Barbara Scoloz and her mother, Mrs. Gerald Gilham

Pretty Nine-Year-Old Polish Miss Joins Her Mother in Ord This Week

A pretty nine-year-old Polish miss became acquainted with America this week.

She is Barbara Scoloz, the daughter of Mrs. Gerald Gilham of Ord, who, herself has been in the United States only two years and hopes to receive her final citizenship papers in December. Barbara got her first view of Ord Monday morning when she awoke in her new home here. It had been two years since she had seen her mother.

Barbara flew here from Frankfurt, Germany, leaving there at 9:30 Saturday evening and arriving in Omaha at 11:30 Sunday evening, where her mother and stepfather, Gerald Gilham, met the plane and brought her home. She made the long trip unaccompanied, airline stewardesses caring for her. Barbara changed planes in New York and Chicago, having a four-hour layover in New York City and a two-hour stop in Chicago.

Barbara speaks fluent Polish, German, but very few words of English. "She's picking it up fast, though," said her mother. "By the time she starts to school at mid-term she shouldn't have any trouble at all."

Mrs. Gilham told a Quiz reporter that the little girl thought American ice-cream was wonderful. And that she was a wee bit disappointed at the lack of Indians in Nebraska, and was tremendously surprised at seeing a number of negroes working at the New York airport.

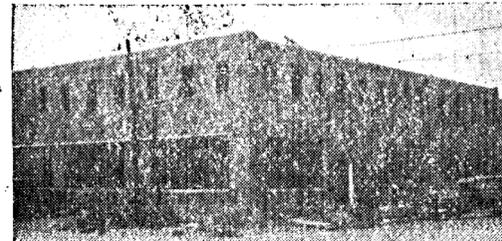

Barbara's father was killed in the war in 1940, four months before the child was born on Christmas eve, in Schwientochowitz, Poland. Mrs. Gilham and Barbara were then living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Piontek.

Through the long war years the family continued to live in Schwientochowitz until near the close of the war when the Russian armies started to march across Poland.

Then with countless other Polish civilians, little Barbara, her mother and the Pionteks were herded westward by the retreating German armies. The next few months remain as a horrible dream to both Barbara and her mother, miles and miles of walking, train rides in cattle and box cars, concentration camps, hunger, cold and sickness. Somehow the little party of four refugees found themselves near Grossaheim in western Germany where the American zone of occupation. Mr. Piontek, weak from hunger and exposure, became too ill to travel. The burgomeister of Grossaheim granted the Pionteks, Mrs. Scoloz and her daughter, a three day stay, and made medical care available to them. Due to the doctor's insistence, and the sympathetic attitude of the American soldiers who occupied the village about that time, the family was granted permission to live permanently in Grossaheim.

At last came the day when one of the members of the American occupation forces in the German village was Sgt. Gerald Gilham, of Scotia, Nebraska. He met, fell in love with the striking blonde widow, Ursula Scoloz. When time came for his discharge from the Army, Gilham elected to stay in Grossaheim with the American civilian government. Three years ago the couple were married, and a year later came to the United States, where, after a short visit with his parents in Scotia, he secured employment with The Ord Quiz and the couple moved to Ord.

Anderson Garage Nearing Completion

The new garage building being constructed by Anderson Motor company is nearing completion, with roofers scheduled to start work next week. Windows will be installed at once and then interior work will start. This building will house display and car storage rooms, a wash rack and grease room and supplements the big shop building put up a few months ago. When completed it will be one of the finest garage buildings in the state.

Plans Proceed for Formation of Loup Reclamation Dist.

Topographic Survey Will Be Made When Contracts Are Let.

The Loup Basin Reclamation district advertised last week to have a topographic survey of the district and of Howard county and expected to come here last year. Revision of quota system delayed the departure of the Pionteks, so when permission was granted Barbara to come to America to be with her parents, the Gilhams acted at once. Mrs. Gilham is confident that her parents will be allowed to come here in early spring. Mr. Piontek has already secured a position as a mining superintendent in the Pennsylvania coal fields, where he will resume the occupation he had in Poland.

Little Barbara remained in Germany with her grandparents who had been granted permission to immigrate to the United States and expected to come here last year. Revision of quota system delayed the departure of the Pionteks, so when permission was granted Barbara to come to America to be with her parents, the Gilhams acted at once. Mrs. Gilham is confident that her parents will be allowed to come here in early spring. Death Comes to Sidney B. Brown, Local Resident Lived in Nebraska Since 1892, Mostly in Howard County.

Sidney Bennett Brown was born Jan. 28, 1885, at Defiance, Ia., and passed away at the University hospital, Omaha, after a lingering illness, at the age of 64 years, 8 months and 1 day. At the age of 7 he moved with his family to Nebraska and grew to manhood in the Cushing vicinity. On Sept. 4, 1924, he was united in marriage to Ella E. Douglass of Cushing. To this union 6 children were born, an infant son, Charles Dean, preceding him in death in 1920. Besides his wife, he is survived by his five children—Sidney E. Brown, Ord, Dwight R. Brown, Burwell, Coris M. Fransson, Callaway, and Dale and Elnore Brown, both at home; three grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Wassler, St. Paul, and Mrs. Bertha Glass, Grand Island; also many other relatives and a host of friends.

Most of his life was spent farming. His family and occupation received the greatest part of his attention. He was always willing to help his friends and neighbors so long as his health permitted. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 at the Methodist church, Rev. L. V. Hassell officiating. The pall bearers were Oscar Larsen, Howard Paus, Harold Marshall, James Svoboda, Morris Keefe and Leon Woods. Burial was in the Ord cemetery. Hastings and Pearson had charge of arrangements.

Out of town relatives and friends attending were: Mrs. Maggie Wisser, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Glass and George, Grand Island; Mrs. Joe Svoboda, Ellsworth, Kans.; Mrs. Myra Myers and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Myers, Chambers; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Myers, Bartlett; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Douglass, Dunning; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Douglass, Broken Bow; Mr. and Mrs. John Clay, Broken Bow; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Clay and daughter, Taylor; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wisser, Aurora; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fransson, Callaway; Herman Fransson, Callaway; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fransson, Merna; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, Eddyville, and Cora Wilkins, Cushing.

—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wiegardt were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab last Friday evening.

Meetings have been held in various strategic towns in the area, including Farwell, St. Paul, Sargent and the Clear Creek school north of Litchfield. As a result of these meetings more than the required 30% of the persons who would be under the proposed ditches have signed up. The topographic survey is a necessary preliminary to the actual work of irrigation and reclamation to follow later. It is believed that more than a year will be required to do the necessary survey work.

The purpose of the job is to find and locate the exact contours and plan the area that will be used for irrigation and soil conservation work. The bids will be let to private contractors who will make the survey, according to Paul C. Harley.

The number of the men who will be employed on the project is not known, but the work is to start as soon as Congress approves the money necessary for the work and as soon as the bids are allowed.

At the meeting held at the Clear Creek school north of Litchfield a good representation of farmers was present. The meeting was led by Andy Dvchus of Dannebrog, who had taken active part in the work in his neighborhood. Another meeting for further discussions is being held this week, Oct. 6, at Westerville, in the Odd Fellows hall. This is still another part of the proposed district.

In view of the interest shown over the entire district, there is no question but that the district is planned to be formed. For the present at least, the formation of the district will in no way affect the existing North and Middle Loup irrigation projects, it is understood.

Achievement Day Held at Arcadia Very Successful

Program Features Are Exhibits, Hobby Show and Demonstrations.

A high spot in Arcadia's fall activities was the Valley County Extension Club's Achievement day held in the Arcadia high school auditorium Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 28, 1949, in which clubs from Ord, Elvira, North Loup and Arcadia were represented. The program featured a hobby show, exhibits and demonstrations. Many lovely exhibits were displayed, including a large collection of paper napkins, yarns lamp shades, sewing, knitting, weaving, gift wrapping, flowers, gardening, paintings, soap carvings, Boy Scout display, a 4-H display, collection of salt and pepper shakers, English China cups and saucers, a large button collection, leathercraft, hammered brass, shell jewelry, parakeets, handmade dolls and artificial flowers.

The program opened with music from the Arcadia school directed by Carl Easterbrook, music instructor, followed by a chalk drawing of "The Little Country Church" by Rev. C. W. Buchler accompanied by sacred music.

Recognition of the county chairman, Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink, and the group chairman, Mrs. Walter Coakley, Arcadia and Mrs. Loren Good of Ord, was given by Miss Katherine Helzer, home agent of Valley county.

Mrs. Fern Chase of Grand Island, representative of Lucretia Cosmetics, demonstrated a facial on Mrs. Virginia Norman of Ord. Miss Clara McClatchey gave a talk on textile painting and presented some of the work she had done. Two vocal numbers and two acrobatic numbers were presented respectively by Mrs. Jack Charlton and her sister, Mrs. Dick Charlton, members of the Mixed Group Extension club. Mrs. Ernest Buchfink of Grand Island, an artist at cake decorating, demonstrated her art by elaborately decorating individual cakes, a two-layer heart shape cake, also an angel food cake, which was contributed by Miss Helzer of Ord. Refreshments were served by the Arcadia club at the close of the meeting, cup cakes made by club members of Valley county and coffee.

Dr. Edwin T. Englehart, missionary from Japan and with world outlook and acquainted first hand with the Orient, will speak next Sunday at the Ord Methodist church at morning service, the Ord Methodist church in the afternoon and at Burwell Methodist church in the evening. The public is urged to hear this worthwhile message.

Corn Picking Is Beginning Now in Some Early Fields

None Cribbed as Yet, But Is Being Hauled to the Feed Lots.

Quite a few corn pickers are busy in the fields at present, but in most and possibly all cases the corn is being hauled direct to the feed lots. In conversation with a number of farmers, the Quiz learned that cribbing corn will probably not begin before the middle of October, although the corn is much more advanced than is usual at this time of the year.

The corn in general is of superior quality and is ripening naturally, so there should be no shrink in the field. Further, the corn is dry enough now to insure its complete drying, so no corn will need to be left in the field this year because it failed to dry out.

Late Alfalfa Good. It appears there will be an abundance of corn this year, and the quality will be so good that it can be kept in the crib indefinitely if necessary. Only a very small percentage had to be replanted, and this is maturing better than the replant corn did last year, as it was replanted earlier. There is still an occasional field of alfalfa to be cut, and some of these fields are being harvested and processed by the alfalfa mill. As usual, the late alfalfa is of superior quality, and is worth more money on the market. The tonnage of alfalfa in the county this year was the largest in many years.

Considerable winter wheat has been planted, and the early planting is up, is a good stand and is looking fine. While none of it is suffering, a good rain at this time would be a good thing to develop the crop and put it in the best condition to go into the winter.

Many Must Secure Drivers Licenses Before Nov. 1st

At ten a. m. Tuesday the number of drivers licenses issued by the county treasurer's office, according to Lloyd Wilson, treasurer, was 2,774. The very good showing, but there are probably twelve hundred or more still to be issued in the county. Those who obtain their licenses before Nov. 1, will not be required to take the driver's tests under the supervision of a highway patrolman. Bringing or sending in the old license with the required $2 fee is all that is necessary until the above date.

Roof on New Light Plant Half Completed

The roof for the addition to the city plant is now halfway complete. Commissioner George Allen told the Quiz this week. Made of reinforced concrete, the roof is being poured in four sections to avoid excessive cost of forming lumber. The remaining two sections are slated for completion in the next ten days.

Officers Elected

The new officers for the Methodist Sunday school are Evet Smith, superintendent; the departmental heads, R. E. Noll, Leslie Nash, Mrs. R. A. Muncy, Mrs. Ronie Severns, Mrs. Hilding Pearson; secretary, F. L. Stoddard.

Ord Cooperative Hospital Becomes Reality Oct. 1st

Transaction Complete; Abstract of Title Is Given by Dr. Miller.

Saturday, Oct. 1, saw the completion of the transaction whereby Dr. C. J. Miller sold his hospital to the Ord Cooperative Hospital Association. E. L. Vogeltanz, legal advisor for the hospital Board of Directors, has approved the abstract of title and Doctor Miller has given a warranty deed to the property and a bill of sale to personal property, both of which have been filed in the office of the county clerk.

All the furnishings and equipment are to be left in the hospital except the doctor's personal office equipment. Doctor Miller also leaves in the operating room his case of surgical instruments. These may be used by the hospital, but will remain his personal property.

The hospital is now closed to patients and the month of October will be spent in preparations to reopen under the new management, approximately November 1. Donations to the project, say the members of the Board of Directors, are still in order, since much must be done in order to operate the hospital effectively.

Doctor Miller will retain his office telephone number. The hospital's new number will be 61, and the listing in the telephone directory will read, "Ord Cooperative Hospital."

Veterans Club to Stay Open

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Ord Veterans Club, held Monday evening, a decision to continue business as before was made. Several new entertainment features will be added, and for the time being, the club will get by with less personnel.

Proof of a Successful Fishing Trip

Four Ord couples, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Andersen, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huff and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Leggett returned last week end after spending several days fishing in Cullen and Pelican lakes, in northern Minnesota, and these pictures are proof that the trip was made in vain.

Top photo shows Mrs. Vern Andersen, Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mrs. Huff and Mrs. Leggett holding a fine string of walleyed pike which represented one morning's catch for the group. Largest fish weighed 6 pounds; the total weight was 55 pounds.

Below, left, Howard Huff holds aloft a 3 pounder he just landed, while continuing to fish for another one. Below, right, Hi Anderson holds a string of pike caught by himself, Huff, Vern Andersen and the guide, Clarence Luther, one morning. Largest fish here weighed 5 1/2 pounds and there were two 4 pounders on the string.

All pictures were taken with the new Polaroid Land camera recently purchased by the Quiz. This camera develops its own pictures and delivers a dry print 60 seconds later.

Valley County Corn Crop Estimate 3 Million Bushels

Weed-Burner Is Cause of Alarm Tuesday Morning

The weed burner on the Union Pacific tracks started a fire in husks at the Noll Seed company's big elevator Tuesday forenoon, and gave the firemen a chance to make the run there and put it out. No damage was done, but what might have been a serious fire was prevented by prompt action.

Ord Still Among Top Ten in State Football Ranks

Lexington Game Drops Chanticleers to 7th Place in Class "B".

Gregg McBride's listings of top ten teams in the state for Wednesday puts Ord in seventh place in class "B", a drop from sixth place of last week. Meanwhile, Lexington, winner over Ord, has been advanced to second place, right behind Nebraska City, in the top position.

After Lexington the following is the order: Cozad, Gothenburg, Minatare, York, Ord, Minden, Holdrege and Superior. By virtue of their powerful showing against Cozad it would seem that Broken Bow should find a top ten spot, but the Indians were off to a mediocre start.

Gregg places Ansley fourth and Loup City seventh in Class "C". In Class "D" he puts Taylor second to Paxton, Litchfield sixth, Comstock seventh and Sacred Heart of Greeley eighth. By reason of two defeats, the North Loup Challengers are out of the top ten in six-man Class "A."

Additional Storage of 245,000 Bushels Erected by C.C.C.

Loan Price Here Will Be $1.29 to $1.35; Under Last Year.

With a 1949 corn crop estimate of better than three million bushels following a whopping three million bushel yield in 1948, the Commodity Credit corporation is adding corn storage capacity of 232,250 bushels in the county.

The new C.C.C. storage will consist of 25 3200 bushel wood bins, 10 3250 capacity steel bins and three No. 40 quonset huts with a 40,000 bushel capacity each.

One quonset each will be erected in Ord, North Loup and Arcadia. Ord will receive 17 bins, Arcadia 10 bins and North Loup 8 bins. In addition the Hudson elevator at North Loup with a capacity of 13,000 bushels has been leased by the C.C.C.

Storage bins at Arcadia and North Loup are now being erected, material for the quonsets has not arrived as yet, but is expected daily.

Loan $1.25-$1.30. With announcement Monday by the department of agriculture that the national average grower support price of the 1949 corn crop would be $1.40 a bushel, the Valley county triple A office said that the local rate would probably be from $1.29 to $1.35 per bushel.

"We don't know for sure as yet," John Skala, AAA spokesman, told the Quiz. "Last year's national price was $1.44 and our price here was $1.36. So, we can expect a price here of at least eight cents lower than the national figure."

Corn prices will be supported by means of loans and purchases. Farmers may secure loans on eligible corn stored in acceptable storage facilities on their farms or in commercial warehouses and elevators.

Farmers without such storage may enter sales contracts with Government under which the latter is committed to buy acceptable corn at a later date at the price support rates.

Loans and purchase agreements may be negotiated at any time between harvest and May 31, 1950. They will mature July 31, 1950.

Corn Estimate Up. Figures on the 1949 corn crops are being estimated as yet, Skala explained. The AAA office is now tabulating acreages and yields over the county on the 1948 crop, and based on a county average of 35 bushels to the acre, predicted the 1948 yield would total close to three million bushels. The 1949 yield is expected to run higher than the 1948 yield, due to more favorable weather. In 1948 hail damaged a considerable portion of the best producing corn land in the county, the irrigated acreage in the North Loup Valley.

Carson Takes Over Bakery; Will Remodel

High Carson, who owns the building in which the Ord Bakery is located, took over the business October first. Wm. Lockhart, who has managed the place for several months has left for Texas.

Jake Lathrop will continue as baker in the establishment, while the customers will be served by Mrs. Helen Keepp, soon to be assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Wenzelke. Carson told the Quiz that in several weeks he will embark on a complete remodeling of the bakery, installing new fixtures throughout, and adding several new departments. "When the remodeling is completed we should be able to add several more employees," he said. "There's more than enough baked goods business in this territory to justify an expansion."

New Members for CROP Announced

New members of the 1949 committee for the CROP Friendship train have been announced by Dwight Dell, state director of the Christian Rural Overseas Project. Included in the list from Valley county are: C. C. Dale, county agent; Rev. Thomas Siodowski, for Catholic churches; Rev. L. V. Hassell, for the Council of Churches; Rev. P. Friesz, for the Missouri Synod, and Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink for the home demonstration clubs.

Frank Travis, Here Since 1878, Called by Death Sept. 28

Pioneer of Vinton, He Took Keen Interest in Community Affairs.

Frank Travis, son of Amos W. Travis and Eunice Crocker Travis, was born February 15, 1861, at Watroun, Wis., and passed away at his home September 28, 1949 at the age of 88 years, 6 months and 13 days. He spent his boyhood in Wisconsin and when he was 19 year old, he came with his parents, to North Loup, Neb. The following spring the family moved to Vinton community.

On the 22nd of February, 1887 he was united in marriage to Mary Ann Morgan, establishing their home on his homestead in Vinton township. There he prepared for his bride a new frame house which was the first in the neighborhood. He farmed in this community until March 1913, then, because of his wife's health, he moved to west Ord where he resided until his death.

Although living in town he still maintained a keen interest in his farm. He worked at that carpenter trade in Ord for a number of years. In later life his hobby of cabinet work occupied his time.

He always maintained an active interest in community affairs; serving several years on the school board in district 62 and also was a member of the city council from the first ward. He has kept up his home continuously since his wife's death 17 years ago. He always tried to be a good neighbor and friend.

To this union were born three children: Ethel Alquist and the twins, Hazel Hill and Horace, who survive. He also leaves to mourn his departure, four grandchildren, Phyllis Hill Borden, Donald Hill, Ruth Alquist Akosta, and Mary Cathryn Travis; also one great granddaughter, Sally Lou Akosta, one sister, Myra Watson and many nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his wife, Mary; his parents and seven brothers and sisters.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Hastings-Pearson chapel, Rev. L. V. Hassell officiating. Mrs. Leslie Nash and Mrs. C. M. Davis sang, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Noll.

The pall bearers were Curt Gudmundsen, Ed Vogeltanz, Ed Beranek, Dr. Glen Auble, Ed Hackel and William Hansen. Burial was in the family plot in the Ord cemetery and the Hastings-Pearson Mortuary had charge of arrangements.

Work Begun on Section "C" of Rural Electric

Poles Being Hauled to Ericson Branch; Erection to Start.

James Hamilton, superintendent of construction for the Delta Construction company, stated Wednesday morning that the poles were being hauled from Ord to the Ericson branch of Section "C" and distributed along the line. They will all be hauled there by Thursday evening.

As soon as some necessary hardware arrives the erection crew will get to work putting up the poles on the Ericson Cedar River branch, one of the longest in the section.

At the present time four men are employed with two pole trucks hauling out the poles, but there will be quite a large crew at work as soon as the erection job starts. The names of these four men are W. L. Mingo, H. L. McClure, Norbert Karis, and W. F. Chapuis. The Delta office is in the west room of the Weckes real estate office, with Lillie Crawford in charge.

The "C" Section is more widely scattered than the first two sections, and parts of it are in Garfield, Wheeler, Greeley, Valley and Sherman counties. The Ericson branch is one of the largest, but there are also branches to the northeast of North Loup, north of Burwell, northeast and southwest of Loup City and north of Arcadia. Construction calls for 327 miles of line to service 140 farms.

Quiz $150 Fishing Contest Ends

Archie Bradt Champ With 2 Lbs. to Spare; Mrs. Joe Zabloudil Best Woman Fisherman

The big Quiz fishing contest is over, and the prizes are being awarded this week. It has been a long contest, with plenty of competition in some divisions and very little in others. It has been a pleasure to conduct the contest, and the winners will have something to make them remember their fishing trips the past summer in addition to the fish they caught.

The catfish division was the most active all the way, with by far the largest number of entries, and with some surprisingly fine catches. To Archie Bradt goes the undisputed honor of being the champion in this department, and he won with the largest fish he ever caught in the Loup river, he says.

Steve Dubas and Edward Lacinia have nothing to be ashamed of. The fish they caught would usually be good for first place rating. The rest who entered fish in this class are to be congratulated on the fine fish they caught, even if they didn't win.

The bluegill division showed 5 entries, none of which measured up to the size of fish caught in former years. The big ones must have been hard to find, as bluegills weighing a pound are not unusual. However, the anglers did their best and Lynn Rice, Anna Mraz and Jerry Howart are definitely the winners in this division.

The bass division was a sectional affair as it turned out, with Ed Krikac of Comstock taking first, Ray Phil-brick of Ericson second and Syl Shotkoski of Ord third. This division got under way late in the contest, but the prize winners were very fine fish.

All women listed in their contest were in the winning column, and all with catfish. Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, Scotia, Mrs. C. C. Dale, Ord, Mrs. Rose Suchanek, Ord, and Miss Margaret Zulkoski, Scotia, were the winners.

The women made a sweep of the crappie division, with Mrs. Greeley Gebhardt, Scotia, in first place and Mrs. Paul Geneski, Ord, second, with no third entry. Two Ord fishermen, Rolland Norman and Smiley Iwanski, battled it out to a tie in the trout division, with fish weighing one pound each. They split first and second money, with no third entry.

Due to circumstances beyond our control, we are unable to print pictures of all the prize winners, but we have evidence that all qualified and that all are entitled to the prizes they won. It was a fine contest, and the Quiz hopes the public has enjoyed it as much as the contestants and the newspaper have.

Breath-taking new 1950 Studebaker!

IT'S THE "NEXT LOOK" IN CARS!

All over America, all eyes are on this dramatically different 1950 Studebaker. It's the biggest improvement in car styling since Studebaker introduced the "new look" in cars three years ago. This 1950 Studebaker is long and low—but it's trim, sleek and streamlined—no bulging excess bulk or squandered gasoline. Stop in and see it. It's the "next look" in cars.

Land is looking up a little and there is a lot less land for sale than there was. But can show you some good deals in quarters, half sections and sections, some fine small tracts, fine homes, one 10 acre deal that can not be beat. One nice small place can give possession at once and it is a dandy. Come and see, if you are a horse trader have just what you want.

A New Era.

A new era is coming to the Loup Valleys and to all of Central Nebraska. Plans are going forward to extend irrigation to all land available for irrigation, just as it has been extended to smaller areas up to the present time. In connection with irrigation there will be a huge proposition of soil conservation, wild life preservation and possibly other ideas along that line.

The idea is grand and is planned on a grand scale. It will mean greater production from the soil at a time when farmers are about to be restricted on the acreage of the crops they raise. It will mean that farmers will have to go in for intensive farming instead of the extensive method that has become so popular. It will mean a radical change in the way of living for all of us.

So far the government is trying to plan these changes so that the people themselves will have as much to say as possible in what is done. This is as it should be, but the history of everything of this nature in the past has been, the bigger the project, the less the people at home have to say about it. It is up to the people to see that irrigation in Nebraska is kept on a democratic basis.

Today we are like the fellow who wants to modernize his home. New gadgets cost money. If he has the money, he spends it, pays the cash, and when he is done, he still owns his home and the improvements as well. If he does not have the money, he mortgages his home to get it, and, when everything is installed and the bills paid, he owns neither the home nor improvements, at least until the mortgage is paid.

All too often this same method has been used in the past by communities in securing needed improvements. Not having the money to finance the work, they have borrowed the money from the federal government, and today the organization is run by the federal government. If this tendency is allowed to continue and to grow, in time we will become a strongly centralized form of government, and the individual will have no more say here than he has in parts of Europe today. "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty."

National Newspaper Week. In these days it seems that there are days set aside for just about everything. There are perhaps one hundred designated weeks which are all supposed to be observed in the period of one year with only 52 weeks for example. Oct. 9 to 15 is fire prevention week, and it is also national women's week. Oct. 10 to 15 is national cranberry week, and Oct. 9 is grandmother's day.

With so many special weeks to be considered, it is not wonder that the newspapers frequently lose track of some of them and give them no mention at all, although the papers are expected to play up all special days and give them all publicity. Some newspapers try to do this, others, of which the Quiz is one, feature only the most important.

Considering the role newspapers are expected to play in all these weeks, it would seem that one of them should be given in which to honor the newspapers of the nation. That has been done, and that week is here now, Oct. 1 to 8. It is a good time to consider the important role the newspapers of the nation play in making America the country it is.

First, newspapers give out information. They give out accurate information, subject, of course, to the frailties of human nature, the papers give out the news as it comes to them, without fear or favor. They try to give all the news. They have the right and exercise the right to tell the truth in so far as they are able to obtain the truth.

The people read the newspapers. They may not believe all they read, but they do believe most of it, and in so believing they become better citizens, because they are better informed of the needs of the nation, the remedies that are being suggested, the dangers that confront this great stronghold of liberty, and what can be done to avoid these dangers and keep America strong.

In no other nation on earth is the freedom of the press so zealously guarded, and in no other nation are the newspapers so widely read, or the people who read them so well informed on current events. Americans are not only informed, but their information is grounded in truth. This week the public should give thought to that great American institution, the newspaper.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Now that it is all over, I wonder if anybody has any doubts as to how the big league contests would come out. For a while it looked like St. Louis and Boston had a chance, but it was only an outside chance. As far as the actual games are concerned, there is no gambling, but it is certainly a gamble and a big one, when teams like the Yankees and the Brooklyn Bums have money enough coming in to practically assure a top berth in the leagues on the basis of cash alone. The team that has the most money to spend is certain to get the best players available. Besides, nothing succeeds like success. The average player wants to play for a team that is likely to get into the World Series, so, if he is good enough, he naturally gravitates toward the big city.

Another reason that the New York teams win so many times, is that the big gamblers want it that way. The teams are on the square, in so far as gambling is concerned, but men who gamble know all the angles, and it is surprising how many little angles can be found that add up to the difference between victory and defeat.

One thing is certain. With St. Louis out of it, the interest in the World Series in the west has dropped about fifty percent. Personally, I have no choice in the matter. I am absolutely neutral. I don't care which team is defeated, and I wish both of them could be. Speaking of chances, the smaller the Ord Junior Legion, for instance, has of winning over teams from such places as Cincinnati, Ohio, or Oakland, Calif. In the Legion teams everything is on the square, with the exception of the tremendous advantage the big city has over the little town. The number of boys who can play is limited in both cases, but the number of boys from which the squad can be picked is not. Oakland, for example, has 135 times as many boys from which to pick their squad as Ord has, while the selection for Cincinnati is 200 to one.

The important difference between the big leagues and Junior Legion is that the former is professional and the latter strictly amateur. There was a time when the distinction between amateur and professional sport was easily seen, but it is different today, especially in football, where some colleges go out and practically buy their players wherever they can find them. As a result, some colleges, one especially, have big players from about every state in the Union, and very few from home. Others, like Nebraska, depend largely on the home boys for their football teams. There should be a line drawn somewhere, and strictly amateur colleges and universities should be spared the ignominy of being defeated by professional schools.

The big Quiz fish contest ended Friday night, and the pressure is off. I will admit that the wards did quite a lot of fishing, and that with the exception of Don, none of us got a fish big enough to enter in the contest. His was a peculiar experience. He headed the list of bass fishermen one week, and was in second place the next week. The third week two high entries came in, and that was the end of the contest. But what I wanted to say was that, with the pressure off and the contest over, we all went fishing and I caught the first bass I had caught for about three years. Too late for this year, and too early for next year, but, anyway, we got to eat the fish.

You may be sure Ed Krikac had to furnish indisputable proof of his first place bass. Since he won the Liars Contest last year, Ed has been under a handicap. Nobody will believe him. He knew it, so he sent the fish over as proof. Come to think of it that wouldn't be a bad idea for future fishing contests. Why not have all contestants send in their fish, keep them in deep freeze until the contest is over, then have a big fish fry and invite all the contestants and their families in to have a fish feed? It may be crazy, but it won't be the first crazy idea I have had, and that goes for you too, Quiz reader.

When present plans materialize and the complete irrigation plans for the Loup river valleys goes through, there will be a huge lake on lower Davis Creek, partly in Valley, Sherman and Howard counties, with possibly a little in Greeley county. We will then have a Lake McCough of our own, and here's hoping we don't have a name for it that is as hard to spell and pronounce as that Irish name is. The lake will be planted with fish and in due time it will be one of the noted fishing resorts of Nebraska. Unlike the river dams, the dam on Davis Creek will not interfere with the passage of fish up and down the streams, since practically none travel up and down it now. None will go down below the dam, and few, if any, will follow the canal which brings the water in from the Middle Loup. So it ought to be a great place for fish, and for fishermen.

Well, we are home again after a lovely week in Minnesota. But before I can tell you much about it they will have to invent more and better adjectives describing color, for of all the colorful spots I have ever seen, Minnesota this fall was it. And we were lucky enough to be there before the leaves turned color, and so got to watch the process

It is queer, the way trees change in the fall up there. For instance, driving by an oak grove you'd see not a grove of red trees, all in handsome garnet red. You'd see flaming red oaks, flaming red oaks with orangey tones, a green oak with a tinge of red down one side of it. You'd see every combination of red and green, with yellow and gold ones turning to red too.

The most beautiful woods though, were not those of one variety alone, but those where a number of kinds of trees vied with one another to see which could be most flaming, most gorgeous. The white birch trees I always love, and when they turn color, it is toward the yellow and gold tones, with a few stragglers staying green and greenish. Aspens (Popples, the natives always say) turn a different, darker gold, quivering in the sun.

The maples we simply couldn't see enough of, their transparent orange look was wonderful, bright, ever-changing. From yellows through oranges to the sharpest red. Reds in Minnesota do seem sharper, all through Sumacs there are much brighter red than in Ord and Valley county, a lighter red usually, too.

No two maple trees ever were the same orange.

The evergreens, the many kinds, stayed their several greens, as always. Their greens make the bright colors contrast more beautifully, we all agreed. And so does the sky, especially when it is intensely blue. And when the sky is blue the water reflects the same tones, exactly.

It can certainly get cold in Minnesota in the fall, even as early as this. The fire felt mighty good night and morning, and swallowed animals of wood regularly.

Fishermen were foolish if they did not go prepared. Prepared meant wearing longies, wool or otherwise, also an assortment of wool shirts, sweaters, jeans, even gloves and mittens. Two pairs of pants or socks were not at all unusual, in fact felt comfortable. (I lost a fish or two because my hands were too cold to reel him in).

Only one fishing trip revealed a promise of the perfect Indian summer days which are so enjoyable in Minnesota. Friday morning it warmed up as we sat fishing on the broad expanse of Pelican Lake, and we shed one layer after another, now a mackinaw, then a coat or sweater or head-scarf. We turned to shore about 11 o'clock with none of the tingling toes or numb hands we'd had several previous trips.

Saturday, Oct. 1, was the opening day of the partridge-hunting season in Minnesota. These birds are as softly colored as quail, but they have a ruffled topknot, and also a handsome tail like a turkey's that they can spread for courting and preening. Of course they're much nearer the size of quail than the size of turkey.

Partridge are elusive, and can duck and dodge the best of hunters. They could teach football players a trick or two, on the sidslipping score, and their all-but-invisible coloring helps them to evade the eager hunters.

Hunters who secured several partridge on opening day knew they'd been on a tramp, they tell me. And a long tramp through the backwoods of Minnesota is not lightly undertaken. Brus'ly, scratchy, swampy, up hill and down dale, with stumps and logs to trip over.

As H. D. would say, "I'd rather sit at home alone in the dark!" —Irma.

BOOTS... BOOTS... ENGINEER BOOTS. Some call 'em trucker boots. They're 11-inch high black boots for men. Oil-treated to resist weather, extra thick soles, non-skid heels. Adjustable straps at top, and ankle for smooth fit. Sizes 6 to 12. Low-priced at Brown-McDonald's at only $9.95.

COLOR RIGHTS and color bright is your cue for setting the breakfast nook off from the rest of the kitchen. Use a brightly colored and patterned wallpaper... or select a color that's contrasting and sunny. OR... apply the same trick to the floor—patterned rug under the table or a bright colored patch of linoleum or tile.

RINGS ON HER FINGERS and bells on her toes. Shell draw attention where she goes. Mrs. Laverne Moore's wearing costume jewelry selected at Brown-McDonald's. Clever designs, skilled craftsmanship, non-tarnishing metals make this collection of pins, earrings, necklaces and bracelets look more costly than their low prices... 98c and $1.98.

GOT A HUNCH JUNIOR will raise a storm at the taste of that new medicine. Precede the dose by having him suck on an ice cube. It desensitizes the taste buds and medicine becomes tasteless. A little more subtle than covering taste with sugar, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. John Duda Wed in Ord

Dolores Holoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Holoun, became the bride of John Duda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Duda, at 9:00 o'clock Sept. 27 at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church in Ord. Rev. Thomas Siodowski performed the double ring ceremony. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Don Edwards and she sang "Ave Maria" during the offertory.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a high neckline and pointed sleeves. The yoke was of nylon bordered with a bertha style fold of satin. The full skirt tiered with lace swept into a four yard train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a heart shaped coronet centered with a cluster of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She wore a single strand pearl necklace. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of carnations and she carried a white prayer book.

Berniece Duda, sister of the groom, was maid-of-honor. Her gown was of fuchsia satin with a nylon yoke, fitted bodice and full skirt. The bridesmaids were Evelyn Volf and Adeline Urbanski. They wore identical gowns in gold and green satin respectively. Their head bands were of net and were the color of the gowns. They carried colonial bouquets and rosaries, gifts of the bride.

Best man was Albin Urbanski with Otto Marek and James Urbanski as attendants.

The bride's mother wore a two piece gray suit and the groom's mother was dressed in a two piece suit of navy. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

Dinner and supper were served to about 75 guests at the home of the bride's parents, where a three-tiered wedding cake formed the centerpiece. The cake was baked by Mrs. Leo Shimek, an aunt of the groom.

Her fingertip veil of net illusion trimmed with chintilly lace was held in place by beaded orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations tied with a large white satin bow and streamers with blue sparklers. The bride carried out the old tradition of something old, a lace trimmed handkerchief; something new, a double strand pearl necklace, a gift of the groom; something borrowed, a pair of pearl earrings; something blue, the sparklers in her bouquet and a penny in her shoe.

Attending the groom was Laddie Kvetensky, who served as best man and Leo Mach.

A reception was held at the Bohemian hall for the immediate families and close friends. The room was decorated with pink and white streamers held in place by a large white wedding bell. Ansley Winner of Playoff Game in Loup Valley

Bests Arcadia 3-1 for Second Weekly Hard Fought Tilt.

Arcadia, regular season winner in the Loup Valley baseball league, went down to defeat at Ansley Sunday when the Custer county boys mustered enough power to push across three runs while the Arcadians were getting one.

The game Sunday became necessary when Ansley defeated Arcadia the preceding Sunday to throw the two teams into a tie in the double elimination play off series. This gives Ansley tournament honors but does not affect Arcadia's first place standing in season play.

Loup City Trips Gibbon, 25-13

Red Raiders Back in Win Column; Play Ord Here October 21.

Loup City's Red Raiders gunned their way back into the win column with a 25-13 victory over the Gibbon Buffaloes at Gibbon Friday night.

The Raiders started fast and notched two touchdowns in the opening canto. Steve Spotsanski scooted across for the first score and Harlan Puncocchar spotted the second. Puncocchar ran right end for the extra point after the second touchdown, and the period ended 13-0.

Spotsanski added another tally in the second period to give Loup City a 19-0 lead.

Gibbon hustled back into the ball game in the third quarter, however. J. Korcek scooted 75 yards with the second-half kickoff and a pass from Sigler to Applegate netted the extra point.

The Buffaloes made it 19-13 later in the period as a Kroccek to Wood pass connected for another score. Pass and run covered 56 yards.

Loup City racked up the clincher. Merle Bennett's fourth-period tally.

The Raiders will tangle with Ord on the home field, Friday night, October 21.

Ansley Gridders Upset Burwell

Coach Don Dusek's Ansley Warriors scored in every quarter and outplayed a favored Burwell 11 to a 25-0 victory at Burwell Friday night.

Max Staab scored twice and passed to Duane Holley to a third score, while Johnny Staab accounted for the fourth touchdown. Fine running by Jim Ferguson and signal calling by Jack Gardner also were features of the game.

Corn Drying Test Was Held Friday

On the Whitney farm near Broken Bow, a corn drying experiment was held Friday. The experiment was set up by M. L. Gould, Custer county agent, Charles Fox, electric adviser, and Bernard Whitney.

A large number of people saw the test, which was made on two cribs or bins, one of ear corn and one of shelled corn, which had been husked and shelled in the forenoon and the fan started in the afternoon.

The corn must be dried to a 13 per cent moisture content to keep well, and the drying process is by forcing hot air through the corn with a large fan. According to reports, the results was highly satisfactory.

Arcadia Youth Named

Bud Sell, Arcadia, was named to last week's roll of honor by Gregg McBride, Omaha World Herald sports writer, for outstanding football achievement. Sell notched the opening kickoff in the Arcadia-Sargent game this week and ran 100 yards for Arcadia's first touchdown in their rout of Sargent.

Nebraska Hunting Laws, Regulations Are Now Available

More Stringent This Year Than in Recent Years, Is Believed.

The 1949 Nebraska hunting laws and regulations are now available at the office of the county clerk, according to Mr. Woods. In some respects the law is more stringent this year than in the past, principally with respect to the hours in which hunting can be done.

Counties in the northwest part of the state are closed for pheasant hunting, and the hours are much shorter in the rest of the state. The pheasant season this year is from Oct. 21 to Oct. 30, inclusive, with a limit per day of two cock pheasants.

The hours are from 11 a. m. until an hour before sundown each day. In order that there be no misunderstanding about when that time comes, the state is divided into 8 zones, and the hour of sunrise and sunset on each day of the month is given in the table. The time for quitting in the afternoon would be one hour before the sunset time given for that day.

The dove season, now over, began Sept. 10 and ended Oct. 1. Cottontail rabbits may be hunted Oct. 1 to Jan. 31, inclusive, bag and possession limit 5, hours sunrise to sunset. There is no regulation on jackrabbits. Squirrels may be hunted Oct. 1 to Dec. 31 inclusive, sunrise to sunset, bag and possession limit 5. Raccoon and opossum may be hunted Oct. 1 to March 1, inclusive, all hours and no bag or possession limit.

The open season on ducks, geese, brants or coots is from Oct. 21 to Dec. 4, inclusive and the entire state except game refuges is open. The hours for hunting are from half an hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset, except that hunting begins at noon the first day. The bag limit is four ducks and possession limit is 3. The bag and possession limit of geese and brants is 5, and the bag and possession limit of coots is 10.

Chanticleer Team Superb in 33-0 Win Over Imperial Stoddard and Collins Lead Scoring Attack for Ord Team.

Working like a perfectly built machine the Ord Chanticleers had Imperial at their mercy at all times in the game at Ord Friday evening, and won easily by a score of 33 to 0. The gridlers from the western part of the state had the weight, but lacked in experience, and could not stop Ord's fancy running attack.

Weaver of Imperial kicked off to start the game and Moore returned to the Ord 35. After several running plays Stoddard passed to Richardson for 15 yards and he was downed on the Imperial 28. On the next play Collins went around end for the first touchdown. Falter's attempted place-kick was no good, and the score was Ord 6, Imperial 0.

Ten Yards for Score. At the start of the second quarter Moore went around end for a touchdown, this time from ten yards out. Again Falter failed in his attempt to kick the point. The passing attack got under way in the second quarter. Ord took over on the Imperial 40 yard line, and Collins took a pass from Falter and made a gain of 15 yards.

Stoddard then passed to Richardson, who lateraled to Moore, and the speedy back scored standing up. Maurice kicked the extra point, and the score at half time was Ord 19, Imperial 0. Second string men saw considerable service, in the second half.

Tallies on Long Pass. Stoddard was hard to stop in the third quarter, ripping through for good gains, and finally going through the middle of the Imperial line to score. In the fourth quarter Richardson pulled down a long pass for the final counter of the game, which made the score 33 to 0.

Outstanding in the backfield for Ord were Stoddard and Collins, while the entire Ord line did a nice job of blocking and tackling to make the Imperial offensive ineffective. Monasmith of Imperial was an outstanding player. Ord made 12 downs during the game to Imperial's 6. This week the Chanticleers go to Albion for what should prove a really tough assignment.

Ord Catholic Festival and Supper Success

The Ord Catholic church supper was very well attended Sunday evening. The supper consisted of fried chicken with all the trimmings and also home-made bread and rolls. The ladies had a booth of over 100 potted plants and flowers. These ranged from house plants to wild flowers.

One of the most unusual ones was a bitter sweet plant, a very rare one coming from the sand hills. A booth displaying all kinds of fancy work was also open. Some of the things on display were aprons, children's wear, pot-holders, pillow cases and two home made chenille rugs. The young girls had a candy booth in which they displayed their skill at making candy.

North Loup Loses to Wood River by Score of 48-14

Worst Defeat Suffered in Years; Two Players Were Out of Action.

The North Loup Challengers, defeated by the fast Dwight team last week by a score of 40 to 20, took an even worse beating Tuesday evening at Wood River, when they went down to defeat 48 to 14. Except for occasional flashes of high class playing, the Loupers failed to even look like the squad which started out with two impressive wins and won Gregg McBride's nod for second place in 6-man Class A.

The Challengers were handicapped by the loss of two of their flashy backs. Merv Meyers suffered a gash over his eye, which was not sufficiently healed to permit him to play, and Walkup was kept out of competition by failure to practice.

North Loup's next scheduled game is at Rising City, Oct. 21, as no home game has been scheduled for next week. Home games are lined up with Spalding Academy Oct. 26, Palmer, Nov. 3, and the final game at Doniphan, Nov. 11.

Fertilizer.

Recent reports from figures compiled by our State Extension Department show that Fall sown grain is greatly benefited by fertilizer applied in the fall. On tests this fall usually $3.00 worth of fertilizer would produce $10.00 worth more of grain than the same field that did not have fertilizer applied. We have in stock Superphosphate, Ammonium Nitrate and have 10-20-0 or 9-36-0 available.

If you have alfalfa or sweet clover fields to be plowed next Spring, apply Superphosphate this fall and on your Bromo fields you should apply Nitrate. Alfalfa fields that Superphosphate have shown an increase of 100% on the seed harvested. Nitrate will do the same for your Bromo fields. Use fertilizer this fall for best results; then make the proper application next year. The use of fertilizer will pay well.

Bulbs.

Holland Grown Tulip Bulbs at $1.00 per doz. in named varieties. Narcissus, 3 bulbs in a package for 35c. Hardy Amaryllis at 50c each. Also have some Peonies at 75c each; these are in white, pink or red.

New Lawns.

Many new lawns have been made this fall and several have been renewed. This is a very good time to make an application of fertilizer on your lawn. Peat Moss is also very beneficial to your lawn. We have a good supply of fertilizer and have a new lawn fertilizer spreader for your use.

Hy-Line Chick.

Last week we attended a Hy-Line Chick meeting and now have our prices for next year. From information that we have received the demand for Hy-Lines will no doubt be heavier than the supply of chicks. We are booking orders now for these chicks and believe that it will be to your advantage to place an order for your Hy-Lines this fall for delivery next Spring.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover Seed.

The past week the alfalfa and sweet clover markets have been about steady with a weaker tone of alfalfa seed. Our price is always the highest that the market will stand. By selling your seed here you can see just how it reels and you will know that you are getting full value for your seed.

Reclamation Bureau May Headquarter Here for Survey

Tentative Plans Call for Survey of Loup Davis Creek to Burwell

Possibilities that the Bureau of Reclamation will send a 45-man survey crew into the North Loup Basin were discussed by Ord Chamber of Commerce officials this week.

Tentative plans of the bureau call for a survey of the North Loup River from Burwell to Davis Creek and involve a four months or more job, depending upon weather conditions this winter.

Ord is being considered as a site for headquarters of the bureau crew, according to a representative of the group who conferred with Chamber officials last week. The bureau will require several thousand feet of office space, and about ten apartments and 25 single rooms to house their crew.

Proposal Has an "It"

According to bureau officials the survey of the Burwell-Davis Creek area is still not definite. The Loup Basin Reclamation District, covering the vicinity of Farnell, St. Paul, Sargent, Clear Creek and Litchfield is at present advertising for bids for a survey in that area. If satisfactory bids are not received, the bureau group planned for Ord will be called on to make the Loup Basin survey, and the Ord project will be postponed for some time.

Friday, the Chamber of Commerce housing committee, in a breakfast meeting, decided to make a survey of available housing in Ord, and set up a clearing house for information.

The plan is to have Ord residents, who either have rooms or who are looking for rooms contact the chairman of the committee, Richard Rowbal, and make known their needs or rooms available.

Ord Junior High Loses by 7 to 0 to Broken Bow

Ord Lost Chance When Hurlbert Slipped in Mud on Way to Score.

Kovanda's Ord Chicks lost a chance for a score and possible tie with the Broken Bow Papposes on the Pappose field last week when Leonard Hurlbert took a flat pass from Duane Wolfe, carried it to the Broken Bow 12 yard line, slipped in the mud and fell without a tackler near him.

The field had been watered for the game and Hurlbert had the hard luck to hit a muddy spot. The Broken Bow juniors had a weight advantage, and managed to keep the Chicks bottled up pretty effectively most of the way, with the exception of Ord's sensational pass play.

The Papposes rambled to their only touchdown midway of the first quarter, with two passes, Bert Spencer to Doyle Francis taking the ball over. Arnold plunged for the extra point. They threatened on three other occasions, but tackling behind the line by Ord broke up each attempt.

The Ord boys played the game without the encouragement of their head coach, J. A. Kovanda, who had an appointment at Waterloo, Ia. Bill Gogan handled the manager's duties very capably, however, and the boys agree that it could have been anybody's game.

Gerald Warford Wins Trophy in Lange Hot Rod

Gerald Warford and Bob Lange took their hot rod to the Grand View Theatre near Omaha Sunday. Warford's time in the time trial was 29.20, making him first on this half mile track. He won the Sample and Hart trophy for taking first place in the Trophy race.

Next Sunday they will be racing at Hastings in the last race. There will be about 25 hot rods there. The 23rd of October they may race again at the Grand View Theatre.

Active Week for County Judge; 4 Cases Are Heard

Jay Dimmitt of Arcadia was brought into county court Oct. 5 on a charge of selling liquor to minors. He entered a plea of guilty as charged, was fined $25, which he paid, together with $14 costs, and was released.

Robert K. Benson, who was hauling with a truck for Saunders Mills and using an Ohio license, was brought into Judge Ciochon's court by Patrolman Guy L. Smith Oct. 7, and paid a fine of $15 and costs of $4.

Because of an occurrence Sunday, Oct. 9, Joe and Leo Murphy were brought into county court Monday and separately charged with disturbing the peace. Joe paid a fine of $5 and costs of $8, and Leo paid a fine of $10 and costs of $8 and were released.

Ord Baseball Club Reorganizes for Big 1950 Season

Douthitt to Continue as Manager; Diamond to Be Improved.

Although the 1949 baseball season is barely finished and 1950 a long time ahead, the Ord Baseball club got off to an early start with a well attended reorganization meeting held Monday evening at the Veterans club.

Bill Heuck presided in the absence of J. W. Gilbert, president, and a report of the club's finances was read by Secretary Harold Christensen. This report showed that league games held in Ord after lights were installed drew almost 2 1/2 times as many fans, on the average, as daylight games played earlier in the season. The club's treasury will contain about $250 when all bills are paid.

New President Named.

Officers elected were Gene Leggett, president, Harold Christensen, secretary-treasurer, and Walter Douthitt, manager. On a motion by Heuck, players and fans attending gave a vote of thanks to Gilbert and Douthitt for the hard work they did in fostering the lighting and bleacher project and in making the 1949 season successful.

It was decided to haul about 200 yards of dirt onto the baseball diamond at once, and then have it graded, so that drainage after rains will not be such a problem next year. Leslie Nash, of Soil Conservation Service, is surveying the field and setting grade stakes this week. Volunteer help will be solicited to haul and spread the dirt.

Some discussion took place on what league Ord should play in next season and it was the consensus that the Colts should seek membership in a six or eight team league playing two games a week, made up preferably of towns having lighted baseball fields. That would give fans a chance to see the home team in action on the Ord field once each week. Wednesday and Sunday nights were suggested as the best for night baseball.

Want Strong League.

Towns suggested as possible members in such a league included St. Paul, Ravenna, Loup City, Ansley, Broken Bow, Central City, Bealus and Ord, all of which have lights; Arcadia and Mason City, which do not. The officers and manager were instructed to negotiate with other towns toward formation of a strong league.

Organization of a "B" team also was suggested as a means of giving more players a chance for practice and development. Such team might hold membership in a league made up of smaller towns, possibly with Erbeson, Burwell, North Loup and Scotia, or in a Valley county league made up of community teams, if interest should develop in such a plan. Continuation of the midget and Legion teams is making more good players available each year and they need some outlet for their abilities after passing the Legion age limit, which a "B" team would supply.

At the present time baseball interest in Ord is very high and the club plans to hold another meeting or two during the winter to sustain that interest.

Weather Ideal for Fall Crops, Rain Arrives Just Right

Wheat in Good Stand, With Plenty Moisture; Farmers Are Happy.

Ideal weather conditions have continued through the past week with no frost except a light touch Wednesday morning, which did no harm. Most garden crops are well out of the way, and the only damage a frost could do now would be to kill the flowers, which are still blooming in several places. Just when the winter wheat and rye were beginning to need it, the rain came Sunday night, ranging from about an inch in the North Loup and Ord areas to twice that amount in Burwell. Reports show that the rest of the state was generally overcast, Nebraska.

The amount was sufficient to send the grain and alfalfa into the winter in good condition to stand the cold and come through well next spring. More winter grains die from lack of moisture than from any other cause, and the ground is well soaked at the present time.

Aside from damage to electricity and telephone lines, the high winds Monday had little effect here. In eastern Nebraska trees were uprooted and several people were killed or injured by the storm.

About the only activity on the farm the past week has been mowing the late crop of alfalfa, which made a nice growth for the time of year, and has superior feeding quality. In the hay fields, alfalfa being husked, but very little is being cribbed.

Many farmers are planning to start cribbing corn the first of next week, if the fair weather continues. Most fields are ripening as nature intended, and the crop of superior quality. The first of November will find husking well advanced.

Farmers are not taking any chances with the corn crop this year, as they have not forgotten last Nov. 18, and the long winter that followed. Most of them are not plowing too much stock in the forecast for another severe winter, but are not taking any chances.

The second party will be for the benefit of the young people of North Loup and the surrounding area, and will also be of a Halloween party, to be held, probably by the way they whipped North Loup 48 to 14, is moved up to third place behind Emerson and Paxton. Clayton W. Noll, Pioneer Resident of County, Dead

Came to Mira Valley in 1880; Married in 1881; Aged 92 Years.

Clayton W. Noll, eldest child of William and Elizabeth Burks Noll, was born at Millertown, Perry county, Penna., on May 8, 1857, and died at his home in Ord on October 6, 1949, aged 92 years, four months and 28 days. Having been bedfast most of the time for four and a half years, he was lovingly cared for by his wife, and daughter, Mrs. Neelander.

As a young man, he came west to Missouri where he worked for a year. Then traveling into Nebraska, he lived for a time in Grand Island; then came to Valley county where he homesteaded on the south end of land which is still a part of the Noll farm at Midvale.

On August 28, 1881 he was united in marriage to Carrie L. Marks in the Methodist church in Ord. To this union were born four sons and two daughters; William, Walter, Robert and Clayton and Dessie Neelander and Gertrude Trout, all of whom reside at Ord with the exception of William, who is Biology teacher at York College.

In his youth he became a Christian, and joined the United Brethren church in Pennsylvania. Subsequent to establishing their home here, Mr. and Mrs. Noll were charter members of the U. B. church at Midvale, where he served in various official capacities for many years, such as Sunday School superintendent, class leader, song leader, and member of the Board of Trustees. Many times in his recent illness he spoke of the joy that was his in teaching the young people classes. Throughout his life he has been a faithful Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. Noll celebrated their 68th anniversary last August; and his is the first death in his family in all that time.

He was truly a pioneer—coming to this valley in 1880, saw the country developed, and made prairie to the flourishing land in which we now live. All the hardships of pioneer life were endured with patience and courage, with no problem too hard to tackle and solve. He was a real neighbor and always working for the upbuilding of the church, the school, establishing rural routes, and helping make better roads.

Besides his faithful wife and six children, he leaves 11 grandchildren, nine great grandchildren, one sister in Pennsylvania, numerous other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held Sunday, at 2:30 p. m. at the Evangelical United Brethren church in Ord. Rev. Warren Studer officiated. Quartet composed of Geo. Bell, Orel Koelling, Kenneth Koelling and Harry Poth sang three hymns accompanied by Mrs. Ed Lenz. Ord Chanticleers Give Albion Worst of 7-0 Decision

Turn Back Cardinals on Home Gridiron by Sheer Power, Speed.

The Chanticleers won a tough game at Albion Friday night by a score of 7 to 0. The game was featured by pass interceptions by both teams, which kept the crowd wondering what would happen next. The game was played on fairly even terms all the way, but much of the time in Albion territory. Fine blocking and tackling kept the Albion Cardinals from making any spectacular advances.

Albion kicked off, Dworak received and passed yards in the Ord 22. Ord rolled for two first downs and were then forced to punt from their own 49. Albion failed in their first attempt, and punted to Collins, who was downed on the Ord 25 after a fumble.

With Stoddard and Moore carrying the ball, Ord made two first downs to Albion's 46. Stoddard's pass was batted down by Albion's safety man, but was caught by Richardson, who was downed on Albion's 20 as the quarter ended, with no score having been made.

In the first play of the second quarter, Stoddard's pass was intercepted by Albion and returned to their own 24. With Lawrence and Myers logging the ball, Albion rolled up two first downs to Ord's 49. Johnson's pass was intercepted by Moore, who raced back to Ord's 40. Stoddard raced 40 yards around right end to Albion's 20.

Ord failed to make a first down and Albion took over on their own 17. Albion made a first down on their own 34, but was forced to punt. Dworak returning to Ord's 19. The half ended with Ord leading by one point.

Stoddard kicked off to Flanigan who returned it to their 10. Albion failed to make a first down, and punted to Moore, who returned to the Ord 17. Collins went first around left end then around right end collecting a first down in each try and ending on Albion's 10. Albion held. Stoddard kicked and the ball was downed on Albion's 16 yard line.

Albion rolled up two first downs to their own 41. Albion punted out of bounds on Ord's 23. Ord failed to make the necessary yardage, and Stoddard punted to Albion's 35. Albion passed for a first down on their own 47 as the third quarter ended with the score still nothing to nothing.

On the first play of the fourth quarter Johnson's pass in the flat was intercepted by Stoddard, who raced to the necessary yardage, being forced out of bounds. There was very good blocking on the runback of the interception.

Stoddard, on a spinner, plunged for a yard. Collins went through for two yards. Albion was off-side, the first penalty of the game. With the ball on the four yard line, Stoddard faked a handoff to Moore, keeping the ball and racing around right end to score, standing up. The deception on the play was exceptional.

Ord's place-kicking specialists, Maurice and Falter, came in to kick the point. The kick was good, with Maurice holding and Falter doing the kicking. The score was Ord 7, Albion 0.

Stoddard kicked off and Albion returned to their 33 yard line. At this juncture Frank Adamek made his first appearance in the game for Ord since his injury in the Lexington game. He looked like the Adamek of old, but was taken out again after Albion's punt.

Albion was forced to punt after making a first down, and the punt was misjudged by Collins and Dworak went back after the ball and managed to get out to the 6 yard line before being downed. Stoddard's punt went out of bounds on Ord's 20. Ord's powerful line held and the locals took over on the 26.

On two runs Collins raced for 11 and 26 yards. Stoddard plunged for another first down. Stoddard plunged for another first down, and Moore carried the ball to the Albion 12 for another first down.

On the fourth down Ord was stopped on the 5 yard line. Albion ran around end for one yard and the game ended with the ball on the Albion 6 yard line. Ord out-downed 13 to 6. Outstanding backs for Ord were Stoddard, Moore and Collins, and in the line Blaha and Laurson were outstanding.

Nebraska Highway Needs as Shown in Recent Engineering Appraisal

Speed control is one of the most important considerations in the efficient operation of motor vehicles. The national standard establishes 45 miles per hour as the maximum for trucks with gross weights of more than five tons, while the Nebraska law permits 50 miles per hour in daytime and 40 miles per hour at night. In Nebraska the same speed limits apply to passenger cars, while the American Association of State Highway Officials recommends only that maximum speeds be safe and reasonable. The only objection to this ruling is that no two persons would consider the same speed as the reasonable speed at all times. It calls for the opinion of the driver as to whether a speed is safe or not. No driver is willing to admit that the speed at which he is driving is unsafe.

Another angle that enters into consideration with regard to speed, as that every new model of car comes out with special design for traveling a higher speed than the design of the year before. The manufacturer knows that this may be done if he wants his car to sell. Whether he expects to use it or not, every new auto buyer likes to think of his particular model or make as the fastest car on the road. Autos of today have a cruising speed comparable to the highway speed of the same model of a few years before. In fact all cars now attain their best working speed when exceeding the present legal speed limit. Is it any wonder, then, that so many people are anxious for speeding, since the chances of accidents get by without arrest.

Nebraska roads can be protected from misuse of vehicles and infractions of the speed law by vehicles of illegal dimensions and engine loads, only by adequate enforcement of existing laws. It is hardly practical to change the laws, but it is practical to enforce them. The traveling public will profit from a more economical use of the huge investment in the highway, road and street systems. It is recommended that the enforcement of the laws in regard to speed be stepped up. It is also suggested that, in the few places where discrepancies exist, the state law be brought into line with national standards.

Lack of uniformity in construction on roads with similar traffic requirements is one of the major problems to be found in highway transportation systems throughout Nebraska today. On the state system there is generally more consistency in construction standards than there is on the county roads and city and village streets, because in many cases counties and incorporated places have turned to standards of their own device without regard to those of neighboring governmental units. The result of this practice is a random road network on which a motorist or truck driver is confronted with a variety of driving conditions.

In too many cases, present and future needs are not recognized.

Ord Marching Band

The Ord Marching Band, under the direction of William M. Nelson, marched during the game at Albion last Friday night.

Forming at the south end of the field the band started playing "Hosts of Freedom" at a halt. Then they started marching and executed a column right, column left and left oblique respectively. This put them in the middle of the field where they did a novelty number called "Grandfather's Clock." In this number they acted like old people and then all of a sudden went into a jazz tempo. Coming out of that they did a counter march playing "March Salutation," opening and closing ranks. In the middle of the field they did two routines and then playing "Ston King," they did a halt and start and marched off the south end of the field.

This is the routine that the band is taking to "The Harvest of Harmony," at Grand Island this Saturday.

MEMORIAL FROM A MOTHER—A million stitches, each one by hand, have been used by Mrs. Nathan Jaques of Norwalk, Calif., in assembling this quilt made up of 73,365 individual squares of material. Informed that her son had been killed in the sinking of the aircraft carrier Lexington, Mrs. Jaques doubled her efforts to finish the project, hoping that its completion would give her the means to sail to the spot where the Lexington sank. She wants to cast a floral wreath on the water in memory of her son.

John Warfords Visit Children in New Mexico, Texas; Enjoy Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Warford, who returned home Thursday, left Ord Sept. 13, on what proved to be a most interesting trip. They first went to Las Animas, New Mexico, where they visited their children, Rex and Clarice Warford. There John talked to one man who stated that he had the contract for erecting 1,500 homes.

This was a sample of the extensive building operations they observed all along the route of their trip. From Las Animas they went to Austin, Tex., where they visited a daughter and husband, Bob and Iris Price. They got back Thursday, had a fine trip and found the crops all over that part of the west really good.

They crossed the Rio Grande at Laredo, Tex., and drove around for a while, just to get an impression of Old Mexico and look at the country and people. They stopped at San Antonio and visited the Alamo, and also the beautiful park and zoo owned by the city. They traveled all through the mountains and saw some lovely ranches.

At Santa Fe they saw what is claimed to be the oldest building in the United States, now turned into a museum. They visited the cliff dwellings, a group of which have been turned back to the custody of Indians living in the area. A part of the building site had been uncovered by the government, but some was not, and John found the specimen of adobe brick which he brought home with him.

They were especially interested in the specimens of Indian painting which adorned the walls in many places. Some of the drawings were easy to identify while others had no meaning to the uninitiated. There were lots of cattle all the way and John went to a sale, where he found the stock selling at about the same prices they bring at home.

Ranch land in most places had a price of about $7 per acre. In western Texas they found land was worth from $60 to $100 per acre, while the general land values seemed to be from $10 to $60 per acre. They drove up to the top of one mountain, about 14,000 feet, and found the rarity of the air quite noticeable.

Notes of Interest from County Agent's Office

The rest of this week C. C. Dale of the county agent's office expects to be busy making a survey of corn borer damage in the county, at the request of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural college.

Different fields, both irrigated and dry, will be inspected to give a picture of conditions all over the county, the amount of infestation and where it is.

August Drier and two assistants and C. C. Dale were busy Tuesday working in a test plot of hybrid corn varieties raised by Floyd Wetzel on the Leo Long farm just east of Ord. It is one of the official test plots in the state and is under irrigation.

The plots are used to try out new varieties that have been developed at the college of agriculture by the U. S. department of agriculture, and also experimental varieties not yet released. These are not only tested for yield, but also for ability to stand up, to hold their ears, and their resistance to such pests as corn borer and root worm.

Arapahoe had three chances to score, but their attack bogged down in each case short of the goal line. The game was of interest, since the Arapahoe coach, Arnold Leonard, is a product of the North Loup schools, and has been putting his town on the map in athletics.

Dale Stein Believes Pheasants Plentiful

Dale Stein, who runs the Jesse bread truck out of North Loup, is of the opinion that pheasants are plentiful. He serves Greely, Bartlett, Ericson, North Loup, Scotia, Cotesfield and Elba.

He says you have to get up early in the morning to see them, but that there are plenty of them to be seen then. He counts all the way from fifty to one hundred on his trips.

Bulbs.

Holland Grown Tulip Bulbs Recent reports from figures compiled by our State Extension Department show that Fall sown grains is greatly benefited by fertilizer applied in the fall. On tests this fall usually $3.00 worth of fertilizer would produce $10.00 worth more of grain than the same field that did not have fertilizer applied. We have in stock Superphosphate, Ammonium Nitrate and have 10-20-0 or 9-36-0 available.

If you have alfalfa or sweet clover fields to be plowed next Spring, apply Superphosphate this fall and on your Bromo fields you should apply Nitrate. Alfalfa fields that Superphosphate have shown an increase of 100% on the seed harvested. Nitrate will do the same for your Bromo fields. Use fertilizer this fall for best results; then make the proper application next year. The use of fertilizer will pay well.

Fertilizer.

at $1.00 per doz. in named varieties. Narcissus, 3 bulbs in a package for 35c. Hardy Amaryllis at 50c each. Also have some Peonies at 75c each; these are in white, pink or red.

New Lawns.

Many new lawns have been made this fall and several have been renewed. This is a very good time to make an application of fertilizer on your lawn. Peat Moss is also very beneficial to your lawn. We have a good supply of fertilizer and have a new lawn fertilizer spreader for your use.

Hy-Line Chick.

Last week we attended a Hy-Line Chick meeting and now have our prices for next year. From information that we have received the demand for Hy-Lines will no doubt be heavier than the supply of chicks. We are booking orders now for these chicks and believe that it will be to your advantage to place an order for your Hy-Lines this fall for delivery next Spring.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover Seed.

The past week the alfalfa and sweet clover markets have been about steady with a weaker tone of alfalfa seed. Our price is always the highest that the market will stand. By selling your seed here you can see just how it recleans and you will know that you are getting full value for your seed.

Dales Enjoy Fishing

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dale returned home Monday from a fishing trip to Minnesota. They left Ord Sept. 24, and stayed at a resort on Little Winnie lake, doing most of their fishing just below the dam on the Mississippi at the east end of Lake Winnibogoshish. They found fishing good, and caught plenty of walleyed pike, also a few of the northern variety. They took two trips with a guide to fishing grounds farther down the Mississippi and found fishing equally good there. They left on the first day of the duck shooting season, and Carl admits his trigger finger was itching. They stopped at Lincoln Sunday to visit their children, Mrs. Barbara Lahr and family, and Marilyn and Douglas Dale.

Fire Prevention Week.

One week of the year is set aside for the prevention of fires, and the originators of the idea very wisely chose the second week in October for the observance. While home and business fires run about the same all through the year, grass, weed and forest fires are most likely to occur shortly after the first frost.

People become careless, and some are always careless, about putting out fires, matches or cigarettes, all of which can and do cause thousands of fires every autumn. A carelessly thrown match may start a small fire which grows until it takes the combined efforts of a fire brigade to get it under control.

An example of what can happen along this line happened last week when the Union Pacific weed burner started fires all along the right of way in the Olean neighborhood and the North Loup fire department made a run to the scene and spent some time putting out the blaze that might have caused serious damage if left unchecked.

The next day the Ord fire department made a run down to the Noll Seed company's big cribs to put out a fire caused by the same weed burner, which would have destroyed the building if prompt action had not been taken. When fires such as these start in meadows or timber the firemen usually do not know about it in time, and much damage may result.

With the exception of lightning, which causes a large number of fires, the causes of all fires can be controlled. The idea is to completely extinguish every camp fire, every match and every cigarette or cigar. Millions of dollars could be saved every year in the United States if the cause of such fires could be removed.

It is a patent fact that the coming of the hunting season always brings with it a number of fires caused by the carelessness of hunters, who are often in too big a hurry to get on with the hunt, and leave the coals of the camp fire for the wind to whip into a blaze. Maybe it is the cigarette fire present in the group, as they have been taught how to put out a fire. Everybody should take a pattern from the Boy Scouts or Campfire Girls, and fire losses would take a decided drop.

Farm Accidents.
This is the time of year when farm accidents begin to multiply, and a shortage of arms, hands, fingers, and even toes soon begin to be felt. It is not a pleasant situation to contemplate, but it is better to look the danger in the face and calmly decide that something must be done about it.

Two machines are well known for their tendency to produce accidents, and both of these are in use in the cornfields when a picker, drawn by a tractor, goes to work. Properly handled, neither machine need be a source of danger, but together they all too often prove the nemesis of the farmer in a hurry.

Nearly all accidents, both picker and tractor, stem from the fact that the operator is in a hurry and wants to get the job done with as little delay as possible. For this reason he takes chances that no man in his right mind should take. He may get by for a few times, but the machine always gets him in the end.

All pickers are put out with the specific admonition to stop the machine before trying to get clogged material out of the rolls. That takes time, and requires that the tractor and the picker must both be stopped. The farmer thinks of the precious minutes he may lose, and takes a chance.

After all, what value are those minutes saved to a man who must go through life maimed, minus fingers, a hand, or even an arm? In at least one case last fall, a farmer had his foot crushed when he used it to try to force stalks through the rollers. Rollers made to shred husks will shred anything else that gets into them.

Tractor accidents may be no more common in the fall than through the rest of the season, but the danger is always there. Two principal causes of accidents are especially noticeable, cranking a tractor when it is in gear, and trying to turn too rapidly at the end of the field, cramping the front wheel with the power on and causing an upset.

What makes the game of running a picker more dangerous, is that a man is more warmly dressed, is bundled up more and more clothing to catch in the rolls, including double thumbed mittens, which are always dangerous around machinery. The expert bunched up man cannot handle the tractor as easily as he could in the summer.

The state is now waging a war on all kinds of gambling. Why not join the crusade and resolve never to gamble with machinery for the sake of the bank? A few minutes time. Remember you will miss the members you lose far more than you will miss the time you lose. Sign the pledge to play safe while you have a hand to sign it with.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column
It is hardly necessary for me to tell the old timers who Carl and I were with on our trip. They will remember them back in the old days even before Carl started to court Fannie, whose name was Sutton then. For the benefit of those who have come in the past thirty years I might say that Carl was in the drug business with his older brother Frank, in the same building where the Ringlein drug store now is. Going back still farther, their father, James T. Johnson and their uncle, John Johnson, formed the original Johnson Drug company in Ord as far back as I can remember. They ran their business in the old Haskell building on the south side which was torn down when and where the west part of the present Safeway store was located.

I was awaking up the street Saturday morning and, right in front of the drug store he once was a partner in, I met Carl Johnson and Fannie. I just about passed them up, as I had not seen either of them for thirty years, when I flashed into my mind why they were. Fannie was the little girl I once wrote poetry to and about when I was going to high school. I remember it anyway, but she also reminded me of it. I remember Carl even better, as we did quite a little ball playing in those days, and Carl started catching baseball before he was out of knee pants. In fact, it was a ball game that first brought him to my attention.

Mira Valley and Ord were scheduled to play a game, and the diamond was in the block east of the present grade school. Both teams were on hand ahead of time and everybody was ready to start more than courteous about directing us. But . . . wherever they directed us . . . was closed!

Only a BIG baseball game was going on. Every car and person was going that way. And what a crowd it was! A big ball park jammed full of rosters.

I will always remember that trip . . . the road was so dusty that the Canadian cities old-fashioned looking.
—OO—
And then, we almost had to leave Hazel Huff up there. As we went over the line into Canada the officials at the border asked each of us where we were born. Surprisingly we heard Hazel say she was born in Canada. And she had to explain considerably before they were willing she should come home with us.

Speaking of Hazel, I tell you about our day with the Navy, on our June trip to California? A destroyer escort came and got us at San Francisco, and we sailed through the blue bay the 30 miles to Mare Island. It was a lovely trip, a beautiful blue day, though the wind really whipped us as we travelled, and every editor and his family fastened collar buttons snugly before we had sailed far.

At noon we were guests at the officers' mess for lunch, and after the ever-present speeches we were taken to guess where?
To inspect a submarine! Would you ever guess? And they chased all of us, staid and portly and elderly and young and frisky alike, through one of them! And I'm telling you a beautiful day, though the wind really whipped us as we travelled, and every editor and his family fastened collar buttons snugly before we had sailed far.

As we were leaving, on a navy bus, I turned back and focused out the window and began to take movies of the rows of submarines. The young navy officer sitting in the seat behind ours tapped me gently on the shoulder and, politely said, "I don't think Uncle Sam would like you to do that, at all."

Yet it wasn't ten minutes later he was telling me how superior the German subs proved to be, when the war ended and our experts examined them in detail. Compared to the enemy subs, ours were antiquated in nearly every respect, he declared.

It is hardly necessary for me to tell the old timers who Carl and I were with on our trip. They will remember them back in the old days even before Carl started to court Fannie, whose name was Sutton then. For the benefit of those who have come in the past thirty years I might say that Carl was in the drug business with his older brother Frank, in the same building where the Ringlein drug store now is. Going back still farther, their father, James T. Johnson and their uncle, John Johnson, formed the original Johnson Drug company in Ord as far back as I can remember. They ran their business in the old Haskell building on the south side which was torn down when and where the west part of the present Safeway store was located.

I was awaking up the street Saturday morning and, right in front of the drug store he once was a partner in, I met Carl Johnson and Fannie. I just about passed them up, as I had not seen either of them for thirty years, when I flashed into my mind why they were. Fannie was the little girl I once wrote poetry to and about when I was going to high school. I remember it anyway, but she also reminded me of it. I remember Carl even better, as we did quite a little ball playing in those days, and Carl started catching baseball before he was out of knee pants. In fact, it was a ball game that first brought him to my attention.

Mira Valley and Ord were scheduled to play a game, and the diamond was in the block east of the present grade school. Both teams were on hand ahead of time and everybody was ready to start the game, when the Ord boys stated that they would be ready as soon as their catcher, Carl Johnson, arrived. After a while he showed up, coming across lots from the northeast; carrying his mask and protector and glove and taking plenty of time. He was dressed in street clothes, and didn't look much like a ball player. However, the Mira Valley boys found out that it didn't pay to try to steal bases on him, or even get very far off a base. He would squat behind the plate and rifle that ball anywhere around the diamond, and you had to move to beat the throw.

Carl and Fannie have been at Kimball, Neb., well over a quarter of a century, and have had their ups and downs with the rest of us. They are farming now and like the job the best of anything they have tried. They are enjoying good health, have a good home and do not have to worry about the future. What more could anybody ask? Carl is agreed that nobody carries any greater gamble than the farmer, especially the dry land wheat farmer, but he is willing to take that gamble and usually finds time ahead of the game. It is a gamble, but it is a gamble that no attorney general can or will try to stop.

I was rather amused this week at a statement made in a news item published in one of the Quiz exchanges to the effect that there had been no arrests or fines in county court for a period of three months. The editor philosophized that it showed that the local citizens and visitors had been law abiding during the quarter. It would be interesting, if true, but it is not true here, here, or anywhere else in these United States. The American people are not built that way. There is a fascination about breaking the laws that is almost irresistible. Every minute of the day somebody in Nebraska breaks a law and gets by with it. It would be impossible to arrest even one in ten of the offenders with our present police facilities.

I am reminded of seeing a motorcycle cop catch up with a colored man who had just crossed a street against a red light. Technically he was guilty, yet it happened at a time when there was little auto travel, and he got a ticket, just he same. While the cop was talking it over with this one offender, having nothing else to do at the moment, I checked others crossing that same street and before he got through with the one man, 78 people had crossed against the light, and they all by. This happened on the Pacific coast, but probably happens here in about the same proportion.

Not long ago an Ord man told me of sitting on his porch and checking the people who failed to stop at an easily seen stop sign. In half an hour's time, and he used his watch, 22 auto drivers failed to stop for the sign, and a few failed even to slow down. From personal observation I have seen as many as eight drivers traveling as high as 80 miles per hour on one trip between North Loup and Ord. I have ridden in autos making 75 miles per hour or more. Yet the law says the speed limit on the highway is 60 miles per hour. The village of North Loup has a speed limit of 20 miles per hour plainly posted, but most people drive through at speeds all the way from 30 to 60 miles per hour.

The hunting season will soon be here, and a few will be arrested for various infractions of the game laws. But it certainly would be interesting to know how many hunters in Valley county alone will carry a loaded gun in their autos, will shoot from an auto or from the highway, or both, will kill a hen pheasant or two, will get by with more than the two-bird limit late or out of season, will go hunting without a license or borrow somebody else's permit, will go hunting with a rifle, will go hunting on private grounds without the permission of the owner, or will do any of the thousand and one things the game laws specify they cannot do.

No, my friend, if you think your citizens are law abiding just because there was no court action for three months, you must be hoping a lot of wishful thinking. Frankly, I do not believe that the average man lives through any 24 hour period of his life without breaking some part of some law. We are so encompassed by laws that no man living can know every one of every one. If little is done in law enforcement for a period of time, it means either that flagrant law violations have been lacking or that enforcement has been lax, or probably both. Any one who goes about with his eyes open can see the law broken a hundred times in a day. The object of the law is not necessarily to prevent crime, but to make the lawbreaker liable for the results of breaking the law. What we need is fewer laws and better enforcement.

Trichinosis Cases in Cotesfield Area
Three families in the Cotesfield neighborhood became afflicted with trichinosis last week, as a result of eating some form of pork, probably summer sausage, which had not been cooked sufficiently to kill the trichina which causes the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Rasmussen were taken to the hospital in St. Paul, and their sons, Dennis, Dear and Bob, also have the disease in a milder form. Members of the Louie Rasmussen and Lester Gress families are also affected.

Paul Studnicka, southeast of Scotia, first suspected of having polio, was found to have the disease. Wayne Springer, son of Postmaster and Mrs. Corwin Springer of Elba, is also ill. Dr. Hanisch, sr., says these are the first cases he has had in 20 years of practice.

Devoss Bros. Bid Low on Levee Job
A bid of nearly $300,000 by Devoss Bros. of Webster has been announced by Army Engineers as the apparent low bid on the construction of six miles of agricultural level near Brownville, Nebr.

The government estimate on the job was nearly $30,000 less. Devoss Bros. did considerable work for independent township in Valley county last year, and were hired to pull the lodged trees out of Mira creek, and thus eliminate danger of flooding the village of North Loup.

Budget and homemaking news by Bonnie McDonald

HUBBY'S DISCARDED SHAVING BRUSH marked the handiest dusting brush you ever used. Especially for dainty figurines... and fabric lamp shades. Best of all... when soiled, it's easy to wash. (P. S., Make certain the brush has been disinfected before you lay claim to it.)

OCTOBER'S THE MONTH OF coat values at your Brown-McDonald store. Beautiful fall and winter coats for women, misses and juniors... warm fur coats, overcoats, broadcloths and tweeds in a stunning collection you simply must see! The season's most important coats, featuring newest fashion details and tailoring that make them look far more costly than their low McDonald prices... $24.50 up to $39.95.

MATHEMATICAL MAGIC! University of Illinois Ag College gets credit for this. Next time you're figuring wall paper needed for a room, try this: Figure number of square feet to be covered and divide by 20. This allows for waste in trimming and cutting... but, subtract one roll of paper for every two openings.

IT'S AN OPTICAL ILLUSION... but you can make windows that are too tall look lots shorter by using a valance or cornice at the top. Paint valances and cornices or cover with material to match or contrast with drapery and slipcovers.

HAPPY HOUSEKEEPING in a HAPPY HOME house dress from McDonald's. Feature dress of the week is a clever step-in coat dress for sizes 14 1/2 to 24 1/2. Mitred stripes, front and back, are both flattering and slenderizing. Royal blue, brown and forest green are the colors with soft monotone stripes. Neat... and naturally your choice at only $2.98.

NEXT TIME YOU SLICE CREAM CHEESE... use a piece of white thread. Hold the ends securely, decide the width of the slice, then push down. No thick, crumbly slices... no mess.

FOR MEN ONLY... handsome topcoats that give you extra value for your money. Warm wool overcoats, smooth wool gabardines in tans, blues and grays. The fine fabrics, careful tailoring, extra detailing give these coats the look of coats at higher prices. Coats women approve... coats the wife will approve, especially when she learns the low price you paid for yours... only $34.75.

Ground Breaking Ceremony for REA Took Place One Year Ago Last Week

Monday, Oct. 4, 1948, the ground breaking ceremony initiating REA in Valley county was held and a pole set out southwest of Ord. Much has happened in the year that has passed since then, and the Quiz is indebted to W. P. Hollands, manager, for a summary of the highlights of the period.

In brief, Sections "A" and "B" have been completed and put in operation in that time, the A. B. Reither company having the contract, and the contract for "C" section was let, with the Delta Construction company of Mississippi getting the contract. James Armstrong of the Delta is in Ord, has his office established, and the company will begin operations as soon as sufficient material is on hand.

Sub-station Built.
Going back, Mr. Reither arrived in Ord Sept. 30, 1948, and the first pole was set Oct. 4, as mentioned above. The contractor started out digging holes at the rate of 75 per day and setting poles at 55 per day, but this rate was speeded up later. Branch 1 was finished Oct. 8, and branch 2 was to be started on the next Saturday. There were 33 miles of poles set Oct. 13 and 16 miles Oct. 24.

Nov. 2 the work of leveling the ground for the sub-station at Loup City was started. Nov. 9, the first wires were strung and the sub-station base was built. Nov. 18, the day of the big snowstorm, the amended contract with Reither to include "B" section was signed. Dec. 8 the crew started hanging transformers. Dec. 21, the amended contract to include Section "B" was approved.

First Use in January.
The annual meeting, attended by a large and enthusiastic crowd, was held. January 16 the first customers, Willard Conner and Louis Jobst, were energized. About that time Engineer Gibbs was flying the "C" section line and mapping it from the air for the railway commission, as it was impossible to get through on the ground.

By February 9, 100 customers were hooked up. From there on until June 1 the various branches of Section "A" were energized. June 1, Reither started work on "B" section. June 15 the Delta Construction company was awarded the contract for "C" section. Through the summer branches of Section "B" were energized, and the last of "A" and "B" was completed Sept. 16.

800 Using Energy.
So, in spite of one of the worst winters on record, a lot has been accomplished in the one year period. Energy is being used by

Herbert Cushing Writes Story of Early Baseball

Tells of Greatest Thrills When He Saw Players in Action.

To the Editor of The Quiz:

Thank you for your invitation to write a few words about the olden days of baseball in Ord and the Loup Valley. My first recollection of a game in Ord, aside from the old sand-lot days when the North side of Ord played the south side using a string ball, involves a game played on the Fourth of July on a diamond located in the block later occupied by the Christian church, the old Daniels home, etc. Jay Bennett was pitching for St. Paul or at least his home had been at St. Paul. On that day Horace Davis hit a home run, the ball going through a window in Ord's first brick schoolhouse.

As a lad in my teens the county fair was the big occasion of the year because of the ball games between Ord and Greeley, Scotia, Loup City, Burwell, Atcardia or sometimes such a mingling of talent as the occasion demanded or the pocketbooks of the backers permitted. There were always rumors of fabulous wagers on these late season games where the teams were "spiked" with the best talent available but I seriously doubt if the amounts involved reached the proportions mentioned.

My greatest thrills came I confess when Marion pitched games on successive days at the Greeley fair winning them both and the day when he pitched his no-hit, no-run game against Loup City. It was after this last mentioned game that a salesman who sold the L. D. Bailey & Sons store brought the story of the performance to the owner of the Cleveland Indians. A letter followed in which a tryout was offered with references to the fabulous salaries being paid to pitchers even up to $6,000 per year.

How good are the players in the majors and who among those early days could have made the grade. I believe that many of them "had what it takes" if they could have had the advice early in life of men who really knew baseball. I credit "Jonie" Level with having the "know-how" responsible for transforming some good ball players into exceptional ball players. I believe that Steve Finch had all of the possibilities of a Bob Feller or a Rex Barney with much better control certainly than the latter. Steve Gholosky of Scotia was one of the best natural hitters I have ever observed. Emil Fafeta with his screaming drives down the third base lines and Bill Heuck with his tremendous clouts between or over the heads of the center and left fielders coupled with their fine fielding ability would have made them outstanding on any big league team and I saw all of them in action in the summer of 1922 when I was supposed to be getting an education at the University of Chicago. (I did attend morning classes but the lure of the Sox parade on 35th street in south Chicago was very potent and the fun of getting a seat behind the dugout where I could wave and wisecrack with Alexander the great could not be resisted).

Richardson's Goose
The Richardson's or Hutchin's goose is a migrant of the Mississippi flyway. It breeds in the eastern Arctic and winters along the northern coast of Mexico.

Henry Misko, Jake Hoffman and Dutch Berger were great players. Otto Hill and Hook Duryea might well have been the equal of any big league pitcher I have watched in action. I have seen some of the stars "blow up" when the support went sour but I have seen these Loup Valley farm kids stay in and throw undismayed when everything around them seemed to be falling apart. Some one else has mentioned so many of the old time players and I shall not attempt to repeat. But I can't forget the games playing with or against Ben and Dave and Veril Arnold, Grover Long, Ormsby and Everett Petty, The Clement boys, Russell Mann and yes, John Ward with the widest out-curve I have ever seen. Those teams could almost play without an umpire. If Dave Arnold failed to touch the bag he would tell you so and call himself out. Clean sportsmanship at its best. People are finally learning that if you give a young ster a play ground, a swimming pool, or any spot where he can engage in wholesome pastimes the problem of juvenile delinquency will practically solve itself.

The best razzing fan in my memory was Fred McMindes, the most earnest fan Charlie Arnold, the best financial angel, Albert McMindes, and I could see on forever but I am typing this myself and my two fingers are getting tired. All the same I would like to have seen Ernie Hill in a major league uniform and up to bat with the score tied in the last of the ninth inning, a team mate on second, two out and watched what happened if the opposing manager tried to walk him on four straight balls.

Sincerely,
Herbert L. Cushing.
Bess Stacy or Bess Petty would be my nominees for the champion woman fan of the era I knew.
HLC.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Mrs. G. D. Hoyt

Editor Ord Quiz: I am sending money for the year's subscription. We are always anxious to receive the Quiz. It is like a letter from home. My husband, myself and daughter Delta and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Tobias, have just returned from a visit with our daughter Leota, living at Eugene, Ore. We had a lovely trip, but glad to get back to our home here. Best wishes to all our friends.

Mrs. G. D. Hoyt, 3744 1/2 E 6th St., Huntington Park, Calif.

The Ord Quiz: Enclosed find check for subscription for the coming year. We sure look for the paper each Friday and enjoy it very much because it is a link with home folks and friends.

We are enjoying Colorado very much. Right now the trees are gorgeous, especially the aspens in the mountains which are a brilliant yellow. Mixed with the green of the evergreens it is beyond description. Made me wish Irma could see them, too.

Regards to Mrs. Leggett. Mrs. Leslie R. Mason, Box 401, Loveland, Colo.

Mrs. Gebauer Writes.

Salem, Ore., October 6, 1949

To the Editor of The Quiz:

Sirs: Thank you so much for not dropping us from your list. We would truly miss the Quiz. My aunt, Eva Rogers, from Los Angeles, has been visiting myself and sister, Mrs. Roberta Hitt of Bend, Ore. Our older son, Roger, went deer hunting this season for the first time. There were eight in the party, all seasoned hunters, but Roger, and he was the only one to get his buck, a four pointer, weighed in at 240 pounds, a mule deer. Our rainy season has set in and how we dread it! And snow in the Bend country. We had a rather interesting experience last month. I happened to be out in the yard one morning, when the occupant of a car who always uses our driveway to turn around in going to work, stopped to chat a moment. One thing led to another and Nebraska was mentioned. This man mentioned different families he knew in and around Ord, North Loup and Scotia, including Klingensmiths, Kassons, Gebauers and other. It was really funny to see the expression on his face when I told him my husband was the son of Paul Gebauer, as the two families were great friends. Oh, yes, the man—Sam Stichter, son of George Stichter. I am enclosing $7 for one year subscriptions for myself and my aunt.

Plans are going forward at Palmer to hold the annual "Turkey Days" Nov. 23 and 24. The big event will be the amateur contest on Wednesday night. There will also be a dance, high school football game, races, contests, quilt show, free coffee and pancakes or doughnuts, and other events.

The wheat growers of the state of Nebraska will assemble at Gordon on Wednesday, Nov. 30 for their third annual convention and show. The purpose of the show is to encourage the growing of better wheat, both in market quality and improvement as seed.

Paul C. Larsen of St. Paul has assured the members of the Chamber of Commerce that materials for the new hospital would be furnished at cost. It had been rumored that the Larsen Lumber company favored the hospital because of the chance to make a profit on the sale of materials.

Corn Picker, Tractor and Other Machines Taking Their Toll.

Another jump in farm accidents may be expected now that the 1949 corn harvest is getting under way.

The first step in getting through the season without an accident should be taken before the picker goes into the field, the dealers agreed.

Davis Creek Lake Main Power Source for New Project

Harley Explains Plans of Reclamation Bureau for No. Loup Area.

Possibility that a reservoir covering 20 to 25 square miles of the lower Davis Creek valley may be built within 3 years as main power source in a comprehensive flood control-land conservation-irrigation-power project proposed by the U. S. Reclamation Bureau, was outlined to directors of the North Loup Public Power and Irrigation district at a meeting held in Ord Wednesday evening of last week.

At this meeting, Paul Harley, area engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, of Grand Island, explained in detail the bureau's plan of proposed irrigation and power development in the North Loup division which comprises the North Loup river and its tributaries down the river to a point near Cotesfield, Nebr. The North Loup division is a part of a comprehensive plan of water resource development in the lower Platte river basin, Nebraska, as initiated by the federal government.

Water Users Present. At the invitation of the directors of the irrigation district the directors of the North Loup Water Users association attended this meeting and took part in the discussions which were held.

The purpose of this meeting was to gain a first hand picture of these proposed developments and how it would effect the present existing irrigation district.

The development of the North Loup division will require new diversion dams and desilting works at Burwell and Ord. These new diversion dams could be constructed to make it possible for service on the Burwell-Sumner canal and the Ord-North Loup canal. It is also proposed to construct a large irrigation and power canal beginning at Burwell and running down through the Dane Creek valley, Mira Creek Valley and into Davis Creek valley, where a large storage reservoir would be constructed for the purpose of storing water for irrigation in times of shortage and also for the production of electrical power. Incidentally, the Davis Creek reservoir would be the largest new source for the production of power that is contemplated by the bureau in the entire lower Platte river basin.

Would Water 8,000 Acres. The canal which supplies water to the Davis Creek reservoir would also provide water for the irrigation of some 8,000 acres of land in Dane and Mira Creek valleys. A new canal would take water out of the river at the present site of the Hardenbrook diversion dam near Ord and would irrigate some 5,600 acres of land above and below Scottia.

There is also the possibility that the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district is eligible to participate in the plan for the North Loup division irrigation and power development. In effect, this could insure the irrigation district of an adequate water supply at least up to the statutory limits as provided by law in the state of Nebraska.

He claimed that the earth was a sphere,
So wise, guys all called him a "queer".
As back in fourteen ninety-two,
Some still scoff at thoughts that are new.

KEN KEENE THE CORNER DRUGGIST

This introduces Kenneth Keene (better known as just "Ken" to his regular customers), proprietor of the corner drug store. Ken's knowledge goes beyond his thorough acquaintance with pharmacy and merchandising. He is a practical philosopher and his observations (as keen as his name) will be re-tweeted here from time to time.

The other night in the drug store asked Ken Keene if he recalled the day when some people wore smelly asafetida bags to ward off disease.

"Well, we have learned much since then," said Ken. "But at least those old timers wanted to stay healthy—and they also wanted to keep the nation healthy. Their ancestors had established a pattern of national strength and political health as an example to the world back in 1787, and they had the good sense to guard that against the disease of crackpot 'isms'."

"There still is nothing the matter with us that good-sense Americanism will not take care of. Yet there are some strange characters who are attracted by political and social quick dope which—so far as freedom and progress are concerned—have been fatal wherever tried. These phony remedies are harmful—which asafetida is not—and they smell much worse."

DEFINITIONS IN RHYME

Ski-throw denizens can down, without even blinking,
Alky that's not POTABLE: suitable for drinking.
Anything that's OBLATE selen rolls, for, like the earth, it's flat at both poles.

If Columbus had not proved that the earth was round, we would know it now. What but spinning around an axis could cause the present international dizziness?

A decade or so ago it was the American custom to pop up a slow stove or to start a fire in the cook stove with a cupful of kerosene. Deaths, personal injuries, and property damages which resulted from this custom have for the most part stopped this careless custom; but it has been reported that some thoughtless and careless persons still follow this archaic custom. Don't ever take this chance!

Antelating the new robot device which answers the phone when no person is present, is the Club manager trained to say, "He isn't here," when wifey or the office calls a member deep in a gin rummy game.

Probably most mothers of children who go to school via bus, breathe a prayer for the protection of the youngsters leaving home each day. That's as it should be. But it would help further frequently to warn the children always to pause and look both ways when alighting from the bus.

YOU ARE INVITED
I have had a number of letters from readers—and I like them and want more of them. Come on in—with suggestions, questions, comments, or criticisms. Or perhaps you may have some brief contributions which I might be able to use in this column. In this way we can become more chummy and have more fun. Just address Jim Larkin, 737 North Broadway, Milwaukee 2, Wis.

TAVERN MEN TRAVEL, TOO

When tavern men travel for vacation or business they invariably drop in on other tavern keepers in an attempt to learn newer and better methods. This practice is encouraged because it tends to improve tavern operations in the public interest. In addition, the Nebraska Foundation, U. S. Brewers Foundation maintains a trained man who visits all the taverns in the state, observing better practices and relaying them where needed. Thus, the state's general level of tavern operation is being steadily improved and the public interest better served.

Subject: SPRINKLER IRRIGATION

Irrigation is something in which almost every farmer and land owner is vitally interested. It often makes the difference between a crop and a flop. We now have a comparatively new method of applying water to your farm. It has been used satisfactorily in fairly rough ground and with a rather small supply of water.

Many farmers are pumping water out of stock dams and creeks onto rolling ground where irrigation was impossible or impractical before. Sprinkler irrigation is both possible and practical on all kinds of crops and types of soil found in this territory.

We know you will want to learn more about this new system of irrigation and we believe we can help you. If you are interested in irrigating your farm, no matter whether you have a water supply or not, whether your farm is rolling or flat, whether you think you can afford it or not—just let us know.

We will be glad to call on you and try to find a way to bring water to your farm on an economical low cost per acre basis.

We can now furnish everything from the test hole for your irrigation well to the last jet on the last sprinkler on your sprinkler line.

It will pay you to see us. We have the agency for IRENCO Sprinkler Systems, using Reynolds Lifetime Aluminum tubing, the famous McDowell coupler, Skinner Sprinklers and Rainmaster Pumps.

It is the Best.

Each system is engineered to fit the farm on which it will operate. Low interest, long term loans are available for those who need them.

Harmony Harvest Attendance Sets All-Time Record

Twenty Bands from All Over Central Nebraska Present.

Twenty bands from all over Central Nebraska vied with each other to win the favor of the judges at the Harvest of Harmony at Grand Island Saturday. The bands were classified as A, B, C, and D, with two in Class A, eleven in Class B, four in Class C, and three in Class D.

In Class A, Curtis ranked superior and Grand Island excellent; in Class B, Albion, Central City and Ravenna were superior, Gothenburg, Cozad, Ord, Aurora and Neligh, excellent, Loup City and David City, good, and St. Paul average; Class C, Red Cloud, superior, Stronburg and Scotia, good, and Ansley, average; Class D, Fairmont, superior, Polk, excellent and Chapman, good.

Class D bands opened the afternoon program, and it so happened that the Fairmont band was first to be heard, immediately after the announcement that Fairmont's contestant in the contest, had been chosen Miss Harvest of Harmony. Her name is Miss Erma Storm, best of fifteen outstanding contestants.

Chosen as her attendants were Barbara Ashley of Scotia and Marilyn Reimer of Grand Island. Ord's contestant for this honor was Miss Jeanne Whiting. Quite a number of Ordites attended and became a part of the crowd estimated at 12,000 or more which saw the bands perform.

Henry Field, Noted Iowan, Dead at 77

Henry Field of Shenandoah, Ia., best known as the founder and president of the Henry Field Seed and Nursery company, died early Monday at his home, following a brief illness. He put out his first mail order catalog in 1899, the beginning of one of the biggest organizations of his kind.

In 1924, Mr. Field built Radio Station KFNF at Shenandoah, and started the friendly, informal talks which were to make him famous. Many a farmer in Valley county and all over the west trusted him implicitly to fill their orders for seeds, nursery stock and any merchandise he sold.

Loup City Swamps Scotia, 31-0

Ord Foes This Week End Score in Every Quarter of Game.

Loup City's trap-jawed defense snapped shut to hold the Scotia Tigers scoreless as the Red Raiders scored a 31-0 victory over the Bengals Friday before one of the season's largest crowds.

Coach Harold Maeljewski's Red Raiders cracked the whip to score in every quarter.

A 27-yard sprint by Harlan Puncocchar put the ball on the Scotia 2 to set up the first of two first period touchdowns, and Full-back Steve Stotanski plunged through center for the six-pointer. The kick for the point was blocked. A near duplication of the play produced the second touchdown before the quarter ended.

Stotanski circled end for the final six yards to give the Red Raiders an 18-0 lead at half-time.

Quarterback Merle Bennett passed to Earl Carl Brown from the Scotia 10 for the third period touchdown but for the fourth time the try for point failed, this time when a run was stopped at the line of scrimmage.

Bennett passed to Puncocchar in the fourth quarter for a 35-yard gain that carried to the Scotia 23 and then flipped a pass to Brown for the score. A Bennett-to-Brown pass registered the extra point.

Stotanski sparked the Loup City offense and played an outstanding defensive game, with help from Brown, Puncocchar, Bennett, Don Vodehnal and Meryl Diefenderfer. Diefenderfer was hurt and had to be taken from the game. Extent of his injuries was not known this morning.

Rubentahle, a back, E. Beck, P. Beedle, J. Bebernes and R. Striker made the best showings for Scotia.

Loup City plays Ord on the local field Friday night with a close game predicted. Neither team is given an edge.

Percentage High of Corn Borers, C. C. Dale Finds

Count Varies from None to 100 Percent; Irrigated Corn Bad.

County Agent C. C. Dale made a count of corn borers last week for the College of Agriculture and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the result of his work is alarming, to say the least.

The test was made by counting the number of borers on 100 stalks in the middle of fields in various places over the county, part on dry land and part in irrigated fields.

The results show that the percentage of infestation ran from zero in one dry field to 100 per cent in three irrigated fields. The average infestation in fields examined was 69 per cent.

Worst to Come. The average number of live borers, the ones which will produce the imagoes to lay the eggs for next year's borer crop was 139 per 100 stalks. The most heavily infested dry land field had 138 borers per 100 stalks, and the infestation was 92 per cent.

The heaviest infestation on irrigated land was 100 per cent, with 350 live borers per hundred stalks. Mr. Dale believes that the county is due for a heavy infestation next year.

He has scheduled a series of meetings for the county with the entomology department of the state agricultural college. The date and location of these meetings will be announced later.

Lighter in East. Reports coming in from other parts of the state indicate that the borer is not as bad in counties where a count has been taken as it is in Valley county. Oteo county, extreme east, shows 15 to 30 per cent infestation, Nemaha county 49 per cent, Pawnee county 4 to 5 per cent, and Nuckolls county 1 to 2 per cent.

Wind damage is reported heavy in some counties and was also heavy in parts of Valley county, especially in fields where the borer is prevalent. In many fields the stalks are blown down or the ears blown off the stalks to such an extent that farmers are planning to pick the crop by hand.

Snow can and will damage corn in fields where the above conditions prevail. Corn covered up by snow and frozen in will have to remain in the field until spring or until the snow goes off. Last year such corn became moldy on the under side of the ears, and was unsafe for feeding.

That Lion Again!

The lion or puma which roamed around Ord during the winter and spring months is here again. This time it's in a movie, "The Big Cat" to be shown at the Ord Theatre.

According to C. Biemond, the cat featured in the picture is the same species that roamed around here, and the one who wish to know just what kind of an animal prowled around their farms can get a vivid idea from seeing the picture.

Drivers Licenses Slow

The flow of drivers licenses at the county treasurer's office has slowed to a mere trickle, according to Lloyd Wilson, who stated Tuesday that 3,175 had been issued, with perhaps 800 more to go in the next ten business days. This will require an average of 80 per day to complete the job by Nov. 1, the deadline set by the state.

Chinese Student at Women's Group

A Hastings College student, Mr. Ti Tien, spoke to the Presbyterian Women's League group last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Tien gave interesting viewpoints of life in China, his home country. He stated that the problems of populous China are mostly economic. Eighty per cent of the population are farmers. The other twenty per cent is made up of educated students, business men and military officials. The political situation is, admittedly, in confusion. He spoke of the attitude of the Nationals and their indolent behavior.

He further stated that the communists make big advances among the peasants. Confiscated plots of land are given to the peasants. They own the land, pay one-third of the crop to the government and enjoy much better living than in the past.

Mr. Tien is studying to become a doctor and has two other brothers in this country. One is also studying medicine and the other is studying law. Mr. Tien's father was a member of the Security Council and the family came to the United States in 1947.

Ord Junior High Ends Season With Win from Arcadia

Leonard Hurlbert, in Scoring Spree, Makes All Four Touchdowns.

Playing heads-up football all the way, the Ord Juniors took the scalp of the Arcadia Reserves Tuesday afternoon on the Ord field to win 26 to 6. Leonard Hurlbert proved too fast for the opposition, and scored all four of Ord's touchdowns.

Duane Wolf made two extra points, and kept the Arcadians guessing with his superb passing and defense work. The entire Ord line performed in commendable fashion, breaking up most of the Arcadia plays before they got under way.

This game closed the season for the Ord Junior high. The boys won their first game from Loup City Juniors, 6 to 0, and lost their second to the Broken Bow Juniors, 7 to 0. The third game was an easy win from Ravenna, 18 to 6, and the fourth was Tuesday's game.

This gives the team a season percentage of .750, and the score, Ord 50 to all opponents 19. The Ord average per game is 12½ points, and the opponents' average just under 5 points. Much credit is due Bill Gogan, who did most of the work coaching junior high, and his assistant, J. A. Kovanda.

Much Painting Is Being Done in Ord

Ewing and Golle of Grand Island have been in and around Ord since July 5, doing spray painting which they finish with a brush, and they still have considerable work to do before winter sets in. The first job they had here was the Leslie Nash house.

Other jobs have included the Catholic church, the Bals Estate southwest of town, the Joe Rohla home, the Martin Rasmussen barn, the basement under the Grill and an elevator and barn on the Brethauer place south of Ord.

They are now working in the Nebraska State bank, and have the Ord City Bakery, the Ord Theatre and Hotel Ord on the waiting list. Meanwhile all the regular Ord painters are busy all the time with all the work they have been able to handle.

Ord Reserves Win from Broken Bow Reserves Tuesday

Final Score, 42 to 13; Second String Men See Plenty of Action.

Scoring almost at will, the Ord second team racked up a 20 to 0 score against the second team from Broken Bow Tuesday evening in the first quarter, and went on to win 42 to 13. The game was played on the Ord field, and was highlighted by the running of Maurice, the passing and kicking of Falter, and the fine defense work of Allen and Witherwax.

After three or four minutes of play during which Broken Bow kicked to Ord and punts were exchanged, Maurice ran a punt back 65 yards for a touchdown. With Maurice holding, Falter kicked the extra point. Ord then kicked off to Broken Bow and recovered their fumble on their 25 yard line. This set up a touchdown by Gerry VanWinkle, and Falter made the kick good.

Ord then made a short kickoff, which they recovered on their own 45. A pass, Falter to Penas, was good for 35 yards. A few plays later Sowers went over for the third touchdown, and Falter missed the point. The quarter ended with the score 20 to 0 in favor of Ord.

Another touchdown came in the second quarter, and again Falter made the kick for the extra point. Later Penas spilled a Broken Bow man for safety. This made it 29 to 0 at the half.

Coach Roland Moore practically cleared the bench in the second half, after a pass, Don Geneski to Falter was good for a touchdown, and Maurice ran another punt back 50 yards for six more points. Falter made good on one of two tries for the extra points.

With the second team reserves in Broken Bow managed to wangle two touchdowns and one extra point, to make the final score 42 to 13. Several Broken Bow men were shaken up during the game, and Penas received a cut on his nose. He also came near losing his pants, which were badly ripped.

Sports vs. Music.

In modern schools athletics play a major part in the curriculum. This is as it should be, for Americans are a sports loving people, and there is no greater builder for the spirit of Americanism than amateur sports. The only danger is the tendency in many places to emphasize sports to the detriment of other school activities, music, for example.

The principal reason for the attention paid sports is the fact that most sports are self-supporting, and thus it can be argued that there is no harm in developing an activity that can pay its own way. Another angle is the fact that athletics gives a school more publicity than any other one activity, especially if the school is winning its share of the contests.

Perhaps the greatest benefit derived from sports is the development of sportsmanship in the minds of the participants as well as among those who watch the game. In the old days it was nothing unusual for a game to break up in a fight in which spectators as well as players participated. It very seldom happens today.

Chief of the arguments heard against sports is the fact that other activities do not have the whole-hearted support that is given athletics. Nobody argues that a good high school band is not a good thing. Everybody likes to hear the young people play, and the band often helps out athletics by playing at the games.

The trouble is that, while the music department helps make athletics a success, the athletic department does not help out much with the music. In other words, music is put out on a free basis, while the games take in the cash. It costs as much to develop a good band as it does a good football team, but the band is not paying its own way.

For this reason, it is easy to get new uniforms for the football team, but it takes real contriving to get the funds for band uniforms. Good band uniforms cost more at first, but they last longer, and are thus no more expensive than athletic outfits. There should be some method worked out whereby every school could have a band of which the patrons can be proud.

If the band is willing to come out and put on a part of the program at the football and basketball games, why not turn over to the music department a percentage of the net proceeds, when and if there are any, to be used as a sinking fund for the purchases of new uniforms when needed. Both organizations advertise the schools. Why not have them both always looking their best?

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Some time ago I mentioned about Dudley Harber's unusual car license number, 1991, which can be read either side up with equal effect. Friday I walked past where he had parked it, and found the car had a neighbor, parked in the adjoining parking space, and bearing the number 1990. It reminds me of two fellows you all know, who used to drive around a lot, and they devised a game to while away the time, called car poker. One would take the number of the next car they met, the other would take the number of the second car, and which ever set of numbers made the best poker hand, won. They would keep this up for hours, and neither of them made much money out of it, but they sure had quite a lot of fun. Of course, they are not playing it now, because it is against the law.

When I think of the many things that are so much fun and are contrary to law, it almost makes me cry. It seems that the Lord intended people to have a good time, and that men are equal-certain that the Lord was mistaken. It reminds me of two fellows, Colonel's orderly, who had a high opinion of his superior officer's ability. The colonel told him to post a bulletin stating that an eclipse of the sun was to take place the following afternoon and that the men of the regiment were to assemble on the parade ground and to superintend the eclipse in person. In case the day is cloudy, the eclipse will take place in the drill shed.

"Tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m. by order of the Colonel, there will be an eclipse of the sun. The men will assemble on the parade ground and superintend the present and superintend the eclipse in person. In case the day is cloudy, the eclipse will take place in the drill shed."

The secret of success in any business, as in any other, is for each person to accept responsibility for that part of the job that belongs to him, and let each of the others attend to his part of the business. At best we all make mistakes, but it is not my job to criticize the fellow for the mistakes he makes, nor his business to criticize me. No two men would do the same job in the same way, and no two men can agree on the question of relative importance. No man was ever one hundred percent right, but if you can grade up into the nineties, that ought to be good enough for anybody.

I would like to stand on my own feet. All last winter I started out on foot from North Loup, Nebraska, and all, and I got to Ord in time, with the exception of three or four times when I got in a little late. Then, all through the summer, when walking would have been much more pleasant, I rode. Now winter is coming on, and I am on my feet again. It is OK. I am better able to walk than people half my age who need to ride. But I made the above statement for a purpose, and that is to call attention to one of the greatest of all exercises, the one doomed to become a lost art, the art of walking. If every person in the world physically able were compelled by law to walk at least five miles every day, we would have a lot more men physically able to go to war, and a better fit to take over the responsibilities of peace. Fifty years ago every farmer walked ten to fifteen miles every day in his work in the field. Today I doubt if there is a triple-threat back in the country who could walk after a heavy rain in a newly plowed field all day long. If he did, it is certain that he would not be able to play football the next day.

Fifty years ago it was nothing unusual for a young fellow to follow walking making a heavy all day long, ten or more hours per day do his chores, morning night and noon, maybe work an extra hour Saturday forenoon. Then after putting in a week like that, he would walk a mile to five miles to take part in a Saturday afternoon ball game. I know a lot of fellows who were followers of the strenuous life in those days, and they are still plenty husky. You don't develop those big muscles and keep them developed driving an auto, or even driving a tractor. Incidentally too much of either exercise is likely to put a fellow in the hospital. Many a truck driver can bear me out in this, as they become prematurely old from the continual strain of driving, day and night, summer and winter. The Lord did not build vehicles, but he did make man as the first creature who could stand on his hind legs and walk.

I hope nobody takes exception to this week's column. After all it is my opinion, and not yours, and you agreed with everything I said, and would not read it at all. I can afford to be a little independent. I am not running for office, I am not trying to get a government job or a government pension, I am not even trying to get a loan from the bank. Furthermore, I am hoping that I never will be doing any of those things. In office seeking, the office should seek the man, although it seldom does. Government and keep them much gruff and red tape for the remuneration involved. Loans of any kind are a bad thing, for the borrower. It is something he must pay back, with interest. Entanglements are something to avoid, either local, national or international.

A lot of people know C. J. Goodrich of North Loup, and most of them know he is one of the rural carriers working out of that village. What they may not know is that he has been on the job now 27 years and is still going strong. His boxes gets to be a habit with him. Harlan Brenick claims that he was out with Cliff driving over a part of his route, on other business, when Goodrich absent-mindedly drove up to one of the mail boxes and stopped. The mail man does not admit he did it, but it makes a good story, anyway.

Cliff recently told a pretty good story that is worth retelling. He said he was driving along the North Loup-Arcadia highway one time when he met a man with a team and wagon. Some kind of an animal was running along under the wagon, and when he came near Cliff was surprised to note that it was a pig, weighing perhaps 50 pounds, following along much as a dog would. He called the farmer's attention to the pig, and he, too, was surprised. His pig said the pig was a pet and was used to following them around the farm, so must have decided to follow the team and wagon.

A few definitions: Crazy: Anybody who disagrees with you. Lie: A man who tells the truth about you, but can't prevent Bloat-ed Pluto: The fellow who used his head and saved his money while you were throwing yours away. Statesman: Any politician belonging to your favorite political party. Politician: Anybody in politics in the opposing party. More later.

How the Other Half is Living

The farm home of Leonard Kraha of near Ravenna was badly damaged by fire last week, the modern kitchen being completely destroyed. Damage is estimated at $4,000.

A county committee to undertake school re-districting was named at a meeting held in Kearney last week. It was attended by 163 of the 306 rural school board members of Buffalo county, and a nine member board was named.

Plans are being drawn for a proposed water system project at Ashland, which will consist largely of replacing obsolete water mains and hydrants with newer lines with greater capacity to meet the needs of the present and future. The Fred Hahn auto from Burwell with the owner and his son Ray as occupants, was wrecked near Shelby. Fred suffered a broken rib, but both were taken back to Burwell the same evening.

Monday of this week the state highway patrol was increased by 34 men, bringing the total up to 125. Thirty nine men recently completed the training tests, and the extra five will go on the reserve list. The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Fullerton have decided to discontinue operation of their club-room, and sold their fixtures and furnishings Monday of this week at public auction. The action was taken, it is understood, because of the attorney general's recent ruling on gambling.

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Oct. 23, 1949.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we come to have more faith in the truth of being than we have in error, more faith in Spirit than in matter, more faith in living than in dying, more faith in God than in man, then no material suppositions can prevent us from healing the sick and destroying error. Neither evil, disease, nor death can be spiritual, and the material belief in them disappears in the ratio of one's spiritual growth." (p. 368).

Chanticleers May Play Superior in Post Season Mix

Split Conference Game Decided This Week; McBride Rates Chants.

With both Superior high school and Ord high school victors the past week end, chances of a post-season game between the two teams loomed closer this week.

Under rules of the Trans-Nebraska conference, of which Ord is a member of the northern division, winners of division schedules meet for a post season game to determine the conference champion.

Ravena Is Obstacle. If the Chanticleers get by Ravena this week end, they will become champions of the northern division with 3 1/2 games won, 1/2 game lost.

In the southern division of the conference, Superior has beaten Minden and Crete, plays Geneva this week end and Sutton next week end.

Chants Still Rate. By virtue of their victory over Loup City last week end, the Chants continued to rate in the top 1/4 Class B teams in the state.

Other Loup Teams. Other teams in the Loup Valleys area also drew McBride ratings this week in Class C, Ansley and Loup City occupy the 7th and 8th places respectively.

Corn Harvest Is Under Way, With Splendid Yields. Most of Work Being Done by Machinery; Some Hand Picking.

The 1949 corn harvest is under way with fine yields of good quality corn being reported in many fields.

Pickers are busy from daylight until dark in the fields all up and down the valley, with the exception of a few so damaged by corn borers and the subsequent wind that they will have to be picked by hand.

Regular fields are being figured at from 60 bushels per acre up in the irrigated section, with the quality about all that could be desired.

In a few cases the moisture content is still high, but some of this corn is being piled on the ground, and should cure out well.

Four Deer, Two Elk, Bagged by Ord Party

Four deer and two elk comprised the bag of this party of four Ord hunters who spent a week in the field. Left to right, proudly displaying their bag are Ross Allen, Lloyd Geweke, Orel Koelling and Emil Kokes.

Women's Group Has Visitor

Beatrice Patterson, field representative and organizer for the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, visited Ord briefly Friday at lunch time, meeting with the executive board of the local group at the East Side cafe.

"We are the only women's group organized solely for advancing women's own interests," declared Miss Patterson. "We must not lose sight of this fact. We must do all we can to help another woman, and to improve the status of working women all over the world."

From Ord Miss Patterson went to Burwell where a new Business and Professional Women's club was recently formed. She was a guest of the Burwell group at dinner, after which the bylaws and constitution of the Burwell club were thoroughly discussed.

Schools to Close 2 Days; Teachers Go to Convention

The schools of Valley county will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week to give the teachers the opportunity of attending district convention. District 4, of which Valley county is a part, will hold their sessions in Grand Island.

On the program is an Ord teacher, Miss Maude Holden, who will preside at the mass meeting Thursday afternoon. On this same program will be a former Ord teacher, Margaret Morton, who is now teaching at North Platte.

Chamber Group to Pick Nominees

A committee of three, Keith Lewis, Joe Ryasav and John R. Sullivan, was chosen Monday evening as a nominating committee for the Ord Chamber of Commerce Election of Chamber officers will be held at the next regular meeting in November. Ross Allen is retiring president.

Chamber members attending the brief special meeting Monday heard further details on the coming Ord bargain day event, Nov. 8, 9 and 10. They also discussed housing problems engendered by the proposed move of headquarters of the bureau of reclamation to Ord.

Rochester Woman to Be Superintendent of Ord Hospital

Mrs. Jeffrey, Trained Administrator, Chosen by Local Board.

Election of Mrs. Genevieve Jeffrey of Rochester, Minn., as superintendent of the Ord Cooperative Hospital Association was announced this week by the hospital board of directors through its president, Archie Geweke.

"Mrs. Jeffrey is unusually well qualified for the post she has taken here," Geweke told a Quiz reporter. "In addition to more than 20 years experience in nursing and hospital work, she graduated from a two year course in hospital administration at Columbia University in New York City."

The new superintendent has served as head of hospitals in Southbridge, Mass., and Mount Pleasant, Mich. She also served as floor superintendent of one of Chicago's largest hospitals. For the past several years she has been doing special work in Rochester, Minn.

Two More Rooms Pledged. Two more local organizations have announced their intentions to sponsor the decoration and fitting of hospital rooms, the Odd Fellows lodge of Ord, and the Evangelical United Brethren Church of Mira Valley. Valley county extension clubs had previously announced their sponsorship of a room.

"We invite other organizations or individuals to sponsor a room," Geweke said. "Costs of sponsorship range from $175 upward depending on just how far the sponsor wishes to go, and we can certainly use the help."

Shooting Rated Fine by Hunters in Ord Fields

Many Report Limit of Pheasants, But Ducks Not So Plentiful.

Shooting since the opening of the season, Oct. 21, has been fine, according to many hunters, although others report the birds hard to locate and harder to kill. As has been true in the past, many pheasants are injured but manage to hide and are not found.

With the low limit of two male birds this year, it is not so difficult to get the bag limit. Cover is heavy, but not as heavy as it was in many places last fall. Where the birds can be found in fairly open places it is not difficult to get them.

Quite a few ducks have been shot, but the heavier flight is expected as soon as the next cold weather arrives. As the weather man is reporting good weather, it may be some time before the main flight of ducks gets here. Most of those being shot are small ducks.

Pheasants seem to be more plentiful than the pre-season check-up would indicate. The percentage of cocks is also gratifying. Either the hens have gone into hiding, or there are not too many of them.

"D" Section Approved

W. D. Hollands of the Ord REA office received a telegram at 2 p. m. Wednesday stating that the "D" Section had been approved in the amount of $365,000.

CROP Committee of Valley County Holds Meeting

The CROP committee for Valley county held another meeting this week at the court house, called by Fr. Thomas Stodowski, county chairman. Present were Fr. Tom, Rev. L. V. Hassell, Rev. Christen Jeppensen, Fr. Leonard Ziolkowski of Elyria, Fr. Michael Szczesny of Geranium, Rev. Buehler and Rev. Gunsoley of Arcadia and Rev. Warren Studer of Mira Valley.

These present were all appointed local chairmen in their several communities, with authority to organize the areas and appoint their local committees. A movie on CROP was shown by Leslie Nash of the Soil Conservation service. At the close of the meeting lunch was had at the East Side cafe.

Hunting Season Brings Business to County Judge

Three Pay Fines for Various Infractions of Hunting Laws.

The hunting season brought with it several violations of the hunting laws which were heard in County Judge Cochran's court. Daniel Dilla of Ord was charged by county attorney Ralph W. Norman with having a loaded gun in his auto. He entered a plea of guilty, paid a fine of $10 and costs of $4 and was released.

The same day W. B. Leininger of Arcadia was charged with hunting a game bird, namely, a cock pheasant, in hours not designated for hunting. He entered a plea of guilty, paid a $5 fine and $4 costs and was released.

Monday William Vogeler entered a plea of guilty to a charge of hunting the preceding day without a license. He also drew a fine of $5 and costs of $4, which he paid and was released. In each case the judge made the fine the minimum permitted under the law.

Ord Men Return With Legal Quota of Deer and Elk

Spend Ten Days on Top of Big Horn Mountains; Have Enjoyable Trip.

Ross Allen, Emil Kokes, Lloyd Geweke and Orel Koelling returned October 22 from a hunting trip to the Big Horn mountains in Wyoming, bringing back with them four fine buck deer and two elk, all the animals they had permits to kill. They report a most enjoyable trip.

Leaving Ord Oct. 12 in two pickups, they went into the Big Horn west of Buffalo, Wyo., following a 28 mile trail to the top of the ridge and over into the valley beyond, where they camped in a cabin with big game all around them.

They had little trouble in getting their limit, their permits calling for four buck deer and two elk, none of which was shot more than five miles from camp. They were all fine, young animals. Each got his own deer, but some collaboration was used in getting the elk.

They ran into bad weather the last three days, with about 8 inches of snow falling. This made travel by vehicle difficult, but they were still able to wade around on foot. They did not mind the weather, as they had plenty of grub, bedding and firewood and two good guides.

They were practically on the roof of the world, 9,000 feet up, which was an unusual experience. The pickup is the only satisfactory vehicle for driving the trails, they found, as it can go where standard automobiles would be useless.

If You Have a Room or Apartment for Rent, the Chamber Wishes to Know

Ord residents who have rooms or apartments for rent are requested to list their vacancies with the Ord Chamber of Commerce at once. Richard Rowbal, chairman of the Chamber housing committee said today.

"We'll need up to 20 apartments—furnished and unfurnished, and a scad of rooms if we're going to take care of the Bureau of Reclamation which is considering Ord as headquarters site," Rowbal said.

"The bureau will announce their decision on a headquarters town tomorrow or the next day, so it is urgent that anyone having vacancies get in touch with me at once."

Ak-Sar-Ben Officials Will Present Plaque; Vets List Projects

The Ord Veterans Club will officially receive the 1949 Community Service Good Neighbor award from the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben at a dinner to be held at the club this Wednesday evening.

Repairs Progress at Ord Hospital

Early November Date to Be Set for "Open House" Inspection.

Ord's cooperative hospital is looking better every day as the work of remodeling and redecorating progresses. Early in November an "open house" will be held, after which the hospital will be re-opened to patients.

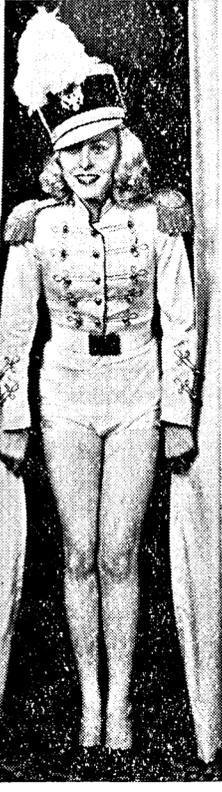

New linoleum has been laid on much of the floor, in colors agreeably dull. New paint has been put on the walls, pleasantly soft shades of pale rose, pale yellow, pale green. In the operating room, a pale green-blue has been used, a color surgeons are demanding more and more in the most up-to-date operating rooms in the country.

Several changes have been made in the hospital. The former sun room is being insulated and refurnished as a ward, and will accommodate several patients hereafter. A pretty little nursery has been established near the operating room, with sunny south windows. Plumbing has been moved to meet the standards of the best-equipped hospitals.

Old furniture is being refinished and will be used wherever possible, but some new furniture is needed. Estimates of the cost of re-doing one bedroom of the Ord Hospital show that about $200 is necessary. The committees in charge are trying to be economical in every way, but admit that public help is needed. They are hoping clubs and civic groups will adopt one or more rooms and donate money needed to renew at least one room.

Even the price of a bedside table will be appreciated, say those in charge, as they tabulate the long list of needs, needed to bring the hospital up to modern standards.

Local Girl Is "Twin" of New York Model

"Miss Quiz"

Amy Christofferson, Ord, has found a twin.

And she doesn't know the twin's name, except as "Miss Metro."

A picture of Miss Metro arrived in Ord recently at the offices of the Ord Quiz who are subscribers to the Metro Advertising Service, one of the nation's largest newspaper advertising matrix services.

Quiz employees noted the resemblance between Miss Metro, a professional New York model, and Miss Christofferson.

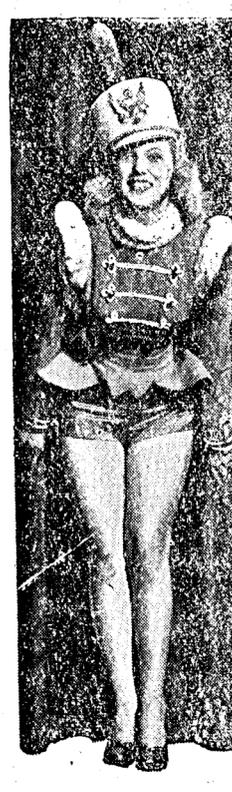

So they arranged for Quiz photographer Ed Swopes to take a picture of Miss Christofferson in the identical pose used by Miss Metro, and the results are pictured above.

Metro Advertising Service officials, presented with an unlabeled and untouched photo of Amy, were also interested. Fred Spiegel, art director, commented: "Your Quiz girl and our Metro girl look enough alike to be twins. In a real show down, I believe your Quiz girl has the edge on Miss Metro since her photo is untouched."

Wm. Schak, general manager of Metro, also wrote: "It is true that these two girls look a great deal alike and I also believe that your girl is just a little bit prettier. We feel mighty proud over the fact that the photographer copied almost exactly the pose of our Metro girl."

"If your Quiz girl originated in Ord, Nebraska, Ord should be mighty proud of her."

Amy is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christofferson of Ord. A Junior in Ord high school, she is a drum major in the Ord high school band, and works part time in the Ord Theatre.

Suggestion Made of Program for Bridge Opening

Will Be Ready for Traffic in 10 Days, Contractor Believes.

Capitol Bridge, contractors for the bridge across the North Loup river at Ord, believes the bridge will be ready for travel in about ten days. This will be good news for all persons living on the east side of the river, who have been traveling under difficulties most of the time for several months.

This is the finest bridge ever built in Valley county, and the only permanent bridge built to date. It is built of reinforced concrete, and should last practically forever, barring earthquakes or other unforeseen circumstances.

For this reason, the idea has been suggested that the occasion of the opening of the bridge be made a special event, and the Valley County Board, in session Thursday of this week, will consider the idea.

Chamber Cooperating. The Ord Chamber of Commerce has already stated its willingness to cooperate with the board in any way possible to make the affair a success. It is probable that the Ord High school marching band would be willing to participate in the program.

Also suggested is to have a representative of the state highway department present to give a talk, and also a representative of Capitol Bridge. As the county board has taken a leading part in acquiring the bridge, the board should take a leading part in the program.

Evet Smith, chairman of the county board, calls attention to the fact that this is the only bridge built and turned over to the state that was not on a state or federal highway at the time it was built, the county sharing with the state in the expense of building it.

The above are only suggestions, and other suggestions are in order, and the board will welcome them.

Frank Flynn Dies from Rifle Shot Self Inflicted

Popular Farmer's Body Found by Daughter in Granary Sunday.

Shortly after 2 p. m. Sunday, Carson Rogers came to the home of Robert G. Hall, sheriff, and told him he and a doctor ought to go out to the Frank Flynn place. Mr. Hall got Dr. F. A. Barta and they drove to the farm, where they found that Flynn had apparently taken his own life.

His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lyle Flynn had found his body shortly before, lying in a granary with a 22 caliber rifle, purchased the day before, lying across the body and a bullet wound in the head. The Flynns had held a sale a few weeks ago, and were making plans to move to town.

No motive can be assigned for the act, except for the fact that he had suffered with arthritis in his leg for the past six years, and at times the pain was intense. Mr. Flynn was 67 years of age and had lived all his life in the Ord territory.

Funeral services are to be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from the Ord Methodist church.

Answers Filed in 2 Cases in District Court

Sullivan Asks Hearing in Troyer Case; Bridge Mandamus Answered.

Answers have been filed in two cases now pending in district court. John R. Sullivan, attorney for Dillo E. and Ailyce M. Troyer, has filed an answer to the condemnation proceedings instituted against the Millford building.

The answer denies the existence of the facts recited in the order of State Fire Marshal Iverson, and asks that the matter be set for a hearing before the court, that the defendant may controvert the alleged facts.

In the case wherein a mandamus action has been brought in an effort to require the county board to repair the Sumter bridge, an answer has been filed by the county attorney.

Mrs. C. C. Dale Shot in Hunting Mishap Friday Afternoon

Accident Occurred on Dale Farm Near Elyria; Not Seriously Injured.

Mrs. C. C. Dale was quite painfully injured in a hunting mishap that occurred on the Dale farm, one mile east of Elyria Friday afternoon. Mrs. Dale was crawling through the undergrowth in a shelterbelt after a wounded pheasant and Dr. Phillip Dale, seeing the movement in the weeds and thinking it was a pheasant causing the commotion, took a shot at it.

Mrs. Dale got the full effect of the charge in her hip and thigh. Forty shot penetrated beneath the skin, and most of them will be left, as it is less dangerous to leave them than to try to remove them. Carl Dale was sitting in the auto, and the doctor, who had been hunting in the alfalfa, thought Mrs. Dale was also in the car.

While the wounds were painful, none of them are serious. Mrs. Dale was able to attend the Ord Loup City football game that evening, and has been spending most of her time at home this week feeling thankful that she escaped as luckily as she did. Dr. Dale is feeling terrible about the accident, which could have happened to any one. It was a lucky ending to the first accident of the 1949 hunting season.

Dick Andersen, 15, Kills First Goose

This Ord boy won't be 16 until December, but already he has bagged his first honker. Dick Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Andersen, killed the 6 lb. goose—a lesser Canada—from a blind on the North Loup river six miles east of Ord Saturday morning. According to Dick, he got the biggest thrill of his life when he shot and the goose tumbled down. In this picture he poses with a pair of mallards killed earlier that morning and Hermie, the Chesapeake retriever owned by Gene Leggett and Vm Andersen, who so far this season hasn't permitted a single duck killed from the Andersen-Leggett blind to be lost.

Dan Dugan Winner of Safety Award
Dan Dugan, who for years was the owner of a service station in Ord, as well as stations in other Nebraska towns, has been given first place in a national safety contest of the American Trucking Association, Inc. His company, the Dan Dugan Oil Transport company of Sioux Falls, S. D., had its trucks travel ten million miles without a single serious accident.
Dan Dugan, who at one time drove a milk wagon for the Alamo Dairy company of Omaha, later went into the oil station business, leasing and buying stations in different towns. When the Farmers Coop of Ord moved to their present location Dugan bought the old location at the southeast corner of the square, and continued to run it until Ken Peterson bought it, later selling to the Valley County Implement company.

Little Advantage in Subsoiling, Is Opinion of Coats
Ernest S. Coats, who has farmed in Valley county for nearly fifty years, gives it as his opinion, gained from experience, that there is little to be gained from subsoiling. He says it was tried here in the years following the drought in the '90s, and that it did as much harm as good.
In his letter Mr. Coats encloses a clipping in which Dr. M. D. Weldon, extension agronomist for the University of Nebraska states that recently there has been a revival of the idea of subsoiling land.
Tests carried on by U. S. department of agriculture have shown that there is little advantage in deep plowing, and that in some cases the crops grown after deep tilling have not equalled those of ordinary 7 to 8 inch plowing.
Mr. Coats says he has no idea whether it would be any advantage on irrigated land, and all his experience has been with dry land, but he does not believe subsoiling will bring in a return commensurate with its cost.

Gridiron Accidents Plague Two Schools
Two schools ranking high in state competition lost key players in serious accidents in last week's contests. The Taylor Wildcats rolled over Ames 5 to 0, Thursday afternoon on their way to an undefeated season in their class, but lost Jack Yocum, a guard, for the season with a broken arm. — Ansel, riding high on a long string of victories, ran wild over Sargent in 74 to 0 romp, but Max Staab, backfield star, suffered a fractured leg which will keep him out of competition the rest of the school year, in all probability. — Both schools are making a special effort for state recognition. Taylor has been ranked in second place in Class D schools by Gregg McBride for the past two weeks, with a chance of landing on top of the heap. Ansel was in 7th place in Class C for the same period.

Mrs. J. W. Gregory Funeral Held at Muleshoe, Texas

Pioneer Valley County Woman Laid to Rest by Side of Her Husband. Mary Rebecca Tucker, daughter of Jasper Elbert and Margaret Tucker, was born in Effingham county, Illinois, July 11, 1873. She moved with her parents to Loup City, Neb., in 1886. She went to school in Ord in 1889 and attended Ord high school. She also graduated from Fremont Normal college, having attended two years and completing teachers and scientific courses by correspondence. She taught in Valley and Sherman counties, and also in Ord schools in 1896-1897. She was married to John Wilson Gregory, June 30, 1897. To this union were born three sons, John W. Gregory, Jr., Nampa, Ida., Joseph Gregory of Ord, and James Lloyd Gregory of Nampa. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory lived on their farm northwest of Ord on Turtle creek for about 30 years, and then moved to Muleshoe, Tex., on account of Mr. Gregory's health. Mr. Gregory died March 14, 1927. Mrs. Gregory united with the Baptist church in Ord in 1889 and later transferred her membership to the Baptist church of Muleshoe, Tex. Besides her sons, she is survived by four grandsons, two granddaughters and several great-grandchildren. Mrs. Gregory had made her home at Hot Springs, N. M., for the past two years, as her health did not permit her to return to Muleshoe. She suffered a fall Sept. 18. At that time her son Joseph and wife went to Hot Springs, had her taken by ambulance to a hospital in Albuquerque, and from there by train to Nampa, where she was placed in the Good Samaritan hospital. She passed away there Oct. 11, following a stroke the day before. Her body was taken to Muleshoe, Tex., where services were held in the Baptist church Sunday, Oct. 16, at 3 p. m. Rev. Bane, pastor of the church, was in charge of the service. Two of her elderly friends, Mrs. Jennings and Mrs. Cook sang "Rock of Ages" and "When They Ring Those Golden Bells," and Mrs. Jennings' 16-year old daughter Dixie sang "Sunrise." All her sons and their wives were present for the funeral. Mrs. Gregory was laid to rest beside her husband in Muleshoe cemetery. She was 76 years and 3 months of age at the time of her death. —Mrs. Sadie Armstrong of Seattle arrived here last Wednesday to visit her two sons, Ed and Duane, and their families.

Budget and homemaking news by Bonnie McDonald

IF YOU GOT THE POINT the last time you reached for your scissors in your sewing basket, do this: Get a large cork, and before putting scissors in your sewing basket... insert closed scissors' points into the cork. Much easier on your fingers... and on anything "jab-able" in the basket.

HI YO... WEE WALKERS! A top national name for children's shoes now features leather western-style boots for infants and small children. Kiddies love 'em... you'll like their rugged soles and comfort-fit wedge heels. Attractively designed boots in red, white or brown. Sizes 4 to 8. A wonderful Christmas gift for your little cowgirl or ranger. Wee Walker boots... at McDonald's... are just $2.98.

FROM RAGS TO RICHES... rich in color and design, that is Channing rag rugs featured at McDonald's... and priced within your budget. There are woven rugs in hit-and-miss designs for kitchen, bathroom or bedroom. Block plaids for children's rooms. Scotch plaids for a boy's touch to den, bedroom, kitchen or bath. Even heavyweight block plaids for bedroom scatter rugs. Sizes up to 2 by 4 feet. At McDonald's... priced 79c to $2.98.

X... MARKS THE SPOT! Next time you're driving tacks or nails into a plaster wall... put a cross across a scotch tape at the spot before you pound in the tack. Several good reasons: The tacks hold much longer, and there's far less danger of the plaster crumbling.

IF YOUR LITTLE ONE has a tendency to go THROUGH the kitchen door instead of OUT of it... prevent the screen in this manner: Cut lengths of round metal curtain rods, and put about three of them across the door... at the right height and attached to the frame. No bulging screens... and less wear and worry on you.

13 PAIRS OF NYLONS FOR THE PRICE OF 12... yours, if you're a member of McDonald's HOSIERY CLUB. It's easy to join, and easy to buy hose regularly at McDonald's. You always get top quality at modest budget prices. McDonald's hosiery sales-lady will gladly give you the details. Join the Hosiery Club at McDonald's and save on hosiery.

TAKE A TIP... pass it around... and talk it over... and you'll have a good description of our daily chats over KMMJ, WJAG AND KIBL. Ask your J. M. McDonald store manager for program time.

Ord Team Winner from Loup City in Friday Game

Score, Ord 14, Loup City 0; Downs, Ord 19, Loup City 7.

In a game replete with fumbles, Ord's Chanticleers won from Loup City at Ord Friday evening by a score of 14 to 0. The downs, 19 to 7, would indicate a higher score, but many gains by both teams were nullified by interceptions and fumbles, which kept the result in doubt all evening.

Loup City kicked to Ord's 34. Ord made two first downs, one in play and the other by a 15 yard penalty on Loup City. With the ball on the Loup City 20, Collins made 20 yards, which was nullified by a 15 yard penalty. The next play Loup City recovered a fumble on their own 46 yard line.

Puncochar, Loup City's biggest threat, accounted for two first downs which took the ball all the way down to the Ord 6 yard line. The Chanticleers held and Laurson intercepted a fourth down pass and carried it to the Ord 12. Collins and Stoddard carried to a first down on the Ord 25.

Richardson punted to the Loup City 47, where he recovered a fumble on the next play. Moore, Collins, Dworak and Stoddard carried the ball to the 11 yard line in two first downs, as the quarter ended. Collins made 2 yards and then Puncochar intercepted a pass on the Loup City 15.

Failing to gain, Loup City punted and Collins fumbled, Loup City recovering on the Ord 35. Failing to make their first down, Ord took over on their own 30. Dworak made 5 yards, Stoddard, after a long run, fumbled and Loup City recovered on the Loup City 41. A pass and lateral took the ball to the Ord 15. Loup City lost to the Ord 21 and Ord took over there. Dworak and Stoddard accounted for three first downs to the Loup City 35.

A pass to Richardson was good for 16 yards, and Moore made 12 yards to the Loup City 7 yard line. A pass to Richardson was good for the touchdown, and the kick for the extra point by Falter, Maurice holding was good, and the half ended Ord 7 Loup City 0.

Ord's running attack seemed to bog down in the second half, but the offensive got under way again after Richardson recovered a fumble on the Loup City 47. He then took two passes which carried the ball down to the Loup City 9 yard line. Loup City recovered a fumble on their 5, and punted to their 43.

Stoddard and Dworak made a first down on the 32, and Richardson took a pass and carried to the 7 yard line, from which point Stoddard went over for the touchdown. Falter and Maurice then made good on the extra point. From then on until the end of the game the play went all over the field, but with neither team getting close to a touchdown.

Fifty Years of Football as Shown by the Old Files of the Ord Quiz

The first record to be found in the files of the Ord Quiz in regard to a football game, appeared in the issue for Nov. 2, 1900, and referred to a game played Oct. 31 between the seniors and the rest of Ord high school. The seniors were the famed Century Class, and the boys of that class were Ed Anderson, Roy Anderson, Eric Chur, Irving Kennold, Ed Kates, Arthur Hensing, Ralph Mickelwait, George Nethery, Charles Patton, Will Patty, Harold and Horace Robbins, John Rockhold, Ralph Stacy and William Watt. Ralph Stacy probably did not play, as his health was poor, but there were plenty of boys for an eleven man team.

It would be difficult to figure just who did play on the team for the rest of high school, but among them were Tutton Charlton, Wayne Clements, Stanley Dvorak, Richard Canfield, Cecil Knecht, Ed Kates, Charles Ciochon, Jake and Bill Hoffman, Claude Honnold, Ed Armstrong and Ray St. Clair. It is difficult to figure because in those days a lot of boys started to high school and failed to finish, either losing interest or having to quit and go to work. Here is the story of the first football game recorded by the Quiz:

"The baseball park was turned into a gridiron Wednesday afternoon and in two 25 minute halves the rest of the high school attempted to show the twelfth grade their prowess in the most popular game of football. The game is practically new to Ord people and a large crowd was on hand to witness it, though they knew practically nothing about the game. Both sides had been in training for the past three weeks; the twelfth grade under Oliver Olson as coach and Tut Charlton acting in a like capacity for the high school. The game was one-sided in the extreme. At no time was the goal in danger, the play being conducted entirely in the high school territory. In the first half the twelfth graders kicked off to the high school twenty yard line, secured the ball on downs and, in a criss-crossed fashion (did it reverse?) trick play passed the ball over for a touchdown, Mickelwait kicking goal, scoring within fifteen minutes after the ball had been put in play. This was the only score made during the game.

The game was a very interesting training and superior head work than the high school, and this won them the game. Wayne P. Smith acted as referee, Horace M. Davis as umpire and Wilmore Gray as linesman and fulfilled his positions in a manner satisfactory to all.

It is not an easy matter to hunt through the files for the early years of this century trying to find a certain issue that tells about the most famous football game of that first decade. In the first place, the Ord high school in high school in those years, and about two thirds of the students were girls, leaving less than two dozen boys in all four grades. Of these most of the freshmen and some of the sophomores were too small to play football as it was played in those days.

Of the remaining dozen or so boys, several were still in knee pants when they graduated, and were not of the type to go in for the rough stuff. In the fall of 1901 a poll was taken and 10 boys were found who would play football, but the eleventh was not to be had, so football went by the boards and few games were played during the next several years.

The fact that the players had to make their own suits, transportation, equipment, and had to make up classes lost before going to play, made it doubly difficult.

One game, however, was played during the period and that was scheduled for Nov. 20, 1903. Whether it was played on that date is not known for certain, as most of November is missing from the files of the Quiz. Plans had been made for two debates with Central City, one there, the other here. The date for the Ord debate was Nov. 20, and for the Central City debate, Nov. 27. Basketball games between the two schools were then added, and Central City, having a good high school football team, wanted to play football also. Ord had no football team, and Central City was so notified. But a letter came back stating that they would play any aggregation Ord could get together. At that time Ord had a business college, and was given the privilege of using college students, high school students or even men from town. So insistent were they that the local men decided to get up a real team, so they picked the best from the high school, business college and filled it with Ord business and professional men.

Center for the Ord aggregation was Dr. G. W. Taylor, who was quite a player in his college days, and hadn't forgotten how to play. Butch Zimmerman, who was working in the meat market on the west side, run probably by F. J. Stars, was quarterback. Tutton Charlton and possibly his brother Cecil were back field men. George White, about 240 pounds of hard to move beef, played tackle. The names of the rest cannot now be recalled, but they were all big, tough men. It is possible that Alva (Farmer) Lewin was one of them.

Central City came to Ord upon a special train, two or three hundred of them, all excepting to have a big day of it. The sports events were held at the fair grounds, basketball first, which Ord won handily. Among the players were Grover Long, Dow Harris, Fred Coe, Russell Hart and John L. White. The football game got underway about 3 p. m. and lasted a couple of hours. Central City couldn't get anywhere through the line or around the ends, and the forward pass was unknown. Ord scored whenever the team got the ball down to the goal line.

The Ord players were all out of practice, so after nearly every

Not Paid to Think.

At a certain factory during the recent war an employee figured out a method by which he thought a saving in the expense of production might be made. He took the idea to his foreman, who looked the plan over, said it might be all right but advised: "Better get back to your work. After all, we are not paid to think."
This may be one of the reasons the American people find themselves faced with the problems we face today. The average American with a family to feed, a job and money to pay expenses, does not feel that he should take the trouble to think. He prefers to let somebody else do his thinking for him.

Today 800,000 miners are letting John L. Lewis do their thinking for them. Perhaps a large percent of them do not like the idea, but they are not doing anything about it. When their lord and master speaks, they do not question his authority. Nearly a million men are kept in line by a plea for unity.

The miners are not the only group of which the same thing may be said. It is inconceivable that a large group of men will all think alike on the question of wage increases, shorter hours or other causes for which strikes are called, but when the strike is called, the response is practically unanimous in every case.

They pay their union dues for the privilege of having others do their thinking for them. They do this in an America where men have always been taught that it is their heritage to speak as they please. They may have plenty to say about it in private, but their utterances will do no good unless they are made in public.

The right to strike is a right granted under the constitution, but this is a nation of majority rule. All too often these days no vote is taken on the question of whether to strike or not. The rights of the individual are taken over by the ruling minority, a condition entirely contrary to the concept of democracy.

In Russia today one man and his group of minority associates do the thinking for 150 million people. In America one man is doing the thinking for 800,000 men. We have drifted a long way since the day of the Great Emancipator who said: "Let us hereby resolve—that this nation, of the people, for the people and by the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Turnability.

The state highway department has coined a new word to fit a new condition in highway travel, "Turnability." It means the ability of a driver to take a turn on the highway at the correct speed to assure safety. Naturally this ability depends on the sharpness of the curve and the amount of slope to the inside.

There was no call for the word in the horse and buggy days, because a team could negotiate any of the short turns then so common without slackening speed. Today maximum speed is ten times what it used to be, and making turns is at least ten times as dangerous as it once was. Hence a study of turnability is highly important.

An auto going at 25 miles per hour can make a fairly sharp turn in safety. Increase this speed to 50 miles and only one fourth the amount of turn can be made with an equal degree of safety. Speed up to 75 miles per hour, and only one fifth the amount of turn made at 25 miles can be made in safety. This is in accordance with a simple law of physics.

But there is another place where turnability is vital, and that is on the farm, and the vehicle is the tractor. Dozens of turns are made every day when working in the field, and all of them are dangerous, especially the U-turns. Because of the small, narrow wheels in front, it is easy to upset a tractor while going forward.

The record shows many accidents of this nature every year, and hundreds of farmers are killed or injured every year through this cause alone. In the case of the tractor, speed is not necessary to produce the accident. Too short a turn will produce the same result, and the ditches so often found at the ends of fields are contributing factors.

But turnability does not apply to fields and highways alone. It can apply to our way of living as well. For some years now, our government has been steering a straight course, which, if continued, must lead in the end to a socialist state.

If that is what the people of free America want, there is no need of turnability. If we want to continue our system of free enterprise, it is time to turn. As on the highway, too sharp a turn at this time might result in disaster, but a gradual turn is certainly in order, and should be started now.

Wayne Construction Hits Record High

According to the Wayne Herald, construction in that city has hit an all-time high, with approximately 20 structures of all kinds in various stages of completion. Residences take top billing with 10 being built. Six permits are for garages, one for a hatchery building and one for a garage and tire shop. The estimated cost of construction for 17 buildings is $57,780.

Percy Davis, St. Paul, Commits Suicide Wednesday.

Percy Davis, 40, St. Paul, committed suicide there Wednesday, by the use of a 22 caliber rifle, according to findings of the authorities. No cause is given for the act.

His body was discovered by Charles Havlik at his slaughterhouse about ten o'clock, with the rifle lying beside it. The sheriff, county attorney and a doctor were called, and declared the wound in his head was self-inflicted.

Something Different

All I can think about, when I see the brilliant blue Nebraska sky, and the yellow gold leaves of autumn, is that poem about "October's bright blue weather."

Remember it? Used to be, it had to be memorized in grade school. Thank goodness.

It is perfect weather for steak fries, outdoor jaunts, tramping, going, field trials for dogs, trap-shooting and stuff like that.

Myra Thorgate Barber agrees with me on two or three scores, for she writes "I like hollyhocks and I never saw our Nebraska prettier. Now that I know contrast I like my home state more than ever. Some of my hollyhocks come from a Kansas friend—she has them all over the nation!"

Isn't it delightful that our senator, Hugh Carson, is finding such constructive employment for himself. Modernizing the bakery will be a real improvement to Ord, one we can all use.

There never seems to be enough fun for our boys and girls, dairy bars, ice cream bars, hamburger stands, places where food and fun may both be had. Clean, well-run coffee-and-doughnut hangouts for our business men are ever popular.

Good quality baked products, genuinely tasty ones, are hard to find too.

I appreciate, too, living where kolaces are easily had. Imagine there are poor, benighted people who've never tasted a delicate, fruity-hearted golden-crust kolace! Ah...h!

We can thank our good Czechoslovakian cooks for introducing kolaces to our palates.

No sooner do I brag on beautiful October and its weather, than the weatherman begins to warn the cattlemen! Curses...sez I.

One of the finest gestures a lad could make toward his mother was that of Galen Allen this fall.

Noticing that Mrs. Allen was working awfully hard since the three small children of the late Mrs. Dorothy Nunn came to join the Allen household, what did Galen do?

Something really practical. He went down to the bank, drew out the money necessary and bought his mother a dryer! An electric dryer, so that Mrs. George Allen would not have so much lifting of heavy wash and so much hanging up to go done.

So now washdays are much eased, and the three small children's clothes can be casually washed and dried most any old time of the week, day or night.

With a thirty gallon tank, set to heat on the "off-peak load" there is quite an advantage to be gained, with an automatic washer, by washing at odd hours. Hours when no one is bathing nor likely to be bathing soon. Say, late at night, or right after lunch.

I always did claim clothes got just as clean at one hour of the day as at another. I never was one to hang mine out late Sunday night so they'd be first out on Monday morning, if you know what I mean!

W. C. Bloom Wins Award for Service

The top award for outstanding service to soil conservation education of youth has been given to W. C. Bloom, superintendent of schools for Dawson county. Last February Bloom was the first winner of the Dr. Herbert D. Kennedy Nebraska Conservation Trophy.

Bloom's fame in the field of conservation began some years ago when he received from the late Delmar L. Bloom and others developed a 22-lesson teaching guide in soil conservation.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

It does a man good to go over his desk once in a while and get rid of the accumulated material, much of which is no longer good for anything but to throw away. Other items may have more permanent value. After a few months the drawers of the average desk get so filled with all sorts of odds and ends that it is necessary to clean house or to buy a new desk. With furniture the price it is today, it is much cheaper to have a housecleaning day. House cleaning reminds me of the bachelor (no harm intended) who swept his floor and found a perfectly good carpet he had forgotten he had. Likewise we may go through our mental attic and find all kinds of material, some good and some useless, that we have stored away for use at some future time. It is a good idea to have a mental housecleaning once in a while, and get rid of a lot of things we thought were worth while when we stored them away, but which time has proved are useless and at times positively harmful.

I like the statement attributed to Sherlock Holmes by his creator, Arthur Conan Doyle, which went something like this: "I do not believe that a man should fill his brain with all kinds of material, much of which he will never use. In time all the space will become filled, and he cannot then add anything without forgetting something he has already learned."

Why not check your mind and resolve to forget the useless items, such as the desire you still hold to "get even" with somebody. Why not forget those disagreeable traits you may have noticed in some of your friends, and remember only their good qualities? Why not forget the desire you may have had to get out and "raise Hell" some evening, or else get out and do it and get it off your mind. Why not clear your mental attic of those thoughts that tend to drag you down into the gutter, and fill up the space with thoughts of a higher order.

Then there are those small but important things you have always planned to do, but never get around to doing. Why not use the time you have been wasting to get those jobs done, and get them off your mind, as well as having the satisfaction of accomplishing something worth while. It is foolish to argue that you are too busy. Nine men out of ten waste an hour or two every day, regardless of how hard they work. Put those moments to work and you will be surprised at how much they can accomplish. No man in his right mind would intentionally throw away his life. But every hour wasted is that much of your life thrown away. It will not come back.

Want plenty of elbow room? Not counting the town of Tonopah, Nye county in Nevada has a population of approximately one person to every ten square miles. That means that if you were there you would be the only person in an area of three and one third miles square. Actually, there are places where you would find nobody in an area ten miles square. Anyway, there is plenty of room for you to be all by yourself. It is true that much of this land is commonly considered as desert, but the climate much of the year is delightful, and free of many of the diseases we find in more thickly settled communities. Also, the land over which you travel has a greater potential value, in minerals, than much of the more desirable farm land of the nation. It may never do you any good, but the value is there. It takes money to get it out.

Are you looking for a good paying job? There are plenty of them, and the chances are you could get any of them for the asking, if you really wanted one. For example, how about being mayor of Ord? Now there is a real job. All you have to do is spend half or more of your lifetime working as a doctor, and auctioneer, a dentist, or some steady job. During that time you must lead a life above reproach, for people do not vote for a man for such a highly paid job unless he is as nearly perfect as possible. Then your name is mentioned at the caucus, and you may be shunted aside a few times in favor of somebody else. At last you make the grade, and the people usually vote for you or your opponent. If you are lucky? you get the job, and the $200 salary it brings you.

To earn this salary it is only necessary to attend twelve long and perhaps a number of special meetings during the year. At all of these you have the chance to listen to the complaints of the citizenry, some of whom have crack-pot ideas they would like to have the mayor and council consider. Then there are trips to be taken to various parts of town to check over suggested improvements, and decide whether they are necessary or not. There are decisions to be made, and regardless of how you decide, somebody is certain to get miffed about it. Yes, the mayor of Ord or any other town has a picnic. And, if it were not for the flies and ants and bugs and poison ivy, and the bull that chases him over the fence, he might even enjoy that picnic.

The city clerk and city treasurer each get the same as the mayor, $200. The councilmen get $5 per meeting, and frequently stay up until the small hours of the morning, fussing and worrying about something that has to be done, only to find that they only succeeded in making a lot of people sore. The city attorney draws the princely sum of $150 per year. Looks like a snap, doesn't it? Believe it or not, it is a difficult job to find an attorney who will take the job at that. If you are looking for a real snap, why not get a job as township clerk, treasurer or justice of the peace. They have less to do than the city officials, but they also get less for doing it, and more blame for doing it, right or wrong. If none of these jobs suit you, see me. I have a long list of jobs just as easy, or worse.

Do you want to make friends and influence people? It is not enough to take care of your own job in your own way, trying to keep out of other people's way, trying to lead your own life as the Lord intended you should. The skunk and the rattlesnake do that, and both are feared and despised by most people. The trouble is, most people do not understand them. If they did, they would realize they mean no harm, and they would leave them alone. No,
