to make this affair a success was that solo survivor of the soldiers of Ft. Hartsuff, George W. McAnulty, president of the Loup Valley Old Settlers' association. At an age when most of us are ready for the wheel chair, he is devoting the remainder of his life to the cause of Ft. Hartsuff as a public park. The rest of us owe it to him to see that his hope is realized.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Jack Pine Lodge on Middle Cullen Lake near Nisswa, Minn., June 21, 1939.

Dear Quiz: When I came up here a month, nearly ago, I had orders to write a letter to Quiz each week. So far I have only missed it about half the time. It is now 1 p. m., and I just helped to eat a nice mess of Middle Cullen lake bluegills, caught and still flopping when I started to dress them at 11 a. m. Yes, they were good, just as good and just as fresh as it is possible to have fish, and cooked to a queen's taste, as Minnie knows how to cook them. No, Minnie is not a fish mangle, but she does know how to cook fish.

This is a momentous day for several reasons, three anyhow. First and foremost it is the opening day of the game fish season in the state of Minnesota. Yesterday was a beautiful day, nice and warm with no wind after Monday, a terrible day with a gale from the west all day, and so we were glad to keep inside most of the time and have a brisk fire in both stoves. Last night in spite of the promise of the weather man for a nice day, I predicted rain. Why? Because the birds were saying it would rain and one robin sat huddled up to the trunk of an oak tree close to the body of the tree, with wings and tail drooping as if she was sick or disappointed in love or something, a sure sign that it would rain today. When I awoke about 3 a. m., and heard a little rain on the roof I knew the robin and I had been upheld in our judgment by the weather man. But when Ed Michalek and family motored up to my dock a little before six a. m., it was not raining, though it was cloudy and looked like it might rain any minute. I had planned on being up at 4 a. m., but I suppose, after hearing a rain at an earlier hour, I thought no use to get up, so didn't awake. But I hurried to get up when Ed woke me and got out on the lake as soon as possible with rod and plugs, after bass. But the bass had different ideas and while two or three of them made passes at my plugs, they struck short and I didn't connect with them. Not to be outdone I came in, got my long cane pole and some minnows and went out again. I saw Carl Wallin out on the lake. He went out at 4 a. m., but found the bass unresponsive to his frogs and was fishing bluegills. I soon had two fine bass, one a little over 4 pounds and the other about 2 1/2 pounds, and came in to breakfast. After eggs and toast and coffee and a big dish of strawberries, the Missus and Shirley and I again went on the lake. This time we were after bluegills for dinner. In an hour it started to rain in earnest and as we had an even 24 bluegills, we came in. Oscar Wallin came along and had a fish-hungry look on his face so I gave him half our catch and dressed the others for dinner.

When we came up here we brought a little built-in radio with visions of listening to all our favorite stations. But we were disappointed, as all we could get was WCCO of Minneapolis and often couldn't get that too good. We wanted to put up a good high aerial but it was a 2-man job and it was not until today that we could get Oscar to help. He was here waiting to help when we came off the lake and in spite of the rain we went ahead with the job. First we got a tall, slim jackpine, peeled it and set it in the front yard. Another was wired to an oak tree in the back yard and the wire was stretched. When the connection was made and a good ground was attached we turned the radio on and almost the first station we got was WOW Omaha and we listened to the news and Foster May, it coming in as good as it ever does at home.

With five grandchildren and all of them in Nebraska I was none too happy so Monday morning when Ed Michalek and family drove in about nine o'clock, I was most happy to see Shirley climb out of the car to greet us. I had hoped she would come, as I had suggested that Ed might have room to bring her. When he drove in and I went out I was distinctly disappointed at not seeing her. Ed said, "Come around the other side and get a package I sent you." I had first looked in the car but bent on fooling me, they had her hide in the bottom of the car and then as I walked around to get the package, out she bounced. We are mighty glad to have her with us in spite of the fact that she is quite an expensive eat.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackowsky and little granddaughter drove in Sunday evening and he is busy adding a nice 10-foot porch to the lake side of his cottage. They will be here till after the 4th and then come back for a stay in September. He is a contracting painter and decorator in Des Moines, Ia.

The Michaleks are busy tidying up their place, the late L. and L. cottage. Ed plans on putting in windows and making other improvements. They are setting flowers and raking the yard otherwise fixing their new home as fast as the weather will permit.

One thing that we enjoy here is an abundance of nice strawberries. We get them picked fresh every day, great helping parts for 15 cents. The crop is the best in years. Blueberry vines are also full of green fruit and the plums are loaded, as are gooseberries and currants and crabapples, and as it rains often there should be a great crop this year.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Why Scrap? Smile Boys Smile Short Shavings

Many people can't help but think that someone will be the losers in this new era of cream and produce gathering that has recently been installed in our country. In the June NCCI News, a pamphlet published by the Neb. Coop. Creamery Inc., they print the following, in an article regarding truck operation: "For one plant operating four trucks we have costs ranging per truck of 1.45 to 1.99 cents per pound of fat with an average of 1.65."

Whether this expense will come off the price of cream or reduce the profits of the creameries does not seem to matter for either way the farmers will pay it, the latter by less dividends in the case of coops. It seems to many that the scheme of delivering one's own cream would save that expense as most of us have to go to town anyway, frequently.

This is not quite all of it either. Speaking in regard to coops, where the profits are divided in the end, we cooperators are paying for much unneeded trucking. Up my road alone, and I think this is true in many places, four produce trucks pass twice a week, and three of these are from coops. One, or two at the outside, would surely be sufficient. All are bidding the limit and doing all they can to get business regardless from whom they take it.

The cheese factory trucks (and they pick up cream and other produce too if asked) circulate daily in every territory. Ord trucks dig deep in N. L. and other territory and so does the Scotia trucks and Loup City trucks. In the end, according to the Country Gent, these coops, fighting each other, are apt to break each other, and consequently the corporate creameries will be all that's left.

Nor is it with the trucks alone that they fight for business. In many places they stage cream wars and the prices soar to unreasonably high figures to break the other fellow. At the present time the price of cream in N. L., Scotia and Ord is 20c, and from good authority I learn that price is plenty high. These three towns cooperate quite well on the cream price. At Arcadia the price was 22c, and Taylor was 23c last week. In Custer Co., it seems there is a continual price war.

The cheese factory (a coop, so-called) pays its checks every other Saturday morning. The accusation has been made, that on those Saturdays, certain coop. creameries raise their price on cream for that day only just to embarrass the milk seller. It is the height of ridiculousness that cooperative institutions, all owned by farmers (supposedly) and dividing their profits in the end, should fight each other. There should be the same cooperation among these institutions as there apparently is among the corporate institutions.

These price wars are fine for the nonce for the farmer, but if by continuance they bankrupt a few good buying agencies and a few of our coops, leaving us again to the mercy of the corporate buyers, whom many thought in old days were not too fair, then and at that time we will wonder what we were thinking of, trotting our cream to other territories to profit from the other man's loss.

Smile Boys Smile.

Joel Birmingham wanted to visit some relatives in Beatrice and he was troubled with the shorts when it came to buying the fare. He wanted to ride his bike through but his father would not consent to that, fearing he might get run down by a car on the highway.

His father had a trip to Lexington. Joel went along and got out at Kearney, planning to take the way to Beatrice if he could. A minister friend of Mr. B. told the boy a few of the secrets of catching rides.

Yesterday we drove to Brainerd to do some shopping. The women had to have their hair fixed. Mrs. Dick Wallin and Minnie accompanied us, staying to come home on the bus in the evening.

Monday evening we were invited down to the Ray Luthers for a chicken dinner at 6 p. m., and last evening Mrs. Peter Wallin invited us for a 7 o'clock chicken dinner. Mrs. Luther has a reputation for making the most delicious pumpkin pies and she gave us that for dessert, while Mrs. Wallin served great helpings of strawberry shortcake with whipped cream for dessert. I know we would kill ourselves eating if the neighbors were to keep the pace set this week, very long. Fortunately, when we are alone we don't have much to eat.

It is raining so hard that I can't see across the lake and it don't look like any more fishing today. The Missus and I had planned on going to the upper lake for wall-eys at 4 p. m. It may let up but surely it don't look much like it now. It don't make much difference to us as we have a couple of big bass in the livebox and a mess of bluegills under our belts, but it is most discouraging for those fishermen who have driven up here, some from Iowa and some from Illinois, for the opening, who have hired boats and guides, and who have only a day or two to fish. We can go tomorrow or next day or next week when the weather is suitable.

"Dad" Leggett.

The main one was to always smile when hailing a ride. Another help is to wear a school sweater with a letter on it. Some people will pick up a student when they will not anyone else.

Another pointer was to wave at the car driver as if you are an old friend, in place of jerking your thumb. This method seems to draw better luck, but the main thing is to smile.

Joel and his father picked out a nice shady spot for the boy to stand and Rev. B. went on about his work thinking he would come back later in the day and pick his son up if he was unsuccessful. Near there was another surpsuss looking fellow, rather uncouth, and probably needed a ride far more than Joel. That night when Rev. B. came back along Mr. Sourpuss was still standing at his spot trying to get a ride, but Joel was gone. Very soon after his father left he got a ride to Lincoln and from there another straight to Beatrice, arriving before night.

Harold Schudel rode through to Idaho in quick time too, costing him almost nothing and he went across Wyoming too. He had a little help there, however, from a friend.

Wyoming is a bad state and most ride bidders try to avoid that state. It is against the law there to thumb for a ride and arrests are made there sometimes too.

There are men (and women too) who seem to make a business bumping rides, traveling all over the country, eating and smoking off anyone they can and laughing about it afterwards. Occasionally there is a crime too, but not often. It is because of this former class of moochers that makes it difficult for the student or poor devil to get a ride that would cost the giver nothing and in most cases he would be glad to accommodate.

Short Shavings.

Mrs. Otto Barz rather fish than eat. This is no joke. That fact has been proved true.

She and Otto went fishing one Sunday. While at this task there, Annel Frazier and a few others came along with their lunch baskets full. Not far off they spread their table and invited Otto and Edith to partake. There was fried chicken and ice cream and (mums the word) Joy Juice.

Otto accepted the invitation and joined the feast (all except the Joy Juice) but Edith would not leave the fishing. She said she could eat any day but she could only fish on Sunday and she would not budge from the bank. I asked her how many fish she caught during that meal time, but she would not tell. Probably so many, if she told me and I put it in the paper, people would think she was bragging.

The beaver seem to be on the increase. On the Bert Brown place in Riverdale a few beaver are working felling trees trying to dam the river and creeks. The beaver is a very destructive animal, especially in a country where our timber is prized as it is here. And there is another screwy thing. One branch of the government places a penalty on trapping these animals that cut our timber, and another branch of the government spends planting the timber.

Something Different

We should not rejoice at the misfortune of our neighbors, but Ord is lucky compared to many Nebraska cities, even though we did have to work hard to save our dam. Very lucky indeed.

At one stroke Burwell lost her lovely lake, her pretty park and picnic ground, her expensive new dam. Sargent found herself with three feet of water in her streets, her basements a mess. Out at Alliance they lost their neon signs, some windows from nearly every house, and many roofs were badly damaged by a big hail storm, one of unheard of violence. The hailstones were as large as baseballs.

No one ever heard of a ten-inch rain in this territory, either, but residents of the Almeria district north and west of Burwell would for the tale.

Scotia's hail Monday left three foot drifts! This seems to be a year of unbelievable extremes for Nebraska. A good many hail storms have ruined crops for Nebraska farmers. The weather man is being extremely trying.

I sometimes think that farmers must be the prize optimists of the world. A farmer can slave from dawn till dusk, use every newest and soundest agricultural method and the best of seed. But when all his money and efforts are used, still the farmer must have the right kind of weather or he has no crop. He must believe in a most kind God, just for farmers, or he must have a belief in his own luck; he must surely be a good optimist. Certainly the farmer takes gambles no other business man is asked to make. Other citizens depend on the farmer for their prosperity. It is true, but they also have other resources and they can barter with one another.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Curious picture developed in hearing on the Mead bill to extend loans to small business... Dangers in the bill pointed out... Financing of TVA becomes four-sided question European dictators jolted by the reception given King George and Queen Elizabeth in Canada and the United States.

WASHINGTON.—A bit of testimony before the temporary national economic committee, put together with President Roosevelt's enthusiastic endorsement of the bill of Senator James M. Mead of New York for loans to small business, and then added to the frequently stated doctrine of the Mead bill of 1929 was a tremendous increase in over-capacity by our producers, unaccompanied by increased spending power to take up the slack, presents a curious picture.

It almost justifies the pessimism of Chairman Marriner S. Eccles, of the federal reserve board, as to the good that the Mead bill would do if enacted.

The curious part of the whole thing is that Mr. Roosevelt it would seem, would encourage the same sort of increase in over-capacity by means of the Mead bill that he began deploring in his 1932 acceptance speech. He spoke then of the vast profits of the corporations in the good years, and wanted to know what had become of them. "Some of them," he declared, "have gone into increases of plant, now standing stark and idle."

His theory then, as enunciated many times since, was that if this money, instead of being put into unneeded additions to plant capacity, had been paid out in wages, or even dividends, the discrepancy between buying power and producing power would not have zoomed to the point where it produced the 1929 crash and the depression.

Reference to this testimony leads to speculation as to whether government aid to the little fellows may not work the same havoc that greed on the part of the big fellows produced in 1929.

Points Out Inherent Dangers in Mead Bill

On the stand was T. N. B. Hicks Jr., urging on behalf of the Wyoming valley industrial development fund, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., more liberal credit. He said there was a small silk throwing company which would buy additional machines if it could borrow cheaply.

"Are you satisfied," inquired Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming (no connection with the Wyoming valley in question), "that there is a market for the product of this company if they were able to acquire the machinery?"

"The company already has the business," Senator," replied Mr. Hicks. "They are already farming it out under contract."

"And not doing it themselves," said Mr. Hicks. "They want to do it in our community."

"Well, if the business is being performed on contract," continued O'Mahoney, "this financing would merely mean shifting the production from one plant to another."

"Yes," said Mr. Hicks, "for all practical purposes. It means, on the other hand, in our particular community, three hundred jobs, Senator."

"But," retorted O'Mahoney, "300 jobs in your community taken away from some other community."

This is not cited by the writer to demonstrate that the Mead bill is bad, or would work harm. But it is cited to show that there are certain dangers in the Mead bill, just as there are inherent dangers in any government control of credit, or anything else, for that matter, which arbitrarily changes the lives and habits of people.

Don't Like to Have Public Power Systems Handicapped

This is a sore point with the public ownership advocates. They do not like to have the public power systems handicapped with this charge of taxes. Naturally the private utility people are keen for it, contending that no "yardstick" approaches fairness unless this is included. In fact taxes and a comparable amount of interest are the two chief advantages which public electric systems have had over private systems in fixing low rates.

David E. Liffenthal pointed out in the TVA special committee hearing at Knoxville last summer that the government could borrow money for 2 per cent while private enterprise would have to pay much more. But private utility men have been contending ever since this is only part of the story—that in fixing rates the TVA has made no charge whatever for the millions of dollars interest every year the taxpayers have to pay for the cost of the TVA project. Also that in local public ownership systems 45 per cent of the cost would be a free grant from PWA, with the other 55 per cent at a low rate of interest.

But the utility people would like to see government money actually paid for the Tennessee properties, and the stupid possibility of competition between private and public ownership systems prevented. So they would like to see the bill passed, with certain amendments. The coal people don't care much about the amendments, but want them written in if the bill is to pass.

Reception of British Rulers in Canada Jolts Dictators

Whether British Prime Minister Chamberlain "planned it that way" may never be known, but the visit of the king and queen to Canada may easily have stayed the hands of Mussolini and Hitler for some time to come.

The reports of the tremendous ovation which their majesties received from Quebec to Vancouver and back must have surprised and startled the foreign offices of Berlin and Rome as much as they did the Canadian politicians. There is no speculation about this. Eminent political leaders of all parties in Canada frankly said so to visiting American newspaper men.

In short, the greeting of the Canadians, no matter what was the mother country to their own fathers and mothers, put an entirely different face on the probabilities as to what Canada would do if Great Britain should become involved in a war.

It is a truism in politics, certainly in the United States and probably in Canada, that it is not the truth which is important, but what people believe. Carrying on the thought a bit further, it is not what the people believe which is really important—in between elections—but what the politicians have elected to represent them think the people believe.

It is as simple as that.

Mental Attitude of Crowds Big Surprise of Visit

British and American newspaper men on the "pilot" train which ran always—until it neared Washington and developed trouble—a little ahead of the royal train, were amazed at the outpourings. They would be told, not only by the Canadian officials, but by their Canadian newspaper colleagues, that this particular town would not be worth while—that it had been kept on the schedule through a mistake, and that only a few hundred people could possibly be there.

Then they would arrive and the whole surrounding countryside would have apparently turned out, for there would be thousands.

Even more important, it was the mental attitude of the crowds that had been appraised even more inaccurately in advance. Their majesties had been warned not to expect too much. The people in one community, they were told, would be mostly Scotch, and hence dour and cold, though pleasant, while in another community most of the people would be Poles, Germans, Russians, etc., who could not be expected to be too enthusiastic.

Mrs. Wm. Swanda and daughter Marcella returned home last Sunday from a several weeks visit with relatives and friends in Plattsmouth, Maimo and Omaha. Melvin remained for a longer visit.

About 25 members of the F. F. A. and part time students met in the Burwell school building on Friday, June 16 for a meeting. Following the business session the boys went to the fair grounds where they enjoyed a kitten ball game. They returned to the school house for refreshments of ice cream and wafers and went to the river for a swim.

The next meeting will be held in August.

Members of the Christian church have planned a social to be held Friday evening in the church basement. A patriotic program will be given and everyone is invited to attend.

W. E. Rice, Mrs. Ida Steffens and daughter Marcella returned home Monday evening from a visit in Colorado Springs, and Denver, Colo. They were accompanied by Mrs. O. L. Riskey of Lincoln.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Bruce Wylie and Mrs. Nellie Collier, Miss Alice Samila and Miss Ardath Alloway and Miss Dorothy Baird of Wayne plan to leave Monday morning for California via Yellowstone Park. They will visit relatives in Portland, Oregon, Eureka, Calif., Pomona, Calif. and will attend the World's Fair in San Francisco and will return via Salt Lake City, Utah. They plan to be gone about three weeks.

Chester S. Johnson, Sr. Chester S. Johnson, sr., was born December 7, 1861 at Dresden, Otoe County, Neb., and passed away June 25 1939 at his home in Burwell, Neb., at the age of 77 years, 7 months and 18 days. He moved with his widowed mother and two younger brothers and one sister to Wheeler county, Neb. in the spring of 1883 and in 1884 he went farther west and later settled in Cherry county where he developed a cattle ranch, and married Miss Mary Stansby. To this union 3 children were born, Guy, Lilly and one child who died in infancy. In 1898 he was united in marriage to Miss Mary E. Thoman and to this union seven children were born, Vern, Floyd, Harry, John, Chet, George and Laura Burgess. They moved to Meadow Grove in 1908 and in 1918 they moved to a ranch. Then later moved to Burwell where he has spent the remaining years of his life. In 1933 he married Lilly Worley who survives him.

Funeral services were held in the Burwell Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, June 27 at 2:30 o'clock in charge of Rev. J. Bruce Wylie. Misses Marietta Udell and Dorothy Goodell sang accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Grunkemeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nelson celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Tuesday, June 27, 1939. They were married June 27, 1889 in Burwell, Neb., by Rev. McHenry, minister of the Congregational church, and have made their home in Garfield county since that time. Mrs. Nelson was born in Fairfield, Va., April 5, 1859 and came to Nebraska when she was 22 years of age and made her home with an aunt, Jane Hughes, on a farm about 9 miles west of Burwell. Mr. Nelson was born near Cedar Rapids, Ia. on March 13, 1859 where he grew to manhood. He came to Nebraska in 1884 and assisted his father in the mill near the north bridge in Burwell. Mr. Nelson helped to break the sod on the land which later became the town of Burwell. After their marriage they lived with his parents in Burwell until 1895 when they took a homestead 6 miles north of town on which place they have made their home since that time. They are the parents of four children, two sons and two daughters, Oscar who passed away 7 years ago, Walter, who lives with his parents on the homestead, Mrs. F. H. Johnson and Mrs. Sam Bowers of Burwell. They have 13 grandchildren. A celebration was held in their honor at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sam Bowers, north of Burwell on Sunday. About 150 friends and relatives gathered at the Bowers' home and enjoyed a basket dinner together. During the afternoon hours more friends called making a total of 162 to extend best wishes to them. Musical numbers were furnished by Misses Marietta Udell and Cecilia Meuret and Rev. S. J. Light and Rev. W. L. Goodell. At 5 o'clock ice cream and cake were served to the guests.

Corn Near Cotesfield Ruined by Hail Storm

It is rather late in the summer for hail but that didn't prevent a terrible hail storm visiting the Scotia-Cotesfield area Monday afternoon, with the result that many fields of corn looked like the picture above when the storm ended. At 2:00 this corn 2 miles north of Cotesfield stood three feet tall and was getting ready to shoot tassels. When the storm ended two hours later, only the bare stalks remained and they were only 6 to 8 inches tall. The corn may come back and make a partial crop but it is doubtful. Fortunately, hail fell over a comparatively small area.

Harvest Began at Willoughbys Thursday

Above is shown a scene which is now becoming more or less common in this section. It shows the harvest starting on the A. L. Willoughby farm near North Loup, last Thursday afternoon. Driving the tractor is Mr. Willoughby, while W. F. Finley handles the binder. There is about 30 acres in the field, and the barley, while light, should make 15 to 20 bushels per acre. This was one of the first fields in Valley county to be harvested.

TWINE.

We handle two brands Silver Crown and McCormick Deering.

Silver Crown is double treated to resist insects and by actual test last year grain tied with this twine was bothered less by insects than with any other brand of twine.

Silver Crown runs smooth and very few knots in this twine. If you are using an old binder you will have a minimum of trouble if you will use Silver Crown.

Silver Crown runs 500 ft. to the pound and is cheaper than many brands that run 600 ft. to the pound.

Written by Mrs. Ethel Hamer

Myron Elwin Davis, son of Will and Mildred Comstock Davis was born May 29, 1927 near North Loup and passed away at the university hospital at Omaha, Neb., June 23, 1939, at the age of twelve years and twenty-four days. Several weeks ago he received a slight wound on his elbow which was given the customary treatment but which failed to respond and a doctor was called and he was taken to the hospital at Ord and later on the advice of the doctors to the University hospital at Omaha, where everything known to medical science was done for him but it was of no avail and septic infection from which he was suffering took his life. He was a brave and patient sufferer, always cheerful and appreciative of all that was being done for him. Beside his father and mother he is survived by two brothers, Leland and Carol, three sisters, Marian, Nettie and Kay, his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Davis, and his grandfather, Ed Comstock of St. Charles, Ill., and a large number of other relatives and friends. Funeral services were in charge of Fraziers and were conducted Monday afternoon at the Seventh Day Baptist church by Rev. C. L. Hill. A quartet composed of Mrs. A. H. Babcock, Albert Babcock and Mr. and Mrs. Erlo Babcock sang "Rock of Ages," "Just Gone Home," and "Over There." Mrs. W. G. Johnson was at the piano. Bearers were Albert Babcock, Jr., George Maxson, Junior, Deryl and Claire Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mills have gone to McCloud, Calif., where he will assist on his father's ranch for the summer. They made the trip by way of Portland, Ore., and saw the rose parade. Union Pacific Bridge in Chalk Hills Damaged by Monday Storm

In the top picture is shown the Union Pacific work train, busy driving new piling to replace that washed out late Monday afternoon by a 3-inch rain that fell in the Chalk Hills southwest of Scotia. Flood waters poured down a canyon, across the railway embankment and into the river. Repairs were made Tuesday and completed that evening.

The second picture shows a view of No. 11 highway through the Chalk Hills, showing how flood waters scored the roadbed. Near the mouth of Davis Creek the road was 3 feet deep in water and traffic was halted two hours. The pile-driver on the Union Pacific work train can be seen in the background.

Marvin Dean Gee was busy gathering a pile of halibut bones to make ice cream when this picture was taken at noon Tuesday. Half from the Monday afternoon storm still lay in two feet deep piles in the Chalk Hills and near Cotesfield.

NORTH LOUP

The Bingham house which is occupied by Leora Larkin has been shingled this week. Chas. Drawbridge and Ralph Craft did the work.

The club dance held Thursday night at the Legion hall was well attended and a very enjoyable time had by all. The Everett Mayo's of Denver and the R. C. Mulls of St. Paul were among the out of town people present.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fox of near Gary, Ind., who had spent the week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. White and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Hutchins and other relatives, left Saturday morning for their home.

At the band concert Wednesday night Viola Koelling of Mira Valley played a marimba solo and accompanied the band with two numbers. These special numbers are much appreciated by the crowd.

Harriet and Grace Manchester entertained about twenty-six young people at a scavenger party last Tuesday night honoring Harriet and Synda Mayo of Denver.

Mrs. Holman and Hazel went to Ord on the Saturday evening bus. Mrs. Alta Barnhart has received word of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lorenzen of Lusk, Wyo., who was born June 23 and weighed 8 1/2 pounds.

Mrs. Lorenzen was the former Alice Barnhart of North Loup. This makes Mrs. Barnhart's fifth great grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Post entertained last Tuesday night in honor of Mrs. Holman and Hazel at a picnic supper. Those present besides the guests of honor included Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bartz and Bernice King. The rain which came at supper time kept the other guests away.

Florence Hamer is spending the week at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Clark.

Mrs. Lena Taylor and Esther, Marjorie Ann Wells, Florence Hamer and Mrs. A. E. Barnhart went to Ord Thursday to see Myrtle Taylor who is in the Ord hospital. Mrs. Barnhart remained to attend the birthday party given for her sister Mrs. Misko.

Robert Houtchens of Kearney spent the week end in North Loup. Mrs. Winnie Bartz entertained a number of ladies at a quilting party Thursday afternoon.

Richard Bartz and Milo Haines who went to Kansas last week to find work in the harvest fields are operating a combine near Isabella, Kas.

Mrs. Lena Mulligan and daughter Burdette went to Grand Island on the Friday morning bus. They returned Saturday evening.

Mrs. B. B. Buten spent Thursday with Fanny McClellan.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Taylor spent Sunday with Mrs. Lena Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Willoughby and Mrs. A. G. Springer spent last Thursday afternoon in Grand Island. Mr. Willoughby went on to Omaha and returned Saturday with a new Studebaker Champion purchased through Frank Schudel.

Mrs. Otto Bartz and Mary Ann spent Thursday afternoon in Grand Island.

Mrs. Clara Holmes who has been teaching in Milton College, Milton, Wis., has come to Lincoln and is attending summer school at the university.

The Wayne King children, Thelma Jean Goodrich and Alice Meyers all have the measles.

The Bible school which was held for three weeks closed Friday with a program given at the Friends church. Songs, memory work and stories which the children had been taught were well presented. Fifty seven children were enrolled in the school and forty-six received certificates for attending at least ten days; and four, Donna Cox, Darlene Eberhart, Miles Nelson and Russell Kerr received large certificates for having attended four years. Twenty-four, who had perfect attendance, were Marlon Maxson, Carol Leonard, Donna Manchester, Marjory Hamer, Gwendolyn and Darlene Eberhart, Fern and Grace Sims, Charlotte Jones, Miles Nelson, Dwayne Corrine and Mervin Meyers, Kenton and Russell Kerr, Bonnie Babcock, Barbara Ragina, Bonnie Babcock, Evelyn Hamer, Beverly Knapp, Teddy Hill, Sylvia Ingerson and Dale Hutchins. Teachers were Lillian Babcock, Maxine Barber, Martha Miller, Mary Frances Manchester and Mrs. I. L. Sheldon with Birdie Ingerson acting as supervisor. The children took their pennies each morning and with this amount added to the offering taken Friday night and what was given by the different churches and individuals it is hoped the total will be nearly fifty dollars. The teachers will be paid a small wage out of this after the other expenses are taken care of.

Thursday after the close of the session, teachers and pupils were taken to the Ord park for a picnic. Among those who took cars were Roy Lewis, Rev. C. L. Hill, Mrs. E. T. Babcock, Mrs. M. E. McClellan, Mary Davis and Cloyd Ingerson. Roy Lewis' load narrowly escaped an accident when a large truck passed them up and then stopped in front of them without signaling. No one was hurt but the fenders and lights on Mr. Lewis' car were badly battered.

Dr. Hemphill took Will Davis to Omaha Friday morning after the body of Myron Davis who had passed away early Friday morning at the University hospital.

Mills Hill played in the golf tournament at St. Paul Sunday and won the second flight.

Mrs. Clayton Meyers and Phyllis went to St. Paul Friday afternoon to visit with Mrs. Meyers' parents till Sunday when Clayton came for them and took them to their home at Grand Island.

Mrs. Allen Sims entertained at supper Friday in honor of Virgil Annays' birthday. Those present were Paul Goodrich, Carlisle Hoepner, Bill Sims, Mrs. Ed Wells and Marjorie Ann.

What Happened When Flood Waters from Taylor Reached Hardenbrook Dam

In these two Quiz photos the situation at Hardenbrook dam when flood waters from Taylor reached there is revealed. In the top picture is shown the brush-and-earth dam east of the steel and concrete structure. Water two feet deep poured across and through it, even going across the top of the interlocking steel piling that protects the east side of the spillway.

The lower photo shows the concrete runway that sends water into the Ord-North Loup canal. Full to the top and running over, the outlet was sending so much water into the earth canal that fears for the safety of both were entertained. Workmen filled sandbags to protect the west side of the concrete. At the mouth of the canal, under the railway bridge, the east edge of the earth canal was cut through to send some of the flood waters back into the river.

Mrs. H. G. Westburg went to Scotia on the Thursday morning bus.

While trimming a peach tree in his garden Sunday evening the knife Dr. Hemphill was using slipped and cut his hand quite badly. It required two stitches to close the wound and the doctor is carrying his hand in bandages and splints.

C. W. and Fanny McClellan drove to Omaha Sunday and planned to return Tuesday. Mr. McClellan shipped some fat cattle.

Mrs. Roy McGee and daughter, Joan accompanied the McClellans to Omaha where she is visiting relatives.

Mrs. Will VanHorn who has been a helpless invalid for many months remains much the same. A few days ago Mr. VanHorn was ordered to bed by the doctor because of a bad heart. Much of the care of both falls on their son, Sheldon and their daughter, Mrs. Carl Walk-up although at present they have a young lady from Grand Island helping.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pokraka arrived at the Ign. Pokraka home Wednesday in an up-to-date trailer house. Friday both families went to Grand Island to meet their father, John Pokraka of Denver, who will spend two or three weeks here.

The John Sintex and Pete Walk-owick families of Scotia spent Sunday evening at the Ign. Pokraka home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Parkos, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Radil were Sunday visitors at Burwell.

The Will Moudry family were Sunday afternoon and supper guests at Joe Ptacnik's.

The John Volt family were Monday evening visitors at John Benben's.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Parkos were visitors at her mother's, Mrs. Hoesek, in Ord.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT.

It does seem shameful that whole families starve in one part of our big country while in another Washington is busily asking us to let apples and lettuce rot, fields lie idle, to bury our piglets.

It does seem as though the solution might be a transportation affair, something to do with delivering the surplus food to the unemployed people in place of attempting to bolster food prices artificially on one hand; and on the other hand to feed millions of starving Americans at government expense. It seems as though in some way the two unbalanced situations might be used to equalize one another.

I suppose it is foolish for me to give it any thought when some of the best minds in the United States apparently have been unable to solve the puzzle. I don't claim to have a brilliant mind. But I do hate to think of people starving. Just because they are out of our sight does not make the situation any better. If you and I had to sit down at our loaded dinner tables and try to eat while a hungry family watched us I doubt if we would have much appetite.

—OO—

Ord has many beautiful yards, drive around and see them some pleasant summer evening.

I was told Dr. Norris had the most beautiful rambler rose in Ord, but I could not decide that it was prettier than the one on the west side of Stiebler's porch. A pretty one on the Sam Marks south side combines to make my ideal, purple clematis with a pink or red climbing rose. The same happy combination is seen at the Moser home, and I believe on the Judge Clements cottage.

The Klein yard is as trim as ever, the Zablouill yard as effective as any I have ever seen and it shows the result of much care.

ful study and planning on the part of the flower-loving owner, Mrs. Zablouill. The Robert Noll yard has never been so attractive as it is now. And I heard one most modern young man surprisingly declare he preferred the old-fashioned effect of various flowers planted in combination as they are at the Jensen place, down on the old highway as it bends toward the fair grounds.

The home place of the Woods family in England is a 65-room house, and is located in a 6,000 acre estate. It is not known at this time whether Tom will remain there or not, but, following the English custom, as the eldest son, he will inherit the entire estate in case his father should not survive.

Burwell Celebrated Pioneer Week With Historic Displays

John made an ideal host at the display rooms, as he never forgets any facts of historic interest. In 1902 when the Burwell school burned, John was the boy who rang the bell for the alarm. He then remained in the cloak room and threw hats and coats out of the window until the firemen had quite a time getting him out. He had all items of interest in connection with the old Burwell school in mind, and made a most entertaining host.

75 years old that belonged to Mrs. Will Mathausser's mother. (3) wedding dress of Mrs. Ballagh, mother of Mrs. Austin Chambers. (4) History the same as dress No. 1. (5) A beaded dollman which belonged to Mrs. Arthur Langstrom's mother. (6) A dress belonging to the grandmother of Mrs. Ralph Douglas. (7) Belongs to Miss Meda Drayer.

The cradle on showcase to left cradled three Will McMullens, and is the property of Mrs. W. I. McMullen, sr. The violin belongs to Curt Bishop, is a Stradivarius dating back to 1716 and valued at $2,000. The castor in front of Mr. Beynon belongs to Mrs. McMullen. The spinning wheel came to the valley with Mrs. Detmer Osmer, mother of Mrs. Allen Mitchell and Mrs. Nell Cameron, who lived on what is now the rodeo grounds. Mrs. Cameron presented it to her nephew, Russell Mitchell.

The fur pieces on the wall were beaver trapped by "Happy Jack" Swearingen and presented to Mrs. M. B. Goodenow in 1877. The hat on the wall belonged to Mrs. Downey. The Victor phonograph with the horn is believed to be the first one brought to Burwell, and belongs to the Snyders. The Edison cylinder machine belongs to Mrs. J. J. Haas. The old music box belongs to the Edison was visiting in Burwell, and J. F. Herman came in every day to play it.

The center case is full of old documents, among them early copies of the Eye, Mascot, Bell and Tribune. The first three have been extinct more than 35 years. There are early tax receipts, a U. S. patent, a timber culture proof, Civil and Spanish war letters, the diary of Jim Barr, an early settler, old entertainment handbills and a railway pass to the funeral train of General U. S. Grant.

In addition to the articles shown in the picture, the other side of the building was full of relics, and the front window was filled with dozens of early day photos, which proved to be the most interesting part of the entire collection. Dozens of people visited the display during the week, many from a distance, and all were more than pleased with what they saw, as well as the courtesy with which they were received.

for the paper or had just neglected to keep up their subscriptions and when he finished with his paper he just bundled it up and sent it to them with a little card inside telling who had sent it, and with his address and a simple greeting.

He said he almost always gets a nice interesting letter from some old friend out of this and even if he never hears from it he can just get a lot of satisfaction out of imagining some old timer looking over his old home town paper for the first time in a lot of years.

I consider that a splendid thing to do with the old home town paper and so my last Quiz went away up in northern Canada and my next one is going on a little trip to Texas, and I already have sixteen names.

So I pass along the idea for what it is worth.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Use for Old Newspapers, Mapleton, Oregon, June 19, 1939.

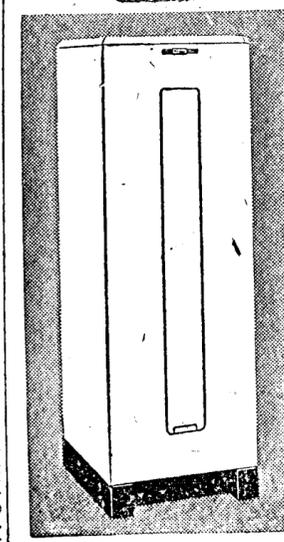

Dear Quiz:

So yesterday, I went and got the mail and there was the old Quiz, so I took it back to my hotel room and read it clear through.

A long, long time ago, I decided that the old home town paper is too good a paper to use for starting fire or to cover the pantry shelves and so after I had read it, wants ads and all, I got so that I always took it to some public place and left it with a lot of other papers. I would take it into a hotel lobby, a public library or a depot and just lay it down with other papers so that someone else could read it.

You would be surprised how many people there are in this world who have never heard of Ord and do not know that it is the capitol of the world, and you would be surprised at how many folks there are who have never seen an Ord Quiz. So this way I can do a little mis-

ORD MUNICIPAL LIGHT & WATER DEPARTMENT

Proceedings of the City Council

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session, in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Mayor Cummins presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Martinus Biemond, Joe Rohla, Bob Noll, J. W. McGinnis, Guy Burrows, Frank Johnson. Absent: None.

The minutes of the proceedings of May 5, 1939 were read, and by motion ordered placed on file.

The report of James B. Ollis, City Treasurer was read, and by motion ordered placed on file.

The report of the Ord Fire Department announcing the election of Cecil Clark as Chief was then read. Moved by Johnson and seconded by Rohla that the choice of the Fire Department be confirmed. Carried.

The matter of Mrs. Bartlett's complaint concerning blindweed was then taken up. The matter was discussed at some length. Moved by Johnson and seconded by Burrows that the matter be dismissed for lack of an adequate ordinance covering the eradication of blindweed. Carried.

The matter of the City buying John Moudry's tract of land for an athletic field was brought up. Moved by McGinnis and seconded by Johnson that the City buy the said tract, the price being $1,600.00; the money to be taken from the City Electric fund, and the purchase to be contingent upon receiving assistance from the WPA in developing the said tract. Carried.

It was moved by Johnson and seconded by Biemond that the Mayor be instructed to sign an agreement with WPA, proposing that their help be granted in laying some City Water mains. Carried.

It was moved by Burrows and seconded by Rohla that the matter of vacations for city employees be made the same as last year. Carried.

Rex Jewett, City Clerk.

The Mayor and Council met in adjourned special session in the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Mayor Cummins presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll, and the following Councilmen were present: Martinus Biemond, Joe Rohla, Bob Noll, J. W. McGinnis, Guy Burrows, Frank Sershen. Absent: None.

The Mayor spoke at length concerning the existing situation of the absence of the Ord numbers in the North Loup telephone directory and the absence of the North Loup numbers in the Ord telephone directory. The following resolution was offered by Councilman McGinnis who moved it's adoption. The motion was seconded by Councilman Burrows and carried on roll call, all members voting in favor thereof.

WHEREAS, for years, the North Loup Telephone Exchange has printed the list of Ord subscribers in its telephone directory, and the Nebraska Continental Telephone Co., in its Ord directory, has printed the North Loup Exchange directory, the said municipalities being not far apart, and free telephone service between said City and Village having been maintained for years, and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Continental Telephone Co. eliminated the North Loup listings in its Ord directory published about a year ago and there have been statements that the same will be again left out in the new one to be shortly published, and

WHEREAS, it has been reported to the City Council of Ord that the North Loup Company has requested the Nebraska Continental Telephone Co. for a list of the Ord subscribers to list in its North Loup directory, and has been refused, and

WHEREAS, the listing of subscribers at both exchanges in both directories is not an expensive matter to either exchange, and does perform a service to the subscribers of said exchanges, and

WHEREAS, when a request was made by Ord people a few years ago, for the lowering of the rates at the Ord exchange by the State Railway Commission, one of the reasons given for asking that the decrease be not granted, was that the Ord subscribers could call the telephone patrons at North Loup without charge, and

WHEREAS, the failure to list and to permit the listing of these telephone users in both directories is a curtailment of such service, and is an imposition upon, and will cause damage to the patrons of telephone companies at both points.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, that in the event the North Loup patrons are not listed in the Ord directory, and the Ord patrons are not permitted to be listed in the North Loup directory, that it be the sense of this official body that an effort be made to secure a reduction in rates for telephone service in the City of Ord, because of the curtailment of the service rendered by said telephone exchange in Ord, Nebraska, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a certified copy of this resolution be mailed to the Nebraska Continental Telephone Co., at Ord, Nebraska, and to the company owning the North Loup Exchange, the Nebraska Railway Commission at Lincoln, Nebraska, and to the Ord Quiz, and North Loup Loyalist, by the City Clerk of the City of Ord.

Attest: M. B. Cummins, Mayor.
Rex Jewett, City Clerk.

The matter of caring for the grave of James Bussell was then taken up. Moved by Rohla and seconded by Johnson that the City place the said grave under that form of care known as "perpetual maintenance," said care to be without cost. Carried.

It was moved by McGinnis and seconded by Burrows that the City approve the extension of the proposed water main, in the event that WPA gives it's approval to the said project. Carried.

There being no further business to come before the Council at this time, it was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn. Carried.

Attest: M. B. Cummins, Mayor.
Rex Jewett, City Clerk.

I laugh at weather
SO DOES MY MOTOR!

"No Red Flannel Underwear for me . . . I dress to match the weather . . . switch to shorts when winter days are warm . . . shake the mothballs out of my polo coat when June nights are cold."

"That goes for the gasoline I use, too. I always fill up with Phillips 66 Poly Gas, the modern gasoline that is custom-tailored to fit changes in climate. Am I tickled with the way my motor runs since I discovered this wonderful gasoline? . . . I'll say. 'And talk about mileage! I read in the ads that Phillips 66 is matched and re-matched to the weather every month, more accurately than any other motor fuel. So maybe that's the reason. Or maybe it's because Phillips 66 is high test, or because it has those extra power units added by the scientific Poly process."

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

Anyone who has failed to get a good look at the crimson rambler rose bush on the front of the Dr. Norris residence in southeast Ord the past two weeks has missed a real sight. It covers a space about eight feet wide by ten feet high and its best was one solid mass of bloom.

Slightly different is the story of the old cherry tree in Frank Adamak's garden just east of the Methodist church. It was full of bloom this spring and had a good crop of cherries. Some two weeks ago during a rain one of the branches broke off, and last week in the rain another branch broke off. When a cherry tree is ready to do it usually tries to put out one last crop of fruit.

They are telling another one on Arthur Mensing that is too good to pass up, and we are sure Art won't care. One night last week in company with some friends he was driving north from North Loup on the old highway, and didn't realize that he had reached the Fish corner. When he saw the warning from the glass doodad at the corner he mistook it for something else, and said to the other fellows: "Just watch me pass, that truck!" He passed it all right, and landed out in the field.

Then there is the one about the polite man who directed some people to Hardenbrook dam. He said: "You are now on M street. Drive east to 14th street, go south to P and then turn east." So now he wonders why the boys are guying him about it.

When You And I Were Young Maggie

June 27, 1929.

Two well known women passed on. They were Mrs. Ferdinand Vergin, who died at the age of 59, and Mrs. J. S. Wheeler, formerly of Elyria, who died in Burwell at the age of 74 years.

More than sixty of the Auble clans from several states assembled at Ord for a reunion. In order to have room enough the gathering was held in the Legion hall.

C. E. Norris leased the ground floor of the Wentworth building just north of the opera house, and planned to move his shoe repair shop there, and also enlarge his paint and wallpaper stocks.

The Food Center had rented rooms in the Milford building adjoining the postoffice, and expected to open a store there within 60 days.

The worst hail storm in years did a great deal of damage at Burwell, where gardens were practically ruined, and trees almost stripped of their foliage.

The Ord band had been contracted to play for the July 4 celebration in Mira Valley, and Judge Bayard H. Paine was to deliver the address.

Arcadia was celebrating, and one of the stellar attractions was to be the contest between the Arcadia and Ord baseball teams.

Frank Iron left for his vacation, which was to be taken in Europe. He expected to be gone about sixty days.

Miss Ella May Ressegue of Madison became the bride of Wm. Heuck, the ceremony being performed at the parsonage of the Federated church in Columbus.

Armatus hurled a near perfect game of ball, enabling the Ord team to win over Central City by a score of 4 to 1.

Tom Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Winder of Ord was married at Chicago to Miss Bernice Linahan.

June 26, 1919.

By a vote of 1,286 to 289 the people of Valley county decided to have a new courthouse, the bonds in the amount of $100,000 carrying by that vote. At the same time the proposition to sell the county farm carried by a vote of 1,311 to 256. The courthouse bonds carried in every township except Eureka, Independent, Yale and Liberty.

The three cent and two cent stamped envelopes went on the taboo list, although the three cent postage stamps were kept on the list, the department explaining that they could be used when postage was in excess of two cents, the regular letter postage at the time.

At the Paul Hansen home occurred the marriage of their daughter Pauline to John Cleary of North Loup.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morris of Mitchell were the parents of twin sons.

Martin Costello and family were coming back to Ord, where he was to succeed H. L. Cushing as manager of the Farmers Grain and Supply company.

Bill Wright was to go to North Loup, where he was to assume the charge of the elevator for George Johnson.

L. D. Bailey and Sons had contracted to build a new home for the Willard Battery station. They did, and it is the building in which Rube Lincoln now runs his tire and battery shop.

Henry Kelberlay was checked out as manager of the Weller lumber yard and Argle Tippin of Beloit, Kas., was checked in.

John Frank listed his farm for sale with the C. A. Hager company and in less than an hour had sold it to Joe Stanton.

H. G. Frey succeeded E. C. James as agent at what was then the union depot, being the business of both depots transacted at the Burlington office. Shortly after it was changed to two depots again.

The C. M. Bossen team became frightened at the M. L. Fries auto north of Arcadia, broke the buggy and dumped the family out. The correspondent said: "If auto drivers would have a little more consideration and shut off the chuck, chuck to their machines and slow up when they meet a team, many accidents would be avoided."

B. H. Alvord had put up a silo and the Quiz opined that now we would soon have a practical test of whether silage paid in Nebraska or not.

Frank Glover was the successful bidder of the A. J. Firkins contract for a brick building to be put up on the corner where the Orcutt & Howard barber shops stood, the price being $12,600. It is the present Auble Bros., building.

Z. C. Harris of Burwell, who had quit the railroad and was farming near Burwell, went down the road to attend a meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Capron, their daughter Hazel became the bride of Fred Wesley Coe, Rev. Walter N. Halsey officiating.

Some recommendations made by the board of equalization are of interest, as showing the valuation of land in various parts of Valley county fifty years ago. In Ord township the average was $3.28 per acre, in North Loup township it was $2.62 per acre, in Arcadia township, $2.42 per acre. From this the valuation ran down until the lowest, Noble township, which was $1.32 per acre.

A card hung over the cashier's window at the First National bank informed the customers that it is always warm in summer, thus giving them a gentle hint not to talk about the weather.

It was before the days of the telephone, but Ord stock buyers purchased a car of stock at Ericson and another at Burwell, both by wire.

C. F. Way bought two fat steers and four sheep for the barbecue to be given in Ord on July 4.

A. J. Garner and two Coats brothers arrived in Ord looking for locations. Wonder if that wasn't the start of the Coats and Garners in Valley county?

The Quiz spoke of the rapidity with which trees planted in various parts of Ord were growing and opined that their owners would soon have an abundance of shade. We do have now, except in the court house square.

Rev. E. A. Russell made his first appearance in Ord by preaching at the Baptist church on Sunday morning. He lived here a long time after that.

The Quiz man visited the Ord mills, owned by R. F. Milford, which stood across the river near the Pelska residence, and found Mr. Daggett (Homer) keeping busy 15 hours per day to keep ahead of the wheat that was coming in all the time.

O. S. Haskell was delaying the construction of the new courthouse which was supposed to be completed Oct. 1.

Charles Kates had planted 9 acres of forest trees in rows four feet apart early in the spring and reported that the greater part of them were growing nicely. That was in the days when farmers planted their own shelterbelt.

The first brick were taken from the O. S. Haskell kiln, and contrary to general opinion, they were first class brick.

Lightning Terrific Monday; Buildings Damaged by Wind

Mrs. Sam Marks Shocked By Lightning When Hanging Out Clothes.

In the main the weather for the past week was warm and dry, but Monday forenoon the sky was overcast with rather light clouds. At 11 a. m. several terrific bolts of lightning hit in various parts of Ord, but were not followed by the usual burst of rain. Instead only a light shower fell, and very little rain was reported anywhere in this section.

The city plant was carrying a heavy load at the time the lightning and such a charge was thrown into the plant that the two diesels running were knocked out. The city was out of lights for a few minutes while the third diesel was being started. No damage was done to either engine.

A bolt hit the Sarah McLain residence, blowing out a fuse with such violence that the pieces were scattered all over the kitchen. Miss McLain received quite a severe shock. Miss Gertrude Hawkins was out in the yard at the clothes line taking in clothes, but did not have hold of the line when the shock came. She says that she felt no shock, but it seemed that fire was flashing all around the yard.

Mrs. Sam Marks was also at her clothes line nearby, and had her hand on the line when the bolt struck. She was nearly knocked to the ground and her hand was burned, and it took her some time to recover from the shock. It was the most vicious electrical storm that Ord has known for some time, and struck entirely without warning.

Tuesday following a strong southeast wind all day, rain clouds appeared in the west, and just about the time they reached Ord a terrific wind blew up from the south, carrying a heavy cloud of dust ahead of it, so heavy that car drivers had to turn on their lights and many of them parked until the worst of the storm was past.

Several trees were blown down in Ord. At the Wise place, in Vin-ton township, the windmill and a tree were blown down, and minor damage is also reported at the Charley King place as well as several other places over the county. The rainfall in Ord amounted to .31 of an inch, and it all came slowly with no hail. Northeast of town more rain fell. Some hail fell at the Vavra place, 7 miles west of Ord, but did no damage.

Sargent Out of Water After Storm Last Week

Last Wednesday the pump at the north well at Sargent ceased to function due to a burned out generator, and as this was the only well that had been operating for some time, the city was out of water. The high flood water of Sunday morning, June 25 filled the city well with muddy water, and it took some time to get the mud cleared out, the trouble being complicated by the failure of the pump.

However, repairs had been ordered for the pump in the west well, and when these arrived workmen went to work at once and made the necessary changes. In addition a new transformer arrived and had to be put in place. When all this was done and the pumps started, it did not take long to clear up the water situation, much to the satisfaction of Sargent housewives.

Frank Dubsky Is New Council Oak Manager

Frank Dubsky of Howells, Neb., arrived Thursday to take the place of Bob Cook as manager of the Ord Council Oak Store. Mr. Dubsky was manager of the Council Oak store at Howells before coming to Ord, and is a man of several years experience in the merchandising game. His family, consisting of Mrs. Dubsky and their daughter Arlene, came with him. Mr. Dubsky is a man of pleasing personality and should make a success of his work here.

Dr. Baird and Wife Injured In Accident

Dr. and Mrs. Joe Baird, of Arcadia, left Sunday on a vacation trip to Texas. While Mrs. Baird was driving near Geneva, she missed a corner and the car turned over. Mrs. Baird was quite badly bruised, while Dr. Baird's arm was injured. They phoned George Olsen at Arcadia and he drove down after them. Their car was brought to Grand Island for repairs.

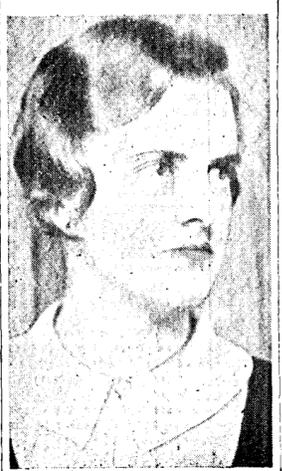

Sec Rev. Real and Horse

GOVERNMENT MAY LOCATE AIRPORT AT ORD

Within the next week government engineers will be in Ord making a survey of the possibilities of establishing a government airport here. The state has $40,000 collected from aerial gas tax which must be spent on aviation improvements in the state. The Nebraska Aeronautical Association has recommended that an airport be built at Ord. According to information received here this week it is very likely such a project will be built here should the engineers report favorably.

Former Arcadia Girl Admitted to Bar

EDITH H. SANDERS.

The above is a very good photo of Mrs. Edith H. Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Hansen of Arcadia recently graduated with a degree of Bachelor of Laws, cum laude, from the Omaha Municipal university. She was admitted to the bar in the state of Nebraska on June 23. She has been employed in the legal department of the Fairmont Creamery company for the past ten years and worked her way through school, studying in her spare time. She stood second high in her class, and is the first woman from Valley county, so far as can be learned, to receive an L. L. D. degree.

Loft Boy Rescued From Under Gate At Irrigation Dam

Was Swimming Above Dam When Under Current Pulled Him Into Opened Gate.

Reynard Loft, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Loft, had a narrow escape from drowning at Hardenbrook Dam Thursday. He and a group of other boys had been swimming in the water above the dam and diving off the structure, when Reynard approached too close to the gates, and was drawn under one of them in a sitting position.

The gate was raised just enough to permit his legs to be sucked in, and the water was too deep for him to keep his head above water. Donald Ward saw him go in, and went to his assistance, but could not pull him out. Bud Tatlow, Boyd Holloway and Joy Janssen were also there, and it took the combined efforts of all of them to release him.

He had swallowed some water when released, and his legs were blue from the pressure, but he suffered no ill after-effects. The boys are not permitted to swim above the dam or dive from the structure, and Archie Bradt, who is in charge enforces this rule when he is there, but he was away at the time of the accident. One narrow escape is enough, and it is hoped no further warning will be necessary.

Funeral Held at Madison For Hon. Willis E. Reed

Nebraska lost one of its outstanding citizens in the death at Madison last week of Hon. Willis E. Reed, 73, who was attorney general from 1915 to 1919. This was during the time of the World war, and he was called upon to prosecute a number of very important cases. At the time of his death he had retired to private life and was living quietly at his Madison home. Funeral services were held at Madison Sunday afternoon and the body taken to Malvern, Ia., for burial Monday afternoon.

—For the past week or more Jack Riley has been having trouble with his right hand because of infection from hopper poison. He has been working in the mixing plant for a month or more, wearing rubber gloves as a safeguard, but some of the poison got to working on his hand anyway.

Ord Athletic Field Project Accepted By WPA Officials

$15,680.00 Will Be Spent To Level and Improve Tract Purchased by City.

The president has approved the Ord athletic park improvement project, according to information issued June 30. This is the project whereby the city of Ord is to expend the sum of $1,600 for the purchase of the John Mundry 13 acre tract of land lying between Bussell Park and Ord, and the WPA will expend the sum of $15,280 for its improvement.

One of the chief advantages of the project at this time is that the sum of money advanced will practically all be expended in labor and will furnish work for a group of men who otherwise would be without employment. Another important point is that this land will be valuable in the future as Ord expands, and it can now be obtained at a nominal sum.

Mark Gyger, area engineer, when approached on the subject Saturday, stated that the work would probably start whenever men were available. They are employed on other projects at present, but these will soon be completed. A man with experience in this type of work will be in charge of the work when it starts.

Present plans call for an athletic field which will include a football gridiron, a baseball and softball diamond, and athletic track, and space will be provided for tennis courts, croquet grounds, and other sports. Space will also be allotted for a swimming pool, although no specific plans are being made for at this time. Also included in the project is a band shell to be constructed in the park, should the city desire it.

Mr. Gyger stated that in all probability a crew of about 20 men would be employed when the work starts, and road machinery will be used in moving the dirt. When the work has progressed sufficiently to warrant, the flood lighting equipment will be moved from the field in Bussell park and installed.

It is estimated that the amount of WPA funds required for the leveling of the field would be $5,500, leaving $10,000 to be used in landscaping, construction, or any other work that might be deemed advisable. Two arguments advanced in favor of the new field is the nearness to town, and the fact that the present layout at Bussell Park would not be changed.

Since work must be provided for local WPA in any case, it would seem that it might as well be expended in the project of providing a permanent athletic field, well located and amply large for the needs of the present and the exigencies of the future. The project was approved almost unanimously by representatives of a number of Ord groups at the time of its inception.

Fire Destroys Harrod Farm Home at Burwell

The farm home of Will Harrod, four miles northwest of Burwell on the Calamus was completely destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning. The Burwell fire department was notified at once, but as it would have been necessary to go around by the Willow Springs bridge, east of town to get to the Harrod place, it was decided that the trip would be useless.

Mr. Harrod got up that morning and started a fire in the oil stove, then went to the barn to do his chores. He soon saw the smoke at the house caused by the exploding of the stove, and hurried to the house. However, all that he had time to do was to get Mrs. Harrod out of the house, and with the help of the neighbors, save whatever he could of the furniture.

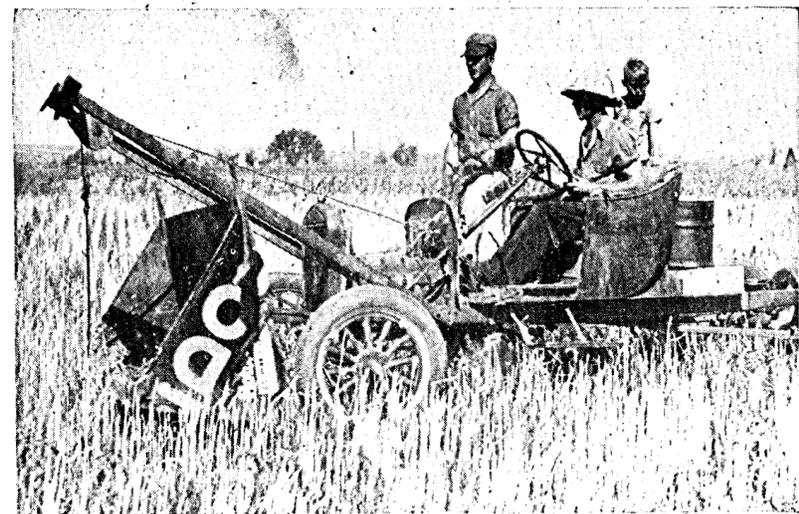

Although it was early in the morning a large number of neighbors responded promptly, and helped to keep the flames from spreading to the other buildings. The house and most of the contents was completely destroyed, but both are fairly well covered by insurance, so the loss will not be as great as was at first feared.

WPA Worker Takes Life Tuesday At Scotia Home

Apparently overcome by a fit of despondency, Albert Sternberg of Scotia took his own life by shooting himself in the left side with a 16 gauge shotgun. The act was committed at 6:00 p. m. last Tuesday evening at his home in the suburbs of Scotia. Mr. Sternberg had been employed on a WPA project and had just returned from his work on the highway east of Scotia.

The fact that he took his life on his 29th birthday is significant. Besides his mother, Mrs. Emory Welsh, with whom he made his home, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. John Hansen of Ord and Mrs. Fred Secher of Boelus, three brothers, Howard and Fred of Scotia and Roy of Fish Creek, and his step-father Emory Welsh. Funeral services were held from the Scotia Methodist church Friday afternoon and burial was made in the Scotia cemetery.

Bud Beebe, Sam Drawbridge, Build Hopper Catching Machine

Two North Loup men, Bud Beebe and Sam Drawbridge, recently built the above hopper catching machine. For the tractor part of it they used a Model T truck. The first machine did not work, because the liquid splashed out of the trough. This one was built with anti-splashers, and does a fine job. He ran the machine around a little while for the benefit of the photographer and picked up about 2 1/2 bushels of hoppers.

He says they can cover a 60 acre field in a day and get about ten bushels of hoppers per acre, which is more in some cases than the grain is making. He uses a mixture of water and oil, which kills the insects without undue delay. The best time to catch them is early morning or late evening. In top picture left to right, Mr. Beebe, Mr. Drawbridge and Beebe, Jr. Mr. Beebe is seen investigating the catch in the lower photo.

Leonard Mostek Injured When Kicked By Horse

Leonard, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Mostek, who lives in the Davis Creek neighborhood, was severely injured last week when he was kicked in the stomach by a horse. The lad was raking hay and the doubletree broke. He got off the rake and attempted to fix it when one of the horses kicked him with both feet. He was taken to the hospital in Loup City and remained there several days. He is home again now and is slowly recovering though he is unable to around much.

Weather Fine for Band on Wednesday Evening

As usual, the weather was fine for the band concert Wednesday evening, and the streets were thronged with people. Cars from a number of the surrounding counties were seen, and their owners vowed their intention of coming again to hear the band from week to week.

A total of fourteen numbers were given, specials including "My Regards," with Dean Barta appearing as cornet soloist; Bohemian selection, "Cuckoo Waltz," and "Muzicky Muzicky March," the popular songs "I Have Eyes," and "You're a Sweet Little Headache," with refrains sung by Marilyn Dale; and community singing led by Tom Springer, "My Nebraska," and "America."

Ignowski Is Sentenced For Stealing Chickens

Arnold Ignowski of south of Arcadia was arrested Tuesday by F. J. Cohen and was brought before District Judge E. P. Clements Wednesday morning on a charge of stealing twelve chickens from William George on or about June 17. Upon his plea of guilty he was sentenced to thirty days in jail and to pay the costs of the action.

Louis Severson Held First Sale Saturday

As advertised in last week's Quiz Louis Severson held his first auction sale Saturday on the lot north of the old Weckes' Seed company. There was a fair offering and also a fair attendance, considering that it was the first sale to be held there. He plans to hold sales there each Saturday.

Rotarians Hear Stoddard

Gerald Stoddard was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Ord Rotary club Monday evening. He gave a very complete and interesting account of his recent trip to Boys' State at Lincoln. Due to the fact that it was the night before July 4, there was not a large attendance, but those present appreciated the entertainment furnished them. The new president, C. G. Thompson, took over the meeting, supplanting Dr. F. A. Abria, president for the past year. Dr. Gard, holds over as secretary.

Ordites Celebrated Elsewhere

Perhaps half of the population of Ord and vicinity went elsewhere to celebrate the 4th. St. Paul drew about the greatest number, as they were putting on a special two day show for the Golden Jubilee of the fire department. Several parties went to Ericson, and some to Taylor and Comstock. Other groups picnicked at the Sumter bridge and at Bussell and Anderson parks. All had a good time, and no serious accidents are reported.

Softball Schedules to Begin Next Week

Ord softball has been organized, with Raymond Christensen as president and Axel Jorgensen as secretary. Four captains have been chosen, as follows: Don Dahlin, Juniors; Russell Jensen, Third Team; Axel Jorgensen, Livestocks; and Syl Furtak, K. of C. The last practice game will be this Thursday evening, with a general meeting to follow.

League play will start Tuesday evening, July 11. All postponed games will be played on the following Thursday. The Livestocks will play the K. of C. in the first contest and the other two teams will tangle in the second game. Batting averages and team standings will appear each week in the Quiz.

Leave For California

Mrs. Florence Chapman and son Delbert are leaving Ord today to make their home at Long Beach, Calif. Mrs. Minnie Hardenbrook and Miss Mamie Smith are taking them by car to Grand Island, and they will travel by easy stages to Long Beach. Mrs. Chapman received word Tuesday from Miss Mamie Siler that she had found and rented a nice apartment on the ground floor, and that she would meet them at the station when they arrived.

Mrs. Chapman, born Florence Maude Smith, came to Ord with her parents from LeMars, Ia., at the age of 3 years. They lived for a year on a farm on Turtle Creek and then moved to Ord. She attended school under T. T. Bell, Prof. Gillespie and Prof. Hussey. She was fourteen years old when she first worked on the Ord Quiz under W. W. Haskell, after three months she worked for O. S. Haskell for 5 years on the Blizzard.

The paper was then sold to Dr. J. M. Klinker, who ran it for several years, Mrs. Chapman working for him. She also worked a long time for H. M. Davis on the Ord Journal. She worked for the Quiz at different times under Mr. Haskell and when he sold to H. D. Leggett she continued to work for him.

Mrs. Ada Munn had Mrs. Chapman and Delbert at her home for supper last Saturday evening. Friday the members of the R. N. A. met at her home, bringing their own chairs and tables with them, as the Chapman furniture was mostly sold. The Degree of Honor met with her on Saturday night, and on Monday evening the Rebekahs met there, showing the high esteem in which she is held by the members of these organizations.

Former Council Oak Manager Arrested On Assault Charge

Robert Cook and Brother Fined Saturday by Judge John L. Andersen.

Upon complaint of Melvern Ferris filed with County Attorney, John P. Misko, George and Robert Cook were arrested Saturday morning by Sheriff George Round on a charge of assault and battery, and upon their admission of guilt before John L. Andersen, County Judge, were fined $5 and costs of $6 each, a total of $22, all of which they paid and were released.

The assault was entirely unprovoked, and came as a surprise to all who were in the vicinity. Robert Cook had been discharged from his position as manager of the Ord Council Oak store two days before, and he and his wife planned to leave Ord Saturday. His brother George and wife were in Ord helping them get ready to move.

Friday evening they were invited to supper at the Daryl Hardenbrook home, and also played badminton while there. While they were playing Melvern Ferris drove up and stopped to play a few games. The Cook brothers invited him to go down to the park, and upon his refusal to go with them, Robert took off Melvern's glasses and ordered his brother, who is a boxer, to hit him.

George Cook hit him, and Robert slapped him several times. He broke loose from Robert and got George down when Hardenbrook and Glen Holloway took a hand. The Cooks then got in their car and drove away. The only possible excuse they could have had for the assault was that Robert Cook had an argument with the proprietors of the Ord City Bakery, by whom Mr. Ferris is employed.

June Prove a Good Month for Marriages

No less than ten couples obtained licenses from County Judge John L. Andersen in June, which makes the past four Junes very fine months indeed for marriages. The record for the past ten years is as follows: 1930, 9; 1931, 9; 1932, 5; 1933, 3; 1934, 5; 1935, 8; 1936, 11; 1937, 10; 1938, 7, and 1939, 10. The average for the past four years is 9 1/2, while that of the four years before was only 6 1/2.

Townsend Club Picnic

The Ord Townsend club will meet at Bussell Park, Friday, July 7, at 6 p. m., for their regular meeting. There will be lunch and entertainment. Everybody is welcome.

—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox and daughter of North Loup were in Ord Saturday evening.

Prien Knocked Out By George Benda Saturday Night

One Man Taken to Hospital, the Other to Jail; Both Paid Fines Monday.

Monday afternoon George Benda and John Prien were brought before John L. Andersen, county judge, on a charge of assault and battery, and upon their admission of guilt, were both fined. Benda received a fine of $15 and paid costs of $10, and Prien was fined $25 and paid costs of $8.

The facts as brought out at the hearing showed that both men had been arguing and quarreling, and that about 9:30 p. m., Saturday, Frank Kasal asked them to leave his pool hall, because they were causing too much of a disturbance. They continued the argument and shortly afterward came back in again.

After they were inside Prien made a pass at Benda, but without hitting him, and Benda landed a heavy blow on Prien's face, breaking his nose and splitting his lip, as was learned upon examination at the hospital later. Prien sank to the floor unconscious, and immediate efforts to arouse him failed.

He was then taken to the Ord hospital, where he later recovered consciousness, and where he was kept until the time of the hearing Monday. It is known that both men had been drinking, and it is believed that Prien's failure to rally after the fight was due as much to the effects of the liquor as to the results of the fight.

Married at Bartlett

Dave Haight and Miss Jessie Adams were married at Bartlett Wednesday, June 28. Because of the fact that both of them have been much in the public eye in connection with their work for a number of years, the public felt a special interest in the wedding.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Sarah Adams of Ord, is a graduate of the Ord schools, and for years has been employed in different Ord restaurants. Recently she leased the Thorne cafe for a period of six months, and has been enjoying a very good business there.

Mr. Haight has been custodian of the court house for a long period of years, and in that capacity has become one of the best and most favorably known men in Ord. The hundreds of friends unite in wishing them the best of this life's blessings.

Cosmopolitans Planning Soap Box Derby for Ord

Some time ago the Cosmopolitan club decided in favor of having a soap box derby for Ord, and named Ed Gnaster as a committee of one to make the necessary arrangements. Mr. Gnaster wrote the World-Herald and learned that the paper is no longer sponsoring the contests.

Hearing that a state contest was to be held this year at North Platte, he wrote there, and under date of June 30 received a letter from the North Platte Daily Telegram, that read as follows:

"Dear Sir:—The Nielsen Chevrolet company has referred your letter of the 26th to me and enclosed you will find a number of rule books, application blanks, driver's licenses and other data. We are anxious to have as many Ord boys and boys in your trade territory as possible to participate in the Nebraska finals of the 1939 All American Soap Box Derby, which will be held in North Platte on Sunday afternoon, July 30.

You will note the yellow and white entry blanks. Have the boys who intend to build cars have their parents sign up a yellow and white slip and return them as soon as possible to James Kirkman, Daily Telegraph, North Platte, Neb.

Each boy whose parents sign the blanks may then receive a license card which he is to present upon his arrival at North Platte for car inspection. There is no entry fee here and the winner will receive an all-expense trip to the national finals in Akron, O., in mid-August, together with his mother and father. The winner will also receive a large silver trophy and an engraved wrist watch.

Each entry here will receive a nice metal helmet and there will be various heat prizes here. Please let us hear from time to time how you are coming along. Yours truly, James Kirkman."

The club is considering the plan of having a local meet a short time before the state event to find out which boys are the best drivers. If the local boys show sufficient interest this will doubtless be done. Any boy who is interested should see Ed Gnaster at the Chevrolet Garage at once for full particulars.

CURE FOR NEBRASKA'S ILLS.

What ails Nebraska, and the cure may be summed up in a few words:

- 1. When homesteaders came to Nebraska they found virgin soil, largely free from weeds and harmful insects. These came later with civilization and must be eliminated by careful and complete cultivation of all our tillable land.
2. The pioneers found the land cheap, the taxes light. Present land values are too high, and taxes must be cut.
3. The pioneers did not borrow money except in case of dire necessity.
4. The pioneers thought for themselves.
5. The pioneer was a man of reverence.
6. Since 1834 we Nebraskans have been living a lie.
7. Let us do our farming as God intended.
8. Each community should take care of its own problems.
9. Let us forget this silly talk about so-called progress.
10. Let us remember that the king's program of oppression was by no means popular at home.

OUR NATION'S BIRTHDAY.

Yesterday was the 163rd anniversary of our nation's birth. Born July 4, 1776, it must not be forgotten that it was not until several years later that it was known for certain that the child would live.

It is only fair to say that the king's program of oppression was by no means popular at home, and was the subject of much biting criticism in the houses of parliament.

At the time of the Declaration of Independence the revolution was still a rebellion. The first guns of the war had been heard at Lexington on April 19, 1775, less than fifteen months before.

tricts the Indians were still raiding the settlers.

The thirteen colonies were sandwiched between the French and Indians on the north and west, and the Spanish on the southwest and south.

When we consider the difficulties that confronted our forefathers we cannot but marvel at the courage they must have shown to face the difficulties that beset them.

It was not until Oct. 16, 1781, that it was definitely known that the new born country was destined for a permanent place in the galaxy of nations.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

Mrs. Emma Harder has a real curiosity in her home in the form of a Christmas cactus that is in full bloom just six months out of time.

When the St. Paul boosters came to town last week some good sized Ord kids got to see their first fireworks on the public square.

Not to be outdone by the George Round cat, Doc Ferguson's dog, Skipper, did some real traveling last week.

Lloyd (Spud) Richardson tells of a certain cowboy, who went into the Ord Golden Rule store and bought some very red peacocks.

Henry Misko was wild throughout but managed to pull the game out of the fire on several different occasions through the timely assistance of the entire Ord team.

Ord Legion Juniors Win From St. Edward

Playing the best game to date, the Ord Legion Juniors took a thrilling contest from St. Edward Wednesday afternoon to draw them into a second place tie with Ord.

The St. Edward boys scored one in the third, while Ord scored two in the fourth and again the seventh.

Henry Misko was wild throughout but managed to pull the game out of the fire on several different occasions through the timely assistance of the entire Ord team.

Each community should take care of its own problems and as far as possible provide for its own needs. When bread, soft drinks, ice cream and even groceries are hauled one hundred miles or more each day and sold in direct competition with the home baker...

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Danger Conscious Play With Possoms A Secret as Yet Worst Catastrophy

Danger Conscious.

I. J. Thelin tells me that I should mention sometime of the many farm accidents that occur. He says that many or most of the farm accidents should be and could be avoided if more caution and care were taken.

All animals are dangerous, especially horses, bulls and even hogs. I knew a man once who kept a rooster that would attack people.

Mr. Thelin sights me to the campaign put on by the railroads to lessen the number of accidents. Men are put to work studying the safest methods to do every task and where ever there is an accident, the case is studied to find who was at fault.

Mr. Thelin sights me also to the early days in this country when the land was infested with rattlesnakes, and still there were very few people bitten.

Along with the many other schemes to spend money, the government or agriculture college might make a study of the best methods for the farmer to avoid catastrophes and accidents and institute a safety campaign such as the railroads have found so helpful.

Playing With Possoms.

SI Kriewald, says he found a mama possum down at the river the other day, and this mama possum had a half dozen baby possums hanging in her pouch.

Another story that Chas. Cross tells of some acquaintance of his is that he caught a possum and the animal played possum (dead). They tried in several ways to bring the possum awake, or for him to act awake, but with no avail.

A Secret as Yet.

Here is a little secret that I heard the other day when I was in Lincoln. Don't tell anyone I told you, but some people somewhere have been carrying on some experiments on salting cream and milk.

The salt goes out with the buttermilk and more even has to be added for the proper amount in the butter. Milk too can be kept sweet by salting and the salt goes out in the skim milk when it is separated.

Our Worst Catastrophy.

It seems to many of us that the grasshoppers are worse in some sections than in others. West of N. L. they appear to abound in greater numbers than, perhaps, in other places.

This grasshopper menace, it seems to many, is the worst catastrophe of anything that has happened yet—even worse than drought, floods, or hail storms. Drouths or hail storms are usually only of a short duration but the grasshoppers go on forever.

I repeat, like I said a few weeks ago, something else must be done than simple poisoning by the farmers. Poisoning gets some of the insects, but even where the poison is spread and dead hoppers are found, still the ground will abound with the live ones. More than this there are great areas where there is no poison ever spread, and in land as vast as this it seems like a hopeless task.

Bud Beebe has rigged up a grasshopper catcher on the front of an old car, dousing the critters in oil solution as they hop into it. Bud harvests millions and bushels of these fellows for, they say, a dollar an hour.

Short Shavings.

SI Kriewald says that to make some of the best pancakes one ever slapped his lips over, gather some elderberry blossoms and put them in the batter.

Gus Wetzel caught a five pound catfish last Sunday morning before the waters of the river rose so turbulently.

Roswell Laverly, a nephew of Attorney Laverly, son of Jess Laverly and Mable Horr Laverly, old timers here, and a resident of Denver has been recently elected to the city council of that city.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

In wondering whether Valley County will ever get rid of grasshoppers, one may find encouragement in the unevenness of this year's outbreak.

Damp autumn weather in those counties brought on an infectious disease that killed the pests. In Pawnee County, where one of the worst outbreaks occurred last year, only seven sacks of poison bait were sold this spring.

Also our local climate is not so humid, it is sufficiently damp that we may expect hoppers to perish from disease here also, if normal rainfall ever returns.

Poison bait generally destroys more insects than it gets credit for. The poisoned hoppers live for a couple of days, and are hard to find after they die.

This year's grasshopper hatch was peculiar in that it started so early and lasted so long. The infestation is about as predicted by state entomologists last winter.

Most grasshoppers produce only one brood a year, but the little migratory species sometimes hatches out a second generation in the fall.

Political strategy of the New Dealers seems to be to start hitting the most likely opponent early...

WASHINGTON—It has been rather widely quoted that President Roosevelt, in introducing Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan to King George at the famous British embassy garden party, commented: "This is the man who thinks he is going to succeed me next year, but he isn't."

It has not been widely quoted at all, even in Michigan, that the following day, when Senator Vandenberg was presented to the King in the Capitol, the king said: "I am very glad to get your name in order to connect it up with what occurred yesterday."

All of which is chiefly of interest in that Mr. Roosevelt's feeling about Vandenberg for his seat cropped out so visibly that even a visiting ruler, whose mind was concentrated almost entirely on trying to do the right thing and make an impression which would not let England down, noticed it.

It is of a piece with the President's reference to Thomas E. Dewey as "that little two-spot," and to the campaign the New Dealers have been so consistently conducting since last winter against Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The point here is not whether this is sound strategy or not. If the best political traditions are to be followed, it would seem to be. Start hitting the most likely opponent early.

The importance at the moment is that apparently this is the strategy of the New Deal, and that the No. 1 target has changed three times since last November. In that month the remark about Dewey being a "two-spot" was made. By February apparently the New Dealers were figuring that Taft was the man they had to beat.

Next September it may be somebody else. Undoubtedly three or four more Republicans will be on this hot spot before next June, when all doubts will be resolved by the Republican national convention.

Dewey is still the most popular Republican for the nomination if one believes the polls. But inside New Deal information is that he began slipping rapidly some time back so far as the men apt to control the delegates are concerned.

So Taft went into top position, as far as they are concerned, and it didn't take the New Deal scouts long to find this out. Then Taft was hurt by two things. One was his failure to make a hit at several important gatherings where he spoke, of which one was the annual dinner of the newspaper editors.

This put Vandenberg out front, which is the reason he seemed the chief menace to continuance of the New Deal early in June. It may be of course that Mr. Roosevelt was also especially annoyed with the Michigan senator because it was Vandenberg who directed the successful fight to block further appropriations for the Florida ship canal.

American Merchant Marine To Receive Another Blow

Something is always cropping up to prevent the development of an American merchant marine. Now it is about to receive another blow. The house foreign affairs committee went out of its way to prevent it, but the blow is almost surely coming when the so-called Bloom bill (introduced by Representative Sol Bloom along the lines advocated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull) gets over to the senate.

The trouble lies in the "cash and carry" provisions of the measure. The bill provides that munitions and war materials may be sold abroad, even to belligerents, and may be shipped, but it also provides that title to the goods must be transferred from American ownership before goods leave American harbors.

The original cash and carry provisions, regarded as going a long way toward removing the danger of possible incidents, forbade their shipment in American vessels. The Bloom bill was changed in this respect so as to permit the use of American bottoms in shipping war supplies abroad.

Under the Bloom bill ships flying the American flag may transport anything they please except that they may not enter zones that, after the breaking out of war, may be declared dangerous by the President of the United States.

But on the senate side of the Capitol this idea of permitting ships flying the United States flag to carry munitions of war to the ports of a belligerent country seems a very dangerous doctrine to the group of senators anxious to isolate this country—or insulate it from the latest war—against every possible danger of war.

That Might Lead To War

Senators in this group insist that the danger of an "incident" is just as great—just as apt to inflame the people of this country to a stage where war might result—if a ship flying the American flag and manned by United States seamen were torpedoed as though United States nationals also owned the cargo she was carrying.

They do not see any difference in the possible effects. They do not think that the shipment of munitions to belligerents should be permitted at all, and would like to prevent the shipment of all war supplies, but recognize that the opposition to them is too strong to permit their going this far.

But in the amendment of the present neutrality act they are sure they can work up enough popular sentiment on their side to prevent ships flying the United States flag from sailing with loads of foreign owned munitions—though produced in the United States and sold by United States nationals—to belligerent ports.

Bitterness Against Jones

Developments in the Roosevelt-Garner-Parley-McNutt presidential sparring are as thick and furious as though this were next spring instead of the Democratic National convention being a full year off. Within the last week bitterness of many of the New Dealers against Garner has reached the danger stage, all of it resulting from what the New Dealers assumed to be a Garner-inspired story which stated that the vice president would stick to the end, regardless of any other development, in his fight for the nomination.

As a matter of fact, Garner did not know about this story before it was printed. But it so happens that it was written by the Washington correspondent of a Texas newspaper owned by Jesse H. Jones!

Moreover, they are trying to cut in on Garner's Texas strength now by flirting with Sam Rayburn, Democratic leader of the house, on the notion that Rayburn may be nominated for vice president, with Roosevelt as head of the ticket, next year.

Not Disloyal For Any Democrat to Make the Race. "Why shouldn't any Democrat run for the nomination?" one of them demanded of the writer. "Roosevelt has not said one word to indicate that he intends to run. But even if he did tomorrow, does that mean that it is disloyal for any other Democrat to have aspirations? And disloyal to whom? They talk about Garner's pledging himself for the 'duration' at the Philadelphia convention. What do they mean 'duration'? As long as Roosevelt lives? Roosevelt doesn't own the Democratic party. If he wants the nomination nothing will prevent his going after it. But there is nothing disloyal, to the party or to anybody, in any Democrat who chooses making the race. Our man is in the fight, and he will win."

Due development that caused much surprise was the statement of Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana that Paul V. McNutt would be a candidate only in the event that Roosevelt decides not to run for a third term. As few people in Washington really doubt that Roosevelt will try or that McNutt thinks anything else, this is taken as a bid by McNutt for the vice presidential nomination.

As a result, the Texans have been digging in further on the Indiana situation. They had been making cautious inquiries before, trying to get second-choice commitments. An insider in the Garner movement tells the writer that unless there are some unexpected upsets Roosevelt will probably get 19 of Indiana's delegates and Garner nine.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sayre and Mr. and Mrs. Paul White went to North Loup Thursday for a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hurley and other relatives. Mrs. Hurley is a sister of Mr. Sayre and Mrs. White's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cress and daughter and Mrs. Ronald Cress came over from their homes at Lexington Thursday. They came at this time to see the damage done the crops at Chas. Cresses by the hail storm.

A sextet composed of Ersel Goodrich, Edna Hawkes, Jane Hoepner, Muriel Bartz, Dorothy Eyerly and Paula Jones sang the "Umbrella Man" at the band concert Wednesday night.

Walt Mason Once Worked On a Greeley Newspaper

Of interest to all admirers of Walt Mason, the famous humorist and poet who died recently at San Diego, Calif., is the fact that he once was employed in Greeley, Neb., where he worked three months on the Greeley Democrat in 1890. In the bitter feud between Scott and Greeley over the county seat, Mason wrote editorials for the Democrat, urging the removal of the courthouse to Greeley.

He was always broke and poorly dressed. He once entered a Greeley saloon and talked the barkeeper, Luke Finn into giving him a couple of drinks. When Luke refused him a third drink Mason wrote a clever poem about the incident, and Finn traded him a drink for the poem. T. W. Langdon, now in Washington now has that copy of the poem.

The Millers, father, two sons and two daughters, are putting on their trick roping and riding at White Horse ranch, 20 miles north of Stuart yesterday and today. They go to Billings, Mont., the week of Aug. 14-19, and to Sidney, Mont., Aug. 23 to 26.

—Miss Opal Garrett of Evanston, Ill., passed through Ord Friday evening on her way to Burwell where she will assist Miss Marjorie Ball in taking the place of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Heinze while they are on their vacation. The Austins, who are acquainted with her, were at the bus depot to visit with her.

—Gordon Johnson of Jamestown, N. D., arrived in Ord Friday evening by way of the hitch hike, and at once got busy looking for transportation north on No. 11, hoping to get back home in a couple of days. He said he had thumbed his way through Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska on a combined visiting and sight-seeing trip, and had found little difficulty in picking up a ride when he wanted it.

Burwell News

Written by REV. W. L. GOODELL

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Johnson and family accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Burgess to their home in Omaha for a 10 day visit in their home. Mrs. Burgess is Mr. Johnson's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gross and daughter Charlene came Monday evening from York to visit in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malicky.

A large drag line was brought to Burwell and started work on the dam Friday morning, refilling the breaks in the dike, caused by the recent flood.

The fire whistle sounded last Wednesday morning about 6 o'clock calling help to the Will Harrod farm on the Calamus northwest of Burwell when their home caught fire from a kerosene stove. The Burwell fire department did not take the truck as they would have had to go around by the east bridge as the west bridge is out. A number of neighbors and a few from town went to assist but the house could not be saved. The men worked hard to keep the fire from the other buildings on the farm. Only a few pieces of furniture were saved. Some insurance was carried on the building and contents.

Dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malicky on July 4th were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gross and daughter of York and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gross and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Johnson and daughter Elizabeth and Mrs. Frank Johnson went to Grand Island Sunday where Mrs. Everett Johnson visited in the home of her mother, Mrs. New, and Mrs. Johnson and his mother went to Lincoln where they met Julie and Charles Johnson of Indiana, who came to Miss Gertrude Elm was a guest in the Virgil Beck home over the fourth. She is attending summer school in Kearney.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Johnson came from Lincoln Sunday for a visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson and other relatives. They returned home on Tuesday.

Meredith (Pete) Ballard came from Mullen Sunday to spend a few days with relatives. Lewis Moore has purchased a new Tudor Plymouth sedan from the Garfield Motor Co.

Marjorie McMullen, who has been quite ill for the past 10 days with tonsillitis is much improved and able to be out.

Burwell for a visit. They all returned home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McMullen, jr. and family spent July 4th in St. Paul.

Richard Thomas, who is attending summer school in Kearney, came home the last of the week to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas.

Mrs. T. B. Swanson was hostess Sunday evening to a few friends of her son Bobbie Dick, in honor of his eighteenth birthday. Guests at dinner were Miss Betty Ronnat, Miss Ohleen Hoppes and Billie McMullen. Bobbie Dick expects to leave July 5th for the CCC.

Ario McGrew is carrying mail on Route 2 for Austin Anderson, while he is taking his vacation in Yellowstone Park.

W. F. Herman and Chas. Phelps drove to Central City Sunday and visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stone and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stone of Denver. Mrs. Grant Stone is a sister of Mr. Herman. He returned via Kearney and visited another sister, Mrs. Myra Waters, making a round trip for the day of 310 miles.

Frank Banks, who joined the army recently and is stationed at Fort Crook near Omaha came home for the week end to visit in the home of his father Tom Banks and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz of North Loup were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Zalud.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brownell, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bleach, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Butts and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sartain, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Horner and family, Clarence Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Knud Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Zalud and family and Mrs. Leo Nelson's mother and father of Elyria enjoyed a weiner roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nelson Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. G. A. Butts, who recently returned from a trip abroad. She gave a very interesting talk on her trip.

Mrs. W. D. Hart, who has been confined to her home because of illness, is much improved and able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nelson Married 50 Years

The above is a very good likeness of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Nelson of Burwell who celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage on Tuesday, June 27, at the Sam Bowers home north of Burwell.

Wold Point, Mont., and Ray, Evelyn and Melva Jean all at home, also eight grandchildren and many other relatives in the vicinity of Burwell and Omaha and many friends who will sadly miss him. Funeral services were held Sunday, July 2 at 2:30 o'clock p. m., in the Burwell Methodist church in charge of Rev. J. Bruce Wylie. Burial in the Banner cemetery north of Burwell.

Mrs. Chas. Meyer was in Grand Island from Wednesday until Friday visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. Archie Wicks. Bonnie Meyer spent the three days visiting in the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lyle Jacobs and family in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Meyers returned Saturday evening from Omaha with 2 new V8 Fords. One is a pickup and the other a tudor sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Fenner left Saturday in their car for Nisswa, Minn., where they will be in their cabin near Cullen Lake. They were accompanied by Mrs. Carly who will visit relatives in Minnesota.

Art Bishop, who has been working in Lexington, came Saturday for a few days visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Plath and daughters Connie and Nadine and Miss Betty LaClaire of Ogden, Ia., came Thursday for a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Williams. Mrs. Plath and Mrs. Williams are sisters.

Mrs. G. A. Butts returned home Thursday from a month's trip abroad. She was met in Grand Island by Mr. Butts.

An old fashioned social was held in the basement of the Christian church Friday evening. The entertainment sponsored by the young people's class of the Bible school consisted of a radio program over station FUN with television.

Vocal numbers with guitar accompaniment were given by Coleen Heitz in negro costume; the J & G quartet, composed of Dorothy, Dorothy Dea and Lavonne Johnson and Dorothy and Virginia Goodell sang; Paul Kern played a couple of baritone solos; a duet by Dorothy and Lavonne Johnson and a piano solo by Lavonne Johnson. Roy Nightengale and Lawrence Horner entertained with a group of old time selections on the violin and guitar with Mrs. W. B. Johnson, jr., at the piano. At the close of the program guessing games were enjoyed. Mrs. R. W. Wood was closest in her guess of the number of beans in a 1/2 pint cream bottle and Dorothy Goodell came closest in her guess of the number of strokes it would take to blow out an inner tube. Light refreshments were served.

Rev. Shelby J. Light left Monday for Leaf River, Ill., where he will visit his father and from there will go to Athens, Ill., and join Mrs. Light and children in a visit in the Virgil Knox home. They also expect to visit a former pastor of Rev. Light in Ohio before returning home. He will be away from his pulpit in the Congregational church three Sundays.

George Preston Murphy. George Preston Murphy was born at Winterset, Ia., Sept. 18, 1875 and departed this life June 30, 1939, at the age of 63 years, 9 months and 12 days, at the home of his son Norris of Atkinson, Nebr. Glasses go Streamline in NUMONT FUL-VUE TRI-FLEX

Ful-Vue took bothersome temples up out of the way. Now, Numont Ful-Vue Tri-Flex goes further—by eliminating end-pieces on lenses. Temples are attached only to the bridge, through gracefully curved, gold-filled rims hidden behind the lenses. Lens arms are remarkably inconspicuous, yet give added protection to lenses by absorbing shock and strain of everyday wear. Let us show you the smart simplicity of these modern glasses.

TWINE.

We handle two brands Silver Crown and McCormick Deering.

Silver Crown is double treated to resist insects and by actual test last year grain tied with this twine was bothered less by insects than with any other brand of twine.

Silver Crown runs smooth and very few knots in this twine. If you are using an old binder you will have a minimum of trouble if you will use Silver Crown.

Silver Crown runs 500 ft., to the pound and is cheaper than many brands that run 600 ft., to the pound.

CANE SEED.

There is plenty of time to plant Millets, Canes, Sudan, Kalo and Sooner Milo. We have limited stocks of all these varieties in stock. All 1938 crop and of high germination.

INSECTICIDES. Kubeicide will take care of most hard to handle insects that poison will not kill. Paris Green and Arsenate of Lead for Potato Bugs. Lime and Sulphur for Potato Purple Leaf and blight.

FLY SPRAY. Conkey's Fly Spray will keep the stock from being pestered with flies and it really kills them, but the odor does not taint the milk. "It Pays to Buy From Noll" NOLL SEED CO.
