Ord Pool to Open June 5th with Free Admission

Opening Day Swims Free to All, Says Keith Kovanda, Manager.

Ord's swimming pool will open the 1949 summer season with a free or "courtesy" day on Sunday, June 5 at 1:00 p. m., announces Keith Kovanda, pool manager. At that time all are welcome to swim in the new pool, admission free.

New at the pool are the dressing booths for ladies and also the completed water filters. With the new filter beds in operation a complete change of water will be circulated throughout the pool every eight hours. This turnover maintains a clear pool at all times, with suspended residue filtered out. The filters themselves are kept clean by a process known as back-washing. Chlorine gas will be injected under pressure to keep the water at a "drinking water" standard at all times.

With this type of sanitation, less time will be lost because of draining and refilling the pool. A vacuum sweeper is to be used to clean the bottom surfaces of the pool. All these sanitation features have been inspected and approved by officials of the Nebraska state department of health.

It requires 15 hours to fill the pool, which has a capacity of about 130,000 gallons. Therefore, filling will commence on Friday, so that the water can approach air temperature and be pleasantly warm for the opening on Sunday.

Tickets for ages eight to 11 will cost 15c this year; ages 12 to 16, 25c; for adults of 17 and over, 40c. Season passes in these age groups will be sold for $1.80, $6.00 and $7.50, federal tax included. Anyone who swims as often as twice weekly will gain by buying a season ticket at once.

Suits will rent for 20c; towels for 10c. The pool will be open from 1:00 to 5:30 and from 7:00 to 9:00 daily except Sunday, when the pool will remain open continuously from 1:00 to 9:00 p. m. Week-day mornings will be reserved for classes in swimming and water-safety, to be conducted by Mrs. Joyce Groves, Red Cross instructor and lifeguard. Beginning, intermediate and advanced courses will be offered, and Red Cross certificates awarded to those finishing satisfactorily.

Definite hours for the water courses will be announced soon, and all who plan to take part can help by registering at once. Then schedules can be completed.

Here is your chance: take advantage of this opportunity and "Get in the swim!" urges Mr. Kovanda.

Queen Candidate at Central City

Rosalyn Shonka, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Val Shonka will represent Central City this year in the Eastern Iowa Band Festival May 21. Rosalyn's mother is the former Alice Penas, daughter of Mrs. A. Penas of Ord.

Rosalyn is a blonde blue-eyed sophomore and is 15 years old. In the Central City band she has played a trombone for a year and a half. She also belongs to the girls chorus and sang a soprano solo in sub-state music competition at Marion this year. In addition she lettered as a forward on the girls basketball team, she also likes skating and swimming.

Central City's band, with 28 other marching units, will parade through downtown Cedar Rapids, Miss Shonka will ride with queens from 21 additional towns.

License Issued

Saturday, May 28, Judge Ciochon issued two marriage licenses. One to Robert Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Benson and Dolores Pelska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pelska both of Ord.

The other license was issued to Edwin Hruby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruby of Comstock and Shirley M. Holcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holcomb, of Arcadia.

Davis Convalescing

Clarence Davis, Ord attorney who has been bill drafter for the unicameral legislature this past session, arrived in Ord this week for a period of rest. He has been ill the past two weeks with amoebic dysentery and lost about 30 pounds in weight.

During his absence in the next two weeks he will try to combine necessary office work with convalescence.

On the Air

A program about Girls State will be heard on the air Saturday, June 4th, at 1 p. m. over KFOR Lincoln. Genevieve Boyce will attend Girls State, which is being held from June 6 to 12. She is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and the B. P. W. club.

Benefit Dance for Ord Hospital

Eager to add to the funds for a community hospital, the Ord Business and Professional Women's club will sponsor a benefit dance later in June, announces Lillian Geneski, who is in charge of arrangements. A popular orchestra will be secured, probably that of Duffy Belorad, and the public is cordially invited to come and enjoy themselves while helping a good cause. The date will be told next week.

Assisting Miss Geneski are Gertrude Oltz, Irene Aulsebrook, Alton Beran and Virginia Norman, who are also on the benefit dance committee.

Most Successful Poppy Day Drive Ended Saturday

Nearly $300 Raised Second Largest Sum Recorded in Ord.

Partially rained out on the first day set, May 21, the poppy day drive under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Dale had an ideal day Saturday and the public responded with such enthusiasm that nearly $300 was raised, the second largest amount on record.

In the poster contest, held as a prelude to the day itself, only a few posters were submitted in comparison with the large number that have usually been entered in past contests. First in Junior high went to Gary Dohbertine and second to Dean Achen. In High school prize went to Bob Hirsch, first, Jim Misko, second. The Legion Auxiliary was much disappointed over the lack of interest shown.

Among those who contributed liberally of their time to make the sales a success were Mrs. F. L. Stockdale, Mrs. Frank Fafella, Mrs. Herman Behrens, Mrs. Joe Ruzicka, Mrs. Gladys Weckbach, Mrs. J. J. Wozab, Mrs. Doris Craig, Mrs. A. J. Ferris, Mrs. Muriel Lewis, Mrs. Martha Travis, Mrs. Lottie Clark, Mrs. Joe Gregory, Mrs. John Horn, Mrs. Vivian Rowbal and Mrs. Gladys Allen.

Ord Alfalfa Mill to Close Unless Sold to Others

Last Year's $20,000 Loss; Poor Markets Blamed for Closing.

The O-N-L Mills, operated here since 1916 by a partnership of E. Vogeltanz, E. S. Murray and D. B. McOstrich, will not open for the summer dehydrating season, unless other parties open it.

In speaking to a Quiz reporter today, E. S. Murray confirmed reports that the sale was pending to out-of-town interests, but that as yet, nothing was definite. There's a question of procuring new or additional equipment that is holding up the deal," he stated.

The fire loss, coupled with inability to hold their product off the market until the winter months when prices rose, is the reason given by mill owners for their decision not to open the mill this year.

The fire loss, coupled with inability to hold their product off the market until the winter months when prices rose, is the reason given by mill owners for their decision not to open the mill this year.

In March of 1948, a fire of unknown origin burned several hundred tons of hay and a large curing shed with a loss of about $20,000 to the firm. None of this was covered by insurance.

District Program Meeting Held for Extension Clubs

The County Chairmen, Vice Chairmen, County and Home Agents from Howard, Greeley, Garfield, Merrick, Nance and Valley counties held a program planning meeting in Ord on May 25, at the American Legion hall. Mrs. Florence J. Alwood, state leader of Extension Clubs, conducted the meeting.

The Extension Club program for 1950 was explained and tentative programs planned for the counties and agents attending will serve as chairmen in their respective counties for similar program planning meetings. Mrs. R. F. Mettenbink, county chairman and Mrs. Loren Good, group chairman, represented Valley county extension clubs.

Body of E. Dodge Enroute to U.S.A. for Burial at Ord

Reported Missing on Febr. 28, 1945; Was Radio Operator, B-24.

Word has been received at Ord that the body of Erwin Dodge, lost in action in Italy, Feb. 28, 1945, is being returned to the states for reinterment at Ord. Just when the body will arrive is not known, but the Hastings-Pearson mortuary will be informed, as well as local veterans' posts, and the Quiz will carry further information.

T. Sgt. Erwin Dodge, son of Mrs. Agnes Dodge of Elyria, was at first reported missing when the B-24 bomber on which he was radio operator and gunner, was shot down over Italy. He had been with the 15th Air Force in Italy since the preceding September. The bomber was severely damaged by flak, but two parachutes were seen dropping from it, and it was hoped for a time that Dodge had escaped death.

T. Sgt. Dodge graduated from Ord high school, class of 1926, and from the university of Nebraska in 1940. He taught agriculture in the Sheldon schools for two years and entered the service in June, 1942. He was married to the former Jeanette Hartwig of Kenesaw, Neb. He served with the medical corps 7 months and was then transferred to the air corps.

Crop Situation Improving; Most Corn Now Planted

Alfalfa Harvest in Full Swing; Crop Unusually Heavy.

The crop situation over Valley county and throughout the state has taken a turn for the better during the past week, a survey showed. Last week two thirds to three fourths of the corn had been planted. This week it appears that only a small percentage of the corn was still to be put in after June 1.

This came as the result of a full week of rain, which has gathered up the alfalfa crop, the full advantage. To complicate the picture, the first crop of alfalfa was ready to harvest perhaps a week ahead of regular schedule. A number of farmers took care of this difficulty by cutting their alfalfa after night with power machinery.

In some places the cutworms did plenty of damage to the early planted corn, but the later planting is showing up well, and should be plenty thick for a normal stand. In some fields where the corn was not all harvested the volunteer crop will present as much of a problem as the weeds.

Taken as a whole, the farming outlook in Valley county on June 1 is about as good as it has been for a number of years. There is plenty of moisture in the soil, possibly enough to mature spring grain without additional rain. The first crop of alfalfa is the best in years. Pastures were never better. Most farmers are well ahead of the weeds.

Three Men Hurt in Accident at Fair Grounds Sunday

Driving Around Track When Car Went Out of Control; Cut, Bruised

Sunday Jerry Skala, driving the car of his father, Fred Skala, sr., and with Eldon Penas and Harry Burson as passengers, was driving around the race track at the Valley county fair grounds, when the steering knuckle came loose, throwing the car out of control.

The car climbed the grade at the southeast corner of the track, went through the fence and over the steep bank. All the young men were cut and bruised, but all are back at work. The car did not come out so well, and was too badly damaged to repair. The men contacted Sheriff Hall, who found the facts as above stated.

Bicycles Galore

Proof that bicycles have really been staging a come-back in the past decade or so is to be seen in the number of bikes parked wherever the young folks gather. A recent count showed thirty two of the vehicles parked at the Methodist church while their owners were attending Bible school inside.

At the same time quite a number were parked at the Presbyterian church for the same reason.

Three Cotesfield Boys Not Injured

An accident which occurred Saturday night, May 21, had a lucky ending for three Cotesfield young men. Blinded by the lights of an oncoming car, they hit the south rail of the Scottia river bridge and slid along it almost the entire length of the bridge.

The car was driven by Leonard Rasmussen, with Roy Cummings and Donald Simpson as passengers. None of them was seriously hurt, but the car was damaged beyond repair.

Lest We Forget, Theme of Trefz on Memorial Day

Large Crowd Attends Rites at Cemetery

Forgetfulness of the purpose for which the soldier died gave their lives would make a hollow mockery of Memorial Day. Rev. Edward Trefz charged his audience at rites held in the Ord city cemetery Monday morning.

Rev. Trefz spoke to one of the largest crowds in years to attend Memorial Day services here. Scores of families from out of town made their annual pilgrimage to Ord to decorate the graves of their loved ones. Attendance from this immediate area was exceptionally large.

Program activities for the day were in direct charge of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, assisted by the Ord high school band and chorus. The national emblem, flanked by colors of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars and color guard led the march to the cemetery's memorial plot, followed by the band, firing squad, members of the Legion and the VFW.

Following the call of assembly given by VFW commander E. R. Apling, ladies of the GAR participated in an impressive ceremony in memory of the soldier dead of the Civil War. The chorus sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

C. Biemond, Legion commander, introduced the speaker of the day, Rev. Trefz. Following the playing of the national anthem by the band, the firing squad gave the salute to the dead. As the echoes of gunfire drifted away, the bugle call of Taps ended the ceremony.

Wilmer Craig Is Killed in Blast of Gas Explosion

At Work in Welding Shop When Explosion Came; Three Killed.

Orlino Craig, employed by the Ord Auto Sales, received word last week of the serious injury of his father, Wilmer Craig, in a gas explosion in his welding shop near Corvallis, Ore. Later another telegram told him that his father had died in the hospital.

He and his grandfather, Lylo Craig of Clarks, left for Oregon to attend the funeral, which was to be held there Sunday. As he had not yet returned Wednesday morning, further details are not available, except the fact that Mr. Craig and two helpers were working on an oil tanker when the explosion occurred. The other two were killed instantly.

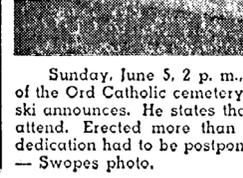

Mr. Craig was a nephew of John Lawrence and Leslie Mason. The complete story of his life will be printed next week.

"In Memory of My Uncle, Clayton McGrew"

There's a big elm log by the river bank, It's half covered with moss and vines; And the deep cool shade bids all to come, From the heat where the hot sun shines.

The birds come here to sit and doze And rest their weary wings; The thrush on her nest is cheered by her mate, As he watches her and sings.

Here used to come a grey-haired man With a fishing pole and a can of bait; You could find him here most any day, Sometimes early and sometimes late.

He had learned to love this quiet place, So peaceful — where nature reigns; It is far from the stumbling efforts of men, And their quest for riches and gains.

How he loved to sit on the old log and fish, Tho' the fish didn't always bite; He was happy here and seldom failed, To take a few home each night.

But often when the bait was gone, And the hook just hanging bare He would sit here quietly in meditative thought And who could say? — in prayer.

He, too, once sought the wealth of the world And strove to reach much desired goals; Day by day he rubbed shoulders with men Who for riches would barter their souls.

But here his soul found a quite peace And the voices of nature told, How God made the world with its beauty for man; Its riches are not measured in gold.

Now its been some time since he was here And the spring has come and gone; Again the birds seek the cooling shade For the days are hot and long.

But no one comes down the winding path With a fishing pole and a can of bait; Long ago we could see by his unsteady step That life, too, was growing late.

Stein - Fuss
Sunday evening at 7 o'clock at the Trinity Lutheran church in Grand Island Miss Elaine Esther Stein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stein of Grand Island and Wilbur A. Fuss, son of Mrs. Rose Fuss of North Loup were married. The Rev. O. A. Graebner performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Elida Stein, Chicago, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Mrs. Louis Stein, Omaha, and Miss Laura Ruff, Papillion, were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Vicki Lee Schneider, Grand Island, and Clinton Koester, York, was ring bearer. Dean Fuss, brother of the groom, was best man. Leland Brodthauer, Wood River, and Louis Stein, Omaha, served as ushers.

Miss Wilma Lange sang "O Perfect Love" and Miss Maxine Fuss sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony. Both are cousins of the bridegroom. Mrs. R. F. Schuessler, at the organ, provided the bridal music. The bride wore a gown of white satin for her wedding. The bodice featured a round yoke of marquisette with ruffles of Chantilly lace forming an off-shoulder effect. The sleeves were long and the tiered skirt, trimmed with rows of satin and lace, ended in a train. She wore a strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. Her veil was edged with lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls and she carried white gladioli and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was gowned in nile green chiffon with an off-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice, and full skirt. Pale pink chiffon gowns worn by the bridesmaids were designed alike. All had shoulder length veils matching their gowns and carried colonial bouquets. The flower girl and ring bearer were dressed in white. The chancel was decorated with baskets holding peonies and ferns and tapers were in candelabra. The aisle was carpeted in white. Following the ceremony about 200 guests attended a reception in the Tropical room at the Stratton hotel. A tiered heart-shaped wedding cake centered the bride's table. Coffee was served by Miss Vesta Lange and Anna Gloe, Wood River, cut the cake. Barbara Bredthauer had charge of the guest book.

Something Different
A man who has a comforting hobby is George W. Olinger of Denver. He collects mottoes and "good thoughts" and then has them printed and distributes them to others, enjoying every phase of this unusual pastime. Mr. Olinger is a Rotarian, and I believe he began by sending his treasures to other Rotarians. Recently I sent him a pet remark in our family: "Why be difficult? With a little practice you can become impossible!" which we delight in finding a use for, and offer on all occasions. Mr. Olinger answered. Among other items, he wrote, "I have just returned from an absence of about seven weeks' motor trip to Old Mexico and I think one of the outstanding experiences was that of meeting, in a little town in Texas, a man who was born with out any arms and who had developed the use of his feet over the years so that he could use them as efficiently as you and I can use our hands. His fine optimistic spirit that went with it was a real tonic to me because I feel that many of us have completely lost our appreciation for the privileges of health, home, and loved ones, that we have each and every day in the year and accept them too frequently, as a matter of course. A very wise physician one time said that he wished that everyone could have something physically wrong with them for the reason that then we would begin to appreciate health and to really be careful and do something about it."

Ord people have another reason to know Mr. Olinger. Orville Sowl, formerly of Ord, worked for Mr. Olinger for some time. Remember Mr. Sowl? And Iva, Paula and Duane? One of the pleasant things about Memorial day is the opportunity it gives us for renewing old acquaintanceships. For instance, at the cemetery quite early Monday morning I spied two little boys, one of them with hair of a sharp, shiny red. They were working and helping some older people, and when I took a more careful glance I saw that red-haired lad's mother—the former Ellamae Thompson, her own beautiful red hair glowing in the sun!

Kenneth Draper and family returned. Freeman Haught and his family came back. Laverne Duemey and family returned for the day. All up and down the streets of Ord were parked cars with out-of-county license numbers, relatives come home to Ord for one-day visits. Brief glimpses of the family, but satisfying. And certainly an improvement on no visit whatsoever.

Mrs. Ramsey Had Fine Visit in California
Mrs. W. L. Ramsey returned from California last week, getting home at 2 a. m. Friday. She reports that she had a most interesting time and met a large number of former Ord people, all of whom were very nice in helping her enjoy her trip. She went to the Ord picnic in Long Beach, and saw more former Ord people than she imagined there could be. She visited Willie Bartley in Denver and stayed with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow, in Los Angeles. Mr. Morrow was formerly coach at St. Paul. At Grand Junction she saw Mrs. J. H. Capron and the Fred Coeg. She also saw and visited with her other granddaughter, Mrs. Stanley Livingstone and husband of Oakland, Calif. She is the former Betty Flynn, and they are here on a visit this week, got here, in fact, before Mrs. Ramsey did. Mrs. Livingstone took her up to Napa to visit the John Kleins. All the children came home and they had a lovely dinner on Sunday. Virginia lives at Eureka, but Earl and May are at Napa. She saw Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Hunter at Oakland. She visited the Frank Sershen also. She enjoyed the flying trip back to Denver on one of the larger planes. She left Los Angeles at 7:30 a. m. and reached Denver at 11:55, flying most of the way at 19,000 feet. She came from Denver to Grand Island on the Streamliner.

Ord Colts Winner Over Comstock in Fast League Game

Score, 5-3, Hits Even. Five Comstock Errors Helped Colts Scoring.

Playing a fine game all the way, the Ord colts won a fairly even game against Comstock at Comstock Sunday afternoon. They were assisted by five Comstock errors, and by two bobbles by the Comstock pitcher Schrieder, who had the one batter and delivered a wild pitch. Final score, 5 to 3.

Patrick started on the mound for Ord, but weakened in the fourth frame, allowing four hits in a row after two men were on, and permitting Comstock to get their three runs. Beran then went in and managed to hold the Middle Loup boys without any more runs.

Patrick retired the side in order in the third frame, and Beran did the same in the fifth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings. A double play in the sixth inning proved of material assistance. Patrick had ten men face him in that fatal fourth inning.

Perhaps it would be better to say both pitchers had a hand in it, since Beran finished the inning. A total of 28 men faced the Ord pitchers, while 41 Colts got into the batter's box during the game. Each team got 7 hits, and Ord had two errors.

Patrick struck out two and walked two. Beran struck out three. Schroeder struck out two. At first for Comstock Stone put out fifteen, while Finley at first for Ord put out eleven. Miller comes to Ord for the next league game Sunday.

American Legion Baseball Squad Has Practice Tilt

Played Broken Bow Here Sunday. Boys Show Much Promise.

Bill Heuck, manager of the American Legion baseball team, is quite enthused over the showing made by the boys in a practice game played at the Ord athletic field against Broken Bow Sunday. The game was lost 11 to 3, but largely due to failure to hit at the crucial times, and several costly errors.

Severson and Don Geneski did the mound duties for Ord, with Stoddard behind the plate. Messon and Brega were the battery for Broken Bow. Ord got 6 hits, with Witherswax and Stoddard getting two each. Broken Bow got nine hits.

The teams in the league are Scotia, North Loup, Ord, Burwell, Taylor and Sargent, and each team will play two games with each of the others. The midgets have been working out regularly and some games are being planned for them later on. The age limit for the regulars is 17 years, and for the midgets, 15 years.

LETTERS AT DANA.
Paul Laursen of Ord ended the athletic season at Dana college, Blair, Neb., this year by getting a letter in track. Laursen was one of Dana's top sprinters and pole vaulters. Laursen also lettered in basketball and football this year.

Fishermen Busy During Past Week; Three New Entrants

First Crappie Makes List of Entrants, No Pike Reported to Date.

Three new entrants swell the list of contestants in the Quiz fishing derby this week, one each in the catfish, bluegill and crappie classes. Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt of North Loup is the first person to list a crappie, which makes her the only entrant to date in that division.

Her fish weighed 1 1/4 pounds and was twelve inches long, which is quite a crappie. She caught it in Pibel Lake with a cane pole, a minnow on a long shank bluegill hook and nylon leader. It was caught at 9 p. m. May 22.

With her were Mr. Gebhardt and Leo Gillham in a row boat. It was the only fish she caught that day. No one else was catching any fish. She tried hard for another one, but that was the limit of the day's catch.

Mrs. Gebhardt and Crappie.

Margaret Zulkoski caught a fine catfish on a setline in the Loup near Scotia. She gives the weight as 6 pounds, and this ties the entry of Rose Suchanek, which also weighed 6 pounds. It was caught about 6 o'clock in the morning and her father, Frank Zulkoski, was with her. They caught three other catfish weighing from 3 1/2 to one pound.

Donald Peterson caught a 6 1/2 ounce bluegill near Hardenbrook dam Thursday, May 26, at 10:30 a. m. He used a cane pole and corn for bait. Denny Absolon was with him. He caught a small carp and a 7 inch bullhead. The fish were biting very good.

This makes the score to date, as follows:

Catfish: Frank Coufal, first, 9 pounds, 3 oz.; Jake Schmidt, second, 7 1/2 pounds; Jiro Kawata, third, 6 1/2 pounds; Rose Suchanek and Margaret Zulkoski, each 6 pounds.

Bluegills: Anna Mraz, first, 9 oz.; LeRoy Wells, second, 7 oz.; Donald Peterson, third, 6 1/2 oz.

Crappie: Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, first, 1 lb., 4 oz.

Women: Dred for first: Mrs. Rose Suchanek and Margaret Zulkoski; second, Mrs. Anna Mraz.

Out at Gering, just to prove that the 20 pound catfish they caught earlier was no fluke, Bill Hamberger, Elmer Blackledge and Walter Snyder returned from a trip to McCaughy lake with a catfish that weighed 18 pounds and a wall-eyed pike that measured 24 inches long (No weight was given).

At Taylor they claim that Jack Kraus, who takes care of the irrigation dam there, caught a 9-pound catfish. The Quiz is not questioning the story, but Mr. Kraus might have been in line for a Quiz prize if he had complied with the rules governing the fishing contest. That would have tied him to date on the bullog in the eligible area.

The Nance County Journal tells about the 8 pound catfish caught by a ten year old boy at the canal headgates near Genoa. Quite a fish for almost anybody to catch, especially on a corn.

A bullog belonging to John Woldings of Kearney decided she would find out what it means to be a fish, so she swallowed hook, line and all. Result, an emergency operation at the Kjar Animal hospital and a very much disgusted bullog from now on the bullog will leave the bait for the bull heads.

Out at Curtis, where there are plenty of real fishing places within easy reach, the fish contest is showing some big entries, as follows: Crappie, 1 lb., 10 oz.; catfish, 12 lbs., 13 oz.; bass, 4 lb., 1 oz.; pike, 3 lbs., 4 oz.; and bullhead, 12 oz.

T and C Cookers Meet

The T and C Cookers met at the home of Mrs. Joe Ulrich with five members present. This being the second meeting the lesson was on "Getting Ready to Cook."

The demonstration was on making a chocolate cream pudding given by the members.

The Blue and The Gray.
Three million men fought in the Civil War, men from every walk of life, every man who could possibly be spared to go to the front. There were men who by present standards of physical health; boys who were not grown to manhood until their service was ended and they had once more returned to what was left of their homes. These men went to war, one section of the country against the other, at a time when there were actually only 34 states, the territories of Nevada, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Washington, Idaho, Montana, the two Dakotas and Wyoming, not yet having been considered for statehood. West Virginia did not separate from Virginia until 1862. Three million men went to war, and perhaps two million five hundred thousand men returned. The war was over, and the South had lost. Eighty-four years have passed since the last gun was fired, since General Lee surrendered in the final phase of the most tragic of all conflicts. Today, according to best available records, sixty-eight of those men still live. Of these, thirty fought for the north and thirty-six for the south. Of these, perhaps not one still living told the truth about his age when he enlisted for the service. To be legally old enough to go to war, any man who entered the service in 1865 would have to be at least 102 years old today. Yet two of those living Confederates are 96 years old, two are 97, and two are 99. Fifteen of them 102 years old or older. Not one living G. A. R. veteran is less than one hundred years old, but twenty of them are more than 102 years old. This tells the heart-breaking story of how the South was forced to take the boys to fight in the final days of the war. In the span of these men's lives the population of the United States has increased from thirty million to 140 million, and the area of the United States has doubled. In a few short years they will have vanished from the scene.

This week we observe an occasion that was first started to perpetuate the memory of those men in blue who fought that we might be a united people. A similar day has been celebrated throughout the South in memory of the dead of the Civil War. Through the years the term has been broadened to include all those who served in the armies of the nation. It is fitting that we meet for a short time one day of the year in honor of those who fought our battles for us. It is the least we can do.

How We Have Grown.
Nothing can give a better idea of the rapid growth of the United States than to look over an old atlas, geography or map made half a century or more ago. People are too apt to take for granted the fact that today we are a nation of about 140 million people, and to believe, without proof, that we always were a great nation. Chambers Encyclopedia, model of 1890, has this to say of the United States: "A federated republic, composed of 38 independent states, eight organized and two other territories." Today all those territories have become states. Today the population of the United States is practically double that of 1890.

We have grown in many other ways. In 1890 only the privileged few even got as high as the eighth grade in education, and very few went through high school. Today the opportunity is given every child to get a high school education, and as many go to college as went through high school sixty years ago.

Meanwhile we have grown in the field of invention almost beyond belief. Only a very few telephones were in use in 1890, today they are an economic necessity. The electric current was not in use then except for the very few. Today it is available for everybody. Wireless, radio and television were not even in the dictionary in those days. Today radio is everywhere and television is making rapid strides toward covering the country. The automobile was not yet invented then, today it is a necessity. The airplane lacked 13 years of being invented, yet today the needs of much of the city of Berlin have been supplied by airlift over a period of many months, and planes make daily flights across the continents and over the oceans. Yes, we have grown to be the greatest nation on the face of the earth and the last stronghold of democracy. Let us see to it that we remain the dominant nation of the globe, let us hold aloft the symbol of liberty and democracy as a pattern for the rest of the world to follow.

Oil Wells.
The Ohio Oil company is driving a test well 13 miles northeast of Sidney, Nebr., and signs for oil are promising. The well is now down to a depth of 4,400 feet, and may be driven farther. At Chadron an oil well is being drilled and is in Dakota formation at a depth of 2,300 feet. The well showed some oil at that depth, but not in paying quantities. The drillers plan to go about 400 feet deeper to hit the Sundance formation in which the Wyoming wells are located.

It will be recalled that about the final act of the recent Nebraska legislature was to pass, over Governor Peterson's veto, a bill authorizing the payment of $15,000 for the first oil well in each county in the state meeting certain necessary specifications. Part was to be paid by the state and part by the interested county. Many arguments were advanced, pro and con, but the legislators made it a law. The advantage in having such a law is that the company which starts a well is sure of a bonus in case of even moderate success.

For the past 50 years Nebraska has been known as the one state in the union with no mineral wealth whatever. While this is not literally true, the fact is that our mineral wealth is of comparatively little importance. Anything, financial or otherwise, that can be done to increase it is a move in the right direction. If the spending of $15,000 or even $100,000 would bring a paying oil well to any county, Valley county, for example, the resulting influx of people into the county would more than offset the amount in increased taxes in a single year.

At the present time oil is piped from Wyoming across Nebraska. It might be sensible to expect that the same oil lies in a vast sheet beneath the soil of Nebraska. If this is true, it can be brought to the state without a pipeline.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett
When I am not too busy I enjoy watching the cars as they whisk up and down this main street and one day recently I saw a big car make a fast U turn right in the street in front of the Table Supply. Speaking about it I was told that it was a very common occurrence. I see many such turns on the Quiz corner and presume they are legal but doubt if people have a right to make such turns in the middle of any block. Some day there will be a bad accident and one or more may be killed, after which something will be done about it, at least until it is forgotten.

One of the hardest jobs I have tried to do lately is to turn the work I have done for many years, over to another. Guess I will get used to loafing after a while.

It is really funny how thirsty a person can get when he finds out the pop machine has run out of drinks. Even water won't quench that kind of thirst.

Alvin Wells, very efficient janitor at the Quiz office, took his annual vacation last week and said he was going to put in his time taking care of a big garden. I asked the neighbors about it and they said his wife was busy in the garden as usual but that Alvin was bringing home nice strings of blue-gills and catfish nearly every day.

I have no objection to women wearing pants but as a rule I like to see them better when they wear a dress over the pants.

Anyone, if there is such an one, who thinks Vern Stark is lazy, should drive down the best residence street in Ord and see the big garden he has planted on my land just east of my residence.

He tends it with a Stark gas tractor, his own invention and he made it himself and it seems to work as fine as a factory made one that costs several hundred dollars. Vern says his wife is a great hand for garden sass and he has to raise a lot of it.

That little girl of Jake Schmidts is quite a character and we all like her and of course kid her a lot. The other day she was waiting for her father when I went out so she asked me where he was. I told her she had as well go on home to dinner as we had him tied up in there with a rope. She soon had me out on a limb thinking up answers to all her questions as to the whys and wherefores. She went home and told her mother about it and she doesn't seem to put quite as much confidence in the wild tales I tell her lately.

I had to take almost forty names off the Quiz list last week because they forgot to renew and it is one of the hard jobs I have to do, knowing as I do that they all want the paper and that most of them would pay up some time. But the present rule is better for both us and the subscriber. It is no reflection on their credit, it is just our way of handling a part of the business. If they get mad and go without the paper that is hard luck for both of us. If they get mad and buy it at the newsstand that is just their hard luck for they pay $3.20 a year instead of $3.00 and we get paid for the paper. Of course we would very much prefer to have them on the list. We hope the number of "bills" the middle of June will be much smaller and at the rate the renewals have been coming in, we are hopeful.

Memorial Services.
Memorial day services were held at the Arcadia cemetery at 10 a. m. The parade to the cemetery consisted of the Arcadia band, members of the Legion and members of the Auxiliary with wreaths for the soldiers graves. At the cemetery the band played a number followed by prayer led by Rev. Sargent. The address was given by the pastor of the Liberty church, for which the band played the Star Spangled Banner. Members of the Legion gave a gun salute and taps were played.
The Memorial day address at the school house following the services at the cemetery was very well given by Attorney Evans of Broken Bow.

Shower.
On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Carl Easterbrook and little Eileen were guests of honor at a shower at the Methodist church basement. There were about 50 guests present. The program consisted of a vocal solo "Good Night Little Girl, Good Night" by Virginia Mason, two poems read by Marie Veddel and one group game. After the many lovely gifts were opened the hostesses, Hazel Wedel, Pearl Christ, Jean Williams, Dorothy Lutz, Carolyn Dean, Marie Weddel and Esther Mason served refreshments of ice cream and cake.

Milo Woody returned to Arcadia after spending a three year enlistment in the navy.

Rev. Smith Retires.
Rev. E. A. Smith of Sargent, who was the Methodist preacher in Arcadia for several years, is retiring from this ministry the 1st of June. The people of Sargent, all denominations, recently gave him a farewell party which was scheduled to be held at the park but changed because of weather and held at the church. There was such a large crowd they could hardly get in. He was presented with a cash gift of near $1000 donated by the people. Rev. Smith has been in Sargent six years and will reside at Plainville, Nebr. where their daughter lives.

Bridal Shower.
Mrs. Gilbert Gregory and Miss Doris Welty were hostesses at a shower given in honor of Maxine Galloway, bride of the near future. The shower was held in the Methodist church basement and the afternoon was spent playing guessing games. The honored guest received many lovely gifts.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

I see by the papers that the Civil Service commission is objecting to some fellow being appointed to an important government job, claiming that he is not qualified. Since when does a friend of the party in power have to be qualified for the job in order to get the appointment? Must be they really expect him to earn his salary. How silly!

Even with the smaller jobs of rural carrier, post office clerk and similar appointments, there is a clever joker in the law that gives the appointing officer the privilege of appointing any one of the three high men in the examination. If there is no advantage on earth like that of putting out a newspaper. As soon as the current issue is on the press, news begins to make for the coming week. You never know what the nature of that news will be. You just keep up on your toes and try to get all the big items as they come, and, if you have the time, you wonder at some of the more unusual stories. The jungles of Africa have nothing on the daily life of the man in the newspaper game. Right here in our little town the Ord Quiz has published a number of "wild animal" stories in the past few months, more perhaps than an African newspaper would bother to print. Yes, it is a great adventure to write for the newspaper, and we have births and deaths, marriages and anniversaries, sad stories and glad stories, short stories and long stories. The variety is infinite and you share in the greatest adventure in the world without getting out of your chair.

I learned a few days ago of two interesting events concerning former Ordites. The first was the death, at Lincoln, on Friday, May 20, of Frank H. Wheeler for a number of years was telephone manager at Ord, before and during World War I. Many of the older residents and former residents will remember Mr. Wheeler. He had a son, Ernest, who was a pilot. The son died a number of years ago in Kansas.

The other item concerns the fact that the Barstow estate paid an inheritance tax of almost half a million dollars. W. T. Barstow came to North Loup when it was the terminal of the Union Pacific. He worked in the White grocery store, located in a building where the Sheldon Oil company now is. He used to be delivery boy and would take a sack of flour on his back and deliver it to the customer. Meanwhile he was using his spare nickels and dimes to buy grain when it was very cheap. He had a corn crib about a block northeast of the present main part of North Loup. He came to Ord about 1885 and started in the grain business in a small way. He also branched out and got into the lumber and coal business with Frank Koupal under the name of Koupal and Barstow. It sounds like a Horatio Alger story, and so it is, a story in real life.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Weckbach, Mrs. Ella Weckbach and Carl went to Crete Sunday where they attended the Doane college commencement exercises.
—Dr. H. N. Norris, Osteopath, 32-12f

My old friend Sol Brox got into talking about birthdays recently. "It was a cold day in February when I arrived," he said, "and the snow was three feet deep, I remember. How I wanted to get into that snow, but they wouldn't let me. Later when they got the snow cleared I didn't want to get out, and my mother didn't want me, either. She was there at the time, I remember. I don't know what I would have done without her."

Mr. Brox hasn't quite got into the "90" Club yet — the men who are 90 years old — but he will be there before too long, and so long as he retains his rare sense of humor, he should make the grade without difficulty. He reads the latest news every day and takes a great interest in local events. So long as he manages to keep busy, he doesn't have time to worry about the passing of the years. Perhaps that is the secret of longevity, keep the mind busy and maintain an interest in events and have a real sense of humor.

A young man was standing at the edge of the sidewalk, looking up at a splendid ten-story building just across the street. He was smoking a big, black cigar. Along came one of those professional reformers one can find in almost any town or community, the kind that are so busy reforming the world that they have no time to do something useful. Walking up to the young man, he opened his free lecture. "How long have you been smoking, young man," he asked. "Since I am twenty," was the reply. "I am now 36. That makes it 16 years." "How many do you smoke a day?" "Three." "What do they cost?" "A quarter apiece." The reformer did some rapid calculating, then he said, "Young Man, do you realize that, if you had saved the money you spent for cigars and put it out at compound interest, by today you could have owned that ten-story building across the street?" The young man was mildly interested. "Do you own that building?" he asked the reformer. "I do not" was the answer. The young man smiled. "Well, I do," he said and walked away.

The world is full of would-be reformers who have never done anything worth while themselves. To be good is not enough. To abstain from the use of tobacco, liquor or other luxuries is not enough. To be able to control one's temper at all times is not enough. These are virtues, but they are of a negative nature. Is your life a continued round of "do nots" or do you have some "dos" to make your life worth while? Do you have something to show in life besides a lot of quoted platitudes? Do not go out trying to reform the world unless you have done something to help the world. The chances are that when you get started to doing something worthwhile, you will do less preaching and more performing. When you get busy enough you will forget all about the lecturing, and the world will follow more readily the example you set than the precepts you recite. If you want to make the world better, get to work, "Faith Without Work is Dead."

The greatest adventure that can come to a man can be, and usually is, the very next job upon which he embarks. It is all a question of his frame of mind. Learn to look upon your work as a great adventure, an adventure in which the most unexpected things can happen and you will like your job far better. Speaking of adventures, there is no adventure on earth like that of putting out a newspaper. As soon as the current issue is on the press, news begins to make for the coming week. Mary Papiernik, Once of Arcadia, Died Thursday

Born in Poland, She Lived in America for More Than 70 Years.

Mrs. Mary Papiernik was born February 1, 1877 in Poland. Michael and Victoria Michalski and passed away early Thursday afternoon at the St. Francis hospital after a short illness. She had re-entered the hospital only the previous Sunday for more medical treatment. She had been there about two weeks before for examination. She was 72 years old.

When a child of two years, she came with her parents to the United States, first making their home at Pittsburg, Pa., and later homesteading on a farm north of Loup City. She grew to womanhood there and on Jan. 19, 1900 she was united in marriage to Frank Papiernik at Loup City. They farmed near Loup City and Arcadia for many years, with the exception of a year which was spent in Loup City.

In 1944 they moved to St. Paul, where a son was living. A year later they purchased a home in town, just north of the courthouse.

Four children were born to them, Victoria, Eleanor, Margaret and Anthony. Mrs. Papiernik was a cheerful and energetic woman, always helpful to her neighbors when they were ill or in need. Besides her family of four she also reared two girls, Mrs. Ben Kuffel and Mrs. Francis Nowicki, both of Omaha and a boy, Daniel Jonak, St. Paul. She was a faithful member of the Catholic church. This good woman has deeply penetrated into the hearts of all those that knew her and her living example to her Christian principles may well be copied by many. She was preceded in death by her parents, two sisters, Kate and Anna.

Surviving her are the husband, Frank, four children, Mrs. Michael Monceci, of Kewanee, Ill., Mrs. Margaret Sell, Arcadia, Mrs. John Walker, St. Paul, and Anthony Papiernik, Omaha; the three motherless children she raised Mrs. Ben Kuffel and Mrs. Frances Nowicki, Omaha and Daniel Jonak, St. Paul; four brothers, Joe Michalski, Elyria, Frank and Walter, Grand Island, Mike, Loup City; two sisters, Mrs. John Dembowski, St. Paul and Mrs. Max Malek, Decatur, Wash., 15 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren.

Services were held Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock at the St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church with Rev. Father Raymond Dooley celebrant of the requiem high mass assisted by the choir. The attendance was large and burial was in the Catholic cemetery at Loup City. Pallbearers were: Tony Dembowski, LeVerne Ludington, Eldren Michalski, Francis, Lee, Edward Michalski and Leo Michalski. Rosary was said both Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Try the IH Plan of Managed Dairying
With lower dairy prices and rising costs, try the IH Plan of Managed Dairying to increase your dairy profits. Here are three ways to boost your profit margins on your present herd:

- 1 With the McCormick Milker that Says When. SEE when the milking job is done through the new plastic milk hose... HEAR the McCormick timer bell that tells you when the cow quits giving... TIME EACH COW for better managed milking and higher production.
- 2 With the McCormick Separator that Skins 99-99/100% Clean. Rustless stainless steel in McCormick separator discs avoids wear, keeps them smooth and shiny, keeps the bowl in perfect balance for close skimming. All parts touched by milk are made of easy-to-clean stainless steel.
- 3 With the International Milk Cooler that Stores Up Cold. Fast-cooling International milk coolers build up an icebank 3 1/2 inches thick. This stored cold—plus exclusive pneumatic agitation—chills the rated can capacity below 50°F. within one hour, and does this job twice a day.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago — Plain Valley was hit by a hail storm and much damage was done. — Thomas Cushing, died as the result of a car wreck. — Brown McDonald celebrated their 25th jubilee. — R. Clare Clement was the new president of the Valley County Fair. — Will Prien passed away at his home near Midvale at the age of 51. — Premium prizes were being paid for old roosters on "Old Rooster Days". The Moudry tract of 13 acres east of Busnell Park was being talked of as an athletic field. It is now the Ord Athletic field. — Ethel Howard won the regatta scholarship in Burwell. — Mrs. J. H. McLain, resident of county since 1886, passed away at the age of 64 years after a long illness. — Iver Hays and four other people in the national motorcycle race in Des Moines, in which 37 states had entries. He played the cornet. — The barn on the Meese farm, where the Frank Meeses lived, was struck by lightning and burned. — Four hundred children participated in a May festival under the direction of Miss Bessie Rouse. — Mrs. Katie Valasek, 76, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Urban, after a long illness.

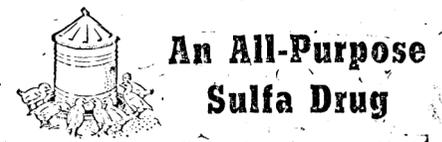

Thirty Years Ago — Rev. R. G. Heltweg, for years pastor of St. John's Lutheran church in Plain Valley, died, and his body was taken to Seward for burial. — Fire of unknown origin destroyed the barn on the John Veleba farm, together with all contents, including several horses. — Joe Barrios sold his car near Elyria to Joe Faimon, the price being $150 per acre. — Great plans were being made for Ord to have a first class baseball team with E. B. Weekes as manager and Joe Daly, Dr. McGinnis and Bill Hock as directors. — William L. Hunt, 71 passed away at Ord. The Hunt family came to Valley county in 1880.

Forty Years Ago — Honor, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Cram of Burwell was kicked in the face by a horse, although no permanent injuries were sustained. — Supervisor Frank Johnson and his brother Walter were taking turns in supervising the building of the new North Loup river bridge at Sumter. — Cecil Loofbourrow was attending Grand Island Business college. — G. G. Beth was a new clerk in the Bachelor store and was proving a capable man at the job. — Mrs. George F. Morris passed away at the home of her son, J. A. Morris, in Ord at the age of 81 years. — Julius Nevsky was suffering from a dislocated shoulder.

Fifty Years Ago — Judge N. H. Parks died at his home in Columbus, Nebr., and the body was brought to Ord for burial. — A. P. Williams' team got away from him and ran down the street with the street sprinkler, colliding with a team driven by C. L. Frey. Nobody was hurt. — R. M. Hayslip sold his property in west Ord and moved to Pawnee City, to make their home near relatives there. — C. C. Jewett lost a cow after a rain and found her two weeks later in a washout, still alive but rather weak. — A hail storm May 25 hit Burwell and the country to the southeast as far as Rosevale, doing a great amount of damage. — The pantomime, "Evangeline," was given before a crowded house, with C. B. Kendall standing in the wings and reciting the poem from start to finish, quite a feat in itself.

Sixty Years Ago — Geo. Gagghen was in Ord getting bids on the Methodist church to be erected at Vinton. — The Ord Maschee Lodge received a handsome beacon to put in front of their hall. It had one difficulty, and that was the question of keeping it lit at night. — J. H. Capron had a drawing of Valley county showing the proposed route of the Oregon Short line through the county, and surveyors for the Sioux City and Ogden were busy staking out their route. Neither came to anything.

St. Louis World fair. The St. Louis World's fair, in 1904, spread over most of the two square miles of Forest park, six miles west from the river front. Some 240 acres were under roof. It tallied 18,700,000 visitors — more than 100,000 a day — from April 30 through November. The fair was born at the fair when a vendor started packing his hokey pokey in curled waffles.

An unusually large crowd of people were present, many of them from away. The cemetery which is well kept was beautiful, with the many decorated graves and monuments and the green grass and trees.

Heuer - Bartz

Lorraine Heuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heuer of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Richard Allen Bartz of North Loup were united in marriage at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, May 29, in a candle light service at the Grace Reformed church in Ft. Wayne.

The Rev. John W. Heiland performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Vera Gingham, organist and Raymond Sink, violinist, presented a fifteen minute musical before the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Raymond Heuer, and wore a gown of white marquisette, featuring a high round neckline, a lace edged scalloped yoke and a full skirt caught up at intervals to show rows of lace ruffles. She wore long gauntlets and a finger tip triple tiered veil of imported illusion held by a tiara of satin and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Lorraine Heuer, sister of the bride served as maid of honor in a gown of mint green, styled with a fitted bodice, plain neckline, full hoop skirt and she carried iris and sweet peas. Ervin Bartz served his brother as bestman.

The groom's mother wore a navy dress and wore a pink corsage. The groom's mother wore a pink wool crepe, with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 200 guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered decorated wedding cake.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Bartz went to Oil City, Pa., where the groom is employed in the engineering department of the Oil Well Supply Co.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Fred Bartz, his brother, Arthur Bartz, his sister, Mrs. George Cox and son, Allen, and Mrs. Maxine Scott attended the wedding from North Loup.

Mrs. Bartz is a graduate of the South Side high school in Ft. Wayne and at the time of her marriage was employed in the accounting department of the Salisbury Axle division of the Dana corporation.

Mr. Bartz graduated from North Loup high school in 1936. He served for two and a half years as crew chief on a cargo plane in the South Pacific. Following his discharge from service, he entered Indiana Tech college, where he majored in mechanical engineering. He received his degree in February, 1949, and accepted a position with the Oil Well Supply Co. of Oil City, Pa.

North Loup Holds Special Services on Memorial Day

Memorial day services held Monday morning at the North Loup cemetery were in charge of the American Legion, Ralph Rich Post, with Dale Stine as master of ceremonies. Alice Meyers gave Memorial Day, 1949. Katharine Severance the Gettysburg address and Joan Burrows "Lest We Forget." Rev. Carl F. Harbour gave the address on "Liberation." Bill Stine, Sargent-at-Arms, placed the wreath on the monument for the Unknown soldier. The firing squad led by Mervyn VanHorn fired the salute and George Cox played taps. An unusually large crowd of people were present, many of them from away. The cemetery which is well kept was beautiful, with the many decorated graves and monuments and the green grass and trees.

Heuer - Bartz

Lorraine Heuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heuer of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Richard Allen Bartz of North Loup were united in marriage at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, May 29, in a candle light service at the Grace Reformed church in Ft. Wayne.

The Rev. John W. Heiland performed the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Vera Gingham, organist and Raymond Sink, violinist, presented a fifteen minute musical before the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Raymond Heuer, and wore a gown of white marquisette, featuring a high round neckline, a lace edged scalloped yoke and a full skirt caught up at intervals to show rows of lace ruffles. She wore long gauntlets and a finger tip triple tiered veil of imported illusion held by a tiara of satin and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Lorraine Heuer, sister of the bride served as maid of honor in a gown of mint green, styled with a fitted bodice, plain neckline, full hoop skirt and she carried iris and sweet peas. Ervin Bartz served his brother as bestman.

The groom's mother wore a navy dress and wore a pink corsage. The groom's mother wore a pink wool crepe, with white accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 200 guests. The bride's table was centered with a three tiered decorated wedding cake.

Progress Made on Buildings Under Construction

Standard Oil Nearly Completed; Thomsen Hall Walls About Up.

In spite of adverse weather conditions which hindered the start of work early in the spring and rains which have slowed down operations since that time, several building projects are developing rapidly. Three of them in the block east of the public square.

The addition to the Standard Oil company's building is very near done, and Frank Kapustka is hoping to be able to open the addition for business within the next week or so. This addition is built to the east of the glazed tile station, with the large door opening to the south.

In this part is the hydraulic lift, and cars will be washed, greased and polished in this room, which has large windows for the admission of light. The front is of brick and presents a very neat appearance. Some concrete needs still to be run. A triangular space will be left on the corner of the lot, which Frank plans to landscape next year.

The Thompson building, which will house a pool hall on the east and a beer parlor on the west, has most of the walls completed under the efficient workmanship of Joe Rott, sr., and Joe Rott, jr., the masons from St. Paul, Neb., who are doing the laying of the blocks. The front of the west wall is ready built, and presents a fine appearance.

There will be a northwest corner entrance to the beer parlor and a door in the front for the pool hall. The walls on the east and south are nearly completed, or were Saturday, while the west wall is under way on the west wall. The false floor is laid, and work should begin on the roof this week.

The basement of the heating plant of the addition to the C. A. Anderson Motor company is completed, and the footings for the building extending to the corner of the lot were being put in the first of the week. This will extend north the same width as the present building, with a room erected over the heating plant basement and an arway behind.

As soon as Rott and Son get through with the work on the Thompson building they will start laying brick on the new addition to the Municipal Light plant building. They are the men who laid the new part of the building two years ago.

Mr. Rott has done a lot of work in Ord, particularly on the Post Office and the Safeway buildings, and he expects to be busy in Ord for some time to come. City Manager Allen is ready and waiting for the brick laying to start on the city plant, and hopes to get the building done as quickly as possible.

Charles Mickelwaits Are Visitors in Ord

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mickelwaits of Costa Mesa, Calif., arrived in Ord Tuesday afternoon of last week and spent several days visiting relatives and friends in and around Ord. Mrs. Mickelwaits will be remembered as the former Gertrude Gifford.

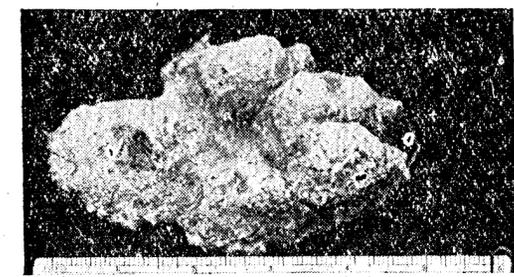

The Mickelwaits left Ord in 1920, and have been living in California since then. Charles' health has not been good for some time, as he is afflicted with asthma, and for this reason is not able to do any work. Charles was born and reared on a farm four miles southwest of Ord, and his wife on a farm in Madien Valley.

Anybody Here Know Frank Kubitska?

Frank Kapustka of Standard Oil says people have quite a time spelling his name, some spelling it Kapustka and others Kapuska, one of which is correct. The other day Frank got a card from a salesman, telling when he would call. It was addressed to Frank Kubitska and City Carrier John Lemmon had no difficulty figuring out where it went. Frank is good natured and doesn't have any spells over the way people spell his name.

Next Tuesday, June 14, Official Day Display the Flag

Most Important of All Days on Which Banner Should Be Displayed.

A plea is being made by Mrs. Fay Good, president of Fidelity unit of the American Legion Auxiliary to all citizens to display the flag next Tuesday, official Flag Day.

Unlike Memorial Day, at which time the flag was flown at half mast until noon, the flag goes to the top of the mast on the morning of Flag Day, and remains there until it is taken down at sunset.

The flag was adopted by action of the Continental Congress, June 14, 1777, 172 years ago. It was not the flag as we know it today, as it had only thirteen stars, which were placed in a circle on the field of blue.

With the addition of new states, the number of stars increased, and two new stripes were added for the first two new states. These were later abandoned and the original number of thirteen again used.

The number of stars increased until the present number, 48 became the total with the admission of the last state in 1912. If as seems probable, Alaska and Hawaii are admitted, the ultimate of fifty will have been achieved.

Ord City Council Makes Estimate of Year's Expenses

Figures for Last Year Used for Computing All the Different Funds

At a session of the Ord city council held at the city hall Friday evening, June 6, it was voted to make the estimate of expenses for the coming year the same as that for the past year. The amounts in the estimate in the several funds is as follows:

In view of the fact that the property valuation was raised the past year, keeping the estimate at last year's figure may mean a lowering of the assessment levy for the coming year.

Ord Swimming Pool Opens Officially Sunday, June 5

Cool Weather, Other Attractions Reduce Opening Day Crowd

Sunday was opening day at the Ord Municipal swimming pool, and swimming was free, but the cool weather, combined with a number of other attractions, cut down the number of persons in attendance. Manager Keith Kovanda estimates the opening crowd at about fifty.

Monday was a little better, with clearing skies and higher temperature, and there were about 80 swimmers present during the day. Tuesday the rain called a complete halt to swimming operations, and Wednesday promised to be rather cool for bathing.

To date 25 persons have purchased season passes. Season passes for non-residents are now on sale at the Kull Drug store in Burwell, and will soon be on sale in Arcadia and North Loup. Because of the cool weather there has been no evening swimming to date.

The filters are now in operation, which will purify the water, something that could not be done last summer. This means that the water in the pool will not need to be changed more than about twice during the season.

By next week the management hopes to have coke available to drink, but it will not be permitted in the swimming area. In August there will be a city swim championships held and trophies will be awarded. Mr. Kovanda, Mrs. Joyce Grove and Bob Moore, junior life guard, will all act in the capacity of life guards.

Mrs. Grove, Red Cross Water Safety instructor, is responsible for the following information: Registration for Red Cross swimming instruction will be Friday morning, June 10, from 8 to 11, at the pool. Because of pool regulations no children under 8 years of age will be permitted to attend classes. An evening class for adults will be given three evenings a week from 6:15 to 7.

Those adults wishing instruction will register Friday evening at the pool at 7. There will be no admission charge for those taking swimming instruction. Any changes in schedules will be announced when and if they occur.

C. L. Wells Here in Interests of Crystal Sugar Co.

Several Raising Beets in Burwell Area. More Is Planned for 1950.

C. L. Wells, agriculturalist representing the American Crystal Sugar company of Grand Island was in Ord Saturday. He had been in the Burwell area looking after the beet raising there, and was advising the farmers having acreage on proper handling of the crop.

More than one hundred acres are being planted to sugar beets this year, with the following persons raising them: Charles Meyer, Will Nelson, Owen Smith, Wesley Westover, Brownell Farms, Floyd Rowe and Smith & Santon on the big Smith ranch south of Burwell.

While none of these places have a very large acreage this year, plans are going forward to increasing the acreage for next year to at least 400 acres. Mr. Wells' job is to look after the labor and see that everything is done right for the best production possible.

Mr. Wells, who is a son of A. B. Wells, Grand Island furniture dealer who was once employed in Ord by Bailey and Detweiler, is a former schoolmate of John LaCorna, and visited him while in Ord. His territory is at Burwell and the Platte valley from Shelton east, also a newly opened acreage at Aurora.

Not Restricted. The government is not restricting beet acreage at the present time, and, if the present idea of restricting corn acreage is carried out, Mr. Wells believes there will be no beet restrictions for some time. He plans to be back in this area later and will be glad to talk with any persons interested in places.

Ralph Zulkoski Tavern Robbed

The tavern belonging to Ralph Zulkoski at Elyria was robbed Friday night, among the items taken a large jar full of pennies, an odd dime that had been left in the cash register, 7 dollars in bills that had been laid away, cigarettes, candy and a case of beer.

Acting on a tip given them, the authorities are investigating the case. To date no charges have been filed, but there will be in a few days, as soon as County Attorney Ralph W. Norman, who is away, gets back to Ord.

Catholics Have Fine Attendance at Dedication

Wake Up Ord! Is Slogan Adopted by Hospital Group

Sunday was an ideal June day, a striking contrast to the storms which last November delayed the dedication of the monument in the Ord Catholic cemetery. Many were present for the service, which took place at 2 p. m. before the monument in the cemetery.

Many Ord people were in attendance and in addition, quite a number from Burwell, Elyria and Genarum. The monument was decorated with peonies and roses in standing vases. Ceremonies opened with the blessing on the cross and the statues.

Fr. Thomas Siudowski spoke a few words in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kokes, in memory of whom the statue was erected. This was followed by prayer for all the dead now lying in the cemetery.

Summer vacation religion school will begin next Monday, June 13, and will last for three weeks. It is being held at the home of the Sisters who will be sent to Ord, and whose names will be announced next week.

Motorcycle Group Put on Fine Show in Ord Sunday

Many Competed for Trophies Offered by Ord Merchants.

There was plenty of excitement and noise in Ord Saturday evening and Sunday when about fifty motorcycle enthusiasts arrived to put on a show under the auspices of the Valley County Fair association and the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

They were members of the Tri-Motorcycle club, consisting of members from the White Spots of Grand Island, the Modern Knights of York and the Lightning club of Lincoln.

According to the records there were about 500 paid admissions, which, considering that 243 tickets were sold for the burwell baseball game which was going on at the Ord athletic park at the same time, is considered a fine showing.

There were races for each size of motorcycle, trick riding, side car races, the burwell baseball game and some fine exhibition riding, all of which was much appreciated by the crowd.

Outstanding riders were Arnold Granke of the White Spots and Don Yates of York. A young lady from York won most of the women's events. The group paraded around the square Saturday evening, and the program at the Valley County fair grounds began at 1:30.

Much interest was shown as the several events were run off, and there were no accidents until after the show was over in the evening. Then a Burwell motorcyclist, making a practice spin around the track and standing on the seat of his machine, ran into a car and trailer belonging to a Lincoln man with considerable damage to all concerned.

Hay Harvest Slow, Corn Not All in, Small Grain Fine

Cutworms Do Damage in Many Corn Fields Some Farms Replant.

Through information given by the Triple-A office, and the County Agent's office, as well as personal observation, it is learned that, as of Monday, corn was not nearly all in in Valley county. In fact, two large operators were just newly started.

At that, they are better off than some farmers who planted early. In some fields, particularly those formerly in grain or sweet clover, the cutworms have been having a field day. In spots the corn was nearly all cut off and the fields must be replanted.

Cutworm Damage. Paul Owens of the Triple-A office is one of the victims. He says he will have to replant about 35 acres. His field lies fairly high, but was in sweet clover last year, which is the reason he assigns for the prevalence of the pests. Wire worms are also doing damage in places.

As a rule, the most worm damage is found in low ground, especially in the river valleys. It is estimated that about 60% of Valley county corn is being listed and 40% checked or drilled. However, due to improved methods of cultivation, not as much is checked as in former years. The cutworms seem to be operating more in the planted or drilled fields. Quite a lot of cultivating of the early planted corn is being done. The go-devil is being (Continued on page 2)

Finance Committee of Cooperative Hospital Gives Facts on Plan.

Wake Up Ord! Is Slogan Adopted by Hospital Group

The finance committee of the Ord Cooperative Hospital association has adopted for its slogan this week a phrase which they hope to make a reality. "Wake Up, Ord." This will be the watchword of the committee until the required amount of money is raised.

The summary of reports handed in by the various solicitors shows that a total of $24,000 has been raised to date in their drive to raise $60,000 with which to purchase and operate the Miller hospital as a cooperative enterprise.

Too many people are neglecting the solicitors with a spirit of indifference, Chairman Glen Auble reports. People who could well afford to subscribe for two to five shares are getting by with a $100 share, and people who could well afford to take a 100 share are turning the solicitors away with a half-hearted promise that they may buy later on. Nearly every family should have at least one share.

Chairman Auble also warns that the public must realize that the board of directors WILL NOT attempt to purchase and operate this hospital without a minimum of $45,000 of the proposed $60,000 being raised.

Why $60,000? Why $60,000 is needed is a question that is being asked many of the solicitors. Why not get the $25,000 to buy the building and then start running it as it has been done in the past. This question is answered briefly as follows:

The V.F.W. award was the second such honor to come to the local post within a month. Two weeks ago, the local V.F.W. and American Legion shared jointly in the state "Good Neighbor" award of the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Winning of the state award automatically qualifies the local post for competition in the V.F.W. national community service contest, in which 151 posts will be entered. The national awards will be announced in August, following the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Miami, Fla.

Henry Jensen Chosen Deputy State Sup't.

Henry Jensen, superintendent of Scotia Consolidated school the past year, has decided not to teach next year, for the very good reason that he has been appointed deputy state superintendent of public instruction.

Realizing that it was a fine opportunity for Mr. Jensen, the Scotia school board immediately released him from a two-year contract signed early last spring. A native of Colorado and graduate of Colorado State college, he had previously taught at McCool Junction and Max, both in Nebraska.

Wilson in Charge of Treasurer's Office

Since June 1, Lloyd Wilson, assistant county treasurer, has been in charge of the Valley county treasurer's office. He is being assisted by Richard Satterfield, recently returned from Lincoln. George Satterfield is looking over the job offered him at the Farmers Bank in Sargent, and, if the job suits him, he plans to resign and devote his time to the banking business.

Ord Veterans of Foreign Wars to Get Community Service Award

Shares State Honors with Posts in Fairbury and Alliance.

On the eve of the state convention of the Nebraska department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to be held at Omaha June 12-15, three V.F.W. Posts in the state were named to receive recognition for community service, Ord, Alliance and Fairbury.

The announcement was made Wednesday by Harold Gillett, Lincoln, chairman of the state V.F.W. community service committee. Special plaques will be presented to representatives of the three posts at a special ceremony during the convention.

Wilmer L. Craig Born in Ord 49 Years Ago, Dies

Lived in Ord 26 Years, Married Martha; Albers; Son in Ord.

Wilmer L. Craig, son of Lyle Craig and Lottie Mason Craig, was born in Ord 49 years ago, and made his home in Ord until he was 26 years of age. For several years of that time he was employed by George Work in his machine shop.

He was married to Martha Albers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Albers, in 1921. To this union two sons were born, Ralph, who is employed by the Ord Auto Sales and Lester, of Gothenburg. From Ord the family moved to Clark, where Mr. Craig had a machine shop of his own for several years. From there he moved to Central City, where he also ran a machine shop. His final move was to Hermiston, Ore., where he owned his own shop. They moved there about four years ago.

He departed this life Thursday, May 26, in a hospital at Pendleton, Ore., whence he had been taken following an explosion in his shop. The explosion was caused by a state electricity setting off a asphalt tanker. The driver of the tanker was killed instantly. Mr. Craig died about three hours later.

The accident happened Thursday morning and his son, Ralph, received word at noon that day. Ralph, his brother Lester, their grandfather, Lyle Craig and a brother of Lyle's, Elwyn Craig, of Clark, Neb., all left for Hermiston to attend the funeral, which was held Monday, May 30.

— Mr. and Mrs. John Meese and family were Sunday breakfast guests of Mr. and Mrs. Al Abelson.

— Mrs. G. G. Hanson of Stanton, sister of Mrs. F. L. Blessing came Wednesday to help with the preparation of the anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Helm. She left Monday.

Mira Valley E.U.B. Church to Dedicate Parsonage

Printed this week is a picture of the new parsonage of the Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren church, eight miles south of Ord, which will be appropriately dedicated Sunday, June 12, at 3:00 p. m. The Rev. C. H. Stauffer, D. D., L. L. D., Bishop of the Southwestern Area of the Evangelical United Brethren church, will preside at the dedication service. He will also speak at the morning and evening worship services, at 11:00 and 8:00 o'clock respectively. His morning address will be on the theme, "The Message of the Church," and the evening address is entitled, "Why I Am a Christian."

The above parsonage, modern in every respect, was built at a cost of $13,315, including donated lumber from the former Halmeyer house was used considerably in the construction. L. R. Sheldon and Sons of North Loup were contractors. Members of the building committee were as follows: Archie Geweke, chairman, Mrs. Wm. Roth, Edwin Schudel, Will Koelling, Reuben Cook, and the pastor, Rev. W. G. Studer.

On the main floor are a dining room-living room combination, the pastor's study, kitchen (which is completely furnished by the church), two bedrooms and bath. There are also two bedrooms in the basement in addition to a large game room, laundry, fruit room and half bath. The house is completely insulated and is heated with a gas furnace. The house is one of the many houses in Mira Valley now using electricity through the R.E.A.

Leaves to Attend Annual Girls State

Miss Genevieve Boyce, selected to represent Ord at Girls' State, left Sunday for Lincoln where the miniature state operated by girls will be in session for the coming week. Genevieve is being sponsored by Fidelity Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary and Business and Professional Women's Club. She was selected from the girls of last semester's junior class on a basis of character and leadership.

At Lincoln, Genevieve will join 237 other girls, selected on a like basis from high schools throughout the state, in forming and operating a state government of their own. They will organize political parties, hold conventions and campaigns, elect state officers, and carry out the legislative, executive and judicial functions of a state government.

Girls' States will be held in every state under Legion Auxiliary sponsorship this summer, giving citizenship training to an estimated 10,000 girls. Two girls will be selected from each Girls' State to attend Girls' Nation, to be held by the Auxiliary in Washington, D. C. in August, for the study and practice of national government.

Mira Valley Church Plans Dedication of New Parsonage

Fine Building Credit to Congregation and to Pastor, W. Studer.

The house is one of the many houses in Mira Valley now using electricity through the R.E.A.

Around the house is an attractive ornamental fence which was purchased by the children of the church with their God's Acre money. The young people purchased the ornamental fence and shade trees with some of their God's Acre money. The Mira Valley church formerly had its parsonage in North Loup. It was then the ideal location became Mira Valley, North Loup and Scotia (Fish Creek) were served by one minister. As the North Loup church has been disbanded for many years and Fish Creek has its own minister, Mira Valley is the ideal location for the minister today.

The Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren church has a membership of 150 members, is in an established, stable community and a fine community spirit prevails. The public is cordially invited to all services of the day and the open house which follows the dedication service.

H. Timmerman, Early Resident, Taken by Death

Lived on Springdale Farm 70 Years; Well Known in Community.

Herman Timmerman was born at Greenwich, N. Y., August 6, 1874, and passed from this life May 31, 1949. Mr. Timmerman suffered many years of ill health.

They belonged to the early pioneers and the family knew and experienced all the hardships of those early days. Their first home was a "soddy." The first school he attended was also a "soddy" and taught by his aunt, Mrs. Levi Timmerman. Here he received his early education, later he attended Fremont Normal, taking a business course.

He decided to take up farming and stock raising as his life work, and in 1897 he bought the farm where his son Kenneth now lives.

He was united in marriage in 1898 to Miss Maude L. Long. To this union were born three children, Perry of Milwaukee, Wis., Dorothy of Kansas City, Mo., and Kenneth, who lives on the home place. After the death of his wife in 1930 he purchased the old home place, his first home in Nebraska. This has been his home ever since.

He served as school director for many years, as president of the Telephone Association for nine years, and in the last 12 years was township assessor.

He was always a good and dutiful son, doing all he could for his aged parents in their declining years, also caring for his wife's aged mother the last 28 months of her life. He was always generous and kind, doing what he could to help his children and grandchildren. He was devoted to his wife and children, of a cheerful disposition and bore his afflictions bravely.

He was a member of the Methodist church, joining when a young man, and he lived a good life. He loved his home, he loved life and the great outdoors and beautiful flowers; he loved to fish. He left to mourn his departure his wife, Maude; two sons, Perry and Kenneth; one daughter, Dorothy; one brother, Clayton, of Bell, California; one sister Edith Cronk of Ord; four grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Several nieces and nephews and a host of friends. His parents, one sister, Linnie Cronk, one brother Ernest, preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Ord Methodist church. Rev. L. V. Hassel officiating. Bill Nelson sang three favorite hymns, accompanied by Mrs. Orrin Kellison. Mrs. Harvey Thomsen and Mrs. Emil Barta had charge of the flowers at the cemetery. The pall bearers were Anton Danzels, Harvey Thomsen, Art Mott, Bud Covert, Herman Stowell and Emil Barta. Interment was in the Ord cemetery. Hastings-Pearson mortuary had charge of arrangement.

Wild Animals Again Disturb Citizens

A few nights ago dogs at Harry Bresley's home made a terrific disturbance, coming up on the porch and howling like mad. The next morning Harry found ample proof that some huge animal had been about, as there were a large number of tracks in evidence. They measured 4 1/2 inches wide and 4 1/2 inches long. Harry has some of them on a board and put away in the cellar for anybody who wants to see them.

About the same time Charley Kriewald was driving toward Grand Island when he saw a young lynx, about as large as a small cat, and captured it alive, after quite a battle. He said the little fellow put up quite a fight.

But all this cannot compare with the feat of Matt Kilma, who was visiting near Neligh last week, saw a fish in the contest as it was outside the Quiz area.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers

Continued service to war veterans and their families, and to the community and country, will be the objectives of the Ord Fidelity Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Joe Gregory, Sr., newly elected Unit President, announced as she was installed in office Tuesday. She pledged the unit's active support to the entire service and patriotic program of the American Legion.

New auxiliary officers were installed in ceremonies at the Legion hall with Mrs. Frank Fafetta, as installing officer. Taking office with Mrs. Joe Gregory, Sr. were Mrs. C. C. Dale, first vice-president, Mrs. Herman Behrends, second vice-president, Mrs. John Wozab, secretary, Mrs. Ross Allen, treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Lincoln, Chaplain, Mrs. Alfred Hill and Mrs. Arthur Jefferies, Sergeant at Arms, and Mrs. Robert Hall, historian.

During the business meeting the auxiliary voted to buy one share of stock in the Ord Cooperative hospital. Delegates to the State Convention of the American Legion Auxiliary which is to be held July 13, 19 and 20 were elected. They are Mrs. Clark Weckbach, Mrs. Joe Gregory, Sr., Mrs. Ross Allen, Mrs. John Wozab, Mrs. Loren Good, Mrs. W. E. Lincoln, Mrs. C. C. Dale and Mrs. Ella Weckbach. Their alternates are Mrs. Chas. W. Caselton, Mrs. Frank Fafetta, Mrs. Eva Hollander, Mrs. Robert Hall, Miss Katherine Helzer, Mrs. Joe Ruzicka, Mrs. Cecil Clark and Mrs. Herman Behrends.

Hay Harvest Slow, Corn Not All in, Small Grain Fine

used in the listed corn, and the tractor cultivator in the drilled or checked corn. The rotary hoe and spike tooth harrow are also being used.

Alfalfa Crop
Some alfalfa is being harvested, but most of it has not been cut as yet. What was cut last week was not stacked or baled promptly, due to the cool weather and damp, dewy nights. A few fields stood for a week just as the hay was cut.

The hay crop is unusually heavy, which makes it harder to handle. Most effective is the side delivery rake, which rolls the hay up loosely and gives it a better chance to dry. Several outfits are operating in the county, baling hay from the windrow, but the cost of this method is rather high. Weather has been ideal for gardens, which bid fair to be the best in many years. The strawberry crop in the North Loup area is being harvested, and the rush will continue perhaps three weeks. There has been neither hail nor washing rains in Valley county to date, for which the farmers are truly thankful.

Grain Looks Fine
Winter wheat is looking exceptionally fine in some fields, but is rather thin in others, and in a few cases the ground has been put into some other crop. Generally it is much improved over its appearance a few weeks ago, and should make a better crop than was estimated.

All spring grains and spring sowed alfalfa are doing well, because of the fine growing weather and occasional showers. That helped keep them moist during sprouting and starting time. Unless something unforeseen occurs, spring grains should produce better than the average crop.

One of the outstanding crops, if it can be considered a crop, is the seed crop of blue grass in every spot where blue grass is growing. Blue grass seed has been very high for some years and difficult at times to obtain. It would be a good idea to harvest as much of it as possible.

Well Known Woman Buried at Burwell Tuesday at 2 P. M.

First of Large Family of Brothers & Sisters to Be Called by Death.

Lyda Martha Horner was born in Clay county, Neb., the daughter of William and Amelia Horner, on July 9, 1891. She passed away at Burwell, June 4, 1949, at the age of 57 years, 10 months and 25 days.

In girlhood she moved with the family to Garfield county. Jan. 20, 1920, she was married to Stanley O. Mitchell of Burwell, and in Burwell she made her home throughout her married life. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides a host of friends, her husband, her mother, William Horner of Clarinda, Iowa, her six sisters and five brothers, all of whom, except her brother Clarence, ill in California, were able to be present in Burwell for her last rites.

Her father preceded her in death six years ago. He was the first of his family of parents and twelve children to break the family circle. Lyda Horner became a member of the Christian church at the age of nine in Greeley, Neb., and was faithful until she passed away. She was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p. m. from the Burwell Christian church. Rev. C. Willis Schnelle of Norfolk officiating, with Rev. F. L. Sobotka of Burwell assisting. A male quartet sang two hymns. The pallbearers were Roy Horner, Spencer Horner, Don Horner, Ernest Horner, Carl Weber and Glenn Egloff. Interment was in the Burwell cemetery.

Three Injured in Tractor Accidents

The rush of work on the farm may be blamed for three tractor accidents that occurred in central Nebraska in the past week. Luckily there were no fatalities from this source.

Ed Cedcaft of Chambers was pinned beneath the seat of his tractor when it overturned in the mud on his farm. Two neighbors got him out and took him to a hospital, where his condition is reported as good, although he had several broken ribs and other injuries.

Edwin Euse of Fullerton was injured when his tractor overturned while going through a ditch. He was pinned beneath the mower behind the tractor. He was taken to an Osceola hospital for care.

Fred Rustler of Aurora suffered a fractured pelvic bone when he slipped and fell under the wheels of a large tractor. He was rushed to an Aurora hospital, where his condition is reported as fair.

Agent Dale Warns Against the Spring Grain Aphid

The spring grain aphid, commonly known as the green bug, has made its appearance in Valley county. Steve Papiernik reported Monday to the county agent's office that both oats and barley were being damaged on his farm east of Elyria.

The insect is a green plant louse about one sixteenth of an inch long, and the effects of its feeding result in a yellowish stunted appearance of the small grain plants, and the drying up and dropping of some of the leaves.

Prof. O. S. Bare of the University of Nebraska Entomology Department, says that only one means of control is known, dusting with ten pounds per acre of benzene hexachloride 3 per cent gamma isomer. The treatment, which costs about $5.00 per acre is probably too expensive for practical use. Usually the insect is not present in Nebraska in large enough numbers to do much damage, but this spring it is being found over a large area in the state.

According to County Agent Dale the aphid is probably responsible for the unhealthy appearance of many other fields in this county. He says that in his opinion winter wheat is too far along to be greatly damaged by the aphid. A period of hot dry weather usually checks the activity of this insect, but yields may be cut considerably in fields that are heavily infested.

Nebraska Highway Needs Shown in Recent Engineering Appraisal

On the whole, the program for the state highways has been stepped up in order to meet problems brought about by postponement of construction and maintenance through the years of war. Broken pavement is being replaced and light bituminous surfaces are being rebuilt. Some of this work can be considered in the nature of permanent improvement, while in other cases it is merely temporary repair which will have to be replaced before too many months elapse. Short patches on bituminous mat may be considered as temporary, because of the fact that heavy traffic may break the old surface at either end of both ends of the new and further repairs will then have to be made.

Faced with the necessity of doing something in a hurry to make the damaged highways usable, some of this work is being done in a hurry. It may last a few months or a year or two, but will probably have to be replaced in time. This temporary repair work must not be compared with that of a more permanent nature, where time is not the important factor and where all the formalities of good road building can be complied with. Work done as it should be done will last for years, and requires little or no work by the maintenance crew.

A striking contrast in hard surfaced roads may be drawn between the highway from Ord to North Loup and the highway from Ord to Burwell. The former is now nearly ten years old. It was built under the plans in use at that time, which have been greatly improved since. It has withstood a heavy amount of traffic for nearly a full decade in summer and winter, in dry weather and in wet. This road is pretty well to the end of the trail, so far as roads go. It has been patched in dozens of places, and is still in usable condition, though rather too bumpy for fast travel. It has seen its day and has largely served its purpose. Before too long it will have to be replaced with more modern surfacing.

On the other hand, the Ord Burwell stretch highway was built a couple of years ago, and the latest engineering ideas of that date were used in its construction. The material was run through a machine right on the road and mixed with just the right amount of bitumen to produce the best surface. This material was carefully spread over the width of the road, and was kept of a safe thickness all the way to the edges. The result of this superior method is showing itself in the condition of the highway after nearly two years of use. To date there are no breaks in the surface anywhere, especially at the edges where the earlier surfaces began to break up first. This road, which cost more per mile, will give enough more years use to offset any additional amount it may have cost to build.

What is true here is true in other localities. The state highway department has long known that it pays to build only the best, but because of lack of funds, it has been necessary at times to build more cheaply. As a rule it has been the policy to build lighter highway surfaces on less used highways, a policy of plain common sense. However, it sometimes happens that heavy traffic develops over highways where the traffic was once much lighter. It is inevitable that a road not built to withstand the strain of extra heavy traffic will deteriorate more rapidly than one built to meet heavy traffic requirements.

Ironically, the better the roads are built, the better the roads are built, the more severe is the strain put on them by traffic. The average speed of vehicles over a well built thoroughfare may average as much as ten miles per hour faster than over some of the more poorly built roads. This faster speed throws a much heavier strain on the surface of the road. The average speed of vehicles over a well built thoroughfare may average as much as ten miles per hour faster than over some of the more poorly built roads. This faster speed throws a much heavier strain on the surface of the road. Garden Pests Are Discussed by Dale

The strawberry season will soon be here, and with it always come questions about the large white fluffy balls which appear among the plants in many strawberry beds. These growths seem to appear overnight, says C. C. Dale, County Agent, and cause gardeners to become alarmed. A slime mold fungus which lies harmlessly in the soil is the cause. During wet periods it climbs the strawberry stems and produces by fermenting millions of spores in a white, frothy material. Fortunately, no damage is done, except occasional smothering of the plants, and the covering of some berries with the white slime. It does cause the plants to become unsightly. Removing the balls by hand or dusting the area with dusting sulphur will give satisfactory control. Cucumbers and squash are hard to raise because of the damage done by striped cucumber beetles. The insect uses two methods to attack these plants. The adults not only feed on the plants, which is the form of damage commonly recognized by the gardener, but they also damage the plants in another way which is not usually blamed on them. Soon after the plants come up the adult beetles, which have lived over the winter, lay their eggs at the base of the young plants. When the eggs hatch the larvae chew the underground parts of the plant and cause yellowing, wilting and often the death of the plant.

To control these pests the Entomology Department of the college of agriculture recommends the early application of rotenone or cryolite dust. Dusting must be done as soon as the little plants break ground and should be continued every week for eight weeks. Caution—Do not use DDT on cucumbers, squash, or melons. DDT has a stunting effect on these plants.

Ag. Secretary to Be in Des Moines

Secretary of Agriculture Charles P. Brannon will be in Des Moines, Ia., Monday, June 13, and will speak on the Brannon plan. A number of local farmers, including members of the Triple-A committee, are making plans to attend the meeting.

C. L. Wells Here in Interests of Crystal Sugar Co.

Several Raising Beets in Burwell Area. More Is Planned for 1950

(Continued from front page) sugar beets at that time. Meanwhile interested farmers may get in touch with the company at Grand Island. The beet business has been largely mechanized, which solves much of the labor problem. Topping is done mechanically, but thinning and hauling are still difficult jobs. Capacity increased. Cross-cultivation is being tried for thinning the beets, and is meeting with some success. The company is trying to get rid of the labor problem by getting production entirely mechanized. If this can be done there will be no difficulty in getting all the beet acreage raised they can accommodate.

In preparation for increased future capacity that will be needed when more acreage is raised, the company has completely electrified the mill, installed new turbines and other new ideas. Among local farmers who will probably be interested in beets Mr. Wells mentioned Ed Christensen, Archie Geeweke and Raymond Pockock, and W. O. Zangger and Ben Sintel from the North Loup area.

This faster speed throws a much heavier strain on the surface of the road.

Other counties do only a small amount of work on their roads, and their work consists largely of emergency repairs to bridges or filling up holes that have developed in the roadways, also the repair of washouts, something that cannot be planned for in advance. The dragging of gravel roads is one of the most important operations in the maintenance of county roads. In this feature, also, a great variation can be found in the way the work is done in different counties.

Save Straw Behind the Combine with POWER-DRIVEN TRACTOR RAKE

Engineered for continuous operation at higher field speeds—anti-friction bearings throughout. Two-speed power-operated reel. Four-bar design gives clean raking at lower reel speeds. Angle of teeth can be controlled to lift straw out of stubble, handle it quickly, yet gently. Big capacity, for raking large double wind rows ahead of the Roto-Baler.

Here is a tractor rake that can stand the punishment of faster raking on large acreage or handle hay crops quickly and gently.

City Treasurer's report read. Electric Funds read. Both reports were accepted by the council. Motion made and seconded. Carried.

The report from the City Airport was then read. Motion made to accept the report and the check received from Carson Air Service. Seconded. Carried.

The question of the estimate for the year was then under discussion. The estimate for last year was read by the Mayor as follows:

"NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the following estimate be and the same hereby is made the official estimate for the ensuing year of 1948:

|-------------------|-------------|
| Water Fund | $ 1,000.00 |

| Total Estimated | $55,700.00 |

The motion was made to approve using the same figures for the ensuing year. Seconded. Carried.

Mr. George Allen brought in the Special Auditor's report. There was a discussion of delinquent accounts. It was determined to study the reports individually and to be carried over to next meeting.

The matter of changing the amount of the rent on the Cemetery property leased by Frank Norman was then brought up. Motion was made to renew the lease from this date to March 31, 1950 with the exception that the rent be corrected to read $30.00 per month with stipulations as per the new lease to be drawn up by the City Attorney. Seconded. Carried.

The matter of Mrs. Glover wanting to build a cesspool was then brought up. According to a city ordinance this request had to be refused by the council due to the location of the city sewer.

It has then brought before the Council that the Sinclair Buildings cannot be purchased. Likewise, the Luke Weekes Building.

The matter of Vincent Vodehnal wanting the creek deepened by his property was referred to the Street and Alley Committee.

Walter Stromer Wins Honors at Hastings
 Considering character, citizenship and outstanding contributions to campus life, a student and faculty committee of Hastings college each year gives the Bronco award, the highest given by the college. It is a notable fact that the honor this year went to Walter Stromer, a veteran who lost his sight in the Battle of the Bulge.
 Mr. Stromer is a native Nebraskan, claiming Hastings as his home. He has been a student of the college since the spring of 1945 and has participated in numerous campus activities, including YMCA, forensics and the Students' Association. He is a splendid speaker and much in demand for talks before clubs and other organizations.

Card of Thanks —

Thanks everybody for the friendship and business of the past many years. It has been a pleasure to serve you.
 R. L. "Rube" Lincoln

Card of Thanks —

It is impossible to see and thank each one of you personally. I want the (189) people who remembered me with cards, letters, flowers and gifts while I was in the hospital to know that I am truly thankful.
 Mrs. Ruth Owens.

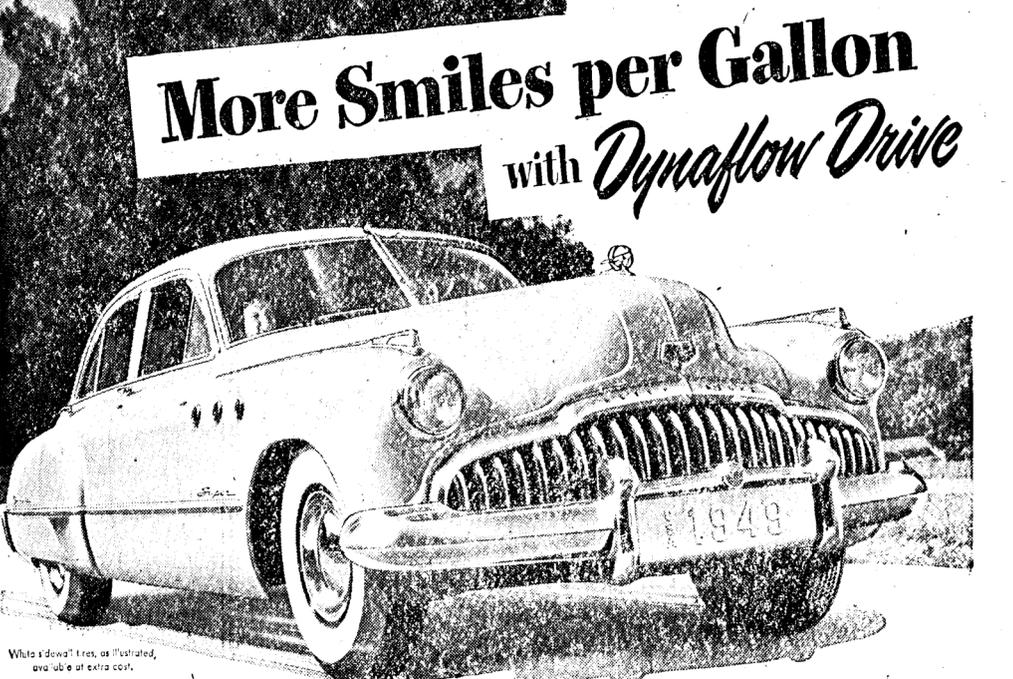

Card of Thanks —

I would like to take this means to show my appreciation to those who remembered me with the many cards, flowers and gifts during my recent stay in the Ord Clinic.
 I especially wish to thank Dr. Weekes and the nurses at the Clinic for their excellent care.
 Norman Kluncky

Card of Thanks —

We wish to thank the many kind friends, neighbors and relatives for their help, sympathy and floral offerings during the illness and death of our mother. Also we thank Dr. Miller and the nurses for the good care given her. Your kindness will never be forgotten.

More Smiles per Gallon with Dynaflo Drive

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

There's the smile when you slip the selector lever into Driving notch—and realize that's all there is to do.

There's the smile when you swing smoothly up to cruising speed without halt or check or break of stride.

There's the smile at traffic lights when you halt, wait, then move away with never a thought about shifting.

But the broadest grin of all comes at the end of a long day's drive and you find you've covered more miles more easily. Even your treadle-foot — so likely to become tired and cramped maintaining an even speed in direct-drive cars—appreciates the fluid ease of Dynaflo.

For Dynaflo Drive it's not merely a new transmission. It's a new experience — a new luxury in driving. In ten minutes you are handling it like a veteran — in two days you wouldn't be without it.

Small wonder, then, that Dynaflo is the drive with which all new developments in transmissions are compared.

Not merely "something better," it is something entirely new, the first exciting chapter in a whole new book.

Go learn for yourself how abundantly rich in pleasure every gallon becomes when you have Dynaflo.

Your Buick dealer will be glad to demonstrate—glad to quote delivered prices—glad to talk terms of as fine a deal as you could want.

And you'll find glad surprise in the delivery dates he is now mentioning.

BUICK alone has all these features

Silk-smooth DYNAFLO DRIVE* • FULL-VISION VISOR from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUAD-FLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS • Low pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Cruiser-Line VENTIPORTS DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods BODY BY FISHER

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER models.

ANCHOR SERUM CO. TRAILER
Traveling EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT CLINIC

Especially for Stockmen and Farmers

Throughout the country, stockmen and farmers everywhere have expressed their interest in the completeness of this educational traveling exhibit and clinic from the "world's largest serum plant." Anchor has left no stone unturned to make this exhibit as complete and interesting as possible.

Here, you will see the latest developments in the field of veterinary medicine. Trained technicians will be on hand to answer your questions and explain the new techniques and materials for animal immunization and the preservation of good health in livestock and poultry. You'll see actual laboratory exhibits of affected animal organs and tissues. You'll learn to recognize symptoms and diseases in your own livestock and poultry. The Anchor trailer is, in fact, truly an education in itself for stockmen and farmers. You won't want to miss it.

The Anchor exhibit will be of special interest to vocational agriculture, 4-H clubs, Future Farmer and other farm youth groups and their leaders.

Well worth an extra trip to town!

Anniversaries Celebrated
Mr. and Mrs. Jason Lathrop and Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab enjoyed dinner together at the club Friday evening, celebrating their wedding anniversaries. It was fifteen years for both parties.

No Lo Meets
The No Lo Club met last Thursday with Mrs. James Petska. High prize went to Mrs. Loren Good, second high was won by Mrs. Ed Beran and the traveling prize went to Mrs. Will Zikmund. This was the last meeting for the summer.

Breakfast
Tuesday morning Mrs. C. J. Mortensen was hostess to several friends for a breakfast. The ladies there were Mrs. S. M. Perkins from North Platte, Mrs. Keith Lewis, Mrs. E. L. Uptegrove and Mrs. Albert Greenlee from Sidney and Mrs. G. R. Gard.

Jollite Meets
Mrs. Joyce Olson was hostess Monday evening to Jollite. Guests were Mrs. C. C. Thompson, Mrs. Clara Kirkade, and Mrs. J. W. Ambrose. Prizes went to Mrs. C. A. Anderson and Mrs. J. W. Ambrose.

Junior Priscilla Meets
The Junior Priscilla 4-H club met at the home of Mrs. Russell Hacked on Saturday May 28 at 1:30 p. m. The meeting was called to order by President Mary Ellen Bonne. All members were present. The afternoon was spent discussing club work for the summer. The next meeting will be held on June 17 at the home of Mrs. Emil Kokes. — Reporter, Verna Plock.

Farewell Party
Thursday afternoon Donald and Dennis Vasicek had a farewell party at their home for Kippy Jenison. The boys attending the party were Kenny Austin, Douglas and Bruce Pearson, Bobby Armstrong, Tommy Martin and Marvin Vasicek. The afternoon was spent playing baseball after which a lunch was served by Mrs. Geo. Vasicek. Each of the boys gave Kippy a gift.

Petska - Benson
At a nuptial mass at 7:30 Wednesday morning June 1st in the Ord Catholic church, Miss Dolores Petska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Petska, and Robert Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Benson, were united in marriage. Rev. Thomas Sindowski officiating. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline. The sleeves were long and the wide skirt trimmed with lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson

Mitchell - Conner
Bonnie Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Mitchell of Amelia, Neb., and Bohumil Conner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Conner of Ord were united in marriage at 2:00 Thursday, June 2, at the Burwell Methodist church. The Rev. A. J. Hindman performed the double ring ceremony. During the ceremony Miss Esther Ballagh furnished the bridal music and Mrs. Gordon Ballagh sang the songs, "Because," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Robert Mitchell, and wore a gown of white tulle, marquisette, featuring a fitted lace trimmed bodice, a full skirt, and long sleeves. Her finger tipped veil was edged with lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and pink roses.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church parlors for about 100 guests. Two 3-tiered angel food cakes were baked for the bride, one by her mother, Ota Mitchell and the other by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Bob Brewer.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner

Silver Anniversary
In honor of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirby, many friends and relatives gathered at the Masonic Hall June 1 for a surprise party. The evening was spent dancing with Frank John and his daughter, Helen, providing the music.

The highlight of the evening was a mock wedding. Mary, Lila and Betty Kirby played a suitable march while the wedding party came down the aisle. The bride, Mrs. Knute Peterson, sewed and fashioned her dress. Since the gown was too short she ruffled crepe paper to make it floor length. Her veil was lace curtains. Her bouquet was blue-tips on a large rhubarb leaf. She wore a popcorn necklace, a gift of the groom.

The groom wore overalls rolled to the knee and a Gibson girl scarf tied at the neck. The best man was similarly attired. The groom was Charlie Williams and the best man, Elmer Veigin.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Chris Kirby, wore a floor length gown. She wore a large print apron over the front of her dress. Her head-dress was unusual, for it was her son's red straw hat on which she fashioned a bluebell that hung over her forehead.

Handkerchief Shower
Mrs. Keith Lewis and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen were hostesses at a handkerchief shower last Friday for Mrs. Dick Teague at the latter's home. About 12 guests were present.

For Neighbors
Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clement had a supper in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Don Neilson, who are leaving Ord. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howal and Dickie, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Jones and LaRue, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rose and family from Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Cummins and Hal and Marvin Wilson. The evening was spent playing pinocle.

U. S. Highway 30 Forms Connecting Link Between the East and West

You can't drive along U. S. Highway 30, through Nebraska's Platte Valley, without being impressed with the fact that you are on an important connecting link between the East and the West. Cars and trucks bearing the license plates of every state in the Union from Maine to California, the transcontinental trains shuttling back and forth along side the road, and the planes flying overhead all serve to increase your awareness of it.

Yet, I wonder how many of the tourists who rush along U. S. 30 each year are aware of the additional fact that they also are on one of the nation's great historic highways?

In many respects, I suppose we Nebraskans are to blame for their ignorance, because we have done very little to inform travelers, by means of historical markers, descriptive maps and other devices, of Nebraska's tremendous role in the westward movement of the American people.

The Platte Valley was the funnel through which America spilled over into the West, and much of Highway 30 parallels or closely follows the old emigrant trails.

For approximately two-thirds of the way across Nebraska, or roughly from Fremont to North Platte, Highway 30 closely follows the Mormon Trail, first trod in 1847 by the band of pioneers under Brigham Young, marking their weary way from the Missouri River to the Great Salt Lake, and followed in succeeding years by many thousands—both Mormons and Gentiles—seeking new homes in the West.

For more than a third of the distance, or from west of Grand Island to beyond Brule, the highway parallels the Oregon Trail which ran along the south side of the Platte River. Then, too, the Platte valley was the route of the overland freight wagons, the stage coach, and the Pony Express. And that railroad, whose streamlined streaks make even post-war automobiles seem slow, was America's first transcontinental line, the agency which forged the Platte valley into a band of steel connecting California with the East.

Thus, almost all the way across Nebraska, Highway 30 is the counterpart of the Old Platte Route to the West, and there is hardly a mile of the route or a town along the way that cannot contribute something to the story of American expansion. Moreover, Highway 30 is by no means alone in that respect. Each of our roads has its story for Americans.

We Nebraskans should find a way to tell that story.

Mormons Traveled with Handcarts Through Nebraska's Platte Valley

All caravans to toll their weary way through Nebraska's Platte Valley prior to the building of the railroad, none were more strange and perhaps none endured more suffering than the Mormon handcart expeditions of the years 1850-60.

Jay Monaghan, the well-known Wecker author, describes these expeditions in the current issue of Nebraska History. The story he tells is one of suffering and hardship seldom equalled in the annals of the West.

The handcart caravans were organized by Brigham Young, the famed Mormon leader, as a means of getting converts, too poor even to afford wagons, from the Missouri River to Salt Lake. The vehicles used in the caravans were light, two-wheeled carts. A pair of shafts were attached to a cross-bar, long enough for three or four people to walk abreast and push. There were a few traces in front for pulling.

A loaded handcart weighed about 500 pounds and was to be pulled by five people. Brigham Young estimated that once accustomed to walking the emigrants would make between 25 and 30 miles a day—considerably better than the average for heavily loaded ox-drawn wagons.

The principal outfitting place for the handcart caravans was Florence, formerly the Mormon Winter Quarters, and now a suburb of Omaha. From there they followed the Mormon Trail westward across Nebraska along the north side of the Platte.

During 1856, the year in which the handcart plan was inaugurated, a total of five expeditions left Florence for Salt Lake. The early ones, enjoying good weather, covered the distance to Salt Lake in record time, to be met by a brass band, a military escort and high officials of the Mormon Church.

The last two companies, however, got started so late from Florence that they ran into snow and heavy weather in the mountains. Both reached Zion during the month of November, but of the 500 who left Florence in the fourth company, 67 perished along the way. In the fifth company of 576 persons, probably 150 died along the way—accounts do not agree.

In any event, the handcart companies suffered under a mode of traveling that made those who went west in covered wagons appear to be traveling first class, and in the best of style.

Cock Lighting Almost as far back as the history of fowls can be traced there is mention of cock fights. Setting two gamecocks to battle each other in a pit was a favorite pastime of the most ancient Greeks and Romans. There was cock fighting in Asia at least 3,000 years ago, although the very earliest Asiatic enthusiast, lacking chickens, used partridge and quail in a fight to the death.

Walter Conner and Hartwig Koll spent Thursday evening at the Willard Conner home.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kirby and Betty spent Sunday fishing at Ericson.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Albers were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kuehl.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mickelwait were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kuehl Friday.

Loup City Ranked Fifth in Sports

Gregg McBride, in making up his final listings in the field of sports, put Loup City, a Class C school in third place in the state, with only Omaha Tech and Lincoln Central showing a better rating in the three sports, football, basketball and track.

In basketball, Class C Loup City ranked second in the state, and in football the team was rated third. Loup City also took first places in track competition. The answer is summed up in one well known name, "Irving Thode."

Buildings at Ashland Damaged by Lightning

Lightning struck the Kuhl-Reese elevator at Ashland during a night storm recently, burning switches and damaging electrical appliances, except the motors. The building was not set on fire. Ashland and Wahoo firemen answered a call that took them to the Frank Vick farm near Ithaca, where a barn had caught fire after being struck by lightning. The building was completely destroyed.

Forty-Two Bidders for Crete Hospital

When the Crete city council met for considering bids of the Crete hospital, they found they had plenty to consider. No less than forty-two bids were there demanding their attention.

The aggregate of the successful bids was $163,213.86, more than $15,000 below the estimate. The above amount is more than 2 1/2 times the amount the Ord group is raising to obtain a hospital practically as good.

Training at Curtis

A group of Ord girls went to Curtis last week to attend the Officers and Advisors Workshop which was held June 1 to 4 inclusive. The purpose of it is to train the FFA girls to take care of their job in their chapter. The girls that went were Pat Brown, Jean Huff, Marlene Norman, Gladys Kokes and Agnes Carnik, and their sponsor, Grace Heston.

Litchfield Man Loses Barn, Horses in Fire

Lightning struck a barn belonging to Roy Sweley of near Litchfield in a storm last week, burning it to the ground. It also struck four horses and killed them. All hay, grain, harness and two calves were lost. Two boys in the barn at the time were unharmed.

The neighbors could not do much to help, and muddy roads slowed their arrival, but they kept watch through the night to see that no other fires were started. Donations are being accepted to help the family replace some of the loss.

Stephen D. Long, Well Known Here, Goes to Reward

Father of Mrs. E. S. Murray, He Lived in Ord About 12 Years

With the passing of Stephen D. Long, who died at a hospital in Franklin, Neb., Friday, a man who was intimately acquainted with a large number of Ord people is gone. Mr. Long was the father of Mrs. E. S. Murray, and made his home with them most of the time since they came to Ord 13 years ago.

He had been seriously ill two weeks and his two sons and two daughters were with him during that time. He is survived by the sons, Stanley D. Long of Grand Island and Harold B. Long of Franklin, and by the daughters, Mrs. E. S. Murray of Ord and Mrs. Ben Harrington of Franklin.

The funeral was held Sunday at 4 p. m. at Franklin, with burial in the Hildreth cemetery. Mr. Long homesteaded in the Hildreth community in 1870. He was 91 years of age.

Gas for Ord Next Year, Says Whiteman

In a telephone conversation with S. D. Whiteman, president of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc., of Hastings, Wednesday forenoon, the Quiz was informed that the plans of the company contemplated gas in Ord next year.

Through error the word got out that the company had been refused an allotment of pipe, which Mr. Whiteman says is incorrect. The company has applied to the commission for permission to extend their lines to Broken Bow this year, and the lines will be extended into Ord as soon as material is available.

Junior Legion Team Defeats Broken Bow

Playing a fine game behind the superb pitching of Severson, the Ord Junior Legion boys handed the Sargent team a 7 to 2 defeat Sunday on the Sargent grounds. Stoddard did a fine job behind the plate.

Severson struck out 12 men and was very stingy with the hits he handed out, keeping them all spaced. North Loup will come to Ord for a Junior Legion game Sunday afternoon, June 12.

New Transformers Step Up Power 40%

The Consumers Public Power district has installed three new 333-KVA transformers at their Loup City sub-division, which will step up the power output in that area by 40%. This will obliterate much of the stoppage of current so common in the past. The towns served are Loup City, Arcadia, Comstock, Litchfield and Hazard.

Patrons served by the line running to North Loup, Scotia, Greeley, Spalding and Ericson are hoping something of the same nature will be done for their line. The stoppages over this line in the past have been quite frequent and annoying, but have improved some since the line was gone over last spring after the winter ended.

Rev. Wayne Hall to O'Neill Pastorate

Rev. Wayne A. Hall, formerly of Burwell, has accepted a call to the Assembly of God church at O'Neill. He succeeds Rev. J. G. Hamburger, who will visit relatives at Scottsbluff and Greeley, Colo., before accepting another pastorate. Rev. Hall is a graduate of the Central Bible institute of Springfield, Mo., Class of 1948, and has just completed a 3-weeks evangelistic campaign at O'Neill. The O'Neill charge will be Hall's first permanent assignment.

New Office Building

T. T. Varney, jr., of Broken Bow has announced that he will build a new business structure 22 by 70 feet in size on the north side of the square later this summer. The new building will be leased to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas company to serve as its district office. L. R. Equier as representative of the company will move there, and the construction of the pipeline to Broken Bow will start at an early date.

Pony Express Riders Will Ride Once More

June 18 and 19 are the days set for a reenactment of the pony express ride of the olden days. The ride is being sponsored by Nebraska Horse clubs association, headed by Milton Klein of Kearney. Various riding and saddle clubs along the route will provide relays of riders.

The ride will start from Blair, historic take-off point. The rider will be ambushed by "Indians" at Pawnee Park, just south of Columbus. If the rider escapes, the ride will continue. The western riders will start at Pine Bluffs, Wyo., and the two will meet in Gothenburg.

Fifty Years Ago — A fourteen year old horse thief was caught at Taylor and returned to a few Karl's, for trial. — The little son of John Bell of Mita Valley fell off a fence, breaking one bone in his fore arm and cracking the other. — The professional men and the printers met in a mighty struggle on the diamond, the printers winning by a score of 12 to 8. — A small tornado struck Springfield and a corner on the S. N. Arnold place was completely demolished. — Ored Olsson was granted a patent on his improved windmill. — The little son of W. B. Johnson of Elyria had the end of his thumb cut off in an accident. — The Ord-North Loup irrigation ditch went out of business when the flume across McDowell canyon went out and all the water went into the canyon.

Sixty Years Ago — The Johnstown flood occurred in Pennsylvania with a death toll estimated at 5,000 to 8,000. — An Indian scare in the north part of Nebraska was caused by Indians hunting near the edge of their reservation. One woman near Norris died of heart trouble. — Miss Maggie Ramsey (Wentworth) was assisting in the Quiz office in the absence of Mr. Wolf. — An old folks declamatory contest was held. None of the contestants is still living.

Sixty Five Years Ago — There was some talk that Spain was trying to sell Cuba to the United States. — Miss Olive Newbecker had a class in music which was increasing rapidly. — Charles Carlton of Calamus and one of its leading merchants, was advertising the fact that the town was going to celebrate July 4. — Sneak thieves had stolen a quantity of hay in the North Loup neighborhood. — J. G. Sharpe, who had been visiting in New York, returned to his work in Ogden's store. — The Elba Sun, Vol. 1, No. 1, was published Friday, May 30, by A. B. Lewis, who also published the Scotia Tribune. — Joe Capron and W. H. Ramsey and their families returned from an overland trip to the Niobrara country.

Milton Friesen Dies While Repairing Car

Milton Friesen, 23, was found by his wife crushed beneath his auto at their home five miles from Hampton, Neb. He got up early and went out to replace a broken spring on the car.

Mrs. Friesen got up at 6 a. m., went out and found her husband dead beneath the car, which had slipped off the jack. He is a relative of Albert I. Friesen, superintendent of North Loup schools, who has signed to teach at Henderson next year.

When someone asks us if newspaper advertising is generally considered successfully, we like to point out what the world-renowned Sears, Roebuck & Co. stores did in 1918.

They had a total advertising expenditure of $32,000,000—and 74.4% of this was used for newspaper space.

In other words, this highly-successful corporation delegated only some $2,380,000 to radio, mail order catalogs, handbills, pamphlets and other devices.

"We expect—and receive—dollar results from our advertising," pointed out T. V. Houser, vice president in charge of Sears' merchandising.

Ord Drops Miller to Move Into Loop First Spot

Fine Relief Work by Patrick; Will Play Arcadia June 12

Behind the brilliant relief pitching of Patrick, and big bats of Dilla, Wozniak and Stull, the Ord ball club nosed out Miller 4-2 on the local diamond Sunday.

The game moved Ord into the league leadership, a spot they share with Mason City and Miller. Next Sunday the locals will tangle with Arcadia on the Arcadia diamond.

Ord went into a one run lead in the third inning here Sunday, dropped the lead in the first of the fourth when Dilla got into hot water and the visitors pushed two runs across. The locals came back in their half of the inning to knot the count.

Patrick relieved Dilla at the start of the fifth and kept Miller bottled up for the rest of the game, giving up one hit. Ord scored again in the fifth and the seventh to clinch the game.

Booming triples by Stull and Dilla were the big blows of the game. The box score:

New Entry Takes First Place in Quiz Fish Derby

Otto and Don Schrader of Loup County Team Up to Land Huge Fish

Well, we asked for it! This week Otto Schrader and son Don of Loup county, decided it was about time to settle the question of who can really get the big fellows. Their entry, duly made out and sent in by Hazen E. Smith, editor of the Taylor Clarion, is a catfish that tipped the scales at 11½ pounds.

This prize fish weighed 2½ pounds more than the best previous entry of Frank Coufal of Ord, and measured 31 inches in length. It was weighed at Wiley's Hardware in Taylor on approved scales. Mr. Schrader was using chicken entrails for bait on a medium sized hook. It was a blue catfish and was caught on a set-line in the Loup, about two miles east of Taylor.

Ord Township Library Group Holds Meeting

On June 6, 1949, Miss Adeline Huwaldt, field librarian for the Nebraska Public Library Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln, visited the public library in Ord and conferred with Mannie L. Smith, the librarian, and Clara McClatchey, Mrs. L. D. Milliken, C. M. Davis, C. C. Thompson, and Mrs. J. H. Jitak, who are members of the local board. They discussed standard library methods and procedures.

Representing the state library extension agency, Miss Huwaldt explained that loans of books are sent to supplement local book collections as well as giving advisory assistance. The library commission is operated by an appropriation from the state tax funds and its service is extended free to all residents of the state. A number of public libraries are being visited by Miss Huwaldt on this trip.

New Refrigerator for an 18-Year-Old Model

Mrs. William Hauschild of Ashland is happy that she kept her old refrigerator for so long a time. It was 18 years old and was still working when she decided to trade it in on a new one.

The dealer noted its age and wrote the manufacturer, when it was learned that it was the second one built by the company. In recognition of this fact, they sent Mrs. Hauschild a new refrigerator in exchange for the old one.

North Loup Wins Two Straight in Sherman-Howard

Wolbach, Dannebrog Have No Games Won, Scotia Undefeated.

After losing the first four games straight, North Loup suddenly came to life and won two in a row, the first Decoration Day and the second Sunday. Good pitching and tight defense spelled victory for the Loupers in both games, who plan to retain their winning ways.

Palmer and Scotia, two undefeated teams in the Sherman-Howard League, tangled Sunday at Scotia in a real battle for the top spot, with Scotia nosing out Palmer, 2 to 1, in a 10 inning battle. North Loup took Wolbach, 7 to 5, to register their second straight win. The Ashton at Farwell and Dannebrog at Elba games were both postponed because of wet grounds. Two postponed games were played on Memorial Day, with Scotia winning from Ashton, 9 to 6, while North Loup downed Dannebrog, 4 to 1. The line scores:

Battery, Nickel and Gee

Scotia 000 000 010 1 2-8-0
Battery, Graff and Johnson

Grains

The grain market has been very unsettled for a couple of weeks and at present the trend is a little stronger. If you have grain to sell we would appreciate a chance to bid on it. We are interested in a few cars of good corn that will grade No. 2 Yellow Corn. This week the wheat market has come back several cents per bushel and oats and barley is quite a lot stronger. The storage problem is getting more severe and until more storage can be furnished for wheat the market is liable to show a considerable weakness. Come in when you have any grain to move; we have trucks available. If you need a truck. Have several loads of reclaimed barley that we would make a good price on ground and delivered to your farm.

Proteins

Proteins are much lower at present than they have been for sometime. We believe that a good time to buy proteins for next winter's feeding would be sometime the next six weeks. If you are interested in contracting for proteins for next November delivery let us know how many tons you will need and we will quote you prices when new crop contracts are available. It is possible to save several dollars per ton on your next winter's proteins.

Forage Seeds

Some of you that are having trouble getting your corn in plant grain sorghums to a very good advantage. There is usually a pretty good market for Kalo and Milo on the terminal markets and they both make excellent feeds. Kalo and Milo can both be planted for a couple of weeks and still make a very satisfactory yield. Both of them combine well if left standing till late in the fall.

Black Amber Cane, Sumac, Genuine Leoti Red and Orange Cane in stock. Atlas Sorgo, Axtell Sorgo and Norkan are all high yielding fodders and are sweet feeds. Siberian, German and Hog Millet will all do well if planted anything in the next four weeks.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover Seed

At present it looks as if the market will be good on Sweet Clover and Alfalfa seed this fall. Now is the time to plan if you will harvest these crops or not. Both of them are particular crops to harvest and should have close attention. You can lose a sweet clover seed crop in a couple of days if not taken care of when it should be harvested. Surpluses of both of these seeds are very small. Sweet Clover is more plentiful than Alfalfa seed is at present. We are in the market for any small lots of alfalfa seed that you might have left over and will pay you a good price for it. Should you plan on planting either alfalfa or sweet clover this fall you should book your seed while available from local sources. If there should be a very heavy demand for alfalfa seed this fall it will be hard to get before the new crop is threshed.

Insecticides

We carry a very large stock of insecticides and can furnish them to you at reasonable prices. If you have a spraying outfit let us quote you on DuPont Products. DuPont spraying material is tops if you want to do a real job.

Wed in California

Details have just been received of the marriage of Miss Virginia Kapustka to John Malolepszy, Saturday morning, May 14 in a double ring ceremony at a solemn high mass celebrated at St. Leo's Catholic church in Oakland, Calif. Wedding breakfast followed at Plands for the wedding party and reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Malolepszy during the early afternoon.

The bride was escorted to her altar date by the groom's brother, Robert J. Malolepszy. She wore a white slipper satin dress with long pointed sleeves and scalloped train. The yoke was fashioned with a rolled off shoulder effect. To complete her costume she donned a long veil fringed with wide lace and a short veil which was worn back from her face, falling to the waistline. She carried a bouquet of one white orchid and bouvardia.

Miss Mary Ann Novosad, the only attende, wore a white jersey gown with cap sleeves, a high Chinese neck line and a drape effect in the skirt. She carried a cascade of American beauties and a tiara of the same flower in her hair.

Mr. Robert W. Meese served as best man.

White decorations including stock and roses were used on the altar and on the steps of the altar.

The justweds flew to Carmel Valley for a short honeymoon. They will make their home in Oakland.

The new home of "Lubri-tection"

AN INVITATION to visit America's newest and most modern motor oil plant

There are going to be "big doings" at Kansas City, Kansas, June 21st and 22nd, when Phillips' great new motor oil plant holds "open house" for American motorists.

You and your family and friends are invited, if you can possibly be there.

There'll be guided tours and refreshments, and you'll get an exciting "eyeful" of what Phillips has done to make possible finer lubricants for today's cars.

You'll see motor oil scientifically packaged by new precision methods. You'll be thrilled by new high speed conveyors and miraculous new machines that turn out up to 250 cans of oil a minute. You'll see special automatic blenders that maintain exact standards of uniformity and purity.

Come and see this new home of "Lubri-tection", where Phillips blends finer motor oil to give your car lubrication plus engine protection. Remember the dates... June 21st and 22nd... at Kansas City, Kansas. Any Kansas City Phillips 66 Dealer can give you directions for reaching the plant.

P. S. If you can't be in Kansas City June 21st or 22nd, why not pay us a visit the next time you're in our part of the country? You'll always be welcome!

School Meeting.
Next Monday, June 13, is the occasion of the annual school meeting, at which time meetings will be held in all the school houses over the state for the purpose of closing up the year's work, listening to reports of the school officials and electing a new member, or members of the board.

In the old days a great deal of interest was shown in these meetings and most meetings were largely attended. The meetings were not always harmonious, but at least the people showed interest enough to attend, and they took their part in the proceedings, and expressed their opinions.

Perhaps the reason so many were interested in those days was that there were a large number of children in each district, and the parents had a personal interest in how the affairs of the school were conducted. Today that reason does not appeal to many, as they have fewer, if any, children.

Today too many persons do not attend school meetings unless there is the prospect of some kind of a scrap. If some controversial issue is at stake, many go just to find out what it is all about. It is too bad that the public does not take the interest it should in the most important institution in our land today, the educational system. Such lack of interest is dangerous. It puts the power to decide in the hands of the few, and in this way the few control the many. It is not too fantastic to envision the day when the few may decide the reins of government and control the many.

The educational system has never needed the full attention of all the patrons as much as it is needed today. The two great problems that faced the unicameral this past session were the schools and the highways. The federal government is seeking more authority in both these lines.

Nebraskans especially are strongly opposed to any more centralization of power. Our school system has long been one of our most democratic institutions. Control of this system may in time pass out of our hands if we do not remain alert. Let us attend and vote to keep it democratic.

Farm More, or Farm Better.
A writer in one of the Nebraska dailies the past week entered what seems a very just complaint as to the methods of the larger landowners, who buy up land and farm extensively, moving the buildings off to cut down the taxes.

He speaks of many large farms where the buildings are either moved off or are being allowed to go to ruin, while the land is being half farmed because the farmer is trying to farm too much. Meanwhile the fellow who is doomed by circumstances to a renter's life must take whatever he can get, which is often not too good. There is food for thought in this writer's complaint. In the old days of horse farming, 160 acres was enough for the average man. He did not farm so much, but he farmed well, as a rule, and his fields were clear of weeds, at least, clear enough so that the crop could be harvested without much trouble from weeds and grass.

Last year there were many fields in Valley county where it was impossible to do a good job of harvesting the grain because of the rank growth of weeds. These weeds were from the seed of weeds that grew to maturity in the corn crop of the preceding year.

The argument in favor of more extensive farming is that tractors and tractor machinery are so costly that it is necessary to farm on a large scale in order to realize a profit. The point is well taken. It is more these days to equip for farming than the farm used to cost.

The answer to the whole problem is intensive farming rather than extensive farming. It is a proven fact that proper attention to farming methods, and getting the job done well at the time it should be done can increase the yield per acre as much as 25% or more.

Right in Valley county there are tractor farmers who are farming 160 acres and are making it pay because they are using the intensive method. There are plenty of farmers today, and there is no need to farm extensively, as it had to be done during the war.

My Own Column By H. D. Leggett

An Ord figure juggler has figured out that if the words spoken by Ord women alone for one day were put end to end they would reach to the moon. I promised him that I wouldn't disclose his name.

I have always felt that a merchant or business man with a regular place of business, and having bills that were due the first of the month, should make it a point to either be at his place of business on that day or make arrangements for someone in his employ to pay them. Tramping around town collecting is hard work without having to go back several times to get a bill collected.

But that is not the thing that the Quiz has very little trouble with. Our collector is loud in her praise of most Quiz customers. With about one exception, she says she almost never has to go back the second time. One customer however always finds some pretext to stand her off the first time, then never makes good on promises made until she has returned several times.

I cannot understand why some people, in renewing their Quiz, will go to the time and trouble of writing a letter to say that they are enclosing a check, when all they have to do is inclose the card I have mailed them, with their check. The card gives me all the information and saves me the time of looking the matter up.

If you should be getting two copies of the Quiz an error has been made and I would appreciate your notifying me so the correction can be made.

I should not envy my neighbor but I find it hard not to envy any one who has the time and opportunity to go fishing at will. So I sort of envy Perry Timmerman, who visited us this week. The Timmermans live up in Wisconsin, one of the greatest fishing states, and who have a summer cottage out on one of the second largest lakes in the state where they plan on spending their weekends during the summer season. In fact they go out in the coldest winter weather and fish through the ice, and admits that their deep freeze locker is usually stocked with the finest fish. When he lived in Springdale and needed to be found the first place to look for him was down along the river and it was said that the big cutfish were out on the bank again ate a while, then went down to the dam, crossed over to the lower side and disappeared. It is interesting to see them swim. They swim with their feet and steer with their flat tails. A little later I went further up the creek, above another dam, sat on the roots of a tree that overhung the water and started to fish.

In about five minutes along came a big beaver down the opposite side of the creek. He went down stream below me about two rods where a dead tree stood in the water, dived and went into his den there. About the time he disappeared another big beaver came up stream on the side next to me, came up to the tree on which I was sitting and went into his den, which was both north and behind it. A minute or two later a baby beaver, slightly larger than a muskrat, came down stream.

You could tell he was a baby, because his fur was light colored and fuzzy. He seemed to be looking for something as he came closer. I noticed that he was uttering a peculiar cry, a sound much like one can make by trying to meow like a kitten, keeping the lips closed. He doubtless was lost and looking for his mama. He went on down stream, directly under my feet, until he was within a few rods above the dead tree. Then he crossed over, dived where the big beaver had dived, and went into the den.

It was the thrill of a lifetime for me. Up to that time I had seen five beaver only twice and then quite a few people who are successful in life, who didn't plan to be what they are today, at all. Chance had as much to do with their success as any planning they may have done. I have in mind one man, who after he had graduated from high school, was persuaded by his father to have a try at the real estate and insurance business in his father's office. That was in the '30s, and land was not moving very fast. The young man wasn't satisfied, and told his father he wanted to try something else. "This is what we planned for, son," said his dad. "It's the only job you know anything about. Better stay with it."

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

E. S. Coats Writes.
May 29, 1949.

To the Quiz:
Our climate is sure changing. We have such nice winters. Our ground did not freeze this winter.

Where we dug our potatoes last fall they came up really well. An extra house for his parents and brought them to the farm, where the old man helps look after the cows and occasionally gives his son the advantage of his superior wisdom. But one thing he does not do. He never advises his son to "plan for the future."

How about it, John Ward, do you believe that because our farmers are leaving the farms in so large numbers, is the reason our country is going back to the mountain lion. In my years we often heard the country was going to the dogs. I wonder which is the worst. I heard a story on the Ord streets that a vacant house was now occupied by a family of mountain lions. The party that told me says at camp stables as some school kids had seen them keeping house and had heard the lion growling at the she lion. At first they thought some people were there but later saw it was the family of lions.

Well, I hear people are planning summer vacations. Take an old man's advice, on your trip west stop at Grand Canyon, it's only fifty miles off the main highway to California. It is the best sight you ever will see. On our 7000 mile trip through Yellowstone, there seems to be an idea in the world that anybody, to make a success in life, must plan for the future and work toward that goal. It sounds all right, but I know quite a few people who are successful in life, who didn't plan to be what they are today, at all. Chance had as much to do with their success as any planning they may have done. Replied the young man: "I know we planned for this, but it's no good. I think I'll just let chance do something for me." There was a map of the United States on the wall, and a dart game in the back room. The young fellow went into the back room and returned with a dart. Standing across the room from the map, he threw the dart at it. The dart landed near a town in central Wisconsin. He went over and pointed to the spot. "Dad," he said, "That's where I'm going." "What there, and got a job with a dairyman milking and tending cows. He saved his money, and in time bought a few cows of his own. After a while he rented a small farm and went into business on his own. Eventually he bought the farm, and in time a much larger farm.

Today he owns one of the finest dairy farms in the state, and some of the best dairy cattle. He married and had a fine family growing up. His father fizzled in the real estate business, so the son built an extra house for his parents and brought them to the farm, where the old man helps look after the cows and occasionally gives his son the advantage of his superior wisdom. But one thing he does not do. He never advises his son to "plan for the future."

Beaver: How many people ever saw a beaver just as you find him in nature? How many have seen a beaver more than once? It is a safe guess that the people who never have seen a live beaver far exceed the people who have seen one. Beaver, as you may know, are nocturnal in their habits, and may not even show themselves at night unless there is work to do. We have seen a beaver expressed it when there is a dam to build, trees to girdle or other beaver work to be done. A single beaver can build a dam two feet high across a creek in a single night. I have never seen them doing it, I am sorry to say, but I have seen the work they did and know how fast they can work.

You don't want to blame a beaver for cutting down trees. They have to do a certain amount of this kind of work, and they will only for short intervals. They very seldom come out in the day time. However, it was after six and the clouds were heavy, further, both banks of the creek were lined with trees. From now on when I go to the creek I am taking my camera along.

Washington, California and home again by Grand Canyon, it was the best sight of all. You can't believe it unless you see it. I talked with world travelers and they agreed that the Grand Canyon had them all beat. Don't miss it on your trip west, and I am sure you will be glad to see it.

To the Quiz Editor:
Please find enclosed $3 for the Quiz. We get it about two or three weeks late, but always did think the best things in life are worth waiting for. The folks send us one once in a while, which is sure appreciated. We went to Palmer Sunday, where they had their 14th year of settling the valley. It sure is pretty there. Saw the first cows, chickens and pigs and horses since we left the states last July. Of course we were all glad to see one another.

I sure wish everyone back home could see these sunsets. I couldn't describe one in a million years and I don't think anyone would believe me if I did. We sure do like it here. We bought a home in what they call the Spenard Area. It's three miles from Anchorage. Must close for now. Would sure love to see some one from home up in this country once in a while. The best to everyone in Valley county and Tlydria, too.

Galloway-Gregory Before an altar of ferns, mock orange blossoms, and baskets of white and pink peonies, Miss Maxine Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Childs Galloway, became the bride of Boyd Gregory, son of William Gregory, at 2:00 p. m., at the Methodist church on June 2.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Buehler, pastor of the church.

Organ music, with Mrs. Ben Mason playing, preceded the ceremony and the bride entered on the arm of her father to the strains of Loregirins Wedding March.

Mrs. Jean Williams sang I Love You Truly and groom, before the ceremony and the Lord's Prayer immediately after the ceremony, while the bridal couple knelt at the altar.

The bride was beautiful in a long white silk dress with all-over lace and a fingertip veil held in place by tiers of rose buds and white leaves, and carried a bouquet of cream gladioli with removable corsage. Pearl necklace and ear rings completed her costume.

The maid of honor, Doris Welty, was gowned in a yellow silk formal with white accessories.

The mother of the bride wore a black suit with red accessories and a white bouquet of gardenias.

Gerald Webb and Felix Evans acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the basement of the church for about 100 guests.

Russell - Widdowson

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Russell, Shelton, Nebr., was the setting of a beautiful home wedding Sunday, June 5, at 3 o'clock when Russell and Widdowson were united in marriage.

Mrs. Winnifred Russell became the bride of James Widdowson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Widdowson of Gibbon, Nebr. Miss Florence Sell of Arcadia was maid of honor and George Widdowson, brother of the groom was best man.

The couple were united in marriage by Dr. George E. Chapman, Presbyterian minister at Gibbon. The couple and attendants stood under an archway of mock orange blossoms and pink June roses fastened at the top with large bows of white tulle. At each side of the arch were large brackets of white, pink and red peonies decorated with large bows of white tulle. Vases of peonies also were in other parts of the room.

The bride wore Russell's blue crepe suit dress with white accessories and a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her corsage was of pink and white carnations. Her attendant wore a similar suit of pink plique with white accessories and her corsage was blue carnations and red roses.

The groom's mother wore lacetrimmed pink summer voile with white and Mrs. Russell, sky blue crepe print, each had corsage of shaltered white carnations. The men of the wedding party wore white tuxedos and bowties.

Mr. and Mrs. Widdowson both graduated from Shelton high school in 1947. Since then he has been engaged in farming with his father. She has taught district 35 in Hall county for the past two years.

After the ceremony the hosts served the guests buffet style to ice cream, cake and lemonade. The lace covered table was decorated with two tall white candles. Miss Helen Kappius, friend of the bride, served from a three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Carl Lutz, sister of the bride, poured coffee.

The young couple left for a short trip to Denver, expecting to be at home by the end of the week to make their home for the time being in Shelton. Mr. Widdowson will continue to work on the farm of his father.

Other guests were the groom's sister, Joyce, his grandfather, George Hibberd, Mrs. George Chapman, Mrs. D. O. Hawley, Carl and Jimmie Lutz of Arcadia.

Holcomb - Hruby

At a beautiful and impressive ceremony Shirley Holcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holcomb of Arcadia and Edwin Hruby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruby of Comstock, were united in marriage at the Methodist church in Arcadia on Wednesday, June 1, at 8 o'clock.

The double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Clarence Buehler, took place before an altar of ferns, mock orange blossoms, baskets of white and pink peonies and seven branched candlesticks.

The strains of "Sweet Mystery of Life" as the candles were lit by the bride's brother, attired in a white suit and her sister in a yellow silk net gown. Miss Joan Masters sang "Always" preceding the ceremony and while the rings were being placed on the fingers of the bride and groom, she sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed."

The bride on the arm of her father followed her attendants down the white carpeted aisle between pews roped off in white satin ribbon and peonies.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Shirley Holcomb, followed her attendants in a white and pink slipper, satin fashioned with off shoulder neckline and long pointed sleeves. Three small rhinestone hearts were embroidered on the front of the gown. The skirt fell in a full court train. Her double tiered, three quartered veil of crisp french net edged in chantilly lace flowed from a coronet of seed pearls. A rhinestone necklace, gift of the groom was part of the wedding ensemble. She carried a "192 year old" Bible covered with shirred white satin given her by her grandfather, the late V. F. Webb, with a white gardenia and shower of pink rose buds.

The bride chose as her matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Stone of Judith Gap, Mont., sister of the groom. She wore a shimmering lace gown fashioned with off shoulder neckline, a pink net bonnet, hose and slippers and yellow rose corsage.

The bridesmaid, Miss Bonnie Evans, who also served as usher was gowned in pink. Linda DeJong in a blue silk net served as flower girl. She carried a white satin tufted basket of peony petals. Georgene Mason and Robert Lueck in black velvet and white satin carried the rings on white satin pillows, topped with a pink rose in which the ring rested.

The groom was attended by Douglas Holcomb, brother of the bride and Frank Poesch, who also ushered.

The bride's mother wore a dark green tunic dress with black accessories and red rose corsage. The groom's mother wore aqua prime side drape dress, black accessories and yellow rose corsage. The bride's grandmother wore black and white printed lomborg sheer, black accessories and white carnation corsage.

Mrs. William Ramsey and Mrs. Rudolph Mettenbrink were in charge of decorations and flowers. Mrs. Archie Mason of Ord was at the piano.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors for over 200 guests. While the guests were assembling the pianist played. The reception room was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers. A beautiful 5 tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the bride's table, draped in a hand crocheted table cover with tall white candles burning on each side. The cake was cut by Mrs. George Widdowson, who also made the bride's gown.

Mrs. Maxine Moody and Miss Florence Sell poured and Mrs. Joyce Masters served the cake and ice cream. Miss Rae Jean Bossen had charge of the guest book. The bridal couple received many useful and lovely gifts.

Immediately after the reception the young couple left on a brief honeymoon after which they will be at home on a farm two miles east of Comstock. The bride wore as her going away ensemble, lavender crepe dress with gray accessories.

The bride has taught school in Public Notice

Acreeage allotments are now being established by the Valley County Agricultural Conservation Committee for all old wheat farms to be applicable to the acreage of wheat seeded for harvest for the crop year 1950. Any farm producer on a farm on which wheat was not seeded for harvest in any of the years 1947, 1948 or 1949, and who plans to seed wheat for harvest in 1950 may request, in terms of a specific acreage, a 1950 wheat acreage allotment. This request must be filed in the county office in writing not later than June 20, 1949, if an allotment is subsequently to be established for such farm.

If a request for a new wheat farm acreage allotment is submitted to the county office by mail, it should be addressed to Mr. Paul Owens, Chairman of the Valley County AAA Committee, Ord, Nebraska, and must be postmarked not later than June 20, 1949.

STARTING 12TH YEAR OF SELF-REGULATION

Eleven years ago this month the brewing industry in Nebraska launched a unique Self-Regulation program. Its objective was to insure that beer be sold only by responsible persons in full accordance with the law and the standards set by the industry.

Progress has been made. The men and women who patronize the state's taverns will attest to the fact that law observance has reached a new high level.

The results of eleven years of work indicate that much has been accomplished. The brewing industry will keep faith with the public by continuing its educational program among retailers.

NOTICE OF REFEREE'S SALE
Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an order made in the District Court of Valley County, Nebraska, in an action of partition pending in said court, wherein Blanche Manchester, et al. are plaintiffs, and Irvin Worrell, et al. are defendants. The undersigned, John R. Sullivan, sole referee, duly appointed in said cause, ordered to sell the East Half of Section 35, Township 17, North, Range 13, West of the 6th Principal Meridian, in Valley County, Nebraska, and the East Half of the Southern Quarter and the South Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section 2, Township 16, North, Range 13, West of the 6th Principal Meridian, in Sherman County, Nebraska, to the highest bidder or bidders for cash. Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of said order, judgment and decree, the undersigned, John R. Sullivan, sole referee in said action, having taken the oath required by law and having given bond as required by the order of said court, will on Tuesday, June 14th, 1949, at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. of said day, sell at public auction the above described real estate at the west front door of the courthouse in Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, as a whole or in such parcels as may be deemed for the best interest of the party, to the highest bidder or bidders, for cash. The said sale will remain open for one hour. Dated this 9th day of May, 1949.

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS
1. Sealed proposals for the construction, including the supply of necessary labor, materials and equipment except meters, transformers, and conductor, of a rural electric distribution project to be financed pursuant to a Loan Contract between Loup Valleys Rural Electric Membership Association (hereinafter called the "Owner") and the United States of America by the Administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, dated May 13, 1948, and to be known as Project Nebraska 93C Valley, which is to be part of the System known as Nebraska 93 Valley, will be received by the Owner on or before 3:00 o'clock a. m., Central Standard Time,

June 15, 1949, at its office in Ord, Nebraska, at which time and place the proposals will be publicly opened and read.

2. The Project will be approximately 327.7 miles in length and located in Greeley, Garfield, Sherman, Valley and Wheeler Counties, in the State of Nebraska, all as more fully described in the Plans and Specifications and Construction Drawings therefor hereinafter referred to.

3. The Plans, Specifications and Construction Drawings together with all necessary forms and other documents for bidders may be obtained from the Owner, or from the Engineer Raymond H. Reed & Company at the latter's office at No. 2305 1/2 - 13th Street, Columbus, Nebraska, upon payment of twenty-five dollars ($25), all of which will be refunded to each bona fide bidder within ten (10) days after the bid opening.

4. The Plans, Specifications and Construction Drawings may be examined at the office of the Owner or at the office of the Engineer. A copy of the Loan Contract may be examined at the office of the Owner. Each set of Plans, Specifications and Construction Drawings will have a serial number, given by the Engineer, and the number of each set with the name of the purchaser will be recorded by the Engineer. Bids will be accepted only from the original purchaser of the original Plans, Specifications and Construction Drawings, providing that in the event of such transfer the Engineer shall receive from the original purchaser, at least forty-eight (48) hours prior to the scheduled bid opening, written notice of such transfer, together with the name of the party to whom the transfer has been made.

5. Proposals and all supporting instruments must be submitted in the forms furnished by the Owner and must be delivered in a sealed envelope addressed to the Owner. The name and address of the Bidder, its license number if a license is required by the State, and the date and hour of the opening of bids must appear on the envelope in which the Proposal is submitted. Proposals must be filled in ink or typewritten, and all conditions or interlineations will be permitted, unless made before submission, and initialed and dated.

6. Each bidder shall include and shall be deemed to have included, in the price quoted in the Contractor's Proposal for each Assembly Unit, the amounts which it is estimated will be payable by the successful Bidder or by the Owner on account of taxes imposed by any taxing authority upon the sale, purchase or use of materials, supplies or equipment incorporated in the Project as part of such Assembly Unit. All taxes of the foregoing descriptions shall be payable by the Bidder which shall be awarded the Contract for the construction of the Project.

7. No proposal will be considered unless the Bidder, in the Bidder's Qualifications, shall furnish evidence, satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator, that the Bidder has the necessary facilities, ability, and financial resources to construct the Project in accordance with the Contract. A Bidder who has not already completed construction contracts in a total amount of not less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) for REA borrowers, shall file the Bidder's Qualifications comprising pages (e) 1 and

(e) 2 with the Engineer at least forty-eight (48) hours in advance of the scheduled bid opening.

8. The Owner reserves the right to confine its consideration of the several bids to one type of design regardless of alternate types of design which may be specified in the Plans and Specifications and offered in the Proposals.

9. In estimating the least cost to the Owner as one of the factors in deciding the award of the Contract the Owner will consider, in addition to the bid prices of the various assembly units, variations in the cost of operation, maintenance, repairs and interruptions to service and in any other items of cost; and the experience of the Bidder; and the experience of the manufacturer in the design and manufacture of the materials which the Bidder proposes to furnish.

10. The time of completion of the Project shall be as specified by the Engineer.

11. Each Proposal must be accompanied by a certified check on a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the order of the Owner in an amount equal to five percent (5%) of the maximum bid price. If a Proposal is not accepted or if a Proposal is accepted and a Contract is executed and a satisfactory Contractor's Bond is furnished by the successful Bidder, the check will be returned in each instance within a period of thirty (30) days to the Bidder furnishing same; except that each Bidder agrees, provided its Proposal is one of the three low Proposals, that, by filing its Proposal together with such check in consideration of the Owner's receiving and considering such Proposal, said Proposal shall be firm and binding upon each such Bidder and such check shall be held by the Owner for a period not exceeding ninety (90) days from the date hereinafter set for the opening of Proposals. Provided, however, that if the local law requires the acceptance by the Owner of any other form of security in connection with a Proposal, any other security will be accepted by the Owner in lieu of a certified check to the extent applicable, the above provisions shall apply to such security.

12. The successful Bidder, will be required to enter into a Contract with the Owner and to furnish a Contractor's Bond with sureties satisfactory to the Owner and to the Rural Electrification Administration, in a penal sum not less than the Contract price.

13. Should the successful Bidder fail or refuse to execute a Contract and to furnish a Contractor's Bond satisfactory to the Owner and the Administrator within ten (10) days after written notification of the award of the Contract by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or other security delivered with the Proposal shall thereupon be due and owing to the Owner as liquidated damages for such failure or refusal and the Owner may thereupon award the Contract to any other Bidder. The term "successful Bidder" shall be deemed to include any Bidder whose proposal is accepted after another Bidder has previously refused or has been unable to execute the Contract or to furnish a satisfactory Contractor's Bond.

14. The Contract, when executed, shall be deemed to include the entire agreement between the parties thereto, and the Contractor shall not claim any modification thereof resulting from any irregularities or errors made at any time by any officer, agent or employee of the Owner or by any other person.

15. The Owner reserves the right to waive minor irregularities or minor errors in any Proposal, if it appears to the Owner that such irregularities or errors were made through inadvertence. Any such irregularities or errors so waived must be corrected on the Proposal in which they occur prior to the execution of any Contract which may be awarded thereon.

16. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals. The attention of Bidders is specially called to the desirability of a proper balance between prices for labor and materials and between the total prices for the respective Assembly Units. Lack of such balance may be considered as a reason for rejecting a Proposal.

17. Where the unit prices in the Contractor's Proposal are separated into three columns designated as "Labor," "Materials" and "Labor and Materials," and where a discrepancy appears between the sum shown in the "Labor and Materials" column and the correct addition of the sums appearing in the "Labor" column and the "Materials" column, the correct addition of the sums appearing in the "Labor" column and the "Materials" column shall control.

18. The terms "Administrator," "Engineer," "Supervisor," "Contractor's Proposal," "Project" and "Completion" as used throughout this Contract shall be as defined in the Construction Agreement, Article VII, Section 1.

19. The time for completion of the Project set forth in the Proposal shall not be extended because of any shortage of labor or any delay in the delivery of materials necessary for the Project whether or not caused by conditions beyond the control of the Contractor, except where delivery of materials is delayed by acts of God, fires, floods, or strikes, and by the Owner, the Bidder will be considered to have abandoned the Proposal and the amount of the certified check or other security delivered with the Proposal shall thereupon be due and owing to the Owner as liquidated damages for such failure or refusal and the Owner may thereupon award the Contract to any other Bidder. The term "successful Bidder" shall be deemed to include any Bidder whose proposal is accepted after another Bidder has previously refused or has been unable to execute the Contract or to furnish a satisfactory Contractor's Bond.

14. The Contract, when executed, shall be deemed to include the entire agreement between the parties thereto, and the Contractor shall not claim any modification thereof resulting from any irregularities or errors made at any time by any officer, agent or employee of the Owner or by any other person.

15. The Owner reserves the right to waive minor irregularities or minor errors in any Proposal, if it appears to the Owner that such irregularities or errors were made through inadvertence. Any such irregularities or errors so waived must be corrected on the Proposal in which they occur prior to the execution of any Contract which may be awarded thereon.

16. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all Proposals. Cosmopolitans Pour Concrete in Park Wading Pool

Members of the Ord Cosmopolitan Club turned out en masse Sunday to pour concrete for their new wading pool. It was an all day job for the club, work starting at 9 o'clock in the morning and ending at 4 in the afternoon. Cosmopols prepared a picnic dinner which was served to the group at noon.

Hospital Drive Slowed by Rain in Rural Areas

Bad Roads, Pressure of Farm Work Figure in Delaying Convass.

Although exact figures are not available, around $20,000 worth of stock in the new Ord Cooperative Hospital has been sold or pledged to date. This is halfway toward the goal of $60,000 and two-thirds of the way toward the "must" figure of $15,000.

In conversation with John R. Sullivan Tuesday the Quiz learned that two factors are tending to delay convass of the rural areas in behalf of the sale of stock in the Ord Cooperative Hospital, Inc. Both stem from the same cause. The continued rains have kept the country roads in bad condition to travel, and at the same time have delayed farming operations so that farmers have very little time to think of anything but getting their crops in and taking care of their first cutting of hay.

Because of these conditions the committee has decided to accept orders by mail for shares of stock. By now everybody should have a pretty good idea of what the plan is, and most people have made up their mind as to what they can and will do.

Checks for stock should be mailed to Leslie A. Nash, of the 1011 Conservatory building in the court house. Upon receipt of this check stock purchase receipt will be mailed to the purchaser. The committee had hoped to be able to contact the head of every family in the county, but this probably cannot be done in the time remaining.

All solicitors in Ord are especially urged by Mr. Nash to complete their work this week and report to him. Many solicitors have made as many as five calls at one place, to find no one at home, so, in case you have not been contacted, will you please help by calling on a solicitor in your ward?

A complete list of solicitors in Ord are as follows: First Ward: Leslie Nash, C. C. Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Syl Papierchik, A. R. Brox, Rev. L. V. Hassell, M. B. Diamond and Mr. and Mrs. Corwin Cummins. Second Ward: John R. Sullivan, Ross Allen, Henry Denda, Bruce Covey, Ray Falter, Jim Gilbert, Emil Darges, Art Kruger, Dean Misko, Joe Ruzicka, Don Stewart, Ed Swopes, John Galka, Bill Faifeita, Bill Watson, Richard Rowland. Third Ward: Duane Armstrong, Clyde Baker, Stanley Absalom, John Wojtasck, Glen Beerline, Keith Lewis, Jay Brown, Emil Babka, Henry Janus, Rolland Dye, Herb Smets, Earl Klinginsmith, Ed Armstrong, Ralph Douglas. Business Section: Clara McClechee, Glen Auble, Ed Ganser, Archie Geweke, Ross Allen, Bill Darges, M. B. Cummins and E. L. Vogelitzan.

The first person named in each group is chairman.

Ord Golfers Will Hold Invitational Tournament Soon

June 26 Has Been Set for First Golf Event of the 1949 Season.

June 26 is the date set for the first invitational golf meet on the Ord golf course in 1949. Those who desire to enter may either qualify on the Ord course before the meet, or bring with them their score sheet. There will be flights for all players, and prizes for each flight.

Due to the continued rains the course is in fine condition, and should be ready for some low scores. Officers of the association are Alfred L. Hill, president, Vernon Tholpey, secretary, and C. C. Malmanson, Hilding Pearson and Joe Jirak, board of directors.

Cosmopolitan Wading Pool Is Poured

Around thirty members of the Ord Cosmopolitan club turned out Sunday morning for an all day session with a concrete mixer in the pouring of the walls and bottom of their new wading pool, just east of the swimming pool.

The pool is now virtually completed, remaining work including the pouring of a four foot concrete apron around the pool and hooking up to the sewer. Members of the club expect to have it ready for Ord kiddies by July 1. The pool was constructed entirely with donated funds and volunteer labor and adds an estimated $2,000 improvement to the city park.

Supreme Court Finds Against Austin Bridge

Decision May Affect Consideration of the Sumter Bridge Repair.

The Nebraska Supreme court Friday handed down a decision that the Sherman county supervisors do not have to repair the Austin bridge across the Middle Loup river between Loup City and Rockville. Lee Heil, a Sherman county taxpayer, had sought through court action to compel repair of the bridge wrecked by high water in 1947.

Because the bridge is unusable, patrons on a star mail route out of Rockville now receive mail three times a week instead of daily. The supervisors contended that the court bridge cannot be repaired, and that funds are not available to rebuild it. The supreme court held that there was no showing that the board abused its power.

While the cases are not exactly parallel, this decision may have an important bearing on the Sumter bridge, which interested farmers in the area and residents of Springdale and North Loup townships would like to have repaired.

Since a decision in the Austin bridge case has established a precedent, it is probable that the supreme court would hold the same way in any case of a similar nature. Two rural routes are concerned in the case of the Sumter bridge, but most of the patrons have been receiving their mail with more or less regularity.

Quiz Book-Keeper Quits

After three weeks work on his new job Rex Jewett has quit to accept a similar job with the REA that is more to his liking in the home town and wife will work together. Rex was doing fine on the Quiz job and the management very much regrets his decision to leave. Still we are of course glad to see him located where advancement will be more rapid and where he will be materially benefited.

Firemen Give $1000 to Ord Hospital

Newest organization to contribute to the Ord Cooperative Hospital fund is the Ord Volunteer Fire Department which handed a check for $1000 to the hospital committee Tuesday.

He was active in many campus affairs including Delta Omicron Phi, Y.M.C.A., COGs, Blue Key, Theta Alpha Phi, Plainsman Players, "W" club, and the student senate.

Valley County to Have Agricultural Fair, Aug. 1-4

More Stress Will Be Placed on Exhibits from Farm & Garden.

The year of 1949 bids the Valley County fair to be one of the best from the agricultural point of view, and the board has decided to give more consideration to displays from the farm and garden, as well as other exhibits, including 4-H club work.

The entertainment feature will not be neglected, however. The Chitwood shows with numerous stunts with autos will hold the center of interest Aug. 3 and 4. It is one of the best shows of its kind now on the road, and draws large crowds wherever shown.

A home talent show is in the making, but at the present stage it has not been fully determined just what this will be. Old fiddler's and male quartet contests are being considered. This will come Aug. 2.

Richmond Bros. carnival has been contracted for the week, with the usual line of concessions and all kinds of rides for the young folks to enjoy. This carnival is one of the best, and has a reputation of being exceptionally clean.

The agricultural entry list will be printed in the Ord Quiz some time in July. The calves won last year will be on exhibit, and their growth should be of interest to all lovers of livestock.

Officers of the Valley County Fair are: Ernest Horner, president, Archie Geweke, treasurer, Henry Benda, secretary, and John Kou, Clare Clement, Jay Auble, Ed Ganser and Louis Jobst, directors.

Theodore Meyers, North Loup Man, Was Buried Sunday

Leaves One Son, Four Brothers, and Many Other Relatives.

Theodore Meyers was born to John and Catherine Andre Meyers, May 21, 1883. He attended school in Scotia, later moving with his parents to a farm near North Loup, Neb. In 1914 he married Elizabeth Meyer and to them two children were born, Arthur and Willis. Arthur, the eldest passed on when a small child.

Mr. Meyers had the first Ford Agency in North Loup. After selling it he went back to the farm. For several years he has made his home in town. He died June 10, 1949.

He leaves to mourn his departure his son, Willis, and four brothers, Harry, Clem, and Charles of North Loup, and Frank of Pocahontas, besides his 5 nephews and 11 nieces.

Mr. Meyers had not been very well for some time but was taken suddenly worse last week and Thursday was taken to the Ord hospital where he passed away in the night.

Funeral services for Mr. Meyers were held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church in North Loup with Rev. C. F. Harbour bringing the message. Mrs. Harold Hoepfner and Mrs. Cloyd Ingerson sang and Alice Meyers was at the piano.

Full bearers were from the I.O.O.F. lodge and were Chas. Otto, Earl Smith, Paul Madsen, Albert Combs, Jess Walker and Frank McDermott. The I.O.O.F. lodge had charge of the services at the cemetery. Burial was in Hillside cemetery. Hastings-Pearson were the funeral directors in charge.

Pastor in Scranton, Pa.

James B. Ollis, jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ollis of Ord, was installed last Friday as pastor of the Green Ridge Presbyterian church in Scranton, Pa.

Weather for Week Continues Cool and Damp; Fields Wet

Haying Is Being Done Under Unfavorable & Difficult Conditions.

Weather for Week (24-10) Most of the week has been damp and threatening, but with comparatively light rainfall in Ord. The heavy rain came Sunday, with Ord receiving only half an inch, while 2 1/2 inches is claimed for Elyria and 3 inches at Greeley. While not heavy, the rainfall was sufficient to delay haying operations. Most farmers were unable to get at their haying as early as they should, due to corn-planting and other work. In many places hay cut the first of last week had to lay until Saturday before being stacked.

Rain to Date, 1948 6.51

The wet weather has also kept many farmers with early corn from getting into the fields when they should, and the weeds, and more particularly, the grass, is getting such a start that it will be hard to get rid of.

Perhaps the most alarming news of the week is the fact that the spring grain aphid is playing havoc with many fields of grain, and this condition is so severe that C. C. Dale is issuing warning in regard to it in a story under a different heading in this issue. Corn, where it has not been damaged by cutworms is making a fine growth, and is a good stand in most fields. Many farmers are giving their fields the first cultivation this week, in fields where the soil is dry enough to permit cultivation.

And Now, "Hot Rods" Want Club

At a meeting to be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the East Side Cafe "Hot Rod" racing enthusiasts are asked to be present and assist in the formation of a "Hot Rod" club for Ord and vicinity. Anybody is welcome to attend, promulgators of the club state.

Firing Fireworks Draws $10 Fine

Harold Freeman of Burwell was brought before Police Judge John R. Sullivan June 10 and charged with disturbing the peace. The nature of his offense was the firing of fireworks on the streets of Ord, contrary to ordinance. He was assessed a fine of $10 and costs, which he paid and was released.

Dedication Held for Mira Valley Parsonage Sunday

Impressive Service Held in Presence of Members of Church

An impressive dedication service for the new parsonage at the Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren church was held last Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m., with Bishop C. H. Stauffacher in charge. Rev. William G. Rembold, conference superintendent of the Lincoln district, also participated in the service.

Rev. Warren G. Studer

Elmer Hornickel, chairman of the board of trustees, presented the pastor, Rev. G. Studer, with the key to the new house. The minister and family dedicated the home by lighting candles symbolic of devotion, friendship, beauty, service and hospitality. Music for the occasion consisted of recordings of "Home Sweet Home," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Bless This House." The closing prayer of dedication was offered by the Bishop.

Bishop Stauffacher stated that this is one of the finest homes in his area of service which includes Texas, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska and Oklahoma. The new home has been dedicated debt free, made possible by the generous contributions of its membership and friends of the surrounding communities.

Legion Auxiliary Receives Citation

The American Legion auxiliary of Ord received a citation from the Nebraska State department for excellent work done in rehabilitation work the past year.

The auxiliary has donated to the Veterans' Hospital at Lincoln for the following projects: "Gifts to the Yanks Who Gave," Gold Star Project, Gift Shop and has sent several robes for use in the hospital. The Gift Shop is a shop maintained by auxiliaries all over the state where the veterans in the hospital may get gifts for their families free of charge at Christmas time.

The Ord auxiliary sponsors contests in the local schools to stress the Legion Americanism program. This year more than 80 contestants took part in the contest. The poppy campaign sponsored by the auxiliary is an outlet for the poppies which are made by the hospitalized veterans, who have no other means of making money.

Locally the auxiliary has provided Christmas baskets for several families, voted to maintain a World War I veteran's son while he is in school for special training, and to buy a share in the hospital and gave generously to all drives for money. Several members received certificates of appreciation from President Truman for helping with the registration of men for the draft last September. The auxiliary has also brought in a large amount of material to be sent to the hospital where it will be in occupational therapy work for the veterans. The rug weaving teaches coordination of mind and hands and therefore is used extensively there. It is also a means of money-making, for the rugs that are made are sold for the veteran who makes them.

County Gas Tax and Schroder Tax Money for May

More Than $5,000 in Two Funds, Reports Co. Treasurer Wilson.

The gas tax money and Schroeder road money for May has been received at the county treasurer's office, Treas. Wilson reports. This fund usually arrives about the tenth of the succeeding month. The amount of the gas tax apportionment for Valley county for May is $3,051.50, while the Schroeder money, used for graveling rural mail routes, amounts to $2,034.33.

4-H Club Members of Six Counties Held Meet in Ord

District Judging Day Brought 250 Members from Extended Area.

More than two hundred and fifty, 4-H club members and leaders from Valley, Loup, Garfield, Wheeler, Greeley and Sherman counties met in Ord Monday for the district 4-H judging day.

Classes in home economics judging were held at the Ord high school, while livestock judges worked on sheep and hogs at the W. O. Zangger farm in the afternoon. Also in the afternoon the dairy club members judged dairy cattle at the Evet Smith farm.

Instruction was given by representatives of the Agricultural Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, K. C. Fouts was in charge of livestock work, C. W. Nibler handled dairy judging and Allerga Wilkens and a group of assistants took care of the home economics projects. County Agent, C. C. Dale and Katherine Helzer, Home Agent, who were in charge of arrangements, were highly pleased with the fine turnout and with the quality of the instructions.

Special thanks are due to the local folks who cooperated by assembling and preparing their livestock for the judging classes. To Max Cruckshank, who trucked his Hampshire hogs over from Arcadia for the occasion, Jack Kell who brought in the sheep, to the Zanggers who did a lot of work in getting their cattle assembled and prepared for showing. Evet Smith for the use of his good dairy cattle and to the neighbors who brought their saddle horses to the Zangger farm for the occasion. Included in the latter group were Gilbert Babcock, Greta Oliver, Vernon Thomas, Janet Markwick and Charles Zangger.

A word of appreciation is also due to the school authorities for the use of the facilities at the high school and to the chairman of the Commerce, Agriculture Committee for underwriting the expense of assembling the sheep and hog classes at the fair grounds, and to the many local leaders and parents who furnished transportation for club members.

Much interest is being shown by representatives of the companies, and it is understood that the figures on the bids are very close. The bids are for three separate items, and require most careful consideration.

Jim Kucera Wins in Hot Rod Race at Hastings Sunday

Will Compete Every Sunday Until July 4, When Trophy Given.

Jim Kucera, truck driver for Romans Transfer, is quite a race driver as well. Last year he bought a hot rod rig, with which he competed in the races at Hastings. He ran into bad luck then and wrecked his car.

Accompanied by Don Waldmann, also a Roman, he went to Hastings last Sunday and competed in the hot rod races there, winning two first places and one third place, after getting off to a bad start with slow time in the time trials.

Kucera is having his job worked on this week in preparation for the races at Hastings next week. These will continue each Sunday until July 4, at which time a trophy will be awarded to the one of the fellows who attend each Sunday and show the fastest times on the average. The races there started a week ago Sunday.

Army, Airforce to Send Personnel to VFW Meeting

Representatives of the army and the airforce will be featured speakers at the July meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be held Monday evening, June 20, at the Veterans' Club.

Members of the post will also hear reports from delegates who attended the state encampment at Omaha June 12-15, and will make plans for further summer activities of the post.

Two to Kearney as Result of Elyria Robbery Last Week

Four Broke into Tavern at Elyria, Took Money Cigarettes and Beer

As a result of breaking into the Ralph Zukoski tavern Friday, June 3, and taking money and merchandise, four young fellows were haled into district court Thursday morning on charges filed by Ralph W. Norman, county attorney.

Richard Wampole, 22, was charged with breaking and entering. Leonard Hurbert, William Wetzel and Laverne Pesta were charged with delinquency under the juvenile delinquency act, all of them being minors.

Wampole was paroled to Sheriff Robert G. Hall, Hurbert was paroled to Clyde Baker, district court clerk, and Wetzel and Pesta were sent to the Kearney Industrial school by Judge Spikes, who presided.

The Pesta boy apparently was the leader, said the judge, which was the reason for sending him to Kearney. Young Wetzel had been mixed up in several minor escapades before.

E. Armstrong Wins Insurance Award

Ed Armstrong, member of Armstrong and Armstrong Insurance agency, was one of seven life insurance underwriters in the north central Nebraska territory to be honored with the National Quality award at a meeting of the Grand Island Life Underwriters at Grand Island Saturday.

The awards are made annually by the Life Insurance Agency Management association, and the National Association of Life Underwriters in recognition of high standards of professional service and achievement on the part of field representatives of all companies throughout the United States.

Mr. Armstrong represented the Guarantee Mutual Life company. The others receiving the award were Ving Morris, Arden Wolf, Forrest Ritchie, Charles Stewart, Bill Burton and Russell Snygg, all of Grand Island. The awards were presented by B. J. Cunningham, Mayor of Grand Island.

Monday evening visitors of Mrs. Anna Polak were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Geneski, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zilkmond and Mrs. Lillian Novotny.

Dr. W. J. Hemphill, beloved North Loup physician, and "god father" to nearly three thousand babies in the North Loup vicinity, ended a life of service to his community Sunday. He died quietly in his seat in an Omaha theatre. Swopes photo.

Dr. Hemphill of North Loup Dies

Takes Patient to Omaha Hospital, Is Found Dead Later.

Dying as he wished to go, Dr. W. J. Hemphill of North Loup passed on in an Omaha theatre Saturday evening of a heart attack, quickly, quietly and in the midst of life's work, as he had taken a patient to an Omaha hospital that day. He was 75.

Accompanied by Harry Gillespie and Mrs. Bartz, the doctor had taken Otto Bartz to the Clarkson hospital in Omaha that day. As he did not feel equal to the task of the long drive, he asked Mr. Gillespie to go along to do the driving.

That evening Dr. Hemphill followed a favorite custom of his in recent years and passed on peacefully in Omaha, apparently in the best of spirits, and attended a moving picture show, to rest, relax and enjoy himself.

There he was found at about midnight, everything indicating that he had passed on peacefully, possibly while asleep. A prescription pad from the Vochchal pharmacy was found in his pocket, and Mr. Vochchal was notified at once as to what had happened.

Dr. Hemphill came to North Loup in February, 1902, succeeding Dr. F. O. Bartz, who was retiring. He had just graduated from a medical college in Chicago. He lived to give the North Loup community 47 years of faithful service. Of him it can be truly said: "He was sick and yet he died."

No call ever came when the weather was too severe or his illness to great for him to go. He made his calls on rich and poor alike, never hesitating over the question of whether he would be paid for his services.

More than three thousand babies were "his babies," brought into the world by him. In many recent years he would often go on similar calls, regardless of his own state of health, because, as he said: "I was with her when her other children were born, and she wants me."

Slow to express his opinion on a case, when his diagnosis was made it was seldom wrong. The arduous service he rendered took toll of his health. For a number of years his heart had been weak. Recently he told a friend that he did not have long to live and expressed the wish that he would "go out like a light."

Last July 11, Dr. and Mrs. Hemphill celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and Ed Swopes took a candid shot of the doctor as he was looking over congratulatory mail. That picture is shown in this issue of the Quiz.

Funeral services are being held from the Seventh Day Baptist church in North Loup, this Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Dr. and Mrs. Hemphill were raised in this faith, and were faithful attendants all through their married life.

Dr. Hemphill felt that his mission in this world was nearly ended and felt that he was ready to go. He has gone to a well-deserved rest, but in the community he served so long, there is a feeling of irreparable loss. He will be long remembered for what he has done.

Inez Eberhart and Friends Enjoyed 4,000 Mile Trip Through Southwest

Inez Eberhart, in company with friends from Madison and Fairbury, returned Friday from a 4,000 mile auto trip through the Southwest.

At Amarillo, Texas they drove through the residential area hit by the recent tornado. From there they went to the Carlisle Caverns. The tour of the caverns took 3 1/2 hours of walking, and they saw only 2 1/2 miles of the 23 that have been explored.

Some time was spent in Juarez, Chihuahua, sight-seeing and shopping. The travelers purchased mangoes, a tropical fruit which none of them had ever tasted. However, officials at the border told them they were not allowed to take fruit back into Texas, so they walked half way back across the Rio Grande River bridges and there, under a broiling sun, they ate the delicious mangoes.

The next point of interest was the White Sands National Monument, not far from Las Cruces, New Mexico. This is a strip 6x25 miles, consisting of high dunes of pure white sand, with little or no vegetation.

Near Tucson, Arizona they drove through the Saguaro National Monument. This is a forest of giant saguaros. These sometimes attain a height of 50 feet. At this time of the year the cacti, as well as the other desert wild flowers, are in bloom and are most beautiful.

Out of Tucson a short distance, they saw the adobe town constructed purposely for use in the filming of "Old Tucson."

The Great House, near Casa Grande, is a watch tower-apartment house, four stories high, built by Indians about 1300 A. D. It was made of poured adobe and the walls are several feet thick. The remains are now protected by a steel roof on tall supports.

Walnut Canyon, near Flagstaff, was of interest because it contains Indian homes built before 1000 A. D. The dwellings were built beneath wide overhanging rock ledges. Between two and three hundred are scattered about on the steep walls of the 400-foot-deep canyon. Many are in a good state of preservation.

The party then drove to the Grand Canyon, the painted desert, and the petrified forest. In this forest they also saw a number of prehistoric Indian writings.

Not far from Winslow, Arizona, they visited Meteor Crater. This crater is three miles in circumference, 570 feet deep, and 4,100 feet wide. It was formed by a meteor believed to have fallen about 50,000 years ago.

At Santa Fe they went into the oldest house in the U. S. It was part of an old pueblo, and was first seen by white men in 1541. Here, also, is located the oldest mission in the U. S. It was built in 1608. Several other old missions were visited during the course of the trip. In Santa Fe they inspected the oldest public building in the U. S. Part of it was constructed about a decade before the Pilgrims landed in America.

The travelers saw a number of different Indian tribes. They have many tiny adobe huts along the highway where they display and sell their wares. The party also went into several Indian homes in the largest pueblo in America at Taos, New Mexico.

At Canon City, Colorado, they saw the Royal George, and they drove through Florence, Colorado the morning following the flood there. Visits with Denver, Holbrook, and Arapahoe friends concluded the three-weeks' trip.

DAVIS CREEK

Sunday a twisting wind with one inch of rain struck at the Wm. Valasek farm, Oliver Morgan was sweeping hay and lacked about three loads of having his stack finish when the storm struck. He drove his team hitched to the sweep into the shelter of the hay stack. When one horse was knocked to the ground by lightning, he and his son, Marvin, were standing within a few feet of the team. A large tree was twisted off at the Wm. Valasek's as the wind seemed to come from every direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Leonard came from Iowa last week to bring Mrs. Anna Tappan home. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cummins and family attended a family picnic in their honor Sunday at Bussel park at Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Bader and two children of Park Dale, Ore., came Saturday to visit Oliver Morgans and left Sunday just before the storm. From 3 to 1 1/2 inches of rain was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Jablondil and Wilma Lou and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jablondil and sons were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Wm. Valasek. Mrs. Jablondil is a sister of Mr. Valasek.

Cecil Van Hoosen went to Grand Island Sunday after Mrs. Van Van Hoosen. Monday evening she visited her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Linke.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jorgensen spent Sunday at Kenneth Jorgensen's.

Mrs. Della Manchester and Howard were at Harry Wallers Sunday.

Phillip Mrsny, jr., was a guest of his parents, Phillip, sr., Sunday night. His father took him to Ord Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson called at the John Palsters Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sample were Sunday dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sample. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson spent Sunday afternoon at Guy's.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolfe, Mrs. Francis Tolen and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson attended the Reed vs Reed trial in Loup City Thursday of last week.

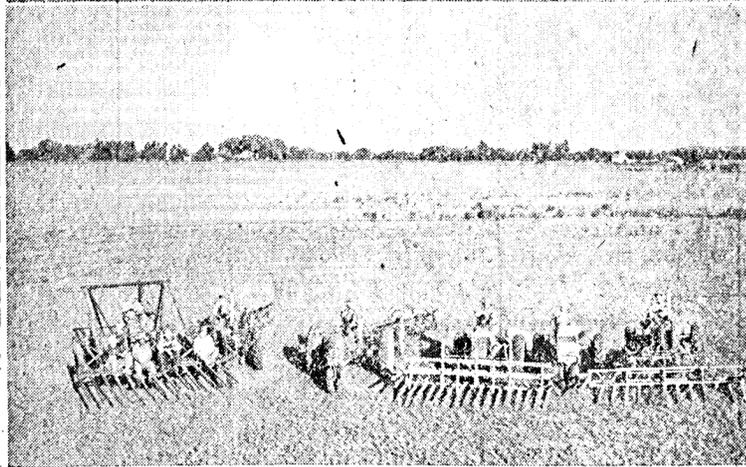

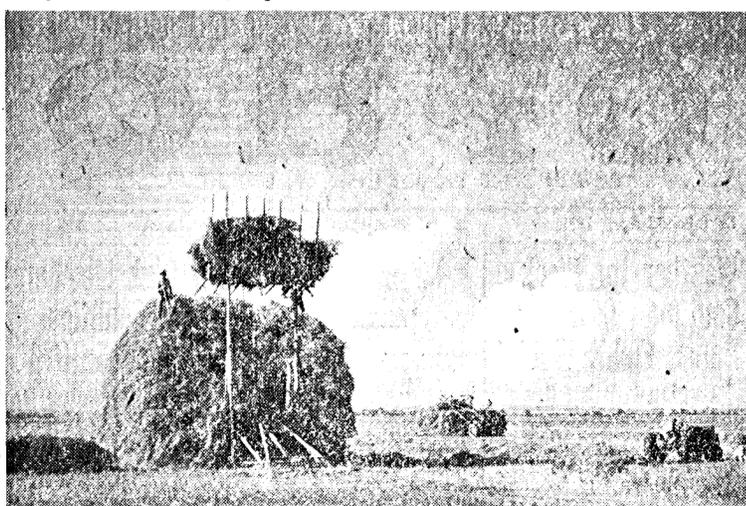

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wolfe and Lore were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johns at Ord Sunday afternoon.

Fat Cattle Up Monday at Omaha

On supply almost halved from a week earlier, fat cattle Monday at Omaha sold strong to 50c higher—largely 25-50c up, bulk $25.75-$27.00, heifers to $26.25, mixed yearlings to $27.40, and steers to $28.50. Top steers were 1259 pound Iowa's with 1242 pound Nebraska's $28.60. Plain to medium shortfells ranged downward from $23.00.

Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area: Garfield county: Edward Clow, 32 steers, wt. 707, $25; Carl Clow, 11 steers, wt. 710, $25. Smith and Stanton, 12 steers, wt. 974, $24.50. Valley county: E. J. Lange, 32 steers, wt. 1028, $24.75. Steve Jablonski, 24 steers, wt. 860, $26.25. Bert Huff, 40 steers and heifers, wt. 1017, $26.50; 3 heifers, wt. 813, $25.

Neighbors Hold Haying Bee for Kenneth Timmerman

Because of the illness and death of his father, Herman Timmerman, Kenneth Timmerman got behind with his work. A group of his neighbors held a haying bee, Saturday and Monday, and got most of 50 acres of fine hay in the stack. The above photos by Swopes show them at work, and lined up to have their picture taken. In the group are Art Johp, Dar Lee, John Mason, Hallen Mason, Carl Danczek, Anton Danczek, Joe Rutar, Ross Leonard.

Methodist Church
L. V. Hasell, pastor
Next Sunday, the morning subject is: "Christ, the World's Hope for Peace." We are here for the new conference year and we are going to work hard. Let us urge everyone to form the habit of going to church every Sunday. The life of the church must depend upon the spirit manifested in its worship hour. If the church fails, it is because its members fail.

We must worship regularly in order to keep our conscience alert and know what the church is doing throughout the world. Let us put Christ first and our influence and spiritual power will become real.

We decided to have our next meeting at the Ord park on our regular meeting day in August. We will all bring sandwiches and have cookies and ice cream.

Several "Secret Sister Gifts" were received. After a short business meeting we all had a good visit and the hostesses served a very tasty lunch. Other guests were Mrs. Hattie Burson and Mrs. Harrison.

Ervin Urwiller to Erect Store

Ervin Urwiller of Ravenna has purchased the vacant lots south of the city auditorium, and has announced that he will erect a brick and tile building thereon and go into the implement business.

He will also handle a full line of farming equipment. He has moved a small building from his farm, which will serve as an office and temporary warehouse until the new building is finished.

C. C. Dale Issues Warning in Regard to Green Grain Bug

Aphid Attacks Fields of Spring Grain. Is Doing Much Damage.

Within the past couple of weeks the chances for a good crop of oats and barley in Valley county, have gone out the window according to C. C. Dale. The spring grain aphid, or green bug has completely wrecked many fields and has greatly reduced the prospective yields on 90% of the county acreage. It is also working on some of the late wheat fields, but most of the wheat is too far advanced for the aphids to injure seriously, Dale believes. He says that although it may be possible to dust or spray for control of the aphids, many fields are too far gone for control work to be practical. The aphids live and feed on the under side of the leaves and any spray or dust must cover the under side of the leaves to be effective. The aphids feed by sucking the juice from the plant and the insecticide must cover the insects themselves and not the plant. Stomach poisons are not effective because the green bug does not eat the leaves.

Following is a statement prepared by the Department of Entomology of the College of Agriculture.

The spring grain aphid, commonly known as the green bug, occurs in periodic outbreaks primarily in the central portion of the United States. Texas and Oklahoma are most severely damaged by this insect although Kansas and Missouri and occasionally Nebraska are involved.

This aphid passes the winter in the northern region as eggs on the wheat plants and in the southern part of its range it passes the winter in the active stage. Development can take place at a temperature of 46 degrees F. and young are born at that temperature. Its greatest rate of reproduction is around 55 degrees F. which accounts for its ability to build up under cool moist conditions. The generations are successive one after the other as long as the plants are growing. It is primarily a pest of wheat and oats but also attacks other small grains and can survive on certain native grasses. During the growing season all the aphids are females and give birth to from one to eight young per day over a period of two or three weeks. The young can reach maturity in a period of from seven to eight days although under adverse conditions the development may be slower.

These aphids are normally kept under control by natural enemies such as ladybird beetles, lacewing flies, and small wasps which lay their eggs in the aphid and the developing larvae kill the host.

The aphid for its greatest development is dependent upon volunteer growths of small grain or early planted wheat fields. Therefore, control will revolve around the control of volunteer grain and delayed planting in the fall. By destroying volunteer grain and delaying wheat planting the aphids will have no major host to develop on and therefore their population will remain low. The destruction of volunteer grain will also help in keeping down the green bug population. This practice in controlling aphids is also apparently been in that part of the state where volunteer wheat is permitted to grow and where the Hessian fly is now the greatest problem.

Control of these aphids with insecticides can be accomplished by using a 3/4 gamma benzene hexachloride at 10 to 12 pounds per acre as a dust. Sprays may be used provided they can be applied so as to contact aphids with the insecticide. If sprays are used the applications should contain 1 1/2 to 2 pound gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride to the acre.

Real Estate AUCTION

At our regular Saturday sale, at 2:30 o'clock, we will sell to the highest bidder the late Hans Bossen farm, now owned by the heirs, legally known as the SE 1/4 of Section 10-19-15.

Saturday, June 25

This farm consists of 161 acres, more or less, according to government survey. The tract is located 4 miles west and 1 mile north of the northwest corner of the Ord city park.

It is an improved tract but the buildings have not been occupied the past several years. They consist of the following: Five room house in fair condition. Good milk house 10x14. Barn holds 6 head of horses with stanchions for 8 cows and hay mow. This building is good. Small hog house, cattle shed and chicken house in fair condition.

There are approximately 60 acres of tillable land in several tracts. Balance of tract is in native grass and buffalo and grama. Tract is all fenced and cross fenced. Casing well, windmill is blown down but can be repaired.

The tillable land needs building up with alfalfa or sweet clover, but here is a tract that properly handled will get more valuable every year you own it.

It will be sold on the following terms: One-half cash on day of sale as security of contract, balance on or before August 1st. Abstract will be furnished, 1948 taxes paid, and possession given at once.

Attend Banquet at E. U. B. Church
Approximately 100 men and boys were in attendance at the Father-Son banquet held Monday evening, June 13, at 6:30 p. m. in the church parlors of the Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren church. The theme for the evening "baseball" was cleverly carried out in the decorations and in the program that followed. Maynard Schulz, president of the church Brotherhood was master of ceremonies for the evening and gave a baseball "warm up." Batter's up for the evening were Archie and Martin Mason who presented a clever skit. Strikes for the evening were by George Clement, who gave a talk. The Mira Valley male quartet composed of Harold, Kenneth and Orel Koelling and Harry Poth, and accompanied by Mrs. Edwin Leinz scored the base hits for the evening by presenting two musical selections. A "home run" talk was given by Bishop C. H. Stauffer D.D., L.L.D., guest speaker of the evening who was here for the dedication of the new parsonage.

Happy Helpers Meet.
The Happy Helpers, Learning to Cook club, met Thursday, June 9th at the home of our leader, Mrs. Charles Casselton. Seven members were present. We had two visitors, Miss Katherine Helzer, Home Extension Agent, and Judy Harvey. We are sorry to lose two good members, Clarice Dodd and Sandra Misko, both leaving Ord to live elsewhere. Clarice Dodd was secretary-treasurer of our club and has been replaced by Nola Alderman, former vice-president. Patricia Houser is our newly-elected vice-president.
It was decided at this meeting that the club would meet Thursday P. M. of each week now that school is out. Games were played after the meeting following which ice cream bars and vanilla wafers were served by the acting hostess, Helen Clark. The next regular meeting will be Thursday, June 16 at 3:30 at the leader's home. The club enjoyed and gained themselves considerable knowledge Monday June 13th at the 4-H judging day at the high school for all 4-H clubs. We hope all the clubs benefited as much as we did.—Reporter, Audrey Casselton.

Richard E. Palsler Promoted on Guam
Sergeant Richard E. Palsler, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Palsler, North Loup, Neb., has recently been promoted to the grade of staff sergeant. Staff Sergeant Palsler is currently serving with the Far East Air Forces on the Pacific Island of Guam.
A member of the headquarters and headquarters squadron, Palsler performs administration duties under the supervision of the adjutant of the 647th station group on Harmon Air Force Base.
Palsler graduated from North Loup high school, class of '43, where he was active in football and basketball. Two years later he entered the military services at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Staff Sergeant Palsler remembers his most important assignment to be when he was with the 28th bomb group, taking training at Fort Richardson, Alaska. Last year he was transferred to Hamilton Air Force Base in California for his assignment overseas with the Far East Air Forces.
Sailing from San Francisco aboard the United States army transport General Collins on July 8, 1948, Staff Sergeant Palsler arrived on Guam two weeks later. He expects to return to the United States in September of this year for reassignment.

Frazier Superintendent of Schools at Scotia
R. W. Frazier, who served as superintendent of schools at Bladen the past two years, has been elected in a similar capacity in the Scotia Consolidated schools, taking the place of Henry C. Jensen, the new deputy state superintendent.
Mrs. Frazier was elected to teach English in the Scotia schools for the coming year, thus completing the list of teachers. Mr. Frazier has served as coach at Osceola and as superintendent at Stratton before going to Bladen.

Robbers Hit Anderson's Grocery Store, Burwell
The Anderson Grocery at Burwell was the victim of burglars recently. The robber, or robbers, found and took thirty dollars in cash, but apparently did not care for any of the groceries.
Entry was made through a north window and down the grocery shelves on that side, indicating intimate knowledge of the place. All checks and small change were left in the register.

Faster, more accurate seeding with A MASSEY-HARRIS GRAIN DRILL

A fast operating, accurate seeding Massey-Harris Grain Drill goes a long way toward holding your production costs down... keeping profits up. What's more, your seed costs are cut to a minimum... yields are increased. Massey-Harris drills seed all of your grain properly... exactly as you set the per-acre quantity. There's no bunching or skipping.

When your grain is up, it's an even stand from fence line to fence line. Harvesting is easier. An even flow going through your combine results in cleaner separation, more grain. Look into these Massey-Harris drills with their huskier construction, constant height lift, front pressure tension on the discs, and dependable center seed delivery. See us soon for complete details.

CO-OPERATIVE COMMON SENSE

THIS CERTIFIES THAT WE THINK EVERYBODY SHOULD PAY TAXES EXCEPT US CO-OPS

PHONY BUCKS

TELL "PHONY" STORY

You probably have seen one of those "phony" dollar bills that are making the rounds. "Co-op bucks" they are called. They're good for a chuckle—even though they do slander legitimate taxpaying farm cooperatives.

The kids love 'em. That's only natural—because the "phony" bucks are sort of childish, at that. They try in a silly way to put across the false story that cooperatives do not pay taxes.

That charge is just as "phony" as the "phony" bucks. YOU know, of course, that CO-OPS DO PAY TAXES.

The "unfunny" part about the "phony" bucks, though, is that they were not dreamed up by a bunch of kids to "play store" or to get a laugh. They were concocted, and they are being printed and distributed, by grown-up men.

They are part of a planned, deliberate, sinister nationwide campaign to smear taxpaying co-ops like the co-ops right here in Valley County. There's a lot of BIG MONEY behind this vicious campaign. Congressmen right now are trying to ferret out the names of the main contributors to the sponsoring national pressure groups.

We're sure the folks of Valley County are too smart to be taken in by the childish propaganda of the "big money" interests who don't like to see farmers run their own business organizations.

But some people handing out the "phony" bucks are innocent persons who do not fully realize whose ax they are grinding—or what is back of the "phony" buck.

So, for the information of all who want to know the truth, here is proof that co-ops DO PAY TAXES.

WE PAID THESE TAXES IN 1948:

Taxes Paid by Ord Cooperative Creamery in 1948—

Ord Shuts Out Arcadia 2-0 to Hold Lead

Patrick Throws Two-Hit Ball Backed by Fine Fielding.

Behind the two hit pitching of Patrick, and the heavy slugging of Rolfe Beran, Ord blanked Arcadia 2-0 on the Arcadia diamond Sunday.

The game was scoreless going into the first half of the fourth when Beran led off with a clean single to right field. Stealing second he came home with Ord's first run on a single to left by Wozniak.

The locals put the game on ice in the ninth, when Beran set up the pins with another single, advanced to second on an error by the Arcadia first baseman and scored on Patrick's blow to center field.

Both teams played tight ball, with errors charged at two apiece. The Ord infield was exceptionally effective, handling plenty of chances. Patrick whiffed four batters and Beasley, on the mound for Arcadia, had a bad pitcher in the league, showed plenty of stuff on the ball with thirteen strikeouts.

The locals engage St. Paul Wednesday evening at St. Paul in their first night game and first outside the loop this season. On Sunday, June 19, they journey to Ansley, and the following Sunday, June 26, meet Broken Bow at the Custer county seat. Mason City, who tripped Ord 4-1 in their first game of the season, play here on July 3.

If plans work out, extra seating capacity may be in store for local patrons on the next home game. Nearly all material for the new lights has arrived. Poles are still lacking, and are not expected in time to be of service by July 3. If present plans can be carried out, proposed new bleachers may be erected ahead of the lighting construction.

Bluegill Entered in Quiz Fishing Contest This Week

Other Classes Remain Unchanged; Fishermen too Busy Now to Fish.

The only change in the standings in the big Quiz fishermen's contest this week is a new entry in the bluegill department, which takes top billing by half an ounce over any yet listed.

The new entrant is Lynn Darwin Rice, son of Hubert Rice, and he caught his bluegill at Psota's Lake near Ericson June 5, with a cane pole and a worm for bait.

The standings: Catfish — Otto Schroder, first, wt. 11 1/2 lbs.; Frank Coufal, second, wt. 9 lbs., 3 oz.; Jake Schmidt, third, wt. 7 1/2 lbs. Bluegills — Lynn Rice first, wt. 9 1/2 oz.; Anna Mraz, second, wt. 9 oz.; Leroy Wells, third, wt. 7 oz.

Crappie — Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt first, wt. 1 lb. 3 oz.; Women — Tied for first, Rose Suchanek and Margaret Zulkoski, wt. 6 lbs.; third, Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, 1 lb., 3 oz.

American Legion Lads Win Easily from North Loup

Sunday Game Ends 17 to 1; Geneski Hits Two Homers

Playing a fine brand of baseball all the way, the Nelson Motors Junior Legion team of Ord tackled a 17 to 1 defeat on the Junior Legion team from North Loup at Ord Athletic park Sunday. The game was called at the end of 5 innings to give the Midgets a chance to play.

The North Loup team, piloted by Dale Stine, was without the services of some of their star players, and so were no match for Ord. High lights of the game were two home runs by D. Geneski, and one by Ken Collins, Ord's center fielder.

Don Geneski and Ken Clement shared the mound duties and both were pitching a good game. The team is showing a lot of improvement in fielding and hitting as the season progresses. Ord's next regular game will be with Burwell to start at 6 p. m. Thursday evening at the Ord Athletic field.

The game between the Ord and North Loup midget teams was rained out Sunday at the end of the first inning with the score 2 to 0 Ord. Johnny Douthit had singled and scored on a home run by Fiskorski. The Ord Midgets are playing Loup City tonight at 5 p. m. at Ord Athletic field.

Swim Pool Popular in Spite of Cool Weather Past Week

Weekly Schedule Shows What Is Planned for Summer.

There are 75 registered for class instruction at the Ord Municipal Swim pool, with room for more. All who are at all interested should come and learn how. There will be registration for class instruction after July 5. More adults should take lessons. The lessons are free.

People should take advantage of the pool and send their children. The kids will enjoy the pool more if they learn how to swim and how to use the pool. The local Red Cross is sponsoring the swimming lessons, so there is no charge for instruction.

The pool will close Saturday night for cleaning purposes. The Coke machine was installed Monday. There are some new front lights to the pool, but these are awaiting reflectors. There are brand new men's and ladies' bathing suits for sale.

The reason behind this decision is interesting. There was a very good acreage in the county in 1918, and this yielded one of the heaviest crops in the history of the business. For this reason the farmers would not doubt have been glad to plant more this year. Last year some fields paid as much as $200 per acre.

The problem facing the pop corn industry now is to find more uses for the product, rather than to raise it in increasing quantities. Corn, and especially pop corn, is one American product that does not take well in the foreign market, in England, especially.

Ord buyers do not have as much contracted this year as they had last year. Noil Seed company had about 1,200 acres contracted last year. This year the amount has been reduced to 900 acres. Nine hundred acres at a normal yield would probably amount to about two-thirds as much as was grown in the heavy crop of last year.

Because of the use to which it is put, pop corn now comes under the pure food and drug act, and growers and dealers have to handle it with much more care than was once used. In the old days it could be shelled and sold. Then it had to be cleaned to sell, and now the gravity cleaner is used.

I. W. Eschliman for the Ord Seed and Grain company stated Saturday that their acreage this year is cut down nearly one half to what it was last year, but it is a special number.

Ericson, Ord, North Loup and Wobach lodges were represented at the meeting. The following officers were elected for coming year. President, Thelma Thomas, North Loup; Vice-President, Lizzie Shafer, Burwell; Warden, Mavis Booth, Ericson; Secretary, Maxine Copeland, North Loup; Treasurer, Janice Wagner, Wobach.

Attending the meeting from Ord were Alcee Wozab, Mae McGinnis, Florence Clark, Laura Nolte, Sylvia Stewart and Faye Good.

Governor in Approval of Legislative Plan
Governor Val Peterson has voiced his approval of removing the non-partisan feature of Nebraska's unicameral, and also of increasing the number of its members.

A group of Nebraskans is busy circulating petitions, urging that the voters in 1950 be given a chance to increase the membership. The Governor is also in favor of extending the term to four years, and having the legislature meet every year.

Pop Corn Planting Lighter This Year: Greater Surplus

Heavy Yield in 1948 Causes Less Acreage During 1949 Season

The pop corn crop for 1949 will be considerably lighter in Valley county in 1949 than it was in 1948, according to the consensus of opinions given by dealers in Ord and North Loup. The reason for this is largely because the seed companies were not willing to contract as large an acreage as they did last year.

The reason behind this decision is interesting. There was a very good acreage in the county in 1918, and this yielded one of the heaviest crops in the history of the business. Governor in Approval of Legislative Plan
Governor Val Peterson has voiced his approval of removing the non-partisan feature of Nebraska's unicameral, and also of increasing the number of its members.

A group of Nebraskans is busy circulating petitions, urging that the voters in 1950 be given a chance to increase the membership. The Governor is also in favor of extending the term to four years, and having the legislature meet every year.

Pop Corn Planting Lighter This Year: Greater Surplus
Heavy Yield in 1948 Causes Less Acreage During 1949 Season

The pop corn crop for 1949 will be considerably lighter in Valley county in 1949 than it was in 1948, according to the consensus of opinions given by dealers in Ord and North Loup. The reason for this is largely because the seed companies were not willing to contract as large an acreage as they did last year.

The reason behind this decision is interesting. There was a very good acreage in the county in 1918, and this yielded one of the heaviest crops in the history of the business. For this reason the farmers would not doubt have been glad to plant more this year. Last year some fields paid as much as $200 per acre.

The problem facing the pop corn industry now is to find more uses for the product, rather than to raise it in increasing quantities. Corn, and especially pop corn, is one American product that does not take well in the foreign market, in England, especially.

Ord buyers do not have as much contracted this year as they had last year. Noil Seed company had about 1,200 acres contracted last year. This year the amount has been reduced to 900 acres. Nine hundred acres at a normal yield would probably amount to about two-thirds as much as was grown in the heavy crop of last year.

Because of the use to which it is put, pop corn now comes under the pure food and drug act, and growers and dealers have to handle it with much more care than was once used. In the old days it could be shelled and sold. Then it had to be cleaned to sell, and now the gravity cleaner is used.

I. W. Eschliman for the Ord Seed and Grain company stated Saturday that their acreage this year is cut down nearly one half to what it was last year, but it is a special number.

Ericson, Ord, North Loup and Wobach lodges were represented at the meeting. The following officers were elected for coming year. President, Thelma Thomas, North Loup; Vice-President, Lizzie Shafer, Burwell; Warden, Mavis Booth, Ericson; Secretary, Maxine Copeland, North Loup; Treasurer, Janice Wagner, Wobach.

Aeroplane Crop-Dusting

There is so much damage being done crops by insects that we have arranged with Johansen Farm Supply to furnish us with crop dusting service if it is wanted in this section. If you want information on this service we will be glad to give you the information. Much of the small grain is being damaged by insects and some of it is being lost. Many fields are not damaged so badly but that would it pay to have them dusted. This dusting is very good in fighting insects on potato blight. We believe that this is something that should be tried out in our valley.

Early Seed Corn

If you have fields that you want to plant to early corn we can furnish you with seed that is early enough to make a good crop of corn. Last year after hailstorm along the river we furnished this same number of corn and in all cases it made good solid corn. Remember this corn does not have to have but 85 to 90 days to make good mature corn. It would be much better to plant a real early corn and have mature early corn than to plant a late variety and possibly have it frozen in the fall.

Forage Crops

Have a very good stock of canes; Sunac, Black Amber, Orange and genuine Leoti Red. Also have Atlas Sorgo, Axtel Sorgo, and Norkan as well as Kaffir, Tien, Milo and Early Kalo. Then we have Millets and Sudan grass. This seed should be planted as soon as it is possible to get into the fields.

Grains

The grain market has been much stronger the past week and we are in need of some good yellow corn. If you have good dry corn we would like to buy it. And we want to buy the other grain that you have to sell at the present time.

Hyline Chicks

We have been getting in some very good Hy-Line chicks that are three to four weeks old. Get these started chicks and you will get much earlier eggs this fall.

Community Hospital.

It is doubtful if the people of this area were ever given a more worthy project to support than is being offered today, when shares in the projected community hospital are being offered for sale. This project differs materially from many that have been projected and put over in the past, in that the public is not asked to donate, but to invest.

While there is no assurance that the shares in the hospital will prove a profitable investment, there is every reason to believe that they will be. In a proposition of this kind, the determination of profit depends on the interest the public takes in the investment. There is every reason to believe that a business in which a large number of people in the entire area have made an investment, will be patronized by those people, and will show a profit at the end of each year of business. Co-operative business is usually considered safe business. A share in the community hospital should be worth $100 to the head of any family in the community. The expense of getting to and from a more distant hospital, especially in time of emergency (most hospital cases are emergencies) will soon eat up that amount of money and the man who spends it has nothing to show for his investment. With an efficient hospital in the community, many cases that are now taken to Omaha could be taken care of right here at home, with much less expense. For example, the expense of taking a patient to Omaha, either by plane or ambulance, would run about $25. This expense could be eliminated entirely or much reduced by having a home hospital. Further, a patient in Omaha means expense of members of the family going down to visit them or staying there. By the time the patient would return home, the extra expense could easily reach $100, the price of a share in the Ord Community Cooperative hospital, Inc. Why not buy a share today?

My Own Column
By H. D. Leggett

Reading the newspapers and certain information letters convinces me that more attention is being paid to fixing the political fences for the 1950 election than to constructive legislation for the benefit of the people. What a Congress.

I am disappointed that something like fifty June 15 Quiz expirations have not yet renewed. Yes, they will get this week's paper, the issue of the 16th but all not renewed will have to be taken off the list before next week's paper is mailed.

In 1899 federal expenditures totaled 437 million dollars. This year of 1949, just 50 years later, the federal expenditures will total 45 billion dollars or more. And the end is not yet for the government, at this time is adding new employees at the rate of 250 more each day. Don't you think we should start writing our congressmen in protest?

Jake Bird, Tacoma, Washington ax slayer and who has admitted a part in 47 slayings over the years, try in recent years, while convicted over two years ago, has had his execution delayed a dozen times. A July date is now set for his execution but if he still has money no doubt another delay can be arranged. Some poor devil would have been executed and forgotten long ago.

A recent check which I made showed several errors in Quiz expirations dates. Those have been corrected and I hope I found them all, but it is human to make mistakes. If each subscriber, when he renews, would watch the date on his paper and see if it is correct and if not, see me or drop a postcard it would greatly help. I have often offered to hire someone to attend to the book work, who never makes a mistake but to date no such person has been found.

Very often a distant subscriber sends $3, instead of $3.50, then writes back to see why a full year's credit was not given. The Quiz price outside Nebraska is $3.50, in the state $3. A year. The reason is the very much higher postage rates in the more distant zones.

And that reminds me that we would like to have more letters for publication from the distant points. Your Valley county friends would be so glad to hear from you through the Quiz.

A wisecracker says that you can't make the rest of the world as rich as the United States. Yes, but if the present political trend continues we might make the United States as poor as the rest of the world is.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Then there is the one about the man who was always looking for bargains. He found his favorite clothing store was featuring a sale of odd pants, so he went in to buy, and found that the waist size of all pants for sale was 34 inches or less, while the smallest he could get into was 38. Knowing the store had such sales every year, he decided to diet. By so doing he would save food, improve his appearance and maybe be small enough to wear smaller pants. So he went through all the exercises of a healthy man trying to reduce. The process was long and tiresome, but finally, a year later, he found he weighed 31 pounds less and had a 34 waistline. When the store announced its annual sale he was the first one there to get his pick of the bargain breeches. To his dismay he found that the store had bought more of the larger sizes and fewer of the small sizes, with the result that the smallest pants on sale had a 38 waist line. Meanwhile he had nearly ruined his health trying to take off weight. Instead of looking better, he looked worse, because the process had caused many lines and wrinkles to form in his face that had not been there before. To add to his troubles, all the clothes he had were too big, so he had to give them away and buy new clothes. How like this man are some departments of the federal government. For many years now we have had some kind of crop regulations, some effort to control the number of bushels in the fall by planting in the spring. F.D.R. tried to create scarcity in the '30's by having little pigs killed, by having the government buy up surplus stock and kill it, by plowing under a part of the crops, all based on the probability of what a normal crop on what remains. Then the Lord took a hand in the proceedings, and 1934 was the driest year in modern history. "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof." And yet man should try to regulate the crops! Early last spring the crop reporter stated that winter wheat was not too good and we could expect only a fair crop. Only a few days ago the word was passed out that winter wheat prospects had improved so much that it is probable that crops will have to be limited of the acreage put in this fall because of the impending surplus. What the men in Washington should do is to take the Lord into partnership and consult Him once in a while.

I expect a lot of my friends will take exception to the above, but they will have to agree that there is a measure of truth in it. There are so many things that the Lord never intended us to try to regulate, and the harvest is one of them. That is the reason I am so opposed to the idea of crop control. Perhaps it is not a man's business, since the women have the babies, but don't forget that the man has to scratch to make a living for them. There are enough items on life's bill of fare to require man's attention without meddling with the future, which is in the hands of God. If we all do our level best in the present moment, after all, is the only part of eternity to which we can lay claim, the world will be much better because we have lived here.

Friday I had a fine visit with my old classmate, Irl Dentler Tolen, Class of 1904, Ord High School. I had not seen him since before the war. Except for the obvious fact that he has to sit in a chair he is looking fine. Irl is a fine man, and he should be, for he comes of fine stock. I believe he has learned two things that any man his age should know, to quit worrying and to take it easy. He is nearly the age when men are supposed to retire from steady work. In politics Irl is a democrat, as his father was before him, but he has never permitted politics to interfere in his duty to his fellow men. After all, politics should be a part of a man's private affairs, and of very little interest to the general public, who should know a man for what he is, not what ticket he votes or what church he attends.

Speaking of Irl reminds me of the first auto trip we took together. It was back in 1917 or 18, I had one of those one-cylinder Brush runabouts. I had been over to Miller, and stopped at Litchfield, where Irl was employed, to visit him. He decided he would like to come to Ord, so we staid back together, over the road on rutts that answered for roads in those days. A few miles out of Litchfield we went around a short curve on the side of a hill, where the road sloped to the outside, and there was danger of turning over. To prevent this I ran the car straight ahead and went over the bank of a canyon, landing in weeds eight feet high in the bottom.

We got out of that and came on North of Loup City we failed to go far enough east on the county line and got on a road that eventually petered out to a mere trail. That road had curved to go around the head of a pocket, but somebody had built a fence on the line, and we couldn't stop, so down we went, bumpety bump over catsteps two feet high until we got to the bottom. I headed for the other bank, saying that if we could make it down, we ought to make it up. "Not what you don't" said Irl. "If you want to break your neck, go ahead. I'll walk." And he did, until the road looked safe.

Yes, I could drive a car in those days, when it took a daredevil to take any car out on the average country road. Today I can't even get a driver's license to drive a modern car on the surfaced roads where it is a matter of a few feet less man to have an accident. Perhaps I am lucky, at that. Recently a couple about the age of Mrs. Ward and me, were driving along a highway, attending strictly to the matter of driving carefully, when a youth fellow with less brains than the law should require ran into their auto, and both of them were killed, in what was finally decided to be "an unavoidable accident." The young man escaped with a few cuts and bruises.

Daily Vacation Bible Bible School Ends

Daily Vacation Bible school closed with a demonstration at the Methodist church Friday evening. A nice display of the hand work on a table in the back of the church showed some of the work accomplished. Seventy-eight children were enrolled in the school which was held for three weeks in the forenoon at the school house. A picnic planned for the Ord park last Wednesday had to be held at the school house because of the rain. A registration fee of twenty-five cents was paid by each pupil and some other donations and the offering taken Friday night made enough to pay all expenses of the school. Four of the teachers were paid $15.00 for their three weeks' services, one teacher had $12.00 and the janitor $10.00. Three girls, Janice Knapp, Kathrine Severance and Jeanette Williams were awarded testaments for eight years of attendance at Bible school and Judy Ingerson a Bible for twelve years. Victor Thomas, Janet Thomas, Sharilyn King and Diane Knapp were given four year certificates.

Enrolled in the school, were Jackie Bridge, Loren, Ronald and Barbara Babcock, Janice Knapp, Ray Gene Stine, Judy Ingerson, Barbara Ingerson, Sonja Sintek, Dennis Cox, Phyllis Smith, Diane Knapp, Ann Friesen, Jolene Eberhart, Sandra Sheldon, Sherrie Sheldon, Sharilyn King, Sharon Eberhart, Kenneth Williams, Dennis Meyers, Patsy Meyers, Katherine Severance, Shirley Kather, Jeneane Brennick, Delores Knapp, Norma Kay and Betty Ann Jorgensen, Emanuel and Wilhelmina Skala, Pauline Jorgensen, Kenneth Cook, Joan Cress, Patty Thorngate, Sharon and Richard Brenner, Billie Brown, Jerry Stine, Agnes Drawbridge, Gary Hawkes, Linda Hawkes, Patsy Hawkes, Wilma Vodehnal, Jerrolin Scott, Ronnie Goodrich, Jacky Zangger, Idona Vodehnal, Sherry Cook, Ida Jensen, Terry Layler, Larry, Katherine and Marilyn Jensen, Ronnie and Jeanette Jensen, Karen, Shayne and Henry Layler, Nicky Smith, Charles, Robert, Dean and Mary Lou Lunsted, Janet and Victor Thomas, Betty Lou Thomas, Vida Ingerson, Jeanette, Verna Mae and Dean Williams, Ray Stine, Deanna Willoughby, Carleen Harbour, Ronnie, Gary and Ann Cummins, Wayne and Judy Sheldon and Patsy Annys.

Mrs. Fred Bartz taught the pre-school children and had twenty pupils, most of them attending every day. Alice Meyers taught the primary grade, Mrs. Donald Hutchins the third, fourth and fifth grades and Mrs. Harlon Bernnick the sixth and seventh. Marcia Rood taught the eighth graders. Rev. Harbour was supervisor till he went to Scottsbluff for the Methodist conference and Mrs. Bernnick took charge during his absence.

Bureau Seeks Vote on Road Tax Bills

The Nebraska Farm Bureau federation has announced that it will submit Governor Peterson's ten million dollar annual highway program to a vote of the people. The program was approved last month by the legislature by the passing of two bills, one hiking the gas tax from 5c to 6c a gallon, the other to increase vehicle registration fees.

The Nebraska Annual Conference Session

The Nebraska Annual Conference of the Methodist church met in Scottsbluff, June 3-8. This conference comprises the state of Nebraska. It is divided into eight districts with a district superintendent for each district. Ord is located in the Hastings district. There are 47 churches in the state. The membership of the conference consists of the active ministers, retired ministers and a layman from each church. There were 89 changes in appointments this year. One new district superintendent, Dr. E. A. Sabin of St. Paul, Omaha was appointed to the Northwest district. Some appointments of local interest are: L. V. Hassell, Ord; C. F. Harbour, North Loup; A. J. Hindman, Burwell; C. F. Cox, Erickson; C. W. Beulter, Arcadia; G. C. Roberson, Oxford; J. A. Moorman, Reits Memorial, Omaha; M. C. Smith, Dist. Supt., Holdrege Dist.; C. F. McConnell, Mitchell; Samuel Mitchell, Merna; E. E. Hosman, W. H. Wright and M. M. Long are retired.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 19, 1949.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Science, rising above physical theories, excludes matter, resolves things into thoughts, and replaces the objects of material sense with spiritual ideas." pp 123.

Summer Extension Course Is Offered

For the first time since 1942 Valley County was unable to offer an extension course for teachers in January, 1949. However, the summer extension course will be as scheduled.

The course to be offered will be "Visual Education Aids," Catalog Number 59, and will carry three hours of credit. The class will open on August 3. This will give teachers an opportunity to attend and to take part in the county fair and at the same time finish the course in time to use it before September 1. The Extension Department is not quite sure which one of the audio-visual instructors will have charge of the class, but it will be someone who has had experience in teaching in this field.

All teachers or other interested people should send their names to the County Superintendent's office at the earliest possible moment, in order that arrangements can be made for a room large enough to take care of the group.

Many inquiries have been coming in, not only from teachers in Valley county, but from interested people in adjoining counties. Where this class has been offered teachers are very enthusiastic, and since many of our schools are now on R.E.A. they are in a position to use even the more complex equipment in addition to the simpler audio-visual aids.

If you are interested in a Slice Wire Tie Baler, it will pay you to see us. New, very low prices have been announced by Oliver. Save time and labor.

Do Your Chickens Have GS FACTOR?

GS stands for GROWTH STIMULATION. The GS factor or group of benefits can be supplied to your chickens through Dr. Salsbury's REN-O-SAL, designed to:

1. Get poult off to a good start.
2. Grow birds faster.
3. Promote earlier egg production.
4. Improve pigmentation.
5. Promote better feathering.

If you want to grow better birds—broilers that develop weight earlier or pullets that start to lay sooner—give your flock the benefits of the G. S. factor found only in Dr. Salsbury's Ren-O-Sal.

We have it in tablets for drinking water and as powder for mash in convenient flock sizes.

Started Chicks

We still have a few started chicks, but we can't guarantee how long the supply will last. Call 324 and we'll probably be able to serve you.

Two of America's Most Popular Motor Cars

Pictured above are typical examples of the two smart and separate lines of cars which bear the current imprint of Pontiac goodness—the Streamliner and the Chiefline DeLuxe Sedan Coupes.

Each is in such demand that, on its own, it ranks among America's most popular cars today. That two cars of such decidedly different appearance should each enjoy such wide acceptance is easy to explain. THEY'RE BOTH PONTIACS!

While each has its own individualized smartness, both offer all the great basic Pontiac virtues. Both are conspicuously beautiful. Both carry the well-known promise of Pontiac quality—long life, dependability, and fine performance. Both afford the smooth, enjoyable performance of Pontiac's two great engines—the power-packed straight eight or its equally famous six-cylinder companion.

Finally, both represent unusual values—a very fine product at a very low price. Either one you choose will make you mighty happy.

Blair Light Bonds Bear Low Interest

The City of Blair, recently offered municipal light bonds for sale in the amount of $150,000, secured by revenues from the plant. Seven bond houses were present for the auction and the competition was spirited.

The bonds were sold to Kirkpatrick-Pettis of Omaha for an interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent, plus a premium of $1,800. Figured on a five-year basis, the interest rate on the bonds is about 1.9 per cent.

Soil Treatment

Chemists have found a method of treating topsoil with chemicals which make it claylike. Soil treated in this manner retains the minerals necessary to produce bountiful crops.

NO MORE CLINGING DIRT OR GRIME

Du Pont House Paint
Cleans itself!

Magnified cross-section shows self-cleaning process.

DIRTY PARTICLES
FINE WHITE POWDER

With Du Pont House Paint, a fine white powder forms on the surface after a few months.

Rains wash off this powder—and with it, much of the accumulated dirt and grime.

Self-cleaning leaves surface clean and white... keeps it sparkling white for years. This self-cleaning process is gradual and does not adversely affect the long life of the paint.

Houses painted with Du Pont No. 40 Outside White are dazzling white at the start, but more important, they stay white. Du Pont "40," owing to its unique combination of pigments and oils, actually cleans itself... sheds dirt and dust with every heavy rain. Normally, this "Self-cleaning" starts in a few months on most surfaces. However, excessive soot or heavy shade, or stains from metal surfaces such as copper screening, may interfere with or delay the process.

"Self-cleaning" Du Pont House Paint is also available in light tints. It assures you long-lasting protection against rust, rot and decay. Economy is yours, too. Smooth, easy application, excellent spread, high hiding... all add up in your favor when you specify Du Pont.

If the surface is bare wood or badly weathered paint, make certain a prime coat of new Du Pont House Paint Primer is applied. It assures maximum adhesion and performance of the finish coat.

DULUX Trim and Trellis Finishes Resist Fading

Outside trim and shutters keep their sparkle year after year... with extra-durable DULUX Trim and Trellis. It resists mildew and fading... brushes on easily... covers solidly... dries quickly. In seven colors, including a new Blue and Bright Red that resist fading!

This Twisted Wreckage was once an Auto

When the Shoemaker auto from Scotia hit a pothole in the surface of Highway 11 near Olean, a tire blew out and the car went out of control. Miraculously, none of the four occupants were seriously hurt, although two spent a short time in the hospital.

Four People Hurt Sunday When Auto Leaves Highway

Hole in Paving and Blown Out Tire Are Given As Cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Shoemaker, their son, Darwin, and Miss Barbara Ashley all had a narrow escape at about 3 p. m. Sunday when the Shoemaker car, driven by Darwin, hit a pothole in the paving, blew out a tire and left the highway. The accident occurred near Olean on highway 11.

The Shoemakers were coming toward Ord at the time. According to Robert G. Hall, who went to the scene to investigate, the right front tire hit the hole in the paving and blew out at once, as rim marks showed on the paving from that point on. The car left the highway, sheared off a telephone pole, climbed a steep bank and finally came to rest 435 feet from the place where the blow-out occurred.

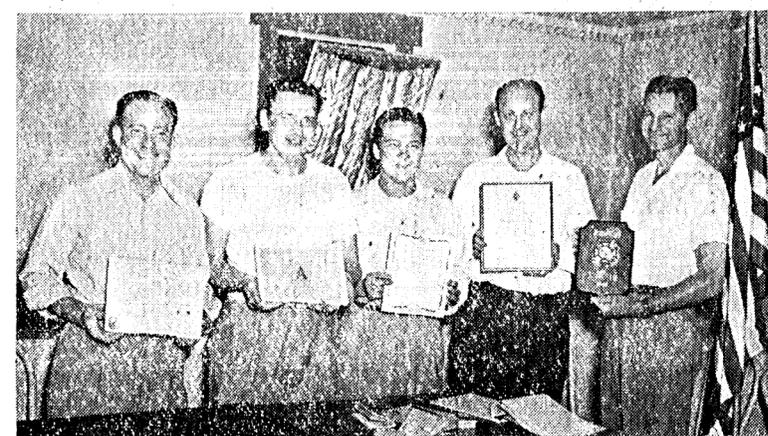

Assembly of God Church Holding Rally for Youth

Swim Pool Popular This Week Because Of Hot Weather

100 Swimming at One Time Monday Burwellites Coming.

Monday was a very good day at the Ord Municipal swimming pool, with one hundred persons in the pool at one time, the best to date this year. Bob Burmans of Omaha, a university man, representative of Brown Fruit company, visited the pool Monday and displayed some fancy diving.

There are to be two preliminary swim contests, one July 4 and the other later in July, and the final competition in August. Kirk Lewis' Drive-In has offered to donate the trophies and ribbons for the final event, so the competition should be keen.

A group from Burwell will come down on the bus next Tuesday morning to take swimming lessons. Several more have been made in the schedule for that day. Beginners 3 meeting at 10 to 11 a. m. instead of as formerly announced.

Six more flutterboards have been ordered to be used in swimming instruction. Several more have joined the adult class for the evening lessons, for which the management is highly pleased.

Below is given the list of events for the July 4th meet:

A general meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce is called for the evening of June 30 at the Knights of Columbus hall.

Hot Rod Meeting Held Thursday

Twenty persons attended a hot rod meeting held Thursday evening at the East Side cafe. The group elected Robert Lange president, Jim Kucera vice-president, and Dave Maurice secretary-treasurer.

The membership list and organization awaits the by-laws and will be taken up at the next meeting, held Thursday evening of this week at the same place. Anybody interested is invited to join. It is not necessary that a member own a hot rod.

Ansley Trips Ord In Wild Battle; Loop Leaders Upset

League Standings Unchanged, Three Top Teams Defeated.

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost, Pct. Rows include Ord, Mason City, Miller, Ansley, Arcadia, Comstock, Loup City, Broken Bow.

In a game Sunday on the Ansley diamond, the Ord colts were handed an 8 to 3 shelling by the host team in a wild nine innings marked with 15 hits, eight errors and two fist fights.

Over the Loup Valley League, two other teams who had shared first place with Ord, took a beating. A similar wild game at Mason City ended in victory for Loup City.

In a game Sunday on the Ansley diamond, the Ord colts were handed an 8 to 3 shelling by the host team in a wild nine innings marked with 15 hits, eight errors and two fist fights.

The teams played on even terms until the seventh, when disaster struck the colts. Nelson, second man up, was walked. Successive hits by Sintek, Sheen, and Clayton drove in three runs. The next man up struck out, but Clayton scored on a hot single by Staab, to run the score to 7-0.

Ord came back in the eighth inning when Finley, bow in an attempt to hold their first place rating, Arcadia will play at Mason City, Ansley at Comstock and Miller and Loup City will tangle in a night fracas.

Mason City will play here July 3 for the local's next home game. Some hope is held by baseball officials here that the new lighting system will be installed by that time, but it is probable that the inaugural game under the floodlights will be played a week or so later.

Valley Co. Fair Earliest Held in State This Year

First Time Early Date Has Been Tried Here; Only Five Weeks Away

The earliest fair in the history of Valley county is to be tried out this year, according to plans of the fair board. The dates are Aug. 1, 2, 3 and 4, the first date being entry day with no program given. This is the first fair in Nebraska for 1949, and should draw a record attendance.

With grain harvest coming on apace, the fact is stressed now that grain exhibits for the fair should be taken care of as soon as the crop is ready. Little corn will be available for exhibit, but all kinds of small grain and alfalfa and some other forage crops will be ready.

The carnival this year is one of the best on the road, and they will be playing their first county fair. Joey Chitwood will be here with his thrill show, which is always good, and has added attractions this year. Joey contested in Ord in the days of the big racing cars, and is an exceptionally fine showman, who will put on a real exhibition.

Al-Sar-Ben is paying prize money for the first four entries in 4-H club work, and the young folks should get busy perfecting their projects for exhibition. The fair board is offering premiums for livestock shown at the fair, which should be ready as quickly as possible, as the fair is now only five weeks away.

The premium list is being made ready and will be published in the Quiz soon, to give prospective exhibitors time to plan their entries. Further information may be obtained from Henry Benda, secretary.

"C" Section Let: Low Bidder Delta Construction Co.

About $5,000 Lower Than Reithers, Who Built "A" and "B".

The Delta Construction company of Clarksville, Miss., turned in the lowest bid for construction of the "C" section of REA here, when the bids were opened for comparison Wednesday of last week. The total amount of their bid was $324,005.20.

A. B. Reither of Denver, builder of Sections "A" and "B", were in one low bid, approximately $3,000 higher than the Mississippi firm. The highest bid was $337,335.75.

The other two firms who entered the bidding were the Crawford Electric company of North Platte, Neb., and Lindsey Construction company of Nashville, Tenn. The bids all ranged within a space of 10% of the total winning bid.

Of interest to the public is the fact that "C" section will cost $958.72 per construction mile and $736.37 per customer. There are 927 miles of construction in the section, and 440 customers.

Hospital Drive Lagging: More Interest Needed

Individuals Should Send in Their Stock Applications at Once.

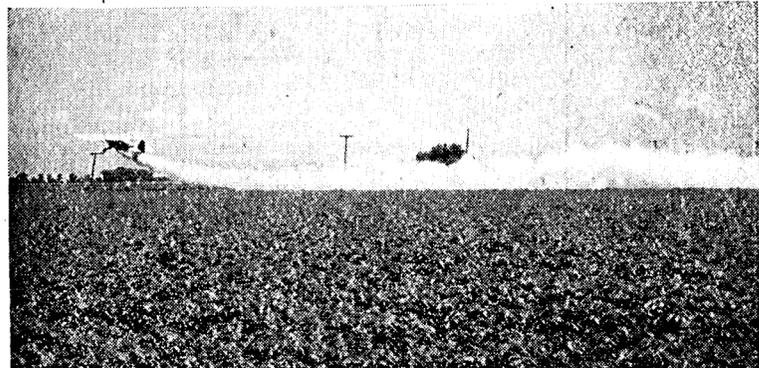

One thing obviously overlooked in the drive for the sale of stock in the Ord Cooperative Hospital is the fact that the committee, while heading the drive, and spending much time in the work is receiving no pay for the time they put in.

For this reason, the individual should realize that it is as much his job to contact the committee and make his donation as it is the committee member's job to contact him. A deal of this magnitude cannot succeed without a lot of work from all of them.

There are still many people right here in Ord who have not decided what they are going to do in regard to the hospital drive. These same people would not like to live in Ord if there was not a hospital in the town. A push, chase order for stock today and do your bit toward making this a healthier community in which to live. DO IT NOW!

The one thing that seems to be holding up the drive is lack of interest on the part of quite a number of people. Why not send in your order for stock today and do your bit toward making this a healthier community in which to live. DO IT NOW!

Modern Method of Dusting Crops by Plane

Scotia is Given First Defeat of Season Sunday

North Loup Batters Went on a Spree in 5th to Tally Seven.

In the Sherman-Howard league Sunday, the Palmer-Ashton and the Danneberg-Wolbach games were not played on account of wet grounds. At North Loup Scotia, the undefeated team, were given their first loss of the season when North Loup went on a batting spree in the fifth inning, pushing over 7 runs, enough to win the game.

The Elba-Farwell game was transferred to Elba because of wet grounds at Farwell. Farwell won the game, 8 to 3. The battle was tight until the seventh when both teams put on run splurges, but Farwell's 4 runs total was enough to take the game but when they pushed across 3 more in the eighth this made their count 8.

The line score: Danneberg-Wolbach, no game, wet grounds. Palmer-Ashton, no game, wet grounds. Scotia, 111 000 210 6-10-3 Battery, Groetzinger, Graff and Johnson.

North Loup 000 070 10x 8-11-2 Battery, Cummings, Back and Jorgensen. Elba 010 000 200 3-8-5 Battery, Spilneck, Rasmussen and Zytsek. Farwell 000 100 13x 8-8-2 Battery, Wysocki, R. Borzych and Borzych, Lukaszewicz.

Team Stands. Scotia 6 1 .857 Palmer 5 2 .714 Farwell 3 3 .500 North Loup 3 5 .375 Ashton 2 4 .333 Wolbach 1 3 .250 Danneberg 0 5 .000

Sunday the Ord Junior Legion team went to Taylor and defeated a team from that town, 18 to 7. Kraus pitched for Taylor, with Nelson catching. Severson and Geneski pitched for Ord with Stoddard behind the plate. Marion Geneski and Heuck gathered two hits apiece to lead the hitting. The boys showed a much improved brand of baseball.

The Nelson Motors Junior Legion and the Midgets will journey to Ansley Friday, where they will tangle with the fast Ansley teams. The Midget game will start at 6 p. m., while the Junior game will be played under the lights beginning at 8:30. The Scotia Juniors will play Ord here Sunday afternoon.

Another Bluegill Added to Contest No Bass or Pike

Fishermen Too Busy to Go After the Big Ones; Other Entrants Needed

Jerry Howart of Ericson adds another bluegill to the list of Quiz contest entries this week, an 8 ounce fish good enough to land him in third place. He caught it June 3, at 3 p. m. below the dam at Ericson, with a red and angleworm. He caught 5 or 6 other small bluegills. Richard Howart was with him at the time. Jay Brown of the Gamble Store did the weighing.

With work so far behind all over the area, perhaps that is the reason there are so few entries. The Quiz hears reports of bass being caught, and even an occasional pike, but none are entered to date. Entries in these divisions are needed to create interest. The next time you catch one of these fish, why not enter it in the contest.

Only one crappie entered to date. These fish seem to be scarce this year, but there ought to be a few in the 8 county area included in the Quiz contest. In the excitement of catching a fine fish, do not overlook the chance of winning one of the fine Quiz prizes. Let's have entries in all six divisions next week.

Don Hill Shoots First Hole-in-1 Saturday Evening

Playing a foursome with Al Blessing and Vern and Dick Malolepszy, Don Hill got his first hole-in-one, on the last hole of the Ord course, a distance of 145 yards.

Nelson Motors Junior Legion Team Wins Two

Burwell and Taylor Teams Both Victims in Lopsided Games.

Playing their usual fine game of baseball, the Nelson Motors Junior Legion team of Ord took the measure of a Junior Legion team from Burwell Wednesday evening by a score of 22 to 1 in a five-inning game.

That same afternoon the Loup City Midgets defeated the Ord Midgets 5 to 4 in a five-inning game that provided plenty of thrills. The Ord Midgets played a very close game in their first game of the season, but were outclassed by the visitors.

Lewandowski of Loup City pitched a superb game and he had fine support all the way. Wolf for Ord connected with a fast one for a home run with two on, thus accounting for three of the scores. Coach Stub Conger is entitled to much credit for the fine showing of his Loup City boys.

Monday forenoon five fields belonging, four to Bill Harvey of near Taylor and one to the Malickys, were dusted from the air. The plane then came to the Ord airport, picked up a load of about 300 pounds of dust, flew to the Kruml field and went over it, running out of dust when about half through.

Then the plane landed and was given another load of about 300 pounds, with which the field was finished. From here the work shifted to the Cecil Butts farm southeast of Burwell. Others on the itinerary were R. A. Brownell, Frank Stanek, Charley Meyer, Leonard Kier, Lester Westover, and Robert Frye.

This is the first time commercial dusting has ever been done in the valley, and it appears to be an unqualified success. The Grand Island men have 9,000 acres to dust for weed control on the Wallace ranch in Loup county, and Monday their other plane was dusting at Ravenna to kill weeds in wheat to get them out of the way for the harvest.

Dusting is done for a number of different pests and purposes. The principal reason for spraying potatoes at this time is blight, which is attacking the leaves. There are also potato beetles and flea beetles. Different materials are used for different purposes. The dust settles below the potato plants and then rises again, thus covering the leaves from both above and below. The method is highly effective.

Quiz Writer Is Absent Minded Takes Long Walk

John Ward has been quitting his work on the Quiz for the past eight months in time to catch the 4:30 bus for North Loup, Monday he was so busy writing he lost track of the time, and didn't notice until it was 5:30. So John walked home Monday evening, started to walk, that is.

—Mrs. Pearl Carlsen came from Los Angeles Friday on the bus and will visit here with her daughter, Mrs. John Cook and family most of the summer. She is feeling fine and glad to get back to Ord. Mrs. Grace Miner came back last week from the coast to her home in Comstock.

Traffic engineering services play a leading role in the development and maintenance of an efficient highway transportation system. These services are based on a study of accident records, traffic volumes and speed surveys, speed zoning, traffic signals and signs and pavement markings are more common traffic services which the public has learned to expect, along with improvements in intersection design. Most Nebraska counties now have a very great need for most of these services, although several counties have developed effective planning for their more heavily traveled roads.

Traffic engineering services in Nebraska cities are usually the work of police departments, sometimes in cooperation with street departments. Occasionally this work has been reasonable adequate but city officials usually do not give enough attention to such activities. Generally accepted throughout the country, recommendations of the President's Highway Safety conference, call for a traffic engineering unit with the status of a major city division or department in cities with a population of 100,000 or more. In cities between 50,000 and 100,000 the conference recommends that at least a full time engineer be hired.

Many cities and villages in the state are located on the state highway system with relatively large traffic volumes. The traffic problems in these communities are usually closely tied in with the overall problems of state highway hour. It is generally recognized that these speeds, developed many years ago when automobiles were more difficult to control, are far out of line with present traffic requirements. It is a known fact that a car traveling, say, 30 miles per hour today, is usually more under control and capable of being stopped as readily as one traveling at much lower speed twenty years ago, when most of the town speed limits were about the same as they are today. Then, too, requirements of highway laws today make the average car much safer to drive. Defective brakes, defective lights and other conditions that tend to cause accidents are not as common today as they were a decade or more ago.

The tendency to lower the numbers in the existing speed ranges, as shown at Sutton is very important from the safety point of view as well as that of road utilization. It justifies an extensive program to rid Nebraska cities and villages of prevalent speed limits which are excessive. Such a tendency is typical of speed patterns recorded in similar situations, including those at Hampton, Ashland and Gordon.

The present basic speed law of 20 m.p.h. in the business districts is too low, as a general rule. Standardization of speed regulations at reasonable speed limits would do much to increase law observance. Traffic signals are frequently installed where their use is not justified, causing material delay and even accidents. Plans for the correct installation of signals, including a determination of actual need, the proper locations and the most efficient timing intervals, are engineering problems many of the residential districts in Nebraska still remain to be analyzed. Inconvenience and delay are caused by many obsolete and unwarranted signals in Nebraska communities without achieving the purpose for which they were intended.

Often the real reason for the signal installations is the hope that they will cut speeds and eliminate accidents. Such is rarely the case, experience shows. There are many examples throughout the state where the accident experience is not justified, causing material delay and even accidents. In fact, there are other examples of low accident incidence without signal controls at intersections which are traveled equally heavily. At Shelton, on the main intersection with U. S. 20, there is a residential district of 4,600 vehicles, 45 per cent of which crossed 30. While this situation would naturally call for a signal to facilitate movement, there have been only 5 accidents reported there in 8 years.

There are, to be sure, many locations where signals are needed to prevent certain types of accidents and to prevent congestion. The real problem in Nebraska, however, is the elimination, based on a sound engineering study, of many unjustified signals. Definite standards for the establishment of need, as well as for design and location of signals, are set forth in the manual for uniform control devices developed jointly by three national organizations.

Nebraska's Official Banner Was Adopted by Legislature in 1925

Though not a legal holiday, except in Pennsylvania, June 14th generally is observed as flag day. In this connection, a few words regarding Nebraska's state banner may be of interest.

An official state banner was not adopted by Nebraska until 1925. In that year, Representative J. Lloyd McMaster of Lancaster county introduced a bill into the House of Representatives providing for such a banner. It was passed, 92 to 4, and referred to the Senate. That body's judiciary committee reported out the bill with an amendment providing for a new state seal. The amendment was voted down, and the original proposition was adopted unanimously by the upper house.

On April 2, Governor Adam McMullen approved the bill and Nebraska was provided with a state banner, described officially as follows: "There is hereby designated a banner for the State of Nebraska which shall consist of a reproduction of the great seal of the state, charged on the center in gold and silver on a field of national blue."

Thus, the work of a good many persons and groups was brought to fruition. Mrs. B. G. Miller of Crete was particularly active in the movement for the adoption of a state banner.

The bill also provides that the state banner shall never be used as a business advertisement or a trade mark, as well as establishing penalties for intentional or negligent violation of the provisions of the bill.

The seal, which is the banner's sole insignia, was provided for by Nebraska's first constitution, adopted in 1866. The seal itself was adopted by the legislature of 1867 and approved by Governor David Butler, Nebraska's first chief executive after admission into the Union.

Embodied in the seal is much that depicts the hopes and aspirations of pioneer Nebraska—a steamboat ascending the Missouri River; the mechanic arts represented by a smith with hammer and anvil; agriculture represented by a settler's cabin, sheaves of wheat and stalks of growing corn; and a train of railroad cars heading eastward toward the Rocky Mountains. At the top of the circle is Nebraska's motto: "Equality before the Law."

There is nothing particularly original about the design of Nebraska's state banner. On the contrary, it is much like that of several other states. Its coloring, though, and the effective symbolism of the state seal, make it an appropriate banner for a modern western commonwealth.

DAVIS CREEK

A few days ago Merl Edwards who works for Arthur Malotte was listing, he drove over an old well, on what is known as the Van Kirk place. He didn't know the well was there but the covering broke through. He looked back to see his lister and noticed the hole he had driven over, it looked to be five feet across and he thought possibly about 60 feet deep. It reminds me of another old well in the neighborhood that a horse belonging to Charley Johnson with a good saddle on fell into. His hired man had rode the horse over to this place to help thresh, noticing a post he tied his horse to it and later noticed it was gone and found it down a very deep hole which had been a well. They shot the saddle plith into with a revolver and Bill Groos went down and got the saddle. Something should be done about such wells.

Number of Pheasants Greater Than Last Year

Allen Johnson, federal and state wildlife game investigator and director of research work, completed a three-day visit in Greely county last week and declared that pheasants there show an increase of about one third over 1948.

By a scientific system worked out by the federal authorities, the number of pheasants are determined in a ten square mile area, which is selected as being the average for the county.

Larceny Case Against L. B. Fenner Ended

The case of the State of Nebraska versus Leonard B. Fenner, in which the latter was charged with grand larceny was finally heard before District Judge Kroeger at Burwell, after the county judge, Eben Moss, had asked to be excused in the case.

The defendant appeared with counsel for preliminary hearing. Arraignment was waived and a plea of not guilty entered. The State produced its evidence and rested. A motion to dismiss was sustained.

Alvin Anderson Finds Old Atlas Telling of Valley County, 1895

Alvin Anderson ran across a relic of more than ordinary interest while writing out at the Emil Bonne place southwest of Ord last week. It is a copy of an atlas put out in 1895 by George E. Ogles of Chicago, showing Valley county as it was at that time.

The atlas had been thrown up into the attic and apparently had not been disturbed for many years. The house once belonged to the John R. Sharpe family, and the atlas was probably put there by them, as Mr. Bonne does not know how it got there.

It has lost its back, but most of the pages are still in usable condition. It is a large book, about 16 by 20 inches in size, and has colored maps of Valley county and of every township, showing the names of the persons who owned the land at that time and how much land they owned.

Only a small part of the land shown is still in the hands of the owners at that time, and some of the names and people owning them have been away from the county so long that nobody remembers who they are. Fifty four years is a long time for any family to stay on the same place.

Of special interest is the fact that, in 1895, John W. Bookwalter owned 10 1/2 sections of land in Davis Creek township along the river. This was ten years or more after he bought the Burlington railroad land in Valley county, and much of the land in the valleys had been sold to other people by 1895.

According to a map of Valley county published by the Ord Quiz in June, 1928, Bookwalter heirs still owned ten quarters of land in Davis Creek, or about one fourth of the amount owned in 1895. It is probable that much of this land has been sold since then.

There are two pages of pictures showing well-known people of that day. Among them are Alvin Blessing, county clerk, W. L. McNutt, county treasurer, H. Gudmundsen, county judge, Fred Strathdee, county assessor, and Charles J. Nelson, county surveyor.

Then there were R. L. Staple, Dr. Chester A. Brink, John Coulson and family, O. K. Philbrick, Fred Clement and family with Roy and Elliott, who were small boys then; Reinard Fuss, Mrs. Fuss and one child; John Q. Boettger, Horace M. Davis, Albert S. Cleary; Stillwell Conner, J. A. Ollis, Jr., Warren G. Collins, J. B. Young, J. B. Williams, C. Woolhiser, E. A. Easterbrook, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs.

A Ward, Mr and Mrs Lawrence Coplen, Axel Lindhartzen and many others.

A geographic and historical sketch of the county is appended together with a rather detailed dissertation on county government. Those atlases were sold by subscription throughout the county, and the Quiz would like to get one good repair, for its historical interest.

Gebhardt Land Brings $36,488

The land belonging to the estates of August and Ferdinand Gebhardt of Scotia was sold last week at auction at referee's sale, and brought a total of $36,488. The land was offered in 8 tracts. Tracts 1, 2 and 3 sold to Otto Gebhardt, the present occupant, for $25 per acre, a total of $18,000.

Tract 4 was bought by Greeley Gebhardt, who occupies it, at $110 per acre, a total of $8,800. Tract 5 went to Edgar E. Stillman at $35 per acre for 40 acres. Tract 6 went to Marvin O. VanKirk, $0 acre at $16 per acre. Tract 7, $0 acres, was knocked down to Phil Tuma for $1,520. Tract 8, a quarter, went to Roy Rillingger for $5,088.

Raymond Kisela Taken by Death

Funeral services for Raymond George Kisela were held at Stratton, Neb., Thursday, June 9. Mr. Kisela was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kisela, and his mother is the former Agnes Vancura of Ord. He was born at Wauneta and attended school in Hayes county. In 1937 he moved with his parents to a farm north of Stratton.

He entered the U. S. Navy Sept. 10, 1941, served 2 years in the Pacific theater and was discharged May 29, 1946. He was a member of the V.F.W. and American Legion. April 10, 1948 he was married to Anna May Stamm at Benkelman, Neb., and they had one child, Victoria Sue, aged 8 months. He was killed by lightning as he stood in his home, June 6.

Fullerton Streets To Have New Lights

The streets of Fullerton will soon blossom out with new lights similar to those now in use in larger cities. They will be installed on Broadway and on three main side streets. The whole system should be ready for use about July 4.

The cost of the work, estimated at about $10,000 will be borne by the Consumers Public Power district, which has the franchise for furnishing lights to the city of Fullerton. The new lights will have four times the illuminating power of those now in use.

How the Other 1/2 Lives

A city zoning law, whereby the city of Blair will regulate the location of business and other buildings, went into effect last Thursday. It does not affect buildings already constructed, but will have a bearing on future buildings.

Frank Freeland of near Palmer found a meteorite in his cornfield recently. This one differed from the metallic ones frequently found in that it was apparently burned out and rather light. It measured about 4 by 5 inches and was 2 inches thick.

A heavy downpour of rain flooded the lowlands in the Parnell area northwest of Greeley last week, farmers estimating the amount that fell at from four to five inches. Listed corn in many places will have to be replanted.

The St. Paul Sand and Gravel company, operating on the Jensen farm on the North Loup river, recently brought to light an ancient battle ax, crudely fashioned from stone. It measured 5 by 6 1/2 inches and could hold at a single blow.

The municipal swimming pool at Ravenna has been fixed and the pool was opened Sunday for the season. Jim Clark, a qualified Red Cross life guard, has been employed as manager for the summer.

Plans are under way for the Nance County fair to be held at Fullerton August 15 to 18, with the first day as entry day. This year, as in the past, one of the interesting events will be the livestock parade, which will be held Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Ise Reed of Kansas City, Kans. has a case in Judge E. G. Kroger's court wherein she is asking the custody of her 2 1/2 year old daughter. The father, Leslie Reed, is also asking for the little girl, who has been in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Reed, of northeast Sherman county and with a North Loup address. Davis and Vogeltanz are representing the girl's father.

Two large dogs killed seven young spring shoats and injured nine others on the Irvin Sullivan farm five miles northeast of Crete. Mr. Sullivan heard the pigs squealing, ran to the pen and succeeded in killing one of the dogs, a large collie. The injured pigs will have to be killed, making a loss of $400 to $500.

Strange Animal Seen

Dean Achen and Everett Howell saw a strange animal Monday morning in a corn field on the C. J. Mortensen farm 3 miles north of Ord. Everett was working at the east end of the field and saw the animal going west up a corn row. Dean was working at the west end of the field and saw the animal coming.

Not thinking what it could be he got off the tractor and started to chase it. The animal turned and ran north, jumped a fence and disappeared. Dean said it was larger than a coyote and had a thick neck. Later in the day Will Treptow found fresh tracks as large as his fist in the corn field back of the Mortensen summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Philbrick, who live in the cottage, said the horses in the pasture had been making noises in the night as though much disturbed. Without doubt it is the same animal that has been reported by a number of other people in the area.

John J. Quinn was buried at Burwell last week. Born at Erin, Mr. Quinn spent nearly all his life in the Burwell neighborhood. He was 51 years of age and leaves a wife, daughter and other relatives. He had been in failing health for some time.

Creighton, Neb., is celebrating its Diamond Jubilee Wednesday and Thursday of this week. In honor of the occasion the Creighton News put out a two color edition, extra copies of which were mailed all over the state and adjoining states.

Roy Tucker, York auctioneer, will be one of the speakers at the National Society of Auctioneers annual meeting to be held in Sioux City, Ia., July 15 and 16.

Oakland is holding a home talent play, the first in years, June 23 and 24. In addition the Chamber of Commerce is holding what it calls display days beginning June 28, with stars from Station KMA booked to entertain.

North Loup

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cook and Kenneth and George Thorngate drove to Kearney Sunday taking birthday cake for their children to help Ellora Cook celebrate her birthday. She is working in Kearney this summer and has contracted to teach at the Davis Creek school next year.

Our Kitchen Maids 4-H club met at the home of Wilma Vodehnal, June 14. Carrots were prepared to cook. In a report she had pop, cookies and ice cream. Our 4-H club and leaders attended an all day meeting of 4-H clubs at Ord, June 13. We took sack lunches and ate at the park. Kaye Stine reported.

Dr. Paul and Dr. George Hemphill left from Grand Island early Thursday morning for their homes in Eugene, Ore., after spending more than a week in North Loup.

Mrs. Mary Barnes of Chapel spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Alta Barnhart. Mrs. Barnes knew Mrs. Barnhart fifty seven years ago and had seen her name in the paper while she was visiting in Cotesfield so came to see her.

Mrs. Paul Van Horn of Beloit, Wis. was a Tuesday lunch guest of Mrs. T. J. Hume and in the afternoon went to the Clyde Keown home near Scotia to spend a few days. Her son, Dickie, has been at Keown's since Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Brannon are announcing the arrival of a grandson, Duane Eugene, born Monday, June 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lawton of Chicago. Mrs. Lawton is the former Dorothy Brannon. Baby's weight was seven pounds, eight and three-fourth ounces.

Cliff Goodrich went to Scottsbluff Monday to attend the state meeting of rural mail carriers. Paul Goodrich is carrying the mail on his route this week.

Homeowners along Nebraska's swollen rivers have already seen some truth in a report recently issued by government housing experts. The experts predict that a better flow of building materials to new home sites is certain this year.

New Plymouth Suburban Announced

The new Plymouth Suburban, above, a completely new combination passenger and utility vehicle of all-metal construction, was announced today by R. C. Somerville, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corp. With 111-inch wheelbase, the Suburban has the same 97-horsepower engine as the DeLuxe and Special DeLuxe Plymouths on the 118 1/2-inch wheelbase. Unusually large luggage space and washable trim and upholstery give it a variety of uses. Factory retail price at factory, Detroit, Michigan, is $1,740.

All-Metal Car Is Combined Passenger and Utility Vehicle

A completely new type of automobile, a combination passenger and utility vehicle of all-metal construction, was announced today by R. C. Somerville, general sales manager of Plymouth Motor Corporation.

The new car, officially designated as the "Suburban" in Plymouth's DeLuxe line, is built on a 111-inch wheelbase. It contains the same 97-horsepower engine and mechanical improvements for more power and greater economy which were built into the previously announced Plymouths on the 118 1/2-inch wheelbase. Factory retail price at factory, Detroit, Michigan, is $1,740.

A five-passenger car, the Suburban is designed to meet the requirements of families who require ample passenger space. At the same time it is a rugged, all-purpose vehicle which will carry unusually large amounts of luggage. Although the Suburban has ample passenger-carrying space and smart distinctive lines, it is easily converted into a marketing truck for farmers, a combination family and business car, a salesman who carries large sample cases, a car of all work for surveyors and construction workers, or a home on wheels for the sportsman or tourist.

This new Suburban has been built to meet the many uses that a modern, active family requires of their automobile. Somerville said, "Here is a car whose beauty would attract attention on the smartest residential boulevards, but one that would still be practical in the most rugged resort country."

Designers have achieved exterior beauty with a simplicity that will reduce maintenance costs. The ease of maintenance theme has been carried throughout the interior, where upholstery and trim are washable and waterproof.

With the back seat in passenger-carrying position, the enclosed cargo-carrying space in the Suburban is 3 feet, 6 inches long; 3 feet, 3 1/4 inches high; and 4 feet, 7 inches wide. Length of the cargo space is increased to 5 feet, 8 inches by pivoting the rear seat into cargo-carrying position. Opening the tailgate further lengthens this area to 7 feet, 5 inches. Maximum cargo space is obtained by pivoting the rear seat into the footwell in the floor. The bottom of the seat and the rear of the backrest are steel. When the rear seat is folded forward, it forms a bulkhead at the front of the luggage space, while the backrest of the seat becomes a part of the floor. Folded out of the way, the rear seat upholstery is protected from chafing while loading or unloading luggage. To facilitate loading and unloading, a lift of only slightly over two feet places luggage on the open tailgate.

Features for passenger comfort and safety which are typical of Plymouth have been retained in the Suburban. Seats are chair-height to reduce passenger and driver fatigue and to increase visibility. As in other Plymouths, the new Suburban has ample head room.

An innovation to fully utilize the cargo space is the location of the spare tire compartment. The tire fits into a well under the steel floor near the tailgate, so that the storage space is clear.

Another space-saving feature is the location on either side of the rear seat of two compartments for carrying small parcels. The compartments are covered with sturdy vinyl material, the same long-wearing fabric used for upholstery.

An adaptation to 18-inch wheels is available as special equipment when greater road clearance is wanted for backwoods driving.

The improved 97-horsepower engine has a compression ratio of 7 to 1, the same as the DeLuxe and Special DeLuxe Plymouths on the 118 1/2-inch wheelbase. The engine contains the new chrome-plated compression piston ring which reduces cylinder wear and provides greater protection during the break-in period. There are improved oil rings for greater oil economy, and smoother engine warm-up and faster throttle response is attained through the newly-designed intake manifold.

Among the many other mechanical improvements in the Suburban are Plymouth's new automatic electric choke and the combination ignition and starter switch which eliminates the starter button.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago—The annual picnic of old settlers was largely attended at Taylor, and the Quiz carried a large number of pictures of it, including seven old timers, three of whom have since passed on. George White of Arcadia died of heart attack. County Assessor Brox gave a summary of assessing results. — Mrs. Anton Loeffler died at her home in Ord, aged 79 years. — Stanley Baran, 65, died of a heart ailment. — Joe Pace, 90, died at his Burwell home. Grasshoppers were still a menace to crops and machines like an endgame seeder were being used to spread bait to poison them.

Twenty Years Ago—J. H. Carson bought the former Daniels undertaking building and leased it to J. M. VanSikke. His furniture and second hand store. — The Ord baseball team, under the leadership of Floyd Megrue, defeated the brotherhood of railway clerks. — At North Loup 360 calves, 900 hogs and 100 sheep were sold in a public sale.

Thirty Years Ago—Scotia was planning a big celebration July 4. — Jake Thull, nonpartisan league organizer, was confined to his room in Hotel Ord with rheumatism; H. B. VanDeear and a group with him were trying the experiment of selling a farm a day by auction, and eight farm parcels were advertised. — J. M. VanSikke removed his tire repair business from the Tolbert Garage to the Goodhand building. — Somebody got into the farmers elevator at Ord, allowing 15,000 bushels of grain to run through the driveway.

Forty Years Ago—J. M. VanSikke was running a saddlery store and advertising in the Ord saddles. R. A. Watson was running a shoe shop in the same building. — L. J. Auble and Miss Mildred Kemp were married June 23 at the Lou Schwane home. — The W. A. Curry family, well known in Ord, left for Blanco, Colo. — Mrs. Mary Stroup Loomis of University Place, came to Ord and started working on the Quiz. — Mrs. R. T. Honnold and Misses Fannie and Laura Kaiser left for a trip to the west. — George Newbeck, head agent for the Ord residence. — Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Potter moved to Paonia, Colo. — Mart Rowbal resigned his job at Hotel Ord and was going out west. Dr. E. J. Smith and Miss Ethel McMullen of Burwell were married.

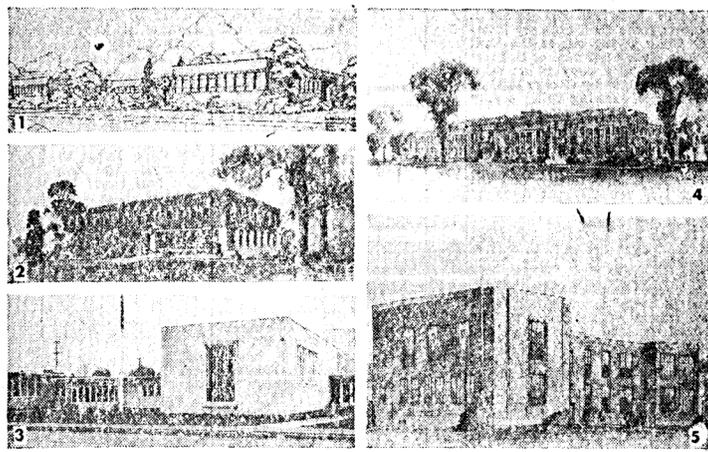

Sixty Years Ago—A. E. Charlton was displaying a ten pound catfish, which had been caught by a small boy just below the Arcadia bridge. — The North Loup cheese company was running full capacity and putting out a superior grade of cheese. — K. P. Crandall was salesman. — Hawley Collins and son were making a trip on a scow from Taylor to the mouth of the Mississippi. — Aaron Wall of Loup City was engaged to deliver a fully address at Ord. — The United Brethren went to hold quarterly meeting at the Midvale schoolhouse. — M. French, new manager of the Ord Lumber company, had purchased the W. H. Cox home and had moved into it.

Among the new buildings included in the "Building for Tomorrow" project of $2,000,000 sponsored by the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod are: (1) administration building at Concordia College, Austin, Texas; (2) Library-science building at Concordia College, Bronville, New York; (3) administration library-chapel building at California Concordia College, Oakland, California; (4) administration building at Concordia College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and (5) library and chapel wing at Concordia Academy, Portland, Oregon. These buildings are part of a new program of the church body, which will eventually provide 200 candidates annually for the Lutheran ministry and 476 teachers, annually for the church's parish school system.

Hospital Benefit Dance on June 28

The committee for the Community Hospital benefit dance reports their date as Tuesday, June 28, at the Bohemian hall. The music for the occasion will be furnished by Elmer Hall and his orchestra. Both Bohemian and popular music will be featured instead of just the popular, as has been advertised in other dances in the past. The public is cordially invited, and should embrace this opportunity to contribute to a worthy cause.

Reserve Unit Meets Tuesday

An attempt to form an Army reserve unit in Ord will be made Tuesday night, June 28, at a meeting to be held at the Ord veterans club. All former servicemen are invited to attend the meeting, which will have Capt. E. C. Roades, Grand Island, of the reserve organization sub-office, as speaker.

Impersonators Pay Big Fines in Court.

Two men who were involved in a feed selling scheme in Blaine county last winter were fined $1,500 each by the Federal District court in Omaha and were put on probation two years. They pleaded no contest, and their attorney, Thomas Lanigan of Grand Island, asked the court to put them off probation. They were Raymond E. Moore, 33, Harlan, Ia., and Robert B. Gibson, Grand Island. They represented themselves to be employees of the department of agriculture, which was to foot part of the bill for feed. They were arrested after several ranchers became suspicious and reported to the authorities.

4-H Club Girls Sing Over KFAB

A group of 4-H club girls from St. Paul sang over KFAB Saturday of last week. They are in two groups, the "Glamor Girls of '49" and the "Busy Little Miss" groups. The time of the broadcast was 11:30 a. m.

It is not known how many in this area heard the broadcast, but it is of interest here, since two of the girls in the groups are Marilyn and Anita McLain, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McLain.

Grasshoppers May Damage Crops Later

Dr. Ephraim Hixson of the University of Nebraska is warning farmers that grasshoppers may do as much as 25% damage in parts of Nebraska if steps are not taken soon to control the pests. Heaviest losses would be inflicted on late grain and corn.

Added to the known menace of the spring grain aphid, it would seem that the two pests may do serious damage to what until recently promised to be one of the outstanding grain crops in a number of years. Both seem to be increasing in numbers and in area covered.

Former Resident Visitor Here After 40 Years, Finds a Few Old Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Arnon T. Henry of Wallingford, Conn., spent Thursday to Monday visiting in Ord and renewing the acquaintance of some of the girlhood friends of Mrs. Henry, who was formerly Lulu Dulan. Her father, John Dulan, was an early settler west of Ord and bought the place just across the road from the farm then owned by Frank Novotny.

Lula attended her first school there. When she was 8 years old the family moved to Connecticut, where she lived until she was 16. At that time she returned to the same neighborhood to the home of an uncle, Matt Parkos, where she made her home for five years.

Mrs. Henry has vivid recollections of her early years and the happenings of pioneer days. She recalls when men on horseback rode through the neighborhood spreading a warning that the Indians were on the war path. Nothing came of it, but there was plenty of excitement at the time.

Then came the time of the big prairie fire, when her parents took her and her brother Charlie out into a plowed field and wrapped them up in bedding to sleep there while her father plowed a fire guard around the buildings and finally succeeded in saving them.

Again, probably in 1858, a winter storm blew up and her father went out to the barn to make everything safe there, and was unable to walk back. When he finally reached the house he made the trip on his hands and knees, coming by way of the windmill, which served as a guide.

Her husband was born at the University of Wisconsin, where his father had founded the college of agriculture, of which he was dean for 40 years.

Dr. Henry was the author of the book, "Feeds and Feeding" which is a standard textbook in agricultural schools all over the world. Arnon, the son, went in for horticulture, a work in which he was engaged all his life. Most of all he enjoys apple growing and finds a fertile field for it in Connecticut.

Much of his work in this line was done at Geneva, N. Y. Of more recent years the Henrys divide their time, spending six summer months in Connecticut and the other six at Sarasota, Fla. where Mr. Henry continues his experiments in grafting and budding.

For more than forty years Mrs. Henry has wanted to come back and visit the valley once more, and this year her husband decided she should have the trip as a birthday present. They drove here, arriving Thursday afternoon, and staying until Tuesday.

She spent the time looking up those left of whom she knew when she lived here. She recalls that their neighbors were the Novotny's on the south, the Lukeshs on the west, the Placniks on the north and the Blessings and Matt Parkos on the east.

Those who were the Hrdys, the Ramsey's, the Kosmatas and others. In Ord she remembered especially Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kokes. Then there were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hokek. Edna Ramsey was a girl about her age, and they played together as kids. Edna married Charlie Jackson and they are now living at Baker City, Ore.

She and her husband were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kosmata for dinner Saturday evening. When the Kosmatas were married Miss Dubin acted as bridesmaid. The Henry auto plates are unusual in that they bear the first two letters of their first names, ArLu followed by Ct. for Connecticut, a custom that is permitted there.

Fort Laramie National Monument Hour's Ride West of Scottsbluff

An hour's ride west of Scottsbluff stands Fort Laramie-National Monument, one of the nation's notable symbols of American Expansion into the West. Though now in Wyoming, it was once a part of Nebraska territory, and has had a large part in Nebraska's history.

The fort was established as a military post on June 26, 1849—just one hundred years ago—when Lt. Daniel P. Woodbury negotiated its purchase from the American Fur Company. It was this same Lt. Woodbury, who earlier had selected the site on which Fort Kearney was established.

At the time it became an Army post, however, Fort Laramie had behind it 15 years of service as an important center of the westward fur trade. Established by William Sublette and Robert Campbell in 1834, it was bought by the powerful American Fur Company in 1841. Originally it had been named "Fort William." The American Fur Company changed the name to "Fort John on the Laramie," soon shortened by popular usage to Fort Laramie, and so christened by the Army.

The post at the junction of the Laramie and North Platte rivers was particularly well adapted to serve the needs of the fur trade, and each spring saw the dispatch down the Platte of veritable flotillas of bullboats heavily laden with furs destined for the markets in St. Louis. It was visited by Lewis and Clark, and by the men who brought their robes in to barter for the white man's goods.

Also, during the Forties it was developed into an important stopping place for the overland emigrants headed for Oregon and Utah. Marcus Whitman, the famed Oregon missionary, stopped there in 1841. The next year, Lt. John C. Fremont visited the post and prophesied the coming of the great wagon trains.

During its career as military post, Fort Laramie, in addition to serving as a guardian of the overland trail, represented American authority in the heart of the Indian country. Here the great councils with the Indians of the northern plains were held. Here were stationed the troops whose duty it was to enforce our will on the original inhabitants of the plains.

At the peak of its career the reservation comprised more than 34,000 acres and included 65 buildings. Like all frontier forts, though, its usefulness ceased once the Indians were subdued, and in 1890 the one-time queen of the plains was abandoned.

Most of the old buildings are gone, but some of them—including the Sutter's store through whose door passed such famous frontiersmen as Kit Carson, Jim Bridger, and Buffalo Bill; and "Old Bellamy," the first army structure at the fort—still remain to remind present and future generations that ours indeed has been a heroic past.

Attending Conference

Rev. and Mrs. David Hammer, Beatha Knudsen and Pastor and Mrs. Eugene Olson and daughter Janelle are attending the Baptist General conference of America, which convenes in Omaha this week, June 22-26. This conference will bring pastors, delegates and visitors from all parts of the United States and some from Canada. There will be returned missionaries present to tell of their work.

Inspirational gospel will be brought by various pastors and there will be a service of special interest when new missionary appointees will be commissioned. Important business matters will come up at the business sessions. The conference theme is of utmost importance in these days, "The Return of Our Lord" is the general theme around which the various messages will center.

John R. Haskell took a trip to Lawrence, Kans. last week, where he attended a special course there as the guest of the State Farm Insurance company. He was one of 205 who were taking the course.

They represented 59 companies and were from 21 or 22 states. The course was put on by the Kansas University and instructors from the Purdue University were used. Eligibility to take the course was based on production, and only five qualified from Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Ign. Pesha enjoyed a visit from their brother Joe Pesha and wife, their son Ben and wife and two children of Beach, N. D. They came Wednesday evening and left Monday afternoon, going from here to visit relatives in Iowa.

Mr. Pesha, sr., is a farmer and has the unusual experience of living in North Dakota and doing his farming in Montana, as the town of Beach is just east of the Montana state line.

John O'Gorman, Greeley fiddler who has played for dances for the past forty years or more, declares the square dance is once more gaining in popularity. He says more efficient callers for this form of dancing are needed.

O'Gorman spends his winters at Shamrock, Tex. and his summers in Greeley. He played the violin for the Fenton-Welch wedding dance at O'Conner recently, assisting the regular violinist William Nealon.

The old northern route cattle trail from Erie, Pa., to New York City via Albany is now the route of the New York Central railroad.

STARK MAYTAG SERVICE
Ord Nebr.

Ammonium Nitrate

We have a shipment here this week and will have another one in a couple of weeks. Just at present manufacturers are sending quite a little Ammonium Nitrate into Nebraska but we are told that fall shipments will be very hard to get. We advise you to get your order right off the car and have it when you want it. Ask us about a truckload delivered to your farm. You can get what you will need for your fall wheat seeding from the next car and you will have a chance to try it out on your fall wheat. We have never been able to get Nitra in the fall when wanted for fall application to wheat.

Superphosphate

We also have a very few tons of Superphosphate left. You should be applying this to your alfalfa and sweet clover fields. It will surprise you at the increased yields from fields of alfalfa and sweet clover the year after plowing them up and seeding them to grains.

Grains

The past week grains have been a little more steady and if you have grain to move we would be glad to have a chance to get it for you. The market on corn remains better the past few weeks. It might be a good time to sell your surplus corn and move it to market.

Feeds

This week we are getting in more of that good Beef-mak'er. This is the feed that contains 15% molasses and is ideal for either feed yard use or for feeding on grass. The price is very low at present and if you are feeding you should have a supply of it.

Early Corn

Still have a plant corn early enough to plant as late as this and expect it to make a solid crop of corn next fall. Last year we sold a lot of this corn after the hail storm and all reported good quality corn from these fields.

Forage Crops

A very good supply of Sudan, Canes, Millets, Sorgo, Milo and early Kalo. There is plenty of time to plant these crops and get a good yield of feed from them.

Insecticides

There is a lot of damage from insects this year and you should be fighting right now. We have Duxing Powder, Chloridane and insecticides for Red Spiders on the Evergreen trees. See us for anything you need in insecticides.

Fat Cattle Trade Uneven, Hogs Up Monday at Omaha

Fat cattle sold unevenly steady to 50c and more higher, late trade slow and only steady. Monday at Omaha, steers were trimmed to 6,000, lightest Monday cattle run since February as shippers sought to align live supply with narrowed dressed meat demand and arrest a break in fat steer prices that last week amounted to $1.50 and more.

Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area:

Garfield county—Russell McFadden, 11 steers, wt. 1003, $26.75; 35, wt. 1170, $26.50; 50 hogs, wt. 255, $21.00. Frank Horvack, 4 steers, wt. 1006, $25.00; 3 heifers, wt. 760, $25.00; Leo Butts, 5 steers, wt. 912, $23.50; 2 heifers, wt. 650, $23.50.

Valley county — Oscar Ohme, 19 steers and heifers, wt. 678, $24.75. Earl Gates, 18 steers, wt. 1260, $26.50.

Vacation in West

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Geweke and Rev. and Mrs. Quentin Lamsman and daughter, Marlene returned Friday morning from a ten day auto trip, traveling a total of 3,200 miles. Their first stop was in Denver. From there they went southwest into the Rocky mountains and saw the cliff dwellings and the San Juan forest.

They then went into New Mexico and Arizona, through the desert and saw the Indians and how they live, which surely isn't good. They viewed the Painted Desert and the Grand Canyon, which was beautiful. Through Zion National park and through a tunnel more than a mile long.

Next, they went to Salt Lake City, Utah, and on to Yellowstone Park, where they saw the geysers and Yellowstone Falls. On the way back they came by way of the Black Hills, which were wonderful, and then on back home.

Will have another large run of fat hogs and sows; several bunches of feeder shoats and some wet sows.

Several head of horses. 4000 ft of new rough lumber.

Please remember the sale starts at 1 P. M. this Friday and after July will start at 7:30 in the evening.

From Memorial Day the Fourth of July is just five weeks. The first is the nation's most solemn day, the day in which we pay tribute to the honored dead. The last is usually the nation's most uproarious occasion, the day when all the boys and a lot of fellows not so young consider it their duty to make all the racket possible. This in the short space of five weeks the nation switches from the one extreme of solemnity to the other of exuberance. The pity is that, on this day of national celebration, so many join the list of those the nation must honor on the next Memorial Day. It is not as bad as it used to be, this celebrating. Laws have changed the picture, in that it is contrary to law to discharge fireworks in most of our cities. The danger lies in the illegal shooting of fireworks purchased from the bootlegger. The young fellow who shoots fireworks is under tension because he knows he is breaking the law, and all too often he breaks the law because he is emboldened by a little too much liquor, as was the fellow who threw a firecracker at a woman with a baby, the missile exploding and cutting a gash in the baby's face. Counting up all the accidents due to the use of fireworks, not only on July 4 but before and after, many will be killed, hundreds will be injured, all of which could be prevented if the use of fireworks could be banned entirely. The chances are little trouble will result in Valley county because of fireworks. Sentiment is against it. But the fireworks problem lies deeper. There would be no fireworks to shoot if they were not made in America or shipped into America. The problem should be settled at the source. If they were not made or brought in there would be none to explode. Firecrackers are something that the people of America do not need. They should be outlawed.

The Pony Express.
The past week a group of enthusiasts have been re-enacting the drama of the Pony Express, carrying mail across the state of Nebraska by relays of horsemen. It is all in good fun, and those interested have been getting much enjoyment out of it. Behind the enjoyment there is a deeper meaning to the re-enactment of one of the most dramatic institutions in state and national history. The younger generation is prone to forget the difficulties that beset the nation in its formative period. Left alone long enough, it is easy to understand that there might some day be a race of Americans who would know absolutely nothing about the Pony Express, its purpose, and what it meant to the development of the west. The publicity given the idea in the local and state papers will impress the lesson on the minds of the present generation at least. "The Ride of Paul Revere" was immortalized in a poem, and it will dwell in the minds of Americans as long as there is an American. The fact that Paul Revere did not make the ride at all has little to do with the immortality of the story. We of the great West are not old enough as a people as yet to realize fully the importance of keeping historical events green in the minds of the coming generation. Perhaps it is for this reason that nothing has been done to date about preserving Fort Hart-suff for the benefit of the future Nebraskans. Our days of pioneering are over, and it is important that we realize it, and make steps necessary for the preservation of the traditions of our pioneer days. If the ride of the Pony Express has done nothing else, it has reminded us of the sturdy character of the men who built this country in the wilderness and made it to blossom as the rose.

Grand Island some ten years ago, now numbers well over one hundred and many of the best known poets in the state are members. Mrs. Barber's hobby is Indian poetry, of which she has written quite a number and has had several published. She pictures the Indians just as they are, dirty and uncivilized, not romantic and poetic, like Hiawatha for example. Mrs. Barber's "How," a poem of Indians, was published in the national Indian magazine printed in Washington, at the request of some of her friends on the Pine Ridge reservation. Her "Sioux War Dance" received first place in a contest of Indian poems conducted by a Kansas poetry magazine. Mrs. Barber is a member of the Legion Auxiliary, the Hebekah lodge, and the founder of the Young Ladies club, an organization of girls and young women of the community. At the present time she spends much time in "bratting," caring for the babies of the village. She is proud of a compliment she recently received when she was called "big sister and aunt to a whole town." She is a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church, serves as publicity director and prints bulletins. She is a printer and reporter, doing part time work on the Scott's Register. Widow of the late J. A. Barber, who served many years as a member of the county board of supervisors, she is deeply interested in politics, especially republican politics. Now, you see what I mean when I say I like to give credit where credit is due. After all is said and done, the only measure of worth is the worth while things we have done while we were here. When people look on your tombstone they will see there your name. Your father gave you that. They will see there the date of your birth. Your mother is responsible for that. They will read the date of your death. You had nothing to do with that, or should not have had it. All the time you were fighting to live just a little while longer. They may see a verse from the Bible, or a quotation. That was written a long, long time ago, and you had nothing to do with it. When you look at your last rest place they may see all this, but it is not what they see that is of interest, but what they THINK. They will not want to think of all the little, mean things you did or said while living, but of the good things you said and did. In the final analysis, that is the only thing that counts. Whether you built a better mouse trap, could shine a pair of shoes better, or build a better dam than Boulder dam. The size of the job you did is not so important, but how good a job you did it.

Recently the Quiz published a picture showing that the tracks of the celebrated mountain lion were five inches in length. I heard an interesting discussion on the subject. One man said he knew of a dog weighing about 150 pounds who made tracks four inches long. Therefore he claimed that the lion would weigh 20% more than the dog, or about 184 2/3 pounds. He lost sight of the fact that the relation between the two tracks would be as the cube of the numbers, since he was dealing with solid bodies. So, for every 64 pounds the dog weighed, the lion should weigh 125, or approximately double, around 300 pounds, which is not a bad weight for a lion. Here's guessing that when somebody is lucky enough to kill one of the beasts he won't come carrying him home on his shoulder.

By Anderson had some argument with Dave Arnold the past week over the railroad land in Valley county and the distance it reached to the right side of the right-of-way. It got me to thinking that the history of the railroad land might be a subject of interest to a lot of Quiz readers. This brought Luke Weekes into the picture, since he had charge of the Bookwalter land in Valley and Greeley counties for a number of years. Luke tells me he has the complete record of the land, which John W. Bookwalter bought from the Burlington in the early '80's. As soon as I can spare the time and Weekes is not too busy, I'll work up a story that should be of general interest. Above my desk in the Quiz is a picture of myself. At least, that is which it is purported to be. It was pinned up there by Lena, who found it somewhere and wrote my name on it. The picture is a remarkable likeness, except for the fact that I have my mouth wide open and my teeth showing, a rather unusual situation as I usually am puckered to whistle. I am right in the name, and have taken the bit in my teeth. If you happen to be in the office at any time, I would be glad to have you take a look at the picture.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

I always like to give credit where credit is due. Some people live for years in a community and all too often they are taken for granted. I imagine that was the case at one time with Harry Truman, who landed on the top round by a freak of fate, but who is hanging on to it through his own ability. We have people of talent and ability in our midst and all too often even the nearest neighbors simply know them as Jones or Brown or whoever they may be, knowing nothing of the special talent that makes them worthy of special notice. Perhaps the reason for this condition is the tendency of people to hide their light under a bushel instead of setting it on a candlestick where it can be seen by men. Modesty is a virtue, but it never yet landed a man a high place in the affairs of the nation. I have in mind a lady about whom I could write a lot, and I do not see any harm in writing some of it right here and now. She may not like the idea, but I do not care. So long as I tell the truth she won't have any chance to sue me for libel. The lady I mean is Myra Thorgate Barber of North Loup, who was recently elected unanimously as president of Nebraska's poetry organization for the fourth term. The membership of this society, started in

Dr. Hemphill Is Buried Wednesday

William Joseph Hemphill was born July 11, 1873, and died June 11, 1949, lacking just one month of being 76 years old. He was born in Easton, Pennsylvania, to Silas Paul and Mary Claire Hemphill, in a family of eight, three boys and five girls. When ready for college he came west to the Seventh Day Baptist college at Milton, Wis., from which he graduated in June, 1898, and the next month, July 12, he married Miss Cora Hurley at Minneapolis, Minn. He at once entered Hahnemann Medical College, in Chicago. He graduated in January, 1902, and came directly to North Loup, which was his home and the field of his labors all the rest of his life, forty-seven years and four months. He was a true "horse and buggy doctor" for the most of his large practice was beyond the hills up and down the valley in places which could be reached only by team, and no matter how cold or stormy the night or rough the roads, the doctor and his team could find the way. St. Paul Kiddies Angle For Prizes

More than 450 people attended a kiddies fishing contest held at the Jorgensen sand pit recently. A total of 241 children fished for prizes collected by the St. Paul gun club, sponsor of the event. The contestants ranged in age from 13 months to 15 years, the limit set by the club. The contest was held through the cooperation of the state fish and game commission, which furnished 450 built-heads for the contest.

Test Oil Well is Planned for Blair

A test oil well is to be drilled later this year in the northeast part of Washington county, according to an announcement made by Roy M. Harrop of Omaha, general manager for the Consumers Syndicate, Ltd. He said that the well would not be drilled until after the $15,000 bonus law goes into effect in August.

The announcement is of interest to local people, as Mr. Harrop is of the family for which the post office of Harrop on the Calamus was named. He promoted an irrigation plan for the Calamus, but it failed.

Thieves Strike in Greeley, Tuesday

Thieves entered the Greeley Lumber company last Tuesday and made away with two .22 caliber rifles, several boxes of ammunition, two electric razors, several watches and other merchandise. They overlooked a 16 gauge shotgun worth $100.

Eight dollars in cash was taken from Steve Retter's service station, also his personal electric razor and two oil filters. The thieves also tried to open the safe of the Greeley Grain company by taking off the hinges, but were unable to do so.

Excavation Starts for Crete Hospital

Fifty New Members of Lodge Slavin at Meeting Sunday

Fifty young people and some not so young comprised the new membership of more than fifty presented in a special program at National hall Sunday afternoon. Note the trophy on table in foreground.

Lodge Slavin Wins Treasured Trophy In Annual Contest

Z. C. B. J. Organization Best in 380 Lodges in Total of 20 States.

As the result of a campaign carried on in the Geranium neighborhood, the Z. C. B. J. lodge there, Lodge Slavin, made the best showing in new members and in insurance written, and as a result was awarded the fine trophy offered by the grand lodge.

Sunday afternoon, this trophy was awarded at a special program held at National hall at which more than two hundred were present. Among the notables present were Roman Hruska of Omaha, vice-president of the grand lodge, who awarded the trophy to the president of Lodge Slavin, Ladislav Kvetensky.

Others of note were Simon Rakousk of Omaha, a member of the grand board of directors; Frank Raska, state organizer, Frank Benda of Ord, lodge president, John Horn, district secretary, and Mrs. Emma Seveck of Elba, organizer who helped the lodge gain more than 50 new members.

Musical Ministers to Entertain Here

Jonisons Arrive In Germany

In a cablegram from C. J. Mortenson received Tuesday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jonison stated that they had safely arrived in Badmergenheim, Germany. The Jonison family left here the first week in June, sailing from New York for Germany where he is in charge of the civil government administration.

Quiz Editor Back from 5,000 Mile Trip to Utah Convoy; Visited California

Gene Leggett, editor of the Quiz, and son Kerry returned to Ord Monday evening after spending 25 days on a 4,800 mile trip through various western states. Mrs. Leggett and Teddy, who accompanied them, stopped off at Alliance, Wyo. that night and on to Salt Lake City the next day.

Main purpose of the trip was to attend the annual convention of the National Editorial Association, which met at the Utah hotel in Salt Lake City on June 4, 5, 6 and 7, which meeting was followed by a group tour of the southern Utah parks, southern California and the San Francisco bay area.

The Leggetts left Ord early on the morning of June 1, driving in Rawlins, Wyo. that night and on to Salt Lake City the next day.

The convention, which began the next morning, was the most interesting held by NEA in many years. Features included a special concert by the Mormon Tabernacle choir with an address by J. Reuben Clark, president of the Mormon

B. P. Ladies Hold Dance to Help in Hospital Drive

Total Passes $30,000 Mark, With Country Areas to Hear From.

Elmer Hall's orchestra furnished the music for the dance put on by the Business and Professional Women's club of Ord Tuesday evening, the plan being to raise enough to buy one share of hospital stock. The receipts were sufficient for this purpose.

The dance was largely attended and was a great success. The crowd liked the circle 2-step and the square dance very much. D. E. Troyer proved that all the dance callers are not dead by doing an excellent job of calling.

The crowd was so well pleased with his performance and with the dance in general that they asked for another of the same kind, and this may be done some time later.

The total amount raised to date in share sales in the area is above $30,000, with most of the country area yet to be heard from. A plan is being formulated and will be put in force next week, in which the rural areas will be solicited by school districts, rather than by townships.

The idea of doing this came from the work of a lady who decided to see what she could do in her home school district. She tried it and raised $500. It seemed like a good idea, so the committee has decided to try it.

church; receptions by General Motors corporation and Ford Motor company; a beach party at Saltair on Great Salt Lake; a trip through the copper mines at Bingham; a tour of the Geneva Steel plant; attendance at the world premiere of the Bob Hope movie, "Sorrowful Jones"; a visit to the municipal rose gardens where 17,000 roses were in bloom; meeting Virginia Mayo, the movie star; a trip to Brighton, Utah with an outdoor luncheon and ride on a ski lift.

Future articles by Mrs. Leggett will describe many of these events in detail. All were interesting and the Ord people found the Mormons to be most hospitable people.

Approximately 800 attended the convention. New president chosen was Joseph T. Cook, of the Mission (Tex.) Times; new vice-president is J. Clifford Kaynor, of the Ellensburg (Wash.) Record; elected treasurer was Art Gardner of the Grete (Neb.) News. The Referendum Will Decide Whether Laws are Wanted

People May Be Given Chance to Vote on 4 Major Issues in '50.

Nebraska's unicameral members have had their opportunity to vote as they thought best on a number of major issues, and it now looks as though the people will be given a chance to express their approval or condemnation of them at the 1950 election.

Most controversial of these is the revenue raising license and gas tax bill, passed in support of Governor Peterson's long-range road building program. Three large farm organizations are working together to put across a referendum on this bill.

Bryan V. Holmes, Master of the state grange, says: "We believe the people of Nebraska are entitled to vote on these issues. The other farm organizations working with the Nebraska Grange are Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation and the Farmers Union.

The gas increase is now in effect, but the license fee increase is not effective until Aug. 27. If 47,634 names can be signed to petitions before that date, the auto license fee bill will be suspended. The gas tax increase cannot now be knocked out before the 1950 election.

The other bills on which a referendum may be asked are the rent de-control bill, the normal schools liberal arts degree bill, and the bill to increase the number of the unicameral from 75 to 85. If any or all of these are placed on the 1950 ballot, the public will see a really hot scrap in the election of that year.

Valley County S. C. District Buys Tractor

Increased Scope of Work Requires New and Better Machinery.

The supervisors of the Valley county soil conservation district have purchased a TD-18 International Tractor from Mr. Gilbert Clark of Burwell, Neb.

With the purchase of this tractor the supervisors now have a complete unit to be used for conservation work. During the year 1948 a Bucyrus-Erie S-67 scoop was purchased.

The district also has a Cat. 50 on lease from the Soil Conservation service which they will continue to operate during the remainder of the year. However this Ca. 50 is a 1932 model and is very hard to keep in repair. It is hoped that with the purchase of the TD-18 it will be possible to service the Cooperators of the District better and more quickly.

Earl Jensen is shown operating the TD-18 on the Mrs. Roy Bailey place in the construction of a terrace (diversion type). Earl Jensen has been employed as the "Cat Skinner" for the district for over two years. Earl has become well known to many of the cooperators for his good work in doing the job in the "Conservation Way."

Mike Sok is also employed by the District as a "Cat Skinner." Mike has worked for the district before as the Ford operator and as a "Cat Skinner" for other contractors in the county.

The equipment owned and operated by the Soil Conservation district supervisors is used by request on cooperators' farms. The prices charged for work done by the district equipment are based upon prevailing prices charged for like work done by local contractors. No attempt is made by the district to compete with local contractors either in price or on jobs.

Ferris states that in Iowa it is necessary this year to spray practically every acre of corn at least once, and many fields will probably receive two sprayings, since under favorable conditions two broods of borers are produced in a single season. He says that both airplanes and ground rigs are used there in large numbers in applying DDT for borer control.

White farmers in Iowa and other states to the east have learned to live with the corn borer and produce big crops in spite of borer damage. Dale says that in this area, where the dryland corn crop is always uncertain, the cost of spraying might be a heavy burden.

In other words, in a year when the borer infestation is heavy, the dryland farmer might not feel justified in taking on the added costs of spraying, if moisture conditions are unfavorable for a corn crop. The unsprayed areas would then tend to cause a very heavy build-up in borer population.

Military Rites for Erwin Dodge to Be Held Thursday P. M.

Funeral services for T. Sgt. Erwin Dodge, lost in action in Italy, February 25, 1945, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the Hastings-Pearson chapel. His body, accompanied by military escort, will arrive in Ord at noon Thursday.

Committal rites, with full military honors given by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, will be held in the Ord cemetery where young Dodge will be laid to final rest in the soil he died to protect.

County Valuation Higher Than 1948, Record Discloses

Personal Lower, Real Estate Higher, Drop in Intangible "A".

According to the completed record of County Assessor W. C. Noll the total valuation of all property in Valley county for 1949 is $14,369,920. This shows a fair increase over the total for 1948, which is $14,139,410. The increase is $230,510, or about 1 1/2%.

Personal property still remained above the four million mark in 1949, despite a drop of nearly one hundred thousand dollars. Town property showed an increase of twenty thousand dollars, while farm property showed a loss of more than four thousand dollars.

The greatest drop, however, was in Class "A" intangibles, which in 1948 showed a total of $2,538,837, and this year $1,877,904. At the same time Class "B" intangibles showed an increase from $499,179 to $526,006.

Total cattle in the county this year numbered 28,065 with a valuation of $2,071,555, quite a drop from the 1948 figure of 29,513, and valuation of $2,203,223. Horses and mules numbered 2,506 this year, valued at $39,955. Last year there were 2,861 with a value of $60,820.

Total hogs this year were 9,918, worth $253,140. The figure last year was 13,103, and value $309,616. We had 7,070 dozen fowl in 1949, worth $35,550. Last year there were 7,953 dozen and they worth $39,840.

Given here are the figures on a number of items, the first being the 1949 number, the latter the 1948 number: Dogs, 898, 937; tractors, 968, 926; airplanes, 10, 13; stoves (electric and gas), 840, 718; refrigerators, 897, 750; washers, 1537, 599; sewing machines, 1244, 247; radios, 1611, 1150.

Registered in 1949 were 2,614 motor vehicles, with a valuation of $797,875. In 1948 the number was 2,353, and the value, $550,050. It is noted that the general trend is slightly downward, which is in line with the lowering prices on the market. Increased use of electric equipment is reflected in some of the numbers given above.

Hawthorne Golden Anniversary Soon

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hawthorne of Arcadia are planning to observe open house Sunday, July 3, that being the occasion of their Golden wedding anniversary. Friends are invited to call from 2:30 to 5:30 and from 7 to 10 p. m. on that day.

Clyde C. Hawthorne and Augusta Peters were married at Burwell March 29, 1899. They moved to Arcadia, lived above the store for some time, they moved to their present home in 1901, 45 years ago. A family dinner is planned in the Congregational church parlors.

The anniversary is being observed some months late, for the reason that weather conditions in March made a celebration at that time out of the question.

Loan Association Pays 5% Dividend

Payment of a 5 per cent regular dividend by the Loup National Farm loan association of Ord was announced this week by James B. Ollis, secretary-treasurer.

Checks are now mailed to 222 Greeley, Valley, Loup, and Garfield county farmers and stockholders, the association's stockholders.

The dividend, Mr. Ollis, said, was made possible by payment of a dividend to the association by the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, which is owned entirely by the National Farm Loan Associations in a four-state area.

Directors of the association at Ord are Evert Smith, pres., W. O. Zanger of North Loup, vice pres., Frank L. Noonan of Scott, and E. Walsh of Spalding. John G. Bremer of Ord, John H. Schere of Burwell and Art Coleman of Taylor.

State Examiners Are at Court House This Week

Four men from the office of State Auditor Ray Johnson have been checking over the records in the several county offices at the court house this week. Walter J. Naab and Keith Youngstrom came last week, and Paul Kuhlman and R. E. Westerhoff came Monday.

Former Ord Man to York First National Beginning July 1

Ralph Misko of Eaton Will Be Vice-President of York First National.

Ralph E. Misko, is to become vice-president of the First National Bank of York, as of July 1st. He has purchased a home there and has moved his family, consisting of himself and wife, son Wade, 4, and daughter Nancy, 2 1/2 to their new home.

Ralph Misko was born in Ord, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Misko. He graduated here in 1926, and entered the banking business at the First National Bank in 1931, when his father was president of the bank. He succeeded to the presidency in 1940.

Selling his interests in Ord he became associated with the First National bank of Omaha in the correspondence banks division. Later he went to Eaton, Colo., to become head of the bank there.

The opportunity afforded him as well as the character of the city brought him back to York.

Annual Valley County Demonstration Meet

The annual Valley county 4-H Demonstration Training meeting was held in the Ord High school on Wednesday, June 22. William Smith, assistant 4-H club leader from the State College of Agriculture conducted the meeting. Tape recordings of the demonstrations were made and then played back for the benefit of the demonstrators.

This proved to be most helpful as the girls could listen to their own voices and better understand the criticisms made. Seventy-five 4-H Club girls from all sections of the county attended. Five demonstrations were given by the following girls: "Setting a Table," Ruth Ollis and Kay Hughes of the Merry Makers Club, leader, Mrs. Ralph Douglas. "Baking Plain Muffins," Leann Kerchal and Mary Joyce Ulrich; "Measuring Dry and Liquid Ingredients," Leta Nelson and Dorothy Adamek of the "Town and Country" club, leader Mrs. Joe Ulrich; "Hemming a Dust Cloth," Sharyl Knapp and Karen Fish of the "Hi-Way Juniors" club, leader, Mrs. Gilbert Babcock; "Preparing and Cooking Carrots," Sharon Brown and Patty Thurgate of the "Kitchen Maids" club, Mrs. Charles Goodrich, leader.

License Issued.

A marriage license was issued June 27 by Judge Cochran to Walter Mann Hill, 68, and Ida Mae Hill, 19, both of Arcadia.

—Mrs. Ella Beehrle spent Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jobst.

Harvest to Begin This Week, With Prospects Good

Some Wheat Ready to Cut; Grain Will Be of Fine Quality.

By the time this is printed, the wheat harvest in Valley county will be under way. With the exception of a few fields where the grain was so heavy that it went down in the rain, the stand is good and the quality should be fine.

Most wheat fields are comparatively free from weeds and in good condition for combining. A few of the exceptionally heavy fields went down under the wind and rain Sunday evening, and will only make a partial recovery. Parts of such fields will have to be cut with the binder, as the combine will not go low enough to get all the heads.

Last week quite a few fields were becoming dry and hard on top, and were beginning to need rain. The moisture that fell Sunday night took care of this need all over the area. The amount ranged from .86 of an inch in Ord to an unofficial 2.25 on Davis Creek.

Other reports include 1.25 in the neighborhood of the Brick school, 1.28 at North Loup, a heavy rain with some hail at Burwell, and a good rain at Elvira. The amount tapered off to the south, with only a sprinkle at Grand Island.

Heavy wind is reported from both north and south of Ord, but it was much lighter here. The chief damage from the wind was the effect on the ripening fields of wheat. Since the wind had blown itself out before the rain began to fall heavily, the damage to crops was not as great as it might have been.

Farmers have been spending every available moment in the cornfields, and this work, together with the rain, makes the field look the best they have for a long time. Wherever there is a stand of corn the fields present an even surface everywhere, and are well ahead of this time last year, especially where the planting was early.

Haying is out of the way, but it will only be a short time until the second crop of alfalfa is ready in some fields. Like the first crop, the second crop also promises to be heavy, and there is enough moisture in the fields now to mature the crop, although another rain in a week would increase the yield.

Pastures and wild hay meadows show an exceptionally fine growth of grass, being knee high or higher in many places. This is the first real crop of wild grass in this area since the years of drought.

Ord Swimming Pool Popular Place on Hot Summer Days

Groups Visiting from Other Towns in Area, Mgr. Kovanda Says.

According to all reports, the most popular place in the entire Ord area these hot days is Ord's Municipal swimming pool, where a large crowd assembles to enjoy life, forenoon, afternoon and in the evening.

Manager Keith Kovanda indicates that the pool is popular with swimmers from other towns. A group from Loup City is expected for swimming instructions. Saturday night will be reserved for swimming parties, and regular admission will be charged.

A swimming party was held last Saturday evening, it being the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson's wedding anniversary. There was a total of 500 swimmers last week.

The checkroom in the bath house has been painted and the swimming pool is to be under swimming pool management. A large group was present from Scotia last Thursday.

The pool was drained Tuesday for cleaning purposes, but was ready for use again Wednesday. There will be no registration for swimming this year. Patrons are asked to keep in mind the first city swim meet, which comes the evening of July 4.

Many Attend an Irrigation Meet Friday Morning

Details of Long Range Reclamation Project Are Discussed in Detail

Representatives from the counties of Valley, Howard, Greeley and Garfield counties were present at a meeting in the Ord district court room Friday morning. Present also was Fred H. Schultz, Sherman county's new county agent, as representing that county.

The meeting was held for the purpose of acquainting all who desired to attend of the plans of the Bureau of Reclamation with regard especially to irrigation in the Central Nebraska area. Present as a reclamation representative was Fred Daubert of the Grand Island office.

Among others present was Dan Jones of the state department of roads and irrigation, A. R. Marquardt of the state soil conservation office, Mac O'Brien, PMA fieldman of the production and marketing administration, and J. P. Ross, A. H. Maunger and John Steele of the agricultural extension service.

There was quite a group of farmers present and other people interested in irrigation, including Senator Hugh Carson. The bureau's plans for development of irrigation in the area were discussed, and an opportunity given each agency to plan what part it will take in the general plan for the area.

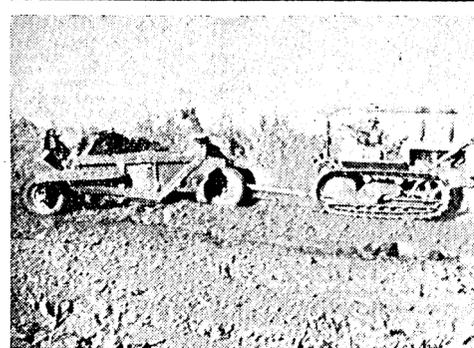

Local people were invited to give their suggestions and reactions to the plan. Emphasis was laid on the Middle Loup, where two irrigation districts, the Sargent and Fairwell, are being developed. The meeting was informative in its nature and proved of great interest to all present.

Cosmopolitans Complete Kids Pool; Open Officially Sunday, July 3

Under the direction of committeemen Jay Brown, Rich Rowbal and Melvin Clements the Ord Cosmopolitan club has completed and turned over to the city their big project for this year, the children's wading pool.

The pool is twenty feet wide by thirty feet long and graduated in depth from six inches to eighteen inches. It is surrounded by a sidewalk of concrete four feet wide. A small sand beach outside of the sidewalk is contemplated. The area around the pool will be terraced and in the fall will be seeded.

A constant flow of fresh water will be supplied by means of a spray at the east end of the pool. The pool will be drained and cleaned each evening, and the area around disinfected.

The Cosmopolitans are proud of their handiwork and claim that the job would have been perfect if it had not been for the sudden rain that caught them one Sunday when they had the cement half poured. They estimate that over 1000 man hours were needed to complete the pool, most of which labor was done on Sundays.

The pool will be open Sunday, July 3. It will be the responsibility of the parents of the children to watch after them as no permanent life guard will be available. Benches will be erected near the pool for the convenience of parents and spectators.

The cost of the pool and the benches and terracing will approximate $700.00, all of which has been raised by contributions.

Timmerman Home Sold Saturday to Fred Martinsen

The Timmerman home, located at 515 South 18th street, was sold Saturday at auction by the owner, Mrs. Herman Timmerman. Fred Martinsen was the final bidder on the property for which he paid $3,200.

In addition to the property, the Timmerman household goods were also sold at the same time and location. A large crowd attended the sale. Herman Rice was the auctioneer and Ruth Rice the clerk.

membership committee of the organization, a position he has held for the past two years.

On the evening of June 8, at close of the convention, most of the group entrained for Cedar City, going from there by buses new president re-appointed Mr. Leggett chairman of the national Bryce Canyon, Zion National Park and the Grand Canyon for three days of sight seeing. The Ord people were driving their own car, however, and left on the morning of June 9 for Ontario, Calif., where they were guests of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McBeth and family, also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Clements and Allan Clements. All these former Ord people are well, busy and happy. One evening was spent in drive to Palm Desert, Calif., to visit Mrs. Bess Stacy and Miss Lena Clements, other cousins and also former Ord people, who now are on the editorial staff of The Desert Magazine. This magazine is now housed in a new plant built on the desert in a new town south of Palm Springs. The plant and equipment are beautiful and modern in all respects.

On the morning of June 12 the Leggetts rejoined the editorial group at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, where they were guests of that city as guests of the California Newspaper Publishers Association. These were busy and interesting days with baseball games, lectures, sight-seeing courses, visits to motion picture studios, a theatrical party and luncheon at Santa Anita Turf club, followed by an afternoon of racing and many luncheons and banquets on the itinerary.

At the 20th Century-Fox movie lot they watched the actual filming of a new movie in which Paul Douglas, Keenan Wynn and Jean Peters are starred. They also saw Claudette Colbert and Jack Benny.

From Los Angeles the editorial group went by rail to San Diego for two days but the Leggetts could not make this part of the trip and drove northward, spending one night at Santa Barbara and another at Monterey before arriving at Salinas to rejoin the train group for a luncheon at the Elks club, followed by attendance at the famous Salinas rodeo.

That evening they drove to San Francisco and joined the train group at the Fairmont hotel for two days of entertainment and sight seeing in the bay area. This included a luncheon in Muir Woods, a trip through the famous Valley of the Moon country in Sonoma county, made famous by Jack London, a visit to a winery and an outdoor dinner as guests of the Redwood Empire Association.

The next day all the editors were guests of the U. S. navy, going from Hunter's Point to Mare Island on a destroyer and inspecting submarines and other craft anchored there, after which luncheon was served at Vallejo.

Dinner at the hotel, followed by a sight seeing trip to Chinatown and Fishermen's Wharf, completed the post-convention tour on the evening of June 19.

On the following day the Leggetts started the homeward drive, staying that night at Truckee, Calif., and at Boise, Ida., the next night. There Mr. Leggett visited Roy Heuck, a schoolmate and former Ord man, who runs The Waldorf, a large billiard parlor there. One of the old incidents of the trip occurred when he noticed that his car, parked outside Heuck's place of business, was being watched by a handsome, burly young policeman. When he went out the policeman said, "Is this Nebraska 47 car yours?" When we answered "yes?" he announced that he was from Valley county himself, that his name was Lee and that he is a son of Henry Lee of North Loup. He has lived in Idaho 8 years and has been on the Boise police force since his return from army service. Still stranger is the fact that although Lee and Heuck had visited together many times and felt they were well acquainted, neither knew that the other came from Valley county, Nebraska.

From Boise the Leggetts drove to Paul, Ida., where they selected and placed flowers on the graves of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Burke, in the Paul cemetery. The Burkes once lived in Ord.

That night was spent at Idaho Falls and the following day the Ord people drove to West Yellowstone where, after registering at the Stagecoach Inn to be assured of a place to spend the night, they entered the park for an afternoon of sight seeing. The next day was spent in the park also and they left by the east entrance to spend the night and next day in Cody as guests of Clayton Burke and his wife, the former Gertrude Stacy, also former Ord people. Leaving Cody on Sunday morning they drove to Alliance and on to Ord the next day.

The trip was made without car trouble of any kind, fine weather was encountered throughout and the Leggetts feel that their western vacation was interesting and worth while.

Harvest to Begin This Week, With Prospects Good

Some Wheat Ready to Cut; Grain Will Be of Fine Quality.

As a result, cattle in the pastures are fat and never looked better.

A report comes from Scotia that the wind damaged some buildings in that area Sunday night. There was also wind damage in the North Loup-Scotia area Tuesday night when a heavy rain, accompanied by high wind hit at about 2 a. m.

The wind caused more lodging of small grain and some fields of corn large enough to be affected, were leaned over badly. However, it is believed that most of the corn is small enough to straighten up again. Some hail fell at North

Loup but not enough to do much damage.

At Ord, which seemed to be in the north edge of the main storm, Observer Travis reports 35 of an inch. It is a peculiar fact that nearly all rains in June to date were heavier over the south part of the county, and some of them were heavier also, to the north of Ord.

With one more day to go, the month of June bids fair to show one of the heaviest rainfalls of all time for the month. This, added to above normal rainfall for the first five months of 1949, will establish a new record for the first six months of the year.

—Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kusek are the parents of a baby boy born June 26 in Burwell. The baby weighed five pounds, 10 ounces and has been named David Dean.

—Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Meyer and family of Santa Ana, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Urban went to Oklahoma City to visit Mr. and Mrs. Emil Urban.

—Douglas Pearson has returned home after spending a week with his grandmother, Mrs. Bedell, in Lincoln.

Get Your Money's Worth!

There's one big advantage in buying the quality meat that is sold in the North Side Market— You get the best quality beef or pork obtainable, carefully butchered and aged, trimmed so there is no waste, and you pay no more.

Because they get their money's worth is the big reason so many families get all their meat needs here. You, too, will join the parade, once you give us a trial.

Land and Personal Property AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Due to my health I must quit farming and therefore will sell at public auction my farm and all personal property. This sale will take place on the farm, which is located 6 1/2 miles east of Ord on the Springdale road, starting at 1:00 p. m.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 6 INFORMATION ABOUT THE FARM

This farm is legally known as S. E. 1/4th of Sec. 21 and N. E. 1/2 of the N. E. 1/4th of Sec. 28-19-13, Valley County, Nebr., and consists of 234 acres more or less, according to the government survey.

Improvements consist of a 6 room house, a barn 24x18, a double corncrib with 700 bu. capacity, a granary of 1,000 bu. capacity with 10-foot drive, brooder house and hen house. There is a small orchard. Water system new in 1948 including Aerometer windmill and tower, new well and cistern. Water is piped to the yards and into the house. Farm is all fenced and cross-fenced.

This place has 60 acres of rich, tillable land, now in crops, plus 15 acres more tillable land which is not in crop this year. Balance of farm is divided into 4 separate pastures including a small calf pasture. The tillable land is sub-irrigated and is very rich. A portion of the pasture land is river bottom. Two of the pastures have flowing springs that have never gone dry.

This is a very desirable farm, located on graveled road and on high line so electricity is available if wanted. It will be sold on the following terms: $1,500 on sale day as security of contract, balance Sept. 1, 1949 when a deed and abstract of title will be furnished, the 1949 taxes paid and possession given. Come and see this place, which has great possibilities.

Check List

For Vacation-Bound Motorists the Ignition System

of your car is crony about starting, it isn't ready for a trip. Probably has a faulty ignition system. We'll fix it for you . . . install new spark plugs if needed. A properly functioning ignition system means better gas mileage, too . . . and that's important on a trip.

the Fuel System

Anything can happen with a cranky carburetor. Gas won't mix properly, resulting in unpredictable performance. But we check more than the carburetor . . . we test the fuel pump, too . . . and we clean out the dirt. When the fuel system works right . . . it's another mileage saver.

the Brakes

To drive a car safely you must drive a safe car . . . and that means the brakes have got to be good. Whatever you do, don't start on a trip if the brakes are faulty. You don't want to be involved in an brake service.

the Clutch

Look out . . . when the clutch slip "begins to show." We will check it carefully, replace linings and disc to give the car clutch proper holding action. A properly working clutch is another must for the motorist who's going on vacation.

the Cooling System

Don't drive a "boiler" on your vacation. If the water pump leaks, your car will be a constant source of annoyance and trouble. We'll check this for you, and while we're at it, we'll look over the hose and hose connections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was frocked in heirloom satin, fashioned with a silk brocaded Peter Pan collar. The fitted bodice with self-covered buttons topped a full gathered skirt ending in a cathedral train. A tiara of seed pearls held the bride's floor length veil of french illusion. She carried a white silk prayer book covered with a purple tipped white orchid.

A blue gown of mauve chiffon was worn by Patti Garland, maid of honor. She wore matching net mitts and bonnet. Her flowers were a bouquet of pink shasta daisies. Margaret Harris, bridesmaid, wore a pink gown of taffeta with matching net mitts and bonnet. She carried a bouquet of blue shasta daisies.

The groom's attendants were his two brothers, Vernon Beran and Frank Beran, Jr., and seating the guests were Paul J. Scott, brother of the bride, and Roland Beran, brother of the groom.

Grace McQuillan was organist, and the choir was composed of Mary Jane Rooney, Shirley Snell, Catherine, A. Jones and Ann O'Gorman, Mary G. Sullivan and Margaret Lanigan.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the Sacred Heart hall and a reception for 150 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents from two to five o'clock in the afternoon.

After the wedding trip to Grand Lake, Colo., the couple will reside in Ord where the groom is engaged in the hardware business.

The bride attended the University of Nebraska in Lincoln.

Ord Invitational Golf Tournament Most Successful

Al Blessing Champion and Medalist; Don Hill Takes Second Place.

Playing Championship golf all the way, Al Blessing won the championship at the Ord Invitational golf tournament Sunday by defeating another local young man, Don Hill, who took second place as runner-up in the championship flight. Dr. H. C. Anderson of Grand Island took the consolation in this flight. By his fine performance Blessing took two of the trophies offered by the Ord golf club, while Hill won one trophy. Two trophies were also won in the first flight, one by Dr. Walker of Grand Island, the winner, and the other by Jim Traill, also of Grand Island, who was runner-up. Ray Furtak of Ravenna won the consolation in the first flight.

Second flight winners in order were Bud Warren, Wolbach; Dick Maloepszy, Ord, and Ray Chamberlain of Santa Monica, Calif. Winners in the third flight were Joe Jirak of Ord, Vern Maloepszy, Ord and A. Liebsack, Grand Island.

Fourth flight was won by G. R. Jones, with H. Moore, Grand Island, runner-up and Ken Ayres of Ord consolation winner. Fifth flight was won by Ray Waterbury of Arcadia, runner-up, H. Jensen, Grand Island, and consolation, O. Rottenmayer, Arcadia. Sixth and final flight was won by Chris Anderson, Wolbach. Dick Tolen runner-up and Asa Anderson, Lapeer, Mich., consolation.

Thirty six persons teed off, with eight in the championship flight, eight in the first flight, and four in each of the other flights. All winners received golf balls. All trophies and prizes were furnished by the Ord golf club.

Al Blessing's total for 27 holes of play was one under par. Hilding Pearson sank a birdie 2 on the 262 yard second hole, par 4, the only birdie of the day. July 10 a local tournament will be held by the club, the course being played backward to add interest.

Plans are under way for another invitational tournament at Ord Aug. 28. A. J. Shirley is to be commended for his fine work in getting the course in such fine condition for the tournament. He is chairman of the tournament committee, assisted by Joe Jirak and Mark Tolen.

Towns represented were Ord, Arcadia, Ravenna, Wolbach, Grand Island, Santa Monica, Calif. and Lapeer, Mich. The officers of the Ord Golf club are A. L. Hill, president, Vernon Maloepszy, secretary-treasurer, Dick Tolen, C. Thompson, Hilding Pearson and Joe Jirak.

Ord Nelson Motors Outlasts Scotia In Batting Spree

Forty Scores in Game May Be Season Record Manager Heuck Thinks

The customers certainly got their money's worth at the Junior Legion game played with Scotia at the Ord Athletic field Sunday afternoon, the final score being 22 to 18. The feature of the game was Paul Stoddard's three home runs.

It was certainly not a pitcher's battle as Clement, Severson and Marion Geneski, who did the mound chores for Ord, were all wild. In fact, the entire team was off on throwing, not being able to get the ball to the right place at the right time.

They made up for it by power hitting. To the credit of Severson it might be stated that he went into the game with the bases loaded and finished out the inning, being forced to retire then because of a sore arm. Manager Heuck was well pleased with the Junior hitting.

Friday the Ord Midgets went to Ansley and showed their power by batting out 22 runs to Ansley's 8. Ign. Piskorski pitched for the Ord Midgets while Jimmy Douthit did a fine job behind the plate. The Ord Legion Juniors ran into trouble with the Ansley Legion team, which has won 41 of their last 42 games, and had to be content with the short end of a 11-2 score.

Chamber of Commerce Meets Thursday Night

A general meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce is called for Thursday night, at the Knights of Columbus hall, to begin at 8 p. m.

Any ideas on the Ord Community hospital drive will be welcomed. Free cold pop and sandwiches will be available.

In County Court. June 22, in County Judge Chas. Cichon's court was heard the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Delbert Rhoades, who was charged with injuring personal property as of June 14.

The property was one dog of a value of less than $35, belonging to Charles Lane. He entered a plea of guilty and charged, paid a fine of $5, and costs of $8.50, and was released.

Ed Zablouil Funeral to Be Held on Friday

The body of Ed Zablouil, former resident, who left Ord 31 years ago, is being shipped here from his home in Houston, Tex.

Funeral services will be held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel at 2 p. m. Friday. He was a brother of Will Zablouil. The full obituary will be printed next week.

Runner-Up Greet the Champ

Don Hill, left, congratulates the golf champion, Al Blessing, who beat him out for first place in the Ord Golf club's tournament Sunday. The boys are holding the trophies awarded them by the club.

CHURCH NOTES

The Methodist Church. L. V. Hassell, pastor.

Next Sunday the sermon subject is "A Better World by Christian Effort." Christian effort must be along the line of a Christian united effort. When Christians can work together, then statesmen will work together. World peace does not depend upon numbers but upon spirit and how much we are willing to give up for Christ. Little depends upon how long I have belonged to the church, but how well have I served Him.

The first official board meeting will be next Sunday evening. Let us urge every member to be present and help plan for the new year.

Presbyterian Church Sunday School, 9:15. Morning Worship, 11:00. There will be services Sunday. Women's League meets Wednesday, July 6. This is Guest Day and every member is to bring a guest.

Evangelical United Brethren J. L. Arnold, Pastor A communion service will be conducted during the morning worship hour next Sunday morning.

Our next quarterly meeting will take place 8:00 p. m., July 11th. Superintendent Watkins of York will be present and bring a message, before conducting the business session.

Church of Christ Clyde D. Scott, Minister Sunday 10:00 a. m., Bible School. 11:00 a. m., Morning Worship. 8:00 p. m., Evening Worship. Tuesday 7:30 p. m., Young People's Meeting in Church. Thursday 8:00 p. m., Bible Study. Saturday 9:30-11:00, Jr. Bible Study.

Bethany Evang. Lutheran Church C. Jeppesen, Pastor Sunday School and Bible Class at 10:00. Sunday, July 3, Early Church Service at 9:00. Report will be given from the synodical convention by the delegate of the church, Mrs. Marie Jorgensen. Welcome to All!

Bethel Baptist Church Eugene Olson, Pastor 10:00 a. m., Sunday School. We have a class for you. Will you be there? 11:00 a. m., Morning Worship. This will be an unusual service, when the "Musical Ministers," five men and their instruments, will be heard. In the group is an excellent male quartet, pianist, saxophonist and trombonist. These men travel over a large part of the U. S. Come and hear them. An offering will be taken. 8:00 p. m., Evening Gospel Message and Song Service. Thursday 8:00 p. m., Prayer Meeting at the Needham home. Saturday 3:00 p. m., Bible Club. Saturday 8:00 p. m., Loup Valley Youth for Christ, Scotia Community Building. Welcome to all who come.

Scotia Leads in Sherman-Howard, 7 Wins, 1 Loss

Danes Down North Loup for First League Victory of Season.

With ideal baseball weather Sunday, all tilts in the Sherman-Howard League were played. Two of these battles were close ones. At Painter, the Farwell crew nosed out a 5 to 4 win to take over second spot in the league race while Wolbach took a 7 to 6 contest from Elba, to move into the fifth slot in the standings. In the other two games, Dannebrog finally came through with a win when they downed the North Loup lads, 9 to 5. At Scotia, the local team had things all their own way when they walloped Ashton, 11 to 0. The line scores: Ashton 000 230 000 1-7-2 Farwell 000 001 300 4-11-6

After two weeks of play, which includes the taking up of several postponed games, the list of 300 or better hitters in the Sherman-Howard league shows some change mostly on the downward trend. Jakubowski of Ashton is on top of the heap with a .461 average and his team mate Ksionzek is right on his heels batting a .410 clip. This list includes all games up to and including June 19th and has players that have taken part in four or more games, and has been compiled by the league secretary.

Broken Bow Scalps Ord 10-2 In Wild Slugfest Sunday

Colts Drop to Third in Ranking; To Entertain Mason City Here Sun.

In a wild slugfest where each team chalked up ten hits, Broken Bow scalped the league leading Ord colts 10 to 2 on the Custer county diamond Sunday. The Indians scored in nearly every inning, while Ord failed to bunch their hits to move into pay dirt. The locals were charged with 4 errors while the winners committed three.

Patrick started on the hill for Ord, but retired in the 5th inning in favor of Dilla. Neither pitcher had too much in the way of support.

Sunday, July 3, the Colts play at home and will test their strength against Mason City, league leader, and victor over Ord in their first game of the season. The following Sunday, July 10, Ord will tangle with Loup City at Loup City in a night game.

New Ord Parking.

The Ord street and alley committee, including Councilmen Jay Brown, Lyle Milliken and Dr. J. W. McGinnis, also Len Covert, street and alley committee member, and Mayor F. L. Blessing, are to be congratulated on the new idea for parking that they are using in the area around and adjacent to the square in Ord.

The old parking was at an angle of approximately 30 degrees with the curb line, while the new angle is 60 degrees or more. The old angle allowed perhaps ten feet of space for each auto. The new parking spaces are nearly 12 feet wide, plenty of room to park and to open doors.

The group mentioned above is responsible for the new parking, and they arrived at their conclusions in a unique way. They parked an auto in front of the city hall, trying different angles of parking until they found what seemed to be the most practical. Then they built a parking space around the car, leaving enough room for safety and comfort.

They then had Jake Hoffman bring up the lumber and built the marking guide to their specifications. Best of all is the fact that while each auto has more space than before, there is room for approximately 50 extra cars in the space to be marked off. This extra room will do much to offset the space lost when center parking was eliminated.

It will take the public some time to get used to the new markings and some will criticize, as is inevitable. But any project that gives the individual auto more space and at the same time provides room for 50 more autos is worthy of commendation.

At the same time the rest of the work was done, more room was provided in several "No Parking" spaces, for example at the bus depot, where in the past there has hardly been room for the bus to get in without obstructing a part of the Standard Oil driveway.

The "No Parking" spaces at the points where the cross walks are located in the center of each block are plainly marked and more easily seen and used than they were when the autos parked more nearly parallel with the curb and there is less likelihood of an accident at these places. The improvement has much to commend it.

We Want To Know.

The people of Nebraska want to know what the score is. The recent legislature passed four bills, all of which are coming in for considerable criticism. They are the highway revenue bill, the rent and control bill, the normal school bill and the change in the legislature itself.

No less than three farmers organizations in Nebraska are not pleased with the bill for increasing tax on gasoline. These groups think the people of Nebraska should have a right to vote on these measures, and are circulating petitions calling for a referendum vote.

At this time it is impossible even to predict what the result of such a vote will be. If it were taken at the present time, there is no doubt the vote would be strongly against it in the rural areas. Those advocating the referendum believe taxes are too high already.

It is possible, ever probable, that the other three measures will have to submit to the referendum in 1950. In either case there are friends and enemies of the bill. The only way to know which way the majority leans is to have a vote.

Without reference to the merits of any of the four laws, they have brought out the fact that the people of Nebraska are not asleep on the job. They know what is going on, and they apparently want to have some say as to what is done.

That is government at its best. So long as the people are awake to what is going on, so long as they are ready to do something about anything they do not like, Democracy is safe. Communism flourishes when people fall asleep on the job.

If we fall into the habit of "letting George do it," George will in time become a dictator. The reaction of Nebraska to the work of legislature shows a healthy trend in the direction of democratic government.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Many a fellow has to work like a horse, but that is no excuse for him acting like a jackass — If all the liars in the world were placed end to end, they would still lie — The blueblood was very proud of his ancestry. One night on a dark street a bandit showed a gun in his ribs with the command, "Come Across!" "Why not," came the answer, "My ancestors came across on the Mayflower."

And that reminds me that it don't make any difference whether your ancestors came over in the Mayflower, in one of Captain John Smith's ships, in a slave ship from Africa, or if they were here all the time, as the Indians were. It don't make any serious difference whether you even know who your ancestors were.

The important thing is who you are and what you are doing. A man is not responsible for his ancestors, but he is responsible for what he does in this world. There is something cheap and tawdry about the fellow who is always harping on the theme of his illustrious ancestry. While they may have a purpose in this world, I cannot see the idea of having organizations that go back all the way to the dawn of our national history. Patriotism can best be taught by living examples, by people living the principles for which our forefathers fought instead of constantly harping about them.

Now, if it is sensible to keep such organizations going from eternity to eternity, I have an idea. Why not start an organization to last forever. I have an idea. Why not start an organization to which we could all belong and call it maybe, "The Lincal Descendants of Adam and Eve."

According to the Bible, they started the whole human race. If this is true, then any organization such as the above would include everybody. To me there is some question about it, however. If I read the Bible right, Adam just about had to be a Jew. Now I have nothing against the Jews, but I am pretty sure I am not one of them. All joking aside, the only use of any organization, clerical or secular, is to do something in that moment we call now. Action is the only thing that counts.

A rock may sit on a hill for all eternity and never get anything done. The Albion News and a fisherman named Dick Hinzpeter have teamed up to increase the interest in carp fishing. They want to get the carp out of the Beaver river and hit on a clever way to do it. Recently Dick caught a carp weighing about 5 pounds and placed an aluminum tag on the bottom of its left gill. The tag has a 25 on it. The lucky angler who catches this carp will receive $25 from the newspaper when Hinzpeter identifies the fish. If the fish is not caught by October 1 the money will be turned over to the Boone county hospital.

Now, there is an idea for making the carp a popular fish. Why not catch all the carp, put tags on their left wings calling for money, and then turn them loose again. The price on each need not be more than a dollar, and everybody would be out fishing for carp. Of course the federal government (that's us) would have to pay the prize money, and it would run into the millions, no doubt. But what are millions compared with the billions that are wasted in one way and another. Of course, the sensible way to handle the situation would be to destroy the carp after they were caught and before they were tagged. But that is not the government's way of doing things.

Going a little farther with this carp idea, the carp is a very palatable fish when handled properly, and a couple who know how to handle them are Mr. and Mrs. Ned Larkin of North Loup. Ned catches lots of carp, in fact, a lot of all kinds of fish. They clean the carp, put them into pint jars, cook them for a while in the pressure cooker, and they come out tasting mighty fine. The super-heating makes the bones just like the bones of salmon in the can. They say to soak them over night in salt water to improve the flavor. There are some other details I don't have, but I am sure that the Larkins will be glad to tell anybody who is interested the rest of the process. There is no reason a carp should not be a tasty fish when handled and cooked, and is not attracted by any of the ill-smelling baits used for catfish.

The fact that "People Are Funny" was proven last week end when enough pa-parazzi limits were painted and the new running went into effect. Naturally a lot of people failed absolutely to see the new marks and parked by the old ones, as they had been doing in the past. These people were sent to park right and about nine out of ten had some excuse to offer, not one of which would hold water. One young fellow said that the man next to him had parked wrong, so he had no alternative. The fact that he still had time to park in the wrong place lines seemed to have nothing to do with it. Other people tried to make the change by easy stages, parking about half way between the old marks and the new ones, and in this way being a full 100% wrong.

A few of those who approached decided on the firm approach to the problem and proceeded to abuse the officer, who is a quiet and mild appearing young man named Ernest Kiley, Ord Chief of Police. They said that Mr. Kiley knows that he doesn't have to take abuse in the performance of his duty, especially when he is only trying to help the public understand the new parking regulations better. Here's thinking that some auto owners will think twice before they begin abusing the head of the police department while he is performing his duty.

That reminds me that most of us are all for law and order, so long as it applies to the other fellow. When I am in the law, I am waded in our direction, we like to act as though we were being insulted or persecuted. According to our own admission, none of us ever exceeds the speed limit, nobody ever runs a stop sign, nobody parks wrong. The paid Chief of Police is off the stop sign was put in the wrong place, and somebody moved the painted lines after we got the car parked. We use the silliest excuses rather than admit that we were wrong in the first place.

St. Paul Lights Failed in Storm

Most of the city of St. Paul was without lights Monday evening of last week from 6 to 11:30 as the result of lightning striking the main transmission line of the Platte Valley at Grand Island.

One phase remained in use until 9 a. m. and then that failed. The auxiliary unit of the city was put into use about 30 minutes before service was resumed. St. Paul escaped the storm, the damage being done in Grand Island.

Outdoor Theatre Gives First Show

The city of York, Nebr., can now boast of a new $60,000 outdoor drive-in theater, which was opened to the public June 23 the last work done being the erection of the 40 by 46 foot screen on which the pictures will be shown. Joe Chantry of Osceola is the manager, and is a man of much experience in the field. The show place was made possible by the investments of Dean Sack and his associates. It is located at the northeastern edge of York, and 420 automobiles can be parked.

TUNE IT FOR FALL CROPS... like that! The secret of fall harvesting is to adjust the cylinder speed instantly for varying moisture conditions that change from hour to hour. The All-Crop harvester's Quick Speed-Change makes it as easy as tuning your radio. Tough conditions require higher speeds to thresh the grain or seeds from heads or pods. Dry, brittle conditions require slower speeds to avoid damage to kernels. The All-Crop harvester's famous full-width, rubber-faced, spiral-bar cylinder processes the crop gently and thoroughly in a wide, thin stream... at the proper speed to save it all. Burwell Business Changes Location

The John Deere Implement business, once run by the Bredthauer Motor company of Burwell, has been moved to the old American Legion building on the north side of the square, with Ellis White-side and Dale Bredthauer as the new owners.

Clarence Boettcher and Harry Conrad are the employees of the new firm. The name of the new firm is Whiteside and Bredthauer. Both men are well known in the Burwell territory, where Whiteside was a rancher for many years and Bredthauer was in the auto business.

In deciphering secret messages, the assumption of probable clew words is often necessary.

Ray Bissell in Lincoln Hospital

Ray Bissell, once a Burwell resident, now of Kearney, suffered a broken back and other injuries recently when he fell from the roof of his home. He was taken to Lincoln, where he is in traction splits in the General hospital for a period of four weeks.

For years Bissell has been in the contracting business, and has had many jobs in Ord, North Loup and other towns in this area. At one time he seriously considered locating in Ord, but gave it up when he found it almost impossible to find a place to his liking which was for sale.

Richardson Appointed Governor of Nebraska Territory Early in 1858

When William A. Richardson was appointed governor of Nebraska territory in 1858, he enjoyed the distinction of already having a county named in his honor. Richardson county was so named by Acting Governor T. B. Cuming when the territorial government was organized in 1854. At that time, Mr. Richardson was a member of congress from Illinois, and had been instrumental in the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill. Born and reared in Kentucky, William A. Richardson moved to Illinois as a young man, where he engaged in the practice of law and soon became active in politics. He served several terms in the Illinois legislature and during one of these was Speaker of the House of Representatives. He represented an Illinois district in the House of Representatives from 1847 to 1856, when he resigned to run for governor of Illinois on the Democratic ticket. Richardson's appointment as governor of Nebraska came after his defeat for the governorship. The first time President Buchanan offered him the post, he refused, but finally in December, 1857, he was persuaded to accept. Governor Richardson served Nebraska territory only a year, but it was one full of problems resulting in many a headache. The basic difficulty arose out of a conflict in the legislature which had torn that body asunder, and when the Governor arrived he found that part of the legislature had vacated the territorial capital at Omaha and was in session at Florence. This group invited the new governor to co-operate with them, but that he refused to do. Instead, he insisted that they return to the regular territorial capital. One of Richardson's principal acts as governor was to call the legislature into special session to take action correcting the "great confusion and uncertainty" which in his judgment characterized the laws of the territory. He issued this call on August 14, 1858, just two days before he penned his resignation to take effect January 1, 1859. He left the territory about a month before his resignation was to take effect, returning to Illinois to run for his old seat in the House of Representatives. He was elected, and in 1862 he was sent to the Senate to fill out the term of his old friend, Stephen H. Douglas, who had died. Although his term of office was short, Governor Richardson succeeded in bringing order out of the chaos existing in territorial affairs when he arrived. He has been credited with having "produced the best state papers ever submitted to this commonwealth," marked by "maturity, brevity, and straightforward simplicity, with a strong paternal appeal."
