Future Kindergarten Students to Sign Up

Registration for students entering kindergarten this fall will be held Apr. 11 at the Ord Grade School.

Parents have been asked to bring their child's birth certificate and shot record to the kindergarten room on the first floor of the grade school. Registration hours will be from 8:20 to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:40 to 4:30 p.m.

Because of the registration, this year's kindergarten class will not meet that day.

A physical examination plus inoculations recommended by the family doctor have been advised for each student by Gerald Decker, grade school principal. The physicals and shots should be administered before the student starts school, Decker said, for the safety and protection of all the children.

Easter Sunrise Service Planned

An Easter Sunrise service set for 6 a.m. at the Mira Valley United Methodist Church is being planned by the Loup Valley Christian Youth Organization.

Because of inclement weather, the service will not be held at Happy Jack Hill as has been the custom.

The Easter breakfast for youth and adults will be served by the Mira Valley senior high youth.

Officers of the service planning group include Shirley Peterson of the Mira Valley Church, Gail Goodrich of the North Loup United Methodist Church, and Kathy Karre of the Ord United Methodist Church. Rev. Earl Higgins is the adult sponsor.

Schools Out Today

Ord and Comstock schools will close at 2:20 p.m. today (Thursday) for the Easter holiday. They'll resume Monday at 9 a.m. School is being held that day to make up for time lost during the state basketball tournament.

Karen Foulk

Karen Foulk Picked By Wheeler County

Wheeler County's nominee to attend this summer's Girls State Convention in Lincoln is Karen Foulk of Erickson.

A junior at Wheeler County High School, Miss Foulk was chosen by the American Legion Auxiliary. She has been active in numerous school and community activities.

These include volleyball, pep club, band, dramatics, and 4H affairs. She was also secretary of her freshman and sophomore classes and is serving this year as president of the junior class. In addition, she is secretary of the student council, treasurer of the annual staff, and alternate organist for the United Methodist Church.

Miss Foulk is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foulk. Her alternate is Sandi Atkinson of Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Atkinson.

Game Commission Bill Reaches Floor; Kokes Says Lincoln Still City to Beat

Ord has cleared the first major hurdle in its efforts to secure the state Game and Parks Commission.

The state unicameral's Agriculture and Recreation Committee voted Friday to send the Legislative Bill 576 to the floor of the legislature without amendment. The vote was 50-1.

This means that all 49 state senators will decide the fate of the bill, which calls for consolidation of the Game Commission's six Lincoln offices and re-

Vote Total Sparse In Local Elections

There'll be a sprinkling of new blood in Valley County municipal governments and school boards as a result of Tuesday's local elections.

With only one slate of candidates, the turn-out here in Ord was one of the lightest ever. Barely over 10 percent of the 1,416 voters registered in the city's three wards cast ballots. The best representation was in the 1st Ward where 63 of the 516 eligible voters made their choices known. In the 2nd Ward 39 voters out of 506 registered cast ballots, and in the 3rd Ward it was 40 out of 400.

As a result of the election, incumbents Emanuel Vodelhal and Leonard Kamarad retain their positions on the Board of Education. Dr. F. J. Osenowski remains as city councilman from the 1st Ward, and Ray Marshall stays on as councilman for the 2nd Ward. Otto Zapp becomes the 3rd Ward representative, replacing Harold Christensen who declined renomination for a third term.

A scattering of write-in votes were given various individuals in the Ord election, and two electors vented their frustration at having only one name to choose from in the school balloting by writing in "New People."

At Arcadia Jim Trotter remains as a member of the Village Board of Trustees while Robert Sestak replaces Charles Kremer. Trotter was unopposed, while Sestak relinquished his existing position on the school board to run against Kremer for the village board. The vote was 59-16 with Sestak winning it.

Gordon Manning won Sestak's vacated school position with a 62-34 triumph over Jim Holmes. Re-elected to the school board was Mrs. Nellie Lou Petersen, who beat off a challenge from Richard Hulinsky, 60-37.

Incumbents Don Waller and Gene Fletcher were easily re-elected to the North Loup Village Board, with Charles Lundstedt joining them in the victory circle. The three had the highest vote totals from a field of six candidates.

In the school election it was a different story, as challenger Benny Sinteck nosed out incumbent Wayne Cook, 111 to 100. That was for a position representing the North Loup rural area on the North Loup-Scotia Board of Education.

Scotia voters named M. R. Foxworthy to represent them on the school board. He triumphed over Nicholas Clement, 128 to 85.

Unlike Ord, Elyria voters had a choice. But they decided to stay with a proven thing too. They re-elected Keith Kuklish and Joe Paprocki to the Village Board of Trustees. Kuklish received 12 votes, Paprocki 8, Larry Barta 7, and Gary Sears 6.

Mrs. Harold Garnick

Mrs. John Cronin

Nebraska's Future Homemakers Present Life Memberships to Duo

Women from Ord and Burwell have received honorary lifetime memberships in the state association of the Future Homemakers of America.

Mrs. Elizabeth Garnick of Ord and Mrs. Doris Cronin of Burwell were informed of their selections Saturday at the state FFA convention in Lincoln. They were the only persons named for the honor this year.

A home economics instructor at Ord High School for the past 14 years, Mrs. Garnick was lauded for her work in the development of a strong FFA chapter at Ord and for encouraging "numerous girls to pursue home economics education as a career."

Married and the mother of two boys and two girls, Mrs. Garnick holds a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics from the University of Nebraska. She served one year as a home extension agent before beginning her teaching career.

Her services to home economics and FFA include 11 years as a cooperating teacher for Kearney State College, as FFA advisor for District VII, and as a member of the state FFA advisory board, and development of curriculum materials for Nebraska's homemaking teachers. She also attended the national FFA convention in Miami Beach, Fla., last summer.

Mrs. Cronin was cited for her work during the past 10 years as chapter mother of the FFA organization at Burwell. She was also state mother the past two years.

Her daughter, Sandy, served as state FFA president in 1962-63, and her other two daughters have been active in FFA work as well.

Honorary memberships are presented to persons "who have served home economics and FFA across the local level and have contributed in an outstanding manner."

Initial Doe Membership Numbers 146; Installation Ceremony Conducted Mar. 23

A total of 146 women were installed Mar. 23 as charter members of Ord Drove No. 208, Benevolent and Patriotic Order of Does. The organization is the female counterpart of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Conducting the installation were officers of Kearney Drove No. 14 under the direction of Beverly Nelson, deputy supreme president, and Loretta Burtis, deputy supreme conductor.

Twelve of the new members were promptly installed as elective officers of the group, and another dozen were installed as appointive officers.

Those elected to serve were Mary Ferguson, president; Stella Andersen, first counselor; Kathryn Johnson, senior counselor; Mary Lou Koll, junior counselor; Mildred French, secretary; Joyce Barto, treasurer; Virginia Norman, inner guard; Valerie Hiser, outer guard; Gwendolyn Cochran, conductor; Marthian Zukoski, three-year trustee; Norma Ackles, two-year trustee; and Cheryl Welton, one-year trustee.

Appointed to office were Donna Erickson, chaplain; Laureen Luck, assistant conductor; Freda Beerline, musician; Olga Hurlbert, assistant musician; Pam Kovanda, first attendant; Darlene Severson, second attendant; Delores Sartain, third attendant; Audrey Novosad, fourth attendant; Barbara Andersen, first color bearer; Kay Kerchal, second color bearer; Jan Goodsell, third color bearer; and Linda Cetak, fourth color bearer.

The 24 officers were dressed alike in white formal attire. Entertainment was provided at the ceremony by a trio from Ord High School. It was composed of Supja Swanek, Darlyn Novosad, and Pam Riddle. They sang two numbers and were accompanied by Connie Bredthauer.

Guest speaker for the afternoon was J. B. Ferguson, exalted ruler of Ord Elks Lodge No. 2371. The national officer present, Ma, De Beel of Johnstown, Neb., spoke briefly, after which gifts were presented from other droves.

Shrine Parade Planned May 9

Members of the Tehama Temple at Hastings will bring their famed Shriners Parade to the Loup Valley May 9. Parades are scheduled at Burwell and Ord that day, with the one here beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Local officials met Saturday with Shriners from Hastings to make plans for the parade. Attending the meeting from Ord were Valley County Sheriff Clarence Fox, who holds

Both Sides Express Satisfaction Following School Bus Discussion

The views of both administrators and parents concerning this winter's school bus problems got a good airing last week.

An estimated 30 rural residents showed up for a mutual exchange of views with Dr. William Gogan, school superintendent.

The main bone of contention concerned the failure of busses to complete their assigned routes during bad weather. While parents generally conceded that the busses could not always make their entire routes, many felt that they could go farther than they have on some occasions.

Also discussed was the possibility of calling school off more frequently when rural children are not able to reach town.

The question was raised as to whether busses could not make their full routes in the morning when roads were frozen solid and then have parents pick their children up in the afternoons at points where hard surfacing ends. Dr. Gogan said that this was not feasible since any determination concerning the strength of frozen roads would be pretty much guesswork.

"Every effort is being made to provide complete and safe bus service," Dr. Gogan said. "However, there was room for improvement, and I feel that that experience and familiarity with the problem will bring about such improvement."

Willis Plate, one of the rural residents present, questioned whether farm children were being denied equal educational opportunities when school was called off on bad-weather days. Dr. Gogan assured the parents that, in his opinion, there was no inequality.

He pointed out that teachers had been asked to cover only routine subjects when attendance was restricted. He also said teachers had been advised to use low attendance days for helping those students present on an individual basis rather than carrying on class as usual.

"Student promotion is still dependent on work completion and achievement — not on attendance records," he said.

Dr. Gogan conceded that school possibly would have been called off one or two additional days if he and other administrators had realized how severe the weather actually was.

The meeting was called by Mrs. Frankie Baldwin. Plate called it "a very worthwhile session, helping to bring about more understanding of the transportation problems and efforts being made to cope with them."

Dr. Gogan said simply, "I was quite pleased." He had been invited as a guest to present the administration's side of the story.

Tom Majors

Tom Majors Named Boys' State Delegate

An all-around student at Wheeler County High School, Tom Majors has been selected to represent his county at Boys State in Lincoln this summer.

Tom's father is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Majors of Erickson. His alternate is Larry Reiter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reiter of Bartlett.

The primary nominee has participated in football, basketball, and track during his three years of high school. He has also taken part in band, chorus, and speech activities, and has served as a member of the student council for two years, as freshman class president, and as junior class treasurer.

Tom is an amateur radio enthusiast too.

More Additions To Arcadia Park Planned by Club

A permanent picnic area is being planned at the riverside park in Arcadia by that community's Garden Club.

In their annual beautification report, a three-member committee said it has plans to place a 12-foot stationary table in the park, plus a shade of corrugated metal or plastic. A small permanent grill is also anticipated.

Mrs. John Kaminski, Mrs. Otis Gartside, and Mrs. Charles Weddel comprise the beautification committee.

They said they will attempt to brighten up the park by obtaining two colored leafed oak trees and purchasing enough new roof stock of large flowered red cannas to furnish a 12-foot bed. Weeping willows are again in future plans too. The ladies said they have planted weeping willow stock a number of times hoping to get three good trees, but so far only one has lived.

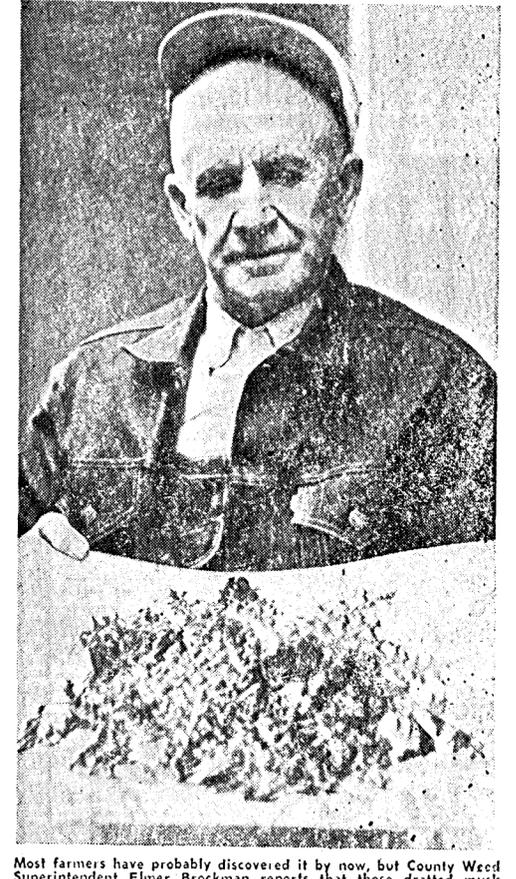

Recent club additions to the park include a permanent light, obtained with the help of the city park board, and roses which "filled in well" last summer as part of the hedge row. More of these plants will be set out, they said.

Chamber to Meet

The city's Easter promotion, the Nebraska Game and Parks Commission, and a special message from Valley County Sheriff Clarence Fox are on the docket for this month's meeting of the Ord Chamber of Commerce. The meeting is scheduled today (Thursday) at noon in the Veterans' Club.

Ice jammed briefly at the Ord dam on the North Loup River during the recent thaws. It broke up rather quickly, however, creating no serious problems like some communities — particularly Columbus — faced further downstream.

Most farmers have probably discovered it by now, but County Weed Superintendent Elmer Brockman reports that those drafted mussel thistle plants weren't just sitting there beneath all that snow this winter. They've been flourishing, as this specimen proves. Brockman advised farmers to get an early start on eradication procedures this year.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

As I viewed the movie at the local theater Saturday evening, it brought back memories of a visit to New York City two years ago this month.

While David Niven portrayed a specialist in teenage psychology who suddenly was unable to cope with his own 17-year-old daughter, I remembered how Sam Levene played the part equally well in the Broadway production presented at The Playhouse. In the play it was Nancy Wickwire who appeared in the cast as the wife of Mr. Levene while Robin Strasser capably acted the part of the teenage daughter and 9-year-old Neva Small stole the show with her typical "little sister" ways.

Although it is easier to believe that the script is much exaggerated from the generation-gap experiences of today, the story does point out the true-to-life happenings of our day. These are "The Impossible Years."

Children enjoy Easter festivities so much, so why not get out of your way to make this Easter an especially happy day for them?

Cut white bread with bunny cookie cutter. Spread with butter. Fill with sliced ham and lettuce. Add a bit of carrot for bunny's eye, and put a slice of carrot in bunny's hand. It makes sandwich eating much more exciting this way!

Using your favorite recipe for sugar cookies, create your own "egg" cookie cutter: using an empty frozen juice or soup can with both ends removed, squeeze can into oval shape. After baking the "eggs" cut from your hand made cutter, decorate with pastel tinted icing. These cookies are no harder to make and more fun to eat!

For any Easter meal, set plate in a wreath of green paper grass. This is an easy way to give your table that festive look!

Very appropriate for the Easter season is this little verse contributed for use in this column by Mrs. (Minka) Huff. It's called "A Sacred Recipe."

"Take one cup of faith spread generously through. Each lovely day God has given to you.

"Add one package of hope to every good deed.

"And thank God for giving you the grace you need.

"Take two cups of charity, sift all around.

"To all your friends, neighbors, anyone you have found.

"Bake for a lifetime and ice it with love.

"And you have the recipe for heaven above."

Ten-year-old Scott Bredthauer is living on Cloud Nine this week, and he has good reason to be!

While hunting with a group Sunday, Scott was the only one to shoot a coyote during the afternoon. Actually, Scott proved that he wasn't such a bad marksman three years ago when he was on the Ord team which won the state BB gun shooting match in Grand Island. His team then competed in a match at Dayton, Ohio, ending up about midway in the international competition.

COFFEE CUP PHILOSOPHY: The simplest meaning of Easter is that we are living in a world in which God has the last word.

Miss Chalupa Capped In Sunday Ceremony

Capping ceremonies were held Sunday at the hospital chapel of St. Elizabeth School of Nursing. Among the 38 student nurses receiving caps was Lillian Marie Chalupa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chalupa of Burwell.

Miss Chalupa is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bruha of Burwell and the late Mr. and Mrs. John Chalupa of Anselmo.

Since St. Elizabeth's Hospital is phasing out its nursing program, Miss Chalupa will transfer to Mary Lanning Memorial Hospital School of Nursing at Hastings upon finishing her summer session, which will be spent in Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzo Fuller of North Loup have announced the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis June, to Rollin Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Milton, Wis.

Miss Fuller, who attended North Loup-Scotia High School, will graduate from West Nebraska General Hospital School of Nursing at Scottsbluff in August. Mr. Williams is a graduate student in economics at the University of Nebraska in Omaha.

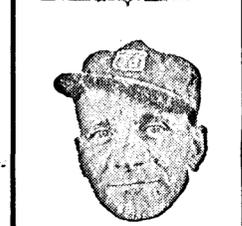

A November wedding is planned.

Sydzzyk Travel

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Sydzzyk and daughter Iva Lee spent the weekend visiting relatives in Grand Island and Ashton. They began their visitations Friday when they journeyed to the Third City and were supper guests of their daughter, Veronica, and Mrs. Don Drawbridge and family. They also stayed overnight there. The next day they were guests of their son, Anthony Sydzzyk, and family. Mr. and Mrs. James Eureka of Hastings were also supper guests that evening. Then on Sunday the Ord residents returned as far as Ashton, stopping off for a visit with Mrs. Sydzzyk's sister, Mrs. Louie Hurt, and family. They helped Carol Ann Hurt celebrate her 8th birthday before returning to Ord Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ivan Hunkins of Constock called Friday in the Joe Bartu home. Anita Hunkins and Marsha Montanye returned home with Mrs. Hunkins after staying four weeks in the Bartu home while the roads were impassable. Gary Kamars and Ronald Lenstrom of Constock also were guests in the Bartu home for two weeks while the roads were bad.

Paul Eric Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wiberg were weekend houseguests of the John Piskorski family at Fremont and on Sunday they with other family members witnessed the 2 o'clock baptism of the Piskorskis' infant son, Paul Eric. Sponsors at the baptism were William Jordan and Mrs. Donald Wiberg. Others present for the occasion and late afternoon dinner at the Piskorski home were Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiberg and family of Omaha, and Mrs. Gertrude Piskorski of Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Piskorski and family of Omaha were afternoon callers.

Ritual of Baptism

Infant baptism was included Sunday in the order of worship at the Ord United Methodist Church. Those presented for baptism were Kerry Lee Krempke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Krempke; Darla Jeanne Nolte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nolte; and Deidre Linn Goodsell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodsell.

Also receiving the sacrament of baptism during the worship hour was Karen Irene Meese, who was received as a member of the Ord United Methodist Church along with 14 others of the confirmation class.

Marilyn Ellingson visited her family, the Melvin Ellingsons, from Thursday until Sunday. Marilyn lives at Columbus where she is employed at the D. and L. Plant.

DeAnn Jane Sanders and Calvin Weeks Exchange Wedding Vows at Ord Church

The Ord United Methodist Church was the setting for the Mar. 22 wedding of DeAnn Jane Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Sanders of Ord, and Calvin Dean Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Weeks of Scotia.

The 2 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. Clarence Campbell of Ord and Rev. Leonard Clark of Scotia. Phyllis Geisler was in charge of the guest book. Music was provided by Mrs. Dale Kerre, organist, and Mrs. Paul Burwood, vocalist, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "I Love You Truly."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride appeared wearing an Alencon lace cage gown over an underdress of taffeta. A high lodece was accented with a band of satin and a cupid's bow. The elbow-length veil of imported illusion was held by a cap of cut laced flowers sprinkled with rainbow sequins, which corresponded with sequins on the contoured neckline. Long sleeves ended in bridal points with the back of the gown falling into a chapel-length train. The bride's bouquet consisted of a white Bible with an overlay of white glanellias and a shower of white ribbon streamers and pink sweetheart roses.

Inside the Bible was a white linen handkerchief belonging to the bride's great-great grandmother. Jera Sanders of Ord was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Sharon Geisler of Grand Island, aunt of the bride. They wore gowns of soft pink Chiffon overlaying a taffeta underdress with soft pink headpieces. A high bodice, banded with Schiffl embroidered roses, accented the contoured neckline and short sleeves. Panels of Chiffon ended in a triangular effect floating from the shoulders to a floor-length gown. Each of the two attendants carried a single pink mum surrounded with white daisies.

David Weeks, brother of the groom, was best man; and Dean Everett was groomsman. Both reside at Scotia. Ring bearer was Dick Haskin of Wausa, cousin of the bride, and the flower girl was Robin Weeks of Alda, niece of the groom. Candlelighters were Kathy Weeks, another of the groom's nieces, and Pat Henney, another of the bride's cousins.

Dan Weeks of Alda, brother of the groom, and Mark Sanders of Ord, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

A reception was held in the church dining hall after the ceremony, with Mrs. Rachael Weimann of Ord serving as hostess. Assisting were Thelma Anderson, Ruth Beck, Alma Korb, Judy Weeks, Betty Haskin, Amber Faith, Sharon Maly, Micky Sedlacek, Phyllis Harkness, Cheryl Peterson, and Cathy Timmerman. An honored guest was Mrs. Edna Geisler, grandmother of the bride, from Creighton.

The couple will live on a farm near Scotia.

Pre-Nuptial Events Honor Linda Beard

Linda Beard, whose marriage to Alan Babka will be an April 19 event, was recently honored at two pre-nuptial courtesies.

A miscellaneous bridal shower, arranged by Mrs. John Wojtasek and daughter Rita, was held March 22 at the Wojtasek home. Following games, the bride-to-be opened her gifts in an attractive archway setting of pink streamers and white wedding bells. The party guests numbered 16.

On Sunday, March 30, Mrs. Sophie Sobota, Mrs. Darrell Conner and Mr. Emmett Frazier staged a party at the Sobotka home in Miss Beard's honor. Fifteen relatives and friends attended the affair of planned entertainment. Clever wishing well nutcracks topped with tiny umbrellas were used with pink and red party decorations.

Here and Gone

Gene Ellingson with his wife and son Ricky arrived by plane Tuesday on an emergency leave from Corpus Christi, Tex. The Ellingsons were called to Burwell by the death of Mrs. Ellingson's grandmother. They returned to Texas Saturday morning.

On Friday, relatives gathered at the Melvin Ellingson home in Ord to visit with Gene and his family. Callers included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worth and family and Marilyn Ellingson of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Inness and Gary of Burwell, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Ellingson and family, and Mrs. Mary Christoffersen of Ord.

First Track Meet Scheduled Today

The 1962 track season will begin officially this afternoon (Thursday) when Ord plays host to four other teams. Comprising the visiting quartet will be squads from Burwell, Loup City, North Loup - Scotia, and St. Paul. Field events get underway at 3:30 p.m. with running events to follow. Encouraged by more depth than he had last year, Ord Coach Fred Williams is anticipating a "pretty good" season. He welcomes back eight lettermen from last year's squad which sent only one man to the state meet. That man was Glenn Holtz, who ran both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Holtz has graduated, but Williams feels some of his other prospects may go as far this year as Holtz did last time. The big problem to date has been lack of suitable practice time, but that's something which has plagued everybody in this part of the state. Consequently, the five teams should be on even terms. The Chants finally have been able to get on their track after working out indoors and on city streets for a couple of weeks. Twenty-eight contestants are vying for spots on this year's team. That's eight more than competed last year, offering not only depth but increased competition for the spots available. Four weightmen are among the eight lettermen. Williams welcomes back. They're Dennis Cetak, Melvin Linke, Steve Wells, and Bill Miller. Cetak and Linke will throw both the shot put and discus, while Wells and Miller will work on rare combinations. For Wells it will be the discus and 220-yard dash, and for Miller it will be the shot and 220. Other 220 returnees are Jim Novotny and Dan Holtz. They'll also run the hundred. Except for the weight men, Williams has only one returnee in the field events. Tim Markley lettered last year as a pole vaulter and will compete again in that event as well as the 440-yard dash. Able long-distance men back are Roger Cahill (mile and two-mile — he also went to state last fall in cross-country) and Dave Konkoleski. In addition to his lettermen, Williams lists three underclassmen from whom he's expecting big things this year. "Ronnie Lenstrom has been looking real well in the hurdles," Williams stated. "This is the first year he's run them, but he's coming along fine in an area where we had no lettermen." Darrell Farmer is given optimistic reviews in the pole vault and 440, while Alan Cahill is looked of as a comer in the distance events. "Overall, I think we've got the nucleus for a pretty good squad," Williams said Tuesday. "We've just got to get in more practice time." Any of his four opposition coaches in today's meet would agree with that.

Chant Golfers Still Working Inside As Opening Match Draws Closer

New coach Jerry Walsh faces the dubious prospect of sending his Ord High golf team into its first match next week without any outdoor practice. "We haven't been outside yet because of the weather," Walsh said yesterday. "We've been doing what we can indoors — driving into a net on the stage, putting on the carpet in the music room, and doing a few calisthenics. But it's obviously not the same as actual practice." The Chanticleer linksmen will open their season Monday in a dual match with Central City. "I'd sure like to get outside at least one day before then," Walsh said. "Right now I don't even know who will play on the varsity and who will be on the junior varsity." He listed seven prospects that he'll likely choose from for his top five. Returning regulars Greg Martin and Dave Wolf head the list. Other prospects are Dan Chichester, Spencer Douthitt, Mike Hansen, Dick Janda, and Hugh Wilson. "I'd like to assume Central City is in the same boat we are as far as practice goes, but something tells me they've been on the course already," Walsh said of his team's first opponent. Despite the practice difficulties, he expressed confidence the Chants would fare well once they get started. "I'm sure the fellows we have will do a top job for us as soon as we can get some outdoor practice," he stated.

Todsen, Weverka Lead Their Teams To Tourney Crowns

Teams captained by Tim Todsen and Jerry Weverka won championships in a recent boys basketball tournament at Ord High School. The competition climaxed this winter's Saturday morning recreational program for boys 10 to 13 years of age. Todsen's team, the Jayhawks, won in the 12-and-13-year-old bracket. Weverka's charges, the Warriors, took the 10-and-11-year-old title. Upsets marked the tournament as the Lakers finished second in the older age group and the Knicks took the honor among the younger boys. Members of the winning Jayhawk team were Todsen, Jerry Collier, Ernie French, Bob Lambert, Kip Leggett, and Rod Veskerka. Comprising the championship warrior squad were Weverka, Alan Edgill, Brian Ferguson, Dwaine Holzinger, Brad Smith, and Gregg Wetzel. Enroute to their title the Jayhawks defeated the Bruins, Huskers, and Lakers. The Lakers defeated the Celtics and Royals before losing. In other games the Royals won over the 76ers and the Huskers beat the Warriors. The younger Warriors won their championship by defeating the Royals, drawing a bye into the finals, and then whipping the Knicks. The latter team reached the title game by dumping the Pistons and Lakers. The Lakers had beaten the Celtics in an earlier game.

national prominence such as the re-enactment of Custer's Last Stand at Hardin, Mont., and the Portland, Ore., Rose Festival. The contract for work at the Elkhorn Wayside Area near Norfolk has been awarded to the Rogge Engineering Co. of Julian. The contract calls for construction of roads, culverts, picnic shelters, and sanitation facilities worth about $30,000. Branched Oak Recreation Area is now open for visitors, but it may be necessary to close it periodically throughout the spring and summer to complete work at the site. Roads, parking areas, boat ramp construction, and beach development work are planned. Hastings-Pearson Mortuary, Ord, Nebr. 24-6bftfc

IF PROFIT IS IMPORTANT Plant Cargill 880 & 422 Raymond and Kenneth Stapp, Cozad, Nebr., planted 880 & 422 at 28,000 plant population. Cargill 880 yielded 161 bushels of #2 corn, and 422 yielded 152 bu. of #2 corn. The Stapp Brothers say, "These two numbers have everything we want in a combine corn." University of Nebraska, North Platte Test - 880 with 159 1/2 bu. of #2 corn. Wendell Each, Central City, Nebr., - 164 bu./acre with 880. Ron & Ben Obermeier, Giltner, Nebr., - 880 at 201 bu./acre, Logan County Colorado, Lee Rothe plot, Proctor, Colo., - 880 (AV) 4 replications shelling percentages 86.90 - 880, 1 replications, 226.59 bu. per acre at 30,000 plants and a shelling percentage of 87.5%. Blank stalks are rare in a field of single cross 880, even when planted thick or subjected to drought. Small hard ears yield deep kernels of quick drying corn. 422 is one of Cargill's outstanding three-way crosses. It is a good producer with unusually strong stalks and small hard cobs that are ideal for combining. Cargill 355 & 455 combine with 880 and 422 to give you 4 top yielding, good dry corns at harvest time for this area. Jack Koll Ord, Kenneth Brown Arcadia, Don Papiernik Ord, J. Sampson P. Hill Dies; Services Will Be Friday

Funeral services for Sampson P. Hill have been set for Friday morning in Arcadia. The 81-year-old resident of Arcadia died April 1 at the Veterans Hospital in Grand Island where he had been confined the past two years.

The Rev. Duane L. Davis will officiate at the 11:30 a.m. service at the Arcadia Congregational Church. Burial will be in the Arcadia Cemetery with military rites by the Arcadia Legion Post #251. Acting pallbearers will be Donald Marsh, Floyd Marech, Paul Shepperd, Willard Hill, Leslie Shepperd and Morris Hill. Mrs. Ina Woody, organist, will accompany vocalist Viola Nelson in "Whispering Hope" and "In The Garden."

Mr. Hill was born Sept. 24, 1887 at Arcadia, the son of William and Eleonora (Donham) Hill. He was a World War I veteran, entering service with the U.S. Army at Eaton, Colo., on May 20, 1918 and receiving a discharge Jan. 23, 1919 at Camp Funston, Kan. His home was in Arcadia all his life with the exception of ten years when he resided in New Ramer, Colo. He was never married.

Survivors include one brother Glen Hill of Arcadia; one sister, Mrs. Kay Shepperd of Council Bluffs; several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by his parents, two brothers and a half sister.

Chad Miller visited Bruce Sowler of Arcadia Saturday afternoon.

Al Waskowiak, left, of the Ord Grain Co., is shown with Frank Bake, district supervisor for the Goch Feed Mill Co., at a recent seminar in Lincoln. More than 50 Goch dealers from six states attended. They were told of a new saw feeding program which helped produce nearly nine pigs per litter — two above the national average — in 223 test cases. They were also informed of a new hog program which reduces finishing time by an average of five days per head, and of new advances in cattle feeding which have produced an average increase at market time of $5.31 per head.

Tips on Landscaping

With the melting of last January's snow most of our thoughts turn to gardening and yard work. Some of us will be planting ornamental plants such as shrubs or trees. Almost anyone who buys good quality plants and follows these eight planting and care suggestions can develop a "green thumb".

(1) Plant when the soil isn't too wet. Plants purchased in containers or those that are balled and burlaped can be planted any time — even in the summer.

(2) Dig hole half again as deep and half again as wide in order to accommodate the ball of soil around the roots of the plant. Don't try to plant a $5 tree in a 50-cent hole. Set the plant the same depth it grew originally.

(3) Form the soil into a saucer-shaped area around the plant. Water thoroughly once every 10 days or two weeks during dry weather.

(4) Prune back the plant, often as much as one-third to one-half. Roots lost in digging should be balanced by removing some of the top.

(5) Do not fertilize the first year after planting. Roots should be well established before fertilizing.

(6) Mulch to conserve moisture, to prevent soil from packing, and to help control grass and weeds.

(7) Stake trees that are more than 5 feet high. Use a wire threaded through a garden hose or soft cord to tie your tree to stake.

(8) Wrap the trunk if trees are more than six feet high. This gives some protection from the sun and borers. Use burlap, plain brown wrapping paper, or special waterproof paper.

If you follow these eight simple steps carefully, you will be amazed at how rapidly your trees and ornamental shrubs grow.

Prune Correctly

Improper pruning causes the loss of more trees than any other factor. It is just as easy to do a good job of pruning as it is to botch the job.

Pruning diseased or dead branches protects the rest of the tree, but the pulling of healthy branches really never benefits the tree and can only weaken its general health.

It is sometimes necessary to remove healthy branches which interfere with power lines, buildings, or even other trees, but if they are removed properly the tree's health will not be endangered.

The most important practice in tree pruning is to remove the undesired portion in a way which will allow the tree to heal the wound. Any wound will heal as long as there are leaf-bearing branches beyond the point where the cut is made.

Always prune back to the supporting trunk or to a side branch with a flush cut. Never leave a stub.

Leaves manufacture food which is transported back to the trunk through the bark. This food supply allows the bark to grow over the wound eventually. If you have no leaf-bearing surface beyond the point of cut, there is no food and the limb will die back to the next crotch. These dead stubs are an open door to insect and disease infestations.

The other important practice in good pruning is to paint any wound larger than a half-dollar. Paint protects these areas from disease and insect invasion until the wound can heal.

Any good paint or varnish will do the job, the commonest protection is asphalt paint. It is available in cans or in a pressure bomb at most garden supply dealers.

Overwhelming Support Demonstrated For State's Fair-Housing Legislation

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Assn.
LINCOLN — If a public hearing were the only hurdle the open housing bill had to clear in the 1969 legislature, Nebraska's first fair-housing legislation would be a shoo-in.

In almost precision order, 32 witnesses — including Gov. Norbert Tiemann — gave enthusiastic support to the proposal at the hearing before the Miscellaneous Subjects Committee last week.

There was only one opposition witness. Despite the broad-based support the bill received from religious, social and civic leaders, there were rumblings in the committee that some amending may be done before the measure is advanced to the floor.

Nevertheless, there seemed to be little doubt that it would reach the floor — and the evidence, especially the fact that the federal government has already enacted open-housing legislation, indicated it would be passed.

The bill is sponsored by Senator Don Elrod of Grand Island, head of an interim committee which studied housing problems. His committee worked with representatives of realtors, minority groups, and the governor's office in drafting a compromise measure they all could endorse.

Tiemann Leads Off
The governor was the leadoff witness. He called the bill "extremely important" and urged quick action by the committee and the full legislature.

One after another, the other supporters paraded before the committee in the packed legislative chamber. There were politicians, labor leaders, churchmen, civic officials, realtors, and educators.

The backers represented the state's two largest cities — where most minority groups are concentrated — and outstate officials, who said open housing was important outside Omaha and Lincoln as well.

The lone opposition witness was

A. J. Treutler of Omaha. He contended that the bill fails to provide proper protection for someone unjustly accused of discrimination and it puts too much power in the hands of the commission which would administer it.

Treutler said the commission would have "Gestapo powers as bad as in Hitler's Germany."

Elrod, however, said Treutler, who is a candidate for mayor of Omaha, was merely campaigning. The fact that he is against the bill, Elrod said, "proves its great merits — he has been opposed to everything good we've ever done in the legislature."

Senator Harold Moylan of Omaha, chairman of the committee, said it would be next week before the committee meets in executive session to decide what action to take on the bill. He said he was "quite confident" it would be moved to the floor.

Commission Will Administer
Complaints of discrimination because of color, creed, or national origin would be handled by the State Equal Opportunity Commission, unless city or county commissions were established at the local level.

The state commission is the same one which now handles fair-employment cases.

Under the proposal, Nebraskans would be prohibited from refusing to sell, lease, or rent their property on the basis of the customer's race, creed, or national origin.

Among the few exemptions would be home owners who rent no more than four rooms in their own home.

The federal law, adopted last year by Congress, says the federal government will administer its law in states which fail to enact legislation substantially as strict. One of the chief arguments raised by supporters of the Nebraska bill is that citizens of the state are their own law.

Elrod said his bill would meet the federal test of stringency.

1967 Proposal Failed
The 1967 legislature killed a bill designed to implement the fair-housing philosophy. Moylan said, however, the 1969 measure has "better support, is more soundly drafted, and is more comprehensive. Naturally, the enactment of similar legislation on the federal level," he said, "will have a strong impact on the legislature."

Senator William Swanson, who is a Lincoln realtor, said, "The dignity of man is at stake."

Nursing Shortage Cited
Nebraska hospitals are now short between 400 and 500 nurses, and in another 10 years the shortage is expected to reach about 2,000 unless training programs are expanded. That was the crux of a report given the legislature's Education Committee last week.

The report was made in support of a bill which would provide state subsidies for nursing education.

The problem was how this state subsidy could be given constitutionally to private nursing schools. The original bill proposed by Senator Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff called for direct support, but this attorney general's office said that was unconstitutional.

An amendment was suggested which called for routing the state money through the student. Since some of the funds would go to private schools, including those connected with religious denominations, another attorney general's opinion claimed this plan was unconstitutional also.

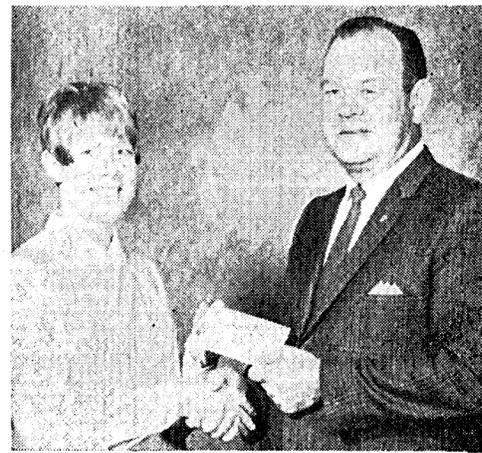

Although the committee was still considering the problem, most senators agreed the answer would probably come through expansion of nursing education programs in public schools — such as the University of Nebraska, the state colleges, and junior colleges.

Hospitals which operate their own nursing schools said costs have risen sharply and they are reluctant to raise patient care rates any higher to provide financing for the nursing training.

Two private hospitals have already decided to shut down their nursing schools.

"If more schools close, outside hospitals will be running with nurses' aides in a few years," according to Darold Hendee, administrator of Memorial Hospital at Sidney.

J. B. Ferguson presents Savings Bond to Nancy Krcilek

Nancy Krcilek Honored by Elks

Nancy Krcilek, a senior at Ord High School, has been awarded a $50 Savings Bond for a brochure she entered in the Elks "Youth Leadership Contest."

The bond was presented by J. B. Ferguson, head of the local Elks lodge.

Miss Krcilek is also entered in the national Elks organization's "Most Valuable Student" contest. She is one of 11 pupils from high schools in the jurisdictional area of Lodge No. 2371. Winners will be announced at the national convention in Dallas, Tex., in May. The top boy and girl will each receive a $2,500 scholarship.

Three Inducted During March

Three Valley County men were inducted into the Army Mar. 3, according to Patricia Zinkmund, secretary of Local Draft Board No. 91.

The three inductees are Gary Cadek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cadek of North Loup; Gary Faidor, son of Mrs. Alma Hajewich of Ord; and Larry Philbrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Philbrick, also of Ord.

April's induction call is for one man. Four individuals will be called for physicals.

Kansas City Cousin Dies While in Ord For Funeral of James Lewis Guggenmos

Funeral services for James Lewis Guggenmos, son of the late Anton and Myrtle (Twigs) Guggenmos, were held Saturday at the Ord United Methodist Church.

Mr. Guggenmos died Mar. 26 at the Ord Rest Home where he had resided in the past six years.

Rev. C. R. Campbell officiated at the 1:30 p.m. funeral service. Mrs. Lucile Tolen sang "In the Garden" and "Nearer My God to Thee," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Shirley Karre. Interment was in the Ord City Cemetery with Dr. Dale Karre, Faye Stewart, Harry Bresley, Ed Vodelnal, James Hejsek, and Anton Adamek as pallbearers. The Hastings-Pearson Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Born Sept. 21, 1919, in Garfield County, Mr. Guggenmos lived his early life in that area where he attended grade school. When the family moved to a farm near Ord he attended Ord High School. At the age of 16 he became ill and never fully recovered. His home was with his parents until entering the Ord Rest Home. He was a member of the Ord United Methodist Church.

Survivors are four brothers, Sam of Olympia, Wash., Walter of Brewster, Glenn of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Clarence of Ojai, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Vina Babbitt of Gering and Mrs. Myrtle Stillwell of Cheyenne, Wyo.; plus numerous nephews and nieces.

A Sudden Death
Leo Guggenmos, 58, of Kansas City, Mo., died unexpectedly Sunday morning at the Hotel Ord. Mr. Guggenmos was in Ord for the funeral of a cousin James Guggenmos, which he had attended Saturday.

Born at Sargent, May 25, 1910, Leo Guggenmos was the son of Henry and Mary (Khaulepa) Guggenmos. He was a graduate of Sargent High School and Grand Island Business College. At the time of death he was chief of fier for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineer.

Married to Erma Margaret Andersen on Apr. 18, 1936, at Omaha, Mr. Guggenmos had lived for the past eight years in Kansas City. He was a member of St. James Lutheran Church in Kansas City.

Survivors are his wife; his mother, Mrs. Mary Guggenmos, of Broken Bow; two daughters, Mrs. Marylea Osier of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mrs. Carolyn Bedcoe of Kansas City, Mo.; one son, Henry Guggenmos, also of Kansas City; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Wednesday in Kansas City. Burial will take place today (Thursday) at Sargent, with visitation from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Sargent Lutheran Church.

I Like Ike

Historians have a way of turning things around—of making those things which appear to be one way go down in history as just the opposite. So it is with their treatment of Presidents.

Despite the great love and respect he inspired from his countrymen, Dwight David Eisenhower will not be treated kindly by those who write the chronicles of our time. That's because they prefer men who made great reforms or those who led their country during times of tribulation, and Eisenhower did neither.

Irrespective of the glowing accolades of the last few days, Eisenhower is already referred to by some historians as an "inert" general—as a man who let others come up with the ideas, and then took credit for them. As a President he is regarded as a man who would rather play golf than make a decision—and frequently did so.

Yet the renowned French philosopher-historian Voltaire once wrote:

"A fair-minded man, when reading history, is occupied almost entirely with refuting it." And that's the way it is with historical accounts of the Eisenhower years.

As a general the man from Abilene did use the ideas of others frequently. But is that reason to scorn him? More likely, it's reason to praise him, for it takes a wise man to recognize merit in the ideas of others and be willing to use them. Furthermore, only a man with Eisenhower's management and human relations expertise could have coordinated the many ideas and plans required for successful prosecution of the Great War.

As President, Eisenhower did spend a lot of time on the golf course and his legislative proposals were rather skimpy compared to those of other chief executives like Franklin Roosevelt and Lyndon Johnson. But is that reason for scorn? Again, it's more likely reason for praise. The vast social programs laid out by Johnson have brought more disrest than progress, whereas Eisenhower presided over a nation at peace within as well as without.

Economically, the country moved forward to new heights of prosperity under Ike. True, it wasn't as fast as under Johnson, and there were periods of recession when the advances got a good shaking down. But there was no runaway inflation and no talk of devaluing the dollar. And this progress was made without benefit of a war-time economy.

On that subject, German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer wrote once upon a time:

"History has nothing to record save wars and revolutions; the peaceful years appear only as brief pauses or interludes, scattered here and there."

It is to Eisenhower's credit that one of those interludes occurred during his years in the White House. A man skilled in war, he became a President of peace.

Countless eulogies have been penned during the last week by great writers wishing to honor the late President. It would have been easy to pass this one by. But that would not have been proper, for Eisenhower's appeal lay with the small as well as the great. Consequently, his eulogies should come from the small as well as the great.

How appropriate it was that floral wreaths at the funeral were arranged without regard to stature, and thus one from the queen of England stood beside one from the noncommissioned officer of San Antonio, Tex.

Today Dwight David Eisenhower has gone on to await his eternal reward. But he has left behind a nation and a world which are better for his having been here. Nothing greater can be said about any man.

Concerning Defiance of Authority

Signs of the times appeared in two separate articles printed Tuesday in the Omaha World-Herald.

On Page 26 was a story entitled "Hoover: Defiance 'Becoming Norm'". The story quoted J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as saying:

"We are living in a day when defiance of authority is becoming the norm. We must establish a united resistance against the criminal forces destroying the structure of our society, or we face chaos."

Almost as if it were planned that way, on the facing page was a story entitled "Quiet Drug Use Must Be Ignored". It told of a research study conducted by scientists at Stanford University. They concluded:

"Most universities must ignore discreet illicit drug use on the campus or be forced into painful policing of the sort which would arouse new antagonism between students and authorities."

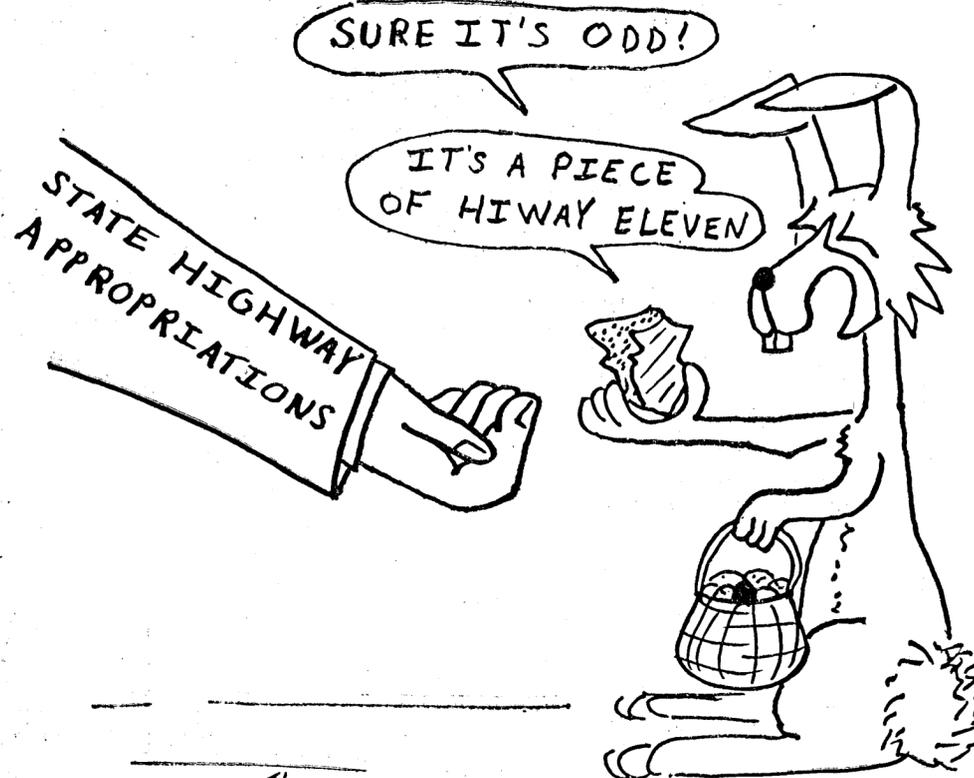

Thus, the Stanford professors openly advocated "defiance of authority," giving solid proof to Hoover's contention. The Stanford study was headed by psychologist Richard Blum.

Another psychologist, Dr. Bruno Bettelheim from the University of Chicago, reached a different conclusion regarding possible antagonism between students and authorities. Writing in the current issue of U.S. News & World Report, Dr. Bettelheim says:

"There are today far too many students in the colleges who essentially have no business being there. Some are there to evade the draft, many others out of a vague idea that it will help them find better paying jobs, though they do not know what jobs they want. And again many go to college because they do not know what better to do and because it is expected of them."

After reading the Stanford statement, the doctor might have added that there are some professors in the colleges today who have no business being there either.

"At least half the undergraduates already on our campuses haven't the foggiest notion of why they're present," says Russell Kirk in a recent issue of Human Events. Ill prepared by their secondary schooling and uninterested in higher learning, these young people are easy prey for the professional demagogue or the student agitator, Kirk adds.

People Have Enough Troubles Naturally Without Dreaming Up More Needlessly

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I'm not sure a "think break" is a good idea. I saw by the papers where a psychologist in England said it would do a feller good to stop and just think a few minutes every day, Mister Editor. I tried it the other night, and it wasn't no time 'til I quit thinking and started worrying.

Folks say newspapers don't print enough good news, that all we ever read about are the bad things everywhere in the world. I recollect you said once that papers like news out of the ordinary, like when man bites dog. It's getting to the place any good news is out of the ordinary, so I figure the papers are printing all they can get.

When I started thinking, I thought where this butcher reported to police he had wrapped his $50 ring up in an order of steak. I figure with the price of meat, the customer that got the ring just about broke even.

You don't hear a feller say any more he's as sound as a dollar. That used to mean you were in the pink of health, but if you're no sounder than a dollar today you're half dead. Like I said, Mister Editor, when I got to thinking, things got to looking worse and worse.

For instance, I see another study of conditions in colleges has showed that parents are happy when their university youngsters still drink whiskey as their favorite recreation. It ain't so much that parents are happy about them drinking liquor as it is they're glad they're not taking drugs.

That every student ain't on drugs is about the closest you can come to good news from the colleges these days.

It used to be people in this country were like the flea that thought the dog he was on was the best dog in the world, but them protesters are changing that kind of patriotism. They live off the dog, while they holler that the field mice in the hay and the termites in the barn timbers have got a better deal.

This country is getting so turned around Adolph Pesek's preacher said he is thinking about rath'ing all his sermons X, fer mature audiences only, to get folks back in the pews.

On top of everything, the price of haircuts is going up again. The less hair a feller has got the more it costs him to get a trim. It looks like that's the way the country is going — you get less and less and pay more and more.

Well, Mister Editor, I reckon by this time you've decided there ain't no April Fool like an old April Fool. I'll just tell you the only thing I got out of my "think break" was that I gave my teeth a good picking while I was worrying. I think tooth picks ought to be passed out at every "think break." That way, folks can think they are getting something fer their effort.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

Something Different

Beach Watching

Watching the beach is an occupation that never wears out in the blue bowl of a bay at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico.

The boats dug out of mahogany, the way they are launched or beached in the waves. The way they throw a board over one end to make a fish-dressing counter. The way they walk into the waves to wash the fish. Then they wash the board. They also dunk the big straw mat that lays in the bottom of the boat to bring the fish home.

There are multitudes of fish here, dozens of kinds. And they catch them in a variety of ways. One method that intrigues me: use nylon cord, winding it on a tube or tin can. Bait a hook with a small minnow. Then hang onto the can and line in your left hand, whirl the end with the bait around and around your head like a lasso, and then cast!

For children the beach is heaven. They play in the waves. They play in the sand. They play ball, or throw a disk — something like Frisbee with us. They race and romp from morn 'til night. The tiniest may have no clothes on, and even the adolescent-age boys often swim in their white undershorts, which really cover more than many bikinis do.

Groups of Mexicans squat around a blanket and play dominoes for money. This is the great gambling game of Mexico. The click of dominoes is heard early and late. Lottery ticket buying is another national addiction. They have a great feeling about luck. They are superstitious.

Many a Mexican will not permit you to take his picture — picture — you might capture his spirit. This is an Indian feeling — but as there are 28 different Indian tribes in Mexico, it is fairly prevalent.

Numbers of citizens of this Mexico cannot talk to other citizens, nor understand them. This is one reason for the host of political problems. But life on the beach is carefree.

Even visitors find it so. Rent a mat, lie under a thatched tent-roof, turn pink, red, mahogany. Run jump in the ocean briefly — it is warm, delightful — then back to soak up more sun.

The protections against sunburn are so funny. So many of us must run around with noses white from cold cream, or wearing a nose guard!

Wild native hats are popular — everyone wears them. A few brave people take them home! There they are really entertaining.

The Scott Report

From The Washington News-Intelligence Syndicate

By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The dramatic movement of powerful Soviet naval units from the Arctic to the Pacific Ocean is an integral part of Kremlin strategy for repositioning its military forces in strategic areas of the world.

Although U.S. intelligence authorities are split over the immediate impact of this Russian naval build-up in the Pacific, the majority agree that the transfer of ships gives the Kremlin a powerful new military lever to influence future events on the Korean peninsula, in Asia, and other areas of the world.

Strikingly illustrative of this expanding "forward strategy" are the following Soviet military movements during the past year:

- Positioning 80,000 Russian troops in Czechoslovakia near the West German border;
- Moving 20,000 additional troops into East Germany and Poland;
- Shifting a large number of Russian ships to the Mediterranean;
- Basing Soviet long-range bombers in the United Arab Republic.

The Korean Danger

While Russian diplomats are dropping hints all over the world that the Soviet naval movement is designed to meet "the growing Chinese Communist border threat" in the Far East, U.S. intelligence authorities believe there is much more to the Soviet strategic power build-up in the Pacific.

For instance, South Korean intelligence officials have warned the U.S. that the naval transfer is part of Moscow's preparations to support a 1970 invasion of the country by North Korea.

This latter threat is considered so real that House speaker John McCormack (D-Mass.) recently arranged for a congressional delegation headed by House majority leader Carl Albert (D-Okla.) to fly to South Korea and indicate U.S. backing for that government. The lawmakers agreed to work for a step-up of American military aid as a move to deter the Communists.

According to the South Koreans, Kim Il Sung, tempestuous North Korean dictator, is merely waiting to strike until American forces become so mired down in Vietnam that they cannot defend Korea.

As of today, the priorities of the Vietnam War have left South Korea woefully unprepared to resist another invasion. More than 50,000 of South Korea's best troops have been drawn out of the line to fight in Vietnam.

The 50,000 Americans who hold 18 miles of the 151-mile Korean front are ill equipped to face North Korea's modern 400,000-man army and air force without additional air and ground support from other U.S. bases.

New Pearl Harbor?

The frantic war preparations in North Korea, plus unpreparedness in the South, could make Korea a future Pearl Harbor for American forces. If Moscow decides the time is ripe to have Soviet-trained Kim Il Sung open a second Asian front.

It is known here that Moscow's agents have instructions to ferment a new round of strikes and protests in Japan. The unrest, the Soviets hope, will force the present Japanese government to block use of U.S. bases in its country during any new Korean war.

The protests will be centered around opposition to proposed re-

Russian Policy

One of the most interesting articles on current Soviet foreign policy and strategy being studied at the highest level of the Nixon administration was written by Joseph Schiebel, director of the Russian area studies program and professor of history at Georgetown University.

Titled "Convergence or Confrontation?" the Schiebel article gives a bleak prospect of a less militant Russia, stating:

"A whole array of military and particularly naval developments, and the imminent succession by the Soviet Union to strategic bases (especially those which would permit the Soviet Union almost total domination over the Near and Middle East) . . . point to a pre-occupation with techniques of empire by strategic contrast. The emergence of the Soviet Union as a substantive provider of development aid (with strate-

I wasn't there — but I saw you smile.

It started with a far-away look in your eye. Then slowly your face softened. A mellow glow crept slowly from your mouth to your eyes. Suddenly you could see miles — the future before you! The whole world took on a fresh, new look. You smiled.

Anyone watching you would have wondered. Yet — even though I wasn't there — I knew! I saw you smile as you watched the first robin of spring cocking his head and listening . . . then pecking in the dead grass and coming up with a worm.

Others would have wondered why you smiled. I knew why.

I saw you smile as you watched the young children wading in the water flowing by the curb — fresh, pure water — the demise of winter's snows. It wasn't salty like the drops of water flowing from your eyes. Even then, though, I saw you smile.

I knew why you smiled. I knew what you were thinking.

I saw you smile when you read the morning paper and the letter to "Dear Abby" . . . the one signed Disgusted.

I knew what you were thinking. I saw you smile as the postman stopped at your box . . . left an envelope . . . and, then, I saw your smile broaden as you noticed the postmark. I knew why.

I saw you smile at the movie scene — in a half-darkened theatre — then look nervously from side to side to see if anyone else had seen you. I knew why. I saw you smile as you pulled the badly worn high school annual off the shelf . . . then flip anxiously through it. Hesitantly you stopped at a certain page . . . looked around to see if anyone was watching . . . and, then you smiled. I knew why.

I saw you watching the train pass on the overhead trestle . . . counting the cars . . . suddenly smiling when you noticed an "extra" caboose in the middle. A puzzled look came over your face — a look of wonderment at the relevance of "a caboose in the middle!" Then the smile returned to your face. I knew why.

I saw you hopefully watching the trail of dust on the dirt road . . . hoping it would end abruptly, then turn into the drive that led to where you stood. I saw the prayerful smile that adorned your face. I knew why.

I saw you smile as you slowly and methodically licked the envelope flap . . . pressed it shut . . . then wondered at the reception it would receive. I knew why.

I saw you looking at your watch . . . computing time and distance in your mind . . . wondering where I was at that moment.

I wasn't there — but I saw you! And if you'd have listened closely, you'd have heard me thinking.

Gone are the days when 'no hot water' was a problem.

New A. O. Smith gas water heaters changed that. For the better. Now you can use as much hot water as you'll need. A gas water heater has instant recovery. As soon as you use some, more is heated. Just like that. Because the A. O. Smith gas water heater has Permagas lining. If you're still living in the 'good old days' that aren't so hot, see the new gas water heaters. They do what they're supposed to do—keep you in hot water. Efficiently. Economically. See your A. O. Smith dealer, plumber or your nearby Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas man. Ask about low monthly terms on your gas bill. Do it soon. Before you run out of hot water again.

Gas heats water twice as fast — at half the cost.

Unexpected Death Mars 15-State Tour Taken by Local Trio

By Bertha Clement
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lange and Mrs. Fred Veskerma returned home Sunday from a bus tour that took them through 15 states. Mrs. Rose Fuss of Scotia was also one of the group of 19 who left Lincoln Mar. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Barney were the escorts, taking care of all details. One of the early stops was at Little Rock, Ark. Later the group saw Vicksburg (Miss.) National Park, the largest Civil War cemetery. Sight-seeing in New Orleans, the Mira Valley residents were impressed by the famous old homes. Here also they had a rainy day, and while in this city they lost one tour member. Mrs. Myrtle Chaffin of Grand Island died suddenly of a heart attack. In this area the group took a 30-mile cruise on the Mississippi River. They saw Bellingrath Gardens and toured the battleship Alabama. Mr. and Mrs. Burney took them to the beautiful home of Alabama friends where they were royally treated and had a wash puppies as part of the refreshments. In Florida the group toured Bush Gardens, saw water skiing, the strawberry capitol, and Cypress Gardens. One day they went to Key West across the seven-mile bridge. Other highlights in Florida were seeing the Kennedy missile base and the oldest house in America at the old city of St. Augustine. In the Smoky Mountains the Nebraskans saw their first snow on the trip. A special dinner party was held Friday at the Holiday Inn in Louisville, Ky., to honor the 49th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lange and the birthdays of Mrs. Veskerma (which also occurred Friday) and Alice Dee of Lincoln. The group also saw the site of the Kentucky Derby white in Louisville. Mrs. Fuss stopped at St. Louis for a week's visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dial of Kester. Mr. and Mrs. Lange and Mrs. Veskerma were met in Lincoln by the Langes' son Dave and Mrs. Vernon Veskerma.

Will Foth and Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foth. Former Resident Dies Rev. Emil Hellwege, 62, died Sunday in Springfield, Ore. He had grown up in Mira Valley where his father, R. G. Hellwege, was pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church for many years. Death was attributed to a heart attack. Several relatives from this area left for Oregon by plane Monday evening to attend the funeral services. Making the trip were Mr. Hellwege's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hellwege of North Loup; his sister, Mrs. Alma Bredthauer of Scotia; and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wells of Cotesfield. To Las Vegas Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Bredthauer and family were Sunday evening guests of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Dye, at a dinner honoring Jim Hansen who leaves for Nellis Air Force Base at Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday. Mrs. Hansen and children plan to join Jim after school closes here and he finds a place to live. Niece Feted Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bredthauer and family spent Sunday afternoon at the home of her sister and family, the Harvey Langheirs of St. Libory. They also attended a bridal shower for Mrs. Bredthauer's niece, Mrs. Stan Corbett of Omaha.

Persons Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Walker and daughter Connie of West St. Paul, Minn., arrived Saturday and are house guests of her mother, Mrs. Lucy Koelling. Visiting Mrs. Koelling and her family Sunday were the Mervin Hornickels, Kent Hornickels, Elmer Hornickels, Kenneth Koellings, Arden Koellings, Mrs. Maurine Koelling, and Mrs. Elma Koelling. Connie Walker spent Sunday night with the daughters of the Mervin Hornickels and accompanied them to school Monday. Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Koelling of Grand Island visited his mother, Mrs. Lucy Koelling, and the Walders Monday. Mrs. Elmer Hornickel was also a Monday visitor. The Walders plan to return home Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huffman, Marion and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lange, Duane, LaVera, Linda and Gordon, Dave Lange, and Mrs. Vernon Veskerma and children attended the confirmation of David Loseke at Columbian Sunday. Referee's Sale Of Real Estate
The undersigned Referee will on Monday, April 7, '69 at 2:00 o'clock P.M., at the South Front Door of the Court House in St. Paul, Nebraska, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, two irrigated farms in Howard County, Nebraska.
FARM NO. 1 is located one mile northwest of Elba, Nebraska on Highway No. 11. The farm consists of 162 acres, more or less, with a complete set of buildings. Approximately 132 acres under cultivation. 35 acres irrigated by gravity irrigation. The lands are served by a Johnston Well and Pump, with Electric Motor, and a Shurgane Sprinkler System with approximately 2,000 Feet of Pipe, all of which will be included in the sale. An additional 40 acres of land is suitable for gravity irrigation.
FARM NO. 2 is located three miles southeast of Elba, Nebraska. The farm consists of 156 acres, more or less, and is subject to existing easements for irrigation purposes. Complete set of buildings. Approximately 109 acres under cultivation. 32 acres leveled. 67 acres irrigated in 1968. 87 acres considered irrigable, all of which is served by The Farwell Irrigation District.
TERMS OF SALE
The lands will be offered for sale as a whole, or in individual tracts, whichever will bring the most money and in such manner as will be announced on the day of the sale. Farm No. 1 will be offered for sale on the basis of 152 acres, more or less, and Farm No. 2 will be offered for sale on the basis of 156 acres, more or less, both farms being sold subject to existing highways, railroad right-of-way and easements of record. Abstracts of Title showing merchantable title will accompany deed or deeds. Possession will be arranged with the buyer or buyers. 15% of bid in cash on day of sale. Balance to be paid when sale is confirmed by the Court. The 1968 real estate taxes will be paid.
For further information see, call or write: Dean R. Armstrong, Referee, Henry Rasmussen, Auctioneer, Shaughnessy & Shaughnessy, Attorneys, St. Paul, Nebraska, and Joseph Kriski, Executor, 404 South Eddy Street, Grand Island, Nebraska.

Come to Church
This Week's Meditation

(Read Romans 8:18-25)
Whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple. (Luke 14:27)
On Monday, April 9, 1945, at Flossenburg, Germany, Dietrich Bonhoeffer was executed as an enemy of the Nazi government. He was a great disciple of Jesus Christ. His death ended two years in prison and concentration camps because he refused to remain silent on matters of conscience.
In a story of Bonhoeffer's life by Payne Best, a British officer, we read that he shared the final months of Bonhoeffer's imprisonment. He wrote in his diary, "Sunday, 8th April, 1945, Pastor Bonhoeffer held a little service and spoke to us in a manner which reached the hearts of all." The service had just ended when two men came for Bonhoeffer. Payne Best continues: "We bade him goodbye - he drew me aside - 'This is the end,' he said. 'For me the beginning of life.'" What a price discipleship!

Sergeant Bilka Transferred to Colorado Camp

By Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski
Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Michalek visited Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lew Bilka and their son, Staff Sgt. Richard Bilka. He was home from the service but had to go back yesterday (Wednesday), this time to Camp Carson, Colo., instead of Vietnam where he had been stationed previously. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Skala of Cozad and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Bruha, Shirley and Dennis, and Kathy Witaszewski of Loup City visited at Mr. and Mrs. Bilka's. On Friday Mr. Bilka and his son had called on Wencel Bruha.

Upholding Their Honor
Mr. and Mrs. James Iwanski and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kusek Sr. spent Sunday evening playing pinocle at Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski's. The men beat the ladies by only one game.

Leg Troubles
Mrs. Stella Klimek and Delores visited Mrs. Anton Kuffel Sunday afternoon and later went to the hospital to visit Mr. Kuffel who had one leg amputated. Now his other leg is getting bad.

Spicing Up
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sears are remodeling their house, including lowering of the ceiling. While the work is going on they are living in the Floyd Iwanski house formerly owned by Charlie Clochon.

hosted supper Sunday night for the Pitch Club 8. The occasion was also a belated celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Novak's 40th wedding anniversary and Mr. Novak's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Visek, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny, and Mr. and Mrs. John Nevrkla played cards at the William Ptacnik home in Ord Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Petska and daughters visited Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sears and boys. The evening was spent playing cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sears and son Tommy entertained Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sears, Mrs. John Sears, and Tammie, all of Ord, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sears and Mary for Sunday dinner and supper. Also present were Kristine and Cami Davis of Ord. The girls were houseguests of the Sears family over the weekend.

Agnes Dodge and Dolcie Waterman of Ord visited Mrs. Leon Cienny Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Zulkoski and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Norina Knapp and boys of Ord. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Jorgensen and family of Papillion. The Zulkoski family visited Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Enus Zulkoski and Reggie.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kusek and family and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dabas of Ord visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dabas and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmase visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tuana Sunday evening, helping Mr. Tuana celebrate his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Barta and daughters were Sunday dinner and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Johnson and family of Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Polak and family of Ord were Sunday afternoon and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paprocki and Kristine.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Baran drove to Loup City Monday to visit their daughter, Mrs. Joe Toczek Jr., and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Zulkoski visited Sunday afternoon and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Konkoleski and Linda.

David Kusek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kusek visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kusek, Sr., Wednesday forenoon. He is home on leave from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Susan, Shirley, Tammy, and Roland Jorgensen, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Jorgensen of Papillion, were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Zulkoski and children Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hora, Wayne, Donna and Doneta drove to Ringgold Sunday where they were dinner and supper guests of Mr. Hora's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hora. They returned Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Baran drove to Ord Friday evening where Mr. Baran attended the wrestling matches and Mrs. Baran visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Konkoleski. On Saturday they drove to Grand Island for a visit with their son, Harold Baran, and family.

Funeral in Denver
Mrs. Edward Wegrzyn, Mrs. John Wojtaszek and Rita returned early Friday morning from Denver, Colo., where they had attended the funeral of Joseph Rhoades. Mrs. Rhoades' former Edna Wegrzyn — is a sister of Mrs. Wojtaszek.

While in Denver, the Rhoades were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Way Wejtszek and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Kingston were hosts for dinner at the Veterans Club recently. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Geweke, Tim Todsden, and Mrs. Don Geweke and Barry of Lincoln.

School Levy Will Increase

Federal Reserve Action Causes Jump In Interest Rate District Will Have to Pay

Taxes to pay for Ord's new grade school building will be raised to an estimated 8.3 or 8.4 mills. This is a result of the recent Federal Reserve action boosting the discount rate, plus a decision by the local Board of Education to pay for the building in 20 years rather than 25.

At their regular meeting Monday night, the school board approved a contract with the First Mid-America Corp. of Omaha. The contract directed the company to issue $940,000 worth of bonds dated May 1, to be amortized over a 20-year period.

Acting on the advice of Chuck Vana, a Mid-America representative who was present at the meeting, the board also recommended that the bonds be issued with a "penalty clause."

The board has a stipulation that the bonds can be called in and repaid any time after the first five years if interest rates are reduced significantly, resulting in a sizeable savings to the district. With the penalty clause, bond holders will be paid a bonus to turn the bonds in if the school board decides to recall them.

Vana recommended that the action be taken in order to sell the bonds more easily. He said this was a normal procedure in the sale of school issues.

Three Percent Penalty
The penalty rates are three percent — meaning that the district will pay $30 for each $1,000 bond turned in for redemption. If the bonds are recalled between 5 and 10 years from the date of issue, two percent if they are recalled between 10 and 15 years; and one percent if they are recalled between 15 and 20 years.

Thus, if all $940,000 worth of bonds are recalled during the 5-to-10-year period, the district will pay $28,200 in penalties, if during the 10-to-15-year period it will pay $18,800, and if during the 15-to-20-year period it will pay $9,400.

This action means the interest rate would have to decline at least half a percentage point to make reissue worthwhile, Vana said.

On Apr. 3 the Federal Reserve raised its discount rate from 5 1/2 to 6 percent in an effort to combat inflation. This is the rate banks are charged when borrowing money from the Federal Reserve to lend to their customers.

Part of that cost is expected to be passed along to individual and corporate borrowers in the form of higher interest.

Tighter Money
The Federal Reserve also raised the amount of money banks are required to keep on deposit to guarantee checking accounts. Millions and perhaps billions of dollars will consequently no longer be available for lending.

The net result of these actions is to make Ord bonds more difficult to sell, since less money is available to purchasers, while at the same time raising the interest rate that the district will have to pay in order to sell them.

From his Omaha office, Vana said Tuesday morning that the Ord interest rate will go up an estimated .15 of one percent — from 5.3 to 5.4 to somewhere around 5.5. He said he could not estimate how much this would cost the district in actual dollars.

In response to a question posed at the board meeting by Merrill Mason, Vana said that the bonds could have been sold any time following approval of the bond issue by the voters. That occurred Feb. 11.

Such action would have saved the district money in interest rates, and in addition the bonds would have probably been easier to sell — since more money was available to purchasers than has been since the Federal Reserve action.

"Hindsight Better"
"Hindsight is better than foresight," Vana said in answering

Mason's question as to why they were not sold earlier. "And it's awfully difficult to anticipate Federal Reserve action."

However, earlier during the session he had said that the raise in Federal Reserve interest rates was anticipated, "although the increase in reserve requirements (money on hand to cover checking accounts) was not."

Vana recommended a 20-year bond issue instead of 25 in order to save the district "a large amount of interest." Later he estimated this amount at $180,000.

During the bond campaign voters were told that their mill levy would be 6.86 mills if the bonds were amortized in 25 years. If amortized in 20 years, they were told the levy would be increased by one mill, bringing it to 7.86.

The difference between that and the 8.3 or 8.4 Vana now estimates is a result of the Federal Reserve interest hike.

5/8 Percent 'Or Less'
Besides the interest to be saved on a 20-year issue, Vana said the shorter amortization is desired because "longer bonds are really tough to sell."

Dr. William Gogan, school superintendent, pointed out that the mill levy could be reduced somewhat as the result of increased savings which the district will have next year. This increase will be well over a million dollars, he said.

Vana said the bonds will be split among three or four dealers for selling. Most of the bonds will probably be sold inside Nebraska, he said, since out-of-state buyers are looking for a six percent return.

The official contract passed by the school board called for the bonds to be issued at 5/8 percent "or less." Vana said he was sure it would be less, but the 5/8 was requested "to protest you (the school district)."

He also promised that his firm would look into ways of investing the money received until it is needed, thus helping the district get some return.

Tri-Fund Drive Now Underway

Valley County will once again have a Tri-Fund drive. Mrs. Leo Wolf has accepted an appointment as Heart Fund chairman, while Mrs. Clark Weckbach will serve as Red Cross chairman and assist with the fund drive.

George Lockhart is the Cancer Fund chairman and also the overall Tri-Fund chairman. Mrs. Harry Zulkoski is the Tri-Fund secretary-treasurer.

A meeting of the chairman and some workers was held Monday evening at the lower level of the First National Bank. Lockhart says that many more solicitors are needed. Those already oriented will begin work this week.

No quota has been established for either the Cancer or Heart Fund, but the Red Cross has a quota of $1,500. This money is used to finance the three blood mobile visits each year, as well as to assist members of the armed forces and their families, veterans, disaster victims, and those who need blood and blood derivatives. It is also used to pay for home nursing instruction, first aid training, swimming and boating instruction, community services, and youth leadership activities.

Mrs. Anna Kingston Dies Following Auto Accident

A well known Ord woman passed away Saturday night of complications resulting from a head-on automobile crash Thursday about 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Anna Kingston, 60, died suddenly as she was preparing to go home from the Valley County Hospital. Her physician, Dr. Paul Martin, said death was caused by a "pulmonary embolism." He described this as a blood clot blocking the pulmonary artery which carries blood from the heart to the lungs.

Mrs. Kingston was the driver of a car which collided head-on with one driven by John Von Heeder, 28, of Ord. Von Heeder was not seriously injured.

The accident occurred as Mrs. Kingston was preparing to turn left off Highway 70 onto a county road. The scene was approximately nine miles southwest of Ord near the Ted King residence.

Mrs. Kingston and her companions were enroute to a religious service at the Mira Valley United Methodist Church. They were travelling south on Highway 70, and Von Heeder was going north. Both cars were apparently in the north-bound lane at the time of impact.

Von Heeder's speed was estimated at 60 miles per hour when he began applying his brakes. Mrs. Kingston's speed was unknown.

Her injuries were believed at first not to be alarming. They included a fractured arm and rib, recovering quite well from injuries, though, and had been scheduled to be released Sunday morning. Dr. Martin said she called him Saturday night, however, and requested that she be released at that time. He gave his permission, then just minutes later received a call saying that she had been stricken. She was dead before he arrived at the hospital.

The blood clot originated in the lower part of the body and moved upward without warning, the doctor stated. He said it was a result of the accident.

Mrs. Kingston was the mother of Lloyd Geweke, well known Mira Valley rancher. Geweke's son Don was killed just last November in an automobile mishap near North Loup.

Five companions in Mrs. Kingston's automobile received varying degrees of injuries.

Mrs. Alice Rashaw remained hospitalized Wednesday with a broken arm and two broken ribs. However, Dr. Otis Miller said she was "getting along fine."

Mrs. Anna Visek was also hospitalized for several days. Checked and released were Mrs. Sharon Foth, Mrs. Elma Koelling, and Mrs. Harold Rice.

Funeral services for Mrs. Kingston were held Tuesday at the Mira Valley United Methodist Church.

The church was filled to overflowing with relatives and friends for the 3:30 p.m. service officiated by Rev. Earl Higgins and Rev. Quintin Lousman. Special music was presented by Orel Koelling, soloist, and by a quartet including Rev. Melvin Koelling, Rev. Harold Koelling, Orel Koelling, and Kenneth Koelling, accompanied by Mrs. Viola Hackett at the organ.

Pallbearers were Alfred Burson, Donald (Dutch) Rikli, Richard Peterson, Eldon Foth, Bryan Peterson, and Reuben Cook, with interment in the Ord City Cemetery. Hastings-Pearson Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Kingston was the daughter of Joseph and Sophie (Schoemaker) Cook. She was born Dec. 20, 1899, at Scotia and moved to Valley County with her family at an early age.

She was united in marriage to Archie Geweke on May 19, 1919. After marriage their home was on a farm in Mira Valley until 1946 when they moved to Ord. Mr. Geweke preceded her in death on May 13, 1954. On Dec. 23, 1960, she was united in marriage to Irwin Kingston in Mira Valley.

Mrs. Kingston was a faithful member of the Mira Valley Evangelical United Brethren (later United Methodist) Church all her life, having taught a Sunday School class of small children for many years. She was a charter member of the Women's Society of World Service and was also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, Junior Matrons Kensington, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Valley County Hospital Auxiliary, and the Garden Club. Flowers were a special joy, and her flower garden was admired by many a visitor and passerby.

Survivors include her husband; one son, Lloyd Geweke of Ord; one daughter, Mrs. Darlene Lousman of Dayton, Ohio; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Lillie Foth of Ord; and one half-sister, Mrs. Lois Ackerman of Langdon, N.D. Besides her first husband, Mrs. Kingston was preceded in death by her parents, two sisters, and one grandson.

Eight Counties Join To Pul Together Anti-Crime Group

Better law enforcement throughout an eight-county area is hoped for as the result of a meeting held Mar. 31 in Burwell.

Representatives from the eight counties organized a district which will serve as a subdivision of the Nebraska Crime Commission. There are 26 such districts in the state.

A planning board was also established to keep track of federal aid programs to assist local law enforcement agencies. Federal funds are available to finance such things as equipment and training.

Wayne Weaver, state director, was the main speaker, explaining the program in detail. Keith Kovanda was named chairman pro-tem, presiding while the district was being organized. A director was elected to represent each county. Those selected were:

Garfield County, Sheriff Mark Locker;
Valley County, Sheriff Clarence E. Fox;
Sherman County, Judge P. J. Kowalski;

Loup County, Banker Theodore Cole;
Greely County, Chief of Police Lester Bristol;
Wheeler County, County Attorney James McNally;

Custer County, County Attorney Earl Johnson;
Blaine County, Sheriff Vernon Johnson;

Director - at - Large, Merritt Green, Garfield County.

At a short business meeting of the directors which was held in conjunction with the organizational meeting, Merritt Green of Burwell was named president. His assisting officials are Clarence E. Fox of Ord, vice-president; Mark Locker of Burwell, treasurer; and Kenneth Zimmerman of Loup City, secretary.

Pay Raises Totalling $8,000 Voted For Five Ord School Administrators

Administrators in the Ord Public School System will join teachers in getting significant pay raises for the 1969-70 school year.

A total of $8,000 in raises was approved for five administrators at the March meeting of the Board of Education.

Dr. William Gogan, superintendent, will get a $2,000 boost to $19,000.

Bob Norton and Gerald Decker, principals for the high school and grade school respectively, will get raises of $1,750 each. That will bring Norton's salary to $12,750 and Decker's to $11,750.

Also due for increases are Daye Van Nordheim, assistant principal for the high school, and Eldon Buoy, counselor. This year Van Nordheim served as head football coach and taught one class; however, he will devote full time during the coming year to his jobs as assistant principal and activities director. He will receive a total of $11,000, up $1,300 from the $9,700 he received this year. This year's total included pay for extra assignments.

Buoy's salary will also go to $11,000, representing an increase of $1,200.

Teachers had earlier received pay raises averaging 8.1 percent. Their base salary for the coming year will be $8,100 with additional moneys based on number of years teaching experience and education beyond the bachelor's degree.

District Acquires Building Site

The building site for Ord's new grade school has been purchased for $20,000.

At noon Wednesday signatures of Dr. Otis Miller and Howard Paulsen, president and secretary of the Board of Education, still had to be added to make the purchase final. However, that was considered a formality.

A total of 2 1/2 acres was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Albin Dobrovsky, just south of town. The site is the same as that specified when the bond issue was approved by the voters.

The Dobrovskys had purchased a 28-acre site north of the city cemetery. It was bought at public auction from the estate of the late Mrs. Ernest Coats.

Purchase price was $15,100.00

Contract With 10J Will Be Renewed

The Ord School District will continue its contract to teach seventh- and eighth-grade students from District 10J next year.

District 10J's three-man board of education — Vic Bodyfield, Norris Carstensen, and Gene Swanson — met with the Ord board Monday night and received assurances that the contract would continue. Similar contracts with Districts 6 (Springdale) and 10 (Mira Valley) will be terminated at the end of this school year.

"The contract is being continued with 10J because it has petitioned to join the Ord district," Dr. William Gogan, Ord superintendent, explained Wednesday. "Another school district has challenged the petition, and it has now been appealed to the State Supreme Court."

District 10J is located primarily in Garfield County with a slight lap-over into Wheeler County. It adjoins districts previously taken in by Ord.

In refusing to renew contracts with Districts 6 and 10, board members expressed a feeling that residents in those areas should pay their fair share of Ord school taxes if they are to receive the benefits.

State Commissioner Gets Firm Backing

A resolution pledging their support for Nebraska's embattled state education commissioner, Dr. Floyd Miller, was passed Monday night by members of the Ord Board of Education.

"The Board . . . strongly expresses its support of Dr. Floyd Miller for his past and present work as state education commissioner and commends him for his excellent leadership in improving instruction for education in Nebraska," the resolution read. It was to be forwarded to Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt, a member of the State Board of Education who has been active in opposing Dr. Miller.

The state commissioner has been involved in a running controversy for some time with the Nebraska School Improvement Assn., whose members now denounce the state board. A letter disclosing an "execution" plan for Dr. Miller as commissioner was disclosed Tuesday in Lincoln. It was from board member John Lunday and was addressed to four other board members, including Burkhardt and Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington, who represents this area on the board.

"The state board sets the policy for Dr. Miller to follow," Dr. William Gogan said in urging the Ord board to pass the resolution. "All he's doing is following policy. But the five NSIA members on the state board accuse him of making policy. They turn down any request he makes." Dr. Gogan is superintendent of the Ord schools.

"They are hoping he will resign if they harass him enough," Dr. Otis Miller added. Dr. Miller is president of the Ord school board.

Singers Pick Monday

A community choral group has been organized and will meet each Monday at 8 p.m. in the music room at Ord High School. Officials reported a "nice turnout" for this week's session — the second — but said they could still use more voices. Mrs. Gerald Green may be contacted for information.

To Eisenhower Rites

Rikky Prien had the honor of attending the funeral services of Dwight D. Eisenhower last week at Abilene, Kan. Rikky accompanied Gary Mahler of Lincoln and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mahler of Tecumseh to Abilene on Wednesday morning, encountering a tremendous amount of traffic enroute. Rikky describes the day as a memorable experience, having been able to see the many dignitaries and the funeral procession.

Improvement Plans Made at Session

Ord will again participate in the Nebraska Community Improvement contest. However, Mrs. Clark Weckbach has replaced Dr. F. J. Osentowski as local chairman.

Nine members of the newly renamed Ord Community Improvement Assn. met Monday evening with Mrs. Weckbach. The members represented various civic organizations in the city. Goals for the community awards contest were chosen.

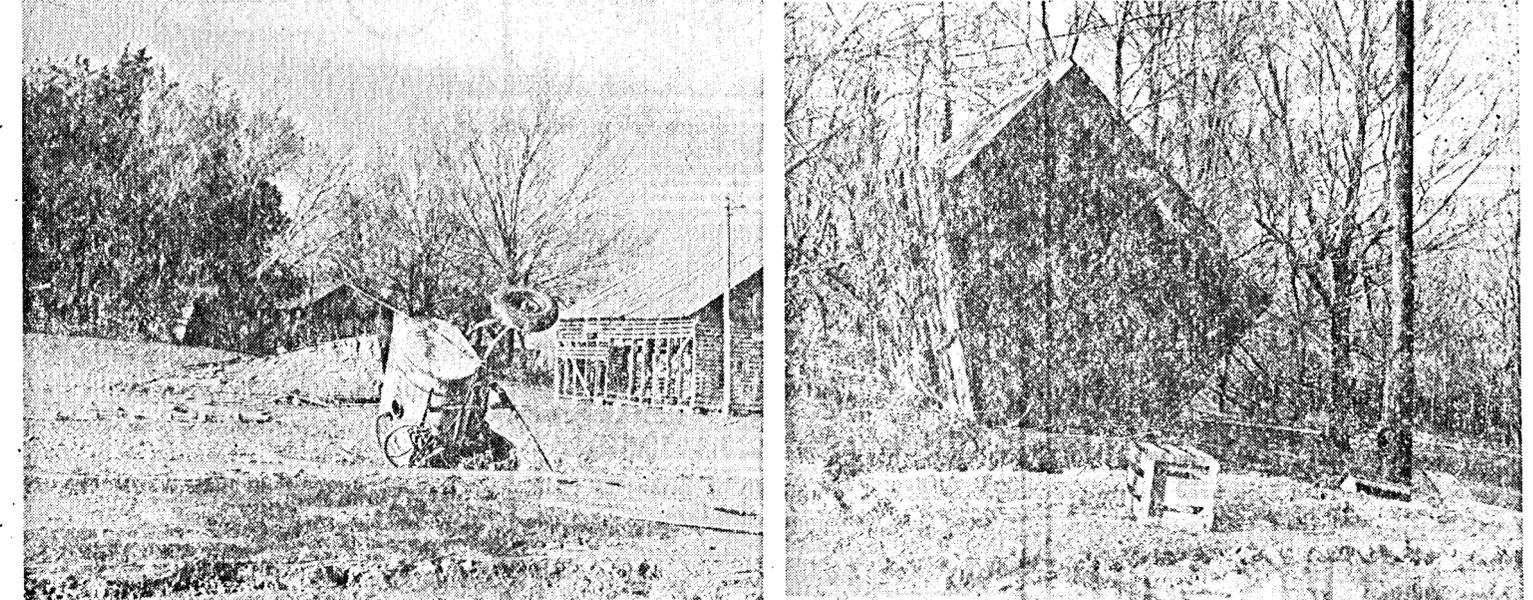

"It is hoped that each organization in Ord can complete at least one project," Mrs. Weckbach stated. She said new goals will be added during the year.

As a beginner, Mrs. Weckbach requested the assistance of every citizen in keeping city streets clean.

"We are still trying to get the State Game Commission," she said, "and one of these days we're going to get a visit from some influential people. It's very important that everyone help in keeping the city clean."

Watch for It

Students of the Manderson School District Southwest of Ord are featured in this Sunday's "Magazine of the Midlands," distributed with the Omaha World-Herald. The picture story by Mary and Ray Marshall is entitled "Rural School Sleep In."

High winds which struck the Ord area Monday afternoon were apparently at their worst west of town. At the Rudolf Kokes farm, where the Herman Pokorny family now resides, a garage was destroyed and a large chicken house overturned. The foundation of the garage is shown in foreground of picture at left. A fertilizer tank which was 1 1/2 sides upended several feet away, while the garage roof is some distance further back. Planks from the garage ended up wrapped around a tree, more than 50 yards away. In the picture at right a chicken crate sets in the middle of an area where the overturned chicken house in the background once stood. The glass was also blown out from a door in the Pokorny home. Mrs. Pokorny said she grabbed her sleeping baby and ran to the basement when the glass broke. She said she did not know whether the damage resulted simply from high winds or from a small twister. More pictures are on Page 2.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

On the first day of spring-time my true gives to me — 5 packs of seed, 4 sacks of fertilizer, 3 cans of weed killer, 2 bottles of insect spray, and a pruning knife for the pear tree.

At last it's beginning to feel like springtime and many have taken to outdoor yard work, raking and clearing the way for young blades of grass and dainty flower shoots.

Everyone ought to plant something — a tree, a bush or a flower. It adds to the richness of life.

For a cake that's a bit different (you'll be surprised how moist this cake is) add this recipe for Fruit Cocktail Cake to your files.

1 1/2 c. flour, 1/4 c. sugar, 1/2 t. soda salt, 2 eggs.

Mix (will be crumbly). Then add: 2 cans fruit cocktail with juice and stir well — by hand. Put 1 c. brown sugar and chopped nuts (you decide how many) on top of batter before putting in oven.

The next time you go shopping, stop by the dime store and buy a rubber tip (the kind that fits on crutches and kitchen stool legs) and put it on the top of your broom handle. It's grand. It keeps the broom from marking the wall when resting against it, and if you turn it upside down to put in the closet, it doesn't fall. Try it and see.

She's a winner... Mrs. Elsie Connor, who for a time made her home with the Darrell Connor family, was recently named "Working Woman of the Day" in Grand Island.

Employed by the J. C. Penny Co., Mrs. Connor's job is in the laundry department of the Grand Island store.

A department store for kids in West Hartford, Conn. The store includes a nursery station where babies' bottles can be warmed and diapers changed.

Coffee Cup Philosophy: The handwriting on the wall usually means you're going to have to repair.

David Williams and bride Carolyn

Carolyn Bell and David Williams Married In Candlelight Ceremony at Riverton, Wyo.

The First Baptist Church of Riverton, Wyo., was the setting for an evening candlelight wedding Mar. 8 uniting Carolyn Bell and David Williams.

Rev. J. Edward Pittman solemnized the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with two large baskets of coral and white gladioli, dressed with greenery and large white bows.

Given in marriage by her mother and stepfather, the bride appeared wearing a white floor-length, full-skirted traditional wedding gown made of charmingly lace over tulle.

The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. She carried a cascade arrangement of coral and white roses with a detachable corsage tied by white satin streamers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wadas and Mr. and Mrs. Benny Wadas and youngsters left Thursday evening for Wichita Falls, Tex., where they were guests of the senior Mrs. Wadas' brother and sister-in-law.

Jeffery Hackleman served as ring bearer, presenting the rings on a white lace pillow.

The Valley County Tri-Fund Campaign is now in progress

These funds are to support

1. Cancer research and information on research — Leukemia cure chances are dramatically improved.
2. Red Cross — which handles our local blood program. Blood is made available constantly at our hospital. Also service to servicemen and their families, among other programs.
3. Heart Funds — There is now remarkable heart therapy for all ages. Look at heart transplants.

Green Thumb ETV Feature

Green thumb enthusiasts will again have an opportunity to get answers to their lawn and garden problems from the panel of experts on "Back Yard Farmer," which began a new series Monday.

The series is sponsored by the University of Nebraska Extension Service. It can be viewed on the local educational television channel starting at 9 p.m. each Monday.

The program is directed by John McLaughlin, executive producer, who will be joined by veteran host George Round, ND director of public relations, in front of the camera.

Gardeners may call their questions directly to the panel of experts on Monday nights between 9 and 10 p.m. Questions will be answered on the show that they're asked on. Questions may also be submitted to "Back Yard Farmer," University of Nebraska, East Campus, Lincoln, Neb. 68503. Mail questions will be answered on the program "Back Yard Farmer R.F.D.," which may be viewed from 9 to 9:30 on Tuesday nights.

Reading the Ads

The spring advertising for corn rootworm control materials is really enlightening. We are learning things we never knew before. As we look through the magazines and listen to the radio, some items are especially interesting. In our continuous corn areas of central Nebraska we seldom have a cutworm problem, never a grape colaspis problem, and rarely a wireworm problem.

Planting a full month earlier? We believe that planting the first week in April would be risky business for many reasons. First we do not have data on efficiency of corn rootworm insecticides applied the first half of April.

First-year corn doesn't have corn rootworm? True in most cases. But we have observed severe corn rootworm infestations in first-year corn on many occasions.

Test plots only tell the story when they are designed to compare treatment with no treatment.

Chants Win Cinder Meet

The weather was a month behind schedule Thursday, but the same could not be said for five Central Nebraska track teams which opened their 1969 seasons in Ord.

Blustery winds which usually come in March held down performances in the shorter running events but had no effect on the field events and longer runs. As a result, some fine marks were turned in.

Host Ord had the biggest share of them and won the team championship with 63 points. The performers won three of the five field events and tied for first in another.

The second, third, and fourth-place teams were closely bunched as Burwell showed strength in the sprints and field events to finish second with 53 3/4 points. Loup City was third with 50 3/4 points, North Loup-Scotia fourth with 45 1/2, and St. Paul last with 24.

Weather Warm

Despite the winds, temperatures stayed in the 50s and 60s throughout the afternoon. The pleasant readings brought out a fine group of spectators.

Dennis Cetak paced the Ord victory, winning both the shot put and discus. His winning shot put was 50 feet, 3 3/4 inches. In the discus he reached 128-0 1/2. The latter mark was 2 1/2 feet better than most of his throws last season.

Also getting a big share of the 19 points Ord picked up in the weight events was Bill Miller. He was fourth in the shot with a throw of 47.2 (nearly seven feet better than his closing throw of last season) and second in the discus with a heave of 120-10.

Bill Klanecky and Jim Novotny dominated the long jump for Ord with Klanecky winning it at 19-9. Novotny was an inch and a quarter behind.

Demonstrating the great improvement the Chants have shown in that event was Jim Naeve. Naeve finished fifth but leaped 18 feet, 1/2 inch. Last year Novotny was usually Ord's best long jumper but rarely reached 18 feet.

Vault Battle Tops

Probably the best individual battle of Thursday's meet was between Ord's Paul Markley and North Loup-Scotia's Al Williams. The two fine all-around athletes battled for more than two hours in the pole vault and finally had to flip a coin to decide the winner. Markley won the flip, but the two split the 10 points accorded for first and second place.

Each man missed only once en route to a top height of 11-6. After both cleared that on their first attempts, the bar was raised to 12 feet. Neither was able to hack that in three tries, so it went back down to 11-6 in an effort to break the deadlock. By that time both men were showing the strain of the long afternoon, and when both missed once at that height the bar was lowered to 11-4. But both cleared that easily on their first attempts. Finally the competition was called off so both contestants could run legs on their school's mile relay team. When they finished that, they decided to flip rather than resume competition in the pole vault.

The announcement marked a high point in the vaulting careers of both contestants. For Williams it was also a school record, breaking his own mark of 11-0 set in last year's district meet.

Ord's only first place in a running event came in the 600-yard relay where Dan Holtz, Bill Miller, Bruce Hurbert, and Novotny teamed up to register a time of 1 minute, 38.2 seconds.

Burwell Star Shines

The meet's only double winner besides Cetak was Roy Johnson of Burwell. Running directly into the wind, the swift Longhorn turned in clockings of 11.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash and 25 flat in the 220. The times were considerably below his best of last year which included a 10.3 in the hundred.

Other top performers for the Longhorns were Steve Messenger and Joe Chalupa.

Running with a painful spike injury he had incurred the previous afternoon in practice, Messenger nevertheless won the low hurdles and ran a leg on Burwell's second place 880 relay team. He was scratched from the high hurdles, however, leaving that event up for grabs between North Loup-Scotia's Chuck Wegner and Loup City's Van Slyke. Wegner won it by a tenth of a second.

Messenger had been injured when a teammate stepped on him as they were practicing a relay hand-off.

High Jump Upsat

Chalupa pulled something of an upset as he won the high jump at 5-4 on the basis of fewer misses. Wegner and Van Slyke also cleared that height. Van Slyke was the favorite, having cleared 5-10 last year on the way to a berth in the state meet.

In addition to his jumping achievement, Chalupa ran well on his school's two-mile relay team. Handling the third leg, he made up about 40 yards before turning the baton over to Jerome Maxson. As anchor man, Maxson had been held out of the mile so he could concentrate on the long relay. He made up another 10 yards, but his team still finished second to Loup City.

The main reason Maxson could be saved for the relay was the presence of teammate Sandy Bonnell in the mile. Bonnell headed a good field which included Roger Cahill of Ord and Cliff Jorgensen of North Loup-Scotia. The three jockeyed back and forth before Bonnell broke away during the final lap to win by several yards. Cahill nosed out Jorgensen for second.

North Loup-Scotia's Chuck Wegner was the most versatile — and one of the busiest — performers present. Besides winning the high hurdles and tying for second in the high jump, he finished second in the shot put and ran a strong leg on the Wildcat mile relay team. Last year he went to state in the shot put, his throw Thursday was just two inches short of the one that qualified him for the state trip last season.

North Loup-Scotia Record Also turning in fine showings for North Loup-Scotia were Dave Edwards and Jerry Hansen. Edwards set a school record in the 410 yard dash, circling the quarter-mile oval in 53.2 seconds. He won a close battle with Dennis Kowalewski of Loup City.

Kowalewski held him off, however, in the mile relay. Both ran anchor legs for their respective teams.

Hansen, a sophomore, peeled 17 seconds off his best time of last year as he ran second in the two mile.

That event looks like one of the strongest for area schools during the next two or three years, for the five three finishers were sophomores.

Besides Hansen, they were Paul Morrison of St. Paul, who won with a time of 11:23.4, and Alan Cahill of Ord, who ran third with 11:37.2. Hansen's second-place clocking was 11:33.5.

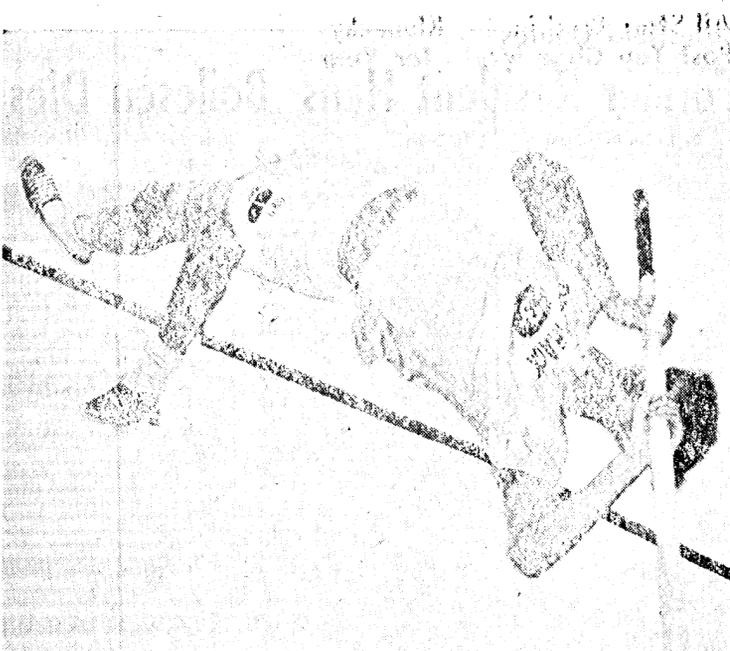

Lots of Half-Mile Relays "It seems like we've always got an abundance of respectable half-milers," Loup City Coach Don Wagner said in explaining his team's strength in the open 800 and the longer relays. "We've had good two-mile relay teams the last five or six years, and it's built up to where the kids want to work extra hard on that event."

Wagner's men took first and second in the half-mile Thursday and won both the mile and two-mile relays. Steve Burns led the open competition and was trailed by Carl Baillie. A state ruling prohibits boys who run the open 800 from running the distance again on the two-mile relay team, but Wagner had enough half-milers to win the relay without Burns and Baillie. Last year his two-mile relay team finished third in the Class C state meet.

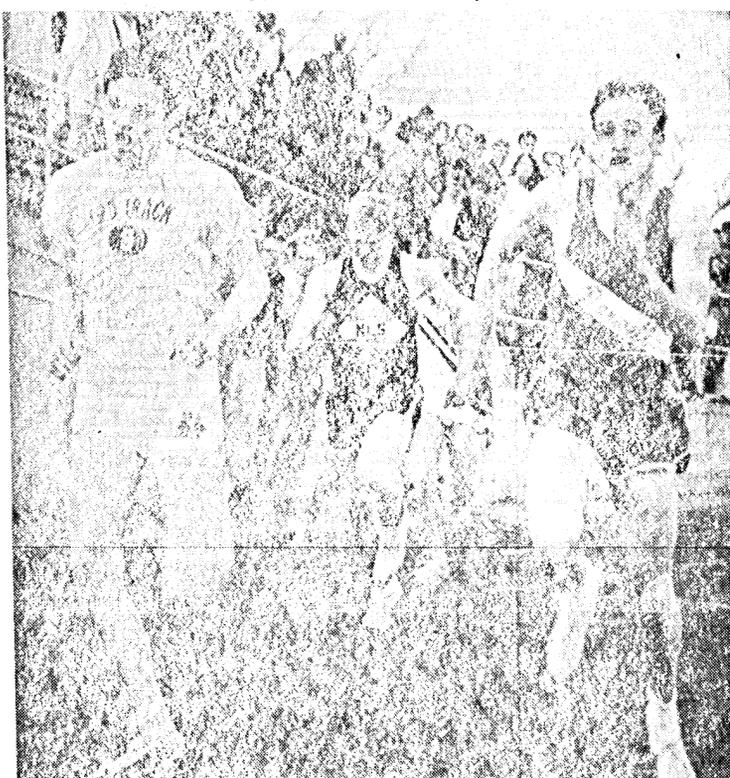

Wagner summed up feelings of the five coaches. "We were real glad to get a chance to run," he said. "The weather's been so bad this year we haven't had much chance to get outdoors. I thought we had some good times for the first meet of the season."

Loup City and St. Paul were originally scheduled to compete last week in the Ravenna Relays. However, that meet was called off because of poor track conditions, so Coach Wagner and his counterpart at St. Paul petitioned Ord Coach Fred Williams for permission to compete here.

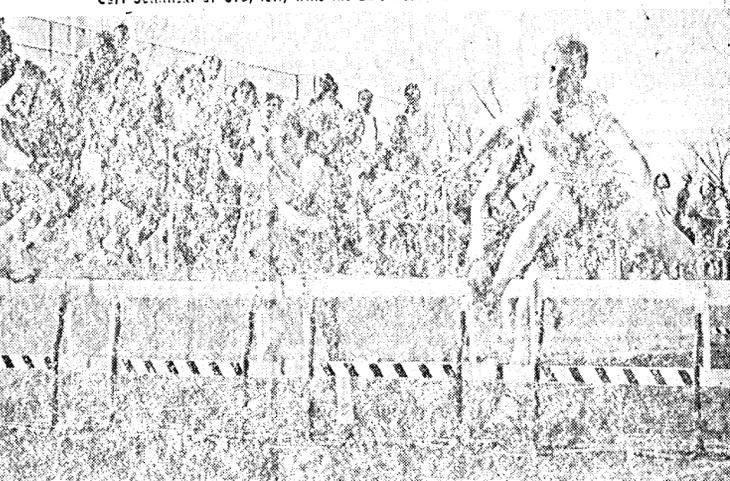

The five teams are all expected back again Wednesday for the Ord Invitational. However, they'll likely find the competition much rougher since between 30 and 40 schools are expected for that meet.

Giant Turn-Out Expected For Ord Invitational Meet

More than 600 high school athletes are expected to converge on Ord Wednesday for the 26th running of the Ord Invitational Track and Field Meet.

Invitations have been mailed to 85 schools, Athletic Director Dave VanNordheim explained Monday. Between 30 and 40 are expected to respond affirmatively, he said.

Competition will be conducted in two classes—Class A for larger schools that normally compete in the state's Class B football and basketball districts, and Class B for smaller schools which ordinarily take part in Class C or Class D.

Competition will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday with preliminaries in the Class A pole vault, shot put, and high jump and the Class B discus, broad jump, 120-yard high hurdles, and 220-yard dash. Finals of the two-mile run and 440-yard dash will also be held in the morning. Afternoon finals will begin at 1 p.m. (Wednesday) in the Wrangler Relays at Burwell. That group included Coach Fred Williams' Ord contingent.

Contestants in the 1969 meet will have some excellent records to shoot at, but they're sure to exceed a number of them. Last year six new marks were set, and 26 of the 32 existing records have been posted during the last four meets.

Oldest record on the books is the Class B high jump record. It dates back to 1946 when a Sargent athlete cleared 6 feet, 2 1/2 inches. That mark is still better than the Class A record which was set last year by Jim Halbersleben of Broken Bow. Halbersleben went on to win the state title for his class and is expected back this year to defend his championship.

Balance Pays Off With Defensive Win For Ord Linksmen

Talent runs wide as well as deep in his Ord high golf team, Coach Jerry Walsh discovered Tuesday.

Walsh's varsity four'some drubbed an inexperienced Central City quartet by 41 strokes in their season opener. Only two strokes separated the top Ord man from the low one.

"I was real pleased with the way we played," Walsh stated, "considering the wind and all. I feel our prospects are bright for a good season if we keep improving."

The wind was quite gusty and kept scores higher than normal. Dave Wolf led the Ord foursome with a 47 over the nine-hole Central City layout. Greg Martin and Bill Miller both had 48s, and Hugh Wilson carded a 49. Par was 35.

As a team, Ord had 192 strokes compared to 233 for Central City. The Ord reserves also won. Next match competition for the Chanticleers is Wednesday, when they will host Central City and St. Paul in a triangular. Since the Ord Invitational Track and Field Meet is also scheduled that day, Walsh will have to find a replacement for Miller in the starting foursome.

"Bill will compete for the golf team except when our matches conflict with a track meet," Walsh said of his many-sport junior standout. "We feel that he can do the track team more good than he can the golf team, so when there's any conflict he'll go with them."

The Game Commission is not yet accepting applications for antelope deer and fall turkey permits because bills now before the legislature may affect the method in which big-game permits are issued.

Colorful Females Will Play in Scotia

Men who like their women on the spicy side should make plans to be in Scotia Monday night.

Orville Moore's "All-American Redheads" from Caraway, Ark., will display their basketball skills against a group of local men. Regular men's rules will be used.

Moore's team is composed completely of redheaded women. "At least they'll be redheads when they play here," said North Loup-Scotia School Supt. Virgil Ferguson.

The game is sponsored by the Letterman's Club of North Loup-Scotia High School. It will begin at 8 p.m. and will be played in the school gymnasium.

Leonard Sisson of the Game Commission's Research Division will address the Nebraska chapter of the Wildlife Society at Pioneer Park in Lincoln on Apr. 19.

All-Stars Breadthauer, Klanecky Post Top Cage Marks for Year

Ord's two biggest scorers during the past season represent the school on the 1969 all-star squad for the western half of the Central 10 Conference.

Ron Breadthauer, who averaged 17.1 points per contest over the 22-game season, and Bill Klanecky, who was just a shade behind at 15.7 points, were named by conference coaches to the 10-man team. Breadthauer is a senior, while Klanecky is one of two juniors picked for the squad. The other underclassman is G-4 Chris Nelson of Albion.

For Breadthauer the honor was the second of the year. Following the fall football season he was named to the all-conference squad in that sport. Spencer Douthett and Steve Wells were also honored for their gridiron work.

The G-4 Breadthauer closed out his senior year with impressive statistics. He hit 43 percent of his field goal attempts and averaged 16.2 rebounds per game besides scoring at a high clip. He was also the only Chautauque regular who did not foul out at least once during the season.

Breadthauer and Dick Janda were the only seniors to finish the year with the Chautaus. They were named co-captains following the season finale — a 61-15 loss to Cozad in the first round of the state tournament.

Klanecky also had impressive statistics, hitting 39.7 percent of his field goal tries. He was fairly dependable at the free throw line.

Final statistics for the reserves show that Greg Martin and Derek Fritsch will also have to be reckoned with next season. Martin averaged 10.9 points per game, while Farmer's mark was 10.5. Those averages are not really indicative of their potential, however, since both sat out a number of quarters with the reserves so they could be used later the same night by the varsity.

Farmer was the top rebounder, while Dan Chichester had the best field goal percentage and Klanecky the best free throw mark among the junior varsity regulars.

line too, scoring on 65.8 percent of his shots.

Reserve Dennis Karamad had the top field goal percentage for the year — an even 50 percent — but took 10 shots and the regulars Bill Miller was tops with 43.3 percent.

Karamad could not be faulted at the free throw line either, hitting a perfect six-for-six and showing that he will be a top contender next season to fill one of the two spots vacated by Breadthauer and Janda.

Whoever does crack the starting lineup will have to be good to beat the free throw mark posted by Janda. He sank 75.3 percent of his charity tosses.

Pipe goes into place straight . . .

It's clamped down, the machine goes into action . . .

A $3,000 pipe bending machine has been put together at the Ord Manufacturing Co. for less than two-thirds that amount. The machine was built by Dale Hubel, a company employee, who worked on it part-time over the past three months. It is used primarily for turning long, straight pipes into rectangles. The bent pipes are then used as the side panels for box framing crates which the company manufactures. The crates are constructed so that the side panels "give" if a mother sow lays down alongside her little ones, letting them slip underneath the panels rather than being crushed. The new bending machine replaces an older one built by two other company employees — Wayne Miller and Richard Elsberry — seven years ago when the firm was still located in Neligh. That machine was used to make well over a million bends, company officials estimated. The new one has a number of advantages over the old: It can make 180-degree bends whereas the other could only make 90-degree angles; it is expected to reduce the time required to make a bend from two minutes to one; and it reduces labor, since any number of bends may be made with the same settings (with the old machine pipes had to be readjusted by hand after each bend; now once the settings are made, no further adjustments are required until a different-angle bend is desired). The machine is completely hydraulic. Its estimated cost of $2,000 included $1,200 labor. Many of the parts were "cannibalized" from the old bending machine.

Aid-to-Parochial-Schools Legislation Kept Senators Busy During Recess

By Melvin Paul
The Nebraska Press Assn.

LINCOLN — Members of the legislature's Education Committee took a constitutional problem home with them during the Easter recess. The committee held a hearing last week, just before the spring break, on a bill which would permit the use of federal funds made available to Nebraska to finance services for children enrolled in private, as well as public, schools. Federal education funds now are used only in the state's public schools, even though the congressional acts don't prohibit their use in non-public institutions. The state attorney general's office has ruled the federal allocations are public money and Nebraska's constitution prohibits the use of public funds for sectarian purposes. The latest opinion on the subject was issued last week in reference to Legislative Bill 1022, the one now before the Education Committee. In that opinion, Deputy Attorney General Gerald Vitavas said the "obvious and stated purpose" of L.N. 1022 "is to avoid" the restrictions in the state constitution. Vitavas said the State Supreme Court has ruled that the legislature "cannot circumvent an express provision of the constitution by doing indirectly what it may not do directly." Senator Bill Bloom of Omaha said "is a violation of this principle which has been so clearly expressed by our supreme Court." Sponsors of the bill, however, said the conclusions of the justice department amount to "only one attorney's opinion." Senator Bill Bloom of Omaha said if attorney general opinions were law "and simply taken on face value, there would be no need for the courts." An Omaha attorney representing the Roman Catholic diocesan schools in Nebraska told the committee his research indicated the bill would be constitutional, and that the attorney general's office was wrong. William Hotz said the federal money involved was allocated to Nebraska as trust funds for the children and shouldn't be considered public funds. Hotz said only Nebraska and Oklahoma have ruled their state constitutions prohibit distribution of this federal money to parochial and other private schools. Hotz placed his emphasis on the constitutional language which says: "All lands, money, or other property granted, or bequeathed, or in any manner conveyed to this state for educational purposes, shall be used and expended in accordance with the terms of such grant, bequest, or conveyance." He said federal law specifically permits use of the funds for non-public school programs and, therefore, the state should use the money "in accordance with the terms of such grant." Vitavas, on the other hand, emphasized another section of the constitution. This one prohibits the state "from accepting any grant, conveyance, or bequest of money, lands, or other property to be used for sectarian purposes." It also prohibits "the legislature, any county, any city, or other public corporation from ever making any appropriation from any public fund, in aid of any sectarian or denominational school or college, or any educational institution which is not exclusively owned and controlled by the state or governmental subdivision thereof." This was the constitutional controversy the committee members took home with them. They had to decide whether to advance the measure to the floor and let the full legislature determine whether it should be passed, despite the constitutional questions, or whether to kill it in committee. Senator Harold Moylan of Omaha, Senator J. W. Burbach of Crofton, and Senator Richard Proud of Omaha each urged the committee to send the bill to the floor for a decision. Proud said he hadn't decided whether to support the bill, but he thought the question was too important to be determined at the committee level. More than any other issue before the 1969 legislature so far, L.B. 1022 has sparked a massive letter-writing campaign. Nearly all senators have received heavy amounts of mail — generally from persons supporting the legislation. Many of the letters were written by students in parochial schools. Proud read one from a little girl who said she would have her parents vote for him "if you can get our school some money from the government." When Rev. Charles Stephen, minister of the Unitarian Church in Lincoln, testified against the bill, he drew a laugh when he said he hadn't asked members of his congregation to write the senators. Stephen also said "the wall of separation" between church and state should be maintained. "I choose not to have my taxes support religious institutions," he said. Ross Rasmussen, secretary of the Nebraska State School Boards Assn., said the bill amounted to "an erosion of the doctrine of the separation of church and state." Rasmussen, a former senator from Hooper, said when the legislators took their oath of office they pledged to support "public education." John Lynch, secretary of the Nebraska State Education Assn., said, "No matter how meritorious the concepts of this bill, I'm afraid it's unconstitutional." He said an attempt should be made to change the constitution. Moylan, chief sponsor of the bill, said supporters had considered changing it into a constitutional amendment which could be presented to the voters in the 1970 general election. But, he said, private attorneys decided the proposal's constitutionality could be defended, so the sponsors left it unchanged. Paul O'Hara, executive director of the Nebraska Catholic Conference which prepared the bill, said his organization wants the bill passed so the courts can make a final determination of its constitutionality. Hellwege Services Held in Oregon A funeral service for Rev. Emil Hellwege, 62, a native of Ord who had served as pastor of the Hope Lutheran Church in Springfield, Ore., the past 13½ years, was held Apr. 2 in the Oregon church. Interment was in the Springfield Memorial Cemetery. Mr. Hellwege died Mar. 30 in his home at 730 B Street in Springfield, of an apparent heart attack. THE Ord Quiz

Wanted: More Eyes

Travel on area highways is dangerous enough at best, but certain thoughtless individuals are making it doubly treacherous again this spring.

So far during 1969, four flares set out by employees of the State Highway Department have been stolen. When lighted, the flares warn motorists of especially dangerous chuck holes — and drivers need all the help they can get after this year's long and severe winter which has left highways throughout the area pitted.

Severe penalties are possible for anyone caught stealing state property, and law enforcement officers have been advised of the problem. But they, as well as Highway Department employees, point out that the potential danger to life and property should be a far greater deterrent than the threat of criminal prosecution.

"Whoever is stealing the flares just doesn't know the danger he's creating," State Patrolman Gerald Schmitt said last week. "The danger Schmitt talks about is real. Glenn Holtz of Ord will testify to that."

Several years ago Holtz hit an unmarked hole north of Cotesfield, throwing his car out of control. It happened to be his lucky night, however, and he was not hurt even though the car was demolished.

Such misfortune did not faze the pot stealers, since they—or someone else—returned during the night and stripped everything of value from the wrecked automobile.

The four thefts so far during 1969 are just an average year, reports Ellis Douthit, State Highway Department supervisor for this area. Quite often in the past thieves have also taken warning signs and flags as well, he notes, leaving danger areas completely unmarked. Once they made off with a 3-foot-by-6-foot sign.

Such persistent individuals will not be stopped easily. However, Douthit and Schmitt hope that their pleas will strike a responsive chord.

If they don't, the public's assistance will be solicited to help identify the thieves. An alert populace can, multiply many-fold the eyes of state patrolmen and county sheriffs, and a call reporting the license number and description of any suspicious automobile will be appreciated.

Every flare which remains at its intended location could mean the saving of a life—or several of them.

Don't Clog the Streets and Highways

Local officials are also putting out another plea to area residents this week—and this time they say they're getting too much help.

The problem is the heavy flow of traffic recently to the scenes of accidents and fires.

"All such people do is hinder," Fire Chief Ivan Sorensen said Tuesday. He was talking about those individuals who follow—or in some cases precede—emergency equipment to the scene of an accident or fire.

There's a law against following fire trucks and ambulances, just as there is against stealing state property. Yet the traffic was so heavy enroute to the most recent automobile crash that an emergency unit had to drive for more than half a mile on the left-hand side of the road in order to pass vehicles that wouldn't pull over.

Such thoughtlessness is harmful in several ways. It poses extra dangers for the emergency units which are travelling at high rates of speed, and it delays for precious seconds and minutes the application of rescue efforts. In certain situations such delays could cost a life.

Sorensen acknowledged that bonafide firemen do have to go to the scenes of tragedies sometimes in their private automobiles, but he cautioned anyone else against doing so.

Each fireman's auto is marked with a sticker, and law enforcement authorities can enforce the regulations if things don't improve. But that will be placing an extra burden on them at a time when their attention is needed elsewhere. They prefer that citizens simply cooperate to solve the problem.

Some People Have Strange Rules As to What We Can Worry About

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I'm sorry I ever brought up that "think break" business. The feller got wound up on the subject Saturday night, and I was glad when it came time to lock up and go home.

Adolph Pesek reported he had seen by the paper where this state attorney in Virginia allowed a convict is not qualified to say the death penalty is cruel, unusual punishment "as he has not undergone it."

Adolph said that puts the stopper in the worry jug. The Russians or the Chinamen haven't blown us up yet, allowed Adolph, so we ain't qualified to worry about getting blowed up.

The government is spending $350 million a year making germs and gas, and the Army has got enough now to kill 30 times as many people as there are in the world.

A few drops of the stuff can kill a feller, Adolph said, and the Army is shipping it all over the country by railroad. No need to worry about a train wreck busting a barrel of germs, Adolph said, "cause we ain't qualified to worry about something that ain't happened."

Actually, Adolph said, what we got to worry about is the Russians. They got enough germs and gas to kill everybody in the world 240 times. It ain't that we're worried about them using those deadly chemicals on us, he said, it's that we got to have more stored up than the Russians fer our own protection.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

They Work and Work

Let me tell you that the picture of the loafing Mexican, huddled in his serape, buried under a big sombrero, isn't actually true. That is, it's not too typical. Very hard work is the portion of much of the population.

And they begin working when they're so tiny.

Lads no more than 3 or 4 carry stands of postcards to sell. Or they carry 50 strands of beads. Or they carry large paper flowers to put on your hat. Or, the hat plus the flowers, trying to sell it all. The little girls are so earnest about it too.

Dozens of boys want to shine your shoes. So they lug a wooden stand, some polish and rags. And they'll cheerfully crawl under your table to shine you — give you a good shine.

Urchins cry, "Watch your car, Senor?" Sometimes it's safer to hire them for a peso (8 cents) or two. They will happily tote your packages and expect no pay. They will go endless blocks to guide you, pleasantly, often refusing your money.

Small girls help in the little family stores. Often they speak English where the parents do not. Sometimes the child can make change better than her parents! These same small girls embroider and sew late in the evening, long after twilight. They sit on the front step of the shop, and I feel they're going to be blind. But they use small, few lights habitually — everything doesn't blaze the way we do it at home. I've discovered Americans have a phobia—it's gotta be bright!

Of course manpower is nothing here. One man will carry one board! Such inefficiency we would say. But then along comes a fellow with a great glass jug of water under each arm; he's working hard enough! And the women wash with rocks—using one for a rubber and one for a washboard—nothing lazy there. They don't sit around watching the Maytag do it all, as we do!

VOX POP

Dear Editor:

I am a music teacher, so may I teach.

"West Side Story" the most recent showing at the Ord Theatre, is an outstanding film version of the Broadway musical by the same name. This is due not to the plot (a worn-out idea) but to the music and dance.

Of course in real life gang members don't go lolling around the streets, bragging by means of song how great they are. Nor was the audience watching a live thing, but an Academy Award-winning film. A film involving jazz-ballet sequences, great vocal numbers, and fantasy — the greatest of American musical theatre.

The audience should be aware of this fact of form so it is not tempted to burst out laughing when a character suddenly starts singing his lines rather than merely speaking them (there is more singing and dancing in the film than speaking).

But wait! I might be scaring people from attending such a confused sounding affair. Please don't deprive yourself of such a great experience. But do beware of the people who will try to cheat you out of your dollar after you are there!

That is my gripe and the point I really want to make in this letter. Noise! Noise! Noise! It takes an immature to use the mildest of adjectives) person to laugh and "yuk it up" throughout an entire show. Even the most sensitive and emotional parts of the film were marred at the Sunday night showing by laughter just because someone on the screen began to sing. Someone has to borrow a phrase from the show) a "social disease".

This isn't the first time this has been observed here in Ord. Take, for example, the concert presented by the University of Nebraska symphonic band. A similar audience reaction prevailed.

Why? I don't know. The only fortunate thing is that it is some and not the entire audience. It is that remaining portion which I hope is also aware of the disrespect and immaturity shown.

One more point on the side. If Ord were to obtain the State Game Commission, it would also obtain Lincoln people who are exposed not only to the movie theatre, but to symphony orchestra concerts, live theatre and many other types of cultural presentations. I ask, would they have been impressed by the actions of the audience around them had they attended "West Side Story" Sunday evening?

Sincerely,
Jim Ochsner

When You And I Were Young
(Items from files of The Ord Quiz of Years Ago)

10 Years Ago
Mrs. Edward (Helen) Kokes of Ord was elected first vice-president of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women at the conclusion of a three-day convention in Grand Island.

Abelrose J. (Bud) Shirley, widely known old timer, died at the age of 96 years in a Burwell rest home.

Lyle (Bud) Novosad, a well known farmer living northeast of Ord, started training for a temporary assignment at the Ord Post Office.

Actual work began on construction of the new bridge across the North Loup River at Ord.

Dr. C. J. Miller announced that the Ord Hospital, which he owned and operated and which had long been a landmark of this community, would close as of Oct. 1, just when the strange animal that had been perplexing citizens of this area was about forgotten, it again made its appearance on the Ray Peterson place in Mira Valley. Mr. Peterson reported it was larger than a dog, but he did not see it closely enough to describe it further. There was not the slightest doubt that some such animal existed and it was hoped that somebody might see it some time when he had a powerful rifle with him.

Rose Suchanek of Ord was mighty proud of a six-pound cat fish which gave her the lead in the women's division of the Quiz fishing contest and third place in the open to all classification.

30 Years Ago
Wayne Bell, son of John Bell of Mira Valley, died of pneumonia at his home.

Vivian Cummins became the bride of Richard Rowbal in an evening ceremony at Neligh performed by Rev. C. W. Wanta.

The Dec. 2 marriage of Gladys Easterbrook to Allen Masters was announced.

Ord people were proud of the new theater which was one of the finest in the Loup Valley region and perhaps the best in Nebraska for a city of this size. Serving as employees of manager M. Bismond were Mrs. Jeanette Clement, Mrs. Richard Rowbal, Bud Wilson, Curt Gumdumndsen, Cornelius Biemund, and Bert Bouquet Jr.

40 Years Ago
Charles Bowers, superintendent of Ord schools, was chosen vice-president of the State Assn. of Principals and Superintendents. And at a meeting of the Ord Rotary Club, Bowers was elected president of that organization for the new year.

Dan Bartlett, son of Mayor and Mrs. Bartlett of Ord purchased the Arcadian, a newspaper which had been published at Arcadia for some time by D. J. McCoy.

Members of the Odd Fellows Lodge and Rebekah Lodge attended an anniversary service held at the Baptist Church in their honor.

A 2.70 - inch rain did a surprising amount of damage to the Bussell Park area when water got high enough to go over the tops of picnic tables.

KERRY ON

By Kerry Leggett

—newton know—

It's called the "Swinging Wonder." Many of you have seen it advertised. I'm sure. I received it as a Christmas gift.

Referred to in some ads as a "kinetic phenom," five steel balls are suspended on strings. When one or more balls is set in motion it demonstrates the Newtonian law of motion... of opposite and equal reaction to every action.

Though I had intended to take it to the office with me, it still sits on our coffee table in the living room at home... where I placed it after opening the gift last Christmas Eve. The "Swinging Wonder" has provided endless hours of intrigue for every member of our family.

When set in motion, you can hear the steel balls rhythmically clicking back and forth. You're likely to hear this at the oddest times at our house. I've chanced to hear the balls set in motion while the household was still shaking off the effects of a night's sleep—early in the morning. Then I've heard them long after I thought everyone was in bed and sound asleep—knowing, then, that someone was up and in the living room.

"Not exactly a game..." the ads say, "but an intriguing device that offers hours of almost hypnotic fascination, not to mention relaxation... but reflection on life itself."

"For every action there's a reaction," I hear myself say, gladly putting the balls in motion.

Though Newton theorized in the physical properties of action and reaction, his observation can be readily adapted to the psychological dilemmas confronting us daily. Thusly, if I picture myself as the end ball and can only come in contact with the ball immediately adjacent to it, my action reverberates on through the next three balls in line and sends the fourth one swinging!

Any newspaper is under constant surveillance by its readers. We're criticized for the news we DO run and for the news we MISS. We're criticized for items some people consider are published "prematurely" and for items others consider "no longer news." We are refused when we request news, then ostracized for NOT carrying particular items.

Though Lorenzo Dow was defining Calvinism—in his "Reflections on the Love of God"—when he wrote these words, he was still writing, "You'll be damned if you do—and you'll be damned if you don't," Dow opined.

As the staff of The Quiz is assailed for its handling of the news, we're off to join our beleaguered brethren in Lincoln this week for the 95th annual meeting of the Nebraska Press Assn.

On Friday evening—when the awards are presented—we'll be thinking of our "Swinging Wonder" at home on the coffee table. For every action there's a reaction that take home the plaques this year... or any year... are the people of "action." Undoubtedly they've caused "reaction."

To hang in suspended inaction is not our cup of tea. When we touch the lives of others... causing reaction... then we know we are not dead. When we cease to swing and be swung at, we'll turn over in our grave and ask, "How now, Lorenzo Dow?"

The Scott Report

From The Washington News-Intelligence Syndicate
By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — The spring maneuvers of the Moscow-directed Warsaw Pact nations involve far greater numbers of military units and cover a much wider area of Europe than so far reported in the press.

As pieced together by NATO intelligence authorities, the strategic "war games" include ground, air, and sea forces the length of Eastern Europe and in the Black Sea, the Atlantic Ocean, and the Mediterranean Sea.

In the Black Sea area, Russia's new helicopter-equipped carriers were used for the first time to land an invasion force in Bulgaria. This maneuver extended into Romania despite previous statements by the Bucharest government that no Warsaw Pact troops would enter that country.

While no overall assessment of the purpose of these Communist military maneuvers has yet been completed, NATO military chiefs warned one high-level American intelligence official assigned to assess its significance for the Defense Department.

Round - the - clock American reconnaissance flights, he pointed out, reveal that the 20-vessel fleet which sailed last month from Russia's northern ports is now taking part in the coordinated maneuvers.

This huge task force, led by several ballistic missile-firing nuclear submarines, is in direct radio contact with Moscow's new advance military command center at Milovice, Czechoslovakia, where Marshal Andrej Grechko, the Soviet defense minister, is directing the European maneuvers.

Intelligence analysts here say they cannot remember the Soviet Union placing so many major warships in separate armadas (Atlantic, 20; Mediterranean, 42; Black Sea, 30) and deploying them so far from Soviet territory in coordinated maneuvers with Soviet naval task forces in the Atlantic and Mediterranean including so many oilers and replenishment ships that the fleets can operate for weeks away from their home ports.

The recent visit of Soviet President Podgorny to Algeria and Morocco was designed to clear the way for negotiations with those countries. Purpose of the negotiations will be to obtain bases for Russian naval air units in the two strategic ocean-bordering nations.

The acquisition of these bases is part of Moscow's grand design to encircle Western Europe with permanent and floating bases in order to cut off the United States militarily and politically from Europe, forcing the withdrawal of American troops from the continent.

Forward Strategy

This outward movement of Soviet military power, according to U.S. intelligence authorities, is likely to be accompanied by an increase in both the militancy of national liberation wars and movements and in direct strategic support by the Soviets for such wars in Africa, Asia, and South America.

Unless the NATO nations led by the U.S. work out comprehensive plans to deter this new strategy of Soviet leaders, the anticipated result could be far-reaching Soviet hegemony over a substantial portion of the world's territory and population.

Together with major advances in Soviet strategic military power (bigger missiles, an ABM, and orbital bombers) and a disintegration of the cohesiveness, power, and will of the non-Communist nations, this strategy could decisively tip the balance of world power in favor of the Soviet Union.

This shift of power, if not opposed, will permit Soviet leaders to proceed with the final two stages of Lenin's original agenda — the mobilization of another round of intracapitalist confrontations, and the final showdown between the Communist nations and the U.S.

As part of its psychological warfare campaign to create right conditions in the world for the growth of Soviet political power, Moscow already is well advanced in its planning of world-wide events to honor the centenary of Lenin's birth.

For example, the Soviet delegation at the United Nations succeeded recently in getting that organization's Human Rights Commission to adopt a little-noticed resolution welcoming the decision of the UNESCO general conference to mark Lenin's birth.

The UNESCO conference, scheduled for Tampere, Finland in April, 1970, will memorialize Lenin, the most vicious revolutionary of our age. The title of the conference: "V. I. Lenin and Questions of Developing Science, Culture, and Education."

Under the "Surface" connected with the intelligence services of Moscow's State Security Agency... Professor Ku Yu-hsiu, a former deputy minister of education for the Maoist Chinese government on Formosa, recently spent 10 days in Moscow. He now teaches electrical engineering at the University of Pennsylvania and has a residence in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Robertson's Grandson Wounded in Vietnam

By Berenice Cornell

Eva Robertson talked by telephone Apr. 2 with her son Charles and family of Riverside, Calif. The Californians had received word that their son Michael, who is in Vietnam, had been wounded. They didn't know how badly.

Grandson Home
Mae Dockhorn had a call the same evening from her son Louis and family of Hampton, Va., telling her that a son of their's was home on leave from Vietnam.

on food given by Genevieve Lawrence, extension agent for Buffalo County. Training on home living was conducted by Magdalene Pfister, a specialist in home furnishings.

More Cooks Needed
Don't forget the meetings concerning "Cooking for One or Two," to be given in the recreation center. They will begin at 2 p.m. each of the next two Tuesdays. The first meeting in the series was held this Tuesday; however, anyone who missed it may still attend the next two.

Thumb Green Already
The winter can boast of crocuses blooming beneath the south window of her unit, as well as a beautiful display of African violets inside. Thirteen plants are in bloom — not a big lot in number — but the blooms and foliage are fit for a show display.

Great-Niece Greeted
Marguerite West, Tillie Massey, Berenice Cornell, and Mrs. Myrtle Nelson went with Will Benson to the hospital Friday. Each visited with several friends, including two Parkview residents, Lyda Porter and Bessie Timmerman. Marguerite also saw a Comstock friend, Charles Eller, sick. That evening Lillian was at the hospital to see a niece's new baby girl. The little miss is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bennett of Scotia.

Delivers Lilies

NOXIOUS WEEDS

GENERAL NOTICE

Noxious Weeds Must Be Destroyed

You are required to destroy noxious weeds on your property.

Notice is hereby given this 2 day of April 1969, pursuant to the Nebraska Noxious Weed Law Section 2-955 Subsection A, to every person who owns or controls land in Valley County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds standing, being, or growing on such land shall be destroyed or eradicated by effective cutting, tillage, cropping, pasturing, or treating with chemicals or other effective methods, or combination thereof, approved by the County Weed Control Superintendent, as often as may be required to prevent the weed from blooming and maturing seeds, or spreading by root, root stalks or other means.

Upon failure to observe this notice the county weed control superintendent is required to proceed pursuant to the law and have weeds destroyed by such method as he finds necessary, the expenses of which shall constitute a lien and be entered as a tax against the land, and be collected as other real estate taxes are collected, or by other means as provided by law.

By Order of the Valley County Weed Control Authority

Come to Church

Go! Tell!

"Now go and tell this message to his disciples, including Peter. He is going to Galilee ahead of you; there you will see him, just as he told you." — Mark 16:7

"But Go, Tell! What tremendous action words, don't sit back and simply rejoice in what has happened, Go! Tell! There is a picture in which the artist has captured so vividly the intense expression of these two words. It is the picture of two men, Peter and John, running. Their hair is streaming back in the wind. Their bodies are leaning forward as if they could not move rapidly enough. Their faces epitomize the tremendous message that they must speak, joyous anticipation is simply bubbling out. This should be our expression today. They are the words of action in relation to the resurrection message. Christ lives, He lives today. They have been the propelling forces behind the everlasting motion of Christianity for the compelling necessity to "Go" and "Tell" is inherent in the good news itself.

The Easter message has a motion to it that is unequalled in the history of man. It has hurled man and woman out to the farthest limits of space and time. We can see the long line of people running with it, first to Asia, Greece, Europe, Africa, America and now to the far reaches of space. Someone has said, fittingly, that "The high meaning of 'He is Risen', never gets into a person until it gets into his feet."

The question is asked of us: "Has it gotten into us? Not only into our minds and hearts, but into our feet? These verbs are in the present imperative mood — "Go", "Tell".

Tim Dubas Shows Most Skill in Easter Egg Hunt

By Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski
The children of St. Mary's Parish enjoyed an egg hunt Sunday morning after Mass. Enough eggs were colored so that each child would get at least two. They were placed around the church building and rectory.

Three prize eggs were also marked and hidden. Those lucky enough to find the prize eggs were Tim Dubas, who discovered the first-place egg, and received a badminton set, Steve Iwanski, who received the second-place prize of a toy car, and Sidney Jablonski, who got a chocolate rabbit for finding the third-place egg.

Mr. and Mrs. John Durand had as Easter dinner and supper guests Mr. and Mrs. Polish Saminski, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Janus and Ron, and Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Bolessen and family, all of Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Durand's daughters, Joyce and Phyllis of Lincoln, also spent the weekend with their parents. The girls are attending the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Iwanski and family spent Easter Sunday with Mrs. Iwanski's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Iwasy, at Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Papiernik had as guests for Easter dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Max Osen-towski and Mrs. Josie Osen-towski of Ord. Also present was Mr. and Mrs. Papiernik's son, Michael, who attends the University of Nebraska and was spending Easter vacation with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lech and Mr. Leo Dubas were Easter dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hany Lech and family at Burwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Enos Zulkoski and Reggie, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Petska and boys, and Mrs. Dale Zulkoski and son Matthew of Burwell were Easter dinner and supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Kobes.

Leo Dubas was a Saturday evening guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dubas. Easter dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paddy Colbon of Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. Barrel Borlyk and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Teahon and Jill, all of Ravenna, and Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Worm of Taylor.

Those on the Elyria voting place were Mrs. Opal Kuklish, Mrs. Frank Hora, Mrs. Larry Barla, Mrs. Joe Paprocki, and Mrs. Joe Schamp. Mr. Paprocki and Keith Kuklish were re-elected to city offices.

Easter Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novty were Mr. and Mrs. George Vavra and Marlene, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spencer, Johnnie and Gene, all of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zadina of North Loup; and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novotny, Jim, John, Joseph and Tom, plus Patricia of Lincoln, who was home for a week's vacation. The day was spent visiting and viewing slides.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Riecken were Easter Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knight and family. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Diers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vesckerna and Gilbert Jr., Mrs.

Fred Vesckerna, and Junior Riecken. The afternoon was spent playing cards. The Diers had come from Elkhorn to spend the Easter vacation with relatives.

Elyria children who attend the Ord Catholic School had Monday off for Easter vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McMullen of Ericson were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hora and family.

Moisture, Fertilizer Cost Brighten Farm Prospects

Scenes like this one on the Eldon Psota farm west of Ord were repeated throughout the Loup Valley early this week.

Accustomed to fighting from a defensive posture, farmers are beginning this 1969 crop year in an unusually favorable position.

Warm dry weather the past two weeks has permitted most tillers of the soil to get into the fields the last few days. What they found there was the best soil moisture they've had in years, plus healthy stands of winter wheat and alfalfa. At least that's the report from Lloyd Zikmund, manager of the Valley County Agriculture Stabilization & Conservation Office.

As if that weren't enough, farmers who haven't purchased their fertilizer yet have another pleasant surprise awaiting them. Costs are down considerably on that commodity.

"The fertilizer people are now in the same position the farmer has been in previously," Virgil Bencke reported Tuesday. "They've overproduced."

Bencke manages the Farmers Co-Op Elevator in Ord, and he reported that prices on liquid fertilizer are down approximately 25 percent from last year. Anhydrous ammonia is down 10 percent, Bencke said, while phosphate and other kinds of fertilizer are cheaper by lesser amounts.

The likelihood is that fertilizer prices will stay low the rest of the year, Bencke added. "Ordinarily they don't change during the farming season," he said. "Because it's down the most and is easier to apply on damp ground, more liquid fertilizer is being used this year," Bencke said.

"It goes on easy in damp soil like we've had around here lately, and it can be applied faster," he explained.

The low profits have not affected co-op farmers to any great extent yet, Bencke indicated.

"We certainly feel the affects," he said, "but it's hardest on the manufacturers. It's so simple to make fertilizer now compared to eight or 10 years ago that they've just produced too much. They've got too much fertilizer like the farmer has too much corn."

About the condition of fields, Zikmund stated: "With the moisture we have presently things couldn't look better. It appears we'll have our best first cutting of alfalfa in years, and not a single person has been into the office to report winter-kill on wheat. Apparently the snow cover protected it in more than during an ordinary winter."

Many farmers gave them selves bonuses by fertilizing last fall, Zikmund said. Vegetation is really prospering in areas that were fertilized following the late autumn rains, he reported.

Despite the rosy outlook, farmers report that they could still use some rain now. Eldon Psota was one of those out for the first time Monday, discing a prospective oats and alfalfa patch west of town. "We've got good ground moisture," he reported, "but I was surprised to find it dry about three feet down. We could use a good rain right now."

Psota said most of the snow—at least on his land—blew from open fields into ones that still had corn stalks standing. As a result, those fields seem to have more moisture than the open ones.

Most farm work at present consists of shredding corn stalks and fertilizing in preparation for feed grain planting. Corn ordinarily is not planted in this area until May 5 or later.

Zikmund reported that the highest percentage of farms ever to sign up for the government's feed grain program has been registered this year. Of approximately 600 eligible farms in Valley County, 775 will take part in the program, he said.

"It probably would have been even higher, but quite a few of the others were already in long-term diversion programs," he said.

Two Ord FFA Students Selected State Farmers

One of the highest honors that can be awarded a member of the Future Farmers of America will be bestowed on a pair of Ord High School students today.

Ron Husek and Gary Bruha will become State Farmers in ceremonies this evening at the state FFA convention in Lincoln. To qualify as a State Farmer, a student must have the degree of Chapter Farmer and have been an active member of FFA for at least two years. He must be able to lead group discussions of at least 40 minutes duration and must have earned at least $500. The money must have been invested or deposited in a bank, and the student must be in the top 20 percent of his class with a grade average of not lower than 83. He is also required to demonstrate proficiency in parliamentary procedure, be familiar with the state association and the national organization's constitution, and have an outstanding supervised farming project or other agricultural work experience program in operation. Finally, he must be regularly enrolled in vocational agriculture class.

Gary Bruha started his agricultural operation during his freshman year by fattening one beef and eight swine animals, and caring for 10 acres of corn. His sophomore year Gary had 41 fattening swine and 16 beef breeding cattle.

During his four FFA years Gary has also completed 15 betterment projects and 40 supplementary practices.

Ron Husek started his farming program in his freshman year with one fattening beef and 10 acres of corn. He completed eight supplementary practices and three betterment projects.

During Ron's sophomore year his farming program consisted of one fattening beef, 10 acres of corn, and five breeding heaves. He had 10 supplementary practices and 6 betterment projects.

In his junior year he increased his program to 10 acres of corn, five breeding heaves, one fattening beef, two sows with litters, and 26 acres of alfalfa. That year he also completed 45 supplementary practices and 10 betterment projects.

Ron plans to have 10 acres of corn, 26 acres of alfalfa, 6 breeding heaves, two fattening heaves, and two sows with litters for his farming program this summer. He plans to complete 13 betterment projects and 50 supplementary practices.

New Books Spice Local Display In Observation of Library Week

Ord's city librarian, Mrs. Ida Caselton, has extended a special invitation for every citizen to visit the library next week. That's National Library Week, Apr. 20-26.

The theme for this year's national week is "Be all you can be read."

A number of new books for all age groups was recently received. Mrs. Caselton reported, and many of them will be on display. They may be checked out the following week, she said.

Of particular interest to high school students are "a few" modern fables on stereo. More are expected soon, she added. A new door has also been installed at the library to facilitate entry and exit.

The theme of National Library Week this year provides a special opportunity to emphasize the personal rewards in reading," Mrs. Caselton said. She added:

"To me it is a personal challenge to do all I can to make your library a better place for you. It is my sincere hope it will be a challenge to you to use your library more."

Some of the new books recently received include the following:

General

"Judas, My Brother" by Frank Yerby, "The Hungering Dark: Death of a President" by William Manchester, "Red Sky at Morning" by Richard Bradford, "Everything But Money" by Sam Levenson, "A World of Profit" by Louis Auchincloss, "God's Country and My People" by Wright Morris, "The Generous Years" by Chet Huntley, "Ernest Hemingway and the Pursuit of Heroes" by Leo Gurko, "Tell Me How Long the Trains Been Gone" by James Baldwin, "The Good Life" by Douglas Wallop, "The Arms of Krupp" by William Manchester, "The Naked and the Dead" by Norman Mailer, "Dwight L. Moody: American Evangelist 1837-1899", "Thirteen Days — A Memoir of the Cuban Crisis" by Robert F. Kennedy, and "The Sleep of Reason" by C. P. Snow.

Children's Books

"Life on Tiger Mountain," "Turi's Poppa," "On the Banks of Plum Creek," "Little House on the Prairie," "Farmer Boy,"

County Ministerial Assn. Installation costs for the service, as well as the first month's usage fee, were financed from an offering taken up at the community-wide Good Friday service.

Students Plan Big Clean-Up Today; City Dump Will Be Object of Labor

Quick action will be taken on the complaints of two citizens who appeared at this month's City Council meeting.

John Gormann and Ray Hurlbert showed up to complain about debris being strewn over their fields near the city dump. They said the debris makes it impossible to apply fertilizer to their land.

Partially as a result of the complaint, the Ord High student body — "two or three hundred strong," according to Mayor Bill French — will appear at the dump Thursday afternoon to clean it up.

They will be paid a nominal sum, French said, which will go into the fund to help support an exchange student here. The arrangement is being made by city officials through the high school.

As a long-range solution to the problem, the city is looking for a new dump site.

"We want a land-fill site," French said. By that he meant the city will try to find a canyon, dam up the end (putting a drain in) and dump its garbage there. As the trash piles up, small amounts of dirt will be spread over it in layers. Finally, when the entire canyon is full, a dirt cover of several feet will be spread over the top, and the ground can then be used for other purposes.

"It would be farmable land when we finish," French said, "or you could actually build right on top of it if you wanted to."

Until such a site is acquired, the city will continue using the present dump. However, to prevent the scattering of garbage and trash, two men will be hired to act as caretakers. One has already been employed, French said, and the other will be hired shortly. Both will be over 65.

Safety Course Will Be Offered To Farm Youth

To permit boys and girls age 14 and 15 to work on farms and ranches and still be cleared of regulations imposed by the Hazardous Occupation Law, a workshop is scheduled May 3, 17, and 24 at Ord High School.

The workshop will consist of three eight-hour sessions covering tractor operation, maintenance, and safety. It is open to residents of Valley, Greeley, Garfield, Loup, Wheeler, and Sherman counties. The sessions will be held in the Vocational Agriculture room at the high school. Instruction will be given on all phases of safe tractor operation, as well as the safe operation of a number of power-driven farm machinery items.

A $5 registration fee will be assessed to cover cost of supplies and insurance for workshop participants.

Boys or girls interested in this workshop may call or write John Schade, Valley County Extension Agent, Ord, Neb. 68802. Registration papers should be in Schade's office no later than Apr. 26.

Rainfall Total
Ord's precipitation to date for 1969 is 3.48 inches. The total recording at this time last year was 2.22 inches.

Juniors Top Third-Quarter Honor Roll; All-A Recipients Increase From 14 to 18

The juniors left little doubt as to which class was the "brightest" at Ord High School during the third quarter of the 1968-69 academic year.

Twenty members of the 11th grade were named to the recently announced honor roll, helping their class outdistance the 9th grade by eight students. The two groups had been in close competition during the first and second quarters, but while the freshmen were losing two scholars during the third quarter the juniors were gaining one.

The 11th-graders also increased their number of all-A students from three to six.

Besides the juniors, only the 8th grade showed an increase in honor roll members over the second quarter. In that group Sharelyn Barr — who was the lone representative last time — was joined by three classmates.

Overall, the list of honored students dipped from 62 to 59 with the 10th grade showing the largest decline. It dropped from 14 to 10 students.

But while the list was declining overall, the number of all-A recipients was rising from 14 to 18. The complete honor roll (all-A students in bold-face type):

12th Grade
Beverly Bremer, Roger Cahill, Ron Husek, Pam Hurlbert, Nancy Krellek, Pam Lambert, Jeanette Lange, Paula Waldmann.

11th Grade
Karen Boddyfield, Darrel Bremer, Dan Chichester, Chris Erickson, Marjorie Fausz, Nancy Hopkins, Marlon Huffman, Dennis Hultinsky, Duane Kowarik, Donna Krellek, Jenni Lela, Ramona Luoma, Judy Marsh, Dennis Slick, Linda Roark, David Scott, Carole Sorrento, Sonia Swank, Monica Usatz, Julie Winterfeld.

10th Grade
Jan Brethelmer, Alan Cahill, Ann Cummins, Deborah Fish, Cynthia Foth, Debbie Fryiek, Chris Hansen, Betty Nelson, Jo Remington, Cecile Waldmann.

9th Grade
Willis Baldwin, Pamela Hruby, Jackie Hurlbert, Terri Hyde, Patricia Krellek, Jim Martin, Dale Peterson, Jackie Quinn, Jan Remington, Barbara Ringling, Rita Waldmann, Rita Woltsch.

8th Grade
Sharelyn Barr, Bob Lambert, Keith Paulsen, Lynn Sevensker.

7th Grade
Cindy Clement, Marilyn Koker, Georgia Osborn, Pam Quinn, Jeanne Remington.

Fine Arts Festival Stars Local Talent

Members of the Ord Business and Professional Women's Club and guests were pleasantly entertained Tuesday evening at last week's annual social gathering—the Fine Arts Festival held in the fellowship hall of the Ord Presbyterian Church.

Various talent from the surrounding community made up the 8 o'clock program which got underway after a brief business meeting led by Mrs. Howard Paulsen, president of the local organization. Twelve young lads opened the show by singing a medley of welcome songs, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Glen Cochran, teacher of Vinton school Dist. 23. A sample of the Ord Drama Club's accomplishments brought readings and poetry by four Ord High School students, Marjion Huffman, Sue Greenway, Joyce Bogus and Roxan Rogers. Representing the Ord FFA Club were Barry Masin, Mike Krikac, Gary Bogus and Randy Hansen who presented a demonstration to be used in state competition complete with two model farms showing the before and after of soil conservation practice. A girl's trio—Sonja Swaneck, Pam Riddle and Darlyn Novosad—stepped up the beat with two vocal selections accompanied by pianist Connie Bredthauer. The finale of the hour-long show was a rendition of folk songs and dances by the Ord Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Sich, troop leader.

Mrs. Duane Carson was chairman of the evening program with Mrs. Frank Andreesen, Mrs. Ken Calver, Mrs. Glen Cochran and Mrs. Karl McKinnon working as her assistants. Door prizes presented by Mrs. Carson went to Minnie Jensen and Mrs. Calver.

Weekend in Arizona
Mr. and Mrs. Carson Rogers with two of their children Ronald and Regina took a jet flight to Phoenix, Ariz., Friday, for a weekend of sightseeing and visiting with former Ord people Mr. and Mrs. Donald Edwards, Trudi and Tom. The Rogers returned home Monday, bringing greetings to Ord friends and relatives from the Edwards family.

Mrs. Adeline Urbanski and Marlene were in Loup City Sunday for the farewell party honoring Kenneth Kosmicki, who left Monday for the armed forces. Other guests at the home of Mrs. Delores Kosmicki were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kosmicki, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCarville, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thode and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kuta and family, all of Loup City.

An a cappella rendition of Psalm 150 is offered by the varsity chorus at Tuesday night's spring concert.

Contest Numbers Get Formal Rehearsal In High School's Annual Spring Concert

Parents and other patrons saw and heard a full-scale dress rehearsal Tuesday night as the Music Department at Ord High School presented its pre-contest spring concert.

Selections were played and sung which will be presented in the coming scholastic music contests.

The varsity concert band, under the direction of Jim Ochser, opened the program on a jubilant note with the march "Guantanamo" by Van Aiken. A somber Gregorian chant, "Beth's Chant and Jubilo" immediately changed the pace.

The first solo, by Darlyn Novosad on the clarinet, was "Prelude and Rigaudon." It was a light, English-flavored song.

The saxophone sextet—composed of Pam Lambert, Kathy Karre, Dianne Peterson, Jan Koelling, Mike Krikac, and Sonja Swaneck—played Dvorak's "First Movement from Serenade, Op. 44," which came to a distinct musical climax, then gracefully tapered off, leaving the listener with a relaxed, contented feeling.

"The Debanaires" by Johnson was played by a flute trio composed of Chris Bishop, Monica Usasz, and Cynthia Fransen. It was a pretty song that will develop.

Sonja Swaneck played "Sonata No. 3" by Handel-Rascher with expression and feeling.

Mendelssohn's beautiful Nocturno from "Midsummernight's Dream" was played by Rita Wojtaszek on the French horn. Rita is a freshman and will lose her first-night jitters with more experience.

Sigee's Concerto No. 1 was performed by Jan Koelling on the tenor saxophone. She appeared to enjoy the composition as she played it.

The varsity choir, resplendent in red robes, thrilled the audience with acappella singing of Psalm 150 by Lewandowski. Carissimi's lamenting "Pilate's Lament" was their second selection.

Three solos followed—all enjoyable and with a wide range of voices. Sonja Swaneck sang "O' Lovely Night" by Ronald; Darlyn Novosad sang "Ah! Willow" by Wilson; and Dennis Cetak sang "Ol' Jim" by Edwards.

The triple trio—Carole Sorenson, Sonja Swaneck, Marlene Urbanski, Betty Nelson, Kathy Dvorak, Darlyn Novosad, Pam Riddle, Jan Koelling, and Jo Remington—sang "Reverie" by Debussy-Frehanie. It was a beautiful song that was marred only by a slight insecurity.

Misses Swaneck, Novosad, and Riddle then sang a trio arrangement of "Chestnut Tree."

The thrilling finale was "Battle Hymn of the Republic," a Fred Waring arrangement which Ochser transposed from a recording for the varsity concert band and choir. Dennis Cetak sang the baritone solo. This conclusion to an enjoyable performance of high school musicians will last for a long while.

In Rochester Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett received word Sunday that their grandson Spencer Spertling is some improved since undergoing a second brain surgery within the past few weeks. He is in a Rochester, Minn., hospital.

The 13 year old lad is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Spertling now of Lake City, Minn. and formerly of Ord. Mr. and Mrs. George Spertling of Ord are the paternal grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wiberg, Mrs. Helen Wegryzn and Mrs. Frank Zulkoski of Scotia were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jurzenski of Greeley.

Final Services Held on Monday For Ruth Cook

Mrs. Ruth Cook, a longtime resident of the Scotia community, died April 9 in the St. Francis Hospital at Grand Island after a two-month illness. She was 92 years of age.

Funeral services were held at the Scotia United Methodist Church at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon with the Rev. Leonard S. Clark officiating. Mrs. Wanda Essman sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Margaret Williams. Concluding rites were conducted by Crystal Lodge #43, Order of the Eastern Star. Interment was in Mt. Hope Cemetery at Scotia with J. V. Maddox, Ray Tougood, Charles Beebe, Harold Heepner, LaVern Jess and Edgar Stillman as pallbearers. The Hastings-Pearson Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Ruth Lydia Cook, daughter of Alva and Vernie Tiblin Weeks was born Oct. 12, 1886 in Hamilton County. At an early age she came with her parents and family to the Lamartine community near Scotia. She was united in marriage to Harry J. Cook, Dec. 23, 1929 at Scotia. The couple lived in Scotia all their married life with the exception of seven years when they were in California. Mr. Cook preceded his wife in death on June 17, 1965.

Mrs. Cook was a faithful member of Scotia United Methodist Church and of Crystal Lodge #43, Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors are one brother George Weeks of Scotia and several nieces and nephews. Mrs. Cook was also predeceased by her parents, four brothers and one sister.

Kubitschek Appointed Chairman for Law Day

Paul Kubitschek has been named Valley County chairman for the 1969 observance of Law Day. The event will take place May 1. Kubitschek's appointment was announced last week by Tedd Huston of Broken Bow, state chairman for Law Day. The Ord attorney will be responsible for planning and arranging programs in observance of the day.

Price of Gas Air Conditioning Equipment Reduced

Thanks to engineering breakthroughs, manufacturers of gas central air conditioners are now selling LP-Gas air conditioning units at prices much lower than were possible just a short time ago. Reports indicate that new LP-Gas air conditioning systems will last nearly three times longer than electric, will need fewer repairs, and will be no more expensive to operate.

It is anticipated that many small-town and rural families will consider LP-Gas air conditioning for their homes this year.

LP-Gas is piped directly to this area by a division of MAPCO—the Mid-America Pipeline System—the underground highway weather can't block.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of SELF-RESPECT. I want to exchange the SELF-RIGHT-EOUSNESS I picked up the other day for some HUMILITY, which they say is less expensive and wears better.

I want to look at some TOLERANCE which is being used for wraps. I must not forget to bring some samples of PEACE, we are low on that and we can never have too much of it.

By the way, I must try to match some PATIENCE that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her, and I think would look equally good on me. I might try that garment of LONG-SUFFERING that they are displaying. I never thought I would want to wear it. And I must not forget to bring some samples of HUMOR, and look for some inexpensive EVERYDAY GOODNESS.

It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goods is depleted. Yes, I must go shopping soon.

Unfortunately, I cannot take credit for writing the above shopping list, but I thought it worthy of being shared with readers of this column. Each time I read it I'm reminded that I must go shopping — soon.

Hooryay for parties! They take the cake! So why not make a tray of these Macaroon Angel Cupcakes that'll set everyone in the room to oohing with admiration. These are truly unique. So delicious to eat. Nice part is, they go together easy. Frost 'em up to your own choosing. This recipe is from the files of Mrs. Eldon Sich.

Macaroon Angel Cupcakes
3/4 c. flour
1 c. sugar
1/2 t. each baking powder and salt
6 egg whites
1/2 t. cream of tartar
1/2 t. each vanilla and almond extract

1/3 c. sugar, additional
1 c. coconut
Sift together flour, one cup sugar, baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar and extracts until soft mounds form. Add remaining 1/3 c. sugar gradually, beating until stiff peaks form. Fold in dry ingredients gently but firmly. Add coconut. Fill paper cups about half full. Place in muffin cups or on baking sheets. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in slow oven — 300 degrees. Makes 2 to 2 1/2 dozen cupcakes.

Probably one of the nicest greetings ever received was the one Mrs. Bill Deran Sr. received from her daughter Grace and family of Garden City, N.Y. The handmade note filled with love and affection, contained these words from "Cross My Heart," February '69:

"A GRANDMOTHER is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little girls and affections. Grandmas don't have to do anything except be there. They're old, so they shouldn't play hard or run. Usually they are fat, but not too fat to tie the kid's shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear. They can take their teeth and gums off. It is better if they don't type-write or play cards except with us."

"They don't have to be smart, only answer questions like why dogs hate cats and how come God isn't married. They don't talk baby talk like visitors do, because it is hard to understand. When they read to us they don't skip, or mind if it is the same story again."

"Everybody should try to have one, especially if you don't have one because grandmas are the only grownups who have got time."

Linda Armstrong, Delbert John Exchange Wedding Vows in Double-Ring Ceremony

In a 6:30 p.m. ceremony Saturday, Linda Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Armstrong of Arcadia, and Delbert John of Omaha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert John of Arcadia, were united in marriage.

The double-ring ceremony took place at the Calvary Baptist Church in Arcadia with Rev. Charles A. Ver Straten of Omaha officiating. Mrs. Walter Apperson of Blair was the pianist and presented musical music. She also accompanied the soloist, Lloyd Honeywell of Omaha, in "Because," "The Wedding Prayer," and "Each for the Other."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she chose a gown designed of sheer organza and sequin trim lace. The crescent waistline above a controlled A-line skirt had a lace bodice with high scalloped edged neckline. The long bell sleeves were outlined with matching border lace, and appliques of lace were scattered on the chapel-length train. The veil was designed of tulle held in place by a crown of petals accented with pearls and sequins. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of orchids and white poms accented with lilies of the valley.

Maid of honor was Beverly Burk of Lincoln. Pat John, also of Lincoln, was bridesmaid; and Marci John, sister of the groom from Arcadia, served as junior bridesmaid. Their floor-length gowns were of mint green taffeta overlaid with matching chiffon. White lace and black velvet ribbon accented the high yoke and neckline. Each carried a large white mum in a gold basket.

Devil Annonces of Lincoln, a niece of the bride, and Linda John of Omaha, a niece of the groom, were flower girls. They wore long white dresses with green flowers trimming the yoke and high neckline complete with short puffy sleeves. Each carried miniature baskets filled with white rose petals. Curtis Sell of Omaha, a nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Other attendants were Lee Sybrant and Arnold Pierson, both of Omaha. The guests were seated by Robert John of Wahoo, brother of the groom, by William Ryschon of Ord, and by Dean Masters of Broken Bow.

Michael and Charles Leininger of Lexington, nephews of the groom, lighted the candles. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stingsby of Arcadia were host and hostess at a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony. Beverly Bauhard of Lincoln was at the guest book, and the gifts were cared for by Ricky Prien and Mrs. Ross Grandmann, both of Lincoln. Presiding at the serving table was Mrs. Ronald Leininger, sister of the groom, who decorated and served the wedding cake; while Mrs. Elmer Armstrong and Mrs. Homer Armstrong, aunts of the bride from Arcadia, poured coffee and served punch.

The bridal party and guests were served by Janis Rodaway of Lincoln, Susan Hunt of Kearney, and Linda Hunt and Linda Sybrant of Arcadia. For their wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride wore an orange linen dress with matching ivory coat and complementary accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Arcadia High School and was previously employed by the State of Nebraska, Department of Motor Vehicles in Lincoln. The groom, a graduate of Arcadia High School, is a past member of God's Invasion Army and attended Grace Bible Institute in Omaha. He is employed now by Firestone Tire Co. at Omaha.

Mrs. Carl Schauer accompanied Rev. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell to Broken Bow Tuesday to attend the W.S.C.S. district meeting. The all-day session of workshops, luncheon and special speakers was held at the East Church in Broken Bow.

Mary Ellen Edwards, Michael Kusek Wed In Afternoon Ceremony at Lincoln Church

Baskets of white gladioli set the scene for the Monday afternoon wedding at St. Mary's Church in Lincoln when Mary Ellen Edwards became the bride of Michael James Kusek.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Valerie Edwards of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kusek of Arcadia are the groom's parents.

Rev. Ronald Patterson officiated at the 2:30 p.m. nuptial mass. Preceding the ceremony an organ solo was played by Mrs. A. J. Gillispie. She also accompanied the soloist, Robert Jones of Fremont.

Dianne Gzehoviak of Omaha, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Phyllis Kusek, sister of the groom, and Frances Badura and May Basko, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length gowns of pink organza fashioned with a banded waist and high lace necklines. Val lace spiraled down the full long sleeves, and hoodpieces of organza bows with pearl and flower trim held circular veils. The attendants carried cluster bouquets of pink and white carnations with long satin streamers.

Jacqueline Badura was flower girl. She wore a long dress of pink organza trimmed with ruffles and fastened with high neck and long full sleeves, and she wore a matching bonnet which fastened under the chin. She carried a basket of pink and white carnations.

Joseph Gzehoviak was ring bearer.

Escorted to the altar by her uncle, Harold Gzehoviak of Kansas City, Mo., the bride appeared in a skimmer gown of peau de soie which had a wide cobwebbing of peau d'ange lace on the two-tiered skirt, at the yoke of the bodice, and in the rolled collar which was accented with tiny pearl embroidery trim. The full Victorian sleeves of lace were fashioned with a wide cuff. Lace and pearl embroidered appliques were used on the upper train which fell from the bride's shoulders. Her long silk illusion veil was held by a Camelot pill box with organza flower and pearl trim, and it reached the length of her train. She carried white roses and hyacinth, centered with a white orchid showered in satin streamers tied with tiny rosebuds.

The groom's brother, Ray Kusek, was best man. Rick Badura, Paul Kusek and Delmer Louovski were groomsmen. Tom Bake and Michael Arthur seated the guests.

Following the ceremony a reception and buffet dinner were held at the Esquire Club. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Badura and Helen Gzehoviak. Mrs. Harold Gzehoviak cut and served the cake, and Mrs. Franklyn Bake served punch. Harold Gzehoviak proposed a toast to the newlyweds.

Sandra Kusek presided at the guest book while Colleen Kusek and Nancy Badura cared for the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of the Notre Dame Academy of Omaha. She attended Marymount College and is a senior at the University of Nebraska, majoring in voice.

The groom, also a senior at the university, is a zoology major.

Sharon will be graduated from Ord High School this spring and will major in either the secretarial or accounting program at the Grand Island school.

Quiz Adds Two

Newest member of the Ord Quiz family is Frank Decker, a pressman, who began work Apr. 9. Frank, his wife Betty, and two children moved here from Denver, Colo. They are at home at 2215 M Street where the Johany Suedra family lived.

Another recent newcomer to the Quiz plant is Mrs. Sharon Coffman in the Office Department. Sharon is employed as a stripper — a technical name for part of the offset printing operation.

A Birthday Courtesy

One of the newest projects of the Ord JC-Lites is remembering birthdays of patients in the long-term care wing at the Valley County Hospital. Whenever a patient has a birthday, a committee of two or three JC-Lite members calls at the hospital, taking a birthday cake with them.

April has been a slow month — birthday wise — but the committee is making plans for another "Happy Birthday" call on Apr. 24.

Honored For Service

Mrs. Harold Bennett is a recent recipient of a 13 year pin and letter of congratulations for service to the Royal Neighbors of America — Camp 1326. Mrs. Bennett serves as recorder for the benefit society whose headquarters are in Rock Island, Ill.

New Granddaughter Arrives To Cheer Gewekes

By Bertha Clement
Kristen Jean is the name of the 6-pound, 14 1/2-ounce baby daughter born Apr. 9 to Capt. and Mrs. Robert Stowell of Columbus, Ga., at the Valley County Hospital. The little miss has a sister, Dawn Marie, who was a year old in March. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Geweke and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stowell. Mother and baby were released from the hospital Friday and are staying with her folks, the Gewekes.

Visiting Mrs. Stowell and baby at the Geweke home Saturday were Mrs. Bill Vogeler Jr., Mrs. Allen Joe Cetak, and the paternal grandparents. Sunday afternoon visitors were Tim Tolsen, Irwin Kingston, and Mrs. Bryan Peterson and daughter. Supper guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stowell, Irwin Kingston and Tim Tolsen. Mrs. Clare Clement saw the mother and baby Monday forenoon, and the Geweke family stopped to call Monday evening.

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thanks to our relatives, friends & neighbors who extended comforting sympathy and helped in our recent sorrow, for flowers, food and gifts.
Special thanks to Dr. Martin, Father Gorak, Mrs. Elsie Furtak, girls from St. Mary's and the pallbearers for the acts of kindness during our time of bereavement with the loss of our father.
Mr. Jerry J. Faimon
Mrs. Emma A. Potrzeba

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends and relatives for the many acts of kindness, cards, memorials and floral gifts, during the hospitalization and death of our mother, grandnephew, great grandnephew and sister. We share this poem as a tribute to the life Anna Kingston lived:
Life is but a garden
In which we plant the seeds,
Of hope and love and tenderness,
Of kindly thoughts and deeds.
And when the sun has risen
And the seeds begin to grow
They flourish in our dear ones
Because we love them so.
But when the sun has settled
Beyond the distant hill
And the tender blooms have vanished
With the dear heart that is still
We must keep the garden blooming
With courage, faith and trust
Till again we meet our loved one
In the heavens, as we must.

In the Air Force

Duane Lange was honored at a card party in the Eldon Lange home Friday evening. Duane has joined the Air Force and left Monday for San Antonio, Tex. Besides the regular card group, guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Bremer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bredthauer and family of Arcadia, and Mrs. Vernon Veskerna. Winning prizes for high were Julius Ruchuy and Mrs. George Sperling and for low Gust Foth Sr. and Mrs. Sophie Fuss. The traveling prize went to Mrs. Vernon Veskerna.
Duane's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lange hosted a dinner Sunday in honor of their grandson. The rest of the Eldon Lange family and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huffman and Mary were also guests.

Mutual Benefit

Mrs. Henry Lange was hostess to the Mutual Benefit Extension Club Wednesday with 13 members present. Mrs. Dan Cook read an editorial about L.B. 6 urging people to write their senators. She also reported sending magazines for the club to a man in India. Her thought for the day was: "Habits are like a comfortable bed, easy to get into but hard to get out of."
Mrs. Jack Duvall gave a report about Mari Sandoz and her writings, concentrating on her book "Old Jules."
The lesson, "Clothing and the Spirit of the Times," was presented by Mrs. George Clement. The hostess served refreshments using an Easter motif. Mutual Benefit Club women will serve the noon meal when the bloodmobile comes to Ord May 13. Mrs. Ernest Lange will be hostess at the May 14 meeting.

Cetak's Long Shot Put Provides Rare Brightness During Dark Day for Chants at Wrangler Relays

Creating optimism not seen in Ord since his freshman days, Dennis Cetak pitched the 12-pound shot 52 feet, 4 1/4 inches last week in the Wrangler Relays at Burwell.

The long toss gave Ord its only first place of the day as the Chanticleers finished seventh in a field of nine Class A teams.

Broken Bow was first with 54 1/2 points. Just 3 1/2 points separated the next four teams as Grand Island Northwest posed out into city rival Central Catholic for second.

Ord's seventh-place total was 20 points. Cetak's shot put effort was his best ever. The husky senior also got off a good discus throw—129 feet, 2 inches—but finished third in that event.

Rosy things had been predicted for Cetak with regard to the shot when he entered high school. But until this year he had not lived up to expectations.

Except for Cetak, it was a bleak day for the Chants at Burwell. They had no other first, second, or third-place finishers, only one-fourth, and a sprinkling of fifths.

The meet was an about-face for the Red-and-White, which had won a season-opening five-team competition Apr. 3 in Ord.

Most shocking of the individual turn-arounds was Tim Markley's performance in the pole vault. After trying for first at 11 feet, 6 inches in the Ord meet, Markley failed to clear even 10 feet.

"He was complaining of leg problems," Coach Fred Williams said later of his number one vaulter. However, Williams said the ailment was nothing serious, and by Monday Markley had cleared 12 feet in practice.

While Ord was finishing the going difficult, three of the four teams it had beaten in the Apr. 3 meet were having fun. Loup City, Burwell, and North Loup-Scotia took three of the top five places in Class B.

Loup City trailed winner Gibbon by just one point, 40 to 39, while Burwell and North Loup-Scotia each had 30 points. That tied them with Rock County High of Basset for third place.

Individual stand-outs are rare at Loup City, but put a baton in the hand of any Raider and he turns into a superman. At least that's the way it seems to opponents.

That reputation held up at Burwell as Loup City won three of Class B's seven relays and finished second in another.

Usually better in long-distance events, the Raiders were tops this time in the special shuttle hurdle contests. They won both the high and the low, plus the one-mile sprint medley. In their specialty—the two-mile—they were beaten by Chambers.

Burwell and North Loup-Scotia each won one of the other relays. Loaded with good sprinters, host Burwell captured the 800-yard match. The same foursome who won that one—Bob Johnson, Jim Arrants, Rod Barthel, and Steve Messenger—ran second to Rock County in the 440 relay.

North Loup-Scotia's triumph came in the mile relay where the team's four best athletes—Cliff Jorgensen, Al Williams, Chuck Wegner, and Dave Edwards—teamed up for a 3:43.6 clocking. Despite the victory, that time was 4.3 seconds above the foursome's showing in Ord when it was beaten by Loup City.

Rock County athletes dominated the field events, winning four of five first places. No individual competition was held in running events.

A total of 25 teams scored points in the two divisions of the meet.

Next week's big attraction for area teams is the O'Neill Invitational, scheduled Tuesday.

Premier shot putter Dennis Cetak shows discus form.

Zangers Watch Son, Teammates Win Regatta

By Hannah Sheldon
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zanger attended the rowing regatta Saturday between Kansas State and Minnesota in Manhattan, Kan. Their son Chuck is stroke man for Kansas State on the varsity team. Kansas State won all races. Mr. and Mrs. Zanger also visited the Eisenhower Memorial Center in Abilene, the library, and the place of meditation.

18th Birthday Noted
Keith Sintek celebrated his 18th birthday with a pizza party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Sintek. Twenty-five classmates and friends were present.

Foot Injured
Troy Rice, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rice, caught his foot between the hoist and seat while riding a tractor Sunday with his dad. His foot was mashed and he is on crutches; however, no bones were broken.

Girl Scouts Gather
Around 100 parents and friends were present for the Girl Scout and Brownie 5th birthday dinner Sunday, held at the North Loup-Scotia Lunch room. The dinner had been postponed since March. The Girl Scouts and Brownies were awarded badges they had earned.

Ford Shirley Home
Ford Shirley, who has been a patient in the St. Francis Hospital at Grand Island, returned home last Sunday. Saturday overnight and Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Caswell of Franklin and their daughter, Mrs. Ronald Beach of Kearney. They, along with Mrs. Laverne Marshall and Tori of Grand Island and Laurie and Lyndon Beebe, were supper guests of Opal Beebe. Saturday visitors of Mr. Shirley were Ted Shirley of Hastings, Pearl Eberhart of Grand Island, Opal Beebe, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beebe of Scotia.

Surgery Performed
Mrs. Verlin Hanson is a patient in the Valley County Hospital at Ord, having had major surgery Thursday. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Knudsvig, and her brother and his family, the Dean Knudsvigs of Williston, N. D., visited here last week. Her mother remained at the Hanson home to care for the family during her absence.

Swap Places
Dale Mulligan and Lula Manchester recently went to Des Moines, Ia., to bring Mrs. Mulligan home. She had spent six weeks with her sister, Mrs. J. Crouch, while Mrs. Crouch's husband was in the hospital. En route home the Mulligans stopped in Columbus to visit their son Larry. Mrs. Manchester will spend some time with her daughter and the Crouch family in Des Moines, as Mr. Crouch is still a patient in the hospital following surgery.

Personals
Mrs. Fay Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover of Grand Island were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Oliver. Adolph Kokes was a Wednesday dinner guest. A weekend guest of Carol Vogeler was Kristine Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Beck of Scotia.

Mrs. Rusty Holmes was a Thursday afternoon visitor of her daughter and family, the Bad Novosads, in Ord.

Mrs. Calvin Stevens, Kevin, Chipper, and Stephanie spent the weekend at Arlington with Mrs. Stevens' sister, Mrs. Robert Nath, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rasmussen and family and Ella Cook were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Cook. Additional afternoon lunch guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundstedt.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Earnest returned Wednesday from a few days spent with their daughters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Meriman in Lincoln and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Bahm in Memphis. Dale Earnest and boys also visited his sisters and their families before returning to Everett, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fenton were Sunday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Peterson to see the baby who had been a patient in the hospital at Grand Island.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Sintek and family were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilson and Everett Mason of Ord. Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Sintek, Mark and Keith, and Mrs. Carol Geweke and Barry of Lincoln were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Sintek and family. The Bennie Sinteks were also Thursday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rasmussen and family.

Mrs. Eldon Sintek entertained 10 ladies Wednesday morning at coffee in honor of Mrs. George Cox's birthday.
Wickie Wegner of Scotia was a Saturday overnight and Sunday guest of Debbie Sheldon.

Individual livestock producers may bring specimens directly to the laboratory, but in any case their veterinarians will be kept informed.

It must be remembered that this laboratory is intended to help the livestock man and veterinarian. Animals taken to the laboratory for study will be slaughtered and disposed of after the studies and tests have been completed. This precaution is taken to prevent the possible spread of contagious diseases through the facility.

The new laboratory will be officially dedicated May 1.

Reminder — Register Feedlot Operators should have registered their operation with the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council by July 1, 1968, word was received this week that non-penalty will be assessed if they register now.

Registration of feedlots was brought about by the Federal Water Quality Act of 1965 and Nebraska's L.B. 360, which has caused the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council to take steps to determine the extent of possible pollution in the state.

Recent figures from the sanitary engineer's office of the Nebraska State Health Department reveal that about 2,000 feedlots have already been registered. It is very important that you register if you have not already done so or if you are planning to build new facilities or expand present facilities.

Research has begun at the University of Nebraska field laboratory and on several farms to help provide answers to waste disposal problems. Information on some of these problems is given in E.C. 68-76, "Livestock Liquid Manure Disposal Systems." A copy of this publication is available in the County Extension Office. Feedlot registration forms may also be picked up in this office.

Sanford, Mrs. Kasselder and Paul visited his eye doctor.

Reminder — Register Feedlot Operators should have registered their operation with the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council by July 1, 1968, word was received this week that non-penalty will be assessed if they register now.

Registration of feedlots was brought about by the Federal Water Quality Act of 1965 and Nebraska's L.B. 360, which has caused the Nebraska Water Pollution Control Council to take steps to determine the extent of possible pollution in the state.

Recent figures from the sanitary engineer's office of the Nebraska State Health Department reveal that about 2,000 feedlots have already been registered. It is very important that you register if you have not already done so or if you are planning to build new facilities or expand present facilities.

Research has begun at the University of Nebraska field laboratory and on several farms to help provide answers to waste disposal problems. Information on some of these problems is given in E.C. 68-76, "Livestock Liquid Manure Disposal Systems." A copy of this publication is available in the County Extension Office. Feedlot registration forms may also be picked up in this office.

THE Ord Quiz

Estab. April, 1882. Ord, Nebr., Thurs., April 17, 1969. Vol. 88, No. 6. 2 Sects.

This athletic builder was not quite ready for use Monday, but Murel Morrison of St. Paul, left, and Donnie Britton of Burwell found that it still made a nice sitting-down place.

How Smiles Are Made

A miraculous event happened Monday at Ord's Opportunity School.

In the twinkling of an eye, untold hours of sweat and hundreds of dollars were transformed into smiles on the faces of 10 mentally handicapped youngsters.

The catalyst for these smiles was $1,270 worth of new playground equipment, purchased and erected for the school by Ord Jaycees and JC-Ettes.

Actually, countless persons from throughout Valley County had a hand in acquisition of the equipment, since it was purchased with funds raised through Honey Sunday and the JC-Ette Style Show. It was uncrated and put together Sunday by several Jaycees and JC-Ettes, and the children got their first opportunity to use it Monday.

The equipment consists of a heavy-duty swing set with attached seesaws and slide, a three-wheeled bicycle, and an indoor athletic builder. Together with a pair of handsome new tricycles donated last Christmas by the Ericson Women's Club, it insures that the school now has a complete set of top-notch play and exercise equipment.

The athletic builder was suggested by Dr. Barton Kline of Kearney, administrator for Educational Service Unit 13 which oversees operation of the school. He felt it would be particularly useful in helping children with muscular handicaps to improve their coordination.

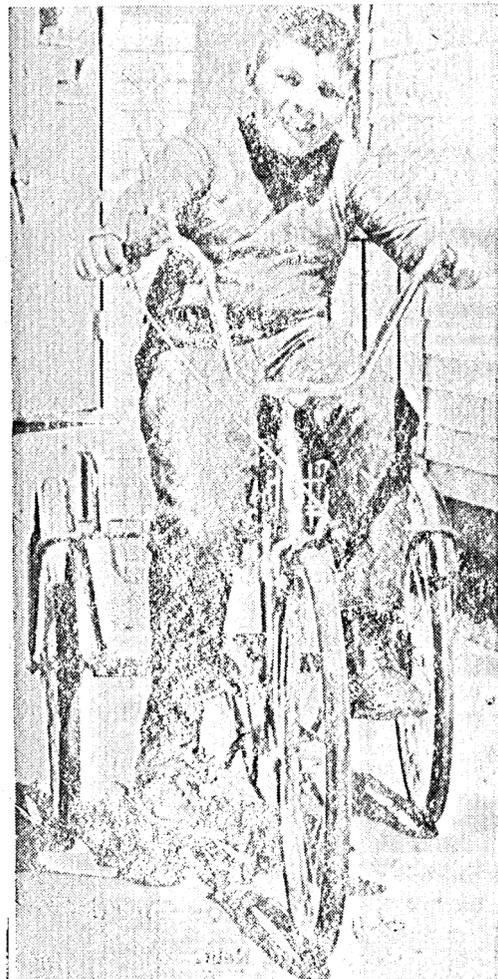

These Ord Jaycees and JC-Ettes realize it really is more blessed to give than to receive.

Rex Marshall of Ord finds the swing seats just fit.

Hank Kusek of Elvira watches Dougie Holeman of Ord Zip down slide.

Charles Wabs of O'Neill finds three-wheeled bike made to order.

'The Letter' Dominates Capitol Talk; Loday's Comments Rile Legislators

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Assn.

LINCOLN — It was the week of 'The Letter.'

Seldom in Nebraska's political history has a single document ignited an explosion with the megatonnage of a letter by John Loday of Omaha.

Loday, a member of the State School Board, addressed a personal note to a colleague on the board, John Wagoner of Grand Island, last month. It was chatty and covered a variety of topics — including Loday's delight that everything seemed to be set for the "execution" of Dr. Floyd Miller as state education commissioner at the board's April meeting.

"I can hardly wait," Loday said.

Copies of the letter — which also dealt with Loday's activities in Omaha political affairs, his disaffection with Omaha School Supt. Owen Kuntzen, plans for the state board to endorse a bill designed to permit state aid to private schools, and other subjects — were sent to three other board members.

The copies went to Dr. Allen Burkhardt, Norfolk, board president, Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington, and Lloyd Wright of Reynolds. Loday and the four persons who received the letter make up a majority of the eight-member board.

Through an accident, a copy of the letter wound up in the possession of the man whose "execution" it pertained.

Burkhardt brought his copy along in his briefcase last week when the board held a meeting at Lincoln to discuss pending legislation dealing with schools. At the close of the meeting, as he was turning some papers over to Miller's secretary for inclusion in the minutes, he inadvertently handed her a copy of Loday's letter.

When the commissioner read the letter, it was like a coach being given his opponent's game plans.

Miller decided to call in the press and distribute the letter without comment. It was given wide publicity.

That set the stage for what apparently would be a showdown at the board's second scheduled meeting of the week. But first the legislature reacted.

Senator Don Elrod of Grand Island introduced a resolution which praised Miller and his staff on "their courageous stand for positive education under the most difficult and adverse circumstances created purposely by the negative majority of the present State Board of Education."

It also censured the board. Although Elrod and the 13 co-sponsors of the resolution tried to have it passed before the board met Friday, they couldn't get the required 33 votes to suspend the rules. The resolution eventually was referred to a committee for hearing.

There was another legislative reaction to the Loday letter. Senator Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff introduced a bill calling for a constitutional amendment which would give the unicameral authority to have the board either elected or appointed. The eight members now are elected.

Carpenter's bill also was sent to committee.

Friday, the board convened at the gymnasium of the Nebraska School for the Deaf in Omaha — and Miller had an attorney with him.

But the motion to fire the commissioner failed to materialize. According to some speculation, Miller's opponents discovered at the last minute their action might be challenged as illegal because the official notice of the meeting hadn't mentioned that continued employment of the commissioner would be on the agenda.

There was evidence that the agenda for the May meeting would include the Miller issue.

The upshot was that Miller — who said he had no intention of resigning — would serve at least another month under the direction of a board which appeared to want him fired.

Back in the legislature, Senator Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha said that if Miller is fired he would offer a resolution to institute impeachment proceedings against Loday. Carpenter said all five board members involved in the letter dispute should be impeached.

Under the constitution and statutes, the legislature institutes impeachment proceedings and the State Supreme Court conducts them.

Pedersen said such proceedings with reference to Loday would be the "logical, practical, legal, and ethical" way to determine if he had violated the statutes or his oath of office.

In addition, Miller was known to be ready to go to court with a challenge if the board fires him.

Supporters in professional education organizations have promised him financial assistance if the matter goes to the courts.

In the statutes, the board is given the power "to remove the commissioner from office at any time for conviction of any crime involving moral turpitude or felonious act, for inefficiency, or for willful and continuous disregard of his duties as commissioner or of the directives of the board."

His backers contend the board cannot prove Miller has been guilty of any of these.

Burkhardt, who described Miller's distribution of the private letter as "unethical and irresponsible," said ample reasons would be given if the board does dismiss the commissioner.

Private School Aid Endorsed

If Loday's prediction of a "power play" to fire Miller failed to come about at Friday's meeting, the board did follow through with another of the events his letter discussed.

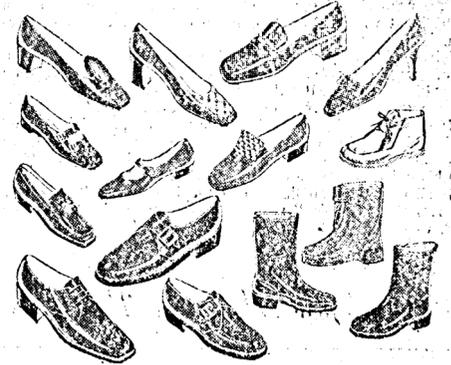

The board voted to endorse a bill, L.B. 1002, which calls for a constitutional amendment to permit the distribution of some state aid to private and parochial schools.

Miller has taken a stand of flat opposition to such aid. The three board members who support him generally — Norman Otto of Millard, Robert Simmons of Scottsbluff, and Frank Landis of Lincoln — are also against L.B. 1002.

THE Ord Quiz

Apathy Wasn't at Polls

If there's such a thing as a community conscience, Ord must have a guilty one.

In the recent city election 142 persons from a total of 1,422 eligible bothered to vote. Rounded off, that's an even 10 percent.

The reason for this apathy was readily apparent—there was no choice to be made. At their caucuses the city's two "parties" had wound up selecting the same man to represent them in each City Council and School Board post for grabs. Consequently, only one name appeared on the ballot for each position.

It would be easy to condemn officials of the two "parties" and to call the whole thing a prearranged affair, as some have done. Yet the man or woman who would be a good citizen has a responsibility which goes far beyond merely showing up on election day.

For one thing, he or she has an obligation to help determine whose name will go on the ballot. In this case city caucuses were held Feb. 25. At those caucuses a total of 39 people showed up, which is a much surlier commentary on community apathy than the 10 percent voting record.

Another responsibility of anyone who would be a good citizen is a willingness to serve if called upon. Along with that goes an obligation to stay informed.

One local party leader stated following the caucuses: "We tried to select men we knew wanted the job and would accept it if elected."

Since both parties came up with the same man for each position, there was apparently a shortage of persons willing to serve. That does not speak well of a community which prides itself as "The Hub of the Loup Valley," especially when it is the only community in the county which has such a problem. Even in Elyria, population 89 at the last census, there were two candidates for each position available.

Although just one candidate was available here in Ord, state law required that an election still be held. Thus, if the taxpayers are going to foot the bill for an election, they might as well have a choice. They can insure that they will by planning now—by seeking out those men or women willing to serve, by informing themselves on local issues, and by determining to be present when the next city caucuses are held.

Administration Future Hanging in Balance

A Naval court of inquiry has found Cdr. Lloyd M. Bucher innocent, but North Korea has found the United States guilty—guilty of cowardice and guilty of encouraging its enemies to ever bolder acts of aggression.

North Korea's sentence upon the United States for this offense is apparently more humiliation, more degradation.

The latest Communist action was anticipated by those willing to read and accept history. Never have the Reds backed off except when Western leaders made it clear they would accept no more abuses—and backed their words with action, as President John Kennedy did in 1962 when he ordered ships into the Cuban area during the famous missile crisis.

North Korea's attack Tuesday against an American plane is of far greater significance than her seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo. Coming as it does early in the Nixon administration, the action could very well determine what success the new President will have in many areas over the next four years.

Within hours following the plane's disappearance and North Korea's public announcement that she was responsible, the television networks were replaying with glee Nixon's campaign oratory which was so derisive of the Pueblo's handling.

If he fails to act now, his future effectiveness as President could very well be destroyed. Another gaping credibility gap will have been ripped open, and a nation lacking confidence in her President will let him lead nowhere but in circles of confusion.

Nixon did act properly in taking the matter under consideration. Certain facts must be determined before proceeding with retaliatory action. But those facts must be determined quickly, in a matter of hours—not weeks or even days.

If those facts show that the plane was in open airspace and was shot down, Nixon must take immediate action. Failure to do so will result not only in more Pueblo's and Flying Pueblos, but in his quick end as an effective leader.

It also could mean the end of the Republican Party, since many feel that Nixon's Presidency is one final chance for the G.O.P. to regain parity with the Democratic Party.

Something Different

Mexican Sundays

In many parts of the world Sunday isn't famous as church day. Instead it is market day, visiting day, rodeo day, fiesta day. It is the day for circumspet courting: the boys dress up and promenade one way around the plaza, while the girls in their finest garb walk in the opposite direction. And plenty of mamas and grandmas, and little sisters are seated there to be sure the wooing is properly done.

And no one can look as fearsome and suspicious as a Mexican chaperon. She is probably dressed in black, with long ugly full skirts, black shoes and stockings, a black blouse, a black shawl thrown over her head. She looks a good deal like a vulture — did I tell you those big dusty birds sit atop the palm trees and wait to see a dead dinner nearby?

Since school hours are from 8 until 1 p.m., children have plenty of playtime, and not only on Sunday. But on Sunday they are likely to come to swim in big, cold deep Lake Chapala, beside which I stayed in March.

Chapala is the largest lake in Mexico and is not pretty. It is gray and gets monstrous waves in the afternoon. It has been feared and worshipped for generations back. At one time the waterline was lower by 4 1/2 miles than it is now, and the peons made mucho dinero by plying in the lake bottom thus exposed. For hundreds of choice artifacts were turned up and sold to greedy tourists, ripped from the lake where they'd been thrown to bring fertility and good fortune to some apprehensive Mexican.

There is a tiny church near Ajijic, a town full of retirees. The little building might crowd in 50 souls — 30 would fit better. Quite new, it boasts an organ and organist. It has early services for Episcopalians, some services a bit later for Lutherans, and 11 o'clock Methodist services are held by a young man who drives the 38 miles out from Guadalajara. Other services are held Wednesday evening. There is a tremendous Catholic Cathedral in Ajijic, also an older smaller church closer downtown.

Sunday is noted as family day too. Maybe this only means the boys get to help father wash the horse in the lake. Or possibly it means padre can afford to take the entire (many!) family out for a treat, like cokes. This is Coke Country you know! —Irma

Why Must Public Be Offered Again and Again!

From Washington-Exclusive

The nation's press almost daily carries examples of how judicial leniency continues to endanger public safety.

A recent story from Washington, D. C., points up once again just how grave the situation has become. Seventy-six of the felonies which occurred there last year were committed by 45 persons already under indictment for armed robbery, but who were out on bail, pending trial.

Chief Inspector Sanford Garlik of New York City says: "It is self-defeating, to say the least, to have to arrest the same people over and over again. It seems as if our system of criminal justice is being perverted into a system of criminal injustice — justice to a repeatedly victimized public."

There was a time when proof of guilt was enough, but in today's growingly complex society, the stress is on the "why" rather than on guilt or innocence. A good example is the trial of Sirhan Sirhan in Los Angeles. A good portion of the trial has centered on his past, rather than the act of murder which he readily admits. Testimony regarding his early years is receiving significantly more coverage than details of the actual planning and enactment of the assassination itself.

The Dover, Del., State News reported yet another instance of the perils of judicial restraint. On June 3, 1968, a man was arrested for indecent exposure. Bond was set at $500. Two days later a young girl was kidnapped and attacked. The same man was arrested and charged with the crime, but some days later the young victim committed suicide. The case was not pressed. The victim had removed herself as a witness. Neither that case nor the indecent exposure case has ever been tried.

In February of this year, an 18-year-old girl was abducted at knife-point but managed to escape with minor injuries. The same man gave himself up to police. He is now in jail for a six-month term. The sentence was not for any of the crimes mentioned. It is for probation violation. He was on probation for assault and robbery of an old man in 1966.

Soviet A-Arms

Russian rockets capable of launching nuclear weapons have been deployed recently in Czechoslovakia with the Soviet army on occupation duty. This is being cited by American intelligence experts as additional evidence of the new Soviet "forward strategy."

The launchers, for tactical nuclear missiles, are mounted on track and wheeled vehicles as part of the armor for six Russian divisions now in Czechoslovakia. Presence of the launchers is regarded by Western military experts as a reversal of the Warsaw Pact's nuclear policy.

Tightening Security

The Soviets also had a political-administration reason for their Czech intervention.

When the Czech Ministry of Interior was reorganized last year, Prague officials began to reorganize the Czechoslovakia who had been planted in several key security posts over the past 20 years.

Charging that this was a severe blow to the Kremlin's new concept of "commonwealth coordination," the Soviet military division that it had led — one of the first missions that the occupying Soviet forces undertook.

Under a secret protocol the present Czech leaders were made to sign after the August invasion, no official in Czechoslovakia's internal security or intelligence agencies could be fired without the Soviet military command's approval.

According to one account of a meeting between Czech authorities and Leonid Brezhnev, secretary-general of the Communist party, top Soviet officials lectured.

G. Warren Nutter, chief foreign-policy adviser for the Defense Department, is cleaning house of key aides originally brought in by former secretary Robert McNamara. These aides are said to be leaking information to anti-administration congressmen who oppose deployment.

Special on Anti-ABM Campaign

The campaign to turn public opinion against deployment of the ABM system is moving considerably beyond the Congressional arena this week.

An organization of citizens is being formed to provide speakers, information kits, and other help to local groups throughout the country who will put pressure on their representatives in Congress.

Called "Citizens Against the ABM," this group has quietly opened an office in New York under the command of Harold Ickes, son of the late Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior during the Roosevelt administration.

Ickes, who was active in the presidential efforts of Senator Eugene McCarthy, reports that

The Scott Report

From The Washington News-Intelligence Syndicate
By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Hard information has begun to seep out of Prague that sheds new light on the motives behind Russia's decision to invade Czechoslovakia last August.

A private report presented to other key Czech officials by Premier Oldrich Cernik — and now in the hands of American intelligence authorities — flatly states that the principle reasons for the Soviet action were strategic and military.

The Scott report reveals that Soviet military leaders demanded that Czechoslovakia, regarded as the dagger of Central Europe, be secured politically and militarily before the Kremlin opened negotiations with the West over European security.

A master Russian ploy, the current push for East-West talks is an integral part of overall Kremlin strategy to confuse and paralyze — and then divide and destroy — the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. At the same time NATO is being demolished, Russia's strategic military power will be drastically increased.

In agreeing to the NATO-wrecking strategy, Soviet military leaders demanded that Russian military forces be moved forward to make it effective.

Use of military force to secure

Additional deployment of Soviet forces in East Germany and Poland in the past four months is believed to be part of the Kremlin's new "forward strategy."

The Czech leaders, stating: "Soviet troops will stay in Czechoslovakia for strategic and military reasons. We want power in this country to remain in the right hands. If the interests of our forces disturbs you, the Soviet Union will be glad to accept an equivalent Czech contingent on its territory — for which there always would be room enough along the Sino-Soviet border."

Despite a rash of stories that the Soviet Politburo was split on sending troops to Czechoslovakia, Polish Communist officials were told by Brezhnev that all members voted for the military intervention.

Brezhnev also told the Poles that the present Czech government has agreed to permit the Soviets to set up a new advance command post for all Soviet troops in the Eastern European satellites.

The top Soviet leader also hinted that before the end of the year Russian military forces would be moved into Bulgaria and Romania as part of the new "forward strategy."

Formation of the new committee coincides with the publication of an attack on the ABM by Dr. Jerome Wiesner, a former presidential science adviser who is now provost at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Abram Chayes, a controversial former State Department official who is now at Harvard University.

They were asked to make the study by Senator Kennedy.

The new campaign to build anti-ABM sentiment comes just before the Senate — under current schedules — is due to reach its first showdown vote.

KERRY ON

—on the road—
This column is coming to you this week — from the heart of Nebraska's Sandhills. Harnessed in shoulder strap and seat belt, I'm dictating this while cruising down the road at 65 mph plus. Although readers haven't realized it, many of my columns or columns have gone on a Dictaphone tape to be transcribed when I made it back to Ord. Between business trips and speaking engagements I've had little time to sit behind a typewriter. Generally I've found myself behind the steering wheel of a green Chrysler.

One of the most interesting things that happens when I dictate while driving is the sudden "caution" exercised by other motorists I meet or pass. As they notice a "lone motorist" with a microphone in hand, they suddenly slow down. It is quite evident that they're taking precautions in the event that "green Chrysler" may be a state trooper. Smiling to myself as I notice their reaction, I continue on my way — dictating letters and columns while I travel.

During the past week I've found myself in Lincoln — one day making an appearance before the Revenue Committee of the Nebraska Unicameral. That was followed by three days at a press meeting and my return to Ord for a brief overnight stay.

On Sunday it was off to Bassett, for a speaking engagement with a church group Sunday evening... and again Monday morning before the senior student body at Rock County High School. Then I returned to Ord to a desk full of work and will be back on the highway within 48 hours for another speaking engagement in eastern Nebraska.

This is how my schedule goes... therefore, my need to dictate the columns. I leave the dictaphone belt with my typist at the Quiz and she types up the copy for my weekly columns.

In a busy office I'm interrupted constantly by humans around me. Actually, being alone in the car is often rather relaxing. It gives you time to "put things together" that you never quite have the time to do otherwise. It gives you time to "think."

So if you see me driving down the highway — microphone in hand — don't sweat it. I'm not radioing anyone. I'm merely dictating my weekly column.

President's Honeymoon May Be Over, But His Problems Are Just Beginning

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Charlie Radil, who was a Republican from the beginning to the end of all them Democratic wonder cures for whorls in this country, reported to the fellows Saturday night he ain't had cause to change his mind about Mr. Nixon.

He said he was powerful pleased to see Nixon elected President because he was sure any change in party and people in power was bound to be an improvement.

Well, Charlie allowed, he has followed the Nixon administration through what the column writes call the honeymoon, and he has been generally satisfied with the way things are going.

But Charlie said he now sees signs the lovey-dovey is over and nitty-gritty is starting. And Charlie said plain out he don't hold no grudge on account of him not being named secretary of agriculture.

Charlie said the honeymoon started wearing thin as soon as Congress voted themselves a big raise. This was no fault of Nixon, Charlie said, but it was bound to put the Congress in a dangerous spending mood.

Just recently, for instance, Charlie said Congress was quick to approve raises for the vice-president and a bunch of other top government leaders. Congressmen, Charlie allowed, feel guilty about their own raise; and they feel greedy if they don't give money to everybody that wants some.

Another sign of the honeymoon's end is Mr. Nixon's plan for shaking up postmasters. Charlie said he wasn't sure taking the right to pick postmasters and rural mailmen from Congressmen and giving it to the postmaster general who is appointed by the President is a cure for what ails the mails.

As long as he can remember, Charlie said, the postmaster job has been a political plum on the local level, and the postmaster has been the local fence mender for the party that passed him the plum.

Everybody knows the assistant postmaster runs the post office, and the postmaster has an office in the building.

Charlie said he wasn't agin giving the postmaster some post office work to do if it don't hinder the whole operation.

Charlie said he couldn't see what changing the politics of the man that picks the postmasters has got to do with how efficient the mail moves, but he allowed it was a good sign that the Nixon administration is trying to do something besides hike the price of postage stamps.

Personally, Mister Editor, it looks to me like these new private mail companies are taking the mail out of the post office.

I don't think it's any more possible to get politics out of any government service than to improve bacon by getting rid of all the hogs at the trough.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

Mrs. Porter Returns Home to Stay After Lengthy Hospital Confinement

By Berenice Cornell
Mr. and Mrs. Jack Romans of Broken Bow were here Monday and Tuesday looking after her mother's unit. Lydia Porter has been in the Valley County Hospital several months after suffering a broken hip and arm, but she came home Tuesday. Mrs. Helen Arnold of Arcadia is staying with her.

Birthday Girls
The April birthday party was held Wednesday. Sophie Keller and Lillian Daudt were present to be honored. Guests of Sophie were her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Beiers of Noel, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hansen, and Mrs. James Meese Jr. Lillian had as guests Mrs. Howard Paulsen and her mother, Mrs. Ethel Heuser, and Mrs. Frank Kral. Mrs. Beiers and Mrs. Paulsen helped the birthday committee with serving. Twenty-five were present to enjoy the afternoon. Sophie's daughter and son-in-law came Tuesday from Missouri to spend a few days. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Hansen were dinner guests of Sophie and the Beiers to again help Sophie celebrate her birthday. Other visitors who extended birthday greetings and chatted with the Beiers were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Larsen, Mrs. Chris Johnson, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Eugene Novak and Mary Jorgensen. Sophie had telephone calls on the 11th with more birthday greetings from her sons, Wayne and family of Colorado Springs, Colo., and James and family of Los Angeles, Calif. The Beiers left for Missouri Saturday.

After-Easter Thoughts
Rev. Ronald Graff of the Evangelical Free Church was with us the past Thursday for religious service. A song service and prayer were followed by after-Easter thoughts. Mr. Graff told us to look through the cross for the living Jesus, as through the cross is the only way to find Him. He cited Revelations 1:12-18, especially Verses 17 and 18. He said Jesus lived and was dead and now is alive forever. He is the first and the last, the beginning and the end. Mr. Graff asked how we would conduct ourselves if Jesus actually came in person to visit us for a few days. Would we change anything we do or say? A group of 16 were present, over half of the residents now at home. Mary Cetak went Sunday with Tillie Massey and Lucy McCune to the Christian Church. They all stayed for the monthly fellowship dinner.

Four Generations Assemble
Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hackett of Kearney and their daughter, Mrs. Dick Kealey, and Laurie of St. Louis, Mo., visited Sunday with Jay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett, making four generations present. Mrs. Don Vogeler came from North Loup and went on to Ericson with the Jay Hacketts to see Mr. and Mrs. Faye Patrick. George Nay called later on Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett.

Supper Left
The April 8 lesson on cooking a breakfast for one or two was conducted by Ethel Diechredsen, extension specialist in food and nutrition. Tuesday's meeting was to feature dinner for one or two, the April 22 meeting a supper.

Adjustment Required
Berenice Cornell went Tuesday with a group of Bethel Baptist ladies to the Arcadia Calvary Baptist Church, where they heard a talk by Richard Varberg. He is a missionary from the Philippines and spoke on how missionaries must adjust to the climate and ways of the people in order to deal with them effectively.

Outsiders Pitch In
Bingo will be played Apr. 23 in our recreation room. The arrangements are to be made by persons who do not reside at Parkview but attend the games. Those in charge this time will be Eleanor Wegman, Tillie Jablonski, and Rose Finley.

Son Operated On
The George Polinoski had a call Wednesday from their son Gordon who is in an Omaha hospital, saying that he would have surgery Friday for a slipped disc. It was caused by a recent fall while at work. He is reported getting along as well as can be expected.

Sees Great-Niece Wed
Mena Jorgensen accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Norman Collison of Kearney and their daughter, Mrs. Connie Wish, and her two daughters to Norfolk Saturday morning, for the wedding of a great-niece of Mena's, Kay Colleen Collison. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Collison of Norfolk. Mena returned Monday on the bus.

Personals
Mr. and Mrs. Marjorie Tucker and children of Scotia were at the George Polinoski home Apr. 6. As Thursday was Mr. and Mrs. Polinoski's wedding anniversary, they were taken to the Elks Club for a family night dinner hosted by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Cetak.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pierson came Thursday evening and took Elsie Rathbun to the Bethel Baptist Church to hear Rev. Richard Varberg of the Philippines speak. Berenice Cornell and Mae Dockhorn went with Mr. and Mrs. Anson Dockhorn and Ginger, who were here from Omaha.

Elsie Rathbun spent Sunday with her sister, Flossie Clark. Thursday afternoon Mildred Andersen took Mary and Mark Novosad, John Bishop, and Patrick Adamak to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melis to be with the Melis grandchildren — Ted and Dawn Melis. Friday and Saturday Mildred was in the Kerry Leggett home with Sue, Sheri, and Shannon. Saturday night she was with the Bill French young folks, returning home Sunday night.

Mrs. Walter Holmes of North Loup was with Mr. and Mrs. Will Benson Friday afternoon. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Benson were at Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Canfield's.

Mrs. Grace Jensen and Carolyn Jensen called on Berenice Cornell Sunday.

Visitors and dinner guests of Berenice Cornell Wednesday were Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and her niece, Mrs. Col Blesley of North Loup, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne King.

A nephew of Elsie Rathbun's, Junior Rathbun of Salt Lake City, Utah, called on her during the past week.

Mae Dockhorn's daughter Grace (Mrs. Sherman) Sherbeck of Portland, Ore., telephoned Tuesday for a visit with her mother. On Wednesday afternoon a son, Anson, and his wife and daughter came from Omaha. They left Sunday to return home after visiting with relatives and friends here and at Constock. They stayed with Mae each night.

Mary Blaha had lunch Friday with Mrs. Mary Parkos. On Sunday morning she went to Yankton, S. D., to be with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Witherwax and Bobby, for a day or two. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Pokorny took her to Neligh where the Witherwaxes met her.

Brian Cetak spent Friday with his grandmother, Mary Cetak. Saturday afternoon and evening Caudy and Craig Erickson came to visit their grandmother, Marguerite West. They treated her to a supper from the Ord Drive in.

day evening with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett.

Mr. and Mrs. George Polinoski were at Scotia Sunday to be with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Gydesen.

Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Davis of North Loup called Monday on the Polinoskis.

Town & Country

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Duda were hosts for dinner at their home Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Duda and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duda and boys, John Duda, Delphine Michalek, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukesh, Jim, Kathleen and Katen, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Ely and family of Ainsworth. Jim Lukesh returned to Lincoln later in the day after spending a week's vacation here from his studies at the university. The Pilas returned to Ainsworth in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mulligan drove to Grand Island Friday to visit his sister, Mrs. Elma Fortis, who was recently dismissed from the hospital.

On Monday the Mulligans were guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Porter of Mason City.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle VanZandt and Bill observed the Easter Holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Zaruba at Claremore, Okla. Mrs. VanZandt had spent a week at Claremore with her daughter and son-in-law prior to the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noll and Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Mason attended a savings and loan meeting in Topeka, Kan., Friday. On their way home Sunday they stopped at Abilene, Kan., to view the Eisenhower Center.

What About Proselyting?? MATTHEW 23:15 "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye compass sea and land to make one proselyte, and when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell than yourselves." We unto the congregation of people that make a habit of growing in numbers by stealing members of other churches; for the words of Jesus very bluntly denounce such hypocritical practices. He uses the word hypocrites to describe their actual christian life. Such is usually the situation when a group of people make their growth by proselyting. In such a group the feeling of holier than thou is created. And since they feel more righteous than anyone else they call themselves to a mission of making others as righteous as they instead of as righteous as God. To this writer such practices are still hypocritical. It has been my misfortune to come in contact with those who use hypocritical tactics. They are quick to work on those who are already members of some church while those who have no church home are often neglected. Strange isn't it, that there is no scriptural command calling for such a program while Jesus strongly condemned the scribes and Pharisees for proselyting. Those who are the leaders in this hypocritical game of proselyting need to insert their own name in place of the scribes and Pharisees. Usually, the proselyter finds something to condemn in the individuals church while pointing to their own church and claiming it to be perfect. And too often that criticism is often needed to call people's attention to the need of change and reform in their churches. But never do I use criticism with the expressed purpose of gaining some church member to the congregation where I preach. God help those who do for they

Mrs. Ciemny Returns From Trip To Find Property Damaged by Wind

By Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski
Mrs. Leon Ciemny returned home Sunday. She had gone first to visit her sister, Mrs. Dean Hewitt, in David City. From there she had accompanied her sister to San Francisco, Calif. It took them 2 hours and 42 minutes to get there by jet. In California they visited another sister, Mrs. J. Morrison, and her husband at San Leandro. Still another sister, Mrs. R. A. Macfarlane of Phoenix, Ariz. joined them there. After Mrs. Ciemny and Mrs. Hewitt returned to David City, they made a short side trip to Omaha where they attended the Ice Capades.

Mrs. Frank Hensen brought Mrs. Ciemny home Sunday. When she returned home, she found the door torn off her porch and part of her garage door damaged. Many tree limbs were also broken apparently by the result of a twister that went through Elyria last week.

After returning home Mrs. Ciemny and Mrs. Hensen joined yet another sister, Mrs. Agnes Dodge, and a niece, Mrs. Harold Garnick, for dinner at the Veterans Club. Mrs. Garnick's daughters were also present.

Mrs. Ciemny said she and Hewitt enjoyed their trip very much.

In Recital
Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny attended a recital at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday. Their grandchildren — John, Joseph, and Tom — took part in it. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Novotny visited at the Valley County Hospital calling on Jim Rybin, Mrs. Anna Visek, Mrs. Jack Rashaw, and Barbara Lukesh.

After attending the music recital also Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novotny took their daughter Patricia to Lincoln. She had been home for a week of Easter vacation. The Novotny boys — Jim, John and Joseph — had supper that evening with their grandparents, the Anton Novotnys.

The previous day the elder Novotnys had visited with Mrs. Frances Zadina and Mrs. Mary Novotny at the LeBow Nursing home in Ord.

Others from Elyria who took part in the music recital Sunday were Sharon and Patty Chalups and Janet Zulkoski.

wives and families were also there and served a meal.

Friends, Relatives Honor Margaret Wadas at Bridal Shower

By Wilma Baldwin
Mrs. Audrey Gregory, Wilma Baldwin and Agnes Wadas sponsored a bridal shower Wednesday evening in honor of Margaret Wadas. The shower was held in the basement of the Catholic Church at Ord. Girls of the Homesteaders 4-H Club put on a comical mock wedding, and later the guests played games and wrote out their favorite recipes for the bride. Miss Wadas then opened her many lovely gifts. Aqua, pink, and white were the colors used to make a very pretty table setting. Cake, nuts, pinits, coffee, and punch were served at the close of the evening. Guests were present from Scotia, North Loup, and Ord.

Announcing the first car of the '70s at 1960 prices.

FORD MAVERICK $1995*

(You don't have to read it all-but it's nice to know it's all there.)

Most new cars look like other cars. But when the word gets out that something really different is on the way, rumors run wild. Few cars have caused as much talk as Maverick. Ford's new entry in the small car field rivals the economy imports in price... but tops them in power, performance, passenger room and luggage capacity. We've been bombarded with questions about Maverick. Now, for the first time, here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?

A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?

A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compact and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?

A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?

A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safely belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls... important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?

A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semi-automatic transmission, and a hefty 200 C.D. Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?

A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?

A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?

A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5 1/2 feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?

A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?

A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?

A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?

A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points... plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?

A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight... power... stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?

A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

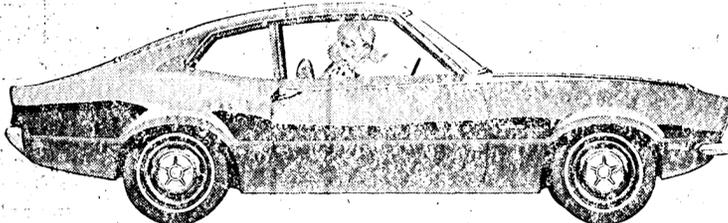

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?

A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is... right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's... Fairlanes... Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's... the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department #N50, Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the car. Price does not include: white sidewall tires, $32.00; dealer preparation charge, if any; transportation charges, state and local taxes.

IT'S THE GOING THING!

 Moved by Lee, seconded by Oseotowski and upon roll call was unanimously carried that all claims be approved and warrants for same be drawn on their respective funds.
 Moved by E. Christensen, seconded by H. Christensen and carried that the City Treasurer be authorized and directed to invest $1000 of Perpetual Maintenance Fund in Certificates of Deposit.
 John Connerman and Ray Harbert appeared before the council to complain about the debris that is dumped over fields near the city dump making it impossible to apply fertilizer to the fields.
 Following discussion, Mayor French assured them that immediate steps would be taken to correct the situation.
 Dr. Auble and Roland Johnson appeared before the council to discuss matters pertaining to the park. Dr. Auble presented the Auble Lake Site and adjoining lots to the City at $850. He presented a letter from the Nebr. Game and Parks Commission which requested the following from the Council: the City's intent to participate in the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program, authorization for the Mayor to sign all official documents, and the appointment of a Liaison officer.
 Moved by Oseotowski, seconded by Marshall to authorize the Mayor to participate in the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program.

School Architects Given Go-Ahead; Little Theater Added to Original Plan

Working drawings of Ord's new grade school facility were approved Monday night at a special meeting of the District 5 Board of Education.

The drawings contained only one major change from the floor plan presented to voters in January. That change is the addition of a "little theater" which will also double as an audio-visual room.

Bob Kula and Herald Holding of Shaver & Co., the school's contracted architectural firm, presented the drawings. They said addition of the theater would not change the basic shape of the building and would add only about 365 square feet. Approximately 1,000 additional square feet for the theater was obtained by eliminating some hallway area, some audio-visual storage space, and by doing some pushing and shoving," according to Holding.

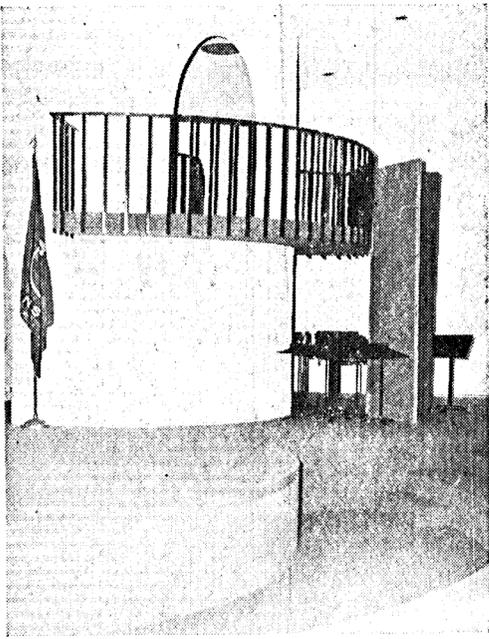

Board members expressed pleasure at the addition, particularly the fact that it will provide a separate room for showing films. Some of them had been under the impression that a room marked "audio-visual" on the original drawings was for that purpose; however, it was pointed out later that that room was for storage of audio-visual equipment.

The board members gave voice approval to the drawings, permitting Shaver & Co. to proceed with final development plans. The theater will be located in the front of the building in an area previously allotted for a special education room in which slower students would be taught. That room has been moved farther back towards the interior of the building.

The theater will be opposite the main entrance to the building and will be flanked on one side by administrative offices and on the other by a kindergarten room.

Cost of the building will not increase significantly as a result of the change, the architects said. They said the theater would seat 80 students or 60 to 70 adults. It will have a recessed, graduated seating area for students and an "acting tower" flanking the stage. This acting tower will consist of a hollow cylinder containing a winding staircase and an attached balcony. Actors or speakers will ascend the staircase and step out onto the balcony for their performances.

Besides possible use as a drama area and film room, the theater can be used for educational television purposes, Kula said.

Theater at Kansas school is like one Ord will have.

"I think we've gained a lot without giving up anything," Dr. William Gogan said of the theater. "Hallways are essentially wasted space." Dr. Gogan is superintendent of Ord Schools.

The new plans leave only one main traffic flow area across the building. Previously there were two.

The architectural representatives also disclosed that the building will probably face north. School board members requested that it be placed as far north on the selected site as terrain will permit.

They also requested several minor changes in plans, such as the addition of doors or relocation of some already planned.

To give Ord teachers an idea of what the new building will be like and how the open concept (absence of interior walls) will work, Kula and Holding took four

Six County Youths In Military Training At Scattered Sites

Valley County youths are currently undergoing military training at bases located from the Sunny South to the Pacific Northwest.

Wayne Waddel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Waddel of Arcadia is in training at the Navy's Aviation Officer Candidate School in Pensacola, Fla. During his nine-week course Waddel is receiving military and physical fitness training as well as classroom instruction. Once he receives his commission, he will go into a more advanced phase of the Navy's flight training program.

On the opposite side of the country, three area youths are undergoing basic training with the Marine Corps.

Gary Cedek and Larry Philbrick are at Fort Lewis, Wash., while Donald Reis is at Fort Ord, Calif. Cedek is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavinia Cedek of Loup. Philbrick's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Philbrick of Ord, and Reis is the grandson of Mrs. Bert Needham, also of Ord.

The lone Marine is Gary Paider, son of Mrs. Jerry Rajewich of Ord. He is attending boot camp at San Diego, Calif.

Still another county youngster, Mike Bennett, is undergoing basic training with the Air Force at San Antonio, Tex. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bennett of Ord.

Officers to Explain Bloodmobile Phases

A district meeting of all blood program workers will be held May 1 at the lower level of the Veterans Club. Two officers from the Red Cross Blood Center in Omaha will explain all phases of bloodmobile operation. The meeting will last from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and reservations for the lunch at 12:30 should be made by calling or writing Mrs. Clark Weckbach. Her telephone number is 728-3323. Anyone interested may attend. Deadline for lunch reservations is Apr. 25.

Gerald Decker, principal of the grade school, said other teachers will make similar trips as they can be arranged through Shaver & Co. The architectural firm is paying expenses for the trips.

School board members and administrators had made similar trips earlier.

The school's financial firm, First Mid-America Corp. of Omaha, is presently working on the $940,000 bond issue. The bonds are to be issued at an interest rate of 5 7/8 percent "or less."

Ord FFA Students Make Big Haul At State Convention in Capital City

More than $300 in monetary prizes plus a number of ribbons and plaques were brought home by the Ord delegation which attended last week's state convention of the Future Farmers of America.

Barry Masin received the biggest prize at the Lincoln convention — a $200 scholarship from Union Pacific.

Individual cash awards were received by Ron Ilosek and Stanley Barr. Ilosek was given a $50 prize from AK-Sar-Bon for the 19 betterment projects he has completed during his four years of FFA work, and Barr was given $25 for his soil and water conservation program.

In addition, the chapter as a whole received $35 for placing fourth in the state-wide farm safety competition.

Overall the chapter received a superior rating.

The Ord demonstration team which had earlier won the District 5 competition received a red award in the state contest. The demonstration on soil conservation was prepared and presented by Masin, Randy Hansen, and Mike Krikac.

Other competition entered by Ord representatives included:

Livestock Judging — G... Bonus; Dennis Cetak, Dave Sich.

Loyalty Day Rites Set

Dean's List at NU Has Four Ordites

Among the Ord students who were named to the Dean's List at the University of Nebraska for the first semester are four freshmen from Ord.

James Allen Lukesh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lukesh; Lyle Ray Christensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Christensen; Christine Zona Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ferguson; and Ida Leah Brickner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Brickner.

Students who achieved a grade average of 3.4 or above were honored at the 41st annual Honors Convocation held at the University Coliseum, Tuesday.

Larry Christensen, a senior, was also named to the Dean's List.

Outstanding Honor

Mrs. Jim McCall went to Lincoln, Monday, to attend the 41st annual Honors Convocation of the University of Nebraska.

Rod McCall received special honor for superior scholarship during his attendance at the university.

Game Commission Action Has Local Senator Boiling

Senator Rudolf Kokes vowed Wednesday to do everything in his power to strip the Game Commission's seven-man governing body of any authority it has in the building field.

Speaking by phone from the legislative chambers, Kokes said he would bring a resolution before the state unicameral proposing such action. It was sponsored by what he called the Game Commission's flagrant action in advertising for bids on a building in Lincoln at the very moment the legislature was considering a bill to move the commission out of the Capital City.

Earlier this year Kokes introduced Legislative Bill 576 which would move the commission from Lincoln to Ord. It was debated for an hour Monday, and more debate was scheduled Tuesday.

However, Kokes said he had asked for and received a one-week delay so he could study the "flagrant action." He referred to the fact that ads appeared Tuesday in a Lincoln newspaper asking for bids on a Game Commission headquarters building to be constructed in the Capital City.

"I feel this action was taken just to weaken the bill," Kokes stated.

"I intend to bring a resolution before the legislature which will take all building powers away from the Game Commission and put them in the hands of the legislature," he added.

The vote yesterday indicated that the legislature is in a mood to decentralize state government," he continued. "It clearly indicated a majority of the legislators were in favor of moving from the state capitol."

Kokes was referring to an amendment proposed Tuesday by Senator Leslie Stull of Alliance. It would have given the commissioners authority to sort through the numerous relocation offers and select one of their own choosing. Most likely that would have been Lincoln.

The amendment was rejected, 23-19. Twenty-five votes were needed for passage.

Also rejected Tuesday was an amendment proposed by Senator Herbert Duis of Gothenburg. It would have substituted Holdrege's name for Ord's on the bill. The rejection on that proposal was by a 26-19 count.

Thus, the bill itself will apparently set for at least a week with Ord still the "only official" alternative to Lincoln.

Numerous proposed amendments to change that will undoubtedly be offered when it does come up for hearing again next week.

Speeders Beware Computers Aid Lawmen In New VASCAR Units

Computers haven't taken over the operation of Nebraska State Patrol cars yet, but they're starting to provide some mighty big assistance to the patrolmen who do operate them.

Electronic thinking machines play a major role in the new VASCAR devices which enable troopers to measure the speed of cars coming from any direction. All the patrolman has to do is tell the machine how far a certain car travelled and the amount of time required to do it. The machine does the rest—computing an average speed and displaying it in visible form on a meter-type device.

"Actually, it's pretty simple," explained Patrolman Gerald Schmitt, whose car is equipped with the device. "But you can't be sleeping."

Schmitt received a VASCAR equipped automobile in January. He practiced with it for 30 days, then took a test and wrote warning tickets for 30 days. However, he's now using it for the real thing.

To prove his qualifications for using the device, Schmitt had to make 25 clockings on his test. Another car being driven by a previously certified patrolman was used as the target vehicle. This patrolman clocked his own speed so that comparisons could be made.

On the 25 clockings Schmitt could not be off more than 2 miles on any one check or more than half mile on an average of the 25. He passed with an average error rate of .372 miles per hour.

Contrary to popular opinion, VASCAR does not depend on the patrolman's depth perception although good eyesight is essential.

On a demonstration ride last week Schmitt explained how the apparatus works.

If he wants to clock a car approaching him, he picks out a stationary object. When the approaching car passes that object, the object will either cast a shadow on the car or vice versa. At that moment Schmitt punches a "time" button, and the computer starts measuring the amount of time elapsed. When the car passes another stationary object Schmitt turns the time off. Then when his own car passes the second point, he pushes a "distance" button. Now the computer begins measuring the distance. When the patrolman's car reaches the first point, he punches the distance mechanism off. Now the computer knows how far the car traveled between the two points and how long it took to do it. So, instantaneously it computes the average speed and displays it.

The system can work in many different combinations. The second reference point may be the place and time the patrol car meets the oncoming vehicle. If that were the case, the patrolman would turn off the other car's time at that moment and turn on his own distance.

Looking in his rear-view mirror, a patrolman can also clock a car coming from behind him. With his own car he measures the distance between two points, and then as the following car passes those points its time is calculated. Again the information is fed into the computer and presto, the average speed is displayed.

Or clockings may still be made from stationary positions, as is done with radar. In that case the patrolman will measure the distance between two objects before taking his place beside the road. Then he can feed that same distance into the computer over and over again, adding only the time elapsed for each succeeding vehicle.

In all instances the patrolman's car must provide the distance and the suspect's car time.

"There's no beam to it like radar," Schmitt explained. "It's manually operated, and it provides the average speed between two points rather than the top speed at any given moment."

Its big advantage over radar is the fact that two cars aren't tied up in one spot. In addition, drivers don't know when they'll meet it. There's no tell-tale collection of signal cars along side the highway.

On the other hand, it can clock only one car at a time whereas radar can clock any number. It's limited to the one clocking because the computer will reject any distance or time fed into it if a previous distance or time has not been cleared.

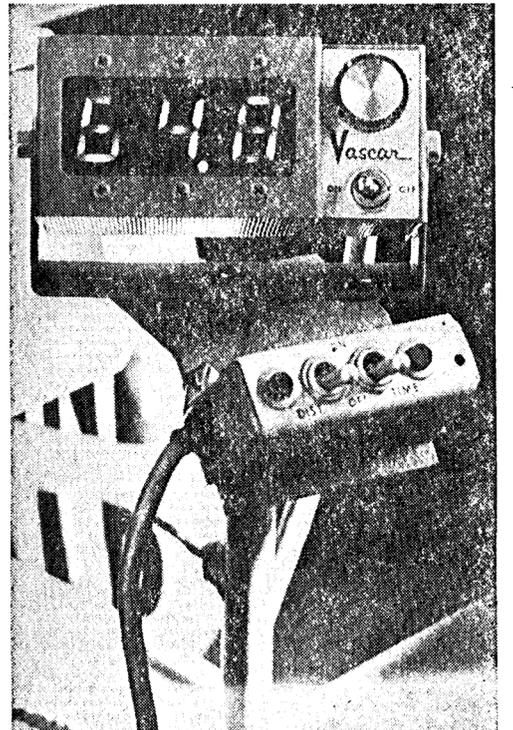

The device works regardless of weather conditions.

"No matter how cloudy or foggy a day is, there's still a shadow under every vehicle," Schmitt said. "And we can use as our stationary object patch marks on the highway, a dead animal, or anything like that."

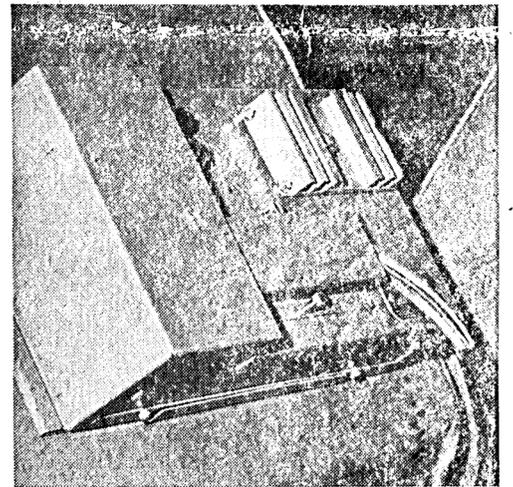

At night the system works essentially the same, except that the moment a stationary object leaves a car's headlights is when the time measurement begins or ends.

"We can use all sorts of things," Schmitt explained. "Even beer cans lying alongside the highway. Lights really shine off them."

However, there is one flaw in the system. It will compute speeds only up to 199.9 miles per hour—so if you're traveling 200 miles an hour you have a chance.

VASCAR shows motorist was near limit.

VFW Schedules Lite-a-Bike Night

The annual Lite-a-Bike program will be held Sunday night in a number of Loup Valley communities.

Members of the Ord VFW Post will be on hand at five stations in Arcadia, Comstock, North Loup, and Ord to assist youngsters in decorating their bicycles with luminescent tape which can be seen at night. In Elyria youngsters may bring their bicycles to the L&L Repair Shop.

Children wishing to have their bicycles marked should be at the proper location at 8 p.m.

Clinton Miller

Elyria Speller Finishes Fourth in Omaha Contest But Not Satisfied Yet

Clinton Miller is sure the third time will be the charm. The 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Miller of Elyria, Clinton came ever so close to winning the championship of the Midwest Spelling Bee Saturday in Omaha. He thinks he can do it next year.

"This year I concentrated on the final words in practice," Clinton said Tuesday, referring to a book of likely contest words published by the sponsoring Omaha World-Herald. "But in the contest all they asked us was interminate words. I won't make that same mistake next year."

The word that sidelined Clinton was "bathysphere." In case you don't recognize it, that's the object the United States Navy uses to search for lost submarines on the ocean floor. Clinton spelled it with an "i" in the middle when he should have said "y".

This was the second year for the young Ord Junior High student to participate in the Midwest Bee. He didn't fare so well last year, but this time it was a different story. From a field of 73 Nebraska and Iowa students beginning the competition, he wound up fourth. And he was the last boy to go down.

"So many areas came up to me after the contest was over and said they were sure rooting for me," Clinton stated. "At one point I was the only boy left with six girls."

The winner was 13-year-old Sheryl Becker of Beaver City. She won when Alice Whitney of Creston left out the second "n" in "instantaneous."

Clinton spelled a total of 65 words correctly. The first five rounds were written, with 10 words per round. A single misspelled word meant elimination, and erasures were not allowed. Clinton breezed through that with no problems, then went through 15 oral rounds before stumbling.

"Being able to stay calm is half of it," explained his mother. "Before the written portion started he told me, 'Don't sit where I can see you'. So I sat over in the farthest corner I could find. But when he survived the written portion, he came running up to me and said, 'Okay, Mom, now I want you right down in front.'"

Mrs. Miller was the only member of Clinton's family to accompany him. He felt he would be less nervous without either of his two younger brothers or

Mothers Honored By Ordettes Monday

One hundred ninety-four mothers and daughters attended the annual Ordettes Mother-Daughter banquet at the Ord High School.

Connie Peterson, president for the 1967-68 club year welcomed the guests at the Monday evening event and Darlyn Novosel led in the opening prayer. Special guests of the evening were Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Dammell. Rev. Dammell gave the traditional address.

Officers for the coming year were presented. They are: Diane Sorensen, president; Connie Bredthauer, vice president; Julie Winterfeldt, secretary; and Kathy Urbanovsky, treasurer.

Head cheer leader Sue Greenway will be assisted in next year's sports events by Terri Kunz, Jo Remington, Jerri Lola and Jan Garnick.

Jan Remington will head the cheering section for reserve teams. Her assistants will be Jackie Hurlbert, Debbie Fish, Sue Bishop and Julie Kubitschek.

Special recognition awards went to this year's cheerleaders: Jerri Lola, Sue Greenway, Chris Bishop, Pat Jones and Peg Nelson and also to this year's officers: Connie Peterson, Pam Lambert, Pam Lambert and Darlyn Novosel. Squad leaders: Dianne Sorensen, Jeanette Lange, Kathy Urbanovsky, Jean Kokes, Shirley Peterson and Jera Sanders were also specially honored.

Linda Marsh was named Outstanding Ordettes for the highest number of merits earned. Other recipients of merit awards were Janet Janda, Linda Petska, Kathy Galley, Debbie Kramer, Sally Cetak, Judy Marsh, Cindy Foth, Pat Murphy and Pat Farmer.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

The 95th annual convention of the Nebraska Press Assn. held Apr. 10-12 featured entertainment worth remembering.

On the first night, eight of the 10 members of the Fabulous Browning Family kept the audience spellbound for well over an hour, with singing, dancing, and instrumentals.

There were very few dry eyes in the huge banquet room as the lovely Mrs. Browning concluded the show by singing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," climaxed by one of her charming daughters reciting the family creed, as follows:

"Today is the most wonderful day in our lives. Yesterday is gone, tomorrow may never come, so today we must be the master of our destinies. Today we will love instead of hate. We will spread cheer instead of gloom. We will think positively instead of negatively. We will seek knowledge instead of idle gossip. We will do our very best and learn from our mistakes. Today, above all, we will be thankful. . . ."

A different Roy Hatten appeared on the Friday night "Sar-Ben" battlet when his seriousness was gone and his humor "brought down the curtain."

It was indeed a convention I don't want to forget.

This week's recipe is for Barbecued Chicken - an easy-to-make dish likely to be a favorite all year around. It was sent in by Mrs. Gene (Darlene) Severance.

Barbecued Chicken Pre-heat oven at 375 degrees. Ingredients needed: One 2 1/2 or 3 lb. chicken, 1 cup margarine, 1 pkg. (30 cent size) Barbecued Potato Chips.

Melt margarine, then dip chicken pieces in crushed chips. Place on aluminum foil in hot oven for one hour (or until tender). No need to turn. Delicious.

A real artist! Later in the day Saturday I sneaked over to the Miller and Paine Art Exhibit, and guess what I found.

There on the wall representing Ord was a great winter scene. It was a serious and inspirational two hours with bits of humor brought in. His subject matter covered such tips as an explanation of why people act like they do, how you can profit from this knowledge, the golden key of understanding yourself, and the major techniques of leading people.

Much talent was displayed in the 232 entries. I wish time had permitted my looking longer.

Coffee Cup Philosophy: We know at least one thing about a person who never makes mistakes - he can't be very busy.

Cairo Woman, Arcadia Man Say Vows in Double-Ring Ceremony at Grand Island

Wed in a 12 noon ceremony Saturday at the Blessed Sacrament Catholic Church in Grand Island were Victoria Ann Wicht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wicht of Cairo, and Darwin Combs of Arcadia were groomsmen. Ushering were Gary Lemburg and Jim Rudnick.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremonies was Rev. Bernard Nelson. Mrs. George Manning accompanied the vocalist, Douglas McPhillips, on the organ.

Attendants were Phyllis Peterson and serving the sister as bridesmaids were Jacqueline and Pamela Wicht.

The attendants wore pastel-colored sleeveless skimmers of chiffon trimmed in neivse lace. Their matching headpieces were half-circle veils caught to a rose-leaf and they carried nosegays of pink roses and blue feathered carnations with yellow streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a traditional gown of Chantilly lace and angel-stiff taffeta. The fitted Elizabethan bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long sleeves tapering to traditional bridal points at the wrists.

The groom's brother, Danny Thompson of Lincoln, was best man. Terry Foxworthy of Scotia was groomsmen, and Neil Thompson, Henry Sydnick, Robert Otto, and Don Spotanski seated the guests.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at St. Mary's Auditorium. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kosnicki of St. Libory, Mrs. Don Thompson of Cotesfield, an aunt of the groom, baked the cakes and served the bride's cake. Mrs. Danny Thompson of Lincoln served the groom's cake. Mrs. Don Drawbridge of Grand Island poured coffee, Mrs. Bill Wadas of Ord served ice cream, and Mrs. George Barnes Jr. of Lincoln served punch.

Dorothy Fowler presided at the guest book while Lois Hurt, Darcey Thompson, and Pat Kosnicki cared for the gifts.

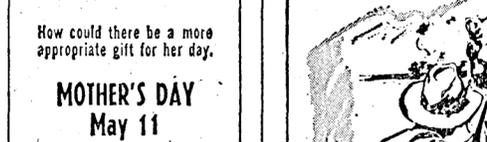

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Ord High School. The groom graduated from North Loup School and Lincoln High School in 1966. Both are employed at the Farmers Co-Op Elevator Co. in Ord.

After an evening dance at the North Loup Community Hall honoring the newlyweds, the couple left on their wedding trip. They are now at home at 1509 P Street in Ord.

Broken Bow, Loup City Ignore Rain To Capture Ord Invitational Crowns

In addition to death and taxes, there's one other thing Valley County sports fans can always count on — and that's rain for the Ord Invitational Track and Field Meet.

The weather ran true to form again this year, reserving its only significant rainfall this month for the day of the Ord meet. The cold damp weather undoubtedly affected performances, but a number of good ones were turned in nevertheless.

Bow is starting to show signs that it belongs on that death-taxes-and-rainfall list. The defending Class A champions easily repeated, winning the title with 78 points. Runnecup Grand Island Central Catholic had 51. Ravenna, the Class B winner last year, moved up to A status and finished third with 46 points. Most Ord was fourth with 32. Cairo Centura fifth with 30, and St. Paul sixth with 18.

Dale Coufal of North Loup-Scotia won Class C high hurdles.

With a greater number of teams, the Class B points were spread around more. Loup City collected its usual relay points, winning the mile and finishing second in the two-mile, but also got an amazing individual output from versatile Jack Van Slyke.

The shot put performances in both classes were outstanding. Kevin Kelly of Broken Bow hit 53 feet, 5 inches in Class A — and only 10 performers have bettered that this spring. Just five inches behind was Rod Schukar of Amherst, the Class B winner.

In the high jump Jim Halbersteden of Broken Bow became the 13th Nebraska schoolboy to clear 13 feet this year. He won the Class A title at that height.

Broken Bow athletes won a total of six first places in sweeping to their championship.

A state meet qualifier in the high jump last year, Van Slyke tied for first in that event, won the long jump, and finished second in both the high and low hurdles. His long jump of 20 feet 4 inches was especially noteworthy, since it missed by less than five inches of putting him in the state's top 10 this year.

Two other teams from nearby communities, Sargent and North Loup-Scotia, finished third and fourth in Class B. The Bulldogs nosed out their district rivals by one-seventh of a point — that coming on a seven-way tie for fifth in the high jump.

Sargent's only first place came on a fine 440-yard dash from Bob Anderson. He was clocked in 52.8 seconds.

North Loup-Scotia had a surprise winner in the 120-yard high hurdles. Dale Coufal skinned the timbers in 15.6 seconds to beat out a number of distinguished rivals, including teammate Chuck Wegner.

Ainsworth Golfers To Vie With Chants In 1:30 P.M. Match

With a pair of victories already under their belts, the Ord high Chanticleers' golfing version will shoot for win number three this afternoon (Thursday).

The Chants host Ainsworth in a dual match beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday morning at 9 they'll entertain Lexington.

The matches last week Ord finished second in a three-team fray with St. Paul and Central City, and defeated Albion in a dual affair. Earlier the Chants had beaten Central City in a two-team match.

The Chants fired a 77 to pace St. Paul to the low score in the triangular. The low Wildcat foursome took 324 strokes to tour the nine-hole Ord course twice. Par is 66.

Ord was 24 strokes back at 340. The Central City was well out of the running, with number four best Chant linksmen were closely bundled again with Dave Wolfe's 86 one stroke better than Spencer Douthit and Greg Martin. Dan Chichester was one behind them.

Against Albion, Douthit and Wolfe tied for low honors with 81. Chichester had an 83, and Dick Janda an 89. Team scores in that match were 334 for Ord and 351 for Albion.

Junior High Track Squad to Take Part In 10-Team Meet at Grand Island Today

Easy victors in their first meet of the season Friday, Ord's junior high trackmen step into a faster company today (Thursday).

Coach Don Nekuda will take his Chicks to Grand Island where they will participate in the Barr Invitational at the Barr Junior High track. Nine other teams will be on hand to contest them for honors. Besides Barr, they are Aurora, Broken Bow, Central City, Grand Island Central Catholic, Grand Island Northwest, Minden, St. Paul, and York.

In their opening competition Friday, the Chicks defeated Loup City and Burwell in a triangular meet at the Ord track. They rolled up 67 1/2 points to Loup City's 43 and Burwell's 33 1/2.

Brightest star in the Chick galaxy was Larry Wells, who took four individual first places, ran on a winning relay team, and finished second in two other events. He was thus responsible for 27 1/2 points — more than a third of the Ord total.

Wells took first places in such varied events as the sprints, the high jump, and the shot put. Both he and Bill Ziegler, who finished second, had better high jumps than any turned in this year by members of the Ord high school team. Wells cleared 5 feet 5 inches, while Ziegler topped 5-4.

Rivalling the top Ord athlete for individual honors was Burwell's David Goehring, who collected the bulk of his team's 33 1/2 points. Goehring won both hurdle events as well as the discus throw. His discus performance (135-11) was especially

Ord Muscle Nearly Wins

Strong of arm but slow of foot, the Ord High track team missed scoring its biggest win of the season Tuesday by a single point.

The Chanticleers dominated field events — especially the two weight contests — but fell short in the running competition as Valentine edged them for the Class A championship of the O'Neill Invitational Meet. The score was 55 3/4 to 54 3/4. Four other teams had lesser totals.

Ord went into the last two events — the 880 and mile relays — leading in overall points. But a game effort to win the 880 fell a few yards short, and the mile was completely out of reach.

Valentine took the 880 and finished second in the mile to score 10 high points in those events. Ord's halfhearted effort of Bruce Hurbert, Steve Wells, Carl Suminski, and Bill Miller pushed the Badgers all the way and finished second. However, in the mile the Chants could salvage only fourth place, giving the total of six points in the two contests.

With a one-point lead as the final event opened, it appeared for a while that the Chants still had a crack at the overall team title. They were out of the race themselves early, but the mile relay team from Pierce got off to a strong start and looked as if it might take the winning points away from Valentine. But the Pierce anchor man faltered and dropped back to third, letting both Ainsworth and Valentine snatch the win.

Highlights of the day for Ord were the winning discus throw Steve Wells got off and a fine mile run by Roger Cahill.

Scoring his second straight triumph in the discus, Wells came within nine inches of 140 feet. In four meets this season he has shown remarkable improvement, going from an opening toss of 107 feet to 119, then to 133, and finally to the 139-plus he got Tuesday.

Cahill's performance was also his best of the year. The slender senior ran away from the field to give the Chants their only first place in a running event. His time was 4 minutes, 41.8 seconds.

Other than Cahill's victory, the Chants could claim only one third place and two fifths in individual running events.

In the field it was a different story, however. With Wells leading the way, Ord took first, second, and fourth in the discus. In the shot put the Chants claimed first, third, and fourth even though Dennis Cetak's winning toss was a disappointing 48 9/16 feet. The time he's been under 50 feet this season.

The pole vault also proved a windfall for the Chants as Tim Markley finished first with an 11-foot clearance and Darrell Farmer was second at 10-6.

Ord thus collected 33 of its 54 points in the two weight events. The team performance was especially gratifying to Coach Fred Williams, since both Valentine and Ainsworth had finished well ahead of his team in the Wrangler Relays held 10 days earlier at Burwell.

Also turning in a significant achievement was Dale Peterson, Ord's top hurdler, who cleared 4 feet 10 inches in 2 minutes, 19.5 seconds. That time was better than any achieved so far this year by an Ord varsity performer.

In the seventh and eighth-grade division of the meet, Ord contestants took 15 of the 18 places for which points were awarded in five field events. That gave the baby Chicks 80 points compared to 52 for Burwell and 2 for Loup City.

Another Wells — this one Mike — paced the Ord victory with three first places. That plus two seconds and a leg on a second place relay team gave him 21 1/2 points for the day.

Kapustkas Observe Silver Wedding Anniversary

By Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski
 Sunday marked the 25th wedding anniversary of Spud and Iryne Kapustka. They were honored with a mass Sunday morning at St. Mary's Church, and with a dinner at the Elyria Hall that afternoon. Present to help them celebrate were their children, their parents, and all their brothers and sisters who live in and around the community, as well as some from a distance. Attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. John Sobon of Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gibney and Ken from Omaha, Mrs. Eva Kapustka and son Larry of Lincoln, and Paul Rysavy of Omaha. Mrs. Sobon and Mrs. Gibney are sisters of Spud, and Mrs. Eva Kapustka is a sister-in-law. Mrs. Bob Briggs from Eureka, Calif., called in the afternoon to congratulate the honorees. She is a sister of Iryne. Mr. and Mrs. Kapustka's son Bob and his wife Karol, who live in Hantsville, Ala., were unable to be present. But they plan to come later in the summer and bring a belated anniversary gift — Spud and Iryne's first grandchild. Among the kin who were able to be present and make it a memorable day were the Steve and Frank Kapustka families, Mr. and Mrs. James Iwanski (Iryne's parents), the Floyd and Irwin Iwanski families, and Mr. and Mrs. John Paprocki. The previous day Mr. and Mrs. Kapustka had been entertained by Mrs. Aileen Siegal and Fred Thurman of Kearney, in recognition of their silver anniversary. They had dinner at the Veterans Club in Ord, where Mrs. Siegal met many other friends from that community. Turkey Hunters Score Don Denner, Keith Kuklish, and Leonard Janicek went to Crawford last Friday for the spring turkey hunt and trout fishing. They had a very successful trip and good luck, each getting a turkey. The biggest weighed 26 pounds. Mrs. Denner and daughter went along to visit her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Tallman. They all returned home Sunday night. Pat Novotny Honored Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny attended the Miss Broken Bow pageant in which their granddaughter, Pat Novotny, was a contestant. A parade featuring the 11 candidates riding in convertible featured the afternoon program. At the evening festivities, Pat was chosen Miss Congeniality and was presented with a beautiful wrist watch and band. She was also the second runner-up in the finals and received a $25 scholarship. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novotny, were also in Broken Bow Saturday. Teen-Agers Do Good Deed Local teen-agers did a commendable job Monday evening collecting for the Tri-Fun Drive in Ord Township. Fourteen youngsters took part in the drive. They were Jim Lee; Jane, Nancy, and Penny Kusek; Tom, Diane, and Theresa Iwanski; Joan Papiernik, Linda Petska, Ken and Janet Durand; Mary, Rysavy and Jan Kapustka. They drove to 72 homes in the area with their pleas. In about one hour they collected over $100, as well as some good experience. Relatives Help Those that helped Earl Sears take down the roof of his house Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sears and Missie of Grand Island, Don Sears and Mr. and Mrs. John Sears and family of Ord, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sears and family and Ray Sears of Burwell. The ladies brought their dinners, which were served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sears. Helping to lay foundation Saturday were Guylen Sears, Dale Lynn, and George Ballard of Burwell. Pies Auctioned Lions Club members sponsored a card party Thursday evening at the Elyria Hall. Ten-point pitch was played at seven tables, and refreshments of pie and coffee were served. Several pies were also auctioned off. Meeting Time Changes Jolly Homemakers Extension Club met Thursday with Mrs. Bill Tuana. Nine members answered roll call by naming the vegetable they like best. The lesson was given by Mrs. Charlie Lech. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Gertrude Lech May 15. From now on the meetings will start at 1:30 p.m. Visits From Vietnam Ted Dubas, who is stationed in Vietnam, and his wife from Denver, Colo., visited relatives in this area a couple of days last week. Among those they called on were his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kapustka, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dubas. Son-in-Law Injured Mrs. Gertrude Lech received word Thursday that her son-in-law, Dennis Maciejewski of Loup City, had been thrown off a horse and had broken his collar bone. Mrs. Lech left that afternoon to visit in her daughter's home and help them in any way she can. Personals Mrs. Andrew Kusek called on Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski Friday morning. Several from here attended the Z.C.B.J. lodge meeting Sunday at the National Hall, when a number of 50-year pins were presented. (For more information on the program, see the Comstock Comments in today's issue of the Quiz.) In the evening following the program, the Pitch Club Eight met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Visek. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Nevrla, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Novak, and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny.

(For more information on the program, see the Comstock Comments in today's issue of the Quiz.) In the evening following the program, the Pitch Club Eight met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Visek. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Nevrla, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Novak, and Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny.

By Mrs. Aileen Siegal and Fred Thurman of Kearney, in recognition of their silver anniversary. They had dinner at the Veterans Club in Ord, where Mrs. Siegal met many other friends from that community. Turkey Hunters Score Don Denner, Keith Kuklish, and Leonard Janicek went to Crawford last Friday for the spring turkey hunt and trout fishing. They had a very successful trip and good luck, each getting a turkey. The biggest weighed 26 pounds. Mrs. Denner and daughter went along to visit her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Buzz Tallman. They all returned home Sunday night. Pat Novotny Honored Mr. and Mrs. Anton Novotny attended the Miss Broken Bow pageant in which their granddaughter, Pat Novotny, was a contestant. A parade featuring the 11 candidates riding in convertible featured the afternoon program. At the evening festivities, Pat was chosen Miss Congeniality and was presented with a beautiful wrist watch and band. She was also the second runner-up in the finals and received a $25 scholarship. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Novotny, were also in Broken Bow Saturday. Teen-Agers Do Good Deed Local teen-agers did a commendable job Monday evening collecting for the Tri-Fun Drive in Ord Township. Fourteen youngsters took part in the drive. They were Jim Lee; Jane, Nancy, and Penny Kusek; Tom, Diane, and Theresa Iwanski; Joan Papiernik, Linda Petska, Ken and Janet Durand; Mary, Rysavy and Jan Kapustka. They drove to 72 homes in the area with their pleas. In about one hour they collected over $100, as well as some good experience. Relatives Help Those that helped Earl Sears take down the roof of his house Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sears and Missie of Grand Island, Don Sears and Mr. and Mrs. John Sears and family of Ord, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sears and family and Ray Sears of Burwell. The ladies brought their dinners, which were served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sears. Helping to lay foundation Saturday were Guylen Sears, Dale Lynn, and George Ballard of Burwell. Pies Auctioned Lions Club members sponsored a card party Thursday evening at the Elyria Hall. Ten-point pitch was played at seven tables, and refreshments of pie and coffee were served. Several pies were also auctioned off. Meeting Time Changes Jolly Homemakers Extension Club met Thursday with Mrs. Bill Tuana. Nine members answered roll call by naming the vegetable they like best. The lesson was given by Mrs. Charlie Lech. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Gertrude Lech May 15. From now on the meetings will start at 1:30 p.m. Visits From Vietnam Ted Dubas, who is stationed in Vietnam, and his wife from Denver, Colo., visited relatives in this area a couple of days last week. Among those they called on were his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kapustka, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dubas. Son-in-Law Injured Mrs. Gertrude Lech received word Thursday that her son-in-law, Dennis Maciejewski of Loup City, had been thrown off a horse and had broken his collar bone. Mrs. Lech left that afternoon to visit in her daughter's home and help them in any way she can. Personals Mrs. Andrew Kusek called on Mrs. J. B. Zulkoski Friday morning. North Loup Resident Dies at Ord Hospital

Mrs. Anna Munson, 83, a resident of North Loup for many years, died Apr. 16 at the Valley County Hospital.
Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the North Loup United Methodist Church, with Rev. Leonard Clark officiating. Mrs. Genevieve Heppner sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder" and "How Great Thou Art." Susan Hudson was the organist.
Pallbearers were John Kriewald, Arthur Barz, Ray Knopp, Fred Landstedt, H. J. Huopner, and Frank Schudel. Interment was in the North Loup Hillside Cemetery with the Hastings-Pearson Mortuary in charge of arrangements.
Anna Magdalena Munson was born May 27, 1885, at Minerville. Her parents were Lawrence and Catherine (Peterson) Anderson. On Apr. 8, 1909, she was united in marriage to Munson at Burns, Wyo. Mr. Munson preceded her in death Feb. 22 of this year.
Mrs. Munson's home was first in Sherman County as a child with her parents. She was educated there and later taught in rural schools of the area.
She moved to Wyoming in 1907 and in 1918 returned to North Loup, which had been her home since Mrs. Munson was found her home and loved to sew and crochet as hobbies.
She is survived by one daughter, Helen Munson of North Loup, and by four nieces and two nephews. Also preceding her in death were her parents and two brothers.

Education Steals Senatorial Spotlight From Controversial Highway Issues

By Melvin Paul
Statehouse Correspondent
The Nebraska Press Assn.

LINCOLN — Between Christmas and New Year's, when the pundits were analyzing the issues which would dominate the 1969 legislature, it was generally conceded that highways would hold the spotlight.

Undoubtedly they will stir up a pretty good controversy before the session is over. Some of the most significant highway legislation in many years has been introduced, and hearings on the 16 major highway bills have just begun.

But meanwhile, education has been the dominant issue. Last week was no exception. One of the blockbuster school bills of the session was heard before the education committee the same day the senators took testimony on resolution concerning the members of the State Board of Education.

The bill was L.B. 1033. It would put a proposed constitutional amendment on the 1970 general election ballot. The amendment would give the legislature permission to give direct aid to students in private and parochial schools as a partial reimbursement for their tuition.

The hearings on those two issues spanned nearly six hours last Wednesday.

Earlier, the committee had wrestled with a proposal to supply state aid to private nursing schools. Since many hospitals operating nursing schools are associated with a religious denomination, the same church and state arguments presented last week were heard then.

Also heard earlier was a bill many people call a mandatory school district reorganization measure. It says approved redistricting plans must be implemented by 1973. The hearing on that bill was another spectacular.

The 1969 legislative session had no more than begun before the education committee considered a bill which would have had Omaha School District board members elected by districts. (They are now elected at large.) That bill got to the floor, where it was killed.

Still to come is a bill which would call for a constitutional amendment permitting the legislature to have state school board members elected or appointed.

That bill is an outgrowth of senatorial reaction to the electrated Lunday Letter, a letter written by John Lunday of Omaha to four other state school board members announcing plans for a "power play" to "execute" Education Commissioner Floyd Miller.

The letter also led to the censure resolution which was before the committee last week.

That resolution says a "negative majority" of the board — the five members involved in the Lunday Letter — should be given a vote of "no confidence" by the legislature.

Critics of the board's activities and supporters who argued that censuring the board would, in effect, be censuring the voters who elected them paraded before the committee.

Only one board member was present, Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington. She said if the legislature passed the resolution it would be condoning the activities of Miller, which she had asked the board president, Dr. Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk, to call a special meeting to deal with the Miller issue. She said it wasn't fair to anyone to leave the matter unsettled.

Burkhardt said he was polling the other board members on the special meeting request, and at week's end there had been no announcement about a session prior to the next regular meeting in May.

The five board members who would be censured if the proposed resolution is accepted by the legislature are Mrs. Shepherd, Lunday, Burkhardt, John Wagoner of Grand Island, and Lloyd Wright of Reynolds.

Senator Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, testifying before the education committee, offered a substitute resolution commending Miller and the other three board members — Norman Otto of Millard, Robert Simmons of Scottsbluff, and Frank Landis of Lincoln.

"I'd rather commend than condemn," she said.

Mrs. Orme's resolution, the censure proposal, and the state-aid-to-private-and-parochial-schools bill were all held by the committee, which planned to consider action on them this week.

Another resolution stood in the wings. Senator Henry Pedersen of Omaha said he would introduce a resolution which called for the impeachment of Lunday and might be expanded to include other members of the school board.

Although Pedersen announced his plans for the impeachment resolution Apr. 10, it hadn't been introduced through the end of last week. He said, however, he still planned to propose it. "I'm just going to tantalize them," Pedersen said.

Testimony on the state-aid-to-nonpublic-schools bill ranged from that of opponents who claimed it was a violation of the federal constitution and would weaken the public school system to that of the supporters who said if the parochial schools aren't saved with state aid they will collapse and their 55,000 students will be turned over to the public system.

Although Roman Catholic and Missouri Synod Lutheran representatives endorsed the bill, other church representatives were against it, including some denominations which operate parochial schools. The church school spokesmen who said they didn't want state aid said they would rather do it by themselves without government interference.

Also fighting the bill were representatives of the teachers, administrators, and parents' associations.

Although there was no representative to testify at the hearing, the state school board has passed a resolution endorsing aid to nonpublic schools.

Services Tuesday For Mrs. Greenland At Arcadia Church

A 58-year-old Arcadia woman, Mrs. Jake (Oril) Greenland, died Apr. 19 at the Burwell Community Hospital. She had been seriously ill the past five weeks.

Final services for Mrs. Greenland were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Arcadia United Methodist Church with Rev. Clay Deaver officiating. Mrs. Ray Stonehocker and Mrs. Elvin Moody sang "How Great Thou Art" and "Face to Face," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Chester Babcock Jr.

Pallbearers were Donald Fells, Chester Babcock Jr., Allen Eisters, Gene Hawley, Gerald Einspahr, and C. D. Cummins. Interment was in the Arcadia Cemetery with Hastings-Pearson Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Oril Ona Greenland, daughter of Burt and Artaese (Crist) Sell, was born Mar. 29, 1911, at Kirk, Colo. At an early age she came with her parents to Arcadia and attended rural school near Arcadia and also the Arcadia High School.

She and Mr. Greenland were married Dec. 21, 1928, at Loup City. Their home was on a farm near Arcadia, and she was a member of the Arcadia Independent Bible Church.

Survivors are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Donna Fells and Mrs. Hollis Hunt, both of Arcadia; her father, Burt Sell of Arcadia; five brothers, Zera and Dale Sell of Arcadia, Orville Sell of Grand Island, E. A. Sell of Burney, Calif., and Portis Sell of Ogden, Ia.; two sisters, Mrs. Mese Greenland of Broken Bow and Mrs. Evelyn Camp of San Diego, Calif.; and five grandchildren. Her mother, one brother and an infant sister preceded her in death.

Mrs. Lyle Jacobs of St. Paul was a Sunday guest of Mrs. Eugene Leggett.

Pre-emergence Lawn Weed Control

April is the ideal time to apply that herbicide to rid your lawn of ugly crabgrass, foxtail, and other annual weeds.

But are you confused as to which herbicide to apply? Well you might be. You have some 65 different materials available to choose from for pre-emergence lawn weed control.

One of the most popular chemicals, Dacthal, is available in 25 products. Other pre-emergence lawn weed chemicals include Bandane, Tuperon, B-tisan, Azak, Benefin, and arsenicals.

There's a trend towards combination fertilizers, weed killers, and soil insecticides — blended so all three can be applied at once.

The active ingredients of lawn herbicides prevent germination and development of weeds but have little or no effect on established plants, such as dandelions and white clover. However, some products combine 2,4-D, Banvel D, or Silves with pre-emergence chemicals. Such combinations kill both seeds and emerged weeds.

Rake the lawn to remove dead grass, leaves, and other trash before applying pre-emergence weed killers. Apply the product at the recommended rate. Don't try to stretch a 2,500-square-foot bag to cover 3,500 square feet. Those ugly weeds will be there in August if you try to skimp.

Water the lawn thoroughly after the herbicide is applied. At least one-half inch of water is desired. The water is needed to move the chemical into the upper soil surface where it can go to work on the germinating weeds.

Declare War On Musk Thistle

Have you taken a walk through your pastures, range-land, or that waste area on the back 40? If you have, you probably found some hardy musk thistle rosettes and seedlings which must be sprayed before the plant begins to shoot the flowering stock.

Elm Bark Beetles
The small beetle that transmits Dutch elm disease fungus will begin to emerge about the time the lilacs bloom.

This insect spends the winter as a grub in elm trees that died the previous year. In the spring the grubs change to beetles that leave the trees and sometimes carry fungus spores with them. When the beetle feeds on healthy elm twigs, the fungus may be deposited in the feeding area, infecting the healthy tree.

Dutch elm disease is prevented by spraying trees in the dormant stage. Trees are considered in this stage until new leaves begin to come out, so it's still not too late to spray for this insect. But you'll have to hurry. After elm trees have leaves, and beetles are emerging, it is usually too late for a successful spraying program.

To reduce the risk of beetle transmission, dead or dying elm trees should be removed and destroyed by burning. This can be done any time, but it is very important that these trees be removed before leaves come out in the spring. Destruction of breeding sites for elm bark beetles will reduce the number of beetles produced.

Kay Foth Enrolls In Lincoln School

Kay Foth of Ord has enrolled at the Lincoln School of Commerce for the fall term beginning Sept. 1. She has selected a career in business and will train in the executive secretarial course at the institution.

Kay will be graduated in May from Ord High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Foth of Ord.

Joseph Parkos, 83, Dies at Hospital; Catholic Rites Held

Funeral services for Joseph Parkos, 83, who died Apr. 18 at the Valley County Hospital, were held Monday morning at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church.

Rev. Albert Godlewski offered the 10 o'clock mass, and Mrs. Elsie Furtak served as organist. Burial was in the Ord Catholic Cemetery with Joe Schuette, Steve Dubas, Peter Duda, Bill Broczek, Bill Jablonski, and Vlad Babka as pallbearers. Rosary was recited at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Hastings-Pearson Chapel.

The son of Albert and Antonia (Suchanek) Parkos, the deceased was born Jan. 9, 1886, in Valley County. On May 25, 1915, he was united in marriage to Mary Wolf at the Geranium Catholic Church. After marriage their home was on a farm north of Arcadia until retirement in 1947 when they moved to Ord.

Mr. Parkos was a member of the Ord Catholic Church.

Survivors are two sons, Vencil of Poolsville, Md., and Ernest of Holdrege; two brothers, Albert and Frank of Ord; three sisters, Mrs. Antonia Turk of Ord, Mrs. Mary Sedlaek of Ord, and Mrs. Anna Blaha of St. Paul; and five grandchildren. Mr. Parkos was preceded in death by his wife on June 8, 1967, and by his parents and one brother.

Winners Discuss Wide Range of Topics In Valley County 4-H Speech Competition

Drugs which can get young persons into trouble and 4-H which can keep them out were discussed by winning candidates in the senior division of last week's Timely Topics public speaking contest.

Roger Cahill, who as a senior at Ord High School is nearing the end of a long and fruitful 4-H career, was named best boy speaker for his discourse on drugs. It was titled "Don't Blow Your Mind."

Rita Wojtaszek, who's just a freshman in school but already owns many 4-H honors, won the girls division with her talk called "4-H, A Wheel of Fortune."

Named as winners in the junior division were Dale Wojtaszek, whose talk was headed "Let's Go Camping!"; and Joyce Fuss, whose subject was "Help! This Is an Emergency — What Shall I Do?"

Entry in the contest was limited to 4-H members. The four winners will represent Valley County at the sub-district competition Saturday in Halsey. Winners there will compete in the state contest, to be held in June.

The four top speakers all received purple ribbons for their efforts in the local contest. Cahill was representing the Ord

Livestock 4-H Club, Wojtaszek the Kings of Clover, his sister the Bonnie Belles, and Miss Fuss the Little Women.

Judges were Hal Pierce, senior division, and Ray Smith, junior division.

Ten youngsters took part in the contest. In addition to the winners, they were:

Stanley Axthelm, Ord Livestock 4-H Club, who spoke on "Earth's Caretaker, Man";

Georgene Cetak, Scissors and Sausers 4-H Club, "4-H Sprouts";

Cheryl Chalupa, Fort Hartsturf 4-H Club, "Let's Have a Listen In";

Mike Decker, The Beetles 4-H Club, "4-H Is Learning by Doing";

Joan Fuss, Little Women 4-H Club, "What 4-H Clubs Do";

Kathryn Waldmann, Trying Our Best 4-H Club, "Youth Problems—Old or New?"

Cooperation Essential In School Dress Crisis

As warm weather returns to the North Loup Valley, it brings with it a renewal of the creeping hemline crisis.

Just as they did last fall, administrators at Ord High School have once again found it necessary to critically evaluate the dress and grooming of their charges. In some cases they have found it contrary to guidelines set down in the school policy handbook, and students have been sent home to comply with requirements.

As expected, parents have taken stands at both ends of the spectrum in these disputes. Some back the school administration solidly, while others stand up for their children's right to wear what they please.

There are, also as usual, pros and cons on both sides. Short hemlines are the style today, and indeed it is difficult to find dresses long enough to satisfy school regulations.

On the other hand, a certain amount of modesty and decorum must be maintained in a school atmosphere. It is distracting, to say the least, when a male student—or more likely a teacher—has to look out the window or at the ceiling to avoid seeing things he's not supposed to see.

The present administration—with a new superintendent and a new principal still in their first year here—has achieved something of a hard-earned reputation for its firm stand on the matter of dress and grooming. However, as Principal Bob Norton points out, the current administration has really implemented no new guidelines. It is simply enforcing those left by the previous administration. But because the policies were not enforced so rigidly until this year, many persons feel that new, stricter guidelines have been laid down.

Norton acknowledges that some relaxation of policy may be in order. Pants-dresses, for example, might conceivably be authorized. While he personally opposes this, Norton revealed Monday that he is considering the establishment of a committee which would assist him in the formation of policy on dress and grooming. The committee would have representation from parents, students, and teachers.

In the meantime, though, the immediate question seems to be one of responsibility: Who has it?

School administrators have been given the authority to maintain order and proper conduct among the students. In order to do this, they must insist that school policies be adhered to.

On the other hand, it is not their responsibility to see that a child is properly dressed when he or she comes to school. That is the parent's duty. To pass the buck to the school administration is to shirk a responsibility.

Cooperation in this area, alone, will go a long way toward solving the current problem.

Protect the 56,000 and Forget the 31!

President Nixon's announcement that reconnaissance flights will be continued over the Sea of Japan was a welcome one. So was his revelation that they will be protected.

One wonders, though, just how many chances the North Koreans will get.

There are 56,000 American troops stationed in South Korea," the President stated. Those 56,000 men are the responsibility of the President of the United States as commander in chief.

... It is the responsibility of the commander in chief to protect the security of those men.

That is all well and good, but what about those other 31 who were aboard an unarmed reconnaissance plane? Don't they count?

There was another aspect to the plane incident which was not as sweet as it appeared.

At the same time she was stripping poor Czechoslovakia of her last vestige of freedom (by ousting liberal ruler Alexander Dubcek and replacing him with hard-liner Gustav Husak) Mother Russia had her ships out in the Sea of Japan benevolently looking for scraps from our airplane. With her propaganda expertise, she thus was able to get herself pictured by the world's news media as a sympathetic nation trying to lend a stricken friend a helping hand.

Besides the propaganda value, there was yet another reason the Soviets may have been so anxious to help us find our airplane. Six tons of special surveillance equipment was in the sea somewhere near where the plane went down, and evaluations of it would have kept Soviet engineers and scientists busy for quite some time had a Russian ship been able to locate it.

Something Different

Mexican Laws Are Tricky

Sometimes I think Mexicans eat all the time. They may not have hamburger stands — but they have many other wagons and counters on the street.

On the two-wheeled wagon outside the window of the bar (social center) of the Posada, the man has slices of ripe pineapple, cucumbers split and fiery hot with seasoning, papayas whole or split, oranges, nectarines, cherimoyos (potato-like-texture but they taste more like apples), and bananas, big or finger-size, and sweet.

The next wagon will have ice cream in bars, cones, or popsicle-like sticks which are very popular.

A boy one morning during my recent visit south of the border was selling crisp, airy, very good pieces of pork rind. They were unseasoned, but he inquired "Chee-lee?" and pulled a bottle of very hot sauce out of his pocket, which I declined. He also had limes (lee-moon) and other seasonings to offer.

Sweets — various pastries — are in the tiny groceries. Salted nuts, hot with pepper sauce — are very good. Mexicans love this hot taste on most everything. And I like it too.

They do not sell meat on the street much — but hot roasted roasting ears are very good, and many eat them. Often they are only dropped into scalding water — and again, you may have them covered with chili powder.

There isn't a lot of refrigeration, so meat is eaten quickly. A man butchered a huge pig on his front walk once while I was in Mexico. Housewives quickly assembled. The butcher cut off the desired cut, whatever was requested. Inside an hour only the hide was left; all the chops and roasts were sold.

Now you may say that butchering on the sidewalk isn't sterile!

Why isn't it? How could the meat be disposed of faster? It will have to be cooked that day if you have no refrigerator, right?

Understanding the law in Mexico seems to be hopeless; it is so involved, and the lawyers don't always make it simpler, nor the government regulations either.

For example, only Mexicans may own property along the coastlines — and Mexico has long coastlines on both east and west. Foreigners get around this by marrying a Mexican. Or, they may lease or rent the property.

Buying property can be very tricky. One group of people bought land and built homes — only to learn the deeds to the land had been given them by some sharp Mexicans, who did not own it in the first place.

The government also owns the ground for 30 meters back from a lake front. So a purchaser may learn he has no access to his home — the government has let a Mexican plant it to tomatoes — all along the lake side.

There are so many regulations. Suddenly comes a letter to all inns and hotels — orchestras must cease playing at 11 p.m.! But of course a few pesos on the proper palms may permit the musicians to stay on a couple of hours later.

So many Mexicans are paid so little, they need tips and extras. At the border the officials are especially likely to have a handout. One friend told me he had spent a couple of days packing his station wagon, every carton labelled. He was moving down here into a new house. The customs police told the traveller to get all those boxes out for inspection! Grumbling, he unpacked, perspiring freely for it was a hot day. The inspector indicated two boxes he wanted open, flicked a couple of items in them, and said, "All right, pack your car." Then he extended a palm, accepted a tip, and pointed to his boss: "Tip him too!"

The traveller said disgustedly, "You had me take out all those boxes and then you only looked in two of them?"

DAVE MARTIN

President Nixon last week sent to Congress a semi-State of the Union message in which he set forth some important problems facing our nation. Among the items he hopes to attack are the following:

(1) Peace — "Peace has the first priority," the President said. "It concerns the future civilization, and even in terms of our domestic needs themselves, what we are able to do will depend in large measure on prospects for an early end to the war in Vietnam."

(2) Inflation — "We must put a halt, swiftly, to the ruinous rise of inflationary pressures," he stated. In this regard the President recommended a reduction in fiscal year 1970 expenditures of $4 billion.

(3) Tax Reform — The present tax structure must be reformed, Mr. Nixon said, to eliminate present loopholes in the law and to make more equitable our tax laws.

(4) Crime — "New measures must be used to combat organized crime, and to crack down on racketeers, narcotic traffickers, and peddlers of obscenity," stated the President.

(5) The Cities — "A new program of tax credits, designed to provide new incentives for the settlement of additional private resources, is needed to meet our urgent social needs," Mr. Nixon said.

(6) The Post Office — "A comprehensive reorganization of the Post Office Department" is desirable, according to the President.

(7) District of Columbia — Home rule and Congressional representation for the District of Columbia are also needed, he stated.

(8) Decentralization of Government — "A start in sharing the revenue of the federal government with local and state governments" must be made, the President concluded.

It is expected that President Nixon will begin immediately sending messages to Congress to implement each of the above programs.

Nature's Deck Stacked Against Farmers, But Some of 'Em Keep Gambling Anyhow

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

What chance has a farmer and rancher got anyhow? That was the question took up by the fellers during their session at the country store Saturday night.

They didn't come up with any solid predictions on what is to be, Mister Editor, but they sure gave the subject a first-class going over.

Henry Desmud said life on the land is a gamble and always has been. A feller can study a team's record and do pretty good figuring a game, and he can size up a race horse within a reasonable doubt. But there just ain't no way a farmer and rancher can hedge his bets.

"All other gamblers are pikers compared to them that depend on the land for a living," were Henry's words.

Day in, day out, every move he makes is a gamble, allowed Henry. He can start feeding a bunch of calves or tie up all his money in broilers, and before he can get 'em half ready to sell the bottom drops out of the market and he can't make enough to pay their feed bill.

There's always the grasshopper, drought, flood, wind, hail and if he misses 'em all one year they'll hit him double the next.

Farmers know the odds, Henry allowed, but they can't do anything to change 'em.

For instance, Henry said nature has been saving up and recently turned everything up on the coast of California. If the rain and the mud weren't enough, some

"That's right. Doing no one any harm. Just sitting on the wall."
"You say you fell. Did someone push you?"
"No. Not really."
"What do you mean, 'Not really'?"
"Well, sir, it was like this. I was thinking."
"Thinking! You mean to tell me thinking caused you to fall?"
"In a way . . . I mean, it did and it didn't."
"Now look! Either it DID or it DIDN'T. There's no halfway. You either fall all the way or you don't fall at all."
"That's it! That's it exactly! That's what I was thinking. Everyone wants to be 'suspended.' No one wants to be at the top . . . and no one wants to be at the bottom. Everyone wants to be 'in between.' That's just what I was thinking!"

You look down and you start getting dizzy and the more you think, the dizzier you get! Then all of a sudden you're falling and you really don't want to be, but you can't help yourself."
"All right, then, no one pushed you."
"Yes . . . I guess you're right. No one pushed me."
"Then you have no one to blame but yourself . . . right?"
"Right . . ."
"Then what do I report to the king?"
"Just tell him to stop pushing us so hard. I mean . . . tell him to stop making US push OURSELVES so hard. One of these days the whole kingdom is going to fall and crack wide open!"

The Scott Report

From The Washington News-Intelligence Syndicate
By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird's order for an overall review of defense policy and manpower needs was triggered by a confidential Air Force study. The study showed that past administration policies have had a near-disastrous effect on the Air Force's world-wide capability.

Completed in March by the Air Force Logistics Command headquarters at Dayton, Ohio, the massive 337-page study reveals that the Johnson administration's diversion of Air Force funds, manpower, and planes to Vietnam has left hundreds of aircraft — including dozens of B-52 strategic bombers — grounded for lack of maintenance and repairs.

The Air Force bombshell, which already has rocked top echelons of the Pentagon, is now sending shock waves throughout the Nixon administration and Congress because of its vast implications for the security of this country during the 1970s.

The document was prepared under the direction of Brig. Gen. H. E. Hails, assistant deputy chief of staff maintenance engineering. It strongly implies that past policies imposed by the Johnson and Kennedy administration left the Air Force with a "maintenance crisis."

While no mention is made of more than 3,500 aircraft and helicopters lost in the Vietnam War during the past four years, the study cites hundreds of examples which show how lack of funds and personnel has left aircraft impervious and unsafe or unable to perform their missions.

Senate Hearings

The Air Force's "maintenance crisis" is expected to make headlines when Senator John McClellan's permanent investigating subcommittee reopens its hearings on the ill-fated TFX (now FB-111) aircraft project next month.

In recent weeks McClellan's investigators have traced many of the Air Force's maintenance problems to McNamara's policies of overruling the military on development of weapons systems and Vietnam war policies.

McClellan's probes are now reviewing the effect McNamara's TFX decision had in creating the service's crisis.

McClellan envisioned that the all-service, multi-billion dollar TFX would gradually replace all

"In addition to threatening our operational capability," the study states, "these policies have also caused our failure to meet international commitment under the military assistance grant and

The lean EC-121 reconnaissance plane, shot down over the Sea of Japan by two North Korean Migs, cost $2,750,000. The plane could fly more than 24 hours without refueling. Teams of men inside eavesdropped on Russian and Chinese as well as North Korean radio waves. The EC-121 planes, which are operated by the Navy, are under direction of the National Security Agency. In the Far East, their main base of operation is Atsugi Naval Air Station, Japan. The Atsugi base was used by Japanese pilots during World War II to shoot down seven American B-29 bombers. It also was the training base for kamikaze pilots. The base covers more than 1,305 acres.

Valleyside Students Enjoy Day Out, Tour Business, Government Offices

Valleyside teachers (Mrs. Lois Peterson and Mrs. Joy Vert) and their pupils had a fine day today. It was also a hay ride as the children sat on bales of hay during their trip. In Ord they toured the Ord Manufacturing Co., Radio Station KNLV, the Post Office, the judge's and sheriff's offices and the jail in the county courthouse, the Ord Hatchery, the city police station, and emergency units, and the library.

Novel Theme
"Pattern for Living" was the theme of the mother-daughter tea at the Mira Valley United Methodist Church Sunday afternoon. There were 142 women and girls present, including some from the Arcadia church. Mrs. Edwin Lenz, W.S.C.S. president, chose the theme. She made preparations for the tea. Planning the program were Mrs. Will Foth, Mrs. Mervin Hornickel, and Mrs. Maurine Koelling. The programs were in the form of dress patterns. Topics were "Pattern for Living" by Mrs. Jack Duvall; "Cutting Instructions," by Mrs. Orel Koelling; "Seam Allowances," by Mrs. Dick Peterson; "Joining (Unity in the Family)," by Mrs. Rolfe Staab; "Zippers (Lip Zip)," by Mrs. Earl Higgins; and "Finishing Details," by Mrs. Harry Foth. The music consisted of a duet, "Mother," sung by Mrs. Gordon Foth and Mrs. Gust Foth Jr.; a duet, "My Mother Taught Me To Pray," by Cheryl Peterson and Janice Koelling; and "Exercise 'Gifts with a Gimmick,'" by junior daughters.

The decorating committee — Mrs. Kent Hornickel, Mrs. Eldon Foth, and Mrs. Marvin Wampole — used toy sewing machines with a sampling of dress material and pin cushion nut cups for center pieces. Refreshments were provided by the W.S.C.S. church responsibility committee. The brotherhood men and boys served and took care of kitchen duties.

Gone are the days when the family spent summer all jammed up in one room.

Don't kid yourself. It'll be just as hot this summer—and you'll be just as uncomfortable as last year. Maybe it'll be hotter. Remember the nights you put in huddling up next to the window unit? Only one way to avoid that nightmare this year: Whole-house gas air conditioning. Lets you sleep in cool, relaxed comfort. And the cost won't keep you awake either. Because it'll probably hook right up to your present central heating system. Because gas is the most economical kind of air conditioning system running. And because maintenance is next to nothing. So, if the very thought of summer makes you boil, visit your nearby Kansas-Nebraska office and see how cool summer can be with whole-house gas air conditioning.

Gas air conditioning keeps your whole house cool.

Flower Fanciers Find Toil in Fall Produces Big Dividends in Spring

By Berenice Cornell
Eva Robertson has a beautiful row of 12 yellow daffodils along the south side of her unit. Each plant has several flowers. Eva arrived home Sunday from her visit in Colorado. Her flowers were still nice and she was thus able to see what last fall's plantings did.

The Frank Janulewicz have some nice daffodils too, Marie Jorgensen has yellow pansies, and Berenice Cornell a bunch of grape hyacinths. The outside violets are coming out.

Also the gardeners are getting busy, so evidences of spring are here.

Humility Has Its Reward
Thursday religious services were conducted by Rev. Don Wright of the Bethel Baptist Church. He was taking the place of Rev. Earl Higgins, minister of the Mira Valley and Arcadia United Methodist Churches.

Luke 14, especially verses 8 through 14 was studied. Humility was the subject, as mentioned in verse 11: "He that humbly himself shall be exalted." Mr. Wright said when we do things for others we should do them for those that are in need — not just for those we think will return the favor. (Luke 14: 13-14). He said God can renew and lift up the deepest sinner if he will believe and accept, and He wants us to come to Him just as we are. The service was led with prayer and a thought on the hymn "Just as I Am." Foutteen were present.

24 Cooks Not Too Many
The "Cooking for One or Two," school on the 15th was conducted by Ethel Diedrichsen. The session on food and nutrition was attended by 14 Parkview residents and 10 others, mostly extension club leaders. The last of three meetings in the series was held Tuesday.

Grandson Cited
A grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz recently was given distinction by the Navy for his performance as a student in a radar maintenance course. He is Bruce Hoyie and is stationed at the Naval Air Station in Imperial Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Hubel Honored
Berenice Cornell was at Mrs. Floyd Botlesen's Friday evening to attend a baby shower given for Mrs. Dale (Betty) Hubel.

Were They Biting?
Frank Janulewicz went Friday to Comstock, then with his daughter and son-in-law — the Wendell Hoyies — and friends to the northern part of the state to fish. He returned Monday. Marguerite West had Sunday dinner with Anna Janulewicz while he was gone.

Granddaughter Wed
Berenice Cornell telephoned Sunday to the Charles Evans residence at Oxon Hill, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Downs' daughter, Barbara Lynn, was married Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Downs is a stepdaughter of Berenice.

Ona Nelson had as guests last Monday afternoon a group honoring Mrs. Herman Swanson with a belated birthday party. Those present besides Mrs. Swanson were Mesdames Norma Aagaard, Audrey Davis, Jay Nelson, Theod Nelson, and Lomnie Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. George Polinoski were to Omaha Saturday. A daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Davis of North Loup, took them. They will stay a few days with their son Gordon and family while Mr. Polinoski had a checkup with the doctor. Gordon is still in the hospital following spine surgery.

We are glad to have Lyda Porter with us again, as well as Mrs. Helen Arnold of Arcadia who is staying with Lyda. Mrs. Clarence Wegeneest of Hastings, an interim (or missionary) pastor of the Bethany Lutheran Church, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Benson.

Berenice Cornell was with the Bethel Baptist Missionary ladies who met Tuesday at Mrs. Don Wright's home. Mrs. Bill Ryschon was refreshment hostess, and Mrs. Wright gave the lesson. Mrs. Dan Ehresman came for Berenice, and Mrs. Charles Jones brought her home. The next afternoon Berenice visited Mrs. Willis Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Morrow of Scotia were at the home of her mother, Lucy McCune, a while Thursday. On Saturday another daughter, Mrs. Merle Fairfield, and family of Mason City were with Lucy. The Fairfields also called on Mildred Anderson while here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Severson and Birchard were with Elizabeth Severson Saturday night and Sunday forenoon. Mena Jorgensen went to Wolbach Friday with Frances Prien to visit with Mrs. Percy Thayer for the day. Mrs. Agnes Dodge, Mrs. Anna Holmes, and Elsie Rathbun were Sunday supper guests of Mena.

Mrs. Fannie Houser visited Lillian Dault Thursday evening. Then Lillian visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dobrovsky Friday evening.

Mildred Anderson has received a letter from Mary Blaha in Yankton, S. D. Mary says to greet Parkview friends.

Tena Swanson's daughter Ella (Mrs. William Show) and husband came Saturday from Paxton to be with Tena until Sunday evening.

Berenice Cornell had dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ryschon visited with the Hacketts in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burrows of Boulder, Colo., called Monday on Mrs. Helen Arnold at Lyda Porter's. Mrs. Arnold and the Burrows were neighbors for a number of years south of North Loup.

Come to Church

This Week's Meditation

(Read Romans 5:6-11)

God shows his love for us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us. (Romans 5:8, RV)

In his autobiography, Charles F. Andrews describes a near fatal encounter with rheumatic fever during his boyhood. As each day the fever attacked his body, he despaired of his life and began to lose the desire to live.

The turning point came one morning when he awoke to discover at his bedside a beautiful red rose from the garden. Its beauty and fragrance revived in him the hope of life and health. His mother had put it there, and the truth came to him that her loving care and praying were helping to restore him.

God's love and care is ever about us, but life is so planned that evidence of it must be discovered in daily experiences — in the beauty of nature, the kindnesses of loved ones, the thoughtfulness of friends. Most of all, we discover God's everlasting and steadfast love in the life and death of Jesus Christ. As we become aware of His living presence, we find a summons to newness of life.

PRAYER: We praise Thee, O Father, for Thy nearness and Thy steadfast love that will never forsake us. May we accept the gift of Thy love in Jesus Christ and find anew the joy of live triumphant. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Our hope and help are centered in God's everlasting and steadfast love.

W. Ralph Ward, Jr. (New York)
