10% of Registrants Had Sugar, Didn't Get Ration Cards

3 Towns of Valley County, 20 Rural Districts, Report 5,020 Registrations.

Incomplete returns from Ord, North Loup and Arcadia, plus twenty rural school districts, showed a total of 5,020 registrations for sugar rationing cards, reported Ralph W. Norman as he attempted to figure out the Valley county sugar picture Tuesday afternoon.

A few school districts were having registration Tuesday and Wednesday and one will not register until today, so it will be the end of the week before figures for the county may be figured, Norman said. There will be 8,000 or more registrations in this county, he believes.

In Ord, where both grade school teachers and high school faculty helped in handling registrations Monday, the greatest rush came at 8:00 in the morning and from 5:30 to 6:00 in the afternoon.

Ord had a total of 2,047 registrations up to 8:30 Monday evening, said Norman. A few more came in after that hour and had not yet been included in the totals for this city, and a few people who were out of town will register two weeks hence with the rationing book.

Arcadia reported approximately 700 registrations and North Loup 684, Norman reported. No totals are available for rural districts as yet.

Approximately ten per cent of people registering have more than 6 pounds of sugar on hand and therefore were not issued cards, he stated. Only a few families have more than 100 pounds of sugar on hand and Norman says he is very pleased at the apparent honesty of people reporting the exact amounts they have on hand.

People who registered this week but had too much sugar in storage to make them eligible for rationing cards are expected to use their sugar at the rationed rate of 1/2 pound per week, says Mr. Norman. Ration cards will not be issued to them until such time as the sugar they reported should be used up at the rationed rate.

Sugar for canning is going to be made available, says the Valley county rationing board. No certain limit has been placed on the quantity any person may use for this purpose. A woman who wishes to use sugar for canning should file an application for the amount she wishes to use with Mrs. Grace Sprague, clerk of the board, stating what fruits or vegetables she plans to can and in what quantity, and each application will be considered by the board and permits to buy sugar for canning will be issued. The board denies newspaper stories saying each household will be limited to 25 pounds for canning this summer. The government is anxious to have home canning done and all the sugar possible will be released for this purpose, the ration board explains.

Forty-seven retail and industrial users are licensed to sell or use sugar in Valley county as result of the trade registration held the week before the registration for consumers.

Takes Instructors' Course. Six Ord women, instead of three as reported on another page of today's Quiz, are taking the First Aid instructors' course at Burwell. The six include Misses Clara McClatchey, Daisy Hallen, Arletta Robinson, Sylvia Iwanske, Myrtle Auble and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen.

Ed F. Beranek Heads Nebraska Druggists

Ed F. Beranek.

Druggists of Nebraska elected an Ord man as their president for the coming year when, at the recent convention in Omaha, the Nebraska Pharmaceutical association chose Ed F. Beranek. A leader in the association many years, Mr. Beranek had several times previously refused election to office but was "drafted" for the presidency this year. About 250 druggists attended the 3-day convention.

Wheat Marketing Quotas Voted by 3 to 1 Majority

Loan Rate of $1.14 Per Bu., Assured by Referendum in Wheat States Saturday.

Throughout the wheat belt the referendum on marketing quotas held Saturday resulted in a 3 to 1 majority in favor of quotas, says R. Clare Clement, chairman of the AAA in Valley county, and this result assures a loan rate of approximately $1.14 per bushel on 1942 wheat.

In this county 75% of the eligible voters cast their ballots, result being 49 for quotas and only 2 against.

Had the referendum lost there would have been no loan on wheat and the price would have dropped to a much lower level, Clement says. A majority of two-thirds was necessary to put quotas into effect.

Other loan rates are revealed by Chairman Clement and the AAA committee. They are 60c on rye, 55c on No. 1 barley, 54c on No. 2 barley, 52c on No. 3 barley, 49c on No. 4 barley, 45c on No. 5 barley and 55c on grain sorghums. The new loan rates are in line with the advancing prices of things farmers have to buy and these, along with the new priority rates, announced recently, should be of real benefit to Valley county, the committee believes.

32 Wisconsin Calves Will Arrive Tuesday Eighty-two dairy calves from Wisconsin brought here through the efforts of the Ord Co-operative Creamery company, will arrive in Ord next Tuesday, says Fred W. Coe, and will be distributed promptly among the farmer-dairymen who ordered them. Most of the calves will be Holsteins but there will be a few Guerneys and Brown Swiss calves in the shipment. They will be trucked to Ord, says Coe.

Carlyle Williams came to Ord to spend the week end with his grandparents, the Festus Williams family, going home Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Christensen to Address Meet in Ord Thursday

C. of C. Invites Chemurgic Expert to Speak; Farmers Urged to Hear Him.

Dr. Leo Christensen, Nebraska's foremost exponent of chemurgic, will speak in Ord tonight—Thursday—and the general public is invited by the Ord Chamber of Commerce to hear his talk. Farmers, especially, are urged to attend.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting at which Dr. Christensen will speak is to be held in the K. of C. hall at 8:00 p. m. Dr. Christensen heads the department of chemurgic research at the University of Nebraska. His address in Ord will deal with the possibility of producing industrial alcohol, starches, plastics and a variety of other products used in industry from surplus farm products. He has been through in the news of late through his efforts to bring such factories to Nebraska.

Chamber members will hold a business session following the address by Dr. Christensen.

Dr. Cram's Commission as Captain Approved

Burwell—(Special)—Dr. Roy Cram was notified Saturday of the acceptance of his enlistment in the medical corps of the army with the commission of captain. He expects to be called to active service within a week or ten days but does not know where he will be stationed.

Veleva Out of Jail. Having served the 90-day jail sentence to which he was sentenced when he pleaded guilty to wife beating in February, Charles E. Veleva was released Tuesday. His first official action was to register for selective service.

Vern Russell Is New Ration Board Chief

Vern W. Russell. New chairman of the Valley county rationing board is Vern W. Russell who this week was promoted to the chairmanship upon the resignation of Ralph W. Norman. Mr. Russell has served as a member of the board since it was formed in December. Appointed by Defense Chairman Klima to serve on the rationing board with Russell and Dr. F. L. Blessing is Will Zablouill.

Mr. Norman resigned upon completion of sugar registrations because of the press of private business. He served ably during the organization period and drew praise from Grant McFayden, state chairman, for his efficient work.

Firemen Drag Depths of Elyria Gravel Pit for Earl Poland's Body

Working in a drizzling rain that made rescue efforts difficult and picture taking almost impossible, Ord and Grand Island firemen are here shown dragging the depths of the Elyria gravel pit Monday morning in an unsuccessful search for the body of Earl Poland. Standing on the boat, holding a bar to which were attached chains ending in grappling hooks, were John Thavenet, of Grand Island, and Vernie Andersen, of Ord. L. J. Auble was operating the motor. In the foreground are seen some of the firemen who tirelessly dragged the pit all day.

Midget Races May Be Revived as '42 Fair Attraction

Directors Send Clyde Baker to Sioux City, K. C., to Get Drivers and Cars.

Midget auto races may be back again as the principal attraction at Valley county's 1942 fair. The subject of entertainment for the fair was discussed by directors at their meeting April 30 and they voted almost unanimously to plan for auto racing again, if it is possible to get entries by midget cars.

Full-size racing cars are of course "out for the duration" because of the rubber shortage but President R. Clare Clement says there is no shortage of tires for the midget cars. Such tires, manufactured long before there was a rubber shortage, are useless unless used on midget racing cars, and the government is permitting their use for that purpose this summer, Clement says.

Directors instructed their secretary of racing, Clyde Baker, to visit the Sioux City and Kansas City racing establishments in the near future to canvass drivers as to whether they will enter competitive races here if they are held during the fair. Midget races are held weekly in both cities, the fair board learns.

The fair association's financial set-up looks better now than for several years. All past-due premiums have been paid and as tax moneys come in this summer payments will be made on other debts owed by the association, says President Clement.

Disc Collins' Fields. Some more of Venard Collins' neighbors helped him with farm work last week, going to his farm with tractors and discing 75 acres of land. In the group were John Warford, Bill Adam-ek, Howard Fauss, John Meese, jr., Rusty Holmes. Mrs. Holmes helped Mrs. Collins prepare dinner. Mr. Collins is still in bed with a broken leg but hopes to be up and around on crutches in a week or two.

Leon Cienny Charged Selling Liquor to Minors

Upon complaint of County Attorney John P. Misko, Leon Cienny was arrested Saturday upon a charge of selling beer to a minor, Earl Barnes, 20 years old. Arraigned in county court he pleaded not guilty and hearing was set for 10 a. m. Wednesday but was continued when young Barnes, the complaining witness, was not in court. He had gone to Sidney, Nebr., the county attorney told the court. Date for the trial was not fixed, pending return of young Barnes from Sidney.

Ord Invitational Meet Is Saturday

Saturday, May 9 is the date of the Ord invitational track and field meet, first big meet to be held on Ord's splendid cinder track at the new athletic field and a large number of central Nebraska schools are expected to compete. Invitations were mailed to 30 schools including all members of the 3-Valleys and Loup Valley conferences, says Roscoe Tolly, meet director and at least 12 are expected to enter teams.

The meet will be for high school athletes only. Preliminary will start at 10 a. m. K. W. Peterson is starter and other Ord men will be tournament officials. The prizes to be awarded have been on display several days in the window of Beranek's drug store.

A dual meet scheduled between Ord and St. Paul Tuesday had to be called off because of the rain, Coach Tolly says.

Congregation Accepts Radliff's Resignation

Rev. W. Ray Radliff's resignation as pastor of the Presbyterian church of Ord was accepted at a congregational meeting following church services Sunday, and Mr. Radliff will leave later this month to become pastor of the Westminster church at Sioux City.

John L. Andersen and Dr. George R. Gard will attend the presbytery at St. Edward Friday evening as representatives of the Ord church and make arrangements for the hearing of candidates to fill the local pastorate.

Leoti Red Given Commercial Test

One hundred thousand pounds of Leoti red sorghum was bought at Republican City Tuesday by General Foods, Inc., for shipment to Vincennes, Ind., where it will be test processed to see whether this Nebraska-grown sorghum is suitable as a substitute for tapioca. Robert Cushing, former Ord boy, now with the agricultural college, accompanied the General Foods purchasing agent to Republican City.

All farmers who have Leoti are asked by the agricultural college to send one-pound samples to Lincoln to be tested for purity. County Agent C. G. Dale will send the samples in, he says. A sample tested for Carol Karre shows that he has fifty bushels of pure seed enough to plant 500 acres, Dale says. Only pure Leoti has the waxy quality which makes it a satisfactory substitute for tapioca.

If the commercial test soon to be made by General Foods checks with laboratory tests already conducted, there may be a market for Leoti grain this fall, and farmers are being advised by County Agent Dale to plant pure Leoti this season.

Ign. Klima, jr., Files for Clerk Reelection

Only filing for county office reported in the county clerk's office this week is that of Ign. Klima, jr., who paid the filing fee and became a candidate for the democratic nomination for county clerk, which office he now holds.

Mr. Klima is completing his fourth term in the office. To date there are no other candidates for the office, on either the democratic or republican tickets. Klima's filing was made May 1.

Search Continues for Body of Man Drowned Monday

Earl Poland, 34, Went Down in 25 Ft. of Water in Gravel Pit North of Elyria.

Where is the body of Earl Poland, 34-year-old owner of the Red Star Sand and Gravel company, who supposedly drowned in the deep waters of the gravel pit north of Elyria at 2:30 Monday morning?

Is his body buried many feet in quicksand in the bottom of the deep pit hollowed out by the gravel pumps? Did it float down stream in the darkness to lodge on some island in the North Loup river?

Valley county authorities and employees of the gravel company are continuing to search for the body but they fear it may never be recovered.

Two men, Rudolph Lorenzen, pumper, and Lloyd Kranz, truck driver saw Mr. Poland drown. Another truck driver, Harry Kranz, heard him shout for help as his boat sank beneath him in the icy waters of the gravel pit Sunday night. But all efforts to find the body have failed.

As Sheriff George S. Round and his deputy, Fred J. Cohen, reconstruct the tragedy, it happened like this:

The Red Star Sand and Gravel company, of which Poland was owner, operate a big gravel pit in the channel of the North Loup river a mile north of Elyria and west of the Elyria river bridge. The gravel pump was being operated night and day, pumping gravel for the Ord-Burwell highway.

About 2:00 a. m. Monday the rubber hose through which sand, gravel and water are pumped from the engine float to the shore broke, according to

Inch of Rain Tuesday, 33 Degrees Is Cold

Rain measuring almost an inch, 38 to be exact, fell in Ord Tuesday and Tuesday night, according to Horace Travis. The rain came slowly and soaked in to the ground, putting fields in fine shape for corn planting. Some early hybrids already have been planted but most farmers expect to start corn planting as soon as fields are dry after Tuesday's soaking.

On April 30 the rain measured 48 of an inch, Mr. Travis says. Twice since May 1, traces have been recorded but Tuesday's rain was the first measured. North Loup reports only 40 of an inch Tuesday.

The temperature dropped to a cold 33 degrees, only one degree above freezing about midnight Tuesday, and this morning it stood at 36 degrees which is very cold for May. More rain was likely yesterday and cloudy, cold weather is forecast for today.

Mothers Invited to Ord Theatre Sunday

All the mothers in the Ord territory who have sons in the armed forces, whether it be in the army, navy, marines, coast guard or air corps, are invited by Manager M. Biemond to be his guests Sunday, May 10 at the Ord Theatre.

The feature attraction is the comedy, "Look Who's Laughing," with Fibber McGee and Molly. To be admitted all any mother need do is identify herself at the window and give the name of her son and the branch of the service in which he is serving.

Ord Men and Women Take Sugar Rationing Calmly; "We'd Go Without If It Would Help Beat the Axis," Many Tell Registrars

Mrs. Floyd Beranek, a recent bride: "We won't have any trouble at all," she made a rice pudding with honey and raisins the other day and we thought it was really too sweet."

Mrs. Anna Socha, who cooks for several boarders, declares emphatically "Yes, I've tried cornbread and breakfast food with both light and dark corn syrup; they were all right, too."

Charles Swoboda, blacksmith and welder in Ord, smiles genially but he announces firmly, "Sure it'll help my country out, I'll be glad to do it. Sugar rationing is O.K."

Mrs. Richard Teague, of Hotel Ord, holds a sugar rationing card from World War One and a new card issued Monday. "We rationed our sugar last week, and got along fine with half the ration . . . without doing any baking, that is. Anything is better than being bombed," says Mrs. Teague pointedly.

Sheriff George Round, photographed at the high school on Monday while procuring family sugar rationing cards: "This sugar rationing isn't going to bother us."

"No," says Mrs. A. C. Wilson, well known Ord housewife, "I haven't tried any sugar-short recipes yet, but I've been saving them. I have several ready, and we're going to get along fine."

FACING BANKRUPTCY?

In retail business, not only in the big cities but in small towns like Ord, North Loup and Arcadia, facing economic strangulation and inevitable bankruptcy as a result of the government's "freeze" order which uses the highest price during March as the index for both wholesale and retail prices. Many keen students of economics, including The Industrial News, believe this is the case, unless the "freeze" order is modified or changed.

Long before the United States entered the war, they point out, the government requested retail merchants to cooperate in holding prices down. As their contribution to the anti-inflation drive, retail business cooperated patriotically. Generally speaking, they based their prices on original cost rather than replacement cost, which is the reason retail price increases have been substantially less than wholesale price increases. There is actually a 12-point lag between wholesale and retail prices at the present time, it is pointed out.

The Industrial News explains the situation clearly with a theoretical example. Suppose a retailer has a stock of articles for which he paid 4c each. Due to wholesale price increases they will cost him 5 1/2c each when that stock is sold and must be replaced. But, during March, he based his prices on the government's request and sold the articles at 5c. With the "freeze" order he will have to continue to sell at 5c, even though his replacement cost is 5 1/2c. Multiply this example by the thousands of merchandise items retailers sell and you can easily see that the inevitable result is ruin for the retailer unless the "freeze" order is modified.

No economies of operation which a retailer might put into effect could change the basic picture of having to sell merchandise at prices below original cost.

The whole situation, of course stems from the administration's failure to adopt earlier a drastic policy of curbing wage and raw material prices. Even now the administration, while "freezing" both wholesale and retail prices, falls for political reasons to take a realistic attitude as regards wages and the vital 40-hour-week law.

It is to be presumed that the present order will be changed to equalize the wholesale-retail price structure but it is unfortunate that retailers are left to worry and guess about their future after the fine cooperation they have given for months and years to help prevent inflation by keeping consumer costs down.

SWAT THE DOGS NOW.

Dog taxes for 1942 became due in Ord on May 1 and if ever there was a year when rigid enforcement of the city ordinances regulating dogs is necessary, this is the year.

Hundreds, not dozens of Ord families as in former years, are trying to grow victory gardens as an aid to the war effort. Many of them are inexperienced in gardening and need to have as many factors in their favor as possible. Surely they should not be handicapped by having a horde of stray, unlicensed dogs digging holes in their gardens or racing across their rows of tomato and cabbage plants.

In 1942 there were only 44 dog licenses issued by City Clerk Rex Jewett, as compared with as many as 120 in some years within the past five. That means dog regulation was lax last year, surely there are many times 44 dogs harbored within the city limits.

As an aid to victory gardeners and to those who try to grow lawns and flowers, Mayor Cummins should order his police officials to enforce the dog ordinances vigorously. Dog owners should cooperate by having their pets licensed at once, and all unlicensed dogs should be taken up by police and after being kept in a pound a reasonable time to give owners a chance to redeem them if they desire, they should be disposed of as the law provides.

We can't raise big gardens and hundreds of unlicensed dogs too.

LET'S MAKE OUR OWN.

It will be 1945, at least, before any rubber is available for civilian automobile tires, the WPB prophesies.

It will be 10 to 20 years before sufficient natural rubber is again available for U. S. industrial and civilian uses, it is estimated by Dr. Leo Christensen, the University of Nebraska's able and energetic chemurgist.

But if we started to work along the right lines now, by next spring the United States could have ample synthetic rubber for all its needs—civilian, industrial and military too, Christensen believes.

The difference between his estimate and that of the War Production Board lies in the difference between "butyl" synthetic rubber made from petroleum and "buna" synthetic rubber made from industrial alcohol distilled from surplus corn, wheat, potatoes and other mid-western farm surpluses.

So far the WPB and other federal agencies favor the butyl process, and from now the buna process. Factories to make butyl rubber are being built now but their slowness in getting into large-scale production is reflected in the WPB's estimate that it will be 1945 before a surplus of rubber over military needs exists.

One reason WPB frowns on buna rubber, made from alcohol, is that there is a shortage of industrial alcohol. There is a shortage of steel to build plants with which to make alcohol also, it says. But one thing there is not a shortage of is the raw material from which alcohol may be made—namely the two or three year supply of wheat now in storage, soon to be augmented by a bumper crop of 160,000,000 bushels for which no storage facilities exist.

With processes already perfected says Dr. Christensen a bushel of wheat or corn can be converted into 5 or 6 pounds of rubber. New processes perfected experimentally promise 10 to 12 pounds of rubber to the bushel of wheat or corn. The coming crop alone could be converted into enough rubber to supply the United States' entire 1943 needs, an estimated 700,000 tons.

There already is a shortage of petroleum and the supply underground is not inexhaustible. There is a surplus of wheat, corn and other grains and the fertile soil of Nebraska and its neighbor states can produce an inexhaustible supply, year after year.

If Dr. Christensen's estimates are correct it seems silly to talk rubber shortage while neglecting the opportunities that lie at our door. It seems foolish to use up precious steel to build factories to make rubber from petroleum, an exhaustible product, when the same precious steel could be used to build distilleries to make alcohol which could be converted more cheaply into rubber thereby using products of which we have and always can have a tremendous surplus.

The agricultural Midwest, always a poor relation of the industrial east, the oil-rich south and the mineral-rich west now has a chance to come into its own, by providing the ingredients for rubber.

By all means, let's make our own.

Something Different

Ord is a handsome small town. It is clean and neat, it has broad, straight streets. Not one curve in any Ord street can you find. It has miles of paving and our street cleaning corps keep that paving clean too: as clean as anyone could keep it when the Nebraska wind has its own violent ideas on the subject of whirling dirt.

Ord has some of the loveliest big shade trees. Here in the Ord Quizz area are several, an elm north of the office spreads itself beneficently, while maples with their high branches shade the east yard. Ord has flowers, think of the rose gardens we have. Dr. Blessing tends his roses as delicately as he touches an aching tooth. Ord has lilacs, rows of them that will soon flower like huge bunches of blossoms tucked into the lawns' prim green.

Ord has lawns, wonderful smooth velvety green ones. John Klein's lawn has been a show-lawn for years and it is still worth many a glance. Ord has hedges, all kinds. Frank Piskorski has a good waist-high hedge. The post office and schools have flourishing hedges. There are some neat little bitly ones and some of honeysuckle that make a background twelve feet high; Ord likes hedges.

Ord has gardens, gardens in rows straighter than any tough army sergeant could align. Green gardens, well hoed and watered, many of them charming as park flower beds.

Ord has an attractive square in the heart of her, atop which the courthouse keeps an eye on every comer and goer. Wary but dignified with elaborate trim of carving, this "edifice" makes a good backdrop for public speakers and for band concerts.

Band concerts, yes Ord has good ones. They have a definite part in the life of the town. Every Wednesday night all summer child after child is scrubbed and shoved into shoes "to go to the band concert". Nothing parallels it as a social force, unless it is the Saturday afternoon visiting done by farmers and their families on the streets and in the stores. The music is good and it is important, but so is the visiting and the purified atmosphere Ord citizens soak up.

Ord has had good music for fifty years and more, until Ord takes it as a matter of course. From early-day quartets and cantatas to present-day concerts and choirs, adults and children like to sing, blow, fiddle, pound, play or possibly only listen. Ord expects good music and Ord patronizes its musicales enthusiastically.

Buildings, Ord has some attractive facades. Quite a few newish stone buildings and fine brick ones line the square and nearby streets. More nice appearing buildings than most small towns have; if you don't believe it, go visiting!

Ord is a good town and a pretty town, as pretty as any town in the state. Perhaps we should send Guy Williams of Word-Herald an invitation to bring his wife and inspect us some Sunday afternoon.

Miss Beal, English teacher who spoke to rationing boards and county superintendents on April 22 at Lincoln, told many details of this work in England. Her speech was so interesting that you should learn what she said, thinks Ralph Norman: "Remember the United Kingdom is very little bigger than Nebraska, and such a small area can be well organized. In Britain every one carries an identity card, food rationing card, canned foods rationing card, clothing and gasoline rationing books.

In a week one person is rationed two ounces of tea, 1/2 lb. sugar, 1/4 lb. bacon, 2 pts. milk for adults, 1/2 lb. jam, 25c worth of meat in the week. Because of your lease-lend law, we are indebted to you for an extra pound of meat, for dried eggs and milk. Each person buying food may register at only one store, shopping is no lark. We shop first for rationed foods and then buy unrationed ones, but there aren't many of these. A supplementary book we were given for the month had 16 coupons.....it took 12 to get a half pound of canned salmon.

"We all get treated alike, for as Ernest Bevins says, "Before this war is over every man and woman will have to be in the forces or in the ranks of the workers." We are registering women from 17 to 45, married or single, for war efforts. Beauty parlor girls are told they work is not essential and they should find other jobs. Girls from 20 to 30 are being taken out of stores as clerks; war-working mothers leave their babies at nurseries all day paying 25c per day for their food. If the mother cannot pay, the food is free to these men and women of the future.

"We were not given advance notice of clothing rationing, it began next day, said the paper. There are no luxuries, only essentials. We are all getting shabby together. Food and clothing rationing is a means of putting everyone on the same footing.

"The government is the chief buyer and chief distributor of foods, meats especially. Anyone who kills a pig without the permission of the Ministry of Foods is guilty of an offense and fined accordingly, for we must have equality. Country people have to sell their produce to the government at a guaranteed price. If you have more than 50 hens you are registered as a poultry dealer and are issued feed for them. If you have less than 50 chickens you are not and cannot get feed for them. The government often retails this produce at a price below its cost of production.

"You are allowed one plain chocolate candy bar; the dime stores counters are no longer heaped with candy. Children spend their pennies on carrots. We have no candy, no ice cream, no cookies, no toys. There were only a few toys in the stores for Christmas this year; we are surely getting back to the good old-fashioned days. With clothing rationed we surely could not dress dolls.

"Salvage, we save everything. We have a real paper shortage, checks are now small size and bus tickets smaller. For two years newspapers have been single fold. There is no paper handkerchieves, and it is illegal to give wrapping paper. When we get a letter we open it carefully, buy labels to stick over the address and mail it back and forth.

"Cars are now standing jacked up and most of us think it is a pity we can't send our tires over here. After July of this year, the gasoline rationing will keep every private car off the road. Perhaps some doctors will be able to get a gasoline allowance; the rest of us in Britain can walk. We are a small country in war. We cannot indulge pleasure of that sort."

BACK FORTY

By J. A. Kovanda

Another spring cutworm epidemic appears to be in the offing. These worms are already chewing off barley plants in fields west of town, and they will probably do further damage after corn has been listed.

Each year the cutworms also do some injury to gardens. Tomato plants may be cut off repeatedly. One cutworm sometimes kills several plants in a single night.

A collar placed around each plant will keep the worm away. The collar should reach an inch above and an inch below the surface. It can be made out of tin or paper. Cutworms may also be gathered by hand, by digging around the plants.

When fields are damaged most farmers simply replant, taking a chance that the worms will mature and stop feeding before the second crop sprouts. But cutworms sometimes keep on eating until the middle of July. After taking all the plants in one row, they will quickly travel over the ridges to adjacent growth.

Cutworms are easier to poison than grasshoppers. The bait should be scattered in the evening and must contain molasses. Ordinary hopper bran is not so good for use against cutworms. Here is a good cutworm formula:

- Wheat Bran—100 pounds
- White Arsenic—5 pounds
- Blackstrap Molasses—2 quarts
- Water—1 gallon

Cutworms are the larvae of gray and brown moths or "millers" that become so numerous around our lights in the summer.

Plywood Strongest, Oldest

Do you know what is the strongest and most rigid material in the world, shock and fire resistant, lightest in weight and waterproof? It is plywood—a "sandwich" of wood and glue—which is finding ever increasing use in pre-fabricated houses, radio cabinets, airplane fuselages, luggage, jig-saw puzzles and truck bodies, among other products. But plywood is nothing new—at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York lies a mummy in a plywood casket made around 1900 B. C.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

The Bus Hughes family of Los Angeles but better known here in Ord, found a recent black-out in that city most inconvenient. You see, it happened while the brand new baby of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes was learning to nurse!

Now George Gutschaw has done it four times, since last week he has caught another of those five pound bass that are his specialty. How does he do it? How come they never weigh 3 1/2 or 5 1/2? Maybe he has a pet fish he throws back and re-hooks...no, that couldn't be it for the fish have been eaten!

Dean Barta is one who is trying hard to solve this problem. He comes home with fine strings of bluegills and rock bass, a dozen at a time, but can't get a five-pounder like his companion George does. Dean is quite bored with hanging around home waiting to be called to the army. Even if he is drawing $21 per month, he is like the little birdies and can't wait to learn to fly. He is going into the air corps you know.

Riding a bicycle is fascinating, but isn't a skill innate, it must be learned and the hard way at that. Adults have the bug to learn now as well as youngsters. The wife of one of our county officials goes out in her backyard and practices after dark, so you will never spy her. When you do, she'll be sailing down the street with the greatest of ease.

Two Ord strollers often glimpsed on our streets are Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Long. They really like to walk. By the way, did you know Mrs. Long was once-upon-a-time Miss Edna Lutz of Arcadia?

There seems to be some difference of opinion as to what is the proper procedure on the evening of May 1 when all the little boys and girls swap May baskets full of candy and flowers. Little boys run after one another to deliver, resounding smacks and hugs, if they are successful in catching the young person who hung the basket and ran. Little girls usually run hard too, else they are likely to be kissed. Little Patty Brown informed the world she kicked the ones she caught hanging May baskets at her door.

Vernon Andersen had more fun the evening of May 1 than most anyone. He sat in wait for cars that swooped up to bring the bearers of May baskets. When the car stopped, Vernie rushed forth from the house and soundly kissed the mama who was waiting behind the steering wheel. Vernie thinks his idea is the best one yet.

The costumes worn in the senior play Friday evening added about 200 per cent to the effect. The heroines were so charming in their borrowed finery. Beverly appeared first in the graduation gown worn by Mrs. L. D. Milliken once upon a time, and a pretty picture she made. Her second frock was an original composition, the white satin blouse of her mother and the skirt of Mrs. Milliken's wedding gown. Irene Aulse used a thin white flaxen gown with heavily embroidered skirt and top, borrowed from her grandmother, Mrs. C. S. Jones. Mary Miller's tophheavy hat once adorned her mother, but was worn with added plumes for a sufficiently grand effect.

Mystery: Who was Mrs. J. Dale Cooney, wife of the new Scotia superintendent of schools, before her marriage? Rumor says she formerly taught in Ord, but no one knows.

County Agent Notes

Leoti Sorghum for Industry.
Progress on using Leoti sorghum in the industrial production of starch to replace that cut off by the war was reported this week from the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

One large company has come to the conclusion that it can successfully use the product obtained from Leoti grain. County Agent Dale has been informed. They have asked the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station how much Leoti could be produced in Nebraska and have indicated that if an appreciable amount is available this fall that they will be willing to purchase all acceptable grain. No information, however, has been given as to the manner of purchase or the price that may be paid.

Only reasonably pure Leoti will yield the satisfactory starch. The "waxy character" is covered up and lost to all practical purposes. Only a chemical test will reveal whether a sample of Leoti is sufficiently free of non-waxy mixture to be suitable for starch manufacture.

Therefore, farmers having some Leoti are urged to immediately submit samples for chemical testing. The Agricultural Experiment Station at Lincoln will make this test free and Dale is collecting the samples and will submit them for farmers. It will be necessary to test 2,000 samples in order to locate enough satisfactory seed to plant 200,000 acres of the Leoti.

Agronomists at the College of Agriculture say also that if a farmer is planning to grow some forage sorghum anyway, he might as well plant an acceptable strain of Leoti. In this way, he will be satisfying his average requirements and will have some Leoti grain to sell, should the market materialize. Valley county farmers are urged to conserve their Leoti grain and have samples submitted immediately to see if it is pure.

Spray or Dust?

Decide early whether you are going to spray or dust for garden pests. The main idea is to get the proper spray or dust and apply it before the insect injury gains headway.

Advantages of spraying over dusting include:

1. Wet applications stick to foliage better than dust.
2. Usually fewer applications are needed.
3. Coverage is better if the wind is blowing.
4. There is less waste of materials.
- Advantages of dusting over spraying are:
 1. Less time is required for preparing the materials for use.
 2. A loaded duster is always ready for use at a moment's notice.
 3. A loaded duster is lighter than a loaded sprayer and is easier to handle.
 4. Dusting does not require a water supply or constant agitation.
 5. In general a duster costs less than a sprayer.
 6. Dust does a better job of killing aphids that attack low growing plants such as cucumbers, melons, and cabbage.

HEALTH HINTS FOR LIVESTOCK

DAIRY COW MASTITIS COSTS $100,000 LOSS

Eradication of infectious mastitis or garget from the nation's dairy herds would increase America's milk production 15 per cent without adding a single cow.

Each year this treacherous disease, usually due to germs of the streptococcus variety, takes a toll of more than 400 million dollars from dairymen in dead cows, spoiled udders and decreased milk production. In one leading agricultural state over 75 per cent of all herds now are affected by the disease. The acute form of mastitis is evidenced by high fever, loss of appetite, swelling, hardening and redness of the udder and, all too often, blood poisoning and death.

The chronic form, representing 95 per cent of all cases, may be so inapparent that no symptoms are visible. Chronic or so-called "carrier" cows are a real menace to the healthy cows of the herd, for they may transmit the causative germs by the hands of milkers, flies, contaminated milking machines and other means.

Fortunately veterinary science has discovered some very effective methods for control of mastitis. Even the most obscure chronic cases can be diagnosed by one or more methods. These comprise physical examinations of the udders, use of the strip cup, tests of the milk by certain dyes for color reactions, and laboratory cultural and microscopic examination of milk samples.

Strip cup testing for mastitis.

directly into the cistern of the udder. This may be dangerous unless done under the direct supervision of a competent veterinarian. The same rule applies to internal medication with sulfa drugs.

Immediate action by dairymen to check their herds and wipe out mastitis would be an immense forward step toward helping to meet our wartime quota of milk and milk products.

Big Crowd Enjoys "Charley's Aunt"

Nearly continuous titters, snickers, giggles and snorts of laughter Friday evening assured the seniors that they were delighting their public with that jolly play, "Charley's Aunt". Alex Cochrane made an exuberant aunt who galloped away with the play, with the rest of the cast in close pursuit. Aunt's wig of bobbing curls, her rollicking gait, her bouncing as she leaped ahead of two money-mad suitors tickled the crowd, for Alex played the part for all it was worth.

Brassett, the butler, was most properly played by Gould Flagg, who came in and went out stiff dozens of times. Eldon Wachter as Jack Chesney, a college student, was more than good in his part. Charles Wykeham was a gentlemanly college friend of his, done by Orel Koelling in a nice way. Lord Fancourt Babberley, the friend and female impersonator was Alex Cochrane, the irrepressible aunt.

Jerry Petska succeeded in looking and acting mature in the part of Jack's father, no small feat for a high school senior. And Jerry Fryzek was a capable Spettigue, the greedy, energetic London solicitor who was going to marry Auntie or else. Jerry went after her with real determination.

Leonard Kokes was a handsome Farmer, the servant, although it was a small part, and did it well. Mary Miller was believable as the real aunt from Brazil, where the nuts come from. She made a handsome and dignified aunt who was a perfect lady, in some contrast to the hilarious mock aunt. And Mary did an excellent piece of acting. Her pretty, luscious young orphan friend was well cast and played by Jean Velaba.

Maude, the snappish-tongued maid, another small part, was well done by Iryne Iwanski, loyal to her master indeed, and almost too pretty for the part. The two much loved young ladies were played by Irene Auble and Beverly Davis, and they were dainty and elegant in their delicate white gowns and pretty pink bonnets. Properly coy and victorian, the girls handled their speaking parts and their floor-sweeping gowns, fans, wee parasols and bustles with equal facility. Perhaps they did have a little trouble trying to sit down while encumbered by a bustle, but surely the two were attractive and happy in their roles.

It takes much work to produce a good, well-rounded play; much of the work is invisible. Thus, the stage crew was made up of Mary, Beverly, Irene Leonard and the public speaking class members. The properties were collected and cared for by Norma Radloff, Amelia Lolla, Betty Timmerman and Permillia Edwards, aided by the public speaking class.

Advertising and tickets were in the charge of the senior class. Norma Radloff was official prompter. Ushers, charmingly gowned in long dresses, were Misses Dorothy Albers, Yvonne Whiting, Jean Carlson, Frances Houtby, Dorothy Penas and Marie Kusek; each girl wore a matching corsage on her shoulder.

Particularly good music was furnished by Director Delnes and his high school orchestra before the play and between acts. Included in the selections presented were Hungarian Dance No. 8 by Brahms. Also enjoyed was Cozi Fan Tutti overture, by Mozart; Intermezzo, by Bizet; Gypsy Trail overture, and Bourée, by Bach.

Class sponsors for the seniors are Misses Frouty and Krebs. Director of the play and chief coach was Miss Wilma Shavlik, Ord's capable speech and dramatics teacher, who should be given much of the credit for one of the best plays ever heard in Ord.

Meat Pie With Pork and Veal, Topped With Biscuit Dough, a Favorite in Vogeltanz Home

Mrs. E. L. Vogeltanz is a well known Catholic housewife and the busy mother of three youngsters. She is equally well known to be a good cook, and so you will be eager to try this recipe for a fine, hot dinner.

MEAT PIE.

- 1 lb. lean pork
- 1 lb. lean veal or beef
- 1 medium onion
- 1 cup celery
- 1 cup carrots (optional)
- 3 tablespoons meat drippings or lard
- salt and pepper to season

Fry the cut up onion, celery and carrots in hot drippings, then add the meat which has been cut in small chunks, until brown. Remove the meat and vegetables and add one tablespoon drippings and add two tablespoons flour or a little more. Brown just a little, add cold water to make a thin gravy (two tablespoons cream added to the gravy makes it much nicer) then add meat and vegetables and bake slowly in a roaster about one hour. Arrange biscuits on top of meat and gravy and bake half an hour longer, increasing the heat. Any regular biscuit dough may be used.

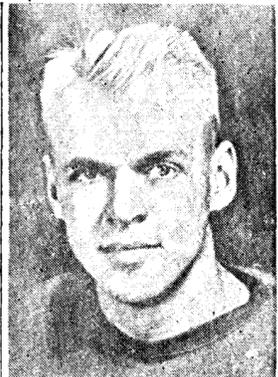

Marilyn Dale Chosen a Beauty Queen, Allen Zikmund an Innocent, at Ivy Day Ceremony

Ord can compete on nearly any basis.

Saturday evening in Lincoln an Ord daughter, Miss Marilyn Dale, was presented as one of the six beauty queens of the campus. Marilyn is the golden-haired, blue-eyed, peach-skinned daughter of County Agent and Mrs. Carl Dale, who is attending the University of Nebraska. A junior, Marilyn is a member of Chi Omega sorority. Her picture will appear in the new Cornhusker, university yearbook. A student in arts and sciences, she is majoring in English.

... they call her Lynn Dale at University of Nebraska.

... brought fame to Ord in California's Rose Bowl.

The same day an Ord youth at the same school was tapped an innocent, honorary society for junior men of worth, 13 of whom are selected each spring. This was Allen Zikmund, the tall blonde, blue-eyed football and track star, who has been bringing Ord nationwide publicity for several years. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zikmund, Allen is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity. He has worked hard all the way through school, where he continues to make good grades at teachers' college; he expects to be a coach if his naval reserve officership does not become effective first.

Honoring Mothers.

Mothers were guests at a delightful dinner party Saturday evening at the Presbyterian church basement when the Soangetaha girls acted as hostesses, and earned a birthday honor. With a home defense theme, the girls marked each of the 30 places with red, white and blue scrolls. For a centerpiece, American flags were grouped, and logs trimmed in the same colors held red candles up and down the long tables. Tiny airplane favors were made of stick candy and gum wrapped in red while the programs were of blue. The girls themselves planned and did every bit of the affair, shopping, preparing a balanced menu for 20c per plate, serving, clearing tables and bookkeeping.

Misses Shirley Anderson and Marilyn Ollis were the official hostesses; Carol Johnson and Irene Johnson headed menu committees, arranging for tomato juice cocktail, individual meat loaves with buttered peas, a spring salad platter, cloverleaf rolls with butter and grape jam, and strawberry ice cream and milk.

Mary Travis was chairman of tables and decorations; Monica Gnaster chairman of favors assisted by a group wanting to earn a handicraft honor. Dot Kokes presided at the after-dinner program, 15 girls taking part to qualify for Fire Maker's rank. Each member gave a two-minute talk on some phase of Campfire work, three of them on fortifying the family through fun, service and food; seven of them talked on topics in Fire Maker's requirements; three of them and the guardian spoke on good citizenship in the future. The program was: "Hurrah for the Fun" by Shirley Anderson; "Hurrah for Our Home" by Joan Blemond; "Hurrah We Eat" by Marilyn Parks; "Help, Help" (first aid) by Wilma Joyce Achen; "The Minute Man" (thrift) by Marilyn Ollis; "The Stout Heart" (health) by Irene Johnson; "God's Country" (nature) by Norma Long; "Ten Minutes, Please" (interview) by Mary Travis; "Oompa" (personality) by Marianne Russell; "Around the Fire" (camping) by Verda Munn; "Facing the Future" (careers) Shirley Martin; "True Blue" (citizenship) Monica Gnaster; "The Sign" (symbolism) Carol Johnson and "The Awards" by Mrs. E. L. Kokes.

Mrs. Olsson told of the foundation of Mother's day and the symbolism of the white carnation bouquet on the table. Mrs. Mark Tolen sang accompanied by Mrs. Syl Furtak, Mrs.

Olsson gave two readings and Mrs. Wilmer Anderson provided music.

The tea table was beautifully arranged at the south end of the big basement room, with crystal candlesticks, pastel tapers and pastel tulips. Mrs. H. E. McClure, president of Esther circle, poured tea. At the opposite end of the room Mrs. Leonard Parks was in charge of the bazaar display and sale.

Three Ord People Seeking First Aid Instructor's Rank

Mrs. Mortensen, Misses McClatchey and Iwanski Drive to Burwell Each Night.

Three graduates of the advanced first aid course of Red Cross work, Miss Clara McClatchey, Miss Sylvia Iwanski and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, are working like beavers this week. They drive to Burwell each evening for a three-hour class under Instructor or Carl Owen of St. Louis, which is being given May 4 to 9 inclusive. Students from several towns are also present, representing five counties, and will try to qualify as instructors.

In the past week Dr. J. N. Round gave an intensive course of study to 12 advanced students of first aid. They met five evenings for two hours per session, those present being Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Randolph, Miss Clara McClatchey, Miss Sylvia Iwanski, Miss Myrtle Auble, Miss Arletta Robinson, Miss Dolores Redfern, Miss Daisy Hallen, Miss Lois Finley. Completing this course satisfactorily made this group eligible for the instructors' course at Burwell.

Graduates of the instructors' course, when authorized by the Red Cross, may then conduct First Aid courses themselves. In this way it is hoped to relieve some of the pressure on the doctors who have so kindly donated much of their energy and time. Mr. Owen taught a similar class in Loup City last week, finishing there Friday evening, says Mrs. Mark Tolen, local chairman of this division.

In war time, with the supply of doctors and nurses growing less each week, it is a patriotic duty to take first aid courses. The government urges every citizen to enroll, and be able to serve when necessary. The group of 12 who took the advanced class are to be commended for their fine civic spirit. Dr. Round begins teaching a First Aid class at Arcadia next Monday. About 30 have signed for the course, which will be given in the back part of the Ramsey drug store at eight o'clock that evening.

Arlo Bryan Foreman at Guayule Factory. From Pacific Grove, Calif., comes an interesting letter from Mrs. Andrew Jacobsen, former resident of Ord and St. Paul, including a little magazine devoted to the guayule industry which is a flourishing one in California now. Guayule, a Mexican shrub, is being planted extensively as a substitute for rubber. Mrs. Jacobsen says her son-in-law, Arlo Bryan, formerly of North Loup, is a foreman in charge of the cleaning machines at a big guayule plant located at Salinas, Calif. Seed for new plantings is cleaned in these machines, she says. Experts of the U. S. forest service are sowing 22,000 pounds of guayule seed on 750 acres, which by next January is expected to provide enough seedlings to plant 75,000 acres. At the age of four years, guayule shrubs will produce 1,000 pounds of rubber per acre. About half that much is produced if the crop is harvested when the shrubs are one year old. Anxious to harvest as much rubber as possible in the shortest time, the U. S. is planting two or three times the normal number of seedlings per acre and will harvest in one year thereby expecting to get 1,500 or 2,000 pounds per acre. Mrs. Arlo Bryan is the former Evelyn Jacobsen, who has many friends in Ord and in Mira Valley.

Serg't Severson on Radio, Buys War Bond. Sergeant Richard R. Severson son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Severson of Ord, had the rare honor last week of taking part in a radio broadcast along with Maj. Gen. Roy C. Heflbower, commander of the military training replacement center at Camp Barkley, Tex., and also of stepping up behind Gen. Heflbower to buy the second war bond in that camp of 7,000 officers and men. In his radio talk Sergeant Severson said: "Because these United States savings bonds will help me re-establish myself in civil life and to make a down payment on a home after the war, and because our country needs the financial support of every soldier and citizen, as well as of every citizen which we in the army freely offer, and because we want to show our comrades who are now in battle that we are doing our part to pay for the tools of war while we are getting ready to complete victory, I am happy to make this application for pay reservation for the purpose of buying defense savings bonds." Sergeant Severson has been in the army since November 1940, first as an air cadet and later in his present position. He is in line for appointment to an officers' training school, Ord friends say. As an Ord high school student young Severson was a versatile athlete, made a good scholastic record and was one of the most popular boys in school.

Rudolph Lorenzen, of Sargent, who was operating the diesel engine on the float.

Mr. Poland, who was personally supervising pumping and hauling operations, went to the other float about a hundred yards up the river to get a boat. He told Lloyd Kranz to stand on shore and toss him a rope when he drifted past, and said he would attach the rope to the float and they could then pull the float to shore to make repairs on the broken hose.

Kranz warned him not to use the boat, which leaked badly, but Poland said he thought he could make it all right, and embarked in the frail craft.

When he was about 25 yards above the float on which the engine and pump were located, and approximately fifty yards from the shore where Lloyd Kranz was waiting with the rope, Kranz heard Poland call for help.

"Help! I'm sinking!" he shouted, according to Kranz. Flood-lights usually used in the pumping operations were not working, according to Kranz, and he could see Poland only dimly but saw him struggling in the water. Apparently the boat had sunk under him.

The water there is about 25 feet deep, the men estimate. They knew Poland could not swim and, moreover, he was dressed in heavy clothes, as the night was chilly.

Lloyd Kranz, a good swimmer, jumped into the water fully clothed and tried to go to his assistance, but the current was swift and there was a strong undertow and he had to give it up, making his way back to the bank with difficulty. Lorenzen also jumped into the water from the float but could not reach the point where Poland went under in time to be of any assistance. Their efforts were impeded by the darkness, icy water and depth of the pit at that point.

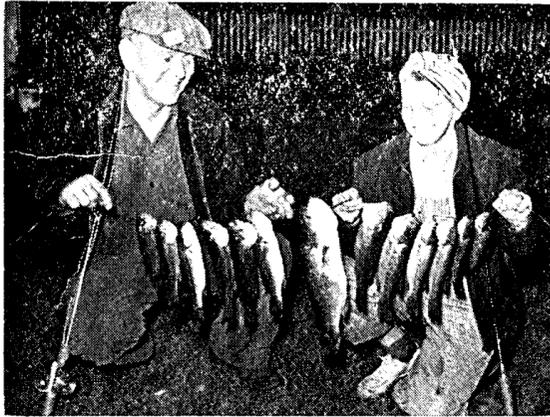

Another gravel truck driver Harry Kranz, had just come off duty and was on his way to the cook-shack after a cup of hot coffee and he also heard Poland call for help.

Mrs. Poland, cook for the pumping crew, also was in the cook-shack. Besides his wife, Mr. Poland leaves four small children.

Members of the gravel crew went to Elyria to summon help and the Ord fire department was notified, several members including Chester Austin, Mark Tokan, Vernon Andersen, Forrest Worm, Elwin Dunlap and others went to Elyria at once, taking the department's rescuicator in the hope they could revive Mr. Poland if his body could be recovered promptly. L. J. Auble took his boat and outboard motor to the gravel pit to assist in the search.

It was soon decided that nothing could be done until daylight and in the meantime

Champion Nimrods Are Ord People, the Duemeys

Expert fishermen for black bass are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duemey, pictured here with the ten bass and a few bluegills they caught Sunday at Lake Ericson. Largest bass was a 3 1/2 pounder caught by Mrs. Duemey. The others average 1 1/2 pounds each. The Duemeys have made several good catches this season.

the Grand Island fire department, experienced in rescue work, was notified and Chief C. C. Campbell and an assistant John Thavenet, arrived about 8:30 with grappling hooks. Boats from Burwell and Broken Bow also were brought to the pit.

Dragging of the deep gravel pit continued all morning without result. At noon the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district was asked to close headgates of the Burwell dam to the fullest extent possible, to decrease flow of the river, and this was done but dragging failed to bring Poland's body to the surface in the afternoon. Toward evening the gravel pump was started in operation in the belief that Poland's body might be held at the bottom of the river by sand washing over it, and that the suction of the pump might loosen the sand and permit the body to wash to the surface. The search continued until midnight when a heavy rain storm forced cessation of operations, but dragging was again started at an early hour Tuesday morning.

The boat to which Poland was clinging when last seen was found at daylight Monday about one-fourth mile below the Elyria bridge but a search of the river for a mile or two below the bridge failed to reveal Poland's body. Tuesday morning Sheriff George Round started four WPA workers, two on each side of the river, on a trip along the river bank to Ord.

These men, George Watson, Leonard Christoffersen, Jim Janicek and Don Wampole, reached Ord about 3:30 Tuesday afternoon, soaking wet from the rain which fell most of the day. They saw nothing of Poland's body, they reported to Sheriff Round.

Tuesday afternoon some of the Ord firemen made a search of the river by boat between the Elyria bridge and the Frank Masin farm about 4 miles down the river, also without result.

Holding to the belief Poland's body is in the gravel pit where he drowned, gravel company employees continued pumping sand most of the day Tuesday.

Sand drifts into the pit rapidly, they say, and it is likely the body is buried by sand in the bottom. If the pump is stopped for a day and a night, these men say, it takes three hours to pump out the accumulated sand and get down to the gravel deposits again, and since Poland disappeared the pump has not been in operation most of the time, so his associates think it is probable the body is in the bottom of the pit covered with sand to a depth of several feet.

At different places in the vicinity of the pit there are deposits of quick sand, these men say, and Poland's body may have been sucked into a bed of quick sand in which event it may never be recovered.

Heavy rains much of the time since the drowning Sunday night have made the search difficult and also have kept the river at a high stage, so officials concede there is a possibility that Poland's body drifted downstream more rapidly than expected and that it may be found later at some point below Ord where no search has been made.

Gelow Cottage Burns Sunday at Cullen Lake

Ord friends were sad Wednesday morning to hear that the lovely Minnesota cottage of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Gelow of Grand Island which was only last year entirely remodeled, burned to the ground Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Gelow arrived at Cullen Lake Sunday morning. It was cold and they built a little fire. They were tired and took a nap, awakening to a strong smoke smell. They had time to get out of the cottage themselves, but not much more. They saved only their boat and motor and some carpenter tools the doctor liked to work with. Mrs. Gelow reached in through a bedroom window and pulled out what bedding she could grab. Gelows had taken their luggage into the house, and were left in the clothes they had on their backs.

Last summer Gelows built a good big addition, making a living room walled and celled in knotty pine, a fine fireplace of handsome rock, a handy little bathroom and shower room, a nice bedroom in addition to the kitchen. Mrs. Gelow worked weeks landscaping the grounds and decorating the interior of the house beautifully. In the past year Dr. Gelow has retired from the Grand Island clinic because of his health, and this year they went north early to enjoy their cosy home and the climate. A clogged flue or something similar is thought to have caused the fire.

Paint on the north end of the Simpson cottage was blistered, but water thrown on it by neighbors kept the Simpson cottage from taking fire. A rain of several days duration was all that kept the bad fire from starting a forest fire on the east shore of Cullen.

Rural Track Meet Held at Valleyside

Friday the four rural high schools in the county held a demonstration and field meet at the Valleyside school. This county formerly had ten of these schools and since about 1922 each spring they have had a track meet. This year the teachers decided to make this a combination demonstration and track meet and the teachers of the four schools conducted the scholastic events in the morning and in the afternoon George Bell had charge of the track events.

The morning was given over to demonstrations of reading and penmanship. The arithmetic, geography, current events, and Latin were conducted after the manner of an old-fashioned spell down. In the third and fourth grades Billy Palser of Davis Creek won in three rounds and Everett Lech of Elyria in one. In Fifth and Sixth grade Louise Ruzicka of Elyria won two rounds and Charlene Palser of Davis Creek won two rounds. In the seventh and eighth grades Richard Golka of Elyria ciphered everyone down.

In geography Lyle Flynn of Haskell Creek was winner and Lyle Foth of Valleyside spelled everyone down by proving himself the best informed on the national alphabet, USO, RAF, etc. Dorothy Zulkoski of Elyria won the Latin spell down.

In track races and jumps the winners were as follows: Girls 50 yard dashes won by Delma Miska of Haskell Creek, Eleanore Jablonski, Elyria, and Mildred Athey, Davis Creek. Boys' 50 yard dashes were won by Richard Peterson, Valleyside, Irwin Zulkoski, Elyria, Gerald Valasek, Davis Creek, Everett Lech, Elyria. Boys' 100 yard dash was won by Richard Peterson, Valleyside.

Both the boys' and girls' relay races were won by teams from Elyria; girls' three-legged races were won by Vietta Miska and Alberta Scott of Haskell Creek and by Carolyn Foth and Louise Bredthauer of Valleyside; boys' three-legged race was won by a team from Haskell Creek, Ferrol Hopkins and Dwight Brown.

Boys' running high jumps were won by Irwin Zulkoski and Irwin Iwanski of Elyria and Ferrol Hopkins of Haskell Creek; running broad jumps were won by Richard Golka of Elyria and Frederick Schaeffer of Valleyside; standing high jump won by Carol Williams of Davis Creek and standing broad jump by Richard Peterson of Valleyside; Eleanore Jablonski of Elyria won the girls' running high jump.

There was a good attendance at the meet in spite of cold, disagreeable weather and everyone enjoyed a cafeteria lunch at noon.

More Important That Captain Doesn't Go Down With Ship... Morale of Nation to Be Noted at Election Time...

WASHINGTON—This business of the captain going down with his ship has got to stop. About 90-odd times out of a hundred it is more important to save the captain than to save any other person aboard—man, woman or child, the old doctrine of "women and children first" to the contrary notwithstanding.

It is just another case of the war turning ordinary things upside down. In normal maritime life there is an oversupply of captains. Many men with masters' papers are working as first, second, and sometimes even third mates, just to get a job.

But too many men capable of navigating ships—of directing them safely from one port to another—of acting quickly in emergencies—of maneuvering a ship, for instance, under torpedo or bomb attack—are being killed.

Admiral Emory S. Land of the maritime commission is crying aloud for a speed up in ship construction, so that the lifeline to Britain can be kept in operation.

He is absolutely right, and should be getting more vigorous backing when he runs up against certain difficulties, particularly of the union labor variety.

But it is also necessary to have men capable of commanding those ships. It would seem that the problem of crews was just as vital, but the business of running ships, for the period of the war anyway, has turned to mass production methods.

It is not quite as simple as an assembly line, but it approaches it. The idea of each man being trained to do just one thing, almost as simple as tightening a bolt, is carried out in essential.

Maritime Schools Helped Nor is the maritime commission to be criticized for the shortage in competent captains. It established schools several years ago, and really has done a pretty good job in training young men as navigators. So far as the engineers are concerned, most of the new ships have the old reciprocating engines, which means that almost any man who has had any experience whatever with engines, in saw mills, on farms, in small plants, can learn very quickly to perform the necessary duties.

Firemen present even an easier problem. Many owners of office buildings have been learning this to their embarrassment, for men whose only experience has been turning valves in oil-burning heating units of big buildings are now working on ships, with much better pay, of course, as should be the case in view of the terrible risk.

Incidentally, there is no disposition anywhere to criticize the pay schedules of the men who go down to the sea in ships these days. Some of the union rules have caused problems, but these related more to the question of interfering with a proper flow of recruits than to wages.

Most of the torpedoes of merchant ships off the Atlantic coast have not been as heavy in their toll of human lives as in naval warfare, where in so many instances—the cruiser Houston and the battle cruiser Hood for instance—there were practically no survivors.

But something ought to be done to impress everybody that it is a military necessity—vital to the winning of the war—to save the captain if possible. Men can be trained fairly quickly in navigation, but there is tremendous value in the experience which guides a good captain in emergencies.

And there is not only the lifeline to Britain to be kept open—there is the much longer one to Australia!

Coming Elections Will Show National Unity

Between now and the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November the American people will give a demonstration of national unity which will make all this talk about morale building seem rather silly.

The prediction is simply this: No member of the house or senate will be defeated because he was strongly in favor of the war, or prosecuted it vigorously, and of never agreeing to peace until victory is achieved.

No candidate against any sitting member of the house or senate, either in primary or convention will be nominated or elected because he advocates quitting—on any terms whatever.

Now if this prediction were made as to a majority of the seats to be filled it would be important. To look back into history, Abraham Lincoln had to make a tremendous fight to prevent his own defeat, in 1864.

Social and Personal

To Greeley Dinner.

The 8 et 40 organization and their husbands met at Greeley Wednesday evening for dinner and a party. Those who went from Ord to be guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wiegardt, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hill.

Methodists Honor Mothers.

Wednesday afternoon at the church basement the ladies of the Methodist church met in regular session, Mrs. Evert Smith president, in charge. Following a business hour, mothers of the church were honored, particularly those over 60. Mrs. Maude Cochran arranged the program, at which Carolyn Auble played the clarinet numbers which won her acclaim at the music contest recently. Mrs. Mark Tolen sang two songs, and Mrs. Farley lead the devotions, taking mothers in the Bible as her topic. Mrs. Cochran spoke of the origin and founding of the day. Mrs. Smith wished the honor guests a welcome, as they were seated at the tea table.

The table itself was charming, all in white. Decorations were arranged of white lilies, white tulips and white carnations, the carnations given to the mothers as favors. Mrs. J. R. Stoltz was in charge of the serving for the afternoon.

Mary Miller's Birthday.

Saturday evening at the C. J. Miller home Miss Mary was the guest of honor, the happy occasion being her 17th birthday. Dinner guests were Misses Irene Auble, Darlene Carlson, Elizabeth Kovanda and Myrtle Auble. Afterwards the girls went to the movies.

Luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. William Bartlett was hostess Tuesday at a one o'clock luncheon to the Ord Pinocchio club. High score was earned by Mrs. Guy LeMasters, low score by Mrs. Joe Dworak, and the travelling prize by Mrs. Ray Meila. The next meeting will be with Mrs. James Fetka, says the club reporter, Mrs. Will Misko.

Legion Groups Meet.

Girls of the Junior Auxiliary held a regular meeting on Monday evening, with nine members present. Plans were made to have a tea for their mothers some time in May. Ice cream and cookies were the refreshments.

Ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening at their rooms, Mrs. Keith Lewis the presiding officer. Plans were made for the annual Mother's Day tea for the mothers of veterans, to be given sometime in May. The nominating committee appointed, included Mrs. Frank Fajeta, Mrs. Emil Fajeta and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen, and elections will be held at the next meeting, in June. Mrs. Lewis appointed Mrs. Forrest Johnson to be chairman of the poppy day sale on May 23. Refreshments were served by Miss Wilda Chase and Mrs. Horace Travis. Mrs. Archie Geweke the third lady of the committee, the Legionnaires joining the ladies for the social hour and the food.

American Legion men of Ord met Tuesday evening, with James Gilbert presiding. A discussion of air raid wardens and their work was held, as Legion posts are taking over these duties all over the United States. A warden will go from Valley county to one of the Nebraska schools, either the one at North Platte or the one at Lincoln, but has not been appointed yet by county defense chairman Klima. These schools will be taught by the three Nebraska men who attend the national air warden school soon.

Committees were appointed for Decoration Day and will begin work at once, says post commander Gilbert. After the business session, a brief program was given. Norma Radloff sang accompanied by Amelia Lola. Miss Carolyn Auble played a clarinet solo, with her mother accompanying at the piano. E. L. Vogelanz gave a dandy talk on citizenship, morale, the duties of an American. Attendance at the meeting was average. Cecil Wardrop was present for the first time in many months, and got a hearty welcome.

Children Buy War Stamps.

The little children are trying to help with the war, and are buying stamps week after week. Miss Inez Swain, principal, reports the Ord grade school total at $209.35 this week. Of this, the kindergartners have bought $12.30, the first graders $16.50, the second grade $12.70 from Miss Neitzel, the second grade from Miss Swain $13.80, the third grade $46.95, fourth grade $20.60, fifth grade $29.05 and sixth grade $57.45.

The youngsters are enjoying the new pictures for visual education very much. Subjects the older children look at are Pacific coast states, scattered lands beyond the Nile. The younger children are pleased with pictures of farm animals, children of foreign lands, public helpers. These new pictures were recently purchased by Superintendent Thompson.

The thank-you notes of English refugee children for their little good-will boxes were passed around and appreciated.

Three achievement tests in silent reading gave gratifying results in all grades, the children seem to be doing splendidly. These were a new kind of test, says Miss Swain.

LaVerne Verzal, little second grade pupil, is still in Grand Island in the hospital. He has had a time with appendicitis and a throat operation, but is coming along all right now. Jackie Beck was absent several days last week, visiting his grandparents with his mother.

Miss Neitzel's students had an interesting nature study when a big robin moth broke its cocoon for them. It was a beauty and other grades enjoyed it too.

April the War Month Participation of the United States in four great wars began in the month of April, namely: the Revolutionary war, the Civil war, the Spanish-American war, and the World war.

Blame the AXIS

As you know the government is rationing sugar, and that of course means we are rationed.

It is our aim, as the aim of all good Americans, to do our part to help win the war, so that in the future we can continue business as usual.

We will be forced to refuse orders for special items using a large amount of sugar. Please consider our position in this matter.

It will be our policy to try and make the best, at the lowest possible price considering conditions.

Don't blame us if your rolls and cakes are iced very thin.

Remember the people of the Axis Powers do not even have the cake or rolls.

Here are some increases we have had forced upon us:

- Flour 50% — Shortening 80%
- Pineapple 70%—and hard to get.
- Cococanut 200% — and hard to get.
- Marshmallow Powder 350%—and hard to get.
- Dates 250%—Also hard to get.
- Wrapping Paper and Boxes 90%.
- Nut Meats 30%—Honey 100%—and hard to get.

These are only a few items, so again we say, Don't Blame Us!

Remember we will be here doing our best to please you. So please be considerate and to help conserve tires, buy from your home bakery.

The labor committees appointed some time ago have selected a representative in each town to look after this work. In Ord it is Robert Noll of Noll Seed Co. In Arcadia it is Harold Weddel of Weddel Hardware, and in North Loup it is P. E. Clement of the North Loup Loyalist. We believe these to be three very good selections, and if the workers and those needing laborers will cooperate we believe that this will prove to be a real help to both parties. We urge all to cooperate and make it a real success.

Remember the car for scrap iron is still on the Union Pacific track. This will probably be the last car we sponsor until after harvest, so bring it in now!

We have noticed several cribs of sealed corn where the paper roofing has either torn or blown off leaving the corn exposed to the weather. This is the borrower's responsibility and in case of loss due to damage the borrower is stuck. We would like to have every borrower who has used paper roofing to inspect his crib and make the proper repairs.

Sweet Potato Flour

Several young chemists in Mississippi looked sadly at field after field of surplus sweet potatoes left rotting in the ground. Then they put their heads together and produced an inexpensive sweet-potato flour that makes light, fluffy, golden-brown loaves and cakes. After testing the loaves the chemists announced that the new flour was a high-carbohydrate food, rich in vitamins.

Four Little Kittens and How They Grew ..A Story for Kiddies and Maybe for You

Once upon a time a dark haired lady with a happy smile lived in Valley county four or five miles from a nice little town called Ord. This lady had a good many pretty alley cats that she fed and petted, and these cats ran around the barnyard and caught mice in the fields near the house. This kind woman discovered that with a bit of food for bait and a pleasant voice and a little patience she could teach these cats to do what she asked them.

Before long she had a prettier cat, a handsome fellow named Peaches. Peaches was a Persian with a fine coat of yellow and long silky hair. He had nice intelligent eyes, too. When kind Mrs. John Koll held a piece of meat and offered it to him, Peaches would model for her. He would sit down on his hind legs and wait for the meat without snapping or batting his paw. He could hold still a long time.

Peaches became smarter and smarter, as Mrs. Koll taught him new tricks. He would stay in the place she put him for hours, unless she gave him permission to move. Mrs. Koll dressed him in all kinds of costumes, and Peaches liked that too. Peaches would sit in the little child's chair and eat his dinner. He also learned to play ball. And when he wanted to go out doors, Peaches would jump up on top of the sewing machine and give the doorknob a rattle that could be heard all over the house. Then Mrs. Koll would come at once and open the door for him.

When Peaches was a year old, another pretty cat called Cinderella joined the household. Cinderella was nearly all black just a few specks of orange showing in her long shiny coat. She too liked to do tricks. After while Cinderella had two kittens and they were called Priscilla and Penny. Priscilla was a handsome orange cat, Penny a combination of black and orange, very attractive indeed, and both of them are now seven months old and have learned many tricks. But none of them can do as many cunning tricks as old Peaches, who is now three years old.

Before she feeds them Mrs. Koll always asks the four cats to do something for her, usually to sit up on a little chair with their feet over the back of it. They like to do tricks and learn more rapidly than alley cats, says their mistress. A Persian cat learns a new trick in a week.

All these cute tricks please

Mrs. Koll's children and their friends. Audrey, who is in high school and her little brother Jack, who goes to a rural school nearby, often entertain their friends with a cat show. There are a dozen or more cats on the Koll farm and all of them can do something that is fun to see.

LaVern Duemey, the Quiz photographer, laughed so much at these kittens that he thought you would like to see them too. Do you?

If too much material is used, however, it merely serves as a refuge for mice who gnaw the bark of the trees. NORTH LOUP

WRITTEN BY MRS. ETHEL HAMER

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Van Horn, Mrs. Hazel Cook of Marshalltown, Ia., and Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Van Horn of Washington, D. C., arrived Friday evening to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. White and other friends and relatives.

About forty ladies from the different churches of the village were present at the inter-denominational May missionary luncheon Wednesday at the Methodist church. Tables were centered with bouquets of spring flowers and place cards were gay colored watercolor cards bearing the message, "Man planted, Apollo watered but God gave the increase." The theme of the program was "God's Gardens" and was opened with group singing led by Mrs. Edward Christensen. Mrs. Clarence Switzer gave her most interesting talk on gardens of the Bible which was filled in with musical numbers. Mrs. Nels Jorgensen sang a solo as did Mrs. H. J. Hoepfner and Mrs. Albert Babcock gave a flannel board sermon, "In the Garden" with Mrs. George Gowen and Mrs. Erlo Babcock singing. Even though a number present had heard Mrs. Switzer's talk previously, all enjoyed it and marvel at the amount of work and study she must have used in its preparation which she says has covered a period of eight years. The high school girls octette sang two numbers, "Ave Marie" and "Colors". The committee in charge of the luncheon were Mrs. Ben Nelson, Mrs. Alvin Tucker, Mrs. Vere Leonard, Mrs. Erlo Babcock and Mrs. Edward Christensen.

Mrs. W. J. Hemphill was hostess at a tea Thursday afternoon which had been arranged by Mrs. Inez Burrows, Valley county AAA fieldwoman. "Food for Freedom and Enduring Peace" was the subject of the program. Mrs. Calla Peterson of Loup City, a member of Ars Poetica, gave two original poems. Mrs. Hemphill spoke on "Our Spiritual Life", Mrs. Switzer on "Food and Morale". Mrs. Leola Runyan of Mason City led a panel discussion on "Women in Peace" which was summed up by Mrs. Esther Raasch, state fieldwoman. Alice Meyers played two piano solos at the beginning of the program and during the program Mrs. H. J. Hoepfner sang "Trees" and Joe and Phyllis Babcock gave a selection. Tea and wafers were served by Mrs. Hemphill and Mrs. Burrows.

Mrs. Esther Burrows, Mrs. Leola Runyan and Mrs. Calla Peterson were lunch guests of Mrs. Inez Burrows Thursday.

Clarence Bresley was able to come home from the hospital in Grand Island Wednesday, his brother, Bert Bresley, bringing him home.

Mrs. Mary Davis and daughter, Mary were home from Doniphan over the week end.

Mrs. Jacob John came down from Ord on the Saturday evening bus and went to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Veleba.

Otto Bartz drove to Loup City Saturday afternoon to take Velma Jackson to a Sherman county teachers meeting.

With Mrs. Harold Fisher as chairman of the committee from the junior mothers, the junior-senior banquet was served on Thursday at the Seventh Day Baptist church. Nineteen seniors were guests of honor of the seventeen juniors. Faculty members and their wives were also guests. Patriotic decorations made the room beautiful indeed. Red, white and blue streamers divided off the large room, making a small reception hall where the guests waited in the front and a serving room to the rear of the room. Snowy covered tables were decked with flowers, a brace of flags and red, white and blue candles. The menu too was patriotic, consisting of Dawsn Early Light, What so proudly we halled, Mess, Stars, Home of the Brave, Stripes, Land of the Free, and Old Faithful. This translated made an excellent meal of fruit cocktail, meat loaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, creamed peas, gelatine salad, red time and blue ice cream with angel food cake and coffee. The program was the Stars and Stripes Forever, with success to the seniors the theme. Key Babcock, as junior president, gave the Salute to the seniors, while Mary Babcock answered with Tally Ho. Marion Maxson sang an Aria, Mrs. Elley gave a Reading, and Frances Goodrich sang a song. Miss Baugh, who was faculty sponsor for the juniors gave a speech, Mr. Wills, a talk, Dale Mulligan the reading of the will. Mr. Johnson sang an interlude, Lucienne Fisher read the prophecy, while Joan Barber elevated advice. All joined in singing the national anthem. The girls dressed in their pastel shaded formals and the boys in their very best, added to the beauty of the picture. The occasion was one that will long be remembered by both seniors and juniors. Last year the banquet was held at the school house but the rooms there are being used this year for the hot lunch program so were not available.

Hazel Stevens and Wayne Barber, Mary Frances Manchester and Willard Stowell and Mrs. Glen Barber accompanied Miss McClatchey to Grand Island on Saturday to attend the spelling contest. Neither boy placed in the contest but enjoyed the day very much. Willard went down in the seventh round and Wayne followed in the eighth.

Other guests of Rev. and Mrs. Wagner over the week end were Mrs. Wagner's parents and brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. August Barkemeyer, Leroy and Louise, and a cousin, Miss Elvira Bachs, all of Treloar, Mo.

Mrs. Gus Eislle left Monday afternoon on the bus for Everett, Wash., where she will join her husband and they will remain indefinitely with their children. Mr. Eislle went several weeks ago.

A family dinner honoring Mrs. Minnie Jontz was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Fanny Weed. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Establishment of Price Control Plan Emphasizes Need for All-Out Effort; War Office Spokesmen Propose Plan To Eliminate Class '3' Draft Group

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Planning their battle strategy, members of the Allied War council sit in a conference at Canberra, the capital of Australia. Left to right: Maj. Gen. Richard Sutherland, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, J. A. Curtin, prime minister of Australia, and A. W. Fadden, former prime minister and present member of the war council.

CEILINGS: Cover Nation

The setting of price ceilings on practically every conceivable commodity in the country had been expected by the business world, hence it was received with little shock.

The impact on the public had been terrific, however, and it is certain that business men were surprised at the drastic rules to be adopted by Leon Henderson to put "teeth" into the price control plan.

Henderson had made it "life or death" for business by a very simple procedure. He proposed licensing all retailers and wholesalers, and if found violating a single one of the price ceilings, they would face an instant loss of their license to do business.

This was a form of control which was not familiar to anyone living in this country, in fact without parallel in history, and it fell on the business ear with a sickening thud, and the merchant could now say "I know what it is to be at war."

German and Italian commentators picked this up gleefully, and called it a terrific blow "to the American way of life" as indeed it was, and the President promptly and frankly had admitted it.

The American answer was, however, that the American way of life was but being placed in abeyance for the time being, pending the winning of the war, when it would be back again in full flower once more.

The sugar commercial users had turned out in force to register, and the nation was on the threshold of the rationing of this commodity.

Restaurants were planning to meet the shortage by changing their cookery and bills of fare; ice cream makers were going to have to shorten their output, the candy makers were in for a tough time.

But in general the spirit was excellent, and while there was some talk of a growing "black market" in tires, and the nation was going to have to cope with that sort of thing, Henderson's penalties were expected to be sufficient to meet the need, and the future was being faced with a good heart by the rank and file of the country, whether consumer or producer, whether buyer or seller.

ARMY: Dependency

An effort to get into uniform larger numbers of men with dependents, on the ground that men with somebody at home to fight for ought to make as good if not better fighters than any, was being made by the army with the suggestion that allowances ought to be made for men with dependents who are with the armed forces.

This was a revolutionary idea, but its proponents declared it was just as sound as the reverse procedure, which gave a man exemptions from his income tax for dependents.

Selective service leaders pointed out that Class 3 was the largest class in the entire draft, and this was the class they should eliminate.

Allowances for dependents, they said, would accomplish this.

The spokesmen for the war department had been Maj. William S. Richards, and Maj. Francis V. Keesling of the selective service system.

Keesling had said: "Sixty-five per cent of all registrants are in Class 3. In our planning for the future, we have contemplated the advisability of further distinguishing between men in this class."

"If congress should pass allowance and allotment provisions for these dependents, then Class 3 could be abolished altogether."

"Under such circumstances single and married men could be inducted in accordance with their numbers only."

TROOPS: Down Under

Heavy reinforcements of American troops in Australia had been acknowledged by Prime Minister Curtin, and there had been a re-doubling of the air attacks by American and Aussie planes on Jap bases.

Most observers believed that the Japanese had abandoned any hope of ever setting foot on Australian soil, but the communiques from Melbourne and Canberra still stressed Japanese concentrations of air power to the north, and a studied effort was being made, apparently, to dispel any idea that the menace had been removed.

Whether this was just a program of "playing safe," or to give more point to the strides the American-Australian forces were making with their offensive, was hard to say.

The British seemed to feel that the Japs were making their biggest play on the Burmese front, but admittedly, if the Burmese campaign were to be won, then the danger of Australia being next would be greater.

But the dispatches seemed to show that whatever advantage of numbers or equipment there might be on the Australian front probably rested with the Allies—not with the Japanese.

The constant raids on Lae, Salamaua and New Britain seemed to be wreaking increased damage, and the supply lines from the United States to Australia still failed to report any sinkings of American vessels, hence had to be presumed to be open and successfully moving supplies and men.

The Australian front, on the whole, had so far been a comforting and successful section of the battle for our side.

Tojo had warned his people that in spite of successes so far, they must be prepared for a long war, that the victory had not yet been won, and that many sacrifices must yet be made.

This was addressed to a people which had for years been watching with disquiet the failure of their armies to quell or overcome the Chinese, and now, with the whole civilized world on their trail, to see still more shiploads of wounded coming home, and to get constant additional reports of heavy air and land losses.

Elmer Mathausers' Mother Has Faith Her Son Still Alive

Burwell Lad on Bomber Many Days Overdue at MacDill Field, Tampa, Fla.

Everyone in Burwell and the surrounding community is anxiously awaiting word from Elmer Mathausers, who last Wednesday flew away in a bomber carrying ten persons, which has failed to return. Elmer graduated the first week in April from the Air Corps Technical school at Keesler field in Mississippi and soon after was transferred to MacDill Field, near Tampa, Fla.

The trip from which he has not returned was his fourth flight. This ship is a four motored plane, 78 feet long with a wing spread of 133 feet and 19 feet high. The first word his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mathausers, received was a telegram from the war department informing them that their son was aboard a plane which was fifteen hours overdue. The telegram reached Burwell about 3:30 Thursday afternoon. Intensely alarmed by radio newscasts Friday noon reporting the plane bearing their son had been found on the shores of Newfoundland, with all the men aboard killed, the Mathausers wired MacDill Field and at 7:30 in the evening the war department wired them that the reports were erroneous and that nothing had been seen or heard from the plane carrying their son.

His mother's faith has never faltered. Monday morning about 9 o'clock a third telegram was received informing the Mathausers that there still was no word about their son's whereabouts and safety and promising to let them know as soon as they learned anything. Tuesday Mrs. Mathausers received a Mother's Day letter from Elmer containing two dollars as a present for her. In the letter he mentioned that he had been in the air for seven hours. Sunday the Mathausers received another letter from their son written Wednesday, the day he embarked on the trip from which he has not returned. The letter was postmarked May 7.

Committee to Solicit Fair Funds Is Named

The Valley county fair and what measure of cooperation should be extended by the Chamber of Commerce this year was a subject for discussion at the meeting of that body held Thursday evening. The fair will be held the first week in September, the Ord business men were told by C. C. Dale and M. B. Cummins, members of the fair board, and it is planned to have midget races as an entertainment feature.

President C. J. Mortensen was instructed, upon motion, to appoint a committee to solicit funds to assist the fair and to cooperate generally with the fair board. The first of the week he named a committee composed of E. C. Leggett as chairman, William Darges, James Gilbert and E. S. Murray.

First Band Concert June 3. Music Director Henry Deines of the Ord schools announces the first band concert of the summer season will be held on Wednesday, June 3 and will be directed by him. The six or eight weeks after that Mr. Deines will be attending summer school in Lincoln at the University of Nebraska, and so he has asked Glen Auble to direct the band in his absence.

Coppersmiths Will Play. A favorite orchestra with many Ord dancers, Julius Dvorak and his Jolly Coppersmiths, will play at the Bohemian hall on Tuesday, May 19, according to R. S. Kerchall, hall manager.

Three Girls Win Scholastic Honors in Ord High School

IRENE AUBLE.

MARIE KUSEK.

BEVERLY DAVIS.

Scholastic honor winners in Ord high school this year are three girls, reveals Principal F. L. Stoddard. Valedictorian will be Miss Irene Auble, whose scholastic record shows 27 As and 5 Bs, and salutatorian will be Miss Marie Kusek, who had 26 As and 6 Bs. Miss Auble will be awarded a $150 scholarship good at any of Nebraska's church colleges and Miss Kusek receives a $150 scholarship good at any teachers' college in the state. To Miss Beverly Davis goes the University of Nebraska regents' scholarship which she won in a competitive examination, this scholarship having a cash value of $80. Miss Davis also was third ranking senior in scholarship, her record showing 24 As and 8 Bs.

Valley Co. Pledges $51,000 Yearly for Bond Purchases

Minute Men and AAA Sign Up 735 Cards; Estimate 200 Still to Come in.

With an estimated 200 pledge cards still to be signed, principally in rural districts, Valley county people have pledged themselves to buy war bonds at the rate of $4,263.14 per month or approximately $51,000 per year, says C. J. Mortensen, county chairman of the drive.

Minute men working under his direction carried out the pledge card campaign in Ord, Elyria, North Loup and Arcadia, while AAA committeemen are securing pledges from farmers. Ord people, 235 of them, pledged $1,907.06 per month for war bonds; 48 in North Loup, $130.40 per month; 44 in Arcadia, $337.59 per month; 13 in Elyria, $130.40 per month; 385 in rural districts, $1,733.80 per month.

Valley county's quota of war bonds for May as officially set by the treasury department is only $6,000 per month, whereas people here have been buying bonds and stamps at the rate of $15,000 per month or more ever since Pearl Harbor. Future monthly quotas will be higher, Mortensen believes. Average yearly pledge in Ord is about $96; in North Loup $36; in Arcadia $88; in Elyria $120 and in rural districts $54. The treasury department asked that people pledge 10 per cent of their annual income to the purchase of war bonds. "We won't have any difficulty making up our $6,000 quota of war bonds and stamps for May; in fact we should over-subscribe it 2 or 3 times," Mortensen declares. Many people are buying bonds regularly who did not sign pledge cards, he says.

May 15 Deadline to Raze Building

If Miss Elizabeth Maynard, of Freeport, Ill., doesn't start the work of razing wreckage of her building on the south side of the square by Friday, May 15, the city of Ord will take legal action compelling her to do so, Mayor M. B. Cummins told members of the Chamber of Commerce at their meeting last week. The May 15 deadline was set by city authorities some time ago and Miss Maynard was duly notified. About two years ago the old building began to settle and the E. S. Murray insurance agency vacated it at that time. It constitutes a hazard to public safety, is an eye-sore and therefore must be razed, city authorities told the owner.

A. B. Capron, now of Seattle, formerly owned the building subject to a mortgage held by Miss Maynard, and deeded it to her some time ago. About $900 taxes and interest is due on the property, Mayor Cummins says. This morning E. S. Murray, agent for Miss Maynard here, revealed that C. E. Goodhand has been trying to buy the property and that a telephone call from Miss Maynard's attorney last Saturday brought the information that his offer was being accepted and that the deed would be mailed Monday. So far the deed has not arrived, he says. Mr. Goodhand owns the lot west of the Maynard property and if he purchases the Maynard property also it is assumed that he will build a new structure there soon, if it is possible to get materials.

Carl Kotrc Married, Has Two Children but Joins the Army

Not waiting to be drafted, Carl Kotrc, manager of the Food Center store, has joined the U. S. army despite that he is married and has two small children. Kotrc enlisted in Grand Island last week, will report at Fort Crook on May 15. He hopes to get into the quartermasters' corps where his experience as a grocery store and meat market manager will be of greatest value. Mrs. Kotrc and the children will reside with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Thode, of Loup City, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kotrc, of St. Paul, for the present. A new manager for the Food Center store is expected to arrive this week.

Search Given Up for Body of Man Drowned May 4

Mrs. Poland Engaged Plane Saturday to Hunt River; All Efforts Fail.

The search for the body of Earl Poland, who drowned on May 4th in a gravel pit north of Elyria, was virtually given up Tuesday, says Sheriff George S. Round, who has been in close touch with Mrs. Poland, widow of the drowned man, and has aided her in the search for her husband's body.

Pumping sand out of the pit was continued until Saturday in the belief Poland's body was buried in loose sand at bottom of the river. Saturday an airplane pilot from Hastings was engaged by Mrs. Poland to fly low over the river and scan its depths, but the pilot could not locate the body. A group of men searched banks of the river from Ord to North Loup Friday, without avail. Monday the gravel pumps, under Mrs. Poland's direction, rigged up a system to force water through the pipes and hoses used in gravel pumping, thus agitating the bottom of the pit to a considerable depth, but use of this system throughout Monday and Tuesday failed to bring Poland's body to the surface.

Dynamiting the pit was considered but will not be done at the present time. Mrs. Poland told Sheriff Round that if her husband's body was still unaccounted for Tuesday night she would give up the search.

Her husband carried no insurance except a $1,000 personal accident policy. Mrs. Poland told the sheriff. Whether it will be possible to collect on this policy in the event her husband's body is not recovered is doubtful. Besides his widow, Mr. Poland leaves four small children. His mother, Mrs. Vivian Poland, lives at Milburn.

Dairymen Asked Give 10c per Cow for Adv. Campaign

Salisbury Explains Program of Dairy Association to Group Wednesday Eve.

"Nowadays butter and other dairy products have to compete with more than 200 foods, most of them highly advertised, for a place in the American stomach," said Jim Salisbury, field man for the American Dairy Association in a talk before a group of cream buyers and handlers in Ord Wednesday evening at Thorne's cafe.

This year Nebraska dairy farmers are being asked to join with dairymen from 19 other states in a campaign of advertising designed to increase demand for butter, cheese, milk, ice cream and other dairy products, Salisbury explained.

Cost to farmers will be small—only 8c to 10c for each cow they milk, he said, and it is proposed to have cream and whole milk buyers deduct the money needed from the money they pay producers between June 1 and June 15. A deduction of 1c per pound of butterfat during this period is proposed.

Centralizers, independent and cooperative creameries, whole milk buyers and independent cream buyers of Nebraska support the program almost unanimously, he said. It has been in operation several years in nine other dairy states and is being extended to several more states this year and ultimately to the entire nation.

There are five million farmers in the United States who milk cows, Salisbury says, and the (Continued on page 6)

Officers Elected by Project Clubs

Mrs. Elmer Wibbels Becomes Co. Chairman, Mrs. Bell Heads Ord Group.

Newly elected officers at the achievement day programs of Valley county project clubs held on Wednesday, the afternoon meeting in Ord and the one for the five Arcadia clubs in the evening at that place, are Mrs. Elmer Wibbels of Arcadia for Valley county chairman, with Mrs. Archie Bell of Ord and Mrs. Harold Weddel of Arcadia the two group chairmen. They were installed with a candle-lighting ceremony.

At the Ord afternoon session, kindergarten children saluted the flag and sang "Star Spangled Banner" with Mrs. J. W. Severns music leader and Mrs. James Ollis pianist. From the high school came Carolyn Auble to give a reading and Norma Radloff to sing accompanied by Audrey Kott. An elaborate playlet "Defense of Democracy" was given by 30 or more project club members, showing the home to be in the front line of defense. Mrs. Andersen and group chairman, Mrs. Alfred Wiegardt spoke briefly.

Mrs. Archie Bell... will lead Ord project clubs.

C. C. Dale, Valley county agent, gave a short but moving talk at both meetings on the real need for gardens raised by everyone. Said he, "They said we'd never be attacked; but we have been. They said Corregidor will never fall; but it has fallen. We should not be afraid for ourselves, but we should be afraid for our way of life, for our government, for our people. We should realize the menace. And with food a vital necessity." J. V. Srb also spoke at both meetings. In an excellent talk he told of his rural background, and went on to list some of the many advantages of life on the (Continued on page 5)

Something New Has Been Added... Gingham Formal!

No, you aren't seeing double—there are actually two of them, and a very pretty twosome, too! They are Janet and Jeanne Berryman—don't ask us who is which—identical twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Berryman, of Burwell, and they are wearing gingham banquet dresses at the junior-senior banquet held Monday night in Burwell.

All the girls at the banquet wore gingham gowns instead of the silken formal that girls usually wear at this important event, and all the boys wore overalls. Savings were invested in defense stamps.

The Burwell auditorium was decorated as a hay loft. For the story and additional pictures by LaVern Duemey, see page 6.

V-Girl's Destination Changed to Hollywood

Winner in the "V-Girl" contest being conducted by the Omar Milling company will go on a trip to Hollywood where she will be the guest of the new movie star, Michele Morgan, instead of to Washington, D. C., as announced previously, says a letter from the milling company this morning. The change is being made because war-time Washington is congested and accommodations in the city are poor. Miss Morgan will escort the V-Girl about Hollywood and introduce her to film stars and directors.

Over 300 awards will be made to county, state and midwest winners of this contest. So far there are only three entries from Valley county, so the contest is "wide open" here. Every Omar dealer has entry blanks and information about the contest, which costs nothing to enter. All a girl need do to enter the contest is fill out an entry blank, attach a recent snapshot of herself to it, and mail it to the V-Girl Contest Editor in care of this newspaper.

70 Alcohol Plants Proposed for Nebr. by Dr. Christensen

Rubber from Farm Crops the Only Quick Way to Get It, Says Famous Chemurgist.

The quickest and cheapest way to solve the rubber problem is to build quickly alcohol plants to make industrial alcohol from farm crops, and convert this alcohol into synthetic rubber by processes now being used successfully in Russia and Germany, an Ord group was told Thursday night by Dr. Leo M. Christensen, head of research in chemurgy at University of Nebraska. "Start work now and have tires for Christensen" is his slogan, he says, and he believes it can be done if the War Production Board can be induced to release quickly steel for the construction of corn alcohol plants.

Seventy plants making industrial alcohol would provide the quantity necessary for 200,000 tons of synthetic rubber as good as the best natural rubber, he says, and he foresees the day when at least this many alcohol plants will be in operation in Nebraska.

Ord is a natural location for an alcohol plant using 3,600 bushels of corn or its equivalent in other farm crops to make 10,000 gallons of alcohol daily. The output of several such plants would be needed to supply a synthetic rubber factory which might be located in Grand Island, Dr. Christensen stated. Average number of cows they milk is five. Average cost of carrying on the advertising (Continued on page 8)

Much of Burwell Under Water after Tuesday Eve Flood

2.41 Inches of Rain Fell in 25 Minutes There; Hail and Wind Do Much Damage.

While Ord was getting a mere .10 of an inch of rain Tuesday evening 2.41 inches fell within the period of 25 minutes at Burwell, and as a result the south part of that village was inundated and basements all over the town were filled. This morning another 1/4 inch of rain fell at Burwell to add to the flood problems of citizens.

In the south part of Burwell streets were under water to a depth of two feet, it is stated. A heavy hail storm accompanied the rain Tuesday night, falling between 8 and 9 o'clock, and much damage was done to gardens, fruit trees, beet fields and small grain.

Water flowed into the fill-pipe of the highway department's underground tank, washing away 400 gallons of gasoline. More rain fell at Taylor than at Burwell, it is reported. The heavy rain extended only about (Continued on page 12)

Naturalization Matters Will Be Handled Here

All naturalization matters in the entire 11th judicial district will, after July 1, be handled by the Valley county clerk of the district court, according to an order issued this week by E. G. Kroger and William F. Spikes, district judges.

This order means that any aliens in Hall, Howard, Garfield, Greeley, Wheeler, Loup, Blaine, Thomas, Hooker, Grant and Valley counties who seek American citizenship must file their applications with Alfred Wiegardt and have their hearings in Ord. Ord's central location in the district and the efficient manner in which the court clerk's office is handled here were factors in centralizing naturalization work here. In the past aliens have been permitted to file in their own counties.

Commit Wm. Plate to State Hospital

Thursday the Valley county insanity commission considered the case of William Plate aged North Loup resident who attempted suicide on April 19 by slashing his throat and wrists with a knife, and after a brief hearing ordered him committed to the state hospital at Ingleside for treatment. Fred Cohen, deputy sheriff, took Mr. Plate to Hastings the same day.

Since he recovered from his self-inflicted wounds, Mr. Plate had been cared for at Green Gables sanitarium in Lincoln.

DAIRY FARMERS AWAKE.

Dairy farmers of Nebraska and the nation are at last awake to something that growers of citrus fruits, potatoes, walnuts, cranberries and a variety of other specialized agricultural products knew long ago—the necessity for advertising their product.

Under the auspices of the American Dairy association farmer-dairymen will contribute through handlers and processors of milk and cream 1c for each pound of butterfat they market during the period June 1 to 15 inclusive. There are five million farmers milking cows in the United States and when the program, which now embraces 20 states, is extended throughout the nation a fund of one million dollars or more will be available to push through advertising the use of milk, evaporated milk, ice cream, butter and cheese.

And this much money or more is needed if dairymen do the kind of an advertising job they need to do. Last year the manufacturers of oleomargarine a direct competitor of one dairy product, spent five hundred thousand dollars to advertise their product alone.

The year 1942 was a year of increased earnings for American workers yet butter slumped in per capita consumption from 17.7 pounds to 16.6 pounds. When Americans don't buy and eat more butter in a period when they are more prosperous it is surely time for dairymen to bring to their aid the vital force of modern advertising.

The cost to each dairy farmer of paying for this advertising will be small—8c to 10c for each cow he milks. Since the average farmer milks five cows he will contribute 40c to 50c to the advertising fund. Alone, the dairyman has no means of promoting his product but five million dairymen contributing 10c for each cow milked can provide the funds for a big advertising campaign.

America needs to be made more of the value of butter, and cheese, and ice cream, and the other dairy foods. As a speaker at a dairy meeting held in Ord last week put it: "Nowadays butter and cheese have to compete with 200 other foods for a place in the American stomach." And most of those other 200 foods are extensively advertised. If dairy foods are going to win that larger place they deserve in the stomachs of Americans they are going to have to be advertised extensively also.

No farmer-dairymen should object to saving from his cream check during the June 1-15 period the small amount which represents his contribution to this valuable advertising effort. In the long run his 40c or 50c contribution will come back to him ten-fold in the form of an increased market for the product he produces.

And when he picks up a copy of some national magazine and sees a large advertisement telling about the goodness, the flavor, the health-bringing qualities of butter or cheese, that farmer-dairymen may throw out his chest with pride: "I helped pay for that ad to bring better eating habits, greater health, to my city neighbors," he will be justified in proclaiming.

It is fine to know that dairymen, so progressive in other ways, are at last awake to the value of advertising to help their own business.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE.

"For the first time in more than sixty years Hamburg is without a bakery. Over the years there have been numerous bakeries in Hamburg—at times as many as three or four in operation at the same time. Last week Bennett's Bake Shop closed its doors, finally giving up the struggle after having tried vainly to compete with the numerous bakery trucks from the large city bakeries which made the town daily."—Hamburg (Ia.) Reporter.

What happened in Hamburg, Iowa, as told about in the little "obituary notice" printed above has happened in hundreds of towns and it could happen in Ord.

We don't exactly know why we are taking up the cudgel in behalf of Friend Spot Johnson, much as we like him personally. He doesn't advertise a tenth as much as an alert bakery should and everybody knows that newspaper editors are so mercenary they never print a boost for anybody except a good advertiser.

But we are always for the local man, whether he manufactures ice cream or tombstones, doughnuts or hog remedies, bread, butter or furniture polish, and that's why we put in a good (and perhaps timely) word for the Ord bakery, short-ages and frozen prizes considered.

All local manufacturers employ local labor, buying groceries and gasoline from local stores, owning or renting homes, making deposits in local banks, visiting local doctors and dentists and spending locally 99% of the money paid to them by local employers for their labor. As one of Ord's largest employers of labor we know that is true.

If you want to keep your Ord manufacturing plants and their payrolls, small and large, it is a good idea to patronize them to the fullest extent. Don't buy something made out of town when you can get the same thing made in Ord at no greater price.

FEDERAL INCONSISTENCY.

With announcement of the first official Treasury Department quotas of War Bonds it is noted that Valley county's quota is only $6,000. Setting such a negligible quota for this county for the month of May is neither consistent with previous government announcements nor with the rate at which Valley county people have been buying bonds since Pearl Harbor.

In January when Orville Chatt and War Bond officials talked in Ord they estimated Valley county's quota at about $50,000 per month. We thought this was too high; more than our people could invest in War Bonds without actual hardship.

Between Pearl Harbor and up to the time last month when the 10%-of-income pledges were signed, Valley county people actually invested an average of $17,000 per month in War Bonds, entirely exclusive of War Stamp sales which also totaled a sizable sum. To announce such a meager quota as $6,000 for the month of May is to discourage Valley county investors; to make them feel their great sacrifices are not wanted or needed by their country. Such a feeling certainly doesn't jibe with everything else we are being asked to believe.

It is time the government adopted a more realistic and consistent policy, not only in regard to War Bonds but on other matters vital to the war effort.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

The AAA board went to Kearney to broadcast Thursday and enroute Emil Kokes and Charlie Krikac pulled long faces when they saw how dry fields were getting after plenty of moisture earlier. "Another dry year coming," they both howled. Chairman Clement, always optimistic, thought he'd shut them off by offering to bet them two bits apiece it would rain one-half inch before Monday night but both grabbed the bet. Clare thought he had it won surely Saturday but official moisture total was only .47 of an inch when the rain ended Sunday. This item was written too early to find out if rain fell before midnight Monday but even a light shower would have been enough to win Clare's bet for him. And both Emil and Charlie had to admit that .47 was almost as good as a half-inch of rain anyway, though they wouldn't pay off on that basis.

A big controversy is raging, as usual, between the people who think digging dandelions will eradicate the pests and those who think digging only spreads them. Charlie Stiehler has gone over to the ranks of the diggers, probably because only a few dandelions reared their yellow heads in his smooth, green lawn this spring, after he devoted last season to intensive digging. Charlie has really declared war on the enemy and is carrying the battle into enemy territory by digging dandelions in the Leggett and Lewis lawns, along the roadside and even in the school yard.

Dud Faulk, of Ericson, who pitched some wonderful baseball for Ord 20 years ago now has a couple of boys in high school who are winning athletic laurels just like their dad. One of the boys pitched for the Ord Junior Legion team last season and both lads helped Ericson high school win track meets this spring.

Ellis Carson has joined the ranks of Ord men who are bicycling to save auto tires, though some of his friends have been telling him he should have a motorcycle seat put on his bike. Ed Oetken, Ed Kerchal and Pete Wilson are also new bike riders. So far Jake Hoffman and Norm Holt haven't filed any law suits, though they claim to hold all the Ord patent rights for bicycling.

Mrs. Mark Tolen is in great demand with her lovely voice. Last Wednesday she doubled-featured by singing at the Methodist church and later appearing at the Presbyterian church, pleasing the ladies at both places. Mrs. Syl Furtak was her able accompanist at the piano. Like a good accompanist, Mrs. Furtak's fine music was not at all obvious; if it had been poor music it would have been noticed fast enough. Too fast.

Top photo shows speakers table, with wishing well in foreground . . . below upperclassmen dance to music of Johnnie Beck's orchestra. Into the decorations shown in these pictures went a wealth of thought, hard work.

Another big, big moment has come and gone for many a sighing junior, senior and even humble sophomore. The juniors banqueted the seniors, and all of them enjoyed their "prom". Thursday evening at the high school was the time and place of the big event, that party for which straight hair is curled, ornery hair is oiled, shoes are shined, new dresses made, a new suit saved for all year long, in other words anything and everything is done to make the older high school students attractive.

The big auditorium was decorated for the party. This year it had been made into a garden complete with wishing well and yellow lattice walls. Overhead a blue, blue sky was a canopy of paper. Where the bare bleachers used to be, rock gardens were green and many a flower bloomed. A big umbrella was inviting. At the entrance a low curved bridge gave the garden touch. The big square well in the middle of the floor was interestingly put together of log slabs, and had a tiny roof. The bottom of the well mirrored bright eyes and happy smiles.

Long tables were pretty in white paper dresses, with a broad band of dark blue down their lengths. Little brown wishing wells were ornaments on each table, with its tiny green bucket. Favors were typical garden inhabitants, little wiggly bugs, squirrels, ducks, frogs, butterflies, etc. Little blue books held the program, menu, etc. In this little "Memory Book" it said the welcome would be given by Robert James. Next Gould Flagg would talk on the intimate high school world; Jean Carlson would speak about a serenade, and Raymond Vogelzanz would add a humorous touch. Mr. Stoddard, high school principal, would give his interpretation, Avery Noll would speak on national doings. Carolyn Auble—furnished gayety.

Continuing the toasts, Teacher Edgar Farley spoke of wishing; Irene Auble on experiences; Irene Iwanski on the lyrical side of things and Miss Helen Prouty, one of the sponsors, used looking ahead as her topic.

The banquet, served by the Catholic ladies, was really a banquet, for there was tomato juice cocktail, chicken Italian with gravy, creamed new potatoes, peas, perfection cabbage salad and rolls, topped off with strawberry shortcake and coffee.

Later, an out-of-town orchestra furnished lovely music for dancing, playing from a stage also decorated with the feathery spring green of young trees. And the delicate hued gowns of the girls as they danced made it a true garden scene, one with lovely blossoms.

Something Different

History repeats itself in the Jewett family. When Rex was little he got the chickenpox and then generously gave it to his mother.

A week or two ago little "Bosco" got the chickenpox and he gave it to Mrs. Rex Jewett...also generous.

Mrs. Wilford Williams of Grand Island used a cunning twist when her daughter was named a year or two ago, about two it is. Mrs. Williams' name is Mary, and the little daughter is called Rosemary.

When Mr. and Mrs. Robert Helvey acquired a new baby girl a few days ago they did something similar. Mrs. Helvey's name is Mary Annabelle; her new daughter is called Mary Anne.

Names are fascinating, and a source of interest that is guaranteed never to bore. In the draft lists a few days ago I noticed "Elfia Lloyd McGrew" and thought to myself, thought I, that nothing could be more unusual than Elfia. I was certain I'd never spled that name before, and I thought... pardon me, McGrew family... that it sounded good for a sweet little, cute little girl.

In the week after that I saw the name Elfia in the news two or three times. Not so unusual as I'd thought.

Names are odd, but no matter how odd, after a few weeks they seem to fit the wearer.

We thought we did a humdinger of a job when we decided on "Kerry" for one of our young. We thought it was unusual, yet easy to spell and sure to be spelled right. We didn't think it could be nicknamed, we didn't think it could be misspelled.

We love the name yet, but we were wrong on most of the other scores.

It has been spelled Karry, Karrey, Carrie, Cary, to mention only a few. We never thought of it being like a girl's name. We never thought of that good looking movie star, Cary Grant. We never thought of that overwhelmingly popular name for boys that has been used so much of recent years, Gary. You know, like Gary Cooper, more movie star.

We never thought of Kerry county, Ireland, nor of Kerry blue terriers, though we had a vaguely Irish feeling about the name.

And nicknames? Well, the chief one is "Care". I like "Sweetie-face" better, myself.

At least I like it better than the one Teddy's daddy thought fitted... "Butch". Ted's present list includes "Shorty" and "Sugarfoot", but the family favorite is "Kewpie-Woopie".

Of course his real name is Wade Theodore.

PREPARED BY AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTH

SLEEPING SICKNESS IS DOUBLE MENACE

Only a few years ago it looked as though the entire horse population of this country might be wiped out by dreaded encephalomyelitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness. In one year more than 300,000 head of horses contracted the disease and one out of each four of the sick animals died.

After a year or more of what looked like a losing fight, veterinary scientists discovered an effective vaccine processed from the bodies of unborn chicks, known as "chick embryo" vaccine. Nationwide use of the vaccine last year on untold thousands of horses radically curbed the expected summer outbreak. Less than one in each thousand head of vaccinated horses failed to show complete immunity to the disease.

Now it has been discovered that human beings may contract sleeping sickness from the horse strain of virus. Some 800 cases of this virus occurred last summer. Likewise it has been proved that horses are susceptible to infection and death with the human strain of "Saint Louis type" of sleeping sickness virus. Transmission from horse to human or from human to horse by direct contact is not thought to be the usual way the disease spreads. Both man and horses are believed to be victims of insect vectors, such as mosquitoes, flies, and other biting pests.

No one knows just what the horse or human disease will do this coming summer—but authorities are recommending that all owners have their horses and mules vaccinated well ahead of the summer danger season. Public health authorities also say that a living barrier of immune animals will likewise reduce the human hazard. If the human disease becomes endemic it is highly probable that people in exposed areas may be immunized by the same skin injection method as is used for horses.

The United States army is guarding its valuable cavalry and artillery horses by chick vaccine immunization and it is reported that no losses whatever have occurred among these vaccinated animals. All will again be vaccinated before next summer.

Farmer Who Sells 100 Dozen Eggs Weekly Reports 3 Doz. Hens to Assessor; Fine New Strain?

Down in Texas a man must sell his property for the value he gives the tax assessor. Up in Nebraska, if someone offered you for your radio the amount you told the assessor it was worth, and if you were forced to sell at that price, you'd howl to heaven.

Looking over A. R. Brox' tax record some odd figures turn up. For instance there are 527 firearms in Valley county, with an average value of $6.83. Would you sell your shotgun for that number of pennies?

Threshers, headers and combines, Valley county has $9,330 worth. This is an average of $137.20, and where is the man who'd be crazy enough to sell his combine for that?

There are 1,115 dogs, which is quite a few dogs. These dogs have an automatic value of $10 in Nebraska, and nothing can be done about it. But in a city where few people bother to pay a $1 dog tax, you could get a truckload of dogs for $10. Not many Valley county people feel that Fido is worth even as much as $1, at least they do not guarantee Fido a long and happy life by paying his dog tax.

Now pianos, organs, phonographs, musical instruments in general, musical Valley county has $7,225 worth of such, with an average value of $14.42. Would you sell Sonny's horn for that? In Texas you might have to, if that was the value you'd placed on it when the assessor man called.

That big fine stove, electric probably, or possibly its gas. Its average value is listed as $39.05. Pretty low, folks, pretty low.

You like sugar? Well, now, here's an item that you'll be interested in. Valley county has 39 hives of bees, worth about $2.69. Worth more than that in 1942, aren't they? No one said anything about hoarding bees!

Most unique item on the assessor's rolls, though, is the Robert Lewis Marries.

Judge and Mrs. Ben Rose of Burwell received a telephone call from their son, Robert Lewis, Sunday. Robert had big news to tell. At five o'clock Sunday, May 10, he was married to Miss Gloria Currie of Alexandria, La., and at six o'clock the happy pair started northward, as Ensign Lewis has a 15-day furlough. The furlough was granted to Robert with his "wings" and an instructorship at the Jacksonville, Fla., air-base, where he has been intensively training for the past year. He is delighted with his new title of ensign and with his instructorship, which comes as a honor.

Robert graduated from the Burwell high school and went to Kearney college, to the University of Nebraska and to the University of Louisiana. Music was his major, with special emphasis on wind instruments. Robert won a number of honors with his music, but with the war enlisted in the navy. Since that time he has concentrated on learning to fly, evidently with excellent results.

Ensign Lewis... for him wings and a bride.

Driving to Kansas City with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis proceeded to Nemaha, where they visited his aunt, Judge and Mrs. Rose drove to Nemaha to meet Robert and his bride, and bring them home. The new Mrs. Lewis was a fellow student at the University of Louisiana, and almost the first girl Robert met when he went south to study several years ago. Plans for the marriage were speedily made when it was learned Robert was not going at once on overseas duty. Ord and Burwell friends will be glad to welcome him home with his shiny new "wings" and his new bride.

Red Cross Always Ready for Disasters

To help the many victims of torpedoes in the Caribbean area, the American Red Cross has sent 12 complete 50-bed emergency medical station units to nearby stations. Survivors are given clothing, shelter and kits, cables sent to relatives, and all their needs cared for, including temporary hospital care. Puerto Rico receives six units, the Virgin Islands three and the Canal Zone three, says Mrs. C. J. Mortensen who is head of the Valley county organization.

This is the way the Red Cross was ready at Pearl Harbor, and the way the Red Cross is always ready for disaster. In Hawaii emergency kitchens gave food to rescue workers and bombed-out families, who were also furnished lodging, clothing and blankets. There were 3,000 refugees to move out of danger zones and care for 10,000 blood transfusions were donated and given through the Red Cross at the rate of 50 per hour. Many of the Red Cross volunteer workers at Pearl Harbor were wives of men stationed at the air fields and naval bases, and did not know the fate of their loved ones, but they worked busily helping those who needed them. The Red Cross is ready in the same way everywhere, under the direction of disaster chairman and his helpers.

George Satterfield is disaster chairman for Valley county, aided by Mrs. Syl Furtak, Mrs. Hugh Carson, Kenneth Draper, Kenneth Peterson, and Dr. Round, as announced in last week's Quiz.

Valleyside and Springdale Win North Loup Meet

16 Schools Compete Friday in Annual Scholastic and Athletic Contests.

North Loup (Special)—Sixteen schools competed Friday in the annual rural school track and scholastic meet, sponsored by the Community club, and Valleyside won first place among the 2-room schools with a total of 70 points. Springdale was winner among 1-room schools with 44 points.

Only 164 students took part as compared with more than two hundred last year. Valleyside school was especially strong in scholastic competition, gaining 44 points in these events.

High point girl of the meet was Rosie Poata, of Dist. 57, who had 17½ points and high point boy was Willard Stowell, of Springdale, with 25. They were given medals and plaques were presented to their schools.

In each event ribbons were given to first, second and third place winners. Scholastic events took place in the morning and at noon lunch was served in the music room of the school building, coffee and cocoa being furnished by the Community club for the basket dinner which each school brought. Athletic events took place at the park in the afternoon. Many parents came with their children and spent a pleasant day.

Schools participating, besides the winners, included Haskell Creek, Davis Creek, Dists. 9, 57, 43, 38, 14, 3, 24, 64, Rural and Midvale.

Stradivarius Violin
Antonio Stradivari was born in 1644 and died in 1737. He made violins as early as 1680 but his finest instruments date between 1700 and 1725. His label reads "Antonio Stradivarius Cremonensis. Fecit Anno..." followed by his initials, the A and S being separated by a Maltese cross. If word is "faciebat" instead of "fecit" it is a copy and not an original.

Longhorns Grab 1st Honors in Ord Invitational Meet

Score 40 Points to Cop as St. Paul Makes 31; Jack Pesek Leading Scorer.

Coach Wolcott's Longhorns of Burwell high school came thru in the last two events, the 880 and the half-mile relay, to score 11 points and thereby clinch top place in the Ord invitational track and field meet held at the new athletic field Saturday with eight schools competing.

Score of the meet was close up to the final pair of events but when Simpson led the field home in the 880 and Jones took 4th to give the Longhorns 6 points in the event the issue was no longer in doubt. To make certain doubtly certain, the Longhorn relay team grabbed off five points more in that event. How the teams finished:

Burwell—40 Ericson—15
St. Paul—31 St. Edward—7
Ord—30 Loup City—5
Ravenna—23 Clearwater—3

Highlight of the meet was the outstanding performance of Jack Pesek, Ravenna's one-man track team who single-handed scored 23 points to place his team fourth. Pesek ran the 120 yard high hurdles in 16 seconds, tossed the discus 137 feet 10 inches and the shot 43 feet 11 inches, tied with Hurlbert for first place in the high jump with 5 feet 7½ inches and placed third in the broad jump and the 220 yard dash. Flag, of Ord, was second individual scorer with 15.

Hurlbert... a great quarter-miler, wins his favorite event.

Ord's chances of winning slumped when Hurlbert pulled a muscle after winning the 440 in the fast time of 53.4, thereby being unable to compete in the relay. Ord's failure to place a man in the 880 was the deciding factor.

Nutrition Classes Will Open Friday

Friday evening at eight o'clock the first lesson in nutrition will be taught in the home economics room of the high school by Miss Iris Krebs, announces Dr. Zeta Nay, chairman for this section of civilian defense. About 30 have indicated they wish to attend and are asked by Miss Krebs to bring a pencil and paper Friday evening.

Only about five lessons can be given this spring, and these will likely be on the principles of nutrition, a discussion of vitamins, canning, refrigeration of foods and sugarless recipes. In the fall the class will resume meetings, taking up advanced work. Textbooks will be available in the fall, it is expected. The course is open to the public without charge.

No. Loup Girls' Octette Rated Superior in National Music Contest

... Smallest school competing, yet these girls were best.

North Loup—(Special)—Competing in the national regional contest held in Omaha Friday, the girls' octette trained by Roger Johnson received a superior rating, only one awarded in the group of thirteen octettes competing. All their criticisms were rated "A" except eight that were "A plus."

Other schools in the group included three from Topeka, two from Fremont, one each from Marysville, Mo., McCook, David City, Blair, Bayard, Belleville, Kas., and Central City.

The girls sang "Ave Maria," by Schubert, with Marlon Maxson taking the solo part. Others in the group are Mary Babcock, Charlotte Jones, Esther Taylor, Frances Goodrich, Grace Manchester, Joan Barber and Esther Smith, with Lucienne Fisher as accompanist.

Their trip was made possible by the gifts of business men and individuals, who contributed toward their expenses, and to the school board, which paid their entrance fee. Paul Jones and Clifford Goodrich drove cars down. The girls left Friday morning and visited Boys' Town enroute, returning Friday evening after their number was given. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Ann accompanied them, the latter two going on to Milton, Wis., for a visit with Mrs. Johnson's parents.

All of North Loup is proud of the honor brought to the music department by the girls' octette.

Editor Warden Seeks Air Corps Commission

Stanley B. Warden, editor of The Arcadian, told Ord friends last week that he recently passed all physical examinations and is in line for a commission in the United States air corps. In the first world war Editor Warden was a first sergeant and was in line for a commission when the war ended. He probably will be commissioned a first lieutenant or captain in the army.

Ever since he came to Arcadia Mr. Warden has been active in Legion affairs and in civic work. He is president of the Middle Loup chamber of commerce at present. If an opportunity offers he may sell or lease his newspaper, or Mrs. Warden may remain in Arcadia to operate it, he said in Ord Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rydberg and Charles Irwin and Mr. Rydberg's mother, Mrs. Charles Rydberg, all of Kearney were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Theilm.

Mrs. H. J. Hoepfner spent Friday in Grand Island.

Paul Madsen took Agnes Manchester and Beulah Porter to Kearney Friday afternoon to see about registering for summer school.

Master Sergeant Watson Writes of North Ireland

With the American expedition force somewhere in northern Ireland, Master Sergeant James W. Watson, wrote this interesting letter to his wife, the former Miss Marie Hrebec, of Ord. Sergeant Watson is with the 34th Division, and went from Iowa.

"...It is Easter Sunday. A nice day in Ireland, rather gusty, but bringing memories of past Easter Sundays and making one more homesick than before... They have finally come through with radios and phonographs with the latest records, which goes over better than the radio, because programs here over the radio aren't worth much.

"I was losing weight on the British rations, but when we changed over to the American rations, took it all back on again. We at last have a sort of gym assigned to us and will be able to attempt a little basketball every now and then, and if we can obtain the gloves, possibly a little boxing.

James Watson... sighs for juicy hamburger with coke.

"Visited Belfast (the only city we are allowed to mention) Saturday afternoon. Had a fairly decent time but nothing like the good old USA. Stage play in the afternoon, got out of the theater and rushed over to see the fights in the local hall, then rushed out to catch a train back to my town, and so to bed. Belfast is rather a large town, and one gets the feeling of being in a big city again; that is, until you try to purchase anything, then you find out differently. For instance, the menu at the restaurants goes something like this, liver, sausage, fish and bacon—take your choice—add a few potatoes (they never run out of those, over here) and that makes your meal, take it or leave it. Oh for some juicy hamburgers and a coke, that would be heaven. A coke is a foreign substance here. Pop is called minerals and tastes just as bad.

"The city is rather fascinating at night. All the trams (trolleys) with their blue lights, outlining the letters in name plate, and nothing else, no head or tall lights, and just barely enough light to make proper change and seat yourself by inside. All the cars driving with obscure lights, and with mist and rain falling, makes it dangerous walking. The trams are of the double-decker variety and you can take your choice of the upper or lower. Fare is one penny (two cents).

"The fights weren't up to the par of American ones and I am sure a lot of amateurs in the states would make the main eventers look like hams... At all the movies they have a waiting line (they call them que's) and it isn't at all unusual to wait an hour or so to get into a movie. Each line seemed to have its particular beggar, either a piccolo player, an accordionist, or perhaps someone with a guitar trying to sing old American swing songs. All the towns seem to have some type of beggars. Small kids are always pestering me and the rest of the Yanks for a penny and how the small boys like to smoke—it seems to be the ultimate for them. Another type is the woman with a shawl over her head and a babe in arms, tagged by one or two children. Lifting the babe up for you to see, saying 'A penny for the baby please,' that's the one that gets me. I can't seem to refuse, tho I always pass up the others, and then her kind, 'Thank you sir, and may God be with you', that would almost melt a heart of stone.

"Have just seen the issue of Life about the landing of troops in Ireland and it is an excellent presentation and about the most complete I have seen. Also read about the fall of Singapore in it—none of which was given to the public here; shows how much the government here is telling the people. Pages 25 to 28 have been torn out of all the issues, which shows they are censoring even the magazines.

Your last letter was dated Jan. 28, which makes about two months since the receipt of any mail. Wish I were in good old Ord, Nebr., with you."

JAMES WATSON, Master Sergeant

Serg't Everett Gross to Be Officer Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gross have about as much interest and pride in America's part in the war as anyone around here. In fact they have three distinct reasons for their interest and their pride, and those are their sons Everett and Edward and their son-in-law, Leonard Clark.

Everett was able to be home for Mother's Day, to the delight of his parents. A sergeant in the air corps at San Francisco, he was chosen to attend officers' training school in Virginia, and enroute there he stopped in Ord Saturday evening, leaving 48 hours later for the east. Everett enlisted nearly two years ago when he was 19, and is coming along rapidly. It was the first visit of parents and son in 14 months.

A letter Thursday from Edward, the first received in some time, was another pleasure Mr. and Mrs. Gross experienced. Edward is now a first class seaman, a rank similar to corporal in the army, and he has been traveling from Seattle to Alaska and northern waters.

On the east coast live Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clark, who have been there since Feb. 5. He is a coast guard, and kept very busy. They too report everything ship-shape, via the mailman.

And, incidentally, the mailman is more popular than any other caller at the Stanley Gross home, for the good reasons noted above.

First guess on the identity of the men in the "Remember These Persons" feature last week was made by Frank T. Krikac at 9:15 Thursday morning. He correctly guessed that the men were Joe and Frank Lolla. Several other correct guesses and one or two incorrect ones were phoned in later Thursday.

ranch and farm. Said he, "The rich people seek isolation, building at the edges of cities; we have it, yet with roads, cars, radios we are in constant touch with nearby life. In the rural school, the teacher gets to know her pupils, their homes and problems and the child gets personal attention. The youngster gains an idea of grades above him, hearing older ones recite. And perhaps learns things he missed last year, hearing younger ones recite. There are fewer bad companions and more religion for a child attending a small country school," thought Mr. Srb.

"The farmer has many joys. He is a creator, he makes a shed himself; he plows a field and grows a crop all with his own labor; he raises a good team. He is his own boss, there is no time clock for him, nor factory assembly line where he monotonously repeats two motions, all day long. If the day is rainy, he shifts his work to indoors, or perhaps the whole family take the day off to go visiting. The farmer is isolated, yet he is never alone. He knows his neighbors, he loves them and enjoys them. The apartment dweller cannot say this.

"The farmer has a family way of living, all working together. At harvest time the wife likes to go into the fields, too, so she does, and so do the children. The farmer teaches his boy the multitude of things to be learned on the farm, and they work together. The boy and the man know one another, for they spend days together. Not so with the city man who has a few minutes in the morning with his boy and an hour with him in the evening when both are tired.

"One thing, the farmer never goes hungry. He raises his own food and sets a good table. Nowhere else in the world can you sit down to such a loaded table of good, fresh food as you can do on the farm. Everything is of the finest, freshest quality.

"As to income, he makes or he loses, like any other worker. In the poorest times men have bought and paid for farms and made a profit. And in the best times some farmers have lost their farms.

"And he has an important job, the most important line of defense. If he walked out of his fields tomorrow, the war would be lost. Other industries are taking his help, and yet the farmer is asked to do more than ever before. In the last war they said what would win the war and it did. This time, they tell us vegetables, poultry and dairy products are the crying needs. These products are more work to raise, and they ask us to raise more crops with less help. The labor problem for farms will be worse in another year than now, as more boys go into service and into defense industries. But other help will be available. Our retired farmers will come back to do what they can, and some of them can do a lot. Women and girls will be running tractors, work they can do almost as well as a man. High school boys and town boys will help us. At first they will not know how, but if they are patiently taught and given a chance, they will be fine help on the farm. Farmers have a big job, but they can do it."

Mrs. Maude Matthews of Lincoln spoke briefly, introducing the new county officers. She has been instructor for the leaders of the past few years. Intervals of group singing finished the program in both towns. At Arcadia Mrs. R. E. Wibbels presided, and Mrs. Kermit Erickson lead the community sing. The Arcadia meeting was a lively session, with those present more than angry at the cracks made about them by their ex-member.

Scout Camp Postponed. The 2-day Boy Scout camp scheduled to be held for leaders' training at Bussell park last week end was postponed until some time in June, says Scoutmaster Rex Jewett. Sickness among the Loup City troop and the rainy weather were responsible for the postponement.

Dairymen Asked Give 10c per Cow for Adv. Campaign

campaign will not exceed 10c per cow on the average, he estimated, if 1c per pound of butterfat is deducted in the June 1-15 period.

The orange growers of California, the grapefruit growers in Florida and Texas, the potato farmers in Idaho, the walnut raisers in Washington and many other producers of specialized food products long ago discovered and profited from the use of advertising, he said. Dairymen can do the same by advertising the goodness, food value and health-giving properties of butter, cheese, milk and ice cream.

This has been proved by the American Dairy association in years past, Salisbury stated. Advertising campaigns conducted in key cities have resulted in big increases in the use of butter and cheese in these cities at a time when the national trend in consumption of these products has been downward.

Despite general prosperity in 1941, said Salisbury, the per capita use of butter declined from 17.7 pounds in 1940 to 16.6 pounds last year. He said this decrease was because of aggressive advertising by oleomargarine manufacturers, who spent a half million dollars boosting their product as a butter substitute.

With funds derived from general deductions from farmers' cream checks at the rate of 1c per pound for the first two weeks in June, the American Dairy association proposes to run large ads in national magazines, use the radio extensively, and carry on an educational campaign through the schools and the government.

The meeting in Ord Wednesday night began with a fried chicken supper enjoyed by about 25 men from Ord, Loup City, Broken Bow, Burwell, Scotia, Greeley and other towns. Following Mr. Salisbury's talk Fred W. Coe was elected chairman of this district of the American Dairy association, to perfect arrangements for carrying out the money-raising campaign in June.

Queens in Calico Squired by Overallled Beaus at Junior-Senior Banquet

Top—This is John Schere, the master of ceremonies, surrounded by his crew of milk maids. John is apt to invite them out some evening to find out if they really are as efficient in milking a cow as they appear to be. From left to right they are Wanda Carpenter, Joan Simpson, Beth Wilson, Betty June Dodd, Nellie Becker, Margaret Jean Walker and Ferol Jean Thompson. The "bouquets" in the foreground are made entirely of vegetables, pared and fluted and fixed on tooth picks to resemble flowers. They were so realistic they apparently fooled the frolickers who passed them up. Maybe they weren't hungry after eating the creamed chicken, roasting ears and cherry pie a la mode.

Burwell Students Forego Fine Garb, Buy War Stamps

Burwell—(Special)—Queens in calico were much in evidence at the junior-senior banquet in Burwell Monday evening where the girls passed up the long silk formal for American produced cottons and to the bashful bare-foot beaus, who wore shoes and overalls, they looked as pretty as though they had been decked out in gowns which set Dad back fifteen or twenty bucks. The money saved is being used to buy war stamps and thereby the Longhorn lads and lassies take two cracks at the Japs for not only do they help to "Keep 'Em Flying" but they also boycotted that insignificant Japanese silk-worm.

The banquet was in the nature of a barnyard frolic. The sides of the gymnasium were banked with bales of straw on which harness, kerosene lanterns, and pitchforks and other items in the farmers' stock of trade were placed. A coop of chickens and ducks in the middle of the floor added to the bucolic atmosphere. Blue and white crepe paper streamers, the senior class colors, lent a decorative note.

The tables were covered with red and white checkered covers. China cows and chickens which adorned the tables were given as favors. The menu cards of blue were decorated with the likeness of a large white rooster with an actual feather in his tail. The menu, which consisted of apple cider, creamed chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, roasting ears, vegetable salad, rolls, butter, radishes, pickles, onions, cherry pie a la mode, coffee and milk, was prepared and served by the mothers of the juniors.

Marcella Wheeler, the junior president, acted as toastmistress. Carolyn McMullen extended the welcome to which Billy Udell responded in behalf of the seniors. The initials of the toasts spelled "offense." Beth Troxell's topic was "opportunity." Richard Johnson discussed "future." Arlene Rowse was assigned "F. D. R." Newell McGrew talked on "effort." Marjorie Banks on "norm." Marvin Partridge, "sacrifice," and Miss Smith on "sacrifice." After the toasts members of the sophomore class presented a hillbilly show with John Schere serving as master of ceremonies, in behalf of "Garter's Little Quiver Pills." He presented Wanda Carpenter in an impersonation. The Hoosier Hot Shots played several selections of "music." A milk maid chorus composed of Margaret Jean Walker, Joan Simpson, Beth Wilson and Ferol Jean Thompson sang after which followed a dance act by Margaret Jean Walker, Nellie Becker, Ferol Jean Thompson and Wanda Carpenter. Mr. and Mrs. Struve and Sharon entertained with two selections. Dorothy Jane Duncan accompanied them on the piano. The program was closed with an old fashioned square dance presented by Bob Alloway, Nellie Becker, Bill Thompson, Ferol Jean Thompson, Joe Snyder, Wanda Carpenter, Donald Hummel and Margaret Jean Walker. Following the banquet the seniors were entertained at a dance in the Legion hall. Members of the sophomore class were also permitted to attend.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Increasing U. S. Air and Naval Power Demonstrated in Pacific Sea Battles; U. S. Wants Car Owners' 'Extra' Tires; OPA Decrees Gas Quota for East Coast

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

The strategic importance of Madagascar to the two main supply arteries of the United Nations armies in the east are indicated by the above map. By capturing the key naval base of Diego Suarez, British Commandos supported by marines, infantry, air forces and naval units, assured protection of these vital supply lines.

PACIFIC SEA BATTLES: U. S. Shows Power

A crucial test of the United Nations' increasing strength in the Australian sector was given as Japanese sea and air might massed northeast of the key continent in a thrust, from New Britain, the Solomon Islands and the Loyalsade Archipelago.

Within a five-day span American warships and planes had taken a toll of 16 Japanese ships either sunk or badly damaged. Engagements were the heaviest since the battle of the Java sea.

Concentration of the Japanese naval forces in the Australian area was regarded as a threat to the steadily expanding U. S. communication lines in the South Pacific. Blocking of this threat meant that not only would Australia's position be more secure, but that the "springboard" for an ultimate United Nations' offensive against the Japs to recapture the East Indies and the Philippines would be further prepared.

Japan's strategic power in this area lay in its possession of the Solomon Islands which form stepping stones along Australia's northeast flank starting from Rabaul on the island of New Britain and extending down to New Caledonia.

MADAGASCAR: 40-Hour Triumph

A 40-hour epic of British Commandos' gallantry came to a victorious conclusion when the Diego Suarez naval base on the northern tip of Vichy-held Madagascar surrendered.

While French army outposts still held military control over the Madagascar hinterlands, the fall of the huge naval base assured the United Nations possession of the vital gateway to their eastern supply routes. Moreover, it was vindication of a new spirit of aggression which made the Japs "miss the bus."

Military authorities in both America and Britain pointed out that the successful attack marked a refreshing contrast to the fiasco at the key port of Dakar, Africa, a year ago.

It was revealed in London that the Commando attack on Madagascar, supported by marines, RAF forces and naval contingents, had been planned three months in advance.

PRESIDENT OF PERU: Closer Latin Ties

Closer knitting of relations between Latin America and the United States was seen in the visit of President Manuel Prado of Peru to this country.

When Senor Prado arrived by clipper plane, it marked the first official visit in history, of a South American president to the United States.

Significance of this precedent-breaking official mission to the future of Pan-American resistance to Nazism was seen in the fact that Peru was the first South American country to break off relations with the Axis under the accord reached last January at the Rio de Janeiro conference. President Prado's Anti-dictator policy before the war was an important step in the virtual exclusion of Axis propaganda from Peru.

Under a recent decree, Peruvian armed forces now function under the direction of U. S. army and navy officers.

RUBBER: U. S. Wants Tires

Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, intimated that county fairs, football games and other public gatherings might have to be curtailed this year in the interest of rubber conservation, when he announced that the government planned to purchase extra tires from private car owners. By "extra" was meant more than five to a car, he said. Purchases will be on a voluntary basis.

At the same time the Office of Defense Transportation disclosed that it was drafting plans for "rationing" civilian travel by train, bus or airplane. Officials declared that "travel-as-usual" would be a thing of the past by the end of 1942. They expressed the belief that sharp curtailments of non-essential trips would be necessary before the end of the summer.

That requisitioning of civilian tires and cars would be undertaken if necessary was a view supported by a number of Washington officials.

In outlining his views on motor car use curtailment, Mr. Patterson said the prospects are that there will be sufficient rubber for the army, navy, war-workers and essential civilian supplies. He pointed out that there was a million tons of rubber "now rolling on the highways" and that it must be conserved.

Civilians who expect synthetic rubber plants to bring any relief this year are doomed to disappointment, it was declared. All such rubber is ear-marked for the nation's armed forces.

LIVESTOCK SHOW: War Casualty

Indicative of necessary war-time restrictions on the nation's transportation facilities, was the decision by its directors to cancel the International Livestock Exposition held annually in Chicago for the past 42 years.

The anticipated lack of transportation facilities to handle the livestock formerly shipped here from all sections of North America was cited as the principal reason for the cancellation.

Traditionally the mecca for rural Americans of all ages in the week following Thanksgiving, the exposition recorded an all-time high attendance of 400,000 last year.

TRADE BARRIERS: Ban Local Restrictions

Suspension of trade barriers between states which are adversely affecting war production was predicted following the close of a federal-state conference on war restrictions in Washington.

Particularly critical at present are state and local laws governing man power, construction and housing. The delegates were informed. Steps must be taken by state governments to relieve this situation, speakers declared.

Rent Ruler

Charged with the responsibility of setting up machinery to place ceilings on rents affecting more than 86,000,000 persons, Paul A. Orter, deputy administrator of the Office of Production Management, is directing the federal rent control program under the supervision of Price Administrator Leon Henderson. Landlords in affected areas have until June 28 to stabilize rents in line with OPA recommendations.

'BACKDOOR THRUST': Japs Use Burma Road

Japan's "backdoor" invasion of China via the Burma road continued into Yunnan province despite U. S. army air attacks which knocked out 74 enemy planes in a single week.

Seriousness of the newest threat to China's resistance was seen in the decision of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to take personal command of his armies. That Chiang could count on stout co-operation from his American allies was shown by the repeated attacks by big Yankee bombers from India on the Jap's main airdrome at Mingaladon north of Rangoon, Burma. This field was the main Japanese base for the all-but-finished Burma campaign which had been extended to China.

The effectiveness of the American air offensive was illustrated by reports that each bomber was able to drop 250-pound explosives on the field in spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire.

CHARGE ACCOUNTS: Time Buying Curbed

Every American who used a charge account or an installment purchasing plan to acquire the goods he uses in everyday living was affected by the Federal Reserve board's orders clamping the brakes on time-payment buying. The orders, tightening restrictions already in effect, were the latest move in President Roosevelt's attack on spiraling prices.

The Reserve board decreed:

- 1—A limit of 12 months in the period over which most consumer's goods could be purchased on installment plans.
- 2—Down payments of one-third cash on a majority of consumers' items. Exceptions were automobiles purchasable over a 15-month period and furniture and pianos for which a down payment of only 20 per cent is required for purchase of over a 12-month period.
- 3—Payment of charge accounts in full by the 10th day of the calendar month after purchase. Failure to abide by this order would prevent the purchaser from buying on the account until he settled up.
- 4—The following additions to the list of goods on which regulations already apply: automobile batteries, tires, tubes and accessories; bedding, draperies, household electrical appliances; used furniture; athletic goods; household equipment; non-military clothing including shoes, hats and other haberdashery.

SPECIALISTS SOUGHT: Also Allied Nationals

Two moves to increase the flexibility of the army were made when the war department announced the creation of the new army specialist corps and the selective service headquarters declared that nationals of all Allied nations will be able to join either this country's forces or those of their home nation.

Men with certain specialized skills will be recruited for the army specialist corps. They will replace those who are capable of going into active military service. In general, no men subject to the draft will be admitted into the new corps, according to the announcement. Those accepted may become officers ranging from lieutenants to "director generals."

In the move to recruit nationals of our allies, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, announced that reciprocal arrangements had already been worked out under which Canadians residing in this country might join either the Canadian or American forces. This agreement will be extended to other nations.

Forty-five men would be needed to operate one of the alcohol plants he envisages and cost of the plant under present conditions would be about $600,000. Financing alcohol plants is no problem at present, but getting priorities on precious steel is another matter. Unless WPB can be induced to change its present attitude which favors allocating available steel for construction of plants making synthetic rubber from petroleum instead of from farm crops, there is little chance of the alcohol plant program going through, he admitted.

"It costs eight times as much money and requires eight times as much steel to make rubber from petroleum as from farm crops," Dr. Christensen said. In perhaps the finest talk heard in Ord in recent years, unfortunately heard only by a small group of business men, Dr. Christensen gave in broad outline the work of the research department he heads and told about recent discoveries in chemistry and what may be expected in the future. He also traced development of synthetic rubber from the time of its discovery by Perkin, an Englishman, in 1912, to the present when it is being manufactured so extensively in foreign countries.

In the past, raw materials used industrially by the United States have been largely imported, he said. We imported 600,000 tons of rubber yearly, 97% of which came from the Dutch East Indies and Malay States; 200,000 tons of starch principally from the Dutch East Indies; vast tonnages of paint and varnish oils, principally from the Orient; and great quantities of cellulose from Finland, Russia, Norway and other countries of Europe. Basic processing industries must be based on farm crops, he said, but to our discredit we have in the past imported these farm crops from abroad rather than developing their production in the continental United States.

Test plots planted this spring in Nebraska under auspices of the research foundation he heads will disclose suitability of our soil and climate for many of the crops formerly imported from abroad. Many varieties of oil-bearing seeds, plants from which rubber may be extracted, fibrous plants to take the place of jute and sisal and condiment plants to take the place of imported products are now being tried out under Nebraska conditions. One of these test plots is located on the W. E. Dodge farm near Ord.

Dr. Christensen held forth little hope that important quantities of natural rubber may ever be extracted from milkweed, dandelions, goldenrod or any of the other plants being tried experimentally. Only extracted is the guayule, a shrub which grows wild in southwestern United States and Mexico and which has been developed under cultivation until the best of it will produce 400 pounds of rubber to the acre. A total of 45,000 acres of guayule is now being planted but it will be years before much rubber production can come from this source. By 1949, he estimates we will be getting about 100,000 tons of rubber a year from this source.

Normal civilian need for rubber in this country is 600,000 tons per year, he said, and present military and civilian needs combined would exceed 1,200,000 tons of rubber a year if we could get it, he said. Guayule production, years delayed, will even then furnish only a small fraction of the rubber we need, he stated.

New uses of present farm crops are the most important work of his department at present, said Christensen. Nebraska has a small grain crop of at least 100,000,000 bushels coming in and there is only 13,000,000 bushels of storage space available for it. If some use for this surplus grain could be devised, either in the way of alcohol or starch production, it would solve a great many problems.

He pointed out that there is always a shortage of protein feeds on the farm, and a surplus of starch feeds, whereas starch is the very thing industry needs. Practically every industrial product made by chemistry utilizes the starch and leaves the protein for use as farm feed.

Research has established that Leoti red is one of two known grains which produce a waxy type of starch which may be substituted successfully for a cassava starch formerly imported, and Nebraska had 200,000 acres of Leoti red last summer, one-fourth enough to supply the demand for waxy starch for the whole United States.

Unfortunately, factories now in operation making corn starch are being used to full capacity and there is no steel available under war conditions to build new factories to process the waxy starch. General Foods, Inc., which bought 100,000 pounds of Leoti red at Republican City last week, is experimenting with a new process which converts this product in a flour mill and if the experiment is successful there may be a great market for Leoti red by autumn.

The fermentation industries all use starches, he pointed out, and the industrial demand for their products is 3 1/2 to 4 times normal entirely excluding the use of alcohol in making rubber, which in his judgment is the coming thing. This means vast expansion of the nation's alcohol producing facilities and this in turn will create a vast new market for surplus farm crops of all types. Alcohol can be made equally well from corn, wheat, rye, barley, oats, any sorghum, cull potatoes, surplus fruits, etc.

There will be no natural rubber for at least ten years, in the judgment of Dr. Christensen. The British and Dutch destroyed rubber trees on a vast scale when they were driven out of the Malay States and the East Indies; the Japs will destroy the rest of them when we drive them out. Since it takes seven years for a seedling to produce rubber after it is planted, it will be at least ten years before natural rubber is again available to this country in large quantity, even if the war should end tomorrow.

Last year only 4,000 tons of synthetic rubber was produced in this country, as compared to an estimated 300,000 tons in Russia and fully as much in Germany, stated Dr. Christensen. This year we will not produce more than 20,000 tons, he estimated, and if the present policy of building plants to make rubber from petroleum is followed it will be many years before we are making it in the quantities we need.

There is at least a year's research remaining to be done in making "butyl" rubber from petroleum, he stated, whereas the process of making it from alcohol has been commercially successful since 1935.

Furthermore, there is now being perfected a process to convert alcohol into glycol and then into rubber which will double the quantity of rubber it is now possible to extract from a gallon of alcohol, he said. His plan is to build alcohol plants on a large scale immediately and go to making synthetic rubber with all possible speed. Converting these plants into glycol plants will be easy to do when the glycol rubber process is finally perfected, he states, and no time or materials will be lost in doing it.

His 5-point program for rubber, he stated, is:

1. We must get a supply of rubber at the earliest moment possible.

2. It would be wrong, maybe fatal, to depend entirely now on either the petroleum or alcohol method of making rubber, but both should be developed.

3. The cheapest, easiest method known of making rubber now is making it from alcohol.

4. Build grain alcohol plants today.

5. Push glycol research and as soon as it is perfected convert the alcohol plants.

Dr. Christensen says the Department of Agriculture is awake to the situation and is trying to persuade WPB to change its attitude and he praised highly the work being done by all Nebraska's representatives in Congress, particularly Senator Norris, in trying to get alcohol plants for Nebraska.

Discussing the requirements for 10,000 gallon daily capacity alcohol plants, Dr. Christensen said each would require about 100 tons of steel as well as other strategic materials of which there is a shortage. Each would use 3,600 bushels of corn or other grain per day, or 1,500,000 bushels per year. When the grain is processed large quantities of high-protein livestock feed would be left in dry form. Its protein content would range from 32 to 36 per cent, he estimated, and it would be equivalent in feeding value to cotton cake and other protein feeds.

Dr. Christensen also talked about production of plastics from farm crops and said an alcohol plant, sugar beet factory and plastic plant could exist side by side, each using parts of the same crop that the others could not use. Plastics, for instance, could be made from the cellulose in corn cobs, corn stalks and straw while the grain itself was used for alcohol which in turn could be used in the making of plastics. Vast peace-time development along this line after the war is envisaged by Christensen.

Business men listened to his talk closely and for twenty minutes after he finished they asked questions, to all of which he gave ready answers. The Chamber of Commerce feels well repaid in getting Dr. Christensen to Ord for a talk and regrets only that more farmers did not heed the invitation extended to hear him.

He was introduced by County Agent C. C. Dale, who before the meeting took Dr. Christensen on a drive through the valley.

Notes From the VALLEY COUNTY FARM BUREAU

By C. C. Dale

Conserve Rotenone.

It is more important than ever to conserve supplies of rotenone poisons, which have come into widespread use for control of garden insects, according to word received this week from O. S. Bare, Associate Professor of Entomology at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture. Bare said that the conservation order M-133 issued recently by the War Production Board does not restrict the use of rotenone garden insecticides that gardeners or local dealers may have on hand. However, in the future such insecticides will be manufactured or mixed only for special purposes, and sales by dealers will be regulated.

Bare recommended that the use of rotenone poisons can be confined to such garden crops as peas, beans, tomatoes, spinach, lettuce, and similar crops whose above-ground vegetative parts can be eaten.

Several substitutes are available. Lead arsenate or Paris green will control such crops as potatoes against chewing insects and is safe. Nicotine sulphate or pyrethrum dusts or sprays will control such sucking insects of aphids or leaf hoppers. Blister beetles are best controlled by dusts that contain sodium fluosilicate or barium fluosilicate, and the striped and spotted cucumber beetles are controlled by early and persistent use of calcium arsenate-gypsum dust.

Directions for mixing and using these materials are contained in the "Pests of the Vegetable Garden", Extension Circular 1512, which can be obtained from the Valley county extension office.

Kill Cucumber Beetles.

Gardeners should start soon to control cucumber beetles Extension agent Dale said this week.

Associate Extension Entomologist Don Whelan of the Nebraska College of Agricultural states that cucumber beetles often are difficult to control, as the adults do not eat poisoned foliage readily and the larvae feed on the underground stems. Control measures should be started as soon as the beetles first appear, before they lay their eggs. This often is when the plants are just a few days old.

Use calcium arsenate gypsum dust. This is made by mixing an ounce of calcium arsenate with a pound of gypsum or sand plaster. Applications should be made as soon as the plants are above the ground and once a week until the middle of July. All parts of the plant, especially the base or crown, should be well covered.

Cucumber beetles also spread bacterial wilt of cucumbers, squash and melons. The bacteria remain alive inside the beetles and often are carried from one season to the next in that manner.

Soil Moisture
Determines Corn Yields.
Emil Prusa well known grower of certified hybrid seed corn who lives in Colfax county, has learned some interesting facts regarding the depth of soil moisture at planting time as it affects corn yields.

Mr. Prusa, who was a caller in the Valley County Agent's office last week, believes that the following are the figures which Mr. Prusa has worked out on his farm near Howells, Nebr.

Year	Soil Moisture at Planting Time	Yield per acre
1941 (Field No. 1)	48 inches	49 bu.
1941 (Field No. 2)	40 inches	36.5 bu.
1940	40 inches	37 bu.
1939	16 inches	12 bu.
1938	15 inches	7 bu.
1936	Dry ground at plow depth	No corn

The good yields in 1940 and 1941 were secured with a planting of two kernels per hill, on checked corn which is the equivalent of a planting distance of 20 to 21 inches apart on listed corn.

Mr. Prusa summed up his observations as follows: If there is less than 20 inches of moisture in the soil at planting time, don't plant corn, but substitute grain sorghums. With 20 to 30 inches of moisture plant only one kernel per hill, with 30 to 48 inches of moisture plant two kernels per hill and do not plant at the old rate of 3 kernels per hill unless there is five to six feet of soil moisture.

Mrs. Glen Johnson was ill with a bad sore throat last week but is recovering now.

Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Osentowski left Monday evening of last week after a few days at home with relatives and friends. He has been stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., but from here was to go to Pennsylvania for a three-months course of post-graduate dentistry. He likes the army and made a fine picture in his uniform.

Mrs. Anna Holloway is stay-

these figures should interest Valley county farmers. He states that any farmer can dig a few holes in the field now and determine the rate of planting and also get a good idea as to the yield which may be expected.

Following are the figures which Mr. Prusa has worked out on his farm near Howells, Nebr.

Year	Soil Moisture at Planting Time	Yield per acre
1941 (Field No. 1)	48 inches	49 bu.
1941 (Field No. 2)	40 inches	36.5 bu.
1940	40 inches	37 bu.
1939	16 inches	12 bu.
1938	15 inches	7 bu.
1936	Dry ground at plow depth	No corn

All corn on the Prusa farm is planted and tended on the contour and he believes that contour farming is the only way on central Nebraska's rolling land.

He believes that of the Nebraska Certified hybrids, Iowa 939 is best adapted to this area. He states that some later maturing varieties have made better yields in some instances the past few years, but says that for five years we have had abnormally long growing seasons and that with wetter seasons we are likely to have earlier frosts in which case many of the later maturing varieties will not make sound marketable corn.

Mrs. J. W. McGinnis this week and helping with some sewing. Over the week end Mrs. Holloway was a guest of Mrs. Kingston.

F. J. Melia arrived Thursday on a routine trip to Ord to take care of business matters.

Project Club Leaders Indignant at Criticism in Anonymous Letter from an Arcadia Woman

Valley county project club women, 209 of them, and 63 Arcadia members in particular, are highly incensed at the one or two recent letters to the Omaha World-Herald calling such clubs a waste and a shame. wering the unsigned attacks Mrs. Andersen declares:

"I don't know how I would have managed my home as a bride without Uncle Sam's help. I learned to bake my first perfect biscuits in June from extension circular 942 and still use this recipe often. You have never tasted better bread than made from recipes in circular 940 of April 1942. I used to varnish my floors and woodwork often, as harsh soaps took it off. Now I varnish every five years and use the suggestions for the care of walls and floors in circular No. 1173A. The wall paper cleaner is great. The farm garden bulletin No. 1211 is the best ever in its line. "And do I ever can food?"

"It has only cost me 23c for the most expensive year of membership. That is 5c for council dues, once a year, three-fifths of which goes to the state for council dues and two-fifths stays in your county to pay for your chairwoman's expenses at the state council meeting. I paid 15c for a song book the first year and about three cents a year for an envelope and cover for my notebook.

"Yes, reports are tiresome. But how else is Uncle Sam to know if we are taking his advice? As one of 13,000 members I'm sure it has helped me to save and be a better citizen in past years and I hope will continue to help me save for stamps and bonds now."

AAA News Notes

The county committee wish to express their appreciation to those people who helped make the salvage campaign of the past week the success that it was. We had hoped to get a car of iron. We are pleased to say that we loaded three cars of scrap iron and cast. Besides this there were several tons of rubber and bones. Much credit is due Ign. Klima, Jr., and the rural school teachers and their pupils for this most successful campaign.

We again wish to call to the attention of farmers who sealed corn and used sisal-kraft paper as roofing that there are several cribs where this paper has torn or blown off. This leaves the corn exposed to the weather and may result in a loss to the farmer. Every farmer who has corn sealed under such a roof should inspect the roof and make the necessary repairs.

Those farmers wishing to re-seal their barley should make their intentions known to the county committee in order that we may get the necessary work completed and sent into the Commodity Credit corporation in plenty of time.

We are glad to have Cecil Wardrop return to his work this week. He is in good health. He has been with this office since the summer of 1937.

Five Months in Sticky Heat of the West Indies Was Enough for Earl Barnard, Even at $6,500 Salary

Ord Boy a Boss on Giant Air Base Built by U. S. but Seeks Better Climate.

Add to the list of Ord boys who have wandered into strange and distant lands the name of Earl Barnard, who graduated from Ord high school in 1931, and returned Tuesday from Jamaica, British West Indies. Earl has been working there since about Dec. 1 on a war department contract for a giant air base. There he was one of between 7,000 and 8,000 workers, his title being assistant superintendent of mechanical works, with the attractive salary of $6,500 per year attached. He reached home Tuesday, coming by air via Cuba and north, as few boats sail those waters now.

When Earl left for his new job he went by boat from New York City, and it was only a day or two until war was declared. When that happened his wife knew that she and the boys would never be permitted to join him, so they lived in their nice trailer home in the Barnard yard all winter. The boys are David, 2 1/2, and Bill Alan, who is nine months and all their daddy was allowed to bring them was a pair of Jamaican dolls, because of war restrictions. The dolls are charming brown stuffed skins of cloth with dark features, bright clothes, rings in their ears, and huge flat baskets of fruit and treasure attached to their heads. The dolls are about ten inches high, and "look just like the Jamaican women. The women do all the work down there, and carry everything on their heads," says the Ord man.

It is a lazy climate, temperature averaging 90, but wet and sticky. The natives are slow-motion-y about work, but often get time to carve one another with machetes, their big sharp knives. They speak English and understand it, unless they prefer not to, and these dark-skinned people make up most of the population. It is a British possession, and a few British are in control of it.

Jamaica is a steep, skinny little island dotted on the map about 500 or 600 miles north of the Panama Canal, which is directly south of it. North of Jamaica is Cuba. Jamaica is about 104 miles by 49 miles, and has to be cleared for banana and sugar plantations; most of it is thick green jungle, or the mountain peaks rise to 7,000 feet. It is a land of earthquakes which give "a kind of sickish feeling, or turns me over in bed," says Earl. This is the island where the famed Port Royal vanished when an earthquake struck it; Kingston Harbor the chief city is called now.

Not a picture has Earl to show for his sojourn; 25 rolls of film were confiscated at customs when he left. Every letter he wrote was left unsealed for the censors. Writing his wife he needed an electric razor and a radio, she sent them from Ord on Jan. 12. Because the radio must be entirely taken apart and put back together by the British to be sure it wouldn't send, he did not get these things until about two weeks before he came home.

Boats are not so popular since the submarines have popped up in those waters, most travel is done by air, and reservations must be got weeks in advance. Once in a while a boat from New Orleans sneaks down the coast line and docks at Jamaica, but most of the resort travel is gone. Once wealthy tourist trade filled the fine hotels.

Jamaica is a beauty spot, flowers and fruit grow lushly, with orchids catching root in rich damp spots like toadstools do for us. They are all colors and beautiful kinds. Grapefruit are sweet as apples there, yams, breadfruit, coconuts, date palms, lime trees and bananas grow wild. A big long kind of banana called Planters is much esteemed by the residents, who fry it as we do potatoes, but it didn't please the Ord man. He didn't like breadfruit, either. Natives chew sugar cane shoots until none of them have teeth. "Some of the boys shot alligators and made them into bags and suitcases. There are lots of alligators there. It was hot and I threw away my heavy boots. Mostly we wore shorts to work in, for it was really warm. I nearly froze to death when I first got back here. Nights there were nice and cool. The trip home was on a 12-passenger Lockheed, which jumped back and forth over Cuba, stopping at nearly every little town to pick up a crate of eggs or etc., about like our local trains do. Mr. Barnard was disappointed not to get a birds-eye glimpse of Jamaica as he left, as a blackout was ordered, but Cuba was on full display. From here the Barnard family left Monday with their trailer house for Pueblo, Colo., where he will work on an airport. Mrs. Barnard was formerly Jackie Hulbert, and she does not want to be left behind again (s-s) she's the one who talked him into going down into that "interesting" place to work; that she couldn't go ("She's going with me after this!" he declares firmly).

Mrs. Lloyd Wilson has been a flu victim the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Masonka arrived Sunday from California to visit his parents. Ralph leaves next week with a group of selectees.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Gudmundsen became the happy parents of a new son Wednesday morning. The young man weighed eight pounds and five ounces, and was immediately named Harold Dean. Dr. Round was the doctor in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mrky came Thursday to spend the day with her mother, Mrs. Cecile Fox. Mr. Mrky was called from Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., to Ravenna because of the dangerous illness of his father, and is about to be transferred to another post when he returns to duty. Thursday evening Mrs. Fox's father, S. Mairs, came from Elmwood and will spend about two weeks with her and the children.

This letter brought a ray of hope into a day wrought with prayer and anxiousness. Mrs. Mathauser has never faltered in the belief that her son is living. News of the disappearance of his plane has been taken calmly by all the members of the family. Details have been largely lacking. The family has never been informed as to the plane's destination. Mrs. Mathauser says she realizes that her son is in a dangerous part of the nation's defense and she states that she knows that sometime she would get bad news from her son. About a week before while listening over the radio she heard a report that a plane at MacDill Field had gone down and that she was much relieved to hear that none of the boys aboard were from the radio station's territory.

Elmer, who is 24 years old, is the oldest child and only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mathauser. He has three sisters, two of whom, Marie and Amelia, are living in Washington, D. C., where they hold civil service appointments. The third sister, Wilma, still lives at home and is employed in the county judge's office. Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mathauser of Ord are Elmer's uncle and aunt. William and Emil Mathauser are brothers and their wives are sisters. Mrs. Emil Mathauser, who observed her birthday anniversary Sunday, declared that she would never want any other gift than her nephew's safe return.

Elmer graduated from the Burwell high school with the class of 1937. He is a quiet, unassuming, very industrious young man. Jobs were hard to find after he left school and he gladly did any work he could obtain. For several months he was employed in the Noll Seed store in Burwell, later worked in Meyers and Manasil's garage and at the valued employee of the Burwell butter factory. He gave up good work, which he liked and one where the public and his associates liked him in order to serve his country.

Scores of people call daily at the Mathauser home to extend their sympathy and to express their prayers and wishes that Elmer will soon be found unharmed. To these visitors his mother states, "I feel certain that Elmer is alive and well. I dreamed last night that he was home and I have faith that he is still all right."

4 miles south of Burwell, says Henry Zeleski, bus driver, and the highway is in good shape.

A wind storm that approached cyclone proportions in some sections did damage Tuesday night also. A. W. Pierce, of Ord, left early this morning for Comstock to investigate reports that the buildings on his farm had been severely damaged. Only one building was left standing, a rumor says. At the E. B. Stewart farm east of Ord a small twister tore up fencing, it is said.

Hall broke many windows in Burwell and Taylor while trees were broken by the strong wind. No damage of this nature was done in the Ord locality and the river here was not unduly high this morning, indicating that the head of water coming down from Taylor and Burwell had not reached this point yet. Headgates of the Burwell dam were opened last night to minimize the danger from high waters.

So far in May the Ord weather station reports 1.58 inches of moisture, including 10 Tuesday night and 20 Wednesday morning. Since January 1 a total of 6.85 inches is reported by Horace Travis.

No rain fell in North Loup Tuesday night and only a sprinkle fell Wednesday morning. South of Ord only light showers are reported but west of Ord the rain is said to have been heavier.

27 Farm Owners Buy 70 Wisconsin Dairy Calves

Late Tuesday afternoon the truck load of dairy calves from Wisconsin, purchased for local farmers through the Ord Co-operative creamery, arrived in Ord. The load was delayed several hours by a break-down at North Loup.

There were seventy calves in the shipment, principally Holsteins but with four Guernseys and seven Brown Swiss included. Twenty-seven farm owners who had reserved the calves were on hand to get them, largest number claimed by one farmer being six by Lee Klingler. Carl Dale and Jess Worm got 5, Everett Hornickie, Russell Jones and H. E. Cook got 4, Lloyd Needham, F. E. Beran and W. J. Novosad 3, Al Drake, Fred Christensen, Earl Rade, Harold Miller, Eldon Kokes, Tom Greenland, Emerson Daley, Carl Ashley, Venard Collins, Howard Karre, Wm. Bose and John Kokes, Jr., 2 each, and the following 1 each: W. D. Thompson, Wm. Foth, Wm. Valasek, N. C. Nelson, Laverne Nelson, Bob Zentz.

The creamery sold the calves at cost, about $25 each, in order to promote the growth of dairying in this community.

Junior Rotarians Entertain Club

During the present school year the Ord Rotary club has each month invited two members of the senior class of Ord high school to become "Junior Rotarians" for the month. Monday all the senior boys so honored by the Rotary club during the year held a meeting, elected officers and planned a program to be given to their parent group Monday evening.

Gould Flagg was chosen president and presided at the meeting, in place of Dick Teague. Alex Cochrane was song leader, capably replacing Bob Noll, the regular leader. Eugene Novotny served as program committee chairman and introduced five boys, each of whom made an interesting talk. Edward Rousek discussed swine raising, Jerry Petska talked on school activities, Henry Adams on athletics, Eldon Wachtrie on dramatics and Alex Cochrane on music. President Flagg then called on Jerry Fryzek, as secretary of the junior club, for an attendance report, and he reported that 11 of the 14 members had perfect attendance records for the time they were supposed to attend Rotary meetings. Leonard Kokes as treasurer, reported that since the senior club paid all the bills the junior club needed no money and had none. It was one of the most interesting programs the Rotarians have had this year.

Canoe Used on Burwell Streets to Rescue Marooned Residents

This canoe, which usually is used on the waters of Lake Burwell, became a rescue craft after last week's flood when David Borden and Clarence Rohde used it to take Miss Gwen Beynon to her work in the Burwell schools and later performed a similar service for Dorothy Jane Duncan. One of Burwell's flooded streets is the scene pictured here.

Extensive Damage at Burwell; Flood Worst Since 1912

Firemen Pump Water from 43 Basements; Underpass, Irrigation Ditch Washed.

"It can't happen here," Burwell residents have always contentedly opined when they have heard reports of floods ravaging communities—but there always is a first time for everything and May 12 it did happen when a 3.11 inch rain falling in Burwell and the vicinity to the south and west completely inundated the south part of town and adjoining fields. Old time residents declare that they have never seen the flood waters so high.

In 1912 the south part of Burwell was flooded but the water did not come up as high or cover as large an area. In 1912 the flood was largely caused by melting snow. The water remained for more than a week while now scarcely any water remains within the city limits and by Thursday evening the flood had receded from more than half the area covered.

The receding waters left scores of basements flooded. The firemen, who were always on the alert during the deluge to assist the property owners in any way they could, pumped the water out of forty-three basements while in several more the water drained down the sewer. The basement walls in six Burwell residences caved in, Ora Miller's, Buck Simpson's, Joe Stupka's, A. C. Duncan's and Ernest Rowse's. Probably the greatest damage occurred at the Duncan home, where Dr. Cram formerly lived. One side of the basement wall caved in and props are being used to keep the house from settling. The basement was filled with household effects belonging to the Duncans who were partially packed up ready to move (Continued on page 10)

Dog Campaign Starts in Ord

A campaign to dispose promptly of all dogs running at large in the city of Ord unless their owners promptly procure dog tags has been started by Mayor M. B. Cummins. The ten-day grace period provided by ordinance after May 1, when the tax is due, has now expired and police will be instructed to deal according to law with all unlicensed dogs found, he says.

In 1941 there were 120 dogs assessed in Ord city but city licenses were issued covering only 44, the mayor points out. To date in 1942 only about 20 licenses have been issued by City Clerk Rex Jewett. People who are trying to raise big victory gardens have been complaining about damage done by dogs and this year the city's ordinances will be enforced strictly, the mayor promises. Any dog owner who wants to keep his pet should get a license at once.

Emil Darges Returns. New manager of the Food Center store in Ord is Emil Darges, who is temporarily taking the place of Carl Kotze, who last week enlisted in the army. Formerly manager of the store here, Emil has been in charge of stores at Loup City and Friend

Mayor Phillipps Sabotage Victim

Burwell — (Special) — Saboteurs, possibly junior fifth columnists, broke into Mayor H. A. Phillipps' feed store Friday night, committed a neat act of sabotage and made their escape undetected. They tightened the burrs of Mayor Phillipps' grinder and then turned on the electric motor, which they left running. When Mayor Phillipps discovered at midnight that the motor was running he found his grinder ruined, all electric wiring burned out and a sack which had been placed on the grinder's spout to keep feed from blowing away had caught on fire. Had he arrived a few minutes later his entire place would have been in flames. Identity of the culprits has not been discovered.

Dick Wampole Hurt In Rifle Accident

Richard Wampole, 14-year-old son of Mrs. Fred Wampole, was painfully injured Sunday afternoon when the bullet from a 22 calibre rifle accidentally discharged by his older brother, Marvin, lodged in the muscle of his left hip. Marvin was trying to put the rifle on safety when it discharged. Dr. H. N. Norris attended the lad and says his condition is not serious.

Frank Bala Dies After Long Illness

After an illness of almost a month, culminating in pneumonia, Frank Bala, 66 years old, died at 11 p. m., May 13 at the Ord hospital. Born in Pennsylvania, Mr. Bala had been employed on Loup valley farms for a number of years and had many friends here. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Agnes Zulkoski, of South Dakota. Funeral services were held at the Pearson-Anderson chapel Sunday with Rev. M. M. Long in charge and burial was in Ord cemetery.

106 Acres of New Waxy Type Corn Planted in Valley

Only 20 Bushels of Seed Now Available, 16 Bushels to Be Planted Here.

The irrigated North Loup valley between Ord and North Loup this summer will be the scene of a large-scale experiment in growing the new-type of waxy corn developed at the University of Nebraska experiment station by Dr. T. A. Kieselbach, which it is hoped will eventually provide much of the starch needed to replace cassava starch formerly imported from the East Indies.

Friday Walter Fitts, agronomist at the university, came to Ord and in company with County Agent C. C. Dale visited prospective growers, with the result that fields totalling 106 acres are to be planted this year on (Continued on page 7)

Neighbors Push Search for Body of Poland

About forty friends and neighbors of Earl Poland from the Sargent and Milburn communities made an intensive search of the North Loup river between Elyria and Ord Sunday in hope of finding the body of the man who drowned in the gravel pit on May 4th. Their search was fruitless and hope of recovering Poland's body has now been given up.

Searching parties started down river at the Elyria bridge on each bank while others started up-river from Ord. Some of the men wore boots and boats were used in the hunt. Islands and towheads in the river were thoroughly combed and all deep holes were prodded with long poles. It is thought now that the body must have sunk in quicksand and that it never will be recovered. Funeral services for Mr. Poland probably will be held this week.

Other features included anthems by the high school choir and a vocal solo, "Tomorrow Comes the Song," by Mrs. Mark Tolen. Professional and recessional were played by Don Auble.

A. W. Cornell, pioneer Ord farmer, underwent major surgical treatment at the Ord hospital Monday, the surgeon being Dr. C. J. Miller. He had been in poor health several weeks. His age and the severity of the operation lessen his chances for recovery and his condition Wednesday afternoon was said to be serious.

Saturday Will Be Poppy Day in Ord

Poppy Day in Ord will be Saturday, May 23, when you will be asked to honor the men who have given their lives for their country. The poppies have been distributed for the past 20 years by the Legion and its affiliations, and this year with the nation at war, the poppy has a new patriotic significance.

Auxiliary and Junior Auxiliary members will distribute the flowers, and it is hoped that every man, woman and child will wear one. They have been made by disabled veterans at the Lincoln hospital, men who receive little or no government aid and who have families to support.

Contributions from poppy sales are used by the Legion and Auxiliary for welfare work among disabled men and dependent families, says Mrs. Forrest Johnson, in charge of the drive.

Goodhand Starts to Raze Building

Wednesday morning Charles E. Goodhand began the work of tearing down the old Capron Agency building on the south side of the square, having completed a deal to buy it from Miss Elizabeth Maynard, of Freeport, Ill., the previous evening. Mr. Goodhand expects to push to completion rapidly the work of razing this unsightly and dangerous structure, declares Mayor M. B. Cummins. City officials had warned Miss Maynard they would take legal action compelling her to tear down the building and rather than stand the expense of so doing she accepted an offer made by Mr. Goodhand and sold the property to him.

Jacobsen, reported elsewhere. Most of the boys pictured here were granted 10-day furloughs after reporting at Fort Crook, Omaha.

Wreckage of Floyd Willard Home Near Comstock After Tornado Passed

Lifted off its foundation and dashed to the earth twenty feet away, the Floyd Willard home 3 miles west of Comstock was wrecked by a tornado in the manner shown by this picture. The Willard family took refuge in the basement when they saw the storm coming and escapes injury when their home was blown from above them. Scores of building look like this in the tornado belt north and west of Comstock.

5 Lbs. of Sugar Per Person Issued for Home Canning

People Who Want Sugar for Canning May Get Permit from Rationing Clerk.

Only five pounds of sugar per person in addition to the regular sugar ration, will be available for home canning during the remainder of 1942, announces Vern Russell, chairman of the Valley county rationing board. People desirous of doing home canning may apply for a special permit to buy this sugar at any time after May 21, he says.

Applications for permits should be filed with Mrs. Grace Sprague, ration board clerk, at her office on the top floor of the court house in Ord, said the chairman. All retail stores have supplies of these applications and after being filled out they may be mailed to Mrs. Sprague. The ration board will pass on these applications each Friday, and the permits will be mailed out.

Only families who have sugar rationing books are eligible to get permits to buy this extra sugar for canning purposes, he says.

Any member of the family may apply for the permit for the whole family but when applying in person should exhibit all the ration books issued to that family, and the special permit for canning will then be issued on the basis of 5 pounds for each ration book held within the family group.

Persons who had too much sugar at registration time to be eligible for ration books should, if they want to use the permitted amount of their own sugar for canning, apply just as though they had ration books. They will be given a permit to use their own sugar for canning purposes at the rate of 5 pounds for each person in the family, and thus will become eligible sooner for the regular war ration books. If they use up their own sugar for canning without first getting a permit to do so they may face a period of going without sugar for ordinary usage.

Phonograph Records for Son in Army

When the Joe Lukesh orchestra played its regular Sunday afternoon concert over KMMJ the occasion was a very special one and the orchestra played with added dash and spirit for they knew they were playing for an absent member of the orchestra, Emanuel Lukesh, who is in the army stationed at Camp Cooke, Calif. By previous arrangement, the radio concert was being reproduced on phonograph records at the Auble Bros. store here and the records—nine in all—will be sent to Emanuel by his father, Joe Lukesh. The boy, oldest of Joe's sons, formerly played trumpet in the famous Lukesh orchestra.

Promotion Program June 1.

Promotion exercises for the 99 boys and girls who complete their 8th grade work in the rural schools of Valley county will be held Monday, June 1 in the high school auditorium, announces Miss Clara McClatchey, county superintendent.

Only 7,444 People Filed for Sugar

The extent to which Valley county's population has slumped since the 1940 census is shown by the number who signed applications for war rationing books. Total number of people who signed at this time was only 7,444, says Mrs. Grace Sprague, ration board clerk. The 1940 census showed Valley county had 8,300 residents. The 1930 total was 9,553.

The sugar registration total does not reflect an absolutely accurate population figure, it is pointed out, since some few people may have failed to register, planning to do so later. But it seems certain the population has dropped sharply because many young men have entered the service and many families have moved away to get into defense work.

Of people registering for sugar, 6,775 received ration books, others having too much sugar on hand to be eligible for them at time of the registration. A total of 2,150 stamps were detached by registrars.

Operation Saves Kokes Baby's Life, Mother Succumbs

Mrs. John Kokes, jr., Brought to Hospital Fatally Ill, Dies Later Monday.

Funeral services are being held at the Catholic church in Ord at 10 o'clock Friday morning for Mrs. John Kokes, jr., who passed away at the Ord hospital Monday soon after a healthy baby girl was born to her by a caesarian operation. Mrs. Kokes had been ill about three weeks with a severe infection and the operation was resorted to as a means of saving the baby's life. Rosary for Mrs. Kokes will be held at their country home at 7:00 Thursday evening.

Mrs. Kokes is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamek and was born in Valley county April 25, 1912. She attended rural school and graduated later from Ord high school. She attended Kearney Normal and taught efficiently four years in the rural schools of this county, later being a popular employee for a period of three years in the Penney store. Her marriage to John Kokes, jr., took place Oct. 3, 1939.

Besides her husband and her parents, Mrs. Kokes is mourned by three brothers, Frank J. Adamek, of Craig, Colo., Edward Adamek, of Valley county, and Paul Adamek, who is in the army; and by six sisters, Froyne Klanecky, Ord; Anna Dahlin and Eva Lashmuth, Pasadena, Calif.; Minnie Sevenker, of Valley county; Marie Kessler, of Denver; and Irma Adamek, who lives at home.

Four Go From Burwell.

Tornado Wreckage North of Comstock Worst in History

Comstock—(Special)—Worst disaster in the history of this community was the tornado which struck hardest last Tuesday night in the neighborhoods north and west of the village and as reports of damage continue to flood in it becomes apparent that scores of buildings were wrecked and many families are homeless until they can provide new living quarters on their farms.

Telephone companies are sending in crews to repair damage to their lines, the Red Cross has a representative here investigating extent of the disaster and Sunday an estimated 500 cars toured the tornado area, marveling at the extent of damage done.

Probably the hardest hit of any place in this immediate vicinity was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Willard 3 miles northwest of Comstock, across the river. The Willards saw the storm coming and took refuge in the cellar. In some miraculous way they escaped injury for when the storm had passed they found themselves sheltered only by a shelf on which fruit had been stored.

The Willard house and every building on the place was swept away and strewn for miles. People in the Longwood and Wood's Park communities, across the river and four or five miles distant, have been finding clothing and papers belonging to the Willard family. One of their horses was lifted up and carried into a neighbor's pasture, where they found it dead. Household furnishings were strewn for miles.

South of the Willard farm, the place recently bought by Woodrow Packard also felt the brunt of the storm. The family took refuge in a cave or they might (Continued on page 6)

Hope Fades for Lad Lost on a Bomber

Burwell—(Special)—Hope of rescuing Elmer Mathauser, who was aboard a bomber missing from MacDill Field, Florida, since May 6, faded Tuesday when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mathauser, received a telegram from MacDill Field saying that search for the ship has been abandoned and all aboard presumably are lost.

A letter from the commandant of MacDill Field Monday revealed for the first time that the plane's course was over land and not over the Gulf of Mexico as has been supposed. The plane left the field at 7:15 p. m., May 6 and two hours later a radio report was received but it was so indistinct it could not be made out. The plane was camouflaged and would be hard to locate if it was forced down in the Everglades, the letter stated. Country over which it was flying is sparsely populated.

Mrs. Mathauser still holds the belief and hope that her son is alive and eventually will be rescued.

POLITICS AS USUAL.

One strategic material of which there will never be a shortage in the United States, though we could well stand its inclusion in a rationing program is politics.

After calling upon the nation to forego politics for the duration, President Roosevelt seems to take politics as usual for his own personal motto.

The Roosevelt appointment of Robert Hannegan, discredited St. Louis political boss, to the well-paid position of collector of internal revenue for Missouri is another instance of New Deal politics.

Retention of expensive "referrals" at war time when all other human values are being sacrificed to the war effort is the worst example of New Deal politics as usual.

The American people are in a mood for sacrifice but they expect their government to sacrifice along them. We can well get along without partisan politics until the war is over and it is up to our president to set us the example.

A GRAIN ALCOHOL PLANT

We have heard some Ordites say that this region couldn't support a plant to make alcohol from grain because we usually ship in corn instead of having a surplus of this grain.

In the first place it should be realized that any grain crop is fully as suitable for alcohol production as corn.

Figures submitted by Dr. Christensen indicate 3,600 bushels of corn would be needed per day, or 1,500,000 bushels per year.

Right here in the North Loup valley we will have 22,000 acres under irrigation this season, most of it in corn.

Perhaps it isn't proper to tell about one's own business in the editorial column but we think readers will be interested in one department of the Quiz that does more, perhaps, to spread the fame of Ord to the far corners of the nation than any other Ord business.

PHOTOENGRAVING.

Perhaps it isn't proper to tell about one's own business in the editorial column but we think readers will be interested in one department of the Quiz that does more, perhaps, to spread the fame of Ord to the far corners of the nation than any other Ord business.

Photoengraving is the science of transposing photographs on to metal plates in such a way that they can be used as illustrations for printed material.

The readers of other newspapers like pictures too and that is why editors all over the country send pictures to The Quiz to have them made into engravings.

It is a big business, bigger than most Ord people realize. Three people are kept busy in this plant, with two in the Quiz office mounting on wooden base the engravings made in the studio across the street.

SHOW-DOWN COMING?

This nation has been needing a show-down on the labor issue for some time and the demands of the milk wagon drivers' union in Chicago may provide the dynamite to bring about the show-down needed.

The union demands upon 85 Chicago milk dealers would, if granted, net some 500 drivers who deliver to stores an average of $190 per week or $9,800 per year, according to The Dairy Record.

Ernest S. Coats brings in an article clipped from the dairy paper which he reads, which tells about another union attempt to encroach on agriculture.

Last fall when apples were ripe in the Yakima Valley out in Washington the leaders of the apple pickers' union called on the apple growers for a closed shop on apple picking.

The American people are in a mood for sacrifice but they expect their government to sacrifice along them. We can well get along without partisan politics until the war is over and it is up to our president to set us the example.

This is an isolated incident, just as the demand of Chicago milk wagon drivers for absurd wages is an isolated incident, but they form parts of a general pattern.

The crippling strikes that held our armament program back by millions of man hours were parts of the same pattern.

By pampering labor the Administration brought about the present serious situation but the question is going to have to be faced realistically and honestly before it can be solved.

There are many signs that the public, here in the middle west especially, is growing tired of labor's arrogant demands and it won't take very much to set off the explosion that will cost organized labor everything it has gained in the long years of political effort.

SHORT-SIGHTED ORDITES

The government has advised and the advice has been passed through coal dealers and banks as well as by newspaper and radio, that every family fill its coal bins now for next winter.

Fuel is one commodity that the government wants people to hoard. There is no shortage of fuel but beginning in July and August when grain is ready for market there is going to be a definite shortage of transportation.

If all the coal dealers in Ord started the burning season next fall with their entire storage space of about 1,500 tons filled to capacity, an ordinary cold spell would cause a coal famine in two weeks, unless bin space of consumers is filled when the cold spell starts.

It is vital that the bins of consumers be filled now, in time for coal dealers to replenish their stocks and have their bins filled when cold weather sets in next fall.

War Ration Board's Activities Will Affect Lives of All Ordites

Here is pictured the Valley county rationing committee, the group whose official activities will affect greatly the every-day life of every Valley county citizen.

Already this board controls the sale and use of new tires and retreads, new automobiles and bicycles, and the wholesale and retail distribution of sugar.

Messrs. Russell, Zaboludil and Blessing are your neighbors. They do not institute rationing but merely apply locally the laws promulgated by higher authority.

Someone is forever saying "down in Davis Creek neighborhood" . . . Isn't that inviting? Don't you like the sound of it? Near Arcadia, or maybe it is Anselby, they have a "Wiggle Creek"; that fascinates me. Just say it: "Wiggle Creek".

The schoolhouse names in Valley county couldn't be more varied and colorful. Those names catch the ear and linger in the mind of the hearer long after a business-like number-and-district affair would skip the mind and leave one grogging.

Names interest me again this week. Last names. For instance, in last week's paper an unusual item told of the two Cowan boys who had been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cohen.

The F. J. Cohen family of Ord is Scotch and proud of it. But the Cowan boys got tired of being mistaken for members of another and much persecuted nationality, and so they spell their name in what they claim in the fashion of their forbears.

In the Tedro family, controversy has raged for years. Jud Tedro is positive that his name is Jud Tedro; his brother Frank Tedrow is certain that his name is Frank Tedrow. And woe unto the poor benighted person who brings up the subject for discussion with either of them, although they are ordinarily a happy-humored pair.

Sheriff George Round and his relatives do not agree on their name. The sheriff wants his name written exactly that way. But George's nephew, Don, in Arcadia always adds the "s," as his father, Parl always did.

Curt Gudmundsen was especially happy when his baby son was born last week, because there would be another "H. Gudmundsen" in the family. The infant was named Harold Dean. The grandfather who so honorably bore this title in Ord died several years ago. His name was not Harold but Hjalmar, however.

Families seem to admire the way a certain beginning letter first name fits with the surname. Thus, I noticed last week in the Stanley Gross' fame-ly there is Everett, Edward and Evelyn.

And the best example of this that I know of in Valley county was Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Coats, who named their family Walter, Wallace, Winifred, Wayne and believe there was a Weldon. An awfully "W-uuy" family, aren't they?

Once before in this column it was mentioned that the Blessing family name is translated from the Dutch meaning of the word, and was not the original name. But Blessing was what it meant and was much easier to say.

Judge Clements and other Clements family members bear a revised name . . . the "s" was added by the tongues of neighbors who found it easier to say with the s on it.

Misses Barbara and Elizabeth Lukes want me to spell their name without the final "h"; other members of the family locally add this letter. This final letter does not belong on the name, but was put there by a teacher when some small boys first came to school and were forever having to explain the correct pronunciation. Which as everyone in Ord knows, is heard as l-ookesh..

Names of nearby schools and neighborhoods are intriguing, too. What could be more story-filled than the Brick Schoolhouse (that isn't brick?) When did you hear names like Turtle Creek, Dane Creek, Muddy Creek and not long to go exploring? What about Round Park, isn't that a pretty name? Mira Valley and Geranium Township, attractive both of them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lukesh and son Edwin moved Sunday to Grand Island, which will be their home hereafter. Ed will be on the road for the Fairmont Creamery company, working the Broken Bow territory, and Mrs. Lukesh will be employed in the Fairmont office. Edwin has a job in a Grand Island skating rink.

Burwell Boy On Duty Somewhere Overseas

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoppes, of Burwell, are wondering "Where is our wandering boy tonight." Dale (right, above) enlisted in the army in October of 1940. He first was stationed at Fort Snelling in Minnesota, next he was at Camp Robinson in Arkansas, from there he was transferred to Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri, from where he was sent to maneuvers in Louisiana. Next he was selected to attend a school for men in the medical corps at Fort Sam Houston in Texas. After completing this course he was sent to Fort McClellan in Alabama and from there he was sent to New York City where he was stationed until January '42 when he sailed abroad. Previously the Hoppes heard from their son regularly wherever he was, but since he left port they have heard from him but three times. Shortly after leaving New York they received a letter from him telling them that he was in the canal zone. This was the last letter they received telling them where he was. Several weeks ago they received a card dated Febr. 25 from the war department telling them nothing but that their son had reached his "destination" safely. The whereabouts of the "destination" were not revealed. Sunday they received a second letter written by Dale consisting of but one small page, part of the contents of the letter were blacked out. He wrote that he could not tell where he was or what he was doing. The letter was postmarked New York but when the Hoppes' write their son they address the letters to San Francisco. The letter postmarked New York bore a San Francisco return address and so Mr. and Mrs. Hoppes wonder if their boy is in Australia, Ireland, or in the Atlantic or Pacific ocean.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Describes Pearl Harbor.

A vivid description of the air raid on Pearl Harbor, which he experienced, is told in the following excerpt from a letter written by LeRoy Brandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Brandt, former Burwell residents who now live in Columbus. LeRoy is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ronzoz of Burwell. He enlisted in the air corps in October 1940 and was stationed at Hickam Field in Hawaii Dec. 7 when the Japs raided Pearl Harbor. He was returned to the United States in March and is now stationed at Hemet, Calif.

"You wanted to know about the raid at Pearl Harbor. I'll tell some of it but it's a long story and it isn't pleasant to talk about. It was a three hour raid starting at 7:55 and ending about 11 but there were a couple of fifteen minute or so lulls during the raid. First of the attack was on planes, hangars and headquarters. After that was over we got all the guns, ammunition etc., we could out of the hangars and supply rooms. I just got back to the barracks when they came again, this was the big raid. They were hitting barracks from every angle and as they would try to get out they would machine gun them as they ran.

One dropped in one of our doors and blew me out another door. Incidentally this killed about twenty-five men including our first sergeant and our lieutenant adjutant. I went in another wing and was blown out of there. I thought I was done for then, but I saw I wasn't hurt so I went down the road about a block to the ball diamond where we had some machineguns set up. You couldn't see your hand in front of your face but you could hear the machine gun bullets whizzing by. Just as I got there 9 bombs hit all at once. That's when Bob (his chum from Columbus) was killed. He was blown to pieces along with nearly all the rest of the men.

Of all the men there, I guess there were about a half dozen of us left. Most of the guns were knocked out so we proceeded to carry those hurt two blocks to the hospital. We worked in pairs at this. Another soldier with me at first was hit in the stomach and went out of his head a little but he is o.k. today. Sure had a big hole through him and I had a heck of a time trying to keep him down and quiet. From there we went to the big mess hall and kitchen to help clean up and that is where I about buckled. Tornado Wreckage North of Comstock Worst in History have been killed for their basement house was wrecked and furnishings strewn in all directions. A large truck owned by Mr. Packard was swirled around and deposited on top of the wreckage of the house. It looks like a total loss. A brooder house and 500 baby chickens disappeared and not one chicken has been found, either dead or alive. Most of the trees on the place were twisted and shattered. Mr. and Mrs. Packard and two children are staying in town with his father until a shelter can be built on the farm.

On the Heller place 3 miles north of town a large barn, a tile brick hog house, a silo and other buildings were leveled and although the house was left standing there is scarcely a shingle left on the roof and all the windows were sucked in. On Mr. Heller's other farm, formerly occupied by Mrs. Randy Brecken but vacant now, the barn and granary and the roof from a government-sealed corn crib were destroyed. The summer kitchen was blown off the house and the huge trees on this place are left with only the trunks standing. Some of the trees were uprooted and it is almost impossible to get through the debris left by the storm.

Other places less seriously damaged in the Longwood section include the Cleveland place, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Waldmann, where a chicken house was wrecked; the John Shanks place, where small buildings were blown down and the big barn moved on its foundation enough to split the rafters; the Ludwig farm where the Lawrence Waldmann family lives, where the wind took about half the roof off the barn; the Grace Wright farm where Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Skoll live, barn moved off foundation; Mr. and Mrs. Clint Dye report barn moved; only field houses torn down at the E. A. Haynes place; small buildings wrecked on the Eddie Kriss farm; Radl school, house in Woodman hall community damaged; outbuildings and windmill at Longwood school damaged.

Across the river west of Comstock all buildings and fences were leveled on the Roe Allen farm, now unoccupied; a rock cattle shed on the Gibbons ranch was wrecked; much damage to buildings and trees at the Wm. Dowse farm; barn wrecked at the J. J. Drobný farm; trees uprooted on the old John Stefla place; and dozens of other properties damaged more or less seriously.

On the Vance Grabowski farm, owned by Joe Woracek of Omaha all buildings except the house were wrecked and the porch was ripped off the house. Mr. Grabowski lost a nice saddle horse which was in the barn when it went over and most of the chickens on the place were blown away. The house on the August Bartu farm west of town, where Pete Duryea lived, was wrecked and crashed through the roof, and outbuildings were a total loss. Mr. and Mrs. Duryea and their son Laddie crouched in one of the rooms and were unhurt.

Only place damaged south of town on the east side of the river was the Hiblightner place where Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Lewin live. There smaller outbuildings were wrecked, only the house and granary standing. Mrs. Hiblightner will rebuild nearer the road.

Livestock was killed on many farms and thousands of chickens perished. Most of the fences in the path of the storm were blown down and rolled and tangled until it is almost impossible to use any part of the wire. In most cases farmers are having to buy new wire and everybody who visits the tornado belt realizes what a terrific task it will be to clear away the debris, let alone repairing the buildings.

Only 54 of an inch of rain accompanied the tornado and there was only a little hail. No financial estimate of the damage done is possible but it doubtless would be $100,000 or higher.

AAA News Notes

It seems that farmers do not understand the priorities procedure applicable to binder twine. We are told that many farmers are reluctant to sign the certification that they must sign before a dealer is authorized to deliver twine to them.

A farmer may obtain twine by endorsing the following statement on his purchase order: "The undersigned hereby represents that the Binder Twine covered by this order will be either resold or used by the undersigned for and for only one or more of the uses specified in paragraph (f) of General Preference Order M-84."

We suppose all farmers have been taking care of their burlap bags and they should as it is getting hard to get them at any price. They have more than doubled in price in the past six months.

There still is considerable confusion regarding what crops are considered conserving and we are listing those crops that will be considered conserving in 1942; along with other conserving qualifications.

Each farm should have at least 20 per cent of its cropland devoted to the following soil-conserving uses:

(a) Perennial grasses or legumes, including new seedlings if seeded alone or with a nurse crop pastured or clipped green and left on the land.

(b) Biennial legumes, lespedeza, or annual sweet clover, including new seedlings if seeded alone or with a nurse crop pastured or clipped green and left on the land.

(c) Sudan, millet, or annual rye grass for pasture.

(d) Green manure, or go-down crops qualifying for soil-building payment.

(e) Summer fallow qualifying for soil building payment.

(f) Forest trees planted on cropland since 1935.

(g) Austrian winter peas or vetch grown for seed.

(h) Land qualifying for soil-building payment under the weed control practice.

(i) Idle cropland on which approved terraces are constructed during the 1942 crop year.

(j) Sweet sorghums, oats, rye, sudan, or millet cut green for hay provided a strip one rod wide is left standing between each five-rod strip harvested. (Applicable only in designated counties of Nebraska and South Dakota.)

On May 22 the three county committee men and the farmer fieldwoman will go to Kearney to a district meeting. At this meeting the ways and means of checking compliance will be decided on. After this meeting a meeting of precinct committees will be held and instructions for checking 1942 compliance will be given.

Making Sewing Kits.

Auxiliary ladies of the local American Legion post have been busy making kits to give to draftees as they leave Ord. The little sewing kits have in them needles, three colors of thread, buttons to match their uniforms, scissors, a small book explaining the ranks and ratings of service men. All the material is attractively put into a small, durable package in Legion colors of navy and gold. So far the ladies have been able to present one to each young man, but since the assembled kit costs about 23¢ they have placed donation jars in a number of local stores. Anyone wishing to help pay for these small gifts is asked to drop a coin in one of these labelled jars.

the W. O. Zangger, Stanton Finley, Maynard Finley, Ign. Pokraka, Floyd Wetzel and Ed Christensen farms.

Only 20 bushels of the seed is available and 16 bushels of this seed will be planted in Valley county, says County Agent Dale.

The remaining four bushels will be planted near Central City under pump irrigation.

The waxy corn is called "a Chinese orphan" by Dr. Kieselbach, who nursed it along for 30 years. The "orphan" was a variety of Chinese corn which proved to be generally unsuitable for conditions in Nebraska or the United States but did have a waxy type of starch.

This starch is different from that of ordinary corn and is the same type used in vast quantities for years in the making of sizing for textiles, glue for postage stamps and envelopes coating for certain kinds of paper, taploca and other products.

Leoti red sorghum, now grown extensively in Nebraska, is the only other known United States source for this waxy starch.

When the experiment station first tested the Chinese corn back in 1912 it proved to be of small size, with small ears, was unproductive and silked out about ten days later than standard east-central Nebraska varieties.

However, because of its unusual type of starch and its alleged drought resistance, a breeding program was undertaken by Dr. Kieselbach to combine those characteristics with the standard east-central Nebraska type of corn. The Chinese waxy variety was crossed with Nebraska Hogue yellow dent and subsequently crosses were made, the last being with the standard variety Svee Red.

The outcome is not yet a fully perfected waxy variety but the new Nebraska waxy corn looks in the field very much like any well adapted east-central Nebraska variety. Under irrigation in this valley it should produce about the same as any good open-pollinated corn, according to County Agent Dale.

Two eastern starch companies are greatly interested in this waxy corn, since their machinery can easily be converted to handle this product, and have signed contracts with the University of Nebraska experiment station to buy all the corn for experimental use that the university will release. Since only 20 bushels of seed is available the waxy corn will be grown principally for seed this year, with only small quantities available for starch experimentation.

Valley county growers will isolate their fields by planting other crops than corn for at least 20 rods in every direction from the corn itself. This is being done to prevent cross-pollination and preserve the purity of the seed strain.

Light Freeze Friday. Some damage was done to early gardens here by a frost Friday morning but strawberries and fruit trees were not hurt. The lowest temperature was 32 degrees, says Horace Travis. Potatoes were set back to some extent. At North Loup the frost was heavier and it is reported that strawberries and tomatoes were badly frozen. In the past week about one-half inch of moisture has fallen here.

Lloyd Parks left Atkinson Thursday for Portland, Ore., planning to get a job in some defense industry. His wife will stay in Atkinson until he is definitely located some place, since she has a job there.

Arden Clark, who left Monday for selective service, returned on furlough Wednesday morning and left with Mrs. Clark for Hastings later in the day. He has orders to report for service May 29. Until then he will work at the radio station where he has been an advertising salesman. Mrs. Clark will return to Ord after Arden's departure for the army and will be employed by The Quiz Engravers.

Ed Dlugosh writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dlugosh, from Bremerton, Wash., that he likes his work in the shipyards. But he says the weather has been bad, all but one day, and that keeping his directions straight there is something he can't figure out.

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Nelson of Ord left Monday morning for California to see their son Private Oliver A. Nelson of Camp Roberts. Mrs. Andrew Nelson and Mrs. Fulton of Omaha and Mrs. Otto Nelson of St. Edward also went with them. They expect to be gone two weeks.

Dr. Lee Nay leaves this morning for Kirksville, Mo., accompanying Topy Asimus, of O'Neill, who is planning to have examinations and treatments there. Mrs. Nay and daughter Barbara are going to Washington, Ia., at the same time to visit relatives.

Friends of Roy Clement will be interested in knowing that he is at Camp Barkley, Tex., while Ted Knecht, who was thought by relatives to have gone overseas, is at Ventura, Calif. Johnny Knecht is stationed now at Fort Greeley, Alaska.

Eleanor Wolfe writes from Lincoln that she was surprised and delighted to be chosen a delegate of her nurses' class to a convention in Chicago. She and another delegate left Lincoln early Monday morning expecting to be back Saturday, May 23. Chicago was a thrill to the girls.

Mrs. W. H. Barnard says Earl and family left with their car and trailer home Tuesday at nine a. m., reaching Denver at eight p. m. Earl met his former boss on the street and went to work at Parker on Thursday morning last week. Earl Barnard was the Ord young man who returned from Jamaica a few days ago.

The O. E. Johnson family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and daughters, Carol and Donetta, will leave this week for a visit to California points. At Napa they will see Maxine and her husband, Earl Klein, and at San Mateo is the home of their son Wayne. Planning to go by train, they were not sure when they could go, as Mr. Johnson had to wait for a relief agent.

At this time of the year the natives are making sacrifices and offerings to the gods. The witch doctors are very busy, and many nights in Yako we had difficulty to sleep at all the noise, drums, shouting, singing, as the natives danced and rejoiced over their harvest. It is impossible to express the burden that comes to a missionary's heart as he hears the natives rejoicing over the sacrifices made to heathen gods.

They see miracles worked by their witch doctors which hold them in fear and subjection. Some can swallow swords, pierce their bodies in many places with swords, pick up deadly serpents and dance with them without suffering harm, walk through fire, and do similar wonders worked by the American Indian. In future the growing of this type of corn may become big business for Nebraska farmers as result of experimental planting this season, and County Agent Dale feels fortunate in securing for the North Loup valley most of the seed available, since large-scale contract planting in the future will logically be done where successful experimental growing took place. The result may be added income for Loup Valley farmers.

Gould Flagg, Leonard Kokes Win Special Awards

LEONARD KOKES.

When the special awards to Ord high school seniors were announced at class night Tuesday it was made known that Gould Flagg was winner of the Haskell-Melia award and Leonard Kokes of the Union Pacific scholarship.

The Haskell-Melia award was established by the parents of two outstanding Ord seniors who lost their lives in an auto accident a few days before their scheduled graduation, a few years ago, and goes annually to the outstanding senior boy. Selection is based upon participation in school activities, character, attitude and scholastic standing.

The Union Pacific scholarship is worth $100 at the agricultural college of the University of Nebraska, and is based upon farm project work, scholarship and participation in school activities.

Some Ord Teachers Will Attend Summer School

Some Will Stay in Ord; Few Plan Vacation Trips

With school out yesterday Ord teachers are scattering from one end of the United States to the other. They left the school rooms almost as rapidly as the children, but probably not with as many gleeful shouts.

Miss Elizabeth Lukes and her sister Barbara will spend a quiet summer at home. They may find it necessary to help with the work on their farm near Ord, if their nephews are called to service. But they feel able and glad to do anything that will help the war effort.

Miss Wilma Shavlik will return to her home at Morse Bluffs, and may decide to go to school somewhere, later.

Miss Iris Krebs, home economics teacher, will be held in Ord six weeks yet with her duties. In this time she will also teach a nutrition course. Some time will be spent at her Scotia home, and she has plans to visit a friend who lives between Lakeside and Rushville in the neighborhood where she once taught. This is the locality made famous in the book "Old Jules", and Miss Krebs likes that open western Nebraska country very much.

J. A. Kovanda does not plan an exciting summer, expecting to be in Ord most of the time looking after vocational agriculture interests and visiting his boys. Instructor Kovanda may decide to take a three weeks "short course" somewhere not too far away.

Miss Lorraine Borg plans to go to her home in Columbus, she says.

Mrs. Martin McGuire, the former Emma Steele, is looking forward to a trip to Maxwell Field, Ala., not very long after school is out, likely about June 1. Her husband is stationed there for the present. Mrs. McGuire will teach in Ord next year she thinks.

C. C. Thompson, superintendent of the Ord schools, will take a brief vacation, "not too distant", he reports. Probably the Thompson family will visit relatives in eastern Nebraska about June 1, and most of the summer Mr. Thompson will spend in Ord at his administrative duties.

Miss Helen Prouty and Miss Arlene Elsen left this morning for the west coast. Miss Elsen will spend the summer in California, perhaps working, while Miss Prouty is eager to visit a friend who is stationed in Washington before he is transferred elsewhere. Both of them plan to return to Ord in the fall.

Mr. Deines, music director, will study hard at the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. He is planning to carry the ambitious load of nine hours there.

Miss Lillian Kidder also plans to go to school at the University of Nebraska this summer.

Principal of the high school, F. L. Stoddard, has no definite plans for his summer as yet, but friends recall he worked in the western Nebraska harvest fields many weeks last summer, coming back strong and brown. In 1942, the summer of big war efforts, perhaps Mr. Stoddard will want to do this again.

A. J. Cochran plans to begin summer school at Hastings on June 2, spending most of the summer weeks renewing his teaching certificate. He will be gone from 9 to 12 weeks.

At the grade school Miss Inez Swain says she has no important plans. Possibly she and Miss Lucy Rowbal will drive up to South Dakota to visit Rev. and Mrs. Earl Cummins a few

Red Cross Notes

Have you any wool you don't need? Any scraps of cloth, any bits of yarn around the house that you can spare to put in the wool clippings collection? As little as ten per cent wool is wanted; do you have any scraps like this?

Perhaps the cuffs from men's trousers seems a silly trifle to save? But nine pairs of cuffs equals enough cloth for a pair of army trousers; 12 pairs equals an army coat.

When you put away the winter woollens, Mrs. Housewife, is a good time to check over your supply. Any odds and ends, any spare pieces of wool are wanted by your government. Drop these clippings in one of the four boxes: at J. C. Penney's, at Brown-McDonald's, at Frank Benda's, at Frank Hron's. The Red Cross will ship them and be paid a small sum for the wool. All of this money stays in the local treasury to be used here, another good point to consider.

Remember, it doesn't have to be all wool. You will get rid of a moth-attraction. You will be putting pennies in the Valley county Red Cross coffers.

CHOLERA SYMPTOMS MAY BE DECEIVING

Hog Cholera, greatest killer of American swine, appears in more disguises than a Japanese spy. Very often it kills so quickly that body tissues reveal only vague marks of the infection. At other times the lesions or tissue changes so closely resemble those of certain germs-borne swine diseases that a laboratory investigation is required to tell them apart.

Swine of all ages may die of hog cholera with symptoms that resemble those of poisoning; others may show fits, convulsions and nervous symptoms that simulate a brain disorder; still others may linger many days with weakened, dysentery and vomiting as the only outward signs of the disease.

Frequently one or two pigs in a herd die suddenly ten days to two weeks before the balance of the herd sickens. Often an owner mistakenly believes that the first dead pigs were injured, and neglects having his veterinarian perform an autopsy.

This complexity of symptoms, and the rapidity with which cholera kills are reasons why authorities urge vaccination of all pigs as a matter of sound insurance. Owners whose herds have been properly immunized against hog cholera are freed from the constant, haunting worry of looking for suspicious symptoms. They are never forced to send their herds to market at unprofitable weights simply because cholera has appeared in the community.

Farmers whose hogs have not been vaccinated should be on the lookout for the following danger signs: A tendency to snuggle beneath hog house bedding, gumming together of the eyelids; a swaying or wobbly gait when moved, deep red discoloration of the belly surface, persistent scouring, vomiting, fits or convulsions. Fever is constant.

There is no known cure for hog cholera. However, prompt diagnosis and immediate use of large doses of serum may help to salvage a profitable number of hogs in cholera-stricken herds, if the disease has not progressed too far.

Close cooperation between hog owners and their veterinarians on all matters involving sanitation, disease symptoms and timely seasonal preventive immunization will cut the country's multi-million dollar swine disease losses to a low minimum. With hogs at present high prices the owner who lets his herd go without protection against this disease is taking a very foolish gamble.

Earl Murray is one Ord man who really is worrying about the impact of gasoline rationing on his business. He drives many hundreds of miles practically every week, and 3 gallons of gas won't even start him. He is talking about getting a motorcycle, thereby extending his ration to about 150 miles of driving. If you see a short, chunky man dashing by on a motorcycle with a briefcase under one arm, chances are it will be Earl.

A wide-awake truck operator is K. W. Peterson. The other day when a few of the boys were talking about airline transportation of freight after the war, they advised Ken to investigate hauling local freight by air. "I've got that all sewed up and under control," K. W. told them. "My application for a franchise to haul freight by air is already on file at Lincoln."

Asked how he plans to spend the summer, Jess Kovanda says he plans to rest up and do a lot of river fishing. He has had time to set lines only once this year and then he caught five catfish on ten hooks, so he thinks the fishing will be good this summer. New regulations, incidentally, fix a limit of 15 on the number of set hooks one fisherman may use. But if they bite like they did for Jess, 15 hooks is a plenty.

Wonder if there is any truth in the report that Dale Norman is trying to arrange a transfer as mail carrier to Des Moines? As soon as he heard that the "lipstick army" would be trained there, "Hip" started filling out papers, it is claimed. Don't see why, when he seems to have all the business he can take care of here.

IT HAPPENED IN ORD.

The city is keeping right after owners of the property on the south side of the square, says Mayor Bert Cummins, and when nothing had been done toward razing the old building by the May 15 deadline a telegram was sent to Miss Maynard telling her the city isn't fooling. Tuesday a telegram came from her attorney saying the deed had been mailed. Now, if C. E. Goodhand becomes owner of the property, it is hoped he will act promptly to remove this danger spot and civic blot, and if he doesn't it is to be hoped that city authorities will promptly set a new deadline and act on it. This morning Goodhand had a ladder on top of the building and it looks like he isn't fooling either.

Sure sign of spring: Boys selling frog legs. The price varies from 5c to 10c per pair, or from 25c to 60c per pound, depending on who is doing the selling and how avid the buyer is. Very good eating at this time of year, too.

Neighbors say that Bert LeMasters has rigged up an electric lawn mower powered by a storage battery on a platform behind the mowing blades. Now Mrs. LeMasters can mow the lawn any time she wants to, and Bert can spend more time fishing.

Hard luck usually comes in threes and that is what happened to the Quiz force. Last week Cleus Ringlein, printer on the Quiz force, hurt his leg and was off duty all week. Wednesday LaVern Duemey got his call to the navy and was given a few days' leave to get his affairs in shape. And Sunday Carl Gausman, who took LaVern's place as head of the photoengraving plant, came down ill. LaVern kindly consented to stay on a few days longer while Carl is sick, even though it put a crimp in his own plans, and Mrs. Arden Clark helped out some when her husband left to join the army. She will be a regular member of the Quiz studio force in the near future. Irene Duemey will be chief photographer and the Quiz plans to keep on printing those good local pictures.

Add to doing grandfather list, and proud to be there the name of Archie Keep. Archie pushes his tiny granddaughter, Jarralyn Beeghly around the square in her little cart with every bit as much devotion as William Hornly pushes Cherle Lee. Mr. Hornly will be at the head of the list for happy men, however. He always has a happy smile.

Only baby to receive a sugar registration card since the big registration day at the school house in Ord is Harold Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curt Gudemundsen. Proud papa assured baby his supply of sweetening by taking out a card just five hours after Harold Dean was born.

Mrs. Will Zabloudil, Prop.

ing Burwell from the south were forced to evacuate when the waters which had filled their basement started to come up on to the floor. They moved in with his mother, Mrs. Eulla Simpson, where they remained until Saturday. The water drained from this basement of its own free will without any aid from the firemen.

The basements covered with black, oily mud and filled with water-soaked contents are a nightmare for Burwell housewives. Practically everything in the basements was ruined. Most people are destroying the food canned in glass jars stored in their basements fearing that the water might have gotten into the jars bringing typhoid or germs. In the Simpson home the flood waters deposited a quart glass jar on the top of a round furnace pipe, which Mrs. Simpson found when cleaning out the debris. It is almost impossible to place a jar there by hand and have it remain.

The oil which added to the difficulty of cleaning up came from the tank at the Mrs. W. L. McMullen, sr., home who lost 400 gallons of fuel oil for her furnace. None of the furnaces in the water-filled basements are believed to be seriously damaged. The oil which settled on the lawns and flowers caused some damage, but appears to have killed more weeds than grass. A row of spirea bushes at the L. B. Fenner residence is most unhealthily from their bath in oil.

Probably the biggest loser from the flood is F. J. Grunkemeyer. The water washed his fields badly and settled in low areas which likely cannot be farmed this summer. All the buildings on the Grunkemeyer farm with the exception of the house were flooded. Mr. Grunkemeyer lost 300 bushels of oats, 100 bushels of rye, $25 worth of chicken feed and 200 pounds of hybrid seed corn. His car, which stood in water, had the oil washed out of the crank case. Unaware of this Mr. Grunkemeyer drove the car to town and burned out the bearings.

None of the losses are covered by insurance with the exception of some of the automobiles. Mr. Grunkemeyer had his car insured.

Following the flood several angered residents talked of suing the city, the county, the highway department and the irrigation company. It is generally agreed that the culvert put in at the northwest corner of the fairgrounds by the highway department is not large enough to handle the water and besides being too small the culvert does not run straight. It is believed that had a larger culvert been built there and a better ditch dug along the north side of the fairgrounds draining the water east, much of the damage could have been prevented.

The irrigation ditch was seriously damaged and it is believed that a drag line will have to be used to repair it. Two miles south of Burwell the north bank of the ditch which was at least twenty feet high was completely washed away and the underpass made of concrete tiling to carry flood waters under the ditch was washed out. Several of the tiles were carried as far as a hundred feet by the water. Some people hold to the idea that the ditch drained the water into Burwell. All of the country in the Doran table locality had a heavy rain and the water drains toward Burwell.

In 1912 the first irrigation ditch built in the North Loup valley had just been completed when the flood came which washed it out. It was never repaired. A few wiseacres predicted a similar fate for the present ditch following Tuesday's deluge but a crew of men went right to work repairing the damage.

Burwellites, like Californians, who explain to tourists complaining of the cold and disagreeable weather, assured their visitors, too, "That this is very unusual."

Valley County Schools Turned In Scrap Iron to Build 15 Tanks in the April Drive

During April, which was designated as "Victory Weapon Month" by Ign. Klima, Jr., chairman of the Valley county defense council, enough scrap iron was turned in through the efforts of school children to build sixteen 15-ton tanks. Put into other weapons, this amount of scrap iron would have built 5,200 machine guns, or 10,400 aerial bombs of the 100-pound type, or 104 37-mm. anti-aircraft guns.

A total of 130 tons of scrap iron, as well as other materials valuable to the war effort, was shipped out of Valley county in April as result of the efforts of school children, Klima states. Moreover, during the first 13 days of May over 150 tons of scrap iron has been shipped out,

District 63, Elyria, ranks first with a delivery of 16,146 pounds, or a little over 8 tons, he says. Their contribution alone will suffice to build 320 50-calibre machine guns, a light tank or six anti-aircraft guns, he says.

Cooperation shown by teachers and pupils of all 73 districts was very gratifying, he says, especially in view of the fact that most farmers were very busy with field work during the period. He urges that the salvage drive be continued; that as much iron, brass, copper, nickel, lead, rubber, rags, burlap, tin foil, toothpaste tubes, etc., as possible be salvaged so that our army and our allies may be provided with weapons to win the war.

BURWELL

Funeral services for Miss Laura Losey, 83, who died in the home of her brother-in-law, J. J. Bleach, in Burwell Friday were conducted in the Methodist church Monday afternoon by the pastor, Rev. P. K. Kirk. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery. Miss Losey had been confined to her home for many years by failing health. She was the daughter of John and Jane Snyder who died when she was three months old, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Losey adopted her. She was born in West Jersey, Stark county, Ill., Jan. 20, 1859. For fifty-six years she made her home with her sister, now deceased, and her brother-in-law, J. J. Bleach. By unselfish devotion she endeared herself to the entire family. In 1907 she moved with the Bleachs to their farm three miles north-east of Burwell. Thirteen years ago they retired and moved to Burwell where she has since made her home. At the age of fifteen she joined the Methodist church at Hickory Point, Mo., and when she moved to Burwell she transferred her membership to the local church of which she was a faithful attendant for many years. Besides her brother-in-law, she leaves three nephews, Clark and James Bleach of Burwell and Elvis Bleach of Sargent, and three nieces, Mrs. Everett Emery and Mrs. D. C. Gray of Toulon, Ill., and Mrs. Albert VanLund of Burwell, all of whom attended her funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Emery and Mrs. Gray are remaining in Burwell for a longer visit with their father, sister and brothers and their families.

Mrs. C. W. Hughes entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner in her home today complimentary to Mrs. Wayne Banks. The other guests were Mrs. Osce Johnson, Mrs. Harry Hughes, Mrs. Orville Marquardt, Mrs. Chester Hallock, Mrs. Neil Sloan and Mrs. D. C. McCarthy.

Mrs. Roy Marth and Gary are spending the week in Burwell, where they are guests of her sister, Miss Myrtle Clark. Mrs. Marth has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark. The Marths are moving from Valentine to Hot Springs, S. D. where he has been offered a job in a large bakery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carricker and Russell of Broken Bow and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lund were guests Sunday in the Will Weber home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Owen moved to Broken Bow Sunday, where they will be employed in the creamery which is owned and operated by Ralph Brownell. Mr. and Mrs. Albin Gaukel are moving into the house east of the Methodist church which the Owens vacated.

Most of the rural schools in Garfield county closed for the summer Friday with the pupils enjoying picnics. At Rosehill the parents and patrons of the school attended the picnic. Sunny Side school where Miss Ethel Howard teaches, held a family picnic Sunday.

William T. Anderson, who has held the position of county clerk in Garfield county for sixteen years, on the Republican ticket, filed again for the same office Saturday. Mr. Anderson retired from office in 1938 after he was defeated in the primary by L. L. Hunter who in turn lost in the general election to W. S. Green, the incumbent.

Raymond Olson, who has been attending the University of Nebraska, arrived in Burwell Monday for a short visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Olson, before his induction into the army.

Neil Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Newman, submitted to tonsillectomy performed by Dr. Cram Monday.

Duck eggs sold on a rising market for sixteen cents a piece at the Burwell livestock market Friday. In view of the wet weather the farmers evidently considered that ducks would be profitable fowls to raise. A. W. Cornell Dies at Ord Hospital; Interment Sunday

President of Creamery, Well Known Enterprise Farmer, Dies After An Operation.

Funeral services for Albert W. Cornell, 74, well-known Enterprise township farmer and president of the Ord Cooperative creamery company, were held Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church with interment following at the Ord cemetery. Mr. Cornell died Thursday at an Ord hospital, two days after he underwent emergency surgical treatment.

Born in Richmond, Ill., on Jan. 23, 1868, Mr. Cornell spent the first fifteen years of his life in that state and in the spring of 1882 came to Ord. In the fall of the same year he homesteaded on the Enterprise township farm which remained his home continuously for sixty years.

In August, 1894 occurred his marriage to Miss Irene Cliff of Percival, Ia., and to them three sons were born, all of whom survive their father. They are John Cass Cornell, of Booneville, Ark., Charles Willard Cornell, of Shelby, Nebr., and Robert Eugene Cornell, of Butte, Mont. In May, 1917, Mrs. Cornell passed away.

In December, 1919, Mr. Cornell was married to Miss Mabel Helzer, of Kimball, who had been an instructor and principal of Ord high school several years and she survives him.

Soon after the Ord Cooperative Creamery company was organized, the directors elected Mr. Cornell as president, an office which he held with distinction and to which he devoted much of his time until his fatal illness.

In ill health several weeks, Mr. Cornell was taken to the Ord hospital Sunday evening, May 17, for observation and treatment, and two days later submitted to surgery but this failed to relieve his condition and death followed.

Taylor, Lee Frothingham, Henry Williams, Fred W. Coe and Frank Golka. The Pearson-Anderson Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Three Ord Boys Win Rank of Star Scouts
Bob Marks, Edwin Jirak and Don Anderson are proudly wearing handsome gold stars since Monday evening when they attained that coveted "Star Scout" ranking at a court of honor. All three boys are members of Troop 194, and Rex Jewett is the scoutmaster. Forrest Johnson was present to represent the scout troop committee; County Judge John Anderson was present. Warren Allen, highest ranking scout in this locality, who won Eagle rating a couple of years ago, officially gave the stars. Eagle is the highest of scout ranks.

The gold star pin means that its owner is a first class scout who has qualified for five merit badges. With street clothes it is worn on the lapel; in uniform the scout wears it on his lapel, on his left pocket or on his hat.

$2,581 Red Cross Total in County

Curt Gudmundsen, Red Cross treasurer for this county, reports a total of $2,580.97 received for war relief during the past few months. Mrs. George Parsons was chairman of this drive.

As long as the war lasts, more funds will be constantly required. Anyone wishing to help this organization which is found side by side with Uncle Sam's fighting forces should leave their contributions with Mr. Gudmundsen at the First National bank.

While so many are giving their sons, giving an occasional dollar does not seem like doing much for the war effort.

City's Dog Campaign Is Getting Results

The city's campaign to have dog owners get tags for their dogs is getting results, said City Clerk Rex Jewett this morning, but many more should pay the license and get the required tag if they do not want to lose their pets.

Total dogs licensed in Ord this morning was 55, which is eleven more than were licensed all year in 1941. Greatest total of dog licenses issued in recent years is 120.

Mayor M. B. Cummins is determined to have stray dogs running at large within the city limits disposed of by June 1, so they will not be a menace to people cooperating in the "food for victory" program.

If you have a dog that you value, better get a tag for him immediately.

Farmers Urged to Plant Pure Seed of Leoti Red Sorghum

General Foods, Inc., Offer a Contract to Conserve All Pure Seed Available.

Commercial interest in Leoti Red sorghum for use in starch manufacture, is growing rapidly, according to announcements by the State College of Agriculture. Latest development is the establishment of a trust fund by General Foods, Inc., to protect the supply of pure seed and make it available to growers. To do this, farmers who have good seed of 70% or better germination, and meeting the wax test, are being offered an agreement by the agronomy department.

The agreement specifies that the grower is to clean and put into condition all the seed he has and offer it for sale as seed. If any of his seed remains unsold on July 1, he is paid 10¢ per pound for all seed remaining on hand and the seed remains his property to use as he sees fit. This is done to pay the grower for labor and expense of preparing the seed which he is unable to sell.

Although there is no guarantee that there will be an industrial demand for Leoti Red grain this fall, farmers who are planting sorghums for forage are urged to plant waxy seed so that if the market develops they will be able to cash in on it. If the market for grain does not develop there is no loss because Leoti Red ranks very high as a forage.

So far the only sample from Valley county to qualify both as to waxy type and germination was sent in by Carroll Karre of Ord, who has about fifty bushels available. Several other samples have been sent in for testing but reports have not yet been received as to whether or not they are suitable for starch manufacture.

The Nebraska College of Agriculture has taken the lead in experiment work in the development of the sources of tapioca-type starch, with their work on waxy corn and Leoti Red and if they prove practical for industrial use, Nebraska farmers' incomes will benefit. Valley county has most of the waxy type corn and a good acreage of suitable Leoti Red should put the county in the forefront of what may grow into a great industry.

Only 2.10 Inches Moisture in May

Contrary to the general impression, Ord's rainfall records for the month of May report an actual deficiency from normal, says Horace W. Travis. Only 2.10 inches of rain fell during the month, whereas average May moisture is 2.75 inches. There is more moisture in the ground than usual, however, for the reason that all our rains came as slow showers and the moisture soaked in deeply instead of running off. There were 10 showers during the month, heaviest one bringing .81 of an inch on May 15. Moisture total for the year is 7.37 inches.

The last white frost came on May 15 when the temperature dropped to 32 degrees but little damage was done by the frost. Usual date of the last killing frost is May 10.

Mrs. H. D. Leggett Dies, Funeral Will Be Held Thursday

Wife of Quiz Publisher Goes at Age of 70; Came to Ord in 1894 from Michigan.

The first break in a happy family circle came Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock with the death of Mrs. H. D. Leggett, 70, at her home. Several severe heart attacks last fall had made an invalid of her for the winter, but spring weeks had brought hopes that Mr. and Mrs. Leggett could once more go to their beloved Minnesota home. About 12 days ago Mrs. Leggett had begun to have renewed heart trouble, and for several days past there was no hope.

Mrs. Leggett was born Cora Eva Clements, the daughter of C. D. and Mary Clements and lived in Watson township, Allegan county, Michigan, on Oct. 29, 1871. She was the youngest of seven children who enjoyed life on a farm while their father and brothers contracted and built many a neighbor's house and barn. She was educated in the schools there, and studied and taught music for several years.

In the fall of 1894 the Clements family came to Ord to make their home, and the year following H. D. Leggett came from the same Michigan locality to Ord. The young couple were married Oct. 11, 1898 at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. Cook of the Methodist church performing the quiet ceremony. The wedding was to have taken place in the spring, but was postponed because of the death of her father, C. D. Clements.

Immediately Mrs. Leggett went to work with her husband in the office of the Valley County Times learning to compose type, which she did until she sold this paper. During the two years that the family lived in St. Paul where Mr. Leggett owned the St. Paul Republic, now the Howard County Herald, she also helped put out the paper, side by side with her husband, until it too was sold. For about 13 months the family lived in Broken Bow; otherwise the Leggetts have always been Ord people.

Mrs. Leggett and her husband were members of the Unitarian church in Ord, helping to organize it and to build it. From this church group came the present Ord library, the members donating the books and taking turns serving as librarians. Mrs. Leggett had a lifelong fondness for books, and aided this project. She was also fond of music and often sang in quartets of an earlier day.

A true homelover and good companion, her chief joy was always her family, to whom she was devoted. Nothing was too much work for her if it pleased her son Eugene, or her daughter, Flora, now Mrs. C. A. Anderson. This devotion also extended to her grandchildren, Shirley Beth, Coralee and Tommy Anderson, Kerry and Teddy Leggett.

For the past ten years Mrs. Leggett's sister, Mrs. Daniel Burke had made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Leggett. Former District Judge E. P. Clements of Ontario, Calif., and County Judge Arthur Clements of Delta, Colo., are also left to mourn. A sister, Mrs. Alice Hoffmeister and two brothers, District Judge E. J. Clements and Eugene Clements preceded her in death.

Last rites will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 on the Pearson-Anderson chapel. Rev. M. M. Long, pastor of the Methodist church, will officiate. James Aagaard will sing "Lead Kindly Light," "I Know Not What the Future Hath," written by John Greenleaf Whittier, and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," with his sister, Miss Valborg Aagaard, as accompanist. Pall bearers will be M. McBeth, Marlon Crosby, Frank Koupal, Dr. F. L. Blessing, F. M. Gross of Albion and C. J. Mortensen. Interment will be made in the Ord cemetery in the plot where Mrs. Leggett's father and mother lie.

ARCADIA
Carolyn Kinsey Weds.
The famous Berwyn Room of the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago was the scene of the wedding of Carolyn Kinsey, formerly of Arcadia, and Henry J. Kramer, Jr., of Chicago, last Saturday night, May 23. About seventy-five guests were present at the wedding, which was conducted by the Rev. Henry Hepburn, pastor of the Buena Presbyterian church of Chicago. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kinsey of Arcadia, attended the wedding. Mrs. Philip G. Bowman, the former Sara Kinsey and the Kinsey's eldest daughter, was the matron of honor. Among the guests was Mrs. Henry Tholen of Mishawaka, Ind., who was formerly Bertha Swaynne of Arcadia.

The marriage ceremony was a colorful one, conducted under a bower of palms. The bride wore a gown of mousseline de sole with a bodice of white lace, and her fingertip veil was crowned with a coronet of lace. The bride's bouquet was of white sweetheart roses, intertwined with lilies of the valley, and a white orchid in the center.

The matron of honor was attired in a gown of pink organdy and in her hair was a headband of pink sweetheart roses. She carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, blue iris and blue cornflowers. Mrs. Kinsey's gown was aqua-blue, and her corsage a pink orchid.

Mrs. Kramer was graduated from Arcadia high school in the class of 1937, and has lived in Chicago with her sister, Mrs. Bowman, since a short time after her graduation. While in Chicago she has attended Bryn-Astran Business College and also night classes at Northwestern University. She has been employed by the Kline Service Company in Chicago. Mr. Kramer was educated in Chicago schools and has attended DePaul and Northwestern Universities. He is associated with his father in the real-estate insurance business.

TO FARM FAMILIES

Looking for a Farm or Ranch Home of Your Own

At Terms Which Fit YOUR Purse in Good Years and Bad

3 Things are Important in Buying a Farm:
1. SELECT a farm that fits your needs,
2. GET IT at a favorable price,
3. PURCHASE on terms which insure security.

LAND BANK terms fit the buyer's purse—in good years or bad. Payments are spread over a period of years (up to 25) which permits the farm to pay for itself. Such terms give the buyer a safer road to home ownership.

Today appears to be a very favorable time to buy Nebraska land. VALUES ARE LOW. They are only 59% of the 1912-14 average—less than one-third of the 1920 average. High livestock and grain prices, a return to normal production, together with less farms for sale are factors which are almost certain to improve land values.

If you hope some day to own your own home, ACT NOW. Many good buys are still available from The Federal Land Bank.

What are YOUR plans? Come in today and talk things over. There is no obligation.

Valley County Selective Service Board Has Sent 112 Local Men to Army

On the rolls of the Valley county selective service board, pictured above, are 2,215 Valley county men, including the 45 to 65-year-olds who registered a few weeks ago, and when the registration of 18 to 20-year-olds is held June 30 it is likely that 3,000 boys and men will be under the authority of the group pictured above.

The board is composed of Chairman William Ramsey, Jr., of Arcadia (right, seated), W. T. McLain and L. D. Milliken, Miss Virginia Davis, the draft board clerk, also is in the picture which was taken at selective service headquarters in the Nebraska State bank building.

Already 112 Valley county men have been sent to the army under selective service provisions by this board. A total of 141 Valley county registrants are now in various branches of the service, some having enlisted. Nor is this the total of Valley county men who are serving, for some below registration age have enlisted, a few were in the army or navy before registrations began and some Valley county men employed elsewhere have gone to service through selections by the boards under which they registered.

To date there have been four registrations. In the first Valley county had 859 registrants, in the second 42, in the third 429 and in the fourth 885. So far all men have been drawn from the 1st and 2nd registration groups but in June some men may be drawn from the 3rd group.

Selective service officials have a difficult task, dealing as they must in the lives of men. They receive no remuneration for their work, but serve because they know it is a patriotic obligation. Every registrant presents different problems. The Valley county board makes every effort to be fair and just and so far there have been practically no appeals from the decisions these men have made.

PENNEY'S EMPLOYEES' DAYS

WE WORK TOGETHER AT PENNEY'S

An interesting thing about this Company is that we employees are called "Associates." We don't work for the store manager or his assistant, we work with them. That was Mr. Penney's idea when he started his first store... everybody in the business worked in it co-operatively. Our Employees' Days are a good example of this spirit. The manager steps aside and lets us run the show. And you, the customers benefit by exceptional savings.

AAA News Notes

Charles J. Krikac, R. Clare Clement and Mrs. Inez Burrows attended a district meeting in Kearney Friday, May 22. At this meeting plans were made for the meeting for precinct committees and their wives to be held May 28 in each county. In Valley county the meeting will be held at the Legion hall starting at 10 a. m.

Mr. Hanks spoke relative to commodity loans at this meeting. There has been a heavy movement of Commodity Credit owned corn out of Iowa, in fact 85% of Commodity Credit corn in Iowa is gone. Many of the bins have been shipped to western Nebraska to store wheat in.

One thing Mr. Hanks stressed was storage space. He suggested that farmers now make arrangements to repair those bins that are known to need repairs as it may be impossible to get material later on.

Shortly after June 1 we will start checking 1942 compliance. When your reporter contacts you, take a little time off and be sure that you give the proper answers and the proper division of crops and of soil building. The farmer and reporter can, by being very careful at this time, save a lot of claims cases and time for the county office.

Notes From the VALLEY COUNTY FARM BUREAU

By C. C. Dale

Potato Beetle Damage.
Colorado potato beetles have been damaging early potatoes and certain plants related to the potato, according to numerous reports that have come recently to Jess Livingston, extension plant pathologist at the Nebraska College of Agriculture.

The heavy-bodied, striped beetles and their brick-red, black spotted grubs feed on the foliage of potatoes and similar plants and may completely strip potato patches and even large fields. Although the beetles and larvae annually destroy many acres of potatoes they are quite easily controlled if measures are taken in time, says Livingston. Dusting the vines with a mixture of one part of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate to eight parts of cheap flour is good, or a spray of one and one-half pounds of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate to 50 gallons of water is very effective. A dust of one part Paris green, five parts hydrated lime and ten parts of flour also is excellent. Western Nebraska growers have had fine results with a spray of two pounds of zinc arsenate in 50 gallons of water. Promptness and thoroughness in the use of control measures is more important than the actual kind of poison used.

While rotenone dusts are fully effective and have been recommended for use on small patches in the past, the present shortage of rotenone makes its use on potatoes inadvisable. Entomologists recommend that the cheaper and more plentiful poisons be used on potatoes and that the limited supplies of rotenone be reserved for use on garden vegetables such as peas, lima beans, lettuce, spinach and celery.

Stubble Protects Soil.
Recent flooding rains near Lincoln severely washed bare or unprotected cultivated fields while very little damage was noticeable on fields with the stubble of sweet clover or small grain on or near the surface, according to Ed Doll, extension soil conservationist at the Nebraska college of agriculture. Soil was also fairly well protected from washing on fields where last year's corn stalks had not been cut or heavily pastured. Bare, clean tilled fields suffered severely gully and sheet erosion.

Farmers who plan to summer fallow can prevent disastrous soil erosion from rains this year by keeping such cover as stubble on or near the surface. Rod weeders and machines with the large duckfoot or sub tillage sweep keep the trash surface near the surface. The rod weeder succeeds fairly well in bringing trash to the surface even though the field has already been one-wayed. Cultivating more than is necessary to control weeds is not only expensive but excessive use of implements like the common disc pulverizes the soil to such an extent that washing and blowing may be disastrous.

Although records kept by a group of Cheyenne county farmers show over an 8-year period that the acreage of wheat which was lost by winter killing or blowing out was reduced by summer fallowing from 36% to 22% of the seeded acreage, more than one acre in every 5 seeded did not produce a crop worth harvesting although planted on summer fallowed land. Using summer fallowing methods that kill weeds and yet control wind and water erosion will not only reduce such losses to farmers but will also conserve more moisture and greatly contribute to production for the war effort without injury to our soil resources.

If land that is to be summer fallowed is bare, erosion can be kept at a minimum by blank listing, basin listing or other methods of pit cultivation, all of which should be performed on the contour if the maximum benefits are to be expected.

Lutheran Young People Banquet on Anniversary

In commemoration of the 49th anniversary of the Walther League, the young people's organization of the Synodical conference of the Lutheran church, St. John's Walther League of Ord held a banquet at the school hall Saturday evening. More than 55 members and friends attended.

The theme of the banquet was "The 49'ers" and the speeches and decorations were all in harmony with this theme, reminiscent of the days of 49 when thousands flocked to the gold fields of California. Guest speaker of the evening was O. Becker, principal of Trinity school at Grand Island. His topic was "The 49'er," and he pointed out the opportunities for pioneering and adventurous service open to the youth of the church especially in these disturbing times of world crisis. Toasts were given by Franklin Bremer who spoke briefly on the topic "On the Trail," indicating the history and organization of the Walther League in its 49 years. Henry G. Lange spoke on "In Camp—the Claim," outlining the history and organization of our own local young people's group. The pastor, Rev. D. Kreitzer, spoke on "Pick and Shovel—Digging for Gold" outlining the program and objectives of the Walther League. "Gold is Where You Find It," was the topic discussed by George Bremer, who pointed out the local society's successful drive to raise funds to help erect a headquarter's building for the Walther League in Chicago. The duties of toastmaster were efficiently performed by Edgar Lange, long time member of the local society.

Out of town guests at the banquet were the pastor and a large delegation of young people from Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Breckthauer of Grand Island, Mrs. O. Becker of Grand Island, and Mrs. Marie Pooshke and daughter of Boulder, Colo.

The ladies of the congregation served a very delicious and tasty meal, which was highly enjoyed by all. Miss Gausman of Ravenna favored the banquet with a rendition of two duets with which she recently won a superior rating at the talent quest held in Seward. She was accompanied by Mrs. Kreitzer.

Between courses the entire group joined in singing songs, humorous and serious. The young people of our church who also attended Valleyside high school this past year presented their class play "Yes, Lucy," which was highly appreciated by the audience.

Cosmetics, Lingerie Are Army Issue Now

New Items Listed as Women Join Canadian Forces.

OTTAWA, CAN.—"Cosmetics, lingerie" (auxiliary forces, for the use of).

For the first time in history such an item may appear in paymasters' records here, as Canada organizes auxiliary forces of women for her army and air force.

Members of the new body, whose duties will include ambulance and car driving, telephone operating, stenography, assisting in dental operations and in operation of X-ray apparatus, will be paid "slightly less" than soldiers of corresponding rank in the army.

The women will wear a khaki uniform, similar to those worn by the women's transport corps in England.

The uniforms will not be finished in bulk, as soldiers' garb is, but will be issued in semi-ready form, so that they can be further fitted to meet the needs of the individual wearer.

This, the designer explains, is due in part to the wider variation in various portions of feminine anatomy.

The designer has also refused to undertake responsibility for designing any undergarments to accompany the uniform. Each recruit will receive an initial allowance of $15 to meet such needs; thereafter, she will be limited to the specified $3 monthly.

The issue to each woman accepted in the corps, will include one cap, two "officer pattern" jackets, two slightly gored skirts, three shirts, two ties, three pairs of stockings, two pairs of brown shoes, one pair of rubbers, one greatcoat, one raincoat, brown leather gloves and a "knick-knack" haversack.

War Children From Great Britain Going American

NEW YORK.—British children who were taken from the war zone and brought to America more than a year ago are losing their English and Scottish accents.

The British-American ambulance corps, which sponsors goodwill broadcasts between the children and their parents, reports the youngsters are becoming American-minded. For example, the change that has taken place in Jack and Jain McDonald is cited.

They are the sons of a Clydebank shipbuilder who arrived in this country about a year ago. Since then they have lived in Chattanooga, Tenn. On a recent broadcast they startled their father with slow southern drawls.

Asked whether he preferred cricket to baseball, Jack responded: "Ah don't know how to play cricket any moah."

Other instances are cited in which popular American slang has invaded the children's speech. "Everything's swell" or "O.K.," they tell their fathers and mothers. The traditional British reserve, associated with young as well as old, seems to have disappeared.

Flying Lessons Are Made Simpler by Stovepipes

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—America's need for thousands of airplane pilots can be met partly by using stacks of stovepipes, according to Comdr. Eugene F. McDonald Jr., glider enthusiast.

He has rigged up cheap versions of a wind tunnel and is giving them away. A glider is anchored in the windstream and, according to McDonald, an embryo pilot can learn the fundamentals by "flying" a few feet above the ground.

His "wind tunnel" is about 12 feet high. But instead of being hollow, it is packed with lengths of stovepipe through which the wind is driven. "The windmakers are inexpensive old automobiles. The chassis is stripped and a large propeller is mounted on a pedestal in the rear. The blades are driven from the drive shaft.

New Hampshire Seeks Fishing Industry Revival

DURHAM, N. C.—Though it has the shortest coal line of any coastal state, New Hampshire once had a $1,000,000 saltwater fishing industry. The industry virtually is nonexistent now, but two University of New Hampshire professors—C. Floyd Jackson and Herbert Warfel—believe the industry can be re-established.

Preliminary surveys, they say, indicate that modernization of fishing and marketing methods, control of shore pollution and reclamation of waste fish would make the state's coastal city of Portsmouth one of the nation's leading fishery centers.

Bike Gadgets to Vanish Under Defense Program

WASHINGTON.—The dream of every small boy—a bicycle decked with all kinds of gleaming gadgets—is to become just a mail-order catalogue dream.

The Office of Production Management disclosed that 12 leading bicycle manufacturers had agreed to cut the weight of bicycles and eliminate unneeded metal decorations in order to save vital materials for defense production.

Don't tell me there's a THIRD Thanksgiving! CALM YOUR FEARS. All's well with Thanksgiving, even though you didn't expect to meet this bird... in the ads... until November. The turkey is pictured here in advance of the season to dramatize the performance-facts about a great gasoline which is never in advance of the season! Of course, as always, Phillips 66 Poly Gas is high test without higher price. But more than that, it is the right high test (volatility) for the month in which you buy and use it. Definitely changed every thirty days to match the monthly changes in temperature in your locality. In December, Phillips 66 Poly Gas is a fast starting motor fuel. In August, it is a cooler summer gas. In May, it's right for between-season weather... always custom-tailored to deliver high mileage and pace-making performance. Scientific laboratory and field surveys prove that no other gasoline—not a single one—is so completely and accurately matched, all year 'round, to the monthly variations in your weather. If you wonder what this means in pep and power... in zip and pick-up... find out the facts in your own motor. Try just one tankful and judge for yourself. Remember, the Orange and Black 66 Shield is High Test Headquarters for car owners... because Phillips is WORLD'S LARGEST PRODUCER of Natural High test gasoline.

HEALTH HINTS for LIVESTOCK PREPARED BY AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTH ENTERITIS IS CAUSE OF SERIOUS HOG LOSSES Next to hog cholera, the largest losses to American swine growers are now caused by a disease complex called enteritis. In many respects this disease resembles human typhoid fever and certain of the causative germs are rather closely related to the typhoid bacillus. Primarily it attacks the tender lining of the intestines. One extremely contagious and fatal form, called swine dysentery or "bloody scours", is thought to be due to some infective agent. This type is prevalent among some feeder or sales barn pigs and readily spreads to swine on the home premises when newly purchased animals are allowed to mix with the herd. Recently another type of enteritis called pig pellagra has been recognized. In cases of pellagra, the affected pigs show dry, scurfy skins, poor growth and a tendency to scouring. The cause is a ration deficiency of vitamin B complex and nicotinic acid. But, regardless of the type of swine enteritis, here are a few hints on prevention that should prove valuable: Pigs from the time of birth should be kept on clean ground, away from old hog lots. The ration should be well balanced to include substances rich in vitamins A and B. Growing pigs should be kept away from old mudholes and treated at the proper time for intestinal parasites and mange. Feeding and watering equipment should be cleaned by frequent scrubbing and exposure to sunlight. Any pigs showing a tendency to scour should be immediately isolated and inspected by a veterinarian. To delay such inspection may allow the disease to spread to the entire herd. If feeder pigs are purchased they should be completely separated from the home herd for at least three weeks, and the owner's rubber foot wear should be cleaned and disinfected before going from one herd to the other. When, despite precautions, an outbreak of enteritis does occur, the most important thing is to find out just which type of intestinal disease has gained access to the herd. This means a herd survey and an accurate post mortem examination by a veterinarian. In some cases the opinion of a diagnostic laboratory may even be necessary to identify the exact type of disease. The important thing to remember is that only strict sanitation, healthy breeding stock, early diagnosis and proper treatment will curb enteritis losses. The thanks of a grateful nation and the Congressional Medal of Honor pinned on his breast by President Roosevelt were the rewards received by Brig. Gen. James Doolittle for his valor in leading the bombing raid on the mainland of Japan, including Tokyo, a few weeks ago. Above, left to right, are Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of air forces, Mrs. Doolittle and President Roosevelt congratulating America's newest hero, General Doolittle.

DOOLITTLE: Secrets Well Kept

Three questions remained unanswered when President Roosevelt pinned the Congressional Medal of Honor on the breast of Brigadier General Doolittle in an unheralded White House ceremony commemorating the recent history-making American bombers' raid on the Japanese mainland.

Where did daredevil Jimmy Doolittle's squadron take off from? Where did the Yank fliers land after they bombed Tokyo and sowed a whirlwind of fire, death and destruction in their wake? By what route did Doolittle reach Washington?

While the mystery remained a well-kept secret, Doolittle, who had won international renown as a peacetime speed flier before his latest exploit made him America's No. 1 hero, revealed some significant facts.

The Yanks outflow and outfought Japanese planes and retired without losing a single plane. They "hedge-hopped" over Tokyo low enough to see a ball game in progress. Yankee bombers played havoc with vital Japanese industrial areas 40 miles long and 5 to 20 miles wide. They scored direct hits on a battleship or cruiser under construction near Tokyo and scattered incendiary bombs over airplane factories in Nagoya.

In extending Doolittle the nation's thanks, President Roosevelt announced the award of 79 Distinguished Service Crosses for the 79 volunteers—pilots, machine gunners, bombardiers and radiomen—who participated in the raid.

Speaking over the radio following his decoration, General Doolittle declared that the April raid over Tokyo was only the beginning of many more.

HOOVER URGES: More Power for FDR

Former President Herbert Hoover urged that President Roosevelt be given additional "dictatorial economic powers" as a means of winning the total war.

"There must be no hesitation in giving them to President Roosevelt and upholding him in them," Mr. Hoover said in an address before the 26th assembly of the National Industrial Conference board.

Economic dictatorship, however, must not encroach on civil liberties, he declared. "From a philosophical viewpoint," he said he would like to see the "sixth columnists given a little more liberty."

"Criticism of the conduct of the war is necessary if we are to win the war," he added. "We want the war conducted right... Democracy can correct mistakes only through public exposure and opposition to them."

Mr. Hoover did not define specifically the new dictatorial powers he advocated for President Roosevelt. He said, however, "We must start our thinking with a cold, hard fact, that the economic measures to win total war are just plain Fascist economics."

STEEL WORKERS: To Be 'Missionaries'

As his conflict with John L. Lewis for control of millions of American workers tightened, Philip Murray, president of the CIO, urged delegates who attended the Steel Workers' Organizing committee convention at Cleveland, Ohio, to become "missionaries of national unity."

"I do not want internal strife in this union nor in the CIO," Murray said. "Men's minds must rise above internal bickering when the nation is embroiled in a world war."

INVASION PRELUDE: RAF Blitzes Reich

While Royal Air force bombers blasted war factories and chemical plants in Germany and blitzed Nazi submarine bases in France and enemy airbases in Holland, the Churchill government announced that the RAF's heavy air offensive was a prelude to an ultimate invasion of continental Europe.

Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal and government spokesman in commons said:

"These bombings are, in our view, of material assistance to Russian resistance and the best way in which we can give assistance until such time as we are able to make a carefully planned attack on the continent of Europe, which we intend to do."

The accelerated tempo of Britain's air offensive was seen in the performance of one detachment of bombers which unloaded 40,000 fire bombs over the city of Mannheim in southwest Germany, second largest inland port of Germany and the site of a number of important chemical, armament and engineering factories.

NEW TAX PLAN: Collect at Source

To help Americans pay heavy income taxes that would affect millions of workers in the small-income group for the first time and to combat inflation, the treasury department outlined to the House ways and means committee a "collection-at-source" program.

Under the new plan, employers would withhold on behalf of the government part of the pay of single workers making more than $11 a week and childless married persons making more than $26. The amount deducted would be used as a credit against income taxes.

Increased individual income surtaxes ranging from 12 per cent on the first $2,000 to 80 per cent on taxable earnings exceeding $200,000 yearly were written into the pending war revenue bill.

The ways and means committee's plan did not incorporate President Roosevelt's suggestion that no American's income should exceed $25,000 a year after payment of all taxes.

REDS VS. NAZIS: Soviets Still Ahead

Stubborn battles on which the decision of World War II appeared to hinge still persisted on the Kharkov and Kerch fronts.

On the Kharkov front the Russian armies under Marshal Timoshenko continued their advances in the face of stiffened German resistance and sharp counterattacks. On the Kerch front, the Russians denied Nazi claims of a clean sweep to the gateway of the precious Caucasus oil fields.

That the Red army was keeping alive its offensive in the Kharkov sector at a swiftly rising cost to the Nazis in men, heavy weapons and supplies was indicated by the latest war bulletins.

"On one sector near Kharkov," said a report, "our troops annihilated 1,650 German officers and men and destroyed 27 tanks, an ammunition dump and a gasoline dump. Booty captured included 37 guns, 87 mortars, 10,000 shells, 40,000 rounds of ammunition, three wireless stations and other material."

In commenting on the situation on the Kerch peninsula in the Crimea, a communique said Russian forces were barring the way to the Caucasus in a way that resembled the long American defense of the Bataan peninsula in the Philippines.

NAZI FOOD RATIONS: To Be Smaller

MARSHAL GOERING
"It's a hard war."

Following stories of conditions in Axis countries by diplomats and newspaper men released from internment in Germany and Italy came an announcement by Reich Marshal Herman Goering, war time Nazi economic commissioner, that "a temporary reduction in the food rations" of Germany would be necessary because of an unfavorable crop outlook.

Addressing 137 war workers assembled at the chancellery in Berlin to be awarded service crosses for the first time in history, Goering said:

"Three extremely hard winters are behind us. The elements have not been kind to us. Last year's harvest was bad. Now, however much we enjoy the warm sun, we are longing for rain to bring what the farmer needs."

Goering termed the present war "the hardest Germany has had to fight."

"The winter campaign has been terrible. The Fuehrer suffered deeply for his troops, but he knew he must not yield. There was no question of giving up our front positions because behind us there was only a heap of ruins."

EARLIER VICTORY?: Maybe, Says Hull

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's cautious indication that increase of United Nations' striking power might bring victory sooner than was formerly expected, brought comfort to many an American family and generated new optimism over the war effort in official Washington.

Mr. Hull had been asked at a press conference whether developments in recent weeks on the home and foreign fronts encouraged him to believe in an early victory. In reply he pointed out that the powers and facilities of the United States have been developing on a more and more massive scale, not only for offensive-defensive operations, but for outright offensive war.

Making no effort to disguise the fact that he was increasingly impressed by America's growing power, the white-haired secretary suggested it was only natural that calculations as to the duration of the war should be made in the light of this fact.

Observers pointed out that a number of factors re-enforced Secretary Hull's views. Among these were the steady rise in armed personnel, unprecedented increases in production from factory production lines, growing air and naval strength and the uninterrupted flow of men and materials abroad.

GAS RATIONING: Looms for All U. S.

Restriction of gasoline consumption by the 20,000,000 car owners outside the East and the Pacific Northwest to a point where pleasure driving would be almost completely banned before the end of the summer was predicted as a result of conferences between Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman and Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

New emphasis to the seriousness of the nation's rubber shortage was lent by Mr. Eastman's disclosure that the United States may not have a sufficient supply of synthetic rubber "in short of three years and perhaps not then."

Disclosure of impending steps toward universal gas limitation followed an indication by President Roosevelt that rationing might be extended to other parts of the country outside the East and the Pacific Northwest where it is already operative.

MISCELLANY:

Australia: Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who is an engineer himself, and Brig. Gen. Hugh Casey, his chief engineer in the Philippines, were made honorary members of the Australian Institute of Engineers.

New York: Pan-American clipper service across the Atlantic entered its fourth year. Behind it was a record of carrying 18,647 passengers.

Can Vitamins Change GRAY HAIR? After a Year of Experimenting Good Housekeeping Bureau Reports Positive Results with Anti-Gray-Hair Vitamin!

Since Nov. 1, 1940, Good Housekeeping Bureau has been experimenting with rats and human beings, to find out whether the so-called anti-gray-hair vitamin—pantothenic acid or its derivative—can restore pigmentation, or color, to gray hair. From a group of 24 men and women used in the experiments, 88% showed positive evidence of a return of hair color. Apparently pantothenic acid is one of the essential vitamins. A small amount is sufficient to maintain life and health, but insufficient to maintain or restore hair color. Hair color is restored when an extra and generous amount is administered daily. NORTH LOUP

WRITTEN BY MRS. ETHEL HAMER

Thursday evening at eight o'clock nineteen seniors, led by members of the Junior class marched to the platform of the Seventh Day Baptist church, Mrs. W. G. Johnson and Mrs. A. H. Babcock, playing the processional. Beautiful spring flowers, with peach and green crepe paper streamers festooned between the pillars made a beautiful setting for the group. The class motto, "In God We Trust" was displayed across the back of the platform. Rev. C. F. Wagner gave the invocation which was followed by the girls' octette singing "Colors". The valedictorian's address, "The Freedom We Defend" was next on the program and was given by Frances Goodrich while Mary Babcock, salutatorian spoke on "Where Do We Go From Here?". Both speeches were well written and well given. The girls' octette gave "Snow" before Rev. A. C. Ehret gave the address of the evening, using as his subject, "Integrating the Elements". Rev. Ehret is always an interesting talker but seemed especially interesting to the large audience. Donald Hutchins, accompanied by Frances Goodrich, played "Une Pense Lointaine" on his clarinet and Supt. Wills presented the class to R. H. Knapp, president of the school board who gave out the diplomas. Mr. Wills then presented the special awards, a scholarship for $150, good in any of the state teachers' colleges going to Frances Goodrich, one for the same amount in the state church colleges going to Mary Babcock. Frances Goodrich was given a medal for scholarship and the medal for activities. Dale Mulligan was presented with the medal for athletics while the one for citizenship went to Velma Jacobs and to Dean Pawleska for four years perfect attendance. Exercises closed with the benediction by Rev. Wagner. The class roll includes Carroll Babcock, Max Sims, Mary Babcock, Marjory Brown, Matylda Clochon, Frances Goodrich, Muriel Hamer, Velma Howell, Donald Hutchins, Evelyn Jackson, Velma Jacobs, Doris Jurszinski, Virginia Kerr, Grace Manchester, Rena Maxson, Dale Mulligan, Virgil Nolde, Everett Pawleska and Harold Portis.

Awards were given to grade school children Wednesday at a special convocation for scholarship and perfect attendance. In the first and second grades, Joan Burrows, Sylvia Ingerson and Carolyn Hamer received certificates for scholarship and Carolyn Hamer for attendance. Beulah Porter is their teacher. In the third and fourth grades with Agnes Manchester as teacher, Dale Hutchins and Joe Babcock received scholarship awards and Beverly Knapp attendance. Fifth and sixth, taught by Marla Rood, Alice Meyers, Myles Nelson, and Charlene Hoppes were given attendance awards and Bonnie Babcock attendance award. Seventh and eighth grade, Belva and Phyllis Babcock, Donna Manchester and Bethene Hoppes had scholarship awards and Carol Leonard, Boyd Cox and Audrey Burgess attendance awards.

Mr. and Mrs. Wills plan to be here two more weeks and after that their plans are indefinite although Mr. Wills expects to have a job of some sort for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Elley will spend a short time in Missouri and most of the rest of the time in North Loup. Miss Baugh left Friday morning on the bus for her home in York. Next week she will attend the vocational education conference in Lincoln and the remainder of the summer will be in York. Mr. Johnson will be here at least most of the summer, directing the band and Mr. Schlieder will stay here till he gets his call to the army. Miss Porter and Mrs. Manchester will go to summer school, Miss Rood and Miss Stevens will remain in North Loup, the latter helping in the Bartz store.

Louise Hamer came over from Broken Bow Friday evening, her school there having closed that day.

Bill Sims arrived Wednesday from Camp Polk, La., for a ten day furlough. His mother was much surprised Wednesday to receive a message from Bill in Omaha that he would be home.

Eva Portis left Friday for Lincoln where she expects to have work. She spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Carl Stude.

Cecil Knapp went to Grand Island Wednesday afternoon, having received word that there was an opening in the Cornhusker ordnance plant for him as a hardware checker. Ruth Clement is helping in the hardware store some while he is away.

Mrs. W. W. Wills entertained at bridge Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Mills Hill won both the high score prize and the honor prize.

Members of the Junior Fortnightly club enjoyed an outdoor meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Vernon Thomas. The hostess had provided an abundance of welcome, buns, apples and marshmallows which were roasted over an open fire. All who were able to go spent a very enjoyable afternoon in spite of the shower which dampened the fire, if not the spirits.

Beulah Porter was a Grand Island visitor Friday.

Mary Frances Manchester went to Hastings Sunday where she plans to spend the summer. She will operate the cafe at the Hastings airport. Mrs. Gordon Little will assist in the John Manchester home for a time since Mrs. Manchester is confined to her bed with heart trouble.

Mrs. Mary Davis and daughter Mary arrived home Wednesday for the summer. Miss Mary has been teaching at Doniphan and her mother has been with her.

Wednesday evening at the high school auditorium sixteen eighth grade students received diplomas promoting them to high school. Thirteen of these were pupils in the North Loup school while three came from Rural. A one act play, "Getting Grace Graduated," was presented by the group. The setting of the play was a May evening, forty minutes before graduation in the outer office of the Grant public school. Grace Sims took the part of Grace who was in a serious predicament because of a prank that had been played and was laid to her. Given twenty minutes to find the culprit, she and Dale Hawkes as a detective and Robert Kerr as the janitor's helper, found Billy Earnest as the guilty party and Grace graduated with the rest of the class. Hazel Stevens, teacher of the seventh and eighth grades in town, presented the class to Mr. Wills who gave out the diplomas. Graduates include Billy Earnest, Juanita Little and Lyle Klitzsmith from Rural and Wayne Barber, Wanita Clement, Boyd Cox, La Vonnie Desel, Charles Goodrich, Dale Hawkes, Bethene Hoppes, Robert Kerr, Effie Larkin, Carol Leonard, Donna Manchester, Mary Jo Schultz and Grace Sims. Irma Mae Waller is teacher at Rural.

Gasoline Rationing, Rubber Shortage, Don't Worry Kovarik; He Delivers Cream on Horseback

Three gallons or five gallons a week under the proposed gas rationing plan—Frank Kovarik doesn't care, for he has a new method of delivering cream to the Ord Cooperative creamery, as this picture proves. Rubber shortage don't mean a thing to him either.

Frank lives seven miles west of Ord, just off the Sargent highway, and about two months ago near Valley View he bought a coming 3-year-old pinto saddle horse. He has broke the horse to ride and it is one of the handiest in the region.

Besides hauling a big cream can on the back of his horse Mr. Kovarik says he can open and close gates from horseback, slop the pigs and do other farm chores. He expects to teach the pinto a few tricks later.

What Cut of MEAT Do You Like?

Do you know meat simply as "meat," or do you know it by its full name—as a cut of meat? The latter is all important, for it enables you to prepare meat as intelligently as you prepare salads or soup or pastry.

There are more than a hundred cuts of meat. All are nutritious, but may not be suited to the same purpose. For instance, you would not buy a cut of sirloin as a stew, would you? Yet there are cuts for stewing that taste as fine as the best sirloin—and cost much less. Ask us the names and uses of meat cuts.

Reports from Germany tell of scientists who have produced a rapidly developing grass which, in a few hours, will cover a new airplane landing field in such a way as to make it look from the air like a level pasture.

LaVern Duemey to Uncle Sam's Navy... but Ilene Will Carry On

For several years The Ord Quiz has been distinguished among weekly newspapers, not only of Nebraska but of the entire nation, for the excellence of its local pictures. Not even the country's greatest dailies and picture magazines have published better news-pictures than has the Quiz. Credit for this is due, and hereby is cheerfully given by the editor, to LaVern Duemey. On Monday, June 1, LaVern will leave for Great Lakes, Mich., to join Uncle Sam's navy. He volunteered two months ago at the navy recruiting station in Omaha and was asked by navy officials to send certified examples of his photographic work to the proper department for examination by experts. The result was that LaVern was accepted as a navy photographer and now has been ordered to report for duty. After about three weeks at Great Lakes he will be assigned to a navy school in aerial photography located in Indiana and it won't be long until he'll be making from high in the clouds those pictures of Tokio and other military objectives that occasionally are released for publication.

But there will still be a Duemey in the Quiz family... for a time at least. Mrs. LaVern Duemey, known as Ilene on the Quiz staff, has worked right along with her husband at perfecting photographic technique and hereafter the pictures you see in the Quiz will be made by her. Later, if her husband's work in the photographic school permits him sufficient leave to make the plan feasible, Mrs. Duemey may travel east to be near him. Whenever you know of a good picture opportunity please notify Ilene or the Quiz office.

Strong Root Growth
Encourage strong root growth, so that plants will not be easily uprooted. Dig deep and make a good soil bed, so that roots will spread down and out, making an anchor against the wind. Give deep and thorough soakings, especially in areas that call for almost daily summer watering. Remember that light sprinklings make for surface root-growth and that shallow roots make for plant heaving when the high winds come.

Protecting Eyes
Do you go in for sunbathing? Then you know all about the application of suntan lotion in the interests of that nice, even tan. But what are you doing about your eyes? The answer is cotton pads, dipped into witch hazel, rose water or any good eye lotion, pressed over the eyes while you are in the sun. Better even than sun glasses, because pads don't leave you with that "goggle" look. The eyes should be bathed after you come in from boating, tennis, riding, even touring all day in a car.

Dense Population
It is estimated that 25,000,000 persons live in the 133,700 square miles of the Punjab region of India.

The New Folding Stretcher
A new folding stretcher was recently demonstrated with a removable frame which enables hospital attendants to pick up seriously injured persons without having to lift them onto the stretcher.

Horse Made Him Landlord
Actor Victor Moore had this explanation for turning up in Jackson Heights, N. Y., at the controls of a steam shovel: "Some years ago a former actor turned real estate broker and tried to sell me a piece of land. I wasn't much interested, but he told me he had a real tip on a race horse. He said he'd let me in if I'd promise that if I won I'd use the money for a down payment on the lot. I did. He did. The horse did. So I did, and now we're building a bus terminal on it." Moore kept his gloves on just long enough to move one shovelful of dirt.

Sleeping North or South
Many people believe, as Charles Dickens and others did, that electrical forces from the magnetic poles make sleep better if the bed is placed north and south, with the head at the north. Even to this day some people carry compasses when traveling and each night move the bed around so the magnetism will pass from their head to feet, and not crosswise of their bodies. This is a bit of superstitious pseudo-science. As long as a person is not standing on his head, it makes no difference in which direction his head points during sleep.
