

You Can't Sleep

On four occasions over the weekend while traveling on the highway I could have easily been in a car accident. One of the incidents occurred near Grand Island, when a young girl driver, turned around to reach for something in the back seat. Her car veered over the center line and I had to go completely off on the shoulder to avoid a collision. She pulled the car sharply back onto the road and nearly went off the opposite side.

Two of the other near-collisions occurred when cars passed in no-passing zones and hardly had room enough to get back into their lanes.

The other near-crash occurred when a car passed me near an intersection and another car pulled out in front of the passing vehicle from the side road. This was the closest of all, as the car that had passed was forced to cut in front of me quickly and slow down at the same time — I'm glad that the brakes on my car are okay.

I don't claim to be a great defensive driver, but these four instances over the weekend brought to me vividly the meaning of defensive driving and the fact that it pays to stay awake at the wheel.

It's nice to be back all in one piece.

A Good Story

A reporter rushed into the editor's office and announced, "Boss, I have that perfect news story for you."

"All right," growled the bored city editor, "Who bit whose dog?"

"Tain't that," grinned the cub reporter. "This story is about a bull that threw a Congressman!"

Tongue-Tied

The human brain's the greatest thing That ever man could seek. It functions from the time he's born Till he gets up to speak!

No Comeback!

The pompous physician was inclined to criticize the story. One day he was watching a stone mason building a fence for a neighbor. He thought the mason was using too much mortar, and said, "Mortar covers up a good many mistakes, doesn't it?"

"Yes, doctor," replied the mason, "and so does a spade."

Floyd Boilesen Receives 'Boss Of Year' Award At Annual Jaycee Event

Floyd Boilesen received the Boss of the year award at the annual Jaycee—Ord Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday evening, at St. Mary's auditorium.

Other awards went to Verlin Smith, outstanding fireman; Elton Buoy, outstanding educator; Rev. Jack Nordgaard, distinguished service; Merrill Mason, physical fitness; Simon Walkowiak, outstanding farmer.

Recipients of the Hub of the Wheel Awards were Duane Carson, Don Walker and Bernard Staab. The past president's award was presented to Cork Greenway by Chamber of Commerce president, Don Sears.

Boilesen was cited for his part in bringing the Miller-Olson Company of Neligh to Ord under the banner of Ord Manufacturing Company — a firm started by Boilesen.

Boilesen started in business in Ord in 1938 when he bought Noll Seed Company and moved into a new building in 1964 which houses Boilesen Feed and Seed Company. Just a week ago a new facility of the company was opened under the name of Gulf Farm Center.

In August of 1967 Boilesen started Ord Manufacturing Company and last October merged with Miller-Olson. The firm currently employs nine men and more are expected to be hired soon.

Boilesen was also cited for his work in connection with the church and other religious activities. This is the highest award given by the Jaycees. Last year's recipient was E. L. Vogeltanz.

The top Jaycee award to a Jaycee member went to Rev. John Nordgaard, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran Church. This was the distinguished service award and Rev. Nordgaard was cited setting up Sunday services at Valley County Hospital; a radio program for ministers and sex education classes at Ord High School.

"None of these accomplishments would have been possible without the fine cooperation of all pastors in the area. I'd like to thank them for their participation in all of these projects," Rev. Nordgaard said after he received the award.

Mason, who received the physical fitness award, has managed the Ord Mustang baseball team for three years; is secretary of the Sherman-Howard baseball league and has been a constant booster of the adult physical fitness programs held each winter at the high school.

Smith, named fireman of the year by the Jaycees, joined the department in 1933 and will receive his 15th year pin this year. He has held the posts of captain and lieutenant in companies 1, 2 and 3 during his service. Only 11 members of the department have longer active service than Smith. He is currently president of the volunteers and is active in all of the department's events.

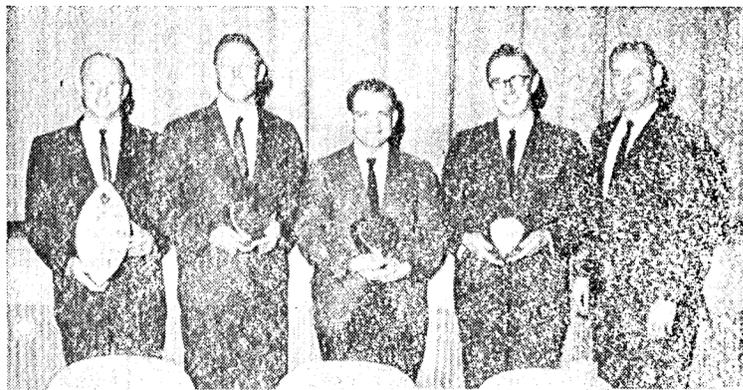

Buoy, Ord High School counselor, received the educator award and was cited for his outstanding contribution to education in general since coming to committees.

Simon Walkowiak, who received Ord High School in 1958. Buoy is Rotary club president; a charter member of Lions and is active in Jaycees, American Legion, Elks and the Farm Bureau, along with activity on education and the outstanding farmer award, has some 400 acres in his farm operating unit, buying an original 160 acres from Mary Zmral in 1963. He currently has 92 acres under irrigation, 28 acres planned for irrigation development and 115 acres in dryland crops, all protected by terraces. Last year, he had 70 acres of corn; 85 acres of sorghum and 100 acres of barley.

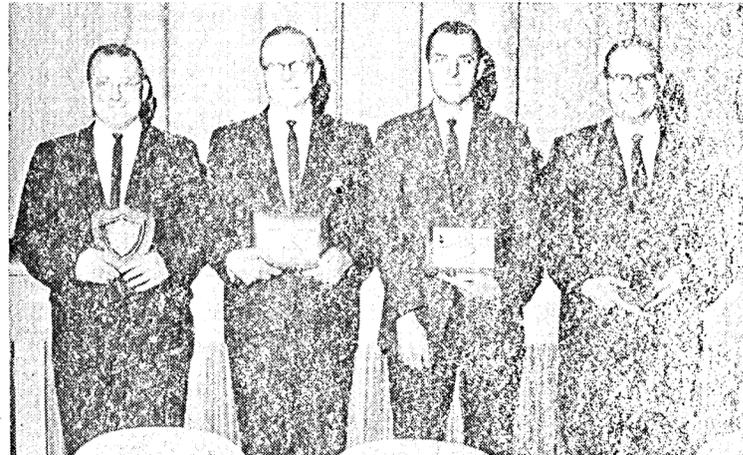

Mrs. Doris Mrsny and Kerry Leggett accepted Awards of Appreciation for KNLV Radio and the Ord Quiz.

Sgt. A. A. Jensen of the Nebraska State Patrol told the more than 100 banquet guests "It takes only a split second for an accident to happen — let's don't let it happen to you." His talk on traffic safety touched on three parts: You, How and Why. Included in the program was a film "Freewayphobia" which pointed out with right and wrong driving techniques.

Dale Zagina acted as Master of Ceremonies for the evening. Banquet chairmen were Bill Kirby and Stanley Absalon. Dinner music was provided by Karl T. MacKinnon.

C OF C AWARDS—Cork Greenway, president's award; Bernard Staab, Don Walker and Duane Carson, Hub of Wheel awards and at right is Don Sears, now president of the Ord Chamber of Commerce.

JAYCEE AWARDS—Verlin Smith, fireman of the year; Floyd Boilesen, Boss of the year; Elton Buoy, outstanding educator and Merrill Mason, Physical fitness award. Simon Walkowiak, outstanding farmer, was not present.

In 1952 an additional fire truck was added as Co. No. 1, the rural truck was made Co. No. 2 and the chemical truck remained as Co. No. 3, which is the setup at the present time.

There are currently 49 members on volunteer department, with Ivan Sorensen as fire chief.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

This has been an exciting week for us. Crazy and mixed up but exciting. The call for Kerry from Mini O'Brien of "To Tell The Truth" last Wednesday afternoon. "Could you fly to New York City on Sunday?" they wondered. Thinking his ears failed him completely, Kerry told me (via charades) to get on the other line and LISTEN. (It was obvious that he was too "shook" to comprehend much.)

The rest of the day we were both hysterical as we tried to make plans for his week ahead. Although his schedule was well planned — they failed to remember that Nebraska weather can undo even the most organized plans. Because of the ice and fog, Sunday, no planes left for Grand Island airport. So, after waiting in the third city until late afternoon, Kerry took a train into Omaha and made later flight connections from there.

The two day trip to New York City with interviews and filming is over now. We anxiously await Feb. 9 when the show will be televised. Meanwhile, Kerry is being treated royally as Shamoun brings his slippers; Sheri begs for his autograph to add to her collection and Sue cooly asks questions like "Do TV personalities eat Goulash?"

Ge, but it's fun having a celebrity in the house!

No sooner were Christmas things taken from the shelves and stored away but articles for Valentine's Day made their appearances. Candy hearts, red lollypops and fat hearts holding candy. Not to forget the large selection of greeting cards.

Did you know . . . that to make the best ever dishcloths take either regular dish cloths or wash cloths, and sew a double layer of nylon net to one side of the cloth. The net helps wash dishes clean as a whistle, does a good job on pans and skillets and doesn't scratch dishes or pans.

What makes a dessert sparkle? Let's begin with a package of strawberry punch flavor gelatin and add gingerale instead of the usual cold water. A refreshing dessert — and so easy to make.

Jellied Ginger-Upper
1 package (3 oz.) Strawberry punch gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/2 t. lemon juice
1 c. ginger ale
1 c. diced pears.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Gradually add lemon juice and ginger ale. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in pears. Spoon into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with Frosted Green Grapes, if desired. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Frosted Green
Brush seedless grapes with egg white that has been beaten until slightly foamy. Sift granulated sugar over grapes. Store in refrigerator until dry.

Coffee Cup Philosophy: A man that's all wrapped up in himself makes a small package.

Fifty Per Cent Shooting Moves Ord Chants Past Burwell Longhorns 74-53

Accurate shooting from the floor enabled the Ord Chants to gain win No. 10 of the season Saturday evening at the expense of the Burwell Longhorns before a jam-packed crowd at the Ord High School gymnasium. The final score was Ord 74, Burwell 53. Ord has lost three games. Burwell is now 11-2.

Burwell, ranked No. 6 in Class C in the state, managed to stay within 10 points of the Chants until the fourth quarter, when the Ord team dropped a 27 point barrage on the Longhorns, while limiting the visitors to 16 points. The Ord club enjoyed one of its best shooting evenings of the season, putting up 59 shots, with 30 going through the hoop for a better than 50 per cent average. Burwell ended the contest with 32 per cent connecting on 19 of 60 from the floor.

Big Lyle Christensen, no longer ailing and plenty agile once again, led the Ord shooters with 28 points, plus pulling off 10 rebounds. Bill Klanecky, after recuperating from a knee injury, pumped in 17 points; steady Jim Lukesh, netted 14 points and Ron Bredthauer tossed in 10 to account for most of the scoring. The Burwell team was led by Bob Beat with 18 tallies as he pitched in six from the floor and a perfect 6 for 6 from the gift line. Don Lindsey counted 12 points and Roger Hurst had 10. The Longhorns showed great adeptness at the free throw line, hitting 15 of 16 for 93 per cent, while the Chants hit 14 of 19 for 73 per cent. It was free throw shooting that kept the Longhorns in the ball game during the first quarter, which ended in a 13-13 tie. The Burwell team had three fielders, but tossed in a perfect 7 for 7 on the gift line. Ord tallied its 13 points on six fielders and one free throw to stay with the Longhorns.

In the second quarter the Chants, using five field goals and five free throws, outscored Burwell 19-10 to take a 10 point lead into the dressing room at halftime. In the third period Ord and Burwell each collected 15 tallies and at the end of three it was Ord 47-37.

But in the fourth period it was all Ord as the Chants banged in 27 points to 16 for the Longhorns. Christensen pushed in four field goals and five of six free throws in that period to account for half of his points. Lukesh had three field goals; Bredthauer, a field goal and a free throw; Klanecky, a pair of fielders and Duane Kovarik had a free throw.

In rebounding the statistics were fairly even as Ord picked off 37 rebounds and Burwell came off with 30. Bredthauer was Ord's leading rebounder with 12; Christensen, had 10; Lukesh, six; Sedlacek and Klanecky, three apiece; John, two and Kovarik, one. From the floor Christensen hit 10 of 17; Lukesh, six of 12; Klanecky, seven of 12; Bredthauer, four of 11; Sedlacek, one of two; Kuz, two of four and Janda, none of one.

Ord's best shooting period was in the fourth when they hit 10 of 15 from the floor for 67 per cent. In the other quarters the Chants hit six of 13; seven of 15 and seven of 16 to end the evening with about 51 per cent from the floor.

The Ord High School wrestling team came up with its second victory of the season Monday night as the Chant grapplers whipped Grand Island Northwest 40-10 before a good-sized crowd at Ord gymnasium.

The fact that the team was enlightening but the manner in which it was done was little less than remarkable as all points were scored on pins by the Ord team, with exception of Marvin Pierce who was credited with five points in the 127 pound division on a forfeit. The Chants gave up points in only two divisions and that was on forfeits in the 103 pound division and the heavyweight division.

Henry Lange is Relected Head Of Twin Loups

Henry G. Lange of Ord reported that the Twin Loups Reclamation District held its monthly meeting in St. Paul on January 22. This was an annual meeting for organization of the district. Lange was re-elected President; Donald E. Kilday of Palmer was elected Vice-President replacing the late Ras. J. Rasmussen; Arthur L. (Pete) Russell of Fullerton was re-elected Secretary - Treasurer. Sich Hits Winning Basket As Chicks Edge Arcadia 51-50

A basket by Melvin Sich with six seconds left in the ball game gave the Ord Chicks a 51-50 win over the Arcadia Reserves Thursday evening in a ball game played as a preliminary to the Ord Reserves-Arcadia varsity game at the Ord High School gymnasium.

The Chicks were trailing by one point and as the clock began to run out Sich fired from the top of the free throw lane and the ball dropped through after bouncing around on the edge of the rim.

Sich not only came through with the winning bucket, but also led the Chicks in scoring with 15 points on seven field goals and one of five from the gift line. Dennis Bellinger and Dean Vanceura each fired in 12 points.

The Chicks, trailing 30-23 at halftime, put together a good second half to outscore Arcadia 22-20 to take the ball game. At the end of the first period the game was tied 13-13, but Arcadia with Tim Hurlburt tossing in 11 points pulled away to the seven point margin at intermission.

In the second half Hurlburt was held to only one point as the Chick pulled even and eventually won the game. In the fourth period Bellinger tossed in eight points; Sich had five; Vanceura one and Rick Ackles came up with two timely baskets, his only points of the ball game.

Hurlburt led the Arcadia club with 16, 15 of those coming in the first half of play. Danny Hurlburt and David Scott each had nine tallies.

Arcadia's Free Throw Shooting Sinks Reserves

The Arcadia High School basketball players helped themselves to a flock of throws Thursday night in whipping the Ord Reserves 69-62 in a game played at the Ord gymnasium.

The Huskies were outscored from the floor 26-23 by Ord, but they tossed in 23 of 30 from the gift line and that was enough to down the Chant underdogs.

Although it was free throws that won the ball game Arcadia used the field goal in the third quarter to outscore Ord 19-7 and take a 12-point lead that they made stand up in the fourth period. In the third the Huskies bucketed nine field goals and one of two from the gift line. In the fourth they scored only two field goals, but poked in 11 of 15 gift shots.

Ord roared back in the fourth quarter with 20 points and limited Arcadia to only 15, but the damage was already done and Coach Bill Cook's boys walked off with a seven point win.

Top shooter for Arcadia was Ron Hurlburt with 23 and Dennis Dietz with 23. Ord's leading scorer was Bill Miller with 17. Steve Turek contributed 16 and Dick Janda flipped in 14.

The score was tied 35-35 at the halftime intermission.

Federal Holding Of Funds Will Cut Highway Program By 15 Per Cent

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — State Engineer John W. Hossack reports Nebraska's 1968 highway program will probably be reduced 15 percent under the Federal Government's plan to hold back road-building funds.

He said the state had planned to spend about $50 million on roadway improvements during 1968 before the recent U. S. Transportation Department announcement.

This included $23 million for interstate work, $24 million for primary-secondary highways and $13 million for recreation roads.

Transportation Secretary Alan S. Boyd said $600 million in federal highway money will be withheld from the states during calendar 1968 to battle inflation.

The Federal Government pays up to 90 percent of interstate construction costs in Nebraska, and 50 percent on other major highways.

Hossack said if the cutback is prorated among the states on the basis of their normal federal allocation, Nebraska would be affected to the tune of $6.5 million to $7 million.

"This is about a 15 percent reduction from what we had planned," he said. "However, it could go higher than that, depending on the rules laid down by the government."

Hossack said he understands the latest announcement provides for a temporary freeze on some federal funds this year and does not necessarily mean the money will be lost altogether.

He noted a similar approach was used last year. He said Nebraska eventually got its full allocated share of highway funds.

Because of the heavy reliance of the interstate program on federal monies, this could be hit harder than primary highway development, Hossack acknowledged.

"But we will try to absorb the reduction in proportion to the amount of federal funds spent on the various projects," he said. Hossack said the state had planned to improve about 240 miles of primary and secondary highways and 30 miles of recreation roads in 1968.

Interstate plans include major construction on Interstate 480 through Omaha, Interstate 80 in South Omaha and Interstate 680 in North Omaha.

Outstate, he added, the state hopes to award grading and structure contracts on 16 miles of Interstate 80 from Barton Siding west to Chappell.

Court Rules Delinquency Law Valid

The State Supreme Court has ruled that a 1963 law making it a crime to contribute to the delinquency of a minor is constitutional.

The 6-1 decision reversed the finding of the Lincoln County District Court, which said the law was vague and uncertain.

The test case stemmed from a charge against Erwin C. Stumants and others under the law. The Lincoln County Court found them guilty but the district court did not.

The appeal was carried to the supreme court by the state. The sole issue was the constitutionality of the statute.

Defense attorneys contended the law was so broad and indefinite in its wording that it violated both the state and federal constitutions.

They claimed that under the law, any person over 18 could be prosecuted for a criminal offense when the minor involved might only have violated a civil statute, and that a child could be taken from his parents for overparking the family car or staying out beyond a community curfew.

However, the court majority said this was an incorrect, strict interpretation that does not press the intent of the legislature. "In construing a statute, the court must look to the object to be accomplished, the evils and mischief sought to be remedied . . . and place on it a reasonable or liberal construction which will best effect its purpose rather than one which will defeat it," wrote Associate Justice John E. Newton for the majority.

Associate Justice Hale M. Cown, in a sternly-worded dissent, said the decision gives Nebraska the only law in the country defining a delinquent child as one who has violated any law of the state or any city or village ordinance.

Johnson Feels Name Will Hurt

R. C. Johnson of Mead reports he will run again as an at large delegate to the Republican National Convention but feels his name will be a big disadvantage.

He said only registered Republicans can vote for GOP delegate candidates in the May 14 primary election and "how can a Republican in 1968 vote for any one with the name Johnson?"

Johnson has been a delegate to the past four GOP conventions. He is a member of the State Republican Central Committee.

He said he will run as an uncommitted delegate but feels strongly that New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller is the man that can beat President Johnson next fall.

Poverty Allocation May Rise
Nebraska should get $2,693,000 this year under the federal anti-poverty program, State Technical Assistance Director Samuel J. Cornelius has announced.

This would be an increase of $242,000 from last year and more than $500,000 over the first allocation in 1965.

Cornelius said he was advised by the state's expected appropriation by Office of Economic Opportunity officials in Kansas City, Mo. He said whether the money is actually sent to the state will depend on congressional action this year.

He said the appropriation includes $1.4 million for community action programs, $1.1 million for summer and full-time head start classes, and $135,000 for legal aid services to the poor.

Pohlman Relected To Fair Board

Floyd Pohlman of Auburn has been reelected president of the State Fair Board. Other officers are Monte Kiffin of Lexington, first vice president, Don Thompson of McCook, second vice president, and Don Seibold of Papillion, secretary-treasurer.

Henry Brandt of Lincoln was named fair manager for the fourth consecutive year. Bryan Heinz of Henry was appointed to the board to replace Harry Knight of Hemingford, who resigned.

Tiemann Studies Local Sales Tax

Governor Tiemann reports he is studying the possibility of supporting legislation to permit cities and counties to levy a sales tax to meet local government costs.

He said this might be one way to make up the estimated $46 million that would be lost if voters allow abolishment of all personal property taxes.

AL Auxiliary To Sponsor Essays On Americanism

American Legion Auxiliary met Monday evening at Parkview Village for their regular meeting.

Next month is Americanism month and the Auxiliary is again sponsoring an Americanism Essay Contest for Junior High pupils in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades and Senior High pupils in the 10, 11 and 12th grades. Besides the unit prizes the Department prizes are $25.00 Savings Bonds. The English teachers have been contacted. It was decided to send $25.00 for the Little Red School House Fund which is for Nurses Scholarships for Veteran's children.

Dolsie Waterman, who has been in charge of the Auxiliary Savings stamp sales in the Ord grade and Catholic schools, reported that in October $221.90 worth of stamps were sold, in November $182.85 and in December $122.55 making a total of $527.30 to the first of January. Members of the Auxiliary are asked to bring two dozen cookies to the Veterans Club for the "Open House" this Sunday afternoon. Coffee and cookies will be served.

Mrs. Corwin Cummins and Mrs. Froyne Klancey served refreshments after the meeting.

North Loup Auxiliary Donates To Nurse Fund

At the Monday evening meeting of the North Loup American Legion Auxiliary it was voted to give $25 to the nurse's scholarship fund. Members chose, also, to compile the suggested book of prayers. The organization will again sponsor a Girl Stater and a Representative to the state.

A total of 1357 Butternut coupons and key strips were collected and sent in plus two large quilts and one small quilt.

A tour of the Soldiers and Sailors home in Grand Island is planned for Feb. 12.

A thought provoking New Year's devotion, comparing life to a watch was read by the chairman, Mrs. Don Benben. Lunch was served by Betty Jacobs and Merna Shaffer to the Legion and Auxiliary members.

Dr. Kline Notes Progress Of Pupils At Ord School For Retarded Children

On a recent visit to the school for retarded children here in Ord, Dr. Barton Kline, Director of Educational Service Units 12 and 13 noted the fine progress the children are making.

"These children," commented Dr. Kline, "are progressing very well. My first observation of the school in September," said Dr. Kline, "was not too favorable. I felt that for the most part, the children were too severely handicapped to be able to achieve desired objectives. I was mistaken. All of them have increased their attention span so that they are able to concentrate on paper and pencil work."

"The school," continued Dr. Kline, "is in real need of more space and teaching materials. Those of us who are working with these children in an effort to make them more nearly independent and self-sufficient are in hopes that Educational Service Unit 13 (Loup and Valley Counties) can acquire the support of the other counties in the Unit, Custer, Garfield and Blaine, in order to have sufficient financial support to maintain and improve the school."

There are nine children enrolled in the school. Mrs. Mary Ane Nelson is the teacher. Mrs. Lila Gross is Mrs. Nelson's Aide.

Individuals or organizations who would like to give financial support to the school or contribute service may contact either Mrs. Nelson or Dr. Kline for suggestions as to what they may do. An example of need is a flag pole in the school yard that the children may learn something about the flag and flag etiquette.

Some indoor games requiring manipulative skills, a new phonograph or a filmstrip projector are further examples of need. The list is extensive if anyone is interested in helping.

Woman's Club Meets With Mrs. Don Edwards

The Woman's Club of Ord met with Mrs. Don Edwards, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Paul Martin was a guest.

Mrs. Wayne Zlomke presented the program titled "Yesterday's Triumphs, Tomorrow's Problems." This topic related that tuberculosis, rabies and venereal disease could be controlled to the very minimum, yet through negligence, they have become highly widespread even in this day and age.

All members participated in a current event discussion with topics involving politics, the theater, new sports, new clubs and our Air Mail service. These selections were introduced with a piece of poetry by Mrs. George Baker.

Moderate Or Liberal!

The last thing in the world that we would wish to do in this space is to generate disunity and name calling in the home. We fully realize that there is some risk of doing that in printing here some figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture. But somebody, or maybe many bodies, in that sprawling Department has separated the bread-winners in this country into moderates and liberals. It seemed to us that you would want to know how you rate.

According to the Department of Agriculture, if your children have flown the coop and you and your wife are living alone now, you'll qualify as a liberal if you give your good wife $19.69 a week for groceries. If you're content to be only a moderate, then you can get by if you hand over only $17.90. Anything less than that and you're a ditty name of some kind with the Department of Agriculture — and maybe with your wife, too.

But, if you have a boy, age 9 to 12, and a teen-age girl aged 12 to 15, then the food bill is something else again, says the Department. The ante for feeding yourself, wife and two youngsters, is $36.20. That's the moderate-rating figure. To qualify as a liberal, you'd better be turning over $41.80 to the boss-lady.

There are some Departmental ground rules: the above figures do not include taking the little woman, or the family, out to a restaurant for a meal any time during the week, nor are any snacks thrown in. If you want to nibble on something while you read these lines you're going to have to pay extra. That goes for any between-meals snacks the teenagers in the family consume, too.

According to the Department, that teen-age girl in the family eats more than either her father, mother or younger brother. But we don't find any statistics covering the eventuality that the teen-ager in the family is a boy, instead of a girl. And any bread-winner knows that a teen-age boy can eat more than all the rest of the family at any one sitting and still need folding money a couple of times a week for snacks.

One further caution, dad. In establishing your status as a moderate or liberal, you'd better add 3 percent to the Department's figures. That's how much food prices for home use will go up during the year. That increase may affect your rating.

View From The River's Edge

(By Glenn Frederick in the Cassville (Wisconsin) American)

Why does a community lose population or at best remain stationary in growth? I believe that "opportunity" is one of the key words and reasons. If a young person feels or finds that his town offers him no opportunities, then he will go elsewhere. His hometown thus loses not only the individual but his probable family of four or five.

Just think what it would mean to a town this size if it were able to employ all or even half of the graduating seniors of 1968. That would mean an eventual increase of 100 to 300 in the population statistics.

Alas, this is not probable or possible. There is too little opportunity for them. There may be a few jobs, but they offer little in the way of a future. So the greatest percentage of the class, especially the males, goes elsewhere to make a living.

Wouldn't it be nice if there were more chances for them to have a future here at home? If there were, I believe many more would stay than now do. Many of them would just as soon stay in the hometown if there were "opportunity."

Wouldn't it be nice if there were some organizations or employers or methods to provide apprenticeships, training or what have you to a certain number of graduates each year — high school and college?

Certainly employers in small towns are hard-pressed for paying those employees they now have. Keeping this in mind, wouldn't it be possible to set up a fund for helping employers meet the cost of an additional person? A stipulation could be that each contributor to such a fund would be allowed his turn at hiring a graduate.

Certainly, it would require more thought as to the soundness of the above idea, but something should be done to keep small towns from shrinking into oblivion.

A Big Biscuit

You know, this cooking for one is the bunk. Tonight I hit a new low. I made ONE large biscuit, just for me, because I was hungry for biscuits.

Usually I invite someone in to eat with me . . . otherwise I have to eat stew several meals, or a roast several days, or throw out a lot of goodies, which makes my Scots grandmother (Campbell) holt rise up and bother me.

I was also raised to clean up my plate, in case you can't guess.

But seriously, I get hungry for boiled tongue. Or roast beef hash. Or cornbread. Or old-fashioned buckwheat cakes. Or fried mush. Or stuffed cabbage rolls. I could go on and on but you get the idea. Some of these things take a good deal of preparation and I simply won't bother when it's only for me.

And for some reason the recipes and the colored pictures of tasty dishes keep getting more intriguing. And they seem to print more of them with every issue.

While I strive to stay under 130 pounds.

Another thing, I love to cook. I like to mess in the kitchen. It's a great feeling to make something good, especially breads and pies. And meats . . . well, I could go on indefinitely. I am always find inspiration for a good meal at the meat counter, in fact I can't understand these gals who "can't think of anything to cook."

Any grocery store blows my fuse. And any time I'm depressed I take to the kitchen.

But it's quite different to make a batch of peanut butter cookies and have them vanish while they're warm . . . and have them occupying a counter for a week. They aren't quite so appetizing.

That one large biscuit turned out to be about as big as four — big enough for say three meals. I got out the syrup and butter — and it was quite crusty and good.

I love biscuits — but don't want them three meals in a row either!

Injuries To Good Samaritans

One evening while Joe was returning home, he came on the scene of an accident. He heard calls for help and, being a good samaritan, he responded. He found one of the drivers trapped in his car which had started to burn. Joe managed to pull the injured man free, but in doing so he seriously injured an arm on a piece of jagged glass. Most courts would permit Joe to recover damages for the injuries suffered from the party whose negligence caused the accident.

The rescue doctrine provides, in general, that one who is injured in reasonably making a necessary rescue may recover from the person whose negligence created the situation necessitating rescue. In brief, the law recognizes that danger invites rescue. A call for help will usually bring an attempt at relief. A person who negligently places another in a position of danger will be held responsible to any person injured in a reasonable attempt to aid the endangered person.

A defendant parks his car on a hill on a busy street without applying the brakes. The car starts to roll and a plaintiff is injured in attempting to stop the car. The plaintiff can recover damages for any injuries suffered. A person answering a call for help from an apartment building stumbled over broken flooring in the hall of the building was permitted to recover from the owner of the building. A party was seriously burned when in response to calls for help he rescued a friend from a burning room. The fire was caused by the negligent use of a highly inflammable fluid to clean a motor. A recovery was permitted.

The rule is well settled that one who sees a person in peril caused by the negligence of another does not defeat a recovery because he voluntarily exposes himself to danger in attempting a rescue. In such a situation the person who creates the danger should anticipate that innocent third parties may be exposed to danger because of their negligence.

The Ord Quiz
Ord, Nebraska
Dear Kerry:

We always look forward each week to the arrival of The Quiz and have really enjoyed news of the Centennial activities this past year. We were able to attend the Ash Hollow pageant near Jewell which was quite spectacular.

All this recollection of our past has really sparked my interest in Nebraska history and I've been absorbed in reading the books of Mari Sandoz. Also, another book, Them Was The Days, tells of the origin of my home town, Arcadia. It is the saga of the Hawthorne family.

For the past several years, I've been studying aviation magazines and books (influence of Evelyn Sharp?) reading of new developments and devices in aircraft. In due course ideas began to come into my mind regarding a new type of airplane wing that is completely retractable and unlike anything I've been able to find in my research. These wings, hopefully, could be incorporated in a new light-weight, dual purpose, land-air vehicle. It would probably have a basic airplane configuration, but with the wings completely retracted, it would then become a land vehicle. Two people in the aviation field have told me it would work, but requires unknown time and funds for research and development.

If talents and creative ideas come to us from God for beneficial use, and I firmly believe this, then our ideas should be carried to a natural conclusion, whether that is success, or a lesson in humility. So, a course is set and — "The woods are snowy, cold and deep and I have promises to keep . . ." Among these are to try to make available a safer vehicle than our present ones, to try to benefit and return something to the community where I grew up, to help with better schooling the most deprived of our people, the American Indians. (Mari Sandoz would understand) in addition to a reasonable profit.

Thus, I am more interested in finding a way to begin development than in selling the idea and would welcome suggestions as I already have the patent pending on it.

Having read that Ord and Valley County are interested in attracting new industry, and believing that many heads are better than one, I've written in the hope that maybe someone will help come up with a plan, perhaps to induce a company to come there and build a facility for this purpose, or another workable alternative plan. Also, being a sentimental plainswoman and believer in the merits of life in a smaller town, for a long time I've wanted to come back to Valley County to live.

I know this all sounds like a wild dream, especially as I've omitted the details and just offered the overall idea, but if one is going to dream it may as well be big.

Thank you and hope you and yours are well.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Donald Beran

KERRY ON

—that's life—
Allow me to deviate from the usual philosophic tone of this corner and relate to you some very weird happenings. "It could never happen to ME!" goes the age-old expression. Ah, yes . . . but it could!

It all started about ten days ago . . . the story I'm about to tell. It had been a gruesome day — an utter nightmare. From the time I crawled out of bed in the morning, things grew progressively worse. I didn't think it would ever end. But it did, long before midnight.

In the middle of a full production schedule, our printing plant was grinding away trying to meet deadlines. Shortly after lunch I walked to the backroom to survey the scene. Spotting a small group of employees around our largest press I nervously approached and asked, "Something wrong?"

"Ground to a halt . . . Don't know what happened. Guess she just froze up."

My heart sank as I watched. "If it's worn out, I'll just have to get a new one," I kept telling myself. But there was one chance in a hundred that this mighty piece of cast iron that had run millions of printed impressions "could" be repaired. Having an appointment to keep, I left the office only to return later that evening to find that the trouble looked "serious."

The nearest repairman was in Kansas City and it would take several days to get him here. Meanwhile every moment lost was lost production time. As best we could, jobs were rerouted onto smaller presses in hopes of meeting deadlines. And I kept the phone hot to Kansas City, trying to get my man here as soon as possible.

Wednesday he arrived by plane at Grand Island and one of the men met him, bringing him straight to Ord to "diagnose" the trouble. Within an hour I had my answer. The press was shot. Period.

You either sink or swim these days, so immediately I sat down and decided to try and swim for my life. Where could I get a new press and how soon? My man from K. C. said he'd return that day and thought he knew of one that could be shipped up from there within a week — perhaps a little longer. "Okay," I said. "Where do we start?"

"First we have to figure out how to get the old press out so we'll have room for the new one," he told me.

"We'll have to tear a hole in the wall of the building," I replied, relating to him how Quiz Graphic Arts had been built around the equipment — rather than the equipment moved in after the building was erected.

We surveyed the inside of the building, then stepped into the alley to see what tearing out the wall would involve. By this time I had about reached the end of my rope. I doubted that the sun would ever shine again.

As we stood talking in the alley my secretary walked around the building and said, "Kerry, your wanted on long distance. It's 'To Tell The Truth' — you know, that television show."

"Leave me alone! I thought . . . but didn't say it. 'Okay,' I told her, 'I'll be right there. But knock off the funny stuff, will ya?'"

Walking dejectedly back to the front office to answer my phone,

Lila Naeve — the one that had called me back into the office — grinned from ear to ear. I walked on into my own office and took the phone off the hook. "Kerry speaking."

"Mr. Leggett," the voice on the other end of the line said questioning. "One moment please, Mimi O'Brien of 'To Tell The Truth' would like to speak to you."

"Okay, funny girl . . . put her on," I thought.

"Hello, Mr. Leggett? This is Mimi O'Brien of 'To Tell The Truth' at CBS Television. I have an article in my hand about you. It's from the MAGAZINE OF THE MIDLANDS . . . have you ever seen it?"

"Yes," I replied, wondering what they'd objected to in the article about my life that appeared in mid-December.

"Is it true?" she asked.

"I'm afraid it is," was my reply. "I see the article it tells about what a rotten, stinking, drunken bum I was before I sobered up . . . and this was just how I felt at the moment she asked me, 'Is it true?'"

"Well, we'd like to fly you to New York to be on the show," she said. I thought she was kidding.

"I'll tell you what," she continued, "you'll be flown in here Sunday evening, briefed on Monday morning, will cut a film Tuesday and we'll fly you back. Okay?"

"Okay . . . I guess," I meekly replied.

"Good. Now here's what we'll do . . ." and away she went.

By the time the phone conversation was over, I was nearly hysterical. How can everything BAD and everything GOOD happen the same day, I thought.

By now the office girls were buzzing. My wife, (whose desk is just outside my door) was turning redder by the minute. She's the type that loses her 'cool' over such things. (They hadn't invited her to accompany me . . . among other things.)

So . . . tomorrow (Jan. 28) I leave for New York. And the press will get installed while I'm gone. And my wife will cool down (I hope). And the world will go on . . . I think. Unless . . . of course . . . I get a letter in the mail tomorrow saying I've won the Reader's Digest Sweepstakes. If that should happen, I hope the editor puts my obituary right under this column so you'll all know how it came about.

Ord Girl On Tour
Jan Rathbun of Ord is one of fifty members of the Kearney State College symphonic wood ensemble which is touring north central Nebraska Feb. 21 to 23. Those on the tour are selected by audition and only the top instrumentalists are chosen. Jan plays the clarinet.

Council Capers
We hope that the action by the Ord City Council Monday evening regarding issuance of a bottle club license by the Tavern isn't typical of action to be taken in the future by the governing group.

Because it seemed to us that they were telling Darrel Smith "No, we don't want folks around here to spend money expanding and enlarging their business."
It seems that since there is a pretty good chance of the state liquor commission issuing the license that the council could have given such an expansion its stamp of approval. And whether this is or not it seems that any business that wishes to expand should be allowed to do so if we are to have a forward-moving Ord.

The Smiths were obviously disgusted and we don't blame them, for at an earlier meeting the council had indicated, without taking a vote, that they would probably okay the request.
Ord needs more aggressive businessmen like Darrel Smith — and less negative action by the council. We hope they get the license.

Better Crowd Interest
Wrestling is apparently beginning to catch on in Ord. There was a good-sized crowd on hand for Tuesday's action at the gymnasium and Coach Jim Ramsey may well be proud of the rookie wrestling team which won six of seven matches against Central City.

School Board
Don't forget that the Ord School District No. 5 board of education meets Monday evening, Feb. 12 at 7:30 at the Cronk Building. The meeting is usually held on the first Monday of each month, but other commitments forced a change in February.

Joins Fraternity
Jerry Ulrich of Ord recently was initiated into Sigma Chi, English honorary fraternity at Kearney State College. Miss Joan Absalon of Ord is an active member of the organization.

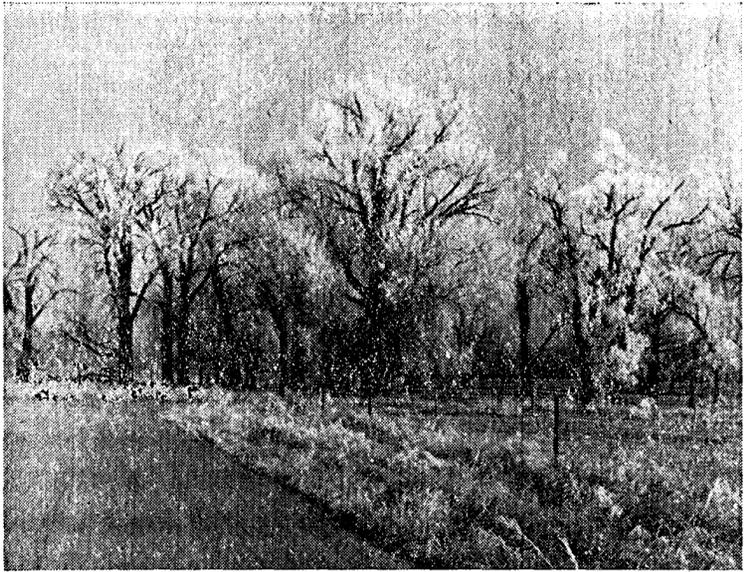

Reward Offered
The Valley County Sheriff's office is offering a reward in the amount of $10 to anyone furnishing information that will lead to the apprehension of persons removing magnetic signs from motor vehicles. Sheriff Fox says the info will be kept confidential. If you have information contact the sheriff's office at Ord.

"... And Smile!"

The teller pushed back another note: "Straighten your tie, stupid, we're taking your picture."

Ord Development Corp. Offers More Stock For Sale
The Ord Development Corporation is seeking to sell about $2,000 more of 3 1/2 percent preferred stock as a means of paying off holders of checks from the old Co-op Creamery.

The corporation urges everyone who has not purchased stock to do so and it is offered in the amount of from $100 up to $1,000. For more information contact either Glen Auble, president of ODC or Norm Schmidt, who is secretary of the organization.

The ODC has assumed an equipment contract at the Ord Cheese Company and has released enough money, all at one time, for the former Co-op to be able to pay one-half of all outstanding checks.
The checks are now at the Ord Cheese Company plant and can be picked up at the office at which time the checks will be stamped half-paid. Plans call for paying off the remaining half in the near future.

PRETTY—BUT CHILLY!—Mother Nature was up to her tricks Monday morning as a heavy fog and mist hung over much of Valley County. The mist and cool temperature resulted in a pretty pattern of frost over the trees as shown in a picture taken north of Ord early in the morning. The sun came out later and it was only a matter of minutes before the frost had disappeared.

City Gives $7,500 to Vets
Smitty's Request For Bottle Club License Is Rejected By Council

The Ord City Council Monday night unanimously rejected a request by Darrel Smith of Smitty's Tavern for a bottle club license, which would have enabled him to build a $40,000 addition to his present tavern.

The city council, after hearing those opposed to the request, told Smith that the members believed there was enough liquor places in Ord in view of the fact that there are four liquor stores, two places with liquor licenses and four taverns.

Bill Darges of Darges Liquor Store appeared as spokesman for Wibeig Liquor Store; Sedlacek's Liquor Store and Janda's Liquor Store. He told the council that they felt that such a license would "hurt their businesses."

Smith said that his plans called for obtaining the license to enable him to build on to his present tavern and serve meals, where folks could buy liquor. He said he doubted very much if it would have any effect on the business of the liquor stores.

"I run an orderly establishment. I serve good pay here and I see no good reason why such a license should not be granted," Smith told the councilmen.
Mrs. Smith, who was also present, reminded the council that it had issued a dance license to them and had said they would not issue any more, but a month later they did issue another dance license.

"We did not complain and it didn't hurt our business," Mrs. Smith said.
The council briefly debated the issue and on a roll call vote all those present voted "No."

The Smiths were reminded that the state liquor commission has the last "say" in issuance of the license and there was a pretty good chance that the state would go ahead and issue the license.

The license now goes back to the state for final action.
In other action Monday the council approved a request from the Ord Veterans Building Committee for a donation in the amount of $7,500 under the terms of the will of C. J. Mortenson, deceased.

The city receives some $4,000 per year from the state to be used as the city sees fit for charitable, educational, philanthropic or public purposes. After reviewing the fund the council settled on the amount of $7,500 and the approval was unanimous.

The request was made by Lloyd Zikmund, speaking on behalf of the committee. Committee members present were Jim Sich, Dean Misko, Clarence Fox and E. L. Vogelanz.

The council spent some time determining whether or not the money would be used for "charitable, educational, philanthropic or public purposes" as called for in the will since it was going to the Veteran's Club.
Misko related to the council that the new building has a basement which will be for public use by clubs, organizations, teen dances or any other public purpose. He added that there is a separate entrance to the basement, which enables youngsters

Speech Therapy Program Helps Ord Students To Speak Better

Speech therapy is one of the new ESSEA Title I, federally funded programs which were started in the Ord Comstock schools this year. Mrs. Bosworth is our speech therapist. This program is aimed at the student whose speech either: (1) interferes with communication; (2) calls attention to itself; or (3) causes the student to feel self-conscious. Students included in this program were referred to the speech therapist by the classroom teacher. The students were then tested for sounds and placed in the speech therapy program on the basis of these tests. Some children are instructed on an individual basis. Others work in small groups of two, three, or four students.

The younger students, those in kindergarten and first grade, are placed in a "speech stimulation" program. The work here is general and presented with stories and games which often stress a particular sound. Through listening, the child's ability to discriminate between different sounds is sharpened. Often, improvement follows this development of discrimination without any direct work being done on particular sounds. It is important for the child to learn to listen well before he can develop adequate speech.

Beginning in the second grade, usually the child works intensively with one sound at a time. No matter which sound is being worked on, speech therapy proceeds in the following way. First, the child learns to listen for the sound and to tell where it occurs in a word (at the first, middle, or end). This is probably the most important step in speech therapy—making sure the child hears the sound as different from other sounds. Secondly, the child learns to produce the sound in isolation. Step three involves using the sound in "nonsense" syllables and "nonsense" words. Lastly, the student must "carry-over" the newly corrected sound into all his speech outside speech therapy class. This last step is often the most difficult and involves the co-operation of the classroom teacher and the parents.

A great deal of the work done in speech therapy class is in the form of games and stories. All these activities, of course, stress the sound on which the group or individual is concentrating. At the same time, this game-story approach helps the child to enjoy speech therapy, and makes him more responsive. Speech is such a personal activity that progress would be much slower if the student did not enjoy the work.

Mrs. Bosworth welcomes anyone who wishes to visit her classes or to conference with her.

At Valley Office
ASCS Signup To Divert Acres Is 121 In Two Days

Lloyd Zikmund, manager of the Valley County ASCS office, reports that 121 farmers signed up Monday and Tuesday for diversion of feed grain acres under the government program.

Those signing for more than 20 percent diversion are eligible for advance payments.

Across the state ASCS offices reported heavy signup.

Joseph A. Tresnak of Lincoln, State ASCS executive director, said the early flurry would seem to indicate a record signup in Nebraska.

Early reports also indicated that farmers are diverting a higher percentage of base acres than they did in 1966, the last year a 50 percent diversion was allowed, Tresnak noted.

Participating farmers are permitted to collect half of their diversion payments at signup time and the remainder when compliance is completed at harvest time.

NFO-inspired signs carrying the "no price, no production" slogan of the current holding action were carried by farmers in some offices.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley has said his organization is going all the way to support a full 50 percent diversion of feed grain acres. Staley has termed it a "legal and just means for farmers to cut down on production" in support of the current effort to improve grain prices.

Tresnak said some ASCS managers and committeemen indicated NFO members "were there in force" Monday.

Ord C-C Donates $100 To Veterans Club At Meeting

The Ord Chamber of Commerce voted to donate $100 to the Ord Veterans Club, at its regular meeting last Thursday noon at Party Paradise which attracted 42 members and two guests.

Pres. Don Sears introduced two new members — Rev. Clarence Campbell and Frank Mottl and he also reported that Chamber of Commerce dues are coming in rapidly.

It was also announced that the Chamber of Commerce would advertise equally with the KMYV radio station and the Ord QUIZ and Lynn Chichester, retail chairman, asked for suggestions on a Leap Year promotion.

Sears told the group that the Chamber of Commerce was studying the possibility of buying liability insurance and that information was being gathered to be studied before doing so.

George Haynes of the Valley County Community Action Program appeared before the chamber asking a $500 donation from the county to take part in the program. Clark Weckbach and Gen. Auble both agreed that they believed this amount could be raised. Roger Clough said he would have a report on CAP at the next meeting.

Auble made a report on the Ord Cheese Company progress and Sears thanked Stella Anderson of Party Paradise for preparing the meals during the past six months.

Firm's Figures Stand
Supervisors Rescind Action Which Reduced Reappraisal Figures

Action by the Valley County board of supervisors last September has been rescinded and the county's rural and urban land values are now back where the reappraisal firm of Justin Haynes placed them after reappraising the county.

Last July the board had gone on record approving the reappraisal firm's figures, but in September the board approved a 20 per cent reduction from the firm's figures.

County Assessor Frank Mottl had objected strongly to the reduction at that time and had continued to do so on the basis that he had checked many land sales against the appraised values and all had been higher.

The reappraisal resulted in a 28 per cent increase in rural land values and an increase of nearly 19 per cent in urban values in the county and following the action by the board that is where the values will remain.

The action was taken by the supervisors at a meeting held Friday, January 25, but was not reported to the QUIZ until Wednesday. The board usually meets the first Tuesday of each month.

At the board's regular meeting Tuesday a representative of the Hastings vocational-technical school was present to explain to the board what procedure Valley County would have to take to be included in the school.

They were told that 13 counties are in the school and that the issue would have to go to a vote in Valley County if the school's services were to be made available to Valley County. No action was taken but the move is being considered by the board.

Four bids for lumber to be used by the county was opened with the successful bidder being Wheeler Lumber and Supply of Hastings.

County road workers appeared before the board seeking a pay raise. They were told that they would have to wait until next year's budget is figured and the raises would be taken into consideration.

Ord Chants Take To The Road For Weekend Games

Ted Dubas, Enroute To Vietnam, Visits Friends, Relatives Here

A former Valley County resident has just returned from Madrid, Spain after three and one-half years and Saturday he'll head for Vietnam where he will continue his work as civilian personnel officer for the United States Air Force.

He is Ted Dubas, a native of Elyria, who is a brother of Edward Dubas and Mrs. Steve Dubas of Elyria. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dubas both deceased.

While in Spain Ted was stationed at Torrejon Air Base, located near Madrid. His duties there were recruiting and assigning civilian personnel for employment at the air base.

Ted termed his tour of duty in Spain as "the best tour I have ever had". He said the association with the Spanish people was great and it was a fine country in which to live.

Ted said living conditions there were similar to that in the United States, but said he felt that living costs were somewhat less than in the U.S. He added that Gen. Franco has done an outstanding job of bolstering the economy in Spain—much better than any previous leaders in that country.

He said in the past few years car sales in Spain have increased sharply and that many Spaniards are the owners of small compact cars, which are manufactured in Spain. He added that in the newer part of Madrid the streets are similar to those in the United States, but in old Madrid they are narrow and difficult to travel.

Ted said the national pastime in Spain is bull-fighting and soccer. He said they did not have baseball or football on a widespread competitive basis such as they have in the U.S.

He told of the incident a couple of years ago when a U.S. plane crashed at Palomares, Spain and several hydrogen bombs were lost in the sea.

"Although this is 200 miles from Madrid I certainly learned a lot about underwater recovery procedure. It caused quite a stir," Ted commented.

He will leave Saturday, Feb. 10 from Travis Air Force Base in California for Vietnam where he will be engaged in the same line of duty that he was in Spain.

How does he feel about going to Vietnam? "I really have no feeling about it one way or another. I look at it as a job that has to be done and I am ready to go," Ted stated. He said his wife would reside at Denver, Colorado while he is in Vietnam.

Ted and his wife have five children. Ellen is attending American College of Paris and will remain there until June when she will join her mother in Denver. Two other daughters are Martha Ann Sims, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Mrs. Tom Lickteig, Denver, Colorado. Their two sons are Lt. Lawrence Dubas, aboard the USS Joseph Daniels out of Norfolk, Va. and Robert Dubas, a student at the University of Colorado.

Ted plans to visit relatives and friends in this area before leaving for the coast and on to Vietnam.

"The Best Step You Can Take"

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

We have no household pets, so when a large white insulated box containing live lobsters arrived by Air Express, last Friday, Shert and Shannon were quick to adopt one for their very own.

The eight "creepy crawlers" were a belated Christmas gift, shipped directly from a Salt-water Farm in Maine.

Having had no experience in cooking a seafood feast such as this, I called on the family who were all willing to assist. We found it to be a far easier project than we had anticipated. The easy-to-follow directions which accompanied the shipment were a definite help, however.

The easy steps read like this: 1. Remove the tin container containing the sea foods from the air box. 2. Furch a hole or two in the container lid with icepick or nail, and pour in a quart of well-salted water for each eight or ten lobsters. Two tablespoons of salt per quart is plenty — but individual tastes vary. 2. Set container on stovetop over open fireplace and cook for 25 minutes AFTER steam appears. (Depending on the heat provided and the size of the container, it may take an hour or more to get the steam up.) 4. When the cooking time is up, remove container from heat. . . . and your Seafood Feast is ready to serve. Surprise: During this cooking process, the shells of these dark brown (or is the color black) creatures have turned a red-orange shade. Results: delicious.

May I add, right here and now . . . we did cook only seven of the lobsters. The other one was spared from the hot water bath, but even so lived only until Sunday . . . proving that these sea foods do require the cold fresh Gulf waters to survive. So . . . once again, we have no household pets.

A book called the World's Funniest Offbeat Humor was published several months ago by Paul B. Lowney of Seattle, Wash. Sample: A man was bitten by a dog, and eventually was told by the doctor that he had rabies. The patient took out a pad and pen, and started writing. "No need to write your will," said the doctor. "We'll pull you through." "It's not my will," said the man. "It's a list of people I'm going to bite."

Congratulations to the Jaycee and Chamber of Commerce award winners. No one is ever honored for what he received. Honor is the reward for what he gave.

I like the new Veteran's Club building. Pay no attention if you see me feeling that elegant wall covering. I adore flopped wallpaper!

This casserole recipe is from Mrs. Herb Nelson's collection. 1-10 1/2 oz. can condensed Cream of Celery soup 1/2 c. miracle whip salad dressing 1/4 c. milk 1/2 c. shredded Parmesan cheese 1-7 3/4 oz. can salmon, (boned and flaked) 1-10 oz. pkg. frozen peas, (cooked and drained) 1-4 oz. pkg. noodles (cooked and drained) 1 T. chopped onion. Combine the soup, miracle whip, milk, cheese and blend well. Stir in salmon, peas, noodles and onion. Pour into a 1 1/2 qt. casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 25 minutes.

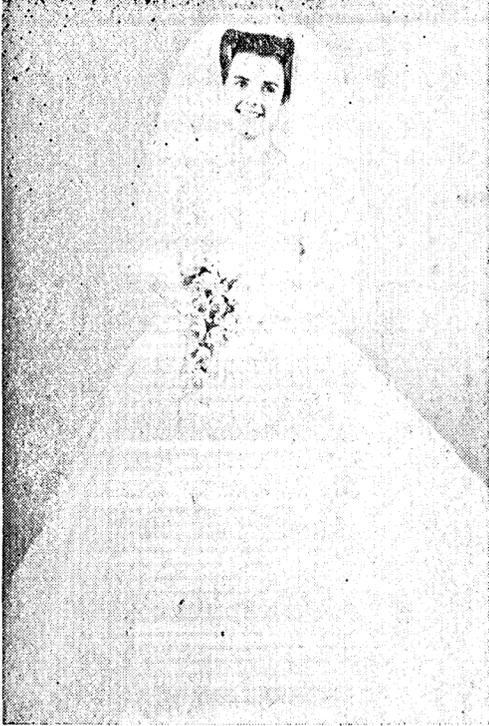

Mrs. Nelson states, "You really can substitute with this recipe." She has used chicken or tuna instead of salmon and Cream of Mushroom Soup in place of the celery soup.

Did you know . . . that rubbing alcohol may be used to remove ball point ink spots from clothing.

Coffee Cup Philosophy: The difference between stumbling blocks and stepping stones is how you use them. Kick them and you stumble, step on them and you climb.

Janet Fox Exchanges Wedding Vows With James Burkey At Lincoln

Janet Fox of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Fox of Ord, became the bride of James W. Burkey of Lincoln on Saturday, Feb. 3. The 3 o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Victor Balla at the First Baptist Church in Lincoln.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Burkey of Lincoln. Organ music was provided by the church organist who also accompanied the vocalist, Paul Surface.

An arch of white mums and lemon leaves decorated the altar on which stood the two seven branch candelabra. Hurricane lamp tapers marked the pews.

Joyce Durand of Lincoln was maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length gown of red velvet. The sleeveless bodice was styled with empire lines. She wore white shoes and white formal length gloves. Her headpiece was a small red chapel veil. She carried a white Bible with a cluster of red roses and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Judy Fox of Kearney, sister of the bride, Mary Fox of Grand Island, sister-in-law of the bride and Sherry Hill of Lincoln. They were dressed identically to the maid-of-honor. Each carried a single red rose, rested on a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

Lisa Ludlow was the flower girl. She wore a red velvet frock and carried a white basket filled with red rose petals.

Dorothy and Sarah O'Shea of Lincoln were candlelighters. They were dressed in red velvet floor-length gowns with headbands of red-edged carnations. The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a charmingly lace bouffant gown, styled with a fitted bodice. Traditional long fitted sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist. Scalloped lace ruffled tiers were lavishly used on the bouffant skirt terminating into a chapel length train. Iridescent sequins further enhanced the gown. Her scalloped silk illusion veil was draped to a queen's crown of angel skin peau, accented with a crystal scallop. She carried a "Presentation" bouquet of red roses and carried out the age old tradition of something, old, new, borrowed, blue and a penny in her shoe.

Best man was Jerry Burkey of Lincoln, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Charles Fox of Grand Island, brother of the bride, Bud Knudson and Paul Hill both of Lincoln. Mr. Knudson and Mr. Hill also served as ushers. They wore white dinner jackets and dark trousers. Their boutonnières were of red-edged carnations.

A reception in the church parlors was held immediately following the wedding with Mano Mohn as hostess. The serving table was covered with a nylon net bordered with a medallion design of white felt over a white linen cloth. A four tiered cake frosted white with red rosebuds centered the table. Triple red tapers were placed at each end of the table. Mrs. Connie Burkey of Lincoln served punch, Mrs. Doyle Garwood of Aurora cut the cake and Mrs. Gilford Morgan of Bro-

Ord Wrestlers Score Six Wins In 28 To 24 Loss To Central City

The Ord High School wrestling team dropped a 28-24 decision to Central City Tuesday evening, but made an excellent showing in view of the fact that Central City gained 25 of their points on forfeits.

In the matches in which Ord competed they won six and lost only one, that by a decision. Coach Jim Ramsey said he was well pleased with the performance of his wrestlers and that he wished to thank all who have helped make Ord's first year of wrestling a success.

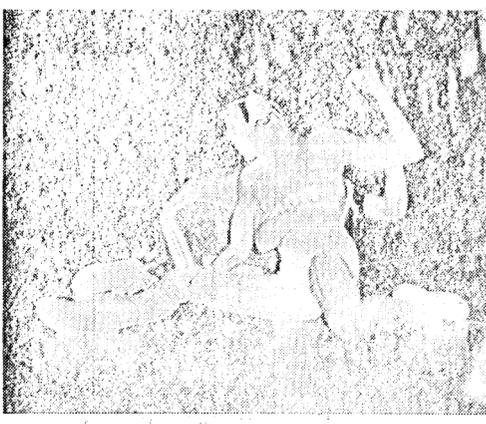

Ord started out by losing three reserve matches. John Dale of Ord was pinned in 1:53 of the third by Warren Treptow. This was a good match with Dale ahead on points prior to getting pinned with only four seconds left to go. Dale Baldwin of Ord was pinned in 1:13 of the first by Les Denning and Tom Beran dropped an 8-2 decision to Gary Christensen.

The varsity results:
 112 pound — Terry Lee of Ord decisively won Central City, 4-0.
 123 pound — Allen Cahill of Ord pinned Mike Gehagen in :45 of the third.
 127 pound — Tim Markley decisively won McHargue, 2-0.
 133 pound — Leonard Krason decisively won King, 7-1.
 133 pound — Denning of Central City decisively won Naeve, 4-3.
 145-pound — Darrel Hackel pinned Steve Steckmeyer in 1:20 of the third.
 154 pound — Roger Cahill pinned Randy Feuster in 1:20 of the third.
 Ord forfeited in the 95, 103, 155 and 180 and heavyweight divisions.

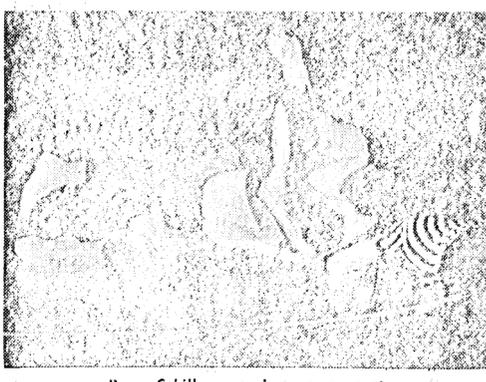

Next action for the Ord team will be Saturday at O'Neill where they will spend all day participating in the district meet. Last Saturday in the Central Ten meet at Schuyler, Hackel placed fourth in the 145 pound division.

Tim Markley wins by a decision.

Terry Lee on way to decision.

Roger Cahill scores pin over opponent.

Wegner Hits 42 As NLS Wins Loup Valley Title

The Wildcats of North Loup - Scotia High School are the new Loup Valley Conference tournament champions following a 95-63 win Saturday in the finals over the team from Litchfield.

In the consolation ball game Wolbach tripped Loup City Central Catholic 62-55 for the third place trophy.

The Wildcats, leading 20-19 after one period caught fire in the second and outscored Litchfield 21-4 with big Chuck Wegner leading the way. The big center, apparently recovered from a football injury, earned 42 points on 17 field goals and eight of 12 from the free throw line. It was his best effort of the season. Jim Clement aided the cause with 17 points and Jim Jeffers fired in 14. In the final two periods the Wildcats outscored Litchfield 27-16 and 27-24 to win the game going away.

Bob Kungé was Litchfield's top shooter with 19 tallies. Gene Stevens had 18 and John Bacus tossed in 13 for the losers.

Last Wednesday night North Loup - Scotia gained the finals by whipping Wolbach 53-52 using 14 of 23 gift shots to gain the victory as both teams tossed in 22 field goals apiece.

STARTING OF SPORTS WITH THE GOOD

A great golfer — no doubt about it!

The Ord Chants were in their last weekend, but will swing back in to action Friday at Broken Bow and Saturday at Central City. Coach Ken Trubey voiced concern over the fact that the Chants did not have a ball game knowing that it is important to keep the team under five all the time.

The Chants are now 10-3 with five games remaining and their toughest test of all will probably be 7th ranked Minden, a team that blistered Cozd's 87-65 Friday. Cozd nicked Ord in the opening game by one point. After this weekend we'll have York here Feb. 16; Minden, here Feb. 17 and the Chants will rap up the season at Ainsworth Feb. 23.

Schuyler, previously undefeated, fell by the wayside Friday evening when Crele applied a 71-67 defeat to the talented Warriors. The statistics were almost unbelievably as Crele used a flock of free throws to win the game and the Warriors made one of a single point via the gift line.

Chuck Jura, Schuyler's leading scorer, flipped in 39 points against Crele as all teams, except Ord, seem to have difficulty holding the big boy down.

Although Schuyler soundly thumped a cold Ord team earlier this season the Chants have the distinction of holding Jura to his lowest low of the season — a mere 15 points.

We'd like to see Ord and Schuyler rematched — it would be an excellent ball game.

Joe Orduna Talks To Large Crowd At Mira Valley

Joe Orduna, U of N track and grid star, addressed a packed house Monday night at a Father-Son Banquet of the Mira Valley EUB Church.

A member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, the 19-year-old sophomore related his experiences as a youth in a Christian home. Even with the training of Christian principles by his father, Orduna stated it was only three years ago at Estes Park, Colo., during a summer camp of the F.C.A., that he actually accepted Christ in his life.

Raised in Omaha, Orduna attended Central High there where he began his sports career in football, track and wrestling. Coming from a losing school (22 losses and 9 wins in football), the Negro speedster enrolled in the University of Nebraska. Presently he is among NU's top hurdlers and had a very successful season as a back on The Big Red's football team.

Summing up his 30-minute talk, Orduna emphasized the need for "love among men." "The answer is right here," he intoned with visible emotion as he grasped the Bible and asked the overflowing crowd to start practicing "The Word" in their daily lives.

Leo Wolf emceed the 6:30 banquet that was open to the public, but limited to a packed house of 140. Dan Spilneck, banquet chairman, said he could have sold many more tickets, "but there just wasn't room to get them all in."

The Mira Valley Quartet comprised of Rev. Earl Higgins, Kenneth Koelling, Orel Koelling and Eldon Poth sang two numbers and the toast to the fathers was given by Darrell Hackel with Kenneth Koelling presenting the toast to the sons.

Ladies of the Mira Valley Church prepared the meal which was served by girls of the Evangelical United Brethren congregation.

Burwell Advances In Lou-Platte Cage Tournament

The Burwell Longhorns started out in the right direction Monday evening in the Lou-Platte Conference tourney at Gibben by whipping Shelton 63-46 and advancing to second round play Thursday evening.

Don Lindsey pitched in 21 points to lead the Longhorns to a 16-5 first quarter lead and in the third frame Burwell topped Shelton 18-0 to take the victory. Dennis Sorensen fired in 16 points and Doug Roberts found the range for 12 to account for most of Burwell's scoring.

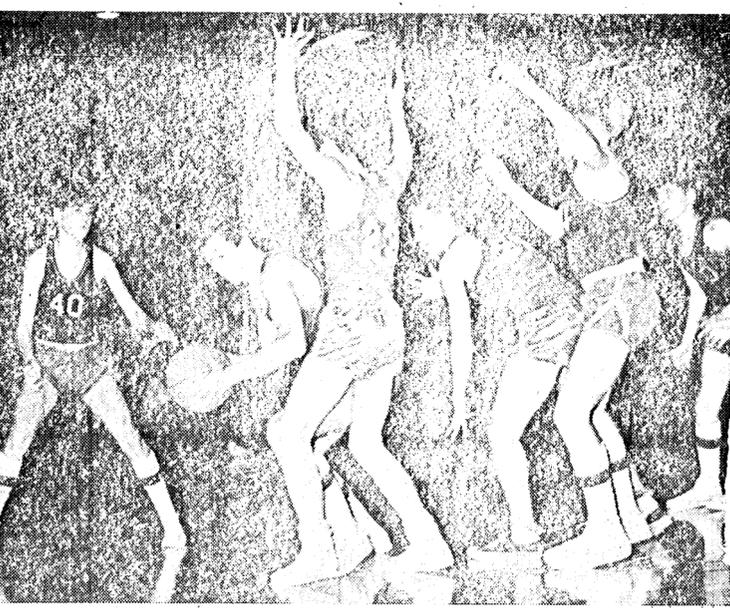

In the other game Monday evening Ravenna thumped Fullerton 63-49 and Tuesday's action Loup City met Gibben and Wood River took on Centura. Scores of these games were not available. Burwell will meet the winner of the Gibben - Loup City game Thursday evening.

Lindsey Boosts Longhorns Past Northwest 60-53

Burwell's Don Lindsey warmed up in the fourth quarter Friday night and pitched in 14 points to lead the Longhorns to a 60-53 cage victory over Grand Island Northwest at Grand Island.

The ninth-ranked Burwell club nursed a 40-39 lead going into that final frame and then faltered 20 points to Northwest's 14 to win their 13th game of the season against a pair of losses. Lindsey led all scorers with 21.

From the floor each team hit 22 buckets, but Coach Piper's Burwell team took advantage of fouling, netting 16 of 23, while the Vikes hit only nine of 14.

The Burwell reserves, paced by Jerome Maxson's 14 points, took the opening game from the NW reserves by a score of 49-47 in a real thriller.

Both Walnut teams used superior height to win from the Ord clubs and the visiting teams also had plenty of bench strength. In the 7-8th grade game Walnut pulled off to a 11-5 first quarter lead and went to the dressing room at halftime with a 24-8 edge. In the second half Ord outscored Walnut 10-7, but the first half scoring of Walnut was too great to overcome.

The Huskie's Howl

By Mary Ann Gould
As of this week I'll be writing the Huskies' Howl. I hope you'll enjoy reading it and I'll do my best to keep you informed as to just what's happening at A.H.S.

Congratulations, girls! You played a great game of volleyball Friday night against the Brewster Broncos. Linda Lewandowski was high scorer with eleven points. Good going Linda.

Saturday night a large crowd watched the Huskies smash over top-rated Calloway. The Bears put up a gallant fight, but the Huskies just couldn't miss. We were especially happy to win this game since we'd been beaten by Calloway in the LVSC Tournament earlier in the season. The team has really been working and we feel they've earned this victory. Keep up the good work boys!

We'll all be traveling to Ash-ton for the game next Friday night and to Litchfield Saturday night. I hope all you Huskie fans will be there too.

The Junior class chose waiters and waitresses for the Prom and Banquet this week. The waitresses are Linda Hunt, Barbara Lewandowski, Terri Pierson, and Pam Schmidt. Chosen as waiters were Danny Huriburt, Tim Huriburt, Dennis Ohme, and Dick Owens. The "grapevine" informs me that the Juniors have also chosen their theme and band, but since I'm a Senior that's all I'm supposed to know. I guess I'll just have to keep guessing until the big night.

The halls were strangely quiet for a couple of days last week. We soon knew the cause though. It seems that the Freshmen and Juniors were taking tests in the gym. It seemed strange to walk down the hall under my own power, but it was only a temporary respite. They were back in class Monday morning.

Music students were happy to see the new piano in the Music Room. Now maybe we can sing in tune some of the time.

CARSON'S IGA MARKET

THE LINEUP—Here is part of the line that passed the grills Saturday as the Ord Chamber of Commerce furnished free pancakes. Shown on the right is one of the finest pancake makers in the area—Starling Lee. (If you don't think so, ask him!) The Chamber of Commerce said it wanted to thank everyone for attending the event and extended a thanks to all of the members who helped with the annual event.

THE MIXMASTERS!—Did you like those free pancakes Saturday? If you did, here are the fellows to blame. They are from left: Hank Benda, Willis Saunders and Don Sears. These three fellows were busy all day mixing batter to feed some 3,000 persons who attended. The turnout was better than a year ago as 40 more pounds of pancake flour was used this year than a year ago. (What were you saying, Willis?)

School Aid Program To Be Administered To Avoid Lawsuits Against The Measure

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — Dr. Floyd A. Miller, state education commissioner, reports the new school aid program will be administered "as technically and legally as practicable" to avoid inviting lawsuits against the measure.

He said this includes strict compliance with the controversial provision restricting per pupil spending increases to eight per cent from one year to the next.

Some school officials have complained they cannot live with the spending limitation because of steadily increasing teacher salaries and other school costs.

They also object to state control over local school budgets and fear the restriction may lead to lock an educational program to its current standards — whether inadequate, adequate or superior.

Dr. Miller noted some school districts have indicated they will seek relief from the provision under the school aid law's hardship clause.

He urged local school officials to closely read the language of the law in regard to hardship petitions. He said it is not certain if teacher salaries fall within the intent or the meaning of the statute.

The act provides a hardship petition seeking exemption from the eight per cent proviso may be submitted for the following reasons:

- Abnormal change in enrollment.
- Depreciation in the value of school properties.
- Alteration of property values within a school district.
- And other abnormalities or emergencies of similar magnitude or consequence.

"The law says nothing specifically about teacher salaries as concerns hardship requests," Dr. Miller said.

"This would probably be a matter of interpretation that cannot be made until the applications for financial assistance are presented to the state."

Dr. Miller said it would be "premature" for the education department to "automatically rule out at this time" teacher salaries within the definition of what constitutes a hardship.

"I would only ask that school boards and their officers go over the law slowly and carefully to be sure of their position," he said. "We have to administer this as technically and legally as practicable to avoid unnecessary legal entanglements."

At least one state senator, S. H. Brauer, Sr., of Norfolk, has indicated a suit may be filed to test the school aid law.

Brauer claims the act is unconstitutional. He alleges it grants an illegal delegation of legislative authority to the State Board of Education.

The law provides for $25 million assistance to public school districts at the outset. Half of this will be distributed on Dec. 1 and the other half on April 1, 1969.

Dr. Miller said he personally favors full funding of the program in the 1969-71 biennium. This would take $65 million a year.

Petition Kickoff Announced

The statewide petition drive for a partisan legislature will start March 1, the Nebraska Republican Party has announced. It will be coordinated by Bruce Hagemeyer of Hemingford.

Mrs. Lorraine Orr of North Platte, state GOP chairman, said the party must gain signatures from 48,040 registered voters in 38 counties before July 5 to put the question on the November ballot.

Legislators in Nebraska have been nominated and elected on a nonpartisan basis since the state adopted the nation's only one-house or unicameral legislative system in 1934.

A bill proposing a constitutional amendment to elect senators by party label was defeated in the 1967 legislature. It was sponsored by Sen. Richard Froude of Omaha and Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper.

Local Sales Tax Gets Cool Reaction

The proposal that cities and counties be authorized to levy a sales tax received a cool reception from the Nebraska League of Municipalities.

Kenneth L. Bowen, the League's executive secretary, said it would not be a good idea because of the administrative costs involved.

"There also would be the problem of some cities wanting a high sales tax, some wanting a low one and some wanting none at all," he said. "The result would be a lack of uniformity."

The state now imposes a 2½ per cent sales tax on most retail items. The rate is scheduled to drop to 2 cents in 1969.

Governor Protests Cutback

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has protested the cutback in federal highway funds to Nebraska. He said the reduction would push the state's highway program back six months.

Nebraska's share of the $600 million federal holdback will be $8 million for 1968, State Highway Engineer John W. Hossack said.

The governor was "particularly disturbed" because the federal action involved funds that must be distributed to the states eventually.

The highway trust fund is financed entirely by user taxes on items such as gasoline and lubricating oil. It can only be used for roads.

Tiemann said the fund should not be "subject to every whim of the president." He said it was created by Congress "to build highways and nothing else."

Hossack said the cutback will mean a deferment of approximately $12 million in highway work in Nebraska this year. This includes $4 million in state and local matching money.

"We'll just have to shove some projects back on our construction schedule," he said. "We'll try to distribute the reduction on the basis that no one phase will be hurt too badly."

Before the federal freeze, the state planned to improve 240 miles of primary and secondary highways. Major interstate work was slated for Omaha and western Nebraska.

The state and U. S. Bureau of Roads share the cost equally of secondary, primary and urban extension roads but the federal government provides 90 per cent of the money for the interstate.

Mrs. Gunnels Visits Husband In Honolulu

Mrs. David Gunnels (the former Janet Hoon) recently returned from a trip to Hawaii where she met her husband, Captain David Gunnels, on R and R leave. Mrs. Gunnels left by plane from Grand Island on Jan. 4 to visit friends in Honolulu for a few days before her husband's arrival from Viet Nam on January 7th.

During their stay, the Gunnels were entertained at two dinner parties. Major and Mrs. Dale E. Johnson hosted a small party at their quarters at Scofield Barracks. Major Johnson and Captain Gunnels formerly worked together in the Student Brigade at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Another dinner party was given by Dr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Davis of Honolulu. Dr. Davis was the plantation doctor at the Laupahoehoe Sugar Plantation on the Big Island when Janet taught there.

Captain Gunnels returned to Viet Nam on Jan. 13. Janet remained in Honolulu until Jan. 16 to visit with a friend, Ethel Yamachika.

While she was in Hawaii, the Gunnels' children were cared for by Janet's mother, Mrs. Alice Hoon, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. S. H. Gunnels of Jacksonville, Florida.

Facts About Nebraska Taxes

Generally, there are three classes of credits to apply against the Nebraska income tax liability. These are:

1. Nebraska income tax withheld.
2. Estimated income tax paid, and
3. The Nebraska Food Sales Tax Credit.

The Nebraska Food Sales Tax Credit is a credit against tax liability in the amount of $7.00 for each personal exemption excluding those for age (65 or over) or blindness.

A refund situation will exist when the total credits exceed the income tax liability of the taxpayer. The refund is claimed by filing a Nebraska income tax return and the overpayment will be refunded to the taxpayer, provided no refund will be made for a sum of less than two ($2.00) dollars. It is important to realize, however, that refunds are not automatically processed. Therefore, any taxpayer so entitled must specifically make application even though the taxpayer may not file a Federal return.

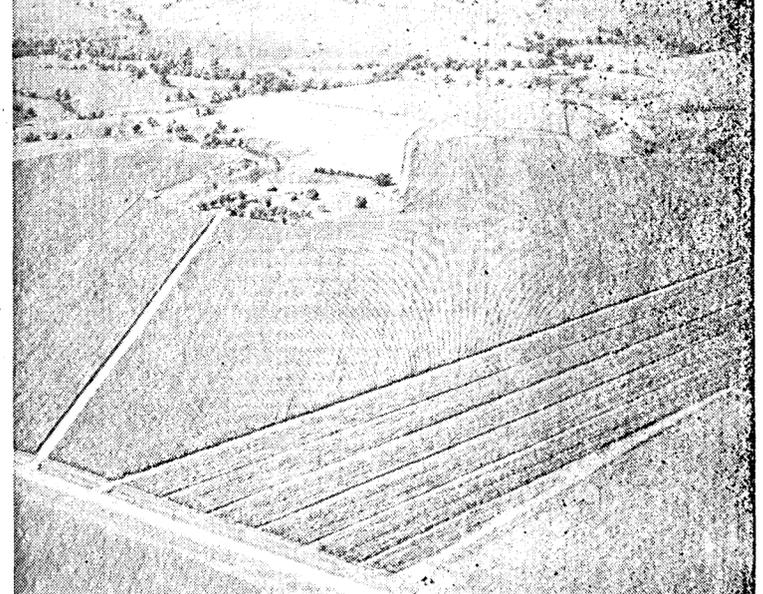

The taxpayer on a calendar year basis will file his individual Nebraska income tax return for the 1968 tax year and claim the applicable credits not later than April 15, 1969.

1968 Torino GT Fastback (Top)
1968 Torino GT Hardtop (Bottom)

Anyone can paint stripes on a car. Ford's performance champs earn their stripes the hard way. Torino swept the first five places in the Riverside 500. It's the Pace Car for the Indy 500. It's the hottest-selling new car in the country! Fairlane took first place in its class for braking and for economy in the Union/Pure Oil Performance Trials—in fact, Ford Motor Company cars won more classes than all other manufacturers combined! Thanks For Colors

I am so happy to live in such a colorful world. For I love colors, and just now they are fashionable.

So I was enthralled at the new ideas the Braniff airlines have embraced.

In the first place every plane is a different color: mine was a brightish lightish green. And inside the plane the greens went on. The seats, in blocks of three, were each a variation of green, light, bright, bluish, checked, striped, but rarely darkish. It was invigorating.

And the walls too, were of palest green with faint white stripes here and there. Now wasn't that fun? With a tweedish greenish carpet.

The hostess' costumes were wild and wonderful, planned by the famous couturier Pucci, I loved them.

Each one was different, but each was bright. It was impossible to predict the next switch of costumes, and they put on and took off little coats and toppers at landing and takeoff time.

Gay prints were used with gay plain colors, in incredible combinations. A pretty gal in a rich wine-red suit might be wearing a blouse, bonnet and leotards of blue and green print!

One charming miss wore a sort of over dress of jade green. When she took off her derby hat, her very short minidress, and leggings were all seen to match, in blue and purple tones. Very effective.

Some turbans had a scarf attached — now isn't that a wonderful idea for those of us who live in windy Nebraska? And maybe growing just a wee shade tired of head scarves?

Hats are such fun anyway — they completely change a woman's personality.

oOo

Before I'd ever seen Mexico, I imagined it would be garish with too-bright colors. Not so. Many of their colors are fantastic even in strange combinations.

Their world famous ballet, to be seen only on Sunday mornings has unbelievable colors used throughout. Actors, singers and dancers shift from moment to moment but always in colors to fire the imagination.

How The Amendments Affect Women And Dependents Of Women Workers

By Larry G. Chaney, Grand Island Social Security District Manager

Among the changes in the social security program recently signed into law by President Johnson are a number of special significance to women.

Chief among them is a change that will make about 175,000 children eligible for monthly payments. It changes the conditions for determining dependency upon a working mother.

Until now for a child to be considered dependent upon his mother and therefore eligible for monthly payments when she died, retired, or became disabled, she needed to have worked under social security for at least 1 1/2 years out of the last three years, unless she was actually supporting the child.

The amendments eliminate this recent-work requirement. Beginning with checks in March

It's the liveliest, loneliest city in the world.

In New York you walk. You walk . . . and walk . . . and walk. Everyone hurries. Everyone is going somewhere. Except you.

You've no place to go . . . and no time to be there. So you walk.

No one observes the stop lights. You do — but you are bumped from the curb by the hurrying crowds — pushed across the street against a red light. No one seems to care . . . except you.

You watch the people . . . thousands of them. Pausing in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral you smile as the Spanish family groups closely together . . . the father trying to stand back far enough to get the whole group in the picture.

Passing in front of Sak's Fifth Avenue, you move slowly from window to window. This is the fashion center. These are the clothes you'll be seeing in the Midwest in another six months . . . maybe sooner. But this is where it starts.

On to Cartier's. Window design? Simplicity itself. Centered in the small windows a watch . . . perhaps some rings. Price? From five thousand dollars up. There's one for forty-five thousand! It's beautiful . . . beautiful, indeed.

You move back into the flow of people. And you drift . . . drift with the wave of humanity . . . dodging umbrellas . . . bumping shoulders . . . twisting . . . turning . . . hurrying. HURRY . . . HURRY!

You could scream . . . but no one would hear you. They're too busy going nowhere.

Strikes Unbecoming To Teachers Despite Advice From PR Director

(From the Glendale (Wisconsin) Herald)

Teachers are among the people looked to for guidance and models to pattern life by. Whether they wish it or not, they are symbols of "something better." Leadership and help are expected from them, so that the world may ever grow into a better place.

But such leadership is not expected to move in the direction of strikes as Public Relations Director George Brown of the Michigan Education Association seems to think it should. Brown recently told the Wisconsin Educational Association at its convention that "refusal to work" might be the solution to forcing educational improvements — which of course include higher salaries and smaller classes.

Professional people, teachers are expected to act as professionals, not like rabble-rousing union goons ready to sacrifice their standing for a few extra dollars in the pocket.

Teachers deal in this nation's most valued commodity — the children of the land. Theirs is a position of trust and responsibility. Give teachers a lever other than educational goals and the ability to awake young minds to the world about them and to all of its cultural and scientific gains and teaching will disintegrate in the ranks of hoodlumism and degradation.

Teachers cannot afford to stay away from their classrooms and we do not mean dollarwise. They need classroom stimulation for their own growth and they should not be tortured to break with their conscience and moral code, which dictate that their responsibility is to children. Teaching like preaching, medicine, etc., requires enabling dedication — not placards, strikes, teacherless schools.

Grumbling against condition, wages, etc., has come to be an accepted state in America, but teachers, like all other workers have made strides, salarywise as well as professionalwise. Where teachers err in their thinking is that they expect the new inexperienced teacher to start at a high salary. In other fields there is a greater differential between neophyte and pro. Teachers of proven merit and abilities should be rewarded. Years of service should not be the only judge, even though this is contrary to the teaching of the NEA. The standout teacher should be compensated with more money as well as honors.

Some local school boards have been exploring this merit pay, but so far have not come very far in their decision.

Teachers should not riot or strike but take their grievances to their various school boards — boards made up of laymen elected to these offices by the public as its representatives. For the most part, boards strive to be fair. Boards also know that in addition to salaries, they must keep school buildings apace with modern equipment and method changes. Not all tax money can go into paying of teacher salaries, some of it must go for maintenance and expansion.

than that. If we add local government revenue to the state, we rank 33rd — hardly the land of taxes.

It's the third proposal that really galls us. Don Walton of the Lincoln Star recently wrote "if the state income tax is affixed to the general election ballot next November, Nebraskans will have an opportunity to vote for or against their children." He admitted that was overstating the fact, but suggested that "it is not exaggerating the point as much as you might guess at first glance."

The fact is that improved educational programs were made possible by the sales-income tax. If half of that tax is removed, something has to give somewhere. What would be the first to give? No doubt any new program enacted by the legislature and contingent on the new tax system. So state aid to schools could go . . . so could aid to the Junior Colleges . . . and the state colleges and the university may also have to be curtailed.

And Omaha U may be on the outside looking in. Sen. Albert Kjar suggested that if the income tax went out, the legislature would have to look again at the OU-NU merger. Some Omahans may look on this as a threat — but it isn't. If the money isn't there can the state take on additional costs? An increase in the sales tax could be an answer, but that wouldn't be popular or right, either.

If the income tax goes down, the legislature could say — all right, the sales tax for state government only. Cities, counties, school districts and all other subdivisions can dig their money out of the property tax as best they can. And remember, there isn't any intangible tax, head tax, household goods tax, etc., anymore — unless you want them all back, doubled and in spades.

We would agree that quality education is at stake in any vote on the income tax. With 25% of our population in school at some level, ballots against the income tax would represent opposition to quite a few people, wouldn't they?

And the kids can't vote.

(By John E. Lynch, Executive Secretary, Nebr. State Education Association).

Geranium Joe Boys At General Store Hear Tales About February

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

On account of February being the month to get Abe Lincoln on the agenda, so while he still had the floor from reporting on the Groundhog predictions for February weather, he went on to recall some of them "immortal words" from Lincoln.

Anyhow, Mister Editor, I was glad to get the Lincoln lesson of the year. It seems this bullfrog fell into a wagon rut and couldn't jump out no matter how hard he tried. He called for his friends and they pulled and pulled on him but couldn't get him out. Final, the friends went off and left him. The next day the ole bullfrog was at his usual place on the banks of the pond. His friends were surprised, and they said they thought he couldn't get out of the rut. "I couldn't get out," said the bullfrog, "but I heard a wagon coming and had to go." Mose was of the opinion we got a heap of them bullfrogs living off the country simply because they ain't never heard the wagon coming.

Bill French said he was glad to get the Lincoln lesson out of the way for another year. He said he didn't know where the bullfrog story come from on account of Mose give Lincoln and the Bible credit for everting he heard. Bill was ready to change the subject, so he announced he was planning to change his name from French to Aaron. When the fellers wanted to know how come, Bill said he would live longer.

He explained he had saw when folks that has names beginning with 'F' down the alfabet has more ailments than them with names like Adams and Brown. He said the world was getting so crowded folks had to stand in line for everthing from groceries to Communion. Bill said he reckoned that was why Mose Good was so healthy. Mose said he didn't know nothing about this alfabet study but said he ain't never wanted nothing bad enough to stand in line for it except his discharge from the Army. Mose said he was glad to hear about the study on account of he'll get the last word at the sessions. Bill, he said, would be the first one out the store door.

Personal, Mister Editor, I'm going to keep my name and take my chances.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

Kids: For or Against?!

In case you didn't know, or had forgotten, the legislature placed 15 constitutional amendments on the ballot for next November. There could be several more if petition drives either underway or planned are successful.

Any constitutional amendment is controversial or it wouldn't be on the ballot. But the ones that bother us the most are the ones that aren't on the ballot — yet. These are the ones that may find their way on the ballot by initiative petition. There are three. The first would prohibit the state from levying a sales and/or income tax. Another asks a ceiling on state spending. A third seeks to invalidate the income tax enacted by the last session of the legislature.

The first is really wild. As we read the proposition filed with the Secretary of State, the state would be prohibited from levying either a sales or income tax. We can't see that the proposal alters the present prohibition of a property tax being levied by the state. What's left? Not much, except increases in the present excise taxes. Dollar a pack for cigarettes, anyone? That might cut down the cancer hazard, but it would also cut down revenue.

The second was labeled correctly, we believe, by Gov. Tiemann. The formula for limiting spending is unworkable, he said. But even if the formula did make sense, do Nebraskans really want to handcuff their own government? We thought Nebraska was finally on the move. We thought Nebraskans were interested and anxious for economic development and growth. There won't be any without government resources, programs and personnel, and you can't have those without revenue.

We don't know where the humper stickers proclaiming "Nebraska — Land of Taxes" come from, but there has to be a tie-up to some of these proposals. Is Nebraska really the land of taxes? The just-issued "Rankings of the States" by the NEA shows Nebraska 50th in the nation in percapita tax revenue for state government. We also rank 50th in state tax revenue as a percent of personal income in 1966. You can't get much lower

A former Ordite shows a printed picture of the first class graduated in 1890 from the Ord high school. There are two girls and three boys shown along with a man wearing a moustache, probably the principal or a teacher. I can not identify any of them positively, but I guess that the lady seated is Nellie Bradt.

It is my impression that a real effort was pursued a few years ago to compile an accurate roster of the alumni members of the Ord graduates. If such a record has been published I would like to have a copy, or if the secretary of the Alumni Association has the names of the first graduating class I would appreciate being advised.

My vivid memory of the Ord school system began in 1897 when I went there as principal.

Come to Church This Week's Meditation... I will bless thee and make thee a great and thou shalt be a blessing. Gen. 12:2 Coleridge, the poet, in a letter written a fortnight before his death addressed to his godchild, says: "On the eve of my departure I declare to you that health is a great blessing; competence, obtained by honorable industry, a great blessing; and a great blessing it is to have kind, faithful, and loving friends and relatives; but that the greatest blessing, as it is the most ennobling of all privileges, is to be indeed a Christian." How truly we see that exemplified in Abraham, to whom God addresses the above words. Because Abraham walked before God in humble obedience of faith all the days of his life, God Himself was his shield and exceeding great reward, blessing him with good fortune, with length of days, with Isaac the child of his old age, and above all with the gracious covenant in Christ Jesus, the promised Redeemer. Even to this day Abraham's name is great among the families of the earth. Even today his example of faith proves a blessing to all who with him believe in their Covenant God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. The blessing of God, and makes rich and he adds no sorrow with it; for, unlike the boasted wealth and fortunes of the world, it is free from the stain of sin and sanctifies the heart and keeps it with God. Max's SHORTS

It's A Beauty!

A new "Discover Nebraska" brochure has just come off the presses and will soon be available to both residents and visitors. It's a 30-page booklet telling in story and colored pictures about all of the many places to visit in Nebraska. A total of 290,000 copies have been printed and they are available at game commission offices, state welcome stations or by writing the Game Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebr. 68509.

For The Birds!

The annual Ducks Unlimited benefit will be held February 24 at the Parish Hall in Elyria, sponsored by Jim Cetak, Spud Kapuska and Cash Welniak. More than 100 usually attend this event with the proceeds tabbed for either Ducks Unlimited or Wetlands Restoration, which ever you choose.

Wetlands Restoration is an organization which plans to restore lakes in the sandhills to make desirable habitat for waterfowl and to restore a sportsmen's club in this area.

The three above are to be commended for their effort to help hike the waterfowl population in this part of Nebraska. Their constant work in this area makes better hunting for all of us each year.

Belated Party

Romans Motor Freight of Ord turned the calendar back Saturday night by finally having their 1967 Christmas Party at the Veterans Club. The party was belated because Romans had scheduled the party when it was believed that the club would be ready for business, but in any event it turned out several pieces of equipment and other items did not arrive and the club wasn't ready for any parties until about one week ago. Thus Saturday evening employees of the freight company and their bosses gathered at the club for the event. Better late than never!

This Happens

In regard to the above party, Tom Allan of the Ord Herald led off his column "Nebraska Byways", with an item about a party — only Tom tabbed Saturday's party as a party for all veterans in Ord. Apparently the facts became confused somewhere between the notebook and the typewriter, but in any event Tom gave the new club a real fine boost, for which we are all happy.

We hope Tom will visit the club sometime in the near future to see for himself "the most beautiful in this part of the entire country", to quote Jack Romans.

The club is precisely that.

Many Contributors

This week on Page 1, section 2, we published a list of contributors to the Veterans Club and it is a sizable list. The Veterans Club Building Committee brought it in last week, so if you have contributed within the past week, your name will appear later.

Here For Weekend

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Parks of Omaha visited this past weekend in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Otis Miller. Parks is a medical student at the University of Nebraska and will graduate in June. The visit is to familiarize prospective doctors with life in smaller communities. Parks spent Saturday and much of Sunday with Dr. Miller on his rounds at the hospital and at work in the clinic. This is similar to the preceptor program by the university where students spend five weeks in smaller communities. Mr. and Mrs. Parks returned to Omaha Sunday after a taste of life in Ord.

A Pleasant Call

Mr. and Mrs. Dillo Troyer of Ord had the pleasure last week of getting a visit from a list of conversation from their son, Capt. Alan Troyer, who is now stationed at Da Nang in Vietnam. The call traveled some 8,000 miles over the top of the world via military affiliate radio service (MARS) and was received in Omaha by civilian volunteers then sent by long distance telephone to the Troyers here in Ord.

Mr. Troyer said that this is a no charge service to parents of sons in Vietnam and the calls are paid for by an organization of businessmen in Omaha. He said they pay for about 1,000 calls each month.

He added that Capt. Troyer is in good health and getting along fine in Vietnam.

This Is A 'Gazette'

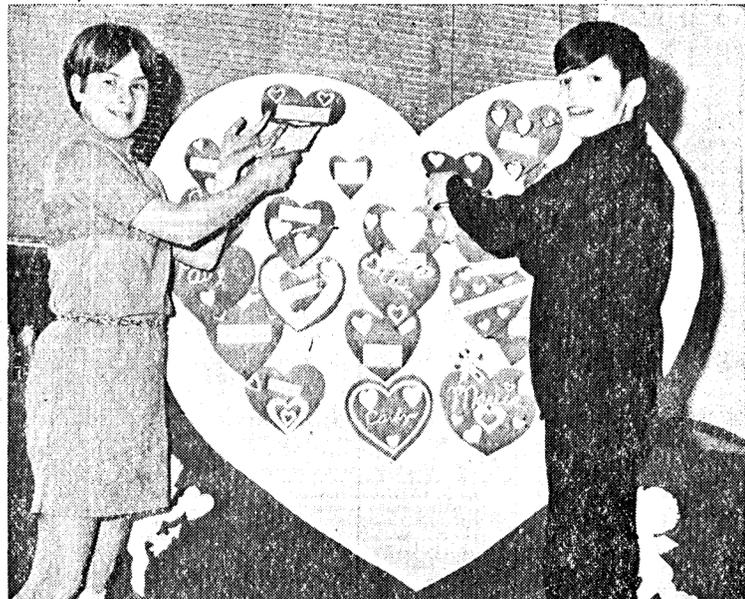

The first newspaper was called a gazette and was invented during the war of 1653 between the Turks and the Venetians. At that time the Venetians issued a monthly bulletin on the progress of the war and sold it for one "gazette", a small coin which soon turned into the word Gazette.

The Truth Pays!

A big shot sales manager was approached by six little Girl Scouts peddling cookies. "Why do you want to sell me?" he asked.

"Because you are so handsome," smiled one little girl.

"He bought 12 boxes and went back murmuring, "There are no brighter sales tools than truth and honesty."

"WON'T YOU BE MY ..." —The exchange of Valentines and Valentine Day programs were highlighted Wednesday at the Ord Elementary School. One of the nicest Valentine boxes noted at the school is shown above in the sixth grade room. Johnny Hyde's pupils got together and made the huge Valentine. Behind each Valentine on the front is an individual box for each pupil and Valentines for all were put in the boxes through the slot. Shown on the left is Cindy Clement and on the right is Clinton Miller, whose idea was used to construct the huge Valentine.

The District 5 FFA convention was held at Anasley High School Saturday with 16 schools in attendance.

Ord FFA Chapter Plans To Observe National Week

Vocational agriculture students in Ord High School will join Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation in activities to focus attention on the importance during National FFA Week, February 17-24.

"Challenging Youth in Agriculture" in this year's FFA Week theme. The message that these young agriculturists are trying to impart to the nation is simple. They seek to inform the public of the importance of the agricultural industry to America and to the world, the value of good citizenship development, and the role of Future Farmers of America in helping meet the challenges in world food production that faces America today.

"Because of the many predictions of world hunger in the future, many people have stopped listening," said Frank Andreesen, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor. "Now suddenly the future is here! For the past seven years, our world has not been able to grow as much food as it has eaten. And, finally, the bottomless U.S. surpluses have melted away."

"Let us also point out," he added, "that it is estimated that the world as a whole will need 50 percent more food just two decades from now. Meeting these challenges will be in the hands of young agriculturists being trained and developed in such an organization as FFA."

Locally, members of the Ord FFA Chapter plan window displays, radio programs, and news articles for FFA Week observance.

Membership in FFA is made up of students of vocational agriculture in high school. The organization's activities are designed to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship and to stimulate the students to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming and other agricultural occupations.

The Ord FFA Chapter has 50 members. Officers are: Larry Bruha, President; Gary Bogus, Vice President; Mike Schwartzlander, Secretary; Richard Duvall, Treasurer; Mike Krikac, Sentinel; and Barry Masin, News Reporter.

The national FFA organization has approximately 450,000 members, with 9,000 local chapters in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The week of George Washington's Birthday is chosen each year for the observance of National FFA Week. Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War General and our first President, Washington's first love was the farm. He was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

School Board Offers Teachers Base Salary Of $5800 For 1968-69

The board of education of Ord School District No. 5 has offered teachers in the district a 1968-69 salary schedule with a starting base of $5,800 which is $400 per year more than the schedule called for a year ago or the teachers may choose a starting base of $5,700, plus a health insurance allowance of about $100 to be paid by the district.

This action was taken Monday evening at the regular meeting of the board. Supt. Roger Clough said the board believed that this would be acceptable to the teachers in the district, although the Teachers' Committee has not met yet to consider the offer.

"The starting base that we are offering this year is standard around the state," Supt. Clough said.

In other action the board designated Frist Nebraska Securities Corporation as financial agent for the district in the event that a bond issue is approved for construction in the future. Supt. Clough said the board had in mind at the present time construction of a new elementary school building, although no definite plans have been announced.

"The corporation will handle all of the details of bond issues and sale of bonds if such issues are ever approved and there is no charge to the district to retain the corporation until an issue is approved," Supt. Clough explained.

Two letters of resignation were read and accepted. One was from Kaye Koelling and the other from Eric Johnson. Both resignations will be effective at the end of the 1967-68 school year.

Renewal contracts for the district's administrative personnel were approved for Roger Clough, superintendent; Allen Bellinger, high school principal and Eldon Buoy, guidance counselor.

It was also approved that Supt. Clough be authorized to offer renewal contracts to all other teachers in the district and that he be authorized to sign the contracts in behalf of the school district.

Mr. Berck explained the Farm Bureau Marketing Association, created by state board action in the spring of 1967. This program implements the creation of commodity by commodity marketing groups where producers of these commodities indicate a desire for such a service. Each commodity would have its own division within the total program.

Ord Boxers Win Six Of Nine Gloves Bouts

Ord's Golden Gloves entries at Grand Island Monday night toiled until the wee hours of Tuesday morning and found their efforts worthwhile as the scrappers came home with six wins in nine matches.

Everyone plus the management was amazed at the number of boxers who showed up for the fights — 165 — and because of this number of entries the final bout wasn't over until 2:20 a.m.

One of Ord's wins which caused eyebrows to be lifted was Lonnie John's solid decision over Central City's Gary Engert battling in the 132 pound division. Engert was the runnerup in the 1967 tourney at 126 pounds.

Other Ord winners were: Chuck Hrebcek with a TKO over Bob Yantze of Broken Bow with 1:14 left in the first round. (139 pounds).

Dave Konkoleski with a TKO over Lucky Meisinger of Grand Island with 1:43 left in the third round. (139 pounds).

Dave Zebert decided Willard Hutsell, Broken Bow.

Richard Duvall decided

Steve Czaplowski, Loup City. (147 pounds).

Tom Vaughan won by forfeit. (139 pounds).

On the losing side of the ledger for Ord were: Ron Marshall, a TKO victim by Ben Polskil, Central City with 1:36 left in the third.

Rich Krahulik was decided by Dave Jones, Central City.

Dwayne Schamp was decided by Mario Martinez, Grand Island.

The Ord boxers will be back in action again Wednesday evening (Feb. 14) with bouts scheduled to begin at 8:15. Dan Klimek and Bill Riley handle the Ord team.

Against Taylor the Wildcats raced to a 30-6 first quarter lead and at halftime were out of sight by a score of 60-24. In the final half Taylor managed 29 points to NL's 43 as the Cats cracked the century mark for the first time this season.

In the Litchfield game the Wildcats forged a 28-20 first quarter lead and then moved to a 48-21 halftime lead and then walked home for a 17-point margin of victory.

Wildcats Close Season With 95-49 Win Over Elba

The North Loup - Scotia Wildcats closed out regular season basketball action Tuesday evening with an overwhelming 95-49 victory over Elba in a game played at Scotia.

The win was the Wildcats' 14th in 17 starts giving the team one of the better records in this area. The Cats will take it easy for a few days and then enter C district tournament play Tuesday, Feb. 20 against Loup City, Ainsworth, Merna and Greg Stine, 13 and Burwell, No. 1.

In Tuesday's ball game Chuck Wegner led all scorers as the big center poured in 30 points on 12 field goals and six of seven free throws. Jim Clement had 19; Al Williams, 17 and Greg Stine, 13 account for most of the scoring.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

with Max Good

A year ago at this time the Ord Chanticleers were 15-0 in basketball play and a year ago this weekend the Chants headed for York and Minden and suffered their only two losses of the regular season.

This year the Chants are 11-4 after 15 games and will face York at Ord on Friday and Minden at Ord on Saturday—and we hope that history doesn't repeat itself.

While Ord is not as strong this year, record-wise, neither are the York Ducks, so we'd like to tab Ord as the winner over York this Friday evening. Minden, on the other hand, is a tougher ball team than York and from the fact that Minden is a rated ball team, we'd have to pick the Whippets to edge the Chants on Saturday evening.

This is certainly not meant to say that the Chants are not capable of whipping the Whippets. We feel that if and when the Chants start to click they will be a mighty tough team to contend with. But in several games they haven't clicked too well.

With Lyle Christensen absent from the Broken Bow game the Chants were definitely weakened, but his absence had nothing to do with the 25 turnovers committed by the Chants—and this happens to be a game high in mistakes for this year.

And it seems that when the team is off in one department it has an effect in other areas of the game. Against Central City the Chants made 15 turnovers and only 12 of 25 free throws; against Broken Bow 25 turnovers and 22 of 36 from the gift line.

Thus for the two nights of basketball the Chants had 34 of 61 from the gift line or a little better than 50 per cent. Had the Chants been shooting around 65 to 70 per cent they would have won both ball games.

Also on the two nights the Chants committed 40 mistakes. This is an average of five per quarter in the eight quarters of ball played and seems to be a heck of a lot of times to hand the ball back to the opposing teams.

In the fifteen ball games this season the Chants have committed 247 turnovers — or an average of slightly more than 16 per game and when this is taken into consideration one sometimes wonders just how the Chants ever forged an 11-4 record.

Ord dropped the opener to Cozad by one point and committed 16 errors. One less might have meant a one point win for Ord.

Ord lost to Central City by four points while committing 15 mistakes. Three less might have meant an Ord victory.

Ord lost to Aurora by seven points while committing 17 miscues. A few less could have earned Ord a victory.

Ord lost to Schuyler by 22 points while making 19 turnovers. Half of those would most certainly have put Ord back into the ball game and possibly a victory.

We'll concede that many of the turnovers are forced by aggressive play of the other teams, but many Ord errors we have noted have been made by the Ord player himself without any help.

Here's how the turnovers have gone this season: Cozad, 16; O'Neill, 15; Lexington, 11; Gothenburg, 16; Seward, 24; Loup City, 15; Burwell, 19; Schuyler, 19; Aurora, 17; St. Paul, 19; Albion, 13; Loup City, 11; Burwell, 12; Central City, 15 and Broken Bow, 25.

We hope this weekend and next and on through tournament play that the Chants will reduce that number of turnovers to eight or nine per game. If they are capable of doing that there's a pretty good chance they'll win the balance of their regular season games and go into the tournament ready to take on all comers—and whip 'em.

We are confident that the Chants can play ball with less than 16 errors per game and with the tournaments just around the corner this would be a pretty good place to start.

An increasing number of ducks are apparently using Nebraska as a wintering grounds, according to the winter waterfowl census just completed.

Over 350,000 mallards, and a total of nearly 360,000 ducks, were counted across the state in January. Slightly over half of these ducks were located in the western part of the state, from North Platte to the Colorado State line.

The state-wide survey was undertaken early in January with 42 state and federal technicians participating. Two airplanes and 40 vehicles were used to tally up the ducks and goose numbers, and nearly 7,000 miles were logged by all vehicles.

It was estimated that about 10 percent of the ducks were located in the eastern portion of the state; about 30 or 35 percent in the central, and about 35 percent in the western area.

Early statistics indicated a slight decline in the total number of geese wintering in the state. The technicians counted 7,815 geese, all of which were Canada geese. In addition, they recorded sightings of 87 bald eagles, and 90 golden eagles.

Squirrels have been storing away goodies for the winter, and now is a good time for the hunter to store away a few squirrels for spring, says the Game Commission.

Nebraska's squirrel season continues through February 29 with a daily bag limit of 7 and possession limit of 21. Since the close of upland game seasons, more gunners are turning to cottontails and squirrels for hunting enjoyment. Shooters can take 10 bunnies daily and have 30 in possession.

Bushytails deserve more than "afterthought" hunting. They are alert, elusive rascals that require good marksmanship and hunting know-how if they are to go into the pot. And, once in the pot they make a new dimension of enjoyment. Squirrels have no "gamey" flavor, and taste much like chicken. A few plump specimens will make a meal a delight.

Hunting the reddish fox squirrel is at least half the fun, though, as veteran gunners will attest. There are several ways of stalking them, all of which require practice. Some hunters prefer "injun" through the woods listening for fell-tale chattering or crunching sounds, or watching the ground and trees for a flashing red body or flicking tail. Squirrels have keen eyes and ears, so the utmost stealth is needed to get within range.

Either a .22 caliber rifle or shotgun can be used, but the light rifle is the favorite. It allows clean kills at longer range, and the bushytail has a habit of climbing high and exposing a little of his carcass as possible. The shotgun comes to the fore on running and jumping shots at medium range.

The still hunter will probably prefer using a rifle. This system calls for a sneaky approach to the prime bushytail area, then setting into a comfortable post-tion. After all becomes quiet, the squirrels will venture forth to see what is going on. Often, several will present themselves at one time, and some fancy shooting will repay the hunter for his patience and skill.

Squirrel calls are added insurance of shooting action for the hunter. Living in sizable colonies, "big reds" are both curious and brazen, at least at times, and a hunter using the proper chatter can often lure the bushytails out of their concealment. Two poker chips rubbed together produces a passable "call".

Fox squirrels are social creatures, living in sizable colonies. Several generations of one family will often share an area, and even the same tree or den. Their residence will always be near some feeding area, and a wooded area adjacent to a corn field is ideal. If there are nut and fruit trees around, so much the better.

Most of Nebraska has good populations of squirrels available to the hunter, and one or two outings may be habit forming. Hunting squirrels is challenging and fun, and the opportunity is here. Give it a try.

Burwell Is 3rd In Loup Tourney As Ravenna Wins

The Burwell Longhorns copped third place in the Lou-Platte Conference basketball tournament at Gibbon last week, after being upset in the second round by Ravenna, the team that went on to take the crown.

Against Broken Bow, as against Central City, the Ord team trailed 10-10 after one and again Steve Turek warmed up and tossed in nine points to pull the Ord team to within four points, 34-30 at halftime. Ord fell off in the third period and was outscored 13-9 as the Indians pulled out to a 44-39 lead.

The young Chants fell shy by a point as they rallied for 20 points in the last quarter to 13 for Broken Bow letting the Indians escape with a 60-59 win. Goeden led the Indian attack with 12 points, with Wilkerson and Mayo each pitching in 10 points.

Bison Sideline Chants In Conference Race With 54-50 Upset Win; Ord Edges Indians

The Ord Chanticleers hopes for the west division Central Ten Conference title were decimated Saturday evening when the Bison 30-25, but fell short as the clock ran out. Christensen had 22 points on 10 field goals, a pair of six from the gift line. Klanecky, who had 24 the night before, came up with 10 Saturday on two from the field and six of nine from the gift line. Ron Bredthauer, who had 18 on Friday, scored only six before fouling out in the third period.

In turnovers the Chants racked up 15 and Central City was credited with 13. Les Salt led the Bison with 25 points.

One-Point Win at BB At Broken Bow Friday evening the Chants, playing without Christensen, was able to salvage a 62-61 victory as Klanecky came up with nine of Ord's 13 points in the final frame.

The Chants trailed 15-14 at the end of the first half, but managed a 31-27 lead at halftime. At the end of three Ord led 49-46 and in the final frame the aggressive Indians outscored Ord 15-13 but fell one point shy.

The entire ball game was hectic as Ord committed 25 turnovers and the Indians made 29 mechanical errors. Going into the fourth Ord led 49-46 and a technical foul was called on the Indian Bench and Bredthauer made it 50-46. He then fired in a field goal for a 52-46 lead and Central City added a gift shot and Ord had its biggest lead of the evening 53-46. But when 3:26 was left in the quarter the Indians had surged ahead 56-55. Ord took the lead 59-56 on a bucket by Klanecky and Ord held the lead for a 62-61 win. The Indians pulled up to 60-59 and with 20 seconds remaining had the ball only to lose it on a turnover to Ord. Klanecky then spun in for a layup and at the gun the Indian's Pat Knoell fired one in to make the final score 62-61.

Each team hit 40 per cent from the floor as the Indians out-shot the Chants 23-20. The Chants, however, meshed 22 of 36 gift shots compared to 15 of 22 for the losing Indians.

In rebounding Ord was ahead for only 3 field goals in that period out of 11 tries. Christensen hit a pair and Mike Kutz bucketed one and Bill Klanecky had a pair of gift shots to account for all of Ord's scoring in the first. Central City hit eight of 17 and a pair of gift shots in the first to rush to an 18-8 lead. The Chants then hit five of 12 in the second period; five of 12 in the third and warmed up in the fourth for six of 11.

Ord JVs Defeat Bison 63 To 48; Fall To BB 60-59

The Ord Junior High School won a pair of ball games Tuesday evening at Loup City. The Chicks slipped past Loup City's 9th grade 37-35 and the Ord 7-8th grade won 42-32.

Dennis Bellingier, Ord Chick player, fired in the last second basket to give the Chicks a two-point win, as the Ord team had stalled more than a minute for the last shot. Up to that time the teams had played on even terms with Loup City leading 6-2 at the end of the first period and the score was tied at 18-18 at half as Ord rallied for 16 points in the second frame. Bellingier was high for Ord with 12 and Obermiller topped Loup City with 14.

Coach Stephen Deger's 7-8th grade team wrapped up the 1967-68 season successfully with only one defeat in six outings. Leon Brechbill and David John shared scoring honors for Ord with 12 points each as the Ord club grabbed an early lead and held on for a 10-point win.

All three members of the pike family, the northern pike, muskellunge, and pickerel, have been introduced in Nebraska waters.

The Huskie's Howl

Huskie fans were disappointed by two losses this weekend to the Ashton Hawks Friday night and the Litchfield Trojans Saturday night. We're all hoping for a victory Tuesday night, though, when we take on the Sargent Bulldogs in both volleyball and basketball. The Huskies have only two regular games left after Sargent. Friday night we go to Pleasanton and Saturday night we take on Oconto at home. Good luck boys!

The reserve volleyball team won their game Friday night. The game went into overtime because of a tie at the end of the usual eight minute period. The final score was 13-11. High scorer for the night was Mary Cook. High scorer Saturday night in the game against Litchfield was Linda Lewandowski with twelve points.

Monday morning the school appeared to be in mourning; all the boys wore white shirts and ties. All the girls wore black dresses. The explanation — annual pictures were being taken. Teachers just "love" the chaos these pictures cause. Students always hope their pictures will interrupt their "favorite" class. This means that annual staff will have plenty to do the next time they meet.

Early Day Roads Expense Shared By The Government

When early Nebraskans wanted roads, it was usually up to the counties to provide them. Occasionally, however, the federal government sponsored these construction projects, and an example is the Omaha-Ft. Kearny Road authorized in early 1855. According to information in the Library of the Nebraska State Historical Society, Congress approved the expenditure of $50,000 for the purpose of "constructing a territorial road on the Missouri River, opposite Council Bluffs, in the Territory of Nebraska to New Fort Kearny in said Territory."

The Omaha-Ft. Kearny Road was assigned to Lieutenant John H. Dickerson. Dickerson made a careful examination of the country between Omaha and the fort on the north side of the Platte River. On reaching Ft. Kearny, he met with some Pawnee Indian chiefs. The chiefs complained that the land for the proposed road had not been purchased from them and that they had not approved its construction.

The Pawnee promised to offer no resistance, but they wanted their protest recorded so that it could not be said later that they had consented to the project. On his return to Omaha, Dickerson examined a slightly different route. His primary concern on this trip was bridging streams. Dickerson feared that bridges would be subject to destruction by fire — either prairie fires or fires set by Indians.

Therefore, he proposed that most of the streams be bridged with a corduroy-type construction. This meant that logs would be placed on the stream bottom and fastened so they could not wash away. Wagons still had to pass through the water, but the "bridge" provided a more trustworthy bottom than sand or mud. Of course, the underwater sections of such a "bridge" were safe from fires.

Dickerson suggested that only two rivers were unsuitable for this type of construction. He then recommended that the Loup River ferry crossing be maintained and that a 200-foot bridge be built across the Elkhorn River. In order to protect this bridge from fire, Dickerson recommended the construction of a 3/4-mile long embankment at the western approach. He completed his survey on August 14, 1856, and let a contract for the bridge construction.

Dickerson recommended to Congress that an appropriation of $25,000 could make the road suitable for year-round traffic. Captain Edward G. Beckwith replaced Dickerson on the project and supervised the construction of several small bridges west of the Loup, taking care to have trenches dug around them to guard against fire. Beckwith pressed for the $25,000 suggested by Dickerson and for an additional $85,000 to bridge the Loup River. Neither request

WABCO AND "SMALL BUSINESS" BY C. WILSON HARDER

When the United States population reached 200 million a couple of months ago, a solemn ceremony was held in Washington. The auspicious moment almost commanded a trumpet fanfare. Some commentators said a funeral dirge might have been a more appropriate.

Considering the state of the nation with 200 million souls, many economists and other deep thinkers shudder at what lies ahead. C. W. Harder 20 years there will be 50 million more citizens, and before the end of this century nation's population will reach 300 million.

The population explosion of the past will pale by contrast. Like the man said: "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

The trouble with growth is that it usually comes in the wrong places.

Experts say that nearly all of the added population of the next 30 years, some 100 million persons, will squeeze into urban areas. Two-thirds of the population now resides in cities and suburbs. By the year 2000 about four-fifths of the people will be jammed into the cities, by current predictions.

This assures continuation of the trend of migration from small towns and rural areas into the big cities. For many years "small town America" has not been able to produce enough.

Jobs to keep its young adults at home. Many must go to the cities to seek jobs.

The urban-rural economic imbalance is rapidly producing what one cynic described as two nations, one a "rural wasteland" and the other "a vast urban slum."

Now, the Great Society is spending billions of dollars on the problems generated in the cities, on everything from rat extermination and teaching sanitation to the poor, to urban redevelopment and rent subsidies, without tackling the economic forces which drive more and more people into the cities, seeking jobs.

Congressional big money spenders overlooked a constructive program to slow down the migration, proposed by Congressman Joe Ewins of Tennessee.

His plan is simple: give tax incentives to businesses that relocate in rural, small-town America. A business would receive tax credit for the cost of machinery and equipment, plus special tax considerations for plant and property costs, when it establishes a branch or division in a rural area, employing in an outlying area.

No appropriation of government money is required. Capital investment to provide new jobs would be provided by stimulated private enterprise.

This makes more sense than spending billions in the War on Poverty, which cannot be won until its causes — not its affects — are attacked.

was ever granted by Congress, and the Omaha-Ft. Kearny Road remained a part-time thoroughfare, closed every spring by floods. The problems of roadbuilding have changed a great deal since the 1850s. The roadbuilding about prairie fires, the engineer must worry about the relative advantages of diamond or cloverleaf interchange design. Instead of facing irate Indians, he must face local residents, angry because the road doesn't pass their place of business. One problem remains the same however — that of securing adequate financing.

Ak-Sar-Ben Again Offers Matching Grants To Co. Fairs

Lincoln, Nebr. — Ak-Sar-Ben is offering $500 matching grants to the county fairs of Nebraska for the 15th consecutive year. General Manager Tom Brock announced to members of the Nebraska Association of Fair Managers in convention here Tuesday.

Brock informed the organization that Ak-Sar-Ben has been able to channel over $2 million to the county fairs in the past 14 years.

"We believe this has been an important factor in making the county fairs in Nebraska the finest of any in the United States," Brock said, "and it certainly is one of Ak-Sar-Ben's most rewarding undertakings."

Ak-Sar-Ben not only offers its annual grants to the county fairs but also is the major contributor to the state admission tax. Thoroughbred race meets in the state and pays premiums at the county fairs.

Last year Ak-Sar-Ben awarded $74,785.80 in improvement grants, provided $88,906.55 in the state admission taxes and state license fees, and contributed $23,218 in county fair premiums for a 1967 total to the county fairs of $186,910.35.

Over the 14-year period these three sources of county fair aid from Ak-Sar-Ben have come to $2,078,791.37.

In addition to this, in 1967 Ak-Sar-Ben paid $1,294,413.80 in state pari-mutuel tax.

All county fairs, excluding those which conduct pari-mutuel racing meetings, are eligible for these $500 yearly grants. Up to $500 is offered to the county fairs which agree to match that amount with funds from local sources.

Buy Bonds where you work.

They do.

Why do our servicemen buy U.S. Savings Bonds? Their reasons are the same as yours and mine: saving for the future, supporting freedom. And because they're fighting for freedom, too, maybe servicemen see the need more clearly than many of us. Buy Bonds. In more than one way, it makes you feel good.

Silver Bill Holders Face Loss of Money

Your $1, $5 and $10 bills with the blue Treasury Department seal today are worth more than silver.

Known as Silver Certificates, they legally may be sold at a premium in any amount to most coin and currency dealers.

After June 24th, Treasury by law will no longer redeem them with silver in any form.

With over $500 million of these bills outstanding, they have little or no numismatic value to collectors.

Unmarked silver slabs from 30-odd ounces ($40) on up, when available, may be obtained direct from the Assay Office.

What's In Store For 1968 By The Insect World??

There are many unknowns which make it difficult to predict relative infestations by different species of important crop and livestock insects in Nebraska during 1968.

Predictions are made by University of Nebraska entomologists based on observations of areas of the state — not by individual fields or even counties.

However, it is possible to look at probable infestations of some important insects for 1968. Here are some situation statements:

Alfalfa weevil — The western strain has moved into central Nebraska, where it has not caused extensive damage to date.

Spotted alfalfa aphid — This insect was destructive during the dry years of 1955-57, but has not been economically important over large areas in the past 10 years.

Corn Rootworms — Enough beetles were present in August and September to maintain important populations.

Western bean cutworm — Late spring and early summer moth flights and egg deposits will serve as indicators of this insect.

Hessian flies — Populations were low in 1967, and should remain relatively low in 1968 unless generally early plantings of non-resistant varieties of wheat are made next fall.

Pale western cutworm — Potentially heavy populations of this pest may develop in some southwestern counties in the spring.

Court Says Candidates For Congress May Run Without Regarding District Boundaries

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — A special three-judge federal court, plowing into untouched legal ground, has ruled candidates for Congress in Nebraska do not have to live in the districts they would represent.

It was believed the first time a federal court has said any one who qualifies for Congress can run for the U. S. House of Representatives without regard to district boundaries.

The ruling came in the court holding the recently adopted Nebraska congressional redistricting act constitutional. It said the three districts fashioned by the law complied with federal equal-representation standards.

The court said the only restrictions are that candidates must be at least 25 years old, reside in the state they file in and be citizens of the United States for seven years or more.

Nebraska and other states have traditionally required house candidates to also be residents of the districts they would represent in Congress if elected by the people.

The suit contesting the remap law and bringing about the new guideline was filed by James J. Exon of Lincoln, state Democratic vice chairman.

Judge Donald P. Lay of the U. S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals and U. S. District Judges Richard E. Robinson and Robert Van Pelt convened as a special court to hear the case.

Last Nov. 22 they had thrown out the district alignment used in Nebraska for the 1962, 1964 and 1966 elections. That challenge was also brought by Exon.

The Nebraska Secretary of State's Office said that in view of the last decision, it will accept "any and all" filings for Congress in the May 14 primary providing the candidates are residents of Nebraska.

"As long as they put up the $300 filing fee, we'll put their name on the ballot," said Deputy Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann.

"If legal action is taken against a candidate because of his residency or other matters, so be it."

Beermann also said the state would honor filings received from the new districts even though they do not take effect by the March 15 deadline for candidates to submit their papers for the primary.

The new districts, which are not so different from the old, go into operation April 12, nearly a month after the deadline, because the legislature refused to submit the remap law with the emergency clause.

However, the attorney general said this makes no difference because the districts will be in effect by the primary and that is all that matters.

The only difference between the new and old districts are the transfer of Platte and Polk counties from the eastern Nebraska first to the western Nebraska third, and the shift of Burt County from the first to the Omaha-dominated second.

The population disparity, based on a 1966 University of Nebraska study, is estimated at about 3.2 percent. The court said this was acceptable since mathematical exactness was not necessary.

But the larger implication of the court decree came in the comments about residency requirements to run for Congress.

The judges said "any person qualified for Congress . . . can file in any Nebraska district by designating the number of the district from which he wishes to be elected."

Specifically, they added, "any person qualified . . . residing in Platte, Polk or Burt counties can file for Congress in any district."

This would permit, for example, a person from Scottsbluff in extreme western Nebraska to run for Congress in Omaha, 400 miles to the east, even though he does not live there.

Thus far no one has filed for Congress in Nebraska under this so-called "carpet bagger" procedure.

Diet Pills No Nebraska Problem
State Health Director Lynn Thompson says he has heard of no reports of abuses in the sale of the controversial thyroid-diet pills in Nebraska.

Dr. Thompson, who has been on the job since Feb. 1, commented after the Federal Food and Drug Administration said the pills are dangerous and steps will be taken to stop their sale.

"I'm positive no Nebraska doctors are guilty of abuses in dispensing the pills," Dr. Thompson said. "I'm sure of my statement since I've just come from private practice myself and I would have heard about it a lot easier than as head of this department."

There have been reports of death from the pills in some states. A senate anti-trust committee has been investigating the matter.

Lending Bill Won't Affect Nebraska
The truth-in-lending bill headed for passage in Congress apparently will not require new interest disclosure practices in Nebraska, legal observers report.

They noted Nebraska since 1965 has had a law similar to the federal legislation and that banks and stores have been complying with the requirement to state exact charges on loans and goods bought on time.

The Nebraska law was one of five credit-finance measures enacted after a series of court decisions created a time-sales and interest rate crisis in the state.

It requires that loan and installment sales contracts make full disclosure of the actual or maximum rate used in computing interest charges either as:

— The percent per year or as dollars per $100 per year on the basis of the unpaid balance.

— The percent per month or dollars per $100 per month on the basis of the unpaid balance.

— Or the percentage or dollars per $100 per year followed by a breakdown on the add-on (service) charge.

The law covers everything sold on time from automobiles to television sets and includes revolving charge accounts most commonly featured by big department stores.

Road Hearings Set
The Legislature's Highway Study Committee will hold a series of 10 public hearings around the state on the $450,000 Nebraska highway needs report.

They will begin Feb. 26 at 10 a.m. in the Capitol in Lincoln, move to Omaha Feb. 27 at 10 a.m. and then to Tecumseh on Feb. 28 at 10 a.m.

The rest of the schedule: Hastings, March 4, 9 a.m.; Broken Bow, March 4, 7 p.m.; Norfolk, March 5, 1:30 p.m.; McCook, March 11, 9 a.m.; Ogallala, March 12, 9 a.m.; Alliance, March 12, 7 p.m.; Valentine, March 13, 1:30 p.m.

Ord Woman's Club Hears Talk On UFOs By Mrs. Travis

What about those UFO's? This was the subject Mrs. Horace Travis chose for her lesson for the Ord Woman's Club meeting.

Speaking to members and guests at the home of Mrs. Fred Stoddard, Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Travis explained that her interest in this subject was heightened when she viewed a mirage at the home of her daughter at Imperial. One morning there was suddenly a clear picture of two elevators between her daughter's home and the real elevators on the far horizon. This was quickly explained as being the elevator at Holyoke, Colo. and one at Wellington, Colo.

Mrs. Travis' talk centered on the research being done at the University of Colorado in a project for the U. S. Government. This project is headed by Dr. Condon who formerly headed the U. S. Bureau of Standard, and should be finished by mid-1968.

Better Education
(By Gerald Decker, Ord Grade Principal)

As schooling becomes more complex and the importance of good schooling continues to mount, we might mention a few of the areas which relate to the total education program.

Periodically, decisions arise affecting the instructional program such as: how to implement the program, what should be included, equipment necessary, students and teachers making instructional decisions in the classroom, and others. We also have institutional decisions made by the faculty and the administration. Societal decisions are made by the board members, legislators and federal officials. So we see that there are many decisions to be made as to what to teach with consideration to: establishing priorities, balancing the entire program and selecting the content.

We turn our attention to pupil evaluation and parent-teacher conferences. Teachers develop objectives and select learning opportunities. After doing this, the teacher organizes the different learning opportunities and selects evaluation procedures that are necessary. Conferences are held and they are important in that the home and school have an opportunity to talk about the education of the student using verbal as well as non-verbal communication. The parent-teacher conference gives the parents as well as the teacher, a better understanding of what is necessary and what action should be taken to bring about desirable changes in the learner which seem to be possible. With this information exchange, the home and school can better work together to accomplish or direct the student towards those changes which are desirable. As the home and school work together, the student should benefit from this cooperative approach.

Education is a tremendous thing. Our best investment in the future is the education we provide for the young people in our community.

As we mention pupil evaluation, school programs, school-parent cooperation and other items; we cannot forget discipline and motivation. The best kind of discipline is self-discipline and the best kind of motivation is self-motivation. Self-motivation may be slow to develop and different techniques may be needed or used to arrive at self-motivation. Motivation towards essential goals is not only an essential of good citizenship, but it awakens and develops good motives and a sense of purpose towards the development of better citizens and a better world. Motivation is not just needed by a few, but by everyone.

We have only mentioned a very small number of items that are a part of a better education program. As we move forward in materials, resources, equipment, techniques, motivation and programs; we will continue to strive for the best education for all our children.

State Of Union Is Big Issue In '68

The State of the Union, how it got that way and what to do about it will be the central topic of heated debate in this election year 1968. The President in his message to Congress and the nation has begun that debate. Problems facing the nation were covered, ranging from Viet Nam, relations with the Soviet Union, housing, consumer protection, crime, taxes, spending, and inflation. Against the backdrop of a $350 billion debt carrying interest charges of $15 billion a year, a record budget of $186 billion up $10 billion from last year was recommended. The President predicted an $8 billion deficit, but this estimate was based on the adoption of a 10 per cent surtax on incomes expected to raise $11.5 billion. Whether congressional objections to such a tax increase without a corresponding decrease in federal spending can be overcome in this session of Congress remains to be seen.

If there was anything remarkable about the State of the Union message, it was that there were no surprises — no new solutions offered for the questions before the nation. With the possible exception of the tax increase no priorities were given to guide Congress concerning the relative urgency of action in different areas. Peace terms for North Viet Nam were not materially altered, and Hanoi has again turned its back on U. S. proposals for negotiation. Public concern with crime control and drug addiction problems is evident, and these matters received much attention with proposals for federal aid and strengthening local police organizations and federal law enforcement agencies. Enlarged programs for housing, model cities, job training and employment were recommended to ease disillusionment and rioting in cities. The failure of these programs in the immediate past does not, to many minds, recommend them as solutions for the future. The danger remains that far too much will be expected far too soon. A broad range of measures purported to protect the interests of the consumer were recommended, with increasing emphasis on regulation as a substitute for variety and competition in the marketplace.

The President's appraisal of the State of the Union had two major elements disturbing to many observers. Excessive federal deficits over many years have caused the inflationary depreciation in the dollar's value which has become a major concern to every U. S. family. These same deficits have been a major factor worsening our balance of payments problem. Despite the government's role in creating these problems, the cures recommended for them do not include any real restraint in federal spending. Rather, they are based on higher taxes on the private citizen to restrain his spending and restrictions on the individual's freedom to travel and carry on normal business developments in foreign nations. The effectiveness, as well as the long run wisdom of these solutions, can be seriously questioned.

The second, and perhaps the most disturbing element of the President's message in the minds of many critics, is that it conveyed no sense of purpose and direction for the nation's efforts. Certainly it is impossible to ride off in all directions at once to accomplish simultaneously the conclusion or advancement of every conceivable national objective within our own country and around the world as well. The President noted, "... there is in the land a certain restlessness — a questioning." Since public uncertainty is evident, the question arises as to why something was not said to define national objectives more precisely. Most of the recommendations made have already been considered, rejected or watered down by the same men in Congress who will be reviewing them in the current session.

Some political observers have suggested that the President may have charted this straight-ahead course to lay the groundwork for a political campaign against a "do nothing" Congress which might then be blamed for many of the country's ills. Certainly this has been effective in past political campaigns. In any event, the State of the Union remains a matter of deep concern to the American people. The opening gun of the 1968 presidential campaign has been fired, the political winds are blowing and only the passage of time will reveal their impact upon the destiny of the nation.

Constitutional Rights . . . At Home And At School
(By Bill Bray, Executive Director, Missouri Press Association)

I know of two persons who are denied their Constitutional rights of freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of religion and freedom of assembly. Both of them live in my house. Their Mother and I personally, and without regard for the Constitution, deny these rights.

They cannot just say anything they want when they want to say it; it has to meet with our approval. If they could publish a newspaper they wouldn't be free to put in it everything they might want. They go to the church of our choice and not theirs and they cannot join an assemblage of their friends or others without our approval.

This denial of Constitutional rights will continue until they are 21, despite what the supreme court of the United States has to say. When they are 21 they will be free to exercise their rights except when they are in our home. We do not anticipate any problem at that time because we both believe that by then they will have learned the rules.

At school we expect school officials to exercise the same authority we do at home and we give them that authority. When they go away to college we expect the same watchfulness by college officials and if rules are broken we want to be informed. Whether at a Boy Scout meeting or a Brownie meeting, at a summer camp or at a swimming pool or wherever it might be, they must recognize that there are rules and that there are persons in charge who are responsible for seeing that the rules are observed.

Perhaps their Mother and I are not entirely fair. At school the rule is that "the teacher is always right" and if you get one swat at school, you get two at home.

The important thing they must learn is that freedom is a privilege and not a license.

I do not understand students who defy authority at a college or university. I do not understand people who think they can do and act and dress anyway they want when they ask for the privilege of attending an institution of higher education that has as its basis — discipline. But more than this, I cannot understand the parent who allows this sort of thing and even defends it.

Student demonstrations are becoming a problem for colleges and universities. University officials should have the authority to discipline and even expel those persons who violate the rules because such persons are exercising a license and not a privilege in defying authority.

Before such problems get worse in Missouri schools and in particular at the state colleges and on the university campuses, the citizens of this state should let it be known that these schools have been entrusted to certain officials and that these school administrators are answerable to the citizens who own these institutions and not to students who are privileged to attend.

The privilege of Constitutional rights can be no different in school than in the home.

It's Hot Alright!

Mexico City

Frequently someone asks me if the food in countries south of the U.S. is "all hot" or "too hot" for me, etc. My answer is a loud no: I have never been served much of any!

They keep trying to fix ham and eggs for us, or a tuna fish sandwich, in these foreign lands.

But if that's what I wanted, I'd stay at home.

So this trip, I made up my stomach's mind that it was going to get some real Mexican food, or else —

You know my motto. Something different.

oO

So my first night in Mexico City I had chicken enchiladas. And man, woman and boy they were hot, cheesy and delicious, with tabasco running rampant.

The enchilada is a sort of flat, pancake-shaped folded-over affair. It may be stuffed any old way you like, with or without meat. The chicken was in nice large pieces, and there was a good deal of it.

The cheese looked like our Philadelphia cream cheese, but it wasn't that, tho it was bland and white.

I didn't eat anything else, just a plateful of the marvelous fiery stuff and a cup of very strong black coffee. No, no upset stomach or heartburn. I went to bed, slept like a top (why a top?)

oO

I had forgotten the meal hours are so much later than ours. When I left the dining room, a delightful arrangement around the top of tremendously broad steps, the place was only beginning to fill up, at 9:30 p.m.

Their time is the same as ours. But not their mealtimes.

oO

So next morning I continued my mad hot-eating career. I saw Mexican scrambled eggs on the menu and I ordered them. Plus a very large light and airy sugar-topped sweet roll. And black coffee con leche — (plus hot milk) — it is simply so strong and black.

Well those eggs were plenty plenty hot. Very delicately and properly scrambled over low heat so there were no hard or tough pieces.

But there were tiny bits of precooked onion and red and green peppers that I could identify. And it was hot, hot, hot.

And good, good, good.

New SS Protection For Young Workers

By Larry G. Chaney, Grand Island Social Security District Manager

New protection for the young worker and his family stands out among the new provisions in the social security law for the disabled.

For young workers who became disabled before they had a chance to work under social security for at least 5 years, a new change in the disability benefit provisions is a boon.

For benefits to be paid to a disabled worker and his dependents under the old law he needed social security credits for at least 5 out of the 10 years before becoming disabled. Now, if you become disabled between 24 and 31, you need credits for only half the time between age 21 and the time you became unable to work.

If you are disabled before you reach age 24, you need only 12 years of work under social security when your disability began.

Benefits under this new provision are first payable for the month of February 1968. About 100,000 people — disabled workers and their dependents — are eligible. An estimated $70 million in additional benefits will be paid out in the first 12 months.

The new law could mean benefits even for some people who have recovered from their disabling condition, or if they were denied benefits previously because they lacked enough work credits. You should seek more information at your social security office at Grand Island, Nebraska, if you think you qualify.

Congressman
DAVE MARTIN
Reports

ARTS & HUMANITIES: Last week in the Rules Committee, we held hearings on a $135 million bill to provide Federal assistance to the Arts and Humanities — $55 million in fiscal year 1969 and $80 million in fiscal year 1970. The first bill ever passed in this area was in the 89th Congress, and it authorized to be appropriated $10 million a year for two years. INCREASE — $20 million to $135 million.

The purpose of the bill is to provide grants in the field of art-acting, painting, sculpturing, literature, movies, architecture, dancing and so forth.

With a major war currently being fought; with a deficit of $20 billion projected for this year; with the President demanding a 10% increase in income taxes; should the American taxpayer be asked to finance a program in the Arts and Humanities? My answer is a firm NO.

When the President and the Congress tell the American people that cuts are going to be made in Federal expenditures, that is exactly what should be done. No new spending programs should be started. We should reject the unnecessary. Defer the desirable. Minimize the essential. All it takes is good old fashioned will — and a majority vote.

The Arts and Humanities bill, $135 million, falls in this category.

OVERSEAS TRAVEL: The President sent up his proposals to the Congress to restrict overseas travel in order to improve our balance of payments. It would not apply to government employees and Members of Congress. It was a very complicated measure. Congressional reception — lukewarm.

TRUTH IN LENDING: The House last week passed a tough "Truth in Lending" bill which will require lenders and merchants to disclose the cost of credit as an annual rate. The Senate passed bill revolving charge accounts permitted interest costs to be expressed on a monthly basis, but the House version requires the yearly rate to be disclosed. Penalties for violators are severe, as the bill provides for fines up to $5,000 and one year in jail. This will help to eliminate the loan sharks who prey on our poor.

KERRY ON
By Kerry Leggett

—you were there—
Love is in the lonely places. I found it high above the streets of New York . . . in a quiet hotel room. You were there.

I found it in the lofty clouds . . . I out the window of a jet-liner. You were there.

I found it in a darkened Broadway theatre. You replaced the image on the screen. Others watched a motion picture. I watched you.

I found it in the windows of Fifth Avenue. You looked gorgeous in that dress in the window of Bonwit-Tellers. It fit you perfectly!

I found it in the quiet solitude of a little Polynesian restaurant. You sat across from me in that empty chair. Yes . . . you were there.

You laughed . . . had a ball . . . at the Royal Box. I watched the back of your head as you took in the floor show. Luckily you had the chair nearest the stage. This gave me the opportunity of watching you — and you not even knowing I wasn't watching the show . . . but you, instead.

You pulled me into that bookstore on Madison Avenue. Pointing at the sculpture in the window, you grabbed my hand and gaily made way for us through the crowded store. Finally, finding the piece, you looked hopefully up as we both saw the price at the same time. Then . . . with your ever-present understanding . . . you pointed to the books in the corner and beckoned me on — laughingly you remarked how difficult it would be to take home a Rodin when a book would fit in the corner of the suitcase so much more easily.

I probably wouldn't have given the artificial trees outside the CBS Building a second thought. But you paused, remarking at the beauty of man's creation.

And you didn't see me as you watched the skaters at Rockefeller Center. You were too happily watching the couple skating in perfect time far below us. I saw the couple . . . only momentarily. What caught my eye was your hair . . . blowing in the chill, damp wind.

You paused along the street . . . pointing upward at the towering Empire State Building. I watched your head and the wonder and excitement in your eyes as you gazed skyward. Suddenly I remembered how I thrilled at the same sight. The thrill, this time, was in watching you . . . thinking your thoughts . . . dreaming your dreams.

As I pulled back the covers that night and nestled between the crisp, white sheets, I saw you again — in the darkness overhead. You thanked me . . . thanked me for taking you along. It was a pleasure.

For you saw New York.

And I saw you. I always do — in the lonely places.

Facts About Nebraska Taxes

The following procedures apply when a permit holder wishes to either cancel or suspend a sales tax permit or a retailer's use tax permit. The reason may be that he is no longer in business, hence he would cancel or he may merely desire to suspend due to seasonal sales.

In either event a permit holder who is no longer legally obligated to possess a sales tax permit or a retailer's use tax permit may apply for permission to cancel or suspend the permit by notifying the Nebraska State Tax Commissioner.

Upon receipt of the information that a cancellation is desired, the Office of the State Tax Commissioner will send to the permit holder a form which is the Request to Change or Cancel the Permit (Form TC-625). This application contains the spaces for the necessary information to be furnished. This application must be returned to the Office of the Tax Commissioner. The permit held by the original permit holder must be surrendered and attached to the request form.

Upon receipt of the request, it will be reviewed by the Office of the Tax Commissioner, then approved or disapproved. The application will be approved when the apparent legality of the cancellation or suspension is determined. The final tax return due will be for the last month in which any transaction occurred.

After a person has voluntarily suspended his permit and then wishes to reinstate that permit he should file for reinstatement with the Office of the Tax Commissioner. Again, he will use the Form TC-625 (a second form is provided at the time of the request for suspension). However, if that form had been lost, the request should contain, at a minimum, the business name originally used. Preferably, he should indicate his original permit number, if available, and the date of the voluntary suspension. There is no fee required on the reinstatement.

School News

Kindergarten News
The second Scotts Foreman reading readiness test has been given in the kindergarten room. The test shows improvement in many cases since the last test.

The room is decorated for Valentine's Day and the children are excited about the Valentine exchange and party. There are two Valentine boxes, one for each class.

Much time is being spent on numeral recognition and meaning through 10. Many concrete examples are used to enable the child to actually see the meaning of numbers named by numerals.

This being Abraham Lincoln's birthday, a story of his life was read. The children were surprised to learn that his picture is on our penny.

Eric Fahrlander and Charles Bruha recently celebrated their 6th birthdays. They brought treats for their class and had parties at their homes. Birthdays in kindergarten are exciting.

First Grade News
February is the month of birthdays. Not only do many great men have birthdays in February but also several first grade boys and girls. Treats at school and parties after school were given by these honored children; Martin Wegner and Echo Sperling; with late January birthdays by Craig Gydesen and Dottie Inman.

Mrs. Harlan Gydesen was a recent visitor in this room.

The math class has been working with fractions. The simple division of a whole into halves, quarters and thirds was easily mastered, however, when a number of objects were thus divided the concept was much harder to understand. Manipulation of many concrete objects was necessary.

First graders are enjoying new library books and are proud when many of them can be read now with very little help.

On Abraham Lincoln's birthday the boys and girls enjoyed writing their lessons and drawing pictures with charcoal. The experience was fun but all agree our modern pencils and colors are much better for creative work.

Second Grade

In Social Studies Sally and her family are going on a vacation. Mrs. Sautters and her class will meet them at Phillipsburg, Kansas around Feb. 28th.

This will be an imaginary trip on the bulletin board, taking them to the West coast where Disney Land will be the highlight. Each state will be studied as they journey through it. There will be seven cars in the group.

At present the boys are reporting on how to get the car ready. The girls report on what to do to the house and who will look after their pets.

Suitcases are being made, clothes and camping equipment is being gathered, the bulletin board is being painted, films on Nebraska are being shown. Much excitement is in the air.

Science books are being completed and Health will be introduced. Many films are being viewed on the care of eyes, ears and teeth.

Off The Square
Radio Bridge met with Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings, Wednesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Johnson took the place of absent members. Prize winners were E. L. Vogeltanz and Mrs. Hastings.

Banquet Planned
Cub Scouts of Den 3 met at the Roger Clough home Tuesday, Feb. 6, to make invitations and place cards for the Blue and Gold Banquet scheduled for Feb. 25. There were eight scouts present. David Hadenfeldt furnished treats. Steve Schmidt, news reporter.

The Eighth Grade Girls of Home Ec. are still busy working on their dresses. Some have their facings done and their zippers in, while others are still working on them. Soon some will begin to put their sleeves in.

Just finishing their dresses this week are the Freshman girls. These girls selected cottons, bonded jersey and various blends for their fabrics. Most of the dresses made had a slightly flared skirt or were of an A-line style. Following their sewing projects these girls will begin studying about foods and nutrition.

The girls of the Sophomore and Junior Homemaking Class will begin on their sewing projects next week. For the past several weeks, they have studied about the "ingredients" of design, the principles of design, and the various sewing terms and construction details.

The Senior Class of Homemaking have concluded their foods unit by preparing a cooperative meal. They have just begun on the clothing unit, and hopefully, will be finished in time to wear their outfit for Easter. At present, they are reviewing sewing terms and small construction details, before beginning on their projects.

The Science Eight Class have just finished a chapter on Sound and are beginning one concerning Radiant Energy. In the future, this class will be doing some reports on various topics and then, give these reports to the entire class.

The General Science Class are on a chapter entitled "Probing

The Space Frontier". This chapter covers topics of velocity and gravity, the kinds of rocket engines, and the problems that man has encountered in space. Before the end of the school year, this class will also make reports on various topics concerned with science.

At the regular board meeting held on Monday night, the teachers of the North Loup-Scotia schools were offered new contracts for the coming school year. Salary increases of various amounts were offered depending on years of service, available education, present salary and other factors.

The local school will, again, have the federal Title I programs going this coming summer. The school has received word that federal funds will be available, however, at this time the exact amount is not known. Last summer reading, math, and Physical Education classes were held. The exact program for the summer of 1968 has not been determined as yet.

According to state legislation, passed last summer, the NLS faculty appointed a Negotiations committee to meet with the local school board to discuss mutual school problems. The committee was composed of Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Keep and Mr. Stine. The points agreed upon to discuss at this meeting were 1. salary base for degreed teachers, 2. extended time to return signed contract for board of education and 3. work on a salary base to take effect in 1969.

Educational Service Unit #7, of which NLS is a part, is now beginning to function and provide many services to our school that we are not able to provide. Legislation, passed last summer, requires a school to take care of some of its handicapped children in many ways and a small school is not capable to do this.

Hrubys Mark 60 Years

On Sunday, Feb. 16, Mrs. John Hruby, her children and grandchildren were present at a High Mass offered by Father Stanley Perek at the Catholic Church of Ord for Mr. and Mrs. John Hruby in honor of their 60th wedding anniversary. Mr. Hruby's health did not permit him to attend church, however, the family gathered at the John Hruby home for a family dinner and social afternoon.

We loved so dear,
Silent is the voice
We loved to hear;

But not too far
For thought to reach,
Sweet to remember him,
Who once was here
And who, the absent,
Is just as dear.

Deaf Man Perfects Tiny Hearing Aid

A remarkably tiny all-in-the-ear hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years. This small device has no dangling cords. No separate transmitting units. Just slip it in your ear and hear again as nature intended. Due to the use of transistors, the user cost is extremely low. The instrument weighs only 1/4 oz. Hardly noticeable, yet very powerful.

Kathleen McConnell, Roger Pelska Say Vows in Afternoon Ceremony at Kearney

Baskets of white gladioli set the scene for the afternoon ceremony Feb. 11 at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in North Platte when Kathleen Ruth McConnell became the bride of Roger Dale Pelska of Elyria.

The 2 o'clock nuptial mass, officiated by Father Edward Courtney, was followed by a reception at the Holiday Inn. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McConnell of North Platte. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Pelska of Elyria.

Following the ceremony, an organ prelude of nuptial music was played by Mrs. Doris Cronm. She accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Eunice Allen, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "The Wedding Prayer," and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length gown of sheer organza over taffeta — a lovely princess dress in a bouffant silhouette with circular chapel train. Hand-clipped re- embroidered medallions beaded with seed pearls and bridesmaids were scattered over the fitted bodice and down the full length of the long tapered sleeves. Miss McConnell's veil, of nylon organza, was held by a delicate "Queens Crown" sparkled with crystals and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses; and her jewelry was a diamond necklace, a gift from the groom.

Four bridesmaids led the bridal procession. They were Ginger Myers and Linda Schroeder of North Platte; Carolyn Lindke Kugel of Cozad, and Linda Pelska of Elyria. They wore floor-length gowns of rouge velvet accented at the waist with a high-rise wide pink satin belt. The

Chanticleers Face Grueling Weekend

With district tournament matchups weighing heavily on their minds, the Ord Chanticleers must play three regular-season games in four days this weekend.

In addition, two gruelling long-distance drives on successive nights could affect the Chant performance as much as possible pre-occupation with the district pairings. They must go to York Friday night and Minden Saturday. By the time they complete that marathon, they will have logged more than 400 miles.

Following a day of rest Sunday, the Chants will come back Monday night to host Central City in a makeup of last week's encounter which was called off because of bad roads.

Incidentally, local fans should get their fill of basketball that day. A total of four games will be reeled off in the local gymnasium, starting with an eighth-grade contest at 4 p.m. and continuing through the varsity battle which begins four hours later.

In between there'll be a junior high game at 5 and a varsity reserve contest at 6:15. Both junior high teams will play Loup City, while the two high school quints will battle Central City.

The Bison varsity held a 48 season record going into this weekend's action.

Ord Couple's Son Bows In Midwest Gloves Finals

This area's last thread of contact with the 1969 Golden Gloves competition was severed Saturday night when Charlie Fox was knocked out in the first round.

Fox, who weighed 190 pounds, was beaten in the heavyweight finals of the Midwest Tournament at Omaha. His conqueror was 215-pounder Ron Stander, Omaha district champion who had also beaten him in the 1967 finals.

Stander knocked Fox out with a right-hand punch 53 seconds into the first round. He was named the tourney's outstanding fighter.

In three previous years when he had won the Grand Island district championship, Fox represented the Ord Boxing Club. This year, however, he wore Grand Island colors. He teaches school now in the Third City although his parents still reside in Ord.

North Loup-Scotia Wins Two More, Runs Record to 16-1

The North Loup-Scotia basketball team raised its season record to 16-1 last week by defeating Litchfield, 105-62, and O'Neill St. Mary's, 74-01.

The twin triumphs kept the Wildcats anchored in the 10th spot in state Class C ratings.

Litchfield fell easily, but North Loup-Scotia had to recover from a 10-point halftime deficit to defeat St. Mary's.

Weather Finishes Wrestling Season

The 1969 wrestling season just faded away for Ord High School last weekend.

Scheduled to participate in the district tournament at Holdrege, Ord grapplers were forced to stay home because of the snowstorm and subsequent bad roads.

The tourney went on without them, and as a result the season has ended for Coach Jim Ransey's crew.

Qualifiers at the district meet will go on to participate in the state Class B tournament.

Lexington won the tourney, outdistancing second-place Holdrege, 96 to 78. St. Paul was third with 76 points, Albion fourth with 73.

Here's the really efficient, no-roughage way to finish cattle:

- ✓ Whole shelled corn
- ✓ Salt
- ✓ Water
- ✓ Just 1/2 lb a day of MoorMan's new Beef Finisher

Sure, no-roughage finishing makes sense. Eight years of MoorMan's Research show it can cut feed cost, save time and labor, speed gains.

MoorMan's Premix-trate 80 Beef Finisher Medicated supplies a special mineral combination—along with proteins, urea, vitamins, antibiotic, stibestrol. Everything cattle need for finishing with whole shelled corn—except water and salt.

Unlike some so called "no-roughage" supplements, MoorMan's Beef Finisher contains no midds, hulls, screenings or other fillers. Its extra concentration means you buy less, store less, feed less. With Beef Finisher, you feed only 1/2 lb. per head daily.

I'll be glad to give you details on low cost programs for feedlot adjustment and frame-building, too. Your MoorMan Man,

Ericson, Nebraska

Sign Your Name

Last week we received a letter regarding the action by the city council on the liquor license for Smitty's Tavern. If the writer is wondering why it did not appear in the paper it was because the letter was unsigned and was deposited into the circular file along with the other junk mail.

If you'd like to have letters appear and don't want your name published, tell us and we'll not use your name — but we must know who writes the letters in order to verify some of them — especially if they are critical of someone or something. So send 'em along, sign 'em and if you don't want your name used, let us know and we'll honor your request.

Rough Section!

The mother was telling about her son who got banged up at a basketball game.

"I didn't know he played basketball," commented the listener.

"He doesn't," explained the mother. "He just got into the wrong rooting section."

Not That Bad!

A small boy entering the foyer of a church sanctuary with his dad asked the meaning of the bronze plaque on the wall. "Those are the names of the men who died in service," Dad answered.

"Which one?" asked the youngster, "morning or evening?"

Pinewood Derby

Sunday evening at 7:45 the Ord Cub Scouts will hold their annual Pinewood Car Derby at the small gymnasium at the high school. This is a mighty important event for some 35 Cubs that make up Pack 194 in Ord. The boys, along with their parents, make the little cars from blocks of wood and then they are raced over a track and the speediest racer wins the top trophy.

The derby will follow the annual Blue and Gold Cub Scout banquet which is at 6:30 at the high school cafeteria. The public is invited to attend the derby and there is no admission. Come along and see the boys have fun!

Help Those Youngsters

If youngsters have a desire to be creative, parents should, by all means, do everything possible to encourage this creativity. Few people know it but Napoleon wanted to be a writer. However, his essays and stories were ridiculed by his teacher. So instead of making the world a better place with his words, he destroyed it with his cannons.

As a boy, Adolph Hitler wanted to paint, but his attempts at beauty were rebuffed, thus he turned to aggression. "The man who cannot create," says Erick Fromm, "wants to destroy."

So encourage creativity in your youngsters.

Trapped!

Jeff Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wolf, caused some excitement Friday evening during the Ord-York basketball game. Seems that someone had dropped their coat under the bleachers and Jeff, being small in size, managed to slip in under the bleachers after the game — but he couldn't get out!

One section of bleachers was cleared and the custodians folded the bleachers back part of the way and Jeff came scampering out — no worse for wear but slightly scared.

Do You Know?

Occasionally on KGIN-KOLN-TV as the 10 P.M. news comes on they flash the sign across the screen "It's 10 O'Clock, Do You Know Where Your Children Are?" This, we believe is a pretty good idea and we hope every one who is viewing TV knows exactly where their children are. For those who do not know there may be trouble ahead.

A Real Mystery!

Ray Marshall of Ray's Studios is sporting a new sweater all of the way from New York — yet he is having some difficulty explaining just exactly how he came about the sweater.

A couple of weeks ago Ray mailed some work to a studio in New York and later received a letter with the query: "What shall we do with the sweater?"

So Ray called the studio and the man there told Ray that the sweater was with the package the studio had received and he thought Ray wanted it exchanged since it came from a shop near the NY studio.

Ray informed the New Yorker that he knew nothing about any sweater and the man said he'd just mail it to Ray anyway.

The sweater arrived recently and Ray, although slightly perplexed by the events, claims it's "the best investment" he's made in clothing in a long time!

Need Of Nursing Home Emphasized At ODC Meeting

Ord's urgent need of a good-sized nursing home for the elderly was emphasized Tuesday evening at the fifth annual banquet of the Ord Development Corporation held at the Veterans Club.

Dr. Glen Auble, president of the corporation, urged those attending to "start thinking seriously" about such a project.

"A survey within a 70 mile radius of Ord has been made and it is my opinion that at this time Ord could almost claim the bottom spot in our ability to handle the rising trend in nursing home needs," Dr. Auble stated.

He said that many communities have built new nursing homes in the past two or three years. For example, Broken Bow, 62 beds; Albion, 69 beds; Ravenna, 63 beds; Cozad, 48 beds; Lexington, 62 beds and Burwell, with a 40 bed nursing home unit.

Dr. Auble pointed out that four years ago Ord was caring for about 16 or 18 elderly at one of the local nursing homes and now there are twenty at the long-term care unit at the hospital, twenty-eight at another local nursing home and twenty at another nursing home in Ord, plus many on the waiting list.

"With this present trend, what do you think will happen in another four years?" Dr. Auble asked those attending. He concluded by saying that in his opinion it was not a matter of whether we build or not, but how shall we go about it and when do we start.

Hal Pierce, master of ceremonies, told of the organization of the Ord Development Corporation five years ago with a membership of fifty. There are now 72 members in the organization. During the business meeting all officers were re-elected: Dr. Auble, president; Hal Pierce, vice president; Norm Schmidt, secretary and Ed Vogelitz and F. J. Osenowski, directors.

Pierce reminded the group that "we were proud to have had the chance to give the new chess corporation both moral and financial support and the company is doing very well". Pierce also explained that the group would do the same for Ord Manufacturing Company when the time arrives for a new building.

The new factory owners were guests at the banquet and consisted of Floyd Bollesen, J. L. Grantham, Scotia; Cal Maxwell, Grand Island; Walter Edgar, Central City and Richard Elsberty, former of Ord Manufacturing.

Other guests were Marvin Belgram of Ord Cheese Co. and Mr. and Mrs. Provine Green, new owners of Ord Jack and Jill food store.

For April 2 City Election City Caucuses Slated In Ord Tuesday, Feb. 27

City and school caucuses will be held in Ord February 27 with members of the Good Government Party meeting at City Hall and members of the Citizens Party meeting upstairs in the Fireman's rooms.

The groups are to meet at 8 p.m. at which time the parties will nominate candidates for mayor, one councilman from each of three wards, police magistrate and two members for the Ord Public school district board of education.

School board seats to be decided on are held by incumbents Ed Armstrong and Wilbert Calvin, both elected for three year terms. Council seats to be decided on are held by incumbents Merle J. Van Zandt, first ward; Ed Christensen, second ward and Leonard Weverka, third ward. Incumbent mayor is Bill French and Forrest Peterson is police magistrate.

Most incumbents have indicated that they will run for reelection if they are nominated in the caucuses. The two caucuses are charged with the responsibility of nominating candidates to fill the vacancies created by the expiration of terms of office by the above men. Normally an incumbent is re-nominated for election by the party that put him up for election originally if he will accept the nomination.

Remaining members on the City Council are Harold Christensen, Donald Edward and F. J. Osenowski. Other members of the board of education are Leonard Kannerud, Dale Karve, Emanuel Vodehnal and Otis Miller.

There are no civic issues on the ballot at this time and none will probably be involved, but caucus officials are hopeful that a large turnout of citizens will be on hand for these important meetings.

Load Limits Now In Effect On Area Highways

The highway department of the State of Nebraska has announced that axle load limits, effective Monday, have been placed on about 1,000 miles of state highways.

The load limit of 14,000 pounds for single axles and 24,000 pounds for tandem axles is being placed on 70 sections of state and US highways as well as on some spur roads.

State Highway Engineer John Hossack noted that all of these roads have a low cost bituminous surfacing which was not designed to handle heavy loads under adverse conditions. Thus they must be protected during the spring when the frost leaves the ground and subgrades are unstable due to freezing and thawing action.

It was also noted that the mileage has more than doubled in the last five years as only 431 miles of highway were restricted in 1964. Last year 637 miles were restricted. This increase each year is due to the added miles of low cost surfacing, brought about by the Departments attempt to get more people out of the mud and a paved highway to every incorporated town as soon as possible with the available funds.

The earliest date load limits have ever been imposed was February 15 and the earliest removed April 16. The latest they have ever been removed was May 29.

Here are a few of the restricted highways in the Ord area:

S-1183 Comstock Spur, Comstock west to US 183, seven miles.

Nebr. 10, Loup City south, from the south limits of Loup City south and west to junction with Nebr. 2 near Hazard, 18 miles.

Nebr. 11, Dannebrog west and north, from the west junction of Nebr. 11 and Nebr. 58 north to junction with N-92, 12 miles.

Nebr. 21, Broken Bow, Lexington from the south limits of Broken Bow south through Oconto to end of bituminous surfacing, 33 miles.

Nebr. 22, Scotia east, from the east limits of Scotia east to the junction with US 261, eight miles.

Nebr. 40, Eddyville — Amherst, from Eddyville southeast to the west limits of Amherst, 22 miles.

Nebr. 40, Callaway — Oconto, from the junction of Nebr. 21 and Nebr. 40 northwest to city limits of Callaway, 14 miles.

Nebr. 40, Arnold south, from the intersecting county road approximately one mile south of Arnold south to junction of Nebr. 40 and Nebr. 47, 10 miles.

Nebr. 58, Dannebrog east, from the west junction of Nebr. 58 and Nebr. 11 to four miles east of Dannebrog, four miles.

Nebr. 70, Ord northeast, from county road intersection east of Loup River bridge northeast six miles, six miles.

Nebr. 70, Westerville — Arcadia, from junction Nebr. 70 and US 183 east nine miles, nine miles.

US 183, Anselby — Westerville, from one mile north of Anselby to north junction of Nebr. 70 and US 183, seven miles.

The lower bracket teams will go into action Feb. 27 and finds Valentine versus St. Paul at 7 P.M. and Ainsworth versus Albion in the second game Tuesday evening. The winners of those two games will meet in semifinal play Feb. 29 at 8:30 P.M. The championship game will be Friday, March 1 at 8 P.M. The winner of the championship game will advance to the Class B State tournament at Lincoln March 7, 8 and 9.

Coach Ken Trubey said he would start Lyle Christensen, Jim Lukesh, Ron Bredthauer, Bill Klanecky and Gary Sedlacek Friday night against Ainsworth and these same five starters would no doubt go Monday against O'Neill. He said Bill Miller, Dick Janda, Mike Kunz and Gerald John would get to see a lot of action Friday and during the tournament.

The Chants go into Friday's game at Ainsworth with a 13-4 record with losses this year to Cozad, Schuyler, Aurora and Central City. Following last Saturday's defeat of Minden the Chants are now in the elite top ten Class B basketball teams in the state.

The Ord Reserves, now 6-7 for the season, will play the primary game at Ainsworth — their final game of the 1967-68 season. As many fans as possible are urged to attend the Ainsworth and the tournament games to support the Chant players.

No Pre-Sale Of Tourney Tickets For Ord Adults

Ord High School has received 400 tickets for students to attend the Class B District game, tourney which starts at Grand Island Monday evening at 7 p.m. as Ord tangles with O'Neill, according to Al Bellinger, high school principal.

Because there is another program going on at the school in GI Monday, those attending are asked to park southwest of the school building. Parking attendants will be on hand to help with the traffic.

Bellinger said all students attending must have identification to get in at student prices and all cheerleaders and pep band members must pay admission to attend the ball games.

Tickets will go on sale at the Grand Island High School gymnasium at 6 p.m. each game night, with the first ball game slated to get underway at 7 p.m.

Pat Osentowski, Larry Kokes Married At Ord Catholic Church

In a Saturday afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church of Ord, Patricia Lynn Osentowski became the bride of Larry A. Kokes. Father Stanley Gorak officiated at the Nuptial Mass. The double ring ceremony was used. About 200 guests attended.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ed R. Osentowski of North Loup and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Kokes of Elyria.

Janet Osentowski of Omaha served her sister as maid of honor. Janis Koelling of Ord was a bridesmaid. They wore floor length red velvet dresses styled in princess lines and carried white mums nosegays with red trim and white streamers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned of white satin with bell sleeved lace jacket and empire waistline ending in a long lace train. Her lace appliqued veil of illusion was caught with a satin bow. She carried a nosegay of red roses and white mums.

Flower girl was Debra Osentowski, sister of the bride. Mark Gog of Ashton, cousin of the groom, was ring bearer.

Best man was Charles Kokes of the U. S. Navy, brother of the groom. Charles Hrebec of Ord, cousin of the bride, was the groomsman. Ushers were Tom Osentowski, brother of the bride and Harold Kokes, brother of the groom.

The nuptial music was presented by eight 8th graders of St. Mary's School. Mrs. Syl Furtak was the organist.

Sharon Mly, Darlene Osentowski and Ella Jean Kokes cared for the gifts. Mrs. Willis Plate served cake; Mrs. Thead Nelson served ice cream; Mrs. Philip Mrsny, Jr. poured coffee and Mrs. Don Norton, aunt of the groom served punch. Servers were Jean Kokes, Carol Kriewald, Betty Nelson and Trudi Edwards.

For going away, the bride wore a green wool dress with matching jacket.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Ord High School. The groom graduated from Ord High School in 1964. Both are employed at the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant. They will reside in Grand Island.

Special guests were the couple's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kokes, Mr. and Mrs. John Hrebec and Mrs. Mae Dockhorn.

A rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents, was held Friday evening in the Odd Fellows Hall basement. Guests included Father Stanley Gorak, the wedding party and immediate family members.

Still Hospitalized
Mrs. Mary Christoffersen was hospitalized at the Valley County Hospital with a broken hip since Oct. 28, 1967. She was recently transferred to the convalescent wing of the hospital and relatives report that she is able to walk some and is progressing nicely.

Card Of Thanks
We take this opportunity to thank Father Gorak, our family, even to the smallest great-grandchild, our friends, neighbors, and all those who by their many acts of love, and their cards, gifts, and lovely flowers made our 65th anniversary a never-to-be forgotten occasion. May God bless each and every one of you.

ORD'S BIG MEN AT WORK—Jim Lukesh, Lyle Christensen and Ron Bredthauer, which make up one of the toughest front lines in Class B basketball, were busy men Friday and Saturday night as they helped the Chants sweep a double-header taking York 75-61 Friday and upending favored Minden 77-66 Saturday evening. At left Lukesh comes off the boards with a rebound; second from left Christensen knocks ball away as Minden player attempts a shot; third from left it's Bredthauer hauling off one of his 16 rebounds against York and at right Christensen goes up with a Minden player to deflect another shot attempt. Coupled with the outstanding play of Bill Klancey and Gary Sedlacek these three helped Ord move to a 13-4 season mark and to seventh place in the Class B rankings. The Chants will be at Ainsworth Friday to end regular season play and on Monday they'll open Class B District play at Grand Island against O'Neill at 7 p.m.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

with Max Good

The Ord Chanticleers have moved into the coveted TOP TEN in the state of Nebraska and we'd like to congratulate Coach Ken Trubey and his squad for getting the job done.

We've had a feeling all season that the Chants belonged in the top ten, but sickness, plus losses to Aurora and Cozad didn't help the Chants cause early in the season.

On Dec. 1 the Chants dropped the season opener to Cozad by one point and this was a ball game the Chants should have won, according to Coach Trubey. On Jan. 5 the Chants fell to fourth-rated Schuyler and on Jan. 6 they dropped a game to Aurora. Coach Trubey was disappointed in the loss to Aurora feeling that the Ord club is much better than Aurora. He said he felt that Schuyler was an excellent ball team and said it was too bad Lyle Christensen was not at full strength when Schuyler whipped Ord.

Regarding the loss to Central City, Coach Trubey commented: "I'm not sure what happened there, but we certainly shouldn't have lost to the Bison". At that time Christensen had missed the Broken Bow game the night before and when the Chants met Central City, Christensen played, but again was not up to his full capability.

"Against both York and Minden I felt that for the first time this year our team was at full strength. Christensen was healthy for both games and all of the boys played good hard basketball against York and Minden", Coach Trubey added.

"I would certainly have to be complimentary of all the players, including subs Mike Kunz, Gerald John, Dick Janda and Bill Miller for they came off the bench and did a fine job. Gary Sedlacek's play against Minden was the best he's ever played and we have been getting a 100 per cent effort from Ron Bredthauer most all of the season. When we have all of this going for us, plus the fine play of Jim Lukesh, Bill Klancey and Lyle Christensen then we have a ball team that is mighty tough to beat", Coach Trubey concluded.

The above fact was evidenced Saturday night as the Chants turned back Minden.

For doing so the Chants are now rated seventh by the Lincoln Star and 10th by the Omaha World-Herald. The World-Herald rates the teams this way:

Holdrege, 14-0; Crete, 16-0; Holy Name, 18-0; Schuyler, 14-1; Laurel, 16-1; Minden, 12-3; Aurora, 13-4; Sidney, 11-6; Auburn, 14-3; Ord, 13-4.

The Lincoln paper notes the teams like this:

Holdrege, Crete, Schuyler, Holy Name, Laurel, Aurora, Ord, Minden, Madison, 13-2 and Sidney.

Once again: Congratulations to Coach Trubey and the Chants.

Top Team Effort, Field Goal Accuracy Pays Off As Chants Upend Favored Minden 77-66; York Is Also Weekend Victim Of Ord Club

By Max Good
Quiz Editor

A tremendous team effort by the Ord Chanticleers plus 50 per cent shooting from the floor paid off in a 77-66 basketball win over fifth-ranked Minden before a packed house at Ord High School gymnasium Saturday evening.

The win was Ord's second in as many nights as the Chants polished off York on Friday evening by a score of 75-61 giving the Chants a 13-4 record with a trip to Ainsworth left on the schedule next Friday evening.

Coach Ken Trubey was all smiles after the double victory and said it was "nice to have the entire team healthy for a change". He said he also felt that the win over Minden was one of the best team efforts this season and was complimentary of all of the players for their "aggressive play".

"We made a lot of mistakes against Minden, which is an excellent ball team, but at the same time we forced them to make a lot of errors. We also shot 50 per cent from the field and 76 per cent from the free throw line and any team is hard to beat with that kind of shooting", Trubey commented.

Ron Bredthauer was Ord's top shooter both evenings as he canned 24 points against York and 19 against Minden. Against York Lyle Christensen fired in 19 and Jim Lukesh tossed in 14.

In the Minden game Bredthauer had good assistance from Christensen and Bill Klancey as each tossed in 18 points, but one of the bright spots in the game was Gary Sedlacek's play.

The pint-sized guard played an excellent floor game and fired in four field goals and six of seven from the gift line for a season's high of 14 points. Sedlacek's outside shooting kept the Minden defense loose enabling Christensen, Lukesh, Bredthauer and Klancey to get many layups.

Minden came out in a full court press and Sedlacek moved the ball well and displayed fine dribbling ability in getting the ball across the 10 second line. With Minden pressing all over the court, several of Ord's layups were of the wide open variety.

Another key factor in the win was the rebounding of Bredthauer and Christensen as the Chants dominated the boards 51-20. Christensen nabbed 17 rebounds and Bredthauer, fighting all of the time, came off with 16. The Chants limited the tough Minden club to 14 offensive rebounds and 12 on defense. Meanwhile Ord picked off 14 on offense and 37 on defense. Klancey and Lukesh each grabbed six rebounds; Gerald John took down four and Sedlacek and Miller each nabbed one apiece.

In coming up with 50 per cent shooting the Chants hit seven of 12 in the first quarter; six of 14 in the second; nine of 16 in the third and four of 10 in the fourth period. The Chants hit 26 of 62 from the floor. Ord's free throw percentage was 76 per cent on 25 of 33 and Minden's was 64 per cent on 16 of 25. Ord committed 20 fouls and Minden was tabbed for 24. Ord's Christensen and Lukesh fouled out and Minden lost Bill Johnson, Mike Finkner and Steve Rogers via the foul rule.

Coach Trubey's statistics showed that Ord committed 19 turnovers during the game compared to 14 mistakes made by Minden. It should be noted, however, that most of Ord's turnovers were steals made by the Minden players. Klancey was credited with 10 turnovers; Christensen and Bredthauer, one each; John and Lukesh, two each and Sedlacek three. Ord players hit from the field as follows: Bredthauer, seven of 15; Klancey, four of 10; Christensen, eight of 16; Lukesh, two of four; Sedlacek, four of five; and John, one of one.

In the York contest the Chants also made 19 turnovers as follows: Bredthauer, two; Lukesh, two; Christensen, five; Klancey, four; Sedlacek, two; Kunz, one and Miller, three.

The Ord Chants roared out against Minden and took a quick 6-0 lead as Christensen opened the scoring with a layup from the side; Bredthauer drove all the way in for two pointer and then Christensen again hit this time from about 10 feet out.

The lead was shortlived, however, as Minden hit four straight free throws and a bucket to make it a 7-0 ball game. Klancey hit a gift shot and Christensen fired in a bucket, but two quick baskets by Minden made it a 10-10 game with 3:41 left in the first period.

Minden then took the lead on a free throw, but Lukesh took a pass from Bredthauer in under and Ord regained the lead 12-11. Minden came back for a 13-12 lead again but a basket in under by Bredthauer gave the lead back to Ord. Minden again hit from the field and had a 15-14 lead with one minute left, but Klancey canned two free throws to give the Chants a 16-15 lead and that was the closest the fifth-ranked Minden club could get during the remainder of the half game.

Ord held an 18-17 margin at the end of the first as Sedlacek hit from the top of the free throw lane as the quarter ran out. In the second quarter Klancey gave the Chants a two-point spread on a free throw and Sedlacek made it 21-17 and Bredthauer hit to make it 23-17 and by the end of the second the Chants held a 32-32 lead.

As the second half started Ord quickly grabbed a 10 point lead as Bredthauer and Lukesh each hit from the floor. Then with Christensen, Bredthauer and Klancey hitting the Chants moved to a 60-46 third quarter margin outscoring the Whippets 22-14 in the third frame. Just before the buzzer sounded Bredthauer brought the crowd to its feet as he launched a shot that was in the air as the quarter ended, but it swished through to count another two points for Ord.

Just before the third period ended Minden lost Johnson on fouls and with 6:52 left in the fourth Ord's Jim Lukesh fouled out after playing excellent defensive ball. Then with 2:22 remaining in the ball game and the Chants leading 66-59, Ord's Lyle Christensen went to the sidelines with five fouls. Bill Miller and Gerald John were in the ball game then and both played well as Minden tried in vain to get back in the ball game.

The key to the victory was Ord's aggressive play on defense as the Chants constantly forced Minden errors and then turned them into points. Ord's rebounding was superb with Bredthauer showing his best rebounding ability of the season as he fought for the ball on both boards. Christensen and Lukesh were also tough on the boards, with Lukesh breaking up many Minden plays.

Another factor in the win was Gary Sedlacek's all-around play. Sedlacek's firing in of 14 points per ball game up to the Minden tilt, hit several from outside, plus one or two layups. He also moved the ball well against the Minden press and only once was Ord forced to turn the ball over because of the 10 second rule in getting the ball over the center of the floor.

Gerald John came off the bench with two minutes left in the second period to replace Christensen and did a good job of rebounding, stealing the ball and firing in a pair of buckets. When Lukesh fouled out John went in again and when Christensen was out Miller went in as a replacement. Miller was fouled and calmly bucketed the gift shots.

After the Chants had led by as much as 16 points early in the fourth period Minden roared back as they made several steals of the ball, but could get no closer than seven points at 60-59 with 2:22 left in the game. With Minden pressing Klancey slipped in for an easy layup for a 68-59 lead. Bredthauer sank three of four gift shots for a 71-61 margin and Miller hit two gift shots for a 73-61 lead. Klancey flipped in another easy layup and Sedlacek calmly hit two gift shots to close out the scoring for the evening for a 77-66 victory over highly-touted Minden.

York Falls Friday

On Friday evening the Chants took care of the York Ducks by a score of 75-61. In this game the Chants completely dominated play taking a quick lead of 2-0, having the score knotted at 4-4 and from then on it was Ord all the way. York proved to be a good shooting team, but lacked the height to cope with Ord's front line of Lukesh, Christensen and Bredthauer.

Against York the Chants hit 45 per cent on 25 of 56 and York had 50 per cent on 25 of 62. The difference in the ball game was at the charity stripe where Ord connected on 25 of 43 for 59 per cent and York counted only 11 of 20 for 55 per cent. Each team lost a player on fouls. Klancey fouled out for Ord and Forbes for the York club.

York, which fielded a small team, was out rebounded 50-29 by the taller Chants with Bredthauer and Christensen each picking off 13. Lukesh came off with 11; Sedlacek and Klancey, five each; Janda, two and Kunz, one.

Last Friday there was a convocation about the way Ord High students act and dress. There will be no pantsless, shorts or slacks, for the girls. All hair must be cut out of the eyes for both girls and boys. Boys are supposed to wear belts with shirts tucked in.

All girls blouses that are tailored are to be tucked in also. The traffic in the halls is a menace too.

Listen kids, take a little time to get to the lunch room, the cooks won't throw your lunch away if you are a few minutes late.

Let's settle down and show the faculty we can dress appropriate and act right.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

In the book "Children's Letters To God" Eric Marshall and Stuart Hamble have compiled such precious thoughts and wishes that only exist in a child's world. Their subject matter ranges through those beliefs, desires, questions and doubts that are urgent and common to all children. Some are wise, others naive, some reverent — some not so reverent — but all written in all seriousness. Some samples: "Dear God, Count me in. Your friend, Herbie"; "Dear God, I saw Saint Patrick church last week when we went to New York. You live in a nice house. Frank"; "Dear God, Last week it rained three days. We thought it would be like Noah's Ark, but it wasn't. I'm glad because you could only take two of things, remember, we have three cats. Goodbye now, Donna"; "Dear God, Are boys better than girls. I know you are one but try to be fair, Sylvia"; "Dear God, Church is alright but you could sure use better music. I hope this does not hurt your feeling. Can you rite some new songs. Your friend, Barry";

And two more which I like best are: "Dear God, What is it like when you die. Nobody will tell me, I just want to know, I don't want to do it. Your friend, Mike"; "Dear God, Do you get your angels to do all the work? Mommy says we are her angels and we have to do everything. Love Maria."

When children answer my calls I ask if mothers are busy. Almost always they say "No."

4-H Clubs Organized
The fourth grade girls of St. Mary's and Ord Public Schools met Monday at the County Extension Office to organize two new 4-H clubs. Mrs. Dean Bresley presided at the after school meeting.

These enthusiastic young 4-H'ers were divided into equal groups, one group chose to meet the first Tuesday of each month; the other selected the third Thursday of each month as their meeting date. Names of the two clubs are yet to be chosen.

Cathy Hyde was elected president of the Tuesday group. Also elected were Carla VanNordheim, vice president; Carol Bellinger, secretary; Shannon Grove, news reporter; Carrie Kerchal and Becky Moyer, callers. Other mem-and I'd be willing to bet the mothers are deep in a task they hate to leave.

No February is complete without at least one cherry dish. This dessert is from the kitchen of Mrs. Adeline Urbanski.

Cherry Dessert
1 1/2 c. oatmeal
3/4 stick margarine, melted
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 t. soda
1 1/2 c. brown sugar
1 1/2 c. flour

Mix all this together and spread 3/4 of it on the bottom of a 9x12 inch pan, then on top of this mixture spread a can of cherries and put the remaining mixture on top of the cherries. Bake in oven at temperature at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

On Sunday, two great anniversary celebrations were being held in Ord at the same time. It was the 65th anniversary date of Mr. and Mrs. Bolish Suminski who gathered with their family at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church. Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vancura, Sr. observed their 60th wedding anniversary with family members at their home. I know there must be some special words to extend at a time like this. A mere "congratulations" so meow seems inadequate to me. However, my BEST WISHES (in capital letters, too) are extended to each one of you... sincerely.

The Huskie's Howl

Last Tuesday night's game with the Sargent Bulldogs was one of the most exciting games I've watched in recent years. The Bulldogs led up until the last few minutes of the game. The Huskies then forged slowly ahead to win by a score of 47 to 42.

The reserve volleyball team won their game against the Bulldogs by a score of 14 to 12. This made their record 5-3. I think these girls have improved one hundred per cent this year. Next year's varsity should really go places if these girls show the same spirit. High scorer was Linda Lewandowski.

Senior announcements have arrived and will be distributed soon.

Friday night the Huskies went to Pleasanton. In an exciting game the varsity basketball team won with a score of 49 to 46. Saturday night we played Oconto and won 78 to 53. Seniors playing their last regular season game were Dennis Dietz, Dave Tuning, Ron Harburt, Dennis Lindell, and Jim Hawley. They've done a fine job this year, which we all appreciate very much.

The reserve volleyball team added two more victories to their list Friday and Saturday nights with wins over Pleasanton and Oconto. This makes their record 7-3. High scorers in the games Friday and Saturday nights were Linda Lewandowski and Denise Gould. Good going girls!

Seniors playing their last regular season volleyball games this weekend were Mary Cook, Shirley Lutz, Babs Sell, and Karen Lewandowski. I'd like to wish them the best of luck in whatever they do in the years ahead.

This week ends the fourth six-weeks period. This means that students will be busy studying for six-weeks tests. Or shall I say they "should" be studying for tests. The Huskies will be playing in the District Tournament at Broken Bow this week and we'll all be there.

Seniors, great news! We have only fifty days of our Senior year left. Let's do our best to make them some of the most memorable.

State Voter Registration Shows GOP Tops Democrats 12 Per Cent

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — There are nearly 12 percent more Republicans than Democrats in Nebraska, latest statewide voter registration figures show.

Allan J. Beermann, deputy secretary of state, said a compilation through mid-February placed the Republican total at 275,241 compared to 242,972 for the Democrats.

Another 14,145 Nebraskans are registered as independents, meaning they prefer neither major political party.

The GOP edge of 32,269 over the Democrats compares with a margin of 26,590 in January and a 19,662 difference in December.

Beermann estimated another 150,000 persons will register before the May 3 deadline to vote in the May 14 primary.

This is the first year statewide voter registration is required in Nebraska. All citizens who wish to vote must list their affiliation as Republican, Democrat or independent. The latter will not be allowed to vote for president in the primary.

Beermann said the current total registration of 532,358 is above the average number of Nebraskans that turn out at a statewide election.

The updated registration list also shows that Republicans outnumber Democrats in the newly-fashioned first and third congressional districts but the Democrats still hold a top-heavy margin in the Omaha-dominated second district.

Beermann said another breakdown will be issued in March. He said the secretary of state's office is "generally pleased" with registration results.

Pollution Regulation Brings Conflict

The state of Nebraska and the U. S. Interior Department are at odds over a proposed water pollution control regulation.

The department advised state health officials it will not accept Nebraska's new water quality standards until a provision is adopted to require increased treatment of sewage discharged into interstate waters.

T. A. Filipi, executive secretary of the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council, replied in a letter that the regulation is "arbitrary, unreasonable and unenforceable."

He told Robert Burd, chief of the Interior Department's water quality standards division, that present requirements are sufficient to eliminate water pollution in Nebraska.

The state council twice has refused to adopt the government regulation, which would force all potential pollution sources along interstate waters to construct secondary as well as primary waste treatment facilities by 1983.

The department said 12 states have included the provision in their water quality standards needed to comply with the Water Pollution Control Act of 1967 and qualify for federal funds.

Failure to act could result in loss of matching money for sewage plant construction projects, or a suit forcing the state to adopt the regulation.

However, Filipi was hopeful the government would reconsider its position. He told Burd state officials would be glad to meet with him to discuss the matter.

"Surveys of Nebraska waters, both intrastate and interstate, indicate we are meeting criteria established to maintain waters for the beneficial use of those persons using them," he said.

Mrs. Morrison To Seek Congressional Seat

Mrs. Maxine Morrison, wife of former three-term Gov. Frank Morrison, has tossed her bonnet into the proverbial political ring.

The 32-year-old mother of three and grandmother of three announced she will run for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the second district — Burlington, Washington, Douglas, Sarpy and Cass counties.

She will probably be opposed in the May 14 primary by John J. Cavanaugh, chairman of the Douglas County Board. The winner will face Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Nebr., in the November election.

Mrs. Morrison has never before tried for elective public office. But her friendly manner and attractive appearance were considered big political assets for her husband when he ran for governor.

On the Republican side of the political aisle, State Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont filed as a candidate for the State Railway Commission from the fourth district.

He said his decision was based on "disappointment" by the in- decisive actions of the commission. He was particularly critical of recent commission actions.

Tiemann Orders Breakdown

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has directed the State Roads Department to compile a project-by-project breakdown in highway construction in Nebraska, in hopes of unlocking federal funds.

He said the list will show the development phase of each job, estimated cost and when federal matching dollars are needed most to permit orderly completion.

John W. Hossack, state highway engineer, will hand deliver the study to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads in Washington after its completion.

Mr. Hossack will then use this information to negotiate with the bureau for funding the projects," Tiemann explained. "This way we hope to reduce delays in our construction program."

The governor ordered the survey after the U. S. Transportation Department announced a $600 million cutback in federal highway funds.

Another Anti-Tax Campaign Starts

Another campaign to abolish the 1967 income tax law has been formally launched by foes of the levy.

An initiative petition form and affidavit were filed with the secretary of state seeking to force a popular vote in November on the tax.

The effort is sponsored by the Nebraska Taxpayers' Research and Information Council on State Income Taxes, an organization formed after the legislature passed the sales income tax act last April.

Sponsors must gather 48,640 valid signatures before July 5. They must come from 38 counties and represent five percent of the electors within each county.

Several Attend FB Tax Meeting At Grand Island

The Valley County Farm Bureau was represented by George Krajnik, Riley Brannon, Ed Timmerman, Heloise Bresley and Alma Bredthauer, Friday, at the District Tax Information Meeting in Grand Island.

The morning portion of the meeting at the Commercial National Bank dealt with Farm Bureau membership and issues with presentations by Roland Nelson, president, and Stan Tryon, state field service director, Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation.

George Krajnik, county Farm Bureau president, said "One of the important things emphasized during the discussion of the 1967 State Sales and Income Tax Law was the need for broader understanding of what the law means to taxpayers tempted to sign the initiative petitions now being circulated." He added that most taxpayers cannot afford to sign the petitions which would return the state tax load in Nebraska to properly or have the effect of increasing the sales tax to approximately five per cent.

He pointed out that opponents of the income tax give the impression it will be complicated to make out. He said discussions at the meeting indicated that for most taxpayers the 1968 state income tax is a simple matter of taking ten per cent of the federal income tax payment from which is subtracted a $7 per family member sales tax credit.

This means that, with a few exceptions, taxpayers will pay 1.5% state income tax that they have been led to believe by sponsors of the initiative petition. As an example, he concluded, the family with a federal income tax payment of $400 would pay $40 in state income tax, less $7 per family member, which would for a family of five result in an actual payment of $5. A few taxpayers might have a somewhat more complicated return because of conflicts in reporting of some types of investments.

Many Attend FLB Annual Meeting At Grand Island

More than 380 members and guests attended the annual meeting of the Federal Land Bank Association of Grand Island, Saturday at Central Catholic High School in Grand Island.

Ralph Baikes, director of the Farm Credit Banks of Omaha, was the principal speaker.

Joseph S. Kriski, manager, reported on the past year's business and that the Association has $8,600,000 in loans outstanding, an all-time record.

George V. Schutte, president of the Association, was chairman for the meeting, Verne Mosman, president of the Chamber of Commerce gave the welcome.

Joseph S. Kriski, was presented an award for the second year in a row for exceeding more than a million dollars of new money loaned.

Re-elected to the Association's board of directors for a three-year term was George V. Schutte of Clark. Other directors are: Leroy W. Niefeld, Vice President, Grand Island; Fred Boltz, Danneberg; Wilbur Fuss, Cotesfield; Edward Krenzlack, St. Paul and Fred Eimken of Aurora.

The ladies of the St. Mary's Altar Society served the luncheon, and organ music during the luncheon was by Ron Micek of Grand Island.

If You're A Freeloader, This Shoe Will Fit

(From the Hartford (Wisconsin) Times-Press)

There is a movement under way to organize "welfare clients" into a union to get bigger unemployment checks and unspecified fringe benefits. Those promoting such a union point out that the reliefers represent a highly potent political force and they intend to use it to get everything that is coming to them.

Where "welfare clients" have banded together, their front men have been able to get more people on welfare rolls and obtain higher handouts for all the "clients." Government officials are dismayed at how this has boosted relief costs and say that a powerful welfare union could mean a welfare state in short order, with a back-breaking load placed on the non-bum element.

While it is alarming to realize that there are millions of parasites in this country who are greedily demanding more, we think there is an antidote.

No, we don't advocate a taxpayers' strike or any kind of a sitdown aimed at getting the freeloaders off the backs of people who work for a living. We think the antidote can be found in something that is happening right now — the tremendous amount of mail being sent to Washington and to State Capitols telling the politicians that taxpayers have had enough.

It's a truism that he who pays the piper calls the tune, and it's the working people of America who pay the piper, not the indigents. Politicians know this and that fact will not be changed by a union of "welfare clients."

One of these days the people whose earnings are being increasingly taken from them to support "welfare clients" may demand, and get, something that would strike terror to those who toil not, neither do they spin. They may insist that "welfare clients" do more for their money than go to the bank to cash their checks. They may insist that these people do some sweat-producing toil, like shoveling snow, raking leaves or washing windows of public buildings. So far politicians have not hurt the feelings of "welfare clients" by setting such conditions, but taxpayers may get fazed enough to demand this fringe benefit for the welfare union said to be aborning.

Incidentally, apart from not voting for politicians who won't give them what they want, we wonder what members of a welfare union would do in case of a strike.

FFA-Challenging Youth In Agriculture

Today the business of agriculture is one of vast complexity and many hardships. There are great problems and decisions facing the agriculturist of today. Because of these many awesome facets of the agricultural scene, there are great challenges to be met.

These challenges must be put before the new generation of agriculturists, for these are the men that must meet this challenge. They must be stimulated by this great need and take steps to solve their problems.

The challenges facing the agricultural youth of tomorrow are staggering. It will take a vast amount of training to meet these challenges. The road to success will be long and blocked with obstacles. The Future Farmers of America, the youth in agriculture and the leaders of tomorrow, have accepted the challenge.

It will take a certain type of man to lead American agriculture. It will take a man with the determination and stamina of a hickory switch. He must be able to make the right decisions at the proper time. He must be a leader, but he must also be able to accept suggestions and listen to reason. He must be a universal genius, for he must know the skills of the scientist, inventor, technician, and business manager or his operation cannot survive.

Along with the manager, there must be an efficient operation. A good manager with a poor operation has the same effect as no manager at all. The operation must utilize all labor and capital to the greatest and most efficient extent possible, for in the future it will be the efficient operation that survives.

In tomorrow's world of agriculture, there will be many vast and nearly unbelievable changes. In general, the agriculture of tomorrow will involve a complex array of machinery and computers.

Perhaps the biggest challenge facing the Future Farmers is that of feeding the ever-increasing population. Meeting this challenge will require all of the skill, brainpower, and desire they can muster.

Future Farmers of America are celebrating FFA Week, February 17-24. Their theme — "Challenging Youth In Agriculture." Training agriculturists is the business of vocational agriculture classes in high schools throughout the state and nation. The FFA program, a part of vocational education, gives Future Farmers an opportunity to acquire agricultural abilities, develop skills of leadership and appropriate attitudes of citizenship and cooperation.

Back To The Bullfights

Yesterday in Mexico City I went back to see a bullfight — my third such excursion. Yes, I like them — they are a stimulating show of bravery, action, color.

These were the bravest big black bulls yesterday that I had ever seen. They were furious when they came out, challenging the world. I hear they are raised in the Toluca area, famous for just such magnificent animals.

But they are teased by scampering young fellows. They are charged at by horses wearing heavy quilt protectors (blindfolded horses). They are irritated by picadors, the foolhardy youngsters who place two long darts into the bull's back, shortly behind his head. All six or eight darts must go within a small specified area. Sometimes the picadors get rolled end over end and hurry to get away, believe me.

It is colorful. The costumes in bright satin are heavy with gold braid. The cute little black hats have two black ears or flanges, one on either side. The young man either has a pigtail of hair or wears a black bow to simulate a pigtail. Silly looking to me — but traditional.

Judges sit high overhead, watching. Every move is specified, must be done just so.

The crowd watches critically, just as they do at our football games. A poor move brings on boos. A good one is approved with loud, quick O's. Or whistles.

After the judges give permission, the matador has twelve minutes in which to insert a slender rapier behind the bull's head. It must penetrate at least half its long length.

Everything has to be done according to Hoyle. Mostly what they all do is wear the bull out, tormenting him to charge this way and that. He loses a little blood, true, but mostly he runs around the ring after one man or another. We saw five out of six bulls fight.

Two bands played, on opposite sides of the arena, trying to keep together. Vendors tramped through the stands, just as they do in Nebraska — but they weren't selling familiar foods. A favorite here is very crisp pigskin — but that isn't what they call it. It looks good, all crackly.

So far I have never tried it, but you can never tell. It is their substitute for potato chips and looks much like that.

Here Are Some Of The Important Improvements In Medicare Program

By Larry G. Chaney, Grand Island Social Security District Manager

Here are some of the more important improvements in the Medicare program under the social security amendments signed by President Johnson on January 2, 1968.

Payment for Doctor Bills
Medicare beneficiaries whose physicians prefer to bill them directly instead of billing Medicare will no longer have to pay the bill and get it receipted before they can collect Medicare payments.

Under the old law, if the doctor did not want to submit his bill to Medicare, a Medicare beneficiary had to pay the bill and get it itemized and receipted in order to claim payment from Medicare. Now, beginning January 1, 1968, all the patient needs to send in with his request for payment is an itemized bill, even if he has not yet paid the doctor. If the doctor's office will fill out the bottom part of the standard Request for Payment form, this will serve the full reasonable bill.

More Hospital Days Covered
Beginning January 1, a person covered under the hospital insurance part of Medicare will be eligible for 60 additional days of care partly paid for by Medicare. This is a "lifetime reserve" that you can draw upon if you have used up the 90 days in a "spell of illness." During these additional days, your Medicare will pay all but $20 a day of your covered hospital expenses.

As before, a "spell of illness" does not end until a 60-day period has passed during which you were not a patient in any hospital or skilled nursing home. When a spell of illness ends, you again become eligible for up to 90 days of hospital insurance benefits. The 60-day reserve, however, is a lifetime reserve, and none of it is replaced after you use it.

Also, the Medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968, in hospitals not participating in the Medicare program. You had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i.e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

During the first year of Medicare some hospitals were not able to take part in the Medicare program, and others have not chosen to take part, for one reason or another. A special provision for payment in emergency cases helped many people, but there were some hospitals which did not qualify even under the emergency provisions. And some people covered by Medicare and admitted to these hospitals when there was no Medicare emergency provision mistakenly believed that Medicare would pay their bills.

If you were a Medicare beneficiary between July 1, 1966, and December 31, 1967, and could not earlier get payment under Medicare for a stay in a hospital that did not take part in Medicare, ask the hospital or your social security office to help you apply for benefits.

More Bills Paid in Hospitals
Starting January 1, 1968, the medical insurance part of Medicare will pay the full reasonable charges of radiologists' and pathologists' services while you are a hospital inpatient, if you are enrolled for medical insurance. Under the old law, Medicare paid only 80 percent of the charges after the $50 deductible had been met.

Under the old law, if you were in a hospital or extended care facility and were not eligible for hospital insurance payments — because you had used up all your hospital insurance benefit days, or because you did not enter the extended care facility within 14 days after a hospital stay of at least 3 days — services such as X-rays and laboratory services were not covered by either hospital or medical insurance.

As of April 1, medical insurance will cover such services if you are in a hospital or extended care facility. These services would ordinarily have been paid for as part of your doctor's bills if you had not been in the institution.

Physical Therapy Payments Broadened
Another change in the Medicare program provides payments for physical therapy under medical insurance, in your home or elsewhere, if it is furnished by an approved hospital, clinic, rehabilitation center, or public health agency.

Services in Non-Covered Hospitals
The Medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968, in hospitals not participating in the Medicare program. You had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i.e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

If you were a Medicare beneficiary between July 1, 1966, and December 31, 1967, and could not earlier get payment under Medicare for a stay in a hospital that did not take part in Medicare, ask the hospital or your social security office to help you apply for benefits.

More Bills Paid in Hospitals
Starting January 1, 1968, the medical insurance part of Medicare will pay the full reasonable charges of radiologists' and pathologists' services while you are a hospital inpatient, if you are enrolled for medical insurance. Under the old law, Medicare paid only 80 percent of the charges after the $50 deductible had been met.

Under the old law, if you were in a hospital or extended care facility and were not eligible for hospital insurance payments — because you had used up all your hospital insurance benefit days, or because you did not enter the extended care facility within 14 days after a hospital stay of at least 3 days — services such as X-rays and laboratory services were not covered by either hospital or medical insurance.

As of April 1, medical insurance will cover such services if you are in a hospital or extended care facility. These services would ordinarily have been paid for as part of your doctor's bills if you had not been in the institution.

Physical Therapy Payments Broadened
Another change in the Medicare program provides payments for physical therapy under medical insurance, in your home or elsewhere, if it is furnished by an approved hospital, clinic, rehabilitation center, or public health agency.

Services in Non-Covered Hospitals
The Medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968, in hospitals not participating in the Medicare program. You had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i.e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

Sixth In Series

Here Are Some Of The Important Improvements In Medicare Program

By Larry G. Chaney, Grand Island Social Security District Manager

Here are some of the more important improvements in the Medicare program under the social security amendments signed by President Johnson on January 2, 1968.

Payment for Doctor Bills
Medicare beneficiaries whose physicians prefer to bill them directly instead of billing Medicare will no longer have to pay the bill and get it receipted before they can collect Medicare payments.

Under the old law, if the doctor did not want to submit his bill to Medicare, a Medicare beneficiary had to pay the bill and get it itemized and receipted in order to claim payment from Medicare. Now, beginning January 1, 1968, all the patient needs to send in with his request for payment is an itemized bill, even if he has not yet paid the doctor. If the doctor's office will fill out the bottom part of the standard Request for Payment form, this will serve the full reasonable bill.

More Hospital Days Covered
Beginning January 1, a person covered under the hospital insurance part of Medicare will be eligible for 60 additional days of care partly paid for by Medicare. This is a "lifetime reserve" that you can draw upon if you have used up the 90 days in a "spell of illness." During these additional days, your Medicare will pay all but $20 a day of your covered hospital expenses.

As before, a "spell of illness" does not end until a 60-day period has passed during which you were not a patient in any hospital or skilled nursing home. When a spell of illness ends, you again become eligible for up to 90 days of hospital insurance benefits. The 60-day reserve, however, is a lifetime reserve, and none of it is replaced after you use it.

Also, the Medicare program may now make partial payment of bills for treatment before January 1, 1968, in hospitals not participating in the Medicare program. You had to pay a hospital bill because you were treated in such a hospital, it may be possible for you to be reimbursed, if the hospital meets certain minimum standards, i.e., it is licensed as a hospital; has a full-time nursing service; and provides medical care under the supervision of a doctor.

During the first year of Medicare some hospitals were not able to take part in the Medicare program, and others have not chosen to take part, for one reason or another. A special provision for payment in emergency cases helped many people, but there were some hospitals which did not qualify even under the emergency provisions. And some people covered by Medicare and admitted to these hospitals when there was no Medicare emergency provision mistakenly believed that Medicare would pay their bills.

If you were a Medicare beneficiary between July 1, 1966, and December 31, 1967, and could not earlier get payment under Medicare for a stay in a hospital that did not take part in Medicare, ask the hospital or your social security office to help you apply for benefits.

Come to Church "Religion? How square!"

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs. Does that mean you have to? Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values. So is religion. And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life. Don't knock it. Join it. Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

A Real Fun Night

Cub Scouts and their families gathered at the high school Sunday evening for the annual Blue and Gold Banquet and Pinewood Race Car Derby, the latter being one of the highlights in these weeks before the end of the school year. Wood are handed out to each of the boys and the boys and their dads and moms get busy and build the cars which are then run over a 28 foot elevated track.

Sunday's races was a fine example of boys and their families working together, which is one of the aims of the Scout program. About 160 were in attendance at the banquet which was enjoyed by everyone. If you have a boy between ages 8 and 18 that isn't in either the Cub or Boy Scouts, you should investigate the possibility of getting him in as you will all enjoy it.

That's For Sure!

"Son," a father told his growing boy, "just remember one thing: I know a lot more about being young than you do about being old."

Interesting Program

Rev. Clarence Campbell reports that some 150 persons attended a program at the Methodist Church Sunday evening where former Ord pastor, Rev. Atherton showed slides and told about his trip to the Holy Land last December.

Rev. Atherton and Mrs. Atherton reported that they took along a couple of suitcases full of items to trade to the people in that area and he said that he and his wife bartered with the natives for many items of interest.

Rev. Atherton is pastor at the Blair Methodist Church.

Hals Off To Chants

The Ord Chant basketball team made a successful Class B tourney debut Monday evening by polishing off the team from O'Neill by a score of 80-40. Thursday evening at 7 p.m. they will meet the team from Neligh, which defeated Broken Bow in the second game Monday evening.

One sidelight to Thursday's ball game is the fact that a former Ord boy is one of the Neligh varsity members. He is Rick Cass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cass. Glen was formerly in charge of the meat department at Ord Safeway Store.

Rick, who played reserve ball for Ord last year, will get to face his old team mates Thursday evening at Grand Island.

We hope that the Chants, under the watchful eye of Ken Trubey, will go all the way to the state tournament and that they will bring home the top trophy in Class B action.

Should the Chants defeat Neligh Thursday, they will then be in the championship game scheduled for Friday evening at 8 p.m. All fans are urged to follow the Chants, since they are playing on a strange floor and need all of the backing they can get.

Last Call

The Ord Development Corporation has sent letters to some members who did not get contacted personally regarding the Ord Cheese Corporation project also to some other folks in Ord. The corporation would like to sell $1,600 more in stock, which is 5 1/2 per cent preferred and according to Norm Schmidt and Glen Auble is a safe and useful investment.

So if there is anyone around who would like to make a good investment in a worthwhile project contact either Schmidt or Auble immediately and they will explain the details to you.

This is a chance to make your money work, not only for you, but for the future of Ord. Give 'em a call, will you?

A Real Bang!

Fast-talking auctioneer Stan Nolte was left speechless Monday during the Koll estate sale when someone dropped a lighted firecracker during the auction.

This in itself is not so unusual, but the loud "bang" occurred just as Stan was giving his sales pitch to sell a gun! The prankster waited until Stan had opened the gun, closed it and just as he clicked the trigger to show that it was in working condition, the firecracker exploded.

"I didn't have much to say. Frankly, for a moment, I thought I had shot someone," Nolte said Tuesday. Leo Wolfe, who worked the sale with Stan, was accused of the prank, but we doubt that Leo would do anything like that. (or would he??)

One-Hundred Per Cent Attendance Sought By Valley County Churches

There have been many types of "anti" demonstrations in the past year. "Anti this" and "Anti that" — here is a time to WITNESS for the POSITIVE side, according to Rev. Clarence Campbell.

It is estimated that of Valley County, about 3,500 are church members, yet on any given day of worship, the average attendance is about 1,600, ranging from 35 to 40 percent of the churches total membership, Rev. Campbell stated.

It is believed that witness can be greater than this and to demonstrate that it can, the churches are asking every member to be in attendance in his or her church this week, he added.

Let's see how many churches can have 100 percent of their membership in attendance on these days," Rev. Campbell said.

The individual churches will keep a record of attendance and in next week's Quiz, the churches and their percentage of attendance will be published. As you will note, this is the first week of the Lenten season. The Lenten season means many things to different people but one thing it provides for all, is a time of deeper commitment to Christ and to renewal of church membership vows, Rev. Campbell added.

This attendance crusade is an ecumenical movement sponsored by the Valley and Area Ministerial Association and the Laymen's Council of The Churches.

Ord Chanticleers Move Into Second Round Play Against Neligh Thursday In District Tourney

The Ord Chanticleer basketball team will enter second round play of the Class B District Tournament at Grand Island Thursday evening (Feb. 29) against Neligh High School as the Chants take into on a berth in the State Tournament next week in Lincoln.

Monday evening the Ord club, under Coach Ken Trubey, took the measure of O'Neill High School 80-40 and will meet Neligh Thursday at 7 p.m. Neligh defeated Broken Bow Monday evening 65-63 to earn second round play.

Tuesday's action sent Valentine against St. Paul at 7 p.m. and Ainsworth against Albion in the nightcap at 8:30 p.m. The winners of these games will meet in the second ball game Thursday evening to determine who will play against the winner of the Ord - Neligh game in the championship bracket Friday evening at 8 p.m.

Ord, a 20-point winner over O'Neill early in the season, found the going fairly easy Monday as they moved to a 14-2 first quarter lead and 41-8 halftime margin. In the second half Coach Trubey cleared the bench using all 12 players on the varsity squad. With the subs playing out the remainder of the game Ord still out-scored the out-muscled O'Neill club 39-32 in the final two periods.

Ten of Ord's 12 players seeing action broke into the scoring column with Lyle Christensen taking scoring honors with 21 points before he was taken out in the second half. Dick Janda and Ron Bredthauer added 10 apiece; Jim Lukesh and Bill Klauz each tossed in nine; Mike Kunz had six; Gerald John and Gary Sedlacek each had five; Bill Miller, four and Dennis Cetak, one to account for the 80 points accumulated by the Chants.

Coach Trubey conceded that the shorter O'Neill team "didn't give Ord much of a challenge" as the Chants dominated the boards taking off an amazing 62 rebounds compared to 26 for the O'Neill club. Jon Stanbeck led the outmanned O'Neill club with 19 points and was the only O'Neill player to reach double figures.

The Chants shot 43 per cent from the floor hitting 33 of 77 shots. O'Neill was a cool 22 per cent on 13 of 59 shots. From the free throw line Ord was 62 per cent on 15 of 24 and O'Neill had 70 per cent on 14 of 20. O'Neill committed 17 fouls and Ord was whistled down for violations 15 times. In the turnover department Ord missed 12 times and O'Neill was guilty of 17 errors.

Christensen was once again Ord's most potent rebounder as the big boy grabbed 16 caroms. Ron Bredthauer and Lukesh each nabbed 11 and Gerald John came off with eight to account for the majority of the rebounds. The Chants pulled down 27 on offense and 35 while on defense for the top rebounding effort of the entire season.

From the floor, by the quarter, Ord hit six of 16 in the first period; 12 of 22 in the second;

nine of 22 in the third and six of 17 in the fourth. Thus the Chants will take a 15-4 record into play Thursday evening against the Neligh ball team and a victory over Neligh will send the Ord club into the finals of the district event.

Wood River Takes 'C' Playoff From Burwell

By Max Good
Quiz Editor

The Burwell Longhorns, playing perhaps a bit too tense, found out Tuesday evening that you may be able to beat the Wood River Eagles twice during a season, but not the third time. Especially when a berth in the state tournament is at stake.

For the Eagles came out strong, grabbed an early lead and went on to upset the Longhorns 58-50 in the Class C district basketball playoff game before a screaming crowd at Ord High gymnasium.

The Eagles took a first quarter lead of 12-6; extended it to 29-20 by halftime intermission and maintained an 8-point, 42-34 lead after three periods were over.

For the Longhorns it was their inability to hit the basket early in the game that got them in trouble, plus their inability to cope with a furious fast break displayed by the Wood River team.

But with 3:37 left in the ball game it appeared that the Longhorns were going to pull the game out as they slapped on a full court press, made several steals for baskets and moved to within four points at 48-44. Then with two minutes remaining a pair of free throws by Steve Thelen and baskets by Tom Wilkinson and Dan Collins gave the Eagles another 10 point lead and after that the Longhorns could pull no closer than six at 50-50 and little time left on the clock.

Beaten by Burwell in a regular season game and again in the Wood River Conference Tournament, it was evident from the start that Wood River came here to play ball as they held the Longhorns to two free throws and two field goals in the first quarter.

And with Collins and Randy Bruhn controlling the boards most of the game the Eagles were able to use the fastbreak effectively time after time. Thelen drew three fouls early in the game and was replaced by Ralph Zavala, a pint-sized 5-6 senior, who fired in three long field goals and did a good job of ball handling for the Eagles.

Wood River had balanced scoring with three in double figures. They were Collins with 16; Bruhn with 11 and Wilkinson with 17. For Burwell, three players were also in double figures. They were Roger Hurst, 19; Don Lindsey, 12 and Craig Anderson, 10.

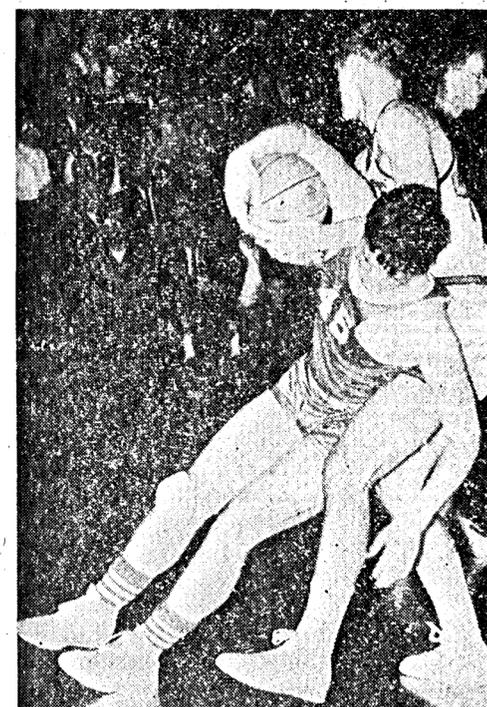

The win sends Wood River into the state Class C tournament, next week in Lincoln.

"LET GO OF THE BALL!" — Ord's Jim Lukesh wrestles with Stan Clyde of O'Neill in first round tournament action Monday evening at Grand Island. In this case a jump ball was held as the O'Neill player slipped to the floor. The Chants meet Neligh Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the semifinals.

Every Four Years! Four Valley County 'Youngsters' Have Birthdays Thursday

February 29 is a mighty important day for four Valley County persons and the reason is that each of these fellows have waited four years to celebrate their birthdays.

Youngest of these is Duane Kovarik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kovarik of rural Ord. Duane is a sophomore in Ord High School will observe his 16th birthday Thursday, although the date of Feb. 29 has come around for him only four times.

Another Leap Year birthday is that of Laddie Hulinsky of Burwell. Laddie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hulinsky. He was born in 1936, thus he will be observing his "81st" birthday, although actually 79 years old.

Residing in Ord is Emil Fafelita, who was born in 1892 and is observing his "19th" birthday Thursday although actually 76 years old.

The oldest man observing a Leap Year birthday in this area is Joe Klat, who resides three miles southwest of Ord. Mr. Klat was born in 1884 and is now observing his 84th birthday, although he has actually celebrated only 21 genuine birthdays.

Mr. Klat remains in good health and able to be outside doing some work most of the time. To these four persons the Ord QU offers its congratulations as they celebrate these rare birthday occasions.

JC-Ettes Plan To Conduct Eye Tests At School

The Ord Jayettes are voluntarily going to hold a screening clinic March 4th at the Ord Grade School and March 5th at the Comstock Grade School, for the Kindergarten and first grade pupils.

Each child will look at picture forms, first with one eye covered and then the other. This will take approximately two minutes. Nothing will be placed in the child's eye, only a piece of square cardboard or patch will be used to cover the eye so the child can see with only one eye at a time during the test. The results will be recorded and parents will be notified if there are some irregularities and suggest these irregularities be checked by your doctor; medical or optical.

What is the screening for? Amblyopia. Well, what is amblyopia? It is called, "Lazy Eye Blindness." Amblyopia develops because of some vision trouble when the child is quite small such as double vision. The child in attempting to eliminate one image suppresses one of his eyes. This "eye" becomes weaker after a length of time and finally the vision from that "eye" is only a blur.

To treat this eye condition you make the lazy "eye" work and strengthen itself. As simple as this treatment is, it must be done before the age of six or seven, or there may be little chance for restoring good sight to the lazy "eye."

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

A daily recently carried advice on how to say "I Love You" written by Jani Gardner. She suggests writing "I Love You" on the bathroom mirror, putting a fresh carnation in his lapel, straightening the clothes in his chest of drawers, providing hot chocolate with a dollup of whipped cream on his nightstand at bedtime and sharpening the pencils on his home desk.

Some of her more extravagant advice includes greeting him at the door wearing a false moustache. He will think you're a nut but will probably kiss you anyway. Wearing a ribbon in your hair, a color he'd like. (This may cause some comment!) Or finding out how to say "I Love You" in Chinese and making him a nice chop suey dinner to eat from a low-flying table.

Probably the most way out of them all is having a Roman Picnic. This is the way... Put a white sheet on you and one on him and on the floor, serve grapes and repeat "Ego Te Amo" to each other. That's Latin for it.

These suggestions are interesting enough, but I am opposed to her suggestion of carving your initials and his in the woodwork by the phone stand!

Sunday, Monday or any day of the week, today's inexpensive chicken can make a delicious meal. Serve it with a hair for Sunday and try variations during the week. This week's recipe for Chicken Fricassee is from Mrs. Edward Penas.

- 1 1/2 t. salt
- 1/2 t. pepper
- 1/2 c. bread or cracker crumbs
- 1/2 c. flour
- 2 1/2 c. milk
- 4 T. shortening
- 3 stalks celery, chopped
- 1 sweet pepper, chopped (optional)
- 3 sprigs parsley, chopped
- 1 bay leaf

Cut up chicken in pieces. Dredge with salt and pepper and roll in crumbs which have been mixed with the flour. Dip in milk. Roll in flour and crumb mixture again. Brown in shortening, place in baking dish; add remaining milk and the other ingredients. Cover. Bake in 375 degree oven until chicken is tender.

Here's a hint for mothers whose little children invariably leave the towel on the bathroom floor instead of hanging it up. Take two or three safety pins, drape one edge of the towel over the towel rack and pin the edge of the towel, leaving enough hanging down so the youngest child can reach it.

Recipe For Happiness: Take equal parts of faith and courage, mix well with a sense of humor, sprinkle with a few tears, and add a helping of kindness for others. Bake in a good-natured oven and dust with laughter. Scrape away any self-indulgence that is apparent and serve with generous helpings.

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: Look out for your tongue; it's in a wet place and liable to slip.

Higher Salaries In Teaching Field

information is being placed on the computer for the first time with aid applicants and school officials who are looking for teachers.

"Last year the University's Teacher Placement Office placed 918 teachers; 70 per cent of whom joined Nebraska school systems in more than 70 of the State's counties. Officials from nearly every school system in Nebraska made one or more trips to the campus last year to interview prospective teachers," Dr. Meierhenry said.

By contrast, Hallgren points out that only 12 to 15 Nebraska businesses utilize the University's Placement Office which serves all graduates except those from Teachers College.

"Nebraska students are sought after by employers over the nation as their records of performance place them highly with students from other fine institutions," Hallgren said. "To date 250 firms over the nation have interviewed University students on the campus."

"We wish more Nebraska employers would utilize the service we provide. Many times students are not aware of opportunities in their own state. If businesses would provide some facts about their operation and something about the city in which they are located, we would be happy to place this information on file for use by our students. All eyes are on the Class B district tournament at Grand Island this week as the Ord Chanticleers move into second round play against Neligh Thursday evening and every loyal fan is hoping that the Chants will survive the Thursday and Friday action and gain a berth in the biggest of all tournaments at Lincoln March 7, 8 and 9.

The Chants made a successful tournament debut against O'Neill, but the going will get progressively tougher as teams are eliminated. In action Tuesday evening St. Paul bumped off Valentine and Albion sidelined Ainsworth. Thus St. Paul and Albion will lock horns in the second game of GI Thursday night with the winner of the latter game and the winner of the Ord-Neligh game going against each other Friday evening in the district finals.

We wish the Chants good luck.

The Chants are now 14-5 and Lyle Christensen is the top scorer and rebounder for the Chants. Lyle missed three games due to sickness, but in the 16 games he has played he has scored 323 points on 129 of 262 field goal attempts and 65 of 88 from the free throw line. In addition the big center has pulled down 220 rebounds and in 16 games has been credited with 37 turnovers. Ron Bredthauer is second high in scoring with 259 points in 19 games on 100 field goals and 59 of 88 at the gift line. Ron had grabbed 193 rebounds and has made 71 turnovers.

Jim Lukesh is fourth high scorer with 228 points in 18 games. Jim is second in rebounding with 120 and has been credited with only 28 turnovers, the least of any player who has played all of the ball games. Jim has hit 83 field goals of 191 attempts and hit 52 of 76 from the gift line.

Sophomore Bill Klanecky is third high in scoring with 230 points on 74 of 89 from the floor and 82 of 117 from the free throw line. Bill is credited with 83 rebounds and has made 69 turnovers in play this season.

Gary Sedlacek has scored 80 points this year on 27 of 87 from the floor and 22 of 36 from the gift line. Gary has grabbed 50 rebounds and has made 41 turnovers.

The Ord team has scored 1,252 points through 19 games compared to 1,027 for the opposition. The team has made 315 turnovers, taken off 866 rebounds; has hit 469 field goals in 1,149 attempts and has hit 336 free throws out of 492 times at the line.

Those are some of the vital statistics on Ord's first five players, including the game with O'Neill Monday night.

The Huskie's Howl

The Huskies took one more step on the way to the State Tournaments last week with their victory over the Oconto Tuesday night. They won their way into the District Playoffs by beating the Litchfield Trojans in a fast-moving game Thursday night.

I'm sure all Arcadian's are very proud of our great team. This Thursday night we play Theford at North Loup-Scotia. The winner of this game plays the winner of the Wolbach Spalding Academy game for the chance to go to state. We all have very high hopes of making it to State this year and we'd like to have as many fans out there rooting as possible.

Commission Sets Opening Dates Across Nebraska

Double opening dates for firearm deer, pheasant, and quail were set for the first time in a number of years at the last meeting of the Game and Park Commissioners at the State Capitol.

Ringneck and bobwhite hunting begins November 2 in that portion of the state north and west of U.S. 81 and U.S. 34. The southeastern area bounded by the two highways will open the following Saturday, November 9. Deer season is just reversed. It starts on November 2 in the southeast region bordered by U.S. 81 and U.S. 34, and begins on Saturday, November 9, in the remainder of the state.

Other starting dates include: archery antelope, August 17; squirrel and rail, September 1; grouse, September 21; rifle antelope, September 28; snipe, October 1; archery deer, October 12, and wild turkey, November 2. Dates for ducks and geese depend on a framework to be outlined by the U.S. Department of Interior.

Commissioners also adopted regulations for the 1968 spring turkey season. Running April 20 through 29, there were 1,000 permits authorized for the town only hunt. Shooting hours will be sunrise to sunset, and legal weapons include shotguns, 20 through 10 gauge, and longbows. Units and the number of licenses available in each include: Halsey, 35; Lincoln, 50; Niobrara, 200; Nuckolls, 25; Red Willow, 50; Round Top, 600; Sioux Creek, 25; Verdigris, 50; and Wildcat, 25. Use of a call is mandatory.

Applications for spring turkey permits only are now being accepted, and nonresidents will be eligible to apply on and after March 1. Fees are $5 for residents and $15 for out-of-staters. Applications, maps of areas, and synopsis of the season information are available from permit vendors, Game Commission offices, conservation officers, and county clerks who handle hunting and fishing permits. Mailing of permits is expected to begin about April 1.

In other action, the Commissioners designated the Shelton interchange area on Interstate 80 as War Axe State Wayside Area, authorized the acquisition of a 73-acre addition to the lake area at the interchange of I-80 and U.S. 281 at Grand Island, and okayed the purchase of 180 acres along Nine Mile Creek in Scotts Bluff County for a trout spawning area.

The next regular Commission meeting is slated for March 28.

Thursday and Friday nights, a Class D regional playoff tourney will be held in our school with teams from Arcadia, Theford, Plesanton and Spalding Academy competing for a chance to go to the State Basketball tourney. Last week the North Loup-Scotia Wildcats generated a lot of power with pep rallies, posters, spirit contests, to help the Wildcats to a 82-32 win over the Loup City team which had beaten them earlier in the season. Thursday night they returned to the regional tourney at Merina and in a fairly easy game beat Ainsworth - Merina 69-40. Saturday night found us going against a strong Burwell team and our team found themselves on the short end of the 43-54 score. Seniors playing their last game in this tournament were Charles Sintek, Bernard Keown, Jim Jeffers, and Greg Stine and Tom Wagner. Juniors who will be back next year are Chuck Wegner, Al Williams, Jim Clement, Larry Tolen, Dick Benson, Gary Gillman, Keith Sintek. Freshman Terry Keown rounds out the varsity squad for this year. LaVelle Miller was coach of the North Loup-Scotia Wildcats assisted by Larry Lewis.

The 8th graders are busy writing reports on special areas or topics related to Nebraska History. They are also studying the Civil War era. Role playing has been used to help the students understand sectional differences.

The Soviet Union is the area being studied by the 9th graders. We will study its growth, government, economic life, and its role in world affairs. The next region to be studied will be Southeast Asia.

State Government and its influence on the individual has been studied by the civic class. This will be followed by units on local government, taxation, finance, and the United States world leader.

Next Monday and Wednesday nights the LVAA Conference volleyball tourney will be held in the NLS gym. The first game gets underway Monday evening at 7:00 with a game between NLS and Litchfield and will be followed at 8:00 with a game between Taylor and Loup City CC. Greeley Sacred Heart and Wolbach drew byes and will play the winner of the first two games on Wednesday night. Finals will also be played Wednesday night.

Chants End Season 14-4 As Bulldogs Fall 75-56

A 30 point effort by Ord's Lyle Christensen helped boost the Chanticleers to a 75-56 victory over Ainsworth Friday night in the last of the regularly scheduled games of the 1967-68 basketball season.

The win was Ord's 14th in 18 starts this season and sent the Chants into district tournament play at Grand Island favored to move into the state tournament at Lincoln.

In Friday's victory the Chants, still making numerous mistakes, came up with a 43 per cent shooting average from the floor and blistered the free throw nets for a 75 per cent performance. From the floor the Chants lofted 63 shots, hitting 27 and from the gift line 26 shots were put skyward with 21 dropping through the metal hoop.

Big Jim Lukesh was second high scorer in the game with 19 tallies on five from the floor and nine of 12 from the free throw stripe. Ron Bredthauer added 12 tallies and Bill Klanecky hit 10 to put four of the Ord players in double figures.

Meanwhile Ord's defense limited Ainsworth to 32 per cent shooting. In 47 minutes Ainsworth shot 67 times but the Bulldogs meshed 14 of 17 from the gift line for a hot 89 per cent.

Once again Ord's rebounding power was evident as the Chants picked off 49 caroms to 26 for the Bulldogs. Christensen was the leader in that department as he grabbed 17. Lukesh grabbed off 15 and Bredthauer grabbed 10 to account for the majority of the rebounds. Ainsworth, a much shorter club, was held to 26 rebounds, 11 on offense and 15 on the defensive boards.

The Ord team held a 16-11 first quarter advantage and led 34-25 at the halftime intermission.

In the second half the Chants outscored Ainsworth 41-31 to put away the 14th victory of the season.

In connecting on 27 of 63 from the floor Bredthauer hit six of 12. Lukesh, five of 10; Christensen, 10 of 22; Klanecky, four of 11; Gary Sedlacek one of five and Mike Kunz, one of three. Scoring by the quarter was eight of 14 in the first; four of 17 in the second; eight of 18 in the third and seven of 14 in the fourth.

Ord's four losses this year were to Cozad in the opening game 48-47; Schuyler, 58-36; Aurora, 64-57 and Central City, 54-50.

The Chants defeated O'Neill 64-45; Gothenburg, 80-60; Lexington, 75-55; Seward, 43-32; Loup City, 89-66; Burwell, 68-47; St. Paul, 72-58; Albion, 78-52; Loup City, 72-40; Burwell, 74-53; Broken Bow, 61-60; York, 75-61; Minden, 77-66 and Ainsworth 75-56.

Oscar Wilde Visits Nebraska Wearing Long Hair In 1862

In the spring of 1862, Oscar Wilde, poet and self-styled aesthete, visited the unpolluted state of Nebraska. How the state received him, and how he received the state, may be gleaned from articles in the newspaper files of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

As an "aesthete," Wilde had begun wearing his hair long while he was attending college at Oxford. He decorated his room with peacock feathers and began professing intense feelings on art for art's sake. He believed that the pursuit of beauty should dominate man's intellectual ventures.

When Wilde spoke in Omaha at Boyd's Opera House on the evening of March 21, he discussed his theory of beauty. As reported in the Omaha Herald the next day, Wilde "wore the suit of black velvet with knee-breeches which has been his usual dress in this country."

The Herald also reported that, at the close of the lecture, "which was given the most respectful and undivided attention, Mr. Wilde was enthusiastically applauded. . . . Mr. Wilde speaks rapidly, is eloquent at times, and a poet in prose in his word painting."

A Herald reporter interviewed Wilde at his hotel, when Wilde wore "a black velvet jacket, dark trousers, leather gaiters faced with yellow cloth, and a maroon silk scarf is tied at his throat."

Wilde was generally critical of American architecture, but he declined to comment specifically on Omaha buildings. The reporter stated, however, that "Wilde remarked that he had seen many men of marvellous physique and many beautiful women in the west. . . . and that appreciation of beauty began with an appreciation of human beauty."

On April 24, Wilde spoke to students at the University of Nebraska. According to the Lincoln Journal of the next day, "Mr. Wilde did not hesitate to criticize the miserable poor architecture of the University." The school's student newspaper noted that instead he "traced about a bulletin board in the hall: 'Beautiful, these yellow letters—the alphabet of the soul.'"

Wilde was also reported to have interviewed a "practical professor" and came out "muttering an oath."

That evening Wilde lectured at the City Hall. If we may judge from the next day's Journal, his reception here was rather different from the one he had received in Omaha. Or perhaps the Journal reporter was simply more honest. At any rate, it was noted that his "delivery was the most uninteresting of any public speaker of note whom we ever listened to, and his closing sentence brought a sigh of relief both to those who had been trying to follow the march of ideas and those who came out of mere curiosity to see the much talked of Englishman."

One local wit wrote of Wilde's visit to Lincoln: Oscar Wilde came yesterday

To wear with us in his sad way. He couldn't stay, he had to go—Our cast iron stoves depressed him so.

Apparently Wilde considered cast iron, as opposed to wrought iron, to be vulgar and unesthetic.

Rule Change May Boost Entries At Fremont Hog Show

FREMONT — More hogs entered in the live competition and from the carcass contest are expected as a result of changes in regulations for this year's Midwest Market Hog Show here March 16.

This prediction comes from Arthur White, show superintendent for the George A. Hornell Co., sponsor of the show and contest.

Some of the major changes in the show, to be held at the Wells Sales Pavilion in cooperation with the Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service:

— Pigs of three market hogs will be exhibited in the show, compared to two animals by each exhibitor last year. The extra hog per pen may swell total numbers well past 1,000.

— All live hogs entered in the show will be automatically entered in the carcass contest. Hogs will be slaughtered March 18 and carcasses graded individually, according to the amount and distribution of fat, conformation and acceptable quality. Detailed carcass information will be given on the top 30 hogs in the two weight divisions of the live show, including loin-eye size.

— A live hog judging contest for spectators will be held an hour earlier, at 10:30 a.m. Maximum allowable back-fat has been lowered to 1.3 inches, to allow carcass certification if the exhibitor desires it. Entries for the live show must be made by March 9. Exhibitors must be at least eight years of age. Market hogs must weigh no less than 200 pounds nor more than 240 pounds at show time.

Judge of the live show is Al Christian, swine herdsman for Iowa State University, Ames, Ia.

Imaginary Trip By Slides

The second grade are discovering that Nebraska is a great state. They enjoyed the scenic beauty, relished the excitement of the Old West, relaxed on the banks of a lake or a meandering stream, smelled the freshness of the towering pines, and thrilled to the vast expanse of the hills of grass and fields of crops.

A tour through the State Capitol was breath taking. Several miles out of Beatrice they saw the Homestead National Monument. At Red Cloud they visited the Willa Cather Pioneer Memorial and Museum in the Archives Building.

The grave of Alice Blue Cloud was of special interest, for legend tells us she was the daughter of Chief Red Cloud, who was prominent in Nebraska's early history.

Entries Posted For Nebraska's 'Free-For-All' Primary Election

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — The entries have been posted for Nebraska's "Free-For-All" presidential primary this spring and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon looks like an early heavy favorite.

Nixon, who has always fared well in Nebraska, is lined up against Gov. George Romney of Michigan, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York had been placed on the Republican ballot but he removed his name by filing a sworn statement that he is not a candidate for president.

The Democratic ticket includes President Johnson, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, who was a reluctant entry.

Wallace has advised state officials he will organize his "American Independent Party" in Nebraska to get his name off the Democratic ballot and put it in a third party category.

The primary ballot selections were made by Secretary of State Frank Marsh, who has sole authority under the "All-Star" election law for listing nationally recognized candidates.

Marsh said he had no choice except to list Wallace as a Democrat because the former Alabama governor's third party was not formally recognized in Nebraska when the ballot entries were announced.

"There was no attempt to embarrass anyone," he said in response to Nebraska Democratic Party statements that Wallace's listing was a "gross error."

There were no surprises on the Republican ballot. Omitted was Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, who has consistently said he is not running. Percy was listed on the Wisconsin ballot.

Marsh also passed over Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York on the Democratic side. Kennedy is seen by some as an eventual heir to McCarthy's bid to dislodge Johnson.

Persons not listed by the secretary of state who wish to enter the primary have until March 15 to petition their names on the ballot. This can be done by gathering 100 valid voter signatures in each of the state's three congressional districts.

There will also be a space for a write-in vote in the May 14 balloting.

Estimated Income Forms Must Be Filed
Persons not engaged in farming whose state income tax can reasonably be expected to exceed withholding by $40 must file an estimated tax return by April 15, State Tax Commissioner Murrell B. McNeil reports.

Self-employed individuals and others not subject to payroll deductions of the tax must also submit an estimate, he added.

Farmers and ranchers have until Jan. 15, 1968, to estimate their tax for the 1968 tax year. McNeil said the tax estimate forms are available at county treasurer offices, all banks and from the tax commissioner's office. He said he expects 25,000 to 30,000 Nebraskans to be affected by the regulation, which is identical to the federal requirement.

McNeil said the purpose of the estimate is to permit state tax officials to bill self-employed persons and others before the due date for quarterly tax payments.

Garbage Sites Regulations Under Fire
Proposed state regulations for garbage disposal sites have come under fire from the Nebraska League of Municipalities.

Kenneth Bowen, the League's executive secretary, told the State Health Department the regulations would force smaller towns to increase local taxes by three to four mills.

"They can't afford to do this," he said. "Many of these communities have reached their limit."

The 1967 Legislature enacted a law directing the department to enforce regulations that would prevent dump sites from becoming health hazards.

"Nebraska is not at all proud of the junk, the garbage heaps and the terrible odors that emanate from these phenomenon scattered across the state," said T. A. Filippi, state sanitation director.

Nuclear Lab Project Studied
Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said establishment of a medium-scale nuclear laboratory at the University of Nebraska could make the state the food-processing center of the Midwest.

Atomic research experts from the Brookhaven National Laboratories in Long Island, N. Y., visited the campus last week to discuss the possibility of building the facility there. They concluded the project is feasible.

The laboratory would be used chiefly for preservation of fresh meat and poultry. The Atomic Energy Commission would finance most of the cost.

Tiemann said the laboratory would encourage the food industry to locate in Nebraska to avoid the added expense of shipping raw food materials to processing centers in the east.

"Nebraska could quite easily become the food processing center of the Midwest," he said. "It would be a tremendous impact on Nebraska's economy and would provide jobs for thousands of people."

The governor said he would ask the 1969 Legislature to set up a revolving fund within the State Economic Development Department to help finance the project.

Passenger Rates Boosted
The State Railway Commission has authorized the four major railroads in Nebraska to increase their intrastate passenger rates by five percent.

The action came on a 3-2 vote, with Commissioners Fred N. Peterson of Columbus and James F. Munnely of Omaha dissenting.

The fare hike follows similar approval in 16 other states, including Colorado, Wyoming, Missouri and Iowa. Affected are the Burlington, Chicago, and North Western, Union Pacific and Rock Island railroads.

Tiemann Gets New Limousine
Gov. Tiemann has a new black limousine. The 1968 Continental replaces the 1966 model used by former Gov. Frank B. Morrison and Tiemann.

The limousine, which technically belongs to the Highway Patrol, is leased to the state for $750 a year by the Ford Motor Co.

Federal Auto Insurance!!

Automobile insurance is unquestionably a necessity of life in the United States. Questions are being raised concerning the cost of this vital service and the manner in which it is being provided. The dimensions of the auto insurance problem have been outlined in a feature article appearing in Time magazine. During 1966, 24 million cars were involved in accidents, . . . injuring 4,000,000 people, disabling 1,900,000 and killing 53,000. The nation's 103 million drivers, not to mention the balance of our population exposed as non-drivers to the hazards of our automotive society, need an insurance system which quickly, fairly and at reasonable cost provides adequate compensation for traffic victims. The magnitude of this job can be appreciated when you consider that the economic loss from traffic accidents is estimated to run at more than $12 billion annually.

Policyholders have two main complaints. The first is the rising cost of insurance coverage, due in no small measure to the mammoth plate glass showcases and intricate body designs now on the roads. The second is the difficulty of getting claims settled adequately and within a reasonable time. In the last 10 years, the average auto policy premium has risen sharply. Despite increased premiums, the automobile insurance industry's overall profits are under 6 per cent, and according to the Time article, insurance men state . . . that from 1956 to 1966 the industry paid out $1.6 billion more in liability claims than it received in premiums. Inflation hits costs that lie behind the size of claims settlement.

The main difficulty, however, is the character of liability insurance itself. It does not protect the policyholder against injury to himself, only against . . . having to pay for someone else's injuries in the event that a court finds him at fault. In all but six states, the injured victim must prove that the policyholder was entirely at fault and that he himself was blameless, or he can collect nothing. The volume of these cases is so great, despite the fact that only 5 per cent get to court, that auto accident litigation now accounts for 65 per cent of the proceedings in the nation's civil courts, and in most cities, there is such a backlog of cases that it takes two and a half years to get a case before a court for trial.

These are some of the problems, and a wide range of remedies have been offered. As an example, one major group of companies has proposed a plan by which the medical expenses of all auto accident victims regardless of fault would automatically be paid up to $5,000. Claimants could then settle for an additional $7,500 for income losses and other damages, go to court or bargain for a larger settlement based on proving the fault of the other party involved. The victim's day in court would be protected and, at the same time, claims settlement vastly speeded. This kind of overhaul of auto insurance procedures is needed. Many other steps have been proposed by the industry.

Time magazine concludes, "Two courses are open. One is government auto insurance, which the industry dreads as a door-opener to further government intervention in the insurance business. The other is fast industry action proving that private enterprise can best serve the motoring public." The competition and flexibility of management inherent in the private enterprise way of doing things should give private insurance the edge.

A taxpayer-financed, federal auto insurance program would remove the awareness of cost from the minds of policyholders who would then have little incentive to maintain the best possible driving record and avoid making claims. The rising costs built into such a system could quickly become a backbreaking addition to the debt-ridden federal budget. Government services have never been noted either for their efficiency or their economy of operation, and it is not likely that federal auto insurance would prove to be an exception.

A Timely Message

Most of the daily news is devoted to reporting the affairs and programs of the world's greatest bureaucracy — the U. S. government. Hoards of petty and not so petty officeholders have been assigned the task of disbursing endless billions of dollars to keep as many people as possible secure and well-fed from birth to death.

There was a time when personal security was not in the main purpose of life. Pride in country was a mighty force. We had our national heroes, we had unbounded respect for the doer and the achiever. A refreshing reminder of the kind of people this country can produce can be found in a recent autobiography of Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I Ace, race car driver, businessman and great American Citizen, who has never ceased to be proud of his country.

The book is entitled simply "Rickenbacker" and recounts the life and times of this authentic national hero who worked with unlimited confidence in himself and his country. His career is a staggering record of achievement from the birth of the automobile and the airplane through two world wars and into the jet age. Within the pages of his book may be found the sense of purpose of a man and of a nation. It carries a most timely message.

What Old Volcanoes Are Good For!

Driving in Mexico City is wild, speedy, yet they say they do not begin to have as many accidents as we do. It looks like they play chicken!

Cars pass by inches in narrow streets. Many streets are one-way. Highways are good, often those in the country are toll roads.

The old streets are very cobble-stony, rough for walking. Many streets are paved with volcanic block — dug right out of an old volcano! I'm glad they use them for something.

They still erupt — unpredictably here and there.

Mexico City has the handsomest museums imaginable. They use volcanic block for building these also! It is dark gray and cinders usually, but pretty with marble, and fountains.

In the unique new Petrosal section of Mexico City, a delightful suburb has been built on an old lava flow that was in the way of expansion.

Kathleen Clements Sibley, a pretty daughter of Mira Valley and a splendid hostess, drove me in and out and up and down to see these wealthy homes. They have been built to conform to the lava, and the gardens surrounding them also take full advantage of this chance to be different. The yare charming! A beautiful conception.

Kathleen and her husband and children, three of the most intelligent and interesting youngsters I've ever met, live in ancient, famous San Angel colony. She has now arranged her schedule so that her mornings are devoted to painting. Most of her work is on the abstract side, full of color and impact.

We visited a market famous for its remarkable crafts. There was marvelous jewelry — handmade beautifully, using unusual stones and set into very different mountings of silver or gold.

Lovely semi-precious stones are everywhere here. Fire opals for example are lovely.

All these people seem to have a feeling for form, color, also a sense of humor about it all. With a little paganism thrown in. One of the unusual skills they've perfected is making bright yarn pictures on hot beeswax. They are showy.

Of course there's much silver, beautifully worked. Everything from gorgeous trays and large candelabra to tremendous dangly earrings for just one ear. These are just becoming the rage.

I also saw silver bands to be worn up over the head and ending in a pendant to be worn on the forehead. It took the shape and form of a third eye! Rather a jolt.

Done by one of the most famous silversmiths in this fantastic Mexico.

Do you need a third eye?

Judges Should Be Tougher On Teen Drivers

(From the Boscobel (Wisconsin) Dial)

The Wisconsin state legislature is still trying to get laws on the books making it tougher for violators of the motor vehicle laws. We say more laws will do little good unless county and municipal judges adopt a hard-boiled attitude toward the violators police do manage to pick up.

A soft-hearted judge has no business today sitting in judgment on traffic matters. He belongs in another era. We are in the middle of a war on the highways, and there are going to be a lot more dead soldiers unless judges stiffen their spines and begin to crack down on teen-age drivers who endanger lives with their antics on the road.

Fines mean nothing today and have little punishing value. A boy can get his hands on $50 or $100 as easily as rolling off a leg, and often his dad will pay the bill if he can't. The one punishment that means something is revocation of driving privileges and "grounding" the individual, not for two weeks or 30 days but for up to a year where police have solid evidence of flagrant violations. Judges have the power now to make such revocations.

We're not talking about the youthful driver who makes a mistake. We mean the kind who use an automobile like a dangerous toy, racing on city streets at night, leaving skid marks from fast starts and abusing every sensible rule of the road.

In Boscobel Sunday forenoon, while most people were in church, one of these 300-horsepower commandos left 185 feet of skid marks on the south end of Wisconsin avenue in broad daylight. He came back around the block a little later and left another set. A witness estimated that the youth was doing at least 50 miles an hour when his wheels finally took hold, after leaving a trail of molten blacktop all along the thoroughfare.

The usual procedure, if police do nab such a driver, is to charge him with "disturbing the peace with a motor vehicle" and fining him $10. If someone had happened to get in the way it could have resulted in negligent homicide, but the law only recognizes such an eventuality after it occurs.

We can hear these idiotic automatons almost every night, sometimes at 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, squealing tires on corners and racing their cars in zoned areas. They like to tease the police, doing their cutting up on one end of town when they are sure the squad car is on the other.

We had more faith in the old justices of the peace than we have in the present system of having traffic cases handled by judges burdened down with many other tasks. A JP lived in the town and knew the kids. He was a better judge of individual cases and knew where the more severe penalties should fall, even if he lacked a law degree.

Now in many counties judges are backlogged with traffic cases, riding circuit from town to town. There is a lot of nit-picking about rules of evidence and a lot of cases are delayed. Police are discouraged and some of them are adopting a "what's the use?" attitude.

Maybe our entire system of dispensing traffic justice should be taken away from overburdened county judges and placed in the hands of specialists who would do nothing but handle traffic cases.

In the meantime, even an old-time JP with plain horse sense would know that if every kid who deliberately violated traffic laws in the manner we have described faced a one year revocation there would be a lot fewer young reckless drivers on the road.

Liberty Never Old-Fashioned

Whether we like it or not, Viet Nam has become a war effort of the first magnitude. It can be nothing else when hundreds of thousands of U. S. citizens are called upon to leave their homes and families for military service. In past wars, there have been differences of opinion as to the wisdom and policies of leadership, but never, as at present, has there been evidence of lack of support of the basic principles of freedom for which we have always fought.

In spite of this weakening of first principles at home, it is encouraging to read the comment of Admiral E. M. Eller, director of Naval History, concerning the attitudes and feelings of servicemen in Viet Nam. He says: "From my conversations with those who have served there, from correspondence, and from the flow of official reports that come into our archives, I am convinced that nearly all the Americans in Viet Nam know why they are there — defending freedom against tyranny of the cruelest kind. When one people loses freedom, all lose in part." The idea of believing in one's country and in the ideal of liberty under representative government is never old-fashioned.

Facts About Nebraska Taxes

Every employer subject to the provisions of the Nebraska income tax withholding provisions is reminded that a Form 941N (Employer's Quarterly Nebraska Withholding Return) is to be filed with the Nebraska Tax Commissioner on or before April 30, 1968, along with a remittance for the balance shown to be due thereon. The period covered is for the months of January, February and March, 1968. Subsequent quarterly returns will be due on or before July 31, October 31, 1968, and January 31, 1969, respectively.

The Form 941N is generally patterned after the Federal Form 941, and employers should encounter no difficulty in preparing the form, since Nebraska withholding is based on ten percent (10%) of Federal income tax withheld. The Form 941N mailed the employer will be pre-identified with the name and address and all other pertinent information, and all the employer needs to do is enter the tax amounts on the lines designated for that purpose.

If, during the first or second months of any quarter, an employer withholds Nebraska income tax in excess of $500.00, he is required to make a deposit with the Tax Commissioner for the particular month in which the requirement was met. For example, if an employer deducted and withheld $450.00 for the first month of the quarter, a deposit of $525.00 would be required. The amount to be deposited is entered on Form 501N (Employer's Monthly Nebraska Withholding Deposit), and is due on or before the 15th day of the month following the withholding month. If the mailing envelope properly addressed bears a postmark date on or before the 15th day following the withholding month, the return will be considered as timely filed.

In the event an employer ceases business operations, or no longer has employee wages subject to income tax deductions, a "final" Form 941N is to be filed within thirty (30) days. The final Form 941N is to be accompanied by Form W-2N (Reconciliation of State Income Tax Withheld and Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements). Forms W-2N, (Wage and Tax Statements), should also accompany the final return. Forms for final returns to be filed within the quarter will be made available by the Tax Commissioner upon request by the employer.

The Nebraska Withholding Regulations provide for penalty assessments for delinquent filing of quarterly and monthly returns, so it is urged that employers file their returns early.

Congressman DAVE MARTIN Reports

OLD RESERVE: Last week on the Floor of the House we considered the President's legislation to remove the gold cover from our paper currency. Under present law, we have to keep sufficient gold on hand to back up 25% of the Federal Reserve Notes in circulation. This amounts to approximately $10.7 billion. Our total gold supply is approximately $11.9 billion.

In December 1960, our gold reserves amounted to $17.8 billion. This legislation does nothing to get to the basic problem. The outflow of gold is aggravated by many foreign assistance programs, our commitment of troops overseas, and Federal expenditures in other countries. In order to stop the outflow of gold, it is necessary to take a cold hard look at all of the Federal programs which are contributing factors, and to eliminate or substantially cut back on them. Basic and fundamental change means a complete redirection of our fiscal affairs, and this should be undertaken by the Administration without further delay.

World confidence in the dollar has been shaken, and the international monetary system is in serious trouble. We have no assurances that the passage of this bill will change the current adverse flow of gold from this country.

FIRE RESEARCH: The House passed legislation which had previously cleared the Senate to set up a Federal program to research the causes of fire and how to put out fires. I handled the bill on this floor on the Floor of the House.

The bill, as it came to the Floor, provided for $10 million for the next fiscal year. In studying the matter, I found that we already had nine Federal programs in the area of fire research, and that $11 million was appropriated.

In addition, private industry spent several million in fire research. The fire insurance companies through the underwriters, building material companies who develop fireproof building materials; the fire equipment companies; and many colleges and non-profit organizations engaged in research in this area. Consequently, it seemed to me to be an irresponsible expenditure of the taxpayer's money at the present time to pass this bill.

The bill was amended on the Floor and the amount authorized was cut from $10 million to $2.5 million. I still feel, however, that because we are continuing to spend far more than we take in, plus supporting a major war in Vietnam, that this new program should not have been enacted.

WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION: Last week, President and Mrs. Johnson held the annual Congressional Reception at the White House to which all of the Members of the Congress are invited along with their wives. It was a very interesting affair and President and Mrs. Johnson were most charming hosts. Your Representative and Mrs. Martin were among the guests.

KERRY ON

—just people—
Many interesting things happened during my trip to New York City for the CBS-TV production, "To Tell the Truth." Some are funny. Some are touching. Through fear of sounding like a braggart, I've been reluctant to write about it.

First, let me clear up one misconception — please! My appearance was strictly UNSOLICITED. One of the ways the show finds "subjects" is to subscribe to a clipping service.

A clipping service — to those of you not in the newspaper business — is a service furnished at a charge by a firm that reads thousands of periodicals each day and "clips" whatever may be of interest to a client that subscribes to their service. For an example, Goodson-Todman Productions evidently have a clipping service constantly scanning the papers for something they think may make an interesting subject on one of their many shows.

When the Omaha World-Herald did a story on my life, this must have caught the eye of a reader in one of the clipping services and they passed it along to Goodson-Todman. The producers — in turn — called me and asked if I'd appear on the show. It was a complete surprise to me. I had absolutely no previous knowledge that such a call would be coming.

Another thing that people ask is, "Did you make you look heavier?" (I'm heavy enough the way it is!)

My answer to that would have to be, "Yes." I noticed it not only on myself, but on others I met during the filming. Some of them looked quite different in real life than they did over tv. But I would say that if there was a tendency to distort an "image," it was to make the people look a little heavier and healthier than they actually looked in person.

Another of the questions that I'm inevitably asked, is about the panel — what they're "really" like. They're wonderful people — all of them. Probably Bud Collyer was as nice as anyone could be.

But — above all others — I'll never forget Kitty Carlisle. (And I don't even know how to spell her last name!) But, I guess, the spelling of names doesn't matter.

By Kitty Leggett

in my reason for remembering Kitty.

After the show the contestants wander out on the stage and mix with the panelists. Many viewers mentioned they had seen me spending my last moments "on the air" with Kitty. I did.

After it was over — and all the formalities that go along with it — Kitty cornered me on the stage. "Did your father know of your recovery from alcoholism?" Kitty asked in all seriousness.

"I really don't know," I told her. "He was very sick the last couple of years of his life and I'm not sure he realized that I was fully on my road back."

"I think he knew it today," Kitty said. And as I looked at her, with a lump in my throat, she was looking directly up into the cat-walks high over the stage. There were tears in her eyes as she added, "He saw you today."

"I know he did."

Tearfully she turned and walked away.

I guess that's about all I remember. For I turned and walked the other way — knowing these people were not tv personalities. They were people.

One Change Proposed at City Caucuses: Otto Zapp Nominated for Council Position

Connor Family Safe But House Is Mess Following Explosion

The Darrell Connor family miraculously escaped injury Saturday morning when a gas furnace blew up in their basement, causing considerable damage to their home and ruining most of their furniture.

All six members of the family were home when the explosion occurred. Mrs. Connor and one daughter were in the basement, not more than eight feet from the furnace. A wall separated them from it; however, the wall was blown out.

"The explosion seemed to go up," Mrs. Connor said yesterday, "rather than out, and that may have been why Ann and I were not hurt."

The other children were all upstairs lying on the floor watching television. The set was destroyed.

"I don't know how it ever happened that no one was injured," she added. "The man who came up from Grand Island to investigate said it was a miracle we weren't all killed."

Every window was blown out, and the doors were splintered to pieces. Mrs. Connor said a piece of glass from a French door was embedded in the sofa, "just as if somebody had stuck it there like a sword."

"It broke every dish — anything that was breakable," she said.

Investigators have been unable to determine the cause of the blast, since the furnace was blown apart. However, they surmised that it was caused by the pilot going out and the gas failing to shut off.

There was no fire.

This unusual snow picture was snapped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pederson. Ice on the tin carport roof had partially melted and slid down, then refrozen and curled back in an upward direction. A soft roll of snow covered it evenly.

Loup Water Plans Receive New Boost

After eight years of effort, the biggest hurdle has been cleared in efforts to obtain Congressional approval of a major water project in the North Loup River basin.

Members of the Twin Loups Reclamation District and the Lower Loup-Platte Water Assn. signed a formal agreement last week laying current plans for reservoirs on the Calamus River northwest of Burwell and Davis Creek south of North Loup. The project, which is known as the North Loup Division, also calls for various canals which would provide irrigation waters for much of the Loup Valley.

The Twin Loups Reclamation District, which is headquartered at St. Paul and headed by Henry Lange of Ord, has long sought such a project. It has been opposed, however, by members of the Lower Loup-Platte Assn. who have been afraid it would leave them "waterless" in dry weather.

The Lower Loup group agreed to seek Congressional approval of the project after the Twin Loups group said it would not take water from either the North Loup or Calamus rivers during July or August, nor during September if storage waters are available for irrigation.

"Instead of drawing water from the river year round, water will be taken during the other nine months of the year and stored for irrigation purposes."

"We'll keep the river running to a degree, just skimming the surface for irrigation," Lange explained Tuesday.

Since no Congressional approval could be obtained until the two Nebraska groups ironed out their own disagreements, this is considered an historic step. Approval by Congress is considered merely a matter of time.

The Bureau of Reclamation is presently reviewing plans for the project. The Bureau of the Budget must also review financial considerations. Congressional approval may be sought when the two agencies are satisfied that plans are proper.

"Approval by the Bureau of Reclamation could take anywhere from 90 days to a year," Lange said. "If they get on it they can get it out in three months, and of course that's what we're hoping for. Senator Carl Curtis has said he sees no reason why it can't be authorized in this session of Congress."

In addition to authorizing the project, Congress must also fund it before construction can start. Lange said funding will probably depend on the Vietnam War.

"As soon as the war slows down to any great extent, the ammunition plant in Grand Island will probably close down," he said, "and a lot of people are going to be out of work. I'm sure the government will try to have something ready for them to switch to, and I think this will be it."

Members of the two water associations will meet with Nebraska's Congressional delegation Mar. 17 or 18 in Washington. The state's Soil and Water Conservation Commission, which helped mediate the agreement, will also be represented.

Original plans for the project have been altered somewhat so that more water may be stored. The proposed water level of the Calamus Reservoir has been raised four feet so that the lake will accommodate 20,000 more acre-feet of water. This brings the total capacity to 128,000 acre-feet.

The proposed Davis Creek water level has also been raised by 10 feet. That means it will accommodate 10,000 more acre-feet of water, bringing total ca-capacity to 32,000 acre-feet.

A diversion will also be put in on the North Loup River between Burwell and Kent. Water will be taken from that location and diverted cross country to the Davis Creek Reservoir.

Cost of the project will go up an estimated 4 to 5 million dollars as a result of those changes, Lange said.

He also said plans now call for all sublaterals — that is, all but the main irrigation canal — to be enclosed pipe rather than open ditches.

"This will save water, land, and maintenance costs," Lange stated. "and it will provide better pressure for the sprinkling type of irrigation."

He said the district will be reviewed thoroughly before construction starts for any possible membership changes. Current plans call for approximately 53,400 acres of land to be served by the project.

Lange said other irrigation projects in the state are working out financially almost as they were planned.

"It's gratifying to look at the Sargent project, the Fairwell project, the Ainsworth project, and just about any of the others in Nebraska," he stated. "They are working almost exactly the way the planners said they would, as far as costs are concerned."

The first 10 years of the project will be a development period, Lange said, and landowners will be required to pay only for water they use. The district will not be required to pay back any construction costs during that period.

The Sargent project has been in its repayment period for two years now, and costs are running "almost to the dollar" in line with estimates made more than a dozen years ago, Lange said.

Berth in State Meet On Line at Neligh In District 6 Action

That lower bracket of the District 6 tournament suddenly does not look so appealing.

Ravenna and Valentine both turned in impressive performances last week to dispell any thoughts Ord fans may have had that their team will have an easy time at Neligh. That's where the district tournament is being played, with action to begin Monday night.

Chanticleer fans breathed a sigh of relief when Albion and Broken Bow wound up opposing each other in a first-round, upper-bracket game. Ord was paired with Ravenna, which appeared to be one of the weakest teams in the tournament.

But that was before the Bluejays whipped North Loup, 63-68. The loss was only the second for North Loup-Scotia this year in 20 outings.

Valentine Wins Pair "They have two real fine boys," Ord Coach Ken Truhey stated after scouting the Bluejays in that game. He was referring to 6-foot Terry Melroy, who scored 28 points, and 6-1 Cordell Bullis, who got 22. Other starters will be 5-11 Gary Reiter, 5-11 Gregg Hanna, and 6-1 Larry Heathers.

Ord is expected to counter with its regular lineup of 6-4 Ron Bredthauer, 6-4 Dick Janda, 5-11 Bill Miller, 5-10 Bill Klauzky, and 5-9 Duane Kovarik. Bredthauer is the leading scorer and rebounder of the group, averaging 16.8 points and 15.6 rebounds per game. However, the Chants have had a balanced attack all year, and Coach Truhey hopes it stays that way.

Should the Chants survive the Ravenna contest, they most likely will meet Valentine in the second round. That team defeated Chadron, 50-54, and Ainsworth, 61-76, over the weekend. It will meet Ainsworth again in the first round of the tournament.

Finals Friday That game and the Ord-Ravenna contest will be played Tuesday night. The two upstate schools will meet at 7 p.m. with the Chants and Bluejays following at 8:30.

Albion and Broken Bow open the tourney at 7 p.m. Monday. St. Paul and host Neligh follow at 8:30.

The second round is scheduled Thursday and the finals Friday. Ord is the defending champion, having beaten Albion in last year's title contest. The winner gets a berth in the Class B state tournament.

In other games involving tournament teams last weekend, top-seeded Albion defeated David City, 70-68; Broken Bow defeated Minden, 71-64, and then lost to St. Paul, 77-70; and Neligh lost to Bassett, 62-61, and to Stanton, 80-58.

One Home Game Left Neligh was selected as the site of this year's tournament in a vote by coaches. Ord and Neligh reportedly drew four votes apiece for several go-rounds before Broken Bow switched and decided it would rather play in the Antelope County town.

Before the Chants go to the tournament, they'll have a final regular-season game Friday with Ainsworth. It will be played in Ord, beginning at 9 p.m. A reserve contest at 6:15 will precede the varsity battle.

That will be the last home game of the year for the Chants. Ord defeated Ainsworth in the final game of this year's holiday tournament here.

City's Offer to Game Commission Will Be Discussed Friday in Lincoln

Details of Ord's offer to the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission will be discussed with the agency's directors Friday in Lincoln.

Approximately 15 community leaders will be on hand to show their support for transfer of the commission headquarters here. Principal spokesmen will be Senator Rudolf Kokes, who submitted a bill in the state legislature proposing the move; Dr. Glen Auble, president of the Ord Development Corp., which has offered to construct a building; and Bill French, mayor.

Senator Kokes met with most members of the local group Saturday and told them he thinks Ord should have as large a crowd present as possible. He said other citizens who have not been specifically invited would also be welcome. The meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. Friday at the Game Commission headquarters in the Capital building.

The commission's seven members will also hear requests from several other Nebraska communities during the day. Ord is expected to have about a half hour with them.

Kokes said he had hired an Omaha attorney to check and see if the commission members have the authority to authorize a move themselves without approval of the legislature. He said that the attorney, whom he did not name, felt the commission members did have such authority.

"I think we have to play 'em both," he said in answer to a question as to whether Ord should concentrate its promotion efforts on state legislators or the commission members.

"I think they're really thinking of moving," Kokes added. "Some of us may have taken it a bit lightly at first ourselves, but the Game Commission is not laughing. Mel Steen (Game Commission director) has been pushed around a lot in Lincoln, and he's ready to go."

"The best offers now are coming from the western end of the state," he said. "It might as well stay in Lincoln as go way out there." Beatrice is also putting up "quite a fuss," Kokes said, and Valentine has a lot of money backing the city's bid.

"But I think we have a chance," he said. "We're centrally located, will have an excellent airport soon, we're next to the Sandhills, and we're starting to get some man-made lakes in this area."

A suggested site for the commission, should it move here, is adjacent to the airport. A strip of land between the northwest-to-southeast runway and Highway 11 is being talked about as the building site.

Kokes suggested that the Ord

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

For more than a century editors, writers and critics have argued about the use of lady and gentleman. Many think the words should be abandoned. They favor man and woman.

That being the way, it would be women's day at the golf park and women's tournament at the golf club. It would be women's wear in department stores and men's wear in clothing stores.

Toilet facilities, even in the plushiest places would be marked Men and Women.

And if the city bank were robbed and the young female teller was later interviewed about the incident she might say "This gentleman came to my window, pointed a gun at me, and demanded all my cash..." when what she actually meant was "This man came to my window, pointed a gun at me, and demanded all my money!" There's a difference!

The glamour of centuries surrounds tea. Serving and drinking it has long been a ceremony in both China and Japan. It made its debut in England in 1660 as "tay". The London coffee houses which first served it soon became "tea" shops. There are few hours of life more agreeable than the hour dedicated to afternoon tea; however, tea drinking in this country received a setback — to be sure — at the Boston tea party.

For a late evening break — or anytime — try this tea time favorite submitted by Mrs. Bill (Earlene) Riley.

Spiced Tea Mix

1/4 c. instant tea (more to taste)

1/4 c. Tang

1/2 pk. instant lemonade mix

1/4 t. cinnamon

1/4 t. cloves

Sugar to taste (start with 1/2 c.)

Mix all ingredients together; store in jar. Stir each time before adding this tea base to hot water.

While talking about Tea, remember when buying tea, Orange Pekoe is not a kind of tea. It refers to the size of the leaf. "Pekoe" indicates a larger leaf than "orange" pekoe.

Tea bags of parchment or cloth are a convenience for making 1 or 2 cups of tea. However, it is more economical to buy tea in bulk.

Buy tea in small amounts. It loses flavor in long storage. 1 lb. yields from 150 to 200 cups. Unless one serves a great deal of tea, 1/4 lb. is enough to buy at a time.

Keep tea in an airtight container.

A cookbook published in England in 1836 included this advice to cooks:

"Do everything at the proper time."

"Do everything in each proper place."

"Use everything for its proper purpose."

"The advice should be heeded by all of us whatever our occupation. And now let me add this gem from the same book: Nothing can be done in perfection which must be done in a hurry!"

February has been a great month for wedding anniversaries here. Mr. and Mrs. John Kruby, Sr. quietly noted 60 home Feb. 16 while Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zulkoski celebrated their golden anniversary with an open house party. Mr. Zulkoski remembers the weather much the same as on their wedding day. However, the trip to church was a bit longer — then it was an 11 mile buggy ride.

Other 50 year celebrants this month were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janus whose anniversary was celebrated on Feb. 2.

Ed Psotas Observe Silver Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Psota of North Loup celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday with a covered dish dinner at the Scotia Recreation Hall. In the afternoon a reception was held for the honored couple. Pink and white were the colors of the attractively decorated reception table. Jeanie Psota presided at the guest book, and she and Monica Usasz had charge of the gifts.

Mrs. Arlis Gydesen and Mrs. Clara Psota served the cake while Miss Barbara Usasz, Ruby Usasz, and Wilma Baldwin served punch and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Psota received many gifts and cards. About 100 guests from Grand Island, Ericson, Ord, Scotia, Elyria, Loup City, and North Loup attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Psota have lived on a farm west of North Loup since their marriage. They are the parents of five children: Richard of Lincoln, Jeanie and Randy attended the reception honoring their parents. Roger of Lincoln was unable to be present because of R.O.T.C. flight training. Ronald, their eldest, is serving in the Peace Corps and is stationed in Mysore State, India. He sent a tape extending "Happy Anniversaries" wishes to his parents and told of the work he is doing. He said he is learning the language, customs and phases of the Indian people where he is located. His superb descriptions of the country and his activities helped compensate for his absence on this memorable occasion, his parents reported.

Mrs. Long Hosts Ord Women's Club

Members of the Woman's Club Ord gathered Feb. 18 for an interesting program presented in two parts.

Firstly, Mrs. George Allen told the history of Turkey in the Little Civilization, one of the most advanced old cultures to the present day. She related how the decline of the Roman Empire was followed by a strong nationalistic reform movement led by Mustafa Kemal who was elected the first president of Turkey; when their government decreed that all names must have a last name he affectionately called Atatürk, meaning "father of the nation".

Mrs. Allen told how the Turkish Army has become a major force in education. Military forces represent 100 percent of the population, and illiterate citizens are taught to read and write.

She also explained that the Turkish is not a clearly defined type because of wars, conquests and invasions which brought intermingling of many blood strains. Many Turkish cities still bear the names of cities in New Testament times.

Mrs. Allen had arranged a display of handicrafts from Turkey consisting of embroideries, shawls, china, brass, and priceless alabaster brought to her by her son Warren, who was stationed there for two years. Presently, Colonel Allen is spending a few days relaxing in Hawaii. He will leave today for a new assignment in Vietnam as chief of staff for security.

As a second portion of the program, Mrs. S. J. Furtak reviewed an article from a national wildlife magazine concerning "The Man Who Reads Nature's Secret Signals." Cleve Backster. In 1960 Backster made a discovery which changed his life when he wondered that would occur by using the polygraph — commonly referred to as the lie detector — on a growing plant. His research results indicate that plants have emotions and reactions, some possible applications of the phenomenon are so fascinating that Backster is not yet ready to reveal them publicly.

Mrs. Leo Long was the afternoon hostess.

"The Best Step You Can Take"

Ord Has One Close Call Too Many, Sees Win Streak Snapped at Seven

Playing with fire once too often, the Ord High basketball team saw its seven-game winning streak burned Monday night by Central City, 50-48.

The loss kept the Chanticleers from completing a three-game weekend sweep. On Friday night they had beaten York, 71-69, and Saturday night they topped Minden, 63-50.

The Chants trailed York by three points with 3 1/2 minutes to go, and they trailed Minden by seven at the end of the first quarter. On both occasions they were able to come back.

Their luck ran out, however, against Central City. The Bisons took a 13-point lead in the first quarter and still led by 12 at the end of the third period. A furious Ord rally in the fourth quarter closed the gap to two points, but shots went astray twice in the closing minute to keep the score from ever being deadlocked.

No One Reason
"I'm not sure what was wrong," Coach Ken Trubey stated afterwards. "We couldn't blame it on the fact that we were tired, because Central City had also played both Friday and Saturday."

One thing he pointed out that was obvious for all to see was the poor free throw shooting by the Chants. They hit only six of 13 tries, and that proved the difference. Central City hit 10 of 13, overcoming a one-basket field goal deficiency.

Ron Bredthauer, whose charity shooting has been his only weakness this year, missed all four he tried in the second half. For the night he was three of nine.

But the Chants weren't hot from the field either. They took 19 more shots than Central City but were able to hit only one more basket. They made good on 21 of 59 tries for 36 percent, while the Bisons poured through 20 of 41 for 49 percent.

Bison Height Hurts

Ord's usually tight man-to-man defense was punctured by Central City's superior height in the first half. Dick Janda at 6-1 had all sorts of problems with 6-5 Doug Gissler, and 3-10 Bill Klanecky couldn't handle 6-1 Bill Shreve. Gissler scored 11 points in the opening half and Shreve 12 as they accounted for all but six of their team's points. Both boys were cooled off in the second half, but their teammates took up the slack.

That height advantage also worked in the opposite direction. With 6-6 Dean Gissler joining the other two boys, Central City bottled up the middle and forced Ord to go outside — and the Chants weren't hitting from there.

With so many big boys in the Bison lineup, Coach Trubey thought maybe his full-court press would be an effective deterrent on defense. But guards Dale Abel and Doug Betts broke it with ease, never once losing the ball.

Despite all the difficulties, Ord still was within inches of at least a tie in the closing moments. More specifically, the Chants were within two inches — the amount by which Shreve towered over Ord's Bill Miller when the two had a jump ball with 14 seconds left. With the score 48-46, Shreve got the ball to a teammate and the Bisons held on till Janda fouled Abel. Shooting his first two free throws of the night, the 5-8 junior was on the mark both times, boosting the margin to 50-46.

Duane Kovarik put in a rebound shot with three seconds to go for Ord, but time ran out before the Chants could go any further.

Central City's Fifth Win

Partisan Ord fans found it hard to believe that Central City had won only four times before Monday night. The Bisons had lost 11.

It was the second straight year the Green and Gold had beaten a favored Ord team. Last year this city's state tournament entry was beaten, 54-50. And with two sophomores and two juniors in Central City's strating lineup, prospects are not bright for the Chants to end the hex next year.

Against York, Ord appeared headed for an easy triumph when his home came with the Chants leading by 13 points. But a 5-10 junior, Don Schulz, led a fast-breaking Duke offense that made up the difference by the middle of the fourth quarter.

Schulz hit 18 points in the last half as York surged to a 59-56 lead with four minutes to go. A couple of exchanges still had the Dukes in front, 63-60, when Bredthauer took command with three minutes left.

Janda Is Hero
Easily the tallest man on the floor, the 6-4 Bredthauer moved in for a layup to make the score 63-62, then tied it on a free throw which came as the result of a foul on the play. He then knocked in a rebound on the fourth try to put his team ahead, 63-63.

Ord stayed in front from that point until Schulz scored on a jump shot with 22 seconds left to tie it at 69-69. But Janda became a hero as he threw in a 20-foot jumper with about five seconds to go.

Free throw shooting also hurt the Chants in that one as they hit only 13 of 26.

"We're not a running ball club, but we were running up and down the court with them," Coach Trubey said in explaining the close call.

However, he said he was "real proud" of the way his team came back after York took the lead.

The loss left the Dukes with a 2-10 record for the season.

Look Good at Minden

Easily the best performance of the three Ord outings was the victory Saturday night over Minden. The Whippets were hot in

Wildcats Draw Ansley As Second-Round Foe

Guard Al Williams took the play away from North Loup Scotia's big men, scoring 13 points in the win over Anselmo-Merna, 41-31, in opening play at the District 13 tournament in Broken Bow.

With a 22-5 edge in the second quarter, North Loup Scotia gained a 41-19 halftime advantage. Coach LaVelle Miller used the occasion to let some of his reserves get in some needed action.

The Wildcats will play Ansley tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m. in the semifinal game. Burwell and Sargent will clash in the other semifinal contest.

Ansley won a 53-53 overtime game from fourth-seeded Anselmo, while Burwell blasted third-seeded Loup City and second-seeded Sargent handled Mullen.

The championship contest is scheduled Friday at 8 p.m.

Central City Has Little Talent Left Over; Ord Reserves Take Easy 51-32 Victory

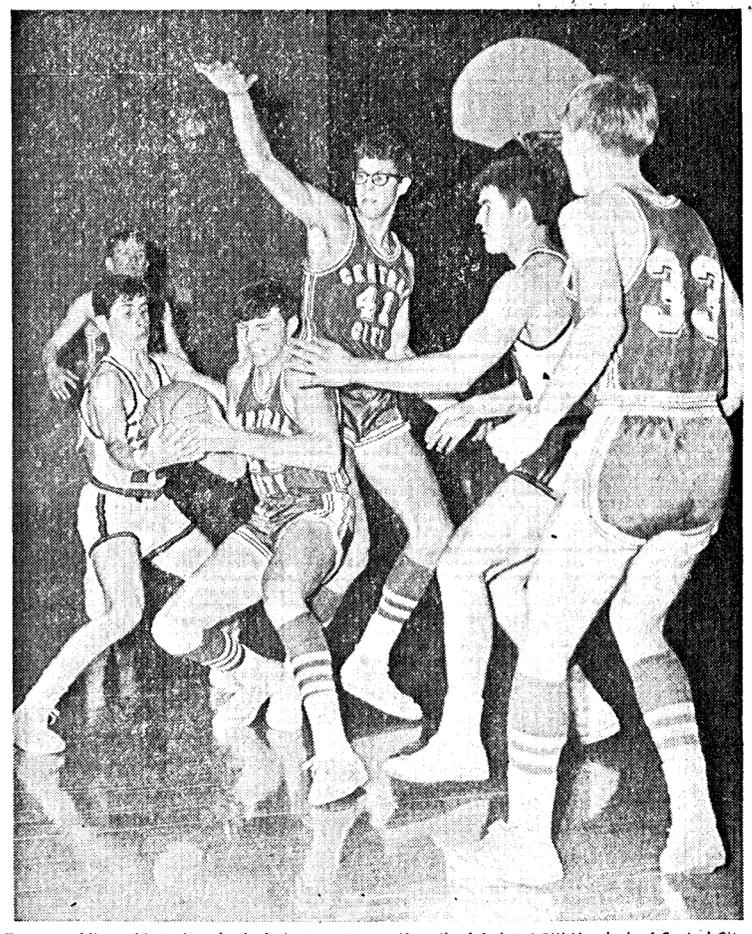

With four underclassmen in Central City's starting varsity lineup, there wasn't much left over for the reserves Monday.

As a result the Ord backup men swapped their foe, 51-32.

The victory was the only contest of the week for the Ord team. Scheduled games at York and Minden were called off when officials decided to have the varsity lay over at York rather than return to Ord Friday night and then travel from here to Minden.

Darrel Farmer was the only Chant scoring in double figures as Coach Fred Williams worked most of his squad into the game. Farmer scored 15 points, 11 of them coming in the last half.

The Chants jumped off to a 10-5 first quarter lead and increased it to 20-11 at halftime. Then in the third quarter they really poured it on, jumping to

Two scrambling midgets in a land of giants — Duane Kovarik of Ord and Bill Verplank of Central City — battle for the ball in this third-quarter action at Monday night's basketball game. Hovering near are 6-6 Dean Gissler (41) of Central City, 6-4 Ron Bredthauer of Ord, and 6-1 Bill Shreve of Central City. Ord lost the game, 50-48.

Paul Markley was the big gun as Ord Junior High closed a 7-2 basketball season in style Monday, beating Loup City, 50-21.

Double Squeeze on Profit

The farmer, like the business-man and consumer, sees his purchasing power decline each year as inflation takes a bigger bite out of his wallet. But inflation has been especially rough on the farmer. He is faced with the constant rising cost of things he must buy. At the same time prices have been falling for many of the commodities he produces and sells.

Recent prices have fallen to their lowest levels in a generation. Interest rates, on the other hand, are at their highest level in years. As a result, the parity ratio has dipped to depression levels.

Payment of a debt is one of the best illustrations of how farmers are affected by inflation. In 1947, it took 437 bushels of wheat to pay off a $1,000 debt. In 1950, 500 bushels were required. On June 1 of 1968 it would have taken 800 bushels to pay off the same $1,000 debt.

From this it can be seen that the farmer's buying power, in a period of 10 years, has been cut in half. A similar comparison could be made with corn, milo, or any other commodity.

Showing this inflationary spiral seems to be a high priority item on the agenda of the new administration. If it is accomplished, it will give some relief to the cost-price squeeze from the past side. But it will not offset to any great extent the decline in purchasing power of money received from products sold.

Consumption Up
On the brighter side of things, the fact that per capita meat consumption is up helps lessen the sting of the cost-price squeeze.

A recent release from the United States Department of Agriculture states that per capita consumption of meat in the U.S. during 1968 was 181 1/2 pounds. This was four pounds above the 1967 average. It included about 109 pounds of beef, more than 65 pounds of pork, and about 3 1/2 pounds each of veal and lamb.

Something New in Packaging
Housewives will find big changes in the meat departments of their favorite supermarkets during the next decade.

They'll find the meat pre-cut, pre-trimmed, pre-packaged, and pre-frozen. Emphasis will be on quality and quantity control. Housewives will be able to buy individual portions — perhaps two or three servings to the package — all of equal thickness, equal weight, and with the same degree of leanness.

It is expected that in the future — within the next 10 years, in fact — we will have almost a complete line of frozen meats at the retail level. The housewife will be able to go in and purchase almost any item on a frozen basis. Uniformity and quality control are likely to be the keys in meat sales of the future. While the selections of various cuts or items the housewife wants may increase, she will be assured that the packaged meat quality in one package is essentially just like another.

Uniformity in frozen meat will be like frozen orange juice or similar items. The new processing and distribution will mean better returns for producers and processors as well as retailers.

It also believed that consumer costs will be comparatively lower. Insecticide Herbicide Meeting
There will be new herbicides as well as new insecticides on the market in 1969, and some of the chemicals we have used in the past will no longer be on the recommended list. These facts will make the decision as to which herbicide or insecticide to use on our crops even more difficult.

To help answer some of our questions, we have invited Dr. Loren Robinson, Extension agronomist specializing in weed control, and Dr. Robert Roselle, Extension entomologist, to be present at a herbicide-insecticide meeting.

The meeting is scheduled for March 4, starting at 1:30 p.m., in the 4H Building on the Valley County Fairgrounds.
