Rev. and Mrs. Clifford G. Snyder arranged an old fashioned Halloween party Wednesday evening for the young people of the Christian church. The festivities took place in the basement, and the guests had to make their entrance by way of the cob chute and into the kitchen, where they received a very cold handshake from a white garbed guide. They were then taken into a room with a weird, green light, where they had a look at a corpse, which had a habit of suddenly coming to life. They then went into the main basement assembly room, where they had their fortunes told by a very witching witch who had just arrived by broom trolley. The guests were all masked and dressed for the occasion, and they then paraded and voted upon the best costume, with Junior Wilson winning the most votes. They then unmasked and spent the evening playing games appropriate for the occasion, including bobbing for apples, blowing out the candle, apple and candle relay race, true confessions, etc. At the close of the party the hosts served light refreshments.

Many people have mentioned the fact that Ord does need to mark wider parking places for cars, and there seems to be such a lot of sentiment in favor of widening the narrow ones Ord now has.

These new broad cars just will not fit easily into the grooves laid out for the narrower cars of earlier years. Many and many a fender is scraped and dented when someone tries to squeeze in between two parked cars that do not have any clearance left for the one between.

I would like to have bicycle laws made clear to children.

We have so many youngsters riding bikes in Ord now that I think this is a real necessity.

Twilight is a dangerous time for young bicycle riders; it is difficult to see them in the deepening grays of early evening. Bright colored clothes on those riders are a must, a safety measure. Let's don't have any fatal bicycle accidents this winter.

Mrs. John Andersen tells me that in Winner, S. D., there is a club room downtown for women! Now this sounds like a simple statement, but is it?

Men have many club rooms. Every lodge furnishes a lounging place for its own male members and considers this a necessary activity. Men can loaf in numbers of places away from home.

But a lounging place for women? Who ever heard of such? What would a woman be doing with time to loaf, anyway?

Git home to your canning and children, woman!

It isn't at all difficult to find something to admire if we look around us at everyday happenings. And I am not Mrs. Pollyanna, either.

Look at the way the Catholics all pulled together to put over their big bazaar, auction, supper, carnival and dance. Everyone of them worked, they moved mountains, they made heaps of money, it was a big success.

Look at the way those Business and Professional girls do things. They forever have several projects on the fire at one time. And the projects don't grow cold either. The girls get an idea, appoint a committee and bang, bang, bang, the next thing you know the job is done. And neatly at that.

And Andrew Purcell. He lived and died a kindly, honest, hard-working man. Every day he did an honest day's carpenter work. He had a ready chuckle of appreciation for a friend, though he never made laughing an excuse to stop work. There wasn't any loafing in him; he worked all day long to the day of his death. He ate a good supper, and joked with his family. In the evening he began to feel badly and before long he was gone.

If we have our choice, we would all like to die as Andrew Purcell did, enjoying our work and our family to the last.

He really savored life. —Irma.

Leadership Training

Tuesday evening a group of church workers and the pastors of North Loup, Scotia, and Fish Creek Evangelical church east of Scotia, and the Mira Valley Evangelical church, met at the home of Rev. J. A. Adams in North Loup, to discuss the possibility of and lay plans for an interdenominational leadership training school to be held during the coming winter. After an open discussion of the entire situation, it was decided to conduct such a school beginning about the first of the new year.

The following officers and committees were elected: The dean, Rev. J. A. Adams; the registrar, Mrs. Winnie Bartz; publicity representative, Miss Marcia Rood; the board of supervision, Rev. C. F. Wagner, Mr. Elmer Larson, Mrs. W. J. Hemphill; the committee on curriculum, Miss Marcia Rood; and the Young People's Division.

Four courses are to be offered. One in "Religion in Personal and Social Life," one in "The Bible and Other Religious Literature," one in the Children's Division and one in the Young People's Division. This curriculum has sufficient spread to afford a place in the school for any of our church workers.

The registrar will seek at once to ascertain the number from each church who may enroll in the school. Enrollment cards are to be prepared for this purpose. In each church a committee or person, should be selected to secure as large enrollment as possible, and report to Mrs. Bartz, the registrar.

The school will be conducted in North Loup, as the most central location.

Program Planned for Armistice Day

Returned Soldiers, Parents, To Be Special Guests at High School.

F. L. Stoddard, principal of the Ord high school, last night offered the facilities of the school to the Legion for a special Armistice Day program. The offer was accepted and Horace Travis and V. W. Russell were put on a committee with Mr. Stoddard to make arrangements. The program appears elsewhere in the Quiz.

It has been suggested that Armistice Day has lost much of its original significance since the breaking out of World War No. 2. While this may be true to a certain extent, Armistice Day is a holiday in the United States, and doubtless always will be, since there is more than one reason for considering the day as an occasion of historic significance.

This year a special effort is being made to have all soldiers at home on leave, and the parents of all young men now in military service attend as special guests. Those who come under either of these classifications, as well as all former soldiers, should consider this a special invitation to attend the services next Tuesday.

Please note that the program this year begins at 10:45 a. m., instead of 11:00 a. m., as in former years, which prevents crowding the noon hour. Legionnaires are requested to wear their caps and meet at the high school, where space will be reserved for them, as well as the special guests and Ladies of the Auxiliary.

Former Ord Merchant Dies at Lincoln Home

Monday night a former Ord merchant, Isaac Nathan, died at his home in Lincoln at the age of 96 years. He formerly had stores in Plattsmouth, Hebron, Council Bluffs, Geneva, Superior and Ord, but retired from active business about ten years ago.

Mr. Nathan was the owner of a store in Ord fifty years ago, operated under the name of Solomon and Nathan, with Mr. Solomon as manager. The store was located in the old Goodhand building in the same location where the present bowling alley is. Mr. Nathan sold out his interests here perhaps 45 years ago, but he and his partner will be remembered by early day residents.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS.

Friday the first nine weeks of school were ended, and with the close of the quarter report cards will go out tomorrow.

The ninth grade home economics class completed a food unit, and used this new knowledge to entertain mothers and teachers last week. Wednesday evening supper was served, Thursday and Friday noons they served luncheon, seating 24 guests at small tables each time. Miss Iris Krebs is the instructor.

Friday evening was a big one, with the football game followed by a Hallowe'en dance at the high school. The all-girl orchestra furnished music for a big crowd. Several teachers chaperoned; a gay time was had.

Next week is senior week, and members of the class will work in various stores and businesses. The Ord Business and Professional club sponsors this yearly. While the seniors are busy the Oracle will be issued by the junior commercial class.

PERSONALS

—Mrs. Frank Gnaster and Adelaide and Anton Gnaster came to Ord to spend Saturday and Sunday visiting at the Jerry Puncoschar and Ed Gnaster homes. The visitors live in Farwell.

—Drs. Lee and Zeta Nay report the birth of a daughter early Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neemann, who are tenants on the Kull farm northeast of Ord. The young lady weighed 10 pounds at birth, and they have named her Delores Arlene.

—Robert Klima arrived home Friday from Omaha, where he had been attending the Frye Aircraft corporation's school. He will leave probably tomorrow for Long Beach, Calif., where he will be employed in an airplane factory.

—The Harvey Hobbs and Cecil Clarks, and a sister of the ladies, Mrs. Laffin from Crab Orchard, visited the Carroll Millers at Ericson Sunday.

November 5, 1931

A hamburger shop at North Loup run by Gerald and Willie Cowan was burned in an early morning fire. The building belonged to George Johnson.

After being ill for many years with paralysis, Mrs. Arthur A. Clements of Poncha, Colo., died. She was the former Adelheit Reithardt of Ord.

Tom Gorny, resident of Eureka township, died following a long illness at the age of 41 years.

George Work and Leo Sems, Ord, and Paul Madsen of North Loup, enroute to the blacksmiths' convention in Omaha, had a narrow escape when Work's car upset and was burned.

Frank Robbins, father of Verne Robbins of North Loup, died at St. Cloud, Fla., where he, Mrs. Robbins and Mac Green had gone to spend the winter.

Frank N. Smith, former Garfield county treasurer, was charged with embezzlement of public funds, the total amount involved being about $29,000.

After spending a week in bed following an auto accident which injured his leg, E. C. Leggett was back on the job as editor of the Quiz.

November and December, 1921, is missing from the files.

November 2, 1911.

Otto Murschel and Ignatius Kluma, sr., were having a hot campaign for the office of county clerk.

The Quiz had on exhibition two potatoes weighing 5 pounds which were raised in South Dakota by Bud Auble. That was before the drought, however.

The Ord Woman's club held its annual function, a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. J. Cass Cornell.

The Quiz was so filled with sketches of the various republican candidates for office that there was practically no other news. The county ticket consisted of Ignatius Kluma, sr., for county clerk, Maxwell H. Westover for clerk of the court, L. A. Falt for county treasurer, H. Gudmundsen for county judge, Alonzo Sutton for sheriff, E. B. Shuman for county superintendent, C. J. Nelson for surveyor, and Dr. F. A. Barta for coroner.

Angle Orcutt was running a millinery store in the building just west of Schwann's Jewelry store, and was making special prices on ladies' headgear for 30 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mensing returned from Omaha, where their little son underwent an operation. A farewell reception at the home of Mrs. J. R. Williams was being planned for Dr. Emma E. Robbins, who was departing for the mission field in China.

H. D. Leggett was getting deserved recognition for his fine buff Leghorn chickens, and was selling and shipping birds all over the country.

Bert Boquet, Rodney Drake and Frank Chapman, all of Omaha, had been here on a hunting trip. Remember Bert Boquet?

Charles Hunt was running an ad stating that he had bought the old Blue Front barn, and would feed the farmers' teams at the special rate of 20c, while others were charging a quarter. The Blue Front was located where the present Huff building is at the corner of 14th and M streets.

November 1, 1901.

W. B. Keown, county treasurer, was publishing the delinquent tax list for the county, and it took up only 2 1/2 columns, as compared with nearly two pages this year.

W. L. Ramsey gave up his plan to go west and purchased the pool hall and fixtures of Frank Zablouil.

Clare Spaulding won the gold medal at the Ord Gun club's annual shoot by breaking 25 rocks straight. Others finished in the following order: Shirley, Watson, Davis and Barnes.

Horace Robbins, teacher in the Bailey district listed Clifford Flynn and Harry Bresley among those neither absent nor tardy. Maude Hewett reported the same for Alma and Maggie Fien, Clara Heyden, Clayton Noll, Earl Leonard, Bertha Heyden, Nora Kellison, Freda Bremer and Emanuel Schechterle, all of Midvale.

Oct. 24, at North Loup, Obadiah M. Parkinson of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Mrs. Dora B. Horr of Ord were married. Elder Oscar Babcock officiating.

The Quiz made much of the fact that Judge R. L. Staple was asking for a county office for the fourth straight time. That record went into the discard a long time ago, and besides, terms in the days of Judge Staple were for only two years.

L. D. Bailey and Sons were announcing the fact that they had $114,000 in sales the preceding Saturday. How the storekeepers of Ord would enjoy business like that.

The Aurora high school was fishing for a debate with the Ord high school, and it is rumored that they got what they wanted at a later date.

November 5, 1886.

Ed Munn started for Akron, Colo., where he expected to remain for several months. He had taken a claim there the preceding summer, and it was necessary for him to live on the land to comply with government requirements.

The Quiz had received the announcement of the marriage of John G. C. Heddle and Miss Jennie C. Berrie at Portage, Wis., Nov. 2. John Heddle was one of Ord's early business men, and together with a brother, J. C. Heddle, ran a real estate business here for many years. His son, John R., graduated here in 1904.

J. B. Woodbury was building his new residence in the south part of Ord, and it was to be one of the nicest residences in town, according to the Quiz. That property is one being advertised by the city for sheriff's sale Nov. 25.

The Ord grade schools are already organizing to enroll in the Junior Red Cross during the drive which starts next week and here Miss Inez Swain, principal of the grade school, is helping the second grade enroll. Kathleen Romans is seen putting her coin in the box while Therese Kruml and Jackie Beck hold the Red Cross flag.

Enrollment fee is only 50c for their room, so second graders will contribute nickels and pennies to make up the total, and if there is a surplus the remainder will be a National Children's Fund contribution, their bit to projects for the crippled, blind, war-orphaned and others less fortunate.

The Junior Red Cross movement comes at the time of the regular Roll Call and will be extended throughout the schools of the county, both rural and city.

at noon. They returned in the evening. Rev. Mr. Adams expects to go to Taylor next Monday to preach in an evangelistic meeting for two weeks. He will return home for the morning service at the Mira Valley church on Sunday, Nov. 9, and go back to Taylor for the evening.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Palmatier at Capetown.
Capetown, South Africa
Wednesday, Sept. 10, 1941

To the Editor of the Quiz:
I had better get this written before we dock at Capetown. Will try to get this on the clipper if it makes connections with the states.

We have had a pleasant trip from Bombay. Along over fifty-five hundred miles of African coast. It was a bit rough at times but the Grant behaves like a lady in rough weather, riding high on the crest of a wave one minute and dropping into space the next. Four days out of Bombay we crossed the equator and gradually the weather has cooled off since. And as we approach Capetown the weather is a bit crisp as this is their winter season.

There is so much that has been written and so much that has never been written about Bombay that it would take volumes, so will try to tell you 'in a few minutes what has taken me days and a thousand miles of travel to find out. Bombay is the "Gateway to India."

It is on an island by the same name eleven miles long by three broad, on the west coast of India facing the Arabian Sea. It is connected to the mainland by many bridges and causeways. It has a splendid natural harbor.

Bombay is a busy modern city, a steamship and railway center and the heart of the textile industry. Its population is over a million and composed of an incredible variety of castes, the largest elements being the Mahatras Hindus. The rich and influential Persian merchants known as Parsees, and a scattering of Arabs and Afghans, Singhees, Siamese and Sikhs of northern Indian, Negroes, Tibetans, Chinese, Japanese, Malays and Europeans. There is a wealth of picturesque sights everywhere one will see brilliant turbans, vivid scarfs, ear and nose rings, laden ox carts and ambling sacred cows. These sacred cattle roam the streets or lie in the middle of the sidewalks, are never disturbed. Their flesh is never eaten or their milk consumed, each seem to have an owner, perhaps a caretaker who feeds them. One will see a native touch the cow and give the caretaker a few pice or a couple of annas change.

The bazaars are places of beauty where all of the products of India are on sale. A friend and myself spent a day visiting temples of the Hindu and Mohammedan faiths far from the beaten tracks of the tourists that once flocked here. Here time has stood still for over two thousand years and Marco Polo would have found things unchanged in that part of India.

Another interesting place is also quite a landmark in Bombay. "The Tower of Silence." Here the Parsees, a sect of the ancient Persians take their dead to this tower, place them on iron grills and give them to the birds of the air. The vultures of India are as familiar a sight as the crows of Ceylon.

I acquired a young monkey in Bombay who has won everyone's affections except the mate who has threatened to scuffle him if he can be found. His love for beer is only exceeded by his appetite for rice and bananas and he is rapidly becoming a problem monkey. The odds are now 6 to 4 that he will never see New York. He has been a very destructive individual where ever we have taken him.

When we leave Capetown we will have sixteen days of ocean before reaching Trinidad, Port of Spain, then New York City, Boston, Havana, Cuba, Panama, Los Angeles and San Francisco. It is a long trip, nearly thirty-three thousand miles and 125 days.

ELLORY PALMATIER.

IF IT HAPPENED IN ORD.
Thursday morning as Will Ollis was heading for work he saw a pheasant between the L. A. Muncy and Rose Pierson homes, and within gunshot of the Ord hospital. He wondered whether the bird was showing its contempt for the reputation Dr. C. J. Miller has of being a dead shot.

Now Ed Digugosh, the longest worm in the Quiz shop, has turned. He insists on having the fact published that John L. Ward went to sleep at the big dinner the Boss gave in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Harndenbrook Thursday evening, and had to ask the rest of the gang what happened when he got ready to write the story.

It seems that the Ord high football team made some kind of a record when they defeated Ravenna 53 to 0 recently. The records are available back to 1923 inclusive, and show that the worst defeat Ord suffered was Broken Bow 57, Ord 6, in 1925. Their best former win was Ord 53, Burwell 0, in 1926.

Other scores above 40 points are Ord 47, St. Paul 0 in 1925; Ord 40, North Loup 0 in 1933; Ord 48, Atkinson 0, in 1937; Ord 46, Arcadia 0 in 1938. On the other side of the ledger are Arcadia 41, Ord 0, in 1923; Kearney 45, Ord 0, in 1924; Albion 50, Ord 0 in 1925, and Broken Bow 51, Ord 0, in 1930.

If an announcer makes a misplay in his conversation, everybody knows about it, like the print in the newspaper. Arden Clark stated Friday night: "The ball is now resting exactly on the 52 yard line." Just where that place is on a football field would be difficult to figure.

Ed Burrows lost most of his left index finger in a shredder accident last week, but he takes a cheerful view of the situation. He still has his right hand left, and so can play checkers as well as ever which is plenty good.

BACK FORTY
By J. A. Kovando

Soy beans have made the biggest price jump of any farm crop, selling at around $1.75 a bushel, or about double what they were worth a year ago. More soy beans are needed by the government which is guaranteeing a minimum price for them.

Soy beans will grow here. The other day we ran across a field which did well until the jackrabbits found it. Some plantings in the valley have yielded as much as fifteen bushels per acre. And we've seen others that were cleaned out completely by grasshoppers.

The thirty year average yield of soy beans at Lincoln is a little over fifteen bushels. At present market prices, this is equal in value to a 60 bushel yield of oats per acre, a 45 bushel yield of barley, or a 35 bushel yield of corn.

We are on the western edge of the profitable soy bean producing area. Plantings in this region next spring will be several times the 1941 acreage because of the favorable price ratio, and because soybeans are a soil building crop. There is considerable risk of crop failure with soy beans but that is true with any crop.

Four enemies which have conspired against soy beans in this vicinity are rabbits, grasshoppers, weeds and drought. There are also some other drawbacks to soy beans. They do not irrigate especially well. They invite erosion. They may shatter out and crack open during harvest.

Soy bean oil is needed for making scores of products. Some more important ones are lard substitutes, salad oils, margarine, paint, ink, linoleums and soap. Soy bean meal is good for all kinds of livestock when fed with minerals. Even dog and fox food is made from soy bean meal.

NORTH LOUP

WRITTEN BY MRS. ETHEL HAMER

District S. D. B. Meeting.

The North Loup Seventh Day Baptist church was host to the yearly meeting of the churches of that faith in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska this past week end. A carload of delegates were present from the North Loup, Kas., church, and two from Denver with three young ladies from Boulder accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Erlo Sutton of Denver. Another load of North Loup people had planned to come but the snow storm which visited Kansas and southeast Nebraska on Friday made it impossible.

At the first meeting held Friday evening Rev. Sutton spoke. Mr. Sutton also gave the sermon for the Saturday morning service in the absence of Rev. Wilson, of North Loup. Saturday afternoon services were in charge of the young people, the theme of the service being "Living for Jesus."

At seven in the evening the choir of the North Loup church gave a vesper service which was followed by a social in the basement. After the supper served cafeteria style, Mrs. W. G. Johnson had charge of a short program, the first part of which consisted of numbers by the children of the Sabbath school and the second part of two choral talks made by George Clement with musical accompaniment. The hour of games was made interesting by the George Gowen family.

After the Sunday morning service, Rev. Ehret speaking, a basket dinner was served to a large crowd. The afternoon meeting was on leadership training. Rev. Sutton, director of religious education for the denomination, had charge of this meeting. The evening meeting closed the services. Rev. Ehret of the North Loup church bringing this message. Raw Cotton Import
United States imports of raw cotton in 1939 reached 103,578,000 pounds

The one interesting fact of the present conflict is that Hitler drinking too freely is such an inevitable part of our liquor trade. I believe that every one of those engaged in the sale of liquors and beer would refuse to sell to anyone who has been "shut off." But when someone else goes in and asks for it they cannot control the situation and the liquor soon finds its way to the man who should not have it. He will usually refuse to pay for it, he will get it, claiming probably that he cannot pay for it. The law was such that it made the magistrate put him in jail till his memory improved, then turn him loose and put the man in jail who bought it for him, the whole matter would soon be cleared up, for very few would take the chance of buying it for a drunkard with such a law in force. I have suggested

Fewer Pheasants Killed in State

Figures are not yet available, but it is believed by officials of the State Game Commission that fewer pheasants have been killed this year, although there was a full 3-year season, than in many past years with shorter seasons. The reason is that there was so much cover this year the birds were hard to get up and hunters had a much tougher time getting their bags each time out. Of reports received to date it is a rarity to find one where hunters got the limit each time out.

Opening of the season in mid-week has met with popular appeal and the full three weeks gave every one three Sundays on which to hunt. Statistics show that there were more birds this year than ever before, so hunters can blame only mother nature which provided for their failure to get the limit each time out. Many bands from birds killed have been received by the State Commission, but the Commission office believes a big per cent have not been sent in. These bands will give the Commission information on the migration of the birds as there is a record on file of every bird banded and released. About 42,000 were banded this year. The information wanted with the band is the location and date on which the bird was killed.

Duck and geese hunters in the eastern part of Nebraska have the jump on the western half this year through colder weather in the east. There has been a heavier kill of snow (white) and blue geese this fall than in many years and ducks have been plentiful in the east, according to reports received by the State Game Commission. The flight of the small geese is about over, but colder weather is expected to bring in the larger geese and more ducks to all parts of the state.

With the opening of the fall hunting season the number of game law violations took an upward bound. Following are the arrests and convictions reported to the State Game Commission at Lincoln during the period of Oct. 13-27 inclusive:

Hunting without permits: Victor Carpenter, Neligh, fined $5.00 with $4.65 costs and 22-calibre rifle confiscated; Arland Sass, West Point, fined $5.00 with $5.00 costs; G. A. Bailey, Scottsbluff, fined $10.00 with $5.00 costs and 16-gauge shotgun confiscated; August Hackekamp, Culbertson, fined $5.00 with $5.00 costs.

members present. The next meeting will be Thursday, Nov. 6 at the Mrs. John Horn home at which time the lesson on "Making Christmas Toys" will be given by the leaders, Mrs. John Horn and Mrs. Edith Fiala.

PERSONALS

—Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson came Sunday from Kearney to take their little three-year-old son home with them. He had been visiting his grandparents here.

—Word comes to local Red Cross publicity that as usual now for some years this area must be careful about tularemia infection when handling rabbits for game. The danger is in handling and dressing the meat. Thorough cooking kills the virus, but the best advice still is: avoid the listless rabbit.

—H. Elliott McClure of the Up-land Game Bird Survey tells of a crow shoot that was held on the Matt Dwyer's ranch Sunday. The birds roosted at a 15-acre grove of jack pines. The hunters, 25 in number, surrounded the grove and began shooting at 5 p. m., aided by a man in an airplane, who dived at the birds and kept them from leaving the grove. About 300 crows were killed, and a similar hunt is being shot at 5 p. m., aided by the same territory. The women got together and cooked supper for the men, and they all had a fine meal and social time.

—E. F. Babka brought an unusual specimen of white corn to the Quiz office last week, it being part of a stalk with three well-developed ears on it. Mr. Babka has been raising this corn for the past 40 years, the seed having been brought here from their former home in Hayes county, northwest of McCook. Northern white corn has been added from time to time to keep the seed from running out. He raised the corn on his farm, 14 miles northeast of Ord in the sand flats. He had 45 acres this year, which will yield from 25 to 30 bushels per acre. He has never had a complete corn failure there. The corn was listed about 18 inches apart, but the cutworms made it still thinner.

On the Carl Sorenson place on Turtle Creek he wounded a coyote, which later he coyoted. Joe says there are a lot of coyotes this fall, and he thinks there should be a bounty on them.

Austin, and is now working a regular shift in the assembly line in an airplane factory and getting 68c per hour. 77 Pancakes in 8 Minutes Is Record

Seventy-seven pancakes were eaten in eight minutes by Jack Tetschner, a farmer living in the Willow Springs neighborhood, who won the first prize of $4 in the pancake eating contest held in connection with the paving celebration Saturday. His son, Emory, who ate three less in the allotted time, was awarded second prize.

One ambitious youth, whose eyes were bigger than his stomach disqualified himself by "erping" his entire intake after he had devoured his sixth cake. The winners say that they have no idea how the flapjacks tasted as they did not have time to "enjoy" them. They have suffered no ill effects from their hearty meal—yet.

Free pancakes and coffee were served to thousands who came to attend the celebration. The high school home economics girls tended the griddles and did the serving. Tables were set out in the streets to accommodate the pancake-hungry crowd.

A coaster wagon float drawn by a dog, bearing a banner, "Save for Defense" with appropriate decorations won the first prize in the pet parade for Jack Treptow. An enormous array of pets lent their services to make the parade a success. Two half grown coyotes were dragged through the streets by their youthful owners. Crows, bantams, canary birds, goats, ponies, cats, dogs and rabbits were some of the pets exhibited. Many of the children were arrayed in grotesque and unusual costumes.

The high school band and baton twirlers under the direction of Mr. Struve led the parade. All youngsters were treated to a free picture show at the Rodeo theatre.

Leslie DeLashmuth has recovered his electric razor which was stolen last Tuesday evening when evening visitors ransacked the home of he and his mother, Mrs. Frances DeLashmuth. Two young men in a car bearing a Kansas license traded the razor, which Mr. DeLashmuth has recently bought and never used, for nine gallons of gas at Cienney's filling station in Elyria.

Mr. Cienney believes that he can identify these men if he ever sees them again. He did not get the number of their car. Mr. DeLashmuth paid Cienney for the gas which they gave for the razor. The burglars entered the DeLashmuth home about 8 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. DeLashmuth had gone to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Coffin who live across the street when the robbery occurred. The thieves entered the house through the bathroom window on the north side of the residence. Besides the razor they took a new portable radio, five shirts belonging to Keith DeLashmuth which his mother had just washed and ironed and had ready to send to him at Lincoln where he attends the University of Nebraska, two suits and a sheepskin lined overcoat belonging to Leslie. Mr. Coffin has offered a twenty-five dollar reward to any one who can give any information which will lead to the apprehension of the thieves.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Grunke-mer entertained at a dinner in their home Sunday in honor of their son Billie, who attained his majority Monday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hilpert of Aurora, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Lakin and Bill and Mrs. Billie Grunke-mer.

Ord High Smothers Arcadia, 41 to 0 in Bitter Weather

Win 13 First Downs to Arcadia's 1 on Penalty; Flagg, Cochran and Cetak Star.

The fast Ord high team continued its fine record for the year Friday evening at Arcadia by defeating the team there by a score of 41 to 0. Using a bewildering assortment of end runs, thrusts through the line and passes, the Chanticleers kept their opponents on the defensive throughout the game.

Rolling up a total of 13 first downs was quite an offensive achievement, but more to the point was the air tight defense, which prevented their opponents from earning a single first down, their only first and ten coming as the result of an Ord offside penalty. As in many former games, a long string of substitutes saw service.

Cetak continued his bid for all-state honors when he plunged over for Ord's first touchdown on the fifth play after Ord had gained possession of the ball. Shortly after this Ord gained possession of the ball on Arcadia's 40 when they recovered a fumble after kicking.

After a few plays had taken the ball to the Arcadia 10, Cochran, transferred from end to the backfield, went around the end for the necessary yardage and touchdown. Stewart plunged through for the extra point. Arcadia held for a short time, but Cetak broke away around end for a 45 yard run to the Arcadia 5 yard line.

George Cetak, star ball carrier of the Chanticleer squad, also is a fine punter, as he demonstrates here. Cetak is Ord's chief candidate for all-state honors.

Flagg made the third touchdown from this point with an off-tackle plunge, and then passed to Adams for the extra point. This ended the scoring for the first half, but Ord went to work in the third period with Cochran, Stewart, Cetak and Flagg taking their turns at running and passing.

After a 35 yard pass, Cochran to Flagg, took the ball to the Arcadia 4, Stewart plunged over for the touchdown, and Cochran passed to Wilson for the extra point. A sustained drive from Ord's 40 brought the fourth touchdown, with Cetak going around end 20 yards to pay dirt.

Coach Tolly was now running in a large number of substitutes, which slowed down the play in the final quarter. Near the end of the game Ord worked its way to the Arcadia 14, from which point Flagg drove off tackle for the final touchdown. Stewart plunged for the extra point.

The entire Ord team played stellar ball, but outstanding was the play of Cochran in the backfield, where he had been called to replace Marsh, who suffered an injury. Arcadia got nowhere on the offensive, but Jones, Franzen and White were outstanding on defense.

Ord has but two games remaining on the schedule for 1941, both at Ord. Sargent will be guests of the locals Friday evening in a game which Ord should win handily, but Sargent usually plays an outstanding game against Ord, and the boys will be in there fighting all the time.

Then, after a week's rest, St. Paul comes to Ord for the annual Turkey Day classic, which should prove Ord's toughest game of the season. For the first time this year Ord will be outwheeled by a small margin. Comparative scores indicate that Ord's superior speed and team work should carry them to victory.

Other games last week saw St. Paul defeating Ravenna 34 to 0; Burwell ran over Atkinson, 34 to 0; Broken Bow won from Loup City, 21 to 7; Aurora defeated Central City, 7 to 0; Ansley upset Gibbon, 13 to 0; Comstock handed Taylor its first defeat, 7 to 6; and North Loup defeated Cedar Rapids 6 to 0 in their first win.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Clark, Sr., came Saturday from White Lake, S. D., to visit until Tuesday with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Clark, Jr.

6 Charges Face Man Who Shot Pheasant

Burwell—(Special)—Lawrence E. Isenberg, of Spalding, who was arrested Thursday by a state conservation officer, is a guest of Sheriff Johnson at the county jail since he was found guilty Friday on six counts and was unable to pay a fine of $60.00.

Isenberg was found guilty of (1) shooting at a game bird off a highway, (2) shooting a pheasant out of season, (3) shooting from an automobile, (4) carrying a loaded gun in an auto, (5) hunting without a license, (6) operating an automobile without a license.

He is in for more trouble in Greeley county when his sentence here expires, for authorities there have served notice they want Isenberg on different charges.

Confessed Forger Goes to Prison for 2 Years

When he pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery in district court at Grand Island last Wednesday afternoon, Anton Proskocil, young farm hand, was sentenced by Judge E. G. Kroger to serve the next two years in the state penitentiary. He also was fined $100 and costs.

As an employee of John S. Hoff, the young man received two checks in amounts of $9.00, each of which he raised to $19.00 and cashed, he admitted to the court.

For forging a $50 check in 1939, Proskocil served a year in the state reformatory, the evidence showed. County Attorney John P. Misko and Deputy Sheriff Fred Cohen took Proskocil to Grand Island for the hearing.

Armistice Day Program Attracts Crowd to School

Rev. Radliff's Fine Talk Was Appreciated; All Business Houses Closed 10 to 12.

A large crowd was attracted to the Ord high school auditorium Tuesday morning to attend the Armistice Day program given under sponsorship of the American Legion, and heard an inspiring talk by Rev. W. Ray Radliff.

Rev. P. W. Rupp opened the program with a prayer, after which the flag salute was led by Gould Flagg, president of the high school student council. The band played "America" and then the crowd stood in silent tribute to the war dead, under leadership of Ign. Kilina, Jr., chaplain of the Ord Legion post.

Taps were played by Phyllis Hill and Marilyn Long, readings were given by Robert James and Elizabeth Kovanda and Mrs. Ralph Misko, as Officer for Civilian Defense in this city, made a special announcement. Band music was enjoyed and the program closed with benediction by Rev. Rupp. Master of ceremonies was E. L. Vogeltanz.

Ord business houses closed from 10:30 to 12 so that proprietors and clerks might attend the program. Tuesday evening a dance was given by the American Legion post, completing this city's observance of the national holiday.

Arcadia Reports an Epidemic of Pilfering

Sheriff George Round and his deputy, Fred Cohen, were called to Arcadia Sunday to investigate an epidemic of robberies and minor pilfering which has broken out in that village.

Some time between 2:00 a. m. Sunday and daylight somebody broke the large front door glass in the Hastings jewelry store, entered and stole some wrist watches, one pocket watch and some shells, a tentative check-up showed. Someone also broke in the east window in the Food Center store and entered but apparently nothing was stolen.

Later it was reported that a 50-gallon drum of kerosene at Mrs. Mary McDonald's home had been emptied by thieves and that last Thursday night Mrs. Frank Potter had 12 chickens stolen.

Two Boys Leave Today to Join U. S. Navy

Two more young men of the Valley county community left Ord this morning for Omaha to join the United States navy as volunteers. The two are Bernard Szwaneck, of Elyria, and Vencil V. Placnik, of Comstock. Their departure brings to six the number of Valley county boys who have joined the navy in the past six weeks. Several others are considering joining Saturday when the navy's recruiting cruiser makes its visit to Ord.

A Christmas Gift De Luxe

What nicer Christmas gift could you give a member of your family who is now away from home, than a copy of the Quiz for a year (15 months if you subscribe soon). It would be enjoyed more than almost any other gift you could give. It would be every week of the year and every time it came you who gave it would be fondly remembered.

Mrs. Misko Heads Civilian Defense Program for Ord

Civilian Defense Week Marks Opening of Work, Citizens Are Urged to Sign Up.

With the appointment of Mrs. Ralph E. Misko as Officer of Civilian Defense for the Ord community, and appointment by her of other members of a Defense Council, the civilian defense effort gets under way this week in this community. Other Defense Council members for Ord are M. Biemond, E. C. Leggett and Sylvester Furtak.

Health, family security, child welfare, adult education, consumer education, salvage programs, defense bond sales and patriotic rallies are some of the activities which will be carried on by the Defense Council, under Mrs. Misko's direction.

The week in which Armistice Day occurs was designated as Civilian Defense Week by the president, who calls attention to the fact that the new war is not only a war of soldiers but of civilians as well. The heroes of the "total war" may never don a uniform and may never fire a gun, but what they do may have a far-reaching effect in the general defense program.

Following Armistice Day, the days of the week have been designated as follows: Today is "War Against Waste" day in which all Americans are urged to save vital defense materials as much as possible by using substitutes. Thursday is "Sign Up for Defense" day, and all citizens willing to help in the civilian defense program are asked to telephone Mrs. Misko and tell her of their willingness to help. Friday will be "Health and Welfare" day to emphasize the importance of a healthy and secure population as the foundation of a strong military protection. Saturday will be "Civilian Protection" day, and Sunday will be "Freedom" day, in which to reaffirm faith in the fundamentals of freedom and to emphasize that the nation is founded on essential freedoms and must be prepared to defend them.

Annual Chamber Meeting Thursday

Officers Will Be Elected at K. of C. Rooms Nov. 13th; Ryan Is Speaker.

E. P. Ryan, commissioner of the Grand Island chamber of commerce will be principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Ord chamber, which will be held at 8:00 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 13 in the K. of C. rooms. Thoroughly experienced in commercial club work, Mr. Ryan is an interesting speaker and a big attendance of Ord members is expected. Another feature will be showing of movies by members of the Nebraska Safety Patrol.

At this meeting comes the election of officers and also reports of present officers and standing committees. C. J. Mortensen is president, an office he has held for the past two years, and A. A. Wiegardt is secretary.

Rohla Authorized to Try Out Wider Parking

Considerable discussion on Ord parking problems was had at last week's meeting of the Ord city council, with the result that Joseph Rohla, chairman of the street and alley committee, was instructed to repave the parking spaces on one side of the square so cars will park at a 30 degree angle instead of a 45 degree angle as at present. If the larger spaces are deemed more satisfactory after a trial, it is likely that all spaces will be changed to correspond.

Severson, Nelson, to Military Service

The Valley county draft board announces that two more selectees, Richard R. Severson, Ord, and Carl Roy Nelson, Arcadia, will be sent to the Fort Crook induction station on November 13. Three more men will report on Dec. 1 for induction but this group has not yet been selected.

Mrs. Albert Slegal Dies in Ord Hospital

After an illness of several weeks following a stroke of paralysis, Mrs. Albert Slegal passed away about 8:00 Tuesday evening in the Ord hospital. The body was taken to the Pearson-Anderson Mortuary, pending completing of funeral arrangements. No obituary details are available today.

Phone News to No. 215.

Mrs. Eugene Leggett is working as local news reporter for the Quiz, handling collecting of news at her home. The telephone number is 245 and Mrs. Leggett will be glad to have Ord people telephone any personal or social items to her at that telephone.

Where Are the Northern Ducks?

A goodly section of Ord's masculine population seems to be concerned over the question propounded above.

Despite pre-season reports of more ducks and geese than for many years, shooting has been poor on the North and Middle Loup rivers, the Cedar and Calamus rivers and the lakes to the north.

Some sportsmen think that but of the northern flight went through in eastern and western Nebraska during cold weather which did not affect central Nebraska. Others say that September and early October cold spells drove local ducks southward but that the Dakotas and Canada have had too warm weather to move the northern ducks southward, and consequently bulk of the ducks are still in the north.

Whichever view is correct, hunters are watching weather reports carefully and keeping an eye cocked on thermometers in hope the northern flight will come soon.

Rutar's Hatchery Establishes Branch

Stanley Rutar tells the Quiz that the Rutar Hatchery is expanding this fall by opening a branch hatchery in Burwell. An item in the Burwell correspondence last week was essentially correct, but left the inference that the Ord Rutar Hatchery might be moving. Mr. Rutar is going to Burwell to run a hatchery there, but Mrs. Rutar will handle the Ord business.

The old Farmers Union store building on the north side of the square in Burwell has been leased, and a complete set of new incubators, of the same type as those in Ord, have been ordered and will be installed as soon as possible, since the first eggs will be set for hatching early in January. Only half a block from the Burwell Buttery Factory, the Burwell hatchery is one of the best in town.

Burwell Tot and Mother Suffer Serious Burns

Burwell—(Special)—Donna Farlee, 8, narrowly escaped death from burns Sunday afternoon when her clothes caught fire as she was burning some trash in the back yard. Her mother, Mrs. Earl Farlee, burned her hands badly trying to smother the flames which Mr. Farlee extinguished by rolling his little daughter in a rug.

The little girl is kept in bed suffering with severe burns on her back and abdomen. Her mother is a most unfortunate person, as besides her injured hands she is suffering from an impacted wisdom tooth. Mr. Farlee was not burned.

Free Milk Fund Is Growing Steadily

The free milk fund for school children is swelling steadily, as more and more Ord citizens realize the good this work does and the need for money to continue it. Added to the list of donors recently, says Miss Eunice Chase, publicity chairman, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noll, $3; Miss Daisy Hallen, $5; Mrs. M. Biemond, $1; P. E. O. society, $5; Woman's Club of Ord, $5; Mrs. Edith Jewett, $1; and $15.50 turned over by the Girls Kittenball team of Ord at the close of their season. A number of other organizations which have supported this fund in the past have indicated they plan to contribute again.

Expenses of providing free milk to small and undernourished school youngsters amounts to $14.50 weekly. Last year the children who paid for their own milk brought a little less than half the total each week; this year the children who pay for their own milk bring over half the money necessary. This fact causes the B. P. & W. C. to feel that parents believe in the need for free milk and that more of them are helping support it.

The women's business group sponsoring free milk wishes to thank all those whose generous contributions make it possible to put needed pounds on Ord children. Dr. Zeta Nay is chairman of the committee, and Miss Clara McClatchey is president of the club this year; call either of them if you wish to contribute.

Ord Library Notes

We were very well pleased with the interest shown in our new books last week. The teachers of the first six grades brought their pupils to the library to look over the new display. The librarian gave a talk to the pupils about some of the latest books.

The following is a few books you will enjoy:

The Soong Sisters, by Hahn. Saratoga Trunk, by Ferber. Catherine of Aragon, by Mattingly.

The Other America, by Griswold. Yankee Doctor in Paradise, by Lambert. If you don't find the book in our wish, we will be glad to put your name on the waiting list and notify you when you can have it.

Old and Young Are Joining the Red Cross

Both the older and younger generations are taking out membership in the Red Cross in the drive which began yesterday. Here Mrs. Alfred Hill, chairman of the Roll Call in the second ward, is enrolling W. A. Anderson and Miss Loreen Meese, member of Ord high school's most recent graduating class, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meese. This makes her first Roll Call response while Mr. Anderson has had a continuous membership longer than the 31 years.

Mr. Anderson, 53 years old, with nine grandchildren, has a warm interest in the affairs of the world, a faith in the future and a great respect for the American Red Cross. "It seems the money they are spending is going for such a useful purpose," he said when interviewed by the Red Cross reporter. The two guides to true living in his opinion are the Golden Rule and "Whatsoever a man soweth, that also shall he reap." "The Red Cross is real Christianity at work," he said.

He recollected the fine workers of days gone by who, like Valley county workers today, volunteered generously of their time to do Roll Call and regular work. Among them, he recalled, were such as Mrs. A. M. Daniels, Mrs. George Milford, Mrs. J. C. Work, Mrs. E. J. Clements, Mrs. Dr. Clinker, and Mrs. F. D. Haldeman.

Navy Cruiser Trailer Comes to Ord Saturday

Chief Signalman Gordon C. Falkenberg of Hastings, with a United States Navy recruiting party, will be in Ord next Saturday, Nov. 15. The party will arrive in one of the new Navy recruiting cruiser trailers. Information will be furnished to all men interested in this branch of the service.

Through the courtesy and cooperation of Food Center, Inc., and the local manager, Carl Kotter, the cruiser will be located on the lots leased by the Food Center just north of the store at the northwest corner of the square. This is about the most convenient location available in Ord.

Not only prospective recruits, but also the general public is invited to visit this newest addition to the naval recruiting service. For men who wish to make application, the cruiser will make it possible for them to do this without having to go to a regular navy substitution.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Agriculture is feeling the pinch of scarcity in machinery repairs. Blacksmiths and welders tell about farmers bringing in old worn-out parts for rebuilding that they used to throw away. New parts are not to be had, so now they try to fix up the broken ones. Or perhaps they search over junk piles for discarded pieces that might do.

Dealers here and everywhere are finding repairs scarcer and harder to secure. Repairs also cost more money than formerly. In fact, retailers hardly dare to quote prices today, because wholesale charges may be up by tomorrow.

Farmers are advised to get their machinery fixed up in the near future if they want it to be in running order next spring. Defense needs are becoming greater all the time and there isn't enough iron, steel, and other metals to go around.

New farm implements will also be hard to get next year, even though they are on the priority list, because their rating is low. The priority rating for repairs is a little better, but so much steel has been claimed for products with higher priority rating that little has been left for either repairs or machinery.

Farm implement factories are supposed to have steel for production equal to 80 per cent of the 1940 production. From this steel they will make both new machinery and parts, but mostly parts.

The shortage of farm labor will cause farmers to be more dependent than ever on machinery and equipment next year. Knowing this, the wise ones are getting their repairs now.

New Council Oak Manager

Clarence Zila is the new manager of the Council Oak store, replacing Charles Cerny who went to Norfolk where he has entered the employ of another grocery store. Zila comes here from Neligh. He is married and has one son. His family has not yet joined him in Ord.

Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Rupp are quite worried about a brother of theirs who is in Thailand, near the famous Burma Road, which is now threatened with bombing. The brother is a missionary, and has been there a number of years and does not want to leave.

Red Cross Quota for County Is 825, Roll Call Now On

Mrs. Dale, Volunteer Corps Began Work Armistice Day, Will Reach Every Person.

In the army of over a million volunteer Roll Call workers over the country starting out on Armistice Day are Mrs. C. C. Dale, Valley county's own Roll Call chairman, and her organized volunteers, inviting all adults to take out their membership in the Red Cross for 1942.

As the country calls in this time of emergency, each man and woman must do his bit to get the job done, says Mrs. Dale. America hopes to show the world a united front in humanitarian as well as armed preparedness. Nebraska in World war days had 54% of its adult population in Red Cross enrollment. Today the aim is somewhere near that mark again.

Carrying on the Roll Call in Ord under Mrs. Dale's direction are: Mrs. Fred Cahill, chairman of down town district; Mrs. J. C. Whelan, chairman of First Ward; Mrs. Alfred Hill, chairman of Second Ward; Mrs. Roy Severson, chairman of Third Ward; C. J. Mortensen, chairman of special memberships—all these with groups of workers whose efforts Mrs. Dale and her chairman appreciate. She reported splendid cooperation and many willing hands for this year's big job. "If everyone puts a shoulder to the wheel we shall be done in short order," she said. Her goal is a Roll Call done well and done promptly.

The North Loup Roll Call is directed by Mrs. W. J. Hennipill; in Arcadia by Mrs. E. C. Boird; in Elyria, Mrs. Wm. Helleberg; in rural territory of the county Miss Clara McClatchey is chairman with a host of workers trying to reach all farm homes to give everyone a chance to enroll.

Valley county schools, town and rural, are striving to enroll in the Junior Red Cross 100%, at the same time. November is America's Red Cross month. Let's all do our bit.

Ignac Wajda Dies in Ord; Buried at Arcadia

Arcadia—(Special)—Funeral services for Ignac Wajda, 56, who died last Thursday night at the Ord hospital, were held Monday at the Congregational church here with Rev. H. J. Taylor in charge. Burial was in the cemetery here.

Born in Poland in 1885, Mr. Wajda came to this country at the age of 17 and worked in the east, later going to Colorado. Twenty years ago he settled in Valley county where he lived until his death. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Ed Kaslon, and by four sons of whom one, Louie, lives at home. The sophomore class of which he is a member attended Mr. Wajda's funeral in a body.

80 Seniors Work This Week in Ord Stores and Offices

B. & P. W. C. Club Sponsors Annual Event in Which the Students Gain Experience.

Woman Busted by Ram Believed Recovering

Burwell—(Special)—Mrs. Marie Gankel, who is past 80 years old, is said to be recovering at the Crean hospital from injuries she received last week when she was batted by a ram at the farm home of her son, Williams. She suffered a brain concussion and other injuries.

Friday Mr. Gankel sold off his sheep to avoid a repetition of the accident. W. L. Blessing's car was seriously damaged by fire Monday night, apparently as result of a lighted cigarette that fell unnoticed onto the front seat upholstery as Blessing parked the car in front of his home for the night. The front seats were destroyed, all glass ruined and other damage done by the fire, which smoldered all night. It will cost $250 to restore the car to normal condition.

Blessing's Auto Damaged

THE PUBLIC UNDECIDED.
The head of a certain well known advertising agency recently asked editors over the territory to get and give him some idea of the public's reaction on the government policy and on neutrality repeal. A large number did so, and, as might be expected, the answers are almost as diverse as the number of editors participating.

Some of these men, who should be, and probably are, among the best informed on public opinion, pictured their constituents as in favor of repeal by an overwhelming vote, while others were almost as strong in the opposite direction. It brought out the fact that different communities vary greatly as to what should be done.

While the Quiz is not at liberty to use the opinions of any of these editors without specific permission, we have the right to comment on the general result of the appeal. Facts brought out were that the administration's foreign policy should be supported, and that the neutrality act should be repealed.

The idea seems to be that this is our country, and that we have chosen our leaders by a majority vote; that whatever they decide by a majority vote to do should have the backing of the entire nation. It is our country, right or wrong. The neutrality act is already dead, and we should have the decency to bury it.

One might think that the so-called administration papers would be strong in its support, while those who were opposed to Roosevelt last fall would be opposed to the government's policy, which is largely dictated by the president. A careful check shows that this is not the case. Some strong anti-Roosevelt papers are now for him, and some erstwhile supporters are against him.

The astonishing thing is that adjoining counties apparently feel so differently in regard to the neutrality act. In one case one county, by an actual canvass of a number of leading business men and farmers, is opposed to repeal, and an adjoining county is about two to one in favor of repeal. The editors who wrote favor repeal of the neutrality act by a vote of about two to one.

This paper opposed Roosevelt last fall, and we still believe we were right in doing so. We now favor backing the administration in its foreign policy, and we believe we are right. If we are to oppose the most powerful enemy democracy has ever known, there must be no half-way measures. Every half-hearted nation which opposed Hitler has been defeated, and quickly. If we like our present form of government, we must stand ready to defend it against all foes whatsoever.

GUILTY OF EXTORTION.

A federal court jury last week found a verdict of guilty in the trial of Labor Leaders George E. Browne and William Bloff accused of extorting huge sums from leading film producers as the price of labor peace in the industry. The maximum penalty possible under the three counts in the indictment is 30 years in prison and a thirty thousand dollar fine for each defendant.

Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees (IATSE) which encompasses motion picture operators and Bloff, his personal representative in Hollywood, were tried on specific charges of extorting 550 thousand dollars from Warner Brothers, Paramount Pictures, and Twentieth Century-Fox Films, and Loews, Inc.

Since so high a tribunal as this has found these men guilty, there can be no question of their guilt. In commenting on the jury's finding the federal judge complimented them, and stated that, in the light of the evidence, they could hardly have reached any other decision. The judge will pass sentence on the prisoners in a few days.

Even the most rabid of labor leaders have no comment to make on the decision. They realize that these men were trying to shake-down, and were caught in the act. Any attempt at defense by them would be a confession that the organizations they lead are rotten, and such action would lay organized labor open to suspicion.

But, while all are agreed that these labor racketeers are being punished justly, what about the small time racketeers who stand in line where workers are being hired for government projects and insist that every applicant accept a labor union? In fact, in most cases the government men in charge make a union card a necessary qualification.

To compel a man to join an organization against his will in order that he may earn his living by the sweat of his brow is intruding on his rights under the constitution. As well insist upon his belonging to some certain church or lodge, or compel him to wear a certain brand of overalls.

Whether a union is right or wrong is the privilege of every man to decide for himself, and nobody has a right to compel him to join an organization in which he does not believe. Today, with labor troubles hampering our preparedness program and restricting aid to the allies, no right thinking man would claim that all unions are right.

tude is proving an ally of the former, in a time when our nation cannot afford to be a nation divided against itself.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE.
This is Civilian Defense week. In cities and towns throughout the nation, men and women are seeing and hearing what steps are being taken to make their community healthy, strong and safe.

The bitter experiences of other nations have taught us only too clearly that modern war is total war, and because it is total war, defense against it can only mean total defense. That means the co-operation and training of every citizen no matter where he lives.

There is a job for everyone in Civilian Defense. Though you may not be a worker in a defense industry or a member of armed forces, there is a part you can play in meeting the problem of keeping America fit for defense.

Some communities are more vulnerable to attack than ours. There protective units have been set up. In other communities there have been and are local emergencies caused by the defense program.

Our task is a long-range task, that of building a strong, healthy, secure community, the true foundation of a strong democracy. Not very exciting or glamorous is it? Not quite as dramatic as setting up soup kitchens and digging bomb shelters.

Our biggest work is to teach economy, we must save everything from a paper bag to every edible scrap of food and the least wearable garment. If you can't use it someone can.

We must teach health laws and enforce them. This is the time for you to find out what you can do for Civilian Defense. Sign up today. Your committee chairman is eager to have you sign the roll. You may have your choice of work. Here are some suggestions:

1. Health.
2. Family Security.
3. Child Welfare.
4. Adult Education.
5. Consumer Education.
6. Salvage Programs.
7. Defense Bond Sales.
8. Patriotic Rallies.

Maybe you'll think of another department that our council needs. This Civilian Defense plan is naturally an enormous undertaking. It is vital and the time for it is now. You need it and it needs you. There is a place on it for every patriotic and well disposed American; find your place, and fit yourself for its responsibilities today.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

There was a rush of work last Thursday in the engraving department across the street. With some work in the office from the night before and with 26 engravings from the morning mail, Duemey and Ward were pushed for time to get them all out for the afternoon train. So John took time out to run over and call Mrs. Ward and ask her to bring his dinner to the studio and he suggested that she also eat. Then he went back and resumed work but said nothing about what he had done. Pretty soon Duemey got the same bright idea and phoned his wife to bring his dinner and a bone or something for Ward. Mrs. Ward got there first and brought a regular banquet for the boys. They were hungry and were just putting the finishing touches on what she brought when Hene showed up with another good meal and not daring to refuse, the boys fell to and ate a second dinner. The women then had to take hold and finish up the engravings. For the men had eaten so much that they were unable to work for a couple of hours.

There are too many people, including scores of government departments, who are working the "for defense" racket overtime.

It now seems likely that the present social security tax rate will be doubled, though the present rate is raising millions more money than is needed for the purpose it is claimed to be for. The fact is the government is using this money for whatever it needs to spend money for, which is not either fair or honest with the people.

And it also seems likely that an additional tax will be placed upon all salaries, big and small, perhaps as much as ten or fifteen percent. But that burden will eventually fall upon the employer because the employee will demand and get more wages, unless the government places a ceiling on all salaries for the duration of the war. Unless the government does place such a ceiling, not only on salaries but upon everything, prices will surely skyrocket the same as in the first world war. And of course the more of that there is the more will be the depression after the war. The wise man in any business will keep thinking about the coming depression and get set to take it when it comes.

But the people for the most part will not think about the unpleasant times ahead. There are now almost countless thousands of young people working for the government, in munition plants and other defense plants, drawing more money than they ever thought possible and spending every cent of it as fast as they get it. And when the slump comes, as it must, they will be out of a job, dependent upon someone for a living and anyone who has survived the storm with anything, will not only be taxed to pay the war debts but also to support war time workers who had a high old time while the war lasted. I have been told by

Remember These Persons?

Do you recall these persons? The family as shown above was well known to people in the southeast part of the county about a quarter of a century ago. A lot of Ordites ought to remember them also. If you have any idea who they are, call 30 and tell us. Names will be given next week.

several whose sons or daughters were holding good jobs in government work, that the kids were spending it as fast as they get it. The present generation seems to be largely that way. Their fathers and mothers, wanting to get along in the world, always saved a part of what they earned, though they earned only a fraction of what their young folks earn.

If Senator George W. Norris wants to stay in the senate another term there is not a man in Nebraska who can defeat him in the next election, in my judgment. And perhaps there is not a man in Nebraska who would be as valuable to the nation in these times.

LOCAL NEWS

A letter just received from our good friend Mrs. Emma Overton, Bangor, Mich., says she is leaving for Lowry City, Mo., where she will again spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Cora Harris and husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rose welcomed their first born Tuesday morning, a fine little girl.

Miss Helen Nelson of Elyria left Thursday morning to take employment as a governess in Omaha. Mrs. Paul Van Kleek of Seattle, Wash., and her son Kenneth, who came to see her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Oberg of Sargent, have decided to stay the winter, but her daughter Pauline, now Mrs. Alvin Coney, will leave this week for her home. The Van Kleeks lived near North Loup and will be remembered by many.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lashmuit of Los Angeles, Calif., came Sunday morning to visit her people, the Adamek family, for two or three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Jones arrived Sunday evening, glad to be back. They have been on the west coast for several weeks, but were homesick for Ord.

Gust Rose is not at all well and is being cared for at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Fred Kuehl, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Nell Peterson drove from Ogallala to Ord to spend the week and bringing Mrs. Walter Schau to see her brother, Olof Olsson and family. They arrived Saturday and left Sunday afternoon, as Mr. Peterson is employed by the Diamond Engineering company at Ogallala. Donald Peterson is batching and going to school, getting along fine.

Sunday visitors at the Pete Velnak home were Johnnie, Paul and Frankie Weverka; also Leonard and Edwin Swanek.

The Carl Kotre family spent Sunday in Loup City where they lived before moving to Ord. Mr. Kotre manages the Food Center store here.

Miss Mattie Grace King, Ord lady who is head of the department of home economics at University of Mississippi, has been elected by the Mississippi Home Economic association as student club adviser. Miss King, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. King, is a graduate of York college, holds a master's degree from University of Chicago and has done graduate work at Columbia and Minnesota. She spent part of the past summer in Ord.

Miss Maude Matthews had 100 per cent attendance at her meeting of extension club leaders in Ord recently, and was much gratified. Subject of the meeting was "home-made toys for the child," and the subject of the Dec. 4 meeting will be "learning to use dried fruits for preparedness," which is of interest to the public and considered very important by the government. The county chorus will meet for the first time at the home of Mrs. James Owens on Dec. 6, with Mrs. J. W. Stevens the leader. All club members, especially alto voices, and anyone else who wishes, are asked to attend, promptly at 8:30 p. m.

Misses Arlene and Marion Elsner drove to Loup City to spend the week end with their parents and to celebrate Miss Arlene Elsner's birthday.

Something Different

One of the most amusing discussions I have heard in a long time concerned breakfast foods! Of all the dry subjects, and no pun meant. Everyone in the crowd had different ideas.

One family eats shredded wheat, day in and day out. Another family wouldn't touch it. A third made fun of the broken-up shredded wheat plus sugar and cream, but declared it was a delicious breakfast food when hot water was poured on and off, and it was later served with butter.

One man swore by grape-nuts. His system was to run downstairs, fix a dish with sugar and cream, go back upstairs to dress and return to the grape-nuts when they were "just right." "You mean all soft and messy," inquired an erstwhile friend.

Another family wanted oatmeal, morning in and morning out. But they didn't want it cooked into a dry, mountainous product, they wanted it tasty. One woman spoke in favor of quick cooking; I popped up and said I preferred the old-fashioned, long-cooking kind of oatmeal.

One mother said her children loved ready-prepared cereals when they could have chocolate milk on them.

One person spoke up and said she'd as lief eat gravel as grape-nuts, any day. This brought forth another dissertation on the delights of this crunchy food which I will admit is too crunchy for me. I told how I liked shredded Halston.

Then came an argument about raisins in dry, ready-to-eat cereal, finished by remarks about "once was enough for me... they were dry and hard and I never bought it again."

Funny what it takes to make a conversation. And make it interesting.

If you don't believe me start them off on movie stars sometime, then be careful or you may need a stretcher or two.

It is surely fine that we are going to have a county chorus of women's voices, sponsored by the extension club. I hope we may hear them sing often.

Those men who sang as an American Legion group used to make the rafters ring. And I wish they would again.

Superintendent Clara McClatchey visits every rural teacher and her classroom twice each year, once in the spring, once in the fall. She observes, hears lessons, etc., and some funny little happenings occur at almost every stop.

A day or two ago one teacher asked a small child to use the word "same" in a sentence and the little girl parroted a phrase she had evidently noticed somewhere, for she promptly responded: "Same to you."

The E. Allen Champe family moved away before Ord became acquainted, and thereby we lost some most interesting citizens. For instance, Mrs. Champe graduated from the University of Nebraska as an art student, then went to the Art Institute in Chicago for a year to further her painting and sculpturing. Doesn't that sound intriguing, to know someone like that?

Of course Ord's own Beulah McGinnis is doing much the same thing, she is studying in New York City this winter. But we don't see much of her in Ord any more.

Mayor LaGuardia of New York City has appointed Mrs. Ralph Misko his local amplifier, and thru her wants to tell us about civilian defense needs. He wants us to be organized, and ready for whatever may come.

And just before you sneer and say we don't need a civilian defense unit and that you don't intend to lift a finger, stop and think!

How did our friend Hitler move in Europe? Did he give days and months of warning? Or did he strike in one night, quickly?

Of course we may never come to that. We all hope not. But it is customary to be prepared; that is why insurance companies flourish, why children are educated, and numerous other things happen. Set us as prepared for the worst.

And what are you going to do as your war effort? Will you volunteer for some type of service today?

Farmers Are Warned

Against Erban Oats

R. C. Kinch, state seed analyst of the Department of Agriculture, is warning farmers to be on the watch for peddlers selling Erban oats. Great claims are made about the popularity, high yields and high quality of this oats and exorbitant prices per bushel are asked for the seed.

In tests by the Nebraska experiment station, Erban oats failed to mature at the time of other oats varieties and was among the poorest yielders of all the oats tested. This oats was developed in Canada and does well under conditions there, but is not adapted to Nebraska weather conditions except as a late maturing variety.

Zikmund Wins High Honor.

It appears that Allen Zikmund is popular elsewhere than on the football field. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zikmund, have received word that he was elected president of the junior class at the state university without opposition and with only six dissenting votes. His fraternity is Alpha Sigma Upsilon, and nobody would like to fight against him. His room mate tells that Allen is topping his classes in his studies right along.

What Value INTEGRITY in the Meat Business?

Our customers say that INTEGRITY means a great deal because they can always depend on getting 100 cents value for every dollar's worth of meat they buy from us.

The other day one of our lady customers paid us as fine a compliment as we ever had. She didn't say this to us but to another person who told us about it, and we appreciate it. She said: "I always trade at Pecenka's because I can send my little daughter after meat there and get just as good meat as though I picked it out myself."

Check our prices and the quality of our foods and learn how you can profit by dealing here. A half century and more of serving Ord people qualifies us to serve you too.

Henry VanSlyke appeared before board regarding the renting of County Farm for the crop year of 1942, and after due consideration, it was moved, seconded and carried that the farm be rented to him for 1942, upon same terms and conditions as prevailed in the 1941 lease, and that chairman sign lease to that effect.

It being now 11:00 o'clock a. m., time set for opening bids and proposals on tractors as advertised for, the following bids and proposals were opened and read, to-wit: Miller-Hasselbach Co., of Omaha; Nebraska Tractor & Equipment Company, of Omaha; and Island Supply Company of Grand Island, Nebr., and said bids and proposals were ordered placed on file, upon motion duly carried.

Due and legal notices having been given to contractors and bidders, inviting tractor bids and proposals, as required by law, the tractor bids on file were tabulated and considered, and after considering the various types of tractor type tractors and the prices of same as submitted in said bids and proposals, and the trade-in value allowed on the old Model "L" A-C tractor, it was moved and seconded that the board, purchase one D7 Caterpillar tractor together with standard equipment according to specifications and with adapter for Garwood scraper, for the price of $5,688.00 delivered F. O. The Longhorns came home jubilantly from Atkinson Friday night with a 24 to 0 victory over the Hay Ballers. The Atkinson crew was handicapped by the absence of its stellar southpaw passer, West, who is in the hospital because of an injury, and was no match for Coach Wolcott's boys and they failed to cross Burwell's thirty-five yard line. Pulliam went over the line for a touchdown in the first quarter. Conlee Swanson lugged the pigskin across for another touchdown in the second quarter. The third quarter was scoreless but in the last quarter Pulliam crossed the line again with the ball and Fransen, Burwell's right guard, blocked a punt which fell in the end zone and recovered it for another six points. Burwell failed to make the kick good after all four touchdowns.

Willie York of the Rosevale neighborhood got tangled up with a wind charger last week and came out rather the worse for wear. The right side of his face is swollen and discolored while the left side is badly scratched. He also sustained a sprained wrist and an injured shoulder which have been very painful.

Taylor dropped the first game of the season when Comstock edged them out of 7 to 6 victory. Burwell's next game is with Loup City on the home field. Ord defeated Loup City 34 to 0 and Burwell 20 to 0. Burwell expects to win. Q. E. D.

Half a million women are taking Home Nursing classes in U. S., as compared with 80,000 last year.

Some 16 million school boys and girls are Junior Red Cross members.

NORTH LOUP

WRITTEN BY MRS. ETHEL HAMER

A worthy resident of North Loup stopped hurriedly in the post office one night last week to see if he had any mail. Several men were waiting for the distribution of the evening mail, among them this man's next door neighbor. "Where have you been all day?" he inquired. "Why, where do you suppose, out to the farm to get in my last day of pheasant hunting," was the reply. "Sure this is the last day?" asked the neighbor. "Of course, my wife looked it up on the calendar this morning, and this is the last day this year you can kill the birds." The same day a good woman was heard to remark that her husband and son each got a pheasant this morning. "This is the last day you know." Too bad there wasn't a game warden around for both of these incidents happened on Thursday, Nov. 6.

The Fortnightly and Nolo clubs held a joint meeting Wednesday afternoon with the Fortnightly club hostess and the Nolo club conducting the lesson. The home of Mrs. Mills Hill was the scene of the meeting. Mrs. W. W. Willis, Mrs. H. L. Gillespie and Mrs. Carl Stude assisting. The lesson on Visual Adult Education was led by Mrs. G. L. Hutchins, who was assisted by Mrs. W. J. Hemphill, Mrs. John Manchester, Mrs. Jesse T. Babcock, Mrs. Alvin Tucker and Miss Fanny McClellan. Roll call was "My First Movie." The hostesses served a nice lunch at the close of the program.

Wagner officiating. They were accompanied by Carol Babcock and Mrs. Russell Barber. The plans of Mr. and Mrs. Kriewald are indefinite at present.

The style show, put on in the auditorium, showed the aprons of the first year class and the fall dresses of the second year class. Mary Ann King gave a summary of the work of making their aprons, saying they varied in price from twenty-one to thirty-four cents. Then each girl came to the platform to show her apron. Virginia Kerr played softly on the piano while they were being exhibited. Fern Sims told of the work of choosing the material and patterns and the making of the dresses which ranged in price from $1.54 to $3.09. Materials used were spun rayon, wool flannel and corduroy, several of them with jerskins and white blouses. Charlotte Jones and Esther Taylor each sang a solo and Lucienne Fisher played a piano solo. The guests who were mothers of the girls and a number of others were then taken to the home economic rooms on the first floor where they were served delicious tea and cookies which the girls had prepared. E. L. Vogelitz made a fine talk at the Armistice Day program at the high school, stressing the fact that the American Legion, did not believe in war, but did believe in preparedness. Today, almost too late, we are getting preparedness.

Claude Mather of Arcadia stepped through a hole in his scoop-board while unloading corn and broke his right thigh.

Thieves wrecked the safe in August Petersen's office near the depot, and also broke into the Union Pacific depot, but got only a small sum. The man was captured later, and recently was asking that his sentence be commuted.

Evel Smith irrigated 15 acres of Spanish rice popcorn, with the result that he received over a thousand dollars for the crop.

Cars driven by Stanley Rutar and Joe Liberski collided on the Turtle Creek bridge on highway No. 11, with damage to both cars and occupants.

The official election returns made Valley county overwhelmingly republican, but Otto Murschek defeated Ign. Klima, sr., for county clerk, and L. R. Bright defeated Maxwell H. Westover for clerk of the court. Republicans elected were Lefe Palst, treasurer, A. Sutton, sheriff, H. Gudmundsen, Judge, F. A. Barta, coroner, and C. J. Nelson, surveyor.

A meeting of poultry fanciers of the county was called by H. D. Leggett at the office of the Ord Lumber and Coal company, and the following officers elected: President, A. J. Firkins; vice-president, C. W. Noll; secretary, H. D. Leggett; treasurer, A. F. Barber; directors, Firkins, Leggett, Daniel Burke, Barber and William Shunk-weller.

Of course, then a resident of Elma, Wash., had his back broken when he fell from a wagon, and died from the effects of the fall.

The Ord Commercial club requested all business houses to close on Thanksgiving day, which was on the last Thursday of the month, there being no presidential decree to the contrary.

The want ads told the following facts: J. B. Nay and company were making farm loans at the lowest rates; Capron was selling farm land near Ord; W. M. Gray was selling spring shoots and a gasoline engine; Mrs. I. C. Clark was selling Rhode Island Red cockerels, and her husband was selling Duroc Jerseys; Thearon Beehrle had lost from his pasture a brindle steer and a heifer; Gwendolyn Jones had lost a diamond ring, and Cornell had lost a fountain pen.

Haskell was of the opinion that it must be terrible to run the only paper in a town, since the editor would have to keep on good terms with all candidates for office and print a mild and insipid paper.

The wife of A. S. Adams, well known resident of the Turtle Creek territory west of Elyria, died after a long illness at the age of 64 years.

For the third time in a single year, Floyd Harris, son of Link Harris, had his arm broken, and always in the same place.

The Ladies of the Ord Christian church were to give a chicken pie supper in the building on 15th street until recently used as a WPA sewing room.

Fusion was on the wane in Valley county. The state ticket went fusion by 31 votes, but W. L. McNutt was elected county treasurer over J. P. Braden by 3 votes, Alvin Blessing won for clerk over Frank Koupal by 10 votes, and John Kokes won for sheriff over H. D. Hueck by 9 votes in the closest election ever held in the county.

Wenceslasko had a crew of men busy all day Sunday enlarging and improving his meat market building, the present Pecunia location. The refrigerator was moved back and the front room was made its present depth.

Henry Reithardt was advertising his northeast corner meat market, ice house and complete set of butcher tools for sale.

The Quiz was apologizing for appearing late for that week. This frequently happened in those days of slow transportation and poor telephone service, but it has not happened in the past five years, to the writer's knowledge.

Many think photos by quick finishing process is a recent development, but in the Quiz of above date W. A. Anderson, who ran the Ord Art Gallery, was advertising that pictures were taken by him by the lightning process.

John P. Kates, who sold sewing machines and organs, was advertising a White sewing machine for 100 bushels of sorted potatoes. That would be a good price for a sewing machine today, but at that time potatoes were only 20c per bushel.

According to the Quiz, a self-binder, now called a binder, was worth $250 new, and the binders of those days lacked a lot of being as good as they are today. Orin Kellison, whose father probably bought one in 1886 for $250, tells us that the price of grain binders the past year was $285. Of course, the 1941 model had a bundle carrier and the truck in front to take the weight of the tongue off the horses neck, so perhaps the present day binders are not too high priced, after all.

After breaking his ankle at school, Richard Lavery, class of 1890, was getting to and from school on crutches. Wonder if he remembers about it?

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Morris Rendell Writes.

Ozark, Mo., Nov. 1, 1941

To the Editor of The Quiz: At it is time to renew my subscription to the paper I will say Hello to my friends and old time neighbors through the Quiz. I enjoy the letters written by former Valley county people; also miss George Gowen's stories. We have had a good year here in the Ozarks, with about nine inches of rain in October, which broke a fifty-four year record. The farmers are busy cutting sorgo and filling silos. Many new silos have been built, principally to supply feed for the dairy cows. 4% milk is worth $2.47 per hundred. Winter barley has made lots of fall pasture. Wheat sowing will start this week. Corn husking will be later than usual on account of the wet weather. The hybrid varieties will yield the best and stand up the best. We get to see many soldier boys as Fort Leonard Wood and O'Leary government hospital are close to us. Farm labor is scarce and hard to find. Building of all kinds is on the move in Springfield. Real estate is changing hands where it looks like a good investment.

The rest of the former Nebraska people are doing fine.

Your friend,

MORRIS E. RENDELL.

P. S. The last letter I wrote the Quiz was not published. Mr. Leggett's fish story crowded it out.

Last Contest for Blessing

Ord Boy Closes Grid Career at Kearney with Final Contest Friday.

One of the greatest all-round athletes in Kearney Teachers college history will don Antelope togs for the last time here Friday when Pop Klein's undefeated football eleven plays Wayne for the N. I. A. A. conference championship.

Paul Blessing... he's worked his way and at the same time maintained a classroom average close to the A grade.

Few athletes have compiled a record equal to that of Paul Blessing, now finishing his fourth season on the Kearney football team and making it his best.

Blessing started his athletic competition in the winter of 1937 as a basketball player his first semester in school. A star at Ord high school, Blessing took up right where he had left off, has won 11 letters—four in football, four in basketball and three in track. A strapping six-foot 3½-inch 193-pounder, Blessing has been one of the main cogs in the Kearney Normal grid team which has rolled to seven straight victories this fall.

Blessing has been a regular end in football since the middle of his freshman term and twice has gained all-state honors. In basketball he was all-conference center twice, all-state once. A weight man in the track and field sport, he holds the Wayne relays and Kearney varsity discus record at 137 feet 6½ inches.

Blessing has done well in the classroom. Though he has worked every bit of his way through school, he has kept his classroom average close to the A grade.

Last year Blessing was president of his fraternity, the Caledonians, and also monitor at the men's dormitory.

He is majoring in physical education, hopes to coach and teach after his graduation next spring. He is the son of Clarence Blessing at Ord. He has three older brothers, two older sisters and one brother younger than himself. His mother died last spring.—Omaha World-Herald.

Camp Ord in California Bears a Historic Name

The following clipping from the Los Angeles Times of March 17, 1941, was handed the Quiz by M. E. McClellan of North Loup, and gives a valuable addition to the known story of the life of General E. O. C. Ord, for whom the town of Ord was named. The Quiz is glad to be able to present it to its readers.

Camp Ord, military training barracks at Monterey, where 20,000 men are quartered, is named in honor of the man responsible for the straight streets in the Los Angeles downtown section. E. O. C. Ord, young shavetail lieutenant, who nearly 100 years ago made the first survey and map of the Los Angeles pueblo, later became one of the important generals on the Union side in the American Civil war. No other romantic figure in pioneer California history has been more variously chronicled in historical society annals.

Ord was the grandson of George IV of England. His grandmother, Mrs. Fitzherbert, the morganatic consort. He was second cousin to Edward VII. Ord's father when a little boy was brought to Maryland for education. Ord was the name of the faithful tutor who with his charge found sanctuary with American friends of the crown. The boy grew up, married and sent his son to West Point. In 1849, soon after the American occupation, the War Department sent young Ord to Monterey. A few days after his arrival the new American Government General received a communication.

"Please send us someone to make streets in the Los Angeles pueblo. There are no property lines," the letter said. "No legal boundaries." Ord, amused by the request, asked to be sent down. He went and did a good job.

Much of the land laid off was a mile from the Plaza and full of gopher holes. The original map is one of the precious museum pieces of the new great city. A peg in the old Pico House corner is where the first plummet was hung. Los Angeles begins there.

None of the streets in the downtown area from the Plaza to Pico, and between Main and Figueroa, is crooked like those found in the older parts of Boston, Philadelphia and New York. Their general straightness is a lasting monument to Ord's engineering skill. H.G.L.

Cetak Goes "Over the Top", Shows Scoring Play

In this picture taken during a practice session of the Ord Chanticleers, the big fullback, George Cetak, shows how he goes over the top when yardage is vital. Cetak does it during regular games too and since the season opened has scored for Ord through the line as well as on end sweeps and reverses. Others in the picture are Tyrrell, Rose, O. Hurlbert, Wilson and Frank Misko.

Chanticleers Still in Second Prep Ten with Fine Record

The position of Ord in the ratings of prep teams in Nebraska was still the same in the ratings put out by Gregg McBride in Monday's dailies. In the opinion of all who have been following the fortunes of the Chanticleers this year, they deserve a higher rating than they are getting. In the top ten Gregg lists them in the following order: Lincoln, North Platte, Lincoln Northeast, Omaha North, York, Benson, Omaha Tech and Omaha Central, Alliance, Bayard and Gothenburg. The second ten, listed alphabetically are College View, Creighton Prep, Crete, Culbertson, David City, Fairbury, Falls City, Holdrege, Norfolk and Ord.

It seems that Ord is listed so low because of the kind of competition they have. After the 53 to 0 field day at Ravenna it was expected that Ord would climb in the ratings, but it didn't happen. Since then Ord won impressive victories over Loup City, 34 to 0, and Arcadia, 41 to 0, and none of these teams could be classed as push-overs.

McBride saw the Chanticleers defeat Grand Island 7 to 0 and predicted a great year for them. Then they proceeded to defeat Broken Bow, 12 to 0; Burwell, 20 to 0; Albia, 7 to 0; Ravenna, 53 to 0; Loup City, 34 to 0; and Arcadia, 41 to 0. This makes Ord 150 points to their opponents none, for an average of 25 points per game. Ord's impressive showing against Albia showed the Chanticleers down in McBride's ratings.

Nothing Ord can do in the two remaining games is likely to boost them into the first ten prep schools. Sargent has not done too well on a comparatively light schedule, and St. Paul, though undefeated, was tied by Superior. About the only hope lies in some of the present first ten suffering defeats.

At that we would like to see Ord in competition with almost any of the twelve teams rated ahead of them. In the opinion of all Ordites and in the rating of their opponents Ord has one of the finest teams this year that the school has ever produced, with a splendid first string and plenty of dependable reserves, and the boys would relish a chance to tackle the best in the state.

Hurt in Minnesota Game, Zikmund Out

A kidney bruise suffered in Nebraska's game against Minnesota Saturday will keep Allen Zikmund out of the line-up in the Pittsburg game Saturday and perhaps out of the Iowa game the following week also, said coaches at Lincoln yesterday.

The blonde Ord boy is a leading ground-gainer for the Cornhuskers but hasn't been at his best all season because of injuries. Vike Francis also will be out of the Nebraska backfield due to scholastic difficulties and Zikmund's understudy, Marvin Athey, is nursing a lame ankle.

Although they were beaten 9 to 0 by Minnesota the Huskers played a great game.

Women's Clubs Met
at Bartlett Tuesday

Burwell — (Special) — Fifteen Wheeler county federated clubs were guests of the Bartlett Community Woman's club, Armistice Day, in the Methodist church at Bartlett.

Business meeting preceded the luncheon, for 60, set on tables decorated in red, white and blue. Place cards were little replicas of Uncle Sam's hats.

Election of officers for the coming year were: Mrs. Ray Kitchnerberg (Literary Thimble club) president; Mrs. Matt Dwyer (Beaver Valley club) vice-president; Mrs. Will Glessinger, secretary-treasurer.

After luncheon the program opened with the invocation followed by the flag salute. Mrs. Merle Edgerhull presented a piano solo; Mrs. Ruth Warner, a reading.

The State Patrolman, headquarters at O'Neill talked on the importance of safe driving on the highways, outlining the activities of the patrol during October. He especially directed his caution of dangers in drunken driving, speeding and reckless driving to the high school students invited to hear his talk.

County Agent Andrew Monson spoke on defense in relation to people living in this community, emphasizing the part they might do in keeping their health, helping the morale of boys in camp, and raising funds for defense.

—Mrs. Antonia Lukesh went to Grand Island on the bus yesterday morning to visit her son, Joe Lukesh and family, and also her son Ed, who is taking treatments at St. Francis hospital for rheumatism.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zukoski came from St. Paul Sunday to have dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Biemond.

BURWELL

Mrs. Arlo McGrew sustained a badly sprained leg and her daughter suffered a severe scalp wound when the car which Mr. McGrew was driving collided with another car on the road west of the Frank Carricker farm. Both cars were damaged. Mr. McGrew and the persons in the other car were not injured. Mrs. McGrew and her daughter were taken to Dr. Smith for medical attention.

The husband of Mrs. Sophia Kremer Rose died in California last week. They had been married over a year. Mr. Rose was not known in Burwell. Mrs. Rose is the mother of Mrs. Oscar Pearson and Charley Kremer both of Burwell. Another daughter lives in California.

Garfield county residents can be happy that they are at least getting a piece of a new court house. Wilfred Butcher is at work laying a brick 8 by 10 addition on to the vault on the south side of the building. Second doors for the addition were purchased in Grand Island. The structure was found necessary to provide a fire proof storage space for the county's records which have accumulated until the old vault was inadequate.

The turkey has been in for some rough treatment at the Burwell Butcher Factory. Last week 3,225 were dressed and shipped to the market in Chicago. Twenty-five women are at work stripping the feathers off the Thanksgiving birds. A crew of eight men is used to grade, stick, scale and pack the turkeys. This year the workers come under the wage and hour law and are paid a minimum wage of thirty cents per hour which enables them to earn more than formerly. The growers, too, are receiving larger returns this year. No. 1 young hens bring 20c per pound and young toms 18c.

Mrs. Dan Ehresman submitted to a tonsillectomy in Dr. Cram's hospital Thursday.

A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Wajtscek of Taylor in Dr. Cram's hospital. Mrs. Wajtscek was formerly Miss Ahlehn Wegryn of Burwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Dye are the parents of a daughter who was born in their home Monday with Dr. Cram in attendance.

Dr. Cram removed the tonsils of Mrs. J. Peter Naab Tuesday.

Today wound up the best harvest in the Burwell area. Up until Monday 129 carloads had been shipped from Burwell to the factory at Grand Island. This is the largest number of bees which has ever been produced in the Burwell vicinity. Yields averaged much higher than last year, some of the fields producing as high as twenty tons per acre.

A son was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Canfield of Erickson in their farm home with Dr. Smith in attendance.

The many friends of Mrs. E. J. Smith will be very glad to learn that her condition is improving.

Mrs. Nellie Jones, who submitted to a severe surgical operation in St. Mary's hospital in Colorado Springs several weeks ago, has recovered sufficiently that she has been released from the hospital and is convalescing in the home of her brother, Everett Hallock, and her sister, Mrs. Weidenhaft, in Colorado Springs.

Housewives will be glad to learn that it is possible to escape the daily drudgery of peeling potatoes and still serve spuds to their families. The Loup Valley Cooperative Cannery is now at work canning potatoes. Small tubers which are usually scorned are the ones used for canning. They are sorted, washed and run through an automatic potato peeler. Then a crew of women examines them and removes their eyes. The potatoes are then put in a can and covered with a weak brine solution. After the cans are sealed they are processed in a steam vat which cooks the potatoes. Orville Marquardt, the manager, is careful not to can any potatoes for which he does not have an order as they are an item which move slowly on the grocers' shelves — evidently there aren't many lazy housewives.

The 1941 Red Cross roll call opened with a dinner at the Burwell hotel Tuesday evening. Six-

Mortensen Chosen Chamber President to Serve 3rd Term

Members Approve Banker's Record by Drafting Him; Ryan Talk Excellent.

Despite his statement that he does not believe in third terms and was not a candidate for reelection, C. J. Mortensen was drafted by Chamber of Commerce members to serve a third term as president at the annual meeting of the commercial organization Thursday evening.

Other nominees proposed by the nominating committee were Dr. J. W. McGinnis and Dr. F. L. Blessing but Mortensen received a plurality of the votes.

George A. Satterfield was chosen vice-president and E. C. Leggett, E. S. Murray and Orla Kellison were elected directors, the first two as successors to themselves and Mr. Kellison as a successor to E. L. Kokes.

E. P. Ryan, commissioner of the Grand Island chamber of commerce, made an excellent talk, recommending that communities give greater support to railroads before they lose the trains and have to build a statewide network of concrete highways in order to be served as well by trucks. Heavy materials like coal, lumber, machinery, etc., can be hauled satisfactorily by trucks only over concrete highways, he said, and cost of converting every highway in the state to concrete would be tremendous.

He mentioned Nebraska's big population loss of 1930-40 and the exodus of people from the farms to California now going on because of defense employment available there, and recommended federal aid to keep farmers on their farms.

The government could well afford to spend five hundred million dollars, if necessary, to finance pump irrigation on every farm, if such spending would preserve agricultural Nebraska, Ryan believes.

Corporal Witt, of the Nebraska safety patrol, made a talk on highway safety and showed interesting movies of common causes of accidents and of the state training camp for safety patrolmen conducted at Ashland last summer.

C. J. Baumgartner, an Iowa popcorn buyer, spoke briefly about the North Loup valley's comeback as a popcorn producing area. Four popcorn concerns will contract irrigated acreage here next spring, he said. Farmers who raised popcorn this year received fine prices for it and are universally satisfied with the return they got.

North Loup valley popcorn is of high quality and there is no reason why this region cannot again become "the popcorn center of the world," he indicated.

About forty members attended the annual meeting and heard the report of President Mortensen and of Secretary Alfred Wiegardt. The chamber collected approximately $1,400 during the past year, spending it for community activities such as the Christmas party, the dandelion derby, the 4th of July celebration and in support of the Valley county fair. The chamber, thru its road committee, secured state, county and WPA approval of the Ord-Erison highway, which was one of its finest achievements during the past year. Many other community activities were carried on also.

At conclusion of the meeting Ben's Grill served lunch to members and guests present, after which a period was spent in visiting and discussing problems that face Ord at the present time.

At the first regular meeting of the board of directors of the Ord Chamber of Commerce the committees given below were appointed for the coming year. The new officers are: C. J. Mortensen, president; George Satterfield, vice-president; Alfred A. Wiegardt, secretary-treasurer; directors, new, Orla Kellison, and re-elected, E. C. Leggett and E. S. Murray; holding over, Fred Cahill, Ed. Gnaster and Kenneth Draper.

Membership committee: Dr. Glen Auble, chairman, Syl Furtak, John L. Andersen, C. S. Thompson; civic improvements, Ralph W. Norman, chairman, M. B. Cummins, J. R. Stoltz, C. E. Rusnelli; retail committee, Fred Cahill, chairman, H. T. Frazier, A. J. Auble, Wm. Dargatz, C. A. Anderson; Entertainment committee: Gus Schoensted, chairman, John P. Misko, Alfred L. Hill, R. E. Teague; irrigation activities: E. S. Murray, chairman, Archie Geweke, Wm. Heuck, C. C. Dale, Ralph E. Misko, Wm. Sack, Roads committee: C. M. Davis, chairman, Ign. Kline, Jr., Dr. J. W. McGinnis, E. L. Kokes; publication committee, B. C. Leggett.

A special Christmas committee was also appointed to look after the Christmas work. No donations will be asked from the merchants this year. A joint meeting of the Chamber and the Rotary and Cosmopolitan clubs is being planned for after the first of the year. Tomorrow, Thursday, afternoon Mr. Mortensen is going to Columbus to a state meeting of chamber of commerce secretaries, in place of A. A. Wiegardt, who left Tuesday for California.

Seasoned Team Will Greet Saints When They Play Thanksgiving Day

Some of these eleven boys who comprise Ord's starting line-up were inexperienced when the 1941 grid season opened but every one may now be regarded as a seasoned player. Ord's starting line of Novosad, Petka, James, Fryzek, Rousek, Timmerman and Adams averages 161 lbs., and the starting backfield composed of Flagg, Cochran, Stewart and Cetak averages 150. They will give the St. Paul boys a warm greeting when they meet on Turkey day, Nov. 27.

Ord Has Scored 202 Points to Opponents' 6

St. Paul Has Made 138 Points, Allowed 20

Only a week away is the big game of the season for the Ord Chanticleers—their Turkey Day clash against the St. Paul Apostles on Russell park field Thanksgiving day.

All season, as each team has piled victory on victory, their meeting has been eagerly awaited by fans of the whole Loup valley region.

Now the Chanticleers have finished their season, except for the St. Paul game, with a record of 3 consecutive victories in which they have amassed a total of 202 points while allowing their own goal line to be crossed only once for 6 points.

St. Paul has won 7 games and been tied once, has scored 138 points to 20 for opponents. But St. Paul has a game yet to play to keep its state clean and make the Turkey day conflict a 3-Valleys

Disney Artists Sketch Animals

Burwell—(Special)—The animals at the Burwell Livestock Market assumed their best manners Friday for the benefit of two Walt Disney artists, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Culhane of Miami, Fla., who were guests of Judge and Mrs. B. A. Rose for the day. Mrs. Culhane, who is the former Betty Ryons of Ord, stopped enroute to Hollywood to visit her aunt, Mrs. Crawford Mortensen, of Ord. Mrs. Culhane was a pupil of Mrs. Rose when she taught in a rural school three miles north of Ord.

Mr. Culhane whose specialty is that rangy hungry-looking dog, Pluto, was anxious to see animals in their native habitat. He sketched hogs, horses, sheep and cattle. He was especially interested in the way the animals moved, how they walked, laid down and got up again. He was reared in New York and was anxious to have an opportunity for observing barnyard animals.

Mr. Culhane has worked on Pop-eye, Pinocchio, Snow White, Gulliver's Travels and various other productions. He has just finished "Mr. Bug Goes to Town," which is being released this month. Besides drawing the pictures he wrote some of the lines in this production.

Seated high on the planks Mr. Culhane spent several hours sketching animals and people to be used in future productions. His pencil flew over his sketching pad and in a few deft strokes he sketched a horse, hog or some other animal. Mrs. Culhane did no sketching in the pavilion, being too self-conscious to work in public. Her husband declared that she was a better artist than himself.

Mr. Culhane was naturally the object of much observation. "What are you doing, young fellow?" one curious sandhillier inquired. "If it's any of my business." The artist replied that he was doing a little drawing. After watching the clever fingers fly over the paper for a few minutes, the astounded sandhillier exclaimed, "A little, heh!"

Mrs. Leggett Very Ill.

Mrs. H. D. Leggett suffered a severe heart attack Saturday morning and another at an early hour this morning and is reported by her physician, Dr. J. N. Round, to be in very serious condition. Because the Quiz press room is located directly below her sick room and the noise incident to printing the paper might have a serious effect upon Mrs. Leggett, printing of the Quiz is being deferred a day this week.

Ord Yields First Score of Season but Wins 33 to 6

Sargent's Mason Dashes 75 Yards to Score on Trick Play; Ord Imposing.

Bob Mason, star of Sargent's team for three seasons, may not be the best back the Chanticleers have played against in 1941 but Friday night he did something no other player has been able to do—he scored against Ord.

Early in the fourth period Mason broke around right end from his own 25 yard line, reversed his field and ran down the left side line to score standing up—a jaunt of 75 yards. His feat was made possible by a trick play in which the Sargent team lined up and passed the ball without calling signals.

Ord won the game handily 33 to 6 but its record of not having been scored upon this year was ruined by Mason's fine run. The Chanticleers have now scored 202 points to 6 for their opponents.

The Chanticleers had trouble in getting started Friday or else the Sargent resistance was too staunch, and throughout the first quarter they were held scoreless.

Paced by big George Cetak, they got into high gear in the second frame and scored twice, added two more touchdowns in the third period and another in the fourth and converted three of their five extra points to amass a total of 33.

Cetak and Flagg each scored two touchdowns and figured in most of Ord's gain-making plays. Cetak also doing a grand job of line-backing and punting. Alex Cochran, converted from an end into a regular center in Ord's backfield, played a masterful game on offense except for a couple of missed blocks. He scored one of Ord's touchdowns and cut loose with several other long runs as well as doing part of Ord's passing, the first time he has appeared in this role.

Twenty-two Ord teams were chalked up by the 1st team, while they held Sargent to 4. Outstanding in the Ord line were Fryzek and Adams, with Timmerman doing some fine work at times. Sargent's line was well coached and made a good showing against the Ord forwards.

Mason showed to advantage with Sargent and with a stronger team would rate as one of the finest halfbacks in the state. He runs punts and passes with facility and is a fine defensive player, figuring in most of the tackles made by his team. Kosmicki at fullback, and Brown, at the other halfback post, also looked good for Sargent.

The following play-by-play account of the game was taken from the announcing of Edgar Farley, Ord junior high coach. Mr. Farley was assisted in spotting the Sargent players by the Sargent junior high coach, Walter Murish. This was the first experience for Mr. Farley, but he did a most excellent job of getting the plays the instant they started.

Ord opened the game by Cetak kicking off and Flagg holding. Mason took the ball on his own 5 yard line and returned to the 20, where it was Sargent's ball, first and ten. Ord was offside on the first play, putting the ball on the 25, first down and 5 to go. Timmerman got Brown after he made a yard thru tackle. Sargent punted to Flagg, who received on the 32 and returned to the 37.

Two Ord boys, Richard Radliff and Archie Wegryn, enjoyed a treat Saturday when they went to Lincoln as guests of the Omaha World-Herald and attended the Nebraska-Pittsburgh football game. The boys are carriers for the newspaper in Ord. They went with five other carriers from near-by towns in a car driven by an Arcadia man. A total of 350 World-Herald carriers saw the game.

Dr. Gregg Will Speak. Dr. Gregg, of Nebraska Wesleyan university, will speak at an Ord high school convocation next Tuesday on the subject of narcotics.

For all Ord people and for all Nebraskans except the rural mail carriers, Thursday, Nov. 27 will be Thanksgiving day this year. Even postoffice employees will observe that day as a holiday, but the carriers must observe Thursday, Nov. 20 if they want a holiday at all and consequently they will not carry mail on Thursday of this week but will work on Nov. 27.

It all comes about because of the conflict in the Turkey day proclaimed by President Roosevelt with the holiday officially fixed by act of the Nebraska legislature. This year, stated the president, Thursday, Nov. 20 will be Thanksgiving.

The Nebraska legislature at its last session passed a law setting the last Thursday in November as the official Thanksgiving day for this state, and it is therefore observed on that date regardless of presidential pronouncements.

Ord stores will close Nov. 27 and because a postoffice department ruling permits the postoffice to close on local holidays the local postoffice will close on that day also, says Postmaster Hill. But this ruling does not affect rural carriers, and consequently they will have their holiday this Thursday and work next week while others rest and give thanks. City carriers will work as usual this Thursday and take Nov. 27 as their holiday.

The Thanksgiving confusion will end in 1942 when, President Roosevelt has already said, he will designate the fourth Thursday as Thanksgiving.

Red Cross Meeting Held Last Friday Afternoon

Last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. R. Fafetta a county Red Cross board meeting was called by Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, county chairman. Miss Frances Vogeler, field worker out of St. Louis, gave instruction and information on all the important services of the Red Cross for the coming year.

As the winter's expansion of Red Cross work will call for effort from every county, Mrs. Mortensen was pleased with the cooperation of Valley county in attendance at this meeting. Those present were: from Arcadia, Mrs. E. C. Baird, local chairman and Roll Call chairman; Mrs. Otto Rettenmeyer, local Junior Red Cross chairman; Mrs. Johnson, production chairman. From North Loup came Mrs. Fred Bartz, Roll Call chairman; Mrs. Clarence Switzer, Mrs. Delpha Smith, Miss Lois Barber and Mrs. Erman Barnhart. County chapter service chairmen attending conferred with the local chairmen on their phases of the work: Mrs. C. C. Dale on Roll Call; Mrs. John Misko on home nursing; Mrs. E. L. Kokes on Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Syl Furtak on disaster; and Mrs. Emil Fafetta on production.

Rotarian Dinner Was Enjoyable Thursday

Last Thursday evening members of the Ord Rotary club and their wives, as well as several guests, attended the chicken dinner at Davis Creek school house, put on by the Methodist church of that locality, and an enjoyable evening resulted.

Ladies of the church served their usual excellent dinner, after which the crowd went upstairs for a brief program given by the Ord club. M. B. Cummins led in singing Rotary and patriotic songs and then President Dick Teague presided, introducing Mrs. Ralph E. Misko, officer of civilian defense for Ord, who gave a talk on that subject.

At conclusion of the program Auctioneers Cummins conducted a sale of fancwork made by ladies of the church, which brought good prices.

Republican Leaders on Pre-Campaign Tour

Nebraska republican leaders including Kenneth Wherry, of Pawnee City, state chairman, Mrs. Ella E. Wagener, of Lincoln, state vice-chairman for women's work, and Melvin Moss, of Hebron, state president of the young republicans, were Ord visitors Thursday afternoon and met local republicans briefly in a meeting at the office of John P. Misko.

A plan has been drawn up to divide congressional districts into smaller districts of four or five counties each, with a chairman and vice-chairman for each district, in preparation for next year's campaign. Valley county has been grouped with Greeley, Sherman, Howard and Hall counties and the state officers were seeking recommendations for district officers from the local men.

From here they went to Burwell where they held a similar group meeting and Thursday night were to be in Ainsworth.

Rotarians Entertained by Mortensen Monday

Paul Mortensen of Cotesfield was guest speaker at the Monday evening session of the Ord Rotary club at Thorne's Cafe. Mr. Mortensen has a wide and well deserved reputation as an archaeologist. He is a large man with a broad view of life, and is possessed with a pleasing personality and a clear, well modulated voice.

He was introduced by Roy Randolph, the entertainment chairman, and, after placing three boxes of artifacts and relics on the table before him, he went directly into the subject of his discourse. He announced his subject as the history of the ancient American people. He stated that archaeology proves that there were at least three groups of these people.

He said that, in all probability the first Americans had come from Asia by way of Behring Strait, moving slowly up the east coast of Asia, across the strait and down the west coast of America, eventually following the water courses to locations where their relics are now to be found.

This process was necessarily slow, and they did not have the horse, which was not introduced into America until the coming of Columbus. It may have taken them several thousand years to make the complete journey and become established in the river and creek valleys of Nebraska.

He said these people were hunters and farmers. From the relics he had found he described their food, their implements of farming, the chase and for domestic use, their residences and their every day life. Speaking in particular of the findings on lower Davis Creek, he gave the following interesting facts.

He said that four distinct cultures were evident, three of them to be found on Davis Creek. The first, known as the Woodland Bottom culture, was left by a race who came here probably 800 years ago. Two hundred years later the Republican and the Nebraska cultures appear in the same locality and apparently at about the same time, since the artifacts are intermingled.

All these people moved very slowly, and probably of necessity, when overcrowding conditions required it. The fourth culture, not evident so much here but more so to the southeast, was the Pawnee, a historic race which was moved from Nance county to Oklahoma in 1872 when the lands there were opened for settlement.

As to the first three cultures, nobody knows for certain whence they came, how long they remained or where they went. He said any person who had made a study of the subject could stand on the site of an ancient village and draw a mental picture of the location of the lodges, the place to get water, and the ossuary where the bones of the dead were kept.

These people built lodges, some rectangular and some round, some large and some small. The size and shape can be determined by finding the location of the holes in which the poles were placed. The lodges had a hole in the center of the roof, and were so arranged that the smoke from the fire in the middle went straight up through this hole.

They may have used a small amount of wood for fuel, but in most cases they used buffalo chips. The lodges were planned so that the water from rains would drain to one side. The Indians in Nebraska and farther east used bows and arrows, while those farther west used spears, but the points were all made from stone that would flake.

Mr. Mortensen described the two kinds of points, for spears and for arrows, and also showed an intermediate type, probably for ceremonial purposes. He also showed the two types of arrow points, those for war and the bird points. The war points are so made and set in the shaft that they pull loose when the shaft is pulled, leaving the point in the wound.

The deposit of old bones on the tops of hills, he stated, are not the burial ground, but an ossuary for the final deposit of the old bones. In fact shown by the careless way in which the bones are thrown in to small pits dug for them. The real burial was on poles or in trees, and the bones were disposed of on the hill after the birds had eaten the flesh.

Arcadia Firemen Cleared Over $50

Arcadia—(Special)—While all the ticket sellers have not checked in the committee in charge of the annual firemen's dance given at Wichman's pavilion in Loup City with music by Leo Pieper's orchestra, believes $50 or more will be cleared. Since a majority of young men of this community are in the service or working in defense industries elsewhere, this result proves that the firemen really worked to make their dance a success.

Union Thanksgiving Service. Arcadia—(Special)—The Methodist and Congregational churches will hold a union service in the Congregational church here at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Nov. 26. Rev. Taylor will deliver the sermon and there will be special music.

Postmaster Hill Asks Bids on G. I. to Burwell Route

Mail Would Arrive Here 4:20 P. M., Leave Ord 5:45 if Motor Discontinued.

TRAIN OFF DEC. 8th. This morning in Lincoln the Railway Commission approved the Union Pacific's application to remove its Ord-Grand Island evening motor train and the train will be discontinued Dec. 8.

Upon instructions from the postoffice department, Postmaster A. L. Hill began Saturday seeking bids for temporary star route service between Grand Island and Burwell seven days a week. All postmasters along the route are instructed to obtain as many bids as possible and send them immediately to E. H. Jeffers, chief clerk of the railway mail service at Omaha.

Arrangements to inaugurate temporary star route service are being made, said Postmaster Hill, in view of the probability of approval by the Nebraska railway commission of the Union Pacific railroad's application to discontinue its motor passenger train now operating between Ord and Grand Island.

Temporary star route service does not require a bond but it is expected that later bids will be asked for regular service beginning July 1, 1942, and the successful bidder on regular service will be required to file a bond.

If star route service is established on a temporary basis, mail will leave the Grand Island postoffice at 1:30 p. m., and arrive in Ord at 4:20 p. m. daily, including Sunday. The route will go on to Burwell, arriving there at 4:55 p. m., and then start the return trip at 5:10 p. m., arriving in Ord at 5:45 p. m. and in Grand Island at 8:00 p. m. All important connections with both east and west bound trains and planes will be made by the proposed star route, Postmaster Hill promises.

There will be an average haul of about 100 sacks and pouches daily on the proposed star route, the chief clerk advises Hill, and total weight will average about 1 1/2 tons.

Any person desiring to file a bid for hauling mail under the plan outlined should see the Ord postmaster at once, as the railway commission's order approving discontinuance of the motor train is expected at any time.

The complete schedule for the star route proposed is as follows:

Pheasant Count Shows Many Birds Still Here

A pheasant counting trip was held recently on the John Albers and Frank Masin farms north of Ord by H. E. McClure, assisted by James and John Misko, Tom Tolon, Bob Marks, Leonard Roessler, Don Andersen, Charles and Gene Draper, Lyle Manchester and Gordon Sorensen.

They checked and counted 75 pheasants and 15 prairie chickens on an area of about 160 acres. The work took from 8 to 11 a. m. Saturday. After the count they all went to the McClure home where a lunch was served with Mr. and Mrs. Rex Jewett also present.

To Press Conference Friday. Ord will be represented at the Nebraska high school press conference to be held at the University of Nebraska college of Journalism Friday and Saturday by five Ord journalism students and their sponsor, Miss Emma Steele. The group will include Laverna Novosad, Marie Robly, Mary Kominek, Ruth Jorgensen and Marie Kusk.

Come to the Methodist turkey dinner and bazaar Nov. 22 at five-thirty.

AMERICAN RED CROSS.

By a strange coincidence the first Red Cross organization in America was formed in 1881, the same year in which the American Federation of Labor had its birth. Of interest to Ordites is the fact that the village of Ord was organized in that year also.

The first meeting of the Red Cross was held at Geneva, Switzerland, in 1863, while the American Civil war was at its height and when Europe was in one of its few periods of comparative peace. Credit for giving the inspiration for the Red Cross goes to two Swiss gentlemen, Jean Henri Dunant and Gustave Moynier.

Dunant, who chanced to be a witness of the battle of Solferino, published a book, entitled "A Memory of Solferino," in which he vividly described the horrors of the battle field caused by the inability of the regular surgical corps to care properly for the wounded. He suggested the need for an organization which in time of peace should train nurses for service in time of war.

The book was widely read and resulted in an international congress being called at Geneva in 1863, where a provisional plan was adopted by representatives of 16 countries. The Geneva convention met the following year and made provision for the neutrality of those officially engaged in caring for the wounded in time of war.

The American Red Cross was organized in 1881 under the leadership of Clara Barton, who became its first president. It was reorganized and was chartered by act of Congress, Jan. 5, 1905. The national headquarters of the organization is at Washington, D. C. During the period July 1, 1917 to June 30, 1922, in addition to the work done in America, the society spent $255,769,000 abroad, on account of the World war.

The name doubtless goes back to the Red Cross Knight, St. George, the patron saint of England, and in the obvious and general interpretation typifies holiness. No one can say that the name today does not stand for that which is holiest in the mind of the average person, the relieving of the suffering of humanity.

We are in the midst of another campaign for the raising of funds for carrying on Red Cross work. Never in the history of mankind has there been a greater need than there is today. The largest possible amount raised will be pitifully inadequate for the needs of humanity. We, who have been spared the horrors of war, should give as we have never given in the past.

The Red Cross is the one organization which is universal. It knows no national or racial lines. It draws no color line. It is entirely divorced from politics. It knows no religion or creed, but contains the best features of all religions and creeds. It is a common ground upon which all humanity can meet. The Red Cross needs your help. Join today.

LABOR WANTS TO DICTATE.

Only a few short months before the birth of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jan. 30, 1882, the American Federation of Labor was formed. It seems strange that these two should have grown in power throughout their lives until today they are the two most powerful forces in the United States.

The Federation was formed to fill a very definite need. At the time of its birth the laboring man was compelled to work for inadequate wages and in unsanitary working conditions. Everywhere men were working ten or more hours per day, and the pay they received was not sufficient to maintain a decent standard of living.

Labor has gone a long way since those early days. Many worthwhile reforms have been instituted, among them the national 8-hour day for government employees; the exclusion of Chinese and contract laborers; the legal establishment of Labor Day as a holiday; the labor provisions of the Clayton anti-trust act (1914); the Seaman's Act; the establishment of the Department of Labor; the establishment of a federal children's bureau, and the Workmen's Compensation Act.

As time went on the labor organization became stronger and the powers of the corporations became weaker, until today we find the conditions of 1881 reversed. Instead of having to work for whatever wages and under whatever working conditions the companies offer, organized labor today tells the owner how to run his business.

It tells him what wages he can pay, what hours the men will work, what time they may take off and when, whom he can hire and if he can fire them. It tells the working man he must belong to their particular union or else he cannot work. It tells him how much he must pay for the "protection" they give him. No matter how much he desires to work, it tells him when he must strike.

To organized labor there is but one goal, shorter hours and higher pay. Regardless of how much or how little money the farmer, the storekeeper, even the soldier may receive, labor is never satisfied, but is always demanding more. With ten years of depression just behind us, organized labor is today drawing more wages than in any previous year of its existence, and is working less hours for those wages.

Roosevelt is now completing his ninth year as president of the United States. In that time his attitude has been to give labor anything it wanted within reason. However, there are now indications that he is reaching the limit of endurance in this respect. After all that he has done for labor, it must be galling to the president to note the antagonistic attitude assumed by its leaders, John L. Lewis in particular.

However, Congress is not inclined to be so lenient with the shortcomings of labor, and many of the members are outspoken in their desire to institute some kind of labor reform. It is apparent that quite a percentage of the legislative body now favors a law which will outlaw all strikes. The president is opposed to this, and would doubtless veto such a law if it were passed.

If present conditions continue he may change his mind. When the WPA tried it at Minneapolis he uttered that now famous phrase: "You cannot strike against the government." All persons employed in essential defense industries are actually working for the government. If they strike, production stops. Essentially, they are striking against the government.

If the government has the right to take the young man from the farm, put him in the army and pay him a dollar per day for his time, it should have the same right to put munitious labor to work and to dictate, if necessary the amount of pay it will receive. The fact that labor receives a dollar per hour while the soldier receives a dollar per day should not grant any special privileges to labor.

The citizens are guaranteed three principal rights by the constitution, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The latter includes the right to labor to earn an honest living. When labor organizations deny a citizen the right to work, and jeopardize his life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in keeping him from working, it is certainly time something should be done about it.

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Most folks depend on the weather man to warn them if it should storm, but few will heed the predictions of economists who are the weather men of business. During the last war, economists tried to caution people against buying high priced land, but no one would listen.

At McCook last week, Herman Haag, a Missouri farm economist gave out some forecasts about what will happen during this war. They are worth repeating because he is usually right and because other economists have been making similar prophecies. Haag's predictions are about as follows:

Land prices will begin to rise now. Land should be 25 to 50 per cent higher a year hence, depending partly on how good crops will be.

Hogs will be selling at $12 in the spring and go up to a peak of $14 next September.

Beef cattle prices are to rise gradually. The market will be at least 10 per cent higher in another year, with more spread between good and medium quality cattle.

All farm prices will go up on an average of about 25 per cent between now and November, 1942. Some will increase more than others. For example, wool prices will climb 35 per cent, eggs only 5 to 15 per cent.

While farm prices will be 25 per cent higher, farm costs will go up only 10 to 15 per cent. This leaves a good year ahead for farming, and will help land prices.

Farm prices are rising faster than during the last war and they will go higher, in spite of government talk about a ceiling on prices. The price slump and depression will be worse than after the last war.

Remember These Persons?

This week we show another old time photo which should not be too hard to guess. If you recall them, phone or write the Quiz. The group last week was the A. T. Jones family of North Loup, taken many years ago. There are Mr. and Mrs. Jones, with Genevieve, Mrs. Harold Hoepner, between them. Behind them are Paul, of North Loup, and Mildred, Mrs. Frank Davis, of Denver. John Goodrich got the first answer in on the mail Friday morning, and Mrs. John Williams phoned her answer Friday afternoon. Mrs. I. J. Thelan, North Loup, thought it was an Ord family, the Charles Kemps.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Got a letter Friday from Mrs. L. Summers in which she said: "I had enclosed $2 for my subscription to the Quiz. My paper is paid up to July, 1942 but I want the 15 months added to it." Mrs. L. Summers. It is clearly stated in the Quiz that anyone, regardless of when they are paid to, may add 15 months by paying $2. It is also clearly stated that the 15-month offer will end with the ending of 1941.

While I am on the subject of subscriptions, a friend of almost 50 years dropped in on us Thursday and told me how mad he was last August when his paper was stopped. He said he was busy at the time and simply neglected to renew before the time was out. He said that he came here with his people in the spring of 1882 and that Mr. Haskell started the Quiz that spring and that they subscribed and had taken the paper ever since. He seemed to feel (at least last August) that he should not have been stopped. I explained that it was not a question of his credit, which I knew was A-1 always, but that it was a change in business policy, a policy that had cost us many hundreds of dollars in recent years, and that a business policy could not play favorites; that everyone had to be treated alike. Anyhow he is now back on the Quiz list and while both he and I (we are about the same age) have only a few years more to stay here, I hope nothing happens again to get his name off the list. And I am also remembering that there are some more old friends who are off the list, and some who are friends of few years, who are off, and I wish all of them would come back home.

I am one of them who believe that John L. Lewis is a greater menace to this country at the present time than Hitler. I am hoping that this administration will do something to curb him, and that soon. This administration is responsible for the present conditions in the ranks of labor. And by administration I refer to Mr. Roosevelt. He kowtowed to Mr. Lewis and Lewis is the sort of person, who given an inch, will take a mile, always. It seems to me that the time has come when Lewis feels that he is bigger than the government. The time has also come when those in high places who do not try to do something about it are going to be in mighty bad with the people back home. The fathers and mothers (voters) who have to see their sons go into the training camps at a mere pittance compared to the wages drawn by workers in defense plants, but who would be slapped into federal prison if they dared to say a word or do a thing against preparedness, are getting mighty sick of seeing workers drawing, as the workers in the San Diego plants were, $3 to $13 a day, and then striking for more money. I believe our own Congressmen Coffee should be raising his voice loud and long on this subject until this administration goes about placing labor in its proper place. If the young men in the defense plants won't behave they should be transferred to the army.

Members of my family refer to me as "a pickle fiend," "pickle crazy," or as one guy said, "here comes Pickle Hank." But what do I care. I know it is all in fun, no offense meant, and usually when I take along a jar of some sort of pickles. And often one of them says, "Well, we finished the jar of pickles Dad brought over; wonder what we will do now." They know full well that I will soon be bringing some more. One of the kinds most enjoyed is our Olive Oil Pickles. The recipe says: "Slice 1 gal. cucumbers, let stand 3 hours with 1/2 cup salt sprinkled through them, 1 oz. white mustard seed, 1 oz. celery seed, 3 medium sized onions sliced, and over the above ingredients pour 1/2 pint olive oil, 1 pt. cider vinegar. In 3 or 4 days they are ready to use." This recipe was sent to me by Mrs. Lura Hughes of Britton, Mich. Perhaps some of the ladies who ignored my appeal, last pickling season, for good pickle recipes, will send me some so I may try them next year.

++ Something Different ++

The American Legion and Auxiliary should pride themselves on their recent convention in Ord; I have heard several remarks about it, what an orderly, well-conducted convention it was, how little rowdiness. Most conventions seem to have to have a bit of roughness and horse-play of an undesirable nature. But as one lady said: "I have gone to a number of American Legion conventions, and this one in Ord was the most mannerly of them all."

Ord does lots of fine things in a fine way.

Just the other day I saw a program at the grade school; it was better than usual. By that I mean better than the usual grade school programs. Each child did his or her part a bit better. There wasn't quite so much forgetting and hesitating as ordinarily found when children perform. The program went smoothly.

I do think the school trains the child better now than it once did, in such matters as having poise and meeting the public.

When little boys and girls are used to being asked to sing duets in singing class, for instance, it does not fess them to sing before a few extra people.

Yes, reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling, have their points as a complete curriculum. But so do the modern methods and subjects that are taught in our schools. Children have many advantages in this present world.

At the football game Friday night everyone was asking who was announcing the plays, now that Arden Clark has gone away to announce over a bigger and more frequently heard station with his pleasant voice. Edgar Farley had been pressed into service behind the amplifier, and he too had a nice voice for it.

When the Ord football team spies its littlest, lightest member fighting so valiantly it must pep up the other hanticleer fighters.

When that young fellow, Sowers, weighing 114 pounds can charge directly into the enemy line, those of us who are bigger and stronger gain inspiration to do some wildcat licking of our own.

Typically American though, I suppose, to tackle any obstacle no matter what the size. We appreciate the things that are typically American so very much just now.

Speaking of odds, what a gallant battle the Davis Creek M. E. ladies put up; I understand ten families arrange and carry out the plans for the big church supper they serve each fall.

And it is a good church supper too, not an inferior one.

I don't know but what these church supper committees should weigh their patrons in and weigh them out, charging on the basis of weight gained, as is occasionally done by city cafes.

Certainly a church supper is a good place to eat your money's worth and then some in Ord and thereabouts.

On Trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wiegardt, their daughter, Miss Betty, and their niece, Miss Vivian Wiegardt, left Tuesday on a trip to California where they planned to visit Kendall Wiegardt and also other relatives for a few weeks while Alfred is convalescing from his recent serious illness. Miss Vivian, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wiegardt, hopes to secure employment on the coast. Work of the district court clerk's office is in charge of the deputy, E. Marie Bell, during Mr. Wiegardt's absence.

More Milk Fund Donations Announced

Additions to the free milk fund are reported by Business and Professional Women's club of Ord as follows: From the Ord Fire Department, $10; from the child welfare department of the American Legion Auxiliary, $6; from Dr. George Parkins, $2; and the Red Cross has given money to Miss Clara McClatchey to be used for the milk fund amounting to $10. The Rotary club is giving $5 per month to this fund.

The business women are delighted with the public's response to their appeals, and this additional $23 will help greatly in carrying out the program.

WHICH BIRD

IS DARKER

Both are the same. It is an optical illusion that one appears darker than the other.

In this instance the illusion or deception does no harm. But in real life, illusions or distortions caused by faulty vision do hurt. They may cause motor accidents, accidents at the machine or work bench. Spoilage, too. Defective eyes make you tired, cross, headachy.

Better Vision means better living. Be sure your sight is right. Have it examined—now.

An Open Letter To The Farmers of This Community

WE have just passed through a dry period that will probably be known in the future as THE SEVEN YEAR DROUTH, just as we today look back and remember the great blizzard of '88. Just past history.

We have no assurance that the GREAT DROUTH is over, yet we have every indication that it is. Last Summer we had more rainfall than at any like time for the last six years and this Fall we not only have had rain but we also have had lots of dew, just like the good old times when we raised the big crops.

The soil on most of the farms is in fine shape with plenty of moisture and most of the farmers have an abundance of forage crops as well as other feeds for their livestock and poultry.

Today we are getting a very good price for all classes and kinds of livestock, cattle, hogs, sheep, poultry and produce, and we are assured by our government that we will continue to get these good prices.

Knowing the foregoing facts, HOW CAN WE BELIEVE THAT THE PRICE OF LAND WILL REMAIN AT THE LOW PRICE THAT NOW PREVAILS?

Older people of our generation will remember that the valuation of land was based on the net income per acre for a ten year period. In other words, if the net income from 160 acres was $5.00 per acre average for ten years then the farm would be worth $8000, or $50.00 per acre.

TODAY WE KNOW MANY INSTANCES WHERE BARLEY ALONE WOULD HAVE PAID FOR THE ACRES IN WHICH IT WAS PLANTED—JUST ONE YEAR'S CROP.

The Federal Land Bank has a few farms left in this district and the prices on them are still at a very low level.

Why don't you come in to the office and talk it over, or just drop us a card and we will drive out to see you.

Rotarians Entertained
by Mortensen Monday

He said he had found village sites on Turtle Creek, and in many other places up and down the valley. At one time there must have been thousands of people living here, probably a larger rural population than there is in the region today. Because they had no facilities for travel, there were no wars among them, Indian warfare coming in with the introduction of horses.

At the close of his talk he showed the various relics he had brought, among which were a pair of tusks of a small elephant, tusks and teeth of a rhinoceros, a tooth of a saber-toothed tiger, and two huge teeth which belonged to a dinosaur. He showed pottery of the different cultures, and pointed out the distinguishing features of each.

Before Mr. Mortensen was introduced other guests were presented. These included John L. Ward, guest of E. C. Leggett, and Emery Petersen, guest of Dr. George Gard. H. C. James then introduced the Junior Rotarians of the month, Don Fisher and Roland Norman of Ord high school, in a well worded address.

President R. E. Teague then showed the group a flag from the Rotary of Ningpo, China, which was brought to Ord by Herman Benjamin, who as a boy lived in Ord. This flag had a square of red in a field of blue, with a small patch of blue in the corner on which the rising sun appeared. Below it was a Chinese junk, and to the right the Rotary emblem and below it the name "Ningpo" in English and Chinese.

It was voted to extend a vote of thanks to Mr. Benjamin, who is a Chinese missionary. The proposition of having the farmers as guests was brought up. Roy Randolph explained the plan, and it was voted to have the farmers as guests next Monday evening, each Rotarian to bring a farmer as his guest. The talk of the evening will be given by Charles Veleba.

When You and I Were Young Maggie

November 19, 1931.

Dwight Griswold started out on the long road that finally brought him into the governor's chair by filing for that office for the first time.

The Clarence Blessing car, with Ross as driver, caught fire and the fire department had to be called to put out the fire. Last week the W. L. Blessing car burned.

The big Diesel engine at the Ord Milling company's plant broke down while the company was still behind in four orders.

A carrier pigeon from Indiana was found by Raymond Augustyn in his father's barn.

One of those periodic plays in which local people do the work and the traveling promoter gets the money was scheduled for Ord. The name of this particular play was "Jack Tarr."

Miss Marion James was married Nov. 14 to William Sieck of Lincoln. Miss James had graduated Nov. 12 from the Methodist hospital in Omaha.

Thirty-three people participated in a husking bee for Leon Carkoski living near Arcadia.

Tom Ryan, aged 33, former middle weight champion of the world and still a great athlete, visited Ord and gave talks and demonstrations at the school and Rotary club.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Christensen of Arcadia celebrated their Golden Jubilee at a wedding dinner prepared by the ladies of the Congregational church, and received many gifts, including a radio.

November 16, 1911.

Mary Luddington, wife of Dr. G. W. Luddington, passed away at the age of 56 years.

James S. Russell and Ed Munn went to Wichita, Kas., to visit relatives and friends, and from there Uncle Jimmy went to Oklahoma City to spend the winter.

George Nay went to Lincoln to take a course as an automobile machinist. Luckily for George, he decided to stay with the farm.

Robert Nay, who recently had bought the Aldrich place, bought the Will Abernethy quarter, and Mr. Abernethy was going to Canada to look around for a location to his liking.

D. B. Smith reported to the Quiz that 40 acres of the bottom land on his farm north of Ord had produced 6,000 bushels of potatoes.

Dr. G. C. Shepard was president of the Valley County Automobile club and Good Roads Association, and had called a meeting of the group for Nov. 20 for the purpose of adopting a constitution and by-laws.

Following the custom of the day, Mayor J. H. Carson issued a proclamation declaring Thursday, Nov. 30, as the official Thanksgiving day. Now that it has been set in Nebraska by law, there will be no more proclamations.

The Fred Hallock jewelry store and the James and Anderson grocery store in Burwell were both destroyed in a night fire, together with all the contents of the grocery and most of the contents of the jewelry store. Both buildings, located on the west side of the square were promptly replaced.

The government had accepted the Milford proposition for a new post-office site, and the owner was busy making the necessary changes.

The front page of the Quiz contained a full explanation of the new Postal Savings system, which was just going into effect.

November 15, 1901.

Ora Taylor, who at the time was a member of the force of the Sterling, Colo., Advocate, arrived in Ord for a short visit. He was chorister of the Sterling Baptist church as well.

While prospecting in a canyon on his place near Burwell Earl Cole ran across what looked like a grave. He notified one of the Chatfield boys and Perry Donner and they proceeded to investigate. They found the grave to be about three feet square, with the skeleton of what appeared to have been a tall man doubled up in the bottom. There was nothing to identify the remains, and they were reinterred in the same place. The Quiz headed its item with the query, "Is this George Ray?"

Earl C. Brink of Fremont was in the city and while here tuned several pianos. Mr. Brink continued this work for more than 30 years, with Ord on his regular itinerary.

Nov. 6, 1901, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alderman, in Burwell, F. M. Butts and Miss May Alderman were married, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Miles. They still live on highway No. 11, between Burwell and Goodnow.

The Quiz mentioned the fact that Ord's new Unitarian church was dedicated Thursday evening, Nov. 7. The building, now the American Legion hall, was 40 feet square and cost $2,500 with furniture. It was built of chipped brick and the upper story was octagonal in shape. Rev. Powell was pastor and master of ceremonies. Prof. George Bret directed the choir and also played violin solos.

Will Russell of Springfield was hurt when struck by a falling windmill which he was helping some other men erect.

November 15, 1886.

The Quiz gave the names of the members of the Republican central committee from the counties of the 12th senatorial district, which included Antelope, Blaine, Brown, Garfield, Holt, Keyapaha, Loup, Pierce, Valley and Wheeler counties. Two names are of interest, W. M. Gray of Valley and M. P. Kinkaid of Holt, who was even then making a name for himself in politics. Mr. Gray later joined the populist movement and was elected state senator on that ticket.

The complete list of winners in the county fair was printed in the Quiz. Of all those mentioned, Wm. Moon, sr., is one exhibitor still living in Valley county. Miss Ella McCord, now Mrs. W. L. McMullen, sr., of Burwell was given a diploma for her ability in spelling. Of special interest is the fact that there was a large educational department, with a large number of prize winners among the pupils in the Ord schools and the Clements school in Mira Valley. N. B. Ord's Andy Cook (then spelled Koch) won a diploma for a pencil drawing.

State Sheriff Working

on Stolen Cattle Case

Some time ago the Quiz published the story of a stolen cow found at the Burwell Auction company's sale by a representative of the state brand association. The cow was one of a group of 8 heifers bought through the Weller Auction company at Ord by Tom Borovka April 2, 1932, and was consigned by B. M. Hollingsworth.

Since then ranchers have been inquiring about the outcome of the case, upon which little has been done, except that State Sheriff Mengel and his men are trying to locate Mr. Hollingsworth and Messrs. W. M. Schlund and Earl Veeder of Cairo to whom he traded his ranch for a garage. The whereabouts of none of these men is known at present.

Last Wednesday Mr. Borovka and his son-in-law, Will Kluna, were called to Burwell to confer with the state sheriff. Nothing new had developed, except that the sheriff said he had to hold the money received from the sale of the cow until the case was settled.

The old papers concerning the case show that on April 2, 1932 the Weller Auction company made out an invoice showing that they sold 8 roan heifers consigned by Mr. Hollingsworth to Mr. Borovka at $28 per head, together with items from other consignees purchased by Mr. Borovka.

Another statement from the Weller Auction company shows the amount of $556.37 turned over by them for Mr. Hollingsworth to Veeder and Schlund of Cairo, Neb., doubtless as a part of the ranch-garage deal. This deal is mentioned in an item in the Ord Quiz for March 31, 1932, which reads as follows:

"E. M. Hollingsworth, who recently traded an eighty acre farm near Elyria to Mrs. R. O. Hunter for her ranch in the hills north of Ord, assuming a sizeable mortgage, made another trade Monday. This time he traded the ranch to W. M. Schlund and Earl Veeder, of Cairo, for a Ford garage located in that town. He took charge of the garage immediately. The deal was negotiated by Ralph Clements of Burwell."

Mr. Borovka says the Burwell Auction company is doing everything in its power to clear up the deal, for which none of the parties at present concerned is to blame. He hopes that it will all come to light soon, and the facts will appear in the Quiz as soon as anything definite is established.

Sherlock Holmes Fuson

Locates Quiz Papers

Two weeks ago, and last week also, the column, "When You and I were Young Maggie," contained a notation to the effect that November and December, 1921, were missing from the files. Thursday we received a card from M. H. (Sherlock) Clerk (Carter) Fuson, better known as Pat, who at present makes his home in Portland, Ore., in which he told us just where the missing papers could be found. His card reads as follows:

"Dear John: Notice in the last issue of the Quiz, under 'When You and I were Young Maggie' that the November and December files of Quiz are missing for the year 1921. Suggest you check Dr. Blessing's reception room and McGraw's barber shop. Know that both have papers and magazines back to the first Cleveland administration." We have not investigated yet, but feel certain that Pat is on the right track.

4 Nebraskans Against

Neutrality Act Repeal

The Congress of the United States repealed the Neutrality Act last Thursday by the close vote of 212 to 194 but four out of the five Nebraska representatives in the House voted against repeal of the act. Charles F. McLaughlin, Omaha democrat, cast the sole vote for repeal, while Congressman Coffee, Curtis, Copeland and Stefan voted against repeal. Coffee is a democrat, the other three are republicans.

Coffee, who represents this district in Congress, was the only member who spoke in explanation of his vote. He said:

"I am convinced that if we become further involved in this war we will lose our own democracy at home while trying to protect it abroad."

The navy department immediately started arming American merchant ships and putting gun crews on them, as result of the act's repeal, and henceforth American ships may haul cargoes to belligerent ports either in convoys or without any protection except their own armament.

Written by Rex Wagner

Lieutenant Governor Johnson, who was scheduled to speak at the Wranglers club in the hotel Monday evening, was unable to be present. He took suddenly ill while attending an airport dedication at Imperial and was flown to North Platte where he was a patient in the hospital for several hours until he recovered. He plans to speak in Burwell at a future date. Osce Johnson, who was in charge of the meeting, introduced Wayne Banks, who has charge of the shelter belts in six counties in the vicinity of Burwell. Mr. Banks said that a number of additional WPA laborers would be employed by the project. Rev. Chris Nyrop, who has been preaching in the Congregational church and Rev. Brown of Boston, who filled the Congregational pulpit Sunday and who will preach again next Sunday, were introduced. Ben Rose, chairman of the Garfield county Red Cross chapter and Rex Wagner, who is in charge of the roll call told of the progress of this organization. It was announced that two hundred of the four hundred and fifty dollar quota for Garfield county had been raised and that the work of enrolling new members is moving steadily forward. A musical program under the direction of Mr. Struve was presented. The Wranglers sang songs popular in the days of the first World war, with Mr. Struve leading and Miss Dorothy Jane Duncan at the piano. However shortly before the time for him to commence the long journey he was granted a reprieve and consequently will not go to Persia—at least at the present time.

Clyde Johnson and his sons have been spending the week at Brayton where they have been wrecking the Burlington depot and a store building which they bought. Ord Yields First Score of Season but Wins 33 to 6

On the first Ord play, Cochran cut back through right tackle and carried the ball 23 yards to the Sargent 40. Stewart went through left tackle for 4 yards. Time out, Sargent. A fumble lost ground to the 40 yard line. Flagg made 2 yards off left tackle. Cetak kicked to Mason, who was downed at once on the Sargent 16.

Brown made half a yard and Mason 2 yards, then punted, Flagg receiving on the Ord 47 and returning to the Sargent 40. Cochran ran right end for 3 yards. Flagg went around left end for a first down on the Sargent 29. A pass, Cochran to Adams was good for another first down on the 13. An Ord fumble was then recovered by Sargent on their own 20.

Sargent quick kicked out on the Ord 47. Mason spilled Flagg on an end run for no gain. Illegal use of the hands cost Ord 15 yards. Cetak's punt was fumbled by Sargent and recovered by Cochran on the Sargent 32. Johnson got Stewart after he had picked up 4 yards. Cetak seemed headed for a touchdown when Kosmicki got him on the 12 yard line as the quarter ended in a scoreless tie.

Flagg went through left guard for 3 yards, Barnhart stopping him. Cetak made 7 yards, and there was time out to measure. It was a first and ten. Flagg went through right guard for a touchdown, and passed to Novosad for the point.

Cetak made a short kick, which was recovered by Ord on the Sargent 41. Flagg made 5 yards, Johnson stopping him. Cochran went around left end for a first down on the Sargent 25. Stewart went off tackle for 6 yards. Cetak went through the line for a first down on the 15 yard line, Stewart stopping him. Flagg made a yard at right end before Bleach got him.

A lateral to Flagg lost to the 17, Brown stopping him. One pass was knocked down by Hoobler and another was incomplete, and Sargent took over on the 17. Brown made 5 yards off left tackle, and then was held for no gain. Flagg took the punt on the Ord 33 and returned to the 45.

Stewart ran right end for 6 yards. Mason got him, but was injured on the play. Cochran made it a first down on the Sargent 27. L. Hoobler stopping him. Flagg made 2 yards, E. Hoobler getting him. A pass was knocked down by E. Hoobler. Cetak made 3 yards, stopped by E. Hoobler. Cetak made it a first and ten, but Ord drew a 15 yard penalty.

Flagg went through right guard to the Sargent 19. Cochran made 6 yards, stopped by Mason. Flagg made it a first down and was stopped by Brechbill, but it was so close it had to be measured. Flagg went through right guard for a touchdown, but the pass for the point was knocked down by E. Hoobler.

Ord's Pony Backs Ready for St. Paul Too

Here are shown two of the lightest members of the Ord backfield squad, Chas. Sowers and L. Hurlbert as they practice feints and dodges in preparation for the St. Paul game, in which they hope to see action. Sowers weighs only 114, Hurlbert 120 and they are sophomores. Against Ravenna Sowers scored a touchdown and both boys are regarded as comers by the coaching staff.

After the kick-off it was Sargent's ball on their own 40, and on the first play Mason went through for 25 yards to the Ord 35 for the first Sargent first down, Cochran getting him. James stopped L. Hoobler for no gain, but Ord was offside. Mason lost 10 yards on an attempted pass when he was downed by two or three Ord men. Another pass was incomplete as the half ended. Ord had made 10 first downs, and Sargent one. The score at the half was Ord 13, Sargent 0.

Sargent kicked to Stewart who was downed on the Ord 20 by Mason. Flagg made 8 yards, and Cetak one, and then Cetak made it a first down on the 32, Mason stopping him. Cochran made 5 yards and Mason stopped him. Stewart made 23 yards to the Sargent 40, Mason getting him, and Sargent took time out.

Flagg made 6 yards at center, and Cetak made it a first and ten on the Sargent 23 yard line. Flagg went off tackle for 5 yards and Sargent again took time out when Stewart was hurt. He was taken out and Sullivan came in. Cochran made 4 yards at right guard and Cetak made it first and ten off left tackle on the Sargent 10. Cochran went through right tackle for a touchdown, and Cetak's placekick with Flagg holding was good, making the score 20 to 0.

B. Novosad, 133 pounds and an 11th grader, here shows the ballhawk ability that made him a regular end when Cochran was shifted to the backfield. Ord has no end worries with Adams, who weighs 175 pound and has played bang-up ball all season, at one wing and the had pictured above at the other.

Cetak again kicked out of bounds and the ball went to Sargent on their 40. Brown lost 3 yards at left end. Cochran intercepted Brown's pass on the Sargent 46. Flagg made 2 yards and Cochran made 6. Cetak went through guard for a first and ten on the Sargent 35. Flagg made another first down on the 24. Flagg's pass was intercepted by Bleach, who ran it to the 26 yard line.

A spinner by Brown gained a yard, Rousek stopping him. Bleach lost a yard on a double reverse, Peterson getting him. Flagg returned the punt 10 yards to the Ord 43. Cochran made 6 off left tackle. Cetak started to the right and cut back sharply behind perfect blocking to go 46 yards for a touchdown. A pass, Flagg to Peterson, was good for the extra point as the quarter ended.

Ord kicked off to Mason, who returned to the 25, a ten yard return. Brown made 4 yards, and on the next play Mason went around right end with the whole team blocking and carried the ball 71 yards for a touchdown. It was the famous sleeper play of Minnesota, and it caught Ord off guard. Mason had perfect blocking all the way to the goal line. The point was no good on an attempted carry over play.

Mason was hurt and taken out of the game, Marsh taking his place. Sargent kicked off to Sowers, who returned it to the Ord 20. Flagg made 5 yards, but there was a fumble on the next play and Sargent recovered on Ord's 35. Ord was offside again. A pass was intercepted by Stewart on the Ord 32. Behind perfect blocking Flagg carried it to the 50.

Stewart made 3 yards on a triple pass. Cetak went to the 44, and Flagg made it a first down on the Sargent 34. Sargent took time out. Mason came in and Kosmicki went out. Sargent drew a 5 yard penalty for too many times out. Flagg made 5 yards, and Cetak took it to the 19 yard line. Flagg made 2 yards and Johnson, Sargent, was hurt, Amos coming in for him.

Stewart took it to the Sargent 6 for another first down. Stewart made 2 at right end. Ord fumbled but recovered on the ten yard line. Flagg took it to the 3 and Cetak went over for the touchdown. The kick for point was wide. With three minutes left to play, Coach Tolly sent in almost a whole second team.

Cetak again kicked out, and Sargent scrambled from their 40. Mason made 7 yards and Kosmicki made it a first and ten on the Ord 43. L. Hoobler went through tackle for 5 yards and Mason made another first down on the Ord 32. Kosmicki recovered a fumble on the Ord 35. Mason made 5 yards and the game ended, 33 to 6. The downs were, Ord 22, Sargent 4.

Apostles Keep Record Clean in 3-Valleys Loop

Turkey Day Clash With Ord a "Natural"; Arcadia Latest St. Paul Victim.

St. Paul had what it takes Friday night and a fighting Arcadia team went down to defeat 25 to 0 on the Apostles' gridiron but before doing so gave the St. Paul players the scare of the season.

Suffering from a bad case of over-confidence, Coach Marrow's team was outplayed throughout the first period and almost yielded a touchdown before it got to rolling. Arcadia marched all the way to the 6 yard line early in the game and missed a touchdown only because an end dropped a perfectly thrown pass in the end zone.

The Saints had recovered from their early-game jitters by the time the second period started and at once got down to business, scoring on a plunge by Peterson. In the third quarter Bill Courtney swept end from the 35-yard strip for one score and Nelson intercepted an Arcadia pass and went 30 yards for another. In the fourth period the Apostles demonstrated the kind of football that has kept them on top all season by going the length of the field on straight football to score again. A fifth St. Paul touchdown was called back because of a foul.

Ord beat the same Arcadia team 41 to 0 and has consistently scored more points against conference opponents than St. Paul has but fans are wary of paper comparisons and know that the Apostles, who are heavier and more experienced than the Chanticleers, will give the Ord team a fight in their Thanksgiving day clash here.

Neither team has tasted defeat so the 3-Valleys conference title will go to the winner of the Turkey day game, unless St. Paul should be knocked out by the Burwell Longhorns Friday while Ord has an open date.

Bayard, Wayne Negotiations Fail

Members of the Chanticleer football squad will enjoy a rest day Friday, negotiations having fallen through with Bayard and Wayne high schools, both of which sought games with Ord on Ord's only open date, Nov. 21. This week of rest assures that the Chanticleers will be in top shape for their game against St. Paul on Thanksgiving day.

The Wayne chamber of commerce began last Wednesday trying to get the Wayne and Ord teams together for a game to be played in the Wayne college stadium Friday night. Wayne is undefeated this season but has been tied. Ord school officials rejected the bid, feeling that a victory over Wayne would not enhance the Chanticleers' record materially as Wayne has not played a difficult schedule this season.

Friday in Lincoln Gregg McBride began booming a Nov. 21 meeting between Bayard and Ord and Frank Prince, former Ord man who is superintendent at the North Platte valley school, telephoned Ord seeking the game. Bayard would not come to Ord but offered the Chanticleers a generous guarantee to make the 300 mile trip to western Nebraska.

Three more telephone calls were made between Ord and Bayard on Saturday but terms could not be concluded and finally came word that Bayard had signed a contract to play Chappell on their open date Friday. Bayard is undefeated and untied this season and is ranked ed by McBride as about equal to Ord in strength. Chappell is undefeated but has been tied.

McBride Ranks Ord in Top 10

The Ord Chanticleers returned to the ranks of high school football teams that Gregg McBride considers the ten best in Nebraska Monday, when the McBride rankings published in state papers showed Ord in a tie with Bayard for tenth position.

Placed ahead of Ord were Lincoln, North Platte, York, Lincoln Northeast, Omaha Tech, Omaha Central, Benson, Omaha North and Alliance.

In the second ten are College View, Creighton Prep, Crete, Culbertson, David City, Fairbury, Falls City, Gothenburg, Holdrege and Norfolk.

Not since the first few weeks of the season has McBride ranked Ord in his select group. When they beat Grand Island in the opener he rated the Chanticleers highly but a few weeks later when much defeated Albion held Ord to a 7-0 score, McBride dropped the Ord team into his also-ran list and it has taken the team all season to climb higher despite an impressive list of victories by big scores.

Ord Has Scored 202 Points to Opponents' 6, St. Paul Has Made 138 Points, Allowed 20

Paul wins this one it will not be surprising to see 3,000 or more ardent football fans packed around the Russell park gridiron on Turkey day.

A glance at the records of the Ord and St. Paul teams is interesting, in view of their coming conflict:

St. Paul 17, Central City 7.
St. Paul 8, Scotia 0.
St. Paul 15, Loup City 0.
St. Paul 12, Broken Bow 7.
St. Paul 6, Superior 6.
St. Paul 18, Shelton 0.
St. Paul 34, Ravenna 0.
St. Paul 27, Arcadia 0.

Ord 7, Grand Island 0.
Ord 20, Burwell 0.
Ord 12, Broken Bow 0.
Ord 7, Albion 0.
Ord 41, Arcadia 0.
Ord 34, Loup City 0.
Ord 58, Ravenna 0.
Ord 33, Sargent 6.

Although comparative scores are usually trusted, the records show that Ord has piled up 133 points against Arcadia, Loup City and Ravenna, and that against the same three opponents the Saints scored only 76 points. Probably the best comparison is in the Broken bow games, both of which were played on the Broken Bow field. Ord beat this team 12 to 0 and St. Paul won 12 to 7, indicating there is not more than one touchdown difference in the ability of St. Paul and Ord. And that means a real football game with the breaks deciding the winner.

Substitution of Alex Cochran in place of Otto Marech in the Ord backfield apparently has made Ord a steadier, more powerful team, as Novosad is handling Cochran's end duties satisfactorily. Stewart has developed rapidly as a ball carrier and Ord now has four backs who are likely to break up a ball game from any place on the field. Cochran's passing ability also adds to the deception in Ord's attack.

The St. Paul-Ord game may well be decided by the lines. St. Paul has a heavier line than Ord's and it has done splendid work in all games. On Petka, James, Fryzek, Rousek and Timmerman, and their substitutes will fall the task of keeping St. Paul in check.

Any fan who wants to see a fine game needs go no farther than Ord on Thanksgiving day. And with a 3-Valleys championship hanging on the result, both teams will be giving their best.

You have only to ask your Ford tractor dealer for a demonstration, using any Ferguson system unit implement, to discover the revolutionary new ease and accuracy of control which the Ferguson system gives you. Close-coupled but flexibly connected to the tractor, these implements are at all times under fingertip command by means of the hydraulic control. Because they are in effect part of the tractor, you can work under unfavorable conditions of soil, contour of the ground, size and shape of fields with an ease and freedom you would not have dreamed possible.

Burwell Victory Gives 3-Valleys Crown to Ordites

St. Paul Win Over Ord Will Leave Chanticleers Ahead
in Final Percentages.

Big Crowd to See Turkey Day Clash

GAME STARTS AT 2:30.

The Ord-St. Paul game tomorrow will start promptly at 2:30 p. m. The high school announces, the later time being set to give people a chance to eat their Thanksgiving dinners without undue hurry. Admission prices are 10c for children, 25c for high school students and 40c for adults.

Both the St. Paul and Ord bands will be present to play during the game and play between the halves.

When the Burwell Longhorns upset St. Paul 12 to 0 Friday night they automatically awarded the football championship of the 3-Valleys conference to Ord's Chanticleers.

Regardless of how the St. Paul-Ord game to be played tomorrow at Russell park turns out, the Chanticleers are "in" as champions for their record now shows 6 victories no defeats and no ties in conference competition, whereas St. Paul and Burwell each has 4 victories and 1 defeat. Ord will thus be ahead on a percentage basis even if St. Paul should win the Turkey day game.

The Longhorns rose to new heights in beating St. Paul Friday and many Ord fans saw the game. Until the final quarter the game was a scoreless tie but Burwell struck twice swiftly and walked off with the game.

Franssen, Burwell tackle, blocked a St. Paul fourth down punt late in the period and Keith Pulliam, coming up fast from his halfback post, scooped it up and ran for a touchdown. The try-for-point was missed but Burwell was ahead 6 to 0, which was enough to win the ball game.

The Saints received and started to throw passes but Hallock, Burwell guard, intercepted a desperation heave by Nielsen and ran the ball back to the St. Paul 20. Burwell running plays netted 15 yards, but a 15-yard penalty set the Longhorns back and Pulliam punted for the corner. On the St. Paul 2-yard line it was touched by a Saint player and recovered for Burwell by Sorensen. From there Pulliam smashed over for the touchdown and though the extra point failed the Longhorns were safely ahead 12 to 0 as the game ended.

Though the Saints had the best of statistics, 7 first downs and 162 yards gained to 2 first downs and 91 yards gained for Burwell, the Burwell team played an alert, opportunistic game and never was in serious trouble.

The Longhorns were keyed up for the Apostle game, whereas the Saints seemed over-confident, perhaps because they have pointed all season for Ord.

Coach Tolly's team is taking nothing for granted in preparing for the final Thanksgiving game against St. Paul, for every player knows the Saints will be hard to handle. Ord has a chance to close the season undefeated and will do their best tomorrow.

It will be the final high school game for several Chanticleers, among them being Flagg, Cochran, Rousek, Pettska, Adams and Turmerman, from the starting squad, and Gajka, from the reserves.

Junior Class to Present Campbells Are Coming

The junior class of Ord high school will present "The Campbells Are Coming" at eight o'clock on Dec. 2nd. This is not a Scotch play but a hilarious farce with hillbilly triumphs describing the most effective technique for getting rid of an undesirable suitor. Kaye Brannigan, Betsy Kovanda, returns from a girl's school chock-full of culture. Much to the family's disgust, she breaks with dependable Jeff Scudder, Alvin Stewart, and announces her engagement to a young snob, Kingston Campbell, played by Billy Faicita.

Learning that Kingston's aristocratic mother, Marjorie Weaver, believes that the Brannigans are hillbillies and that Kingston and his mother are coming for a visit to find out the truth, the resourceful Ma Brannigan, Darlene Carlson, her granddaughter, Betty, Marie Marsh, her grandson Dick, Wilson Chaffield, Ma's suitor Cyrus Scudder, Raymond Vogeltanz, with the aid of hillbilly Biddap Tapp, Eldon Smolik, and his daughter Catalpa, Maxine Wardrop, maneuver to put the Campbells to complete rout. The play abounds with laughs and clever gags. Miss Steele and Mr. Kovanda are the junior class sponsors. Miss Shavlik is play director.

Cetak's Trusty Toe Good for Extra Points

Accurate placekicking is only one of the accomplishments of Ord's big fullback, George Cetak, as he is also good at hitting the line, running the ends, is a good punter and pass receiver and if necessary can do a pretty fair job of passing. A junior in high school, George has another year to win all-state honors but Ord fans think he ranks with the best of Nebraska high school backs this year. Roland Beran holds the ball for Cetak in the picture above. Should the Ord-St. Paul battle be close, Cetak's educated toe is counted on for the extra points that may mean the difference between defeat and victory.

Evangelical Church Uses 'God's Acre' Plan

Sunday, Nov. 2 was an important day at the Mira Valley Evangelical church for it brought to fruition the "God's Acre" plan adopted by the church last spring. Each of twenty-five farmers set aside an acre last spring for the church and when proceeds of the acreage were reported Sunday it was found that $248.14 had been raised, with nine acres yet to be reported.

The day also brought a report from the Evangelical league, young people's society of the denomination, which last March decided to raise $50 as a fund for painting the parsonage. The Junior League also was given a part in the project. Little wooden barrels were distributed to all children, to be used as banks in which were placed their summer savings. Several children adopted plans for filling their barrels. One boy raised geese, some of the girls raised chickens and other projects were followed.

Sunday the church's morning service was held at the usual time. A fellowship dinner was enjoyed at noon. At 2:00 the special service began with the pastor presiding. Melvin Koelling gave a brief talk on the value of setting a goal and then Mrs. Harry Foth, chairman of the service department under whose direction the plan was carried forward, spoke briefly about details of the entire project. When the little barrels were opened it was found that $54.86 had been gathered by the children and young people, in addition to $248.14 from the God's Acre plan. Archie Geweke represented the board of trustees in expressions of appreciation to all who made the project a success.

The parsonage has been painted and with surplus funds received it has been decided to reshingle the roof. Members of the congregation have voted to put on a similar project next year, proceeds to be used for redecorating interior of the church and for other improvements.

Ambrose Car Wrecked on Corner Near Taylor

While driving to Taylor Thursday afternoon, J. W. Ambrose took the corner leading into town at too high a rate of speed and his car overturned, rolling over three times. It was considerably damaged and was towed to Ord by an Anderson wrecker. Mr. Ambrose was unhurt.

This corner at the outskirts of Taylor is a bad one and there have been several accidents at the spot. Last summer a young man named Butcher was killed on this corner and several others have been hurt.

1941 Corn Loan Rate to Be 72c

The 1941 corn loan rate for Valley county last week was fixed at 72c, which is considerably higher than the 61c per bushel rate in 1940. Government inspectors will begin inspecting and sealing the 1941 corn of loan applicants about December 15, it is announced.

Leon J. Waldron Killed. Leon Waldron, of El Monte, Calif., a brother of Mrs. Pearl Barnard of Ord, was killed Nov. 11 in an automobile accident on the streets of Covina, Calif. An iron lung was used in attempts to save his life but his crushed chest and other injuries were too serious and he died within a few hours. The funeral was held Nov. 13 in El Monte.

Red Cross Drive Enters Final Week 300 Short of Goal

Mrs. Dale Urges Roll Call
Workers Redouble Efforts to Reach 825 Goal.

As the Red Cross roll call enters its final week, volunteer workers under the leadership of Mrs. C. C. Dale, county chairman, are redoubling their efforts to cover the entire Valley county territory and reach all residents in an effort to get 825 members, which is the quota assigned to this county for 1941.

To date only 535 memberships have been reported in two weeks of work and to secure almost 300 more in the final week which ends Nov. 30 is going to take work and plenty of it, Mrs. Dale has told community chairmen and their committee members.

Ward chairmen in Ord with incomplete returns report about 350 memberships obtained toward the Ord quota of 430.

Aracdia reported Saturday evening that 115 of that village's quota of 175 have been secured and workers there are enthusiastically carrying on this week.

North Loup has a quota of 100 and Mrs. Fred Bartz, local chairman, reported Monday that about 70 memberships have been signed with the greater part of canvassing done. They began their drive only last Thursday and eight workers expect to finish by the end of this week.

Mrs. W. J. Helleberg is conducting the Elvira roll call and has a quota of 15, which she hopes to exceed. Miss Clara McClatchey, chairman for rural territory, reports fine cooperation by the farm people in areas reporting to date. Workers soliciting memberships at farm homes are getting a sympathetic reception and there is every reason to hope the rural quota of 140 may be reached or even exceeded.

Every person in Valley county should respond to the 1941 roll call—unions and become a member of the Red Cross, for the need has never been so great as it is now. There is a worker in every community and memberships also may be sent to the county roll call chairman, Mrs. Dale, or to any of the community chairmen by mail.

Bob Parker, 15, Is Accidentally Shot

Aracdia—(Special)—Bob Parker, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Parker, was accidentally shot last week when a rifle slipped from the running board of his car and was discharged, the bullet going in at the wrist and coming out through the shoulder. He is recovering and will not lose the arm.

First Case Under New Statute Heard in Court Tuesday

Constitutionality of New Law
Questioned, May Be Tested in Court Hearing.

The 1941 session of the legislature passed a number of interesting bills among them LB, 156 designed to bring more intangible property on the tax rolls, and providing a penalty for failure to report intangibles for taxation.

This law provides that when inventories of estates are filed, the county clerk, county treasurer and county judge shall form a board to check such inventories against the tax rolls, acting with the tax commissioner, or in the case of Valley county, with the county assessor, to determine if property listed there has been left off the tax rolls.

If, in the opinion of this board, property has escaped taxation, the board has the power to determine the amount of the deficiency and shall compute the amount of the tax for the number of years that it appears the property has not been taxed. The county treasurer shall then issue a claim against the estate for this amount the county judge shall issue an affirmative report on the claim, which shall then be allowed.

In the case of the James Cech estate, a subject of court action yesterday, the board found that he had been living in Ord for the past two years and had made no return either year. The precinct assessor had not assessed him, not knowing that he possessed property, and it thus happened that none of Mr. Cech's property had been taxed.

First to Be Examined Under New Setup

The above six men were sent to Grand Island Thursday under the new setup whereby they take the regular army physical examination before being called for service and thus have time to make any last minute preparations. They also know definitely that they are going if they pass the Grand Island examinations.

These six were all of the kind whom Uncle Sam wants, and they passed with the exception of Virgil Madsen. Raymond James Shotkoski did not get his examination in time to make the bus, but went down by car and passed the examination.

Under the old system the men might be passed by the local board and then turned down by the army examiners in Omaha. Now those who passed in Grand Island know that they will go when called, and can plan accordingly. Above, left to right, back row: Frank Cernik, John Mottl, Jr., Marlon Copen; front row: Morris Kingston, Virgil Madsen and La Verne Hansen.

Tom Williams, 80, Dies Friday After a Heart Attack

Born in Wales, Came to Ord
in 1911; Carpenter Trade
Followed Until End.

On Friday, Nov. 21, at the age of eighty, Thomas L. Williams passed away at the Clinic hospital in Ord where he had been taken the previous day in the hope that hospitalization might prolong his life, which was ebbing away as the result of a heart attack suffered six days before.

In excellent health until he was fatally stricken, he worked at his carpentry trade almost until the end.

Mr. Williams was born July 14, 1861 at Cardiff, Wales, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Williams, and came to the United States as a boy, locating in Ohio and then in Michigan. Later in life he moved to Nebraska and located at Nemaha where he was married to Mollie Evans on Dec. 21, 1885.

In 1911 the Williams family came to Ord and Mr. Williams was widely known and highly respected throughout the community. He was an expert carpenter and cabinet maker and worked on many of Ord's finest residences and business buildings during the 26 years he lived in this city. Absolutely dependable and scrupulously honest, he was much in demand as a contractor during the period when much building was in progress here.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Vesta Snyder, of Omaha and Mrs. Gladys Rose, of Burwell, by two brothers, D. L. Williams, of Monmouth, Ore., and W. B. Williams, of Stella, Neb.; and by two grandchildren, as well as many nieces, nephews and more distant relatives.

The funeral service was held at the Pearson-Anderson chapel in Ord at 1:00 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 23, and then was taken to Shubert, Neb., where another service was held at 10:30 a. m. on Monday, with burial in Prairie Union cemetery near that village. Rev. Clifford Snyder, pastor of the Christian church, conducted the services here and Rev. F. W. Sweezy, pastor of Prairie Union Baptist church, and Rev. E. H. Maynard, of Auburn, had charge of the services at Prairie Union.

Chamber to Give Christmas Prizes

As an inducement to people of the whole trade territory to do their Christmas shopping in Ord, the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce is planning a prize campaign in which $50 or more worth of groceries will be given away free each Saturday in a guessing contest.

Sample copies of the Quiz containing the Christmas advertising of Ord merchants will be mailed to everyone in the territory beginning next week. Complete details of the grocery weight guessing contest will appear in each issue.

Plan now to do your Christmas shopping in Ord and perhaps win one of the many generous grocery prizes which will be given each Saturday, starting Dec. 6.

C. E. Veleba Tells Rotarian How AAA Works for Defense

No Food Administrator Needed with AAA on Job, He Says at Guest Dinner.

When the Lend-Lease Act was passed and it became apparent that the United States would enter World War II there was agitation among Washington officials for appointment of a food administrator as during the first world war, Rotarians and their farmer-guests were told Monday evening by C. E. Veleba, chairman of the Triple A for Valley county.

But Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, held such a move was unnecessary. "In the AAA I have three committeemen in every precinct in the United States," he told his colleagues. "If they can't handle the job of producing food for the United States, our allies and the whole world if necessary, nobody can." Veleba quoted Wickard as saying.

From that starting point Chairman Veleba gave an interesting talk on the Triple A, how it came into being, how it functions in normal times and how it will serve defense while helping both the consumer and the farmer, to an audience which included about 25 Rotarians and almost as many farmers of the Ord community who attended the club's Thanksgiving dinner as guests of individual members.

Through the AAA the farmer is now guaranteed until March, 1943, minimum prices of $6.00 for pork, 32c for butterfat, 22c for eggs and 15c for poultry, he told the group. Stress during the coming year will be placed on these products, most needed for export abroad as well as for consumption at home. Prices are expected to range well above the guaranteed minimums throughout the period, as they are doing now.

Using a blackboard, Chairman Veleba showed how the Triple A works on the average 160-acre farm. Contrary to some beliefs, no farmer is paid for not farming, but instead receives payments from the AAA for doing a good job of farming, which includes proper conservation of the soil, a natural resource.

Each farmer participating in the program is given a corn allotment and a wheat allotment, which on the average 160-acre farm will be 40 acres for corn and 10 acres for wheat. He must plant 24 acres to non-depleting crops and 20 acres to permanent pasture; the remaining 16 acres he may devote to general crops such as barley, oats, rye and many others of his own preference. Potato allotments are being made in 1942 for the first time since the program came into being in 1936, he said.

For planting within his allotments and otherwise following the wise plan of soil conservation specified for his farm, the farmer receives certain payments and also is eligible for commodity loans based on 85 per cent of parity, which in turn is figured on the prices farmers must pay now for what they buy in relation to what they had to pay in the base years of 1910-1914, which are regarded as normal. Nearly 90 per cent of Valley county farmers participate in the AAA plan, Veleba said.

With the AAA in operation there are no great fluctuations in the prices of wheat and corn, and therefore in consumer items such as flour and livestock, and the consumer therefore is benefitted, he stated.

Mr. Veleba also stressed the obligation every city business man has in helping Valley county farmers get back on their feet and in position to share in the profits that undoubtedly can be made in farming during the defense emergency. There are many border-line cases of farmers who have no bank credit but are not in straits serious enough to make them eligible for FSA credit, he said. How to provide money for such men to buy foundation hogs, beef cattle and dairy stock, and for seeding the 1942 crop, is the biggest problem at present, he said. How well it is solved will determine the measure of prosperity this section will have in the next few years, he believes.

Among the farmers who were guests of Rotarians Monday night at the delicious turkey dinner served by Thorne's cafe were Henry Benn, Ed Zikmund, George Bell, Rudolph Kokes, W. O. Zanger, James Aagaard, Emil Kokes, Fred Coe, Orin Kellsen, Fred Kuehl, Arnold Bredthauer, Evet Smith, Erville Hughes and Will Foth.

John L. Higgins to Omaha. John Higgins is holding a clean-up sale next Monday and expects to leave Dec. 6 for Omaha where he has employment as a steam boiler engineer at the new bomber plant. He has been in Omaha taking examinations, joining the union and otherwise qualifying for this good position. Mr. Higgins in 1914 held a Canadian license for this line of work and after he came to Nebraska worked for the Burlington railroad in work of this sort, so he had no difficulty in getting his license at Omaha.

Irrigated Corn Goes 125 Bushels to Acre

Aracdia—(Special)—Biggest corn yield ever reported in this region is being picked on the Ernest Easterbrook farm on the outskirts of this village. The irrigated field of hybrid corn is making 125 bushels per acre. Other irrigated fields of corn near by are making 70 to 80 bushels per acre.

City Properties Sold Yesterday at Good Prices

Tax Sale Brought Out Many
Bidders on List of Ord
Properties Sold.

The sale of city properties for taxes was held yesterday afternoon from the west front door of the court house, with a large number of interested bidders present. The day was ideal for the sale, and this may have inspired the bidders to put a good price on the several properties.

City Attorney Clarence M. Davis acted as master of ceremonies, and conducted the sale in an expert manner, ably assisted by Mayor Cummins, several members of the city council, and several interested tax payers including some real estate men. It was expected that the properties would sell well, as many of them are desirable for small homes.

Results of the sale showed that most of them sold to persons who are planning to use them for homes, and this will increase the number of home owners in Ord, a condition much to be desired. The list of properties, purchasers and other bidders is as follows:

Mrs. Emma Thomas' 92nd Birthday Observed

North Loup — (Special) — Mrs. Emma Thomas celebrated her 92nd birthday Monday by having dinner at the country home of her son, Claud Thomas. Others present were her daughter, Mrs. Isabelle Creager, who lives with and cares for her mother, and the Vernon Thomas family.

Born in the village of Road, Somersetshire, England, Emily Rodaway came to Wisconsin at the age of eleven, in company with her mother and six brothers and sisters on a sailing vessel, the Ocean Queen. Her father, Samuel Rodaway, had preceded his family and had a home ready for them. Mrs. Thomas has vivid recollections of the six weeks on the ocean and of life in England preceding the trip.

Living in Wisconsin for six years during the time of the civil war, the family moved to Nebraska, settling at Nebraska City where Mrs. Thomas with her brothers attended school and later she became a school teacher. She recalls that one of her teachers in Nebraska City, where the older boys were in one room and the older girls in another, was a man who had been a captain in the rebel army.

In 1883 the family moved to Valley county, settling on the farm near District 42 school house which Mrs. Thomas still owns. In 1916 they moved into town and since that time her husband and two of her daughters have passed on. Besides her son Claud and Mrs. Creager, she has another daughter living, Mrs. Florence Holman of Idaho, 21 grandchildren and 41 great grandchildren. Her youngest brother, Thomas Rodaway, is also still living. Mrs. Thomas has a keen mind for one of her years and except for failing eyesight and hearing, enjoys fair health. She spends most of her time making woven rugs and mats which find their way to friends or to charitable institutions.

The board found the value of his estate, all intangible, to be $21,060.10 with taxable property to the value of $14,496.38. The tax on this amount for 1941 at the rate of 47.83 mills is $693.36, and on the same amount for 1940 at the rate of 48.51 mills it is $703.22, or a total amount due the county of $1,396.58.

Ralph W. Norman is attorney for the estate, and John P. Misko is attorney for the state and county in the case. Mr. Norman at a hearing before Judge Andersen yesterday intimated that he expected to test the constitutionality of the law, in that the county judge is made a member of the board and later passes on the acts of this board.

Mr. Norman stated that the persons mentioned in Mr. Cech's will are not contending that they should not pay taxes, but that the amount assessed is too high. He says the wording of the law is such that it is possible to take property under its provisions without due process of law. No one has argued at any time that the intent of the law was not good, since it provides a means of bringing intangibles on the tax rolls of the county that could not be found by other means.

The defense in the case has been granted a period of ten days to file objections, and the hearing will be held some time after the ten day period has expired. Mr. Cech died July 13, 1941, and his will was filed for probate July 14, and admitted to probate Aug. 5. Jan. Klinga was appointed executor, and the inventory was filed, showing an appraised valuation as above stated.

The funds were in a checking account, postal savings, certificates of deposit, promissory notes, notes secured by real estate mortgages, and a Model A Ford coupe. The proceedings show that 21 persons are interested in the will, eight of whom are living in Czechoslovakia. The date of the hearing has not yet been set by Judge Andersen.

The good feature of the law is apparent when it is shown that property uncovered in probated estates may be taxed for a period of three years back, and that all taxable property so uncovered, whether tangible or intangible, will be taxed at the tangible rate, in the subdivision where the decedent lived, which is considerably higher than the intangible. People who in the past may have hidden intangibles will think twice before running the risk of paying taxes at double the normal rate.

Burwell Longhorns

Cinch Championship
Burwell—(Special)—For the first time in twelve years the Longhorns have won a football championship and though they still have one game to play—against Taylor on Thanksgiving day—the outcome cannot change the results in the Loup Valley conference.

The Longhorns top the Loup Valley league with 5 victories, no ties and no defeats.
In nine games played this year Burwell has scored 171 points to 55 by their opponents, an average of 19 points per game to 6 for their rivals. Only loss has been to Ord. Besides winning the Loup Valley championship Burwell has placed second in the 3-Valleys unless by some miracle St. Paul should beat Ord tomorrow.

As usual, Burwell will be outweighed in their game against Taylor Thursday. Taylor's line averages 162 pounds and her backfield 145, against 144 and 145 for Burwell. Bill Tusk, each team's guard who will be game captain, weighs 131 and will be pitted against Robert Holms, who weighs 170.

Coach Wolcott had to decline an invitation to play an interschool Thanksgiving game against Hay Springs, winner of the Northwest Nebraska conference, because of the regularly scheduled game with Taylor.

Remember These People!

Last week we published a picture which was fearfully and wonderfully made. It was from the old blue print process, and was much faded and almost impossible to photograph. However we got it plain enough so Victoria Wisda Simmons of Omaha was able to name all but one of them. They were, top row, left to right: James Milford, Dr. George R. Gard, Alva Rockhold; bottom row: Ed Morgan, Ford Shirley and Lela Paist. Now guess the people shown above.

Now, if we get these deals it means a great deal to us and we are willing to give you every consideration in order to get them. From Now On Quality Pays

All Ord Cream Buyers Now Paying

3c less
for No. 2 Cream

This action is necessary because of more rigid quality requirements by the Federal Pure Food Administration.

No. 1 Cream is not hard to produce, especially at this time of the year. If the Separator and utensils are kept clean, if cream is cooled as soon as separated and kept cool and if cream is delivered reasonably often you should have no trouble in getting a No. 1 price.

We would all be happy if all cream delivered to us was No. 1, so that we could pay you top price.

Anyone who produces No. 2 cream at this time of the year should find out what is wrong and correct the condition.

If you will cooperate and work with us on these requirements we will all get along better.
