

Council Resolves To Approve Bank Contracts Monday

Final Step Taken In The Refinancing of the City's Indebtedness.

After much study and a careful examination of every phase of the proposals presented by the Ord banks to refinance $70,000 of city indebtedness, the city council at their regular meeting Monday evening voted unanimously to accept them. City Attorney Clarence M. Davis had drawn up a form of approval which was passed upon, after which a motion was carried to accept the contract as presented.

John P. Misko presented these contracts in behalf of the banks. Present also were bankers E. P. O'Neal, C. J. Mortensen and Ralph Misko. The contracts presented were those presented to and approved by the boards of directors of the First National and Nebraska State banks since the last meeting of the council. Under the agreement each bank agreed to finance one-half of the $70,000 involved, and each bank has a separate contract.

E. C. James appeared before the council in regard to the city insurance carried by a company he represents and talked over a few details connected therewith. As this matter was not ready for action by the council it was laid over until the next meeting. A firemen's committee appeared before the board and asked that the dance license recently granted be cancelled, which was done.

Alex J. Cochran then appeared before the council and asked their approval of a recreation program for the time from now until June 1. He explained that it was necessary to have the approval of the council before he could go ahead with the program, but that this did not place the council under any financial obligation. This matter was also laid over.

Frank Kasal then appeared and asked the board to change or amend the pool hall ordinance so that he could legally sell beer in the pool hall, which he could not as the ordinance now reads. A motion was carried unanimously to have the city attorney draw up an amendment to the ordinance, to be presented to the council for consideration at their next meeting.

Of interest was the fact that three Boy Scouts, Orville Stoddard, David Milliken and Warren Allen, were present and taking notes for the session for the civic badges. It was an ideal time for them to attend, as a wide variety of subjects were up for consideration.

Orin Kellison Host At Big "John Deere" Party

Perfect weather greeted Orin Kellison and the huge crowd who were to be his guests yesterday for another "John Deere Day." As a result, the first show was given to a crowd that filled the Ord Theater to capacity and left a large number standing in the lobby and watching it through the windows. When the first show was over a second performance was given for those who were unable to get in for the first show.

John Clapper, jr., of Omaha, William Raabe, of Grand Island and Adolph Bokacek of Neligh were John Deere representatives in Ord and all were more than pleased with the attendance and interest shown. The show was not only highly instructive, but was also made very interesting by the plot which ran through it. Mr. Kellison feels well repaid for the trouble of bringing this entertaining and instructive feature to Ord.

Ord Postoffice Was Broken Into Tuesday Morn - by Employees

Tuesday morning, just at daylight, a suspicious scene might have been observed by anyone who happened to pass the Ord postoffice. Two men were boosting a third through a window of the building, which is clearly a violation of federal laws and would have caused any federal marshal to "shoot on sight."

But the apparently felonious act was entirely innocent after all. Roy Severson, first on the scene, was unable to unlock the postoffice door with his key. Mark Tolen, who showed up a few minutes later, tried his key and still the door remained closed. Then Postmaster A. L. Hill was called but the lock remained stuck in spite of Hill's best efforts.

A window was found that responded to burglarious technique and Severson was boosted through by Tolen and Hill to unlock the door from the inside.

Rolland W. Pierce Conducts Irrigation School

Rolland W. Pierce of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture was in Ord last week and on Wednesday conducted an irrigation school in the court room at the court house. About thirty irrigators were present for the all-day session and also J. A. Kovanda and about 45 of his ag students from the high school. The instruction was largely along the line of land leveling and contour mapping, the idea being to do the work that the best possible results might be obtained with a given amount of work. Mr. Pierce has several small models of various types of land leveling tools with which he illustrated his talks. Graduating from Ord high school in 1929, Mr. Pierce went to the University of Nebraska with the idea of specializing in agriculture. After graduation there he specialized in irrigation and topographical mapping, and is agricultural engineer at the college. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pierce of Ord.

The week before coming to Ord he conducted schools in Elwood, Lexington, Kearney, Big Springs, Alliance, Harrisburg, Grand Island, Ogallala, Taylor and finally in Ord. He left here Wednesday evening for Lincoln, where he was to join the group on the Union Pacific potato train, where he had an important part in the program.

Round, one of the pioneer residents of this community, died at her home Tuesday afternoon after a long illness, during which her daughter, Mrs. Hal Cooley, of Minneapolis, cared for her almost constantly. ### Ord Versus St. Paul Friday Night in Ord

What will be one of the most important games of basketball played in the valley this season will take place at the Ord gymnasium Friday evening when the Apostles from St. Paul come to Ord. This game was originally scheduled for St. Paul, but, due to the greater interest in the games here and the fact that the Ord floor is larger it was changed to Ord.

If St. Paul wins this contest they should win the Mid-Six championship, and if Ord wins the boys have a chance to tie for first honors. The pairings for the Loup Valley tournament are: Ord vs. Taylor; Burwell drew a bye; Sargent drew a bye; Arcadia drew a bye; St. Paul versus North Loup; Dannebrog drew a bye; Scotia drew a bye; Loup City vs. Comstock. The tournament will be played at Arcadia on Feb. 12, 13, 14 and 15.

Yocum Recovers, Nurse Returns to Grand Island

Two weeks ago the Quiz carried the story of how Dr. R. S. Cram of Burwell braved the wintry blasts, drove to a point ten miles north of Brewster and performed an appendectomy on one Gus Yocum on the dining room table. The operation was a serious one at any time, as the appendix was ruptured, but the sequel is of interest.

Miss Margaret Gibbons, R. N., who was called from Grand Island to have charge of the case at Brewster, passed through Ord on the bus Monday afternoon on her way to her home. She was very happy about the whole affair, for the patient was getting along well enough that her services were no longer required. The operation was performed Jan. 22, and the nurse left just two weeks later.

An Outstanding Sale.

Axel Hansen will hold a cleanup sale at his ranch west of Erierson on Wednesday, Feb. 14 and we invite you to turn to his advertising on another page of this week's paper. ### Chamber Members Meet and Discuss P. O. Dedication

Nacos Convention Report Also Heard, Other Interesting Business Taken Up.

There was a fair attendance at the chamber of commerce meeting Thursday evening, the first at which the new president, C. J. Mortensen, presided. The chief item of interest at the meeting was the report of A. A. Wiegard, secretary, on the NACOS (Nebraska Association of Civic Organizations) meeting held in Grand Island on Friday and Saturday.

Registration began at 11 a. m. at the Yancey Hotel, where all the meetings were held, many of those attending not getting outside the hotel door during the two day session. The convention was called to order for the opening session at 1:30 p. m., by Ben Stein of Norfolk, who is president of the state organization.

H. J. Dollinger of Scottsbluff who was special representative for the state at the National Convention in Chicago last year, was the first speaker and he told of the high lights of the convention. He said that a total of seven hundred delegates were supposed to attend, and that five hundred actually did go, which he considered a good attendance.

Many Attend Republican Rally at Kearney Friday

Gould Flagg, accompanied by Archie Geweke, John Misko, E. C. James and Robert Skinner, drove to Kearney Friday afternoon, getting there in time to attend a committee meeting of republicans held there. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Davis and Mrs. C. R. Wareham, also drove to Kearney, arriving in time to attend the evening meeting.

The meeting was held in the junior high auditorium and was very well attended. Miss Virginia Davis who attends the college, also attended the evening meeting, as did Judge and Mrs. B. A. Rose of Burwell. Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, who is assistant vice-chairman for the 5th district had a place on the platform and was introduced. Mr. Davis was also on the platform, and made a short speech when called upon.

Kenneth Wherry of Pawnee City, the new state chairman who succeeded Lyle Jackson, made the principal talk of the evening. In the course of his talk Mr. Wherry stated that the present farm program had so reduced the price of land that a farm in his county recently sold for $10 per acre, about one fifth of its assessed valuation.

Dies of Clot in Artery.

North Loup—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cornell and Murray Cornell went to Lincoln this morning, called there by the news that Ward Schallenberg, husband of the former Sylvia Cornell, died this morning after an illness of less than 24 hours. A blood clot clogged in an artery and caused death. The clot resulted from a bruise on the Schallenbergs' leg. He was a state highway department employee, and Mrs. Schallenberg, to whom he was married in September is employed in the state health department.

Bailey Was First Man to Sign No. Loup Contract

First man to sign a contract to take irrigation water from the North Loup project, then under construction, was Roy Bailey, and this Quiz photo, first published over three years ago, was taken to commemorate the signing. Mr. Bailey's belief in the possibility of irrigating the North Loup valley with water from the North Loup river was founded when he was a boy and he lived to see his dream fully realized.

Royal C. Bailey Died Here Sunday

Son of Springdale Pioneers and Was One of the First to Envision Irrigation.

Following a severe apoplectic stroke suffered at his home in Ord early Friday, Jan. 26, R. C. Bailey passed away early Sunday morning. Mr. Bailey enjoyed good health the greater part of his life, but the past year was seriously ill for some time with infection in his hand. It is believed that this weakened him until he was unable to recover from the stroke.

Royal Corlett Bailey was born at Iron Ridge, Dodge county, Wis., on Jan. 2, 1872, son of Harry H. and Sally Ann Bailey, and was 68 years one month and two days of age at the time of his death. His early boyhood was spent in Albia, Ia., after which he moved with his parents to Valley county in 1883. He settled on a farm near Ord and on Oct. 6, 1897, married Miss Elizabeth Scott at Leadville, Colo.

In the spring of 1902 he went into business in Ord and was active in this business until 1923, selling out to his partners at that time. Throughout his life he was interested in farming, and the past year did experimental work under irrigation on his farm across the river from Ord.

He had been a member of the Methodist church since 1884. He served on the board of education for 11 years. He was vice-president of the Nebraska Water Conservation congress, and was one of the pioneer workers for irrigation in the North Loup valley. He was instrumental in the creation of the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district, serving on the first board of directors, and was re-elected for a second term in 1939.

He is survived by his wife and by two sons, Glendall of Minneapolis and Arthur of Omaha.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Pearson and Anderson, and the services were held from the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. with Rev. G. C. Robberson of Ord and Rev. E. H. Maynard of Gothenburg in charge. A quartet, Mrs. Mark Tolen, Mrs. Robert Noll, Dr. F. L. Blessing and J. R. Stoltz sang, "Abide With Me" and "All the Way My Saviour Leads Me," with Mrs. Glen Auble at the piano.

The active pall bearers were Herman Grunckemeyer, Guy Laverty, Wm. Heuck, W. O. Zanger, John Lickly and C. E. Goodhand. The honorary pall bearers were Luther Sorenson, Tracy Hamilton, Luther Pierce, R. E. Brownell, Roy Hudson, Charles Newbecker, E. A. Holub, George E. Johnson, L. E. Walford, A. W. Pierce, M. B. Cummings, Chas. Burdick, Archie Bradt, C. J. Mortensen, Dr. P. A. Barta, Elmer Larsen of Scotia and J. E. Lawrence of Lincoln. Burial was made in the Ord cemetery.

No. Loup District Refinancing Plan To be Worked Out

R. F. C. Man Visits Ord and Is Hopeful Differences May Be Overcome.

Eugene T. Porter, of Omaha, field representative of the bond service division, Reconstruction Finance corporation, was an Ord visitor last Thursday, conferring with officials of the North Loup Public Power and Irrigation district, with city officials of Ord and Burwell and with interested farmers and business men.

Technically, the North Loup district is now in default, said Mr. Porter, and it is going to be necessary for some refinancing plan to be worked out so that the district may operate until income catches up with expense.

Since the district was not given sufficient operating funds at the start its present delinquency was almost inevitable, in Mr. Porter's judgment.

"At present I can see no reason why all differences cannot be adjusted, some refinancing worked out, and the district operate during the coming irrigation season," Mr. Porter told The Quiz.

At Arcadia last week Mr. Porter worked out a plan by which the R. F. C. loaned the Middle Loup district an additional $47,000, it has been announced.

Mr. Porter stated that the R. F. C. has a very friendly attitude toward both districts and although, as holder of the bonds, it is in the position of any bank which must have interest on its investment and eventual repayment of its money, the federal agency realizes that the districts must continue to operate if they ever are to pay their obligations.

Thora Nielsen Dead at Her Home in Denver

Last night, Mrs. Geo. Wilson received the sad news of the death at Denver, of her sister, Miss Thora Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nielsen, who formerly lived about 8 miles west of Ord, but who moved to Denver several years ago in hope of benefiting the daughter's health.

Other relatives are Jens Nielsen of Ord, Nels Nielsen of North Platte and Pete Nielsen of Bartlett, who are uncles of the deceased, and Mrs. George Kirby and Mrs. Morris Kirby, who are aunts; another married aunt lives at North Platte. Early this morning Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Nielsen and Jimmy Nielsen left by car for Denver to attend the funeral.

Engravings Made by Quiz Go to Alaska

Since The Quiz put in a photoengraving plant four or five years ago it has produced engravings, or "cuts" as they are known to the trade, for publishers in nearly all the counties of Nebraska and most states of the union. But Monday morning came an order from Juneau, Alaska, to establish a new record for long-distance service.

The order for 5 engravings was mailed there on Jan. 25 and reached Ord Feb. 5, 11 days later. The finished engravings were shipped Monday afternoon, about six hours after the order was received, and another ten days probably will pass before they reach their destination.

During the same six hour period Monday, engravings were made for publishers in South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska, all of whom received the packages some time Tuesday instead of having to wait 10 days as will the Alaska customer.

The Quiz photoengraving department also equipped to do general photographic work, is now located in the former Christian Science church building across the street east from The Quiz printing plant.

LONG TERMS DETRIMENTAL.

The controversy over a third term for the president brings up a proposition that should be the concern of every voter when the question of tenure in office is concerned. No man has ever served more than eight years as chief executive, and it seems to be the opinion of many that this precedent should never be broken.

This is right in line with our idea of democratic government. Our forefathers came to America to escape the oppression of those who held office for a life time and whose authority descended from father to son. They fought the war of the revolution to maintain the rights they had sought. Long tenure of office is inconsistent with democratic government.

Paradoxically, in any community in this broad land of ours, we find people holding public office for periods ranging up to twenty or even thirty years. We agree that the principle is wrong, but our system is such that a popular and efficient man has the power to continue himself in office indefinitely.

This is not written in criticism of the man who does this. It is his privilege to do so, since our laws permit it. But what is wrong is that the law itself permits it. A law was passed some years ago whereby treasurers were restricted to two terms in office, for the reason that there would have to be an accounting at every change in office, thus making for honesty.

This law was later repealed and one requiring periodic checking of officials substituted in its place. Instead of repealing the law, the legislature would have done better to extend it to include all public officials. What is proper for the highest office in the land should apply to all other offices. Eight years is long enough for any official to serve the public.

Public office is either a responsibility, sinecure, or a political plum, or a combination of them. If it is a responsibility, that responsibility should be shared by those qualified to hold the position. If it is a snap, no one man should have more than his share. In many places where offices are held by politicians, they can perpetuate themselves indefinitely under the present system.

Public office is different from private employment. What the private individual does about his office help is his own affair, since he pays them out of his own funds, but how long a public official shall draw public funds is the business of every person who pays taxes. Any system permitting public officials to hold office for long periods of time is a tendency in the direction of autocracy.

Today there is being set up in the United States a system of bureaus for the administration of relief in various forms and to different groups. What is now being done as a matter of necessity, may be made a permanent feature in the future, and if it is, it will be long steps in the direction of dictatorship, for these people are not placed in office by the vote of the people and the public has no say as to when their tenure of office shall terminate.

BOY SCOUT WEEK.

Tomorrow, Feb. 8, begins the annual Boy Scout week. Because of the fact that Ord has a large group of Boy Scouts, who are advancing rapidly in their work, this week should be of special interest to all Ord people. The Boy Scouts are $400,000 strong, now counting past and present membership, and represent the best there is to be found in the rising generation.

This will be the 29th anniversary of the incorporation of the Boy Scouts of America. The present active membership of the 39,750 Boy Scout troops is 1,233,650, a membership gain of more than 13% during the past year. That so many have identified themselves with the movement is a welcome portent for the future of American Democracy.

Scouting has become a part of the American boy's world because it is a program of action plus idealism. Measured in terms of boys, there is much room for growth. Measured in the terms of results attained, the Boy Scouts of America have long ago repaid any debt due the American people for the operating charter granted it by congress 29 years ago.

Dr. James E. West, chief scout executive, has given to the Boy Scouts the following charge: "As scout citizens, accept your responsibility for extending among those with whom you come in contact their understanding and appreciation of the ideals of Scouting and the principles that have made us, and in my judgment will always keep us, a great democracy."

TAKING CHANCES.

Several reports of suffering during the cold wave in January are of interest, not only because it shows us that we still have Old Man Winter to battle, but because of the inadequate protection so many persons equip themselves with when they go forth to contend with him. Most people can take along enough clothes if they would but many do not do so.

In Howard county last month two young people drove their car to a dance, and were no doubt warmly enough clothed to ride in the car.

On the way home their car stalled, and it was necessary to get out and walk. Clad in the type of clothing young people wear to a dance, they did not have protection against the storm, and both were badly frost-bitten.

Most of us remember the tragic fate of salesman O'Shea and his fiancée, who left Alliance in the winter a few years ago on their way to be married. Two days later their car was found stalled in the drifts northeast of Bayard, but the bodies were not found until the snow melted in the spring. When found they were clad in light, summer weight clothing, with no adequate protection from the storm.

The trouble is that too many young people think it a disgrace to take along any extra clothing. Of course they would not wear it, but if they had it with them for emergencies many a case of frostbite, freezing to death, or permanent injury could be avoided. No car is trustworthy in a storm, and the best of them will get stuck in the drifts. If people would pocket their pride and use a little common sense, a lot of suffering might be avoided.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

From M. L. Flack, extension dairyman of the University of Nebraska Agricultural college, came a number of useful suggestions to local farmers gathered at the high school agriculture room last week. It was the second annual meeting for members of the Ord Co-operative creamery's bull association.

Commenting upon the advantages to be gained by using this organization's purebred sires, Mr. Flack stated that their calves are probably worth $10 a head more when dropped than ordinary calves.

He explained how to make a simple substitute for a bull pen. It consists of two long poles set into the ground, with a wire stretched across from the top of one to the other. A sliding chain extends from the wire to the bull's nose ring.

Better feeding was advocated by Flack, as well as better breeding. He recommended supplying a mineral mixture to cows when alfalfa is scarce. The formula: 40 pounds of limestone, 40 pounds of steamed bone meal, and 20 pounds of salt.

"Cut your Atlas sorge in the blossom stage if you want good fodder," he continued. "But let it mature quite well for silage."

Flack told the story of a Nebraska farmer who had been feeding sorghum fodder and mlo grain to his milk cows without a protein supplement.

After attending a meeting at which the importance of protein was discussed, this farmer was surprised to find his butterfat production doubled when he fed the right amount of supplement. Furthermore, half of the increase in butterfat paid for the extra feed which he purchased. The other half was profit.

MEDICAL FACTS

Sponsored by 4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

In the December number of the "Reader's Digest" under the title of "Health Under Hitler," condensed from "Hell Hunger," there is a startling disclosure of the conditions of health in Germany under compulsory health insurance or so-called "state medicine." The book, there abstracted, was written by Dr. Martin Gumpert, who formerly was at the head of the Berlin City Dispensary for Deformity Diseases. This abstract states that there has been a marked decline in the health of the German people in all its phases. As examples of the various aspects of this breaking down of health, there are scarlet fever and diphtheria in the group of contagious diseases. The number of cases of these diseases has increased as much as fifty percent in four years.

Lack of food containing proper and sufficient vitamins have caused marked increase in rickets. This has resulted in a great increase in deformities, especially of the feet.

Three times as many German workers were sick during 1936 as the whole American population. This is thought to be due to increased working hours. In addition to increased work, the poor food and consequent malnutrition undoubtedly contribute to this. In other words, people less able to work are required to work longer hours, and as a result, they are more frequently sick. In the year 1933, each German worker was sick more than fourteen days on the average. In the United States, the average days of sickness for each worker is six or less.

Tuberculosis in Germany is on the increase and in addition to this fact the government is compelling the tuberculous individuals to work instead of rest and recover. This not only seals the doom of the sick person but increases the chances to spread the disease. The death rate in Germany under the Nazi regime of state medicine has increased in all the age groups. Death by suicide has even increased to three times the number per 10,000 population, that we have in the United States.

In 1935 and 1936, one-fourth of the men called up for military service were rejected because of their physical condition. In 1933 well over half were rejected for this cause. These facts strongly support the arguments against state medicine or, so-called, "compulsory health insurance."

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Surely a Favorite Son They Might Have Believed Him

SCOTIA EDITION
Surely a Favorite Son. Jake Everetts, County Commissioner for the west one third; (approx) of Greeley county, from the consensus of opinion of a number of people interviewed, seems to be making good at that arduous task.

The county commissioner job is a trying one at the best. The commissioner is in other words, the skipper for his section of the county. He tends to building all bridges and roads, spending county money, relief, equalization of taxes, county trials, and in fact, almost everything.

In a measure Jake has the edge over the average commissioner because he never ran for the office. He never asked a person to vote for him; he didn't know they were writing his name in until after the ballots were counted (he was on the election board too) and after his defeat at the primaries he did not know his next door neighbors were circulating a petition to put his name on the general election ballot until after it was all signed.

The folks in that section of the county wanted someone a commissioner to beat Tellman. Long having been known for his honesty, good judgment and kind heart, Jake had been asked three different times in his life to run for the commissioner job and each time had refused. Before his last election his friends came to him again and he finally said if they elected him he would take the job and do the best he could, but he would make no effort for it on his part. That's the way it went; that's the way he was elected.

As a consequence, he is not obligated to any person, clique or party because of pre-election promises. He has striven since he has taken office to treat everyone as fair as he could, keeping the welfare of the county and people paramount. Every day there is something new coming up, causing him to make decisions. He does the best he can with the feeling he is obligated to no one and with the feeling too if the people don't like it, they can get someone else.

More than that he does his work without the apparent worry that some have had. One commissioner worried over the affairs and the criticism so much that when reelection time came he said he wouldn't have the job again under any circumstances.

It is a tough job and some wonder if they did him a favor to elect him to it.

They Might Have Believed Him. At the Scotia Co-op Oil company this year they bought, to give away, a calendar with the choice of four different scenes. The calendar were laid out on the table in four piles and anyone who wanted one could take it, picking the picture he liked best. One selection was a picture of a bathing beauty.

It was discovered before long that the calendars with the bathing beauty picture were all gone before any of the others were taken. In fact, the one calendar was so noticeably the most popular that the employees began to talk about it.

It happened too, in this connection that the son of one of the directors grabbed one of these bathing beauty calendars and hurried home with it, hanging it up in the house, and absentmindedly not telling his folks of it.

The next day a neighbor lady dropped in. She had heard of this calendar picture and she sputtered considerably, voicing her opinion to the director for allowing the company to put out such an advertisement. The wife of the director sided in and between the two women they gave the director a real lacing for the vileminded act of the business.

He tried to answer and say that it was not he, but the manager who had ordered the calendars, that he was innocent as could be, that his mind never wandered to such things, that had it been him all of those calendars would have been tossed into the fire pronto. His arguments against two women were quite futile however, (you know) two women against one man.

At that, he thought he about had them convinced of his innocence, when low and behold his wife began to open her eyes wide, she drew a deep breath and gasped. Was she seeing things? Were her eyes deceiving her? Where was she anyway? Yes, on the wall, her very own wall, her very own home, was a new calendar, the very terrible one she had been talking about.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

There is an old-fashioned guy living right here in Ord who still thinks NDC means National Biscuit Company, and AAA means American Automobile Association. Luckily these modern alphabet grabbers have left us our BVD's or we would freeze.

Horace Travis and the rest of the weather men conspired against the groundhog (who isn't a hog) Friday, and if he saw his shadow at all it was for a brief moment in the forenoon. The records prove that snow early in February is a favorable indication for an early spring, so it may be all right to infer that the old weather prophet did not see his shadow at all.

The writer is going to take a chance and speak about the young lady who did a sit-down strike recently while cutting across the corner of the square. She happened to land in the slush, and the slush was soft, but even at that she did not appear to be pleased. She asked that her name be kept out of this department, so we can't say who it was.

—Mrs. Ernest Sights has written the Quiz to change her address from York to Geneva, Nebr.

A lady north of Horace, who is one of the cheese factory's best customers, called a week ago after the roads had been broken, and said she wished the trucker would hurry and come up there for she had on hand at that time, ten days' milk saved up.

Someone expressed on the Scotia street the other day, that Senator Doyle had finally got his picture in the papers, even if it was without pants.

THE MISKO FOR PRESIDENT CLUB

Dues, One Hundred Dollars per plate (In Advance). Portland, Oregon.

To the Editor of the Quiz: I most earnestly urge that you fern the Misko for President Club and that you and your paper go out and ring door bells and kiss babies for Mr. Misko. . . . You should only kiss the gal babies that are of voting age.

New York County, New York has come forward with their County Attorney and make the claim that their County Attorney is a good county attorney, he should jump from that to President of the United States.

New York County has already had several men in the white house, but has Valley County Nebraska ever had one? No.

Now I don't think that everyone agrees that a feller should be jumped with one mighty bound from county attorney to President of the United States. But if such a jump is to be made, then let's get John Misko—Says me.

There is no evidence at hand that Mr. Dewey keeps a scrap book of Mister Macfadden's editorials or of John Ward's editorials. . . . He does not eat his spinach and has not paid his 1940 dues as yet. There is also evidence which will be shown later that Mr. Dewey does not live right in several other respects—

There is no evidence at hand that Mr. Dewey has ever made a hole in one or that he has ever filled an inside straight. And so far he has not expressed his attitude on a higher tariff on side saddles and buggy whips.

Our Mr. Misko on the other hand, has made a hole in one, has filled an inside pocket straight, can jump on and off a horse at a full gallop, eats his spinach like Mr. Macfadden says and lives a good clean, honorable life. I have personally known Mr. Misko for a good many years and can truthfully say that I have never known him to thumb his nose at a YMCA Secretary or perform any other subversive act.

He is bigger and funnier than Mr. Dewey and can yell louder and say bigger words and he can even spell some of them too and there are rumors that he even knows the meaning of a few of them although I for one think that that is a little too far fetched.

Therefore we are for John Misko for President of these United States, on the Republican ticket in 1940 and long may she wave.

Be it further whereased and further resolved that a copy of the minutes of this meeting be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and another copy be mailed to the family of the victim. Further the Reponent sayeth nut. The Misko For President Club, Merritt H. Fuson, Treasurer.

HEART BUSINESS, NOT PURSE.

My daughter, who is a member of the domestic science class in the Scotia high school came to her folks the other day to get help on a question her teacher asked for her to answer. It was, "How much money is necessary for a young couple to have before marrying?" From a point of experience (not theory) and from observation, we could answer this question without difficulty. "A couple should have five dollars to buy the license with," I replied, "but if they haven't that five, no doubt they could borrow it for this purpose."

Bill Kidlow came to see me a few days before he heard that I was going to get married. He held out a five dollar bill and offered to loan it to me. A little stunned at this he explained, "When I got married your father loaned me five dollars and I am just trying to return the compliment."

"Of course," we instructed the

Chamber Members Meet and Discuss P. O. Dedication

George Overturf next spoke on 4-H club work and the livestock and pasture program, stressing the importance of cooperation between the chamber of commerce and the county agent. In this respect it seems that not all counties are as fortunate as Valley, considerable friction arising in some of them.

He suggested that the chamber as an organization or as separate groups should sponsor the different kinds of clubs for the boys. Where this was tried last year, it was reported at the meeting that every obligation assumed by a boy in the clubs had been met in full, that the boys made a profit on their venture and that they were all highly pleased.

Harry Cruise, secretary of the Lincoln chamber of commerce, was the next speaker. His topic was along the line of various organizations having the different chambers of commerce make offers of how much they would do to have their convention scheduled for their city.

This idea he said was throwing a heavy burden on civic organizations, especially in the larger cities. A committee was appointed at his suggestion on convention policies.

Keith Neville of North Platte, who is a candidate for governor, then spoke on the proposition of state advertising. The last legislature appropriated $6,000 for this purpose, but it is now tied up in the courts. His idea was to promote the products of the state and carry on an advertising campaign to call the attention of the tourist trade to the beauties of Nebraska, this trade being a most important asset.

E. P. Ryan, secretary of the Grand Island chamber of commerce spoke on the relations of the business men and the farmer. His talk was followed by a question box, which brought out many interesting ideas. The banquet was held that evening. The address of welcome was given by W. R. Stryker of Grand Island, and was followed by a fine program.

Lobdell from the state highway department was present and spoke in place of A. C. Tiley, who had been called to Washington on highway problems. He said that Nebraska last year had lost four million dollars worth of road work because of the inability of the state to match two million dollars worth of highway money the government was willing to contribute. A traffic count was made on every road in Nebraska last year, and maps showing the result are now available.

Saturday morning the food stamp plan was touched upon, a new idea to distribute surplus commodities through cooperation of the town merchants. Frank Fogarty, head of publicity in Omaha, stated that he did not think the government should be in the commodity business, as in time it would become a racket. The plan is for the WPA consumer to buy a dollar stamp, and to receive with it a 50c stamp. The dollar stamp is good for anything, and the 50c stamp for surplus commodities only. Neither is good for liquor or tobacco.

It is simply a new way of handling the surplus commodities, and where it has been tried, it is found to eliminate waste, the chief objection to the old method. Valley county is too small for the plan at present, but it is being set up in Omaha and Lincoln and will be in operation in March.

Mr. Fogarty also spoke on constructive criticism. This is what is known as the "Ozane Service," from the man who formulated the plan. The organization sends out a group of men in any city who desires the service, and they check on local conditions, such as streets, stores, entries, awnings, courtesy, atmosphere, and give a rating on each, thus showing in what respect the condition of the city may be improved.

The suggestion was here made in the Ord meeting that it would be a good plan to obtain the film, "Business on Main Street," and show it for the benefit of the public. C. W. Motter of Fremont spoke on irrigation, dwelling at length on the Tri-County project. In his mind it seemed that the North and Middle Loup projects did not even exist, although they have shown better results from their three million than the Tri-County has for its thirty million dollars spent.

A suggestion was made that local chambers put on a "Kick" night, at which time any member who wished to do so could register a kick. These would not be commented upon during the meeting, but would be taken up at the next session. It was further suggested that it might be well to be careful what was kicked about, since, as each member is a part of the organization, he would in effect be kicking himself.

John B. Adams of Des Moines, Ia., was the first speaker after dinner. He stressed the idea of secretaries of chambers of commerce carrying it on as a profession, as the work was so important that it should be handled only by men who had taken special schooling and training, and who had studied their own towns and knew the local needs.

Otto Zumwinkel of Lincoln told of the Committee of 100 which was being selected in Nebraska. This is a list of outstanding men in all lines of work, and from all corners of the state. The object of this committee is to work in every way possible to promote the interests of the state, as well as their own communities. At the business session of the NACOS Mr. Wiegardt was elected a member of the board of directors.

This closed the convention report. Mr. Mortensen then stated that he had contacted the Union Pacific railroad and asked if the afternoon train could not be scheduled to leave at 4:30 p. m., instead of at 3 p. m., as it does now. This would give the business men more time to get their mail out on the afternoon train, which he believes would be a great advantage.

The dedication of Ord's new post-office was then brought up and was given considerable attention. Postmaster Hill stated that he has contacted Senator Burke, and that he said he would be here. He also said that he would try to bring the first assistant postmaster general with him, and possibly others. He also insisted that an invitation be extended to Governor R. L. Cochran to attend and participate in the services.

Contractor Goodhand is uncertain at this time as to just when the building will be ready for the dedication. The time limit expires on March 14, and the furniture is ordered to arrive in Ord about March 20. Postmaster Hill was appointed chairman to make arrangements and report progress at the next meeting. Hill stated that the Central Nebraska Postal Employees association was to meet in Ord at the time of the dedication.

The chair announced that the Knights of Columbus had been contacted in regard to holding their next annual convention in Ord, and it is probable that it will be brought here. Mortensen had also talked with Lobdell in regard to Valley county roads, and had been informed that the Ord-North Loup highway was to be graded in 1940, and surfaced in 1941, as soon as it had time to pack. The state's plan for the present is to close any gaps in the present roads, rather than to start new ones.

Ign. Klima said it was his understanding that the road from North Loup to Scotia Junction would be hard surfaced this year; that the Ord-Erison would be clayed to the county line; that while work is being done in raising the grade thru the swamp north of Elyria, traffic would be detoured up Haskell Creek to the Burwell-Erison highway. He also stated that the graveling of the Ord-Sargent road was proceeding on schedule.

C. C. Dale reported that soil conservation payments in the amount of $102,000 had been distributed in Valley county to date, this being about two thirds of the total sum, $160,000. He also told of the activities of the pig clubs, stating that the main obstacle in many cases was the scarcity of grain. All of those who went into it last year had reported a profit. There was some talk of sheep clubs, but because of the greater care necessary none had gone into them yet.

Dale also spoke of the irrigation school held last week, and said that it was possible that the soil conservation service would make a topographic survey of each farm and lay out his lateral system without expense to the farmer. He thought this would be a wonderful thing, and would advance irrigation from 5 to 10 years in the valley.

F. W. Coe told of the prize of $25 offered by the Ord Co-operative creamery for the best pasture under irrigation in 1940, this being in cooperation with the pasture, forage and livestock improvement program. State prizes are being offered for pastures by the Omaha chamber of commerce. Coe, Dale and Bob Noll were named a committee to work out a program.

American Legion.

The regular meeting of the American Legion was held in the hall last evening. Horace Travis reported for the committee on Sons of the Legion. John L. Ward of the carnival committee suggested that the proposition be abandoned for the present which was done. Three officers were allowed expense money for the officers meeting in Grand Island Feb. 23. It was voted to buy two large posters advertising the Legion. The Ladies Auxiliary also met and revised their constitution, preparatory to sending it to state headquarters for approval there. It was voted to order two naval plates for sale, as was done last year. Fifteen hundred poppies and one thousand poppy seals will be ordered for Poppy Day. The chairs in the basement have been painted in an NYA project and present a much improved appearance.

Following the Legion and Auxiliary meetings an Americanism program was put on under the direction of Mrs. C. W. Clark, Mrs. Syl Furtak assisting at the piano. It was held in the upper room of the Legion hall. The program opened with the singing of "America." Marianna Russell then led in the Legion Junior "Salute To The Flag." ### Burwell Pastor Wrote Poem Praising Nebraska

Winters While Visiting "Warm, Sunny Texas"

Rev. and Mrs. J. Bruce Wylie, Mrs. Nellie Collier, Rev. and Mrs. B. C. Heinze, and Rev. and Mrs. Shelby J. Light attended the meeting of the Loup Valley Ministerial association held in Scotia Monday. Mr. Light was elected vice-president of the association. Mr. Heinze read a paper entitled "The Minister." Mr. Wylie who recently returned from a two-weeks trip to Texas read the following poem which he composed and read to the congregation of a church at Donna, Texas in the Rio Grande valley where he conducted services.

"We live away up in Nebraska The land of alfalfa and corn, Where the winters go down to below zero Where the Texas "Blue Northerners" are born.

"We came to this valley in Texas To spend a few weeks in the sun, But we've shivered in your cold misty weather, And burned up you fuel by the ton.

"We've eaten your frost-bitten grapefruit, And chewed on a few tangerines, We've longed for a ray of sunlight, But never a ray have we seen.

"We long for our home in Nebraska With her bluster, her snow and her storm. We're leaving your valley tomorrow And we're going back home to get warm."

Mr. Wylie said that a large part of the congregation of the church where he preached were northerners enticed to Texas by the reports of her lovely weather and that his poem was greatly appreciated by them but that it did not set so well with the Texans. The Wylie's said that the Texas newspapers carried headlines telling about "the blue northerners" referring to their unusually cold weather. The Wylie's said that the houses were not built snug as they are farther north, not having any foundations or having the windows and doors fit into the casings tightly because they swelled badly in wet weather, which made the cold weather much more noticeable. The houses are not equipped with heating arrangements or do the people have warm clothing.

The Texas citrus fruits are preferred by the Wylie's over the ones grown in California. They believe that they are juicier and sweeter. The frost did not damage the citrus fruits a great deal according to Mr. Wylie but the vegetable crops were badly injured. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thomas accompanied the Wylies on their trip. The party visited a son of the Wylies who attends Southern Methodist university at Dallas and a married daughter who lives at Austin and the Thomas' daughter, Mrs. Robert Young, her husband and family at Donna. Mrs. Young teaches in a kindergarten which her youngest child attends. Mr. Young is employed as a mechanic. His health is much improved since he moved to Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Absolon, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolf and families, Pinochle provided fun for the evening, and high score was won by Mrs. Irvin Merrill and Frank Benda, while low scores were made by Mrs. John John and Joe Dworak. Some good food helped make the party successful.

Catholic Ladies Meet.

At the annual election of officers held by the Catholic Ladies club at the church Friday afternoon, Mrs. Stanley Absolon was re-elected president, Mrs. Emil Sedlacek re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Sylvester Furtak was chosen chairman of the study club for the coming year. This group will next meet the afternoon of Wednesday, Febr. 14 in the basement of the church.

Rotarians Hear Voices of Hitler, Chamberlain

Members of the Rotary club had as speakers Monday evening Adolph Hitler, chancellor of Germany, Prime Minister Chamberlain, of England, and the famous news commentator, Elmer Davis. The voices of all three were heard during the program that followed dinner. Occasion was the playing of a phonograph record recently bought by the Ord schools for use in history classes. The record from the World War to the marching of Germany into Poland last fall is treated, with Elmer Davis as commentator. Voices of Hitler, Chamberlain and other notables are reproduced on the record by means of transcriptions of their radio speeches.

Ord Cosmopolitan Club Hears Alex J. Cochran

The Ord Cosmopolitan club met for their regular session at the City Cafe Monday evening. K. W. Peterson was introduced as a new member. President J. N. Round made a few remarks with reference to the "sassy box derby," saying that the committee should be appointed soon to start work. LeRoy Frazier, program chairman, introduced Alex J. Cochran, WPA area supervisor of recreation, as guest speaker of the evening. Mr. Cochran explained the nature of the work his organization is doing, and told of the skating pond that had been built on the football practice field under his supervision. This was used and enjoyed by the young people for about three days after its completion, and then adverse weather conditions spoiled it for the time. He is hopeful of being able to get it in condition for use again. He stated that the program of recreation work is planned not to conflict with recreation programs already established by schools, churches and other organizations, but to supplement them. He explained the plan of having a recreation center and craft shop in the winter and outdoor means of recreation in the summer. The recreation room is to provide suitable games and the craft shop for the learning of some of the simpler forms of shop work. He also talked of a swimming pool, and told what has been done elsewhere along recreation lines.

Quiz Photo Engraving Shop Moved Last Week

Last week F. E. Glover had completed the necessary carpenter work and Joe Rowbal the plumbing on the new Quiz photo-engraving shop across the street east and just south of the Methodist parsonage, so Lavern Duemey and his assistant, Miss Ilene Weller, added and abetted by Edward Dlugosh and Eugene Cline, moved the equipment from the Quiz basement to the new location. Since then they have been getting out the photo-engraving work more expeditiously than they were able to in the crowded condition they had to work under before. As soon as arrangements are complete and weather conditions are favorable the Quiz plans to have a formal opening of the new plant and invite the public in to look it over.

Something Different

The teacher asked a class of six year olds about news, what it is, the different ways we get it, by letter, telephone, telegram, newspaper, so on. Then she inquired if any of them or their parents had ever received any good news. The young scion of the Vernon Andersen's spoke up: "My folks got some good news when they got me."

What about that swimming pool, people? Are we going to let it slide another year? Some active agitating will have to be done, and some hard work too if we are to enjoy it next summer. I can't swim a lot but I do like to dunk in hot weather, don't you? Of course the children would be the primary gainers if Ord acquired a pool. Let's have this for our recreation project, if Uncle Sam wants to help us and I understand he does.

Ord seems to have many young women the last few years who feel the urge to become nurses. Miss Olga Vodehnal graduated from high school at fifteen, so she had a three year wait before she could enter St. Francis' hospital at Grand Island for training. And it must take a genuine desire for the work to make one firstly, fool around three years before being able to begin training, and secondly, work hard three more years to get the training to do the chosen lifework.

A pretty little Verstraets daughter also went to St. Francis' for training at about the same time as Olga, both of them officially graduating last spring I believe. Leota Auble went to Omaha to Methodist hospital, and tore thru that hard work of training with all the vim and dash for which she is famous. After graduating she became supervisor of the first floor, a tough assignment, but she licked it.

I think Leota inspired Maxine Haskell to do likewise. Anyway, Maxine went to Methodist in Omaha and enrolled, so did Leota's young sister Joycelyn as soon as she graduated and could do so. Last fall Sarah Roberson started training in the same hospital and city, and Harry Wolf's daughter Eleanor is only marking time until she is 18 and eligible when she hopes to be received into the same course, at Omaha Methodist hospital. Many other Ord girls have, of course, become nurses too.

Nursing offers excellent pay to competent graduates, but the grind is long and tough. The work is difficult and the hours of training are long. I think it takes real courage and grit to stick it out and we should be very proud of these girls. So far as I know each of them is doing nobly in this field, and I think Eleanor will too.

Ord also has several recent high school graduates who have become doctors and surgeons. Immediately I can think of Dr. John N. Round, Dr. Charles Shepard, and Dr. Chauncey Hager, and not many years before them, Dr. J. G. Kruml. —Irma.

Ord Reverses January Cold Record in State

Last week the weather man at Lincoln gave out the following information that the past January had been the coldest in Nebraska since 1888, with an average reading for the month of 9 degrees above zero. The cold reading he gave for 1888 was an average of 8 degrees. Those figures might have been all right for Lincoln, but they were not true of Ord, which gives the honor to 1937.

About the same figures were given out at Grand Island in which it was stated that January, 1939, was the coldest there in the 22 years in which weather records have been kept, the average being 8.1, as compared with 9.3 for January, 1937. The Quiz did not doubt those figures for the towns mentioned, but this seemed out of line for Ord, so the records kept by Horace Travis were checked, with the following interesting results:

It was found that the average maximum temperature for January, 1940, in Ord, was 17.4, while the minimum was 2.4, making the average temperature 9.9 above zero. The figures for 1937 in Ord were: high average, 18.3, low average, -35, and mean average for the month, 8.8 degrees. This puts January 1937 colder in Ord than in Grand Island, and in 1940 colder in Grand Island than in Ord.

The figures given out by Lincoln did not include January, 1937, and it is believed that they will compare favorably with those from Grand Island. During the past month it has been a noticeable fact that Lincoln and Omaha usually gave out colder readings than those in Ord, the cold weather working its way up from the south and producing that result. In 1937 the storms came from the northwest.

January this year was colder by 12.3 degrees than the average temperature for the month in the past. The extreme low for the month was 20 below on Jan. 18, and the high for the month was 41 on Jan. 30 and 31. On Jan. 18 the reading remained below zero all day. The low reading was below zero on ten days and at zero on three more. On only five days did the reading get above the freezing point.

The records from 1930 show that there were 9 days with a below zero minimum in 1930, and one with a below zero maximum, the coldest being -21; there were no below readings in 1931, the coldest being zero; there were four days with a below zero minimum in 1932, with a minimum reading of -14; there were no below readings in either 1933 or 1934, the low readings being 7 and zero respectively; 1935 had 4 minimum and 2 maximum readings below zero, with the low reading of -16; the minimum went below zero 12 times in 1936, and the maximum once, with a low reading of -18; 1937 holds a record with 16 days showing a below zero minimum, 1 below zero maximum, the low temperature being -14; 1938 shows only three below zero readings, with a -9 reading; last year there were no below zero readings, with a low of 4 above.

The most remarkable fact is that the high average in 1940 for January was 17.4, while the low average for 1939 was 22.5, making the high average last month 5.1 degrees colder than the low average for the year before, which is almost beyond belief. Further, the years of 1931 and 1933, show an average reading above the freezing point, with 33.4 and 32.9 respectively.

The following table should be of interest:

| Year | H. Av. | L. Av. | Mean Av. |
|------|--------|--------|----------|
| 1930 | 24.5   | 3.8    | 14.1     |
| 1931 | 45.    | 21.9   | 33.4     |
| 1932 | 31.1   | 13.7   | 22.4     |
| 1933 | 46.    | 19.3   | 32.9     |
| 1934 | 40.6   | 18.6   | 29.5     |
| 1935 | 32.5   | 14.    | 23.3     |
| 1936 | 24.    | 6.     | 15.      |
| 1937 | 18.    | 1.35   | 8.8      |
| 1938 | 37.2   | 18.3   | 27.7     |
| 1939 | 41.    | 22.5   | 31.7     |
| 1940 | 17.4   | 2.4    | 9.9      |

Feed and Seed Loans Are Being Taken Now Applications are being taken at the courthouse in Ord by Miss Florence Zulkoski for 1940 feed and seed loans. H. J. Hetrick, local field supervisor reports. There has been considerable misunderstanding concerning security for seed and feed loans. A first mortgage is taken on the anticipated 1940 crop, but other security is not required. Money loaned on such loans can be used for seed, tractor fuel, feed for horses, feed for subsistence livestock, or in some cases the money can be used for human subsistence, if necessary. Feed and seed loans are available to farmers who are unable to get credit from other sources. —Roland Gross of Burwell was a bus passenger this morning on his way to Seneca, Kan., on a business trip. He stated that his father, Julius Gross, has been in poor health for the past month.

Proceedings of the City Council

January 22, 1940
The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, met in adjourned, special session in the City Hall at 7:30 o'clock p. m. Mayor Cummins presided. City Clerk Rex Jewett recorded the proceedings of this meeting. The following call was sent out and duly received:

TO THE CITY CLERK AND MEMBERS OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

In accordance with Section 17-106 of the compiled Statutes of Nebraska and article 5, of Chapter 29 of the Municipal Code of the City of Ord, L. the undersigned Mayor of the City of Ord, Nebraska, do hereby call a special meeting of the City Council of said City to be held in the City Hall in said City on Monday evening at 7:30 p. m., on January 22, 1940, to consider the following matters:

1. Refunding or refinancing of certain bonds of the City of Ord which matured during the year 1940, and the making of any contract, the passing of any resolution or Ordinance pertaining to or incidental to the same.

2. Certain insurance matters now being considered by said City Council.

3. Any matters incidental to the above, or which the said City Council may desire to consider at said meeting.

In accordance with said law, the object of said meeting, the call for said meeting and the disposition thereof shall be entered upon the Journal of said City by the Clerk.

Dated January 20, 1940
M. B. CUMMINS,
Mayor.

The following Councilmen answered the call and were present at the meeting: Joe Rohla, Bob Noll, J. W. McGinnis, Guy Burrows, Frank Johnson, Absent, Biemond.

Chas. Goodhand appeared before the Council and asked that the Bowling Alley license of Tom Riley be assigned to him, and that he be allowed to operate a bowling alley under the Riley license for the balance of its duration. Such discussion ensued and the following resolution was offered.

RESOLUTION
Be it resolved by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, that whereas a license to run a bowling alley has been heretofore issued to Tom Riley, and occupation tax paid for three alleys for the present license year, which license had been assigned to Charles E. Goodhand, now therefore be it resolved that the said assignment be recognized and that the said license be assigned to the said Charles E. Goodhand for said number of alleys for the balance of the license year for which said license was originally issued to Tom Riley. Moved and seconded that the license be granted. Carried.

The matter of Walter Douthit's application for a bowling alley license was then brought up. Mayor Cummins spoke at length, and asserted his opposition to such a license being issued. City Attorney Davis held that such a license was illegal, as the City Ordinance forbids a bowling alley in any place in which beer is sold. A vote on the matter was taken, with those voting for the issuance of such a license being Rohla and McGinnis and those against being Noll, Burrows and Johnson.

The refunding of the City's due bonds was then taken up. Crawford Mortensen and Frank O'Neal appeared on behalf of the local banks and stated their proposition as to the refunding of the said bonds. After discussing the matter, it was moved and seconded that the City Attorney Clarence Davis be directed to draw up a contract to refund the said bonds and submit this contract to the banks and to the City Council. Carried.

The insurance policies of the City then came under discussion. It was moved and seconded that the City renew the policies written by E. C. James, for compensation insurance, providing the City is refunded the sum of $2.03, which the City was overcharged as per the payroll audit of 3-14-39. Carried.

Chanticleers Back in Stride, Win 42 to 19

Coach Brockman's Ord high hoopers seem to have found their stride, and are back on the winning side of the ledger, scoring 92 points in the last two games. Their most recent basket barrage being their 42 to 19 conquest last night of the Broken Bow Indians who couldn't seem to find the basket. Broken Bow scored the first two points of the game but Ord soon tied it up and from then on maintained a convincing lead. Brockman used 14 players throughout the game, with the seconds finishing up.

Hurlbert led the Ord attack with 12 points, Misko was next with 7. For Broken Bow, Jones played the best game, and also scored the most points for his team, making 3 baskets and 2 gift tosses for 3 points.

Win From Burwell Friday.

Bouncing back from two defeats by Albion and Ravenna, the Ord basketball team scored a very one-sided victory over Burwell on that town's floor Friday evening. The final score was 50 to 17, and at the half, 27 to 8. Taking advantage of the opportunity furnished by a long lead attained early in the game, Coach Brockman played no less than 15 men, and all gave good account of themselves.

Biemond, Furtak, Melbeth, Romans, Carlsen and Malolepszy saw action as forwards, H. Misko, Hurlbert and Geweke divided the time at center, and E. and R. Piskorski, Flagg, Tatlow, D. Misko and Cochran played in the guard positions, thus making a triple set of men in each position, or three complete teams. The second and third string men seemed to be able to score almost as well as the first stringers.

Romans led the scoring for Ord with 11 points, H. Misko was second with 8 points, and Hurlbert was third with 7 points. The others scored as follows: Tatlow 5, Fur-

Ord Men Attend School Meet Held at Arcadia

Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, Supt. C. C. Thompson, Dr. F. L. Blessing, O. E. Johnson, L. D. Milliken and Ralph Norman, members of the Ord school board, went to Arcadia, where they attended a 6:30 banquet and winter business meeting of the Loup Valley High School association.

Elmer W. Larson of Scotia discussed the "Farm Bureau's 15-million Gross Tax Levy Proposal," and the general discussion of the subject that followed was in charge of Supt. Lightbody of Sargent.

Ralph W. Norman, secretary of the Ord school board talked on the subject, "Personal Problems, Tenures, Contracts, and Resignations," and Mrs. Archer of Loup City led the discussion which followed. "The Board Member in Relation to the School, Community and Superintendent" was presented by Judge Moehner of Loup City.

About 50 men attended from ten towns. The association includes St. Paul, Dannebrog, Loup City, Arcadia, Ord, Comstock, Burwell, North Loup, Scotia, Taylor and Sargent.

Ord Man Influenced Him.

The Rev. Magyar who preached at the Ord Presbyterian church Sunday morning had a special reason for wanting to visit Ord. When a young man in Ohio, he was influenced to go into the ministry by the Rev. Mr. Wm. Regnemer, who had preached his first sermon in Ord 40 years ago. Old timers here will remember him as a student pastor from the Omaha Seminary. Mr. Regnemer had told of his experiences in a little western Nebraska town, and said he hoped Mr. Magyar could preach there sometime. Mr. Magyar graduated from the Chicago Seminary in 1938, and has been in St. Edward for a year.

B. F. Janes Came to Valley in 1872, Dies February 9th

Came to North Loup in '72 and Also Lived at Ord in the Early Days.

Barwell, Nebr.—(Special)—An early day pioneer who was a builder in both the figurative and literal meaning passed into the great beyond when B. F. "Tom" Janes who came to this part of the state in 1872 died Febr. 9. Mr. Janes played an active part in converting the North Loup valley from the raw prairie into its present state of development.

Doddering old age was not for him. Although he attained the age of eighty he walked along with a sprightly step which put to shame many a younger man. He carried himself erect and his mind was entirely free of the cobwebs which often gather in the heads of the aged. A short time before his death he walked the streets and visited with his many friends who little thought that he would soon leave them.

On Febr. 6 he became sick with congestion of the lungs and heart trouble. Dr. Smith was called. His condition was not thought to be serious but owing to his advanced age, his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Johnson, with whom he made his home thought it would be wise to take him to Dr. Cram's hospital where he would have the best of care. In spite of all that anxious hands could do, he gradually failed until death occurred.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Shelby J. Light in the Congregational church Sunday afternoon. A mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Mary Stoddard, Mrs. G. A. Butts, L. J. Garrison and Lloyd Alderman with Mrs. Ralph Douglas at the piano sang his favorite hymns. Clyde Hegenritz, Ralph Walker, B. A. Rose, Leonard and Everett Johnson and J. J. Meyers served as pall bearers. Many beautiful floral pieces were sent by

3 Farm Sales Billed for the Coming Week

No less than three clean-up sales are advertised in today's Quiz to be held during the coming week and as March 1 nears it appears that almost every day will see another farm sale.

First on the list is Willard Cornell's auction to be held Monday, Febr. 19 on the old Fiala place 5 1/2 miles north of Ord, just off No. 11 highway. Mr. Cornell has a small offering but most of his stuff is of good quality.

John Hansen's clean-up comes Tuesday, Febr. 20 on the farm in Springdale and Mr. Hansen has 7 head of horses and mules, 7 head of cattle and an extra large lot of machinery and miscellaneous articles.

On Thursday, Febr. 22 comes the combination sale of L. G. Miller and Lloyd Manchester. This is a big sale, including livestock, lines of tractor and horse-drawn machinery, household goods and a new tractor.

The Cook brothers have claimed the date of Monday, Febr. 26 and their ad will appear next week. Cummins, Burdick & Cummins are auctioneers for all these sales mentioned above.

Mrs. P. L. Plejdrup Passes Tuesday

Mrs. Annie Marie Plejdrup was born March 20, 1866, at Thisted, Denmark. She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in infancy and youth respectively. She came to the country June 6, 1890, and was united in marriage to Paul Larsen Plejdrup on June 7, 1891. To this union seven children were born.

In 1899 they moved to a farm near Ord, where they lived until 1919, when they moved to their home just south of town. This was her home until she passed away Febr. 13, 1940, at the age of 73 years, 10 months and 23 days. Her husband preceded her in death Aug. 19, 1937.

She leaves to mourn her departure her 7 children: Jens, of Grand Island, Mrs. Mary Jorgensen, Mrs. Eva Hollander, and Mrs. Olga Vergin of Ord, Mrs. Clara Lange of Scotia, Mrs. Esther Wilson and Elmer of Norfolk, 23 grand children, 1 great grandchild and a host of relatives and friends.

The funeral services are to be held tomorrow, Tuesday, afternoon at 2, at the Pearson and Anderson chapel. The service will be conducted by Rev. Clarence Jensen, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church. The pall bearers will be Chris and Jens Hansen, Carl Sorensen, Martin Led, Chris Johnson and Soren Sorensen. A quartet will sing. Burial will be in the Ord cemetery.

Auble-Schudel Party, Back from 3,000 Mile Trip to Southland, Say They've Discovered How New Deal Went 43 Billions in Debt—It Was Spent in South

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Auble and Mr. and Mrs. Will Schudel returned last week from a trip they took to the "Deep South," and the high lights of their trip are of more than ordinary interest, as Bud has a knack of knowing what the public would like to hear about and took notes on the entire trip. They left Ord Sunday morning, Jan. 21, ate lunch with their daughter, Keo Auble, who is teaching in the schools of Louisville. That evening they drove to Omaha and spent the night with Mrs. Auble's sister, Mrs. Ray Hoagland, husband and family.

Near Omaha they saw one of Nebraska's new "Snogos" or snow plows, at work. Nebraska has 12 of these big machines, placed in strategic points throughout the state. They are equipped with a 170 horse power auxiliary motor and cost $9,500 each. They travel at 6 to 8 miles per hour through snow 2 to 8 feet deep and can throw the snow 150 feet in either direction. They are used for keeping the main highways open, and operate very economically.

They left Omaha Monday morning on highway No. 75 to the south crossed the Missouri on the big toll bridge at Nebraska City and ate dinner at Rockport, Mo. Along this part of the trip they drove through regular tunnels of snow piled high on either side of the road. The farther south they went the more snow there seemed to be.

In southwestern Iowa they saw some of the government corn storage bins, holding twenty to twenty-five thousand bushels in each group of bins. They saw the first rail fence 25 miles north of St. Joseph. At this city they passed a mammoth Quaker Oats factory. They ate dinner at Springfield, Mo., a beautiful city of 59,000 population, and then drove on to Ozark, Mo., and spent the night at the Clifford Collins home.

While there they called also at the Walter Finch, Henry Sautter and Mrs. Wm. Rendell homes. They all seem to be prosperous and well pleased with their new homes. Soon after leaving the Collins' home they were in the Ozark mountains. They visited the people of Harold Bell Wright's "Shepherd of the Hills," and also visited Fairy cave and Ozark cave.

This organization consists of seventy boys and girls, selected from the glee clubs of the high school.

Critics will be Prof. Lentz, conductor of the University of Nebraska symphony orchestra and bands, and Prof. Wm. G. Temple, teacher of voice and director of choral music in the University of Nebraska. The admission for adults will be 10c for the afternoon and 20c for the evening, or a ticket for both afternoon and evening for 25c. Students will be charged 10c for each session.

Goodhand Alleys Were Opened on Saturday

The new bowling alleys in the Goodhand building were opened to the public Saturday and enjoyed a large patronage all day. The place is in charge of Jason Lathrop. The principal attraction was the two alleys on the east side of the room, which are longer than the duck-pin alleys and on which the standard equipment is used.

Many have never seen the larger balls bowled, and enjoyed watching, while there were plenty of players to keep the alleys hot most of the day and evening. Those who expected to see excitement when the big balls were rolled were surprised, as the heavier ball rolls slower and hits the pins with less force than the lighter balls do.

Planets Show Unusual Beauty in Western Sky

Sunday evening the planets Jupiter and Venus formed a triangle with the crescent moon in the western sky and presented a sight of remarkable brilliance. This is but the beginning of an unusual condition which will prevail during most of February and into March.

Beginning a week from Friday Jupiter, Venus, Saturn and Mars will hang up in the western sky in the order named, and the planet Mercury, not often seen because it is near the sun, will later join them down near the horizon. This particular condition will not happen again in the lifetime of anyone living.

Ord Favored to Go Into Finals of Valley Tourney

Swamped Taylor in Opener Tuesday; Comstock Victor by a Small Margin.

The annual Loup Valley basketball tournament got off to a fine start at Arcadia Tuesday evening, with the favored teams winning in the three games played. Loup City showed plenty of fight in their contest with Comstock, the latter team finally emerging to win 26 to 18. The other games were very one-sided, Ord swamping Taylor 62 to 13, and St. Paul winning over North Loup, 39 to 14.

The pairings for tonight are: Ord and Burwell, St. Paul and Dannebrog, Sargent and Arcadia, and Scotia and Comstock. Ord, St. Paul and Comstock should win, on the strength of past performances, but there is always a chance for an upset. The Sargent-Arcadia contest is the hardest to figure, Sargent won 3 and lost 2 during the season, while Arcadia won 4 and lost 3. Since Arcadia is playing on their own floor, they have the best chance to win.

High point men in last night's games were Nielsen, St. Paul, 10; Barrett, North Loup, 8; C. Wells Comstock, 12; Ryans, Loup City, 8; Geweke, Ord, 14. There was no outstanding player on the Taylor team. How near Loup City came to upsetting the League leaders, can be seen when it is stated that the score at the half was 12 all, and at the third quarter, 16 all, (this not often seen in tournament).

Coach Brockman pulled some play. Instead of substituting a man at a time, he ran in his entire second team. Each team played about half of the game, and each team made 31 of the 62 points. The second string center, Geweke, was high point man of the game and the evening with 14 points.

Everything points to Ord meeting St. Paul in the finals, tomorrow evening.

Ord Co-op Oil Company Holds Annual Meeting

One hundred stockholders of the Ord Cooperative Oil company were in attendance at the annual meeting, which was held Tuesday at the American Legion hall. The meeting was a success in every respect. The report of the manager was very encouraging, showing a profit for the year, and suggesting new ventures for this year. An interesting talk was given by K. O. Pronski, representative of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company.

A number of prizes were drawn for, those winning being Walter Fuss, Elmer Bredthauer, John Hansen, Bill Goff, Elmer Dahlin, Jake Papiernik, Edgar Roe, Fred Martensen, Steve Beran, Will Fuss, Mrs. Joe Bartos, Lew Smolik, Ernest Coats, Henry Jorgensen, H. Koll, Ed Schudel, H. H. Hohn, Marlon Strong, Leo Nelson, Worm Brothers, Charles Kokes, R. S. Kerchal, Sam Roe and Dave Guggenmos.

Boy Scouts Celebrate Boy Scout Week Here

The Ord Boy Scouts, under the direction of their scoutmaster, Rex Jewett, have been making preparations for some time for this week, when the thirtieth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America is being observed. There are 27 names on the Scout rolls in Ord, and all are making splendid progress in Scout work.

One of the ways in which the boys are observing the anniversary is the earning of one new merit badge by each member during the week. This is being done, but, since the quiz will not be over when the week goes to press, a report on this part of the work will not be available until later.

Tom Springer very kindly loaned the Boy Scouts the use of the south window in the front of his store to use for putting on a display of Scoutcraft. The boys have done a splendid job of fixing up this window to show to the best advantage some of the things they have done and are learning to do.

Neatly printed on cards are the Scout motto, Scout oath and Scout laws. On another card are displayed fourteen knots of various kinds, together with the name of each and for what special purpose they are used. A United States flag is correctly hung on the south wall of the window, and the center of the space is occupied by a Scout tent.

On another card are shown a list of awards won by Ord Scouts at the various honor courts held in this territory. The merit badges won by different Scouts are on display, together with the names of those who won them. Also shown are a number of Boy Scout magazines and various articles of camping equipment.

The roll call of troop No. 194 is placed in the front window. This lists Loyal Huribert, Edwin Jirak and Ted Randolph just beginning their Scout work, Donald Anderson, Paul Coveit, Kenneth Hoyt, Keith Kovanda, Donald Peterson and Frank Misko as tenderfoot Scouts; Raymond Biemond, Billy Fafeta, Robert Haught, Gerald Jirak, Kirk Lewis, Gerald Stoddard, Raymond Vogeltanz, Elton Walker and Junior Wilson as second class Scouts; Gould Flagg, Jr., Bob Gruber, Bob McBeth and Orville Stoddard as first class Scouts; Harry McBeth, David Milkien, Cornelius Biemond and Alex Cochran as star Scouts, and Warren Allen as a life Scout.

Early Homesteader of Wheeler Co. Dies

Ericson—(Special)—Funeral services were held here Sunday for Mrs. Sarah Arrents, 84, who homesteaded in Wheeler county in 1855 before the village of Ericson came into existence or the railroad was built. She is the last of the early homesteaders to survive.

She was born in northern Illinois and at Marengo, in 1870 was wed to Charles Lockwood, with whom she came to this section in 1855 to settle on what is now the Baldwin place northwest of town. Mr. Lockwood died in 1892. One son, Charles W. Lockwood, survives.

In 1898, Mrs. Lockwood sold her ranch and bought a home in Ericson and in 1905 was married to N. C. Arrents. They lived here until Mr. Arrents' death in 1933, since which time his widow lived alone.

The funeral was held from the Methodist church with Rev. C. E. Austin conducting and the body was taken to the family home in Marengo, Ill., for burial.

St. Paul Topped 40-20 by Ord Boys; Tie in Mid-Six

Huribert Scores 17 Points to Lead Chanticleer Attack; Big Crowd Attends.

Playing one of the best games of the season, Ord high's quintet registered a 40 to 20 victory over St. Paul on the Ord floor Friday evening. The game had been brought to Ord from St. Paul because of the larger floor here and the fact that a larger crowd of spectators could be accommodated. In spite of this all available space was taken.

St. Paul went into a momentary lead when the opening tipoff was developed into a field goal. Ord came back shortly after and tied the score. After a few minutes of play Ord went into the lead and was never headed. The score at the half was 25 for Ord to 3 for St. Paul.

The game gave Coach H. F. Brockman an opportunity to use his second string men, who did some very fine work, although they did not score as much as the first lineup. Huribert led the Ord attack with 17 points, and Misko and Romans made 6 points each. Flagg and Piskorski each accounted for 4 points, Geweke for 2 and Tatlow for one.

Day and Nielsen each made three field goals and an extra point for St. Paul to lead in the scoring. Twelve personal fouls were registered against Ord and eight against St. Paul, but nobody got the fouls necessary to put him out of the game. Ord used a total of 13 men during the game, while St. Paul used 7.

In the preliminary game the Ord Juniors had a tough time with the St. Paul Juniors, but finally came out in the lead by a score of 24 to 19. By virtue of this win, Ravena and Ord are tied in the Mid-Six, with 4 games won and 1 lost for each team, and St. Paul is third with 3 won and 1 lost.

Games of the Past Week

The results of games played in this section the past week are given herewith: Scotia 29, Loup City 19; St. Paul 23, Dannebrog 16; Arcadia 30, Arcadia 17; Arcadia 31, Broken Bow 19; Ord 40, St. Paul 20; Sargent 37, Merna 27. Games between North Loup and O'Conner, North Loup and Comstock, and Comstock and Anselmo were cancelled.

No. Loup Kiddies Poisoned Tuesday

North Loup—(Special)—While playing in the garage at their home Tuesday morning, Shirley, 5 1/2, and Jimmy, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Preston, found and ate some powdered corrosive sublimate. Some time later Jimmie complained to his mother of being sick and when questioned said they ate "some of the medicine in the garage."

Mrs. Preston at once gave them white of egg and Halsey Schultz took her and the children to Dr. Katka, of Scotia, who pumped out their stomachs. It will be several days, he said, before the effect of the poison can be fully determined. Mr. Preston is working in Omaha and his wife does not know how the poison happened to be in the garage.

J. T. Knezacek Files In Unicameral Race

General satisfaction was expressed in Ord Friday when it was reported that J. T. Knezacek had filed as a candidate on the non-political ballot for the office of senator from the 29th unicameral district comprising Valley, Greeley, Wheeler and Howard counties.

Joe Knezacek was born in 1889 in Omaha. He moved to Ord in 1912, and the following year married an Ord girl. He came here as agent for the Union Pacific, and continued in that work until elected to the office of county clerk in 1918. He was re-elected by an overwhelming majority in 1922, and served a second term, after which he refused to run for a third term.

He entered the real estate business as head of the Valley County Abstract company in 1928, and still continues in the business. He says that it will be his aim to represent impartially all parts of the 29th district, and at the same time work for the best legislation possible for all parts of the state. He promises a more complete statement of the measures he favors before the primary election in April.

Betty Fredericksen Died Sunday Eve

She had been in the hospital a week, but all efforts to save her were unavailing. Betty was born Febr. 13, 1923 and died two days before her 12th birthday.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10:30 from the Ord Catholic church, with Pearson and Anderson in charge of arrangements, and burial was made in the Ord Catholic cemetery. The pall bearers were a group of young men from the school, Lyle and Roland Norman, Ernest Piskorski, Dewey Malolepszy, Francis Ramackers and Raymond Vogeltanz.

KNEZACEK FOR SENATOR

The people of central Nebraska, most of whom know him personally, will greet with satisfaction the news that J. T. Knezacek has filed for state senator from the 29th unicameral district, comprising Valley, Wheeler, Greeley and Howard counties.

Mr. Knezacek first came to Ord in the employ of the Union Pacific as agent. His service for the railroad extended over a period of nine years. In 1918 he became a candidate for county clerk on the republican ticket.

His vote for re-election in 1922 was 2314 to 924 for the opposition. In 1926, considering that eight years was his rightful share of county office, he refused to be considered as a candidate for a third term, and dropped out of county work to become the head of the Valley County Abstract company which position he continues to hold today.

It is seldom that a man aspires to office who meets with the approval of the public as Joe Knezacek. The news that he has filed is meeting with unanimous approval in Ord. All may not agree with him in every respect, but everybody respects his right to make a stand on any matter that may be of public concern.

During the years he was meeting the public as agent, county clerk and in business for himself he has earned the reputation of being dependable. He is thorough in all that he does. "As dependable as Joe Knezacek" has become a saying with many of his friends.

Perhaps his best known characteristic and one peculiar to himself is the beautiful script he writes. It is a style as easily read as print, which once seen could never be forgotten.

At one time Ord had one of the best flour mills in the west, and its products were considered very highly by a large per cent of Valley county housewives. As time went on the sale of local flour decreased, while the sale of flour from a dozen different mills increased.

At a recent program the story of Lincoln was given, and the fact was mentioned that he went to school about a year in all. Think of it! The man who was destined to lead our nation through the most troublous years of its existence put in no more time in school than does the average first grader.

But, after all, perhaps this was one of the things about Lincoln that made him truly great. He was noted for his simplicity, for his love of the common people and the simpler things of life. It was his abhorrence of slavery and his love for the oppressed that urged him ever onward in the course he knew he must pursue, the course for which humanity honors him today.

Perhaps a greater amount of learning might have clouded his point of view. It doesn't take a lot of education to understand the fundamental needs of humanity. Lincoln was a fundamentalist. He believed in building on a firm foundation, and knew that even a small structure on a good foundation would outlast one founded on the flimsy footing of bigotry or racialism.

Lincoln knew, and so stated that "No nation can exist, half slave and half free." He was not an educated man, as the world looks upon education, but he had a greater fund of that higher education not found in books than any president our nation has ever known.

In the light of recent developments it would seem that too much education is not a good thing for those who sit in high places. Too often their appreciation of the needs of humanity is clouded by what they may have learned from books. Too often they fiddle over technicalities while the Roman structure of our government is burning. We need in Washington today, not men of learning but men of understanding.

What we need in America today is not a break line, but an opportunity to earn an honest living. We do not need new bureaus employing men at high salaries to disperse a pittance to those who are capable of earning an ample living if given the opportunity. We do not need our court house and other public buildings cluttered with a multitude of alphabetical offices, but we do need a chance to work for a honest living.

We need today to quit catering to those who demand an ever increasing wage for a shorter and shorter week, and to see to it that there is employment for all at a lower wage, if necessary. We need today to quit fighting that bugaboo of "big business," and begin cooperating with capital so that capital will not be afraid to embark in new enterprises, thus furnishing the work of which so many are in need.

Lincoln, "The Great Emancipator," freed the slaves. Today we need another Lincoln who will free the poor from the peril of dependency and the rich from fear of government punishment. We need a leader who will spread out the work so that there is employment for all, who will spread out the wages so that the means of livelihood will be more evenly distributed. What we need is less education and more common sense.

We consumers of Ord are inclined to complain about the high taxes and some of us even ask the city council or the county board to "do something about it." If you will attend a meeting of the council or board, you will find that these men are doing everything they possibly can right now to keep taxes down.

With due respect to all concerned, the Quiz prints the following paragraphs for your consideration and action, strong in the belief that in this lies the chief cause of high taxes, and that in its correction lies one of the chief remedies. We do not claim that this alone will cure the evil, but at least it will help.

The consumers of Ord are patronizing half a dozen bakeries. Their products are so standardized that it is doubtful if any consumer could tell one from another by the taste it blindfolded. We have only one home bakery, only one concern of the six pays taxes in Ord. Yet the fact is that each of the other five does nearly as much business here as the home man does.

Ord has but one pop factory, yet we consumers are patronizing three or four. So far as Ord is concerned one man pays all the taxes and gets perhaps one fourth of the business. Just think what it would mean to the local man if he had to put out all the pop that is drunk in this community. Double his business and he will be happy to pay double the amount in taxes.

Along this same line, Ord has one wholesaler of beer, but the products of a number of other breweries are sold in Ord. If you must drink it, why not patronize the home man by drinking the product he handles.

Ord has two hatcheries, and there are others in the community who do custom hatching, or retail baby chicks. These hatcheries are equipped with the very latest in hatching equipment, installed at considerable cost, and are capable of putting out as good baby chicks as can be hatched anywhere. These local people are the only ones who pay taxes here, yet only a small per cent of the baby chick business comes their way. The rest is scattered over most of central United States.

Even the grocery business is hit by outside competition. One, possibly more, grocery concerns sell groceries in Ord by wagon. Their groceries are no better and no cheaper, but they are patronized for the sake of the premiums they give. There is no estimating the number of concerns who do a small order business in Ord, yet none of these people pay any taxes to help build up our town.

Until 1930 Ord was able to show a steady increase in population. The increase in 1930 was not so much, but it was something to be proud of when the fact is considered that most towns in this territory showed a decrease. On April 1 the 1940 census will begin, and it is the opinion of many who have made a study of the situation that for the first time in its history, Ord will show a decrease.

If it does, we, the consumers, are at fault. If half a dozen men were busy in the mill and their families lived in Ord, it would certainly help. If the other concerns mentioned above were working to capacity, it would account for a dozen more families, kept here by the increased business. In all, 50 to 100 more persons would be living in Ord, and that might spell the difference between an increase and a loss in population.

A PLAN FOR RECOVERY. It is easy to criticize the conditions in which we find ourselves in this country today, but unless criticism is accompanied by a definite plan for the improvement of this condition, it is worthless. Constructive criticism is the only kind that should receive consideration in these times of doubt and depression.

Howard Cooney, president of the national association of manufacturers, gives ten barriers which must be removed to insure industrial prosperity. They are as follows: 1. Government spending.—Con-

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT! Stories from WPA

Written by GEORGE GOWEN Short Shavings.

Time, tide and the WPA bus wait for no man. At least that seems to be the idea prevalent at North Loup.

So the story goes, it occurred to the boss that the men were getting a little later each morning upon their arrival at the power house for their take-off to the hinterlands north of Ord where each day they perform their stint.

Consequently the boss issued the order to the bus driver, that when the morning whistle blew (7 o'clock) away they would go.

On this particular morning one worker was about a hundred feet late. It wouldn't have mattered if he had been five feet late, the bus driver followed instructions and moved off. The 100 foot late man turned and started to run to the corner at the highway thinking he would catch on when the bus stopped at the stop sign.

He would catch on when the bus stopped, but that morning it didn't. There was talk of filing a complaint for breaking the law, of having the boss fired and other terrible chastisements, but talk was all there was to it.

But the prize story is of the man two miles north near 42 school house who got a ticket to go to work. In place of trudging two miles to the power house he took his dinner and stood by the highway. When the bus came along he waved and yelled and ran about something terrible but the bus never slackened its pace.

It seems too that there is one man (perhaps more) who does considerable talking, especially about religion. Finally the boss became weary of the chatter and tried to stop it but could not. So the story goes he appealed to the boss next higher up. He in turn wrote to his next higher brass collar at Lincoln, and he wrote on into Washington, each asking if there was anything that could be done about a fellow who talked too much.

In Washington they studied the question from many angles, then wrote back and back and finally the word was relayed to the local boss that in as much as this is a free country, of free speech and religious convictions, that the only thing they knew of was to allow the man to talk.

The fact of the matter it is told, is there are two talkers of extraordinary ability, both using religious terms but of opposite content.

Then there is the question of the seats each one will sit on in the bus. Some around the edge are colder or warmer and ride better or worse than the row down the center. Wild arguments ensue over which rides where, some thinking the older men should have the choice, some thinking first there first serve. One big fat man made a wild run, the other day when the whistle blew, so the story goes and got the choice corner seat.

The bus boss ordered him to move and the corner seat man replied, "to heck with you. Just move me if you think you are big enough." The boss a little fellow, didn't.

The next three numbers of "Medical Facts" will be devoted to the quotation of a pamphlet issued by The National Physicians' Committee for the Extension of Medical Service. The title of the pamphlet is, "Priceless Heritage—Security—Health."

"The American people have a Priceless Heritage. It is not shared by the people of any other nation. It belongs exclusively to the people of the United States. This inheritance sets the American people apart from all other people in the world. It has given them advantages so great that most minds fail to comprehend them."

"By virtue of this greatest of all gifts, one hundred thirty million Americans have more than twice as many automobiles as are owned by the other two thousand million human beings that inhabit the earth. By virtue of it, with one hour of labor, an American workman can buy twice as much bread as can an English or French workman and four times as much as can a German workman. By virtue of it, a child born into the home of an average family will live years longer than will a child born into a similar home in any other great nation in the world. In the short span of one hundred and fifty years it has brought to the American people 9-20ths—45%—of all the tangible wealth in the entire world. Surely this is a Priceless Heritage!"

"Yet, because the American people do not fully understand its working—because they are unable properly to appraise its value—there is the prospect, or at least the possibility, of its forfeiture. "This gift of the American people made it possible or them to take the greatest discovery Bessemer and grid this continent with tens of thousands of miles of railways. It made possible every suspension bridge, every ocean liner and every great battleship. By virtue of this Priceless Heritage it became possible to know electricity, to harness it and to utilize it as light and as power."

In spite of all the jokes and stories about our WPA many people wonder what would have happened to many of these people and their families had it not been for this work. What would have happened to these people had they lived in Russia. Let's just not think about it. Happy thoughts are better for the digestion.

Herman Desel for the last year or two has been traveling looking for a new location. He is back home again, after having been in at least twenty states and he says this section under normal conditions, is the best he has seen. He was not in California, but was in the northwest, in Missouri, Arkansas, and all stops in between. He says Missouri is not so wonderful and besides the rocks, after a rain, the soil becomes hard as cement.

At a party at the school house they had a spelling contest. Mrs. Hammond and Marion Maxson were the last to stand and Marion won. Marion is in the 9th grade and for two years was Valley county spelling champ. The last word that did the trick at the party was "archipelago" spelled backwards, and Miss Marion spelled it in less than 20 seconds. She spelled it this way, "ogalephira."

Roberta Maxson, daughter of Nate Maxson, who for a few years has been working in Lincoln, is taking a vacation now in California, and the story is, upon her return, plans to wed.

In the World-Herald, Feb. 6, in the nationally published column, "Explore Your Mind" by Albert Wiggam, he told of teaching children to read as follows: "At University of Nebraska, Dr. Roy Deal carried out an experiment—'Roy Deal was superintendent of schools at North Loup in the year of 1918 and '19, and was a very successful teacher, going from here to Wesleyan university and remaining ever since."

The Girl Cadet of the Scotia high school twirl flags along with their marching. Miss Estella Bredthauer, the teacher said the idea came from Switzerland and as far as she has been able to find out, this is the only girl's cadet team in the United States that do that. The flags are carried and twirled something the same as a drum major twirls a baton.

Henry Dulitz had his sale billed for last Thursday. An account of the storm Martin brothers called from St. Paul and said they could not come to the auctioneering. Henry then called Ord and Bert Cummings and Chas. Burdick went tearing down to Hank's place below Scotia. They started the sale sometime after two and by five were done. Even at that I thought the prices were very good. A mature spreader that Henry bought two years ago for $4 brought $24, one cow brought $50 and one new born calf brought $16. I doubt if there were fifty people on the grounds and the snow blew so fiercely that everyone moved inside the barn.

Fire destroyed the new barn of W. G. Athey at Olan, together with a horse, some harness and feed. Otto M. Rasmussen and Miss Louise McAnulty of Scotia surprised their friends by being married at Grand Island.

The Quiz was publicizing the new Oliver typewriter, then considered one of the best on the market. J. B. Young returned from Kansas, where he had bought a farm. The family planned to move there soon.

Amos Gipe and wife went to Ohio to attend the celebration of his mother's nineteenth birthday. The Alex Johnson sale was a good one, in spite of the cold and wind. Alex is now living at Martin, S. D.

James and Robert Nay returned from Texas, where they had purchased land. They were talking loud and long for that country. James is living in California today. A horse fell on Fred Hather while he was shoeing it, and Fred had his arm dislocated at the elbow.

Mrs. Blanche Timm was running a millinery store in Ord and was making a trip east to buy her spring stock of millinery goods. A. J. Firkins went to Omaha to attend a Hereford sale and to buy some new cattle for his herd.

A. F. Witt of the Ord mills died by J. S. Brown of Kearney. The new bank at North Loup was to be an accomplished fact. It was to be named the Farmers State bank, and the incorporators were Sam McClellan, George Johnson, W. E. Gowen and Guy Dann.

Prof. Rollin W. Bond had closed a deal whereby he was to become leader of the Second Regiment band at Hastings, and for this reason Ord was to lose him as a musical director. Ord had a solitary street light, one on the Milford corner, and something got wrong with it so that it did not burn all night. Wotta life!

The new postoffice boxes had arrived and were being put in place by the postmaster, W. W. Haskell. J. A. Ollis, Jr., acting as deputy county treasurer, took the wrong millions of bales. To it goes the credit for a vast manufacturing industry that produces billions of dollars worth of products that add to the convenience and comforts of men. Countless centuries had passed and all these accomplishments were unimagined only one hundred and fifty years ago. They constitute the world we know! The credit goes to this Priceless Heritage of the American people. What is it?

"THIS PRICELESS HERITAGE WAS—AND IS—A RIGHT." "This greatest of all gifts—the advantage that belongs almost exclusively to the American people is 'The right to think without restraint and to voice thoughts with words without limitation or restriction.'" Next week this quotation will be continued to show how we obtained this "right" and how we can keep it, especially as it applies to health and the practice of medicine.

February 13, 1930. The Ord city council passed an ordinance reducing the light rates. The minimum, $1, was unchanged, but the first 30 kilowatts came at 5c the next 70 at 7c, the next 100 at 8c and all over that amount at 9c.

A new city ordinance prohibiting the posting of bills or stickers on light, telephone or telegraph poles in the city of Ord went into effect. Emil Kokes and Miss Helen Bartunek were married Febr. 6 at Farwell.

The Western Public Service had agreed to build a line from Sumter to Elyria to supply light and power to the village and to farmers enroute.

The independent retail dealers of Ord organized with John L. Andersen as president and Clifford Flynn as secretary. The largest crowd ever seen at the Bohemian hall paid their respects to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hoesek on their 50th wedding anniversary, Febr. 10.

A. J. Meyer was selling a large number of labor saving tractor implements, mostly the John Deere kind. Joe Morris, long time engineer on the Ord-Grand Island run, dropped dead at a rooming house in Ord.

George Kinney won a wrestling match from Ben Zershen on a forfeit after the latter had stalled around for two hours. The match was so disappointing that it was the last held in Ord of any importance.

The road along the bluffs south-east of Ord was in bad condition because of accumulated snow, and it was suggested that the road should be laid along the Union Pacific tracks as it is now being done. An effort was being made to have set up a board of control for municipally owned light plants, and the Ord city council went on record as being opposed to it. The idea did not pass.

The city council and Ord fire department were discussing plans for the erection of a new city hall. There was some talk of a municipal ice plant for Ord.

Ed Armstrong, who had sold his Mira Valley farm, was preparing to move to Kimball and was to hold a clean-up sale.

E. J. Clements and C. A. Munn, was due to dissolve by mutual consent on March 1.

Editor Crane had bought Fred L. Harris' brick making machine and planned to go into the brick making business in Arcadia. J. S. Farmer moved his shoe shop into the room on the north side of the square between Mattson's grocery and Coffin's jewelry store.

T. M. Trindie and company had established a convenience for those who had odd articles for sale, by establishing an auction sale on the last Saturday of each month. Billy McMillen was to make a trip up the river in search of a business location. He found it, at Burwell.

February 13, 1931. E. H. Maynard, of Willow Springs made Ord a visit and said that times were very dull up there. George Pratt and wife, who were recently married, had come to Ord to live. They were married at the Waterman home in Mira Valley, Febr. 1.

A county seat election held in Garfield county resulted in 135 votes for Burwell and 142 for Willow Springs. The election was to be contested. R. F. Milford was offering some fine lots for sale in his new "Hillside" addition to Ord.

Let Me Fix Up Your Tractor: Every year thousands of dollars are needlessly spent for repairs. I can build up spline shafts and bull gears fixing up the worn places as good as new for a fraction of the cost of new repairs.

February 12, 1920. Joe Morris, long time engineer on the Ord-Grand Island run, dropped dead at a rooming house in Ord.

Paul Moorey, clerk in the Valley County bank, started for New Orleans to take in the exposition there. The Quiz was gathering material to be used in the special edition the last issue in March.

I. W. Edson Publishes 92nd Anniversary Poem The Quiz acknowledges receipt of a poem written by I. W. Edson on the occasion of his 92nd birthday. Mr. Edson, a retired minister, has been furnishing both Wheeler county papers with "Sermons in Song," for nearly a year. They are very well written, as is the one on his birthday, "To Dear Old and New Friends." May he live to write many more of the same kind.

Magazines Available. The Valley county Junior Red Cross wishes to announce that rural teachers can obtain more used magazines for their pupils by calling upon Mrs. E. L. Kokes. IT HAPPENED IN ORD. These didn't all happen in Ord, but they are of interest to Ord people on the Vox Pop radio program Thursday evening, the one question all persons were asked was, "When was Lincoln born?"

It sounds like a simple question, but the seven answers in order were: 1860, 1811, 1807, 1812, 1808, 1802 and 1809. Apparently they all guessed and the last one guessed right. Let us hope that this isn't a fair sample of the people of America. Ernest Crouch of Broken Bow has two sons, Mike, 14 and Jack, 12. You may recall that Mike shot himself in the foot last spring with a .410 gauge shot gun. He got well all right, but the gun was not touched until a few days ago, when the boys decided they wanted to hunt rabbits. Their mother told Mike not to let it happen again. They were gone quite a while and Jack came running to the house all out of breath. "Mamma," he gasped, "It's happened!" Mrs. Crouch nearly fainted from the shock, but she managed to gasp out, "What's happened?" And Jack replied, "The old red sow has got six of the nicest pigs you ever saw."

Sec. Wiegardt Gets Unusual Letters

Variety Is the Spice of a Chamber of Commerce Secretary's Life, Is Ord Man's Opinion.

One time not so long ago a stranger came into the office of A. Wiegardt and asked, "Is Mr. Wiegardt here?" Alfred replied, "I am Wiegardt here." The man looked disappointed. "You won't do," he said, "I am looking for Wiegardt, secretary of the chamber of commerce."

Wiegardt is a busy man, but he finds time to smile and sometimes to laugh out loud at some of the letters he receives as chamber secretary. It is surprising what a number of letters of all kinds he receives in the course of the year. Most of them are sent out by firms wishing information on one of a number of routine subjects, but a few are very unusual.

He recalls two for example that were written by two little folks, one in the seventh grade in school, the other in the eighth grade. The seventh grader wanted to know all about the soil in the county, evidently for the purpose of writing a theme on the subject of soils, the other wanted to know about irrigation for the same purpose.

He has been asked on several occasions to get and send copies of all local newspapers, which he is only too glad to do. Sometimes the queries are of a personal nature, asking about the financial condition of a firm or individual. In these cases the answer is always polite, but does not convey the information asked for, since this is really asking too much of a secretary.

He received a card from a gentleman connected with the public library at Ft. Wayne, Ind., asking for literature describing the city and vicinity for use of the readers in the library. Publicity in connection with the North Loup Irrigation project probably prompted the writing of that card, and the writer got information on the raising of sugar beets.

In the past few months he has received a number of letters from persons interested in starting a bowling alley in Ord, who wanted to know how many alleys were already in, and the size and other particulars about the best available location. As nothing further was heard from them, it is supposed that they started up somewhere else.

J. P. Fry wrote from Bland, Va., asking for information by return mail about Ord and Valley county. He also asked for "A copy of your local paper, if you have one." This goes to prove that Ord is more famous than the Quiz. He got his information and a copy of the Quiz, and was doubtless very happy about the whole thing.

D. L. Schroeder, importer, jobber and publisher of music, wrote to the secretary asking to be supplied with the names of all Protestant churches having choirs or quartets, and also the names of glee clubs, male, women's and school choruses in the vicinity. His letter head indicated he was a dealer in sacred songs.

One of the most interesting letters, perhaps was that sent by J. G. Cudmore, of Regina, Sask., Can., to C. P. Charlton of Palmyra, Nebr., asking for information about "popcorn", which he was wanting to buy for his business. Mr. Charlton could not supply him, and they do not raise popcorn in his territory, so he sent the letter to Ord, and Wiegardt took care of it for him.

A man wrote from Kansas in regard to a portable or sectional skating rink or dance floor, which he understood was stored in the city. After some inquiry the floor was located and the desired information was forwarded to the man who was planning to go into the skating rink business.

All the way from San Francisco, Calif., M. T. Brennan wrote to get full information on the North Loup Irrigation canal, of which he wanted a map and also a pocket map of Valley county. Apparently he was interested in irrigation, and some day he might move into the valley.

Then there was the letter from a woman he never had heard of, inquiring about a man whom he had never heard of. The general tone of the letter was such that it boded ill for the gentleman in case she should ever get her hand upon him, so Wiegardt was only too glad he had no information to give.

The county clerk's office recently received a letter from a young lady in another state who wanted to know what the legal age was for obtaining a marriage license in Nebraska, or rather, in Ord, and other particulars concerning the legal requirements for being married here. Ign. Klima gave the necessary information.

Judge Andersen receives a number of letters along matrimonial lines, but most of them are too confidential to be used in a story of this kind. In fact, every official in the court house receives very unusual letters from time to time, and this goes to show that the town of Ord is pretty well known from a distance, and that it is an object of curiosity.

The following letter, sent from Red Rock Springs, Payson, Ariz., is typical of the many letters of inquiry that Wiegardt has filed away:

"Gentlemen:
I have always been interested in the state of Nebraska, especially the eastern and central part. Am taking the liberty of writing to ask if you will tell me something of the city of Ord and its county, i. e., something as to the appearance of the town; the racial makeup of its people; the industries of that part of Nebraska; in short, anything at all that you can tell me about Ord will be interesting to me, and your courtesy will be very much appreciated."

Mr. Wiegardt is of the opinion that there is no better way to put Ord on the map than to answer all these inquiries courteously and give all the information possible. People do not write unless they are interested, and an interested man may decide to move to Ord at some future time. For some time now our population has been falling down, and we should do everything possible to turn the tide the other way.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

A lot of milk, cream and skim-milk samples are tested at school by our agricultural students. The boys get many of these at home. Sometimes the neighbors have them bring in samples from their herds. Skim-milk tests are giving the most practical results. Locally we find that about one farmer's cream separator out of five is cheating him a bit, and one separator out of ten is quite bad. The worst machine that we ran across this year was losing its owner a pound of butterfat in every twenty that he produced. Most of the poor separators can be adjusted to do better work. It isn't necessary to throw them all away and buy new ones.

The chief upshot of our whole milk tests is that few dairymen know how to take accurate samples. Cow's milk should normally test 3 and 5 per cent, but the samples we get may contain anywhere from 1 to 12 per cent of butterfat.

A great deal of the cream that we test is probably sent in by farmers who think that his buyers are defrauding him, and wants to check up. We are glad to run tests for people, but would rather not pass judgment on any controversies.

Testing is of little value unless a correct sample is taken. Milk the cow out completely, then pour her milk back and forth from one bucket to another at least three times. Take equal parts of both morning's and evening's milkings. Keep in a tightly covered jar to prevent evaporation.

The normal training class of the high school is putting on a program on Feb. 22, and using a number of pupils of the grades in the work.

The idea is to learn how to put on a program in a country school. It will be a patriotic program, and will be put on at the grade school. Those who will help on this program are: First grade, Marlene Norman; second grade, Helen Rogers; third grade, Glen Pray and Letha Springer; fourth grade, Betty Whitford; fifth grade, Gene Draper and Eldon Loft; sixth grade, Gordon Sorenson, Joe Lola and Carolyn Anderson.

Writing from Fawcett, in Canada, to Mrs. Bertha Mason, Mrs. Susie Ragan, formerly of Ord, tells of passing another milestone in her life, the 83rd, on Jan. 26. She says she is enjoying fairly good health. She is living with her son, John.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolf and sons arrived Friday from Arcata, Calif., and are visiting around at present. They are planning to locate here, not having been able to get the love of Nebraska out of their systems. Only a short time ago the Quiz carried a picture and story of a large fish one of the boys caught, and told how they liked it in the west. At a time when so many are trying their luck in other places, it is refreshing to have former residents come back to make their home among us once more.

The Ord town basketball team went to North Loup Monday evening and came home with the small end of a 19 to 12 score. Ord started out well, and the score at the half was 11 to 9 for North Loup, but lack of reserves began to tell toward the end of the game.
Playing for Ord were Dale and Richard Severson, Syl Furtak, Dale and Merrill Hughes and Dale Sizemore. Dale Severson and Furtak were high for Ord and Barrett and Barber high for North Loup. The Ord team is looking for games with other town teams in this section. Parties interested should contact Syl Furtak.

John S. Hoff Buys

Load of Large Pipe
This morning Forrest Watson trucked out to the John S. Hoff farm a load of 7-inch pipe he had brought up from Omaha during the night. There was 2,100 feet of pipe in the shipment, weighing 4,200 pounds, and it will be used by Mr. Hoff to convey the water from his irrigation well to other high points on the farm, from which it will be distributed to the lower places.
Mr. Hoff has been keeping the pump going on his well all winter with the exception of a few of the coldest days, and has all the land adjacent to the well thoroughly soaked. In putting the pipe together he plans to leave the joints a little loose, so that the water can squirt out there and soak up the soil. This irrigation project is being watched with interest by other farmers who may try the same idea later.

Valentine Party.

The Business and Professional Women's club of Ord entertained at their annual guest dinner Thursday evening in the form of a Valentine party. The home economics dining room of the high school was lavishly decorated with red and white hangings and hearts. The long tables were ornamented with white candles in heart holders, with huge red cardboard hearts bearing nosegays of red lollypops which wore dainty lace paper collars, and with big red cardboard arrows. At each of the sixty plates the name card was a red heart flower in a gumdrop stand, another result of the painstaking labor of Miss Daisy Hallen, who was in charge of decorating.

Miss Wilma Shavlik, public relations chairman, introduced Mrs. Mark Tolen, who sang a number of songs in her customary delightful manner, with Miss Bernice Slotte accompanying. Mrs. C. J. Mortensen talked about Finland, which she visited four years ago, and the listeners enjoyed the colorful touches she was able to give them about this country. Miss Viola Koelling played several interesting selections on the xylophone, accompanied by her sister, Angelene, which closed the program.

The delicious dinner was served by Ben's Grill, and here too Valentine touches were discerned in the pink of the ham and the pink heart-shaped pears and the heart molded into the frozen dessert. In fact everything about the evening made it something to remember.

Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery. Mrs. Whitesell was born in Michigan. She came to Garfield county with her first husband, Mr. Watson, in an early day and settled in the sandhills north of Burwell. She was the mother of a son and a daughter by her first marriage, her son having preceded her in death. A sister, a daughter and four grandchildren survive, all living a great distance away and none of whom came to Burwell to attend her funeral. After her marriage to Charles Whitesell, she came to live on a farm at Pebble Creek. Mr. Whitesell died in 1929. Mrs. Whitesell continued living on the farm until the vicissitudes of old age made it impossible for her to do so. She lived a very frugal life and denied herself the common necessities of life. Several years ago she became sick and when the nurse examined her clothing six thousand dollars in bills were found sewed into the hem of her petticoat. This greatly surprised her acquaintances who believed she had no money even though she owned considerable real estate. She was receiving an old age pension at the time. She was taken to Green Gables sanitarium at Lincoln and later became a patient of the state hospital in Hastings where she died. She leaves an estate worth thousands of dollars.

This week Superintendent Scofield reports that an examination on speech and safety will be given in all of the grades and the pupil in each grade scoring the highest in the test will be awarded a ticket.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Austin are making headquarters out at Mrs. Hoffmanns while their trailer house is being repaired which was damaged by an accident some time ago. It is reported that Mrs. Sadie Cram, of Greeley and well known here is quite improved at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island and that there are strong hopes now of her recovery.

Albert C. Austin started for Santa Fe, N. M., Monday morning by the hitch hike method where he expects to get employment to help him get back to school at the Ag College next fall. He expects to visit a sister enroute in southwest Nebraska and also a cousin in Denver. He has two sisters at Santa Fe. He had been visiting the home folks at the Methodist parsonage a week after having finished up his first semester of work at the college.

The Young people of Mrs. Westcott's class enjoyed a party at the Methodist church social rooms Saturday night partly in honor of Albert Austin. Games and some good refreshments characterized the evening.

Proceedings of the City Council

February 5, 1940

The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 P. M. Mayor Cummins presided. Rex Jewett, City Clerk, recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll and the following Councilmen were present: Guy Burrows, Frank Johnson, Joe Rohla, Dr. McGinnis, Martinus Biemond, Robert Noll.

The minutes of the proceedings of January 2, 1940 and January 22, 1940 were read and by motion ordered placed on file.

Mayor Cummins announced that parliamentary order would be ignored and that other business would now be taken up.

E. C. James appeared before the Council and offered his proposition with regard to the City's insurance. No official action was taken.

It was moved and seconded that the Ord City Fire Department's license for dances be cancelled, and that the fee be returned. Motion carried.

Alex Cochran appeared before the Council and explained plans for establishing Recreation projects in the city and asked that the city approve such a program and act as co-sponsor. The city would in no case obligate themselves for more than 25% of the monetary expense. Mr. Cochran also assured the Council that the City would be under no obligation of such a program. No official action was taken.

Representatives of the Nebraska State bank and the First National bank appeared before the Council together with their attorney John Misko and presented their proposition for the refunding of certain bonds of the City of Ord which are shortly to fall due. Councilman Johnson introduced the following resolution and moved that the same be adopted.

Be it resolved by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, that, whereas, proposed contracts, dated January 25, 1940, have been submitted to the Mayor and City Council of said City, one of which contracts is between the City of Ord, Nebraska, party of the first part, and Nebraska State bank, a banking corporation of Ord, Nebraska, party of the second part, and the other proposed contract is between the City of Ord, Nebraska, party of the first part, and First National bank in Ord, Nebraska, a banking corporation, of Ord, Nebraska, party of the second part, which contracts are with reference to the refunding of bonds of said City of Ord and, therefore,

Be it resolved that the said contracts be approved and that the Mayor and City Clerk of said City be authorized and directed to enter into said contracts for and on behalf of said City and the said officers of said City, for and on behalf of said City, are further authorized to execute said contract and attach the seal of the said City to the same.

Councilman Noll seconded the motion to adopt said resolution. After discussion the Mayor ordered the roll to be called and upon such roll Councilmen Biemond, McGinnis, Rohla, Noll, Burrows and Johnson voted "aye" in favor of the same and none of said Councilmen voted "no" against the adoption of said resolution and the Mayor declared the motion duly carried and that said resolution had been duly adopted.

Frank Kasal appeared before the Council and asked that the City Council amend the present Pool Hall and Bowling Alley Ordinance to enable him to legally sell beer and operate a Pool Hall in the same building. It was moved and seconded that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare an amendment to the present Ordinance which would allow Pool Halls and Bowling Alleys to legally sell beer. Motion carried.

The fact that the Electric Fund holds a considerable amount of the City's due bonds without said bonds having been cancelled after having been paid was then discussed. It was moved and seconded that the Finance Committee obtain a list of the past due bonds purchased by the Electric Fund and make the necessary arrangements to have the said bonds cancelled. Carried.

The matter of transferring funds from the Electric Fund to wipe out the overdrafts in a number of other city funds was then brought up. Mayor Cummins spoke at length explaining the matter to the Council and spoke strongly in favor of the transfer. Mayor Cummins urged that this be done, maintaining that the presence of overdrafts was a reflection upon the administration and in addition the transfer would leave the books clear for any subsequent administrations. Several Councilmen opposed the transfer pointing out that it was

Starving Pheasants Fed by Members of Future Farmers Organization

A group of agricultural boys under J. A. Kovanda hit upon the idea of feeding the pheasants this winter, and they and their instructor devised plans for shelters and feeding pens in which the birds could feed, protected from the storms. Above is shown one of these shelters and Richard Masin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masin, who built it and keeps it supplied with feed.

The shelter is built of brush, and is dug into the ground as a further protection from the wind. It is open on both ends to give the birds a chance to escape from predatory animals which includes coyotes, wild cats, house cats and an occasional dog. The shelled grain is placed in these shelters each day, or whenever the supply is low, and in some cases ears of corn are hung on the fences and entirely contrary to sound business principles; that wiping out such deficits would give a false impression as to the financial status of the city to subsequent administrations, and calling attention to the fact that a knowledge of these deficits was necessary in order that an intelligent tax levy could be made. No action was taken.

There being no further business to come before the Council it was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

ATTEST: M. B. Cummins, Mayor. Rex Jewett, City Clerk.

The names of the boys who are doing this work and the number of shelters each has is as follows: Willie Blaha, one; Leonard Kokes, one; Richard Masin, two; Don Guggenmos, three; Charles Robertson, one; and Don Miller two. Masin and Guggenmos have each put out six bushels of corn to date, Robertson has put out two bushels, Miller and Blaha one bushel each and Kokes one-half bushel. A part of that put out by Miller was karo. The boys find that, while the pheasants are their principal boards, in the case of Masin, at least, a flock of prairie chickens call every day for their ration of grain. The boys have not been furnishing the grain at their own expense, as there was an unspent balance in the fund raised to feed the birds some years ago and on deposit in the Nebraska State bank. The grain used has been bought from this fund. There is no question that the boys have saved a large number of birds from likelihood of starving, and they feel that their work is well worth while. A half ton of yellow shelled corn was trucked to Ord by the State Department of game, forestation and parks Thursday. It was given to the Ord Future Farmers for distribution. ## B. F. Janes Dies

Friends as a tribute to Mr. Janes. Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery.

Bird Forrester Janes, son of Milton and Sarah Janes, was born in Waushara county, Wisconsin, May 1, 1859. While still a small boy his father was killed in the Civil war and after spending a few years in Wisconsin he migrated to Nebraska with his widowed mother and two brothers. They were a part of the original North Loup colony, settling on a homestead near the present town of North Loup in May of 1872. There among the hardships and struggles of those pioneer days he grew to manhood. He was one of the workers on the building of Fort Hart-suff.

In 1878 he was married to May Taylor who died in 1888 leaving three small sons. After spending a short time in Ord he moved to Kent and later settled on a nearby farm.

On Dec. 11, 1890 he was united in marriage to Emma Hughes. To this union five children were born. For the past forty-two years the Janes family have lived in Burwell, where they have taken an active part in the upbuilding of the community. For several years Mr. Janes was engaged in the mercantile business, disposing of his store in 1908. Mrs. Janes died May 25, 1937.

He is also preceded in death by two sons, Walter and Ray and one daughter, Byrd. He is survived by a brother, Hawley, two sons, William and Louis, three daughters, Marie Anderson, Mabel Johnson and Sarah Janes and by ten grandchildren.

Tom or Tommy as he was affectionately known to his many friends was a devoted family man and took a great interest in his home. His lawn and flowers were one of the beautiful sights in Burwell. He was an accepted authority on local horticultural problems and his opinions were eagerly sought and often quoted. He was an active supporter of the Congregational church and helped with the erection of the present church buildings. He contributed his part to the upbuilding of this section of the country. He saw it develop from a wild prairie inhabited only by Indians into a progressive community. The Old Settlers meetings of recent years were of a great interest to him. He will long be remembered as a kindly, upright citizen and a loving father.

Auble-Schudel Party Back from 3,000 Mile Trip

Highway 65, though surfaced, was covered with snow and ice, making driving difficult through the mountains. At Conway, Ark., they saw a large consolidated school on fire. With a brisk north breeze, no fire fighting equipment and no telephones, the building was soon in ruins. They were told that 500 children had been attending school there.

Many homes were being constructed at Conway, with native stone being used for facing, and they were beautiful indeed. At 9:30 the next day they arrived at Little Rock. It was only 14 degrees above zero, and was very cold to the natives. From there they went to Pine Bluffs, Ark. and ate lunch at the home of John Blazer, friends of the Schudels. They saw a sign which read "Douglas County, Arkansas, 36,000 acres of forest."

They saw paper mills, saw mills, a barrel stave factory, and posts and lumber piled everywhere. Here and there were spots of one or two acres cleared, with little one-room cabins with one door and one or two windows, the typical homes of the hillbillies. Many signs along the highway warned the public that stock was at large, and there is no herd law in Arkansas.

They saw hundreds of Jersey cows, some of them of high quality but in general a poor grade of cattle. The hogs they saw looked like a cross between a razor back and a Poland China, which they probably were. They saw one with a yoke on, but could not figure out whether it was to keep him out or in. They were all over the highway and in the streets of the towns.

Arriving at Shreveport, La., Wednesday night they spent four days visiting with Mrs. Auble's uncle, John L. Kemp and his family. There they saw Barksdale Field, the world's largest airport, consisting of 22,500 acres, just outside the city. The officers, men, and their families make a population of 3,500. There they saw 10 large bombing planes capable of carrying 40 to 50 bombs each and costing from $75,000 to $140,000 each.

At Rodessa, near Shreveport, they visited the oil fields. Here there were 400 oil wells, all producing their full quota of oil. The large derricks, big oil refineries, gas distributing stations, storage tanks and miles of pipe line, and the many beautiful homes gives one an idea of the possibilities near an active oil field.

The KWKH broadcasting station was next visited. It was built at a cost of $500,000. They have a beautiful building and three steel towers, each 420 feet in height. They learned that the once celebrated Mr. Henderson had reduced his holdings, had retired and was living in Shreveport. Louisiana loved Huey Long as much as they hate his brother Earl, head of the machine that was caught short about $5,000,000.

The cold still continued with cold and freezing temperatures every night. The water pipe damage in Shreveport alone was estimated at $300,000. On the way to New Orleans they stopped at the old French town of St. Martinsville, famous as the burial place of Evangeline. This town has flown the flag of four governments Spanish, French, Confederate and United States. The St. Martin Catholic church, built in 1765, still stands as it was originally built.

They saw the "Evangeline Oak" which is still alive, also the tomb and the statue at the grave of Evangeline. They stayed all night at New Iberia, known as the beauty spot of Louisiana. Near this town, now under construction, is the Calumet flood control canal, a $13,000,000 project reaching from El Dorado, Ark., to the Gulf of Mexico. The canal is being dredged from 300 to 500 feet wide and 45 feet deep, and about 400 miles long.

They passed a pile of clam shells containing 60,000 cubic yards, which are pumped out of the river and are used for surfacing roads. At Franklin they saw several barges of raw sugar being towed down the river to New Orleans. They crossed the Huey Long bridge above New Orleans. This bridge, erected at a cost of $13,000,000, is 4 1/2 miles long from the railroad approach to the end. The channel span is 790 feet long and it is the longest free bridge in America. They stopped at a cabin camp 6 miles from the city, and after dinner went into town to see the parade. Mardi Gras is derived from the French language, meaning "fat Tuesday" or the day before Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. The first recorded Mardi Gras parade was held in 1827, beginning 12 days after Christmas and ending the day before Ash Wednesday.

On Saturday, Feb. 3, the parade consisted of 55 floats and 37 bands, each float representing a public or parochial school. Each night the parade is different. The cost of the carnival averages $250,000, and the crowd is estimated at 750,000 people.

New Orleans is the financial capital of the south. The total deposits in the banks as of Jan. 1, 1940, was $296,964,000. It was interesting to learn that "Dixie Land" originated from the old Citizens' bank issue of a ten dollar bank note with "Dix" meaning ten in the French language, printed on one side of it.

Louisiana is noted for its sea food, leading in oyster culture and the production of shrimp. It leads all other states in production of furs, with a yearly average of 3,000,000 of muskrat skins, 200,000 opossum, 100,000 mink, 40,000 skunk, and 800 otter.

Petroleum products from Louisiana sold in 1939 reached a total value of $135,000,000. The first oil well, the "Scott Heywood," was brought in in 1901, and is still producing. The cane sugar industry produces $35,000,000 annually and employs 200,000 persons.

The answer to where the money used by the government in creating a debt of forty three billion dollars spent is to be found in the south. On their three thousand mile trip through the south they found the answer. Everywhere they went they saw roads, schools, drainage canals and other government constructed projects that have put the south on top of the world.

At New Orleans there are 7 miles of steel and cement docks along the river. There were 18 foreign ships loading and unloading at one time. One vessel unloaded 63,000 bags of coffee from Brazil. Another unloaded 50,000 bunches of bananas. Two hundred and forty eight ships used this port during the month of December, handling 425,000 tons of cargo.

The south is very much "in the money," capitalizing on natural resources, and is fast becoming the financial center of the world. What effect the draining of thousands of acres of our southland will have on the country remains to be seen. The Southerner's attitude toward the north has changed much in the past few years. They like the "compli" of the north and say it encourages their people to larger and better ideals in business and socially.

September and October would have been a much better time to see the south, but those three weeks were a good time to be away from Nebraska, according to Bud.

Burwell Pioneer Passes Saturday

While serenely sleeping, Robert Hesselgesser, 85 year old father of Mrs. Fay Livermore and Mrs. James Hartford, passed away Saturday morning. His death came as a shock to his family and friends for although he has been in poor health ever since he suffered a stroke in August of 1937 no one was aware that the end was at hand.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Goodell of Lebanon, Kan., and Rev. J. Bruce Wylie in the Christian church at Burwell. A mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Russell Mitchell, William Eatherton and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Grunkemeyer with Mrs. W. L. McMullen at the piano furnished the music. The pall bearers were John Heynon, W. L. McMullen, W. G. Henneft, Will Anderson, Robert Draver and Thomas Banks, all being the sons of Mr. Hesselgesser's old friends. Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery.

Mr. Hesselgesser was born in Butler county, Pa., Dec. 28, 1854, where he spent the early years of his life. He was graduated from the Iron City college of Pittsburg and taught several terms of school.

August 8, 1878 he was married to Emma Jane McGinnis and soon afterwards they came to Nebraska settling in Fillmore county. Later Mr. and Mrs. Hesselgesser moved to Loup county where with his brothers, Sam and John, he homesteaded near Valley View. The Hesselgessers played an active part in the early history of Loup county and the numerous descendants of these brothers, of which Mr. Hesselgesser is the last, continue to fill an important part in the community life in Loup and Garfield counties. In 1890 Mr. Hesselgesser took the census in Loup county, going from one settler's soddie to another on horseback.

In 1890 Mr. and Mrs. Hesselgesser moved to Burwell in order to give their children better educational advantages. Three years later they moved to Sargeant and in 1915 they moved to Cherry county where Mrs. Hesselgesser died. In 1918 Mr. Hesselgesser moved back to Pennsylvania where he lived for five years. Later he returned to Burwell where he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Fay Livermore. For thirty-five years he was a member of the Christian church at Sargeant.

In an early day Mr. Hesselgesser operated a creamery on the J. E. Cram farm joining Burwell. The cement foundation of his plant can still be seen. At one time he operated a livery stable in partnership with Wesley Messenger.

He was the father of ten children, seven of whom survive him. They are his sons, Thomas of Clinton, Mont., Harry of Baker, Nev., Guy of Sagle, Ida, and Frank of San Francisco, and his daughters, Mrs. Dwight Coble of Lincoln, and Mrs. James Hartford and Mrs. Fay Livermore of Burwell. He is also survived by a sister Mrs. John Newcomb of Pretty Prairie, Kan., thirty-four grandchildren and thirty great grandchildren.

4-H ENROLLMENTS GROW.

GOOD BULLS BEST BET.

Lincoln, Neb.—The average dairy cow in Nebraska produces annually about 160 pounds of butterfat, while the Dairy Herd Improvement cow averages over 300 pounds, according to the agricultural college extension service. The importance of selecting proved sires or their sons for further herd improvement is stressed.

Testing The Skimmilk Saves Money For Creamery Patrons

Testing the skimmilk at least once a month is always a good way to save butterfat and, therefore, money. In this way a check is had on the efficiency of the separator and the manner in which it is operated. In fact, regular testing of the skimmilk may well be considered just as important as testing the cream. The creameryman will always be glad to tell his patrons just how the skimmilk should be sampled to make the test representative of the total amount separated.

The test of well-separated skimmilk is around two one-hundredths of one percent butterfat. A machine which separates with a loss of only this proportion of butterfat is regarded as being in good working condition and properly operated. However, if the test goes higher than .02 of one percent, avoidable losses occur.

WE GLADLY TEST YOUR SKIM MILK FREE

HIENS FEED REQUIREMENTS.
About seven pounds of feed per month is the requirement of the average laying hen.

NO DISEASE FROM EGGS.

Eggs are less liable to convey disease or contain harmful properties than any other single food of animal origin. There is no known infection of the hen transmissible to man through its eggs.

Better Butter Consumption.

In August, 1939, consumers ate 13 percent more butter than in the same month of 1938 and 2 percent more than in any other August on record.

Clean Separator Pays With More Butterfat

Separators washed only once a day lost much more butterfat in the skimmilk than those washed after each separation, an observant tester in an Iowa cow testing association found in the course of his work.

He found that eleven out of fourteen separators lost twice as much butterfat in the morning as in the evening when the separators were washed in the morning only. In some instances the loss was three times as great. In each case the separator was washed only after the morning separation.

This is by no means an unusual experience. It has been confirmed a hundred times both in the field and at the experiment stations. There is always a much greater loss of butterfat into the skimmilk, when the milk is run through a separator not perfectly clean. Neglect of the separator will be followed by an increased loss of butterfat, as surely as night follows day.

Pays Two Ways.

Double pay, then, is assured the creamery patron whose separator is taken apart and thoroughly washed and cleaned every time it has been used. He not only will have a higher quality grade of cream which makes lighter butter and brings a higher price, but he will have more butterfat in the cream to sell at the higher price because a clean separator always skims cleaner.

The reason for the loss of butterfat from a separator not perfectly clean lies in the collection of small particles of curd and of slime sediment in the crevices of the unwashed separator bowl. This cuts down the centrifugal efficiency of the machine and interferes with the free flow of the milk and cream.

This condition of the separator may even throw the machine out of balance, thus further decreasing its skimming efficiency. It also causes the cream test to vary from one separation to another.

The only way to avoid the loss and recover all the butterfat which the separator is capable of producing, is to take the machine apart after every separation and clean every part. The sooner it is done after the skimming, the easier it will be. All parts should first be washed in warm water containing a washing powder. Soap should never be used, because it is much harder to rinse off thoroughly.

Brush Beats Rag.

A good washing solution may be made by dissolving about a level tablespoon of washing powder in a gallon of water that is as hot as the hands can bear. The solution should be strong enough to remove all grease from the separator parts. A brush should be used; never a wash rag, the brush being much easier to keep clean than a rag. Then all parts are plunged into boiling water or scalded with it and hung up to dry, preferably in the open air away from dirt, odors and insects.

The rubber ring that is part of the bowl should be washed in warm water only and laid on a table to dry in order to prevent it from stretching. Nor should it be stretched in wiping because pulling it may make the ring too large for the bowl.

Death Claims Two Springer Brothers Within Few Hours

Arch Springer Dropped Dead in Own Kitchen, Mark Died in Hospital.

North Loup—(Special)—Within a few hours last Wednesday occurred the deaths of Archer G. Springer, of this village, and his brother, Marcus Springer, of Gothenburg.

Arch Springer had been in Cotesfield attending a birthday party for his grandson, and dropped dead in the kitchen of his own home. Mrs. Springer and her son Loise heard him fall and ran to his assistance but death was instantaneous. He had recovered recently from a severe attack of flu but appeared to be in good health shortly before his death.

In an Omaha hospital a few hours before, Marcus Springer died also. He was born in this village and grew up here but left as a young man to follow the profession of tree surgery. For several years he had made his headquarters at Gothenburg, where burial was made Sunday. He was 50 years old.

Arch Springer was 56 and had lived here since he was four years old. His marriage to Ada Eyerly occurred in 1908 and three children were born to them, Corwin, of Cotesfield, Loise, who is at home, and Mrs. Earl Lincoln, of Scotia. As a boy he began working for George E. Johnson in the lumber yard and for ten years was Mr. Johnson's right hand man, resigning in 1913 to manage the Cotesfield lumber yard until it closed in 1937. Since then he again has had employment in the lumber yard here.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist church with Rev. Mann, of Elba, in charge. The I. O. O. F. lodge conducted their rites. Burial was made in Hillside cemetery.

Comstock Wins Loup Valley Championship

Champions of the Loup Valley conference! Here is the Comstock squad, including the five "iron men" who played the entire game against Ord Friday evening and won. Front row, left to right: Curtis Wells, Willis Wells, Walter Haynes, Doyle Bruner, Arch Chalupsky. Back row—Coach Dasher, Harry Smith, Ed Panowicz, Robert Brandt, Homer Matteson, (Robert Smith, a member of the squad, is not in the picture).—Quiz photo and engraving.

Starting Quintet Plays Whole Game, Beats Ord 34 to 23

Annual Tourney Held Last Week in Arcadia Enjoys Fine Attendance.

Comstock has only 450 inhabitants, 1930 census, but it takes only 5 good men to make a basketball team, and Comstock has them. They were used to good effect Friday evening. Held to even terms throughout the first half, those five men came back strong in the last half to swamp Ord by a score of 34 to 23.

The Ord-Comstock game was the final clash in the Loup Valley Conference tourney being held at Arcadia, and makes Comstock the conference champion.

The winning five were C. Wells and Chalupsky, forwards, Haynes, center, and W. Wells and Bruner, guards, and they played the whole game without any substitutions. Ord might claim all kinds of alibis but the simple fact is that the Ord boys were outplayed by an outstanding team that deserved to win.

W. Wells scored 13 points for the winners, C. Wells 11, Haynes 7, Chalupsky 3 and Bruner none. Hurlbert scored 11 points for Ord, Tatlow 5, H. Misko 3, Flagg and Piskorski 2 each. Romans, Carlsson, D. Misko also played in the game, but failed to garner any points.

Sargent defeated St. Paul in the consolation to take third place. It was a story book finish, with Kennedy dropping in the point for Sargent that put them out in front in the last few seconds of play. The result could hardly be called an accident, for Sargent was in the lead in each of the first three quarters, St. Paul catching up in the final quarter. The final score was 26 to 25.

Bell scored 11 points for Sargent to lead the attack. Mason made 6, Matousek 4, Kennedy 3 and Green 2. Brittain made 3 for St. Paul, Day 7, Nielsen 5, Larsen 4, and Nelson 1. The final games were played in the Arcadia gymnasium Friday evening and standing room was at a premium.

Comstock, St. Paul, Ord and Sargent won their way into the semi-finals Thursday evening. On Wednesday evening Ord defeated Burwell 47 to 27; Sargent defeated Arcadia 23 to 17; St. Paul nosed out Dannebrog in a thriller, 32 to 31; and Comstock disposed of Scotia, 31 to 15.

In the first game Thursday evening Comstock defeated St. Paul by a score of 23 to 21. W. Wells made 11 points for Comstock, Hayne 9, Chalupsky 7, and C. Wells 3. Nelson and Day made 6 points each for St. Paul, Nielsen 4, Brittain and Lovejoy 2 each and Larsen 1.

Ord showed up well in the semi-finals, the score of 35 to 27 hardly doing justice to their smooth and steady offensive. In this game Ord had six chances for free throws and made good on 5 of them. Hurlbert made 19 points in this game, Misko 7, Romans 6, and Tatlow 3. Mason made 7 for Sargent, Matousek 6, Thompson 5, Bell 4, and Kennedy and Green 2 each.

In the later periods of this game Sargent was making a strong bid for the lead when Mason was injured in a collision and had to be taken out of the game. The management of the Loup Valley conference is highly pleased with the attendance and interest shown in the tournament, which was one of the most successful yet held.

Boy Scout Week in Ord Proves of Much Interest

All first class scouts earned at least one merit badge, and some as many as nine. The lower ranking scouts almost without exception passed at least one test, and some passed several.

GIVING THE WHOLE STORY

This week the Quiz was handed a copy of a circular sent out by O. A. Abbott, mayor of Grand Island and a candidate for district judge.

"I am aware that O. A. Abbott is also of irreproachable character, a man of great personal charm and capability."

This was only a part of the statement, and apparently was taken bodily from the whole item to indicate that the Quiz was for Mr. Abbott for judge.

"But Mr. Abbott is from Grand Island, and Grand Island is represented by one judge now. Therefore it seems fitting that this end of the district put up a candidate."

Frankly, the Quiz is disappointed in Mr. Abbott. This paper has known Mr. Abbott personally for perhaps a quarter of a century, and it is only fair to admit that all Irma said about him is true.

The Quiz does not care to discuss Mr. Abbott's fitness for the office to which he aspires. But we do know and admire George A. Munn and we believe that he would not be so unethical as to quote only that part of a statement made concerning himself that would make him appear to the best advantage.

The Quiz has a duty to perform for the upper end of the district. In fairness to a man who is ideal timber for the office of district judge, and in fairness to the memory of his father, Charles A. Munn, whose brilliant career as a district judge was cut short by death early it had fairly begun, the Quiz will support George A. Munn.

Left fatherless at the age of ten, he has followed in his father's footsteps, winning high honors in school, where he was a member of one of Ord high school's most celebrated debating teams. He went on through university, where he was a brilliant student. Elected county attorney in 1916, he resigned to answer his country's call.

After 19 1/2 months in the service, 8 1/2 months of which was overseas, he returned to Ord and to the practice of law. Twice he was elected to the office of county attorney for four year terms, and refused to be considered for another term. He is recognized as one of the most able attorneys in central Nebraska, and is held in the highest respect by all members of the bar who have the honor to know him. Yes, we are for George A. Munn for district judge.

ADVERTISING AND SOLVENCY. In this world there are many words that are most effective when used in pairs. For example, alpha and omega, cause and effect, odds and ends, dry goods and groceries, law and enforcement, and so on, and so on, ad infinitum. Another pair of words that rightfully belong together are advertising and solvency.

All big concerns recognize the fact that the two go hand in hand, and for this reason we find them using every means of publicity at their disposal and reaping a corresponding increase in business. These organizations realize that it is not the supply of goods on their shelves that means profits, but the rate of the turnover. The faster the stock shifts, the greater the profits.

If such a system is good for the big fellow, it is equally good for the local merchant. A certain percent of the funds used in business must be used for publicity if the dealer is to realize a profit. You may have the best store in the country, but how is the buyer to know about it if you don't tell him, not once, but frequently?

Ord started up officially as a village, June 23, 1851. The Quiz started as a newspaper April 6, 1881. The history of the two is linked too closely together to be separated. The paper could not exist without the town, and the town could not exist without a good newspaper. The paper helps build up and publicize the town, and the town supports the paper.

The files of the Quiz from the beginning show one interesting fact, and that is, that the business men who are known to history are the ones who advertised. They were not the only Ord business men, but they are the only ones who made a lasting success of their business, and who left their names on the pages of Ord's history.

history of all business ventures has been much the same.

When times are good they all advertise. Then they pay for the publicity with a portion of the profits. When times get hard the man who ultimately succeeds continues to pay out for advertising, knowing that it is needed more than before.

If you have any doubt of the effectiveness of advertising, talk with the men who use plenty of advertising space each week, and find out what they have to say about it. They would not spend several hundred dollars every year for newspaper space if they did not feel that the end justified the means.

Any Saturday you can find people in Ord who read the ads in the Quiz and who drive as much as forty miles to trade with the people who advertise. Ord has the reputation of being a good trade town. This reputation was built by its merchants, who not only advertise generously, but also back up their advertising by delivering the goods. The towns whose merchants fail to advertise need not provide for the future. It has none.

WASHINGTON STARTED IT.

Back in the days when our eastern seaboard was still under the supervision of George the Second of England, and we didn't have too much to say about what we could or could not do, a young man named George Washington said to his father, "I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little hatchet." Who cares if a few mollycoddies who now claim that George didn't say it at all, it is a good yarn, and we should stick to it.

The fact that his father died when George was rather too young to have done what he is credited with should have no bearing on the story. But George set a bad example to the inhabitants of the country which was later to call his father. He cut down a tree, not just any old tree, but a tree that was useful as well as ornamental, for it bore cherries. And ever since his time we have been cutting down trees.

It is not such a crime to cut down a tree, but, unless we plan for a replanting of that loss, it is inevitable that in the end we will run out of trees. One of the chief causes of drought conditions in many parts of the country, including our own, is the fact that so much of our land has been robbed of its natural protection, timber, and has been left naked to the forces of sun, wind and erosion by water.

The settlers in Valley county found a prairie land, with very little timber to be seen. But they found that land covered with a heavy, protecting cover of grass. That was nature's means of protection, but man soon spoiled it by breaking up the land. Many of the settlers offset this by planting trees, and for this reason the rainfall remained at about the normal level for several decades.

But as time went on, more and more of the land was plowed up. Early timber, not too well taken care of, died off, and more and more of the earth's surface was left bare. The drought of 1894 should have served as a warning of what was to come, and perhaps it did. It was about that time that much of our land was being sowed to tame hay, especially alfalfa. This remedied the condition of the soil for a time, and the rains continued.

But in the decade following the World War man forgot the need of protecting the soil in the mad rush to make money. They robbed the soil year after year and got away with it, but the day of reckoning soon came, and for the past ten years we have been paying the price. We will continue to pay the price until we learn that we people of America must give the land a new deal, not the kind we have now, but a square deal.

If every person in Valley county would set out ten trees this year, it would be a long step in the right direction. This is not an Arbor Day oration but a plea in which the Father of his Country would join if he could, a plea for the preservation of the timber in which he spent much of his outdoor life. No system of farm relief will bring back the rains. If the farmer is to get back on his feet he must do it himself, and tree planting will help.

ELIMINATE STATIC.

Ord does not seem to have any ordinance really to protect the owners of radios from static unless the one about disturbing the peace could be made to apply. The reason is that this nuisance rather crept upon us unawares. There was a time when static did not make any difference, for there were no radios. Today there are plenty of them, and some time something will have to be done about static.

Static, as referred to above, is that disturbance to radio reception produced by a leaky motor on some electric device. An up-to-date motor in good working order does not produce static. If all of them did, the radio would be useless, for there is not an hour of the day or night when some motor in the neighborhood is not running. Luckily about 99% of them run without producing interference.

Some choose to call motor disturbance interference, but it is downright disgusting, regardless of what it may be called. Friday noon, for example, a disturbance of perhaps half a minute affected every radio in the south part of town, interrupting the news period four different periods about two minutes apart. The regularity of the occurrence indicated that it

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Resolution Broken

I was pleased last week when I read in the Quiz that Joe Knezacek had filed for the unicameral legislature. I have known Joe for a long time, the last few years having done considerable business at his office, and I will say in all truthfulness that he is one of the nicest men I ever knew.

I can say the same too for Clarence Davis and I hope too that he gets elected as a delegate to the Republican National Convention. That is an honor and an experience most any of us would like to have.

That Resolution.

Now I have broken the rule that I resolved on New Year's day last. It just goes to show the strength of character that I possess.

Never-the-less, that resolution was that I would do no more urging in this column for any political candidate. In the first place, I am not so sure that that is a good thing, for some candidates, or some office, or some party, or some man, I am not so sure but what anything I might say would lose the candidate more votes than it made him.

It is pretty hard to get into an election campaign without condemning someone, or at least comparing one man with the other. The pay I get here (a dollar a word) is hardly high enough to justify making enemies. More than that, taking sides, might even cause hard enough feelings so that the subscription list would drop, although I can hardly believe anyone would take me that seriously.

Several experiences the last year or two woke me up to make this resolution. First, I was waylaid one night in Greeley and a man with a fierce eye told me a thing or two, explaining in no definite terms, that I had said things wrong in this column. I don't believe yet that I did, but that man seemed to think so.

The sad part of it all is that in several instances the other candidate than I supported was elected. That is what made me wonder if what I said carried much weight. And when the other man is elected, one is in a little embarrassing position, should he ask for favors from the victor.

Perhaps I might mention another instance of politics, and that is of the contest for supervisor between Ed Lee and Jake Barber, a year ago. Both men had long been close friends of mine and I resolved to say nothing against either man during the campaign, which was about as much talked of as any contest we have had in this section of the country.

Frequently I mentioned the men in this column, as you may recall, and I tried to tell and prognosticate the situation as time went on. My wife checked the copy each time too for some word of slander that might get by me. The vote in the end was less than five difference, and the funny part of it all was that both men came to me afterwards and thanked me for the help I gave them during the campaign. I have been wondering ever since just what influence I had, if any, in that affair.

Cooling Home.

Carroll Thomas has been gone in Dakota and points as far west as Washington state since the middle of last summer. His folks had been expecting him home sometime this spring. The other night, long after his folks had gone to bed, a car drove into the yard and Claud spluttered to his wife, wondering who that could be, thinking it was someone who had encountered trouble in the hills to the east as so frequently happens.

"It is probably Carroll coming home," Mrs. Thomas joked, and in a few minutes they found it was their son and no one else, and there was rejoicing.

Carl Wolf is back from a year in California. He has been working, so they say, on a dairy farm for seventy dollars a month or more, but was unable to get rich at that. He says he liked California fine, but he likes Nebraska better.

Mrs. Wm. Schudel gave a report at the local club of their recent trip to the deep south, New Orleans and Shreveport, La. She says that no place they saw did it look good enough to trade for Nebraska. They stopped in Missouri too, and although things are different there, it seemed to them no better if our country would just give a come-back like ten and twenty years ago. The ground is so soggy and hard to till that twenty acres of corn is about one man's limit to tend and most of the work is milking cows and selling milk to the condenseries.

They saw almost all the local people who had gone there with the exception of Henry Sautter who was sick at the time with the flu. He also, so they understood, was sick with homesickness. He is batching it now, his folks expect was the motor on some automatic stoker.

No citizen would intentionally ruin the news hour for his neighbors, especially as the same broadcast must be ruined for himself. It should not take long to locate any motor that is causing such a disturbance, and the trouble can be remedied with very little expense. The radio is here to stay and it is just as important to our happiness and comfort as any other item of equipment in our homes. For this reason we should be permitted to use it without undue interruption.

QUIZ FORUM

February 10, 1940.

To the Editor of The Quiz: A friend has kindly had the Ord Quiz sent to us. I wish to assure this friend it is very much appreciated. The first copy received was the January 24 issue, in which there were a large number of letters from former Valley county residents.

While I did not know any of these people, the fact that they had lived in the same community and trod the same ground as I did when a child, was like hearing from old friends.

It is now thirty-eight years since my parents with their family left Ord and came to Alberta, Canada. This is almost four times as long as we lived in Valley county, but somehow ten years in your childhood seems like a lifetime in itself, and for that reason Ord and district will always seem like home to me.

Last summer while enroute to the New York Worlds Fair with my family I received great pleasure in visiting old friends in Valley county, after an absence of thirty-seven years. In the limited time that we had, we called to see as many of our old friends as we could. We were very sorry that we couldn't stay a little longer and renew old acquaintanceship, however we hope at some future time to again visit there and spend more time.

My parents came to Valley county in 1892 and lived on a farm about six miles west of Ord and us children attended the Fairplay school. Well do I remember the day in 1902 when we bid our school chums and our teacher Mr. Wm. Bartlett good-bye and packed our slates etc. home. It was with deep regret that I learned of Mr. Bartlett's death when in Ord, as I had intended to visit him. I have many pleasant memories of Mr. Bartlett as our teacher.

We found Ord a very nice little city. I surely admire the way it is laid out with the large square. I had expected to find the square somewhat smaller. Well do I remember the chain that was around it where the farmers tied their horses when in town. I was somewhat disappointed to see the new courthouse to one side. Personally, I would like to have seen it in the center.

As for our family, father and mother live in Calgary. Father is eighty-six, and mother is eighty-two. Both are in good health, except that mother has had to use crutches due to a fall a few years ago when she broke her hip. Chris my oldest brother lives in Vancouver. B. C. He has been a captain on a tow boat for years. Walter has a ranch at Nelson, B. C. John is with us in the hardware business here. My two sisters and my youngest brother, Herman live on a farm at Carstairs. Emanuel is a mail clerk on the railway. He runs out from Calgary. Inar is with the Italian Steamship Lines and lives in Toronto.

This is a wheat farming district located about a hundred miles northeast of Calgary. We have had fair crops the last two or three years, but the price has not been good. Most of the wheat was sold through the Government Wheat Board for 52c a bushel (No. 1). There is a possibility of getting a little more for it later. I see that you have had a severe winter down there. We have had about the nicest winter that I have ever seen.

If anyone from down there should ever happen to journey this way we will be very glad to have them look us up. Wishing our friends the best of luck and hoping Mr. Editor that I am not taking up too much of your space, I am,

Yours truly,

Albert P. Anderson.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

Rev. Brewer of Staplehurst was in Ord Sunday and preached at the Presbyterian church. He is a pleasant man to meet and has a keen sense of humor. He made the claim, which doubtless can be substantiated, that he is the only "Brewer" in Nebraska who is a minister in a Presbyterian church.

This happened to Ord people. After the game at Arcadia Friday evening three Ord cars in a row were found to have a tire down. It looked peculiar at first, but a checkup showed that each had picked up a rusty nail somewhere on the way into town.

One day last week those arch conspirators, W. E. Lincoln of the Ord fire department, Postal Clerk Mark Tolon of the Postoffice, and Nels Hansen, member of the Ord police force, decided to show that Elyria Hick, H. A. Stara, how the game of checkers ought to be played. They invagled him into the rooms of the fire department and the fun began. When the smoke of battle had cleared away, Hank had defeated all three, which should be another one for Ripley.

Ord High School Notes. Tuesday evening after the elementary club had held their regular business meeting, they had a valentine party. While they were enjoying the refreshments they opened the valentine box, and enjoyed many laughs as the comic valentines were passed out.

The French students have organized a French club, known as "Nous Les Français" (We The French) and have decided to get pins signifying a student's membership. A committee comprising Kathryn Work, Iryne Iwanski and Eleanor Wolf were appointed to write a constitution.

The following advanced short-hand students have received Certificates of Merit from the Easternbrook Steel Pen company: Dorothy Golka, Donadale O'Neal, Bette Vogelantz, Angelina Wachris, Alberta Flynn, Marie Bell, Christina

February 5, 1940 The Mayor and Council of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, met in adjourned regular session in the City Hall at 7:30 P. M. Mayor Cummins presided. Rex Jewett, City Clerk, recorded the proceedings of this meeting.

The Mayor directed the Clerk to call the roll. The Clerk called the roll and the following Councilmen were present: Guy Burrows, Frank Johnson, Joe Rohla, Dr. McGinnis, Martinus Biemond, Robert Noll. The minutes of the proceedings of January 2, 1940 and January 22, 1940 were read and by motion ordered placed on file.

Mayor Cummins announced that parliamentary order would be ignored and that other business would now be taken up.

E. C. James appeared before the Council and offered his proposition with regard to the City's insurance. No official action was taken.

It was moved and seconded that the Ord City Fire Department's license for dances be cancelled, and that the fee be returned. Motion carried.

Alex Cochran appeared before the Council and explained plans for establishing Recreation projects in the city and asked that the city approve such a program and act as co-sponsor. The city would in no case obligate themselves for more than 25% of the monetary expense. Mr. Cochran also assured the Council that the City would be under no obligation of such a program. No official action was taken.

Representatives of the Nebraska State bank and the First National bank appeared before the Council together with their attorney John Misko and presented their proposition for the refunding of certain bonds of the City of Ord which are shortly to fall due. Councilman Johnson introduced the following resolution and moved that the same be adopted.

Be it resolved by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Ord, Nebraska, that, whereas, proposed contracts, dated January 25, 1940, have been submitted to the Mayor and City Council of said City, one of which contracts is between the City of Ord, Nebraska, party of the first part, and Nebraska State bank, a banking corporation of Ord, Nebraska, party of the second part, and the other proposed contract is between the City of Ord, Nebraska, party of the first part, and First National bank in Ord, a banking corporation, of Ord, Nebraska, party of the second part, which contracts are with reference to the refunding of bonds of said City of Ord and, therefore,

Be it resolved that the said contracts be approved and that the Mayor and City Clerk of said City be authorized and directed to enter into said contracts for and on behalf of said City and the said officers of said City, for and on behalf of said City, are further authorized to execute said contract and attach the seal of the said City to the same.

Councilman Noll seconded the motion to adopt said resolution. After discussion the Mayor ordered the roll to be called and upon such roll Councilmen Biemond, McGinnis, Rohla, Noll, Burrows and Johnson voted "aye" in favor of the same and none of said Councilmen voted "no" against the adoption of said resolution and the Mayor declared the motion duly carried and that said resolution had been duly adopted.

Frank Kasal appeared before the Council and asked that the City Council amend the present Pool Hall and Bowling Alley Ordinance to enable him to legally sell beer and operate a Pool Hall in the same building. It was moved and seconded that the City Attorney be instructed to prepare an amendment to the present Ordinance which would allow Pool Halls and Bowling Alleys to legally sell beer. Motion carried.

The fact that the Electric Fund holds a considerable amount of the City's due bonds without said bonds having been cancelled after having been paid was then discussed. It was moved and seconded that the Finance Committee obtain a list of the past due bonds purchased by the Electric Fund and make the necessary arrangements to have the said bonds cancelled. Carried.

The report of James B. Ollis, City Treasurer, was read and by motion ordered placed on file. Carried.

The following claims were presented and read:

The matter of transferring funds from the Electric Fund to wipe out the overdrafts in a number of other city funds was then brought up. Mayor Cummins spoke at length explaining the matter to the Council and spoke strongly in favor of the transfer. Mayor Cummins urged that this be done, maintaining that the presence of overdrafts was a reflection upon the administration and in addition the transfer would leave the books clear for a subsequent administration. Several Councilmen opposed the transfer pointing out that it was

Starving Pheasants Fed by Members of Future Farmers Organization

A group of agricultural boys under J. A. Kovanda hit upon the idea of feeding the pheasants this winter, and they and their instructor devised plans for shelters and feeding pens in which the birds could feed, protected from the storms. Above is shown one of these shelters and Richard Masin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masin, who built it and keeps it supplied with feed. The shelter is built of brush, and is dug into the ground as a further protection from the wind. It is open on both ends to give the birds a chance to escape from predatory animals which includes coyotes, wild cats, house cats and an occasional dog. The shelled grain is placed in these shelters each day, or whenever the supply is low, and in some cases ears of corn are hung on the fences and entirely contrary to sound business principles; that wiping out such deficits would give a false impression as to the financial status of the city to subsequent administrations, and calling attention to the fact that a knowledge of these deficits was necessary in order that an intelligent tax levy could be made. No action was taken. There being no further business to come before the Council it was moved and seconded that the meeting adjourn. Motion carried.

The boys have not been furnishing the grain at their own expense, as there was an unspent balance in the fund raised to feed the birds some years ago and on deposit in the Nebraska State bank. The grain used has been bought from this fund. There is no question that the boys have saved a large number of birds from likelihood of starving, and they feel that their work is well worth while. A half ton of yellow shelled corn was trucked to Ord by the State Department of game, for-estration and parks Thursday. It was given to the Ord Future Farmers for distribution. Large bags of this feed have been taken out by Billy Miller, Alfred Hisek, Donald Miller and James Ollis. Several other students carried away smaller quantities, which they will scatter in appropriate locations.

Virgil Hilly, cook at the New Cafe, fell and hurt his back last week and was off duty several days. Mrs. Valeria Luddington took his place as cook while he was incapacitated. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hughes of Amarillo, Tex., arrived last Monday by train and will remain until after Easter visiting relatives here. She is the former Bernice Ruzovskl. Mrs. C. W. Hughes returned to Burwell Wednesday evening from a two weeks visit to Mr. and Mrs. Irving McKinley at Schuyler. Mrs. McKinley, who is a sister of Mr. Hughes, is recovering from a recent operation. Mrs. G. A. Butts returned to Burwell on the bus Thursday evening from St. Louis, where she had gone to purchase goods for her Style Shop. Mrs. Walter Hansen left by train Monday morning for her home in Fremont after visiting the past ten days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Hardbrook.

Mrs. Stanley Tucker of Cotesfield was in Ord Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Arnold Malotke, who is in the Clinic hospital, and the new baby. Word from Mrs. Amos Christoffersen is to the effect that she is improving from the operation she recently underwent at the University hospital in Omaha, but that she will not be able to come home for some time. ### B. F. Janes Dies friends as a tribute to Mr. Janes. Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery.

Bird Forrester Janes, son of Milton and Sarah Janes, was born in Waushara county, Wisconsin, May 1, 1859. While still a small boy his father was killed in the Civil war and after spending a few years in Wisconsin he migrated to Nebraska with his widowed mother and two brothers. They were a part of the original North Loup colony, settling on a homestead near the present town of North Loup in May of 1872. There among the hardships and struggles of those pioneer days he grew to manhood. He was one of the workers on the building of Fort Hart-suit.

In 1878 he was married to May Taylor who died in 1888 leaving three small sons. After spending a short time in Ord he moved to Kent and later settled on a nearby farm.

On Dec. 11, 1890 he was united in marriage to Emma Hughes. To this union five children were born. For the past forty-two years the Janes family have lived in Burwell, where they have taken an active part in the upbuilding of the community. For several years Mr. Janes was engaged in the mercantile business, disposing of his store in 1908. Mrs. Janes died May 25, 1937.

He is also preceded in death by two sons, Walter and Ray and one daughter Byrd. He is survived by a brother, Hawley, two sons, William and Louis, three daughters, Marie Anderson Mabel Johnson and Sarah Janes and by ten grandchildren.

Tom or Tommy as he was affectionately known to his many friends was a devoted family man and took a great interest in his home. His lawn and flowers were one of the beautiful sights in Burwell. He was an accepted authority on local horticultural problems and his opinions were eagerly sought and often quoted. He was an active supporter of the Congregational church and helped with the erection of the present church buildings. He contributed his part to the upbuilding of this section of the country. He saw it develop from a wild prairie inhabited only by Indians into a progressive community. The Old Settlers meetings of recent years were of a great interest to him. He will long be remembered as a kindly, upright citizen and a loving father.

Auble-Schudel Party Back from 3,000 Mile Trip

Highway 65, though surfaced, was covered with snow and ice, making driving difficult through the mountains. At Conway, Ark., they saw a large consolidated school on fire. With a brisk north breeze, no fire fighting equipment and no telephones, the building was soon in ruins. They were told that 500 children had been attending school there.

Many homes were being constructed at Conway, with native stone being used for facing, and they were beautiful indeed. At 9:30 the next day they arrived at Little Rock. It was only 14 degrees above zero, and was very cold to the natives. From there they went to Pine Bluffs, Ark., and ate lunch at the home of John Blazer, friends of the Schudels. They saw a sign which read "Douglas County, Arkansas, 36,000 acres of forest."

They saw paper mills, saw mills, a barrel stave factory, and posts and lumber piled everywhere. Here and there were spots of one or two acres cleared, with little one-room cabins with one door and one or two windows, the typical homes of the hillbillies. Many signs along the highway warned the public that stock was at large, and there is no herd law in Arkansas.

They saw hundreds of Jersey cows, some of them of high quality but in general a poor grade of cattle. The hogs they saw looked like a cross between a razor back and a Poland China, which they probably were. They saw one with a yoke on, but could not figure out whether it was to keep him out or in. They were all over the highway and in the streets of the towns.

Arriving at Shreveport, La., Wednesday night, they spent four days visiting with Mrs. Auble's uncle, John L. Kemp and his family. There they saw Barksdale Field, the world's largest airport, consisting of 22,500 acres, just outside the city. The officers, men, and their families make a population of 3,500. There they saw 10 large bombing planes capable of carrying 40 to 50 bombs each and costing from $75,000 to $140,000 each.

At Rodessa, near Shreveport, they visited the oil fields. Here there were 400 oil wells, all producing their full quota of oil. The large derricks, big oil refineries, gas distributing stations, storage tanks and miles of pipe line, and the many beautiful homes gives one an idea of the possibilities near an active oil field.

The KWKK broadcasting station was next visited. It was built at a cost of $500,000. They have a beautiful building and three steel towers, each 420 feet in height. They learned that the once celebrated Mr. Henderson had reduced his holdings, had retired and was living in Shreveport. Louisiana loved Huey Long as much as they hate his brother Earl, head of the machine that was caught short about $5,000,000.

The cold still continued with cold and freezing temperatures every night. The water pipe damage in Shreveport alone was estimated at $300,000. On the way to New Orleans they stopped at the old French town of St. Martinville, famous as the burial place of Evangeline. This town has flown the flag of four governments Spanish, French, Confederate and United States. The St. Martin Catholic church, built in 1765, still stands as it was originally built.

They saw the "Evangeline Oak" which is still alive, also the tomb and the statue at the grave of Evangeline. They stayed all night at New Iberia, known as the beauty spot of Louisiana. Near this town, now under construction, is the Calumet flood control canal, a $18,000,000 project reaching from El Dorado, Ark., to the Gulf of Mexico. The canal is being dredged from 300 to 500 feet wide and 45 feet deep, and about 400 miles long.

They passed a pile of clam shells containing 60,000 cubic yards, which are pumped out of the river and are used for surfacing roads. At Franklin they saw several barges of raw sugar being towed down the river to New Orleans. They crossed the Huey Long bridge above New Orleans. This bridge, erected at a cost of $18,000,000, is 4 1/2 miles long from the railroad approach to the end. The channel span is 790 feet long and it is the longest free bridge in America. They stopped at a cabin camp 6 miles from the city, and after dinner went into town to see the parade. Mardi Gras is derived from the French language, meaning "fat Tuesday" or the day before Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. The first recorded Mardi Gras carnival was held in 1527, beginning 12 days after Christmas and ending the day before Ash Wednesday.

On Saturday, Feb. 3, the parade consisted of 55 floats and 37 bands, each float representing a public or parochial school. Each night the parade is different. The cost of the carnival averages $250,000, and the crowd is estimated at 750,000 people.

New Orleans is the financial capital of the south. The total deposits in the banks as of Jan. 1, 1940, was $296,964,000. It was interesting to learn that "Dixie Land" originated from the old Citizens' bank issue of a ten dollar bank note with "Dix" meaning ten in the French language, printed on one side of it.

Louisiana is noted for its sea food, leading in oyster culture and the production of shrimp. It leads all other states in production of furs, with a yearly average of 3,000,000 of muskrat skins, 200,000 opossum, 100,000 mink, 40,000 skunk, and 500 otter.

Petroleum products from Louisiana soil in 1939 reached a total value of $135,000,000. The first oil well, the "Scott Heywood," was Lincoln, Nebr.—The average dairy cow in Nebraska produces annually about 160 pounds of butterfat, while the Dairy Herd Improvement cow averages over 300 pounds, according to the agricultural college extension service. The importance of selecting proved sires or their sons for further herd improvement is stressed.

Testing The Skimmilk Saves Money For Creamery Patrons

Testing the skimmilk at least once a month is always a good way to save butterfat and, therefore, money. In this way a check is had on the efficiency of the separator and the manner in which it is operated. In fact, regular testing of the skimmilk may well be considered just as important as testing the cream. The creameryman will always be glad to tell his patrons just how the skimmilk should be sampled to make the test representative of the total amount separated.

The test of well-separated skimmilk is around two one-hundredths of one percent butterfat. A machine which separates with a loss of only this proportion of butterfat is regarded as being in good working condition and properly operated. However, if the test goes higher than .02 of one percent, avoidable losses occur.

HEN'S FEED REQUIREMENTS.

About seven pounds of feed per month is the requirement of the average laying hen.

NO DISEASE FROM EGGS.

Eggs are less liable to convey disease or contain harmful properties than any other single food of animal origin. There is no known infection of the hen transmissible to man through its eggs.

Better Butter Consumption.

In August, 1939, consumers ate 13 percent more butter than in the same month of 1938 and 2 percent more than in any other August on record.

Brush Beats Rag.

A good washing solution may be made by dissolving about a level tablespoon of washing powder in a gallon of water that is as hot as the hands can bear. The solution should be strong enough to remove all grease from the separator parts. A brush should be used; never a wash rag, the brush being much easier to keep clean than a rag. Then all parts are plugged into boiling water or scalded with it and hung up to dry, preferably in the open air away from dirt, odors and insects.

The rubber ring that is part of the bowl should be washed in warm water only and laid on a table to dry in order to prevent it from stretching. Nor should it be stretched in wiping because pulling it may make the ring too large for the bowl.

brought in in 1901, and is still producing. The cane sugar industry produces $35,000,000 annually and employs 200,000 persons.

The answer to where the money used by the government in creating a debt of forty three billion dollars spent is to be found in the south. On their three thousand mile trip through the south they found the answer. Everywhere they went they saw roads, schools, drainage canals and other government constructed projects that have put the south on top of the world.

At New Orleans there are 7 miles of steel and cement docks along the river. There were 18 foreign ships loading and unloading at one time. One vessel unloaded 63,000 bags of coffee from Brazil. Another unloaded 50,000 bunches of bananas. Two hundred and forty eight ships used this port during the month of December, handling 425,000 tons of cargo.

The south is very much "in the money," capitalizing on natural resources, and is fast becoming the financial center of the world. What effect the draining of thousands of acres of our southland will have on the country remains to be seen. The Southerner's attitude toward the north has changed much in the past few years. They like the "compl" of the north and say it encourages their people to larger and better ideals in business and socially.

September and October would have been a much better time to see the south, but those three weeks were a good time to be away from Nebraska, according to Bud.

Burwell Pioneer Passes Saturday

While serenely sleeping, Robert Hesselgesser, 85 year old father of Mrs. Fay Livermore and Mrs. James Harford, passed away Saturday morning. His death came as a shock to his family and friends for although he has been in poor health ever since he suffered a stroke in August of 1937 no one was aware that the end was at hand.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Goodell of Lebanon, Kan., and Rev. J. Bruce Wylie in the Christian church at Burwell. The mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Russell Mitchell, William Easterton and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Grankemeyer with Mrs. W. L. McMullen at the piano furnished the music. The pall bearers were John Beynon, W. L. McMullen, W. G. Hemmett, Will Anderson, Robert Draver and Thomas Banks, all being the sons of Mr. Hesselgesser's old friends. Interment was made in the Burwell cemetery.

Mr. Hesselgesser was born in Butler county, Pa., Dec. 23, 1854, where he spent the early years of his life. He was graduated from the Iron City college of Pittsburg and taught several terms of school. August 8, 1878 he was married to Emma Jane McGinnis and soon afterwards they came to Nebraska settling in Fillmore county. Later Mr. and Mrs. Hesselgesser moved to Loup county where with his brothers, Sam and John, he homesteaded near Valley View. The Hesselgessers played an active part in the early history of Loup county and the numerous descend-

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Anacortes, Wash. To the Editor of the Quiz: We had the pleasure to read the many letters in the last week edition of the Quiz and thought we might write one that would interest the readers. We have lived here in Anacortes for nine years and certainly do like it. Will tell you a few things of our city. It has a population of 6,452 at last census, but will go over 7,000 now. It has quite a few industries. In fact the town is supported almost wholly from these industries. There are five fish canneries that operate from four to five months every year. There are two saw mills running now, one with a night shift going also. One saw mill burned two years ago and just started rebuilding last month. Should be operating in about four months. There are four shingle mills but all are down at the present on account of Canadian shingles being shipped in. One shingle mill burned last summer and is almost rebuilt now. It will be one of the most modern mills on the coast. We also have a pulp mill which runs 24 hours a day. About 3 months ago a Vencer plant got under operation. It is a cooperative concern, inc., for $500,000. Anacortes has one of the best harbors on the coast for shipping. Another new warehouse is to be constructed, starting next month, costing $20,000. There are quite a few men who go to Alaska fishing every summer. There are also a lot of small farming. Despite all these payrolls there are a lot of people on WPA. The climate here is very nice. Have had no snow yet this winter and has only froze a little a couple of times. There are quite a number of people here from around North Loup and Scotia: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kimball and family; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Messersmith; Mr. and Mrs. Buck Keown and son Mickey; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Toogood and son; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Portis and family; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Holiday and family live about 30 miles from here.

All of our children are married now and live here in Anacortes. Hoping you have lots of rain and a prosperous year, we remain, The William Gross Family

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

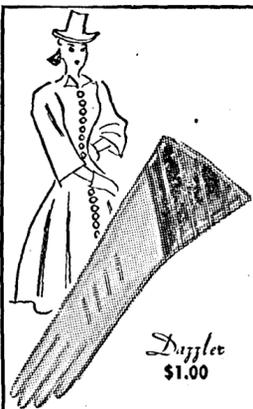

Spring is nearly here, and a few garden plants may be started indoors soon for early transplanting. Early gardens are best. The agriculture students usually sow some tomato seed in window boxes around March first. We have grown mainly tomatoes of the Bison variety during the past few years. They are early, heavy yielders, and hot winds do not blast their blossoms. Bison seed from North Dakota and Lincoln was compared last summer. We could see no difference between the two strains when planted in alternate rows. Last season we also matched the Allred variety against the Bison. The Allred produced more and better fruit, and was just as early, so we shall include it for 1940. In addition to the Bison and Allred, we plan to get some Ruby tomato seed and several other new recommended varieties next month to use in a more extensive experiment. It is claimed that the Ruby beats them all during hot, dry weather. Another very unusual tomato variety has been tested locally for several years by the Future Farmer boys. It is known as the Farthest North, earliest of all tomatoes. This little plant actually matures fruit in sixty days after seeding. We had ripe tomatoes by the middle of June for three consecutive years; but the tomatoes were no larger than marbles.

Ord Boys' Basketball

Record Is Interesting

According to a record compiled this week by Coach H. F. Brockman, a number of points of interest are brought out about the various members of the Ord basketball squad and how they played. A total of 17 games were played this year, and a total of 16 players saw action in some part of the games. In total number of points made, Hurlbert is first with 127, H. Misko is second with 99, Romans third with 77, Furtak fourth with 66, Tatlow fifth with 58 and E. Piskorski sixth with 48. The record shows that all these played in every game except Hurlbert, who missed one, and Furtak, who played in only nine. On the basis of games played, Hurlbert leads with an average of 8.5 points per game for 15 games; Furtak is second with 7.3 points per game for 9 games; H. Misko is third with 6.2 points per game for 16 games; Romans is fourth with 4.8 points per game for 16 games; Geweke is fifth, with 3.7 points per game for 6 games; Tatlow is sixth with 3.6 points per game for 16 games; and E. Piskorski is seventh with 3 points per game for 16 games. Tatlow leads in total personal fouls for the season with 40; E. Piskorski is second with 38; Hurlbert is third with 29; Romans is fourth with 21; H. Misko is fifth with 19, and Carlsen and Flagg come next with 16 each. Ord's opponents made good on 40% of their foul throws while Ord made good on 47% of theirs. Hurlbert made good on 19 of 33 foul throws, and D. Misko was a close second with 3 out of 5. H. Misko got 21 out of 42 for third place, with E. Piskorski with 12 out of 25, in fourth place.

Barnes and McGrew Shop, Famous 30 Years Ago

This picture is of interest. The Ord Mercantile company was in the Misko building where their sign appears. The Barnes and McGrew shop is the first small building west of it. Next comes Sap's restaurant, and on the corner is Eret Bros., barber shop and music store. The shed to the rear was used by Mazingo, the painter. Note the Bratt dry team tied to the telephone pole. In fact, note the telephone and light poles in the street. They went back to the alleys long ago.

The barber business probably got a start in Ord about as early as any other line of endeavor, but for several reasons the records of the early barbers are hard to find. First, barbering was not on the high plane it now occupies, when a man must have special training to qualify before the state board. Then anybody could barber who had the price of the tools and who had the nerve to try it.

Then, again, the barbers of the early days, as today, did not find it necessary to advertise in the papers, so it is impossible to find out much about them by studying the ads. They found a location, often in a room with some other enterprise, and started up without attracting the attention of the newspaper man, who usually shaved himself and let his hair grow long, after the pattern of Edgar Howard.

The first barber of which there is any proven record is mentioned in the Ord Quiz, edition of March 29, 1888, which contains this notation: "BARBER; G. W. Montgomery, located on Main street, between Will and Valley avenues." This was in the block on M street between 14th and 15th streets, but which side of the street is not stated. At that time this was one of the busiest spots in Ord.

The above picture was obtained through the courtesy of C. E. McGrew, who now runs a shoe shop but who barbered in Ord for a couple of generations. It was taken of the old Barnes and McGrew shop, apparently early in January, 1910, and presents a slight very common in those days. In the main the picture is no different from shops of the present time, the general idea being the same, but the following important differences may be noted:

The light bulbs hanging from the ceiling were of the old carbon filament type, the nitrogen bulb not having come into use. The service was only for stated hours, and might be discontinued on the slightest pretext, consequently it was necessary to have auxiliary lighting, which is furnished by the bracket lamps fastened to the wall beside the mirrors.

The second and most interesting feature of equipment is the individual shaving mugs shown in the racks along the wall. Because of the so-called "barbers' itch" it was customary for each regular customer to have his own mug, which had his name and usually something to indicate his business printed on the side, thus serving the double purpose of identifying the owner, and advertising his business to other customers.

In the racks can be seen more than 40 of these individual cups, each with the owner's name showing to a certain extent, but because of the lighting only a few of the names can be made out. That of E. M. Williams can be clearly seen, and the last names, Gard and Coe, are also readable. They were probably those of D. A. Gard and H. D. Coe. Others who had cups there at the time were Harry Bailey and J. A. Ollis, Jr. The name of McNair also appears. Of interest is the sale bill stuck up beside the front mirror. It reads: "Sale now going on, Mortensen Building, first floor east of Dr. Newbecker's office, across the street from the Bell Telephone company's office. Chicago Cloak and Garment company." This locates the sale in the building now owned and occupied by A. J. Wise. Dr. Newbecker's office was just west of it at the time, and the telephone office was across the street in the Marks building, upstairs. C. E. McGrew did his first barbering in Ord in 1888, in a shop in the McCord hotel, about where the Michalek Liquor store is now located. He was there

After a time Frank Howard bought in with George Eret, and the firm of Howard and Eret cut hair there until Eret moved south, when Orcutt bought out Eret's interest, and the name became Orcutt and Howard. After Howard's death Orcutt moved to the Haskell building on the south side of the square.

This gives a fairly accurate picture of the barber business in Ord for the first decade of the 20th century. Of course many barbers came and went in that period of time, and some have been overlooked. But the barbershop of yesterday, which will never be forgotten by the old timers, is brought to the attention of the present generation in this story and the pictures that accompany it.

With the appearance of state regulations the individual mugs disappeared forever from the barber shops. With the arrival of bobbed hair the barber shop lost its glamour as the place for the telling of off-color stories. And when these two changes came the golden age of the barbershop had passed. Like all other businesses, the barbershop of today is just another grad in the struggle for existence.

The hardest blow to the barbering business came with the development of the safety razor. It is safe to say that this invention cut the barbering business in half. Men still get their hair cut, for that is one thing they cannot do for themselves, but today a great majority of men shave themselves. The barber shop of old is gone, never to return.

To the Voters of the City of Ord:

A Statement from Mayor M. B. Cummins As to Policies of His Administration

Due to many questions that have been asked me, and many rumors that are being circulated around the city, I am giving this brief summary of the transactions of the administration for the past two years.

The first problem was the purchase of the engine, which cost approximately $23,000.00. Under the conditions of that time the city records show that the Mayor did not approve, but it was passed by unanimous vote of the Council.

The next problem was the grading of city streets complete, and this was done at a cost of about $3,500.00. This included not only the grading but the filling in with dirt, which cost approximately as much as the grading. The grading of these streets and the filling was under the direct supervision of your present street commissioner, Len Covert, with the assistance of Joe Rohla who is chairman of that division. I think Len did an exceptionally fine job, and I have had many compliments upon his efficient work.

The next problem was installation of a testing station. I took the stand that this station should not be installed until it was made compulsory over the state, as it would take an investment of approximately $3,000.00 for the purchase and its operation for the first year. This stand was approved by the Council.

Then, we were approached by the irrigation district to put the lateral through the city park. After a consultation with the Park Board, many business men, and W. P. A. which offered to complete this project at an estimated cost to the City of about $1,000.00, this was also approved by the Council, and when the project was completed, it cost the City an actual expenditure of cash according to George Allen, Jr.'s, figures of $487.00. I personally believe that this was a good investment for the City, because the benefits of it cannot be estimated in any short period of time.

The next problem was the agreement that had been signed by a previous Council to take power from the irrigation district for a period of 30 years. After a thorough investigation of this problem, a consultation by myself and five different attorneys, and several discussions and meetings of the Council, I was convinced that this agreement entered into was illegal, and that the Council had no authority to make such an agreement for any such period of time, as, this meant ceasing to operate the municipal light plant of this City, which power plant was purchased with funds from the sale of bonds duly authorized at an election, by the voters of this City. And, the same body that established and created those funds and that power plant, is the same body that had the power to cease its operations. However, our Council and myself were perfectly willing to try the power service of the irrigation district which we did for a period of five months. During that period, the service was so inefficient and the complaints so many, that we ordered our City engineer to cease taking that power and to restart your municipal plant in the manufacture of electrical energy. This Council and Mayor has never refused to assist the irrigation district in a financial way. I think personally that we owe that to the irrigators of this valley, and as long as I am connected with the City administration I shall be glad to negotiate on this basis with the irrigation officials. But, I shall also insist that this municipal plant shall be operated and manufacture electrical energy unless ordered to cease by the vote of the people or a Court Order.

The sixth problem was that of resurfacing the streets due to the wearing off of the coating which had previously been applied. The streets were resurfaced under the direct supervision of George Allen and the cost was $1,311.00 to the City with W. P. A. doing most of the labor. George did mighty good work here, very efficient as has always been his custom in any City job that I have seen him supervise.

The seventh problem was the question of preventing future damage to the sewer system due to drainage in the third ward. This was a project that was taken over by W. P. A., and it only cost the City a little over $200.00 in cash which according to Mr. Allen's statements would have cost over a thousand if we had to pay it alone. And, it was necessary that it be done as flood water might have cost the City heavy damage to its sewer system.

The eighth problem was the athletic field. I had been impressed the first season that I was here in town by the lack of any athletic or recreation facilities in this City. There were conditions existing here that were different, and in which I myself had had no part. And after a thorough investigation, and after being called upon to appear in court, and several consultations with officials I was convinced that there was something lacking in this City. I believe that one of the things that we needed was a recreation and athletic field where not only the youth but all people interested in athletics could go and amuse themselves, and also all people of this trade territory with like inclinations could have the same opportunity. And, with that thought in view, I contacted members of my Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary, Cosmopolitan, and Business and Professional Women, Boy Scouts, and other leaders of Civic organizations in this City to get their opinions as to the purchase of an athletic field which would be centrally located and governed under these conditions. Their expressions were all favorable with the exception of the Boy Scout leader. I think this City has arrived at the crossroads. It will either progress along a conservative line or in the next few years it will cease to be the metropolis of this valley. That progress must be made along the lines of all weather roads, financial institutions, mercantile establishments, courteous treatment and assistance to its trade territory, clean places of amusement, and suitable athletic places for these activities. It is much easier for any City to hold its position in a territory than it is to retain it after it has once been lost.

Taxation in a city is always one thing that interests every property owner and tax payer. The taxpayers, and the present City administration, in the last two years have paid off $14,000.00 of city bonds, according to the county treasurer's report. The City had $34,000.00 of bonds which were coming due November and December 1, 1940 which have drawn 6% interest. Your present administration has drawn up an agreement with the two banks of this City and they have agreed to refinance $70,000.00 of these bonds at a rate of 3% for the first ten years and 3 1/2% on the balance of the principal that will be left the last five years. That will make the City pay off so much every year of its obligations. This will leave $14,000.00 which this administration has obligated the next administration to take out of its cash and security fund which amounts to about $47,000.00. This will leave the City a cash and security account if taken out today of about $32,000.00. In order to meet these financial obligations as they come due, under the present plan and the present valuation I think that the tax would have to be raised from $1.25 to $2.00 on each thousand. Our present Council and myself believe it better to make that small increase and pay off this debt including principle and interest than to do as has been done in the past several years by just getting enough to pay interest alone which has amounted to more than the original principle of the bonds.

When I accepted this office, I promised the people of this City that I would look after the City's interests and I believe that I have fulfilled that promise. I know that I have made some mistakes but I made my appointments on the police force, for instance, of individuals who I thought would fulfill the policy of this administration. I went to thank those officers for their splendid cooperation. I have never had one complaint that any officer during my administration treated anyone discourteously. To me any officer to be efficient must first learn to obey the law himself. I know that these men have tried to do that. The traffic in our City is one of the slowest and well regulated of any City of its size in this patrol district, according to a statement made to me by Patrolman Zink.

The caucuses will be held Feb. 23 of this year. Due to a change by the legislature, you people have the opportunity of expressing whether you approve the program of the past administration or not by choosing your candidates at the future caucus. If you do not it would be a mistake to continue the present administration in office. As for myself I would follow the same policy, conservative in expenditures, demanding efficiency in all departments and courteous treatment to every citizen who comes into our trade territory, and realizing that the Mayor's opinions are only put into effect as long as they coincide with the majority of the Council.

It is an acknowledged fact that caucuses do not always express the will of the voters, but I am urging every voter that possibly can, to attend the same and express their opinion that way, as it is a privilege of the American people. And if you feel that any candidate or mayor would serve you better, then I want to express my appreciation for being allowed to serve as Mayor the past term, and will gladly retire into the sphere of a private citizen and a business man in your midst, always ready to assist and boost our home town, its interest and our trade territory.

Respectfully,
M. B. CUMMINS, Mayor

BURWELL

A number of relatives and friends gathered at the R. R. Nightengale home Sunday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don Cain and family, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ashman and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Ballard and son, Charles Ashman and Floyd Matern. A bountiful dinner was served at noon and the evening lunch was served cafeteria style. Mr. and Mrs. John Pokorney and Vlasta, James Alderman and Ed Pokorney joined the group in the evening.

Delegates of the Pentecostal churches of central Nebraska will gather at the Full Gospel Tabernacle in Burwell Thursday for a fellowship meeting. Rev. and Mrs. Reed, formerly of Burwell but now of McCook, will attend this meeting. Rev. Reed is assistant superintendent of this district. R. S. Barnes of Milford, secretary and treasurer of the state organization will also be present.

Sunday will be the last time that Rev. B. C. Heinze will conduct services in the Full Gospel Tabernacle prior to his removal to Fergus Falls, Minn., where he has accepted a call. In the morning Rev. Heinze will deliver a special farewell message to the members of his congregation. In the evening the request song service will be a special feature. Mrs. Heinze will sing the songs suggested by the congregation, which will be especially pleasing to the many people who have greatly enjoyed hearing them sing.

A leap year, mix up dance will be held Feb. 23 in the Lariatto ballroom for which Dick Mills orchestra will furnish the music. Everyone attending is assured of a good time according to the plans made by R. B. Grunke-meyer. Opportunity for both men and women to select dance partners will be given and several novel entertainment ideas will be tried.

Mrs. R. H. Douglas entertained the P. E. O. sisterhood at her home Monday evening.

The contents of the Garfield county political pot is starting to warm up and within a short time the boiling point should be reached as all filings must be made by the 29th of this month. To date five persons have made known their aspirations for public office by paying the five dollar fee to County Clerk Green. The most sought after office is that of the county commissioner of the third district which comprises the east end of Garfield county. Three persons have filed for this office. On the Democratic ticket L. E. Bodyfield, the incumbent who was appointed two years ago following the death of Victor Johns who was elected but who died before he took office, and D. J. Guggenmos. Mrs. Victor Johns has filed on the Republican ticket for the office to which her husband was elected and did not live to fill.

County Judge B. A. Rose has filed for reelection and Herman Grunke-meyer has filed for reelection for a place on the board of directors of the North Loup Valley Power and Irrigation District. George Tunnell who has long been on the public payroll has filed for election to the office of county treasurer on the Republican ticket. Mr. Tunnell was appointed to this office two years ago following the resignation of John Beynon. Several other persons have announced their intentions of filing for this office but so far none have paid the five dollar fee.

The latest candidate for office is John Penas who filed on the Democratic ticket Tuesday afternoon for the job of county commissioner in the first district, comprising Burwell and Rockford and Willow Springs precincts. F. J. Grunke-meyer is the incumbent.

Mrs. Mabel Smith entertained the Junior Matrons club at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. L. B. Fenner went to North Platte Friday with her niece, Mrs. Klinginger and husband, whose guest she will be for a week.

R. H. Douglas, extension agent, has rejected an offer for a similar job at Norfolk, intending to remain in Burwell another year if sufficient funds are raised to continue the work of the farm bureau. A campaign for members was launched at the Farmers-Businessmen's get-together Wednesday. Loup county has raised its quota of members and the drive in Wheeler county was meeting with success but Garfield county was lagging behind.

One hundred and fifty people attended the meeting in Burwell Friday. Dr. Smith, Frank Malcky and Miss Gladys Miller were the local speakers on the program. El. B. Caterson of Ainsworth, farmer extension supervisor and Dan Scott of Atkinson explained the government program to the farmers and businessmen. Roy Nightengale and his swing band furnished the music during the noon hour.

The operetta "Green Cheese" was capably presented in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening by the boys and girls glee clubs under the direction of M. H. Struve. Marietta Udell, Vivian Fredericks, Gerald Hald, Billy Udell, James Hahn and Gerald Bishop had the leading parts.

Farm Oddities

Radio Commentator on The Farmers' Forum

SOMETIMES a man brings home the wrong bacon. At least that is what happened to Earl Carlson, a farmer near Blencoe, Iowa. He had been experiencing difficulty in getting his hogs across the highway. When Carlson discovered three porkers had been killed by a hit and run driver, he called a butcher to dress the animals and telephoned a refrigerator plant to reserve space in a cooling room. Then it developed that a neighboring farmer questioned Mr. Carlson about three missing hogs. Carlson counted noses again and discovered that all of his porkers were present. So he delivered the neighbor, not pigs but pork.

Strange things happen on a farm, and here's one for the cooks. Mrs. Albert Ottjes of near Mitchell, Nebraska, has a chicken that for two years laid eggs. Then the chicken started to grow a rooster's comb and wattles. Now the fowl struts and crows like a rooster, but, shades of something or other, the tail is like a hen's. No more does the fowl with the strange physical attributes lay eggs.

Mrs. Ottjes has been puzzled for some time. She would like to know whether she has a hen, a rooster, or a whatsit. No doubt it is the latter.

Recreation Projects To Open This Month

Recreation projects will open this month at Greeley and Spalding according to the area director, A. J. Cochran. The Scotia project has been so successful and has attracted so much interest locally that the state office has chosen to make a motion picture at the center on next Wednesday, Feb. 23.

The most popular activity there is the old-fashioned barn dance, which is held every other Wednesday, and of which the picture will be taken. The group furnishes its own music and they take turns playing and dancing. Plans are going forward for the program in Ord, of which announcement will be made later. The Ord office has the OK from the state office to put a non-certified person in charge of the activities here, and that person will be selected from the Ord territory.

Infant Buried Today. Funeral services for the still-born son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Svoboda are being held this afternoon from the Ord Catholic church at 2 p. m., arrangements in charge of Frazier's. Burial will be made in the Ord Catholic cemetery.

Ord Boy Learning Blacksmith Trade, Typing, And Other Trades While Member of CCC Camp

Eldon E. Vavra, shown in the photo at right along with some handsome deer horn and steel knives which he made, is a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps and is stationed at Bluebell, S. D. He was home on a furlough last September after having been in the CCC since Jan. 6, 1933. Unlike many of the boys who are appointed to the Corps, Eldon is using his experience there as a stepping stone to a life-long trade. In October he was named assistant blacksmith and takes to that work "as a duck takes to water." The two deerhorn knives and the deerhorn sheath shown in the photo were made by Eldon in his spare time. He recently sold one of the knives for $2.50. But blacksmithing isn't the only work he is mastering while in the CCC. He is studying typing and already is a fair typist. He has enrolled in courses in several other subjects that may prove useful to him in later life and is doing his best to enhance his education while the opportunity presents. Eldon has a natural knack for writing and some of the poems he has written on life in the CCC are very interesting. One, in particular, starts: "Far from my home they sent me, Thousands of miles away To a CCC camp near our western shores, To live a life in the great outdoors, To have some fun, and do some chores And earn a monthly pay. After telling about his experiences in the camps where he has been stationed, and the things he likes about them, Eldon finishes the poem: "So I'm thankful to the CCC, I appreciate all I've known, I'm thankful for my clothes and shoes, The healthful air and the western views, I even thrived on the salads and stews But I'll like them more when I'm home." As a matter of fact they knew far more about helping mother and doing a good job of it than did any of the girls in the neighborhood. Probably because they usually had to stay indoors and work while the rest of us romped. And that includes myself. —Irma.

Something Different

I am not working for the Singer Sewing machine people, but I do envy those women who buy one and then get to take that free sewing course of theirs. All the new-sew shortcuts are taught, and many tricks that make sewing easier. An Ord girl who has taken advantage of this course is the former Frances Bradt, now Mrs. Soren Jensen of Grand Island. Of course Frances has been exposed to the delights of sewing all of her life, for her mother, Mrs. Archie Bradt, sews beautifully and always kept her three girls nicely dressed. The three little girls have grown up to become Mrs. Loree McMundes of Ord, Mrs. Jensen, and Mrs. John LaCorona of Hastings. Frances is now learning how to make her own paper patterns, one of the classes in adult education offered in Grand Island. Another Ord girl who moved away, far away, and then became a proficient seamstress is the former Catherine Blessing, now Mrs. Edwin Clements of Ontario, Calif. Catherine was the willing student of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Alan Clements. Catherine has learned to sew very nicely, and has even tackled such things as coats successfully since acquiring her new knowledge. The Edwin Clements, Mr. and Mrs., will reach Ord within a few days, coming east with Judge and Mrs. Clements for a visit. All about us are people with unsuspected pasts, or perhaps I should say unsuspected abilities. I was talking with Mrs. Warren Lincoln about raising boys to be some help to the housewife and mother. I said I thought boys should have little tasks to do about the home the same as small girls would be given. I did not think it would cause boys to suffer any lasting injury if they were brought up to be familiar with the chores Mother does, even to assist her with the housework. Mrs. Lincoln agreed with me, and then went on to tell that "Warren's mother had five boys, and every one of them had to learn to do the household tasks, even to baking the bread." And she quoted her husband as saying: "Imagine these big hands of mine in the bread dough, kneading it down. But I had to do it, for Mother would sit beside me and direct operations, and I never had a chance to shirk that job. And it had to be done well, too." I grew up next door to a Swedish family consisting of father, mother and two boys. And they surely became adept at all household and domestic tasks. They helped clean, and they helped wash, and yes, with the ironing too. And their mother taught them to bake elaborate cakes and make beds, everything in fact.

Cow Executed Before Big Burwell Crowd

A crowd, probably the largest one ever assembled to witness the execution of a cow, was on hand Thursday evening in the school house to see the butchering demonstration arranged by George West for his agricultural class in the adult educational school.

Mr. West arranged long rows of chairs to accommodate the spectators. The men filed into the room and were seated. The heifer was brought into the room and securely tied. F. J. Grunkemeyer officiated as master of ceremonies.

Bill picked up the axe and with a deft blow on the head soon laid poor bossy low. 'Now all of you fellows who want to see just how this sticking is done come up and watch,' invited Mr. Grunkemeyer.

Those who were not fortunate enough to get on the first row were crowded back and unable to see much but they heard a gurgling sound which they discovered was made by blood gushing from the unfortunate animal's throat.

D. T. Price (the janitor) came in shaking his head. Everyone was glad Thomas Cain was not present to see what a dirty mess these naughty men were making in his nice new school house.

MEDICAL FACTS

Sponsored by 4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

Last week we began the quotation of a pamphlet entitled "Priceless Heritage—Security—Health," issued by "The National Physicians Committee for the Extension of Medical Service." We continue this quotation in this week's "Medical Facts."

"This priceless right—this most potent of all forces—was given to the American people by the Constitution. Prior to its adoption governments—less governments—to a greater or lesser degree—controlled the thinking of men.

"There are two kinds of government: (1) Governments that are amenable to and that fear the people. These governments are creatures of the people. (2) Governments which dominate the people and which the people fear. These people are creatures of their government.

"For the first time in the history of the world, the American Constitution established a government subject to the will of the people. It removed fear from the hearts of men. It freed men's minds. Men began to imagine limitlessly, to strive and to achieve. Self-reliance was born. The only true security in the absence of fear.

"For the first time in the history of the world—security became a reality.

"The greatest of all blessings is HEALTH. This priceless gift operating in the field of medicine wrought its greatest miracles. Free men, with fearless minds, founded medical schools and colleges and established laboratories for study and research. There was ceaseless probing and searching into the unknown for the purpose of conquering disease. They continued to improve institutions of learning, hospitals and laboratories. They progressively provided a higher and higher quality of medical service to the people. What it accomplishes is more important than what is said about it. The final result speaks for itself.

"In the short period of one hundred and fifty years, in the United States, the number of years a man will live has been nearly doubled. The life expectancy of man was thirty-five years. It is now sixty-two years. During this period, typhoid fever has well-nigh disappeared; smallpox has been robbed of its terror; diphtheria has been conquered; pernicious anemia, tuberculosis, diabetes and a score of lesser ailments have been brought under control. American Medicine gave to the United States in the calendar year of 1933 the most favorable health record of its one hundred and fifty years' history. It resulted—in 1933—in the highest general level of health and the lowest death rate ever known in the United States, or for any comparable number of people anywhere in the world.

"So vast are the implications of these facts, that almost they defy comprehension. Their importance is vital. Their meaning must be made clear. It is essential that the 'causes' be fully known. They can only be understood on the basis of comparison."

Next week this quotation of the above mentioned pamphlet will be concluded. This concluding section will point out the deplorable decline in health conditions in a country where compulsory regimentation of health agencies has been in practice for many years.

—Hilding Pearson received a card from Charles Sternecker, who was in Kansas City, Kas., at the time the card was sent. He did not plan to go further south at this time.

Now NEW PHILLIPS 66 gives amazing EXTRA ANTI-KNOCK WITHOUT EXTRA COST

HOW fast will your motor start in below-zero weather?

You may never know until you try a tankful of NEW Phillips 66 Poly Gas . . . because this sensational winter gasoline is way out in front for starting icy motors with amazing speed.

This is why. The one quality in gasoline, above all others, upon which speed of starting depends is volatility (or high test). Accurate laboratory research proves that you get more volatility per dollar in Phillips 66 than in any other gasoline.

This extra volatility, so important for fast starting, costs you nothing extra . . . because Phillips is the WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of natural high test gasoline. And you get extra anti-knock, too, without extra cost. The octane rating of NEW Phillips 66 is so high that it practically gives premium anti-knock performance.

Try a tankful. You won't have to fight the choke or baby the clutch. You will get instant starting every time your toe taps the button. You will quickly feel that dramatic difference which has won for Phillips 66 the ever-increasing patronage of millions of economy-minded motorists.

APPROVING A 'NEW CONCEPT'

These statements by the Liquor Control Commission and the Press should interest Nebraskans

W. W. CARMICHAEL, Chairman

Nebraska Liquor Control Commission

" . . . in reviewing the last year's work and taking note of the forces working for the better observance of the law governing the distribution and consumption of liquor, we would be negligent, indeed, if we failed to express to you our appreciation of the work your organization has done.

"Your very great interest, sound judgment and untiring effort in attempting to raise the level of existing operations of licensees is well known to this Commission."

THE PRESS . . .

North Platte Bulletin

"As an example of an industry which by its nature is likely to be subjected to abuse from within or from without, Nebraska's beer industry still sets the pace for the country . . . also the industry has now become a vital factor in the state's economy. It pays heavy taxes, it polices its own constituents and it tries its best to do a job respectably and well."

Omaha World-Herald

"Much of the work of this organization is of a kind that the public does not see. It consists of friendly hints and suggestions to beer retailers which usually meet with ready compliance. In stubborn cases where it appears that the strong arm of the law only will suffice, the Commission lends its assistance to secure convictions and suspension or revocation of licenses.

"This is indeed a 'new concept' of responsibility by a part at least of the liquor industry. If consistently followed it should produce still better results in the future."

The Norfolk Daily News

"The Commission has lately been active in the Omaha drive to rid the city of the 'dime-drink' and nuisance and has been working behind the scenes to advise and warn beer retailers as to their practices in conforming with the law. Mr. Sandall, in his address to the lawyers at Omaha, said he believed that the Commission was performing the purpose for which it was established and that a better observance of the law by beer licensees will result."

We are grateful for expressions like these. We are going forward in 1940 with renewed determination in behalf of our industry self-regulation program based on this "new concept" of responsibility.

James Misko, 76, Dies Friday After a Short Illness

Banker-Farm Owner Had Been Ord Resident 50 Years; Death Great Shock.

James Misko, 76, one of Ord's most highly esteemed residents and for almost a half century a dominant figure in the civic and business life of this city, is dead. His death occurred early Friday morning, Febr. 23, at his home and a heart ailment was the immediate cause, with a malignant tumor of the abdomen as the principal contributing factor. He was taken ill shortly before Christmas and in spite of the best medical treatment possible in Ord and Lincoln he became steadily weaker, passing away between midnight and morning Friday.

JAMES MISKO.

At 2:00 p. m. Monday the memorial service was held at the Methodist church, with Rev. E. H. Maynard, of Gothenburg, in charge. Fully 600 of Mr. Misko's friends and admirers, not only from Ord but from all the communities around crowded the church to capacity and heard Mr. Maynard's splendid tribute to a man who contributed greatly to this city's development.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Mark Tolén, Mrs. E. O. Carlsson, Dr. F. L. Blessing and J. R. Stoltz, sang songs loved by Mr. Misko. The whole front of the church was packed with floral offerings sent by individuals, organizations and business establishments who knew and loved Mr. Misko in life. Pallbearers were Dr. J. W. McGinnis, Gould Flagg, Frank Koupal, C. J. Mortensen, Fred Coak and L. D. Milliken. The Pearson-Anderson Mortuary had general charge of arrangements.

Born in humble surroundings, James Misko achieved true greatness during his life-span of 76 years.

Big Egg Season Here, Kovarik Brings First

First big egg of the season to be brought to the Quiz office for entry in annual "big egg contest" was laid by one of the White Leghorn hens in Frank Kovarik's flock. It weighed 3 1/2 ounces, was 3 1/2 inches around the long way and 6 1/2 inches around the short way. If one of your hens lays an egg bigger than Mr. Kovarik's, bring it in. Prize in the contest, which starts now and ends April 15, will be year's subscription to The Quiz. Pictures of some of the big eggs brought in will be printed later.

Traffic Detoured Off No. 11 Highway

Work on bridges on the Ord-North Loup portion of No. 11 highway was started this week and as a result traffic is being detoured. Travelers to North Loup and other points south and east should take warning that temporary No. 11 goes south over the big hill at the southeast corner of the fair grounds, through Mira Valley and into North Loup on No. 56 highway. The Loup City road south to No. 56 was graveled recently in preparation for this detour, which probably will be in use most of the spring and summer.

First bridge being built is near the McClellan place at the west edge of North Loup. The old narrow bridge is being torn out and will be replaced by a wider and longer one. The Lippincott Construction Co., of Hastings, is doing the work.

Taking Many Pictures. The Quiz Studio, manned by Lavern Duemey and Miss Irene Wellner, has been quite busy this week taking photographs of applicants for the positions of janitor at the Ord postoffice. Each applicant is required to furnish a new photo of himself.

Prize Offered for Best Guess on Ord's Present Population

How many men, women and children live in Ord today?

With the U. S. census due to start in only a month, the question becomes of interest to every resident of this city. To see who is the best unofficial census-taker, The Quiz hereby announces that it will give as a prize to the person who files a correct guess on what the 1940 United States census will show as Ord's official population, either a year's subscription to this family journal or an $x10 tinted enlargement of any photograph, in a handsome folder.

Any man, woman or child is eligible to file a guess, by mail or by calling in person at the Quiz office. All guesses must be registered by March 15 and will be published in our issue of March 20th. The prize will be awarded when U. S. census figures are revealed some time in the summer.

In 1930 Ord's official population was 2,226. Is it greater or smaller today? In filing your estimate of the present population you are invited, if you like, to give reasons for your opinion.

All right, you amateur census-takers, let's get started. Fun for everybody and you may win a prize.

2 Loup Projects Will Be Managed Jointly by James

Joint Operating Agreement Announced by Porter; Cost of Operation Reduced.

Eugene Porter, field representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Saturday announced that a joint operating agreement between the North Loup and Middle Loup power and irrigation districts has been effected and has been approved by directors of both districts.

Effective March 1, H. C. James, general manager and engineer in charge of the Middle Loup, will serve the North Loup district in a similar capacity.

Separate offices for the districts will be maintained at Ord and Arcadia as in the past and Mr. James will divide his time between the two districts.

Employment of Mr. James to manage both districts is only the first step in a program intended to result in material economies, said Porter.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation owns all bonds of both districts and as a matter of conservation of collateral the corporation intends to take an active interest in their management. Reduction in the North Loup district's directorate from 11 to 5 directors is another economy move recently instituted. A similar reduction in number of directors for the Middle Loup project is in the offing also.

Six hundred sample copies of today's Quiz are being mailed, principally to people in counties adjacent to Valley but who often come to Ord and are located in this territory. An invitation to subscribe is extended to all who receive sample copies. Special subscription offers will be found on another page.

H. C. James Speaker At Chamber Meet Thursday

The Ord chamber of commerce will meet Thursday evening at the Masonic hall in a meeting of special interest to irrigators. H. C. James, manager and engineer of the Middle Loup project, and recently chosen as manager of the North Loup district, has been secured by President C. J. Mortensen as speaker of the evening.

All irrigators are urged to be present, and Mr. James will have a message of special value to all water users. Any others who desire to attend are welcome to do so. This will be his first appearance in Ord since taking over the management of the project here, and the chamber would appreciate the courtesy of a large attendance.

Kathryn Romans Dies in Hospital, Funeral Tuesday

Acute Infection Results in Death of Popular North Loup School Teacher.

After an illness of only a week, Mary Kathryn Romans, 23, a popular Valley county school teacher, died Sunday morning in the Ord hospital. Death is said to have resulted from an acute infection.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Romans and the late Claud Romans and was born near North Loup on Aug. 11, 1916. She attended grade school in the Davis Creek community and graduated from Ord high school with the class of 1934. She attended college at Kearney Normal and also at Marysville, Mo., and had taught schools in this part of the state for the past five years, this year at District 1 near North Loup.

Miss Romans is survived by her mother, two sisters, Dorothy and Josephine, and by five brothers, Charles, Jean, John and Clarence, of Ord, and Robert, of Arnold. Her father, two sisters, Mrs. William Vogeler and Mrs. Harold Kealy, and a brother, Nicholas, preceded her in death.

She was a member of the Ord Methodist church and was active in the work of the young people's society and the Epworth League and taught the Semaha class in Sunday school.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Methodist church with Rev. G. C. Robberson conducting and an immense crowd of friends was present, both the upstairs and downstairs auditoriums being filled. Frazier's had charge of arrangements.

Council Oak Store Moves in Single Day, Now Open in New Location

All last week the carpenters and painters were busy on the new Council Oak location in the F. J. Stara building formerly occupied by the J. L. Langer Grocery, and by Sunday everything was ready to move in. The carpenters were Tim Schilling and Wayne Ruble of Sioux City, and John Rohde and Chester Barnes of Ord, and H. A. Stara and Syl Pirtak did the decorating.

Early Sunday managers and personnel from different stores in the territory began to arrive, and soon everybody was busy moving the goods from the old store in the Keown building to the new location. Frank Clark did the hauling with his truck and one gang loaded at the old store and another unloaded at the new store and put the goods on the shelves. Many hands made light work, and everything was done by 3:30 p. m. The photo above shows the big crew at work Sunday.

That evening all who had any part in the work were guests of the head office at a banquet given at Ben's Grill, and a most enjoyable time was had. In attendance from Sioux City were Supts. Bruce, Sprrows and Ginsberg, and Tim Schilling and Wayne Ruble; also managers and crews from the following towns: Atkinson, O'Neill, Neligh, Elgin, Columbus, Genoa; and the Ord group, Frank J. Dubsky, manager, Milton Clement, Dale Sizemore and Wilford Hansen. H. A. Stara, Chet Barnes, Frank Clark and John Rohde were also guests. The new store presents a most

Firemen Lay Plans To Buy Inhalator, Will Ask Support

Lives Could Often Be Saved if Such Machine Could Be Made Available.

The Ord volunteer fire department, at its February meeting discussed the purchase of an inhalator, a machine universally used for the successful resuscitation of victims of carbon monoxide poisoning, gas asphyxia, electric shock, drowning and similar cases involving respiratory failure, and also as a supportive treatment of pneumonia.

About 30 Nebraska cities, including several no larger than Ord, have such equipment, and in each instance it is credited with saving from one to five lives yearly.

The fire department has appointed a committee consisting of Chester Austin, Ed Oetken and Vernon Anderson, to investigate cost of an inhalator and recommend ways of raising money for its purchase, and this committee is ready to report.

According to Mr. Austin, an inhalator of the type most generally approved will cost $42.50. The fire department does not have sufficient funds to pay the entire cost and the committee is drafting plans for an appeal to civic organizations and individuals to assist in its purchase.

"We have interviewed all doctors of this city and they all agree that an inhalator will be of great value to this and surrounding communities in the saving of lives," Austin states.

It frequently happens that the condition of the patient will not permit manual methods of artificial respiration, such cases being new-born babies, pregnant women, accident cases with fractured ribs and others in weakened condition, doctors say. When respiratory failure develops in such cases death is almost certain, unless an inhalator is available. Since January 1, there have been three cases in Ord alone where an inhalator could have been used to great advantage.

If purchased by the fire department, use of the inhalator would be free of charge to the entire community, Austin emphasizes. The first aid squad of the fire department, and probably every member of the department, would become proficient in its use.

The committee will report its findings to the department at the March meeting and will recommend that a plan be drawn up for the raising of funds to purchase an inhalator.

Round Relected Farm Bureau Head

The Valley county Farm Bureau meeting was held Wednesday at the American Legion hall, with C. C. Dale, county agricultural agent, in charge. There was a fine attendance at both the morning and afternoon sessions, as well as for the lunch at noon.

At the morning business session Don Round of Arcadia was re-elected as president, and E. O. Schudel of North Loup was elected as vice-president. George Clement of Mira Valley was elected to succeed Glo Nelson of Burwell as secretary-treasurer.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Clara Butts of Burwell gave an interesting talk on her trip to Europe last summer. She was one of two Nebraska women to go to the Association of Countrywomen of the World held in London. E. B. Catterson, district extension agent, showed a film on the 1939 pasture-forage-livestock program.

Ord Junior Hi Loses to Loup City Saturday in Tourney Semi-Finals; Burwell Team Champs

The rabbit's feet carried by several members of the Burwell Junior High basketball team apparently enabled them to win the championship trophy at the Loup Valley tournament held in Burwell Wednesday and Saturday. Loup City won the award given to the runner-up and Taylor took home the consolation prize.

Burwell won the final game over Loup City Saturday night by a score of 24 to 12. The Longhorns were bound and determined to keep the golden championship trophy in Burwell and the Loup City team which made a splendid showing up to the last game were flung by the cheers of enthusiastic townspeople rooting for the Burwell youngsters.

Ord was eliminated from the tournament Saturday afternoon when they lost a game to Loup City by a score of 12 to 15. The Chanticleers never had an opportunity to play the Burwell team. Ord's first game was with Ericson which was won by a score of 23 to 1, and next they played Taylor, winning 31 to 16.

Burwell's first game was with Sargent, who made the best showing against the Longhorns, holding them to a 16 to 12 score. St. Paul was Burwell's next victim being defeated to the tune of 25 to 13. Loup City's first game was with North Loup which was the most lopsided one in the meet, Loup City piling up 35 points while North Loup scored a lone free throw.

The Arcadia team furnished the upset of the meet. Defeated in her first game with St. Paul 12 to 8, she took Constock 17 to 7 in the second game. Saturday night she played Ord in the most thrilling game of the tournament, being nosed out of victory by one point. The score was 19 to 20 with Arcadia gaining rapidly when the whistle blew. To win the consolation Taylor defeated Sargent by a score of 16 to 12 after beating Ericson 22 to 4. Sargent, who had the smallest team competing, beat North Loup 12 to 11.

Burwell made 89 points while her opponents made 35 points. Fifteen of these points were made on free throws and twenty on field goals. In the final game four of Burwell's players were taken out on account of fouls.

Interest High in Caucuses Tonight

Big attendance is predicted for the annual city caucuses which will be held this evening at the American Legion hall. With the positions of mayor, three councilmen, several city officials and two school board members to be filled, interest appears to be running high. The Citizens party will meet upstairs and the Good Government party downstairs. Both meetings start at 3:00.

Epworth League Meet Was Largely Attended

The Annual institute of the Epworth League was held in Ord Friday, and drew an attendance of nearly one hundred from all parts of the district. The churches included in this district are of Scotia, North Loup, Ericson, Loup City, Ord, Burwell and Arcadia.

Rev. C. T. Hawes of Loup City served as dean, and Rev. F. E. Ploutz, superintendent of the Hastings district, and Rev. F. C. Mills, superintendent of the Kearney district were guest speakers. Miss Phyllis Reed of Loup City was toastmistress in the evening. Rev. G. C. Robberson of Ord was manager of the institute.

Paving Streets of Burwell Discussed by Wranglers Club

Heavy Snows Left Streets Muddy and Rutty; Interest High in Proposition.

Burwell—(Special)—Paving the streets of this village was the subject discussed by the Wranglers club Monday evening at the Hallock hotel and though few of the business men have committed themselves as favoring the project until more information is obtained, they eagerly questioned the speakers Monday and appeared favorably impressed with the possibility of thus modernizing Burwell.

Enil Lindquist and Harold Shannon, representatives of the Peter Kiewit Co., of Omaha, explained the various types of paving, their costs and advantages.

According to these men a 4-inch blacktop oil mat paving can be constructed for about 94c per square yard. Concrete paving, they said, would cost $2.25 to $2.50 per square yard.

The heavy snows this winter have left streets in the business district and elsewhere muddy and rutty and the need for permanent surfacing is more apparent now than it has been for many years.

4 Candidates for Dist. 4 Supervisor

Supervisor Dist. No. 4 will be the principal battleground at the Valley county primary for no less than four candidates have filed for the republican nomination while Ellisworth Ball, present incumbent, is the lone democrat candidate to date.

Republicans who seek the office are Joe Rysavy, Frank Zabloull, C. E. Goodhand and Joe Rohla. The district takes in the second and third wards of Ord city.

Competition developed for John L. Anderson also when Frank T. Johnson made his filing for the office of county judge on the non-political ballot. Mr. Johnson was a candidate for the office in 1922, when he ran against J. H. Hollingshead and was defeated by a vote of 1717 to 1715, although he carried ten of the eighteen voting precincts.

Another new candidate is Joseph Suchanek, who filed for nomination on the democratic ticket from supervisor district No. 2. Mr. Suchanek is the present incumbent. Candidates have until tomorrow to file and next week a complete list of all local candidates will be printed.

C. C. Dale Addressed Cosmopolitan Club

C. C. Dale was guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of the Ord Cosmopolitan club at the City Cafe. He was introduced by Jim Gilbert, who had charge of the program for the evening, and talked for some time on the subject of hybrid corn, which he thinks will mean a great deal to irrigation farmers in the valley. It was a most interesting subject, and the members asked a number of questions.

Preceding Mr. Dale's talk Ed Gnaster reported progress on the soap box derby proposition, and said that considerable interest was being shown. Arrangements will be made for the taking of a group picture within the next two weeks. Dr. J. G. Kruml gave a talk on the trip that he and Mrs. Kruml recently made to Rochester, Minn., and to Des Moines.

New Firemen Officials.

The Ord fire department at its February meeting elected Chester Austin president to succeed George Anderson, reelected Mark Tolén secretary-treasurer and Cecil Clark chief.

Councilmen Vote Unanimously Not to Buy Power

RFC Man Porter Says No Loan to District Unless Ord Goes Back on Highline.

The Ord city council met in special session at the Council room Wednesday evening for the purpose of listening to a proposal by Eugene T. Porter, field representative of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for ironing out the dispute over the question of the city buying power from the North Loup irrigation district.

Mr. Porter's proposal, which he had talked over during the day with the mayor, city attorney and members of the council separately, was that the city go back on the high line on a month-to-month basis, until such time as a fair and adequate rate of cost to the city could be worked out. At conclusion of the meeting, councilmen voted unanimously not to go back on the high-line under the conditions proposed.

He first went over the history of the North Loup district from the beginning in brief summary, for the purpose of ascertaining whether he had the facts, and showed that his general idea of the situation was correct. He made the statement that the present financial status of the district is such that without additional funds it will be insolvent within thirty days.

Mr. Porter believes that the R. F. C. would approve an additional loan to the district if Ord goes back on the high-line under the setup he suggested, and that this loan would tide them over until such time as the revenues would equal or exceed the cost of maintenance. He stated flatly that he would not approve a further loan under any other conditions.

With reference to the difference in the handling of the Middle Loup and North Loup districts, wherein none of the towns in the Middle Loup had been required to take power through the district, he stated that the cost of the North Loup district was approximately half more than the Middle Loup.

THOUGHTS OF FIRST ROBIN.

Spring is just around the corner, and the fellow who saw the first robin is again abroad in the land. The fact that the robin spends the winter right in your town has nothing to do with it.

But of course all robins do not spend the winter in the north, and it might be of interest to know what the first robin thinks upon his arrival in his summer home. Perhaps he doesn't think, but we might imagine he does, just to get a bird's eye view of the situation. You know, it sometimes pays us to get the other fellow's point of view.

His thoughts this spring should be of interest. He will probably come from part of the south where the snow was heaped high and ice covered streams and lakes where ice has not been seen for generations. If he does he will not find weather conditions much worse here than they were there, it might give him an idea to winter here next time and save that long trip.

First of all, he may find the tree in which he made his nest last year is dead, for trees are dying by the thousands these days. He may find it difficult to locate a new tree that suits his needs and at the same time is not taken by other birds, for robins like to have the tree all to themselves. He may even decide to move to some other locality that offers a better home.

In this he is almost human, for have not human beings been doing that very thing ever since the old town dead, and the wheels of industry stopped, and we look around for a new home, for, after all, nobody cares to live in a cemetery.

We wonder what the robin thinks when he sees fields uncultivated and ten weeds growing where only one grew before. Perhaps he is not old enough to remember war time, when every vacant lot was planted to provide food to help win the war. After all, perhaps the robin does not waste his time thinking about it at all. He has his work to do and does it without chipping for shorter hours and higher wages. He does his work, knowing that even a sparrow cannot fall without The Master knowing it.

SAVING THE TREES.

A man was heard to remark not long ago that the little fuzzy woodpeckers were simply ruining his box elder trees. He said he didn't like to shoot them, but that he hated to have his trees ruined. That man meant well but he might be likened to the man who objected to a major operation, even when he knew that operation was necessary to save his life.

Of course the woodpeckers are not thinking about doing any good to the trees when they cut those holes in the bark. They are after a nice juicy worm in each case, but unless the worms are eliminated the trees are certain to die. All winter long the little fellows are as busy as can be extracting the worms that would otherwise kill the tree in short order.

If you don't believe they have been busy this winter, examine the ground around the base of almost any box elder tree in town. You will find handfuls of pieces of bark that they had dug up in their quest for a meal. All up and down the trunk of the tree you will notice the small holes they have dug, and from most of them they have pulled a grub worm.

If you have never observed these birds at work you should do so. They have no time for play, but are busy from morning until night, and it never gets too cold for them to work a little each day. They hop about over a tree, with heads cocked at an angle, listening for the faint sound that will tell them where their next meal is coming from. When they find the right spot, they go to work.

Perhaps your trees will die anyway, but if they do, it is not because of what the woodpeckers have done, but in spite of it. These small birds never dig into a sound tree and you can always tell a healthy tree by the fact that the woodpecker is true to tradition. He would rather work an hour getting a grub worm out of a tree than to feed on a grasshopper that could be picked up without trouble.

One of the reasons for the infestation of our fields and gardens by dozens of different insect pests is the fact that there are less than half the birds in the country that there used to be. All birds have a definite purpose in life, and most of them make their living by ridding the country of detrimental insects. The next time you are inclined to think that any bird is a nuisance, think well before you do anything about it.

EDUCATION VS. KNOWLEDGE.

A new organization known as the Educational Policies Commission, has been appointed and have laid down a three point program which they believe is basically necessary for economic recovery and welfare. They are presenting this to the public in the hope that it will be adopted as soon and as completely as possible, firm in the belief that in it lies our only hope of economic salvation.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

The business man who buys advice is usually smarter than the one he buys it from. It is practically impossible, any more, to hire a woman to do housework or a man to work on a farm or odd jobs because the government pays better wages than the average person can afford and better wages than those who get to work, ever earned before in their whole lives.

If the federal government would work as hard to prevent the inheritance of debt as it does to prevent the inheritance of wealth, this would soon be a better country to live in. Mrs. Selon Hanson sends me the following suggestive verse: "Car speeda, train meeta, They greeta Saint Peeta."

About a dozen Valley county people have taken advantage, during the past week, of that splendid offer of this newspaper for a full year for $2 with an 8x10 inch, beautifully tinted enlargement. The enlargement may be of any picture you wish enlarged and tinted and this is a real offer.

There was an irate subscriber in the Quiz office Saturday. No, he wasn't mad at any of us. But he was plenty sore because a couple of neighbors insist on reading the copy of the Quiz he orders and pays for. He says every time one of them is at his place they take his Quiz away and he wonders, if they want it, why in -)!"(-)!"(-)!" they don't subscribe. You know, folks, some wag said one time that there were two things that a man should have of his own and not borrow his neighbor's, a wife and the home newspaper. You borrowers would be surprised if you could hear the cussings I hear you get. Naturally your neighbor hates to refuse you, but there is almost no one who likes to loan his or her copy of the Quiz. Any one can have their own paper for about 2c a week and it is hardly worth making your friends feel edgewise toward you for that.

If old Confucius said half the things that are now being attributed to him, he must have been more talkative than are the women, of whom he said, "Talkers are no good doers."

Every time a good man or a good woman dies a lot of people are especially saddened by the death. This is because they have been especially close friends with the departed. If we are ordinarily human we are always sorry when an acquaintance dies. We are sorry for the relatives and friends who are left to mourn. But the loss is so much sharper when the departed has been the close friend of many years. It is now almost fifty years ago since I came to Ord and met one of the first men, Jim Misko. And the loss on my part is more keenly felt because we seemed to have so many things in common. For twenty-five years or more few days passed that we didn't meet in his place of business or mine. We planned many jokes together; we talked over religious matters; political matters; business matters. And in later years, while his business has taken him along different roads where we didn't meet so often, don't believe we were met on the street that Jim didn't come out smiling and recalling some former prank or tell me some story. And how he would laugh and enjoy the meetings. And I wish he might have lived on in good health for another decade.

But Jim Misko has lived happily for a full lifetime as men's lives are counted, and has still been permitted to stay for a considerable time on borrowed time, as the saying goes. He has been happily married and has reared a wonderful family, none of whom he has ever had to do much worrying about and all of whom are rapidly becoming established in honorable callings and apparently headed for success. And these things, Jim knew and enjoyed knowing. He made a success of his business and doubtless leaves his dependants provided for so that they may be assured of the comforts and luxuries he always provided them during his lifetime. And he approached his transition knowing and doubtless enjoying the knowledge of these facts. So why, under these circumstances, when he could no longer live without intense suffering, should we not be glad, even though we grieve at his going.

I got in bad 25 or 30 times last Wednesday evening because I wouldn't give subscribers a copy of the paper. Many were anxious to have it, they all knew that the carriers would not go on the routes Thursday, and the rush was on. If we could afford to print two or three hundred extra papers at such times we could accommodate them but this is impossible. The week before, with some fifteen new subscribers added during the week, we sold entirely out of papers on the Feb. 14 issue, except our file. Last week we printed fifty more, but when we came to figure up there were close to 25 new ones again, we spotted half a dozen or so, quite a number were ordered, and we found ourselves sold out again. We would gladly give everyone a paper if we could do so.

John Hoff spent some time in the Ord hospital last week with a badly sprained back, a part of which was caused when he slipped and fell on the ice while in Omaha a short time before.

A farewell party was held Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John John and family. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich Janicek of Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Petska and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Nevrlka and son, Mr. and Mrs. John Volf and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Benben, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Radil and family, and Joe, Elmer and Martha Golka. The evening was spent in playing cards. A lunch was served at a late hour. The John John family is moving to a farm east of Ord.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT!

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

I Apologize. I would like to offer here my apology and regret for the piece I wrote and sent last regarding the incidents I mentioned about WPA. It was my error that I did not know there was such a strong undercurrent of feeling among the men, and had I known it, that piece never would have been written by me. I have endeavored for a long time to stay away from these problems where the sentiment runs high. Here is once I surely failed.

It simply goes to show how a person will get fooled once in a while. I was told those incidents, and heard them told a dozen or more times; and told too, by men who were on the spot. In every instance they were told as jokes accompanied with corresponding "he-haws" and "my only hesitation in writing them was that perhaps they might be old stuff and of no interest. However, the land is so full of jokes about the WPA and other such organizations that I thought these would be amusing additions to the already big list of stories.

After all, in another light, this is public business, supported from the public purse, and anything concerning it, or any person who is fortunate enough to be in charge of it, is bound to get more or less publicity in the papers whether they want it or not. If they cannot take it they better get into their own business. In spite of this, I assume the blame for this affair, for I have tried to stay out of these controversial questions and here I most surely failed.

The paper had no more than been printed than I realized I was in for it. A dozen men spoke about the piece the first day. The third day one person cornered me on the street and among other terrible words, he offered to whip me. For a fact I didn't want to be whipped. I offered to print another piece and correct any statements that were wrong.

"Hell no," he shouted. "You have said too much already. And if I want anything written I'll do it myself or get someone to do it who knows how to write."

Well, that sorta took me down a notch. We were on main street when this occurred. Within a few minutes everyone in town and the countryside knew of the whipping I was going to get. Everyone stood ready to watch the fall thereof. However, that day passed, and another, and I am still sound, but still trembling.

More than that, the word of this last incident had no more than been circulated than a multitude of other men, WPA workers mostly, began to seek me out. "Come here George," they would whisper and lead me behind the corner. "Here's another story you can put in the paper, better than any you had there, but don't tell I told you."

The result was that I have stories enough now, similar to those told week before last, so that the Quiz might print a special WPA edition as far as quantity is concerned.

It has all been highly amusing to the countryside and the city people, but not so funny for me. As I said last week, it is my constant endeavor not to say anything to make enemies. It seems there has been considerable grumbling among the WPA workers here, more about the transportation end than any other, and my piece week before last simply blew the cover off the seething pot.

Again I offer my apology and express my regret for it all, that I got into the mess that really was none of my business, only just as a taxpayer and a friend (or at least try to be) to everyone concerned.

Not Such Bad Men. And mentioning the WPA workers, we should not speak too roughly of them in this country. For the most part these men are victims of misfortune, many of them victims of the misfortune of the weather over which no one has had any control.

There is hardly a one who would not take another job any place if he could get it. There was an opening some time ago in the cheese factory for a boy at $40.00 a month. Several WPA workers begged for that job, at less pay than they were getting on the road. Let the word be known that a farmer wants a hand (the poorest paid help in the county) and that farmer will have a host of applicants before night.

Looking at it from this light, most of these men have been driven to this so called relief work to keep their families from going hungry. Some have operated big farms, worked at good jobs, managed well too, but in a land of droughts like we have had, the best men will lose, and most farmers will go under sure as fate. Another year like the past and we ourselves may be there too.

The bosses of these men have a more difficult time to manage their crews than if they were doing their own hiring and firing. The men are a little resentful and downhearted in the first place. They feel too, they are as smart as the boss, that he only has his job from a little luck and he might be in their shoes had not that luck befallen him. They can see no future to their job, no advancement, and only the reward in sight, to keep from hunger.

As I said, we shouldn't be too rough on these men. They are a part of our people, part of our country, and some of them never had a chance to take much. Just let this organization grow a little

Not Such Bad Men

A Story

Art Babcock tells the story of a revival meeting held a few years ago, as I understood, at a little school house north of Horace. Art was apparently the chauffeur for the minister and the congregation that evening were quite prone to responding at different times with the expressions, "Praise the Lord,"

It happened that they were short of a good organ, and as a consequence called on a lady who was not very expert at the art of music. She struggled along with the piece they were singing, and finally in despair gave up the job, stopped the music, turned to the minister and said she would have to give it up.

"Praise the Lord," praise the Lord," several voices piped up as she walked back to her seat.

This week's "Medical Facts" concludes the quotation of the pamphlet, "Priceless Heritage-Security-Health" by the National Physicians' Committee for the extension of medical services.

"In the December issue of the Readers' Digest, a report is made of health conditions in Germany under the Hitler regimentation. In part, it states:

"Scarlet fever cases in 1933 were 78,830; in 1937, 117,544. Diphtheria cases in 1933 were 77,340; in 1937, 146,733. In Dortmund, 55% of the children have rickets. In Munich, 96.5% of all school children are afflicted. In 1933, 70% of all youth, (both sexes) had splayed, twisted or flat feet. In 1935, the number of young people unable to measure up to physical work standards was 20%; in 1938, 49%. Cases of sickness recorded in Sickness Insurance Bureaus rose 20.3% between 1933 and 1938. Dysentery has increased 300% in six years. 80,000 more people die annually than the average before 1933."

Such is the inevitable result to health when minds are restricted and physicians subjected to political control.

"Centralization of power in government is always dangerous. Encroachment of government on individual rights always—inevitably—retards progress. Every step toward political control of medicine places limitations on its effectiveness. Such encroachments in the field of medical practice are in the truest sense suicidal.

"In the United States there are those who seek to establish political control of medicine and of medical practice. They may actually believe their motives to be entirely altruistic. Their arguments are plausible and alluring. But the accomplishment of this purpose would at first hamper and then progressively break down the morale and the effectiveness of the physicians. The men who are responsible for the physical well-being of one hundred thirty million men and women.

"A persistent campaign covering a period of twenty years has culminated in what has been called, 'The National Health Program' and 'The Wagner National Health Bill.' These must be recognized for what they really are. They are moves toward the establishment of political control. They embody the menace of the step by step process of destruction of the system of medicine and medical practice that has given this nation the highest level of health the world has ever known.

"Encroachment of government in every field of endeavor invariably hampers progress. There is no security in W. P. A.—only provision for the immediate need. The sense of security vanishes in direct ratio to dependence on government and the fear induced by political domination. Encroachment of government in the field of medicine and medical practice can lead only to progressive deterioration. It will lead to a creeping paralysis that will place the health of every individual in jeopardy.

"The American people should demand from all legislators—senators and congressmen—their views on health legislation. They must demand legislation that will add instead of hamper. Support must be given to doctors, dentists, nurses, hospital groups, pharmacists and all interested in extending medical service to every one who needs it. This must be on a basis which will preserve the essential pattern of a free and progressive medical profession.

"This kind of support is essential if the American people are to continue to move forward on the path toward the conquering of disease.

"Whatever else may happen, in the field of medicine the Priceless Heritage must be preserved. Scientists, physicians and those who provide drugs and medicines must be maintained as free men—with fearless minds."

Many Ordites Attended Grand Island Meeting

A meeting of officers and others of the various American Legion and Auxiliary posts was held last week at Grand Island, extending over Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the most important day being Friday. In that time a large delegation of Ord people were in attendance.

Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, department president of the Auxiliary and Mrs. A. A. Wiegardt, president of the 8 et 40, went early, and Mrs. C. H. Wareham, secretary of the 8 et 40 went Friday morning. These ladies of course had a part in putting on the program.

Others in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Russell, A. A. Wiegardt, C. J. Mortensen, Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Severson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Clark, Jim Gilbert, C. D. Wardrop and George A. Mann.

The principal attraction of the meet was National Commander Raymond J. Kelly, who gave the principal talk of the convention Friday evening at the Liederkranz. Mr. Kelly is a speaker of rare ability and had a real message in spite of the fact that his voice was badly worn by the fact that he had been speaking daily for several weeks. He predicted that the membership will be well over the million mark and ahead of 1939.

Major "Bill" Jones, head of the Nebraska program, stated that 32 states will participate in the Boys' State program this year. The idea, which originated in Illinois in 1934 is spreading rapidly. This is the third year for the Nebraska program, and it is estimated that 25,000 boys will be in attendance throughout the country in June.

The Sons of the American Legion a new organization, already has 15 squadrons with a membership of 400, according to H. P. Mattoon, head of the department. Walter Nixon, Kansas City regional director, made an appeal to the convention for continued support of Boy Scout work.

R. C. Patterson, department adjutant, stated that Nebraska is only 300 members short of its 1940 quota and he urged all posts to make a special effort to make up this deficiency as quickly as possible. Mr. Patterson also spoke at a luncheon Friday to the Grand Island Kiwanis club, on the subject, "The Legion Program."

Friday afternoon Mrs. G. E. Chambers, national vice-president of the American Legion Auxiliary urged all members to emphasize love of country and allegiance to the flag. Mrs. Mark Murrill, Boston, national chairman of national defense, told of plans for the national convention to be held in Boston this fall.

—Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Marks and family expect to leave Saturday for Iowa, where they will rent a farm for the coming year not far from Des Moines.

MEDICAL FACTS

Sponsored by 4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

This week's "Medical Facts" concludes the quotation of the pamphlet, "Priceless Heritage-Security-Health" by the National Physicians' Committee for the extension of medical services.

"In the December issue of the Readers' Digest, a report is made of health conditions in Germany under the Hitler regimentation. In part, it states:

"Scarlet fever cases in 1933 were 78,830; in 1937, 117,544. Diphtheria cases in 1933 were 77,340; in 1937, 146,733. In Dortmund, 55% of the children have rickets. In Munich, 96.5% of all school children are afflicted. In 1933, 70% of all youth, (both sexes) had splayed, twisted or flat feet. In 1935, the number of young people unable to measure up to physical work standards was 20%; in 1938, 49%. Cases of sickness recorded in Sickness Insurance Bureaus rose 20.3% between 1933 and 1938. Dysentery has increased 300% in six years. 80,000 more people die annually than the average before 1933."

Such is the inevitable result to health when minds are restricted and physicians subjected to political control.

"Centralization of power in government is always dangerous. Encroachment of government on individual rights always—inevitably—retards progress. Every step toward political control of medicine places limitations on its effectiveness. Such encroachments in the field of medical practice are in the truest sense suicidal.

"In the United States there are those who seek to establish political control of medicine and of medical practice. They may actually believe their motives to be entirely altruistic. Their arguments are plausible and alluring. But the accomplishment of this purpose would at first hamper and then progressively break down the morale and the effectiveness of the physicians. The men who are responsible for the physical well-being of one hundred thirty million men and women.

"A persistent campaign covering a period of twenty years has culminated in what has been called, 'The National Health Program' and 'The Wagner National Health Bill.' These must be recognized for what they really are. They are moves toward the establishment of political control. They embody the menace of the step by step process of destruction of the system of medicine and medical practice that has given this nation the highest level of health the world has ever known.

"Encroachment of government in every field of endeavor invariably hampers progress. There is no security in W. P. A.—only provision for the immediate need. The sense of security vanishes in direct ratio to dependence on government and the fear induced by political domination. Encroachment of government in the field of medicine and medical practice can lead only to progressive deterioration. It will lead to a creeping paralysis that will place the health of every individual in jeopardy.

Burwell Farmer Is Amateur Taxidermist As Photo Proves; Amuses Self by Fooling Hunters

Arthur Mohr, young Garfield county farmer of the Roschill neighborhood, has gone in for taxidermy in a big way. Here he is shown with some of his choicer specimens. In the glass case on Mr. Mohr's right is a pair of ring necked pheasants. In the top of the case on the left is a pair of golden pheasants. Mr. Mohr raises this variety of birds. One night a dog got into his pen and killed this pair. On the second shelf are spoonbill, mallard, and pintail ducks. Grouse and prairie chickens occupy the third shelf. A monkey-faced owl and horned owl roost on the tower shelf. Mr. Mohr is holding a golden eagle which a neighbor caught in a trap and gave to him. He has specimens of bald eagles, various kinds of hawks and owls, a white black bird, a bob cat and several other birds and animals all native to this locality. Some mounted buffalo horns are also shown in this picture. Each bird contained in these cases is framed with a suitable background. In the back of cases are scenes painted in oil by Mrs. Dewey Davis, who is Mr. Mohr's sister. During the pheasant season Mr. Mohr amuses himself by placing his poorer pheasant specimens along the roadside to fool the hunters. One prominent Ord citizen wasted several shells two years ago firing at one of Mr. Mohr's stuffed birds.

The book is the autobiography of a Spanish aristocrat who is transformed into a woman of the people, forsaking the background and beliefs to which she was born. Mrs. Kovanda has reviewed a number of books in Ord, and the numbers of her admirers grow as her fame spreads.

The Unity club of Loup City has asked Mrs. Kovanda to review "In Place of Splendor" for them the afternoon of March 7, and the following Tuesday afternoon a North Loup club wishes her to present the story to them.

County Superintendent Clara McClatchey introduced Mrs. Kovanda, reports $7 or $7 added to the club's treasury by the review. The B. P. & W. C. have set the fee for these reviews at the very modest price of 15c.

Wiberg-Arthelm.

Sunday, Febr. 25, at 3:30 p. m., at the home of the bride's parents, occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie M. Wiberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Wiberg, to Lloyd Arthelm, son of Louis A. Arthelm of Davis Creek. They were attended by Miss Ruth Wiberg, sister of the bride, and Malvin Arthelm, brother of the groom.

Only the immediate relatives and a few friends were present. Those outside the family were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Lee and baby son of Midvale, Rev. and Mrs. Charles F. Wantz and son James and daughter Wanda of Orchard, and Francis Ryschon, of Lincoln.

James Wantz sang "O Promise Me," after which the contracting parties took their place and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Wantz. Dinner was served immediately after the ceremony. The couple will live on the Ben Hackel farm in Mira Valley.

These young people are well and favorably known in Mira Valley and Davis Creek, where they lived for many years. Mrs. Wiberg is a graduate of the Ord high school, class of 1937, and for some time has been in charge of the Ord township library.

James Misko, 76, Dies Friday After a Short Illness

His birth occurred Sept. 26, 1873 in Bohemia and in that country he grew to young manhood. He was christened Wencil, which in English means James. After serving the four years of military service required by the nation of his birth he worked three years in Bohemia for a total of $21.90 and his board, which consisted of one square meal at noon daily and a loaf of bread to stay his stomach until the next noon. At the end of three years, with his savings in his pocket, he walked out of Bohemia and through Austria enroute to the United States, where his elder brother had gone and which was to young James the land of freedom and opportunity. Arriving in Germany he took a ship for the United States. Though he was penniless when he reached the hospitable shores of this land he felt, as he often told friends, "like getting down on his knees and giving thanks for the privilege of being here."

His brother Frank Misko was in the harness and leather business in Ord and here James Misko came. For a few months he worked for his brother at a monthly wage of $15 but he did not like the harness business and soon quit to work in the meat business for Mr. Reithardt, a trade he preferred even though the starting wage was smaller.

When he had saved $200 he borrowed another $300 and went into business in partnership with Frank Stara. Before long, having saved his earnings, he bought his partner's interest in the business and successfully operated a market for many years until wider horizons beckoned.

Until 1919 he was sole owner of the business but at that time, other interests claiming a share of his attention, he sold an interest in the meat market to Joe Pecenka, his long-time employee, and a few months later disposed of his remaining interest to John Perliński, the partnership of Pecenka & Perliński continuing to operate the market until Joe Pecenka died and John Perliński sold out to move to California. The market now operated as Pecenka & Son is the successor to Misko and company. At the time Mr. Misko sold out he stated that J. H. Capron and A. M. Daniels were the only men still in business who had been in business in 1886 when he opened the market.

In 1921 Mr. Misko was instrumental in organizing the First Trust company of Ord and was its president for five years. When it was absorbed by the First National bank Mr. Misko became a large stockholder and vice-president of the bank, a position he held until his death.

In community and civic affairs as well as in business he was active throughout his life in Ord. He was a charter member of the Community Service club, which later became the Chamber of Commerce; was a member of the Rotary club, the Knights of Pythias and other organizations. He served as treasurer of the Rotary club for many years.

During the difficult years when the United States was getting into the World war and immediately afterward, Mr. Misko served two terms as mayor of Ord. During his administration the city hall was built, much pavement laid, the storm sewer system installed, the city water system improved and extended and other community improvements started or planned that did so much to make Ord the fine, modern city it now is.

Mr. Misko's marital and family life were happy also. In 1892 he was married to Miss Katie Helbig, of Burwell, who survives him, as do four sons and two daughters. All had the advantage of superior education and all later assumed responsibilities of leadership in the communities of their choice.

The sons and daughters are: Charles, now a successful commercial artist in Chicago; Dr. George, one of Lincoln's leading physicians; Miss Mabel, former kindergarten teacher in the Ord schools and now at home; John, Valley county attorney; Musa, a graduate nurse and now Mrs. Victor Hall of Holdrege; and Ralph, cashier and a director of the First National bank. There also are six grandchildren of whom Mr. Misko was very fond. "Jim," as he was better known to several generations of Ordites, was a true patriot, loving his adopted country with the fervor possible only to those who knew the tyranny of foreign lands before becoming acquainted with the freedom of this one. He was a devoted family man, wanting the finest for his children and living to see his hopes for them realized to the fullest extent. He was a man who loved flowers and beautiful surroundings and his hospitable home and its lovely plantings of flowers and shrubbery were for years among the city's show places. The soul of geniality, his pungent wit and his love for an amusing joke, whether played on him or played by him on another, will be remembered as long as will his kindness and his business sagacity. Coming to Ord an immigrant boy, he left the impress of his forceful personality upon the community as have few of his contemporaries.

After the funeral service at the Methodist church Monday afternoon the body was taken to Omaha for cremation, in accordance with his expressed wishes, and the ashes were brought back to Ord Tuesday for interment at a private service.

Mr. Misko was the last survivor among Ord business men who were active before the turn of the century. His place in the life of the community will never be adequately filled.

district, with 22% less irrigable acreage. This would indicate that the North Loup district would have 50% more debt, with 22% less potential revenue. For this reason, he stated, it is essential that the district have revenue from both irrigation and from the sale of power.

Mayor Cummins talked in favor of a subsidy, stating that the City of Ord stands ready to pay the district an annual subsidy of $4,000 and continue to run the Ord light plant. Porter declared that the R. F. C. would not consider this and that he would not recommend it. He declared the subsidy plan illegal and that at any time a taxpayer could get out an injunction and stop the payment of such a sum by the city to the district.

The mayor then countered with the statement that the taxpayers of Ord had established the plant at their own expense and for their own benefit, and that it is just as likely that the purchase of power from the district could be stopped by injunction as could the subsidy plan.

City Attorney Clarence M. Davis then explained how the subsidy plan could be worked out and its legality proved or disproved in a test case, which would be the proper course of procedure before entering into a permanent arrangement of the kind.

Mr. Porter stated that the R. F. C. had applications from other municipalities for the purchase of electricity, and that all these cities were placed in the same category. For this reason it was their policy to make an exception in the case of one or two of them.

City Manager George Allen stated in the course of the arguments that the district had no adequate or efficient means of bringing this power in to Ord and Burwell, and until such time as they could guarantee efficient and continuous service they could hardly expect the files to go back on the high-line.

In closing Mayor Cummins stated that if the city gave the district a $4,000 subsidy it would be fulfilling every moral obligation that it ever owed, and that that amount was more than the district had earned at any time the high-line service was used.

At Burwell the previous evening Mr. Porter held a similar meeting with the village board and is reported to have advised the board that an agreement must be reached within the next two weeks. Whether he actually so stated or not, the impression was left that both Burwell and Ord must get back on the high-line at once or water may not run in the ditches during the coming crop year.

Following the two council meetings and after conferring with the irrigation board, Mr. Porter is reported by Mayor Cummins to have reconsidered and agreed to furnish the district with funds for operation expenses from now until Oct. 1, subject, of course to the approval of the R. F. C., which will doubtless be forthcoming, as he came here with authority to negotiate.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Only the Text of an Old Timers Memory.

To the Ord Quiz: Well Homer, every once in a while somebody sends me a Quiz. My mind always has dwelt upon the memories of my early connections with Ord and its people, and when I receive one of those Quizzes, I'm all fired up again.

I came with M. E. Guyer and his drove of cattle from near Red Cloud, Nebr., to Dry Cedar, while going from St. Libory to Elba, we drove through a wet snow turning cold enough to freeze by dark. We ate cheese and crackers for our supper at the store in Elba, the section men gave up a bed, we arose in the morning early. Now actually my parts, hanging on the bed post, were frozen so they rattled when I shoved my legs into them. Again our breakfast was cheese and crackers. We stayed all night at North Loup. I woke up in the morning with a fearful cold and I could hardly ride. We drove into Ord late noon April 25, 1883.

The first man I ever met in Ord was Fred Witte the druggist who game me the hottest and biggest dose of medicine any man ever took. I then met Geo. Stover and Fred L. Harris, that night we slept up in the scuttle hole over Art Lapins kitchen, on Elm Creek. I liked to be drowned with sweat that night. I was back to Ord the 27th. Bought Leander Cadys right to a Dry Cedar timber claim and yet that day, drove to Deputy Clerk John Adams, in mouth of Jones Canyon where I put timber claim papers on Cadys and also papers on homestead, eve of April 27, 1883.

Now Homer I remember hundreds of old time friends in and around Ord during the 33 years I lived in Garfield county. I would like to name them all. Just so would I like to name those good old Garfield county friends who stood by me so well in an official way. As well did they in a neighborly way. Only God knows how much I cherish the memories of that part in my life. As I grow older, memories become keener. Even back to the Civil War days. What a lot crowds my mind for expression. From the many, there are two of my early connections who will soon enter their eightieth year of life with me, the memory of whom I cherish deeply.

Partially through accidental injury, I am no longer able to either physically or financially succeed in finally discharging the obligations of earlier life which I so much intended and hoped to do.

This disappointment weighs heavy on my mind but my heart swells to fullness from so many remembered deeds of kindness extended me by Ord and Valley county people. As I look back it seems to me, everybody was my friend. I wish to pass away feeling that way. In memory I see so many faces of too many to name. I would regret missing one.

My earliest connections with Ord began in 1893 and before railroad time. Morning of April 29, 1883 I bought of Billy Ogden 200 pounds of barb wire paying $26 for it. Bought a jag of lumber of D. C. Bell March 1884 went from Dry Cedar with Calhoun, via Ord to North Loup for coal. Winter of 1884, later we learned to go from Dry Cedar, across the hills and down Wallace Creek to Scottia, for heavy essentials, lumber of Cooney and merchandise from Murphy.

While this was going on, Wheeler county was being divided and Willow Springs came into the picture. Jones, Hemmett, Jones and Acres put up a fight to establish the county seat at Willow Springs, naturally Dry Cedar preferred Willow Springs but when an election was called, there were three proposed sites, Burwell, Willow Springs and Midvale (we called it Bean Creek). The suggested site was Patters Place.

December 30, 1884, Dry Cedar's polling place was at my house, on account of a stormy and cold day, only 8 voters voted and they for Midvale, but these with Willow Springs left a majority for Willow Springs. Midvale was dropped, and Burwell and Willow Springs went to bat the second time, January 20, 1885.

Dry Cedar went solid for Willow Springs, Burwell had lost, until the Dry Cedar votes were "Hitzlerized" Willow Springs celebrated, but on learning of the disappearance of the whole vote of Dry Cedar, and time set for a legal canvas, Willow Springs was ready to fight a buzz-saw. That night Truman Freeland horsebacked to Dry Cedar for a copy of the votes from the poll book. As one is always retained by one of the election board during the night, John Rice, Cummins, Calhoun and myself being members of the election board, made a complete copy of the poll book for Dry Cedar, at day light back goes Freeland with the copy. But the jangle carried on to the state house, Willow Springs again winning. Two years later Burwell and the railroad won, soon old sores began to heal and we Dry Cedarites slowly began to realize those Burwellites, after all were human. It was necessary to sometimes have to go to the county seat when we began to nibble at their merchandise, although Ord was still continuing to be our main place of business. (I still have a letter from good old E. J. Clements written at Lincoln, Jan. 16, 1919.)

During the fifteen years I was a Garfield County Commissioner, I learned of either county and town full of mighty fine people. In earlier years five times did the precinct assessing. In 1885 our 12 and 24 mile school district of Garfield and Wheeler counties had begun to divide up. A school meeting was held at George Hale's wind mill. I was selected for treasurer. During three divisions of the Garfield portion by reason of moving, it fell to my lot to act as treasurer or director. A position I filled 29 continuous years. The last being Joint 61 Valley and Garfield county.

Just so in Canada we have lived among a lot of people, continually well up to those dear friends of old. I get lonesome for old associations as age creeps on.

My first sight of North Loup was April 1883, the memory of Valley county officials is only a text to the whole sermon on friends. My first acquaintances among the county officials were A. H. Schaefer, county clerk. Aid Robinson, treasurer, A. A. Laverly, judge, Ben Johnson, sheriff, John Kates, superintendent, D. C. Way, Surveyor, 1886 E. J. Clements, attorney. Dr. Brickford, coroner, J. A. Ollis, commissioner. From then on I knew the whole staff of county officials. 1887 I woke up interested in who was elected in Valley county. Lemaster, Patton, Laverly and Nichols. I suppose because I knew they quit well. I hoped to see them elected. I did not stop in 1887 being interested in Valley county elections some. (I voted from across the line) Charles Munn was one as time rolled on. I wish I could vote for more but Garfield county wasn't slow in pulling off some pretty hot campaigns and I enjoyed getting into them, and I never had a political sore that didn't heal. For over 30 years I traveled out from Ord, up and down the Elm Creek road during that time the brick school came and then was gone.

I have just thought of the first time I saw Pete Mortensen, to know him. A man came into Weavers store carrying a boy on his back. The boy seemed to be enjoying himself but wasn't saying anything. After the man went out, the boy still riding, I asked Weaver who the man was. Why don't you know him, that's Pete Mortensen and his young son. Crawford can tell about how long ago that was.

I often wonder if the story was true when someone said the building blew away and Johnny McLain ran down the street, hunting for a place to hide so he could put his pants on.

One day a fellow came in from Dry Cedar and was driving down the dusty street, when a team ran out from McDonough's barn, hitched together with the lines and ran straddle of man, buggy and ponies, mixing man, buggy and ponies all up in a pile. When the men went to drag the man out of the dust and tangle they asked him if he was hurt. He said he guessed not but he couldn't see it did him a damn bit of good. Well he couldn't see much and we called him Blind Hansen out in Cedar country. He acted the sport in this and laughed with the rest of us. E. L. Ball.

Ord Man Observes His 11th Birthday Tomorrow

Of all the unusual features of February, none causes any more comment and confusion than does that occasional extra day known as Feb. 29. It is necessary to keep the years in proper balance as the centuries pass, but it is responsible for throwing a number of other things out of balance. Most of all, it has the unusual effect of cutting down on the birthdays enjoyed by people born on that day.

In Ord there is one man, Emil Fafelta, who was born on Feb. 29, and while he was born Feb. 29, 1892, and will have lived 48 years tomorrow, he has celebrated only 10 birthdays and Thursday, Feb. 29, will be his 11th birthday. Emil says he doesn't mind it, since he usually has a real celebration on the birthdays he does have.

However, it must have been an unusual experience for him. His first birthday came in 1896, and then in 1900, about the time the average boy is celebrating his eighth birthday. Emil was cheated out of his second birthday by the fact that 1900 was not a leap year. Hence there was a period of eight years between his first and second birthday.

Emil was born in St. Paul, Nebr., and he was out of school and working in his father's store when his third birthday rolled around. His fourth birthday passed without incident. The world was in the throes of a great war and the United States was about to enter it on his fifth birthday. He was out of the war, married and employed in the bank on his sixth birthday, and has been there on all his birthdays since.

When Julius Caesar revised the calendar he gave February 29 days except in bissextile, or leap year, when it had thirty. Augustus Caesar did not like to have Julius ahead of him in anything, so he took a day from February and added it to his own, August, so that it would have the same as July, named after Julius Caesar for himself.

The difficulty of keeping earthly time and astronomy in their proper relation was felt by the ancients, who could not do much about it. Finally in the 15th century time was changed, with the result that George Washington, born in February, and on the 22nd day according to our reckoning, was actually born a number of days earlier, according to the calendars in use at the time of his birth.

February is unique in that it ordinarily contains exactly four weeks. The most famous day in the month, no doubt, is Ground Hog day on Feb. 2. The fact that the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln come during the month adds greatly to its interest. Henry W. Longfellow's birthday comes on Feb. 27.

Two other presidents were born in February. They were Millard Fillmore, Feb. 7, and William Henry Harrison, Feb. 9. Washington was the first president, Harrison the 9th, Fillmore the 13th and Lincoln was the 16th. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the 31st. It is interesting to speculate as to who will be the man to be the 32nd and complete the second run of 16. Lincoln was a Republican, so perhaps the next will be a Republican also.

A story on February would not be complete without reference to St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14. St. Valentine was said to have been beheaded on Feb. 14, under the emperor Claudius. It is supposed to be the day for the mating of birds, and young people for centuries have used the day to send letters, comic or amatory, usually anonymous, to a preferred one of the opposite sex.

Marjorie has been home since the holidays. She works for the Howard Anderson's at Scotia.—Frank Goodman's moved to Loup City, Monday.—Mr. and Mrs. Deryl Coleman spent the week end with Ross Williams.—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haught drove to Ord Friday evening and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duemy to Comstock. They visited at the J. D. George home. Mr. and Mrs. Harlan George and children of Denton, were also there and as Harlan George was not able to leave his work long enough for them to visit at the Haught and Duemy homes they all met at his folk's home for the evening.—Mr. Walter Cummins and Comfort were dinner guests of Albert Haught's Monday.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams and Andy Glenn were dinner guests of Ross Williams' Sunday.—Carol Ann Horner celebrated her second birthday Sunday. The little miss lit her own candles on her cake and was the proud of herself.

Weldon and Marvin Ingraham and George Rich attended a farewell party on Will Davis Saturday evening.

Pleasant Hill—Thursday evening a surprise farewell party was given the Will Davis family, who are moving to Michigan.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams were dinner guests of Bert Williams' Thursday.—Callers at Will Egglehoff's Friday were Jim Bremer, Bill Vogeler, Keuben Cook and Glen Egglehoff.—Mrs. Herbert Goff and Twila Elaine visited Mrs. Mattie Richardson and family from Saturday until Tuesday.—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nedham and Vernon visited Glen Egglehoff's on Wednesday afternoon. They have rented a place southwest of Midvale for next year.—Marylin Ingraham spent Saturday night and Sunday with Horace Williams.—Nettie and Carroll Davis entertained the young folks at a farewell party Saturday evening. Ice cream and cake was served before the guests

BURWELL

Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona of Grand Island said mass in the Sacred Heart church Sunday and also at the mission church at Ericson as Father Murray was in the western part of the state transacting business for the Register, official Catholic publication of the Grand Island diocese.

Most of the women who live in the west end of town as well as several other friends gathered at the home of Mrs. W. D. Massey where a farewell party was held complimentary to Mrs. John Blaha who is soon to move to a ranch north-west of Ericson. Various games were played. Mrs. Blaha read a humorous farewell letter in which she bequeathed her neighbors some of the rights, duties and privileges which she will no longer be able to enjoy or fulfill. A pot luck luncheon was served. Many gifts were presented to Mrs. Blaha. Tuesday night the Catholic people took the Blahas by surprise and came in on them for another farewell party.

A capacity crowd was in attendance at the Full Gospel Tabernacle Sunday evening to hear the farewell sermon and request song program which was the last service conducted by Rev. B. C. Ord Man Observes His 11th Birthday Tomorrow

Of all the unusual features of February, none causes any more comment and confusion than does that occasional extra day known as Febr. 29. It is necessary to keep the years in proper balance as the centuries pass, but it is responsible for throwing a number of other things out of balance. Most of all, it has the unusual effect of cutting down on the birthdays enjoyed by people born on that day.

In Ord there is one man, Emil Pafella, who was born on Febr. 29, and while he was born Febr. 29, 1892, and will have lived 43 years tomorrow, he has celebrated only 10 birthdays and Thursday, Febr. 29, will be his 11th birth- day. Emil says he doesn't mind it, since he usually has a real celebration on the birthdays he does have.

However, it must have been an unusual experience for him. His first birthday came in 1896, and then in 1900, about the time the average boy is celebrating his eighth birthday, Emil was cheated out of his second birthday by the fact that 1900 was not a leap year. Hence there was a period of eight years between his first and second birthday. Emil was born in St. Paul, Nebr., and he was out of school and working in his father's store when his third birthday rolled around. His fourth birthday passed without incident. The world was in the throes of a great war and the United States was about to enter it on his fifth birthday. He was out of the war, married and em- ployed in the bank on his sixth birthday, and has been there on all his birthdays since.

When Julius Caesar revised the calendar he gave February 29 days except in bissextile, or leap year, when it had thirty. Augustus Caesar did not like to have Julius ahead of him in anything, so he

World's First Co-operative Refinery Just Completed

Gala Day Planned Saturday, March 2 to Celebrate Event

30,000 Tanks Filled with New Co-op Gas Made of "Home" Crude Is the Plan.

Thirty thousand or more cooperators will fill the gas tanks of their cars and trucks with Co-op-made gasoline for the first time in their lives Saturday, March 2.

That promises to be "the day of days" in Nebraska, northwestern Kansas and northeastern Colorado, the "trade territory" of the world's first cooperative refinery which has just been completed at Phillipsburg, Kas.

Thirty Thousand or more cooperators will drive into their local Co-op stations Saturday and say "Fill 'er up with that new Co-op gas!" You'll want to fill your tank that day, too. If each tank takes but ten gallons, 30,000 tanks means over a quarter-million gallons of Co-op-made gas will be burned celebrating the day!

Picture what it means if you drive into any one of 150 oil and gas Co-op stations in the territory on March 2. Your tank is filled with Co-op gas. The crude oil from which it came was produced on some farmer's farm in three Kansas counties. It was moved from the oil well through the first cooperative pipe line in the world's history, on to Phillipsburg, Kas., where the world's first complete cooperative refinery is now operating at capacity.

The gasoline was brought from the refinery to your home Co-op in a transport owned by your home Co-op, and was distributed to you, and hundreds of your neighbors, through a local organization which you own and control. Your home Co-op has shares in the refinery and perhaps you have too. From the farm as crude oil to the gasoline tank as fuel, ready to burn, the transaction has been handled cooperatively all the way—"in the hands of a friend from beginning to end."

Saturday, March 2 is your day. Visit your local Co-op. Take your family. Join your friends and fill your gas tank with gasoline from your refinery, the first complete cooperative refinery in the world.

What's Your Goal?

Many of your friends are asking ten of their neighbors in town and country to fill their tanks with Co-op fuel in celebration of this history-making event! What's your goal? Can you beat this? If you are already a member of your local Co-op, remember you only need to sign five or more new members to win a 1940 Membership-Trade drive pin. So when you get your friends to fill up with the new Co-op gas, sign them up at the same time!

Come In Saturday, March 2d and CELEBRATE With Us

Brightly colored pennants are going up at your home Co-op. They're swinging in the breeze and announcing to all that there's a festival day ahead. That day is Saturday, March 2. We are going to try to make Saturday, March 2 a real gala day for all our stockholders, share earners and everybody in the community.

Free Coffee and Doughnuts

All day Saturday, March 2 we're going to serve free hot coffee and doughnuts to friends who visit our station. On our concrete driveway, well out of the way of traffic, a marquee will be put up. Beneath it will be a square counter where about 50 people at a time may sit in comfort while enjoying a delicious cup of hot coffee and a doughnut. It's all free—just our way of making Saturday, March 2 a gala day to our stockholders, share earners and friends.

Fill Up With New Co-op Gas March 2nd

Join the 30,000 cooperators who will drive into Co-op stations Saturday and say "Fill 'er up with that new Co-op gasoline." Let's get the new refinery off to a flying start! The same kind of a start the new Co-op gas will give your car. Possibly you've never used Co-op gas. Try it March 2 and find out how good it is. Your refinery, the one that's producing it, has been labeled by technicians the best refinery in this part of the country. Its NEW from top to bottom, from front to back, and Co-op gas is as good as the most modern equipment and processes can make gasoline. Yes, drive in Saturday, March 2 and say "Fill 'er up!" We'll have extra attendants on hand to give quick service.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

Ver adest. In other words, spring is here. Jim and Frank Petska and F. J. Cohen claim to have seen a flock of Canadian geese looking for a place to land on the river above Ord yesterday morning. When they couldn't find water to suit them they came down in a corn field. Old timers claim that the arrival of geese from the south is a certain sign that spring is here.

One day recently Harold Cuckler installed a radio at the A. J. Shotkoski home. Looking for a sure way of grounding the set, he put his ladder down into an empty cistern and carried a wire down to fasten to a pipe. When he had reached the bottom and his eyes had become accustomed to the dim light he discovered two large snakes. One of them got away, but he killed the other one. Snake hunting in February may be great sport, but Harold says he knows of a lot of other things he would rather do.

Kansan Gives Ideal Most Farm Income Ration For Calves Produced By Milk

Manhattan, Kas. — Skimmilk, grain, green prairie hay, salt, and plenty of fresh water comprise an ideal calf diet for the first six months, says G. H. Beck, state college dairy husbandryman.

Skimmilk is the best possible substitute or whole milk in feeding calves. Some grain, such as whole oats or cracked corn or mixtures of the two, should be fed in addition, to supply the fat that has been removed from the milk.

For all young growing farm animals skimmilk, because of its high-quality protein, has a feeding value that cannot be replaced. It is also a very good source of calcium and phosphorus, in general meeting the requirements of young animals for these minerals. It is especially valuable in poultry feeding, according to Beck, because it furnishes vitamin G.

Iowans Put The Butter On Thick

Des Moines, Ia.—If everybody in United States used as much butter as Iowans do, creamery patrons would be in clover—or all out of clover in their struggle to keep up with the demand—a report by the State Department of Agriculture shows.

The per capita consumption of 1938 was 29.2 lbs. of creamery butter in the tall corn state for butter and 4.6 lbs. of farm butter, a total of 33.8 lbs., or almost double the average of 17 lbs. for United States. It is also about 12 lbs. more per person than back in 1929, when per capita consumption for the state was 15.5 lbs. of creamery butter and 5.9 lbs. of farm butter.

Oleomargarine consumption, on the other hand, was only 1.33 lbs. per capita, a drop of approximately 50 percent from consumption figure of 1937.

Speaking at the annual convention of the International Association of Milk Dealers, Dr. Charles F. Nelson of Beverly Hills, Calif., made this statement:

"Milk is the only food which contains sufficient calcium to assure the development and maintenance of man's maximum mental and physical capacities and milk is the most important and least expensive of all food products."

IT'S STILL OUR CHOICE

Less than one person of each 17 of the world's population lives in the United States. Yet, there is one automobile for every four and one-half persons in the United States compared to one or every 25 in England, 55 in Germany and 322 in Russia.

In the United States there are 253 radios per 1,000 people. In England 216, in Germany 129, in Italy 21, in Russia 2.

The United States has half the world's supply of bath tubs, one-third its highways, one-third its railroads, one-third its electric bulb, and the American, or more correctly his wife, uses three-fourths of all the silk produced in the world.

It is the only country in the world with a waiting list of people who are trying to enter its borders.

It has its faults, this America, but until a better country comes along, we'll elect to stay right here.
