Ord Seeking Funds for Headquarters Building at Airport

Armstrong, Biemond Go to Lincoln, Ask for State-Federal Aid

A $10,000 administration building at the Ord airport, to better serve transient air travelers and to make possible an application for a daily stop here by a scheduled air line bringing air mail, express and passenger service direct to Ord is the present aim of air-minded Ord people.

Monday evening a Chamber of Commerce committee headed by C. Biemond and Ellis Carson presented the matter to the city council. A delegation of a dozen or more Civil Air Patrol members and other interested Ord citizens backed up the committee.

Want Federal Aid.

At present there are state and federal funds available to pay the major construction cost on such a building. Biemond and Carson told the council. A meeting to allocate these funds is being held at Lincoln this Wednesday and the committee asked Mayor Blessing and the council to send a representative to the meeting to make formal application for the funds. Ord would be expected to pay up to 25% of the cost of such a building, Carson said, but this money could come out of airport earnings, as distinguished from tax levies now being made to pay interest and principal on the airport bonds.

Business Flying Increasing.

There is an excellent chance of Ord being made a regular stop on a new airline which is serving such outstate points as Hastings, McCook, Holdrege, Ogallala, Sidney, North Platte and Alliance if proper facilities are installed, the men told the council. Business flying is getting heavier each year and scarcely a day passes that one or more planes do not land at the Ord field, which number would be greatly increased if proper facilities for serving pilots and passengers are installed.

After discussion the council decided to push for the administration building funds and Councilman Duane Armstrong was named to represent Ord at the meeting today and make a formal application. He was accompanied by C. Biemond as a representative of the Chamber of Commerce and Leslie Nash, representing the Civil Air Patrol.

Union Services Slated Friday

Next Friday from 12:00 o'clock to 3:00 there will be a union service at the Assembly of God Church. There will be seven pastors outside of Ord bringing short messages on the "Last Words" on the cross.

The churches of Ord together with the high school will furnish special music.

The services are divided into 20 minutes each so friends may come for all or part of the three hour service. Please do not interrupt a service but wait for the next one. Come for the first service if you can.

There will be offering plates at the door to receive any gifts you may have to help defray the expenses of the meeting.

Students Demonstrate for Moore, Gogan, But Contracts Already Signed

A group of twenty or thirty high school boys Thursday evening staged a demonstration in favor of having Rolland Moore and William Gogan as high school coaches here in 1950-51, instead of bringing in an outside man as head coach. In seven cars, decorated with such signs as "We Want Gogan and Moore," and "No Outsiders Wanted," they toured the square, horns honking, and attracted no small amount of attention.

Only a small portion of the student body was involved and the demonstration came too late to be effective anyway, inasmuch as both Moore and Gogan had already signed contracts to return next year as teachers and athletes.

Gus Wetzel, North Loup resident for 50 years, died last week at his home in North Loup. Story and obituary on page four, section two.

Gillespie, Annyas Re-elected in Tuesday Election

The election in North Loup Tuesday drew a moderately heavy vote, with 121 citizens going to the polls to ballot for their favorites in the race for village trusteeship.

H. L. Gillespie, with 92 votes, won a seat as did Carroll Annyas, with 74 votes. M. O. Van Horn received 46 votes.

Wm. Drawbridge, unopposed for police judge, received 101 votes.

In the school election, C. D. Knapp had 86 votes, M. C. Koelling had 75, Floyd Ingerson 63, and Stanley Brown 30.

To fill a vacancy for one year on the school board, Vernon Williams won 86 votes and Ronald Cross attracted 31.

Bud Novosad to Yank Farm Team

Bud Novosad, one of Ord's baseball playing brothers who had been counted on as members of the Ord Colts this season, has signed a try-out contract with the New York Yankee farm system and will start the season with Pennington Gap, Virginia, in the Class D Inter-Mountain league.

The Ord boy spent six weeks at the Rogers Hornsby baseball school at Hot Springs, Ark., this winter and got his chance at a start in organized baseball as a result.

Although he has never pitched, leaving that work to his brother Bill and playing at most other positions, Bud will be carried on the Pennington Gap roster as a pitcher. He will be given a thirty day try-out and then either be given his release or a full season's contract. If he should be released he will be back in Ord to play with the Colts.

Bill Novosad will pitch for the Ord team as announced earlier.

Cancer Fund Drive Launched in County by VFW Auxiliary

Valley Quota is $454; Chairmen Named For County Committees

The third annual drive for funds for cancer control and education was launched in Valley county this week by the VFW Auxiliary which has sponsored the campaign since its inception.

Cooperating with VFW Auxiliary are members of extension clubs who will seek to raise the county quota of $454 by May 1st. Last year's quota was also $454 and $472 was raised.

Heading this year's drive is Mrs. E. R. Apking, past-president of the Auxiliary. She is taking the place of Mrs. Keith Lewis, regular chairman, who is temporarily living in Omaha.

City and community chairman were announced today. Mrs. Richard Piskorski will be in charge of the Ord city drive which will be conducted by the VFW Auxiliary. In North Loup, Mrs. H. C. Fisher is chairman and in Arcadia, Mrs. Leona Rounds will head the drive. In North Loup, fund solicitation will be made by the Fortnightly club. Mrs. Emanuel Kapuska will be in charge of Elyria solicitation and Katherine Helzer of Ord will head rural groups.

Extension clubs will handle rural solicitation and also figure in the city drive, depending on location of the club. Clubs participating and club presidents are club presidents are Neighborhood Sisters, Mrs. Joe Bonno, Ord; Jolly Neighbors, Mrs. Glen Cochran, Ord; Plain Valley, Mrs. Bill Novosad, Jr., Ord; Jolly Homemakers, Mrs. Earl Hurst, Burwell; Everbushy, Mrs. Stanley Absalon, Ord; Springdale Kensington, Mrs. Earl Hanson, Ord; M.A.C., Mrs. Walter Noll, Ord; Mutual Benefit, Mrs. George Bell, Ord; Young Homemakers, Mrs. Dale Karre, Ord; Home Arts, Mrs. Clara Weckbach, Ord; Country Club, Mrs. Paul Waldman, Burwell; Ar-Gu-Not Extensioners, Mrs. Harold Garnick, Elyria.

Prosperity Seekers, Mrs. Thurman Bridges, Arcadia; Clever Corner, Mrs. Paul Woody, Arcadia; Homemakers, Mrs. Clinton Masters, Arcadia; Progressive Club, Mrs. Eldon Sintek, North Loup; Needle & Thimble, Mrs. Ralph Spirling, North Loup; Hi-Way-View, Mrs. Gilbert Babcock, North Loup and Riverdale Busy Bees, Mrs. Henry Van Slyke, North Loup.

City View Addition Given Approval by Ord City Council

Lights, Water, Sewer to Be Extended; Some Lots Already Sold

Monday evening the Ord city council gave approval to plans and a survey presented by Dr. Glen D. Auble for his new addition to the city, which has been named City View Addition. The tract is located southeast of the present city limits and to the west of Highway No. 11.

For several weeks Auble has had heavy dirt-moving equipment at work there, leveling the tract, laying out streets and alleys and otherwise getting the addition in shape to win council approval.

Eight lots in the new addition have been spoken for, the owner says. Construction has already started on one lot and Contractor E. R. Horner expects to start work on three houses which he will build simultaneously on the tract, for re-sale.

Electricity and water services will be extended to the new addition at once and construction of a sewer system will be started immediately.

Tuesday morning Dr. Auble told the Quiz that his deal with the Abrahamson firm of Grand Island, has been abandoned but that he has been approached by a Kearney contractor who wishes to build houses on the tract for resale. He prefers to sell available lots to local contractors and will wait three weeks before going farther with the Kearney man's offer, he said.

On April 1, John L. Ward retired as news editor of the Quiz but will continue as a contributor of editorial and feature material, working mostly at his home in North Loup.

Five Dollar Check Costs Man $32.80

A five-dollar check drawn on the First National Bank of Loup City, cost Ted Palu the sum of $32.80 in fine and costs in county court here Saturday.

On complaint of Ralph W. Norman, county attorney, Palu was brought into court and pleaded guilty to a charge of an insufficient fund check, made out to a local businessman.

In the only other case on the criminal docket last week, Merl Edwards, driving a truck for Romans Transfer Co., was assessed a fine charge of overloading a truck. He was apprehended by the State Highway Patrol on March 23, and was brought before Judge Chas. Ciochon Saturday.

3rd Warders Elect Pecenka to Council Over McGinnis

Gnaster, Hastings, New Councilmen; Vote Light in All Wards

Otto Pecenka scored a surprise victory over Dr. J. W. McGinnis in the Ord city election Tuesday, defeating the veteran councilman by 35 to 25, in the third ward.

Other new city councilmen are Ed Gnaster, who polled 45 first ward votes, and George Hastings, who polled 47 in the second ward. Neither was opposed.

Mayor F. L. Blessing, running unopposed, polled 148 votes in all wards to win, re-elected. Mrs. Agnes Dodge was elected city clerk, John Sullivan police judge, James Ollis city treasurer, Ervin Merrill to the park board, Orin Kellison and Ralph Norman to the school board. None had opposition.

It was the lightest vote and quietest election held here in many years. Even a contest for councilman in the third ward failed to turn out a large vote there.

Red Cross Goal is Reached in County

Valley county apparently has achieved its 1950 Red Cross funds goal.

Miss Katherine Helzer, this year's fund chairman, reported early Monday that $894.55 of the $917 quota has been turned in. No report has come as yet from North Loup and Elyria and one or two rural areas had not yet submitted a final figure Monday. However, Miss Helzer was confident that the drive would be "over the top" when the last contribution had been checked.

Local Red Cross officials said they were pleased with the county's showing in this year's campaign. Many of Nebraska communities were having trouble in reaching the quota this year.

The chairman said that there probably would be a slight surplus when the final account of funds is submitted. All contributions above the quota are shared between the national and local Red Cross administrations.

Two Ord Marksmen Bring Home Awards

Two Ord marksmen brought home trophies from the trapshooting meet sponsored by the Isaac Walton League at Grand Island Sunday.

Rex Jewett scored a 96x100 to capture the Class A prize, while John Wozab copped the Class B diadem with 86x100.

About 40 men gunned for the trophies in the four classes and competition was keen. Jewett has won the Class A award twice and will be aiming at a third win this summer. Three wins entitle permanent possession of the large gold trophy.

Wozab's win was scored in his first serious competitive shooting.

Veterans to Open Club Facilities to Teen-Agers One Night Each Week

Teen-agers of Ord community, who have been complaining of "no place to go" got their answer this week when the directors of the Ord Veterans Club voted to make club facilities available to the younger set one night each week.

Club directors met with Ord city leaders Monday night to discuss the recreational program of the community and upon urging by these leaders decided to set Friday night of each week as Youth Night, when students of the upper three grades in high school, and others under 21 years of age will be admitted to the club. Full facilities of the club, including dancing and the dining room, will be open these evenings.

Charlene Severns Wins Appointment to Girls' State

Legion Auxiliary Chooses Delores Blaha as Alternate.

Charlene Severns, 17-year old Ord high school junior, has been chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary, Fidelity Post No. 38, to make the trip to the ninth annual Cornhusker Girls' State on the University of Nebraska campus, June 6-12th.

Delores Blaha, also a junior, was named as alternate by the Legion Auxiliary committee.

Miss Severns will be one of 254 girls attending Girls' State, which was inaugurated in 1939 in an effort on the part of the American Legion Auxiliary to bring to the girls of Nebraska a knowledge of the fundamental principles of American government, through actual practice and control of the state offices during the six-day period.

Active at Ord High. Miss Severns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Severns of Ord, serves as accompanist for the glee club and is a member of the band. She is an active GAA member, also.

The alternate appointee, Delores Blaha, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blaha. She is active in the school's music and dramatic circles.

The girls who take part in the 1950 Cornhusker Girls' State will observe the problems of state and city government. They will elect their own officials, organize their own unicameral legislature, conduct court sessions, and set up their city and county governments. They will visit the State Capitol where each girl receives instruction in the office corresponding to the one she holds in Girls' State.

The daily schedule includes participation in various activities of government, recreation periods, and other varied instruction and entertainment.

The Business and Professional Women's club of Ord is co-sponsor of the trip to Girls' State.

Census Shows Rise in Business Here

Retail, wholesale, and service establishments located in Valley county showed a substantial expansion in dollar volume of trade from 1939 to 1948 according to preliminary figures from the 1948 Census of Business released today by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Retail sales in the county during 1948 aggregated $5.7 million, an increase of 256 per cent over the 1939 figure. Wholesale sales in the county reached a total of $5.8 million in 1948, as compared with $4.4 million in 1939.

Employment in the county also rose over the nine-year period, with 306 paid employees in the retail, wholesale, and service trades in 1948. The 1939 report showed 234 employees.

Costume Queens of '90s Party

Community Chorus to Present 'The Holy City' Sunday

Sixty-Five Will Participate in Famous Oratorio.

The Valley County Community Chorus will present A. R. Gaul's famous oratorio, "The Holy City," on Easter Sunday, April 9, at 8:00 p.m., in the high school auditorium.

The entertainment committee of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, of which Don Stewart is chairman, is the sponsor of the chorus. About 65 singers will participate in the production, directed by William Nelson. Mrs. Don Edwards is the accompanist.

Soloists have been chosen entirely from among the musicians of Valley county, and include Mrs. Mark Tolen, soprano; Mrs. Robert Williams and Miss Irene Auble, mezzo-sopranos; Miss Irma King, contralto; Harold Koelling and George Bell, tenors; Orel Koelling John Galka and William Nelson, baritones. In addition there is a solo quartet composed of Miss Irene Auble, Mrs. Edwin Lenz, and Harold and Orel Koelling.

No Admission Charge. "The Holy City" is not, strictly speaking, an Easter oratorio. Based on the Vision of St. John as set forth in the Book of Revelation, the libretto is entirely scriptural with the exception of two hymns, a verse from Milton, the three verses from the Te Deum Laudamus.

The first part of the work interprets the desire for a higher life, as expressed in the words, "My soul is athirst for God," while the second part is based on Revelation 21, 1, "And I saw a new heaven and a new earth; for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away . . ."; and concerns the realization of the desires and promises contained in the first part.

The performance is open to the public.

Central College Cinder Classic Slated Friday

Invitations have been sent out to approximately sixty high schools, for the annual Nebraska Central College Invitational Track and Field Meet, to be held on the college field, Friday, April 21.

The meet is held this year with the co-operation of the Central City Chamber of Commerce, and is composed of class "B" and "C" schools, with many of the smaller schools being invited to participate. Preliminaries for the track and field events will be called at 10:00 a. m., with the main events starting at 1 p. m.

The class "B" championship was won last year by the Central City high school, with North Loup taking the class "C" honors. Central City also won the 800 yard relay in class "B," while Wood River took this event for class "C" schools.

Seventy Attend Gay '90s Party

Grandma would have felt at home at the Presbyterian church last Wednesday afternoon, March 29. The Gay Nineties party, sponsored by the Esther circle of the church at that time, would have sent memories running through the dear old girl's mind.

About 70 people were present for the program which began with a style show and selection of the best costume. Mrs. Raymond Poccock won the contest and was awarded a daisy corsage.

Betty Alderman gave a reading entitled "Giggling Arabella." A barbershop quartet consisting of Paul Stoddard, Richard Heuck, Galt Allen, and Bob Moore sang several numbers through bushy mustaches, and Kenneth Clement gave a monologue from "Our Town."

A ladies sextet, Mrs. F. L. Blessing, Miss Willa Chase, Mrs. Wm. Nelson, Mrs. Alfred Hill, Mrs. Ed. Armstrong, and Mrs. Bruce Covey concluded the program by singing "Daisy Belle" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Decorations were in the Nineties mode—red checked table cloths, pictures in heavy gilt frames, an ornate table with a lamp and family album, and dishes from the turn of the century created an atmosphere in keeping with the high laced boots and bustles which the ladies wore.

Ticket Sales Begin for Cosmo Benefit Dance Here April 17

Pest Control Meet to Be Held in Ord Next Tuesday

Representatives of Nine Counties Will Attend Conference.

Nine counties will be represented at the regional pest control meeting to be held in Ord next Tuesday, April 11. The meeting, which is sponsored by the Extension Service and the State Department of Agriculture (Noxious Weed Division) will be attended by representatives of Blaine, Cass, Loup, Garfield, Wheeler, Sherman, Howard, Greeley, and Valley counties.

The program will begin at the Knights of Columbus hall at 10:30 a. m. with a meeting of the weed district supervisors and employees from all of the counties. The afternoon program, starting at 1:30, will be open to everyone and will feature discussions by three members of the Extension Service staff, Jack Lomax entomologist; John Weibing, plant pathologist; and Neal Shafer, agronomist. They will discuss insect control, weed control, and plant disease control, with emphasis on new control methods and chemicals.

As a part of the program there will be both commercial and educational exhibits, with displays of insect, weed, and plant disease specimens, and chemical and equipment displays.

The local sponsors are the Ord Chamber of Commerce, the Valley County Noxious Weed Control District, and the Valley County Extension Service.

Elizabeth Norris Is Dead; Nebraska Resident 40 Years
 Resided in Brick Community Before Moving to Ord

Elizabeth Belle Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cline, was born May 30, 1865, in Africa, Ohio, and passed from this life quietly in her sleep, Saturday morning, April 1, 1950, at the age of 84 years 10 months and 29 days.

She was married to C. E. Norris at Westerville, Ohio, Nov. 29, 1885. Three children were born to this union: Burton W. Norris of Denver, Colo.; Henry N. Norris of Ord; and Mrs. Margaret Lathrop of Blair, Nebr. She also leaves five grandchildren and one great grandchild. She had three sisters and four brothers, all of whom preceded her in death.

She also leaves one sister-in-law, Mrs. Boyd Woodall, and several nieces and nephews in Ord. She was confirmed in the Episcopal church when a young woman, and joined the Presbyterian church of Ord about 25 years ago. She was a member of the ladies of the G. A. R. circle of Ord.

Mrs. Norris was a daughter of pioneers. Her father was one of the 40ers, going to California to seek his fortune. He made two stakes while there but lost them both to marauding Indians. He went back to Ohio by way of Cape Horn. Mrs. Norris' grandfather on her mother's side of the family was a Virginia hatmaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris and their family came west to Nebraska in 1910, locating on a farm 1 1/2 miles northwest of the Brick school, where they farmed until 1918, when they moved to Ord. Mr. Norris passed away in April, 1944. Since then Mrs. Norris maintained her own home, and did her own cooking and sewing.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the Ord Presbyterian church, Rev. G. E. Fogelman officiating. The Mira Valley male quartet sang "Rock of Ages," "Beneath the Cross," and "Sweetly Resting." The pall bearers were grand-nephews, Lloyd Guggenmos, Harold, Dale, Warren and Robert Philbrick and Bernard Guggenmos. Burial was in the Ord cemetery beside her husband.

Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maly and LeRoy Zikmund.
 Sunday dinner and afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Penas and daughter were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maly.

Trucks Collide.
 Considerable damage was done to the truck belonging to the Omaha, Welling company, of Omaha, when it collided with the gasoline farm truck belonging to the Loup Valley Oil company of Scotia Monday on the Lyman Bluffs corner north of Scotia. This is a very bad spot and it is hard to see any one coming from the north.

Don Hughes was driving the Loup Valley truck and was coming from the east, he had stopped before coming onto the highway and was nearly straight in the road when the Omaha truck, driven by Bill Liehr of Omaha hit him throwing his truck into the ditch. Sheriff Smith and a patrolman were called. The patrolman has not yet made any statement as to which driver could be blamed. Neither man received any injuries.

The Rev. L. V. Hassell officiated at the graveside services.

Patrolman Wounds Man by Accident
Patrolman E. V. Johnson thought he would get in a little target practice near Sweetwater recently. At a point where the creek runs near the highway, a bunch of old car bodies have been dumped, and Johnson took a shot at one of these.
He was certainly surprised to hear a commotion and see a man crawl out of the wreck. Sam J. Beavers, 49, a transient, on his way to the Veterans hospital in Lincoln, was taking a nap on the cushions, and the bullet lodged in his back. He is recovering.

French Soprano in Final Concert Here on Monday

Program Open to Members of Loup Muny Concert Group.

Members of the Loup Valley Municipal Concert association will hear Jeanne Beauvais, American-born French lyric soprano, in the final concert of the current season. Miss Beauvais, trained for opera and concert, is a singer of wide and varied experience, including radio and television. She has performed in Canada, the United States, and Europe. On Broadway, she has had roles in "The Gypsy Baron," "New Moon," "Mr. Strauss Goes to Boston," and "Tosilinda." On Monday's concert she will sing a selection from "Tosilinda."

The average concert goer is the person Miss Beauvais has in mind when she designs her programs. Supported by Alfred Fatten at the piano, she features a group of French folk songs, and includes operatic arias, operetta selections, and a group of melodies familiar to American audiences.

Opposed to the "weighty atmosphere" of the concert hall, she plans to create an informal feeling between herself and the audience by stopping during a performance to tell her listeners about the music they are hearing. Miss Beauvais speaks English with only a slight trace of a French accent. Born in this country, she went to France with her parents while an infant. When war broke out, she returned with her parents, American citizens, to the United States.

The concert will begin at 8:15 p. m. at the Methodist church, and is open only to members of the Loup Valley Municipal Concert association.

Pioneer Woman Laid to Rest in Ord Wednesday

Mrs. Prien Came to Mira Valley in 1890; Many Descendants.

Catherine Margaret Mohr, daughter of Hans and Glashoff Mohr was born in Marne-Holstein, Germany, February 18, 1862, and passed away Thursday, March 23, 1950, at Saco, Mont., having reached the age of 87 years, just 23 days before her passing. She had been in poor health for the past eighteen months.

Although born in Germany, she spent most of her life in this country, having come to Davenport, Ia., at the age of 23. On September 12, 1886, she was united in marriage to Charles Prien, sr. To this union were born four sons and three daughters. Three sons, William E., Charles B., and Harry preceded her in death. The other son, John D., is living at Ord. The daughters who remain are: Mrs. Elma Christensen of Saco, Mont., Mrs. Earl Leonard, Twin Falls, Ida, and Mrs. Archie Bell of Ogden, U.

Mrs. Prien came to Nebraska with her husband and family in 1890 and remained here until 1939. Her husband passed away September 10, 1927. She went to Saco, Mont., in 1939 to stay with her daughter, where she lived to the time of her passing.

Besides her four children, there remain to mourn her passing three brothers and one sister, sixteen grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren, many relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Warren Studer officiated. Don Auble sang two songs accompanied by Mrs. Viola Kellison.

Active pallbearers were John and Hartwig Koll, Orin Kellison, Bob Noll, Edgar Roe and George Bremer. Honorary pallbearers were John Dobberstine, William King, Henry R. Huy, Raymond Burrows, William Lukesh, John Bell and Charles Boettger.

Burial was in the family plot in the Ord City cemetery.

O'Hair Worried by Conservation Lack

The fact that only 15 per cent of the land in Nebraska is covered by conservation plans prepared by the Soil Conservation Service, although the state is 100 per cent organized into Soil Conservation districts, was brought to the attention of the directors of the Nebraska Conservation Foundation meeting in Omaha Tuesday, Mar. 28.

Fred O'Hair, executive director, pointed out that since January, 1946, the number of farm plans completed by all districts in Nebraska had tripled.

"Nevertheless," he reported, "these completed agreements and applications total only 56 per cent of the number of farms and ranches and only 37 per cent of the land. Considering the fact that the practices applied on the farms under plans are equivalent to complete treatment on slightly over three million acres, only one-sixteenth of the land area in the state, it is apparent that the conservation movement is not as effective as it could be or as it is generally believed."

The Foundation directors were

Margaret Maher Called on Quiz

To Margaret Maher of Blair, Neb., went the honor of being one of the very few Nebraskans ever to be called on a Quiz program. Miss Maher was called recently on Ralph Edwards "Truth or Consequences" program.

She was unable to identify Mr. Hearbeat, but said she thought it was Arthur Godfrey. She received a set of silverware for taking part, and says she once thought it was all a hoax. Now she knows better.

Ord Baseball Teams Play in 2 Leagues; Opening Date Near

Colts Open May 7th at Shelton, "B" Squad a Week Earlier.

Snow patches remain on the ground, wintry winds continue to blow, but baseball fever is mounting in Ord with knowledge that the 1950 season opens in only three weeks for one of Ord's teams and in only four weeks for the other.

Saturday evening the local "B" team was admitted to membership in the Central Nebraska league at an organization meeting held in Greeley, and will start a 20-game schedule on April 30 playing Sunday afternoons. Other teams in this league include Spalding, Wolbach, Belgrade, Ericson and Greeley.

Beran to Manage. Vern Beran and Venard Collins represented Ord at the Greeley meeting and Beran probably will manage the team.

Ord's "A" team, known last season as the Colts, will open May 7 against Shelton, on the latter's field, and will make their first home appearance on May 14. Sunday afternoon games will be played until the last week in May when twice-weekly night games will start, after which the team will play Wednesday and Sunday nights.

Dick Beran, Harold Christensen and Bill Novosad represented Ord at a meeting of the Mid-State Night Baseball league on Monday evening at Loup City at which the season's schedule was adopted, and other details ironed out. The Colts will play eight Sunday and six Wednesday games on the home field, they report.

First Work-Out Monday. Weather permitting, outdoor baseball workouts will start on the Ord field next Monday evening, states Walter Douthit, manager of the Colts, and practice sessions will be held every evening all week. All men who are candidates for either Ord team are asked to turn out for these practices—the more the better.

After the first week practice sessions probably will be held twice weekly with an "A" group working out Tuesdays and Thursdays and a "B" group Wednesdays and Fridays. A practice game between the two teams will be played prior to opening of the season, probably on April 23.

Policy of the Ord Baseball club this season will be to have only one salaried player, a pitcher. Out-of-town players who try out for and make good on the team will be allowed actual traveling expense to games. A percentage of gate receipts throughout the season will be put in a pool to be divided among all regular players at close of the season, to which pool will be added play-off winnings, if Ord should get into play-offs.

Home Players Favored. The Mid-State Night league is a much faster league than Ord participated in last year and it has no restrictions on salaried players but the Ord management plans to follow the policy outlined above, regardless of what other teams in the league may do.

The Ord club has no funds in its treasury at present, having used all its money last fall to help pay for improvements to the playing field. New uniforms for the "A" team will be needed and the uniforms used next season will be worn by the "B" team. Some money also is needed to pay entry fees and umpire and protest deposits to the leagues, to buy equipment, etc., and Ord business interests will be asked to help with funds to start the season, after which it is thought gate receipts will take care of expenses. Good baseball teams representing Ord will give fine publicity to the town, will bring people to Ord from a large territory, and the club management believes business men will be justified in contributing generously to the baseball fund.

Four high school misses, Charlene Blessing, Mary Thompson, Sharon Olsson and Virginia Struckman, playing French horns, were featured in the Four Horns men, and well liked.

Trombones Triumphant by Don Keller, was also well received by the audience. Vistas by James R. Gillette was sweet and fanciful, with Charlene Blessing playing an incidental solo on her French horn.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was a humorous affair providing a suitable musical background for the remarks of narrator Kenneth Clement.

Will also have several loads of Hereford stock cows, some with calves at side, several other loads of light weight steers and heifers, several Hereford breeding bulls, one Black Angus bull, some milk cows, some fat cattle, baby calves, and many other cattle.

Will have an extra large run of fat hogs again this week; also some good feeder shoats, several consignments of feeder pigs, some brood sows and several sows with pigs at side.

Several head of work horses and some machinery.

Special Horse Sale Wednesday, April 19 If you have horses to consign for this Special Auction, please let us know as soon as possible. This will be a large sale and will be widely advertised.

EXTRA SPECIAL

Forty Head of Outstanding Hereford Stock Cows Coming from the Harrington Ranch North of Burwell.

These cows are all good ages, extra well marked, large in size and most of them have calves at side. The rest are heavy springers. This is one of the best consignments of stock cows offered for sale at any auction so far this spring. Will be sold in lots to suit the purchaser. Also selling the herd bull, which is 5 years old, registered and a very good individual. Plan to see these good cattle Friday at Burwell.

Ord Baseball Teams Play in 2 Leagues; Opening Date Near

Colts Open May 7th at Shelton, "B" Squad a Week Earlier.

Snow patches remain on the ground, wintry winds continue to blow, but baseball fever is mounting in Ord with knowledge that the 1950 season opens in only three weeks for one of Ord's teams and in only four weeks for the other.

High School Band Concert Attracts Full House Tues.

A packed house greeted the Ord high school concert band Tuesday evening when the spring concert was presented, William Nelson directing.

The first number of the program was Symphonic March by Silvio Mancini, and the second was Niobe by N. De Robertis which were followed by the popular I'll See You Again of Coward and Teague.

In the second group of selections were The Birth of the Blues, as arranged by Henderson-Teague; Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy of Stone-Stapp-Leonard. Then the lovely On the Trail from Grofe's Grand Canyon Suite, and Bandwagon by Donald I. Moore were played.

Four high school misses, Charlene Blessing, Mary Thompson, Sharon Olsson and Virginia Struckman, playing French horns, were featured in the Four Horns men, and well liked.

Trombones Triumphant by Don Keller, was also well received by the audience. Vistas by James R. Gillette was sweet and fanciful, with Charlene Blessing playing an incidental solo on her French horn.

Uncle Tom's Cabin was a humorous affair providing a suitable musical background for the remarks of narrator Kenneth Clement.

Will also have several loads of Hereford stock cows, some with calves at side, several other loads of light weight steers and heifers, several Hereford breeding bulls, one Black Angus bull, some milk cows, some fat cattle, baby calves, and many other cattle.

Will have an extra large run of fat hogs again this week; also some good feeder shoats, several consignments of feeder pigs, some brood sows and several sows with pigs at side.

Several head of work horses and some machinery.

Special Horse Sale Wednesday, April 19 If you have horses to consign for this Special Auction, please let us know as soon as possible. This will be a large sale and will be widely advertised.

Military Rites Held for John J. Snawerdt Who Died Sunday

Came To Ord in 1916; Was Carpenter Here, Retiring 5 Years Ago

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Hastings-Pearson chapel for John J. Snawerdt, long time Ord resident, who died Sunday afternoon. Rev. L. V. Hassell was in charge of services.

A solo was given by Lillian Auble, accompanied by Mrs. Viola Kellison at the organ. Pallbearers were Clayton Gilroy, Ed Kokes, Len Covert, Frank Piskorski, Ned Powers and Walter Douthit.

Military committal services were held at the Ord city cemetery, in charge of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

John Joseph Snawerdt, son of Peter and Mary Snawerdt was born at Ewing, Neb., September 17, 1892, and died in Ord, April 2, 1950.

He came to Ord in 1916 and was a carpenter and contractor by trade. April 1918, he enlisted in the United States army and served in Co. I, 265 Infantry in the First World War. He served overseas for 9 months. He was mustered out at Fort Dodge, Ia., in April 1919.

Upon returning from the war, he again worked at his trade until five years ago, when because of ill health he was compelled to give up his work.

On December 8, 1945, he was united in marriage to Edith Tatlow of Ord, Neb.

He is survived by his wife; two sisters; Mrs. Sophia Crocker of Spalding, Neb., and Mrs. Katie Maslonka of Emerson, Neb.; two brothers, Charles Snawerdt, O'Neill, Neb., and Peter Snawerdt of Opal-Loock, Ia.; a niece, Mrs. William Brandt of Emerson, Neb.; and a step-son, Kenneth Tatlow.

St. Paul Scouts Will Erect Statue There

St. Paul Boy Scouts started a drive last week to raise $300 for the erection of a replica of the Statue of Liberty in St. Paul. The statue, of bronze and 8 ft. 6 in. tall, will be placed in front of the grade school.

It will be placed on a star shaped pedestal and bears a striking resemblance to the original statue in New York harbor. The statue program is being carried out by Scoutmasters Charlie Wenke and Art Lynch and Troop Chairman Ernie Johnson.

Sister of Mrs. Parkos Returns from Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Parkos of Arcadia drove to Grand Island Thursday to meet Mrs. Parkos' oldest sister, Miss Florence Bartusek, who arrived on the Los Angeles Limited from New York.

Miss Bartusek is enroute to California after spending two months in Europe. She was one of Cardinal Spellman's 500 pilgrims who sailed on the S. S. Atlantic, Points of interest that she visited were the world famous Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima in Lisbon, Malta, and Naples. She spent one week in Rome, the goal of the Holy Year Pilgrimage.

Cardinal Spellman celebrated a special mass for his party in the church of S. S. John and Paul, of which he is titular head. His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, said mass for this group in the Vatican Chapel and gave each individual of this group his Apostolic blessing.

From Rome they proceeded to Florence, Venice, and to Milan. A week was enjoyed at the beautiful lakeside town, Lucerne, Switzerland, where some of the group spent time in the Alps at a world famous ski resort.

Paris was one of the highlights of the trip. After one week there Mrs. Bartusek then flew to London for a few more days of sight seeing. She was a week end guest of a friend of hers from South Pasadena, Mrs. Major Marfield whose husband is now stationed in London. After her London stay she embarked on the R. M. Queen Elizabeth in South Har ton.

After spending a day in county with the Parkos family spent a few days with her parents and Mrs. Joe Bartusek it well and a day with Dr. Sta in North Platte before ret to the west coast.

the executive level and too often tends to spend heavy money for concrete paving near centers of population, leaving outstate people to drive in the mud.

Senator Carson got things done in his first term and it is reasonable to believe that he will be increasingly valuable to his district in his second term.

By all means send Senator Carson back to Lincoln this year. The state as well as the district needs men of his stature.

The Dignity of Labor

Any class of work, regardless of what it is, is dignified. All classes of work are important and necessary to the scheme of human existence. For this reason there is just as much dignity in the work of the garbage collector or the cesspool cleaner, as there is to that of the banker, the doctor, the grocer, the lawyer, the milkman or the iceman.

All too often we get the idea that the man who does the more disagreeable tasks is beneath us. In the scale of human existence there is no unnecessary man, or unnecessary job, with the exception of some jobs made by politicians which are in effect no jobs at all. In fact, the scavenger may be more important than the rich man, for he cleans up the trash that the rich man strews about and helps maintain the health of the community.

Often the man who does the job is responsible for the poor reputation in which his job is held. He fails to take a pride and interest in his work, fails to improve his way of doing it, and considers only from the bread-and-butter point of view. Such a viewpoint is not the way nature intended. If a man has no pride in the quality of the work he does, he cannot expect anybody else to consider it with dignity.

What ever your job, consider it as dignified. Consider that you are a necessary and essential part in the life and well-being of your community, for you are. Dignify your job by doing it to the best of your ability, and study means to improve your technique. If you do this you will get a lot of pleasure out of what you are doing. The man who dislikes his job will never make a success of it.

An important part of any job is to deliver an honest hour's work for every hour's wages you receive. When you line up for that pay check next time, if you have honestly tried to earn the money, you will feel a satisfaction that you can never feel if the work is done in a slipshod manner, just any way to get by and hold the job.

The world is full of two classes of people: Those who do all that is required of them and more, and those who do as little as possible and still hold the job. The first class rises from a good job to a better one and in time they become the leaders of our nation. The other class drops lower and in time they reach the point where they cannot hold a job of any kind.

The difference is not so much in the individual as in his attitude toward life. Nobody can hope to be a success in the greater things of life unless he has made a success of the things he tried first.

Many people make the great mistake of thinking that they should have a higher job in life than that which they are holding. It is all right to look forward to a better job in the future, but it is important to make a success of the job you are holding now. When you have succeeded in this, then you can feel that you will make a success in a larger or higher field.

The Pursuit of Happiness

A number of things are granted the people of the United States under the constitution. Among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The last is well put. We are permitted to pursue happiness, but whether we ever attain it is up to us as individuals. In the early days a man might attain happiness if he was willing to work hard enough for it.

Today, with higher wages and living conditions than the pioneers had, we find happiness just as elusive as ever. We find ourselves grasping at the shadow and losing the substance. We are beginning to realize that true happiness does not consist in receiving, but in giving, and in giving from the heart, and not from the pocketbook.

Happiness always has been, and always will be, a matter of sacrifice. We enjoy the sunshine all the more because of the storm that preceded it. In America today 150 million people are engaged in the pursuit of happiness, without which life would not be worth the living. We are finding that true happiness does not consist in attaining the limit of the things that make for happiness, but in making a slow, but steady, advance toward that goal.

The right to liberty was given us under the constitution without riders or stipulations. Liberty was to be ours by right of being born in America. However, this is no longer true. When people are bound by laws which restrict their activities, they are no longer enjoying liberty as our forefathers intended they should. What they should have said was not "Liberty," but "The Pursuit of Liberty."

Liberty and independence are synonymous. How many people are independent today? The farmer is tied down by regulations from the federal government, and can do as he pleases, so long as he pleases governmental regulations. The same is true of the businessman, the professional man, the teacher, the manufacturer, the miner, the laborer. The rights of all classes are controlled today far more than our forefathers intended.

It is time for America to awake to the realization of the fact that our liberties are slipping away from us, and that, if we desire to do anything about it, the time to act is before it is too late.

Loup City Hospital Addition Is Assured

With over $75,000 assured, the campaign for funds for a new addition to the Sacred Heart hospital, in Loup City, ended this week. Excavation work for the new wing will start in September, and the new portion will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1951.

Sister Mary Evarist was treasurer of the campaign, and A. H. Outhouse general chairman. John Engelskirger, representative of Maxson Associates, was campaign coordinator.

Something Different

Last week Mrs. Lois Strong's arithmetic classes had a new kind of fun; one day their assignment was to make up some problems in fractions! (Said Mrs. Strong "That's the only way I can tell whether they really understand the work we've been doing.")

We talked about the problems and joked about them a good deal. We talked about if one little Chinese girl can eat six and one-half bowls of rice with her chopsticks, how many bowls of rice can eight little American boys eat with their forks?

Or, when Bing Crosby gets an echo from singing in the valley between four mountains, how much echo will he get when he sings in a valley between two mountains?

Or, if one cat can jump upon the table and eat up one plate of butter, (like our young Mrs. Calico) how many plates of butter can the cat eat if her five little kittens jump up on the table too?

Answer: One plate... that's all the butter on the table! Ho, Ha!

Tonight we had another one: If Mama made two cream pies (like on the back cover of Better Homes and Gardens) and used six eggs and six cups of milk, then how much milk did a boy get when he ate a piece of pie that was cut to be one-sixth? How many eggs?

Ted answered so fast that his dad promptly "supposed" the pie was cut in five pieces, then how much milk did the boy get in his piece of pie?

Arithmetic, in fact an lessons, are so much more fun than they were in the Long Long Ago when I went to school. The pages are bright with colored illustrations and the problems are lively and believable. And there's some variety and each page is different, some new, some review, the phrasing different entirely.

I don't think a television attachment on a telephone is going to be so popular. There are so many times that the clamorous telephone bell catches you this-a-way or that-a-way. Just after you've taken a seat in the bathtub, and are all wet we'll say. Or while you're striving madly to remember where that stocking is that matches this one and does NOT have a run like this other one, etc., etc.

Or how about those mornings you put on a quarter-inch layer of cold cream for purposes of beautification?

Don't we get NO privacy? And when you phone wouldn't it be appalling to be greeted by a half-wiskered and half-lathered gentleman, at the other end of the line?

Little children could have nightmares over less!

I did something so horrible to my family on April first that I feel like doing public penance. Honestly, I oughta be licked!

Remembering how my mother used to frost cubes of raw potato for fooling purposes, I thought I would do that for my small public. Especially a good idea, since I had some frosting left, right handy. Too darned handy.

Then I happened to spy a cake of Palmolive I had sent on a Scout trip the night before. It returned home, not too used. It looked sad, but, thought I, I could easily cut some little cubes out of it. So I did, and I frosted them, and they looked messy and not interesting at all.

Ted had the backyard full of children as usual. I called him and told him, "Now you know this is April Fool day. Now here's some candy. If you want to take it outside, O. K. If you like jokes played on you, O. K., and if you don't, you'd better let it be. Don't take it out if you don't want to."

"What's in it?" he asked me, several times, but I said I wasn't telling, that was my secret. He took it to the door, the children fell on it, each one tried it, and he took a bite, and it made one of them sick (Teddy). He brought me the dish, and I set it off to one side, for some silly reason.

Then I left the house on an errand, and when I got home Gene was there, and he didn't look happy.

He started in "What in the biz-kef-ty-blank blank is that stuff on that plate? I thought it was homemade candy, though I did think it looked queer. I ate a bite, at least I chomped down on it two or three times, and I can't get the taste out of my mouth!" Gene simply never eats candy. It will probably be a long, cold day when he tries another piece around here, unless I offer personal guarantees of No Soap!

I know it is all funny, but I am not happy over it. I'm looking for a little bitty dog house to crawl in, or a little hole that would just fit me.

—Irma.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Now that Congress is getting down to brass tacks on the proposition of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, the general public is showing more interest in those territories than formerly. With this in mind, it might be well to mention one of the chief conditions that has prevented statehood in the past, but which does not seem to get a play in the papers. That is the fact that there is so much foreign influence. In order to make a setting for the story it is necessary to go back fifty years to 1900, at which time the Islands were taken over by the United States, by request.

While the Islands were still self-governed they were the Mecca of men who had money to invest, and many came from England, from Scotland, from Holland and from other places and companies were formed to carry on businesses. Eventually these were combined until in recent years there were five large companies, known as the "Big Five." At the time of the recent war these companies owned or controlled 97% of all the tillable land in the Islands.

When the Islands were still under the Hawaiian rule none of the exploiters who came in cared to become citizens of Hawaii, and after the United States took over, the same rule was adhered to. This would not be so bad if it were not for the fact that the five big companies are controlled by heads who still maintain their citizenship in England, Scotland, Holland and possibly other foreign countries, and they persistently refuse to become citizens of the United States.

These five companies during the war either owned or controlled 97% of all the tillable land in the Islands, and they insisted on raising either pineapples or sugar cane on this land. During the war the governor asked that everybody try to raise a garden to help out with the food problem. The trouble was that nobody could get the land to raise a garden on. The five companies dominate the lives of everybody on the Islands. They set the price at which anything can be bought or sold, and there is no competition. Thus the stockholders of the companies are continually getting richer and the common people are getting poorer and more dependent on the big fellows.

Several years ago, when the retail price of lumber in Hawaii was $88 per thousand, the owner of the Dollar Steamship line decided he would have a try at breaking the monopoly in building material. He loaded one of his ships with lumber at Seattle, the lumber costing about $30 on board his ship. He sent the shipload over to Hawaii, and figured he could still make a nice profit at a price of $50 per thousand. When he got there, he found out differently. The Matson line owned the rights for delivering all materials in the Islands, and they also owned the docks. He found that they would not permit him to unload his lumber there unless he would agree that it would be retailed at the going price for lumber. Eventually the right to unload was denied him entirely, and he had to take his shipload elsewhere.

Lumber was not available in any quantity in Hawaii during the war, and what there was went up until nobody could afford to use it. The big fellows also control the price of all property, and they keep it so high that only a few can afford to buy. Lots on the side of the mountains to the rear of Honolulu, are advertised at the rate of one dollar per square foot, or $5,000 for the average lot in this country of 50 by 100 feet. The joker is that it actually costs more to level off the land after you buy it than the land cost in the first place, as the whole island is underlaid with rock that can only be worked with dynamite.

Herb Nelson and his wife were both employed at Pearl Harbor, and they decided to give up their former home in Chicago and buy property on Oahu. After searching for weeks and weeks they finally found a place over on the windward side of the island not far from Kaneohe bay, which they bought for $5,000. They had to travel about 15 miles to and from work every day. Their home was out in the country with no neighbors within perhaps half a mile. They had nothing modern, but were planning to modernize their home whenever equipment became available. Damazo Reyes paid $5,000 for a lot 30 by 50 feet in Honolulu, and built there on a five-room house that cost him $8,000. Came to work Friday morning and found no less than five desks grouped in a "U" shape in the editorial office, the brain child of Marv Kelschull. He was trying to figure out how to conserve space, since some of the walls must be left clear for a bunch of shelving. The trouble is that the office could easily use three typewriter desks and two or three taller desks for editorial work, and there has to be some place to park about a million advertising mats where they will be immediately available. It is quite a problem to figure out in a room 14 by 12 feet with a traffic passageway along one side which must be kept in the clear.

One thing, I will not have to worry about it, as I go back on the piece work basis again beginning April 1st. This means that I will furnish the editorials, the "What's Cookin'" and "When You and I Were Young" columns and special stories, on the space basis. This work will permit me to draw my social security checks, which I was not able to do while working full time, and I will have more time for garden and signs and possibly fishing. While I do not like to fish, I suppose I will have to force myself to like it. H. D. says that fishing isn't so bad after you get used to it, and he ought to know.

It will also give me more time to razz Ellsworth Ball whom I have had to neglect because of the rush of work. Then there is Judge Eben Moss up at Burwell, who needs an occasional going over. Back in the days not so long ago there were five of us, and we found occasion to criticize each other through the columns of the Quiz, and the public seemed to get quite a kick out of it. But Jason Abernethy and Pat Fuson have gone the way of all flesh and the rest of us are getting older, and wiser, I hope.

Then there was Charley Arnold, who was not so much of a writer, but was one of the finest sportsmen of his day. He could take it and he sure could hand it out, and baseball, especially, had no more ardent fan than Charley. Just ten years ago George Gowen was writing his "County Board" column and putting out one of the most widely read features the Quiz ever carried. But George is gone. Twenty years ago George Round was writing his sports column in the Quiz, but he went on to larger fields, and is doing a bangup job at the Agricultural College in Lincoln.

Receive Word of Brother's Death

Pete and Tom Dooley of Greeley learned last week of the death of their brother, Frank Dooley, once of Chadron, in California. Details were not immediately available.

The funeral was to be held in Chadron, and Pete Dooley left to attend the services. Frank was the youngest of six brothers and was born in Broken Bow. Another brother, John, died at Chadron last month.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent awakenings may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 12 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Gus Wetzel, North Loup Resident for Fifty Years, Dies

Prominent Truck Farmer Suffers Heart Attack

Augusta Peter Wetzel was born February 21, 1870, at North Vernon, Ind. He was the youngest of four children born to Valentine and Rosie Wetzel. He was baptized in April 1870, in the Congregational church.

At the age of 20 he came to Nebraska and in 1892 he was married to Margaret Ann Mae Barnhart. To this union four children were born. 1891 they went by covered wagon to Indiana where his people lived and made that state their home until 1900 when they returned to Nebraska and have lived in the community near North Loup for nearly 50 years.

He farmed until 1916, when he purchased a hardware store in North Loup, and operated this until 1922. From this time until two years prior to his death he successfully truck farmed and made a host of friends throughout his territory and has kept those friends throughout the years. He was preceded in death by his parents, two brothers, one sister, a son, Dewey, and one great-grandchild.

He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, one son, Floyd, of Ord, two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Schaffner of Boone, Ia., Mrs. Neva Gehl of Scotia, 12 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren, and a number of other relatives.

Funeral services for Mr. Wetzel were held Sunday afternoon from the Methodist church in North Loup, with Rev. A. C. Ehret bringing the message. Music was by a quartette, Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, E. T. Babcock and Mrs. Edward Christensen, who sang "Come Unto Me" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul," with Mrs. Ava Johnson at the piano.

Pallbearers were Jess Gillingham of Grand Island, Albert Bredthauer, Grand Island; Pat McNeilis and George Cooper, Greeley; Martin Markvicka and I. L. Sheldon of North Loup. Honorary bearers were Frank Miller, Jess Waller, Roy Lewis, Art Willoughby and Ray Hill. Miller and Ashley were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Martin Markvicka and Mrs. George Eberhart cared for the flowers. Burial was in the Hillside cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sims took Mrs. Max Sims and Ricky to Taylor Friday. She was expecting a telephone call from her husband in Japan Saturday and wanted to be back in Taylor to take it.

Something New Has Been Added—

CITY VIEW ADDITION

After considerable planning and replanning, surveying and resurveying, grading and regrading, mapping and remapping here is Ord's new "City View Addition" as approved by the City Council Monday night.

Lots can now be sold legally and a few are for sale. Eight were spoken for ahead of time and since we prefer not to sell all of them this year, only eight more are for sale at this time.

There are a few restrictions that should be made clear. The plot is for residences only, the houses must be new and large enough and good enough to meet the minimum F.H.A. requirements. Any deviation from the above plan must be by consent of those who own lots. Lots will be sold only to those who expect to start building within a year. You are welcome to drive around and look it over. The dark lines indicate the lots that are ready for building and the others are merely a plotting for future consideration.

For further information, inquire of Glen Auble,
Ord, Nebraska.

Hertel-Bishop

Miss Berdine Hertel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hertel of Chambers, was married Saturday, March 25, to Vern R. Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bishop of St. Paul, at the Methodist parsonage at Chambers.

Rev. Bell performed the double ring ceremony at 12 o'clock noon. The bride wore a navy blue suit with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

A sister, Mrs. Cecil Clouse, was her attendant and wore a corsage like that of the bride.

Eugene Bishop, a brother, was the bridegroom's attendant.

A wedding dance was given for the couple at Bartlett, Saturday night.

The bridegroom is employed by the Bureau of Reclamation. The couple will make their home at the Ralph Beck home in Scotia.

Donald H. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donscheski of near Cotesfield is a Yeoman in the navy and is stationed at Washington, D. C. He enlisted in August, 1947, and will receive his discharge early this summer. After completing his boot training "Donnie" was sent to the Capitol and has been stationed there since.

Writes From Near East.
The following is parts of a letter written by David (Buzz) Gebhardt who at the present is at Casablanca.

"When we first sighted Casablanca about 10:30 a. m. the 17th, it was nothing but what seemed to be a few low buildings but after getting a little nearer could see that it was quite small but more up-to-date than our own.

"The harbor is very small and nothing but a sea wall protruding a half mile parallel with the beach to form a quiet place for the ships to drop hook while waiting to dock.

"Made liberty the second night and exchanged our American dollar for 350 francs. Things are low priced over here if you can get them before they find out how much money you have. Their bills are 50's, 100's 500, 1000 and 5000. They are made from two pieces of tissue paper pasted together and tear easily.

"It is really a shame the way most of these people live. As soon as we docked there were 200 Arab men ranging from 15 to 50 that wanted to act as our guides, all of them speaking Arab, of course, and so fast there was no telling what they meant. But they do understand enough English to get by.

"We walked about a mile and then stopped at a place called 'The American Bar.' The woman in charge chased the Arabs out so we were in peace and quiet. Her English was good and knew more about the east coast cities than most of us did. I asked her where 'East Main St.' was and she told me. She knew all the main streets in the larger cities and never been in the states.

"We bought cognac and champagne for 75 cents a full quart. The champagne is good but deliver me from the cognac.

"We secured a horse drawn carriage and proceeded to see some sights. The French district isn't bad, they mind their own business but when we got down into the Medina it was quite different. It is sort of a compound. There must be 3 or 4,000 of the lower class of people there. When we started through, they ran into the street and tried to pull us from the carriage. We were a little nervous by the time we got through this. The gendarme told us to be careful or we might know how a knife felt in the back, so we kept on going into the Arab district, the people live along side of the street which is about 1/3 as wide as ours. They have fires built and as far as we could see do nothing but ask for a cigarette as we drove by. I don't believe they ever wash or shave. They have all their goods either hanging from the bulk head or on deck and really filthy. It is all very crummy looking, guess they do use scissors on their beards once in a while.

"There were untold numbers of girls sitting or sprawling in doorways with veils over their faces. A few of them pulled their veils from their faces and tried to get into the carriage with us but we were told they were in wedlock and were private property. Oh what a repulsive feeling. From there we went into the district where they make rugs, shoes, bill-folds etc.; they all stopped work as we passed through. Then came the wierdest I ever beheld; men, women, boys, girls and children bathing in public fountains, even animals. When pride was passed out I think they were all behind a door. One or two licks with the 4 ft. long flexible switch the "gendarme" carried kept them from getting too close to the carriage. What we could have done with a movie camera I am going to bring here again I am going to bring one."

"Next we stopped at a building about the size of a 20 room house and were met by several girls who were dressed in bright long gowns, turbans wrapped around their heads and faces partially covered with veils. They took us into what appeared to be a huge dance floor. We sat at a table and the gendarme got us a bottle of champagne and six glasses (there were only 3 of us) we looked at each other and wondered but our man laughed and said, 'Wait Joe, here they come now.' We were supposed to treat our entertainers for the floor show they put on for us. They were so eager they all but tipped the table over pouring the drinks.

"Enough for the people, though I never will forget it.

"The fuel line runs out into the water because of the fire hazard, so we had to drop both anchors, letting out 105 fathoms of chain on each one in order to put us closer to the beach. We have to pump it about 8 miles. It will take us a day and a half to pull anchor this time as we have had considerable trouble and our winch isn't strong enough to pull both at once, and usually the current pushes against us. Seems like a lot of trouble for a measly 16,000 bbls.

"Three of my shipmates just came on board and brought a monkey with them and maybe you think there isn't an uproar about now. Dad, from what you have told me about that one you fellows had in the Philippines I think I will help toss it over board."

—Coralee Anderson left Sunday for Denver where she will resume her duties at the Colorado Women's College. Miss Anderson spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson.

Chandler R. True, Pioneer Farmer, Dies at Loup City

Arcadia Settler Had Attained Age of 95 Years.

Chandler R. True, pioneer resident of the Arcadia community, died at Loup City on Wednesday, March 29.

Born at Strawberry Point, Iowa, he had reached the age of 95 years, three months, and 29 days at the time of his death.

In the spring of 1878 he was married to Jenny A. Knight at Loup City. Immediately following their marriage they moved to a homestead at Lee Park, west of Arcadia. It was on their homestead there that 12 children were born, five of whom preceded their parents in death.

Mrs. True died in 1933. Survivors are four sons: Claude of Redding, Calif., Howder and Leonard of Arcadia, and Alfred of Huntington Park, Calif.; three daughters, Mrs. Reina Wagner of Central City, Mrs. Paul Travis of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Myrtle Camp of Gaston, Ore.; 18 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren, children, two great great-grandchildren, and many other relatives.

Mr. True was a member of the Congregational church in Arcadia. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Congregational church in Arcadia, with the Rev. E. T. Gunsolley officiating. Rae Jean Gogon and Mrs. James Hagood sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Kermit Erickson.

Palbearers were C. W. Starr, Arnold Tuning, Ray Waterbury, H. D. Weddel, Dr. F. H. Christ, and William J. Ramsey.

Burial was in the Lee Park cemetery and the Hastings-Pearson Mortuary of Ord had charge of the arrangements.

Which?

When taxes are due, or insurance, or interest on borrowed money, do you say—

"I wish I had saved" or "I'm glad I did."

When vacation time comes this summer, will you say—

"I wish I had saved" or "I'm glad I did."

When emergencies arise, or sickness develops, or business opportunity presents itself, will you say—

"I wish I had saved" or "I'm glad I did."

The first answer means regret and failure; the second, success and accomplishment. If you start—and continue—a savings account at our bank, you can always say: "I'm glad I did."

Receives Letter from Finland

For several years the Ladies Aid of Bethany Lutheran church has been sending clothes to Europe for the relief of needy people there. The clothing is obtained from members of the church who wish to relieve the suffering of people in the war-ravaged countries.

Mrs. Jim Larsen, Mrs. Elmer Christoffersen, Mrs. Chris Johnson, and Mrs. John Lee have served on the committee in charge of gathering and shipping the clothing.

About a year ago Mrs. Larsen received a letter which was in a language entirely foreign to her. She passed it around to her acquaintances, but could find no one who could read it.

Finally, the Rev. C. Jeppesen saw the letter and recognized the word "Suomi," which is the Finnish word for "Finland." He sent the letter to a Finnish-speaking acquaintance and received the following translation:

Siihlinjarvi, 6-1-49

Hearty greetings to you, Mrs. Larsen, from Finland, from one of the small farms in the backwoods.

You must wonder how I have received your address. Here in Kuopio, clothing which was sent from that faraway (to us unknown) country was sold for the benefit of a deaconess institution. I bought a coat and from the pocket I found a small slip of paper with your name and address. Then a thought came to me, that I would write a short note of thanks to you, such wonderful, kindhearted people, who have remembered and helped us Finns in so many different ways. Many people here in Finland have either relatives or good friends there from whom they have received valuable packages.

Therefore, I decided to write to you, dear lady. I would be very happy if you would remember me even with a short letter, such a thing as a package I wouldn't even dare to ask from an utter stranger. We poor Finns appreciate even such used clothing many have received from there. They are so good that we cannot afford to buy clothes made of such good material and after war we haven't even yet had such material.

I wish to tell you something about our family. Besides my husband and myself, there are three children, five-year old twins, boys,

Largely Steady Is Market Story Monday at Omaha

Dick Hutton New Phys Ed Director at Ord High

Football, Track Star Is Completing University Work.

Richard E. "Dick" Hutton, track and gridiron star at the University of Nebraska, has been elected to serve as coach and physical education director at Ord high school. He will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dick Peterson, who will devote full time to manual arts instruction.

Hutton, a native of Auburn, was an outstanding halfback in football, and sprinter in track. He lettered four years in the cinder sport at the university, and three years in football. He played a season of football at Peru State Teachers college before the war.

During the war he served with the army in the China-Burma-India theater.

Hutton is completing work for a master's degree this year at the University of Nebraska, after being graduated with distinction from the Teachers College a year ago.

Although only 5 feet 9 inches tall, and never weighing more than 170 pounds, Hutton was named on the Omaha World-Herald all Big Six eleven in 1946 and won honorable mention on several other all-conference choices.

A track star as well, Hutton holds several records in the longer sprint events.

Hutton, who is married, will be in charge of a complete physical education program being inaugurated next year. The program will include football, basketball, softball, volleyball, baseball and track.

A school board member told the Quiz last week that although the task of setting up the physical education program in the school will entail a good deal of work and will require considerable talent and ability, "We have every reason to believe that he (Hutton) can do the job."

John Bentley, University of Nebraska Athletic News Service director, says of Hutton: "He is one of the finest young men I have ever worked with."

Cancer Control Drive Has Double Purpose

Funds received in the cancer control drive now being staged in Valley county will serve a double purpose, according to Mrs. E. R. Apking, county chairman.

Funds will not only be used for treatment but for an educational campaign to make early diagnosis possible. "More than 2,000 persons in Nebraska will die of cancer this year," she said. "More than half of these deaths will be unnecessary. Cancer can be controlled through education which cancer campaign funds will provide."

Door-to-door solicitation in Ord got underway this week, the solicitation being handled by members of the V.F.W. Auxiliary and county extension clubs.

Contributions may also be mailed to the county chairman in Ord, or left at either Ord bank. Goal for the county is $154.00.

Ord Encouraged by State Approval of Airport Funds

State to appropriate $3,000, Federal Grant of $5,000 Is Sought.

Councilman Duane Armstrong, C. Biemond and Leslie Nash, who represented Ord before the State Aeronautics Commission at Lincoln last Wednesday in seeking state and federal aid to build an administration building at the city airport, brought back an encouraging report.

Ord's application has been approved by the state and $3,000 of state funds has been pledged, they report. The Aeronautics Commission also approved Ord's request for $5,000 in federal funds and passed the application along for approval by federal authorities.

Approximately $2,000 in city funds will be needed to match $3,000 state and $5,000 federal money to build the proposed $10,000 structure, it is estimated.

Approval by federal authorities is regarded as only a formality but the money may not actually be made available until the next fiscal year which starts July 1.

Ordnance Plant to Be Modernized

The Silas Mason Company, a New York industrial engineering firm, has been selected to install a modernized production line in the recently reopened Cornhusker Ordnance plant, Fifth Army in Chicago announced last week.

The plant is located five and one-half miles west of Grand Island, and has been designated as an industrial division standby installation of the War Reserve. Those facilities being readied will produce newly-designed rocket ammunition needed to meet current military requirements.

Rehabilitation of the Cornhusker plant is part of the Ordnance Department's program to incorporate the latest industrial developments into ammunition production facilities. Such modernization will, the announcement said, enable more efficient operation with a greater degree of safety.

New Fixtures at McDonald Store

New fixtures for the McDonald store in Ord are arriving, and Wm. Darges, manager, plans to present a complete new store to his patrons the first week in May. The store will be completely redecorated, and all present fixtures discarded. New counters, display racks, etc will be in blond maple, with contrasting plastic and chromium trim.

Mrs. Benda Heads VFW Auxiliary

Mrs. Dorothy Apking, retiring president of the VFW Auxiliary, hands the gavel to the new president, Mrs. Patricia Benda. New officers were installed by district officials Monday night.

Governor to Speak New Officers Are Installed at VFW Auxiliary Meeting

Albert Bredthauer announced last week that Governor Peterson has accepted the invitation extended him some time ago to speak at the Loup River Irrigation and Conservation meeting to be held at Scotia April 25, following a banquet that evening.

The Governor is scheduled to arrive in St. Paul at 5:30 and be taken on a tour of the projects now in the offing.

In addition to the Governor's address, Paul Harley, area engineer of the Reclamation Bureau, will speak. Invitations have been sent to Avery Eaton of Denver, Colo., and Roy Lang, all connected with the Reclamation Bureau; Dan Jones, Ed Kelly, representing power and irrigation; Dr. C. E. Condra of the university and Val Kuska of the Burlington Railroad. Tickets are on sale at $1.50 a plate.

Mrs. Patricia Benda is the new president, replacing Mrs. Dorothy Apking; Mrs. Jean Smith is the senior vice-president, and Mrs. Dorothy Osenowski is the junior vice-president. Other new officers are Mrs. Evelyn Schaefer, secretary; Mrs. Delores Christensen, treasurer; Mrs. Adeline Adamek, chaplain; Mrs. Mary Frances Svoboda, conductress; Mrs. Adeline Absalon, guard; Mrs. Patricia Fafeita, trustee for three years, and Mrs. Lois Coufal, trustee for two years.

In recognition for earning the best membership record in 1949, the Auxiliary was presented with a white leather-covered Bible by Mrs. Rogge.

Plans were completed for the cancer fund solicitation with members being given lists of names to solicit.

Following the meeting, the ladies went to the Veterans club for lunch.

French Soprano Gives Concert

A very good attendance of the members of the Loup Valley Municipal Concert association heard Jeanne Beauvais, French lyric soprano, in the final concert of the current season at the Methodist church, Monday evening.

Miss Beauvais, a petite young woman with a light, sweet voice, sang a program of songs very familiar to the music lover. She concentrated on selections from operettas and folk music, rather than the operatic arias which many sopranos feel they must sing.

Monday's concert brought the season of three concerts to a close. It was the first season for the Loup Valley Municipal Concert association, whose members are already making plans for next winter's concert series.

Cindermen Open Against Ravenna

The Ord high school track team goes into inter-school competition this (Wednesday) afternoon against the Ravenna cinder squad.

Coach Dick Peterson says that his squad is not yet ready to do its best work, but the leading contenders should begin to prove themselves in the meet.

An intra-squad warm-up meet last week, Blaha furnished in a performance of 11 seconds in the 100 yard dash. He also took the 220 yard with a time of 26.2. Stoddard was hard on his heels with a clocking of 26.3. Laursen's time of 63 was best for the 440 and Suchanek copped the 880 with a 2:30.

After meeting the Blueblays today, the Chants either will go to Buwell, next week, or to the Kearney invitational meet. The following week the Chants will participate in the District meet. The individual winners and runners-up in this meet qualify for the state meet in Lincoln, May 12 and 13.

The week after the District meet, the Chanticleers will enter the Trans-Nebraska meet at Hastings.

V.F.W. to Install New Officers Monday

Newly elected officers of Ord Post 7029, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be formally installed at a meeting of the post Monday evening at the Veterans Club. Wm. Goff is new commander of the post.

Mrs. W. W. Haskell Dies; Was Wife of Quiz Founder

Came to Ord in Early '80s; Mother of John Haskell.

Victoria Cecilia Cutler Haskell died Tuesday night at the Whipple nursing home in Ord at the age of 92. She was the wife of the late W. W. Haskell, who founded the Ord Quiz 63 years ago.

She was married to W. W. Haskell, November 6, 1881, in Chicago. Soon afterwards the young couple came to Ord, where Mr. Haskell, with the help of his wife, founded the Quiz, selling it in 1918. Mr. Haskell died in 1935 of pernicious anemia.

She is survived by a son, John R., of Ord, and two daughters, Mrs. D. O. Lindberg, of Decatur, Ill., and Mrs. Herman N. Mattley, of Lincoln. Two daughters, Zilpha and Zerna, preceded her in death. Mrs. Haskell was prominent in Ord civic activities until a fall on July 21, 1935, broke her hip and forced her into retirement.

Funeral services will be held at the Hastings-Pearson chapel, in Ord, Friday afternoon at 2:00. Burial will be in the Ord cemetery.

Red Cross Drive Exceeds Quota by Over 100 Dollars

A final tabulation of the Valley County Red Cross funds drive shows that the county has exceeded its quota by over one hundred dollars. Miss Katherine Helzer announced, Tuesday, Miss Helzer was the chairman this year.

A total of $1,017.35 was contributed—considerably more than the $917 goal set for the county. The Ord city solicitors gathered $578.30, Arcadia contributed an even $200, North Loup gave $126.30, and rural donations amounted to $142.75.

"This year's drive was really a pleasure," said Miss Helzer. "The co-operation of the volunteer workers got from the public was most encouraging, and we're really quite happy about the success of the campaign."

Open Saturday P. M.

The P.M.A. office will be open Saturday afternoon to accommodate farmers who have not signed their 1950 intention. April 15 is the final date.

Home Management Group at Career Day

W. F. Fafeita New Legion Commander

Committee Appointed for Junior Legion Baseball This Year.

Wm. F. Fafeita was elected commander of Fidelity Post 38, American Legion at the regular meeting of the post Tuesday evening at the Veterans club. He succeeds Lloyd Zikmund.

Other officers chosen by Legion members for the coming year include John R. Sullivan, senior vice-commander; Dean Misko, junior vice-commander, and Bob Groves, adjutant. Named to the board of directors were Harold Christensen and Wm. Goff.

The new officers will be formally installed and take up their duties at the next meeting of the post in May.

Junior Legion baseball occupied a good share of the evening's discussion, with Legion members deciding that an accelerated program would be staged this year. Jim Gilbert will manage the Junior Legion teams this year, assisted by Otto Neimeyer and Ray Falter.

Cosmopolitan Dance Monday

The annual Bug-Hop benefit dance, staged by members of the Ord Cosmopolitan Club for their D.D.T. spraying fund will be held Monday evening at the Bohemian Hall.

Dean Misko, dance chairman, told the Quiz today that advance ticket sales for the event are booming. Lee Williams and his orchestra will furnish the music.

Easter Gift

Mrs. Frank Krikac has a hen in her flock who is just as ambitious as anyone could want a hen. The White Rock, whose name is "Mary Jane," according to H. D. Leggett, really went into production on this masterpiece.

The egg is 7 and 13/16 inches around the long axis and 6 and 5/16 around the shorter axis.

Mary Jane laid the egg on Saturday—just in time to make a nice Easter egg.

Theatre Finishes Modernization

With the installation of a new "no-glare" screen and a new sound system, the Ord theatre has just completed a program of modernization.

The lobby interior has been redesigned and repainted and a colored tile floor has been installed. The foyer has been redecorated in pastel shades and the auditorium walls have been re-covered with multi-colored Celotex sound tile. The ceiling in the auditorium has been finished in a "night sky" scheme, complete with clouds and stars.

New indirect lighting gives the same effect of spaciousness usually found only in theatres in larger cities.

Says M. Biemond, owner of the theatre, "We really try to give the people 'big city' entertainment—so now we've given them a real 'big city' setting for that entertainment."

Warmer Weather Needed for Baseball

Baseball practice, scheduled to start Monday, was deferred when the weather man sent snow and chilly winds instead of balmy weather. Tuesday evening a small group of players turned out under direction of Manager Walt Douthit but found the temperature too cold for satisfactory work-outs and soon gave up.

Douthit says a practice session will be held every evening the weather is suitable but that warm weather is a "must" before it will be safe to start full scale work-outs.

Nature Fells Timber; Scotia Man Opens Lumber Camp, Uses Wood

Mrs. Greckley Gebhardt

Forty thousand feet of native cottonwood was sawed by a crew of eleven men in three weeks time with this outfit. A true Nebraskan never cuts down a tree unless there is one already growing in its place, but Mother Nature took a hand in this, thereby making it compulsory to utilize it or let it go to waste.

In June 1946, when every farmer was in the field, a black cloud suddenly appeared in the west, and before many could reach places of safety, a cyclonic wind had sprung into action, taking everything in its stride: sheds, barns, machinery, windmills, live-stock and trees. It did not take long, it was soon over, but what a havoc it had played, nothing but turmoil and chaos left behind.

On the farm belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Darold Bussell it had heads and walked away. It was too big a job to tackle.

The trees lay, where they had fallen from June until November. The mail man could not get by, nor could the school buses. Everyone was very unhappy, and something had to be done.

Finally one day Mr. Bussell hit upon the idea that he might saw the trees into usable lumber. All of the trees were logged that fall, and in March the sawing began. The saw operators flew in by plane every day from their home at Ewing, and were forced to use ski landing. As fast as a load of sawdust was ready, it was hauled out and spread over the farm grounds as fertilizer and much of it was sold for the same purpose.

The four men pictured are the Duryea Bros., owners and operators of the portable saw mill. Clint Jeffries is on the manure spreader, that was used to haul the saw dust out. Duane Bussell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darold Bussell, and seven more men completed the crew.

L. V. Hassell, pastor
Easter Sunday demonstrates what we could do for Christ if we all worked at the job 52 Sundays in the year. If we would make our beliefs into a living faith and use it for God and His church every day, we would have a wonderful world.

Next Sunday is: "Faith, after One Week."
Let us urge all new members to read your Bible, have daily family devotions and start the habit of regular church attendance.

It's MISS AMERICA for beauty

Just one look will tell you why the '50 Ford is a style show all by itself... why it's the only car in automotive history to twice receive the Fashion Academy's Gold Medal Award as "Fashion Car of the Year" (and two years in a row, at that!)

It's MR. BIG for size

No other car in Ford's field offers so much hip and shoulder room. The '50 Ford is big and feels big. The minute you take this great car out on the road you'll feel its luxurious big car comfort, its effortless "Finger-Tip" steering and its solid stability. A technique "Test Drive" will convince you that the '50 Ford is truly Mr. Big for spaciousness, for comfort, for performance and for value.

And Champion of its Class for ECONOMY

Here's real evidence of Ford's extraordinary gas economy. In the official AAA supervised Mobilgas Grand Canyon Economy Run, a '50 Ford Six equipped with Overdrive won in its class—three full-size cars in the low-price field. Low first cost, low operating cost and high resale value mark Ford—V-8 or Six—as the Big Economy Package in its field. "Test Drive" it at your Ford Dealer's today.

Is it too Late, Doctor?

SOONER OR LATER, 1 out of every 5 living Americans may ask this question about cancer.

THE answer may be: "Yes... I'm afraid so..."
But, today, the doctor can say to increasing numbers of cancer victims, "No, it is by no means too late... There is much that we can do... In fact, your chances for recovery are good."

This heartening reply of medical science gives us good reason to believe that, as the years go by, the ancient dream of conquering this disease will be realized.

Cancer research supported by the American Cancer Society has already yielded new surgical techniques and improved methods of using x-ray and radium. More recently, research with radio-active isotopes has revealed new facts about cell processes, hormones and certain anti-cancer drugs — thus making possible more effective control of some types of cancer.

Part of the money you donate will support research that may save millions of lives. Give generously — so that sometime in the future doctors may never have to say: "I'm afraid it's too late!"

Palser - Phelps

Easter lilies, pink and white gladioli and lighted candelabra providing the setting in the Mira Valley E.U.B. church Sunday afternoon at four o'clock for the wedding of Miss Eva Palser, daughter of Mrs. Katie Palser of North Loup and Coleman Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Phelps, Sr. of Lincoln.

Rev. Warren Studer read the lines of the double ring ceremony. Miss Marilyn Cook at the piano played the nuptial music which included the traditional wedding marches and Orel Koelling sang "Because," "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of "I Love You Truly." Miss Sharon Rowe and Billy Palser, niece and nephew of the bride, lighted the candles. Miss Rowe's lavender gown was similar to those worn by the bridesmaids.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Paul Palser, of Ord. Her gown of white satin was fashioned with a fitted bodice with self covered buttons down the front, a Peter-Pan collar and long sleeves which came to a point at the wrists. The full skirt ended in a train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was held by a taria of white lace and white streamers.

Her maid of honor, Miss Norma Gregg, and bridesmaid, Miss Alice Meyer, both of Lincoln, wore identical gowns of spring green and orchid taffeta, which had fitted lace bodices with mandarin collars and full skirts. They wore matching lace mitts and carried nosegay bouquets.

The groom was attended by Kent Nossing of Lincoln and Sgt. Richard Palser San Antonio, Tex., who also acted as usher with Russell Kerr, nephew of the bride. The men wore business suits and carnation boutonnières. The ladies of the party had corsages of pink and white carnations.

Both the bride's and the groom's mothers chose navy blue as their costumes, with black accessories. They wore pink rose corsages.

Following the ceremony the bridal party stood in line at the door of the church for congratulations, after which they returned to the church parlors where a reception was held, with Mrs. Elmer Hornick and Mrs. Albert Peterson in charge.

The table was decorated with lighted tapers, with a three tier wedding cake as a centerpiece.

Mrs. Paul Palser, Ord, cut the cake and Mrs. Carroll Palser, Scotia poured. They were assisted by Mrs. Wilbur Rowe, Grand Island, sister of the bride.

Mrs. Frank Wright, Hastings, Ia., and Mrs. Stella Kerr, sisters of the bride, had charge of the gifts and Mrs. Wm. Gustin, Des Moines, Ia., had charge of the guest book.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a navy blue suit, with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps left immediately after the reception for Lincoln, where they will reside.

Mrs. Phelps is a graduate of the Ord schools and is employed by the Union Fire Insurance Co. of Lincoln. Her husband received his schooling in the Lincoln schools and at Nebraska Wesleyan. As a veteran of World War II, he served in the European theatre, and at present is a member of the National Guard. He is employed in the Postal department at Lincoln.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Phelps, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moore and son, the Misses Alice Meyer and Norma Gregg, Jackie Thomas and Margie Frantz, all of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gustin, Des Moines, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lewandowski and baby and Mr. and Mrs. John Howe, Loup City, Mrs. John Land, Layette, Colo., Mrs. Frank Wright and two children, Hastings, Ia., and the Wilbur Rowe family of Grand Island.

Prosperity Seekers Club

On April 14th the Prosperity Seekers' club met at the home of Mrs. David Nordstrom. Roll call response, gardening tips or timely hints on starting baby chicks, resulted in some helpful information. An interesting article Guard Against Undulant Fever was read and discussed. The writer stated that one of the common causes of Undulant Fever in humans is through handling infected sows at farrowing time and named some precautions to be taken. Mrs. Maurice Carver assisted by Mrs. R. W. Coakley presented lesson on Meat Cookery. Mrs. Dale Coakley demonstrated the lesson by preparing some of the cuts of meat discussed along with suitable vegetables. This was then served for lunch and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Due to adverse weather and roads the meeting scheduled for March was held one week late at the home of Mrs. Cecil Burt with Mrs. David Nordstrom co-hostess. Eleven members and one visitor, Mrs. Fanny Alleman responded to roll call by describing famous land marks which they had seen. Mrs. James Rasplicka read an interesting article by John W. Berges of Ovid, Colo. on Re-Districting difficulties. He pointed out that the bill now being considered in Nebraska is the same as the bill enacted by the Colorado Legislature and which has proved so unsatisfactory that a state wide or- ficialization, Colo. Schools Protective Ass'n is making every effort to have the law repealed. Mrs. Clifford Freeman gave a short history about each of a few Irish songs and composers and these were sung in honor of St. Patrick's Day. In the absence of Mrs. Roy Alleman, who was ill, Mrs. R. W. Coakley assisted Mrs. Dale Coakley in presenting the lesson, "Let's Cut and Sew with the Grainline" and "Easy Methods for Applying Zippers." The door prize was provided by Mrs. R. W. Coakley and won by Mrs. Glen Beaver who was able to write more Roman numerals than the others. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served a lunch.

Dale to Attend Marketing School

C. C. Dale has been notified that he is one of the ten county Agricultural Agents from Nebraska selected to attend a livestock marketing school at the Omaha Union Stockyards on April 23, 24, 25 and 26th. The school is sponsored by the Omaha Livestock Exchange and the Union Stockyards Company.

The school offers an opportunity for an intensive study of the central market system. All phases of the market will be observed including the commission buying and selling of livestock, the activities of packer buyers, traders, etc., the processing of livestock and livestock products, including the system of pricing, market reporting, financing, regulations, transportation, health inspection, and all other activities of the Omaha market. The training will be under the direct supervision of experienced personnel from the Exchange and Stockyards. The group selected to attend this school, ten from Nebraska and ten from Iowa, will be the guests of the sponsors for the training period. The program opens with a dinner at the Rome Hotel on the evening of the 23rd.

Four Divorces Granted Tuesday in District Court

Four divorce cases came before District Judge William F. Spikes Wednesday morning at the district courtroom in Ord.

Flora L. Munn was granted a decree of divorce from Gerald E. Munn. The couple was married April 30, 1949 and there is one child. The plaintiff was granted custody of the child, alimony, attorney fees and court costs. Grounds for the action was extreme cruelty.

In the second case to come before the court, Muriel E. Thompson charged Robert B. Thompson with extreme cruelty and won a divorce. The couple, married in 1942, arrived at a property settlement and court costs were assessed to the defendant.

Georgia May Radl was divorced from Arnold John Radl in the third action. She won custody of their two daughters, plus alimony and child support. The couple was married in 1942.

In the fourth case to be considered Wednesday morning, Mary C. Kwiatkowski won a divorce from Sylvester S. Kwiatkowski. Married in 1929, the couple has two children. Extreme cruelty was charged by the plaintiff, who was awarded custody of the children, plus alimony.

Eleven Attend Homemakers Day in Grand Island

Eleven club presidents, including the county chairman and one group chairman attended the District Rural Homemakers program in Grand Island on Thursday, April 6th. The program was sponsored by the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce with the Women's Division in charge of the activities. Club members from 11 counties were invited.

The day began with a coffee hour at 9:30 a.m., and music selections played by senior high school students. A frozen food demonstration was given by Mrs. Ella Peeler, district home economist for the International Harvester Co. The ladies were guests of the International Harvester Co. at a frozen food luncheon served in the Gold Room of the Yancey hotel. The menu served was the same menu that was prepared at the demonstration. Music during the luncheon was by Mrs. Ruth Warrick at the electric organ and by members of Grand Island's Barber Shop quartets. Door prizes were contributed by members of the women's division.

Those attending from Valley county were: Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink, county chairman.

Mrs. Walter Noll, Ord group chairman.

Mrs. Thurman Bridges, president of Prosperity Seekers club.

Mrs. Earl Hanson, president of Springdale Kensington club.

Mrs. Walter Jorgensen, president of the Happy Circle club.

Mrs. Ralph Spierling, president of Needle and Thimble club.

Mrs. Wm. Novosad, jr., president of Plain Valley club.

Mrs. Stanley Absalon, president of Everbusby club.

Mrs. Glen Cochran, president of Jolly Neighbors club.

Mrs. Clark Weckbach, president of Home Arts club.

Mrs. Wester Jones, member of Homemakers club.

Miss Katherine Helzer, County Home Extension Agent.

Ole Nelson, Once of Burwell, Dies at Kimball

Ole Nelson, son of J. C. and Lena Nelson, was born in Denmark, Feb. 19, 1882, and departed this life April 7, 1950, at Kimball, at the age of 68 years, 1 month and 16 days.

He came with his parents to Columbus in 1888, where he made his home for several years.

He was married to Elvena Peterson, of Lindsey, in 1904. Later they moved to Burwell, and to this union three children were born, one died in infancy. His wife passed away in Burwell in 1912.

The last few years of his life he spent at Potter and Kimball.

He is survived by one son, Theron Nolle, and one daughter, Mrs. Quinten Withersax, and five grandchildren, all of Ord. Seven brothers and two sisters also survive his passing. They are Nels, a twin brother, and Johnnie, of Ord; Otto, Albert and William, of St. Edward; Chester, of Genoa; Andrew, of Spring Valley, Calif.; Mrs. Bertie Stone, of York, and Lena Burdick, of Winner, S. D. Two brothers and two sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson Chapel, in Ord, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. John McNeill, of Kearney, officiated, and the Hastings-Pearson Mortuary had charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Roy, Don, Harold Earl, Les and Herbert Nelson. Burial was in the family plot in the Burwell cemetery, at Burwell, Nebr.

Oats and Barley.

Seed Oats and Barley are getting pretty well sold out but we have a limited amount of Certified Cherokee, Nemaha and Clinton Oats and we also have a limited amount of non-certified Clinton Oats. In Spartan we have been fortunate enough to get a truckload or two of real good Western Spartan Barley that runs very good Spartan. If you need oats or barley let us help you with your needs.

Grasses and Legumes.

Sweet Clover seed is now getting real scarce and we have very limited supply of White Blossom and as yet have a good supply of Yellow Blossom. Have only a couple of bushels of Hubam left. In Red Clover and Alsike the supply is better.

In alfalfa seed we have Dakota 12, Grimm and Cossack and then we have about six bushels of Ladac. It looks as if the alfalfa seed would be pretty well sold in another 10 days.

Crested Wheat is rather plentiful, but Bromo is getting scarce. Timothy is plentiful and Red Top is very scarce.

We have advised in the past that you get your seed early. And now as these items are getting scarce we feel that you should get your needs at once. Let us have your order while it is available.

Hybrid Corn.

We have heard a lot of resistance from corn borers on some varieties of hybrid corn. It seems that borers work on all varieties of corn but some of the numbers have a better shank and there is less fallen corn. Now the fellows that have been growing 118 find that the shank is very sturdy and you do not have many fallen ears even if there is a heavy infestation of borers. We still have a number of bushels of 118 that are unsold and will book your order for future delivery.

Hy-Lines, Started.

We can furnish you with Hy-Lines that are two, three and four weeks old, and the price is very low when you consider that all of the gamble of early losses is taken. If you are interested in Hy-Lines that are started, come in and let us quote you prices. This is a good way to get early layers.

Man Wanted.

We have an opening for a young man. Must be reliable.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for it doesn't take a FORTUNE to get security

Envy the man who has an oil field a few thousand feet under his winter wheat? He has one type of security, no doubt about that, and you'd be right to count him as a lucky and enviable individual.

But a full measure of security that is sound and adequate is available to the average man with an income, too, fortune or no fortune.

For a few dollars a month you can enjoy the solid financial security produced by the pooled resources of millions of people like yourself.

It would take an oil field of 2,000,000,000 barrels to give the equivalent of resources that are cooperatively pooled in The Equitable Society. And every member of the Society shares in the protection these resources offer.

The financial protection provided by life insurance and annuities is available to your family and every family with foresight enough to plan their future. It's the kind of security your family should not be without.

JOHNNY STARTED SOMETHING

When Johnny Piskorski, youthful editor of the Ord high school newspaper, wrote an editorial a few weeks ago bemoaning this city's lack of recreational facilities for youth and asking "what about it, Ord?" he didn't know he was starting something—but he was.

Johnny's editorial, reprinted in the Quiz, started Ord people thinking. Everything that Johnny said was true, they realized, but the lack of a youth center in Ord was the first shortage to be remedied.

Monday evening directors of the Veterans club voted to do something about it: to make available to youth of the community their splendid club room each Friday evening. Young people of high school age up to 21 may visit the club on that evening without charge and adults, including members of the club, will be excluded. All the facilities of the club will be placed at the disposal of the young people. They may buy soft drinks at the "Coke bar," sandwiches and other food from the kitchen. They may play the various mechanical and electronic fun-games with which the club is equipped, may play the juke-box and dance on the club's fine dance floor. No youth center in the state offers more fun possibilities and we are sure several hundred young people will take advantage of the generosity and thoughtfulness of the veterans on April 14 and each Friday night thereafter.

The Veterans club is to be commended on this fine gesture. In the past it has helped the youth of Ord in many ways—through donating the funds that make a swimming pool possible, by paying the way of all school children to football games, by putting on Christmas parties—and their present act is a climax to a 4-year record of helpfulness to youth.

Johnny Piskorski is to be commended too. His editorial has already secured the use of youth center facilities. He also mentioned need of bowling lanes and already a modern bowling alley is in prospect. Rumor says that a roller skating rink, another thing he mentioned as needed, may be started this summer.

Yes, Johnny started something.

Construction Takes Time

Building is a slow process. The better we build, the longer it takes. There are two forces in the world and they are constantly at variance each with the other. Nature is a great builder. Before the coming of mankind all nature was busy building, making the world a place in which man could live and enjoy himself.

All constructive forces work slowly, while most of the forces of destruction work quickly. Sometimes the same force may be an instrument of either construction or destruction, depending on its nature. There is no greater constructive force than the pattering of a shower, or the movement of a gentle breeze.

But, give these forces ten times their speed or power, and they become forces of destruction. The heavy downpour sends streams of mud into the creeks, cuts gullies in the hillsides, and undoes the work that has taken the gentler showers a long time to build up. It takes many years to add an inch of top soil, and this can all be lost in a matter of minutes. It is the same with the wind. A breeze, indirectly promotes the development of all nature, especially by bringing on the showers of spring. Speed that wind up to as much as thirty miles per hour, and it begins to move the top soil, and will do plenty of damage in the course of a day. In fact, most of wind erosion actually comes from winds of from 20 to 30 miles per hour because we have so many more of them.

But, double the speed of the wind, and it cuts more deeply into the soil, and, at the same time begins to blow down buildings, windmills, trees and branches. As the speed increases further, many large trees may be uprooted, trees that have taken nature half a century or more to produce.

The most important discovery of mankind is fire. When and how it was discovered is not so important as the fact that it was discovered. Rightly handled, fire is the greatest servant man has ever discovered. Fire plays a vital part in most manufacturing, and in commerce, where transportation would be helpless without it.

But fire is the most destructive natural force known. It can destroy in a few minutes a building which took a force of men many months to build. It can destroy quickly the home that it has taken a man and wife years of saving and planning to develop. It can take in that same time heirlooms that were made with months of painstaking work, and which have been handed down from generation to generation.

Further, this same fire can destroy timbers that took nature a hundred years or more to grow, and took a small army of men a long time to prepare for use in building. It can ruin metals that were placed in the earth in its formative period, and which were formed by the sweat of man, transported to the foundry and again transported to the place where it was used.

Since the dawn of history mankind has made it his duty to try to develop the beneficent forces of nature and likewise to keep the evil forces in check. But the battle is never-ending. It will continue to the end of time.

Financing Schools

There are many things in this world that "just happen," but schools are not one of these. Schools are factories of education designed for the purpose of supplementing the knowledge the student obtains in every hour of the day or night, wherever he may be or whatever he may be doing.

In a study of education, it is well to keep in mind that schools are supplemental in their work. The real and basic education of every person is obtained in the home, on the street, in the field, in the church, the store, the carpenter or blacksmith shop.

The young people must have more education than this to compete with the world and take a part in it, and this is the purpose of schools. The first schools were for the privileged few, and early education was given by private tutors in the homes of those who could afford to pay for such service.

The history of education in schools in America begins with the coming of the first settlers. They sought here rights and privileges not granted them in the countries they came from, and these rights later became embodied in the Bill of Rights supplement to the Constitution of the United States.

Schools of pioneer days were crude in their concept, and limited in their curriculum, but they were efficient in teaching the students the essentials of reading, writing and arithmetic. These always have been and always will be the basis of all education, without which no education is complete.

Teachers of a century or more ago did not have to know too much themselves, since they did not impart the more complex part of present day education. Because they did not require much preparation, they did not expect or receive much in the line of pay.

As time went on, the requirements for teaching became more stringent and preparation for the profession cost more money. Naturally the pay of teachers increased through the years. Today teachers must receive many times more than they once did or they could not afford to teach.

With taxes increasing in every other category and becoming a load that the taxpayer finds harder to bear from year to year, the problem is how to take care of the increasing cost of education without adding too much to the tax burden already too heavy.

One thing must be borne in mind: Taxes for the support of schools are a must, and must be given all priority, after the actual cost of living has been taken care of. Education must come next immediately after the must of food, shelter and clothing are taken care of.

There are two schools of thought in our country today with respect to how schools should be financed. At the present time the majority favor the old fashioned method of taking care of the education of our youth by money raised in the locality where it is to be used, and the only practical method is by direct taxation.

Another group is trying to popularize the idea of federal aid to education, trying to give the impression that assistance can be given this way at less cost to the taxpayer, and that the aid thus given will be used to aid the weaker schools and give the children there equal opportunity with the children in schools with more funds available.

The trouble with this argument is the same as with many other plans for federal aid. The fact is omitted, or glossed over, that the only source of money in the United States is the taxpayer. He must pay his bill, regardless of what method is used for raising funds for education, and the federal method means more funds wasted for administrative purposes.

It is time the people realized that the best and cheapest way to help education is to help it ourselves, raise needed funds by whatever means possible, but raise it. Experience has shown that for every dollar sent to Washington we are lucky to get back fifty cents in return.

There are far too many people living off the rest of the people today without increasing that number. The Hoover committee made a thorough investigation of the federal government and recommended a vast cut in personnel in ever branch and bureau and department. Federal aid to education would be a long step in the wrong direction.

As Dr. J. W. McGinnis leaves the city council, I'd like to point out how long and how faithfully he has served Ord residents. Representing the third ward for many years, he has nevertheless had the welfare of the whole city at heart, and he has voted his honest convictions whether he thought they would increase his popularity or not.

It is difficult to get successful business men to drop their own affairs and interest themselves in civic and governmental welfare. It is a real sacrifice to give up hours that are solely needed in your own business establishment, and devote them to a job like being a city councilman, where the comments that reach your ears are likely to be stiff criticism.

Everyone knows the pay given our public officers is merely a token. Staying on at their own desks those spare hours would bring sounder financial returns to the men on our council, certainly.

And so it has been with Dr. McGinnis. His own business overwhelms him, and his work begins before you are up, and before I am up. And it lasts long after dark. (If you don't believe me, try to phone him in the evening!)

It is fine to have a change, and no doubt Dr. McGinnis is happy to lose his place on the council and rest a bit. I feel sure Otto Pecenka will be a conscientious public servant. But before we turn this corner, let's pause and puff our hats to J. W. McGinnis, and the others who often interrupt their own work to puzzle over public problems.

Everyone is pleased about John Piskorski's editorial stirring up some action for the younger generation.

First printed in the Ord high school paper, he called attention to the fact that Ord did not have too many youth activities available for footloose boys and girls.

Reprinted in the Quiz, the front page, it stirred up Mayor Blessing and some of our other good citizens to do some lively pondering.

They went into action. And a wonderful solution was reached: open the Veterans' club to sophomores and those up to age twenty-one, on Friday evenings from 7:30 until 11:30. Close the liquor bar of the club, but let food, soft drinks, the juke box, the dancing floor, the several game machines, be at the disposal of the young people.

They will like it. The Veterans' club is attractive, with deep, springy booths, and much chrome furniture. It is kept clean, food is attractive, the place is pleasant, and Junior Neumayer keeps order at all times.

We may not have slot machines these days, but this is once the boys and girls of our community hit the jackpot!

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Every so often a man runs across somebody different. At Lion's Club this week we had a guest speaker who goes by the name of Charlie Marshall. Ever heard of him? He just happens to be the president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. He had paid a visit to the ag department of the North Loup schools that day, and Sup'l Dunklau had persuaded him to stay over and pay a call to the Lions. He is one of those rare specimens who can give a talk, drive home a lot of facts, and do it in an entertaining way. That is just what he did that night.

Left to his own choice of subject, he decided to give a thumbnail sketch of what the Farm Bureau Federation really is. By the time he got through, every member of the club knew more about and felt a greater interest in the organization he represents. Important was the fact that the organization sees eye to eye with most of the farmers in this area, several of whom were present. Mr. Marshall made it very clear to all that the Bureau is not in favor of the Brannon Plan; that the farmer expects prices to follow the trend of the demand; all the farmer needs or expects is a protective bottom level price to prevent the bottom falling out and bring on another depression.

In giving an idea of how government controls work, Mr. Marshall gave a number of apt illustrations. He told of the farmer who had plenty of butter to sell, and the storekeeper, who could use the butter. He did not feel that he could afford to buy the butter outright, so he made arrangements to trade the farmer a pair of socks for a pound of butter. Then he went home and told his wife to get busy and unravel a knit bedspread they had and knit the yarn into socks. When the farmer came in he had a pair of socks to trade for butter. This went on until the bedspread was all knit into socks, and the merchant's wife found she had an odd sock left over. Her husband asked the farmer if he would take the odd sock for half a pound of butter. "I'll do better than that; I'll give you a whole pound," the farmer replied. "You see, we haven't been wearing those socks at all. My wife has been unraveling them and knitting them into a bedspread, and we need just that much more yarn to finish it."

The farmers do not want security, according to President Marshall, who told the story of a German immigrant who came into eastern Nebraska in the early days, and, through strict application to farming became independently wealthy, at the same time finding time and money to raise a family, put them through college, and give them a far better start in life than their father had.

It occurred to Marshall that this man's ideas on security might be worth listening to, so he asked him what he thought about the idea.

His reply sums up the proposition of security so well that no further comment is necessary.

"We farmers don't want security," he said. "My hogs, they get plenty of slop in the trough, plenty of feed on hand. If I find out about any feed that is better, I get that feed for them. They get a shelter when it storms. I put in dry straw, when it gets dirty, I take it out and put in clean straw. I do everything for these hogs. They don't have a thing to worry about. The one thing they don't know is they are all going to be butchered some day."

That name Charlie Marshall called to mind a Charlie of the early days who was vice-president under McKinley, as I recall it. There the resemblance ended, for the vice-president was a little fellow who rattled around in his chair about like Poynter did when he was governor of Nebraska. He was not much for size, physically, but he had quite a brain and was advanced to the supreme court later on. All this will be very ancient history to most Quiz readers, and it was to the present Charlie Marshall, who is a big fellow, the type you would expect to find at the head of a big organization. He is a dirt farmer, and did most of his farming in the territory around Grant, Nebr. Out on the high line of the Burlington about which there has been so much agitation recently, the farmers and townspeople claiming they have not been getting service from the railroad, and the railroad claiming the line is not paying out. Eventually it will be settled, and settled the railroad's way.

The weather played hob with my part of the reducing contest. After getting down to 191 pounds March 1st, a drop of ten pounds in a little more than three weeks, the spring I was hoping for failed to arrive and I could not get out and work in the yard, as I had planned. There is plenty of wood to cut and trees to trim. Later there will be a lot of spading to do. The only way to reduce is to do it by a combination of dieting and working. There is little use of keeping up the dieting end unless you can get out and work off a few pounds every day. The result is that I have not only failed to hold my own, but I have been losing ground a little, so when I get started again, I will have to take off a few extra pounds.

Meanwhile Claude Honnold, living, as he does, in Oklahoma, has had much better weather for his reducing program, and should get quite a head start. There is just one thing wrong with this idea of dieting and saving food. What is the use of saving food when the government has too much already and don't know what to do with the surplus? The boys in congress did one smart thing when they decided not to send a lot of money to Europe, replacing it with food-stuffs of all kinds. It won't hurt those people over there to eat a few of those dried eggs that our boys had to eat on the battle fronts of the recent war.

I can remember when everybody in this country, and I mean everybody, was getting along on sowl-belly and corn bread and home made sorghum. A lot of kids had to eat that diet and like it, and they seem to have developed into a pretty husky bunch of fellows, as a lot of them did their bit on the battlefields of the first World War. In 1894 nobody was any better than anybody else. That diet of corn bread was good for them, and half the dentists starved to death. I am not so sure but that people were healthier then than they are now, in spite of the modern health foods we have and the dozens of new medical discoveries we hear about over the radio, some of which will cure anything from falling hair to in-growing toenails.

Give to Conquer Cancer

Strike Back!

THE fight is on to save more lives in 1950! Now is the time to back science to the hilt in its battle against cancer. Last year, 67,000 men, women and children were rescued from cancer. Many more can be saved—if you strike back at cancer. Give! Give your dimes and quarters and dollars. We need more treatment facilities; physicians, medical equipment, and laboratories. Research and educational programs depend on you! Your contribution helps guard your neighbor, yourself, your loved ones. This year, strike back at cancer... Give more than before... Give generously!

Give to Conquer Cancer

Strike Back!

THE fight is on to save more lives in 1950! Now is the time to back science to the hilt in its battle against cancer. Last year, 67,000 men, women and children were rescued from cancer. Many more can be saved—if you strike back at cancer. Give! Give your dimes and quarters and dollars. We need more treatment facilities; physicians, medical equipment, and laboratories. Research and educational programs depend on you! Your contribution helps guard your neighbor, yourself, your loved ones. This year, strike back at cancer . . . Give more than before . . . Give generously!

Norman Krebs was a Thursday dinner guest at the George Tatlow home. Mrs. Joe T. Moravec accompanied Mrs. Dean Bresley and children of Ord to St. Paul Wednesday. Mrs. Phil Weiker accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Miller of Ohio to Grand Island Wednesday to visit Nora Lindsay. Mr. and Mrs. Will Hayes of Plainview came Tuesday to visit at the Carl Barnes, Jr. home. Manley Barr received word Friday of the death of his mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Barr of York. She was 90 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Jude Madsen visited Thursday at the Minnie Tatlow home. Mrs. Blanche Chambers and Mrs. Bell Chambers were bus passengers to Scotia Monday. Al Weirich was a caller in Grand Island Monday. R. J. Rasmussen, Chester Wells and Alvin Manchester accompanied stock to Omaha Monday.

J. P. Welker John Phillip Welker, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Welker, was born September 12, 1857, at Fremont, O., and after an illness of three years passed away at his home in Cotesfield, early Saturday morning, April 1, 1950. He was 92 years, six months and 19 days of age. His early days were spent in Fremont, his birthplace. There he grew to manhood. At the age of 23 he came to Cotesfield and engaged in farming. On May 17, 1889, he was united in marriage to Miss Josephine Spilneck at Elba. They continued to live on the farm until 1922, when they retired and moved to Cotesfield. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in Fremont. He later joined the E. U. B. church of Cotesfield in 1922 and was a very faithful member until his health failed him. Phil, as he was known here, was an out-of-doors man. He loved fishing and hunting and was an expert marksman. Last year Mr. and Mrs. Welker celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Preceding him in death were four brothers, four sisters and his parents. Surviving are his wife, a sister, Mrs. Susie Wirth, Fremont, Ohio. Services were held Tuesday afternoon at 1:40 at the home and 2:00 o'clock at the E.U.B. church with Rev. M. J. Lefener officiating. Mrs. A. K. Coombs, Mrs. H. DeLand, Al Weirich and Allen Keep, sang, "The Old Rugged Cross," "Gods' Sonnoway" and "Asleep in Jesus." Mrs. Erving Hanzel accompanied them and played the prelude and recessional. Flower bearers were nieces, Mrs. William Suntych, Mrs. Henry Svoboda, Mrs. Daniel Svoboda and Mrs. Albert Ingerle. Burial was in Cotesfield cemetery. Besides the many friends and relatives from Elba, Farwell and Scotia were Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Miller, Fremont, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. James Matousek and sons, Clark; Mrs. Agnes King, Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Horkey, Ravenna; and Cecil Tuma, of Lincoln.

Comstock School Annual Is Printed

The Comstock school annual that is published each year by the senior students of the Comstock high school was given to the press last week for printing. The Comstock printery will again print the annual this year.

The book promised to bring bigger and better features to the public since it will contain more pictures and pages than any other annual that has been published at the Comstock high school. It will also be bound with celluloid rings instead of staples which will make it a sturdy book.

Annals are intended to give the public and students a complete summary of the activities of the Comstock public schools. Annals are books that get more interesting and valuable the older they get.

The seniors have started to sell the annuals since it will be necessary for them to sell one hundred books before they will have sufficient funds to take the educational trip which they plan. The educational trips the seniors of Comstock take each year are enjoyed by many schools. It is an "Educational Trip," not a "Sneak Day."

The President's Shirt

Saw a news picture of President Truman vacationing in the Sunny South, resplendent in a high powered sports shirt hanging outside his britches. He looked happy, but a brother editor in western Nebraska wasn't. He enclosed a clipping of the picture in a letter to us and scribbled on it: "Nice shirt. The collector of internal revenue just got mine." — W. H. Plourd in the Nance County Journal.

MRS. ETHEL HAMER Quiz Representative North Loup

Interview Prospective Doctors

W. H. Vodehnal and Roy Stine were in Omaha Wednesday where they interviewed five doctors at the University hospital in regard to locating in North Loup. All are interested at the hospital and will graduate in June. Prospects are that several of the men will come to North Loup in the near future to look the situation over.

Mr. Vodehnal and Mr. Stine felt encouraged about the situation, since the trend seems to be for the doctors to choose a rural community for a location. They also visited with Donna Manchester, who is a student nurse at the hospital. Mrs. Stine went to Omaha with them and spent the time shopping.

Mrs. Emma Madsen and Mrs. Agnes Manchester spent the Easter week end in Lincoln with Mr. and Mrs. Marnie Mason. Donna Manchester came from Omaha for a part of the day.

Rev. Francis Saunders of Denver, Colo., has accepted a call to the Seventh Day Baptist church in North Loup effective August 1. Rev. Saunders is now serving the church in Denver, and visited here recently when he and Rev. Davis of the Boulder church assisted in some special meetings. Rev. and Mrs. Saunders have three children. Rev. Ethel has resigned as pastor of the North Loup church effective June 1, and will go to DeRuyter, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dunklau and three children went to Lincoln Friday morning where he spent Friday and Saturday attending a school superintendents meeting. They returned Sunday evening.

We have one farm yet that you could have possession of now. It is a 1/2 section and a lot of pasture, a good house with REA in, and 6 miles to town, 2 miles to gravel. Very good price and some terms.

One small place right near in and a lot of improvements can be had for $1500 and have it right now.

We have a 10 acre place, finest in the valley, at right price. Brigades fine, come in and see it to believe what a fine deal it is.

Card of Thanks

I wish to take this method to convey my thanks to my many friends and relatives for the many kindnesses to me during my six weeks of confinement to my bed at my home. For the lovely flowers, gifts, cards and letters of encouragement. Last but not least by any means my thanks to the many friends who called to make the lonely hours. Much shorter by their kindly words and pleasant smiles. Sincerely Mrs. C. W. Clark

Proceedings of the County Board

The County Board met on the above date with all members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read. Bank reports were as follows: Nebraska State Bank, $95,290.02; North Loup Valley Bank, $14,990.40. The bond of Mack Long, Road Overseer for Liberty Township was presented and approved by the Bonds Committee. Motion made and carried to accept the report of the Bonds Committee.

Motion made and carried to re-appoint Alfred Hill as member of the Soldier's Relief Committee for a period of five years.

The following Resolution was presented:

Resolution
WHEREAS, this Board after careful consideration has found that taxes for the years herein after set out which were assessed upon the property described herein, to-wit: Lots Three and Four in Block Seven, Green's Addition to the Village of North Loup, Valley County, Nebraska; 1927, $2.78, plus interest and advertising; 1913 $1.28, plus interest and advertising; Tax Division PP in the Southeast Quarter of Section 23 in Township 17 North of Range 16, West of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Valley County, Nebraska; 1901, $33, 1903, $37, plus interest and advertising have been paid, but through mistake and inadvertence were not properly credited and now erroneously and unjustly constitute liens upon said real estate.

NOW, therefore, be it resolved that the said taxes be cancelled by the County Treasurer of Valley County, Nebraska, and that a certified copy of this Resolution be filed with the County Treasurer and which will constitute his authority to cancel the same.

Motion made and carried to adopt the above resolution.

Motion made and carried to re-lease the Old Age Assistance Loan on Lot 13, Block 3, 1st addition to Elyria, Nebr.

The following resolution was presented:

Resolution
WHEREAS, it is the opinion of this Board that a hard surfaced highway running from North Platte to Sioux City is advisable and necessary and that said highway should follow the following course through Valley County:

Running from the Village of Arcadia East to the Southeast corner of Section Nineteen in Township Seventeen, Range Fourteen, thence North to the Southwest corner of Section Twenty-nine, Township Nineteen, Range Fourteen, thence in a Northeasterly direction to connect with the present highway number Eleven at the West edge of Ord; thence East through Ord to the Southeast corner of the Northeast Quarter of Section Twenty-four, Township Nineteen, Range Fourteen, thence North to connect with Highway number Fifty-eight at the Southeast corner of the Northeast Quarter of Section Thirteen, in Township Nineteen, Range Fourteen.

NOW, therefore be it Resolved that the Department of Roads and Irrigation of the State of Nebraska be and they hereby are requested to take such steps as are necessary to establish said Highway as above set out and that a certified copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Department of Roads and Irrigation of the State of Nebraska.

On roll call the above Resolution was unanimously adopted.

Hen Reads Quiz, Lays Huge Egg

We've known for a long time that nearly all the people around here read the Quiz, but now it appears that even the chickens are reading it.

Spurred on by last week's story about the big egg, Sally June, an Austr White hen owned by Mrs. Edgar Maxson who lives on a ranch north of Burwell, put forth some effort and produced a really stupendous egg.

The omelet candidate is eight inches around the long axis and seven and three-quarters inches around the short dimension.

"Now, I want you to be very careful with this," H. D. Leggett said as he handed the egg, which Mrs. Maxson had brought in, to the Quiz photographer to have its portrait made. "You see," he explained, "this is probably the largest egg that any hen in this part of the country will ever lay. I'm sure we won't see another one like it, so treat it gently."

Egg on the left was laid by Mrs. Maxson's hen. Egg on the right is just an ordinary, normal egg. — QuizPic

Redistricting Meeting Is Held at Broken Bow

Valley County Representatives Hear Hawley.

Four members of the Valley county school redistricting committee attended the redistricting meeting in Broken Bow last Tuesday. They were George Bell, Charles Radil, Rudolph Kokes and William Beran.

Also present were representatives of redistricting committees from Garfield, Sherman, Loup and Custer counties. They heard an orientation talk and discussion on the new redistricting enabling act and learned of the procedures to be used in accomplishing redistricting.

Stanley J. Hawley, director of school district reorganization in the department of public instruction, told the 26 county representatives that "this matter of reorganization is extremely important" and that it would be a mistake to make any decisions without first gathering sound facts on which to base the decisions.

Hawley stressed the idea of giving all sides equal opportunities for discussion on each and every situation which occurs. The residents, he said, being the parents of the school children and the taxpayers, are definitely interested in anything which affects them either as taxpayers or as parents.

During the discussion, the question of contract agreements between school districts arose. "I think we have some very unfair situations," commented Hawley. He pointed out that in many cases the residents of the contracting districts pay less per child for the schooling than do the residents of the servicing districts. This matter should be studied thoroughly, he added.

The value of larger rural schools, where more teachers can be employed and the cost per pupil can be lowered was also stressed by Hawley. In addition, he suggested that a method of getting better roads to farm school districts and having the bus get stuck several times on the way to school. Aside from this minor value of a bus, Hawley stated that bus transportation for many pupils is far more economical than individual pupils.

In general, Hawley concluded, school redistricting is important, and is probably the coming thing in Nebraska. However, he stressed, the law LB27, is not a mandate to the school districts to reorganize; it is rather an act enabling them to carry out reorganization where it is proved to be the best for all concerned.

State Highway Patrol to Have Officer Here

A member of the Nebraska State Highway Patrol will be stationed permanently in Ord beginning May 1st, Cpl. Guy L. Smith of Broken Bow announced this week.

Selected for the job is Patrolman Otto Zapp of Lexington, who will move here with his wife at that time. The couple are presently in the hospital.

Quiz 1950 Fishing Contest Gets Underway This Week

$150.00 in Cash Prizes Offered for Biggest Fish

Carp, Walleyed Pike Are New Additions to Contest List.

The second annual Quiz fishing contest got under way this week, with announcement by Quiz management that $150.00 in cash prizes will be given for the biggest fish caught in local waters.

Six contest divisions are made, with $25 offered in each division. First prize in each division is $12.50, second prize $7.50 and third prize $5.00. Prizes are offered for bass, walleyed pike, catfish, bluegill, carp or buffalo and for the biggest game fish caught by a woman.

Carp or buffalo, and walleyed pike are new additions to the list of eligible fish this year, replacing trout and crappie, for which there were but few entries last year.

The contest is limited to persons having a legal residence in Valley, Greeley, Wheeler, Loup, Garfield, the north tier of townships in Howard and Sherman counties and the north five of the east range of townships in Custer county.

The fish must be caught in the water of these areas and may be caught with any legal equipment.

Official opening date of the contest is Friday, April 21 and closing date is midnight, October 30.

Contest entries must be made at the office of the Ord Quiz. Each entry must be accompanied by a weight statement, stating that the fish was weighed on a government inspected scale and that the weighing was witnessed by at least one other person.

Each entry must be accompanied by a photograph of the fish and a brief statement telling where it was caught, how and when. Photographs may be taken by the fisherman, or if the fish is brought to Ord the pictures will be taken by Marvin Keschull, Quiz staff photographer. All photographs remain the property of the Quiz.

Those who bring their fish to Ord may have them weighed at the North Side Market, official weight station for the contest.

Last year's fishing contest provided several real records for fishermen to try to equal. Archie Brant of Ord led the catfish division with 14 lbs. 3 ozs. Biggest bluegill was 9 1/2 ozs, entered by Lynn Rice of Ord. Edward Krikac of Comstock walked off with honors in the bass division with a 5 lb. 2 oz. entry. Mrs. Joe Zablouil of Scottia won the woman's division with a 7 lb. 13 oz. catfish.

Travis Receives Recognition from Weather Bureau

Horace W. Travis received a lapel pin from the United States Weather Bureau this week in recognition of his service as weather observer in Ord since August 1, 1927.

Travis has just been struck by the Department of Commerce in honor of the observers who have recorded weather observations for climatological purposes. These testify to service of 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, or more years.

The award is in the form of a Department of Commerce seal with the length of service numerals superimposed.

The records made by the cooperative observers of the Weather Bureau, one or more of whom is to be found in almost every county, provide the basis for climatic study and the many industrial, agricultural, commercial, and other uses to which the records are put.

The observers not reporting by telephone or telegraph have served with no monetary compensation, but having an interest in keeping a weather record and desirous of having a part in the work, which individually and in the aggregate serves the community, state, and nation.

Mrs. Leggett Confirmed as GAX Nat'l. Editor

Mrs. Eugene Leggett returned from Iowa City, Ia., where she attended the national convention of Gamma Alpha Chi, national professional advertising fraternity for women, which was held on the University of Iowa campus.

Veterans Plan Permanent Shooting Grounds

If plans of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion materialize, Ord recreation facilities will be enlarged by a permanent regulation trap shooting grounds before the end of summer.

The veterans' groups, who have been holding blue rock shoots throughout the winter, have already purchased a new automatic trap unit. If the city council can be persuaded to furnish an acre or two of ground at the airport the veterans will install a permanent shooting grounds there.

Plans are for installation of a trap house, concrete apron for marksmen, and other facilities to make it possible for Ord to hold registered blue rock shoots next winter.

Ord Colts to Open Season Sunday Against Primrose

Beran Expects to Field Good Team; Mustangs to Open May 7th.

The 1950 baseball season will break wide open in Ord next Sunday when at 3:00 p. m. the Ord Colts under field management of Vern Beran will meet Primrose in a Mid-Nebraska league game.

Complete season's schedule of this league, which has Greeley, Spalding, Wolbach and Belgrade as other members, will be seen elsewhere in this issue.

Ord's entry in the Mid-Nebraska day league will be known as Colts this season while Ord's senior team, which plays in the Mid-State Night league, will be known as the Mustangs.

Make-up of the Colts team will not be known until game time Sunday but Manager Beran expects to put a worthy team on the field. His starting line-up will be chosen from among former American Legion Junior players with some of the older players to steady them down. He will have plenty of pitching talent to select from, among hurling prospects being "Giz" Richardson, Bill Anderson, Dan Dilla, Don Patrick, Jim Finley and probably others.

Bad weather has hampered baseball practices this spring and Ord managers scarcely know what players will show to best advantage. First full scale work-out was held Sunday, with evening sessions under way since, and these show there will be plenty of baseball talent to select from for both teams.

Manager Walt Douthit's Mustangs do not open their season until Sunday, May 7, and then play Sunday only until the first of June when Wednesday night and Sunday night games get under way. Other teams in the night league include Loup City, Shelton, St. Paul, Ravenna, Broken Bow and Ansley.

Line-up of the Mustangs is very uncertain at this early date also. Battery probably will be Bill Novotny with Stanley Johnson behind the plate. Dick Beran, Don Patrick and Jim Finley are capable relief pitchers or alternate starting selections as is Dale Richardson, if he spends the summer in Ord.

One of the infield bright spots in early practices was the work of Ray Falter at third base. Though he has been out of baseball harness for several years, Ray starred in northeast Nebraska baseball for many seasons and if he can get in shape will stage a comeback this year on the Mustangs. Another old-timer, Harry Vail, has looked good on second, as has Roland Moore. Dick Beran and Bob Philbrick were hitting the ball hard Monday evening. There are many other candidates who are showing promise but the line-up cannot be known until work-outs have been under way for a longer time.

Other teams in the league are getting sharpened up for a fast season also. Loup City will have Dale Kreuger as hurler and Bills Baugh as battery mate, the latter having caught last season for Holdrege in the Nebraska Independent league. Don Clark, University of Nebraska athlete, also will play with Loup City.

At St. Paul the new manager is Lyle Leth and a fast team is in prospect. Lights at the St. Paul field were damaged to the extent of $600 in the March 7 storm and

Kenneth Clement, Ord Senior, Wins Oratory Contest

Awarded Trip to District Meet in Minnesota, Free.

Kenneth Clement, Ord high school senior, won state honors at the Agricultural Judging contests and FFA convention in Lincoln last week.

Ord was represented by Clement, Leo Thompson, Harold Nelson, James Svoboda, Lonnie Dye, and Francis Zablouil.

Kenneth's speech, "The Heritage," was chosen over the orations of other district winners who came from Waverly, Crawford, Columbus, Grant, Fairbury, Nelson, and Valley.

The veterans' groups, who have been holding blue rock shoots throughout the winter, have already purchased a new automatic trap unit. If the city council can be persuaded to furnish an acre or two of ground at the airport the veterans will install a permanent shooting grounds there.

Plans are for installation of a trap house, concrete apron for marksmen, and other facilities to make it possible for Ord to hold registered blue rock shoots next winter.

Kenneth Clement.

Kenneth also answered correctly all the questions asked by the judges and won the top award of $100, a gold medal, and an expense-paid trip to the regional contest in Minnesota, next August. There, 44 state champion orators will vie for national honors.

A number of radio stations will broadcast Clement's speech, and he will be interviewed this week over WOW by Mal Hansen.

The other representatives also won their share of honors at the state meet. In animal husbandry, Leo Thompson won a superior ribbon, and rated second among 150 boys in judging all classes of livestock. Leo also took second in crops management.

Harold Nelson scored excellent in both animal husbandry and dairy cattle judging, and received two ribbons.

In dairy products judging, Ord was one of two teams given a superior rating. Individual superiors in this contest were awarded to James Svoboda and Lonnie Dye. A white ribbon was received by Francis Zablouil.

The competition was held at the Agricultural college, and most of the 115 Nebraska departments of vocational agriculture were represented. Hotels could not accommodate the vast crowd of boys, which was said to be bigger than that during the state basketball tournament.

Emil Placek Is Memorial Day Speaker Here

Emil Placek, prominent Wahoo banker and business man, will make the Memorial Day address at the annual program held here on May 30.

The program is a joint affair of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, together with musicians from Ord high school.

Business Week for Commercial Class

Nineteen girls from the Ord high school commercial class are getting office practice and business training this week while working at various business places around town. Mrs. Edw. L. Kokes is the commercial teacher.

Ord Women to Be at B&PW Meeting

Six Ord women will be among the 300 delegates of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs attending the 1950 convention of the body in Omaha.

Attending from Ord will be the new president, Maude Holden, Miss Katherine Helzer, Miss Irene Auble, Mrs. Carol Mortensen, and Mrs. Helen Kokes.

The convention opens April 21, with the big task of arranging the 1950-51 program facing the group. The theme of the year's work will be "Measure Up."

The Omaha American Legion chorus will sing at the opening session of the convention, followed by an address by Miss Olive Huston of New York, an executive director of the National Federation.

All sessions of the convention will be held at the Hotel Fontenelle, and will end Sunday with the installation of new officers and a post-convention board meeting.

Ord IOOF Lodge to Be Host at District Meeting

Over 100 Expected for Tuesday Night Program, Supper.

Ord Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F. will be host to the district meeting of the I. O. O. F. here Wednesday evening, April 26. About 100 are expected to attend.

Lodge members from Arcadia, Ericson, North Loup, Burwell, Loup City, and St. Paul will gather at the Odd Fellows hall for the evening program. Grand Master Earl E. Van Del of Mitchell will be here as well as Guy Spencer, Grand Secretary, of York.

District Deputy GM, Lester Bly of Arcadia, is in charge of program arrangements. The initiatory degree will be conferred during the evening by the Ord lodge.

Wednesday's conclave will be the first district meeting that has been held in Ord for several years. After the program, the group will retire to the Masonic Temple for a chicken supper, served by the Rebekah lodge of Ord.

The Ord lodge has about 75 members. Clyde Baker is Noble Grand of the lodge, Ray Falter is Vice Grand, and Lloyd Wilson is secretary.

Giant Drier Is Installed as Alfalfa Dehydrating Plant Expands Operations

A $50,000 expansion program is underway at the C. J. Saunders alfalfa mill east of Ord. Eugene J. Kovach, big, friendly manager of the mill, told the Quiz late last week that the plant, with greatly expanded facilities, will be ready for operation within a month.

"We'll be able to handle several times as much hay as we did before," commented Kovach, "and that should be quite a help to farmers around here."

The first step toward increasing the production of the mill was completed with the building of a new corrugated iron hay shed to replace the one which burned some time ago. The new shed was finished this winter.

The next step in boosting the output of the alfalfa meal processing plant is the installation of a huge drier which arrived from Colorado on two railroad flatcars last week.

The mammoth cylinder will dehydrate 30 tons (one carload) of hay in 12 hours. The small drum which the mill had used previously will still be kept in operation. It has a capacity of only nine tons in 12 hours.

Music Students Win Thirteen Superior Scores

Ord Rates High at District Meet in Hastings.

Ord high school students who went to the district contest at Hastings Friday and Saturday came back with 13 superior ratings to top all other schools in the district.

Students from Ord also received four excellent and four good ratings.

One hundred thirty-seven boys and girls made the trip to the two-day meet. Two buses and about a dozen cars furnished the transportation.

Thirty-five attended the small groups and solo competition of Friday, while the band, glee clubs, and chorus were present for the Saturday performances.

Ord was the only school to win a superior rating in band, boys' glee club, girls' glee club, and mixed chorus in Class B.

The students are under the tutelage of Wm. Nelson, high school music director. Winners of superior ratings: Charlene Severns, tympani solo; Pat Ball, flute solo; Geraldine Koelling, tenor sax solo; girls' triple trio (Geraldine Koelling, Genevieve Boyce Pat Ball, Charlene Severns, Charlene Blessing, Marlene Norman, Rogne Rogers, Amelia Novosad and Joan Blessing); boys' octet (Jerry McMindes, Keith Cook Alvin Kapustka, Duane Wolfe, Gerald Severson, Don Genski, Kenneth Clement, and Vernon Wells); madrigal group; Charlene Blessing, French horn solo; French horn quartet (Charlene Blessing, Mary Thompson, Virginia Struckman, and Sharon Olsson); brass quartet (Paul Stoddard, Galen Allen, Rich Heuck and Joyce Wilson); band, boys' glee club, girls' glee club, and mixed chorus.

Excellent ratings: Amy Christoffersen, girls' high voice; boys' quartet; girls' trio; Amelia Novosad, girl's low voice; Jerry McMindes, boy's medium voice. Good ratings were received by: Darlene Novosad, girl's high voice; Don Kasper, tuba solo and sax quartet.

Michelson Is Assessed Heavy Fine

Must Pay $7,500 on Each of Two Income Tax Counts.

James A. Michelson, Grand Island business man, was fined $7,500 and costs on each of two counts of evading income taxes. He appeared before Federal Judge James A. Donohoe last Thursday at Omaha.

Michelson pleaded no defense to the charges. He was ordered into custody of the U. S. marshal until he paid the fines. Judge Donohoe, however, rescinded the order and gave Michelson until noon Friday to raise the money.

Assistant District Attorney John Deming said Michelson, a real estate man and jeweler, listed a net income of $6,302.26 for the year 1944, and paid a tax of $1,092.66 on the amount. For 1945, Deming said, Michelson had a stated income of $15,901.68, and paid a tax of $4,679.77.

The government alleged, Deming said, that for the 1944 calendar year the actual income was $47,427.74, and Michelson should have paid a tax of $24,342.23.

For the 1945 calendar year, Deming said, the government alleged Michelson had an income of $43,923.02, and should have paid a tax of $21,943.40.

For the two year period, the government alleged Michelson owed $10,513.20 in income tax. Mr. Michelson has relatives in Valley county and often visits here.

Dr. R. J. Lynn to Begin Medical Practice in Ord

Coming from Rock Rapids, Iowa, by Fifth of May.

Dr. R. J. Lynn of Rock Rapids, Ia., was in Ord Sunday making arrangements to begin medical practice in this city. He intends to move here by the middle of May.

Office space and living quarters above the Auble store have been contracted for by Dr. Lynn. Lynn, about 30, has had a year of internship, a year of residency in surgery, a year of practice of general surgery and a year of general practice in Rock Rapids after his graduation from medical school.

The wife of Dr. Lynn is a registered nurse and is his assistant. She intends to come to Ord in about two weeks to arrange the office and prepare for its opening.

Tax Assessing Behind Schedule

Assessing of personal property in Valley county is far behind schedule, according to County Assessor W. C. H. Noll. "Last year at this time we had over 3,000 schedules on file," Noll said, "as of today we have 2381 schedules."

Receives Pin for Weather Work

Believing that observers in the work of recording weather observations for climatological purposes deserve some form of recognition for their services, which can be worn, lapel buttons for men and pins for women have been provided by the Weather Bureau. These testify to service of 10, 20, 30, 40, 50, or more years. One of these awards has been made to W. J. Ramsey of Arcadia, Nebr., who began this work at Arcadia, Aug. 9, 1931.

The award is in the form of a Department of Commerce Seal with the length of service numerals superimposed. The records made by the cooperative observers of the Weather Bureau, one or more of whom is to be found in almost every country, provide the basis for climatic study and the many industrial, agricultural, commercial, and other uses to which the records are put. The observers not reporting by telephone or telegraph have served with no monetary compensation, but having an interest in keeping a weather record and desirous of having a part in the work, which individually and in the aggregate serves the community, State and Nation, a large number have served faithfully.

Music Groups Rate High at Contest

On Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15, 60 vocal and instrumental music students from Arcadia school participated in the District IV contest at Hastings. Nearly forty schools were represented at this contest in the Class A, B, C, and D divisions.

Of Arcadia's 11 entries, five received Superior or I ratings, four were given excellent or II ratings, one group received a III rating, and one group a IV rating. Arcadia's four large groups, Band, Mixed chorus, Girls' glee and Boys' Glee all received the highly desired superior ratings. To this writer's knowledge, Ord was the only school in District VI contest to win like honors with its large groups.

Arcadia's band and boys' glee won the only superior ratings given in those two divisions. In the mixed chorus, Ansley received the only other superior, and in girls' glee club, Nelson received the only other superior. Leander Mendyk, Arcadia senior entered in the Class C Cornet solo division received the fifth superior rating. Leander, with less than three years of experience played the difficult "Sounds from the Hudson" by Herbert L. Clark. He showed up very favorably with Class B and A contestants in the same division. Other groups and soloists participating were as follows: Girls' medium voice, Carol Adams II, Shirley Gates, II, Girls' medium voice, Janet Wibbels II, Clarinet quartet II, consisting of John Mason, Carol Adams, Roberta Anderson and Donna Anderson; Girls' Sextet, III consisting of Bonnie Evans, Barbara Richardson, Carol Adams, Shirley Gates, Janet Wibbels and Doris Welty. Brass quartet VI, Leander Mendyk, Barbara Mason, Patty Erickson and Dixie Owens.

Dixie Owens served as accompanist for all soloists and vocal groups except the Boys' glee club. Janet Wibbels was the accompanist for the boys.

Special Services Held at Baptist Church Sunday

Visitors from all over Nebraska joined the local members of the Baptist church on Sunday to help them dedicate their new church structure. Services started at 10:30 in the morning with an anniversary service to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Baptist church. Rev. David Hammer, Platte Valley Missionary of Pine Bluff, Wyo., was the special speaker at this service.

Special music was featured at all services during the day. Older members gave short talks on the history of the church and letters from former pastors were read. At noon the church members, friends and visitors enjoyed a fellowship dinner together at the church. The dedication service started at 3:00 with Rev. Andrew Swanson of Oakland, Nebr. presenting the main address of the afternoon. Letters of congratulation from other Nebraska churches on the completion of the Arcadia church were read. A special offering was taken which was almost sufficient to furnish paying for the church building.

Following the dedication service lunch was served to out of town visitors and any others who desired to stay. The pastor Rev. McColly and the members were well pleased with the success of the day's services.

Special services will be held April 18-30 inclusive at 8:00 at the church with Rev. Swanson of Chicago in charge of the preaching service.

Calhoun returned from a three months trapping trip to the north part of the state and reported good results. — Frank Glover was building a new house in the northwest part of Ord. — The people of Ord were of the opinion that they did not want any more of C. L. Anderson as superintendent of schools.

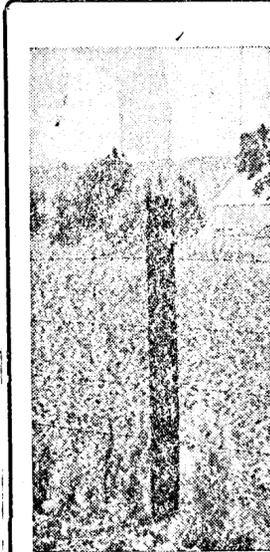

Sixty Years Ago — Under the heading "Whiskey Straight," the Ord Quiz gave the results of the first election held as a city. The high license ticket was elected by from 60 to 70 votes. C. B. Coffin was mayor, Charles Feiger clerk, E. K. Harris treasurer, T. H. Prentice engineer, and H. G. Swift police judge. Two councilmen were elected in each ward, one for one year, the other for two years. Elected were, first ward: J. H. Carson, W. T. Barstow; second ward, W. D. Ogden, J. C. Work; third ward, J. W. Beran, Nelson Mason. — W. A. Anderson had an article in the Quiz urging the planting of trees in the Ord cemetery, as a result, the Ord cemetery today is one of the beauty spots of the town. — The county supervisors had appropriated $200 for the purpose of beautifying the courthouse square, and the citizens of Ord were to give as much more. — Ord was visited by a heavy snowstorm, which the Quiz hoped would do much toward insuring a crop. — The petition of S. A. Parks, county superintendent was granted, raising his salary from $500 to $1,000 per year.

Sixty-five Years Ago — George Knecht was having his building remodeled and the masons were building an oven in the basement. Bakers were not troubled with shipped-in goods in those days. — Ira I. Snidder of Schuyler was in Ord looking for a location in which to start a book business. He looked in vain, as the saloons had taken the last available space. — There was much complaint about the high rates charged by the Union Pacific for delivering freight in North Loup. They had no competition and could charge what they pleased. — C. E. Kemp, Ord painter, had recently completed repainting the Valley House, doing a fine job, of course. — Ord was undergoing its annual clean-up campaign, and the marshal was ordering all rubbish removed from alleys. — Andy Kendall, put in some cough medicine, and some liniment to rub on his shoulder. He rubbed the cough medicine on his shoulder and drank the liniment, nearly burning out the department of the interior. — A. M. Robbins received $200 worth of new law books, making his library the finest in Ord.

F. Brandenburg, 79, Burwell Resident, Dies April 10

Was Nebraskan
Ranch Until 1945.

Franklin Wilmatt Brandenburg, son of John N. and Frances Brandenburg, was born in Roseburg, Ind., Dec. 27, 1870, and passed away at his home in Burwell, April 10, 1950, at the age of 79 years, three months and 13 days.

Mr. Brandenburg came to Nebraska in 1892 and settled near Merna. On Oct. 17, 1895 he was united in marriage to Oriole Mae Miller. To this union two sons were born, Trevor A. of Burwell and Nelson L., who passed away Dec. 18, 1925.

Mr. Brandenburg and his family moved to a ranch north of Burwell in 1920. Mrs. Brandenburg passed away Oct. 16, 1925. Since then he, his son Trevor and his niece Gladys E. Miller have made their home together. His life was spent on his ranch until he retired in 1945, when he moved to his present home in Burwell.

He was a member of the United Brethren church of Merna, a member of the Masonic lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Merna and a member of the Wranglers club of Burwell.

He leaves to mourn his passing one son, T. A. Brandenburg of Burwell, one sister, Mrs. Emma Small of Merna, one brother, Clayton O. of Johnston, Nebr., several nieces and nephews and many friends to whom he is known as "Uncle Matt."

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Clarence Macon at the Congregational church Thursday afternoon. Burial was in the Burwell cemetery.

Garfield County Pioneer Passes

Nancy Melvina Story Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Story, was born March 5, 1864, at Jackson, Ill. She passed away April 9, 1950, at the age of 86 years, one month, four days. She was being cared for at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Conbs, who live south of Burwell.

In March 1888 she was married to Lewis McKenzie. They then moved to Burwell. Six children were born to this union, Cecil, Beulah, Orin, Harold, Aiden and Boyd. All of her family preceded her in death, except Boyd, who lives at Gering. Mr. McKenzie passed away in February 1900.

In Nov. of 1907, Mrs. McKenzie married Walter Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds passed away August 26, 1927.

Mrs. Reynolds had been in very poor health for several years. She has been a long standing member of the Methodist church in Burwell. She will be remembered by all who knew her as a loving wife and mother.

Thus another of Garfield county's pioneer passes from this life, who knew all the hardships of pioneer days. She leaves to mourn her passing her son, Boyd McKenzie, of Gering, six grandchildren, several nieces and nephews and a host of friends.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. J. Hindman at the Methodist church, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Witt were dinner guests at the Harold Nelson home at North Loup Sunday.

Loyal Hurlbert Sets Quarter-Mile Record

Loyal Hurlbert, Ord speed king attending the University of Nebraska, stepped off the 440-yard dash in 49 seconds to set a new meet record in the Kansas-Nebraska dual races last Saturday. The Ord man also ran a fine anchor leg for Nebraska's winning relay team.

Hurlbert also held the old record, which he set last year, of 49.3 seconds.

The meet was a thrilling battle between two exceptionally well-matched teams. Kansas won the meet, 66-65.

Benda to Hastings

George Benda, who was in Valley county jail pending trial in district court on a third charge of drunken driving, was taken to the state hospital at Hastings last week for treatment. His trial will be deferred pending his return in better health.

Bond Purchases Here Were High in March

C. J. Mortensen, chairman of Valley county U. S. Bonds committee, announced that purchases of savings bonds had remained at top levels for the third month of the year. March purchases for Valley county totaled $85,392.50, he said. Of this amount, $58,312.50 was in the series "B" bonds favored by smaller investors.

Leland Hall, state director of the Treasury Bond Division, stated that purchases for the state during March amounted to $13,061,000.

Burwell Livestock Market Friday, April 21st

This week we have several farmers sending in their milk cows; in all, there will be around 20 head of outstanding, good age, heavy producing cows; Shorthorns, Holsteins, several Guernseys and Black Whiteface cows, and one consignment of 15 head of choice quality Hereford stock cows with calves at side.

In addition to the above cattle there will be several loads of Hereford steer and heifer calves, some yearling steers, some fat cattle, a good selection of Hereford breeding bulls, including several head from the Hap Mead herd; also some feeder cows, baby calves, stock cows, and many smaller consignments of local trucked in cattle.

Will have an exceptionally large run of fat hogs this week; some bred gilts and several consignments of feeder shoats.

2 row lister; hay rake; some other farm machinery; some furniture.

Plan to be at Burwell this Friday if you are needing milk cows, stock cows or good quality replacement cattle.

Ord Hurlers Finish One, Two, Three, Against Ravenna

Ord hurdlers swept both the highs and the lows against Ravenna last Wednesday. Chanticleer tracksters finished first, second, and third in both events, with Maurice hitting the tape first both times. Clearing the first barrier in the lows are Wolf, Falter, Cole (R), Stoddard, Kucera (R), Maurice, and Pesek (R).

Chants Run Away from Ravenna in First Cinder Test

Frigid North Wind Hampers Track and Field Performance.

The Ord high school track team ran away, literally, from the Ravenna cindermen on the Ord oval last Wednesday afternoon.

The Chanticleers earned 88 2/3 points to the Blueays' 19 1/3. A fresh north breeze was blowing across the track, chilling the competitors as well as the spectators. Times were not particularly good, but neither Dick Peterson, Ord coach, nor Robert Webb, Ravenna mentor, were discouraged.

Said Peterson, "Considering everything, I don't believe we did too badly. Sure, we haven't had good weather for training—but then, neither has anyone else." It was the first time that the Ravenna coach had ever seen his lads perform on a track. Part of Ravenna's new high school building rests on what once was the Ravenna track, so the only training for the Ravenna runners has been a limited amount of road work.

Collins Takes Sprints. Collins and Blaha finished one-two in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Collins' times were 10.6 and 25.9, respectively.

Maurice took both hurdle events, turning in a 12.4 performance on the lows, and a 9.4 on the highs.

Ord's mile relay team, Stoddard, Dworak, Richardson, and Laursen, had little trouble winning, and the 880 relay squad did just as well. On the half-mile team were Maurice, Blaha, Hurlbert, and Collins.

Meet summary, by events, follows: 100-yard dash—Collins, O; Blaha, O; Hurlbert, O. Time, 10.6 sec. 220-yard dash—Collins, O; Blaha, O; Cole, R. Time, 25.9 sec. 440-yard dash—Love, R; Laursen, O; Richardson, O. Time, 57.8 sec.

880-yard run—Zinnel, R; Suchanek, O; Herbert, R. Time, 2 min., 22.9 sec. Mile run—Kirby, O; Mooge, R; Long, R. Time, 5 min., 42 sec.

Low Hurdles—Maurice, O; Stoddard, O; Falter, O. Time, 12.4 sec. High Hurdles—Maurice, O; Stoddard, O; Adamek, O. Time, 9.4 sec.

Shot Put—Adamek, O; Richardson, O; Maurice, O. Distance, 39 feet 10 inches. Discus Throw—Stoddard, O; O'Neill, R; Blaha, O. Distance, 112 feet 6 inches.

Pole Vault—Maurice, O; Falter, O; Crowley, O. Height, 9 feet 6 in. High Jump—Falter, O; Stoddard, O; (tie for third) Dworak and Sorenson, O; Pesek, R. Height, 5 feet 2 inches.

Broad Jump—Collins, O; Maurice, O; Hurlbert, O. Distance, 17 feet 9 inches. Mile relay won by Ord; 880-yard relay won by Ord. High 880-yard relay won by Ravenna.

Chants Surprise With Burwell Relays Victory

Stoddard Tosses Discus Nearly 121 Feet in Upset Win.

The amazing Ord Chanticleers won the annual Wranglers Relays at Burwell Tuesday. The Ord high school tracksters gathered 41 11/18 points to nose out the Broken Bow Indians who scored 43 2/18. Mullen was third. Ainsworth came in fourth, and Bassett, Albion, Valentine, Constock, and Burwell finished in that order.

Falter tied for first place in the pole vault with a height of 10' 2" and Maurice took third spot.

Falter placed second in the high jump with a leap of 5' 1/4".

Two Ord field contenders pulled surprises in the discus tossing event. Paul Stoddard made the best throw of his life in sailing the saucer 120' 10", and Blaha, who barely qualified for the finals, was second with 117' 10".

Ord's sprint relay team was fourth with Maurice, Dworak, Falter, and Suchanek running, and the 440-yard relay team's time of 1:42.5, only two-tenths of a second off the winner's pace, was only good for a third.

The Chants took a fourth in the mile relay and the hurdle shuttle relay team earned fifth place.

Ellsworth Ball Is Candidate for County Judge

Ellsworth Ball filed Wednesday morning as a candidate for the office of county judge.

Ball's filing makes it a three-cornered race, to date, for the post John Andersen, former county judge, tossed his hat into the ring first, followed by Charles Clochon, present county judge.

Mr. Ball has been a member of the county board of supervisors for many years and was formerly chairman of the board.

Rites Are Held for Mrs. Vincent Vodehnal, Monday Died Suddenly at Her Home in Ord, Friday, April 15.

Mrs. Anna Vodehnal, daughter of Jacob and Rosie Jankovec, was born in Czechoslovakia on February 14, 1885. She came to this country in 1900 and settled in Burwell, where she was married to Vincent Vodehnal on October 15, 1906.

They first lived on a farm 19 miles west of Ord and then in 1921 they moved to a farm two and one-half miles east of Ord and lived there until 1939 when they moved to Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Vodehnal had three children, two sons and one daughter. The daughter died in infancy.

Mrs. Vodehnal died very suddenly April 15, 1950, at the age of 65 years, 2 months and one day.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, William W. of Loup City and Emanuel of Ord, four grandchildren, a brother, Frank Jankovec of Monterey, Calif., and a sister, Albertina Matejcek in Czechoslovakia. Two sisters and two brothers preceded her in death.

Will Attend Convention

Slated to attend a district convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at Broken Bow Sunday are Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Osentowski, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benda, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goff, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wozab and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Apking.

Seed Grains.

Certified Cherokee and Clinton Oats, and Non-Certified Clinton Oats. Western grown Spartan Barley. The season has been very late this year but we believe that oats and barley that are planted now will be just as far advanced in a month from now as if planted a few weeks ago. Let us help you with your seed oats and barley and when we would advise that you use a liberal amount of fertilizer on all small grain.

Seed Corn.

Our Seed Corn is in and we would appreciate it if you would get your seed at your earliest convenience. We have some of the better numbers in good kernel sizes. You can get the very best in hybrid corn if you come in and buy Cornhusker and Standard. We have varieties for all types of soil. We are in position to help you with just the number that you need for your farm. It will pay you to study the variety of corn that you plant this year.

Seed Potatoes.

Certified Cobblers and Pontiacs and non-certified Ohios and Warbas. We would appreciate a chance to quote you a price on a quantity of seed potatoes if you are planting an acreage.

Baby Chicks.

This is a busy season for the Hatcheries and sometimes it is not possible to get chicks in a couple of days notice. Just at present we can get started Hy-Lines for you. The Hill Hatchery now has Hy-Lines up to four weeks old. They are priced very reasonable for chicks that age. Let us tell you about them.

Molasses Feed.

We have just unloaded another load of Beefmaker. This is a very popular molasses feed with the cattle feeders. If you have not tried it you owe it to yourself to compare it with other molasses feeds that you have been using. Beefmaker contains 45% molasses and 12% protein. It is in a nice size pellet form and pours easily in any kind of weather; it does not bake in the bag.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover.

This is the real planting season for alfalfa and we still have a fair stock on hand. Check with your AAA office and get the information on the payment to be made this year on planting alfalfa. Sweet Clover is very short but we still have a small amount.

Dog Taxes Are Due

Dog taxes become due in Ord on April 1 each year and I have received orders from the Mayor and City Council to start on May 1 to impound and destroy all dogs running at large in Ord which are not properly licensed in the current year.

Get your dog license from the City Clerk's office before May 1 and avoid losing a loved and valuable pet.

Ernest Kirby
Chief of Police

To the Citizens of Ord

Your Mayor and City Council wish to call the attention of all property owners of sidewalks in this city. Many are in a condition dangerous for pedestrians to walk on. Examine your own sidewalks at once and if they are not in good and safe condition have them made so at once.

Clean-Up Week

Now is the time for our annual spring Clean-Up Week, at which time we rid our properties of all tin cans, waste material and garbage, ashes, etc., that has accumulated during the winter months. Let's make the 1950 clean-up period a real one; let's make our city shine with cleanliness.

About Dogs and Chickens

We wish to call your attention to the problem of dogs and chickens running at large, now that spring gardening time is here. Your neighbor is proud of his or her flowers, or garden, and if your dogs or chickens are a nuisance you must, under city ordinance, keep them tied or penned. They must not be allowed to run at large, under penalty of the law.

Without Painful Backaches
As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If these discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. It's the only medicine that's safe for the kidneys.

Be Honest With Yourself!

If you have any question in your mind at any time about anything you are expecting to do, why not be honest with yourself and give the proposition a little more thought before going into it. Too many contracts are entered into without giving the data sufficient consideration, to the detriment of at least one of the parties concerned, oftentimes all of them. Anything worth while is usually lasting, and not necessarily an opportunity to be seized on the spur of the moment. What looks good today, may appear in a very different light tomorrow. Meanwhile, if you have gone into the proposition, you may not be able to get out again. To anything worth having a day or two should not make so much difference. This is true whether it is a vacation trip you are planning, a business deal you are entering into or the choosing of a partner for life. Whether it be business or pleasure, be sure you are really doing the thing you want to do, and then go into it wholeheartedly with the determination to make a success of it.

More than half the marriages that go on the rocks get there because one or both of the contracting parties did not take time to be certain it was the sensible and proper course to take. Many a man has found himself bound by agreements that he either must fail to fulfill, or must fulfill at much cost to himself, just because he did not take time to study the proposition as he should. The sooner a young man realizes that life in all its phases is a serious business, the better off he will be. It is not enough to say the deal looks pretty good. Look into it and know it is good before binding yourself with a contract that may prove vastly different from what you thought it would be. Be sure you are right, then go ahead. One of the favorite dodges of advertisers, especially on the radio is to state that "This offer may be withdrawn any day." One case is known where that statement was made every morning for at least three weeks. Two months later a listener sent in for the special offer, which had not been mentioned for two months, and back it came by return mail. You should be honest with yourself when the opportunity comes to cast a vote, whether it be the lodge to which you belong, a municipal election or a general election. The man who does not put over his conscience to trouble him over this matter of voting, is not giving himself a square deal. The right to vote is a right and an opportunity in America.

In Europe not long ago, a whole nation went to the polls, and practically all voted for one ticket, since there was no other ticket to vote for. The chances are that, if we fail to use the privilege of voting for whom we will today, the line may come when we will be compelled to go to the polls and vote with only one ticket to vote for. Privileges are given us to use. If we fail to use them, we are jeopardizing our chance of keeping them. We watch how our representatives in congress vote on important issues. We should be just as interested in the voting we are privileged to do at home. In voting, and in all other things, we should be honest with ourselves.

A Penny For Your Thoughts Nobody knows how old the saying is, but people since the penny was first used in England have been accustomed to use the remark, "A Penny For Your Thoughts." The implication is that your thought may be worth a little to the other fellow, but, actually they are not worth a great deal.

In government today we find a widely expanded expression of that old saying. It is not mentioned in those exact words, but several branches of the government are trying to influence the thinking of the people, and they are not just offering pennies for what the people may think. Today millions are being spent in subsidies to keep up the price of a number of different commodities, and much of this money is being spent in an effort to popularize the idea that Sec. Brannen has proposed, of high prices for the producer, low prices for the consumer, and more taxes for everybody.

This idea has been turned down by one of the leading farm organizations, but the secretary is still busy and is spending the taxpayers' money in an effort to make the plan popular. This is paying, not pennies, but dollars, for the thoughts of the public. Behind it all is the idea that one bureau of the government wants to be able to control the thinking of the most independent group of people on earth, the American farmers. The theory is that, once the farmers get used to depending upon a bureau in Washington to tell them what to do, they will always be dependent. Luckily, the American farmer is still independent, and he still likes to do his own thinking. It will take a lot of pressure and propaganda to persuade him to give up his right to the American way of life. So long as he maintains this attitude, the future of our nation is in good hands. The word propaganda has come to be associated with dictators and dictators have in the minds of the public and the fact that it applies to democracies as well is often lost sight of. Propaganda is propaganda wherever and whenever it is found, and must not be confused with facts. Sometimes the two are synonymous, but more often they are not. The word "Propaganda" means "any organization for the spreading of a particular doctrine or system of principles, or the system of principles thus spread." Adolf Hitler propounded the idea that a lie repeated often enough would be accepted as the truth, and this principle is being developed all over the world today.

Some types of propaganda are more or less harmless, since they simply repeat the truth, putting the accent in the proper places to produce the desired effect, and at the same time the unaccented part of the statement like the small print in the insurance policy, is lost sight of until the need arises to read it. The sight of athletic men in any walk of life in an ad for some brand of cigarettes is designed to give other young men the impression that they cannot be strong and athletic unless they smoke that brand. The ad says they are "Less Irritating" with the accent on the word "Less" rather than on the word "Irritating." In time the young man learns that they are all irritating, but he has formed the habit by that time.

One form of propaganda is the insinuating news stories received every day by every newspaper in the country, stories written plausibly so that they may be considered as news stories, but at the same time carrying an advertising angle for almost any organization or product under the sun. Most newspapers hold to the rule that any story of this type has no news value whatever unless there is a local angle, and often this local angle is not a sufficient excuse for printing it. Advertising costs money, and produces results if propaganda can be made to produce the results without expending why advertise? Because anything worth having is worth paying for.

My Own Column By H.D. Leggett It is claimed that certain cannibals had a simple solution of the tax problem in their simply governed country. When their taxes got higher than the cost of food they ate the tax collector. If we decided to try that here we might have to decide between whether to eat Walt Noll or Hank Stara.

An exchange says a subscriber came in Saturday to ask that a correction be made in an accident story in the news. Here is what happened: The story said a young man had been fatally injured in a car-truck collision in another state and that an uncle here had been notified by the subscriber was the uncle of the victim of the accident. "You got it all wrong," the uncle explained. "He wasn't fatally injured, he was killed and I'm not his uncle, he's my nephew."

Once upon a time a fellow who got a date or something wrong in an announcement he wrote for a newspaper came right out and admitted to his friends that he had made the mistake. It is customary in such cases to pass the buck to "them dumbheads over to the newspaper office."

Have you heard about the woman who shot her husband just for fun... the fun he had been having with other women. Usually some of the items in this column are stolen but I have no way of knowing where the fellow I stole them from stole them. The union men want higher wages and shorter hours of work and lower prices of the things they have to buy to eat and wear. When they get higher wages and shorter hours of course the price of the things they make has to go up and the farmer who produces the food and cotton, has to pay ever higher prices for the tools and cars and trucks he buys. Can you figure how the union man is going to get cheaper prices on what he buys under those circumstances? "Father, must I go to work?" "No, my lucky son. We're living now on Easy Street on dough from Washington. "We've left it up to Uncle Sam. So don't get exercised. Nobody has to give a damn—We've all been subsidized."

"But if Sam treats us all so well And feeds us milk and honey. Please daddy, tell me what the hell He's going to use for money?" "Don't worry, bub, there's not a hitch In this here noble plan— He simply soaks the filthy rich and helps the common man."

"But father, won't there come a time When we run out of cash— And we have left them not a dime— And things will go to smash?" "My faith in you is shrinking, son, You noisy little brat, You do too damn much thinking son, To be a Democrat."

This week I had to "kill" quite a number of subscribers who failed to renew their subscriptions before the 15th and more than likely some of them will send their renewals as soon as they miss a paper but I will not be able to send any back copies because we cannot afford to print a lot of extras for that purpose. Better wake up your minds to renew as soon as you get a notice. Then you will not forget.

I have a half dozen Quiz subscribers who persist in sending $1. at a time on subscription. I know if they realize that they are paying four dollars a year instead of three when they do that?

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

Well, it is now two weeks since I dropped out of the regular Quiz alignment, and I cannot say whether I like it or not. You see, I have been too busy every minute of the time to decide whether I am having a good time or not. What with gardening, cutting down trees, cleaning the basement, writing songs and hanging paper, I am leading a full life. That gag about the one-armed paperhanger being busy could just as well apply to one with two arms. I didn't realize that there can be so much work on a half acre ranch, but there certainly is.

And yet we read of unemployment over the nation, with several million people out of jobs. To a man on the retired list, with more work than he can get done, it all seems silly. In fact, the chances are that most of the people not working could find something to do if they really cared about working. In most cases, people are unemployed the moment they cannot get a job in the kind of work they listed for in their labor unions. Not having a card that permits them to work at any other job, they simply wait around until they get a chance to work at their regular employment.

Another thing. A lot of laboring men do not have the imagination needed to adapt themselves to circumstances. They have worked at one line of work over the years and it never occurs to them that it would be possible to work at any other trade. Again, the system of apprenticeship decrees that he must work at reduced wages until he learns the business, and many a man takes the attitude that he will not work at all if he has to work for less than he gets at his regular trade. We of the smaller towns should be thankful that we are still permitted to work at the job we want to work at, without let or hindrance from any men or group of men. Unions have their uses, and are important in many respects. But no union has the right to control a man's private life to the extent that he cannot switch from one job to another when circumstances demand that he do so in order to have something to do. The right to work and earn an honest living is guaranteed by the Bill of Rights, and should not be abridged by anyone. The Mrs. and her husband made a trip to the Bayou (lower end of Mira Creek) one day last week, and we found that winter was really rough on the coarse fish. The ice froze unusually thick and carp and quillback smothered by the hundreds. On the day in question the were lined up everywhere in the still places along the bank, the carp ranging from a pound up to four or five pounds, and the quillback the usual size of about 8 inches long. Quillback are hard to catch and are no good when you do catch them, but carp, especially in the spring, are quite tasty fish if properly prepared.

Speaking of preparing fish, reminds me of one year when son Guy made a trip to California. He needed a job, and he got a chance to pan gold with an old Indian. The creek had been worked over before, but they could wash out a few dollars worth of dust each day, and it made them live. Fishing was good in the stream, and they both were good at catching them. Then each prepared his fish in his own way. Guy cleaned his fish the usual way, rolled them in flour and fried them, and said they were very good. The Indian left the inside in and the outside out and claimed it improved the flavor. Guy took the chief's word for it. In my short lifetime I tried quite a number of unusual dishes, including mountain oysters and frog legs. Among the unusual fishes I recall was a fish duck which I once shot. I had never seen one before, so I brought it home and we cooked it. Frankly, it wasn't fit to eat. Then there was the blue crane, which never should have been shot in the first place, as they are protected by law. To me it looked like a sandhill crane, and I knew they were good eating. It was quite a job to pick the bird, and we found out afterward that we should have skinned it. The fat under the skin was entirely too rich, and the whole family got sick, which served us right for not knowing any better.

Finally, there was the coon which the son brought home and skinned, and we decided to have a coon feed. What we didn't know was that the coon should have been parboiled and the strong flavor eliminated. However, we got the coon properly cooked, with plenty of dressing, and we even invited the neighbors in, as there was plenty for all of us. It tasted good, and we all were having a fine time eating it, when the guests started guessing what kind of an animal it was. After guessing about everything there was, one of them suggested "coon." When told she was right, she quit eating at once, and we couldn't get any of them to eat another bite.

Of all game, about the best tasting morsels are frog legs. Of course you have to kill the entire frog although the hind legs is all you use. They are about the most easily prepared of any kind of game, as the hide slips off very easily. Further, the meat is tender and cooks in a very short time. When I was working on the Meyer ranch, I was cutting slough grass with the mower, and the frogs were so thick that hundreds of them were cut in pieces. I took a gallon pail along and brought home a lot of frogs. That was our first experience with frog legs, but we eat them now whenever we get a chance.

One man's name was inadvertently omitted from the list of the gang who used to go at it hot and heavy in the old days, and my apologies are due Art Mensing. Art is quite a philosopher. In those days Art, Pat Fuson and Ellis, worth Ball were democrats and the rest of us were republicans. Mensing is still a democrat, but don't get him wrong. He is not completely sold on new deal and fair deal policies. He always had to work for a living, and he believes that work can't hurt anybody. That is the idea I got from talking with him the few times I had the opportunity. Art is not a radical in any sense of the word, in spite of the fact that he played Mephistopheles in the Century Club play back in about 1901, I think it was. + + Something Different + + "They" say there is a trend toward brighter colored automobiles, all over the country. There's a trend away from the soft tans, the beiges, greens, dull blues, and our cars are going to get brighter and brighter! One reason this trend is being encouraged, is that it is much safer to ride in a bright-colored car. It can be seen a long way off, giving you that extra margin of safety on the highway. Way across the cornfield, they can see you approaching that corner. oOo I went to Iowa City Thursday to the Gamma Alpha Chi convention, returning homee Sunday. I had never seen that section of Iowa before, nor that campus. It is lovely, just the way you picture a campus. It has those rolling lawns, those winding walks, those immense old trees. It has stately buildings of some years, one in particular which was once the capitol of the state, and so is called Old Capitol. Old Capitol isn't big, but it has quality. It has a gay guided dome, handsome pillars, flights of steps leading up in the most dignified manner. The building is made of large blocks of gray stone. And inside! It has the most fabulous spiral staircase centering that building. The broad easy steps wind gracefully, the hand-rail spirals beautifully. I wish you could see it. oOo Another unusual thing about the campus... the Iowa river courses through it. So here and there when passing from class to class, the boys and girls must cross a bridge. A delightful thought, this time of year, but some of the journalism students said it got m-i-ghty cold goin' along in the middle of the winter.

The State University of Iowa or SUU as it is often shortened, has 10,000 or more students, it has 3,000 or so faculty, and the population of the town without them is some 20,000. You of Ord, North Loup and Burwell will be interested to know that Jim Morrison is one of their best teachers. And that his wife is the former Deonora Appling who taught at Burwell a few years back, creating a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Morrison is also a sister of the big Ord Quiz man, Ed Appling. oOo You don't hear much about them, because they spend their time pen-pushing, not horn-tooting, but nevertheless we have in our part of the state a good many writers and poets. Some of them prefer a solitary schedule; others prefer to meet and compare their words occasionally. Some of them are long-time and well organized groups and give yearly prizes and awards for the best of the work submitted. At North Loup Myra Thorngate Barber steams away, but once in a while (like the periscope of a surfacing submarine) we get glimpses of her work. Over at Comstock Thurman Smith wrote quite a book of reminiscences about "Dim Trails" which he may decide to publish. oOo Here in Ord, or perhaps I should say in Broken Bow, Dr. Elizabeth Leonard is interested in the writing field, in fact she has written a book of poems I think you'd like reading. She has earned considerable note in the writing field, and has been asked to act as a judge for one of the annual contests to be decided next month. Right now, I can't tell you if she is judging for Ars Poetica society, or for the Nebraska Writers' Guild... and I've lost the notes on it, kindly sent me by Mrs. Barber. —Irma.

KEN KEENE THE CORNER DRUGGIST

Ken Keene was unpacking a crate of tooth paste when I walked in, and just to make conversation, I asked: "How far did you have to go to get that stuff?" "I didn't go anywhere," Ken said. "With our marvelous transportation system, it was delivered right to my doorstep." "That's fine," I said, "but that's a big part of the cost of that little tube you're going to sell me, isn't it?" "You'd be surprised," he said. "I can't tell you to the tenth of a cent, but I can tell you that the transportation cost is a mighty small part of the 89 cents you're going to pay me. And besides..." And Ken was off again, so I settled down to listen to his day's contribution to my education. "You know," he said, "We've got the greatest transportation system in the world in this country. And I'm talking about the whole system too... railroads, trucks, buses, airlines, waterways, pipelines... the works." "How do you suppose we'd like it if the government was running the transportation system? They tell me that it would be the first thing to go nationalized. You know, while it's a great system as a private enterprise, it has a rough time keeping its head above water." "I know," Ken went on, "that I'd not stay in business very long if I couldn't see a reasonable profit for all my work. And that's the way it is in the transportation business." "And can you imagine what would happen to service, and rates, and everything else, if the government were running the transportation system? Excuse me from anything like that, please."

Look how you save with Dynaflo

FIRST thing you notice, of course; F is the bother and effort Dynaflo Drive* saves.

Next, that Dynaflo saves you physically—after long trips you're less tense and tired, more relaxed.

But then, as the miles pile up—and this comes from cold, recorded fact after Dynaflo's two years of public operation—you spot savings you hadn't expected...

You save on tires—because power application is steady, even. On clutch expense—the usual friction clutch is gone.

You save on transmission maintenance, and the rear-axle expenses likely to go with it. And the way your engine is oil-cushioned against normal shocks and strains shows up in less engine upkeep.

In short, there's a lot more to please your budget in the 1950 Dynaflo than its new lower price. Refinements over the past two years result in savings that are sizeable over the life of the car.

Knowing that, don't you want to demonstrate the big side of Dynaflo—the utter smoothness of America's first oil-does-it-all drive?

Only Buick has Dynaflo and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines (New F-263 engine in SUPER models).

Matchless Team - DYNAFLO and F-263. In the Buick beautifully pictured here you can have both Dynaflo and Buick's very latest in power. For every 1950 SUPER has the F-263 engine, that lively high-compression stepper that's the big power thrill of the season. Dynaflo Drive is optional equipment at extra cost.

The town board has voted and passed a law forbidding any person under 18 years of age to be on the streets or alley ways of Scotia after 10:00 p. m. without a custodian. If attending any public function, there will be one-half hour given to travel, either to their homes or out of the city proper. Parents will be held liable for their children's actions under this law. There will be a fine assessed any violator of not less than $1.00 and not more than $25.00 and to be held in custody until said fine is paid.

Jack Burns went to Cheyenne, Wyo., Friday to meet Mrs. Burns who had been in San Francisco, Calif. to help care for a grandson, who was ill. At the time Mrs. Burns left, the little fellow was much better after undergoing major surgery. Ira Burns, a son who is employed by the government at Fort Collins Colo., was in Cheyenne to meet his mother. They enjoyed a nice visit until Sunday. The Burns' stopped at Sutherland and had supper with Father Shumski, a former pastor, at Scotia. He sent word that he will be in Scotia soon to visit some of his old friends.

Mrs. Chas. Korkva of Grand Island visited her daughter and family, Mrs. J. E. Lewis, from Tuesday until Sunday. Her son Henry and wife brought her up.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Augustyn spent Sunday at Elyria with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Augustyn.

Mr. Collins of Atkinson was a business caller in this vicinity, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wagner of Palmer visited his grandson, Vic Wagner, Thursday.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Lund, fell from the porch where he was playing and ran a stick into the roof of his mouth, causing a great deal of bleeding and pain. Mrs. Lund took him to St. Paul, where he was treated by Dr. Hanisch. It is thought there will be no serious effects although it will be painful for several days.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid met at the Lutheran school Friday afternoon. Mrs. Lester Wells was hostess. Rev. Wagner led the discussion on a missionary topic. The ladies made their plans to help serve the Reclamation banquet to be held, April 25. A lunch was served.

John Schiman, now of St. Paul, but formerly of New Jersey is a new employee at the bureau of Reclamation. He will do field work, is married and at present his wife is staying with her mother in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wetherell of Omaha came Friday and are visiting her brother, Karl Ashley and family. Mr. Wetherell spent the greater part of his time fishing.

Mrs. Lois Lincoln spent the week end at Grand Island with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sautter of Burwell spent Monday in Scotia with relatives.

A pasture fire was started Monday afternoon by a back-fire from a tractor operated by Chas. Keown on his farm. The Scotia fire department was called and had a bit of difficulty putting the blaze out extinguishing it only after it had burned most of his pasture, some broom grass and several acres of alfalfa. It also burned the fence line on the Alvin Bredthauer farm.

Sally Gebhardt celebrated her 8th birthday Monday by inviting several of her friends to her home after school. The time was spent playing dodge ball and uncle Sam. After Sally opened her gifts a lunch was served. Those present were Janet Sixel, Gay Barth, Judy Farrell, Lorretta Jess, Linda Spencer, Marlene Worm, Sharon Bell, Karen Krebs, Denny Gebhardt, Linda Gebhardt, her sister, assisted with the games and Mrs. Otto Gebhardt helped serve.

Billy Marany was ill with the measles and was unable to attend. Linda and Sally Gebhardt spent the week end with their grandmother Mrs. Maggie Wetzel at North Loup.

Alberta Sautter has gone to Ord to work at the Carson bakery. She was employed at the Scotia cafe.

Mrs. Bernice Jorgensen is a new employee at the Scotia Cafe.

Dr. Chas. Huff, intern at the St. Joseph hospital in Denver was in Scotia Saturday and Sunday, looking over the prospects of settling here. He is married and has one child.

Dr. and Mrs. Huff were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sixel. The Sixels and they were visitors in Ord and Loup City Saturday.

As yet Dr. Huff has not made any statement as to his decision. Dr. J. E. Lewis, who is attending school at the Fitzsimmons hospital in Denver, was a week end visitor in Scotia with his family.

Mrs. Dunkleberger Rites Held Sunday Afternoon in Ord

Died at Sister's Home in Albion at Age of 73 Years.

Henrietta Margaret Beck, daughter of John and Wilhelmine Beck, was born Sept. 17, 1876, in Hazletown, Penn. She died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Marie Hoellworth, at Albion, on April 14, 1950.

She came to Scotia with her parents in 1881, where she grew to womanhood. She was baptized and became a member of the Presbyterian church in childhood.

In 1898 she was married to Charles T. Dunkleberger. To this union was born one daughter, who passed away in infancy.

Her husband four sisters and three brothers preceded her in death.

She leaves to mourn her passing one sister, Mrs. Marie Hoellworth, of Albion, a number of nieces and nephews and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held from the Methodist church in Scotia, Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p. m., Rev. Carl Harbour officiating. Burial was in the Scotia cemetery, with Ashley's mortuary in charge.

Pallbearers were all nephews, Wm. Beck, Fred Beck, John Beck, Alfred Beck, Ralph Beck and Harry Beck.

Relatives and friends from out of town attending the funeral were Mrs. Marie Hoellworth, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Karges and son; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Karges, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Karges and Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith, of Albion, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Tolén of Ord.

Ray Meyer and Harvey Miller went to Grand Island Monday so that Harvey might consult a doctor.

Mrs. Irvin Hermesmeyer and Mary Jane were business callers at St. Paul Friday.

Jess Meyer, Joan Van Skille, Darrel Gyderon and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Goldfish and boys were Sunday guests at the George Meyer home. In the afternoon the George Meyers accompanied them to Taylor to attend a league rally. While there they called on the Ed Locker family, who were former Scotia residents. A large group from the Fish Creek church attended the rally.

Bill Wegner of Central City was a week end visitor at the home of his brother, Dan Wegner and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sautter were hosts to the Landgraf family Sunday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Menze, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Eldor Splittgerber, Joyce and Allen of Albion, Mrs. Louisa Landgraf of Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schudel, Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Schudel, Paul Michael, of North Loup. The Manzes were all night guests of her mother, Mrs. Landgraf, Saturday night. Mrs. Splittgerber is also a daughter of Mrs. Landgraf. The two ladies are sisters of Mrs. Guy Sautter.

Spencer-Micco

Ida Mae Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Spencer of Scotia, was married Sunday, February 26, to Angelo A. Micco of Oakland, Calif.

The 4:00 o'clock ceremony was performed in the Redeemer Lutheran church before an altar decorated with lighted tapers.

The attendants were close friends of the couple.

The bride is a graduate of the Loup City high school and took nurses training in Grand Island.

After receiving her degree she spent one year in Omaha as a visiting nurse. Since that time she has done private nursing in San Francisco.

The bridegroom works in a typewriter and office supply business in Oakland, where they will make their home after a two weeks honeymoon at Boulder Dam.

A reception was held at the east Oakland Legion hall for about 100 guests. A turkey dinner was served.

Music Students Attend Contest

The music department, under the supervision of their instructor, Mr. Ward Pschere, went to Central City, Friday and Saturday.

Receiving "superior" Friday were: Barbara Ashley, Bernice Bussell and Janet Van Skille in the girls' medium and low voices. Norman Krebs, in a trumpet solo; the brass quartet, and Bernice brass quartet, and Bernice Bussell and Barbara Ashley in a girls' duet.

Those rating excellent were: Eleanor Meyer saxophone solo; Mavis Portis, clarinet solo; Lumnier Hanzel, trombone solo; Lorraine Vanosdol and Betty Morrow, in the girls' medium voice; and the saxophone and clarinet quartets.

Mary Kay Grotkosky and Chuck Kasson received "good."

The 46-piece band and the girls' glee club were given "superiors"; Gene Keown received the same rating. In the boy's medium voice division, Norman Krebs placed as "excellent." The mixed octet, boys' glee, and the chorus were judged as "excellent."

The band was short two essential instruments, due to illness, this left the band a little weak.

Scaphone is justly proud of the music department. The brought home 10 "superiors," 11 "excellent" and two "goods."

Critics were: Foltz Lintz and Harrison of the University of Nebraska.

Sunday guests at the Con Hermesmeyer home were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schultz and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schultz and son of Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hermesmeyer and Mary Jane and Mrs. Martha Meyer of Scotia.

Daryl Holt took his sister, Loreda, and brother, Bobby, Dean Fuss and Otto Gebhardt Jr., to Omaha Saturday to see the Ice Capades.

Prepare Hall for Banquet Tuesday

The community hall is being completely redecorated for the banquet to be held April 25. The ceiling is being done in pastel blue, the side walls are of pastel rose and the foundation is a light gray.

Ticket sales are satisfactory. The seating capacity is only 500 and indications are there will be that many and more if they can be taken care of. There will be entertainment at each hall where a meal is served.

The Governor and his party will, no doubt, sit in a group.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bredthauer of Broken Bow spent the week end here and with her people, the Andrew Jacobsens, at Eiba.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Curtis of Kearney spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Hattie Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gove are the parents of a new baby born to them in the St. Paul hospital last week. Mr. Gove is working for the Scotia Co-Operative Creamery.

Mrs. Louise Dault and daughter Phyllis accompanied by Mrs. Carl D. Jensen, Mrs. Evan McBeth and Jacob Jensen went to Stuart Sunday to visit Pete Jensen and family. The Pete Jensen family were former Scotia residents. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Jensen.

The L.W.M.L. of the Lutheran church will hold a zone rally at Palmer, April 27. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a. m. A lunch will be served by the Palmer ladies and the meeting will continue into the afternoon.

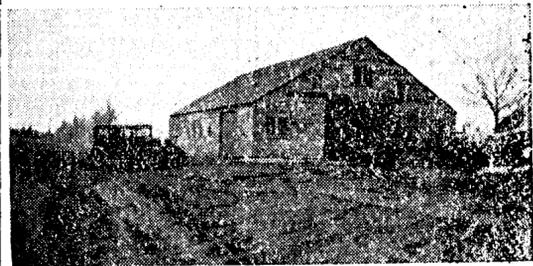

Howard County Herald Is Sixty Years Old

The Howard County Herald at St. Paul celebrated its 60th birthday with last week's edition.

Constructs Buildings of Native Cottonwood on Farm Near Scotia

Here is a picture of one of the buildings David Bussell has had built out of his native cottonwood. This structure is 40 x 70 feet.

The shingles were bought commercially, as will be the asbestos siding. The upper part or the loft will be used for storage; the lower floor will serve as a private sale barn and when not in use for that purpose will also be high enough to let a semi truck drive directly into the building, from the east or west.

Mr. Bussell has just completed a 20 x 36 ft. chicken house and garage combined. This was built with double walls, using native wood as far up as the roof. The balance of the building is of commercial material.

There are two more shelters on his farm, that are being used for hog sheds. These are not as large, 7 x 15 ft. and one 9 x 20 ft., and are not double walled. All have an extra siding for warmth. There is lumber left to use for farm shelters and he has sold several thousand feet. This has been a fortunate procedure. It gave work to a crew when labor was plentiful it has shown that Nebraskans can fall back on their own resources if necessary.

Seniors Present Comedy to SRO Crowd Tuesday

Once again the auditorium proved too small for the crowd that attended the senior play, "The Custers' Last Stand." The play was given Tuesday evening. The seniors supplied many laughs throughout the evening, with all the characters playing their parts in a realistic manner. The cast included: Arthur Ritz, Betty Lou Packard, Marian Hovie, Donald Bartu, Morris Fisher, Thelma Moudry, Gerald Lenstrom, Lona Anderson, Shirley Plock, Bonnie Amos, Virginia Chlewski, Gordon Hyde, and George Land.

Senior Trip to the Rockies Is Slated

The sixteen Comstock seniors and their sponsor will leave Wednesday, April 19, by chartered bus for the Rocky Mountains. The group will visit Denver, Colorado Springs, Estes Park, Cheyenne, Wyo. and other land marks in the Rocky Mountains. It has been the policy in the Comstock schools for the past six years to complete the senior year by taking an educational trip to places of interest. These trips are educational trips and not "sneak days" because the trips are planned before hand so that students will not miss the educational features of each place that is visited. The trip will be approximately 1600 miles in length. All expenses of the trip are paid out of the class fund. Students in the Comstock high school start building up a class fund when they enroll as freshmen. The senior group of 1949 took practically the same trip as the seniors graduating this year will take. In 1948 the senior group made a tour of the Black Hills Region.

Plans Made for Banquet and Prom

The junior class of the Comstock high school made up of Gerald Griebel, Pearl Dockhorn, Bernard Kamara, Evelyn Visek, Johnny Gibbons, Milo Dockhorn, Roberta Dowse, Lois Aubert, and Richard Garwick with their sponsor, Miss Norma Lane, have completed their plans for the Junior-Senior banquet and promenade. Both affairs will be held in the Woodman Hall, Wednesday, April 26.

The class has been busy with their sponsor making decorations for the hall and table decorations for the banquet. The banquet will be served by the Kelso Cafe. Following the banquet the promenade will be held with Elmer Hall furnishing the music. Dancing will start at 9 and end at 11.

The Prom Queen will be disclosed at the beginning of dancing at intermission time. She will be selected by popular vote of the student body.

The public is invited to attend. Students will be dressed in formals, but it is not necessary that the public be dressed in formals although you are encouraged to do so if it is possible.

Open House Monday at Comstock School

The public is invited and encouraged to attend "open house" at the Comstock public school, Monday, April 24.

MRS. ETHEL HAMER Quiz Representative North Loup

The 27th annual session of the Rebekahs of District 37 was held in North Loup, Thursday, April 13, with Mrs. Carroll Thomas, of North Loup, presiding as district president. Delegates from all five of the lodges in the district were present representing Burwell, Erickson, Ord, Wolbach and the host organization, North Loup. Several were present from Arcadia as guests. State president, Zella Rosenberg and Josephine Valle, of Lincoln, were present and added much to the program of the day. Well over 100 were registered.

The local Noble Grand, Mrs. Carroll Babcock, was in charge of several parts on the program as it pertained to the North Loup lodge. Outstanding in the day's session were the flag drill by the Ord lodge, the Obligation ceremony by the Erickson group, the Memorial by the Burwell group and pageant "Little Known Women of the Bible" presented by the North Loup lodge. High school musicians gave a half-hour program before the evening session began.

The banned for secret work was won by Lissie Shafer, of Burwell. There were three other contestants. Mrs. Shafer was elected to head the district next year, and the next meeting will be held in Burwell.

Other officers elected and seated were: vice presidents Mavis Booth, Erickson, May Loft, Ord; Emma Mathauer, Burwell, secretary; and Maxine Copeland, North Loup, treasurer. Other officers were appointed by the president.

Financial Picture of Ord Past Five Years Shows No Immediate Relief for Average Taxpayer

Expenditures of School and City Increase Steadily

A blow which shook Valley county residents to the bottom of their pocketbooks struck this week when notices of new property valuations were mailed out by County Assessor W. C. H. Noll. Cries of anguish from those who saw tax valuations on their property doubled were loud and frequent. Occasionally a look of smug satisfaction could be seen on the faces of those who found their property values lowered or remaining about the same. "Most persons had a forewarning that their property value would be increased, due to a Quiz story in February, which gave the approximate percentage increases over the county."

But few were prepared for the actual individual impact of dollars and cents figures as submitted by the county assessor. "Mental calculations went something like this: 'Let's see, last year my house was assessed at $2,000 and I paid $125 taxes. Now it'll be $3,000, and I'll pay about $300 taxes. That's an increase of 50%.'"

Briefly translated—the new valuation figures meant that the average working man in Ord who owned his own home would have to work a week to two weeks more in order to pay the increase in the cost of local and state government.

Taxes Don't Go Down. There were some who argued: "Well, now that the valuation is up, the mill levy will go down, and taxes be about the same." "And there were those who answered: 'Taxes never go down.'"

As the result of a two months' study of Ord city and school district budgets and expenditures over the past five years (ending with the fiscal closing date in 1949) the Quiz makes public today a compilation of these figures along with a reprint of county valuation figures.

The figures speak for themselves—taxes don't go down.

School Expenditures Double. In the first year of the survey, the 1944-45 Ord public school budget was $52,909, of which $39,500 was raised by taxation. The 1948-49 budget was $107,081, or an increase of 102%. In the same period, the valuation of the school district increased from $1,847,710 to $4,901,235. Under the new system of valuations, the value of the school district will be about $3,300,000.

In the first year of the survey, the 1944-45 disbursement of the

Mrs. C. B. Clark Dies Tuesday Morning

Pioneer North Loup Resident Came to Valley Co. in 1882.

Mrs. C. B. Clark, 73, of North Loup, died early Tuesday morning at her home. She has been ill several months and death came quietly to the pioneer resident of Valley county.

Mrs. Clark came to this area in 1882 at the age of five from her home in Iowa. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Houtby, long time residents of the Davis Creek community.

She is survived by her husband, two brothers, George Houtby of Ord and Edgar of California, three sons, Charley of Lincoln, Clifton and Merlyn of North Loup, and a daughter Nettie of Lincoln.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Hastings-Pearson will be in charge.

Romans Enters Race for County Supervisor

Jack Romans filed for election as county supervisor of Valley county at the office of the County Clerk, Monday.

Mr. Romans, owner of the Romans Transfer Co. of Ord, will be seeking his first term as a public official.

Eighth Graders Set for Exams

Eighth grade examinations will be given the first week in May by the county superintendent, Miss Clara McClatchey.

On May 1, the examinations will be given in Elyria, on May 2 in North Loup, on May 3 in Arcadia and on May 4 in Ord.

The promotion day program is scheduled for May 22 at the Ord high school auditorium.

Marble Tournament Set for May 8

The champion marble player of Valley county will be determined Monday afternoon, May 8, when school district champions from over the county meet here to determine the best, mig shooter.

The marble contest, held annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held at the athletic field in connection with the annual 7th and 8th grade track and field meet. Wm. F. Fafetta, assisted by Don Krick and Frank Coufal, is in charge of the contest.

Grand Island Club Entertains Ladies

Twenty-one ladies of Business and Professional Women's club of Ord went to Grand Island Tuesday night where they were guests of the Grand Island BPW club at dinner at the Yancey Hotel.

The Elks Club men's chorus presented part of the program and Mr. Clayton of Grand Island gave a talk and showed movies on a six weeks cruise to the West Indies that he and his wife took last winter on a Norwegian freighter.

A report on the state convention held in Omaha on April 21 and 22 was given by members of the Grand Island BPW club.

Other guests were the Hastings and Aurora BPW clubs.

Loyal Hurlbert Wins Athletic Scholarship

Loyal Hurlbert of Ord, middle distance runner at the University of Nebraska, was named winner of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association scholarship this week. He received the award at a university honors convocation.

Hurlbert also won the W. H. Swayser scholarship in engineering.

Ord Firemen Are Called Twice to Farm Fires Thurs.

Considerable Damage Done at Kral Farm.

The Ord Fire Department answered two calls Thursday, both to farms where weed burning got out of control in the high wind.

The first trip was made to the Frank Kral place, west of town, where weed burning along an irrigation ditch had gotten out of hand.

One hog shed was completely destroyed by the time firemen reached the scene, but the smoke-eaters saved a similar structure and extinguished blazes in weed patches. A section of fence was destroyed, as was a hay stack.

After bringing the fire under control, the truck returned to Ord to replenish its water supply and returned to stand by to prevent further damage.

Late Thursday afternoon a call for help from the Dick Peterson farm, near the airport, was answered.

Here a blaze in the yard was threatening a new garage, but firemen quickly snuffed the fire and prevented any considerable loss.

Land Owners Get Bad News

Valley county property owners got their long-promised bad news this week, when changes in assessed valuation were made public to individual taxpayers.

In general—farm land in the county remained about the same or was decreased slightly. In cities and villages, universal increases were made.

The board of equalization will meet on Monday, May 1, and continue in session not less than three or more than fifty days to hear protests. Protests, according to county assessor W.C.H. Noll, must be made in writing to the board during the first three days of the session.

Kusek Runs Stop Sign, Pays $10

Failure to halt at a stop sign cost Andrew B. "Andy" Kusek of Elyria $14 in county court last Thursday.

Arrested by a state highway patrolman on April 18, Kusek entered a plea of guilty, and was fined $10 plus costs by Judge Charles Cochran.

In county court Tuesday afternoon, Walter Sydzik was assessed a fine of $10 and $9 in costs on a charge of intoxication filed by County Attorney Ralph Norman. Sydzik was arrested on Sunday.

Schoolhouse Moves Down Main Street

Ordites were surprised one day last week to find a schoolhouse moving majestically down one of Ord's main streets. Snapped by a Quiz lensman as it cruised down the avenue, the building is owned by Jerry Petska who moved it into town from the country. It was re-erected in the lot east of the Kokes and Petska liquor store, where it will be used as an office building.

Irrigation District Sued To Force Rate Increase To Users

district had received a notification from RFC on November 16, 1949, that suit would be started unless some arrangement was worked out for payment of interest and principal on the debt.

"This district was built by P.W.A.," Munn said, "and under the contract we have with P.W.A., the district must charge $2.50 per acre to water users. We couldn't change that figure if we wanted to, and RFC should have known that when they bought the P.W.A. bonds."

"With three diversion dams, 70 some miles of canals and 90 miles of laterals this is a costly district to run. Flood damage has given us a bad time financially."

Munn said that in 1947, irrigation farmers in the district, operating under the name Waters Users Association, decided to help the district financially.

Users Give Money. "These people—voluntarily—made extra assessments on themselves to assure the operation of the district. In 1947 the extra money they voluntarily gave was $1.50 per acre, and in 1948 and 1949 they gave the district $2.00 per acre; in addition to the contract price of $2.50 per acre.

"In spite of this," Munn said, "the district has never been able to accumulate a surplus over the amount necessary for operation and maintenance required for a successful irrigation season."

The board of directors of the irrigation district held a special meeting last December following a meeting of the Water Users Association.

"Upon advice of the water users association, we offered to settle our obligation to RFC for the cash sum of $125,000," Munn said.

The $125,000 offer was made following a similar deal by the Middle Loup District, where about the same amount of money was owed RFC and the district settled for

RFC Says Nothing Has Been Paid on Loan of Million

Local Officials Say PWA Contract Sets Rates, Not Them.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation filed suit Tuesday in district court against the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation district for $1,228,087.73.

The Omaha law firm of Hotz and Hotz filed the action for the RFC in federal district court at Grand Island. W. J. Hotz, Jr., said $346,087.73 of the total sum is interest, $216,000 is past due principal owed RFC by the district.

The suit charges that no payments have been made either on the interest or the principal since bonds of the district were purchased by RFC on Apr. 3, 1947.

Hotz said enforcement of such a judgment would require the district to charge sufficient water rates to insure over a period of years the final liquidation of the indebtedness.

"Court action has become necessary for the guidance of all parties concerned both in the amount of assessments to be made by the directors as well as what should be considered an acceptable sum payable annually for the retirement of debt," Hotz said. "The matter has been in suspense until now."

Local Officials Surprised. In Ord today, officials of the district said they were somewhat surprised at the nature of the suit, since they, themselves, had no power to raise or lower water rates under present contracts.

George Munn, attorney for the Construction May Start June 30, 1951 on Davis Creek

Fund Appropriation by Congress Needed, Banquetters Told.

"Construction on North Loup River development projects may begin by June 30, 1951," Avery Batson, director of the Bureau of Reclamation for the Denver region told the crowd which attended the Loup River irrigation and conservation meeting at Scotia on Tuesday night.

Batson said that if Congress appropriate necessary funds, planning can be pushed so that building can start by mid-summer.

Construction mentioned by Batson would include a dam on the Davis Creek site with a storage capacity of 237,000 acre feet of water. There are 4 reservoirs, 9 hydro sites and 14 dams in the proposed development. A total of 350,000 acres would be irrigated.

Several Speakers. Mr. Batson was on the same program with Governor Val Peterson, Representative A. L. Miller, and Paul Harley, area engineer.

Governor Peterson, in the main address of the evening, predicted a long struggle to win government funds to irrigate, adequately, all the Nebraska land which needs extra water.

"Money spent on irrigation development will be repaid many times over," said Peterson. "But we must convince Congress of our needs." He envisioned increased prosperity for the North Loup region and compared its potentialities with that of the recently developed Scottsbluff area.

Natural Gas Promised By Late August If Sufficient Industrial Load Contracted

Mrs. Vern Sageser

Gas Co. Officials to Huddle With City Dads Tonight

Construction of natural gas pipe lines into Ord will start on June 15, if a sufficient number of large users contract to use gas this winter.

That is the substance of a statement made to the Ord city council Tuesday night by City Engineer George Allen, who said he had been requested to arrange a meeting between the council and gas company officials to talk over a contract for use this winter.

Allen told the council that E. P. Squires, representative of the gas company, has estimated that if construction goes smoothly, his firm could make deliveries of natural gas here in late August.

The council will meet with the natural gas company officials tonight (Wednesday) to discuss the proposition. The gas company also expects to present similar proposals to the county board for heating of the courthouse, the Ord school board for heating both school houses, the rendering plant, alfalfa mill and several other large users.

Tuesday night's meeting of the council saw a change in personnel, when two councilmen, Jay Brown and Dr. J. W. McGinnis, completed their jobs and bowed out in favor of their successors, George Hastings and Otto Pecenka. The old council's last official act was to hear reports of the city treasurer and board of public works. The reports will be published elsewhere in the Quiz.

Water Mains Extended. A water main extension program, involving around $9,000 was outlined to the council as the first part of a projected $14,000 water main improvement campaign.

Scheduled for immediate attention are water mains and fire hydrants to the new Cityview Addition south of town. 20th street from K street north to the Lutheran church and thence east to the Catholic church.

Councilmen voted to purchase approximately $6000 worth of pipe, fitting and hydrants, and to allow the board of public works to carry out the projects at their own discretion. Only a portion of the $5000 extension to the Cityview addition will be built, as the project to be extended later as new housing is built. E. R. Fafetta, member of the board of public works, told the council that at least four new homes would be in the construction stage there before summer.

All Employees Renamed. All present employees of the city were retained, with a few adjustments in salary. Harry Clement, night police, was raised from $125 per month to $150 per month, and Mayor F. L. Blessing told the council that he intended to have Clement and Ernest Kirby, chief of police, alternate night duty every two weeks. Most employees of the city electric plant received $5 per month raises, total raises amounting to $125 per month.

Three Pay Fines in Police Court

Mat Turek paid a fine of $10 plus costs in Police Judge John R. Sullivan's court Monday on a charge of intoxication. The complaint was filed by Harry Clement, who arrested Turek Saturday night. Turek entered a plea of guilty.

Bill and Joe Rysavy, brothers, pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace in the second case to come before Judge Sullivan Monday. The offense took place Saturday evening and the complaint was filed by Harry Clement.

The brothers were fined $20 each plus costs.

that Highway 11 is in sorry condition, Peterson promised, "We will patch it up for you and glue it together again. It will be a nice smooth road until next spring and then it will pop like corn as it always has."

Paul Harley, Grand Island, area engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation, gave a report on progress made in irrigation during the past two years. Plans will soon be off the drawing boards, said Harley, but the present ban on beginning new construction may delay the start of some projects.

Heard from briefly on the program were Dan Jones, assistant state irrigation chief; Roy Lang, manager and secretary of the Nebraska Reclamation Association; Val Kuska, Burlington railroad representative, and L. E. Donegan of the Portland Cement association.

Larsen Presides. Paul Larsen, St. Paul, retiring president of the Loup River Irrigation and Conservation Association, was master of ceremonies.

At a business meeting of the irrigation group in the afternoon, Anders Neilson of Danneberg was elected president; D. Roll of Ames became vice-president, and A. E. Dwihus of Danneberg was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Unit representatives were chosen as follows: Ras Rasmussen, Cotesfield, Twin Valley unit; Fred Forbes, Palmer, Fullerton unit; Mark Wagner, Scotia, sub-unit; George Sunlar, Sargent unit; Walter Foth, Mira-Dane unit. Middle Loup, North Loup, and Clear Creek representatives were not disclosed.

Three Banquets. About 600 people attended the banquet which preceded the program. They were divided among the Community hall, the Methodist church, and the Recreation Hall. Identical menus were served each place, with after-dinner speaking being reserved for the program at the high school.

Early in the afternoon, the governor's party toured the development area near Danneberg, Ashton, Elba, Cotesfield and Davis Creek, where some 40,000 of the 350,000 acres to be brought under irrigation are located.

Rats and Garbage. Health authorities state that rats carry at least 20 diseases which can be transmitted to man. As one means of controlling these diseases, it is recommended that rats be deprived of their chief source of nourishment — garbage left lying in the open. This may be done by placing all refuse in covered galvanized steel garbage cans.

Expenditures of School and City Increase Steadily

Turning Point May Be Soon; Main Objectives Are Built, Some Paid.

Cpl. George Tuma Is MP School Grad

The 1948-49 disbursement was $279,030, or an increase of 45%. In the same period, the valuation of the city jumped from $1,624,000 to $2,087,000. Under the new valuations the city will have a valuation of about $2,800,000. Early forecasts of the 1950-51 school budget indicate the trend will continue. One more teacher has been added to the school payroll, a number have been given salary increases. Urgently needed are a new heating system and a modern lighting system at the grade school. A budget raise of $7000 to $10,000 seems inevitable.

A study of school district expenditures over the past five years reveals that salary increases are not wholly responsible for the doubling of the budget. Instructional material, such as books, films, laboratory equipment, etc., increased from $4000 in 1944 to $9,000 in 1948. Operation and maintenance, including janitor's salaries went up from $7600 in 1944 to $13,800 in 1948. And fuel which cost $1452 in 1944, cost $1711 in 1948.

City Expenditures Boom.

The postwar surge of civic construction found Ord going along. The past five years—1945 through 1949, saw more than $525,000 spent on public improvements by the city, and an increase in bonded indebtedness from $65,000 to $371,000 in the same period.

The increasing demand for electric current sparked by the addition of REA loads, made necessary a $390,000 expansion of the city electric plant, against which $280,000 in revenue bonds are still outstanding.

City dads and the newly created board of public works are not perturbed by the large debt.

The Ord electric system has always been a faithful producer of revenue even during the war period when the city boasted of the lowest electric rate in the state for towns of its size. Profits of electric system have been continually milked to aid other funds in the past.

The new $280,000 bond issue has put a stop to diversion of electric funds. Not until the bonds are paid may a dollar of electric revenue be diverted to help other city activities. A system of reserve, depreciation and working capital funds have been set up through ordinance, and these amounts, totaling nearly $52,000 have already been accumulated by the electric plant.

Of the $280,000 revenue bond issue, $5,000 is due March 1, 1951, $11,000 due March 1, 1952 and $12,000, March 1, 1953. The board of public works already has funds accumulated to meet the 1951 bond payment, and anticipates retiring the greater share of the bond issue in advance of payment date.

Two rate increases were made in the past three years to provide for payment of the bonds. A few months ago the first reduction went into effect, cutting the cost of water-heating current from 1 1/2 cents per kWh to 1 1/4 cents per kWh. Other rate reductions may be anticipated in the near future, with improvement of financial conditions in the electric department.

The coming of natural gas to Ord, which may happen this year, will aid electric current users. The newest city engine is a dual type, and by using natural gas as a fuel in place of oil, will cut fuel bills by one-third. Another new engine at the plant—installed in 1946—can also be converted to natural gas.

Of remaining city improvement expenditures the past five years, a great share was paid for with cash on the barrel. Sanitary sewer construction totaled $52,500. Most property owners paid their assessments in cash, leaving a bond issue only $8,500.

The swimming pool, which cost $44,000, was built with $25,000 in city bonds the other $19,000 contributed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Ord's airport represents an investment to the city of nearly $45,000. Of this amount, $25,000 came through a bond issue, federal aid totaled $17,000, and the remainder was contributed by Ord business men.

Still hanging over the city is the dark cloud of a refunding bond issue, drawing 3 1/2 percent interest, of which $4,000 is still unpaid. This represents the debt of the city hall—built during the 1920's, and for which no attempt in payment was made until nearly 20 years later.

Bond retirement and interest, at present, provide only one-fourth of the city's tax levy. For the big increase in expenditures—and the corresponding increase in taxation—the Ord taxpayer must examine other city funds.

Largest single fund of the city is the general fund, since it is the one fund out of which almost any item can be paid. Mill levies on this fund have dropped in the past five years from 4.75 mills to 4.00 mills.

Year	Mill Levy	Expend.
1945-46	4.75	13,447
1946-47	5.00	7,624
1947-48	4.00	9,118
1948-49	4.00	11,203

Repair, upkeep and improving of streets and alleys within the city has been the bug-a-boo to city finances the past three years. Due to a wartime and prior policy of keeping road expenditures at a minimum—a policy which has now proven to be false economy—city streets were allowed to get by with a minimum of attention. Equipment for road work was not kept up—new equipment was not purchased, until a few years ago city dads suddenly awoke to find they had nothing but a worn-out grader and a few shovels and brooms to maintain nearly fifty miles of streets and alleys.

Construction of new sewers turned once-hard gravelled streets into quagmires wherever sewers were built. Heavy snows of the blizzard period threw snow removal funds out of balance. Paving around the courthouse square started to break requiring immediate attention.

Beginning in the fiscal year 1945-46 the council swung into action. A new heavy type road grader was purchased, an additional truck and sprinkler system added to city equipment. Downtown paving was given a temporary topcoat at the cost of $4,700. (This amount was paid out of the electric fund originally, was paid back by the road fund in 1948-49 following light users protests.)

Road fund expenditures hit a peak in the fiscal year 1948-49, forcing an overdraft in that fund of over $10,000 at the end of the year. A maximum mill levy and a leveling off of the expenditures (no new equipment is contemplated for some time) is expected to bring this fund in the 'black' in another year. Here's the five year story:

Year	Receipts	Expend.
1944-45	$ 8,265	$ 7,479
1945-46	8,416	8,801
1946-47	10,352	11,011
1947-48	11,611	12,770
1948-49	12,558	13,136

The five-year record shows that expenditures have been slightly over receipts the past three years. A comfortable working balance has been able to absorb losses, a raise in rates a year ago is expected to balance water fund accounts by the time the next city audit is made this spring.

With both city and school expenditures making a steady climb, and a long list of projects that are "needed" it is probable that the trend of the past five years will be continued.

The sudden increase in valuation due to new tax appraisals may serve to lower the levy for a year or so, although in view of the record of the past five years—when valuation climbed a similar amount—it is doubtful that tax-papers in Ord will be able to anticipate immediate relief.

Officials responsible for spending tax monies in Ord are representative citizens of the town. They are also, in most instances, owners of real estate so they, too, feel the pinch of increased taxation.

Few expenditures of the past five years can be criticized—in nearly all cases, either an urgent need developed, or a majority demand influenced the expenditure.

Taxes will not go down until expenditures go down. And as long as the citizens of Ord demand and receive city and school district benefits and improvements over and above those of previous years, expenditures will continue to rise—and taxes with them.

Mark Holm Dies Saturday at Age of 84 Years

Father of Mrs. F. L. Blessing Was Builder, Banker.

Mark Holm, a prominent businessman in Nebraska for many years, died at his home in Ord, Saturday.

Born in Farre, Denmark, he came to America in 1883 and in 1884, he settled in Elba where he lived for 63 years.

In 1888, when he returned to Denmark to visit his aged mother, he met Mary Jensen who came the following year to this country to become his wife on June 10, 1889.

To this union five children were born: Walter, who died in 1932; Holger, of Omaha; Esther Hansen, of Stanton; Marie Blessing, of Ord, and a daughter who died in infancy.

When Mr. Holm first settled in Elba, he was engaged in building and contracting. He served as postmaster of Elba and as county assessor of Howard county. He later organized the Farmers State Bank, of which he was president for 15 years.

Due to their failing health, Mr. and Mrs. Holm moved to Ord in September, 1947.

Mr. Holm became a member of the Masonic Lodge in 1897 and in January of last year received the Jordan Medal for 50 years of membership in that order. He was reared in the Lutheran faith and was instrumental in the building of the Lutheran church in Elba.

On June 10, 1949, Mr. and Mrs. Holm observed their 60th wedding anniversary.

At the time of his death, he was 84 years, 2 months and 12 days old.

Survivors are his wife, three children, eight grandchildren, and ten great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the Hastings-Pearson chapel in Ord at 2 o'clock, with the Rev. C. Jepperson officiating. Don Auble sang two solos, accompanied by Viola Kellison.

Pallbearers were Bruce Covey, Jay Auble, Earl Murray, John

Wozab, Almond Brox, and Crawford Mortensen.

Burial was in the family plot in the Ord City Cemetery. The Masonic Lodge of St. Paul had charge of committal services at the grave.

Relatives and friends from out-of-town who attended the funeral of Mark Holm Monday included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Holger Holm, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hansen, Stanton; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Majors, Ralston; Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Holm, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Holm, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Holm, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wilkie, Burwell; Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kolberg, Elba; Mrs. Nick Keating, Elba; Mrs. Anna Jorgensen, St. Paul; Thomas Ogard, St. Paul; Mrs. Robert Uleman, St. Paul; Mrs. Olga Jennings, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fairbairn, St. Paul; Mrs. Rudy Manisel, St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nielsen Aurora; Walter Hansen, Aurora; Mrs. Mary Gregersen, Elba; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hansen, Elba; Mrs. Alice Englebrecht, Elba; Mrs. Elsa Leth, Elba; Ghorvult Julesburg, Elba; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rines, Greeley; Mrs. P. J. Barnett, Greeley; Mrs. Rex Stark, Greeley; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jorgensen, St. Paul; and Mrs. Martin Leth, Elba.

Cream Delivery Plan Inaugurated

All cream delivered on and after May 1st will be purchased from producers in accordance with new regulations. All cans will be tagged after they are emptied at the creamery or cream buying station. This tag will bear the name of producer, date and cream buyers identification number. This tag will serve as evidence of the age of cream for the next delivery. All tags taken from the cans at the time of delivery must be kept by the buyer and be subject to inspection by state supervisors or inspectors. Cream delivered within the four day limit will not necessarily be first grade, as the present regulation of grade by taste, smell and sediment test will apply. Cream must be clean, kept cool and in legal containers to be of best quality. The price differential between first and second grade will be at least 5 cents. The dairy industry as a whole knows that an improvement must be made in the quality of Nebraska butter in order to keep ahead of substitutes now being offered.

The new water insoluble acids test is being used on butter samples to determine how much decomposition has taken place in the butterfat before it was churned. It has been found that most cream over four days old will not produce butter that will pass this test. Butter that is below this requirement is subject to seizure and the manufacturers prosecuted. Therefore, manufacturers and their producers cannot take the chance of making butter out of anything but cream that is reasonably fresh. Some manufacturers have indicated that they will not have a market for cream that is over seven days old.

The Nebraska State Department of Agriculture and Inspection is giving full cooperation to the dairy industry and all its producers with the hope that full cooperation will be given this plan and thereby protect the interests of the Nebraska Dairy farmer. The Department will furnish all creameries and cream stations with pamphlets outlining the purpose and operation of this regulation in the near future. All producers are urged to get their copies before May 1st.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our children, friends and relatives who remembered us on our 25th wedding anniversary. We also wish to thank those who sent us gifts, cards and flowers.

To Protect Your Market for Cream

The purpose of the four-day cream procurement plan is to improve the market for Nebraska cream producers. Substitutes for butter are making drastic inroads in the consumption of this important Nebraska product. Every effort must be made to manufacture high quality butter if the dairy industry continues to prosper.

Seven out of every eight pounds of butter made in Nebraska are consumed outside the state, and therefore are subject to Federal inspection. The Federal government has found that

"Cream Held Under Temperature Conditions Above 60° Has a Maximum Life of Four Days in Which It Can Conform to the Water Insoluble Acid and Butyric Acid Tests."

Water insoluble acid and butyric acid, found in old cream, are used to determine butterfat decomposition. Fresh cream contains none of these acids.

Tests for these acids are made by the Food and Drug Administration after the butter is shipped to other states, and the butter is subject to Federal seizure.

To protect the butter market for the producer it is necessary that cream over four days old be brought as second grade because old cream cannot be used in making wholesome, top grade butter.

The Four-Day Plan is designed to help the dairy industry.

The 4-Day Cream Grading Regulation Becomes Effective May 1, 1950.

Farmers Worried by Lack of Rain, Continued Cold

Most Small Grain Is Planted But Needs Moisture.

While farmers in eastern Nebraska began the discouraging task of cleaning up the debris left by the worst flood along the Missouri River since 1943, farmers here watched helplessly as high winds blew tons of powder-dry topsoil from their fields. Prospects for a small grain crop, not too encouraging at best because of a late spring and continued cold, grew even more dismal as winds swept over the thirty acres. Clouds of dust, reminiscent of the early '30s, were in the air all through central and western Nebraska and Kansas. The situation is serious in parts of Nebraska and the panhandle of Nebraska, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Crops have not been hurt seriously in this territory, but with almost all of the small grain planted, need for a rain will soon be felt critically. Farm work was slowed again this week with the return of cold weather. Temperatures below freezing were recorded several days and a north wind has sent Nebraskans back to their overcoats once more.

—Prof. Francis Boelter of Westmar College, Le Mars, Ia., will preach at the 11:00 service at the E. U. B. church at Mira Valley. A pot-luck dinner will be served at 12:30, and a concert by the college male quartet will be given at 2:30.

Refinishing Refrigerators Kitchen refrigerators can be finished with two brush coats of quick-drying enamel of any desired color. However, it is advised by experts in finishing that the job be done with a spray gun by a man who specializes in such work. In either case, surface of the refrigerator must be absolutely clean and free from any trace of greasy film which might impair adhesion of the new finish.

SHORT STORY

Moving Day

By EDWARD EARL LEE

THE quitting bell sounded through the office and immediately ordered routine gave way to confusion as workers prepared to leave. That is, all but one. Jerome Clayton remained seated, elbows leaning on the polished top and cupped palms supporting his chin.

Jerry's abstracted gaze watched employees' hurried exits. His emotionless voice answered hastily uttered farewells.

3-Minute Fiction

Friday . . . well, no use hurrying home to be greeted by four bare walls.

Of course, Helen would take the furniture. She had bought it by installments from her salary. Jerry recalled how her grey eyes lighted with pleasure when first she had seen the suite. "Modernistic Design," she had announced, identifying it.

A slammed door interrupted his reverie causing him to glance up. He recognized the elevator operator and realized the man was taking his last look around to ascertain if all the employees had gone. Jerry hurriedly locked the desk, slapped on his hat and rode down.

It was then he remembered Jack's poker session, pre-arranged for six o'clock. He shrugged. All week he had been groping for a suitable excuse to tell Helen. Now that none was required, he had no desire to sit in at the game. Well, no use mooning around down here. He walked away slowly with no destination in mind, his thoughts tumbling over one another.

So, after a year, this was the end. Helen should have known that Grace meant nothing to him. Had he not done everything except tell her bluntly that he was not interested? But Helen thought otherwise and had started acting up to that Charlie with the patent-leather hair.

Jerry's thoughts were rudely jerked back to the present by the sound of screeching brakes and the vitriolic tirade of a truck driver. He was crossing a street with the red light against him. Grinning sheepishly he glanced at the street sign to determine his location, then started, surprised. He was only one block from home. His subconscious mind had directed him to the route he habitually followed when returning from work.

Jerry turned the corner slowly. Suddenly his mouth felt dry. There was a sickening void where his stomach should have been. Weights seemed attached to his feet as he stumbled on unwillingly, yet unable to stop. In front of the house was the furniture. No chance of his mistaking that "Modernistic Design." One of the draymen went in as Jerry came abreast the dwelling. The second one said:

"Gotta watch, pal?"
"No. But with a lighter do?"
"Okay. Thanks."

He accepted the instrument and began the somewhat difficult task

Helen had started acting up to that Charlie with the patent-leather hair, of endeavoring to light his pipe with a cigarette lighter.

"Beats all," he grumbled between puffs, "how much extra work people can cause. Take this customer, for instance. We get her stuff all packed, drives to her new place, and what happens? Says she's changed her mind and wants it hauled back."

"What!" exclaimed Jerry.
"Yeah," the mover continued. "I was surprised myself. But I think she's nuts. When we get back here she busts out crying and runs up the steps like . . . Hey, here's your—"

The drayman removed his pipe from between slack lips. He scratched the lobe of his ear with the stem and a puzzled frown wrinkled his face.

He started to pick up a chair to carry in. Then he began to grin. Dropping the chair, he hoisted the loveseat on his back.

SHORT STORY

Something of Value

By ANNA E. WILSON

THE PORCH was broad and sunny, and Elsie placed the bi-chair where Dad could see the people passing and look across into Barnes grocery store.

"You see, Dad," she said cheerfully, "you'll be happy here in the sunlight, and you can watch what goes on over there in the store—it'll be no time at all until you forget about the shop—Goodness knows, a man who's worked until he's sixty-five years old has earned a rest."

Dad sank back in the chair and sighed wistfully. "I know, Elsie, and the company was real nice. Mr. Twilinger presented me with a watch, and said they were real sorry about my eyes, and hated to let me go. Watch making is such fine work and," Dad finished carefully, "there was no other place open in the shop where they could work me in. Mr. Twilinger explained about it all before I came away."

3-Minute Fiction

"Yes," Dad tried to settle himself uneasily, "but sitting here isn't going to help pay for this house, and I did hope to see you settled in a home of your own before I died."

He was glad when Mrs. Frisby stopped to talk. She was gossiping and friendly and liked a chat. "Glad to see you taking a rest at last, Dad. Goodness knows, it was time. I see you've been looking at the sketch for the new Memorial. Isn't it wonderful that a great artist like Mr. Bonelli's been engaged for the job. They say he's been asking for medals to copy on the figures of the war veterans and I'm hurrying right down with this one of Willie's."

Dad stared at the sketch of the Memorial, thinking of what Mrs. Frisby had said. Something of value. Dad went over all his meager possessions and they weren't much. Just his clothes, neat and clean, the watch Mr. Twilinger had given him and that old coin.

Dad was confused by the noise and bustle when he entered Mr. Bonelli's studio, but Mr. Bonelli smiled at Dad and took him into a little office in the rear.

"It's about a coin," said he humbly, and took out his lucky piece.

"Where did you get it, and why do you want to sell it, Dad?"

It was easy to talk to Mr. Bonelli, and Dad explained about his home and Elsie.

THE ARTIST sighed — "It might have been valuable once, but it's too defaced now for restoration—I'm sorry," he looked as if he really was. "I wish I could tell you that it's worth something but I'm afraid it's not."

Dad thanked him, but as he got up to go, Mr. Bonelli spoke.

"I have a friend coming tomorrow and if you drop in you can talk it over with him."

Mr. Bonelli was talking to another man, when he saw Dad he beckoned him in. Dad took out the coin and the stranger glanced at it, but he was really looking at Dad.

Dad in his neat worn clothes, was worth looking at. He had lived a good life and all this good living showed in his wrinkled face and clear blue eyes. Mr. Bonelli's own eyes twinkled.

"We find you have something of value, Dad, after all," he said softly.

"The coin was worthless," he continued. "We want to use you as a model for one of the figures on our Memorial. We want to employ you in the studio to keep track of valuable loans to us. Mr. Twilinger says we couldn't get a better man. The pay is good, well over five hundred dollars for the year's work," he said gently. "You see, Dad, the thing you have of value is yourself. You've been a good citizen and it shines—right in your face."

Filling Pill Bottles Ever wonder how the millions of pills and tablets produced in this country are placed in bottles with such unerring accuracy—never one short, never one too many? It's simple. The tablets are fed from "toppers into filling tubes equipped with metal fingers which stop the flow of the pellets at any predetermined number.

Cock Fighting Almost as far back as the history of fowls can be traced there is mention of cock fights. Setting two gamesters to battle each other in a pit was a favorite pastime of the most ancient Greeks and Romans. There was cock fighting in Asia at least 3,000 years ago, although the very earliest Asiatic enthusiasts, lacking chickens, used partridge and quail in a fight to the death.

Geriatricians Needed The United States in coming years will have greater need for geriatricians, physicians who specialize in medical problems of the aged, than for practitioners specializing on children, says Odin W. Anderson, instructor in public health economics at the University of Michigan school of public health. Within the next 35 years the number of persons 65 years and over probably will double, he pointed out.

St. Louis World Fair The St. Louis World's fair, in 1904, spread over most of the two square miles of Forest park, six miles west from the river front. Some 240 acres were under roof. It tallied 18,700,000 visitors—more than 100,000 a day—from April 30 through November. The ice cream cone, according to a legend, was born at the fair when a vendor started packing his hokey pokey in curled waffles.

Calendar Jugglers Two emperors of Rome can be blamed for the fact that February has only 28 days. According to the World Book encyclopedia, February had 30 days until the time of Julius Caesar, who took one day off to add to the month of July, which was named after him. The emperor Augustus took another day off to add to August, the month named after him.

Products of Formosa The island of Formosa normally produces large quantities of sugar, tea, rice and pineapples. It mines copper, gold and silver, and contains still undetermined deposits of today's even more precious mineral, petroleum. Its extensive camphor forest supplies the bulk of the world's natural camphor for use in medicines.

Poison Ivy Poison ivy is a plant which is either a low shrub or a creeping vine. The plant leaves, which may be notched or smooth, are arranged in groups of three on short stalks of unequal length. The leaves are shiny, dark green in summer and brilliant orange or scarlet in the fall. The plant may be found in the woods or in the open in dry or moist locations along fence rows, paths, roadways, and in yards on trees and posts.

"It's a Law" Congress has passed some strange laws in its day. Here is one which is written on the books to govern the District of Columbia, the territory in which the national capital is located. If more than $26.67 is lost in a fair game of cards, suit can be brought against the winner for the money. If a gambler takes more than $26.67 by cheating he can be sued for five times what he won.

First Populist Governor Held Variety of Offices

Silas A. Holcomb, Nebraska's first Populist governor, probably has the distinction of having served in a greater number of wider variety of high state offices than any other man in our history. He was district judge, governor, justice of the supreme court, chief of State Institutions, and chairman of the Board of Control.

That Holcomb made a strong impression upon the Nebraska of his day there can be little doubt. This is particularly evident in the best available account of his public career, written by N. C. Abbott, noted Nebraska historian now living in Dallas, Texas, and published serially in Nebraska History, 1945-46.

Silas Holcomb was born in Gibson County, Indiana, August 25, 1858. Following a common school education and a term at a normal school, he taught for four years to secure money with which to attend college. The death of his father in 1876, leaving Silas as the head of his family, prevented him from achieving this ambition.

A year later he brought his mother, brothers, and sisters to Nebraska, settling on a Hamilton county farm. Soon after his arrival in Nebraska, young Holcomb began to read law, being admitted to the bar in 1882. He opened a law office at Broken Bow in 1883. Custer County was a stronghold of the Populist movement which swept across Nebraska in the early Nineties, and Broken Bow furnished much of its leadership. Holcomb became one of the most important and effective Populist leaders in the state. As a Populist nominee for district judge in 1891, Holcomb—only 33—defeated F. G. Hamer, later a justice of the state supreme court. He served as district judge until his nomination for the governorship in 1894.

A Democratic-Populist fusion, effected that year, resulted in Holcomb's nomination by both parties and put him into office by a narrow margin over Thomas J. Majors, the Republican candidate. All of the remaining state officers and most of the legislators were Republican.

Holcomb was re-elected by a large majority in 1896 (the year of William J. Bryan's first campaign for the presidency), along with a complete set of fusion state officers and enough legislators to give the Democratic-Populist combination control of both houses. Holcomb was not a candidate in 1898, and the year following his retirement from the governorship, he was elected to the state supreme court as a fusion candidate, defeating Manoaah B. Reese. He served on the court for six years, the last two as chief justice.

Following his retirement from the court, Holcomb returned to his law practice at Broken Bow, but when a constitutional amendment, adopted in 1912, created a "Board of Commissioners of State Institutions" (now the Board of Control), he was again called into the public service. Holcomb served on the board until forced by ill health to resign in 1919, at the home of a daughter in Bellingham, Washington.

YOU'RE the BOSS

WHEN IT COMES TO FOOD BUYING!

Yes, you're the boss when it comes to the food buying. That is one time when every housewife "wears the pants in the family." Being boss has its responsibilities. It means that you, as a cautious shopper, have the important task of selecting the best in wholesome, nutritious foods at prices you can pay.

When planning your meals be sure to include meat at least once a day. Stop in at the North Side Market where you'll find a wide selection of tantalizing, palate-pleasing meats.

You, Too, Can Help IMPROVE Telephone Service

In some areas shortages still exist which mean more telephone users are asked to share party line service.

Here's How You Can Help:

1. Teach children how to properly use the telephone.
2. Limit local conversations to five minutes.
3. Respect other parties' rights by not disturbing line when it is in use.
4. If line is busy when you wish to place a call, restore the receiver gently, giving other party a reasonable length of time to complete his conversation.
5. If you have an emergency call to make, most party line users will gladly give up the line for your call if you will ask for it.

If you have party line service, be a good telephone neighbor. Sharing the line will help you and the other fellow to better service.

The Ord Basketball Champions of 1948

promise anything, but deliver nothing. From his talk I gathered that the social security they promise is the "concentration camp"; that their welfare state is where everybody works but nobody is permitted to accumulate; that their boasted democracy is the right to live every minute of their lives according to rules laid down by their masters; that their planned economy is the planning of a persons life in all its aspects from the cradle to the grave, with no consideration whatever of the individual's wishes; that everything is nationalized, and for this reason is run in an efficient but wasteful manner; that there is but one government for communism, and that government is located in Moscow and headed by Joe Stalin; and, finally, that the surest way of slipping into communism is carelessness and a false sense of security.

In spite of the rukus being stirred up in Washington, the young man does not believe that there are many communists in high places in America, or that there will be. What he believes we should fear is the communist influence among the laboring classes, where the percentage is much higher and where the seed of communism can be sown in much more fertile ground. In any conflict between capitalism and labor, these troublemakers blame capital and point out that communism is the ideal state, since under it there are no capitalists. Too many people are willing to let such men do their thinking for them and they are safe in promising anything, since none of the promises will have to be made good when the communists win.

thirty seconds. I walked a mile, got my lungs full of the finest air in the world, and along came Nephew Louie Smith and picked me up, so I got to work at 7:30, the usual time.

This brings to mind the fact that a lot of people both past and present, are brought into Ord to work for local firms, and these people, because of the housing shortage, continue to work in Ord and live in their home town. I have been one of these for the past 18 months. Louie Smith has been coming to Ord for a long time now to work. Darrell Newman, expert on the big press, makes the trip up from North Loup five days per week. Morrie Johnson, driver up from several miles east of Scotia to work in the mounting department.

Before they found a place to live in Ord, Mrs. Lombard drove up from Scotia, and Jerry Gillham once lived in Scotia and worked in Ord. The record for distance is held by Clare Berney, who puts out his Wheeler County Independent every week and does a good job of it, yet finds time to do a lot of typesetting for the Quiz. There was a time when the Nelson Motor company was manned entirely by people who came, either from Burwell or North Loup. The new owner will have to come from Burwell until he makes arrangements to live in Ord.

Then there are Chet Beck and George Warford, who come to Ord from Scotia to work for the Valley Property company. There is Janice Cook of the Quiz, who lives in Ord, but whose parents live away south of North Loup. And Mrs. Hillis Coleman of near North Loup works afternoons for the Lee Stores. This is just a nice starter, but it gives you some idea of how Ord has been outgrowing its breeches during and since the war.

in a splendid adjunct to education. In others it has been a detriment and often a positive menace. Young people can obtain drivers' licenses when they are 16 years of age, usually about two years before they graduate from high school.

Where children have been raised properly they usually show their appreciation of the privilege of auto driving carefully, and when and where they are permitted to drive. Others take the reins in their teeth and go about where they please, often spending the night fifty miles or more from home, without a chaperone.

In so doing they waste the time they should have spent studying their lessons and at the same time have learned lessons they should not have learned, and which they will remember all too long. While they were away some of the parents hid their heads in the sand and failed to even notice that their youngsters were out nearly all night.

Competition between high schools has a tendency to make teachers and even school boards overlook essentials in the race to offer a more tempting course than the neighboring high school. The extras are fine, and it is all right to offer them, so long as the essentials in education are not overloaded. Those essentials MUST COME FIRST!

Showing how schools are falling down on the job, the high school of Ottumwa, Ia., last week announced that 21 of its 400 seniors would not be permitted to graduate, as they did not have the essentials of English grammar. This followed a survey in which former students in college stated that they were handicapped by a lack of knowledge of grammar.

With so much to learn in school, students should be required to spend their school years in study, and should be under proper supervision throughout the school year. Every small town would be the better for some method of keeping the young people where they should be at night, and the school board is to be congratulated on taking the initiative in this respect.

What's Cookin' Ward's Column

The North Loup Lions have had the pleasure of listening to many fine speakers but never to a more interesting man than the young Czechoslovakian who addressed them Thursday evening at the Community Hall. He had addressed the ladies' clubs at a meeting there during the afternoon, and remained over to talk to the men. He knew whoref he spoke, and his subject, Communism at Work, was one of absorbing interest. He spent a part of the war as a prisoner of war at Buchenwald, the notorious prison camp which was liberated by the Americans near the end of the war. His parents had died there, and he would have suffered a like fate if the liberation had been delayed for any extended time. He said that nobody could live for a very long time on the amount and quality of food meted out to them each day, and the amount was not enough to sustain life for a long time.

Only six months in this country, he spoke surprisingly good English. He told of being placed in a DP camp after his liberation and finding that conditions there were little better than in the prisoner camp. There was very little food, and the blankets were filthy and full of holes, with no chance of washing or replacing them. Inmates were punished severely for infraction of the rules. He and four friends decided to escape, and they did, taking nothing with them, and eventually made their way to Luxembourg, where they were treated much better and where they were given new identification papers. He is still a DP, here to receive an education, and expects to return to Luxembourg when his education ends.

In spite of his experiences he had not lost his sense of humor. In describing the weather in Czechoslovakia, he said: "We have four seasons there, like you do here in Nebraska, spring, summer, autumn and winter. But we do not have them all in one day." He emphasized that communism is not a political party but that its members work through any and all parties to obtain their ends. Communism is religion and Papa Stalin is the God of all communists. He says the members

Everybody in North Loup and in Ord, and in every other town, has been busy the past week cleaning up the yards and gardens and burning the trash. Thursday a couple of these fires, one in Ord and one in North Loup, called out the fire departments. All of which leads us to admonish Quiz readers to be exceedingly careful about fires under such conditions. No fire is more unpredictable than one set out in the yard in the spring. Sometimes trash will not burn at all, then, when it gets started it will burn like gasoline. Also a sudden change or increase of the wind may take a small trash fire out of control, in a matter of seconds.

It seemed like the irony of fate when Mrs. Johnson of Scotia called up early March 1 to say that Morrie had the flu and would not be coming to Ord and I'd have to get some other way to travel. I had been thinking how much fun it would be to start up the road on foot on such a fine spring morning, so I was headed out in about

IN MOWING IT'S THIS SECOND CASTER WHEEL THAT MAKES The Big Difference

MASSEY-HARRIS No. "6" SEMI-MOUNTED MOWER
The first time around your field you'll agree that those 2 caster wheels in trailer design mean more efficient mowing... faster, easier cutting that rolls over more acres in less time... gets more of your crop at its nutritional best.

Built up on a husky, all welded tubular-bar frame, the No. "6" is stronger, sturdier, more flexible. Oil bath lubrication assures smoother performance; light, easy-to-pull action that requires less power.

Both your tractor and the No. "6" are protected by quick-acting safety releases. Easy hook-ups save a lot of time even before you get in the field.

See us today... get the full details on the No. "6."

er: "I have a rooster that crows at four o'clock. Want to trade him for one that crows at five o'clock."

And the same emotion could have prompted another insertion. When a Lincoln man saw "Fay for this ad and drive it (a car) away" — he went to the stated address and transacted the deal. For the sum of $120, he became the owner of a 1936 Willys four-door sedan.

In a field by himself is the student in Ohio who found himself with a serious problem on his hands. He solved it, though, this way: "Just broke with my girl friend. Want someone to finish Argyle socks."

So while no one knows what tomorrow's papers will bring, the chances are good that there will be not a few want ad-ventures.

Business Going to Dogs--Is Glad

George B. Clark's business is going to the dogs. It's going to purebred English Shepherds, as a matter of fact.

Clark raises and trains English Shepherds on his six-acre "Idlewild Farms" just south of North Loup and ships dogs to all parts of the United States.

Usually about 40 dogs are kennelled at Idlewild, with pups taking the place of dogs which have been shipped to their new owners all over the continent. Just last week Mr. Clark sent a three-month-old puppy to Bryan Farms at Osceola, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark bought their farm last fall from Cliff Goodrich and moved to North Loup from Ballagh, where they had already gone into the dog breeding business.

Mrs. Clark helps in the care of the animals, and both she and her husband maintain that nothing in the world is as interesting as English Shepherds. "Most intelligent dogs in the world," says Mr. Clark.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Kriewald announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred, to Henry L. DeLaet, of Kearney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeLaet, of Gibbon.

Miss Kriewald is a graduate of Ord high school and of Kearney State Teachers college. For the past year she has been teaching at Leitchfield.

Mr. DeLaet is employed by the state highway department. Wedding plans are indefinite.

L. V. Hassell, pastor
The morning sermon subject for next Sunday is: "How Jesus Interpreted Being Lost."
The fact that a nationally known judge stated that of some 4500 boys and girls coming before him to be judged, only 4 were regularly attending a church or Sunday school should be the reason that every parent should take his children to Sunday school and church, and help them become spiritually aware of what is right and wrong. The church is always glad to cooperate with the home in helping to rear the very best young people.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY LICENSE SHOULD NOT BE GRANTED GUARDIAN FOR SALE OF REAL ESTATE
In the Matter of the Application of Clarence M. Davis, Guardian of John Scott, Philbrick, Laurel Soreen Philbrick and Byron Paul Philbrick, minors, to Sell Real Estate, in the District Court of Valley County, Nebraska. Now on this 5th day of April, 1950, this matter came on at chambers in St. Paul, Nebraska, upon the duly verified petition of Clarence M. Davis, Guardian of the estates of the above named minors, now on file in this court for license to sell the undivided interest of each of said minors in the Northwest Quarter and the East Half of Section 23, Township 20, North, Range 14, West of the 6th P. M., in Valley County, Nebraska, for the purposes therein set forth, and it appearing therefrom that it is necessary or beneficial to the minors that said real estate be sold; that it is therefore ordered that the next of kin of said minors and all persons interested in the estate appear before the undersigned, Judge of this court at St. Paul, Howard County, Nebraska on May 8th, 1950, at 10 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as the same may be reached, to show cause, if there be any, or if they desire to appear for such purpose, why a license should not be granted to sell said undivided interest in said real estate at either public or private sale, as the court may determine. It is further ordered that notice thereof be given by publication of the order in The Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper circulating in Valley County, Nebraska, at least three successive weeks.

Spring Style Show Presented Tuesday

The Homemaking Department of Ord High presented its annual Spring Style Show on Tuesday evening, April 25.

In a scene of an old fashioned garden the eighty girls enrolled in Homemaking styled their outfits which they had made in class or as a Home Experience.

Summer cottons, winter skirts and blouses, party dresses, winter dressy dresses, kitchen aprons and home experiences were the various types of outfits styled.

Miss Katherine Helzer, Home Demonstration Agent, judged the group for appearance, fit, workmanship and suitability on Monday and the outstanding outfits were presented at the close of the Style Show on Tuesday.

The winning girls were: Summer Cottons: Marcelyn Whiting, Mary Thompson, Betty Iwarski, Norma Sperling, LaVonne Franzen and Dorothy Penas. Winter Skirts and Blouses: Louella Christoffersen, Gladys Rice and Maxine Mason. Winter Dressy Dresses: Beth Edwards. Party Dresses: Charlene Stevens, Mill-cent Mason and Adeline Dubas. Home Experiences: Ellen Jean Poth, Irene Franzen and Mary

We have Monuments in all sizes and prices. 7 different granites to choose from. Our work is guaranteed.

Ord Colts Clip Primrose 10-2 in Opening Tilt

Four Ord hurlers Take Mound Turns, Strike Out 21.

The Ord Colts opened the 1950 baseball season with a win Sunday against Primrose by a score of 10-2 in the Ord diamond.

The visitors jumped to an early lead by pushing across the first run, but the Colts jumped back with a pair of runners in the second frame and were never in serious trouble afterward.

Pitchers Look Good.

Four Ord pitchers took turns on the mound—and they all looked good.

Dilla was the starting hurler for Ord, followed by Beran, Novosad and Richardson. Dilla got credit for the win.

Pielding was a bit weak by both teams. The first Primrose run came as a result of a pair of errors by Collins. But Ord's first runs were also unearned. A pair of bobbles by Primrose outfielders let two runs across the plate in the second frame.

Five Runs in Fifth.

Ord drew blood again in the fifth, with a five-run spree. Vail got on through an error by Rieck, third baseman. Richardson followed with a fly to center field which was muffed. Stoddard fanned, but a single by Beran brought in a couple of runs. Beran was followed by Koll, who lived on a fielder's choice, and Dilla, Beran, and Koll circled the sacks on a series of missed signals by the Primrose squad.

In the seventh, Primrose tried to get back in the ball game. McIntyre drew a walk and scored on Rieck's single. Pitcher Novosad ended the rally by fanning the next three men.

Opt seved up the game in the eighth when a ringing triple by Richardson scored Kresce and Collins.

Ord hurlers combined their talents to strike out 21. Ten Ord batters went down swinging.

Next Sunday the Colts travel to Wolbach for their first away-from-home contest.

Ak-Sar-Ben Gives Annual Good Neighbor Awards

The Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben today named a western Nebraska newspaperman and his son as Nebraska's top good neighbors during the last year. D. W. Reed and his son, Blaine M. Reed, co-publishers of the Cherry County News of Valentine, drew the judges' praise in announcing the recipients of the seventh annual Ak-Sar-Ben Good Neighbor Awards.

The awards are made annually by the Omaha civic organization in recognition of outstanding deeds during the year.

In making their selections, the judges chose Mr. Reed and his son for their outstanding public service in rushing to the aid of a competitive newspaper when a building collapsed and buried the Valentine Republican under tons of rubble on September 21, 1949. Within 15 minutes Mr. Reed and his son had offered the use of their plant, facilities and staff at the Cherry County Publishing Company, and for 14 weeks the neighboring newspaper never missed an issue. On January 1, 1950, the Republican resumed operations in its new plant.

In addition, the judges selected the names of a host of other persons who will be awarded framed citations and gold lapel emblems for their service to fellow Nebraskans.

The individuals — Anton Petzelka of Prague, Harold "Percy" Weathers of Fort Calhoun, Anna "Grandma" Bloom of Ashland, Marvin Malmberg of Pender, Olie McKelvie of Clay Center, Leo Barnell of Benkelman.

Donald E. Morrow of Hooper, R. C. Fuchler of Wayne, Chester A. Myron of Hastings, Ralph D. Copenhaver of Walthill, Mrs. Eugene L. Ludwick of Weeping Water, V. H. R. Hanson of Wakefield, Earl E. Hoffman of Grant, Mrs. Ivan Balfour of Union, Mrs. S. K. Stone of Lyons, J. W. Hanks and R. C. Fairhead of Rushville, Miss Jessie M. Kellogg of Red

Snows of Early Days Added Pleasure to Winter Travels of the Pioneers

Though in the present day snow lies up more than its share of Nebraska's traffic, in pioneer times it added to the ease and pleasure of travel. A good coat of snow made farm hauling easier, much easier than the heavy ruts developed by thawing weather—and more important, perhaps, made possible sleigh-riding, one of the year's most joyous entertainments.

The early newspapers frequently mentioned sleighing parties in their columns—indeed, such accounts were real "society" news. A bob-sled, its bed partially filled with hay, drawn by horses with sleigh bells, was a luxurious conveyance. The jingle of the bells and the laughter of the occupants could be heard for a long distance over the empty prairie on a crisp, still night.

Frequently, the young bloods of one town visited another for a combined sleighing party and dance. The Brownville Advertiser of January 21, 1861, contains descriptions of two such parties.

"On Saturday evening, a half dozen sleigh loads of 'young folks' went from this city to Rock Port, stopping at Cook's Hotel. They partook of an excellent supper, after which, together with their friends at that place, they 'all joined hands and circled round,' until the 'wee hours' admonished them to 'go home with the girls in the morning.'

"The same evening, a host of pleasure seekers from our sister city of Nemaha, came up to this place, and put up at the Brownville House, where they were treated in Doctor Mack's best style. They were accompanied by Dye's Brass Band, and favored our citizens with some of their excellent music. After supper, and a couple hours' dance, off they went, band playing."

The Nebraska City News of January 11, 1860, reported a gala sleighing party, in which the young men were very strict in collecting "toll" from the young ladies every time a bridge was crossed. The fact that there were few bridges had little effect. The same one was crossed many times during the evening.

The man fortunate enough to own a sleigh and a spanking span of horses was much in the same position of the possessor of a long, low convertible today. Most young swains, however, were unable to afford the luxury of a sleigh and horses of their own. Consequently, livery stables with sleigh and horses for hire, did a flourishing business during the winter season.

Seed Corn.

By now you have your plans made on just what acreage of corn you are going to plant this year. Many of you will need more Hybrid seed corn than you have ordered at present. We believe that you will not be satisfied with anything but the best. In the past the Cornhusker numbers that are available for our section have been the best and most consistent producers in the tests over the state. We have our Cornhusker Hybrid Seed on hand and still have a number of bushels of the "80 Series" as well as 148 and 75. If you have been using Cornhusker you know what they will do; if you have not been a user of Cornhusker now is the time to order a few bushels and try them out.

Alfalfa, Clover, and Grass.

Legume seeds are now very hard to supply. However, we still have several bushels of Dan 12, Grimm and Ladac Alfalfa seed. Also have a very limited amount of mixed Sweet Clover seed, also have limited amount of Red Clover, Alsike and Ladino Clovers. We have Brome, Crested Wheat, Western Wheat and Intermediate Wheat Grass, Sanddrop Grass, Blue Stem, Timothy and Red Top. If you have some other grass that you would like to use let us get it for you.

Dairy, Poultry and Hog Feeds.

Many of you are using a lot of commercial feeds and we would like to figure with you on what you need delivered to your farm in ton lots or truck lots. We know that we can furnish you with the best feeds available and we believe that we can give you a price that will be attractive. If you are feeding cattle be sure to try out our Beefmakr.

Grains.

We are in the market for your grain and will pay you the very highest price that the market will stand. We have a couple of trucks available to do your grain hauling. Wheat loans will expire April 30th and if you are going to deliver your wheat to PMA we can haul it for you or if you want to pay off the loan and put it on the market we will make you a very good offer on it and if you want us to we will furnish you with trucks.

Hy-Line Chicks.

We can get you some started Hy-Line Chicks at present if you would rather have started chicks than day-old chicks. Can also get you standard breeds. Let us furnish you with Hill chicks. Let us have a week or more time to get your chicks for you.

"It pays to buy from Noll."

There's More To It Than Simply Filling Out Papers!

Bank credit—used intelligently, is the driving force in our commerce today, and a vital part of our agriculture. And there's more to it than simply filling out a set of papers.

When we make a bank loan, we want to be sure that the loan will be of genuine assistance to the continued prosperity of our customers. Perhaps that is why we take all steps possible to be intimately acquainted with our customers financial problems.

It makes us feel good, too, when we know that through a Nebraska State Bank loan, another has been helped to prosper.

The Governor Visits.

Tuesday evening Governor Val Peterson spoke to a large group of enthusiastic conservation and irrigation minded listeners at Scotia. He expressed himself as happy to be present. The governor came to Scotia by way of Highway 11. Like the fellow who is supposed to have gone to Hell over the Baltimore and Ohio, the governor was glad to reach his destination.

Not that Scotia and Hell have much in common, although the Scotians always show visitors a Hell of a good time, and they did Tuesday evening. But the governor of anybody else who travels over Highway 11 these days is glad when the journey is over. It is to be hoped that the governor will inform the head of his highway department as to the state of this road, and have something, anything, done about it.

The Ord-North Loup part of this highway is perhaps the worst part of it, and Governor Peterson did not travel over it. But all the highway from St. Paul to Ord is in terrible condition, and the wonder is that Paul to have traveled it all spring without more accidents and some fatalities. The people of the valley are glad to welcome Governor Peterson, but we hope he finds smoother traveling when he comes again.

My Own Column

By H. D. Leggett

Every business man has wondered some time or other in his life where his lawyer friends get all their words, most of them useless and superfluous. The difference in speech between the ordinary human being and a legal luminary is illustrated quite forcibly in this little story. If a man were to give another an orange he would simply say: "I give you this orange." But when the transaction is entrusted to a lawyer to put in writing he adopts this form: "I hereby give and convey to you, all and singular my estate and interests, right, title, claim and advantages of and in said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp and pits, and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, cut and suck and otherwise eat the same or give the same away, with or without the rind, skin, juice, pulp or pits, anything hereinbefore or hereinafter or in any other deed or deeds, instrument or instruments of whatever nature or kind, whatsoever to the contrary, in any wise, notwithstanding."

Controlled Thinking.

The dream of all dictators is, and always has been, to control the thinking of other men, for it is only by so doing that a perfect dictatorship could be established. Fortunately for the world, man was endowed by his Creator with certain rights, and not the least of these is the privilege of thinking for himself. The essential difference between democracies and dictatorships is that, in former, government starts from the bottom, in the latter it comes down from the top. If men were Gods, it might be possible to establish and continue the perfect dictatorship, but, so long as men are men, no one man has the right or the ability to control the thinking of another. A peculiar thing about democracies is the fact that the representatives chose by the people begin to entrench themselves in office as soon as they are installed in office, and, in time, they use every possible method to control the thinking of the voters, trying to make them think everything done officially is right. Dictators, on the other hand, in time tend to become careless and to think they have the populace under complete control. They seem to be under control, simply because they keep any independent thinking they may do a secret from any who might betray them. But all the time the people are looking forward to the time they can rise and demand their rights. Liberty is prized most highly by those who have lost it. They may lose it quickly, as did the peasants of eastern Europe, or they may lose it gradually, as the people of the democracies are doing today. We lose a little here and a little there, and in time, unless something is done about it, we will lose our liberty entirely. It is a cardinal principle of democracy that no man has a right to tell another what he may do or may not do, except with the consent of the man governed. The trouble today is that too many people are giving their consent to be governed in small matters, and in due time we will be giving our consent in things that are vital.

The Higher Duty.

For nearly two decades America has heard much propaganda about the new deal, the fair deal, the common man, the more abundant life. In that time a large percent of the population has grown to maturity with the idea of less work and more pay dinned into their ears. The idea of better living conditions is fine. But there is a limit beyond which no nation can go, and that limit is near for America. This nation was founded upon the idea of service to one's fellowmen. Our forefathers had that idea in mind when they founded this nation for us. They had wrested the new world from the clutch of the old, and had built therein the structure of a nation in which all men were to be equal. That this equality would be subject to the limitations of the individuals themselves was implied, but was not specifically stated. Naturally there is a limit to how far any nation can go in making life easier for its citizens. No man can spend beyond his earning power and remain solvent. No man with natural ambition wants anything he has not earned. Half the enjoyment of spending lies in the labor involved in earning. What a man has earned by the sweat of his brow he can spend without fear or favor of any man. The danger, and the chief cause of the trend toward socialism or worse, is when men demand too much from the government and do too little in return. In these times of pseudo-prosperity, it might be well to remember those words of Churchill when he spoke of "blood and sweat and tears." To most people they are not pleasant words. Yet the only way to true peace and happiness is along a pathway bordered with "blood, sweat and tears."

In America today the words "service" and "sacrifice" are becoming unfamiliar. In a few short years we have turned away from those words and all they meant during the war, and are so intent on getting that we are losing sight of the importance of giving. True, we are paying our taxes. We have to do that. What we are forgetting is the importance of sacrifice and the important part it has in the perpetuation of democracy.

An old man is like an old car. If he has taken reasonable care of himself, he can usually get along pretty well for quite a while, provided he works and eats reasonably and sleeps and rests plenty and don't worry. I am very sorry that some distant subscribers have missed one or two copies of the paper. I stated on the April expiration card that was sent to subscribers, that all outside the Ord trade territory would be promptly stopped upon expiration, which is always the 15th. This was done just like I said and of course the issue of the 20th did not go to them. After missing the issue of the 20th quite a number of them sent their renewal and asked that the old paper be sent. This was done as long as we had papers left but we ran out and some have failed to get their paper. We are printing enough so that everyone on the list will get one but we cannot afford to print a lot more than we need. I am now ready to send out the May 15th expirations and I suggest that everyone read the notices carefully and send their renewal in plenty of time so it will get to my desk before the 15th of May. Really it will do no harm to have your subscription paid a few days early and that gives us time to make the corrections.

I pulled a fast one on Donald Craig and Charlie Kriewald Sunday by inviting them over to help me make garden. We worked like the dickens from 8 a. m. till a little after noon and the result is a garden of 48 rows each about 75 feet long and we have almost everything in the garden line planted. We didn't dare plant cucumbers and beans, fearing they might get frosted. It is going to need a good rain here most of the seeds will show up and at this date it may be just as well if they don't come up too soon. I am hoping that the weeds won't grow this year, in which case I think the Missus can keep the garden clean.

I might also say that we mixed in a row of flowers here and there such as zinnias, marigolds, larkspurs, glads and others and come July and August we should have quite a lot of bouquet material.

They say Tony the Mex has the nicest looking place in the third ward. Why not drive around that way and see it. Tony is an expert at gardening and with shrubbery and small fruits, having had a lot of experience in nursery work.

Frank Clark says that about the only good thing he can say about spinach is that it has no bones in it.

I guess that the big egg season is about over, though one lady says one of her hens laid an egg with three yolks, but she didn't know it till she broke the egg for breakfast.

But the big fish season is about here and as soon as we get a few more warm days the fishing excitement will start. So far the fish liars have not had much luck, judging by the lack of big stories.

Something Different

You notice, I suppose, that styles in eyebrows change once in a while? For instance you remember that hairline vogue a few years ago when ladies pulled out all but one lone hair? Or even pulled out that last hair, too, and drew on an eyebrow to suit? I thought it was atrocious. I don't know where the style came from; perhaps it was inspired by movie star Marlene Dietrich? Anyway . . . I thought about the movie stars and their eyebrows a week or two ago . . . guess when? When viewing Hank Star's picture in the Quiz! When he filed for an office, remember? His eyebrows started up and off, and never did come down to his temples! Like the latest eyebrow vogue among movie stars! Cute?

Do you know that Ord's pretty little nine-hole golf course has developed some darned good golfers? Now for instance, last week Al Blessing and Doug Dale, as official members of the University of Nebraska golf team, journeyed to Topeka and to Lawrence, Kansas, to meet some Kansas golf teams? And you should have seen the big smile on Bud's face when I told him! "Something like that I told makes me feel good all over! It makes up for some of the hard knocks I get! You know why? Because I helped teach those boys their golf, that's why!" chuckled the peppery long-time mentor of the Ord Golf club.

Speaking of the park, it looks wonderful. And speaking of the park, don't you think anyone who comes out there at night and delights in deliberately breaking and smashing . . . don't you think they are a STINKER!

I don't care for the word. O. K. you describe them! A few nights ago someone took the ball washer on the golf course apart, carving off some of it, breaking the post.

A pleasant note from a Minnesota friend, Minnie Wallin, tells of the long snows and winter cold up there. She says November snow is on the ground now! And she says if Oscar Noy comes up there soon, he'll have some of that same snow to shovel out of his driveway before he can get in to his place. Minnie also says the flu hit hard through the region, the winter past.

It seems logical and desirable to have a state patrolman stationed in Ord, and I was happy to read in last week's Quiz that we are to have one, beginning May 1.

For just the sight of a patrolman is enough to cause the average driver to go a little slower, drive a bit more neatly, or so they tell me.

Reading about all these accidents to young people upsets me. And it must be true that young people have more accidents than the rest of us, for the insurance companies have now officially recognized this fact. From now on they tell us, insurance rates for young drivers will cost 25 per cent more than for the rest of us old fogeys.

Having a state patrolman living here is sure to improve local speeding situations. So, hurry! —Imma.

LETTERS FROM QUIZ READERS

Editor of the Quiz, Dear Sir: Since I mailed the cards showing what the new assessment on the real estate will be many persons have asked me how it is going to affect their taxes. I have had to reply that no one could tell until we had the final figures on the valuations and also the total money required for each subdivision so that we could figure the mills to be levied.

I am far enough along on my recapitulation of personal and business schedules now so that I can give approximate figures for Ord City.

The Ord Valuation last year was $2,087,000 and the total mills levied was 62.44. This produced $130,333.49 in taxes. The values I have for Ord City to date are $2,504,775 which is an increase of $717,115. If our over-all requirements are the same as last year and the state levy is the same it will take a levy of 48.36 mills to furnish us with the same amount of money. Last year the tax on every $1000 was $22.44 or a little less than 6 1/2%. This year with a levy of 48.36 mills the tax on each $1000 of value will be $48.36 or 4.84%.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

(Taken from county records of April 20, 1950.)

Deeds. Sylvester Kwiatkowski to Mary C. Kwiatkowski, Lots 17, 18 and 19, Block 10, Woodbury's. Con: $1. Wanda Barnes, etal to Norc Gizinski, NW 1/4, 19-20-15. Con: $1. Sylvester Papieruk, etux to Chester Papiernik, SE 1/4, R 18-20-14. Con: $14,000 $13.40. Rev. Also Lots 3 and 4, NE 1/4 SW 1/4, NW 1/4 19-20-14.

—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knopik and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knopik spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Setlik.

This means that with an increase of 30% in valuation this year we will pay approximately the same amount of tax as last year. The percentage of increase is nearly the same in North Loup Village so the levy there should decrease about 22% providing the requirements there are the same as last year.

There are five townships in which the valuations show a decrease and of course the levies there will be higher. All other townships and villages will have increased valuations and if their requirements are the same as last year there should be a corresponding decrease in the levies.

On the cards mailed to all real estate owners I stated that any complaint would have to be filed the first three days that the Board of Equalization is in session. The board will meet Monday, May 1, as a Board of Equalization and probably recess until Wednesday as Tuesday is their regular meeting. There is considerable misunderstanding on the procedure for filing complaints and as I understand it the mere fact that one thinks that his property is assessed too high will not receive much consideration. It will be necessary to make comparisons with other similar property and show that there is inequality. I mean by that if there are two houses about the same size, constructed of the same materials and valued about the same there will be no cause for complaint. But if there is quite a difference in the values then an adjustment will be in order.

It is keeping me busy finishing the personal assessment schedules and I am having Mr. Beiers in the office all week to assist anyone wanting to look at his appraisal cards and make comparisons preparatory to filing a complaint. One or more of the Wilkins people are expected to be here during the session of the Board of Equalization to answer any questions and justify their values. Hoping that this information will be enlightening and answer the questions of many of your readers, I am

Dr. Weldon, Soil Expert, to Speak at H. S. Monday

Dr. M. D. Weldon, extension agronomist and head of the soil testing laboratory at the Nebraska College of Agriculture, will speak on soils and fertilizers at the Ord High School on Monday evening, May 1, at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend the meeting which is being held at the time of the regular meeting of the veterans training classes, to give the trainees an opportunity to attend. Dr. Weldon is well acquainted with the soil needs of this area according to C. C. Dale, Valley County Agent, because of the work of the soils laboratory which has tested many samples of soil sent in by Valley County farmers. "Many articles on fertilizers which farmers read in farm papers," says Dale, "are written for farmers in Iowa, Illinois and other states and are not applicable to Valley County soils. Because Dr. Weldon knows our soil types in this area his recommendations can be relied on."

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-excitement, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Feather-bedding scheme of Firemen's Union to put an additional fireman on diesel locomotives has been CONSIDERED TWICE!

REJECTED TWICE!

Now the Firemen's leaders seek to paralyze railroad transportation to compel the railroads to employ a wholly unnecessary additional fireman to ride on diesel locomotives. This scheme is plain

FEATHER-BEDDING!

LEADERS of the Firemen's union have called a nationwide strike starting with four great railroads on April 26. These railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Southern.

The union claim that a second fireman is needed on grounds of safety is sheer hypocrisy. Safety has been dragged into this dispute only in an unsuccessful effort to give a cloak of respectability to vicious feather-bedding demands.

After a careful study of the first demands of this union, a Presidential Fact Finding Board on May 21, 1943, reported to President Roosevelt that there was no need for an extra fireman on diesel locomotives.

Again, on September 19, 1949, after a second hearing on the union leaders' demands, a second Board reported to President Truman that "there presently exists no need for an additional fireman . . . upon either the ground of safety or that of efficiency and economy of operation."

extra fireman is needed for "safety" reasons. Here's what the Board had to say on that point: "The safety and on-time performance of diesel electric locomotives operated under current rules have been notably good. . . Upon careful analysis of the data submitted on safety, we have concluded that no valid reasons have been shown as a support for the Brotherhood proposal under which a fireman would be required to be at all times continuously in the cab of road diesels. The proposal must be rejected."

The real reason behind these demands is that the union leaders are trying to make jobs where there is no work. In other words, a plain case of "feather-bedding."

The railroads have no intention of yielding to these wasteful make-work demands.

The Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good

Although the railroads accepted the Board

"The Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good..."

PRESIDENTIAL FACT FINDING BOARD REPORT

Read these excerpts from official reports of Presidential Fact Finding Boards:

"The safety record of Diesels is outstandingly good, and it follows that the safety rules now applicable have produced good results."

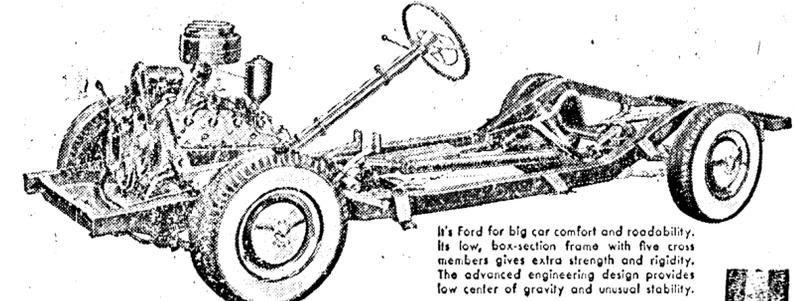

"The safety and on-time performance of Diesel electric locomotives operated under current rules indicate that Diesel electric operation has been safer than steam locomotive operation . . ."

Remember! These are not statements of the railroads. They are just a few of the many similar conclusions reached by President Truman's Fact Finding Board which spent months investigating the claims of the union leaders.

Have Your Rugs Washed
In Your Home

Just a mild sudsy cleaning compound, that is shampooed to the bottom of the nap, which cleans every fibre. It is removed by powerful suction of the machine. Rug sizing is left intact; pile has a cleaner "feel." Stays clean longer. No odor whatever is left in the rug.

This odorless, sudsy cleaning method brings out all coloring that has been concealed; once more your rug is just like new.

Let Me Revive the Beauty of Your Rugs and Tacked Down Carpets. Will Clean Twisted-Pile Rugs Without Injury to the Twist, by Dri-Sorb-Enne Method.

Upholstery Cleaning

Wash Upholstery of every kind, at your home; loose dust vacuumed, then washed by Von Schrader Upholstery Deterger Method, removing soil that must be washed. This will revive the colors, and make the home upholstery more sanitary and attractive.

Automobile Upholstery washed to insure protection to light colored clothing.

I will be glad to call and examine your furniture and give estimated prices. Phone 202W, Ravenna, Nebraska.

Phyllis Malottke Injured.
To be attacked by a mother hog is not an experience to be wished on any one, and this is what happened to Phyllis Malottke when she stepped into the hog pen to get a rake that had been used to clean hog sheds. Her mother and brother Keith came to her rescue, and had to beat the hog off with clubs. Phyllis is only 10 years old and the first thing she thought of was to shield her face, which proved to be alright, but the hog took advantage and badly lacerated her thigh, ankle and right hand, besides painful bruises and skin abrasions. She was taken to Ord where she was treated for bruises and the more serious wounds were given minor surgery. Her parents took her back to Ord Monday, where it was found she would have to be under the doctor's care for some time, but if no serious ailments develop she will recover satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Keep, former residents are the proud parents of Kenneth Keep, who graduated from the Scotia schools in 1947 and in February 1949, he enlisted in the United States Air Force for one year. Then in January 1950, he re-enlisted for 6 years of overseas duty and is now stationed at "Hickham" Field in the Hawaiian Islands.

He took his basic training in Texas and was later transferred to Virginia and is now working in a crash boat unit. Kenneth was in Scotia in February and from there went to Ansel to visit his parents and on to McPherson, Kans., to visit his twin sister, Katherine. From there he left for California, to embark for the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Shoemaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Balcock and son were Sunday guests of the Edwin Lenz family in Mira Valley. The Harold Goldfish family and Mary Lou Vance were Sunday dinner guests of the George Meyer family.

Mrs. Rebecca Baker returned on the bus Saturday night from Omaha, and points in Iowa, where she has spent the winter months with her children.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bredthauer, of Broken Bow, were Saturday and Sunday guests of home folks.

Mrs. Eddie Cahalane and Bernice Burns of Grand Island spent Saturday and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burns, Eddie came Sunday.

The play, "Funny Brats" was given to a very large audience Thursday night in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Harold Foster and youngest son, spent from Monday until Saturday at Neligh. Their son is 22 months old, and is practically helpless. They have consulted several doctors and treatments have been plentiful, but none seem to have aided him in any permanent way.

Sgt. and Mrs. John Buffington, left Monday morning for Maryland, after a 28 day leave spent here and at Burwell. John has one more stripe to go until he becomes a Master Sgt. He is being transferred from Camp Lewis, in Washington, to a Camp in Maryland. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buffington, his wife is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Key, of Burwell. A family dinner was held Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Key, at Burwell; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Malottke and children, of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster and boys; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sample and Shirley; Mr. and Mrs. Nick Wetzel and Don Thompson of Scotia were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Graff spent the week end in Lincoln and Beatrice. They called on the Henry Jensen family while in Lincoln, but did not find Henry at home, as he was acting host at the general session of the annual conference for superintendents, that was to be held at Des Moines, Ia. this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Beck have moved to Ord where Don is employed by the Ord Rendering plant. Mrs. Earl Graff spent Saturday with Mrs. Beck.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Krebs went to Lincoln Tuesday. Their daughter, Karen, who has been in a cast for several weeks, was booked for a check up.

Tommy Noonan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noonan, Cathy O'Neill and Junior Woods escaped selous injury when the car Tommy was driving upset on a curve northeast of Scotia Thursday night. As they were rounding the curve by the Toogood place, the wheels caught in the gravel on the side of the road. Tommy lost control of the car and the result was an upset car. The youngsters were shook up and bruised but no serious injuries have been reported. The car was taken to Grand Island for body repairs.

Louis Beck was a guest of his father, Ralph Beck, over the week end. Louis attends school at North Bend.

George Bremer entertained the "Needle and Thimble" club at the Eldon Lange home Friday night. He showed pictures of the trip he took through the west. Some were taken at the Yellowstone National park and on into Washington state. Mr. and Mrs. James Vogler and son Robert accompanied him. John Bryans and the Willis Becks were all day visitors at their cottage at Ericson Sunday.

The Ammerman's had as guests over the week end, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Witte and Mr. and Mrs. Marion Schroeder and daughter, Maria, of Omaha. The seniors of the Scotia school chose Friday as their yearly sneak day. They went to Lincoln and experienced a general sight seeing trip.

Bernice Bussell, Barbara Ashley and Joan Vanskike went to Lincoln Thursday to attend the "Fine Arts" at the University. The girls sang individually and received critical criticism. This was not a contest as the music departments have formerly attended but if a senior rates high enough, she is given an hourly credit scholarship to the University. Miss Dean and Dr. Westburg were the critics. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reck took the girls down, picking up their son Harold at Grand Island. Barbara and Joan stayed over for the snack day, for the seniors. Bernice and the Recks stayed over and visited Jack Bussell, who is attending school at Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Jess and family, Mr. and Mrs. Art Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dishaw attended a dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. Alice Cook and sons at the Kenneth Keown home in Scotia. Mrs. Cook was the former Alice Smith, of North Loup. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burton went to town as usual last Saturday night and bought the family's supply of groceries. They put them in their car and went to the local movie. No one noticed anything until they wanted to take the food out and into the house. "No Food" Surely no one was to stop so low as to take a man's bread and butter away, not here anyway. Maybe Leonard, some kind soul will know it is a mistake and bring them back, and if it isn't a mistake, well perhaps the public had better use the keys on their cars before they get too rusty.

Otto Gebhardt Jr., accompanied a friend to Columbus, Mo., Friday to spend a few days. While in Missouri he stopped at supper with his uncle, Bill Vanderveer and Mrs. Vanderveer and family, at Fayette, Mo. They returned home Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beedle went to Arapahoe Saturday to visit relatives, and to attend business matters. They returned home Monday night.

Those who attended the organ recital at the Seventh Day Baptist church Sunday evening spent a very pleasant evening, entertained by the talented George Johnson, of Omaha, who has appeared twice before at the church in an organ recital. The program given Sunday evening was almost entirely new, and held the attention of the audience throughout. Mr. Johnson had given a recital in Burwell in the afternoon. He has played the organ since a child, and since the Hammond organ was produced in 1935 has specialized in that. No admission charge was made but an offering was taken. The recital was sponsored by the church choir.

Sunday guests in the home of Mr. Stella Kerr were Mrs. Kate Palser and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Palser, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Palser and family of Ord, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Palser and family of Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rowe and family of Grand Island and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Phelps of Lincoln.

Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Ruth Haight were Mr. and Mrs. Walt Cummins, Mrs. Bill Earnest and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hansen of Ord.

A birthday supper Friday evening at the Bill Earnest home honored the 71st birthday of Walter Cummins. Present were the Tony Cummins family, Mrs. Ruth Haight and Dennie, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson. The Wayne King family came down from Sumter to the Cummins home with friend chicken for supper but finding Mr. and Mrs. Cummins gone they went to the Comfort Cummins home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Clark came up from Lincoln Saturday and returned Sunday.

Mrs. H. L. Klinginsmith who is recovering from a major operation, spent last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Mulloy, in St. Paul and hopes to be able to come home late this week.

Phyllis and Joe Babcock, Dick Gowen, Mrs. George Clement and Donald came up from Lincoln Saturday evening. Donald Clement, Phyllis Babcock and Dick Gowen returned Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Clement had spent part of last week in Lincoln with Donald and Kathleen. She went down with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bredthauer of Grand Island.

Ord athletes are prominent on the University of Nebraska campus. At right is Loyal Hurlbert, quartermiler extraordinary, a consistent record-breaker.

Ted Randolph, in the third picture, is aiming at the 23 foot mark in the board jump.

Ord Is Well Represented in University of Nebraska Athletics

Lincoln, Neb., April 26—Ord is well represented on athletic teams at the University of Nebraska. Not since the days when Allen Zimund was carrying the Valley County colors over the gridiron as a Cornhusker halfback has Ord been so much in the athletic spotlight.

Loyal Hurlbert, peerless quartermiler, is rounding out a great athletic and scholastic career this year. Hurlbert is one of the finest runners to wear the Scarlet.

He was indoor conference champion in 1948 but gave up any chance for individual championships in 1949 to double in the quarter and 880 and help Nebraska squeeze out a conference championship in a surprise victory over Missouri.

Loyal was well named. He is a team man. A great competitor, he has not permitted athletics to interfere with his school work. Just this week he was listed as a winner of a $100 scholarship grant in the engineering college.

And as one of his team mates said, "You don't win engineering scholarships by bringing apples to your teachers."

Loyal is one of those unusual lads who seems able to run consistently better than average whether he has been able to work out regularly or not.

Athletics has helped Loyal become better balanced. When he first came to Nebraska he was a shy, reserved young fellow. As part of the present system, all athletes at Nebraska are permitted to sell concessions to help out with their budgets. They get four cents for each item sold.

At first, Hurlbert's commissions were practically nil. Now he ranks with the best salesmen among the athletes. He says "I have learned to meet people."

Ted Randolph is another Ord representative on the track team. His team mates expect Ted to break loose in any meet with a really impressive leap.

Ted has had trouble all through his sophomore and junior year getting his step. If and when he gets this ironed out and hits the take-off board properly he should do around 23 feet. He has hit better than 22 feet.

Allan Blessing, basketball player, will get his big opportunity next season. Graduation is taking away most of Coach Harry Good's regulars. Blessing played with the B team this past season and was third high in average points scored.

Blessing hit 36 field goals and 19 free throws for a 91 point season on total in nine games. It gave him a 10.1 point average per game. Blessing also is one of the better golfers on Marvin Franklin's squad.

Bill Anderson, sophomore pitcher on the baseball roster, will get his chance before the season ends. He did not make the first trip with the Cornhuskers but Coach Pony Sharpe believes young Bill is just beginning to find himself. Bill got his early training with the Ord American Legion and Ord town baseball teams.

Doug Dale is the fifth Ord athlete who is gaining prominence on the campus at Lincoln. He is a varsity golfer who swats the ball in a manner calculated to please the heart of a golfing coach.

Dale and Blessing both play on the varsity foursome, just as they did in high school. A third member of the Ord High team of several years ago, Don Hill, is roving the links for Kearney State Teachers College.
