

Congressional Hearing Planned for July in Ord

This area's proposed major water project got another nudge toward reality last week, this time from the U.S. House of Representatives.

Congressman Dave Martin announced that a field hearing will be held in July to consider the project. The hearing will be held at Ord by a subcommittee on irrigation and reclamation.

Ord Woman's Mate Dies in Vietnam On Combat Mission

An Ord woman has been notified that her husband was killed Apr. 26 in Vietnam.

Private First Class Eudell Leo Kotrous, 20, had been in Vietnam only six weeks when he was killed in combat. He was assigned to the 101st Airborne Division.

His widow is the former Marilyn Ellingson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ellingson Jr. of Ord. She was living with her parents while her husband was overseas.

Mrs. Kotrous is expecting the couple's first child any day. They would have celebrated their first wedding anniversary May 31.

Private Kotrous was a native of Verdigris. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kotrous.

Before going to Vietnam, Private Kotrous had undergone basic training and advanced infantry training at Fort Polk, La. He entered the Army on Sept. 17, 1969, and had been in Vietnam since Mar. 12.

Funeral plans are indefinite. Mrs. Ellingson said Monday that the family has received no details concerning her son-in-law's death, other than the date and the fact that he was killed while serving in combat.

So far as is known, Private Kotrous is the first serviceman with close Valley County ties to die in the Vietnam War.

The subcommittee is chaired by Rep. Harold Johnson (D-Calif.). Rep. Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.) is chairman of the parent Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

The project in question is the long-anticipated North Loup Project. It calls for the building of major reservoirs on the Calamus River near Burwell and Davis Creek near North Loup.

"This hearing is very essential—it's what we've been waiting for," Henry Lange said recently. Lange, of Ord, serves as president of the "Twin Loups Reclamation District which has been working on the project for several years.

He and another Twin Loups official, Cyril Shaughnessy of St. Paul, made a trip to Washington, D.C., last week to discuss the project with Congressman Martin and Senators Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska. Lange said Martin reassured them that the North Loup Project would be the next one authorized for Nebraska.

The field hearing is preliminary to an official hearing in Washington, Lange explained. "It's held to determine the sentiment of the people in the area where the project will be located," he stated. "If they're for it, then the committee will probably proceed with an official hearing. But if the local people don't indicate an interest, then that will probably be the end of it."

Lange said that the field hearing is the next normal step in getting the project authorized. He said its purpose is to inform the subcommittee members as to who wants the project and why.

"People wishing to appear at the field hearing will be given an opportunity to be heard," he said, adding that written statements also may be submitted.

Congressman Johnson will conduct the hearing, which is tentatively planned for July 17.

Batchelder Scheduled To Speak Here Tonight

Gov. Norbert Tiemann used Ord as one of the jumping-off places for his reelection campaign, and his primary opponent will use it as a winding-up place.

The governor spoke here in December at the annual Valley County Republican banquet. State Senator Clifton Batchelder will speak here tonight (Thursday), addressing the public at an 8 p.m. meeting in the Ord High School auditorium.

Also appearing on the program with Batchelder will be Dr. Max Raines of North Platte. Dr. Raines will deliver an address entitled "The Squeeze on the Middle Class."

Batchelder isn't the only state office seeker stopping in Ord this week. Another state senator from Omaha, Henry F. Pedersen Jr., was in town Monday afternoon stumping for votes. He's a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor and was on his way to Burwell for a speech Monday night.

Pedersen claims the lieutenant governor's job should be made "more meaningful."

"Most people don't know anything about the lieutenant governor's office, don't care, and don't think it means much," he said in an interview.

But it is important, Pedersen said, and will become more so as the result of action taken by the last legislature. He said a constitutional amendment was proposed to make the office a full-time job, and to set up the election process so that the governor and lieutenant governor will run as a team.

Pedersen said he could work with either of the Republican gubernatorial candidates, claiming his own philosophy is somewhere between that of Governor Tiemann and Senator Batchelder.

"I don't believe you can be against everything like Senator Batchelder," he said, "but on the other hand you can't be for everything like Governor Tiemann without establishing some priorities. We want progress," he said, "but we can't have everything at once. We've got to determine our priorities."

"People lose respect for all government programs — and many of them are good — when all they can see is what it's costing them."

Pedersen promised, if elected, to go throughout the 93 counties of Nebraska and talk with local officials in an effort to set up some priorities on state spending.

Ord, North Loup Coeds Tapped for Honor

Three coeds from the Loup Valley area were among the 21 named as new members of the Black Masque chapter of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary at the University of Nebraska, during Ivy Day activities last weekend.

They are Kathy Kokes, Joyce Nelson, and Beverly Jo White. Selection is made on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and service to the university community.

Miss Kokes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kokes of Ord, was also a member of the Ivy Day Court. A home eco-

Framed by the flags of the United States and the VFW Auxiliary, Andy Andersen delivers his Loyalty Day speech urging patriotic citizens to cast aside their complacency. At his side is Clarence J. Fox, commander of VFW Post 7029, while Mrs. Fred Dubas stands in the foreground. A member of the VFW Auxiliary, she was a member of the honor guard.

Loyalty Day Speaker Hits at Complacency

Speaking at a special Loyalty Day ceremony Friday, Andy Andersen called on the citizens of Valley County and the United States to overcome their complacency and "do something extra" for their country.

Andersen, who manages radio station KNLV, was the principal speaker at the annual ceremony, which was held on the courthouse steps in a chilling wind. Also participating were color guards composed of local veterans' organizations and the Ord High School band.

Classes were dismissed at the Ord schools for the event, and that helped swell the crowd which gathered on the courthouse walks and the grassy front lawn.

While pointing out that the United States is a wealthy and powerful nation, Andersen said that its people nevertheless have an important shortcoming — they are complacent.

"This is something that we must change," he said, "because we have forces at work in our country today that are not complacent."

"They are seizing every opportunity to sew the seeds of dissent," he continued. Then he named these forces as those of "international Communism" and said they pose "the greatest threat the free and civilized world has ever faced."

"If these forces are to be defeated and put down, we — the United States of America — are going to have to do it," Andersen continued. "No other nation or group of nations possesses the power or the wealth to accomplish this difficult task." Andersen denounced the "misfits" who claim to be Americans "yet seek to destroy that which has made us great while hiding behind the protection of our precious Bill of Rights."

"To disagree is to be human," he said, "but to dissent to the point of rioting, burning and looting... to defy law and order... to desecrate our flag... to burn a draft card... to refuse to answer your country's call to duty... is, in my opinion, little short of treason and should be dealt with accordingly."

Andersen said those who want change in this country should bring it about through the election process. He concluded by stating: "Let's you and I, here and now, stand tall and shout for the whole world to see and hear, 'I'm an American, and I thank God for the privilege.'"

Another Meeting Planned Tonight On Proposed Government Housing

A final decision concerning a proposed government housing project for Ord was delayed Friday night.

Those persons present at a meeting in the local office of the Farmers Home Administration chose to conduct a survey of probably purchasers before proceeding. That survey is now underway.

Friday's meeting was the second on the subject. A third will Return to Polls Planned For Voters Next Tuesday

Local voters will cast their ballots Tuesday in the second of three major 1970 elections. This one will serve as the primary for county, state, and national offices. City elections were held last month, and the general election is scheduled for November.

Many Valley County residents will have new polling places. Earlier this year the Board of Supervisors voted to consolidate some precincts. A separate advertisement showing the new voting locations is contained elsewhere in this issue of the Quiz.

Partly winners in Tuesday's races will vie in the general election scheduled this November. Top vote-getters in the non-political races also will be on the November ballot, according to County Attorney John Sullivan, in a 2-to-1 ratio determined by the number of offices to be filled.

For instance, in the race for the State Board of Education, 7th District, only the two top vote-getters will be on the ballot again in November because only one is to be elected. However, in the race for membership on the Valley County Weed Control Authority, two offices will be filled in November. That means the top four vote-getters this time will be on the ballot again in the fall.

In this latter race, as well as in some others, Tuesday's balloting will probably be just for practice. Since only four persons are running for the Weed Control Authority and two will be elected, they will all get their names on the ballot again in November unless one of them is edged out by a write-in candidate.

The biggest interest is concentrated on the state races, especially the ones for gubernatorial nominations. Incumbent Norbert Tiemann and challenger Clifton Batchelder are locked in close combat for the Republican nod, while J. J. Exon and Jules Burbach are vying for the Democratic nomination. For more information on this race, as well as others at the state level, see today's Capitol News on Page 1 of Section 2.

Competition is scarce at the national level, with only one race — for nomination to the United States Senate. On the Democratic side, former Governor Frank Morrison is pitted against a pair of college educators — Wally Peterson from the University of Nebraska and David Thomas from Doane College.

On the Republican side, incumbent Roman Hruska is considered a shoo-in against politically inexperienced Otis Glebe of Lincoln.

Other than the governor's race, the state contest of biggest concern to local residents is the Republican nomination for secretary of state. That's because home-grown Ron Romans, a 1956 graduate of Ord High School, is making his first bid for a full-time political office.

Romans previously was elected as a delegate to the 1968 Republican Presidential convention, and he is now serving as national chairman of the Young Republicans.

His opponents for the secretary of state nomination are Alben Beermann, a deputy to the present office-holder, Frank Marsh, and Vern Johnson of Calmar.

Contested races at the county level are slim with opposition posted for only two supervisor nominations and the sheriff's office.

In the race for county supervisor from the 1st District, incumbent Bill Tuma is unopposed on the Democratic ticket. His Republican opposition in November will come from either Ken Collins or Don Papiernik.

In the 3rd District supervisor's race, incumbent Leon Klansky is a candidate on the Republican side, along with Henry Benda and Duane Carson. The winner will be unopposed in November.

Incumbent Sheriff Clarence E. Fox will also be home free if he can get by his primary opposition which includes both Logan Maring and Kenneth Peyton.

National Hospital Week Hospital Care a Bargain? Official Says Yes

(Editor's Note: May 10-16 is National Hospital Week. Since the costs of hospital care have been much discussed and in some cases cussed during recent months, the following article has been prepared by Karl MacKinnon, administrator of the Valley County Hospital, to explain those costs.)

By Karl MacKinnon
Hospital Administrator

The patient who has just gazed in disbelief at the first glimpse of his hospital bill might laugh if someone told him he got a bargain. But if he knew where every one of those dollars went, he might see that in many cases he did get a bargain.

Of course, charges differ among hospitals of varying sizes and in different areas of the nation where prices and wages may be higher or lower.

For example, American Hospital Assn. statistics show that it costs an average of $31 for each day of a patient's stay in one representative community hospital of nearly 200 beds. However, the same patient might have to pay closer to $106 a day in a large city's university-affiliated teaching hospital where more expensive professional staff, new research developments, and sophisticated equipment are factors in hospital costs.

It is revealing to look at the average costs per patient. Whether a hospital is small, medium-sized, or large, more than half the total charge is for routine services: bedside care, room upkeep, and food.

In a small 50-bed institution, such as the Valley County Hospital, 67 percent of the total charge covers such routine services. Within this percentage by far the largest chunk pays for professional bedside care, which means that a patient receives skilled medical and nursing care for about $1.17 an hour.

This represents no greater cost than what you would often have to pay a relatively unskilled baby portion averages about $8 a day much less than most tourists pay for a hotel room. But just as in any hotel, the hospital must provide furniture, clean sheets, fresh towels, and sanitary bathrooms.

An additional $5 of the patient's money buys three specially planned meals for him each day. At today's restaurant prices that usually amounts to just about the price of one good steak dinner. And in a hospital, the patient is served all three meals in his room as part of normal services.

In spite of these facts, critics are still prone to complain that if they want to spend close to $40 a day or more they'll go to the Waldorf or the Nile Hilton and get a nursemaid. But when you're sick, all the luxury in the world can't provide the special beds, diet, and care you need — not to mention the diagnostic and treatment facilities that only hospitals have.

Thus, it should be evident that the patient is paying for essential care services, not merely renting a hospital room.

A crumpled bicycle and halved train tell the story. Dale Wampole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wampole, was struck by the train about 9 a.m. Saturday when he pedaled his three-wheel bicycle onto the tracks in front of it. Ord Police Chief Willis Garner said the train was not going fast and that it stopped as soon as it got past the crossing. He quoted the engineer as saying the youth was sitting on the east side of the track as the train approached. However, the police chief said, the boy suddenly pedaled onto the track. The train struck the front wheel of the bicycle, causing head injuries to the youth. As of Wednesday the boy was still in the Valley County Hospital; however, a spokesman said he was doing fine and probably would be released shortly.

County Speakers Dominate District

Two Valley County 4-Hers won top honors Saturday at the district 4-H speech contest held at McCook. Duane Kovarik and Jean Foth each received a purple ribbon for their outstanding efforts.

Being winners at this district meeting entitles the two to an expenses-paid trip to the state contest which will be held in conjunction with other 4-H Club Week events during June. At the Lincoln gathering the two Valley County youths will compete in the state public speaking contest.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

In a few short days we will observe that very special holiday—Mother's Day. Mother's Day is when everybody waits on mother and she pretends she doesn't mind the extra work. The search for identity continues for mom as she busily serves her community, helps her husband, and above all struggles to mold her children into healthy, happy, productive citizens. Occasionally she stops to ask that all-important "But Who Am I?" Here I give you a few views of Mother by those who keep her under closest surveillance and probably know her best—her children.

"A mother is one who will never forget you even if you get married and move to another town or place." — Julie "Mothers nibble before meals and tell you not to. That's what a mother is." — Mary
"Some mothers sign your report card. Some write notes when you are absent. Sometimes they drive the children to school and back. The mother does the studying." — Janet
"A mother doesn't do anything except what she wants to. Nobody makes her take baths and naps or takes away her frog." — Gary
"A mother spansks you, but only for a reason, and that reason you are supposed to know." — Joe
"Mothers get mad, if you use your brother's toothbrush, but he doesn't care." — Larry

"My mother is a lady who comforts me when something happens. Anyone who needs advice can just come over." — Barbie
Lastly (and we will keep this one anonymous just to keep all you moms wondering), "I know what a mother is because my mother always tells what a mother is and what a mother does and mother this and mother that!" — O—

This recipe came to me from a friend. I decided to share it with you. It is very good and especially easy to prepare.

Cranberry Salad
Mix 1 pound can cranberry sauce with ¼ c. ground apples. Put in a freezing tray. Combine 1 c. whipped cream (or easy whip topping), ½ c. chopped nuts, ¼ c. powdered sugar, 1 t. vanilla. Spread on top of cranberry and apple mixture.

— O—
In helping with that ever-so-involved census report, a census taker asked a woman how many children she had. "Well," the woman began, "there's Billy, and Tommy, and Kathy, and . . . Never mind the names," the census taker interrupted, impatiently, "just give me the number."
The mother became indignant. "They haven't got numbers; they've all got names."

Edgar A. Roe Dies Unexpectedly; Services Tuesday

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning for Edgar W. Roe, 68, who died May 3 at the Valley County Hospital where he had been a patient the past three weeks.

The Rev. Clarence R. Campbell and Rev. Earl Higgins conducted the 11 a.m. service at the United Methodist Church in Ord. Mrs. Shirley Karre was organist and accompanied Mrs. Sharon Fuss who sang "My God and I" and "Goin' Home." Pallbearers were Glen Cochran, Carl Joeger, Gerald Dye, Almond Broy, Leonard Marks and Francis Ryschon. Interment was in the Ord City Cemetery with concluding rites conducted by Ord Lodge #103 AF&AM. The Hastings-Pearson Chapel was in charge of arrangements.

The son of Sarah and Jessie (Ward) Roe, Edgar W. Roe was born July 24, 1903 at St. Paul. He came to Valley County at the age of 11 when his family moved to the Mira Valley community. He was graduated from Ord High School in the class of 1921. On Sept. 16, 1929 he was united in marriage to Edna Koll. To this union one daughter was born.

Talking His Trade

Weekly Crop Report

(Editor's Note: Persons living in this area are generally familiar with the status of crops the growing season progresses. However, many former residents who have moved to other parts of the country are also interested in how the crops are doing here. As a result, beginning this week the Quiz will print the weekly agricultural report for Valley County which is compiled by County Agent John Schade and sent to the Agricultural Extension Service in Lincoln.)

Date prepared: Friday, May 1.
Moisture supplies: Rainfall during previous week: .35 inch.
Surface moisture: Adequate.
Subsoil moisture: Adequate.
Condition of crops: Winter wheat: Good. Alfalfa: Good. Wild hay: Fair.
Pasture and range feed: Below average.
Days suitable for farm work: Saturday through Thursday.
Main farm work during the week: Seeding spring grain, fertilizing, seedbed preparation. Still quite wet; no corn planted as yet (many farmers are ready to go, however). Light rain late in week slowed field work activities.
Field crop comments: Wheat showing excellent response to warmer weather. Alfalfa making good growth. Pastures greening slowly.
Livestock comments: Some cattle on grass — still need supplemental feeding.

Ord Nurse Attends
Mrs. Jean Nickel, R.N., of the Valley County Hospital, was one of the six nurses on the planning committee who attended a meeting at Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln, Monday. The Nebraska - South Dakota Regional Association will hold two one-day refresher courses for coronary nurses. The first course will be on July 11, and the second on October 17. They will be held at St. Joseph's Hospital in Omaha. These refresher courses will be limited each day to 40 nurses from Nebraska and South Dakota, and also limited to nurses who have taken the coronary course previously given in either Lincoln or Omaha. Classes will be given by various cardiologists from Omaha and Lincoln.

Box Social, Carnival Planned by 4-H Leaders

The Junior Leader Club held a meeting Apr. 27 at the Valley County Extension Office. A picnic was planned and held Sunday, after which Pastors Ronald Graff, Louis Trebus, and J. H. Schroeder spoke during a vesper service.

At the club meeting a combination box social and carnival also was planned. It is for the benefit of 4-H members who will be chosen to go to Washington, D. C., for a short course on citizenship this summer. The box social and carnival will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 8 p.m. in the 4-H Building. Stan Axthelm, News Reporter

Pictures Wanted
The Scotia Betterment Council reminds all groups and organizations participating in its Betterment Council activities to be sure to take before and after pictures to use in the Council's scrapbook which is being entered on the state level this fall. Decisions of winning communities in the state contest are based largely upon the scrapbook.

New Officers Named
The North Loup-Scotia United Methodist Youth Fellowship met Sunday evening to elect new officers. They are: President, Christy Benben; Vice President, Carolyn Bussell; Secretary, Janice Waller; Treasurer, Denzel Rasmussen; Program Chairman, Becky Ferguson and Fellowship Chairman, Marilyn Cook. Elected as representatives to serve on the newly formed Cooperative Youth Council are Baylene Jensen of Scotia and Christy Benben of North Loup.

Third-Graders Visit
As a part of their end-of-the-year activities, which Dorothy Landon and her third-grade pupils — divided into two groups — made tour of the Ord Quiz plant Thursday.

With Miss Landon for the morning visit were Kathy Zlomke, Vickie Bodyfield, Jennifer Vovek, Pam Meese, Beth Hald, Becky Schernikau, Dan Martin, Russell Barnes, Danny Wolfe, Kurt Kremke, Kevin Hruza, David Graff, Shari Fox, Terri Goodsell, and Debbie Hansen.

Pool Fun
Cadette Troop 188 enjoyed an afternoon of swimming recently in the indoor pool at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Markley. The girls practiced for the Girl Scout swimming badge as Jan Garuick demonstrated each requirement. Those present were Mrs. Robert Sich, Mrs. Harlan Ray and Tiffany, Judy Miller, Roxanne Sich, Karen Meese, Bebbie Hadenfeldt, Vickie Bake, Yvonne Setlik, Georgene Cetak, Debra Barnes, Marsha Campbell, Georgia Osborn, and Cindy Shafar.

To Be Corrected
The family of Jacob Perley Hoffman asks that the following corrections be made in the Hoffman obituary which appeared in last week's issue of the Ord Quiz. The deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Lickley of Duarte, Calif., four nephews and two nieces. He was preceded in death by his parents, three brothers, and one sister.

Also, it was learned that Mr. Hoffman was born in Platte County, not Custer County, as was believed earlier.

What insurance have you got against corn soil insects?

None? But you've got a big stake in corn. And Diazinon will protect that investment.

Diazinon controls corn's worst enemy — the corn rootworm. Also cutworms, wireworms, armyworms, and seed corn maggot.

Diazinon has controlled soil insects in millions of corn acres. And it's ready to work again this year, whether you apply it at planting or at cultivation.

Stop soil insects attacking your corn. Put Diazinon to work. Call us now.

Conference Meet Scheduled at Ord

Gene Harmon of Schuyler—a familiar name to the state's Class B sports fans—will be the premier attraction when Central 10 track teams gather in Ord Saturday for their annual conference meet.

An all-stater in basketball, Harmon will come to town owning the state's second best shot put performance and third best high hurdle mark this spring. His low hurdle time also ranks in the top 10.

At last week's Kearney State Invitational, the 66 blond set the meet's only two records. He ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.5 seconds and finished a five-event pentathlon with 3,426 1/2 points.

That 14.5 mark is the best in Class B this spring, ranking Harmon right behind Tex Johnson of Omaha Tech (14.3) and Chuck Jones of Beatrice (14.4) in the top 10 rankings.

Harmon's top shot put of the year is 57 feet, 8 inches. That's second only to the 59-3/4 posted by Steve Manstedt of Wahoo.

In the 180-yard low hurdles Harmon has a best time of 20.4 seconds. That ties him for eighth in the state rankings.

Harmon's imposing presence makes Schuyler a definite contender for the conference championship. He should have strong help from teammates Tom Horejsi and Ross Braithwaite, who are rated as top contenders in the half-mile and mile. Horejsi has run the half in 2:02 this spring, while Braithwaite has a 4:50 mile. Both marks equal the best of anyone entered.

Other strong contenders for the conference title are Albion, Crete, and York.

Competition will get underway at 9:30 a.m. in the field events. Preliminaries in the running events will follow at 10 o'clock, with most finals scheduled after lunch. The afternoon session will begin at 1 p.m.

Ord Coach Fred Williams, whose team didn't score a point last week at Kearney, said Tuesday that it would have trouble scratching again this week. The past performances of other contestants shows why he's concerned.

There'll be three 101 century men—Bob Cecava of York, and Jim Crosby and Chris Nelson of Albion. Allen Osetowski of York is the top 220 man with a 23.0, indicating that the Albion-York battle will be a good one in the sprint.

Besides his 10.1 hundred, Cecava has also run a 50.9 quarter-mile.

Other outstanding performers due for the meet:

Bill Martin of David City, 2:02 half mile.

Bob Safarik of Crete, 9:47.7 two-mile.

Steve Zikmund of Central City, 20.5 low hurdles.

Artie Kubicek of Crete, 6.1 high jump.

Larry Wiederspan of Crete, 12.7 pole vault.

York and Albion, with their strong sprint corps, should dominate the mile and particularly 880 relays, while Crete comes in with the best two-mile relay time.

One event which appears wide open is the mile where Crete's Don Strehle has equaled the 4:50 posted by Schuyler's Braith-

Competition Is Tough at Kearney; Loup City Makes Top Area Showing

Bush Jack VanSlyke and his Loup City teammates were running faster but enjoying it less at last weekend's invitational track and field meet hosted by Kearney State College.

VanSlyke ran the 120-yard high hurdles faster than he had all season, and his teammates on the Red Raider two-mile relay team set a new school record for the year in their specialty. But the competition was just too tough, and instead of winning — as they've done most of the year — the highest the Raiders could finish in any running event was third.

The versatile VanSlyke did slightly better in the field events, as he grabbed second in the long jump and third in the high jump.

Overall, Loup City accumulated 28 points. That gave the Raiders eighth place in the Class B portion of the giant meet.

The competition was so stiff that only two other teams from the Loup Valley even scored. Sargent ran up 15 points and North Loup - Scotia 6 as they tied for 10th and 26th, respectively, in Class C.

Ord not only failed to score; it didn't even qualify a man for the Class B finals. Junior sprinter Carl Suminski, who's shown more improvement than any other Chanticleer this spring, again ran a 10.6 hundred and a 24-flat 220 for the best Ord showings. The 10.6 came in preliminaries, however, and in the semifinals Suminski slipped back to 10.8. That was not good enough to get him into the finals.

Coach Fred Williams said the track was a slow one, with water standing in spots. The performance of his middle-distance men bore him out.

Darrell Farmer and Paul Markley recorded 57.4 and 57.8 efforts in the 440-yard dash while Dale Peterson ran a 2:18 in the 880. Peterson had consistently been near the 2:14 mark this year.

In addition to a slow track, Peterson was bothered when another runner fell just in front of him on the last turn. The Ord sophomore had to break stride in order to jump his fall-on foe, and that cost him valuable seconds.

Not a single gold medal came home to the Loup Valley, but a couple of silver ones did. VanSlyke got one for the long jump, and Bob Anderson of Sargent earned the other in the 440-yard dash.

Also a runnerup in this event at the state meet last year, Anderson covered the quarter-mile in 50.6 seconds. That was three-tenths of a second behind Tim Roewert of Fullerton, who beat Anderson in last year's district meet but then finished behind him at the state meet.

Anderson also won a third-place award Friday, running the 220 in 23.6 seconds. Teammate Ken Spray completed the Sargent scoring by finishing sixth in the 880.

North Loup-Scotia's points came on a fourth-place finish by Dave Edwards in the 880-yard run, a sixth-place finish by Jim Albrecht in the two-mile run, and a sixth-place finish in

Services Set Friday For Mrs. Hunkins At Comstock Church

Mrs. Bessie B. Hunkins, 90, died Monday, May 4, 1970, at the St. Paul Hospital. She was a former resident of Comstock and Arcadia.

Born on September 13, 1879, to William Wells and Mary McColister in Mt. Union, Ia., she came with her parents in a covered wagon to Beaver Crossing when she was a very small child.

She was married to Ernest W. Hunkins on May 3, 1899, at Beaver Crossing. In 1904 they moved to a farm north of Arcadia where they lived until moving to Comstock to make their home.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Cythera Strong and Mrs. Edith Strong, both of Palmer, one son, Ivan, of Comstock, six grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her parents, her husband, two brothers and three sisters.

Funeral services will be held at the Comstock United Methodist Church at 2:00 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in the Arcadia Cemetery. Hastings - Pearson Mortuary are in charge of arrangements.

Rev. Sten Lindberg

Former Missionary To Speak at Arcadia

Rev. Sten Lindberg, first missionary to be appointed by the Baptist General Conference, will be the guest speaker at Calvary Baptist Church in Arcadia Sunday.

Rev. J. B. Tweter, pastor of the Arcadia church, has invited everyone to attend the 8 p.m. service.

Mr. Lindberg was born in the Shantung province of China, where his parents were missionaries under the Baptists of Sweden. He received his schooling in China, Sweden, New York and during his stay in New York became an American citizen. Mrs. Lindberg is from New York City.

During almost two decades of service as missionaries in Japan under the Baptists of Sweden, the Lindbergs began a religious work in the city of Shirahama and brought it to the place where the church now has its own pastor and is self-supporting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindberg now reside in Bridgeport, Conn.

Ord Woman to Attend Fea for Homemakers

Mrs. Robert Knapp of Ord will leave today (Thursday) for Omaha where she will attend the annual Rural Homemakers' Leadership Recognition Day program sponsored by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

More than 100 women from Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas will be recognized for the leadership roles they have played in their communities. Another object of the program is to give urban and rural women a chance to become better acquainted and to exchange ideas on hometown activities.

Following a get-acquainted session and brunch sponsored by the Union Stock Yards Co. of Omaha, a whirlwind tour of the city will be conducted and a midday program presented at the Omaha Livestock Exchange Building. An evening banquet will climax the day's activities. Gordon Ellis, president of Fairmont Foods Co. of Omaha, will be the featured speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Kowalski and family of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schamp were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schamp and family.

North Loup

From Dena

What a day this has been. News day, my day to entertain at pinocle and my birthday. Everyone has been so good to call me with their news today and birthday wish. Long with of course I told them what day it was if they didn't know.

Mrs. Winnie Bartz sent a note saying how beautiful North Loup yards and gardens have been and still are with the blooming golden forsythia. She thinks perhaps it has never bloomed so profusely.

The Tragedy at Kent

At some point in the future, this country may look back at what has happened this week at Kent State University and mark it as another turning point in the national rush toward either anarchy or a police state.

At Kent, for the first time, dissidents and rioters have succeeded in completely shutting down a major university. Thus, a minority has succeeded in denying a majority the right to attend classes and receive an education.

Now there is a hue and cry about the National Guard being given live ammunition. The father of one of the four students who was killed appeared on national television with an impassioned monologue about the National Guard "shooting children."

His emotion was understandable, but his logic was not. The students who were killed were part of a mob rebelling against lawful authority. On the same campus an ROTC building had been burned down shortly before.

It is unfortunate that the National Guardsmen apparently "panicked" and fired into the crowd. But because they did so is no reason to deny them the necessary tools with which to put down future rebellions.

Even bullfighters, who make their livelihoods by taunting the bull, occasionally get gored. Students who insist on unlawful rebellion must understand that there is a certain risk to what they are doing.

On the other hand, care must be taken to see that the National Guard reaction at Kent does not become the norm either. Such action would be playing directly into the hands of those who are working diligently to subvert this country through internal means.

Excessively harsh reaction on the part of those sworn to uphold the law would create a true police state, giving the rioters some legitimate grievances and making a violent revolution much more likely than it is under present circumstances.

Actually, the tragedy which occurred at Kent was inevitable. The only questions were when and where.

When mobs repeatedly get together, burn down buildings, and attack those sent in to restore law and order, tragedy can be expected sooner or later. The Bible has a simple statement for it. In Romans 6:23 the apostle Paul said, "For the wages of sin is death . . ." Although he was referring to spiritual death, an accurate application can be made to today's turbulent earthly world.

But people aren't paying any more attention to the Bible these days than they are to the law.

Two Sides of the Same Coin

Millions of dollars in tax money are spent by the federal government each year on "surveys" of one sort or another. Just how wasteful this can be was illustrated in a pair of news releases received by the Quiz last week.

One of the releases came from the Urban Coalition, one of many agencies which have sprung up in the past five years as an aftermath of big-city riots. Its avowed purpose is to fight poverty, especially in the cities. Taking a stand in support of larger welfare payments, the Urban Coalition stated:

"There is a popular myth that the poor waste money, including their welfare payments, on color television and other luxuries. The fact is that the poor have little money for luxuries.

"The report of the President's Commission on Income Maintenance Programs determined that a family of four with a monthly income of $284 ($3,408 a year) spends all but $9 of it for such basic necessities as food, housing, public transportation, clothing, and personal care.

"This leaves almost nothing for emergencies, for medical care or insurance, not to mention such items as a car, a bed for each family member, or school supplies.

"The food budget for such a family adds up to $1 a day per person, an amount that is top low for a nutritionally adequate diet, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

The other release came from the U.S. Department of Labor, which also spends huge sums on compilation of statistics and is also supposed to be fighting poverty in the cities. However, its news release presented a startlingly different point of view from that of the Urban Coalition. Here, in part, is what it said:

"Television has become an important medium for reaching out to the nation's disadvantaged with offers of jobs and job training . . . Some 50 different shows today are reaching into rural backwaters and urban ghettos with offers of help.

"One of the programs, 'The Opportunity Line,' broadcast in Chicago on Saturday afternoons, placed more than 88,000 people in jobs between June 1967, when it started, and November 1969.

"Television has been adopted as a means of outreach because it is the formal news source most relied on in the urban disadvantaged community . . . Furthermore, 89 percent of all homes whose members are most likely to fit the category of 'disadvantaged' own a set."

Coming from the same government, these two reports make strange bedfellows indeed. About the only thing they have in common is that they were paid for by the same taxpayers.

Loved Bullfighting

I keep thinking I'm through writing about Mexico, at least for this year . . . though I'll admit I've had many nice compliments on the columns about that country. (I've almost decided my readers like me better away from here than they do when I'm home and writing about home stuff!)

But the article in Sunday's Omaha World-Herald about the man who cheered for the bull at the bullfight alerted me on that topic.

I remembered that I saw my first bullfight in Bogota, Columbia, and that I had written about it, mostly to say I enjoyed it.

And I recalled that I'd said the bull had more chance at a bullfight than he did in an Omaha slaughterhouse. A bull at a bullfight, if he is chicken enough, gets hauled off without being killed—jeered but alive.

And when they do kill the bull, the meat is donated to those who need it, a fact that I approve of. Many of these people are hungry.

I'll quote you what I wrote several years ago, 1966 to be exact.

"Big loves are soccer and bullfighting. A feature of the first bullfight I had ever seen was a young woman matador . . . a matador is one who has earned the honor of killing the bull, by special permission of the judges.

"The sliff, dark little miss was the idol of the people and was followed by droves of admirers everywhere she went. She stayed at our hotel so we had numerous chances to admire her. She took incredible chances in the bullfight. Time after time she rode one of her five handsome Quarter Horses between the wall of the arena and the sharp horns of an angry bull. Six Black Angus bulls, 3-year-olds, were brought out during the afternoon. Each one was aggravated by the young picadors with their colorful capes until sufficiently angry to charge as the matador planned.

"Each move is scientifically plotted, just as our moves in football are designed. The crowd, jammed into steeply rising little seats close over the ring, howls 'Ole' with glee or whistles to show the matador praise.

"After five or six slender spears have been hooked under the hide of the bull into as small an area of the bull's back as possible, the death thrust is delivered by a rapier-like sword . . . at the discretion of the judges. The sword must be placed in a certain spot between the shoulders, must penetrate deeply so that the animal dies at once. In a moment the bull collapses and is dragged out by a team of three mules.

"There is a little blood, and, yes, I did feel sorry for the bull; but his contest is over in half an hour or less. And we think it is all right for bulls to be marched to slaughter houses. And we think blood is okay in the prize ring; we watch boxers and holler for the kill, don't we?"

"Bullfighting is a spectacle much enjoyed in southern countries, as we enjoy a ball game. The best seats are low down and close in, on the shady side of the ring. The poorer are happy to be in sun-baked seats. Young boys scale the tall brick walls of the handsome old stadium and dangerously climb their way in free. There is a great deal of color and clamor.

"The gayest touch is the way botas of wine are tossed from friend to friend. The leather wineskins are sealed with a small plug and must be foolproof for no one got drenched in the tossing.

"If you're a real operator, the wine bottle never touches your lips. Instead it is held out a foot or even two before the face of the drinker, who squeezes gently and a fine stream of wine goes straight into his gullet.

"The botas flew thick and fast. Girls tried them too, but I didn't accept. This reporter was chicken and stayed dry."

New Life May Be Breathed Into Internal Communist-Chasing Agency

Special on Cambodia
By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Major efforts are about to be made in the legislative and executive branches of government to pump new life into the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB).

Senator James Eastland (D-Miss.), chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee, plans to hold hearings later this month on legislation designed to restore security functions of the controversial agency. Most of these functions have been voided by recent Supreme Court decisions.

Known as the Internal Security Act of 1970, the Eastland bill spells out in great detail the authority under which SACB will be able to force the registration of all militant groups found to be Communist-controlled or dominated.

The legislation, which runs to nearly 100 pages, also provides for the strengthening of most present laws dealing with espionage, sabotage, sedition, and subversive activities. It bars the employment of Communists or other persons advocating overthrow of the government from defense plants.

The Eastland hearings, which are expected to touch off a major internal security debate in the Senate, come at a time opponents of SACB are moving in for the kill.

Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis.) and Rep. John Rooney (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Appropriation Committee which handles SACB funds, have asked Congress not to provide any more money for the organization. They claim that recent Supreme Court decisions have made the agency ineffective.

Senator Eastland hopes to blunt the Proxmire - Rooney move by using his hearings to focus attention on the need for strengthening SACB rather than abolishing it.

Justice Department witnesses will be called by Eastland to show that SACB is the only agency of government that can turn the spotlight on the growing number of militant groups which are now under Communist control.

Supporters of SACB are counting on help from Senator John McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate's Permanent Investigating Subcommittee. Future hearings by his subcommittee on the growing number of bombings in the United States are expected to reveal a need for strengthening the nation's internal security laws.

Senator Eastland is also counting on help from President Richard Nixon, who until recently was cool to the legislation because he opposed a major internal security debate before the congressional elections.

The President has changed his view in recent weeks. In addition to supporting Eastland's legislation, he is now thinking about issuing an executive order which would keep the SACB functioning until new authority is obtained from Congress.

The Cuban Airlift
Controversy over whether the Cuban refugee airlift should continue has picked up steam with a quiet investigation by Rep. William Clay (D-Mo.), a member of the House Education and Labor Committee.

The congressman says he has found out some "startling" things. For example, he reports the U.S. is spending $112 million this year on Cuban refugees.

In calling for a full-scale congressional investigation of the Cuban refugee airlift, Clay questions whether those coming out of Cuba now are political refugees, economic refugees, or simply the people Castro doesn't want to take care of.

The U.S.-supported airlift began its twice-daily flights to Miami in December, 1965, and has brought nearly 200,000 Cubans to this country. An estimated 1 million have indicated that they would like to come to the U.S.

The Nixon Administration is now reviewing the Cuban airlift program to determine if it should be continued. The study is being made by the National Security Council, the government's highest planning agency.

Intelligence Wire
Millions of mainland Chinese believe that their nation is ahead in space. Though the 380-pound satellite they orbited recently is primitive in comparison with American moon flights, most Chinese know nothing of the U.S. achievements. Their government has total control of the Chinese press and radio. So far it has not announced to the people that Americans have flown to the moon . . . Success of Communist China's satellite, "Chicom 1," has increased demands inside the government of India that that country go nuclear. So far New Delhi officials have not signed the non-proliferation treaty. They feel the pact is discriminatory and hampers their own development of nuclear power. Now, Communist China's space feat, which indicates that Peking can deliver a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the subcontinent, makes India realize it has no power with which to retaliate in case of an attack. As a first move toward becoming a nuclear power, the Indian government has ordered a study to find out how much it would cost to develop an atomic bomb and delivery system . . . Conscriptation may be reintroduced in Great Britain. The British government is considering the move for two reasons. One is the high cost and great difficulty of trying to run an effective defense force on an entirely voluntary basis, and the second is opinion polls which show most Britons favor the idea. A poll taken by the Opinion Research Center shows that 65 percent of Britain's adult population favor compulsory military service. Only 28 percent oppose it. Almost half the young people between the ages of 16 and 24 who would be affected also support conscription . . . East Germany — severely tried by an unusually hard winter that tied up coal mining, power production, and transportation — is facing an agricultural calamity. By May 1 only three percent of the nation's planned potato plantings were in the ground. Spring sowing, which normally should be completed by now, has been delayed throughout the country. To a lesser extent Czechoslovakia and Poland also have been affected.

The need for military secrecy was the reason given by President Nixon for not consulting with congressional leaders prior to making a decision on the surprise U.S. military operation in Cambodia.

In briefing legislative leaders before his televised address to the nation, the President said his military advisers had warned

Improvement Since Nixon Took Over? That Depends on Whom You Talk With

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ed Novak, who still ain't convinced the only thing this country needs is a Republican administration, give Venard Collins a hard time during the session at the country store Saturday.

"But Venard," who admits Abe Lincoln probably wouldn't recognize his party today, got in a few good licks.

"What got Ed started was the raise last month for federal workers. Ed said he couldn't help wondering what folks in this country would have said about poor old Lyndon Johnson if he had been President when the mailmen quit work. They would have been after his hide, that's what, said Ed.

"What the mailmen did was against the law in everybody's book. Ed went on, but Richard Nixon rewarded them for their efforts and wants to hike postage to pay for the reward.

"What the administration will do, he allowed, is come up with some big split that will make the mail strike should like it was in the best interest of the country.

Ed said he ain't as worried about the airplane guiders staying out sick, "cause not everybody needs airplanes. But stopping the mails is like cutting off the country's air.

Another thing worrying Ed was the report he had seen on last year's payments for not farming. He said he ain't having no better luck with that than he is with his Supreme Court picks," were Ed's words.

And as for calling everything a fancy name, Ed said he hopes the administration gets on with a "declassification" of this country and "Vietnamization" of Vietnam afore it bites off another mouthful.

Venard finally got in a word. He said he had seen with the federal government actually decided against setting up another federal agency, and that was a good sign in anybody's administration.

Venard had reported a few months back where some House committee that hadn't done a lick of work in 15 years was done away with, and he called that to Ed's attention too.

Furthermore, Venard said, the administration is working to cut down red tape in particular and cut government in general. He said the General Accounting Office saved taxpayers $187 million last year, and another outfit is making headway in cutting back the $2,800 it costs on the average to process grants that average only $2,500 in the first place.

The motion was to adjourn and give Venard equal time on the agenda later.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

Dear Editor:

I'm sure there are many silent people, like me, who would like to thank Mr. Ochsner for the fine music concert on Monday, Apr. 20. I was disappointed that there was nothing in the Quiz last week on this subject.

Mr. Ochsner must be very dedicated if he is to generate enthusiasm in all the young musicians of Ord High School as he does. I enjoy listening to young people showing their talent in music, the universal language.

The piece that the band played, "Incidental Suite," was a superb song, both in the mood it set and technically. Not one person should be disappointed that the band got a two-point contest. A two is an excellent rating, and to the average parent or listener the song was appreciated even if it wasn't played note perfect.

The musical mood was climaxed by a very patriotic arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

On behalf of the silent concert goers, I would like to thank Mr. Ochsner for the very fine vocal groups which made a very enjoyable evening.

Dear Sir:

I again realized the value of blood and the Red Cross blood program in Valley County when I found it necessary to have surgery last January and was given two pints of blood. I had also received two pints of Red Cross blood in December and four pints in 1962 when our son was born.

The blood program has saved many lives in Valley County, and I hope everyone who is eligible will donate a pint of blood when the bloodmobile visits Ord on May 19.

KERRY ON

—coming soon—
Summer is on its way. Sunlamps and calisthenics that preserved beauty through the winter months will soon give way to Coppertone tans in Catalina-clad bodies.

Feet that ran in place on a carpeted floor will soon race through warm sands. Hair that flopped in rhythmic cadence will soon bluster in summer breezes.

Turned-up collars will open at the neck. Tucked-in shirt-tails will be rolled up and knotted to expose midriffs and soft, warm flesh.

Peroxide blondes are out. Sun-bleached hair is in.

Color will return — or the lack of it. Blue jeans will turn to white. Grey skies will turn to blue. Green will cover the hills and fill the trees.

Fireplaces will turn inside out and wood will be replaced by charcoal. Glowing embers — once allowed to die in the fireplace — will burn into the night and keep the flame of love alive.

The brisk hustle of winter will give way to leisurely walks . . . neighborly talks . . . and kicking a stone down the sidewalk.

Snow forts will turn to caves and snowballs to Andy-Andy-Overs.

Icy sidewalks and unsteady steps will be chalk-marked and hop-scotched.

The late show will be seen from the front steps and feature a million stars instead of two.

The 10 o'clock news will come too early and the 7 o'clock whistle too late. Not enough day and too short a night. If you go to bed early you miss the beauty of dusk and if you sleep too late, the splendors of dawn.

All that was artificial will suddenly become real. Drug stores tans and plastic flowers . . . electric candles and gas logs . . . all will vanish into medicine chests and storage cabinets and boxes stored in the garage or basement.

January's underexposure will be June's overexposure.

The rebirth of a world with renewed hopes and dreams.

Summer is on its way . . . and, with it, reality.

Vietnam

In case you've missed it, costs of the Vietnam War and national defense have gone down markedly under Richard Nixon's administration. According to the President's budget director, Charles L. Schulze, the war in Vietnam is costing $17 billion a year today, compared with $23 billion just a year ago.

With the withdrawal of 115,000 American troops completed, the President has now announced an additional withdrawal of 150,000 American troops over the next 12 months. This would be a reduction of 50 percent in the number of troops involved in Vietnam when President Nixon took office.

Supreme Court

As a member of the Rules Committee, I do not feel it proper for me to co-sponsor the resolution to impeach Justice Douglas from the Supreme Court.

This is a very serious action, and the Rules Committee will probably be called upon to sit in judgment. Consequently, I felt it unfair and unjust for me to pre-judge the case.

The justice's association with the Parvin-Dohman firm which has gambling interests in Nevada, his writing for magazines which have been described as pornographic, and his latest book which ascribed violence as a legitimate means of changing the government are some of the items cited by House Minority Leader Gerald Ford (R-Mich.) in attempting to bring impeachment proceedings against Douglas.

Pornographic Dams

The Rules Committee recently approved legislation to prohibit the mailing of obscene literature to minors.

The bill also provides that adults may file a request with their local postmaster that none of this mail be delivered to them. That person's name would then be reported to Washington, kept on a master list there, and be available to those who send out this type of material. Stiff fines of up to $10,000 and several years in prison could be imposed on those who violate this law.

The President revealed that the main target of American troops was the underground headquarters of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in Cambodia. Intelligence reports, he said, described the headquarters as a complex of caves and tunnels from four to seven stories underground.

"All of the Communist war efforts in southern South Vietnam are directed from that headquarters," stated the President. "We plan not only to capture it but to completely destroy it and its vast network of tunnels and supply depots."

The President said he hoped the operation also would be successful in freeing an estimated 30 to 40 American prisoners known to be held captive in Cambodia. Several of the prisoners, he reported, were known to be chained to trees and shut up in caves without sunlight.

This is Oldsmobile's year at Indy.

Isn't it your year for an Olds?

The knowing folks at Indy just named Olds 4-4-2 official pace car for this year's 500.

For good reason. Olds is not only an excellent performer, it's a winner in looks and ride as well.

The fact is, every 1970 Olds is a pacesetter. And it goes far deeper than performance.

You find it in great engineering. In exceptional comfort. In ride and handling that are outstanding. And in the solid quality and dependability you've come to expect from Oldsmobile.

In fact, it's this quality that leads many people to believe that Olds is priced out of their reach. A mistaken notion that might keep you in an ordinary car, instead of an Olds.

The truth of the matter is that many Olds models are priced right down with the low-price names.

Now that you have the facts, isn't this your year to go Oldsmobile? You can probably do so for no more than what you've been paying. See your nearest Olds dealer.

Nebraska's proven choice for wise leadership.

Governor Norbert Tiemann's responsive leadership has restored Nebraska's confidence in the operation and service of state government. He has brought action where idleness once stood. He has solved many problems by administering sensible businesslike procedures. And he has brought integrity to an office where an open-door policy is maintained on state government problems concerning Nebraskans.

Under Governor Tiemann's leadership, Nebraska today has

- a new modern-day sales and income tax base, providing for the first time — state aid to cities, counties and schools; returning $45 million annually to local governments.
- more and better highways; construction contracts for more than 1,300 miles have been awarded.
- an established program for agricultural research; which has sparked new interests for Nebraska's farm products in new markets.
- new and better mental health programs, providing improved care for stricken citizens.
- one of the lowest state tax revenues per capita, 47th in the nation.

Get the buy of the year on the Car of the Year! Torino. 14 models including your Ford Dealer's lowest-priced hardtop — specially equipped at a sale price.

Performance, high style and outstanding engineering won Motor Trend's "Car of the Year" competition for the entire Torino line. From the economical Fairlane 500 Hardtop to the sizzling Torino GT to the luxurious Torino Brougham, there's a "Car of the Year" for every kind of driver — and every kind of budget.

All 14 models offer you features that you won't find on other intermediate-size cars. The Torino gives you a longer wheelbase (117") to smooth your ride. A wider track (60.5" front, 60" rear) to grip the road firmly, corner tightly. Concealed windshield wipers. Curved side glass. Utilized body. And the wind-shaped sleekness of aerodynamic styling. Ford's smooth-running 250 CID Six is standard. Or you can take your choice of six great V-8's, including a mighty 351 CID V-8 that runs on regular gas.

Right now, your Ford Dealer's offering Economy Drive savings on specially equipped, specially priced Fairlane 500's. Your Ford Dealer's lowest-priced hardtop, it comes with dual racing mirrors... color-keyed carpeting... wheel covers... white sidewall tires and, if you like, a vinyl roof... all at a low sale price. Come see Torino, Mustang, Falcon, Maverick and all the other money-saving cars on display during your Ford Dealer's big Economy Drive.

GENERAL NOTICE

NOXIOUS WEEDS MUST BE DESTROYED

YOU ARE REQUIRED TO DESTROY NOXIOUS WEEDS ON YOUR PROPERTY.

Notice is hereby given this 7 day of April 1970, pursuant to the Nebraska Noxious Weed Law Section 2-955 Subsection A, to every person who owns or controls land in Valley County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds, standing, being, or growing on such land shall be destroyed or eradicated by effective cutting, tillage, cropping, pasturing, or treating with chemicals or other effective methods, or combination hereof, approved by the County Weed Control Superintendent, as often as may be required to prevent the weed from looming and maturing seeds, or spreading by root, root stalks or other means.

Upon failure to observe this notice the county weed control superintendent is required to proceed pursuant to the law and have weeds destroyed by such method as he finds necessary, the expenses of which shall constitute a lien and be entered as a tax against the land, and be collected as other real estate taxes are collected, or by other means as provided by law.

Good Weed Control Depends on Planning

By John Schade
Good weed control seldom just happens. You make it happen with good planning and complete follow-up.

By now you probably have made the decision as to which herbicide to use on your corn, sorghum, and soybeans for weed control.

Whether you have made that decision or not, ask yourself these questions: Have I identified the weed problem I am after? Have I fit the herbicide to the weed problem? Is the herbicide the proper one for the crop on which it is being applied? What herbicide was last used on this field? What crop do I want to plant next year on this field? Remember that the herbicide sequence can be extremely important if you have to replant.

In addition to the herbicide itself, the equipment that will be used to apply it is also important. So be sure the sprayer is ready to go. When did you last look at the sprayer tips and strainers of the nozzles? Are you sure the tips are all the same size? Are the strainers clean?

Make certain you can calibrate, and then do it. A high percentage of the failure to control weeds with soil-applied herbicides can be traced directly to mis-application, and the most frequent cause of mis-application is poor calibration and not knowing how much herbicide to add to a given volume of water.

And don't forget to include a rotary hoe and cultivator in your weed control plan.

Now is a good time to make sure these implements are in good working order and ready to go.

Hazardous Occupation Training

Boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 15 who plan to work on farms or ranches this summer, other than for their parents, can receive an exemption certificate. The holder of this certificate is permitted to perform certain jobs that are otherwise designated as hazardous under the Child Labor Law of 1968.

A series of three eight-hour meetings on tractor operation, maintenance, and safety are being offered to fulfill the certification requirements. These meetings are scheduled May 9, 16, and 23, and will be held in the Vocational Agriculture Room at Ord High School. All meetings will start at 8 a.m.

Arcadia Woman Steps To High Rebekah Post

Several members from the local lodge attended the No. 37 Rebekah District meeting in Sargent April 10. The Assembly President, Janet Simmons, and two past Assembly Presidents were introduced.

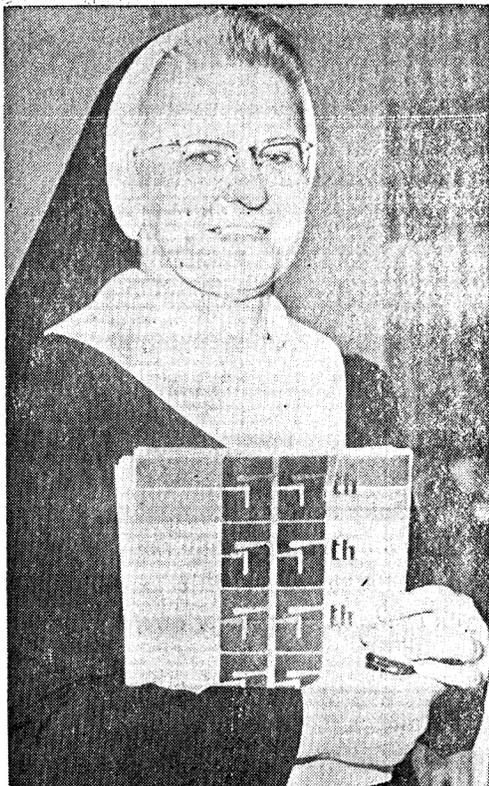

New officers were elected as follows: President, Mary Gates of Arcadia; Vice President, Helen Lathrop of Burwell; Warden, Fern Goff of Ord; Secretary, Gladys Scott; Treasurer, Maxine Johnson of Sargent; Marshall, Mabel Olson of Wolbach; Inside Guardian, Harriet Slagle of Sargent; Conductor, Caroline Mentzer of Ord; Outside Guardian, Vida Wheeler of Burwell; Chaplain, Elva Griffith of Burwell; Musician, Ina Woody of Arcadia.

The Ord Lodge was in charge of the Memorial and draping of the Charter.

Ninety-two attended the evening banquet at the Methodist Church. An address was given by the Assembly President. The new officers were seated by the Burwell Lodge.

Sister Bonaventure... administrator

Elyria Couple's Daughter to Head Staff

Sister Bonaventure, C. R., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kusok of Elyria, has been appointed administrator of Resurrection Hospital in Chicago, Ill. She had been serving as acting administrator since Feb. 1, 1969.

Born in Elyria, Sister Bonaventure completed her secondary education in Chicago at nearby Resurrection High School. In 1942 she entered the community of the Sisters of Resurrection and in 1943 was accepted and clothed as a novice. Her first vows were completed in 1944, and five years later she made her final vows. She was graduated in 1967 from Loyola University where she majored in accounting and received a degree in business administration.

A multi-million dollar expansion program is presently underway at Resurrection Hospital. Completion of a new patient care wing, ancillary services building, and radiology addition is slated for early 1972. An addition of 143 patient beds will increase bed capacity to 411.

Many Projects

The American Legion Auxiliary met Apr. 27 at Parkway Village with Mrs. Corwin Cummings presiding.

May 9 was chosen for the annual Poppy Day sale of poppies. All members were asked to participate in the Loyalty Day parade on May 1st.

Mrs. Syl Furtak reported that the pillow cleaning project was very successful with 140 pillows cleaned on April 24th.

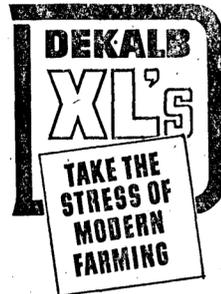

Members are to donate articles to the White Elephant sale to be held at the Veterans Club on May 2nd. Money raised will be used to buy new chairs for the club.

As a Child Welfare project all members are asked to save Betty Crocker and Red Circle Stamps which will be used to buy playground equipment for the Nebraska Children's Home Society and the School for the Deaf and cash for the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute.

Cigarette packages are also to be saved to be sent to the Beatrice State Home.

Mrs. Eva Robertson served as hostess.

Alma Jorgensen Dies at Age 53; Burial Is at Ord

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Presbyterian Church for Alma Mae Jorgensen, 53, who died Saturday at the Valley County Hospital after a lingering illness.

Born Jan. 5, 1917, Ord, Miss Jorgensen's early life was spent in the Haskell Creek community where she attended school. She graduated from Ord High School in 1935 and was employed at the Valley County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation office for approximately 28 years.

The daughter of Henry and Dana Christensen Jorgensen, she was a member of the Ord Presbyterian Church.

Survivors include her mother; two sisters, Mrs. Roma Hoppes of Burwell and Mrs. Ruth Hoppes of Ord; eight nephews; and two nieces.

Jorgensen was preceded in death by her father, brother, and one nephew.

Rev. Kenneth Bunnell of the Ord Presbyterian Church officiated at the funeral service. Mrs. Sharon Fuss sang "Rock of Ages" and "Goin' Home," accompanied at the organ by Zola Schudel.

Pallbearers were Lloyd Zikmund, Raymond Pocock, Victor Cook, Frank Drudik, George Rybin, and Carl Kroeger. Interment was in the Ord City Cemetery with Hastings-Pearson Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Youngsters Will Sing Tribute to Mothers

A Mother's Day program is being planned by students of the Ord Elementary School and their music director, Mrs. Kermit Erickson. "Vignettes of Spring 1970" has been chosen as the program theme.

This annual tribute to mothers will be held tomorrow (Friday). The 2 p.m. program will include songs, spring, patriotic tunes, and stunts. Mrs. Erickson and Gerald Decker, principal of the Ord Elementary School, have invited parents and anyone else who is interested to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Nelson and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Manchester drove to Victoria Springs and on to Anselmo Sunday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth June.

April Cub Pack Meeting Featured Circus Side Shows, Wild Animals

Excitement was the order of the evening when Cub Scout Pack 194 had its regular meeting Apr. 27 at the girls gymnasium. Cubmaster Leo Wolf announced that Pack 194 had purchased part of the Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey circus, including side shows and wild animal acts.

Len 2 provided the side shows which included a real live mermaid, a bearded lady, a rubber man, stone man, sword swallower, and of course a fat lady.

Spectators were then treated to a grand march with all Cubs participating. This was concluded with a salute to the flag and the singing of "Cub Scout Circus Comes to Town."

Ringmaster Wolf then introduced the following acts: the trained elephant and his trainer, Russ and the Tigers, and JoJo and his Shrinking Machine, all performed by Den 1. Den 3 presented the Tumbling Clowns, with all Cubs appropriately costumed and performing tumbling feats on a long mat in the center of the "ring." A snake charmer, a sharp-shooting act, and a clown with a talking horse were feature acts of Den 4.

Since no circus is complete without hawkers in the grandstand, there were continuous sales of peanuts and popcorn in the "stands."

Awards presentations were made by the Cubmaster, and the meeting closed with a balloon game. This event was presented by the Webelos leader, Duane Wolfe, and his scouts.

Special recognition was given to Marv Mach, retiring Cubmas-ter, for his dedication and successful work with the Cubs the past two years.

Elyria Youngsters Find Ord Interests

Pupils of Elyria School District 63 and their teachers, Mrs. Dorothy Fleming and Mrs. Lois Horwart, enjoyed an all-day field trip to Ord Friday.

The day's activities included visits to the Ord Cheese Co., the Valley County sheriff's office, KNLV Radio, and the Ord Quiz plant. The students also attended the Loyalty Day program at the courthouse.

OHS Alumni Banquet Planned for July 4

There's no end of the line at Union Pacific

Keeping track of some 70,000 freight cars over our 10,000-mile system is understandably a big problem. But our computerized COIN (for Complete Operating Information) system does the job very well, indeed.

From 39 key interchange points, information on every single move by every train and every piece of equipment, loaded or empty, is microwaved to our central computerized "memory bank" complex. Information can be supplied in seconds, just by asking our computer.

OUR "COIN" MEANS BIG CHANGE FOR U.P. SHIPPERS

Integrated with COIN our Flow Control system (we call it FLOCON) assures more efficient distribution of cars, when and where they are needed. This adds up to better Customer Service, which, after all, is the name of the game.

An Important Message to every concerned Nebraska Republican about YOUR VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

When you cast your vote for governor on May 12, you will be voting for more than a candidate. You will be voting for a political philosophy—a choice between two fundamental ideas of how your state government should be managed. Take 5 minutes to study the choice offered to you. This could be the last opportunity you have to change the course of your state government. It is a serious decision and one you will wish to consider carefully.

A vote for the present regime, headed by TIEMANN, will:

Spending:

... endorse an unbelievably extravagant program of spending — an increase of over 55 per cent! A budget unheard of in Nebraska history. It will not only endorse what has come to pass in the last four years, but it will encourage unlimited spending in the future. It will encourage the current arrogant, "don't care" attitude about your feelings and your money.

Higher Education:

... approve larger and larger budgets for more marble halls, extravagant research facilities and programs to glorify "ivory tower" personnel.

Pollution:

... approve a $100 million dollar unspecified budget he says is necessary for the state to spend on pollution.

Taxes:

... tell him you accept his little-known 30% increase in your state income tax this year; his 25% increase in your sales tax; and a reported future increase in your state income tax to 20% needed to pay for spending already under way.

Special Interests:

... encourage powerful, paid lobbyists to continue to exert uncanny influence over the legislators and the decisions of the governor — decisions which vitally affect you, but favor certain special interests.

The Man:

... give another term of uncontrolled spending in order to build a national reputation — use Nebraska tax dollars to further an ambitious political career.

A vote for sane, state government headed by BATCHELDER, will:

Spending:

... let each of the state spending agencies know you have put in a governor who will scrutinize their budgets and approve only those funds needed to provide the services the people have asked for. It will warn all spenders that the people of Nebraska will not, and cannot stand for more frivolous, unauthorized programs.

Higher Education:

... elect a governor who worked for his education, who taught school, and believes educational budgets must be re-allocated to direct more funds into those instructional channels which are directly related to educating our young people; a man who believes we must allocate less funds into frivolous plants, programs and professors who have yet to conduct one class or instruct one student. That vote will elect a governor who believes in a strong system of higher education, but insists that budgets be spent on educating the young adult and not on lavish buildings and projects intended only to enhance the personal academic reputations of those "non-teaching" teachers.

Pollution:

... say you want a governor who is concerned about our environment but who believes the state's primary responsibility is legislation to prevent pollution and strict enforcement of those laws — a governor who believes the offender, whether it be a business, an industry, an agricultural operation, a utility, or a community, be made to correct the situation and pay for it themselves.

Taxes:

... show that you understand no concrete promises can be made about reducing taxes until the spending can be controlled. It will indicate that you know if the state budgets are reduced and put under control that your taxes could also be reduced in the future.

Special Interests:

... demand a return of your state government to the people ... call a halt to the excessive influence on the statehouse by those selfish, special lobbies ... elect a governor who has made no private commitments and is controlled by no special groups, organizations, or associations.

The Man:

... put in a governor who is not politically ambitious; who is determined to end the lavish spending programs; who is dedicated to getting our state back into the hands of all the people and, then, getting out! ... elect a governor who will get the job done and then retire to the life of an interested and dedicated citizen of Nebraska.

This message is not intended to frighten you. However, the following group of respected civic leaders in Nebraska are so deeply concerned about the direction of our state government that they believe the only way to return control to you, the people of Nebraska, is to change the governor, NOW. They urge you to vote for Batchelder to bring about that change.

Advertisement paid for by the Batchelder for Governor Council: John Dier, Holdrege, Chairman; Robert Gunderson, Omaha, Vice chairman; A. W. Gordon, Jr., Omaha, Treasurer; Phil Anderson, Crete; Robert L. Anderson, Omaha; Frederick M. Bekins, Omaha; Harry B. Coffee, Omaha; John B. Cook, Scottsbluff; Julius D. The next meeting will be May 21 with Clara and Minnie Jensen as hostesses. On Apr. 28 some of the members went to the park to plant bulbs and rearrange some of the plants already there.

Study of 4-H Calves
John Schade was a special guest at a recent meeting of the Mira Valley Livestock Club. Twenty-five members attended the meeting held at Valleyside School.

President Charles Krcilek showed pictures of members and their 4-H calves which were taken at the 1969 Valley County Fair. With each picture was a chart, I'm glad we went.

My nephew Eldon Foth's daughter, Jeanie was a first place winner at the district 4-H speech contest held in McCook Saturday. Good for her! Nice to have such talented young folks in our family.

Our son, Ken and grandchildren Cindy and Tom were out here Sunday. Also Cindy's dog, Big dog (ours) and little dog (hers) didn't become friends. They growled and snapped so we kept a closed door between the two.

Babbles by Bertha
Our neighbor and friend, Edgar Roe, spent most of his life in Mira Valley and he will be missed — not only by his family but by neighbors and friends. He was the grandson of the A. Wards who were early settlers. We received an announcement from Joe and Carol Babcock telling about the adoption of Valerie Dawn, who was born Mar. 6. They have two other children, Lorrie and Greg. Joe is our daughter-in-law Phyllis' brother and lives in Nashville. When he was a boy in North Loup he was a frequent visitor at our house, coming especially to see Ken. After graduating from the University, he spent a summer with us. We're always glad to hear from them.

George and I drove to Kearney Monday. After we had supper with Don and family we saw and heard "Evolution of Music" a poperetta in twelve acts presented by Kearney Junior High students, our grandsons, Edwin and Victor participated with an original humorous duet. Very good! I'm glad we went.

My nephew Eldon Foth's daughter, Jeanie was a first place winner at the district 4-H speech contest held in McCook Saturday. Good for her! Nice to have such talented young folks in our family.

Our son, Ken and grandchildren Cindy and Tom were out here Sunday. Also Cindy's dog, Big dog (ours) and little dog (hers) didn't become friends. They growled and snapped so we kept a closed door between the two.

Worshippers Treated To 'Superior Singing'

By Berenice Cornell
Thursday Rev. Leonard Clark of Scotia and North Loup United Methodist Churches and two Scotia High School seniors, Cynthia Bredthauer and Marvin Fuss were with us for services. The two seniors are members of the Scotia Zion Lutheran Church. We were grateful for the opportunity to hear Marvin sing the solo which he won superior on, at the music contest in Hastings the week before. The selection "Seven Last Words of Jesus," taking the fourth saying, "Why Has Thou Forsaken Me?" for his solo, with Cynthia at the piano. Rev. Clark used scripture Matthew 14:22-34 and talked of burdens and cheerfulness as we think in our heart. Thirteen were present. Mrs. Ruth Ray was a visitor.

Elizabeth Severson and the Bob Seversons were at Elizabeth's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Weiniak home at Elyria Friday evening to see sister Gertrude Knebel who was brought from the Good Samaritan Home in Hastings to the Weiniak home. Gertrude is feeling better and getting stronger. Thursday callers on Ona Nelson, Edith Jones and Lydia Porter were Mrs. Marjorie Rashaw and daughter, Mrs. Flora Bennett of San Francisco, Calif. The San Francisco folks were one time neighbors of the three Parkview ladies.

Mrs. Laura Rose and Mrs. Albert Clausen visited Mildred Anderson Wednesday afternoon. Friday callers of Mildred were Joyce Bogus in the afternoon and that evening Mrs. Ray Hurlbert and Mrs. Ron Hurlbert and little daughters, Jill and Karrie, called. Visitors Monday evening and again Tuesday at Hope DuMond's were a sister-in-law, Mrs. Forrest Johnson of Seattle, Wash. and a niece, Mrs. Karin Chase of Bellevue, Wash. and a sister, Mrs. Alice Blessing. Hope's son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward DuMond were also there Monday leaving Tuesday morning for Salem, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz went Wednesday morning to Comstock where they accompanied daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hovie to Eustis to see a new great-grandson, little Steven Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Darnall. Mrs. Darnall (Norma) is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hovie. Steven Lee is the eighth great-grandchild of the Janulewicz's.

Mrs. Frank Strohschein of Grand Island and Mrs. Opal Kuklish of Elyria were Sunday visitors of Mildred Anderson. The three had dinner at the New Cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hackett of Kearney spent Sunday with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett, bringing part of the dinner. Lucy McCune was also a dinner guest. The Jay Hackett's took the elderly Hackett's for a ride to Ericson. Later afternoon visitors with the Hackett's were Mr. George Nay, Mrs. Fay Patrick of Ericson and her daughter, Mrs. Don Vogler of North Loup. Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Burwell and Berenice Cornell. Oscar was 93 years young May 4.

Mena Jorgensen and Eva Robertson called at Mrs. Hilda Tuma's Sunday to give congratulations to Mr. Louis Larsen at an "Open House" for attaining his 100th birthday. Lillian Daudt visited her brother, Bill Huebner and Mrs. Wanda Bredthauer Saturday at the Valley County Hospital. Mrs. Fannie Houser visited Lillian Saturday evening and was a dinner guest Sunday of Lillian. During the afternoon they called on Bill Huebner at the hospital. Parkview was sorry to hear of the death Saturday of Anna Jorgensen and Mary (Mrs. Walter) Jorgensen. Mary returned home Sunday after being with her children at Papillion for several weeks. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Collison of Bruning came Monday to Mena's for the funeral which was held Tuesday at the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Collison is an aunt of the deceased.

Juanita Christian's daughter, Mrs. Victor LeVine and two children returned to their home in St. Louis, Mo. after nearly a year in Africa, on Apr. 27. Mrs. LeVine has phoned her mother twice and Juanita got to talk to all three. Mr. LeVine will be in Africa another year doing research work. Dennis Zablouid of Hastings spent from Saturday until Monday with his mother, Emma Zablouid. Tulips are at their best now for bright spots — beauties at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hackett, Eva Robertson's and Juanita Christians. Ona Nelson has a north side with tulips that are a bit later. Mary Cetak and the Janulewicz's can boost of some big pansies that we hope will bloom all summer.

Lyda Porter's daughter, Beulah Porter, fle wfrom Denver to Broken Bow Monday. After an overnight stay with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Romans, they brought her to Lyda's for a weeks visit. A few May baskets were around on May 1. Patrick masin, Jill and Karrie Hurlbert and the Grove girls found Mildred Anderson. Mike and Randy Ryschon were at Berenice Cornell's. Bits of joy.

Juanita Christian and Eva Robertson went to Grand Island Tuesday. Eva is staying this week with a friend of both, Mrs. Bertha Alexander. Juanita will stay for one or two days visit. Mrs. Oscar Hackett had a few in for awhile Monday evening for Oscar's 93rd birthday. They were Lucy McCune, Tillie Massey, Mildred Anderson, Will Benson, Lillian Daudt and Berenice Cornell. Mrs. Hackett served ice cream and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dulitz were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Dulitz and Brian in Ogallala. The group celebrated Galen's birthday and his parents' wedding anniversary with dinner at the Ramada Inn on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Barnes spent the weekend in Ord visiting friends and relatives. They were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Collier and family.

Improved Mrs. Adeline Urbanski accompanied Mrs. Norma Knapp and son Mike to Omaha Friday. Mrs. Urbanski and her son, Leonard, visited at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. John Mottl and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bosse and girls. Mrs. Knapp visited with the Axel and Harlen Jorgensen families in Papillion. Mrs. Marie Jorgensen, who had been visiting in Omaha for some time, returned to Ord with them. Mrs. Urbanski reports that Leonard has shown great improvement since entering the Veterans Hospital at Omaha.

Doug Ackles, a student at the University of Nebraska, spent the weekend in Ord with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackles. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Dave Enders was honored at a neighborhood coffee. Mrs. Frank Kapustka was hostess and Mrs. Roland Norman co-hostess.

Last Meeting Royal Kensington met Sunday night at the Ed Penas home for the group's last meeting of the season. After a business meeting cards were played at four tables. Winners were Carl Young, Stella Vergin, Lena Williams, and Albert Kirby.

Several Activities The Homesteaders 4-H Club held a meeting May 1 at the home of Frankie Baldwin. Joseph Wadas, president, called the meeting to order; and Iva Lee Sydzik and Mary Kay Wadas gave a demonstration on making coffee cakes. Gary Sydzik and Joseph Wadas discussed different cuts of meat, and the members then judged oatmeal cookies made by Billy Wadas. The next meeting will be at the Anton Sydzik home. York Takes Central 10 Laurels Despite Absence of Star Miler constant running had worn the bones in his feet thin and that when he stepped on the rock one bone simply snapped.

A freak case of over-conditioning kept the star of the York team on the sidelines Saturday, but his teammates were honed to perfection for the Central 10 Conference Track and Field Meet.

— 4 minutes, 30.7 seconds. "I was disappointed at first," he said, "but now I've accepted it. It's just one of those things."

ence or not isn't known, of course, but the winner shaved almost eight seconds off his previous best time of the season.

the shot was also below par as he settled for a top throw of 53 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

Wood River, Cairo Look Good Again In Sherman-Howard Baseball Debuts

There was little evidence of change as a new Sherman-Howard baseball season got underway Sunday.

at 8:15 p.m. Mike Lashley pitched Wood River to its impressive first-game victory over Wolbach.

SHERMAN-HOWARD LEAGUE table with columns for Team, W, L, GB

Although short on first places, York picked up lots of second, thirds, and fourths to outdistance its competitors.

The Chants might have got their one point in the mile relay if the meet directors had chosen to disqualify Central City.

Ord, Loup City to Compete In District Meet Tomorrow

Shut out two weeks in a row, Ord High School trackmen have little prospects for improving things this week.

Slater of Holdrege, and Del Deitz of Gothenburg.

Harmon's performance with the shot was also below par as he settled for a top throw of 53 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

York has to star now that Newcomer is out of action, brought the baton home in a good time of 3:33.3.

Others who performed well for the Raiders were Larry Kowalski, second in the two-mile run.

Three Young Misses Suffer Injuries in Separate Accidents

By Wilma Baldwin

Susan Sevenker, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Sevenker, suffered a broken right arm and abrasions on her face Thursday morning when she fell off the slide on the playgrounds at the Ord Grade School. Both bones were broken in the wrist. Susie will be wearing a cast probably for the rest of the school term.

Suzanne Meese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Meese, had the misfortune to dislocate her knee this past week. She will be on crutches until the knee heals.

Willa Baldwin was the third victim when she broke the ring finger on her left hand Sunday morning while trying to break her 4-H calf to lead. Incidentally, your reporter, after thinking she was being quite successful in breaking the calf to lead, was the victim to that mild animal, too. The reporter sprained her ankle when the calf made a bolt for freedom and upended her.

The comical part of it is that I had told Willa she wasn't going about it the right way after she had been knocked down and dragged twice by the calf. (Some free advice for parents: never brag to your youngsters until you are dead sure you can do what you say you can.)

Fortunately, my sprain is minor, but we decided to give up on the calf and turn her out to pasture. So I led her out to the pasture where the other calves were, took the halter off, and started back for the house almost half a mile away. I had thought the calf would be glad to go with her herd, but nothing doing. She beat me back to the house! I'm sure my husband, when he saw the calf coming, thought that was quite a switch, the calf putting me to pasture instead of the reverse.

Anyone who has ever worked with a 4-H calf can appreciate the humor of this little tale. We'll haul that calf out to pasture this time and hope she stays put.

95th Birthday Celebrated
Mr. and Mrs. George Zabloudil and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Peters and family helped Mrs. Zabloudil's mother, Mrs. Emma Long, celebrate her 95th birthday May 4 in the long-term wing of the Valley County Hospital. Mrs. Zabloudil baked and decorated a cake in honor of the occasion.

See Relative Wed
Kathy Kokes of Lincoln came home Saturday and accompanied her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kokes, along with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Konkoleski of Ord, to Greeley that afternoon. There they attended the wedding of their relative, Pauline Stepp, and Thomas Harrahill at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Kathy returned to Lincoln Sunday.

Mother's Day Activities Keep Residents Busy

By Berenice Cornell
 Sunday activities for Mother's Day included:
 • Lucy McCune having her daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Fairfield of Earl Marrow of Scotia, and Tillie Massey with her for dinner. Guests for lunch in the late afternoon were the Fairfields and their daughter, Dorothy and her husband, Paul Wray, of Scotia.
 • Tillie Massey attending the singing service at the Christian Church given by a family from Norfolk.
 • Joyce Bogus and Mildred Anderson driving to Sargent for dinner.
 • Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neverkla spending part of Sunday afternoon with Mary Jorgensen.
 • Mrs. Hilma Tuma visiting with Emma Zabloull.
 • Will Benson having dinner at the Palmer Canfield home.
 • Tena Swanson spending Mother's Day in the home of her daughter Dorothy (Mrs. Earl Nelson).
 • Mr. and Mrs. George Polinoski being with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Gydesen of Scotia, in the afternoon.

 • Mr. and Mrs. Don Severson of Grand Island taking his mother, Elizabeth Severson, to the Anton Welniak home at Elyria to spend the afternoon with her sisters, Helen Welniak and Gertrude Knebel.
 • Marguerite West spending the day with her daughter, Wilma (Mrs. Eric Erikson) and family.
 • Phoned Greetings
 Telephone calls giving greetings to mothers at Parkview were received in the following quantities:
 • Six by Tena Swanson, from her daughters, Hilma Maus of Menisno, Canada, Dessie Cowell and husband of Sterling, Colo., and Ella Schow and husband of Paxton, and from the following sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Swanson of Cedar Rapids, Ia., Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Swanson of Mead, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Swanson and Lana of Grand Island.
 • Two by Sophie Keller, from a daughter, Margaret Beiers, and husband of Noel, Mo., and from a son, James Keller, and his wife of Los Angeles, Calif.
 • One by Marguerite West, from her daughter, Josephine Dowse of Colorado Springs, Colo. daughter Lorraine and family (the Bill Goffs) of Papillion.

 • Edith Jones a bouquet of gladioli and irises from her son, Rex Jewitt, and friends, Claribel Chambers and Daisy Kail of Lincoln.
 • Berenice Cornell, a big lavender carnation given to all mothers attending the Bethel Baptist Church.
 • A number also were given lilacs, which are presently at their height of beauty. Parkview doesn't have a lilac tree and some don't get to see them, so they are a treat. In addition, the Don Seversons brought Elizabeth a big box of nice candy and a package of fruit.
 • See Holy Land Slides

How It Is in India
 Arlene Petersen and Pastor Robert Pier called on Berenice Cornell Thursday afternoon. That evening Ona Nelson and Berenice went to the Bethel Baptist Church where Miss Petersen, a missionary from Assam, India, gave a talk and showed a film. The talk and film told of customs and activities and of the mission work. There are 82 tribal languages in India, and only two percent of the people are Christians, Miss Petersen said. She is a native of Minnesota, not far from Minneapolis. The Robert Piers came for Ona and Berenice.
Spring in the Ozarks
 While Mary Jorgensen was at Papillion the past month, she went for a week to Noel, Mo. She spent some time there with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Beiers while the Axel Jorgensens were visiting and on a trip. The Beiers took Mary sightseeing in the Ozarks which she said she much enjoyed. She spoke of the beauty there at this time of year with the dogwood and redbud trees in bloom.

Despite Loss in Primary, Batchelder Thinks He Has Helped Turn State in Right Direction

Even though he lost in Tuesday's primary election, Clifton Batchelder said Thursday he thinks he has done Nebraska a great favor by running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Speaking before a slim turnout of only 80 people at the Ord High School auditorium, Batchelder said conservatism "is already back in the saddle," as a result of his candidacy.

Generally acknowledged as the major conservative of the four major gubernatorial candidates in the primary, Batchelder said his campaign had already influenced the Democratic hopefuls to turn more conservative. In fact, he said Gov. Norbert Tiemann, his opponent in the Republican primary, had become "the only non-conservative" in the race.

Batchelder again made no specific recommendations of what he would do if he were elected governor, but he did give quick a talk on his political philosophy. He repeated his charge — made often in the past campaign — that the state government has increased spending "not because of requests by the people for services, but because the governor asks for them."

He also attacked his fellow state legislators, saying that most of them show "a complete lack of responsibility to the people back home who have to pay the bills." He recited an incident which occurred soon after he was elected to the legislature.

"An official from one of the state colleges made a request for a $20,000 printing press," he said, "on which to print the school paper. He said it would pay for itself in one year."

"Being in the printing business myself, I knew that was impossible. It would take 20 years for a machine like that to pay for itself — 10 maybe if it were used three shifts a day.

"As a member of the Budget Committee I began questioning this official. I got him in a corner, and he finally changed his story and said its big advantage was that it would be used for vocational training. But this was a teacher's college; it had no vocational training."

"At last, I thought, I've been able to contribute something since coming to the legislature. But when my fellow members of the Budget Committee voted on it, they approved it. Later the whole legislature did too."

"Later I talked with one of the senators who voted for it, and he told me he would have voted against it except that there was a state institution in his district which might need something in the future."

Then the senator summed up, "They approved that request because they were trading votes. Each legislator wanted to be a big hero with his hometown chamber of commerce and come home with a big wad of taxpayers' money."

He then eased into his explanation of what is happening in government today.

"They're all trying to build an economy on tax dollars," he said. "We've let the government get so big that it is having a tremendous influence economically on certain segments of the state and country. Consequently, these segments have become the all-important source exerting pressure on legislative bodies, and as a result the legislators are not listening to the people back home."

"Rural Nebraskans are supporting businesses that are making money off the government," Batchelder said.

"Some people say that these businesses pay taxes," he added, "but they add their taxes on to their costs and pass them back to the little man. It's a situation where the poor get poorer and the rich get richer. The liberals say they take from the wealthy and give to the poor, but actually with their do-good philosophy they are draining the poor — and the farmer is the worst of all.

"We simply cannot afford these big taxes — we don't need all these big services. What we really need is to be let alone — to have a little freedom from filling out forms and paying taxes."

That last statement drew the first applause of the evening.

Batchelder also drew applause when he said students who took over the ROTC building at the University of Nebraska last week "should have been met by a company of National Guardsmen with drawn bayonets."

He then said that most of the trouble-makers at the university were from outside Nebraska, and he advocated much higher tuition rates for out-of-staters, as well as stiffer entrance requirements for all students.

"Why do out-of-staters choose Nebraska?" he asked. Then he answered, "Because it's cheap and it's easy to get into. They live off us, and many of them are the agitators!"

"What are we doing by making it so easy for them? We are playing into the hands of administrators who can come to budget hearings and say they have 2,000 more students so they need more money to take care of them."

"The school is managed by a group of spineless people who are there for one thing — growth. They want to make the university the biggest industry in this state regardless of what it costs the taxpayers."

"It is already the fastest growing organization in this state. It has grown and grown by the simple expediency of getting as many bodies as possible. There are no entrance requirements except a high school diploma, and I maintain there should be. If you are asking Mr. Average Man to kick in and pay for some kid's education, that kid should at some point have to show an aptitude for being there."

Batchelder said imposing higher academic standards would weed out those who go to college "to avoid the draft, for a vacation, to agitate, and to avoid work."

The gubernatorial candidate agreed that the situation at Nebraska is not yet as bad as it is at many state universities, but he said he was concerned because neither the legislature, the governor, the Board of Regents, nor the chancellor is running the school.

"It's really being run by an organization called the Assn. of College Professors and the Student Senate," he said. "I don't want to spend another penny on the university unless it's managed by the Board of Regents and the chancellor."

However, Batchelder said he was not "against education," and he denied reports that he would close down the university if elected.

"One of the greatest things about education," he said, "is that you have to work for it. If more of these kids today had to work for their education . . . had to worry about where their tuition was coming from . . . about the rent . . . and about flunking out . . . the university would be a better place."

When questioned concerning his stand on vocational-technical schools, Batchelder said he felt 12 years of good education is "as far as we can go" in providing free education for students. After that, he said, students and/or their families should pay for whatever they get.

Sheriff Is Popular; Supervisor Ousted

Valley County Republicans gave Sheriff Clarence E. Fox an overwhelming vote in Tuesday's election, but turned out one incumbent county supervisor, Leon Klancey, in a lightly attended primary election Tuesday.

In the big state races — for the two gubernatorial nominations — neither the county's Democrats nor its Republicans chose an apparent winner. The Democrats gave State Senator J. W. Burbach a 272-to-171 edge over J. J. Exon, while the Republicans slipped their support to Governor-elect Clifton Batchelder, also a present state senator, in his battle with incumbent Norbert Tiemann. The count in that race was 513 to 465.

Statewide, Exon appeared to be on his way to an upset victory over Tiemann, with almost 90 percent of the vote counted. The former Democratic national committeeman held only an 804-vote edge, however, with some 105,000 ballots counted. With the vote so close, there was no assurance on Wednesday morning that Burbach might not still pull it out.

On the Republican side, Governor-elect Tiemann appeared to have thrown back the challenge of Senator Burbach. Tiemann was leading by more than 8,000 votes when the television stations went off the air about 4 a.m. Wednesday.

At the county level, Sheriff Fox received impressive support from every precinct in one of the few contested local races. He won up with 804 votes compared to 148 for Kenneth Peyton and 31 for Logan Maring.

Since there was no candidate on the Democratic ticket, Fox apparently will be in office for another four years.

Klancey was not so fortunate, however, as he ran second to Duane Carson in a three-man race for county supervisor. Only voters residing in Ord's 1st Ward were allowed to cast ballots in that duel, and they gave their support to Carson by 119-83 count. Henry Benda brought up the rear with 39 votes.

Again there was no candidate on the Democratic ticket, meaning Carson apparently will be the 3rd District's new representative following the general election this fall.

In the other contested supervisor race, Ken Collins defeated Don Papiernik for the 1st District's Republican nomination. The count was 59 to 22.

Collins must now face incumbent William Tuma, who was unopposed on the Democratic side, in November.

Two other incumbents, Republican Ray Knapp in the 5th District and Democrat Kenneth Dorsey, in the 7th, had no opposition in the primary and will have none in the general election either.

In races decided elsewhere, a pair of budding young political aspirants who were in Ord came acropper in their initial bids for office.

Ron Romans, a 1956 graduate of Ord High School, received strong support from his old home county but still ran far behind Allen Beermann in the battle for the Republican nomination as secretary of state. Romans had 34,000-plus compared to Beermann's 51,000-plus as the vote counters retired for the night.

Vern Johnson, a Cairo resident, was running third in this race with a 20,000-plus total.

Beermann is the present deputy secretary of state.

Also falling victim to an experienced hand was Tom Anderson, another member of the 1966 Ord High graduating class. Anderson ran a good race but was beaten for the Democratic nomination as Hall County attorney by 373 ballots. He received 1,612 votes, compared to Joe Martin's 1,985. The winner is a former state senator.

The turnout locally was a light one, with less than half the county's 3,220 registered voters exercising their Constitutional right. Specifically, the total was 1,584, or 49.2 percent.

Proof that a lot of electors didn't know anything about the man they were voting for was offered in the race for the Republican nomination as railway commissioner from the 3rd District. The name of Fred Peterson, long familiar to Nebraska voters, was marked by 558 Valley County residents. His opponent, Duane Gay, got only 183 votes. That trend was followed throughout the state as Peterson's total was more than double that of Gay's at last count.

The winner will not get to enjoy his victory, however, since he died several weeks ago.

Voters in the newly combined Enterprise-Vinton precinct gave strong support to another dead man, the late Edgar Roe. Fifteen of them cast ballots for him as a delegate to the county Republican convention.

However, that evidently was a way they chose to show affection for their former neighbor rather than any ignorance on their part.

In another race that had sparked considerable local interest, Lowell Jones ran last among four men who hope to serve on the Valley County Weed Control Authority. Jones — who had a run-in last year with the weed authority's superintendent.

Tractor Operator, 20, Electrocuted at Arcadia

A 20-year-old Arcadia youth was electrocuted Friday when a boom on the tractor he was operating came in contact with a 110-volt power line.

Dead is Jerry William Bresley, son of Mrs. Glendora Bresley. He was a 1969 graduate of Arcadia High School and since October had been living in Broken Bow with his mother.

The death occurred in a yard outside the house owned by Mrs. Leo Anderson. It is located in the northeast part of Arcadia. The house and lot are being used by Moody Custom Service, with whom Bresley was employed, to store equipment.

Ron Moody discovered Bresley's body about 11 a.m. Friday. Gene Cox, chief of the Arcadia Fire Department, said that the accident could not have occurred more than 30 minutes before the body was found.

Moody ran to Cox's home nearby and called the Fire Department, which rushed Bresley to the Valley County Hospital at Ord. However, he was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

Cox said that details of the accident and the booms were up in the lock position. We assume that one of the booms caught the lower wire of a 110-volt power line going to a yard light, and that it pulled the wire taut. It appeared to have scraped an inch and a half or two inches of insulation off.

"Presumably Bresley saw what had happened and decided to get off the tractor. But when he stepped off he must have grabbed some part of the tractor for support. When he did and then touched the ground, that grounded him and resulted in the electrocution."

Cox said Bresley's body was found on the ground beside and underneath the tractor.

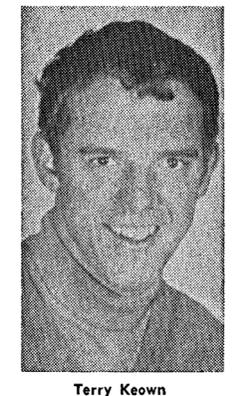

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the United Methodist Church of Arcadia with Dale Ratliff officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Earl Higgins.

Mrs. Elvira Bolli sang "He Has the Whole World in His Hands" and "Beyond the Sunset." She was accompanied by Mrs. Joy Lutz at the organ.

Palbearers were Dean Combs, Darwin Combs, William Giles, Steve Giles, Reed Brown, and Wayne Moody. Interment was in the Arcadia Cemetery with Hastings - Pearson Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Bresley was born Jan. 6, 1950, at Loup City. His father, the late William Edgar Bresley, died several years ago. His paternal grandparents also preceded him in death.

Survivors include his mother, of Broken Bow; one brother, James Bresley, now serving in Vietnam; two sisters, Carol Jean Bresley of Hyattsville, Md., and Mrs. Judith Parry of San Pablo, Calif.; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Duryea of Arcadia; and one niece and one nephew.

Terry Keown Is North Loup-Scotia Boys' State Nominee

An all-around student, Terry Keown, has been selected to represent North Loup-Scotia High School at Cornhusker Boys' State next month. Keown is the son of Mrs. Cecil Severance.

Chosen as alternate was Allen DeNoyer, son of Mrs. Don Walker. Both he and Keown live at North Loup.

The primary delegate is president of this year's junior class at North Loup-Scotia and has participated in football, basketball, and track. He also has been active in religious work and is presently serving as president of the Mid-Continent Seventh Day Baptist Youth Fellowship.

Other school activities include service as vice-president of the North Loup-Scotia Student Council, membership in the National Honor Society, a role as editor of the annual, and participation in this year's junior class play.

Keown also has been selected to attend Junior Law Officers in June. That selection was made by a committee representing District 6 of the American Legion.

The North Loup post of the American Legion will serve as Keown's sponsor at Boys' State.

Local Gas Workers Join Others in Strike

Five employees of the Ord office are among an estimated 600 Kansas-Nebraska Gas Co. workers who refused to report for work Monday morning.

The workers are members of Local 7476, Communication Workers of America. They are striking for wage increases totalling 60 cents an hour. Thirty cents of that would be retroactive to last year.

Ivan Sorensen, manager of the Ord office, said Tuesday night that he will attempt to answer emergency calls himself. He said all local employees paid by the hour are off the job.

So far there has been no violence locally in connection with the strike. However, gas line valves were closed earlier this week at Fullerton, St. Paul, and Glenville, temporarily knocking out service to those communities.

Sorensen said he was called about 4 a.m. Monday by company officials and directed to patrol the lines in this area as a precautionary measure.

An estimated 1,500 meters are serviced by the local office, Sorensen estimated. They are located at Ord, North Loup, Scotia, and in the surrounding rural areas. This includes residences located north and west of Ord toward Elyria and Arcadia.

A story in Tuesday's Omaha World-Herald said the average hourly wage for Kansas-Nebraska employees is $2.50. Harry Smith, president of the striking local, said the company had offered a raise of 15 cents an hour this year plus 15 cents an hour retroactive to last year.

He said the union earlier had asked for an increase of 90 cents an hour over a three-year period. Negotiations have been underway since October. The union's contract was scheduled to expire Apr. 30 but was extended until the past Monday to allow time for further negotiations.

The company has reacted to the closing of valves by offering a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons caught tampering with the lines.

James Miller, a representative of the company, did not necessarily attribute the closings to strikers. But he said the valves "didn't close by themselves."

Open House Slated For Saturday At County Hospital

The Valley County Hospital is joining over 7,000 medical institutions throughout the country in observing National Hospital Week. The special observance began Sunday and will continue through Saturday.

The theme for the observance, "Your Hospital Cares," emphasizes the efforts hospitals are making to meet increasing demands for health care in an era of spiraling costs.

"Today every hospital is faced with greater demands for high-quality health care for more people than ever before," Karl Mackinnon, administrator of the Valley County Hospital, said Monday. "Hospitals are meeting the challenge with a variety of new methods which also help in planning for the future."

National Hospital Week is an annual observance sponsored by the American Hospital Assn. to give people an opportunity to learn more about the hospitals in their community.

The Valley County Hospital is inviting the public to visit during an open house Saturday from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Ord Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Early Deadline Next Week Too

Due to complications in the installation of a new printing press, next week's Ord Quiz will again have early deadlines.

This means the Quiz staff is asking persons with news and/or advertisements to submit their material by tomorrow (Friday) if possible. As was the case this week, nothing except late-breaking news will be accepted after 5 p.m. Monday.

Quiz correspondents all cooperated in an excellent manner this week, and the newspaper staff regrets that it was necessary to trim some area news and in other cases to leave it out entirely. Utilizing a small press normally used for commercial job printing, however, only two pages can be printed at a time. This means first that the job must be started much earlier than usual, and second, that not as many pages can be printed.

Commencement Week Will Be Busy for Seniors

Thirteen years of schooling will be climaxed for 101 Ord seniors during the next six days as they go through a busy round of commencement activities.

The activities will begin with a junior-senior banquet which replaces the prom held in past years. It's scheduled for Saturday night.

Then Sunday evening, the class of 1970 will gather at 8 p.m. to hear a baccalaureate address by J. H. Schroeder, minister of the Ord Christian Church.

That will be followed by Class Night on Monday, with activities beginning at 8 p.m. On this occasion awards and scholarships will be presented. A dance, which is also designed to help replace the prom, will follow the presentations.

The big event will come Wednesday night, when the seniors will be presented their diplomas in a ceremony beginning at 8 p.m. For the first time, plans have been made to honor the top 10 percent of the senior class on this occasion, rather than just the salutatorian and valedictorian.

Kotrous Rites Set; Son Born to Widow

Funeral services for Private First Class Eudell Leo Kotrous, who was killed Apr. 26 in Vietnam, will be held Tuesday at St. Ledger's Catholic Church in Creighton.

The services will begin at 10 a.m. Rosary will be recited the previous evening.

Private Kotrous, 20, was killed while serving in combat with the 101st Airborne Division. His widow, the former Marilyn Ellingson, gave birth Friday to the couple's first child — a 9-pound, 14-ounce boy. The infant has been named Kevin Eudell.

Mrs. Kotrous is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Ellingson Jr. of Ord. Her baby was born at the Burwell Community Hospital.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kotrous of Verdigre.

The baby also has six living great-grandparents. They are Mrs. Mary Christopherson of Ord, Melvin L. Ellingson Sr. of Broken Bow, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kotrous of Verdigre, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin of Crosby, Tex.

Both Parties Happy

Obviously pleased about getting the autograph of Bob Devaney, head football coach at the University of Nebraska, right, and Ann Zlomke, Coach Devaney seems just as happy to comply, as Brad Smith waits his turn. The Cornhusker coach was in town to speak at Ord High School's 1970 athletic banquet held at the Elks Club.

Carol's Corner

by Carol Leggett

Spring showers might bring May flowers, but they also bring long days with the children cooped up inside. If you're a mother, chances are the first thing you'll lose at a time like this is your mind. Maybe you'd like to tuck away the following ideas for the next rainy day.

Why not make a costume box? Fill it with old curtains, draperies, skirts, sashes, hats, previously used costumes — and don't forget the high-heeled shoes and a handbag or two. On bad-weather days the children can have a great time playing dress-up or planning a show for friends or family.

Let your daughter make a dollhouse out of one or more shoe boxes by cutting them (open side up). Cover the walls with scraps of wallpaper or fabric or decorate them with crayon drawings and magazine cut-outs. Furniture can be constructed from wooden spoons and cardboard, sprinkled with heaps of imagination.

Show your son how to trace pictures using an old magazine, a sheet of carbon paper, and a sheet of plain paper. Girls enjoy tracing pictures too.

Smaller children might like to make animals out of prunes and raisins or marshmallows. Pieces of toothpicks connect the parts.

Do children in this generation ever make necklaces or bracelets from dry macaroni that they have colored with crayons and strung on a heavy thread or string? It's a big job for tiny hands and very time consuming.

When it's raining on the outside, a mother's best hope is to keep things bright on the inside.

Somehow it's different . . . Boys aren't supposed to show any interest in "feminine" activities, but girls may show interest in "masculine" activities without any stigma whatever. They may be tomboys, wear blue jeans, be athletic, love horses — and grownups think it's all very fetching.

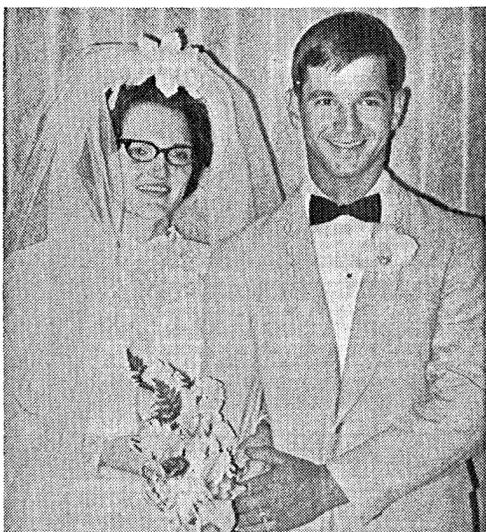

"My little girl can ride as well as a boy," says a proud father. But he's not so likely to be heard saying, "My boy can sew as well as a girl."

You may no longer have to spend hours in the dressing room to find out what you like, gals.

A new gimmick is a store-installed "fashion mirror" that reflects your head and neck and, through a series of slides, shows you how you would look in the store's fashions. If you like what you see in the mirror, you ask for the actual garment so you can try it on.

A store in Atlanta, Ga., is presently using the mirror on a trial basis.

Diane Dilsaver Weds Gary Proskocil In Methodist Ceremony at Ord Church

The United Methodist Church of Ord was the scene for Saturday's wedding which united Diane Dilsaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Dilsaver of Taylor, and Gary Proskocil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Proskocil of Ord.

Rev. Clarence Campbell performed the 3 p.m. double-ring ceremony in the presence of 275 relatives and friends.

Baskets of green gladioli and white carnations decorated the altar, and white satin bows marked the pews. Lighting the nine-branch candelabra were Debbie Proskocil, a sister of the groom, and Duane Dilsaver, brother of the bride.

Judy Powers, soloist, sang "God Gave Me You," "Wedding Prayer," and "Each to the Other," accompanied by Mrs. Ted Moon at the organ.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her floor-length gown of white lace and peau taffeta was fashioned with a molded lace bodice, topped with a rounded neckline fashioned of scalloped lace. The long lace sleeves ended in satin bands accented by a tiny bow. The slightly A-line skirt was covered with scalloped lace panels from the waist to the hemline, forming an overskirt effect on the sides and back of the skirt. A chapel train fastened at the shoulders completed the back interest of the gown.

Miss Dilsaver's elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by a petal crown of organza net and satin. She carried a cascade of white cymbidiums and miniature mint green carnations.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lee Stout of Burwell. Bridesmaids were Margaret Wirges of Grand Island and Donna Proskocil, a sister of the groom, from Ord. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry Labs of Kearney. They were dressed alike in floor-length gowns of mint green satin brocade, and each of them carried colonial nosegays of green and white mums.

Airman Larry Proskocil, twin brother of the groom, served as best man. He is residing now at Wichita Falls, Tex., where he is assigned to Shepherd Air Force Base.

Other attendants were Tom Dilsaver, brother of the bride, of Taylor; Terry Labs of Kearney; and Dennis Proskocil, brother of the groom, of Ord. They wore green jackets complementing the bride's color scheme.

The flower girl was Linda Hatridge, a cousin of the bride, from Colorado Springs, Colo. Ring bearers were Dale Proskocil, brother of the groom, from Ord, and Frank Hoins, a cousin of the bride, from Grand Island.

Serving as ushers were Gene Harris, John Hoins, Earl Pierce, and Eldon Kokes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoins of Fairfield, uncle and aunt of the bride, were hosts at a reception in the church parlors following the ceremony.

Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Ivan Dilsaver, Mrs. Ralph Savage, Mrs. Marr Cerny, and Mrs. Earl Pierce. Gifts were in charge of Glenda Harders, Robyn

In Wheel Chair
Mr. and Mrs. Walt Smith and children travelled to Lincoln Sunday to spend the day with little John Smith at the Orthopedic Hospital. John is now in a wheel chair and will probably be hospitalized about two weeks more. He underwent major foot surgery about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Smith reports that their son is getting along well and believes that cards from home would be a big thrill to him. Mail may be sent in care of Ward A at the hospital.

Flock Family Gathers
Children of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Flock gathered in Ord a weekend ago for a happy family reunion. The group included Mrs. Decklyn (Louise) Nelson and Cary of Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Flock and three children of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Marlene) Witherax and two daughters of Gering; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Flock and daughter of Riverside, Calif.; and Mr. and Mrs. Herman (Rose) Pokorny and Jimmy, and Dixie Flock, all of Ord. Mrs. Nelson's husband and son Casey were the only two unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kearns spent Mother's Day at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christensen, in St. Paul. Several other relatives were guests during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kearns were hosts for a barbecue dinner at their home Friday evening. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. DeLoss Kearns and Connie, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Darnell. DeLoss' birthday was celebrated.

Marilyn Rutar of Omaha and Larry Rutar of Kearney visited their parents, the Joe Rutars, a weekend ago. They were in Ord to attend the golden anniversary celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kluna.

Mrs. Irma Leggett entertained guests at a Mother's Day dinner in her home Sunday. The group included Mr. and Mrs. Ted Leggett and daughter, Mrs. Rosalee Leggett and family, and Louie Blaha.

Home From California
Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings returned Thursday from a one-week vacation in California. They visited his mother, Mrs. Wash Hastings, and other relatives and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hyden at North Hollywood where the elderly Mrs. Hastings makes her home.

Local Church Women Attend Natl. Assembly

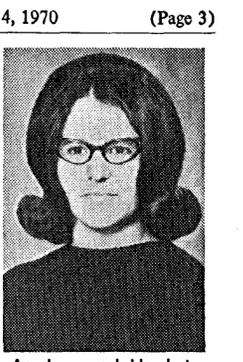

Mrs. Edwin Lenz and Mrs. Elmer Zlomke of Ord were among 10,000 United Methodist women from the 50 states and overseas countries who attended the 1970 assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Service Guild at Houston, Tex. The theme of the assembly, held Thursday through Sunday, was "Choose Life."

The 1970 assembly was the first to be held since the 1968 union of the former Methodist Church and the former Evangelical United Brethren Church and the merger of their women's organizations. Among the assembly highlights was an address by Mrs. Theodore Wedel of Washington, D. C., president of the National Council of Churches; an address by Theresa Hoover of New York, associate general secretary of the Women's Division; a special worship experience prepared by Dr. Wayne Rood, professor of religious education at the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif.; and a display of banners from 86 annual W.S.C.S. conferences.

New Daughter Visits
Guests over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Good were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Good and Kelli Sue, of Wichita, Kan. Kelli Sue is a recently adopted daughter. She is nine months old, and this was her first visit to Ord.

Mother's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janus were their niece, Mrs. Jerome Carkoski, her husband and family of Loup City. The Carkoskis brought a picnic dinner, and the noon meal was served at the Ord Park.

Robin Upah was an overnight guest Friday and a dinner guest Saturday of Laurie Zulkoski.

Quiz Employees Say Goodbye to an Old Friend

A faithful old workhorse completed its final run last week.

And just as old horses used to wind up frequently at the soap factory, the Quiz's ancient printing press was unromantically scuttled and reduced to a heap of scrap iron. Though some had suggested that the turn-of-the-century press might be valuable as a museum piece, the enormous cost of transporting it made that impractical.

Instead, Lores Hornickel and his wrecking crew took it apart piece by piece. Most of it will wind up as scrap iron.

No one knows for sure exactly how old the now retired press was. The last patent on it was dated 1901.

Nor can anyone recall exactly where the press came from when it was brought to Ord. Some say it came from Beatrice, some say Minden, and some say Wyoming.

Cletus Ringlein, foreman of the Quiz plant, recalled that it was brought here in 1946. A check of Quiz files reveals that it was indeed installed in September that year, but the story fails to mention its age or previous home.

One Quiz employee, Ernest Ahlschwede, swears he worked on it in 1929 at Beatrice. However, Ahlschwede didn't come to the Quiz himself until 1954, and by that time the press had been turning out copies of the Ord Quiz for eight years.

The press was called a "Duplex" and was made by the Goss Printing Press Co. It will be replaced by a press of similar design, but of much more recent vintage. The new press was manufactured in 1958 and is being purchased from the Holt County Independent at O'Neill. The Independent purchased it in 1965 from the Inland Printing Equipment Co. at Kansas City, Mo.

One thing is known for sure about the new press — it's heavy. The estimated weight was 12,000 pounds. But a wrecker designed to lift up to four tons couldn't budge the 7,000-pound main bed when the time came to bring it to Ord. It finally had to be dismantled and transported piecemeal.

Even so, the weight of the new press doesn't approach that of the old if the 1946 Quiz story is correct. It stated that the old press weighed 15 tons.

Supervising the transfer of the new machine was Everett Brown, a press erector from Mexico, Mo. He is employed by the Goss Co. and travels about the Midwest supervising such operations. In addition to the technical expertise he lends to the operation, his company will "insure" any press on which its man supervises the transfer. The fee for this, however, is a hefty $1,500.

Because the new press is of different dimensions than the old one, extensive remodeling of the press room was required. This is what will cause the Quiz to be printed on a smaller machine for two weeks instead of just one.

The old press sat in a concrete pit. To accommodate the new one, it was necessary to pour some fresh cement to build up the pit in places and to tear out old cement to make additional room in others. The old cement proved to be much thicker than was anticipated, making it more difficult to remove. This is one of the big reasons it's taking longer than was hoped to make the change.

Thursday was a big day at the Quiz plant as the old press made its last run. That momentous event is depicted in the pictures on this page.

SECTION THREE

THE Ord Quiz

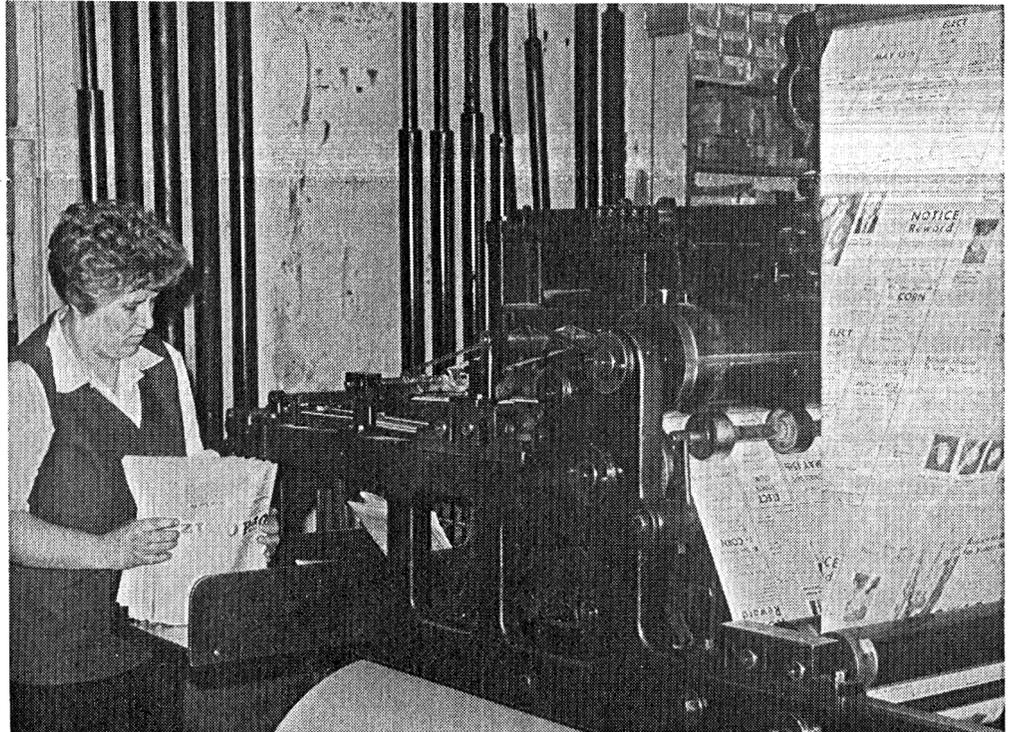

Estab. April, 1892. Ord, Nebr., Thurs., May 14, 1970. Vol. 89, No 10. 3 Sects.

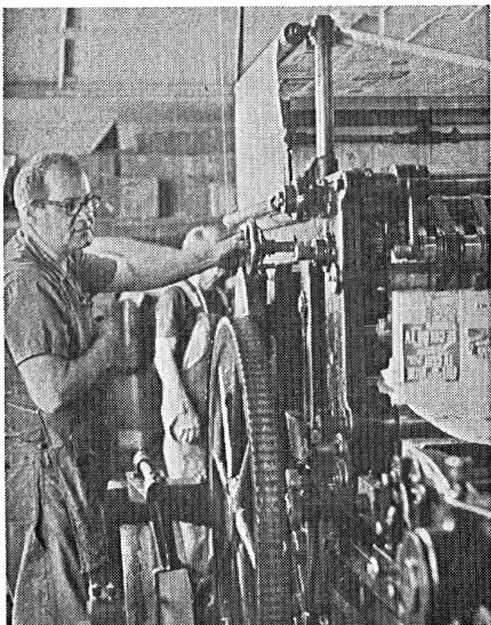

The last two forms are locked in place by Louie Blaha, left, and Elmer Lukesh as preparations are completed for the final run of the Quiz plant's turn-of-the-century press.

Shoving the starting lever forward, Louie gives the go-ahead and the old press lurches into action.

Just as it had for almost 24 years, the press began printing, cutting, and folding Quizes at the rate of 3,200 an hour. Here Vera Mach scoops up an armload.

Elmer decides there's not enough tension — or maybe too much — in the newsprint being fed through the press. So a slight turn of this wheel regulates that.

Out front, Lila Naeve and other members of the office staff pore over the first copies.

Finally, the quick hands of Helen Beran, in foreground, and Meda Long insert one section into another — and another Quiz is ready for its readers to devour.

Steve Drake, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Drake, suffered a broken leg in a motorcycle crash May 2 at Grand Island. He and Tom Lutz, also 16, had gone to Grand Island on their bicycles, with Steve leaving his at the repair shop. He was a passenger on Tom's when the accident occurred. The Lutz boy was treated and released. He had a cracked nose and bruises but returned to school on Thursday with the aid of crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lutz and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Drake visited Steve several times last week. He is in the St. Francis Hospital and expects to be released in a few days.
The cycle was demolished in the crash.

In Houston

Mrs. Ed Jackson of Spencer came to the Robert Lutz home Sunday afternoon. She left Monday morning for Hebron, where she joined a group who took a chartered bus to Houston, Tex., to attend an assembly of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Jackson is president of the organization's North-east District.

Mothers, Daughters Feted
Challenger Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the United Methodist Church was hostess to a Mother's Day tea at the church parlors May 6.

Special guests were the eighth-grade girls and their mothers, as well as mothers of the eighth grade boys. Ladies from the Mira Valley Church were also guests.

"Mother's Aprons" was the theme of the party. The tables were decorated with aprons, wash tubs, washboards, and clotheslines.

Seventh-grade girls sang "Mother" and "Our Mom's Will Shine Tonight." A skit, "The Evolution of an Apron," was given by members of the Challenger Circle and their daughters.

Mrs. Homer Armstrong was master of ceremonies and gave the welcome.

Tributes to mothers and daughters were given by Mrs. Darrell McKinney and Mrs. Gwendolyn A. group of men from the church worked in the kitchen, serving lunch and doing dishes.

Busy Homemakers
"Fining and Using Storage Space" was the lesson given by Mrs. Herbert Bredthauer when the Busy Homemakers Extension Club met at her home May 5.

This was actually a postponed April meeting. The club will meet again May 21 at the home of Mrs. Guy Lutz, when the lesson will be "Short Cuts With Mixes."

Trade May Baskets
Mrs. Noel Hogue was hostess to the Lee Park Aid Thursday afternoon. The ladies had a May basket exchange. Nine members were present.

Homemakers Meet
"Short Cuts With Mixes," was the lesson given by Mrs. Fred Milburn when the Homemakers Extension Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claude Zentz. Twelve members and two guests were present.

Roll call was answered by giving a recipe using a cake mix. Cake and cookies made from mixes were served for lunch.

The June 2nd meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Merle Moody.

The Japanese Way
Mrs. Claude Zentz was hostess to the Arcadia Garden Club May 6 at her home. Mrs. Carol Lutz gave a lesson titled, "Japanese Arranging With Spring Flowers and Accessories."

She gave the history of Japanese arranging and demonstrated some of the procedures. Nineteen members attended the meeting. It was decided to have spring work day at the Garden Club and Wayside parks on Wednesday morning, May 13. The next meeting will be May 20, with Mrs. Otis Gartside giving the lesson on, "Why Bird Sanctuaries?"

Roll call will be answered by showing a picture and identifying a bird.

In New Home
Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hill and Rickie have bought a trailer home and moved into the south part of town on the Lola Spencer lots.

Sister Leaves
Beulah McCleod of Fort Lupton, Colo., who had spent the past two months here with her sister, Mrs. Bob Hill — returned home Monday.

Mrs. Nagorski Leads
The W.D. Top Club lost a total of 18 pounds last week. Mrs. Keith Einspahr, Ruth Brown, and Frances Johnson were the top losers.

Mrs. Gilbert Nagorski lost the most weight during the month of April. She received a gift certificate from Darlene's House of Beauty.

Ruth Brown and Mrs. Otis Gartside came in second in weight loss for the week.

Margaret Sell is a new member of the club.

Frances Johnson was the hostess for the Tuesday morning meeting.

Mother's Day Fete
Mrs. Max Cruikshank, Mrs. Kenneth Brown, Mrs. Carol Lutz, Mrs. Claude Williams, and Mrs. Delevan Kingstom were hostesses for a Mother's Day tea at the Congregational Church Thursday afternoon. Thirty ladies were present. The hostess furnished the program, and games were played.

The following were honored, each receiving a plant: three oldest mothers, Mrs. Nina Smith, Mrs. Bessie Wood, and Mrs. Della Fells; mother with most children, Blanch Anderson; grandmother with youngest grandchild, Mrs. Lealand Evans; and great-grandmother with youngest great-grandchild, Mrs. Tom Thomsen.

The tables were decorated with May poles, dolls, flowers, and hats for nut cups.

Visit in Illinois
Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dean spent last weekend at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Max Dean, and boys in Great Lakes, Ill. They drove to Lincoln Friday, and took a plane to Illinois. They returned home Sunday.

Myrtle John of Kearney came Sunday and is spending the week with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hill.

Mrs. Bob Hill was hostess to the Two Table Pinocle Club at her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Otis Gartside visited her mother, Mrs. Ray Powell of Alda, Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul, in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Anderson and son have returned to their home in Grand Island after spending a week with their parents, Blanch Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Sonnenfeld.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weddel went to Lexington on May 6 to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weddel. They also visited their son Max and family in North Platte.

Later that evening students again gathered to discuss the war. This time, someone suggested that the Military and Naval Sciences Building (ROTC headquarters on the campus) be taken over.

So, the group marched to the building, which normally is open until 11 p.m. They went in, and soon more students arrived. University officials also gathered on the scene and began negotiations with the sit-in demonstrators.

Throughout most of the night, the crowd was about as orderly as could be expected. A combo set up on the drill floor and played rock music for the lounging students. "If anyone asks, this is the ROTC band," someone said into the microphone.

The demonstrators weren't organized and early in the negotiations, university administrators said later, it was difficult to talk with representatives who could speak for the group.

A list of six demands, ranging from disarmament of campus policemen to open meetings for the Board of Regents, were put forth. The administrators, led by Joseph Sosnhik (president of the Lincoln campus), huddled in private and then responded by saying the demands would be considered by the appropriate university bodies.

But Sosnhik said he couldn't promise that any of the demands actually would be met.

The students were allowed to remain unmolested throughout the night. But in the morning, when it was time for ROTC classes to begin, there was a showdown.

Military science instructors said they didn't believe they could conduct their classes while demonstrators were in the building. In addition, according to G. Robert Ross, vice-chancellor for student programs, there were some threats of violence and some minor damage to the building.

These conditions, the administrators decided, required a change in attitude. A district court injunction against the demonstrators was sought, and Sosnhik informed the sit-ins they had 15 minutes to clear out or be put on academic probation.

They didn't leave. Sosnhik put them on probation, but no names were taken. The president gave the students five more minutes in which to leave or face suspension.

Again they didn't leave, but just as the time limit was expiring another tactic was tried. The students had indicated among themselves that they wanted to attend a faculty meeting scheduled for noon, so university officials moved the time for that meeting up to 10 a.m.

When the students heard of this, at about 10 o'clock, they immediately filed out of the building and headed for the Nebraska Union where the faculty was to gather.

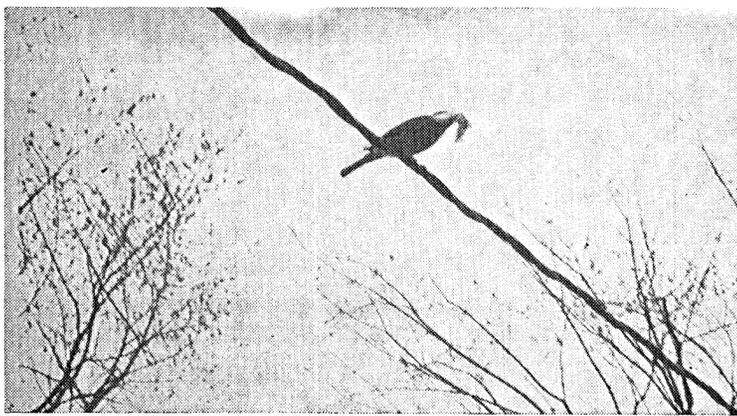

This ended the crisis at the Military and Naval Sciences Building. Also, the request for a court injunction was tabled, since it wasn't needed any more.

The whole affair had been peaceful, and there were no injuries. Not even any close calls.

Chancellor Durward Varner, who left the decisions up to Lincoln campus officials, said they showed extraordinary "maturity."

He said he kept Gov. Norbert Tiemann and the regents informed of what was going on, but relayed no orders to the local administrators.

The students weren't as satisfied as Varner. They thought they should have been permitted to stay as long as they wanted. Other Nebraskans, judging from published responses, weren't sat-

Doing Their Bit

Spring is cleanup time, and even the birds are chipping in to do their part in sprucing up Ord. This energetic fellow was spotted with a piece of cloth bigger than his own head clinched tightly in his beak. Of course there may have been a selfish motive to his cleanup activities; spring is also nest-building time for the birds, and the cloth undoubtedly went into a new home for him and his family.

More Harm Than Good May Result From Sit-Ins, NU Chancellor Says

LINCOLN — Along with colleagues nationally, University of Nebraska students last week escalated their protests against American policies in Southeast Asia.

They marched on the Lincoln draft board. They "occupied" a campus building overnight. They called a student strike. They planned a major weekend rally.

Further protests were scheduled for the remaining weeks of the semester.

The students involved said their demonstrations were aimed not at the university or its policies, but at expansion of the Vietnam War into Cambodia.

Their feelings, they said, were intensified by the deaths of four Kent State University students during a protest in Ohio.

A rally was called on Monday of last week to discuss the war. Some of those present broke away and began a march downtown to the offices of the draft board on the ninth floor of the Terminal Building.

A crowd estimated at between 50 and 100 managed to reach the ninth floor. Police, backed by dogs, managed to break up the crowd, but at least two glass doors were kicked in. Thirteen arrests were made, and the students taken into custody were immediately labeled the "Lincoln 13."

Later that evening students again gathered to discuss the war. This time, someone suggested that the Military and Naval Sciences Building (ROTC headquarters on the campus) be taken over.

So, the group marched to the building, which normally is open until 11 p.m. They went in, and soon more students arrived. University officials also gathered on the scene and began negotiations with the sit-in demonstrators.

Savings Stamps To Be Discontinued

The American Legion Auxiliary, which has conducted the sale of U. S. savings stamps in the schools for several years, has been notified by the Treasury Department that the long popular "Stamp Day" in the nation's schools will be discontinued, effective June 30.

While savings stamps will no longer be on sale after June 30, fully or partially completed albums may still be used to purchase savings bonds at banks or redeem for cash at post offices after that date.

The reason given for this action was rising administrative costs and a general leveling off of participation in recent years. After June no savings stamps will be available anywhere, not even at the post office. Therefore, local Auxiliary officials are urging youngsters to complete their unfiled stamp albums and exchange them for U. S. savings bonds which now pay 5 percent interest when held to maturity.

People Hold the Key

With the return of Daylight Savings Time and warm weather, farmers are starting to spend a lot more time in the fields. As a result many of them are going home after dark, and this poses a major safety hazard for those who must use a highway or county road to do so.

In an effort to reduce the number of car-tractor accidents, a state law was passed a few years back making it mandatory that tractors and other slow-moving vehicles have a reflectorized safety triangle displayed on the rear. The normal red taillight is also required.

The triangle serves as a warning to any motorist approaching from the rear that a slower moving vehicle is in front of him and he should proceed with caution.

Practically all tractors now are also equipped with large white lights on the rear to assist their operators in farming after dark. The law requires that these lights be extinguished when the tractor is driven on a public road.

Triangle of Safety

At least two individuals in this area were made more aware of the need to adhere to these laws as the result of an incident which occurred about 10 o'clock two Sunday nights ago.

An Ord motorist, nearing the end of a 350-mile trip, was driving along Highway 70 west of Arcadia. Perhaps because of the long journey he wasn't as alert as he should have been. At any rate, when he spotted a white light in the distance he assumed he was just meeting another vehicle as he had done many times before that night. Not until he was practically on top of it did he realize that the light was attached not to a vehicle he was meeting, but to some other object in his lane of traffic.

During the split second in which he had time to react, he braked sharply and pulled his car to the right. He missed the object, but went through a hair-raising moment as his automobile bounced along the highway right-of-way.

No doubt the tractor driver, who was probably fatigued also after a long day in the fields, was going through some equally tense moments.

Last year there were at least two major accidents in this immediate area which involved auto striking slow-moving vehicles. In one of them a 19-year-old Danneberg youth was killed when his car struck the rear of a piece of road equipment on Highway 11 south of Elba. In the other a Taylor man sustained serious injuries when an automobile, whose driver claimed he saw no taillight, struck a tractor on Highway 11 just north of the Ord airport.

These incidents, as well as the near-miss near Arcadia, also illustrate the necessity of motorists adhering to the law requiring that speeds be reduced after dark. The state patrolman who investigated the Danneberg youth's death said that his automobile was travelling "at a high rate of speed." The Ord motorist involved in the near-miss was driving at 70 miles per hour.

Regardless of the safety devices manufacturers build into vehicles these days and the laws legislators pass to make them even safer, it is obvious that the individual operator still holds the key to reducing highway deaths and injuries.

Do Taxpayers Want Action or Talk?

This appears to be the year of the tax rebellion, with tax protest groups springing up throughout Nebraska.

Recently a unit of the Committee for Action on Rural and Urban Taxation, Inc., was organized at Ord. During a talk at the organizational meeting the group's state president, Jack Cary of Kearney, made an urgent appeal for members of the Valley County unit to sit in on meetings of local governmental units.

Since that time the May meetings of the District 5 Board of Education, the Valley County Board of Supervisors, and the Ord City Council have come and gone. There apparently wasn't a single CART member present at any of these meetings.

The following item is reprinted here as it appeared this week in a news release from the Nebraska Tax Research Council, Inc. The release stated:

"Recently, in Nebraska and Iowa, and other states, there have been rumblings of dissatisfied taxpayers. . . . Opposition to local property tax increases, in particular, have resulted in the formation of local and regional tax protest organizations.

"To some extent, these protests are trying to 'lock the barn door after the horses are stolen.' Many taxpayers appear before equalization boards to protest the valuation and taxation of their property. But the amount of proposed expenditures and levy increase (and therefore, tax increase) is determined at previously held annual budget meetings. Few, if any, members of the public appear at budget meetings to study or protest increased expenditures, but such meetings are well attended by those who will benefit from proposed increases in expenditures and local officials presenting persuasive arguments for higher budgets. . . ."

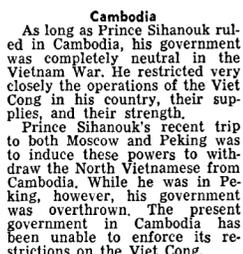

During the next three months local governmental units will be busy preparing their budgets for fiscal year 1971. The budgets probably will be discussed at length during June and July meetings of these groups. State law also requires that they be published in the county newspaper and that a special budget hearing be held before they can be adopted.

These meetings and hearings provide the best time and place to protest higher taxes. Yet in the past they have been virtually unattended by ordinary taxpayers.

It will be interesting to see if taxpayers this year are motivated enough to act, or if they're still just interested in griping.

What We Can Do To Stop Pollution in Ord

By Jeff Quinn

Everyone should take part in this project, not just one person. Our people of this town can help by keeping their yards clean and painting their houses if they need it. Also, instead of throwing papers on the streets, they should take a few more steps to the garbage can. They should also put nice new grass and trees in place of where junk and old cars now stand.

Our city has already done some things to make Ord cleaner. They have put out garbage cans all over the city. But still the people don't use them.

We have also moved the dump away from the river so that it won't pollute the water. But still we see garbage all about our city. Why?

It is because of us, the people of this city. We have not given enough thought to making Ord a cleaner place to live, which everybody likes to see.

Making Ord a cleaner place to live depends upon you!

at age 65 or later.

• Advancement of the age at which men may draw full retirement benefits, from 65 to 62. This is the same age at which women already could draw full benefits.

• An increase in the tax base to pay the additional cost of the new benefits, from $7,800 a year to $9,000 a year starting Jan. 1, 1971.

The House of Representatives will be considering this legislation sometime this month.

U.S. Government Was on Verge of Bankruptcy During Postal Strike

By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary David Kennedy said today that the government's most critical period for several reasons. The secretary said that during this two-week period, individual taxpayers and corporations use the postal services to send "more than $50 billion in checks, money orders, and cash to the Internal Revenue Service."

Since the Treasury relies on these tax payments to meet its day-to-day operating costs, Kennedy said any long delay in receiving the payments could cause real financial difficulties and even chaos for the government.

What made the Apr. 1 to 15 time period even more significant this year was the fact that the Treasury was operating with a cash balance of less than $5 billion and a national debt of approximately $375 billion.

With a fixed national debt ceiling of $377 billion, the Treasury had little margin to borrow money if that had become necessary. Because of this legal debt limit, it is the policy of the Treasury during the Apr. 1-15 period to live off the day-to-day tax revenues.

Any dramatic stoppage in the flow of these tax revenues could have literally bankrupted the government in a very short time.

The Security Problem

In recent years Treasury authorities have shown a growing concern over the security problem created by huge sums of money going through the postal system during early April.

What isn't generally realized is that most tax returns and payments are directed to less than a dozen collection points in the United States. From those locations the Post Office delivers them to regional offices of the Internal Revenue Service.

Any major disruption of postal services — especially the bombing or burning of postal facilities at the collection points — could create financial chaos. Studies show that it would take weeks and perhaps even months for the government to untangle tax records alone if large numbers of returns were destroyed.

After the riots and wide-scale burning in Washington and other major cities during April, 1968, Post Office and Treasury officials held several meetings to discuss the security problem.

While some contingency plans were drafted to provide better protection for postal facilities during civil disturbances, nothing was done to balance the flow

The Fellers Want the Good With the Good

The delegation was polled Saturday night, Mister Editor, and some items brought up which might be of interest to this year's crop of candidates. For instance, the fellers decided crime was up or down depending on which way you want to figure it.

Jim Meese reported that in England the police take away belts, shoe strings, and suspenders of wild boys. Them hoods are so busy trying to keep their pants and their shoes on that they ain't able to throw brickbats at the police.

Jim moved that we adopt the English system, and use it on everybody that's out to tear this country down.

Vlad Babka allowed as how everybody is in favor of money, but he said there's a difference of opinion on just about everything else in this election year.

Speck Ludington kept jumping up and trying to get the floor, but the fellers ruled that he never could give a proper answer to the question, "Fer what purpose does

Something Different

Look Around You

Look around you.

No doubt about it: you are surrounded by THINGS. Things you bought and paid for and undoubtedly love, expensive things.

Do you know that you should have a list of everything in every room? And you should keep this list up to date, just in case of a fire or a tornado or such. If you'd want to collect on your insurance, you'd be expected to prove you actually owned all these items.

This week there was an article suggesting that pictures be taken of each wall of each room in your house. It said that 50 or 60 pictures should be sufficient to prove your case in detail. (Evidently this authority didn't realize pictures cost money; yet, I suppose a good roaring fire could cost more, couldn't it?)

So, get a paper and pencil and begin looking around. I promise you you'll be amazed at the length of your "little list."

For instance in my living room it went like this:

Well, the television set of course. Oh, the big lounge chair of red leather and its stool; that would cost quite a bit to replace too. The recliner chair, ugly but comfortable. The big old coffee table. A real little green tree, a Norfolk Island pine that I cherish. A white divan of no great size nor value, small with a whirling leopard-covered chair in front of it.

A big lamp, tall and simple but I suppose high-priced if I had to replace it. Another lamp I like. Another table, and a magazine stand to match — I've had them quite a while, probably not too valuable, but still I'd hate to get along without them — where would I stack stuff?

A couple of floor pillows, one for $2, one for $10 I guess. A beautiful vase my mother painted; how would I evaluate that? A hanging lamp on a chain, Japanese-looking affair. An artificial plant, worth $20 or 25 I expect; it was a gift.

Big old round table, once cost $6; then it had $50 worth of remodeling! A dish cupboard I value, full of glassware that now costs like thunder though I use it very little. All those formal-living numbers seem to mostly collect dust, right? We live so easily these days; all these paper items have helped. It's getting to be a paper world.

Four chairs; I bought them over the phone for $40 each, I recall. A felt table cover and top that's ball fringed. An artificial bouquet of roses . . . in an old bright green ice bucket.

A small table with the spotted telephone on it. An usual spotted chair done by my son the artist, rather leopardish too. In fact, I have a row of his original art on display; how would I go about valuing that? It can't be replaced!

A beautiful oil painting of snow swirling on Fifth Avenue: though it was a Christmas gift, I happen to know it cost $300 in Chicago.

A wall covered with goodies from Mexico — no one thing extremely valuable, yet all of it I value. It would cost quite a bit if I had to make a trip to acquire it again!

A stack of TV trays. An old, all wooden-insides, really hand-carved cuckoo clock my father once brought to my mother, with two birds to sing the hours.

I love the red draperies at my west and south windows. The pale greenish one at the opposite end of the room, and the greenish rug all over the place that matches them, a sickly green. An area rug in bright greens. A movie projector sitting over in one corner. A stack of records waiting to make music.

An old caned mahogany chair we began housekeeping with: now it's back in style, and I still like it! With a red cushion.

A world globe. A number of items from Portugal, small and delicate. Oh yes, an old mirror that was my grandmother's and has glass about one-nineteenth of an inch thick. It is plate and beveled, would you believe? And then the credenza that sits below it. Gee, nearly forgot that too.

A good many books and magazines.

And I've likely forgotten numberless possessions.

So, if you plan to make a list of every single thing in every single room, get moving. It's a bigger job than you think. But if you should ever want to collect, better be able to haul such a list out of your safe deposit box!

Inside the White House

One of the persons caught by complete surprise when Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk was ousted was Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's top foreign policy adviser. Only a week before Sihanouk was deposed Kissinger had advised the President that the Cambodia prince was solidly entrenched in power and that the U.S. should try to improve relations with his government.

Reports of large-scale arrests in the Soviet Union are partly confirmed in No. 11 of the Chronicle of Current Events, a Russian underground magazine which has reached the White House. Several of the arrests involved students at Moscow University, according to a report of the Central Intelligence Agency which is being circulated at the White House. The arrests were carried out by the Soviet Secret Police (KGB), headed by Alternate Politburo member Yuri Andropov, according to Premier Leon Noll's military shopping list requested arms and uniforms for an army of 225,000.

Arguments for and against direct intervention in important Senate and House races, either from Washington or by trips into the states, are being made and considered. But that pattern has yet to take shape.

Presidential action for the remainder of the year will include: Task-force reports; moving toward more efficient administration; further reorganization of federal-state relationships and parts of the federal establishment; and several trips to the West, Midwest, and South.

White House Inside

President Nixon's role for the rest of this congressional election year is slowly taking shape at the White House.

Most of his messages to Congress and legislative programs for the year are already completed.

Musk Thistle Attack Should Be Started

By John Schade

Have you taken a walk lately through your pastures, range land, or through that waste area on the north 40? Chances are you spotted some hardy musk thistle rosettes. You may have found a few small seedlings too.

Adequate moisture last fall stimulated germination of these pesky weeds. They lay quite dormant during the cold weather, but April showers and the moderate temperatures of the past two weeks have made conditions just about right for them to grow and grow and grow.

So, get out the big guns and declare war on this culprit. A shovel is a good weapon to use on the scattered plants; with persistence you should hold back the advancing enemy.

But for those heavy infestations you will need to call on reinforcements. Plan your attack well; give the enemy a chance to begin to grow rapidly. Conditions for that are just about right now. When the mercury reaches the 70s, strike hard and fast with 2,4-D. Applications of 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of active ingredient should give you a good kill.

Don't delay your attack too long. For best results musk thistle must be sprayed before the plant begins to shoot the flowering stock.

Deadline for Seed Growers
Farmers who are planning to certify seed of early-planted crops have until May 20 to file their application for certification. Application blanks are available at the County Extension Office.

Crops involved in the May 20 deadline are wheat, oats, barley, rye, bromegrass, wheatgrass, sweet clover, crown vetch, and first-crop alfalfa.

Swine Death Losses
Peak months for swine death losses include May, June, July, and August. The peak period for crippling is December through February.

High humidity and heat are the culprits during spring and summer months. You can prevent losses by doing everything possible to reduce stress from heat and humidity.

Check Lightning Rods
As the thunderstorm season approaches, now is the time to check your lightning-rod system for defects or loose connections.

Look for bent, loose, or missing air terminals. Make sure conductor cables are in good condition and be positive all ground connections are firmly attached.

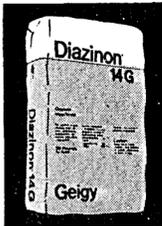

What insurance have you got against corn soil insects?

None? But you've got a big stake in corn. And Diazinon will protect that investment.

Diazinon controls corn's worst enemy—the corn rootworm. Also cutworms, wireworms, armyworms, and seed corn maggot.

Diazinon has controlled soil insects in millions of corn acres. And it's ready to work again this year, whether you apply it at planting or at cultivation.

Stop soil insects attacking your corn. Put Diazinon to work. Call us now.

Mrs. Hansen Has Close Call As Car Overturns

By Evelyn Donscheski

Mrs. Ray Hansen escaped serious injury Thursday when she lost control of her car and hit a bridge rail at the edge of St. Paul as she was on her way home from work at the bank there. The car turned over on its top, and she had to be helped out.

Personal
The Women's Society of Christian Service met at the church basement May 5. Scotia and Elba members were invited for guest day. All Cotesfield members were present with total attendance numbering about 50. Guests from Cotesfield were Mrs. Leonard Vlach, Mrs. Carl Barnes, Mrs. Erving Hanzel, Mrs. Frankie Moravec, Mrs. Elwood Blanchard, Mrs. Joe Jensen, Mrs. Chester Wells, and Mrs. Joe Coufal.

Mrs. Leonard Vlach and Mrs. Elwood Blanchard attended the Auxiliary Tea in Scotia Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carruth of Scotia were Tuesday supper guests at the Edwin Donscheski home.

Mrs. Leonard Vlach entertained the Pinochle Club at her home Thursday evening. Mrs. Elwood Blanchard was a guest. Mrs. Walter Kuhn won first prize, Mrs. Elwood Blanchard second prize, and Mrs. Lester Wells the traveling prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Blanchard plan to be at the Don Hughes home Saturday for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keep and children of Fremont will spend the weekend at the Edwin Donscheski home.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Madsen attended the coffee hour in Wolbach Saturday. Proceeds went to the cancer drive.

Lisa Rasmussen and Rhonda Wells were overnight guests of their teacher, Mrs. Hazel White, at North Loup Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fatlow went to St. Paul Thursday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Rasmussen plan to be dinner guests at the Victor Cook home in North Loup Sunday.

Fashion Parade Party
Diane Klimek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Klimek, celebrated her 7th birthday May 4 with a party at her home.

Diane and her guests had a gala time modeling dress-up clothes in a make believe fashion parade. Cleverly decorated cakes representing ladies' hats were served at lunchtime.

Diane's guest list included Vickie Augustyn, Yvette Belgram, Annette Grenier, Karen Lukesh, Chris Finley, Kim Moss, Michelle Norman, and Vickie Riley.

Two Alumni Groups Will Convene May 30

By Dena Sintek
The covered dish supper for North Loup-Scotia alumni will be held May 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school at Scotia. The classes of 1960-65 will be honored. Anyone knowing of persons interested in attending have been asked to contact them, as the alumni group is low on funds. If there isn't enough interest in the supper this year, it will likely be dropped.

The North Loup alumni committee is reminding everyone that this year's banquet will be held May 30 at 7 p.m. in the North Loup Community Building.

Boelus Couple Celebrate
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rasmussen, Carl Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Rasmussen and family attended the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kyhn in Boelus Saturday afternoon.

Groom's Mother Remembered
A few friends surprised Mrs. Dale Mulligan with a "Mother of the Groom" shower recently. Games were played, and the group made a complete outfit from tissue paper for Mrs. Mulligan to wear to her son's wedding.

Picnic Planned
Fortnightly Club met May 6 at the home of Mrs. Lyle Sintek with Mrs. Joe Gregory as co-hostess. A roll call lesson was enjoyed. The next meeting will be a picnic June 10 at Mrs. Earl Lincoln's.

Don Miller Injured
Mrs. Bennie Sintek and Mrs. Lyle Rasmussen called on Don Miller at the St. Francis Hospital in Grand Island Thursday afternoon. Mr. Miller was injured May 4 in a head-on crash south of Greeley. An oncoming car pulled over on the wrong side of the road when the driver fell asleep.

Mr. Miller received a punctured left lung and dislocated hip, along with cuts and bruises. He expects to be transferred to the Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Lane Hospitalized
Mrs. Duane Lane is a patient in the Lutheran Hospital at Grand Island. She recently underwent surgery there on varicose veins.

Retiring Teacher Feted
Mrs. Agnes Manchester, retiring junior high teacher in the North Loup-Scotia schools, was presented with a bouquet of flowers at the honors convocation held May 6 in the high school at Scotia.

Cattle Drive Time
Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams had Mr. and Mrs. Dean Williams and sons of Burwell and Merle Davis as house guests two days recently. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Absalon and family of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Granger and family of Aurora joined them the second day to help with a cattle drive to the farm south of town. Darrell Cox and Brice Severance also helped. They all enjoyed a picnic dinner together afterwards.

Come to Church

This Weeks Meditation

Read Matthew 12:23-33

Let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith (Hebrews 12:1-2)

About two years ago I went to England to take part in a preaching mission to Great Britain. As we were coming in for the landing at the London airport, I found myself becoming ill when I looked out the window. The pilot was banking the craft sharply. I quickly discovered that by choosing an object inside the plane and keeping my eyes focused upon it, I was more comfortable as the plane continued to descend.

In our daily living, it is so easy to become upset with the turn of events that life presents from time to time. It is at such times that we need to focus on the eternal in the midst of the temporal. By focusing on Christ in faith, a great calm will come upon us. We discover that we retain awareness of the seriousness of situations, but also possess a kind of serenity with which to deal with them.

PRAYER: Our Father, open our eyes to the important things of life. In our distress and need, may we look to Thee for guidance and help. We pray that our faith fail not and that this day we do Thy will, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

(Wayne S. Graham, Alabama)

County's Voting Record Stands at 50.3 Percent

Just over half the registered voters in Valley County—50.3 percent—cast ballots in last week's primary election. After absentee ballots were counted, figures compiled by County Clerk Thelma Dulitz, showed that 1,621 people voted. A total of 3,220 were registered.

Republicans had the best record, as 56.3 percent of their number went to the polls. Democrat totals showed 44.5 percent of the eligibles voting, and among Independents the count was 17.9 percent. The fledgling American Independent Party brought up the rear with neither of its two registered members bothering to vote, giving it a 0. However, Mrs. Dulitz said that she understood one of the two had moved from the county.

Republicans generally outnumber Democrats in Valley County by a 3-to-2 ratio. There are 1,862 registered Republicans, 1,239 Democrats, and 117 Independents.

The days following the election produced no significant change in voting patterns that were established immediately after the polls closed.

Partly because of the light voter turnout, election officials got to bed earlier this time than they have in several years following a statewide vote. All precincts had turned in their election material by shortly after 12:30 a.m.

First National's New Owners Will Each Have Policy Voice

The three new co-owners of the First National Bank will each have an important role in determining bank policy. The three are Laverne Johnson, Alfred Burson, and Don Blaha. They purchased the bank last week from Clark and Carl Weckbach, who had owned it for years.

Johnson will serve as president of the bank, Burson as chairman of the board, and Blaha as executive vice-president and cashier. The two Weckbachs will also remain with the organization, serving in officer capacities.

Also remaining with the bank is Don Stewart, assistant vice-president.

One other employee, Ken Taylor, has been given a new title and expanded duties. He will serve as an assistant cashier, along with Carolyn Witherwax.

Billy James Hargis . . . telling it like it is?

Reds Have Colleges, Heading Next For High Schools, Crusader Claims

The Communists feel they have won the battle for America's colleges and universities, and now they're going after the high schools. So stated Billy James Hargis, leader of his own crusade against Communism, during a recent speech at the Horace Mission Church north of Scotia.

Speaking on May 6, as new riots erupted on college campuses across the nation following the deaths of four students at Kent State University, Hargis said that the Communists are changing their tactics.

"Now they are going to concentrate on the high schools," he said, "in their own literature they say they have neutralized the colleges and universities. Now they hope to mobilize high school campuses like they have the colleges."

Hargis said this "new thrust" was announced just a few weeks ago. He called it "far more dangerous" than the Communist campaign for the universities, because there are so many more high schools than colleges.

Hargis is the founder and director of Christian Crusade, an anti-Communist religious organization located in Tulsa, Okla. He has received national publicity for his work and has been in the limelight recently for his campaign against sex education in the schools as advocated by the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS).

Having returned only the week before from a 14-day tour of the Holy Land and Rhodesia, Hargis was much more subdued at the Horace lecture than he was during a Feb. 25 speaking engagement at Ord. This time he confined most of his remarks to the state and national level, rather than addressing himself to specific criticisms made locally as he did in the February appearance.

(During that speech he referred to an article critical of him which had appeared in the bulletin of the Mira Valley and Arcadia United Methodist Churches, published by Rev. Earl Higgins. In it Higgins quoted from a book written by Harry and Boraro Overstreet, called "The Strange Tactics of Extremism." Among other things, the quoted portion accused Hargis of "extreme emotionalism" and "sleazy thinking." He responded by saying that what Higgins probably did not know was that Harry Overstreet — the co-author — had been identified by a congressional committee as being a member of 15 active Communist organizations, and that after being so identified he joined four more.)

In his talk at Horace, Hargis said the colleges and universities are not the only things in America now under Communist domination.

"The Communists feel they have the National Council of Churches in their pocket," he said, switching to a perennially favorite topic, "so now they are infiltrating fundamental religious organizations like the Southern Baptist." He then told how a national membership of 10 to 12 million persons, had invited speakers such as Julian Bond and Anson Mount to address some of their gatherings.

Hargis called Bond, a Negro legislator from Georgia, "a sophisticated Communist." He said Bond in one of his speeches had said that when government becomes intolerable, "it is not only your right but your duty to strike it down." Later, according to Hargis, Bond was asked if he were referring to the United States as it exists today and he replied, "Yes." Then, Hargis said, he was asked if he meant by force and violence, and again the answer was "yes."

Mount, according to Hargis, is second in command of Playboy magazine.

Getting back to the National Council of Churches, Hargis said the organization is "raising substantial funds to support the draft resisters living in Canada."

"Two weeks ago," he went on, "the World Council of Churches sent $25,000 to the Communist North Vietnamese who have sent infiltrators into South Vietnam to sabotage American military bases. When quizzed," he added, "World Council officials said the money was being used to buy medical supplies. But can you imagine during World War II some preacher sending $25,000 worth of band-aids to the Nazis?"

Hargis advised his listeners "to get out of the liberal churches — not next month, not next Sunday, but right now. Start your own congregation in your home or in a storefront if you have to," he said,

Eight-County Area Notes Population Drop of 12.2%

Preliminary figures from the 1970 census have confirmed what most people expected — the population in this part of Nebraska is declining at a rapid rate.

Howard is the only county in this general area to show a gain in population from 1960 to 1970, according to the preliminary figures released by the U.S. Department of Census.

Discounting Howard, Valley County and the six others that surround it lost population at an average rate of 14.6 percent during the past 10 years. Valley County was right on that mark, showing a drop of 963 residents. The 1960 population count for this county was 6,590, compared to 5,627 in 1970.

Howard County apparently felt some side-effects from the growth in Grand Island. While the population of Grand Island proper was up 5,175 — to a total of 30,917 — the figures for Howard County showed a 118-person increase. The hike was from 6,541 in 1960 to 6,659 in 1970.

Official figures for all the counties, cities, and villages in this area won't be available until this fall.

The area's two most populous counties — Custer and Valley — also showed the biggest drops numerically. But the two least populous counties — Loup and Wheeler — out-did them on a percentage basis.

Custer's population was down almost 2,500 — from 16,517 to 14,085. It thus had a 14.7 percent drop compared to Valley County's 14.6 percent.

Loup and Wheeler were down 23.1 percent and 16.7 percent, respectively. The figures showed a population drop in Loup County from 1,097 to 844, as it became the first in this area to fall under the 1,000 mark. Wheeler was down from 1,297 to 1,081.

Complete figures for the eight counties in this area follow:

County	1960 (Official)	1970 (Prelimi.)	Change	Pct. Change
Custer	16,517	14,085	-2,432	-14.7

Heritage Day to Be Observed by Church On 92nd Birthday

Ord's oldest church, the First United Methodist Church, will observe its 92nd year, May 24. Special services are being planned.

One of the significant moments of the Sunday observance will take place at the morning service when 35 members of the United Methodist Church will be honored and receive "50 Year Membership Pins" marking 50 years or more of continuous membership in the former EUB or Methodist traditions. There will also be tables displaying heritage items — Bibles, hymnals, disciplines, former anniversary places and pictures. The same evening a Salad and Sandwich Supper has been slated to begin at 6:30 p.m. A "Hymn Sing" will follow and later a former pastor, the Rev. Keith Shepherd of Cozad, will show slides portraying his recent trip to the Holy Land. The public has been invited to attend these services and program of this day of heritage.

The First United Methodist Church was organized in 1878, being a part of the circuit which included Scotia. The first preaching services were held in a schoolhouse located in east Ord. In 1881 a building was erected, and later remodeled, at the corner of 14th and L Streets where Smith's Body Shop now stands. The present church building was dedicated on Feb. 23, 1918.

The church was first organized under the name The Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Ord Fire Department, which is in the midst of a series of training sessions, got in some realistic practice recently when the cab of a junked Romans Motor Freight truck caught fire. Frank Smedra, shown above, and other firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. It definitely was not caused by an overheated engine, one of them pointed out, since the truck had no engine. The firemen theorized that youngsters playing in the cab may have set it afire. The past two Tuesday evenings the local department has been receiving specialized training in a number of areas. This will continue for four more weeks.

"but don't bow the knee to Baal. They stole your church a long time ago, if it's in the National Council and you're not going to change it. You may think you are, but you're not. And as long as you stay in, you're supporting them."

Hargis then gave the statistics on a survey conducted among more than 7,000 Protestant ministers in the United States during 1967. He said that 31 percent of the Methodists answering the questionnaire said they did not believe in the physical resurrection of Jesus from the grave, 35 percent of the United Presbyterians did not, 33 percent of the American Baptists did not, 30 percent of the Episcopalians did not, 13 percent of the American Lutherans did not, and 7 percent of the Missouri Synod Lutherans did not.

When asked if they believed in the virgin birth of Jesus, according to Hargis, 60 percent of the Methodists said no, as did 49 percent of the Presbyterians, 44 percent of the Episcopalians, 44 percent of the Baptists, 19 percent of the American Lutherans, and 5 percent of the Missouri Synod Lutherans.

Finally, most alarming of all, he said, were the answers when the clergymen were asked if they believe the Bible is the inspired word of God. The results, Hargis said, showed that 89 percent of the Episcopalians did not, 82 percent of the Methodists did not, 81 percent of the Presbyterians did not, and 87 percent of the American Lutherans did not.

Ord FFA Chapter Cited For Conservation Work

The Ainsworth, Ord and Ravenna Future Farmers of America Chapters are winners of the Golden Spade Award for outstanding achievement in the field of soil and water conservation.

The award is jointly sponsored by the Omaha World-Herald and the Nebraska Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

One of the most notable activities of the Ord Chapter was the construction and display of two models of an actual farm in Valley County showing conservation practices before and after. The Ord chapter, which has a membership of 70 boys, also had three teams participating in the state range judging contest.

Kernels & Husks Top-Flight Speakers On Cattle Program

Nebraska cattlemen will be able to observe current beef cattle research projects during the annual Beef Cattle Field Day, to be held May 28 at the University of Nebraska North Platte station. Registration begins at 9 a.m.

Featured speaker on the program will be Dr. Robert deBaele, Extension livestock specialist for Iowa State University. Dr. deBaele will center his afternoon talk around the economics of the beef feedlot with specific reference to breeding programs as they affect feedlot performance.

Also appearing on the afternoon program will be Dr. Walter Wood, University of Nebraska beef nutritionist, and Dr. Glen White, field research veterinarian for the North Platte station.

Dr. Wood will talk about "Kinds of Grain and Methods of Processing Grain for Finishing Cattle." Dr. White will report on calf scours and IBR in cow herds.

Cattlemen and feeders also will have an opportunity to tour the research facilities and view the research projects in progress.

The closest thing to a "cure-all" for reproductive disorders in the dairy herd is called "records."

Records must be used and analyzed for maximum effectiveness. The best reproductive record-keeping system is one that is kept in conjunction with the production testing program (DHI). The whole purpose of dairy records is to aid the dairyman in making more money.

About 90 percent of the responsibility for the reproductive ability and overall herd health rests with the herd owner. The services of a competent veterinarian can be very valuable.

The greatest rewards from following a sound herd health program are obtained in the area of maintaining a satisfactory calving interest.

Farm Costs Rise
The high cost of farming set a new record in April.
Farm prices fell three percent in the month ending Apr. 15. As a result the parity ratio has fallen to 72.

Biggest Cleanup Week of Year Underway

By Dena Sintek

By proclamation of the Mayor, this week has been proclaimed as a face-lifting week for North Loup. All residents have been asked to cooperate in sprucing up the town for spring. A corps of young folks will be available to help the elderly with jobs which they can't do. Village officials hope to have North Loup looking its very best for the Memorial Day weekend. Special tasks which they hope to get accomplished include the cleaning of all alleys and the cutting down of all tall weeds. Also, they are asking each resident to take inventory of his property and put it in shape. Any person wishing to donate his or her services to assist others, or anyone needing help, may call Mrs. Verlin Hanson or Mrs. Fred Lundstedt.

Graduation Receptions
Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wright were hosts to a graduation reception for their granddaughter, Barbara, at the North Loup Community Building Thursday evening.

Those having their receptions at the Seventh Day Baptist Church were: Gail Goodrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodrich, Cliff Jorgensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Jorgensen; and Jerry Van Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Van Horn. These three seniors are cousins.

I'm not even sorry about it! I have absolutely no patience with the protesters that refuse to back our President's decisions.

—I still feel I must have my say and get it off my mind. To sit in silence at a time like this is something I can't do!

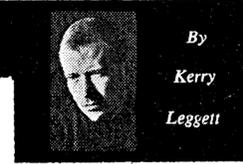

—The four deaths at Kent State were unfortunate — yes. Nevertheless, had there been no demonstration, there would have been no killing. At the time this is being written it sounds as if it may get worse before it gets better.

—What sickens me even more is that we do have representatives in Congress who feel inspired (to use the word loosely) to also voice their disapproval and try to pass legislation restricting the powers of our commander-in-chief.

—Even deeper ingrained in my mind is the basic fact that our churches — under the guise of "peace on earth" — have long fostered this militant attitude and often have been in the forefront of marches and demonstrations.

—My knowledge that churches are tax-exempt institutions is like adding wood to the fire. They cry louder . . . lobby harder . . . and pretentiously "represent" their

Students Don't Know What 'Listen' Means

During recent weeks, as student protests have become more violent and more destructive, the same old tired cliches have been reappearing over and over again as an explanation for the lawlessness.

"Nobody will listen to us" is the phrase heard most often. The reasoning is that nobody will listen to mere words and therefore something stronger is required, and to a growing number of students this something is wanton violence—destruction of property, attacks on police, etc.

Even many of the so-called "moderate" students are reaching this conclusion, the major networks tell us. For instance, as the climax to a short documentary describing how students at Wellesley College and the University of Rochester were working for the election of "peace" candidates, an NBC correspondent stated:

"Some students say, 'This is the last chance we will give the system to respond.'"

The inference is that the students are trying to be heard and somebody better listen by voting for their candidates.

Obviously the students—and a lot of their sympathizing elders—have a deluded sense of what "listen" means. For they don't really mean that "nobody will listen," but rather that "nobody will do it our way."

When they make statements like the one on NBC, they are really attempting nothing less than a crude form of blackmail against the voters. They are saying not just "listen to us," but "do it our way or else."

Fortunately, this is still a country where government—in theory at least—follows the will of the majority. And for all their schooling, the students have not learned this fundamental lesson.

Thus, when the government takes some course other than what the students advocate, it is not showing that it refuses to listen. Rather, it is showing that officials elected by a majority of the voters have evaluated the issues and come to a conclusion different from that of the students.

Using the warped reasoning of the campus, though, Clifton Batchelder and J. W. Burbach should now have the right to go out and organize gangs to tear apart the state of Nebraska. As a matter of fact, so should every other candidate who was defeated in last week's election.

Why? Because nobody would listen to them!

Responsible citizens know of course that such reasoning is absurd. The student protestors would know it too, if they took the time to think for themselves instead of blindly following a small group of radicals dedicated to destroying this country and everything in it which can be considered good.

They've Already Surrendered

While student violence poses a grim new threat for much of the nation, an older, less passionate problem continues to menace Valley County. It is the cancer of voter apathy.

In last week's statewide primary election, Nebraska voters were faced with some of the most genuine choices of this century. To borrow an overworked phrase from the national news media, some of the candidates were "poles apart."

Yet the body politic of Valley County was willing to allow a scant one-half of the registered voters to decide which of these men will be on the ballot this fall and which won't. Specifically, of 3,220 persons registered in the county, only 1,621 (50.3 percent) cast ballots.

There are many evil forces at work in this country today, and most of them would like to take away the citizen's right to help decide who his leaders will be.

If the Communist Party were to gain control, for instance, the people could forget about voting to decide who would govern them. The party would take care of that little decision.

And while they're not as blunt about it as the Communists, the students mentioned in the preceding editorial are also trying to deny the general citizenry the vote. With their poorly disguised warning to "vote for my candidate or else," they are making the decision for the voter and then trying to blackmail him into accepting it.

Whether either or both of these factions will succeed at some point in the future is of course not known. But it doesn't matter much as far as some 1,600 residents of Valley County are concerned.

For by their apathy they have already denied themselves this cherished right to vote. They don't have to worry about someone taking it away.

There is one important respect, however, in which voluntary surrender of one's voting right differs from involuntary surrender. That is this: it can be reclaimed at the next election, provided general apathy has not allowed candidates to be elected in the meantime who would deny it. To date, of course, this has not happened.

This means that all those missing persons of last week should get another chance come fall. They ought to make sure they don't miff it twice in a row.

Something Different

A Recipe for You

J. P. Hoffman, better known as Jake, lived in Ord many years and collected many items in addition to coins, of which he had an extremely fine collection.

And so Mr. and Mrs. Frank Steinwart have gone through a host of old things since Mr. Hoffman died, and they are finding it interesting going.

Labelled "Doctor Pokakiyaks Eradicator" was a recipe for dandelion wine, which specified:

"One quart dandelion blossoms, firmly pressed.
"Three lemons, two oranges, three pounds granulated sugar
"3/4 cake of yeast
"Take blossoms and boil 15 or 20 minutes, set aside to partially cool, then strain, and press out thoroughly through a white sugar sack. (where did they go?) Slice the lemons and oranges, place them into the dandelion liquid, and boil 15 minutes. Set aside to cool, then strain and press out well. Wash sugar sack and strain all the liquid over again so it is perfectly free from all small particles of dandelion, orange and lemon.
"Now place liquid in vessel and put in three pounds sugar, heat and mix thoroughly, then put into kegs so it lacks about three quarts of filling a five-gallon keg, and in 24 hours place the yeast in a cheesecloth sack and hang in the keg. Let it ferment about six weeks in a warm room. Do not move after placing away to ferment.
"After fermenting two or three days, fill the keg full of the dandelion liquid; after this clear soft water will do, but keep the keg full.
"Remove yeast in four or five weeks."

It doesn't say what you do next!

The letterhead on the recipe is fascinating, stating that J. S. Collison was mayor and O. P. Cromwell was clerk for the City of Ord, James Wisda Jr. was city treasurer, City attorney was C. A. Davis, city engineer was R. W. Gass (Bill Gass' dad), and police judge was H. Gudmundsen (Curt Gudmundsen and Mrs. Emil Fafeita's father).

On the city council were W. A. Wright, J. P. Hoffman, F. Misko, George R. Gard, H. G. Barkmeier, and S. F. Dworak.

There is no date on it I know the Wrights and Collisons had a flour mill here, and I remember Dr. Gard was a dentist. But some of them I never heard of; possibly you knew them.

Or perhaps you need a recipe for dandelion wine? Jake must have valued it, to keep it . . .

Make Good Use of the Waking Hours; Then Worry About the Sleeping Ones

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Did you see that piece in the paper the other day where there's a new study being done with sleep teaching? Cleon Hansen saw it, and he came to the country store Saturday night with some ideas about it to share with the fellers.

First off, said Cleon, sleep teaching ain't nothing new. He allowed it has been going on as long as younguns have eaten a big dinner and gone back in a warm classroom for the afternoon. Cleon was of a mind some of the world's first-rate sleeping has gone on in them back rows.

Furthermore, he went on, sleeping under them conditions is an art that not everybody can handle. "It ain't easy to learn to sleep sitting straight up with your eyes wide open," were Cleon's words.

The only people that can do it, he allowed, is younguns in school and fellers that get up at 1 o'clock in the morning and drive 300 miles to go fishing or hunting.

This sleep learning, went on Cleon, is where you teach the subconscious. The experts said that 90 percent of a human mind is subconscious and that people don't use but 10 percent of their minds when they're awake and thinking about something.

What you do, Cleon said, is put this recording under your pillow and play it over and over while you sleep. When you get up you find you know all this stuff you ain't never heard of.

The fellers were generally interested in Cleon's report, but Milo Florian said sleep teaching don't always work.

Milo said he has been listening to his wife tell him over and over, both asleep and awake, how the house, the farm, the church, and the country ought to be run, but he ain't learned no more than he picked up from the papers, the Bible, and the Farmer's Almanack sitting

It's that time again . . . Graduation . . . like a two-faced coin. One side looks happy and the other side sad. Graduation is a mother's memory of a small boy's first day at kindergarten—dressed in a blue cotton suit with a ship embroidered on the bib, and holding on to her skirt crying as loud as he could. Another thought recalls that second day—and how he loved it.

Graduation is little sister and brother thinking, "Gee, won't it be fun when I'm old enough to graduate, and can do as I please!"

Graduation is a father's feeling of pride in his suddenly grown up offspring. Thoughts of college costs flit through his mind. Fees are rising, and there are still two to go, but of course it's worth it—how nice if a letter came saying "Enrollment fees will be less in the 70's." (Dream on, Dad.)

Graduation is grandfather's thoughts of how many graduation activities he has attended through the years (not too many changes actually—only the faces, hairstyles and lengths of them). Grandmother feels a sudden sadness and daubs her eyes with a pretty lace trimmed hankie.

Yes, Graduation is an ending . . . and it is also a beginning. . .

A Tribute To Graduates . . . It has been said of Life: "Yesterday is but a dream, and tomorrow is only a vision, but today well lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness and every tomorrow a vision of hope."

Remember that the longest journey must have a beginning, and that where you may be tomorrow depends wholly and solely on the road you are taking today.

In an old print shop there hangs a sign which reads: "Life is a grindstone and whether it grinds a man down or polishes him up depends on the stuff he's made of."

Card of Thanks

Our special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Penas, Joan Knapp, Lil Howell, Gertrude Osentowski, Lois Cetak and employees of the Elks Club for helping our children, Larry, Ruth, Connie and Rowena, arrange a surprise party in our honor. The friendly assistance of each one of you helped make our 25th wedding anniversary a memorable event which we will treasure always.

Louie and Vivian Wajda

Card of Thanks

Our sincere thank you for your many expressions of sympathy in the loss of our husband, father and grandfather, to Rev. Clark, Rev. Higgins, the quartet, the floral offerings, memorials, food and cards, the ladies who helped at the house and W.S.C.S. for serving lunch at the church. Especially do we want to thank all the nurses who cared for him so lovingly the five years he spent in the hospital.

May God bless each and every one.
The family of James Cook

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank Dr. Markley, the nurses and those that sent cards and gifts while Joyce was in the hospital.

★ 800-Yard Relay — (1) Lexington (Rod Henke, Mark Wortman, Scott Bender, John Roberts), 1:33.2; (2) Grand Island Central Catholic (Rick Fila, Matt Henke, Cleo Hurst, Matt Schultz), 1:32.7; (3) Cozad, 1:34.0; (4) Gothenburg, 1:35.3; (5) Broken Bow, 1:38.1.

★ One-Mile Relay — (1) Gothenburg (Dave Aden, Brian Nordin, Steve Vonderfecht, Van Wahlgren), 3:32.2; (2) Holdrege (Jerry Slater, Doug Larsen, Steve Baker, Doug Anderson), 3:35.5; (3) Minden, 3:39.4; (4) Grand Island Northwest, 3:44.8; (4) Tie between Lexington and Ord, 3:46.5.

at Basset, Wheeler Central scored 39 points and finished second to Chambers. More importantly, the Broncos qualified four individuals and two relay teams for the state meet.

Travelling in faster company, Loup City saw all the members of its fine 1970 track squad fall by the wayside—except for VanSlyke—in Class B district competition at Lexington. But VanSlyke came through with probably his most outstanding effort of the year, considering the competition, to qualify for the state meet in four events—the 120 and 180-yard low hurdles, the high jump, and the long jump. He paced his school to a tie for fourth place in the tough 11-team field.

In the same meet, Ord managed to score for the first time in three weeks but still finished last and will not be represented at the state competition. Allen Cahill got two points for a fourth-place finish in the two-mile run, and the Chanticleer mile relay team got another half point when it tied for fifth place.

Cahill's time was 10 minutes, 45.5 seconds—his best ever. He already held the school record for the event, so that time was a new school mark.

Members of the relay team that placed were Dale Peterson, Melvin Sich, Paul Markley, and Carl Suminski. Their time was 3:46.6.

Other area schools will also have slim representation at the state meet. North Loup-Scotia, like Ord, was shut out and won't be represented at all. Arcadia managed to get a single man, hurdler Mike Chelewski, into the big show.

Jack VanSlyke... he'll be busy.

Sargent and Burwell had some limited success. Bob Anderson qualified for Sargent in both the 220 and 440-yard dashes, and Steve Burke for Burwell in both the discus and shot put. In addition, both schools will get to send their 880-yard relay teams to Kearney, since they finished in a dead heat in their district qualifying meet. Ordinarily only the first-place relay team gets to go to state in Class C and D.

Coach Jerry Stine feels pole vaulter John Olson has the best chance of scoring for Wheeler Central at state, but he's not giving up on his half-mile and two-mile relay teams either. Olson won the district title with a vault of 12-1, marking the third time this year he's gone over 12 feet. Finishing second was Tom Majors, a Bronco senior who's shown steady improvement this year. He'll also be on hand for the state meet, but will have to better his top effort of 11-3 to place.

Chuck Bartak will represent the Broncos in the shot put, where his district-winning throw of 44-9½ was his top effort of the year.

Comprising Wheeler Central's first-place sprint relay team were Bartak, a senior; Mike Childers, a freshman; Jerry Childers, a senior; and Olson, a junior. Their time of 1:37.4 was the seventh best among Class D teams qualified for the state meet, but Coach Stine said he feels they're capable of running much faster. Last year Wheeler Central was third in this event at state.

Stine's two-mile relay team also won its district with the seventh best qualifying time among teams going to state. But the young coach is confident of vast improvement from his quartet of freshman Stan Foster, sophomore Dan Berr, junior Brian Hirze, and junior Scott Patrick. The district meet marked the first time they had run together, and they posted an 8:50.8. Stine thinks they can get down to 8:40 by this weekend, and if they can he thinks they can get at least third or fourth in the state meet.

Patrick, the anchor man, has a 2:06 open half-mile to his credit this year. Stine held him out of the open at district, however, and ran him for the first time on the two-mile relay team. Arcadia scored 14½ points in its Class D district meet at Lexington, finishing seventh

Ord Softball Team Bows To Wolbach in First Game

Last year's regular-season runner-up, Wolbach, spoiled the 1970 softball opener for Ord Friday night by defeating the local team, 7-3.

Ten teams are competing in the league this year. That means each club will be in action every Friday night through Aug. 14.

Ord journeys to Ericson this week, then will play its first home game on May 29 when it hosts Scotia.

In last week's game with Wolbach, the winners scored three runs in each of the first two innings as the Ord defense had trouble finding itself. Once it did, however, Wolbach was limited to just one run over the last four frames.

Ord Baseball Team Wins Opener; To Face Hot Wood River This Week

Wood River solidified its status Sunday as the team to beat in this year's Sherman-Howard League baseball race. The defending champions tore apart a good Scotia squad, 11-3, after the two had battled on even terms through five innings. Former professional Allen Brown continued his heavy hitting for the winners as he blasted his third home run of the year with the season only two games old. He also relieved starter Mike Lashley on the mound to put the finishing touches to a three-hit pitching job.

In other games Boelus equalled Wood River's 2-0 record for the year by jumping on Spalding, 14-0. Ord made its 1970 debut a successful one by dumping Greeley, 15-9; and Wolbach nipped Gibbon, 3-2, in 11 innings.

Ord fans will get a chance to see the bully boys from Wood River in action this weekend, as the local team will host the league favorites in a contest starting at 2:15 p.m. Sunday. The other co-leader, Boelus, will play at Wolbach.

Ord was impressive in its opener Sunday, running up a 12-0 lead through 4½ innings. Roger Psota, the first Ord hitter of the year, singled, stole secand, eventually scored on a fielder's choice to get the winners moving. Later they added five-run scoring bursts in the second and fourth innings.

Nine Greeley errors, five of them by shortstop Bruce Lammers, contributed heavily to the Ord cause.

Rich Psota was sailing along with a two-hit shutout when Greeley erupted for five runs with two out in the fifth inning.

Rich Psota and his battery mate, Bill Warner, led Ord at the plate with three hits each. Warner played for Greeley last year but is now living in Ord.

This Weeks Meditation

Read 1 Corinthians 1:10-18

Christ sent me... to preach the gospel; not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect. (1 Corinthians 1:17)

In one corner of the annual flower show in a civic center, six pots of prize schizanthus - butterfly flowers - made a patch of glorious color. A man passed beside them, his eyes shining with wonder and delight. "Look," he called to his wife on the other side of the aisle, "isn't this beautiful stuff!"

Although he could not name the flowers, he had no less joy over them than the horticulturists who, with critical knowledge, had just awarded them a blue ribbon.

This is an era of technical terms. Many persons are puzzled and even confused by the theological language sometimes presented from pulpit and printed page. But whether we know the terminology or not, we can enjoy the loving-kindness and mercy of God. We can know the love of God as revealed in Jesus Christ. Faith needs no technical vocabulary to recognize and delight in the wonders of redeeming love.

PRAYER: Lord, we thank Thee that if we seek Thee Thou art always there for us, understanding and able to fill every need. May our lives express Thy praise! Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Limitations of speech need not hinder our joy in our Creator, our Redeemer, our Comforter.

Vinton Residents Donate $194 To Annual Tri-Fund Collection

By Bertha Clement
Vinton reports $194 received during the Tri-Fund drive. This included $40.75 for Cystic Fibrosis, in addition to $54.75 for the American Cancer Society, $60.75 for the Heart Fund, and $97.75 for the Red Cross. Donations for Cystic Fibrosis were given to Mrs. Ed Huffman, who turned them over to the proper channel. Mrs. Archie Mason was chairman of the Tri-Fund drive with Mrs. Russel Hackel as assistant. Other helpers were Mrs. Alvin Hoevet and Mrs. Evelyn Jackson. Mrs. Mason expressed her appreciation for their assistance and gives thanks to all who participated. Next year's chairmen are Mrs. Eldon Foth and Mrs. Rollie Staab.

told about leaders Recognition Day in Broken Bow. Plans were made to go to Pioneer Village in Minder for the June meeting. Mrs. Sophie Fuss presented the lesson "Short Cuts with Mixes." Kolaches, a specialty of the hostess, were served for lunch.

Korner Cutters
Korner Cutters Extension Club met with Mrs. Eldon Foth Thursday evening. Mrs. Carol Van Nordheim was a visitor. The lesson "Finding and Using Storage Space" was given by Mrs. Russell Hackel. Mrs. Hackel will be hostess at the June 18 meeting.

Picnics Climax Year
Vinton School had its closing picnic Sunday. The eighth-grade graduates are Laverne Lange and Donald Moudry.

Valleyside will have a picnic dinner at the school house next Sunday. This year's eighth-grade graduates are Lester Duvall, James King, and Janice Mroczek.

Mutual Benefit

Mrs. Ann Visek was hostess to Mutual Benefit Extension Club Wednesday with 17 members and two visitors present. The president, Mrs. Will Foth,

Craig and Connie Treat
Craig Bredthauer, who will turn 10 on May 28, and Connie King, who will be 12 on July 10, gave birthday treats at Valleyside last week.

Interesting Side Trips
When Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lenz and Mrs. Elmer Zlomke attended the W.S.C.S. Assembly of the United Methodist Church in Houston recently, the two Nebraska buses made some side trips. On the way down they stopped at the United Methodist Ponca City Indian Mission and in Dallas at the Bethlehem Center for underprivileged Negro children. They saw the Astrodome in Houston and toured the NASA Space Control headquarters. At Galveston they had dinner at the Flagship. The Nebraska delegation returned home last Tuesday.

Graduates Feted
Couples Club honored the 10 graduates of Ord High School, who are members of St. John's Lutheran Church and their parents at a coffee Sunday morning. Four of the ten attended Valleyside during the eight years of grade school then four years in Ord. Those are Christy Foth, Randy Hornickel, Darrell Bremer and Glen Bredthauer. The other St. John graduates are Martin Bredthauer, Marion Huffman, Neil Paulsen, Peggy Kokes, Connie Bredthauer and Linda Sevensker.

Back From Vietnam
Mrs. Loree Hornickel, Rogene Ronda and Roger visited her nephew, Jerry Bockstadter, and his wife at Wood River Sunday. He recently returned from Vietnam where he was on the aircraft carrier Constellation. From here he goes to Washington. His wife will accompany him.

Personals
Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cook and the Wilfred Cooks were George Cook and Robert Cook both of Iowa Falls, Ia., Rev. Clyde Cook of Meservey, Ia., and Mrs. Roberta Stewart and Danny of Cozad. They had come for the funeral services of Jim Cook — a brother of Dan and George — held in North Loup Saturday afternoon. All had dinner at the Victor Cooks Saturday. The Iowa relatives returned home Saturday and Mrs. Stewart and Danny Sunday.

Mrs. Lucy Koelling was released from Valley County Hospital last Tuesday and is in her own home. Mrs. Florence Marion of Arcadia is staying with her. Mrs. Elmer Hornickel spent Saturday night and Sunday with her mother while Mrs. Marion was in her home in Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hellwege of Grand Island were last Wednesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foth.

Dorothy Campbell of Golden, Colo. was a weekend visitor of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lenz. She also visited a niece and family the Richard Knapps.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lenz, their houseguest, Dorothy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Burson and Angela, and Dale Wilson attended a family picnic at the Ord park which honored the Keith Burson family. Mr. Burson is going to Saudi Arabia and will be here for 6 months. Mrs. Burson and children will stay here with her folks.

Town and Country

Mrs. C. A. Anderson drove to Grand Island, Sunday, to be a Mother's Day guest of her son Tom Anderson. Mrs. Shirley Kovanda and family of Lincoln were also present. Mrs. Anderson was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marquard returning to Ord Monday. Meanwhile, Mr. Anderson and friends from Burwell and Texas were on a fishing trip in Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Penas were invited to Grand Island, May 10, for Mother's Day dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wencil Bruha and family. Other guests of the Bruhas were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruha and family of Scotia, Mr. and Mrs. Wencil Bruha, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Osentowski and family of Ord. During the afternoon, Mrs. Lad Kvetensky of Ralston telephoned Mrs. Penas to say "Happy Mother's Day."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Benben and family were Saturday evening visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Benben.

Mother's Day guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mottl in Arcadia were Mrs. Alice Petska, Gary and Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mottl, Mrs. Ella Mottl, Mrs. Clara Krahulik and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mottl of Kearney.

M.A.O. Club met Wednesday with Mrs. George Lockhart.

There were ten members present. Two lessons were presented. Mrs. Lockhart told about covered bridges, and Mrs. Vic Kerchal gave a quiz consisting of 40 questions. Both lessons were interesting and informative and were enjoyed by the members.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Cash Rathbun on June 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fast and family visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bresley. Mr. Fast entertained the Bresleys and Mark Bresley and fiancée, Crystal Hartwig of Beatrice, at dinner at the Veterans Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Furn Johnston of Central City were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bresley on Saturday. In the afternoon they attended to some business affairs in Ord. The Johnstons are former Ord residents.

Friday Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Pinoski and Chet Barnes, were Grand Island visitors. Mrs. Pinoski visited her husband in the Veterans Hospital and Mr. Barnes visited his son, Edgar, in the Lutheran Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crane of Soquel, Calif., are present house guests of the Dick Crane family. The former Ordites also visited relatives in Iowa earlier this month.

Mrs. Maude Mason spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Mason in Grand Island. Mrs. Mason reports that her son, Kenneth, has recently been promoted to sergeant. He is presently serving in Vietnam but hopes to be returning home by June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wozab spent Sunday in Dorchester and Wilber visiting relatives. They were also coffee guests in the home of Mrs. Phil Ziegler in the afternoon.

Supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Augustyn and family on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Augustyn and daughter of Burwell, Vicki Coats and Rick Orent. They were celebrating the birthday of Gary Augustyn.

A Hard Winter

This photograph illustrates the magnitude of the job facing Ord's city street maintenance crew this spring. Street Commissioner Emil Panas and his men have been working as much as possible since the weather warmed up to fill the many huge chock holes scattered around the city. Although the past winter was a comparatively mild one, it's obvious that the streets didn't come through in such good shape. This picture was taken in the 1500 block of P Street. One city employee estimated Friday it would take another "three or four weeks" to get the streets back in decent shape.

Ord High Graduate Reports on Studies In Sports Medicine

Bob Armstrong, a 1958 graduate of Ord High School, appeared on the program when the American Society of Sports Medicine held its annual meeting recently in Albuquerque, N.M. Armstrong is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Armstrong of Ord.

A member of a four-man research team from Washington State University at Pullman, Wash., Armstrong presented his research paper entitled "Thyroid Hormone and Heat Production During Exercise." His report was part of the total report on research findings in the Department of Exercise Physiology at Washington State, where basic research is underway to determine the effects on the body and its vital organs of various kinds and amounts of exercise.

This research is being conducted under the supervision of Dr. P. D. Gollnick, who is one of the world leaders in this field of research. He and three graduate student assistants made up the Washington State team that reported its findings at Albuquerque.

Armstrong will receive his master's degree in June. He has been awarded a three-year National Science Foundation Fellowship which will enable him to continue work at Washington State toward his doctor's degree.

Sheriff and Mrs. Clarence E. Fox spent May 7 in Lincoln. The sheriff attended a Nebraska Sheriff's Assn. Board of Directors meeting, and Mrs. Fox visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. James Burkey, and family.

Bird Calls Studied

The Kings of Clover 4-H Club met May 9 at the home of Paul and Dale Wojtasek. Nine members and two visitors, Mrs. Ted Welniak and Mrs. Jack Koll, were present.

The study lesson was on bird calls and recognizing different kinds of birds. Morley Koll showed the bird house he had built, and Steve Finley showed the bird feeder he had built.

Paul Wojtasek reported on Rural Life Sunday picnic, and members voted to work towards a citizenship award. Mark Bishop, Morley Koll, and Dale Wojtasek volunteered to distribute hand bills for the 4-H movie. All members agreed to sell tickets for the movie.

Dale and Paul Wojtasek served lunch. The next meeting will be a picnic at the park on June 9 at 7 p.m.

Burwell Man Picked By Nursing Home Group

Wilber Kizer, administrator of the Community Memorial Hospital at Burwell, has been accepted for membership in the American College of Nursing Home Administrators.

Membership in the college is based on the following requirements: education beyond high school, experience as a nursing home administrator, continuing education, professional activities and achievements and community and civic activities.

Kizer will serve as a "nominee" for two years. At the end of that time, if the organization's Credentials Committee so designates, he will be elevated to the status of "member."

Ord Native Dies of Heart Attack At Residence in Los Gatos, Calif.

A former Nebraska school superintendent and retired lieutenant colonel in the Army, Frank Prince, was stricken with a heart attack Apr. 30 at his home in Los Gatos, Calif., and pronounced dead on arrival at Community Hospital there.

Prince, 78, was born in Ord on Jan. 11, 1894, and was graduated from Hastings College in 1916. He taught school a year at McCook before enlisting in the Army when the United States entered World War I.

Discharged at the close of the war as a first lieutenant, Prince went back to the teaching profession, initially as a high school instructor at Alliance where he was principal and coach for seven years.

In 1925 he took the superintendency of public schools at Bayard, a position he held until the outbreak of World War II. Recalled to service as a captain, he held various assignments in Arkansas and Pennsylvania, and in Yokohama, Japan.

Prince was retired on disability in 1952, and went to the West Valley of California at that time. Active in Masonic circles, he belonged to the Bayard AF&AM lodge, the Scottish Rite in Alliance, and the Shrine in Little Rock, Ark., and was a past patron of the Order of Eastern Star.

He also belonged to the Retired Officers' Assn., the Military Order of World Wars; the Disabled Officers' Assn.; the Bayard Post, American Legion; National Sojourners; and Sons in Retirement. He was an elder in the First United Presbyterian Church of Los Gatos, a synod member, and presbytery officer. He also was a past district governor of the Lions Club.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Fern Prince; two daughters, Doris Prince of San Jose, Calif., and Dr. Bernice Biggs of San Francisco, Calif.; one son, Dr. Donald Prince of Minden; one sister, Mrs. Elwood Murray of Denver, Colo.; and eight grandchildren.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prince, and brother Louis preceded him in death.

Dr. Thomas Gee officiated at funeral services May 2 in the First United Presbyterian Church of Los Gatos.

Masonic Rites were accorded by Los Gatos Lodge 292, AF&AM, and military rites by West Valley Post 138, American Legion. Interment was in Los Gatos Memorial Park.

SONOTONE CROS FITTINGS

the very latest in hearing help

If you are one of those persons who may have been told that a hearing aid could not help your problem, you should investigate CROS fittings by Sonotone — the new method of hearing help.

Simply explained, a CROS fitting means transferring sounds from the "poor" ear to the "good" ear. But that explanation does not indicate all the truly better hearing benefits that may be obtained. A CROS fitting is especially adaptable for those who can wear eyeglass hearing aids.

For complete details, just call or visit —

 the trusted name in better hearing since 1929

What insurance have you got against corn soil insects?

None? But you've got a big stake in corn. And Diazinon will protect that investment.

Diazinon controls corn's worst enemy — the corn rootworm. Also cutworms, wireworms, armyworms, and seed corn maggot.

Diazinon has controlled soil insects in millions of corn acres. And it's ready to work again this year, whether you apply it at planting or at cultivation.

Stop soil insects attacking your corn. Put Diazinon to work. Call us now.

Ord Native's Air Heroics Earn Navy Commendation

Commander Galen B. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Allen Sr. of Ord, has received the Navy Commendation Medal for his pinpoint bombing of an enemy camp in the Vietnam War. The medal was presented during ceremonies at the Lemoore, Calif., Naval Air Station. Commander Allen's wife Jean and their three children are living at the station while he serves aboard the USS Bon Homme Richard, an aircraft carrier presently deployed off the coast of Vietnam. The citation accompanying the medal says it was awarded "for heroic achievement as a pilot." Commander Allen is presently serving his second tour in the war zone as commander of Attack Squadron 144. The squadron flies A-4 "Skyhawk" aircraft in support of allied ground forces. The citation read: "On 12 August 1969, Commander Allen was a flight leader of a two-plane flight. The flight was assigned to strike a priority target, a battalion-size enemy base camp along an infiltration route leading into South Vietnam. "Despite the prospect of heavy . . . small arms and machine gun fire, he made three extremely accurate bombing runs, resulting in the destruction of 11 military structures and severe damage to an additional 6 structures. There were numerous secondary explosions and fires resulting from the precision pinpoint bombing of both aircraft. "Commander Allen's professionalism and superb airmanship reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service." The honoree is a 1950 graduate of Ord High School and a 1955 graduate of the University of Nebraska, where he received a degree in architectural engineering. He was commissioned through the university's Naval ROTC program following graduation and has been in the Navy since. His second tour in the war zone began Apr. 2. Commander Allen has a brother, Col. Warren Allen, who is serving his fourth Vietnam tour with the Army. He is currently stationed in Saigon. The naval branch of the family is married to the former Jean Huff, daughter of Ord's Howard Huff. Their three children are Jimmy, 14; Steve, 13; and Bobby, 7.

Telephone Charges May Go Up; Company Cites High Interest Rates

General Telephone Co. of the Midwest has requested the Nebraska State Railway Commission to review the company's earnings and rate structure for Nebraska operations so that local telephone service rates in the state can be adjusted "to provide more adequate earnings."

This is the first rate increase requested since 1958 by General Telephone which serves 40,000 telephones in 37 exchanges. The Ord area is among those served. A news release announcing the possible rate increase said: "The costs of providing telephone service have been subject to the same pressures of inflation and rising prices as all other businesses and have increased so much that we must seek higher earnings to continue operations and growth at a level which will meet the demands of our customers.

"For example, while our charges for customer service have remained the same for the past 11 years, business expenses have increased continuously and in many cases have more than doubled."

No mention was made of the size of increase requested.

The release noted that in addition to greater expenses for labor and materials, the most important and significant increase General Telephone is experiencing is higher interest charges for borrowed money used to pay for service improvements and expansion. The prime rate interest charge of 8 1/2 percent paid in 1969 was the highest the company had ever paid.

General Telephone has continued to improve and expand telephone facilities and has expended $8 million in the past five years alone. Since the last increase in rates was allowed in 1959, General Telephone has completed the installation of dial telephones in all exchanges, built or replaced 11 central offices and provided direct distance dialing service for 95 percent of the company's customers.

Former Communist Will Speak in Ord

A one-time member of the Communist Party who is now active in religious work will speak Tuesday evening at the Ord Christian Church. He is Kenneth Goff, who is presently serving as president of the Soldiers of the Cross Bible Institute at Evergreen, Colo.

His speech will begin at 8 p.m.

Using an assumed name, Mr. Goff was a member of the Communist Party from May 2, 1926, until Oct. 9, 1939. According to a news release announcing his speaking engagement here, he has spoken in 41 states as well as Canada since leaving the party, and has given testimony which has helped bring about the removal of more than 100 Communists from the federal payroll.

Mr. Goff appeared voluntarily in 1939 before a congressional committee chaired by former Rep. Martin Dies of Wisconsin, giving more than 300 pages of testimony concerning his work and activities. In his book, "The Trojan Horse in America," Congressman Dies later stated that Mr. Goff had given "some of the vital testimony" his committee had received, and had backed it up with documentary evidence.

Sears Catalog Store Added Here; Gala Grand Opening Set June 4-6

A new business will make its debut in Ord next week when a Sears Catalog Store will open in the building formerly occupied by Sonic TV at 140 N. 16th St.

The new Merchant store, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Leo Krepel of Ord, will have on display many of the more than 240,000 items available through the Sears Catalog, plus special catalogs for customer convenience. Customers may see and feel the actual display merchandise before they order such articles as appliances, tires, batteries and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Krepel advise that "orders may be placed either in person or from home by phone." The orders are relayed to the mail order plant in Kansas City, Mo., where they are filled and the merchandise returned to the store in one of five deliveries during the week or mailed direct to your home.

The Krepels have invited everyone to stop by and get acquainted during the three-day grand opening June 4-6. Registrations also will be accepted for a portable TV that will be given away.

Dan Chichester Salutatorian Donna Krajnik Valedictorian

Study Pays For Seniors

Scholarships Worth Nearly $10,000 Are Received by Ord's Class of 1970

Scholarships totalling almost $10,000 were passed out to members of the 1970 Ord High School graduating class last week during Class Night activities. Then, two nights later, the 101 seniors each received diplomas capping 13 years of school work.

Top scholars in the class of 1970 are Donna Krajnik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Krajnik, and Dan Chichester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Chichester. They were announced as valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively.

Donna posted a near-perfect 3.973 grade average for her four years of high school work. That's based on a 4.0 for all A's.

Besides her academic work, she found time to participate in social music activities, the Future Homemakers of America, the Junior class play, and the Student Council. She also was a member of the annual staff and attended Girls State last year.

Chichester, the salutatorian, had a grade average of 3.7837. He participated in the varsity band, in annual work, and in Student Council activities. He also was a basketball, cross-country, and golf letterman.

Reaping the biggest scholarship bonanza was Karen Bodyfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Bodyfield. She received a stipend covering half her tuition and board for four years at Creighton University in Omaha. This year that would have amounted to $1,275, but it will go up as costs increase.

The scholarship was presented by Peter and Evelyn Kiewit, who have substantial business holdings in Omaha and the Midwest. Among other things, they own the Omaha World-Herald, Kiewit Construction Co., and Missouri Valley Construction Co.

In order to receive the award, Karen had to be enrolled at Creighton in either a medical or engineering field. She has been accepted by the college as a student in medical technology.

Another requirement for receiving the award was that she be the child of a rancher, farmer, or construction worker. The Bodyfields farm and ranch near Ericson.

The second largest scholarship haul was made by Sonja Swaneek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Swaneek. A music enthusiast, she received three separate awards totalling $2,800.

The bulk of that was in the form of awards from Hastings College, which Sonja plans to attend. An $1,800 academic scholarship was based primarily on high school scholastic average, and is to be used over a four-year period.

Also to be used over four years is an $800 music scholarship which was based on auditions. During the auditions Sonja played a saxophone solo and other required pieces.

The third award was also for her prowess in music, and was given by Local 777 of the Central Nebraska Music Assn. at Grand Island. In order to qualify for this award, Sonja was required to tape a solo, write an essay on why she went into the music field, and have letters of recommendation submitted on her behalf.

During the Class Night program Sonja was also named top vocalist in the senior class, as well as most versatile musician.

The awards were a special present for her mother, whose birthday coincided with Class Night.

Carole Sorensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Sorensen, Comstock, received a $500 Achievement Scholarship from Nebraska Wesleyan University at Lincoln. These awards are presented to seniors in the top 10 percent of their graduating class, and this was the first time one had been received by an Ord student. It is to be used over a two-year period.

Cooperating School Honor Scholarships for use at Kearney State College were presented to three members of the 1970 graduating class — Chuck Fryzek, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fryzek, Duane Kovarik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kovarik, and Julie Winterfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Winterfeld.

The awards will cover half of each student's tuition for four years.

Schools which participate in the student-teaching program at Kearney earn scholarships based on the number of student-teachers they host. One scholarship is presented for each student doing his practice-teaching in a particular school.

The stipends are limited to students in the upper one-fourth of their graduating class who plan to attend Kearney.

Named as alternates for these awards were Jeri Lola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rich Lola; Marion Huffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huffman; and Dennis Micek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Syl Micek.

In addition to the Kearney scholarship, Julie Winterfeld also received one from the Valley County Teachers Assn.

Nancy Hopkins, an active 4-H member during her high school years, received awards from the Union Pacific Railroad and from the Valley County Home Extension Council.

The U.P. award is worth $200 and is presented at the rate of one per county to every county in which the U.P. does business. Selection is based on 4-H participation, leadership, and citizenship. The scholarship must be used at one of 11 land-grant colleges in states served by the U.P. The University of Nebraska is one of them.

Valued at $50, the Extension award is presented to a student planning to major in home economics. It may be used at any college.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hopkins.

Memorial scholarships were received by Dennis Micek, the salutatorian, Dan Chichester, Micek received the Ronald Babcock Award, presented in memory of a 1956 Ord high graduate who attended the United States Naval Academy and was aboard the submarine Thresher when it was lost at sea in April, 1963.

Scholarship, leadership, and participation in school activities are primary considerations in determining the winner of this $100 award.

Chichester received the Ed Vogelzang Memorial Scholarship, worth $200. Mr. Vogelzang was a prominent resident of Ord and practiced law here for many years. The scholarship may be used at any college or university.

Chris Foth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Foth, received a new award, presented for the first time by the North Central Assn. for Retarded Children. It is given to someone entering the field of education.

Award winners who had been announced previously included Darrell Bremer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bremer, Regents Scholarship, and David Sich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sich, Union Pacific Scholarship.

Carol's Corner

Life is currently described in one of four ways: a journey, a battle, a pilgrimage, or a race — but the necessity of finishing is all the same. For if life is a journey, it must be completed. If life is a battle, it must be finished. If life is a pilgrimage, it must be concluded. And if life is a race, it must be won. Try, then, these rules for a perfect day.

JUST FOR TODAY I will try to strengthen my mind by reading something that requires effort, thought and concentration.

JUST FOR TODAY I will do somebody a good turn and not get found out.

JUST FOR TODAY I will do a task that needs to be done but which I have been putting off. I will do it as an exercise in willpower.

JUST FOR TODAY I will dress as becomingly as possible, talk low, act courtly, be liberal with praise, and criticize not one bit nor find fault with anything.

JUST FOR TODAY I will have a quiet half hour all by myself and relax. In this half hour I will think of God so as to get a little more perspective in my life.

JUST FOR TODAY I will be unafraid. Especially, I will not be afraid to be happy, to enjoy what is beautiful, to love and to believe that those I love, love me.

Candlelight Service at Ord Church - Unites Sue Jones and Duane Jacobs

Sue Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Jones of Ord, became the bride of Duane Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jacobs of North Loup, May 16 in a candlelight setting at the First United Methodist Church of Ord. Rev. Clarence Campbell officiated at the 7:30 p.m. double ceremony. Mrs. William Vogeler was the soloist, and Mrs. Bill Novosad Jr. the organist. Susan Jacobs presided at the guest book.

Mrs. Dean Marshall of Johnson, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Jean Jamison of Lincoln was bridesmaid. Kimberly Ann Moss carried the rings, and Michelle Jacobs was flower girl. Candlelighters were Juanita Conner of Ord and Judy Jamison of Lincoln.

The attendants were clothed in dresses of pink nylon over taffeta patterned with empire lines. The bride appeared in a gown of traditional white lace with a tiered skirt, scalloped neckline, and long sleeves. An attached veil of illusion extended upward from the long train creating a hooded effect.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Dennis Ja-iel Setlik family and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Setlik. Afternoon callers were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rutar and Larry.

In honor of Annie Smith's first holy communion, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith entertained at dinner in their home Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Norman and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Novosad and family.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank all the friends, relatives, classmates, grade school staff, Dr. Miller and staff, for the cards, gifts, phone calls and care Susan received at the time she broke her arm. It was greatly appreciated.
Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Sevenker and family

Card of Thanks
I would like to express my appreciation to Dr. Zlomke, Dr. Raines, the nurses, hospital staff, Agnes Ptanic and Garnet Walkowiak for all they did for me. Thank you to my relatives, friends and neighbors for your get-well cards, visits, gifts, and food brought to the house.
May God bless you all.
Minnie Clemens

Card of Thanks
Gary and I would like to extend the warmest, sincerest, humblest thank you to the very wonderful, thoughtful, and considerate friends who sent and showed their love by sending cards, letters, beautiful flowers, very needed and thoughtful gifts, comfort shown to Mom and everyone. We know God will bless those who said prayers for me. As you know, I came from a family of seven. I used to think how could seven people of such different personalities be brothers and sisters. Well, when this happened to me I want to tell you those six sisters and brothers and spouses too, and a loving mother, formed ranks and became an army, and took the responsibility of business, house, and two little children too. Without them Gary and I would have so many difficult times. There may not be any purple hearts or congressional medals of honor presented, but that doesn't mean this small army did not perform beyond the call of duty.

How can we name a few names since so many close friends helped, but we'd like to thank Dr. Martin who gave me strong assurance and comfort, and to Pastor Graff who gave me spiritual support during this time.

Thank you to the people who provided me with a hospital bed and all the trimmings, a wheelchair, and a walker when I came home. Although they may never read this, a very special thank you to the four doctors in Omaha. Also there was a Friend, Comforter and Saviour — "Jesus." Someone Gary and I would like to talk to everyone about at anytime, anyplace, whom we know spared my life, my eyesight, and lots of suffering because of all the prayers that were prayed for me. Come talk to us about Him if this is your wish or need.

These are only humble words which certainly cannot extend to each and everyone of you who helped, the feelings of Gary and me, but we hope when you read this you'll feel a warm glow that will start in your heart and flow through your whole body, because you can say to yourself, "there was a friend in need and I did my deed," and that's what this world is for!

God bless all of you!
Gary and Jeanne Ackles

Thank You
I want to take this means of thanking each and every volunteer that helped me make the Arcadia Community Center a success. It was indeed a pleasure to be part of it and it could not have been accomplished without you.

I would also like to let the informers, that cost me my job with Community Action, know that their job was well done also.

Card of Thanks
Thank you to my friends, neighbors and relatives for the visits and gifts they sent me while I was in the hospital. Also thanks to Dr. Markley and the nurses for the wonderful care they gave me, also thanks to Father Gorak for his visits. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Rysavy from Santa Fe for the long distance phone call, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Merrill of York, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilcoxson of Geneva for the long distance greetings. It will always be remembered.
Irving "Red" Merrill

Card of Thanks
A very sincere "Thank You" to Dr. Raines, Dr. Zlomke, and the wonderful staff at the Valley Co. Hospital for the splendid care I received during my stay. Your thoughtfulness made each day more pleasant.

Flexible Arrangements Offered At Central Nebraska Tech School

Valley County voters will decide in November whether they want to join with 18 other counties in supporting the Central Nebraska Technical College district.

The County Board of Supervisors agreed to let the people make the decision when, at their May meeting, they voted to put the issue on the November ballot. Ray Knapp cast the lone dissenting vote in a 5-1 decision.

In an effort to find out more about the school and the benefits the county might derive from joining in its support, a group of local civic leaders recently made a tour of the institution. The group included Carson Rogers, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Eldon Buoy, counselor at Ord High School; John Schade, Valley County Extension agent; Horace Travis, representing the local Chamber of Commerce; and Gerald Green, editor of the Quiz.

Their first stop was the administration building where they were briefed by Dr. C. H. Gausman, president of the college. Then, after lunch, Dr. Gausman accompanied them on a tour of the grounds.

Central Nebraska Technical College was opened in September, 1966, with an enrollment of 200 students. During the academic year which began last July and will end this June, the college will have served slightly over 2,000 students, Dr. Gausman said.

The school is located on a 640-acre site near Hastings which was once the home of an extensive Navy supply depot. The land, plus 30 Williamsburg-style colonial brick buildings and thousands of dollars worth of equipment, was donated by the federal government on the condition that it be used 100 percent for technical and vocational schooling.

Dr. Gausman is proud of the school's academic record, pointing out that it has 28 separate technical programs—"twice as many as at Milford." Courses range in length from two weeks to two years and are designed so that students get exactly what they want.

"Some students may want only one month of welding, for example," the president stated. "We don't consider them dropouts if they leave after that, because they got what they came for."

Versatility is also a key-note of the college curriculum, Dr. Gausman pointed out. He said that courses may be added on short notice if a need is indicated. For instance, the school recently complied with a request to add a plastics department because of the growing importance of that industry in the 19 counties served by the school.

Individualized instruction is also featured at the college. Because of this, Dr. Gausman said, a student may begin a course any time he wishes, rather than having to wait until September or January as at conventional schools.

"Individualized teaching is the only way we can operate," Dr. Gausman stated, explaining that the students who come to Hastings each have different backgrounds. Some may have a year or two of college, while others may have none. Some may be students just out of high school, while others may be service veterans or even men in their 40s or 50s who decide they want or need to learn a new skill.

"In the traditional school everyone starts together," the president stated, "and a testing system is used to determine who flunks out. Also traditionally, if a slow student needs instruction in a particular area, the advanced student will have to listen to it too. But here all our lectures and demonstrations are on tape; the student can listen to them or watch them anytime he wants."

Dr. Gausman said each student's skill objectives are measured as he moves along. If the student proves to his instructor that he can accomplish a required task, he is allowed to advance to the next phase.

"Our students are going out and getting jobs as soon as they leave here," he stated, "so they will need to know exactly what to do their first day at work. That means we get an immediate feedback which tells us if we're doing our job or not. If we're not, we go back and change our program; or if it's the instructor, we get rid of him. There's no tenure here; we had to get rid of one teacher earlier this year who wasn't doing his job."

Another plus factor for the school, in the opinion of its president, is the low rate of out-migration by its graduates. He said 84 percent of the students go back to the counties they came from, and most of those who don't go into military service.

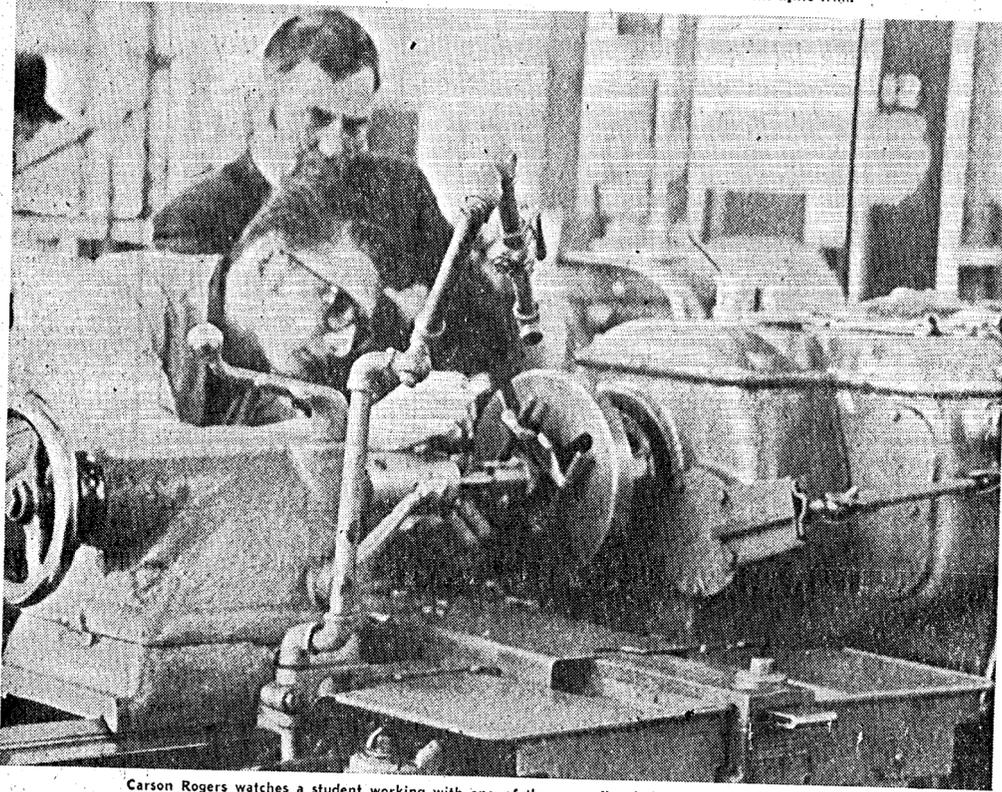

The cost? At the present time it's 1.65 mills, which is 35 mill under the maximum allowed under present state law for vocational-technical schools. "We do not anticipate an increase in this anytime soon," Dr. Gausman stated.

"At the end of the last fiscal year we had no debt whatever," he added. "There's probably not another institution in Nebraska which can say that. In fact, all of our work so far has been on a pay-as-you-go basis."

Dr. Gausman said the college gives priority in accepting students to those in its 19-county area. Then, if it has room, it will take out-of-area students.

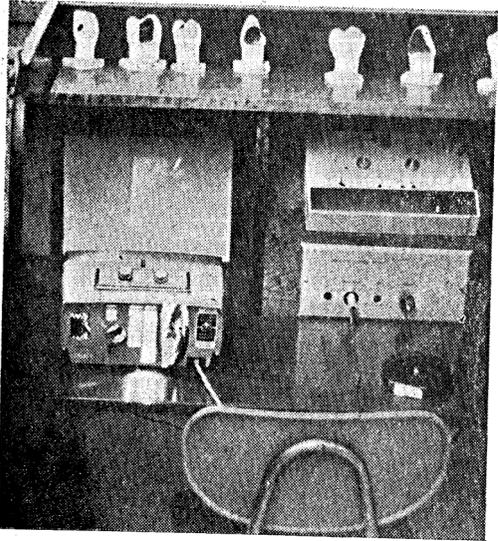

The present tuition cost for out-of-area students is $100 per month, compared to $28 for in-area students. Legislative Bill 1042, passed in the last session of the legislature, requires that counties which do not belong to a tech-school district must pay the $72 difference rather than letting the individual students do so.

Carson Rogers watches a student working with one of the many fine lathes available at the school.

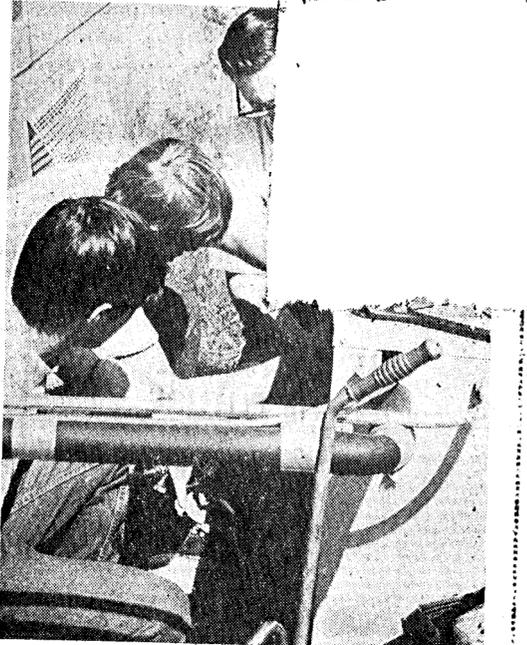

Individualized instruction has helped keep the dropout rate at less than 5 percent.

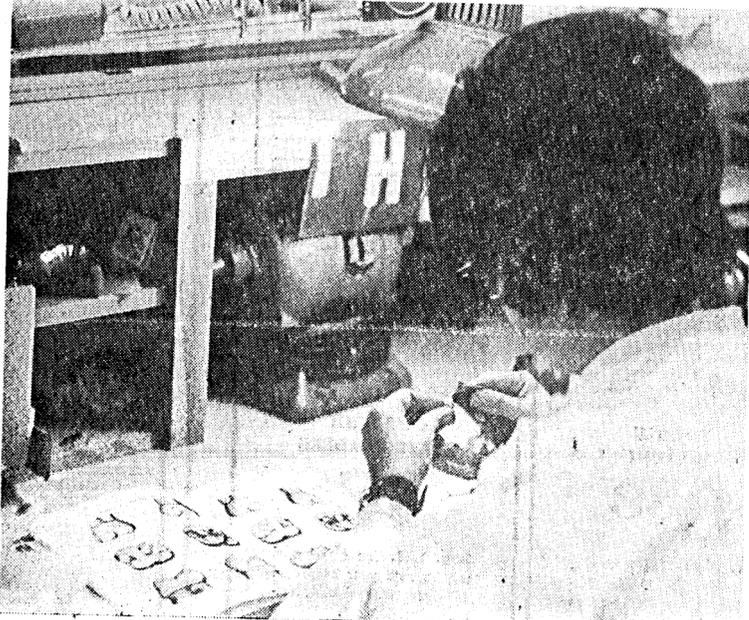

All lectures are on tape and demonstrations on film so that students may listen or watch individually, whenever they feel it necessary.

The school is one of the few with both a computer and a computer trainer for students to practice on.

Many improvements to the structures and equipment on campus have been made at little or no cost to the taxpayers since students can do the work and at the same time get practical experience. Here two students, under the supervision of a qualified instructor, work on the air conditioning system.

Future Bride Feted

A nice crowd attended the bridal shower Sunday afternoon for Arlene Klanecky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Klanecky, at the Comstock Community Hall.

The table was centered by a May basket filled with lilacs and a lilac-colored lace tablecloth to match.

Games were played, and then gifts were opened by the bride-to-be. The senior hostesses — Mrs. Helen Pesek, Mrs. Evelyn Kriss, Mrs. Marilyn Kallhoff, Mrs. Charlotte Kamarad, Mrs. Edna Albright, Mrs. Rae Jean Treptow, Mrs. Lillie Paider, Mrs. Lillian Fleming, Mrs. Marilyn Kolar, Mrs. Wilma Naorski, Mrs. Lucille Bruha, Mrs. Bobbi Sedlacek, Mrs. Leona Radil, and Mrs. Evelyn Kriss presented the bride-to-be with a dry and steam iron combination.

The Junior hostesses — Mrs. Ione Bruha, Mrs. Shirley Pesek, Patty Bruha, Charlene Paider, Shirley Bruha, Pam Schmitt, Debbie Sedlacek, and Marie McAlvey — presented her with an ironing board.

A lunch of white cake topped by strawberry Jello and Whip and Chill was served along with coffee and punch.

Lonna Is Showered

Lonna Axthelm was the honoree at a personal shower given by her college friends Tuesday evening. The shower was held in the informal lounge at Centennial West dormitory in Kearney. Hostesses were Bert Hoffman, Janella Wykoff, Judy Markvicka, Brenda Lindquist, and Debbie Langmocher. Guests were Dinah Vodicka, Gayle Short, Dee Placek, Gertrude Ehly, Marvene Schmidt, and Mrs. Don Axthelm. Games were played, and gifts opened by the honoree. Refreshments of pink punch and a decorated cake were served by the hostesses.

Mother's Day Event

Members of Cadet Troop #188 of Ord planned a special Mother's Day party recently at the United Methodist Church Educational Building and presented each guest — their mothers — with a fresh carnation. The girls were solely in charge of all party details, which included clever decorations and a fancy lunch menu.

First-Aid Lesson

A meeting of the Fort Hartsuff 4th Club was held May 14 at the Rene Dubas home. Each member gave a demonstration covering various types of first-aid bandages, and Theresa Iwanski advised the group on first-aid precautions and tips to be used when poison is taken internally.

Lunch concluded the evening meeting. The next meeting is to be at the Andy Kusek home.

Old and New Reasons To Rejoice

By Berenice Cornell
Mary Cetak reports of a recent item in the Comstock News which told of an incident that occurred over 60 years ago in her life. At that time she and her husband, the late Joe Cetak Sr., were living on a farm in Custer county. The article states that the two-year-old son of the Cetaks was lost overnight. This boy was Ord's Jim Cetak. It was late March and Jim was gone from 4 p.m. to 5 a.m. He was found in some trees in a pasture. Later on the same day Jim was found a big snow came.

Mary also reports her 10th great-grandchild. The new baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hirschberg of Hoquiam, Wash., and has been named Jeffrey David. Mrs. Hirschberg is Pam, the daughter of Jim and Zola McFeely.

Old Schoolmate Calls
Mrs. Armond Hagopian of Los Angeles, Calif., visited at Marguerite West's with Josephine Dowse of Colorado Springs, Colo., Monday afternoon. Mrs. Hagopian is the former Marjorie Dye of Comstock. Josephine and Marjorie were schoolmates.

Nieces Gather
Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fugate of Ingleswood, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hansen, and Mrs. James Meese Jr. were Monday afternoon visitors of Berenice Cornell. The three ladies are nieces of Berenice. The Fugates left Tuesday for California after visiting since May 9 with relatives.

A Triple-Proud Grandma
Tena Swanson accompanied Mrs. Gerald Green to Grand Island Tuesday evening. Tena will be with her son, daughter-in-law and granddaughter — Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Swanson and Lana — until after Memorial Day. Lana graduated Thursday from a Grand Island high school, and her grandmother attended the exercises. Tena has another granddaughter graduating this year. She is Marlene Cowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cowell of Sterling, Colo. The Cowells also have a son, David, who will graduate from college in June.

Personals
Mrs. Calvert Bresley and Tanya of North Loup were visitors of Berenice Cornell Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janulewicz went to Omaha with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Jensen Sunday morning to be with their three daughters until Monday evening when the Jensen's returned.

Marguerite West was at Comstock Tuesday afternoon attending a meeting of the birthday club in the home of Mrs. Emma Zikmund.

Hospital Workers, Regardless of Job, Show They Care

Don't Have To Be Doctors

By Karl MacKinnon
Hospital Administrator

Linda Stundnicka is not a doctor, although she works in a hospital and deals with patients every day. She doesn't have to be a doctor. Her job is vital in electrocardiograph technology right where she is.

Anxious patients come to her department for testing. They listen when she explains her complex electrocardiograph machine to them. She quietly many fears about her test as she painlessly attaches electrodes to each patient's chest. And while the precision instrument records the heart's electronic impulses, she watches carefully. Her patients can tell that she cares about finding out what is wrong with them. It is her job to care.

Linda notes just one of the more than 200 different types of jobs available in the nation's 7,000 hospitals whose staffs observed National Hospital Week, May 10 through 16.

Hospital positions vary, from accountant to X-ray technologist. And career opportunities are greater than ever because hospitals are expanding in the race to meet the demands of our booming population and technological advances.

Some jobs can be learned through on-the-job training. For others, a college degree or course in a vocational school is needed. Still, more jobs use skills the employee may have learned elsewhere.

For example, besides nurses and doctors, hospitals need many secretaries, housekeepers, laundry employees, and food service workers.

Working in a hospital is different from working in another industry or business. Each task contributes to some patient's personal well-being.

Working in a hospital is different from working in another industry or business. Each task contributes to some patient's personal well-being.

Extra attention to clean buildings and fresh linen by housekeeping employees helps prevent infection. Well prepared, nutritious meals from the food service unit may turn the tide for a weak patient and encourage him to eat his way back to health.

Just as vital but less visible are the central service technicians who keep the many departments stocked with important supplies. These staffers know how important it can be to get the right instrument at the right time — especially in an emergency.

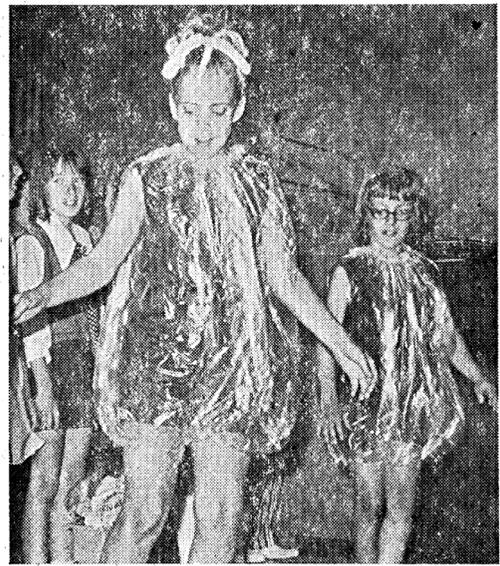

And, like any other large industry, hospitals could not operate without an important engineering staff. Working behind the scenes, these people are responsible for the 24-hour temperature control needed throughout the building, but especially vital in the operating room. They must also be ready at any time to provide the hospital with a self-sufficient emergency power system.

orderlies, surgical aides and therapeutic dietitians.

In addition, patients rarely see many other members of the hospital team. These workers include data processors who use computer science to help the hospital solve some of its problems, cytotechnologists who regularly scan microscope slides of cell tissue searching for the shadow of cancer which may lead to early cure, and medical records librarians who systematically condense and organize all the data available about each patient and his condition.

But no matter what the particular field, hospital workers all have unique opportunities to serve mankind and show they really care.

Bloodmobile Surpasses Quota By 20 Pints During Ord Visit

By Gladys Weckbach

After getting off to a slow start, last week's visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Ord was once again a success as 130 pints of blood were collected. That was 20 over the quota.

During the visit Merle Vandant of Ord became the second person in Valley County to join the Six-Gallon Club. Ed Armstrong of Ord and Ronald Goodrich of North Loup completed requirements for membership in the Four-Gallon Club: George Krajcik of Ord the Three-Gallon Club; Mervin Hornickel and Eldon Lange, both of Ord, the Two-Gallon Club; and Edward Bruha, of Ord, Mrs. J. H. Schroeder of Ord, R. J. Lech of Elyria, Mrs. Fred Dubas of Burwell, Dale Huebner and Robert Kokes of North Loup, and Mrs. Max Staab of Arcadia the One-Gallon Club.

Others who had reached milestones by donating at the Valley County Hospital since the previous bloodmobile visit were: Darrell Fish, who joined the Five-Gallon Club; Howard Paulsen, the Four-Gallon Club; Gerald Schmitt, the Two-Gallon Club; and Ed Huffman and Lee Krepel, the One-Gallon Club. All are from Ord.

Eight persons donated in Ord for the first time during last week's visit. They were: Mrs. Robert Cartwright, Mrs. D. E. Clement, Harold Holoun, Mrs. Phil Quinn, Mrs. Daniel Klimek, and Myron O'Neil, all of Ord; Roger Otto of North Loup; and Ronald Ditto of Kearney.

Ord produced 102 of the 130 donors, while 10 came from North Loup, 9 from Arcadia, 5 from Burwell, and 1 each from Cotese, Elyria, Taylor, and Kearney.

Doctors covering the bloodmobile visit were M. E. Markley, Paul Martin, Otis Miller, and Wayne Zlomke. Registered nurses assisting were Mmes. Hal Pierce, Paul Martin, Hilding Pearson, Al Moudry, George Baker, and Manfred Steinwart of Ord, and Mrs. Clarence Fox of North Loup. One licensed practical nurse, Mrs. Bernard Staab, also helped.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliaries from Ord, Arcadia, and North Loup furnished food for the canten, and the following ladies served it: Mrs. Joe Bartu and Mrs. Louis Zabloudil of Ord; Mrs. W. J. Ramsey, Rose Lane, and Leona Rounds of Arcadia; and Mrs. Ronald Goodrich, Mrs. Frank Cornik, and Mrs. Grace Thorngate of North Loup.

Members of the Be-Sharp Extension Club of Arcadia furnished food for the workers, and the following ladies served the dinner: Mmes. Dillard Hunt, Max Criukshank, Downing Rounds, and Homer Armstrong.

Other workers were Mmes. Clark Weckbach, Fred Stoddard, Dale Melia, Jean Arnold, Glen Beerline, Horace Travis, Frank Kapuskas, William Schudel, Floyd Peterson, Joe Osentowski, Edgar Roe, Syl Furtak, and Fred Veskena. Men workers were George Allen, Bill Beard, Tony Pokorny, Al Suchanek, Chet Austin, and Jerome Turek.

Ord Students Win In Agronomy Contest

Two Ord boys were among the winners in the University of Nebraska Agronomy Club's annual Crops and Weeds Identification Contest. They are Roger Cahill and Barry Masin.

The announcement was made at the organization's annual banquet held the evening of May 14. The contest this year consisted of 100 samples of mounted and green crop and weed plants and seeds. Contestants were required to attempt identification of each specimen.

Cahill, son of Mrs. Rose Cahill, tied for second place with Walter Fick of Inman in the category open only to freshmen and sophomore students. Junior and senior students were allowed to enter the contest as part of a team. Winning team was a group from Burr Hill with team members being Masin, Jim Reeder of Shelton and Walter Fick. Barry Masin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Masin.

Winners in the contest received medals given by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

Sandi Skalka in Spring Choral at NU

By Elizabeth Lillenthal
FROM LAST WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Skalka, Sherrie and Janie, went to Lincoln Sunday evening and attended the University Spring Choral held at the coliseum where their daughter Sandi took part. They enjoyed dinner with their daughter Sandi and son Randy.

Mrs. Ruth Booth hosted the Canasta Club on Friday with all members present and two guests, Ruth Binder of Schuyler and Vera Horwath. Those absent were Mrs. Howard Bodyfield and Mrs. Otto Oberg. The W.S.C.S. met at the Ericson Methodist Church dining hall on Thursday afternoon with 12 members present. Nellie Harris was the hostess, and Mrs. Dad Foulk gave a very interesting talk on "New Day Community Center" for migrate workers on the Rio Grand Valley at Pharr, Tex., which she attended while at Brownsville, Tex., last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Vaage of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Ericson and family of Stromsburg were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Olson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Foulk and family of Waverly and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foulk and daughters were Mother's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dad Foulk.

Janie Skalka was a Wednesday overnight guest of Lois Lehmann of Chambers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lehmann.

Mrs. Marvin Young and daughter and Mrs. Ronald Watson and daughter were Ord visitors on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Butler of Greeley were Friday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foulk and family.

Mrs. Howard Nutting was a Ord visitor on Thursday.

Sunday dinner and supper guests of Mrs. John Sanford were Mrs. Sam Loseke, Mrs. Guy Johnson, Mmes. Bea Foster, Louise Buckles, Ruth Booth, Elizabeth Lillenthal and Florence Cheyney. Cards were the entertainment for the afternoon.

Mrs. Leon Foulk was a Friday dinner guest of Mrs. Frony Klackney of Ord.

Ruth Binder returned to her home at Schuyler Friday evening after visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Loseke.

Mrs. Archie Watson entered the Burwell hospital Tuesday for medical treatment and is much improved at this time.

Rev. and Mrs. Roy West went to Harrison the first of the week and visited relatives for several days.

Mrs. Martha Jackson, Mrs. Bill Patrick and Mrs. Harry Foster went to Fullerton Friday evening and attended a reception for Irene Swanson, who was retiring after 26 years on the teaching staff and Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Patrick were some of her pupils when the Jackson family lived in the North Star community in Fullerton several years ago. They all enjoyed meeting some of their school-mates which they haven't seen for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Tucker of Cotesfield and Mr. and Mrs. John Pierson of Elba were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Foulk at Lake Ericson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stuckert, Brent and Billie Rae of Bassett were weekend visitors of Mrs. Vera Horwath. They returned home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor of Fullerton were Sunday visitors of Mrs. Martha Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nutting went to Albion Thursday and attended a postmasters meeting held there that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Kasselner went to Willow Lake Friday evening and visited Mrs. Lois Imms and family returning home Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Vic Morrow and family of Scotia and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Scowers of Lincoln and Mrs. Ranese of California were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wietzki, Mike and Cindy, and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Foster, all of Grand Island, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Foster.

Mrs. Don Smith and family were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Morrow of Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watson and daughter went to Burwell Sunday where they visited Mrs. Ethel Watson and Sherry Connors in the Burwell hospital and went on to Ord and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. Connors.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lillenthal went to Burwell on Thursday and visited Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Witt at the Burwell hospital. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Simpson and Brent and Mrs. Jack Simpson Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Booth were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Poland of Ord.

Mrs. Hugh James took her students of the #45 Greeley county to a 2-day (Tuesday and Wednesday) educational tour to Omaha and Fremont. She was accompanied by Mrs. Helen Nordhous of Greeley and Mrs. Albert Harkins of Ewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harkins and Carol Isaacson, all of Ewing, were Sunday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh James and Monty.

The Ericson Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. Mike Foster with 14 members present. The lesson on the care of furniture was given by Mrs. John Sanford and Mrs. Carrie Boyesen gave the lesson on "The Paper in Your Life." A quilt top was purchased from Vera Horwath and plans were made to quilt it for the 4th of July celebration which was also discussed and a meeting is planned for all clubs to attend the evening of June 1st at the Scott Hall to make preparations for the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Vech went to Omaha on Wednesday and attended the 23rd Annual Pioneer Patrons Recognition Banquet at the Livestock Exchange Building in Omaha when Mr. Vech

Valley County's Rural Homemaker of Ord is shown receiving special recognition at the Rural Homemakers' Leadership Recognition Day Program in Omaha recently. Cambodia Reports

I attended a briefing last week at which Under Secretary Alexis Johnson and Brigadier General Glick presented information on the success of the Cambodian operation.

As of May 13, the allied forces had captured more supplies during their three weeks in Cambodia than they had during the entire previous 12 months. These supplies included 2,300 tons of food, or enough to feed 8,000 troops for one year; enough weapons and ammunition to fully supply 10 battalions; 24,000 pounds of medical supplies; 9,000 rockets; and 13,000 mortar rounds. In addition, the allies had found 3,294 bunkers.

The success of this operation has been far greater than originally expected and additional supplies are being uncovered every day.

Some American troops already have been withdrawn from Cambodia, and all American forces will be out of the country by June 30.

The capture of these supplies will greatly weaken the ability of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese to successfully conduct a military operation in South Vietnam. Results thus far have justified President Richard Nixon's decision to send troops into Cambodia on a temporary basis.

College Demonstrations

Public opinion is now turning against the action of those college students who have gone on strike from classes and closed down some colleges.

The violence that has occurred, and the disruption in the lives of citizens of college communities, are doing the students greater harm than good. Loyal American citizens are disgusted with their demonstrations.

The students do not seem to realize that by striking they are hurting themselves. They are supposedly attending college for the purpose of receiving an education, and when they go on strike they simply stop that process of formal education.

Ord Youth Practice What Is Preached

The fifth-grade class at the Ord Elementary School, taught by Mrs. Charlene Lola, has been studying human relations. Wanting to apply what they had learned, the students voted to give two baskets of fruit to older friends as the recipients.

Students taking part in this project included Linda Sautter, Kristy Goodsell, Carla Schauer, Jill Remington, Lori Klinecky, Russell Ballou, Lori Hansen, Iva Sydzyk, Tom Wagner, Jon Miller, Douglas Stephens, Steven Hruby, James Sich, Jon Collier, Jane Novosad, Scot Ulrich, Craig Fryzek, Jolene Grin, Debra Stehlem, Jeff Voyek, Wayne Hruza, Charles Florian, Jackie Waldmann, Carol Meese, Randy Niel, Mrs. Pn yhnGr wannBeter Newland, Mitchell Snow, Verlon Barnes, Penny Grantham, and Sue Ann Crane.

Congratulations

I want to congratulate the students of Kearney State College for their recent very commendable action in refusing to go along with several agitators from Lincoln. The agitators reportedly went to Kearney trying to get the students there to go on strike. I understand the outsiders were met by a vigilante committee of students, who told them to get back to Lincoln and leave the students at Kearney State alone. As a consequence, classes continued uninterrupted at the Kearney college.

Ord Grad to Study At Lincoln Institute

A member of the Ord High School graduating class, Shirley Peterson, has enrolled at the Lincoln School of Commerce for the summer term beginning in late June. Miss Peterson has selected a career in the field of business and will train in the Executive Secretarial course at the institution. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Peterson of Ord.

Eighteen Members, Eight Guests Attend May Breakfast at Presbyterian Church

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its annual May breakfast last week at the Presbyterian Church. Eighteen members and eight guests, Mrs. Ruby Boyce, Mrs. Dona Jo Pier, Mrs. Esther Madsen, Mrs. Olga Bures, Mrs. Roberta Wilson, Mrs. Dorothy Schwengle, Mantie Smith and Kathy Williams attended.

The tables were decorated with bouquets of fresh tulips and individual favors of miniature May baskets were filled with mints and fresh violets.

Mrs. Ella Marie Carson read a letter of thank you to the Ord club from the Lexington BPW Club for the Helen H. Kokes Civic Participation Memorial Award which was awarded to them at the state convention in April for their outstanding work and participation in community betterment projects in the Lexington community. This award was purchased by the Ord BPW Club and given to the Nebraska BPW Federation in memory of Helen H. Kokes who was a member of the Ord club at the time of her death in an auto accident a few years ago. This is a traveling trophy and the Lexington club is the first club to receive it.

Mrs. Laurie Carson presented an emblem service pointing out the various parts of the BPW emblem and explained the meaning of each part.

Agnes Cernik, a past president of the club, conducted the installation service for the new officers for the coming year. She presented each officer with a fresh carnation or rose as they were installed. Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Ella Marie Carson, president; Mrs. Florence Erickson, first vice president; Mrs. Thelma Dulitz, second vice president; Inez Swain, recording secretary; Irma King, corresponding secre-

Belle Ager Anderson Dies at Age 87 Years

A letter from Delpha Taylor of Lincoln informed the Ord Quiz this week of the death of Belle Ager Anderson, 87, of Lincoln. Mrs. Anderson, the widow of Ed J. Anderson, died May 2 in California. Services were at Woodside, Calif., with burial at Lincoln.

Mrs. Anderson will be remembered by many in this community. She was a daughter of prominent Ord citizens, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ager, and graduated from Ord High School in 1900. A few years later, then a resident of Lincoln, she and Mr. Anderson were united in marriage. The Andersons had always lived in Lincoln, and after her husband's death several years ago, Mrs. Anderson went to California to live with her children.

She is survived by daughters Mary Belle Hartman, Omaha; Ruth Coale, Portola, Valley, Calif.; Betty Baker, LaMesa, Calif.; sons, Herbert, Orinda, Calif., and Elmer, El Cerrito, Calif. There are also 10 grand children.

No Aliens in Heaven

But I try to obey the "Golden Rule," insisted the personnel officer, when asked if he was "saved."

The young German escapee from Hitler's Germany was not satisfied. Then he applied for a job in the Federal Civil Service. He listed his qualifications: a Berlin doctorate in this very field; several years experience in the work; much interest in its opportunities.

"But you can't be serious," expostulated the officer, "you're an alien!"

"I'm qualified as much as any citizen; I try to obey all the laws of the land and live right!"

"Please understand," expostulated the officer, "none but a citizen can enter the civil service. The most ignorant citizen is more eligible under the law than you with all your qualifications! Become a naturalized citizen and we'll consider your application."

"You just stated the basic qualification for the job. Don't you see that God insists on citizenship, too, for entrance into heaven? Except a man be born again (of the Holy Spirit) he cannot see the kingdom of God? Is it consistent of you to feel one way about the law of the land and another way about the law of God?"

"I never saw it that way before," confessed the officer, "please tell me how to be saved."

THE Ord Quiz

Memorial Day: Show You Care

Memorial Day this year will have special meaning for thousands of additional families—those who have lost loved ones in the service of their country during the past year.

One such family, the Melvin Ellingsons, reside here in Ord. They were notified just a few weeks ago that their son-in-law, Private First Class Eudell Leo Kotrous, had been killed in Vietnam.

In a news item concerning that death, the Quiz stated that as far as was known Private Kotrous was the first serviceman with close Valley County ties to die in Vietnam. We are grateful to Mrs. Ruth Ray for reminding us that the supreme sacrifice was also made by two Arcadia youths during the early years of the Vietnam conflict. They were Larry Lindell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lindell, and James Beams, son of Bill Beams.

Memorial Day is of course a time for honoring the dead of all wars in which this country has participated. And as such, true patriots should make a special effort this year to attend and support observances honoring these dead.

That's because a growing number of people in this country—some of them in high places—would have us believe that others are more honorable than these sons and daughters, fathers and brothers, who have given their very lives to keep this country free. Listen to what John Lindsay, mayor of New York City, had to say in a recent speech at the University of Pennsylvania:

"The ones I have unending admiration for are the guys who say, 'I simply will not serve in the Army of the United States in Vietnam and I am willing to take the consequences for it.' These are the guys who are heroic."

Lindsay drew a standing ovation for that statement. He also drew a quickly lit switchboard at his own City Hall when word of it reached New York, and he was promptly uninvited to participate in the city's Loyalty Day parade sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"We don't want him," the commander of the New York County VFW contingent stated. "If he does show up, he'll be booted. Here is a man sworn to uphold the Constitution encouraging young people to break the law."

Unfortunately, however, a growing number of persons in this country do agree with Lindsay and with those who gave him a standing ovation. And they're not all on the college campuses.

A recent CBS newsfilm showed how almost half those now being called for induction at the Oakland (Calif.) Induction Center simply refuse to serve. Only a small fraction, according to the report, are ever prosecuted for this violation of the law, and of those who are prosecuted the conviction rate is very small. One lawyer was interviewed who appeared quite proud of the fact that he had won eight cases without a single setback for draft-evading clients.

The average sentence for those few who are convicted is 18 months in prison—or six months less than they would have served in the Army if they had been inducted.

Reading and hearing about such incidents, the average citizen frequently becomes very angry. But he's not much better than those he condemns unless he's willing to do something positive himself.

Memorial Day offers a chance to do something positive. Observances will be held in most of the communities throughout this state, so even those citizens who will be out of town for the long holiday weekend can find an observance near wherever they might be.

Why not make a special effort to be present at one of them? It's a small thing to ask in repayment for what the Kotrouses, the Lindells, the Beams, and hundreds of thousands more have done for us.

Portrait of a Protestor

The manner in which thousands of young people are being duped and used by those dedicated to destroying this country is illustrated in one of the side stories that emerged from the Kent State incident.

A photographer at the scene snapped a picture of a long-haired girl in hippie clothes hovering over one of the demonstrators who was shot. When the photograph was circulated by the Associated Press, the girl's parents in Opa Loca, Fla., recognized her as their 15-year-old daughter who had run away from a juvenile home in Miami.

Through an anonymous phone call, the Indianapolis Star was informed that she was living in an Indianapolis hippie colony. The newspaper was able to get an interview with her, after which she turned herself in to law enforcement authorities.

During the interview the girl said she had hitchhiked and begged money and food after running away. She said she was in Kent, Ohio, when she heard there was a protest, and went to the university campus.

Obviously the girl had no idea of what she was protesting. But like many other young people, she was happy to be a part of it.

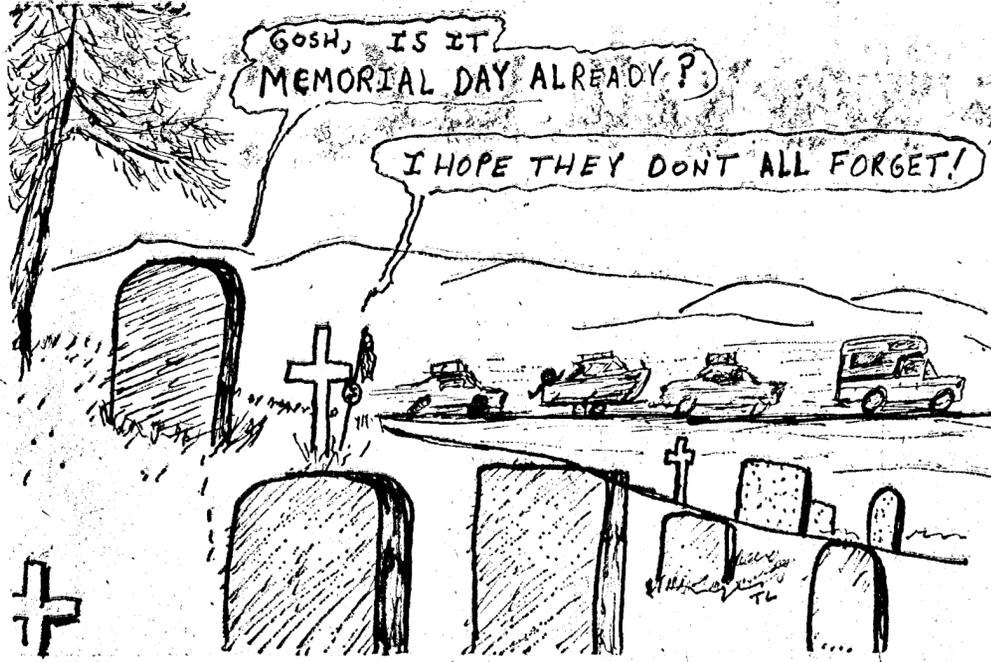

And there's little doubt that the protest organizers were just as happy to have her and many of her equally ignorant friends.

Spinning a Yarn

When I think of all the yarn I've worked up, all the embroidery thread I've put into silly looking designs, all the odds and ends of handwork I've concocted and the hours it took, I'm agghast.

Probably the same is true of every home-keeper.

It began because I had a favorite aunt who was a perfectionist, who did everything correctly, whether it was gardening, cooking, or handwork. She taught me many things; but whatever it was, if it wasn't done right, I had to rip it back and try again. She would smile and try to help me over the rough spots. And try to lift my face too, which would be long.

So when I began to knit, the first thing I made was a big laugh. But she didn't laugh when I presented it to her. It was an ugly gray-green yarn, made into a scarf probably a yard wide and two or three yards long. Gee, But I did learn to knit.

In high school I recall a rose-colored sweater I knitted with TWO strands of yarn, comparable to the "football sweaters." It turned out to be the heaviest weight sweater imaginable. I ran out of yarn when almost through with it, and the next dye lot wasn't exactly the same. So the bottom of the back of my sweater was rosier than the rest of it. But I did finish it, and even put a big gray collar on it, and wore it to school a couple of years before I ripped it out, dyed the yarn black, and knitted a new sweater with ONE strand of yarn this time, even making a ruffly tail below the waistline. Then I made a bright yellow cord and ran it through the waist, and also around the V-neck and the ruffly sleeves.

I learned to crochet too, and years later I crocheted a floor-length, ecru, lacy-type dress. It was a very open pattern which kept increasing in size as it went downward. The sleeves were long and the neck was high. I think I'll look it up and wear it in a few months!

One time I knitted a garnet-colored wool dress from extremely fine yarn. It was a fancy stitch with open tear drops here and there, fairly attractive. But the trouble was, I made it when skirts were very long. So every year or two skirts got shorter, and I'd have to rip the skirt off the waist, take off four inches or six inches, and put the dress back together again. I grew tired of this exercise eventually and gave the dress and all the spare yarn away with great relief. I have never enjoyed undoing handwork.

Now and then I get inspired, usually in the spring when all the little birdies are nestward bound. And I whip up a crocheted blouse. Or I start making crocheted caps or hats (which my poor defenseless relatives are forced to admit they "just love," poor things).

Last summer I got on a pillow-making kick; you know, cute square little fellows made from two velvety washcloths, edged with a row of hand-jerked yarn fringe. They're quite pretty after all the tugging and stuffing is done. The stuffing was rather a challenge, to put it gently. Minka Huff triggered the creation of these gay little pillows in this area. I think, teaching all her friends and neighbors the secrets of pillow making.

What brought on all this diatribe? I just this minute finished crocheting a dress, that's what, a simple number with lots of little air holes.

The only thing I don't like about handiwork . . . I begrudge giving up my reading time. And the only way I can accomplish knitting or so forth is to stack aside my magazines and books, and make them wait.

I'm a reading drunkard, probably. —Irma

The Scott Report

Up to 10,000 Weapons Believed Stolen From Armories in Past Year

By Paul Scott

WASHINGTON — Militants are stealing automatic weapons and ammunition from federal armories and private gun manufacturers at an alarming rate.

Defense Department officials have become so deeply concerned over this ominous development in recent days that they are considering the use of national guard units to protect the armories on a round-the-clock basis.

On the recommendation of Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, National Guard patrols were used in several states to protect government armories during last weekend's anti-war protests by students.

This emergency measure was taken after informants for the Federal Bureau of Investigation warned that several militant groups, including the Black Panthers, were planning to use the anti-war demonstrations as a cover for raids on government armories.

The positioning of Guard units at armories in the Washington, New York, Boston, and Chicago areas is credited with preventing raids in those cities.

Justice Department aides also have been in contact with state and local law enforcement authorities to determine what help the federal government might provide to cut down the rate of arms thefts from private manufacturers.

The FBI is now probing the theft of more than 500 guns, primarily rifles and shotguns, which were stolen from Connecticut firms in the past four weeks.

Two of the thefts involved interstate shipments of weapons, and in one of them thieves hijacked a truck. The truck, which belonged to the IML Truck Co., was carrying 80 .22-caliber, level-action rifles, and 280 Winchester riot guns destined for Salt Lake City.

FBI officials are checking reports that the truck was stolen by a Black Panther group in New York. The abandoned truck without the arms was found in New York City after it had been stolen from the North Branford Trucking Terminal in Connecticut.

Growing Problem
Other gun thefts under investigation by the FBI in recent weeks include the theft of a dozen .22-caliber rifles and 1,200 rounds of ammunition from the Reserve Officers Training Corps Armory at City College, N. Y., and the theft of a large number of M-16 rifles from Fort Gordon, Ga.

Estimates being prepared by Defense Department officials indicate that as many as 10,000 weapons have been stolen from military armories during the past year.

Recently, federal undercover agents posing as bearded revolutionaries broke up a gang that was trying to sell $10,000 worth of stolen military munitions on the West Coast. The munitions, which included 150 pounds of explosives and 10 anti-tank rockets, had been stolen from Fort Ord, 200 miles north of Santa Barbara, Calif.

A 50-man strike force of Internal Revenue Service agents has been organized within the Treasury Department to conduct a concerted drive to confiscate illegally held guns in major cities.

Called "Operation Disarm the Criminal," the drive is being based on citizen participation in the 1968 gun-control law, and close cooperation with United States district attorneys. Priority is being given to prosecution of persons charged with illegal possession of weapons.

The special teams of IRS agents, used in the past for coordinated strikes on moonshiners, will help local police check citizen reports of illegally held guns and will trace weapons confiscated from arrested felony suspects.

Congressional Hearings
Senator Thomas Dodd (D-Conn.) plans to highlight the growing problem of gun thefts when he holds hearings next week on his legislative proposal to regulate the sale of explosives.

The special teams of IRS agents, used in the past for coordinated strikes on moonshiners, will help local police check citizen reports of illegally held guns and will trace weapons confiscated from arrested felony suspects.

When You and I Were Young

10 Years Ago
Mrs. Kathleen Brickner was one of 39 women who were graduated from the Nebraska Methodist Hospital School of Nursing.

Mrs. Frances McCall was the first woman ever to be elected chairman of either political party in Valley County. Mrs. McCall was chosen at the Democratic county convention.

Jim Gilbert, veteran barber, sold his shop and announced his retirement as of June 1, 1960.

Eleven children of the late James Wozniak had a family reunion on Memorial Day.

Don Kapustka was one of 385 students who received degrees from Creighton University in May commencement exercises. He received a Bachelor of Science degree.

About 20 scouts left for a camping trip to Long Lake.

20 Years Ago
Funeral services were held for Frank Swanek, who died at his home following a long illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parkos entertained a group of friends on their 35th wedding anniversary.

Vertee June Mulligan became the bride of Clarence Porter in a ceremony performed at the Methodist Church.

At a special meeting of the North Loup Lions Club, it was decided to form a corporation and build a health center. The club members hoped to have a doctor locate in North Loup by the time the building was finished.

A drop in population as shown in the 1950 census resulted in abolishment of the office of the clerk of the District Court, first established in Valley County in 1910.

30 Years Ago
Four counties—Valley, Loup, Wheeler and Garfield—united in their fight against grasshoppers. A bait mixing plant was set up at the fairgrounds.

W. T. McLain was the new police magistrate.

Elton Walker came down with chicken pox three days before school was out.

Inez Eberhart returned home for the summer as her school at Madison was out for the year.

40 Years Ago
Fifty-four students received diplomas at commencement exercises.

The result of a survey showed that 35 percent of farm women had running water in their kitchens, but that 41 percent had no running water at all inside their homes and less than 25 percent had a pump in the kitchen. The majority of farm women did their own baking of bread, cookies and cake; made their own butter; processed their own meat and lard; made their own soap; cared for the chickens, the yard and garden; and helped with farm chores.

The Walter Guggenmos farm home 14 miles north of Ord was struck by lightning, and the house and all possessions were destroyed by fire.

Ruth Holloway and Clifford Goff were united in marriage by Rev. J. A. Moorman.

Fellers Avoid Trouble With 'Defensive Living'

The older a feller gets, Mister Editor, the more he thinks about doctors and hospital bills.

I don't know if it was the years they're carrying or the times they're living in that got the fellers to talking about the cost of getting sick these days. But anyhow, the subject came up and was given a good going-over Saturday night.

There was Herb Goff, who reported he had seen where hospital bills are going up to $200 a day by 1975. And in the same paper, Herb allowed, he saw where doctors are treating folks over the telephone.

"The more you pay, the less you get for your pains," were Herb's words.

Martin Sonnenfeld said he would like to point to old Herb that he ain't seen where a single solitary service or anything else has gotten cheaper under the Republicans. About the closest thing to progress seen in the inflation war, allowed Democrat Martin, is where the administration sees rising unemployment as a healthy sign. But now President Nixon has even back-tracked on that.

Herb got back to his medical report by halfway evening with Martin. He said a feller can't afford to live, get sick, or die in this day and time.

But Herb said he is going to be powerful sick before he phones up a doctor for treatment by long distance. According to this piece he read, a doctor can sit in front of a machine, feed in the patient's report, and come up with what ails him.

Anybody that can get a telephone and one of them diagnosing machines set up and can go into business, allowed Herb.

You call up and the doctor tell you to take your pulse and temperature, breathe deep and cough, stick out your tongue, and tell him where it hurts. He reads his machine and tells you to drink plenty of liquids and get plenty of rest. And that'll be $20, please.

"A bed in a hospital at $200 a day will be a bargain when a feller has to pay good money to examine himself long distance."

KERRY ON

By Kerry Leggett

—off and running—
Unfortunately, it won't be here to see it, but this column will be printed on our new press. Installation was completed last week, and at 11 p.m. Friday night the press was working fine.

Though the quality of the printing won't be what it has been the past two weeks, I hope it's much better than the readers have experienced over the past 20 to 30 years.

Many people around Ord have asked me, will The Quiz ALWAYS look that nice? I'm sorry to have to reply negatively. If all we did was print a weekly newspaper, we could take the time necessary to print two pages at a time and the quality would be the same. The fine printing you've experienced over the past two weeks. Too, The Quiz would be able to win more awards (I think) since mechanical excellence weighs heavily in most newspaper contests.

The paper you've received the past two weeks has been painstakingly printed on one of our presses that we use for magazine publications. Frank Decker—the pressman—is as fine a craftsman as you'll find and he took extra care to show the readers what is possible if we ran only a small paper . . . say four to eight pages per week.

After Frank finished with the printing, the paper had to be folded on a machine run by Jerry Watson. This, too, involved added work that is both time-consuming and expensive for a "regular" weekly edition. So . . . with the time element and work element BOTH involved in bringing you a stiffer paper, The Quiz, something has to be sacrificed. That "something" is the quality of printing that goes into our magazine work—but is economically unfeasible for a newspaper on a mass-production basis.

There are things to learn about the new press that will take time. There are some changes we want to make in the ink used, and several other factors. We, after we get the bugs ironed out—that eventually The Quiz will measure up to most any paper in mechanical excellence and top quality reproduction. We think it will!

Why won't I be here to see the new press run the first week? Because "The Quiz" is MORE than a newspaper. Though most readers don't realize exactly what DOES go on here, our mainstay is magazine publication, not serious news.

While the gang here are busy putting out the first complete issue on the new press, I'll be on my way to Chicago with a load of books that MUST be there by today (Thursday). With an air freight embargo on the Windy City—and a truck strike that preceded the air freight embargo—my only recourse of getting the books delivered was to take them in myself!

I hope this gives you some insight into the complexities involved in operating a printing plant that's MORE THAN A NEWSPAPER. While everyone is enjoying Memorial Day weekend, I'll be doing my best to keep from being another grim highway statistic. I hope—if you're on the road—you'll do likewise.

I hope, too, that you enjoy the new look of our newspaper. Next week—God willing—I'll get to see the new press complete its full run.

Congressman
DAVE MARTIN
Reports

Federal Budget
As I pointed out several weeks ago in my newsletter, the expected surplus for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, has been dissipated.

Furthermore it now has been officially acknowledged that we will have a deficit not only in the current fiscal year, but also in fiscal 1971. The figures have been changed to Dec. 27 for all Federal employees, will add about $1.5 billion to the cost of government for the current fiscal year; and secondly, decreased earnings of corporations will reduce the amount of income tax they pay.

As Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, pointed out last week, it is absolutely essential that a fixed ceiling be placed on federal expenditures. Large government expenditures are a contributing factor to wage inflation, and this deficit will further complicate our economic problems.

Cambodia
The amount of military supplies which have been captured in Cambodia is now reaching tremendous proportions.

Public opinion is a serious problem which has now arisen is that these supplies are in such quantity the allies will not be able to bring them back to South Vietnam before June 30, the deadline President Richard Nixon has established for having all United States forces out of Cambodia.

Yours truly,
Geranium Joe

half of all retired persons receiving pensions or annuities may be overpaying their income taxes by not taking various deductions due to them . . . The White House is deep in debate over an appropriate U.S. response to the introduction of Soviet-manufactured planes and missiles into Egypt. The State Department is urging extreme caution. It says that under the surface Arab leaders, including Egypt's President Nasser, remain surprisingly friendly to the U.S. In fact, the thinking of Secretary of State Rogers here is that Egypt's capacity to negotiate a settlement with Israel—without regard to the Palestinian guerrilla organization—has been enhanced by this added Soviet-supplied military strength. Nasser has been saying that Egypt is strong enough to be free to make such a settlement, independent of the guerrilla movement. In sharp contrast to this view, American intelligence officials say flatly that the Russians will never permit Nasser to make a deal with Israel. They report that Russia wants the Arab-Israeli conflict to continue so they can build air, naval and ground bases in the area for an eventual take-over of the region. The State Department is opposing any additional sale of U.S. jets to Israel. The American intelligence community favors the sale.

Special on Police Deaths
Growing violence in the U.S. is bringing death to an increasing number of law enforcement officers while carrying out their duties.

That's the alarming report which FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has made in his annual report on the nation's crime situation given to a House appropriation subcommittee.

"During the months of January and February this year," Hoover stated, "the police departments in 57 cities around the nation with populations over 250,000 reported nine police officers killed by criminal action and 2,394 assaults on policemen during the course of duty. Assaults on police officers occurred at the rate of 41 per day over this two-month period."

Hoover told the legislators that 548 law enforcement officers had been killed while on duty from 1960 to 1970. Of that total, he said, 64 were killed by criminal action during 1968 and 73 during 1969.

In the case of the FBI, Hoover said, 42 special agents and one clerical employee have been assaulted while carrying out their duties during the past six months. A total of 73 special agents were assaulted during 1969.

Six From Area Receive Degrees at Kearney

By Margaret Zentz

A record 489 persons received degrees at the Kearney State College graduation Thursday. Gene Haddix, Dennis Hurlburt, and Richard Johnson of Arcadia received Bachelor of Arts degrees in education. Ruth Frost, of Anselmy, a former Arcadian, also received a Bachelor of Arts degree in education. Eugene Hunt of Arcadia received a Bachelor of Science degree and Jerry Hawley a Bachelor of Biology degree. Johnson will teach at Stuart next fall, Hurlburt at Anselmy where he will also be head football coach, and Haddix at Overton.

Comstock Woman Ailing
Mrs. Larry Fisher and sons Wayne and Bruce of Lincoln were weekend visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Zentz. Frank Janicek Dies After Brief Illness; Burial Is at Burwell

Funeral services were held Monday for Frank Janicek, who died Friday at the Valley County Hospital after a very brief illness.

Mr. Janicek, 65, was the son of Anton and Mary Kolas Janicek, and was born Aug. 9, 1904. He was united in marriage on Apr. 2, 1928, to Mary Mach, and after marriage had farmed in Valley County.

He had made his home in Ord for the past nine years and for a short period of time had owned and operated a cafe. He was also employed at the National Alfalfa and Dehydrating Co.

Mr. Janicek is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Turbey of Salem, Ore., Mrs. Rose Sample of Hemingford, Mrs. Loraine Barker of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Mrs. Darlene Hahn of Rapid City, S. D.; by one sister, Mrs. Joe Bruha of Burwell, and by 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the Ord Christian Church, with Pastor J. H. Schroeder officiating. Mrs. Sharon Fuss sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "How Great Thou Art," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Paul Wray. Pallbearers were Bruce Sample, Duane Sample, Erwin Sample, Danny Sample, Rodney Hahn, and John Janicek.

Interment was in the Cottonwood Cemetery at Burwell, Hastings - Pearson Mortuary had charge of arrangements.

Off The Square

It's a Boy Mrs. Howard Huff returned home Sunday after several days in Salina, Kan., with a daughter — the former Darlene Kokes — who has a 6 1/2-pound son born May 16. He has been named James III. Mr. and Mrs. James Lorenson have one other son, Mark Allen, not yet 3.

Mrs. Erma Klancecky, Matilda Klancecky of Grand Island, Mrs. Emma Adamek, Mrs. Minnie Sevenker, and Mrs. Froncy Klancecky attended the Wheeler Central graduation exercises in Bartlett Tuesday evening. Later they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Foulk whose daughter, Karen, was a member of the graduating class.

Friends of Mrs. Alice Urbanski helped celebrate her birthday with supper at the Elks Club Saturday evening. Later they went to her home where they spent the evening playing cards. Guests were Mrs. Sophie Sobotka, Mrs. Erma Klancecky, Mrs. Froncy Klancecky, Mrs. Hattie Kasper, and Mrs. Emma Adamek.

Babies by Bertha Our grandson, Victor carefully looked over something his grandfather had made. Then he remarked, "You didn't forget a thing." A rare compliment!

The son of one of my favorite nieces, has received a scholarship worth $2,000. He is Paul Egert, and attends a school near Chicago, Ill. He will finish high school in another year, completing the high school course in three years. He is now 13. Previously he had received a scholarship for $500. The Eggert home is in Russell, Kan. I'm glad to claim a connection with the family.

Another favorite niece, Joan, is in Hawaii now visiting her husband who is there from Vietnam. They'll be glad when he can be home with his family.

When my sister-in-law, Beulah, and I attended the bridal shower for Darlene King recently, one of the gifts that drew a lot of attention was a household repair kit. It contained pieces of wire, odds and ends of string, crooked nails, thumb tacks, rusty bolts, suspender hooks, and many other items. The gift was from Jim Jones — not his real name. That wasn't the first time that a young relative of his has received a similar gift.

Rare Sight Mr. and Mrs. Harold King observed their 15th wedding anniversary and the birthday of their 11-year-old daughter, Sharon, by going to Abilene, Kan., Friday. Also going with them were their other children — James, Connie, and Alan. They visited the Eisenhower Center, and on the way home they saw lightning strike an oil well and set it on fire near Dorrance, Kan.
