Nebraska State Surveying Crew Plats Airport

Nichols, Lt. Loretta Achen, Make Interesting Talks At Rotary Club

Monday afternoon a crew of surveyors from the Nebraska state department of aeronautics arrived in Ord for the purpose of making a preliminary survey of the city's newly acquired airport. This work is being done by the state at no expense to the city, and a report of the findings of the surveyors will be furnished the city by the state.

The head survey engineer is Maynard L. Nichols, and he is being assisted in the work by Frank T. Justice, Chester Flanagan and Lloyd Kuhl. They began their work Tuesday morning and Mr. Nichols stated that they would probably be done by Thursday. Their data will be sent back to the city, which will then make an application for funds to the state department of aeronautics.

In commenting on the choice of sites for an airport, Mr. Nichols said that this was an excellent location, and that very little grading would be necessary to make a first class airport of the land. This was his personal opinion, of course but it is also understood that the Ord site is one of the best in Nebraska.

Clarence M. Davis, city attorney, says that application has been made to the state to have the field designated as an airport, and that this would be done in due time. There have been a number of inquiries from interested people who would like to secure the management of the field. The customary procedure in other places has been to turn it over to some responsible person, who can then make his living by the sale of gas and oil, accessories, etc.

The engineers were guests of Attorney Davis at the Rotary meeting Monday evening, and Mr. Nichols made a very interesting talk on airfields in China. During the war he was with a corps of engineers who were building airfields for Claire Chenuat and his Flying Tigers, and also bases for the 30th Bomb and B-29 superfortresses. He was in the China-Burma-India theater of operations.

All these fields were unusual in that they were made entirely by hand labor methods, even including the making of tools, as no machinery was available, and labor was plentiful and cheap. One superfortress base required a maximum labor load of 106,000 persons, and some of them cost as much as one billion dollars. Many of these bases were later captured by the Japanese, and all of them were built under enemy attack.

These bombings caused the death of many of the laborers, but they kept right on with the work. Nichols said that the Chinese were very faithful in the performance of their duties. A guest of the club was Lt. Loretta Achen, recently returned from India. She gave a very interesting talk on India and the conditions she found there. Engineer Kuhl was a B-26 pilot in Europe during the war.

B. & P. Woman's Club Aids Camp Fire Work

Camp Fire's 34th birthday in March brings the usual number of extra activities for the five groups in Ord which began their seventh uninterrupted year of the program last autumn.

In total of 71 Camp Fire girls will participate in the Birthday Week celebration March 17 to 23. When B & P W Club assumed the local sponsorship of the Camp Fire work last fall, they added the help of 15 club members to the planning and instruction among the groups. This includes 5 guardian's assistants - Mrs. Mary Louise Nash, Mrs. Louise McOstrich, Margaret Petska, Deloris Donelson and Mrs. Helen Kokes; there are also 5 registered sponsors: Mrs. Vera Andersen, Mrs. Evelyn Jeffries, Mrs. Elsie Furtak, Marjorie Fouts and Inez Swain. Several other members are listed as volunteer instructors in incidental meetings of work in special interests or hobbies they might have.

Last fall the Tando group was organized among the members who were promoted from Blue Bird work into full Camp Fire standing. Karen Smets is president, Agnes Raemakers secretary, and they meet with their leaders Rae Jean Brown and Mrs. Gwen Cummins on Mondays. They are preparing to take their Trail Seeker tests before the birthday month is over. Mrs. Irma Cochrane is official examiner for rank in Ord.

Building Addition To Ord Creamery

Ray Bissell and his crew of men began work in earnest Monday morning on the new addition to the Ord Cooperative Creamery. From the manager, Emil Babka, the Quiz learns that the new building will be 30 by 32 feet in size, and is to be located just west of the main building.

"This is the first step in an expansion program we have been planning for some time," Emil Babka, creamery manager, stated. "Farmers in this area have excellent opportunities to expand their income by paying more attention to poultry, and we want to be in a position to help them."

There is to be a full basement for the storage of egg cases and other supplies. The ground floor will be used for the handling and storage of eggs, and will contain a refrigerator 14 by 16 feet in size, which will have a capacity for storing 400 to 500 cases of eggs.

The plan is to have the egg department as a separate unit. The eggs will be unloaded on the south side, on K street and will come into the building on a conveyor. In the past the eggs have been handled in the same room as the cream, and have presented a problem, especially on Saturdays.

Ord Legion Will Sponsor Baseball & Carnival Here

Special Membership Meeting Held March 5; Eleven New Members

Sponsorship of a junior American Legion baseball team here this summer was accepted by Ord Legionnaires at the regular meeting of Fidelity Post 38 held Tuesday night.

Alex Cochrane, jr., will head a committee which will select a coach, provide uniforms and other equipment. Players will be recruited from high and grade school youths of the vicinity according to established rules of American Legion junior baseball. Games will be played with nearby towns. A benefit dance will probably be held in the near future to raise funds for the team.

A circus-carnival, also under Legion sponsorship, has been tentatively booked here for the first week in June. Commander Clark Weckbach told the club. The circus outfit will have four or five shows, a number of rides and concessions, Weckbach said. Plans were also set for a large invitation to membership meeting to be held Monday night, March 25. At this meeting all veterans who have not as yet affiliated will be invited to join, with special efforts being directed toward newly returned veterans. A choice program is being planned for the event, and will probably include motion pictures taken by veterans overseas.

Eleven new candidates were sworn into the local post, bringing membership to 170. Decorations and remodeling of the Legion home was discussed, and work will start on the project within a week. Interior of the building will be repainted, walls covered with wallboard, fluorescent lights installed, and steps taken to strengthen the floor of the second story.

Noll Celebrates 18th Anniversary

Eighteen years ago this week, Bob Noll, owner and operator of the Noll Seed Company, hopefully opened the doors of a small seed and grain firm which has grown into one of Valley county's largest businesses.

"We had the rear 40 feet of our present building," Mr. Noll said. "And if someone had offered me $500 for our opening stock I could have sold out at a profit."

"The years have been kind to us and our business has grown steadily. In fact our first year we shipped about 120,000 pounds of pop corn - which has always been our big line - and last year we shipped about four and a half million pounds."

This week also marks the anniversary of a steady program of advertising. For eighteen years Mr. Noll has prepared a half to a full column advertisement in narrative style which has appeared in the same corner of the back page of the Quiz.

"I'm a great believer in Quiz advertising," Mr. Noll said. "It has meant much to the success of our business."

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Dobberstein returned Tuesday from a nine day visit to relatives and friends in York, Grand Island and Hastings.

Final Rites Held for H. J. Coffin, Burwell Pioneer

Lumberman-Land Owner, 86, Died at Corpus Christi, Tex., on Febr. 26th

Burwell—(Special) — Friends from all parts of Garfield county assembled here Monday afternoon at the Congregational church to pay tribute to the memory of H. J. Coffin, 86, prominent business man of this city whose death at Corpus Christi, Tex., on Febr. 26 came as a shock to friends. Rev. J. Chris Nyrop conducted the funeral service and interment at Burwell cemetery was in charge of the Masonic order, of which Mr. Coffin was long a member.

Born in Boston, Mass., on Jan. 11, 1860 Mr. Coffin was a descendant of the historic Tristram Coffin who settled on Nantucket Island in the middle of the 17th century and whose family is scattered far and wide over the American continent today.

Educated in the Boston public schools and Chauncey Hall, Mr. Coffin later worked in an organ factory but knowing the fine dust filings were injuring his health he decided to migrate westward, so with his parents and two sisters he came to Nebraska in the spring of 1878, settling first near Schuyler where he farmed four years. In 1883 he took a pre-emption near Inman but after six months removed to The Forks, Wheeler county, and took a homestead. In 1892 he moved to Burwell and bought the local branch of Howell Lumber company, which he operated many years.

His marriage to Mary Halloran took place on May 1, 1893 and Burwell was the family home throughout their married life, four children being born to them, Frances, Olive, Margaret and Henry Halloran, the latter dying at the age of four months.

The active years of Mr. Coffin's life were most interesting and busy. His farm in "The Forks" was the overnight stopping place for many men with their herds of cattle as they took them to and from summer pastures as far up the river as "The Bloody." It was during one of these trips that Mr. Coffin was given the nickname "Pard," which persisted through out his life. He was a man who took great interest in the business life and the welfare of the community. Besides the lumber business he owned and helped operate several stores through the years and was financially interested in the first Burwell bank. He was a member of the Masonic and I. O. O. F. lodges, active in the Congregational church, was a member of the county board of commissioners, the village board and the board of education.

His wife died on May 22, 1943, just a few days after they had celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. Coffin had a great love of travel and had visited every state and also the countries of Canada and Panama. Spending the winters in Corpus Christi, always was looked forward to by him with great anticipation and on Nov. 1, 1945, he left for that place with his daughter Margaret and her husband, Carroll Walker. He was taken ill on Jan. 22 and was taken to a hospital where his daughters were with him during the last weeks of his life.

Will Advertise for Light Plant Bids

Advertising for bids for materials to be used in construction of the $30,000 addition to Ord's municipal light and water plant will start in a few days, George Allen, city engineer told the Quiz. The addition will house a new $85,000 diesel 1000KW generator which the city has purchased.

Architect's plans for the addition were received today from Black & Veach. The building will be constructed by the city itself.

Contract Let March 11

The advertising for bids on construction of Ord's new swimming pool has been completed and the letting of the contract will take place March 11, unless all bids should prove unsatisfactory, a contingency not likely to occur. It is expected that work will begin as soon as possible and will be rushed to completion so that the pool will be available for use of the kiddies this summer.

Nebr. Governor Gets Information on the Loup River Bridge

The fact that the Loup river bridge just east of Ord needs quick attention was brought forcefully to Nebraska's Governor Dwight Griswold who visited briefly in Ord Monday.

The governor, in company with assistant attorney general Rush Clarke, had spent Sunday in Greeley county and points east, and late Sunday night started for Ord planning to spend the night here. About midnight the party neared Ord, but came to a sudden halt at the now defunct Loup river bridge.

"We had no road map," the governor told the Quiz. "So we wandered around a bit on the east side of the river until we saw lights at a ranch house. They directed us to the Sumter bridge between Ord and North Loup where we crossed and came back to Ord."

The bridge will have "immediate attention," the governor said.

Third World War Is 50-50 Chance Fears H. S. Liang

Delegate to Frisco Council Says Big 3 Must Keep the Peace of the World

A 50-50 chance that the world is plunging toward a third world war is the fear of Hubert S. Liang, final speaker on the Rotary club's Institute of International Understanding program, given Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium. Only the Big 3 - the United States, Russia and England - can keep the peace and of them the U. S., in the eyes of the world, must be most responsible for doing so, he believes.

Mr. Liang, a native of China, was a delegate to the world security conference held in San Francisco last year. Graduate of an American university with training in engineering and journalism, he represented a U. S. news syndicate before the war and following the occupation of China directed underground activities against the Japanese, miraculously avoiding capture many times.

China is now united to a greater extent than at any time in its history, he says, and an agreement soon will be announced between the Nationalist and Chinese Communist parties for representation in governing the country.

He calls Great Britain a "diminishing kingdom" and says its influence is waning in the far east. Hong-Kong should not be restored to England, in his opinion, and England should get out of India and permit that nation to govern itself, as a means of avoiding future trouble there.

Liang denounced the secret agreements made by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at the Yalta and Cairo conferences, which are just coming to light, and says the world will as a result view with suspicion the proposed aims of the Big 3 powers.

His talk was as interesting and scholarly one and he spoke with only a trace of accent, enabling the large audience to follow his argument clearly.

Especially interesting were his conclusions about Japan, which he says must be watched carefully for generations to come, or as long as the emperor remains as the symbol of religious veneration. The wealthy ruling families of Japan must be destroyed and the common man given a chance before Japan can be democratized, he believes.

The Forum program sponsored by the Rotary club was well attended throughout and was a financial success, says Fred V. Cahill, club president. A similar Forum no doubt will be given again next winter.

Vencel Skala Creates Disturbance; In Jail

At the instance of several tenants of apartments above the City Bakery, Chief of Police Len Covert arrested James Skala Monday morning on a charge of intoxication. He entered a plea of guilty as charged in Judge John L. Andersen's court and was sentenced to jail at hard labor for a period of 45 days.

Skala created a disturbance all night in the rooms and the hallway occupied by Lunney, Manchester and Socha, and stole about 70 cents in pennies. His record shows the following arrests: Oct. 1, 1945, intoxication; Dec. 14, no fund check; Feb. 17, intoxication. He had just been released from serving a ten day sentence last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis drove to York Sunday to visit John Lewis. They found him much more contented there and getting used to his surroundings.

"I am going to take up permanent residence here as soon as I can buy or build a house, and several members of our crew will do the same. I consider Ord one of the finest towns in the state, and a town with a future," he continued.

Sewer District Formed to Serve 160 Ord Homes

Cost Estimated at $22,000 By Allen; Remonstrances Must Come by April 2

Ord contemplated new sanitary sewer district is now in the resolution stage, and will become a reality at the next meeting of the city council April 2, unless more than half of the resident property owners in the district file objections in writing before that date.

City Engineer George Allen has placed an estimate of $22,000 on cost of the project, which will cover 21 blocks and "serve 160 homes in Ord. The city has employed Darrell McCoshrich as construction consultant to assist Mr. Allen through preliminary stages of bid letting.

City officials are of the opinion that no remonstrances will be filed within the district and are set to advertise for bids on the new project at their April meeting.

"In drawing plans for the district we have made provisions for 160 service connections," Mr. Allen said. "That will care for every home in the area, and also provide for the small number of vacant lots which are prospective home sites."

"Work on the project will be done by official contract and we should see dirt moving in the area a short time after the bid letting in late April," Mr. Allen stated.

The new sewer lines will extend along the following streets: K street from 16th to 22nd. J street from 22nd to a point east of 20th.

20th street from J to G. 19th street from J to G. 18th street from J to G. 17th street from J to G.

Mrs. Julia Wozniak returned to Ord Monday from Denver where she has been spending several months.

Ord Chamber Met Tuesday, Heard From Committees

Most Groups Are Now Active; Report on Membership Is Encouraging

A meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce was held Thursday evening at the Knights of Columbus hall. The meeting was called to order by vice-president, E. S. Murray, and new members were introduced. The financial report of the secretary, John L. Andersen, showed a balance on hand of $1,648.50. The secretary also reported that he had mailed 304 letters and attended ten committee meetings.

The membership committee, Ed Swopes, chairman, reported a meeting Feb. 19, at the secretary's office. They immediately started their campaign for members, and to date had a membership of 113 out of a possible 155. They had been turned down in only eight cases, and had raised approximately $2,000. Besides the chairman, members are George Hastings, Duane Armstrong, William Dargies, William Goff, Stanley Abston and John L. Andersen.

The new industries committee, E. S. Murray, chairman, reported that they had held two meetings and had several propositions under consideration, but not definite enough for a report. The roads committee, James B. Ollis, chairman, gave an interesting report of proposed roads of the county, and this report led into a discussion of the North Loup river bridge, and the chance of at least having a foot bridge built for immediate use.

The meeting urged that the road committee take immediate action to supplement the efforts of the county board in getting action on the building of a temporary structure to be used until the new bridge is built. Accordingly the committee got to work the following day, contacted the Diamond Engineering company. This company brought in a dragline Saturday and Monday began work of tearing out the wreckage, which is now proceeding rapidly.

Clark Weckbach, chairman of the finance and budget committee, reported that the committee had set the budget at $2,400; that they wanted to be fair and willing to consider any complaints; that in fixing the budget it was the purpose and plan that employees, under the firm name, were entitled to attend meetings and have a voice in behalf of the firm.

The Agriculture committee, Darrel McOstrich, chairman, held a meeting Jan. 21, when they agreed to assist Mr. Dale in making preparations for the corn yield luncheon. Mr. Dodd then gave an interesting talk on the meeting of the Loup river basin irrigation and conservation association, which was held at Sargent Feb. 27, and which was attended by Mr. Dodd, John L. Andersen, Carl Dale and I. W. Eschliman.

The trade days committee, Jay Aulsebrook, had nothing to report, due to lack of merchandise. The civic improvements committee, M. B. Cummins, chairman, reported that numerous matters were discussed at their meeting, and that they had some good projects, which they were working on. Hilding Pearson, chairman of the publicity committee, reported that a reporter for the state papers had been found, and was beginning his work.

The Farmer's BANK

Every Credit Need of the Farmer Can Be Answered.

Farmers in Valley County have the habit of doing business with the First National. Many of them have credit needs which were filled promptly and amply. Many, who don't get to town too often, like the First National's convenient plan of banking by mail. And there are some that "just like us."

Naturally, we're pleased to see the steady parade of farm customers, and will do all we can to merit their continued satisfaction.

How to Make Lenten Menus Interesting

If you're looking for meatless main course dishes that are tasty and hearty, here are some of my favorites. These are so good that they needn't be reserved just for Lent. You'll find them delicious the year around.

FRENCH TOAST TUNA SALAD SANDWICH
For a satisfying lunch I serve these sandwiches along with Cream of Pea Soup. Then for dessert I like a Frosted Apple Dumpling and plenty of hot coffee or tea.

Make sandwiches using a well-seasoned tuna salad mixture. For each 3 sandwiches mix together 2 slightly beaten eggs, 1/2 cup of milk and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cut sandwiches in half if desired. Dip in egg and milk mixture. Saute in hot shortening in heavy frying pan, turning to brown both sides. Serve hot.

LIMA BEAN AND CHEESE SALAD
Buttered spinach or Swiss chard, hot bran muffins and chocolate cake for dessert combine with this salad to make a complete supper or lunch.

To 2 cups of cooked dried lima beans, well-drained, add 2 cups finely shredded cabbage, 1 cup American cheese cut in small cubes, and 1/4 cup pickle relish. Toss lightly with Thousand Island Dressing. Serve in bowl lined with cabbage leaves. Serves 6 generously.

NOODLES ROMANOFF
Sour cream gives this dish its distinctive flavor. If you have no sour cream, add 1 tablespoon of lemon juice to a cup of cream or undiluted evaporated milk and let stand for 15 to 20 minutes in a warm place.

Cook a 6-oz. package of egg noodles according to directions on the package. Drain well. Add 1 cup of cottage cheese and 1 cup sour cream and season with 1/4 cup chopped onion, 1 to 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, a dash of Tabasco or cayenne, salt and paprika. Mix well. Place in casserole and sprinkle with grated sharp cheese or dry bread crumbs. Bake about 40 minutes or until crumbs are brown. Serves 4 to 6.

COFFEE TIPS by Carol Drake

START WITH FRESH COFFEE. Never buy more than a week ahead; use your "oldest" coffee first.

BUY THIS RIGHT GRIND. Be sure your coffee is the proper grind for the coffee-maker you use.

KEEP EQUIPMENT CLEAN. Every coffee-maker should be washed daily with soap and water.

MEASURE EVERYTHING. Measure water, coffee (1 heaping tablespoon per cup is average) and brewing time.

Your own specifications for good coffee

The amount of coffee that is used and the length of brewing time will vary according to tastes in coffee. When you discover the combination that pleases your taste, be sure to use the same measurements every time.

—Mrs. F. C. Williams went to Grand Island on the bus Thursday morning to meet an old friend, Mrs. Margaret Thurman of Omaha. He says he is now 69 years of age and will retire at the age of 70 next December with about 23 years of service behind him. He says everything is booming at Cotesfield. He sold his house recently there, and it was moved up some 5 miles southwest of Ord. He bought a home in St. Paul, and his wife lives there while Paul teaches in Cotesfield until his job is ended. He says he would like to live in Ord, but it is too difficult to find a home now. He is the man who is recognized over the state as one of the outstanding archaeologists. Of late he has not done much about Indian fossils, but has been able to find a large number of fossil remains of ancient animals, including camel, saber tooth tiger, rhinoceros, horse and mammoth.

Meet the Business Men of Ord

No. 4. The Car Dealers.

The Nelson Motor company, Ford dealers, are unique in that not a person in the group can really claim residence in Ord, except one, who came here just recently. The owner, L. B. (Benjie) Nelson, is a resident of North Loup, where he owns and operates a garage. The manager, P. O. Petersen, his son Calvin Petersen, parts man, and M. L. Wright, body and fender man are all Burwell residents, mainly because they cannot find a place in Ord to live.

P. O. Petersen was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, Jan. 4, 1892, and came to America at the age of 15 years. He came direct to Ord, where he had some relatives, the Knud Christensens, who formerly lived west of Ord. He worked around on farms for about 5 years, and then entered the employ of company opened at Burwell, he went to work for them. He came to Ord as manager for L. B. Nelson, July 1, 1944.

Mr. Petersen married Dorothy Hoyt of Burwell in 1923. Their children are Merl, who lost his life in the Pacific; Calvin, recently returned from the European theater; Martha, a senior at Burwell; Varley, Marilyn and Frances, who are grade students in Burwell. They are still living in Burwell because they cannot find a place to live in Ord.

Calvin D. Petersen, 21, lives with his parents in Burwell and is parts man for Nelson Motor company. He graduated at Burwell in 1942, and went into the army in February, 1943. He went across to the European theater in February, 1944, and took part in all the major battles from Normandy on. After 19 months he sailed home from Le Harve and received his discharge Oct. 29, 1945. He began work with the company Jan. 1, 1946.

He married Laura Johnson of Burwell, and they have three children, Carolyn, Bill and Phyllis, who are in Ord high and junior high. He joined the Ord volunteer fire department 18 years ago, and was chief for two years. Albert Anderson, father of Clarence and George, likes to drop in from time to time and help with the work in any way he can, when he does not find the work on the farm too pressing.

Glen Eschliman is 32 years old and was born in Greeley county. He came to Ord in 1926 with his parents, and graduated from Ord high school in 1932. For a while he assisted Bud Shirley in taking care of Bus-sell park, and he also did some mechanical work. In 1936 he started work for Anderson. He went into the ship engine works at Sunnyvale, Calif., in July, 1942, and remained there until last September. Now he is back on the job again. He does mostly fender and body work.

Don Miller, 40 years old, was born in Ord, attended the Ord schools, graduating in 1927. He worked at farm work for 7 years then started a battery shop in Ord in 1934. This he continued until he was called into the service in April, 1942. There he remained until September, 1945. He has been with the Anderson Motor company since that time, as a general repair man. He has been a member of the Ord fire department since 1940.

Bob Edgill, 23 years old, was born at Franklin, Neb., and moved with his parents to a ranch in Wheeler county when he was three years old. In November, 1942 he was called into the armed forces, and was discharged in July, 1943. He went back to the ranch with his father for a while, and started doing repair work for Anderson in Nov., 1945. He married Geneva Barnes of Scotia, Aug. 20, 1945. They live in Ord.

Edw. Gnaster Ord

Merritt L. Wright, body and fender man for Nelson Motors, was born at Almeria, Neb., Dec. 24, 1892. He has lived in Valley and Garfield counties practically all his life. He started in electric and radio work in Burwell in 1922, and remained in that line until 1938. He was then employed in garage work for two to three years. He worked in an Omaha body shop 6 or 8 months, worked for Bredthauer at Burwell for a time, and came to Nelson Motor company July 1, 1945.

In 1918 he married Ruby McKenzie of Burwell. They have two children. The daughter, Mrs. Doris Savage, lives at Burwell. The son, Billy, a private first class, got home Monday night of last week after serving three years in the armed forces in the European theater, with the 7th army. Like Petersen, he went through all the battles from Normandy on, and, like him, he is not at all displeased with the idea of being home once more.

Vinton Henry, general repair man with Nelson Motor company, is the latest acquisition to the force, and the only man living in Ord. He was born in Osborne, Kas., Febr. 14, 1912. His garage experience began in 1926, and from then on until Nov. 27, 1943 he was employed at different times in Boulder where he operated a Ford shop and at Greeley, where he was employed by Gurnsey and Wheeler.

When he was called to the navy in November, 1943, he was employed in Denver by the Remington Arms company. He served a year in the Brooklyn Navy yard, and then was sent to the western Pacific where he served in Hawaii, the Marianas and the Marshalls. He got out of the service Dec. 14, 1945, and began with Nelson Jan. 1, 1946. He married Etta Margaret Cordry Dec. 14, 1933. They have no children.

The Anderson Motor company, who needs no introduction to most Ord people. Cap is 39 years old and was born in Ord. He received his education in the schools of Elyria. He started selling Model T's back in 1923, and has been in the auto business ever since.

He has sold new cars part of the time, but makes a specialty of dealing in used cars. Of late he finds that good used cars are scarce, but he still finds enough to have some on hand for his customers, and used cars are still more plentiful than new ones are. Murrey spent the time from April 2, 1942 to Sept. 28, 1945, in the service of Uncle Sam. Before he left he was handling the Pontiac line.

At present Murrey Nelson gets along with one assistant, his auto repair and fender man, Harry Newman. Mr. Newman is 37 years old, was born over in the edge of Sherman county, but has lived all his life in Valley county with the exception of a short time he spent in Greeley county. He first helped his father on the farm, then farmed for himself after he was 18 years old.

After suffering a severe attack of spinal meningitis a few years ago he found he was unable to handle many of the harder tasks on the farm, so he began working for Ralph Beck in his garage at Scotia in July, 1944. He worked for him nearly a year, then worked several months for himself. When Nelson returned from the service he hired him for general repair man and he has been here since Nov. 16 last.

Newman is married, his wife being the former Martha Kosmicki, who he married in 1930. They have six children: Henrietta, who is 14, Darold, 12, Ronald, 10, Henry, 5, Kenneth, 4 and Carolyn Kay 2. Because of the housing shortage here, they still live in their home in Scotia, and Henry drives to and from work each day.

The Ord Auto Sales company, proprietor Ed Gnaster, has handled the Chevrolet line of autos and truck and Buick autos since 1932. First Ed was manager for Mudloff of St. Paul but bought him out in 1942 and has been owner since then. He has always enjoyed a good business in Ord, and likes the town and community. This firm was mentioned before in our article on the implement dealers, a picture of the entire group appearing then.

Thomas Rasmussen and his wrecking and auto repair business was mentioned in the article on auto repair men, and a picture of the men employed appeared then. However, we should mention that Thomas is the authorized agent for the Willys line of autos and post-war jeeps. He got his first jeep in Saturday, and it has been attracting a lot of attention since then.

Howard Huff, mentioned more fully in the implement men story, does not handle cars, but he does handle the International line of trucks, and hopes to be able to take care of the demand for them in the near future. We believe we have covered everything in the auto and truck line in this story. If we missed anybody, please let us know. Next week's story will be Ord's plumbers.

The Anderson Motor company, Chrysler and Plymouth dealers, consists of two partners, Clarence A. (Hi), and George. Clarence is 44 years old and was born at Howells, Neb., coming to Valley county when he was about a year old, and he has been here ever since. He took over the Chrysler contract in 1925, and the firm has held that contract ever since, thus qualifying as the oldest car dealer in Ord.

Two of the earliest cars they sold were to Tom Borovka and John Viner, and those two cars are still delivering the goods after 20 years. The firm had parts for Chryslers and Plymouths through the war, but of course had no new cars to sell. Clarence married Flora Leggett in 1926. They have three children, Shirley, Coralee and Tommy, all students in the Ord schools.

George W. Anderson, 39, is the younger member of Anderson Motor Co. He was born on the farm northeast of Ord, and came to Ord when the family came to town to live. He first worked on the dray with his father, Albert Anderson. He started in with the Chrysler business in 1926, and has been with it ever since, except one and one half years.

FARM LOANS--to fit the Farmer's Needs

Farming is an industry—the most important in the nation. But it is different from most other industries. It isn't the same as manufacturing automobiles or wholesaling groceries. Farming requires a different type of credit.

Most sources of credit are geared to these other industries—and they do not fit the needs of farming, an industry which moves in pace with the forces of nature.

But the Federal Land Bank is geared to farming—and to farming only. It offers the type of credit that fits the farmer's needs.

A Land Bank loan is a long-term loan. It runs for more than 30 years, with no renewal fees to pay every few years. Payments are arranged so the loan will be gradually paid off—out of the normal earnings of the farm.

And a Land Bank loan carries the lowest interest ever offered on farm mortgages—never more than 4 per cent, if you get your loan now.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matters stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Duan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Duan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Duan's Pills.

You've probably taken it as a matter of course to provide for insurance for your loved ones after you're gone. But have you thought of an untimely death by accident?

Welcome Snow and Rain Came Tuesday
 The first precipitation of any quantity since the beginning of the year came Tuesday and Tuesday night, bringing a total moisture content of .62 of an inch, according to Weatherman Horace Travis. The amount of snow here was about three inches. The coldest Tuesday night was 30 degrees and the snow did not freeze to the sidewalks except on the north side of buildings.
 Farmers have been wishing for moisture all winter, and the fall this week will help. A light breeze was blowing from the north Wednesday morning, but the snow is so wet that it will not pile up, and will thus remain in the fields where it will do the most good. The temperature was rising rapidly Wednesday and the snow was melting rapidly.

 Al Parkos of the Triple A office reported Wednesday morning that there was quite a sowing of rye and winter wheat in the county last fall, and that of late the farmers have been wondering whether the crop would make anything, due to the continued dry weather. However, the present moisture may present a very different picture in a week or two.

U. P. Conductor Killed by Train
 Saturday John G. Moody, veteran conductor for the Union Pacific, was struck and killed when he stepped in front of the Los Angeles limited in the yards at Grand Island. Moody was 64 years old and would soon have been eligible for retirement.
 He was first employed by the Union Pacific July 15, 1906. Since 1930 he had been making the run on freight trains 83 and 84, to and from Ord, but had been off duty since December recovering from a serious attack of pneumonia.
 According to information furnished County Attorney Louis A. Holmes, Moody had come from a dentist's office late in the morning and had stopped to talk with some friends just east of the depot. He commented that Mrs. Moody had just driven north on Pine street, rose from the bench and started across the tracks.
 Friends called to him, but he apparently did not realize how close the train was. When he saw the train he lunged to the north, but was hit and thrown to the north of the westbound tracks. James A. Eakin, Omaha, engineer of the Limited, said the train was moving slowly with the brakes applied for a stop at the passenger station.

Hastings Choir Will Sing Here March 24
 The Hastings college women's choir will present a concert in the high school auditorium on Sunday evening, March 24. This event to Ord will begin their 2 week spring tour of Nebraska cities.
 The Hastings college choir made extensive trips before the war, but because of transportation difficulties, they have not traveled during the past few years.
 Professor Hayes M. Fuhr, the director of the choir, is well known throughout this part of the country. His singing groups have the reputation of being among the finest in the middle west, and are highly acclaimed because of their quality of entertainment and finished performances.
 Ord is fortunate in being selected as one of the cities that will hear these forty young women at the beginning of their spring tour.

County Clerks Met In Ord Friday A. M.
 A number of county clerks from this section of the state met in the supervisors room at the court house Friday morning to hear instructions and gain information relative to changes in the election laws as made by the last legislature. Floyd Pohlman, deputy secretary of state, was present to explain these changes and to answer questions.
 Present for the meeting were Seth W. Oleson of Howard county, Lynn Paine of Custer county, Iola Moore of Garfield county, Margaret Simpson of Sherman county and J. B. Rush of Loup county. The county clerk of Greeley county was expected to attend, but was not able to do so.
 The present laws require all delegates and alternates to the state convention to file in the primary. Their names cannot be filed by friends, as has been done at times in the past. Names can be put on by petition, but this is hardly practical for a job which carries no pay. Delegates to the county convention do not have to file their names, but they can be chosen by the party county central committee.
 Mr. Pohlman explained how election boards should be appointed, and various mistakes in the system were discussed. He said that the counting board should commence work three hours after the polls open, provided 25 ballots had been cast by that time. The name of a person can appear on the ballot only once for a regular office, but can appear also as a delegate to the state convention and to the county convention, three times in all.
 There are still a large number of men in uniform in foreign lands, and for this reason the plan of having the soldiers vote will be continued during this election. Under the new law, three notices of election must be given. First, the regular notice of election, giving the names of the offices to be filled, second, another notice, giving the names of all persons who have filed for office; and third, the sample ballot.
 The primary election this year will be held June 11, and the closing date for filing for any office will be April 12. In case an incumbent in one office wishes to file for another, the closing date is April 2. This year the state conventions will endorse men for first and second place for state and congressional office, and the names will take that order on the ballot.
 —Dr. C. W. Weekes, who is attending a medical meeting in Chicago, is expected to be in his office next Tuesday morning. Mrs. Weekes is with him on the trip.

 Thursday's World-Herald showed a photo of Ord's Ted Randolph, track star from Ord, now a freshman at the University of Nebraska. In his first college year Ted is second only to the great Dick Miller, veteran Nebraska pole vaulter, and finished next to him in three dual meets this winter.
 Ted was expected to pick up extra points through the rest of the track season. He accounted for 16 points in helping Ord win the state championship last spring in class B, taking first in the high and low hurdles and hundred yard dash, and fourth in the pole vault. Randolph should make some real records for Nebraska in his senior year.

Customers of the Arcadia State Bank were surprised last week when they entered the Bank to find a brilliantly lighted room. The Consumers Public Power Dist. employees installed five large fluorescent light fixtures in the main room and one in the back room which gives the bank a metropolitan appearance. These new lights should be a source of pride as well as providing eye comfort to those employed in the bank. Bill Bulger recently installed the same type of lights in the new S&S Cafe and other business houses will probably follow suit as fast as these lights are available.

PROOF OF THE PUDDING
Dozens of business men and hundreds of customers have long known that Ord is a good town. Those people bring their business here, and the business men appreciate it. They come here because they get just a little more for their money here than elsewhere. They come because they can get what they want in the Ord stores. They come because they are treated courteously.

These are the incidentals, which, combined, make the all important difference between a good town and an ordinary is founded on the snowing made by the local station. This business by the way is the direct result of the business enterprise of Frank Kapustka and his associates in the local station.

A dozen Ord business firms are remodeling, expanding, rebuilding, all of which means that they have faith in the future of Ord. This is not a wild-cat building spree, but is one founded on a steady increase in business and the definite knowledge that this business will continue to increase in the future. This increase in business is not mere chance. Business comes where it is invited, where it is served, where it is treated courteously.

SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT.
by John L. Ward.

The sports editor of one of the Quiz's exchanges was sent to write up a church wedding, with the following result: "The arena was ablaze with bunting and ribbon, and the ring side was flanked with potted plants. The principals in the main event, Arthur Cauliflower Hansen and Agnes Prettyface McPhoot, entered the ring about the same time. Second for Cauliflower was his cousin, Scarface Scanlon. In the corner with Agnes was her sister, Jennie Frecklepuus McPhoot. Third man in the ring was Rev. Thomas McPhuddy. He called the contestants and their seconds to the center of the ring for final instructions, during which they agreed they did. He then gave Prettyface a kiss in the mug, and Cauliflower swung a haymaker to the minister's chin. He went down for the count and Cauliflower was declared the winner."

Another big company, Standard Oil, has definitely decided that Ord is one of the comparatively few places where they will build a new superservice station this year. They are building with

Maybe I ought to be jealous of Jay Aule. You see, he amuses himself and sometimes other folks by writing poems, and with the possible exception of Pat Fuson and Ellsworth Ball, he is one of the best the city has produced to date. Not so long ago he dashed off a skit on his friend, Ed Brennamin, or is it Tom Brennaman, about his "Meals in Movieland" or "Breakfast in Hollywood", or whatever it is that Tom has. Jay got in a lot of clever digs from a number of different angles, and sent it off, not dreaming he'd ever hear from it again. To his great surprise he received last week a congratulatory card from the great Tom in person, thanking him for his contribution and assuring him that it was first grade material. Now Jay is Every little while one of the Quiz's exchanges gets off a rather clever story along unusual lines, and that man Wood of the Gering Courier is no exception to the rule. Last week he had one on the front page in bold face type, and under the heading: "THIS LITTLE PIG WENT TO MARKET, 25,000,000 B. C." The first paragraph read: "Some 25,000,000 years ago the Oredon Culbertson lived and died on the prairies of Nebraska. A pig-like ruminant, little Oredon traveled in herds, little dreaming that, like New Dealers of today, he would soon be extinct". The story goes on to say that four Boy Scouts had found the fossil remains of the Oredon and presented them to the custodian of the Scotts Bluff national monument.

Now they are telling a new one on Ralph Norman, who has been losing so many of his neighbors of late. They say he went to Doc Norris last week with his left thumb badly chewed up. He wouldn't tell the doctor how it happened, but Doc thinks he must have got sore about something and bit himself. However, the real story got out just yesterday. It seems that when he was a mere child Ralph, who is an excellent fellow in other respects, contracted the habit of sucking his thumb, as all future great men do. However, Ralph never quit the habit when he grew up, and of late he has been dreaming about being invited to banquets. Every time he dreams of food he starts chewing, and then the pain of his thumb wakes him up.

When I first came to work on the Quiz nearly ten years ago, Rex Jewett used to run around town in the winter in his shirt sleeves, without even having his shirt collar buttoned. It made the average man shiver to look at him, but Rex didn't seem to mind it at all. In fact he seemed to thrive on it, rather strenuous treatment. But that was some time ago. The past winter Rex has been coming down town all bundled up in the depths of a huge fur coat, and with just the tip of his nose sticking out. I marveled at the change so one day I asked him the reason for the change. The answer was much to the point. "That's simple," said he, "Ten years ago I didn't have a fur coat."

For some years Raymond Johnson has been sheriff of Garfield county, and probably will be for some time to come. Robert G. Hall is sheriff of Valley county, and apparently has a bright future ahead of him. Now comes an ex-service man of Howard county and files for sheriff down there. He combines the names of Garfield and Valley county sheriffs, and goes under the name of Raymond Hall.

Carl Dale is one of the best men to interview you will find anywhere. He sums up the data in his mind, and talks slowly, giving the reporter time to write it down. When the story is finished it does not need any editing. You just write it direct from the notes. And you can't imagine how much time and work that saves.

There is the old saying that those who dance must pay the fiddler, and this doubtless applies to orchestras as well. For some years now Adolph Urbanovsky has been on the receiving end, so far as the said pay was concerned, but nobody will deny that he and his men always give their best in return, and they really know how to measure out the music. Last week it became Adolph's turn to pay the fiddler, and they say he really had the time of his life, which is as it should be. His orchestra played for him as they never played for any-played with them a few times just to keep in practice. Adolph is a great musician, with a fine future ahead of him, and we wish him the best of luck.

History Repeats Itself.

When the bridge across the North Loup river collapsed recently the occurrence was looked upon as most unusual. At that L. R. Jones, district highway engineer from Grand Island, meeting with the board, spoke of a number of bridges in the state in the same category as the one at Ord.

Mr. Jones said that any of these bridges long out of date, might collapse at any time and form a problem similar to the one at Ord. Saturday night a car hit the left girder of one of these old bridges one and one half miles east of Grand Island, and the span collapsed into the creek, presenting a situation much like the one here.

ARCADIA

Jainee Lou Benda of Ord spent a few days this week in Arcadia with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rettenmayer. Mr. and Mrs. Rettenmayer were guests at the Henry Benda home, in Ord, Sunday.

H. D. Weddel left Tuesday for Loup City where he will hold a school of instruction on Tuesday and Wednesday, for the Masonic Lodge of that city. On Thursday and Friday he will hold a similar school in Scotia.

The annual school caucus has been called for Monday, March 18 at eight o'clock at the school building. There will be two vacancies to be filled, that of H. D. Weddel and W. J. Ramsey.

Arriving Sunday from Cheyenne, Wyo., were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams and daughter, Connie.

They have moved back to Arcadia after living in Cheyenne for the past several years where Mr. Williams was employed by the Union Pacific railroad.

Miss Marguerite Lloyd, niece of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Fleming of Brent, Florida, became the bride of Stanley Eugene Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones of Burwell, Neb. Feb. 10, in a home ceremony at Pensacola, Florida. The wedding vows were exchanged in the double ring ceremony with Rev. Luther Garner officiating. Mrs. V. Boley sang, "One Alone" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Wm. Matthias. Miss Mary Ellen Ross was bridesmaid, and entered first with the groomsmen, Joseph Lloyd, an uncle of the bride. Miss Ross wore a gown of soft shell pink marquisette over taffeta. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, M. O. Fleming, chose for her wedding gown white net over satin, fashioned on princess lines. The skirt was full and her fingers tip well of illusion was worn in halo effect. She carried a bouquet of white gladiolas and fern tied with white satin ribbon. After the ceremony the bride party, relatives and friends were entertained at an informal reception. The bride's table, laid with a lace cloth, was centered with a beautifully decorated three-tiered cake topped with a miniature sailor and bride. RM2-c Jones was graduated from the Arcadia high school in 1942 then helped his father on the farm a year before joining the navy. He just returned from serving in the South Pacific and after a 30 day leave will return to California for a new assignment. His wife will remain in Burwell with his parents.

The Mission Study Circle met Wednesday with Mrs. Arthur Aufrecht. Mrs. H. Woody had charge of devotions and Mrs. C. C. Weddel opened the series of lessons of discussions on Africa.

The UP-To-Date club met at the home of Mrs. George Parker Tuesday afternoon with fourteen members answering to roll call. The lesson was in charge of Mrs. Anton Nelson and a very interesting lesson on the Miracles of the Bible was given by the members. After the lesson a representative of the Coca-Cola company showed colored slides on flower arrangements and treated the member to a bottle of ice cold coca-cola.

Bill Gogan, who attended Kearney Normal spent the weekend in Arcadia with his mother.

Miss Lulu Landon spent Thursday in Loup City having dental work done.

Deputy Collector Here Special Day

Mr. Stark, the deputy collector of Internal revenue, for this area, will be in the Valley county court house Saturday, March 9, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. to assist tax payers with the filing of income tax schedules for 1945, and estimates for 1946.

Every one (including minors) who had $500 or more income last year must file a return by March 15, and any one, regardless of amount, who had tax withheld from wages should file a return, as the amount taken is only approximate, and a return must be filed so that any additional tax due may be collected, or any overpayment refunded.

—Mavis Jean Christensen was a bus passenger Friday, going to Grand Island to spend the day.

News of the Neighborhood.

Scotia Register—Claude Honnold, owner of the Burlon ranch just south of Scotia, is retiring from his position as superintendent of the Tuttle Okla. schools to devote more time to his farming interests. The Honnolds will come to Scotia as soon as school is out in May and plan to remain here until November. Mr. Honnold has done much work on the buildings at the farm as well as installing the pump irrigation system, and expects to do more work along those lines.

Burwell Tribune—After examination of the bids, it was decided to purchase a Fairbanks-Morse engine, 14x17, having 600 horse power, with delivery expected to be made in 6 to 9 months. The board also purchased a cooling system and switchboard. An addition to the building will be imperative in order to house the new equipment.—The Loup Valley Alfalfa, Inc., expected to start grinding this week. The mill is locally owned.

Greeley Citizen—Fifteen men from Scotia, Wolbach, Cedar Rapids and Greeley met here Tuesday night, Feb. 26, to discuss plans for the organization of a baseball league in this section. Representatives from Spaulding were unable to attend, but called and told the group they would go along with any plans made. Tentative plans called for a six team league, but there is a possibility that as many as ten towns may be represented.

By a vote of 734 to 230 the city of York voted last week to issue bonds in the amount of $28,000 for the purchase of a municipal aviation field. As has happened in many other cases in the past few months, there was no organized opposition to the project. At Fullerton the Lions club went on record as favoring the plan for an airport there, and it is believed that the proposition will come up for a vote in due time.

Project Club Notes.

The H. O. A. project club of Arcadia met at the home of Mrs. Fred Hunt, Febr. 27. Mrs. Leo Arthur gave the lesson on "Refinishing Furniture, Floors and Woodwork," and "New Views in Cupboards." There were eight members present. The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting.—Bessie Cruikshank, club reporter.

—Installation of a new soda fountain at the Ord Grill is being completed.

Ord Wins Tough Ball Game From Burwell Friday

Locals Outplayed During the First Half of Toughest Game on Record

The Ord Chanticleers had to come from behind in the third quarter of their traditional battle with the Burwell Longhorns at Burwell, last Wednesday night, to win 21 to 15. The Ord camp had expected a tough game as that is the history of all Longhorn-Chanticleer athletic events, but the fierceness of the Burwell play had the Chants reeling along the ropes at half time. The half time rest period evidently gave the Ord quint opportunity to reorganize their forces, as they went into the lead shortly following resumption of play, and from there on were never headed. So tight was the defensive net placed around the Longhorn basket that not during the entire second half did the Burwell quint score from the floor.

Four free throws made up the sum total of their scoring after the half time intermission. While the Chants were choking off the scoring thrusts of their opponents, they were having no easy time of it themselves, and most of their baskets came the hard way as luck seemed to have departed from the premises. The play of both teams was spirited and rough, but was clean as a hound's tooth throughout, exemplifying the high type of sportsmanship displayed whenever the rivals meet in competition.

The Ord-Burwell athletic history dates back many years, but never has a game been more fiercely contested than the latest edition. Coach Wolcott is to be congratulated on the way in which his team, mostly sophomores, arose to the occasion in such splendid fashion. The preliminary game between the second teams of both schools gave the fans a preview of what was to follow with Ord winning 21 to 15, the same score as the varsity game.

Mrs. Emma Madsen and Paul and Miss Amy Thomsen went to Fremont Wednesday. Paul went on to Omaha to attend the Welder's convention and the ladies visited in Fremont.

For the first time in many years North Loup won their district basketball tournament. The local five displayed the best brand of basketball they have shown this year, and easily won the final game. Comstock provided the toughest opposition in the first round game. Sinterk was high for North Loup with 14 points. Anselmo, a small but speedy team, lost to North Loup by a 45 to 24 score. Wayne Barber, Redlon and Smith combined some fine passing and team work which never left the outcome in doubt. The Friday night game with Gandy found North Loup playing the best game of the year, as the score, 51 to 16, proves. Redlon sank 23 points, followed closely by Smith, Barber, Kerr and Hutchins. Goodrich and Kerr played fine ball at their guard positions. Hutchins, who plays either guard or forward, looked very good in the final game.

Council Finds Bids For Pool To Be Too High

Mayor Declares Project Can't Be Built For $25,000

Shortages of material and increasing building costs are proving to be quite an obstacle in the way of Ord's new swimming pool.

Architect Frank N. McNett of Grand Island estimated that it would cost $32,000 to build the pool. The lower bid submitted to the council was approximately $25,000.

The council requested the architect to submit an alternate plan at its meeting to be held April 2, providing a bath house of a more or less temporary nature.

The council is experiencing the same difficulty in constructing a building to house the generator which it has purchased.

Practically everything needed to build the swimming pool has advanced in price. The price of the plumbing was found to be $7,000 higher than the estimate.

Other projects for which Architect McNett has drawn plans are encountering the same difficulties.

Contractors are bothered with all kinds of restrictions and are finding that materials are not only scarce but almost impossible to obtain.

Draft Board Men Receive Medals

The first draft registration was held over the nation Oct. 16, 1940. The next month the Valley county draft board met for its first session. The members of that board were L. D. Milliken, W. T. McLain and W. J. Ramsey of Arcadia.

Milliken was chairman and McLain was secretary of the board in those early days. After about a year Milliken found it necessary to retire, and Glenn L. Johnson was chosen in his place, about six months later.

Today W. J. Ramsey is chairman of the board, Benda is vice-chairman and Johnson is secretary. All five men who had served on the board were called to a luncheon put on by the Kearney Chamber of Commerce Feb. 18, and Governor Dwight Griswold, who was there for that special purpose, pinned on each board member present a special medal in honor of their faithful service.

Ramsey has been on the Valley county board now more than 5 years. He recalls that in the earlier years matters of importance demanded their attention so often that it seemed like he spent almost as much time in Ord as at home.

Later he received pay at the rate of 5 cents per mile to defray the expenses of the trip. At that time it meant 32 half days of his time, or nearly a month away from his work.

There were many changes in the clerk's department during the years. Some of those who held the job at different times were: Marie Bell, Virginia Davis, Mrs. Lois Work, Fae Baird, Christina Petersen, Bettv Jean Walker and Jean Ve'eba, who holds the position at the present time.

Housing Problem May Be Solved By New Addition

Tentative Plans Call For Six-Block Subdivision In Southwest Ord

Plans for building a minimum of twenty new homes in Ord came close to reality this week with the announcement by the Housing Committee of the Ord Chamber of Commerce that they would accept orders for the new homes.

For the present, orders will be taken from veterans only, since the highest priorities possible will be needed to obtain building materials. After veteran's needs are satisfied, and the prescribed 90 day waiting period has elapsed, existing new homes may be sold to other veterans.

The Chamber, working with Ray Bissell, local contractor, has proposed a six-block subdivision in southwest Ord, to be platted into approximately forty building lots. The new subdivision will be a portion of an irregular 34 acre tract known as the Munn property upon which Mr. Bissell has obtained an option.

Proposals as worked out by Mr. Bissell and the Chamber's housing committee require that orders be placed by veterans for at least 20 new homes before work can start, and priorities obtained for materials. The subdivision has room for 40 homes, and extensions can be made at any time if a larger number of orders are obtained.

"Building materials are the big problem," Mr. Bissell told the Quiz. "But I think, that with our high priority we will be able to obtain everything we need. And we intend to adopt a certain number of proven ideas which will not only add to the speed of the program, but will use materials which are not scarce."

"For example, about the only heavy lumber obtainable such as 2x10's which is needed for floor joists and pillars, is green and will warp and shrink. We intend to substitute pre-cast concrete joints, and dress out with kiln dried lumber. This will not only speed construction, but will eliminate fire hazards, and make a much stronger and serviceable house."

"A certain amount of prefabrication will be done, especially such items as cabinets. It will also be possible for us to pre-cast concrete slabs for use in the basement," Mr. Bissell stated.

An Omaha surveying firm has been engaged to layout the planned subdivision and to plan sewer and water connections. At the same time plans for the new group of houses are already in the blue-print stage.

"We're going to try and stay away from the idea of similarity as far as possible," Mr. Bissell stated. The architect's plan will offer as wide a selection of house types as possible, although they will all be small homes in about the $5000 class.

"That's the story—the ground work has been completed. Now it will be up to the veterans in this area to do the rest. If they want the houses they must act," he concluded.

Teachers' Group To Be Organized

The organization of all the teachers in Valley county will be perfected at a meeting in the community hall in North Loup Monday evening where John Rice, superintendent of the Kearney public schools will speak. The meeting will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 7 o'clock.

At this meeting a constitution which has been prepared by Miss Frances Horinek of the Ord high school, Mrs. Ella Ma Hill of the North Loup schools, Mrs. Loretta Iwanski of Elyria, president of the Valley county rural teachers association and Virgil Bugbee, superintendent of the Arcadia schools, will be presented for ratification. Officers of the new association will also be elected. At present Miss Horinek is acting as chairman.

Farm Loans and Patrick Henry Most of us remember Patrick Henry because he said: "Give me Liberty or give me death!" But that inspired colonial patriot said something else worth remembering, too. "I know of no way of judging the future," declared Patrick, "but by the past." Now—you are probably wondering—what has that got to do with farm loans? Well, it's like this A peak at the past history of farming shows you that a fellow couldn't ordinarily pay for a farm in five years—unless he got a lucky break. And according to Patrick Henry's words of wisdom, it will continue to be a long-time job in the future—because farming has been, is, and always will be a long-time proposition. So What? So This— A 5-year mortgage just doesn't fit farming. But a long-term Federal Land Bank loan does fit farming. You pay it off a little at a time—so much every six months. And if you get your Federal Land Bank loan now, you can be sure you will never pay more than 4 per cent for the entire life of the loan—even if you let it run the full 34½ years! Gambles
The Friendly Store

You aren't getting machinery, Mr. Farmer, because...

PICKET LINES

have taken the place of

PRODUCTION LINES!

...so don't blame your Implement Dealer!

Your implement dealer had planned and expected to have his display floor filled with new implements and tractors weeks ago. And we had planned to make them—had told our dealers and our farmer customers they would have new equipment and plenty of service parts for the 1946 spring work. And we had hoped to sell these machines at no advance in price.

Real Production Had Started

When the war ended, our organization bent every effort to increase production, with the result that in the last months of 1945 machinery was being built in very substantial quantities. Here are a few figures:

ITEM	PRODUCTION
	NOV. 1945	DEC. 1945
Tractors.....	7,271	7,432
Combines.....	2,345	2,526
Cultivators.....	3,482	3,308
Hay Loaders.....	209	982
Plows.....	6,185	6,702*

*Plows are made in our Canton and Chattanooga Works, which are not on strike. January production was 7,747 plows.

Both your dealer and we were encouraged by this production picture at the turn of the year. But the strike changed all that. As you know, the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers of America called a strike in ten of our plants, on January 21, 1946.

What Is the Strike About?

Wages are a basic issue. At the time of the strike, Harvester employees were among the highest paid workers in American industry. When the strike began, the average hourly earnings in the ten plants, not including overtime, were $1.15¹/₄. If present wage proposals are adopted, this figure will become $1.33³/₄ per hour.

When the strike began, negotiations were broken off by the Union on the issue of compulsory union membership. The Company has no desire to weaken the Union. It recognizes certain reasonable needs of the Union. But the Company does oppose compulsory unionism. It feels strongly that an employee's membership should be a matter of his own choice.

Material Costs and Price Relief

Wages and materials are the great costs of operating our business—together they consume all but a few cents of every dollar the Company takes in. Wages are obviously going to be high—and nobody knows just how high material costs will go.

In the face of rising costs of materials, the Company does not see how it can pay the wage increases recommended by a Government fact finding board until it has definite and satisfactory assurance from the Government that reasonable price relief will be granted to the Company within a reasonable period of time. This matter is of such importance that it will not be discussed here, but will be covered by future advertisements devoted to both prices and profits.

Speaking for our dealers and ourselves, we can assure you that no customer is more eager than we are to resume production. We are doing and shall continue to do everything in our power to bring about a fair settlement as soon as possible.

Mrs. Nightingale Dies In Burwell

Friends in both Ord and Burwell were shocked to learn Wednesday of the death of Mrs. George Nightingale, who passed quietly after suffering a stroke, at the age of 89 years, 1 month and 21 days. Her health had been fairly good, considering her age, but this winter she had been making her home with her son, Roy and family at Burwell.

Mrs. Nightingale was a woman of rare character, beloved by all who knew for her kindness and her willingness to help in time of trouble. She was always a hard worker and was noted, especially in her younger years, for her happy and friendly disposition. She was a firm believer in the church, and she showed the principles of Christianity in her every day life.

Mary Frost was born in Westmoreland Co. Pa., Jan 27, 1860. She was moved with the family to Storm Lake, Ia., about 1880. In 1882, in Iowa, she was married to Charles Hurlbert. They came to Nebraska in 1890, locating in Burwell. Mr. Hurlbert died shortly after their arrival, leaving four children; Ed of Ord; Nettie Darrah, deceased; Bert, deceased; and Della Lashmet, deceased.

In 1892 she was married to George Nightingale of Saunders county, the ceremony being performed at Taylor. They lived 18 years in Custer county and moved to Ord 36 years ago, making their home on the property they still own in east Ord. Two sons were born to them; Roy Ransom of Burwell and Floyd, who died in infancy.

Mrs. Nightingale was a member of the Christian Adventist church until they moved to Ord, when she became a member of the Ord Church of Christ, and was a faithful member until her death. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her son, Roy of Burwell, twenty nine grandchildren, forty great grandchildren and several great great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Ord Church of Christ, Sunday, March 10, at 2 p.m., the pastor, K. E. Harris in charge. The pallbearers all from Burwell were: Lyle Myers, Don Cain, Kenneth Hurlbert, Nell Woods, Lloyd Herrick and George Baker. The Mitchell mortuary of Burwell was in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Ord cemetery.

North Loup Bows to Elba in the Playoffs

Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week Class D playoffs in basketball were held at Ord, the winning teams in four districts meeting in competition here. Elba, Dunning, North Loup and Spalding. Elba played Dunning in the opening game, and had a rather easy time of it, with the lads from Dunning being clearly outclassed all the way.

The North Loup-Spalding game was a different story and proved to be a thrill from the opening gong. The North Loup team appeared to be more ready to go, and they racked up a lead of 11 to 4 at the end of the first quarter. Spalding came from behind during the second quarter to tie the game at 12 all at the half.

Spalding forged ahead all through the third quarter which ended with a score in their favor of 25 to 19. Spalding continued in the lead until a shot with only 45 seconds of playing time remaining put North Loup one point in the lead. The Loupers then retired into a purely defensive game. With four seconds to go North Loup made good on a gift toss, to make the final score North Loup 28, Spalding 26.

Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Elba and North Loup met in the championship match of the series. The North Loup lads gave everything they had, but Elba, paced by the great Sintek, was not to be denied. The final score, 30 to 23 for Elba, was practically on a par with the 28 to 22 score when these two fine teams met earlier in the season. North Loup had the satisfaction of advancing one more game than Arcadia, the latter town losing to Gibbon in the first game of their playoffs.

Forrest Johnson left Tuesday afternoon for Omaha on a combined business and pleasure trip, planning to be gone only a couple of days. Since Forrest rarely leaves his work at the Bakery even for a day the news is worthy of note.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rikil from Murdock came Thursday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Geweke and family. They returned to their home Saturday.

Lions Club Meets, Plans for Dinner

North Loup — Special — The North Loup Lions club met in regular session for dinner at the Ideal Cafe Thursday evening. Only about half of the members were present, due to the fact that a large number were planning to attend the North Loup-Elba game at Ord that evening, and did not think they had time for both affairs.

Those present completed plans for the Lions Charter banquet which is being held tomorrow night, March 14. Rev. Samuel Mitchell reported on the number expected to attend, which includes thirty six Lions and their wives from Grand Island, and about seventy five Lions and other guests from various towns in the territory.

The dinner will be held in North Loup Community hall, the main room of which is sixty feet square and which will furnish ample seating capacity for that number of guests. The sponsoring club, Grand Island expects to bring two bus loads of guests, including a band, and their president is on the program for a speech. There will also be a male quartet from Grand Island.

—Roland W. Norman arrived home Saturday morning following his release from the Seabees. Roland was last stationed in Port Hueneme in California. He served in the European theater. For the first time in three years Attorney and Mrs. Ralph Norman now have their family together. Their other son, Sgt. Lyle W. Norman, who served in the air corps was discharged several weeks ago. The two brothers had not seen each other since they entered the service more than three years ago.

—Robert Lewis arrived in Ord Tuesday after spending two months in Tacoma, Wash. where he visited his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lewis, and his daughters, Kitty and Lucille. He stopped in Grand Island enroute home to see his daughter, Mrs. Bob Snyder and Mr. Snyder.

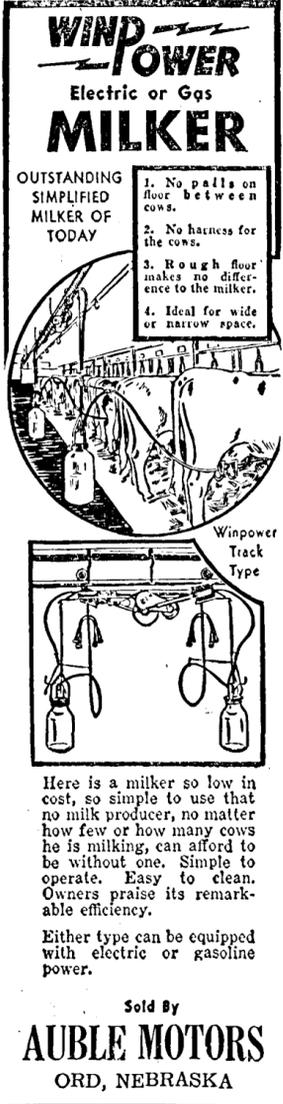

—Former T5 Harold Williams, who arrived home from the service Tuesday of last week was in Ord between busses Saturday, and had a grand time shaking hands with old

EARLY NEBRASKA FACTS

Nebraska will have reached its 79th birthday with the coming of the first of March. There are many people living in this county who are older than that, but few, if any, who have spent 79 years and who were born in Nebraska. The reason is simple. The first settlers came to Nebraska in 1820, or 74 years ago this year. It is possible that one living here was born in eastern Nebraska before 1827, so, we would like to know about it.

Most people think that Nebraska had its present shape and size when it became a state in 1867, but such is not the case. In a map of Nebraska published in Chambers' Encyclopedia in 1890, we find that the western end of the Niobrara and Republican branches, the Keyapaha, and a part of the boundary that time, and so most of it is now Boyd county was in the territory at that time. The present shape and size was determined when the Dakotas became states.

In this same encyclopedia which is English, by the way, is described Nebraska. "This is about 425 miles long and 138 to 208 miles wide, and contains an estimated 75,995 square miles. The present area is 76,653 square miles). Originally, when this state was a territory, it extended from the Missouri river to the Rocky mountains, and from latitude 40 north to what was, at the time, British Columbia."

souri river to the Rocky mountains, and from latitude 40 north to what was, at the time, British Columbia."

That is an English view of Nebraska in 1890, but it certainly has changed a lot since that time. The state has vast sources of wealth, but not in its mines of precious metal, nor in its herds of buffalo. These are passing, at the best. Our wealth is in our crops and our herds of cattle, our droves of hogs, our dairy products and poultry. Nevada depended first on gold and silver, and today has the smallest population of any state in the Union.

MORE ABOUT HAWAII Some time ago the Quiz carried an editorial giving some of the reasons why Hawaii should not be admitted to statehood under the present status there. Last week the United States supreme court made an important decision, that brings out just how unfair and how unjust some of the conditions there during the war actually were.

By a vote of six to two the court ruled that military courts established under military law in Hawaii after Pearl Harbor lacked authority to try civilians. The court ruled on appeals of two civilians who were sentenced by military courts to prison terms. It held that both are now entitled to be released from custody.

One of these civilians was a shipfitter who was accused of assaulting two marine sentinels stationed at the main gate to the Pearl Harbor industrial area, in violation of a general order issued by Military Governor Richardson of Hawaii. At the trial it was the word of one shipfitter against two guards, and naturally the guards were right. According to this man's own statement he was merely arguing with the guards, trying to get them to admit a sailor friend, who was due back at his post that night. Patently the charge of an unarmed man assaulting two guards armed with rifles is absurd, and the way the man was beaten up showed that the guards had the situation well in hand. All civilians in the area contended that they had the right to be tried by the civil courts, and the supreme court has agreed with them. However, these cases had to be raised all the way up to the supreme court, and an untold number of men had to serve prison sentences while this process was going on.

There are hundreds of cases in Hawaii which will be affected by this ruling. Dozens of men, who served jail sentences will have to be turned loose or retried in civil courts. Many of them have already completed their term and are now out. It seems that they should have some redress, but perhaps they are only too glad to be back in the States.

The military court says a man is guilty unless he can prove he is innocent, and the civil courts contend he is innocent until proven guilty. Therein lies the important difference. At least half of those convicted by the military court would have gone free in civil court, and in cases where fines were imposed, these would have been much less.

It cost plenty of money to fight these cases through the courts. When I was there the civilian workers were trying to raise a fund of six thousand dollars to fight the military court procedure, and they apparently succeeded in raising all the money needed. Now thousands of dollars in fines will have to be remitted to people who paid them.

Now, if the courts will only rule that Hawaii had no legal right to levy and collect welfare and income taxes on the civilians who came there to work for the navy, then the Hawaiian treasury department will have to pay back a huge amount of money which it took, but to which it had no right. It is estimated that 20,000 men paid three million dollars in illegal taxes.—J.L.W.

SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT.

Some day I am going to write a story about the forgotten man, the fellow who says "I DO" when his bride is getting married. I'll mention him first in the heading and first in the opening paragraph. Then I'll have the groom come in on the arm of his mother and I will say: "The groom wore a lovely suit of dark blue with latitudinal stripes of light gray about half an inch apart. His corsage was of lovely dandelions and sunflowers. He wore a boutonniere of cursed crowfoot, a gift from the bride. His Arrow shirt was two sizes too small, and dainty striped socks peeped out from beneath the bottoms of his cuffed trousers. His oxford shoes were size ten, with military heels and civilian toes. His best man wore a dainty creation of a mauve color, with accessories to match—His bride and her attendant wore white dresses."

Will somebody tell me how I can keep Judge John L. Anderson out of this column. Of course this is an election year, and he probably will want to keep in the public eye, although he doesn't run again until 1948. His latest escapade runs something like this. One morning recently he put his electric razor in his coat pocket, came down town, went into Lewis and Merrill's barber shop, walked to the back of the room took off his coat, took out his razor, plugged in the wall and proceeded to shave himself, to the amazement and chagrin of the owners. Charley believes that next time the Judge needs a hair cut he will come down and borrow the shop equipment and have his wife do the job.

This week we have a story about the plumbers, and among them is the man we have learned to know as "Kelly" Ambrose. I never knew how he got the name, so he told me. Years ago, before coming to Ord, he worked at Sargent. He was working in the hardware Harold Parks was working in the drug store, and a St. Paul man was working there also. This St. Paul man got to calling Ambrose "Kelly". When Ambrose came to Ord to work for Cornell Bros, Harold Parks was the only man he knew, and Harold started to calling him Kelly. His friends here now think of Kelly as his first name, but strangers think it is his last name. So that is the story of John William Ambrose and his new name.

That bridge down at the river being under water reminds me of what happened when we were headed for the Mexican Border in 1916. Down along the east coast below Corpus Christi, the Gulf Coast railroad runs through a long low stretch of country. Some of the boys had a habit of climbing down the steps and out on the ground every time the train stopped. We entered this low stretch of railroad about dark, and an hour or so later the train stopped, out in the country where there was no lights anywhere. Two of the boys rushed out and jumped down to the ground, only to find themselves in water about waist deep. It was the overflow from the Neceus river spreading out all over the country.

Here is one a little more personal, one of those things that just can't happen, but does. Last fall the Missus and her husband went fishing on Wallace creek south of Scotia. I broke a hook and took out my knife to cut it off the line. I laid the knife down and later went off and left it. Last week we went back for another try at the fish, and I decided I'd have a look for that knife. I went along the bank and finally found the spot. A little looking located the knife, right in plain sight, and right where perhaps fifty fishermen had stopped to fish in the time it was lying there. Either they didn't see it, or figured it was not worth picking up.

Last week Bob Hoppes, who is very careful about his tires at all times, lost his spare tire and wheel between Ord and Burwell, on his way to Burwell in the morning. Ray Wiberg, driving the morning bus, saw it, and figured out it belonged to Bob, so he left it at the Ord bus depot, where Bob picked it up that evening. Bob said he was glad the right sort of a man found it. He also discovered the reason he had lost it. Somebody had been trying to steal the tire, and had two bolts holding it nearly broken off when he was frightened away, so it didn't take much to finish the job. Now Bob is carrying his spare inside the truck.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Route 2, Box 891 Escondido, California March 6, 1946.

Dear Mr. Leggett: We are still enjoying the Quiz and are enclosing a money order for $5 to pay for two years' subscription.

Would like to express myself about your column of February 21, 1946 "Something Different" (all about food shortages in California.)

Why do people insist on coming to California when they can have the good butter, eggs, and bacon you mentioned. Most folks who can read or do listen to the radio know that the housing and food situation is far from good all over the good old U.S.A.

Two weeks ago a family consisting of father, mother, and nine children, the youngest six months old, arrived at our little town from Lincoln, Nebraska. They had no funds and were looking for work and a place to live. Well, there are no places to be had. This is just one case, but there are plenty like it.

California may be short of some food items, but tourists and winter visitors are not helping this situation one little bit. Folks should stay put wherever they are until times are again back to normal.

Very truly yours, Mrs. John E. Miller

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS... TED: "Clem and I were wonderin' what you thought of that new movie about the chronic alcoholic, Judge. Understand you saw it before we did." OLD JUDGE: "Well... it's true most of us never see a case as extreme as that in real life because they are so few and far between. But it does point out one thing... chronic alcoholics are abnormal people and we've got to change our ideas about how to help them." CLEM: "In what way, Judge?" OLD JUDGE: "We've got to realize that excessive drinkers are suffering from more than a craving for alcohol. According to psychiatrists and medical men at one of our great universities, the alcoholic is a sick person. The study of hundreds of cases shows he is suffering from some physical, social or emotional condition... just as in the case of that poor chap in the picture. Fortunately, they represent only a very small percentage of those who drink." TED: "Is anything being done to really help these folks, Judge?" OLD JUDGE: "Yes... a great deal in clinics throughout the country. And with the cooperation of their beverage distillers who sincerely want their product used only in moderation." May 1
You Select
the
Beer Retailers of Nebraska

On May 1 every retail beer license in Nebraska expires, and applications for renewals must be made before that time, throughout the entire state.

That is where you come in. Open hearings on these applications are held in every town. If you have evidence that the operations of any dealer are not in keeping with the public welfare it is your duty as a citizen to attend these hearings and present your information to the licensing officials.

To make sure of wholesome conditions where beer is sold, the brewing industry in Nebraska maintains an active program of self-regulation. A field man regularly checks taverns throughout the state. Wherever corrections must be made, the state director warns the operator. In such cases most retailers respond quickly. However, when one does not respond, representation is made to the enforcement and licensing officials.

By these means, retailers are helped to maintain wholesome conditions in keeping with the public welfare.

Started Chicks

This week we have 500 started Austra Whites and 300 started White Rocks. These chicks are doing nicely and are a good buy. If you can use chicks now take a look at them. We also have some Leg-Rocks, Austra Whites and White Rocks coming in the next few weeks. This is a good time to get your chicks and you will have them started before the busy season arrives.

Chick Starter

Our supplies of Proteins, Vitamins and grains are sufficient to take care of all our customers. We do think it would be wise to get your supplies as early as possible. The situation on all proteins and grains is getting more difficult all the time. Chick Scratch is very hard to get but we have a promise of a car of feed next week that will have some Chick Scratch in it.

Popcorn Contracts

We are getting our popcorn contracts pretty well placed. At present we have 500 acres of South American open pollinated; 275 acres of South American Hybrid to place. We hope to receive another 500 acres of Dwarf Hulless. We have these contracts with very good companies and you may feel assured that you will be treated right on these contracts.

Seed Potatoes

This year Red River Ohios are very scarce, but we will have limited stock of Blue Tag Certified Cobblers and Red Warbas. All indications point to a very small amount of seed potatoes again this year; this may be propaganda but the large dealers make it pretty strong. One thing sure the prices are not too high as yet.

Brome Grass and Alfalfa

You can draw a very nice payment if you comply with AAA regulations and one of the plans is to plant and sow Brome and Alfalfa seed. This is a very good practice and you will find that we have very good stocks of both. This seed should be planted quite early for best results on the Brome. We also have very good stocks of Sweet Clover seed at $12.50 and $16.00 per cwt. These prices are far below ceiling prices on these grades of seed. This Sweet Clover seed is all certified and tested.

Hybrid Corn

We have in our Standard, Reids White and our Hamilton County Farms Hybrid seed corn. Get yours while stocks are as complete as they are at present. We expect our Cornhusker Hybrid in next week. We have some extra corn and if you need a few bushels we would be glad to supply you.

Garden Seeds

Our Garden Seeds are in and are all tested under the new state law. Why not make out your garden seed order early this year and have it on hand when the weather will permit planting. We can serve you better than at a later date when we will be more crowded.

It pays to buy from Noll.

Ord Loses Out In First Round At Tournament

Mitchell Wins Hotly Fought Game 30 to 29; Blessing Is High Scorer

In its first game in the Class B division of the state basketball tournament held in the University Coliseum in Lincoln, Friday and Saturday Ord was edged out by Mitchell by a score of 29 to 30. During the game the score was tied fifteen times and at no time was there more than a two point difference between the scores of the two teams.

Ord made the first basket. Then Mitchell went ahead and made two goals. Ord next threw one through the hoop and tied the score, then Mitchell made a free throw making the score 5 to 4 in the opponent's favor. Before the end of the first quarter Ord had made two free throws and held the lead of a 6 to 5 point score.

Last Second Score.

The Chanticleers also held the lead at the end of the half with the score being 14 to 15 but at the end of the third quarter Mitchell was ahead 25 to 24. With less than 30 seconds left to play Ord's Al Blessing made a basket putting Coach Cochran's boys ahead 29 to 28 but with only ten seconds to go Mitchell's ace forward, who had been giving the Ord boys plenty of trouble all evening, ripped the net with a field goal and the game ended 29 to 30 in Mitchell's favor.

Coach Cochran did not feel too disappointed over losing the contest as his team played a mighty fast game and he was proud of the performance they gave on the floor. Mitchell was one of the seeded teams in Class B, the championship being won by the Holy Name parochial high school in Omaha.

Al Blessing was the high point man of the game with 12 counters to his credit. He made four field goals and four free throws. Mitchell's high point man had 11 tallies. Joe Kominick was Ord's second high scorer with 5 points all made by free throws. Tom Tolen only piled up four points for Ord but he played an outstanding floor game, being largely responsible for setting up scoring positions for Blessing.

Tolen Elected Captain.

At a meeting of the squad Monday evening Tolen was elected honorary basketball captain for the season. Tolen is a three year letterman and closed an outstanding athletic career at the state meet.

The Chanticleer hoopsters were guests of the Rotary club at its dinner meeting in Thorne's cafe Monday evening. Thursday night they, and Coach and Mrs. Cochran will be guests of M. Biemond at the Ord theater.

Farm Life Loses Appeal for Wife Of Overseas Vet

North Loup Soldier's Mate Prefers Beer Parlor; Divorce Granted

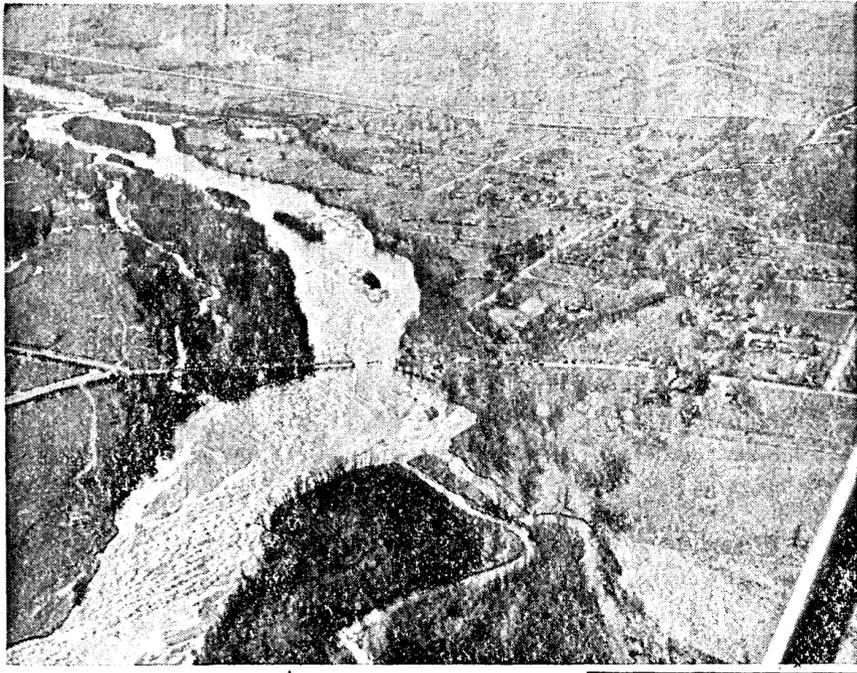

Merlyn Stillman, a young North Loup farmer, has found out that absence does not make the heart grow fonder. Stillman, a veteran of World War II, returned from overseas to learn that his wife, the former Esther Layher of Scotia, preferred other company than his own. During his absence she had secured a job in a beer parlor and refused to return to the drudgery of being a farmer's wife. Mr. Stillman was granted a divorce from his wife by Judge Spikes in district court in Ord Monday morning.

The Stillmans were married Dec. 27, 1940 and lived together happily up to the time he was inducted into the army May 19, 1942. Until December of 1943 they resided in Topeka, Kan., where he was stationed prior to being sent overseas. Mr. Stillman testified that he occasionally heard from his wife who remained in Topeka.

On Aug. 19, of last year he received a 30 day furlough and returned to Topeka to find his wife entertaining another soldier from the airbase there he said. He persuaded her to go to North Loup with him to visit his folks but she only stayed three days, preferring to be with her friends in Topeka.

After receiving his discharge Dec. 1, Stillman again visited his wife and was told that she would not live on a farm, he contended. As farming is the only means Stillman has of earning a livelihood he decided that their marriage could not succeed. Stillman was represented by Davis and Vogelanz.

Here's a View of the Bridge Which Isn't There

This picture gives a bird's eye view of the North Loup river north of Ord showing the lack of the bridge which for a month has been inconveniencing the people living on the north side of the river. A foot bridge has been built across the missing span and some days as many as fifteen cars can be seen on the north side of the river, their drivers have left them and crossed on the foot bridge to do their shopping in Ord or possibly to attend school.

Saturday two persons are reported to have fallen into the river while crossing on the foot bridge. Tracy Hamilton, county highway commissioner, and his crew have been hard at work trying to get the new span built. The rain Saturday practically halted operations. The frame work of the old bridge has been removed and the pile driver is now setting the first poles for the new bridge. The steel work of the old structure had to be cut in several places before it could be removed.

Different methods of alleviating the bridge situation were discussed at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening. Several men suggested adding another plank to the foot bridge to make it wider and safer as well as building a stairway to replace the steep ladder from the foot bridge to the remaining span. Another member suggested stringing a rope across, which would give the people something to hang on to keep their balance while crossing.

The matter of running a taxi service from the bridge into town was discussed. This would save the people who drive to the bridge and then park their cars and cross on foot a long walk in getting to Ord. Another suggestion was that a telephone be installed at the bridge so that people crossing on foot could call friends or business men to meet them and take them to Ord after they had crossed on the foot bridge.

Breakfast In Hollywood Adds To Burwell's Hospital Fund

Funny Hats Win Nylons for Wearers; Dr. Smith Acts as Tom Brenneman

Burwellites found that it wasn't at all necessary to go traipsing clear to Sunpy California to have "Breakfast in Hollywood". They didn't even have to get up in the morning, thanks to the Women's club, who made it possible for them to enjoy "Breakfast in Hollywood" Wednesday evening in the school auditorium.

The affair had plenty of hilarity and Tom Brenneman himself, genial host that he is, could not have made the people of Burwell feel any more at home or have shown them a better time than did Dr. Smith who did the pinch hitting for him. Ever since hearing the "Breakfast in Hollywood" was to be served in Burwell they had been speculating upon "who would be Tom Brenneman?"

The identity surprised them for it would be harder to find a busier man than Dr. Smith since the care of the sick and afflicted in the wide area around Burwell keeps him well occupied and he does not have too much time to participate in community affairs.

Props for the occasion were sent from Hollywood by Tom Brenneman, himself. He also provided an orchid for the lady present with the most years to her credit. The exotic flower was pinned on Grandma Boag who has celebrated her eighty-sixth birthday anniversary. A bewigged impostor, claiming to be 102, nearly beat her out of it but was finally ruled out. He was a man.

George Baker served as the announcer and Wesley Wagner, properly costumed even down to the red flannels, played the part of Uncle Comy. Mrs. Gaylord Wallace carried off the nylons which were awarded to the woman wearing the most fashionable headgear. Her creation carried out the "Breakfast in Hollywood" theme. A shingle, forming the crown to her hat and adorned with a sprig of holly, supplied the "Hollywood" accent. A breakfast menu of oranges, bacon, eggs, toast, a bowl of cereal, and a cup of coffee, along with silverware, was carefully laid on the shingle. The table cloth was draped down the back of the hat.

Mrs. Chester Hallock won the second award with a creation advertising Nebraska's Big Rodeo. A miniature mule bravely bucked away on the brim of her lid. One woman decorated her hat with a ring of home-made doughnuts which "Mr. Brenneman" sampled and pronounced excellent. The entertaining host modeled all the hats, which were judged, and to properly show off a creation of pheasant tail feathers he performed an Indian war dance with the bonnet perched on his head.

Mrs. Nell Sloan, who won the wishing ring, made known her desire for a pair of nylons too. Miss Gwen Beynon got a box of chocolates. A huge, beautifully-decorated cake was presented to Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Miller, who were the longest married couple at the affair. The wedding bells rang for the Millers sixty-one years ago.

Dr. Smith was puzzled by one thing—who was going to get the red roses which were the good neighbor award. The committee in charge put him off by telling him that the announcer did not have much to do and that they believed they would let him read the letter.

The prize-winning epistle was authored by Dave Sartin and the doctor was a bit overwhelmed when he learned that he had been nominated the good neighbor. The judges decided that no one was more deserving of the roses than their family doctor who had prescribed for their ills and who had patiently pushed pills down their unwilling throats for years, and years, and years.

The doctor as well as the audience, was made very happy when it was learned that the fund to build the Memorial hospital in Burwell was enriched about $350 by the affair. Quite likely if the doctor had been lucky in drawing the number for the wishing ring he would have desired a place where he could take his sickest patients where with much less work he could give them better care.

New Equipment Installed.

Several items of new equipment have been installed in the kitchen of the New Cafe, owners Jane and Chuck Baylor have announced. The new items include sinks, electric french fryer and automatic toaster. Painting and redecorating of the Cafe will be done soon.

Elyria Boy Admits Theft of Beer; Is Paroled to Priest

Lad, 15 years old, Pleads Guilty of Stealing in District Court

A fifteen year old Elyria youth, who admitted that he broke into Leon Ciemny's store at Elyria March 9 and stole a five dollar bill and a case of beer, was paroled for a year to his pastor, the Rev. Stanley Gorak of Elyria for one year, in district court Monday morning by Judge Spikes.

The judge stated that he believed the boy could still become a good law abiding citizen and imposed the following conditions upon the youth—no liquor, he must pass his grades at school, obey his parents, and report at least once a month to Father Gorak. The boy's father promised the judge that he would report any violations of these terms to County Attorney John P. Misko at once. Judge Spikes warned the boy that if any conditions of his parole are broken that he will immediately be sent to the Boys' Industrial school at Kearney.

The young man related that he entered the Ciemny's store through a second story window after climbing upon the roof of a one story building adjacent to it. He admitted spending the five dollars for cigarettes and candy and said he took the beer to Ord where he and his friends drank part of it. He said that he had stolen another case of beer from Mr. Ciemny two weeks previously.

On his second nighty visit he left a flashlight in the store which added Sheriff Hall in apprehending him. He had formerly worked for Mr. Ciemny and learned that there was a second story window which could be easily opened. The lad said that he attended high school in Elyria and that he was making passing grades.

The father testified that his son "behaved alright, except that he is kind of stubborn". The boy is the youngest of seven children and has been in poor health at times. When asked by the judge, the father said he gave the boy spending money whenever his son asked him for it. He also said that his son had taken his car without him knowing it.

Dallas McDonald is now working at a filling station in Scotia and living with his parents, the Sam McDonalds.

Ask Donations For Rural Fire Fighting Truck

New Equipment To Give Protection Without Necessity For Tax Levy

Members of the Ord volunteer fire department started a campaign this week to raise $6,000 for the purchase of fire fighting equipment for rural fires.

The fund will be raised by popular donations, and farmers in the area are already responding generously according to Verne Andersen, chief of the local department.

"By buying the new truck we can give our farmer friends all the service and protection of a regularly organized rural fire district without the red tape and bookkeeping of a tax levy," Andersen told the Quiz.

"In past years there has been an ever-increasing demand on the part of farmers in the Ord area for a more adequate fire protection service," Andersen said. "We in the Ord department have tried to give this protection as best we could but have always been hampered due to lack of proper equipment."

"There were two ways to solve the problem, one: organize a rural fire district make a levy, and buy equipment that way; two: the way we have chosen—buy a truck with farmer's donations, and then let the city of Ord absorb all upkeep, maintenance and depreciation on the equipment."

"The first plan—that of the rural fire district—is sound enough but we want to stay away from increasing taxes. And history has shown that once a tax is levied, it is always with us."

The new truck and equipment we are planning to buy will be especially equipped for rural fires. It's expensive, but must be so. We must not only have a truck that is speedy, but will carry a tremendous load of equipment and from 200 to 400 gallons of water. In addition, it must be powerful enough to travel country roads in all kinds of weather.

"The men of the fire department are ready to go to fires at a moment's notice," Andersen continued. "All of them have been trained in the technique of fighting fires and in the use of equipment. If this drive is a success, we will soon be in a position where a farmer who has a fire simply has to ring the telephone operator and tell the location of the fire. We'll be out just as fast as our speedy new truck will take us."

Andersen stated that in addition to farmer's donation, several business men of Ord, and fire insurance companies in the area were also contributing to the fund for the new truck.

Donations may be left with any member of the fire department, or will be taken at any of the following places. Receipts will be issued:

First National Bank, Nebraska State Bank, Andersen 66 Station, Clements Oil Company, Noll Seed Company, Sale Barn, Coop Creamery, Wilson & Son, Cold Storage Plant, Huff Implement, Kellison Implement, Valley County Implement, Chevrolet Garage, Coop Oil Co., Anderson Motor, Texaco Service, Service Oil, Standard Service, AAA office, Irrigation office or the Chamber of Commerce office.

North Loup Welcomes English Wife and Daughter of William G. Sims

A soldier's British wife, a charming blonde with a pleasant smile, who declares that she likes America fine, and her three months old daughter arrived in North Loup Friday. They are the wife and daughter of William G. Sims of North Loup, who came from Tisbury, Wiltshire, England on the Santa Paula arriving in Now York March 11 with 376 other wives and children of American servicemen.

Mrs. Simms, who was Miss Norma Coombs before she met a certain American soldier, says that they had a very pleasant trip and that the baby daughter stood the trip fine. It was two weeks after they left their home in England before they reached North Loup. They were held in New York two days and then took the Challenger to Grand Island, where Mr. Sims was anxiously awaiting them.

The reunited couple first met in Tisbury when he was stationed there with the 23rd engineer battalion of the third division of the first army. They were married June 3, 1941 and later Bill saw service in France Belgium and Germany. During this time he received two leave-trips and the baby daughter stood the trip fine. It was two weeks after they left their home in England before they reached North Loup. They were held in New York two days and then took the Challenger to Grand Island, where Mr. Sims was anxiously awaiting them.

They have been guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sims and Tuesday they went to their new home on the Peter Wittwer farm near Cotesfield.

Holm Explains Housing Plans At Ord Meeting

F. H. A. Director Asks Local Business Men to Help Homeless Veterans

A prediction that Ord would grow to a city of 5,000 in the next five years if sufficient houses are made available, was made by Holger Holm, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, who spoke at the meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce in the Knights-Columbus hall Monday night. Mr. Holm estimated that at least one hundred fifty veterans would return to Ord looking for homes.

In normal times, he said, at least six houses should be built every year in Ord to replace those which have burned, blown down, or have deteriorated until they are no longer fit for human habitation. He urged his measures be taken to provide returning service men with homes so that it would not be necessary for them to move to the west coast or some other locality where more housing was available.

8,000 Homes Needed.

"Many industries would be eager to come to such towns as Ord," Mr. Holm declared. "Housing facilities were available for their employees." In Nebraska Mr. Holm said that 80 homes should be built every year. In the last five years he said that 3,850 were built. "Stressing the importance of good housing Mr. Holm pointed out that 80 percent of the people in houses of correction can be from improperly built homes. He expressed the opinion that better housing will be effective in curbing crime."

Mr. Holm stated that approximately 140,000 Nebraska men were in the armed service about half of whom have returned. Half of those who are released are married and need homes but he said that possibly half of these could live with relatives or had some other place to live which left 175,000 for which the need of housing is critical.

Help the Boys.

He urged the business men to do something to aid the boys returning from the war in securing housing even though they make no money by so doing.

At present Mr. Holm said that 60 percent of the output of the mills manufacturing building materials is reserved for the use of veterans. The other 40 percent is sold at the mills. He stated that it was unfortunate that Nebraska was so far from these mills as most of this 40 percent is being purchased by builders nearby.

The experienced all the hardships of pioneer life which were the lot of early day homesteaders. He was the builder of several fine homes in Ord.

March 26, 1860 Mr. Cronk was born in Oneida county, New York. He came to Nebraska, where he lived for fourteen years, where he lived the remainder of his life with the exception of a year spent in Idaho. He married Nancy E. Timmerman April 15, 1884 and to this union ten children were born all of whom survive except a son, Leonard who died at the age of 30 years. He leaves a widow and nine children: Mrs. Ollie Brestley of North Loup, Mrs. Ethel Arnold of Saskatchewan, Canada, Mrs. Jennie Clement and Mrs. Grace Rice both of Ord, Mrs. Maude Lohff of Holstein, Ia., Mrs. Velma Meese of Ord, Wray, La., Mrs. Cronk of Nebraska City, Walter Cronk and Mrs. Dora Hansen both of Ord, and a sister, Mrs. Jennie Cummings of Malta, Mont., thirty-one grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren.

Beehrle Brothers Bring Home Fish

Two of Ord's veteran fishermen Jake and Theron Beehrle spent the day at the river Friday coming home with a dozen good sized fish, including a large cat fish and rock bass. Theron was lucky in catching a couple of suckers. The men used angle worms for bait reporting that they had to dig deep to find them but since the rain Saturday they are now near the surface.

North Loup Lions Get Charter

Two chartered busses brought about fifty members of the Grand Island Lions club to North Loup Thursday evening for the purpose of presenting the new North Loup club with its charter. Lions were also present from Hastings and Doniphan, and present from Ord were Joe and Edwin Jirak, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Swopes and Miss Marilyn Ellis. A fine delegation was present from the Scotia Community Club.

As has been expected, the visitors from Grand Island brought with them quite a number of surprises, the most interesting of which was a special edition of the Grand Island Independent, with the story of the banquet featured on the front page under a heading spread across the entire front page reading: "LIONS INVADE NORTH LOUP".

The meal consisted of roast beef, mashed potatoes, creamed corn, pickles, lettuce, bread and butter, ice cream and coffee. It was cooked by Mrs. Shaffner at the Ideal Cafe, taken over to the hall and served by a number of young ladies. Chairman Mitchell called the gathering together and introduced the toastmaster, Lion Fred Reinecke of Grand Island.

All joined in the singing of "America", and the salute to the flag, after which Rev. Alfred V. Hunter of Hastings gave the invocation. Following the meal Roy Hudson led in the singing of popular songs, and the toastmaster introduced a number of distinguished guests, among the Mayor Cecil Knapp of North Loup, Clark Russell Jensen of Scotia and President Minor of the Grand Island club.

This was followed by the introduction of Lions clubs. Edwin Jirak, accompanied by Marilyn Ollis, sang two bass solos. The ceremony of presenting the charter followed. District Governor Donald G. Bell of Hastings, giving a splendid address and then presenting the charter to President A. C. Ehret for the North Loup club. Who made a very fine speech of acceptance.

Lt. Richard Babcock, of the U.S.N.R. accompanied by Mrs. Ava Johnson, then sang two tenor solos. James P. Minor, of Grand Island, then presented the North Loup club a gift from the sponsor club a beautiful bell and gavel. Ward Pscherer of Scotia played a cornet solo, and the session came to an end with the singing of "God Bless America".

All through the program the North Loup tall twister, R. H. Pedersen, assisted by two good men from Grand Island, exacted fines and other punishments from those present for infractions of the rules. Two of these were especially comical, and impromptu by Fr. Leo Keating, Roy C. Lykke and Dr. E. A. Doyle, all of Grand Island, who sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" with great effect.

Fr. Keating seemed to be getting into trouble all the evening, as he had to stand in the corner for a while and later was caught wearing an unorthodox necktie borrowed from a friend. The necktie was auctioned off by Cliff Goodrich and Keating bought it back for $3.25. In all, the tall twisters collected more than eighteen dollars for the club.

Achievement day for extension clubs in the vicinity of North Loup was held Friday afternoon at the Methodist church. Exhibits of the years work has been placed for display and were very interesting. Among these was a large chair and several small tables which had been refinished and recovered, a table with an appetizing looking salad and samples of dressing, some stuffed animals and some center piece decoration. Mrs. Carrol Thomas was presiding officer. Mrs. Harold Hoepfner led the group singing with Mrs. Samuel Mitchell at the piano.

An interesting talk on rural electrification was given by Mr. Win Bolton, of the R.E.A. A demonstration on the uses of D.D.T. by C. C. Dale and Miss Phyllis Dodge was also very interesting. The flag salute was led by Mrs. J. A. Barber and Miss Ramona Mitchell played two clarinet solos accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell. Miss Dodge presented the club leaders for the year with gifts in appreciation of their work. Miss Dodge also told of the plans for next year. Tea was served by the Junior Fortnightly club. Ladies chosen to pour were Mrs. Lena Mulligan of the Neighboring club and Mrs. Cora McWilliams of the Riverdale club. Mrs. Mulligan has been in club work for twenty years and Mrs. McWilliams twenty-five.

Charles Cleary of Tustin, Cal. arrived Friday night to spend a few days with his sister, Mrs. Otto Bartz and Mr. Bartz and with the Frank Schudel family.

Rain measuring .93 was our portion Friday night and Saturday. It all came slow and easy doing an unusual amount of good.

The choir is a product of Hastings College Conservatory, which has featured light opera and choir tours since 1912, with the exception of war years. The choir personnel totals forty singers and is under the direction of Hayes M. Fuhr, head of the conservatory, whose choral groups have won wide recognition for their excellence. In 1940 the choir was chosen to sing at the national sesquicentennial celebration of the Presbyterian church at Chicago preceding their tour of Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana.

The current program covers a wide range of choral literature, from early ecclesiastical music to folk songs of various nations, and features soloists and a small ensemble. Misses Irene and Carolyn Auble, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Glen D. Auble, and Miss Charlene Munn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Munn, are members of the choir.

The tour is sponsored by Hastings College as a part of its activity program. Music lovers are invited to enjoy this unusual offering.

Rural Fire Protection CAN BE YOURS!

HERE IS THE PLAN:

The years have shown the desire and need for better fire protection for the rural areas surrounding Ord. In the past, our department has always responded to calls without charge, but the time has come when the present equipment of our fire department is not sufficient to handle the demand.

Therefore, we propose to buy a new fire truck, completely equipped and designed for the purpose of fighting RURAL fires. This truck will always be ready to go when one of our farmer friends needs help — and because it is designed for fighting RURAL fires, we will be able to do a better job.

We propose to buy this truck by popular subscription.

HERE'S WHAT YOU GET:

Once this truck is installed in our fire department, we will be equipped to give better fire protection than ever. And with this equipment, no farmer in the Ord territory need fear that he will not get help when he needs it.

The truck will be ready to go — and our members will always be ready to go with it — rain or shine, summer or winter. To report a fire, all a farmer will have to do is call the telephone operator and tell fire's location.

Your donation to buy this truck will give you that protection.

We Need $6000 for Truck & Equipment!

Yes, that's a lot of money. But it's going to take a lot of truck to do the job right. Not only must it be designed to haul the extra equipment and large water supply needed to fight fires away from city mains, but it must be a truck that will travel all kinds of roads in all kinds of weather.

All funds received will go toward the purchase of fire fighting equipment. Once the truck is bought, there will be no further assessments. The City of Ord will pay the upkeep and provide necessary repairs and replacements for the truck. The City does this simply as a matter of service.

NO TAX LEVY - - NO ASSESSMENTS - - COMPLETE FIRE PROTECTION AT ALL TIMES!

Many counties have similar fire protection, but this is done with the aid of tax levies, rural fire districts and fees for fire calls. We don't want all that kind of red tape here, we simply wish to be of service.

That's the story. Complete fire protection at all times, both now and in the future for the price of a new fire truck. Can you afford to be without it? Leave your donation today at the designated spots, or with any member of the fire department.

—A daughter was born to Captain and Mrs. Arthur Auble Saturday morning at Newton Centre, a suburb of Boston. The captain, who recently returned to the states from Okinawa, arrived in Newton Centre Friday night. Mrs. Glen Auble is also at Newton Centre having flown there March 11. In describing her trip which started at 5:09 A. M. from Omaha, Mrs. Auble writes "We got away a little ahead of schedule and the riding was really smooth after leveling off. Towns always did seem close together in Iowa, but just imagine seeing five or six all at once or rather just bunches of lights. It was hard to tell where the stars quit and the scattered lights began. About the time we were crossing the Mississippi our breakfast was brought in which was delicious. We had orange juice, ham and eggs, toast, butter, jam, sweet rolls, cornflakes and coffee. The ground was beginning to show up and looked so queer in the dim morning light. A little later we could tell it was covered with snow. We landed at Moline. At Chicago I checked schedules to Boston. The early plane was full and they started to work on the 12:15 one. You have to stay in the station and are paged now and then. It's an interesting place and well organized. By 11:30 I was thinking I was stuck there but about three minutes before twelve the speaking system called me to the office and told me that the 12:15 plane was filled but that if I didn't mind going via New York I could get on the one leaving at 12 o'clock. So I dived through gate 5 and went to New York. We had lunch over the middle of Lake Michigan, consisting of chicken, grapefruit cocktail, vegetable salad, and pineapple sherbet. We landed at Detroit for ten minutes and at Youngstown for just a minute or two. At New York planes leave via the American Air lines every hour for Hartford and Boston and I got on one at 7 o'clock and was supposed to get to Boston at 8:30. The ride up the coast at night was beautiful but also rough. It had been stormy and had snowed at Boston."

Slow Falling Rain Soaks Up Dry Soil
Ord and vicinity was favored with a slow drizzling rain Saturday every drop of which was absorbed by the thirsty soil following an unusually dry winter. Horace Travis, who records the weather in Ord, reports that 1.42 inches of rain fell. Mr. Travis says that ground, heavily sodded, was wet down to a depth of fourteen inches. In spite of the havoc the rain caused on the roads, the farmers were made happy. The road conditions are especially bad in the Springdale neighborhood where much detouring must be done on account of the bridge being out.

By the first of April Mr. Holm expects a freeze to put on all building materials until the veterans are properly housed. He stated that the F.H.A. is the only agency which can give a preference certificate. To get such a certificate a man intending to build a house must offer it for sale or rent to a veteran of World War II. If after 30 days no veteran cares to rent or buy the house he can deal with other people.

Preferences Explained. In some instances priorities are granted to non-veterans by the Civil Production Authority, if the need is very great, such as to a family whose home has burned. To get a preference certificate from F.H.A. a builder must show that he is producing an unit capable of housing at least one family.

In urging more applications for preference certificates Mr. Holm pointed out that 50 percent of Nebraska's housing quota is going to Omaha at the present time. He expressed the desire to help smaller cities, such as Ord, in getting their share. Mr. Holm urged applicants for preference certificates to be most careful in filling them out to make certain that the applications are complete.

Hold Down Costs. He recommended that a person building or buying a home pay no more for it than two and a half times his annual income. He said that about 20 percent of a family income is spent for shelter. Mr. Holm advised those needing homes to go to their local bankers for financial assistance. The F.H.A. will not guarantee loans on houses which are purchased at inflated prices. The speaker said that the F.H.A. would loan up to 90 percent of the value of a home but that often the cost of the home was greater than the F.H.A. would appraise it. "Don't buy a lot until you get your loan approved" Mr. Holm advised. He suggested getting an option on a lot rather than purchasing it outright before arrangements for building a house are completed. He explained that the F.H.A. would set up a fund to take care of the taxes and insurance on the property and that the borrower would make monthly payments to the fund at his local bank.

Three Inspections. In explaining the operation of the F.H.A. Mr. Holm pointed out that the F.H.A. makes three inspections of the houses under construction if they are guaranteeing the loans. The first inspection is made when the excavation is completed. Mr. Holm explained that they did this to make certain that the ground where the house was being built was firm and would not settle away after the house was completed.

The second inspection is made when the house is ready to be wired and before the plumbing is installed. The third inspection is made after landscaping is completed. Mr. Holm explained that the F.H.A. got only 40 cents per thousand dollars for servicing these loans.

Banks Foreclose. When the owner fails to keep up the payments, Mr. Holm, stated that the banks start to foreclose without waiting too long because he pointed out that if a man could not keep payments as they came due that it would not be likely that he could pay back payments. The F.H.A. then steps in and takes charge of the property, according to Mr. Holm. He explained, however, that any surplus over the amount of the loan is returned to the owner. Often the F.H.A. repairs and improves the homes which it forecloses and makes them more attractive to purchasers.

He explained that F.H.A. would not approve of a loan of more than $7,200 on one housing unit. He stated that usually they would loan up to 80 percent of the value of a house, and recommended that the builder or purchaser have the other 20 percent on hand but that returned servicemen could get the remaining percent from the Veteran's administration if necessary.

'Cabins Discussed. The matter of building cabins in Ord to house veterans was discussed. It was pointed out that many veterans needed homes immediately and that the cabins could be quickly erected. Mr. Holm stated that the cabins could be built until better homes could be built. The cabins could be rented to other people when they were no longer needed by the veterans.

It was decided to hold up the cabin project until it is found that the twenty houses which Ray Bissel, a local contractor is planning to build will not be sufficient to supply the need. The matter of calling a meeting of all persons interested in buying a newly built home was also discussed.

WOODMAN HALL. The farmers on the Ord telephone line held their annual meeting at the National hall recently, and the farmers on the Comstock line held their meeting last Monday evening at the Woodmen hall. Charles Krikac was re-elected president and Edward Radil was re-elected secretary treasurer and Paul and Lawrence Waldmann as line-men. Last Thursday and Friday Charles Krikac and Gerry and Paul and Raymond Waldmann were repairing the line also removing it from the south side of the road along the Joe Zadina place to the north side, and from the west side along Joe Waldmann's place to the east side to clear it from the trees which should enable us to get better service.

About 1 1/2 inches of nice, slow rain fell Friday night and all day Saturday. Just what we needed to put the ground in good condition for spring seeding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Volt entertained a group of relatives at their home Thursday evening. Gerry Krikac assisted Joe and Raymond Waldmann reshingle a corn crib for Raymond Waldmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kral called at Paul Waldmann's last Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Krikac entertained the Mizpah club at her home last Wednesday.

Lumir Kuklish of Sargent is working for Emanuel Veverka. Helen Vala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vala, was on the sick list and absent from school last week.

MILESTONES IN AVIATION
 About 44 years ago a man named Christensen from Chicago, climbed aboard the Morrow Bros. airplane at Burwell and headed for Ord. He failed to make the long, long trip, and set the machine down in the slough above Elyria. Later the machine was brought to Ord on a wagon, and exhibition flights were attempted, but it crashed during the second flight.

In 1927, more than 18 years ago, a man named Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic and landed in Paris, well over three thousand miles away. That stood as the high point in aviation for a long time, but it is now generally over-looked in the light of the many more remarkable flights that have been made since, during the war and since the war ended.

Recently airplanes set out from Japan on a scheduled non-stop flight to Washington, D. C. The first planes did not make it all the way, but later ones did. The first man to complete the flight did not seem to think he had done anything unusual and he stated that there was no reason why planes could not fly the route on a regular schedule before long.

The only limit to flight is the imagination of man. Middle-aged men living today may live to see around the world non-stop flights. Planes will ascend into the stratosphere to avoid air pressure and will attain

Many Never Suspect Cause Of Backaches

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
 When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
 Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

speeds of one thousand miles per hour, or more. When that time comes, a trip around the world will take 24 hours elapsed time.
 When that speed is an accomplished fact and fuel is developed light enough and powerful enough, a plane traveling east to west will keep the sun overhead a full 24 hours, and thus make the trip in no time at all, sun time. Our present methods of computing time will become obsolete, and some new method will be devised. Yet, with all this knowledge, man is more ignorant than the dumb beasts. He still must WAGE WAR!

Uses Of DDT Explained At Club Meetings

Achievement Day Audiences Learn How to Kill Insect Pests

The uses of DDT as an insecticide were explained and demonstrated by County Agent C. C. Dale at the achievement day program of the Women's project clubs in Arcadia, Ord and North Loup, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Mr. Dale pointed out that DDT is not something new in that it was discovered by a German chemist in 1874. The Swiss found out that it was effective as an insecticide in 1935 and it was brought to the attention of the War department in 1942 while it was searching for a more effective insecticide for the army's use.

Until recently very little of it has been on the market as the army has taken all of it. It was used in the Pacific theater to combat malaria-bearing mosquitoes and in Europe to kill typhus-carrying fleas. The drug which consists of gummy, white crystals is not effective in its pure form. It is not soluble in water, Mr. Dale pointed out that most sprays have kerosene base and for that reason are inflammable.

Five Forms.
 Mr. Dale explained there are five different forms in which DDT may be used: solutions, emulsions, dusts, and wettable dusts, and aerosol bombs. DDT is not a poison but rather a neurotoxic. It effect the nervous system of the insects and is not an immediate killer. Mr. Dale related that one man in Lincoln whose cockroach infested home was treated with DDT complained that it only made the roaches more lively but that within 24 hours they all were dead.

It has been found to be more effective against cold blooded animals, such as frogs, toads, snakes and fish and will not harm warm blooded animals unless inhaled in considerable quantities with the one exception of cats which seem to be strangely susceptible to DDT and should never be sprayed with it.

"If you have a pet cat which lives in the barn, you had better lock it up when your husband sprays the stable", Mr. Dale advised. He suggested that dogs be sprinkled with DDT dust to kill fleas. Solution should not be used on animals or plants as they are absorbed and the oil damages live organisms. Emulsions may be used on plants but not animals.

Kills Flies.
 Killing house flies will be the principle use of DDT in most homes. Mr. Dale stated that one fly may carry as many as a million bacteria. Mosquitoes have been found to carry sleeping sickness, which affects both horses and people.

By painting window screens with DDT solution the housewife goes a long way toward solving the fly problem. Mr. Dale does not advise spraying or painting unpainted wood surfaces with DDT oil solutions as the wood absorbs the insecticide and it is not long effective for that reason. The same is true of concrete or brick walls. He suggests using wettable dust sprays on such surfaces as the white residue left will kill flies from several weeks to three months.

Wettable dusts usually contain 50 percent DDT. Mr. Dale advises buying it in this form and mixing it with water when used as there is nothing to be gained in buying water. When mixed with water the DDT is in suspension but not dissolved.

Avoid Sun.
 He has found that most of preparations on the market, which are to be applied dry, contain 10 percent DDT while 5 percent is generally sufficient to kill most insects. Experiments show that DDT is more effective if used in the shade than in the sun. For this reason spraying the interior of barns and sheds is recommended. By spraying a dairy barn in late May and again in August it can be kept free of flies and mosquitoes.

If a farmer has a fish pond a cafe must be used when DDT is applied to kill mosquitoes. It can be used, however, as experiments show that water containing one-five hundred thousandth part of DDT will kill fish while one millionth part will kill the mosquitoes.

DDT has been found effective against all the insects attacking potatoes. Mr. Dale says and will be a boon to potato growers who have had to use several different sprays to fight the various insect pests. It is no good on vine crops, such as melons, cucumbers, squash, pumpkin's, however. It does not kill bees and can be used to spray orchards.

Gets Bedbugs.
 It will kill bedbugs. Mr. Dale advises spraying it on mattresses. Its effectiveness against moths has not been determined. It will kill lice, but is not believed to be effective against mites. Mr. Dale advises dipping chickens infested with lice. DDT will not kill red spiders, cinch bugs or grasshoppers. At Arcadia Mr. Dale found DDT to be effective in killing boxelder bugs, which were sunning themselves on the walls of the church when he sprayed them.
 At present the most available form of DDT is the aerosol bomb. Mr. Dale pointed out that this was not the most practical way to use DDT as the container is expensive.

Mrs. Melia Presides.
 Mrs. Ray Melia presided at the meeting in Ord. Mrs. M. Biemond led group singing with Mrs. Sylvester Furtak at the piano.

In explaining the club work for next year, Miss Phyllis Dodge, assistant county extension agent, pointed out that each county will now choose its own lessons rather than have the state office decide what projects would be studied. A meeting of extension officers, club presidents, and project leaders will be held late this summer to plan the program for next year, she said.

Miss Dodge explained that the state office will offer a selection of possibly fifteen lessons from which at least four and no more than six may be chosen. Each club will have a voice in selecting the lessons.

New Plan Explained.
 A new plan will also be used in selecting lesson leaders, according to Miss Dodge. Previously two leaders were chosen who took all the lessons and brought them back to the clubs. Often some of the lessons were not interesting to the women as their talents were along other lines and a woman who is a first class cook might not do so well in presenting a sewing lesson.

Now a club may send different leaders for each lesson if it so desires. Miss Dodge believes that this plan will be more practical in that it will afford a division of responsibility. In explaining leadership recognition Miss Dodge pointed out that in order for a club to gain recognition it must hold at least nine meetings, conduct four project demonstrations, have at least one book talk in its program, which may be presented by a guest speaker, provide at least one community good-time, have one meeting devoted to a discussion of world affairs, and a meeting given to the study of health and public safety.

In writing to renew their Quiz for a couple of years more the Ed. Verstrates say they still read the paper with great interest each week though they have been away from Valley county for five years. Both of their daughters are out of the army and both are employed in Minneapolis. They say the past winter has been the coldest in twenty years there and with the most snow but they are looking forward to a good 1946 and hope some of their Valley county friends will be coming that way this coming summer and stop and see them. They live a couple of miles out of Marshall, Minnesota.

—Rex Wagner is the new news editor of the Quiz, taking the place of John L. Ward, who retired from full time work to take life easier at his home in North Loup, after "pinch-hitting" on the Quiz staff since last August.
 —A son, weighing 7½ pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leonard of Sargent in Dr. Miller's hospital on March 11th. He has been named Billy John.

Loup Valley Fair to Be Aug. 26 - 29

Plans for holding the Loup Valley Fair in 1946 were made at the meeting of the directors of the Valley County Agricultural association Monday night. The fair is scheduled for August 26, 27, 28 and 29. The board is hopeful of holding auto races this year. Clyde Baker who was appointed racing superintendent, expects to attend race meets in Sioux City and Denver for the purpose of contacting drivers to compete here.

The board contracted the Cudney Border States Shows from San Antonio to stage the carnival at the fair. This show company has four rides and twenty-five concessions. An entertainment committee comparing M. B. Cummins, Jay Auble and Hilding Pearson, was appointed. C. C. Dale, Henry Enger, M. B. Cummins were appointed to revise and set up the premium lists. Clark Weckbach was named a director, replacing Robert Noll, who resigned as he did not have sufficient time to devote to the fair since his own business keeps occupied at that time.

Stamp No. 9 Good for Canning Sugar

Spare stamp No. 9 became valid for five pounds of canning sugar Monday of this week, making it possible for housewives to secure their first canning sugar of the season without an endless amount of bother and red tape. Spare stamp No. 9 will be good through September 30. The OPA has also said there will be another stamp made valid for the purchase of canning sugar some time during the summer. Very likely the canning sugar for the coming summer will be limited to 10 pounds, the agency warns, unless the sugar shortage clears up considerably.

Four Persons Hurt in Highway Accident

Four persons were injured in an automobile accident which happened on the highway about one block south of the residence of Dr. Norris in Ord about 10:30 o'clock Monday evening. The injured were Miss Gail Adams of Ord, who suffered a severe scalp wound and had a foot injured, Miss Myrtle Hurlbert of Ord who sustained a bruised leg and hip; Richard Schultz of Wolbach who was cut across the bridge of the nose and received a bruised leg and Donald Stephens who was deeply cut over the right eye, and sustained a black eye and head bruises.

The injured parties were treated by Dr. Norris. The young ladies were in a car driven by Anton Greenwalt and owned by Joe Beran. Mr. Greenwalt, who was going south, stated that he was blinded by the headlights of the approaching car which was driven by Kenneth Holm of Scotia. Both automobiles were damaged. They were taken to the Chevrolet garage in Ord. The car owned by Mr. Holm is a model A Ford, which is damaged to such an extent that it is not likely that it would pay to repair it.

Verne Stark Starts Remodeling Building

Verne Stark, who has leased the building adjoining the Capron Insurance Co., started remodeling the structure this week. He plans to put in a complete new front, display room, and work room for an electrical appliance shop. "I have obtained the Maytag agency, and in about thirty days I hope to be in a position to give service," Mr. Stark said.

Teachers Postpone Naming of Officers

Owing to the bad roads which were responsible for a poorly attended meeting the election of officers was not held, when the teachers of Valley county met at North Loup Monday evening. A covered dish dinner was served in the Community hall, John D. Rice, superintendent of the Kearney public schools addressed those present. The constitution which had been prepared by Miss Frances Horinek of the Ord schools, Mrs. Ella Mae Hill of the North Loup schools, Mrs. Loretta Iwanski of Elyria who is president of the Valley county rural teachers association, and Virgil Bugbee, superintendent of the Arcadia schools, was adopted. Those attending the meeting decided to postpone the election of officers until a future meeting when they hoped more teachers would be present. In the meanwhile the temporary officers will function. Miss Horinek, the chairman, will announce the next meeting.

C. of C. Inaugerates Bridge Delivery & Pick Up Service

A free pickup and delivery service from the business section of Ord to the missing North Loup river bridge will be inaugurated this week by the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

A schedule of hours is published in another section of this paper. The schedule has been made so to provide service for school children in addition to Ord shoppers. In addition to individuals the Chamber will also provide for pickup and delivery of produce and packages. Farmers living east of Ord who do not wish to drive round by way of Elyria or Sumner can park their car east of the defunct bridge, carry their produce across on the foot bridge, and then ride into town in the free Chamber delivery service.

NORTH LOUP

Valley county teachers association met at the North Loup school house Monday night and accepted the constitution which had been prepared by the committee. Organization and election of officers will be held at the next meeting which will be held when the committee decides on a time and place. Members of this committee are: Miss Frances Horinek, Ord, Mrs. Loretta Iwanski, Elyria, Mrs. Ella Mae Hill, North Loup and Mr. Virgil Bugbee, Arcadia. Because of the bad roads not as many were present as had been hoped for but more than thirty enjoyed a covered dish supper and the program. Feature of the program was an address by Supt. Rice of Kearney who spoke on the problem of school taxes. Kathleen Haught gave her reading, "Junior Miss."

Mrs. Harold Hoerner went to Hastings on the Tuesday afternoon bus to spend the rest of the week with Mrs. Merrill Anderson and children while Merrill is in Middleton, Ohio, after a new plane for his company in Hastings.

Mrs. J. J. Walsh of Beardstown, Ill., arrived on the Tuesday morning bus to spend a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Anna Crandall.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hosman of Omaha came Saturday night after some of their things that had been at the Hay Drawbridge home. They had found a place to live in Omaha. Mrs. Hosman, the former Fern Drawbridge stayed with her parents while her husband was in the Pacific with the navy.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hemphill were ill with flu the first of the week.

Johnny Wojtasek had a narrow escape Monday when a large tank rolled into a pit on top of him. Mr. Wojtasek is working for Erlo Cox and they were installing the supply tank at the Coleman Service station. Wojtasek had gotten down in the pit to move some dirt when the tank rolled in. It was lifted off him and he climbed out, apparently none the worse except for a few bruises.

We still have about 300 acres of hybrid South American to put out. Come in and ask about these contracts.

Hybrid Corn

We have most of our Hybrid Seed in at present and will be glad to have you get yours as early as possible. It is a very good plan to get your seed early as sometimes we do not have all of the kernel sizes when you want to get your seed. The Hybrids that we sell are adapted to this section and you will be well pleased with the results you get when you plant our Hybrids.

Seed Oats

Seed Oats are beginning to get a little bit scarce. We still have a small amount of Certified Cedar Oats and some Otoe Oats that are not certified. Don't wait till you are ready to sow before getting your seed.

Seed Potatoes

We have a pretty fair stock of Red Warbas, Early Ohios and Certified Cobblers. These seed potatoes are all northern grown and we are pricing them to move them. Our information indicates that seed potatoes will be hard to get before long.

Baby Chicks

This week we have some Austra Whites and White Rocks. If you need chicks in a hurry we will phone for them. Our chicks seem better than ever this year. Our section is well favored with grain and we believe that if you can get a flock of chicks started soon you will be able to get plenty of mash to carry them till they are large enough so that grain can make the best part of their ration. Our section should raise more chicks and sections that have to ship in all of their feed will no doubt cut down on chicks and we will be hearing soon of a great poultry shortage. Poultry and eggs are a fair price when you consider other farm product prices.

Grains

We are in need of grains and if you have any for sale let us make you an offer. We will pay full ceiling prices for anything we can use.

Pop Corn

We have a call for a few carloads of immature popcorn. If you have any of this popcorn let us know and we will be glad to make you an offer. We would prefer to buy it shelled but can use it on the ear.

"We're highly encouraged by this first response," fire chief Vern Andersen told the Quiz. "So far only a few have been contacted, and no one has turned us down as yet."

"I was surprised to learn that our farmer friends, in talking over our plan to purchase rural fire-fighting equipment had voluntarily set up a quota of their own. The quota seems to be about $25 per farm, although several larger landholders have exceeded this sum.

Funds for Improving Ord's Airport Sought

An application for $7,761.50 for improving the Ord municipal airport is being made to state department of aeronautics. Clarence Davis, city attorney, spent Thursday in Lincoln conferring with officials in regard to the project. Maps and plans for the improvement have been prepared. It is estimated, Mr. Davis reports, 19,000 cubic yards of earth must be moved to level the runways. Most of the money will go for grading and seeding. He believes that action on the application will be taken the first week in April.

Skating Rink Will Open Monday Night

No. Barnum's and Bailey's circus is not showing in Ord. That big tent which is erected east of the square is a skating rink and dance hall, which Walter Andersen and Glen Eschliman purchased from the Eoby brothers.

They are announcing a free opening Monday night when every one may come and skate—if the large supply of skates is enough to supply the crowd, and if there is room on the floor—as much as their hearts desire, gratis.

Showers Improve Wheat Prospects

Fields, Believed Dead, are Turning Green; Good Crop in Sight

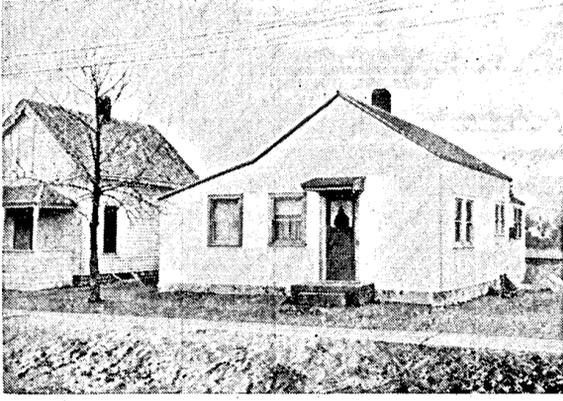

The recent rains have greatly improved the wheat prospects in Valley county judging by the reports reaching the A.A.A. office. Before the moisture condition improved the A.A.A. office had received 165 reports of loss to the Federal Crop Insurance corporation. Fields which farmers believed to be dead greened up following the rains and now give promise of a bumper crop.

R. Clairs Clement, who inspects losses in the south part of the county, has recommended that only one six acre field be plowed up and planted to another crop. This field was badly damaged by grasshoppers last fall, Mr. Clement reports, as it was nearly an alfalfa field. William Petska, who will examine all fields in the north section of the county, where losses are reported, has not as yet reported any abandoned fields.

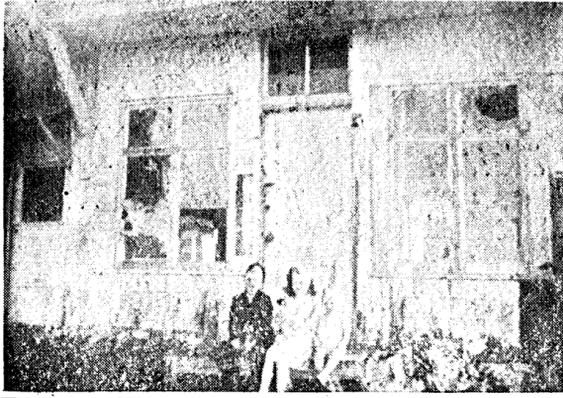

Arcadia Will Vote in Cemetery Board

The voters of Arcadia will decide whether or not a cemetery association will be formed at the spring election April 2. Under the proposed plan the association will acquire the title to the cemetery. A board will be elected to administer the business of the association.

Here Is Ord's First New G. I. Home

The framework is all that remains of the old store building which Mr. and Mrs. John Cook bought and converted into this new house. The old building is pictured below. Everything else about the house is new, inside and out. Mr. and Mrs. Farmer now have a modern home, consisting of a living room, kitchen, two bedrooms, bathroom, sunporch and a full basement, which they purchased through the G. I. Bill of Rights.

William Wadas Interviewed By Omaha Journal

Valley County Farmer Fears Corn Shortage; Plans To Irrigate

"The corn supply in our county has kept shrinking until most of the feeders are on the bottom end of the bin," commented W. Wadas, of Valley county, Nebraska, who visited Omaha recently.

"In the first place, it didn't yield as much as it looked like it would, then it shrank more than usual in the crib and on top of that it won't weigh out or feed as well as it should," he added.

The four brothers, William, Sylvester, Emanuel, and Ben operate on a rather large scale, having farmed around 900 acres the past few years. The remainder of the 1,640-acre farm is in pasture and hay which supports 40 to 50 stock cows, around 20 milk cows and the stockers that go into the feedlots to use a part of the grain produced on the farm.

They are "eyeing" irrigation on a tract of recently acquired land but realize that water alone won't guarantee a crop, unless the ground has enough fertility to make use of it. At the same time, the installation of a well, making of ditches, and other work necessary adds to the capital investment which makes each acre under the well cost just that much more.

Hog production in that area is not likely to increase any over the past year or two, Mr. Wadas said. In their own case, they plan to keep around 15 sows "to sort of balance up the livestock setup."

The above article appeared in the March 22 issue of the Omaha Daily Journal-Stockman.

Valley Co. Sends 3 Boys to Army

Three men, Frank Beran, Robert Kokes, and Eldon Cernik, will leave Ord in April for Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where they will be inducted into armed services. They comprise Valley county's quota for April.

On April 2 Richard Golka, Arthur Larsen, Edwin Jirak, Robert J. Kokes, Robert Meese, Dan Cook, and Ted Randolph will go to Fort Leavenworth for physical examinations. If these men pass they will likely be inducted some time in May. Some of them will graduate from high school this spring.

Homeless in Ord Asked to Meeting

A meeting of all people interested in buying a newly built home in Ord will be held in the office of County Judge Andersen Thursday night, March 28 at 8:15 o'clock. The meeting is sponsored by the housing committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Ray Bissell, the contractor who is scheduled to build twenty new homes in Ord, will be present with the architect's plans and figures of the cost of such homes.

Six couples interested in buying newly built homes in Ord were present at the meeting held Friday evening. Most of the members represented were veterans of the armed service. Those attending the meeting expressed a desire for more information about the proposed homes and so the follow up meeting was scheduled for Thursday night.

Pilings for New Bridge Finished

The trials and tribulations of the people living north of the river are nearing an end (their patience probably is too). Within another ten days—or so, the bridge will likely be completed. The crew, under the supervision of Tracy Hamilton, county highway commissioner, completed the piling Saturday. Considerable work remains to be done, however, before the bridge will be open for traffic. The pilings must be braced and planks laid which will keep the bridge crew busy.

At the behest of the Chamber of Commerce the footbridge across the missing span is now two planks wide. The taxi service provided by the Chamber of Commerce is proving to be quite popular with those living on the wrong side of the river. However, none of the makeshift contrivances quite takes the place of the bridge.

Burwell Couple Has Narrow Escape in Mountain Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maitland are back in Burwell after an absence of five year. During this time they have lived in various places in California where Harry has been working at the carpenter trade.

As they were driving through the mountains west of Denver, their way home, they struck a hair-pin curve that was completely covered with ice. Their car skidded off the road and they rolled two hundred and fifty feet down the mountain side. Their car turned completely over five times.

The car was a total loss but Mr. and Mrs. Maitland escaped without any broken bones although they were badly shaken up and bruised. They have now completely recovered from this harrowing experience, and consider themselves extremely lucky as a family of seven had been killed at the same place and in the same manner, just the week before.

One Candidate Files in County

With only sixteen days left for filing, Valley county has but one lone candidate for office. Clem N. Myers of North Loup filed Thursday on the democratic ticket for supervisor for the North Loup district. The incumbent is J. A. Barber, a republican. The deadline for candidates to file for the primary election is April 12. The primary election will be held June 11.

119 Ord Pupils To Take Part In Music Festival

Students Going to Broken Bow Friday Will Fill Three Buses

Three buses have been chartered to take 119 Ord High School students to Broken Bow Friday where they will participate in the Three Valleys music festival. The buses will leave early in the morning and return quite late that night. Ord's band, under the direction of Dr. Glen Aulsebrook, the mixed chorus, and the boys' and girls' glee clubs, which are directed by Miss Dorothy Aulsebrook, will participate in the event.

The festival this year will follow an entirely new pattern, with only large groups participating during the day and the evening session to be devoted entirely to massed performances by the entire group.

Two men prominent in Nebraska musical circles, Mr. Don Lentz of the University of Nebraska and Mr. Hayes M. Fuhr of Hastings college, will act as critic judges during the day and then conduct the massed performances in the evening. Mr. Lentz will have charge of the instrumental groups and direct the massed band and Mr. Fuhr will judge the vocal groups and direct the massed choir.

The festival opens at nine o'clock Friday morning with each school participating allotted ten minutes to present large vocal groups. The afternoon session will start at 1 o'clock and each school will be allowed 15 minutes for presenting band numbers. During the late afternoon the massed choirs and bands will participate in preparation for the evening performance.

The ten schools participating in the festival are Arcadia, Ravenna, Loup City, Ord, Burwell, St. Paul, Scotia, Taylor, Comstock and Broken Bow.

The massed choir in the evening will include approximately 550 vocalists from the ten schools and the massed band will be made up of 350 musicians from the ten schools.

In addition to the massed performance, Mr. Lentz will play several flute solos and Mr. Fuhr will present the Hastings College women's choir, who will sing several selections.

Approximately 800 high school music students from the ten participating schools are expected to take part in the activities of the day-long festival.

You're ready to start spring work... IS YOUR TRACTOR?

Who knows what kind of a Spring we will have? But no matter what kind it turns out to be, you can take advantage of every good day if your tractor is in condition. With good prices for farm products, a few dollars spent now for spark plugs, a spare fan belt, oil filters, and perhaps a battery recharge, may pay tremendous dividends before fall arrives.

Use Spring Produce To Pep Up Appetites

Here are some of my favorite ways with the just-arrived fruits and vegetables.

WILTED SPINACH
Wash young tender spinach well; tear leaves into small pieces. Place in a hot serving dish or salad bowl. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and let stand a few minutes to wilt slightly. Heat together 2 or 3 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1/4 cup vinegar, and a dash of mustard and sugar. When mixture begins to boil, pour over spinach and toss lightly to mix. Garnish with chopped green onion, hard-cooked egg slices and radishes. Serve at once. Serves 6.

GREEN BEANS IN MUSHROOM SAUCE
Cook green beans in boiling salted water 20 minutes or until tender. In a saucepan, season a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup with 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and a little grated onion. Thin with liquid from beans, if desired. Heat soup, stirring until smooth. Add beans and heat through. Serves 6.

RHUBARB UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE
Arrange 3 cups diced rhubarb in a well-greased 8"x8"x2" cake pan. Sprinkle with 1 1/2 cups sugar combined with 2 tablespoons corn starch. (I like to use half brown sugar and half granulated.) Mix up your favorite plain or sponge cake recipe and pour over rhubarb. Bake in moderate (350° F.) oven 30 to 40 minutes or until done. Invert on rack to cool. To serve, cut in squares and top with whipped cream.

House for Sale

OR FOR RENT

Only when new houses have been built will we again see the ad or sign, "House for Sale or Rent." However, if you want a place to live there is something you can do about it.

Under the new government housing program it is the opinion of men in the lumber industry that the only lumber and building materials to come into the Ord area this year will come in under priorities issued to returned servicemen.

Money to build is not the problem. Building materials are the question.

VETERANS! Send This Letter!

If you are not a veteran, you can submit an application for him. Such action can mean either a new home for him... or you may arrange to take the new home and sell or rent to him the place in which you are now living.

You must take the initiative to submit an application for building materials. Only with a priority can you obtain building materials.

ting results. But don't worry about the coyote. He is a social creature, and thrives in territories where his enemy, man, abounds. Unlike most wild animals, he gets along fine in heavily populated territories, and he does not need the protection of game laws. He is smarter than the man who hunts him and like the Russian bear, he trusts nobody.
No animal is more unlike the coyote than the rabbit, but the rabbit has learned to adapt himself to the conditions of civilization, and is more abundant today than in pioneer times.
The rabbit lives by keeping out of danger, by keeping hidden,
and by his very nature, for man will not wantonly destroy a harmless creature, whose pelt is not worth the trouble of sav-

a last thought: A man never learns how to live until he is ready to die.

short time because they get at the job and get it done. Old men, like old streams, have slowed down. They develop a habit of wandering. They spend too much time doubling on their tracks and so are not able to accomplish much. With their tottering steps they could not walk a straight line if they tried. Yet these old fellows, like old streams are nice to visit with.

North Loup has a man no longer young, who knows a lot about streams, the North Loup river and Mira Creek especially.
For several decades he has traveled up and down both streams, gathering suitable pieces of diamond willow which he later whittled into beautiful canes.
Most of which he gave away to his friends. Perhaps Bates Copeland never made a lot of money with his hobby, but he certainly got a lot of pleasure out of it, especially out of those trips along the streams, where he had an opportunity to commune with nature and with Nature's God.

Bates Copeland is a man who does not live for himself alone.
He loves his friends for what they are, and not for what they ought to be. He makes his living scraping acquaintances, if you will pardon the pun, and he cuts their hair, too. He gets a fair share of the business of North Loup, and in addition he has a number of the older men from Ord who visit his shop occasionally to have some work done. They do not have to go to North Loup to find a barber.
The prices are the same, and Ord has good barbers. They go because it gives them a chance to see and talk with Barber
Bates again, and believe me, that is well worth the trip.

The story I started to tell about Copeland just about got lost in the shuffle, but here it is. One day last week he drove to Ord on business, and took his rifle along, thinking he might get a chance at a coyote.
That afternoon he drove around quite a bit always looking for a coyote, but failed to see one.
That evening when he got home
he found a dead coyote right in his back yard. There had been a coyote roundup a few days before. This one had been wounded and got that far before it died, doubtless looking for Dr. J. W. McGinnis.

The reason for the abundance of coyotes this year is because they were not hunted for several years, due to lack of ammunition and absence of hunters on more important business. That is why these coyote roundups are get-

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear why you call that an old fashioned idea, Judge."
OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George.
Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."
GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"
OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times.
Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."
GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard on the subject."

Scouts Engage In Practice Drill to Locate Missing Person

In connection with the emergency mobilization program which the Scouts of America are sponsoring, the Ord members under the direction of Scoutmaster John Hanna carried out a project Sunday afternoon when they looked for a person, supposedly suffering from amnesia.

The purpose of the training is to devise a plan whereby the Scouts can be quickly mobilized in the event a disaster should occur in the community. The Ord Scouts have been drilled with this in view as a method of mobilization had worked out.

The call for mobilization went out Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock when the scoutmaster notified the three patrol leaders and they in turn had the responsibility in getting the word to the members of their patrol. Each leader worked out a system by which he believed he could most efficiently reach the members of his patrol. By 1:20 all the scouts who were in town had reported to the scout-house on the athletic field.

There Mr. Hanna gave them the description of the supposedly missing person and the boys began looking for him. When they located a person answering the description given them they went up to him and asked "Are you Mr. X?" The patrols worked independently. By 2:15 all three of the patrols had found the missing man, who was their assistant scoutmaster, Ivan Davis, and had reported back to the scout-house where they enjoyed a hot dog feed and spent the remainder of the afternoon playing softball on the athletic field in the park.

The members of the Hawk patrol who reported when notified by their leader, Wayne Zlomke, were Paul Stoddard, assistant leader, Darrell Severson, and Richard Good. Those of the Hyena patrol, who responded to their leader, Galen Allen, were Ladd Cochran, assistant leader, Don Haught, Dick Anderson, and Verdon Jobst. The members of Buffalo patrol present were Charles Munn, the leader, Charles Hannah, James Misko, and Kerry Leggett.

Against Selling

"There is no hedge against inflation", declared Edwin N. Van Horne of Omaha, the president of the Federal Land bank, who addressed the meeting. He advised the farmers not to sell their farms even though they should be offered an exceedingly high price because they would be faced with a serious problem in reinvesting the money received for their farms.

He stated that the Federal Land bank made twenty-three million dollars worth of new loans last year and that delinquent loans were less now than at any other time in the bank's history. He predicted that business would be good and that the county would enjoy prosperity if labor and capital would get together and settle their differences. We declared the country must have full production in order to pay the interest on its debt.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jensen and children and Bennie Jensen were dinner guests at the Curtis Hughes home in Arcadia Sunday. Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Albin Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Franzen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franzen and children of Scotia.

—Condition of Teddy Leggett, who underwent a brain operation at the Methodist hospital in Omaha Wednesday is pronounced as satisfactory by attending physicians. The youngster was injured last summer at Cullen Lake, Minnesota when a stone arch collapsed on him. Both Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Leggett, his parents were at his bedside for the operation and Mrs. Leggett will remain in Omaha with him until his return to Ord which will be in about two weeks. Mr. Leggett returned home Sunday.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Horner were dinner guests Sunday in the home of Judge and Mrs. John Andersen.

—Robert Nelson pleaded guilty of selling liquor to a minor in county court Friday and was fined ten dollars and costs amounting to $21.20 by Judge John Andersen. Complaint against Nelson was filed by County Attorney John Misko Thursday.

—G. A. Butts, Rodney Spelts, and Tom Noble, all former Burwellites who now live in southern California returned to California Thursday after spending three days in Burwell visiting old acquaintances. Mr. Butts returned to Burwell when he received a telegram from Johnson brothers saying that they could make a delivery of a new Chrysler, which he purchased before leaving Burwell about a month ago. Thursday Mr. Spelts was a bus passenger to Loup City where he visited his brother, Alvin and Mrs. Spelts. He also went to Grand Island where he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Chick Frederickson.

—Mrs. Alvin Gray has been very ill in the Burwell hospital but is reported to be much improved following an operation.

wives to do was to raise gardens and to can or preserve all the food possible. Next she advised people to eat less and suggested that wives prepare no more food at a meal than their families would eat and to save the food left over and serve it as another meal. She urged them to prevent waste. Next she suggested that they use substitutes especially potatoes and rolled oats for wheat which is badly needed in Europe.

She urged the farmers to eat more eggs and to save meat and oils. She recommended using corn and buckwheat in making pancakes and suggested one crust pies to save flour and fats. She declared that the new emergency flour would be good for people.

C. C. Dale, Valley county extension agent, told the farmers that there wasn't enough food available to prevent widespread hunger and starvation. He urged the farmers to produce all they could as there would be good prices for all the food they could raise. In pointing out that there is a shortage of grain to feed livestock he recommended that greater use be made of pastures.

Recommends DDT

He suggested that farmers use DDT to free their herds of flies and mosquitoes which would greatly increase the production of milk and beef. He recommended the use of a wettable dust powder and directed the farmers to use 18 lbs. of wettable dust mixed with 25 gallons of water to spray sheds and barns and one pound to 25 gallons of water to spray cattle. He said cattle sprayed with such a mixture would be free of flies from ten days to three weeks.

The meeting was presided over by Ewet Smith, who is president of the association. Miss Verda Munn received much applause when she gave a dramatic reading entitled "The Softness of the American Boys". She received a

Flying Enthusiasts Form Organization

Tuesday evening, a group of persons interested in flying held an informal meeting at the Herbert Cline residence for the purpose of creating an organization the aims of which are to foster the furtherance of Aviation in this community.

Named "THE VALLEY FLIERS", this club is open to membership to any person or persons who are now or will be in the future interested in flying and development of airport facilities in this area. The club was started to help in setting up some policies and ideas which will make flying better, easier-to-learn, safer and more economical for those who would care to participate and thus help to serve this and the surrounding communities. The charter members are: Herbert L. Cline, president; Forrest Worm, vice-president; Ed Swopes, treasurer; Cork Biemond, secretary; and Ted Slobaszevski, David Milliken, Bill Steen, Leonard Witherwax and Clint Witherwax.

Any persons who are aircraft owners or are interested in flying or desire to help in the development of this organization are invited to contact any of the above named members for additional information, as there are many benefits to be derived from this type of organization, both for the individual and for the community in general, and membership need not involve any obligations to the club.

An example of the fine service rendered through use of the airplane as a medium of transportation was yesterday morning about 10 o'clock when one of Worm brothers transport trucks broke down and Mr. Cline and Mr. Worm flew to Hastings to obtain repairs which were installed immediately upon return so the truck was on its way to Omaha by noon. Mr. Cline was quoted as saying he would have made better time, but he got lost twice on the way back.

Hastings Choir Draws Big Crowd

The school auditorium was filled to capacity Sunday night with people who came to hear the Hastings college choir present a concert. Three Ord girls, Charlene Munn and Irene and Carolyn Auble, are members of the group. People from Scotia, North Loup, Sargent and Burwell came to Ord to hear the choir.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church served supper to the group in the church basement. After the concert, the choir members were invited to the Glen Auble home where they were entertained informally. They were overnight guests in a number of Ord homes. The choir left Monday morning for Loup City where they presented a concert in the school auditorium. They gave a second concert in Lexington the same day.

Farmers to Plant 8,000 More Trees

Eight thousand trees, which will be planted in farm windbreaks, are now in Ord, and D. B. McOstrich, of the soil conservation office, urges the farmers who signed up for the trees last fall to come in and get them. He advised planting the trees immediately for best results.

Included in the lot are 2,000 conifers, red cedars and Austrian pines, which will not live and grow if their roots are exposed to the sun and air. Russian Olives predominate in the broad leaf varieties received. Mr. McOstrich explains that only half of the trees planted in windbreaks are supplied by government agencies. The other half must be obtained from other sources.

Wozab Aids Veterans in Solving Problems

John Wozab, Valley county service officer, interviewed 126 veterans during the month of February, in an effort to help them with their problems. He sent out 260 letters to returned service men in the county. Insurance seems to be the matter in which G. I.'s are most interested.

Mr. Wozab has helped twenty-one veterans convert their military coverage. Of late he has been receiving many inquiries about the job training opportunities. In February he assisted nine veterans in this manner.

He has made applications for fourteen veterans who wanted G.I. loans, five who desired building priorities, one who wanted a civil service position, fifteen who were asking for readjustment allowances, and four who were seeking additional schooling.

Mr. Wozab helped one veteran with his income tax problems, another who wanted to buy surplus army goods, and a third who was concerned about his war bonds. During February he prepared ten affidavits for veterans.

Plans For Small Homes Offered By Local Bank

To Expedite Housing, Nebr. State Bank Offers Plans At Cost Price

To expedite the solving of the housing problem that Ord and Valley county now face, the Nebraska State Bank, in cooperation with the Quiz is offering blueprints and specifications of typical small homes.

Plans for the new houses are prepared by the Monthly Small House Club, and are offered at the cost price of $7.50 to Quiz readers. A coupon for ordering the plans will be found on another page of this paper, adjacent to the advertisement of the Nebraska State Bank.

Each week for the next month or so, the advertisements of the bank will contain a floor plan and architect's exterior sketch of a selected small home. The plan is complete—wiring, plumbing and all service connections are included, and is designed to comply with Ord's municipal building code, and with specifications of the F.H.A.

"We feel, that with actual blueprints so that builder's estimates can be figured right down to the dollar, that the full picture of building a house this year will be made easier," Crawford Mortensen, president of the Nebraska State Bank said.

Change to Dark Flour is Painless

The people who have been dreading the thought of eating bread as black as the ground can rest assured that they won't have to. In Ord the process of re-conversion to the new Victory flour has been so painless that the public has not been aware of the change.

Forest Johnson, manager of the Ord bakery reports that they have been using the new flour for the last ten days. Small amounts were used at first mixing it with the old flour. Mr. Johnson says that a person must scrutinize the new flour most closely to see any difference between it and the old flour.

The new flour is milled by a process which produces 10 percent more flour from the same amount of wheat than did the process formerly used. This milling regulation was initiated by the Department of Agriculture to save food which will help feed the starving peoples overseas.

KILL WEEDS with WEEDICIDE!

The newest thing out in weed killers—you've read about it—we have it!

Kills wild morning glories, plantains, Japanese honeysuckle, poison oak, poison ivy, dandelions, Canada thistle and many other weed pests. These weed pests are not only controlled, but utterly destroyed—clear down to the tips of the roots.

Will not harm wild hay, blue grass or pasture (only broad leaf plants respond to kills) and kills even the most deep rooted perennials.

Just spray it on—a dollar's worth will take care of the average lawn — an acre for five dollars or less.

How would you CHART YOUR COURSE?

Pictured here are the records of four "life lines" of our business—four things which largely control the destiny of any business, whether it be a farm, a factory or a store. They are Wages, Materials Costs, Prices, and Profits. Suppose these were pictures of what is going on in your own affairs. How would you chart your future course from these facts?

Using U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics with 1941 as base, the average 100 price for farm machinery in 1945 were only 104.9.

What about wages?

Wages have risen steadily for five years. Before the strike which began on January 21, in ten of our plants and which has choked off nearly all farm machinery production, earnings of employees of these plants averaged $1.15 1/2 an hour, not including any overtime. The Union demanded a 34 cents per hour increase and a Government board has now recommended a general increase of 18 cents an hour, which would make average earnings $1.33 1/2 an hour. Weekly average would be $53.40.

What about materials?

No one seems to know how high materials costs will go. The Government has increased steel prices as much as $12.00 a ton, with an average increase for all grades of 3.2%. Steel is the most important material we buy, but prices on other materials are also increasing.

What about future prices on farm machinery?

The judgment of Harvester's management now is that we cannot safely make the huge wage increase recommended by the Government until the Government authorizes adequate increases in the prices of farm machinery to cover the resulting increased costs.

That is not a judgment that makes us happy. The Company does not want to raise prices. We prefer to lower prices, when possible, and we know our customers prefer to have us do that. We have produced at 1942 prices, and hoped we could continue to do so. We have delayed seeking general price relief in the hope that it could be avoided. Now we are convinced that it cannot be avoided any longer. The price question must be settled. Until it is settled we do not see how we can settle the wage question. Until the wage question is settled we do not see how we can resume production and begin turning out the farm machines which we know our farmer customers need.

What about profits?

Risk is part of the American profit and loss system, so we do not, of course, ask either our customers or the Government to guarantee that we can be certain of profits each year. The chart tells the story of our profits during the war. Although Harvester produced more goods than ever before, it did not desire to get rich out of war, so our rate of profit has steadily gone down. What our 1946 profit will be is extremely uncertain.

What is the next step?

As you can see, our present situation is that with frozen prices and declining profits, we are asked to pay higher materials costs and to make the biggest wage increase in the history of the Company. Can we do this?

Wages and materials consume but a few cents of every dollar we take in. If our prices continue frozen, and cost of wages and

Death Takes Three Burwell Citizens

Three Burwell residents died during the past week. Mrs. Frank Robke died at a hospital in Norfolk March 20. She had lived in Garfield county for many years. Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church Saturday. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. D. W. Sartain and two grandchildren of Burwell and a brother, W. P. Ingerham also of Burwell. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery.

Ben C. Maves retired Garfield county rancher, died at his home in Burwell Saturday evening. He had been suffering of a heart ailment for several months. Mrs. Maves, returning home from her Saturday shopping found that he had died during her absence.

Mr. Maves grew up on a farm near Elba. As a young man he came to Garfield county and homesteaded in the northwest part of the county. He was married to Miss Alverda Craun who survives him. For many years the Maves ranch home was the seat of the Blake postoffice. Besides his wife he leaves two sons, Paul who is a Methodist minister in New York state and Phillip of Burwell and three daughters, Mrs. Esther Erickson and Miss Ruth Maves, who is studying for the ministry, and a younger daughter at home. He also leaves two brothers and a sister.

Funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Hindman in the Methodist church at Burwell at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

William Freer, 88, a long time resident of Garfield county, died in the home of Mrs. Dora Coleman Saturday morning. Mr. Freer was born in Kentucky. He was an extensive landowner in Garfield county. For a number of years he made his home in College View, suburb of Lincoln. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Nellie, who are now living in College View and a son, Tom of Burwell.

Funeral services for Mr. Freer were conducted in the Mitchell Mortuary Tuesday afternoon. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery.

NORTH LOUP

Miss Velma Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jacobs of North Loup and David Barnhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Barnhart of Ogallala, Neb. were married Sunday, March 10 at Smith Center, Kas.

Graduating from North Loup high school, the bride has lived near North Loup all her life. Her husband is a graduate of the Ord schools. After spending a week with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart will make their home in North Loup.

Mrs. Nina Schultz spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Bartz and Letta.

An honor roll of North Loup high school alumni who are veterans of World War II has been completed and is on display at the drug store but will be hung in the high school auditorium.

More than one hundred names are on the roll, which is painted with black on a white background, with a blue and white scroll at the top. John L. Ward was the artist who made the roll. More than a year ago the Alumni association voted to make some kind of a service flag to honor its members who were serving in the armed forces but a service flag was not available and later the honor roll was worked out. The committee in charge were Mrs. T. J. Hamer, Mrs. J. S. Manchester and Mrs. Fred Bartz. This list does not include all the men who served from North Loup for many who went were not alumni. If War wives who are alumni had been included, many more names would have been in the list. Thanks are due Mr. Ward for the neat job he did.

The American Legion and Auxiliary held a covered dish supper at the hall Monday night. Not as many were present as usual because of the rain but all enjoyed an excellent supper. During the program Carolyn Brown and Grace Sims gave their contest readings and John Ward told of some of his experiences in Hawaii and showed some of the souvenirs he has.

Mrs. Ronald Cress is renewing her youth this week by having the chicken pox.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Babcock and Sheldon Van Horn spent Tuesday in Grand Island.

Mrs. J. J. Walsh left Sunday for her home in Beardstown, Ill. after spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Anna Crandall.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson received a box from their son, Pvt. Lloyd E. Wilson, who is in Japan this week. The box contained a variety of articles, an umbrella, boots, mittens, a fan, lunch set, doll, insense burners, two guns knives and a number of other things. They are in the window of Copeland barber shop.

Bates Copeland is again ill with a skin infection and not able to keep his barber shop open.

Geraldine Gowen, Marjorie Hamer and Donald Babcock are having a weeks spring vacation from their work at the State University and arrived home Wednesday.

Card of Thanks—

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation for the many cards and letters I received from my friends and relatives during my illness in the Omaha hospital.

We have made arrangements to handle 50% wettable DDT dust concentrate in any quantity you need.

This is the form of DDT recommended for general farm use by the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Mixed with water it makes by far the most effective fly spray ever developed.

Experiments by the United States Dept. of Agriculture and State Experiment Stations, prove that when barns and sheds are sprayed thoroughly on the inside, the DDT residue left will kill all flies resting on the surface for a period of from two to three months. Cattle sprayed with this form of DDT will be protected against flies, from ten days to three weeks. All authorities agree that DDT in an oil solution is dangerous to use on livestock.

For general farm use buy only the 50% wettable DDT concentrate, and avoid danger and unsatisfactory results. Tests prove that you can increase summer milk production by as much as 30% by controlling flies with DDT.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover

It is time to get your Alfalfa and Sweet Clover seed. We have Dak. 12, Grimm and Cossack Alfalfa. The supplies are getting rather limited; but we have enough to take care of most orders for the next couple of weeks. This week we have had farmers driving in 50 to 75 miles for seed as our prices are quite a little under the ceiling prices. Get your supply this week.

Grass Seed

Our supply of Crested Wheat grass is quite low but we do have a good supply of Brome Grass. You can get a nice payment on sowing Alfalfa & Brome Grass in the right combination.

Barley

We have a couple of loads of Spartan Barley from the north and it is good quality seed. We have found that it is a good plan to have new barley seed as the crop is much better at harvest time.

Oats

We have sold out on Cedar Oats but have some nice Otoe seed oats. We have sold Otoe Oats here for three years and they do well in this section. Try some of these new and better seed oats.

Popcorn Contracts

We are writing contracts for Dwarf Hulless, South American open pollinated and South American Hybrid. Popcorn has proved a very good paying crop here over a long period of years and we believe that it would be a good plan to plant some popcorn this year. Let us tell you about these contracts.

Seed Potatoes

We have Certified Cobblers and Red Warbas and Ohios that are not certified. These are all northern grown and the prices are right. If you are going to plant potatoes get your seed soon and have them when it is time to plant. If you are a commercial grower and need a large amount of seed let us figure with you.

Chick Feed

We have very good stock of Poultry feed. The protein and grain situation are both pretty tough but we do have good supplies of feed.

Hog Concentrate

We were very fortunate in getting a delivery of a car of feed this week that should have been delivered last October. In this car we have both meal and pellets in 40% Hog feed. Lay in a supply now.

Chicks

This week we have started chicks in very limited lots. We have small lots of Reds and Austras Whites that are started. We have nice lots of Leg-rocks, White Rocks and Austras Whites coming in during April. Let us book you now for the chicks that you want later. We will have the Starter to get them off to a good start for you.

Pop Corn Wanted

We can use a couple of carloads of frosted immature popcorn. The quality of this popcorn does not affect the price very much but we prefer to have it as dry as possible as the moisture content has some effect on the price. We prefer to buy this shelled but we can use it on the ear and we have trucks so that we can haul it. If you have some of this popcorn that you want to move come in and talk it over with us.
