Two Brave Girls Defeated In City Council Try Tuesday

A few sparks on the Ord voting scene Tuesday resulted from the race for police judge, with Frances McCall ahead with 281 votes to 237 write-in votes for George Lockhart. Three absentee ballots are to be counted Monday morning at 11 o'clock in this contest.

Merle VanZandt is again a councilman, tallying 189 votes. So is Ed Christensen with 110 votes and Starling Lee with 90. Bob Klima, a write-in candidate, received 30 votes.

After the votes from Comstock were added, school board figures show Jack Newland with 414 votes, Howard Paulsen with 393 votes, Wilbert Calvin with 301.

Mayor Bill French scored 196 votes in the first ward, 136 in the second, 132 in the third. There were a few scattered write-ins for other people.

The two young women who bravely stood for the office of councilman did not fare so well. Mary Marshall getting 110 votes, Kay Goodsell 90. But as one of the husbands laughed "I didn't really want to sleep with a councilman."

Total number of voters Tuesday was 248, first ward; 150, second ward, 159, third ward.

"Shop and Nibble On Saturday: Golden Horizon"

Golden Horizon ladies will serve coffee and rolls and hold their annual spring bazaar Saturday at the Methodist educational building, they announce. The public is invited to do a little shopping and a little nibbling. These women and their hand-made gift items are famous throughout this area.

The week of April 8 will see the Golden Horizon club moving to their new home, the north wing of the E.U.B. Church. Since the E.U.B. Church and the Methodist Church have consolidated, several changes are contemplated. The Golden Horizon Club has been told it can hold meetings in this new location indefinitely.

Remember the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Vet's Club Thursday at 12.

You Eat My Pie—and I'll Eat Yours

The Ecumenical Movement was felt in Ord recently when the local Methodist Youth Fellowship turned to the Catholics during an "emergency" situation.

A chili feed held in the Ord Methodist Church by the MYF young people was a bigger success than they had originally planned (due partly to the large turn-out of Catholic friends).

When the MYF ran out of pie they served for dessert, they made a fast trip to St. Mary's Auditorium where the Catholics were holding a Bake Sale. Purchasing enough pies to hide them over, the MYF concluded a successful chili feed and the Catholic ladies sold out of pies!

He's A Mean Man!

Our noxious weed man is going around being obnoxious to morning glories! Did you know morning glories are considered a noxious weed? Well they are. Not your kind of morning glories nor my kind of morning glories but some of their relatives.

Elmer Bruckman told the Quiz Monday that he had gathered 240 packets of morning glory seeds in Valley and Garfield counties, all in the past few days.

Four Companies Needed To Douse Revived Blaze

A grass fire at the Lores Wolf home in the Davis Creek area proved to be quite serious Saturday, requiring the work of four fire departments before it was whipped down.

The Wolf family had burned some loose hay in the morning. They extinguished the fire and wet it down at four o'clock. Then the family left for Scotia. But the high wind that sprang up must have uncovered a spark and started the blaze about six o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Marilyn Tolen saw the fire and turned in the alarm, and the North Loup fire department was the first on the scene. Soon after the fire departments from Ord, Scotia and Loup City went to work, but it was nine o'clock before the fire was put out for good.

Mrs. Laura Rose accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dahlin to Norfolk, Sunday, where they visited the women's brother, Paul Miller, who is quite ill.

WANTED: Road Hogs For Special Meeting

Hal Pierce, president of the Highway 70 Association, is soliciting the help of all persons interested in more hard-surfacing on the Ericson - Ord roadways.

Thursday night, April 5, the annual Highway 70 banquet is being held at 6:30 p.m. in the basement of the new Veterans Club in Ord. Representatives of the Highway Department are expected to be present to discuss the extension of the present bituminous surfacing.

Pierce fears that unless a large local delegation turn out for the $2 per plate banquet, state officials will feel there is little local interest, and hopes for completion of the hard-surfacing may go up in dust.

The dust may be settled on the uncompleted highway, Pierce thinks, if enough "road hogs" wanting more road will show up at the meeting!

Rice Scores Heavily In North Loup Vote

North Loup election results for city council show Richard Rice with 73, Grover Jorgensen 63, Orville Fortis 30 and Lamir Cadek 25.

School board figures give Wilbur Fuss 163, Otto Gebhardt 140, Leroy Hanson 100 and Tom Wallin 81, from North Loup and Scotia.

For police judge Verlin Hanson received 37 votes, Elmer Bergman 39.

On the election board Tuesday Mrs. Rubin Sheffer, Mrs. Wayne Monk, Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Mrs. Ronnie Goodrich and Mrs. Hannah Sheldon were the workers.

High Flyers To Soar Sunday

Ord High Flyers are trying something new Sunday, a tricity hand-dive air race, open only to members says Charlie Zenger. If this is a success, the club will hold an "open" such meet in two weeks.

Time trials will begin at two o'clock Sunday, the race itself at three. Planes will circle beacons at Sargent and Ord, beginning and ending the race at Burwell.

Good Road To Ericson About To Materialize?

Highway 70 will hold an important meeting Friday, Apr. 5 at the Ord Veterans' Club at 6:30, when a state representative will come to Ord to discuss the highway from Ord to Ericson, long a demon stretch.

Some $300,000 has been allotted by the state for the bituminous first stage of developing Highway 70. It is desirable to have a good representation from other Chambers of Commerce, of Highway 70 members, and others who are vitally concerned.

As entertainment a film entitled "A Trip From Chicago" describing travel in the next century will be shown. The blurb about it recommends you hang onto your hat as well as your seat, so it must be exciting.

Tickets for the dinner and meet are $2, and President Hal Pierce asks that you notify him at once and plan to attend.

Kay Goodsell and Mary Marshall, would-be public servants but Ord voters failed to support them.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

Sunday for me was one of those days. I had just started getting ready for church when Shannon telephoned from Sunday school to ask me to please hurry as she had been asked to light candles at the worship service and her hair needed re-combing before time. For those who are interested, this was why I rushed in minus gloves, earrings and even my handbag only to learn that my little darling was no longer needed as a substitute candle-lighter.

After dinner while the family was happy doing what they liked I washed the dishes (by myself) and wondered why no one had been thoughtful enough to comment on the barbecued ribs I had carefully prepared in place of the usual Sunday roast. I had just scoured the last pan when the teenager of our house bounced in to see if Mom could bake the cookies she promised to take to a Monday night party. There were decorating details she was busy with. As I stirred up the bar-like cookies I failed to notice it was evaporated milk instead of condensed milk I was adding. Consequently, even after baking I had a pan of soupy-looking nothing — if you've ever heard of the like. Now it meant waiting for the grocery to re-open so I could get ingredients to start again. It was right then I decided "this is your party, dearie, so get with it." As Sue mixed up the second batch I carefully added a little of this and that to the soupy mixture in hopes of producing something eatable (after all not only was this taking time it was playing fits with my grocery budget!).

As the supper hour neared I sneaked a five-minute break having wondered all day how Rex Morgan and Mary Worth were spending their time. Just to be interrupted by Shannon who remembered that tomorrow was the day she and her pal planned to surprise their teacher with a food roll. This necessitated many telephone calls explaining in much detail to bring a can of food to school (with the label removed, be sure) and at the appropriate time one classmate would give the "signal" and all would roll (or bounce) the cans down the aisle to the teacher's desk. Within these next minutes (or would you believe nearly an hour) I answered questions like "Mom, what's Daddy's daddy's name?" or "Doesn't Deanna have a telephone?"

But now, as I review my day at this midnight hour, I see nothing so unusual about it. It was another wonderful typical one like only we mothers can appreciate.

Anytime is salad time and this week Gooseberry Salad rates the space in this column. Dissolve one package lemon Jello in 2 cups water. Add pinch of salt. To this hot mixture add 1 c. marshmallows (cut up into small pieces). Cool this mixture and when it begins to jell add 1 c. sweetened gooseberries, 1 c. chopped celery and 1 c. chopped walnut meats. Add also one orange sliced into very small pieces (or mandarin oranges substitute easily). Stir well and pour into mold.

I suppose at some time or other most youngsters get fed up with their parents and run away from home. I remember one mother telling that her three-year-old announced he was leaving the family nest. Little Mike had tied his belongings to the end of a pole hobo style. Mom didn't beg him to stop, she offered only one warning — remember not to cross the street. So, around and around the block the little chap trotted.

Mrs. Gary Worrell

Jane Jeffres And Gary Worrell Exchange Vows In Double Ring Ceremony At Scotia

Jane Jeffres became the bride of Gary Worrell, Mar. 23, in a 7 o'clock double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Leonard Clark at the Scotia Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delylee Jeffres of Scotia. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Worrell of North Loup.

Soloist for the wedding was Maris Cox who sang "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer." Organist was Cynthia Bredthauer. Janet Karre of Greeley was maid of honor. Pam Smith of Scotia and Joy VanHorn of Grand Island were bridesmaids. They were attired in yellow A-line floor length gowns with empire waistslines trimmed with daisies, accented with a yellow satin bow in the back. They wore headpieces of white daisy clusters with yellow tulle. Each carried a nosegay of white daisies with long white streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a cascade of yellow roses on a white ribbon from which showered streamers tied with rose buds. Her gown was designed of sheer organza over taffeta. The bodice featured a bateau neckline and long sleeves tapering to the traditional bridal points. Panels of daisy lace on the bodice front extended the full length of the A-line skirt. The chapel length train which fell from the shoulders was bordered with identical lace with seed pearl trim.

Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was caught to a double row of embroidered daisies with seed pearl trim.

Kim and Lori Jeffres, sisters of the bride, were flower girls. They were attired in white A-line floor length gowns styled with empire waistslines trimmed in yellow satin. Their headpieces were similar to those of the bridesmaids. They carried white garden baskets filled with white daisies.

Candlelighters were Vickie Jeffres, sister of the bride and Emily Schudel, cousin of the bride. Their yellow A-line gowns were accented with daisy cluster headpieces. Each wore a corsage of daisies.

The church altar was appointed with pedestal baskets of white daisies and nine-branch tree candleabra. The processional aisle was carpeted white and tall white cathedral candles encircled with greenery swagged with white bows, accented the pews.

Larry Worrell of Ogden, Utah, brother of the groom, was best man. Other attendants were David Dostal of Scribner and Leonard Williams of Grand Island. Ushers were Jim Jeffres, brother of the bride and Bill Naeve, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at the church parlors with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vanslyke of Scotia as host and hostess. Mrs. Alden Laiders, sister of the bride, was at the guest book. Mrs. Maynard Schudel cut the wedding cake, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Wilson. Mrs. Darlene Everett poured coffee and Mrs. Lester Williams served punch. Mrs. Larry Worrell and Gretchen Schudel were at the gift table. Waitresses were Sandy Wilson, Beverly Williams, Mrs. Warren Malmstrom and Mrs. Roy Saltree.

The bride and groom both graduated from the North Loup Scotia High School and attended Kearney State College. She is employed at Brandeis in Grand Island and he works for the Cornhusker Army Ammunition Plant. Their home will be at 1021 South Locust in Grand Island.

For traveling the bride wore a yellow dress with white lace overlay and yellow accessories.

Grandparents are the Reisingers and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cetak of Ord.

Court Whist provided an evening of jolly entertainment. Friday, when members of the Ever-busy Extension Club, their husbands and guests gathered at the Odd Fellows Hall basement. Prizes went to Lawrence Welniak, Gerald Woodgate, Pat Waj-lace and Mrs. Gerald Woodgate. Mrs. Woodgate was also winner of the door prize. A late lunch concluded the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Zabloudil and daughter and Mrs. Michael O'Hara and daughter of Grand Island were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vergin. Additional afternoon guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Evert Trump and Lori and Mrs. Charlie Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle VanZandt and Bill visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zaruba at Cedar Rapids, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Absalon drove to Omaha, Sunday, to meet their daughter, Joni, who had flown back after spending several days in the east. In Woodbridge, N. J., Joni had been a guest of Thomas Jardino and his family and in Virginia at a town by the same name — Woodbridge — Joni visited her sister Marilyn and family, the C. L. Smiths.

En route home, the Absalons traveled by way of Kearney where Joni remained to resume studies at Kearney State College where she is a sophomore.

Seventh Call Lucky For Firemen Finishes Day Of Fire Fighting

Seven different times Saturday evening North Loup firemen were called to help put out dangerous blazes.

About five o'clock they were called to the Frank Fuss home near Ocean where baled hay was burning too close to the buildings.

At six forty-five they were called to the Lores Wolf farm for a prairie fire, and in a short time fire departments from Ord, Scotia and Loup City arrived to help them. Even so it was almost nine before the last ember was declared dead.

Shortly thereafter they were called to the Hillis Coleman farm to extinguish a weed fire.

Next was the Roy Jacobs property in town where a tree stump and leaves were sending sparks all over the neighborhood.

While still there they were called to go to Ruby Green's to put out a trash fire. About a half hour later they were called back to the Green fire where it had blazed up again.

The last call was around nine fifteen at the Bryan Portis farm south of town, where a house and pasture land were destroyed. Assisting at this fire fight were Scotia, Ord and Greeley fire departments.

Doubtless the fire fighters were remembered in many prayers of gratitude that night.

Legislative Study Group Interested In Revising Nebraska Constitution

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

LINCOLN — A legislative study committee has expressed an interest in creating a blue-ribbon commission to revise and update the Nebraska Constitution.

Chairman Elvin Adamson of Valentine said this would be an alternative to calling a constitutional convention.

"It has a lot of possibility and we will give it close examination," Sen. Adamson said.

The comment came after Dr. Adam C. Breckenridge, a University of Nebraska vice chancellor, and Dr. Albert L. Strum of Florida State University, testified that a commission approach to constitutional reform is far less costly and time-consuming than a convention.

Under the plan, the commission would propose constitutional changes to the legislature, or even offer a completely new constitution.

The legislature, in turn, would submit an omnibus package of constitutional revisions to the people for their approval or rejection.

"Conventions are very expensive and this has been one reason that they have not been authorized," Breckenridge said.

"A commission can do a great deal more with far less expense and the voters are still able to select whatever they wish to approve."

Strum, who has done national research on state constitutional revision, said the commission approach has been employed in several states with good results.

However, he added, one key problem is that little public interest develops in the commission's work and subsequently some important matters do not receive consideration.

"A constitutional convention, on the other hand, attracts public attention and creates an open forum for all vital subjects," he said.

Strum, who is a visiting professor at N. U. this semester, said state legislators have been hostile to constitutional conventions because they view them as rivals to their lawmaking authority.

"This is a natural reaction," he added. "History has shown that often convention delegates go on to become a force in government after their job is over."

It was noted Nebraska has had three constitutions in its 101-year history as a state. The present document was drawn in 1875 and last changed by a constitutional convention in 1919-20. More than 100 individual amendments have been added by the legislature.

Breckenridge said the Nebraska Constitution is suffering from "repeated patchwork and obsolescence." He said it does not have the flexibility to meet the demands of modern-day society.

"I find it difficult to understand why the legislature will not permit the people to decide what kind of government they want," he testified.

Breckenridge cited several sections of the Nebraska Constitution he said should be revised. Included were:

- Initiative and referendum petition process. He said it should be made harder for the people to repeal and abolish laws enacted by the legislature, especially in the area of taxation.
- The provision placing a $100,000 ceiling on state debt. He said this should be eliminated altogether, or raised to a "realistic" level.
- Sections providing for the election of the state attorney general, treasurer, secretary of state and railway commissioners. He said these should be appointed posts.

Highway Commission Defers Action

The State Highway Commission has deferred action on a request by Grand Island for a new interstate 80 interchange south of the city to join with old state highway 281.

Members said the proposal, which would cost an estimated $1.7 million, might not be needed if the state develops a recommended expressway system in central Nebraska.

Hired consultants that conducted a survey of Nebraska's highway needs suggested expressways be built to link cities such as Grand Island, Hastings, and Columbus.

Grand Island officials said the interchange is needed to provide a more direct route into town. They said present access from the interstate causes too much residential traffic.

Bruce Gillan, deputy state engineer for program and planning, said federal approval would have to be obtained before the interchange could be constructed and that might not be an easy task.

Bar Association Holds Off Restrictions

The Nebraska Bar Association's Executive Council has agreed to further study of proposed restrictions on release of information in criminal cases.

C. Russell Mattson of Lincoln, association president, said members want to review suggested revisions to the so-called Reardon Report before making a decision.

The Reardon Report was adopted last month by the American Bar Association's House of Delegates. It recommended the flow of information to news media be before a trial be limited.

The information restrictions would not be binding on Nebraska attorneys unless approved by the state supreme court and incorporated into the state association's code of ethics.

Meyer Bars Playground Bonds
Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer has held that a county cannot issue bonds for park and recreational development purposes.

The ruling was in response to a query from Mel O. Steen, State Game Commission director.

"A county may not issue general obligation or revenue bonds for purposes of acquiring, developing and maintaining park and recreational facilities," said Meyer.

Steen said he asked for a clarification of the law to determine if counties could meet local matching money requirements under the Federal Land and Water Conservation Fund Act through a bond program.

"The attorney general has ruled that approach out," he said.

"We were not surprised," Steen said there are presently more than 100 applications pending with the commission for funds under the federal act. He said some communities are hard-pressed for matching money.

Mexican Life

On a little cobbled street corner in the small Mexican town of Ajijic where I've been staying the past few weeks is a very little grocery. All open to the air, they keep it neat and clean though baskets of various dried beans, rice and heaps of fresh fruit and vegetables are on the counter uncovered.

Going around behind the counter, through tall black shutters and a thin curtain, you enter the town's one and only little beauty shop, run by a pretty young Mexican called Elena.

Elena is busy early and late with many American customers. She washes, rolls up, dries, and combs out their hair in less than an hour, and very fashionably bouffant, too. This she does for the sum of 12 pesos, or 96c.

Her laboratory is black. The shampoo chair tips back. The materials she uses are familiar, the standard brands, Clairol, L'Oreal. She pricks and pushes your hair with a big double pin until it looks handsome.

Most patrons have a manicure also. Manicures and pedicures are given by Elena's niece, and very good they are too. Here again are our old friends, Revlon, etc.

Elena is so pretty, I say "why are you not married?" She answers, "Too many babies in the family now. I have 100 nieces and nephews."

The women down here are quite devout Catholics. The men, so-so. Men have all the best of it here. They walk separately, carrying nothing. Only occasionally do they have a tiny child by the hand, while the woman may be pregnant carrying a little child, leading another, balancing a big load on her head.

But of course standing tall and balancing such loads gives one a fine straight carriage. Their backs are straight, their necks and heads handsomely erect.

Though these people are poor, they have a dignity, a composure. The men, particularly, feel important, masculine. "Macho" is their word for it. Perhaps we'd translate it virile.

Many men have more than one family, and support them as well as they can. To be married by civil ceremony costs. To be married in a religious ceremony costs much more, prohibitive for the poor.

If the temperature drops to 65 they consider it cold, "unseasonable," and shiver into sweaters.

But a great lot of the time the children can play in only one garment. Tinner children sometimes do not wear anything — makes them easy to housebreak!

The other day I spied a little brother and sister — wearing one suit between them! He had on little pants. She had on a wee top! Cute, cute.

Denmark. More organizations should take advantage of an opportunity to hear her, but her schedule is rapidly reaching the saturation point with graduation days approaching.

The young exchange student teaches us and teaches Ord students she meets.

In turn we teach her about our beloved America, and that not all the blackened tarred and feathered stories she has heard are true. We do have our good points too!

So it is too bad if this program is to fail for want of public understanding and support. It is a program that has been well worthwhile in our area.

Consider the problems of bringing a youth to this country, away from parents and school and country, to a place where he is expected to speak a new language, attend a strange school, live in a strange home, eat strange foods and learn new customs. It is a miracle but the program has been a big success here. Let's not drop it now. Can you spare a dollar or two?

Thumbs Down On Strikers

From the Middleton (Wisconsin) Times-Tribune

Maybe it's my independent Scottish background, but I find it hard to sympathize with strikers. Take the recent bus strike in Madison, for example.

The failure of bus drivers to agree with their employers on salary is hardly justification for a strike that inconveniences a whole city. Why in the world wouldn't a bus driver, if he felt he were underpaid, go out and look for a job that paid more? In a country where the unemployment rate is 1.6 percent, it would take a real loser not to be able to find another job.

Granted the bus company has been quite inflexible in this instance, but I can see why any employer would prefer to go out of business rather than deal with unions. I have ridden on enough buses where I was one of 4 or 5 riders to know that bus companies have sufficient problems without looking forward to a future of incessant union demands.

Union members have no part and want no part of the monetary risks employers take, and in industry their demands for increased pay and benefits are totally unrelated to any increased productivity on their part.

The involvement of unions and the weapon of the strike were understandable decades ago when working conditions were very poor and many laborers were exploited. But that pendulum has swung to the other extreme and the power that many unions hold today is indeed an unsavory thing.

Surely unions go too far when even the citizen waiting at a bus stop must feel the heavy hand of union power.

Reports

This resolution was the result of the work all year long of the non-partisan committee of twelve Members to draw up a code of ethics. Financial disclosures:

- 1) ownership in excess of $5,000 or income exceeding $1,000 from a firm doing substantial business with the Federal government, or subject to Federal regulatory agencies, during the preceding calendar year.
- 2) the name of any professional organization in which the Member is an officer, director, or partner, and serves in any advisory capacity of which income of $1,000 or more was derived during the preceding calendar year.
- 3) any income from services rendered exceeding $5,000 must be reported, or any capital gain from a single source exceeding $5,000, other than by the sale of a residence occupied by the person.

Candidates for national political offices should also make the above disclosures.

A Member shall receive no compensation from any source the receipt of which would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from his position in the Congress.

A Member should accept no gift of substantial value from any person, organization, or corporation having a direct interest in legislation before the Congress.

A Member shall accept no honorarium for a speech in excess of the usual and customary value for such services.

A Member should keep his campaign funds separate from his personal funds, and no campaign funds may be diverted to his personal use.

I feel that the recommendations are good, and support them wholeheartedly.

Designing The New Capitol

In 1919 Nebraska's State Capitol Building was over-crowded and structurally decaying. In response to a long-ago need for a new building, the Thirty-seventh Session of the Nebraska Legislature undertook the problem of selecting a design.

Information on the search for this design can be found in the Library of the State Historical Society in Lincoln.

A Capitol Commission, appointed by the Legislature, was given a budget of up to five million dollars and granted the power to select a design and contract the new capitol building. The Commission consisted of Nebraska Governor Samuel R. McKelvie, the State Engineer and three men to be appointed by the Governor. Thomas R. Kimball, an Omaha architect of high repute, was chosen as an advisor.

In selecting the design for the proposed capitol, the Commissioners chose ten possibilities from the ideas submitted. These ten were then submitted to a jury of three qualified out-of-state architects for the final decision.

In selecting the ten designs, Kimball devised a two-step competition. First only Nebraska architects were eligible. Three designs were chosen, those submitted by Ellery Davis of Lincoln, John Latenser and Sons of Omaha and John McDonald and Alan McDonald of Omaha. The competition was then opened to architects over the rest of the nation to fill the seven remaining positions.

The Commission had high ideals for this new capitol building, and foresight, vision and skill would be required of the architect who could create the building they desired. It would have to be a beautiful, inspiring monument, worthy of the state and an object of pride for Nebraskans. At the same time, it had to be a practical, working home for state government, constructed without scandal, waste or friction. In short, the plans called for a symbol for the state rather than just a statehouse.

The identity of the three men composing the final jury was kept secret until after their judgment. No architect could aim his design at the jury rather than at the ideals of the Commission. One member of this jury was chosen by the Commission members, a second by the competing architects and a third by the first two selected.

In making their selection, the jury was aided by Kimball's interpretation and explanation of the aims of the competition. Through this unique system of selection, the great effort of the Commission to select the best design while availing any possibility of scandal is evident.

In July, 1920, the final judgment was made. The decision fell to Bertam Grosvenor Goodhue, of Bertram Grosvenor Goodhue Associates of New York City, an architect whose design truly showed the knowledge and vision the Commission had been seeking.

KERRY ON
By Kerry Leggett

Tide was out and a cool expanse of wet sand separated me from the water. The chill ocean breeze made my eyes tear. Determined, I stared longingly over the Pacific wondering so many things.

Braced against the pilings, I leaned on the front of the car and stared. Somewhere out there . . . beyond the vast expanse of water . . . somewhere dreams came true. I dug the toe of my shoe into the sand and kicked a rock over the edge of the breakwater. It thumped in the sand below. Taking one last drag on my cigarette, I flicked it to the ground and turned toward Nick's.

The supper crowd had just started to arrive. Organ music emanated from the bar to my left as I entered . . . and a leisurely Sunday night crowd sat chatting on the right in the dining area.

"A table by the window?" I asked the hostess.

"No, sir. You'd have to wait about an hour."

"Oh well . . . I guess any place will do."

She led me to a table and thoughtfully pulled out the chair with its back to the sunset, opening the menu and placing it over the table setting. Sliding the chair back into place, I grinned at her, then made my way around the table to the other side. Pulling out the chair I seated myself and she changed the menu to the side where I was sitting. Words weren't needed to tell her I was a tourist.

"Drink before dinner?" the waitress inquired. I don't know how many times she'd asked. I was watching the sun set over the Pacific before I'd realized that she was even present. "Thanks . . . no," I mumbled, finally aware that she was speaking to me. "But I will take some coffee."

A light fog was rolling in and squashed the sun between its cloud layer and the horizon — an orange ball — flattened at the top by the clouds and at the bottom by the ocean as it disappeared into the sea.

Gulls soared over the darkening sands and the breakers were rolling further and further up on the beach as I finished my supper.

Pocketing my billfold after paying the bill, then tucking a toothpick between my teeth, I pushed open the front door. The organ played softly. I walked slowly across the parking lot, back to the edge of the breakwater.

Only white foam was visible from where I stood, looking down at the beach below. The wind through the rocks and the rushing breakers created a mood of loneliness that crept over me. Saltwater mist covered the windshield of the car as I turned to leave.

The roar of the surf at my back. I suddenly knew what "leaving" meant. I left behind — that night — a part of me. I left my heart . . . in San Francisco.

A 3½-pound bullhead won the state record for Alfred E. Porter taken at Smith Lake on July 28, of Rushville. The big fish was caught in 1963.

Operation Monkey Suit

When you start paying that 10 percent surcharge on your income tax to help balance the budget you may get some solace from the austerity the administration is practicing so that you won't have to pay even more.

"Operation Money Suit" is a good case in point. On St. Patrick's Day, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey flew from Washington to Scranton, Pa., in an Air Force jet to address a dinner meeting of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick. When he arrived, he was chagrined to find that his luggage, containing his dinner jacket, black tie, studs and other accoutrements had been left back in Washington. So the messenger boys of the US Air Force had to high-tail it back to Washington to retrieve the VP's tux. When the plane landed back in Scranton, a State Police car raced the bag to the waiting VP.

Hubert got a big hand at the dinner when he said that any complimentary remarks about the Irish should not be taken as an endorsement of any candidates with Irish names. Unfortunately, after the ball was over that inquisitive sport, Congressman Gross, became interested in the matter. He wondered out loud how come a big jet had to be employed to deliver a tuxedo when the cost of flying such a plane is $352 an hour. That was right embarrassing to Hubert and his boss, so quick-like the Friendly Sons voluntarily sent a check for $704 to pay for the flight. They, at least, seemed to realize that this country's financial position is precarious enough without that kind of senseless extravagance.

We've done a little further checking, and we're in a position to report a couple of facts that didn't occur to Congressman Gross. We find that the Yellow Pages of the Scranton telephone directory list no less than nine establishments where one can rent formal wear. One of these, the New York Ladies' & Gents' Shop, not far from the hotel where the affair was held, quoted a price of $9 or $9.50 for an evening's rental of a dinner jacket, and guaranteed satisfaction. Delivery, we were told, could have been made by bicycle, or on foot. No jumbo jet required.

Sartorial elegance at $704 an evening, when $9 will do, is surely painful, even to a Friendly Son of St. Patrick.

The Bidding Is Open

We are now well into what our Chinese friends might call The Year of the Great Benevolence. It might also be called The Year of the Great Giveaway, the Come-and-Get-It Year, or what our American Indians might refer to as Time When Big White Chief Extend Open Hands and Forked Tongues.

In other words, this is when various candidates for the presidency start bidding for the highest office in the land. And even though we still have approximately 200 bidding days until November 5, the magnanimity of the candidates is already eye-popping. Before the ballots are cast, we predict that Americans are going to be assured of more free goods, gifts, prizes, bonuses and fringe benefits than they'd get from months of strikes and demonstrations plus jackpot winnings from lotteries, a day at the races, or an evening at bingo at the local parish hall.

Pick up any newspaper or turn on your idiot box and you soon get the picture. The pained friends of Nels Rockefeller tumble that, by golly, he would see to it that everybody has a pretty house, a good job, adequate social welfare, and the opportunity to Make Good, and he must be drafted. Whereupon LBJ shows up spontaneously some place and reminds folks of what he has already done, and makes it plain that this is only the beginning and you ain't seen nothin' yet. At which Bobby reads a statement to the effect that anything Lyndon can do he can do better. Meantime, Gene McCarthy is telling his teeny-boppers that once he gets the boys out of the trenches there will be billions to divvy up among the nation's deserving poor.

To date, Dick Nixon hasn't seen fit to make any such promises but you know how he is. Extremist. Seems to have the idea that there are enough thrifty people to put him in office. Thrifty people, that is, who don't enjoy paying taxes to underwrite it all.

He may have a point, but he should be mindful that his opponents may spike his guns. The combined resources of the Rockefeller and Kennedy families are said to be over a billion dollars, and LBJ is far from indigent. What chance would Nixon have if all three announced they intended to give their worldly goods to the poor, to build the Great Society they visualize?

If those three stop weeping in their champagne and start sharing with the poor, Nixon has had it. They won't. That would be taking unfair advantage, and of course that isn't done in politics.

How many times this year will it call you downstairs?

The numbers are against you. The average family gets 1465 calls a year. And if only one-fourth of them happen while you're up there, that's 366 trips for you.

Approach No. 1: Keep running downstairs.

Approach No. 2: Get an extension telephone.

Cost of Approach No. 1: Nothing. Except maybe a year's running and frustration. (And, of course, the risk of a doctor bill when you land in a heap on the landing.)

Cost of Approach No. 2: Around 4 cents a day. (Which is a bargain — you already pay about four times that for your regular phone.)

There is no Approach No. 3.

NLS garnered 23 1/2 points in the 10 team meet and finished 5th despite being without ace sprinter Charles Sintek, Al Fuss, Terry Keown, Mary Fuss and distance man Jerry Hanson. Sintek who holds the school mark in the 100 had a slightly pulled hamstring muscle and was left home to heal.

Big Jim Jeffers led NLS as he won the shot event with a 48'4" toss and won the disc with a good heave of 146'. Coach Miller also lauded the broad jump of Butch Keown who has only been out for track about 15 days. Butch tied the school broad jump mark of 19'7" set in 1960 by Richard Rice. Also earning praise was Al Williams who got a medal for a 3rd place finish in the pole vault at 10'4".

Other point getters were Chuck Wegner who finished 4th in the shot, a tie for 4th in the high jump and a 5th in the 120 yard high hurdles. Dale Coufal who placed 4th in the high hurdles and 5th in the low hurdles.

Inevitably all this study of language arts leads to better application of it. Not only is this applied to writing reports, but oral lessons as well. Several exercises using correct verbs, homonyms, expressions and punctuation have been the study in English for grade seven. Many poems and verses are being memorized for reading. This class is now writing book reports following an outline. There are still many things to learn before school is out. Language Arts 8 is studying the book of Johnny Tremain. From this we interpret its meaning by following the questions from a work sheet. These questions lead into written character study and historical facts pertaining to Revolutionary times from 1774 to 1776. English 9. As a finish for the study of Ivanhoe this group have drawn different characters. These have been mounted and placed about the room. Grade nine will now return to study constructive grammar.

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation...

Climaxing Lent

The forty days of Lent, in the Christian year, are a commemoration of Jesus' sojourn in the wilderness. Some time during this long and lonely pilgrimage, perhaps at the end, came the temptations which are recorded in the Gospels.

Lent is fast drawing to a close climaxing with those unforgettable events of Holy Week and Easter! Lent will bring us soon into Holy Week in this year of our Lord, 1968. This brief period is a commemoration of the days in Jerusalem just preceding the pitiful, glorious, saving passion of our Lord!

It is significant that both experiences served to bring home to us the will of God for His life. Likewise this Lenten period may be a time in which we, as individuals, and as churches, may learn the will of God.

Lent is not merely a traditional observance but a season of personal joy for the growth of the soul, in wisdom, and an opportunity to be alone with the Holy Spirit. It is a starved life that many souls, many Christian souls, live in the midst of plenty today!

In the Lenten season, Christ is saying again to the thoughtful, "Come ye apart . . . Learn of me . . . Some things are important, others imperative!" At all times He is "nearer than breathing, closer than hands and feet," but we are so slow to sense this nearness, when to realize it would transform all our living.

At this Lenten season let us seek Him while He may be found!

*"O Thou, by whom we come to God,
The life, the truth, the way,
The path of prayer Thyself hast trod,
Lord teach us how to pray!"*

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY LICENSE SHOULD NOT BE GRANTED TO SELL REAL ESTATE
 IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA.
 In the Matter of the Application of Pauline Misko, Administratrix, for License to sell real estate.
 Now on this 22 day of March, 1968, this cause came on for hearing upon the petition, under oath of Pauline Misko, administratrix of the estate of Henry Misko, praying for license to sell the following described real estate of the said Henry Misko, to-wit: "The Southeast Quarter of Section 25, Township 20 North, Range 14, West of the 6th P.M. in Valley County, Nebraska", for the payment of debts allowed against said estate, and allowances and costs of administration, for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of the said Pauline Misko, administratrix, belonging to said estate to pay said debts, fees, allowances and costs.
 It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at chambers in the courthouse of said county in the city of Ord, Nebraska, on the 30th day of April, 1968, at the hour of 10:00 A.M. to show cause, if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said Pauline Misko, administratrix, to sell the above described real estate of said decedent to pay the debts and expenses.
 It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published once each week for three successive weeks prior to the date of hearing in the Ord, Nebraska, and that all those persons having a direct legal interest in said proceeding be further notified by mail as by the statutes of Nebraska is required.

Financial Independence—
Save a Little Every Week, Watch It Grow and Grow
 Financial independence at age 65 is within the reach of every one who is not physically or mentally handicapped, Ray Monsalvatge said Monday.
 The Dayton, O., lecturer, who talked to the Omaha Sales and Marketing Executives Club Monday night in the City Auditorium Music Hall, used 70 thousand dollars as "a realistic figure" for financial independence.
 The Monsalvatge formula:
 Save 10 dollars a week, starting at age 20. Put the money where it will draw at least 4 per cent, compounded semi-annually. "And never borrow for luxuries."
 Since money compounded at 4 per cent doubles every 15 years, Mr. Monsalvatge explained, "you will have 10 thousand dollars at 35, 30 thousand dollars at 50 and 70 thousand dollars at 65."
 When his formula is publicly challenged, he said: "Part of my answer is that I'm 47, and have more than 70 thousand dollars."
 Mr. Monsalvatge said: "I'm not disposed to argue over what is a luxury. But I can't understand why some persons let their lives be ruined by financial problems, rather than forego the color television set, the car purchased on a high interest installment plan, or the merchandise from a store purchased with an excessive carrying charge."
 Persons with low incomes, he said, "should consider giving up smoking, as I did, in order to save $2.50 a week. That would mean $17,500 in the bank at age 65."
 Mr. Monsalvatge says his advice to young persons on low salaries is "to save a few thousand dollars somehow to achieve an independent feeling, then change jobs if the boss won't pay you what you think you're worth."

Happy Jack's Peak — Easter Morn., 1968.

Were YOU There . . .

By Kerry Leggett
"Were you there when they crucified my Lord?"
A brisk wind whipped my jacket . . . my face was numb . . . but the morning was beautiful. The words of the hymn sang in my ears.
"Were you there when they nailed Him to the Cross?"
Only the barren ground on the hilltop . . . a few clumps of sage . . . and myself. The cross atop Happy Jack's Peak overlooked the sleeping North Loup Valley. The sun rose over the distant horizon, turning the river into a glimmer of silver.

Easter morn., 1968. War in Vietnam. Rioting in the streets of America. Enslaved peoples under Communist domination. Illiteracy. Hunger. Contempt.
Looking at the winding highway far below me a red light orbbed atop the white ambulance as it sped up the hill and disappeared into the tree-covered canyon beyond. The steps were starting to whiten with frost as the warm rays of sunlight brought moisture to the surface of the railroad ties that had been so carefully embedded in the hillside.

Sunrise services must have been cancelled, I thought to myself.
Turning once again to the cross, I watched the moon disappearing behind the slopes of hills just catching their first rays of sunlight.
I knelt on the cold, hard clay. Camera braced between my chin and shoulder, only the click of the shutter broke the quietness of the surroundings. Slowly lowering the camera . . . dropping it to my side . . . my thumb advanced the film and recocked the delicate mechanism.

Staring upward at the proud, majestic cross, I looked again at the peaceful, sleeping valley below.
Easter — 1968 — outdoor services cancelled.
"Sometimes it causes me to tremble . . . tremble . . . tremble . . . Were you there when they crucified my Lord?"

Carol's Corner

Each year the Nebraska Press Association convention offers something special for the ladies. This year's attraction was a wig show given by Salons, Charming Helen Minthe, Maison Lorenzo Beauty...

Several of those who attended the show (those who had not over-spent their budget on springtime wear or take-home gifts for the youngsters) went home from the convention Saturday evening with a hairpiece or had at least made arrangements to consult with some hair specialist soon.

Ten door prizes were given at this wig show. Again that day, I had the feeling certainly THIS TIME I'LL WIN, but I've yet to see it. Sue, Sheri and Shannon drew out the lucky numbers and Sheri did manage to pick a ticket which matched the one Irma clutched in her hand, making her the winner of a crisp $5 bill.

Americans have added a fourth meal — snacks — to their daily fare. Snacks take a big share of the family food money today. Almost $2 billion was spent for snack foods in one recent year. Reasons for the increase in eating snacks. More teenagers, who like to eat snacks, and more leisure time.

MUSK THISTLE SITUATION NEBRASKA - 1968

Valley Musk Thistles Must Go

More than half of the state east of a line running roughly through Custer and Dawson Counties — is classified as having "moderate" infestations. In many counties, this means from 10,000 upwards of 50,000 acres populated to varying degrees with musk thistle.

Four central Nebraska counties form an island of the heaviest infestation. The blue formed by Valley, Greeley, Sherman and Howard counties. It is estimated that nearly a half million acres of musk thistle-infested pasture-land.

The best control still is spraying musk thistle before the rosettes start to shoot seed stalks. Application of two pounds of 2,4-D per acre will kill the thistle if growing conditions are good and temperature is 70 degrees or above.

Delay in spraying thistle-infested acres runs the risk of allowing the plants to start seed stalks. If this occurs, the plants become tolerant to 2,4-D and must be dug out by hand.

Get That Fishing License

Warm weather and an early start on good fishing have brought anglers out of hibernation. Unfortunately, these two factors have also combined to bring on a rash of "fishing without a permit" violations.

Consequently, the Game Commission has issued a "get tough" policy and will crack down on such offenders. Anglers who do not have a valid 1968 Nebraska fishing permit in their possession when fishing will be taken to court.

Chanting with the Chants

By Donna Johnson

News from the halls of O.H.S. this week is very limited due to the fact that we only had three days of school.

We're now on the home stretch of school, with only four weeks left for the seniors.

Annual staff reports that the annual for this school year is completed and will be ready to be handed out class night, May 20.

The caps and gowns are ordered, name cards and thank yous have arrived, and now the anxiously awaited announcements have come.

The place for the annual senior class picnic is being decided upon by a committee appointed by class president, David McCull.

Well, until next week, when I hope I have a little more news for you, so long!

Swinging Golfers List Good Scores

Ord high school golfers played two meets at the pretty Ord city golf course April 10, relating J. E. Ferguson who has been teaching them.

Collyer Cronk was medalist with a fine 35.37 for 72. Second place individual was Les Solt of Central City with 78, and third place went to D. Larsen of Central City at 79.

A triangular nine hole meet was played in the afternoon with Ord, Central City and North Loup - Scotia competing, which Ord won with a team score of 191, followed by C. at 163 and N. L. Scotia at 160.

The next meet is with Ainsworth at Ord on April 17, when both regulars and reserves will play. "I think we have a match lined up for about every week," J. B. says. He is quite enthusiastic over the start the boys are making.

Charles Sintek tied his own school mark of 10.6 in the 100 yd. dash which was good for a fourth place finish in that event.

Friday is district music contest at Shelton. We were so lucky (?) as to draw a 7:00 a.m. performance time so we will be leaving home before dawn.

Senior announcements arrived this week, warning that there are only six more weeks to make sure all is in order and that they will be able to use their announcements!

The juniors are hard at work on plans for the Junior - Senior banquet which is to be held the evening of May 11 at Scotia.

Additional Watershed Grant Received

The State Soil and Water Conservation commission reports it has been awarded an additional $280,000 in federal flood-control construction funds. The money will go to the Brule Watershed project near Ogallala in Keith County. Originally the commission expected to receive only $330,000 for watershed construction this year due to federal fund cutbacks.

Welfare Costs Rise

Nebraska welfare costs increased 11.2 percent in the fiscal year ended last June 30 to a record $32,847,590, the State Welfare department said in its annual report to the governor. The department said the number of persons receiving public assistance payments rose 7.3 percent to 39,123 during the period. The bulk of the funds, or $22,107,296, came from the federal government. The state's contribution was $7,211,136, and the 93 counties provided $3,529,258.

The department noted: Increased payments to hospitals and doctors under the medical assistance for the aged program. Removal of the $10 per month maximum allowance to old-age pensioners, and blind and disabled payment recipients. Expansion of aid to dependent children program. And higher administrative costs to handle the assistance programs.

Court Asked To Void Law

The Nebraska Supreme Court has been asked to strike down the 1965 State Area Trade School Law and prohibit the collection of local taxes under it. The request was submitted by a group of Red Willow County businessmen who alleged the act violates the equal protection and due process guarantees of the State Constitution. Judge S. S. Sidner of Red Willow County District court ruled last November that the law, which provides for up to $100,000 in state matching funds, is constitutional.

Clark Retiring After 36 ACS Years

Charley Clark, well known North Loup man, is retiring from a key position in the ACS, a 34 year veteran of farm program administration. He is the second son of Mrs. C. B. Clark, graduate of high school in North Loup and from Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Beginning in December, 1936, Clark has seen the farm program grow, until Nebraska farm programs were paying up to $200 million a year to help Nebraska farmers.

Before that he worked for two years in the Valley County farm office.

He thinks the mistake made by agricultural area towns is in striving to acquire new industry and not putting more effort behind working for agriculture.

"This is a case of missing the boat", says he.

The poor, misunderstood extension telephone.

What it is, what it isn't.

It is a second telephone in your home. It isn't paying for a separate line into your house. Or paying for a separate number.

And it isn't paying a double telephone bill.

What it is is merely an extension from your present phone. And if you have to dash through the house or scramble downstairs to say out-of-breath hellos, it's something you need.

And it isn't a big expense. The cost— if you choose the basic style and color—is something like 4 cents a day. (Which is a bargain; you pay about four times that for your regular phone.)

It's not even a sensational new fad— by now four out of ten homes in America already have an extension phone. And the average family takes over 400 incoming calls a year on it, and uses it for at least that many outgoing calls.

Last of all, it wouldn't cost much to try one for a couple of months and this would tell you everything.

Whether it is, or isn't, for you.

Call our business office or ask the man on the telephone truck.

Let Them Pay For It Too

From the Reedsburg (Wisconsin) Times-Press

Student power is one of the latest catch phrases of a militant minority that wants students to have more voice in governing higher institutions of learning.

Fine!

Give students all the power they want in running all the colleges and universities of the land. Only let them pay the cost of supporting these institutions too. We're sure the majority of hardworking taxpayers now paying the bills would be most happy to be relieved of the privilege.

Up The $600

A current injustice we all suffer is this $600 income tax exemption.

How many years has it been the set fee? How many years ago was this considered the REAL price of looking after one young person for one year? Certainly the $600 exemption figure for a dependent is a joke now.

And as all of us are fond of saying 14 times a day "Something should be done about it."

With all this talk about inflation, the depreciated dollar, the wage spiral, the strikes for high wages, still the good old $600 fee stands pat.

This amount of money won't take care of a baby, an old person, nor a schoolchild for a year. And it most assuredly won't send your boy to college or give him specialized training.

So while the computers run rampant over our actual expenses, how about a little realism?

How about raising that $600 per dependent sum up to today's standard of living level?

Tough On You

Visitors to the Valley County Hospital often feel hostile when they are not immediately permitted to go instantly to the room of a patient. The request to hold visitors down to two upsets them, especially if they have travelled far.

It does seem unfair.

But there's a reason for these requests.

What if the patient is too ill to have much company? What if the patient is nervous when several people begin yakking in his room? What if the agitation of having company drives his temperature up? Or his blood pressure?

Rules about two visitors to a patient were made for the protection of the patient, not for the convenience of the visitor!

Please remember, the reception desk lady, a volunteer worker, did not make up this rule just to be ornery. The nurses did not establish this rule to make it easier for them. The doctors request such a regulation simply for the welfare of their patients. Even if it does happen to be tough on you, the visitor.

When They Come Home

When Johnny comes home again, from Vietnam, he is going to have to learn a new way of life. Over there, our GI's found out that a Communist is an enemy and, if he wasn't killed, he'd kill you. They learned, the hard way, how Communists make it a practice to disguise themselves to work their way into strategic places, and they became well aware of the damage and atrocities Communists commit, given the least opportunity.

But these horrible lessons have taught Americans at home precious little concerning the real nature of Communism. It is overdue that we learn, and lesson number one is that a Communist in this country is just as treacherous, just as venomous, and just as deadly as a Communist in Vietnam.

Despite this obvious fact, these enemy agents are not only tolerated and listened to, they enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship, reinforced through a succession of decisions of the United States Supreme Court. They are allowed to operate freely, conspire without hindrance, agitate, hold jobs in industries where our national security is involved, and even to teach in our schools. Anyone who expresses alarm at this incredible state of affairs is denounced as a "McCarthyite," the ultimate epithet in the Communist lexicon—prized particularly by the Communists because they invented it.

Our returning GI's may have trouble understanding this weird state of affairs. To them a Communist is a Communist, whether he is butchering innocent peasants in a village in South Vietnam, directing a riot in a large American city, singing folk songs with a political message, or teaching political science on some college campus.

It will take some doing to make our GI's change their ideas about Communists being the enemy. It may be that they'll have to be given a special brainwashing course, and paraded through the streets in various cities across the country with yokes about their necks labelled "extremist."

An alternative would be to have the members of the US

Eating Mexican Style

There are such delightful things to eat down here, and all so different.

For instance you may order your scrambled eggs with eel and refried beans if you like. Or you may have Mexican scrambled eggs, very good, peppery, pretty with red and green bits.

They use peppers in many dishes. I ordered Northern soup yesterday, supposed to be chiefly lima. It was chiefly cream of corn, very tasty, with bits of red and green pepper and a scrap of onion added. Soups are all homemade at the posada and they are excellent. But none that we're used to in Ord.

In fact the soups are so outstandingly good at Posada Ajijic that Campbell Soup Company has been alerted to try to get their recipes.

In a meat loaf yesterday I found sizeable pieces of banana! It had a tomato topping and was excellent.

They are proud of their lean pork here and it is young and tender, very good, very little fat.

Down here they're fond of toasted cheese, a pale, mild cheese, thinly cut. You put it on your tortilla with a tongue-searing "sauce piquante," or eat it plain. Tortillas serve as eating tools in poor families who do not have silverware. You simply roll up the tortilla and use it as a pusher, nibbling at it as you go, then taking another.

They serve a good deal of chicken, and usually it is in a delicious sauce, sometimes mushroom but more often a delicate Mexican tomato concoction.

Street Corners

Cucumbers are in big supply and they do interesting things with them. They are sold on the street, peeled, split, seasoned with chili powder and dill, very crisp.

"Mexicans are always eating and drinking," one of my friends observed. It is true. They love to buy corn on the cob, either pulled out of a vat of boiling water, or toasted brown on a grill.

This too is highly seasoned with spices if you like. Yes, it's very good, and sold on many street corners.

Slabs of red watermelon are a favorite, peeled and ready to eat, piled at a roadside stand. They also stack up peeled oranges, slices of pineapple, geometric arrangements of mangoes or strawberries.

Strawberry Country

This is real strawberry country. They grow big and beautiful and much of the crop is shipped to the U.S. they tell me. I have had wonderful pure strawberry jam for breakfast every single morning at this inn.

They seine the fish from Lake Chapala mostly. I saw a boy bring in 62 little fellows an evening or two back, carp. That seemed to be a big haul, from the fuss his friends made over him.

The Lake Chapala whitefish are much like our bluegills — flattish, smallish and tasty, fried crisp.

One kind of sardine-sized fish they spread along the roadside to dry in the sun. Later they are deep-fat fried and become a bar snack. Of course the hot fat sterilizes them!

In so many foreign spots North Americans get in big trouble with the water, acquiring an intestinal bug that ties them to the bathroom. But at our posada, no trouble. The little maid puts a big fresh jug of water in my room each day. I drink the milk here, eat the cheese, use the ice, eat the salads, for everything seems well scrubbed.

But practically every traveller carries the little pills to control diarrhea. And numbers of tourists will not even brush their teeth except with bottled water.

They do have a skeptical saying down here, though. "If you can't peel it or cook it, don't eat it."

Supreme Court spend a few months in South Vietnam learning some elemental things about Communist tactics first hand. So far, the Court has specialized in granting liberties to the enemy, while denying the rest of us the right to defend our own intelligently.

Nebraska Fifth Most Tornadoes

As citizens of the fifth-ranked tornado state, Nebraskans should be aware of safety precautions they can take against tornadoes, says Elvin C. Schultz, Extension rural civil defense specialist at the University of Nebraska.

Schultz noted that most tornadoes occur between 3 and 7 p.m.; seldom strike after midnight or before noon. They usually travel from southwest to northeast because the parent mass of warm, moist air in which they originate blows in that direction. The path of destruction averages less than 1/4 mile wide and a little over 10 miles long. The storm averages 40 miles per hour as it moves across the country.

Sticky, sultry and oppressive weather, generally with southerly winds, is typical tornado weather. One of the safest tornado shelters is an underground storm cellar. When possible, locate the storm cellar outside and near the southwest corner of your home, but not so close that falling walls or debris could block the exit.

If there is a rise in the ground, dig the cellar into it to make use of the rise for protection. The cellar entrance should face northeast and the cellar should not be connected with house drains, cesspools or sewer and gas pipes. A structure eight feet long by six feet wide and seven feet high will protect eight people for a short time.

Concrete is one of man's most useful materials. Several billion tons are used each year around the world — only water is used in greater quantities.

Attention: Editor
Dear Sir:

In regards to the article in last week's "KERRY ON", I want to take this opportunity to say that one or two of the local minister's did not jump on the bandwagon to eulogize the late Dr. King.

Tragic was his death. But no more, than the 2000 young patriots who met death at the hands of communists in Vietnam, and that within 30 days. The flower of our youth are being drafted into their sacrifices on the front line of defense, with many of them never to return home to their parents, their wives and their children. YET, THERE WAS NO "HALF-MASTED FLAG" FOR THEM.

If people want to demonstrate, let them start demonstrating for the freedom of the 1000 million slaves behind the SLAVE CURTAIN. If there are those in America who feel they are being deprived, I'm sure that one of those 1000 million would be delighted for their opportunities.

If preachers want to stand and lift up a sign of protest, let them get out of the streets and into their pulpits and lift high the cross of Jesus for all to see. It has always been my understanding that a minister was called to preach the gospel, not agitation.

A thrill always fills me whenever I hear the "STAR SPANGLED BANNER" played with Old Glory blowing in the breeze. But I was not thrilled when I saw Old Glory lowered for one who indirectly instigated strife, turmoil, riots and burning of square city blocks.

To earn this type of respect, one should be helpful in building up and not tearing down. And I do not call burned out buildings, looted stores, and dead citizens who tried to protect their property, building up.

Strange isn't it, that no President of the United States has ever been given such a lasting bereavement. I wonder, too, how many of those who attended the local service, were in attendance at the last Veteran's day service.

In no way am I against the negro people. I merely feel that they should be willing to boot themselves up by their own bootstraps as million of other AMERICANS HAVE DONE.

My heart goes out for the negro. The opportunity to improve himself is before him, but I fear he may ruin it instead of using

Reports

Washington Under Siege: As this report is being written, Washington is still an armed camp with battle-hardened Marines back from Vietnam only six weeks, camped in a small park right across the street from our home with steel helmets, bayonets, and full battle gear. How do you describe this experience?

It's like awakening from a bad dream or nightmare, and finding yourself only half awake you wonder if it's for real. Unfortunately, it is real. Fire and smoke light the skies; a haze hangs over the city; sirens are wailing; and troops are moving out on the double. You think — it simply can't happen in the Nation's Capital.

Washington was the first totally integrated city in the country. An open housing law has been in effect for years, yet these things make no difference. 884 fires so far; 5,600 have been arrested; 1079 injured; 8 killed; property damage estimated at $1325 million; thousands have been made homeless and many, many jobs lost.

Professional agitators like Stokely Carmichael have been here exhorting the colored people to take up arms and use them. CIVIL RIGHTS? Washington has had more Civil Rights laws passed for those who live in the District than any other city in the country — integrated hotels, restaurants, open housing, and many model Federal programs to help the poor at a cost of millions of dollars. To what avail? None, if the last few days of this nightmare is an answer.

Civil Rights: Last week our Rules Committee, under great national emotional strain, had to vote on reporting out the Senate-passed Civil Rights bill — a bill that the Senate debated for eight weeks — a bill that the Senate considered amending approximately 100 times. Our vote was not on the bill itself, but simply on a Resolution to allow the House only one hour of debate (30 minutes to each side) and then a roll call vote on the Resolution. No amendments could be considered; no changes in the Senate bill could be made — not even a comma or a single word changed. By these tactics, the

"... others have given you gifts worth the keeping — all I can give you are words."

A thousand thoughts are ours to share — ten thousand words that say I care. Hopes that glimmer like stars above — an endless yearning for endless love.

These are the things I give to you — a fond expression — a dream or two.

We opened up the book of life — the answer wasn't there! We flipped the pages hastily — we then ended with a stare.

Perhaps we stopped a chapter short — or closed the cover fast. We didn't want to see the past that said this love might last!

Admonished by a restless guilt — perplexed by one desire — we live to love and love to live — but cannot stand the ire!

The scorn of those around us — they do not understand — nor can they be expected to — without a leading hand.

They first must feel the passion — put shackles on the hate 435 Members of the House were excluded from working their will. We were told to accept the bill.

I do not go along with these tactics, and I voted against the bill both in Rules Committee and on the floor of the House. The House of Representatives is a coequal branch of our legislative government with the Senate. This type of action, on the part of the leadership, is reminiscent of the days of Hitler. I utterly and completely disapprove of this action, and will fight it with all of my strength.

This Civil Rights bill is liable to cause us more trouble in months ahead than if it had not been passed. The "open housing" section guarantees that any person can buy any home he desires, if it is for sale and if he has the money and the credit to purchase. Many of the Negroes feel that this guarantees them a better home, and if he doesn't get it soon, he will again lead an uprising.

What we need NOW is some vigorous prosecution by the Justice Department of some of the Stokely Carmichaels, Rap Browns, and other agitators, followed by long-term prison sentences. Negroes who burn and steal seem to be immune to prosecution. What has happened to our Justice? What has happened to our patriotism? What has happened to America that we live in fear like the police state of Hitler's Germany, or the fear of citizens in a Communist country? The sun is waning; evening is near at hand; and the lights are going out in America if we don't wake up to the great internal dangers at hand.

Remember Khrushchev's remark that America would spend herself into bankruptcy; that we would become so weak internally that we would be ripe to fall to communism; that our grandchildren would be living under a Communist form of government. I feel that Communists in this country are playing a major role in masterminding these riots. It is time to get tough; to attack and not to retreat.

Garden Club Makes Park Beauty Spot Aided By Grant From Sears, Roebuck

In 1962 the original plans were set up by the Arcadia Garden Club along with various civic organizations to purchase and clean up the 2-acre approach to the west entrance of Arcadia.

The original cleaning entailed picking up of trash and debris and even some old shed buildings, under the supervision of the Arcadia volunteer firemen, this was burned. The land was surveyed and purchased by the Village of Arcadia for use as a park and rest area.

It was then that the first application was made to Sears Roebuck and Company for a grant through the Federated Garden Clubs of Nebraska, for a grant.

The Arcadia Garden Club has applied for this grant every year except 1965 and received $805.

Many changes have taken place in this area in this short period of time with many of the ventures being successful. The greatest challenge is to obtain suitable nursery stock which will withstand the sub-irrigated soil for a major part of the year yet withstand the effects of heat and sand for the rest of the year.

The grooming of a deep carpet of natural grass is being supervised by the Arcadia Park Board and has taken over the upkeep of the lawn.

The city completed in 1967 the task of installing a city water hydrant close by the picnic area and also near the hedges for watering. The park board has also provided for a watering program for the two parks during the heat season of the year.

This little rest area is becoming more and more popular because of its convenience and now that we have water and rest rooms, we would like to complete our plans for a central gas light which would come on with other street lights making evening picnics pleasant.

They also plan to clean the west bank of the dry creek and have one large dead tree removed. Our park board and village board will cooperate with us in this.

The two year old lilac hedge planted in 1965 is doing wonderfully and they try to keep it cleaned out and keep creeping vines cut away from it. If it continues it will soon hide the old creek bed. They will have to replace some of the rose hedge along the west side of the parking area where the soil there is somewhat sandy. The late freezes have been the major factor in losing our colorful shrubbery and they will plan this year to replace some of these.

As many members of their group are not able to do the manual labor much of their work will be hired or provided by the village park board.

The Douglas fir planted by the Actors' Association, along with a nativity scene donated by the family of a deceased member of their club, makes a beautiful setting during the Christmas season as travelers approach Arcadia from the west.

They again placed their application with Sears Roebuck for a grant to improve and maintain this scenic area, and add their thanks to Sears for its past cooperation.

Come to Church This Week's Meditation... "With Fear and Joy" "So they departed quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to tell his disciples." Matt. 28:8. We read these words with keen understanding. For how many times have we longed for something to be or to happen, and then when it does, especially if we have waited for a long time, we are afraid to believe it. We hesitate, maybe, I am just dreaming again. Maybe my imagination is fooling me. We are afraid to accept or believe that it has happened to me, afraid that the shock would be too great, if it were not true. But as hope builds and confidence surges upon us, and we begin to trust that it has happened to me — "JOY" breaks through, happiness reigns. Do we not then feel for those first disciples? There must have been a nagging hope within their breast that the cross and the tomb were not the end; but the death of the cross is so final! We could understand the "Fear" that lay in their lives and hearts — maybe a cross for me, too? Then overwhelming "Joy", it is true, just as he said, the grave is empty and "I have seen him!" What greater joy could possess a persons life! Did you see him? Have you seen him today? This is the eternal message of Easter. Not just that it happened on a certain day, 33 A.D.; but that Jesus Christ Our Lord and Master can be seen every day, in our lives and in our world, if we will let him in! And instead of fear gripping our lives, we too can be filled with the joy that none other can ever give. The joy of Christ himself alive for "me". Clarence R. Ord Firemen do keep busy, one way and another. Saturday, as they usually do, they took charge of the egg rolling contest at Bussell Park, when dozens of eager children hunted the 2,500 Easter eggs provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

The little people were divided into pre-school, kindergarten, first and second grades; third, fourth and fifth grades. Of course the older children got far the greatest number of the candy eggs.

"I think next year I'll recommend to the Chamber that the fourth and fifth grade children not be included," was Fire Chief Ivan Sorenson's conclusion.

At their regular Monday evening session the firemen viewed a film on controlling LP gas fires, loaned to them through the courtesy of KK Appliances. Burwell firemen were invited to attend this meeting and see the movie, and about a dozen from our neighbor city took advantage of this offer. Lunch followed, later in the evening.

The past week was F.H.A. week with the girls observing each day in a different manner. One day was "dolly day" with each member bringing a doll to school! Clash day was also held with a garish array of dress.

The girls voted on "Mr. Invisible." Winners were: 9th Clyde Thompson, 10th Russell Hill, 11th Terry Foxworthy, and 12th Ron Vanosdall. All around winner was Clyde Thompson. Friday was All-school dress up day. The Sophomore class was treated, as being the best dressed and the 7th as having the largest percent of well dressed students.

The seniors won last without trying. The climax was FWHIP night, Friday or Saturday when the girls treated the boys!

Cheerleading tryouts for both first and second team cheerleaders are being held Tuesday morning. I'll have the results next week.

The Senior girls will attend a tea held in their honor by the Up to Date Club Tuesday afternoon. Mothers of the Senior boys were also invited to attend.

I hope that Easter doesn't mean just a vacation to the students of A.H.S. If it does, here's a little reminder. Most high school students know about love. From what I've seen around, they may even be experiencing it. I wonder though; would you be willing to die for your "steady"? Someone did for you! That's what Easter's all about! Have a "Happy" Easter. I'll be seeing you next week.

School this week is even more hectic than usual. Classes will be dismissed Wednesday, April 10, and take up on Tuesday morning, April 16. I don't know who is going to enjoy this vacation more — teachers or students. Helpful parents will probably put students to work, so I imagine the teachers will have more fun.

Before classes are dismissed Wednesday, report cards will be passed out. What a way to ruin a vacation!

The Arcadia track team attended the LVSC Conference track meet at Calloway on Friday, April 5. They placed second with Calloway taking first. Jerry Bresley won first in the high jump, setting a new school record. The mile-relay team also won first place.

The team travels to Ord for the Ord Invitational on Wednesday.

When asked to comment on the team, Coach Kieborz said: "If they'd throw those rings back to

WE GIVE

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

It was nearing the supper hour, Sunday, when the words reached our ears. Having been out of town to attend the annual Nebraska State Press Association convention most of the week, we were unaware of the required dress for those Junior High girls participating in the spring band concert.

With a lovely white eyelet Easter frock and a darling springtime floral hanging in the closet this was one time we felt without problems for an appropriate dress for such school events. Now, having learned of the necessary white blouse tucked into a dark skirt, Sue (and her Mom) were faced with the age-old problem of women "what to wear?"

The idea of sewing a skirt flashed first, next was a quick look through the family fabric supply (quite a selection— for dresses, nighties and sport clothes) but nothing suitable for a skirt of one solid dark shade and no way to get it for approximately 14 hours more (remember this was Sunday—all day.) Figure it as you wish, via modern math or old fashioned arithmetic, the answer was the same—come Monday there would be only 36 hours left until the Tuesday evening appearance and already (roughly figuring) 26 of those were spoken for with no time taken out yet for sleep!

Another idea pushed its way through. Remembering the familiar ad telling how easily an old outfit can be transformed into something great with a box of all-purpose dye, we quickly lifted a lifeless drab green skirt from the back closet hook. The answer was near, Mom believed.

It's silly to go to all this extra work, Mom, was Sue's suggestion. Her theory was simply to wear the best that she had—a good fitting gray wool box-caped skirt. A marvelous idea, agreed Mom.

As I listened and watched the young performers Tuesday evening, my weary mind reviewed the tediousness of this clothes problem which seemed so unimportant now. Why is it that I always lose my "cool" at times when I need it most, I asked myself.

It wasn't enough to return from the convention feeling a good five pounds heavier after all that luscious food I more than sampled, but the first piece of mail that I ripped open Monday morning contained this advice: "Overweight! Shed pound after pound quickly and easily!" Talk about having my day ruined so early in the morning!

Children enjoy Easter festivities so much, why not trim your foot with a young out look? Try this Easter Daffodil Cake. Bake a Lemon Custard Angel Food Cake Mix, Cool. Frost top and sides of cake with cooled vanilla pudding (cooked-type mix). Sprinkle toasted coconut over top and sides. Chill. When ready to serve, arrange three daffodils with lemon leaves in center hole of cake. Arrange more leaves around base. Very simple and lovely!

And for a rather different gelatin salad that harmonizes beautifully with the traditional Easter ham may I suggest this Strawberry-Rhubarb Mold. 2 c. rhubarb sauce (16 oz. pkg. frozen sweetened rhubarb cooked as directed or made from fresh rhubarb).

1 pkg. strawberry-flavored gelatin
9 oz. can crushed pineapple. Make rhubarb sauce; heat and immediately add gelatin to hot sauce and stir until dissolved. Cool until partially set. Add drained pineapple, reserving 1/4 c. juice. Chill until firm. Serve on crisp greens with crushed pineapple dressing made by combining 1 c. whipping cream, whipped; 1/4 c. mayonnaise and the reserved crushed pineapple.

A correction should be made in the Banana Oatmeal Cake recipe used in this column recently. It should have read: 1 c. quick oatmeal and 1/2 c. boiling water (instead of all that oatmeal as was indicated). I had at least a dozen calls questioning it. Sorry about that mistake.

Coffee Cup Philosophy: Do not depend on the other fellow because he may be depending on you!

The 2 o'clock, March 23, ceremony was at the William Beaumont Chapel, El Paso. Chaplain Brown officiated at the double ring rite.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length white gown of "Katie" rayon with wide yoke, high neck and three-quarter length sleeves. Daisies bordered the skirt, hem and sleeves. The detachable train hung from the back and completely bordered with daisies.

Her elbow length veil of silk net was gathered to a baby doll cap, trimmed with velvet ribbons under her long hair. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and baby's breath. She wore the traditional blue garter, penny in her shoe and borrowed pearl earrings.

Marilyn Rees served her sister as maid of honor. Ruby Rees was her sister's bridesmaid. Best man was Edward E. Cooley, twin brother of the groom and groomsmen was Stephen Epps of Denver. Flower girl was Kathryn Rees, sister of the bride, William Wanner, El Paso, Tex. and James Rees, brother of the bride were ushers.

Mary Cooley, sister of the groom, had charge of the guest book. A reception followed at the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Charles Scritchfield in El Paso. Mrs. Emma Mather of Burwell, grandmother of the bride cut the wedding cake.

For traveling the bride chose a rust and beige suit of Irish linen with brown accessories. The bride graduated from Ramon High School, Westminster, Colo. in 1965 and Northeastern Junior College, Sterling, Colo. in 1967. The groom graduated from Wheatridge High School in 1963. He attended Northeastern Junior College and Colorado University Extension, Denver, Colo. before going into the Army. He is in the Medical Corps and will graduate in June.

Mrs. Emma Mather of Burwell was the only guest from this area who attended the wedding.

George Nay left by plane from Grand Island, Monday morning, for Grand Rapids, Mich. to spend Easter with his daughter and family, the Rev. Norwood Reeks. He will be gone about two weeks.

Chris Bishop Will Lead Cheers; Name Given At Ordette Dinner

A lively though feminine atmosphere prevailed Monday evening when Ordettes entertained their mothers at the annual mother-daughter banquet.

The girls' gym was prettily decorated in pastel colors appropriate for the Easter season, and darling fluffy white rabbits filled with colorful eggs nestled in bright greenery decorated the banquet tables.

Pat Novotny, this year's president, was mistress of ceremonies and Mrs. Carol VanNordheim was the guest speaker. Phillis Durand gave the invocation. Joyce Kruml was named the most outstanding Ordette and nine others were recognized for their outstanding efforts during the past year.

The suspense of the evening reached its peak when cheerleaders and new officers for the coming year were announced. Chris Bishop is head Varsity cheerleader. Other Varsity cheerleaders are Jerri Lola, Sue Greenway, Pat Jones and Peggy Nelson. Reserve cheerleaders are Terri Kunz, head, Marilyn Paider, Jo Remington and Jan Garneck. Connie Peterson was chosen to head the organization next year with Pam Hurlbert, vice president, Pam Lambert, secretary and Darlyn Novosad, treasurer.

Tears of joy and sadness filled the eyes of the sentimental ones as each senior Ordette was presented a red rose by a younger Ordette, though the evening was nearly as "weepy" as in many other years.

Entertainment was presented by the sophomore sextet. The Methodist ladies prepared and served the Swiss steak dinner to 204 guests.

Leonard Urbanski telephoned his mother, Mrs. Adeline Urbanski, Tuesday noon from his base in Oceananna, Va. to tell her of his new assignment which will take him to South America. Leonard was to leave Tuesday night for nine months of sea duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Knezacek arrived home from St. Petersburg, Florida last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Norman and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Don Wozniak at Kearney, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dobrowsky were Sunday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Apton Psota of North Loup.

Duane Kovarik attended the Registered Dairy calf sale Saturday in Lincoln. The sale was held at the FFA building at the State Fair grounds for 4-H and FFA members.

A fall wedding is planned.

Just For Fun
The routine of a regular meeting was broken, Monday afternoon, when Girl Scouts of Troop 145 walked to the Ord High School to visit the art room. There, Mrs. Beverly Walsh explained art on display in the classroom and helped the young enthusiasts make a string picture. Later, Susan Miska served refreshments. Diane Fauss, news reporter.

"We must know how many people renew before we can determine how many new season tickets we may issue," Pittenger said.

Hawks Need Our Help

Landowners, think twice before you pull the trigger on that hawk circling overhead. If you bring him down, you may be doing yourself more harm than good. According to game technicians, the vast majority of hawks, besides being protected by legislation, are actually beneficial to mankind. The mainstay of their diets, rodents, snakes and small mammals, are the real pests that require controlling — a job the hawk does quite well. Very few hawks will kill a domestic animal when they can take wild animal well away from human habitation.

The Game Commission, which is now undertaking a survey to evaluate the status and number of birds of prey in the state, reminds us that hawks migrate through Nebraska just like waterfowl and are numerous at this time of year. Hunters with no seasonal game to pursue are tempted to sharpen their technique on those blasted chicken hawks. But "those blasted chicken hawks" play a vital role in the balance of nature and should not be indiscriminately killed.

Also biologists believe that hawks, eagles and other birds of prey are diminishing in numbers through the ingestion of pesticides. The birds are flesh eaters and are accumulating the pesticide residues from their prey in lethal quantity.

Remember, the best policy towards hawks at this or any other time of the year is, "DO NOT SHOOT!"

NU Baseball

Pepped by a fine 3-2-1 swing to Texas, the Nebraska Cornhuskers open Big 8 baseball at Norman against the University of Oklahoma Friday and Saturday. Coach Tony Sharpe's Huskers will battle twice Friday and wind up with a singleton on Saturday.

Furby, a southpaw with a 1-0 record, will toss the opener Friday, with Keith Winter, another lefty who boasts a 2-0 mark, working the second game. Mick Logue, a righthander with an 0-1 mark, is slated to pitch Saturday.

The Husker batting order, along with average: Tom Tidball (.375) — Shortstop; Bob Griego (.181) — Second-base.

Alex Walter (.200) — Center-field; Ron Johnette (.165) — First-base.

Bob Brand (.000) — Leftfield; Adrian Fiata (.333) — Catcher; Mike Churchich (.187) — Third-base.

Jim Stevenson (.333) or Steve Johnson (.347) — Right-field.

At Furby (1-0) — Pitcher. The Huskers will bus to Norman Thursday night and return Saturday following the final game of the series.

Other members of the traveling squad are infielder Dennis Jorgensen, outfielder Merrill McClary, pitchers Bill Adams, Charlie Green and Greg Willhelms, and catcher Wayne Kissler.

NLS Golf Team
The local high school golf team defeated Overton High team by a score of 336 to 381. The scores of the NLS players were John Hanzel 78; Greg Stone 80; Duane Foster 87 and Mike Schudel 90. Scores for the Overton team were 79, 96, 102, and 104. Overton was last year's state champion. However, one of their best players missed this meet because of sickness. Jerry Van Horn and Bruce Bergman also competed for North Loop-Scotia.

Nebraska continues to increase the production of cheese. A recent survey in a Lincoln supermarket showed 107 different varieties and flavors of cheeses.

U P Awards Made 47th Year

Thirty-four Nebraska high school students have been awarded $200 Union Pacific scholarships for use at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The announcement was made by Joe Jarvis, representing the railroad, and the Nebraska State 4-H office.

The scholarship program was initiated by the UP on a trial basis in Nebraska in 1921. In that year, $75 scholarships were available, one to a county through the railroad run in Nebraska, upon receipt of a suitable application from a 4-H member.

Nineteen scholarships of $75 each were applied for the first year. UP scholarships have been available to 4-H members for forty-seven years.

Following the trial run in Nebraska, railroad officials were convinced that the plan should include all states served by the railroad, which headquarters in Omaha. 4-H girls and boys in Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, California, Montana, and Utah have been given the opportunity to compete.

In 1926, scholarships also were made available to high school vocational agricultural students in the 11 states served by Union Pacific.

In 1967-68, the 4-H office received and the Union Pacific approved 34 applications for the $200 scholarship authorized per county in the 38 Nebraska counties in which the railroad presently has tracks.

The list of 1967-68 Nebraska 4-H club scholarship winners includes David Eugene Winter, Scotia; Robert Sides, Loup City; and Lori Lou Garnick, Ord.

Alternates — Gregory Lavern Pfifer, Mason City; Donald Lee Valasek, Spalding; Connie Christensen, Dannebroun; Luanan and Michael Schwartzlander, Burwell.

Methodists, E.U.B. Plan For Future

Blueprints for the new United Methodist Church of Nebraska call for the formation of nine districts, changes in the location of some district residences and offices, removal of four program staff members from Methodist Headquarters in Lincoln, and a budget of $2,015,050 for the first year of the new conference beginning January 1, 1969.

The United Methodist Church will be formed late in April at Dallas with the union of The Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren Churches.

The two former denominations in Nebraska will unite during a special conference this December and will begin their joint program January 1, 1969. There are 119 Methodist churches with 140,000 members in Nebraska and 100 EUB churches with 13,500 members.

Recommendations being made by a Joint Committee on Union include the formation of nine new districts beginning June, 1969. All would have geographic names except the Lincoln and Omaha Districts. Following approval of the number of districts by the Annual Conference, the resident bishop then determines the boundaries and the locations for the district residences and offices.

Crippled Kids To Be Helped

It's comforting to know that it will be a bright, cheerful summer for some fifty Nebraska kids helped by the Nebraska Easter Seal Society and this year the Society plans to give them a full two weeks in camp.

Day camps are a long-time tradition with the Society, and this year there will be six of these all-day adventures for kids who rarely have a chance to swim, play and picnic in the outdoors. But the resident camp is a new venture for the Society, and anyone who has ever taken care of a family member temporarily wearing a cast after a fall down the basement stairs will appreciate what a complicated venture it is.

Children who need help just to eat or to dress require very special facilities and expert help if they are to go in the water safely, or ride a horse, or play games with other crippled children.

As James Elmore, who will direct the Easter Seal camp, puts it: "Running a camp for crippled children really means you're running almost a hospital and a rehabilitation center as well. Our job is to give the kids a good time, to give them comfort and to help them make physical progress at the same time."

The Society has sixty years of experience to do the job Mr. Elmore describes. What they need from the rest of us is a financial support. The moral seems to be: contribute to a bright, cheerful summer for the Society, and this year there will be six of these all-day adventures for kids who rarely have a chance to swim, play and picnic in the outdoors. But the resident camp is a new venture for the Society, and anyone who has ever taken care of a family member temporarily wearing a cast after a fall down the basement stairs will appreciate what a complicated venture it is.

Anticipate 200,000 Cancer Cures For This Year

New York (WMSN) — Cancer stories are usually so dismal it is a pleasure to report a brighter one.

An estimated 200,000 Americans will be "cured" of cancer this year, according to estimates prepared by the Health Insurance Institute. About one cancer patient out of three is freed of the disease for at least five years, the period commonly accepted as a cure.

The American Cancer Society notes that more than 1,400,000 Americans who were successfully treated for cancer five or more years ago and are still alive today.

Early detection followed by proper treatment were responsible for these success stories. Ignorance, fear, and neglect, on the other hand, weaken the fight against cancer.

Another piece of good cancer news, this time from the National Institutes of Health, is that a combination of mammography and clinical examinations detects breast cancer some 21 months sooner than usual. Mammography, a specialized kind of X-ray of the breast, has been found particularly useful when used in combination with other forms of testing for breast cancer.

From 350 to 400 calories from different sources of feed are required to produce one pound of milk. One pound of ground shell-corn contains about 800 calories and one pound of good quality alfalfa hay 400 calories.

Spring Tips For Families

With Spring coaxing us to join the robins and crocuses out-of-doors, here are some timely tips on making this lovely season a healthy one:

Tone your body slowly. If your most active sport this winter has been TV-watching or driving the kids to school, don't try to play four sets of tennis your first day on the courts. And if you've put on weight during the sedentary winter, no crash diets. This is a good time for a medical check-up, including guidance on what kinds of exercise and how much is best for you. Get diet help from your doctor, and follow his instructions.

Immunizations. If you're a gardener, it's important that your tetanus shots be up-to-date. Your children, too, should be immunized not only against tetanus, but against whooping cough, which commonly strikes in the spring and summer, and measles, diphtheria, and polio. Physicians prefer giving these immunizations in cool rather than hot weather. If shots are needed, this is the time.

First Aid. You're on a beach picnic with the family and junior cuts his foot on a jagged piece of glass. Do you know how to treat the cut? Or a sprained ankle? Or a broken leg? Such knowledge can insure the whole family against needless complications.

Respect The Water

Water Safety. Have you joined the millions of American families as a boating fan? Splendid... if you realize that swimming is a must for anyone who goes boating — whether in a canoe or outboard. There is still time for swimming lessons.

And don't learn boatsmanship by doing. Get instructions on how to handle a boat, what to do in emergencies, how to get help if you're in trouble, and the elementary rules of boating courtesy, which really means safety.

The Coast Guard, the Government Printing Office in Washington, D.C., and the Red Cross, can all provide boating safety information.

Editor of Quiz
Dar Sir,

Now, wouldn't you think the people of our great land would stop and think before joining this mob spirit which followed Martin Luther King in his life and now at his death? I'd rather believe that the majority of people remember the violence, destruction and even deaths that followed his so-called non-violent assemblies and marches.

I'm wondering about King's promise of demonstration in Washington, D. C. Did it sound like a great liberator working for civil rights, or just civil turmoil, and seeming anarchy? I'm wondering why we forget to say that along with civil rights goes civil responsibility and respect for laws and other people's rights? I'm wondering why so many people are saying that behind the skirts of Christianity, King stirred up so much civil trouble.

I also wonder about the documented records of his close association with communists who avowed to stir up trouble among the races in our country. With due respect to all people of good faith, regardless of color, I am still wondering about all this.

Library Discussed At Woman's Club

Woman's Club of Ord met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Leo Long, when Mrs. Dean Brestley presented the speaker, Mrs. Jean Harrington of Valentine, who is Sandhills regional library consultant, one of six sent out under the auspices of the State Library Commission.

It was Mrs. Harrington's first visit to Ord, as she visits only on request. She told of the new things available to libraries, such as books with extra large type to aid old people or children with their reading problems; talking books, etc.

Mrs. Brestley told facts and figures about the local library, showing that adult fiction is a well patronized section, as are books for boys and girls in grades up to the eighth. After that, young people do not seem to call for so much reading material. Of course it is a city library and the budget is limited.

Mrs. Joe Gregory talked interestingly about Stalin's daughter, drawing on several books for source material to describe the Russian visitor, who fascinates Americans so much.

Do You Have Weevils In Your Alfalfa?

Alfalfa weevils have moved into all or parts of 33 Nebraska counties by the beginning of 1968, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture study, verified by University of Nebraska Extension entomologists.

The western strain of the alfalfa weevil is known to have been established in the Panhandle in the early to mid-1920's. Since that time, it has moved as far eastward as Buffalo County in the intensive alfalfa-producing region of the Platte Valley.

Adult weevils overwinter in sheltered places in alfalfa fields, field borders, or other sheltered places near alfalfa fields.

Each female can lay as many as 1,000 eggs in fall, winter and spring. Once a large population develops in an area, losses can be expected each year unless controls are applied. In 1966, the total economic losses from alfalfa weevils in the U. S. were about $56 million.

Eggs of the western strain are laid inside dead hollow alfalfa stems and later in growing stems. In warm weather, eggs hatch in two weeks. If weather remains cool, eggs continue to remain dormant until temperatures favorable to hatching occur.

The alfalfa weevil prefers alfalfa as a host, and given a choice, restricts its feeding to alfalfa. Both white and yellow sweet clover are also hosts on which the weevil can complete its life cycle.

Newly hatched larvae are yellow with a shiny black head. After feeding for 3 or 4 weeks they are green with a white stripe running down the middle of their backs.

Larvae feed on the upper leaves as they open, in the plant tips, and on lower foliage. Damaged leaves dry rapidly and the field has a whitish cast due to skeletonized leaves.

When injury is first observed on the first crop, the cutting should be made if plants are in or near the bud stage. After the first crop has been cut, the larvae crawl to the new shoots of the second crop and continue feeding. They may seriously damage second cutting by retarding new growth. In western Nebraska, the second cutting may require control measures.

When controls are necessary, the chemical must be chosen very carefully so that illegal residues do not remain on the hay. Diazinon, molathion, methoxychlor, and Sevin are registered for use by farmers. Parathion or Guthion can be used only by experienced commercial applica-

$13.5 Million Transferred To General Fund from Building Fund to Aid Schools

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association
LINCOLN — The Tiemann administration reports there is sufficient money on hand in the treasury to transfer $13.5 million from the state building fund to the general fund.

Purpose of the transaction, the governor's office said, would be to give the general fund for the multimillion dollar demands of state aid to schools and local governments late this year and early next year.

The general fund finances the daily operations of state government while the building fund is earmarked for capital improvement projects. Both are supported by tax collections.

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann has said the building fund could be replenished when sufficient money flows into the treasury to sustain the state aid programs as well as major construction schedules.

The first payment of state assistance to local school districts will amount to $12.5 million this December. County and city governments will receive $10 million in January to compensate for the repeal of the state head, household goods and intangible property taxes.

Additionally, the governor's office said, $10 million to $12 million will be paid out next year from the general fund for income tax refunds.

Tiemann said reserves have been established within the general fund to assure accumulation of sufficient money to pay for the state aid and tax refund programs.

"During March $1 million was accumulated in the reserve for aid to public schools," he said in a statement. "During April an additional $2 million will be accumulated and $1 million in the reserve for aid to government subdivisions."

The money transfer and decision to set aside reserves leaves an operating fund account of approximately $9 million in the general fund, the governor said.

Normally, state expenditures average about $8.5 million a month.

Earlier this year Tiemann was concerned that sufficient money would flow into the general fund to operate state government and meet state aid commitments. He considered calling a special session of the legislature on the matter.

However, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer supplied a solution when he ruled that if a fiscal crisis develops, the state can issue warrants for government expenditures even though insufficient tax funds are on hand for immediate payment.

Meyer said the only requirement is that the warrants must be covered by a legislative appropriation which will eventually flow into the treasury from tax collections.

Recreation Roads Selected
The Nebraska Highway Department has announced construction will begin this summer on access roads to six major outdoor recreation areas.

The projects were selected from a list of 13 roads Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann told the department he wants developed over the next two years. They are, with estimated cost:

— Bellevue landing park site, half mile, $40,000.

— Havana recreation area in Buffalo County, 1.5 miles, $75,000.

— Lake Minature in Scotts Bluff County, three miles, $150,000.

— Johnson Reservoir in Gosper and Dawson counties, 2.4 miles, $130,000.

— Hugh Butler Lake in southwest Frontier County, 2.1 miles, $140,000.

— Branched Oak Lake near Raymond in Lancaster County, six miles, $200,000.

John Reed, state secondary road engineer, said funds are available to award contracts this spring. He said other work may be included later if finances permit.

Recreational roads are financed in Nebraska by federal, state and local funds. The state portion comes from a 50-cent motor vehicle registration fee and part of the cigarette tax.

GOP Chairman Favors Change
State Republican Chairman Lorraine Orr of North Platte says she favors a change in Nebraska's all-star presidential primary law to prohibit a candidate from removing his name.

Mrs. Orr said such a revision would provide for a more meaningful primary by offering Nebraska voters the widest possible choice of candidates.

The GOP chairman said she was disappointed Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's name will not appear on the ballot in the May 14 Nebraska election.

Rockefeller filed an affidavit removing his name from the contest. Similar action was taken by Gov. George Romney of Michigan after he bowed out of the Republican race.

The Nebraska law, enacted in 1963, provides the secretary of state has sole authority for entering nationally recognized or advocated candidates in the primary.

Meyer Says Counties Not Hit
Attorney General Clarence Meyer has concluded that Nebraska's 93 county governments are not affected by the U. S. Supreme Court expansion of the one-man, one-vote doctrine.

He said an 1879 state law requires equal population apportionment of county commissioner districts in Nebraska and that this statute has been upheld by the courts in the past.

Meyer had no comment on whether the court's decision to put local governments under the apportionment standard would affect other Nebraska subdivisions such as city, village and school board governments.

There also was no indication if the court decree would cover State Supreme Court districts, which have not been realigned since they were formed 50 years ago.

Market Report Continues
The U. S. Department of Agriculture has agreed to continue providing funds for the Nebraska Poultry and Egg Market Report until at least June 1.

Bill Jones, assistant state agriculture director, said the USDA acted after the Senate Appropriations Committee indicated an interest in the matter.

The Federal Government advised the state in February that funds would be shut off at the end of March.

The report is issued twice a week and gives a breakdown on egg and poultry prices in Nebraska. It is more current than the market reports from Chicago and Denver.

Patrolmen Learn To Read Fingerprints

Three officers from this area, County Sheriff Clarence Fox, State Patrolman Gerald Schmidt and City Policeman John Boettger attended a class in fingerprint reading at Kearney last week. Two FBI agents from the identification department were in charge, and demonstrated how prints could be read into a computer, sent to Washington, D. C., be identified and returned within 48 seconds.

There are now 33 states using such modern methods. Two weeks earlier fingerprint classification was studied, the group meeting in Grand Island. The local men felt the classes would be definitely helpful.

Need A Job?

Bess Clements Stacy of Palm Desert, Calif., died Sunday night, April 7, according to a phone call from her brother Wayne Clements of Boulder, Colo., who had gone west only a week before to visit Mrs. Stacy and other relatives. Bess was 85 at the time of death, would have been 88 on Aug. 2. She had been in good health until last week, when she got the flu.

Mrs. Clements was the daughter of District Judge and Mrs. E. P. Clements, born in Ord and living here until some 25 years ago. She married Milford Stacy, also of Ord, and to them were born Antoinette and Sam. Sam preceded his mother in death only a couple of years ago. Antoinette's home is in San Francisco, and last services await her decisions.

Also surviving are sisters, Miss Lena Clements with whom Bess made her home, and Mrs. Dorothy McBeth of Ontario, Calif., and brothers Wayne Clements and Edwin Clements also of Ontario. Another brother, Alan, died a number of years ago, and a sister, Zella, in infancy.

Bess was bookkeeper in the office of the Ord Quiz, when the newspaper plant was located on the south side of the square. In Palm Desert she retired recently from Palm Desert Magazine, part owner of that business, she never knew a stranger, keeping her youthful point of view through the years.

Ord relatives are Mrs. C. A. Anderson, Mrs. Eugene Leggett.

Stock Shipments Up Over Year Ago
Shipments of stocker and feeder livestock into Nebraska in February, totalling 102,900 head, were up 17 per cent over the same month a year ago, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Shipments into eight North Central states, including Nebraska, were up 13 per cent over a year ago. During the first two months of 1968, shipments were up six per cent from a year earlier, with shipments into Minnesota and Iowa offsetting decreases in the other states.

For at least 1/3 of your day, it's a nuisance.

Nobody spends all day near a kitchen phone. Or a hall phone. (Or wherever it is you have the ringing thing.)

We're guessing that at least 1/3 of the time, a one-phone family does cross-country running through the house or scrambles down some stairs to take the call. You can't call that modern living. In fact, 40% of the families in America aren't living like that.

They've got an extension phone somewhere else in the house.

That second telephone would cost a lot less than you probably think. Something like 4 cents a day if you choose the basic color and style.

(And that's a bargain—you already pay about four times that for the phone you've got now.)

Call our business office or ask the men on the telephone trucks you see around town.

Hello, extension telephone; goodbye, nuisance.

Something Different

A Switch From Ord

Customs are so different in Mexico. At 7 a.m. no one is up. Then a soft-voiced bell talks mildly. The big green parrot outside my door whistles at me.

The old night watchman, heavily muffled in a dingy black wool serape, wearing a broad brimmed hat while on his dirty bare feet are open leather sandals — also old, takes off after chatting. Years ago they say he used to walk the roofs of the posada, or inn, which stretches out first one way, then another, thus doing his nightly patrolling. Mostly he just sits in a chair in the lobby now.

Some stringent Mexican laws about firing employees make it too expensive to let him go. It would be costly.

The maids begin their soft, pleasant visiting as they work. By 9 a.m. guests begin to go to breakfast, some 1,000 yards away.

This last October the lake rose several feet, something new brought on by a month of violent rains. The water dissolved the 'dobe retaining wall, took out the long window wall of the large dining room and barroom. Bricks, glass and many plants had to be replaced, and they are still at it. The dock cannot be identified yet, it is underwater.

The sun begins to heat the mists off the lake, and the patio is sprinkled with would-be sun tanners busily oiling themselves.

There is a telephone here: it doesn't work. There is one in a grocery a block away. Sometimes it operates.

Cars make lots of racket here, and do not start readily. They say this is because the gasoline is often watered. Gas caps on gasoline tanks disappear almost every night. So do items left in cars, often.

But the young men and young women who work where I am staying never touch a thing, except to clean.

The maid for my room has a tiny son who plays around near here. I thought he'd be two but he is four years old, and dying to learn to read.

There is a fair library in Chapala, run by American volunteers. I am four or five miles from Chapala but it looks interesting. On Sundays all the people stroll and they love to hear the municipal band play on a big platform by the lake.

The dock is beside the band stand, and this is the center of fishing and boating activity. There are not many sailboats or motorboats, and there is that mysterious fear of going out on the lake in the afternoons.

Some people down here play bridge 24 hours a day. There are beautiful golf courses. There are some small, ordinary looking horses to ride.

There is a huge hot bath up the road a few miles. Natural hot water, even a small new geyser.

There are lovely little stores full of Mexican antiques, often hand carved, gilded.

One thing there doesn't seem to be — enough time to visit all these markets and villages.

then you've seen the point the ad-men have been missing. And one thing about farmers, they don't hold with piling money into a bank account. Everything works on a farm, and that includes money. It gets invested in something that is producing—land, equipment, or something that saves time or labor. If the money isn't working, what good is it?

The ad-men have been talking down to their country cousins a long time. Maybe that fancy-talking marketing consultant will get the national ad-men out into the countryside to talk with some of their readers.

Geranium Joe

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Most of the fellers at the country store Saturday night reported they were getting a little disturbed over what the newspapers were calling this "consumerism" wave that was sweeping the country, special the way the Government was trying to tell the manufacturers what the "consumer" needed.

What brings this item up was Judge Dye reporting he had saw where the Food and Drug Administration had made a new recommendation over the amount of peanuts that had to be put in peanut butter. Rollin claimed this piece said they had been holding hearings now for 8 year on the peanut butter matter and he figured it had give jobs to 500 people and cost the taxpayers a million dollars, and if the jobs and money held out, we might have this peanut butter crisis going on until the turn of the next century.

The manufacturers was claiming, Rollin reported, that they was putting some vegetable oil and such things in peanut butter so's it would keep longer and spread better and that was what the people wanted. But the Government says it ain't what the people wants but what is good for 'em that was their interest in the matter.

Emanuel Sedlacek was of the opinion the Government claimed they was protecting the people when they wasn't doing nothing but protecting and prolonging their jobs.

Bob Anderson of the Great Society was disagreed, said it showed our Government cared about us and was looking after the consumer. He said it had took the U.S. Department of Agriculture 7 year to come to an agreement with the manufacturers on how much chicken had ought to be put in canned chicken soup, and peanut butter was a little more complicated and natural was taking more time.

Furthermore, allowed Bob, the Government's protection of the consumer was moving into many fields that was bad in need of it. For instans, he said he had saw where they was now 169 different perfumes on the market, all claiming to smell different. Bob said they ain't that many different kinds of smells in the world and the consumers was getting smell-washed.

Rollin butted in to say, first off, folks didn't "consume" perfume and the Government didn't need to hold no 8-year hearings on the matter. Furthermore, he allowed, a heap of them new smells was being manufactured for the men folks and if a man wanted to smell like a mustard plaster soaked in honey, it wasn't none of the Government's business. Personal, Mister Editor, all I got out of the session was that pritty soon people ain't going to smell like people.

Yours truly, Geranium Joe

TRAVEL TAX: The House approved last week a travel tax on foreign travel. The legislation, as it passed the House, provided for the following: a 5% tax on all foreign air travel; a reduction from $100 per person to $10 per person on the amount of goods which an American citizen may bring back to this country duty free; the present mailed gift exemption now $10, is reduced to $1; the rate of duty on items brought back by tourists will be 10% of the fair retail value, provided the wholesale value does not exceed $500. This legislation it is estimated will improve our balance of payments by $140 million a year.

We have been paying a 5% tax on all domestic airline tickets for some time, but there was no tax on overseas travel. Consequently, this section of the bill simply makes the tax the same as on domestic travel.

I supported the legislation.

VIETNAM: President Johnson's courageous statement on removing himself from the political arena overshadowed the main thrust of his speech, which was de-escalation of the war in Vietnam.

On Sunday evening when I listened to President Johnson's speech, I was greatly impressed by the orders which he had issued to both our Air Force and our Navy in Vietnam. He stated that he had ordered the Air Force to cease bombings of North Vietnam, except for a small area north of the demilitarized zone which would leave free of bombing attacks 90% of the people of North Vietnam, and the Navy was ordered to cease shelling North Vietnam.

It was strange, however, that within 24 hours, headlines proclaimed that 65,000 reservists would be called up for active duty. It was further brought out by the press that heavy bombing raids had been made 250 miles north of the demilitarized zone. Consequently, the impression which I received from President Johnson's speech on Sunday evening, evidently, was erroneous as to the actual amount of de-escalation of bombing.

Every American hopes that this action will result in a peaceful solution to the war. As this report is being written, a news flash has just come across the wire that Hanoi is willing to open preliminary talks.

CODE OF ETHICS: The House last week passed a code of ethics for Members and employees of the House. You will recall that I wrote in my report over a year ago about this matter, and the need for establishing a code of ethics for the Congress. In January last year, I introduced a resolution setting up such a committee.

This was done, and the very fine report of the committee was approved in our Rules Committee and on the floor of the House last week. Thus, for the first time in history, both the House and the Senate now are operating under a code of ethics which requires disclosure of outside income, and details the fundamental and strict rules under which House Members must conduct themselves. I heartily approve of this legislation.

Every American hopes that this action will result in a peaceful solution to the war. As this report is being written, a news flash has just come across the wire that Hanoi is willing to open preliminary talks.

CODE OF ETHICS: The House last week passed a code of ethics for Members and employees of the House. You will recall that I wrote in my report over a year ago about this matter, and the need for establishing a code of ethics for the Congress. In January last year, I introduced a resolution setting up such a committee.

This was done, and the very fine report of the committee was approved in our Rules Committee and on the floor of the House last week. Thus, for the first time in history, both the House and the Senate now are operating under a code of ethics which requires disclosure of outside income, and details the fundamental and strict rules under which House Members must conduct themselves. I heartily approve of this legislation.

KERRY ON

—which king— In due respect to the slain Dr. Martin Luther King, I'm somewhat astonished at the reaction of our nation to the death of an individual.

Many have probably experienced the same mixed emotions that I've felt over the past week. No one — if they're human — likes to see a fellow man fall to an assassin's bullet.

On the other hand, people die daily and the nation does not mourn their loss as they have this civil rights worker. True — he was a great leader. But no more a leader, in my opinion, than the man that lost his life in Vietnam defending his brothers — both colored and white.

Why — I find myself wondering — is one man made a martyr when thousands of our American boys are dying each week, defending the BASIC FREEDOMS for all colors, races and creeds in this great nation of ours? Why? I don't understand it!

I feel my own brethren among the news media are possibly the worst offenders in eulogizing the individual. It is my personal opinion that this man would NOT have wanted the publicity that has been filling the air and the front pages throughout the nation.

King himself believed in individual freedoms. In a speech in New York City the civil rights leader once proclaimed, "I'm not a consensus leader. I don't determine my position by polls nor what is safe for police or popular, but by what is right."

Out Of Old Nebraska

Tracing The Oregon And Mormon Trails

The movement of thousands of people across the Great Plains in the decades between 1840 and 1870 is of enduring interest. The Nebraska State Historical Society has a great deal of information on the subject, including diaries and journals of pioneers.

There is a confusion over the names of various trails. The fact that several trails ran in the same general vicinity compounds the difficulty. However, historians have found that using one set of names is most useful in differentiating the various trails across Nebraska.

The Oregon Trail is the best known. This trail was known by several names, including the Gold Rush Trail, the California Trail, the Overland Trail and the Pony Express Trail, but these names all refer to the same general route through the state.

West of Nebraska, in Wyoming and Utah, the trail split, one branch going northwest to Oregon and Washington, the other branch going southwest to California.

The Nebraska part of this trail is generally known to historians as the Oregon Trail because it was first used to route Oregon. It began in Independence, Missouri on the south bank of the Missouri River. From there it cut across the northeast corner of Kansas and entered Nebraska at about the point where the Kearney, Gage and Jefferson counties meet the Nebraska-Kansas border.

From there, the trail followed the Little Blue River northwest to Fort Kearney. From the Fort, it ran along the south side of the Platte River. At the forks of the Platte, the trail followed the

During the past week we have seen both the news media and politicians determining their position "by what is safe or politic or popular." This is NOT what the man to whom they are paying tribute believed in his own mind!

Most disheartening of all — I believe — is that local ministers would organize in a memorial service on the local level. If they wish to pay tribute to this man, they can do as they teach others and pay silent homage without public display. I'm quite sure that the God they preach about will hear them as loudly individually as He will through a mass demonstration.

It is my contention that the slain civil rights leader WOULD NOT HAVE WANTED THE PUBLIC DISPLAY that has been shown this week.

King did not place any life above that of another individual — in all he said and wrote. Any life . . . that is . . . EXCEPT the leader whose teachings he followed.

When King's leader died on The Cross so many years ago, demonstrating human love in trust form — THAT WAS THE ONLY PUBLIC SACRIFICE NECESSARY.

Have the leaders of our country and religious denominations lost sight of the meaning of Easter? I wonder!

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation...

"Religion? How square!"

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs. Does that mean you have to? Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values. So is religion.

And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life. Don't knock it. Join it. Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

Rewarded After 60 Faithful Years

Ord has a most unusual man, now 83, who has just been honored for 60 years in the Rexall pharmacy organization and given a plaque to commemorate this. Edward Beranek also has now spent 60 years as a store owner in Ord. And he has spent 65 years as a registered pharmacist, the first five in Omaha.

Young Ed Beranek came to Ord from Omaha to spend a few spring days in 1903, and was saving a $10 gold piece to use to pay his fare back to Omaha, when a druggist then operating on the south side of Ord's square asked him if he'd like to buy a drug store. To which our poor young hero replied he certainly would but that he had only the $10 gold piece and must save this to use to get back to his job in Omaha.

Feuding Druggist
But it seems that the druggist had battled furiously with his wife the night before. They had thrown furniture into the street 20 feet below their home, (now owned by Mrs. Pocock), and the arguing argument had burned him to a crisp. He was ready to leave, and he offered to let the youthful Beranek buy the place for very little and the $10 down. This was a proposition that Ed could not turn down and so he became an Ord citizen and drug store operator. Two hours later the irate husband left, never to return.

The town grew, the drug store prospered and in 1913 Ed was able to build a new store. But in 1919 the store burned down, so he promptly rebuilt in the same location the store still occupies on the west side of the Ord square.

In 1920, years ahead of his time, Mr. Beranek conceived the idea of installing a fine marble soda fountain in his basement. Flooding the big room with marble and fixing it up really swanky. At one end he planned a place for dancing and the lively young people of that day took full advantage of the opportunity. "Ed's Inn" was quite a pretty, cozy hideout for high school youth. The handsome sodas, the mirrors and the graceful palms all helped make it attractive.

But in 1926 it was abandoned and the stairway closed off at the top.

High Scorers

Please to advise that the Federal Aviation Agency under the federal aid to airports program for fiscal year 1969 has made a grant to the City of Ord for work at the Municipal airport. Grant is for $64,300 and work will consist of clear zones, construction of NW SE runway 3900 x 50 ft., taxiway marking and obstruction removal. Federal funds are to be matched by local funds, says Congressman Dave Martin.

Ord Junior Class To Present Three Act Comedy Friday Eve

Drama students of the Ord High School junior class, under the direction of Jerry Walsh are finishing up last minute details this week for the showing, Friday, April 26, of the junior class play, "The Cannibal Queen."

Playing the leads in the three-act comedy are Dick Janda as Bruce Clyde, Floyd Maresh as Allen Kent and Darlyn Novosad as Brenda Day. Also giving their fair share of assistance are Pat Murphy, Ellen Daley, Bill Van Zandt, Susan Bennett, Marlene Urbanski, Tom Frazer, Janis Koelling, Chris Bishop and Ron Bredthauer. Rowena Wajda portrays the part of Ju Ju the real Cannibal Queen.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. in the Ord High School auditorium, when a lively play is promised.

Consider Ronald

Ord has a chance to back up a home town product when the election rolls around May 14, in the person of Ron Romans.

Ron is a quiet, competent young man who wants to be a delegate at large to the Republican National Convention in August. He was born and reared in Ord, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Romans, but he also has other qualifications.

He served two terms as Young Republican club chairman. He has been a member of the National Young Republican executive committee. He did an excellent job as chairman for the 1967 Young Republican convention in Omaha a last year. Elder heads in the party advised him against this and that, obviously afraid the convention would end up with a fat deficit; it didn't. To the contrary the UR's MADE several hundreds of dollars, which some of the elders would now like to dispose of but the UR's can't quite see this.

And Ron was an alternate delegate to the 1964 Republican National convention, so he's aware how to operate. Hard working, politically informed, both he and his wife Jackie (Jablonski) are firm Republicans. She too is a local graduate with many friends. When you vote, remember Ron.

Moisture Welcome Froses Cursed

The weather took the spotlight and kept it this week, first producing light snow and soaking rain worth millions of dollars to farmers who had feared they were dried out, though it was so early in the season. Everyone rejoiced at the moisture.

The worst wind storms Ord has had in years, tore through this area during the past week. Anything that wasn't cemented down whirled away.

LVUCC Meeting

The United Loup Valley Chamber of Commerce met Thursday, April 18, at North Loup, for their monthly meeting, and were hosted by members and wives of the North Loup Lions Club. After a steak dinner served by the Legion Auxiliary, the group moved to the Community building for their program. Post Office Inspector Humbull from Omaha spoke on pornography in the U.S. About 45 people were served dinner with others joining for the program.

Happy Concert Band Wins Superior Rating

Eric Johnson and young members of his concert band were jubilant Saturday when judges awarded the Ord group a superior rating. This was one of only three superior ratings given though 13 bands competed.

Also contesting at Grand Island were three young soloists from Ord who won ratings of superior. They were Larry Rathbun on French horn, Janice Koelling on tenor saxophone, Sonya Swaneck with her baritone saxophone.

Monday Mr. Johnson was still happy about the Ord showing, calling it "the roughest competition I've seen" and repeating the remark of one of the judges: "This is one of the finest concert bands of the day." As Ord tried out against Grand Island and other big schools, Ord should appreciate that it was quite an honor that they brought home.

Largest Membership After Consolidation

The United Methodist will become the biggest church in the United States this week, as the consolidation business is taken care of in Dallas at a joint meeting of the Evangelical United Brethren and the Methodist Episcopal congregations which will become one. It is estimated there will be 153,000 members.

No local people were delegates, but four went from Nebraska to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Mary Rutar in the Pink

She Is Living Proof Of Value Of Giving Blood To Red Cross

Mrs. Stanley (Mary) Rutar knows the value of Red Cross blood, for she owes her life to blood that she was given in St. Petersburg, Fla. this winter.

On the morning of Dec. 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Rutar were vacationing in the south when she awoke feeling very ill. After lying in a coma for three days it took her four weeks in the hospital to recover, and she feels she owes her life to the blood she was given.

Since Mrs. Rutar was carrying her Red Cross blood donor card, her type of blood could be known immediately and this knowledge may well have been critical. Mrs. Rutar had given blood in Ord many times, and because Valley county belongs to the Red Cross blood program, anyone from this county may receive Red Cross blood when it is needed, any place in the United States.

The bloodmobile makes three stops each year in Valley county, and the quota here has always been met, a record many communities cannot boast. New donors are needed for the bloodmobile visit on Tuesday, April 30th, says Chairman Gladys Weckbach.

As usual arrangements have been made to use the basement of the Methodist church, and the quota is 110 pints this time, the hours 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. that day.

American Legion Plans Gala Affair At Ord Veterans Club

The Ord Post of the American Legion is planning a fiftieth anniversary observance of the organization's beginning. Although the actual birthday of the organization is not until September of this year, the Ord Post will hold its celebration in conjunction with the awarding of 50-year membership pins which seven members of the Ord Post will receive on Tuesday, May 7. This will be the first such observance in the state. Posts throughout Nebraska will be celebrating the golden anniversary of the American Legion later this year.

The event in Ord will be highlighted by a banquet and dance in the lower level of the Veterans Club beginning with a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. followed by the banquet at 7 p.m. Special guests will include State Commander Bob Lowry and members of his staff, plus other notable dignitaries. There will also be a presentation of membership pins to some 25 other members of the Ord Post with long membership records.

Anyone interested in attending may obtain advance tickets from the following American Legion members: Emil John, George Kruml, Lloyd Zikmund, Frank Fichte, Joe Cetak, Syl Furtak, Maynard Collier or Gerald John.

Pretty Dairy Miss Sought For Crowning

Where's that Dairy Princess? Again the American Dairy Association of Nebraska is asking this question and wants entries submitted by May 15th, says Manager Sam Lewis.

The contest will be held in David City on Thursday, June 6, with the David City Chamber of Commerce assisting the Dairy association.

The young miss must be between 16 and 25 years of age, never married, a high school graduate by the end of this term.

The entrant must have a dairy farm background and she or her parents must be presently cooperating with the American Dairy program.

The candidates will be judged on beauty, education, personality, background, ability to meet the public. They may enter without a sponsor. Entry blanks and further information may be obtained from the American Dairy Association, 310 Fifth Street, Fairbury, Nebr. 68352.

The winning Nebraska miss is given $200, a wardrobe allowance, an all-expense jet flight to Chicago in June of 1969, a set of matched luggage and other gifts. Winner of the national contest receives a cash scholarship of $2,000 among other things.

Is There Interest In Nursing Home Here?

Local people interested in a nursing home for Ord produce some statistics that are eye-openers, like, did you know that in 1950 there were 871 persons 65 years and over in Valley county, a figure which mounted to 1,061 by 1965? An increase of 21.8% they point out in red ink, appropriately.

In 1960 21.4% of Ord's population were 65 and over. And in that year Nebraska was third in states with the largest percentage of population 65 and over; Iowa was first, Missouri was second.

This 65 and over population is increasing in number by 800 persons per day. And 75% of this increase (not in institutions) have one or more chronic conditions. Ofttimes this is a chronic condition that limits their usual activity.

The average life expectancy is now almost 70 years, in fact is 73 plus for women. These are some of the reasons for activity concerning building a nursing home in Ord, writes Merle Merchant.

Well-Known Author Talks Here Thursday

Paul Scott, noted author of several books and of the Scott-Allen reports, well known as a Washington columnist and lecturer, a Democrat but a conservative one, will talk at St. Mary's auditorium at 8 p.m. Thursday evening, April 25 in Ord.

An intelligent observer who does not puff his punches, he is expected to draw a big crowd. Tickets cost $1, may be bought from Beranek Drug or Beran Hardware.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKenny and family of O'Neill were Sunday afternoon guests in the Kerry Leggett home.

John Schade, new county agent

County Agent Schade Is Welcomed to Ord

Valley county's new county agent has arrived here and settled on a farmstead, the former Emil Barta farm east of Ord.

Furthermore John Schade (pronounced "shoddy") and his family have taken up membership in St. John's Lutheran church, where he, his wife Diane, and children Jonette who is 12, Joan who is 10, and twins Jan and Jane who are 5, will attend.

Mr. Schade was raised on a general livestock farm in Madison county he says, and graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1953 with a bachelor's degree in vocational agriculture. He taught vocational agriculture for 10 years in that office is particularly welcome to our community.

ed the O. A. Cooper company of Humboldt.

He has just completed a month's refresher training course at Burwell. The family arrived here three weeks ago.

His hobbies are fishing, hunting and gardening.

Mrs. Schade grew up in Columbus, attended college in Colorado Springs at Colorado College, then later at the University of Nebraska. Her hobbies are reading, arts and crafts and sewing.

Ord has been without a county extension agent since Bob Voboril moved to Columbus recently, so a new man in that office is particularly welcome to our community.

Register Your Youngster Now For Kindergarten

Kiddies looking forward to going to school next year must register on Friday, May 3, states Principal Decker of the Ord Elementary school.

This is a law in Nebraska; children who are five years old on or before October 15 are eligible to enroll in kindergarten. Parents should bring with them the child's health record, and also a birth certificate. Registration will be held in the kindergarten room.

Constock registration is from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. at the Constock school. You are encouraged to bring the child with you to see the room and meet Mrs. Drake, the teacher.

In Ord registration is from 8:20 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:40 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Ord grade school. Again, you are urged to bring your child with you to see the room and to meet the teachers, Miss King and her assistant, Mrs. Bake.

Before starting school in the fall the school authorities strongly suggest that your child be inoculated for diphtheria, tetanus, small pox, first polio shot measles vaccine, whooping cough.

If you have other questions, Mr. Decker asks you to phone him at 728-3331 in Ord or 622-2962 in Constock.

The county commissioners will hold a hearing May 21 at 11 a.m. at the regular meeting place of the board, the courthouse in Ord.

Valley county has been asked to approve the Central Nebraska Community Action program, Inc., for the community action agency for Valley county.

The planned program given by Mrs. Syl Furtak concerned the American Flag.

Practical Clothes In Style Show

A gay, colorful event of next Tuesday will be the style show to be given by about 100 girls of the Home Economics department who want you to come and see what they've made in the way of dresses. All of the garments have been made during the school year and will be modeled.

The theme is "Psychedelic Colors" for these girls are strictly in-today.

There will be no judging. "I feel each girl competes with herself," says Mrs. Phyllis Garnick, their teacher.

Louisa Axelholm is chairman for the event, which is scheduled for Tuesday, April 30, at 8 p.m. in the big gym. There is no admission charge.

The sewing course is mandatory in the eighth grade. Ninth grade girls may skip it if they like, but must take dress-making in the ninth grade if they wish to take the more advanced courses, declares Mrs. Garnick.

In the advanced clothing classes the girls have produced clothing that is for school, for dressing, even for formal events, all of it bright, wearable, fashionable. Most of the show will be girls from these classes.

But also there will be costumes made by eighth graders that you'll want to see.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

A dominated wife is a happy one! Whether you believe this statement—or whether you do not, many men and women of the press had a chance to hear the "arguments" given by Mrs. Coleen McCollum at the recent Press convention.

Oh yes, many of the men visited with her prior to the noon luncheon that Friday. They admired her attractiveness and warm personality—and were sure they would like what she had to say. Meanwhile, there were several of the female clan who entered that huge luncheon room with mixed emotions (after all, this business of a "dominated wife is a happy one" sounded like quite a lot to swallow at once).

The vivacious red-headed woman from West Point, Mo., said in her talk that day "I believe that women should be subservient to men. Find me a woman who is dominated by a strong intelligent man and I will show you the happiest woman on the block. Find me a woman who dominates her man and I will show you a shrew who is aging before her time."

She reminded the audience, too, that "European women are taught at an early age that they must make a man the center of their lives, that a man's masculinity is his ego, and that love and communication are important in the giving of oneself to a man. The women are taught that their main function is to please a man."

She continued by putting her female listeners straight on another thing. "An American woman on the other hand, tend to pick up the idea of giving themselves in exchange for something—rather than because they are women who want to please their man."

She advised that it is important to build your love and life around your man. And it's important to be yourself, too. She suggested that women read at least one good newspaper through from cover to cover every day. Read at least one good novel a month. Give yourself 20 minutes for peace and quiet each day if you have to lock the children in the closet to do it. She named LOVE, ENTHUSIASM and COMMUNICATION as the three most important short cuts to real beauty.

By this stage of the game, it was obvious that the men had the idea Mrs. McCollum was pitching her talk strictly to the female audience, but she surprised them! Without warning she proceeded to tell the men what their role in life was all about, reminding them that love, consideration to their wife and family should not be passed off lightly.

It was hard to tell if the ladies enjoyed Coleen's talk more than the men. When she began I think the men were enjoying it more but when she ended the women had mighty pleased looks about them!

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Sich should not go uncomplimented for gaining the award in one week bringing the count up to five... all grandsons: Daniel John joined the Dean Sich family of Wilcox on April 9 and Brian Patrick was born, April 12, to the Emanuel Siches. So I say, best wishes to the little lads and to their families.

It's no wonder a dessert as delicious as Ambrosia is sometimes called Food for the Gods. This easy-to-put-together one calls for the following: Segment three grapefruit and two oranges. Add one pound marshmallows cut in quarters, 2 T lemon juice, 1 c. marshmallows or canned cherries, mix lightly. Place in serving bowl, sprinkle 1/2 c. shredded coconut on top; chill. Serve in sherbert glasses with or without whipped cream. Pineapple, bananas, or other fruit may be added; coconut may be omitted. Should be made the day before.

Auxiliary Holds Business Meeting

A concerned group of Hospital Auxiliary women met at Valley County Community Hospital Tuesday morning to confer with Administrator MacKinnon about needs and problems.

Mr. MacKinnon thanked the women for their work and told how valuable this help is to the hospital and the patients in particular.

Among other remarks, he said he hoped to see a library cart in operation soon, with committees with the Ord Library. This would be a real comfort to some of the long term care patients, he declared.

Mrs. Verla Fox, supervisor of nurses, told the listeners that more help is needed at noons, in particular. She suggested the Auxiliary ladies could distribute mail to patients, help them read it and answer it, for example.

Several new helpers were recruited, Mrs. Dean Bresley, president of the Auxiliary said. They are Mrs. Fred Veskerne, Mrs. Jim Hansen, Mrs. Bill Janda who will ask the extension club members to join her in helping, and Mrs. Rudy Kokes, wife of our senator.

CARGILL 422

An Outstanding 3-Way Cross

"Stands Good, High Yield"

Said Dean Gross of Ord, Nebr.

Gross compared many varieties in his fields before selecting Cargill 422 as his favorite. He likes 422 because of the consistently high yield and the way 422 stands good for easy harvesting. Best and driest corn he had this year, made over 185 bushel per acre.

Lloyd Muller of Grand Island, Nebr. — 422 made 180 bushel to the acre with 18% moisture.

Don Papiernik, of Ord, Nebr. says — 422 best and driest corn, made over 140 bushel. Combined excellent.

Jack Langford

Jack Langford Speaks To G.O.P.

Jack Langford talked like a real conservative Saturday evening when addressing Republicans at the Odd Fellows hall. The G. O. P., said he, should stick to its guns and sell its basic philosophy to other voters. Conservatives have a good program and should not adjust it to gain more adherents.

Answering questions, Mr. Langford declared "We are going to attack the problem in North Korea the same way we attack violence at home; we're going to buy ourselves out of it."

The candidate for the Third District seat now held by Congressman Dave Martin declared he didn't know a lot about farm problems, but it was his conviction that there was entirely too much government meddling done in agriculture.

When the navy veteran was asked if he thought the men of the captured Pueblo were still alive, he answered "Yes. But I think they're awfully disappointed men."

and Agnes and a friend all of Grand Island were Saturday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nagorski and family.

Dick and Karen Bruha, children of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Bruha were Tuesday afternoon school visitors of their aunt and uncle, the Lumir Bruha family.

Eight from the North Loup Seventh Day Baptist church attended ordination services for Rev. Wayne Babcock at Dodge Center, Minn. last weekend.

Formerly of North Loup, where he and his family were well-known in several businesses, including the Babcock Produce, a chiropractor, in furniture, home and farming, at various times, the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Babcock were consecrated to the Seventh Day Baptist ministry, at special services in Minnesota, where he served the past year as pastor. Youth Rally At Scotia Big Success, 175 Attend

The Fish Creek E.U.B. church hosted a successful Youth Rally April 21st with the E.U.B. and Methodist youth of the area participating. The theme of the rally was "The Anatomy of a Church". Registration and a mixer game began at 2:30 p.m. with the host church in charge. Opening devotions were led by the Elba and Cotesfield E.U.B. youth. The Mira Valley E.U.B. youth presented "One Arm of the Church". "The Heart of the Church" was presented by the Grand Island E.U.B. youth with Rev. Melvin Koelling acting as master of ceremonies. Because of the very strong wind, the youth stayed in the sanctuary and word games were enjoyed by all. At 5:15 the host church served a delicious supper in the church basement. Following the supper, "The Singing Church" was held with Rev. Earl Higgins and Rev. Bruno of the Mira Valley E.U.B. and Greeley Methodist leading. This consisted of a Talent Hour with vocal solos and group singing, pantomimes, skits, and instrumental solos. At 7 p.m. the group convened for the evening service. The North Loup-Scotia Methodist Youth then presented, "The Other Arm of the Church" which was the heritage and historical background of the Methodist church. Rev. Earl Higgins gave the benediction. The rally challenged each present to be a true Christian witness and that the new denomination, "The United Methodist Church" will only be as strong as we, the youth, are strong in our Christian faith. This week, the two denominations are meeting in Dallas, Tex. and we will then be known as, "The United Methodist Church". Represented were the Grand Island, Elba, Cotesfield, Mira Valley, and Scotia E.U.B. and from the Grand Island, St. Paul, Fairdale, Wolbach, Greeley, Wolbach, Greeley, Ericson, North Loup and Scotia Methodist churches. Senator and Mrs. Rudolf Kokes were Sunday evening visitors in the Simon Walkowick home.

Sunday he left for Lincoln, still feeling lucky not to have been hurt.

Exhibit In Lincoln Holds Four Entries From Ord Students

The productions of four young Valley County artists were among the 250 pictures chosen from several thousand to be hung at the annual Elementary School art exhibit held this month — April 24-25 — at the Miller and Paine Store in Lincoln. Three of the four selected from here came from the fourth grade room of Inez Eberhart. These are "Wild Asters of Nebraska" by Charlene Sonnenfeldt; "Zinnias" by Mary Wagner and "I Climbed The Tower at Halsey" by Craig Clement. The fourth picture was the work of Harold Kokes, an eighth grader in the Ord junior high department. All pictures chosen will go on tour later.

Law Day Observed

Law Day will be observed nationally and in Ord on May 1, the Nebraska State Bar Association feeling that this year more than others, the importance of a lawful society needs pointing out. "Only a lawful society can build a better society," avers Paul Kubitschek, who is in charge of local marking of Law Day. "Nationally our spirit is depressed by social unrest and widespread disrespect for law and order. We must emphasize the difference between the rule of law in the United States and the rule of force and fear under totalitarian governments." "Determine to preserve individual freedom under law, whatever other differences you feel," Mr. Kubitschek, Rev. John Nordgaard and Kerry Leggett will say a few words to students at the high school Wednesday, May 1 at about 9:10 a.m. "It will be brief," they say.

Nebraska Primary Billed As All-Star Production; Who Will Have Lead Role?

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Association

It's billed as an all-star production, but there seems to be an argument as to who will have the leading role.
As it is, even Hollywood's Ronald Reagan appears to favor his old Death Valley Days to a bit part in the Nebraska Presidential Primary.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller wants none of it. He is more blunt, however. "It's Nixon country," he says in offering his thanks but no thanks. And therein lies the rub.
Who can beat former vice-president Richard Nixon in Nebraska's May 14 Primary? At this writing, it appears no one can even come close.

Among the candidates who haven't given up before the battle is former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen. He has paid one visit to the state since announcing his candidacy. The result was a sparse turnout of students who had little idea how popular the Minnesotan was when their parents were giving their votes here many years ago.

(Stassen won presidential primary victories in Nebraska in 1944 and 1948 but finished third behind Robert A. Taft and Dwight Eisenhower in 1952).
And there is American Liberator. Active as ever. With his cowboy suit and handlebar mustache, the retired Valentine ranch hand has to rank as one of the more colorful candidates in the country. He entered the race by petition.

While the Republican ticket is plagued with dropouts, the shyness isn't so apparent on the Democratic side. And — though he has dropped out — President Johnson's name still will appear on the ballot. He didn't make the printer's deadline.

Conversely, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey can't have his name on the ballot even if he should announce as a candidate.
On the Democratic side, New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is the favorite to date. Although he has visited briefly in the state, one appearance produced a near-mob reaction at the University of Nebraska.

Democratic state leaders — from party chairman John C. Mitchell to former Gov. Frank B. Morrison — were caught off guard by the president's decision not to seek re-nomination. All had given him their unqualified support. They are not eager to go out on the limb again.
All were waiting for a sign from Humphrey or a word from the president.

In a tight spot was Morrison, the former three-term governor, who identified himself as a strong Kennedy Democrat during the administration of the late John F. Kennedy. Kennedy books and other mementoes were on display on Morrison's Statehouse desk. When Johnson ascended to the presidency, Morrison gave him his undivided loyalty. The ex-governor was visibly shaken when Johnson rejected a bid for re-election.

Twenty-two candidates for delegates to the Republican National Convention are committed to Nixon in the Cornhusker State. Reagan has 10 commitments and Rockefeller two. Forty-eight candidates are uncommitted going into the primary.

On the Democratic slate, 42 delegates are committed to President Johnson. 31 to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota and one to Kennedy. Twenty-nine are uncommitted.

The GOP will elect 10 at-large delegates and two from each of the state's three congressional districts for a total of 16. Democrats will elect 22 at-large delegates and two from each of the districts for a total of 24.

The candidate commitments in themselves are misleading. Under Nebraska law the delegates must vote for their candidate on the first two ballots, unless he receives less than 35 percent of the vote on the first ballot or unless released by the candidate.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh has said he will leave the interpretation of the law up to the party conventions, and they can determine just when a delegate can be released by his candidate.

Tiemann Says Plans Still Indefinite
Governor Tiemann says he has made no decision yet on whether to seek a second term, run for another public office or retire from politics in 1970.

"I'm far too busy on the programs now being implemented and on working on new legislation to be thinking about my political future," the governor said.

Dr. Clayton Youtter, Tiemann's executive assistant, had been quoted earlier as telling a Columbus audience he felt sure Tiemann would get out of politics.

But Youtter said his statements were not carried in full. He said he had qualified his remarks by saying he really had no idea what Tiemann had in mind at this stage.

"I have made no decision," the governor said.
"I most certainly don't want to be thinking in terms of what's going to happen at the next election if I should decide to run for a second term and let that color my judgment on some hard decisions that have to be made yet this term."

Major Law Tests Scheduled
The State Supreme Court has scheduled oral arguments May 9 on the constitutionality of two major laws enacted by the 1967 legislature.

The laws establish a State Clean Waters Commission to issue revenue bonds to help cities finance sewage treatment projects, and allow the Nebraska Game Commission to incur bonded debt of $2.5 million for a new building.

Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer is challenging the measures directly in the supreme court. He contends they violate the state's long-standing constitutional prohibition against debt beyond $100,000.

Governor Tiemann's office, with the assistance of outside legal help, is defending the laws.

Education Legislation Outlined
Legislation to establish a state higher education coordinating council has been drawn and submitted to Nebraska educators for review.

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln, chairman of the Legislature's Higher Education Study Committee, said the practical effect would be to give the unit authority over the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, the State Normal Board and public junior college boards.

Mark Bresley was a Friday overnight guest of John Krick in the Don Krick home at Kearney.

Governor Norbert Tiemann officially proclaimed May as beef month for Nebraska and urged Nebraskans to support the livestock and meat industry of the state by eating more beef.

Significant, the Governor emphasized, is the increasing popularity of beef. This was indicated by a rise from 85.2 pounds consumed per capita in 1960 to 105.3 pounds in 1967.

Washday Troubles

Very little swimming is done in Lake Chapala — it is too cold, deep, gray, forbidding.

But on Sundays you might know brave small boys strip down to their white undershorts and plunge in. They wade and play after the fun pattern of boys everywhere. Not many girls venture in.

One lad swam in just his jersey top. It was really a bit skimpy but no one minded.

oOo

Sunday is also horse-washing day, when they lead their rather small, dusty horses into the lake.

I was amused to see one Mexican using his broad white straw hat to rinse his horse. He did a thorough job of getting the lather off.

Then he shook the hat a few times, put it on, mounted his horse and rode away!

These wide brimmed hats are good umbrellas for a rainy day, too. They are good sunshades also.

oOo

Mexico has many good ideas.

For one thing their highway service. They operate green trucks on their highways to help the public, free of charge. On one trip we drove over a fallen rock and knocked a hole in the metal cover of some vital part. A weird noise halted us at once.

In less than five minutes up came the government's green service truck, three men popped out, took charge, sent us spinning along in a half hour. These trucks carry a variety of parts, gas, oil, etc., which are for sale. Otherwise no charge. Services are free, and the men are competent mechanics too. A good way to make friends!

oOo

Driving is hazardous on narrow Mexican black-topped roads, because — there are so many cute little burros, so many free-wandering cattle, so many children and dogs playing, so many pedestrians carrying loads, riding bicycles or horses.

I've never seen so many bicycle riders — and they're riding hard-fired bikes, too.

Nor have I ever seen so many buses operating; there must be five or six in every city block, and usually they are crumpled full.

oOo

Mexicans have a passion for wearing white, and the white they wear is bright and sparkling, so laundry is a big problem in this country.

Their way of doing washing is on the rocks by a stream. They pound it and rub it and scrub it, then lay it on bushes, fences, trees or the rocks until it is dry.

If you won't let them pound it on the rocks as they prefer, then they use a washboard, with a rock in hand to scour with. This method puts holes in your clothes speedily!

If you insist "No Rocks," they use Chlorox or a similar bleach and do they pour it in freely! So — you still get holes!

oOo

Americans in Mexico argue and argue but washing continues to be a problem.

In Mexico City the wife of the pastor of the handsome new community church out in San Angel Colonia wants to leave Mexico. She has several children and the washday problem has her in tears. She has tried every solution, she says. Last time, the family washing machine had to go to the repair shop, and that was months ago. No matter how they argue, no washing machine.

They think the repair man sold it.

Kathleen Sibley told a similar tale of woe, but she was able to laugh and forget it.

Their washing machine went to the repair man.

He assured them it was being fixed, it was fixed, it would be home soon. But, it never arrived.

So there went 70,000 pesos of washing machine. "We decided to write it off and forget it," said the former Kathleen Clements, laughing.

But she too had a family and had experienced the problems of hand washing, a headache in Mexico to visitors.

— Irma

company and went to work on his idea. A leading oil company saw merit in it and agreed to let him handle its tourist maps as an experiment.

Gradually, the young man proved his idea to be sound. He proved that losses to oil companies on road maps could be sharply reduced. These losses are no small matter. A single company has spent $1 million a year putting out 20 to 30 million maps, and it is estimated that the total bill for all road maps is about $12 million a year.

As the young man's idea grew, more capital was needed than he could provide. The oil company that experimented with him bought out his company and made him vice president and general manager of the new subsidiary. A good idea and hard work will remain the recipe for success so long as we retain that vital leavening ingredient, freedom of opportunity.

Those Subsidies

Collecting agricultural subsidies has become big business. The multibillion dollar government farm program has failed in its avowed purpose. The nation's biggest farm organization says farmers themselves are aware of its failure. Mr. Charles Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, says flatly: "Now is the time to dismantle our obsolete federal farm program." A poll by the Farm Journal shows that 63 per cent of the farmers favor an end to government subsidies.

It would seem that if a majority of farmers are opposed to agricultural subsidies, eliminating federal supports should be simple — but the farm program has spawned a hydra-headed bureaucracy, and Congressman Paul Findley of Illinois describes how this bureaucracy works to perpetuate itself. In 1963, when mounting opposition to the farm program led Congress to order a nationwide referendum of wheat growers, the growers turned down the proposed USDA wheat program for the 1964 crop. The turnout came in spite of the efforts of an army of federal pay-rollers to obtain a yes vote.

But, as Congressman Findley continues, the "... farmers underestimated the tenacity of entrenched bureaucrats fighting to save their empire. Through raw political power, the Administration rammed through a new wheat-control program anyway." Following this defeat by "entrenched bureaucracy," Mr. Findley then shows how in election year 1966, crop prices were politically manipulated to force down food prices and appease consumer households. It is estimated that the election year price manipulations deprived producers of $1 billion net income they could have earned in an unrigged market.

Farmers and agricultural experts are critical of the federal farm program on another score. Again quoting Congressman Findley: "The planners reckoned without the revolution in farming technology. Since 1935, for example, tractors, planting and harvesting machines, and chemical weed killers have slashed labor needs. The farmer who in 1935 worked 108 hours to bring in 100 bushels of corn today brings in that amount in one tenth of the time." In other words, acreage controls are meaningless.

Representative Findley and Representative Tom Curtis of Missouri, with 19 other Republicans and Democrats, have introduced legislation to terminate subsidies and controls immediately on crops of which there are no longer major surpluses — wheat and corn. Their proposed legislation would gradually decontrol other crops also — tobacco, peanuts, cotton and rice.

Will their efforts result in the dismantling of one of the biggest and most costly bureaucracies this country has ever known? — Washington Legislative letter.

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Henry Lange's preacher came by the country store Saturday night and reported to the fellers that, all in all, he had a pretty good week. First off, he said he had gone by the post office Friday morning and had wrote a couple post cards and they didn't charge him nothing for using their ballpoint pen.

Lynn Griffith allowed as how this was an oversight on the part of the Congress when they hiked postal rates. He figured they would get around to a small fee for using their pens and maybe put a small entrance and exit fee for using the front door.

The good Parson also reported he had got by without being sued and in this day and time when everybody was going lawsuit crazy he had to give thanks to the Lord for his absence in court. Even some preachers, he said, was getting into the lawsuit business. He reported he had saw where a preacher in Inglewood, Cal. was suing his congregation for back pay. This preacher told the Judge they had promised him $200 a month salary, a home and a gasoline credit card, but had cut him down to $80 a month and took away his car. The piece didn't say, reported the Parson, how the lawsuit come out.

Norm Schmidt was guessing the preacher would lose, said a feller making $800 a month be-longed on Wall Street and not in the pulpit. Furthermore, said Norm, they was a chance the congregation would claim his sermons was getting too pore fer that kind of money.

The Parson was of the opinion the courts was getting tired of all these lawsuits, said he had saw where a worker sued the company because his union contract called for a "good night's sleep" and they had him working on the night shift. The Judge told him to pull down the shades and git hisself a good night's sleep in the daytime.

Lynn said the whole situation boiled down to the fact we was getting too many lawyers in the country. Everthing now had to be wrote down in contracts and the fine print was getting so small a feller past 50 couldn't read it without a magnifying glass and the magnifying glass makers was wising up to the situation and hiking the prices to keep pace with the contracts.

The Parson told the fellers he had took note in reading history that things had a way of swinging too far one way and would eventual end up swinging all the way to the other end. Personal, Mister Editor, I was agreed with the Parson. The red tape wheel has got to unravel in the end. I won't live to see it but the day is coming when the income tax form won't have but two lines. The first will say, Item A: What Was Your Income Last Year? Item B: Remit Item A.

Yours truly,

So Who Is Liable?

The head of a family who maintains a car for the general use, pleasure and convenience of his family will be held liable for injuries inflicted while the car is being negligently operated by a member of the family for family purposes. This is known as the "Family Purpose Doctrine" and, while not all states follow this rule, it is recognized and followed in Nebraska. The following examples will illustrate:

Joe buys a car for the use of his family. His sixteen year old son takes the car to go fishing and has an accident as a result of his negligence. The injured party could recover against both Joe, even though not driving, would be held for his son's negligence. The same result would be true if the accident were the fault of the wife while using the car for a family purpose.

Joe owns a car which he authorizes his son to take on a trip. The boy takes several companions and without his father's permission authorizes one of the other boys to drive. An accident occurs as a result of his friend's negligence while the son is asleep on the back seat. In Nebraska the father could not be held liable. The permission of the owner to members of his family to use a family-purpose car does not include the authority to delegate the driving of the automobile to a third person who is not a member of the family. Liability will not attach to the owner for the negligence of such third person.

Joe's older son owned a car which he temporarily left with Joe with permission given to the various members of the family to use the car. Joe carried the insurance on the car and paid for the gas, oil and maintenance while in his possession. Joe's younger son causes an accident due to negligent driving. This is not a family purpose car as it is not furnished by the head of the family and Joe could not be held.

Without this rule the owner could not be held liable unless the driver of the car was using it in the conduct of the owner's business. The family purpose doctrine will treat the use of a car maintained for the family and owned by the head of the family for that purpose as being in the owners business if used for a family purpose.

Vox Pop

The Quiz welcomes communications from readers. The briefer they are, the better is their prospect of publication. All are subject to condensation. We assume no responsibility for statements in letters.

To Vox Pop:
Those that crucified Jesus underestimated Him. He had grown up and was a carpenter near by. It was an easy matter to believe Him to be an impostor that they might rid their world of Jesus understood their misunderstanding and said, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

The Apostle Paul said, "With all thy getting get understanding."

Could it be that Jesus has welcomed Dr. King to "be with Him in Heaven" as one who had the courage to lead a great cause and be willing to die for it?

May He say of those that criticize, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do," when dissenting against a man that got out amongst people in an effort to lead this nation out of the bondage of bigotry, selfishness, and ignorant complacency.

Sincerely,

—alone—

My home is somewhere between the day and the dawn. Then begins the arduous task of sifting the banalities of today for the finalities of tomorrow.

Life—so they say—is a leaf of paper white where each may write his line. On close inspection, though, we discover a smudged sheet of endless erasures. The writer refrains... rewriting and editing... striving for impossible perfection.

Why, I wonder, must one write for the acceptability of others? Why must authors project themselves into character portrayals? Is the yoke of condemnation so burdensome that none can bear the load? Who will write the truth?

So many walk with breaking hearts. So many tread the path in silent sympathy. So many let doubt lead them by the hand into despair and life-long loneliness.

Who will turn and walk alone? Who will face reality? Who among you are unafraid? Your guilt is manifest by your goodness!

"Fools rush in, where wise men fear to tread." Fools?

"Which of us has known his brother? Which of us is not forever prison-pent?"

Sometimes the words of Thomas Wolfe cry insidiously to me... as audibly in the quiet night they echo through my brain the futility of cohabitation... a stone, a leaf, an unfound door; of a stone, a leaf, a door. And of all the forgotten faces.

"Naked and alone we came into exile. In her dark womb we did not know our mother's face; from the prison of her flesh have we come into the unspeakable and incommunicable prison of this earth."

"Which of us has known his brother? Which of us has looked into his father's heart? Which of us has not remained forever prison-pent? Which of us is not forever a stranger and alone?"

"O waste of loss, in the hot mazes, lost, among bright stars on this most weary unbright cinder, lost! Remembering speechlessly we seek the great forgotten language, the lost language into heaven, a stone, a leaf, an unfound door. Where? When?"

"O lost, and by the wind grieved, ghost, come back again."

Try The Boondocks

This past weekend your interim editor Irma Leggett went to Lincoln to attend the spring session of Nebraska Press Women, and among other business considered was a letter from Kearney State College.

The letter wanted journalistic opinions on several items, with a view to improving newspapering courses in that excellent school. So I aired a pet gripe.

It is this: our young college students hear overwhelming sales talks about working on big city papers, on dailies, in glamorous public relations jobs, writing magazine articles, etc. etc. and even ETC.

With very few words about the joys of small town newspapering.

Or the pleasures of life in a little city like Ord, in a state like Nebraska.

To work on a small newspaper is invigorating, challenging, and opens a vista that is broad and beautiful for a young reporter.

Of course schools of journalism are not the only such offenders... look how teaching graduates are siphoned out of Nebraska. Look how large firms rob our engineering classes of the most promising graduates.

We grow them up. We educate them. They go. It is time we worried about revealing the pleasures of a Nebraska world. A good selling job is needed, and at once. Newspaper editors, arise!

An Editor's Dream

From the Reedsburg (Wisconsin) Times-Press

A good publicity chairman — working for a club, church group, school or service organization — is an editor's dream.

But all too often, the operations of people picked for publicity turn out to be an editor's nightmare.

Material for publicity stories for upcoming events comes in scrawled on the front and back of a piece of any-old size paper, names of people involved are misspelled, their addresses are omitted or incorrect, their titles or function are left off, and to top it all off the stuff is brought in so close to a deadline that most editors simply don't have time to get it in the form newspaper makeup demands.

Then, when the stuff is left out of the paper, the aggrieved public relations chairman asks accusingly, "How come my story didn't get in the paper?"

Another failing of most public relations chairmen is their habit of forgetting a news medium as soon as the event they have been plugging is over. We see people for two or three weeks ahead of the time they are going to have an affair, but as soon as it is over — when we could use a story on what happened — these people disappear.

As we said, a good publicity chairman is an editor's dream. We like the ones who come in with neatly-typed, double-spaced accurate stories on one side of a standard piece of paper (use two pieces if you can't get your story on one page). But the publicity chairman we really like to have come back is the one that shows up as soon as possible after their event is held with a story on what happened — how it turned out.

So for heaven's sakes, publicity chairmen, if we helped you draw a crowd by running a series of stories on what you planned to do, help us by giving us a followup news story.

You're not done just because your meeting, or play, your fund drive or special church service is over.

We gave you some publicity. Remember to give us some news.

Why Be Legitimate!

Continued from last week... The government allows only $600 a year to feed, clothe, house and educate a youngster. Yet to do the same in the Job Corps the Federal Government spends from $7,000 to $11,000.

For Cuban refugee children, our government allows $1,200 per year, and if the child is in school, an extra $1,000 is allowed. Uncle Sam gives the mother of an illegitimate child $800 a year for upkeep under the ADC program.

Yet parents of a legitimate child are permitted only a $600 tax deduction per child on their income tax.

Ideas Bring Success

When a young man, 21 years of age, can, on the strength of sheer ability, start from scratch and become a vice president of a major oil company subsidiary in seven years, we need not worry too much about lack of opportunity. And this is exactly what one young man has done. He has shown that faith in an idea and hard work is still the recipe of success.

In this case, the young man introduced the idea of selling advertising space on the rim of road maps that are given away to customers in virtually every service station. He formed a small

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation...

"Religion? How square!"

Some people do make religion seem as if it ought to be put in mothballs. Does that mean you have to? Sure you're full of social protest. New ideas. Feelings about integrity and justice and today's values. So is religion. And your church or synagogue can become—if you help—the place where the action is—in solving the important problems in the world, in your community, in your life. Don't knock it. Join it. Worship this week. And put your Faith to work.

If you want fresh, cool, clean air, go to the mountains.

Or buy a gas air conditioner.

Gas air conditioning cools your whole house, not just one room at a time. Cools it fresh and clean, because the air is constantly circulated, filtered and re-circulated. No cold clammy spots. No hot sticky spots. Every room is just the way you want it. Cool. Humidity is controlled, too.

And, gas air conditioning costs less to operate and maintain. There are fewer moving parts. A little gas flame is the most important part of the system, and little gas flames can't wear out. Call your Kansas-Nebraska man.

Chanting with the Chants

By Donna Johnson

Well, it's time again for my weekly report of the news from good old Ord High. Saturday morning, three bus loads of excited and nervous musicians left for the annual District Music Contest at Grand Island. The school, Ord gave a good showing, with the results as follows: those receiving a "1" — the highest award given — were Larry Rathbun, Sonja Swanek, and Jan Koelling for instrumental solos, and the band. "2" ratings were awarded to the flute trio, madrigal, brass sextet, clarinet quartet, and Darlyn Novosad and Connie Bredthauer for instrumental solos. "3" awards were given to the saxophone quartet, chorus, and Ruth Meater and Gary Sedlack for vocal solos. Congratulations on a good showing kids!

The high spirits produced by the good showing was dampened somewhat however, with the discovery that several billfolds and quite a bit of money was taken from some of the kids while they were performing. All in all, it was pronounced a successful day, and a fired but happy group returned to Ord Saturday evening.

OHS There are some new faces in the classrooms this semester. They are students and teachers. They are the student teachers sent out from Kearney College to get the teaching experience they need before becoming full-fledged teachers. The four students with us this semester are: Bill Harms, in the business and physical education departments; Pam Sizell, in the social studies department; and Arlene Kaslon and Kathy Wellman in the home economics department. We welcome you to Ord and hope you like being here as much as we like having you!

OHS Nail chewing, forgetting of lines, and nervous tension are the signs of the final week of preparation for the Junior class play, "Cannibal Queen" will be presented this Friday night at eight o'clock in the boys' gym. Let's have a good turn out to see this production!

OHS Monday afternoon a convocation was held for all students in the gym. Mr. Bill Jacobs, a musician, demonstrated several of his own musical inventions such as several bells attached together, jars filled with water, frying pans, and perhaps strangest of all — nails! He also played the Marimba and gave a very entertaining puppet show.

OHS The annual P.H.A. style show will be presented at the high school Tuesday, April 30. The girls will be modeling the fashions they made in Home Economics sewing class this year. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Take care and I'll be seeing you again next week!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY	SUNDAY

Put it by your telephone. And keep a running count of how many times someone goes running across the house—or downstairs—to answer the phone, or to make a call.

At the end of a week (or maybe by Wednesday) you'll know if you should call us for an extension telephone.

An extension telephone would cost about 4 cents a day. And that's a bargain—you pay about four times that for your regular phone.
