Reach Goal of Million Dollar Investment Here

Ceremony Friday Eve Will See Huge Torch Lit by Ord Mayor.

The coming of natural gas to Ord will be heralded by a public street program Friday evening, Sept. 15, officials of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. announced this week.

Although plans are as yet incomplete, a huge torch will be erected near the gas company building, just west of the courthouse square. At a given signal, Mayor F. L. Blessing will light the torch which will shoot a flame 25 or 30 feet into the air.

Company officials, representatives of the Ord Chamber of Commerce and Ord city council will unite in a brief program to celebrate the coming of gas. The Ord high school band will furnish music.

The lighting of the torch will signalize the completion of a million dollar project by the Kansas-Nebraska company in bringing the new fuel to Ord.

Construction of the gas main north from Odessa, in the Platte Valley began in the last week of June, 1949. The main line runs north to Litchfield, with one fork running to Mason City, Ansley, Berwyn and Broken Bow. Another serves Ravenna. Another spur now serves Loup City and Ord, and before the end of the year will be extended to Elyria and Burwell.

The gas company is putting the finishing touches on its distribution system here, and gas will be available to customers within a week after the ceremony Sept. 15. Installation of meters will probably begin Monday, Sept. 18, according to local manager Bud Wilson.

Dr. Lynn Procures New X-ray Unit for Office

Dr. R. J. Lynn, who came to Ord several months ago, is just about the right age for the draft of doctors now being debated in Congress.

But the doctor apparently is unconcerned about draft prospects. Recently he ordered a complete x-ray unit for use in his office.

After getting acquainted in Ord through the summer months, Dr. Lynn says that he is glad he decided to locate here. "This is a fine town with a lot of fine people," he commented, "and we're really happy to be part of it."

St. Mary's Church to Hold Bazaar Sunday

A blue rock shoot in the afternoon and a fried chicken dinner will feature the annual bazaar held by St. Mary's church of Elyria Sunday, Sept. 10. A dance in the evening will wind up the day's festivities.

"We won't be able to have bingo or raffles this year but there will be plenty of activity and entertainment for everyone," Father Leonard Ziolkowski told the Quiz. "In addition to the blue rock shoot, dinner and dance, we will have refreshments, games and booths for the sale of fancy work and home made candies."

Hugo Malottke Services Friday

Hugo Malottke, well known farmer, passed away Monday evening at the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island.

Funeral services will be held Friday at his home near North Loup at 2 o'clock and at the Zion Lutheran church in Scotia at 2:30.

A complete obituary will be given next week.

Grid Prospects Rise as Bigger Squad Reports

Nine Lettermen Will Form Nucleus of 1950 Team.

"This looks more like it," said Coach Rolland Moore as he watched more than 30 Ord high school football candidates go through drills on fundamentals early this week.

Thirty-eight men have checked out equipment and are toting to get in shape for the season opener at Holdrege on Sept. 15.

Pre-school practice drew only a handful of griders, but those who did report early are now ready for contact work, according to Moore. The rest of the squad still needs practice on fundamentals.

Nine Lettermen Return. Most of the squad is made up of underclassmen, with a lot of sophomores reporting. Nine lettermen from last year's team are back again. They are: Frank Adamek, Paul Penas, Marlon Geneski, Virgil Withersway, Leo Roy, Van Winkle, Dale Falter, Gerald Maurice, Bob Moore, and John Piskorski.

The line will be fairly heavy, but the backfield will be decidedly light. Holdrege, who will meet Ord in the curtain-raiser, has about a dozen lettermen returning, also with several other veterans. The Dusters are always tough and they are looking toward a good season this year. The Chants will have their hands full when they tackle them.

October 9 Seen as Crucial Date for State Corn Crop

Even Chance Most Corn Will Get Under Wire; Progress Good.

If a killing frost occurred Oct. 1, about one percent of Nebraska's corn crop would be damaged; if, however, a frost occurred before or on Sept. 10, the entire crop would be ruined.

These are the two crucial dates for the state corn crop according to all data available on past year's corn maturity compared with the present year's crop. State-federal crop statisticians believe there is a 50-50 chance the first killing frost will not occur until Oct. 9. On the basis of corn being clear of frost damage for 30 days after tassel, all of Nebraska's corn would be matured enough by that date to avoid damage.

The Nebraska corn crop was estimated on Aug. 1 at 219,000,000 bushels. About 81 per cent of the 1949 crop tasseled from one to 13 days earlier than this year's crop, with 16 per cent tasseled from one to 12 days later. Thus, on paper, it appears that about 56 more days will be needed to make the 1950 corn mature.

Approximate length of the growing season in the immediate area is 140-149 days, with the date of the first killing frost about Oct. 1, according to Weather Bureau records. It takes most corn about 10 days between tassel and the shooting of an ear, county agent C. C. Dale said, and an additional 50 days from the "shoot" to maturity. This would make the earliest corn mature about Oct. 1, he said, noting that frosts have occurred with frequency as early as Sept. 23.

Colts End Season With 19-3 Loss

The Colts closed their league season at Greeley Sunday afternoon, taking a 19 to 3 loss in a game that was, by agreement,

Registration at Ord Schools Not Quite Equal to '49

Grades Enroll More; High School Classes Shrink.

First day registration at Ord schools found almost the same number of students this year as were in school the first day of the last term.

Figures from the office of C. C. Thompson, superintendent of schools, showed a decrease of four students. Grade school enrollment is up, while high school classes are a bit smaller.

A tabulation of first day registration--this year and last year-- follows:

Table showing enrollment figures for 1949 and 1950 across various grades (K-12) and school types (South, North, Grand Total, High School, Non-Resident).

Faculty Complete.

The teaching staff is complete on the first day of school this year. In the grade school, teaching classes from kindergarten through the sixth grade, are Irma King, Roberta Stansberry, Ima Swain, Juanita Greenstreet, Ramona Koza, Lucy Rowbal, Mrs. Evelyn Jeffries, and Mrs. Lois Strong.

The high school instructors, and the subjects they teach, are as follows:

Doyle Dickey, geography and driver education; Bill Gogan, history and English; Maude Holden, mathematics; Eunice Jensen, home economics; Mrs. Helena Kokes, commercial; Mrs. Dorothy Kovanda, English and public speaking; J. A. Kovanda, vocational agriculture; Roland Moore, math, physical education; Ella Neel, history, Latin, manual training; Dick Peterson, normal training; Mrs. Billie Rulton, journalism and English; Mrs. Lucille Tolen, history and English; Robert Van Ornam, science; Bill Nelson, music; F. L. Stoddard, (Principal), aeronautics.

Elnora Tasker Is Hospital Chief

Miss Elnora Tasker arrived here September 1 from Los Angeles to begin her duties as superintendent at the Ord Community hospital. She relieves Mrs. R. J. Lynn who held the post temporarily.

Miss Tasker was born in Detroit and received her nurse's training in Washington, D. C. She was night supervisor at the Glendale (California) Sanatorium for four years.

Before coming to Ord, she was in charge of a large ward at the White Memorial hospital in Los Angeles. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tasker, live at Riverside, Calif.

Life in a small town appeals to her, she says, and it's for that reason that she came to Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Finley are spending this week visiting friends and relatives in Cedar Rapids, Albion and Genoa.

Son of North Loup Man Gets 'On-Job' Training in Korea

Sergeant Donald Elshire, son of Orville Elshire, Route 2, North Loup, is getting a new kind of "On-the-Job" training in Korea. Sgt. Elshire, who fought with the Eighth Armored Division in Europe, and now serves as a tank specialist in the 35th regimental combat team, got acquainted with a new type weapon, according to a New York Times report by Reporter Harold Faber of the Times overseas staff.

Faber tells the story like this: "North Koreans had infiltrated during the night around the flanks of the U. S. Forces and were stationed in the rear of the headquarters of the 35th combat team."

"Some men were still sleeping. Others had just climbed from fox-hole beds when the enemy opened fire in and around the grove which housed the command posts of the regiment. "An unidentified American non-

Muny Pool Closes After Chilly Year

The Ord municipal swimming pool closed Monday after a season that can be described only as "chilly."

Although final figures are not as yet available, it is thought that the pool ran at a deficit this season. Cold, rainy weather throughout the summer kept people from enjoying the pool this year.

Despite the unfavorable conditions, though, it was a successful year in terms of enjoyment for Ord swimmers. Two swimming meets, one a dual affair with Broken Bow and one a city championship meet, capped the season's competition. Operation, under the management of Keith Kovanda, went very smoothly. Landscaping around the pool was continued with trees and shrubs being planted and sidewalk being laid before the season began.

Swimming instruction classes were popular. More than 10 students received certificates of ability at the end of the two months' instruction period.

Kovanda, the pool manager, was busy storing equipment, boarding up windows, and generally securing the pool for the winter, Tuesday. He will return to the University of Nebraska late this week.

Pfc. Donald Luedtke was in the battle for Taejon in Korea. Read his stirring account on page 4 of the second section of this paper.

Wins Trip to Erie

Joe Ruzicka returned to Ord this week from a five day trip to Chicago, Milwaukee and Erie, Penna., where he was the guest of General Electric corporation. One hundred and fifty dealers from the midwest were awarded the junket for superior sales.

Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Weiniak and family were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Poprocki and family and Delores Holms.

Miss Jeannine Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Johnston, former Valley County residents, and a member of the Central City high school band left Sunday morning for Washington, D. C. to represent Nebraska at the Sesqui-centennial Exhibition. This was invitational and the only musical group in Nebraska to be so honored. Fifty five band members and several sponsors made the trip. Sight seeing tours and a cruise on the Potomac have been planned. Miss Johnston is a senior this year.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ferguson of McCook visited from Sunday until Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ferguson and son.

Presbyterians to Begin Building Fund Campaign

Goal of $50,000 Has Been Set for Construction.

A goal of $50,000 has been set by the First Presbyterian church for a building fund. The money will be raised in a campaign during the month of September.

Sunday, Sept. 10, will be enrollment Sunday, according to the Rev. Allen Strong, pastor of the congregation. Sept. 17 will be Stewardship Sunday, the 24th will be Symposium Sunday, with five lay members bringing the message in the regular morning service.

The goal of the campaign is to raise enough money to build and equip a church plant in Ord. Mrs. C. J. Mortensen is chairman of the building committee.

Dr. A. C. Hageman of Church Finance, Inc., will handle the canvassing for funds. He is an expert on church finance with many years' experience in heading drives of this type.

All members of the congregation will be canvassed for contributions and pledges during the month. According to present plans, the future church building will be completely underwritten before construction begins.

A feature of "Decision Week," which will begin on Sept. 21, is a men's banquet on Monday evening and a women's banquet on Tuesday evening.

Rev. Strong told the Quiz, "The task of building will not be impossible if we can enlist the aid of every member in the congregation. And that's what we're setting out to do this month."

Dairy Breeders to Meet Here September 15

Members of the Loup Valley Dairy Breeders' Association will hold their annual meeting Friday afternoon, Sept. 15, at the Masonic hall basement in Ord. The meeting will start at 1:30 o'clock.

A feature of the program, to which any interested persons are invited, will be the showing of several color movies of the proved dairy sires used by the group.

Assault and Battery Charge Costs Man $10

First Hunting Violation Comes Before Co. Judge.

A charge of assault and battery was filed in county court Tuesday by county attorney Ralph W. Norman against John Ragland, who lives north of Ord. Ragland allegedly struck his wife Eva during an altercation, Sunday. He was found guilty by Judge Chas. Ciochon and paid a fine of $10 costs.

With the opening of hunting season, a sharp increase in game regulations violators has been noted. Here in Valley county, the first arrest of the season was made by Warden Meyer, Sunday.

Carl F. Krueger of Ord paid a fine of $10, plus $7 in costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of using a gun with a capacity of more than three shells.

Compensation Suit Is Heard in Court

A case was heard by Judge Albert Arms in Workmen's Compensation court last week in which William Beams of Arcadia is plaintiff and Valley county is the defendant.

The litigation arose when compensation payments of $18 a week to Mr. Beams were stopped 56 weeks after an accident which injured the plaintiff.

Beams was a road maintenance worker and was injured April 12, 1949, when the maintainer upset. He suffered a broken neck.

Plaintiff's petition alleges that he is totally disabled, and is entitled to further payments.

A decision in the case is expected late this week.

Lincoln Sowers Club to Be Here Next Week

Next Wednesday, Sept. 13, the Sowers club of Lincoln will visit Ord.

Corn Prospects Are 'Best Ever' Says County Agent

Frost Still Holds Off, But Nights Getting Colder.

Prospects for the corn crop are "the best ever" if Mother Nature doesn't slap a killing frost on the broad green fields of corn which blanket the state.

Warm days have been offset by chilly nights, with the mercury sinking dangerously close to the freezing mark several times.

County agent C. C. Dale says that this year's corn crop is potentially the best in history. "Just grabbing a figure out of the air, I'd say the crop would average 35 bushels," he said.

The best yield in the county so far was in 1918 when an average yield of 33 bushels per acre was recorded.

If frost holds off until the 25th of this month, a satisfactory crop will be harvested, although there will be quite a lot of soft corn.

Wheat Seeding Begins. Seeding of winter wheat has begun on a lot of Valley county farms. Farmers are trying to get the seed into the ground while there is moisture enough to give it a good start.

Anticipating a dry fall with cold weather coming early, local farmers will try to hustle the wheat along as fast as they can to prevent harvest troubles such as they had this year with the wet weather.

Munn, Norman, Dissolve Firm

George A. Munn and Ralph W. Norman announced this week that their law partnership, operating under the name of Munn and Norman, has been dissolved by mutual agreement.

Mr. Munn has retained the firm's former offices in the Beranek building. Mr. Norman has moved to the county attorney's offices on the third floor of the courthouse.

Formal dissolution of the firm will not take place until later this year, or until affairs of the partnership have been settled.

Attends Convention

Dr. F. J. Osentowski, state junior vice-commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars spent last week in Chicago attending the 31st annual convention of the VFW. Osentowski was a member of the resolutions committee of the convention and helped frame the now famous statements of the VFW to remove Secretary of State Dean Acheson and War Secretary John S. Wood from office.

'Sowers' Who Will Visit Ord

The good will organization of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce is known as the Sowers Club. This club was organized some 20 years ago to spread good will for Lincoln throughout surrounding trade territories. During the war period the Sowers had to curtail their activities and consequently made no trips. With the cessation of hostilities this club, representing 75 Lincoln firms, is again keeping its schedule of four out-state trips per year. This organization usually

Storage Capacity in County Will Be Near Million

Select New Bin Site at Ord Near Alfalfa Mill on Huff Land.

Twenty-two new storage buildings with a total capacity of 488,250 bushels will be erected in Valley county this fall by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The buildings will be placed at North Loup, Arcadia and Ord. In the first two towns, the structures will be added to the present bin sites, in Ord, the additions will be built on a new bin site near the alfalfa mill on property leased to the CCC by Howard Huff.

Plans call for erecting five 51,000 quonset huts and seven 4,375 bins at the Ord site. North Loup will get two 51,000 bushel quonsets and Arcadia eight 4,375 bins.

Arcadia now has storage capacity of 107,510 bushels. North Loup has 109,740 and Ord 135,190 bushels capacity. The bins are filled to about two-thirds capacity at the present time, with 67,510 bushels stored at Arcadia, 88,320 bushels at Ord and 31,100 bushels at North Loup.

Of the 187,960 bushels now stored in the county by the CCC, most of the grain is 1948 corn. There is a small amount of wheat and barley.

Local PMA officials said that at the present time they did not expect much 1949 corn to go into sealed storage. The favorable price is inducing many farmers to sell their corn, rather than resal their old corn or store their 1949 crop.

The new bins are expected to handle grain that formerly moved to terminal storage or to storage in the many airbases and ordnance plants scattered over the state. The latter are being refitted for service, and grain now at war plant sites must be moved elsewhere.

Former Ordite Dies in New York

Jack Milligan, a native of Ord, died in an Auburn, N. Y. hospital Monday from cancer of the throat. A resident of Elyria, N. Y., Mr. Milligan had been in the hospital six weeks. He would have been 62 in November.

He is survived by his wife, Gladys, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Milligan of North Loup, and 12 brothers and sisters. His father, Edward Milligan and a brother preceded him in death.

Mrs. A. J. Ferguson is the only member of the Milligan family now living in Ord. Two brothers and two sisters live in North Loup, a sister at Taylor, Nebr., one at Dorchester, Nebr., one in Oregon, and two brothers in California.

Mansell Davis Log House First Built in Upper North Loup Area

This is the story of a house, a log house. It may have been the first log house built in the upper North Loup Valley. The one built by Elder Oscar Babcock may have been the first. They may have been under construction at the same time.

That part is not so important, but the fact that it is one of the earliest houses built in the Valley is important and interesting from a historical point of view. The Babcock log house was torn down a few years ago, and the present owner, Horace Davis, has recently completed tearing down the house about which this story is written.

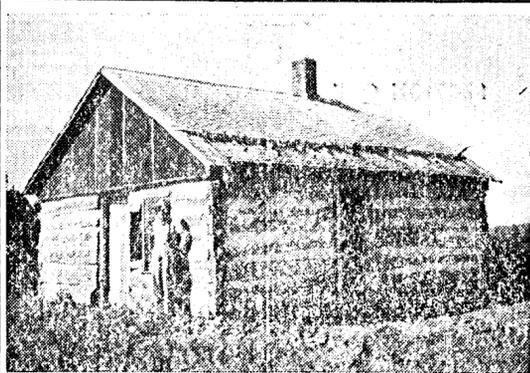

The house was built by Horace's parents, Mansell Davis and Mary Matilda Rood Davis, who came to the Loup Valley early in the year 1872. The elder Davis took up land lying on both sides of the highway west of Scotia and along the west side of the North Loup river, and the house was built perhaps a quarter of a mile west of the present highway.

Mansell Davis was a native of Jamestown, New York, but was living at Dakota, Wis., when he and Miss Rood were married Sept. 10, 1871. A little more than six months later they arrived in North Loup valley and started living on the land above described. Their first residence was a dugout located near the present highway junction west of Scotia.

It was there that Horace M. Davis, the oldest living son born in the valley was born Sept. 14, 1873. A son, Walter Orell, who died in infancy, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Babcock on a farm a mile north Aug. 12, 1872, and Frank Phillips, well known oil man recently deceased, was born on a farm southeast of Scotia Nov. 23, 1873. They are believed to be the first children born in Greeley county.

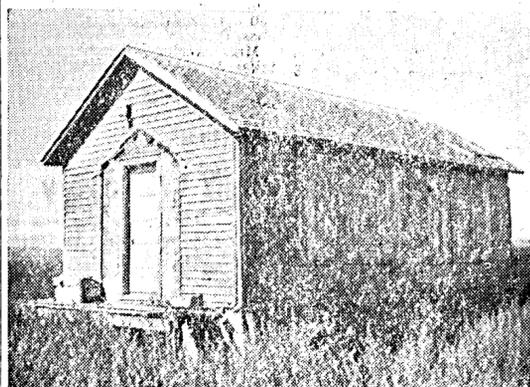

A storm in 1873 destroyed their first dugout, so the family moved and Mr. Davis built a dugout and sod house combination on the Deacon Babcock place to the north. Later a school house was built, also near the Scotia highway junction, and the family lived there while Mr. Davis taught school in the same building. He was Greeley county superintendent of schools at the same time, and Frank Phillips was appointed county judge.

Davis Log House
This is the original Mansell Davis log house west of Scotia, built in 1874, and recently torn down. Note the line on the roof where the roof of the addition was joined.

Details of Construction
L. L. Lewis of North Loup, nearly as old as the house, points out the dovetailed construction of the corner, a fine example of pioneer workmanship.

Old Schoolhouse, Dist. 3
This school, originally built in 1878 and located near the highway junction west of Scotia, now stands on the Davis place and is used for a granary. Note the shutters, common in the early days.

house was built with some of that material. When School District 3, Greeley county, was absorbed into Scotia Consolidated, Mr. Davis bought the old school house, built in 1878, and it still stands on the place, with some of the original blackboards, and is used for a granary.

In the early days that school boasted of 25 to 40 pupils, while today there are not more than 12 children in the district of school age. Literary societies were popular gatherings in pioneer days. Many such events and many religious meetings were held in the old loghouse. It was the headquarters for the first Farmers Alliance in Greeley county.

Happy Jack Swearingen, Indian scout, was a frequent visitor at the log house and he often brought with him a hind quarter of venison. He then lived in a cave in the Chalk Hills, but later moved to a cabin in Happy Jack's canyon above Elyria and opposite Fort Hartsuff.

Pieces of the cedar logs from the old house are being given to members of the family and to others who are historically inclined. A few are being used in their original hewed corners in a building that Horace Davis is constructing in North Loup. The old box elder grove in which the house was located has been uprooted, and the land is being converted into an irrigable tract.

"I'll Make Better Grades With a New REMINGTON PORTABLE TYPEWRITER!"

Yes, it's true! College instructors prefer neatly typed papers, students who are fortunate enough to have a typewriter have more time to do a good job.

If your son or daughter goes to college this fall, make sure they have the equipment to do a job well—give them a Remington Portable.

See the New Remington Today!

We have a few Remington Portable typewriters in stock now, for immediate delivery, both the tabulator and non-tabulator models. We have been advised that we may be able to get a few more this season. See them today—let us tell you more about them.

Tim-Sautter Picnic.
The Tim-Sautter picnic originated with the Timm family over 20 years ago. Later when the Timm family grew up and married the annual affair became what is known now as the Timm-Sautter. No invitations are sent out, it is a known fact that the get-together will be held on the first Sunday in September, the day before Labor Day. 150 relatives gathered at the State Park near Kearney as that is the chosen spot each year.

Fourteen towns were represented. Denver, Colo.; Grand Island, Ord, Scotia, Greely, Central City, Osceola, Eustis, Kearney, Callaway, Meina, Cozad, Lexington and North Platte. Those attending from the Scotia vicinity were: Wm. Sautter's, Al Sautter's, George Barnes, Fred Sautter's, Norman Sautter's, Bob Edgell's, Floyd Thompson's, George Meyer's, Harold Goldfish's, J. Y. Sautter and Norman; Ben Sautter, Mrs. Elsie Sautter and Lauradel, and Louie Barnes.

Will Koellings are on a trip to Colorado this week. They plan to return home Friday.

Marmalade Surprise.
Cut hot buttered toast into three strips and spread with marmalade. Cover with a slice of cheese and run under the broiler until the cheese has melted and you have a delightful accompaniment for a fruit salad.
Glorified Fruit Salad.
Dress up a fruit salad, whether it is made of fresh or canned fruit, or a combination of the two, with a sprinkle of coconut, a tiny winding stream of honey and a cherry, berry, or swirl of whipped cream to top it all.
Cabbage Variation.
For a change, could be you'll like cabbage boiled with a slice or two of lemon in the water. Serve simply with a lump of butter.
Corn and Chicken Soup
If you enjoy sweet corn as much as we do, you will cut some from the cob, simmer briefly in a small amount of water, and add it to cream of chicken soup, seasoning with salt and good freshly ground black pepper.

—Where would you look to see if someone had found your lost livestock? In the Quiz want ads of course.

We now have several good listings to offer you. Some real good irrigated farms. One on oil highway and another near this one. Both improved and have R.E.A. We have one of the best filling stations and bulk tanks. A great business. Some 10 acre deals with irrigation and good improvements. Come and have a look.

Wed at Bethany Lutheran Church

Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Wolfe.

Baskets of white gladioli and candelabra decorated the altar for the marriage of Miss Clara Belle Mae Rasmussen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rasmussen of Scotia, and Cecil Robert Wolfe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wolfe of Mason, Ind. Rev. C. Jepsen performed the double ring ceremony on Sunday, Sept. 3 at 2:00 o'clock in the Bethany Lutheran church in Ord.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin with a "V" shaped yoke and collar of chantilly lace. The gown was fashioned with long sleeves forming a point over the wrists, fitted bodice and the gathered skirt with a hoop effect falling into a four yard train. The fingertip veil of imported French illusion and lace trimmed was held in place by a heart shaped tiara of orange blossoms and miniature daisies. The bride carried a bouquet of white roses with satin streamers and a handkerchief that belonged to her grandmother the late Mrs. H. P. Hansen. She wore a double strand pearl necklace.

Miss Chariotte Rasmussen of Sioux Falls, S. D., sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light green taffeta gown with a beatha collar applied with sequins. Miss Marilyn Wolsma was bridesmaid. Her gown was of lavender taffeta with a sweet-

What's the MEASURE of a Bull?

PEDIGREE? TYPE? DAUGHTERS?

Pedigree and type of a bull are only indicators of the kind of daughters he should sire. His true measure lies in his ability to get daughters that will produce on a high level. Every Sire in the American Breeders' Service studs that furnish our semen is Proved Great. Their average index, of over 500 lbs. B.F., ranks them in the top 2% of all bulls proved by D.H.I.A. daughter-dam comparisons.

History of Farming May Be Seen in State Fairs Through the Years

History and agriculture go hand in hand. The record of one is the record of the other. The story of agriculture is the story of civilization, and it begins in prehistoric times. When the first man discovered the art of putting seed into the ground and watching it grow into a mature plant, he had made a long move in the direction of civilization.

Some time during the Paleolithic period, possibly some 25,000 to 50,000 years ago, man acquired his first ideas of plants and planting. Before that time he had doubtless used the fruit or seed of plants for food, but until then he had done nothing to promote the growth of the plants that are so common to our civilization today.

Although Neolithic man had learned some of the benefits of keeping domestic animals and of planting grain, he nevertheless depended largely on hunting and fishing for a large part of his food and clothing. Five thousand years before Christ both the valley of the Nile and the rich valley between the Tigris and Euphrates were used for agricultural purposes by the peoples who dwell there at that time.

The earliest Egyptians seem to have known about onions, garlic, radishes, beans, chick-peas, lentils and the castor bean. They raised crops of bearded wheat, six rowed barley, millet, flax and a variety of sorghum. For fruit they had watermelons, grapes, olives, figs, pomegranates and dates. Horses were not introduced into ancient Egypt until about 1900 B. C.

To this knowledge of agriculture the Greeks added beets, cabbage, lettuce, turnips, kidney beans and garden peas. They did not have the date palm, but they had the almond tree, and apples, quinces, cherries, peaches and plums. The Greeks were the first to apply manure to their fields and to plow under a green growth in order to enrich the land.

The Romans gave much attention to agriculture and left accurate records of the methods they used. They introduced the breeding of fine horses, sheep, swine, cattle, and many kinds of poultry. Oats and rye, celery, peaches, apricots and melons were added to the list of crops known to the nations, and alfalfa was grown for fodder.

During the medieval period agriculture was brought to a high state of perfection in Europe. Since the beginning of history the Chinese and Peruvians were much interested in farming. Both nations knew of the use of both fertilizers and of irrigation. The Incas of Peru had their hillside terraced in order to make good use of every acre of good land without undue waste or runoff.

The two greatest improvements in modern agriculture are rotation of crops and a chemical knowledge of fertilizers. Lord Townsend established in England the Norfolk system, consisting of the annual rotation of crops of wheat, turnips, barley and clover—the nitrogen building clover is included in the rotation. The first scientist to make progress in the study of the chemical composition of plants was Liebig, at the beginning of the 19th century.

It is of interest to note that in every instance mentioned above the development of civilization kept pace with the march of agriculture. It did not mean that all races versed in the art of agriculture were to survive, for when the Spaniards conquered Mexico and Peru, both highly versed in agriculture, they destroyed a civilization greater than their own and slowed the advance of civilization by hundreds of years.

Through the ages, where progress was made in the art of tilling the soil, the human race progressed. Inversely, as in China, where no further progress was made in agriculture, and where much the same methods are in use today as were used 4000 years ago, the people have remained practically at a standstill. The Chinese of today do not differ materially from the Chinese of 4000 years ago.

This we see that there is a vital connection between the development of agriculture and the development of the human race. Agriculture has Biblical sanction, since the time that Cain brought the fruits and grains of the field and Abel brought a lamb from his flock as an offering to God. From there on agriculture and stock raising had an important part in the stories of the Bible.

The place of nations in the scale of civilization seems to have been determined, not so much by their advancement in the arts and sciences as by the interest they have taken in the scientific tilling of the soil and the development of newer and better varieties of crops. Further, we find that the agricultural peoples are more inclined to the ways of peace than are other races.

Celebrations of the harvest were established in the early days of agriculture. Long before Christian times the Romans celebrated the Feast of Pomona, goddess of gardens. The Druidic autumnal feast occurred at about the same time of the year. All peoples of history have observed the arrival of harvest with appropriate celebrations.

In the state of Nebraska, where every citizen is dependent, directly or indirectly, upon agriculture, the importance of the harvest festival cannot be exaggerated. County and state fairs, hay days and pop corn days, which, after all, are nothing more than harvest festivals, have been held ever since the state was admitted to the union March 1, 1867.

No one thing goes more to stimulate interest in agriculture than the holding of these fairs. Their importance cannot be overestimated. They furnish the stimulus that makes the Nebraska farmer recognized as a leader in the art of tilling the soil, in the raising of bigger and better crops, in the breeding and growing of better livestock.

Every citizen of the state has visited a county fair, and if he has taken the interest in the exhibits that makes the Nebraska farmer profitable to him. If he failed to talk with the outstanding farmers who brought the exhibits, he neglected a golden opportunity. If he did not see the outstanding work of the 4-H clubs he is not in a position to understand what these young people are doing for the farm or what the farm is doing for them.

As the state towers above the community, so the state fair towers above all the county fairs. As the state comprises the sum total of all its counties, so the state fair is the summing up of all that is best in all the county fairs of the state. The best exhibits of all the county fairs are being shown at the Nebraska state fair this fall.

State fairs are the result of generations of development. Every year the best has been shown, and each succeeding year that best becomes better. Every year the best farmers of the nation have learned new lessons which they have put into practice during the coming years. Practically all the crops we raise, all the livestock we own, were known to the early races of mankind, but they have all been brought to a much higher state of development as the centuries have passed.

This article would not be complete without a mention of the newest and most important development of agriculture, the use of hybrid seed and hybrid strains of poultry. In the raising of corn alone this one method has practically doubled the yield in the period of only a few years, to say nothing of the great improvement in quality. It is safe to predict that other and greater improvements are certain to follow.

The end is not yet. So long as the human race shall endure the arts of tilling the soil and raising stock will be essential, for all mankind must be fed. The farmer of the future must obtain better results from his efforts if he is to survive. Today farming is a challenge that should bring out the best that is in us. Agriculture and civilization go hand in hand. If agriculture takes a backward step, then civilization will fall also.

Pregnant Sows

To prevent abortions from injury, sows in the last stage of pregnancy should not be permitted to run with horses and mules or to follow fattening cattle.

Raw Onions

Raw onions, as you probably know, contain a flavorful, volatile oil which may or may not be retained after cooking. If you prefer mild-flavored onions, they should be cooked in a relatively large amount of boiling water in an open kettle. During this cooking process, considerable portions of the strong, flavored, volatile oil will pass off with the steam.

Fermentation in Honey

Honey should be extracted only when well ripened in the comb to assure a low moisture content. Yeasts in honey are killed by a temperature of 100 degrees F, and honey heated to this point will not ferment if kept in airtight containers. Honey will give off moisture in a dry, warm atmosphere, but will absorb moisture under humid conditions.

Licking Envelopes

Envelopes and other gummed articles should not be licked for the purpose of sealing them. The tongue may be cut when wiped along the edge of the paper. If the tongue is used for this purpose it should be merely pressed against the gum in several places.

William Shakespeare

We know a lot about the work of William Shakespeare, regarded by many as the greatest literary genius the world has ever known, but there is a good deal we don't know about the man. There is no record of his birthdate, no definite knowledge of his boyhood, no record of the "lost years" 1584 to 1592, and no portrait that can be regarded as an authentic likeness.

Sleeplessness

Many insomniacs have a negative attitude toward sleep. They are afraid that when they get to bed they won't be able to get to sleep, so they don't. If they would adjust their mental attitudes, and not worry about not sleeping, they might not have any trouble at all—unless their bedding has been its best days.

Get Out the Old Scattergun; Its Hunting Season

It's that long awaited time of the year when the powder-burned shotgun is withdrawn from the gun case and the seasoned rod and reel is disassembled and packed away. It's hunting time in Nebraska.

Shotguns began blazing one half-hour before sunrise last Friday and will continue firing until interrupted through sunset of January 31, 1951 in quest of some species of game. There won't be one day in this five-month period that some game isn't legal kill.

Last Friday, Sept. 1, marked the opening of Nebraska's hunting seasons. The first hunt of the year is for doves and will continue until sunset of Oct. 1. The daily bag and possession limit is identical—10 birds.

On the 15th of Sept., the hunting pursuit of raccoon and opossum gets underway, unhampered by a daily bag or possession limit. Hunting is permitted all hours of the day and night. Presently there is no closing date of the season on these animals.

Dove season ends Oct. 1 and on that day rabbit and squirrel hunting begins. The season on rabbits ends Jan. 31 while the hunt for squirrels closes on Dec. 31. Shooting hours for both species of game are identical—sunrise to sunset. The bag and possession limits are likewise the same—five and five.

On Wednesday, Oct. 20, beginning at noon, many of Nebraska's estimated 200,000 hunters scatter out throughout the state in quest of ducks, geese, brants, and coot. They have until Dec. 3 to take their legal kill. As the Central Flyway indicates an increased waterfowl production, the daily bag and possession limit on ducks was boosted to five and 10.

Daily bag and possession limit on geese and brants is five and five while the limits on coots are 10 and 10.

While five geese are permitted, federal regulations provide that not more than two Canada geese or their sub species or two white-fronted geese or one of each the Canada and whitefront may be taken in a daily bag. Nebraska hunters occasionally have the opportunity to shoot blue or snow geese which may be taken in any combination up to five, including the other species.

With the exception of opening day when the hours are from one hour before sunset, the hunting hours for ducks, geese, brant and coots are one-half hour before sunrise to one hour before sunset.

One day before Armistice day, oldtimers are expected to lead the way in the state's first grouse season in over 20 years. The season begins on the 10th of Nov. and ends on the 12th. Both sharp-tail grouse and prairie chicken are legal kill. The daily bag and possession limit is two and two. Hunting begins one-half hour before sunrise and ends one hour before sunset.

Quail hunting begins the same date of the grouse season, Nov. 10th, but continues for a longer period, ending Nov. 26. Hunting is from sunrise to sunset and the daily bag possession limits are 5 and 5.

Nebraska's king bird—cock pheasant—gets in the shotgun pattern on Oct. 28. The season, the longest in recent years, ends on Nov. 19. With increased population observed throughout most of the open area, the bag and possession limits were doubled over that of last year. The limits for 1950 are 4 and 4. The hunt begins daily at one-half hour before sunrise and ends one hour before sunset.

The last season to get underway this year is the deer hunt, scheduled Dec. 4-17. One thousand special deer permit hunters will work Dawes, Morrill, Scotts Bluff and Sioux counties and Sheridan county north of the Niobrara river. There are no open seasons on swans, cranes, snipe (Wilson or Jack), curlew, rail, and gallinules, partridges (Chukar and Hungarian), wild turkey, hen pheasants, wood ducks, or antelope.

With the exception of the waterfowl and deer hunts, all seasons dates and limits were set at the last meeting of the Nebraska Game Commissioners in Lincoln. The entire state with the exception of Federal and State sanctuaries and refuges is open area for doves, raccoon, opossum, rabbits, squirrels, ducks, geese, brants and coots.

Following are the open areas for grouse, quail and pheasants: GROUSE—Brown, Cherry, Keya Paha, and Rock counties and Sheridan county south of the Niobrara river, except Federal and State sanctuaries and refuges.

QUAIL—Otoe, Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee, Richardson, Gage, Jefferson and Thayer counties, except for Federal and State sanctuaries and refuges.

PHEASANTS—Adams, Boone, Buffalo, Burt, Butler, Cass, Cedar, Chase, Clay, Colfax, Cuming, Custer, Dakota, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge, Douglas, Dundy, Fillmore, Franklin, Frontier, Furnas, Gage, Gosper, Greeley, Hall, Hamilton, Harlan, Hayes, Hitchcock, Howard, Jefferson, Johnson, Kearney, Knox (East of the State hi-way No. 13 to the intersection with State hi-way No. 12 and No. 12 to the thread of the channel of the Missouri river), Lancaster, Lincoln, Madison, Merrick, Morrill, Nemaha, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Perkins, Phelps, Seward, Sherman, Sioux (south of a line parallel to and one half (1/2) mile north of the Inter-State Canal), Stanton, Thayer, Thurston, Valley, Washington, Wayne, Webster, and York, except for Federal and State sanctuaries and refuges. All other counties are closed.

Fisherman Plans To Trap Whales With Waltz Music

Boston. — Capt. Jack Doane, fingered his gray chin stubble and allowed as how his whale jail would make him world famous or an international flop.

The 69-year-old fisherman plans to cruise New England's coast like a sea-going Pied Piper, luring whales to the surface with Strauss waltzes and then corralling 'em.

He's positive his theory will work. Said he'd been working on it a generation. He has convinced Capt. Jack Lang, skipper of the S.S. Westport, and excursion fishing vessel, to lend his boat for the experiment. "I'm a peaceful man, considered most ways," Captain Doane observed to leeward. "But ever since I was a shaver in Nova Scotia I've hated whales."

Whales Cause Trouble "Something about 'em just tangles my rigging. Lately they been causing trouble—much—in these parts."

"I mind how they rammed the excursion boat of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company of Massachusetts. Short time ago one upended a fishing boat down province-town-way and like to kill a boy."

"Cause of these things and 'cause I just naturally hate whales anyway I figured they ought to be lured into a cove and jailed up there and bopped on the head at leisure, as you might say."

He's the man for the job, he said. "Yes, mate, I've done plenty of whale research. I know the ugly critters like music. If you remembered, they were playing music on the excursion boat when they got rammed."

Lurk Off East Coast The same whales that have been doing this promiscuous ramming, he said, still lurk off the New England coast.

"My plan is to take the old Westport out and just sit there and play music over a loud speaker system," he said.

"I've picked waltzes by that feller Strauss 'cause they're lazy things that would naturally appeal to a whale."

"The monsters will hear it and come to the boat and we'll lead 'em into a cove we got picked out. The tide will beach 'em and it'll be a regular whale jail. We'll repeat it every day till we've de-whaled the whole region."

A few infidels have scoffed at the proposed whale-jail, the Captain admitted. He attributed this to a general lack of whale savvy. "Let 'em laugh," he chuckled. "I'm a stubborn man."

Woman Tosses Gem-Laden Shoes Into Burning Trash Pile

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Mrs. Hildegard Sommerfeldt's shoes were worn out so she tossed them into a trash pile to burn.

She said she didn't know there were 50 diamonds in the heel of one of them.

Mrs. Sommerfeldt, 38-year-old Ripon, Wis., bakery employe, claimed her brother put the stones in her shoe when she visited him in Holland.

The brother, Fred Stelter, charged that his sister had stolen 110 diamonds and other jewelry during her Holland visit. He lodged the complaint with federal authorities on his arrival in this country.

Mrs. Sommerfeldt said she did not find out about the gems until her brother told her the stones were in the left heel of one of her "wedgie" shoes.

She said if there were 110 diamonds in the shoes, 50 or more must have been lost when she burned the shoes.

"He never said anything about the right shoe," she said.

Mrs. Sommerfeldt, charged with smuggling, waived preliminary hearing at her arraignment before U. S. Court Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins. Bail was set at $5000.

Patrolman Reports Murder of Wife to Police; Admits Guilt

DETROIT. — Howard Forman, homicide inspector, said that patrolman John Mudrick shot his wife to death, then methodically reported the slaying and helped three fellow-officers in the routine of his own arrest.

Mudrick, 36, a suburban Dearborn policeman for four years, was held for investigation with no charge against him.

The victim, Clara Mudrick, 32, was found on the floor of her home, face down, eight shots in her body. Arresting officers said Mudrick told of quarreling with his estranged wife over his demand for a divorce. She agreed to give him one, according to their account, but would not put the agreement in writing.

Forman said Mudrick called police headquarters after the shooting and told the desk: "There's been a shooting at 5932 Nickel avenue. Send an ambulance and the homicide detectives."

When officers arrived, Forman went on, Mudrick met them and said: "There's the body. There's the gun."

Then according to Forman, Mudrick stretched out his wrists for the handcuffs and added—"and here is your man."

Stockers, Feeders, Higher Again at Omaha Market

Recent record-smashing stocker and feeder cattle and calf trade took no holiday at the Omaha market Labor Day Monday. Replacement stuff accounted for half of a 16,000 cattle and calf run and made for biggest Western supply so far this season. Counting cows, the Western run Monday at Omaha totalled 10,000.

Stocker and feeder cattle and calves sold strong to 50 higher. Yearling stock steers and heifers equalled their respective all-time highs of $33.00 and $29.00 set the week before. Steer calves scored new all-time high of $36.25, and weighty heifer calves hit $32.50. New season's highs included: Three-year-old feeder steers at $30.00 and 2's at $30.75. Feeder steers weighing 1615 brought $27. Stock cows scored $21.00 and $21.25, their steer and heifer calves $33.00-$34.00. Plain feeder steers sold down to $24.00 but relatively few under $27.00.

Meanwhile, fat cattle sold steady to 25c up, best trade $29.00 up, steers to $32.25, highest since last February, and heifers to $30.00. Cows sold steady to 25c off, canners and cutters $17.00-$19.00, beef to $21.00, good young Westerns $22.00-$23.00. Bulls sold to $24.75, yearlings to $31.00.

Butcher hogs, last week $2.00-$3.00 lower, Monday lost another 50-75c, 150-360-pounders $21.00-$24.00. Sows, tho, were steady Monday with last week's $2.25-$3.00 break. 270-600-pounders $16.50-$21.75. Stags Monday brought $13.00-$16.50.

Fat lambs held steady, most good springers $27.75. Slaughter eyes held at $11.50-$13.50. Feeder lambs sold steady to strong, good Westerns $28.25-$28.50, quotable peak for lightweights around $30. Breeding ewes sold to $16.50-$17.

Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area: Valley county—Melvin Swanson, 22 feeder steers, wt. $78, $28.10; 23, wt. $69, $28.50, Donald Patrick, 11 steers and heifers, wt. 972, $29.25.

Vicar of Wakefield

Oliver Goldsmith sold his immortal novel, "The Vicar of Wakefield," for $300, under very humiliating circumstances. The great Dr. Samuel Johnson went out in person to sell the manuscript of the book for Goldsmith, while the latter waited in the custody of a sheriff's officer. (The author's landlady had had him arrested for failure to pay his rent.)

Black Is White

Titanium dioxide, the white pigment which is derived from the blackest of sands — ilmenite — by chemical processing is regarded as the greatest advance in the white pigment field in modern times. It is used by the paint industry in exterior house paints to control chalking. It is also utilized in enamels to secure superior durability and whiteness.

New Canadian Nickel Next year Canada will pay tribute to Cronstedt, the Swedish scientist who discovered nickel in 1751, with the minting of a commemorative five-cent piece. The coin will mark the 200th anniversary of the isolation and naming of nickel.

IT'S REAL! IT'S HUMAN! GREAT ENTERTAINMENT!

Dear Folks:—

I'd like to tell you about a picture we've made at M.G.M. "Stars In My Crown." It's what a newspaper friend of mine calls a human interest story . . . it's not the story of one man or one family—it's about all the folks in this town or any town . . . the good and the bad . . . the dramatic things and funny things that happen to them.
Like pretty Ellen Drew—she's my wife in the story. She sort of runs the whole shebang from the sidelines. And there's young Dean Stockwell as John. Watching him is like growing up all over again. Then there's Alan Hale, a man who loves a light or a prank, and Lewis Stone who's the old Doc and handsome James Mitchell who's the young Doc. And well, there's characters like Uncle Famous and Chloroform and the bully—every town has them, for better or for worse.
It's different and it's real. And I sincerely hope you like it.

Farwell, Palmer, Advance in S-H Playoff Series

Palmer earned the right to enter the finals in the Sherman-Howard league playoff Sunday when they defeated the hard fighting Scotia team at Palmer by the close score of 7 to 6.

At Ashton a large crowd watched Farwell and Ashton battle out a hard slugging game that was marred with some costly errors and Farwell nosed out that game 9 to 7. The loss of this game put Ashton out of the playoff series and puts Farwell and Scotia with a loss and a win apiece. These two teams will meet next Sunday afternoon on the Elba diamond to battle out their tie and the winner of this contest will then tangle with Palmer a two out of three game series for the championship.

Ord Mustangs Back in Pennant Chase; Beat Shelton 11-2

Ord bats pounded out an 11 to 2 victory over Shelton Sunday night while Anselmy was losing to Loup City, 3-2, and as a result the Ord Mustangs will play Anselmy on the Loup City field tonight (Wednesday) in the third round of the Mid-Nebraska Night League's post-season championship tournament.

Ord's win over Shelton dropped them from the tourney, for on Wednesday night they were beaten by Anselmy 8 to 4. To date the Loup City Red Wings are undefeated, having won over Ord and Anselmy to their credit.

Over-the-fence homers by Dan Dilla and Ray Johnson highlighted the Mustangs' victory over Shelton but all the Ord men had their hitting togs on and clouted out a total of 10 hits off Bud Ellis, who went 7 innings for Shelton, and Hadenfelt, who succeeded him.

Bud Bridenbaugh pitched keen ball for the Mustangs, allowing only 4 hits, striking out 6 and issuing but 2 walks. He got excellent support from the Mustangs who were knocking down everything hit their way. Dugan, at shortstop, made several sensational plays and got two sizzling singles, being robbed of an extra base hit by an on-the-run catch made by Wiegand. Hadenfelt, Ord third sacker, caught two fouls against the wire and in all ways played his best ball of the year. Al Karle, at second, played a nice game and got two hits. Stan Johnson, who has been in a batting slump, also hit safely twice and Bridenbaugh collected a long double to center.

A small but vociferous group of about 50 Ord fans made the long trips to Shelton and made enough noise for a whole cheering section.

Manager Walter Douthit says he will have the same line-up against Anselmy tonight that defeated Shelton Sunday and has every hope of winning. Bud Novosad will be at first, Karle 2nd, Dugan shortstop, Hadenfelt 3rd. Outfield will be Dick Beran, Ray Johnson and Dan Dilla, with Bob Pharrick also seeing some service if he is available. Bill Novosad, who has been steadily improving, will start as pitcher and Bud Bridenbaugh will be on hand for relief if he is needed. Stan Johnson will be the receiver.

Winner of the Ord-Anselmy game will meet Loup City Sunday night. The Red Wings, undefeated to date, must be beaten twice to eliminate them from the tournament, while a single loss for either Ord or Anselmy drops them out of competition. If the Mustangs can beat Anselmy tonight and Loup City Sunday another Ord-Loup City game will have to be played, probably on a neutral field, for a final determination of the tournament championship.

No hearing has been held as yet on the law suit filed by Ravenna. They filed an amended petition, which delayed matters one week, and a hearing now is set for Friday of this week at Kearney. If the league wins, games now being held will be classed as official play-off games; should Ravenna win its suit, the games will be classed as an unofficial tournament and another play-off will be held under whatever orders the district court may issue. Attorneys for the league are confident, however, that District Judge Reed will decline jurisdiction and Ravenna's petition will be denied, once the case comes up for hearing.

Anton Kapustka Scores Again in Fishing Contest

There's no argument about it. Anton Kapustka knows how to catch bass. A couple of weeks ago he reeled in a three-and-a-quarter pound prize and this week he hooked one that tipped the beam at two pounds, 13 ounces.

These two fish give Anton a very good chance to net first and second prize in the bass division of the big Quiz fishing contest.

He has a favorite spot to catch the big bass. It's on the Cedar, about 10 miles upstream from Ericson.

There was other activity in the Quiz fishing contest this week, too. Mrs. Mary Maroz hooked an 11 oz. bluegill Sunday at Horse-shoe Bend. She had tried worms and frogs for bait without much luck, so she used sweet corn and found that's just what big grandpa bluegill wanted for his lunch. Her picture will appear in next week's Quiz.

Plugs Win, 4 to 2

The Ord Plugs won their baseball game against Burwell on the Ord diamond Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 2. Richardson pitched for the local team.

FEEDS

Vegetable and animal proteins have both showed some strength the past week so that mixed feeds also have had a little upturn in price. It should be a good time to cover over at least a part of your feed requirements. Subject to stock on hand and market changes, we offer the following prices:

Bran, per bag	$2.50
40% Hog Supplement	5.10
32% Poultry Concentrate	5.05
Wayne Calf Meal, 25 lb. bag	1.60
Steamed Bone Meal, per bag	4.35
Yellow Corn, per bu.	1.36
Soy Bean Meal, per bag	4.05
Swifts 43% Hog Supplement	6.20
Wayne 32% Dairy Feed	4.55

Grains.

The grain market remains about steady. There has been very little change in the markets other than a cent or two up or down. The corn market remains a little under loan price and the feeder market is lagging so it is pretty hard to put corn on the open market at loan prices. To the feeders we have a good supply of No. 1 yellow corn, good feeding barley and rather limited amount of oats.

Seed Wheat.

We strongly urge you to get seed wheat that is free from rye for your sowing this year. Many fields of wheat this year carried quite a lot of rye and there is quite a discount for wheat with rye in it. There is some Certified Wheat locally and we will be glad to get it for you if you do not know where to get it. We will have a very small amount of Nebred Wheat grown from Certified Seed last year that does not show any rye in it. It is priced at a very little over market price on good wheat. Treat your seed for have it treated with Certisan or some other good seed treatment; it will pay you.

Seed Rye.

We are having quite a call for Balbo Rye seed and we plan to have a small stock of it on hand. If you need rye seed, let us have your order so that we can get it for you.

Fertilizer.

Our farmers that used fertilizer on their fall wheat last year for the most part had very good results. We believe the fertilizer used on your fall grain will show very good yields. We are in position to furnish you with most anything in fertilizer but orders should be placed early as all Nitrates are hard to get. We had orders for a couple cars of Nitrate for fall delivery and had trouble in getting the orders booked. This year more than ever we feel that you should place your order for Nitrate for next summer's use this fall. You have nothing to lose in placing your order now and will have a much better chance of getting your Nitrate when you need it. We have a new fertilizer spreader to rent to our fertilizer customers. It is also adapted for sowing grass seed.

Grass Seed.

It is time to plan on your Bromo Grass and Crested Wheat sowing. We have these on hand at present. The price on Grass Seed is cheaper than for the last couple of years.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover Seed.

We are in the market for your alfalfa seed and sweet clover seed. Our price must be very attractive as we had some seed come in to us from a distance of about 40 miles this past week. This seed was much closer to several seed buyers than it was to us. Our seed market is always very good.

Kebby's Comments

This is a pleasant time of the year for the sports fan. Baseball is still fresh in his mind. He can almost guess the umpires and the team managers to his heart's content over his morning coffee.

It's the time of year when he can mull over football prospects for the coming season. He can remember the glorious victories his team won last year—if it won any glorious victories—or he can chide himself by saying, "It'll be better this year," if his team wasn't so hot last season.

It's the time of year to take the shotgun from the rack and dream of knocking a plump duck from the sky with the trusty blunderbuss. The weather is much too mild to give any thought to the chilly breeze that will numb his trigger finger and chap his lips.

Life's not half bad, is it?

It's always comforting for us ordinary people to remember that we're just as far from the bottom as we are from the top.

Coach Bill Glassford at the University of Nebraska is looking at his crop of gridders with cautious optimism. Evidently he's convinced that he has a better squad than he did last year. But he's afraid that the other teams in the conference may be better, too.

Speaking of universities, we'll never forget the day the dean of women began an important announcement as follows:

"The President of the college and I have decided to stop necking on the campus..."

Pre-school football practice has attracted 30 or 40 boys in a lot of schools the size of Ord high school. But here, a daily turnout of six to a dozen men was the rule. Looks like a long season ahead for the Chants.

The House that CONVICTION BUILT

When many people have the same conviction about a thing, they usually get together. They become members of a party, or a society, or a congregation.

Every Sunday in the churches of our community many people get together. They have the same conviction about God—they worship together.

When they worship, they offer thanks, they ask help. They sing to express their happiness. They listen to enrich their minds with the truth that comes from God. And before they bow their heads to receive final benediction, they give such gifts as they can to their Lord's work.

All of us have need for worship—it is a part of human nature and the divine will of God. So for your greatest benefit and happiness, choose a Church in this community—attend its services and join in its work. Make it YOUR CHURCH.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Is The Mail Route The Best County Road System?

Since the establishment of Rural Free Delivery, it has been the policy, whenever speaking of county road improvements, to always consider first the rural mail route.

This winding, snake-like route does eventually pass everyone's mail box, but the delivery of mail in the rural area is not a sound basis on which to establish a county road system.

State politicians have long used the idea of gathering votes by advocating improvements of mail routes. These vote seekers rightly surmise every farmer receives mail so improvement of the mail route should "cinch" the farmer's vote.

The talk of improving mail routes has been used so long that Nebraskaans have finally accepted the false thought a good county road system should follow the mail route.

Over the years only one fact has been proven, centering all attention on rural mail routes results only in hundreds of miles of medium to poor and too often bad roads that go nowhere and for the most part are totally unsuitable for truck use. These routes are hundreds of miles of narrow roads winding through a county over bridges that are weak and dangerous.

Wouldn't it be better to spend this same amount of road building money, labor and maintenance costs and establish a county highway system of good thoroughfares with good feeder roads leading off to serve the individual farms?

Instead of a farmer bucking mud and ruts over the mail route to his nearest town, wouldn't it be better to buck mud and ruts one mile to the county highway and then have "clear sailing" the other nine miles to town?

Experiences during the "snow-bound" operation proved that opening mail routes served fewer people per miles opened than if a county highway system could have been opened to the main thoroughfare.

All too often you hear a farmer remark: "I can make it, too, if I can make it to the highway." This farmer isn't interested in his mail route in bad weather, he is interested in the shortest route from his farm to town.

The new "four-day cream law," the truck transportation of livestock and grain, all call for better roads. The mail route is not the answer. What if our state had built the highway from Norfolk to Neligh all on rural mail routes? It is just as foolish to expect good county roads when you follow the mail route.

It will be a slow job to make people forget that mail routes are not the best road system in a county.

Someday—and not until that day will we have good roads—someday Pierce county and every county of this state will have a designated county highway system of good, built-up roads, and modern bridges in our rural areas and these roads will be joined with short feeder roads serving each farm.—Pierce County Leader.

'Eggs' or 'How to Lose Money'
In spite of the "cold war" against Communists in Europe, the United States during the first 11 months of the last fiscal year imported over 15 million dozen Manchurian dried eggs from Communist China at a time when the Department of Agriculture was buying up eggs in this country to bolster prices. This practice not only is costly to American taxpayers but also provides the dollar exchange to finance subversive activities here and to buy materials with high war potential which may be used against our boys in Korea and other parts of the world. The Administration has the power to stop this trade.

The Department of Agriculture now owns nearly 107 million pounds of dried eggs, of which nearly 75 million pounds have been purchased this year in price support operations. Because of the large stock on hand, the support level was set at 25 cents a dozen this year compared with 35 cents in 1949.

During the past six months, the United States sold Britain, at approximately 25 cents a pound, over 30 million pounds of dried eggs which had cost our government the set price of $1.26 a pound. The purchase was handled through the Economic Cooperation Administration. British citizens pay $1.36 per pound for eggs, giving their government more than a dollar a pound profit on the transaction at the expense of the American taxpayer. Recently the British Ministry of Food contracted with the Chinese Communists for 44 million pounds of dried eggs at prices slightly below those quoted and payable in Marshall Plan funds.

++ Something Different ++

Summer seems to have taken a new grip on life, now that we're all expecting fall to arrive any minute.

When the youngsters return to school, Mother breathes in the strange and quiet peace of the place.

But then she takes a second glance at the chaos summer has made of the old dump . . . and she ties a scarf on her hair and starts putting things to both right and left.

Why is it supposed to be such a good idea to buy new shoes in the morning, before your feet get tired?

Why wouldn't the shoes be much more comfortable if purchased when your feet are tired and touchy?

My brilliant thought for the day. That reminds me, Mr. Wrightman's shoe contest really has the kids hopping around. And I think many of us are delighted to get a few pairs of old shoes off the premises in such a good cause, and possibly get them back into circulation. Possibly worn out by someone who needs them.

I'm glad we have a garden club in Ord. For I think there's a real place for it. We have some excellent gardeners and some charming yards, and I'm sure all of these people with the green thumbs will profit from trading information . . . not to mention slips, and little shoots of this and that.

And it's always inspiring to see what others can grow, and to learn about new varieties.

Then all these new methods, for instance growing tomatoes without soil . . . now doesn't that intrigue you, even though you say you aren't a gardener?

A yard that's been a picture of beauty for years past is that of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kosmata. What a lovely welcome to our city it has offered to travellers who come in from North Loup!

How I wish that each road into our town had a welcome feature as pretty as the Kosmata yard. And when Mrs. Zablouid lived nearby and had her backyard slope so invitingly arranged . . . now that way into our city was something.

On the whole Ord yards are well kept, most visitors to Ord comment.

Our streets are well kept too, you notice? Day after day the dirt is scraped and hauled off the pavement; day after day our streets are dragged and leveled, our gutters cleared, our crossings shovelled by Dr. Blessing's crew.

Now that winter's coming, I hope we will hear more about a male chorus, locally. They are so much fun, how can you beat them?

The fellows that sing love every minute of the practice sessions; the audience certainly laps up the concerts appreciatively. What more could you ask?

Of course Mr. Nelson has nothing else to do . . . point number three.

Our modern trouble is, it is too easy to by-sit, to enjoy things vicariously.

For music . . . turn on the radio in place of playing the piano and singing around it. Forsport . . . go to a game and watch the team get out there and battle for that yard and that down. For entertainment . . . go to the movies, where once you'd have enjoyed a series of lectures or taken part in heated debates.

My lecture for today, free, and worth what it costs, no doubt.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Now I am mad again, possibly yet. This is one that happened over at Ericson, but I forgot all about it until it was too late for last week. However, when I happened to think about it this morning, I sure was sore. It happened one day that I was walking up town from the Lawless camp, when what should pass me but a car with the number 47-1340 on it. As there was plenty of room in the car, I decided I would find out who from Valley county had passed me up on the road. When I got up town I found out. There was Mayor Harry Gillespie of North Loup and his fellow conspirator, Marshal Harlan (Mose) Brennick jay-walking across the street just like they thought they were at home.

In a loud tone of voice I demanded to know what they meant by passing up a fellow townsman thataway and Harry, always ready with the right words, remarked that they failed to recognize me, and that from that end I looked just like anybody else. Then I reminded His Honor that I had made it easy for him to collect his telephone dues by getting them at the bank, and told him in no uncertain terms that he should appreciate more what I had done for him. Next time I pass either of those men on the road, even if I have an empty wheelbarrow, I am just going to let them walk.

Mrs. Max Savage, who is typist-clerk-stenographer for the Soil Conservation Service at Ord, had quite a time getting to work one day recently. She had loaned her keys to Max, who is one of the men in the field, and he forgot to give them back, so when she went down after dinner to open up, the door was locked and she had no key. She knew Dave Haight had a master key, but he was not in his office, the only man there being somebody she did not know.

When Dave had failed to appear after twenty minutes, she decided to find out if anybody upstairs had a master key. Treasurer Wilson had and he came down to unlock the door, only to find that his key would not work. Lloyd suggested she call the janitor, but she said she was not in the building. Lloyd then called John Manchester, who was subbing for Dave while the latter took his vacation, and he promptly unlocked the door for her. Net result, 30 lost minutes.

I see by the papers that the survivors of the Blizzard of 1888 are having their picnic and getting together early in September. Now I can hardly be classed as a survivor, but I was there at the time. However, I can cheerfully admit being a survivor of the Winter of 1948-49, and also of the Blizzard of March 7, 1950, which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Palmatier and other old timers state was worse while it lasted than the blizzard of 1888.

There is an important difference between the two or three which most of us are prone to overlook, and that is the condition of preparedness now as compared with then. Livestock had very little except natural shelter in those days, which is the reason we are told of bringing the cow into the house to save her from the storm, as my parents did along with ever so many others. Stock was protected by buildings and windbreaks last March and the preceding winter, but out on the open range was a different story. More cattle were lost there in the early days, for the reason that in 1889 and 1888 there were fewer cattle to lose.

But I started out to talk about the reunion of the survivors of 1888, an idea of which I am heartily in favor. There are not so many left after 62 years, and those who are left are entitled to meet and talk it over if they want to. There is no place in the world like America for meetings of all kinds, where people meet and talk over incidents of former years, and there is a good reason for it. In a government such as ours, such gatherings are permitted, a condition which we do not find in totalitarian countries.

There are only gatherings permitted are those honoring the Union of Socialistic republics. Everybody is compelled by device to attend them and whoop and holler for the great personage in whose honor the meeting is being held. Even if you don't like him or do not believe as he does, you'd better holler anyway, or you will be hollering in a concentration camp. Yes, we can meet and whoop and holler to our heart's content here in America about almost anything, even communism, and get away with it.

This year the Pop Corn committee was up against a tough proposition in figuring how to put on the show. In past years, including last year, numbers were sold, the purchaser getting a chance with the rest on a number of prizes given away. It worked all right, and nobody was hurt, but it was all in a good case, and the people who bought the tickets did it because they wanted to help out the show anyway. Last year when most of the tickets had been sold and about 40 prizes were being offered, the state cracked down on gambling of all kinds, and left the committee up in the air.

They decided to continue selling the tickets, with the distinct understanding that no prizes would or could be given. On the booster trip people listened to the announcer's explanation, and then went right on and bought tickets anyway. It is also a matter of record that nobody who had bought a ticket before the law was invoked asked for his money back, although they could have had it if they had asked for it. People are like that. They believe in the principles of sportsmanship.

This year, with no chance to sell numbers on prizes, the committee had to work out the free program as best they could, and apparently they are doing a good job. A member of the committee came to me one day recently and asked me if I thought the Wranglers club of Burwell would sponsor sending the fine Burwell band to Pop Corn days. I told him I believed they would, and told him to see Russell Mitchell, president of Nebraska's Big Rodeo. Russell believed the idea was a good one, and sent the committee to see Dr. E. J. Smith, Boss of the Wranglers.

That evening the committee came home all aglow with the splendid reception they were given in Burwell and with the news that the Wranglers Club would have their band at North Loup Sept. 13. Now there is no law compelling me to write the above story. Maybe that is the reason I wrote it. I believe that the people of Burwell, as well as other towns, are only too glad to help out in a good cause. We lived there 16 years, and I go back every summer. In fact, that trip is much in the nature of a home-coming to me, and I love it.

Pop Corn queen at the annual celebration of Pop Corn Days in North Loup.—William H. Carson, prominent Ord man and grandfather of Ellis and Vere Carson, well known present day business men, passed away at the age of 87 years.—A rain totaling 1.95 inches did considerable damage to roads, culverts and bridges in the vicinity of Ord. Forty football recruits were out for practice and Coach Joe Kregel believed Ord was in for a good year. The result, however, was very disappointing.

Thirty Years Ago.—Ord lost a baseball game at Loup City in thirteen innings and the story of it is written up in half of column of the Quiz, but no mention of the score is made.—Frank Kucera, jr. and Miss Millie Neuman were married by Rev. E. E. Hosman at the Ord Methodist church.—Fay J. Knott, well known in Ord and Mira Valley, died at his home in New York City at the age of 33 years and 6 months.—Perry R. Williams, running an automobile gift contest for the Ord Journal, damaged the gift car in a joy ride and then left the country with several hundred dollars of contest money.—John Edwards and Miss Bertha Laura Meese were married at the Methodist parsonage in Grand Island by Rev. J. H. Stitt.—The date for the laying the corner stone of the new Valley county court house, then under construction, had been set for Sept. 22. Miss Marguerite Wentworth became the bride of Vern Stark at a ceremony performed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Wentworth, by Rev. Price.

Forty Years Ago.—E. F. Stephens of the Crete Nurseries advanced the idea of shelter belts, the chief use suggested being to retard the blooming of fruit trees in the spring by planting shade trees to the south of them. So the shelter belt idea is not so new, after all, and Stephens' idea is as practical today as it was 40 years ago.—The S. S. Brown family, once of Ord but located at Medinot, Ida., had to move out of their home to escape the danger of forest fires which were burning all around them.—Barney Oldfield clipped a full second off the existing automobile record for a one-mile track, making the distance in 49 and 4/5 seconds in his 100 horse power car.—John L. Means MacAnulty was holding down a claim in the Kinkaid country northwest of Ord.—At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Calista Fuson, occurred the marriage of her daughter, Pearl Irene, to Joseph P. Barta.—J. F. Schuster, formerly of Nelson, became the proprietor of the Ord City Bakery, purchasing the same from the former owner, Warren Draper.

Fifty Years Ago.—Bert Milford was in Burwell running the McMullen and Conrad store while the proprietors were in St. Joseph, Mo., buying a stock of goods for the store. After fifty years the McMullen store is still a flourishing concern in Burwell.—Art Westover, who had been assisting Lehner Bros. in Omaha for a year returned to Ord to visit his old friends.—Anton Kokes, who had been taking a complete course in pharmacy in Chicago, returned to Ord for a visit with relatives and friends before taking on a regular job.—Prof. J. F. Nicholson, who formerly taught in the Ord schools, was married to Miss Cora N. Hayes at Loup City. He was a wizard with a pen.—Postmaster S. A. Stacy was having trouble with the doors of the safe, which refused to open as they should. John Stafford was called in and soon had them working.—Cornell Bros. had inaugurated a contest, offering a prize to the farmer who brought the biggest ear of corn to their store by Oct. 1.—H. Gudmundsen was assisting in the work at the county treasurer's office.—Charley Smith had accepted a position as clerk in Hotel Ord.

Sixty Years Ago.—Mrs. Aldridge and Mrs. Meeker of Queen's City, Mo., mother and sister of Mrs. C. F. Way and Mrs. E. C. Munn, were visiting in Ord.—Rev. Smith, formerly of Ord, was being sent to North Platte by the conference and Rev. Leonard, formerly of North Platte, was being sent to Ord.—Jim Barta was a valued clerk in the Racket store.—Dr. Blockford had sold his building on the north side of the square to C. J. Hoelworth of Illinois, who announced that he would open an exclusive grocery store there.—Ed Harrow and Miss Amanda Kildow were married by Judge A. A. Lavery. Mrs. Harrow had come from Omaha the preceding week to visit her sister, Mrs. Charles Mayo, who is still living in Ord.—D. A. Gaid traded his hotel property to J. B. Woodbury for the hotel building recently fitted up north of the Ord National bank.—V. H. Stone, M. E.

Getter, E. J. Clements, George Harris, E. P. Clements, C. E. Paist, C. C. King, George W. Milford, A. H. Schaefer, J. A. Patton, Abe Trout, F. E. Lloyd, J. W. Johnston, J. F. Barron, Peter Mortensen, Henry Nelson and H. C. Perry were delegates to the republican state convention.

ARTHRITIS
Hundreds Claim Its Grip Broken!

Dear Friend:
Do you have Arthritis? Have you a relative or friend that is suffering from this painful, distressing ailment?
I came upon a simple remedy, that ended my long search and battle to rid myself of Arthritis. I had teeth pulled, tonics out, serum shots, electric fever treatments, special built shoes, hot baths, pills and salves. The Arthritis withstood them all, and examination in several of the best known clinics could detect nothing. Finally I discovered Sulgly-Minol. Today, after seven months I am more free of pain and soreness than at any time in twenty years. Can work ten hours a day, with nothing more than tired feet. Legs, hips, back, neck and arms are practically free of pain and soreness. This has cost me less than six dollars.

This is all I did, and all you will have to do to try Sulgly-Minol. Just rub it on the soles of both feet before going to bed. A bottle will last about a month and will be enough to tell whether it will help. If it helps, keep it up for a month, and after that, just as you feel. If my feet feel sore from too much activity, I rub some on for a night or two. In my opinion, the benefits of Sulgly are more sure and complete on the soles of the feet. The results obtained have been acclaimed by many as a Godsend.

Often I have asked the question, "Why can't something be done to help me?" I sincerely believe that here is something that will help people who are suffering from Arthritis and want to tell as many as I can about it. I am sure you do too.

Tells of Battle Against Reds in Korea; U. S. Forces Outnumbered

The war in Korea suddenly comes close to home, when the mailman brings a letter from a son who is wounded in action.

Mrs. Jennie Luedtke received the following letter from her son Donald last week. Pfc. Luedtke enlisted in the army in March, 1948, and was sent to Japan in October of that year.

He received a purple heart for wounds received in action against the enemy on July 20, near Taejon. Here is the letter:

Dear Mom: Well, I suppose you wonder where I am, and where I have been.

I will start at the beginning. We left for Korea the 1st of July. We were the first Reg't to hit there and fight. The North Koreans had about ten Div. to our one Reg't. About all we could do was hit them and back up and they would get us surrounded all the time and now we will get to Taejon—good place I never will forget—Good size town. We were there for about four days. Last two days we were there we caught hell. Morning of the 19th, July, I woke up, enemy planes came over and strafed a little and they shot down one of our own jet fighter planes, nothing left of him when he came down.

Nothing too much happened till the morning of the 20th, July. That is when all hell broke loose. The enemy got the airfield to the north of town and they sent tanks in on us. They would go by our Reg't Headquarters and shoot up everything. They had men in them going to the other end of town to surround us. We would get their tanks knocked out but after they got to the other end of town, and by 4:30 that afternoon we all got on trucks and jeeps and started out, all shooting into the buildings as we went down the street. The enemy was all over in them. We were setting ducks for them—then we had to go thru about five blocks of fire. All that end of town was on fire. Some places the streets were nothing but fire. There were tanks, trucks and everything else burning in there. We made it. A lot of them didn't. I just about cooked. Then after we got through, they shot our driver through the head and we hit a telephone pole and that stopped us.

I got out of our truck—it was a radio truck—one I worked in all the time. I got my carbine and started shooting at the dirty Reds. They had us from both sides with machine gun fire and about everything else they could throw at us—hitting guys, left and right. We were just on the edge of town now—we were laying along the side of the road pinned down. We would try and make a break for it. We would get in the trucks and jeeps and we'd not move for I saw we would never make it out of there. I tried to help some of the wounded but that was hopeless. It was every man for himself.

I made up my mind to get out of there so I and four other guys took off over a little hill to the left of the road into the enemy and I guess they saw me—Bullets started hitting all around me. I was in the back of the other guys. I was laying down—one missed my face about four inches—knocked dirt in my eyes and mouth—it gave me a bloody mouth and I could not see too good. I started to get up and go when a bullet hit me in thru the back end and down thru my leg—did not go clear thru. I just took off and got over this little hill and we got in a little washout. I about dropped dead when I got there and raised up and saw an enemy machine gun about twenty yards to our one side on a side hill and there were about three North Koreans that we could see. We could have killed them but I don't think I would be here today. I don't see how they could help but see us. That was one place I said my prayers. We lay there until it got dark—about ten. There was a town about a mile to our front that was all on fire and everything was about like day yet. But we had to take the chance. I was not thinking about my leg—we started out of this place—got just about to the top and some "gook" took a shot at me, good thing I was about four yards from his hole for I would have walked right in on him. Guess he did not sight his gun—all I saw was the flash and I hit around to one side. Guess that gook was as afraid as I was because he never came up any more and I took off—didn't go too far—and we ran into one of our G. I.'s—that guy that was hit in the head. I was surprised that he was still going. He was in bad shape. He was hit in the upper part of the cheek bone and it went through his face, just under his eyes. He had blood coming out of both sides of his head, nose and mouth—Both his eyes were shut and he couldn't see. We had to lead him and that made six of us—three of us were hurt. We hit for the mountains. It was hard going, for the enemy was all around us and we had to stay low a lot of times. We got up in the mountains and stopped at a stream to get a drink of water—I was about dying for a drink. My mouth was still full of dirt—Darn if we didn't get lost from that G. I.—that left me with that guy that could not see and another guy that was not hit. We kinda came down out of the mountains and hit machine gun fire again. That guy that was not hit said he was going no more, said he was going to stay there and die. I stayed there for about fifteen minutes—told him he was crazy if he did, and I got mad and took that other guy and left him there. We went back up into the mountains. I could not go too good myself and I had to lead that guy that was shot in the head. We kept going all night stopping only when my legs would go no further and that was not very far. We had gone a long way that night and we took a chance on coming out of the mountains the next day. There was a road at the bottom—we thought if we could get on that we could go fairly fast, but we hit gun fire so we went back up in the mountains. Do not know if they were firing at us or not and I wasn't going to find out. That afternoon we came out again and we were safe. We got down on that road and the South Koreans tried to help us as much as they could. We came to one place and ran onto other guys and we all kept going. We got to a small town and there was some South Korean soldiers that stayed for about two hours. Everybody was leaving that place and I was too tired and could not go any further, so a South Korean soldier helped me into a building and laid me down and asked me if he could take my watch and gun. I said O. K.—he said he would be back in fifteen minutes. He did come back and he said he was going out again but would be back. About that time two guys came in and told me everybody had left—they were not hit so they helped me. I was so darn weak—when I would get on my back I could not get up. There were four of us together. One guy could not go too fast—he was shot through the leg and side and that slowed us all up but we kept going till it was dark and I ran onto one of the guys from the radio section. Sure was glad to see him—then we left the guys that were wounded at a Korean place. They wanted me to stay there and they would get help. I said "Nothing doing"—I went the worst part and I was not going to stop. I got a ride for a ways in an old cart pulled by a cow—it was better than nothing. We kept going till about 2:30 that night, then we stopped at a Korean place and we fixed us up and we slept for the night. My leg was all swelled up in the knee. The next day we made a Korean take me in a cart—this time pulled by a little horse. He took me a long ways into a good size town where we met a Captain. He said we had to go east to get back to our lines. He said it was about 25 miles to Yonk-dong—that was where the 1st Cavalry Div. was. They had just come from Japan and had not met the enemy yet, and so we took the road east. I got a ride for a little ways and run out of road so had to walk—ran onto a Korean that would help me. He gave me support. Then about sundown we came upon a M. P. Patrol that was picking up guys up that road. We had just made it because they could just go so far on this road and it ran out. We had to walk along the side of a mountain with a river down below. It was just a trail until we hit the road again, where a jeep could go. I was never so glad in all my life to see those guys. We told them about the wounded boys we had left behind. They said they wouldn't take a chance to get them out so I guess it was a good thing I kept coming.

Three full days to get out of that place back to our lines. I had not eaten in four days, after I got out they tried to feed me and I could not eat. All I wanted was water. They took us to the aid station and gave me some first aid. The bullet in my leg was just under the skin. We stayed there till morning, when we got on a train for Pusan. We got into Pusan that night and they cut my bullet out—next day they put us on a ship for Tokyo and was I glad. I still feel for the guys that were left in Taejon. There were a lot of them. They would have been shot and couldn't move, but there wasn't anything we could do for them. Gen. Dean was left in there and never came out. He was at the head of the Company. When we started out of Taejon he was our Div. Commander. I don't know what you hear over there, but this paper over here, "The Stars and Stripes" is far from being right. Far as about the enemy most of it was true. We killed a lot of them. They would come over the hills, one wave after wave. We would cut them down but there were too many of them. They never tell what happens to our men. How many that are killed and wounded. I know there were a lot of them because I was at Reg't Headquarters all the time and that is where they have the Aid station, and I saw them brought in all shot up. When I first got over there and the first brought in, he was a 2nd Lt. shot through the head, it killed him right out—that just about got me. But by that night I was used to it. By the time that fight in Taejon was over, I don't think there were men enough to make a company out of the whole 34th Inf. Reg't. Not too much left out of the 24th Div. Most of the men that were killed were not taken out because we were going back all the time. Well, I'm here in the Tokyo Gen. Hospital, still kicking, but not too good. My leg is still weak and I'm sick to my stomach. I think I drank too much of that dirty water from those rice paddies. I don't think you would know me now. I lost so much weight, nothing but I hardly know myself and I still can't eat too good. I keep telling these people and they will not give me anything. I get so darn mad, they can send me back to Korea any time. I don't give a damn if they send me to Siberia. I wish they would get all these big wheels from all these countries and make them fight their own wars. It may sound a little bad—there should be better days ahead, Guess maybe I shouldn't write home such things as this. I don't think it will hurt to let you know the inside picture of things. Never want to worry about me, they can't get the best of a man from Nebraska. You just don't find men from that state. Most all of them are from New York and Pa.

along the east coast states some place. I do not know when I will get home now. Could have told more, but I'm getting tired. Write soon. Lots of love, Donald

Weds Former Valley County Resident

An impressive double ring candlelight ceremony at the First Methodist church in Escandido, Calif., united in marriage Dorothy Elizabeth Huggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Huggins, and Everett Eugene Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Finch, formerly of North Loup, on Saturday night, Aug. 26. Rev. Clell C. Gray officiated.

The candles were lighted by Ronald Hoover and Bob McCough, on either side of the altar which was banked with white asters, Gladioli, dahlias and magnolia leaves. The soloist, Mrs. Richard Schleigh, sang "At Dawning," "Come To Me My Love" and later as the couple knelt at the altar she also sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride entered on the arm of her father, gowned in frost-white bridal lace, fashioned with a net peckline gathered with a circle of pearls, wrist length sleeves and a bouffant skirt entrain. Her veil was a cloud illusion net, falling from a Juliet cap of lace which matched the gown. She carried a white Bible, topped by an orchid, and satin streamers knotted with pearls and gold leaves. The wedding march and recessional were played by the organist, Josephine Hutchinson. Miss Peggy Jo Huggins was maid of honor, wearing a frosted white organdy over turquoise taffeta. Sandra Huggins, Jeanne Townsend and Mrs. Norman Kettering, bridesmaids, were attired in white frosted organdy over pink, lavender, yellow and aqua.

Edgar Allan Poe was best man, and Arthur Mast, William Updegraff, Jr., Dean Francis and Robert Harroun were ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held for 200 guests in the church hall. The couple left for a wedding trip to Laguna Beach, and Santa Maria.

Both the bride and groom attended the Palomar Business college. Their plans for the future are indefinite as he reported for National Guard service Sept. 1.

Mrs. Myra Barber arrived home Friday night from a six weeks vacation, final destination being the Seventh Day Baptist conference in Salem, N. Va. She also visited her parents in Dodge Center, Minn., and the Dale Halversons in Chicago, and spent some time in Washington, D. C. where she was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Downs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kriewald are staying at the Gebhart Bielke home near Scotia while the Bielkes are in Arkansas.

Mrs. Nellie Leonard is working at the Henry Enger home in Ord. Her son, Lester, who is to attend Kearney college this year, came home Friday evening, and went to Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Babcock and Linda arrived home Thursday from Vermont where they have spent the month of August with Mrs. Babcock's people. Friday they drove to Lincoln after some of their furniture which they had left there. They returned Saturday.

School Opens at North Loup

North Loup schools opened Monday morning with the smallest enrollment in many years. In high school, only 46 enrolled. Monday there were only six freshmen but at least two more are expected. There are sixteen sophomores, fifteen juniors and nine seniors.

A full corps of high school instructors was on hand, with Martin Dunklau as superintendent; Miss Minnie Jensen, math and English; David Alfrey, coach and science teacher; Charles Sanders, vocational agriculture and Richard Babcock music and English.

The small number of pupils does not include the grades, for there are nearly 60 pupils. All eight grades must be instructed by three teachers, Marcia Rood, first and second; Clara Jensen, third, fourth and fifth and Mrs. David Alfrey, sixth, seventh and eighth.

Mrs. Mills Hill is teaching the kindergarten forenoons, and Monday had eight pupils, with prospect for several more.

Miss Jensen has the largest room, 33; while Mrs. Alfrey has 30, and both will have one or two more.

The school house has been redecorated in many of the rooms, the floors all varnished, and many of the desks.

The lunch room and the dining room are both newly painted and have new curtains. Mrs. Bessie Roby and Mrs. Pearl Mulligan have charge of the hot lunch program and started serving Tuesday.

Monday Coach Alfrey had eleven boys out for six man football.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clement have moved up from Lincoln and are living on the Jim McCall farm north of town. He will be instructor for a veterans' class in vocational agriculture.

I will care for children in my home Pop Corn nights. Mrs. Bessie Roby. 23-11c

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Halverson and their two children are expected here this week from Chicago. Mr. Halverson, a member of the U. S. Naval Reserve has been called back in service and Mrs. Halverson and their son and daughter will come here and remain indefinitely with her mother, Mrs. Grace Mayo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ign Pokraka and David accompanied John Berans to Grand Island Sunday afternoon.

Bert Cox, Boyd and Irvin, who are working for the railroad at Pine Bluff, Wyo., came home Friday night and remained over Labor Day.

Mrs. Horace Williams is spending the week with her parents, the Vansodolls, near Greeley, while Horace is at the state fair as a special police.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Van Horn of Loma Linda, Calif., are among those who plan to come to North Loup for PopCorn Days. Mrs. Millie Stacy will accompany them here.

Mrs. Lulu Manchester has bought property at 1311 West 9th street in Grand Island and is moving this week.

A picnic Friday evening at the Harlon Brennick home was attended by Mr. and Mrs. David Alfrey, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hutchins and Debby, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Knapp and family and Dolores Cox.

Roy Stine spent Monday and Tuesday in Omaha for medical treatment.

Rev. F. H. Stevens and Barbara of Taylor were in North Loup Friday morning and Mrs. Max Sims and Ricky went home with them. Barbara is to begin work as a student nurse at Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln this week. Last year she was a student at Wesleyan university in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Appelget spent Sunday and Monday visiting friends in Farwell. Mr. Appelget was a superintendent of schools there several years ago. He is now Valley county superintendent.

Mrs. Dora Jorgensen and Alma spent Sunday in Farwell with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collison and family. Mrs. Dagmar Cushing of Omaha was also there. That evening Mr. and Mrs. Collison brought Mrs. Jorgensen and Alma and Mrs. Cushing to Ord. Mrs. Cushing is spending this week here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barrett of Grand Island were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kroger. Wilma Cochran and Carl Kroeger were Sunday dinner guests at the Kroeger home.

NOTICE OF HEARING TO DETERMINE HEIRSHIP. In the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska. In the Matter of the Estate of Maydellon Wilmoth, also known as Mrs. J. E. Wilmoth, deceased. To all persons interested in said estate, both creditors and heirs, take notice; That Ray C. Wilmoth who has a present interest in the real estate hereinafter described has filed a petition in this Court alleging that Maydellon Wilmoth died intestate on or about December 13, 1942, and being the owner of an interest in and to the NW 1/4 of Sec. 2 and the NW 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of Sec. 1, all in Township 20 North of Range 14 West of the 6th P. M., Valley County, Nebraska. Said petition further alleges that the Deceased left as her sole and only heirs at law James Edgar Wilmoth, her husband and Ray C. Wilmoth, a son. Said petition prays among other things that the allegations of said petition be found true; prays for a determination of the time of the death of the Decedent, a determination of her heirs, the degree of kinship and the right of descent of real property belonging to the Deceased; for a decree barring claims against said estate; that the Deceased died intestate more than two years prior to the filing of said petition; that no application has been made in the State of Nebraska for the appointment of an administrator of said estate and said estate has not been administered in the State of Nebraska; that the heirs at law of the Deceased, as above set forth, be decreed to have succeeded to the ownership of the above described real estate, and for general equitable relief. Said petition has been set for hearing before this Court in the County Court Room in Ord, Nebraska, on September 25, 1950, at 10 o'clock A. M. Dated September 1, 1950. (SEAL) CHAS. New Social Security Law Now Taxes Farm Workers, Business Men

President Truman has signed the new social security bill recently passed by congress. As a result, benefits of employed workers who retire at 65 after paying social security taxes will be increased, and many thousand new workers not previously covered will be added to the system.

Beginning in October persons now drawing social security checks will start getting more each month. Increases vary greatly, depending upon the time worked and wages drawn before retirement, but the average increase will be 77 per cent.

Beginning next January 1 two new classes of workers will be included in the tax and pension provisions of the social security law. One of these is the self-employed—those who make their living by owning and operating small businesses and services, but not including farmers. They will pay their social security taxes when they pay their income taxes. The rate will be 2 1/2 per cent on the first $3600 of net yearly income.

Employees will continue to pay 1 1/2 per cent on wages which is matched by an equal amount contributed by the employer. The new law will bring laborefs, farmhands and maids and other domestic workers under its provisions, and Retired workers receiving pensions are now permitted to earn $14.99 a month without losing their pensions. This amount increases to $50 a month.

Pensions are not paid automatically when a worker retires at 65. The pension must be applied for at the nearest social security office, which, in the case of Valley county, is located at Grand Island.

School Lunch Time Is Here Again

The problem of what to put in children's school lunches is back again. A packed lunch can be an unattractive, and hence unappealing, thing. The way to keep it appetizing is to work out variations on a general plan for packing the lunch.

Every good lunch should include the following:

1. One hot food, such as soup, chili, or cocoa.
2. Bread made with enriched, whole-grain cereal products.
3. A sandwich filling of meat, fish, egg, or cheese.
4. A raw vegetable or fruit salad.
5. A health packed dessert.
6. Some little extra or "surprise" to delight the youngster.

Here's what one such well-rounded lunch could contain: chicken rice soup; special cheese sandwich; potato salad; fresh fruit; and cup cakes.

Here's the recipe for that special cheese spread:

Combine one-half pound of grated American cheese, one cup grated carrots, one-third cup chopped onion, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Season with salt and pepper and add one-third cup mayonnaise. Store in the refrigerator.

School Is Never Out For These Students

All over Nebraska, schools are opening for fall. From kindergarten to college, students are getting back into the study routine.

Nebraska tavern men go to school, too. There is a year-round study of ways to improve their operation in the public interest. Their "text book" is observation of other successful owners.

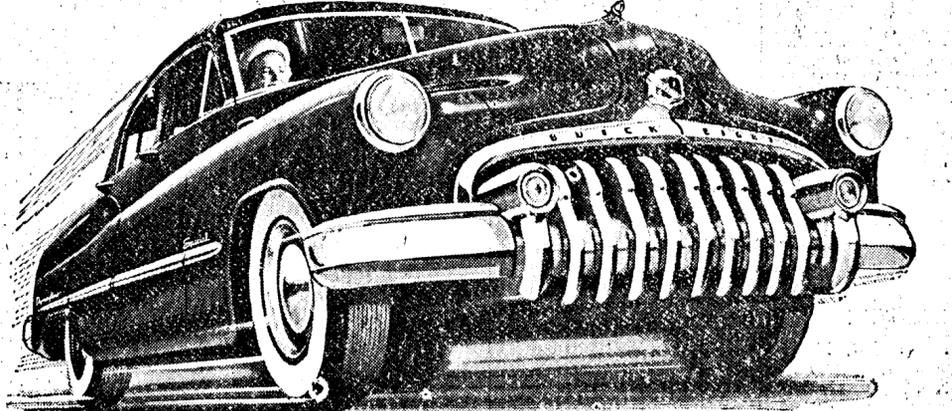

Assistance is given by representatives of the U. S. Brewer's Foundation office in Lincoln.

Retailers are taught to operate their places in a wholesome, lawful manner. They are shown the importance of refusing sales to minors and those who might over-indulge.

This type of schooling has demonstrated its value by producing an even higher level of tavern operation.

Better Buy Buick!

If that car of yours has put its best days behind it, there's no time like right now to think about starting out afresh with a taut, new, up-to-the-minute motorcar with all its mileage still in it.

And there's no better place in the world to start than with the beauty pictured here, for a variety of reasons.

For one thing, this Buick SPECIAL is a quick-stepping Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight that's priced lower than some sixes.

For another, it's built with typical Buick ruggedness through and through—a husky that can take a lot of years without crying "Uncle!"

Then, too—this high-styled beauty is proving to be one of the most economical Buicks ever built—easy on gas, easy on upkeep, easy on you in its soft, floating, light-handling comfort.

It even comes with Dynaflo Drive* if you like—and Dynaflo means that you will never have to service or replace a friction clutch, and that rear-end or transmission servicing—even engine upkeep—is cut to a minimum.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Of course, you can't see all of this in the brief span of a trial drive.

But you can experience the good solid feel of Buick strength beneath you. You can satisfy yourself on the lightness of the controls, the utter smoothness of Dynaflo, the quick surge of Buick's Fireball power.

All such things will tell you that this is a car you'll be glad to live with for a long time to come—and you need only to ask your Buick dealer for a demonstration to see precisely what we mean.

Why not call on him soon to talk about signing up?

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

Cpl. Carl Norman 1st Valley Co. Casualty in Korean Warfare

Ord Man Killed in Action Sept. 1, Father Learns

Cpl. Carl R. Norman

Cpl. Norman Veteran of World War II Also Wounded in Germany

The Korean war came closer to Ord Monday when Frank Norman received telegraphic notification from the U. S. War Department that his son, Cpl. Carl R. Norman, was killed in action in Korea on Sept. 1.

He is the first Valley county casualty of the Korean war.

Cpl. Norman was 34 years old and was a First Aid man attached to the 38th Medical Unit of the 25th Division.

He first enlisted in the regular army in 1930 and had reenlisted three times since. In World War II he served in Europe and was wounded in the big push into Germany.

When the war ended he was stationed at Fort Laughton, Okla., for three years, after which he took two years of schooling in first aid work at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Mr. Norman had just received a letter from his son written August 21 saying that he was in front line service in Korea, that conditions were terrible there because of lack of supplies and manpower to fight the North Korean forces, but that he was well. Rations were so short at the time that all he and other members of his unit had for breakfast on the day he wrote were some canned peaches and a loaf of dry bread.

The war department telegram received by the Normans said only that Cpl. Norman had been killed by rifle fire while in action and that an official letter giving full particulars would follow.

The following letter was received by Frank Norman Tuesday.

2 September 1950 Naktong River Front Mr. Frank Norman, Rural Route 2 Ord, Nebraska Dear Sir:

It is with the deepest sympathy that I write this letter to you about your son, Cpl. Carl Norman.

He was an aid man in my platoon and was attached to the 1st platoon of Able Company. Cpl. Norman was one of best soldiers and was in charge of

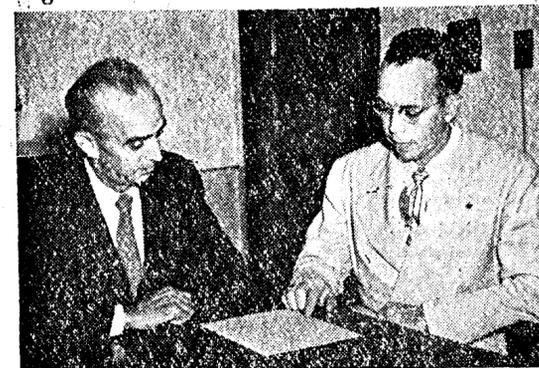

Corn Crop Hangs On as Frost Delays

Although light frosts were reported in several parts of the state this week, no killing freeze has cut down the corn crop yet. And farmers were still keeping their fingers crossed, hoping that the weather would stay moderate for a few more weeks.

Weather Report table with columns for Date, High, Low, Precip.

If the corn crop does mature, it may equal the record-breaking yield of 1948, when a state wide average of 34 bushels was recorded.

Ground Is Broken at New Location for Church Building

Bethany Lutheran Congregation Will Move Structure.

Simple ground-breaking ceremonies Friday morning marked the beginning of excavation work at the new site of Bethany Lutheran church of Ord, of which the Rev. C. Jeppesen is pastor. The present location of the church is at the northwest edge of the city.

The congregation will move a church building from near Wolbach to the new site, which is at the corner of 19th and K streets, across the street from the high school.

The church building is 24 feet by 40 feet in size. Plans call for the addition of 12 feet for the chancel and a nine by nine-foot addition for the front entrance.

Cost of the project will be about $8,000, according to Thomas Rasmussen, head of the finance committee. The building fund of the church now stands at $4,000 and a drive is in progress to raise the rest of it.

The lot on which the building will stand measures 62 1/2 by 117 feet. It was purchased by the congregation in the fall of 1945 from Mrs. R. C. Bailey.

A building fund committee was appointed and the fund was begun in 1946. Members of the original committee were Wm. Adamek, Thomas Rasmussen, John Lee, and Roland Rhodes. On the committee now are Nels Jensen, Thomas Rasmussen, Jim Aagaard, and Neil Doumen.

VFW-Legion Trap Shoot Scheduled for Sept. 24

A blue rock shoot, first to be held with new automatic equipment recently purchased, will be held at the Ord fair grounds Sunday afternoon Sept. 24. The shoot will be staged by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

The two posts had purchased the new equipment several months ago, and hoped to install it permanently at a site southeast of the hangars at the Ord airport. The selected site is now in corn, and the veterans, rather than pay for the several acres of corn which would be destroyed in building a trap house and shooting grounds, will make a temporary installation at the fair grounds.

Pop Corn Days Begin at N. Loup

That it takes more than cloudy skies and chilly temperatures to dampen the Pop Corn spirit, was evident Tuesday evening as festivities for the 49th annual Pop Corn night and Wednesday morning. The aroma of freshly popped corn filled the air Tuesday night, as men on the committee worked to fill the giant hoppers for free distribution Wednesday. All day exhibits were brought in and put up, in all departments, the Thomas carnival company set up their rides and former residents began arriving for their annual home coming. A feature that has been coming for many years is membership ribbons, in bright colors, with "MEMBER, POPCORN DAYS" printed on them and worn by nearly everyone. These badges are sold this year as a financial measure, since the usual prizes for membership are not in accordance with Nebraska gambling regulations and everyone seems willing to wear one at $1.00 each.

With the six man football game Tuesday evening first event of the celebration and first game of the season for Coach Alfrey's boys, a capacity crowd was out to watch the game, which North Loup lost. The Catholic ladies have a eating stand, near the community building, and the Dr. Grace mission society of the Seventh Day Baptist church are serving hot lunches in the Legion building.

Every window on main street displays the yellow and green pop corn colors. Chief event of Wednesday was the horse show and the juvenile parade, with the unrevealed Pop Corn Queen to be crowned in the evening, before the dance.

If the weather isn't too bad, the 49th annual Pop Corn celebration promises to be bigger and better than ever.

Chants in Trim to Face Holdrege Friday Evening

Squad Works Out Under Lights; Is Improving Fast

The Ord Chanticleers are polishing plays and drilling on fundamentals as they prepare to invade Holdrege, Friday evening, for the first football game of the 1950 season. Coach Rolly Moore's squad has shown rapid improvement during the last two weeks and will give the Dusters a real test.

These scrimmages have been held under the lights at the Ord athletic field. The fast backfield has shown some excellent ball handling which will if they can carry the ability into actual play.

The two teams, Ord and Holdrege, will be about evenly matched as far as experience goes. The Dusters have ten letters returning while the Chants have nine. One of the Ord veterans is Frank Adamek, a star line performer who is hampered by a bad knee. On Adamek's knee depends a good share of the team's success this year.

Announced Lineups. Although several changes may be made, Jess Keifer, Holdrege coach, says that the following lineup probably will be used:

Lineup table with columns for Pos., Name, Weight.

Moore, in announcing the Chants' tentative lineup, said, "You can see we don't have a lot of weight. We'll have to try to win on spirit and condition." The Ord team averages just over 150 pounds.

The Ord squad is as follows:

Bus Schedule Cut

A recent revised bus schedule by P.C.T. stages cuts Taylor bus service from a daily to twice-a-week basis. The bus, which formerly made a daily trip from Taylor to Grand Island and return, will now leave Taylor on Mondays and Fridays, with no evening return trip. Service still remains

Elyria Woman Dies of Burns Suffered in Fire, Sunday

Mrs. F. Konkolewski Was Invalid; Fire Found by Husband.

Mrs. Frank Konkolewski, 61, of Elyria, died Sunday as a result of burns suffered at her home about 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Mrs. Konkolewski was an invalid. Her husband returned from church Sunday morning and found the mattress on his wife's bed in flames. She was alone in the house. Her husband was burned slightly in trying to rescue her.

The Ord fire department was called and soon had the fire under control. Damage was not extensive. Mrs. Konkolewski was taken to the Ord hospital by ambulance, but her injuries were of such a nature that she died later that day. Cause of the fire had not been determined.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 9:00 a. m. from St. Mary's church in Elyria, with Fr. Leonard Ziolkowski officiating. Pall bearers were Adam Zeberit, Frank Micek, Edwin Micek, Norbert Zukoski, Steve Caroski, and Floyd Konkolewski.

Surviving are her husband, a son, Lloyd, three daughters, Mrs. Pauline Machacek, North Redwood, Minn.; Mrs. Josephine Kaminski, Loup City, and Mrs. Madalan Martenson, Buhl, Idaho, and 14 grandchildren. Also surviving are seven sisters and four brothers.

Red Wings to Play Ord Mustangs Here Sunday Afternoon

Exhibition Scheduled as 'Appreciation Day' for Local Players.

An exhibition baseball game between the Loup City Red Wings, playoff champions of the Mid-Nebraska Night league, and the Ord Mustangs will be played on the Ord athletic field at 3:00 Sunday afternoon, Sept. 17.

The game is being advertised as an "Appreciation Day" game for the benefit of local baseball players who played throughout the season, without compensation. Funds, after expenses, will be divided among these local players.

The Ord Mustangs will field a good team including Dugan, Huckfelt and all others who have played regularly this year and fans may be sure of seeing a good game as well as helping a good cause by attending.

This may be the final baseball game in Ord this year, though the management hopes to secure one of the good traveling clubs—possibly Bobby Feller's All-Stars—to play an all-star Mid-Nebraska Night league team later this month, probably in a Sunday afternoon game.

Council, Park Board Members, Discuss Park, Pool Finances in Monday Session

Mayor F. L. Blessing presided Monday evening at a joint meeting of the city council and city park board, specially called to discuss finance and other problems of the park and particularly of the swimming pool.

Councilman Gus Schoenstern pointed out that the park fur is $1,700 "in the red" and asked for an explanation of expenditures. Henry Benda, park board chairman, explained that the municipal swimming pool operated at a considerable loss this season because of the cold, wet weather which prevailed through June, July and part of August, and that part of the deficit came about from this cause.

Most of it, however, resulted from capital expenditures made in planting shrubbery and lawns at the pool, putting in new sidewalks there and new concrete steps with steel railings at the athletic field, in doing necessary grading of funds over a period of years. Moreover, he stated the park fund so far has received from the county treasurer only $2,500 from taxes this year, with approximately $2,000 still to come in. Since the season of high expense for park maintenance is over, the fund will look much better by end of the year, he stated.

Three men were kept busy in the park this summer instead of the usual two, said Benda, the extra help being needed partly because of work on the pool grounds, an partly because of the big baseball program carried on at the athletic field, which required extra maintenance work. Five and at times six teams were playing games on the baseball field, the age groups ranging from pre-middle boys up to the Ord Mustangs. An estimated 200 boys and men took part in baseball in Ord this summer. Money due from the Ord

Kansas-Nebraska Personnel in Ord

Second Group Being Readied for Draft Tests

Over Half of First Group Pass Physical Exams.

Valley county's first contingent of men who went to Omaha for pre-induction physical examinations were just a little less healthy than the average group, apparently. Of the 16 men who took the tests, nine passed, or 56 per cent. The statewide average is 59 per cent.

Another group will leave from Ord on September 27.

Although no induction notices have been sent out in Valley county, it appeared that a call soon would be received. The state quota has been upped to 530 men for the November call, compared with 433 for September and October.

Selective Service is digging deeper into the manpower reserve with a bite of 70,000 slated for November across the nation. The quota for September and October was only 60,000.

By the end of November, a total of 170,000 men will have been called up since the outbreak of the Korean war. Lt. Col. Francis Drath, state selective service manpower chief, said about 1,200 of this number will be from Nebraska.

Turn-on Ceremonies Slated for Friday

Natural Gas Is Here; Mayor Will Light Huge Torch

The lighting of a torch in front of the office of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. in Ord, Friday evening, will mark the arrival of natural gas here.

The huge flare will be touched off by Mayor F. L. Blessing in the presence of city officials, civic leaders, officers of the gas company, and the public at 8:00 o'clock. The ceremonies will signal the completion of pipeline construction between Loup City and Ord and of the piping of the city proper. Work has been underway for the past three months on the project.

Expected here for the ceremonies are S. D. Whiteman, president of the company; L. E. Nelson, vice-president and general manager; H. H. Holton, general superintendent; A. W. Peel, personnel manager; Ralph Shirley, main line superintendent and Frank Soldan, sales manager, all of Hastings.

"Bud" Wilson is the local service manager of the company and L. R. Squier, Broken Bow, is superintendent of the northern district of the gas company.

An informal dinner and get-together with gas company officials has been arranged by the Ord chamber of commerce. It will be held at 6:00 p. m. at the Veterans club. Reservations should be made at the club Thursday.

Two Valley County Girls Win in 4-H Contests at Fair

Receive Purple Ribbons on Clothes Demonstration.

Two members of the Clever Homemakers 4-H club of Elyria, Adeline Dubas and Lillian Lech, won purple ribbons at the State Fair with their clothing demonstration on "How To Put a Zipper In a Skirt." This team also won high place at the county contest.

Other demonstration winners at the State Fair were Jeannette Kokes, a blue ribbon on her individual demonstration on "Cutting and Fitting a Pattern," Leanne Kerchal and Mary Joyce Ulrich won a white ribbon on their team foods demonstration, "White Sauce in Soups and Main Dishes."

Ribbons were won by the following girls on articles sent to the 4-H club exhibit: In the dress revue, Leanne Nelson and Geraldine Lange won a blue and white ribbon respectively. Jeannette Kokes won a red ribbon, Ellen Grael, white and Carol Lange, white in the Work and Play Clothes group.

Vonna Nelson received a white ribbon on her 4-H outfit. In the Learning to Sew group, Lorna Welniak won a red ribbon on her kitchen apron. Rose Marie Sevenger and Betty Sevenger won a blue ribbon and Rita Sevenger won a white ribbon on lunch clothes in the Learning to be a Homemaker group.

In the Hops and Whys cooking club Leanne Kerchal won red ribbons on a frozen meal, five cans of vegetables, whole wheat and white bread.

Mrs. Kerchal, Mrs. Joe Ulrich, Mrs. E. E. Kapuska and Miss Katherine Helzer accompanied the girls to Live in.

Former North Loup Resident Dies

Ray G. Thorngate, a former resident of North Loup, passed away Sunday, Sept. 10, at Milton, Wis., where he had been living for 25 years.

Born in Brookfield, Mo., in Dec. 1866, to Mr. and Mrs. George Thorngate, he came to North Loup with his parents in 1874, where he was one of the group of early Seventh Day Baptist settlers.

Married in 1891, to Flora David, two sons and four daughters were born to them. Walter of North Loup, Arthur of Long Beach, Calif., Arlie, who died in 1919, Mrs. Melva Maxson of Milton, Wis., Miss Aletha of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Alice, on the faculty of the State University at Madison, Wis. His wife passed away in 1925, and since that time he had spent his time with his daughters in Wisconsin. A great deal of time had been spent in the halls at the state legislature in Madison, where he was familiarly known as "Pop."

When the new Seventh Day Baptist church was built in North Loup in 1915, Mr. Thorngate took a great deal of interest in fixing the room at the top of the tower for a historical room, and through his efforts, memorial windows with names of pioneers were placed there, with articles of interest from pioneer days.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at Milton, Wis., with burial there.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. John Ingraham and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craft spent Thursday and Friday in Lincoln at the state fair. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Pawleska stayed at the Craft home while they were away.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Larkin drove to Dannebrog Sunday to take Roger and Kenna Day home. They had spent the week with their grandparents while their own home was being re-decorated.

Ed Manchester, who has been in the hospital in Grand Island is improved and expected to return home Tuesday.

Rev. Orville W. Babcock of White Cloud, Mich., and Mrs. Paul Van Horn of Beloit, Wis., arrived Tuesday, called here by the death of their father, R. O. Babcock.

Richard Green of Miles City, Mont., arrived in Grand Island early Wednesday morning and is a guest of his mother, Mrs. Carrie Green.

Mrs. Alice Van Horn of Marshalltown, Ia., was a Tuesday supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mulligan.

A guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Willoughby from Thursday till Monday was Mrs. Willoughby's brother, George Yost of Portland, Ore. On Sunday the Roy Stine family and Mrs. Cecile Coleman, Janet and Jill were also guests.

North Loup Pioneer Dies at His Home Tuesday Morning

R. O. Babcock Was Lifelong Resident of Community.

R. O. Babcock, resident all his life of this community, passed away early Tuesday morning Sept. 11, at his home in North Loup following many weeks of failing health.

Born, July 28, 1875, to N. Wilson and Louisa Davis Babcock, who were of the pioneer group of Seventh Day Baptist who settled in North Loup in 1873, and reared in that faith, he was a loyal Christian, and faithful to his church which he served as deacon.

Married Nov. 21, 1900, to Estella Green, six children were born to them, two of whom died in infancy. His wife passed away in 1931, and on June 6, 1931, he was married to Leona Sayre, who had been a devoted companion and cared for him during his failing health. All of Mr. Babcock's life was spent on the farm where he was born, just over the Greeley county line, till 1940, when they brought the Manchester home in North Loup near the Seventh Day Baptist church, which has since been their home.

Serving on the school board in the home district in Greeley county, when the district was consolidated with the Scotia schools, he became a member of the Scotia school board, and served there till he moved from the district.

Honest and upright in all his dealings, he was a friend to everyone who knew him.

Surviving beside his widow are two daughters, Mrs. Irma Keown, of Scotia, Mrs. Ruby Van Horn of Beloit, Wis., two sons, Rev. Orville W. Babcock of White Cloud, Mich., and Richard O. Babcock of the North Loup school faculty, 8 grandsons and 3 great-grandchildren.

School to Hold Essay Competition

Friday, Sept. 15, has been set aside by the Nebraska Council on Children and Youths as Nebraska Youth Day.

On that day, the youth in Nebraska will have the opportunity in their classrooms, to write what they think of their community and their responsibility to it as young citizens.

They are being asked to answer three questions: What they like best in their community; what they owe their community; and what they wish their community might provide them if it were possible. The best essays from each of the 43 legislative districts will be forwarded to the State Superintendent's office.

In an effort to make the project more interesting and more meaningful in the North Loup schools, the five best essays will be selected from among the high school group and from among the junior high group.

Donna Manchester returned to her work at the University hospital in Omaha Tuesday evening after spending several days at home. Mrs. Agnes Manchester was also home from her school at Wood River over the week end.

Mrs. Bertha Barber of Kearney came Monday evening and is a house guest of Miss Marcia Rood. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mulligan and their daughter, Mrs. Horace Chambers of Dix, Nebr. arrived Sunday and are guests of Mrs. Rony Jeffries.

Twenty-one students from the Ag Dept. with Mr. Sanders visited the state fair in Lincoln on Thursday, Sept. 7.

Obituary

Hugo Ernest Malotte
Hugo Ernest Malotte was born in Valley county on Febr. 21, 1897, the son of Albert and Martha Malotte, and passed away Sept. 3, 1950.

Mr. Malotte had been ill for quite some time and about the first of June his condition became critical. He was then moved from the Ord-Co-operative hospital to the St. Elizabeth hospital in Lincoln and later to the St. Francis hospital in Grand Island.

On April 26, 1922 he was married to Miss Ella Klein at Scotia. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the Zion Lutheran church in Scotia with Rev. A. H. Wagner officiating. Interment was in the Scotia cemetery. Brief rites were held at the home in Mira Valley at 2. Hastings-Pearson mortuary was in charge of the arrangements.

Palbearers were Willard Bremner, Roy Bremner, Leo Klein, Harold Johnson, Walter Fuss and Elmer Brethauer.

Survivors are his wife, four brothers and four sisters, Paul Arthur, Meta and Mrs. Frieda Hornickel of Ord, Olga and Erna of San Bernardino, Calif., Gerhard of Chicago and Arnold of North Loup. He was preceded in death

Spurt of Real Estate Activity Starts in Ord

Eleven Lots in New City View Addition Sold, Auble Reports.

A spurt of real estate activity in and around Ord was noted the past week with several residences and farms changing hands. Prices were generally firm, with no apparent decline from the peak of two years ago.

Two improved dryland quarter sections owned by Emil Smolik were sold through the E. R. Lafaita agency. Chas. Vancura gave $11,000 for one farm and George Krajnik $11,000 for the other.

In Ord, Quinn Scott purchased the house owned by Olivia Satterfield, which has been occupied by the Duane Armstrong family. Consideration was $7,000. Mr. Scott is manager of the local J. C. Penney store.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong have purchased a new house from Chas. Kriewald in City View Addition. The Armstrongs purchased the west house of the two Kriewald is completing and will take possession about October 1st. Consideration was $8,500.

The Keith Lewis home and apartment house was sold through the Lafaita agency to L. A. Muncy, for $11,500. The Muncys will move from their home just south of the hospital about November 1st, and will occupy one of the apartments, renting the others. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Daily will move to the Muncy property from the house they now occupy in east Ord.

Glen Auble, owner of City View Addition, reported to the Quiz this week that 11 of the 21 lots in the first section of the addition have been sold. In addition, he said that four others had been spoken for, leaving seven unsold. Four houses have been built in the addition, and local contractors plan to add others this winter.

Slate for Training Meetings Is Set

Miss Katherine Helzer, county home extension agent, has announced a schedule for training meetings on "Kitchen Utensils."

The first meeting will be held in the basement of the Christian church in Ord on Friday, Sept. 15, at 10 a. m. The North Loup meeting is slated for Tuesday, Sept. 19, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Merlyn Van Horn. The last meeting of the series will be at Arcadia on Wednesday, Sept. 20. It also will be at 10 a. m.

As the meetings will last until about 3 p. m., a covered dish luncheon will be served. In addition to a covered dish, each leader is to bring her own dishes, silver, bread and butter.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zlomke drove to Grand Island Saturday morning to meet their son, Wayne, who has been working in Bovill, Ida., with the bureau of entomology this summer. Monday they took him to Lincoln to begin his junior year at Wesleyan.

Citrus Sodas Good Afternoon Snacks

Rather than eliminate cool after-school refreshment from the youngsters' schedule, be sure they get something good for them—such as nutritious sodas made from canned citrus products. The small fry shown here are mixing their own thirst quenchers, which hit a high spot on the Vitamin C score. Canned citrus juices are good mixers with ice cream, sparkling water, and come in a variety of delicious flavors—orange, grapefruit, tangerine, and blended orange and grapefruit.

Water for Pigs

A supply of clean water at all times is important in producing hogs successfully. Pigs make faster and more economical gains when they have plenty of water.

Capt. Cook's Voyage

Captain Cook, when he set sail in 1769 on his famous trip to the South Seas, laid great stress on cleanliness aboard his ship and among his crew. This was the reason, he said, that he was able to return three years later with an enviable record of having lost only one man from disease.

Ohio's Minerals

While Ohio has none of the glamorous minerals—such as gold, silver and the like—it does have the minerals that might be called the "work horses of industry." The value of these minerals produced in Ohio is more than that of all the gold, silver and precious stones produced in the United States for a like period.

Ways to Finish Birch

Birch is a close-grained wood that does not require a paste filler. It can best be given a mahogany or walnut color with a penetrating stain. While it is often given a natural finish with a gloss or dull varnish, a lacquer or a wax, it supplies an excellent base for enamel and may also be bleached.

George Blackwell Dies; Was Visiting Daughter in Ord

George Blackwell was born January 12, 1882, in Coryell County, Tex., and passed away September 10, 1950, at the Ord Co-operative hospital. He was a retired farmer and was making his home in San Angelo, Tex. For the past four weeks he and his wife had been visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Daily.

Survivors are his wife, eight daughters, Mrs. Daily of Ord, Mrs. Marvin Bishop and Mrs. Carl Green of Wingate, Tex., Mrs. Ray Brown and Mrs. A. N. Cason of San Angelo, Tex., Mrs. Ben Lloyd of Winters, Tex., Mrs. A. C. Bishop of Sweetwater, Tex., and Mrs. W. L. Cone of Pella, Tex., also two sons Bill of Winters, Tex., and Goodwin of Houston, Tex. Nineteen grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive him.

The body was taken overland to Winters, Tex., where funeral services will be held.

Lowest Rail Point

The lowest point reached by a railroad in this country is at milepost 633.4, near Salton, California, where the Southern Pacific railroad, in crossing the Salton "sink" and the Imperial valley, reaches a depth of 199.2 feet below sea level.

Kansas-Nebraska Gas Co. Began on 'Shoestring'

Assets in 1936 Amounted to Only $271,000.

Turning on of the natural gas to service to the homes, business establishments and industries in Ord marks another step in the continuing progress and growth of Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company since its organization nearly 15 years ago.

Each year, since Louis E. Fischer, now chairman of the board, and his associates purchased the properties of Kansas Pipe Line & Gas Company in 1936, the company has extended its main lines and built distribution systems to serve more communities in North-western Kansas and the Platte Valley of Nebraska. There are now 66,000 customers in 137 communities and more than 1,400 farms in the two states enjoying the benefits of natural gas.

Built Pipelines First.

After purchase of the Kansas Pipe Line & Gas Lines in 1936, the company's first project was to build pipelines from the Otis gas field in Kansas north to Elm Creek, Nebr. and west to Ogallala, and from the Kansas state line to Holdrege. Compressor stations also were built at Stockton, Kans. and Elm Creek. The first towns served were Plainville, Stockton, Phillipsburg, Norton, Almena and Logan in Kansas and Nebraska towns from Alma east to Red Cloud and west to Holbrook.

Original valuation of the company's assets when it took over the Kansas Pipelines & Gas properties was $271,000. Completion of the new lines during its first year brought its valuation to a total of $1,970,000. It then had 950 retail meters and 5,100 wholesale meters on its lines.

Indicative of the company's constant growth in the past fourteen years are the figures from its annual report of December 31, 1949 showing assets of nearly 23 million dollars. To this will be added approximately $1,300,000, net value less depreciation, of line extensions and improvements made this year entailing an expenditure of about $1,600,000. This includes its line extensions and distribution systems to serve Ravenna, Ord, Pleasanton, Arcadia and Burwell.

In addition to providing clean, dependable, low cost natural gas to homes, schools, business establishments and state institutions in this rich agricultural empire, Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas makes a real contribution to the agricultural and industrial development of the territory it serves. It has been the company's policy since its organization to cooperate with the people of each community in such projects. Since agriculture is the basic industry of the two states, special effort is given to promoting farm prosperity and to the development of industries making use of raw materials from the farms.

Helps Irrigation.

The company's 2,300 miles of transmission lines from more than 175 gas wells in the Hugoton, Unruh and Otis, Kansas gas fields are tapped along the way to provide gas fuel for irrigation pumps that bring water to assure greater yields and insure against crop losses during drought periods. The company offers this gas for irrigation at a special rate.

When a line runs by or through a farm, the farmer can get natural gas service by paying only the cost of the service line from the main. The low rate for the operation of gas pumps to lift water for irrigation hardly makes this business profitable for the company for the gas load is not great and the cost of hooking onto the mains and maintaining the service is high.

"But if we can give the farmers this insurance for raising their crops, the towns in the vicinity that we serve also will prosper," said Sam D. Whiteman, president of the company. "As they benefit, we will get our share from the increased use of natural gas in the homes, business and industries of these communities."

Pioneer Alfalfa Mill.

In 1937, when the company was less than a year old, Mr. Fischer, then president of the company, built one of the first alfalfa dehydrating plants at Elm Creek as a pilot plant for the development of this industry. It now supplies natural gas to 40 such plants in the Platte Valley and Kansas for the efficient, economical processing of millions of tons of dehydrated alfalfa meal, valued at about 10 million dollars annually.

Beet sugar factories, oil refineries, meat packing plants, creameries and many other industries profit from the use of dependable, easily-controlled natural gas heat. Electricity for many urban and rural systems is generated by natural gas fuel from its lines. The company supplied more than 23 billion cubic feet of gas last year. This total will be increased in 1950 with the extension of its service to more communities and the constantly increasing demand from its domestic, commercial and industrial customers for heating and air conditioning.

Among the larger power plants supplied by the company are the municipal plants at Hastings and Grand Island and Riverside plant of Consumers Public Power District near Grand Island. The American Crystal Sugar Company plant at Grand Island and the Cooperative Oil Refinery, Phillipsburg, Kans. are among many large industrial customers.

Taps Large Field.

Drawing most of its gas supply from the Hugoton field, the world's largest known reserve of sweet gas, the company owns and has contracted a supply sufficient to meet its present requirements and normal growth for more than 25 years. With a total demand of 142,500 MCF for its system, the wells it had connected in this field on January 1 this year have a total daily deliverability of 213,640 MCF established by the Kansas Conservation Division. From the Ryan-Unruh area in central Kansas, the company also takes 10,000 to 20,000 MCF daily from 53 wells connected to its lines.

The large compressor station at Holdrege, one of twelve at strategic points on the pipeline system, forces gas through the pipelines under 800 pounds of pressure to assure an efficient and ample supply at required pressures through the customers' meters.

The company's main pipeline was moved this year from Elm Creek to Holdrege. In this plant, pipe for main lines, laterals and distribution systems is cleaned by grit-blasting in machines, then enamel coated and wrapped to protect it from rust and corrosion. The most modern machinery was installed at this greatly enlarged pipeyard to handle this work.

Repairs and testing meters also is done in a meter shop established at Holdrege last year. All new meters, tested and approved before leaving the factory, are rechecked and double-checked for accuracy exceeding that of a fine watch. Customer meters also are periodically removed for testing and re-adjustment to a similar accuracy.

To operate its network of main lines, compressor stations, town border stations, and the distribution systems in towns served at retail, the company has 435 regular employees and upwards of 50 part time employees. The 1949 operating payroll exceeded $900,000. To this must be added construction costs of new pipelines, compressor stations and other equipment, much of which is done under contract.

Taxes Total Million.

Taxes paid by the company to federal, state and local government subdivisions totalled nearly a million dollars last year. With a total operating revenue of $6,485,231 in 1949, the company's net income after payment of all expenses and taxes was $1,164,410. Dividend payments on 614,063 shares of common stock at the rate of $1 per share, and on 33,400 shares of preferred stock at the rate of $5 per share, totalled $766,763.

Mr. Fischer, founder and president of the company until 1943 when he became chairman of the board, had a record of more than thirty years of outstanding service in engineering and the electric utility and public transportation fields before he entered the natural gas industry as executive vice president of Northern Natural Gas Company in 1930 and directed building its line from the Texas fields to St. Paul, Minn. He was president of Northern Natural when he resigned to organize the Kansas-Nebraska Company.

Sam D. Whiteman, who became president in 1943, has a background of 37 years experience in the gas industry. He was vice president and general manager of the Sioux Falls, S. D. Gas Company before joining Kansas-Nebraska as general manager in 1941. In 1943, when Mr. Fischer became board chairman, he was named president.

Leo E. Nelson, vice president and general manager, joined the company as general auditor in 1937. He was promoted to the vice presidency in 1946.

Other key personnel at administration headquarters in Hastings include Thomas Creigh, jr., chief engineer; Frank Soldan, sales manager; Howard Hollon, general superintendent of transmission; Harold Stauffer, superintendent of measurement; A. W. Peel, personnel director; Lew M. Little, assistant secretary; James L. Young, purchasing agent; Leonard C. Hill, cathodic engineer; Ralph Shirley, Nebraska transmission superintendent; A. J. Sigel, radio engineer and safety director; Leonard Condit, chief pilot.

Other officers of the company include G. S. Flagg, treasurer and Frank Flagg, comptroller, both of Chicago, and Fred Stefens, secretary and assistant comptroller, in charge of the accounting offices at Phillipsburg, Kans.

The Driver Walked Away

"Buzz" Gebhardt of Scotia fell asleep at the wheel of his pick-up truck about 2:00 a.m. Wednesday, with the results shown. The truck wedged itself between two trees, not quite three feet apart. Gebhardt crawled out through a window and x-rays showed he had no major injuries—just some scratches and bruises plus some chipped teeth.

Omaha Biggest Market Monday; Westerns Abound

Livestock supply Monday at Omaha crowned the 10,000-mark for top rank among the major markets, and Western cattle and calves totalled some 15,000, a new high this season. Stocker and feeder trade was not the firebrand of the previous Monday, but fairly active and mostly steady, scattered sales of feeder steers unevenly 50c lower to 50c up. In on the full advance were 1504-pound South Dakota feeder steers at $28.00, and Wyoming yearling feeder steers weighing 718 at $32.25, both of those marks new season's highs. Bulk of the replacement cattle run cleared at $27.00-$30.00, better yearling stock steers $31.00-$32.50. Top on stock heifers was a record-equaling $29.00. Steer and heifer calves sold at $30.00-$34.00, one drove of steer calves $36.00.

Westerns also dominated an 8,000 sheep run, likewise biggest so far this fall. Fat lambs sold at 75c higher, at $28.50 to $29.00, the $29.00 figure, paid for three loads of Wyoming, highest for September in Omaha market history. Slaughter ewes sold steady at 112. to $13.75, the top equaling the September record set last week. Replacement sheep and lambs sold 50c or more higher. Three loads 71-pound Wyoming feeder lambs scored an all-time high of $29.50. Medium to just-gone short-term breeding ewes bulked at $15.00-$16.00 cwt., with a deck of 120-pounders $23.00 per head.

Meanwhile, fat cattle sold steady, bulk $28.00-$31.00, steer top $32.25. Plain shortfeds brought $24.00-$26.00. Cows also sold steady, bulk $16.50-$21.00, top beef cows to around $22.00. Bologna bulls sold to $24.00, Westerns to $22.75. Vealer top held at $31.00. Hogs sold 25-50c lower, 150 to 360 pound butchers $20.50-$23.50. Sows were weak to 50c off, 270 to 550 pounders $18.75-$22.00. Stags brought $15.00-$17.00.

Recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area included these: Arcadia Community Club, 8 steers, wt. 1015, $31.00; 3, wt. 933, $30; 3, wt. 793, $29.50. Valley County, Rudolph Plate, 18 sows, wt. 333, $21.00.

Approval of the appointment of General George Marshall as Secretary of Defense was given wholehearted approval by members of the Ord American Legion in their regular meeting Tuesday evening. The post voted to send a telegram to President Truman voicing their sentiments.

PRICE Is Secondary

With us, price is secondary. The first thing we think about is the quality of the product which reaches you.

Never have we made any concession in quality—and we don't intend to start doing so now.

Our reputation is based on the fine, delicate flavor of our sausages and bolognas, the tenderness of our fresh meats. And we're working hard to maintain that reputation.

Still, our top quality meats cost you no more. For instance, our hamburger, ground fresh every day, costs you only 50c a pound. That's a value that can't be beat!

Mrs. Biskeborn, Former Scotia Resident, Is Dead

Bedfast Since 1947, Pioneer Lady Was Nearly 93.

Mrs. Amelia Biskeborn, daughter of August and Hannah Eitelgeorge died Sept. 8, 1950, in Rockwell, City, Ia., at the age of 92 years, 11 months and 13 days.

Mrs. Biskeborn was born Sept. 26, 1857, in Aurora, Ill., the eldest of six children, all preceding her in death. On Dec. 3, 1874, she was married to Chas. Biskeborn. After a year in Aurora, the young couple moved to a farm near Schaller, Ia., where they lived for eight years, then moved with their family to Greeley county, Nebr. Later they moved to their own farm in Lamertine, where they made their home for nearly fifty years, celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary in 1924. At that time all their nine children were together with them for the occasion, that being the last time the family were all together.

After the death of her husband on Feb. 28, 1927, she and her daughter, Lillie moved to Scotia, living there until six years ago when due to failing health she went to make her home with her daughter, Celia near Lohrville, Ia.

On Oct. 16, 1947, she had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. She was taken to the Mercy hospital in Ft. Dodge, where she was given every help and care. Several young ministers made their home with the Biskeborns during the pioneer days of the M. E. Church, as their home was always open to both resident and visiting ministers.

Preceding her in death, besides her husband were two sons, Charles of Scotia, in 1941, and Henry of Bremerton, Wash., in 1950.

Surviving her are four sons: William of Chamberlain, S. D., George of Pukwana, S. D., Ed of Scotia, Elmer of Ft. Dodge, Ia.; three daughters: Mrs. Bertha Miller of Scotia; Mrs. Celia Lauer of Lohrville, Ia.; Mrs. Lillie Wels of Estancia, New Mexico. Also 24 grandchildren, 37 great-grandchildren and a host of friends. Also three half sisters: Mrs. Hilda Simpson, Mrs. Hattie Heun, both of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Lilla Keess.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Wm. George of Meadow Grove officiating, assisted by Rev. Carl Harbour. Pallbearers were Con Hermesmyer, Art Schilling, Irvin Hermesmyer, Lou Schilling, Ben Sautter and Irving Shoemaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Shoemaker sang, accompanied by Miss Mary Moody at the piano. Funeral arrangements were handled by the Ashley Mortuary, interment was in the Mount Hope cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Klein and Wm. Klein of Payette, Ida., arrived in Scotia Saturday and are visiting their many friends and relatives. A Klein reunion was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Art Klein in their honor. Those attending were Mrs. Louise Byers of Omaha; Herbert Klein and August Langenheyder families of Grand Island; Mrs. Everett Hornickie and Mrs. Ella Malotte of North Loup; Elmer Bredthauer family of Mira Valley; John Stanger's, Mrs. Freda Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Klein and family, Mrs. Ottilie Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bredthauer, and Mrs. Lou Bremer and Willard of Scotia; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hornickie were morning visitors on their way to Wood River to spend the day with her people. Wm. Winters and Mrs. John Maddox were evening callers. The Kleins will leave Thursday for Omaha and from there to parts of the Dakotas before returning to their home. Mrs. Klein was not able to make the trip at this time.

Evan Smith, sr. of Shelton was a Friday visitor in Scotia. Mr. and Mrs. Evan Smith, jr. and family returned to Shelton with him for a few days visit.

Sgt. and Mrs. Louis Conwell and family of Wichita Falls, Tex., arrived in Scotia Saturday night for a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coufal and family. They have been visiting his brother, Kenneth and family at Dubois, Wyo., prior to coming here. Sgt. Conwell has a thirty day leave from his army duties and will leave here the last of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Willis Beck were Sunday visitors in the Coufal home.

Eileen Gorman who has been visiting the Otto Gebhardt family, returned to her home in Grand Island the first part of the week.

Loup Valley Ministerial Association Meets

A dozen ministers from the Loup Valley area, and some of their wives, are pictured as they met for the first meeting of the year at the Ord Methodist church. A noon luncheon was held in the basement of the church.

Blanche Coufal is at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coufal. She has been employed at Grand Island, but will take a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob White and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burdick and son, of Denver were Sunday visitors at the Howard Anderson home. Mrs. White was the former Grace Burdick and Mrs. Burdick is the former Alice Tatlow of Cotesfield. The party will visit friends until after Pop Corn Days.

George Mueller and son Roger went to Surprise, Sunday, to attend the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Armstrong.

George Yost was a Scotia visitor Saturday. He called on Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waters. George once owned a restaurant in the location where the Reclamation Bureau now have their offices. His home is in Portland, Ore., and he has employment with a railroad company. He is visiting a sister, Mrs. Art Willoughby at North Loup.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sautter and son, Larry were Sunday visitors at the Greeley Gebhardt home.

Fish Stocking Gets Under Way

The fall fish stocking program—largest such planting by the Game Commission each year—will get under way within the next few days.

Waters in all sections of the state that are in need of restocking will be stocked with bass, bullheads, crappie, bluegill, and catfish reared at the state's five hatcheries.

The deadline for fall stocking applications was Friday, September 1. All applications received at the Game Commission office after that date will be held over until next spring or fall.

Most spawning at the hatcheries was three weeks behind the usual schedule because of the cool weather and unusually low water temperatures.

At the Gretna hatchery, the fall stocking program was dealt a staggering blow when only three of the several hundred catfish spawned. The resultant hatch is but a drop in the bucket compared to the hatch of previous years. Spawning failure was caused by abnormally low water temperature. This is the first time in the history of the hatchery that the catfish failed to spawn.

Burwell Gas Line Held Up by Lack of Right-of-Way

Arcadia Installations to Be Completed as Soon as Possible.

Burwell, a scheduled addition to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. expansion program, may not get natural gas this year. Elyria, lying halfway between Ord and Burwell, is in the same position.

In a statement to the Quiz Tuesday, S. D. Whiteman, president of the gas company, said that the line could not be started from Ord to Burwell until right-of-way arrangements had been completed.

Whiteman did not enlarge on his statement, but in checking with interested parties in Ord and Burwell, the Quiz learned that the project is being held up by several parties who refused right-of-way across their property unless the gas company met certain conditions which the company is not prepared to do.

Several persons in Burwell have installed gas heating equipment in anticipation of early winter delivery of the new fuel.

Arcadia to Open Soon. Gas will be piped to Arcadia "just as soon as possible" gas company officials told the Quiz. Construction crews are now laying mains within the village, and as soon as the Ord-Loup City link is complete, the Arcadia project will come next.

Meanwhile the company announced this week that construction plans for 1951 would call for approximately 800 miles of gas line and distribution pipe and the expenditure in excess of $5,000,000. Mr. Whiteman said that the company is planning its 1951 construction to provide natural gas service to the area north of Grand Island to Albion and Norfolk.

Kansas-Nebraska will give service on a wholesale basis to the Central Electric and Gas Company, a Lincoln firm, at Norfolk, Newman Grove, Lindsay, Humphrey, Madison, Battle Creek, Stanton, Pierce and Tilden, Whiteman said.

Serve at Retail. The company also will serve on a retail basis, St. Paul, Palmer, Fullerton, Genoa, St. Edward, Belgrade, Cedar Rapids and Albion in the proposed construction program.

The Kansas-Nebraska Company is preparing an application to the Federal Power Commission for certification of the construction program, Whiteman said. In this application, the company also will ask for a certificate to serve at retail Petersburg, Elgin, Oakdale, Neligh, Clearwater, Orchard, Ewing, Page, O'Neill, Plainview, Creighton, Bloomfield, Osmond, Randolph, Wausa, Laurel, Coleridge and Hartington.

"Materials on hand and material promised for delivery this fall and winter," Whiteman declared, "assures the company of being able to start construction by April 1, 1951." It is expected to be completed by October 1, 1951, he added.

Latter Group. Service for the latter group of 17 towns will be given as soon as possible and, if material cannot be secured for the 1951 construction program, for this portion of the project north of Albion, it will be delayed until materials are available, the company president said.

"The company has hoped to be able to give service to this fine area for a great many years," Whiteman asserted, "and with the recent addition of substantial natural gas reserves, it is now in a position to do so."

A new compressor station will be constructed at Grand Island as part of the program, and later another station will be added at Albion.

Walleye Catches Getting Bigger

Either the walleyed pike are growing fast or fishermen are becoming more skillful in hooking them. Anyhow, Mrs. Forrest Swanson's 2 lb. 8 1/2 oz. entry this week tops the field in the Quiz contest.

Mrs. Forrest Swanson and Walleye

She caught the fish on Labor Day below the Burwell dam. Several anglers report that walleyes are biting better than they have for years.

It is reported that Adolph Jensen of Cotesfield hooked a 12 lb. 8 oz. catfish, but Mr. Jensen hasn't brought in a picture and weight slip to make the entry in the contest.

In this week's fishing contest report, we are including pictures of Mrs. Mary Mroz and the 11 oz. bluegill she caught, and of "Toots" Harris and his walleye catch which weighed one pound, 15 oz.

These catches were reported last week, but were too late to have the pictures included.

Next week the leaders of the race for the cash prizes being offered by the Quiz will be announced.

Loup Red Wings Beat Ansley, 11-5, Take Play-Offs

Chilled Crowd Sunday Saw Loup City in 3rd Tournery Win.

The play-off tournament staged by the Mid-Nebraska Night league ended Sunday night when the Loup City Red Wings captured an 11 to 5 conflict from Ansley.

The Red Wings won their way to the finals by defeating Ord and Ansley previously. Shelton was defeated by Ansley and by Ord, after which Ansley beat Ord to go into the finals against Loup City, who made short work of finishing up the tournament.

By this victory Loup City takes 50% of tournament receipts, after expenses are deducted. Ansley, 2nd place winner, takes 25%. Ord takes 15% for winning 3rd place and Shelton, in 4th place, gets 10%.

Tournament funds are still tied up by Ravenna's court action, which has never been called up for hearing. Ravenna informed the Kearney judge that they wished to file an amended petition but have never done so. Hearing has twice been postponed for this reason and the case probably will be dismissed.

The Mid-Nebraska Night league ended its season officially with the final Sunday night play-off game but several of the clubs are planning to play a few exhibition games if weather permits.

Cold, rainy weather throughout the summer caused a deficit in the treasures of most of the league members, with the Broken Bow and Ravenna clubs reportedly in the worst financial shape. Loup City is reported to have wound up with a nice surplus and most of the other clubs "broke even" or came close to doing so on the season's campaign.

Harold Christensen, secretary-treasurer of the Ord baseball club, is compiling a financial report to be presented at a club meeting later in the fall.

Scotia Knocks Out Farwell, 2 to 1

In spite of chilly winds a large crowd turned out at Elba Sunday afternoon and watched Farwell and Scotia stage a good battle with Scotia taking a hard fought contest 2 to 1. It was a scoreless game till the 8th when both teams registered one run each. In the 9th Scotia squeezed in one run on a hit and some very loose playing by Farwell. In the last of the 9th Farwell put on a hitting splurge but could not get any runs across. Scotia now plays Palmer a two out of three game series for the championship.

The line score of Sunday's game:

PICNIC TIME

By Mary Alden

As the summer season comes into full swing, it's time to plan a family picnic. For a favorite picnic supper, include Baked Beans and Scotch Raisin Bread Sandwiches.

Scotch Raisin Bread is an oatmeal quick bread that is a natural for sandwiches. Bake it a day in advance, then spread slices with butter or cream cheese.

SCOTCH RAISIN BREAD

- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1/3 cup light molasses
- 1-1/3 cups sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 cup rolled oats, uncooked
- 1/4 cup chopped nuts
- 1 cup raisins
- 1/4 cup melted shortening

Beat egg until light; add sugar gradually, beating until fluffy. Add buttermilk and molasses, mixing well. Sift together flour, salt and soda; add to egg mixture. Add rolled oats, nuts and raisins, stirring only enough to combine. Fold in melted shortening. Bake in a greased paper-lined loaf pan (1 lb. size) in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes to 1 hour. Store in bread box one day before slicing. Makes one loaf.

Wood River Swamps North Loup, 37-0

Wood River high school had little trouble in chalking up a 37-0 victory over North Loup in a six-man football game Tuesday evening at North Loup.

The powerful Wood River squad, which had three complete teams in uniform, scored in every period against the green North Loup outfit, which had only nine men suited up.

The game was played as a feature of North Loup's Popcorn Days.

U.S. Rice Crop

America's rice crop has grown steadily throughout the past decade of Asian rice shortages. The 1949 harvest of almost 90,000,000 bushels was grown in nearly equal fourths in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and California. Cuba is normally the No. 1 customer for the U. S. crop, which exceeds domestic demand.

Kebby's Comments

It's always hard to tell much about a football team in practice. In the inter-squad workouts the halfbacks may cavort about like ballet dancers with shoulder pads, but comes a tough opponent and they lose all sense of direction. Of course, it sometimes happens just the other way, too.

The Ord high team didn't look bad in the drills under the lights. The ball handling was classy and there was some good blocking. Tackling was definitely ragged. Regardless of how the season goes, we're confident that Rolly Moore is going to get the maximum mileage from his team.

Knowing very well that we'll have to eat our words later, we shall now go out on a limb and make predictions for the coming pigskin season.

Ord will win over Albia, Ravenna, and Loup City. 'Nuff said. Too much, probably.

Don Lindstrom, sports editor of the Holdrege Daily Citizen, tells us that the Dusters have 10 lettermen returning. The first team averages just over 170 pounds.

Walt Douthitt says that Ray Johnson, who swings a mighty baseball bat, is also a crack shot with a scattergun. Walt and Ray were hunting doves when Ray spotted two birds, one headed east and one headed west. He waited until the birds were ready to pass and let fly. Result: two birds with one shell.

It's said that opportunity knocks but once while temptation hangs around all the time. But you have to get the opportunity first before you can do much with temptation.

A group of three Ord fishermen went on a jaunt to a lake near Valentine last Saturday night. Sunday it was wet and chilly. Jim Gilbert caught three bass, but the other two just caught colds.

We watched the North Loup-Wood River game Tuesday night at North Loup. It was a long evening for the green North Loup team, but they learned a lot about the business of playing football. They may be potent later in the season.

Ord Team Enters Ericson Tourney

An Ord baseball team made up of members of both Mustangs and the Colts is entering a baseball tournament being held at Ericson and will play its first game tonight (Wednesday).

Grains.

This week the grain markets are about steady although a little weak some days. If you have grain to sell we would like to make you an offer on it. Are particularly anxious to buy a half car of rye as we have enough more to make out a carload. Good dry wheat is bringing a good price but damaged and wheat that is wet takes a discount.

Seed Grain.

We have arranged to have some good quality Balbo Rye and some very nice Nebred wheat. If you need either of these we would appreciate an early order. Not too much of either available. If your wheat has a lot of rye in it we urge you to get new seed that is free from rye.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover.

The sweet clover market is getting weaker as this large crop of sweet clover goes to market. The large buyers expect a further drop of a couple of dollars per hundred. The local crop of alfalfa will be small but the Western States have a large crop of seed in prospect and the alfalfa seed market will be about the same as last year. We can make you a good offer on this seed.

Fertilizer.

Nitrates for next year will no doubt be short. We are having trouble in getting manufacturers to guarantee delivery of next year's supply. We have a number of cars ordered and the orders will be filled in rotation. If you plan on using Nitrate next year you should place an order soon. Phosphates are a little more plentiful and so far this fall we have been able to get what we needed in mixed fertilizer. We have a good spreader to rent if you need one. This will also sow bromegrass very well.

Brome Grass.

This is the time of the year that you should be sowing your Brome and Crested Wheat. We have a very good supply of both of these grasses on hand and can make you a very good price on the Brome that you will need. It would be well to sow it in the next few weeks.

History of Doane College Extends to 1870; Continues to Grow

You can't visit the campus of Doane College at Crete without coming to the conclusion that Thomas Doane and his associates knew what they were doing when they selected that precise spot, back in 1870, for the Congregational college they hoped to build in Nebraska. Standing on the hills overlooking the valley of the Blue, Doane College is part of prairie scenery at its best.

Doane College, the oldest of Nebraska church colleges, has had a long and distinguished history. Incorporated in 1872, it took over Crete Academy, founded by the Congregational church the year before. Actually, the history of Congregational education in Nebraska goes back considerably beyond 1871—at least to old Fontenelle University, founded in 1858.

Compared with earlier attempts at college building in Nebraska, Doane started on a relatively firm financial footing. It had the resources of Crete Academy, including its building, and in addition possessed 600 acres of land, 50 town lots in Crete, and cash subscriptions totalling about $50,000. Doane opened its preparatory department in the fall of 1872. With Rev. David Brainerd Perry, who had been active as a missionary on the Nebraska frontier, as president. During that first year there was also one teacher, and these were only 13 students. At the end of the year, five of the students were sufficiently well prepared to enter the freshman class of the college, and an additional instructor was employed.

Despite adverse circumstances, however, Doane College not only kept alive but it continued to grow. There was a steady increase in both faculty and students, so that by the late Seventies the old academy building was outgrown and the college felt an acute need for more space.

To meet this need, the trustees set about raising funds for the erection of a new building, to be called Merrill Hall, in honor of Rev. O. W. Merrill, a devoted friend of the young college. The campaign was so successful that by the spring of 1879 the trustees were able to begin the structure. The building was dedicated at commencement in the spring of 1880.

Ord Livestock Market

Kansas-Nebraska Shows Steady, Rapid Growth During Past Fourteen Years

"Ground was broken" for what was to become the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas company, Inc., in 1936, when Mr. L. E. Fischer and his associates acquired the Kansas Pipe Line & Gas company through a quasi-reorganization procedure, and undertook the responsibility of serving its territory from the Otis, Kans., gas field.

The tangible plant at that time consisted of town border stations and laterals in the Republican and Platte river valleys in Nebraska, which gas was delivered at wholesale; and the distribution systems and laterals in Hoyt, Emmett and Delia, Kans. The total worth of these properties was fixed on the books at $193,000. To this was added the intangible value of common stock in excess of assets less liabilities and reserves, a sum of $77,201.

The total value of all assets taken over from the originating company was thus fixed at $271,000.

As soon as the reorganization procedure had been completed, work was started on a main transmission line from Otis, Kans., gas field, at that time the sole source of supply north to Elm Creek, Nebr., and thence west to Ogallala.

Compressor stations were built at Stockton and Elm Creek at a total cost of about $80,000. The line from Alma to Red Cloud cost $131,000; from Lawrence to Blue Hill, Nebr., $20,000; from Alma to Holbrook and Arapahoe, Nebr., $137,000; from Glade to Norton, $103,000.

The main line from Otis, Kans., to Ogallala, Nebr.—288.1 miles—cost the company $1,097,000. Distribution systems and town border stations in Plainville, Stockton, Phillipsburg, Norton, Alma and Logan were constructed at a total cost of more than $176,000.

This construction program, plus miscellaneous additions, was completed at a total cost of $1,781,000 and the company was ready to furnish natural gas to its patrons along the route.

Shortly after the reorganization, however, certain of the properties which were connected to the Standard line were abandoned. This included the distribution systems in Hoyt, Emmett and Delia, all in eastern Kansas, and far from the company's principal field of operations.

At the end of the year, the company was employing 75 people. It was furnishing gas to 950 retail customers and 5100 wholesale customers—a total of 6050. The total investment was $1,970,000 but the company was still very much an infant industry.

The first year was a tough year—folks in this area will not soon forget the "dusty thirties"—but people were beginning to find that natural gas was not only convenient and safe—it was economical and dependable, too. It was a good beginning.

No. Wholesale Meters	6000
Total Number Patrons	7600

During the year 1937 the company constructed secondary lines to Ness City and Kensington, Kans.; and to Cambridge, Nebr. The line to Norton was extended on west to Oberlin.

This expansion program added the towns of Alexander, McCracken, Bazine, Ness City, Agra, Kensington, Norcat, and Oberlin, Kans.; Orleans and Cambridge, Nebr., to the pipeline system.

In addition, a dehydration plant (to remove moisture from the gas) was constructed and a desulfurizing plant (to remove unpleasant odors) was purchased at Otis, Kans. The company's first gas well, known as the Jones well No. 1, was drilled in the Otis field during 1937 and the installation of cathodic equipment (for the protection of gas pipe against "pitting" from electrolosis) was added to bring the total plant investment for the year to $387,000.

It cost the company $93,000 to run its line from Otis to Ness City;

$57,000 from Norton to Oberlin; $20,000 from Phillipsburg to Kensington; $31,000 from the Holbrook-Arapahoe tap line to Cambridge. Twenty thousand dollars were spent to drill the gas well; it took $18,000 to build distribution systems in new towns; and another $34,000 for equipment to treat gas and pipelines.

This brought the company's total investment to $2,350,000—an increase to be sure—but the "two year old" was just gathering its strength.

No. of Employees	100
No. Retail Meters	1850
No. Wholesale Meters	6500
Total Patrons	8350

The company extended its services to only five additional towns in 1938, adding Rush Center, Glade and Speed to its distribution system, and Loomis and Bertrand, Nebr., at wholesale, and largely concentrated its efforts on improving distribution within franchises already served.

A new compressor station at Toulon was built to help maintain better pressure; cathodic protection was extended to additional lines—all for the purpose of improving service.

Total cost of 1938 additions was $147,000—as the young company began to "fill out," building sturdily for the growth which lay ahead.

No. of Employees	115
No. Retail Meters	2000
No. Wholesale Meters	6700
Total Patrons	8700

No major new construction was attempted during 1939. Most of the work for the year consisted of additions to present distribution systems, replacements of pipeline in the Platte valley; installation of additional cathodic protection; and other minor replacements of property.

Total additional plant cost for the year was only $80,000—the smallest figure in the company's history—and it was almost balanced by $73,000 in retirements, made up primarily of replacements in the Platte river valley and the abandonment of the company's gas well in the Otis field.

Miscellaneous additions, primarily to distribution systems in operation, were constructed at a cost of $41,000 and seven miles of new line near Lexington, Nebr., took about $30,000 more.

At the end of its fourth year, the company valuation was placed at $2,500,000—still a "child" as utilities go—but its financial strength had grown all out of proportion to its size, and the executive staff, with faith and vision, were looking ahead to notable accomplishments.

No. of Employees	120
No. Retail Meters	2150
No. Wholesale Meters	7850
Total Patrons	10,000

During 1940, the company spent $251,000 on tangible property additions to the system. Its line from Cambridge, Nebr., to McCook was completed; the Otis, Kans., compressor station was built; a butane stand-by plant was constructed at Oberlin; a 125 horsepower engine was moved from Elm Creek to Stockton and a line was built to the Co-operative Refinery in Phillipsburg.

Irrigation lines were built in Rush county; a six-inch "loop" line was built into the Bemis oil field in Ellis county; a new 8-inch line was laid near Otis; and mainline pipe between Gothenburg and Lexington, Nebr., was replaced.

Substantial "loads" were added to the system at McCook, in the oil fields, to the Co-op Refinery at Phillipsburg—but again the principal expenditures were made to improve service to existing facilities as the company and its officials continued to stress the dependability of their service.

Its financial status strengthened; its current system in apple pie order—the young company was now standing solidly on its feet and efficient management dictated a wider scope of operations. Plans were made to greatly expand company activities in both Kansas and Nebraska—and 1941 was a great building year.

No. of Employees	205
No. Retail Meters	6500
No. Wholesale Meters	18,500
Total Meters	25,000

At the end of 1940, the company had a total valuation of $2,660,000, but a huge construction and acquisition program in 1941 added more than four million dollars to its assets, and by the end of the year, the total shown by the balance sheet was $6,695,000.

The largest single item for the year was the purchase of the physical property of the Nebraska Natural Gas company. The cost of construction of these properties as shown on that company's books was more than $2,700,000 but about $100,000 of this amount was "written off" at the time of the transfer, and the total carried forward on Kansas-Nebraska books was $2,600,000.

This new property added the distribution systems of Axtell, Chester, Clay Center, Davenport, Deshler, Edgar, Fuik, Gibbon, Giltner, Harvard, Hebron, Holdrege, Kenesaw, Minden, Shelton, Sutton, Trumbull and Wood River to the Kansas-Nebraska holdings, and together with installations for mainline industrial consumers and town border stations, cost about $500,000.

On April 12, 1941, the company's name was changed from the Kansas Pipe Line & Gas company to the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., Inc., and as such it has enjoyed its greatest growth.

The infant company, at the end of 1941, had become a sturdy, vigorous industry, in its prime and ready to service thousands of additional patrons. Eight new towns had been added to the system at retail in Kansas; 19 in Nebraska; Hastings, Grand Island, Kearney, Aurora, Hampton, Geneva, York, Fairmont, Bradshaw, Exeter, Nelson and Grafton had been added to its list of wholesale towns—39 new towns during the year.

No. of employees	220
No. of retail meters	9,500
No. of wholesale meters	20,500
Total meters	30,000

Construction work in 1942 was mostly limited to increasing the capacity of the system by adding compressor stations and paralleling lines. The year was also marked by the purchase of the Aksarben Natural Gas company, which served the Republican river valley, and the drilling of the first company well in the Hugoton, Kans., gas field.

Lines near Gothenburg, Holdrege and Aurora, Nebr., and Otis and Plainville, Kans., cost another $102,000. Lines were built to the army air base near McCook and to state institutions at Kearney. A parallel line was built from Alma to Cambridge, Nebr., and numerous miscellaneous additions were made throughout the system.

The total additions to tangible property in 1942 were completed for $657,000.

The purchase of the Aksarben

Natural Gas company, was the largest single transaction of the year. The physical property acquired included the distribution systems of McCook, Orleans, Arapahoe, Bartley, Beaver City, Bertrand, Cambridge, Edison, Holdrege, Indianola, Loomis, Oxford and Stamford, Nebr. The towns had been previously served at wholesale. The cost of the entire system was $179,000.

No. of employees	220
No. of retail meters	9,500
No. of wholesale meters	20,500
Total meters	30,000

During the year 1943, most of the company's construction program was confined to moves which would improve its facilities to customers already "on the line."

After retirements for the year had been deducted, the company's plant and property had a total valuation of $7,565,000. No attempt had been made in 1943 to expand operations. The company had placed major emphasis on "strengthening its muscles," all the while keeping an eye on the future.

Our Welcome to ORD!

Our Congratulations To Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co.

It gives me great pleasure on behalf of the City of Ord to extend a most cordial welcome to our newest industry and business family, the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company.

The coming of this new fuel, is another step forward in our progress, and an important step, too, for we now have another 'selling point' to attract the agricultural products converting industry we need and want.

City officials—especially those who are responsible for the maintenance of our streets and alleys—have been highly appreciative of the fine cooperation received from the installing crew of the gas company. Very few, if any, problems will be given us due to the work of the company in installing their many miles of mains in town.

So, to new citizens, and fine citizens, too, I wish to renew our welcome, and congratulate them heartily upon their achievement.

City of Ord

mature development, was undertaken.

The largest single expenditure of the year was more than $1,100,000, spent to construct 88 miles of 12-inch line from Scott City to Falco, where it "tied in" with existing facilities. Not far behind in total cost was an 18-inch line from Deerfield, in the Hugoton field, to Scott City, which was contracted at $728,000.

There were a few retirements during the year, as deteriorated pipe and worn equipment was replaced, but the total value of plant additions, less these replacements, was $2,800,000, and the total property valuation of the company had increased to $10,208,000. The "infant" had become a "big boy" now, but the main arteries were still to be strengthened.

The Kansas-Nebraska proceeded with its three-year construction program during 1945, installing more compressor engines, replacing small lines with large ones and building new ones.

A new "loop" line was built near Stockton at a cost of $114,000; new lines near McCook, Hastings, Stockton, Phillipsburg, Holdrege, Cambridge and Overton cost about $167,000; about $290,000 were spent to increase compressor station capacity over the system and miscellaneous additions, a new mainline warehouse at Phillipsburg, cathodic protection for existing lines, etc., ran the total spent to improve gas service facilities to more than $810,000 for the year. No new towns were added, but the company was getting in shape to move vast quantities of natural gas through its lines and it was already able to take care of most of its requests for service in the area currently served.

The company completed its three-year construction program, and was in a position to draw all of its natural gas requirements directly from the Hugoton and Otis fields without purchasing any portion from other companies.

The 16-inch transmission line from the Kansas Power and Light company measuring station in Republic county (from which south central Nebraska towns had heretofore been served) was taken up to a point near Hastings. The salvaged pipe, together with 29 miles of new 12-inch pipe was laid cross-country direct from Phillipsburg to the Hastings junction.

On June 30, 1946, the company purchased the transmission and town border facilities of the Central Electric and Gas company, serving the towns of Aurora, Bradshaw, Hampton, Exeter, York, Fairmont and Geneva and the industrial school at Geneva, all in Nebraska.

During the year, the company built new houses at Scott City, Deerfield, Holdrege, Falco and Colby to house employees at compressor stations. The FM radio system was installed; transportation equipment was purchased; numerous existing lines were replaced; construction equipment was acquired; distribution systems were improved and many miscellaneous additions were made to bring the company's total additions for the year to $3,190,000.

At the end of the year, however, the total value of plant and property was listed as $13,123,000, and the "young man" was ready

The company's expansion program was continued throughout 1947.

Gas service was extended to 11 additional Kansas towns, gathering lines were purchased, gas wells were drilled, compressor station capacities were vastly increased, employee residence properties were constructed—and the unceasing efforts of the management to augment the internal strength of the system was continued.

Numerous replacements of existing lines with new pipe or pipe of larger capacity were made. About 45 miles of 6-inch line was constructed north of Cambridge, Nebr., to a point near Cozad, at a cost of $212,000.

The company built seven residence properties for employees—three at Deerfield, one each at Holcomb, Otis, Lakin and Cozad. An airplane was purchased to enable company employees to reach the scene of an emergency more quickly, and to facilitate necessary inspection trips.

Total expenditures for plant and property additions in 1947 were $2,410,000.

During the same period, retirements amounted to $640,000 as the company continued its policy of "writing off" discarded and worn out equipment and material. At the end of the year, then, the total value of physical assets of the company had reached $15,312,000—a far cry from the days when the struggling infant "weighed only a few pounds."

No. of employees.....	520
No. retail meters.....	23,200
No. wholesale meters.....	32,000

1948 was another big "growing year" with more than four million dollars put into plant and property investments.

Service was extended to four more towns in Kansas and six more towns in Nebraska; many miles of small pipe, built originally to service far fewer customers than are now on the company's lines, were taken up and replaced with pipe of larger capacity; new loop lines were built; more compressor capacity was added; the construction of an office building in Phillipsburg; a dehydration plant was built near Deerfield—and many additions were made to present distribution systems, gathering lines and measuring stations to keep the company abreast of the unprecedented demand for natural gas, now up to 140,000,000 cubic feet per day at peak periods.

Twelve-inch line from Otis to the Unrush field, $121,000; 12-inch parallel line from Scott City north-east 34 miles, $573,000; 8-inch parallel line from Stockton to Glade, 18½ miles, $164,000; 12-inch parallel line from Falco to Stockton, 14 miles, $178,000; 12-inch parallel line near Deerfield, $100,000; 6-inch parallel line from Glade to Phillipsburg, $99,000; 6-inch parallel line from Cambridge to Eustis, Nebr., 15 miles, $49,000.

It cost $133,000 to build distribution systems in Holstein, Juanita, Roseland, Eustis, Campbell and Chapman, Nebr.; and Natoma, Leoti, Brewster and Healy, Kans. Lateral lines, including town border stations, added $139,000 to the cost of this project.

In Conclusion. The company has now reached maturity. Its main "arteries" have been fully formed; its "heart" in the compressor stations has been repeatedly strengthened; its "life's blood" in the huge central and southwestern Kansas gas fields is dedicated to its use in ample supply.

one of the biggest catfish of the year when he pulled a 9 pounder out of the Loup river east of Ord.

—A. B. Fiala, formerly of near Elyria, had made arrangements to farm 1200 acres near Blair.

Thirty Years Ago. — Mrs. William Armstrong of Kimball, formerly of Mira Valley, was seriously ill. — The Loup Valley fair was on and was proving a greater success than ever, according to a story in the Quiz. — A deal was closed whereby B. C. Boquet became the owner of the Transit House, obtaining the same from Art Hill. — The Loup Valley Packing company was reported in financial difficulties when Mr. McLean was reported missing with company funds. — Edward Wegrzyn of Burwell was reported in a serious condition in a York hospital. — From injuries received when his car overturned near that city. — John Benda, well known resident, was dead. He had been in poor health for a long time. — Everything was in readiness for the laying of Valley county's new courthouse Sept. 22. Senator M. L. Fries of Arcadia was to be the principal speaker.

Forty Years Ago. — John Beauchamp came back from Colorado, bringing with him a quantity of fruit of several kinds, mostly apples and grapes of exceptional quality. — Dr. E. E. Robbins had rooms in the A. M. Robbins' law office and was expecting her medicines and supplies at any time for general practice and surgery. — The Ord Christian church had been enlarged and was to be rededicated Sept. 18 by Rev. William Oeschger, chancellor of Colner university. — Tom and William Hemmett, A. A. Waters and Frank Barker of Burwell all went to Excelsior Springs, Mo., in the interest of their health. — Donald Davis of Eagle, Nebr., was the new assistant at the Dierk Lumber company yards in Ord. — A dastardly outrage was committed in the dead of night when a bunch of night riders took away the chain and posts from around the public square in Ord. A few old timers will doubtless recall the incident. — A deal was consummated whereby a Mr. Bartunek of Wolbach became the owner of the O. M. Seerley farm in Springfield. — A man named McProud was the new banker in North Loup.

Fifty Years Ago. — The city of Blair had a new $40,000 school building and Miss Edith Robbins was returning there to begin her second year of teaching. — D. A. Gard was trying out a new set of store teeth, but it was not stated whether his son, Dr. George R. Gard, had made them for him. — John McLain had the misfortune to lose a fine black mare of lung fever. — C. F. Cameron of Bee, Nebr., and Miss Vera Moulton were married at Ord Sept. 12 at the Presbyterian church. — W. T. Draper found it impossible to supply the city of Ord with ice from Grand Island, so he shipped in a carload from Wyoming and was retailing it out at cost, or thereabouts. The ice the winter before had been of poor quality, so his supply was exhausted early. — Mrs. Frank Hallock of Rosevale was quite badly hurt when thrown from her horse while out riding. — Doran Bros. of Garfield county shipped a load of northern grade cattle into Ord and offered them at auction at the Union Pacific stock yards. The Quiz said that the stockmen of the county would live to regret buying such stock, as it would depreciate the quality of stock already here.

Sixty Years Ago. — A group met at the Methodist church for the purpose of forming a musical organization. The last member of that group went to his reward when Frank Glover died a year or two ago. — The Republican county convention met at the courthouse Sept. 12 with A. Ward of Mira Valley as chairman and E. J. Babcock of North Loup as secretary. Of other names mentioned M. E. Getter was delegate to the congressional convention and P. W. Round was delegate to the senatorial convention. — All those interested in chautauqua work were to meet at the home of Mrs.

Perry and talk over arrangements for the coming year, thus indicating that chautauquas were held in Ord more than sixty years ago. — In the congressional convention held at Columbus G. W. E. Dorsey was nominated by the republicans over Thomas Darnell of St. Paul, and was later elected. Valley county was then in the third congressional district, there being only three in all.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago. — Ray Nelson was killed in an auto accident at Atkinson. Ross Blessing, with him, escaped without injury. — Jacob Van Wieren died at Arcadia at the age of 81 years. — Ed Cook's cafe and Kemper's hardware at Ericson were put out of business by fire. — Donald Peterson was injured in a farm accident on the Clarence Bolli place northwest of Burwell. — John P. Misko and Clarence M. Davis were named to head the Willkie club in Ord. — The Inland Construction company completed the new pavement road between Ord and North Loup, and it was opened for traffic, which has practically ruined it in ten years. — The Valley County fair was on, with a good program but small attendance. — Sept. 18 was announced to be Cech day in Ord by F. P. L. Benda, with Dr. Oldrich Chyle as speaker. — Leslie Nelson suffered a painful accident at the Ord Ice plant, when he fell against the saw and lost three fingers off his left hand. — Albin Dobrovsky lost a finger in a corn binder.

Twenty Years Ago. — State Statistician Anderson of Lincoln stated that the corn yield in Valley county would be 30 bushels per acre. It was already known that the small grain yield was high. — Exhibits at Pop Corn Days in North Loup were good and the entire program was considered one of the best ever held. — Enrollment in Ord high school totaled 300, about the same as the year before. Enrollment the first week of this year was 306. — Beryl Lang, pitching for Litchfield against Scotia, entered the hall of fame with a no-hit, no-run game. He struck out 15 men and did not issue a single walk. — The House of David baseball team and a colored team had selected Ord as a good place to play from the box office point of view, and were to play in Busell Park. — Ole Severson caught

A World dwarfed by the shadow of the Cross!
It is the symbol of a day when earthly turmoil and tension are calmed by heavenly vision . . . when men's hearts turn in unison toward God.

That day is World-Wide Communion Sunday. Millions of Christian men and women in every corner of the Earth will come to their churches. Together, according to the customs of their Faith, they will worship and pray. Then, reverently, they will participate in the world's most sacred religious rite—The Lord's Supper.

We all pray that the symbol of this day will, at length, become the symbol of a year, a century, eternity. A World dwarfed by the shadow of the Cross is Christianity's unwavering aim!

As you and your family—and your neighbor and his family—worship Christ on World-Wide Communion Sunday, we move, together toward that cherished goal!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his family. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) Which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Families of Men in Service Get Allotment Hike

New Bill Grants Allowances of $45 to $85.

President Truman Friday signed a bill granting monthly allowances of $45 to $85 to enlisted servicemen to help care for their families. This is in addition to their regular pay.

To be eligible for these allowances the enlisted men will have to allot part of their pay to their families. These allotments will range from $40 to $80 monthly, depending on a man's pay grade.

The allowances are retroactive to Aug. 1. It is estimated that from that date to June 30, 1951, the cost to the government will be about $300,000,000.

Enlisted men in the lower three pay grades will receive an allowance of $45 for one dependent. Those in the four higher pay grades will be allowed $67.50 for one dependent.

All seven pay grades will be granted $67.50 if they have two dependents. Likewise all grades will be allowed $85 if they have three or more dependents.

Enlisted men in the lower three pay grades are required to contribute $40 from their monthly pay. Men in the next two higher grades (E-4 and E-5) will allot $60, and those in the top two grades (E-6 and E-7) $85.

Deductions from their pay remain the same regardless of the number of dependents.

Thus an army private, whose pay is $80 monthly, would allot $40 to his wife and the government would grant $15 more. This would give her $85 a month.

If the private has a wife and one child he would still allot only $40, but the government would contribute $67.50.

CROP Foods Reach Korean Refugees

CROP foodstuffs, intended for Korea before fighting broke out there, has been trans-shipped to Moji and Shimonoseki in Japan, and is being readied for transportation to islands in the Korea Straits, which have been designated by the United Nations forces as shelters for Korean refugees.

So far 50,000 refugees, mostly women and children, have been screened by the South Korean forces for transportation to safety to this group of islands in the archipelago directly north of the Tsushima Straits. A request for the protection of international law will be made to prevent fighting from reaching these islands.

Church groups, active in Southern Korea at this time, have attempted to duplicate a precedent set in Shanghai during the 1937 hostilities there, when Father Jacquinot, a Jesuit priest, obtained clearance from both belligerents for the setting up of a safety zone for refugees between the firing lines, which was subsequently respected by both fighting forces.

Southern Korean church groups were willing to assume responsibility for food and shelter for all refugees if the fighting forces were to respect such areas of safety. However, it has so far been impossible to make contact with the Northern Korean authorities and receive clearance for the projected "safety zone."

Meanwhile, CROP food destined for Korea is being held in Japan for the time when authorization for its transportation and distribution in Southern Korea and the "safety islands" of the archipelago is received.

Angus Show Is One of Big 'Ak' Events

The National Aberdeen-Angus Breeder and Rancher show, one of the nation's largest breed shows, is developing into a tremendous feature for its first presentation in the great Missouri Valley States at the twenty-third annual Ak-Sar-Ben Live Stock Show and World Championship Rodeo, in Omaha, September 29 through Oct. 8.

Harry B. Coffey, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben Live Stock Show Committee, reported today that the preliminary tabulation for the three-day show and sale revealed a total of 738 prize animals entered from fourteen states including Illinois, Minnesota, South Dakota, Colorado, Missouri, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, New Jersey, Iowa and Nebraska.

The Angus Show and sales, with cash prizes totaling more than $10,000, will follow an intensive schedule over a three-day period, Oct. 3, 4, and 5. Individual Angus bulls will be judged on Tuesday, Oct. 3, and Angus female classes and groups on Wednesday, Oct. 4. Top pairs of bulls and pens of heifers in the commercial class will be selected Wednesday. Angus auctions will be conducted Thursday, Oct. 5, at Union Stock Yards at 9:00 a. m., and in the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum at 1:00 p. m.

Ord Girl Attends College Conference

Miss Coralee Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Anderson of 1617 "O" street, has been chosen by the administration of Colorado Woman's College as one of the seniors to attend the Student Leadership conference, Sept. 14 and 15, in Denver.

Miss Anderson, who was elected president of Scribblers' club for the coming year, will also serve as feature editor of the Skyline college yearbook, and co-society editor of The Western Graphic college newspaper. During her freshman year, she participated in Scribblers' club, and the Student Christian association, and served as floor chairman of Treat hall, her dormitory.

The theme for the conference is "My Responsibility as a Student Leader." Miss Anderson will participate in workshops discussing "Our Religious Program" and "Dormitory Activities."

Spud Men Getting More for Crop

Central Nebraska potato growers are realizing about 65 cents a bushel net for potatoes grading No. 1 this season, State Agriculture Director Rufus Howard said today.

The market price is quoted at $1.10 per bushel, but grading, sacking and washing costs about 55 cents a bushel, he explained.

Central Nebraska growers voted against acceptance of federal marketing agreement, and have been selling this year's crop on the open market. Howard said production in the area totaled 800,000 bushels, with 75 per cent grading No. 1.

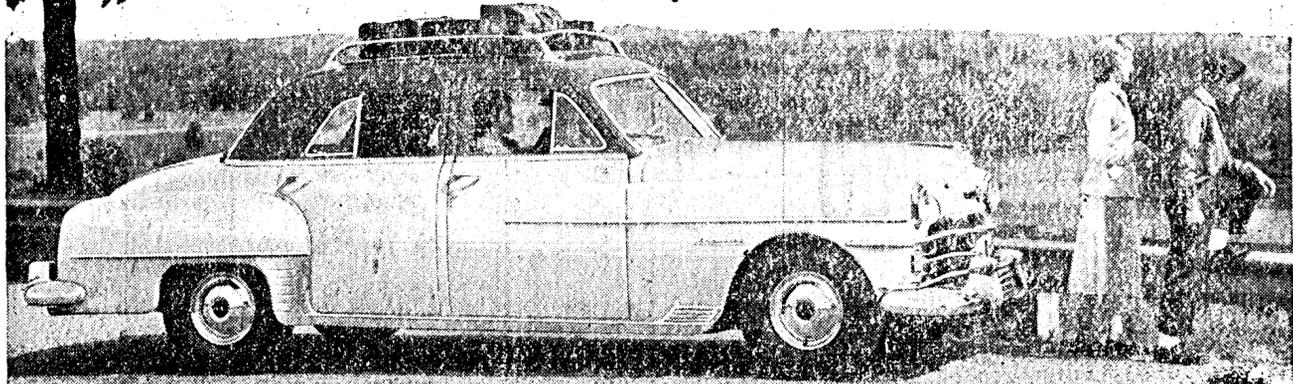

Western Nebraska growers, who will begin their harvest soon, will vote in a market agreement referendum on Sept. 23.

Announcing the Double-Duty CHRYSLER Traveler

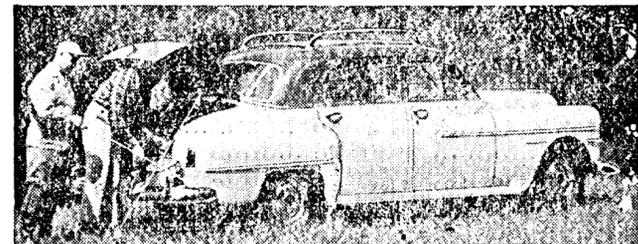

the smart new sedan that converts in seconds into a sports car or cargo carrier.

Twice as useful as any ordinary car! Use it as a beautiful sedan seating six! Or fold down the hinged back seat and cushion... and you have a level deck 6 1/2 feet long. You can sleep on it... load all your hunting and fishing gear... haul farm implements, fence posts—a thousand and one things no regular car can carry. It's like having two cars in one. Come see how the new Chrysler Traveler makes your dollars do double duty. Take the wheel... find out how Chrysler's built-in value all the way through is combined with new utility that beats anything on the road today.

See how the rear seat cushion folds forward against the front seat back, and rear seat back turns down to form flat, level-loading platform. Spare tire can be carried in passenger compartment, or in well at right of luggage compartment.

Counter-balanced trunk lid opens easily, and stays open for easy loading. Sturdy luggage rack on roof adds conveniently to the huge carrying capacity of this car. Upholstery is tough plastic that resembles grained alligator hide.

O Tempora, O Mores.

There is only one way to measure the distance we have traveled in the scale of living, and that is by comparison with the way we have lived in former times. Comparisons may be odious, but they are instructive and the only true measure of progress. For this reason no apologies are necessary for this discussion, and none are offered.

The files of the Ord Quiz are not complete, a fact much to be regretted. The earliest copy available is Volume 1 and 4, published April 27, 1882, now well over 68 years ago. In that issue four short items are published concerning an early day institution in Ord. They are:

"A group of Ord citizens met last night and decided to have a chain fence built around the square. $77.50 has been collected for the past few days asking subscriptions to fence and to plant trees in the court house square. Nearly enough has been raised."

"The leaves is working. Tuesday night quite a number got together and commenced planting trees on the court house square. This is a good scheme, and we hope it will be carried out. A good chain fence now."

"The matter of improving the appearance of the court house square is still being talked up. With little expense much could be added to the appearance of the town."

For the benefit of the younger generation it should be mentioned here that the chain fence mentioned was for the purpose of furnishing a hitching place for the teams of farmers and others when needed. In fact, no town was without some such arrangement for the convenience of visitors.

The next four issues of the Quiz are missing from the files, and there is no further mention of the above improvements after that, which shows that the work was completed in May. Since some of the original trees are still growing in the court yard, it is evident that the projected plans were carried out.

Some of the trees are still to be seen, but the fence outlived its usefulness and is gone. Twenty-eight years later, Sept. 15, 1910, the following item appears:

"A dastardly outrage was perpetrated on the public last Friday night when robbers, cutthroats and horse-thieves in the dead of the night when honest men were asleep came and took away those hitching posts and the beautiful chain from around the other half of the court house square. For a year or so one half of the fence has been missing by order of the county board, while the other half was left to disfigure the beautiful little park."

"With one half of the fence gone and a curb put in its place while the other half was graced with an old fence the park looked like a pair of boots, one blacked and the other fresh from the barnyard. Now that these miscreants have taken the rest of the fence away, the beautiful hideousness of the situation is partly removed. Catch those vandals and put them in jail."

The same man, W. W. Haskell, wrote the items in 1882 and in 1910. Mr. Haskell did not change, but the times did. What was beautiful and necessary for the town had become an eyesore by 1910, and he approves the act of vandalism that removed the fence. Teams were on the way out, and autos were on the way in.

The automobile was becoming a necessary adjunct of life in the community and in 1909 the county board had removed half of the fence around the square and had substituted a curb to make a suitable parking place for autos. Many people living in Ord were of the opinion that the rest of the chain should be removed and the horses relegated to the side streets, hence the removal of the fence.

It will be noted that the fence was removed on Friday night. The next day was the big shopping day, and when the farmers drove their teams into town and found the chain gone, they were justly indignant, and even threatened to boycott the town. There were hardly enough hitching posts before and the loss of the two sides of the square made a serious deficit, especially on the busiest day of the week.

The Quiz was censured for taking the attitude that the removal of the fence was an improvement, and some even went so far as to stop their papers. A farmer in business who was rightly suspected of having a hand in the affair found his customers leaving him until the situation became serious. Those so situated that they could do so went elsewhere to trade for a short time, but eventually they all came back.

The removal of the hitch racks was a necessary step in the progress of the town, although they may have been taken a little prematurely. Nobody would care to go back to the conditions that prevailed then. Ten years later there was a fight on the subject of paving, and as usual, the proponents of progress won. Today we should certainly not care to go back to the muddy streets of yesteryear.

Today there is no haven anywhere for the man with the horse propelled vehicle, and none is needed, except in time of blizzard such as in the winter of 1948-49, when the farmer is welcome to tie his team to the light or telephone poles whether the ordinance permits it or not. Practices like that are always permitted in emergency.

In the days of hitch racks the livery business flourished. Traveling men came in on the train and hired rigs for drives into the country, sometimes hiring a team for weeks when the nature of their business required it. Sometimes they hired a driver also, and trips from one town to another were not unusual, the driver bringing the rig back to the town it started from.

Of course there were feed stores to take care of the farmers' teams when they came to town and wanted to stay all day, or when the distance was too great to make the trip without feed. Sometimes a man came so far that it took all day to make the trip, and he spent the night in town, returning home the next day.

Today the livery and feed stables have all disappeared from Ord, never to return, and the citizens marked their passing with little regret. On the sites of the old barns we find the Chevrolet Sales and Service, Howard Huff's implement business, the Petska Liquor store and used car sales, the Ord Cooperative Creamery, and probably others. With the disappearance of the horses went also the watering troughs which formerly stood at strategic places around the town.

We would not care to go back to the horse and buggy days, but they had their bright spots. The farmer did not have a car then, but he owned his farm. He did not farm with power machinery, but he raised crops. He spent more for himself, and less went for paying taxes. He couldn't drive to Lincoln and back in one day, but he wasn't in that much of a hurry. And the old court house and the whole town was not cluttered up with federal agencies.

The fence is gone and forgotten, but the trees remain, from which fact we should all glean a lesson. The fence was made by man, but God grew the trees. The habitations and improvements on nature made by man will crumble into dust, but the works of God remain to teach us how great is God and how little is man.

Ward's Cookin' Column

At this time of the year it is fine to see all the young people going back to school and to the many advantages in education that their parents and grandparents never enjoyed. Every time I see a young lad trudging along to school I feel like giving him a pat on the back for the wonderful chances he will have to make something of himself in the world, and at the same time I feel like giving him a kick in the pants because of the way he is almost certain to miff those chances. I feel that way because I stood in his shoes once, had all those wonderful opportunities before me and muffed most of them.

Going back to the old days, they were the days of self-made men. A self-made man gets that way because he never gave the Lord a chance to have a hand in the construction job. He is usually self-centered, egotistical, and inclined to be very impatient with the fellow who fails to see eye to eye with him. He likes to say "I did this" and "I did that," and often he does everybody else a favor by accepting the blame for what he claims to do.

Life is a partnership, and no man is truly self-made. Too many elements enter into the job. First, there are his parents, the teachers in the schools he attends enter into the equation, his associates when he starts out in the business of life, all have their effect. Yes, for a man to claim to be self-made is the height of egotism. All that he actually furnishes is his immortal soul, and the Lord gave that to him.

The way to succeed in life, as prescribed by one who didn't, is to let all these various elements entering into life have their influence to the fullest extent. Some people, for example, get more out of high school and college than others do, but nobody ever yet got half out of his education that the education had in store for him, if he had only dug deep enough to find it. An education may be either broad or deep, but it seldom is both.

A broad education takes in a lot of territory, while a deep education gets to the bottom of things. As an illustration, let us take the present state of Oklahoma. While it was yet a territory men found that the soil would raise good crops, that the grass land would feed huge herds of cattle. In this respect the people who knew Oklahoma had a broad education. They knew what could be expected of the surface of the state.

But, after a while, in came men who had it in mind to go beneath the surface, and they went down far enough to find oil. The result is that Oklahoma, a fair state in farming and cattle raising, today is one of the biggest oil producing states in the union, and has an enormous per capita wealth. The men who bored for oil had a deep education, but it was not broad, while the farmers and cattlemen had a broad education, but it was not deep. Between them they made their state one of the most noted in the entire United States.

Because no man can ever know all there is to be learned, he must decide early in life whether he wants to know a little about a lot of things or a lot about a few things. The man who knows a little about a lot of things has a broad knowledge of humanity and knows how to meet the public. He gets along with people, because he can talk to them in their own language, at least on the surface. This type of man makes a good politician, but he will never be a statesman, because he lacks depth.

On the other hand, the man who knows all there is to know about his particular job is efficient. He stays on the one job, because that is the one job and the only job he knows anything about. He goes to work in the morning and comes home at night, day after day, year after year. He invests his money in good securities, and, when he has reached the retirement age, he usually has enough to retire on. The only trouble is that he has stayed with the one job so long that he is not broad enough to have the capacity for enjoying his vacation.

We had occasion to be returning to North Loup from Ord on both Saturday and Sunday evenings recently, both times just after dusk, between 7 and 8 p. m. Both evenings it seemed like there was almost a steady stream of traffic headed in the direction of Ord. In fact, we passed 22 cars Saturday night and 24 Sunday night. Saturday night most of them probably were headed for the metropolis on an evening shopping trip, and those Sunday evening were doubtless going to the picture show.

All of which brings out the fact that Ord is a good business town and also a good show town. Those cars brought fifty to seventy-five people to Ord each night, and the chances are that each of them spent a dollar or two while there. They have learned by experience that it pays to shop in Ord, and that the bill of fare at the Ord Theatre is well worth the trip it takes. They might not have known of the bargains offered in the stores or the features at the theater if they had not read all about it in the ads printed in Ord's leading newspaper. Yes, it pays to advertise.

It is true that the wife is the champion fisherman of the family, but for a long time I thought there was one type of fish in the catching of which I held championship honors. In June I managed to snag a northern pike that weighed 3 pounds, 6 1/2 ounces, and thought the record was safe. Just to make it more sure, I caught another one Friday of last week that weighed half an ounce more than the first one.

But there is no figuring out a woman. Not content with taking the honors for bass, crappie, blue gill, carp, bullheads and sunfish, the Mrs. decided she just had to beat me, and so she did. First she caught a walleye pike that weighed 2 pounds and over and is entering it in the Quiz contest. To add to my misery, just three days after I caught my second northern she caught quite a commotion in the lagoon by tying into a northern that outweighed mine by three ounces, so she is now champion of the family in every department of the game. Well, the Quiz contest runs for a few weeks yet, and I am not giving up.

The North Loup Volunteer firemen are getting plenty of practice since that hay stack on the Eldon

Lange place a mile south of town took fire from spontaneous combustion. Three times about a week apart they have made a run out there to squirt water on the smoldering pile, and there is still enough left of the stack to furnish excitement for a month or more. The hay caught fire because it heated from being too wet, but for the same reason it is burning very slowly indeed.

++ Something Different ++

There is quite a nice new broadcasting station at Broken Bow, round about 1400 on your dial. If you like the Mutual system, with its many musical programs, you'll like the new Broken Bow station.

Now the go-visiting season is about to close. And the winter club-sessions begin, with all the committee meetings and the "every-other-Wednesdays," etc.

And what is there new in the world? Certainly not these doe-eyed, sloe-eyed beauties... gee whillikens, the fens in Egypt blacked and colored around their eyes as long ago as Cleopatra! I suppose one of these days Vogue will sponsor a fashion of blacked-out teeth, like they have in India, and we'll have black-mouthed American women!

But aren't you glad men are wearing more colors? I surely am. It has always offended me that men's clothing must be drab in color to be in good taste. So I was mighty happy this summer to see bright yellow slacks. And more and more color on men, in every way.

Little boys' clothing has been monotonously ugly for many years, the big watchword being "practical." Can't things be alluring along with being practical? I think they can.

So now boys may wear bright red pants, with impunity (if boys need impunity to wear any clothes)!

Of course you know how I feel about men's clothing, for I have written about it before.

We have the war and--or our college boys to thank for the newer, greater, comfort to be found in men's wear. Open throated shirts, loose-flying shirttails... these would have been a scandal only ten short years ago. Shorts for men: how comfortable and cool they look, but for many a year they were seen only on explorers, or Englishmen living in India--of so I gathered from a few novels.

California and the movies have had a lot to do with easing our styles, too, and we should be grateful.

I'm glad to see Ord young men wearing shorts, the Quiz' Marv Keschul for instance.

And say, how'd you like his new column last week?

Perhaps he can keep us posted on Ord's sports, too. We could use that.

Dahlias are delightful this fall, big and luscious.

Mrs. William Hollands is one who has been favoring her friends with these handsome blooms. She gave Mrs. F. A. Barta a low arrangement of chartreuse-toned dahlias, different enough to win a flower show award.

Today is the day to look out the window and see the green and lovely summer world, for tonight or tomorrow night, or soon, it will frost and leave us with fading colors and falling leaves, millions of them. (To rake!)

This has probably been the greenest summer Ord ever enjoyed.

Was there more of that Scotch-lite bicycle tape left to be applied, when the firemen finished their labors a year or so ago? I'm sure George Anderson said there was a goodly surplus.

You remember, the Band P. W. club bought it last year?

Well, as each crop of youngsters grows to be nine or ten, the boys and girls begin saving and teasing for bikes, and lo, before long the new bicycles appear! And each crop of little new bike riders needs this Scotchlite protection equally as much as last year's crop.

So, Mr. Fire Chief Dye, could you and your hard-working firemen spare an evening to safety-tape some more bicycle fenders for us?

The firemen never say no, they always say yes.

Which makes them wonderful citizens for my book.

--Irma.

Congratulations - Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co.

We feel that Ord is to be congratulated too, on the coming of natural gas. As a step toward modernization, the installation of natural gas is a definite forward stride. We welcome the (gas) as friendly competitors, as new and worthwhile citizens, and as progressive additions to our community.

Electricity, too

Means Better Living!

Since Edison made the first successful incandescent light, the advance of electricity has been part of the phenomenal story of America's growth. Electricity--the public servant--has made such marvelous strides that it is, today, a necessity of modern living, and an adjunct to better living.

Today your Department of Utilities in Ord is in a better position to serve you than at any time in its history. Expansions of the past several years, now put our electric light and water plant in a ten-year-ahead position to handle all anticipated increases in the consumption of electricity.

RATES WILL DROP FURTHER --

About six months ago, your city electric plant was able to drop the rates of water heating by nearly 1/2 cent per KWH. In the past month, a further reduction was made on general use of electrical current, amounting to about 11 per cent of the average electrical bill.

Of our $280,000 bond issue, made less than two years ago to provide the expansion and renovating of our system, more than $50,000 has been set aside at this date to retire these bonds. We hope to clean up our total indebtedness before the due date.

This, of course, means an interest saving, and combined the greater efficiency accomplished by the new install with the savings in production costs of our plant due to possible, and, we hope, in the very near future. These conditions, will mean that further rate reductions may be

It is the policy of the Board of Public Works to (1) Maintain and give the best electrical service possible. (2) Retire our indebtedness as quickly as possible. (3) Make and keep our electrical rates as low as possible. With your cooperation these objectives will be accomplished.

To Members and Friends of Bethany Lutheran Church, Ord

Greetings:

The Church has finally come to the point of utilizing its lots across the street from the high school. A frame church building, 24 ft. by 40 ft., from near Wolbach will be moved here.

We plan to add 12 feet for chancel, and a 9 by 9 foot space for the front entrance, and to have a basement under the whole church.

The cost will be about $8,000. Of this we have about $4,000 in the building fund.

We urgently ask all members and friends to help with the remaining $4,000. All donations will be greatly appreciated.

Signed,
Emma Hansen and Thomas Rasmussen,

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up miles or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Duan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Duan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filter flush out waste. Get Duan's Pills today!

think what it means to HER...

Yes, just think what it does mean to her... to have another harvest coming in... to have the assurance of a regular weekly pay check... to have enough money in the bank for comfortable living.

These are important things, all of them dependent on you. If something were to happen—well, you've probably thought of that, too. And maybe you've worried about it more than you should.

There's just one protection against this fear of family insecurity—that's life insurance. Yes, there's only one way to assure her future and that of the children. No matter what kind of work you do, no matter how much you earn, you owe your family the security of life insurance protection.

Former Ordite Wed in Kimball

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Janicek.

The wedding of Elva Betty Lukesh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lukesh, and Donald Janicek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Janicek, took place Monday, August 28, at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Kimball. Father L. A. Kintz performed the double ring ceremony at 9:00 o'clock before an altar decorated with gladioli and asters. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white gown fashioned with chantilly lace bodice over satin with a Peter Pan collar and a flared peplum. The bouffant double net skirt ended in a court train. The imported French illusion fingertip veil was held with a headband of braided satin. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom and carried two small orchids on a white prayer book. Matching lace mits completed the bride's attire. Esther Lukesh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a white floor length gown. Mariann Bahoc and Helen Lebruska were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of light and medium blue.

Daniel Janicek served as best man for his brother, Alvin Lukesh and David Janicek were the groom's attendants. Jim Lukosen and Don Haase were ushers. Patricia Janicek, sister of the groom, played the nuptial music. Dwin Janicek, brother of the bridegroom, and Mary Beth Lukesh, cousin of the bride, were ring bearers and Nancy Cartney was flower girl. A reception, immediately following the ceremony, was held at the Country Club for 180 guests. A four tier wedding cake centered the bride's table. At 1:30 o'clock a dinner for the immediate family and close friends was served at the Country Club. Lois Dickerson, Mary Jean Christensen, Kay Stewart, Marilyn Starnberg, Margie Stahla and Peggy Barrett served. Rosaline Cartney and Coralee Janicek had charge of the guest book. Miss O'Hare took care of the gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Janicek left on a wedding trip shortly after the dinner was served. For going away the bride wore a brown suit with green accessories. The couple will make their home on a farm east of Pine Bluffs, Wyo. The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lukesh and Frank Bilka of Ord. She and her parents formerly lived here. Wm. Lukesh, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukesh and family and Miss Donnie Paprocki, all of Ord, attended the wedding.

Information concerning the new City View Addition

There are 21 lots, 11 of which are sold and others spoken for, leaving only 7 for sale.

It is in the City Limits and has been for about thirty years.

The first house is only 5 1/2 blocks from the square and 4 1/2 blocks from the grade school.

The bridge is now completed, connecting City View with the Original Ord Townsite. All but one of the new houses are sold but others will be started this month and be available as soon as possible.

Sewer - water - gas and electricity is now available or will be completed this week.

Streets will be graveled this month and will have the modern look because the new system of combined curb and sidewalk will be used throughout the addition.

An ideal spot for young and middle age couples with children because of the wide open spaces off the street to play and so near to the grade school.

Press a button. Light a match. Your home is comfortably heated all winter with a Roberts Gordon conversion burner or furnace or a Morson furnace.

Dan Dilla Hits .526 to Top S-H League in Ball Swatting

Farwell Squad Gets Team Hitting, Fielding, Crown.

Dan Dilla's sizzling .526 average easily topped the Sherman-Howard league batting race during the 1950 season. G. A. Dilla, secretary of the league, has just released the official batting and fielding records.

Farwell, league champion, walked off with most of the batting and fielding honors. Harold Olson's .429 mark is second in the batting department, and eight Farwell fielders got through the season without a bobble.

"Shorty" Ksionzek, Ashton's

speedy shortstop, topped the league in runs with a total of 18. G. Jorgensen of North Loup has the unhappy distinction of committing the most errors. He was charged with 13—an unlucky number in any league. Following is a tabulation of player's performances during the regular season play:

Sanitation Is Big Health Factor

We have come a long way in the last half century in providing a sanitary environment for a large portion of the American population. However, there are many regrettable deficiencies in this respect in small and unincorporated communities.

In our planning we must envision the application of sanitary practices to the home, the workshop and the playground. We need to enter the field of housing and consider the threat to health of slum districts and hastily contrived residential construction.

Adults and children need space and equipment for recreation and play. Mental and physical fatigue caused by the tedium of daily labor are most effectively corrected by rest and recreation in open-air spaces remote from the scenes of economic struggle.

New Styles For a New Season...

It's time to be thinking of new styles in home fashion. Frazier's has just what you need—for every room in the house.

At Frazier's you can shop for furniture with confidence, because you'll find brand names you know, names that mean quality. And you'll find that Frazier's stands behind its merchandise, doing everything possible to give you, the customer, complete satisfaction.

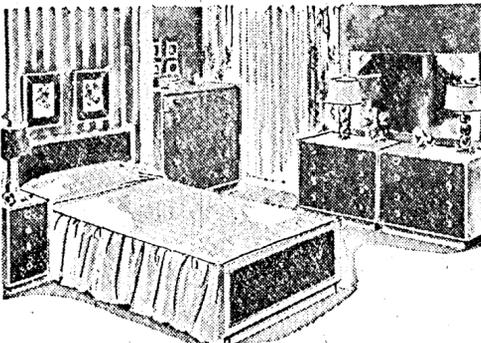

For the Living Room

Let's start with the living room. Picture to yourself the striking beauty of a suite, covered with mohair frize in the colors that fashion trends demand.

On the walls hang tasteful pictures, and on a modernistic end table is a graceful Aladdin or Deena electric lamp. Framing the windows are exquisite draperies, from a large selection at Frazier's.

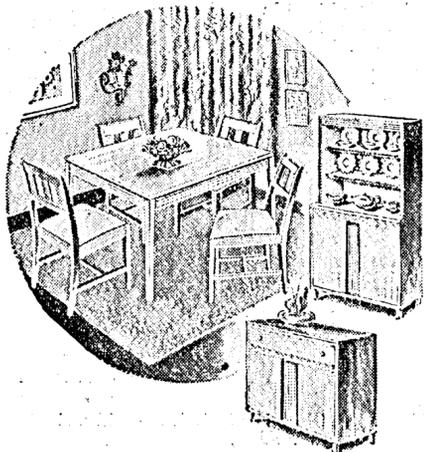

For the Bedroom

Ah, sleep, it's wonderful on a Sealy mattress. And a bedroom suite by American of Martinsville or Abernathy is the kind of furniture you'll want to live with for a long time.

The mood is modern, a mood set by the charming bedroom suites being displayed at Frazier's.

For the Dining Room

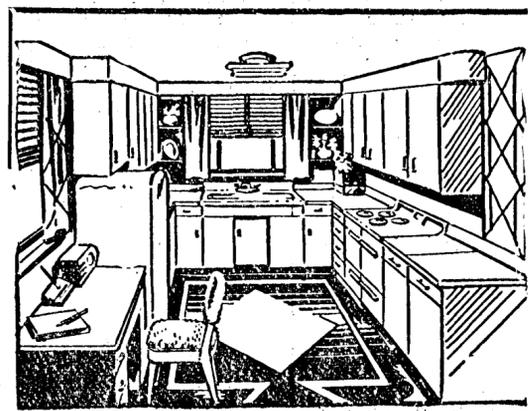

You can have the finest in dining room sets if you'll choose one of Frazier's Birchcraft, maple, or walnut sets.

Beauty, durability, comfort—and all at a price that you can afford. Even if you're not planning to buy, you ought to come in just to SEE these sets. They're lovely.

For the Kitchen

Frazier's is convinced that the kitchen is the most important room in the house. That's why they feature Philco appliances, Armstrong and Gold Seal floor coverings, and Daystrom steel furniture.

Comstock Couple Suffers Injuries in Auto Wreck

Car Hits Tree After Dropping Off Embankment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Haynes of Comstock were injured seriously in an auto accident about noon Sunday. They were taken to the Sacred Heart hospital at Loup City where hospital attendants described their condition as "good" Tuesday.

Safety Patrolman Otto Zapp of Ord said the accident occurred four and a half miles west and one mile north of Arcadia on the county line between Custer and Valley counties when the car, driven by Mrs. Haynes, brushed a mailbox, plunged off the road, and hit a tree head on.

The car was beginning to smoke when discovered by Ben Petet, about half an hour after the accident happened.

The cause of the mishap has not been determined. The car was headed north and dropped off a four-foot embankment before striking the tree. Mr. and Mrs. Haynes were returning home from church services.

Dr. Miller of the Sacred Heart hospital said Haynes suffered a fractured left hip, fracture of both bones in the left leg, dislocation of the left shoulder, skull fracture, multiple lacerations, and bruises.

Mrs. Haynes' injuries were listed as fracture and dislocation of right elbow, fracture of right upper leg, severe fracture of both legs at ankle, and multiple lacerations. The patrolman said the car was "almost completely demolished."

Future Homemakers to Meet at Hi School

The Ord chapter of the Future Homemakers of America will entertain District 5 of the organization at the high school on September 30. Delegates from Scotia, Burwell, Callaway, Stapleton, and Sargent will be here.

The meeting will be an all-day affair, with the Ord group serving a breakfast and a luncheon. A business meeting will be held with installation of new officers. Gladys Kokes, president of the Ord chapter, will be hostess to the group.

Real Estate Activity Continues

Movement of real estate in Ord continued during the week, with a combination of trades, new construction, and moves.

Jiro Kawata purchased the John Rowbal property, just east of Kawata's present home. The two adjacent homes will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jiro Kawata and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kawata. Mr. Rowbal has moved to another home in east Ord.

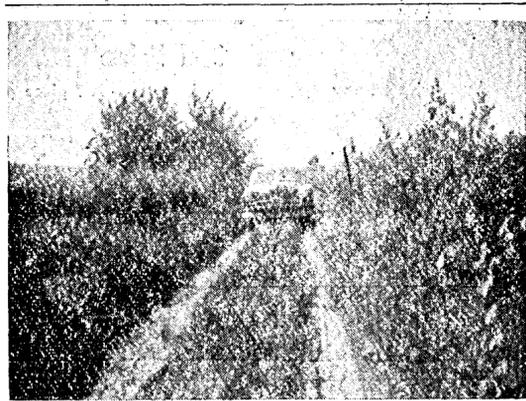

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rowbal and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Good have traded houses, and will both move soon. The Goods presently occupy a home at the corner of 17th and N streets, the Rowbals at 21st and J streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones are building a new home on the corner of 19th and M streets. The new home will be one story, of frame construction.

In another deal, Paul Duemey has purchased the building formerly occupied by Lenker's Machine Shop, and will move it to a new location on K street, between 16th and 17th. Foundation at the site has already been erected. The vacant lot left by the machine shop building will be graded and converted into a used car lot for the Ord Auto Sales Co.

W. D. Orcutt of San Jose, Calif. arrived here the first of the week to visit his grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Ramsey and also Mr. and Mrs. Vern Stark, Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Zikmund and family entertained at dinner Friday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melia and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Mrs. Louise Zikmund, Mrs. W. A. Bartlett and Jim Whiting.

Davis Creek Twp. Slow About Cutting Weeds

Both state law and common practice dictate cutting of weeds on mail route roads but at least one Valley county township is very lax in that respect, as this photo taken on Route No. 1 southwest of North Loup proves. This township road is in Davis Creek township and weeds have been allowed to grow high not only on the sides but in the center of the road as well. C. J. Goodrich, North Loup carrier, took this snapshot on Sept. 4. He has two miles like this south of the Howard Manchester place and another two miles near the Anton Psota

40 Foot Flame Signalizes Gas Turn-On Ceremony

Crowd of 700 Sees Ord Mayor Light Symbolic Torch.

Flames shooting forty feet into the air from a huge torch erected on M street signalized the turning of natural gas into 16 miles of pipeline in Ord Friday evening. Mayor F. L. Blessing lighted the ceremonial torch in a symbolic ceremony witnessed by a crowd of more than 700 Ord citizens, and attended by officials of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., city officials, commercial representatives and others.

100 Dine Here.

Prior to the turn-on ceremony, members of the K-N business and construction staff, the Ord chamber of commerce and others gathered at the Veterans Club for a banquet. Employees from other towns in the area served by K-N, including Loup City, Ravenna and Broken Bow were also here for the ceremony. More than a hundred were served at the club.

Bill Steen, president of the Ord chamber of commerce, acted as master of ceremonies for the evening, introducing L. E. Nelson, K-N vice-president, who traced the company's growth into Ord, and spoke briefly of incidents relative to the construction here. Mayor F. L. Blessing welcomed the company to the city.

Other introduced included Frank Soldan, sales manager; Harold Hollan, main line superintendent; L. F. Squier, district superintendent and D. W. Wilson, manager of the Ord installation.

Representatives of more than a dozen major appliance companies were also introduced.

Torch Lighted.

The climax of the evening came when the mayor, assisted by manager Wilson, lighted the huge torch, which was burned for 15 minutes.

K-N company officials expressed themselves as delighted with their reception in Ord. "Judging from what has happened so far, I think Ord will be one of the bright spots in our division," sales manager Frank Soldan told the Quiz.

Local manager D. W. Wilson said "with this kind of welcome I know we're all going to be very happy here. I want to thank everyone who came to greet us, and assure them that we appreciate their kindness and courtesy to the utmost."

Arcadia Next.

Construction work in Arcadia will soon be going full blast according to company officials. Work on the main line from the Ord-Loup City pipe line will start at once, and plans are being made for a similar turn-on ceremony in Arcadia by the middle or latter part of October.

In Ord this week, construction crews are busy testing and blowing the last few blocks of pipeline, and setting meters. As soon as work is cleaned up here, part of the crew will go to Arcadia, another part to Pleasanton. If right-of-way troubles are ironed out, the crews will then be shifted back here and Burwell to bring natural gas to that town.

Pays Fine of $20 for Procuring Liquor for Minors

Knute Peterson is Found Guilty of Assault Charge.

Procuring liquor for minors cost Ronald True of Arcadia $31.60 in Valley county court this week. Judge Ciochon levied a fine of $20, plus $11.60 in court costs when True pleaded guilty to a charge filed by County Attorney Ralph Norman last Tuesday.

True was arrested on Labor Day. A second case occupied the court Tuesday morning. Knute Peterson was brought to trial on an assault and battery charge filed by the county attorney Thursday.

The complaint grew out of an altercation involving Peterson and his brother, William, on September 9. A plea of guilty was entered by the defendant and Judge Ciochon fined him $10 plus costs of $7.20. The fine was paid and the defendant was released.

Peterson was found guilty of a similar offense about a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George Zikmund and family entertained at dinner Friday evening. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melia and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Griffith, Mrs. Louise Zikmund, Mrs. W. A. Bartlett and Jim Whiting.

Cooking School Here October 3

A free cooking school to show methods of gas cooking and preparation of food will be staged Tuesday, Oct. 3, at the Ord Theatre.

The school, sponsored by the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., will feature Bob Hambrick, Universal gas range specialist, who will do actual cooking and serving of foods. Door prizes will be given.

An advertisement on another page of this issue will give further details of the school, which will be open to everyone.

Breeders Will Hold Field Day at Madison

The Loup Valley Dairy Breeders Non-Stock Co-op association of Ord this week sounded an invitation to the annual field day of the Wisconsin Scientific Breeding Institute to be held next Monday five miles east of the Capitol at Madison, Wis.

A program has been arranged with speakers, dairy exhibits and demonstrations.

The association is one of the 75 cooperatives and breeding services furnishing semen from the proved bulls of the Institute to dairymen in seven states.

County Loses Suit for Compensation

William Beams of Arcadia won his action in the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation court, according to a decision rendered Friday by Judge Albert Arms, who heard the case.

Beams was employed by the county on a road maintainer and his neck was broken on April 12, 1949 when the maintainer upset.

He was paid full compensation for 30 weeks, after which payments ceased.

He filed an action against Valley county which was heard by Judge Arms at Ord on August 23. The judge took the case under advisement and found that Beams remains totally disabled. He was awarded $18 a week for 244 weeks and $12 a week thereafter for life, or while the total disability remains.

Davis and Vogelantz represented Mr. Beams and Herbert E. Story of Omaha represented the insurance carrier for Valley county.

It is not known whether there would be any appeal taken from the decision by the insurance company on behalf of the county.

Four More Ordites Report for Duty With Armed Forces

Services Digging Deeper Into Manpower Supply.

With the armed forces digging deeper and deeper into the manpower supply, Valley county men are leaving in increasing numbers to meet the call.

Harold Philbrick has received his orders to report to Fort Riley, Kans., on October 3. Harold will go into service as a corporal. He is married.

Donald Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andersen, left Monday for Hastings, where he had enlisted in the navy, Saturday. Don's wife and child will remain in Ord.

Two Ord men became members of the "Nebraska Platoon" of the Marines when they enlisted Sunday at Hastings. Ernie Christoffersen and Clarence "Kay" Stone reported Tuesday to be sworn in.

Christoffersen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Christoffersen while Stone's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Stone.

Over the state, corn can be found in stages from milk to well dent. In Valley county, temperatures stayed above 50 degrees, hurrying the corn along. About a third of the crop is in the hard dough stage.

With nearly half of the winter wheat crop planted, general rains fell. The moisture was needed particularly in the western part of the state, where dust storms have plagued farmers all summer.

Nearly an inch of rain fell during the week in Ord, according to measurements made by Horace Travis, local weather observer. Temperatures held fairly constant, with a high of 80 on Monday and a low of 51 Thursday.

Wm. Goff Chosen Senior-Vice Cdr. District 12 VFW

Ord Post Auxiliary Gives Initiation Ceremony at G. I.

Wm. Goff, commander of Ord Post 7029, was elected senior vice-commander of District 12, Veterans of Foreign Wars at a district convention held in Grand Island Sunday. The district embraces Grand Island, Broken Bow, Burwell, Ord, Taylor, Ravenna, Anselmo, Ansley, Dunning, Loup City and St. Paul.

The Holdrege offensive started rolling early in the game and late in the first period Henry Poole snatched over from the two-yard line. The touchdown was set up by a 40-yard punt return by Chuck Haines. Poole's kick for conversion was wide.

Later in the first half, the only sustained offensive drive displayed by Ord got underway. Operating from a spread T formation, Wolfe and Moore alternated in carrying the ball into Duster territory. With the ball on the Holdrege 28, the half ended—and with it ended Ord's scoring opportunity.

After Holdrege kicked to Ord to start the second half, Ord gambled on a line play on fourth down. Failing to make the necessary yardage, Ord gave up the ball on its own 33.

Holdrege got down to the Ord 14-yard line in seven plays and then Poole plunged and twisted his way through a maze of Ord defenders to score the second Duster touchdown. This time his kick for the point was good.

The Chants outplayed Holdrege in the fourth quarter, with Duster coach Jess Keifer using his reserves freely. The Chants regrouped.

VFW Will Retain Members in Service

Members of the Ord post of the VFW called into service will have their national, state and local membership dues paid by their home post for the period of time they are on active duty.

Five members of the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars have been called back to service since the start of the Korean conflict.

The decision to furnish free memberships to men on active duty was made at the regular meeting of the post Monday evening at the Veterans club. In addition to memberships, the post, in cooperation with the county service officer, will attempt to set up record files of every man in Valley county called into service. In these files, in so far as possible, would be kept all vital information on wounds, disabilities, transfers, etc.

"When this war is over, the information will be vital," John J. Muzab, county service officer, told the Quiz. "If we can start compiling this information now, and keep up to date files on the men in service from this area, we will be able to avoid a lot of the trouble that our World War II veterans are having in establishing their rights to veterans benefits."

City Signs Contracts for Airport Building

Contracts were signed at the special meeting of the city council Thursday enabling work to begin on the administration building at the Ord municipal airport.

A slight increase in funds available was voted, with the city furnishing up to $3,000 on the building, the Department of Aeronautics (state) another $3,000.

Holdrege Dusters Drop Chants, 13-0, in Curtain-Raiser

Team Is Scraggy; Shows Promise of Improvement.

A classy Holdrege Duster football team had little trouble in out-playing the Ord Chanticleers on a soggy field at Holdrege, Friday evening, but were held to a respectable 13-0 score by the scraggy Chants.

The Holdrege offensive started rolling early in the game and late in the first period Henry Poole snatched over from the two-yard line. The touchdown was set up by a 40-yard punt return by Chuck Haines. Poole's kick for conversion was wide.

Authorities said Thomas had been dead from four days to a week.

Lee Thomas, son of Claud Thomas of North Loup, was found dead Saturday evening at his home just over the Garfield county line, by neighbors. Authorities and his brothers and father in North Loup were notified and officers and Dr. Smith decided death was due to diphtheria. Neighbors had not seen Thomas for two weeks and Saturday when they did not see him in town went to the home to see what might be the trouble and found him dead.

Mail was in the mail box from the sixth of September, and a bundle of mail on the table had not been opened, indicating that he had been ill for several days before death came. A month ago the Thomas family had a picnic in the Ord park which Lee attended and at that time he said he would see them all Popcorn days. When he did not come, his family feared he might be ill and planned to go up Sunday to see him.

The marriage of Miss Betty Bruha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruha, sr., to Leonard Mroczek son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Mroczek of Loup City, was solemnized at 9:00 a. m. on Monday, Sept. 18, in Our Lady of Perpetual Help church in Ord.

Following the ceremony the wedding dinner and supper was served at the Legion Hall for friends and relatives. The four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table.

Marjorie Swanek took care of the gifts and Martha Okresza had charge of the guest book. A dance, honoring the newlyweds, was held that evening in the Ord Bohemian Hall with Ed Vlasek and his orchestra furnishing the music.

The bride appeared wearing a gown of white slipper satin with the full skirt falling into a train. The front of the fitted bodice was of lace over satin with a Peter Pan collar and tiny satin covered buttons down the front.

The bride was graduated from the Ord high school with the class of 1948 and since has been employed as a dental assistant for Dr. F. L. Blessing. The bridegroom was graduated in 1947 from the Loup City high school and is now working with the Union Pacific railroad in North Platte.

Obituary

Clarence Bruner

Clarence Bruner, son of Albert and Mary Bruner, was born at Sargent, April 14, 1881, and passed away at the Veterans' hospital in Grand Island, Sept. 14, 1950, at the age of 69 years and five months.

Clarence spent his early life on a farm near Sargent, enlisting in the U. S. Army on Oct. 5, 1917, at Broken Bow. He served his country honestly and faithfully during World War I, seeing active combat at the Marne and Meuse Argonne offensives. It was during this service that he was severely gassed and as a result later developed a lung affliction from which he never recovered. He received treatment in various Veterans' hospitals but received little relief from his serious ailment.

He received his release from the Army on May 18, 1919 and upon returning to civilian life was employed at Lodgepole, Neb., until 1922 when he moved to Edgemont, S. D., and was employed by the Burlington railroad for a time.

On May 8, 1924, he was married to Evelyn Reeder, at Hot Springs, S. D. Four sons were born to this union: Leland, Dale, Gayle and James.

His health failing in 1925 he was confined to hospitals the greater part of the time for the balance of his lifetime. He made many friends because of his cheerful smile and friendly attitude. In spite of his suffering, he thought more of the trouble of others than he did of himself. He will be greatly missed by his family and friends.

Surviving are his wife, Inez, four sons, Leland, Dale and James of Richmond, Calif., Gayle of Denver, Colo. Three brothers, Frank and Lew of Denver, Colo., Ned of Arvada, Colo. Five sisters, Mrs. Hettie Guggenmos, Denver, Colo., Mrs. Ben Petet, Constock, Mont., Mrs. Bertha Pettit, Hamilton, Mont., Mrs. Mamie Guggenmos, Vera, Saskatchewan, Canada; Mrs. Lester Bly, Arcadia, and one granddaughter, Sharon Lee Bruner, besides many other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Arcadia at 2 p. m. Monday, Sept. 18, 1950. Rev. E. T. Gunsolley officiated. Music was furnished by a duet, Rae Jean Gogan and Ruth Masters who sang two beautiful songs and they were accompanied by Mrs. Kermit Erickson.

Pall bearers were World War I veterans and they were Lyle Lutz, Lewis Summers, L. H. Bulger, Robert Hill, H. D. Weddel and William Gregory.

The Arcadia post of the American legion were in charge of the services at the grave. Burial was in the Douglas Grove cemetery west of Constock and in the family plot. The Hastings-Pearson mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Scotia Library Is 25 Years Old

This week marks the completion of 25 years of community service by the Scotia public library.

It was founded in 1925 by the Womens Club of Scotia and has grown to a point where it takes care of the community's reading needs with 4,700 volumes.

Mrs. Bert Ammerman and Mrs. Frank Miller were on the first library committee of the club, which was headed by Mrs. Frandsen in 1925. They began work with a traveling library from the state capital and a few donated books. A room in the bank building was used as a reading room.

At first there were no public funds to support the project, but eventually the town board levied one mill to enable them to carry out the work.

The library was housed in a small building on the east side of main street in the south block, which was torn down some time ago. It is now located in the south-east corner of the power house.

Mrs. Dan Sautter, the librarian, reports that over 200 new volumes were purchased last year. On a busy Saturday, as many as 100 books are checked out to patrons.

The library is open from 3:30 to 5:00 p. m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and is also open from 7:00 to 9:00 on Saturday evenings.

Top Rank to Omaha Market Again Monday

Total livestock supply Monday at Omaha crowded the 50,000 mark, including 43,000 on sale, for top rank among the major markets for the third consecutive Monday. Western supply hit a new high for the season, the run including some 16,000 range cattle and calves and 9,000 range sheep and lambs.

Stocker and feeder cattle and calves sold steady to strong. Plain to medium 2 and 3-year-old feeder steers brought $25 to $28.25, yearling feeder steers weighing 775 scored $31.50, and good to choice yearling stock steers cleared at $30-$33, the latter figure equaling Omaha's all-time high. Better stock heifers brought $28-$29, the latter also a record-matcher. Grassfat heifers sold for slaughter at up to $26. Steer and heifer calves bulked at $30-$36, some steer calves held higher.

Fat lamb prices broke 50-75c, best Westerns $28.25, top natives $28. Fed yearlings sold at $24.50. Slaughter ewes held at $12-$13.75. Feeder lambs were also steady, six loads 77-pound Wyoming's equaling the record $29.50 set the week before. A load of 54-pounders brought $29.35. Short-term breeding ewes brought $16-$17.50, two loads Western ewe lambs $29.

The fat cattle market Monday at Omaha was steady to 25c up, best trade $29 up and the advance applying mainly to better yearlings. Bulk of the run went fat $28.50 to $31, better steers and yearlings $31.50-$32.50, the latter mark best loadlot figure since last February. Plain short-feds sold down to $25 but not many under $29.50. Heifer top was $30.50. Cows sold steady to 25c higher, canners and cutters $17-$19, beef to $22.50. Bologna bulls sold to $24.50, beef to $23; and vealer top held at $31.

The hog market was steady to a quarter lower, butchers weighing 180 to 300 $20.25 to $22, sows weighing 270 to 550 $18 to $21; stags $15-$17.

Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from Valley county: Elmer Bredthauer, 20 steers, wt. 1091, $50.25; 3, wt. 900, $29. Lloyd Geweke, 22 steers, wt. 1112, $22.

Elmer Bredthauer, 18 steers and heifers, wt. 1032, $29.

Will Poth, 19 steers, wt. 1374, $32.25 (top Sept. 13); 21 hogs, wt. 367, $20.75.

Elmer Bredthauer, 19 steers, wt. 1098, $31; 3, wt. 1073, $29.

Davy Jones Locker Yields Bizarre Torpedo Souvenir

WHEN the "Lady Nelson," flagship of the Canadian National Steamships' fleet returned to Boston from a cruise to the West Indies, Capt. Neil J. Roach had a bizarre souvenir aboard. It was part of a German torpedo which ripped through the side of the "Lady Nelson" in March 1942, as the ship was tied to her dock at Castries, Island of St. Lucia. The U-boat sank the "Lady Nelson" to the bottom of the harbor, killing 18 men and injuring 34 others. The ship, however, kept on an even keel with her upper deck above water. Later she was salvaged and towed to Mobile, Ala., to be refitted as Canada's first hospital ship. After the war the "Lady Nelson" returned to the Canadian-Boston-West Indies service. The steel "torpedo" chamber section was found during harbor dredging operations at Castries late in June and a section was given Captain Roach by Commander Frank Melbourne, harbor master, to keep aboard the "Lady Nelson."

COOKIE FAVORITES

For a mid-afternoon snack, oatmeal cookies, milk and fruit have always been a great favorite. These Old Fashioned Oatmeal Cookies are quick and easy to make for they are made by a one-bowl method that eliminates many time-consuming steps. For year-round cookie eating pleasure, try these old-fashioned favorites.

OLD FASHIONED OATMEAL COOKIES: 1 cup sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, soft, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons water, 2 cups rolled oats, uncooked, 1/4 cup chopped nuts (optional), 1/4 cup raisins (optional). Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugar, egg, vanilla and water. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Add rolled oats, nuts and raisins, mixing thoroughly. Shape by hand or drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet; flatten with the bottom of a glass covered with waxed paper. Decorate with additional raisins if desired. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Holdrege Dusters Drop Chants, 13-0, in Curtain-Raiser

Team Is Scrappy; Shows Promise of Improvement.

Holdrege ball carriers behind the line several times and recovered a pair of Duster fumbles. The evening had its bright spots for Rolly Moore's team, despite the loss. Holdrege has an up-and-coming team this year, while Ord is on the downward swing of the pendulum after last year's championship. Bobby Moore turned in several sparkling runs during the evening and handled the ball particularly well. Wolfe gave a good account of himself and with a couple of games under his belt will be a major threat. Withewax played a whale of a game, both offensively and defensively, while Frank Adamek, the iron man of the Ord team, did a bang-up job, both as a player and as captain of the team. Paul Penas, towering left end, got off some fine punts and drew praise for his defensive work. All in all, the handful of Ord fans that followed the team to Holdrege were more than satisfied with the Chants' performance. By the middle of the season they'll be ready to give any team a real tussle. Ends—Laursen, Penas, Wozniak. Tackles—Piskorski, F. Adamek, Iwanski, Nelson. Guards—Bredthauer, Geneski, Andersen, Van Winkle, Mason. Centers—Witherwax, L. Adamek, Crosley. Backs—Moore, Wolfe, Falter, L. Adamek, Crosley. Holdrege— Ends—M. Nelson, Fandy, Solomon, Olson. Knowledge Pays In Search For Uranium-Ore Jackpot

Samples of uranium—the magic ore of the Atomic Age—are arriving at the U. S. geological survey in cookie jars, candy boxes, perfume bottles, and cigar boxes. At least the senders of these packages hope their offerings assay 20 per cent or more uranium oxide. For there is a thirty-two thousand dollar jack pot, including a ten-thousand dollar bonus from the government, at the end of the rainbow for the lucky prospector who can turn up a 20-ton deposit with the required uranium content. But all is not uranium that registers bonanza hope with the would-be fortune hunters. The 300 to 400 samples of rock and sand which the public sends monthly to be tested for fissionable materials in the geological survey's Washington laboratory are mostly "junk," according to John C. Rabbitt, chief of the trace elements section. Letters accompanying the samples often reveal current misinformation. One farmer wrote that he believed there was uranium on his land because he felt badly and the cows were jumpy when he started milking. Another correspondent sent in some rocks with the explanation that he had caught the sun casting two shadows from the spot where they lay on his farm. Did uranium make the sun act strangely? Still another had seen a strange blue light one night in a marsh on his farm. It was—it must be—uranium, he declared.

Pop Corn Days at North Loup Called 'Best in Years'

Barbara Hudson Crowned Queen of Celebration.

The 49th annual Pop Corn Days celebration at North Loup last week was called "the best in years" by those who have attended the big fiesta every year since the turn of the century. The crowning of the queen Wednesday climaxed the celebration. Barbara Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson, was chosen as Queen of Pop Corn Days, with the High Way View club in charge of the coronation. Mrs. Gilbert Babcock was chairman of the coronation committee. Attendants were queens of the past ten years. Train bearers were Barbara Babcock and Ida Jensen. The new queen is a member of the North Loup high school class of 1950 and is majoring in home economics at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. High Class Parades. The highlights of Wednesday's program were the juvenile parade and the horse show. The parade attracted about 30 entries, led by a rhythm band from District 14, of which Miss Kokes is teacher. Maxine Coppeland was in charge of the parade. Prize winners in the stroller class were Diana Jacobs as Queen of Hearts and Danny Wolfe as Little Boy Blue. In the tricycle class, Elliott Johnson won first and Susan Hudson was second. Larry Mulligan topped the coaster wagon division with Vicky Jo Vogeler second. Sandra Barber and Betty Jorgensen won prizes in the doll buggy division. Patsy Thorngate and Wilma Vodetel, who represented Halloween, were the only entries in the bicycle division. In family groups, Mrs. Grace Jensen's family was first and Marilyn Van Horn's was second. Lynn Schauer took first place in the pets class, while Phyllis Sheldon was the winner in the miscellaneous group. The Dunklau children and Deanna Willoughby were second. Fine Horse Show. The Burwell band furnished the music on Wednesday's program, performing before the parade and the horse show. Nearly 40 business firms from North Loup, Ord, and Scotia sponsored the horse show, directed by Vernon Thomas. Seventy riders from Ravenna, Spring Creek, Ord, Loup, Scotia, Burwell, Litchfield, Scotia, and North Loup competed for the $175 in prizes and ribbons in 15 events. Besides the crowning of the queen, entertainment on Wednesday evening consisted of a concert by the Burwell band and free acts by the Fuller family of Hastings.

Longevity Shows Increase Throughout Whole World

Life is longest in the English-speaking and Scandinavian countries, women live longer than men practically everywhere in the world except India, and Russia is at least a generation behind the United States in longevity. First as to longevity is New Zealand, where the most recent data—that for 1934-1938—record an expectation of life at birth of 67 years, a level reached among white persons in the United States in 1945. Other leading records are: 65.3 years for Australia in 1932-1934; 66.3 for the Netherlands during the pre-war decade; 66.7 for Denmark in 1941-1945, the time of war and occupation; 65.6 for Sweden in 1936-1940; and 65.3 years for France in 1947. For Germany the figure was 61.4 years in 1932-1934, which is practically the same as for the United States near that time. A somewhat lower level is shown generally for the remainder of Western and Central Europe, while Eastern Europe and most of the Latin American countries have a still poorer record. The most recent information available for Russia in Europe is for 1926-1927, when the expectation of life was 44.4 years.

Specialist Predicts Toes Will Disappear

WASHINGTON.—A foot specialist predicts that 10,000 years from now nobody will suffer from ingrown toenails. The reason is simple. By 11,948 A. D., people will have practically no toes. Hence, no toenails. Dr. William J. Sticker, executive secretary of the National Association of Chiropractors, said: "Feet, as we know them today, are on their way out." At the end of 10,000 years, he says, the little toe will be completely gone. The other toes will be so retarded that the foot will look more like a hoof. Shoes—and what some comic has laughingly called progress—are to blame. "As long as man used his toes to clamber up a tree, as long as he walked barefoot through the mud and let it squiggle up between his toes, there was some point in being a toe. And toes were happy. And then, shoes. Toes were caged. Discontented, they allowed nails to grow in and bunions to grow out. Go to any beach and try to get to the foot of the problem. For every 1,000 lovely faces, or figures, or nicely shaped ears, it's difficult to locate one pair of decent feet. Dr. Sticker aired his views in connection with National Foot Health week. "I have studied the problem carefully," he said, "and have decided there is nothing rational the chiropractor can do to arrest evolution."

"Sucker State"

For years Illinois residents have quipped at the unfortunate nickname, "Sucker State," which was applied to their fair territory in the early 1800's. However, the nickname isn't as bad as it sounds, because the earliest use of the term "sucker" was "one who lives by his wits." This meaning, explains the research experts, stems from the sucker fish which attaches itself to a large fish to obtain transportation and food. Illinois embassament springs from the new meaning of the word "sucker," which is a greenhorn, dupe, or easy mark. This unfortunate change has caused the state to plug for its new nickname, "The Prairie State."

Meaning of "Gold-Filled"

The term "gold-filled" does not mean some other metal filled with gold, but a gold shell filled with a core of strong metal alloy. The process of gold-filling is made possible by the strange fact that a rod of metal alloy encased in gold can be rolled, drawn, and otherwise worked down to the smallest size without breaking or destroying the gold covering. The process starts with a tube of 12-carat gold, about a foot long and an inch and a half in diameter. Into this is pushed a solid rod of the alloy, and the two are united by a thin layer of solder.

Cattle X Disease

Animal health investigators are no closer to discovering what causes X disease in cattle, but they're pretty sure that DDT is not causing it. Statements issued a few months ago pointed the finger of suspicion at DDT, a widely used insecticide. But research has now proved that the suspicion was groundless. The presence of X disease before the use of DDT, its occurrence on farms where DDT has not been used, and absence of the insecticide in tissues of known cases of X disease is positive evidence that DDT is not involved.

Hot Water System

It is not advisable to drain the boiler and pipes of a home hot water heating system and to put in fresh water before using again in the fall. Draining and refilling a hot water system adds scale and oxygen, and it should not be done unnecessarily. When necessary to drain and refill, boiler compound should be added to the water to prevent rust and scale formation.

Motorist, 91, Stands on Head to Prove He's Healthy

SALT LAKE CITY.—A 91-year-old motorist here thinks he's in better health than most younger drivers. He has one convincing argument.

Mads M. Christensen stands on his head to silence skeptics. The enthusiastic motorist drives a 1923 model car. "I'd be dagnabbed if I would want to go back to the old horse-and-buggy days," he smiles. He bought the car 23 years ago.

Christensen credits his health to eating only two meals a day, growing a beard and not smoking or drinking. He thinks men would be healthier if they wouldn't shave.

Exhibits in the Ladies Dept.

Exhibits in the ladies department were in charge of Mrs. Ign Pokraka, with Mrs. Alvin Tucker in charge of fancy work, Mrs. John Kriewald of rugs and quilts, Mrs. Hilja Hanson of flowers, Mrs. Carroll Babcock of canning, Alice Johnson of the school exhibits and Mrs. Vernon Thomas of 4-H work. There was not as much fancy work as some years, but in the flower show there were 99 entries. Mrs. Lucy Cress won the grand prize with an arrangement of asters. In the canning department, the exhibit was large and of splendid quality. Much of this came from Ord and Elba.

F. J. Schudel was chairman of the general committee.

F. J. Schudel was chairman of the general committee, with Dell Barber co-chairman. Other members of the original committee were Ben Nelson, Joe Velcha, Roy Cox and Vernon Thomas. Appointed committee members were John Kriewald, ladies exhibit hall; John Edwards, concessions; Derwin White, electing queen; Charles Zanger, assisting with the horse show; Paul Madsen, with the popcorn; Ed Burrows, in charge of the corn show with Charles Sanders assisting; Martin Dunklau assisting Roy Cox with entertainment, Ben Sintek, seats and grounds.

The agriculture exhibit was in charge of Ed Burrows. A large display of corn was on exhibition, but little of it was ripe. More than $250 in prizes was offered by hybrid seed corn companies with dealers in this area.

Other agriculture exhibits were larger than usual and were of top quality. Charles Sanders and Hugh Adams helped with the exhibits. C. C. Dale acted as judge. The committee worked together to make the celebration a success and is grateful for the co-operation of everyone, including neighboring towns.

The use of the Joe Fajmon's was the main feature in the event.

Twombly-Schwarzal Group Holds Reunion

Navy Jones Locker Yields Bizarre Torpedo Souvenir

When the "Lady Nelson," flagship of the Canadian National Steamship's fleet returned to Boston from a cruise to the West Indies, Capt. Neil J. Roach had a bizarre souvenir aboard. It was a part of a German torpedo which ripped through the side of the "Lady Nelson" in March 1942, as the ship was tied to her dock at Castries, St. Lucia. The U-boat which sank the "Lady Nelson" to the bottom of the harbor, killing 16 men and injuring 34 others. The ship, however, kept on an even keel with her upper deck above water. After she was salvaged and towed to Mobile, Ala., to be re-fitted as Canada's first hospital ship. After the war the "Lady Nelson" returned to the Canadian-Boston-West Indies service. The steel torpedo chamber section was found during harbor dredging operations at Castries late in June and a section was given to Capt. Roach by Commander Frank Melbourne, harbor master, to keep aboard the "Lady Nelson."

COOKIE FAVORITES

By Mary Alden

For a mid-afternoon snack, oatmeal cookies, milk and fruit have always been a great favorite.

These Old Fashioned Oatmeal Cookies are quick and easy to make for they are made by a one-bowl method that eliminates many time-consuming steps.

For year-round cookie eating pleasure, try these old-fashioned favorites.

- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
 - 1/2 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 cup shortening, soft
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 tablespoons water
 - 2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 - 1/2 cup raisins (optional)
- Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugar, egg, vanilla and water. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Add rolled oats, nuts and raisins, mixing thoroughly. Shape by hand or drop from a teaspoon onto greased baking sheet; flatten with the bottom of a glass covered with waxed paper. Decorate with additional raisins if desired. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Holdrege Dusters Drop Chants, 13-0, in Curtain-Raiser

Team Is Scruppy; Shows Promise of Improvement.

Holdrege ball carriers behind the line several times and recovered a pair of Duster fumbles.

Had Bright Spots.

The evening had its bright spots for Rolly Moore's team, despite the loss. Holdrege has an up-and-coming team this year, while Ord is on the downward swing of the pendulum after last year's championship.

Bobby Moore turned in several sparkling runs during the evening and handled the ball particularly well. Wolfe gave a good account of himself and with a couple of games under his belt will be a major threat.

Witherax played a whale of a game, both offensively and defensively, while Frank Adamek, the iron man of the Ord team, did a bang-up job, both as a player and as captain of the team.

Paul Penas, towering left end, got off some fine punts and drew praise for his defensive work. All in all, the handful of Ord fans that followed the team to Holdrege were more than satisfied with the Chants' performance. By the middle of the season they'll be ready to give any team a real tussle.

Specialist Predicts Toes Will Disappear

WASHINGTON.—A foot specialist predicts that 10,000 years from now nobody will suffer from ingrown toenails.

The reason is simple. By 11,948 A. D., people will have practically no toes. Hence, no toenails.

Dr. William J. Stickel, executive secretary of the National Association of Chiropractors, said:

"Feet, as we know them today, are on their way out."

At the end of 10,000 years, he says, the little toe will be completely gone. The other toes will be so retarded that the foot will look more like a hoof.

Shoes—and what some comic has laughingly called progress—are to blame.

"As long as man used his toes to clamber up a tree, as long as he walked barefoot through the mud and let it squiggle up between his toes, there was some point in being a toe. And toes were happy.

And then, shoes. Toes were caged. Discontented, they allowed nails to grow in and bunions to grow out. Go to any beach and try to get to the foot of the problem.

For every 1,000 lovely faces, or figures, or nicely shaped ears, it's difficult to locate one pair of decent feet.

Dr. Stickel aired his views in connection with National Foot Health week.

"I have studied the problem carefully," he said, "and have decided there is nothing rational the chiropractist can do to arrest evolution."

Knowledge Pays In Search For Uranium-Ore Jackpot

Samples of uranium—the magic ore of the Atomic Age—are arriving at the U. S. geological survey in cookie jars, candy boxes, perfume bottles, and cigar boxes.

At least the senders of these packages hope their offerings assay 20 per cent or more uranium oxide. For there is a thirty-two thousand dollar jackpot, including a ten-thousand dollar bonus from the government, at the end of the rainbow for the lucky prospector who can turn up a 20-ton deposit with the required uranium content.

But all is not uranium that registers bonanza hope with the would-be fortune hunters. The 300 to 400 samples of rock and sand which the public sends monthly to be tested for fissionable materials in the geological survey's Washington laboratory are mostly "junk," according to John C. Rabbitt, chief of the trace elements section. Letters accompanying the samples often reveal current misinformation.

One farmer wrote that he believed there was uranium on his land because he felt badly and the cows were jumpy when he started milking.

Another correspondent sent in some rocks with the explanation that he had caught the sun casting two shadows from the spot where they lay on his farm. Did uranium make the sun act strangely?

Still another had seen a strange blue light one night in a marsh on his farm. It was—it must be—uranium, he declared.

Longevity Shows Increase Throughout Whole World

Life is longest in the English-speaking and Scandinavian countries, women live longer than men practically everywhere in the world except India, and Russia is at least a generation behind the United States in longevity.

First as to longevity is New Zealand, where the most recent data—that for 1934-1938—record an expectation of life at birth of 67 years, a level reached among white persons in the United States in 1945.

Other leading records are: 65.3 years for Australia in 1932-1934; 66.5 years for the Netherlands during the pre-war decade; 66.7 for Denmark in 1941-1945, the time of war and occupation; 65.6 for Sweden in 1936-1940; and 65.3 years for France in 1947.

For Germany the figure was 61.4 years in 1932-1934, which is practically the same as for the United States near that time. A somewhat lower level is shown generally for the remainder of Western and Central Europe, while Eastern Europe and most of the Latin American countries have a still poorer record.

The most recent information available for Russia in Europe is for 1926-1927, when the expectation of life was 44.4 years.

Pop Corn Days at North Loup Called 'Best in Years'

Barbara Hudson Crowned Queen of Celebration.

The 49th annual Pop Corn Days celebration at North Loup last week was called the "best in years" by those who have attended the big fiesta every year since the turn of the century.

The crowning of the queen Wednesday climaxed the celebration. Barbara Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson, was chosen as Queen of Pop Corn Days, with the High Way Club in charge of the coronation. Mrs. Gilbert Babcock was chairman of the coronation committee.

Attendants were queens of the past ten years. Train bearers were Barbara Babcock and Ida Jensen. The new queen is a member of the North Loup high school class of 1950 and is majoring in home economics at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture.

High Class Parades

The highlights of Wednesday's program were the juvenile parade and the horse show.

The parade attracted about 30 entries led by a rhythm band from District 11, of which Miss Kokes is in charge. Maxine Coppeland was in charge of the parade. Prize winners in the stroller class were Diana Jacobs as Queen of Hearts and Danny Wolfe as Little Blue.

In the tricycle class, Elliott Johnson won first and Susan Hudson was second. Larry Mulligan topped the coaster wagon division with Vicky Jo Vogeler second. Sandra Barber and Betty Jorgensen won prizes in the doll buggy division.

Patt Thorngate and Wilma Vodehnal, who represented Hallock, were the only entries in the bicycle division. In family groups, Mrs. Grace Jensen's family was first and Merlyn Van Horn's was second. Lynn Schauer took first place in the pets class, while Phyllis Sheldon was the winner in the miscellaneous group. The Dunklauer children and Deanna Willoughby were second.

Fine Horse Show

The Burwell band furnished the music on Wednesday's program, performing before the parade and the horse show.

Nearly 40 business firms from North Loup, Ord, and Scotia sponsored the horse show, directed by Vernon Thomas. Seventy riders from Havana, Spring Creek, Ord, Leola, Scotia, Burwell, Litchfield, Scotia, and North Loup competed for the $175 in prizes and ribbons in 15 events.

Besides the crowning of the queen, entertainment on Wednesday evening consisted of a concert by the Burwell band and fre acts by the Fuller family of Hastings.

Floater Parade Is Large

The big float parade on Thursday afternoon was supervised by Mrs. Charles Zanger of the Fort-nightly club. The Ord and Scotia bands led the procession, followed by six floats in the rural school division. The rural schools represented comic strips. First place went to Malden Valley, Mary Frances Syboda, teacher, and second to District 11, Genevieve Bostel, teacher.

North Loup high school and grade school took first and second places in their division. The Nolo club and Rebekahs were prize winners in their class, representing holidays.

Of the dozen business floats, the Farmers store was judged the best. It featured a model ferris wheel depicting rising and lowering prices. Second place went to Maxine's beauty shop, with bathing beauties of 1900 and 1950.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago. — Jack Wilson, 50, of Arcadia was quite seriously hurt when hit by a truck. — The Valley County ACA was electing delegates and committee men. Charles Veleba was county head and R. Clare Clement and David D. Arnold were his assistants. — A total of 400 earth dams were being built in Valley county and much terracing and contouring was being done. — The Ord Cosmopolitan club had Coaches Roscoe Tolly, Max Hester and Warren Reeves as their guests. An editorial, "Agriculture and Civilization," written by John L. Ward for the Quiz, won second place at the Nebraska State fair. — Roosevelt signed the draft bill affecting all males between the ages of 21 to 35. — The Rettenmayer store at Arcadia celebrated its 53th year in business.

Twenty Years Ago. — Irrigation was first definitely proposed for the North Loup valley by B. M. Handenbrook in a talk before the Ord Rotarians. He spoke of a federal project covering irrigation, drainage and flood control. — A project was suggested by Mrs. Adair McMullen to make Fort Hartsuff into a D.A.R. forest. Just what connection Fort Hartsuff would have with the American revolution was not made clear. — The schools of the Loup valleys formed the Loup Valley conference. The conference is still a going concern today, but the membership has changed somewhat, with the larger schools formed into the Mid-Six. — A group of business men proposed to start a municipal telephone system in Ord, considering the rates charged by the Continental as too high. They failed to get the project past the state railway commission, however. — Rev. W. H. Wright of Tecumseh was the new Methodist minister, taking the place of Rev. J. H. Moorman, who was assigned to Pawnee City. — George Round, jr. was starting his agriculture page in the Quiz for the winter of 1930-31. — John J. Kepner, formerly of Arcadia, passed away at Grand Island at the age of 81 years.

Thirty Years Ago. — A special election was scheduled for Sept. 28 to raise money by a bond issue in the sum of $55,000 to build a city hall. The bonds carried and we have the hall. — The Beranek Drug store was to have a part in the release of homing pigeons, who were to be released at various stores over the middle west, to see which ones would make the best time in getting back to the home office in St. Louis. — Thead Nelson was advertising his land and personal property for sale at auction, the sale to take place Oct. 7. — Col. E. O. Bunch, Ord auctioneer, was advertising a clean-up of his personal property, himself to be the auctioneer. He had recently located in Greeley and this was the reason for holding the sale. — Miss Harriet M. Gudmundsen became the wife of Emil R. Fafeita. — Two old time residents of Mira Valley, formerly living on adjoining farms, passed away. Mrs. Margaret Armstrong died at Kimball and was buried in the Ord cemetery. Mrs. Josephine Vopat died in Alberta, Canada, and was buried there.

Legal Notices

Ralph W. Norman, Atty. NOTICE OF HEARING TO DETERMINE HEIRSHIP.

In the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska. In the Matter of the Estate of Maydellon Wilmoth, also known as Mrs. J. E. Wilmoth, deceased. To all persons interested in said estate, both creditors and heirs, take notice: That Ray C. Wilmoth who has a present interest in the real estate hereinafter described has filed a petition in this Court alleging that Maydellon Wilmoth died intestate on or about December 13, 1942, and being the owner of an interest in and to the NE 1/4 of Sec. 2 and the NW 1/4 of the NW 1/4 of Sec. 1, all in Township 20 North of Range 14 West of the 6th P. M., Valley County, Nebraska. Said petition further alleges that the Deceased left as her sole and only heirs at law James Edgar Wilmoth her husband and Ray C. Wilmoth a son. Said petition prays among other things that the allegations of said petition be found true; prays for a determination of the time of the death of the Decedent, a determination of her heirs, the degree of kinship and the right of descent of real property belonging to the Deceased, for a decree barring claims against said estate;

Chants Set to Meet Lexington Here

Football fans will see the Ord Chanticleers in action on the home field for the first time this year. Friday, when the Lexington Minute Men come here.

While the Chants were taking a 13-0 beating at Holdrege Friday night, Lexington had its hands full with Broken Bow. The Minute Men nosed out the Indians, 13-12. Big Don Hennek and Dave Thompson will be out to steamroller the Chanticleer defense. Lexington also has a passing attack that netted 62 yards on four plays against Broken Bow.

Squad in Good Shape. Coach Moore thinks that Ord will be in pretty good physical shape to meet Lexington. Team spirit is high, with the Chants determined to make a good showing in their first home appearance. "Buzz" Maurice has rejoined the squad, giving added speed to the Ord backfield. The team is recovering pretty well from the bumps and bruises handed out by the Dusters. John Piskorski, who was hobbling about on crutches the first of the week is his nimble self again and the entire team should be in condition to battle the Minute Men.

Friday Results. Here's what some of Ord's future opponents did in their first games Friday evening. Gothenburg 32, Loup City 0; Cozad 12, Curtis 6; Minden 12, Ravenna 7; Albion 37, Stanton 12. Kick-off time for all home games is 8 p. m. at the Ord athletic field.

Mustangs Beat Greeley 8-0

Pounded Out 11 Hits While Novosad, Beran Allowed Only 4.

The Ord Mustangs beat Greeley 8 to 0 in the first round of last week's tournament at Ericson, thereby qualifying to play against Spalding in the final round if and when played on the sand hills diamond. Spalding defeated Ericson the previous Sunday to gain their way to the finals. The finals originally were scheduled for tonight (Wednesday) but have been postponed.

Ord's players got 11 hits while Novosad and Beran held Greeley to only 4, in the game played Sept. 13. Dick Beran led Ord's hitting with 4 safe blows for 5 times at bat.

It was a wild and woolly ball game with the Ord players being twice embroiled with umpires, blows being exchanged in one encounter. Bill Novosad struck out 13 Greeley players in the 5 innings he worked, allowing 2 hits and walking nobody. Dick Beran finished, striking out 5 in 4 innings and allowing only 2 hits. The Greeley line-up included Bill Dugan, regular Mustang's shortstop, who got one of Greeley's four hits and performed faultlessly, at the short field.

Red Wings Bested 8-0 by Ord Mustangs in Exhibition

Mustangs Play Faultless Game; Bud Novosad Hits 1st Homer of Year.

The Sunday afternoon game between the Ord Mustangs and the Loup City Red Wings was billed as an "appreciation day" game, with gate receipts going to Ord's local players, and they showed their appreciation by playing near-errorless ball while banging out 11 hits to beat Loup City 8 to 0. Bud Novosad hit his first homer of the year in the first inning and for four frames it stood up to make the score 1 to 0 in Ord's favor. Then the Mustangs found the range and batted out ten more hits and scored 7 more runs to beat the Red Wings in a game held to 7 innings by agreement, because of the soggy condition of the field and the threat of rain.

Gene Turek went the route for the Red Wings while the Mustangs used three pitchers. Dick Beran, who hurled three innings and allowed only 1 hit, was the winning pitcher. Bill Novosad went 2, allowing 2 hits and Bill Beasley, pitching for Ord for the first time, tolled the last two frames, allowing one bingle.

Besides the run that resulted from Novosad's first inning round tripper, Ord scored two in the fifth, and five more in the sixth. The Red Wings were minus the services of a pair of players who contributed greatly to their league championship, Hendrix and Clark, and they presented a jumbled lineup with what was left, but failure to hit accounted for their poor showing.

Feeds

Prices on feeds have remained fairly steady this past week. We are now booking Soy Bean Meal Range Cubes for delivery in October, November and December. If interested we would be glad to quote prices for ton lots to be taken from carloads which will start to arrive in October.

Wayne Feeds

"It Pays to Feed the Best"

Another carload to arrive the first of next week. Place your orders for your hog, cattle or poultry feed to be taken off this next car. For greatest production at lowest costs, feed Wayne Feeds.

Grains

Prices had a bad break the first of the week but are a trifle stronger as this is being written. We are in the market for your grain. There are times when we are unable to take all the off grade grain that is offered to us. Let us have your offers of good wheat, corn, oats, rye or barley. We will always pay you the highest possible market price for your grain.

Five-Pound Bass Entered in Contest

Hard-working fishermen are still pouring in entries in the Quiz fishing contest. There seems to be no limit to the size of their catches when they really set their minds to it.

Beryl Gregory of Loup City makes bass anglers sit up and take notice with a catch that sealed exactly five pounds. He caught the big fellow in a creek south of Sherman county seat on August 21.

Adolph Jensen of Cotesfield turned in a 12 lb. 8 oz. catfish that will be hard to beat. He had a picture of it, but it was not clear enough to reproduce in the paper.

Burwell Livestock Market Friday, September 22

Last week, due to the weather, a lot of the cattle were not able to be in and we expect them to be here Friday. The cattle that did get in last Friday sold at very good prices with the top string of yearling steers going at $29.90 a cwt. We had a lot of eastern Nebraska and western Iowa buyers at this sale and expect them to be back again this week, as our runs are increasing each Friday.

It looks like several loads of good yearling steers and heifers again this week with smaller bunches of calves. Usual run of fat hogs and feeder shoats.

— Sale of Building —
On the premises at 12:30 o'clock sharp. The frame Style Shoppe building, just east of the Mobil station in downtown Burwell. This was damaged by fire recently but has a lot of good lumber in it. This building will sell to the highest bidder and must be torn down and moved off.

Special Feeder Sale
The next special advertising feeder sale is Friday, September 29. Weather and roads permitting, we should have 1000 to 1500 good cattle.

15th Annual Calf & Feeder Sale
Friday and Saturday, October 6 and 7

If you haven't talked to us about your calves do so at once so we can get you your place to sell in the auction.

Funeral Rites Held for Willie Stevens

Willie Stevens, 91, pioneer resident of the Cotesfield neighborhood, died at a Hastings hospital a week ago Sunday. He had been in poor health for some time, but had been in the hospital only a few days.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday of last week at 1:45 at the Raymond Stevens home and at the Free Methodist church near Cotesfield at 2:00 p.m. The rites were conducted by the Rev. J. C. Lanum of Ansley.

Six of Mr. Stevens' friends acted as pallbearers. They were Conrad Schmidt, Charley Keep, Edward Dishaw, J. W. Jeffries, E. S. Lind, and Carl Barnes, sr.

Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Scotia. Ashley mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

—Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Hurdor of Ansley celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday by holding open house. Rev. Hurdor is a son of Mrs. Emma Hurdor of Ord.

Exchange Vows in Omaha Monday

Our Lady Chapel of St. Cecilia's Cathedral in Omaha was the scene of a wedding Monday, Sept. 11, when Miss Darlene Savage daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alois J. Savage of Columbus and granddaughter of Frank Dubas of Elyria, became the bride of Harold Bart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bart of Howells in a double ring ceremony at the 10:00 a. m. nuptial mass performed by Rev. C. F. Broderson.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of slipper satin fashioned with the yoke of Chantilly lace. The long sleeves came to a point at the wrist and the skirt fell into a train. A tiara of pearls was worn with her long veil of candle light French illusion trimmed in Chantilly lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white roses.

Mary Ann Bart, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Adeline Dubas of Ord, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. William Ebner, Jr. of Columbus, friend of the bride were bridesmaids. All wore gowns of American beauty red fashioned with an off the shoulder neckline, fitted bodice and a flared skirt with a bustle effect. They wore picture hats with matching gloves and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations.

Richard Savage, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Donald and Maynard Bart, brothers of the bridegroom.

Susan Bonk, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown of American beauty red styled as the attendants. A tiny picture hat and a small basket of rose petals completed her costume.

A twelve o'clock dinner was served to the immediate families in the Crystal Room of the Rome Hotel in Omaha and between the hours of 2:30 o'clock and 5:00 o'clock the reception was also held in the Crystal Room. The three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was cut by Mrs. Stanley Bonk. Mrs. Cathy Kirke was in charge of the guest book.

The newly weds left on a trip to Denver and Colorado Springs. For her going away ensemble the bride wore a green suit with brown accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is now employed as secretary to the sales manager of Paxton Mitchell Co. in Omaha and the bridegroom is employed as clerk in the freight office of the C. B. & Q. They will reside at 700 North 40th St. in Omaha.

Marries Ord Man

Miss Marilyn Margaret Hildebrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hildebrand of Pawnee City, and Donald D. Walker, son of Mrs. George D. Walker of Ord were united in marriage on Sept. 8, at 2:00 p. m. in the Methodist church in Pawnee City.

Rev. W. N. Wallis performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with white gladioli, pink aster, palms and ferns. Mrs. George Sawyer, organist, accompanied Leonard Poole of Lincoln, who sang "Because," "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer." Preceding the ceremony, tapers were lighted by Bernice Walker, sister of the bridegroom, who was dressed in a gown of pink taffeta and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of nylon marquisette with Chantilly lace. The light fitting bodice was fashioned with a Peter Pan collar had self covered buttons in the front and back. The peplum was trimmed in Chantilly lace over a full bouffant skirt that ended in a court train.

Mrs. Walker chose a suit of brown and white check with red accessories and an orchid corsage for their wedding trip to the Black Hills. Upon their return they will make their home at 1317 L St., Apt. D-3, in Lincoln.

The bride is a graduate of the Lincoln School of Commerce and

God Give Us Men

Today our nation is facing one of the greatest crises in its history with a small but serious war being waged and a far more serious conflict looming in the background. What type of conflict that will be depends largely on whether men in high places take a determined stand, and take it soon. When action is needed we find these men, regardless of party, largely playing the game of politics, a game that does not inspire respect in the minds of those opposing us.

The present condition of world affairs cannot continue much longer. Whether the change, when it comes, will be peace or war must be determined by our actions today. Tomorrow may be too late. Historians tell, inaccurately, about Nero fiddling when Rome was burning. Nero had nothing on the politicians who are putting their own selfish interests ahead of the prestige of the nation with other nations.

In this crisis, God give us men! Today the true man will put his country first, last and always in his thoughts and actions. The nation needs such men, first in the high places, and then all down the line to laborer in the factory and field. If we work together and show to the world a united front the Korean trouble will soon be settled and no further conflict will develop.

God give us men, both in labor and management, men who can reach an agreement at the conference table and thus prevent all strikes, with their damaging effect on our economy at home and our standing among other nations. This is the time to forget petty differences in working for the good of all.

God give us men, with the courage to meet the facts face to face; men who will declare that a war which closed five years ago is actually over; men who have the courage to call the war in Korea a war and not just a police action. The Americans who are fighting over there are not police, but they are soldiers and are fighting a bloody conflict.

God give us men in high places who will make certain of their facts before any accusations are made, and then prove the claims they make; men who do not make one statement today and then find themselves forced to apologize tomorrow. This applies equally well to the legislative and executive branches of the government.

God give us men, both in the lawmaking and teaching departments of our nation, who have the courage to keep the teaching profession where it belongs, under the authority of the people who beget its citizens; teachers who will teach Americanism every day and who will fight each and every attempt to socialize our educational system.

God give us men who fight all efforts to socialize the field of medicine, who will realize that the hope of the nation lies in leaving this prerogative where it always has been, in the hands of the most self-sacrificing medical profession in the entire world.

God give us men in the high places in the church who will fight unceasingly against the present tendency to minimize the importance of our capitalistic system, and who will spend more time in efforts to save the souls of men, rather than charge their present economic status.

God give us men on the farms who will refuse to be misled by the many efforts of lawmakers to make their lot easier at the expense of their liberties and for the purpose of securing their votes; men of the old school who will refuse to let politicians do their thinking for them; men who will think for themselves.

God give us men in the production line who will strive every day for more and better production at less expense, for it is only the saving of every unnecessary cost that we can hope to survive as a nation.

God give us men in the writing field who have the courage to write unceasingly to the end that the world may know that this nation is a nation of decision; a nation that knows its future needs and is determined under God, to attain that objective.

GOD GIVE US MEN!

Preparedness

One fact cannot but impress the student of human nature, and that is that, no matter how well a person or a collection of persons called a nation is prepared, when the crisis comes they seem to be entirely unprepared. That is especially true in America, where people have been accustomed most of the time to be living in a state of comparative security.

Preparedness means being ready and having the means to meet any emergency when it arises. That is why a person today would not think of going on a trip without that extra tire and wheel, and with the tire well inflated. It is perhaps the reason that so many men wear both belt and suspenders.

The trouble is that we do not know just what to be prepared for. We may live in peace over a period of years, but there is the ever present threat of war just around the corner. We may raise a fine crop for a number of seasons, but there is ever the chance that there will be a total failure.

Individually we go on planning for the years to come, while we have no assurance that we will be alive tomorrow. We may be developing our lives along a certain line that will require many years for completion, and be buried long before the plan is completed.

As a nation there are so many things to prepare for. We might prepare for an era of peace and find ourselves plunged into war over some overt act that might develop over night. Life is always a condition of uncertainty and we have no possible means of knowing what is in store for us.

So we find ourselves preparing for war with the unfriendly nations and at the same time preparing for peace with the friendly people of the world, for nobody knows what is coming. It is well that this is so. If everybody knew just what the future held for them, many would consider life not worth the living.

The only thing we can do, as a Christian nation, is to do the best we can and put our trust in the Lord. Totalitarian nations leave God out of the equation and depend on their own strength. He is doubly armed whose cause is just.

Something Different

Is there any one trend that has altered our daily living more than the increasing hubbub about reducing, dieting, all the eating-correctly theories? It is quite a modern development you know.

It hasn't been so many years since the ideal meal was presumed to consist of meat, potatoes and gravy. Vegetables might be added if the cook was in the mood.

Well things are different, I wonder when and how it all began? Once oranges weren't too common. They were a Christmas treat. Now they are ordinary, no treat whatever. Oranges are shipped every week and Sunday too.

Somewhere between efficient truck gardening and speedy shipping, and pressure canning and electric or gas stoves, and newer yet, freezing our surplus materials somewhere in here, all our food habits have made a big shift.

And when and where did the doctors begin to emphasize losing weight, keeping your weight down and its great importance to health? This surely influenced the ever-increasing appearance of salads and fruits on our tables, and the cooking of vegetables by many other methods than drenching them with cream or thick cream sauce.

We have seen a lot of fancy reducing in our own town. I think Thelma Partridge Teague did one of the best jobs I have ever witnessed, losing 40 or 50 pounds in a year or less, yet not letting it interfere with her daily activities. She really enjoyed being thin and her new thinness, with her velvety dark eyes and dusky hair made her handsomer than ever before.

I think I remember Thelma use the grapefruit method, drinking a glassful an hour before meals. The theory is that after this sugary drink you go to the table with a picky appetite.

Mrs. George Hubbard has only the last few months lost 40 pounds or more, this under her doctor's orders. She says she feels immensely better and she really looks to be in good health, better than for several years.

Many a person has lost ten or twelve pounds, but this isn't mentionable to anyone with the grit to take off 40 pounds.

Wilma Anderson (Mrs. Asa) says the floats at the North Loup Popcorn days made an imposing show, being sufficient in number, clever in theme and altogether well turned-out.

Back in Lapeer, Michigan, said Wilma, when they get ready to have a parade with floats, they hire the floats made. Professional float-makers come in and do the job, working feverishly for three or four days, getting $150 for a lesser float and more for more of a float. And Wilma declared the floats in North Loup were the equal of these "bought" floats in Michigan!

One she thought particularly clever was 'Lil Abner and Daisy Mae—later I find it was the work of Genevieve Boyce and her young pupils, and that it won second prize. . . . Midvale school's first attempt at float-making! They were thrilled!

And the Easter egg float with cute bunny-like tots in colored sleepers and tall ears took her eye, of course.

She gave me quite a full report on the parade, and how attractive it was.

No, I didn't get to see the parade, or eat the popcorn or view the flowers, or the fine show. I was busy having the flu, enjoying the not-new view of my bedroom wallpaper.

Ward's Cookin' Column

One of the objects of writing this column is to give the readers something to smile about, often when things are breaking tough. I have a few of this type this week, and the recipe concerned will laugh just as loudly about them as anybody else, so here goes:

One day shortly before Pop Corn Days Rusty Petersen of North Loup was cutting a rank growth of Russian thistles (for which Russia deserves no thanks) that were growing on the back of the lot on which his service station is located. A local man wise cracked: "What'cha Doin' Rusty, making hay?" To which Mr. Petersen replied: "No, I am just getting in my winter's supply of wood."

The North Loup Lions entertained a group of Pop Corn boosters at their meeting before Pop Corn Days. John Haskell, a good Lion and also quite a linguist, was entertaining three North Loup girls who were seated near him. He spoke of language in the school curriculum and told of taking Latin in school, and that he had learned quite a lot of Bohemian in the course of his business life. Then he added: "I also understand a few words of — he paused a moment and one of the girls cut in with "English?" I don't know what John had expected to say, but he didn't get it said after that.

One of the clowns of the Fuller family gave the crowd something to laugh about for some time the other night when he got "Towhead" Swopes upon the platform and gave him a lesson in taking pictures a new way. For the benefit of the readers who did not see it, he had Ed blow into a tube at the back of the camera, and, falling in the first two attempts, he put all the power of his lungs into it, and the camera exploded. Swopes is still suffering from shell-shock it is claimed.

The Burwell band lived up to its reputation as a musical organization and gave Pop Corn visitors plenty to applaud. If the crowd had known that the Wranglers sent this band without any expense to the Pop Corn committee, no doubt the applause would have been much louder. But Burwell doesn't worry about getting credit for the many good deeds of its citizens.

No small amount of credit is due the Fajon Electric service of Ord for the public address system he installed it kept in perfect working condition all through the shows during Pop Corn Days. Joe has done this before, but he never did a better job than he did this year. Nature added to the perfection of the announcing system by giving about the finest weather for the occasion that has prevailed in many years.

North Loup had only two places where regular meals were served, but both of them were well organized, and nobody had to wait too long for a meal. They were the Portis Cafe and the S.D.B. eating establishment the next door west. Both were serving plenty to eat and at reasonable prices. There were also several short order stands on the grounds which did a fine business.

With Pop Corn Days No. 49 just over, already there is considerable talk of having a real time at the Golden Jubilee in 1951. A proposition like that calls for a lot of preparation, and a year is not too much time to make the affair the success it should be. Some of the ideas already advanced include having a King Pop Corn and also having an extra day of celebration.

While this talk is interesting, it may be premature. With international affairs in their present condition, we may be in a full-fledged war by this time next year, and then all such festivities might have to be called off. However, since Pop Corn Days is largely a local affair, it might still be permitted while bigger entertainments were curtailed.

When the show was first started popcorn was indeed king in this part of the North Loup valley, and this area grew more popcorn than any similar area in the world. Times have changed a lot since then, and this year one would have to go a long way to find a field of any size devoted to popcorn exclusively. But the show goes on, and always will, in the opinion of its many boosters.

Fifty years ago the century class of Ord high school was in its senior year. Next spring it will have been fifty years since one of the most famous classes of Ord high history graduated and went out into the world to accept the responsibilities of life. Today many of those 24 have passed on, but it would be fine if those who remain could get together for a golden anniversary.

While none of that class lives in Ord, there are still three within a short distance of Ord who could act as the committee on arrangements. They are Ava Clement Johnson of North Loup, Art Mensing, jr. of Burwell and John Rockhold of Comstock. Like all affairs of the kind, such a gathering would call for much preparation, and not all of the members still living would be able to attend, but it would be a fine thing if such a jubilee could be held.

In talking on this subject it might be well to go back a little farther to the first regular graduation class, the class of 1860. It was a small class, but in some ways one of the most noted classes the school has ever graduated. This class included Richard Laverty, Harold F. Foght, Edith Lucille Robbins, Mable Wilson McCord, Everett Williams and James Milford.

With the exception of Miss Robbins, I am not certain whether any of the class is now living. Richard Laverty spent most of his life as a member of the Laverty Live Stock company of South Omaha; Harold W. Foght was an educator and author of the "Trail of the Loup" and other important books; Miss Robbins specialized in music and has made it her life work; Mable Wilson chose marriage to a career, and married Harry McCord. At last reports they were living at San Pedro, Calif.; Everett Williams will be remembered as cashier and president of the First National Bank of Ord over a long period of years; and James Milford was for many years the son of Milford and Son, and later was sole owner of the business. He passed on in 1934. Yes, that was a great class.

I want to buy good food at real prices? Here are some prices I read in the Ord Quiz that might make your eyes bug out, if you will excuse the expression. There are corn flakes at 2 packages for 19 cents, shredded wheat 3 for 25 cents, pork and beans 6 cents a pound can, toilet soap 4 cakes for 19 cents, beef roast 15 cents, sirloin steak, hams and salami, 17 cents a pound, bacon 7 cents a pound, eggs 11 cents a dozen and butter 26 cents per pound.

But above isn't a fairy story, and it didn't happen away back in the dim and forgotten ages. Those are prices quoted from an ad of Safeway published in the Quiz for Aug. 7, 1940, ten years ago. It is published for a purpose and that is to try to make people realize the long way we have come along the inflation trail in just ten years. And the end is not yet. With another war on and making for scarcity of both food and manufactured goods and the accompanying higher prices, there is no telling where we may find ourselves ten years from now. Steaks may be selling for $2 a pound by that time and a dollar may be worth only 25c instead of the 50 odd cents it is today.

White Man's Vengeance Was Savage During Indian Warfare

Not from from Lewellen in Garden county, U. S. Highway 26 crosses Blue Water Creek, where in September, 1855, occurred one of the first many punitive battles waged by the U. S. Army against the Indians of the northern plains.

The cause of the conflict dates back to the summer of 1854, when a band of Brule Sioux massacred Lt. John J. Grattan and a detachment of soldiers sent out from Fort Laramie to avenge the killing of a worn-out Mormon cow by the Indians. Though Lt. Grattan—fresh out of West Point and ignorant of Indian warfare—brought about his destruction and that of his men by his own foolishness, General William S. Harney was sent out from Fort Leavenworth with 1,200 soldiers to punish the Sioux.

While camped at the mouth of Ash Hollow on the Oregon Trail, General Harney got word from his scouts that a band of Brules was camped on Blue Water creek, about six miles away. Though these were not the people responsible for Lt. Grattan's death, General Harney led his men to the Indian encampment under the cover of night. At daybreak he attacked, killing lots of innocent people, destroying their camp, and carrying off over 70 women and children.

General Harney then went on to Fort Laramie, with his men, as they marched their prisoners, singing: "We did not make a blunder, We rubbed out Little Thunder And we sent him to the other side of Jordan."

In his own report Harney admitted that the band of Brules on the Blue Water was blameless. This, though, didn't seem to matter. "If it had been any other band it would have been the same," he wrote. The whites during this period wanted blood—whose blood it didn't matter, just so long as it was that of red men.

Later, General Harney went on to Fort Pierre, in what is now South Dakota. There he negotiated a treaty with the Sioux. Presumably this treaty was to bring peace, but the attack on the Brules at Blue Water had made peace impossible. It led the Indians to believe that the white man's word could not be depended upon. It set off an Indian uprising that was to bathe the plains in blood, and that would not be put down for more than 20 years.

"Who needs plans to put in a furnace?"

Joe: "You! As a Lennox dealer, I'm wondering how you're gettin' any heat with this homemade set-up!"
Al: "Frankly, I'm getting too much—and payin' too much in fuel, too!"
Joe: "Serves you right. When I put in a Lennox Heating System, I see that it supplies the right amount of heat in the right places—economically. That's because I locate and install pipes, registers, and heat controls correctly!"
Al: "Hey—would a Lennox, ah, break me?"
Joe: "It would save you! Lennox systems for gas, oil, and coal are reasonable—planned and put in right to give years of trouble-free, economical heating. Want an estimate?"
Al: "In words of one syllable... PER GOSH SAKES YES!"

Obituary

ROLLA O. BABCOCK

Funeral services for R. O. Babcock were held Friday afternoon from the Seventh Day Baptist church, with Rev. F. D. Saunders officiating. Pall bearers were deacons of the church, Cecil Severance, George Clement, Arthur Stillman, Aubrey Davis and Vernon Williams and James Johnson. Music on the electric organ was played by Mrs. Harlan Brennwick. Burial was in Hillside cemetery, with Ashley mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Rollo Orville Babcock, son of Deacon N. W. and Louisa Davis Babcock, was born July 28, 1875, in Greeley county, and passed away Tuesday, Sept. 12, at the age of 75 years, following several months of failing health.

Born of devout Christian parents, he was a loyal Seventh Day Baptist, faithful to his church which he served as deacon for many years and in a number of other official ways.

Married November 24, 1900, to Estella Green, their home continued to be on the old home farm. Here his wife passed away in November, 1931. To them were born three sons, Wilson, who died at the age of one year, Rev. Orville W. Babcock, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church at White Cloud, Mich., and Richard O., member of the faculty of the North Loup schools; and three daughters, Mrs. Irma Keown of Scotia, Louis, who died at the age of three, and Mrs. Ruby Van Horn of Beloit, Wis.

On June 6, 1934, he was married to Leona Sayre, at Lanark, Ill. The home continued to be on the farm in Greeley county, till 1944, when they bought the Manchester house near the Seventh Day Baptist church, where he passed away.

His early education was obtained in the district school known as the Manse Davis school, and in later years he served as board member. When the district was consolidated with the Scotia schools, he became a member of that board, serving for 12 years, and holding the office of both president and secretary.

Besides farming, his father was a carpenter and Mr. Babcock inherited some of his ability to work with wood, and utilized that ability to the betterment of his home and the homes of those he loved as well as his church. The beautiful lawn and flower garden at his home, as well as the church lawn and building, which he and his wife cared for, were his joy and pride.

Surviving besides his widow, two sons and two daughters, are two granddaughters, 6 grandsons, two great granddaughters and one great grandson, one sister, Mrs. Winnie Clement of Riverside, Cal., a number of nieces and nephews and a host of friends.

Rev. O. W. Babcock of White Cloud, Mich., and Mrs. Paul Van Horn of Beloit, Wis., who had been here for the funeral of their father, R. O. Babcock, left early Monday morning for their home, driving to Beloit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Barrett and Mrs. Sarah Worrell left Friday morning for their home in Champagne, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. David Davis returned Saturday afternoon to their homes in Denver. Mr. and Mrs. Orsen Davis left Sunday morning. Both had been here for Popcorn days.

North Loup Farmer Dies of Diphtheria

Lee Stewart Thomas was born Oct. 8, 1903, and died Sept. 12, 1950, at the age of 46 years 11 months and four days.

He was the oldest son born to Claude and Millie Thomas on a farm south of Scotia, in Greeley county. Lee spent nearly his entire life near North Loup. At the age of two he, with his parents moved into the Riverdale community where he received his elementary education. At the age of 21 he moved to a farm some four miles north of the home of his parents, where he lived for five years. In 1930 he moved onto a place five miles southwest of North Loup, where he farmed for 11 years. The next 6 years he spent in partnership farming with his father, then buying a farm 11 miles north of Ord, where he spent the last 2 1/2 years of his life.

From the time he was 21, excluding the 6 years he spent in partnership farming with his father, Lee lived alone.

Lee was preceded in death by a brother and a sister who died in infancy, and his mother who died in August, 1948.

Surviving are his father and step-mother living in North Loup, two sisters, Viola Dutcher of Vancouver, Wash., Mrs. Russell Williams of Omaha, Neb., two brothers, Vernon and Carroll of the Riverdale community, four nephews, several nieces and numerous relatives and friends.

Lee Thomas, son of Claude Thomas of North Loup, was found dead Saturday evening at his farm home just over the Garfield county line, by neighbors. Authorities and his brothers and father in North Loup were notified, and officers and Dr. Smith decided death was due to diphtheria. Neighbors had not seen Thomas for two weeks and Saturday when they did not see him in town went to the home to see what might be the trouble and found him dead.

Mail was in the mail box from the sixth of September, and a bundle of mail on the table had not been opened, indicating that he had been ill for several days before death came. A month ago the Thomas family had a picnic in the Ord park which Lee attended and at that time he said he would see them all Popcorn days. When he did not come, his family feared he might be ill and planned to go up Sunday to see him.

Because of the contagious disease he died of, no funeral services could be held, but graveside services were held Tuesday afternoon at Hillside cemetery, with Ashley mortuary in charge. Authorities said Thomas had been dead from four days to a week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Axthelm attended a family picnic Sunday at the Burwell dam.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thorngate of Denver, who had been guests of Mrs. Carrie Green for the week, left Monday morning, going by the Black Hills for a few days outing. Richard Green, of Miles City, Mont., went to the Black Hills with them and took a bus home there.

Guests of Mrs. Margaret Gilmore most of last week were Mrs. Milford Wiseman and daughter of Kearney and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Varley and son of Grand Island.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gans of Dannebrog were Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Klinging-Smith.

Rites Held for North Loup Girl

Private funeral services were held Friday afternoon at North Loup for Terry Lee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Riddle, who passed on at her home Friday morning.

She was born in Loup City on April 4, 1944, and was 6 years, 5 months, and 12 days of age at her passing.

She had lived in Arcadia and Ashland before moving to North Loup.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Racette of Chicago were guests last week of the Ign. Pokrakas. They left on Thursday for their home.

Mrs. Mary Thelin and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rydberg and son of Kearney were in North Loup Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sayre and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reddon spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vodehnal.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Miller of North Platte spent Thursday and Friday with her mother, Mrs. Emma Madsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Clark of Lincoln spent most of last week in the C. B. Clark home.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollan Fisher of Jamesport, Mo., were guests of the Harold Fisher's from Tuesday till Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Babcock of Beatrice were guests most of last week of relatives here.

Mrs. Lon Newcomb and son Bernard were guests in the Will Earnest home from Wednesday till Sunday. Friday Mrs. Newcomb and Bernard and Bill Earnest spent the day with the Guy Earnest family at Ravenna.

North Loup students at the state university in Lincoln this fall include Alice Meyers, a sophomore. Joe Babcock, Barbara Hudson and James Ehret, all freshmen. James Ehret graduated here this spring before moving to New York, and has returned to Lincoln for college. Both Joe Babcock and James Ehret are staying at the Norris Co-operative house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smith and son Clair left Thursday for Pocatella, Ida., to take their daughter, Mrs. Eveline Cannon and her daughter home. They had spent two weeks with the Smiths. Paul Smith of Horace is staying at the home in North Loup while they are away.

Mrs. John Vining of Burwell spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Joe Burson.

Mrs. Fannie Peterson of Mira Valley was a house guest of Mrs. Blanche Leopard during Popcorn days.

Carl Walkup, who has been living in the Pleasant Hill neighborhood has moved to the Rachel Williams house in the south part of town, and is employed at the cheese factory, taking the place of Carroll Annays, who has resigned. Mr. Walkup is not new in the cheese making business, since he was employed at the factory several years before going to the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hawkes and children spent Sunday afternoon in Grand Island with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hawkes.

Mr. and Mrs. David Alfrey spent the week end in Virginia with Mrs. Alfrey's parents. Her brothers, Robert and Charles Stoyer, who had spent most of last week here, returned home with them.

Dennis Cook, son of the Ivan Cooks, who has been in the Grand Island hospital with polio, was able to come home last week but Friday he was ill and was taken to the hospital in Loup City where he was found to have virus pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sayre of Fall Brook, Calif., left Tuesday for a visit in Flandreau, S. D., with Mrs. Sayre's people before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnhart of Omaha were guests part of last week of relatives here.

Lloyd and Sheldon Van Horn are working in Grand Island.

Work Is Delayed on Memphis Lake

Necessary excavation work on Memphis Lake has been indefinitely postponed according to an announcement made Thursday by Carl Anderson, supervisor of the Lands and Waters Division of the Game Commission.

Anderson said that the postponement has been made necessary because of the exceptionally wet summer and high ground water at Memphis. The lake bed, drained in mid-summer, is still too wet to permit any excavation work whatsoever.

He did comment, though, that some dynamiting will be carried out to facilitate the drying of the lake bed. This will be done this fall.

The unusually high ground water problem is also prevalent at Alexandria where work was scheduled to begin on a third state lake. The excessive water on the lake has made it impossible to begin work. However, the construction crew will dynamite in order to key-in the dam. It is then hoped that some excavation work will be possible.

At Atkinson, construction crew members are unloading a carload of rock to be used in the reconstruction of the lake dam. Completion of the enlarged dam is expected by the middle of October.

Hull lake, which was completed about one month ago, is being fenced. The parking area is finished and will accommodate a large number of cars.

Wed in Methodist Church Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mrsny.

Doris Mae Beranek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Beranek and Philip Mrsny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mrsny of North Loup, were united in marriage at the Methodist church in Ord, Sunday, Sept. 17 at 3:00 p. m. Rev. R. E. Daughette performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked with two seven-branched candelabra and baskets of pink and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a shadow neckline and a lace bertha around the lower part of the neckline. The gown featured long sleeves forming a point over the wrists, fitted bodice and a full skirt with unpressed pleats ending in a long train. The fingertip veil of imported illusion and edged with lace was held in place by a crown of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses with satin ribbon. The old tradition was carried out by the bride. She wore her mother's lavalier that she had received from her mother and borrowed pearl earrings.

Alma Mrsny of North Loup, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a light yellow nylon gown with plush raised flowers. The fitted bodice formed a sweetheart neckline with a ruffled bolero jacket. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lores Stewart of Minden, cousin of the bride, Lila Kirby and Greta Oliver. Their formals were of light green, pink and orchid respectively. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Kathleen Orr of Scribner, cousin of the bridegroom, and Cheryl Stewart, cousin of the bride, were flower girls. Their identical gowns were of yellow dimity. They carried crocheted baskets made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. B. Beranek. Lynn Coulter of Ravenna, cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

Dennis Beranek of Morse Bluffs, cousin of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Lores Stewart of Minden, cousin of the bride, Gerald Valasek and Leo Wolfe of North Loup.

Preceding the ceremony the candelabra were lighted by Mrs. Arnold Sperling and Miss Geneva Benson.

Mrs. Orin Kellison, organist, accompanied William Nelson who sang "I Love Thee," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The table was decorated with a three tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom with candles on either side of the cake. Mrs. Floyd Stewart, cousin of the bride, played the piano while the guests were being served. Mrs. Evelyn Wiloughby cut the cake while Mrs. Joe Parkos poured the coffee. Waitresses were Mrs. Alvin Stewart, Muriel John, Lucille Nevriy and Mary Lou Beran. Mrs. Earl Klingensmith had charge of the guest book while Donna Wilson and Betty Petska took care of the gifts.

The bride, a graduate of the Ord high school with the class of 1948, has taught school for the past two years and at present is teaching the Goldenrod school. The groom was graduated from the Ord high school in 1942 and is now employed at the Western Auto store.

For traveling the bride wore a dark gray checked suit with wine and black accessories. She also wore a rhinestone necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. Following a short honeymoon to Lincoln and Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Mrsny will be at home in Ord.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rice and Ronnie called at the Archie Gewecke home Sunday afternoon.

—Don Hill of Kearney spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hill.

—Sunday was the 48th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis of Central City and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Roe and the 21st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Roe. The Roe families spent the day in Central City at the Lewis home. They also had supper at the Charlie King home and visited Mr. and Mrs. Fern Johnston.

—Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Sedlacek, James Sedlacek and Stanley Vitek spent Tuesday in Kearney. Mr. Vitek remained there for surgery.

—Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Ferguson and granddaughter, Susie, left Saturday on a two weeks vacation. They plan to go to Denver to visit a daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pray. From there they will go on to Texas to visit another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schultz.

—Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wolf and Maylon visited Mr. and Mrs. Mike Nola.

—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Riecke and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ryschon were Tuesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wiberg.

—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Novosad and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kokes and Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Sedlacek and Gary were Thursday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sedlacek.

Looking for a Money Saver?

Better Buy Buick!

YOU CAN SEE here how smart it is—don't have to be told that it's the most quickly identified car on the road today.

You probably know that the engine under that broad bonnet is a Fireball straight-eight valve-in-head engine and a lively stepper in any company.

You can check the abundance of its room by the simple expedient of taking the family and trying out its spaciousness at the nearest Buick dealer's—and a very few minutes on the open road will satisfy you that all-coil springing, low-pressure tires and Buick's torque-tube drive really do produce a ride that is matchless for its soft comfort.

BUT RIGHT NOW, it may be that the money angle is the thing uppermost in your mind, and on that we'd like to make two points:

All our records go to show that this is the most economical Buick ever built. It is easy on gas, on oil, on tires, on upkeep.

And if you choose it with Dynaflo Drive,* it immediately eliminates all chance of friction-clutch repair and replacement—not to mention greatly reducing rear-axle and transmission maintenance.

Best of all, your initial outlay is a highly favorable one—whatever Buick you buy. For these brawny straight-eights—built rugged and solid for durable service—are priced at a level that makes them a standout buy in any price class.

Yes, better buy a Buick. Your dealer will be glad to demonstrate, glad to work out all the arithmetic of a deal. See him right away and get an order signed.

Hennek Scores for Minutemen Against Chants

Don Hennek, star Lexington fullback, scores an extra point after touchdown in Lex's 37-12 win over Ord Friday night. Just behind Hennek is LeRoy Adamek. No. 83 is Geneski, while Leggett is at extreme right.

Lexington Swamps Chanticleers, 37-12, in Friday's Game

Maurice, Falter Outstanding in Offensive Play.

A speedy, hard-running Lexington football team swamped the Chanticleers 37-12 here Friday evening. It was the second victory of the season for the Minutemen and the second loss for Ord.

On the first running play of the game, after Ord had kicked off, Hodges sprinted 57 yards for a touchdown. That was just a sample of the kind of football that Ord fans got to see in the first home game of the season.

Toward the end of the first quarter, Lexington scored again when Charles Speak, 141-pound quarterback, carried the pigskin 38 yards to the two-yard stripe. Hennek bulled his way through the line for the touchdown.

Ord Comes to Life. In the second quarter, the Chants played on even terms. Some sparkling runs by Maurice and Falter after Frank Adamek had recovered a Lex fumble, produced six points, with Falter going over from the five.

But the Ord tally didn't come until the Minutemen had completed another swift touchdown drive, with Corder turning in a pair of long gallops.

Lexington turned on the heat in the third quarter. The hard-hitting Minutemen line gave runners like Corder and Hodges plenty of room to operate in.

A Lexington touchdown was nullified when the referee ruled that on the kick-off he had not yet started play.

But the loss of one touchdown didn't make much difference. Lexington scored twice in the quarter while holding Ord to only one first down.

With Lexington substituting freely in the last stanza, Ord outplayed the Minutemen. Rolly Moore's lads rolled up half a dozen first downs in scoring a TD. Once more it was Maurice who did most of the yard-gaining.

Lexington tallied once more in the closing minutes of the game, when Ward paced off 47 yards to pay dirt.

Passing Improved. Without the services of Moore and Piskorski, the Ord team was decidedly ragged. The boys didn't have the drive they showed against Holdrege.

But passing was improved, with Duane Wolfe's tosses to Paul Penas particularly pleasing.

Frank Adamek played his usual fugged brand of football, and Halten Mason, a reserve guard, also played a fine game.

Ord faces an up-and-coming Ogallala team Friday night. It will be an overnight trip for the grid-tots because of the long distance which must be traveled.

Kiddies' Contest Is Show Feature

A Tiny Tot popularity contest for youngsters six years and under will be held in conjunction with the production, "It's a Date," sponsored by the Ord VFW and American Legion, which will be presented Oct. 4 and 5 at 8:00 p. m. at the Ord high school.

Pennies are ballots, with a loving cup to be presented to the little boy with the largest number of votes, and a loving cup for the little girl who tallies the most. There will also be other prizes awarded the two boys next in line and the two girls next in line.

The contestants who will take part in this contest will have their pictures in the window of the Farmers store about a week before the show and each one will have a vote jar in a downtown store. Standings of the contest will be posted daily in the baby window.

Contestants will be presented on stage the final night of the talent show and winners will be awarded in the special kiddies' scene in the production, called "A Visit to Santa Land."

The contest closes at 4 p. m., Thursday, Oct. 5.

Saturday Sale Here Hits New High for History of Market

The special cattle sale Saturday at the Ord Livestock Market set an all time high for total volume of dollars, M. B. Cummins, auctioneer, reported to the Quiz this week. "It was the biggest sale in dollar volume we have ever had," he said.

Cattle sold this year were lighter weight on an average than those sold last year in a similar special sale. A total of 856 head went through the ring here Saturday, compared with 1034 a year ago.

Prices were a different story. "At our sale last year we sold feeder steers at an average of $19 to $22 per cwt," Cummins said. "This year the prices ranged from $26 to $29. Big reasons for the higher prices, as I see it, are the wonderful prospects of feed and roughness."

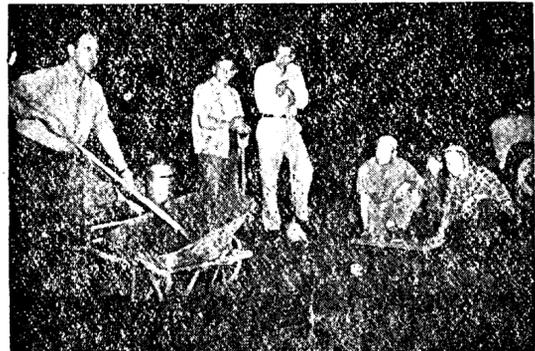

Appelget Files for Superintendent Post

Fred B. Appelget has filed for election as superintendent of public instruction in Valley county, it was announced this week.

He is serving as county superintendent at the present time, being appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Clara McClatchey.

His nomination was by petition, with some 400 signers asking that his name be placed on the ballot for the November election.

Teachers' Group Meets; Hears Talk by Dr. Taibe

J. A. Kovanda Is Named Head of Co. Teachers.

At the Ord high school auditorium last Thursday evening, the Valley County Education association heard Dr. Ralph Taibe of Lincoln discuss management of handicapped children. He was introduced by Superintendent Martin Dunklau of North Loup.

About 60 members enjoyed a dinner prepared by the Misses Jensen, Holden, King, Koza, Neel, and Mrs. Tolon of the Ord schools.

President, Virgil Bugbee, superintendent of Arcadia schools, conducted the business session, J. A. Kovanda, newly elected president, was appointed to represent the group at the annual convention of the State Delegate Assembly.

Anna Mortensen, vice-president, was named alternate. Other incoming officers are Martin Dunklau, treasurer, and Elaine Webb, secretary.

On the executive committee are Virgil Bugbee, Charles Sanders, Irma King, Mary Frances Svoboda, and Evelyn Willoughby.

North Loup will be host to the next meeting of the association. The spring session will be at Arcadia.

George Lint Dies; Lived Entire Life in Nebraska

Was in Good Health Until Last Few Hours.

George Dewey Lint, son of Will and Barbara Lint, was born Oct. 12, 1898 at St. Paul and departed from this life on September 20, 1950, at the age of 51 years, 11 months and eight days. Mr. Lint's passing was a shock to all as he had been in good health until going home from work that evening.

In infancy he was baptized in the Gage Valley church near St. Paul where he attended Sunday school. He also attended Sunday school and public school in Cotesfield.

On November 8, 1919, he was married to Miss Eva Mae Barnes of Cotesfield. To this union were born three children, Daryl Lavert of Kennecick, Wash., Mrs. Don Coats of Fullerton and Barbara Ann of Ord.

Mr. Lint spent the earlier part of his life doing farm work, but for the past 25 years he has worked for the State of Nebraska Department of Roads and Irrigation. The last several years he has been state patrol foreman.

For 12 years Mr. Lint lived in Ord where he has made many friends. Much of his spare time was spent at home working about the place and making things for the home. Mr. Lint was a kind husband and father and fond of children.

Both of Mr. Lint's parents and one sister, Mrs. Grace Leith, preceded him in death. He leaves to mourn his wife Eva, three children, four sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Gress, North Platte; Mrs. Edna Gress, Cotesfield; Mrs. Lizzie Whalen, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Florence Motrell, Washington; two brothers, Will and Ray, Grand Island, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Barnes, Cotesfield; five grandchildren and many other friends and relatives.

Funeral services were held at the Hastings-Pearson Chapel Monday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Eugene Olsen officiating. Rev. and Mrs. Olsen sang three hymns accompanied by Mrs. Orin Kellison.

Pallbearers were Paul Covert, Bob Coats, Lyle Manchester, Bill Wozniak, Al Turek and Jim Murphy. Honorary pallbearers were Ed Mason, Glen Eschliman, John Anderson, Pete Hansen, Rasmus Rasmussen and Allen Simms. Burial was in the Ord cemetery.

Mrs. Isabel Huff Dies at Hospital After Long Illness

Was Mother of Howard Huff, Ord Merchant.

Mrs. Isabel Huff, well known in the Ord community for many years, died at the Ord Cooperative hospital Saturday, after a long illness.

Born in Spring Hill, Ill., on Nov. 8, 1881, she was nearly 69 years old at the time of her death. She grew to womanhood in Illinois. She came to Nebraska in 1900, where she met and married Dennis B. Huff who preceded her in death in 1934.

Two children survive: Howard of Ord and Mabel of California, as well as two grandchildren and many friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Hastings-Pearson chapel. The Rev. Allen Strong officiated. William Nelson sang two solos, "Sweet Bye and Bye," and "No Night There," accompanied at the organ by Viola Kellison.

Pallbearers were Harry Knecht of Loup City, Raymond Cronk, Verne Andersen, Jack Roman, Ed Christensen, and W. E. Lincoln.

Burial, Tuesday, was in the family plot in Graceland of the Ord cemetery. Hastings-Pearson Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

County Officials Met Here Thursday

More than 100 county officials from courthouses in central Nebraska attended a meeting in Ord last Thursday.

After a luncheon at the Veterans' club, they held a session at the courthouse. Clarence Davis, Ord attorney and legal assistant of the Nebraska legislature, gave a talk on law-making procedure.

The group then divided into smaller assemblies to discuss specific problems facing county government.

Attend Meeting of State Council

Three delegates, Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink, County Chairman; Mrs. Loren Good, Mrs. C. C. Dale and Miss Katherine Helzer, Home Agent, representing the 21 Extension clubs of Valley county are attending the State Extension Club Council meeting in North Platte, Sept. 26-27-28.

Mrs. C. C. Dale will be the Valley county delegate in the old fashion style revue on Wednesday afternoon.

More than 400 rural women are expected to attend this annual meeting representing nearly every county in the state. The theme of the 1950 Council is "Family Responsibility in Today's World." Plans for the major activities for the Extension Clubs for 1951 will be made.

Appeal in Satterfield Estate Case Is Filed

An appeal in petition for an extension of time in filing of claims against the estate of George A. Satterfield by Valley county Attorney Ralph Norman has been filed in district court.

Norman stated Valley county intended to file a claim of $11,000 against the estate, alleging that Satterfield had embezzled that amount during his term of office as Valley county treasurer.

Custer county judge, Morris Hoobler on August 11 refused the petition, stating that good cause had not been shown by Valley county for not entering their claim before the closing date.

Local CAP Unit Joins Search for Missing Bomber, Sunday

The local unit of the Civil Air Patrol had a simulated search and rescue mission slated for next Sunday, Oct. 1, in cooperation with the U. S. Air Force.

But they got a chance at the real thing a week before rehearsal.

Sunday morning the commanding officer of the local unit, Leslie C. Nash, received an emergency call from the Air Force liaison officer at Omaha asking the Ord group to begin a search for the missing B-50 which made headlines by crashing on a flight from Labrador to Tucson, Ariz.

Nash received the call at 8 o'clock and by 9:30 six planes were ready for the search with definite flight areas assigned to each plane.

FFA Convenes at Ord High School

A district convention of the Future Farmers of America met at the Ord high school Saturday. Delegates were here from the Almsworth, Bassett, Broken Bow, Burwell, Loup City, Taylor, Litchfield, Sargent, North Loup, Springfield, and Ord chapters.

A training school for officers was conducted by L. D. Clementz and U. E. Wendorff of Lincoln. Chapter programs of work were developed.

Local officers of the FFA chapter attending the conference included Gary Nelson, Lonnie Dye, Edwin Penas, James Svoboda, and Francis Zabloudi.

Eight outstanding Future Farmers of the district were chosen at the end of the day. Gary Nelson and Lonnie Dye were included in this group.

The FFA is a national organization for students enrolled in vocational agriculture courses in high school.

Achievement Day Will Be Held Thurs.

Plans are being made for the Extension clubs' annual Achievement Day in Elyria Community Hall, on Thursday, Oct. 5, at 1:45 p. m. The theme for the program is "Thirty Years of Extension in Valley County." Florence Atwood, state leader, will be the guest speaker and tell of progress Extension has made during the past 30 years.

There will be an exhibit of articles made in Extension Club Work in the early days. Each of the hostess clubs is responsible for a skit or musical number.

The members of the Achievement Day committee planning the program are: Mrs. James Iwanski, chairman, Jolly Homemakers club; Mrs. Vlad Babka, Plain Valley club; Mrs. Louis Vancura, Country club; Mrs. Herbert Goff, Springdale Kensington club; Mrs. Clark Weckbach, Home Arts club; Mrs. Loren Good, M. A. O. club; Mrs. Harold Garnick, Ar-Gu-Not Extensioners club.

Lillian Lech and Adeline Dubas, the 4-H team that won a purple ribbon at the state fair on their demonstration "Putting a Zipper in a Skirt," will give their demonstration as a number on the program.

'Whatsit' Animal Is Weasel, Experts Say

Mrs. Homer Jones, living on Route 2, Ord, brought in an animal (safely cooped up in a bottle of alcohol) last week which she had found near her corn crib, dead from a head wound.

Mrs. Jones didn't know what the reddish brown creature was. It was about six inches long and the underpart of its body white.

A meeting of the Quiz wildlife experts was called and it was decided that the animal was a small weasel.

Although the weasel kills many mice and rats and other vermin, it is also a notorious chicken-murderer, so we are lucky that it is relatively uncommon here.

Frost Holds Off, Corn Progresses

Weather continued warm and a whole week went by without rain, giving corn a fighting chance to mature before frost.

Weather Report

Table with 2 columns: High Low Precip. and values for Thurs, Fri, Sat, Sun, Mon, Tues, Wed, Total 1949 precip. to date 22.30, Total 1950 precip. to date 23.77.

Observer Horace Travis reports that temperatures ranged between 44 and 78 during the week. With every day, farmers became more hopeful, although a great deal of the crop is still immature.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture stuck by its prediction that 80 per cent of the Nebraska corn crop would be safe if frost stayed away until October 1. With ten more days of warm weather, "nearly all" of the crop would be beyond danger.

Presbyterian Men, Women Hold Dinners

Two banquets this week featured the Presbyterian fund raising drive.

At the men's banquet on Monday night 70 persons were served by Mrs. Archie Keep, Mrs. Wm. Wozniak and Mrs. Roland Norman in the Masonic basement. Rainbow trout, flown here from Denver, was the main dish. Rev. A. C. Hageman, D. D. was guest speaker with Wm. Nelson leading in the singing.

Tuesday evening 81 ladies were served in the Methodist church. Rev. A. C. Hageman, D. D. was again guest speaker. Rev. Allen Strong, Dr. F. L. Blessing, Dr. G. A. Gard and Harlan Fraizer acted as hosts. Ray Biemond led the singing.

Eugene Novak Is Top Stock Judge

The trophy for top individual judging of livestock at Pop Corn Days at North Loup was won by Eugene Novak, Ord high school junior.

Eugene is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Novak.

The livestock judging at North Loup included Hereford and dairy cattle.

Last year in Grand Island, Eugene won a red ribbon in individual judging competition at the Old Reliable Hereford association show and sale. For an ag project, he has a Hereford heifer.

First Draft Group Will Leave for Induction Soon

Valley county's first group of draftees during the recent crisis will leave next week for induction into the army, according to the local Selective Service office.

The group includes six men who have been ordered to Omaha on Thursday, Oct. 5. They are: Jerry Kriewald, Ord; Jerry Skala, Ord; Walter Eugene Anderson, Arcadia; Richard Wampole, Ord; Harry Burson, Ord, and George Brown, North Loup.

The men will leave Thursday from Ord.

At the same time as these men were preparing to leave, a contingent of 10 went to Omaha Wednesday for physical examinations.

Draft quotas have been stepped up for the next two months, and it is quite possible that more young men will be leaving soon.

Legion and VFW Will Sponsor Big Home Talent Show

'It's a Date' Is Slated for Two Days Next Week.

"It's a Date" is the name of the big variety stage show, using an all local cast, which is being sponsored by the Ord VFW and American Legion. It will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 4 and 5 at the Ord high school auditorium, at 8:03 p. m.

Each scene in the show represents some special occasion or feature connected with each month in the calendar year. They unfold as the two sweethearts, Jo Jo Brown and Ginger Jones, discuss which is the best one to choose for a wedding date.

There is a big homecoming scene at BooLa BooLa college which shows the old grads and alums back for the celebration, singing songs and giving college yells.

For the month of December, Mrs. Santa Claus and Santa Jr. entertain the little children in a Christmas Eve party, singing Christmas carols and playing games.

When the month of September is under discussion by the young couple trying to decide the date for their wedding, a chorus of men dressed as women, the Kitchen Queens, with pots, pans and brooms, and washboards, give a scaramingly funny number as they burlesque the average housewife's woes in a number called "Happy Happy Labor Daze."

Don McNeill and his famous radio gang of the Breakfast club will be one of the high spots included. In an attempt to find out which is the best month for the couple, the famous toastmaster of Breakfast club invites Jo Jo and Ginger to attend the Breakfast club. Here they meet Patsy Lee, Johnny Desmond and irrepressible Aunt Fanny, all impersonated of course, by all people who have been chosen for the parts. During this scene the woman in the audience who has been married the greatest number of years will be asked to come to the stage. She will be interviewed as guest of honor and will be presented with a little gift.

Outstanding in this audience participation part of the show is the impersonation of the "Take It or Leave It" radio program, where Eddie Cantor, acting as master of ceremonies, gives those in the audience who come up on the stage a chance to win valuable prizes. Just as the original network program, there will be various categories of questions from which the contestants may choose in order to compete for prizes.

Specially costumed choruses featuring high school girls give a colorful and tuneful note to the show. They are shown as "Switchboard Girls, who listen in on the conversation of the couple. They appear as the "Sweetheart Chorus" in the month of February when they do a routine with "You're Adorable." Dressed in vacation clothes, they show how much fun it is to get out and get under the sun in a fast moving number called "Vacation Time."

Perhaps the most appealing of all scenes is the smashing climax, "The Show Boat Minstrel" scene, where the old time minstrel in all its glory comes to life as the circle of blackface comedians tell jokes, sing songs and do their stunts in authentic minstrel fashion. Special costumes of plastic for the end men and the male ensemble makes the minstrel circle a riot of color.

The Ord VFW and American Legion sponsoring the entertainment says "It's a Date" is a must on your entertainment calendar and urge everyone to make a date and save a date for Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 4 and 5, which are the nights when the production will be staged.

Advance tickets are now on sale by members of the VFW and the American Legion. Don't miss next week's edition of the Quiz for a complete lineup of the cast.

Myrtle Milligan of Grand Island, Mrs. Margaret Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. John Milligan and Don Milligan and Nicky Smith were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clement.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rowe and family of Grand Island were Saturday afternoon and Sunday guests in the home of Mrs. Stella Kerr. Other guests for Sunday included the Carroll, Arthur and Paul Palsler families, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cummings of Big Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spray and two children of Curtis spent the week end with the Walter Cummings families. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cummings arrived from their home in Everett, Wash., Saturday night and will spend two weeks here. On Sunday a family dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Haight, with all eight of the Walter Cummings children present. Beside the out-of-town guests there were Mr. and Mrs. Will Earnest and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne King and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Cummings and family and Mr. and Mrs. Comfort Cummings and family. Mrs. Walter Cummings has been quite sick the past week and was unable to attend the dinner but all spent part of the day with her. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hansen and Jeanie of Ord were afternoon guests in the Cummings home also.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Phelps of Lincoln stopped briefly in North Loup Friday enroute to Colorado. Their stay here was shortened when they found Mr. Phelps had to report for the 43rd U. S. army band at Camp Carson, Oct. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schudel returned Saturday evening from Paulaska, Ia., where they had gone on Thursday to attend a registered cattle sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Riddle and Mrs. Vasil Hastings spent the week end in Arcadia.

Mrs. Elsie VanHoesen, Mrs. Esther Kutschkau, and Mr. and Mrs. Muri Jacobsen of Grand Island were Sunday guests in the Earl Smith home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Smith of Loup City were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith.

Mrs. Roy Schwieger, who had spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eberhart, returned the last of the week to Grand Island.

Tuesday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kriewald were Rev. and Mrs. Carl Harbour and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brennan of West Virginia and Lola Fuller.

William Plate was a Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Axthelm and in the afternoon they took a drive to Sumter and the east side of the river.

Mr. and Mrs. Derwin White and children were Sunday guests for dinner and supper of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hudson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Barr, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hill went to Arcadia Sunday to attend the funeral of Guy Lutz.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cress, Mrs. Maud Cress and Mrs. Susan Preston spent the day Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jeffries of Greeley.

Frank and Merlyn Schudel went to Omaha Monday where they had cattle on the market.

A pear tree on the Ed Burrows farm yielded enough fruit this year that Mrs. Burrows canned 50 quarts, and they used many more that were not canned. The tree has a history, for it is a slip which Mrs. Edith Bartz brought from her grandfather's place in Exeter, N. H., more than forty years ago, and it was planted on her father's the late A. S. Cleary's place, the farm which Burrows now owns. There has been some fruit on the tree in former years, but this year there was an abundant crop. The pears are Bartlett's, unusually sweet in flavor. Tuesday, Mrs. Burrows took a pan of the fruit to Mrs. Bartz, to show her what her tree had done this year.

Mrs. Jennie Hawkes of Des Moines, Ia., and a brother-in-law, Albert Hawkes, whose home is in Illinois, were guests in the S. C. Hawkes home from Sunday till Wednesday. They went from here to Allen, Neb., to see the Herbert Ellis family.

The sophomore class of high school, sponsored by Mr. Sanders went for a hayrack ride Friday evening. A wiener roast was held by the river. William Schauer loaned him his hayrack and tractor. Fourteen of the sixteen sophomores were present. JoAnn Burrows and Jennae Brennick were unable to attend.

The Voc. Ag. class of high school went to Omaha Tuesday to make a trip through the stock yards, to study marketing of cattle. They went through the packing plant also to study the process of handling the animal after it has been through the stockyards, and before the meat comes to the local meat counter. To make it more interesting, Frank McDermott, father of one of the boys in the class had cattle on the market that day. Nineteen boys made the trip.

Ray Van Slyke is having two weeks vacation from his work at the Loup Valley Tractor and Implement Company and he took his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Van Slyke to Minnesota for a vacation trip.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Emma Madsen were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Miller of North Platte and Mr. and Mrs. Marnie Mason of Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Madsen were guests for coffee in the afternoon.

Earnest Paddock of Los Angeles arrived, Monday and is a guest of his brother, Walter Paddock.

Patty Dunklau celebrated her fifth birthday Tuesday with a party attended by sixteen of her little friends.

The Loup Valley Blacksmiths' and Welders' association met Thursday evening with Paul Madsen, who took the group of thirteen to the Portis cafe for lunch.

Neal Warner came Sunday from Washita, Ia., and his sister, Mrs. Gilbert Meyers and youngest son, Leiland, went home with him for a week. Gilbert, Danny and Patty are spending part of the time with the Glen Meyers family.

John Tucker is in the Clarkson hospital in Omaha for treatment and surgery.

Mrs. John Hamer and Gary went to Omaha on business Wednesday. Mrs. Maggie Wetzel was able to come home from the Ord hospital Wednesday and Mrs. Bessie Timmerman is caring for her. Saturday and Sunday Mrs. Wetzel was not very well but Tuesday was feeling better.

Ben Barnhart who had been a guest of his sister, Mrs. Maggie Wetzel left Thursday for his home in Ft. Collins, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gillespie returned Monday from a ten day vacation spent in Sterling, Colo., and Casper, Wyo. Tuesday they drove to Aurora after Mrs. Hannah McDonald who had been with Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McDonald while they were away.

Verna Mae Desel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Desel of North Loup, was married to Dale McTavish of Wood River, Sept. 10, at the Methodist church in Grand Island. Attendants were the bride's sister, Miss LaVonne Desel, and Jack Davis of Wood River. About fifty relatives and friends attended the reception held in the Desel girls home in Grand Island following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards spent the day Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Carl Sorenson, in Ord. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burns of Scotia were Saturday afternoon guests in the John Edwards home and evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cain.

Mrs. Lyle Carter and Mrs. John Edwards attended a Guild meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Burns in Scotia.

The Pop Corn committee met Saturday evening at the Schudel garage for final reports on the celebration held this year. Treasurer's report showed that after all bills were paid, they were still able to write with a black pencil and had a small balance on hand for next year. Since 1951 will be the 50th anniversary of Pop Corn Days, plans are already being made for a bigger and better celebration than ever.

Mrs. Cora Hemphill is expected home this week from Springfield, Vt., where she has been a guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Mitroff.

Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards spent the day Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Carl Sorenson, in Ord. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burns of Scotia were Saturday afternoon guests in the John Edwards home and evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cain.

Independent Africans — Libya, scheduled by United Nations resolution to become independent by January 1, 1952, will be the fourth independent African country. The three already free of ties to colonial empires—Egypt, Ethiopia, and Liberia—comprise only about one-fifth of Africa.

Dairy Bams — Dairymen used to the stanchion type of dairy barn should study the loose housing system carefully before changing over to it.

Trolley Coaches — Trolley coaches are increasing as means of public transit while streetcars are disappearing. There were only 16,000 streetcars in use in 1949, a decrease of 41 per cent since 1914. In the same time, there was a 68 per cent increase in the number of trolley coaches.

Cattle in U.S. — Cattle numbers in the U.S. increased about two million head in 1949.

Psychiatrists in U.S. — Qualified psychiatrists in this country number only about 3,200, or one to about 58 physicians and one to about 45 clergymen.

For Emergencies — It pays to keep a pad of sterile gauze around the barn or stable, for emergency use on wounds and cuts in animals.

Pepper amounts to about 55 per cent of the total spice production. Both black and white varieties come from the same plant, botanically the Piper nigrum. To make black pepper, the berry is picked before ripening and ground whole. For the milder white pepper, the berry is permitted to ripen, and its outer husk is removed before grinding.

Sunshine State

California takes petroleum out of the ground, salt out of the sea, and vitamins out of fish liver through a chemical industry that makes some 60 different mineral products. From Ione in Amador county, has recently come a hard, waxlike hydrocarbon which may replace the Car-nauba used in the manufacture of shoe polish and carbon paper. Californians even collect seaweed and squeeze from it medicines and livestock fodder.

Radio Device Helps Baby Sitter Care for Children

SHANKS VALLEY, N. Y.—A radio baby sitter for student veterans living here has been put into operation by Maj. J. L. Wood of Seattle.

It enables one baby sitter to take care of a number of children in their own homes on such occasions as community dances.

Maj. Wood is living here with his wife and two children while studying at Teachers' College. Before he entered the army he was in commercial radio.

His procedure is to place a microphone near the crib of each baby to be watched and connect it to an amplifier in his own home.

Each amplifier is labeled with the name of the baby being watched. In each home he also places an alarm clock near the baby so that if its ticking ceases the baby sitter will know that the radio device is no longer working.

The microphone is so sensitive that it will even transmit the sound of the child's breathing.

Thief Apologizes, Returns Loot; Identity Kept Secret

TACOMA, WASH.—Police were puzzled about whether or not to continue search for a bandit who held up and robbed an ice cream store of $90 here, then, hours later, changed his mind and returned the money.

Mrs. Edyth Eaton, victim of the robbery, told officers the robber called her up and apologized for taking the money. She said she then urged him to return it saying she would not reveal his identity to police. He returned the money and she kept her promise.

EARLY BEEF MARKETING PEAK SEEN

Cattle in feedlots (upper graph), in the 11 Corn Belt states July 1 exceed totals of a year ago by more than 10,000 head, according to U. S. D. A. estimates. The chart below, showing marketings at the Chicago Stock Yards to July 1, showing lighter receipts than a year ago, indicates much heavier marketing is likely in late August with the possibility of an earlier peak than in the last few years.

High profits are likely to be made in the beef business in the late summer and early fall period.

Such is the summation from C. W. Hammans, extension specialist in livestock marketing at Ohio State University.

Motivating factors include the fact that more cattle will be coming to market during the next few months than during the same period a year ago, 34 per cent more cattle being on feed this summer in eleven corn belt states than a year ago, more lightweight cattle are currently in the feed lots, and cattle prices will be under pressure a little later when 60 million spring pigs move to market.

Price prospects continue to point to a late August or early September peak for fed cattle—followed by some price decline as the larger number of fat cattle come to market. Last year prices rose until December, "Farm Science," published by Iowa State College, reports. This publication also takes note of the fact that better hog management is likely to start the fall run of pigs in late August or early September, in contrast with the trend in past years with October 1 as the date for the beginning of heavy hog marketing.

The U.S.D.A. estimates that half a million more head of cattle are in the nation's feed lots than a year ago. Three-fourths of those on feed probably will be marketed by October 1, a slightly lower percentage than usual, but a considerable increase in number because the number on feed is the highest since 1943.

GOVERNOR PETERSON, CHAIRMAN BROKAW, EYE C. R. O. P. DRIVE

Crops for CROP—Governor Val Peterson, right, honorary state chairman, and W. H. Brokaw, state chairman of the 1950 Christian Rural Overseas Program drive in Nebraska, inspect a field of corn in eastern Nebraska. Indications in early September, as one can tell from this picture, were strong for a big corn crop in the state, and also for a big CROP campaign. University of Nebraska Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, also an honorary state chairman, was unavailable for the picture.

With the world once more torn by international armed conflict, farm and religious groups are again concerned with feeding the destitute and helpless victims of war.

The Korean war is illustrating more clearly than ever before the desperate need of people all over the world who do not have the productive capacity of the American people.

In an attempt to fill this need, the three sponsoring groups of the Christian Rural Overseas Program have decided to continue their CROP campaign for 1950, and they are determined to make this year's CROP drive more successful than ever before.

LOOK TO NEBRASKA

The three sponsoring groups—Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief—as well as people overseas, look to prosperous Nebraska for a large contribution toward world peace and understanding. Since CROP deals mainly with bulk foodstuffs produced in large quantities in this state—such as wheat, corn, other grain, beans, dairy products and meat—Nebraskans are in an excellent position to contribute a heavy share of the much-needed commodities.

CROP Sunday, scheduled for Oct. 15, will kick off the five-day collection campaign, according to Merlin

Frantz, Nebraska CROP director. While contributions will be accepted before and after that date, most of them are expected to be received in the brief five-day period.

WANT BULK FOODS

The Christian Rural Overseas Program is mainly concerned with procuring bulk foodstuffs, but smaller packages of money will be accepted. The latter will be used in exchange for bulk products or to defray shipping expenses.

Those who wish to contribute to the CROP campaign should get in touch with their local and county CROP officials, Frantz said. Local chairmen and canvassers throughout the state will be named in October.

CROP's state executive committee, headed by State Chairman W. H. Brokaw, has set a goal of 80 carloads of foodstuffs from Nebraska for distribution overseas.

"The goal is higher than 1949's," Brokaw said, "but with the increased world-wide need and favorable prospects for 1950's fall harvest, I am sure the good people of Nebraska can achieve it."

Funeral Rites Held for John Beams, Arcadia Resident
Death Occurred After Illness of Many Months.

Funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Arcadia at 2 p. m. Sunday for John Warren Beams, long-time Valley county resident.

Mr. Beams was born in Taylor county, Kentucky, Febr. 7, 1865, and died at his home in Arcadia after a long illness on Thursday, Sept. 21, 1950. He was 85 years old.

He lived in Kentucky until he was 17. In 1882 he moved to Montana where he spent some time on a ranch. From Montana he came to Nebraska and settled near Fullerton, purchasing a farm there in 1888.

In 1898 he was married to Jessie Blanch Bennett, with whom he spent more than 50 years of his life. His wife survives.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Beams: Clara Irene who died in infancy; Grace Marie, who lived only three and a half months; Doris who died at 13 months; William, Woodson of Arcadia, and Gladys Ruby Wilson, Lake Butler, Fla.

He lived for many years in Mira Valley, south of Ord, before moving to Arcadia. He was a member of the Congregational church in Arcadia for the last seven years.

The Rev. E. T. Gunsolley, pastor of the Arcadia Congregational church, officiated at burial services. Kermit Erickson sang two songs, accompanied by Mrs. Erickson.

Palbearers were H. D. Weddel, W. A. Armstrong, A. T. Wilson, Ernest Hunkins, S. V. Hansen, and Grant Cruikshank.

Burial was in the family plot in the Arcadia cemetery, with Hastings-Pearson mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Guy A. Lutz, 72, Pioneer Arcadia Stockman, Is Dead

Services were held at the Arcadia Methodist church Sept. 23 for Guy A. Lutz, 72, pioneer stockman and livestock shipper, who died at a Loup City hospital Sept. 20 after a severe illness of six weeks duration. He had been in poor health for the past few years.

Guy Arnold Lutz, third son of Isiah and Kate DeGraff Lutz, was born at Pleasant Home, Polk county, Nebr., Sept. 30, 1878, dying on the anniversary of his birth.

His early life was spent in Polk county. In 1903 he moved with his family to the farm near Arcadia where he lived for 41 years until ill health forced him to move into Arcadia three years ago.

At an early age, he became a member of the Fullerton, Nebr. Methodist church, transferring his membership to Arcadia Methodist church after moving there. While at Fullerton, he was leader of the Epworth League. He also served as Sunday School Superintendent for some time.

He has been an active shipper of livestock to the Omaha markets, receiving recognition in 1949 at a banquet in Omaha for 50 years of livestock sales at those markets. He had not been actively engaged in labor the past three years due to failing health, spending much time assisting his son on the farm near Arcadia.

Rev. C. A. Busby had charge of the services at the church and graveside, assisted by Rev. C. W. Beuhler. Mrs. Clyde Gogan and Mrs. Ruth Masters sang "In the Garden," and "God Will Take Care of You," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Ben Mason. Interment was in the family plot at the Arcadia cemetery.

Palbearers consisted of old neighbors and long time associates, Hans Pedersen, Les Arnold, Wm. Kingston, Dr. F. H. Christ, Otis Gardside and Burt Sell.

Survivors include his widow, Ruth Graves Lutz; three sons, Carol G. Arcadia, Arthur, Portland, Ore., and Guy, Jr., Washington, D. C.; two daughters, Edna Ruth, Arcadia and Phyllis, Los Angeles; one sister, Mrs. Edna Long, Kearney; five brothers, Ralph, Hubbard, Ore., Lyle, Ray and Vere, Arcadia, and Dean, Omaha; seven grandchildren and a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Preceding him in death were his mother and father, one sister, Mabel, two brothers, Con and Vyrne, and one grandson, William Carol.

Relatives and friends from outside points attending the services included Harry Lutz and son, Percy, Alamo, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hays, Wellsville, Kans., Mrs. Glenn Staley, St. Louis, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Bradshaw, Nebr.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holmes, Polk, Nebr. Mr. and Mrs. Wes Aufrecht, Lincoln, Mrs. Anna Eberspacher and family, Seward, Nebr., Mrs. Milton O'Conner, Harrison, Nebr.

Brother of Ord Woman Is Dead

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the First Congregational church in Waterloo, Ia., for Ralph A. Hollingshead, 57, of Waterloo, Ia., who died Friday at his home after suffering a heart attack.

He was the son of Joseph and Stella Hollingshead and was born on October 3, 1892, in Monroe. He married Arvilla Gordon on July 19, 1911 at Loup City and lived near Arcadia a few years.

Mr. Hollingshead went to Waterloo, Ia., from St. Cloud, Minn., 34 years ago and was active in the shoe business for a number of years. He was manager of the Fox shoe store prior to retiring a few years ago.

Surviving are his wife, a foster-daughter, Mrs. Leo S. Mayo, Cedar Falls, Ia.; two sisters, Mrs. John Beran, Ord; and Mrs. Myrtle Casteel, Chico, Calif.; five brothers, Lloyd, Mission, Kans.; Charles, Hastings; Fred, Laramie, Wyo.; Ben, Omaha; and Edward, Cave Junction, Ore., and a granddaughter.

He was preceded in death by his parents and a brother.

Rev. Charles Jacob officiated at the funeral services. Burial was in Memorial Park cemetery.

FRANKFURTER FUN

Frankfurters are stars this season of the year, for they're real fun food. Call on the versatile "frank" to play its part in your easy menus.

No longer are frankfurters restricted to the camp and picnic grounds. Due to their goodness and ease of preparation, they have won their way into the menus for indoors and out and even company dinners.

To heat the franks and keep the mouth watering goodness and juiciness where it belongs—inside the frankfurter—drop them in boiling water and remove pan from heat. Cover them with a lid and let set for 7 to 8 minutes.

For the picnic roast the frankfurters at the "spot" and team with buns, trimmings for the franks, corn-on-the-cob, tomato halves and a chopping bowl salad. For those garden fresh ears of corn, place fully dressed ears in water for 10 minutes then roast them on the grill along with the frankfurters. The steam created in the husks will keep each kernel of corn plump and moist. For indoor cooking on the broiler wrap the husked ear in aluminum foil. Turn the ears frequently. This method may also be adapted to outdoor cooking.

Plan a kitchen party and serve frankfurters in toast shawls! Remove crust and spread 12 slices of bread with mixture of 4 table-spoons mustard and 2 tablespoons horseradish. Place frankfurters cornerwise on sliced bread; wrap; fasten with a toothpick. Brush with melted butter and bake on a cooky sheet at 350° F. for 15 minutes. Top with stuffed olive. Add potato salad, garden onions and radishes for a snack to delight the family and friends.

For a wonderful family platter, cut three tomatoes in half, dot with butter, season and broil 5 minutes in pan set 5-6 inches below heating unit. Slit ten frankfurters lengthwise and fill with mixture of 1 cup mashed potatoes and 1/2 cup grated American Cheese. Place in broiler pan and broil until heated through.

Victory Fiesta Held at Farwell

Sunday, Sept. 24, was a big day in Farwell and all those present that day to honor the Farwell baseball team, the champs of the 1950 season in the Sherman-Howard league, will remember that day for a long time. The business men of Farwell sponsored that celebration and everything went over in a big way.

The days program started off with a big banquet which was given by the ladies of the Rosary society of St. Anthony's parish and it was served in the parish hall with about 150 guests present. Rev. Jos. Hinzman, the pastor, offered the Grace and then the guests enjoyed the fine meal prepared by the ladies and following that toastmaster G. A. Dilla gave a brief talk on the organization of the Sherman-Howard league which made its appearance in 1912 and since it was organized Farwell has come through with three championships. They won in 1913, in 1926 and now in 1950.

At this banquet only one member of the team was present and he was the Farwell postmaster, Edward Borzych, who handled the short stop position on that team. From the 1926 champs several members of that team were present and of course the entire team of the 1950 winners were there and the toastmaster presented each of these players to the guests and he touched upon the playing ability of each player.

Brief talks were given by the president of the league, L. D. Jamrog of Ashton, by E. J. Jehorek, president of the Farwell club, E. E. Zavitch, the manager and A. J. Horky the team captain, also a number of loyal Farwell fans were called upon and they all paid fine compliments to the champs.

Supt. W. W. Isbell gave the main talk and it was very interesting as he talked on athletics in Farwell and he paid the champs a fine tribute for their good work this season.

Three fine novelty song numbers were presented by Agnes dean Horky and these ladies were Pawloski, Connie Collison and Al-coached by Mrs. E. J. Jehorek. Their first number really went over big, big as these girls appeared on the stage in Farwell baseball uniforms and sang that old time song "Take Me Out to the Ball Game" and this was followed by "Mississippi" and "Good Night Irene." Rev. Hinzman was then called on for a short talk and he closed the banquet entertainment by offering thanks.

The day's celebration was topped off with a free dance that evening in the Arcade ballroom with the Leon Nesiba orchestra furnishing the music and a fine crowd was present. The ladies of the parish also served lunches in the M.W.A. hall that evening.

Loup City Juniors Roll to 38-0 Victory

The Ord junior high school football team went down to a 38-0 defeat Tuesday evening at the hands of Loup City junior high on the Ord field.

Scoring in every quarter, the Sherman county kids never let the Chicks get within striking distance of the goal line.

The Loup City team had a large number of freshmen on the squad, foretelling a powerhouse varsity team in a few years.

The Douthitt brothers, Ig Piskorski, and Larry Hurlbert were the workhorses of the Ord lineup.

Lump-Sum Payments Still Possible in S. S.

Lump-sum death payments can be made under the amended social security act even though the individual may be entitled also to monthly benefits, it was explained today by Mrs. Verna S. Rankin, manager of the Grand Island field office of the Social Security Administration.

"Entitlement or potential entitlement of anyone to monthly benefits," Mrs. Rankin said, "will not prevent payment of the lump-sum." Continuing her explanation Mrs. Rankin stated under the Amendments of 1950, the lump-sum death payments will not be much greater, in dollar and cents per individual claim, than they were under the old law.

The reason lies in the amount of the primary insurance benefit. Today's primary insurance benefits are, roughly, twice the old. The new law figured the lump-sum by using three times the primary benefit, the old law used six times the primary benefit. So, using an illustrative figure of the minimum benefit, whether you multiply 10 by 6, or 20 by 3, you still get 60.

Scotia, Palmer Play in Finals

Palmer and Scotia are still battling it out for the series championship of the Sherman-Howard league and they now stand at one game each as Palmer stayed in the race Sunday when they nosed out Scotia in a hard fought well played game 5 to 4, and the finals are now all tied up as Scotia took the first game 10 to 8. The final and championship game will be played next Sunday, Oct. 1, at Scotia with game time at 2:30.

Line score of Sunday's game follows—

Palmer	130	000 100-5 11 3

Omaha Market Again Ranks Top

On a run, that, like a week earlier, crowded the 50,000 mark, Omaha again Monday was largest livestock market — its fourth straight Monday at the top. Saleable cattle and calves alone totaled 27,000 — also good for No. 1 rank. Westerns accounted for 60% of the cattle and calf run, 90% of a 10,000 sheep total.

Highlight of trade on replacement stock were 582-pound Wyoming stock steers at $33.25, and Nebraska steer calves at $35.25, all three marks new all-time highs. But even so, over-all stocker and feeder cattle and calf trade figured unevenly steady to 50c lower, some feeder steers $1.00 under the previous Monday. Yearling stock steers bulked at $30.00-$32.00, one drove $33.00 and the record-breaking $33.25; stock heifers $27.00-$28.50, 2-year-old feeder steers $27.50-$29.50; and 3's $27.00-$28.00. Plain feeder steers sold down to $25.00. Nebraska stock cows sored $23.00, their steer and heifer calves $31.50, other calves $30.00-$36.00.

Feeder lambs sold steady, 73-pound Westerns again to the all-time high of $29.50 set two weeks earlier. Breeding ewes sold steady to strong, short-term and younger, $17.00-$21.00. Slaughter ewes sold steady, $12.00-$13.75, and fat lambs steady to 50c higher, mostly $27.50-$28.50, tippy Westerns $29.00.

Fat cattle sold unevenly steady to 25-50c lower, bulk $28.50-$31.00, better steers $31.25-$32.25, top paid for 1075 to 1125 pounders. Best heifers brought $30.50. Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area: Valley County — Don Patrick, 31 hogs, wt. 198, $21.75. Arnold Malottke, 22 heifers, wt. 903, $29.50. Lloyd Geweke, 19 steers, wt. 1228, $31.50.

Care of "Toddler" Nature quite wisely provides the toddler with the physical ability he needs to get around and "into" everything, for that is just what he craves to do. Parents should protect the toddler from physical danger, but they should not curb his curiosity.

Man Working?

Recently the North Loup Firemen needed a "No Parking" sign painted adjacent to one of their fire plugs, and they persuaded John Ward to do the job for them. He did not want to take time off from fishing, but he took one look at the "persuader" and decided to work. That is Fire Chief Merrill Wellman with the gun, and Ward with the brush.

Rabbit, Squirrel Season to Open

Wednesday, Oct. 1, is another red-letter day of Nebraska hunters. It marks the beginning of the rabbit and squirrel hunting season and the end of the month-long dove season.

Hunting for both rabbits and squirrels is allowed from sunrise to sunset daily. The squirrel season closes on December 31, while rabbit hunting is permitted until January 31.

The entire state is open to hunting of both rabbits and squirrels. The bag and possession limit on each is identical—five and five.

The next hunting season to appear on Nebraska hunters' calendars will be on ducks, geese, and coot which commences on Oct. 20 and closes on December 3.

Keby's Komments

Ord football fans will be happy to know that Paul Stoddard is among the more promising gridgers on the NU frosh squad.

Nine of the starting 11 on the Ravenna football team missed Friday night's game against Broken Bow. They were suspended after skipping football practice to watch the Ravenna-Walnut junior high game in Grand Island. The Indians scalped the Bluejays, 41-0.

We're going to dig out the old red sweater before the next football game. We'd almost forgotten how chilly it gets these fall evenings.

And while we're on the subject of sweaters . . . We knew two sisters who went shopping for sweaters. One wanted a sweater to keep her warm. The other had two better reasons.

Don't let all the capitalist propaganda about high standard of living fool you. There are a lot of poor people right here in Ord who couldn't dig up two bits for admission to the junior high game Tuesday evening. They had to park their cars on the edge of the road north of the field and strain their eyes to watch the game. Tsk!

Late hours, say many athletic coaches, are the biggest single cause of lack of condition.

It's that way in Ord, we know. Why, just the other night, one of the young huskies was visiting his girl. The hour was late.

The stern father appeared and said sarcastically, "Say, young man, it's past midnight. Do you think you can stay with my daughter all night?"

The lad replied, "Gosh, I suppose so, if you insist, but I'll have to phone mother first."

Johannie Piskorski, one of the mainstays of the Chanticleers' line, suffered an ankle injury in the Holdrege fray. Tuesday night he suited up for practice for the first time since he was hurt.

He promptly turned the ankle again. We can only write about so many corny stories every week. Had intended to say something of the horse that wouldn't kick field goals, but after careful consideration, we think that next week may be a more opportune time.

160 Acre Farm and Personal Property AT PUBLIC AUCTION

Because of the sudden death of Lee Thomas, his 160 acre farm legally described as the NE 1/4, Sec. 34-21-14, Garfield County, will be sold at public auction, along with standing hay, corn and all livestock and personal property on the premises 11 miles north of Ord, on the Haskell Creek road, starting at 1:00 p. m., on Tuesday, Oct. 3

THE FARM

This 160 acre farm is fenced and cross-fenced and the buildings, including an 8-room stone and brick house, are in just fair condition. There is about 80 acres of tillable land which is not rough; balance in pasture and hayland including some fine native land heavily grassed with the good native grasses. Some of the tillable land has laid in sweet clover for the past 2 years; some is in corn.

The real estate will be offered with the buildings separate for removal or as a complete unit. A feeding privilege can be given up to March 1. If purchaser of land also buys feed and growing corn, possession could be given as soon as the abstract can be prepared.

Terms will be 25% cash on day of sale, balance on or before March 1. Up to 60% can be carried back at 5 per cent interest payable annually, with the option of paying off $100 or any even multiple of $100 on the principal at any interest date.

Anyone wanting to view this property, see M. B. Cummins or any member of the Ord Livestock Market staff.

Half Century.

When three more months have passed the first half of the 20th century will have come to an end. Many persons were deluded into thinking that the half century ended with December 31st, 1949, but such was not the case, since it takes full fifty years, not forty-nine, to make a half century.

If the end had come last year it would have found the world as near to peace as it is normally possible to find it. At that time, except for a number of internal disturbances headed by the communist aggression in China, affairs were reasonably peaceable. At that time there was no war in which the entire world was directly interested.

But in one short year all has changed. Today every nation in the world of any size or importance is interested in one war, the undeclared war in Korea. The United Nations are interested on the side of South Korea, and all the communist dominated countries are of necessity in sympathy with the North Koreans.

Thus we can truly say that the whole world is at war. How long the war will last and how it will develop is in the lap of the Gods. Today communism is starting disorders in the border towns of Indo-China. By the time the year ends the same thing may happen in Iran, Iraq, Greece, or along the western front in Europe.

By the time the year ends we may also have an inkling as to whether the two-party system in our democracy is to continue or whether one and the same party is to dominate the field for all time to come. Ten years ago the threat of war was used to keep that party in power and the same arguments are being used today to continue that power.

What we in America have most to fear today is not the foe without, but the foe within. We are now engaged in a war against totalitarianism. In the carrying on of that war it is necessary to use some of the methods used by the enemy. Let us beware lest, in our effort to bring liberty to people abroad, we lose the liberties we now possess at home.

Draft Ten Years Old.

Ten years ago, Oct. 16, the first men were called up by the Valley county draft board under the provisions of the new draft law. Now, after ten years, we find ourselves still under that law, and today men are being drafted into the service, and will be in ever increasing numbers, as conditions in an unsettled world demand their services.

There were many objections to the draft law then, and there are many today, but the fact remains that the war could not have been fought and won without the law. In time like these it is not what we want that counts, it is what the circumstances demand. Nobody wants war, nobody likes the threat of war, but so long as there is greed and selfishness in the world, there will be war.

In principle the draft law is fair, in that every person physically able to bear arms is required to do so. In practice there may be a person here or there who gets by without doing his duty to his country, but, in the end, he finds that he would have been better off if he had done his duty when the time was ripe to do so.

There is no criticism of the law because of the defects, any more than there is criticism of any other law because a few offenders get by without punishment. As well repeal the ten commandments because after thousands of years, people still kill, steal, covet and fail to love their neighbor as they should.

The draft law was born of necessity, and it is still on the statute books because that necessity still exists. As conditions now stand the law will have to continue indefinitely, possibly for all time to come. So long as people are imperfect, we cannot hope for a perfect world.

Ten years of the law have made people tolerant toward it. They have come to look upon it as a necessary evil. In another ten years all objection to it probably will have ceased and it will have become a part of our way of life. It is simply another of the shackles that bind us in our modern way of life, and as such must be accepted.

Why Population?

This nation has just passed through a period of counting noses and the rivalry between towns has been terrific. In some places prizes have been offered to persons who turn in names of those missed by the census takers on their regular rounds. In Nebraska especially the result has been disappointing. Although the state finally wound up in the gain column, the rural areas and the small towns lost, while the large towns all gained.

Some columnists have taken the trouble to point out that this is a calamity of the first order. They seem to think that our population should go on increasing for all time to come. They overlook the fact that there comes a time when a nation reaches the point of saturation, when further growth is neither possible nor practical. We in America are now nearing that point.

Why place so much stress on population? We can never hope to catch up with China or India, two of our oldest known nations, nor should we have any desire to do so. They have quantity, but at the expense of quality. They are so crowded that any disaster means that thousands must die of starvation, because there is barely enough food for everybody at the best.

In America we should now begin to place more stress on the quality of our citizenship and less stress on quantity. We should be interested in growing better citizens, rather than more of them. We have gone a long way in that respect in the past half century. Today we have more university and college graduates each year than we had high school graduates then.

The end is not yet. The type of education is changing. The student of today is especially trained for the job he plans to follow in later life. It should be the aim of our nation to raise citizens who are better prepared to handle whatever job they prepare for, and handle it better than the present generation is now doing. The Greek nation was great because its citizens were educated ahead of other nations of its day. That should be the criterion of America.

++ Something Different ++

The weather was really worth talking about this summer. It was our coolest summer for many a year; for longer than YOU can remember. It was our greenest summer and therefore our greenest fall. It was our rainiest summer, little doubt of that.

And are we now going to have our nicest fall? Nothing like going to extremes.

I read they are fixing up glads so they'll have a fragrance! That was the only thing lacking about gladioli. If anything was lacking in those marvellous blossoms.

A lemon pie couldn't be as much work to make as I think it is. It always seems to me that I don't get anything else done the morning I make a lemon pie.

Every day I get more alarmed at the general mess the world is in, and the Russians and Korea, and the atom bomb, and the likelihood of a big world-wide war. And the political situation and the national debt, so tremendous it will never be paid out in our time, or our children's, yet growing bigger every day. How can we exist and do business and thrive on such terrific and constantly snowballing deficits? How come our congressmen worry so much about reelection, and only secondarily about our country? This is a time when we need not politicians, but statesmen.

Things have never been so bad. It is probably a good thing that the older generation that is passing does not have to face such a world. It may be a good thing to leave the confusion to be borne by younger shoulders.

For people like my mother believe you had to pay as you go. Gene's dad believed this, and they lived by these strange old-fashioned ideas. If you didn't have the money, you didn't buy. To get money, you saved.

Queer ideas we are fast ridding from our minds. I find it difficult to do. And older people find it impossible to believe... but of course their ideas are all fuddy-duddy. Or are they?

No, it occurs to me that these older people who believe honesty is the best policy, and hard work is its own reward, and that you can't spend what you haven't got—were out of step.

They'd never be able to adjust to our wonderful modern way of doing business on the other fellow's cuff.

Then there was the little lad who went to kindergarten the first day and was trudging home when a grown-up began to visit with him.

"And did you like school this morning, fella?"
"Heck, no!" was the response. Only, the little boy didn't say heck...

Ward's Cookin' Column

People are smarter now than they once were, but it is still a fact that they prefer to buy an article at $1.98 rather than at $2.00. The saving is so small it only amounts to one per cent, but ten per cent of the people seem to prefer the more complicated figure. It has been proven recently that 55 people out of 100 will buy the article for $1.98, even when it is slightly less in quality, as it often is. When a change of two cents in the price of such an item can fool the well educated American public, is it any wonder that the more ignorant peoples of the world are fooled by the rosy picture painted by communist agitators?

Back of everything is the reason for it. About 55 years ago articles were being priced in even figures, and it was a convenient arrangement for both the customer and the clerk. For instance, the customer usually had a dollar, and the clerk could accept it as payment without having to make change. But this proved an opportunity for the clerk, then woefully underpaid, to slip an occasional dollar into his pocket and forget all about it. If discovered he could claim that he had forgotten all about the transaction, and turn over the money.

So a proprietor in a large store in a city figured out that, if the clerk had to come to the cash drawer to get change, he would need to deposit the money. That was before the days of cash registers had come into general use, and each clerk made change from the till or the proprietor made change for all of them. The idea worked, and the result was that prices dropped a penny or two on the dollar. The store owners found that people paid more attention to the dollars in the price than they did to the 98 cents and that goods so marked sold much faster than at the old price. Now that we have cash registers there is no real need for such odd prices, but they sell goods faster and we will have them to the end of the chapter, so long as there are goods to sell and suckers to buy them.

And, speaking of suckers, reminds me that the Mrs. and I went fishing last week to a place where we used to get fish, but found the surface covered with a growth of plants. We managed to get through it, however, caught a few sunfish and bullheads and a few black suckers, two of them weighing about two pounds apiece, the biggest I have seen in a long time. It goes to show that, if you give the fish a chance they will grow to a good size in a short time. Of interest was the fact that all those fish, living for a long time in dark waters, were almost black in color, but had faded out considerably by the time we got them home.

There was a very fine corn exhibit at Pop Corn Days, but most of the many kinds of hybrids were still in the milk, and only three sweets away from probable frost. As this is written a week has passed, and the corn in the fields looks about as green as ever. A long, dry fall might help, but the weather man is talking now about cold and early frost. Back more than forty years ago we had corn that grew late and failed to mature. It did not dry out, but froze in the fields, and then much of it heated when put into the crib. What did not heat then did heat when it was shelled and put in the bin. I know, for I was farming then and had some of it.

Anything like that is not likely to happen now, the heating, I mean. Specially built cribs, with ventilators in use and left in the crib until it really does dry out, will help a great deal, and the farmers of today are smart enough to use such precautions. It may not be as bad now as then, when we went almost directly from an open fall into a wet and early winter, which is the worst thing that can follow a backward growing season. Dry and reasonably warm weather through October will do wonders to the corn crop.

More than anything else, Pop Corn Days is a place and an occasion for visiting. This year perhaps fifty former residents returned to visit, and more visiting went on than usual. In this respect the festival is unique. No other show of the same type finds so many people renewing acquaintance and with so much enjoyment. The fact that most of the entertainment is free may have something to do with it. The fact is that the show has many of the desirable features of the country fair of the early days. Here people bring in their best in field crops and art work, and the public actually takes time to look the exhibits over, and interest not shown in many fairs.

Among the visitors were two men I once played ball against when they were on the North Loup high school ball team, Henry Rich, second base, and David Davis, pitcher. Dave told me about the first time I played against him, a story I had forgotten. Ord high came down with friend Hank Misko as pitcher, and he was a good one. But the North Loup boys choked their bats, met the ball and hit everything he had to offer. With the game lost, Hank was forced to retire, and I was called in to finish a game that finally wound up 8 to 1 in favor of North Loup. Other old timers I visited included Orsen Davis and Ben Barnhart.

Cliff Goodrich took occasion Thursday of Pop Corn Days to go around town and count the cars parked on the streets. He found the rather astonishing number of 1070. I would have guessed there were 1068, but he counted them and I didn't. On the basis of 3 1/2 persons on an average to an auto, and add the people who walked up town or parked at the homes of friends in the outskirts, that would mean that about 4,000 persons were present that day, and that is a lot of people in a town of 530 population.

In case you have not yet found it out, there is an abundance of the finest quality of wild grapes this year, and in many cases they can be picked for the asking. There is no wild fruit that can compare with grapes for jellies and jams, and, if you like grape juice, they make the finest in the world. The juice is one of the best things you can drink also, as your doctor will tell you if you ask him. A glass of grape juice every day is almost certain insurance against liver trouble. Plums are but plums are not too popular, not as plentiful as they are sometimes, and the quality is inferior, anyway.

Student Council Formed at N. Loup

Students of North Loup high school voted to form a student council at a general convocation Tuesday morning. During the convocation program, Superintendent Dunklau spoke to the students on the workings of a student council and its place in a high school program. He discussed with the students the general organization of such a council, its objectives, and matters which would be appropriate for consideration by such a council.

The following were chosen by their respective classes for seats on the council:

Beverly Knapp and Sam Denoyer, seniors; Harold Klingensmith and Carolyn Hamer, juniors; Jim Cook and Jeneane Brennick, sophomores; Helen King and Kay Sawyer, freshmen.

The next step in the organization of the council will be the drafting of a constitution and by-laws and their adoption by the student body.

—STRAND THEATRE— Friday and Saturday, "Cowtown," Gene Autry, Gail Davis, Sunday and Wednesday, "Clamagore for Caesar," Ronald Coleman and Celeste Holm. 26-1t

Essay Contest Winners Announced

Winners in the recent high school essay contest at North Loup were announced this week. The victors were chosen by a committee of Mr. Babcock and Miss Jensen.

The following students were declared winners: Evelyn Brown, Connie Eberhart, Carolyn Hamer, and Harold Klingensmith.

Interest Sought in N. Loup PTA

A total of 82 letters were mailed to the 82 parents or guardians of the grade and high school children in the North Loup schools. The purpose of the letter was two-fold. First, it was the intent of the letter to convey to the parents and guardians the fact that the teachers are happy to be able to have daily associations with all the boys and girls who are enrolled in the school. Every child is considered important and every personality is respected. This is not always so easy to do, especially in over-crowded classrooms, but the fundamental idea is never lost sight of. The second purpose of the letter was to introduce to the parents and guardians the matter of organizing some type of an organization which might link the home with the school. A card was inclosed with the letter which had printed on it the following four questions:

Are you interested in some kind of a parent-teacher organization?

If such an organization is formed, will you attend, whenever it is possible for you to do so?

Do you prefer day or night meetings?

Will you be willing to spend some time for the organization in case you should be elected to some office?

A few cards have been returned. In next week's Quiz, a summary will be given on the response as indicated by the return of the cards.

The Nolo club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Florence Hutchins for a roll call lesson given by the first half of the roll.

Mrs. Martin Dunklau entertained the Fortnightly club on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Harold Fisher led the lesson.

Mrs. Ruth Lemmonds of Springfield, Ore., is a guest of her father, Mark McCall and of the Don Tolberts. Sunday a family dinner at the Tolbert home honored Mrs. Lemmonds, with 41 relatives present.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Portis spent the day Sunday with the Bryan Portis.

A large group of farmers enjoyed the sojourn show given Thursday evening at the Community building by Virgil Annas and Goodrich Bros. North Loup Sojourn dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. Deryl Coleman of Los Angeles arrived Saturday and are guests of her mother, Mrs. Ivy Whalen and his mother, Mrs. Edna Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Van Horn and Mrs. Millie Stacy were Wednesday evening dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Grace Mayo.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vodehnal, Idona and Wilma spent Sunday evening in Ord with Mr. and Mrs. John Sershen.

A family dinner Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vodehnal celebrated the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kerchal and included beside the honored guests and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vodehnal, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Vodehnal and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Mills Hill and two daughters.

Frank Johnson went to Geneva on the Saturday afternoon bus and returned Sunday. He was a guest in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard Hamilton.

Mrs. Adelle Gowan and Dick of Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fuchring and David of Aurora were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Babcock.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson and boys of Greeley were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Beebe were in North Platte from Thursday till Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Toni Grabowski.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sims went to Omaha Monday where Bill had to report for his physical for army reserve service.

J. E. Lee and son, Clarence, went to Chicago last week for a visit with Calvin Lee and other relatives. Monte Edwards went with them and is a guest of his daughter.

Mrs. Emma Roberts was a Thursday supper guest of Mrs. Kate Schaffner.

Ladies of the Legion Auxiliary served lunch for the Sojourn program Thursday evening at the Community building.

With a little more good weather we will have a good corn crop. So with not many farms for sale and several looking, better pick out what you would like to have. We can show you some 1/4 sections and some 1/2 sections and some small places right near town. One fine gas and oil business with bulk tanks.

North Loup Girl Wins Ribbons

Janet Mrkwicka of North Loup is attracting much attention in agricultural circles because of the interest she is taking in the prizes she is winning in farm events which include agricultural fairs and saddle shows. Janet, now fifteen and in the ninth grade of the North Loup schools, has been interested in this work all her life, and especially the past five years.

She is one of a family, all of whom are interested in such items of farm work, with the exception of her father, Martin Mrkwicka, who is employed as maintenance man on the North Loup-Ashton highway and has little time for anything else. Her mother, Dolly Johansen of Loup City, was a noted horsewoman in her day, and still takes great interest in horses and riding.

Henry, the oldest boy, is 17, is in the 11th grade and plays football. Then there are Norma, 12, Beverly, 10, Mary Ann, 8, and Jimmie, 2. Also there are likely to be up to half a dozen kids from town visiting at the Mrkwicka home almost any time.

The Mrkwickas live on their own farm of 152 acres one mile north and half a mile east of North Loup, fronting on the river and south of the Ord-Greeley highway. On this farm they have stock cattle and 11 milk cows, more later; 150 head of hogs in all, including Henry's Hampshire sow, which he is raising for a school project.

There are also about 100 chickens, mostly belonging to Janet, about fifty ducks and 12 geese. The loss among the ducklings and goslings is high due to the snapping turtles in the creek, a pest that ought to be eliminated.

But this is really a story of Janet, who first started out in the horse show business five years ago when she rode Queen, then only three months old, in the Pop Corn Day parade at North Loup. She has been riding and training Queen ever since and has been winning ribbons for four years at various horse shows.

This year she went to the horse shows and saddle club shows at Ravenna, Central City, Spring Creek and Burwell, and will go to Loup City on Oct. 1. The prize ribbons shown are those she won at the first four places and include 6 first, 6 seconds, and 2 thirds.

She won this year in the boot race, firebug race, optical race, relay race, barrel race, western class, potato race, egg race, and balloon race. At present she is training Queen to perform on the teeter.

where she will walk up to the plank, balance it and then stand still while balanced.

Janet's experience with pigs started two years ago, when she won a pig in the pig scramble at the Valley county fair. She won in direct competition with boys of her age, a number of whom failed to catch a pig. This pig she called Sally, and she is the mother of the two pigs Janet showed this year with great success.

She now has 39 head of hogs altogether. They are a branch of the Chester Whites, and make fine show pigs. In 1949 she showed in Ord only, but this year at Ord, St. Paul, Spalding and Burwell, winning 18 blue ribbons, 25 red ribbons and 13 white ribbons, all of which are shown in the accompanying photo.

Janet is typically a farm girl and takes little interest in social life, preferring the job of training her horse to attending dances or shows. She is a typical example of what the 4-H club work can do for young people on the farm, and proves it is one of the most important parts of the educational program.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Meyer have moved from their farm home to the Chadwick property in Scotia. The Meyers purchased this home last fall. Mrs. Chadwick retains living quarters for the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Meyer are living on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Trospen and family visited the Irving Shoemakers Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Shoemaker of Lincoln were also Sunday guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sternberg drove to Grand Island, Saturday where they met Mrs. Sternberg's brother, Merton Shultz and family of Green River, Wyo. Sunday the Sternbergs and their guests drove to Wolbach where they spent the day with Mrs. Tracy Shultz, mother of Mrs. Sternberg and Mr. Shultz. Mr. and Mrs. Merl Shultz of Worms and Tim O'Connell of Wolbach were also dinner guests of Mrs. Shultz. Mr. and Mrs. Shultz and their family will return to Scotia before they leave for their home in Wyoming. Mr. Shultz is employed by the railroad.

The girl scout council met Monday, at the home of Mrs. Esther Bilhorn to find if a leader could be secured for the troop for the coming year. The group has grown to more than 20 members. The girls are now at an age that much time will be necessary in order to properly train them. Nothing has been done to date.

The Brownie scout troop fared better than the other group. Several mothers volunteered to each give a portion of her time in order to keep the scout work going. These girls are between the ages of 7 through 10, while the girl scouts are from 10 through 18.

Jack Bussell who attends school at Lincoln spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darold Bussell.

Rev. R. A. Sundberg, a missionary to China and the Philippines, was the main speaker. He was assisted by several speakers within the district. The younger group of the church sponsored this meeting but due to so many attending school the older members of the church supported the event. The ladies of the church served a banquet to ninety of this young group at 7 p. m. These young folks range between the ages of 12 to 25 and were from Rock County, Ord, Taylor, Mira Valley, Cotesfield, Elba and Scotia. They are better known in the church as the "League."

Mrs. Margaret Butgeriet and Mrs. Carrie Halverson, relatives of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Halverson, left Friday for their homes at Racine, Wis., after a visit here.

Work has been started to enlarge the Zion Lutheran church in Scotia. Tractors and tractors were used in the latter part of the week and already shows much headway. The school building will be moved to take care of part of the enlargement. An addition of 24x32 will be built to take care of the west side of the church, making the total enlargement 24x58 under which a full basement will be finished. The church has been handicapped for room, and has not been able to serve a large number for banquets or dinners. The youths' group will have a larger place to hold their meetings. It is hoped to have this completed before too long.

Don Miller who is employed by a railroad company in Grand Island met with an accident while at work Monday morning. After receiving medical care he was brought to his home here by Jerry Byson, who is also employed in Grand Island.

Ralph Coufal spent from Friday until Monday in Hawks Springs, Wyo., visiting a buddy from World War II, who is an invalid. Although his friend spends the greater part of his time in a wheel chair, Ralph found him very cheerful.

The Lady and the Lolly-Pop

Once there was a proud father, who had a little girl. And he loved his little girl a great deal. As he trudged home from work one day he thought of all the things he would like to give her—things that would make her very happy. But he wasn't a rich father. Until payday all he could afford was a lolly-pop. As she licked her lolly-pop she smiled at him—and he smiled, too. She was very happy. And he was glad he had given her a lolly-pop! The next Sunday he took his little girl to Sunday School... and he and Mother began attending Church. Years later, when his little girl had become a "lady", she smiled at him one day—and he smiled, too. She was very happy. And he was glad he had given her more than lolly-pops! He had given her the finest gift of all—faith in God's love.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Chicks Wallop Ravenna, 14-0

Playing a much better brand of football than they did early in the season, the junior high eleven beat Ravenna Tuesday night by a 14-0 score on the Ravenna field.

The two teams were about equal in size and age, but Ord played better football.

Big ground gainer for Ord was fullback Ign. Piskorski. Quarterback John Douthit sneaked over for the first touchdown and his brother Jim hit the line for the extra point.

Larry Hurlbert made Ord's second touchdown on a double reverse and Ign. Piskorski rammed the middle for the conversion. Ravenna never threatened.

Coaches Dickey and Kovanda accompanied the team.

Arcadia Is Victor in Play-off Series

Behind Beasley's five-hit pitching, Arcadia spanked Eddyville 8-0 to win the post season play-off of the Loup Valley baseball league, Sunday.

The game was played on the Mason City diamond. Eddyville won only one of the five games of the play-off.

Obituary

Littleton William Portis, was born June 12, at Fairfax, Mo., the son of Silas and Jane Portis. He died at Ord, Nebraska on October 3, 1950, after a brief illness, aged 33 years, three months and 21 days.

As a young man he came to Nebraska, where he met and on September 23 1891, married Eva May Decker in Greeley county. The following spring they moved to a farm east of Ord.

L. W. PORTIS

Mr. Portis farmed in Valley county until March, 1937, when he and his wife moved to North Loup where they have since made their home.

All of his children and grandchildren, with the exception of Mrs. Carol Stude Turner, were present for the family reunion in July 1941. In September of 1941 Mr. and Mrs. Portis celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. At the time of his death they had been married 59 years.

Mr. Portis was greatly interested in world news and also maintained an alert and active concern in sporting events.

In addition to his wife he is survived by nine of their 12 children, Mary Stude of North Loup; Eva Smith of Fresno, Calif.; Bryan Portis, Cotesfield; Orville Portis, North Loup; Patsy Newton, Denver, Colo.; Ross Portis, Loup City; Rachel Kimbrel and Owen Portis, Anacortes, Wash.; and Olive Arthur, Everett, Wash.; 22 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren, two brothers, Ben Portis of Fairfax, Mo., and Ondie Portis of Nebraska City, besides numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Methodist church in North Loup, with Rev. F. H. Stevens of Taylor bringing the message.

Mrs. Cloyd Ingerson and Mrs. Harold Hoepfner sang and Mrs. Stanley Johnson was at the piano. Pallbearers were Maynard Finley, Cecil Knapp, Hillis Coleman, DeLysie Jefferies, Eldon Sintek and Harry Waller. Honorary bearers were Bates Copeland, Rasmus Peterson, Irvis Sheldon, Roy Cox and Floyd Wetzel.

Hastings-Pearson was in charge of arrangements, with burial in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Matt Parkos entertained at dinner Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Proetz of Union Pier, Mich., Mrs. Mary Shurtz of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Mary Francl and Bess. In the evening they all drove to Burwell to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Norton and Nancy of York spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norton.

Scotia

Palmer Takes S-H Play-off Crown

With an ideal day Sunday, a large crowd saw the final game in Sherman-Howard league play-off series when Scotia and Palmer battled on the Scotia diamond. Palmer won by a score of 7-5.

The game was a loosely played affair that saw Palmer rack up four errors while Scotia booted the ball a half-dozen times.

Scotia pushed the first run across in the last of the third inning, but after a scoreless fourth frame Palmer came back with a five-run rally in the fifth. Scotia scored twice in the fifth and once on the seventh and ninth. Palmer, however, pushed runs across in the sixth and ninth to maintain a lead.

Each team collected 11 hits. Line score: r h e Palmer 000 051 001 7 11 4 Scotia 001 020 101 5 11 6

Ericson Livestock Market

Tuesday, Oct. 24

in Arcadia, at the Hughes Hatchery building, commencing at 1:30 p.m.

The property will be offered and sold as a complete unit or in separate tracts, whichever way it brings the most money.

The hatchery building is located directly north across the street from the public library. The building is 33x24' with complete hatchery unit, capacity 22,000 chicks, with a Jamesway incubator battery.

The farm unit consists of an improved 13 acres which is irrigated from the creek and has a state water right which will be assigned to purchaser. It is located at the SE corner of Arcadia, and the land is exceptionally fertile.

There is a 5 room modern residence and several other buildings.

Here is an improved tract that is one of the best in the territory, ideally located and as a complete unit or singly operated will be hard to beat.

RALPH HUGHES, Owner

Holland Tulip Bulbs.

We have a shipment of Holland Tulip Bulbs. Nice size and there are ten separate varieties; and all are popular colors. Buy them by the dozen or by the hundred. Plant them during the next three weeks.

Grain. We have some good quality feeding barley and good yellow corn on hand. Good dry feeding grain that you can store for later use. Ask us for prices delivered to your farm.

Wheat market is some lower this week and buyers are slow to take hold of wheat. We are going to shell a couple of cars of popcorn the last of this week and the first of next so we prefer to have you call us before bringing any grain the next ten days.

Hybrid Corn. This is the last week for cash discounts on Cornhusker Hybrids when the full amount is paid with the order. We are having splendid reports on our fields of Cornhusker hybrids and if you have not been planting Cornhusker hybrids why not try a few bushels this coming year. Wherever Cornhusker hybrids have been planted in test plots with competitive hybrids they have given a very good account of themselves. Cornhusker Hybrids are always at the top for yields and they have a remarkable shelling percentage.

Protein and Molasses Feeds. From available supplies it would seem that any feed with molasses feed in it this year would be somewhat higher than last year. We feel that you would do well to put in whatever protein or molasses feed you will need in the next few months now. This is not asking you to hoard a lot of feed that you won't need but the feed situation looks tight for some little time. Crop reports indicate that Soy Bean meal will be the most plentiful of all the protein feeds.

Fertilizers. Fertilizer manufacturers are telling us now that Nitrates will be very short next year. In fact they recommend that 2 1/2% Ammonium Sulphate be used whenever possible to get the Nitrate that you will need. We feel that any orders given next spring will not be filled. Orders are taken only subject to the ability of the supplier to have the tonnage available.
