New 'Short Cut' Highway Would Link North Platte—Sioux City

Details of New Highway Plan Are Announced

Burt Sell, Arcadia Heads Association of Road Boosters. Numbering and improvement of a Sioux City-North Platte Short Cut highway is the object of a newly formed highway association which met at Elgin last week to perfect their organization.

Arcadia Is Site of Farm Meet

Crops, soils and fertilizers will be the featured subjects at a farmers meeting at Arcadia Thursday, March 8, according to C. C. Dale. The meeting, at the Arcadia high school auditorium will start at 10 A. M. with Jack King of the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association discussing "New Crop Varieties and Seed Certification."

Kirby Quits in Shake-up of Ord Police Department

Gewekes Return from Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Geweke returned home last Wednesday night after a four weeks vacation trip through Florida. They left Ord on January 25 and went as far as Waterloo, Ia., the first day and spent the night with their daughter and family, Rev. and Mrs. Quentin Lansman.

March of Dimes Ends With $2,500 Given

The curtain rang down on another annual March of Dimes this week with about $2,500 reported to Chairman Stanley Absalon of the local chapter. Absalon said that a few donations probably would be reported after the drive ended officially. "We'll certainly be happy if anyone wants to contribute at any time to the polo fund," he said.

Signs of Spring Appear This Week; Needed Rains Fall

Amateur weather prophets—and all of us are—saw unmistakable signs of spring this week. "There'll be some more cold weather," the usual comment was, "but it can't last long now." A few balmy days took nearly all the ice out of the Loup rivers, with no indication of damaging jams forming at bridges or irrigation dams.

Weather Report table with columns for date, high, low, and precip. for the week of March 1-7, 1951.

Autos Roll in Freak Accident

No one was injured seriously, but two automobiles were pretty badly banged up in a pair of freak accidents last week. Charles Krikac was driving east on the Ord-Sargent highway about 7:15 Wednesday evening. He came over the crest of a hill and in front of him was a tractor, also going east, driven by Vincent Basha.

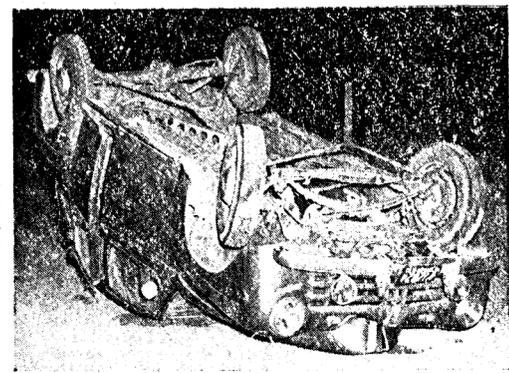

Loup National Loan Group Meets Tuesday

The directors of the Loup National Farm Loan Association have met Tuesday, March 6, at the date for the Annual Meeting of the stockholders. The meeting will begin with a dinner at the Methodist Church in Ord at 12:00 noon, the business session and program will follow at 1:15 in the Masonic Temple basement.

Slate Auction in Connection With Pancake Day

A novel auction sale is being planned in connection with the Ord Chamber of Commerce's annual Pancake Day. About 30 Chamber members who met for the monthly meeting at the Masonic hall Monday evening heard and approved reports by the committees in charge of planning the day. Details of the auction have not been ironed out as yet, but it will probably work something like this: Each Ord merchant will donate an article of merchandise and will name a bargain price for it.

Car Turns Turtle — No Injuries

This is Charles Krikac's car which overturned on the Sargent highway early Wednesday evening. Although the hood and the top of the auto were damaged badly, neither Krikac nor his wife, who was riding with him, were injured.

Box Car Shortage Costly

The box car shortage, and the apparent inability of the two railroads who serve Ord to deliver empty cars here is costing Ord business firms and farmers of this territory thousands of dollars, the Quiz learned this week. Some of the loss represents grain which would have been normally delivered to this area, and is now being trucked south to the main line of the Union Pacific.

County Judge Ball Hears Two Drunken Driving Cases

Valley County Judge Ellsworth Ball Jr. heard two drunken driving cases during the last week, as well as two speeding cases. Ignatius Urbanski was fined $25 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 30 days when he pleaded guilty, Friday, to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Levies Fines and Suspends Permits of Both Men

The other man who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated was Albert Piacnik who appeared in court Saturday. He drew a fine of $50 and his license was suspended for 3 months. Hugh Fursel and Donald Lynch, both of Burwell, were the two speeders who were in court. They both entered guilty pleas and were fined $10 and costs each.

Draws Five Dollar Fine on Check Charge

Kenneth Mizner appeared in county court Wednesday morning and entered a guilty plea to a charge of writing an insufficient fund check on the Purdum State Bank at Purdum.

Chitwood Booked For Valley Fair Here in August

Joe Chitwood and his crew of skilled drivers, who thrilled spectators at the Valley county fair two years ago, will be the feature attraction of the 1951 fair, the fair board announced today. The board met Tuesday night to make plans for the annual event, and signed contracts for the Chitwood performance. Chitwood drew record-breaking crowds here in 1949, and in 1950 was the feature attraction at the Nebraska State Fair in Des Moines.

Condition Critical

The condition of two well known Ord men who have been ill for a long time remains critical as the Quiz goes to press today. Albert Anderson, who is being cared for at his home in east Ord, is in very bad shape and no hope for his recovery is held. Kit Carson, who is under medical care at the Ord hospital, is in similarly critical condition, though he rallied a bit Tuesday night.

Send Pants to Congress' Movement Gaining National Recognition

"Send your pants to Congress" movement by seven Ord taxpayers, is rapidly gaining momentum and national recognition, the Quiz learned this week. In last week's Quiz was reprinted the Omaha World-Herald, and was later placed on wire-photo to be sent all over the United States. Monday, several of the pants were displayed in Washington to a startled Congress, by Congressman A. L. Miller, one of the recipients.

Klinginsmith-Allen Suit Asks $50,000

In a petition filed Saturday in the district court of Valley county, Earl Klinginsmith, former Ord clothier, through his attorneys, Davis & Vogeltanz, asks damages of $50,000 for alleged "wounded feelings, loss of affection of his wife, Phyllis; shame and disgrace." Ross Allen of Ord was named defendant in the action.

Assessor Reminds Taxpayers of Duty

County Assessor Henry Stara reminds taxpayers that by law it is their responsibility to see that their taxable personal property is listed with the county assessor by April 20. A form for the listing of property is being sent to each taxpayer on the county rolls, and these forms must be returned to the assessor by the April 20th deadline.

Sacks Home from Southern Trip

Mr. and Mrs. William Sack started on their southern trip on February 1, going by way of Kansas and Oklahoma and heading for Brownsville, Tex., in the lower Rio Grande citrus fruit valley. That part of Texas had suffered a very heavy freeze which destroyed all fruits and vegetables.

Red Cross Will Ask for 25% More This Year

H. T. Frazier, chairman of the 1951 Valley county Red Cross fund drive, said that this year's campaign would attempt to raise 25% more than in previous years. "We don't know our exact quota as yet, but the need this year is so great that we can anticipate at least that amount of increase," he said.

Ord, Nebr., and Lady Godiva

The business men at Ord, Neb., who sent their pants to Congress in protest against high taxes had a good idea. It dramatized the problem as ordinary facts and figures could not. But, speaking of figures, we wonder if the ladies of Coventry, England, haven't hit upon a better idea. Coventry was the home of Lady Godiva. Come June 23, Coventry will celebrate the seven hundredth anniversary of the event that made her famous. A modern Lady Godiva will ride through the streets unclothed and on a white horse to protest high taxes.

North Loup

(Crowded out last week)
Mr. Gillespie of the state department of health was guest speaker before the P.T.A. Monday evening, and spoke of the needs for health for the teacher and the pupil. A number of pamphlets on the subject were given out and Mr. Gillespie showed a film "Why Tommy Doesn't Eat." Lunch was served in the lunch room, with Mrs. David Alfrey head of the committee. Next meeting will be March 19, and Mrs. Victor Cook will be chairman of the lunch committee for the meeting.

The P.T.A. now has 67 members. A basketball game with Sargent Monday evening resulted in a win for North Loup, 19-21. Bill Palser, Harlon Palser, Connie Elberhart and Jeanette Van Hoosen were Sunday supper guests of Evelyn Brown.

Business Is Good All Over State

Business in Nebraska was generally good during January, a report from the University of Nebraska department of business research says.

Sales in eight of the state's principal cities were up about 25 per cent, but were 17 per cent below the high December figure. Valley county showed one of the smaller gains over last January's volume. Sales here were up about 14.5 per cent, and were down 23.9 per cent from December.

Omaha showed an increase of nearly 20 per cent during January over 1950, and a gain of one per cent over December, but the bureau said that something was wrong with the figures—actually there was a loss, not a gain since December.

McCook showed a startling 52.9 per cent gain over January of last year, followed by Hastings, with an increase of 42 per cent. Sales in Hastings, though, dropped 48.4 per cent since December of last year.

Embargo Slapped On One Ord Buyer For 'Too Many'

Only Reloaded Cars Available For Shipping Out Grain.

lost a lot of this business to other grain markets on the main line of the Union Pacific where cars are more available.

The Farmer's Elevator has received one grain car in the past three weeks. "If we weren't in the feed and coal business and consequently had a few cars to load out we wouldn't have been able to buy any grain in the past several weeks," Heuck explained.

Heuck said that the grain business operates on a very small margin and unless a good volume of business were maintained a grain buyer overhead would soon eat up any profit.

"Our annual statement shows a high amount of accounts receivable for this time of the year," Heuck said. "That's not because our customers don't have the money—it simply represents our inability to buy their grain so they can pay us. As a result, everyone loses, including other business men in town who could have done a lot more business had there been a good amount of cash grain sold here."

Heuck said that he was quite concerned about local corn spoiling due to excessive moisture. "I'm thankful that we had a dry winter or it would have been worse," he said. "But now that our spring rains have started, I'm starting to worry again. We could use 10 cars a week for the next several months and still not purchase all the grain that has been offered to us. And remember we're just one firm—the other buyers in this country are in the same position. In other words, it's a bad situation for everyone."

Noll told the Quiz that he was going to Omaha Thursday to make a personal appeal to Burlington railroad officials to see what could be done about getting more grain cars in the Loup Valley.

Livestock Trade Trends Are Mixed Monday at Omaha

Livestock trade was a mixture of ups and downs Monday at Omaha.

On light supply fat cattle trade opened steady to 25c higher but closed dull and weak to 25-50c lower. Rumors of revision in meat price ceilings hit the market at mid-forenoon. Fat cattle sales ranged from $29.00-$37.00, bulk $33.50-$35.50, quotable steer near $40.00, best heifers 1014-pounds at $36.00. Low grade cows sold unevenly steady to 50c up in early trade, later only steady, canners and cutters $19.00-$23.50, mostly $20.00-$23.00. Beef cows sold steady to 50c off, few above $26.00. Bologna bulls sold sparingly to $30.00 and $30.25, more at $28.00-$29.50, beef $27.00-$28.00; veal calves to $37.00, odd head $38.00.

Stocker and feeder cattle and calves sold steady, feeder steers $30.00-$36.50, stock steers $33.00-$40.00, steer calves to $42.50, feeding heiferettes to $27.50, stock cows to $26.00.

Despite a short Monday run—less than 7,000—swine values skidded 25-75c, weights under 270 hardest hit. Butchers weighing 180-260 brought $22.00-$22.75. Sows lost 25-50c, weights to 600 $19.25-$21.50. Stags brought $14.00-$16.50.

On fat lambs most packer bids were lower despite light supply, but order buyer demand effected a 25c higher market, bulk of woolled lambs $38.75, a few $39.50. Slaughter ewes brought $17.00-$28.00, quotable top $24.00. Medium to good 98-pound and 108 pound shorn lambs, some with wet fleeces, went on feeder account at $35.50 and $35.75.

Valley county shippers at the Omaha market last week included Adam Augustyn with 24 steers weighing 1117 that sold at $35.50. Garfield county shippers at the Omaha market last week included Neal Wood with 14 steers weighing 933 that sold at $33.75, and Mrs. May Struckman with 21 steers weighing 1051 that sold at $34.75.

—Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Sohl called on Mrs. Richard Prien and Rikky Sue Friday afternoon.

Succeed With Incubator Calf

The Loup Valley Dairy Breeders Non-Stock Cooperative Assn. has received word of what is believed to be the first birth of a calf through the transfer of a fertilized "egg" from one cow to another, the "incubator cow." The information came from the American Breeders Service of Chicago, whose artificial breeding bull studs furnish semen to the Loup Valley Dairy Breeders Assn.

The "egg transfer" birth involves the transplanting of the calf embryo from one animal to another while it is still microscopic in size.

The egg transfer was made in March, 1950, and the heifer calf was born 278 days later on December 19. It weighed 84 pounds at birth.

Canker Worms May Invade Again. There was a very severe outbreak of cankerworm in Valley county last spring and many fine shade trees looked like skeletons by mid-June says County Agent Dale. When Robert W. Helm, Extension Entomologist was asked about the danger of another outbreak this year, he said, "If you had cankerworm trouble on your elm and hackberry trees last year, it's a good idea to take precautions against the pests this spring. -- "Early each spring," he says, "the adult cankerworm moths come out of the ground. The female doesn't have wings, so she crawls up the trunk of the tree and lays her eggs. Each egg that hatches means loose a hungry little cankerworm to eat the young leaves from your trees. -- Mr. Helm says best preventive measure is to trap the female cankerworms with a sticky band around the trunk. For best results, he says, put the band in place during the first warm days in February or March and keep it sticky until the middle of April. -- And, you don't need to disfigure your tree when you place the band around it. Here's the way to do it: Cut some cheap cotton batting into strips about two inches wide and wrap it around the tree trunk. Over the cotton place a five-inch strip of tar paper. Draw the paper tight and tack it securely where it overlaps. Now you can spread the tree tanglefoot on the tar paper in a two to three-inch-wide band. All of the paper crevices under the cotton must be plugged with cotton. -- Details of spring cankerworm control are given in an extension circular just off the press. It's available at the office of the county agent by asking for Extension Circular 15559. --

Buzz Maurice is all by himself as he shoots a basket in the second period of the Alliance game. Penas and Maurice were Ord's high-point men in the rout of the Bulldogs.

Chants Bobble Chance at Crown; Lose to Minden

Whippets Win Trans-Nebraska Championship, 51-37.

The Ord Chanticleers lost their chance to bring home the Trans-Nebraska conference basketball crown when the Minden Whippets won the title playoff, 51-37, at Minden Tuesday evening.

With both teams playing clean, cautious basketball (Minden committed only 16 fouls and Ord had only 10), the Whippets took an early lead and held it throughout the game.

The Chants' high-scoring Paul Penas was kept well guarded by the Minden crew, although he managed to score 17 points to lead the losers. Penas who was the Ord captain, broke loose in the last period when he potted three field goals.

Minden's 10-8 lead at the end of the first quarter grew to 28-15 by halftime. And the Chants fared little better in the third canto. By the end of that period there was little doubt about the outcome of the championship tilt; Minden led 40-23.

Maurice Is Cold.
Gerald "Buzz" Maurice, who played a sizzling game against Alliance, Friday, couldn't hit his stride against Minden. He gathered only four points during the evening tilt. Penas, Falter, who had eight, and Wolfe, with six, Tomsen's 19 tallies was high for Minden.

Alliance Defeated by Chants, 75-48

Paul Penas, six foot-one inch Ord center, went on a 30-point scoring spree Friday night to lead the Chanticleers to a 75-48 win over the Alliance Bulldogs.

The winners, playing on the home court, were never threatened, as the hapless Alliance crew fell behind 20-8 by the end of the first quarter. Two of the Bulldogs' first string players were left at home — for disciplinary reasons, school officials said.

Whatever the reason, Ord was hot and Alliance was cold. At halftime the Chants led 39-19, with Coach Bill Gogan throwing in substitutes freely.

Maurice Snags 18.
Buzz Maurice hit the basket for 18 points to gain the runnerup spot to Penas. Falter was next in the Ord scoring parade with 11 tallies.

Haught led the Bulldogs with a dozen points.

—Mrs. Floyd Peterson visited Monday afternoon with Mrs. Paul Geneski.

Noll Seed Co.

Grass Seed
It is time to make plans for your grass seeding and we feel that the earlier that you get Bromo and Crested planted the better crop you will get. It surely pays to make early sowing of grass seed. And we do have some very good quality seed on hand and the price is lower than it has been for several years. Get some of this marginal land back into good pasture land and you will like the results.

Alfalfa and Clover Seed

This year alfalfa seed is very scarce and is the highest price that we have ever known. We have a limited amount of local grown seed but not enough to take care of the entire spring sowing. It would seem to us that any alfalfa seed that you need to buy this spring should be bought now and then when sowing time comes you will not have to take seed shipped in from some other section.

Sweet Clover Seed is plentiful and much cheaper than last year and we do have a very good stock of seed. Hubam, Yellow Blossom and mixed white and yellow blossom. We are booking seed now and will make the delivery to you when you want to sow.

The past few years, Red Clover has been doing very well on irrigated land in this section and we believe that farmers that are using irrigation can use Red Clover in their crop rotation. You will find Red Clover seed much cheaper than alfalfa seed this year as there is a very good crop of Red Clover Seed. We urge our customers to try a small acreage of red clover under irrigation.

Fertilizer

As near as we can figure we have about all the Nitrate sold that we will be able to get this year. We can get Ammonium Sulphate and 10-20-0 in carloads and feel that if you have not ordered your Nitrate that you can well use either of these other Nitrogen carriers. Nitrogen should be applied to Bromo fields now and if you plan to use superphosphate on your alfalfa fields this year it should be applied as soon as possible. We have a new Easy-flow fertilizer spreader to rent you. This spreader makes a good seeder for Bromo and Crested Wheat Grass.

We had a fertilizer meeting planned for the middle of March but find it to conflict with the Pancake Day so we will plan another day for our meeting. Watch for the date.

Pancake Day Special

We will furnish a bushel of Y.B. Sweet Clover for the Pancake Special Day Auction. You can buy a bushel of good clean high germinating seed at a saving that day at the auction.

Baby Chicks

We are getting in a nice lot of Baby Chicks but find that most of the days in March and April, Hy-Lines are not available. If you plan to order Hy-Lines let us have your order soon and we will get them as near the day you want them as possible but don't be too disappointed if you have to wait a week or more.

Ord Livestock Market

Saturday, March 3

We had a large offering last Saturday — the market was not quite as high on cattle, especially cows, but brood sows and good pigs brought a good market.

For this week we will have:

300 HEAD OF CATTLE

- 85 head of calves
- 115 head of mixed yearlings
- 19 head of 2-year-old heifers
- 15 head of good stock cows
- 12 head of Angus stock cows, 2 to 7 years old. These cows are all purebreds, but not registered. All are heavy in calf to a registered Angus bull. They're extra good.
- 10 head of whiteface, heavy springing heifers
- 25 head of fat cows, cutters and canners
- 7 head of milk cows, all from one man who is quitting farming.
- 4 registered Hereford bulls, including one of WHR breeding
- 3 heavy bologna bulls

200 HEAD OF HOGS

- 160 head of weaning pigs and heavy feeder shoats
- 20 head of brood sows
- 3 sows with pigs at side
- Several boars

10 HEAD OF FARM HORSES

MISCELLANEOUS

- 1942 Farmall tractor, fully equipped
- 14 foot McCormick-Deering disc
- 30 foot and 32 foot extension ladders

Sale will start Promptly at 12:15

Surprised on Birthday.
Friday night Mrs. Philip J. Mrsny had a surprise birthday party for her husband. Carl Woff's birthday and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huebner's wedding anniversary was also celebrated.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mrsny of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holan of Niobrara, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Beranek, Mr. and Mrs. Huebner, Dale and Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Woff, Leo and Loree, Alma Mrsny, Harold and Gerald Valasek.

The evening was spent playing the guitar, banjo, accordion, violin, and saxophone by various guests. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Absence of Wood Plagued Early Settlers; Used Sod for Building

One of the most pronounced difficulties faced by pioneers on the plains was the absence of wood for building material and for fuel. The substitute for wood in building was the tough prairie sod ("Nebraska marble," the pioneers used to call it). The substitute for wood as fuel was anything that might burn—buffalo and cow chips, sunflowers, weeds, hay, and corn.

The most generally used of all these substitutes—particularly after the buffalo had disappeared and the range cattle industry had moved west—was hay. I discussed its use and the hay-burning stove in an earlier column.

Of other wood substitutes, corn was perhaps the most widely used. Indeed, one of the reasons behind the development of corn production in certain areas was to provide fuel, and the cob-basket became a standard item of kitchen equipment (as in many places it remains today). The stalks also were used as fuel, and in times of extra low prices, the farmer simply fed his stoves corn on the cob.

Another substitute for wood as fuel was the sunflower. Even in the eastern counties there was interest in this form of fuel, and the Nebraska Herald, published at Neenaha City, on January 12, 1860, carried a letter from a man suggesting the sunflower as a substitute for wood.

He advocated planting crops of sunflowers for just this purpose, pointing out that it was possible to grow enough sunflowers on an acre to provide fuel enough to cook for an ordinary family for a year, and that two acres would produce enough sunflower stalks to furnish any family with all of its fuel requirements for a year.

Where wood was available it was used with great care. Brownville, in territorial days, had an ordinance which provided that it was unlawful to sell wood in the city without first having it weighed or measured by the city marshal and obtaining a certificate of weight or measurement. For this service the marshal was entitled to a fee of 10 cents a load. Those failing to comply were subject to a fine not to exceed $3.00.

One-Minute Editorial

Too many Americans treat lightly the privilege of free speech and free press. Communists count on this weakness to further their insidious aims. Now is the time to be informed, to know what is going on in the world, to discuss the problems of the day freely in small groups and large forums, in the press, on the air. Only then can we vote intelligently. Only then can we be sure the will of the American people shall prevail.

Taking Our Pants.

Some are inclined to treat the forming of the "Pants" club at Ord last week as a joke, but it is no joke. Those who think it a joke will find it out to their cost when the time comes to pay taxes. One man was heard to say the new taxes wouldn't bother him any, as he had no property to pay taxes on. This man would certainly be surprised if some statistician would figure out just how much tax he does pay, and show him the figures.

The figures given out by the government include only the actual taxes paid out directly in various ways in the United States. It does not take into account the fact that hidden taxes take a huge bite out of every dollar he pays for everything he buys. He is willing enough to agree that food and clothing cost entirely too much, but does not realize that taxes are to blame for more than half of the added cost of goods to the consumer.

It is easy to figure the average cost per individual of the seventy-two billion dollar amount called for by the president. There are 150 million people in the United States, and simple division shows that this averages $480 for every one of those people. The average family of four would have to pay nearly two thousand dollars tax. Of course, some of the tax is paid by excess profits, and the people in higher income brackets pay plenty, but the burden on the average man will still be staggering. But the above figure does not take into account the hidden taxes that every man pays every time he buys anything. It is certain that the homeowner spends a thousand dollars for the necessities of life, half of that amount goes into taxes in one way or another. It is apparent that the average homeowner pays as much in hidden taxes as he does in those collected by the county treasurer.

Going back a mere thirty years we find that the total debt of the United States was twenty four billion dollars. Today the president is asking three times that amount in taxes. Yet thirty years ago prices of most commodities were almost as high as they are today. It was an era of cheap dollars then. The dollar is at its lowest ebb today that it has been since shortly after the Civil war. Spending of those pants, have you tried to buy a decent pair of trousers lately? If you have, you know that the price has more than doubled in the past ten years. Pants are representative of what has happened to all kinds of wearing apparel. A person has the hard choice of paying an outrageous price for his clothes, or taking a chance on cheaper clothes that wear out too soon.

There was a time when the advertisements advised buying the cheaper cuts of meat. Today there are no cheaper cuts. Regardless of what a man makes, the cost of living takes it all leaving little to pay the higher cost of government. If ever economy was a must in Washington, it is now. Elimination of a few dozen useless bureaus and departments would help a lot.

If sending a few pairs of pants to congressmen will help, let us send them. If our present congressmen refuse to vote for economy, let us get rid of them the next time they run for office. If all the wasted funds were put to good use, they would go a long way toward paying the extra costs of government, and we might at least be able to keep our pants for another year or two.

Are You Afraid?

No man is really without fear, although some show it less than others. The man who claims he knows no fear is just arguing with himself, trying to persuade himself that he is not afraid. The fact is he is usually more afraid than anybody else, but he is putting up a bluff to conceal the fact that he is afraid.

The bully is the biggest coward of all, and never picks a fight with anybody he thinks will fight back. He is also the biggest bluffer. He depends on his size and his reputation for toughness to throw the fear of God into any little fellow he happens to want to pick on.

Another man who has to overcome fear by bluff is the little fellow who realizes that he must either put up a bluff or take a licking from anybody who happens to be in a fighting mood. He is very much afraid, but he hopes by going around with a chip on his shoulder to make people think he would fight at the drop of a hat. The trouble is, most men are afraid, and they think the other fellow doesn't know it. Human nature being what it is, any man knowing he himself is afraid, should realize that every other man is. Fear is just as human as any other trait of character is. It was given us to prevent our running recklessly into danger. We sometimes confuse fear and cowardice. Most men know what fear is, but only a few really show cowardice. It is not cowardly to refuse to fight at the wrong time or in the wrong place, but it is cowardly to refuse to fight for the defense of the weak or in the defense of one's country.

God gave us the feeling of fear, which, after all, is respect for the rights of others. If it were not for fear, we might never succeed, for most success is founded upon the fear of failure. Fear gives us a proper respect for the ability of others, for the size of the task to be overcome. We succeed because we are afraid to lose.

The silliest question in the world is, "Are You Afraid," for it is founded on the premise that some people do not know what fear is. All men are afraid, but they succeed by overcoming fear, which means that they conquer themselves. The succeed, not in spite of fear, but because of it.

In free America, where every man thinks for himself, the man who would succeed in any undertaking, must first conquer himself. He must overcome the fear of failure and thus develop confidence of success. In the world situation that confronts us, we can win success only if we overcome the fear of failure.

The men in Korea advance in the face of enemy fire, and they are afraid. If they were not afraid, they might not succeed. They are the bravest men in the world, and they are brave because they are afraid they might fail, and thus betray the confidence placed in them by all Americans.

The only man who is not afraid of failure is the man who is already a failure, the village ne'er-do-well, the tramp who does not know where his next meal is coming from, and does not care. They do not fear failure, because they already are failures. They do not fear the future, because they have no future.

The next time any man tells you he is not afraid of anything, tell him he is bluffing, he is just arguing with himself. The man who says he is not afraid is not to be feared; he is to be pitied. He has never learned the use of fear, the motivating force that drives more men to success than all other forces combined.

In conclusion: America has won every war since we became a nation, and we won them because we feared to lose. The men in Korea are winning because they are learning to overcome fear. We at home will win the war only when and only if we realize that we MIGHT LOSE.

Peter Wallin Dies

Word has been received by Ord friends that Peter Wallin, of Misswa, Minn. died Feb. 12 at his farm near that village. Most Ord people who have visited Cullen lake became acquainted with Mr. Wallin. He was nearly 80. A heart attack in the night caused his death and he was found in the morning by his eldest daughter, Miss Wallin, who had looked after his household since the death of Mrs. Wallin a few years ago.

Something Different

When I was young, hey, I mean, when I was younger . . . I spent many happy hours at the piano. After the required daily mounds of practice, there came a time when I spent most of my leisure there, and I found it was good for a world of different things.

It was fun to pound out popular pieces. It was fun to work on the exercises and get fingers more and more nimble, and timing more perfect. It was fun to memorize, and to study "for expression," after all other purposes of a piece had been achieved. It was fun to play with other people, no matter what they tooted or thumped, always sounding better than you were in such trios and duets.

Even the hideous Sunday morning screechings of the clarinet as my father practiced it alone, became mellow in conjunction with the piano as we rascled with Tarantella, say.

And I remember too, if some one made me highly indignant or hurt, I could work off my feelings with something loud and bangy. Many a time the March Military has been thumped on, with more crashes than delicacy. Or Aida, or Light Cavalry.

I forever feel sorry for anyone who does not learn the fun of music-making.

Making amateur music is somewhat spoiled by the radio, with its beautiful renditions of so much good music.

For it seems an insurmountable gap to the struggling home musician . . . the difference between his feeble attempts at making music, and the perfection of some master artist's renditions.

Of course it works the other way too: hearing wonderful music inspires practicing and more practicing on your part.

My father, as a young fellow, worked all week long as an apprentice to a printer, earning the monstrous sum of $1 per week.

Then, says he, for playing violin, most all night on Saturdays, he was paid $3! Dancing was highly popular those days, and this was wonderful pay.

And it practically supported his widowed mother and four younger brothers and sisters.

That reminds me. My father says that square dancing was not performed to any furious tempo in those days, but was done just about half as fast as they now attempt it, which is a killing pace, says I.

"We strived for grace in all our dancing, in those days," reports my father.

Quite a good many local people are fascinated by square dancing. Quite a good many young people are trying it. Or the Charleston. Or just about as violent as the other, the way they are now done. Little grace but lots of action.

Square dancing is lots of fun if you have that much ambition left, after income taxing. Or should I mention that?

Didn't the mention of income tax put a real scowl on the faces of those citizens in the "Pants for Congress" picture?

And say, do you know, that idea is catching on. It is talked about everywhere. First with a smile. Then with a growl. And invariably someone speaks up "I have some old pants. I'm going to send, no foolin'!"

Ward's Cookin' Column

They tell us that discretion is the better part of valor, which may be true. Just now I am wondering if the state department isn't using all the discretion and the boys on the Korean front furnishing all the valor. It certainly seems that way. The boys over there know there is a hell of a war going on right now, but the state department assures us that there is no war, and that there probably will be no war in the immediate future. Compared with the present conflict, the War with Mexico and the Spanish-American war were tea parties indeed. I hope no Spanish-American veteran starts an argument over this, but the fact is that the casualties to date in Korea are far ahead of the combined totals of both those wars. Yet, those were declared wars, as all was fought to be, and the present fracas is undeclared war.

It reminds me of that old saying: "Let's you and him fight." We are doing that over in Korea, spending our man power and our substance in a war started by Uncle Joe and the Great Bear and Russia, and the Great Bear and Uncle Joe are taking it easy, watching the conflict and ready to step in whenever conditions suit their convenience. Meanwhile the United Nations are getting weaker and Russia is getting stronger. God knows we are opposed to war. We want no part of it, but it is being forced upon us, and we have no choice in the matter. That is being a civilized nation. We cannot win with honor treat Russia the way she deserves to be treated.

It goes farther than that. We cannot treat known communists within our borders the way they should be treated. They are here for the express purpose of destroying our American way of life, and they demand and receive the protection of our laws. If and when the lower courts rule against the communists, the higher court reverses the decision. It is about time that teeth be put into the laws to give patriotic Americans a better break than the commies get.

It is now nearly half a century since the last of the horse thieves in this area were rounded up, but the story is still interesting, and one man had an important part in their capture still lives in North Loup. Harry Meyers is now 80 years old and he never has talked much about the incident, although he is entitled to a lot of credit for his work in getting the two thieves where they belonged.

Around the turn of the century a man named Mike Lamb had a ranch over on the Cedar. He early learned that his herds would increase much faster if he could pick up a few cattle from his neighbors' herds, and the man and his gang were so tough that nobody dared to do much about it. He gathered extra cattle all the way from Dakota to Oklahoma. His method of working was to have young fellows steal cattle for him for a share of the proceeds, and plenty of stealing was going on.

A few days before the incident that follows, Lamb and his men stole a carload of cattle Rooney, McGuire, and Lamb accompanied the shipment to Chicago. The stealing was going on all the time, and about this same time two men stole two mules from a man named Giles and two splendid horses from a man named Pritchard, both of whom lived not far from Spalding. They brought the animals down past Horace, past the Thomas place northeast of North Loup, and across the river on the county line bridge.

They took them past North Loup to the north, followed up Mira Creek through the McClellan place, crossed the creek and finally hid them in buildings on the place where Aubrey Davis now lives, then owned by the Meyers family who lived on the place half a mile south, the one where Don Vogeler now lives, and which was known in the early days as the W. J. Holliday place.

They then came down to the Meyers place to get something to eat and some feed for their horses. They didn't have enough change with them, so Harry Meyers went along with them to get the rest of the money. After they had traveled about 60 rods the other men slowed up, and Harry had to wait for them. When they came up to him Harry said: "It is not so windy today as it was day before yesterday. That was the day somebody stole all those cattle from Rooney and McGuire." This evidently made them suspicious, as they stopped and Harry went on alone to find out what was doing.

When he got to the buildings he found that the men had tried to get the horses into the old barn and had torn the door off the hinges, and then had put them in the kitchen of the old house. The men soon came up, and Harry told them they would have to clean up the kitchen when they left, which they agreed to do. Meanwhile a nephew of Harry's, Charlie Tolan, was sent up to the vicinity of the old buildings to get the Meyers' horses and drive them home, since everybody was now pretty well convinced that the men had stolen the horses.

The men then took their stock and went south past the Meyers place then east to the first turn and then south. Harry got busy once. He called up Ord and couldn't get anybody to come. He called Greeley with no better success. He then tried to get Lee Lewis, North Loup marshal, to go, but he was working for Will Gowen, who would not let him go. Meyers then called Ord and they agreed to come out the next morning. He told them to come past the Meyers place and he would go with them.

The next day they came, but went on without Harry, who caught up with them later. By this time men from both Greeley and Howard county were there, and Sheriff John Kokes and Deputy Delmer Heuck. They trailed the thieves to the Cross place, and Heuck went to the door to find out if they were there. The men asked who was there, and Mrs. Cross told them it was an ex-sheriff of Valley county. They came out with a rush and began firing as quick as they got out of the Heuck jerked his gun out of the holster, but it caught and was discharged, wounding him in the foot. The thieves killed a dog standing between Mr. Cross's legs, and left several bullet holes in the doorway.

The rest of the party had waited down over the bank, and so the thieves got out of sight. About this time Harry Meyers arrived and was immediately sworn in as a deputy. The Greeley sheriff had brought his bloodhounds along, and they were used in tracking. Harry followed the tracks and told them that the men had gone along the creek. However, some thought they were in the haymow, and Kokes finally went up to look for them. By this time the state sheriff, a man named Malone, had arrived, and he took charge. He set the blood hounds on the trail, and soon the trail got hot.

It was then that the state sheriff suggested that it was not that they should all go to Scotia for dinner. They all went, and Clem Meyers, younger brother of Harry, told them that they would not be back, either. Two men who did not stop for dinner were Harry Meyers and Wesley Hutchins, who had also been sworn in as a deputy. They followed the trail all the way from the Cross place to the VanHorn place over in Sherman county. Here they had got off their horses and were going down a canyon when one of the thieves showed himself further down.

Meyers called on them to surrender, and when they did not do so, he shot once over their heads. They broke and ran, trying to get away from the two deputies and from the VanHorn boys and Gene Hutchins, who had joined in the search. Meyers and Hutchins fired at the same time, and one of the men was killed instantly. Nobody knows for sure which shot got him, but Harry was one of the best shots in the country in those days.

Seeing his companion fall, the other man gave up. The men had a rope with them with which to tie the thief up, if necessary, and there happened to be a cottonwood tree close by. He at first thought he was to be strung up, and turned white as a sheet. They started back to North Loup, and were met on the road by the state sheriff and the rest of the men who went to Scotia with him. The captured man said they planned to take the horses to Oklahoma. The man killed was named Morse. The other, Harry Hill, went to the penitentiary for a period of 5 years, while his boss, Mike Lamb, got ten years for stealing the cattle. That was the end of the horse thieves in this territory.

P. S. I have another story about Harry Meyers which I will tell in a later copy of the Quiz. This story is long enough for now.

Samuel R. McKelvie's two terms as governor in many respects are a watershed between the old and the new in Nebraska's public affairs. His administrations saw the state constitution revised with the addition of 41 amendments, the establishment of a civil administrative code, the introduction of the first executive budget, the creation of a state road fund, a revision of the state accounting system, and—most permanent of all, perhaps—authorization of the new Nebraska capitol and the beginning of its construction.

Prior to his election as governor, Mr. McKelvie had served on the Lincoln city council, as a member of the state legislature, and as lieutenant governor. Since 1905, he had published the "Nebraska Farmer." He had attended Lincoln Business College and the College of Agriculture. His business career had included three years as advertising solicitor for the "Twentieth Century Farmer" in Omaha. Born April 15, 1881, he was just 37 years old when first elected governor.

Happy Birthday

The years pass by for one and all . . . mileposts on the fabulous road that is life. Joy, happiness . . . care, woes . . . and so it goes. Perhaps you, like Peter Pan, never growing old, dream of taking wing to the Never Never Land.

Then again, you may cherish each passing year and find pleasure in maturity . . . in sampling each new experience.

Whatever your theory on the passing of years, you must know that each year you change in some degree. Why not make a point of recording the YOU of today in a portrait for those who love you, that they may share your likeness through the coming year.

Buy Your Furnace NOW!

Response to our post season sales drive has been very good. Sales are very good, and reflect our customer's satisfaction in the jobs we've done—everyone's high regard for the Lennox line of furnaces and the desire to get while available and while we can still save them around 15% on price.

This saving will be available for only two more weeks, and on a $450 furnace, means saving $67.50. That isn't hay.

Deliveries can be assured. We will contract the entire job to do now, or later, as desired, and you need pay only for what is done or delivered, but the furnace must be delivered by April 15.

If you wish to buy the furnace delivered only, anything else to be labor and material and do most of that yourself that's all right, too, but buy your furnace now.

Lennox furnaces are the best of their type, everyone wants them, the factory is now shipping as fast as possible, and this in the face of approaching material allocations and present shortages.

petition has been filed for the probate of the Last Will and Testament of said Deceased and for the appointment of Roland W. Daily as Executor thereof which has been set for hearing before said Court in the County Court Room in the Courthouse in Ord, said County, on March 5th, 1951, at 10 o'clock A. M. Dated February 13, 1951. Ellsworth Ball, Jr., County Judge (SEAL) Feb. 15-3tc

John R. Sullivan, Atty. IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA, IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF EMIL R. FAFEITA, ADMINISTRATOR, FOR LICENSE TO SELL REAL ESTATE. ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY LICENSE SHOULD NOT BE GRANTED TO SELL REALTY.

Now on this 9th day of February, 1951, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition, under oath, of Emil R. Fafetta, Administrator of the Estate of William Grzegorzewski also known as Wm. Grzegorzewski and William Grzegorzewski, deceased, praying for license to sell the following described real estate of the said deceased, to-wit:

The West One-half (W 1/2) of section (1) township Twenty (20) North, Range Fifteen (15) West of the 6th P. M. in Valley County, Nebraska. The Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section Thirty-five (35), Township Twenty-one (21) North, Range Fifteen (15) West of the 6th P. M. in Garfield County, Nebraska. The East Half (E 1/2) of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) and the West Half (W 1/2) of the Southeast Quarter (SE 1/4) of Section Thirty-six (36), Township Twenty-one (21) North, Range Fifteen (15) West of the 6th P. M. in Garfield County, Nebraska.

or a part thereof sufficient for the payment of allowances and costs of administration for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of the said Emil R. Fafetta, Administrator, belonging to said estate to pay said fees, allowances and costs.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at Chambers in the City of Grand Island, in Hall County, Nebraska, on the 16th day of March, 1951, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock A. M. to show cause, if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said Emil R. Fafetta, Administrator, to sell the above described real estate or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay said allowances and expenses.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published once each week in the Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper, printed, published and circulated in said County of Valley, for a period of three successive weeks.

Be Prepared

It's just plain common sense to be prepared should you be hospitalized because of accident or sickness.

If an emergency should come, if accident or sickness should strike what a comfort it would be to have the kind of protection that will go a long way to help pay those big bills.

That's why you'll be interested in the brand new kind of family hospital protection issued by the well-known Service Life Insurance Company.

Imagine getting $100.00 a week - yes $100.00 each and every week in actual cash for every week you or any member of your family spends in the hospital. NOT for a day, NOT for a month, NOT for a year - BUT for just as long as necessary. And the money is paid DIRECT TO YOU, the whole $100.00 a week.

You can pick any doctor and any hospital, except a government hospital, rest homes or sanitariums, and for as long as you stay there.

The cost? ONLY 3c a day for EACH adult 18 to 59 years of age. Available to older folks, between 60 and 70 for a cost of only 4 1/2c a day for each person. Even children can be included at 1/2 cost - 1 1/2 cents a day for cash benefits of $50 each and every week.

Right now write a postcard with just your name and address and send it to us and you'll get the actual Service Life $100.00 a week Hospital Plan policy by return mail on 10 days examination - no question and no salesman will call - so write that card at once. LEGISLATIVE NEWS LETTER

HUGH CARSON, 29th District

The meeting of all the parties interested in Highway Legislation met last week and the general feeling was that a program of Legislation could be worked out that would be agreeable to most everyone. It will no doubt be necessary that some concessions be made by all of those who are interested, but I feel very hopeful of the outcome. Another meeting will be held in the near future at which time some conclusive action will be determined upon.

In our district there are several important Highway needs that we must consider in the near future. One of them is the replacement of the narrow bridge east of St. Paul and another is the road between Greeley and Ord. There are others of course but, I mention these as two that are quite necessary and outstanding.

The two most important of the Highway bills are the two that were introduced by Senator Arthur Carmody and myself. These two measures would create a non-political Highway commission and separate the Department of Roads and Irrigation. Carmody and I think these parts of the State approve them as important legislation.

No endorsers needed. Your friends and employer will not know you are applying for a loan. You can repay in convenient, monthly installments out of future earnings. ### Reclamation Office at Scotia Closed Effective March 1

Move Workers to New Location in St. Paul

The closing of the Scotia office of the Bureau of Reclamation was announced this week by the Grand Island headquarters of the bureau. The men who have worked in the Scotia area have been transferred to the consolidated office at St. Paul and will work in that general area for the next year. The move was effective March 1.

For more than a year Scotia has been the home of 35 or more men who work for the Bureau of Reclamation in the development of plans for irrigation development. Topographic mapping has been completed for lands in the Mira and Dane Creek valleys, at the Burwell Diversion Dam, and on the east side of the North Loup River from Ord to Cotesfield.

It will be necessary to do additional field work in these regions after the plans move to a more advanced stage, says a spokesman for the bureau, but the sporadic nature with which it must be accomplished does not justify continuance of the office at Scotia.

E. B. Nichols, field office engineer for the bureau who supervised most of the field work, has been recalled to active duty with the army.

E. E. Vodehnal Has Lived On His Farm For 46 Years; Bought in 1904 For $2200

E. E. Vodehnal, 8 miles west and one mile north of Ord, had little trouble identifying the farm above as the place on which he had lived since 1904. The big grove to the north and west of the place first attracted his attention, and then he easily recognized the lines of his house and barn.

Mr. Vodehnal, who called at the Quiz Saturday, was given an $X10 enlargement of the picture above, which appeared in the second of a series of advertisements sponsored by the Valley County Implement Co.

"My dad bought the place in 1904 from the late George Benn for $2200," Mr. Vodehnal said. "Today it would take ten times that amount to tempt me to sell. Of course in those 46 years we have put all new buildings on the place, wells, etc."

In 1908 Mr. Vodehnal became married to Tracy. They have brought his bride to the home place. They have two children, Mrs. Lillian Powell of Yazoo City, Mississippi, and E. H. Vodehnal of York, Neb. Mr. Powell is a chemist for the Mississippi Chemical Corporation. E. H. is manager of the Towle Motor Co. of York, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Vodehnal no longer engage in the crop raising end of farming; renting their cultivated and alfalfa ground to William Vanuara, Syl Micek and Floyd Konkoleski. However, they do keep a few cows, hogs, chickens, and Mr. Vodehnal has a pet team of horses to help with the heavy work around the place.

"It's enough work to keep us busy and still gives us time off for fishing," he told the Quiz. "During the summer time we probably average two to three days a week fishing somewhere—Swan Lake, Brown Lake, Doolittle Lake, the sandpits near Taylor and the Loup and Cedar. Caught some good big walleyes near Taylor last summer."

FHA Borrowers Up Farm Production

Nebraska farmers paying off Farmers Home Administration operating loans last year increased the annual value of their farm production from $1434 to $1558, or 218 percent during the 5 years they were aided by supervised credit, Ernest Frisch, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, reported today.

This gain was achieved in a period when the increase in value of farm products for the nation as a whole was 27 percent.

The report also showed improvement in the borrowers' financial position, land tenure situation, and living standards.

The 419 paid-up borrowers included in the study received loans averaging $2481 to enable them to make improvements and adjustments in their farming and strengthen their position as family-farm operators. Loans were accompanied by help from Farmers Home Administration local supervisors in achieving balanced operations, efficient production methods, soil conservation, and adequate income for family needs as well as for debt payments.

These families made their final repayments in 1950 and are continuing to farm. Total interest paid during the life of their loans averaged $345. Although none of the farmers had enough security to qualify from other sources at the time they applied to the Farmers Home Administration, most of them are now in a position to finance their work without further borrowing, or to obtain any future loans from private or cooperative sources.

These families paid about $32,400 in real and personal property taxes in 1950.

Mrs. Furtak Wins Budget Meal Prize

'Hard to Save Buying for Only Two' Is Her Comment

Mrs. Sylvester Furtak, of Ord, was Monday's winner in a Beat-the-Budget Meal contest being held by the Omaha World-Herald. Her entry featured an economical cheese dish. In commenting on her entry the newspaper said:

Mrs. Furtak finds it difficult to buy economically for a family of two. Leftovers, she points out, are not used up so readily. Nor does buying in large quantities prove the answer, because the food spoils before it can be used.

Her menu is planned for a family who has no garden spot nor storage space for large quantities of staples. She buys the cheaper cuts of meats and substitutes cheaper items of equal food value for fruits and vegetables out of season.

Cheese fondue, scalloped potatoes, buttered spinach, bread and margarine, apple, celery and carrot salad, gingerbread and milk make up Mrs. Furtak's menu.

Cheese Fondue

2 1/2 cup milk
3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs

Scald milk and add soft bread crumbs, cheese, margarine and seasonings. Stir in unbeaten egg yolks. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the cheese mixture. Pour into a greased casserole.

Set the casserole in a pan of hot water and bake 30 to 40 minutes in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees, or until mixture will not adhere to a silver knife when inserted in the center of the fondue.

Boots, Lost with Meat, Comes Home with the Horseradish

Boots, fox terrier puppy belonging to Tommy Anderson, was "lost" for 2 hours Tuesday afternoon.

At 4:00 he accompanied his master to the meat market but failed to go home with him, so Tommy concluded he was lost.

At 6:00 the Anderson family sat down to their evening meal and Tommy's father asked, "Where's the horseradish?"

"We're out," answered Tommy's mother. "I'm hungry for horseradish tonight; think I'll jump into the car and get some at the North Side Market."

His purchase made, Mr. Anderson turned to leave the market and Jim Cetak said: "Let that dog out, will you?"

Lost with the meat, Boots was recovered with the horseradish, and all is serene at the Anderson home.

Jamson Speaks to Farm Loan Group

"America's new role of leadership in the world is becoming more and more important as time goes on," Nick Jamson, of Grand Island, emphasized this point in his message to 150 farmers, stockmen and guests in the Masonic Temple basement in Ord Tuesday, March 6th.

Mr. Jamson also emphasized the fact that the Marshall Plan had played a very important part in keeping Greece, and some of the other Balkan countries, from falling directly into the hands of Communists.

SHORT STORY

Reputation For Fairness

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

MIKE DIDN'T INTEND to be unreasonable about it. He had a reputation for fairness, and he meant to live up to it.

3-Minute Fiction

paragon. Not that Serena's faults were anything to worry about. If they had been Mike would never have asked her to marry him.

During the next half year Mike noted with some satisfaction that Serena had already begun to feel his stronger personality.

By the time the six months was up, Serena had improved greatly. He decided to forego his typing off, letting well enough alone.

THINGS REACHED a point at the end of a year that called for some sort of undertaking. Oddly, it was Serena who brought matters to a head.

"I realize," she told Mike crossly, "that everyone has their faults. But it does seem to me that you could attach a little more importance to things around the house. I've done my best to make you change your ways. I've even resorted to artifice."

"I mean, like telling you we have to be at a party 15 minutes before hand in the hopes that you'll get ready on time. I've deliberately gone into the bedroom to switch off the lights after you come out, hoping that you would notice. I've got out of bed and padded way to the kitchen to shut off a dripping faucet."

"I didn't mean that you were weak-minded or anything like that. We all have our faults."

that you've left running. I declare, Mike, you can't have a very strong personality."

"Now wait a minute, Serena. Something's wrong here. We've got to have an understanding."

"We certainly have. From now on if you leave the lights burning they stay burning and you can pay the bill. If you're late for parties I'll go on ahead and you can make your own excuses."

"But about this personality business. Now—"

"I didn't mean that you were weak-minded or anything like that. We all have our faults. Why, even I have some. I suppose. I've tried to help you overcome yours. But from now on you'll have to shift for yourself, unless you can give me some co-operation."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo to Observe Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo will observe their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday, March 11, at their home in Ord by inviting a few close friends and neighbors, and relatives to an informal reception that afternoon.

The aged couple, he is 87, she is 80, were married in Ord in 1891, and lived on a farm near North Loup until 1934 when they retired and moved to Ord.

Both of them came to the North Loup vicinity with their parents, Mrs. Mayo, the former Emma Kildow being a native of West Virginia, and Mr. Mayo a native of Illinois. They remember the hardships of pioneer life quite well, and Mr. Mayo has a particularly vivid remembrance of the great blizzard of 1888.

Three of Mayos' five children will be home to celebrate with them, Mrs. Ava Hughes and Ruth Mayo of Ord, and Mrs. Thelma Mallory of North Loup.

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held March 6. President Mrs. C. C. Dale expressed her great appreciation on the success of the benefit card party which was held in February.

Reports were given by committees with Mrs. Warren Lincoln, rehabilitation chairman, the first to report. She has sent 23 pounds of carpet rags to the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island.

The Mayos have nine living grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held March 6. President Mrs. C. C. Dale expressed her great appreciation on the success of the benefit card party which was held in February.

Reports were given by committees with Mrs. Warren Lincoln, rehabilitation chairman, the first to report. She has sent 23 pounds of carpet rags to the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island.

Mrs. Richard Rowbal was appointed poppy chairman with Mrs. Joe Ruzicka as co-chairman.

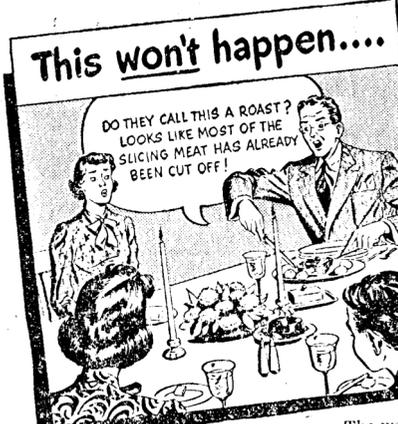

Plans are being made for a birthday party for the American Legion members and their wives. It will be a covered dish luncheon on March 15.

Mrs. C. C. Dale and Mrs. Warren Lincoln gave a report on the mid-winter conference in Grand Island in February.

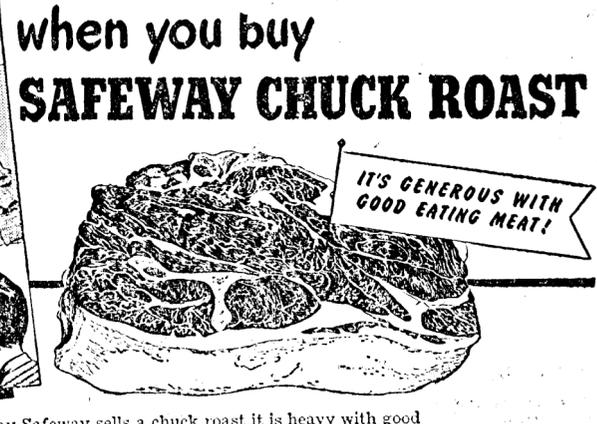

The meeting was adjourned and lunch was served. Following the lunch time was spent bunching poppies for the annual poppy drive to be held in May.

Progress Reported in Organization of 4-H

A good start has been made on the organization of 4-H clubs for 1951, according to figures from the County Extension Office. As of March 1st a total of 149 boys and girls had enrolled in 14 clubs in Valley county.

This week, which is National 4-H Club achievement week, a special effort is being made to increase 4-H membership all over the country. In order to give all boys and girls an opportunity to get into 4-H work, the following form may be clipped from the paper and mailed to County Agent, C. C. Dale or Home Agent, Katherine Helber.

Any boy or girl in the county who wishes to join a 4-H club is asked to fill out the form in this paper and mail it in within the next few days.

Garden Spiders
Many householders would have to be convinced of this but the ordinary garden spider is an ideal helpmate about the home and garden. He possesses a healthy appetite for moths, flies and beetles. Many Florida residents, in fact, are careful not to disturb spider webs—because spiders are good protection against scorpions and their webs are effective traps for mosquitoes. The garden spider is a scrapper and has no fear of scorpions or almost any other insect its own weight, including the black widow.

Burwell Livestock Market Friday, March 9th

Due to the storm and condition of the roads the sale last Friday was not held, so this week there will be a double header.

In the cattle division we will have around 350 or more consisting of several large consignments of Hereford steer and heifer calves, several loads of Hereford yearling steers and heifers, several consignments of Hereford stock cows, one consignment of 15 head of Hereford springer heifers, several with calves at side; seven head of choice milk cows from one farmer who is selling all of his cattle this week, several loads of fat cattle, several loads of mixed cows, several registered Hereford breeding bulls, one shorthorn bull and usual offering of local trucked in cattle.

In the hog division there will be an exceptionally large run of fat hogs and sows, several consignments of feeder shoats and pigs, also a large assortment of brood sows and bred gilts. We invite you to try our market with your next consignment of fat hogs.

1938 Chevrolet 2 door sedan. 1947 Farmall tractor.

Several head of horses.

Plan to attend the sales each Friday at Burwell

We are operating under Packers & Stockyards Act with all consignments bonded for your protection and much lower selling charges.

Jim DeNoyer Sees Ocean Patrol Duty

AM/3 Jim DeNoyer

AM/3 Jim DeNoyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. DeNoyer of North Loup, is seeing the world—or at least part of it—from the air. He is with a patrol squadron that flies missions in the Pacific area.

Jim hasn't been home for two and a half years—he's been in service since 1947—but he hopes to be in San Francisco soon and perhaps will be able to take a furlough.

His address is:

Pvt. Rasmussen Takes Army Cooking Course

Pvt. Kenneth Rasmussen

Pvt. Kenneth Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rasmussen of Scotia, is enrolled in the Army's Cooks and Bakers school at Ft. Riley, Kansas.

He was inducted into the army on December 7, 1950, and completed his basic training at Ft. Riley.

Evangelistic Meeting Here

Rev. Everett Swanson of Chicago, Ill., will be the speaker at a series of evangelistic meetings to be held March 13 through March 25 at the Bethel Baptist Church in Ord.

Announce Date for Gun Auction

The annual public auction of confiscated guns has been scheduled by the Nebraska Game Commission for 2 p. m., Saturday, Apr. 7, in the I-H club building at the state fair grounds.

A total of 77 guns will be sold to the highest bidder. The kinds of guns and number of each are: 20 gauge shotguns (8), 410 gauge shotguns (9), 16 gauge shotguns (5), 12 gauge shotguns (33) and 22 caliber rifles (22).

A limited number of buffalo and deer hides will also be auctioned between 1 and 2 p. m.

Sealed bids will again be accepted prior to the sale. All sealed bids must be accompanied by a check or money order in the amount of the bid or they will not be accepted or recognized.

The sealed bids must show the lot number of the desired gun on the outside of the envelopes they are sent in. The lot numbers are found on a list of all guns which is available at the Game Commission office.

Nebraskans can either write for the list of guns or inspect the guns in the Game Commission office anytime prior to the sale.

ENCLOSURE: Neb-An, all-time high of approximately one million trees and shrubs will be planted in the state by the Nebraska Game Commission's habitat development crew.

It is hoped that the accelerated planting program can get underway by April 1. The trees and shrubs will be planted on waste land to provide important and necessary winter cover for pheasants and quail.

The previous high in plantings was registered in 1950 when 700,000 trees and shrubs were planted throughout the state. This year's plantings which will be concentrated in the northeastern through the southern part of the state will consist primarily of seedlings.

Pesta Completes 3 Years in the Navy

Joseph Eugene Pesta, Disbursing Clerk Third Class Stationed in Seattle, Wash., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pesta, spent his recent leave with his parents. This was his first leave in three years. He entered the service at Sioux City, Ia., and took his military training at San Diego.

Pesta was later assigned to Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron 112 where he served over 19 months as his disbursing clerk. He was then transferred to the U.S.S. Marias (AO57) and after completing his tour of duty aboard the Marias he was transferred to Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron 114, with which he served over seven months.

After leaving Squadron 114 Pesta was transferred to Whidbey Island for his second time there. After a short time he was then assigned to Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron 895, the squadron he is now with.

In January of this year Pesta had completed three years with the U. S. Navy, but due to the fact that his enlistment was extended for one year he was unable to get a discharge.

When asked what he thought of the navy, Pesta said, "It's clean, has its advantages and at times is very interesting."

Major Watson Is at Command School

Major James W. Watson of Ord, is presently on duty at Maxwell AFB, Alabama, attending the Regular course it was announced today by Col. Leslie G. Mulzer, Maxwell commander.

The Regular course is of three and one-half months' duration and is offered by the Air Command and Staff School three times each year. Its mission is to provide selected officers with an effective and progressive approach to command and staff duties with Air Force groups and wings.

Buys Herefords at Kansas City Sale

R. Clare Clement, prominent Ord cattle raiser, was one of the buyers at the annual Roundup sale sponsored by the American Hereford association at Kansas City, last week.

Breeders from 14 states bought the Herefords, which netted consignors more than a quarter million dollars.

An average return of $976 per head was realized on the 258 cattle that went through the ring. The 238 bulls brought an average of $933 and the 20 females returned an average of $772.

Topping the sale and setting a new all-time high for the Roundup was CF Star Dandy, consigned by Roy A. Kropp, an Illinois breeder. The bull went to J. A. Moran of Mill Creek Company, Glendo, Wyo., for $17,200.

Chanticleers Hit Tournery Trail After Aurora Win

Meet Neligh in O'Neill Play-offs

The Ord Chanticleers are in O'Neill tonight (Wednesday) for the first game of the Class B district tournament. The Chants face Neligh in the second game of the three-game opening night schedule.

Neligh beat the Chants last year for the district crown, but Bill Gogan says his boys have their hearts set on a trip to the state tournament at Lincoln later this month.

The first game at O'Neill begins at 6 o'clock this evening when Plainview and Valentine square off. At 7:30 Ord and Neligh will mix, followed by the O'Neill-Burwell tilt. Ainsworth drew a first round bye.

Thursday night the winners of the first two games will play while Ainsworth will tangle with the winner of the O'Neill-Burwell game. Games start at 7:30 and 9:00. The championship and consolation frays will be held Friday evening.

Plainview and Ord are seeded teams in the tournery.

Trip Aurora.
The Chants had little difficulty in stopping Aurora Friday evening. The Huskies fell behind 14-10 at the end of the first quarter and were kept in check through the rest of the game.

With Paul Penas, the Ord sharpshooter, finding the basket with 23 points, the Aurora squad could not close the gap. Ord led 25-18 at halftime and staved off a mighty effort by Aurora to come from behind in the third quarter. The Huskies almost did the trick, narrowing the margin 32-31 at the end of three periods, but Penas banged away at the hoop with three field goals and three free throws in the last period to get Ord out of danger.

The final score was 44-40. Following Penas in scoring for Ord were Maurice with nine points and Stones with six. Roberts was tops for Aurora with 16 points, followed by Salmon who got 12 before fouling out in the last quarter.

Ord made 12 of 18 free throws and the Huskies converted four of their ten attempts.

Obituary

MRS. GRACE MINER
Mrs. Grace Lillian Miner was born in Vernon County, Missouri, on August 4, 1883, and passed away on February 25, 1951, at the age of 67 years, 6 months and 21 days. She was the daughter of John M. and Martha B. Jones.

Mrs. Miner spent most of her life in Nebraska where she was for a time a teacher in public schools. After visiting the west coast several times she moved to California to make her home last November. She was a member of the Assembly of God church.

Mrs. Miner is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Carlson, Rivera, Calif., and Mrs. Alta Olson, Selma, Calif., and one brother, J. Paul Jones, Los Angeles, Calif., besides several nieces and nephews and many friends.

Many Relatives, Friends, Came Long Distances to Attend Anderson Rites

The funeral services held Sunday afternoon for Albert Anderson were attended by many relatives and friends who came long distances for that purpose.

Among them were two of his brothers, Martin Anderson, of Howells, and Andrew Anderson, of Fremont; also a sister, Mrs. Laura Peterson, of Denver; and a sister of Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Lapack and son, from Howells.

There were also a great many nephews, nieces and cousins, including Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Vanick, Adolph Hasky, Joe Kemp and Elmer Kunkle, all from Schuyler; L. C. Peterson and Mrs. Marie Sanger, Denver; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Forsberg and daughters, Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bailey, Platte Center; Earl and Vernon Hansen, Taylor; Mrs. Nora Marriot, Minden; Mr. and Mrs. Elden Lapack, Aberdeen, Wash.; Raymond Nielsen, Tekamah; Wm. Christianson, Bloomfield.

Besides grandchildren who live here several came from away. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kovanda and son David, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gallagher, Anselmo; Bill Anderson, Lincoln; Miss Cora Lee Anderson, Denver.

One friend of the late Mr. Anderson who came to Ord to see him didn't remain for the funeral. Joe Byron Bartling, a young man from Oakland, Ia., and he drove through Friday's snow and sleet storm hoping to see Mr. Anderson alive, but reached Ord several hours after his death.

When Mr. Anderson was taken to Methodist hospital a few weeks ago he found that Mr. Bartling was his room mate. The latter had just submitted to severe major surgery and was very low in health and spirits. Mr. Anderson, though mortally ill with cancer of the spine, was not at that time completely paralyzed as he later became, and by his courage, his cheerfulness under pain and adversity, his gentleness and courtesy he managed to aid Mr. Bartling greatly in his battle for recovery.

Also offered is a good Holstein cow, a roan cow, and a bay saddle mare, coming 4 years old.

The sale starts at 1 p. m., Thursday at the Ord Livestock Market sales pavilion.

Later, as he convalesced and Mr. Anderson's condition grew worse, Bartling was able to be of help to the Ord man and their friendship became strong under these strange conditions.

He drove to Ord hoping to be of some service to the man whose example had speeded his own recovery so much, but he arrived too late. After extending sympathy to the close relatives of his friend, Mr. Bartling drove back to his home.

The final rites for Mr. Anderson also were largely attended by Ord people and the Hastings-Pearson chapel proved too small to accommodate all of them so a large number heard the services in the basement room, over the public address system.

Hruby Sale Here Thursday, Mar. 8

One of the big sale events of the season is coming up Thursday when Hruby's Hereford farms will sell 81 head of choice cattle at the Ord Livestock Market sales pavilion. Mr. Hruby has been called for induction into the armed forces, so this entire herd of commercial cattle and the 1950 calf crop will go on the block.

The offering includes 21 registered Hereford females and 15 registered Hereford bulls, 20 Whiteface steer and heifer yearlings; 9 Whiteface cows and heifer yearlings, all from one of the top commercial herds in this part of the state. These cattle have prize-winning breeding and are just what you're looking for to strengthen your herd.

Also offered is a good Holstein cow, a roan cow, and a bay saddle mare, coming 4 years old.

The sale starts at 1 p. m., Thursday at the Ord Livestock Market sales pavilion.

Primrose, Anselmo Win Play-off Tilts

Primrose and Anselmo will meet tonight (Wednesday) at the Ord high school auditorium in the final game of the class D regional play-offs.

They won the play-off spot by winning their games with Elba and Hyannis Tuesday night.

The Elba-Anselmo tussle got off to a slow start with the Eagles trailing Elba 12-11 at the first intermission. Anselmo took the lead in a see-saw second quarter and had a 21-19 advantage at halftime.

The two squads matched baskets in the third quarter as the tempo picked up and Anselmo still had only a one-point edge at the end of the third quarter, 35-34.

The steady Anselmo crew out-fought the Bluejays in the final frame to gain a 17-14 victory.

Sintek topped the losers with 19 points while Werley and Williams, each got 16 for the winners.

Primrose Is Strong.
Primrose showed a lot of strength in their 63 to 41 win over Hyannis in the evening's second game. Although ahead 28 to 23 at the end of the half, the Primrose boys were not content. Martinsen and Miller turned on the heat in the second half to take the 19-point win. Miller scored an even dozen points in the last quarter.

The Hyannis game was hampered when Herb Johnson, all Jim Martin and Miller fouled out.

Leo Miller scored 23 points for Primrose, while his teammate Martinsen hit the basket with 16 points.

Jim Martin was high man for Hyannis with 15 tallies.

Baby Chicks

This is the time to get your Baby Chicks ordered if you don't want to wait for them. The Hatchery tells us that many of the hatchlings are all sold in full. If you plan chicks for March or April your order should be sent to the hatchery right away. Come in and let us give you the price on Hy-Line Baby Chicks. In all cases that we have a report where records are kept the Hy-Line have a very good production record. In many cases they lay five or six dozen eggs per hen more than standard bred hens receiving the same care. We can furnish you with sexed chicks or straight run chicks.

Pop Corn Contracts

Our popcorn contracts are more attractive this year as the price is much higher than last year. The acreage is not too large but the price is attractive. If you have good irrigated land and want a contract on popcorn come in and see us about the price on this white hybrid. It is an early variety and a very heavy yielding popcorn. Popcorn makes a nice early cash crop and the payment per acre is very satisfactory to the grower. Call us if you would like us to save an acreage for you.

Hybrid Corn Seed

We still have some of the better numbers of our hybrids available in good kernel sizes. All of the Standard hybrids is Gro-Coated this year from the experiments that have been made on this seed this coating is proving very satisfactory. Come in and book this seed corn now and take delivery when you are ready for it.

Garden Seed

Our garden seed arrived this week and it is all coated with Power Pak coating. We have some of the new varieties of garden seed such as Ranger Beans and Straight Eight cucumbers. Why not come in now while we have plenty of seed and are not too busy and shop for your garden seed. You can take plenty of time and have the seed on hand when you are ready to plant.

Poultry Supplies

A large stock of Dr. Salisbury and Gland-O-Lac medications and San-Flor and Peat Moss Litter. Then we have all kinds of poultry feeds and waterers and feeders.

Grain

The boxcar situation does not improve any regardless of the information we get to get a lot of boxcars from the East. In fact it looks as if the boxcar situation is tighter than it has been in the past. We would like to buy your grain any time that we have any room in our elevator.

In this dome-topped, clean-walled area, you see the only ideal combustion chamber in a motor car engine today... the only way to develop full combustion, full compression, full work and value from every drop of fuel!

in the handsomest, best-riding new CHRYSLERS ever built!

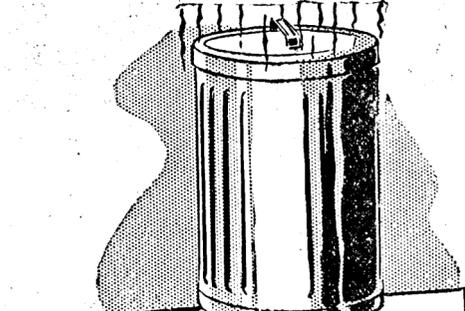

Not since 1924, when Chrysler introduced the high-compression engine, has there been an engine as basically new as FirePower!
Imagine 180 horsepower... in the most efficient and all-round economical motor car engine ever built! With all its matchless road power and performance... FirePower gets more work from a gallon of gas than any engine you can drive... on regular grade fuel... runs almost completely carbon-free... will require less attention and upkeep cost than any engine you have ever owned!
But FirePower is only one of the "firsts" in these cars. Chrysler this year also presents two other great and basic engineering advances... exclusive new Oriflow shock absorbers give every new Chrysler over twice the shock-absorbing power of any other car... and, optional at extra cost, miraculous new Hydraguide power steering now removes four-fifths of the human effort from steering or parking your Chrysler!
All this—plus gracious new beauty and 70 other new changes await you at your Chrysler dealer's now.
Doesn't all this make him a man you want to call on... very soon?

No Lifetime Presidents.

With the ratification, last week, by Nevada of a new amendment to the Constitution of the United States, no president in the future can hope to serve more than ten years. Nebraskans can point with pride to the fact that this state ratified that amendment the first year it was possible to do so, in 1917.

It takes the approval of three fourths of the states to adopt an amendment to the constitution, and this is as it should be. The most important document of the nation should be protected against those who at any time might desire to make radical changes that would take away the rights of the citizens.

Since the amendment was proposed there had been little doubt that it would be adopted. Since the states had to act individually, the fact that it has become the law of the land in less than five years shows that most of the people believed it was badly needed to prevent any further abuse of presidential tenure of office.

President Truman is specifically exempted from the law in this case, but indications are that he has seen the handwriting on the wall and will refuse to risk running for a third term, a move that could hardly result in anything but defeat. The new law would be a potent political argument against such a course.

Just why such a need was not foreseen at the time the constitution was drawn up is hard to understand in the light of present conditions. Certainly such men as Washington, Jefferson and Madison were as nearly indispensable then as any man living today, but they were great enough to know when they had enough and also when the people had enough of them.

Only two presidents, both of them Roosevelt's, have dared to defy the rule set by George Washington. The people took care of Theodore Roosevelt's aspirations in 1912, but Franklin D. stayed right with the job until he died in office and made the new amendment necessary.

Eight of our presidents, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, James Monroe, Andrew Jackson, Ulysses S. Grant, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson, each were elected and served two full terms. Two more, Abraham Lincoln and William McKinley, were elected for a second term, but were killed before the second term was ended.

Terms in office run all the way from one month for William Henry Harrison to 12 years and more for Franklin Roosevelt. In this connection it is of interest to note that six presidents William Henry Harrison, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore, James A. Garfield, Chester Arthur and Warren G. Harding, served less time as president than did F. D. R.

Washington set the example that was to prevail for well over one hundred years when he decided that two terms in the chief executive's office was enough for any man. He was twice elected, the first time by 69 out of a possible 73 votes, the second time with 132 out of 135 votes.

John Adams, who had been vice-president both of Washington's terms, was then elected president, but was defeated in his try for a second term by both Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr, each of whom received 73 votes to Adams' 65. The election was decided in favor of Jefferson by the House of Representatives, and Burr became vice-president.

Jefferson, Madison and Monroe each served two terms, and then the most controversial election ever held, when, in 1824 John Q. Adams received 84 votes, Andrew Jackson 99, W. H. Crawford 46 and Henry Clay 37. Despite Jackson's much higher vote, both in the electoral college and the popular vote, the house awarded the presidency to Adams.

Jackson came back strong four years later to win easily over Adams and again won over Henry Clay in 1832. From that time on until 1860 no president held the office for more than one term, largely due to the bickering over slavery. Two men, Harrison and Taylor, died in office and the rest their vice-presidents, Tyler and Fillmore, could do was to finish out their four year terms.

Abraham Lincoln won in 1860 over J. C. Breckenridge, Stephen A. Douglas and John Bell, receiving 180 of the 23 electoral votes cast, although he received only 39% of the popular vote. He faced a little better in 1864 against George B. McClellan, but his successor, Andrew Johnson, was the most unpopular president the United States ever had, and lacked a single vote of being impeached. Grant won easily for his first term of office, and Horace Greeley, who ran against him for his second term, died during the campaign, thus assuring his election. Rutherford B. Hayes won the electoral vote over Samuel J. Tilden by 185 to 154 in 1876, the closest vote on record, but lost the popular vote by 360,000.

The next three contests, Garfield vs Hancock, Cleveland vs Blaine and Harrison vs Cleveland, were all very close, with a difference of less than 100,000 in the popular vote in each case. In the last of the three Cleveland lost, but there were only 546 popular votes separating him and Harrison. Cleveland had those votes.

Since that time, 1888, there have been no elections close enough to merit special consideration, the winner always getting in with a comfortable majority. Woodrow Wilson defeated Charles Hughes in 1916 by an electoral vote of 277 to 254, and with a very comfortable popular vote majority also.

Another evening, their speaker was Eldon Lapacek, who reported on his vacation which happens to be commercial fishing. His home is up in our great northwest, near Aberdeen, Washington.

Eldon was raised in Ord, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, who only died for eight children of their own, so they could always mother and father one more. Eldon and his wife came home because of the last illness of Mr. Anderson.

The visitor could also tell other things the boys wanted to hear, for he has done considerable sign painting. And he is about to go into the plywood business, so he knows a good deal about lumbering.

Commercial fishing, lumbering, what could be further from the lives of Boy Scouts in our valley?

Mr. Anderson was a fine old fellow. I don't believe he ever said a cross word to or about anyone, and what a proud record that is!

He will be greatly missed, and his pleasant ways.

We lost several well-known citizens this week.

There was Cliff Thompson, who had lived here many, many years, quiet, hard-working. He too had a circle of friends. He too raised his own family, and then took a little granddaughter in his home.

Then the whole valley lost Ben Rose, long a prominent citizen, living in Burwell in recent years. He and his wife, Gladys Williams Rose, probably have more friends than any couple you can name. Gladys and her good works and kindnesses and wide interests have been written about in this column years ago.

Ben's sister, Azra Kuehl, and her husband Fritz have a thought they want to share. It is this: how nice to give to our Memorial Hospital in memory of the dear ones we lose. It has been done by a few people, as quietly as they could arrange it.

Fritz recently lost his sister, Mrs. Anna Comer.

In memory of his sister, Mrs. Comer, and in memory of her brother, Ben Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Kuehl are donating $100 to the Ord Hospital, to help it continue with needed good deeds in this community.

They wonder if this might not begin a new giving habit in this end of the North Loup valley. Are there others who would like to give to our hospital? Either in place of sending flowers, or in addition to sending flowers, when there is an illness or death in the family?

—Imma

Ward's Cookin' Column

Last week I gave you a story about the last of the horse thieves that I believe you enjoyed reading. It was while getting the material for this story that I ran across another incident, which should be of interest, as it happened in the same part of the county and the same man, Harry Meyers, had charge of the pursuit.

Several years after the horse thief incident, the exact date is not available, two men robbed the Gus Wetzel hardware store in North Loup, taking some guns and jewelry. Sheriff Sutton came down from Ord and put Harry Meyers, who was then employed in a butcher shop, in charge of finding the thieves.

He told Harry: "I am turning this job over to you. You get 'em." Word came that the men were seen in the neighborhood of the Flatlow Wood place, so Harry and Sutton drove out there. Other men volunteered to help catch the thieves, and the two officers drove around to vacant houses in the neighborhood hoping to find them hidden in one of them.

Meanwhile Sheriff Sutton had been sent from Greeley county to help Sheriff Sutton of Valley County, and he came and brought the bounds, who were following the trail. Meanwhile Ormsby Petty and Theodore (Pete) Meyers, a younger brother of Harry, saw the men's tracks in a canyon and reported the same to Meyers.

He told them to get back on the trail, which they did. After following along the canyon for some distance, they located the men hidden under some grapevines on the canyon bank, and ordered them to come out. They came out with their hands up, and the boys held them there until Harry Meyers arrived and took charge. There was some shooting in the case, luckily, but they had the guns and ammunition and could have used them if they had decided to do so. Both Ormsby and Pete are gone, but they did a good job that day.

A short time ago the Mrs. decided that she would feel better if she took off a few pounds. When I found it out I decided to do the same, only that I agreed to take off fifteen pounds for every ten pounds she lost. At most recent reports everything seems to be going according to plan, with results that she had reduced five pounds and I have lost 7 1/2 pounds, and now weigh slightly less than 180 pounds for the first time in about fifteen years. Whatever else working on the Quiz did for me, they certainly took me out of the middleweight class. I came to Ord in 1906 weighing less than 160 lbs but in a few months I went up to 190 or more. A man gets fat, I guess, from sitting pound- ing away at a typewriter, and most of the fellows who write are fatheads anyway.

At the time this is written the decision has not been made, but Gloria Swanson, 54, is right in the running for an Oscar as the best actress in 1950 for her stellar performance in "Sunset Boulevard." Gloria isn't nearly as old as I am, but she was going great guns in the silent films some thirty years ago. Another old timer, probably about the same age, is Gilda Gray who was a shimmy artist with the Zeigfield Follies a long time ago. Her name was a household word as far back as 1920. She, too, is trying a comeback, and is making a success of it.

The neighbors think they have a good one on me now. Last week I painted a sign for Harry Wolfe and his wolffess, the gist of which was "New and Used Clothing." I had just finished the job and set it outside the garage in the sun to dry, when the Ward Women there got their weekly wash out on the line. Since the sign was right before the clothesline, the neighbors drew the inference that we had clothes for sale and on display. That reminds me of when I was living in Burwell and painted a "Keep Out" sign for a client. A fellow came down the alley to see me, saw that sign and, thinking I meant it, drove on through and around to the front of the house.

Winter seems to be about over, and it is good to see the nice, clean snow along the water ways again. Somehow, the water looks so much nicer now than it does in the summer time. It looks so nice that the fish that grow in it should be plenty good to eat. I hate fishing, but I sure would like to have a mess of nice fish, so I suppose I will be busy in my spare time from now on getting all the tackle in good shape for the days that are to come. They say anticipation is more enjoyable than realization, so this should be the very best time of all the year. One thing about anticipating is that you don't have to clean the fish you hope to catch, even if you can't eat them.

An editorial in the World-Herald last Wednesday made the same boner that has been made hundreds of times, and for which there is absolutely no excuse. The article made the statement that George Washington was the only president of the United States who did not live some time in the 19th century, and that he only missed doing so by 17 days. Washington died Dec. 14, 1799, but the 19th century did not start until Jan. 1, 1801, more than a year later. It is to be expected that the average person might be confused as to when the centuries end, but that is hardly an excuse for an editor, even the editor of the Ord Quiz.

Speaking of the Quiz, the people of North Loup are especially favored, in that they get the Quiz the evening before its regular publication date. The reason for this is that the paper is published Wednesday afternoon in time to mail it out of town that evening. The paper comes back up to the towns on the Middle Loup the next morning in time to go out on the rural routes on publication day. The only other people who get their papers on Wednesday evening are those who buy it by the copy in Ord, regular subscribers getting it the next morning on the city routes and rural routes out of Ord. In the old days there was little regularity of publication and the subscribers might receive their paper any time over a period of several days. It is not always easy to hit a certain publication hour, but the Quiz comes as near hitting it as most of the big dailies.

I am willing to prophesy that some day in the not too distant future, the Nebraska Legislature will meet in session every year. The present system whereby we meet every two years will, in my opinion, have to be changed.

No one can prove to me that it is possible to set up a budget for a two year period without a great deal of guesswork on the part of the budget committee. Changing economic conditions make it absolutely impossible to foresee the needs of State Government for two years ahead. Changing prices on food alone, for State institutions, can throw any budget completely out of balance. Any one of you who buy the family groceries know this to be a fact. All other costs also fluctuate greatly and makes guesswork necessary and dangerous.

Government is a business, and a very big business. I cannot conceive of any big business attempting to foretell what its needs will be two years in advance. It is utterly impossible. I firmly believe that a 45-day session every year instead of the present 5-month meeting every two years would greatly improve the efficiency of our Legislature and State Government.

The Boy Scouts have been lucky in their choice of speakers during the past winter, and have heard some excellent talks on topics as varied as they were interesting. For example, they heard "Bum" Philipps of Burwell speak about fur-buying and trapping in this region. Since Mr. Philipps and his father before him have purchased furs in this part of Nebraska, at their Burwell headquarters, Mr. Philipps could speak with wide knowledge.

He brought with him a trunkful of pelts, in several stages of tanning, and of 20 or more different animals. As he told a little about each animal and its habits, and the value of its fur, he illustrated with the furs he had brought.

And you should have seen the fascinated young audience. The boys—and their parents—couldn't have paid better attention!

As Mr. Philipps in his quiet way talked about our streams and our Nebraska wildlife, I thought what a shame that a BIG crowd wasn't hearing him.

The Scouts will always remember that evening. I venture to say.

The cry of the motion picture director as he starts a scene is familiar to most of us. We know that large crews snap into action at the director's call. We know that good direction makes a good movie.

The same is true of a good portrait. The professional touch makes all the difference between a "speaking likeness" and just another photograph.

There is someone who would like to have your portrait. Have it taken today by a professional photographer, well qualified in portrait photography.

"I'd rather pay the difference and have a Lennox!"

"Lennox is a good furnace—we know that."

"Yes, I think we'd better get a Lennox."

We have been hearing such remarks every day and it's very pleasing. Lennox is a premium quality furnace and if you will look at the Lennox and at some of the other popular makes installed in this territory, it won't take you long to see the difference.

And, today, you can buy a Lennox without 'the difference.' At our present early season price offer, we can compete on price alone, but in another week or so we'll have to go back to our regular prices and in a few more weeks we will be waiting for Lennox furnaces. By fall we expect to be waiting months if we can get them at all.

So join the rush to Ord Heating's door and call or see Jay Nelson about your heating needs today. The early season orders must be in by March 15th, to be sure of delivery by April 1st, and the post season sales drive must be wound up them.

We are out every day and every evening almost, trying to see as many of you as we can, but if you'll call 72 or 510, we'll be glad to make an appointment with you.

Announcing the Appointment of MID-STATE BUILDING SERVICE

Ord, Nebraska

243 South 16th Street

Appointment of this new Quonset dealer enables your community to enjoy the use of all-steel Quonset buildings at lowest cost. Need for building expansion in this community—on farms, in industry and commerce, for business and pleasure—can be met with Quonset construction right now.

No other type of building construction can offer Quonset advantages. Framed with steel and covered with steel, Quonsets are strong and durable, rot-proof, termite-proof and non-combustible. No other building can be erected so swiftly, or is so economical to buy and maintain.

The basic advantage which makes the Quonset possible is the fundamentally different—and better—framing material which we call Stran-Steel. Lightweight all-steel framing members reach the building site fabricated to exact shape and dimensions, ready to erect with carpenter's tools. Stran-Steel studs, arch-ribs and purlins contain the patented nesting groove—which enables the erecting crews to apply exterior covering and interior materials by nailing them directly to the framing members. Wide latitude of choice for interior decorative effects is possible, and any kind of insulation may be applied—for whatever you use, you nail to Stran-Steel.

Ask your dealer to show you how these modern new Quonset buildings can meet your building problem.

Mr. Lapacek Talks to Scouts About Fishing Eldon Lapacek, former Ord resident who now is a commercial fisherman in the Aberdeen, Wash. area, met with Ord Scout troop No. 194 Thursday evening and told them about commercial fishing in the northwest. Mr. Lapacek is a hand-line fisherman and catches steelheads and other trout and salmon varieties, principally for sale to the consumers at local markets although some catches are sold to the canneries. Fishing of this kind is a sport as well as a business, said Lapacek, as he described the thrills of hooking and landing fish weighing up to 30 pounds on hand-lines with a flimsy nylon leader six feet in length connecting hook and line. Many fish are lost because of broken leaders, he said. Mr. Lapacek was raised in Ord by his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, but has worked on the west coast for almost 20 years. Vernie Anderson introduced him at Scout meeting. —Mrs. Clare Clement, reporter.

Allen Recovering Hal Allen, brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen of Ord and known to many people here because of his numerous visits in the Mortensen home, is reported to be recovering at his Oak Hill, Fla., home from a recent major operation. Mrs. Mortensen went to Florida to be with her sister, Grace, and to assist in the care of Mr. Allen.

Garfield county. He was 66 years old. - Horace M. Davis of Lincoln was in Ord to discuss the Nebraska state income tax law before the Rotary club. The bill was before the legislature at that time. - Olof Olsson had definitely decided to have a ten-ton ice refrigeration plant installed and ready to go by May 1. - Mat Vavra, 77, suffered a stroke and died March 2. He had been a resident of the county for fifty years. - Drought sufferers in Oklahoma expressed their appreciation for the carload of flour sent them through the efforts of the Ord American Legion post. The letter arrived about the time the long drought of the 1930s was beginning in Valley county.

Thirty Years Ago - Because of the prevalence of the bubonic plague in many places, the Ord Quiz was suggesting a rat killing week at Ord. Not a bad idea at any time. - Twenty-one Scotch merchants were putting on a big dollar day event and the Quiz was printing the advertising for them. - Lucile Hager Robinson was married to Edwin A. Barnhart at Kansas City, Mo. Febr. 23. - Dr. C. W. Weekes was appointed official medical examiner for the members of the American Legion. - Daniel Marks and Miss Gail Hamilton Owens were married at the Ord Methodist church March 4. - The Ord high school basketball team defeated a similar team at Burwell by a score of 10 to 5. One of the reasons for low scores was the lack of large gymnasiums in those days. - Pat McSharry was reportedly burned to death over in Greeley county under a load of hay which had upset. The facts were questioned afterward. - Forly Years Ago. - Irl Dentler Tolson and Miss Katherine Kouval were married by Rev. P. A. Davies at the Presbyterian manse, Febr. 28. - Mrs. John I. Goodrich passed away at North Loup Febr. 26. - Harry C. Daggett went to Lincoln to take an examination for a position with the Burlington railroad. - Amos Harris, better known on the frontier as "Nigger Amos," died suddenly at Greeley, Nebr. Febr. 23, at an age estimated to be 60 years. - Reinert Fuss and George McLain loaded their effects preparatory to moving to Hamilton county, which was to be their future home. - Frank Walker and Miss Pearl Walker of the Rosevale community stole a march on their friends and went to Grand Island and got married. - A picture of Otto Kotouc, sr. appeared in the Ord Quiz as a member of the state legislature. Thirty years later his son, Otto Kotouc jr. was a member of the legislature. - Frank Stanek and Miss Anna Kokes, both residents of Valley county, were married in Burwell on St. Valentine's Day. They still live on the farm near Burwell.

Fifty Years Ago - Two weddings of interest occurred during the week. At the home of C. C. Hunter in Ord, Miss Hunter became the bride of Ernest Holloway, Rev. C. E. Arnold officiating. At the residence of the bride's parents on Davis Creek Miss Florence Cummings became the bride of Charley Johnson. Tuesday evening, Febr. 28, District Deputy Christianer organized a camp of Modern Woodmen of America at Elyria. The Ord degree team put on the work. - Marshall Phil Busby was declaring war on a hundred useless dogs in Ord. - Fred Wampole had recovered from smallpox and was able to be out, but his face was badly pitted. - Miss Amelia Ferguson was learning the art of typesetting at the Quiz office. - Wencil Misko, Ord's up-to-date butcher, had received a new cast iron bathtub for his hogs, which he installed at the slaughter house. - Fifty Years Ago. - A. M. Robbins was advertising 160 acres of good land for sale for $800. The John B. Monroe family returned from Oregon and went to the farm in Vinton township, where they lived for several years, later moving to Cadott, Wis., where the daughters still live. - N. J. Keown died in Ord at the age of 81 years. He was the father of W. B. Keown. - A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clafin. - Dr. F. D. Haldeman was quite badly injured when he was thrown from his buggy in a runaway while returning from a call up Haskell Creek. - A social group was serving a full meal supper for the purpose of raising funds, and was charging only 20c, the price of a hamburger these days. - 102 bushels of corn and 624 bushels of oats raised on the county farm were sold for the sum of $77.50. Prices per bushel are not mentioned, but the average would be about ten cents per bushel.

This week through the years - 1900 - Rev. A. H. Tryer resigned as pastor of the Ord Unitarian church. - 1897 - Amos Harris, well known colored man of the upper Loup country, was married to Miss Eliza Young at St. Paul. Nebraska Is a Big State Did you know it's as far across the state, from Falls City to Crawford - as from Omaha to Chicago? Yes, Nebraska is a state of unusual distances! Likewise, Nebraska is a state of unusual citizens. The civic consciousness of Nebraskans has set the standard for a high level of business ethics. This attitude is apparent in the conduct of the state's taverns. Following the lead of the industry's program of self-regulation in the public interest, Nebraska tavernmen strive honestly to operate their places so as to gain public approval. Thanks to the industry's educational program, the state's taverns, today, are largely attractive, respectable, orderly. They are a credit to a great state. Your cooperation will help maintain this favorable record.

Ord Streets Will Get New Coat of Gavel This Spring

Council Approves Ulrich Bid; Work to Begin Soon

'No Funds' for Street Lights, Say City Dads

Ord will be 'out of the mud' soon. The city council, at a special session Tuesday afternoon, approved the bid of Fred Ulrich for gravel to coat the streets of the city to a depth of one-half inch. The figure submitted by Ulrich was 90 cents a cubic yard.

The work will be started as soon as weather conditions permit. Councilmen said they were quite pleased with the 90-cent bid because several near-by towns were having to pay considerably more for gravel.

The council appointed Frank Norman as gravel supervisor. He will oversee the work and check the quality of the gravel as well as the quantity which is spread.

No gravel has been put on Ord streets for two years, and the city dads were unanimous in approving the graveling move.

Postpone Street Lighting. The council had a different sentiment about another matter, though.

Richard Rowbal, president; John Andersen, secretary and Charles Wrightsman, head of the civic committee of the Ord Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the council to submit a proposal for lighting Ord streets.

Rowbal said that mercury vapor lamps to replace the lighting system around the square, would cost about $10,000. Thirty-six units would be required.

The council put the damper on the street lighting idea, however. Ed Vogeltanz, a member of the utilities board which takes care of street lighting, said that the board had its finances so strangled that in another two or three years it possibly could re-fund its bond issue.

But, said Vogeltanz, present finances would be stretched if they had to take care of new street lighting.

In 3 Years, Maybe. After considerable discussion, the council voted not to install any new street lights at this time. Councilman Gus Schoenstein summed up the council's views when he said, "Certainly, we'd like to improve our street lighting. But we simply don't have the funds at this time, and we do have other improvement projects under consideration. For instance, there's the conversion of another engine at the light plant which should be taken care of—that will save money for the city. At the rate we're going now, we should be able to take up the street lighting project in about three years."

The appearance of Ord will be improved after the graveling of the streets has been done and when the new corner markers, approved by the council a week ago, have been erected.

Ord fans who didn't get to go to O'Neill to watch the Chanticleers in action in the Class B tournament get to see some sharp basketball here in Ord when four Class D champions met in a play-off.

Primrose handed Anselmo a 61-51 defeat to win the meet and earn a shot at the state crown. Primrose topped Hyannis the first night, 63-44 and Anselmo beat Elba 47-44.

Anselmo held the Primrose squad to a 10-1 tie after the first eight minutes, only to have Leo Miller, undoubtedly the smoothest cager of the meet, start hitting the basket in the second period. Primrose led 33-27 at halftime and 50-36 at the end of three quarters.

Miller, in addition to playing a bang-up floor game for Primrose, got 27 points to lead his team to the important win.

Questions Worse than Accident, Thinks Ord P. M. Postmaster A. L. Hill, back at his job Tuesday after 4 days spent in retirement at his home, was kept busy explaining that:

1. No, he hadn't been in a fight.

2. No, he didn't hit the edge of a door in the dark.

His facial bruises, contusions and general puffiness resulted from a fall he took Tuesday night while returning from a basketball game at O'Neill with Ed Vogeltanz. Near the Brick school house they saw an overturned car and Vogeltanz stopped quickly, then backed up to see if anyone was injured. Hill stepped out of the car while it was moving, his heel caught in the gravel and he went end-over-end, landing on his face. The injuries weren't serious but were most painful; however, says the postmaster, the explanations he has to make are almost as bad.

This news item is designed to clear up the mystery.

Nebraska Truckers to Hold 1st Spring Meeting in Ord

Officers, Directors to Attend, Says Romans; Dinner Planned

Officers and directors of the Nebraska Motor Carriers' association will hold their first meeting in Ord late in March or early in April, says Jack Romans, one of the truckers' group. He went to Omaha and Lincoln Monday night to confer with Ralph Nogg, president, and Paul Halpine, secretary.

In addition to these officers J. E. Neylon, Lincoln, vice-president, and P. F. O'Donnell, Omaha, treasurer, will be in Ord, and also the following directors: Fred Bekins, Omaha; Tom Coffey, Alma; Ralph Darling, Auburn; Ed Flynn, Valley; Wm. Gridley, Omaha; C. J. Hagleroad, Hastings; Ray Howarter, Omaha; Walter Peterson, Grand Island; J. A. Randone, Omaha; Earl Stewart, Lincoln; Harry Taylor, Omaha; Clark Williams, Scottsbluff, and, of course Jack Romans.

This group, and a number of guests will hold an afternoon business meeting at the Veterans' club, followed by a reception and dinner. There will be a speaker, yet to be announced, at the business meeting.

The Nebraska Truckers' monthly magazine of the association will run a feature article about Ord and its industries in its next issue, says Romans. Pictures and text for the article are now being prepared.

Ord members of the group are sparing no efforts to make the first meeting of their state of fellows in Ord an enjoyable affair.

State Seeks Bids for New Paving on No. 11 Highway Would Detour Traffic, Build 13.6 Miles of New Oiled Road

Bituminous resurfacing of Highway No. 11 between North Loup and Elba is proposed for a letting April 5, according to an announcement Wednesday by State Engineer Fred Klitsch.

Klitsch said that this work would be a continuation of the work completed in 1948 when 3 inches of bituminous surfacing were placed on this highway. From 3 to 5 inches of new bituminous surfacing is to be added to the existing thickness.

The work will include 1.6 miles of surfacing from No. 11 east through Scotia to the intersection with the highway from Greeley, No. 56. In Scotia the surfacing will be 45 feet wide, extending to the existing curbs and gutters.

The 20 miles of bituminous work will require more than 558 thousand gallons of asphaltic oil and about 50 thousand cubic yards of sand and gravel, according to Highway Department estimates.

The detour route will lead straight south from North Loup two miles and east into Scotia, from Scotia, traffic will go east three miles, south eight miles and west one mile into Cotesfield. From Cotesfield, the detour will lead south one mile, east a mile, south two miles, east a mile, south a mile and a half and east a mile to Elba. Only that part of the detour which is needed to lead around the portion of the highway actually under construction will be used at one time. The placing of more than four thousand cubic yards of gravel upon the county roads which will be used as detours will be included in the work for which contractors will bid at the letting April 5.

Work on Church Is In Clean-up Stage

Work on the new Bethany Lutheran church, across the street south from the Ord high school, is now in the "clean-up" stage as you can see. Mrs. L. M. Loft, Mrs. Jim Hansen, and Mrs. Ed Apking are shown as they scrubbed the chancel which had just been plastered. The church will be ready for use early this spring, says the pastor, Rev. C. E. Jeppesen.

Bad Roads Are Hindrance, but Event Is Success As the Quiz goes to press shortly after noon, Wednesday, crowds were coming to Ord for the annual Pancake Day, sponsored by the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

Roads, made slick by week-end snows and slushy by mid-week thawing, hampered some from getting into town, but the free pancakes and the big auction sale proved strong drawing cards.

Last year, the business men served 4000 guests at the Bohemian hall, and the businessmen again were on duty in their white caps, flipping flapjacks for the folks who come from miles around to take advantage of the Chamber's neighborly gesture.

A more complete account of Pancake Day activities will appear in next week's Quiz.

1900 Graduate of Ord Schools Visits Dr. Albert T. Charlton, of Whittier, Calif., better known in Ord as "Tut" Charlton when he graduated from high school here with the famous "century class" of 1900 was a pleasant Quiz office visitor Tuesday. He came with Col. E. Keeler, of Loup City, to make arrangements for advertising a 320-acre farm 15 miles south of Ord, which he will sell at auction on March 26.

The California physician is visiting two sons, Dick and Jack Charlton, in Sherman county. They live on the farm homesteaded by their grandfather and which has been in the family since 1882.

The elder Charlton later was a banker in Arcadia and in Ord, where he was connected with the former Ord State Bank, then located where Hotel Ord now stands. His son, Albert Tutton Charlton, attended school here and says he believes he is "the father" of football in Ord, as he introduced the sport here and played on the first Ord high school football team.

After his graduation he attended the University of Nebraska and Rush Medical college in Chicago, took his internship at the Los Angeles County hospital and then entered practice at Whittier, Calif. He has now retired from active practice.

There are few present Ord people who were here when Dr. Charlton was here. He remembers Bill and Henry Misko, John Ward and Arthur Mensing as boys in high school when he was a student.

The advertisement of Dr. Charlton's farm, which was occupied in 1950 by Dick Rasplieka, will be found on another page of today's paper.

Maybe That's What's Wrong Lately with Phone Service

All winter Valley county had been enjoying nice weather but Sunday afternoon a snow storm was raging, roads were sheathed in ice and the temperature was plunging below zero.

The telephone rang at the Howard Huff home. It was Mrs. Huff's sister, calling from Long Beach, Calif.

After greetings were exchanged Mrs. Huff asked: "What have you been doing this afternoon, Bess?"

"Planting petunias," was the answer.

Good thing it was zero outside or Mrs. Huff's answer might have scorched the wire and cut Ord off from the outside world.

Dick Bredthauer, Scotia Businessman, Dies Suddenly

Veteran Merchant Succumbed After Heart Attack

Albert (Dick) Bredthauer, 60, died at his home in Scotia Sunday morning after a heart attack. He had been a merchant in Scotia for 32 years and owned the Bredthauer department store.

He was born west of Ord on Feb. 13, 1891, and moved with his family to Scotia when a child. He was a veteran of World War I and was a member of the American Legion.

He was prominent in the development of irrigation in the Loup valley and had been interested in oil prospecting in the area.

Survivors include his wife Ruby; three brothers, William and Herman of Scotia and a sister, Mrs. P. J. Secus of Scotia.

His parents preceded him in death, as did two brothers, Henry and Dave of Scotia, and a sister, Mrs. Lena Sommers, also of Scotia.

Charles Palmatier Observes Birthday

Charles Palmatier, the oldest pioneer in this part of the territory, quietly observed his 95th birthday Friday, March 9, at his home in Ord.

Many of his old friends called on him and numerous cards and letters were received from acquaintances from all over. Because all of their children are away from here no special celebration was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Bartunek, took Mr. Palmatier a birthday cake which she baked and decorated. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett presented him with a cherry pie. The cherries had been grown in the Hackett garden. Mrs. Frank Norman called bringing with her a loaf of bread and Mrs. J. R. Stoltz took fruit.

County Assessors Hold To State Suggested Prices

County assessors from 19 counties in session here Wednesday decided that as a body, they would stand firm on the state suggested figures for assessment on livestock.

Predictions were made at the meeting that if an individual assessor adopted the lower price, the figures would be changed by the state board of equalization, and the assessor would have his job to do over again.

Cosmopolitans Hear Patrolman Otto Zapp

Members of the Ord Cosmopolitan club heard Patrolman Otto Zapp of the Nebraska highway patrol lecture on driving safety at their regular meeting Thursday evening at the Veterans club.

Three films on highway practice and driving safety were shown. The club decided to give whole-hearted backing to the University of Nebraska athletic endowment plan and will aid in the sale of special athletic tickets in Ord.

The plan calls for the selling of special tickets at $1.00 each, which entitle the purchaser to see a basketball and baseball game, and the annual Nebraska varsity-alumni game. All funds go to the University's athletic scholarship fund. Cosmopolitans have pledged the sale of 200 tickets in Ord.

Mortensens Back from Trip, Both Ill

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mortensen returned home Thursday, the former from Chicago where he had shipped cattle and the latter from Oak Hill, Fla., where she had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hal Allen. Both of the Mortensens were ill with flu upon their arrival home and spent several days in bed recovering.

Worst Weather of Winter Hits Central Nebraska

Mercury Drops and Snow Falls; Roads Are Icy It's March—and March means bad weather. At any rate it has meant bad weather the last few years, and this year is no exception. The worst road conditions since last March were experienced by central Nebraskans during the past week.

A freezing rain turned to snow Saturday and blanketed not only the central part of the state, but all of Nebraska and its neighbors.

Chanticleers Bow to Plainview in Class B Tourney

Ord Beats O'Neill for Consolation Prize Friday Eve.

The Ord high school basketball team's hopes of going to the state basketball tournament at Lincoln this week ended suddenly Thursday when the Chants were stopped by Plainview, 49-12, at the district tourney at O'Neill. Plainview went on to win the tournament and meets Omaha Holy Name in the first round of the state meet.

Ord got through the first round of the O'Neill elimination without much trouble. The Chanticleers knocked off Neligh, defending district champion, 65-35. Penas led Ord's attack with 10 points. Not far behind was Maurice who contributed 16.

Chants Lose Touch. The Chants lost their touch in the second game, though. They fell behind 15-12 by the end of the first quarter and then staged a brief rally to take a 27-25 lead at halftime.

Plainview came back strong after the intermission and at the end of the third period it was Plainview 41, Ord 39. The Chants scored only three points in the last period—a field goal by Stones and a free throw by Penas, while Plainview collected eight more to win the game 49-12.

Again it was Penas who led the Chants in scoring. The six foot two inch center had a total of 20 points. Kokuda was tops for the winners with 17.

Win Third Game. The Chanticleers came back to win the consolation round when they topped the O'Neill Eagles, 62-59. Ivan Stones played some sparkling basketball with his set shots accounting for 17 points—enough to make him the evening's top scorer.

Ord was behind 16-15 at the end of the first quarter, but with Stones and Penas finding the range, the Chants hammered out a 32-29 lead at halftime. The margin stretched to 52-56 at the end of three periods and a late rally by the Eagles failed to catch the Chanticleers. The final score of the consolation game, Ord 62, O'Neill 59.

Married in Ericson Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foukl.

Miss Wilma Klancecky, daughter of Mrs. William Klancecky of Ord, and Leon Foukl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Foukl, sr. of Ericson, were married Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Methodist church in Ericson. Rev. Charles Cox officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar was decorated with white and pink gladiolas.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Leonard Klancecky, wore a white slipper satin gown with a marquisette overlace skirt and a train. Her veil of finger tip illusion was edged in lace and held in place by a tiara of seed pearls and lace. She wore a triple strand pearl necklace and matching earrings. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums and red sweetheart roses.

Miss Barbara Klancecky, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Leon Klancecky, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of blue net with an overlace fitted bodice and carried bouquets of yellow and white daisies. Bonnie Klancecky, sister of the bride, attired in a white gown carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Klancecky, brother of the bride, served as best man and Leon Klancecky, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

The bride's mother wore a soft blue suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Foukl was dressed in a navy blue suit with pink accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Lyle Sevenker and Dean Westcott were ushers.

Mrs. Clair Stryker, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Pierce, sang "One Alone," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother with a three tier wedding cake centering the bridal table. A lunch of ice cream shaped as wedding bells, with coffee, sandwiches and cake was served in candlelight to the immediate families.

Mrs. Gerald Kilkice, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Mr. and Mrs. Foukl then left on their honeymoon. For her going away outfit the bride chose a light rose suit with navy accessories.

Philbrick Identifies "Mystery Farm" Quickly; He Bought 400-Acre Place on Haskell Creek Highway 7 Years Ago

Last week's "mystery farm" remained a mystery for only a few hours after the Quiz appeared. At noon Thursday, Bill Philbrick appeared at the Quiz office and identified the photo as that of the Haskell Creek farm which he bought 7 years ago from heirs of the Charlie Miller Estate, Don Miller and Mrs. Olive Yates, through the Murray Agency. There are 400 acres in the Philbrick farm of which a quarter section is pasture, 80 acres are hay land, 130 acres crop and balance creek bottom, yards and buildings. In 1950 he had 30 acres in alfalfa, which did well, and the balance of the crop land was in corn which yielded 40 to 50 bushels per acre. This is a dry land farm and such an average is very good indeed. Bill explains that part of the Haskell Creek farm which he bought 7 years ago from heirs of the Charlie Miller Estate, Don Miller and Mrs. Olive Yates, through the Murray Agency. He considered it a most excellent farm. It is on a gravelled road which is a mail route out of Ord and only 5 miles from town. REA adds much to livability of the fine home on the Philbrick farm.

Mr. Philbrick paid $5,200 for the farm 7 years ago and has made many improvements. Today it is worth twice or perhaps three times as much as he paid for it, though he is entirely satisfied with it as a place to farm and a place to live and has no intentions of selling. The Philbrick farm was the third in a series of "Mystery Farm" photos being printed in the Quiz through cooperation with the Valley County Implement company. All of the air pictures were taken by Swopes Studio. Another appears in this issue.

State's Oil Reserve Hit New High Point

Nebraska's known reserves of crude oil, natural gas liquids and natural gas were boosted to new all-time peaks in 1950, according to Morse C. Palmer, Omaha, Nebraska, chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee.

Palmer based his information upon a joint report of the American Petroleum Institute and the American Gas Association. The findings have special significance to a security-conscious country for these new additions to proved reserve add to the internal strength of the United States.

The joint report, which covers discoveries, revisions of previous estimates and extensions of known pools during the 12-month period ending December 31, 1950, was compiled by special reserve committees of both trade associations during their annual meeting in Colorado Springs, Colorado, recently.

Total new supplies of crude oil and natural gas liquids developed in Nebraska in 1950 amounted to an estimated 9,600,000 barrels. With total production of liquid hydrocarbons estimated at 1,322,000 barrels, this produced a net increase of 8,274,000 barrels in known proved reserves.

Proved reserves of liquid hydrocarbons at the close of 1950 therefore was estimated at 9,935,000 barrels — an all time high for Nebraska. As of December 31, 1949, proved reserves of crude oil and natural gas liquids in this state were 1,661,000 barrels.

Proved reserves of natural gas in Nebraska were estimated at 44,106 millions of cubic feet at the close of 1950. This is a net increase of 36,043 millions of cubic feet.

Production of natural gas was estimated at 1,058 millions of cubic feet in 1950.

Of the natural gas reserves in Nebraska, 14,886 millions of cubic feet are non-associated; 21,213 millions of cubic feet are associated; and 8,007 millions of cubic feet are dissolved. Non-associated gas is free gas not in contact with crude oil in reservoirs; associated gas is free gas in contact with crude oil in the reservoirs while dissolved gas is gas in solution with crude oil in the reservoirs.

No gas was in underground reservoirs in Nebraska for storage purposes only.

The proved reserves of liquid hydrocarbons and natural gas referred to in the joint report apply only to those reserves whose locations and extent have been proved and measured. They do not include any estimate of oil or gas which may underlie the vast untested acreage which appears favorable to the accumulation of oil and gas in Nebraska.

Throughout the United States a review shows that since 1930 American oil men have added to the nation's petroleum reserves every year except one war year. In the 19 year period the proved reserves have been more than doubled in America.

The API reserves committee estimated the crude oil reserves; AGA committee accounted for natural gas and both committees estimated the natural gas liquids.

Charles Bryan, Twice Governor, Was Colorful Political Figure

Charles W. Bryan, who served three terms as governor (1923-25, 1931-35, though overshadowed by the commanding figure of his brother, William J., stands as one of Nebraska's most colorful political figures and an important personage in his own right.

He was born at Salem, Ill., Feb. 10, 1867. After attending Illinois College and the University of Chicago, he went to farming and the raising of purebred livestock. In 1891, he came out to Lincoln, where his older brother already had made enough of a name for himself to get elected to Congress. In Lincoln, he became manager and salesman for a manufacturing and brokerage business.

When his older brother catapulted to national prominence, Charles W. became his political secretary and business agent, a post he retained until the death of William Jennings Bryan in 1925. An important feature of this relationship was Charles W. Bryan's service as publisher and associate editor of "The Commoner," the nationally-known publication through which William Jennings Bryan expressed his views on questions of the day.

Politics was the bread of life to the Bryan brothers, and it was not long before Charles W. decided to try for public office. He was elected to the Lincoln city commission in 1915 and was chosen as mayor by his fellow commissioners. He was elected to the commission again in 1921.

His first try for the governorship came in 1916 when he unsuccessfully sought the Democratic nomination for that post. He was passed over again by the Democratic primary in 1918, but in 1923 was nominated and elected. During the campaign, he vigorously attacked the "civil administrative code," but, facing a hostile legislature, was unable to do anything about it as governor.

Mr. Bryan was renominated in 1924, but withdrew to accept the Democratic nomination for the vice presidency. He returned to the Nebraska political front to become the Democratic nominee for governor in 1926. He was defeated in the general election of that year, as he was in 1928, but in 1930 he won election, and in 1932 was re-elected.

Following his retirement from the governorship, he was elected mayor of Lincoln, serving one term. In 1938 he ran unsuccessfully as an independent candidate for the governorship.

JACK and JILL THURSDAY FRIDAY SATURDAY

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago — The Ord City council took action to split a number of city properties, both vacant lots and empty buildings, for taxes. — The Ord Ag. livestock team, including Wilson Chatfield, George Krajnik, Vernon Hybl, Don Jensen, Orville Leach and Charles Robertson, placed third at the Nebraska Hereford Breeders judging contest. — The Ord Chanticleers lost to Geneva in the district tournament, 31 to 21. — The Haskell building on the south side of the square became unusable because of the settling of the eastern wall, and had to be torn down later, making room for the present Safeway store building. — Mr. and Mrs. Chris Larsen were both injured when their coupe upset near the Huff place southwest of Ord. — The William Novak house in Springdale was partly destroyed by fire, including some of the furniture and $240 in currency hidden in a closet. — A. H. Watts, long time resident of the North Loup area, died at his home in Long Beach at the age of 78 years. — W. O. Zanger shipped some of his Herefords to a buyer in Knoxville, Tenn. — A soil conservation district was being proposed for Valley county. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo of Ord observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary. — The Arcadians defeated the Ord cricbage players in a series of games.

Twenty Years Ago. — S. W. Roe was again elected president of the Farmers Grain and Supply company, with D. E. Strong as vice-president and J. G. Bremer as secretary-treasurer. Wm. Heuck was continued as manager. Chas. Sterneck led an unsuccessful fight to close the store in Ord. — The Veterans' Loan bill had passed and it was estimated that this would bring from $60,000 to $100,000 in to the county. — Because a community sale held at Harry Bresleys had proved a great success, the Weller Auction company was planning a series of similar auctions in different parts of Valley county. John Haskell, Maytag salesman, was held up and robbed of $292 on the highway between Sargent and Taylor. — H. B. VanDecar talked to the Ord Rotarians on the subject of "Citizenship." — Dr. J. C. Nielsen, formerly of Arcadia, was promoted and placed at the head of the hospital at Norfolk.

Thirty Years Ago. — Great preparations were being made for the automobile show which was scheduled to be held in Omaha March 14 to 19. — Miss Eva Plejdrup became the bride of Pete Hollander March 6. — Julius Vala was announcing the opening of a general tailoring in the second story of the Misko block. — Ord councilmen were having quite a time deciding on a site for Ord's new city hall. There were two locations talked of, but the present one finally won out. — With 201 teams entered in the 11th annual state basketball tournament at Lincoln, the city was flooded with players. They were divided into classes then, but the district system had not yet been worked out. — Ben F. Bowen lost a barn and eight horses in a fire on his farm north of Ord in Garfield county. — Frank Grady of the Quiz force broke a finger in the folder.

Forty Years Ago. — After living at Holly, Colo., for three years, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wentworth returned to Ord to make their home on an 80 acre farm they owned two miles southwest of town. Frank J. Stara sold his west side meat market to H. L. Steinwart of Spalding and Louis Mazac of Ord, the latter being a former employee in the Stara market. — Ira Foster was so determined to go to Idaho that he sold his place 14 miles north of Ord at auction, a rather unusual procedure then. Ed Firkins bought it for over $5 per acre. — Allen Clements got out of Mexico and announced that he would pitch ball for a Texas league team during 1911. — At a special session of the Ord city council the city atorney was authorized to start action to bring within the corporate limits of the city a number of outlying tracts of land, including the cemetery, Bussell park and the Valley county fair grounds.

Fifty Years Ago. — Miss Mattie Heron arrived in Ord, having been employed to trim hats for G. W. Milford and Sons. — J. G. C. Hedde, after contacting the people concerned, had obtained enough signatures to his petition to have the Ord-North Loup ditch discontinued. The date of the election had been set for April 27, 1901. — The two frame buildings north of the first Mortensen building on the west side of the square had been moved out by the contractor John Wentworth, and he was then ready to begin work on the construction of the second Mortensen building, the one that is today occupied by the City Bakery and Jay Brown's Gambler store. F. J. Bell had bought one of the old buildings and had had it moved to the corner west of the Mortensen block where the Rutar Hatchery now stands, and expected to use it as a photo gallery. — A young fellow by the name of W. C. Parson, who had been head of the Quiz mechanical department, had been promoted to the position of city editor of the Quiz. Eight years later he was publisher of the Burwell Tribune, from which job he retired a few years ago. He still lives in Burwell.

Sixty Years Ago. — Frank Frank and Miss Eliza Kramer were married at Kramer, Nebr., and moved to a farm in Mira Valley. — A petition was being circulated to raise funds to buy an organ for the U. B. church at Midvale. — Dr. F. D. Haldeman was secretary of the Nebraska State Board of Health. — Several sorghum mills had been busy in the North Loup neighborhood during the fall, but the supply of local sorghum was exhausted. — A team took a runaway around the public square in Ord, causing considerable excitement. — Frank Lloyd had sold all his Valley county property to a man from Sioux City, name not given. There was a total of 90 counties in Nebraska in 1896, according to the record, the counties of Morrill, Garden and Arthur having been added since that time.

Sixty-Five Years Ago. — An "Old Folks Concert" was to be given at the "Methodist Meeting House," March 17. The entire announcement was printed in the Quiz in a fine imitation of Old English type and spelling. — The glory, if any, for starting the Valley County Farmers alliance seems to have gone to the organization in Mira

Burwell Livestock Market

Friday, March 16

At our sale last Friday we had an extra large consignment of both cattle and hogs with several consignments of cattle coming from Valley county. The market was very good on all classes of cattle.

For this week we look for a smaller offering of cattle due to the storm and road conditions.

Will have several consignments of Hereford calves and some yearlings, also several loads of mixed cows, some Hereford stock cows, several milk cows, several bulls and several loads of lightweight cattle.

Will have another liberal run of fat hogs and sows. We had a very good market on all classes of hogs last Friday.

Will also have several consignments of feeder shoats and some pigs. A good selection of brood sows and gilts.

8 to 10 head of horses including several well broke saddle horses.

Thursday night, March 22nd, we are holding a Special Dairy Sale for Mr. Paul Rolfs-meter of Seward, Nebr. 100 head of dairy cows and heifers. See next week's paper for more information.

Ord Ends Cage Play with Record of Dozen Wins

Lose Seven in Season Packed With Thrillers

The 1950-51 basketball season is now history for the Ord Chanticleers. And history means records, so let's take a look at the statistics that the season produced.

The Chants, in racking up a better-than-average record for the season, gained the northern division crown of the Trans-Nebbraska conference, but they lost the play-off game to Minden, southern division winner.

Including tournament play, Ord won 12 games and lost seven. A one-point win over Gothenburg started off the season, followed by another one-point victory—this one a 28-27 verdict over Ravenna.

Then came a win over Loup City, a loss to Columbus, a victory over Broken Bow, a defeat by Minden, another defeat by Albion, and still another loss, this one to Ravenna, in the longest losing streak of the season.

The Chanticleers got on the win trail again by beating Sutton but took it on the chin from Curtis. Then came victories over Loup City, Broken Bow, Central City, and Alliance.

Minden then won the championship play-off and the Chanticleers beat Aurora.

After that the Red and White went to the Class B, tournament at O'Neill where they beat Neligh, lost to Plainview, and won over O'Neill.

Penas Top Scorer.
Penas had a total of 324 points for the season, an average of a little more than 17 points per game to lead the Chanticleers' scoring. Next in line was Maurice, with a total of 167 tallies. Then came Falter with 155 and Stones with 109.

Most of the time the Chants played a steady game. Only once did they come back to win after trailing at halftime, and only once did they drop a game after taking a first-half lead.

In 12 of the games Ord committed fewer fouls than the opponents and in one game, against Columbus, each team was charged with 22 violations.

Ho-hum, time to get out the spiked shoes and start track work—as soon as the snow melts, that is.

Three missionaries were also present at this meeting. They were Miss Jessie Brag and Miss Blanche McCartney who have been in India and Miss Myrtle Pider who just recently returned from Japan.

Mrs. Dana Dawson of Kansas, wife of the Bishop, also attended the meeting. The Bishop has been in Africa the past two months and will remain another month.

The Omaha City Mission and Mother Jewel Home at York were represented.

The total registration at this annual meeting was 1,300. At a banquet given at Colner Terrace by the United Nations conference honoring all foreign students in Lincoln, 745 persons were served.

Storm-Cut Run Hikes Values on Omaha Livestock

Storm-curtailed supply forced livestock values higher Monday at Omaha. The run was cut in half by week end rains, ice and snow.

Fat cattle were mostly 50-75c up, though in late trade some plain to medium shortfeds were no better than steady. Bulk of steers and yearlings cleared at $33.00-$36.00, with quite a few loads of steers at $37.00-$37.75, one load of 1300 pounders $38.25 quotable top near $41.00. Best heifers were some at $35.75.

Cows sold 50c and more higher, canners and cutters $20.50-$24.00, mostly $22.00-$23.50; beef to $28.25, heiferettes to $30.00. Bologna bulls also sold to $30.00, beef to $29.00; veal calves to $37.00.

Stockers and feeders were too scarce for fair test of trade, but quotable steady.

Hogs sold 25-50c higher, butchers weighing 180-360 $21.00-$22.35, one deck $22.40. Sows to 550 brought $19.00-$20.50; stags $15.00-$17.50.

Fat lambs gained a quarter to reach another new record high—$40.50. Bulk of good to choicest to $40.25-$40.50, a few medium and extreme heavies $39.50-$40.00. Slaughter ewes repeated at $17.00-$23.00, quotable top $24.00. Fall-shorn lambs weighing 96 went for feeders at $36.75. Shearling lambs weighing 93 sold to a record $40.00.

Market-topping ewes at the Omaha market last week included a shipment of 18 weighing 136 at a record equalling $24.00.

Sixty-five Years of Service Here

These four men have a total of 65 years of service for the Union Pacific. They make up a crew that maintains the U. P. right of way from Ord to Scotia where this picture was taken on a cold day early this winter. They are Merle Brown, foreman, who began work in 1942, Joe Trumke who has been on the job since 1923, Vincent Suchanek who has worked for the railroad since 1927, and Louis Severson, a "newcomer." He's been with the road since 1944.

Engineer Tells of Road Progress

A balance sheet and a map marked in color showing two years of construction progress and the needs that remain on the state's long-range highway program was released recently by State Engineer Fred Klietsch.

The report and the map show that between January 1, 1949 and December 31, 1950 about 25 million dollars were obligated for construction by contract by the State Highway Department. With this money, construction work was done, or contracts were awarded for construction, on 1,726 miles of State Highway. The money also covered for the construction of 137 bridges. Of the total mileage, the contracts awarded in the past two years have provided for construction to desired standards on 482 miles, construction progress toward the desired standards on 365 miles and temporary improvements to serve until funds are available to construct to desired standards on 879 miles.

Klietsch pointed out examples of the three types of construction mentioned above. He said that the contracts awarded for relocating and bituminous surfacing Highway U. S. No. 81 south of Rankin have brought the portion of highway to the standard set in the long-range program. The State Engineer explained that the contracts for work on Highway Nebraska No. 92 west of Loup City provide for grading and structures of the standards desired, but that the serviceability of that highway is being maintained by the application of bituminous surfacing of that highway. He said that the recent temporary or stop-gap improvement of Highway U. S. No. 77 south of Lincoln near the Crete corner by adding 1 1/2 inches of bituminous surfacing will extend the serviceability of that highway until it is widened and an additional thickness of bituminous mat is laid, as is planned in the long-range program.

The report and map issued Monday showed that as of January 1, 1951 the remaining accumulated needs of the state's highways call for improvement of 6,444 miles at a cost of about 24 1/2 million dollars, based on 1947 prices. A map and statement issued June 15, 1949 showed accumulated needs on 6,628 miles at a cost of over 25 1/2 million dollars, based on 1947 prices.

Klietsch said that there were many reasons why the final costs of the accumulated needs had been reduced only 12 1/2 million dollars in the past year and a half despite the obligation of 25 million dollars for construction during the past two years. First, he pointed out that the Department had found it necessary as a stop-gap measure to obligate nearly 10 million dollars for temporary improvement to serve until the improvements called for in the long-range program could be provided. Next, he called attention to the fact that prices have gone up since 1947. Finally, he pointed out that a sizeable portion of the 25 million dollars obligated for construction during 1949 and 1950 had been used for construction not contemplated in the long-range program. Such construction included that built with Emergency Flood Relief funds and U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation funds.

The long-range program did not contemplate that it would be necessary to build new bridges at most of the sites where floods destroyed structures, and the money spent by the Reclamation Bureau and the Corps of Engineers is not necessarily to improve highways but to provide duplicate highways for existing highways to be made unusable by the construction of dams and reservoirs. The 25 million dollars, Klietsch said, also included county funds matched with federal funds for the construction of secondary roads, which were not considered as part of the State Highway system the long-range program was drawn up. These things require that any long-range program must provide adequate flexibility.

Oats and Barley Seed

Some of our oats and barley seed is arriving and more will be here in a few days. We now have Nemaha non-certified and if you have some of this ordered you may take it out now. We will have Certified Nemaha and Nemaha Cherokee oats in a short time. Then our Western Spartan barley will arrive in about ten days if they are recleaned by that time. Barley and Oats that were grown locally have very poor germination in most cases. Be sure to test your seed before you sow any local seed.

Fertilizer

Some of our fertilizer cars are beginning to arrive. We have had two cars of Nitrate and one car of 10-20-0. Just at present we do have a couple of truckloads of 10-20-0 that is not sold. If you will need any of this, you can get it now. There seems to be a little prospect of getting a small amount of 21-0-0. This will take the place of the regular Ammonium Nitrate but requires a little heavier application to give the same results. If you plan to use fertilizer on small grain you should be planning to make the application very soon. We have an Easy Flow Spreader that we will rent to you. If you have a liquid sprayer we are able to get some liquid fertilizer. This liquid fertilizer is doing a very nice job wherever it has been used. We feel that it would do very well for your wheat.

Seed Corn

Quite a number of the better numbers of Cornhusker and Standard Hybrids are still available in good kernel sizes. Of course some of them are completely sold out. If you care for Hybrids grown in 1949 we can furnish a limited amount at lower prices. Come in and see us about your hybrid seed.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover

We have had several calls for Ranger Alfalfa seed and this week we were able to get some Certified Ranger and a very small amount of Registered Ranger. If you are interested in Ranger alfalfa seed this year, your seed should be acquired soon. Remember that there is a very nice payment for sowing alfalfa seed this year. The payment nearly covers the cost of the seed of regular varieties. And when you sow alfalfa or clover this year be sure to use Nitrogen. The cost is very low but the results are surprising.

Baby Chicks

Would you like a few started Hy-Line Chicks? Once in a while we are able to get a few Hy-Lines about a week old. If interested let us know and we will try to get them for you.

Trouble in High Places.

Recently Nevada became the 36th state and final state necessary to approve the 22nd constitutional amendment and thus limit the tenure of office of a president of the United States to ten years. Last week a bill was introduced in Congress, which, if passed, would make it possible for that body, by a two-thirds vote, to remove the president from office.

Both these developments show a lack of faith in the way business has been conducted in Washington during the past few years. A law is seldom passed until a need for that law exists. F. D. Roosevelt made the 22nd amendment important and necessary. Apparently Harry Truman has made the proposed law important in the eyes of some of our lawmakers.

The nations of western Europe have a system that in some ways is superior to ours. There the ruling party dare not get very far out of line. A vote on any issue proposed by the party in power must receive a majority of the votes, or that group is out of business. The fate of the labor party in England, for example, hangs by a very slim thread, which may be severed almost any time.

In sharp contrast, here in America the chief executive may propose some pet proposition and have it defeated decisively in congress. He may veto legislation passed by Congress and then see it passed over his veto. But all this has no effect on his tenure of office, which may continue for the length of the term to which he is elected.

It would seem that the European system makes change in the head of the government too easy, but it is equally certain that our system makes change too difficult. Further, if the President cannot get along with a Congress that should be with him politically, there is either something wrong with the President or with Congress. Little can be accomplished in governmental affairs when conditions are as they are in the United States in 1951.

Assessing.
Again spring is here and the assessor is abroad in the land. Perhaps it would be better to say that assessing is abroad, since, like the spider, the assessor sits in the middle of his web and waits for the taxpayer to fall into it. It is a time-honored custom, and a very necessary one. Without taxes we could have no government, something of which we now have too much, but something we could not do without.

The schedules have been mailed out, and it is up to the individual to fill them out, take them to the county assessor or one of his assistants and sign them in his presence. The schedule has not changed materially since the present system was adopted. Minor adjustments have been made to get rid of a few "bugs" that developed in the law, but the principle is identical.

One trouble is that many people, especially farmers, wait until they get to the assessor's office before they fill out the number of stock of all kinds, as well as the bushels of grain, the different pieces of machinery, and other items. The result is that it is often hard to remember all these details, and the stock and grain is not at hand for convenient checking.

It is not intended that the assessor put in the price of the assessed items, but it is expected of him that the numbers and amounts be filled in before he leaves the farm or the home. This not only makes for saving time in the assessor's office, but it also insures greater accuracy in making out the schedule.

The new system was developed to take the place of the outmoded precinct assessor system, and the person to be assessed is put on his honor under the new plan. Since the assessor is not on the farm or in the home when the assessing is done, he is not in position to check up on the accuracy of the survey. He is expected to take the man's word for it, for the time being, at least.

The weak link in assessing today is the same as it has always been. It is up to the individual and his idea of honesty. Most people try to give in every assessable item in their possession. The assessor has no trouble with these, but there are two classes of people who cause considerable difficulty.

First comes the person who is too honest for his own good. This man gives in everything he owns, often listing items that are still in his possession but which he will never again have occasion to use. He is the man who wants to list an old machine which would not bring ten dollars at auction for twice that figure. He gives in more grain than he actually has because he wants to play fair.

This man is not difficult to handle, because the assessor sees what he is trying to do, and usually can arrange his schedule so he will not be paying more taxes than he really should. Then there is the other group, the men who cause the assessor more gray hairs than all the rest of the job combined, the fellows who fail to list items that should be listed, or who argue that the price put down is too high.

This man never has as good stock as his neighbors. He overlooks quite a few bushels of grain here and there, and possibly that stack of hay over on the south eighty. He gets by with it because the assessor has no immediate means of checking up. If caught later, the extra goods are usually added to his schedule, but most of the time he gets away with it.

But the most difficult problem to handle is money on hand in banks or savings accounts. Since banking business is a private affair between the banks and their clients, it is impossible to prove that a man has money in the bank when he declares he has not. The rate on such funds is purposely made low, but even at that a large percentage of the money in banks is missed.

The man who cheats on being assessed excuses himself on the grounds that taxes are too high, anyway. Yes, taxes are very high, but somebody has to pay them. If the amount of taxes secured this year is too low for public needs, it means a higher levy next year. The man who short-changes the assessor is also short-changing his neighbor and is not giving him the square deal he expects for himself.

Fortunately, the percentage of such men in Nebraska is small, and is growing smaller as the years come and go. There will always be a few with perverted ideas of what is right, and there will always be a few who cheat and get by with it. But what they may gain materially they will lose in ease of conscience. In prosperous times there is no excuse for anyone cheating in his tax schedule.

Another Fool Law.
No doubt a great many foolish bills have been introduced at this session of the Nebraska legislature, but surely none is more foolish than L. B. 369, which is the brainchild of Senators Carmody, Duis and Brown. This bill would make it unlawful to discharge any firearm from or while on any public road (already covered by existing legislation); and, further, would make it unlawful to discharge any fire arm "within forty rods of any schoolhouse or occupied dwelling."

If this bill should pass, and Farmer Jones should get out with his shotgun to kill a skunk in his own chicken coop, he would automatically be subject to arrest, a fine of $10 to $100 and costs, and imprisonment not to exceed 60 days.

We can't imagine what possible benefit this bill could have, but we can think of a thousand objections to it, not the least of which is that under a dictatorship such a bill would be perfect for legally disarming the populace. Lots of people still enjoy rifle and shotgun shooting as a sport, and in fact some school houses have rifle ranges in the basement where boys are taught to shoot under competent instruction. And many a quail or pheasant is safely and legally killed, in season, within 40 rods of inhabited dwellings, often by the owner thereof himself.

Ward's Cookin' What's a Cookin' Column
A rather unusual angle to the "Facts for Congress" movement recently started in Ord is the one brought out by former resident who writes that she had known Jay Aule ever since he was a little fellow, and that is the first time she ever saw him with his pants off. However, this isn't as unusual as it sounds. Jay assures me that he has been taking his pants off at least once a day for some time now and that he hardly ever misses. However, it might be will for him to hang onto the pair he still has, or he might fire himself in the position of the lady who was quite a musician, as Jay is also.

This young lady came from a western community and her family were poor people, who found it very difficult to feed and clothe their numerous progeny. But this girl showed a great natural talent for singing, and was put through a course of music by a rich man who recognized her ability. In a few years she found herself on the concert stage. At length she paid a visit to her old home and sang a concert for the old neighbors. Among those who heard her was a great uncle. After the concert they asked Uncle John what he thought of the show she put on and he said: "She ain't much different than when she was a little girl. In them days she had hardly a dress to her back."

Now she has hardly a back to her dress.
Great trees from little acorns grow. Ord has started something, and the idea is gaining in popularity. Caesar crossed the Rubicon, and it gained him immortality of a kind and Italy developed into the great Roman Empire. John Ruskin wrote beautiful poetry, and they named a cigar after him. Old Man Canasta invented a card game for his own amusement, and now everybody is playing it. Peary discovered the north pole, and he never went back to see how his property was getting along. Perhaps in the not too distant future our county capital can put of a sign reading: "This is Ord, the town whose citizens gladly gave up their pants to keep from losing their shirts."

This might be as good a time as any to tell you about my old friend, Old Henderson. I met him while living at Hunters Point, where we were both working for the navy. He told me a most interesting history of himself and his activities, but, due to security reasons, the story could not be told while the war was still going on. The security was more for the United States forces fighting in the Philippines.

This man, who said he was 66 in 1941, had been in the islands since 1868. He was there in connection with the Spanish-American war, got his discharge there and stayed there. He became a Filipino in custom if not in race, and took part in political affairs in the island of Cebu, where he made his home. After a time he married a Filipino girl, brought her to his own plantation, and there his children were born.

In time there were four girls and a little son, and then the Japanese came. Henderson took to the bush, together with hundreds of patriots, and for more than three years he headed a band of guerrillas that preyed on the Japanese at every time and opportunity. They had firearms and a limited supply of ammunition, and they would bush small patrols, their aim being to kill every member of the patrol and hide their bodies so that other Japanese could not find them.

++ Something Different ++
I notice the kiddies are all playing war again. There was a year or two when the emphasis went off war games and war toys almost disappeared from the stores. But they are returning again, and fast. Do you realize boys and girls of this generation have never lived in a world that wasn't talking and thinking of war, continually?

Sad, isn't it, the mess we super-smart old folks have made of it all. Let's hope this is Old Winter's last huffy puff. The last cold he's going to breathe down our shivery backs. He's a vicious old guy. After being pleasant to us all winter long, suddenly he decides to show us his meanest, slipperiest, iciest self. Up 'til now we've had California-type weather... only without that stuff Smog, of course. All we know about Smog is what we read in the papers!

The first time I saw Henderson was when I was headed to work one morning. A tall gaunt figure passed me, a man about four inches over six feet. Now I am quite a walker, and, when some body passes me, I expect it to be a younger fellow. This man passed me almost as though I were standing still, and by the time I had walked the mile to the area gate he was about 200 yards in the lead. A few days later he passed me when I was on my way home, and the same thing occurred. The next time he passed me I spoke, and he slowed down and walked with me. He spoke of the weather, the war, the work, in fact, anything but himself. We walked together several times after that, then one Sunday he invited me over to see him and get acquainted with his family. At that time he told me part of his story, and told me more on several occasions. He had not heard from his wife and son since he left the islands and talking about his troubles seemed to make him feel better. It certainly was interesting to visit with him.

His four lovely girls were in age from 18 down to ten. The three younger ones are shown in the accompanying picture. They were a great help to him, doing all the housework in the apartment in which they lived, which was perhaps fifty yards below ours on Middle Point road. They had everything in the rooms neat as a pin, but the old man's chief worry was that they wanted to go to shows and have a good time, like other girls did. He wanted them to stay at home.

Mr. Henderson told me about one of their attacks on the Japs, one which was important, as they were bringing in a number of truckloads of supplies and ammunition to a garrison at a small town. They needed this material and determined to capture it. By grapevine they learned that the convoy was on its way, and they laid their ambush in a defile near the top of a steep grade. About fifty men, well supplied with arms, lined up behind rocks on either side, and when Henderson gave the signal they all fired. After that first volley there weren't enough Japs left to put up a fight, and a few more shots finished them.

They took over the trucks and drove them to their rendezvous, some of the men following behind and obliterating the tracks so that the Japanese could not tell where they went. Later the trucks were driven into heavy undergrowth and effectively camouflaged. This particular attack furnished the band enough ammunition to last for several months, and it was used most effectively.

He also told of another attack that did not turn out as well, but the men were instructed as to what to do in case of reverses. The attack developed the fact that the trucks were filled with Jap soldiers instead of supplies, and they came tumbling out by the dozen and started in pursuit. The Filipinos scattered into the bush, and then fired at the Japanese as they came along the open paths. They finally had to give up, but the patriots failed to get any supplies that time.

I have often wished that this man would have told me his real name, and where I could get in touch with him after the war. He could have done so, but his fear of revealing the whereabouts of his wife and son prevented him doing so. I also wish I could tell you the story the way he told it to me. That man raised a perfectly good novelist when he became a rancher in the Philippines.

Local spectators were filled with admiration for the handsome rancho basketball uniforms worn by the Hyannis boys when they came to Ord last week. Those cattle brands on their jackets and on their suits, those big ten-gallon hats, even the high-heeled cowboy boots, appealed to the Ord boys greatly. It was told that each boy's outfit was bought by one rancher, who then plastered his brand on it. Exhibited were free advertising, a hospitable western feeling that is typical of that cow country, lots of local color, and plenty of interest aroused in all who saw the trunks, jackets and so on. Mighty fetching!

County Superintendent and Mrs. Appelget are truly entering into our community activities and making themselves a part of things. One field of particular interest to them is Boy Scouting, in which they have filled many roles. Mrs. Appelget has been a Den Mother for a bunch of Cubs, and so on... they have helped their family on that long jaunt, all the way up to the pinnacle of Scout fame, becoming an Eagle Scout! And though their own Scouts are grown and gone, the Appelgets have not lost interest in the boys. The Scouts really want you to save paper for them. Newspapers should be tied in bundles, magazines ditto. Since they can get a higher price for old magazines with their slick paper, be sure to keep them separate.

Watch the QUIZ for collection dates: they'll be announced.

In place of calling this spring-time, we might rename it drive-time. For one drive follows another, as one worthy cause after another demands our assistance. No wonder the many causes unite to carry on a community chest campaign, in so many cities. If the Red Cross didn't do anything to help in time of disaster—except see that blood was available for transfusions for those who directly need it, it would be worth giving to!

Peter Clement Dies, Funeral at Maxwell

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Tucker, Mrs. Ava Johnson and Jack Craft drove to North Platte Friday to attend the funeral of Peter Clement, uncle of Mrs. Tucker and Jack Craft who died in the Soldiers and Sailors home in Hot Springs, S. D., and was buried in the National cemetery at Ft. McPherson, at Maxwell. Mr. Clement visited here about a year ago.

Mr. Clement was the last editor of the North Loup Localist, selling the name and subscription list to The Ord Quiz in the early years of the World War II, and dispersing the equipment.

Mr. Clement was married to Floretta Davis was born near Alden, Minn., Oct. 27, 1869, and died at her home in North Loup, March 7, 1951, at the age of 81 years, four months and nine days.

When she was 13 years old, after the death of her father, her mother, with her three children, came to North Loup. They came overland in a covered wagon, planning only to visit relatives, but liking the country they stayed in a farm on Davis Creek, Louisia.

Attending school in town. Three years later, on July 7, 1886, she was married to Charles W. Barber. They lived on several farms out the first home of their own was a sod house, northwest of North Loup. In 1893 they moved to Hastings where they owned ever since. Louisa and her brother and sister were of the eighth generation from Roger Williams.

April 4, 1884, she was baptized and joined the North Loup Seventh Day Baptist church and she has been one of the most active members. When the Sabbath school cradle roll was started, she was the first superintendent, and held the office for many years. She was church matron when the church had that office, was Junior superintendent, and a teacher in the Sabbath school, besides being a member of the Women's Missionary society. Her home was always a home for the homeless, and no one who needed such a place was ever turned away. For nearly fifty years she was local treasurer of the Nebraska Child Welfare Home society. At a time when we had neither hospitals nor nurses, she was often called on for help, and besides her own family, she helped seventy babies into the world.

For a time Mrs. Barber had a millinery store, and for the twenty years her husband was treasurer of the Cemetery Association, she was his able assistant.

Mr. Barber passed away September 11, 1949, after they had celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary in July.

Surviving Mrs. Barber are two sons, Glen of Sulon, Calif., and Dell, who cared for his mother since the passing of his father; one daughter, Mrs. Fern Maxson, of North Loup; thirteen grandchildren, and 22 great-grandchildren. Besides these, many are many in the church and community she served who will mourn her passing.

Funeral services for Mrs. Barber were held Saturday afternoon from the Seventh Day Baptist church, with Rev. F. D. Saunders bringing the message. Mr. and Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Edward Christensen, and Elroy Babcock sang "Love That Will Not Let Me Go," "Nearer Home" and "Good Morning Up There," with Mrs. Louisa Brennick at the organ.

Pallbearers were Aubrey Davis, Cecil Stenece, George Clement, Vernon Williams, Riley Brannon and Roy Cox.

Ashley's mortuary was in charge of arrangements. Burial was in Hillside cemetery.

Here from away for the funeral were two granddaughters, Mrs. Dale Jinks of Hay Springs and Mrs. Henry Dress, Jr., of Oshkosh. They are the former Joan and Jean Barber, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Larkin and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown of Scotia were here Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Barber's funeral.

Henry Williams returned Thursday from Savannah, Mo., where he had been for medical treatment.

The Merlyn Van Horn family will move this week to Grand Island where Merlyn is working at the Ordnance plant. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodrich will move to Van Horn's house.

The Martin Dunklau family started to Hardy, Saturday morning to spend the week end with relatives but at Cotes field turned and came back because of the icy roads.

Mrs. Louisa Barber Dies at N. Loup; Age Was 81 Years

Came Here in Covered Wagon Before 1900

Louisa Lois Barber, the third child of Elmer E. and Floretta Davis was born near Alden, Minn., Oct. 27, 1869, and died at her home in North Loup, March 7, 1951, at the age of 81 years, four months and nine days.

Mrs. Everett Hornickel, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Berben and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rashaw, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wright, Mrs. Rose Puss and Dean, and Bill Heubner. The group played cards in the afternoon after which lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Malotke were presented with a set of dishes as a gift.

Mrs. Jessie Babcock had dinner Saturday with Mrs. Carrie Green. Mrs. Rena Davis spent the afternoon with Mrs. Green.

Mrs. Charles Cress, Mrs. Evelyn Willoughby, Duane and Deanna, Mr. and Mrs. Hillis Coleman, Mrs. Lulu Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mulligan went to Ord Sunday afternoon to honor Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayo on their sixtieth wedding anniversary. Several others from North Loup had planned to go but were prevented by the unfavorable weather.

Roy Stine is not improving as rapidly as was hoped and Mrs. Stine who had expected to come home this week is staying in Omaha a few days longer so as to be near him.

Grade school teachers went to Grand Island Thursday where they visited Grand Island schools and a book display which was being shown on that day. All four grade teachers, Mrs. Mills Hill, Miss Marcia Rood, Miss Clara Jensen and Mrs. David Alfrey went down and all felt they received a great deal of benefit from the day. Grades were dismissed for the day.

School Notes

The grade school was dismissed on Thursday so the teachers could visit Grand Island Public Schools and the fiction and reference book exhibit. Mrs. Alfrey, Mrs. Hill, Miss Jensen and Miss Rood visited West Lawn, Jefferson, Platte, and Dodge grade schools. Mrs. Alfrey also visited Walnut junior high. They were favorably impressed with the Grand Island schools.

Kindergarten

Stephen Saunders was absent last week with pink eye. We have finished our reading readiness book. First Days of School.

First and Second Grades

Jackie Kraft has been absent several days because of illness. Ronald and Edwin Hackel are back in school after several days illness. "Snowball" has finished his visit to us and will soon return to his home in Beaver City.

Third, Fourth and Fifth Grades. Beverly Markvicka and Frankie Kolar have been absent with flu. Herbert Saunders with pink-eye, and Vida Ingerson with tonsillitis.

Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Grades. The Junior High Pep club was among the four clubs chosen to return for the final rating in the tournament at Burwell. A trophy is being awarded for first and second places. They were supposed to return on Saturday but the tournament was postponed until Monday night on account of road conditions.

The eighth grade is reading stories by Washington Irving, "Rip Van Winkle" has been completed and we are now reading "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow."

High School

Evelyn Brown and Connie Eberhart have been chosen to take the regents examination for a scholarship at the University of Nebraska. It will be given Monday, March 19.

Inner-Tone Medicine Real Relief for Stomach Sufferers

One man recently took INNER-TONE three days and said afterwards that he never would believe that INNER-TONE could help so much. He said that years of aches and pains and that tired worn out feeling are gone, is free of gas and stomach distress. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way. INNER-TONE is the new mixture of juices from Nature's Herbs combined with blood building IRON and nerve strengthening VITAMINS B-1, B-2, and B-6. It has relieved many people who have never been really helped before by any medicine. Taken shortly before meals it mixes with your food and aids digestion "thus eliminating gas and bloot." Don't go on suffering, get INNER-TONE at your leading drug store.

N. Loup Is Host to Teacher Group

About 50 teachers attended the meeting of the Valley county teachers association in N. Loup Tuesday evening, March 20. Teachers from rural schools, Ord, Arcadia, and North Loup attended the luncheon which was served at 6:30 by the teachers from North Loup schools.

Teachers from Scotia were invited as guests and they attended the program which followed the luncheon.

Superintendent Earl Wulfe of the Grand Island schools was a guest speaker. He talked on the topic "Reading, Every Teacher's Problem." He cited examples of good and bad teaching practices in reading. He stated that one of the reasons for the apparent difficulty in teaching youngsters to read today is that in this day and age we're teaching masses instead of classes. The big increase in school population has brought together boys and girls from wide differences in background, experience, and ability.

Mr. Umlinger, supervisor of elementary education in the Grand Island schools, accompanied Dr. Wittse to North Loup.

Scotia Lad Suffers from Bone Disease

Billy Murphy, five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Murphy of Scotia, was taken to Omaha Monday by his parents to consult a bone specialist.

Billy fell from his tricycle one day last week and as a result his left leg, seemed shorter than the right one. X-rays showed that he was suffering from epiphysitis in the early stages. The fall did not cause the socket of the joint to crumble, but it did bring the malady to light.

A cast is being made for the boy who is recovering at the home of his parents in Scotia.

Ex-Communist Will Be at Assembly of God

Special meetings at the Assembly of God church in Ord next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will feature messages by the Rev. Kenneth Goff, formerly a high-ranking Communist leader in this country.

Goff, who is now an ordained minister, at one time was part of the Red machine which plotted the overthrow of the U. S. government.

Rev. G. E. Fogelman, pastor of the local congregation, says that the visiting speaker will cover such subjects as the Red plot to seize America, and 100 Red stars in Hollywood.

Draws $50 Fine for Intoxication

County Judge Ellsworth Ball, Jr., fined Walter Ropke, Arcadia, $50 and costs Tuesday on an intoxication charge.

Ropke was arrested the night before and was lodged in Sheriff Bob Hall's jail.

The accused pleaded guilty to the complaint filed by Ralph Norman, county attorney, and after paying his fine and $15.26 in costs was released.

Union Services Are Scheduled for Good Friday

Bethel Baptist Church is host for Meditations. The Ord Ministerial association is planning union services for Good Friday, March 23. Bethel Baptist church will be the host congregation for the three-hour long meditation which will begin at noon.

Pastors of six local Protestant churches and a visiting evangelist from Chicago, Rev. Everett Swanson, will lead the services, the theme of which will be "The Seven Last Words."

In planning the services, intermissions have been arranged so that those who find it impossible to attend during the entire three hours may arrive or leave in time to attend part of the services.

Ministers who will participate in the services are: Paul Woelfe, G. E. Fogelman, Eugene Olson, R. E. Daughette, E. H. Sahl, Everett Swanson, and Allen Strong.

In sounding an invitation to the services, a Ministerial association spokesman said, "Never have we needed the message of the death and resurrection of our Savior so much as we need it today. Surely, we can spare a few hours for meditation on Good Friday."

REA Board Holds Inspection Tour

The board of directors of the Loup Valleys Rural Electrification Membership association held an all-day inspection tour of REA facilities, Thursday.

Sub-stations, power usage, and the new radio transmitter were viewed by board members during the tour.

The board retired to the Veterans club for dinner, followed by the regular business meeting.

Initiate Clement

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clement.

—Wednesday evening guests of Mrs. Dora Jorgensen and Alma were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parkos and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sedlack and Mrs. John Galka, sr. and John.

Dairy Improvement Is Aim of New Project Sponsored by Ord Veterans

A new community service project, designed to improve dairy herds in the Loup Valley and to provide new interests for farm youths was announced today by Ord Post 7029 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"We have been active in sponsorship of youth projects in this vicinity ever since our post was organized," Win. Goff, commander of the post, said. "Most of our efforts in the past—such as the swimming pool, baseball lights, and so forth—have been recreational. Now we're putting emphasis on an educational program."

The post will shortly form a new corporation to be known as the VFW Loup Valley Dairy Improvement Association. Working closely with vocational agricultural teachers and the Future Farmers of America, the new VFW creation will purchase purebred dairy heifers of various breeds and lend-lease them to qualified youths in this vicinity.

The heifers will be kept by the youths until they have dropped three calves. The cow will then be turned back to the VFW who will lend-lease her to another youth. The second youth will keep the cow until she has had two calves, and again return her to the VFW. The calves will become the boy's property, as well as all income from the cow's production of milk and cream.

At the end of the lend-lease period through five lactations the VFW will sell the cow on the open market and use the funds to purchase more purebred heifers to start other boys in calf projects.

Feed 3,000 Guests at Annual Ord C. of C. Pancake Day

Buyers Bid for Bargains in Novel Auction

About 3,000 guests consumed more than 10,000 pancakes at the annual Chamber of Commerce Pancake Day in Ord last Wednesday.

Cold weather and snow cut the attendance below last year's mark of 4,000 guests, but those who did come had a lot of fun, according to Richard Rowpal, president of the Chamber.

Members of the Chamber prepared the flapjacks, assisted by girls from the home economics department of Ord high school. Serving went on from before noon until five o'clock at the Bohemian hall.

A novel feature of this year's Pancake Day was an auction of new merchandise. Bruce Covey was auctioneer at the sale during which merchandise went at bargain prices to bidders who braved the cold to attend the sale, which was held on the east side of the courthouse square.

The Nebraska State bank and the First National bank each furnished a clerk for the sale. Dean Misko headed the entertainment committee which was in charge of arrangements for the annual pancake event.

A clipping from a recent Denver Post reports that Paula Sowl, a former Ord resident, now of Denver, Colo., has played the role of the teenager in "Good-bye, My Fancy" with Joan Crawford, in "I Was a Communist" with Frank Leroy, and will return to Hollywood in May for a similar role in a Warner Brothers color picture.

Miss Sowl has been engrossed with the idea of being in movies since she was five years old she states, at which time she lived in Ord. She played the lead in "Junior Miss" the senior class play the year she was graduated from South high school in Denver. After graduation she took an intensive course at the famed Pasadena Play House until 1949.

Paula comments about agents thinking her so young, "They'll look at me every time and say 'oops, a bobby soxer!' " "But they say I'm lucky to have such a young face at 21. If I looked older, in five years my career might be over."

Paula is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Sowl. While living here, Mr. Sowl operated the funeral parlor in the Masonic building. He was a prominent citizen, a member of the Rotary club and a fine musician. Mr. and Mrs. Sowl and their two children, Duane and Paula, lived about a block west of the Quiz office.

Mrs. Josie Kriz Buried Monday

Mrs. Josie Kriz, 82, died Thursday at her home in Ord and was buried Monday after funeral services from the Hastings-Pearson Mortuary. The Rev. Eugene Olson officiated at the funeral services.

Don Auble sang, "Going Down the Valley" and "Abide With Me," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Orin Kellison.

Pallbearers were Henry Vodehnal, Albert Parkos, sr., Pete Darges, Ed Zikmund, Anton Adamek, and Frank Kriek.

Mrs. Kriz was the daughter of Charles and Mary Severin, born March 6, 1869 in Hlinsko, Czechoslovakia. She came to America as a small girl and settled in Nebraska with her parents. They lived at West Point and Schuyler, coming to Ord from Schuyler by covered wagon when Josie was about 15 years old.

Mrs. Josie Kriz

On October 12, 1890, she was married to Frank Kriz of Ord. To this union eight children were born, six of whom passed away in infancy. Others preceding her in death were her husband who passed away about five years ago, one sister, Mrs. Mary Vavra, and two brothers, Charles and Benedict.

Left to mourn her departure are her daughter Josie of Ord and one son, Henry; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Brown of Denver and Mrs. Nettie Heckthorne of Casper, Wyo.; a niece, Mrs. Mary Darges; four nephews, Joe, Will, Floyd, and George Vavra, all of Ord; a grandson and great-granddaughter of Seattle, Wash., and other relatives and many friends.

Mrs. Kriz was very alert and active even during her advanced age. Her death came as a surprise nine days after her birthday.

Oh, It's Spring Once Again, Tra-La

Yes, it's spring once again. Birds on the wing, budding flowers, fleecy clouds, and all that.

At 4:26 a. m., Wednesday, the vernal equinox was reached. That means the earth's axis was—that is, the sun and the equator—well, anyhow it's spring because the almanac says so.

The weatherman doesn't read the almanac. He doesn't know it's spring. He's sensing more cold weather and maybe even snow because he thinks it's still winter.

The joke's on the weatherman—or is it?

Thirteen Students Take Exams

Examinations for Regents scholarships of the University of Nebraska were held at the office of the county superintendent, Monday.

To be eligible to take the examinations a student must rank in the upper scholastic bracket. Ord high school students who took the exams were: Frank Adamek, Dolores Blaha, Patricia Brown, Janet Coleman, Lonnie Dye, Margaret Heuck, Jean Huff, Gladys Kokes, Merna Lange, Robert Moore, Gary Nelson, Marlene Norman and Rose Marie Sevensker.

Form Mobilization Board for County Defense Production

The Valley County Mobilization Board was formed at a meeting of farm production representatives at the Valley county PMA office, Tuesday. The action came after Charles Brannan, secretary of agriculture, had issued a directive calling for the formation of national, state, and county mobilization units.

Stepped-up production in the face of shortages of manpower, machinery, and other materials is the responsibility of the new board. The government has asked for a 25 per cent boost in corn production here, and as one of its first actions, the board is considering the use of fertilizer as a means to increase production, rather than seeking an increase in the acreage under cultivation.

Choose Officers. Paul Owens, PMA head, was named as board chairman and Alma Jorgensen was named secretary.

At the organization meeting were Leslie Nash of the Soil Conservation Service, C. C. Dale, county extension agent, Don Krick, FFA representative, Bob Moody, and Wilbert Calvin of the REA, and Emil Kokes and Paul Owens of the PMA.

The board voted to offer its services to the selective service board in an advisory capacity with regard to farm deferments.

Chamber of Commerce Men Are Pancake Experts

Stanley Abcalon and Bill Steen, pictured here, are among the Chamber of Commerce members who qualify as "pancake experts" after preparing about 10,000 flapjacks to feed the 3,000 guests who were in Ord last Wednesday for the annual Chamber-sponsored Pancake Day. Cold weather and bad roads cut the attendance below last year's mark.

Spring Gets Cool Reception Here; Forecast Warmer

Half-Inch of Moisture Falls During Week

Spring got a cool reception here in Ord, Wednesday morning, when the season officially changed from winter to spring. The mercury stood at the lowest level of the past week—only five degrees above zero.

But the weatherman says that this is the tail end of a cold wave which brought some of the winter's most rugged weather to the middle west.

Mortensen Report on Bond Sales

C. J. Mortensen, Chairman of the Savings Bond Committee, announced today that sales for the month of February in Valley county totaled $22,481.25.

At the same time, Leland R. Hall, State Director, announced that total sales in Nebraska for the month were $6,369,266.31, of which 67 1/2% was in Series "E" Bonds.

Hall took issue with those who criticize the Savings Bond Program because the value of the dollar has declined. "That is true," Hall said, "but so has the value of the dollar in any other form of savings. An investment in bonds takes just that much money out of circulation, and is just that much of a check on inflation. In order to combat this danger, we need a tough and thorough anti-inflation program, and Defense Bonds are a very necessary part of that program." "Wise management of the huge public debt is an absolute necessity," he said.

federal matching funds which average about fifty percent of the cost," Klietsch said.

Klietsch explained that it would not be necessary for the counties to let the project to private construction firms. "If you have the equipment to do the job, we simply negotiate a price with the county for building the road and let the county do the work."

"Over in Greeley county we're doing that very thing right now—building 6 miles of gravelled road on the Scotia-Ericon route, and the county will do the work. Cost for the 6 miles will be about $150,000."

Klietsch told the group that his office would need a resolution from the Valley county board to start the survey, and N. B. Cummings, chairman of the board, assured him that it would be made at once.

Making the trip here with Klietsch and Sorenson were L. M. Riss of Lincoln, and E. J. Babcock of Lincoln. Riss is with the state highway department and Babcock with the federal agency. Following the meeting the visiting group drove back to Lincoln by way of Arcadia to make a short inspection of the Ord-Arcadia highway.

The road meeting Wednesday drew a large attendance with a good sized delegation of farmers and ranchers from Greeley county who were especially interested in the projected Ord-Greeley highway.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Finley, Charlotte and Edward, spent Thursday evening in Grand Island. The men attended a U. P. railroad meeting while the ladies visited relatives. Mrs. Finley stayed until Saturday while the others returned home that night.

Mrs. Edna Collins has virus pneumonia.

Mervin Hornick and Wilfred Cook spent the week end in Lincoln.

Services will be held in the Lutheran church both Good Friday and Easter Sunday at 11 a. m. Holy Communion will be observed Good Friday.

A cantata "Life Eternal" will be presented by the E.U.B. choir at 8:00 p. m. Easter Sunday, at the E.U.B. church.

Mrs. Elva Hayden spent the week end with relatives here. She went back to her school in Fairbury Sunday.

Patricia Bell and Stella Linke celebrated their birthday anniversaries with a party at the George Bell home Saturday evening.

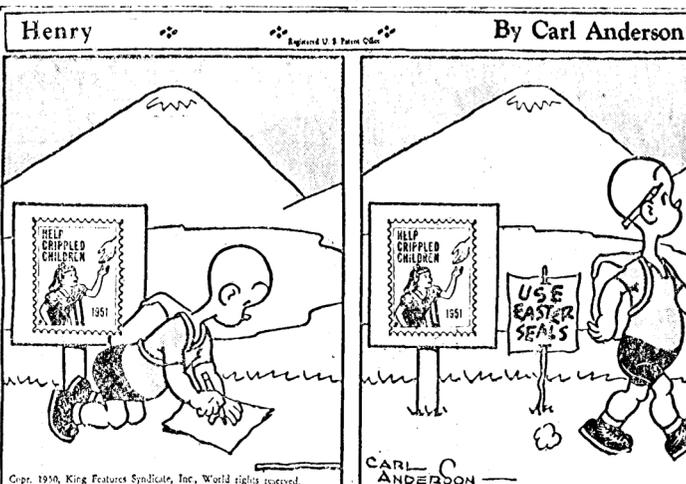

Those present were the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. George Clement and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Clare Clement, Mrs. Elva Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clement, and Mrs. Walter Linke and family.

Mrs. Walter Linke and Johnny went to Grand Island with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Collins and Keith Monday.

Franklin Bremer came up from Wornis Wednesday to visit his mother and brother, Mrs. Elsie Bremer and George. He returned home Friday.

There was a checker game at the Bremer home Thursday evening.

Prizes were won by Herbert Dulitz and Mrs. Walter Fuss for high score, Mrs. Herbert Dulitz and Walter Poth for low score, and by Mrs. Alma Bredthauer for melting the most axes at the card party at the Henry Lange home Friday evening.

Patrolman Tells of Highway Problems

Fifty-five people have been killed on Nebraska highways this year, 14 more than at this time last year, so said Patrolman Otto Zapp, when he spoke before the P.T.A. in North Loup Monday night. Soon the nation will chalk up the millionth traffic death since 1906, more than were killed in both World Wars. Speed is the greatest cause of traffic accidents, and Mr. Zapp stressed the fact that when law officers crack down on traffic violators, they are only doing their duty and need the cooperation of parents when dealing with teenagers, who make up 20 per cent of the traffic accidents.

Mr. Zapp showed two films on traffic and answered questions during the discussion.

Apprehension May Cause Motion Sickness

Few persons suffer from motion sickness, but those who do find only misery in travel. Alcohol taken before a trip disposes one toward motion sickness in any of its forms. People who think they will not be sick if they empty stomachs when embarking on a flight, a rail trip, an automobile jaunt or a steamship voyage use false logic, he says. A light meal of easily digestible food is preferable to no food at all. Motion sickness is the general term for the nausea that afflicts some travelers no matter what kind of transportation they use. It goes under the name of air sickness for air travelers and sea sickness for steamship passengers and various terms for other modes of locomotion. But it is all the same thing. The cause of motion sickness, like the cause of the common cold, has never been pinned down to an ultimate source. Some authorities believe motion sickness results from a confusion between the eyes and the body's stabilization mechanism. Others believe that abnormal motion, such as the swaying of an automobile or the pitching of a ship at sea, affects the organs of balance. There is no question that apprehension plays a large part in many cases. But one's physical condition is perhaps more important at any given time. Alcohol, greasy foods, apprehension and morbid physical condition predispose the traveler toward illness.

How to Check Strength, Quality, of Turkish Towel

Samson's strength was in his hair; that's a well-known fact. Unlike Samson, the strength of a Turkish towel is in the backbone or ground weave of the towel. That's something many women don't know. Women with no knowledge of this hidden towel strength fail to examine the fabric underneath the loops of a terry towel which makes up the ground weave or underweave. Yet, it is this ground or underweave which best indicates how well the towel will wear. What this underweave does is to hold the towel loops in place, take the strain of pulling which accompanies towel use, and act in the capacity of a sponge in absorbing water from the surface loops. Only an underweave which is firm to the touch, closely and tightly woven, will impart strength to a Turkish towel and hold the loops securely.

Ladak Alfalfa Ladak alfalfa was imported through the efforts of the U. S. department of agriculture from northern India in 1910.

Cattle's Appetite Fattening cattle can be expected to eat the equivalent of two and a half to three percent of their body weight as a day's feed.

Frozen Foods Frozen foods should be kept frozen hard until time to use—refreezing after they have been thawed lowers quality.

Log Sawing Record A French woodsman in Quebec recently established a world's record by sawing through a 10-inch peeled spruce log in 7.2 seconds.

Chipped Dishes When damaged dishes and utensils are used, they are likely to leave chips in the food, and it is almost impossible to get them thoroughly clean and sanitary.

SHORT STORY

He Spoke His Piece

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

WITHOUT REALIZING it Armine had been watching the young man with the black hair and blue eyes. She admitted to herself that he was good looking. Also, he wore his evening clothes with just the right degree of casualness; his face was pleasant and guileless. Dangerous, she thought. The type of man who couldn't be trusted. Deceptive. Like Loring Brookes. Mere thought of Loring gave her a funny little pang.

3 Minute Fiction

And then the young man with the blue eyes and black hair started toward her. He weaved his way in among the dancers and tapped Seaver Clark on the shoulder. "Mind if I cut in?" he asked. "Hope you don't mind? Believe me it took courage." "Did it?" said Armine coldly. "Am I to feel flattered?" He grinned broadly. "Sorry, I'll quit if you say so." "And leave me stranded in the middle of the floor?" "Well, then, when the music stops." But when the music stopped they weren't on the floor at all. They were out on the terrace, looking up at the moon, and Armine was saying, "I do wish you'd take me back. I'm cold."

"You can't be cold. It's a warm night. Besides, if you start to go back alone I'll grab your arm. And that will make a scene." She looked at him angrily, but he only grinned. "I've half a mind to do it. It might teach you a lesson." "It probably would," he admitted. "But please don't. You see, I've been watching you all evening and planning this campaign—bringing you out here, I mean." "The ideal!" Armine tossed her head. "Well, you can bring me right back again."

"Not until I say what I have to say." "Indeed! And what makes you think I'm interested in what you have to say?"

SUDDENLY HE sobered. "That's the trouble with you — you're never willing to give a fellow a chance. You take him at his face value and let it go at that. It's not fair." "What! Certainly you can't be serious. If this is some sort of joke, it's a poor one. Please take me back!"

"Oh, Loring, what a stupid little fool I've been!"

I came on east, bringing my brother along with me. He got well. He broke off. She was staring at him in amazement. He gestured helplessly. "I tried to look you up, but you'd gone south for the winter. And then in the spring the university sent me up to Canada to do some research work. I got back a week ago, learned you were in town and came here tonight, hoping to see you. I..." He leaned forward and grasped her shoulders, said fiercely. "I love you, have always loved you. You haven't been out of my thoughts for a minute. You've got to believe that. I thought at first you did... when you didn't object to coming out here with me." He turned away, got half-way to the door when she called. "Loring!" He swung back, and she came up to him. "Was... Robert Brookes... your brother?" "Yes. How did you know?" "I didn't know. But I read about him in the papers. And I read about the crash of the plane, too... Oh, Loring, what a stupid little fool I've been!"

She was in his arms, sobbing hysterically. Loring held her tight; presently tilted her chin and kissed her mouth. "Darling! I... I hate to think of what might have happened if you had objected to coming out on the terrace." "Objected? Why, my precious... if... if you hadn't brought me out I would have died!"

"Tin Road" The famous tin road led from Cornwall to the shore where tin was carried by ships to Denmark. The tin road then followed the amber roads to the Mediterranean area.

Mr. and Mrs. Bussell started their trip home early Saturday morning, but due to icy roads did not get here until late that evening. Mr. Bussell attended the John Benesch hog sale Friday afternoon. This was held at Schuyler.

Cellulose From Short Lint Approximately 50,000 bales of short staple cotton are expected to be consumed annually as a source of cellulose. The possibility of utilizing ordinary short staple cotton for this purpose was originated as a wartime project. Under War Production board auspices, a lint cutter was developed to slice regular short staple fine enough to use as a substitute for cotton linters.

Livestock Livestock of all classes should receive green feed regularly because it helps them build resistance to disease.

Multiple Birthrate The chances that a forthcoming blessed event will produce twins are one in 92. Triplets are born once in 9,400 confinements, and quadruplets once in 620,000 confinements. The likelihood of quintuplets is extremely remote and that they will live even more so. Only two authenticated cases in medical history of "quints" surviving infancy are the Dionnes of Canada and the Diligents of Argentina.

Scintillating "Ice Capades of 1951" at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum, Omaha, April 5-11

Donna Atwood... lovely star of "Ice Capades of 1951"

John Harris, producer and owner of "Ice Capades of 1951," has again scored with another "first." The man who first put Walt Disney's lovable characters on ice (Ice Capades of 1949 and Ice Capades of 1950) now has brought to the ice Sigmond Romberg's "Student Prince," the most popular of all operettas. "Ice Capades of 1951" will appear at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum in Omaha starting April 5th and continuing for seven days through April 11th. Performances will be given each evening at 8:30 with matinees at 2:15 Saturday, April 7th, and Sunday, April 8th.

"Student Prince" has a cast of 100, a choral group of 50 and the finest solo voices selected from motion pictures, radio and television. The scenery and effects are the biggest forward step in ice show production. There is only one change in the story. "Ice Capades of 1951" has given it a happy ending.

"Student Prince" is only one of the nine great production numbers. Among the others are "East Indian Fantasy," a completely different ballet which has out-of-this-world costumes with modern, rhythmic music to match; "Basin Street Blues" with red-hot stepping and hotter-than-hot vocal accompaniment; "Kittens on the Blades," a precision number by the Ice Capets with unusual "kitten" costumes; "Raggedy Rhythm," with clever masks and costumes built to portray Raggedy Ann, Raggedy Andy, the Bary Doll and others, and winds up with a wedding of the dolls; "Lights and Shadows," the most lighted number ever presented, with more than 4,000 mirrors on each of 20 big hoop skirts not counting thousands more in head-pieces and bodices.

"Old Smoothies" to Return Returning with "Ice Capades of 1951"

1951" are the old favorites, lovely Donna Atwood, sensational Bobby Specht, Alan Konrad, Don Bearson, Patti Phillippi, Mary Lou Landreville, Ruby and Bobby Maxson, Gil and Tuffy McKellen, and those universal favorites and internationally famous "Old Smoothies." In addition, new stars have been added including Estelle Newcomer, Kenny Mullen and Ed Ralche, Jane Broadhurst, and the one and only Trilxie, world's greatest feulaine juggler.

Frollesome Bernie Lyman and Larry Jackson furnish uproarious comedy as two wacky fire-fighters, and Esco LaRue, the non-skating screwball of "Ice Capades," is back with more hilarity than ever before.

Each year it seems "Ice Capades" is the tops for all time but each year something new is added that makes it better than ever and this eleventh edition, "Ice Capades of 1951," surpasses anything yet produced. "Ice Capades of 1951" has everything... stupendous production, dazzling lighting, beautiful music, gorgeous costumes and a galaxy of skating stars. It is a show you cannot afford to miss.

Early Orders by Mail Urged Prices are: Rinkside and box seats, $3.00; Reserved seats, $2.40 and $1.20. All prices include tax.

Tickets may be ordered by mail now and it is urged that requests be placed early, as last year many were disappointed. Address orders to Omaha Coliseum Corporation, Box 5, Elmwood Station, Omaha, Neb., and enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and check or money order payable to Omaha Coliseum Corporation. Be sure to state clearly the number and price of tickets wanted and the date of performance desired. It is advisable that a first and second choice of performances be given.

Adolph Kokes Prizes Orchard on Mystery Farm Pictured in Last Week's Quiz; Has Lived on the Place 37 Years

The Kokes farm is 16 and a half miles west of Ord, and is known as one of the better places of the community. It comprises 210 acres, including 82 acres of pasture and 20 acres of alfalfa.

Like most farmers of the county, Mr. Kokes is a strong believer in crop rotation, and regularly rotates his cultivated ground between corn, wheat, oats and alfalfa.

Mr. Kokes isn't doing as much manual labor on the farm as he used to do. "Got to slow down a little at my age," he told the Quiz. His son Eldon, who farms in his own right 9 miles west of Ord, will farm some of his dad's land this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Kokes—Mrs. Kokes is the former Minnie Janesowsky, have five children, three of whom live in Ord. Their eldest son, Eldon farms, Leonard is a high school vocational agriculture teacher in Benkelman, Nebr., Robert is a telegraph operator in Fort Morgan, Colo., Darlene is a senior in Ord high school, and Ben is at home. Mr. Kokes recalls that his father, John Kokes, bought the farm in 1899. He paid $1481 for the bare quarter, and Adolph bought the adjoining 80 in 1946 for $2000.

What About Swine Enteritis?

Q: What causes swine enteritis?
A: The word "enteritis" means an inflamed intestine. There are several types of enteritis; some contagious, others not.

Q: Which types are more serious?
A: "Necro" or "Necro" swine dysentery, and infectious gastroenteritis of baby pigs generally cause heaviest losses.

Q: What do they look like?
A: Necro spreads slowly, with gradual loss in weight, scouring, failure to gain. Swine dysentery is a fast killing, high fever sickness with bloody scouring. Baby pig enteritis is characterized by heavy losses, vomiting, scouring.

Q: How can such losses be prevented?
A: First, be sure breeding stock is free of "carrier" animals. Never allow newly-purchased swine to mix with the home herd. If pigs and shoats show signs of weight loss or scouring, get a veterinarian's diagnosis immediately. Clean up filthy yards, old hog wallows where enteritis germs thrive.

Q: What other precaution can be taken?
A: Ear mark each litter and sow. If trouble shows up in the pigs, infected sows can be isolated.

Q: If enteritis starts, how can losses be stopped?
A: Treatment depends on identifying which type of enteritis is causing the trouble. So the best step is to obtain an accurate diagnosis the moment trouble appears.

POINTERS ON SWINE ERYSIPELAS CONTROL

Swine erysipelas is one of the toughest foes with which the hog raiser has to deal.

Until a few years ago, the disease was limited to a fairly restricted area. Now, veterinarians say, outbreaks are occurring all over the country. No locality can consider itself outside the potential danger zone.

One of the worst features of swine erysipelas is that it is easily confused with other diseases. For example, even a skilled veterinarian may have to resort to a laboratory examination to distinguish it from hog cholera.

Generally speaking, a farmer should suspect erysipelas if any of the following symptoms show up: Lameness, arched backs, discoloration of the skin, enlarged joints, high fever, great loss of weight, sloughing of skin patches.

Even after an outbreak occurs, many animals can be saved if protective steps are taken early enough. Special serums help pull many hogs through danger, and others can be protected through vaccination.

However, the vaccine is potentially dangerous, and most states require that it can be given only by a veterinarian.

To further complicate the problem, erysipelas germs have been found responsible for disease losses in turkeys and lambs, as well as a painful human skin affliction. Thus, farmers are urged to wear gloves while handling hogs suspected of having erysipelas.

A final dangerous aspect of the disease is that the germs may contaminate hog lot for a long time. They sometimes live for several years in the soil.

Insecticides
Keep insecticides containing chlordane or toxaphene off the skin and away from the eyes and nose.

Coccidiosis
Use of sanitary feeders and waterers helps to protect chickens against coccidiosis.

Grain
The grain market has shown some weakness the past couple of weeks and the movement has slowed up some. As this is written we have very little bin room and can take a small amount of Wheat, Corn, or Oats. Don't bring it in without getting in touch with us to see if the room is still available. Wet grain takes a very heavy discount and we feel that any corn that is out unprotected had better be left on the farm for the present rather than to be marketed.

Seed, Grains
Some of our seed oats have arrived and the balance will arrive in a couple of weeks. We will have Nemaha, Cherokee and Clinton Oats in both Certified and Non-Certified. You should place your order now so that we can better plan how large a stock of seed grain that we should have on hand. We will have Western Nebraska Spartan Barley that is not certified. All of this grain is recleaned, tested and in bags. None of it will be bin run but all will be selected grain. In the past whenever we have had a customer use this Western Seed Barley they have received about 30% increased yield and very good quality grain.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover
Alfalfa seed is becoming scarcer all the time and with the very liberal payment for sowing alfalfa this year we will surely have to ship in alfalfa seed in order to take care of our spring planting, so if you have not ordered your alfalfa seed, really you should locate it soon. On Sweet Clover seed, you can plant it very cheaply this year as the seed is $9 per cwt. cheaper than last year and with the seed as cheap as it is this year it might be a very good investment to sow clover with all of your small grain. We have secured a small amount of Ranger alfalfa seed this year and those of you that have been wanting to try some of this seed this is your opportunity.

Carrots for Salad

Kitchen Acids
Lemons, vinegar and other kitchen acids will not stain or discolor stainless steel cutlery.

1950 Census
Farmers were asked in the 1950 census to report the number of livestock they had and the amount of livestock products sold in 1949.

Mrs. Earl Hughes was hostess to nine members and one visitor last Thursday afternoon at her home. Mrs. Raymond Grotzinger gave the lesson on "Selection and Care of Bedding." Mrs. Ed Studnicka was taken in as a new member.

Happy Hour Meets.

The Happy Hour Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elsie Sautter, with Mrs. Harry Hermesmeier as hostess. Nineteen members and one visitor were present. Mesdames Murl Vance and Warren Johnson gave the lesson on "One Dish Meals." The next meeting will be held April 11, with Mrs. Melvin Winters as hostess.

Neighborly Neighbors.

Mrs. George Barnes was hostess at a perfect attendance of the Neighborly Neighbors at her home last Thursday afternoon. "Secret Sisters" were disclosed for the past years and new names drawn for the ensuing year. This club has attained a very high standard and has had a great deal of satisfaction and happiness in doing something for others. Two weeks ago they sent a box of quilt pieces to the State hospital at Kearney. Friday of last week they made up a 14 lb box of buttons, embroidery floss and pieces of cloth and sent it to the same place. A thirty dozen case of eggs was shipped to the Children's Home at Omaha to arrive there in time for the children's Easter gift from their club. This club's membership is 14 and all are farm women.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hughes were hostess to several couples Sunday night. Pinocle was played. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. F. VanSike, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rubenthaler, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. L. Yax, Mr. and Mrs. M. Vance and Mr. and Mrs. L. Peterson.

Pvt. Wm. Earnest of Camp Carson was in Scotia Saturday visiting with Pfc. Melvin Shultz of the same camp. Both of these young men are home until the first of the month when they will receive further orders. Earnest is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Earnest sr., at North Loup, and Shultz is at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sternberg in Scotia.

Ernie Ondracek of Greeley was a business visitor in Scotia, Monday.

Rites Held for Dick Bredthauer

Funeral services were held at the Zion Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon for Albert (Dick) Bredthauer, 60, whose death came as a shock early Sunday, March 11, at his home in Scotia. Rev. A. H. Wagner, pastor of the church, conducted the services. Richard Babcock sang "In My Father's House are Many Mansions," accompanied by Mrs. M. G. Williams and Mrs. Clarence Sixel and Mrs. Williams sang "Be Still My Soul," accompanied by Mrs. Roy F. Linger.

The local American Legion conducted rituals at the Scotia cemetery. Members of the firing squad were Elton Jess, Melvin Reed, Alonzo Lawrence, Harrison Beck, Roy Gilliam, Kenneth Keown, Paul Schmidt and Robert Lange with Lou Sautter, commander of the squad. Iradell Babcock and Evan McBeth were the color guard and Jacob Lehn and Frank Beede were color bearers. Darrell Vance sounded taps. Commander Russell Jensen and James Bryson presented the flag to Mrs. Bredthauer. Pallbearers were members of the Legion, James Bryson, Clyde Keown, Harry Selk, Chris Holt, Chester Kriebes and George Jensen.

Ashley Mortuary was in charge of the funeral arrangements. Many relatives and friends were here from Grand Island, Wood River, Elkhorn, Beaver City, Kearney, Lincoln, Ute, Spalding, Burwell, Aird, St. Paul, Greeley and North Loup. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bredthauer of Pasadena, Calif., Arnold Horton of Wichita, Kans., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bredthauer of Rock Springs, Wyo., Wilmer Bredthauer of Lusk, Wyo., and Mr. and Mrs. John Sommers of Denver, Colo.

Obituary

Albert C. Bredthauer, the son of William and Dortha Bredthauer, was born on a farm seven miles west of Ord on Feb. 13, 1891.

In early infancy he was baptized into the Christian faith, and later affiliated with the Zion Lutheran church in Scotia through rites of confirmation. He remained an active member of this congregation.

As a young man he moved with his parents to a farm south of Scotia, where he lived until 1909, when he joined his brother, Henry, and his sister, Mrs. P. J. Seefus, in operating a general store in Scotia. He entered the First World War and saw overseas duty. He received his honorable discharge in June, 1919. He was a member of American Legion Post No. 150 of Scotia.

On Sept. 6, 1920 he was united in marriage to Miss Gertrude Horton, who passed away on Aug. 25, 1931.

In 1933, the business partnership with his brother and sister was dissolved. Albert took over the department store, which he owned and operated very successfully until the present time. This store has become known as one of the leading business places, not only in Scotia, but throughout the Loup Valley territory.

On Jan. 3, 1933, Mr. Bredthauer was united in marriage to Miss Ruby Horton, who remains to mourn his loss.

Mr. Bredthauer will be remembered as the ardent supporter of worthwhile enterprises. He was interested in the promotion of better roads and irrigation, and the development of oil drilling operations for the Loup Valley region. He was actively concerned with the welfare of his family, his friends, his church and his community.

He was preceded in death by his father in 1914, his mother in 1926, a sister, Mrs. Lena Sommers in 1939, his wife Gertrude, in 1931, by his brother, David in 1944, and his brother, Henry, in 1948.

Remaining to mourn his passing are his wife, his sister, Mrs. P. J. Seefus of Scotia; three brothers, Herman and William of Scotia and Ed of Pasadena, Calif.; many other relatives and numerous friends and business acquaintances.

Mrs. Carl Young, former Scotia resident but now of near Ord, has entered the Clarkson hospital at Omaha for further treatment. It was thought that would hasten the healing of her disease. She is in Room 107.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Waterman and Carl Young of Ord were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reck.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Seefus and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bredthauer took Mr. and Mrs. Bredthauer to Grand Island last Friday night. They rode the streamliner from there to their home at Pasadena, Calif. They had been called here because of the death of Dick Bredthauer.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Penney and family came Tuesday night from their home at Ute to attend the Bredthauer funeral. They were house guests of Mrs. Penney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bredthauer.

Mrs. Esther Bilhorn and Mary Ann accompanied them home and from there went to Stromberg to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dan Evans.

Joann Sautter came from her work in Grand Island Thursday and remained with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sautter until Sunday when she returned to begin new employment as clerk at Bill's Trading Post. Alberta Sautter came up Saturday and returned with her sister. She has employment at the glove factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Barth and family drove to Dannebrog Sunday night to attend a birthday party for Mrs. Emmett Quaring.

Mrs. Sam Drawbridge underwent minor surgery at the Ord hospital, Saturday morning. She was able to return to her home Monday.

Mrs. Elva Priestly left Saturday morning for her home at Oakland, Calif., after spending a few weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Williams. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sommers of Lincoln were Wednesday callers. Mrs. Merritt King and son Roger came to Scotia Friday and will stay a week. Mrs. Williams is confined to her bed most of the time but is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Selk left Thursday for Powell, Wyo., to visit their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook. Mary Gay and Billy, children of the Cooks accompanied their grandparents to their home. The children had been here since Christmas when their parents moved to Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Hatch and Barbara are visiting at the Frank Miller home. They came Friday to see Mrs. Hatch's father, Frank Miller who suffered a heart attack last Monday. He is still confined to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sautter and Susan left Monday afternoon for their home at McCook after spending several days at the Harry Selk home, caring for Russell's mother, Mrs. Emma Sautter during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Selk.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fuss were, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stein of Kansas City, Mo.; Miss Judith Koester of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stein, Mrs. Mary Bredthauer of Grand Island, Mrs. Lores Hornickel, Mrs. Rose Fuss and Dean of North Loup. Lores Hornickel was an evening caller. Louis Stein is a brother of Mrs. Fuss. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stein are her parents.

Stub McBeth was surprised Friday night when a group of friends came to remind him that his birthday was at hand. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gydesen, Mr. and Mrs. Al Sautter and Mr. and Mrs. James Jensen all brought lunch. The evening was spent playing cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis VanSike spent Wednesday in Grand Island, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hockett of Miles City, Mont. They are an uncle and aunt of Mrs. VanSike. They planned to visit Mrs. VanSike's mother, Mrs. Etta McCurry in Kearney and relatives in Litchfield before returning to their home.

Dick Farrell is vacationing in California. He is visiting a son, Harry at Vallejo, and relatives at Redding.

Callers at the Harold Goldfish home the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Voorhes on Wednesday night. Thursday night guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hermesmeier and Larry. They were celebrating the 6th wedding anniversary of the Goldfishs. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Goldfish spent Friday night at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Hyde accompanied by Mesdames Earl Buffington, Nick Wetzel and Lester Sample went to Omaha last Tuesday where they consulted an eye specialist in Mrs. Wetzel's interest. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Foster and Ronnie of Ericson were Monday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Buffington.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beck returned to North Bend Sunday after visiting their father, Dutch Beck for a few days.

Jack Bussell of Lincoln spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bussell. The snow accompanied by a high wind made some of the east and west roads impassable, Sunday. In order to run the school buses Monday, the snow plows worked Sunday afternoon and most of the night clearing the roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Pottis were hosts to the Riverside Pinocle club, Friday night at their home. Dale Pottis and Donnie Simpson substituted for the absent couple. Prizes went to Mrs. Harry Spencer, Greeley Gebhardt, Mrs. Chas. Spencer, Otto Gebhardt. Traveling prizes were awarded to Wm. Donscheski.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Winters entertained several couples at Pinocle Friday night. Four tables were set. Winning prizes were Mrs. Lloyd Peterson and Jack Hansen with high scores. Mrs. Elmer Kirk and Sidney Allison received low.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson and two boys are all in bed with the mumps. Floyd has been quite ill and a doctor had to be called. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson of North Loup are staying with them.

The More Abundant Life.

Some eighteen years ago everybody was talking about the "more abundant life." That is the type of life we have been having for the past eight years, and the government is trying in every possible way to keep the ball rolling for another eight years, if possible. In order to do this millions in tax money is being spent in an effort to keep affairs on an even keel and stave off for a time the inevitable depression.

The fact is, we are actually in a depression today, with the dollar laying about one third what it did ten years ago. It is true we did not have so many dollars then, but we had enough to buy the things we needed to live, and without nearly so much wear and tear on our pocketbooks. The silver dollars were taken out of circulation in the 1930s.

Ten years later the reason for doing so became evident. Today a weak man would find it difficult to carry silver dollars to buy the needs for the day. In the thirties we had a depression of prices and today we have a depression in the value of the dollar. What we need today is a condition where there is a fair balance between the dollar and the goods it will buy.

We have the "more abundant life." In fact, we have a number of items in greater abundance than at any time in our history. First among these we might mention taxes. Taxes were high enough twenty years ago, but they have reached astronomical proportions today. Because of the devalued dollar, we have higher taxes today than at any time in history, and we also have a greater variety of taxes than the nation ever knew before.

It is hardly necessary to mention the fact that we have a greater abundance of government bureaus and government controls than we ever had before. These controls are neither good nor necessary in a democratic form of government. It is an axiom that the best governed people are those least governed.

Among other items we could get along very well without is the abundance of communists, especially those in high places, both in various organizations and in the government. They have been given abundant opportunity to develop, and they are becoming dangerous. This is one form of abundance that we don't need, and which has no place in our American way of life.

The proposition of subsidies to about every phase of life in America has grown to such an extent that it is threatening to turn our country into a socialist government. In the early days of the nation there were no subsidies, no support prices, and none of the governmental controls that always go with these conditions. Control of their own affairs belongs to the people, and should be given back to them.

We have an abundance of money and the things that money will buy, but it takes an abundance of cash to buy the necessities of life and to many the luxuries are just as far beyond their reach as they were in the old days before inflation. We have far too many politicians in America. We have too much politics in the state and not enough statesmanship in politics.

As always, politics makes strange bedfellows, and the politicians are now sleeping a dozen in a bed. If we must have so many politicians, an abundance of beds should be in order. Many groups are going in as many different directions but there are a lot of fellow travelers who should be made to get off and walk.

While it has not yet occurred to the leadership of the nation, the time is ripe to get back to a solid footing, to the time when a dollar will again be worth one hundred cents and not forty cents as it is today. There are still a few honest men in the nation. It is time we gave them a chance to run the nation's business.

The World's Breadbasket.

The figures for 1950 are not immediately available as this is written, but those for 1949 show the American farmer produced three and one third billion bushels of corn, one and one seventh billion bushels of wheat, one and one third billion bushels of oats, a quarter of a billion bushels of barley and eighteen million bushels of buckwheat. The southern states produced ninety million bushels of cotton.

It would take, and probably does, about six million bins with a capacity of one thousand bushels each to hold this abundance of food. The American farmer is doing nobly, and he needs to produce, for he literally has to feed the world. Not one of the nations of Europe is able to produce all of these food commodities in quantity sufficient for their own use.

In this respect America holds a unique place among the great nations. With the exception of a very few items, we are able to produce within our own boundaries all that the people need in the way of food, clothing and the many necessities for plentiful living. Moreover, we are doing just about that. Necessity during the recent world war made us the biggest producers of synthetic rubber in the world.

We cannot produce our own coffee, at least in sufficient quantity, but we can obtain much of this staple item from Mexico in case of emergency. Our greatest need is certain spices from tropical countries, and experience has shown that we can get along without these if the need arises. Being self-sufficient makes the people of America the most independent on the face of the earth.

Production is the watchword in America. Our farmers can produce more food per person than any farmers anywhere. Our laboring men, with the aid of our modern machinery, can distance the man-production of any other nation. Our railroads and trucks can deliver more goods in less time than the transportation system of any other nation. Our miners are the fastest men on earth in their line.

The word, "breadbasket," is used in the broadest sense, and applies to all forms of human endeavor. In athletics, in motion pictures, in scholastic attainment, in a hundred other lines of work, the people of America are far ahead of the field. The reason we won the recent world war was because of our ability to produce the material of war so much faster than those against whom we were fighting.

The safety of our nation depends upon the ability and willingness of the average American to produce, and he produces because he is given greater privileges than the citizens of any other country. He appreciates the advantages he enjoys, and puts his shoulder to the wheel when the emergency arises.

All classes of our society are interdependent. The farmer not only feeds the world, but he creates a market for the finest farm machinery in the world. He could not produce without the work of the laboring man, who in turn, could not produce the machines without the work of the men in the mines. All these classes are dependent upon transportation. We have the greatest nation on earth. Let us keep it that way.

Something Different

Reminiscing, Mrs. A. L. Hill, the former Hazel Travis, got to talking about a club for young ladies to which she once belonged. They called themselves The Pollyannas. . . remember what a popular meaning that name had?

Said Hazel's mother to her one day, "Why don't you girls do something really worthwhile? Why don't you undertake a good project, in place of just sewing a little lace on handkerchiefs, or doing some little thing like that?"

"Well, what could we girls do?" Hazel asked. And she put the suggestion of her mother before the other young women, who considered it seriously.

This was in the days when Company I of John Ward fame was flourishing. The girls decided they could not do better than to wait on these patriotic young men, and selected a pie social as the special method of helping the boys.

So they solicited pies throughout the town and countryside, and needless to say, the good cooks of this region responded generously. "There must have been at least 75 pies contributed, as I recall," declares Hazel. "I remember the county judge offered us his office to serve them in. As he went to all the work of moving his books off the shelves, so there would be plenty of room to line up all those pies."

"My, but there were lots of handsome pies. Every kind you can imagine, all lined up and cut, ready for those hungry men. "The men were delighted. They came in there, and one fellow, I don't remember who, perched on the corner of a long table while he ate his pie.

"Next thing you know the table tipped up on one end and pie flew everywhere! Oh, WHAT a mess!"

Friends are pondering the matter, but have about decided that Mrs. Alan Strong is a superwoman.

"Did you see her in church, a week ago Sunday? Well, there she was, as calm and collected as a cucumber, listening to her Presbyterian husband preach. Did you notice her seeming upset or impatient? I didn't."

"Well, do you know she served just a wonderful Sunday dinner to 14 adults and 16 children, immediately following that church service? How did she do it? It wasn't a cold dinner, either, it was complete with all the trimmings! I know because I was there!" said my informant.

These are the days that make seed and flower catalogs irresistible — the days of the last snows. It is so hard to wait for spring and summer activities.

In our family, we mentally oil up the fishing reels and start digging bait.

Over the air last week I heard them tell of the open season beginning in Iowa for "nesting fish!"

Yep — that's when she swishes around in the sand, and lays her eggs.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Had quite a talk with a man the other day, a man whose business is such that he makes a deep study of economics. He told me that business today would be in a serious state if it were not for the alarm of preparedness and the work it is making. He said that the amount of unemployment would be alarming right now if it were not for the thousands who have been added to various pay-rolls all over the country to produce the essentials for war. He made the statement that, if a depression were to be prevented in the near future, some such artificial boost would have to be given business whenever needed, and that the moment such a boost were not forthcoming, the inevitable depression would be here. This means that we will be living under the constant threat of the depression that is now long overdue.

Why, in Heaven's name, do we not have the depression and get it over with? The answer is simple. The party in power is determined to remain in power as long as possible, and a depression would inevitably bring a change in administration.

The history of our nation has shown that any party, left in power too long, becomes corrupt, and the fair deal party is no exception. There is only one answer to the present problem, and that is a change in administration in 1952. I would say the same thing, regardless of what party was in power. In fact, I said the same thing in 1932, and got cussed plenty for it. In the light of what followed, perhaps I had the cussing coming. Hoover could do nothing when the Democratic Congress would not back him up, and he got the blame for the whole deal. In 1932 a president was elected, and a congress which was supposed to be favorable to him. Yet he fought with Congress all his life, and remodeled the Supreme court to his own specifications. His successor can't get along with Congress any better than Roosevelt did. It is about time we had a change.

Last fall I built two sides of a pigeon hutch in the back yard, and was at once accused of planning to raise pigs in town, when, as a matter of fact, all I had in mind was putting up a snow fence to help the snow drift in the garden instead of piling up close to the back door, where it would have to be shoveled. The weeks went by and we hardly had enough snow to track a rabbit all through the winter months, and what snow did come failed completely to test the accuracy of my locating the snow fence. Finally came the March snow, which wasn't so much, but the wind that came with it was plenty strong and made maximum drifts out of a minimum of snow, some of them being as much as two feet deep.

It drifted deep enough in the road west of the house that an occasional auto got stuck there, mainly because they had to stop right in the drift to obey the mandate of the stop sign. I was certain that there would be some snow on the strawberry patch, so, when I got home (I was away during the storm) I rushed right out to see what had happened. Well, the snow drifted all right, but the drifts were on the north side of the fence, right in the roadway to the garage. I haven't figured out yet just what happened, but I still think my idea was good and might work in a bigger storm. I don't care to have one, though, just to prove that I was right.

You do not have to agree with me, but I am going to say what I think about the huge churches, cathedrals, tabernacles and similar buildings that are so common a sight in all the big cities. They are beautiful, and they represent the best in buildings that the various faiths have been able to produce. There is just one thing wrong about them. They were ostensibly erected for the glory of God. The fact is that they are a monument to the sacrifice of man. The woods, the trees, were God's first temples, and all the buildings that man has made have not improved upon them. If you want to find God, go look for Him under the trees.

For example, the first settlers in the North Loup Valley held their first meeting under some trees along the North Loup river, about two miles east of the present town of North Loup. They held their organization meeting in Doc Badger's dugout less than a mile west of North Loup. Those meetings were simple in the extreme, with a rocking chair for a pulpit and the crudest of seats for pews. On the Seventh Day Baptist church of North Loup is one of the finest structures in Central Nebraska. Its people are among the finest in the entire nation. But I venture to say that they would be the first to agree that they are no nearer God than were those first settlers of nearly eighty years ago.

I wonder if the Maker of all things is really pleased when he sees the huge buildings that are built by man in which to worship Him and His Son, the Son who was born in a manger and died on the cross, who had no place to lay His head. He, who made the supreme sacrifice for others, I wonder how He feels about the countless magnificent buildings erected at so much sacrifice by so many men at a cost they could ill afford. In fancy I can hear Him say, as He once said of old: "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these, My brethren ye have done it unto Me." After all, it is not the size or magnificence of the church that counts, but the spirit of Christ in the church.

No, the above is not a sermon, and I am not a minister. I am just an average man with less religion than I should have, and without the nerve to be a big crook. Like all the rest of you, I am content to be able to live within the letter of the law and leave the spirit of the law to those who think they can live up to it. Luckily the Lord came to seek and save sinners, and I have never seen a man yet that didn't come under that category. Now, church is out!

There ought to be a law! As I said last week, Old Man Canasta invented a game for his own amusement, and then, instead of keeping it going as a new kind of solitaire, he had to put it on the market, and everybody is crazy about it. What I mean is, everybody that plays the game is crazy. It is that kind of a game. I have played it, much to my regret. If I kept playing it long enough I would land in the nut house, where every canasta player belongs. I have played in some games and watched in some others, and I have never seen a game played yet in which some player, or all the players, didn't get fighting mad. My advice to would-be canasta players is: "Don't play canasta." If you must fight, join the armed forces. The fact is, you would probably enjoy it more than you would canasta, anyway.

The reason they put certain people in a padded cell is to keep them from butting their brains out, if they had any. But a canasta player is perfectly safe in that respect. All he needs is a pillow on his chair to protect his mentality. They tell me that the game came from South America where the hot-headed Latins live. All I can say is that it is no game for hot heads, or hop heads or hard heads. Soft shelled members of society might manage a game now and then. What I am trying to put over is that the unicameral is missing the boat in not enacting a law to make such homicide as canasta illegal in Nebraska. If they don't do something about it, Congress ought to have a fling at it and fling it back to the country from which it came.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A" 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

Both Ford V-8 and SIX Deliver more than 25.9 miles per gallon

Grueling 840-mile test proves Ford Economy

Again this year... it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars... the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run... A Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.87 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon — a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why hot "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-miles per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

FORD V-8 with Overdrive DOES 54.87 TON-MILES PER GALLON*

The voluntary American way of contributing to worthy causes is a source of exasperating bewilderment to the working communist. We give of our time and money to support the character-building and welfare agencies of community chests, the Red Cross and many other health and youth movements. In this period of crisis we must demonstrate this American way even more vigorously than ever before.

School News

The names of the top students of the senior class enrolled in the Comstock high school who will take the University of Nebraska Regents examination March 17 was announced by Supt. P. L. Christensen.

Johnny Gibbons and Evelyn Visek have earned the honor of taking the written examination which will determine which students in Nebraska will receive University of Nebraska scholarships. The choosing of these students of the Comstock Public School is based on scholastic work during the seven semesters of their schooling and also the number of activities they participated in during their four years of high school.

The examinations are sent to the University of Nebraska where they are graded. Notification of scores made on the tests and the scholarships issued will be sent to the local school head the latter part of April.

Many students enrolled in the Comstock Public High School have turned their interests to dramatics. Gladys Christensen has many students preparing for the District Declamatory Contest which will be held March 28 at Ansley. Students taking dramatic training and the numbers they will present: Dramatic Reading, Shirley Griebel; Humorous Reading, Marilyn Kirkpatrick; Radio News-casting, Dyle Buckbee; Poetry Reading, Bryce Bartu and One Act Play with the characters, Danny Marsh, Dyle Buckbee, Jerry Kocourek and Bryce Bartu. Comstock was one of the top schools that won a "Superior Rating" on their One Act Play last year. Over 20 schools participate in the District Declamatory Contest.

The senior students are preparing their play "Good Gracious Grandma" under the direction of P. L. Christensen, which will be given in the near future. Seniors taking dramatic training are, Lois Aubert, Johnny Gibbons, Pearl Dockhorn, Gerald Griebel, Roberta Dowse, Milo Dockhorn, Bernard Kamrad, Richard Gawrick and Evelyn Visek.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall and Lana were Friday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Wells and Gary. Gary returned home with his aunt and uncle and was an overnight guest at the Hall home.

Mr. and Mrs. Malon Granger and Mrs. F. A. Lewin were in Broken Bow Thursday. They met Mr. Lewin, who arrived from Lincoln where he had been consulting doctors. Mr. Lewin was a guest at the home of his niece, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Liebers while in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gaugler of Gannett, Mont., announce the birth of a daughter Saturday, March 16. Mrs. Gaugler is a daughter of Mrs. Flora Stone of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Emry and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sorensen attended the District Rural Mail Carriers meeting held in Loup City Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Welte, Joey and Carla Marie of Ansley and Mrs. George Fretz were in Dunning Tuesday where they visited at the home of Mrs. Fretz's sister, Mrs. Grace McClement and her niece, Mrs. Myrtle Duryea.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dowse of Mason City and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Dowse of Arcadia visited at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dowse, sr. Sunday. Mr. Dowse remains quite ill and is confined to his bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Shepperd are the proud parents of a 9 pound baby boy, born March 16, at the Ash home at Sargent.

Twenty-five men that teach in the Custer county schools met in Broken Bow last Wednesday to discuss ways and means of sponsoring the Custer county music festival and the track meet. Supt. P. L. Christensen and Coach Wilford E. Rosenfelt represented the Comstock public schools. At the meeting it was decided to hold the music festival in Ansley on April 4 and the Custer county track meet will be held at Broken Bow on May 2.

The music department of the Comstock public schools is busy preparing for the Loup Valley music festival which is being held at Arcadia, April 27. Miss Norma Lane, local vocal instructor has prepared the following numbers to represent the Comstock school: Girls Quartet: Phyllis Fisher, Roberta Dowse, Shirley Petet and Marilyn Kirkpatrick; Boys Sextet: Johnny Gibbons, Jerry Kocourek, Doyle Dowse, David Erikson, Richard Gawrick and Bryce Bartu; Duet: Johnny Gibbons and Roberta Dowse; Girls Trio, Roberta Dowse, Phyllis Fisher and Shirley Petet.

Dr. Glen Auble local band instructor has selected the contest pieces for the forty-two piece band. The Comstock band this year is made up of mostly beginners and preparing a band for a festival is very difficult. It had been hoped that the band members would have their new uniforms for the Loup Valley festival but it appears that it will be impossible to receive them soon enough for this performance.

Mrs. Frank Visek was hostess to the Mizpah club Wednesday March 14. The usual all day meeting was held and a delicious dinner was served. There were sixteen members present and Mrs. Flora Stone was a guest.

The annual kite contest in the intermediate room of the Comstock school, under the supervision of Mrs. Anna Bartu, was held Thursday afternoon with 24 contestants. Much interest and originality in kite construction and design was shown among the kites entered. Donald Janulewicz captured two prizes with his box kite. One prize for best constructed and also the prize for the kite going out the farthest. George Chlewicki's "Polka Dot" kite won for him the prize for the kite going up the highest distance and Jerry Gavrick's very attractive kite made of blue cellophane paper with much fancy trim was awarded the prize for the most decorated kite. Miss Norma Lane and Miss Avis Lee Copp judged the kites.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guggenmos spent the week end in Arcadia with her mother, Mrs. Margaret Sell.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wrightsman and Alan spent the day in Scotia with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hatcher.

Word recently received from Mrs. Joe Jablonski by relatives stated that she and her daughter Genevieve of Phoenix, Ariz. will soon be in Ord. Mrs. Jablonski has been visiting in Phoenix for the past two months and Miss Jablonski is now on a vacation from her technician work at a hospital in Arizona.

Thursday and Friday the Lukes sisters called at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. John Polak and Mr. and Mrs. John Maruska.

Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kasper visited Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Frazer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kroeger drove to Grand Island Saturday where they spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barrett. Sunday they all drove to Lincoln to visit Art Kroeger, who is still in the Lincoln General hospital. His condition is reported as unchanged.

I have had many calls from people who want to testify before the Investigation Committee. Some merely have rumors but there are those who apparently have valuable information as to the deplorable conditions that exist in the liquor wholesale monopoly.

It will take considerable time to sift all of the information and it is hoped that we will be able to justify changes in the administration of the laws.

Admission charges are 35, 20 and 10 cents, with the proceeds to be used to defray the cost of sending the band to the music contest at North Platte.

The band, under the direction of William Nelson, will begin the program with a rousing march, "The Klaxon," by Henry Fillmore. Also in the first section of the concert will be the Finale from Dvorak Symphony, "From the New World."

Penas Named on Conference Team

Paul Penas, who scored 324 for the Ord high school basketball team during the past season, was named to the Trans-Nebraska all-conference team (northern division) at a meeting of coaches and conference officials at Ravenna, Wednesday evening.

Two other Ord players, Gerald Maurice and Dale Falter, received honorable mention for their cage play.

The conference team: Francis, Broken Bow, Freshman; Cole, Ravenna, Senior; Mroczek, Loup City, Senior; Mroczek, Broken Bow, Senior; Panoosch, Loup City, Senior; Penas, Ord, Junior; Furtak, Ravenna, Senior. Honorable mention: Golas, Loup City; Sweet, Burwell; Maurice, Ord; Falter, Ord, and Cortner, Loup City.

Maurice and Falter trailed Penas in scoring this season, but both were important factors in the successful Chanticleer season.

Marriage, Divorce, Rise in County

Valley county is right in step with the rest of the state when it comes to the number of people getting married. Figures just released from the state department of health reveal that during 1950, 64 marriages were performed in the county, a sharp upturn from the 48 marriages in 1949. But in 1948, 72 couples walked up the aisle, more than in either of the last two years.

The statewide figures showed about the same proportions. But divorces have shown an increase in Valley county, while the state as a whole registered a decrease in the number of marriages that ended in divorce. Last year, eight marriages were severed by the courts here, as compared with seven in 1949 and six in 1948.

Garfield county had 22, 23, and 25 marriages in 1948, 1949, and 1950, respectively, while Greeley county had 31 marriages in 1948, 37 in 1949, and 53 last year.

Legion Auxiliary to Give Scholarships

In an effort to stimulate recruits for nurses in Nebraska the American Legion Auxiliary of the department of Nebraska is offering 12 girl scholarships of $200 each to students who are ready to enter nursing training.

Any girl or boy who can reach the qualifications is eligible for the training and they need not be children of veterans.

Fine Violator of New Liquor Law

The first violator of a law passed a short time ago by the Nebraska unicameral legislature, LB-41, was convicted in Valley county court Monday. He was Jack Gideon of Burwell who pleaded guilty to a charge of being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages. The new law provides penalties for minors who are convicted of having liquor in their possession.

Gideon paid a $10 fine and was released. Also in county court, John Wojtaszek paid a $5 fine after pleading guilty to failure to display 1951 license plates on a vehicle.

Mrs. C. E. Mayo Dies Here at Age of Eighty Years

Came to Valley County in 1877 from W. Virginia. Mrs. Charles Mayo, pioneer Valley county resident, died at the Ord Co-operative hospital Sunday after a very brief illness.

She was born Emma Alverda Kidow, September 18, 1870, at Lost Creek, W. Virginia. When seven years old, she came with her family to North Loup where they lived in a sod house on the place now owned by John Guggenmos until their own home was built.

Mrs. Mayo had vivid recollections of childhood experiences—a prairie fire that almost destroyed the community and many other memories of pioneer life.

She attended school in the first school house in the village. On March 11, 1891, she was married to Charles E. Mayo, and to this union were born five children. They are Ava Hughes of Ord, Ruth who has stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Mayo this winter, Lloyd of Portland, Ore., Thelma Malley of North Loup, and Margaret Knepper of Los Angeles who died in January, 1950.

Also surviving are eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary only a few days ago.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. at the Seventh Day Baptist church in North Loup, with the Rev. Francis Saunders officiating.

Mrs. Cloyd Ingerson and Mrs. Francis Saunders sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "The Old Rugged Cross," accompanied by Mrs. Harlan Brennick.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:00 p. m. at the Seventh Day Baptist church in North Loup, with the Rev. Francis Saunders officiating.

Propaganda Russia's Biggest Atom Bomb

"Communist propaganda is Russia's biggest atom bomb," said Nick Jamson, of Grand Island, who was guest speaker at the men's brotherhood Monday evening. Mr. Jamson was born in Turkey, of Greek parents, and left his native land when 14 years of age, but last year in company with his son, visited his native land and the Balkans. Conditions there and the benefits of the Marshall plan were told in his speech, which held the close attention of his audience.

Mr. Jamson thinks United States' worst enemy is communism, which was the downfall of Greece and of many of the other small Balkan countries. He has faith in the United Nations and ability of its leaders to work out the world problems without another World War.

Munn Wins Cage Award at Kemper

Cadet Charles Munn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Munn, Ord, was one of 44 cadets awarded an intramural letter in basketball at Kemper Military School recently. The awards were made by Lt.-Col. John G. Kratoch, athletic director at the school. The letters are presented to the outstanding cage players in each company competing in the inter-company sport.

Munn was on the varsity squad at Kemper this season until an injury suffered in a game took him out of action for several weeks.

Former Ord Resident Dies in Washington

Wednesday Emil Kokes received a telephone call saying that his sister, Mrs. Lenora Ihrig, 42, of Washington, D. C., passed away that morning.

Mrs. Ihrig lived here until about ten years ago. She is survived by her husband and one son, three years old, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kokes and one brother, Emil.

Longhorns Quit Trans-Nebraska Athletic Group

Burwell Takes Action During Ravenna Confab. Burwell high school is no longer a member of the Trans-Nebraska conference. The Longhorns withdrew their membership at the spring meeting of the northern division of the conference at Ravenna, Wednesday evening.

Relations between the Burwell school and Ord, as far as athletics is concerned, have been strained for several years and the schools have not been engaged in any sports competition with each other.

At the Ravenna meeting, Burwell issued an ultimatum through Coach John Hoover. Either, demanded the Longhorns, all conference games between Ord and Burwell which would normally be scheduled were to be scored as wins for Burwell or Burwell would resign from the conference. Under conference rules, each Ord-Burwell game which ordinarily would have been scheduled was counted as one-half win and one-half loss for each school.

The representatives of the conference schools voted not to score the games as victories for Burwell, and the Longhorns withdrew from the conference.

Chamber Hears Suggestions for New Industries

Nearly Thirty Attend Monday Night Meeting. What new industries can we induce to come to Ord? That was the question that came in for most of the discussion at the Monday evening meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber members, meeting at the Masonic hall, learned that several efforts had been made since the first of the year to contact firms which might put a manufacturing plant here, thus strengthening the economy of the Ord territory. So far there has been no progress, a spokesman for the industrial committee said.

Publicity methods also came in for their share of discussion at the meeting. The first step in gaining publicity will be erection of road signs, it was decided. The Chamber owns a quantity of arrow-shaped signs with a space for painting in the number of miles to Ord.

President Richard Rowbal also pledged the co-operation of the Chamber with the County Fair Board, both for the fair and for auto races which are tentatively planned.

Blue Cross, Shield, Drive Opens Mon.

Residents of North Loup will have an opportunity to join the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans during a one-week enrollment campaign which will begin April 2 and continue through April 7. During this time, persons under age 65 who are regularly employed, or self employed, will be eligible for membership in the hospital and medical-surgical care plans.

G. L. Carter, chairman of the campaign, has announced that headquarters will be at the Cress cafe, the North Loup Cheese factory and the Union Pacific depot. The campaign is being sponsored by the North Loup Health Plan Committee.

Blue Cross of Nebraska last year paid back to its members an average of 87 cents in the form of benefits, on each dollar received in dues. The average Blue Shield return to members, in medical, surgical and obstetrical benefits, amounted to approximately 85 cents in 1950.

The Blue Cross Plan is endorsed by the Nebraska Hospital Association and the Blue Shield Plan is sponsored by the Nebraska State Medical Association.

Klinginsmith-Allen Suit Motion Filed

A motion in the damage suit of Earl Klinginsmith against Ross Allen that the plaintiff be required to deposit a sum sufficient to pay court costs, has been filed in the district court of Valley county.

Answer day on the suit would have been March 26. The motion, made by Allen's attorney, George A. Munn, will postpone an answer or pleading by Allen until district judge Wm. M. Spikes comes here April 3.

New Tops Set at Ord Market

New highs in livestock prices were set at the Ord Livestock market Saturday, M. B. Cummins, owner, reported to the Quiz. First calf grade heifers with calf at side went for $315 to $325; mature grade cows with calf at side for $307; breeding bulls up to $522 and piggy gilts up to $103.50. Baby calves for $77 per head and boars at $16.00 per cwt.

Lynda Vail Dies at Age of Four

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 for Lynda La Rue Vail, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vail. Lynda died Saturday after an illness of only a few hours.

An Ord fire department inhalator squad worked on her for more than an hour, without success. Lynda was born at Big Fork, Minn., on January 8, 1947.

Survivors include her parents, a sister Nancy, and a brother, Douglas, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vail of Big Fork, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Clement of Ord.

The Rev. R. E. Daughtee officiated at the funeral services at which Don Auble sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Resting, Sweetly Resting," accompanied by Mrs. Viola Kellison.

Scouts Schedule Paper Collection for Next Monday

Hilding Pearson Named as Troop Committee Head. The Ord troop of Boy Scouts of America will hold a waste paper collection drive Monday. Scoutmaster Lyle Muehler is asking the citizens of Ord to cooperate with the Scouts by leaving bundles of waste paper on the sidewalks in front of their home for pick-up by the boys.

Although all kinds of paper are acceptable, the Scouts especially want old newspapers and magazines. They should be tied in bundles, or if this is impossible, they should be in sturdy cardboard boxes.

The paper collection serves a two-fold purpose. First, it helps to fill an acute need for waste paper for defense purposes. The paper shortage, while not yet as acute as that during the last war, has become worse in the last few months and the need for scrap paper is serious.

The other purpose of the paper drive is to provide funds for members of the troop to go to Scout camps this summer. Hopes of the Scouts are high—their pancake day a few weeks ago was a success—but they need more money to let them go to camp, so they're working hard on plans for the paper collection.

Name Troop Committee. A new Scout troop committee has been organized, but there is still one vacancy. Chairman Hilding Pearson expects to have that vacancy filled soon. Members of the troop committee are Hilding Pearson, George Vasicek, Fred Appleberg, and G. C. Thompson.

The Scouts have scheduled a Parents' Night for their meeting Thursday, March 29. It will be at the city hall at 7:30 p. m.

Dollar Volume of Sales Still Rises

The dollar volume of retail sales continued its upward climb in the state during February. The University of Nebraska's monthly survey shows that sales in eight principal cities and a dozen representative counties were considerably greater than the same month a year ago, but somewhat below January of this year.

For instance, Valley county sales showed a rise of 17.6 per cent over February, 1950, but the sales were down 15 per cent from the January level.

Across the state, business averaged 15.3 per cent above February of last year, but the volume was 9.3 per cent below the high level of January, 1951.

—Mr. and Mrs. Neil Peterson spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Hap Mead of Burwell.

Crop Production Valued at Five Million Dollars

Wheat and Hay Also Show Gain for Last Year. The 1950* corn crop in Valley county averaged 34.4 bushels an acre to set a new all-time high, according to a release of preliminary county estimates of 1950 farm production by the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. Not only did the corn crop set a new record, but the value of all farm products was higher than ever before in the county.

The yield of 34.4 bushels an acre topped the previous record, set in 1948, of 34.1 bushels. However, the 1948 crop was of much better quality, according to C. C. Dale, county agent, who evaluated the figures.

The money value of the total 1950 corn crop was $3,133,150, compared with $2,875,330 for 1948. Average Larger in '48.

The 1948 average was approximately 2,600 acres larger than that of 1950. About 67,660 acres were devoted to raising corn in '48, while the 1950 average was 65,660.

Total value of the 1950 crop production in the county exceeded five and a quarter million dollars and the January 1 value of livestock on farms was just a bit under six million dollars.

The per acre yield of corn over the past three years has been the highest of any three year period since records have been kept.

Added to the bumper yields of 1948 and 1950, a mark of 29.9 bushels was set in 1949, giving a three-year average of 32.8 bushels per acre for the three-season period.

The long-time average before the drought period of the '30s was only 21.3 bushels an acre.

Wheat Improves. Yields of wheat over the same three-year period have averaged 17.4 bushels an acre—well above the long-time average of 13.4 bushels. Yields of oats and barley have fallen below average while hay crops have been above average for the three years.

"If anyone doubts the value of irrigation in good years," Mr. Dale commented, "these figures should ease his mind: During the last three years, irrigated corn has averaged 59.7 bushels an acre in the county, while dryland corn has averaged 27.3 bushels an acre."

He explained that not all the increase can be attributed to irrigation, because a considerable acreage of dryland corn is planted on land which suffers from erosion and run-off of rain and does not have the fertility of the more level irrigated fields.

Wheaties Adopts Ord VFW Midget Team

Wheaties, a breakfast cereal manufactured by General Mills has unofficially adopted the Ord VFW Midget Baseball Team for the coming season.

Through Jim Weener, Grand Island, district supervisor for General Mills, arrangements were made with Ord grocers this week to act as collection depots for box tops of the three cereals made by General Mills, Wheaties, Kix and Cheerios.

For every 600 box tops turned in, the Midget team will receive a regulation baseball glove. In addition individual prizes will be given to boys and girls who turn in the most box tops. The gloves will become VFW Midget equipment and will be loaned to the thirty or more youngsters expected to enroll for Midget baseball this summer.

Wheaties will also participate in the opening home game of the Midgets, offering a case of Wheaties for each home run.

Managers of the VFW Midgets this season are Walter Douthett and Wm. Heuck.

Former Ord Resident Dies in Washington

Wednesday Emil Kokes received a telephone call saying that his sister, Mrs. Lenora Ihrig, 42, of Washington, D. C., passed away that morning.

Mrs. Ihrig lived here until about ten years ago. She is survived by her husband and one son, three years old, also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kokes and one brother, Emil.

Wed in Arcadia on Easter Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gloor.

An arrangement of white callilies in altar vases and tall lighted candles appointed the sanctuary of the Methodist church in Arcadia Sunday afternoon, March 25, for the marriage of Miss JoAnn Myers, to Jack Gloor, son of Mrs. Walter Gloor, sr. of Lincoln. The lines of the 3:00 o'clock double ring ceremony were read by Rev. Buehler.

The bridegroom's brother, Walter Gloor, jr. of Lincoln served as best man with Emery Holloway of Burwell, Eldon Jacobsen of St. Edward, Lloyd Lehecka of Lincoln and Kenneth Ritter of Lincoln as ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The table was decorated with pink and white gladioli and the three tier wedding cake was topped with a nosegay of pink sweetheart roses.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gloor will make their home at 1627 C. Street, Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hawthorne attended a New York Life Insurance meeting and noon luncheon at the Yancey hotel on Thursday.

Special recognition was given Mr. Hawthorne at this meeting for introducing Kermit into the life insurance business about 22 years ago.

Happy Hollow Aid met with Mrs. Mary Greenland, Tuesday, March 20, with nine members present. Mrs. Bob Leininger and Mrs. Roy Crawford became new members. A gift was sent to Mrs. Henry Schultz who moved away from the community. Next meeting will be April 3 at the home of Mrs. Wm. Leininger.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Scott and son of Des Moines, Ia. are visiting at the Everett Webb home.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago . . . The Ord Rotarians elected R. E. Teague as their new president, succeeding E. L. Kokes. — Basketball lettermen for Ord were: Raymond Furbush, Bill Malesky, Clarence Reimans, Ernest Piskorski, Henry Adams, Junior Wilson, Frank Misko and Orrie Hurlbert. — Fred W. Coe was elected president of the Nebraska Cooperative Creameries, Inc. at their annual meeting in Omaha. — Judge Spikes set April 21 as the date for the Birkes murder trial to start at Ord. — Thousands of fish died in the lake above the dam at Burwell, due to inability to get air in the winter, it was believed. They were mostly carp and quillback. — A part of the east wall of the Haskell building fell in and crashed through the floor into the basement, proving that the tenants, Glenn and Edward Johnson, had got out just in time. — Danny Helmer of Antelope county had a narrow escape when his auto overturned on the Ord-Erickson highway. He was unhurt. — Valley county people were highly pleased when the Fort Hartsuff bill was placed on file by the Nebraska unicameral. — Elizabeth Kovanda, Gould Flagg, Patricia Frazier and David Milliken of the Ord schools went to Loup City to participate in the district declamatory contest. — The Ord Cosmopolitans held a father-son banquet at Thorne's Cafe. — A morning fire badly damaged the Clarence Blessing home in west Ord.

Twenty Years Ago . . . Claude Rowley, recently elected coach at Ord high school turned down the job in favor of a similar one at Sutton. — Seven of Valley county's eight two-room schools had announced their intentions of entering spellers in the Valley county spelling contest in April. — Dr. F. L. Blessing and Orville Sowl had made plans for beautifying the lot north of the Masonic building. — Water experts spoke at a mass meeting in Ord, saying that the soil in the Loup Valley was ideal for irrigation. Bert M. Harndenbrook presided at the meeting, which eventually developed into an irrigation district here. — Since they had started making alfalfa meal about six months before, the Ord Milling company had shipped about 600 tons of the product, according to Miller Roy Collison. — Thursday evening, March 26, a heavy snow was falling, melting almost as fast as it fell. — Mrs. Mary Mattison, nearly 99, resident of the county since 1882, died at North Loup.

Thirty Years Ago . . . The Ord Retail association completed their organization. One of their first acts was to declare war on peddlers, a war that had been going on for a long time then and still is going strong now. — Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stevens wrecked their car when they hit the railing of a bridge south of Burwell, and Mrs. Stevens was quite seriously hurt. — Sam Perkins of Scotts Bluff county, formerly of Springfield, spoke at the county luncheon called attention to the great possibilities of the North Loup valley for irrigation. — A mammoth art exhibition was held at Ord high school and it was so well patronized that, with the admission only fifteen cents, more than two hundred dollars was realized. — George W. MacAmulity of Scotia was the guest speaker at one of Ord's "Washday Luncheons." — Barbara Petska, wife of John Petska, died at her home in Ord, March 17, at the age of 72 years. — A ten-piece orchestra made up of members of the Ord Fire department was to furnish the music for their 33rd annual dance, April 6.

Forty Years Ago . . . Deaths of Ord people recorded for the week were: Benjamin B. Fitzgerald, Civil war veteran; J. E. Hale, who died at San Jose, Calif., and James A. Clark, who died in Lovell, Wyo. — At the J. S. Ollis home in Mira Valley, March 17, occurred the marriage of Miss Nellie M. Ollis and Homer A. Hoard. At last accounts they were living in Seattle, Wash., and were still taking the Ord Quiz. — Harry Dunkin, still on the road, made the statement that he used to sell goods to S. Haskell when that man was the only merchant in Ord, and when he made the trip up from Grand Island by team. — Boys playing at Minute Hill southwest of Ord started a fire that was fanned by a strong wind and ran up to the eaves of Ord and where the Gudmundson buildings were located and the buildings would have been destroyed but for the hard work on the part of the citizens. The grass is much shorter today. — Cornell Bros. hardware firm for many years in Ord had bought a controlling interest in Cooper and Cole Bros., of Lincoln.

Fifty Years Ago . . . The infant son of Vincent Kokes fell against a hot oil stove and burned the palms of his hands severely. — The Robbins twins, Horace and Harold, won declamatory honors in the order named. Other contestants were Bess Stacy, Anna Purdum, Sada Calhoun, Mary Perkins and Ed Armstrong. — William Curry sold his place in southeast Ord to Eugene Madison and was going to build on the lot just west of the Ord Christian church. This of course meant that the boys could no longer use that block as a baseball diamond. Since then the block has been built in solid. — A. J. Campbell, who had visited Ord the year before, came to the county to live on his land in Noble township. He died a number of years ago. — L. D. Bailey and Sons opened up their millinery department with a Miss Hamilton in charge and Mr. and Mrs. George Eret there to furnish music during the day. There must have been plenty of competition in the millinery business, as G. W. Milford and Sons had held their opening the day before, with the Erets furnishing music. — Miss Una Hull had been very ill with typhoid fever, but was on the way to recovery. She is now Mrs. W. A. Bartlett. — L. Thompson was in Colorado selling butter and eggs to miners, and Frank Kates was shipping them to him from Ord. — The Quiz had this remark to make: "Thirty million dollars seems like a large sum of money to be appropriate for an increase in the navy, but the country will approve it." That ought to be good for a laugh these days. — The Ord band gave an entertainment at a place called Concert hall, probably on the east side of the square, and were assisted by Dr. Romine, dentist, who sang several songs. A total of $27 was realized.

This Week in History — 1900: Robert Squires had his shoulder dislocated when his team ran away. Guy Dann was married to Miss Ora Cook of Scotia. The Ord Knights of Pythias lodge was reorganized. — 1899: Mrs. W. L. Phillips died. Bert Lloyd went to Greeley to purchase a store which he ran for a number of years. — 1898: Guy Patton had his arm broken when he was thrown by a horse he was riding. — 1897: The gold fever had struck Valley county and several alleged claims were staked out. They did not pan out. — 1888: Defet Heuck began the manufacture of pop in Ord. The price started at a nickel a bottle, and continued that way until January, 1951.

HERE'S THE CORN-STORAGE BUILDING THAT'S USEFUL BETWEEN SEASONS

QUONSET 32

Your corn-storage problems are solved when your Quonset dealer gives you quick delivery and quick erection of a Quonset 32. This low-cost building, 32 by 36 feet equipped with ventilating fan and tunnel, will hold up to 5,000 bushels of ear corn . . . condition it perfectly . . . and keep it at top value as long as you wish to hold it. Through the long years your all-steel, permanent Quonset serves you, your storage costs per season become almost negligible as compared with commercial storage fees.

Even if used exclusively for corn storage, your Quonset 32 would quickly pay for itself. But it earns its way between storage seasons, too. Out comes the tunnel structure, in easily-handled four-foot sections . . . and there you have a building for implement storage or any other of the numerous farm uses to which the versatile "32" is adaptable.

For fast action, call us today. We have your Quonset for immediate delivery.

The building is loaded from the top, through openings normally covered by removable roof panels.

Between seasons, the Quonset 32 is ideal for implement storage and many other farm uses.

LUSCIOUS CHEESECAKE FOR A PARTY!

These classic favorites, cheese and beer, are always appropriate to serve during an evening's visit of one's neighbors or after a game of cards, but every hostess strives to compliment her guests with something a little unusual, made especially for the occasion. Some evening, serve this new and delicious cheese cake combining crushed walnuts with zwieback crust.

The rich nutty flavor of the cheesecake crust brings out the piquancy of the cream cheese filling and served along with a tall glass of the sparkling beverage, makes a light and satisfying combination for evening refreshments.

Here is a superb recipe for cheese cake—a cake which will keep in the refrigerator for almost a week without losing its fine flavor and texture.

Superb Cheese Cake

Crust:
6 oz. package 1/4 cup finely chopped zwieback
2 tablespoons walnut meals
1/2 cup softened butter or margarine

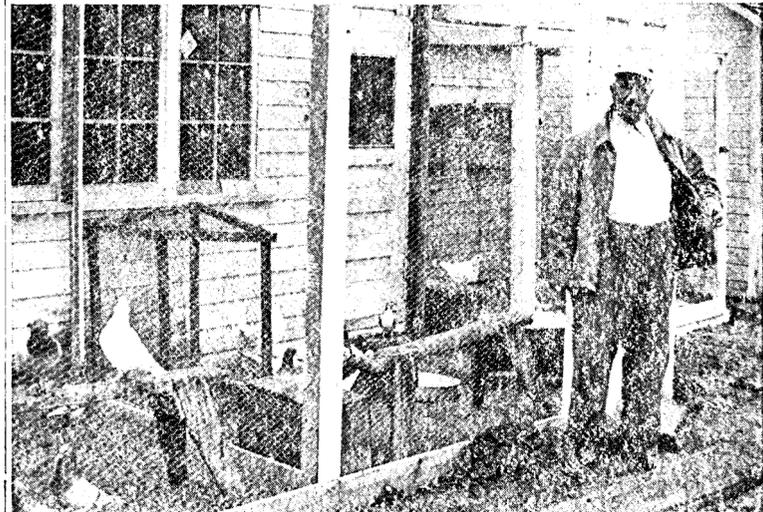

Crush zwieback with rolling pin into fine crumbs; thoroughly blend together with sugar and softened butter or margarine and chopped walnut meals.

Filling:
1/2 cup sugar 1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons flour 4 eggs
1/4 teaspoon salt 1 cup light cream
1 lb. cream cheese

Combine sugar, flour and salt. Add to softened cream cheese; blend well. Add vanilla; stir in 4 egg yolks, one at a time. Add light cream, blending thoroughly. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry; fold into cheese mixture. Carefully pour into zwieback crust. Bake in moderate oven (325° F.) 1 hour and 20 minutes. Cool before removing from pan.

NOTE: An 8-inch spring form pan may be used. If so, increase baking time to 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Haskell Is Pigeon Fancier, Says It's Fascinating

For the past 15 years John Haskell, genial Ord insurance man, has been a pigeon fancier. And now, through selective breeding and buying, he has about 50 birds which he values very highly. In the picture above, Haskell is shown beside his pens, while at the right is a pigeon of the Mondain strain.

Both the male and female of the species tend the eggs during the 17-day incubation period, an arrangement that seems to suit most of the birds. But one homer flew the coop recently and returned to his old haunts around Omaha. Now he's back in the Haskell loft, meekly taking his turn at tending the eggs.

Birthdays in Latvia
Birthdays come twice a year in Latvia. Each child celebrates the anniversary of the day of his birth, as well as his "Name Day," similar to the Saints Day of the Catholic church. All Latvian children who are called by a certain first name celebrate on the particular day which is set aside for that name.

Camel is Mean
The camel, often called the "ship of the desert," is one of the ugliest and meanest of all animals. Its temper is sad and sullen, interrupted by fits of anger and rage. The personal habits of the camel are so bad it has few friends, even among other animals.

Paints for Plastics
With the increasing production of plastic articles, one of the problems of industrial finish experts has been to develop colored coatings for them. Special finishes have been devised which enable manufacturers to make a single run by coloring the plastic with the application of new enamel in many colors.

Chip off Old Block
The consuming ambition of the average six-year-old boy is to be as much like his father as possible. At that age, boys start to imitate their dad's way of walking and talking, and even try to mimic his gestures and the tone of his voice.

Passage of LB420 Might Pave Way for 20,000 More Acres Irrigated Land

Legislative Bill 420, now before a committee but expected on the floor soon, is of vital interest to the area because, in the event of its passage, many more acres of land would be opened for irrigation.

The bill, which would permit larger areas of irrigable land to be annexed to presently-organized Reclamation districts, was the subject of a hearing before the public works committee, March 15.

Attending the hearing from this area were Custer County Agent M. L. Gould, George Semlar of Sargent, Joe Fiesch, Jim Stoltenberg, L. V. Kozel and Moller Johnson of Ravenna and Attorney Cyril P. Shaughnessy of the Middle Loop Basin Reclamation district from St. Paul.

The present Nebraska law allows areas adjacent to districts to be annexed by petitions signed by 100 per cent of the landholders within the prospective areas. Bill 420, sponsored by state Senators K. W. Peterson of Sargent and Hugh Carson of Ord, would require only 30 per cent of the landowners to sign petitions, the same percentage required for the formation of a Reclamation district.

However, landholders in a new addition must vote a 2-mill levy which is used in fostering the work of the district before they can be admitted.

Several large tracts of irrigable land in the area might conceivably be attached to the Sargent-Farwell units of the Loup Basin Reclamation district: The Dismal River irrigation district, comprised of approximately 12,000 acres surrounding Anaschino and Merna has been under survey by the U. S. Geological Survey to determine the land suitable for irrigation. The work is expected to be completed this spring.

The Muddy Creek area comprised of approximately 4,000 acres from Broken Bow to Litchfield; the Clear Creek area, comprised of approximately 4,000 acres from Westerville to the point where the Clear creek joins the Muddy south of Litchfield, and the Lee Park unit, a part of the Middle Loup development, are other undeveloped areas which might become a part of the district.

It is doubtful that the combined valuation of these four areas would equal the 2-million-dollar valuation necessary to initiate a new Reclamation district.
All the acreage lies in Custer county with the exception of the Lee Park and Muddy Creek areas, where some of the land lies in Valley and Sherman counties, respectively.

Legislators on the committee, which included W. J. Williams of Ravenna, reacted favorably to passage of the bill at the hearing, Gould said. Opposition to the proposed bill was voiced by a lobbyist representing Nebraska Associated Industries, Inc., who stated any industries interested in locating in the state would be scared out by the 2-mill levy.

Those favoring the bill believed the general raise in the standard of living for residents in the irrigated areas and the new prosperity would provide a better market.

If the bill passes, given areas might petition to enter the district, it not being necessary for all to enter at one time. The present freeze in new construction by the government would probably curtail any construction in the additions at the same time as construction in the original district, funds for which have already been allocated. However, the way would be paved for entry at any time if the bill becomes law.—Custer Co. Chief.

—Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ollis were Mr. and Mrs. Scott L. White of Kimball, Oliver Bell and Miss Jane Bell of Hastings and Mrs. Robert R. Gray of Lincoln.

Madrigal Group to Be in Burwell

Burwell will be host to the University of Nebraska Madrigal Singers on April 5 in the auditorium at 8 p. m.

The Madrigals, under the direction of David B. Foltz, Associate Professor of Voice at the University, sing for fun. They are a group of 21 University students, carefully selected for blend of voices and alertness to direction.

Organized three years ago at the University, the Madrigals have already achieved national recognition. At the invitation of the Columbia Broadcasting Company they appeared at Christmas time on a coast-to-coast broadcast. They have also been invited to appear before the North Central Music Educators Association at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Madrigal singing dates back to the 15th Century. It is "glee club" singing in its purest form and is the basis for much of our modern choral singing.

In their program at Burwell, the University Madrigals will not limit their selections to the "long hair" variety but will also sing modern numbers of the madrigal type.

Mr. Foltz, conductor of the University Madrigals, is one of the outstanding choral directors of the Midwest. Each year he directs music clinics not only in Nebraska, but in Iowa, Michigan, Texas, Kansas, Louisiana, and Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Thill to Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Thill of Ord will observe their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday, April 3, with a dinner for their relatives at noon, and a reception for friends at the Odd Fellows Hall from three to five in the afternoon and seven to nine in the evening.

The Thills came to Ord in May of 1912, where he has been engaged in the machinist's trade since that time. In the period from 1918 to 1920 Mr. Thill had a Hudson car agency with his brother-in-law, Ed Bair.

Mr. Thill was born in Meyersdale, Penna., moved to Illinois in 1880 and came to Nebraska, settling in Lincoln in 1882. Mrs. Thill, the former Nettie Drummond, was born on a farm near Exeter, Nebr. The Thills met in Lincoln and were married there.

Mr. Thill became a steam engineer in 1898 and followed this trade until 1910 when he contracted to move the factory and machinery of the old InterOcean Shirt Co. of Lincoln to Bellows Falls, Vt. He and Mrs. Thill lived in Vermont until 1912, and then came back to Nebraska where they settled in Ord.

"We just couldn't stand to live in a state that couldn't raise corn,"

Quarter Horse Races to Be Held at Burwell

The first races of the Quarter Horse Association of Nebraska will be held at the Burwell rodeo this year, it was announced last week. Decision to promote racing was decided at a meeting of the Board of Directors, Feb. 7, at a meeting at Broken Bow, but the place and date was withheld until last week.

The Nebraska futurity race, for 2-year-olds, is open to Nebraska and bordering states. The quarter horse show is open to horse owners everywhere.

Entries for the Futurity will close May 1. The show will be handled by the Nebraska Quarter Horse association and the Judges will be from the American Quarter Horse association. There will be six classes.

Owners, Tenants, Served by FHA

Farm owners as well as tenants are now being served in the farm ownership program of the Farmers Home Administration. Valley county farmers who own inadequate farms may purchase additional land and make essential improvements on their land and buildings with loans made or insured by this agency. Families who are unable to obtain suitable credit elsewhere may qualify.

While veterans have preference for the loans made from funds appropriated by congress, other farmers may obtain the same service through the insured mortgage program in which private lenders are participating. Banks and other private lenders have made ample funds available for a large number of insured farm development and farm enlargement loans to both veterans and non-veterans. The Farmers Home Administration guarantees the repayment of these private advances.

These loans can be used for purposes such as purchasing additional land; pasture seeding and improvement; soil treatments; terraces and other soil conservation practices; installation or developing irrigating facilities; construction or repair of fences, houses, barns, and other buildings and they can include funds to refinance indebtedness the farmer may have against the farm.

Farmers are encouraged to re-finance indebtedness as rapidly as possible. Applications may be made through Donald E. Krick, Valley county supervisor at the Ord post-office.

Vifquain Was First Nebraskan to Win Congressional Medal

Standing in the front rank among our military heroes is General Victor Vifquain. He was the first Nebraskan to win the Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award, and the only Nebraskan so honored during the Civil War. His long career as a pioneer citizen-soldier is one of the most distinguished in the annals of the state.

Victor Vifquain was born in Brussels, Belgium, May 20, 1836, the son of one of that nation's foremost engineers. He received a military education at the Imperial School of Polytechnics, but a year after graduation resigned his commission to come to America. He arrived in Nebraska, May 1, 1858, and settled in Saline county on an unsurveyed tract of land along the West Blue River.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, young Vifquain hurried east to enlist as a private in the 53rd New York Infantry. His skill and daring brought him many promotions—two of them on the battlefield—with the result that when the war ended he was a brevet brigadier-general.

The act of bravery for which he was awarded the medal of honor was performed April 9, 1865, when as colonel of the 97th Illinois Infantry he led his regiment against Fort Blakeley, Ala. Storming up the parapet under heavy fire, Colonel Vifquain personally hauled down the Confederate flag and raised the Union banner in its stead.

At the close of the war, General Vifquain returned to his farm in Saline county. He took a prominent part in public affairs, and for many years was active in bringing settlers to the Blue Valley. He ran unsuccessfully for congress on the Democratic ticket, and was a member of the constitutional convention of 1875. In 1879 he established the Daily State Democrat at Lincoln, and soon developed it into one of the most influential newspapers in the state.

President Cleveland sent him to Barranquilla as consul in 1886, and two years later he was promoted to the post of consul at Colon. He was temporarily retired from the consul service in 1890, and the next year was appointed adjutant general of Nebraska. When Cleveland returned to the

Cracked Eggs

Cracked eggs will not leak or deteriorate if cellophane tape is applied directly over the break. It makes them whole again.

Labrador Retriever

British sportsmen began importing the Labrador retriever in the early 1800's. Some cross breeding with other gun dogs was attempted, but all the registered Labradors of today are direct descendants of dogs from the kennels of the second and third Earls of Malmesbury, who kept the strain pure.

Grain

We have some bin room for Wheat, Corn and Oats. Markets are rather nervous but these grains still bring in good money. If you have any of these grains for sale we would be glad to make you an offer on it. Feeding Corn. We have a very good supply of good feeding corn on hand and can make you a good delivered price on it. Have a few loads as this is written of No. 2 yellow corn.

Feeds

Dur stock of poultry, hog and cattle feeds is very complete and we have very good lines of feed for you to select from.

In Poultry Feeds we have a full line of Hill Feeds and we believe that you will find it priced right when you want real quality feed. We will custom mix your feed for you if you buy in quantities of 1000 lbs. or more. Bring in your bags and let us quote you on quantities. With cloth bags at present prices and restrictions that the feed manufacturers are under we do not expect to make any more of the feeds that we have been mixing but we do have the ingredients in stock and if you will bring in your bags we can furnish you with the same feed that you have been buying from us.

We have just unloaded a load of both 12% and 30% Beefmkr and believe that our price on this type of feed is very attractive.

Baby Chicks

Hy-Lines are more popular all the time and our sales of these chicks have been increasing each year since we have been selling them. We have just had some reports of Laying Contests and find that anytime Hy-Lines are entered against standard breeds that the production records of the Hy-lines are almost unbelievable. Hy-Lines do cost a little more than other breeds, but the extra eggs that they produce in a year's time takes care of the extra cost many times. At present Hill Hatchery has a small number of started Hy-Lines in both pullets and straight run. Let us quote you a price on them. We can also furnish you with Standard breeds if wanted.

Seed Grains

This week we are getting in our Western Seed Barley and our Certified Oats. If you have not placed your order as yet we would appreciate booking your order and will supply you with the seed when it arrives; or when you are ready to plant. But place your order soon. We will have Certified and Non-certified Cherokee and Nemaha Oats. These varieties have done very well in our section and we recommend them.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover

Supplies of alfalfa are getting smaller all the time and we feel that we will have to ship in alfalfa seed long before seeding time is here. On sweet clover seed we do have good stocks. Don't plant uncleaned seed. It will pay you to get cleaned and tested seed.

Seed Treatment

We have Ceresan for treating oats and barley for smut and have Nitragin for inoculation of alfalfa and clover seed.

An Idea Develops

Forty-five years ago a feature story in the Nebraska Farmer told of the ideas of one D. Ward King of Matfield, Mo., who was a strong advocate of the road drag at that time, and who was credited with being the first man to develop the idea on a large scale. The story is illustrated with a picture of Mr. King and a view of one of the roads on which his drags had been used for some time.

Except for the surfacing, which was plain dirt instead of gravel, this road looks practically the same as the gravelled highways of today. Of interest is the complete absence of autos on the road. That was still in the horse and buggy days, and three top buggies and teams appear in the picture. The telephone had arrived at that time, and the poles were strung along the roadside much as they are today.

The 45 years that have passed since then have seen great changes in the means of travel and the means of communication. About everybody has a telephone today, and nearly all of us have radios, to say nothing of television. But the basic principle of road building and maintenance was in use then, and, with little change, is still in use today.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with those discomforts if reduced kidney function is keeping you down—due to such common causes as stress, indigestion, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause setting up nights of frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often others lie caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts. Get the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

The Split Log Drag

was used in those days, as it was cheaper than metal and the material grew right at home. Today we find the drag made of angle bar steel, and the blade of the road machines, used in much the same manner, is also made of steel. Split logs would wear out too quickly on our gravelled highways to pay for the trouble of building them today, hence the use of steel.

Much credit is due this man from the "Show Me" state, who had a good idea and preached it until it was generally accepted. Today the road drag, supplemented by the grader, is the accepted method of taking care of all roads except those which are hard surfaced. In fact, the road drag as it developed took the name of the man who boosted for it became the King Road Drag.

Overloading Trucks

Last week an Omaha trucker, Clifford Coons, was picked up at Ottumwa, Ill., and paid a fine for having too large a load. His load weighed 101,700 pounds, which was 12,700 pounds in excess of the load permitted with his type of truck. The company by whom he is employed sent two trucks to take care of the overload.

Trucks are a problem, and a real problem. Because of the heavy loads of freight they carry, they do more damage to the highways than other vehicles. For this reason, regulations have been put in force in most states to limit the axle load and thus relieve the pressure on the highways.

Most truckers in Nebraska are trying to stay within the legal limit. They are the accepted and acceptable means of transportation, and will become more and more so as the years pass. Today hundreds of towns once served by the railroad are dependent entirely upon trucks, busses and autos as a means of travel and freight transport.

Nobody has a quarrel with any trucker who keeps his load within the limitations prescribed by law. But here was a case of a man driving a truck over a state highway with more than 21 tons too large a load. The time was, and not long ago, when that many tons was considered a large load for a truck.

Today the largest trucks are able to transport as much as the average freight car is supposed to handle. They can do so legally if their axle capacity is sufficient, and they probably do little more damage than the fully loaded smaller trucks with fewer axles and wheels. The trucks that do the damage are those carrying a heavy overload.

Builders of roads are agreed that there is no fool proof highway. It would take billions of dollars to build highways heavy enough for any and all traffic that might travel over them. We may be assured that loads will become heavier with the years. The only way to prevent ruin of our roads is to make all truckers obey the loading laws.

"We Hate Cops."

Another man, at the age when he should be just ready to begin to live, has reached the end of the trail. He reached it in true western style, being picked off by one officer while he was drawing a bead on another. He reached that end as a matter of choice, and he and his companions on that wild attempt at escape summed up the whole proposition in three words: "We Hate Cops."

It is no time to shed tears over this young man. He had it coming to him. He courted trouble all his life. For his own good he is better off dead, and the public can breathe easier knowing he is out of the way. No amount of time spent in a correctional institution would change his viewpoint of life. He had no use for decent society, and society has no use for such men.

But just what is behind those three words, "We Hate Cops"? Those fellows did not mean that literally. What they really meant was that they hated the law and order represented by the cops. They hated the laws which were made to prevent them doing exactly as they pleased. They hated the laws that were made for the protection of all decent people. They preferred to go to jail.

Given the opportunity such men as these would probably go far in a communistic state. Like all totalitarian leaders, they have no regard for the rights of others. They are ruthless in whatever they do. They need no laws, and under communism they would need no laws, for they would have no law but the word of their leader. Given their choice they would either execute all law enforcement officers or put them in a concentration camp.

It might be worth while to speculate on what is back of it all. Young men are not necessarily evil by choice. It is no excuse to be poor. Most poor boys grow up to be our most dependable citizens. Being poor is no excuse for taking the law into one's own hands. What a boy becomes later in life too often reflects the attitude of his parents toward the laws as he is growing up.

The parents of Dewey Battershaw had every right to be stricken with grief, and they no doubt were. Under such circumstances they might say things better left unsaid. However their general attitude while talking with the officers was hardly what it should have been. They took the attitude that their boys were being persecuted instead of prosecuted, victims of circumstances rather than criminals.

If they talked as they did before the officers of the law, they no doubt were much more outspoken with the boys themselves. Such parents too often take the attitude that "My boys are right, something else must be wrong." The indications are that there was a lack of punishment when it was needed in their growing years.

Growing boys need to be taught respect for the law, yet all these men seemed to feel was contempt. They appear to have developed that contempt early in life. Living on the wrong side of the tracks, they seem to have gotten off on the wrong foot. There might still have been hope for them if they had shown any respect for the law.

In the heart of every little boy is a fear of the law, a fear that is hardly justified, since most boys live normal lives and obey most of the laws. In time that fear should develop into respect. The trouble is that some time the boy breaks some phase of the law and gets away with it. That is when contempt for the law is born. The more he gets by with crime, the greater the contempt he feels.

Behind it all is the attitude that the law must be obeyed, not because it is the right thing to do, but through fear of punishment. The law was not designed primarily as a means of punishment, but as a guide to good citizenship. It is the duty of all parents to teach their children proper respect for the law.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Next on the list is a copy of the Poultry Farmer for April, 1950, a magazine published at Des Moines, Iowa. Its front page is enlivened by a picture of a 200 chick brooder in operation with the chicks scattered all about. All farm magazines of that time had very ornate, decorated captions on the front page, with plenty of animals and birds, barns, poultry houses and hives. This magazine was published monthly for 50c per year. It contained a full page of "Screenings" poultry tips which would be very useful today. There was a dissertation on "Mrs. Hen" which gave her a high place indeed in farm economy. There was also a single copy of the Iowa Home-Steak vintage of Nov. 1, 1950.

Finally, there is a copy of the Nebraska Farmer for Dec. 21, 1950, which had been sent to Wm. Premore, R.F.D. 1, Iowa not given, but probably Cotesfield. This is of special interest because of the local people who advertised in its columns, most of whom are now out of business. Included are A. J. Finkins' Herefords, Enterprize Stock Farm Duross by J. A. Ollis, Jr., Willow Dell Stock Farm's Shorthorns and Poland Chinas by G. G. Clement, and Springdale Stock Farm's Shorthorns and Poland Chinas by W. J. Heather.

The above advertisers were all from Ord, but there was J. C. Meese advertising Polands from Constock, A. G. Abney with his Galloways from North Loup, McClellan Bros. of North Loup with Shorthorn built G. G. Clement, also had an ad for Plymouth Rocks. Perhaps the most interesting ads of all were those for bicycles. All bicycles in 1890 had hard rubber tires, were of the safety type somewhat like those of today, but also very different. They were both men's and ladies' types, with huge seats and a lever brake which pressed down a shoe on the front tire. Last, but not least, the Nebraska Farmer carried a crop report sent in by E. E. Williams of south Valley County. Corn was yielding 30 to 50 bushels per acre. A list of county fairs is given, but Valley county is not included. We had a fair in 1890, however, and Kit Carson was one of the exhibitors. I happen to know. Receipts for the Chicago stockyards for one week were 64,239 cattle, 5,673 calves, 138,534 hogs and 40,950 sheep. Business has certainly picked up since that time. A criminal had been electrocuted in New York a short time before, and the editor had a strong editorial against the idea, which he considered brutal.

On the back page of this farm paper has a number of illustrated ads of all kinds of items that might appeal to farmers. There's Hood's Sarsaparilla for the men and Uncle Sam's Condition Powder for the stock. The most interesting illustration is what is called a "Magnetic Belt" which looks like the corsets some fat men wear, but which has what were called magnetic shields that were guaranteed to cure backache through magnetism. The ad stated that all illness is imaginary and the trouble could be cured by polarizing the blood, whatever that was, and this belt would do the job.

Another popular item then was a treadmill in which a horse walked a treadmill and furnished power to run machinery. The larger ones had room for two horses, side by side. They kept walking on a sort of endless belt, turned a shaft with a large pulley, and this transmitted the power to a smaller pulley on the other

Then there are a few pages from a Sears, Roebuck and Co. catalog of the vintage of the 1890's. It starts out by offering the celebrated Kissel walking plow for the low price of $8.08. This plow has a steel beam, but others at a lower price have wooden beams. The Kissel sulky plow is priced at $29.65, and the gang plow, two bottoms, is $45.85. Disc harrows are as low as $16.65. Steel harrows are priced at $4.52. Walking cultivators are offered at $12.30 and corn planters at $22.25. Incubators sell at from $17.65 up and windmills at $13.50 and a 30 foot tower for $19.00. X-L-All leg fence sold at 24c per foot. How would prices like that sound today?

Going back a full sixty years are two John M. Smith catalogs, one the Dictionary of Economy, the other a special ladies millinery catalog. In the neckwear department you have a choice variety of a number of different kinds, priced all the way from 18c each up to 45c. Silk handkerchiefs start at 19c and mufflers run from 22c to $1.59. Common handkerchiefs are priced as low as 18c per dozen. There are a great variety of linen collars and cuffs, the former priced at 60c for six and the latter at 15c a pair. Luckily for suffering mankind, these are items seldom seen today.

Winter caps run all the way from 19c up to $1.59. Overalls run from 35c to one dollar and full length overalls from $2.75 up. The millinery catalog is something out of this world. The hats are all tremendous affairs, two feet or more across and decorated with every imaginable thing under the sun. Some of those ladies must have had to take off their hats to get into the house. The flowered patterns ran around $5 each, while those with ostrich plumes sold about twice that figure. The ostrich plumes are priced separately at $2.50 each.

I am indebted to Joe Veleba for the material I am using in this week's column. He tells me the papers came from a house east of Scotia which he helped remodel. When they got at it they found that there were a lot of old papers laid up above the ceiling, probably to make the house warmer. Joe admits he wasn't working all the time, as he found time to look the papers over, and he found a number so interesting that he brought them home with him. Then he brought them up to me so I could dig out the items of interest and pass them on to Quiz readers.

Included were: a copy of the "Ladies Birthday Almanac" published by the Chattanooga Medicine Company in 1907. This old timer contained Prof. DeVoe's weather forecast for 1907. He used a system of flags which were flown in those days to indicate weather conditions. James M. Ford used to fly them from the pole on the corner of the Milford building in Ord. A square white flag indicated fair weather, a square blue flag was used for rain for snow a checked flag indicated a general storm period, a black triangle meant a change in temperature and a white flag with a black center meant a cold wave. The two medicines advertised by the company were Wine of Carduus and Theoford's Black Draft. Druggist Bill Vodehnal assures me that both remedies are still on the market. This particular almanac was put out by DeLand Drug Co., Cotesfield.

Next came a little pamphlet put out by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company of Schenectady, N. Y., and designed to call the attention of veterans of the Civil war to their medicines, especially to "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People". This 32 page booklet contained a number of purported interviews with veterans, in which they told of their experiences in the war. The stories are interesting, but they invariably wind up with how much the soldier was helped by Williams' medicines. It is illustrated with some very good pen sketches and was probably put out more than fifty years ago.

++ Something Different ++

It's queer the different ways different families behave, when illness comes along. Some households make it a great privilege to be sick, and baby and pamper and wait on the one who is moaning and groaning. They make it so much fun that I don't see how anyone could have the strength of character to announce he once again "feels all right!" And arise from his bed.

Then I remember what good old Dr. Shepard told me: "When anyone is sick at our house, they don't need to ask what they will get to eat; they know! Tea and toast and tea and toast, that's what!"

Of course that was in the pre-sulfa and pre-penicillin days. Time doesn't simply march on... she jet-planes out of here!

When is it new dog-tags are due to be bought? Not too distant the day, I hope. There seem to be so many strays this year.

I would like to see a campaign to get homes for all of them. They are a great nuisance running loose. Not to mention a pitiable sight when they are half-fed, or not fed at all.

Why do some people think it is such a great kindness to turn puppies out to forage for themselves, homeless and masterless? I'll never understand this. There's practically always someone who will be glad to get a puppy. Just the same as there's practically never an ugly puppy... they are every one cunning. You've noticed, I'm sure.

This Easter time, like other holiday times, saw so many college students home with their parents. It always seems so good to see our young people return home. Which leads to one of my pet gripes.

I definitely burn at the idea that our bright lads and lasses are drained off, year after year, to work in state bureaus and federal bureaus and government offices in Washington and where not?

All kinds of tests and examinations are employed on the boys and girls about the time they get ready to graduate. And bang! The next time you hear of them they've moved far away, and are pounding a typewriter somewhere for someone else.

Why can't we provide good employment and interesting futures for these young people? Why do we let the cream of our crop leave us year after year? There isn't any better place than Ord! —oO— Neither is there any better place to have fun. Fun is a state of mind, anyway. You can have fun "all by yourself, at home, alone, in the dark," if you so desire. And if you're vexed with the world, the best company in the world won't help you to have pleasure.

The part in quotes, in the line or two above, is one of H. D. Leggett's famous remarks. Only, he used it in reverse.

When something did NOT appeal to him, he'd remark drily, "I could have more fun at home, alone, in the dark."

It rarely failed to bring down the house, amidst thunderous chuckles and giggles of all those present.

We are so glad we succeeded in getting him to go to the State Press meeting last year. And that he enjoyed it so very much. —Ima

Your Tavernman Deserves Your Support

Most Nebraska tavernmen operate their places in a manner that deserves commendation. These responsible citizens, appreciating their obligations to the community, are careful to maintain clean, respectable places... refuse sales to minors and excessive drinkers... make an honest attempt to keep well within the intent of the law in all respects.

This attitude has been strengthened by the industry's program of self-regulation in the interest of the public. The program launched first in Nebraska has proved so successful it has been adopted in many other states. And the industry's educational program has resulted in widespread improvement in tavern operation.

You can aid this worthy effort by offering encouragement to your retailer.

This letter is being written Sunday afternoon and it is quite apparent at this time that the investigation of the Wholesale Liquor Monopoly, and the Liquor Commission, is bearing fruit.

There have been some developments that would seem to quite definitely place the Liquor Commission in a position that will be difficult to defend or explain.

I have asked repeatedly for the suspension of the Commission, and I have also repeatedly demanded that the Governor take some action. It is quite possible that there will be a shakeup within the next few days.

It is quite evident that the people of Nebraska would like to see some leadership in the State House, and it is also quite apparent that the leadership of the Republican party in Nebraska is now on trial. Regardless of politics something must be done.

1 HATE TO THROW AWAY MEAT THAT COST SO MUCH BUT THE TAIL OF THIS STEAK IS JUST TOO TOUGH TO EAT.

IT CERTAINLY IS. MUST YOU BUY MEAT WITH SO MUCH WASTE ON IT?

trimmed before weighing

No tough "tail" on Safeway steak! No excess bone and fat. We trim away these waste parts (as shown in the diagram above) so that you get only the tender portion that will broil just right. This means that your steak really buys more good eating meat at Safeway. All Safeway meats are properly trimmed before weighing to give you full value every time.

Select Your Chicks From Quality Stock

EARLY CHICKS PAY

When you select chicks, you naturally look for high-quality chicks coming from GOOD parent stock—because it's the chicks with the better bloodlines that really make poultry-raising pay. Our chicks are of this high-quality stock. They are heavier, stronger, and mature earlier. They feather faster, grow quicker, and have a longer laying life. And their high-type breeding means lower mortality, too! Make it a point to choose our chicks for your future layers and meat birds.

SEED CORN HILL & LOSEKE LOUP VALLEY HYBRID SEED CORN. Many kinds and varieties of hybrid seed corn are on the market. Some are adapted to one type of soil, some to another. Climate and locality are determining factors in the successful growth of most varieties. But for honest value in varieties of hybrid corn that can be depended upon for all around performance under every possible condition - you just cannot duplicate the returns from HILL & LOSEKE LOUP VALLEY HYBRID SEED CORN. By comparing returns it is easy to see and understand why the demand for HILL & LOSEKE LOUP VALLEY SEED CORN continues to grow with each succeeding year. THEY MAKE MORE MONEY FOR FARMERS WHO PLANT THEM BECAUSE THEY ARE CONSISTENT PRODUCERS YEAR AFTER YEAR. Take your choice of Nebraska 701; Indiana 608; Iowa 4316; Iowa 4059 or Iowa 306. Economy size flats start as low as $6.50 per bushel. HILL & LOSEKE HYBRID SEED CORN FARM, Monroe, Nebr. 50-4tc

Each bidder must be qualified to submit a proposal for any part or all of this work as provided in Legislative Bill No. 206, 1939 Legislative Session. Proposal forms for this work will be issued to contractors who are qualified to submit proposals for bituminous surfacing.

The attention of bidders is directed to the Special Provisions covering sub-letting or assigning the contract.

The attention of bidders is invited to the fact that the Department of Roads and Irrigation has been advised by the Wage and Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, that contractors engaged in highway construction work are required to meet the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060).

The minimum wage paid to all skilled labor employed on this contract shall be one dollar and five cents ($1.05) per hour, except that a minimum wage of one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per hour shall be paid to: Asphalt Plant Engineers; Crane Operators; Dragline Operators; Power Shovel Operators

Plans and specifications for the work may be seen and information secured at the office of the County Clerk at Ord, Nebraska, at the office of the County Clerk at Greeley Center, Nebraska, at the office of the County Clerk at St. Paul, Nebraska, at the office of the District Engineer of the Department of Roads and Irrigation at Grand Island, Nebraska, or at the office of the Department of Roads and Irrigation at Lincoln, Nebraska.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to 100% of his contract.

As an evidence of good faith in submitting a proposal for this work, the bidder must file, with his proposal, a certified check made payable to the Department of Roads and Irrigation and in an amount not less than nine thousand ($9,000) dollars.

The right is reserved to waive all technicalities and reject any or all bids.

For a delightful change in salad dressing flavors, try this ideal blend on tablespoon of flour with one-fourth cup of lemon juice until lump-free. Then stir into this egg-half cup of maple syrup. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is thick like honey. Cool and into the mixture fold one cup of whipped cream. Serve with any tart fruit salad mixture.

To Remove Lint Substitute cellophane tape for a brush to remove lint from your dark suits when ironing. Simply wrap the tape around your hand, sticky side out, and remove lint and dust by patting lightly over the surface.

Aid's Perambulation An ingenious housewife keeps a pan of sand close by for icy walks. She procured a wooden butter tub from a dairy products firm which she coated a brilliant blue to match the shutters on the house. A peasanty design was stenciled on the side of the tub. The man of the house cooperated by making a large wooden scoop and painting it to match. The set adds a decorative note to the entranceway.

Safeguards Workers More and more manufacturers, plant, mill and factory owners are utilizing color to minimize accidents in operating dangerous machinery. Machinery is so painted that its color will contrast with the material or metal being worked on. Walls and floors are also painted in light colors to utilize all illumination. This makes dangerous working parts stand out more distinctly. The chance of accidents caused by poor visibility is thus reduced.

HOW YOU CAN FIGHT COMMUNISM

Communist propaganda belittles the most sacred freedoms we enjoy. Now is the time to stand fast for the 4 great freedoms: Freedom of Religion; Freedom of Speech; Freedom from Want; Freedom from Fear. Strike back at every attack on these precious American rights. Let the communist know that you cherish them and that you will die for them if necessary. Let's be as tough as we must to prove it.
