Driving, Liquor
Charges Serious
for H. ClementGets 60-Day Jail Terms, and Fined $50, Must Not Drive for Period of Two Years.

Hubert Clement, of North Loup, was arrested Aug. 30, by Deputy Sheriff F. J. Cohen and charged on the first count with operating an auto without having a driver's license and with operating an auto at a time when his driver's license had been suspended.

He was charged on a second count with operating an auto while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The last charge was a second offense. All was the result of his driving his auto on the road just south of North Loup on the evening of Aug. 29.

County Attorney John P. Misko filed the charges with Judge John L. Andersen. It was shown that Clement had been arrested in Grand Island in January. At that time his driver's license was suspended for a period of one year and he was also fined $15 and costs.

Clement entered a plea of guilty as charged to both counts. On the first count he was given 30 days in the county jail, and assessed a fine of $25. On the second he received a 30 day jail sentence at hard labor and a fine of $50. The jail sentences are to run consecutively.

He was ordered to pay the costs of $8.40 and was ordered not to drive a car for a period of two years from the time of his discharge from jail. He cannot have a car registered in his name until he can put up bond to take care of his financial responsibility in case of accident resulting in damages, as required by law. Fines and costs must be paid in cash before he is eligible to drive a car.

Seven Marriages Is
Record for Past Month

August is not usually an outstanding month for marriages, but in Judge John L. Andersen's office the record shows that seven licenses were issued during the August just closed. Four of these can be classed as home people, but three couples came from a distance, thus attesting to the popularity of Ord as a Greta Green.

Only 1936 in the past decade surpassed this record with eight. The record follows: 1939, four; 1938, two; 1937, 5; 1936, eight; 1935, two; 1934, none; 1933, three; 1932, two; and 1931, four. This makes a grand total of 37, or an average of 3.7 for the ten years.

Ericson Won Post Season
Contest from Ord Sunday

Ord lost one of the best games of the year to Ericson on their home grounds at Sandburg Stadium Sunday, the final score being 5 to 2. Ord had 7 hits, 2 runs and 4 errors, while Ericson made 8 hits, 5 runs and 1 error.

E. Piskorski went the route for Ord, with D. Dahlin behind the plate. For Ericson the pitching duties were carried by the Funks, son and father, with Payne catching. The game did not count in the Loup Valley League. The present league standings follow:

North Loup won 7, lost 2, standing, .778. Riverdale won 5, lost 2, standing, .715. Ord won 6, lost 4, standing, .600. Ericson won 5, lost 4, standing, .556. Pleasant Hill won 4, lost 6, standing, .400. Manderson lost 9, won 0, standing, .000.

Auble Motors Receives
Large Battery Shipment

The latter part of last week the Clayton Gilroy truck, driven by Clayton Arnold, brought back from Sioux City in one load $1,700 of Wincharger and Delco light plant batteries for Auble Motors. The Clark truck line helped distribute the batteries after their arrival.

This buy was the result of a special deal offered by the Wincharger people, taken advantage of by Auble Motors and passed on to their customers. Their ad, elsewhere in this issue, shows a photo of the shipment.

Rev. C. Snyder Speaks.

Rev. Clifford Snyder, new pastor of the Ord Christian church, was a Rotary guest Monday night. In response to a request by the program chairman Dr. George Parkins, that he tell Rotarians a bit about himself, Mr. Snyder said that he was born and grew to young manhood in Garrett, Ind., sang for two years over radio station WOWO at Fort Wayne, Ind., then attended Bible school at Minneapolis four years, supporting himself by giving vocal lessons and leading a choral society, and then accepted a call to the Carthage, S. D., church coming from there to Ord.

3-Storey Farm Home Near North Loup Totally Destroyed by Fire

Fire originating from an over-heated kitchen stove Tuesday afternoon totally destroyed the 3-storey farm home of the Martin Mrkivicka family, 1 1/2 miles northeast of North Loup. Mrs. Mrkivicka had been washing and canning and it is thought walls of an upstairs attic caught fire from an overheated stove pipe and burned some time before the flames broke out. Then a strong south wind fanned them into a blaze that leveled the big house within an hour. The North Loup fire department and neighbors with buckets tried to save the house unsuccessfully but prevented fire from spreading to outbuildings. All furniture except a few articles in an upstairs room was saved. The above photo, taken from top of a windmill tower near the house, shows the blaze after it had burned almost to the ground level. Loss was partially covered by insurance.

Roll Call in November.

New officers of the Valley county Red Cross were elected Saturday evening at a meeting held in the home of the retiring county chairman, Mrs. Sylvester Furtak. New chairman is Mrs. Ed C. Whelan, while C. J. Mortensen was elected vice-chairman and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson was reelected secretary. R. E. Misko also was continued as treasurer of the organization.

MRS. ED C. WHELAN.

In 1937 and 1938 Mrs. Whelan served as roll call chairman for the county, carrying both membership campaigns off successfully. She will appoint department heads at once.

Cold Storage Clinches
Ord Softball Title

The Ord Cold Storage team clinched the title in the Ord city league by defeating the Chanticleers 7 to 4 in the second game of their three-game elimination last night. It is rumored that the Chanticleers will be required to play the final game tomorrow night in skirts.

Also featured tomorrow night will be the Cushing Midgets, who will play a game with the younger players from Ord. These will be the final contests before the Valley County Fair next week.

4 County Doctors Meet.

The 4-County Medical association held its regular monthly meeting at Thorne's Cafe Tuesday evening. Following a dinner, a movie was shown. The movie was sponsored by the Upjohn Chemical company. Those attending the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Barta, Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Smith of Burwell, Dr. and Mrs. John N. Round, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Hemphill of North Loup, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Miller, Dr. C. W. Weekes and Dr. R. S. Cram of Burwell.

Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Norris left by auto this morning for Walla Walla, Wash., where they will visit Mrs. R. G. Shelton and family, and where the doctor will take a few days work in eye, ear and nose and throat under an old school mate, Dr. Harry Davis. On their way home he expects to attend a clinic in Denver.

August of This Year
Coolest in Ten Years

The August just ended was the coolest in ten years, according to the records kept by Horace Travis, weather reporter. The high average temperature for the month was a shade under 80 degrees, three points under the low of 82 for 1939 and 1930, and nearly seven points under the ten year average of 86.5.

The low average for the month was 61 degrees, far below the ten year average of 69.6. However, the year 1933 showed a low average of 59 for August. The hottest day was Aug. 4, with 96, and the low came on the 19th, with 47. There were only 7 days above 90 degrees, while in August, 1936 and 1938 there were 7 days above 100 degrees in each.

Rainfall for the month was as follows: Aug. 4, .61; Aug. 5, .40; Aug. 9, .08; Aug. 13, .78. Total 1.87 inches. The month was conceded to be very dry, but this amount is above the ten year average preceding it, which was 1.678 inches. According to the chart below, we have passed the peak of hot years, and can expect better weather in the future.

The record for the ten years immediately preceding this year for the month of August, is as follows:

Year	H.A.	L.A.	H.	L.	Rain
1939	82	64	100	50	1.65
1938	92	73	104	54	.83
1937	89	69	105	60	2.07
1936	91	73	105	51	.96
1935	86	68	105	50	4.45
1934	90	73	111	50	.85
1933	83	59	98	51	1.34
1932	84	65	94	58	3.08
1931	86	64	94	48	.77
1930	82	63	105	53	.83
10 Y. A.	86.5	69.6	102.1	53	1.678

A clear indication of the drought conditions and the attendant hot weather through the years 1934 to 1938, inclusive, is shown by the number of hundred degree days in August of those years.

High temperatures in August, 1934, were 106, 108, 111, 101 and 108; in August, 1935, 102, 105, 103; in August, 1936, 101, 103, 105, 103, 105, 107, 105; in August, 1937, 100, 103, 104, 105 104; in August, 1938, 101, 105, 100, 102, 101 104, 103.

August 1939, had 100 degrees the first day, and August 1930, had 105 degrees on the second day. In 1931, 1932 and 1933 there were no August days above 100 degrees. The record hot August day of all time occurred Aug. 8 1934 when the thermometer reached 111 degrees.

The hottest August in the decade was not in 1934, but in 1938, when the general hot average was 92. The next came in 1936, with 91, and the average in 1934 was 90. In these three years the rainfall for August was less than an inch.

Play in Golf Tournament.

Two Ord men, M. Biemond and John P. Misko, were in Kearney Sunday and Monday competing in the invitational golf tournament sponsored by the Kearney Golf club. Misko shot a 36-hole total of 167 in the second flight while Biemond shot 159 over the same route in the first flight. Elmer McKinney won the championship flight.

Miss Estelle Stewart returned home Friday after spending several weeks in Denver and Boulder, Colo. She was accompanied home by her sister, Aloha, who came at this time to see her nephew Calvin Stewart, who left Monday for his home in Riverside, Calif. Aloha left for Denver Monday night.

Mrs. Charles Porter went to St. Paul this morning to spend the day visiting Mr. Porter's mother, Mrs. Collins.

Farm Families
Deserve to Share
Nation's WealthAnd Farm Program Needed if Economic Set-Up Is Unbalanced, Say Speakers.

A fertile breeding place for all forms of "isms" may be found in long lines of unemployed boys and girls, men and women, said Mrs. Helen Marr, the AAA fieldwoman for Thurston county, in addressing a crowd of 250 people present at the AAA meeting held Saturday afternoon at the Masonic hall in Ord under direction of Mrs. Inez Burrows, Valley county fieldwoman.

Emphasizing the advantages secure farm incomes can give America's youth, Mrs. Marr said: "Surely the need for a farm program can be clearly seen when there is an economic set-up in a democratic nation so unbalanced and so unfair that the very farm families that produce the necessities of life for the nation were themselves so impoverished and so financially prostrate that they not only had to feed upon the husks but also dress in them." Mrs. Marr represented the state AAA organization at the Ord meeting.

A moving picture, "The River," was shown, and other interesting talks given by Charles Veleba, chairman of the Valley county AAA, and others.

Using a large colored map, Mr. Veleba pointed out how great a portion of the world today is controlled economically by powers unfriendly to this nation, thus lessening agricultural export outlets materially. He also spoke of "5th column" activities in Mexico and told how dictatorial powers are making friends with South American nations at our expense.

Mrs. R. Clare Clement brought out the fact that secure farm homes and soil conservation also insure what she terms more important—"soil conservation." The difference between the AAA farm program and farm programs of other lands was told by Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, who stressed the fact that where compliance with the AAA program is voluntary, in foreign lands it is compulsory.

The talks were followed by a short pageant in which seven little girls, JoAnn McGee, Esther McGee, Jacqueline Burrows, Carolyn Foth, Ellen Jean Foth, Velma Foth and JoAnn Burrows took part, showing the farm program as offering tolerance, intelligence and opportunity to gain security in life.

In closing the meeting Mrs. Burrows said: "We ask a fair sharing of what we, a rich nation, have in order that there may be a richer abundance for all of us."

1911 Plymouth Shown.

Last Thursday Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McBeth drove to Hastings and were guests of the A. H. Jones Company at the first central Nebraska showing of Plymouth models for 1941. A banquet was enjoyed in the evening. Mr. Anderson expects to have his first shipment of the 1941 cars within a few days.

Water Discount

At their meeting Tuesday evening members of the Ord city council voted to continue the 33 1/3 per cent discount on water during the present quarter, August, September and October, to encourage Ord people to keep lawns, trees and shrubbery alive until natural moisture comes. The discount will apply only to the residence district, the school houses and the court house, it was decided. Figures submitted by Water Commissioner George Allen showed that to extend the discount to the business district as was done during the last quarter, might cause the plant to operate at a loss.

Sargent Won Two Games
from Ord Teams Sunday

The Sargent softballers got sweet revenge on the Ord teams Sunday evening, when their first team won from the Ord first string by a score of 5 to 4, and the second team nosed out the Ord seconds by a score of 14 to 13.

As Ord had won the first two games, played at Ord two weeks before, this leaves a tie that will probably be played off. Of interest is the fact that in the former games the Ord first team won by a score of 13 to 12 and the second team by a score of 6 to 4, making the grand total of scores for the teams almost identical.

Tolly Checks Out Equipment, Football Practice Under Way

Ord high school grid aspirants checked out football equipment Friday and Monday afternoon, with a 4-year tradition of victory to uphold, began practice for the 1940 season. On Sept. 27 the Chanticleers meet the St. Paul Apostles in their first clash of the season.

Above Ord's new head coach, Roscoe Tolly, is shown sorting out equipment for Gould Flagg and Alex Cehrane, two of the first grid hopefuls to apply while Assistant Coach Max Hester helps.

Fundamentals and conditioning exercises were the rule at practices Monday and Tuesday afternoons, with sixty-five boys in uniform, 35 on the first squad and the rest under Hester's direction. Head Coach Tolly is a great believer in having his players in the best physical condition possible and so hard did they work Monday that some of the boys, soft from a summer of inactivity, reported loss of 8 to 14 pounds weight.

Willkie for President
Picnic Held Sunday

A "Willkie for President" picnic was held Sunday at Russell park, and was largely attended. While not so many brought their picnic dinner as had been expected, many came after dinner and listened to the program, which was highly interesting.

The Auble Bros. public address system was used, as was a piano furnished by the same firm. The speaker of the afternoon was H. O. Cooley of Arcadia, who spoke for more than half an hour on the general theme of the failure of the democratic party to make good on its promises, especially as set forth in the platform of 1932.

Quiz Gourd Contest
Deferred til October

Upon the advice of Mrs. George A. Parkins, local expert in gourd raising, The Quiz has decided to defer holding its gourd show until late October or possibly early November, depending upon the type of autumn weather Ord has. Exact date will be announced later.

Last spring more than 100 youngsters of Ord and vicinity bought gourd seed at cost from The Quiz and planted gourds so as to be eligible for the contest, in which $19 will be paid out in cash prizes. The season has been too dry to raise gourds advantageously but many children watered their gourds faithfully and have a good crop.

According to Mrs. Parkins, the gourds should not be picked from the vines until about 10 days after the first hard frost. If picked sooner they are likely to shrivel up, she says. When the gourds are picked they should be given a polishing with floor wax to keep them from changing color, she says.

In The Quiz contest, prizes will be paid for the largest gourd, smallest gourd, oddest shape of gourd, most beautifully colored gourd, and for the best display of gourds. Watch these columns for further details and for the exact date of the contest.

of Negro Clown Team.

Officials of the Loup Valley Agricultural Society and of the Ord Chamber of Commerce today announced completion of all plans for Valley county's first free fair, which will be held in Ord next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 9, 10, 11 and 12. All portents indicate heavy attendance, the officers say, and they feel sure that everyone who attends will be pleased.

No admission to the grounds will be charged, either afternoon or evening, and there will be plenty of free entertainment for those who just want to wander around and see the sights, as well as for people who want to pay the nominal price charged for grandstand seats.

On the Big Midway will be the Magic Empire Carnival, one of the big traveling shows. It has nine rides, including all the old stand-bys, such as merry-go-round, ferris wheel, loop-a-plane, flying boats, etc., as well as some new ones not usually carried by carnivals touring the county fair circuit. In addition the carnival has 20 shows and 30 concessions. "Keep it Clean," is the edict given carnival officials by R. Clare Clement, fair president, and Chris Deiers, concession superintendent, but reasonable latitude will be allowed the show men.

This week workmen are busy mowing weeds, cleaning buildings and otherwise getting the fair grounds ready for its annual week of hectic activity. Exhibits will begin to trickle in Saturday and continue throughout Sunday and Monday, with all in readiness for the fair's official opening Tuesday morning. Judging will start Tuesday and should be completed by late afternoon. On Wednesday morning the 4-H team demonstrations are scheduled, with the 4-H judging contests slated for Thursday morning and the 4-H club style show slated for 1:00 Thursday afternoon. This year the fair will pay a total of $500 in prizes to 4-H boys and girls. The baby beef show, which is open to 4-H young people from adjoining counties as well as Valley, will attract many entrants and much interest.

Finishing touches to a fine program came with the announcement that an added attraction Wednesday afternoon will be a softball game between the International All-Stars, of Council Bluffs, and a picked team from Ord and Loup Valley towns. The All-Stars are negroes and play in clown suits. They are professional players and their job is to please and amuse the crowd, which they always do.

From 20 to 30 entrants in the baton twirling exhibition Tuesday are expected, including two pairs of twins. Nearly every town in this section will be represented. This is not a contest but every boy or girl who enters will be rewarded. Glen D. Auble is in charge.

Chamber of Commerce members, who are putting on the program at the fair, feel they made no mistake in contracting with the Starline Revue of 1940 company to furnish entertainment Wednesday and Thursday. This company of 20 includes several featured singers and dancers as well as a chorus of 12 pretty girls. Costumes are new, songs are new, the company carries special scenery and

Ord Hi Classes

The Ord schools began their 1940-1941 school term Monday morning, and the high school officials found that they had an enrollment of 316 students, an increase of 26 over last year's number.

Enrollment in the freshman class last year totalled 69. This year the class boasts of 83 members, one of the largest classes in the history of the school. Sophomores registered in 1939 numbered 69, but this year's number decreased to 61. Last year's junior class contained 88 members, while this year's class has only 84 members. The senior class shows the largest increase. There were 64 seniors last year, and 88 are registered for this year's class.

THE CONSCRIPTION QUESTION

The Congress of the United States is wasting a lot of valuable time worrying over the problem of conscription. Almost from the beginning it was apparent that some form of conscription would be adopted, but the members have spent day after day in arguing over the question of what form the bill should take.

The question should not be one of detail, but rather, one of principle. If it is right to conscript man power in time of peace, then the details should be agreed upon and at once. The reason for the delay is that there is a large number of senators and members of congress who believe that the whole idea of conscription is wrong, and they are seeking every possible means of delaying the inevitable.

There is a solution that might be used, if congress desired to do so, but for some reason it has not occurred to them. In just sixty days there will be a general election, and the public could be given an opportunity to vote on the question of conscription. If the vote was favorable, then congress would be justified in going ahead. Certainly the people should be consulted on so important a change in our government.

There is another angle that should be considered. If men 21 to 31 years of age are to be conscripted, what right has any one not in that list to vote on the question. Furthermore, what right has a body of men, all past the age of 31, to vote conscription on a group under that age. It is easy to vote for a measure which will not affect your own life. It is like a group of old bachelors telling young men how to raise babies. The advocates of conscription are becoming impatient, and they should be. The increase in the number of volunteers for every branch of military service in the past few weeks must be disquieting to them. The fact is that, at the present rate of increase, the volunteer system will soon furnish all the soldiers needed, and then where would the advocates of conscription be?

Conscription may some time be necessary, but at present it is merely another step in the regimentation of America that has been going on for more than 7 years. Once the American farmer was the most independent man on earth. Today he is told what he can raise, and how many acres of each crop.

If conscription passes a young man cannot choose for himself whether he will serve in the army or navy of his country. Regardless of his job, when his turn comes he will be taken, and when he comes back he will find his job gone. No employer could be expected to hold a job open for him for a year.

Instead of taking the physically weak, to whom the training would be a blessing, the draft will take only those who are physically fit and the unfit will be culled out and left home. The Napoleonic wars destroyed the best men of France, and the succeeding generation were weaklings. Why not send the culs to war and leave the best men at home, or send the old men to do the fighting?

From conscription to government regulation of all business, both wholesale and retail, is not a long step. In fact, many lines of business are so hampered today by governmental interference that the businessmen are afraid to invest capital in new enterprises. From that step to government control of the press, the suppression of free speech and even the abolishment of free religious worship is not beyond the limits of imagination.

Conscription as a necessity in time of war, is essentially different from the use of the draft in time of peace. In order to increase the army and navy to the number needed to safeguard the nation from foreign aggression peace-time conscription may be necessary, but it should be used only when the volunteer system has proven inadequate.

AUTUMN IS HERE
Again we are heading into the autumn season and we can be thankful for the cooler weather we are enjoying. Ordinarily we would also feel like giving thanks for a crop of some kind, but in recent years the crop proposition for most of us has been a large question mark.

Of course the lack of a crop gives us more time to enjoy the "more abundant life" that we have heard about, but how many of us enjoy ourselves when we have no money for gas to go places and no money to spend for a good time when we get there.

The marvelous thing about the fair that have been held to date, and the equally marvelous thing about the Valley County Fair which is to be held next week, is how the exhibitors get the materials for their exhibits. It makes a person wonder just what they could do if we had a normal crop year again.

Over in England the coming of autumn is heralded with joy for a very different reason. With the coming of the autumnal equinox heavy fogs develop over the English Channel and the Straits of Dover, and continue until the vernal equinox in March. This will make effective air raids by Germany almost impossible.

Hope springs eternal in the human breast. When winter is over and spring is in the air, the farmers of Central Nebraska will be ready to have another try at the gamble of raising a crop. They will bet their seed and the time it takes to plant it and take a chance on getting their money back, possibly with a little more for interest.

In England the people will have more to be thankful for. The winter will have given them a respite from air attacks and they will have had time to improve their defenses and prepare for offensive warfare. This winter may spell the difference between success and failure for Hitler and totalitarianism.

Nebraska has been anything but a Garden of Eden for the past decade and crop conditions have left much to be desired. But with all its faults, the people of the state would not trade it for all of Europe put together. Here the only air-raid shelters are cyclone cellars, and the siren screams only when there is a fire.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Dear Quiz Readers:
I am writing this about mid-afternoon on Saturday, August 31, and right now, for just a moment, the sun is peeping through the clouds, after 11 days of heavy clouds, fogs, east winds, and rains. I wish Valley county could have some of the rain that we have had the past few days and which runs right through this sandy soil and on through the underlying gravel into the great underground body of water that there must be under all this country. The weather this morning said fair and warmer but so far it is anything but. The temperature is up a little. It is 64 degrees now and it was 59 at 7 a. m. today. It has been mostly in the 50's for many days. And fish just won't bite. The Clemmies got disgusted and left sooner than they intended because of the disagreeable weather and because the pike wouldn't bite. A Mr. Osborn from San Antonio, Tex., here for several weeks had intended to stay until Sept. 10 and had engaged Ray Luther to fish with him, left yesterday and Ray loses a lot of work and wages. And the highways, the past few days, have been full of tourists headed south. Cars loaded with grips fore and aft told us they were going home and with good weather most of them would have remained until after Labor day. And other hundreds who had intended to come up to be here today, tomorrow and Monday, remained at home because of this brand of weather, which we are having. But we can't control it so there is no use of fussing.

Everyone should have a hobby. Many golf. I drove past Breezy Point yesterday and there were a half dozen or more men and women, the latter with colorful rain coats on, playing in a hard rain. I can't see it myself. Seems to me golf is about the silliest thing imaginable, but I couldn't make Jay Auble or Crawford Mortensen or Bud Shirley think so. The Missus, right now, has as a hobby making crocheted rugs and I shall do well if I have a garment left to wear when I come home. Already I have missed a half dozen pairs of good fishing trousers and I saw some of Hi's and Eugene's going the way of such clothes when the rug bug has bitten and I even saw her cutting up some of her own clothes. Of course she claims they were worn out but she hasn't worn them for several years so far as I know. The Missus and Mrs. Burke do the rag cutting and Minnie is doing the crocheting. (The sun tried to shine but it is now raining again.) But I was speaking of hobbies. Mr. Fenner does rock work as his hobby and pretty soon he is going to have a splendid rock garage to show for his work and I am going to take and send a picture of it to the Quiz when it is completed. E. W. Augustine fishes trout in Wyoming and bass in Minnesota and raises fancy riding horses in Nebraska as his hobbies. Right now my hobby is making jams and jellies and I have upwards of 150 glasses of various kinds of those delectables neatly labeled and arranged on shelves up stairs and when the Leggett and Anderson horde of youngsters descend upon me next summer and begin to yell for bread and butter and jelly or jam, believe me I will have enough on hand to keep them chewing for quite a while.

This is a wonderful country in which to indulge this hobby for beginning about June 20th there are lots of strawberries, then red raspberries come along and by the way we have been buying the finest kind of red raspberries up to right now and strawberries will be abundant until a hard freeze comes, probably toward November 1. It has been several days later than that the last three years. We buy fine, sorted strawberries at 25c a quart and the 2nds or what they call jam berries, 3 quarts for 25c. Then there are plu cherries, (none in Nebraska) and chokeberries, wild strawberries and blackberries, blueberries and cranberries, crab apples and plums of many varieties. No country could be better for a jelly and jam hobbyist to operate in than this country and this year especially. For the past ten days I have been making the most of it. We found time to go chokecherry picking between showers and did we have fun. We buy the crabapples from a neighbor a couple of miles north for 3 cents a pound. We bought the blueberries at the store and the currants and gooseberries from Charley Call on the hill. Wallie and Oscar and many others have berries. I have learned which kinds I have to use Shur-Jell in and which do not need it and I take everyone who comes to call, up stairs and show them my collection. The women look at me sometimes as if they thought I was a little goofy on the subject of jelly and jam but I notice that at the table, they get away with their share and I have to leave it alone almost entirely. I can make it but I am not allowed to eat it. If I could figure out some way of making jelly out of turnips without using any sugar I would be allowed to eat it but the darned things just won't jelly.

We are invited up to Oscar Walrus tonight for supper to help them use up a can (the last can) of the 1939 duck crop and we are looking forward with much pleasure to this evening. We know, from former years, that we are going to have a splendid supper, for Ruth is an excellent cook.

Ray brought us a big mess of walleyes this morning and we had them for dinner. They were caught on Pelican and belonged to the man Osborn who went home yesterday. He had them in cold storage but decided to visit for a time in Oklahoma on the way home, so he told Ray to use them up and catch and ship him some more later. They do get a few pike but it is hard work the way they are striking now.

Well this is enough for this letter and I will ring off.
H. D. Leggett.

NEWS OF THE NEIGHBORHOOD
The Greeley Citizen: Workmen Monday completed the job of filling highway No. 56 from Greeley to a point six miles east where this road connects with No. 281. The St. Paul Phonograph: The annual Howard County fair will be held next week in St. Paul on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 4-5-6.
The Sherman County Times: Seventy-one teachers were in attendance at the pre-opening meeting of the Sherman County teachers' association. The meeting was held on Saturday, Aug. 24, at the high school auditorium at Loup City.
The Arnold Sentinel: The Sentinel's Logan correspondent states this week that Ruth and Clarence Chittenden of that community killed eleven rattlesnakes Saturday and four more Sunday. Members of the Chittenden family have killed a total of forty-five rattlers this summer.
The Neligh News: Sleight of hand wizardry entertained members of three Business and Professional Women's clubs and about 75 outsiders when the nationally known magician, Lenser, was presented to the crowd by the Neligh club at the Riverside park Sunday afternoon.
The Central City Nonpareil: As a boyhood companion of Bob Burns the comedian who made his goony VanBuren relatives famous, O. R. Lobdill got a nostalgic urge and took his family on a trip last week to his home town in Arkansas. Lobdill and Burns were both employed in the same plumbing shop. He reluctantly confessed that he invented the bazooka, Burns' favorite musical instrument. He was putting a gas pipe and some fittings on a new kind of brass drain a salesman had left when Bob happened in and blew the dust out of a short length of its lead pipe. The issuing tone put the tremolo bass D flat on the Skinner organ in the Baptist church to shame. With a few improvements, Mr. Lobdill's instrument is still playing every week on the radio, starting with the theme song, "The Arkansas Traveler," which it now knows by heart.
The York Republican: Mystery surrounds the death of seven-year-old Lewis Connolly of Omaha whose burned and lifeless body was discovered in the partial ruins of a coal house by York firemen last week.
The last issue of the Primrose Press appeared last week. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Whitman, left to establish a paper at Parnum, Neb. They established the Press in 1911.
Spalding is preparing its Main street for the coming of oil mat by taking out the cross walks and leveling and packing the grade. Highway No. 281 is being treated to an oil mat coat from St. Paul to the north.
The C. E. Rusmiller family plan to move to Ord in about two weeks where Mr. Rusmiller plans to go into business handling Western Auto Supply goods. Their many friends in this community will regret very much that the Rusmiller family are leaving, and wish them every success in their new location.—Palmer Journal.
Chokeberries Bloom Now.
Saturday Mrs. Hulda Nass, of Mira Valley, sent to the Quiz office a spray of chokecherry blossoms picked from bushes in the yard at her home. The bushes were dug from their native habitat 35 years ago by her son George, says Mrs. Nass, and were planted in the yard. Ever since they have bloomed both spring and fall. They were in full bloom last week.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Much Difference.
There is a wide difference in the set-up of the supervisor and commissioner county system of government and after having suffered under both I believe the supervisor system is the worst of the two evils.

There are seven supervisors and they meet once in a while for no one knows exactly what. They adjust the valuations occasionally and adjust the poor benefits frequently. They chew the fat a good lot and draw their pay regularly whether they earn it or not and whether all the poor in the county are fed or not. They take part in telling where the WPA shall work and have been known to do funny things about that like sending N. L. men eight miles north of Ord to work month after month upon end because there is no work to do in the N. L. vicinity. (?)

The situation might arise too where four members of the board would get their heads together and do as they please. Under those conditions, should that occur, the three minority members might as well stay at home as far as any good they do to the county is concerned. Of course they couldn't draw their salary if they remained at home so they always go.

Then the situation might also arise where one member of the four dominates the majority so if such a case should arise, all but the one might as well stay at home as far as any good to the county is concerned, but still if they did they wouldn't draw their salary, so they always go.

The county is divided into townships where each elects three officers and these oversee the roads of the township, pointing out the work for the road overseer. Frequently one township will have good roads while a neighboring one will not but neither can help the other even if the road runs through both. The supervisor has nothing to do with township roads. He has a few county roads to build and the county helps pay for bridges over running streams, and aside from that the supervisor's duties are rather vague.

$ in Place of 7.
Under the commissioner system, there are three commissioners in Greeley county. Each one represents approximately one third of the county. Each commissioner has charge over all the roads of his third of the county, pointing out the work the different precinct road overseers shall do. He has his own money to spend and apparently does not have to go through the ordeal of getting a majority of the board to fix a culvert or assign the WPA to certain sections.

If there has been a bad rain in one section of his third of the county, he can take all forces there, putting the road in shape and making the others wait until these bridges or roads are passable. This is a great advantage over the supervisor system. He has money enough so he may buy a big caterpillar outfit if he wishes, and in days gone by the outfit in southwest Greeley county has done their own work and also outside work, even in Valley county.

To be a commissioner, having charge of all the roads in a third of the county, is a much bigger job than that of a supervisor. The pay should be more than a supervisor but I have understood the limit in Greeley county is $300.00 each. Perhaps the size of the county makes a difference.

They have other work too besides roads, such as guarding over the poor and hungry, and this supervision is over his third of the county. In fact it is such an arduous task to be commissioner that one man a few years ago would not run for the second term, saying he would rather take the miseries of farming than those of commissioner.

There are no precinct or township officers except road overseer (who does the repairing of culverts) and the assessor.

The commissioner system is considered more efficient and cheaper.

Doves or Bombing Planes.

For a long time John Haskell has been asking me to go down and see his pigeons, so the other day Dick and I accepted the invitation.

John was sorry that he was sold out of all but one breed, but I could see that he has quite a pigeon establishment there. He said that he took the venture up as a hobby, but it turned out to be much more than self supporting, he being a good many dollars ahead of the hounds on the venture.

Most of his birds have been sold as breeders for fancy prices. Not long ago he sent five pair to Indiana for $7.50 a pair. (Not so bad I'd think.) He leg bands every pigeon and tries to mate them scientifically. He has had a number of different breeds including fan-tails, tumblers, carriers and more breeds too that I can't think of right now.

After we had spent an hour or so there he said if I had time he would like to show me some birds belonging to Keith Lewis. Of course I had time.

Much Difference 3 in Place of 7 Doves or Bombing Planes

The British Isle, with bigger birds swooping over head dropping eggs of death and destruction.

Surely it would take a cast iron disposition for a pilot of a bombing plane to drop his pills of destruction on Keith Lewis' house if those pigeons were flying about.

Short Shavings.

One man said to me only yesterday he decided definitely to vote the Republican ticket. Before that he was undecided. He was listening to a fast football game, the score 13 to 14, and the 13 side on the run down the field for another touchdown, one of the 14 1/2 close on the player's heels, when copunk, off went the broadcast to give time that Secretary Wallace's acceptance speech could be heard. This man said that was enough for him. I assured him the Republican party would never do such a thing as that.

A Mira Valley farmer in commenting about the rain fall this year said, "It used to thunder out there once in a while but it doesn't even do that any more."

And speaking of crops, the line seems to be at about Horace where the crops get worse and better. East of Horace the corn looks much better than west and at Greeley better yet. The further east one goes the better the corn looks. Beginning at about North Loup, (outside the irrigation) and on west it is worse. In the section of Mira Valley and from there west and south the corn is blank and most farmers have turned their cattle and horses in the fields.

But not the least of the troubles is the fact that the pastures (besides the corn) have gone for weeks. We used to think we had five months of pasture season at least and seven of feeding. This year and for several past there has been hardly three months of pasture and that not good leaving nine months to feed.

The grasshoppers have not been nearly as bad this year.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Farm youths will strive to win 30 dollars worth of premium money offered in three judging contests at our fair next week. These events will be crops judging on Wednesday, and livestock and dairy cattle judging on Thursday. All boys attending school in Valley county may compete in any or all three divisions.

The crops judging rivalry begins on Wednesday forenoon at nine o'clock. Here the lads will try to place classes of wheat, barley, ear corn, alfalfa, sweet clover, oats, shelled corn, and grain sorghum seed correctly. Written reasons will probably be required on the first four mentioned.

The judging of dairy cattle and other livestock will be held jointly at nine o'clock on Thursday morning. Contestants may enter just the dairy or livestock section of this combined feature if they so desire. Separate prizes are awarded in each section. Oral reasons will be given by the young men for their placings on each kind of livestock. Hogs, sheep, horses, beef and dairy cattle are to be judged.

The contests will give boys with nothing to show a chance to participate in the fair's activities and acquire some valuable training.

Ability to judge farm products is one of the most essential and constantly used talents of the farmer. Every time a crop or animal is sold, judgment must be passed on its worth, and mistakes are paid for in cash. The art of judging is practiced by many but mastered by few.

THE DOCTOR'S HOURS

Rare indeed is the Doctor who can say his working time is confined within certain hours. Office hours may be thus and so, but what with free clinics, Hospital staff service, Hospital calls, operation hours, and emergency calls, the Doctor's working day is long and arduous. Even the Doctor with a highly specialized practice is not immune to broken hours of sleep and rest.

MEDICAL FACTS

4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

The blood is a fluid tissue. Its weight is about 8% of that of the body. It is confined to a system of vessels; the arteries, veins and capillaries. The arteries carry the blood away from the heart; the capillaries are fine, thin-walled vessels which distribute the blood throughout the various organs and the veins gather it up and carry it back to the heart.

The blood is composed of a fluid part, called the plasma, in which float the various kinds of blood cells or corpuscles. The plasma makes up a little more than half the total volume of the blood. The cells or corpuscles make up the rest of it. The cells are classed as red corpuscles, white corpuscles and platelets or thrombocytes.

When the blood leaves the lungs, the hemoglobin or coloring substance contained in the red corpuscles is heavily charged with oxygen. This is delivered to the individual cells or elements that make up the various tissues and organs of the body. The oxygen is used by these tissues in the process of living and working and replacing damage very much as oxygen is used in burning of a fire. This slow burning process results in waste products, the main one of which is carbon dioxide. This must be compared to the smoke of a fire, especially as it is a gas. The red cells, having delivered a load of oxygen, take on a load of this carbon dioxide and carry it back to the lungs where it is transferred to the air and we breathe it out of our bodies.

Since the blood, as such, is confined to the vessels, there has to be a "middle man" in the transfer from blood to tissue cells, and back. This is made up of a fluid called lymph. The lymph is produced by filtration of some of the liquid of the blood plasma through the wall of the vessel into the spaces about the tissue cells. All the exchange of oxygen, carbon dioxide and other chemicals from

One selection featured the trombone section, and two gave the baton twirlers, three of them, a chance to show what they could do. The band played "Over the Rainbow," with Mrs. Walter Gibbons as vocalist, and concluded their program with "God Bless America," Mrs. Maudie Smith of Comstock singing the air and the audience joining in the last chorus.

"Vacation's Over, School Starts Today," and Unpleasant Chores Engaged Attention of Ord Youths As They Prepared for School Again

The scenes pictured here typify tasks that engaged the attention of Ord boys and girls Friday and Saturday, as they prepared for the opening of school Monday morning. Toys had to be put away, and in the first of the photo-series Donnie Andersen, son of Judge and Mrs. John L. Andersen, stored away his baseball mask, catcher's glove and other toys. He may have to dig the football out later, for that season is only starting. In the next scene Barber Jim Gilbert shears the locks of Richard Wampole, grown long and coarse during a summer of daily swimming. Next, Danie Mason's expression tells how shoes feel after months of happy barefoot play, with Russell Craven of the Brown-McDonald store as shoe fitter, and last, Kenneth Tatlow and Gerald Donnelly visit Springer's Variety to stock up on pencils, tablets and the other supplies that every school boy needs.

U. P. Motor Back on Job With New Engine

The same old Union Pacific motor pulled into the station at Ord Monday evening, with a highly improved engine. Rebuilding of the old engine was completed at Grand Island, and the train returned to Ord with the new engine.

The new engine burns butane gas, which is twice as powerful as the ordinary gasoline. It is also a much more dangerous explosive than nitro-glycerine. Trainmen said Saturday morning that the gas, which is made from the vapors of gasoline, is so highly evaporative that if a thousand gallons of the liquid were poured out, none of it would ever reach the ground. In the Phillips 66 laboratories where the gas is produced, workmen are not allowed to wear shoes with nails in them. Even the least bit of friction in the building could cause a disastrous explosion.

Although the new gas is much more expensive than ordinary gasoline, the motor will be able to go four miles on a gallon of butane gas. Ordinary gas limits the distance to about two miles per gallon.

Hans and Pete Petersen in Their Irrigated Field of Hybrid Corn

Hans and Pete Petersen, who are farming on the former Pierson place in Springdale, have had great success in making crops respond to irrigation this year. Hans learned much about irrigation in Idaho, and returned to put his knowledge into use here. The Petersen brothers moved to Springdale from Neligh, Nebr., last spring.

The field shown above comprises 35 acres, and required little work to get it in shape for irrigation. The land was fall-irrigated, and has been watered twice this year, starting about July first for the first watering. The second watering is being done at the present time.

The ditch extends along the upper end of the field, and is so constructed that it is comparatively simple to handle the work. The main ditch runs east along the south side of the road, and, because of the slope of the field, the water is taken out at the north-east corner of the field and runs west in the smaller ditch.

The seed used was Funk's hybrid No. G-212, and was purchased from the Noll Seed company. It was drilled in rows 40 inches apart, starting May 12. The ground was cultivated twice, and then gone over with the one-shovel, shown above, a special device for making ditches for irrigation, first used in Springdale by the Petersens. The field is entirely free from weeds, which makes irrigation much easier.

Hans Petersen says that the soil here differs materially from that in Idaho. The soil there is a volcanic ash, while here it is silt. While they differ greatly in composition, the methods of irrigation are very similar, and the results obtained do not differ greatly. When amount of work required is considered, he says that results from the irrigation of corn are most satisfactory.

Above is shown the cross ditch at the upper end of the Petersen field. Boxes made of lath admit the right amount of water into each of the ditches between the rows. Right—This is a one shovel, and one of them is used on either half of a regular cultivator to form the ditches which carry the water between the rows of corn. Hans Petersen is in the picture.

90 Years of Progress

Ninety years ago this week a wood-burning locomotive drawing a clattering passenger car pulled over six miles of strap-iron rail freshly-laid across the Illinois prairie from Batavia to Turner Junction. Thus, on September 2, 1850, what was to become the 11,000-mile Burlington system, was born.

During the 90 years that have ensued the Burlington has shared the hopes and fears of farmers and stockmen... toiled side by side with the builders of cities and industries... experienced prosperity and depression. And, through its colonization work and family of employees, has played an important part in the social and cultural development of the fourteen states it serves.

Today, as in 1850, the Burlington is a willing partner in developing the American West, a West still fired by the enthusiasm, the courage and the vision of its dauntless pioneers.

Ord People, Under Guidance of Mrs. Ben Rose, Enjoy Outing at "Old Baldy" Blow-out North of Burwell

++ Something Different ++

No matter where we stop to visit, there is nearly always a local point of interest to which townspeople like to direct guests. But surely no point of vantage is more unusual than the one I saw for the first time a few days ago north of Burwell about ten miles. It is a huge sand blowout.

Mrs. Ben Rose, who invariably knows fascinating odd facts, has taken so many visitors to see this blowout that she has put together a little speech to tell them about it, and also about the many lovely wild flowers found near by. So last week she directed a tour to this sand cliff for a host of Ord campfire girls, their mothers and other interested adults.

Crossing the bridge out of Burwell we proceeded up a fine gravelled highway through grassy sandhills. After going a good way our guide stopped us suddenly. We parked beside the highway, nothing unusual in sight as yet. But to our west rose a hill that seemed almost the king of them all, only one or two others were as high.

We began to notice a little path up this hill, and started to follow it through the tall grass and sunflowers. Before we knew it we were huffing and puffing, climbing rapidly indeed up a steepish hillside. The line lengthened out, we continued to toil up that hill. At last we got to the top and walked a few steps to the edge of the big blowout.

We found ourselves on the edge of a cliff, the sand dropped away sharply and a steep bowl of sand resulted, far below us. The children at once took off their shoes and stockings and so did some older folks. They slid and tumbled down the sand grade to the bottom, worked hard to get back to the top and do it over again. It was as much fun as sliding in the snow, and they tried head-first, rolling over and over and even cartwheeling down the descent. However they went the easiest way to land seemed to be most informally.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Duemey, Quiz photographers who had gone on the trip, were entranced by the many unusual shots, the picturesque sky of bright blue with white clouds setting off their snaps perfectly. They ran up and down getting pictures now almost straight up, and again almost straight down, considering it a field day.

Mrs. Rose showed us "trees three inches high bearing fruit" . . . little sand cherry trees, and everyone ate them with a pucker. She showed us flowers and grasses to dry for winter bouquets, and all the ladies came home with their arms full and the children loved picking them. The Duemey's snapped more pictures.

The view from the top of this sand peak is worth the climb, a panorama of the sandhills spreading to the horizon all about. Even the sun looked below us.

Something odd was the apparently stiff draft blowing up out of that sandpit. It was unpleasant to lean over the top edge for sand blew stinging into the air, though it was not visible. All the sand in this column today is very fine strained sand!

And next time we want a visit Mrs. Rose has promised to show us a blowout with 400 acres in it, bigger yet. —Irma.

Nimble Fingers.

The Nimble Fingers held their last meeting of the year at the home of their assistant leader Mrs. Lester Sample. Roll call was "What to exhibit at the fair," and "What prizes you won."

At the Greeley county fair the Brown girls exhibited a health poster which placed third. Beckie Kriewald and Geraldine Gowen exhibited a food poster which placed second. One first prize and several seconds and thirds were won by club members.

All the members were present, which completed a perfect attendance record except for Olive Brown who attended 4-H club week in Lincoln.

Beckie Kriewald and Geraldine Gowen gave a first aid demonstration which they planned to give at Achievement day. Lunch of sandwiches, cake and cold drink were served.—Geraldine Gowen, reporter.

42 Visitors for Teacher.

One of the most popular patients the Ord hospital has had in a long time, if number of visitors is any criterion, is Miss Rhoda Miller, teacher in District 68 school who underwent a major operation performed last week by Dr. J. N. Round. On Saturday 42 visitors called on Miss Miller.

Ord adults who enjoyed a trip to the famous "Old Baldy" blowout north of Burwell Thursday afternoon, under the guidance of Mrs. Ben Rose of that village, were Mrs. Leo Long, Mrs. O. E. Johnson, Mrs. J. C. Work and her daughters Mrs. Marion Cushing and Mrs. Horace Travis, Mrs. John Misko, Mrs. Eugene Leggett, Mrs. Edward Kokes, Rev. W. Ray Radloff. A number of Ord Campfire girls and several other children also went to see the spot which has furnished an excuse for many an outing.

Photos taken by Laverne Duemey show the group at pick picking wild flowers, which grow in profusion near the blow-out; children and adults inspecting the big hole; and, at bottom, a group of children enjoying a romp in the fine sand.

See column at left for a more complete description of the trip and the blow-out.

Ray Nelson Killed in Auto Wreck at Atkinson Thursday

Met Instant Death When Auto Left Highway No. 11; Funeral Held Monday.

Ray Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson of Ord, was killed instantly in an automobile wreck on highway No. 11 about half a mile south of Atkinson at 10:30 Thursday evening. Ross Blessing, who was riding with him, escaped the crash without injury.

The two men were on their way to Martin, S. D., in the interests of the Inland Construction company, by whom they were employed. Nelson, who was driving the car, had recently returned from Dubois, Wyo., where he had been working.

The car apparently left the road when the driver failed to follow a curve just north of the Matousek farm. Nelson was dead when taken from the wreck. The body was taken to the Kilbury undertaking parlors in Atkinson, and was taken from there to Ord by Pearson and Anderson, who had charge of funeral arrangements.

Funeral services were held from the Ord Methodist church Monday at 2 p. m., with Rev. Clarence Jensen of Bethany Lutheran church in charge, assisted by Rev. G. C. Robertson. Mrs. E. O. Carlson, Mrs. Mark Tolson, Arden Clark and Bob Noll sang, with Mrs. Noll at the piano.

The pall bearers were Harry Knecht, Dr. J. G. Kruml Bud Ashman, Roy Clement, Oscar Larsen and Duane Woods. Mrs. Chris Belers and Mrs. Duane Woods had charge of the flowers. Burial was in the Ord cemetery.

Ray Nelson was born Sept. 4, 1912 in the community known as Haskell Creek, where he was also educated and grew to manhood. He spent most of his life with his parents on the farm. The past year and a half he had been employed by the Inland Construction company.

He leaves to mourn his untimely departure, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Nelson; four brothers and five sisters, Leo of Burwell, Harold of Olympia, Wash., Wilmar of Mitchell, Albert of Fremont, Mrs. Anna Pock of Grand Island, Mrs. Hilda Dye, Mrs. Dorothy Kizer, Laura and Elsie, all of Ord, also twelve nieces and nephews and a host of other relatives and friends.

Ord Beats Greeley With Barjenbruch as Pitcher

The best attendance of the season greeted the Ord and Greeley baseball teams when they met for a game at the new athletic field Sunday. They were not disappointed, as the contest furnished plenty of thrills all the way. After a seven-inning session the game ended 12 to 11 for Ord.

Ord tried out two new players and found them both all that could be desired. Martin Barjenbruch pitched his first game for Ord and struck out 13 men in the first 6 innings before he was taken out in favor of a pinch hitter. Piskorski, who relieved him, struck out 2 men in the final three innings.

L. Furtak caught the early innings and then retired in favor of another new man, Coach Roscoe Tolly, who showed that he was all to the good behind the plate. Nordhus went all the way for Greeley, striking out 5 Ord men, allowing 14 hits. The Ord pitchers allowed 10 hits and Ord committed 7 errors while Greeley men made 4.

Roland Johnson went into the Ord line-up in the middle of the game and got two home runs in his two times at bat, the second with the bases loaded. Fox also got a homer for Ord, and Piskorski and Jorgensen each got 3 hits. Novak of Greeley got 3 hits, one of them for 3 bases.

Temperature Drops from 100 Saturday to 33 Wednesday

At Burwell 35 was reported as the official temperature Tuesday morning.

Nelson Suffers Painful Injury

Leslie Nelson, 24, son of Neil Nelson, had his left hand badly mangled at the Ord ice plant on Thursday evening while cutting ice for delivery the next day. He slipped while handling the ice, threw his hand back and into the revolving blade of the saw.

Nelson was alone at the time, but he called Roy Whiting, who lives next door, and he took him to the Ord hospital at once, where it was found that he had lost part of the thumb, all of the index and middle fingers, and part of the hand. The wounds were dressed and he was able to return home Monday.

The saw is protected by guards against ordinary accidents, but this was one of those unusual occurrences that cannot be foreseen or guarded against. Nelson began working for the company about a month ago. It is customary to saw the large cakes partly through ahead of time to facilitate delivery, and this was what Nelson was doing at the time of the accident.

80 Acres of Corn Fails to Fill Silo

Davis Creek—(Special)—How serious an effect the drought had here was demonstrated last week by John Palser when he tried to fill his silo. He cut eighty acres of corn, made ensilage and put it into his silo. The silo was only half full. In 1939 fifteen acres of corn filled the silo.

1st Day Program at Fair Pleases but Crowd Small

Exhibits High in Quality, Carnival Good; Starlite Revue Opens Today.

Though only about 1,500 people were present in the afternoon and a slightly larger crowd in the evening, the Valley county fair got off to a good start yesterday. Weather was cool and pleasant Tuesday afternoon but was somewhat on the chilly side to attract a big crowd in the evening, though the Bohy dance pavilion had a good business after the platform show and the softball game ended.

Today's and Thursday attendance should be much larger for this afternoon comes the feature baseball game between the Colored International All-Stars, along with acts by the Starlite Revue company, and tonight, Thursday afternoon and Thursday evening the entire Starlite Revue of 1940 will be presented, with accompanying music by the Hammond electric organ.

The Ord band, directed by Henry Deines, played yesterday. Today the Comstock band plays and on Thursday the Arcadia band will be at the fair. Arcadia high school will present other entertainment in connection with the band concerts.

Exhibits are fine in quality, though in some departments the quantity is not so great. The Magic Empire Shows are on hand as advertised and are pleasing the Midway crowds, and all stage and track attractions advertised were on hand for the opening.

There are some fine sheep on exhibit and they are all shown by Arcadia young people, Betty and Neal Waikemeyer and Phyllis Bose. Don Round is superintendent of the sheep department and also of the swine, of which there are a number of exhibitors. K. C. Foutz of Seward is the judge of all livestock.

Among the exhibitors in the swine department are Edward Rousek with his Poland Chinas, Edward Kokes with his spotted Poles and Clifford Goff, also with Poles. Willard Visek of Elyria has a fine entry of Hampshires.

In the cattle department, of which Dave Arnold is superintendent, W. O. Zanger has his usual fine showing of polled Herefords, and Kokes brothers are showing some especially nice Holsteins. In this same building are the baby beavers of the 4-H club boys and also some fine dairy cattle.

Harry Bresley is showing the finest line of Percherons to be seen in this section of the country, and any lover of good horses who fails to look them over is missing a real treat.

John P. Carse, general manager for the Western Mineral Products company, has his trailer located near the horse building and is exhibiting Tippy, the famous $1,000 rooster and offering prizes to those who come nearest in guessing his age each day. There is quite an interesting story connected with Tippy, which Mr. Carse takes delight in telling.

Tippy was never exhibited in competition. He is of expensive stock and was raised on a special diet. He had a hand, or rather, a foot in the discovery of a method of keeping chicken's feet and eggs clean, and in so doing was of great value to his owner, who for this season has him insured for $1,000.

Miss Virus Harkness is helping Leonard Woods, sup't., to look after the poultry department. There are white and barred Plymouth Rocks, Austrian whites, white Wyandottes, buff, brown and white Leghorns and Rhode Islands reds. Also there are turkeys, white Pekin, Muscovy, white Indian Runner and fawn Indian Runner and call ducks, gray and white geese.

In the agricultural hall Henry Enger, superintendent, is assisted by Alma and Dorothy Jorgensen and K. W. Harkness. There is a fair exhibit of farm products, the variety being about like last year, but the quantity is less. There are some fine pumpkins, squashes, watermelons and cantaloupes. The small grain exhibit

Cosmopolitans Elect Officers Monday Eve

The first autumn meeting of the Ord Cosmopolitan club was held at the City cafe Monday evening, with 18 of the 24 members present. President J. N. Round reported on a picnic which was held during the summer, and also presented a copy of the official Cosmopolitan song book for consideration of the members.

At the election of officers Hilding Pearson, last year's vice-president, was advanced to the position. For vice-president the names of Kenneth Draper and Syl Furtak were proposed, with Draper winning by a close vote. For secretary-treasurer Floyd Beranek and Harold Cuckler tied for high on the first vote, and Beranek won by one vote in the second ballot.

For trustees Harold Cuckler was elected for 3 years and Jim Gilbert for 2 years. The new president was then introduced and spoke briefly on his plans for the coming year. SLUGGISH? GAS? TRY QUICK RELIEF

If sluggish, have bloating gas from temporary constipation, get the famous Silver Color Bottle of Adlerika that contains 3 laxative ingredients to give a more balanced result and usually acts in two hours or less.—Ed F. Beranek, Druggist.

Practical Jokers Used the Want Ads

Unknown to the general public and even to the Quiz editor, two of Ord's practical jokers have been using the want ad department of The Quiz to have fun with each other, and they had so much fun it seems time to let the public in on the jokes.

In the issue of August 23 appeared this harmless-sounding ad.

ANYONE DESIRING information on the care and raising of babies, call or write 1706 M street, Ord.

It now develops that the ad was inserted by Ernest Horner and that the address given is that of Vernie Andersen's filling station. Vernie's face was pretty red when calls started coming in but he turned the tables on Ernest by inserting this ad in last week's Quiz:

FOR SALE—All my own personal fishing tackle. See Ernest Horner.

It was Horner's turn to squirm when people began trying to buy his prized fishing tackle but to prove the quality of the goods he drove to Burwell and pulled out a 7½ pound catfish.

Anyway, it was a lot of fun for both men, nobody was hurt and both Vernie and Ernest learned what most people know: That Quiz want ads get results.

POME

Ah—I wish I were the governor
And flit from place to place
Aboard the state owned aeroplane
To show my ruddy face
To multitudes of citizens.
Courageous they—and bold—
Who listen to my speeches
Despite the heat or cold.
I wish I were the governor
And bounced from cloud to cloud
To spread my pet philosophy
About from crowd to crowd.
It's tough, of course, upon the guy
Who is my opposition,
To have to pay HIS way about
In seeking my position.
I wish I were the governor
And sped from spot to spot
Carried in a state-owned plane
O'er every farm and cot.
Ah, yes, if I could only be
The Gov.—'twould be immense!
For then I, too, could wage campaign
And do it all at state expense!

North Loup

Jones-Schudel.
Miss Paula Jones became the bride of Harold L. Schudel Sunday afternoon, Sept. 8, at three o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones, in North Loup. Rev. J. A. Adams read the marriage lines, using the single ring service.

MRS. HAROLD SCHUDEL

The bride was gown in white tulle and wore a finger tip veil held in place by a wide coronet. She carried a bouquet of white roses and pink sweet peas. Her only attendant, her sister Charlotte, wore rose colored tulle and carried a bouquet of giant purple asters. Maynard Schudel was his brother's attendant and both wore dark suits.

Mavis Schudel sang "Because" and Dorothy Schudel played the wedding march as the bridal party descended from the stairway and took their places under a white arch trimmed with beautiful gladioli from the Veleba gardens. The arch is interesting as it is the same one used at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nelson.

Three Couples Celebrate Weddings

A father and mother, their two daughters and two son-in-laws appear in the above photo, taken last Sunday at the Walter Jorgensen place north of Ord. Left to right, they are: Mr. and Mrs. Axel Jorgensen, married 4 years; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jorgensen, married 23 years; and Mrs. and Mr. William Goff, who were married Aug. 31 of this year. One hundred and fifty persons were present for the big celebration.

Walter Jorgensen and Miss Anna Plejdrup were married Sept. 8, 1915, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Plejdrup, the ceremony being performed by the late Judge Hjalmar Gudmundsen. Sunday at 6:30 p. m. dinner at their home was attended by 150 friends and relatives, and they received many lovely gifts.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

The livestock phase of our county fair is becoming more and more a young peoples' event. All the dairy cattle, baby beef and sheep showmen, and 5 out of 6 swine exhibitors are boys or girls.

Eighteen fine heifers competed in the dairy division on Tuesday. Sixteen are Holsteins, while two belong to the Brown Swiss breed. First place winners in the five groupings of this division were Lillian Florian, Louis Florian, Willard Visek, Oren Kingston and Lyle Fost.

Judge K. C. Fouts was loud in his praise of the baby beef show, where one Angus, and 16 Hereford steers were displayed. Delvan Kingston got first in the light class, while Oren Kingston won the heavy class and also the grand championship.

Pigs of four different breeds were trucked in, with the awards quite evenly divided. Top honors went to Leonard Kokes' Spotted Poles, Edward Rousek's Black Poles, Betty Walkeneyer's Durocs, and Willard Visek's Hampshires.

Our junior sheep exhibit was limited to five fat lambs, with Phyllis Bode taking home the first three ribbons. This county needs more and better sheep.

Open class exhibits included the largest showing of mules in several years, owned mostly by Henry Geweke. There was the usual good natured competition between Clement brothers' and Zangger's noted Hereford herds. Harry Bresley was also on hand with his outstanding drove of purebred Percheron horses.

is good and there is an assortment of Irish and sweet potatoes.

In the ear corn section there are some fine looking samples, especially in the pop corn and flint corn. A section of this building is devoted to an exhibit of clothing and other articles made in the WPA sewing rooms. Mrs. J. K. Rashaw was in charge of this exhibit yesterday.

Mrs. Glen D. Johnson and her daughter, Mrs. Ronald Rose, have charge of the dining hall this year and seemed to be having a fair first day's patronage. Many people were planning to remain on the grounds and were eating meals and lunches there.

Mrs. R. Clare Clement has charge of the girls 4-H club work, J. A. Kovanda is in charge of the boys 4-H club work and the Vocational Agriculture department, and Mrs. Edna Roe has charge of the home economics department. Mrs. Ed Burrows has charge of the AAA exhibit, and Mrs. Bessie Achen is looking after the senior canned goods section.

In this building the 4-H girls cookery and sewing exhibit look fine. On the opposite side are shown the junior and senior canned goods, and the senior baked goods. The AAA exhibit shows the effects of erosion and proper methods of soil conservation, by means of drawings and photographs.

Mrs. William Zabloudil and Mrs. Anthony Thill are in charge of the floral exhibit, which is one that is fully up to the standard of former years, and in some respects seems to be better than last year. This is one of the favorite exhibits and many were visiting it yesterday.

The exhibit that represents the interests of more people than any other is that of the Valley county schools, of which Miss Clara McClatchey is superintendent. A total of 50 schools have a part in this exhibit, and the items are many and the quality fine. More people were admiring this exhibit yesterday than any other, and their interest was a deserved tribute to the work of the children.

The Ord band played a concert immediately after dinner in the bandstand inside the track, after which the baseball game between Ord and North Loup got under way. Mayor M. B. Cummins announced the game from the stand behind home plate. Dr. J. W. McGinnis and Raymond Christensen took care of the umpiring job in a satisfactory manner.

Sheldon and Noyes were the battery for North Loup, and Barjenbruch, Piskorski and Dahlin for Ord. The Ord boys had their batting eyes open, and straightened out a large number of Sheldon's curves for hits. The Ord pitchers met with better success, and the game ended with Ord holding the big end of a 9 to 4 score.

Lack of time forbids the publishing of the list of winners in any of the departments this week, but a complete story of the results will appear in the Quiz next week, together with photos of the high lights of the fair.

Last night's program started with a concert by the Ord high school band, and was followed by an exhibition of baton twirling by groups and individuals from Ord, Arcadia, North Loup, Scotia and St. Paul. Others had shown their ability during the afternoon, including a group from Comstock.

Both afternoon and evening the Rolling Rockets pleased the public with their seemingly impossible stunts on roller skates. The Great Waldo, a clown, showed stunts that were not only comic, but extremely thrilling. Col. Bill Fuss put his mare through her paces and put on fully as good a show as some nationally known performers who appear in similar stunts at rodeos.

The Cotesfield softball team, spiked up with a number of players from the negro International Allstar baseball team, finally eked out a 13 to 12 victory over Ord, the feature of the game being the comic antics of the negro players.

Holds September Meet
Valley District Salon of 3 et 40 held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Irene Barrett in Greeley. A lovely dinner was served at 7 p. m., to the members and their husbands. Their chief interest is in child welfare, and at this meeting they made plans for putting tubercular tests in the Burwell schools. Last year the Salon was back of the tests in the Arcadia schools and the year before in the Ord schools.
The reports from the state meeting held at Norfolk were given. The next meeting will be held at Spalding with Mrs. John Schepher the first Thursday in October. A luncheon will be served. It is hoped that all members can be present for that meeting.

5th Columnist Trapped, Killed by Quiz Force
An intruder suspected of being a 5th columnist and possibly an emissary of Hitler, was trapped and killed in Ord Saturday morning.
The intruder, disguised as a rat, raced through the press room of the Quiz office, through the composing room and toward the front office, possibly with intent of doing some high class sabotage.
Unfortunately for him he was noticed by Eagle Eye Ed Dugosh, the office "devil," who immediately reported his findings to Foreman H. J. McBeth and other members of the composing and press room staffs.
Arming themselves with brooms, floor brushes, sink plungers and metal galleys, the boys from the back room advanced in a skirmish line on the trail of the suspected spy. Through the stock room and into the business office they deployed in open formation, and Kent Ferris found the intruder had taken temporary refuge under the office safe. Poked from his hiding place, the suspect made a dash for the editorial office, probably having heard of "freedom of the press."
Out of the editorial office and into the hall he was chased, and as he frantically climbed a screen door Foreman McBeth hit him once with a sink plunger but failed to stop him. Hero of the fray was Cletus Ringlein, linotype operator, who finally killed the intruder with a floor brush.
Only damage done was to the boss' shins, which Asa Anderson hit when he leveled a wild blow at the intruder with a metal galley.
Saturday afternoon in the alley behind the Quiz office there lay a dead rat. His attempt at espionage, if such it was, had failed.

In the Good Old Days

The picture of the four men on the rock proved easy for Forrest Johnson, who named them as soon as he saw them, at about 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. His mother, Mrs. E. L. Johnson sent down her guess by her grandson, Eddie Dumond, shortly before noon Thursday. The men were, top row, left to right, Albert McEldred, Ward Van Wile and H. J. Schwaner. The man in front is Ed Johnson. The picture was handed in by Mrs. E. O. Hunter, who ran across it when preparing for their sale. The location is supposed to be near Denver, but we don't know for certain. This week we show five boys, four of whom are well known today. The fourth is deceased, let us know who you think they are.

Enjoyed Minnesota Trip.

Here are a few lines of our trip to Nisswa, Minn. The party consisted of ten Archie Cienny and wife, Zola Cetak and John Cienny of Comstock, Cash Welnak and his wife, Junior Dodge, Leon, Carol Jean and myself. We left Elroy Monday, Aug. 19 at about 4:30 a. m., making the trip in two cars, one pulling a trailer and couldn't travel very fast. Leon had driven our car as far as Bartlett when he let John take the wheel and we got into Archie's car and were to ride with them a ways while we rested, as Leon and I had come from the store at 3:30 where we had stayed to clean up after the dance. When we got home we took showers, changed clothes, awoke the rest of them as they were all sleeping at our house, and were ready to be off as we had packed the cars the night before.

We had planned for the two cars to try to stay together but that didn't last long for we separated at Neligh. One car going north on No. 14 and the other going east to Norfolk on No. 275. When Archie reached Laurel we decided to wait for the other car, so we did, waited an hour, then decided they must have had trouble so drove back about 40 miles to No. 59 junction which goes north. Inquiring at a filling station there they told us they had noticed a car pulling a similar trailer turn north on 59. So thinking John had decided to go through Yankton instead of Sioux City, we too took No. 59. After inquiring at the toll bridge at Yankton, we found out they had not yet passed over the bridge. We decided there was nothing to do but go on. At Pipestone, Minn., we stopped at the home of Audrey's aunt, Mrs. Elmer Stout, who lives on the highway and rested there, thinking we might see the other car. After an hour there we decided they possibly were ahead of us so started on again. Some miles north of Pipestone, we traveled a great number of miles through country that was in the midst of threshing. It seemed as though there was a threshing outfit in full swing on every other farm. The fields were thick with grain shocks and stubble were green with grass that looked almost knee high. The corn fields were a beautiful sight, nice tall dark green stalks with large ears hanging on them. They looked like our irrigated fields here.

After a few hours riding through these beautiful fields the lakes began to appear and the further north the fewer and smaller fields and more trees. We arrived at Brainard about 9 o'clock, stopping there for lunch. By this time Junior was nervous as we had passed a great number of nice large lakes on which people were fishing and he couldn't understand why we kept on. He had eaten his lunch and had gone out to ace the street to quiet that fishing bug that had been gnawing him all afternoon. While out there he had spied the other car coming down the highway and tried to flag them down, but as it was dark, they were not sure it was he. I, too, was nervous over the whereabouts of our car wondering if they had met with an accident. I went out on the street and in a few minutes saw the car coming, went to the edge of the highway to stop them. We now were about 19 miles from our destination. From Nisswa we drove directly to the Ord camp on Cullen Lake, as we wanted to stay there if the Leggett's cottage was available. It was about 11:30 or 12 p. m. when we woke Mr. Leggett from his slumber inquiring about the cottage, and to our delight it was vacated that day, so we moved in. Mr. Leggett came over with arm loads of bed linens and blankets and we soon had our beds made and were ready for bed as we were all tired from the trip. That fishing bug didn't let Junior rest long for he was up at 5:00, waking Cash to go fishing. They went out about 6 and at 8 came back in, Cash with a 6 lb. bass and Junior with a few blue gills. Most of us were up but not very lively, but the fish put a lively spirit into us for we all wanted to go out and bring one in like it. The ladies took turns cooking the meals and doing up the house work, with fishing, walking and boating between times, but they caught their share of fish too. Part of the time we would drive to Pelican Lake, about 5 miles distance to fish for wal-eyed pike. We got a few, but not many, as they were not striking tired of fishing for pike, would drive a couple miles and try their luck with crappies and large blue gills at Lake Hubert. Some of the blue gills caught there, weighed almost 3/4 lb. when dressed. We ate fish every day and enjoyed them to the last, and brought back several butter tubs full.

We enjoyed ourselves. It couldn't have been any other way with Mr. Leggett as accommodating as he was. He satisfied our every wish but said it was beyond his power to make the sun shine. It was cloudy all but about a day and a half while we were in camp. On Sunday afternoon we women made a drive to Walker, about 50 miles north, to see how fishing was there, but there too the big ones were not biting. Of course we couldn't miss visiting Mr. Fenner's. Last year he was busy building a stone fireplace and wall. It is all finished and is a beautiful piece of work. This year he too was hard at work building a stone garage, already working on the roof when we left, and expected to have it completed in a few days.

It had been cloudy and misting for several days so decided we would leave on Wednesday forenoon. When we awoke the sun was shining so pretty we decided to stay another day or two. Part of us taking two boats and riding over Middle Cullen and into and around Lower Cullen and back. Coming back one motor ran out of gas so we had to tow them in the entire length of Middle Cullen. When we reached the cottage it was almost noon and was again cloudy. The boys had planned to go to Pelican to try for pike that afternoon so started to prepare dinner before the others, who had gone cherry picking, came in. We had not sat down to dinner when it started raining and kept raining harder each minute, so we decided to pack up and start home. We left about 3 p. m. and drove thru rain all through Minnesota. I imagine about 400 miles or more, and through Iowa and into Nebraska. We ran out of rain somewhere between Brunswick and Bartlett. The worst looking crops seen anywhere were right here at home in Garfield and northern Valley County. We drove all night and arrived here about 8 a. m., all tired out but making plans for another fishing trip to Minnesota again next year. They told us the fish will strike better in September so I don't believe it would take a great deal of persuading to get Leon to go back in a week or two.

MRS. LEON CIENNY.

Ellery Palmatier Enroute to Japan, Writes Parents.

(Editor's Note—Ellery Palmatier a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Palmatier, of Ord, recently left Ord after a four months' visit to his parents and upon his arrival in San Francisco accepted a job as printer on a steamship of the American President line, bound for Yokohama, Japan and other eastern points on a 54-day trip. This letter to his parents, which he gave permission to The Quiz to print, was written aboard ship.)

In Port, San Francisco Monday, August 19

Dear folks and family: Am sort of getting the routine down pat. Having worked at so many brands of the printing trade, it is fairly easy for me to accommodate myself to shipboard printing conditions.

We lowered the boats this afternoon and rowed our hearts out around the ship to please the inspectors; merely a precautionary measure. If each man didn't know his duties in an emergency the result would be confusion and perhaps tragedy. Must turn in now—more later.

Tuesday, August 20 1st day Enroute Honolulu We got under way on schedule and will see nothing but ocean for 5 days. Everything is in fine order, our quarters are regal and the food is the best in the world. Some of us enjoy certain privileges and I have the run of the pantry and kitchen. Not much to write about at sea. I felt just a little sentimental about leaving the good old U. S. A., for 54 days but it is a splendid sight to travel out of San Francisco Bay under the Golden Gate Bridge.

Wednesday, August 21 Up bright and early, in fact too early as I had forgotten that we gain a half hour every 24 hours when traveling west at sea. But a walk on the deck in the crisp morning air makes one glad to be alive. And a good hearty breakfast sets one right for a good day. The crew is a fine gang and there isn't a dull moment as yet. When at sea our world is like an inverted saucer, 26 miles in diameter as visibility is 13 miles in any direction, on account of the curvature of the earth. It is a bit rough to-day and makes writing difficult.

Thursday, August 22 The only disadvantage to finding our sea legs is that we will never find a sidewalk wide enough to walk on when we land. A person gets so accustomed to the rolling motion of a ship that he subconsciously shifts his weight from one foot to the other according to the way the ship is listing or pitching. Anyhow we are beginning to look forward to the islands. Have my work caught up so that I won't have to be on the ship until sailing time. Will try and find something nice for Mother in Hawaii.

Friday, August 23 Nothing much to write about today. A few hours on deck does one good. This salt air is a good tonic. We have only seen two ships since we left San Francisco and an occasional school of porpoises and flying fish. The latter are very interesting although they do not actually fly. They are able to propel themselves into the air and glide several yards. We appreciate the half hour we gain every 24 as we will be able to sleep later in the morning, but after we leave the Orient we make it up and that will be hard on us.

Saturday, August 24 The weather is beautiful out here under a tropical moon. The water is a rippling carpet of silver for our floating hotel. We are about 2,000 miles out of San Francisco doing about 15 nautical miles, or 17 land miles per hour. We should be at the islands by 2:00 p. m. tomorrow and yours truly will spend a couple of hours at Waikiki Beach. This water is ideal for swimming as it is of moderate temperature.

Sunday, August 25 Well, we are just in sight of the islands and as I'm writing this I can see why so many seamen have missed their boats in order to stay in these ports. The palms are wonderful and the tropical vegetation is magnificent. As I write this it seems that I can hear their welcoming song, Aloha Ae, and we are going to get a swell reception. Will mail this now as I want to get some solid ground under my feet before making the 9 day voyage to Japan. As soon as you receive this please write me, care S. S. President Taft, Yokohama, Japan. ELLERY PALMATIER

Burwell News

Written by Rex Wagner

Grid Season Open at Burwell Friday

Burwell high school's football aggregation will get off to an early start this season when they will meet the team from the Sacred Heart Academy of Greeley on the local gridiron Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Both teams will have had but two weeks practice. Several of Burwell's players were absent most of the first week as they were in Lincoln with the Burwell band playing for the state fair.

Coaches Wolcott, Shires and Beckwith report that thirty-two men are out for practice, fifteen of these are lettermen. The players are lacking in weight but appear to be developing speed and team work and local sport enthusiasts who have observed them at practice are quite encouraged with the prospects.

Probable starting lineup in the Greeley game is Robert Sorensen and Eugene Fransson, ends; Howard Stiton and Keith Pulliam, tackles; Raymond Blake and Roy Gerdes, guards; Keith DeLashmutt, center, with Conlee, Bob Dick Swanson, Lester Chaffin and Jack Anderson in the backfield. Burwell was successful in wresting a victory from the Irish last year. Burwell's players are favored with a blue grass covered field this year, something which Burwell has never had before. Pop Price has devoted many hours this summer to the care of the field. He has irrigated it with water pumped out of the irrigation ditch.

Burwell has a schedule of ten games this season, which follows: Sept. 13 Sacred Heart at Burwell. Sept. 20 Comstock at Comstock. Sept. 27 O'Neill at O'Neill. Oct. 4 Scotia at Burwell. Oct. 11 Ord at Burwell. Oct. 18 Sargent at Sargent. Nov. 1 Arcadia at Burwell. Nov. 8 Atkinson at Burwell. Nov. 15 Loup City at Loup City. Nov. 21 Taylor at Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Herse who now live in Illinois visited friends in Burwell Tuesday. They have spent a week in Ord with Mrs. Herse's parents.

QUIZ FORUM

Explains Proposed Change.

To the editor of the Quiz: In the Aug. 28 issue of the Quiz, Mr. W. A. Anderson writes about the petition asking for a change of government of Valley county from the present Supervisor system to a Commissioner system. Mr. Anderson seems to be a little alarmed and possibly he may have a reason to be so and asks for more information on the subject.

The writer was asked by several of the petitioners to answer Mr. Anderson's letter at once, but I had several good reasons for delaying the answer; First: I hate to write; second: I was in hopes that someone who knows more about the subject than I do, would answer Mr. Anderson's questions; third: I wanted to be sure that the information I had was correct before I passed it on to Mr. Anderson and the public in general. I am surely glad that I delayed because some of the information that was handed out to me while the petition was being circulated was pure bunk.

About 18 years ago I was very much in favor of changing to the Commissioners system, but as I studied the two systems, I somewhat cooled off due to misrepresentations that were made to me by those who pretended to know. The following are facts coming from a reliable source:

About 15 or 18 years ago half of the counties in the state were operating under the Supervisor system. At the present time 27 counties have the Supervisor system and 67 have the Commissioner system. The writer fails to find a single instance where a county that once has the Commissioner system has changed to the Supervisor system within at least the last twenty years.

Our seven supervisors at present can draw in salaries and mileage $600 per annum each, or a total of $4200, but are probably drawing a little less than that. According to our population, the three commissioners would get a fixed salary of $950 per annum and not $1700 each as Mr. Anderson and the writer and others have been led to believe. Nine hundred fifty dollars each is correct, plus $5.00 per day while laying out roadwork or supervising roadwork and no mileage as I understand it. The difference in cost of the two is not worth mentioning and it is hard to tell which is the cheapest when the cost of the fifteen township governments is taken into consideration.

We now have about 160 miles of county roads. To work said roads the board has available each year about $22,000 or $23,000 and about $60,000 worth of road machinery and tools, or $140 per mile.

We will take Michigan township for example, which is about the average, and we find that it has just about 40 miles of township roads, and by voting the limit that the law allows us we get $2000 or $2200, an average of $52.50 per mile for roadwork, culverts and bridges combined, and a few old scrapers to work with. Yes, the same old system of working the roads and raising the funds as our grand fathers had when they drove oxen. Valley county is made up of 16 townships and these 16 townships have been taxed directly and indirectly to pay the whole cost of $60,000 worth of county road machinery and still we have to pay a good stiff price for the use of this road machinery if we want any work done with it on the township roads. There are three railroad lines running through Valley county supported with business from the 16 townships but only 5 or 6 of these townships get the benefit of taxing the railroads for road purposes. Yes, 7 heads are supposed to know more than 3 heads, but 3 heads can get to an agreement easier than 7 heads and there is less chance to pass the buck.

Three heads seem to be sufficient to run the affairs of 67 counties in the state including Douglas and Lancaster county, whereas it is thought in only 27 counties that it takes 7 heads or more to run their affairs.

The Commissioner system undoubtedly has its faults, same as the Supervisor system has. One of these is centralization of government as Mr. Anderson points out, but what good to us is our local township government? We have such meager funds to work with. Forming of the commissioner's districts would be a very important job to avoid one part of the county having domination over some other part, as Mr. Anderson points out. Even at best some of the outlying portions of the county would be liable to be neglected. But right now under the Supervisor system some parts are shamefully neglected. I have no plans for forming commissioner districts but I feel sure that this part could be solved so as to be quite satisfactory. It works in 67 other counties.

In conclusion I will say that although I have signed the petition asking for the change, I am not hidebound about it, but am sitting on the fence and it would be very glad to have anyone point out through the Quiz additional advantages and disadvantages of the Commissioner system, as I don't pretend to know all about it by any means.

It would be a nice thing if a series of meetings could be arranged and have round table discussion or perhaps debates about the subject so that people could vote on it intelligently at the next election.

Hoping that I am not picking a quarrel with anyone. Yours truly, F. M. VODEINAL

Czechs of Central Nebraska Gather to Hear Dr. Chyle

Program Starts Off With Big Parade, Followed by Lecture, Supper, Dance.

Today is a big day for Czechs of central Nebraska, and they are gathering here in great numbers this afternoon to hear Dr. Oldrich Chyle, of Chicago, who served as consul for their homeland, Czechoslovakia before it became a part of the German Reich.

"Czech Day" festivities open at 1:30 this afternoon with a parade in the business district of Ord, which will be witnessed by hundreds of people already gathering on the curbs around the square as this newspaper goes to press.

The membership of four Z. C. B. J. lodges, those of Jungman hall, National hall, Comstock and Ord, will march in the parade as well as the Ord post of the American Legion. The Ord band will participate in the parade and possibly the Comstock band also. In the parade will be 20 or more floats, many of them planned and built by business firms. Boy Scouts will police the streets during the parade.

At the Bohemian hall at conclusion of the parade, Dr. Chyle will give addresses both in the Bohemian and American languages. He will be introduced by F. J. L. Benda, head of the local unit of the Czech-American National Alliance. His lecture will deal with Czechoslovakia's new fight for freedom from German tyranny.

A chicken supper and later a dance with music by the Joe L. Kesh orchestra complete the events of today, both to be held in the Bohemian hall.

Beer Dealers Obey Law, Sandall Says

Charles E. Sandall, state director of the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors committee, told a district meeting of beer retailers at the Hotel Ord Tuesday night, he had observed a marked improvement in retail operation since the brewing industry's self-regulation program was started two years ago.

"I say in all sincerity that beer dealers in the Ord area and throughout the state in the main are operating law-abiding, orderly places," Sandall said. "We must continue the gains that have been made if we are to retain public approval."

Retail licensees from six counties, Valley, Holt, Garfield, Wheeler, Greeley and Custer heard the state director urge complete cooperation with the local and state law enforcement authorities. Mr. Sandall praised the state liquor control statute and its administration by the state liquor commission.

The former U. S. district attorney pointed out in discussing the necessity of obeying the law, that one disreputable retailer in a community jeopardizes the welfare of the legitimate dealers.

He said the brewing industry's efforts had won wide praise from citizens interested in strict regulation, and that the Nebraska plan has been adopted in 14 states as a result of its success in this state. Sandall, whose home is in York, is making a tour of the state to meet with industry members. Olof Olsson, Ord wholesaler, presided at the meeting.

American Red Cross Allots Relief Funds

The American Red Cross announces two new allotments of funds out of the twenty million dollars raised for European war relief. A million dollars of food, clothing, bedding and hospital supplies is being loaded now to sail for Finland which is but gradually working out of the huge mass of ruin resulting from last winter's war. Almost a half million refugees have been homeless since Russia moved into the ceded Finnish territory. The American supplies, needed in anticipation of winter, are going forward in Finnish boats to Petsamo.

The other new allotment is $400,000 cabled to British raid victims. This will be used for clothing, mobile canteens and ambulances. The Red Cross aid to England, most generously supported by Americans in the East, where it can be handled, is the collecting of volumes of blood plasma to treat war-wounded soldiers and civilians. This project is carried out along with supplies being prepared for the Medical Corps of the U. S. Army and Navy as part of the national defense program.

Roosevelt Signs Draft Bill: Oct. 16 Registration Date

16,500,000 Affected by the 1st Peace Time Draft in Nation's History.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16 throughout the United States all males between the ages of 21 to 35 inclusive must appear at local registration places yet to be designated, and register for compulsory military training. Monday the nation's first peace time draft bill was signed by President Roosevelt, after its passage Saturday by Congress.

In Lincoln yesterday Governor R. L. Cochran said it will be several days before the draft system is set up in Nebraska. He has asked county officials in each county to suggest personnel for local draft boards, Cochran said, and as soon as these suggestions are made he will appoint local officials, who then will designate the registration places in each county.

After registrations are complete, a national drawing by lot will determine the order in which questionnaires will be mailed to the men. On the basis of the questionnaires, local boards will place the men in immediate classifications—those available for immediate service, those deferred because of dependents, etc.

All married men living with their wives may expect exemption at least from the first draft, army men said. Quotas will be assigned for each area and local boards will select sufficient men from among those available for immediate service to fill the quota for the area. Those so selected will undergo physical examinations and, if they pass, will be inducted into service.

About 16,500,000 Americans are eligible. It is estimated that the army seeks 400,000 by January 1 and 900,000 by May 1. All men will be trained for a period of one year and pay for privates will be $30 per month.

By next week it is expected that more will be known about the draft bill as it affects Ord and the rest of this territory.

Raising of Champions Is a Habit of Kingston Boys

At the Valley county fair last week these boys made a clean sweep of the 4-H beef championships, Orin (top) showing the animal adjudged best in the heavy division and Delivan (below) showing the best animal in the lighter division. Orin's steer was given the grand championship, Delivan's the reserve championship.

Orin Kingston also fed the registered Holstein heifer which won top rating in the 1-year-and-under class at last week's show. In 1933 Delivan Kingston had the grand champion Holstein calf at the Ord fair. Results attained by these brothers demonstrate the value of 4-H club competition in developing an understanding of livestock raising among young men and women of the county, and the Valley county fair provides them an opportunity to show what they have accomplished.

400 Earth Dams Being Built on Valley Co. Farms

Construction Part of the AAA Soil Program; Terracing, Contouring, Also Done.

More than 400 earth dams are being built on farms of Valley county this fall as part of the AAA soil building program, said Chas. E. Veleba, county ACP chairman, this morning. While local farmers most generally here in former years included seeding of alfalfa and sweet clover, strip cropping, resting pastures from May 1 to Oct. 1, contour listing, summer fallowing and planting of trees, including shelter belts.

The building of earth dams on the farm is a practice recommended for conservation of soil and water, to prevent erosion and as a measure of flood control, said Veleba.

Each individual farm taking part in the AAA program has a soil building allowance ranging from $15 to $120, depending on the size and type of the farm, and operator of the farm may earn this allowance by any one of 43 different measures. Some recommended by the AAA do not fit this particular locality but practices followed most generally here in former years include seeding of alfalfa and sweet clover, strip cropping, resting pastures from May 1 to Oct. 1, contour listing, summer fallowing and planting of trees, including shelter belts.

A few earth dams were built last year, and as farmers generally noted how effective they were in conserving moisture more decided to build them and the volume of dam construction now under way is the result.

To build an earth dam and earn his soil building allowance the

Ord Coaches Guests of Cosmopolitans Monday

Guests of the Ord Cosmopolitans at their meeting were Coaches Roscoe Tolly, Max Hester and Warren Reeves. The meeting was presided over by the new president, Hilding Pearson, with the new secretary, Floyd Beranek, handling the minutes, Monday evening at the City cafe.

The regular order of business was dispensed with, and Dr. F. L. Blessing, president of the school board, introduced Mr. Tolly, who asked Ordites not to expect too much of a coach taking over a new assignment. He said that the prospects were for a heavy team, but that at present the boys are slow, and several good prospects are out because of minor ailments.

Mr. Hester, next introduced, stated that he believes the line prospects are better than the backfield. He said there is quantity of reserve material, but that most of them are not ready to go into the regular lineup. He expressed himself as disappointed because there are not more upper classmen out for football.

Warren Reeves is quite well pleased with the progress his junior high boys are making and believes the prospects are for a good year. He has had to depend on the "ryout method to find his talent and has discovered several boys who show much promise. The first game is with the Burwell junior high Oct. 3.

Committeemen Eat Today with Local Republicans

A group of four members of the republican state committee, including the chairman, Kenneth Wherry, are in Ord today and arrangements have been made to entertain them at a dinner at Thorne's cafe at noon.

Invitation cards have been sent out by the Valley county secretary, O. B. Flagg, to a number of leading republicans, who will meet and hear what Mr. Wherry has to say.

Valley County's First Free Fair Pleased Patrons

Attendance Small, But Show By Starlite Revue and Other Acts Enjoyed.

The Valley county fair board, with the active assistance of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, last week put on a fair that pleased the patrons, and one which lacked but little of paying its own expenses. In view of existing crop conditions in the county as well as in all of central Nebraska, this was really a remarkable achievement.

The attractions for the first day were the Rolling Rockets, a novelty skating trio, comprising two gentlemen and a daughter of Ed Bradt, Miss Arlene Bradt. The Bradt family lived at Ord before moving to Lincoln. Col. Bill Fuss and his performing horse was a fine act. The Great Waldo put on a good clown act.

Three bands furnished music for the three days of the fair, the Ord band on Tuesday, the Comstock band on Wednesday and the Arcadia band on Thursday. As might be expected, the Comstock and Arcadia bands attracted a large number of persons from their home territory on the day they played. The response of Arcadians on Thursday was especially gratifying.

A very pleasing part of the program which took place at the fair Tuesday was baton twirling by the following persons: Bryan Jensen, St. Paul; Laverne Beck, Scotia; Esther Taylor and Mary Watts, North Loup; Merola Rickett, Norma Chalupsky and Adelaide Leach, Comstock; Hope Milburn, Coris Easterbrook and Corinne Gregory, Arcadia; and Jean Veleba, Hilda and Amelia Lola, Marian Wardrop, Carolyn Auble, Arlene and Maxine Wolfe, Evelyn Jablonski and Permylia Edwards of Ord.

The Auble Bros. public address system was used for announcements from the platform, and proved ample for the purpose. Local announcers were Arden Clark, Arthur Auble and Dr. Glen Auble. The Pearson and Anderson public address system was used for the ball games, with Mayor M. B. Cummins as announcer.

The ball game Wednesday afternoon between the Ord team and the International All-Stars wound up with a final score of 10 to 9 for the colored boys. Barney Kukish pitched the first four innings, struck out none, allowed 3 walks, 6 hits and 7 runs. George (Dutch) Clement pitched the next four, allowed one walk, struck out 6, allowed 6 hits for 3 runs. Piskorski pitched the final inning and allowed 2 walks but no hits nor runs.

The Starlite Revue company showed both afternoon and evening on Wednesday and Thursday and pleased all who attended on those days. They have a high class act in every respect, with a sufficient change of program each time to please all who saw them more than once. Joe Ahlin, manager played accompaniments on the Hammond electric organ.

Popular prizes prevailed among the concessions, which received a satisfactory patronage. Baby Bros. had their dance pavilion on the grounds and the dances were well attended each evening. The rides and shows on the carnival grounds were well patronized, and the management received very few complaints on the way they were conducted.

Rotarians Hear Lexington Man

Rev. Walter Hanne, member of the Lexington Rotary club who also represented the Ord club at the convention of Rotary International held in Havana, Cuba, last June, was a guest of the Ord club Monday evening and gave an interesting talk about the convention, also showing colored movies taken in Havana. Other guests included Mrs. Hanne, Mr. and Mrs. Dean S. Duncan and Mrs. G. W. Collier, all of Lexington, and the wives of the Ord members. Tables were tastefully decorated with cut flowers and the Thorne Cafe staff served a lovely dinner.

Next Monday the Ord club will hear a talk by Arthur Melville, of Broken Bow, a member of the state planning board. Rev. W. Ray Hadliff is a new member of the Ord club.

Quiz Editorial Wins Second at State Fair

R. G. Douglas, publicity director for the Nebraska State Fair, has informed John L. Ward that his editorial, "Agriculture and Civilization" published in the Aug. 28th issue of the Ord Quiz was awarded second place in the competition at the state fair this year. As perhaps one hundred editorials were in the competition this year, the winning of second place was an outstanding achievement. Another Ward editorial, "Nebraska State Fair," won first place in the contest at the state fair last year.

R. E. Burrows' Earth Dam Typical of 400 Now Being Built in County

Typical of the 400 or more earth dams now under construction in Valley county is this one on the R. E. Burrows farm in Davis Creek township, photographed while Mr. Burrows was still at work on it. The dam is now completed. Extent of the drought damage in the area where Burrows' farm is located may be told by the appearance of the field in the background where a row crop, either corn or grain sorghum, was planted but failed to grow. OLD TIMES, OLD CUSTOMS.
The files of the Quiz are not entirely complete, the earliest one available being Volume 1, Number 4, published April 27, 1882. In that issue are four short items of interest concerning an early day institution in Ord. They are:

"A meeting of Ord citizens met last night and decided to have a chain fence built around the square. $77.50 has been collected."

"A paper has been circulating for the past few days asking subscriptions to fence and plant to trees the court house square. Nearly enough has been raised. 'The heaven is working.' Tuesday quite a number got together and commenced planting trees on the courthouse square. This is a good scheme and we hope it will be carried out. A good chain fence now."

"The matter of improving the appearance of the court house square is still being talked up. With little expense much could be added to the appearance of the town."

The next three numbers of the paper are missing, and as there is nothing further mentioned after that, the inference is that the fence was completed in May. That was more than 58 years ago. Twenty-eight years later in the issue of Sept. 15, 1910, the following item appears:

"A dastardly outrage was perpetrated on the public last Friday night when robbers, cutthroats and horse thieves in the dead of the night when honest men were asleep came and took away those lovely hitching posts and the beautiful chain from around the other half of the square. For a year or so one half of the fence has been missing by order of the county board, while the other half was left to disfigure the beautiful little park."

"With half the fence gone and a curb put in its place while the other half was graced with an old fence the park looked like a pair of boots, one blackened and the other fresh from the barnyard. Now that these miscreants have taken the rest of the fence away the beautiful hideousness of the situation is partly removed. Catch those vandals and put them in jail."

It is difficult to associate this article with those printed above, but they were written by the same man, and it serves to illustrate how the opinions of men change with the passing of time and the changes that occur with the changing years. What was considered a necessity and an improvement to the town in 1882, had become an eyesore in 1910.

The automobile was becoming a necessary adjunct to the life of the community, and half of the chain about the square had been taken away in 1909 on order of the county board and a curb substituted to make a parking space for autos. Many people living in Ord were of the opinion that the rest should be removed, and the horses relegated to the side streets, hence the removal of the fence.

Note that the fence was removed on Friday night. When farmers drove their teams to town to shop the next day they were justly indignant, and even threatened to boycott the town. There were hardly enough hitching posts before, and the loss of the two sides of the square made a serious deficit especially on the big day of the week.

The Quiz was censured for taking the attitude that the removal was an improvement, and some even stopped their papers. A former farmer in business who was rightly suspected of being one of the men in the affair found his business curtailed to a serious extent. Those so situated that they could go elsewhere to trade did so for a short time, but eventually they came back.

Today it is agreed that the removal of the hitchcracks was a necessary step in the progress of the town, although it may have been taken a little prematurely, and nobody would care to go back to the conditions that prevailed then. Ten years later there was a fight on the subject of paving, and as usual the proponents of progress won. Today we would not care to get along with the muddy streets of yesterday, although a little rain would be appreciated.

Today about the only haven for horseflesh in Ord is to be found south of the lots occupied by the Kellison implement business, the hitching posts west of the former Sack Lumber company having disappeared with the building of the postoffice. But very few horses come to town and it does not take much space for them. The problem today is to furnish parking space for the ever increasing number of automobiles.

In the days of hitch racks the livery business flourished. Traveling men came in on the train and hired rigs for drives into the country, sometimes hiring a team for weeks when the nature of their business required it. Sometimes they hired the driver also, and trips were frequent from one railroad line to another to save time and travel in getting from one place to another.

Of course there were always feed stables to take care of the farmers' teams when they drove to town and wanted to stay all day, or when the distance was too great to make the trip without feed. Sometimes a man came so far that it took all day to make the trip, and he and his team would spend the night in Ord and make the trip back the following day.

Today the feed and livery stables have all disappeared from Ord, and in their places and frequently on the very sites they occupied are to be found garages and service stations which perform the same service for cars that the stables did for the horses. Gone, too, are the watering troughs that once were a necessity at various places about town.

We would not care to go back to the horse and buggy days, but they had their bright spots. The farmer did not have a car then, but he owned his farm. He did not farm with power machinery, but he raised crops. He spent more for himself and less went for paying taxes. He couldn't drive to Lincoln and back the same day, but he wasn't on relief. And last, but not least, the old court house the county built inside those old hitching posts and chains was not cluttered up with federal agencies until the regular county officials did not have room to work.

++ Something Different ++

The crowd liked the fair this year, I think. Nothing about it was showy unless it was the Starlight Revue, which was excellently trained and beautifully costumed. The young dancers were attractive in face, figure and grace, better than many professional troupes.

The fair itself was much enjoyed, a sort of a friendly fair. One thing I liked was Arthur Auble's announcing. His voice was pleasant to hear, his remarks entertaining and to the point. I thought he did a most capable job.

Something I'd like Ord to have and that at once are safety patrols; you know, boys trained to see that the streets are clear before small children go across them. In many schools acting as patrol is a sort of honor, the patrol takes as much pride in it as in any medal. There need not be any (or much) expense . . . belts are worn some places and add to the impressiveness, but are not necessities.

Ord has some very dangerous corners, as children near or leave the grade school. One street corner that needs two patrols is the crossing to John Misko's and to Vern Stark's. Another corner that needs one patrolman is the crossing to Hawkins'; the children often make a cat-corner straggle to the Edward Kokes' home. They shouldn't, for cars sliding rapidly down that hill from the west are a genuine danger.

Mrs. Frazier witnessed what could have been a most sad affair recently when some child romping carelessly across the corner south of her, toward Cecil Clark's, was touched and knocked down by a truck. Luckily a few bruises and tears are the only outcome of this collision, but next time it may be different.

Mrs. Frazier says the small children habitually play and romp as they go past her home, rarely remembering to watch out for cars, and that truck could not help hitting the child as mentioned above. She thinks it is only a miracle that more children are not hurt as they go to and from their twice-daily circuits to school.

Please, could we have safety patrols? I believe we had them once before.

I have been enjoying Mrs. Della T. Lutes' books so much I must tell you about it. She is a famous cook. The Ord Library has "Home Grown" and "Country Kitchen," both dealing with life in Michigan about sixty years ago. There is no romance nor plot to speak of, so don't read them looking for story or adventure.

Instead they tell of such fascinating things as the odor of ginger cookies, the many kinds of apples in the orchard, or the way Mrs. Lutes' mother made a chicken pie to take to the County Fair. Small, everyday happenings, but all the more comforting in a world full of mad war news.

Arthur Auble Honored.
Last Thursday when Arthur Auble arrived in Lincoln to take up his work with the state university he received a telegram from the department of economics of Harvard University, offering him a teaching fellowship. He had a similar position at the University of Nebraska but was released to accept the new position as half-time instructor in the department of economics.

Arthur received his master's degree at Lincoln last June and will continue to study at Harvard for the next degree. Dr. and Mrs. Glen D. Auble and daughters drove to Lincoln Sunday morning to see him before he left that afternoon for Cambridge, Mass., where Harvard University is located.

No-Host Dinner.
A group composed of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Teague, Mr. and Mrs. Olof Olsson, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Leggett and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson enjoyed a no-host dinner Sunday evening at the New Cafe and then were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Olsson at their home, the evening being enjoyed at contact bridge.

Attending Convention.
The convention of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women in Scottsbluff Tuesday was attended by Rev. M. A. Lawler, Miss Edna Wertz, Mrs. Tanley Absolon and Mrs. Syl Furtak. They drove there Monday and expect to return today.

A FEW THINGS TO THINK ABOUT

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Stand Still or I'll Shoot
County Government
Were All the Same

Stand Still or I'll Shoot.

Upon buying a watermelon of Gus Wetzel two weeks ago on the street Saturday night, I remarked that it seemed rather foolish to buy it for I might better stop on the way home and reach over the fence and get one that way.

Gus replied, "Go ahead. I'd like to have you try it."

It turned out he has a watchman there with a shotgun on the lookout for fellows picking up his melons.

He has had a good deal of trouble with watermelon thieves this year, the same as several other men in this section. On one farm the thieves not only destroyed the melons but also damaged the corn nearby (it was irrigated) knocking off the ears and the owners did not know whether the marauders took the corn home or just damaged it in fun or carelessness.

Gus thought he lost all told at least $35 worth of melons. He knew they were being stolen but kept hoping the thieves would quit and waited at least two weeks before he took action. Finally, (like Hitler) his patience became exhausted. One night he knew someone was in the patch and he grabbed the shot gun and sneaked out. The thief was not expecting Gus and they met each other pronto. Gus could see a car in the road waiting for the thief. "Stand still or I'll shoot you," Gus ordered.

The thief did not obey Gus at all. He turned and ran for the car. Gus waited until the thief had gotten to the fence and a safe distance and he let him have one barrel. He said he had promised to shoot him so he felt like he had to. Then as the thief climbed into the car, Gus gave him the other barrel.

As the car drove away the thief stuck his head out of the window and gave Gus a good cussing, but that didn't worry Gus much.

Gus remained in the patch the rest of the night but no more thieves appeared. After that he hired a man to guard the melons, but after that one experience, to their knowledge no thieves came again. It was several days before Gus found out who the thief was that he peppered.

The County Government.

Following are a few of the many hot remarks handed me the last week in regard to the place about commissioners of August 23:

"It takes a lot of nerve to publish that piece, you living in Greeley county and driving over the roads they have there."

"You said in one paper there was not foot of gravel in Greeley county and in another you favor the commissioner system."

"I lived in a county once where they had commissioners. They had fine roads there—by the commissioner's homes."

"That was the best piece you have written. The only trouble with it was you did not pour it to them (the Co. Board) enough."

"If the County Board did not pull haul so much, splitting as they do four against three (always the same men on each side) this petition might never have been thought of."

Were All the Same.

A few of us remained after the Soil Conservation meeting at Horace the other night and following are some of the remarks made at that place:

"There is no use to cry about being hard up; we're all in the same boat any more."

"I had a little good luck with cattle the last few years but I lost it all trying to farm."

"Gosh, but it seems as if that farm of Billy Worrell's is cheap at $12.50 an acre. The improvements on the place cost that much."

The answer, "Cheap thunder. If you would go south of here and pick any farm you wish, and if someone would give it to you free of debt, and if we had the same kind of droughts we have been having you'd lose that farm in five years."

They all agreed. The taxes, seed and operation expense along with the living would put one in debt so in five years he'd have to sell out.

"The ground is the driest, it seems, it ever has been. It seems like it is worse since the frost."

"Martin Klein said, 'I used to hear that the first fifty years were the hardest but now I don't believe it.'"

Another fellow said, "This last spring I went to Haller and made a government feed and seed loan. The agent figured up all my business and family tree and finally decided $90.00 would be enough. Upon giving me the check, (later) I was instructed that I must collect receipts for the money spent and mail them in to Haller. "After a time I gathered up all my receipts for seed, feed tractor fuel and a few repairs to get them ready to mail. These did not represent all the money I had spent. I eliminated some unessentials such as gasoline for the car, food bills, salt, baby chicks, one veterinary bill, and a dental charge for pulling an aching tooth. I feared I did not have enough receipts but after I added them up I found I had in my hand to mail $300 worth. It just goes to show what a small amount of money $90 is when it comes to financing a farm."

At The Fair.

Although that is a smart horse of Bill Fuss', still Bill should have the credit. No one knows (only Billy) how much time and patience it took to train that horse as he has.

When someone told Ed Kokes that I judged the chickens he at once raised his eyebrows. "I knew years ago he was a good judge of chickens, that is one kind of chickens. Now that his whiskers hang down to his belt I'd think he'd give up such foolishness."

I suppose it is all right at a fair for a one-eyed mule to win first prize, but I couldn't quite understand the theory. Too old and set in my ways I guess.

Most of the grain displayed by Doug Barber's was grown by them on their garden patches and was threshed by Mrs. Barber on a wash board.

The Scotia School.

The school at Scotia really deserves mention. In the first place it is the largest consolidated school in Nebraska. There are 234 students with 139 of these in high school. The high school includes all usual courses given even in much bigger towns and is divided in junior and senior divisions.

Their outside students are also worth mentioning. They not only come from their own territory but some are from Greeley, Horace, Dannevirke and North Loup territories. This is partly accounted for by the fact that many students can meet the bus and be home every night even when living many miles from town. The Normal training, commercial and agricultural courses also attract some. Scotia has the only Smith-Hughes school in the county.

Although the taxes are high there many businessmen feel it is worth the cost because of the extra trade this school brings to town; that is people coming to school activities to bring their children and trading when they are there.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

There may be a chance to raise two new grasses profitably here, according to Harold W. Benn, agricultural agent for the Union Pacific railroad. Mr. Benn is sending free samples of Michels grass and crested wheatgrass to the Ord high school for some of our future farmers to try out at home.

Considerable publicity has been given to Michels grass. It is a new hybrid which was produced by crossing Mosida winter wheat with wild rye grass. Michels grass is giving excellent results in Montana and Idaho. Farmers have paid as high as $5 cents a pound for seed.

The possibilities of crested wheat grass as a forage and seed crop have appeared quite favorable for this locality. Some plantings dried up in Mira Valley this summer, but so did everything else. Dr. A. L. Krolik of the agricultural college believes that crested wheatgrass has a good future in central Nebraska.

Another plant that we may experiment with next year is a new lawn grass, called Velvet grass. It is soddied like buffalograss which it resembles. Claims made for Velvet grass are that it spreads very rapidly, has a fine texture, and dark green color. We are not certain that it can stand the winters here.

No advance promises are given of these grasses. We shall simply try them out next spring, or this fall if it rains.

There is a need for different crops in sections hit by the drought. The grasses mentioned here may not fit local conditions but we believe there can be no harm in testing them out on a small scale.

The Valley County Fair

In Pictures and Story

Above are shown Mildred Athey, left, and Eula Brown, members of the Pleasant Hill Wide-Awakes, who won the 4-H team demonstration. Eula was first. These girls scored 55 points to win over the Mira Valley Midgets, who had 55, the Snappy Sewers, who had 77, and the Jolly Juniors, with 75.

At right, top is seen Jim Visek showing one of the litter of five Hampshires raised by Willard Visek, which won first prize in this class. Pigs of this litter won 1st on gilt, 2nd, 3rd and 4th on males. They also won at the Burwell fair.

Next are shown Betty Walkemeyer, left, and Phyllis Bese, of Arcadia, whose lamb "Baby" was bottle fed and a family pet. These two girls won first, their club being the Hayes Creek Beef and Mutton club. This is their first year of 4-H club experience.

4-H Club Show Twice As Large, Kovanda Says

The 4-H club section of the Valley county fair has grown rapidly, but the fair as a whole reflected the conditions of depression prevailing over the entire county both in the number of persons in attendance and the number of exhibitors, according to R. Clare Clement, president of the fair.

There were about twice as many young agriculturists represented in the fair competition this year, according to J. A. Kovanda, teacher of vocational agriculture, who had charge of the 4-H livestock division.

Due to the fact that a part of last year's premiums are still unpaid, many who might have exhibited ordinarily failed to do so. The entire trouble of course can be traced to a scarcity of funds due to drought conditions, which also cut down the number of exhibitors of agricultural products.

With more than 1,300 people leaving the county in the past decade, among them many of the county's best farmers, and with only the best of the land being tilled, and this without much reward in the line of crops, the only wonder is that the county was able to put across a fair of any kind.

While it is true that several thousand acres came under irrigation in the two river valleys during the past year, this was not enough to offset the loss of crops in the unirrigated areas. In fact, most of the irrigators were too busy with irrigation to take time to prepare products for the fair.

The chilling weather of the first day and night of the fair tended to cut down on the attendance, and the frost of Tuesday night meant that all farmers who had come had to get to work at once putting up the crop, and many were kept away from the fair by work.

In the dairy calf competition the young people who won first places were Lillian Florian, Louis Florian, Willard Visek, Oren Kingston and Lyle Foth. There were 18 entries in this class, with K. C. Fouts of Seward as judge.

Mr. Fouts was also judge in the 4-H baby beef division in which there were a total of 17 entries, and which was unusually fine. Orin Kingston won in the heavy class and also carried off the grand championship for the show.

Delvan Kingston matched his brother by carrying off top honors in the light class in the baby beef show. They are sons of W. D. Kingston of Arcadia and were in the competition last year. Delvan taking grand champion in registered dairy calves.

best mules in a section the largest in years.

Mrs. Frank Penas showed the best exhibit of Valley county chickens, while Mrs. Harry Bresley placed second and Mrs. Pete Duda third. This department was far behind the quantity of poultry shown last year.

Mrs. Curt Wilson of Ord again took first place with her showing of canned fruits and other home products, and Mrs. H. C. Koll placed second, due to her fine showing of canned meats. These ladies won in the same order last year.

Sowing winners among the 4-H club girls were Kathleen Clement, Phyllis Dodge, Betty Jean Fuss,

Marjorie Brown and Rose Okrzesa. Fifty school districts had exhibits at the fair. This department is under the supervision of Miss Clara McClatchey, who said that the exhibits were up to the usual high standard of former years. The exhibits were all prepared during the past school year. This was the first year that Valley county had a school exhibit (Continued on page 9)

At top, above, is the fine exhibit of the Davis Creek school, one of the finest shown at the fair. Teachers there are Eleanor Holmes and Audine Haller. In the back row are Henry Sok, Opal Axthelm, Mildred Athey, Lillian Sok, Evelyn Long, Raymond Sample, Richard Palser, Jerry Polak, Carol Williams, Richard Larsen, Albert Siegel and Lester Williams. In the 3rd row are Eva Palser, Harold Valasek, Helen Mitchell, Harold Larsen, Henry Polak and Esther McGee. In 2nd row are Larry Mitchell, Joan McGee, Betty Ann Polak, Harlan Palser, Gerald Valasek, Lila Faye Mitchell, Eugene Palser, Billy Palser and Gary Valasek. In front are Charlene Palser, Frankie Polak, Jim Larsen and Boyd Larsen.

Immediately above are photos of Mrs. Ign. Klima Jr., left, and Mrs. Adolph Sevenker. The former won first prize on an angel food cake, which she is holding, and also on collection of preserves. Mrs. Sevenker also won a cake prize and a prize on collection of canned fruit.

All four backs scored touchdowns against a scrub lineup. Coach Biff Jones is said to have planned to keep Zikmund out of varsity competition this fall, due to the fact that he is only 13 years old and has plenty of time ahead to play, but may be forced to use him because of the ineligibility of De-Fruiter, squad speedster. Zikmund is one of the fastest men on the entire squad. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zikmund.

Heavy Toll Is Taken Among Great Americans

The nation suffered a great loss in the death the past week of Speaker William B. Bankhead of the House of Representatives, whose funeral was held yesterday at his home in Jasper, Ala. He represented his district in Congress for 23 years.

Almost at the same time death claimed Dr. Glen Frank of Wisconsin, who with his son was killed in an auto accident on the eve of the Wisconsin primary. The doctor was actively campaigning for the republican nomination for United States senator. He was a noted political advisor, educator and author.

It is only about ten days since death claimed Senator Lundeen of Minnesota in a plane crash in which 27 persons met death. In times such as these, noted leaders are of utmost importance to the nation and all Americans note their passing with regret.

E. J. Lange Pioneers Terracing in Valley County, Many More May Terrace Later

Valley county pioneer in the practice of terracing is E. J. Lange, pictured above at work, for which he will be paid $1.50 for each unit of 200 linear feet he constructs. Terracing is recommended for water conservation and to prevent erosion and in one form or another has been used for 4,000 years. In the Platte Creek district in Boone county, and also near Havena, terracing has been largely done in recent years and has proved very successful. The absorptive type of terrace, demonstrated by the drawing below, is the type being constructed on the Lange farm.

Engineering Important in Planning Terrace

Engineering is important in designing and planning a terrace system, but good judgment and an agricultural background usually are enough to let the farmer do the work himself, say farm experts. Here E. J. Lange and his son are shown doing the surveying incident to starting construction of a terrace.

This Stand of Grain Sorghum Grew in Davis Creek Township; Shows Value of Contouring Under Drouth

Not a good crop of grain sorghum but excellent considering the amount of rainfall is that pictured above. The photo was taken on the R. E. Burrows farm and moisture was conserved by contour listing. Rows in the center plainly show the contour. Other fields nearby completely dried up.

THE SWORD OF DAMOCLES

farmer must build the dam on a site and in the manner recommended by a member of the county committee, after inspection of the farm. The dam must have a spillway at least 2 1/2 feet below the top, so it will not be washed out should a heavy rain come. The farmer receives 15¢ per cubic yard of earth moved, up to the total soil allowance for his farm, which as stated before ranges from $15 to $120 depending on the farm and the number of pasture acres and non-developing crop acres it contains.

There will be 58 dams built in independent township alone this fall, Veleba says, and from 400 to 500 in the entire county. Almost half are completed now, including dams on the farms of John Skala, L. E. Burrows, John McCarville, Anton Wehnik, Kaputka Bros., F. J. Zukoski, Archie Geweke, Fred Murray, Herbert Bredthauer, Joste Pusutowski, Anton Novotny, Rudolph Plate, James Petka, sr., Joe Kamrad and E. E. Vodehnal, to name only a few scattered over Valley county.

When dams are completed they are inspected by reporters named by the county committee, and if approved the soil building allowance is paid to their builders. Six reporters are in the field now, Ben Augustine, Leonard Woods, Anton Novotny, Carol Lutz, Emil Kokes and John Skala. Another one or two may be appointed.

About 25 farmers in the county this year followed the practice of contour listing, thereby earning their soil allowances, and so successful was it, particularly in Davis Creek and independent townships where the drouth was at its worst, that other farmers are expected to follow this practice next season.

A pioneer in terrace farming is E. J. Lange, who is the first in Valley county to start this work. Terracing is another practice by which farmers may earn their soil building allowances. For each 200 linear feet of standard terrace for which outlets are provided, the farmer earns $1.50. Mr. Lange is terracing his place now and expects to put in enough work to earn the entire allowance for his farm. Others will watch the success of this practice closely next summer, and if it proves entirely successful no doubt others will terrace next fall.

25-0 Was Score as Qrd Lost to Greeley

Football season is here but it wasn't a football game in which Ord lost to Greeley Sunday, although the score of 25 to 0 sounds like football. Instead it was a standard baseball game that went the full nine innings.

One local wit who was present claims the result might have been different if Ord had got a chance to bat. He says that by the time Greeley got through batting it was too late for the Ord players to take their turn. This statement is discounted, though, by the words of Manager Paul Hubert, who says the boys had a "bad day."

Aided by 7 walks and 3 errors, as well as several legitimate hits, Greeley collected 9 runs in the first inning and scored at will throughout the game, with Ord failing to get a single man around the bases.

Next Sunday Ericson comes to Ord. Tomorrow Ord plays at the Popcorn Days celebration in North Loop.

There Were Two Irishmen—

By J. Y. BARBER
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

SEUMAS GAVAN was Number One man and the only Irishman in the fourth ward—and there wasn't the whisper of a doubt about that. On Monday he lamented the need of hiring a dago to tend bar for him in his South street speakeasy, but by Saturday he was glad of it. Irishmen aren't temperamentally suited for co-operative occupations; they won't do as they're told. He was glad his blue-eyed Kathleen never argued with her father.

"Way back in the ancestry there may have been some weak strain that accounted for her passivity. It made Seumas more conscious than ever that he was the only Irishman in the ward. The only man of intellect and discernment, he'd almost say, except for that scavenger of the streets, Adolphus Gonwerz, whose insufferable exposes appeared now and again between the scrofulous lines of the local paper.

"Twas a black day indeed when Kathleen met Adolphus Gonwerz in the bar where Kathleen had no business at all. And a curse on the day when she came to her kind old father, him that was nearly killed with worry over trying to get a respectable liquor license, to ask his good will to their marriage.

"He's not the man," Seumas said abruptly.

"How, not the man?" Kathleen said, too quietly even for her.

"He's the sort," said Seumas, "who writes about people that have died of murder. And it's insulting, he is, when he blackguards some worthy citizen in public life."

Seumas knew he would have no trouble with gentle Kathleen.

She would not, she said, let him alone. She said why she wouldn't and it took her five minutes to say it.

"Bu-but, he's a drinking man, he is," Seumas said with appeal. "He drinks like a fish and he be no good at all."

"Aye," said Kathleen, "and that coming from you! May God have mercy on your soul for the narrowness of your heart. You've little to do to speak of that when it's your own grog he drinks. And it isn't true that he's no good. He's the best newspaper man in the town. And I like him. I love him!"

The debate had reached a point where Seumas realized he would have to assert himself. He leaned forward in his chair. He hissed softly. "I could break him. You know my power when I want to use it. Frame him! How would you like that?"

But Kathleen never moved. She looked at her father boldly. "Aye," she said. "Well, two can play at that game—if it's a fight you're looking for!" And with that she ran out of the room and out of the house and he didn't see her for days. The shame of it!

"I want to see her just try and marry that spalpeen," Seumas said to himself all day on Friday. Customers heard him as he whispered under his breath. They thought he was reciting the list of witnesses who would appear when he came up for his license hearing on the morrow and they let him concentrate.

But Seumas had forgotten all about the hearing until his attorney came down and took him to court. His reception there lulled him to contentment. Mr. Gavan was well thought of up town in certain circles. Not for long, however, did he smile benignly this way and that. His bright green eyes froze to the witness box. For there in the middle of everything sat Adolphus Gonwerz.

Not being familiar with the expediences of the newspaper business Seumas didn't know that Adolphus had merely wandered in there in the course of his routine and that in ten minutes he would be discovered by a court attaché and thrown out on his neck. Seumas' pain was so great that he beat himself upon the chest. Could Kathleen have been so angry then to put this notorious exposé onto him?

"I'm going home," he said to his attorney. "I'm sick now. No, I don't care about the license; to hell with it." And so Mr. Gavan went home feeling the power ooze out of him with every step of the way.

Evening came to Seumas Gavan in the little office that he maintained upstairs. He sat sullenly beside the speaking tube that connected his office with the bar and he wished that he had anticipated Kathleen being at least half an Irishman.

That was bitter, bitter! It made him very sorry. So absorbed was he that he failed to hear the buzzer until its third buzz.

The bartender's voice floated dimly to him through the tube:

"Kathleen's come home!"

"Aye," Seumas said noncommittally. He was abruptly the old Seumas and he had the look of a hawk over a calf. It would be now! And he would be brief but annihilating. The bartender took up a familiar refrain:

"Adolphus Gonwerz wants to know if he's good for your daughter—and he wants to congratulate you on getting your license today, sir!"

"Ha—have I got it?"

"You have!"

"He is!!!"

Quiet in Lithuania.
Krikac in his "Kraklins" in the Comstock News puts out the following: "This one got by the Russian censor in a letter received Saturday by a Chicagoan from a relative in Kuanas, Lithuania, recently occupied by the soviet."

"Since the red army marched in every thing is hotly tosy here now. We have a new government and a new system. It's great—just as though we were in St. Casmir's in dear old Chicago."

"What the censor couldn't very well know is that St. Casmir's in Chicago is a Lithuanian Catholic cemetery."

Another example of the necessity of constant chemical makeup of the plasma may be given. This is the quantity of sugar present. You may remember that the normal amount is about one-tenth of one per cent. This amounts to only one-thirtieth of an ounce in a quart of blood. This seems like a very little but if the blood sugar is reduced to a little less than one half of this amount, the person goes into a condition known as shock, becomes unconscious and may die unless sugar is immediately replaced in the blood.

In order to be sure that there is no shortage of these necessary elements, storage depots are provided in the body where the losses may be quickly made up. If there is great water loss as by sweating, rapid deep breathing, excessive loss from the bowel, etc., the sensation of thirst makes us drink more water. If this does not make up the deficit, water is withdrawn from the tissues. In addition water loss through the kidneys is automatically cut down so as to conserve the supply.

A depot for the storage of sugar is provided in the liver. Excess sugar is put away here in a slightly different form than that found in the plasma. This can be picked up at a moment's notice to make up for losses in the blood. It is thought that the liver also provides the storehouse for the various proteins needed in the blood. Salt is stored in the tissues and when needed, as after sweating profusely, it is quickly washed into the blood stream.

Calcium, or lime, must be present in the blood at certain levels. The storehouse for this is in the ends of the long bones. In case of excessive loss of lime from the blood, especially over a long period of time, nature will keep the blood level up to normal at the expense of the normal bone structures, if need be. In these cases, not only the reserve in the ends of the bones is used but that of the rest of the bone, so the skeleton may become soft and cavities, or so-called cysts, may occur in the bones.

When we look about us at the wonders of nature, we seldom think of the wonderful mechanism nature has provided in our own bodies.

The Ed Andersons ask that their Quiz address be changed from Hemingford to O'Neill.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Word from the Hunters.
Ord Quiz and Friends:

We left Ord Friday morning at 4 o'clock August 30. We reached Ogallala about 11 o'clock where we drove north about 20 miles to see them working on an earth dam which is being built there. From there we drove to Big Springs, where Mr. and Mrs. Woods now live. Mr. Woods was once mail clerk in Ord. He is now retired.

A strange thing happened just before we got into Big Springs. A truck driver was driving pretty fast behind us and started to pass us when he saw two cars coming and had to swing back behind us and bumped our bumper. He seemed quite mad because we were not going faster. Then after a little further driving a patrolman drove up behind us and followed us right into Big Springs, then drove up beside us and raised his hand and we wondered what we had done wrong. We then saw that it was Alvin or "Peanuts" Jensen, who used to be in Ord and at one time worked for Ralph. The next morning we drove on to Fort Collins, where Mr. Hunter's daughter, Mrs. Vesta Lane and family now lives. Early Monday morning we drove on to Salt Lake City. The next morning we left for a trip through the Red Canyon, Bryce Canyon and Zion National park. The mountains and the other scenery are beautiful beyond description. We had our second cabin at Zion Lodge which was rather expensive. Had we known, we might have driven a couple of miles farther and had all kinds of cabins reasonable. We arrived at Clara Lea's a little after dark Wednesday. We stayed there until Monday. While there we went to Tijuana, Old Mexico and many other interesting places. On Monday we went to Frisco and stayed over night with Kenneth. On Tuesday we drove to Oakland and are located for the present at 1941 Irving Ave., Oakland, Calif. We traveled a distance of 2257 miles and it only cost a fraction of a cent over one cent a mile for gas and oil.

We did not go to Boulder Dam as we planned before we left home. Ralph said that he had seen so much already he could not digest it all.

We enjoy the Quiz which we get on Monday.

Best wishes to all,
Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Hunter.

In The Good Old Days

The first and in fact the only guess made on the old time picture last week was made by Dr. G. W. Taylor, who identified them all but one, Bill Heuck. From left to right, they are: W. J. Ramsey, now Arcadia druggist; Ernest Hill, deceased; W. W. (Pike) Minden; Bill Heuck, Ord manager Farmers Store; and Alfred L. Hill, Ord postmaster. This week we show a group of Ord belles of the good old days, who had much to do with the social life of the town. They are now scattered all over the United States, but somebody ought to be able to name them, left to right, top and bottom row. Try it.

AMERICAN BOY IS COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it. Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. 25-21

A school day courtship of years of standing flowered into matrimony Thursday afternoon when Miss Virginia Rose Hemmett, the attractive blond daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Hemmett, became the wife of Donald Anderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Anderson. The spacious Hemmett home was the scene of the wedding at which Rev. Clifford Snyder, pastor of the Ord and Burwell Christian churches officiated.

The ceremony was performed in a double arched doorway banked with gladioli and ferns. The bride wore an Indian earth brown afternoon dress and carried a bouquet of white gardenias. She was attended by her sister, Miss Joy Hemmett. Asa Anderson, Jr., of Ord, the groom's brother, was best man.

She has been attending the University of Nebraska and has been employed as a stenographer by County Judge B. A. Rose. Last year she served as secretary to C. C. NORTH LOUP

WRITTEN BY MRS. ETHEL HAMER

Work Started On Community Hall

L. R. Sheldon has been hired by the WPA to look after the work of North Loup's community building and work of tearing down the old hotel where the building will stand was started Tuesday. The building which will stand where the hotel is now will be 60 x 100 feet and will house the library, the township board, the village board, the Pop Corn Days committee and the I. O. O. F. lodge. It will also have a 60 x 60 feet auditorium. Except for the room which will be used by the I. O. O. F. lodge the entire building will be on the ground floor. Their room will be the width of the building and will extend about thirty feet back. Asbestos shingles will be used as a covering for the outside walls. Salvage material from the old town hall, the present community building and the hotel will be used.

Tuesday morning the first crew started work, grubbing out trees and wrecking the building. It will be an indefinite time before the project is completed as there have been many delays since the project was approved and to have the work actually started is encouraging indeed.

The North Loup library which is housed in the present community building has been notified to move before the wrecking of that building can be started and plans are being made to use rooms in the old Bohrer undertaking parlors.

A United States post office inspector was here last week and after going over Mr. Johnson's books and files gave him a grade of 95.8 per cent. Both Mr. Johnson and his assistant, H. J. Hoepner, give excellent service to patrons of the office and are to be commended for the rating received.

Mr. Van Horn then took the entire group in the drug store and gave them treats.

Pop Corn Days got off to a good start Tuesday and Wednesday but not much news about it is available this week. The Thomas Amusement company arrived over the week end and Tuesday put up their rides and concessions, among them a ferris wheel, a merry-go-round and a bingo stand. The art exhibit and women's department is in charge of Mrs. Jessie T. Babcock, who with a number of able assistants, were busy all day Tuesday getting the exhibit up and ready to be judged. The school exhibit, in charge of Mrs. Mills Hill and Mrs. W. W. Willis was all up Tuesday morning and Miss McClatchey was down to judge it. Both of these exhibits were as usual in the upstairs of the community building.

Mavis Schudel Crowned Queen of Pop Corn Days

2-Day Celebration Attended by Enormous Crowds; Ton of Popcorn Given Away.

North Loup—(Special)—With the crowning of Miss Mavis Schudel as queen, a juvenile parade, a parade of floats and the giving away of free popcorn as features, the community's annual Pop Corn Days celebration held Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25 and 26, was a glorious success. Crowds estimated in the thousands attended afternoon and evening programs both days and 2,000 pounds of popcorn was popped and given away during the celebration.

Queen Mavis was crowned at a colorful ceremony Wednesday evening and, dressed in the royal green and gold robe, she made a striking picture as Ersel Jorgensen, the 1939 queen, placed the crown on her head. H. L. Gillespie, chairman of the celebration, gave her the charge and her scepter.

Preceding the crowning, the royal party came from the school house at the call of the buglers, Lyle Cox and Daryl Barber. Mr. Gillespie, Mrs. Jorgensen and six little girls dressed in yellow and carrying popcorn chains preceded the queen and her train bearers, Dean and Dale Hutchins. Donna Manchester read the ode to the queen and Deryl White sang. Queen Mavis then gave orders for all to join the festivities and the royal party descended from the platform.

The new queen, who will reign until her successor is chosen in 1941 by popular vote, is the daughter of Edwin Schudel, of the Barker district. With her twin brother, Maynard, she attended North Loup high school, graduating with the class of 1940. She is an accomplished typist and has been employed since graduation at the agricultural office in Ord.

Preceding the coronation was a concert by the North Loup band and a program by KMMJ entertainers. The coronation was planned and carried out by the Highway View club, with Mrs. Ign. Pokraka and Mrs. Paul White in charge.

The juvenile parade Wednesday afternoon was another interesting event with a large number of entries divided into seven groups. In the go-cart division Jeannette Williams won 1st and Angela Vanderwalle 2nd; in the doll buggy division Neoda Creager won 1st and also sweepstakes as Miss Popcorn Days, and Mary Esther Olsen won 2nd; in the tricycle division Idonna Vodehnal and her sister Wilma won 1st and Howard Abel 2nd; in the bicycle division Gerald Manchester won 1st and Delores Williams 2nd; in the wagon division Delores Horner and Jimmie Williams won 1st, Lewis Beck and Sharon West 2nd; in the miscellaneous group Catherine Severance placed 1st and Dennis Tucker 2nd; and in the pets group Duane Meyers was 1st and Clarence Brown 2nd.

Thursday afternoon the parade of floats was led by the Scotia band, the North Loup band marching in the parade also. Winners in the various divisions included the S. D. B. and Methodist churches, the Fortnightly and Busy Bee clubs, District 42 and the Horace schools, W. O. Zangger and the I. G. A. store.

A drawing for prizes Thursday evening followed a band concert and entertainment by the KMMJ people. First prize, a studio couch, went to Joe Jablonski, of Elyria, the card table to A. E. Blessing, of Ashton, and the lawn chair to Roy Williams. Twenty-one other prizes were given and the drawing, as usual, drew some surprises. Geo. S. Mayo drew a year's subscription to the Loyalist, which Mrs. Mayo owns; Ed Naprstek, of Ord, drew a shampoo and wave at Ann's Beauty shop; Mrs. Mills Hill, whose husband manages the Farmers store, drew a basket of groceries at the I. G. A. store.

There were splendid exhibits of fancy work, sewing, school work and agricultural products, though no cash prizes were given, only ribbons. The carnival company reported doing a fine business and the pavement dances were well attended. All in all, the Popcorn Days committee feels well satisfied with success of the celebration and will start immediately to plan for the 1941 show.

Long to Succeed Robberson in Ord

At the annual convention of Nebraska Methodists, held all of last week and Monday of this week in Omaha, Rev. M. M. Long, for two years pastor of the church at Neligh, was assigned to the Ord church, and Rev. G. C. Robberson, who has served here two years, was assigned to Neligh.

The Robberson family will move Friday to Neligh, with Rev. and Mrs. Long scheduled to move their household goods into the Ord parsonage the same day. Usual church services will be held in Ord Sunday with the new pastor in the pulpit at the morning preaching service.

Ord's new minister is said to be a powerful preacher with many years of experience. He has filled pastorates at Ogallala, St. Paul and other Nebraska cities, as well as Neligh.

In his two years at Ord, the Rev. Mr. Robberson made a host of friends, both in and out of the church, who regret his departure but wish him success in his new charge. Interested in high school athletics and other young people's activities, and of a sociable disposition, he will be missed by Ord people.

Griswold Will Visit Ord, Tuesday, Oct. 1

Dwight Griswold, republican candidate for governor, will visit Ord Tuesday, Oct. 1, and will speak on the streets from his sound equipped car. He will arrive from Burwell at 6 p. m. and will be met by members of the local committee.

He will spend the night in Ord and will go on to Scotia the next morning, coming back to North Loup and then to Arcadia. He is attempting to visit every community in Nebraska, contacting farmers, business men and voters at large in order to gain firsthand knowledge of Nebraska and its people.

"This type of contact," says Mr. Griswold, "is beneficial to both the voter and the office seeker. I am sure that close association with the citizens themselves will be a great help in conducting a fair and honest administration as governor."

Beverly Davis Misses School for First Time

Last week Miss Beverly Davis had a touch of the flu which would not have been serious at all if it had not caused her to miss school for the first time in her life. She is a member of the junior class this year.

She started to Sunday school as a little girl and has never missed, as she was able to attend Sunday. When they were visiting elsewhere she has always attended Sunday school somewhere. A record such as this is most unusual, and is worthy of emulation.

13 Boys Honored at Scout Court in Ord Monday

Eagle Awards to 2, 3 Become 1st Class Scouts; Ord Troop Does Fine Work.

A Court of Honor was held at the high school auditorium Monday evening, with Boy Scouts in attendance from Arcadia, Loup City and Ord. Star and Life Scout honors were bestowed upon Scouts from both Arcadia and Loup City, as well as a number of merit badges.

Hugh Cahill, Eddie Jirak, Buddie Larsen and Donnie Andersen were advanced from tenderfoot to 2nd class Scout. Raymond Vogeton, Ted Randolph and Dick Satterfield were advanced from 2nd class Scout to 1st class Scout. Gould Flagg, Dave Milliken and Bob Gruber received Merit Badges for swimming.

The climax of the evening came when Warren Allen and Harry McBeth were presented to receive the highest honor that scouting can give, the Eagle award. This award is not given for passing the required tests alone, but rather for what a boy has to be.

These badges are solid silver eagles, and are supposed to be pinned on the boys by their mothers. Mrs. McBeth presented the badge to her son, but Mrs. George Allen, sr., was ill and unable to be present, so Mr. Allen made the presentation to Warren.

The boys in turn presented their donors with tiny eagle badges, known as the parent's badge. The pins were furnished by the troop committee and the local council. The troop itself gave the boys small pins of silver and colored enamel to wear with their civilian clothes.

The winning of an Eagle award ordinarily represents a number of years of work and the Ord troop has only been organized 2½ years. Twenty-one badges are required for an Eagle award and each of the boys has twenty-nine. There are other Eagles in sight for next year. Scouts of Ord, Loup City and Arcadia are now planning a circus which will be held in all three towns the first week in December.

Scoutmaster Rex Jewett, who presented the awards from the troop, has spent a great deal of time with his boys, and the result of this work is shown in the remarkable progress the boys have been making. The troop has become a real asset to the city, and the boys are happy to render assistance whenever an opportunity comes to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Foght Visit after 50 Years

Ord was honored yesterday by the return of two of its well known citizens of half a century ago, Prof. and Mrs. Harold W. Foght. Prof. Foght was a member of Ord's first graduating class in 1890, and Mrs. Foght, formerly Miss Alice Robbins graduated with the class of 1895.

They were married and left Ord about 45 years ago, and this was their first visit to the scenes of their youth in many years. Prof. Foght is best known here as the author of "The Trail of the Loup," but he is also the author of a number of educational works.

Ord's Czech Day Celebration Was a Great Success

Parade One of Most Colorful Held Here in Years; Dr. Chyle Fine Speaker.

Wednesday was the occasion of the much heralded Czech Day in Ord and the weather man left little to be desired in making it pleasant for the hundreds of visitors who thronged to the city to do their bit toward making the occasion a success.

The day was warm, reaching 91 degrees by noon and remaining there most of the afternoon. The crowd began to arrive early, and the streets were lined with autos long before one o'clock, at which time the parade was scheduled to start.

The parade formed in front of the Bohemian hall on N street, and headed east, turning north on 14th street, then west on M street to 15th street, then turning north and going completely around the square and finally south on 15th street to the place of beginning, the floats making a second turn around the square.

Heading the march were the American Legion colors and color guard, followed by a score of Legionnaires wearing their Legion caps. The Ord high school band followed, dispensing music enroute, and presenting a sight of which local people never tire. They were under the direction of Mr. Deines, with Miss Dorothy Albers as flag bearer and Miss Phyllis Dodge as drum major.

Next in the line of march were the Czech ladies in colorful costumes and the members of the Z. C. B. J. lodges. The ladies were wearing the Czech national costumes which made their part in the parade most interesting. The large number of people, some well along in years, who turned out to march in this part of the parade is noteworthy.

Munn Retires as Judge Candidate

Yesterday George A. Munn, one of the nominees for the office of judge in the 11th judicial district, announced his withdrawal from the race. "An active campaign for the honor of the judgeship is distasteful to me," said Mr. Munn, "and I have neither the desire nor the finances to make the campaign apparently necessary."

In the primary last April the Ord attorney ran fourth over the district, with Kroger leading, Abbott second and Spikes in third place, though Valley county gave Mr. Munn 1,355 votes to 717 for Judge Kroger, his closest competitor, and 362 for Abbott and only 192 for Spikes.

Mr. Munn's statement of withdrawal continues: "I feel strongly that in fairness one of our judges in this eleven county district should be chosen outside Hall county. To the end that the vote for an out-district candidate may not be divided between two such nominees, I withdraw my candidacy."

Four Are Injured in Crash Near Sargent

Dust and wind are believed to have been responsible for a head-on collision which occurred at 12:30 Wednesday about 8 miles southwest of Sargent and just in front of the Longwood school house. The cars were those of Warren Nelson of Broken Bow and Joe Kluna of Sargent.

The Kluna car was completely demolished, and the Nelson car was quite badly damaged also. Mrs. Kluna had a cut on her forehead and minor injuries. Martha Kluna had cuts on her cheek and forehead and a broken nose. Mr. Nelson suffered a knee and chest injury. Mr. Kluna escaped with minor injuries and bruises. The Klunas were enroute to Czech Day at Ord.

Tot Recovering from Spider Bite

North Loup—(Special)—Gordon, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Honeycutt, is very ill with what is thought to be the bite of a black widow spider.

Friday his mother discovered that his hands, feet and face were badly swollen and investigation showed there was a bite on his abdomen. He was taken to Dr. Cumsel, of Scotia, for emergency treatment, but is still a very sick child.

Mrs. Honeycutt thinks the child was bitten by a spider while outdoors playing.

County Clerk Klima Met Congressional Inquiry Committee

Explained Local Conditions to Investigating Group of Congressmen.

On Sept. 17, Ign. Klima, jr., Valley county clerk, drove to Lincoln and met with a congressional group which is touring the middle west and studying farm conditions, particularly with reference to the migration problem due to drought.

In the group are Congressmen Tolen of California, Parsons of Illinois and Curtis of Nebraska. It was through the courtesy of Congressman Curtis that Mr. Klima was given a hearing before the group.

As is doubtless known, there are 45 counties of central Nebraska now included in the drought area, and a group, with John P. Misko of Ord as president, is urging that something be done in these counties before conditions become any worse than they are. Mr. Klima was asked to testify at the congressional hearing by this group, which is known as the Allied Drought Council.

In anticipation of having an opportunity to present his views, or rather, the facts in connection with the last decade of drought in this section of Nebraska, Mr. Klima prepared a statement of facts which was given consideration by the committee, the text of which is given here:

VALLEY COUNTY NEBRASKA
Population
1930 census 9,533
1940 census 8,153
Loss 1,380
Ninety percent of loss is from rural areas.

What Has Happened.
Valley county, comprising an area of 576 square miles or approximately 368,640 acres, was, under normal conditions always considered to be one of the real good agricultural and live stock counties of Nebraska. During the past 7 years, however, because of continued severe drought conditions and consecutive crop failures, the resources of the people in Valley county have been depleted year after year, farmers have been forced to reduce live stock herds because of lack of feed. The county is now in a state of financial distress. The people are suffering from lack of food and clothing. The county is now in a state of financial distress. Tolly Names His Starting Lineup for Apostle Fray

Line Will Average 163 But Backfield to Be Light; Game Played at Night.

Handicapped by the hot weather that has prevailed throughout the practice season, Roscoe Tolly, new mentor of Ord high school athletics, this week is putting the finishing touches on the grid machine that will face the St. Paul Apostles in the opening clash of Ord's 1940 football season. The team will be heavy but somewhat slow, says Tolly, and will feature a running attack.

Probable starting lineup for the St. Paul game named by Tolly includes Cochrane (150) and Christensen (170) ends; Marker (175) and Timmerman (195) tackles; Norman (150) and Zionke (155) guards; Fryzek (145) center; Dahlin (150) and Furtak (135) halfbacks; Cetak (190) fullback; Flagg (140) quarterback.

All the boys on this probable starting line-up are 1939 letter men, except Cochrane, who enrolled in the Ord school last spring, coming here from Nelson, Neb., where he was all-conference center, and Marker, who comes to Ord from Alamosa, Colo., where he had considerable football experience.

There is a possibility that another former out-stater, Cassius Pickett, big senior who played three years of football at Seminole, Okla., may be in the starting line-up against St. Paul. Pickett is a 200-pounder and probably will play at tackle. Supt. C. C. Thompson is still checking the question of his eligibility.

Ernie Piskorski, veteran end, is suffering from a face infection but may get into the St. Paul game. He weighs 160 pounds. Others regarded by Tolly as likely replacements include Stewart and Barnes, 140-pound backs, James, a 145-pound guard, Marech, 155-pound tackle, Petska, 160-pounder who plays both tackle and guard, and Covert, 195-pound sophomore tackle. All are 1939 lettermen.

Gould Flagg, the quarterback, does most of the passing for the Ord crew, but the boys haven't been clicking as yet in their pass formations, due principally to lack of practice. Cetak is counted on to do most of the punting for the Ord team.

Average weight of Ord's starting line-up will be 153 pounds. The line is heavy, 164 pounds, but the light backfield brings down the team average.

The game at St. Paul will be played under the lights, starting at 8:00, instead of in the afternoon as previously announced. Thirty boys will make the trip by bus, leaving Ord at 4:00 p. m.

Jack Wilson Dies of Accident Hurts

Arcadia—(Special)—John William Wilson, 31, better known as Jack Wilson, died Saturday night as the result of injuries received on Friday, the 13th, when he was hit by a truck on Arcadia's main street. Born Oct. 30, 1858, in Peoria, Ill., Mr. Wilson came to this locality in 1887 and engaged in farm work. In 1899 occurred his marriage to Lulu Knapp. In 1900 they moved to a small place in Arcadia where Mr. Wilson farmed on a small scale and fed livestock, in which business he was actively engaged until his fatal accident. Left to mourn are his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Gladys Abney, of Auburn, Ia., and a sister, Nellie, of Moline, Ill. Funeral services are being held at the Methodist church today and interment will be in the local cemetery.

Baby Attacked by a Big Snake

Davis Creek—(Special)—Little Donna Mae, 16-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Symek, was attacked last week by a big snake while playing in the yard. Her mother, who was washing windows, heard the baby scream and ran around the house to find that a snake resembling a bullsnake but shorter and thicker than any bullsnake she ever saw was wallowing the baby in the dust and trying to coil its body around that of the child. Mrs. Symek got a hoe and chopped off the snake's head. The baby was unhurt, except from shock.

Car Rolls, Woman Hurt.

Arcadia—(Special)—Mrs. Eldrid Camp was fortunate to escape with minor injuries Wednesday when her car overturned on the highway west of town. Mrs. Camp was taking some clothes to her mother, Mrs. Burt Sell, when the wind caught a bedsheet and blew it into her face, obstructing her vision. The car rolled over twice when she lost control.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Country children that travel to and from school usually find plenty of chore jobs awaiting them on the home farm. Less fortunate are those who board and room in town, away from parental supervision, with spare time at their disposal after four o'clock.

"The devil finds work for idle hands." What may be done to keep youngsters off the streets and busy after school hours?

Parents with high school students living in town should investigate the extra curricular activities which their school presents during the late afternoons or evenings.

Here at Ord the leading activities are athletics and music. But many others are offered, of which we shall mention the H-Y, Girl Reserves, F. P. A., Theatricals, Tri-S, Boy Scouts, G. A. A., French Club, Elementary Club and Ordettes. Something in this list ought to be of interest, and open to all pupils having idle time on their hands. In addition, there exist many organizations for young folks at the various churches.

Sponsors of these different groups will be glad to explain their nature, and take in eligible members. The cost of joining is usually small.

No criticism of our rural youth is intended, for they apparently behave well. Indeed, quite a number are employed part time, and many have studies to get in the evening. But the extra-curricular activities are filling a need for many who would otherwise drift about the streets or ride around in autos.

Yes, We Have All the Cheaper Cuts TOO

We have talked so much about the fine steaks we sell that perhaps we have overlooked mentioning that we have all the cheaper cuts, too. They're just as nutritious as steaks, and properly prepared are fully as delicious.

Come here for stew meat, soup bones, brisket, neck-bones, liver, pot roasts, and ground beef—everything you need we have. As low as 10c per pound, and it comes off the same fine, corn-fed beef from which we cut those super-excellent steaks.

Pork, veal, lamb, mutton, smoked meats, pickled pork and full assortment of cooked luncheon meats, always.

Local Republicans Hold Meet Wednesday

Kenneth S. Wherry of Pawnee City, republican state chairman, called a meeting of local republicans at Ord last Wednesday noon at Thorne's Cafe. However, a last minute engagement in Omaha prevented him from coming. Melvin Rasdal of Ogallala, district committeeman, came in his place.

With him were Mrs. Ella E. Wagener, republican state vice-chairman and director of women's division, John B. Quinn, state president of young republicans, and Richard Larsen, republican candidate for state railway commissioner.

Mr. Rasdal was introduced by Archie Geweke, chairman of the county committee. He outlined the work that the state committee is attempting, particularly with reference to getting active work on the part of local republicans and state speakers.

He mentioned speakers who would be in the state, such as former President Herbert Hoover, Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Congressman Dewey Short of Missouri and Theodore Roosevelt, jr. He touched a note of optimism which was cheering to local workers.

Mrs. Wagener stated that local republican groups of women had been organized in most of the counties of the state and that every county in the state had now a complete republican organization, the last being completed in Sioux county.

John Quinn told of the work of getting the younger men and women organized as young republicans. He stated that a larger percentage of younger people have failed to vote in the past few years and that it is very important that these young people, as they come of age, vote and take an interest in the affairs of state and nation.

Richard Larson spent only a moment on his own campaign and told of his other activities in behalf of the entire ticket. A number of county republicans were present at this republican pep meeting and several made brief remarks. The group adjourned early to see the Czech parade.

She was preceded in death by her father, Charley Glines, sr., and a brother, Earl.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 1:30 from the Frazier Funeral Parlors, with Rev. Clifford Snyder of the Christian church in charge. Mrs. E. O. Carlson and Mrs. Mark Tolson sang, with Mrs. Robert Noll at the piano. The pall bearers were Marion Strong, Mel Rathbun, Bill Baum, Elmer Vergin, Jim Whiting and Thearon Beechle.

After the service here the body was taken to St. Paul, where Rev. Primrose of the Presbyterian church had charge of services there, assisted by Rev. Snyder. A group of pall bearers from St. Paul assisted in this service. Burial was made in the St. Paul cemetery.

Ord Camp Fire Groups Review Work of Year

Camp Fire work in Ord is a year old in October and last week was autumn round-up of all the groups prior to reorganization for another year's program. On Tuesday the Guardians' association met with Mrs. L. E. Walford for planning and preparation. Mrs. Helen Magill of Holdrege, Nebraska field director, spent all day Friday and Saturday forenoon with local workers and held conferences on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Kokes with the guardians and assistants. Mrs. Ben Rose of Burwell came for the afternoon meeting as there is a new Camp Fire group being organized in Burwell.

In the evening Mrs. Magill presented an exhibit of handcraft at the high school auditorium to all Camp Fire and Blue Bird girls, their mothers and school friends interested. She explained the purpose of Camp Fire work and suggested activities for the coming year. Mrs. C. Hornby brought 5 girls from Burwell to attend the meeting and join Mrs. Rose who is their assistant guardian.

There are four strong Camp Fire groups in Ord. Each chooses the study and activities their members prefer. In the past year they have completed a wide variety of study in the 7 divisions of Camp Fire. Occasionally all groups join in an activity where they learn how to coordinate and work through committees. This is very valuable training.

Saturday all Camp Fire girls are holding a rummage sale downtown, first door west of the Hastings and Ollis office. The girls will do their own clerking and one will serve as cashier and business manager. They are soliciting used clothing, bedding, shoes, pictures and any miscellaneous articles from friends and neighbors. The funds will be used for the coming year's program and for promoting further organization work in Ord.

A new group of 10-year old girls is to be formed from the graduating Blue Bird girls and interested friends in the near future. Mothers who are interested are invited to call or see Mrs. E. L. Kokes, secretary of the guardian association. The Camp Fire girls thank those who are donating for the rummage sale and solicit your business Saturday. They will have home-made candy to sell also.

To the Voters of the Eleventh Judicial District:

With this expression of my sincere appreciation and thanks to those voters who have urged and supported my candidacy for District Judge, I am this date taking formal steps to withdraw as a candidate.

Active campaign for the high honor of the Judgeship is distasteful to me and I have neither the desire nor the finances to make the kind of a campaign apparently necessary. I feel strongly that in fairness one of our Judges in this eleven county District should come from outside Hall county. To the end that the vote for an Out-District candidate may not be divided between two such nominees, I withdraw my candidacy.

Mrs. A. A. Hayek spent the day, Sunday in the W. E. Dodge home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Helleberg, son Richard accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Zaleski and Chas. Turner of Ord, and Miss Edith Scott of Oak Hill, Kas., drove to Loveland, Kas., Sunday where they attended a family reunion. Miss Edith Scott, who had been a guest here in the Helleberg home went to her home from Loveland. Her sister, Miss Mary, who also attended the reunion, returned with the Hellebergs and will spend a few weeks visiting relatives here.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

George Eberhart, North Loup trucker who brings fruit to Ord every Saturday, has a unique philosophy, which goes something like this: Almost anybody can walk; but why run when you can run; furthermore, why walk, when you can stand still; also, why stand up when you can sit down; and last, why sit when you can lie down. At that, we notice George gets his share of work done.

Claude C. Davis should not forget the population of Ord, since he has it for his car number, 2232. Frank Swanek, of near Burwell, should remember Ord's former population, as his car number is 2226. Fellows who don't worry about the 13 jinx are Chris Belers, who has 13 and never had a wreck, James J. Sedacek of Arcadia, who gets along very nice with No. 1313, and Richard Dowhower, who drives with No. 1323. Three business men who should be lucky are Fred Coe, No. 7, Rudy Koupal, with No. 77, and Ed Beranek with No. 777.

When Mark Tolen came limping along Monday morning he was accused of springing a "Charley Horse" the day when he saw Hilding Pearson make a hole in one down at the park. However it later developed that he sprained his ankle while showing the boys how to play football. It seems the boys understood the game better than Mark did. He don't mind limping, but he don't think much of being called "Major Hoople."

Misko at the court house steps yesterday afternoon. Fair prices were bid on the land, but of course the sales will have to be confirmed by the court before they become legal. AMERICAN BOY IS COMPANION TO THOUSANDS

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "THE AMERICAN BOY seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys' clubs also recommend THE AMERICAN BOY enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of THE AMERICAN BOY advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in THE AMERICAN BOY, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

THE AMERICAN BOY sells on most newsstands at 25c a copy. Subscription prices are $2.00 for one year or $3.50 for three years. Foreign and Canadian rates 50c a year extra. Ord's Czech Day Celebration Was a Great Success

The Czech floats followed next and there were a large number of them. A float "God Bless America" was in the lead and was followed by the floats of the Czech-American Alliance, Lodge Jungman, Lodge Slavin, Lodge Dennee, and two floats of the Bohemian Dramatic club. All were beautifully decorated and portrayed Czech national life and incidents resulting from the present war.

A large number of local merchants had arranged floats and these followed next in the parade. Among them were Springer's Variety, Lola Hardware, Johnson's Beer Parlor, Rutar's Hatchery, North Side Market, Pecanka's Market, Benda, the Clothier, and the Ord Theatre.

In this line of floats was Joe Lukesh and his KMMJ orchestra, in the back of a truck, with every member playing for all he was worth. In addition there were clowns and several decorated bicycles. The parade was so interesting that the schools were dismissed to give the children a chance to see it.

The program at the Bohemian hall followed immediately after the parade. By the time the program began every available seat in the building was taken. It opened with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by Joe Lukesh and his orchestra, the audience of course standing.

This was followed by a speech of welcome by F. J. L. Benda, president of the local Czech-American Alliance. Next came a speech by Mayor M. B. Cummings, who extended the courtesies of the city to all visitors. There followed a short talk by Mr. Rask of Omaha, district secretary of the Czech-American Alliance, who introduced Dr. Oldrich Chyle of Chicago.

Dr. Chyle made his first address in English, which he speaks clearly and concisely, with only a trace of accent. He said that at the time of the Munich pact England had the backing of 51 nations of the world, and a firm stand at that time would probably have saved Czechoslovakia as well as all that followed since that time.

Mrs. Anton Stepanek of Taylor was next introduced and gave a short talk. A living picture was then presented, representing the flag of Czechoslovakia. This was put on by the degree team of Lodge Slavin, assisted by John Horn.

Dr. Chyle then gave an address in the Czech language, which was followed by a closing address of thanks by President Benda. As a finale all stood and joined in singing the Czech national song, "Where Is My Home," in the Czech language.

As soon as the program closed a group of ladies, assisted by the men arranged three tables the full length of the hall and in a short time were ready to serve the chicken supper. Mrs. Stanley Rutar was in charge, and was assisted by the lady members of the Z. C. B. J. lodge and the Czech-American Alliance.

The meal was served by the ladies dressed in their native costumes. They began serving at 5 p. m., and the supper continued over a period of 2 1/2 hours, with well over 200 guests. During the meal the Lukesh orchestra dispensed popular Bohemian music from the stage.

The dance with the Lukesh orchestra furnishing the music, began shortly after 3 p. m., and continued until well after midnight. All who attended any part of the Czech Day program are of the opinion that it was one of the best days Ord has had in years.

The object of the day was to raise funds for relief of Czech refugees in England, as well as to furnish assistance to Czech soldiers who are still fighting in England against the enemy. It is understood that the committee is well pleased with the amount raised for this purpose, and they extend their sincere thanks to all who helped them in any way.

The following Ord merchants contributed financially toward the Czech Day celebration: F. J. L. Benda, Walter Douthitt,

First National Bank, Davis & Vogelanz, Protective Savings and Loan Ass'n., F. L. Blessing, Otto Pecanka, Petka Store, Safeway Store, Lombard Studio, Glenn L. Johnson, E. S. Murray, South Side Jeweler, Leonard Furtak, Brown-McDonald, O. A. Kellison, H. T. Frazier.

K. Leach, Ord Auto Sales, L. M. Loft, A. Bartunek, H. McGrew, Frank Kaputka, John Misko, Russell Pharmacy, A. H. Jeannotat, Anthony Thill, Dan Dugan Oil Co., Thome's Cafe, Anderson Motor Co., Wm. Heuck, F. W. Peterson, J. D. McCall, Mrs. McGinnis and Ferguson, Geo. A. Daily, Sack Lumber & Coal Co., L. W. Eschliman, Wilson and Sons.

SURE...everybody notices the ONE black sheep!

That's one of the reasons why the Brewing Industry is co-operating with the legal authorities to eliminate ALL black sheep from Beer Retailing.

Our records show that only a few of Nebraska's 2,500 retail beer establishments disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions. Nevertheless...to protect beer's good name...the brewing industry wants undesirable retailing eliminated entirely. We want all beer taverns to be what the vast majority already are...clean, attractive, decent places.

We are taking action to do this with our "clean up or close up" program. Good citizens can help this program by reporting law violators to enforcement officials or to our Committee.

GEORGE MUNN RETIRES.

This week George A. Munn, who last November announced his candidacy for the important office of judge in the 11th judicial district, is announcing his withdrawal from the race. It is with keen regret that his friends in Ord and Valley county hear of his decision, as Mr. Munn has always been deservedly popular with those who know him best.

However, there are a number of good reasons given by Mr. Munn for his withdrawal. First, while he received a fine vote in his own county, for which he is truly grateful, the fact that he was not as well known as the other three men in the race caused him to run fourth in the entire district.

If he should remain in the race, he feels that he would not stand a chance himself in November, and that he would handicap the other contestants. For this reason he is declaring himself out at this time, nearly six weeks before election, in order to give the voters who planned to vote for him a chance to decide how they will vote.

His retirement leaves three men in the race, E. G. Kroger, present district judge, O. A. Abbott, also a resident of Grand Island, and William F. Spikes, a resident of St. Paul. In view of his record on the bench, Judge Kroger is conceded a place as one of the judges, and will no doubt lead the balloting for this office.

The question confronting the voters is which of the other two should be elected. In fairness to the rest of the district, which extends 50 miles north and 150 miles west from Grand Island, Hall county should not dictate the election of two judges from the one city, even though because of its greater population it has the voting strength to do it.

William F. Spikes has been actively engaged in the practice of law for the past thirty years or more. In that time he has been engaged as attorney in dozens of actively contested cases, the kind that develop quick thinking and an accurate knowledge of the law. Because of this long period of training he is eminently qualified for the position to which he aspires, and his candidacy should receive the careful consideration of all thinking voters.

BOOKWALTER LAND.

The daily papers last week announced the death of Beatrice, of Nancy Jane Bookwalter, 33, widow of the late W. H. Bookwalter, who at one time owned thousands of acres of land in Nebraska. This calls to mind the early day investment of the Bookwalters in Nebraska land, at a time when many thought the land they were buying would never be worth much more than they were paying for it.

Many details of the story are difficult to obtain, but the history of Nebraska, and more particularly of Valley county, would not be complete without at least a few paragraphs devoted to this interesting phase of the early history of the state.

It all hinges on an arrangement made with the railroads in an early day whereby they were to receive the alternate sections of land to a distance of twenty miles on either side of the track on condition that they would build railroads through certain sections of the state.

This was done in Nebraska, and proof, if any were needed, is given in the fact that the C. & Q. railroad still owns a number of quarter sections of land in the county of which it obtained under the original arrangement with the government.

The sections of land given the railroads were the odd ones, and all railroad land still owned by the Burlington is in the odd sections. The mere possession of all this land did not constitute an asset to the railroad, but it would bring them in money for building added value, so a lot of this land was put on the market to raise funds.

The Bookwalters, of which there appear to have been two, W. H. and John W., were men of wealth at the time, and what was more to the point, they had funds immediately available for investment in land. They spent a large amount of money acquiring land throughout Nebraska from the Burlington, depending on the raise in the value of the land to make their investment worth while.

In this arrangement John W. Bookwalter acquired a large amount of land in Valley county, especially in Davis Creek township. Just what the maximum amount was is not definitely known, but the records show that he had 65 quarter sections of land in his name in the county in the year 1900.

Of these forty quarters were in Davis Creek township, 3 in North Loup township, 7 in Ord township, 6 in Enterprise township, 3 in Independent township, and 1 in Springdale township. Since all railroad land was in the odd sections, it is of course follows that all Bookwalter land was, and is, in the odd sections.

Since 1900 much of the Bookwalter land has been disposed of, most of it being sold to tenants who acquired enough money to make a down payment on the land. Today we find that only 16 quarters of land still remain in the Bookwalter name, and these are distributed among five members of the family. Harry Allison Bookwalter owns 2 quarters, Gwendolyn H. Bookwalter owns 7 quarters, John W. Bookwalter, jr., owns 4 quarters, Francis M. Bookwalter owns 2 quarters and Malinda Bookwalter, et al., owns one quarter. All of section 33, Davis Creek township, still belongs to the Bookwalter interests, and 3 quarters of section 1 in Ord township.

The faith of the Bookwalters in Nebraska land was justified, and they realized a good return on their investment. By making it possible for worthy farmers to purchase the land they helped materially in the development of Nebraska. At least 50 quarters of land once owned by John W. Bookwalter are now in other hands, and many of these owners are among the substantial citizens of the county.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Dear Quiz Readers:

I have been neglecting this chore for the past couple of weeks and don't dare come home next week and face the chief without at least sending a short communication now to sort of make amends for past neglect. Yes, we plan on coming home soon, probably about the 27th unless this nice weather and the prospects of several wild duck dinners already promised, cause us to reconsider and stay a few days longer. This is about the most beautiful fall weather I have ever seen. Of course one don't remember, as the years pass, just how nice the weather was in past seasons. I do recall that many times the weather has been wet and cold and the wind has blown hard from the northwest and we have hurried the work of getting ready to leave, glad to get away. Of course that might even happen this year for it can change mighty fast and next week end might be cold and blustery, but for the past few days now we have not had or needed a fire in either stove and it is lightly breezy and hazy and while the water is pretty snappy to go swimming, I have been in and it is not so bad after the first plunge. Out away from the lake it froze quite hard, corn and vine crops and all the tenderer crops being killed, but here at the lake none of our flowers have been touched, even the gourd vines are looking and growing better than they did earlier, apparently.

Fishing is supposed to be good in September. "They bite like savages in the fall," is a well known slogan of the resort advertising, but this fall there is mighty poor fishing. It is even hard to get a decent catch of bluegills. Bass fishing has been the best all summer that I have seen it in many years, but right now, while one can get several limits of little bass, the big ones, (I mean the bass of 2 to 5 pounds) are hard to get. Crappies have been hard to get nearly all summer and hereabouts they are saying that it is because these Cut-throat lakes were opened to fishing through the ice last winter and reputedly many were caught. But other crappie lakes that were not opened are also apparently fished out so that sort of knocks out the theory of the winter fishing hurting the lakes here. And we have caught very few northern this season, as compared with other years and we know they have not been fished out and walleyes, on our lakes, have just been all all summer. We did go over to Pelican the other day with Ray Luther as guide, and four of us got our limits of 8 pike each. I sent the young people at home half of the evidence and they write that they were fine. I plan on making one more trip over there before I come home. I don't need the fish but I do enjoy catching them. Ray tells me this morning, (Thursday the 19th) that he has been fishing every day and that his parties have been getting around a dozen each trip out, mostly nice pike.

Sunday we had a picnic in the Fenner back yard, using their picnic table and fireplace. We just used the fireplace to keep the coffee hot. We had fried chicken, potatoes and gravy, Hubbard squash, pickles, jelly and jam, hot rolls, coffee apple pie and cheese. As our guests we had the Ray Luthers, the Fenners and Gelows and Pansy Hunter of Des Moines, who spends the summer here, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Parks. Mrs. Parks has been a Nebraska postmistress for some twenty years. While we were 13, supposed to be an unlucky number, so far no ill effects of the meal have been reported and it was four days ago, and everyone declared they had a good time. Personally it was one of the most delightful days of a summer full of good days.

For the past week or more I have been doing the odd jobs that always have to be done, incident to leaving here for home. There are boats to take up and wash out, docks to take in and pile up, tools and frog boxes and minnow buckets to put away, motors to be cleaned up and drained and filled with heavy oil and put away, porches to have red resin paper tacked over them to protect the things on the porches from the weather when snow and sleet drives out of the northwest, in fact there are seemingly hundreds of things to be done. It has been my practice for some years to have rotten manure hauled about the last thing and put over the lawn and under the trees and I think that accounts for my having such fine grass and such thrifty, healthy looking oak and ash, birch and elm trees. Oscar is busy hauling the manure now and I am also having several big truck loads of gravel hauled and am graveling the drive in from the road, as it is badly worn and washed by recent rains. So our last few days here are really very busy and very enjoyable days. We always leave here with keen regret but we look forward to getting home with the children and grandchildren and that takes the edge off the regret at leaving. I will be seeing some of

Written by GEORGE GOWEN

Pop Corn Days.

Someone from up Ord way asked me Thursday afternoon how they did it down here, to put on such a big celebration and draw such a crowd. "We don't seem to be able to do it at the fair no matter how we try."

I couldn't answer the question. All I know is that every year they seem to have the same big mob of people. It is not only big, but it looks bigger yet for everyone gangs into the space of a little more than one block, laughing and hee-hawing whether there is a joke or not.

The entertainment is not very alarming. It used to be home talent but this year it was shipped in. A queen is crowned each year and this is about the same stunt each time except a new queen and that being a secret as to who it is, gives a little excitement. At least it is all free and if one wishes, he may spend the day, seeing it all without spending a cent.

Perhaps the biggest feature is the parade of floats the second day. The baby parade the first day is good too but not so extensive. Many thought the floats this year were the best ever. One man said the people are learning better how to make them. A committee in charge chooses the subjects the different divisions are to represent, for example the clubs this year, were to represent radio programs.

Of course these floats are not expensive and elaborate as at the Rose carnival, but they are mostly very good considering everything. Each school which furnishes a float is given $2.00 to pay for paper and expense whether they win a prize or not. Many people think this should be given to the churches, clubs and other organizations also and it would tend to make more floats. The prizes here are worth while too.

Most all schools, clubs and churches put on a float. A few business men make floats too. The former feel it a patriotic duty to make a float, and more, the premium is quite worth getting. Children like to ride on the floats and be part of the parade. There are people who plan for weeks ahead for this one event that lasts but a few minutes. Some people think a float in this parade is as good an advertisement as they can get.

At the earlier Pop Corn Days there were exhibits but most of these have been dropped. Some felt that the County fair, strove to have exhibits and this just infringed on that, and there was no need of two such exhibits. However, they still have fancy work and barber displays. This year Doug Barber had charge of a field exhibit.

This celebration, besides other things, is a homecoming event. Many people plan their vacations to come on Pop Corn Days. Every year one sees people you have not seen for a long time. George Humphrey, George Cox, Bill Smith, and Lewis Hamer were a few of the homecomers this year. Someone said, "everyone comes to Pop Corn Days, and brings their uncles and aunts and all their cousins and nieces and nephews and fathers and mothers and grandparents, and all their children, big and small, those on hand and those expected."

Pop Corn Days Short Shavings. In getting the S. D. B. eating joint ready someone asked if it was necessary to clean and dust off the chairs. A wag answered, "Now, if anyone comes to eat here they will wipe them off. If we don't get any business it don't matter."

Wesley Hutchins, who enjoys playing with children, met a small boy (about 7 years old) carrying around a little brother who was fast asleep. W. T. leaned over and stopped the lad, "Would you like to trade that fellow off?" he asked.

"You can have him for nothing," was the quick reply as the bigger youngster shoved the sleeping baby into W. T.'s arms. A few years ago, so the story goes, the Scotia school decided not to excuse classes for Pop Corn Days, but when the time came there were so many pupils absent from school that the day was hardly worth while. Since then the Scotia schools declare a half day holiday and the children are brought over in the school busses. They not only do that but the Scotia school band leads the parade and sometimes have a float.

No one was arrested for drunkenness on Pop Corn Days. Although there were several pretty well stewed, they seemed harmless and were ordered to leave town, which they did in their cars. In as much as the city has voted in the liquor, the authorities feel it should put up with a certain amount of gaiety with the drinkers. There are a few who feel there should be a bull pen built to herd the drunks until they sober up, that they might be safer when they drive their cars home on the highways. Several of the drunks too, are on relief in some form or another, but still, they are about the only ones who have money enough to indulge in such pastime.

H. D. Leggett. P.S. Just as I was about to seal this letter someone down in the lake in front yelled, "Leggett, come down here," and I rushed out to find Dick Wallin and wife and Charley Potter and wife in the boat, and they said they had a fish to show me. It proved to be a 17 lb. northern that they had just caught on a cane pole with a spoon hook. They had started across the lake and only a few rods from the dock landed the big fellow.

Dale Hellewege did all the weeding of his father's 4 acres of beets this year, saving his father over $200 which regular beet weeder would have cost. That is something, I would think, for a high school boy.

Hugh Butler suggested a scheme to help the drouth farmers (that is loaning them corn, etc.) but Cochran, who is governor and candidate for the same office Hugh Butler is, couldn't agree to that scheme because Butler suggested it. As a consequence there is nothing done and the farmers in this section wait and sell their stock and plan to move away and kill themselves, perhaps, while the politicians chew the fat.

Someone thought Hugh Butler would get more votes if he created a plot to get the farmers out of the country.

A man in business told me he was pretty safe in trusting anyone on relief, or on old age pension, or a rehab. But if he found out a man was trying to make it on his own hook and pay his own bills, he knows he better use caution with his credit.

The Lange boys made a little bet with someone that a baby calf would gain more pounds than a mature cow, and so, I heard, won the bet. They weighed the new born calf and then weighed it again in 3 weeks and it gained 60 pounds.

I still believe they might have lost that bet had the other better used his own trick to make the cow gain 100 pounds. At least, I shipped a cow once, and in the one day between the time I weighed her at home and when she was weighed in Omaha, she had shrunk 110 pounds. She might have gained 110 pounds too, had she shrunk out at the first weighing.

A blue heron has been fishing around and near the North Loop river bridge lately, very much unafraid and also very much in ignorance of the fact that there is many a boy (and big boys too) who would delight in taking a crack at him with a rifle.

We can expect more dust storms this winter. Most everywhere west and south of North Loop the farmers have already pastured their corn fields clean and as a result there will be nothing to hold the dirt.

MEDICAL FACTS

4-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

If you have been reading this column the past few weeks, you may have tired of hearing about blood but the few items given here constitute only a beginning of the interesting things one might say of this fluid tissue which is so important to us. A great physiologist made the following remark about blood: "Situated at the crossroads of the function of nutrition, the blood occupies a very special place in the study of physiology, because, aside from its life proper, it assumes the responsibility for the life of all the other tissues." With this idea in mind, it may be safe to risk talking a little more about this subject.

The life of the individual cells or corpuscles of the blood is very interesting. Let us consider the red corpuscle. Before you were born, your red corpuscles were manufactured in several places in your body, one after the other. One of the first of these was your liver. At that time the liver did not have the other jobs to do but as these other jobs arose, the manufacture of the red cells was transferred to the spleen. During all this time the bones of the body were in the process of formation and they did not have the marrow cavities in them. As the bones assumed the form and structure found at birth, the cavities were hollowed in their shafts and these cavities became full of fat cells, blood capillaries and blood spaces. Then the formation of red cells was transferred to the bone marrow, where it remains for life.

The normal adult has about 31,000,000,000 red corpuscles in his body. Of these, from 600,000,000 to 1,500,000,000 wear out and are destroyed each day. These worn out cells are largely broken down in the spleen. The iron contained in them is almost all retained and used again in making new cells, though a little is lost and has to be provided by the food one eats. This means that our factories in the marrow of our bones have to be on the job at all times in order to supply the demand for new red cells. It is interesting that in diseases which destroy the blood rapidly, nature may go back to the primitive state and again set up stations for manufacture of red cells in the liver and spleen, as well as in other tissues of the body. One might compare this to making aeroplanes in automobile factories when national emergency demands.

Gus Schoensteln went to Omaha Thursday to attend a showing of new Ford's there. He returned home Friday.

The way Jesse Kovanda likes to wander off across country by himself reminds me of the old-time philosophers. Mr. Kovanda is his own best company, sometimes with a fishpole, sometimes with a pail for mushrooms. Whatever grows wild in the Valley county countryside, he is sure to know about it and find it in its lair. In this day of artificial entertainment, movies, radios, bridge and silly games, it is a pleasure to find someone who is self-sufficient and enjoys being so.

But Mr. Kovanda is not an impractical dreamer... for instance, did you know that he and Keith painted the Kovanda home this summer? And did a good job of it, too.

I was interested to read what Albert Wiggam said made a good place to live... he went on to list infant mortality rate, percentages of homes owned, and a number of things like that. What do you think makes a town a good place in which to live?

First, a healthy climate and atmosphere, I suppose. None of us would choose to live in a smoky place such as Pittsburgh or St. Louis. None of us wishes to live in a swamp or malarial neighborhood.

Then, a clean town with broad streets, well-kept yards and tidy alleys. With, I suppose, plenty of paint and flowers, and a good sewage system (Ord????) and good drinking water, cold water if possible. (Ord????)

And we want good schools with competent teachers and a representative collection of churches so that each may worship God after his fashion. And a good library for reference as well as pleasurable reading.

We need music in our ideal town, a good band, orchestras, many individuals who enjoy creating music for the rest of us.

Our town needs either good policing or an ideal citizenry: shall we have a little of each?

What else do we want? Good doctors, clean hospitals, well-kept groceries and stores, a choice of goods after the good old American fashion.

Spacious parks for playing are fine to have, whether you are little

DO NOT TREAT YOURSELF WITH "HEARSAY"

Neighbors and friends are priceless possessions, and should be so regarded—but when it comes to treating yourself in case of illness, the advice of a neighbor or friend is not the safest plan. They mean well, of course, and simple little ailments and accidents about the house can often be treated casually with home remedies from the medicine chest.

Better to be Safe Than Sorry

However, when there is anything the matter with you, to experiment with yourself or treat your case with "hearsay," may be very expensive and dangerous.

There are many underlying causes for outward symptoms, discernible only to a Physician, after careful examination and analysis. Disease detected and treated in its first stages is so much easier to cure, and is less expensive to you physically and financially. Don't experiment on yourself!

or big. We need them too. Some of us think we need fields for softball, some of us want courts for tennis, many of us want swimming pool, quite a few people think a football field is a necessity of modern living.

How does Ord fit your idea of an ideal town?

It wouldn't be possible for us to do anything to improve Ord until we looked around us and took stock of what we now have. Then our criticism could be constructive and we could start to work.

Let's don't all plan to start with the neighbors. How about ourselves? —Irma.

Simmons's Visit Wisdas. Harry Simmons of the World-Herald office force in Omaha was a pleasant caller at the Clipper office last Monday morning. He and his wife were making a short visit in the city in the homes of the latter's brothers, W. H. and E. L. Wisda. Both Mr. and Mrs. Simmons have been connected with the above paper a good many years, she as linotype operator and he as linotype machinist. Both learned the "profess" in the school of hard knocks, have watched the typesetting machine grow from infancy to its present high status, and it is needless to say that both are familiar with all the intricacies of the machine from the keyboard to the distributor bar.—Lexington Clipper.

County Clerk Klima Met Congressional Inquiry Committee

cause of lack of feed. To borrow money to buy feed and seed and to pay interest and taxes, and later either sell out or be sold out, and move to town and apply for relief or work relief, or perhaps move to another state in quest of new and better opportunities to provide for their families.

Because of such drouth conditions the resources of the people were reduced and depleted year after year, each year forcing added numbers to the indigent groups in the towns. Commercial enterprises suffered from loss of business. The total assessed valuation for tax purposes of the county was reduced from $21,397,812 in the year 1930 to the low level of $11,331,265 in 1940.

While agricultural resources dwindled and conditions in general became more severe, and property valuations as returned by assessment became lower the legislature during each session has, by enactment of various relief measures, fixed duties and responsibilities upon governing bodies to provide funds by tax levies for the relief and needs of indigents and for the sponsorship of various types of work relief projects.

Taxes as a result have become more burdensome, while the ability of the farm and home owner to pay his taxes has become greatly reduced, and income reduced. The exodus from the farm followed and is still in progress, with the result that many farms have been abandoned and are now in the hands of various loan agencies and mortgage holders. Industrial resources are lacking.

The surviving farmers who are still holding on to their homes, because of severe drouth conditions, are financially unable to provide jobs and pay wages to the group of needy people. The Works Projects Administration, because of quota limitation, has been unable to assign all of the certified needy persons.

The county, operating under the state budget fund, is limited in providing funds by taxation, and there are no social or other agencies to supplement fuel, shelter, clothing, medical, hospitalization, burial for direct relief cases, and for unassigned WPA cases.

Because Valley county has completely exhausted its 1939 tax levy for such indigent relief and has exhausted its 1940 levy for such indigent relief to the legal limitations of the existing budget laws, and because it has no other funds available, it has been necessary to suspend all direct relief in Valley county.

The county board of supervisors has petitioned Governor Cochran to request federal aid for such relief. Copies of such petition were sent to Nebraska members in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives.

The Federal Stamp Plan of commodity distribution has been studied and considered, and found to be unworkable in its present form, in Valley county, and request has been made for modification of the plan, to make it workable in rural areas.

The 1940 census shows 1593 farms with 1150 farm families, and a 95% compliance with the AAA. By Sept. 1, 1940, approximately 270 AAA payments had been encumbered and assigned.

County case load, Sept. 6, 1940: 240 on old age assistance; 39 on aid for dependent children; 6 on blind relief; 187 on farm security administration; 101 on works projects administration; 15 on direct relief; 37 border line cases; 455 families of 3.26 persons per family, receiving commodities.

Estimated case load during winter, 1940-1941: 270 on old age assistance; 45 on aid for dependent children; 6 on blind relief; 450 on farm security administration; 200 on works projects administration; 55 on direct relief, 70 border line cases.

Mr. Klima concludes his factual statements with the following: "I believe, in order to discourage further exodus from the farms, FSA relief should be made more certain during the ensuing six months. Corn should be distributed through the surplus commodities corporation, as other surplus commodities to persons certified for commodities, in order that foundation live stock can be saved and kept on the farms. The federal food stamp plan should be streamlined and made workable in rural areas and counties without funds for direct relief, for immediate relief purposes."

The congressional committee heard Mr. Klima and expressed sympathy for the conditions that exist here, but of course did not make any direct statement as to what would be done, since they are still investigating conditions in the mid-west and what is done will depend largely on the report they make to congress. However, the facts as given above will be made a part of the Congressional record.

An accompanying exhibit by Mr. Klima was a statement of the financial status of Valley county for the years 1934 to 1940 inclusive, showing how the assessed valuation of the county has decreased more than two million dollars since 1934, and as a result, it has been necessary to increase the tax levy. It further shows that the percentage of taxes paid is 98% of 1934 and 65% of 1939.

It shows the county budgets, giving the legal limits for levies for various purposes, showing how the budget in the main has been decreased for 1940, and yet it was necessary to increase the levy for a number of purposes. The levy limitations for all county purposes and relief of poor (except old debts by vote of people) is a maximum of 3.50 mills, and the maximum constitutional limit (except old debts) for all purposes is 5.00 mills.

The statement also gives a most enlightening tabulation of the corn and wheat crop yield in the county for the years 1934 to 1940, inclusive. This includes the irrigated areas, and gives an average corn yield for 1940 of 5 bushels per acre from 75,000 acres. It gives a wheat yield of 1 bushel per acre on 4,100 acres. The corn yield on unirrigated acreage during 1940 was negligible.

Mr. Klima believes that it is not migration, but emigration, that is the problem which Nebraska has to face. In ten years the state lost more than 60,000 people through emigration, and Valley county lost 1,350 in the same period of time. The problem we must face is how to keep the Nebraska farmer on the farm.
